Ike Offers Two New Atoms-for-Peace Plans

Secrecy Veils GM Parley

Talks Continue With Deadline Due Tomorrow

No Word Disclosed of Second Company Offer in 2-Month Blackout

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors and the CIO United Auto Workers, facing a strike deadline only hours away, are back at the bargaining table today.

A secrecy lid clamped on the contract talks at their outset two months ago prevented disclosure as to whether General Motors has made any kind of offer in line with the wage plan the union won Monday from the Ford Motor Co.

The UAW agreed to a five-day contract extension of the GM contract Tuesday. The deadline now is Sunday midnight and the union has said no further extension will be granted.

Union officials have hinted publicly for several days that they were expecting a second offer from the industry's biggest producer. One union source said that up to the dinner recess last night no such offer was put on the table.

Several weeks ago GM offered the union a stock purchase plan similar to one proposed later by Ford. The UAW rejected Ford's before getting the wage settlement but never has publicly turned down GM's.

WOULD JOIN STRIKE

A General Motors strike would idle 350,000 UAW members. Leaders of 35,000 members of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers have said their union will join in any UAW walkout.

GM's game apparently was to wait almost to the 11th hour, fling an offer at Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers Union, and give the union little time to argue, only to make a yes or no answer.

Lack of any protest over the delay from Reuther or UAW Vice

Dedication Sunday

Press Supplement Salutes New City Hall's Opening

With a special 14-page supplement, the Pontiac Press today salutes the official opening of Pontiac's new $1,200,000 City Hall.

In words and pictures, the supplement details the facts and figures of the debt-free structure, located at E. Pike and Parke Sts.

Final event in the 3-day open house at the new building will be a one-and-a-half hour dedication ceremony from 2 to 3:30 p.m. tomorrow. Gov. G. Mennen Williams will deliver the dedication address.

The open house, slated for 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. today, will continue after the ceremony tomorrow.

Also scheduled to speak are Robert M. Critchfield, Pontiac Motor Division general manager; Fred V. Haggard, president of the Oakland County CIO Council, and George Booth, of the Pontiac-Oakland County AF of L.

Cost of constructing and equipping the new home of city government was financed from current revenues on a pay-as-you-go basis. No bond issue was required.

To be built on a similar basis is a $500,000 Public Safety building just north of the City Hall. Officials expect ground breaking to take place before the end of the year.

Pontiac High's Baccalaureate Slated Sunday

Three hundred and 58 Pontiac high school seniors will near the climax of their high school careers Sunday night when they participate in baccalaureate service at Central Methodist Church.

Commencement ceremonies are set for Thursday in the Pontiac High School.

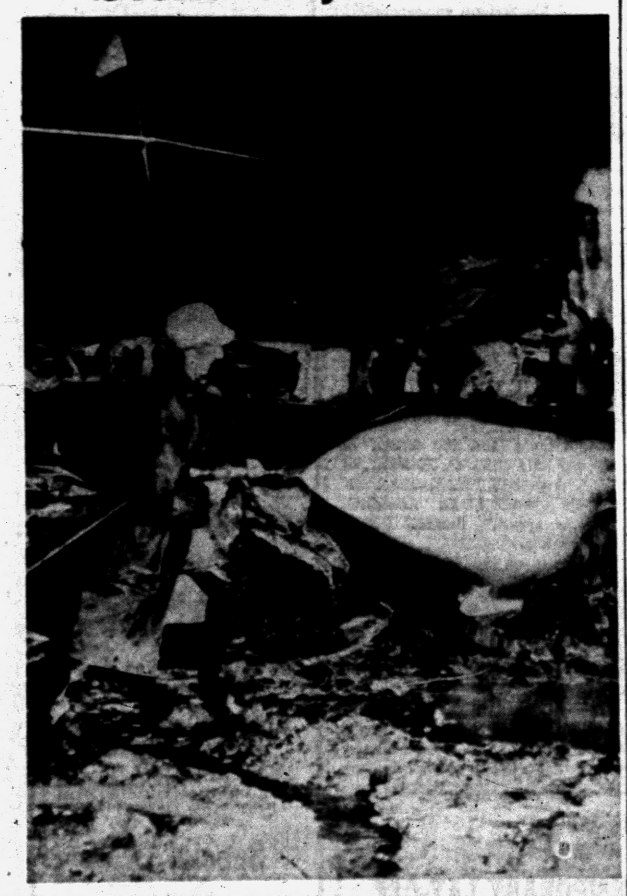

Rev. William H. Marbach of the First Presbyterian Church will deliver the baccalaureate sermon asking, "What Will You do in the Swelling of the Jordan?"

Lyndon Salathiel will present an organ prelude at 7:30 followed by the processional.

Rev. J. Allen Parker of Newman A. M. E. Church has been asked to give the invocation and Rev. Carl W. Nelson of St. Johns Lutheran Church will present the scripture reading.

Under the baton of George H. Putman, the Pontiac Senior High School a capella choir will sing the anthem, followed by a prayer by Rev. Milton H. Bank of Central Methodist Church.

Scene of Jet Crash

JET PILOT DIES IN CRASH — The pilot of an F-69D Scorpion jet was burned to death last night when his plane caught fire on a routine training flight and crashed near Bishop Field in Flint. The radar man escaped uninjured as he was pulled to safety by two civilians.

The pilot was identified by Air Force officials as Lt. Joseph A. Bostic, 27, of Springfield, Mo. The radar man who escaped injury is Lt. Leo P. Bouska, 23, of Shawnee, Okla.

An Air Force spokesman said Bostic was practicing instrument landings on a routine flight from Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Oscoda, when his right engine caught fire. They said the pilot attempted to land the plane at Bishop Field, but overshot the runway and made a belly landing. Bostic was pinned in the cockpit. Two civilians who witnessed the crash pulled the radar man from the ship.

10 Killed in B29 Crash on Peak

Air Force Bomber Hits German Alps in Fog on Training Flight

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — A four-engine U.S. Air Force bomber crashed into a rocky hillside of the Swabian Alps and exploded shortly before last midnight. German police said the 10 crewmen perished.

The B29 hit the 2,100-foot Teckberg while flying in dense fog and rain, a German police officer reported from the scene.

He said 10 charred bodies were removed by Germany police and German emergency squads working al night.

Police said the bomber apparently flew over the nearby village of Owen at an altitude of about 150 feet, then crashed into the rugged hillside less than a mile away.

The wreckage was strewn as far as 300 feet from the crash. A few trees were set ablaze but the rain quickly extinguished the fire.

The Air Force said the bomber, stationed at Molesworth, England, was on a training mission.

On an instrument training flight, the aircraft had just made a low approach to the Stuttgart Airfield and was climbing away from the field when radio contact was lost with the control authorities.

The announcement said the plane had "intended to fly to Munich, perform instrument training at Stuttgart and return to Molesworth before landing on a round-robin flight."

The weather bureau foresees temperatures of 55-60, low for tonight, and 64-68 as Sunday's high. Rain which fell in the Pontiac area during the night totaled .17 of an inch at 8 o'clock this morning.

Today's low in the downtown Pontiac area was 59 degrees. The thermometer gained one point until 11 o'clock, then returned to 59 where it remained at 1 p.m.

Woman Nags So Bus Driver Takes Detour

DETROIT (AP)—Tired of arguing with a woman passenger who wanted him to honor an expired transfer, bus driver Clenard Osborne, 26, detoured his load of rush-hour passengers to police headquarters yesterday.

Hot and crowded, passengers waited until Johnson decided police had no grounds on which to act.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Air Secretary Harold E. Talbott pressured Congress today to release $8,136,000 for construction of a jet fighter base at Cadillac.

The Air Force yesterday reaffirmed its choice of Cadillac as the site for a jet base in northern Michigan. Talbott said he had eliminated a proposed Benzie County site because of its proximity to the Interlochen Music Camp.

"The remaining two sites are both satisfactory in operational aspects," said Talbott. "Although the initial construction cost at Kalkaska is estimated at about nine per cent less than Cadillac, I feel that the location of Cadillac only a few miles from the base site provides readily avilable community support that will outweigh this differential in original construction cost," he said.

Congress previously had appropriated $8,136,000 for the air base but the money has been held up in a controversy over the base's location. The House Military Appropriations sub-committee ordered the Air Force to settle the problem.

Committee Chairman George H. Mahon (D-Tex) said his group probably would meet next week to consider Talbott's report on his reasons for choosing Cadillac. The committee could release the money if it wished.

In his report to the subcommittee, Talbott pointed out that the Cadillac community could take care of additional Air Force dependents with existing school and recreational facilities. He said this was not the case at Kalkaska.

"There are not sufficient school or recreational facilities except Traverse City, which is approximately 18 miles from the proposed air base site," he said. Talbott also disclosed that a Sage facility, a super-secret defense device, was to be included with the base.

He said the facility would involve a high cost in rental of communication cables and was another reason a city as close to the base site as possible was desired.

Approve UM Tuition Hike of 10 Per Cent

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Student tuition fees at the University of Michigan were boosted about 10 per cent yesterday by the school's board of regents.

The increases, effective this fall, will boost tuition for Michigan residents to $200 for a two-semester year. Students from outside the state will pay $470 for two semesters.

University President Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher said the increase would produce an extra $400,000 and boost the school's income from tuition and fees from $5,824,000 to $6,488,000.

He said the proposed boost was based on an expected increase in enrollment from 18,500 this year to 19,750.

DOWN GOES THE CHAMP — Welterweight champion Tony De Marco starts down to the canvas and ropes in first knockdown by challenger Carmen Basilio in 10th round of a scheduled 15-round title bout at War Memorial Auditorium in Syracuse, N. Y. last night. De Marco was floored again in the same round and continued until 12th when the fight was stopped.

42,000 Are Eligible to Vote in School Board Election

Some 42,000 Pontiac school district citizens are eligible to cast their votes in Monday's election which will name two members to the Pontiac Board of Education.

Some 4,862 voted in the election of 1954 with seven candidates vying for two posts.

Four contenders are seeking the two positions vacant this year on the board of education.

On Monday's ballot will appear the names of Dr. Lynn D. Allen Jr., Monroe Osmun, Rev. J. Allen Parker and Theron T. Stickle. The terms of Ferd Thiefels and Maurice Croteau expire this year.

Osmun served as board of education member from 1946 to 1954. The other three candidates have not held board member posts previously.

The quartet of contenders state that "civic and pride in a fine school system" prompted their declaration of candidacy.

They are in common agreement that the board must give the community vigorous leadership in meeting the demands of an expanding school enrollment in both physical facility and curriculum program.

Polls will be open Monday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Results of the election will be announced by the Pontiac Press in its Tuesday's edition. (Location of the polls and precinct numbers are on page 2.)

Warrant Adds Two Charges

Extra Counts to Face Circus Advance Agent on Return Here

A warrant was ordered yesterday adding two charges against an advance man for the Cole and King Brothers Circus who was previously charged with larceny by conversion.

The circus played here June 4. Now accused also of embezzlement and obtaining money under false pretenses is Irwin H. Fisher, 28, who is in police custody in Miami, Fla.

The larceny count alleges Fisher converted $210 in advance ticket-sale money to his own use which should have been turned over to the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the performance.

The new charges are based on a complaint by John A. Benson, of 549 N. Saginaw St., according to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

The complaint alleges Fisher secured a $1,055 loan from Benson to pay off money owed on an auto. The loan company was to convert the car title to Benson's name as security for the loan, Benson claims.

"Apparently Fisher called the company and told them to put the title in his name instead of Benson's, then left for Florida where he sold the car," Ziem alleged.

The prosecutor said he has notified Miami authorities that extradition proceedings will be started to bring Fisher here to face charges.

Office Worker Collects Fifth College Diploma

CINCINNATI (AP)—Joseph Gehler, 37, has just received his fifth diploma from the University of Cincinnati in 18 years.

"Some people collect postage stamps; I collect college diplomas," said Gehler, a clerk in the cost department of a cutlery manufacturing firm.

His latest is a certificate in accounting. Earlier he received bachelor of arts, bachelor of industrial management, bachelor of science in commerce and master of arts degrees.

Gehler, a bachelor, intends to return to evening college to earn a certificate of associate in accounting.

American Down in French Test

Bisplinghoff Loses to de LaMaze at End of Amateur Match

PARIS (AP)—Henry de LaMaze of France won the French amateur golf championship for the sixth time today, defeating 20-year-old Don Bisplinghoff of Orlando, Fla., 5 and 4, in the 36-hole final.

De LaMaze, shooting a 2-under-par 70 for the first 18 holes over the Chantilly course, led Bisplinghoff 5 up at the end of the morning round. The big Florida youngster couldn't regain any ground in the afternoon.

It was only the second international tournament for Bisplinghoff, who won the U. S. Junior Title three years ago. He reached the quarter finals of the British amateur last week.

Would Help Pay for Reactors, Give Know How

Unveil Twin Programs in Penn State Speech at Commencement

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. President Eisenhower, outlining two new atoms-for-peace programs proposed today the United States provide money and "know how" to help other free nations obtain atomic research and power reactors.

The President suggested this country pay half the cost of the research reactors, and he called the twin programs "the gateway to a broad avenue of world progress in the peaceful uses of atomic energy."

In a major address prepared for delivery at Pennsylvania State University's centennial commencement exercises, he added:

"Our purpose is to spark the creative and inventive skills latent in the free world, to pool them and put them to work for the betterment of conditions under which men must live."

Eisenhower appealed anew to Russia to join in his 1953 atoms-for-peace program—and seemed to be making the appeal to the Russian people rather than what he called "their Communist overlords."

The President annouced he will submit his two new programs to Congress for approval "in the conviction they reflect the spirit and intent of law and of the American people." He outlined the plans this way:

"First: We propose to offer research reactors to the people of the free nations who can use them effectively for the acquisition of skills and understanding essential to peaceful atomic progress.

"The United States, in the spirit of the partnership that moves us, will contribute half the cost. He will also furnish the acquiring nation the nuclear material needed to fuel the reactor.

"Second: Within prudent security considerations, we propose to make available to the peoples of such friendly nations as are prepared to invest their own funds in power reactors, access to and training in the technological processes of construction and operation for peaceful purposes."

The President gave no estimate of the cost of the program, but he said it will be "small indeed when measured against the certain returns, tangible and intangible."

In advance of his address, Eisenhower inspected Penn State's new $312,000 atomic reactor plant expected to be in operation by the end of the year. He also received an honorary doctor of laws degree, presented to him by his youngest

Multi-Lakes Pays Honor to Glaspie

Honor will be paid the memory of Andrew Bird Glaspie, former Pontiac Press outdoors writer, in a program Sunday at 2 p.m. Multi-Lakes Conservation Assn. clubhouse at Reed's Lake, near Commerce.

Glaspie was active in many conservation matters and was known as the father of the "one buck" law. He was also a former state senator.

Mrs. Clara Glaspie will be the guest of honor at the dedication of a memorial to her late husband.

Public Health Service Draws Criticism for White Paper on Polio Vaccine Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Public Health Service was under fire from two quarters today as Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele declared "We can go forward," now that the safety of antipolio vaccine production has been assured by stiffer standards.

Scheele's confident statement came at a news conference yesterday after publication of a lengthy "white paper" — a detailed review by the Health Service of the brief but troubled history of the Salk vaccine program.

The surgeon general conceded program "might have come close to the line of safety" in the past. But he said he had no doubts about safety now.

In New York, Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, criticized the document, saying it "obviously gives only the Public Health Service version of the vaccine situation to date."

While Scheele reiterated his confidence in the Salk vaccine and voiced optimism, he did not say when he expected the mass immunization of school children to get back into full forward motion.

Meanwhile the summer's peak polio season drew closer with many localities still awaiting fresh supplies of vaccine with which to inject first and second graders.

Scheele told newsmen a decision to press on with the school vaccination program — after its suspension for weeks for special safety checks—was grounded on a "preponderance" of scientific opinion that the vaccine can be made without danger, under tighter requirements recently adopted.

In all there have been 146 confirmed post-inoculation polio cases among children vaccinated with the products of five licensed manufacturers, according to Health Service records up to yesterday.

Steelworkers Sneer at 7 1-2c

Union Head Promises He'll Reject Offer of 'Nickels, Dimes'

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The 'Big Six" of the basic steel industry know today what the CIO United Steelworkers want as a "sizable" pay hike for 600,000 workers.

And David J. McDonald, union president, was quoted as saying it isn't "nickels and dimes."

McDonald concluded a round of separate talks with the six firms yesterday, and the discussions were recessed indefinitely.

McDonald took personal charge of the union's arguments for a big pay raise. He opened the talks Tuesday with U.S. Steel Corp., the top producer, and met in succeeding sessions with representatives of Bethlehem Steel Corp., Republic Steel Corp., Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., and Inland Steel Corp.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette quoted McDonald as saying he expected the companies to resume bargaining "probably June 20" with an offer of about 7½ cents an hour.

The newspaper quoted the union leader.

"... If they offer anything in the neighborhood of 7½ cents an hour, we will say this is not a substantial wage increase and we will refuse the offer."

Some observers believe the union will settle for 12 to 15 cents an hour.

The union is free to strike June 30 if no agreement is reached, but most observers don't foresee any such action.

Williams Tells K. of C. of A-Challenge for Peace

MACKINAC ISLAND (UP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams told the Michigan State Council of Knights of Columbus last night that God's greatest challenge to man is to develop a peaceful use for the atom.

He told nearly 1,000 delegates attending the annual meeting that the Christian teaching of human brotherhood will either be put into general practice throughout the world in the next few years or "the world will tremble in daily fear of atomic destruction."

Atom Power Plant Plans Are Bared by Malenkov

MOSCOW (AP) — Former Premier Georgi Malenkov says the Soviet Union expects to have large atomic power stations—with outputs of 50,000 and 100,000 kilowatts each in operation within a few years.

(The United States, Britain, Canada and other Western countries are now building atomic power plants. Work is underway on a commercial atomic power installation at Shippingport, Pa., where the Atomic Energy Commission and the Duquesne Light Co. hope to produce 60,000 kilowatts—enough for a city of 100,000 to 120,000—by 1957.)

Malenkov, who stepped down as premier last February in favor of Nikolai A. Bulganin, appeared completely at ease as he laughed and joked with reporters.

Asked what he thought of exchanging delegations with other countries to study power problems as recently took place with Sweden Malenkov replied:

"The more we exchange delegations, the more cooperation we shall get, even in the field of atomic energy. But that seems to be more difficult."

Malenkov added he would personally join a delegation to the United States "if they'll let me in."

Then he smilingly said it probably would be necessary for him to be fingerprinted first.

"I'm only joking," he added.

Malenkov said Henru "apparently" was going to visit a 5,000-kilowatt atomic power plant already in operation in Russia "because he is greatly interested in this question."

When a reporter asked if Western newsmen might visit the plant, Malenkov replied:

GM, Union Parley Veiled in Secrecy

President John Livingston, head of the union's GM department, led to belief they had some assurance from GM negotiators that the eventual offer would contain the basic principal of the guaranteed wage.

Reuther already has won a modified wage plan from the Ford Motor Co., providing for a system of company-financed payments for laid-off workers augmenting state unemployment compensation payments, plus pay boosts and pension, holiday and vacation improvements.

EMBARRASS REUTHER

If GM negotiators Harry W. Anderson and Louis G. Seaton have given Reuther advance assurance they will make a wage offer patterned after the Ford plan there was guessing GM might do so in a manner that would embarrass Reuther and even endanger his union wage idea completely.

It was speculated that GM might make two offers, one like the Ford plan and another proposing much larger cash pay boosts for GM workers, with the suggestion the UAW let the workers choose between the two plans.

Any GM offer providing for a fat pay raise, either alone or as an alternative to the guaranteed wage, might put Reuther on the spot.

The UAW has given the company notice that beginning tomorrow afternoon, some eight hours before a possible walkout, the union may lift this veil of silence and start to talk.

GM was playing a cool and calculated bargaining game and not tipping its hand on its hold card until the last possible moment.

House Rejects Power Request

Turns Thumbs Down on Dixon-Yates Line to TVA System

In an effort to kill the project, the House group turned thumbs down on construction of transmission lines between the Dixon-Yates plant at West Memphis, Ark., and the Tennessee Valley Authority's system.

At the same time, the committee diverted the 6½ million dollars proposed by Eisenhower for the transmission lines to TVA construction of a steam generating plant at Fulton, Tenn., an administration-opposed project.

The Dixon-Yates combine has a contract with the Atomic Energy Commission to construct the 100-million dollar West Memphis plant with private funds.

The contract was negotiated at the President's direction over Democratic protests. Power from the Dixon-Yates plant would be fed into the TVA system to compensate for electricity now being furnished by the TVA for atomic installations.

Senate Probers Try to Wind Up Lev Questioning

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Investigations subcommittee sought to wind up its investigation of bribe accusations against Chicago hatmaker Harry Lev, who has denied them.

The voluble Lev had some tempestuous exchanges with subcommittee members yesterday about his relations with government people with whom he negotiated profitable contracts.

He insisted he had "never paid a bribe" and told the subcommittee "I could absolutely swear that I never got inside information whatsoever" about the contracts for which he bid successfully.

He says he has made a million dollars or more making caps for the armed forces.

The subcommittee is exploring for evidence of possible graft in connection with contracts let to Lev and others for the manufacture of military and naval uniform items.

Navy inspector Henry B. Vining, of San Patricio, P. R., acknowledged yesterday that some shipments of white sailor caps from Lev's Puerto Rico factory apparently "slipped past" him last year after he had accepted favors from Lev's partner Maurice Ades.

But Vining swore there was no relationship between the slipups and the reduced hotel rates he said Ades arranged for him in Puerto Rico while he was inspecting production at the Spencer Manufacturing Co. plant.

"I have not let a defective garment knowingly slip past," he said.

Ike Offers Atomic Peace Programs

In his address the President recalled that on Dec. 8, 1953 he proposed to the U.N. the creation of an international atomic energy pool for peaceful purposes.

Eisenhower noted that the U.N. a year later endorsed the plan, but he said Soviet Russia still has "indicated no willingness to share any part of its nucear stockpile" with such an international agency.

"Our offer still stands," the President said. "But we cannot wait on Soviet decisions."

Without waiting, Eisenhower said, the United States, already has entered into atoms-for-peace agreements with Turkey, Lebanon, Israel, Italy, Spain, Switzerland, Denmark, Colombia, Brazil and Argentina—and is negotiating additional pacts.

"Now we move in further action," the President declared. Then he set forth the two new programs.

They are directed specifically to "free nations" of the world, but the President at one point seemed to be appealing to the Russian people over the heads of the Kremlin dictators:

"Surely those of the Russian people—who, despite their Communist overlords, still think for themselves and who still retain respect for human dignity — are moved by the same feelings as we," Eisenhower said.

He said the research reactors—which presumably would be used in the fields of medicine, agriculture and industry, for example—would be "fertile seeds for progress sown in the receptive soil of the free nations."

The President spoke at some length to the 1,828 Penn State graduates about their role in the life of America in the years just ahead in this atomic age.

Rochester Man Injured When Tire Blows Out

A Rochester man was treated for cuts and abraisions and released early this morning, after the car he was driving veered off the road when a tire blew out.

Marvin C. Fultz, 20, 2415 Eastern, said the car went out of control on John R. road, a quarter-mile north of School road in Avon Township.

State Senator, Roads Officials at It Again

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—State Sen. L. M. Shultz and the State Highway Department are squared away again.

It happens it's "Rogers" and not "Rodgers." Shultz was quick to point that out to State Engineer L. N. Ress and Ress was quick to have new signs put up.

Yesterday, Ress had the misspelled signs, neatly gift wrapped, given to Shultz in a legislative chamber presentation.

MSC to Reword Songs to Agree With New Name

EAST LANSING (AP)—The "Fight Song" and "Alma Mater" of Michigan State College are in for revisions when the school's name is changed to Michigan State University July 1.

The State Board of Agriculture will consider the revisions at its June 17 meeting.

Two lines of the fight song are up for alteration.

Instead of "a college known to all," MSC fans will sing "a school known to all."

The first line of the chorus will be changed from "smash right through that line of blue" to "go right through for MSU." The final line will read "victory for MSU."

Three changes may be made to "MSC Shadows," the alma mater. The first line will read "MSU" instead of "MSC we love thy shadows."

"Thee" will be changed as the last word in line 13 to "you," making it read "and turn our thoughts to you" to rhyme with line 15 which will read "and thy praises MSU."

USC Students Chill Shivers

But Texas Governor Addresses Graduates in Spite of Protest

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas appeared on the University of Southern California campus today despite student protests, and in a commencement address merely hinted at the controversy his visit aroused.

In opening his speech to the 3,116 member graduating class, the Texan said: "It is a rare privilege for me, as a Southern Texan, to address you, the 1955 graduates of Southern California.

There has been, I understand, some division of opinion as to the appropriateness of this particular occasion. That I can fully appreciate. I have long held to the school of thought that the moment of graduation is an inappropriate time for speech-making."

Before the Texas governor arrived in response to an invitation to be the principal commencement speaker, there had been conflict of opinion between the USC administration on one hand and the Student Senate and some faculty members on the other.

The Student Senate unanimously passed a resolution asking that Gov. Shivers be replaced as commencement speaker. Student leaders said the action stemmed from Shiver's views on segregation.

In his speech Shivers said the South has made progress in the matter of bigotry and prejudice.

"We are moving, inevitably and visibly, toward the standard of one nation, united—with one set of national values, with common attitudes and common interests," said Shivers. "Technology, transportation, communication, information are bringing America closer together, breaking down the walls of regionalism, making sectionalism obsolete. This change is profound."

He went on:

"If we demand tolerance from others as a mark of our freedom—we should not be intolerant of their views. If we demand the right to speak freely, meet freely, worship freely — we have a responsibility to accord the same privilege to others."

An honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred on Gov. Shivers.

The ceremonies marking the 75th anniversary of the university's founding.

Set New Lie Tests for Jeannie Suspect

EAST LANSING (AP)—State Police scheduled new lie detector tests today for a 29-year-old father held for questioning in the rape-slaying of 8-year-old Jeannie Singleton.

Troopers said tests given the man yesterday failed to show any evidence of guilt. He was booked overnight at the Ingham County Jail at Mason on suspicion of murder, pending further questioning.

Police have quoted the man as saying he accosted a 14-year-old girl near the Singleton home in Kalamazoo the day Jeannie vanished, May 23. But he denies complicity in the Singleton case.

Jeannie was raped and strangled and her body was found June 1 in a wooded area in Allegan County 18 miles from her home.

Troopers said the man they are questioning surrendered to Kalamazoo police yesterday when he learned police were linking the accosting case with the Singleton slaying.

Japan Eyes Atom Fuel

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Japan is rushing to utilize atomic fuels because its orthodox fuel supplies are disappearing, Ichiro Isihikawa, only civilian member of Japan's Atomic Energy Council, said today. He is en route to Washington.

Ford Chairman Hails New Pact

Tells Business School New Jobless Pay Plan Good for All

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Ernest R. Breech, board chairman of Ford Motor Co., today described the Ford-union contract agreement "good for the workers, good for the company, good for the whole country."

Breech said in an address prepared for the Harvard Business School's 25th annual national business conference the agreement with the CIO United Auto Workers "solves a knotty problem which concerns not only American industry but the general public as well."

The three-year agreement reached last Monday provides a "guaranteed semiannual wage" and other benefits. Under the agreement, a 52 - million-dollar company fund will be established to pay benefits ranging up to $25 a week to laid-off employes. The payments would supplement state unemployment benefits.

Breech said that Ford long has been "completely sympathetic toward the desire of our employes to lessen the risks of unemployment resulting from seasonal factors in the auto industry."

"We have sought consistently to stabilize our production and employment to minimize layoffs due to model changes by better planning, to use overtime pay, wherever possible, to meet production peaks rather than hire temporary workers," Breech said.

Breech said the future market "promises to be unlike anything we have known before" and predicted it will be "hotly competitive."

"We see no ceilings to that market except the ones imposed by our own shortness of vision," the Ford board chairman said.

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. William McClain

Mrs. William (Myrtle E. Steinhelper) McClain of 148 S. Parke st. died suddenly at 10 p.m. last night at Pontiac General Hospital. She had been ill five hours.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Pursley Funeral Home.

Baby Boy Sherman

Graveside service was held this morning at 11 o'clock at White Chapel Memorial Cemetery for baby boy Sherman who died at birth yesterday morning at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

The baby was the son of Glenn A. and Gussie L. Ethridge Sherman of 43 E. Boulevard North.

Surviving, besides his mother and father, are a sister and three brothers, Joanna, Glenn Jr. Robert, all at home, and Raymond Sherman of the Marine Air Force, Washington, D. C.

Funeral arrangements were by the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home.

Mrs. Anton S. Sorensen

The funeral for Mrs. Anton S. (Emma) Sorensen, 58, whose home was at 1098 Holbrook Ave., was held Friday in Racine, Wis., her former home.

Mrs. Sorensen died suddenly Monday at Elizabeth Lodge Rest Home here after a long illness. She had made her home with her son, Harold, in Grosse Pointe since selling her Pontiac Home.

Mrs. Walter Stevens

Mrs. Walter (Ida) Stevens, 60, of 243 Cherokee Rd. died yesterday morning at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

She was born July 2, 1894 in Newark, N. J., the daughter of Isaac and Sarah Rothenberg Kabcenell.

Since her husband's death several years ago, she had made her home with her brother, Michael of Cherokee Rd. during the summer months and spent her winters in Florida.

Mrs. Stevens attended Temple Beth Jacob.

Another brother, Louis, of Jamaica, N. Y. also survives.

Mrs. Stevens was sent to Newark, N. J. where service will be held Monday in the Philip Apter Funeral Home.

Too Sleepy to Tell

BOSTON (UP) — Mrs. Frank Di Francesco testified at a divorce hearing yesterday that when she tried to wake her husband he muttered "Go away Marion, and leave me alone." Mrs. Di Francesco's name is Mary.

Sees No Free Aid for Austrian Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D - Ga) said today the United States is not likely to give any free military aid to help Austria construct a defense force.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said that is his interpretation of Secretary of State Dulles' testimony yesterday.

Dulles told the committee that if aid is asked by Austria, "and we think it probably will be, we will give some assistance to Austria in equipping the forces allowed by the treaty" renewing that country's sovereignty. He said nothing about repayment.

The senator said the United States would want "repayment," either for military goods shipped to Austria or for cash loans Austria might request. No formal request for aid has been made publicly yet but Dulles said he anticipates it.

Dulles appeared before the committee to ask prompt approval of the treaty signed in Vienna May 15. George predicted the Senate will act next week.

Chain Store to Sell $1,000 Bomb Shelter

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — The atomic age finally has hit supermarkets.

Officials of a Grand Rapids supermarket chain said family-size bomb shelters soon will go on sale in all of the firm's furniture city stores.

The shelter, which sells for less than $1,000, is made of reinforced concrete and has electric lights and two ventilation fans. It is 8-feet long, 6-feet-7-inches high and 4-feet-6-inches wide.

The shelters, which will be manufactured by three Grand Rapids firms, are described as "an emergency shelter meeting Civil Defense specifications for a family of five."

U. S. Grants Turkey $30 Million in Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials said today the United States has granted Turkey an emergency 30-million-dollar increase in economic aid but has denied a Turkish request for a 300 - million-dollar American government loan.

Turkey's foreign financial situation is becoming critical.

PHS Student Is Injured When Scooter Hits Car

A 16-year-old Pontiac High School student is in Pontiac General Hospital today with a fractured nose and face cuts after he drove his motor scooter into the side of an auto at an intersection.

A witness and the driver of the car said Gary D. Malesky, of 24 S. Marshall St., was operating his scooter at an "excessive rate of speed," Pontiac Police reported.

Ruby T. Douglas, 35, of 8685 Highland Rd., the auto driver, told police she had slowed up for a stop sign and eased her car into the intersection so she could see around a parked car when the accident occurred.

The witness said she disregarded the stop sign. Police were unable to get a statement from Malesky, who is reported in good condition.

Simultaneous Auto Mishaps Injure Two

Two youngsters were injured in motor vehicle accidents at the same moment in different parts of the city yesterday.

At 3:40 p.m., William R. Hamilton, 5, of 827 N. Perry St., ran from behind a parked bus into the front fender of an auto driven by Donald R. Krueger, 18, of 84 Poplar St., at Montcalm and Joslyn.

The boy was treated for bruises at Pontiac General Hospital, Pontiac Police reported

At the same moment, 14-month-old Jack Lewis was runover by a car in the driveway of his parents home at 851 Sarasota Ave. He is in Pontiac General with a possible brain concussion.

For Spires, Mountains

Plan Church Services in Outdoor Cathedrals

NEW YORK (AP)—The doors open this weekend to many awesome houses of worship.

Their altars are in remote places. Their spires are mountain peaks. Their carpets are the earth and grass. Their windows are the sun pouring through the leaves of trees. Their music is the gurgling of a stream.

In such settings across the country, church workers are carrying out a modern version of the words of the prophet:

"The House of the Lord shall be established in the top of the mountains . . . and he will teach us of his ways and we will walk in his paths."

Through the "National Parks Ministry" of the National Council of Churches, 99 student ministers are setting up their tranquil sanctuaries in forests, hills and camping grounds.

They will conduct services for vacationing Americans seeking rest and relaxation in the undisturbed regions of the nation—places like the psalmist immortalized:

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help . . . He leadeth me to lie down in green pastures, he leadeth me beside the still waters."

The 99 summertime "churches" are scattered through 20 national parks in 11 states, from Big Bend, Tex., to Mt. Rainier, Wash., and from Isle Royale, Mich., to Yosemite in California.

About 200,000 people are expected to visit the woodland "chapels."

The young pastors of these sequestered worshipping places come from 14 denominations and 80 colleges and seminaries in 27 states.

Their "pulpits" range from a rock on a canyon wall, to park lodges and hotels, to an island in a mile-high lake to a shady spot under California's giant sequoias—older than Christianity itself.

The program is supervised by the Rev. Warren Ost, a one-time bellhop at Old Faithful Inn, Yellowstone Park, Wyo., and now director of the National Council's Park Ministry.

Each summer, he travels about 35,000 miles by plane, jeep and horseback, supervising the young preachers in a million-acre parish that ranges from the Oregon caves to Grand Canyon, Ariz., to South Dakota's Back Hills.

Ost said "there is no more memorable a place to worship" than amid the majestic mountains, the plunging rivers, the wooded valleys.

The park-land ministers will work weekdays driving trucks, bell-hopping and doing other park chores, but in evenings and Sundays they will lead tourists in worship and song.

House Committee Cuts Water Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee yesterday recommended to Congress the appropriation of 464 million dollars for water projects.

This represented a cut of 48 million dollars from the budget recommendations of President Eisenhower and a reduction of 16 million below similar appropriations last year.

Included in the appropriations was one for $338,000 for the construction of a lift bridge and the removal of an old bridge over the St. Marys River at Bridge Island.

Also recommended was a $3,653,000 appropriation for federal planning funds for various projects including work at Battle Creek.

DENVER (AP) — Released from Mercy Hospital after a dental operation, Mrs. Ann Corey, 38, of Limon, Colo., was driving home with her husband when their car collided with another in a dust storm.

Mrs. Corey was returned here for treatment of a broken foot, then was transferred to Mercy Hospital where they had only one vacant room—that she had left only a few hours before.

Cop Draws Too Fast, Shoots His Own Finger

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Policeman James W. Bradshaw was shot because he was too fast on the draw.

Bradshaw was placing an order for a new holster for the .38 caliber revolver he carries. The weapon fired accidentally when Bradshaw demonstrated how it could be rapidly drawn from such a holster.

He was treated for a wound of the left index finger.

School Head Faints While Being Tried

SANDUSKY (AP)—Harry C. Smith, former Sandusky public school superintendent, was reported in fair condition at Doctor's Hospital today following his collapse yesterday at his embezzlement trial in circuit court.

Smith, 54, was convicted last year of conspiring to collect unauthorized state school aid by padding school enrollment figures. He was sentenced to prison.

He is now on trial, charged with embezzling $25,000 in transportation and tuition funds from outlying school districts.

Predict Small Harvest of Apples This Year

COOPERSVILLE (UP) — The Michigan apple Growers and Storage Assn. predicts Michigan's 1955 apple crop will be the smallest in many years.

The association said this year's crop, heavily damaged by frost during May, probably will total about 4,780,000 bushels and that a big June drop may reduce the crop even further.

Governor Asks Opinion on General Discharges

LANSING (UP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams yesterday asked the attorney general for a speedy clarification of whether Korean War veterans "with general discharges" are entitled to veterans bonuses.

The governor said he has "the deepest sympathy for those veterans who, having served faithfully, now find that they are barred by a technical interpretation of the law by military authorities from the Korean veterans bonus."

Troy Gas Stations Burglarized Today

Two Troy Township gas stations were hit by what police believe was the same breaking and entering gang early today.

In both cases, said Troy Police Chief David Gratopp, entry was gained through windows and cigarette machines were looted.

Cigarettes and an undetermined amount of money were taken from the station at 5000 Rochester Rd. while money alone was taken at 1980 E. 15 Mile Rd., he said.

Stomach Ulcers Cured Using Cabbage Juice

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Six years of experience with raw cabbage juice as an ulcer treatment indicates that procedure should be tried on all such cases before resorting to surgery, says a Stanford University physician.

Three weeks on cabbage juice plus a bland diet healed most ulcers in a series of 63 cases, Dr. Garnett Cheney reported in the Stanford Medical Bulletin. Six patients with 'huge' ulcers needed 56 days of treatment. Conventional treatment for ulcer with drugs usually requires six weeks or more, he added.

Only three of the 65 cases failed to show healing. Dr. Cheney said each of these had dense scar tissue in the stomach and liver damage, there were three others, not counted in the 65 cases, who had stomach cancer as well as ulcers. Their ulcers did not heal.

Raw cabbage juice is particularly rich in a substance which Dr. Cheney tentatively calls Vitamin U. It apparently helps the stomach lining to resist breakdown when under attack by natural stomach acids and other body chemicals. The substance also is present in leafy green vegetables, milk and eggs.

Treatment calls for drinking at least a quart of cabbage juice daily. Dr. Cheney obtained cabbage juice in concentrated form so that less bulk would be needed. The juice also was reduced to powder and put into capsules for some patients.

J. L. VOORHEES

FLAG DAY JUNE 14th

It was September, 1777. The first frost was white on the ground. Men shivered behind earthworks when suddenly cannon roared. "Charge!" rang out. As they climbed out of the trench the men saw a beautiful flag fluttering, the red and white stripes rippled and the thirteen stars on the blue field were symbols of all they held sacred. That emblem electrified them, sent them to victory. That flag has not changed, new stars are added but the stripes — red for daring and white for purity — stand today as they did at the battle of Brandywine.

M. E. SIPLE

Display your flag. Hang it with the blue field closest to your heart. It is the emblem of everything we own, all of our thoughts, all of our ideals, our schools, churches, postage stamps and the thousands of things we take for granted. Wherever you are, whatever you may be doing, display the flag of the United States of America. That's you, me and a hundred million more like us.

TIMELY TIP ON TREE CARE

Don't leave a stub when pruning. When trimmed branches are more than an inch in diameter, paint the wounds with shellac or tree compound.

PLAN
before you plant a tree

One common mistake in planting is putting a new tree too close to the house, garage, other plantings, sewer or other vital household services. Usually several years go by before you discover your error and then there's trouble.

Take a tall tree that's growing under power lines, or very near them. Its branches, during a storm, can break power lines and cause electric service interruptions. And you may not be the only one affected when this happens. Fire and police signal systems, even hospital service in the vicinity, can be seriously hampered—sometimes completely cut off. Even without a storm, there is the potential hazard of having tree-climbing boys touch live wires.

We have prepared a colorful 16-page booklet to help you select the best trees for your home and community. Ask for "Planting for Permanent Beauty" at your Edison office or write Detroit Edison, 2000 Second, Detroit 26, Michigan.

"OPERATION BRUSH CUT." An Edison Tree Control Program Designed to Guard Against Interruptions to Your Electric Service.

Crews under trained foresters work constantly to keep 81,000 miles of lines in service, bringing electric power to you and your neighbors.

They systematically trim or remove problem trees growing under or near power lines. (Tree branches, rubbing nearby wires, may affect TV reception.)

These crews work very hard to maintain the beauty of the trees they trim.

When the "OPERATION BRUSH CUT" crew is in your neighborhood . . . if some of your trees near power lines need attention, your permission will be requested.

DETROIT EDISON

10 Communities Schedule School Board Vote Monday

Walled Lake Will Decide on Teacher Tenure Issue

Voters in 10 communities will be called to the ballot-boxes Monday in annual school board elections.

Candidates are seeking posts in Waterford, Rochester, West Bloomfield, Walled Lake, Milford, Holly, Southfield, Romeo, Clarenceville and South Lyon districts.

In addition to electing school board members, voters will be asked to decide on the name of the new high school in the Huron Valley district.

In Walled Lake, teacher tenure is on the ballot, and West Bloomfield Township residents will have to decide on changing the use of money collected under a 3.5 mill tax last year.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Rochester

There are six candidates seeking two three-year terms on the Rochester board.

In addition to incumbents Leonard J. Harding and A. R. Musson, Walter T. DeBaene, George R. Madden, William I. McClelland, and Henry L. Purdy are also in the race.

The annual meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria of the high school.

West Bloomfield

Two incumbents are being opposed by two residents in their attempt to return to office on the West Bloomfield school board for three year terms.

Katherine M. Baker and Sam G. Warwick are trying to capture the seats currently held by John C. Hall and Richard H. McClurg.

In addition, the voters face a proposition that proposes to change a tax voted a year ago. At that time, residents approved a 3.5 mill tax for three years for equipment and site improvement at the high school.

To conduct the high school building program it was necessary to provide equipment and classroom furniture immediately rather than wait until taxes were collected in 1956-57. The board of education used operating funds to pay for these necessities, and wipe out the balance in the operating fund.

The board is asking that the 3.5 mill levy earmarked only for equopment ad site improvement be rescinded, and the same levy be voted for the general operating fund for a five-year period.

Walled Lake

The question of teacher tenure is the only point of interest in the Walled Lake district voting. Incumbent board president Walter Horstman is unopposed in returning to office.

The Walled Lake Teachers Club has urged a yes vote on the proposal which would place the school's teachers under the tenure act.

The tenure act governs the hiring, employment terms, and discharge conditions. If approved, a teacher cannot be discharged without written notice of reasonable and just cause.

The annual school meeting will be held in the junior high school at 8:30 p.m.

Milford

Board members Henry Longfield and J. William Aspinall are unopposed in asking to be returned to office in the Huron Valley School District.

Also on the ballot is an advisory vote on keeping the name "Milford High School" for the new $1,250,000 high school to be built soon, or changing it to "Huron Valley High School."

Southfield

Four residents are scrambling for the two openings on the board here. Incumbent William Mikulas is not running, but board secretary Mark Rehbine is after another term. Opposing him are Elizabeth Molnar, Stanley Veighey, and Ernest J. Coverdill.

Holly

Incumbent Clare Voorheis is seeking re-election to another three-year term.

The annual meeting will follow the balloting, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Romeo

Mrs. David Pettibone and Philip A. Berthiaume are opposing one another for the single post on the Romeo board.

The school's annual meeting will take place at 8:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Clarenceville

Candidates for the single three-year term expiring on the school board are Fred Bailey and Edwin L. Johnson. An 8:15 p.m. time has been set for this district's annual meeting.

South Lyon

A wider race than most is taking place in the South Lyon district, with five hopefuls filing nominating petitions for the two three-year terms.

On the ballot will be Robert F. McCrory and O. R. McGary, incumbents; Robert Eckert, David G. Taylor and Sam Bailo.

FREDERICK J. POOLE

JAMES DONALDSON JR.

VYING FOR POST — The two candidates seeking election to the single vacancy on the Waterford Township board of education in Monday's election are Frederick J. Poole and James Donaldson. John Bell is listed on the ballot as a candidate, but has removed himself from the race. He intends to make his residence outside the school district, in Clarkston.

Honor Seniors at Walled Lake

19 Get Scholarships to Colleges, Universities in Michigan

WALLED LAKE—Climaxing the Swing-Out program at Walled Lake High School on Friday, Principal E. V. Ayres announced that 19 students had received scholarships to various institutions of righer learning.

Stan Rock and Phyllis Young received Regents Alumni scholarships to the University of Michigan. Albion College honored Jerry Gruber, Patricia Horton, and Roberta Langdon.

Others receiving awards were Sharon Churchill, Barlee Clark, Marilyn Beagle, and Marlene Sewick, from Michigan State Normal; Kathleen Kurzweil, Joyce Graham, and Elaine Eubanks from Central Michigan College of Education.

Toni Horstman and Arnold Lundmark received awards from Michigan State College; Meryl Taulbee from Lawrence Institute of Technology; Bill Keljo and Charles Potter, Michigan College of Mining and Technology; Norman Potter, General Motors Institute; and Mary Anne McIntosh from Marygrove College.

St. Philip's Auction Scheduled for Tonight

ROCHESTER—St. Philip Episcopal Church will hold its fifth annual auction sale, starting at 7 p.m. tonight, at the L. E. Smart farm, 330 W. Tienken Rd.

The sale will include baked goods. A number of antiques donated by members and friends of the church will be auctioned off. Mrs. Smart is general chairman of the affair.

Pontiac Township Board to Discuss Street Lights

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The Pontiac Township Board will discuss street lighting within the township at its Monday night meeting. Representatives from Detroit Edison will be present.

Speed limit signs for Commonwealth road and Galloway court also will be discussed.

Marlette Park Pool Will Open Wednesday

MARLETTE — The Lions Club swimming pool in the Marlette Community Park will open Wednesday, according to Village Councilman Lionel E. Thompson. It will be open daily until Aug. 15.

Alton Smiley will be general manager of the pool. Miss Sally Erwin will be the chief life guard. Assistants already named are Sharon Patrick and Jim Pruett.

Royal Oak Boy Killed by Truck

Police Release Driver After Child, 4, Dies Beneath Wheels

A four-year-old boy, Michael Dockery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dockery of 1111 Longfellow, was killed beneath the wheels of a 2½-ton truck yesterday in front of his home.

Driver of the truck, Carson J. Fielder of Ferndale, was released by police. He told police he failed to see the boy and could not have avoided hitting him.

Police said Fielder said he "felt a bump" and then saw the child lying in the street when he looked into the rear-view mirror, according to police.

Funeral service will be held at 3:30 p.m. today at the William Sullivan Funeral Home. Burial will be in Traverse City.

Church Will Show 'Blind Beggar' Film

SOUTHFIELD — "The Blind Begger" will be the featured movie during the entertainment portion of the Children's Day program Sunday at St. Mark Evangelical United Brethren Church. Mrs. Isa Bowler will give a flannelgraph demonstration of a Bible story.

Individual recitations by children in classes from nursery through age 11, and piano numbers by George Wright, Nancy Jacoby and Judy Irwin will be included in the program of the combined services which will run from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

The entire program will be presented by the 125 children of the primary department, under the direction of Mrs. Janet Wood, supervisor.

Lakeland Church Children's Day Program Slated

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — More than 140 children of Lakeland United Presbyterian Church will take part in the children's day program to be presented Sunday morning in the auditorium of Pontiac Lake School, where the church holds its services.

"We Remember Jesus" will be the theme for the 9:30 a.m. program.

The program will be presented in four sections. Beginners and Junior Department will present "The Savior's Birth" in tableau, song and story.

"The Savior's Public Ministry," will be depicted by the Intermediate Department, with tableaus, recitations and impersonations of Bible characters.

Christ's Passion will be portrayed by students from the senior department.

Rochester Home Show Not 'Toted Up' as Yet

ROCHESTER—Financial reports are not complete on how much money Rochster's first Home Show netted for the Rochester Lions Club charitable activities, according to F. F. Firnchild, home show chairman.

Over 3,500 persons attended the affair, and Firnchild said there is every indication that the home show may become an annual event.

Bible School to Start

NEW HUDSON — The New Hudson Methodist Church vacation Bible school will open Monday for a five-day program. Classes will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. daily through Friday.

Mona Holcomb June Bride of Frank Edward Keelean

MRS. FRANK KEELEAN

Mona, a Clarkston resident, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Holcomb of Midland. Frank is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Keelean of Clarkston.

The bride was dressed in a waits-length gown of embroidered organza and tulle over satin. Her jacket featured a standup collar and scalloped neckline.

Maid of honor was Sue Landrum of Waterford. Carrol Topham of Clarkston and Margaret Walls of Ortonville were bridesmaids.

Robert Bloom of Clarkston was the best man. Ushers and attendants were Martin Steiner, Charles Henry, James Collins and Russell Hubbard.

Only Two Remain in Race in Waterford School Voting

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Despite the fact that three names will appear on Monday's board of education election, only two men are in the race.

Although it is too late to have his name removed from the ballot, John Bell has pulled out of the contest.

This leaves Frederick J. Poole and James Donaldson Jr. vying for the single three-year term.

Bell has purchased a house in Clarkston, and will not be a resident of the district after a short time.

Frederick J. Poole, 30, of 1238 Reitsch Dr., is married, and the father of two children, one in school and one pre-school.

He became a full-time township resident in 1937, after living here for many summers. A graduate of the University of Michigan school of business administration, he is employed with the F. J. Poole Lumber and Coal Co.

He is vice president of the Pontiac Kiwanis Club, vice president of Oakland County Town and Country YMCA, a Boy Scout committeeman, and chairman of the Commission on Education of the Central Methodist Church of Pontiac.

James Donaldson Jr. 42, is also married and has two school-aged children. A resident at 190 Preston, he came to the township in 1933.

First elected to the board of education in 1949, he has served two terms. An engineer for the township fire department, he was formerly in business for himself, with a service station at Telegraph and West Huron.

He has been treasurer of the school board, and chairman of the building committee. A member of the Bethany Baptist Church, he is a trustee on the church board of directors, a member of Knights of Pythias Lodge 277, and Masonic Lodge 21.

Bible School Slated for Auburn Heights

AUBURN HEIGHTS — The annual daily vacation Bible school at Stone Baptist Church will begin Monday and continue every day except Saturday for two weeks, through June 24. Hours will be from 9 a.m. to noon each day.

On June 24 there will be an evening program when all the parents and friends will be invited to see on display the many items made by the children in the school.

Last year Stone Baptist Church had an enrollment of over 350 in the Bible school for the two-week $period, with approximately 50 teachers and officers helping in the school. An enrollment of about 400 is expected this year.

Ted Swoboda New Head of Cub Scout Pack 60

ROCHESTER—Ted Swoboda has been named cub master of Cub Scout Pack 60 sponsored by the Rochester Rotary Club.

Wood Geist is representative. Both are Rotarians. They plan outdoor meetings for the new pack during the summer, with a family hot dog roast scheduled for July.

Collect 74 Pints Blood

NORTH BRANCH—The Lapeer County Red Cross blood drive held at the American Legion Hall here this week collected 74 pints of blood, it was announced today.

MARY JANE SOPER

Graduating as an honor student from the University of Michigan today is Mary Jane Soper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Soper, 3085 Moss St., Keego Harbor. She will receive a bachelor of science degree. After a short vacation in California, she will take a position in New York.

Benson Spurs Farm Program

Plan for Low-Income Families Is Pushed at Memphis Meeting

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Agriculture Department launched this week an all-out effort to get the Eisenhower Administration's special program for low-income farm families on its feet.

The initial step was a regional meeting at Memphis, Tenn., with representatives of land grant colleges and the state extension services and experiment stations.

As announced by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, the plan is to hold a series of such meetings in various parts of the country. Benson apparently has been nettled by statements that there is nothing essentially new in the proposed program.

He concedes that may be true to some extent, but he also points out that this is the first time a positive move has been made to get anything of the kind under way.

UP TO CONGRESS

Whether or not some concrete steps may be taken this fall depends upon whether Congress approves President Eisenhower's request for three million dollars in operating funds and 30 millions in lending authority to make a start on the proposed "pilot" operation.

No serious opposition has yet been heard on Capitol Hill, but it may be different when the appropriation measures actually come up for consideration.

One of the key features of the proposal calls for encouragement of the states to start a number of pilot operations in vocational education during the school term starting this fall.

University Chaplain to Preach at Drayton

DRAYTON PLAINS — The Rev. Canon John L. Shufelt, chaplain of Episcopal students at Wayne University and head of the Episcopal Commission on College Work for the Diocese of Michigan, will be the visiting clergyman at St. Andrew Episcopal Church on Dixie Highway, at both 8:15 and 10:30 a.m. services Sunday.

Before becoming chaplain at the University in 1953, Canon Shufelt directed religious education at St. Paul Cathedral, Detroit, and he served on numerous diocesan boards and commissions.

Conon Shufelt is preaching in the absence of the Rev. W. R. Hunt, who will attend the jubilee celebration of the university house club Trigon at Ann Arbor and conduct the memorial service there Sunday morning.

Cat on Terra Firma After 2-Day Air Trip

ROCHESTER — Eskie (short for Eskimo), year-old persian cat of Lt. and Mrs. Wendall Harrison, was mewing its pleasure at being on firm ground again today. The kitten is back in Rochester after a two-day air express trip from Alaska.

The Harrisons, with their small son Stephen, have been living at Fort Richardson, Alaska, for the past year and a half. They are returning to Rochester, but Eskie beat them home.

Six Schools Slate Baccalaureates

Baccalaureate services will be held in high schools in Waterford Township, Rochester, Walled Lake, Clarkston, Southfield and Romeo Sunday evening.

For many graduating seniors, the rites will be a final prelude to the commencement exercises slated for Wednesday.

Waterford Township

The Rev. Waldo Hunt of St. Andrew Episcopal Church in Drayton Plains will be speaker at the 8 p.m. services in the high school auditorium.

Vocal presentations will be made by John Peter of the high school boys glee club.

The Rev. Roy Lambert of the Lakeland United Presbyterian Church will give the invocation and benediction.

Rochester

"What Can We Expect From Life" is the topic scheduled by the Rochester baccalaureate speaker, the Rev. Edgar A. Lucas of St. Philip Episcopal Church.

The varsity band will play the the processional, and the Rev. Kenneth Burgess of St. Paul Methodist Church will give the invocation. The service begins at 8 p.m. at the school.

The Rochester High School Choir will sing "To Thee We Sing," "Onward Ye People," and the benediction, "God Be In My Head."

Walled Lake

Rites will begin at 8 p.m. in the Junior High School auditorium for the Walled Lake seniors.

The Rev. Wendall Maloch of the Walled Lake Baptist Church will deliver the invocation, followed by the anthem, "How Beautiful Upon the Mountain," sung by the Girls' Chorus.

The Rev. C. F. Oliver of the Walled Lake Methodist Church will read from the scripture, and be the main speaker.

Clarkston

Guest speaker for the 8 p.m. program at Clarkston High School will be the Rev. Robert M. Atkins of the First Methodist Church of Clarkston.

The Rev. George Halk of the First Baptist Church will be in charge of the program.

Southfied

Baccalaureate services at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium will officially open the class week ceremonies for seniors.

The Rev. Stanley Forkner, director of Christian Education of the Evangelical United Brethren churches will be the speaker.

Romeo

Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Washington, the Rev. Lloyd O. Chase, will deliver the sermon during the exercises to be held in the Romeo High School auditorium at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Pay Telephone Didn't Make Inventor Rich

WASHINGTON (UP) — When you drop a dime into a pay telephone, don't cuss out the inventor. This fellow didn't die rich. In fact, William Gray of Hartford, Conn., who thought up the pay phone, finally sold his rights for $5,000.

That's rather interesting when you consider that in 1954, the coin telephones provided 6.7 per cent of all billings in the Bell System—$351,050,000.

In Washington the pay-as-you-call business added up to 7.9 per cent of all business, and in the Manhattan area of New York, it was 9.5 per cent.

Gray invented the pay phone in fit of desperation. In 1889, the young man had occasion to get hold of a doctor on the telephone. He cranked the old-time phone on the wall, equipped with batteries and magnets and people listening in and, worse than that, butting in.

PAY FOR PRIVACY

Gray, it is said, went to an Underwood typewriter plant, four blocks away to make a call. The Underwood man had a private phone and let Gray use his private talking piece.

So then and there, Gray decided that everybody ought to have a private phone, even if he had to pay for it.

Gray's invention was unique. Mr. G. was no dummy. He figured that very few people have three arms, and his gimmick called for some gymnastics. It worked like this:

First you put the dime in with the left hand. With the other hand you picked up the cone-shaped ear-piece. When you heard a "Howdy" from the operator you released the dime and pushed a little bell—two hands still busy.

And, when the party of the second part answered, you jiggled a little lever down with the elbow and contact was made.

OTHERS GOT RICH

Gray, as I said, didn't get rich on this one, although a lot of other people did. Neither did he get fat on his chest protector for catchers and umpires.

Bill Gray, in his tender years, was a baseball player — a catcher. He got so sore and mad about coming down with broken ribs from wild pitches that he invented what probably was the first chest protector for catchers and umpires.

Gray was thinking more of catchers than umpires when he invented the chest protector. It was a ribbed thing, filled with cotton, and stuffed full of air via an old-fashioned bicycle pump before each game.

In the old days, a good bump in the chest protector invented by our boy Gray would not knock the wind out of the catcher or the umpire, but games galore were delayed while a new stock of air was added to the ribbed cotton affair.

Cop Escapes Death; Dodges Two Trucks

NORFOLK, Va. (UP)—Motorcycle officer Jimmy Squires envies the man on the flying trapeze who flew through the air with the greatest of ease. Squire just flew through the air.

His first flight came when an automobile struck his motorcycle broadside. Seconds later he saw a truck bearing down, threw up his leg to keep the truck from crushing it and took off an another 10-foot flight. This took him into the path of another truck.

"If I ever broke out in a cold sweat it was then," he said. He said the truck driver must have put the brake pedal to the floor. He could feel the front wheel against his arm when it stopped and backed up.

Squires escaped serious injury but had some cuts and bruises.

Heat Expands Beams; Snarls Bridge Traffic

WEST POINT, Va. (UP)—The traffic tie-up at the bridge over the Pamunkey River was a heated affair.

The temperature was 90 degrees. A boat tooted its horn. The bridge tender tried to raise the drawbridge. The heat-expanded beams jammed. Highway traffic piled up at either end. Men with blow torches shaved off bits of the expanded beams in an hour and 15 minutes. Highway and river traffic resumed. Driver temperatures subsided.

A Contract Is a Contract

Far too many folks sign contracts, then change their minds and want the contracts cancelled.

Remember These Things Before You Sign:

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Be Sure to Vote Monday in School Election

Electors of Pontiac School District have an important task Monday, June 13.

It is to fill two vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of Trustees Ferd Thiefels and Maurice Croteau, who are not seeking re-election.

Four candidates are vying for the two four-year terms. They are Lynn D. Allen Jr. a doctor of optometry; Monroe Osmun, retail merchant and trustee from 1946-54; Rev. J. Allen Parker, pastor of Newman A.M.E. Church and Theron T. Stickle, layout engineer at GM Truck & Coach Division.

Pontiac's school board is engaged in a long term building program to keep the school plant abreast of the school population's growth. This makes it important that there be a big turnout of voters and majority decisions in both contests.

The future of our public school system is too important to have these seats filled by a minority of the district's qualified electors.

Misunderstanding Delays Korean Veterans Bonuses

According to the Servicemen's Bureau in Detroit, these veterans have been notified by Adjutant General Moran's office that they aren't eligible. Basis of this ruling is their lack of honorable discharges as the bonus law requires.

In most cases, according to the bureau, these men have general discharges "under honorable conditions." Leon B. Gridley, bureau director, contends that "an honorable discharge and a general discharge under honorable conditions" are one and the same thing. In Washington Wilber M. Brucker, general counsel for the Defense Department, supported Gridley's contention, and added:

> "The general discharge under honorable conditions is now given chiefly because a soldier leaving active duty still has a reserve obligation and is therefore not technically out of service . . . Certainly the fact that a man has a reserve obligation in no way dilutes the honor of his active service in Korea."

In view of all this the Adjutant General should re-examine his policy and ask for a ruling by Attorney General Kavanagh. The facts seem to indicate that a veteran with a general discharge under honorable conditions is fully entitled to the State bonus.

Old Glory's Birthday

It seems fitting and timely to remind everyone that next Tuesday, June 14, is Old Glory's 178th birthday and that the Flag should be displayed on that day.

Past experience has shown that too many of us forget to honor the Flag on such special occasions. Perhaps it is because so many of us spend so much of our lives on wheels.

On last Memorial Day, as always, there was adequate display of the Flag on public buildings and in the downtown area. But in many a residential neighborhood there was a disheartening absence of Old Glory.

Flag Day itself is relatively new. It was not until August 3, 1949, that Congress officially designated June 14 as the day for honoring the Stars and Stripes. The date was chosen because it was on June 14, 1777, that the Flag designed by Washington, Morris, Ross and Franklin was adopted by Congress as our national emblem.

Be sure to fly your Flag Tuesday. It will show your appreciation of the individual liberties and equal justice Old Glory symbolizes.

Talented Musician

Vivian Scott delighted her audience at a recent piano recital in the Pontiac High School Auditorium. She demonstrated that she has already come a long way since she first began attracting the attention of Pontiac music lovers some years ago.

Miss Scott studied at the Julliard School of Music, and later studied abroad. She made her debut last March at Town Hall in New York City, where she now makes her home.

Natural ability, sound training and endless practice are responsible for her growing recognition as a young musician of distinct promise.

Ziegler Boxed In

Williams Makes Political Hay With Road Program

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING—Michigan ears will ring now with Gov. Williams' attempts to convince the public that State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler is dragging his feet on the new arterial highway system.

Williams, faster off the starting line than Ziegler, as usual, already has put Ziegler in a bad light—and probably will make it worse as times goes on.

The purpose, of course, is to make Ziegler look so bad that he will not dare to run again in 1957, to make it difficult for a Republican successor to win election and, possibly, even to drive Ziegler out of office before his term expires.

Williams already has started around the state saying he is "disappointed" in Ziegler's plans for new roads this year—but that the people can trust their governor to spur Ziegler.

This puts the highway chief in a pickle. If he doesn't build 2,000 miles of highway this year, Williams will continue to be very unhappy about Charlie's failures.

If Ziegler does accomplish anything— why, of course, it will be because Williams forced him to. That will be the official Democratic line.

'DEMANDING ACTION'

The governor is shouting that the "people are demanding fast action."

Unquestionably the people want better roads, but political observers had detected no indication that the public is so stupid as to think that Ziegler was going to start laying roads like a hall carpet the day after Williams signed the gas tax increase.

So the public should not forget that the two billion dollar potential road program approved by the Legislature this year is supposed to be a 10-year program.

It should not forget that road planning takes a long time, that rights-of-way take a long time to acquire, that weeks and often months must elapse between the time a road job is prepared for action and the time it has been approved by the Federal Bureau of Roads, let out to bids, approved by the State Administrative Board, and the contractor finally on the job ready to start.

SHOULDN'T FORGET

The people should not forget that the 1955 construction season is already under way on projects contracted last winter, that not too many additional projects can be readied for construction before cold weather closes in on the contractors again.

The people should not forget that one mile of the four-lane divided highways planned under this big program costs from $350,000 to $650,000 in rural areas, depending on the necessity for grade crossings and bridges. In city areas the price goes up astronomically.

Ziegler probably will get about three million dollars out of the new gas tax increase about July 20. It looks now like he won't get any more until late in October. He won't get his federal matching funds until a project is completed.

So if Ziegler built 10 miles more highways this summer than he planned under the old revenues he would be using every new dollar he had.

It has been well established in political circles that Ziegler is virtually inarticulate and completely lacking in public relations sense. But his integrity is as solid as his stubbornness.

Whether Ziegler could build twice as many roads this summer as he planned and 10 times as many next year is a difficult judgment to make for one who never cleared a cow path.

HARD TO DETERMINE

Thus it will be hard to determine whether Ziegler is doing all he can or whether he could do a lot more if he had more imagination and spark.

But we can expect that Williams will spend the summer telling folks they'd have a new road if it weren't for Charlie Ziegler. And Ziegler won't be making much of a reply.

Children's Day Grows Up From 'Piece-Speaking'

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Nearly every Protestant American adult remembers, with mixed emotions, the Children's Day of his childhood, when he and the other youngsters of the Sunday school were put on exhibition before the older church members—to sing a song, recite a Bible verse or "speak a piece." The point was to make the adults aware of the children's importance in the church. In a happy, chaotic sort of way Children's Day did accomplish that purpose.

Today, however, Children's Day has a more practical and serious purpose than just letting the two age groups see each other. Religious education has developed into a science, just as education has developed in all other fields. And Children's Day, while still a pleasant, entertaining occasion, is now the time when the adults are given a picture of the educational program of their church.

There was probably never a time in Christian history when the importance of the children was not recognized. Christianity is essentially a family religion, and there have always been customs and festivals in which all ages joined.

But the present general Protestant observance of a special Children's Day seems to go back only to 1856, when the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Leonard, of Chelsea, Mass., established the second Sunday in June in his parish as a time for the dedication of children to the Christian life.

The idea caught on rapidly. Within 25 years Children's Day was official in the Methodist, Presbyterian, and Congregational churches throughout the country.

The second Sunday in June is still observed by most denominations although the Methodists have changed to a Sunday in May.

PATRON OF THE CARELESS

St. Anthony of Padua, who lived in the 13th century, was the greatest miracle worker of his time. For reasons that are no longer clear, he became the patron saint of all careless people, especially those who lose things—a category that takes in almost the entire human race.

In European countries when anything goes astray—an article, an animal or a child—prayers are raised to St. Anthony. In our own country many a good Catholic is grateful to him for the recovery of things lost or carelessly misplaced.

He is also the patron of animals. In the days before automobiles everyone in Rome from Pope to peasants sent his horses and mules to St. Anthony's Church on June 13 to be blessed. Anthony was a friend and companion of the great Francis of Assisi, and legend indicates that the two had much in common.

There is a similar story about how St. Anthony, when the people refused to hear him, preached to the fish, who gathered around with their heads out of the water and listened attentively.

So great was Anthony's reputation for holiness and miraculous power that he was elevated to sainthood only a year after his death. Pope Gregory IX canonized him in 1262.

ST. VITUS DANCE

Everyone has heard about St. Vitus, because of the disease that bears his name, but scarcely anything is known about the saint himself.

There are various explanations of how his name came to be associated with the disease properly known as chorea. One story is that there was a shrine of St. Vitus in Germany and that people believed that anyone who danced before this shrine on St. Vitus Day would be assured of good health for the coming year.

Some dancers danced with such tremendous enthusiasm that their jerky hysterical movements resembled those of patients suffering from chorea.

St. Vitus is, of course, the patron of all who have chorea or epilepsy. He is also invoked against rabies and sleeping sickness.

Pontiac Mother Urges Everyone Qualified to Vote in Annual School Election June 13

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I hope every qualified voter will remember to go to the polls on Monday and vote in the annual school election.

Our schools are vitally important to our children and to the future of our city. Let's see that good men are elected, and that we all do our part by choosing them and supporting them.

This is no time to sit back and let George do it. It is our responsibility to see that we get and keep the kind of schools we want. If we say at home when we should be voting, we may get what we do not want.

Vote for the two men you feel are best qualified to help run our schools. Don't shirk your responsibility to Pontiac's children.

'Democrat' Says Cobo Better Stay in Detroit

If Mayor Cobo runs for Governor in the next election they will take him to the cleaners. He had better stay in Detroit if he wants to keep his record clean.

He knows Detroit and they say he has done a good job there, but what he doesn't know about outstate Michigan would fill a lot of books. He better stick to the town he knows.

'Some Drivers Menacing Even on Ideal Highways'

Just a line on the controversy we have had on reckless drivers. Yes, we have them all right, and believe me, all the repairing of slaughter-hills and blind corners will do no good as long as we have drivers such as one in particular my husband and I observed the other day.

I wonder if the man didn't realize he is supposed to stop when a school bus stops on the highway to let children off. As if passing the bus weren't enough, he had to further violate the Michigan law by passing in a no-passing zone.

By doing this, he not only endangered the lives of the children, but his own as well. The next time he tries this maybe a scott car will be around and then perhaps he won't be in such a hurry to get home or wherever he is going.

'Interested' Asks Action on Bond Investigation

I think it was high time someone did something about the practice of getting prisoners out of jail. The way it seems to work now is that if someone has a lot of dough and is willing to spend it with a professional bondsman, he can get out pronto.

But somebody without the cash can stay in there from Saturday night until Monday before he even gets a chance to get into court.

It's time somebody set up a system so that everybody gets the same deal, whether he has a dime or a million. And it ought to be set up in such a way that it doesn't make a lot of dough for the bondsmen who benefit from other peoples' misfortunes.

Big 4 Meeting Headlines World News This Week

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet.

THE GOOD

1. The United States, Great Britain and France formally invited Soviet Russia to a Big Four meeting "at the summit," to be held in Geneva, Switzerland, from July 18 to 21. President Eisenhower, who will represent the United States, made it clear that he will approach the meeting with caution and vigilance.

2. A Soviet Russian invitation to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany to visit Moscow caused a diplomatic sensation. The first reaction in Western Allied capitals was nervous. But President Eisenhower quickly said that he has complete confidence in Adenauer as a man who will "stand by his allies and his friends."

3. Italian Premier Mario Scelba of Italy won a victory for his Christian Democratic Party in regional elections in Sicily. The victory materially strengthened the position of Scelba, who is a firm friend of the United States and a bitter foe of Communism.

THE BAD

1. British industry was threatened by creeping paralysis because of a railroad strike, now in its 13th day, by 67,000 locomotive engineers and firemen. Five British and Canadian ocean liners also were tied up by striking dock workers at Southampton and Liverpool.

2. Indochina and French North Africa continued to be danger spots. In Indochina, there was fighting between the forces of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem, whom the United States supports, and the Hoa Hao sect in a small scale civil war. In North Africa, continued terrorism in Algeria forced the French government to plan major troop reinforcements.

3. Bad feelings between the Arabs and the Israelis threatened new violence in Palestine. Prime Minister Abdel Gamal Nasser of Egypt warned that if the Israelis attacked Egyptian positions in the so-called Gaza strip on the Palestine coast it would mean war. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., United States chief delegate to the United Nations, and U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold appealed to both Egyptians and Israelis to cooperate in reducing tension.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Unwed Mothers Are Urged to Put Baby Up for Adoption to Insure Happy Home

Bernice wonders whether to try to keep her baby, that will be born out of wedlock, or to let it be adopted. If you employ the moral yardstick mentioned below, this problem can be solved very quickly and easily. These cases make excellent teaching material for Sunday School classes, for they bring morality down to earth.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-354: Bernice G., aged 19, is the unwed expectant mother whom we described yesterday.

"Dr. Crane, what should I do when the baby arrives," she asked.

Again, I urge you to employ the universal moral yardstick, which reads:

That which does the most good for the most people for the longest period of time, is moral.

Unwed girls who are expecting babies, usually have two alternatives. They can try to keep their babies, especially if they still live at home and their parents will consent.

Or, they can have the baby placed in a cultured, religious home where two childless folks are eager to adopt a youngster.

"But it kills me to think about giving up my baby!" thousands of such mothers have protested through their tears after the baby has come.

And if they will apply the moral yardstick mentioned above, they will find that more happiness is brought to more people for the longest period of time by letting the baby be adopted.

MORAL ARITHMETIC

Just weigh the evidence pro and con, and see if you don't agree.

If Bernice lets her baby be adopted, what happens? Well, the baby will be happier, for it will start out in life with legal, respectable parents to look after it.

Its foster parents will also be happier to have a baby of their own.

And Bernice, while possibly more unhappy at the start, in the long run will often be actually happier, for she can then go on to college and probably marry wisely.

On the other hand, if she keeps the baby, it will be more unhappy, for it will grow up fatherless and with somewhat of a social stigma attaching to it.

BABIES MALIGNED

Such babies are maligned by being called "illegitimate". That is not true. The unwed parents may be "illegitimate" but all babies are born according to God's law.

It is unfair to stigmatize a child by projecting the illegitimacy of its parents upon that innocent youngster.

But some of this unfair censure still attaches to the baby reared by its unwed mother, so its life is not as happy as if it were adopted into a good home.

And those prospective foster parents will be deprived of the joy of a youngster if Bernice keeps her baby.

So three people will be happier if she lets it be adopted, and only (Bernice herself) would be happier if she kept it.

Mathematics thus shows it is proper to let the baby be adopted, for that will cause more happiness for more peope for a longer period of time.

UNWED MOTHERS

But don't grow panicky and confide in a dozen of your girl friends, for such matters are private affairs that should be kept within the immediate family.

And never contemplate the cowardly act of suicide. Two wrongs will not make a right. Besides, anybody can make a mistake once, but smart people don't persist in the same error.

The Child Welfare Department at your local courthouse will be of invaluable assistance thereafter.

Send for my bulletin "Facts About Pregnancy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime. It will free your mind from unnecessary medical worries.

Reader Won't Eat Eggs, Fears Salmonella Germs

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Questions & Answers

Since I read an article about Salmonella in eggs, I can't eat eggs, and owing to a nervous stomach I never eat meat, having depended on eggs as my main source of protein . . . (Miss C. F.)

Answer — Salmonella is the name given to a genus of germs (named after discoverer, Daniel Salmon) which are a common cause of intestinal infection or meat poisoning in man. A bit worse than colon bacillus infections. Eggs cooked and left exposed or carelessly handled may become contaminated with Salmonella, but eggs cooked or raw and consumed fresh rarely if ever account for food poisoning. Maybe you have a bad case of introspection.

My wife is in her changes, and your iodin ration (six tablets a day) produced a marked change in her outlook on life in two or three weeks. She's now more like her old cheerful self. Iodin ration is our daily habit — we take it wth your breakfast fruit or fruit juice. (W. H.)

Answer — Correcting iodine deficiency has some such effect on disposition, regardless of the individual's age or sex. For instructions send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing, signed, for pamphlet The Iodin Ration.

Not only has our general family health improved materially but we have enjoyed better eating and savings beyond expectation since we purchased the mill and ground all our own cereal and flour . . . (W. K. M.)

Answer — Few Yankee families have enough gumption to do so. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing for pamphlet Wheat to Eat.

. . . and tell you what a wonderful help your "Belly Breathing" has been for my mother, who is diabetic and has poor circulation. When her feet are cold and she can't get asleep at night she practices the breathing exercise as your booklet . . . in a short while she gets warm and drops off asleep . . . (Mrs. C. R.)

Answer — Instructions for natural belly breathing in Little Lesson 21, How to Breathe, for which send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I am waiting patiently for my copy of "The Forgotten People." When may I expect it? (Mrs. F. R.)

Answer — It is now about half done. Remember, I have considerable lawn bowling to do — and without that I'd be too grouchy for words.

I will be forty next month, but I drag around as though I were eighty. Bless you for the chuckles you so often serve with my morning coffee. I want to know more about the "Seven Veils" or whatever it is that you offered readers who are feeling a bit ancient . . . (Mrs. F. S. P.)

Answer — Send twenty-five cents and stamped envelope bearing your address, for booklet "The Seven Keys to Vite."

Regarding the calcium, vitamins and so forth you recommend for "old timers," would they be of any benefit for a woman now ninety years of age? (Mrs. H. M. S.)

Answer — What's twenty-five years more or less between friends. Of course they will benefit a person aged ninety as much as a person aged 30. Send address, for the pamphlet stamped envelope bearing your "Young Folks and Old Folks."

Can you suggest where I can find scientific material to help me write a paper on the psycholigie aspect of drinking. (H. A.)

Answer — Two good books to get in the public library: Alcohol and Man by Emerson.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Peter Marshall's Voice to Ring Out Again — on Discs

NEW YORK (UP) — The Rev. Peter Marshall, the Scottish immigrant who became a minister of renown and chaplain of the U. S. Senate, died in 1949. But his rich, compelling pulpit voice did not.

It is very much alive, on a phonograph record coming out next week.

Caedmon Publishers, a small but up-and-coming record company that deals only in the spoken word, has taken two of Marshall's more dramatic sermons from their repose on old tape recordings and issued them on a long-playing record.

The sermons, titled "Trial by Fire" and "Trumpet of the Morn," were delivered in 1944 and 1947 from Marshall's pulpit in the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church in Washington, D. C. An admiring member of the congregation had persuaded the minister to record his sermons from time to time.

Actor Richard Todd studied the recordings in preparation for his portrayal of Marshall in the movie "A Man Called Peter," which was based on the best-selling book written by the minister's widow, Mrs. Catherine Marshall.

Getting permission to issue the sermons on LP records was something of a triumph for Caedmon, a company started only three yers ago by two Hunter College graduates named Marianne Roney and Barbara Cohen.

COLLECTOR'S ITEMS

Caedmon has issued only about 40 selections but almost every one has the quality of a collector's item. The Misses Roney and Cohen specialize in tracking down poets, playwrights and novelists and capturing their voices in readings from their own works.

An LP on which the late Dylan Thomas reads from his poems has sold 30,000 copies, a rare achievement for a record that is basically long-hair in appeal. Considering the popularity of the book and movie about Peter Marshall, Caedmon's newest offering should sell even better.

"Mrs. Marshall helped us get the voice just right," said Miss Roney, who is 24. "A good engineer can do almost anything with a man's voice on a recording, but this time we let Mrs. Marshall tell us what to do. She says the reproduction is perfect."

Miss Roney said Marshall's words have a way of getting at you no matter how you might feel about religion.

"He was a real preacher, in the old-fashioned way," she said. "I think we really have a record here."

The Korean war killed 33,417 Americans during its duration. In the same period about 650,000 Americans died as a result of cancer.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

FUTURE CAREERS—6

A Journalist

We think of a journalist as a writer for newspapers and news services, but many work for magazines, industrial and trade publications, and radio and television stations.

A young person interested in newspaper work can work on a small town weekly or daily, or go to work on a big city paper or for one of the news services, such as The Associated Press.

The news services furnish newspapers and radio and television stations with news from other parts of the country and the world. Newspaper reporters deal mostly with news events in their own home town.

A reporter usually works outside his office, "covering" different news happenings. Sometimes he writes the story himself and sometimes he telephones it to a rewrite man. An editor then checks it and passes it along to the copy desk. There other newspaper men prepare the story as it finally will be printed.

Work on a newspaper is exacting, and requires a wide range of knowledge and a natural talent for writing. Many newspaper men and women never went to college but today students can learn the business in journalism schools. Color today's picture of a newspaperman at work, and add it to your collection of Future Careers.

Clumsy Horse Finds Uranium

Pack Animal Stumbles on Lode in Mountains of Colorado

WALSENBURG, Colo. (AP) — Despite popular conceptions, uranium fortunes are not made overnight if at all. A lot of walking and digging and waiting is involved, along with a little luck —such as that of the owners fo a palomino stallion.

A while back, O. L. Briscoe of Tucumcari, N. M., and Henry Walton of Clovis, N. M., took note of an Atomic Energy Commission aerial survey map of the Badito Cone area, 25 miles northwest of here.

The pair took two pack horses into the rough country for some prospecting. They climbed to within 300 feet of the top of rocky Badito Cone.

"We didn't realize the mountain was as rough as it was," Briscoe relates, "and we got lost."

"I was leading that old stud horse, loaded down with equipment, and Walton was walking behind.

"All at once the horse stumbled and fell. He was wiggling around like a snake on a hot rock.

"In his kicking, he knocked a bunch of snow and rocks loose and the scintillometer in Walton's hand immediately showed a good reading.

"Right then and there we had located the Stumbling Stud Mine."

Official AEC assays of the ore run from .28 to .59 uranium, compared with AEC standards of .20 minimum for commercial ore in this arer.

Strawberry Binge!

Strawberries are in season and folks who love them are going wild. Those wonderful fresh, plump, rosy berries look so good they often buy more than they can eat.

But that's no problem for those who own an electric home freezer. They eat their fill, then freeze the rest for winter feasting.

There's no such thing as out-of-season delicacies when you own a freezer. You eat what you want when you want it. Find out more about an electric home freezer, today.

Former Residents Started Unity Center

Plans are going forward for the coming visit to Pontiac and Detroit of the Reverends Max R. and Frances Flickinger of Unity Christ Church in Pasadena, Calif.

The Rev. Mr. Flickinger will speak in Detroit Wednesday at the Detroit Unity Association Temple on Second Ave. at 8 p.m. On Sunday June 19, he will conduct the service of the Pontiac Unity Center which will be held at the Roosevelt Masonic Temple, 22 State St. at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Flickinger, who heads the prayer ministry at the Pasadena Church will hold a spiritual, healing service Wednesday June 22 at 17½ N. Saginaw St.

The Flickingers are former residents of Pontiac, both attending Pontiac High School. They began their Unity work in Pontiac and started the present Pontiac Unity Center in 1937.

It has been in continuous operation since and is now incorporated. Service is held each Sunday at 11 a.m. with Sunday School, at the same time.

Members See Dream Realized After 30 Years

A 30-year-old dream was realized last night by the congregation of Temple Beth Jacob when its new temple was dedicated.

Rabbi Eric Friedland of Temple Beth Am, Chicago, former rabbi of the Pontiac congregation, delivered the dedication sermon with Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein giving the response.

The service opened with an organ prelude: "Sabbath Meditations" (Beimel) played by Charles Wilson, organist and choir director.

One of the highlights of the evening was the Procession of the Scrolls. In the procession were the officers and members of the board of directors; past presidents; members of the building committee.

Flower bearers were past presidents of the Sisterhood.

The bearers of the scrolls were Jacob Kovinsky, Jacob Meyer, Irving Steinman and Arthur Rosenthal.

Lighting of Perpetual Light, Jay Jacobson. Shehecheyonu, Michael Kabscenell. Dedication prayer, Rabbi Sanford Saperstein. Shema, Congregation and choir. Ets Chayim, choir and organ.

Tonight Dr. Jacob Marcus, professor of history at Hebrew Union College and director of American Jewish activities in Cincinnati, Ohio, will deliver the address at the banquet of dedication for the new temple.

Dr. Marcus is the author of a series of books important to Jewish life and letters, his latest work being, "Memoirs of American Jews, 1776-1865."

On Sunday afternoon, from 2 to 5 o'clock, everyone is invited to attend the open house and tour the new building.

Morning Service to Honor Graduates

At the Sunday morning service of the Oakland Ave. United Presbyterian Church, recognition will be given to 16 graduates of the January and June classes of Pontiac High School.

The pastor, the Rev. Theodore R. Allebach, will preach on the theme, "The Dimensions of Life."

Teach me to do Thy will, for Thou art my God.

REV. ART ZYLSTRA

President of Stations Tells of Latin America

The Rev. Art Zylstra, manager of a radio station in Panama City and president of the Pan American Christian Network will be the speaker Sunday at 11 a.m. in the Memorial Baptist Church, and at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church.

"Reaching the People of Latin America by Radio" will be the theme of his missionary program. The Rev. Zylstra has recently returned to the United States to attend a World Conference on Missionary Radio.

During World War II, he served as a Navy radio-radar technician and was associated with the office of cable and radio censorship.

Only recently, he completed a term of service in Ecuador with the pioneer missionary broadcaster, the Voice of the Andes, which is broadcast 24 hours daily in several different languages.

The Rev. Mr. Zylstran now heads a network of stations located in Bolivia, Ecuador, Costa Rica and Guatemala.

In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.

Sunday Sermonette

Dreams Do Come True

By DON D. TULLIS

There is a rousing spiritual entitled "Climbing Jacob's Ladder." It recounts a striking scene from antiquity. A man lies sleeping under the stars with a stone for a pillow, and dreams of a ladder 'twixt heaven and earth, with angels descending and ascending thereon, and "at the top of the ladder stands God."

A strange dream, and yet, not so strange, for since that night multitudes have sensed a line of communication between the finite and the infinite and heard "ever and anon, a trumpet sounding from the hid battlements of Eternity."

Then, one day, this line of communication became a line of contact and God came down from the top to lay His head on the straw in a stable stall, and the ladder became an eternal reality. But countless multitudes of men have not yet put their feet upon the bottom rung to start the upward climb.

Because of this fact the world is wallowing in the mire of misunderstanding, folly and fear. There is a direct connection between Godlessness and political, social and moral decay. The angel Gabriel, in Green Pastures exclaims, "I Lawd, everything nailed down is a comin' loose."

Moral standards that we believed to be lasting, high ideals we thought immortal, creeds that were long ago nailed down by the master of assemblies,—all of these are a "comin' loose." Crime is at a terrifying high, insanity is more prevalent than in any past age and world destruction is blowing its bugle lustily as it struts around the walls of the modern Jericho.

But the situation is not hopeless. When things are "a comin' loose" they more clearly reveal the things that remain. When everything that can shake is staggering, it is then that men reach out after the things that stand fast.

A French revolutionary leader said to a poor peasant, "I will have all of your church steeples pulled down, I will destroy your old superstitions," to which the peasant replied, "You cannot help leaving us the stars." Spiritual values are eternal. Their spires will continue to point upward.

The rungs of this ladder still await many faltering feet. We must show them this way upward. An English poet says, "I find it my duty to pitch a ladder 'twixt heaven and Charing Cross."

May I find it my duty to pitch a ladder 'twixt heaven and my home town.

'After 13 What' Is Topic Chosen

Theme of Conference on Youth; Speakers and Panel Discussions

The Michigan Region of the United Synagogue of America will hold its annual all-day conference on Sunday, June 26, at Congregation B'nai Moshe, Dexter Blvd. at Lawrence, in Detroit.

The theme of the conference will be "And Youth Shall Lead The Way," with the keynote address to be delivered by Irving Giles, chairman of the Metropolitan Youth Commission of the United Synagogue of America.

The conference will feature a morning session on the topic "After 13 What?" with T. George Sternberg of the Jewish Community Association of Bay City as speaker.

The luncheon session and two additional panel sessions in the afternoon will discuss "The Teenager in the Synagogue," and "The Young Adult in the Synagogue Family." Speakers will be Donna Hammerstein of the Adas Shalom Synagogue of Detroit, and Seymour Rappaport of Congregation Ahavas Israel, Grand Rapids.

A final session including evening services will be addressed by Rabbi Jacob M. Chinitz of Congregation Ahavas Achim of Detroit, on "Prospects for the Future."

Participating in the program will be Karl C. Berg of Pontiac.

The United Synagogue of America is the overall organization of Conservative congregations in the United States and Canada.

Churches Urged to Train Ministers Agriculturally

An American layman who has been an agricultural missionary in India for the past 18 years has urged that U.S. churches concentrate more time and money on the training of agricultural missionaries for work in the underdeveloped areas of the world.

Dr. A. T. Mosher, vice-principal of the Allahabad Agricultural Institute, Allahabad, India, told more than 150 church and mission leaders that more skilled persons specifically trained for rural work are needed if the church is to fulfill its obligation in caring for the needy of the world.

The occasion was a luncheon marking the 25th anniversary of the founding of Agricultural Missions, Inc., a non-denominational agency credited with training an estimated 2,000 missionaries for rural work since it was founded in 1930.

"All Right...I'll Tell You WHY I AM A CATHOLIC"

You may have heard that your neighbor is a Catholic because his father was. Perhaps you believe that ignorance, superstition and fear keep him loyal to his Faith.

But your common sense should tell you that these are NOT the reasons... that there MUST be something deep and vital and certain about a Faith which can hold the devoted loyalty of nearly 400 millions of people of every race, color and tongue on earth.

Not every Catholic can explain the reasons for his deep conviction in a way that you would understand. For the grace of God that touches a man's soul... and the willingness to believe that moves his heart... are elements of faith which cannot be readily reduced to logic and reason, nor easily explained.

But there are practical and common-sense reasons why so many millions of people are Catholics. And they are such convincing reasons that a young Catholic lawyer, with all the analytical exactness of his profession, has been moved to publish them in a booklet explaining "Why I Am A Catholic."

The Catholic system of thought, he says, provides him with reasonable and consistent answers to the basic questions which trouble mankind. He finds it reasonable to believe, as the Church teaches, that man has a physical body and a rational soul... that man and his world were created by God... and that man lives primarily "to return to God by saving his soul through love of God and his neighbor."

With these principles to guide him, the Catholic finds it both logical and necessary to fulfill his obligations to other men... to obey the civil laws... and to labor for the improvement of society as well as personal gain. For him, the basic principles of democratic freedom are not merely a political code of ethics but a fundamental part of his religion. Human rights, the right of private property, and government with the consent of the people, are essentials of Catholic philosophy of life.

Communism, the lawyer says, is a deadly menace to the world because the solutions it offers to men's problems, though definite, are false and often hideous. Catholicism alone, he adds, offers answers equally as definite and forceful, and backed up by an equal unity and zeal.

"Catholicism," he continues, "gives me confidence and courage to face the present and the future ...the confidence of one who has a map upon which the path to a sound, secure and peaceful future is well outlined; the courage of one who knows that the guide has behind it the experience of 2,000 years, the viewpoint of the world itself, and the devotion of countless millions. I am a Catholic because it would be foolish not to be."

Church Children to Carry Flags

Rector to Give Parents 'Baptism Instruction' Sunday Afternoon

Church School Flag Day Service will be held at 9:30 and 11:15 Sunday morning, at Christ Church Cranbrook on Lone Pine Rd.

The children of the Church School will not sit with their parents, but will meet in their classrooms ten minutes before church and march in the processional by classes, carrying flags of all nations.

The Red and Blue Choirs will sing at this service and the offering will be taken by representatives of the Church School.

The Summer Church School Schedule will begin June 19. Children from the 4th grade up will stay in church for the entire service. Children below that age will be cared for in the Church House.

Children will be presented for Baptism June 19th. Parents and sponsors who have not previously attended "Baptism Instruction" are asked to be present Sunday afternoon from 4 to 9 p.m. Those coming are asked to bring their supper. Coffee will be served by the church.

Daily Bible School Will Begin June 20

Daily vacation Bible School will start Monday June 20 at St. Paul Lutheran Church, Joslyn at Fourth St. and will run for two weeks with classes from 9 to 12 noon.

A staff of 14 teachers are preparing to teach children from the age of three through the eighth grade.

The general theme of the school will be "Living As Children of God." The Rev. George Mahder, pastor, will direct the school.

Sessions will include workshop, Bible hour, recreation, handicraft and singing.

Provisions are being made for the safety of the children who must cross Joslyn Rd. When the school is over, there will be a picnic for parents, children and friends on closing day.

Further information may be obtained by calling FE 5-0404.

Show me Thy ways, O Lord; teach me Thy paths.

If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily and follow me.

Confident Living

Governor Reforms State After Talk With the Lord

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Some time ago, I was having dinner with the governor of a certain state, a man about whom I had heard a great deal before meeting him. I was amazed to find how simple, quiet and relaxed he was, for I knew of his immense influence and achievements.

DR. PEALE

"Governor," I asked, "what is your secret? You impress me as an unusually relaxed, easy-going human being."

"Well, I was not this way by nature," he told me. "I've had to fight against difficulties for years. I was elected against great odds and had to go through the hard experience of getting rid of a bad crowd which had become strongly entrenched in our capitol. They fought me all the way and gave me a rough time."

He went on to tell how these people had defeated him for a while. The struggle and the defeat rankled and he had to fight against a sense of complete frustration. Tension mounted and he became nervous.

Then he ran again and won. After that election, he was tired and went away with his wife for a rest. While away, he suddenly collapsed in the street and was taken to a hospital and put to bed.

ASKS LORD FOR REASON

"As I lay here," he told me, "I looked up at the Lord and asked: 'What is the matter with me, Lord? I have tried to be true to Your cause. I have tried to do the job You wanted me to do. Why have You knocked me out?'

"And the Lord seemed to say: 'I have knocked you out in order to tell you something. Sometimes I have to get a man down on his back in bed to make him listen. This is what I want you to understand—that the way to meet your difficulties is to be calm within. Slow down. Find more spiritual power and peace. Don't struggle so hard. Believe more and trust more.'

"So I really prayed," said the governor. "I asked the Lord to give me this calm which you say you see in me. Since then I have felt sustained as never before."

I watched him all that evening. Though still full of drive and power, he had obviously reduced his speed. He had lost his sense of panic and hectic urgency and seemed able to drive through all his difficulties without tension. This fine public servant had discovered how to meet difficult situations.

SHIPS RIDE STORMS

Last summer I sailed to the Near East on the S.S. Exeter. In the Atlantic, I often talked with its very pleasant and intelligent first officer, Charlie Walther. He told me that a ship riding out a storm keeps going ahead by relaxing in the waves. When a ship is tied up at the dock, it looks huge; but, once out in the middle of the ocean, it is really very small.

"The ocean is a tremendous force," he said, "and a ship is only a very small force, but we know how to make our powerful engines adapt themselves to the timing of the sea. We don't drive them relentlessly through the waves; instead we adjust our speed to the timing of the waves. So we are practically carried along by the sea."

This technique applies to people as well as to ships. It is good strategy to get yourself in timing with your difficulties. Slow down. Look at your difficulties without tension and with lots of faith. Don't be frightened by them.

Then get yourself in harmony with God and His power and so ride out your difficulties without strain. You will go forward more effectively and you won't break doing so.

Whenever a difficulty faces you, think about God and the ability He gives you to meet it. Look down on the difficulty from a high spiritual altitude. From there, it will look small in comparison to the power of faith—and it is small. You, on the other hand, will feel big—for you are big. That's the secret of meeting difficult situations.

Sunday School Gives Program

Young People Sing, Present Playlets for Children's Day

The Sunday School of the First Methodist Church will present its annual Children's Day Program Sunday evening at 7:30.

The playlet, "The Difference It Makes When a Child Attends Church School," will be given by the following cast: Mrs. Gerald Augsberger, Joe Davis, David Cox, Linda Brocious, Ronny Burtch, Helen Ramsdell and Brenda Bayley.

The Primary Group will take part in "Missionary Giving" and the Junior Department is practicing on "Most Popular Book."

The Junior Highs will present "Bible Characters."

The Cherub, Carolers and Junior High Choirs will furnish the music for the evening. The program has been arranged by Mrs. Chester Arnold, chairman and the choirs are under the direction of the minister of music, Herbert P. Hoffman.

June Brides Occupy the Spotlight This Weekend

Honeymooning for a month in Mexico will be Mr. and Mrs. Gino M. Apolloni. The bride is the former Jan Eva Lucarelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Achille Lucarelli of South East boulevard. The bridegroom is the son of Joseph Apolloni of Raeburn street and the late Mrs. Apolloni.

MRS. GINO M. APOLLONI

Jan Lucarelli Wears Gown of Lace, Tulle

Rite Performed in St. Vincent Church This Morning

Imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle gowned Jan Eva Lucarelli this morning as she became the bride of Gino M. Apolloni in the presence of 500 guests who gathered at St. Vincent de Paul Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Achille Lucarelli of South-East boulevard, and the bridegroom is the son of Joseph Apolloni of Raeburn street and the late Mrs. Apolloni.

The bouffant skirt of the bridal gown was fashioned in a period look of poufs, finished with lace. The detachable tulle skirt was designed with a large ruffle and the bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves.

A coronet of tulle and pearls secured her finger tip veil of three tiers. She carried a prayer book and an arrangement of lily of the valley and purple orchids.

ATTENDS BRIDE

Mrs. Donald Lucarelli attended the bride as matron of honor and Lillian Rizzuto was maid of honor. Other attendants included Mrs. William York, Constance Tenuta, Gina Paretti of Flint and Mrs. Jack Vartanian of Worcester, Mass.

The matron of honor wore a gown of hyacinth-color trimmed in lilac. The honor maid's gown was also hyacinth.

Period gowns in three shades of orchid, lavender and hyacinth were worn by the other attendants. They carried bouquets of pink Carol Amling roses and lavender rose carnations with ribbons in a contrasting shade.

For her duties as flower girl Patricia Benning wore a replica of the attendants' gowns in white with lilac trim. She carried an orchid-colored basket filled with pink rosettes.

Donald Lucarelli served as best man and seating the guests were Mr. York, Thomas Powers, Thomas Leahy, James Barnett and Mr. Vartanian. Jimmy Mario was ring bearer.

A dinner was held this afternoon at Knights of Columbus Hall and a reception will be held this evening at the hall. Pink gardenias will circle the wedding cake and the bride's table will be decorated with white delphinium and pink gardenias.

When the couple left on a month's motor trip in Mexico the new Mrs. Apolloni was wearing a brown two-piece dress trimmed in white. She wore matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

Upon their return the couple will reside on Raeburn street.

MRS. HENRY C. MORRIS

Married this morning at St. Hugo of the Hills were Mary Louise Van Fleteren and Henry C. Morris. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank VanFleteren of Birmingham and he is the son of Mrs. Gertrude Morris of Machias, Maine, and G. F. Morris of Franklin.

St. Hugo Rite Unites Pair Today

Bride Creates Own Wedding Gown of Antique Taffeta

Mary Louise VanFleteren became the bride of Henry C. Morris at 11 o'clock this morning in St. Hugo of the Hills, Bloomfield Hills.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank VanFleteren of Birmingham, and the bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Gertrude Morris of Machias, Maine, and G. F. Morris of Franklin.

The Rev. Arthur Childs performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of 150 guests.

The bride wore a white antique taffeta gown which she designed and made herself. It featured a high neckline with mandarin collar and long tapered sleeves ending in points over her wrists.

The collar and points of the sleeves were embroidered with pearls and rhinestones which carried out the motif of her crown. The crown secured a fingertip veil of illusion.

Her white satin slippers were also hand-embroidered in pearl and rhinestone design. A prayer book and two white orchids were carried by the bride.

Arlynn Bader of Birmingham attended the bride as maid of honor wearing a powder blue nylon gown with matching accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations, white stephanotis and ivy.

Warren VanFleteren, brother of the bride, served as best man. Seating the guests were William Juhasz of Detroit, Kenneth Peters of Huntington Woods and Thomas Bell and Gerald Lange, both of Birmingham.

The bride's mother wore a champagne linen-lace gown with shell pink accessories. Her corsage was composed of pink rosettes. The bridegroom's mother was gowned in white lace with delft blue accessories. She also wore a corsage of pink rosettes.

MRS. GEORGE E. PETERSON

Joan Lea Peckheiser became the bride of George Edward Peterson this afternoon in First Presbyterian Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peckheiser of Birmingham, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Eduard Peterson of Fenton.

Spring Concert Is Offered by Jefferson Junior High

The annual Spring Concert of Jefferson Junior High School was presented for faculty, students, and parents in the school auditorium Friday morning. Miss Eleanore Bryan and Mrs. Tom White trained the music groups and directed the program.

The choruses and small group were developed from regular class work over the semester, with special numbers being selected from music classes.

The program was opened with a group of selections from musical comedy scores which included "Tea for Two," "Alice Blue Gown" and "Dream Song" sung by 30 seventh grade girls.

Part songs, "My Buddy" and "Early One Morning," were sung by 25 seventh grade boys.

FOLK SONGS

A selected group of boys sang two folk song, "Riff Song" and "Old Nicademus." The special voices included Joe Ingram, Jerome Busbee, Edward Martin, Tonio Rubio, Frank Pinho, Joe Lee Payne, Mack Bradley, and Carl Adams.

Gloria Griswold presented a soprano solo, "Unchained Melody." Annie Dryer, Gloria Gross, and Gloria Gibson were soloists in a group of numbers sung by the combined choruses of seventh and eighth grade girls who sang "God of Our Fathers," and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Beverly Gracey sang a soprano solo, "I'll See You in My Dreams" with Mrs. White as accompanist.

Joe Lee Payne sang the solo parts with the eighth grade boys' chorus which presented a medley of tunes, "Santa Lucia," "Fairest Lord Jesus" and "Stout Hearted Men."

CONTRALTO SOLO

Ann McCullum sang a contralto solo, "Mighty Like a Rose." Mark Putnam and Robert Finley sang the solo parts in another group by the combined choruses of seventh and eighth grade boys who gave "Deep River," "Grandfather's Clock" and "Go Down, Moses" in part arrangements.

Eighth grade girls closed the program with a sacred group, "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and "Rest in the Lord," with Ineta Cayton, Joyce Knight, Mabel Thigpen, Carolyn Bogan, Josephine French, Shirley Zikewich, and Rosalie Redmond singing special quartette arrangements.

PATRICIA LEE HARRIS

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Harris of Drayton Plains have announced the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Lee, and William Eugene Bates of East Pike street. He is the son of Mrs. William H. Bates and the late Mr. Bates of Athens, Ala.

Final Session by Children's Aid

The board of directors of the Michigan Children's Aid Society met at Hotel Waldron Friday at noon for the final meeting of the season.

Robert Barstow, state superintendent and general secretary, was a guest from Detroit. He explained the structure of the agency.

It is the only state-wide private, non-sectarian agency in Michigan, having 10 branches throughout the state. He explained the relationship of the branches to the main office which is located in Detroit.

'Reviewing Faith' Is Meeting Theme

"Reviewing Our Faith as Congregationalists" was the topic chosen by the Rev. Lawrence Graves when he spoke to the Mayflower Group of First Congregational Church on Friday afternoon.

The dessert luncheon meeting was held at the Birmingham home of Mrs. G. H. Hedrick. Plans were also made for a July picnic at the Williams Lake cottage of Mrs. Charles H. Brooks.

Assisting the hostess was Mrs. Arno Hulett.

Rosary, Altar Unit Has Gathering

Members of the Rosary Altar Society of St. Vincent de Paul Church met Thursday at the parish hall, Mrs. Arthur Crawford gave the opening prayer and reports were given by Mrs. Marshall Sprague and Mrs. William B. Dean.

Following the meeting the National Council of Catholic Women opened its meeting with prayer by Mrs. Harold Brady.

Announcement was made that the next deanery meeting will be held June 16 at 1 p.m. in St. Gertrude Parish, St. Clair Shores. Plans were completed for the annual card party to be held at the local parish hall on June 21 at 1 p.m.

Newlyweds Tour Canada

A wedding trip in northern Ontario will be taken by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rudolph Giglio. The bride is the former Daphne Doreen Langford of West Huron street, daughter of the R. T. Langfords of Parkhill, Ont.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Giglio of Elizabeth Lake road.

The Rev. P. A. Oostueen performed the wedding ceremony this morning at 11:30 in Sacred Heart Church of Parkhill.

PEARLS ADORN HEADPIECE

A Mary Queen of Scots headpiece edged in seed pearls secured her finger tip veil of illusion. She carried a cascade arrangement of white feathered carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Bernard Jewell wore a ballerina length gown of blue silk taffeta for her duties as matron of honor. Her accessories were pale pink and she carried a cascade arrangement of pink carnations and ivy.

Frank Compagnoni served as best man, and seating the guests was James Newbigging.

A reception was held at Johnstones in Parkhill. The bride's mother wore a dusty rose gown of silk mesh and lace with navy accessories and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses and cornflowers.

JEANETTE RUDD

Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Rudd of Ridge road announce the engagement of their daughter, Jeanette, to Donald Kah. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kah of North Saginaw street. No date has been set for the wedding.

Krugman President of Chorus

Paul Krugman has been elected president of the MacDowell Male Chorus, which held its first meeting of the season at the Krugman residence on East Montcalm street.

Other voices joining their president not only in song but on the new slate of officers include those of Frederick W. Koppin, first vice president; James Kantzer, second vice president; Carl Kreps, third vice president and William Knoll, secretary.

John A. Pohlman is treasurer. Music committee appointees are Neil Hunter, Carl Matheny and Leland Dennis. Other committee heads are Paul Miller, membership; Richard Miller, entertainment; John Waldo, librarian, and Ivan Long, special associate.

Topping the list of programs planned by the group at its recent meeting is another Inter-City Sing, such as was presented in 1949. At that time, several male choruses combined their talents in group singing. Individuality in solo numbers also was exemplified.

Joan Peckheiser Weds George Peterson Today

First Presbyterian Church was the setting this afternoon for the marriage of Joan Lea Peckheiser, daughter of the Harry Peckheisers of Birmingham, and George Edward Peterson. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Edward Peterson of Fenton.

Dr. William Marbach performed the four o'clock ceremony before 175 guests. The altar was decorated with large vases of white flowers.

Imported French rosepoint lace was used on the bodice, sleeves and front over panels of the bride's gown. It featured a Peter Pan collar and long tapered sleeves.

MAID WEARS AQUA

Stephenie Rich of Battle Creek was maid of honor, wearing an aqua gown of nylon crystalette. The strapless bodice was topped with a jacket featuring elbow length sleeves.

They wore matching nylon bands with artificial flowers in their hair. The maid of honor carried a colonial bouquet of American Beauty roses and pink carnation fluffs. The bridesmaids' bouquets were of Talisman roses and yellow carnation fluffs.

John Dreystadt of Bloomfield Hills served as best man and seating the guests were Robert Peckheiser, brother of the bride from Birmingham, and Jack Kellogg of Grand Rapids.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlors. Mrs. Peckheiser wore a navy crepe dress with white lace collar and cuffs and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Peterson chose a pink lace suit with matching accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses for her son's wedding.

When the couple left on a two-week wedding trip through northern Michigan and to New York the bride was wearing a blue cord suit with white accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

The bride attended Michigan State College. He is a graduate of the college where he was affiliated with Delta Sigma Phi fraternity.

Play Parents' Game to Prove Point

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: After going steady for nearly four months my parents started advising me to break up.

"I'm 16 and they say I'm too young to get serious.

"I balked, of course, and they finally ordered me to break up.

"I'm not interested in any other boys and my mind will not change by dating others. It's not just a silly infatuation.

"But how can I make them see that it will do no good and that they're just making things miserable for all involved?"

Answer: It's hard for your parents to see the merits of an involvement like yours. They aren't smitten by the boy's charms as you are. From their detached, dispassionate point of view they see him in comparison to other boys you know.

They measure him against their own standards of the perfect beau for you. They think of the limited opportunities you've had for having fun with different types of boys.

They consider your own disposition and the effect this boy has on you. And they've become pretty forthright and definite in their demands of you.

They think they're right. Insisting that you do as they wish is within their province.

How better can you prove to them—and to yourself—that this is not just a silly infatuation than by doing as they ask?

They don't insist that you stop seeing this boy entirely. They want the monopolistic hold released, that's all. You can go on feeling as you do about him while you limit your dates with him, cut out a few phone calls and that constantly being in touch.

You can leave yourself open to starting new friendships with other boys. It's just changing the name of your relationship.

Your feelings about each other may be just as keen. But socially and to all intents and purposes the steady part is off.

Your interest in other boys may quicken when you're more approachable and available. You may find yourself having fun with other people. That's the experience your parents want you to have.

But if several months of giving it a try don't divide your interest—if your heart is still beating truly and faithfully—they may countermand their order.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 15 and feel that I still have lots of time ahead of me for getting serious.

"I've been going with a boy for six months, but I still want to go with other boys and have fun.

AGNES CATHERINE BEAUPIED

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Beaupied of Berkley, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Agnes Catherine, to James E. Blackwell. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Blackwell of South Marshall street. There are no definite wedding plans.

"He's so possessive. He thinks I should talk to him and no other boy.

"I want to go with a boy I have my eye on but I can't get away from my present boy friend. What am I supposed to do?"

Answer: Six months is long enough to test out how you really feel about having a steady beau. No matter how nice he's been to you, you are straining at the leash.

Your eyes have begun to wander, you're no longer completely satisfied. That means your romance (at least your side of it) has begun to wane, and it's time you got out of it.

Tell your boy friend gently but firmly that you've had enough. Be willing to face the next few weeks in solitary splendor 'cause it takes time to get back into circulation.

And when you do start dating again, take your time about settling down with any one boy. You'd be tied up then as tight as you are now.

"Dear Miss Woodward: After going steady for two years, my boy friend told me that he would like to spend more time with the boys in the evenings.

"Since then he has begun to run around with them and he comes to school every morning with a hangover.

"Although our romance is breaking up, I still like him very much. What can I do?"

Answer: No matter how large a part of your life he consumes, keep in mind that you have just one department in his life reserved for yourself.

He has cut down the time he has for you and has announced "hands off" his activities with the boys. What can you do but act as though it's quite all right with you?

Let him get the restlessness out of his system without any fault-finding from you. Let him suffer his own headaches. Patiently and quietly wait it out.

Those invisible ties that have bound you together for two years may prove stronger than you think.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I went with the brother of a girl friend of mine to a party I wanted very much to attend, and after that he called me and asked me for a date.

"I keep putting him off 'cause I don't care anything at all for him.

"How can I tell him I don't want to go with him without hurting his feelings and making my girl friend mad?"

Answer: Balance consideration, courtesy, loyalty and politeness against your whim and you'll find it doesn't carry much weight.

This girl's brother likes you. You don't entertain any mighty emotion about him—it's just indifference so far.

But it wouldn't hurt you one bit to go out with him again and get better acquainted. It would please him.

Brigance Turns Out a Playdress

Recent Winner of Cotton Award Shows You How

1221

by Brigance

With his recent winning of the Cotton Award, Tom Brigance became the only American designer to walk off with every fashion prize this country has to offer.

A creative man who believes in clothes that do something for the wearer instead of merely collecting kudos for the originator, he is a consistent contributor of fashions that live in the easy, carefree manner.

A testimonial to his genius is this tunic playdress and bloomer costume, made in a length that is currently the rage, as well as being particularly flattering to most women.

Simply cut with patch pockets and coat dress opening, it's as smart as can be in chambray, pique, linen or cottons. The bloomers can match or you can use jersey, but you should keep the whole thing in washable fabrics.

WEAR OVER SKIRT

Worn over your own straight skirt the tunic becomes a very important town-wise accessory in any of the 36" width materials or the slighty wider novelty cottons.

Bust	Waist	Hips		Sizes
34	24	35	inches	10
35	25	36	"	12
36½	26½	37½	"	14
38	28	39	"	16
40	30	41	"	18

Size 12 requires 4⅝ yards of 36 inch material for play dress and bloomers and ⅝ yard of 35 inch material for interfacing.

Not Thanked for Flowers She Wired

Donor Will Visit With Recipient, Asks What to Do

By EMILY POST

A reader tells me: "Very soon I expect to visit a friend of mine who lives out of town.

"Her father died about six months ago and at the time I wired some flowers to be sent to the funeral.

"I never received an acknowledgement of the flowers, although I have had other messages from her since that time.

"I would like to know if it would be proper, while I am there, to ask her whether or not the flowers I sent were ever received."

Answer: You certainly may say something like, "I am wondering if the flowers I sent to your father's funeral were delivered. I wired them but don't know if they were ever received."

"Dear Mrs. Post: My Godchild is going to be married shortly and my husband and I and two children have all been invited to the wedding.

"We are going to send her a quite substantial check for the wedding present so that she may buy whatever she likes with it.

"The bride's mother and I belong to the same woman's club. All the members of the club have been asked to contribute toward a wedding present for the bride-to-be.

"I would like to know if it is necessary for me to contribute to this collection too?

"Would I be considered cheap if I did not give toward this second present?"

Answer: No, I think that the members of the club will all understand if, you refuse by saying that your main present to the bride is all that you can afford.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if my grandmother should receive at my wedding, and if so, where in the receiving line should she stand?"

Answer: Certainly she should be asked to receive.

The order of the receiving line would be as follows: First the mother of the bride, then the mother of the groom and then grandmother.

The other day a very interesting letter came in from a young husband.

"My wife is too shy to write you herself," the letter said.

"She's Swiss, and isn't sure enough of her writing in English although she speaks the language well.

"She has a part-time job that we thought might interest you, so here goes: I was a G. I. when I met her.

"After we married and came back to the States, I studied under the G.I. Bill.

"We didn't have any children then and Elsa felt bound and determined to get a job, so that we would be able to live decently.

NEVER WORKED BEFORE

"But," his letter continues, "of course it was awfully hard.

"She wasn't too sure of her English, she had never had a job and she couldn't type or take shorthand.

"She couldn't be hired as a sales girl, although the city we were in had many department stores, because the customers wouldn't have been able to understand her very well.

"Elsa didn't give up, though. She thought and thought and finally got an idea.

"Elsa had been educated in a convent, where the nuns taught her how to embroider. Elsa was always the best at it.

"My own mother said that the monograms Elsa put on the linens we got as wedding presents were terrific.

ORDERS ROLLED IN

"I don't know much about this embroidery business," the young husband went on, "but the next thing I knew, Elsa took samples of her work to the fancy linen shops and the department stores in the city.

"She offered to do monogramming for them, figured out what to charge, and offered them a commission on any work they sent her.

"She worked at home. Soon business began to come in and she got orders for everything from table cloths and guest towels to men's robes and fancy underwear.

"That was back in 1947," he concluded. "Since then, I've gotten a good job and we have two kids; but Elsa still manages to do her embroidery—while she's sunning the baby during the day, or in the evenings.

"The money comes in plenty handy and she loves the work.

"It gives me quite a laugh," he concluded rather proudly, "when I hear other women saying how impossible it is to find anything to do that pays.

Bride-Elect Given Shower

The bride-elect will exchange nuptial vows with Joseph H. Kleiner on July 2 in Detroit.

Of the 36 attending, Pontiac guests were Mrs. Robert Nichols, Mrs. William Ballard, Mrs. Larick Wells, Mrs. Ray Chissus, Mrs. Susan Carry, Mrs. William B. Dean, Mrs. Mary Linebaugh, Mrs. Edna Grogan, Mrs. George Winters and Mrs. Arthur Crawford.

Others were Mrs. Louis Hamphreys, Evelyn Jackalow, Patricia Zelinski, Mrs. Richard Supernant, Gloria Jean Supernant, Mrs. John Vanderlind and Mrs. E. K. Vanderlind.

Mrs. Sally Nicely, Mrs. Elizabeth Stump, Mrs. Nestor Copogna, and Mrs. John Prentice. The bride's mother, Mrs. Paul Falk, also attended the recent gathering.

Cranbrook Graduates 3 From City

DAVID H. WARD — WILLIAM C. ADDISON — FRANK DUNCAN JR.

Three Pontiac area boys were among the 62 seniors graduated this morning from Cranbrook School, Bloomfield Hills. New diploma holders are David H. Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Ward of Ward's Pointe drive; William C. Addison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Addison of East Pointe Lane, and Frank Duncan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Duncan of Drayton Plains.

Margaret Nelsey Named Deputy by White Shrine

Nita Payne, worthy high priestess of Pontiac White Shrine 22 announced at a recent meeting that Margaret Nelsey, past high priestess, has been honored by the supreme appointment of district deputy.

It was announced at the meeting, held in Roosevelt Temple, that Mrs. Davey Gilpin will serve a breakfast at her home on Neome drive Aug. 14 from 9 p.m. until 2 p.m.

Announcement was also made of an officers practice to be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. A dinner will precede a ceremonial to be held June 22 at 6:30 p.m. It will honor past high priestesses and past Watchmen of the Shepherds, as well as life and charter members.

Refreshments were served by Rose Bensen and Emmlee and Finley Fulkerson.

Coming Events

Group 6, OES, will meet Tuesday with Mrs. Erle Welch, 62 N. Johnson Ave.

Better Home and Garden Club will meet Thursday at noon for cooperative dinner with Mrs. Floyd Beardsley.

Country Boy Burl Ives Loves Living in the City

By EARL WILSON

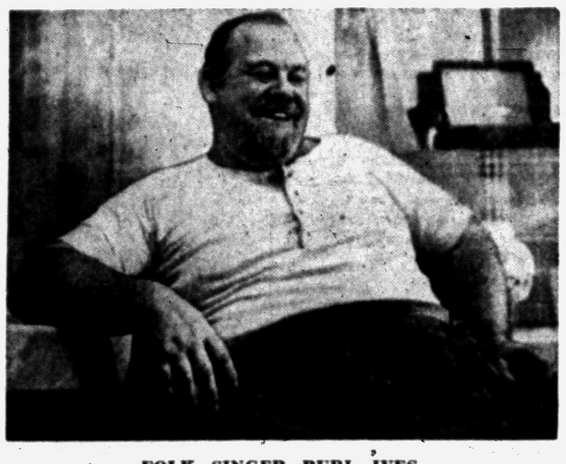

NEW YORK—Figuring you'd all enjoy the cultured dressing room dialog of two top Broadway stars, I dropped in on Burl Ives and Barbara Bel Geddes.

★ ★ ★ ★

I found them talking about pants—Burl's.

"There's a low down panty bandit loose around the Morosco Theater!" growled plump, bearded Middle Western-folk singer who plays "Big Daddy" in the Tennessee Williams hit.

"Did you lose some more?" Miss Bel Geddes, a pretty blonde in a pale blue dressing gown, sat on the edge of the wash basin, sipped her midnight after-the-show drink, and laughed.

FOLK SINGER BURL IVES
... Panty Raider Gets His Girdles

"He got me for about four more pair," scowled Burl.

"I've lost about 12 of my—"he puffed a long cigar as he groped for the proper word.

"Of my gentleman's girdles," he said. "One of these nights I'm gonna catch the son of a so-and-so!"

"But who could wear them?" Miss Bel Geddes asked, then realized maybe she shouldn't have, as this could only be interpreted as a reflection on the ampleness of Mr. Ives' stomach.

"I think two people might be wearing them!" he grumbled. "Probably, though, this louse has them on his wall as an exhibit. People collect strange things."

So that was the end of my culture hunt. Ives portrays Miss Bel Geddes' Southern plantation-owner step-daddy in "Cat." They sure get along nicely, with no feud stuff. They only disagreed on where people should live.

"We have a home in the country—Putnam Valley—and I love to get up in the morning," Miss Bel Geddes said.

★ ★ ★ ★

"I think 5 o'clock in the afternoon is a very good time to get up," snorted Ives. "I've had the country. I don't want any birds bothering me, either, with their silly singing."

Like most guys born in the country, Ives is a lover of the city. He putts-putts up and down my street, West End Av., on a motor scooter—wearing kilts.

"Doesn't your boy wake you up, though?" asked Miss Bel Geddes. She and her husband, Windsor Lewis, have two children.

★ ★ ★ ★

"You bet your life he don't!" said Ives, starting on another cigar. "I've trained him better than that."

Ives, "a product of the road," has become night owl who prowls the city till dawn trying to make himself sleepy. When Miss Bel Geddes is being wakened by the birds, Ives may just be leaving a 3d Av. hangout. He doesn't drink, though; he's dieting.

"If you lived in the country," said Miss Bel Geddes, "you could get up in the morning . . ."

★ ★ ★ ★

"Yeah, I could get up in the morning and milk those cold cows. I've had that," replied the balladeer.

"Outside your door," he added, "now that's the place to get milk."

★ ★ ★ ★

"WISH I'D SAID THAT: "When a husband opens the door and helps his wife into the car, he has probably just acquired one or the other."—Toastmaster.

Televiewers to Get Look at Huge Disneyland Park

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Walt Disney, who has already proven that TV can be used to promote his other enterprises, will use the medium to its fullest extent when he previews his Disneyland Park.

Plans are now shaping up for a giant ABC network telecast from the Anaheim, Calif., pleasureland on Sunday, July 17.

It will be the first time a Disney TV offering wil be seen on a live basis. Walt will conduct his millions of fans on a tour of his dream project.

It will be a 90-minute attraction in the late California sunshine. Host Disney is expected to be aided by Irene Dunne and such ABC stalwarts as Don McNeill, Danny Thomas and Ray Bolger. Art Linkletter is prospective emcee.

ABC has lined up three sponsors for the show and announces that 22 cameras will roam the 160 acres of the onetime orange grove.

Five thousand guests are invited, including 1,000 press and numerous film stars. It's reported that the 48 governors will be asked to raise the flags of their states on the Disneyland grounds.

The Disney people do things thoroughly. There will even be a preview of the preview. The regular Disneyland show on July 13 will feature a half hour report on the final preparations for the park. This will be the only new segment of the current season of reruns.

Disney has said that he won't stint on showing the TV audience the wonders of his park. He plans extensive tours of his four realms—Tomorrowland, Frontierland, Adventureland and Fantasyland.

Most other showmen would resist showing too much to the home viewers, for fear it would lessen the box office take. Disney doesn't hold to this. He has exposed large parts of his theatrical films on TV and still set records in the theaters.

Kids Get Fire Engine

DETROIT (AP)—Gary Nelles, 9, and his brother Scott, 6, are the envy of all the children in suburban Pleasant Ridge. They have a real fire engine. Their father, Morton, bought the elderly pumper for $125 from the Hudson Fire Department so they could play on it in their back yard.

Quell Hydrant Fire

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UP)—Firemen doused a blaze at a fire hydrant. They explained that fumes from an underground gas line had seeped up about the hydrant base.

Pay Guarantee Helps Company

Wrigley Gum Co. Says Plan Adopted in 1934 Proving Economical

CHICAGO (AP)—A guaranteed annual wage is old stuff at the Wm. Wrigley Jr. Co.—21 years old.

The chewing gum firm set up a million-dollar fund out of surplus in 1934 for what it called "income assurance" for 1,500 employes getting less than $6,000 a year pay, and the plan has cost the company "virtually nothing."

Actually, President Philip K. Wrigley told a news conference yesterday, the company benefited because resultant rearranged production schedules and a year-around sales program "proved more economical in the long run."

The plan guarantees employes of 10 years standing unemployment benefits for 30 weeks. Workers only six months with the company are assured four weeks.

Employes earning $24 a week or less get 80 per cent of base pay. Those earning more than $72 a week get a guarantee of $43.20 plus 20 per cent of the rate in excess of $72. Thus benefits for a $24 employe would be $19.20 a week, for an $80 employe $44.80.

Wrigley said the company has spent about $160,000 from current operations to pay costs of the system, but the million-dollar fund has remained intact.

The company also pays each employe and extra two weeks pay each year on the date they became eligible to participate in the plan, but this, too, is paid from operating income. These payments have amounted to about two million dollars since they were begun in 1937.

Chilean Students Back in Class After Strike

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile's striking university students decided last night to end their 12-day walkout and go back to classes Monday.

The students went on strike demanding the ouster of Under Secretary of the Interior, Carlos Ferrer. They blamed him for government delay in giving refuge to 13 Peruvian students accused of demonstrating in Argentina but released after six months detention.

Piper Laurie Gets $7,850 in U.S. Bonds

She went down to the Hall of Records and picked up U.S. bonds which superior court had ordered her to buy between 1950, when she landed her first movie contract, and Jan. 22, 1953, when she turned 21. Piper is 23 now and has appeared in 14 films.

A 1950 court order impounded part of her earnings as a minor. She got the bonds yesterday.

Hefty Actor Jumps Ship in New Jersey

WILDWOOD, N. J. (AP)—There's a big reward in store for anyone who can bring back alive a hefty character who jumped ship off the New Jersey coast.

He was supposed to take up life as an entertainer but he didn't take kindly to the idea and dropped off the schooner Atlantic after coming from Catalina Island, Calif.

The fellow has been swimming for two days, eluding dozens of small boats, and eating eels. Such a fare would be odd, except that they're looking for a 300-pound wild seal who was slated to be part of a sea zoo exhibit.

Britishers Get U.S. Lowdown

Visiting Writer Calls It a Mad World of Easy Credit, Wild Spending

LONDON (AP) — Englishmen who frequently wonder what it's really like in the United States received this answer today:

Its a mad world of easy credit, lavish spending and market speculation, where it always is Saturday night with the fleet in and pockets loaded.

That was the word picture brought back by Bill McGowran, Columnist for the Evening News, which claims the world's largest circulation for evening newspapers —nearly 1,500,000 copies.

He has made frequent trips to the United States for the paper and recently attended the Marciano-Cockell heavyweight championship bout in San Francisco.

"I am assured that the average citizen is now spending ten percent more than he earns each year,' McGowran wrote.

'Cars are so easy to buy and they almost throw them at you. One of California's leading dealers —no fly-by-night junk yard but a solid old - established firm—specializes in cars selling at $3,500 to $3,800. For a down payment of $150, less than five per cent, you can drive away a brand new saloon (sedan).

"Credit is easy to obtain. If you are a respectable citizen with a job any bank will grant it to you. Trading in your old car sounds like a lovely dream to an English motorist. No matter how old and decrepit your jalopy may be, any dealer will gladly allow $500 on it to sell a new car."

"These are boom days and the easy-spending Yankees live on the principle that there is plenty more where this came from.

"Whenever I went into a store to make a personal purchase, a shirt perhaps or a pair of socks, the assistant promptly said: 'Shall I charge it sir?'. When I told them I would pay cash, the invariable reply was: 'We should be happy to have you open a charge account with us.' So would I, dollars being mighty scarce and every shop window like an Aladdin's cave.

"Another boom-time symptom reminiscent of the crazy inflationary days of the 1920s is the eagerness with which ordinary people are dabbling in stocks and shares.

"One California newspaper has nine photographers on its staff but when a big story broke the other week not one of them was available to cover the job. General Motors shares had made a spectacular jump and the whole staff had taken a day off to count their winnings and celebrate.

"A free-lance reporter told me that he proposes to take a trip around the world on his stock market profits.'

Modern Skipper Revives Days of Sailing

Once every two months Omer Darr, 36, and his crew will ply the waters between Hawaii and Tahiti. But the maiden voyage will be somewhat different.

This time the Te Vega is scheduled to sail to the Marquesas and other islands in the South Pacific, including Tahiti, and will arrive in Honolulu on Aug. 15.

From then on she'll sail from Honolulu to Tahiti on trips lasting six weeks. The luxury sightseeing voyages will cost each passenger about $65 per day.

The Te Vega has many conveniences unheard of in the days of the clipper ships—radios for instance and a diesel engine for days when winds are of little assistance.

Costs of the trips depend on how far the passengers go and which cabins they occupy. It will be possible to sail one way and fly back.

Darr has been a sailor since he cruised Puget Sound in a small boat as a boy in Seattle. As a Navy man during World War II, he flirted with the idea of making peacetime sailings in the South Seas profitable.

After the war he went to China in 1946 in search of teak wood with which to build a vessel of his liking. Lack of proper framing material scuttled his plan then and he served a year with the Chinese Nationalist government battling smugglers.

Back in the United States agian, Darr bought the 71-foot sailing vessel Nordly and took her as a charter vessel on numerous trips to the Galapagos, Marquesas, Tahiti and Hawaii. He makes his home in Honolulu with his wife and three children.

Darr found the Te Vega in Tahiti and sailed her to Newport Beach for outfitting.

When she leaves this afternoon, the Te Vega will have a crew of 19, including Darr's attractive wife, Harriet, and six passengers. Mrs. Darr will make this inaugural voyage but she won't be along on all of them.

Among the passengers is author William S. Stone, who lives in Tahiti and has written several stories about the islands, including "Tahiti Landfall," basis of the motion picture "Pagan Love Song."

The skipper speaks in glowing tones of the winds between Hawaii and the South Seas. "It's sailing at its best, he says.

Some scientists now estimate that by 1976 almost one-half of all the new power station installations in the U. S. will depend upon atomic energy for their primary power sources.

The Right Man For The Job!

THERON T. STICKLE

Mr. Stickle is employed as a construction layout engineer at the General Motors Truck and Coach, he lives with his family at 615 Lowell Street.

He was educated at Central State College at Mt. Pleasant and served as a school teacher, principal and superintendent. This experience would be of great value as a member of our Board of Education.

He is rather quiet, unassuming and a very sincere gentleman. He will work harmoniously with others on the Board and the administrative staff on all constructive program for our school system and will stand for the operation of our schools on a high scholastic and moral plane.

background for LIVING

BLACK, WHITE, TURQUOISE AND RED—Mrs. William Aebersold enjoys working in this kitchen which not only is the ultimate in attractiveness, but offers an efficient working plan. Note the peninsular unit which doubles as a working counter and as a serving area at mealtime. Walls of this large, naturally light room, are in turquoise. Cupboard doors are natural birch and the counter tops and floor are covered in black and white marbleized linoleum. Curtains and other accessories are done in bright Chinese red. The photo at the left shows William Aebersold, Waterford junior high school teacher, working at his hobby spot in the basement of their new home with Mrs. Aebersold pointing out some ideas she has clipped from the newspaper.

Your Neighbor's House

W. Aebersolds Select Waterford Home

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

"It is good for a teacher to put his roots down and become a taxpayer in the community in which he has chosen to work!"

This is the philosophy of young William Aebersold—school-master in the subjects of English and history at Waterford Township's new Isaac E. Crary Junior high school.

The Aebersold roots have been "planted" at 4730 Ward Ross Drive in a red brick one-story with full-basement home which is the 14th house on the left hand side of a winding blacktopped street where homes with practically the same floor plan and exterior measurements have achieved a definite note of individuality.

VARIETY FEATURES

There are variations in roof elevations and pitch lines.

Porches grace the fronts of some with simple "stoops" flanked with ledgerock planters selected for still others.

And then there are the people themselves whose common claim is pride in home ownership. This produces lawns, miniature shrubs and burlap-wrapped birch, maple and Chinese Elm trees.

It also shows results in the neat placement of clothesline posts along the back property line.

LIKE CIVIC PRIDE

The Aebersolds chose Waterford Township as the spot for their first mailbox not only because he is a teaching member of the school faculty—but because they believed this area which is currently the most rapidly expanding governmental unit in Oakland County has a lot of civic pride to offer.

A typical how-young-America-lives story, chronological prelude to the threshold-crossing of their own home on March 17, 1955, was:

Aebersold was raised in Tecumseh, Michigan, graduated from Adrian College, served with the American forces in Korea (was a staff correspondent with Stars and Stripes), came back to teach and met attractive Mary Maze of Pontiac. She has been associated with Pontiac Paint and Varnish Co. for several years, is a decorator by instinct and has a flair for coordinating color, texture and line.

The floor plan includes a large living room, hallway which is the traffic link between the bedroom wing and the kitchen and living room area, three bedrooms (one now being used as Aebersold's study) ceramic tiled bathroom, spacious kitchen with dining section and a basement

TABLE-BASKET—Wrought iron with glass and a straw basket resembling an inverted coolie hat in its base makes up this cocktail table by Italian designer Maurizio Tempestini. It is guaranteed against rust for out-of-door use and is available in lemon, aqua, flamingo, silver, pink, white, bronze and peach. It is 31 inches in diameter.

Reproductions Ingenious in This Age

When you step into a store to buy a radio or televiston set or an article of furniture, you may be surprised to find that the beautiful mahogany finish is not mahogany at all. As a matter of fact, it may not even be wood.

It is now possible to photograph the grain of a beautiful piece of wood and, from the negative, prepare an etched plate or cylinder from which thousands of faithful reproductions of the grain pattern may be made.

Paint chemists can match the colors of the original wood so closely that even the experts have difficulty in choosing the reproduction.

The process is applicable to low cost woods, composition board, metal or plastics, thus making it possible to combine the best physical properties of these materials with the beauty of expensive natural woods.

'Tooth' Desirable in Painting Job

Should you be painting over an old coating that is chipping and peeling, make sure that all loose paint is removed with a wire brush, steel wool or coarse sandpaper.

Next, sand the surface smooth —especially the edges of patches of old paint.

If some of the old coating is still glossy in spots, reach again for your sandpaper. A new coating will adhere more efficiently if the surface to which it is applied has "tooth," as they say in the trade.

Aebersolds Plant Roots in Waterford

All hardwood floors are used with the exception of the kitchen where black and white marbleized inlaid linoleum has been installed. This same linoleum covers the counter tops of the unit designed for the ultimate in efficient work areas with its U-shaped cupboards and peninsular counter. Cupboard doors are in natural birch with framework and walls of the entire room in turuqoise.

Mrs. Aebersold chose Chinese red accessories—curtains, plastic upholstering for the wrought iron dining set and decorative dishes.

The same turquoise is used for the master bedroom with lemon for contrast. Another bedroom has a mustard colored wall, same as the hallway, with gold, brown and green accessories.

Gray tile with black trim note in the bathroom is highlighted with a harlequin shower curtain with an ebony background. There is also a recessed linen closet in this room.

Each bedroom has its own sliding door full-length closet and each end of the hallway features more built-in storage areas.

GRAY WITH GRAY

Convenience feature of the house plan is the side entrance which leads to the basement or kitchen. Adjacent to this is the milk shoot and the broom closet.

Aebersold plans to complete the basement himself. He is a woodworking hobbyist.

Benefits Looks

Often it is possible to improve the appearance of a house greatly by repainting the ceiling, railing, pillars and floor of the porch—even though the rest of the house is not done at the same time. Hollow pillars and the spindles on railings are often moisture-traps that can cause trouble if they do not have adequate paint protection.

CAREFUL PLANNING can pack three bedrooms and bath, large living -dining room and efficient kitchen in 1,000 square feet of space This plan shows one way to do it for an economical no-basement house. Plenty of closets, a utility room and a storage shed in the carport eliminate need for a basement. The economical rectangular construction of the house is disguised by carport on one side and covered terrace on the other. This is plan 306AP by Walter T. Anicka, architect, 617 Forest St., Ann Arbor, Mich. The architect suggests mineral wool insulation and asphalt shingles for the roof.

Buyers Look Into Closets

Spacious Storage Demanded in Houses Today

Surveys show that convenient kitchens and well designed closets rank at the top of the list of things women look for when buying a new home.

The interest in kitchens is not new. Women have always wanted convenience in their workshop areas. With today's spacious kitchen cabinets and labor saving appliances, they are getting it. Even dish washing now can be done by pushing a button.

Interest in closets is a more recent development. Leading builders say that smaller and more compact homes emphasize the need for plenty of useful storage space. To meet this interest in storage, many builders are adding special features as well as space to their closets. Cedar-lined closets, for example, are becoming increasingly popular.

Builders say that in original construction they can provide cedar closets at little or no more cost than closets which are plastered. This is because aromatic red cedar closet lining may be applied directly over framing, without any special base.

Cedar closets, whose best known function is to protect woolens from moth damage, offer home owners beauty and ease of maintenance.

The wood needs no varnish, paint or other finish to bring out its full beauty and make it last for a lifetime.

It has also been noted that builders are putting more accessories into closets. Adjustable shelves, shoe and tie racks are among the easy-to-install conveniences which add much to the sales appeal of new homes.

Check Flashing Around Vents

Practically every building has one or more pipes or vents projecting through the roof. They are mostly circular in shape and require special flashing to prevent leaks. The lack of the proper flashing can result in costly moisture troubles that will rot wood, rust metal and cause paint to blister.

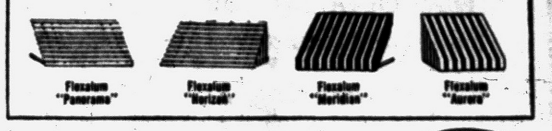

The Dra Valley in French Morocco grows more than 300 varieties of dates, says the National Geographic Society. The average resident of the valley eats three pounds of dried dates a day.

Evolution Comes to Bathroom

Progressive Planning Brings Color, Carpet to New Room

The next five years may see the greatest evolution in bathroom planning since the outdoor toilet was moved inside.

Bathrooms are no longer the stepchildren of the home. Today they are being planned scientifically for an ever increasing variety of functions. For example, there are 36-million washers and 3-million dryers in the country, but still most people do their washing the old-fashioned way—by hand in the bathroom.

Progressive builders and architects are taking these facts into account in their designing. Bathrooms are becoming larger to provide space for washing, hanging and storing things.

Small, built-in dryers are on the way in for the convenience of millions of women who wash out "things" in the bathroom.

Cold, hard bathroom floors are being covered with washable carpeting and throw rugs which are much more comfortable to bare feet — especially after a warm bath.

Colorful decorating schemes are helping to make the modern bath a family show place. Washable wallpaper, tile, towels and accessories are available in a rainbow of colors to strike any housewife's fancy.

Modern fixtures are streamlined in keeping with today's taste and come in a number of soft pastel shades designed to blend with a variety of harmonizing colors. Popular fixture colors include pink, gray, tan, blue and green in addition to white.

Bathrooms of thirty years ago were designed along strictly functional lines. This may be why there was only one bath to a home—people don't care for drab, unattractive rooms. Today, however, one-and-a-half and two-baths are becoming a minimum. And the rising popularity of dressing room-baths that encompass a variety of activities points the way towards the home of the near future where private baths inevitably will become an integral part of every bedroom.

Choose Paint Which Retards Wood Rotting

When you build arbors or trellises—or enclose your outdoor living room with attractive fencing—you'll want to check on the special coatings now available which retard the rotting of wood that must be placed below ground.

These are known as wood preservatives.

For the finish coat on a fence, its advisable to use regular house paint in a color that harmonizes with the color scheme of your house.

This same type of paint will also serve admirably for trellises and arbors, although you may wish to use trim-and trellis paint which is made especially for the purpose.

Colorful Opportunity

Now that new eye-pleasing colors are being used more and more on the surfaces of kitchen appliances, there is greater opportunity than ever for attractive paint-color schemes for kitchen walls, ceilings and woodwork.

Paint the trim before painting the siding on upper sections of a house where you need to use a ladder. This eliminates the danger of marring newly painted surfaces with the top of the ladder. On lower sections of a house, the siding can be painted before the trim.

At right, the man of the household works on the trim, while the shutter receives feminine attention.

Before the finish coat is applied, all surfaces must be carefully prepared. Rough spots should be sanded smooth; all rust removed. Cracks should be filled. Any spots of bare wood or metal must be primed.

To paint clapboards, first run your brush along the edge where one strip of siding overlaps the next. Then "spot-paint" a strip of the siding by striking your newly-filled brush to the wood at intervals from the spots with smooth brush action that spreads the paint evenly, making sure that you cover the entire board.

Farmer Builds Own Golf Links

SCHULENBURG, Tex. (UP)—When 29-year-old Gene Mukulik feels like shooting a practice round of golf, he just steps behind the barn and tees off.

However, he says his home-grown links are merely for practice. When he really wants to get in competition, he mounts a motorcycle equipped with a personally designed and executed caddy cart and takes off for one of the many fine courses around Schulenburg.

Mukulik also has designed and built, with his father's assistance, several buildings on the farm near Schulenburg where he lives with his parents. One of these houses power tools and a welder and a number of unusual implements, all made by Mukulik.

VERSATILE TABLE

Another of the farm buildings houses the motorcycle and a number of boards and paints and a strange-looking table. The table is primarily a work area for the lucrative sign - painting business Mukulik's carries on as a sideline to farming.

But when the board covering the table is turned over, the work area becomes a regulation ping-pon gtable. When the top is removed, it becomes a billiard table, another of Mukulik's inovations.

One of Mukulik's most expressive avocations is in art. He is a self-taught portrait and landscape painter and is interested in ceramics and wood-carving. He has sold several paintings since he started dabbling in oils at the age of 13, and has been commissioned for two church murals.

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — Constable Ezra Bilbo is still trying to figure how this happened: A car hit a road repair barrier, sailed over a 6-foot fence, and ended radiator-first in a mud hole. The two occupants were unhurt.

Vandals Wreck Big Locomotive at Texas Fair

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—Five years ago the Texas State fair received from the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. what was called "the world's largest Christmas gift."

It was a giant locomotive that cost $117,000 when built 30 years ago. As the railroad became dieselized, its president, W. G. Vollmer, thought it would be worth while to have one of the old-type steam locomotives on exhibit at the fair.

The locomotive, No. 638, was given with no strings attached. A ramp was built to the cab so youngsters could see the inside of the "iron horse."

But that was a mistake. The big engine became a victim of juvenile vandals, who made off with small levers and gauges, broke windows and otherwise defaced the once-proud locomotive.

Fair officials decided the locomotive in the shape it was assuming was no credit to the Texas & Pacific. They ordered the locomotive sold for scrap, and the cutting torches went to work.

Sorting Milk Bottles Is Specialized Work

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP)—Milk bottle sorter—that's Leo LaMountain's unusual job.

He operates an exchange where dairies bring in bottles from various other dairies that they have collected on their routes. LaMountain sorts them and returns them to their proper dairies.

He now handles about 2,000 milk bottles a week. And he's thankful for the popularity of the cardboard container, because he once had to handle about 15,000 glass bottles per month.

About 58 per cent of rural roads in the U.S. are surfaced.

Watch That Sanding

When using a lathe or drill press for sanding wood stock, be sure to keep power tool at a slow speed, power tool experts advise. Often in sanding a piece of stock on these power tools at a high speed, enough heat friction is produced to increase surface evaporation and cause the wood to warp.

Sheep Getting Thin Even When Scattered

BIG LAKE, Tex. (AP)—In some parts of Texas in dry years, cattlemen declare the grass is so thin cows get skinny from the exercise of hunting a meal.

That applies this year to some sheepmen.

A Reagan County ranchman who has 48,000 acres is running only 500 sheep—about one sheep to 90 acres and, in addition, is feeding them.

Under normal conditions, the land should carry about 100 sheep and 15 cows to each section of 640 acres.

Another nearby rancher has reduced his herd to 10 cows and no sheep per section.

Removing Machine Rust

Rust spots on power tool tables are easily removed, Delta power tool experts point out, by rubbing with No. 8 wet-or-dry garnet paper moistened with turpentine.

DUPONT PAINTS for every purpose

That's His Name and He's Proud of It, so There

The boy, just a shade over three years old, "surprised us by saying his name—all nine syllables of it," says the proud father.

You'd think that being a linotype operator, Hubert Sr. would be sympathetic with people who have to tussle with his name.

And he told the utility company he wouldn't pay his bill unless his name was right. So his name, on three lines, always comes properly spelled out.

After all, he explains, "My legal name is Wolfeschlegelsteinhausenbergderoff (it sounds shorter when he says it) and that's the way I want it.

Fixtures Don't 'Wear Out'

Manufacturers Claim Scratches and Stains Do the Damage

Modern plumbing fixtures don't "wear out," says the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association. The surface of a new fixture is actually glass-hard. If not abused, it will remain virtually unaffected over the years by ordinary household wear.

But while the serviceability of your home's fixtures is not diminished by normal wear, like anything else in the world they become outmoded with the passing years. And nothing does more to give away the true age of a home than antiquated plumbing fixtures.

KEEP MODERN

In order to keep a home attractive and up-to-date, it should be modernized at regular intervals. In the bathrooms and kitchen, this means first of all replacement of the fixtures with newer, more convenient models.

Homeowners can keep their new fixtures lustrous and smooth indefinitely merely by exercising proper care. The two most common causes of damage to fixtures are abuse, and improper cleaning.

The gleaming surface of a new kitchen sink, for example, will eventually succumb to scratches caused by dragging and scraping pots and pans over it. The bottoms of cooking utensils contain thousands of irregularities and dirt particles which in time cause minute scratches that are impossible to remove. Also, dropping heavy objects into sinks may chip the enamel.

Virtually all kitchen sinks produced today are of acid-resistant quality. However, even the finest enamel is not entirely impervious to stains resulting from prolonged exposure to fruit or vegetable acids. Often these stains are difficult to remove.

The best policy is to avoid letting vegetables or fruits stand on a sink drainboard for long periods of time, and when they are removed, rinse that area off thoroughly with water.

KEEP PHOTOGRAPHERS AWAY

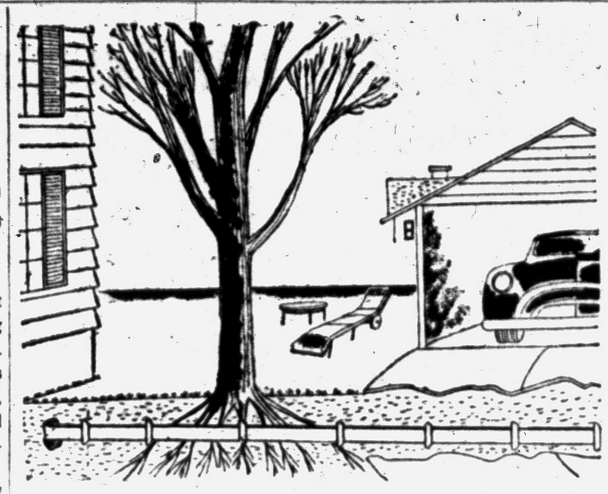

If there are any photography addicts in your house, keep them away from your plumbing fixtures. developing solutions contain strong chemicals which react with the surfaces of fixtures to form a dark, permanent stain.

If you restrict the use of your fixtures to the purposes for which they were intended, then, 15 years from now they will still be as lustrous and attractive as they were the day you bought them.

Sales Suggestion

If you're thinking of selling your home, remember that small improvements can increase its dollar value a great deal. Here's a suggestion: add kitchen splashbacks of a decorative, practical material such as ceramic tile behind range, sink and work counters.

SOIL PIPE is especially vulnerable to tree roots because of the moisture it carries. Cast iron pipe sealed with lead between the joints will keep roots from closing drains. The slightest leak in sanitary drainage systems can be an invitation for the entry of moisture-seeking roots. Strength is required to prevent leaks caused by earth settlement or heavy trucking.

Switch From Oil to Coal at Sea

Engineers Make Quick Change for Crippled Ship After Mishap

ST. VINCENT, Cape Verde Islands (UP)—A white-haired Scottish engineer told here how he and his men saved their crippled ship by converting her boilers from oil to coal in mid-Atlantic.

Bound from Norfolk, Va., to Portuguese West Africa, the 7,000-ton British oil-burning freighter, Mulberry Hill, suddenly developed a leak in her oil tanks and lost her fuel.

Stranded 800 miles from the nearest port, St. Vincent, she ironically, had a cargo of coal. The problem was to find a way to use the coal in the oil burners. The vessel had been built as an oil-burner, so there was no vestige of coal-burning equipmennt, as might have been the case in a vessel converted from coal to oil. She had neither machine shop, oxygen acetylene cutting gear nor spare metal aboard.

But, working four days around the clock, Chief Engineer W. R. Whyte of Glasgow and his staff did the "impossible."

One day the Mulberry Hill was lying stranded, heavy seas smashing at her decks. Four days later she was on her way again toward these islands.

To help his engineers, Capt. A. C. Gillanders of London, steered his ship southerly to reduce her pitching. Although a deck officer, Chief Officer Archibald Mitchell of Glasgow went down into the boiler rooms, working 18 hours a day and even helping to fire the furnaces.

The engineers said the toughest thing was to find metal to make the conversion. They had to hand-cut pieces, including heavy angle iron to use for fire bar bearers, out of other parts of the ship. But they had to be careful they didn't cut anything vital to he ship's efficiency.

Second Engineer L. A. Price of Manchester received special commendation for having done most of the internal boiler construction.

Thirty-three and a half hours after work started, the port boiler was under coal steam and the Mulberry Hill was under control again.

Within another 32 hours, the center boiler was afire, and the Mulberry Hill was limping toward St. Vincent.

Starting off with a speed of three knots, she was doing five and a half when she reached port. The ship was then re-converted to oil.

Oregon Forestry Staff Members' Names Fit Jobs

SALEM, Ore. (UP) —What's in a name?

The Oregon state forester is George Spaur (prounced Spar), and one of the most important operations in logging involves the "spar tree."

The forester directly in charge of quenching forest fires when they break out is Ted Rainwater. He doesn't take much store in the claims of rainmakers, but said he is willing to try anything that will help put out the flames, adding:

"Any port (Lee Port, forest protection supervisor) in a storm (Daryl Storm, protection assistant)."

As for wood color — Dennis Lavender is research forester, Wiljo Green and Will Gray are foresters, and Viola Brown is a lookout near St. Helens. Guy Forrester is a real forester at, of all places, Forest Grove.

The nation's proved oil and gas areas now comprise a combined total of about 125 million acres.

Student Snooping Into Frogs' Secrets

Willem van Bergeijk, 24, from Eindhoven, Holland, said his research won't change the shape of the world but will add to the store of knowledge about amphibians.

So far, he said, tests indicate frogs feel sound waves through their muscles or skin while under water and, in that way, "hear." But he said tadpoles, baby frogs, don't react the same way their big brothers do.

"They're just crazy, mixed-up amphibians," he said.

Handy to Have 2 Pair

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—If your wife is a "back seat driver" she's actually helping you, says C. Paul Clark of the Newark Automobile Club. "Another pair of eyes on the road ahead are lifesavers in many close calls," he maintains.

Suburbs Don't Stop Downtown Store

NEW YORK (NEA)—In Westchester County, less than 15 miles from midtown New York City, one of the world's largest shopping centers opened up for business this year with facilities that range from full-scale branches of nearly every major Manhattan department store to a metropolitan-style hospital.

Just about the same time, what was once one of the world's biggest department stores was liquidating its facilities in downtown Manhattan, having decided to close its city doors and, like many of its customers, flee to the suburbs.

This coincidence, which underlines the mushrooming growth of suburban shopping ceners all over the nation, would seem to indicate a withering future for the city merchant.

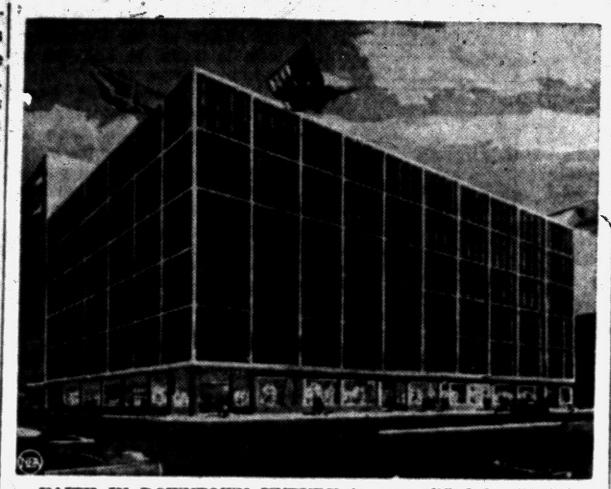

It was the fourth major downtown department store to give up the urban struggle in New York City in the past three years.

DOWNTOWN NOT DOOMED

Despite the apparent trend, however, the downtown department store is not doomed. All it needs to do is follow the same score that is making country shopping center cash registers jingle like a hit tune.

Two shrewd backers of that philosophy are Peter Copeland and Adolph Novak, a New York architectural team whose specialty is department store design all over the world.

"With proper planning," says Novak, "and through cooperation of civic authorities, downtown stores can still attract a vast public.

FAITH IN DOWNTOWN FUTURE is exemplified by Thalhimer Bros. in Richmond, Va., whose department store will look like this when remodeling, including aluminum facade, is completed.

Stores should work with city planning groups in encouraging more and better housing for middle income families.

"Blighted living areas in downtown districts should be replaced by attractive garden apartments for both middle and low income groups. Many cities are beginning to realize the urgency of helping to keep business within the downtown areas, and are setting up special funds to plan or replan their business districts."

MORE SUPPORT

Another voice for the downtown store is Dr. Christen T. Jonassen, of Ohio State University's Bureau of Business Research. In a survey of shoppers in Columbus, Houston and Seattle, he found most people prefer to shop in city stores because they feel they find "better services, greater variety of goods, better quality and cheaper prices."

The big drawback which Dr. Jonassen found—and which Copeland and Novak also emphasize—is downtown traffic congestion and lack of parking facilities.

Novak's suggestions: Underground parking garages, such as San Francisco's big five-level garage in the center of the city; arterial superhighways to bring the public quickly to urban centers, such as those in Cleveland and Detroit which have greatly benefited downtown business districts. To catch up with their suburban counterparts, downtown stores must also remodel and modernize, say Novak and Copeland. The new suburban stores have taught merchants big lessons in modern space economies and in merchandising methods that lure customers.

CASE IN POINT

As a case in point they cite the Thalhimer Bros. department store in Richmond, Va., which instead of trying to expand with suburban branches is concentrating on its downtown building with a new addition and a complete remodeling program now under way.

The architects also believe the downtown store must merchandise itself, as well as its goods, throuth community activities. They suggest art contests with subjects of civic interest, community meeting places within the store for local groups. As an example, they point to the way Gimbels has stimulated local art in Philadelphia and Milwaukee.

PETER COPELAND: The suburbs taught city stores a lesson.

ADOLPH NOVAK: The urbanites are being by-passed.

"In recent years," Novak says, "strong emphasis has been placed on suburban living. Without belittling the importance of the growth towards the suburbs, I feel, nevertheless, that the urbanites are being by-passed to a great degree, with so much emphasis being placed on suburban living and suburbaan shopping. The urbanite is still an important factor in the economy picture."

New Watch Oil Goes Long Way

ELGIN, Ill. (UP)—A little refinery here modeled after those in the country's oil centers produces four ounces of the world's most expensive oil each week.

The oil, valued at $7,650 a gallon, is a joint product of research by the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh, Pa., and the Elgin National Watch Co.

Two drops of the precious lubricant are the eight-hour ration of watch workers who must use it, and they are enough to smooth the 18,700 jeweled bearings in 1,100 watches.

The little refining unit, contained in 10 square feet, has an annual output of four gallons. It's enough to lubricate all the watches manufactured in the United States each year, with enough left over to oil a few thousand alarm clocks.

BIG STEP

Research men rate the oil, officially termed LT 71, a giant step forward from the traditional timepiece oils such as neatsfoot and porpoise jaw. It required 16 years of intensive research.

The oil was discovered while the laboratory men were trying to improve M-56b, another oil, and has shown marked resistance to cold.

For this reason, it is expected to be of special value to military operations in the Arctic, since it flows efficiently at temperatures of 100 below zero or colder.

Army Aids Tourists; Clears Rock Formations

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Visitors at Colorado's Garden of the Gods won't have to worry about loose rocks falling from the huge stone formations this season.

Mountain climbers from the Army's Mountain and Cold Weather Training Command at nearby Fort Carson have cleared away loose and dangerous rocks. The work on the massive formations is part of the soldiers' training in mountain climbing.

Power Plant's Videa Will Never Be Popular

A closed circuit TV picture is available at all times to help run the power house. The pictures on the screen are of the workings of the machinery, even to readings on remote water gauges.

LATIN INFLUENCE — Inspired by cabana terraces of Central America, this house has a series of private porches secluded along its rear garden side. Each bedroom has its own private porch set off at an angle to retain increased privacy in the bedroom. Sliding glass walls separate bedroom and porch. A living room porch at the side is walled in front to cut off the view from the street front. The main bathroom has two lavatories. A shower stall is planned large enough to accommodate a seat. A vanity-lavatory dressing alcove adjoins the master bedroom. This is plan 425M by Rudolph A. Matern, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 2, N.Y. The house covers 1,363 square feet without garage and is planned for a basement.

No Longer Luxuries

In the days of the early American colonists, cedar closets were luxuries. Few people could afford to have special closet space in their homes, and even fewer had cedar-lined closets. Today, many average - income families have closets lined with aromatic red cedar closet lining. The wood is available at most lumber yards, and can be applied to closet walls by any home handy man.

In Bad Company

BANGOR, Maine (UP)—Raymond G. Ross, an FBI agent, reported that someone stole his hat while he was attending a meeting of the Maine Chiefs of Police Assn.

Dodge Reports Construction Up

Compared to May, 1954, This Year Increase Is 13 Pct.

NEW YORK, JUNE 11 — May's dollar volume of Dodge Reports of contracts awards for future construction in the 37 states east of the Rockies was up 13 per cent above the contract total for May 1954 and was the third highest of any monthly total recorded in the history of F. W. Dodge Corporation, it was announced today. The total was $2,185,065,000.

The five-month total of $9,727,562,000 set a new high record and was 29 per cent above the corresponding figure for last year which reached the previous high mark.

For the second successive month the Dodge residential classification topped the billion mark; at $1,011,310,000, residential building contracts were up 23 per cent above the total for May 1954. Last month's residential total was the second highest in Dodge history, exceeded only in April of this year.

The weight of these figures on the national economy can be measured by the fact that residential dollars total almost half of the total of construction as carried in the Dodge Reports.

Nonresidential building totaled $725,753,000 last month, up 8 per cent over May 1954. Public works and utilities totaled $448,000,000, up 5 per cent over May 1954.

For the five months the classified totals were:

Nonresidential building, $3,289,895,000, up 20 per cent over tthe first five months of 1954; residential building, $4,505,626,000, up 38 per cent; public works and utilities, $1,932,041,000, up 28 per cent.

Cottage Closet Idea

If closet space is to be added to the family's summer cottage, consider lining the closet with aromatic red cedar closet lining. The wood has a natural look that blends well with the usual decor of cottages, and its moth - repellency protects woolen clothing and blankets which may be kept available for unexpected cold spells.

Good Builders Pay Attention to Small Details

The builder who pays attention to small details can be counted on to give full value to larger areas in his homes.

For instance, if he has taken real care to maintain plumb lines, true surfaces and tight but smooth fittings, he has probably extended his care and thoughtfulness into vital areas such as the kitchen and bathrooms.

Those rooms will be effectively planned, done in a durable quality material such as ceramic tile which is both fireproof and waterproof, and have plenty of built-in storage.

Your first entry into the home can tip you off to the builder's quality-planning.

Is the entranceway planned to welcome the visitor? Does it have a degree of privacy from the living-dining room?

Is it made for heavy use? A handsome yet practical surfacing in quarry tile is outstanding for the wear it can take in a home's entranceway.

Cedar Compartment

Some people who would like to have moth-repellent cedar storage space just don't seem to have space for it in their homes. One answer is to build a cedar compartment in an existing closet. Use aromatic red cedar closet lining for this. The wood is available at most lumber yards, and each piece of cedar is tongued and grooved for easy application.

Progress Rough on Dogs

Safety Important for Summer Fun

Summer fun in your yard is very much in order if you're sure it's safe for your children and friends.

Now's the time to check.

Remove stones that could cause tripping; weak porch railings that may give way at anything; decayed branches likely to fall from trees.

If you're installing a terrace, make sure you use a slip-resistant material like quarry tile which is also weatherproof and really durable.

Try to keep all garden tools locked away in a garden shed. And be sure of this: bring toys and equipment in from the yard at night. Tripping over them in the dark causes many of the most serious lawn accidents.

Areas favorable to the discovery of oil and gas in th U.S. are estimated at more than one billion acres. Of this vast domain, 15 per cent is held under leasing rights.

In the past six years, tree planting in the United States has increased 133 per cent.

Build Yourself a Boat and Launch It With Pride . . .

By STEVE ELLINGSON

Do you want summer to enter your blood like a tonic? If you do then build a boat. There isn't a do-it-yourself project that will pay you and your family bigger dividends in fun and relaxation.

There's a togetherness about boating that you don't find in other activities. The whole family participates in building the boat, and how they look forward to using it on weekends and vacations.

Even tho' fishing has never been considered a branch of medical science, it can cure many ills that pills can't touch. But that is not all, there's a certain thrill in exploring the shores of lakes and rivers, that can't be found along the highway. Each launching starts a new holiday of fresh adventure and new family fun.

The thing to remember in boat building is not to set your sights too high. Build one that's rugged, safe, easy to transport, and serviceable, but still simple enough to be built by any amateur. When you do this you will eliminate a lot of headaches and still come up with a craft that you can be proud of and enjoy.

The boat that you see pictured here with NBC's singer, Miss Judy Marsh and a couple of we pattern ranch-hands has many features that you will like. It's light, two people can carry it.

To make construction easy and strong, the principal material used is waterproof fir plywood, available anywhere. An outboard motor or oars may be used. It's 11½ feet long and may be transported in a common trailer or on top of an automobile. There are three seats which will easily accommodate five or six people. It's over 50 inches wide in the middle and will not tip over easily. It's a very safe boat, a feature you will like if youngsters are going to be using it.

Good-looking, too.

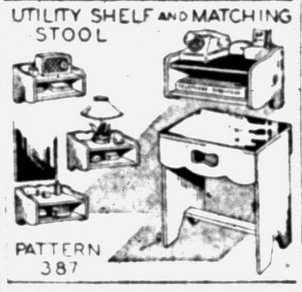

Any amateur can build this craft when he uses the full size pattern, and for very little cost, too. You simply trace the full size outlines on the wood, then saw them out and finally put them together. A list of required materials and easy-to-follow directions are printed on each pattern.

Furthermore, there are twelve actual photographs showing the boat in various stages of construction. With these you can't miss. Like always the pattern is designed to be used by any inexperienced amateur.

Workshop Patterns

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

This telephone set was designed for the household with teenagers who like to chat with their friends without an audince. The shelf is less than a foot wide and the bench fits under it; just right for a closet or out-of-the-way nook.

These pieces make excellent projects for manual training classes. While the set is simple to make the use of a pattern assures correct proportions, saves time and material to more than cover the small cost of 25 cents for the pattern. Tracing diagrams and directions are on pattern 387. Other standard size patterns for wall shelves, baby crib, shoe-shine kit, modern lamps, and ten jig-saw pieces are all in the Small Household Furniture Packet which is $1 postpaid. Write to Workshop, Pontiac Press, Bedford Hills, N.Y.

Use Attachments

The good looks and the life af all household possessions are prolonged by observing proper cleaning methods.

Draperies, upholstery fabrics, slip-covers, they all gather as much dust and dirt as every other part of a room, but generally they are not cleaned so often.

If the homemaker will only use the appropriate attachment of her vacuum cleaner instead of dust-cloths and brushes, she will have a cleaner house with surprisingly little endeavor.

Walls Used for Decor, Storage Units

Living in a small house is very much like living aboard ship — a place for everything and everything in its place is of utmost importance. Here is an opportunity to use your walls for more than backdrops.

Built-in bookcases can be handsome architectural features and can add considerable interest to your walls.

Walls under the staircase can be used for a built-in bar as well as for storage of drink accessories.

Storage walls often can be used to provide shelter from icy blasts and create a sense of privacy in a home in which the front door opens directly into the living room.

The initial cost of built-ins may seem high, but they are far more economical than building shelter for movable pieces.

Stamp Out Dust

Cleanliness standards differ in various homes.

The woman who cleans at frequent intervals, whose method provides for dust removal and for dust exclusion, and whose personal habits minimize dust and dirt, of which the vacuum cleaner is a traditional enemy, should merit high individual standing, according to a professor in a mid-western university.

Cedar From South

Aromatic red cedar closet lining is a product of the southern states. This attractive rose-colored wood gets its moth-repellency from its oil content. Fumes of the oil have a woodsy fragrance, which is pleasant to people, but death to moths.

Use Broken Blades

Broken band saw blades ⅛ to ¼-inch wide have extra use around the workshop, power tool experts say. Cut them in short sections for use on scroll saw.

How Many Nails?

DETROIT (AP)—Because there are 58,535 nails in one house, Mrs. Irene Simon and Mrs. Caroline Moffatt now own it jointly. Valued at $40,000, the home was a prize at the Detroit Builders Show. Contestants had to guess how many nails it took to build it. Mrs. Simon guessed 58,536; Mrs. Moffat 58,534. The winners said they would sell the house and split the money.

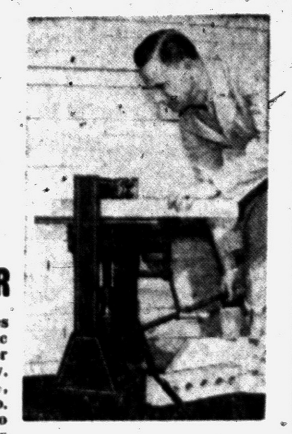

No Finishing

Going to install a cedar closet? Forget about varnishing or painting the wood. It isn't necessary. Aromatic red cedar requires no finishing. Finishing the wood seals in the aroma that pleases people but displeases moths.

City Permits Hit $706,781

For Month of May Sixty-Five Residences Valued at $443,000

During the month of May, the building department of the City of Pontiac issued 199 permits in the amount of $706,781. This was $373,365 below the month of April which turned in a total of $1,080,147.

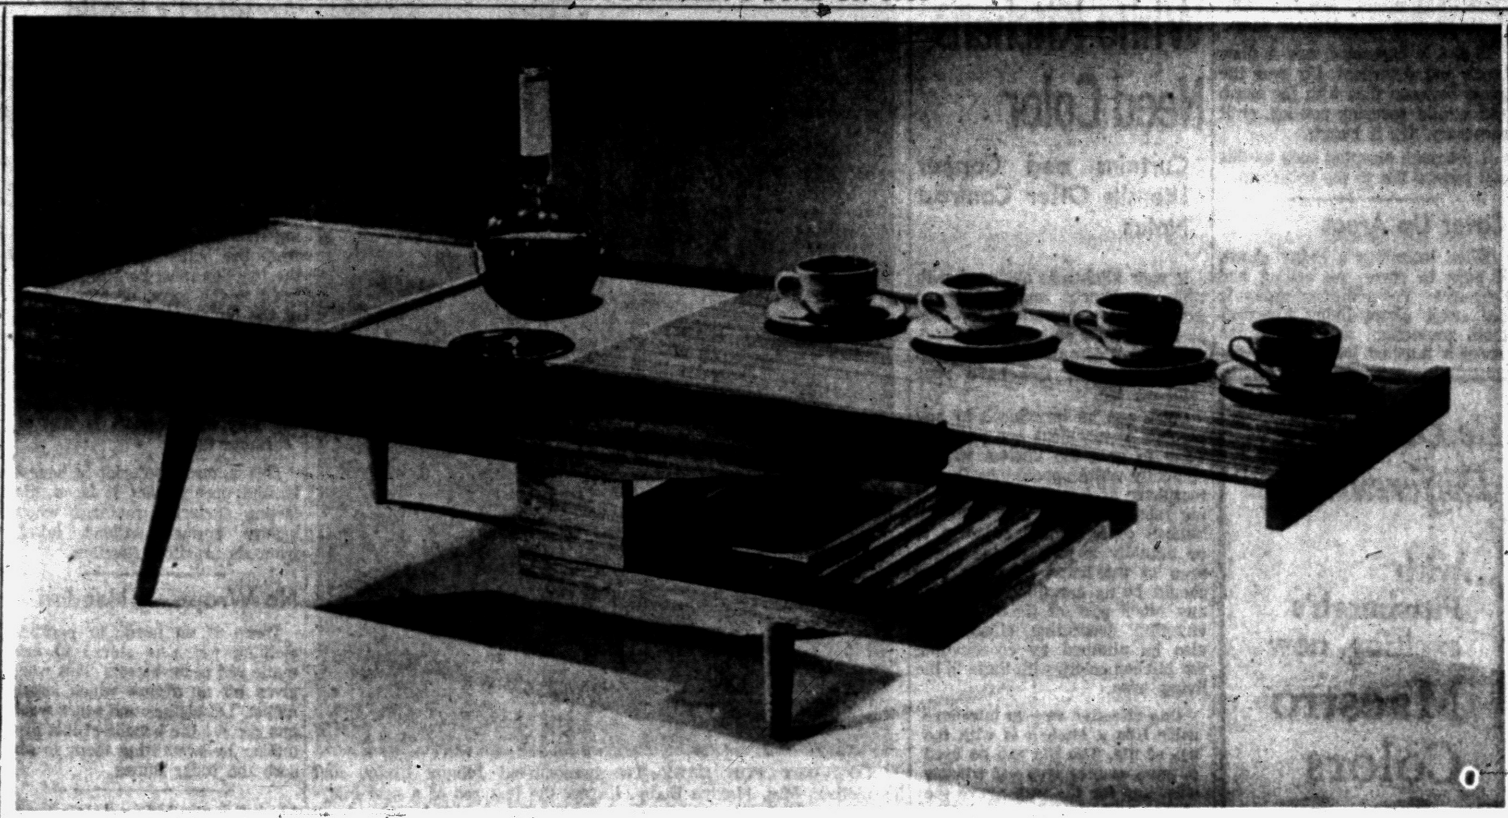

In the breakdown of the permit classification issued, 65 new residences were valued at $443,000.

Other permits included 23 garages at $14,843; 86 residential alterations and repairs at $46,625; five commercial alterations and repairs, $97,300; five move, $4,525; two wreck, $1,150; seven fences, $2,338; one church alteration and addition, $3,500; one air conditioner, $5,000;

There were also four new commercial buildings at $88,500.

Outdoor Furniture

Don't use regular house paint on outdoor furniture. Use outdoor enamel. House paint is usually made to chalk away slowly so that it cleans itself. If used on furniture it may chalk off on clothing.

Good Buildings Reduce Costs

Farmers Can Increase Structure Utility With Planning

One of the most frequently mentioned ways for farmers to halt rising production costs is to increase the utility of their service buildings.

After all, time is money, and anything that reduces the work load helps also to hold down expenses.

Increasing the utility of buildings doesn't necessarily call for large outlays of cash, according to experts who have studied operation of modern farms. The present trend is toward low-cost buildings that save time because they are adaptable to modern farming methods.

Ideas on what makes good farm buildings have changed drastically in recent years. We've finally learned that buildings used for farming with horses weren't designed for modern labor-saving equipment.

These days you'll see such things as barns with clear-span construction, so that interiors are free of poles, and space can be used more efficiently. You'll see barns built on pole foundations, that save considerably on cost compared to concrete or brick foundations.

You'll see continuous flow feed systems that elevate grains into overhead bins from where it can be fed by gravity into mixers or self-feeders.

With these changes have come new ideas on the best materials to use in farm buildings. Insulation—something never mentioned ten years ago for service buildings, now has become important for such buildings as dairy barns, milk houses, hog houses and poultry houses.

The increase in insulation for sidewalls has brought new popularity to materials like insulating siding. Used on the outside of a service building, it does three important building jobs . . . insulates, strengthens the wall and provides the finish, and it's a finish that requires no painting or staining during its lifetime.

These are only a few highlights of the trend toward greater utility in farm service buildings. The trend has already proved that the right kind of buildings can often mean the difference between profits and loss where ever-increasing costs place a tighter and tighter squeeze on profits.

Workshop Patterns

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

This wheelbarrow has a hopper fourteen inches wide and about eighteen long. It is handy for light chores around the garden, or use it for decorative purposes such as a front lawn feature with house numbers. Numerals may be traced directly from the pattern onto the wood to guide you in sawing out numerals from one to zero. The miniature cart is attractive as a table decoration to hold flowers, or choice things to eat. Actual size tracing patterns for all shaped parts with directions for assembling and finishing are on pattern 344, price 25 cents. There are five other full-size patterns of original garden features in the Lawn and Garden Figures Packet which will be postpaid for $1. Write to Workshop, Pontiac Press, Bedford Hills, N. Y.

Eiffel Tower Owes Life to Its Paint

While the Eiffel Tower is only sixty-six years old, it has become the symbol of Paris to the entire world. Built of 12,000 structural pieces of metal and 2½ million rivets, its iron and steel surfaces would soon rust and disintegrate if they weren't given careful paint protection at regular intervals.

G. Eiffel, the famous construction engineer for whom the Tower was named, wrote: "One cannot absorb too deeply the principle that paint is the essential element in the preservation of a metallic structure and that the care which is given to it is the only guarantee of its durability."

Every seven years the Eiffel Tower is carefully re-coated. All signs of rust and corrosion are removed and new primer is applied to such areas. Then a new over-all coating of yellowish-brown paint is applied. Repainting the 984-foot structure requires about 35 tons of paint and 40,000 man-hours of work.

Don't Paint Metal Weatherstripping

When painting windows never paint metal weatherstripping, the Weatherstrip Research Institute says. Windows will stick or bind when their smooth, rust-proof finish has been painted.

A fine steel wool will quickly remove any paint that accidentally gets on weatherstripping.

Protect Saw Blades

Keep extra circular saw blades well oiled or otherwise protected when not in use, power tool experts say. Rust on saw blades eats up considerable power when in use. This power is important when doing heavy work.

Grant Store Joins Center

Nationally Known Chain Is Scheduled for New Unit

Grant Company officials and Pontiac Shopping Center, Inc. have announced the completioin of leasing arrangements for a brand new "park-and-shop" Grant Store to be constructed at Pontiac Shopping Center. This will be located at the corner of Telegraph and Elizabeth Lake Rds.

Current plans call for a one-story structure designed along simple, modern lines and containing 28,800 square feet. The interior of the store will incorporate every device known to modern retailing for quick, convenient and pleasant shopping. Air-conditioning will insure year 'round comfort. The newest in store fluorescent lighting will highlight Grant merchandise displayed on specially designed "shop-at-a-glance" counters and fixtures.

Merchandised in line with the company's famous "four-stores-under-one-roof" policy, the new Grants will feature the same wide merchandise assortments usually found only in four distinct specialty shops: a fashion store, a dry goods store, a home-hardware store and a variety store.

The W. T. Grant Company was founded in Lynn, Mass. in 1906 and has grown in less than 50 years into one of the nation's leading retailers. The Grant organization now totals over 530 stores coast to coast.

Hide Wood Scratches With Stick Crayons

If you have dark furniture, you probably spend a good part of your time trying to cover up the mars and scratches which appear with constant usage. Scratches have a way of being more obvious on mahoganies and walnuts than on the maple and blond finishes.

Crayon sticks are available to fill in and stain the spots.

The crayon stick should be applied, then rubbed with an oiled pad. After you've finished the spot-repairing, go over the entire surface of the piece with your regular wax or polish.

Someday, perhaps, there will be people with the letters "H. D." after their names instead of "M. D." The "H. D." will stand for "House Doctor" and will indicate knowledge of the aliments that afflict houses.

In the absence of such advisers, wise home owners now act as their own house doctors.

They seek the cause of such things as dry rot, peeling paint... discolored walls, rather than treating them as disorders in themselves.

They know there is an underlying cause for these symptoms and that, in most cases, it is destructive moisture.

Soap, Water Often Dispel Gloom, Dirt

Buyers of older homes are sometimes disheartened at what seems like the need for a terrific amount of remodeling.

But a little soap and water will go a long way to dispel the gloom of dirt, dust and grime.

Do the bathroom first; it's of the most immediate importance. If the room has been surfaced with waterproof ceramic tile your job will be relatively easy.

If dirt is excessive, use a fiber brush and detergent. Go over the joints between tiles with the brush and a mild scouring powder, or if necessary, try a bleach.

A thorough cleaning such as this will restore life to the bathroom.

Cover Up Areas

When installing a cedar closet, it pays to cover the ceiling and door areas. The additional aromatic red ceadr closet lining improves moth protection and gives the closet a finished look.

White Kitchens Need Color

Curtains and Copper Utensils Offer Contrast Notes

If your kitchen is equipped with white appliances and you yearn for a meal preparation workshop as full of color as a summer landscape don't despair: You can keep your appliances and have your rainbow, too.

Color can be introduced in any number of ingenious and practical ways to give the kitchen with a clinically white appearance the atmosphere of a well decorated living room. In fact, today with the kitchen so frequently adjacent to or actually a part of the living area of the home its color plan should be as carefully studied as any other part of the house. Interesting decorative effects can also be attained by coordinating the kitchen colors with those in the living area.

One effective way to introduce color into a kitchen is with the use of tile. The tile can be used to pave counter tops and window sills, and for the wall above the stove. This latter is a place where the steam and smoke from cooking automatically collect. The tile will prove easy to keep bright and shining, requiring only an occasional wipe-off with a little soap and water.

If you have copper-bottom cooking utensils or would like to acquire some they can be used most effectively in a decorative plan. The copper will combine beautifully with almost any other color. Attach a pegboard to one of your walls and hag the utensils from the board.

Kitchen curtains or a decorative wooden valance around your window can also be made to contribute needed color, as can pottery mixing bowls and other earthenware pieces.

As a final piece of advice, don't be afraid to splash color around a kitchen with lavish hand and don't be shy of the high-style colors—they are just as appropriate for today's kitchens as they are for the living room.

Entertain Outdoors With Color, Comfort

If you'd like to add a new note of charm to the surroundings, install a small garden pool amidst flowers and shrubs. Use a blue ceramic tile to mirror the sky and contrast coolly with colorful flowers.

Smooth water, calmly idle, has always been known for its restful, soothing effect on people. Yes, a garden pool is a real inspiration for better living.

COMFORT FOR BABY—Twenty-month-old Johnny Bixby, and his mother, Mrs. Maxine Bixby, inspect the features of a new baby-bed seat at Chicago. It can serve as a car bed with built-in shock absorbers, a car seat with play tray and a bassinet when its telescopic legs are extended.

Tax-Weary Sheepherder Sets Up Own Government

ROME (UP)—A sheepherder in southern Italy decided he was fed up with government taxes and set up an "autonomous republic" of his own.

Michele Mulieri has six acres of land at Tricarice in the stone-heavy, poverty-ridden ankle of Italy's boot.

"I don't know about other folks, but I know when I've had enough," said the 59-year-old Mulieri as he chalked up notice of his sovereign state on the walls of Tricarico's little town square.

His domain is open to any weary soul desiring to escape from Italy's tax burden. The only inhabitants to date are Mulieri and his wife, their five children and a score of sheep.

"SEND AMBASSADOR"

Mulieri said that if Italy wanted any further dealings with him it should send an ambassador. Instead, three policemen showed up at the Mulieri farmhouse and delivered an official ultimatum that he stay on his own property or produce a "valid passport" in the form of a tax receipt.

Mulieri is only one of many complaining about taxes. Rome's big, pro-government Il Messeggero ran a long article claiming that the cinema, stage and other forms of entertainment cost too much because of taxes. It pointed out that films are an essential ingredient of the national diet and, like bread, should not be taxed out of reach of the average citizen.

"Amusements, diversions, recreations and shows are today considered necessary elements among the basic needs of workers," the newspaper commented.

The government mark-up on movie tickets goes as high as 86.9 per cent, noted the paper. In Milan today it costs from 600 to 800 lire (96 cents to $1.28) to put oneself into a movie seat. Sometimes the price hits 1,000 lire ($1.60).

MOVIES SUBSIDIZED

The paper noted that part of the taxed funds are returned to producers of films. That is the well-known Italian "subsidy" of 15 to 18 per cent which is the basic ingredient in the production of films in Italy. It has many critics in the industry and out of it. The Messaggero article took this stand:

"We believe that this form of subsidy given to the entertainment industry is actually the best way to achieve shows of little value . . ."

Eitel Monaco, head of Italy's motion picture producer and distribution association (ANICA), recently told a gathering of American businessmen that current taxes on films are "an absurd quota.

"No service or product," he said, "with the exception of alcohol and tobacco, is taxed as heavily as our motion picture theater tickets."

Permanent Economies

In home ownership there is only one type of real economy: long-range economy. Temporary saving, especially by way of inferior materials, are illusory. In baths and kitchens, the home's two most essential rooms, a very real economy comes from the use of a life-lasting surfacing material such as tile which never needs refinishing and requires virtually no upkeep.

Architect's Credo Involves Function

Key theory underlying all of modern building is the form-function principle.

Leading architects express it this way: the esthetic of a building should be honestly derived from the building's function, and the function must be intimately related to the form, or appearance, of the building.

The same principle holds for private homes and the building materials that go into private homes. A most historic example by way of materials is that of ceramic tile.

This natural material is honestly and openly what it is: a life-lasting surfacing material whose beauty springs without fakery from its practical function.

No Wrapping Needed

There is no need to package clothing which is stored in aromatic red cedar closets. This wood gives off an aroma which repels moths. Let clothes and other woolens receive the benefit of this protection by permitting them to absorb the cedar fumes.

Use Scrap Wood

Wood left over from a cedar closet installation may be used for making closet accessories, such as shelves, shoe and tie racks in other closets. Aromatic red cedar closet lining adds a pleasant fragrance to any closet.

A TOUR THROUGH THE NEW CITY HALL

Congratulations to the Citizens of Pontiac

For the first time in many years, all city departments are now housed under a single roof. The ground floor is home for the Health, Parks and Recreation, Electric and Purchasing departments, the engineering laboratory and the printing and mailing office. Situated on the first floor are the departments with which the majority of the public must come in contact. In the south wing are the Treasurer's and Water Departments. The city clerk's office and building permit and inspection offices are located in the north wing. The assessor's office is in the eastern portion. On the top floor, the City Engineering Dept., city planner, Dept. of Public Works director and traffic engineer are located in the north wing. In the east section are located the accounting and bookkeeping departments. Paneled in white oak, the administrative suite fills the south wing of the second floor. Offices are located there for the city manager, attorney, director of finance, personnel director and mayor. The City Commission chamber, with seating capacity for 100 spectators in plush, theater-type seats, is also on the top floor. This is your new City Hall — Pontiac's newest and finest civic venture.

THE PONTIAC PRESS

Hall Cornerstone Contains Mementos

Some day in the far distant future, curious Pontiac officials and residents will break open the 900-pound cornerstone located at the main entrance of the new city hall.

Inside the block of Indiana limestone they will find a large copper box carefully placed by officials of 1953 when the cornerstone was laid.

Within the box they will find historical documents concerning the building and growth of Pontiac.

In addition to the city charter, adopted in 1920, pictures of the ground-breaking ceremonies of the building and a scroll of clippings from the Pontiac Press relating to the progress of the new building will be sealed in the airtight box.

Also included will be copies of the city ordinance authorizing the bond issues for acquisition of the site, several annual city reports for past years, the city's master plans and a scroll naming the commissioners for financing and constructing the structure along with the annual report of the Chamber of Commerce.

Collection and placement of the documents was handled under the direction of City Manager Walter W. Willman. Mrs. Alice Cook, Willman's secretary, and William L. Collins, of the city engineering department, compiled the documents, clippings, pictures and scrolls.

The cornerstone was placed June 28, 1954 at ceremonies which saw former Pontiac mayors spread the mortar which sealed the documents for posterity.

Perhaps citizens of some future day will be as curious to view the documents of the past as are we who anxiously await opening of the old city hall cornerstone to see what the city fathers of 1909 wished to pass on.

PART OF BUILDING — A city employe, Pat Butler, stops to inspect the white bronze replica of the official seal of the city of Pontiac, imbedded as a permanent part of the building in the marble floor of the main lobby. Three months in the making, the seal was made from bronze because of the metal's long life and wearing quality, according to the architect.

City's Offices Under One Roof

The new City Hall makes it possible, for the first time in many years, for all city departments to be housed under a single roof.

Departments with which the majority of the public must come into contact are situated on the first floor. Here are the locations of the various offices:

GROUND FLOOR

Health.
Electric.
Purchasing.
Engineering laboratory.
Printing and Mailing.

FIRST FLOOR

Treasurer.
Water.
City Clerk.
Building Permit, Inspection.
Assessor.

SECOND FLOOR

Engineering.
City Planner.
Dept. of Public Works.
Traffic Engineer.
Accounting, Bookkeeping.
City Manager.
City Attorney.
Director of Finance.
Personnel Director.
Mayor.
City Commission Chamber.

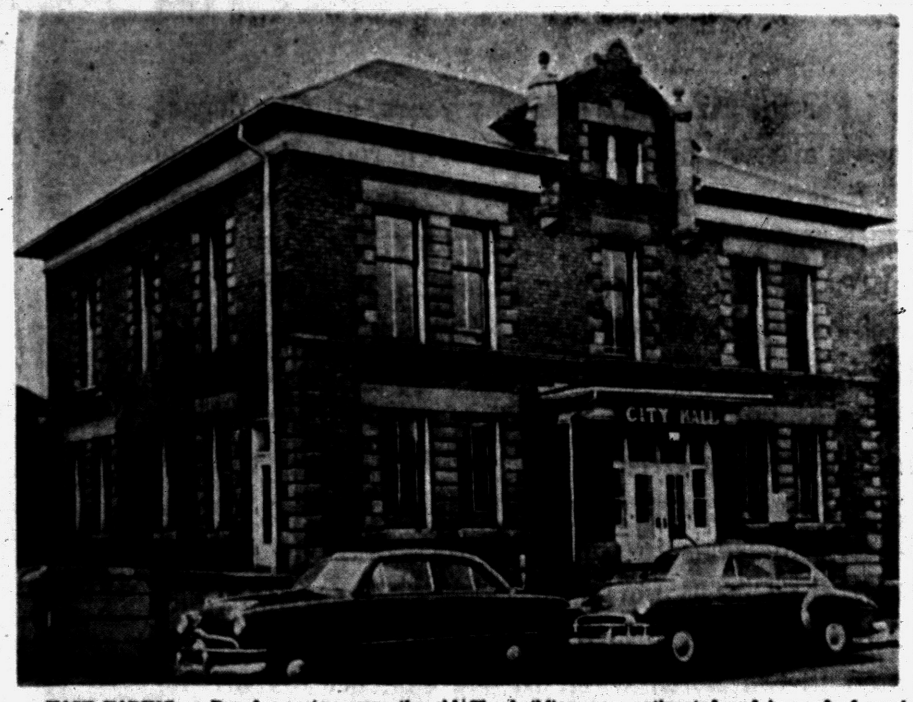

Lights Are Faster Now Since Man Is Past 90

DETROIT (AP)—Ralph Bennallack told a traffic court judge that the policeman-witness was absolutely right: He gave Bennallack a ticket when he saw Bennallack walking against a red light.

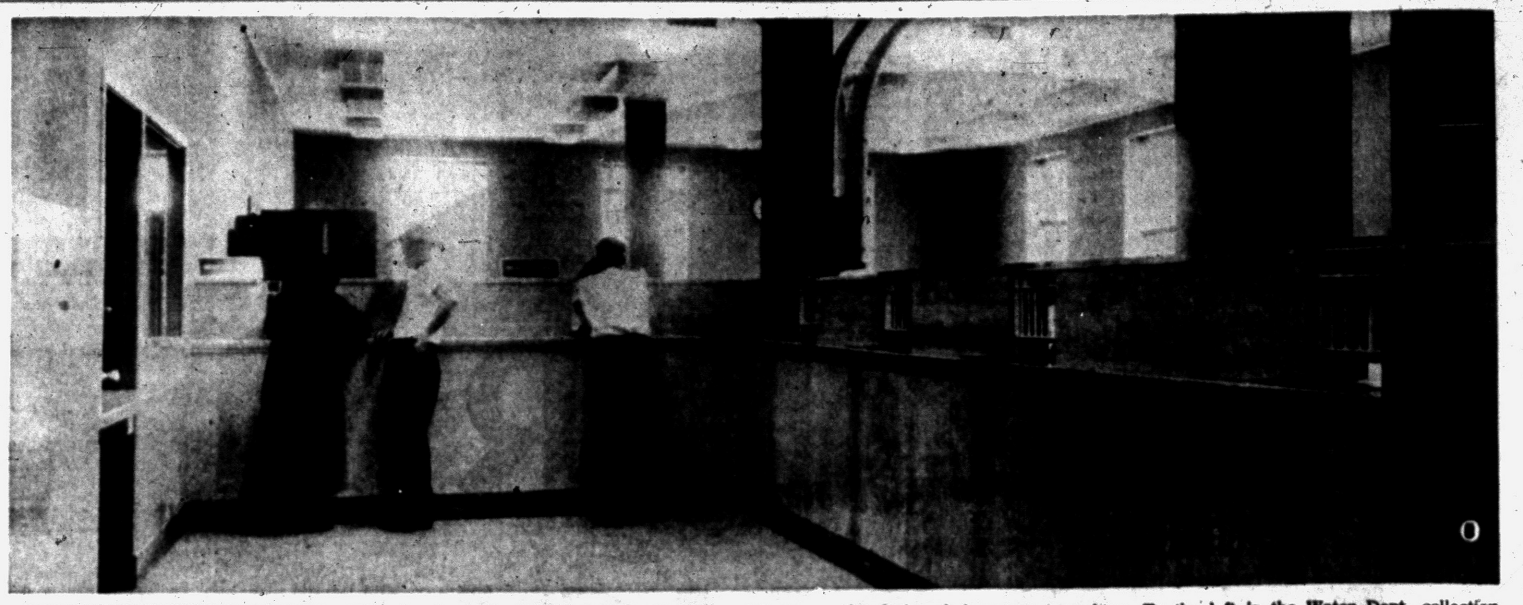

But the charge was dismissed, after the defendant explained:

"I started across on the green light all right, but for some reason I'm just not as fast as I used to be."

Bennallack is 91.

FAST FADING — Due for razing soon, the old City Hall at East Pike and Mill Sts. was used for 46 years and saw Pontiac through a period of tremendous industrial expansion and population growth. The building, now antiquated and in need of much repair, will be torn down to make way for a parking lot. Eventually the land may be used as part of a civic center park.

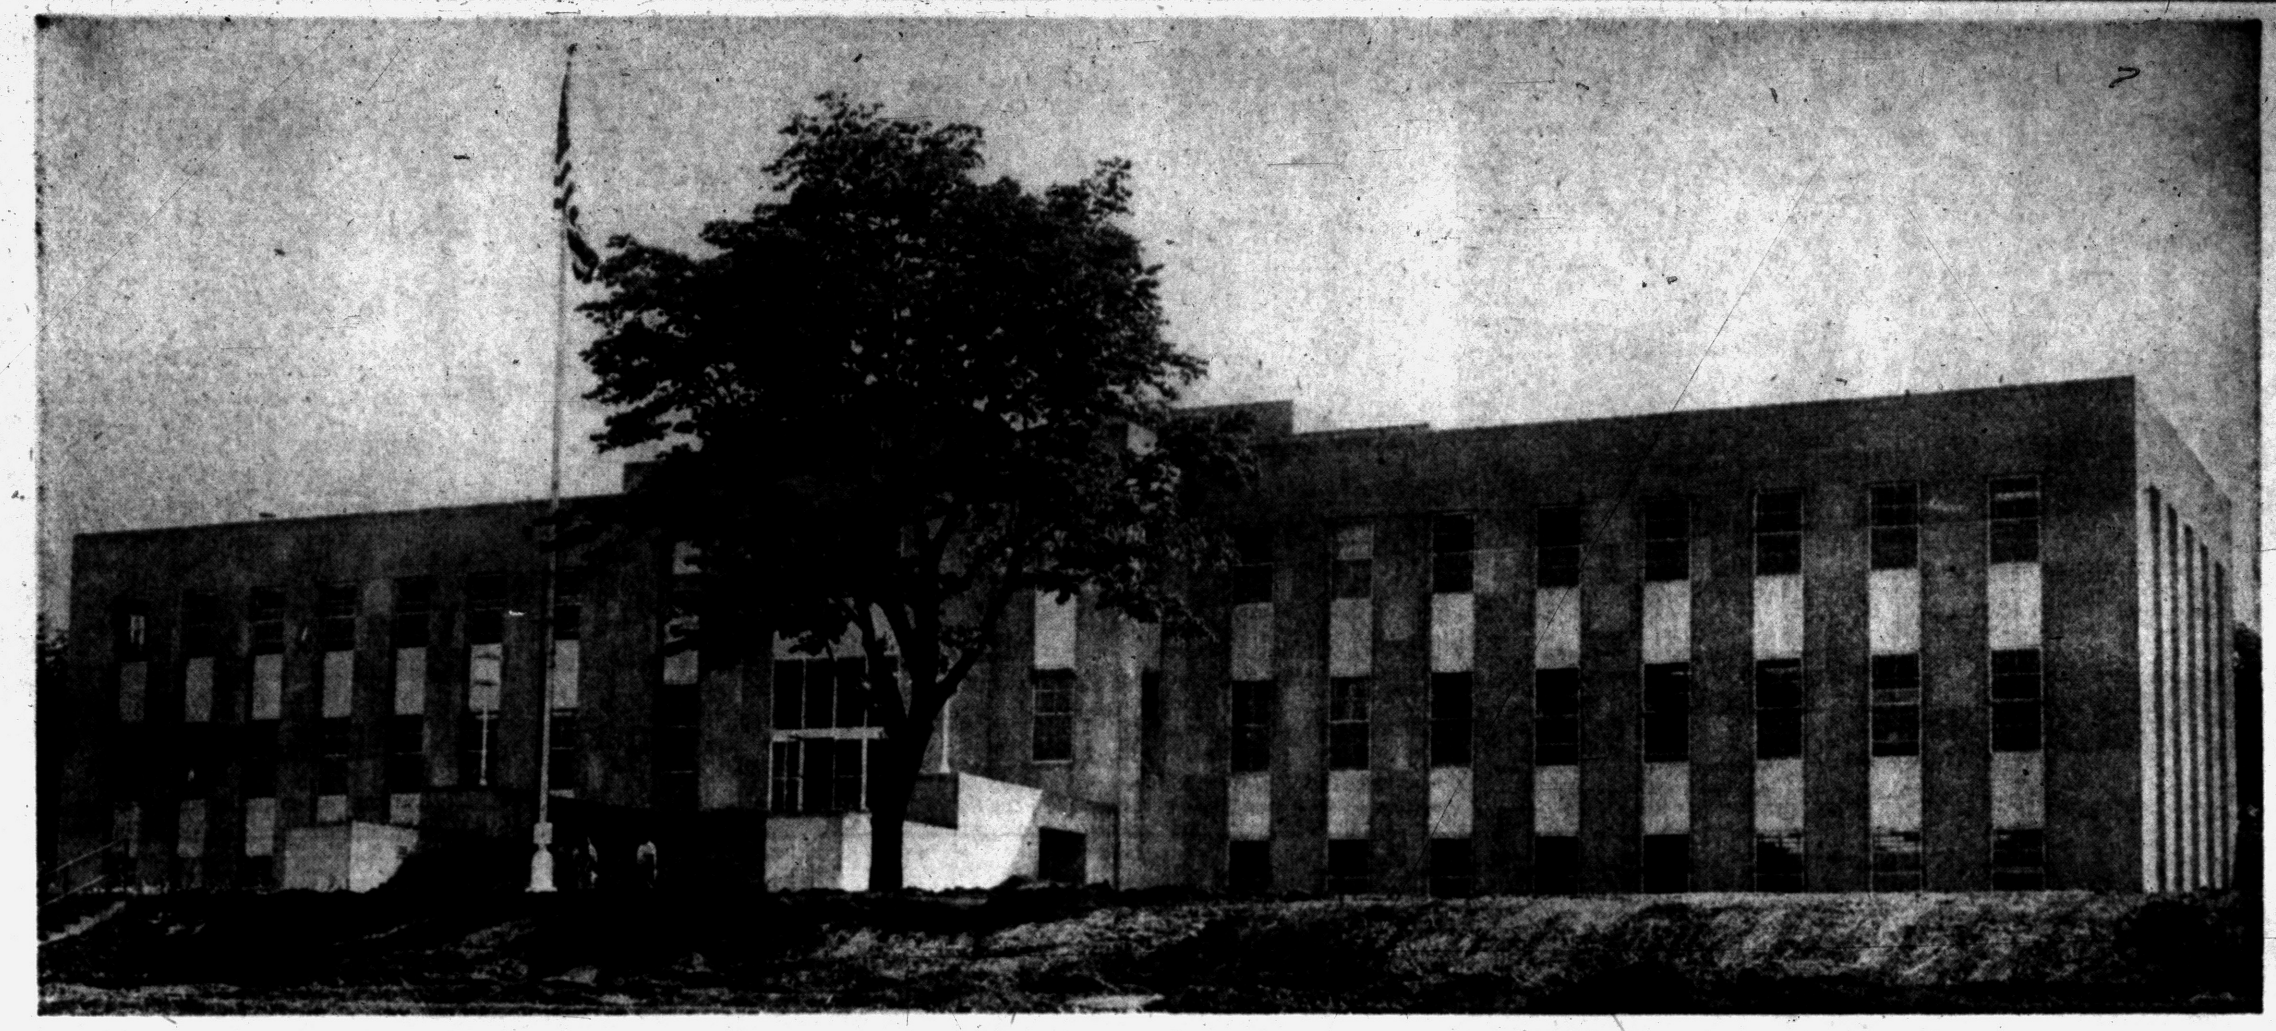

POTENTIALLY BUSY LOCATION — Here is where Pontiac taxpayers will end up, come tax deadline time. It's the collection section of the treasurer's department and is located at the south end of the first floor of the new City Hall. Behind the collection windows are the desks of department workers. To the left is the Water Dept. collection division.

HIGH CEILINGS, SOFT LIGHTS — Room a-plenty is found in the Permits and Inspection Dept. office on the first floor of the new City Hall. The office is larger than the room which the department formerly shared with three other agencies in the old building. Two desks in the new room are occupied by the fire marshal and his assistant.

NO SPACE PROBLEM — City clerk's staff employes could barely turn around when election time brought extra work into their small office in the old City Hall. Now, in the new building, there is more than enough room for their needs. Long-corded telephones mounted on the voter registration files (right) enable the clerks to check registration with phone in hand, thus saving steps and time.

INFORMATION CENTER — Immediately to the left of the main entrance to the City Hall are a bulletin board listing the floors on which the various city departments are located and the telephone operator. Visitors can consult the board or the operator, if necessary, for directions.

Construction of Building Saw Combined Efforts

Construction of a building, like winning a baseball game, takes teamwork.

The combined efforts and cooperation of 16 sub-contractors, and three prime contractors operating under a general contractor saw the successful completion of Pontiac's $1,200,000 city hall.

The general contractor, overseer of the overall project, was handled by the J. A. Fredman Company of Pontiac.

Prime contractors included the Ballard Electric Co., of Pontiac; the Haughton Elevator Co., and the Allen Briggs Co., Detroit plumbing, heating, ventilating and air conditioning firm.

Sub-contractors were Milbrand-Beck Roofing Co., E. F. Hauserman Co., steel partition firm; Carthage Marble Co., and Wolverine Marble Co., Nick Kruger and Son, painting; West Detroit Glass Co., Pontiac; Redford Ornamental Iron Works, Wolverine Door Co., L. Maraldo Co., terrazo and art marble; and the Detroit Acoustical Contracting Co.

Completing the list were Michael A. Santoro, plastering; Heinman-Lovett Co., waterproofing; International Venetian Blind Co., Chamberlain Co., caulking; C. K. Smith Co., aluminum sash; Ceco Steel Products and Bekwith-Evans, asphalt tile.

Information Desk, Index Board Will Aid Visitors

If you get confused the first time you go to the new City Hall on business, an index board and information desk are located just to the right of the main entrance, off Parke street.

The board lists the offices on each of the three levels of the building, and the girl at the information window can answer other queries.

In addition, department names are clearly painted on the entrance to each office.

Bird Proved Innocent

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Police answered a woman's call that a Mexican talking prowler was rapping on her roof. The foreign talk was coming from a parked car with its radio tuned to a Mexican radio station. The rapping? A woodpecker was pecking at the roof shingles.

Lobby Displays Pontiac Seal

4-Foot Replica of City's Official Emblem Is Part of New City Hall

A 4-foot exact replica of the official city seal is centered in the main lobby of the new City Hall.

Cast of white bronze for durability and long wear, the out-size seal was three months in the making, according to architect Leo J. Heenan.

To make the replica, an impression of the official seasl was obtained from the city clerk's office. From it, draftsmen sketched a 4-foot drawing which was sent to a company in Cincinnatti.

The manufacturer made a clay model from the drawing, then cast the white bronze device from the model. It was hand-finished to bring out the relief and lettering.

The relief couldn't be too deep, Heenan said. Otherwise people might catch toes or high heels in it and trip.

HALLWAY TO COMMISSION CHAMBER — A city employe leaves the elevator on the second floor corridor leading to the City Commission chamber in the new City Hall. In addition to the elevator, there are two main stairways, one at the rear of the building and one at the south end of the building, for travel between the three levels and basement of the $1,200,000 building.

Landscaping Job Is Under Way

Parks and Recreation Department Working on Extensive Project

The Parks and Recreation Department has an extensive landscaping job underway on the new city-hall grounds, according to Director David R. Ewalt.

Some 1,300 square yards of topsoil have been spread on the city-block-square area.

A long flight of stairs, broken by two plateaus and planting boxes leads to the main entrance from Parke street.

"We're in the process of finishing the slopes with topsoil," said Ewalt. An underground sprinkling system is being installed.

The entire area will be grassed. The slopes will be sodded with the latest type Merion Blue Grass starting about June 20. Rest of the grass will be planted the first of August.

"We've completed planting the boxes with various types of annual plants and roses," the director explained. Trees and shrub areas will not be planted until late fall and early spring.

Dispute Threatened Work on City Hall

Carpenters of Local 998 (AFL) walked off the job in a jurisdictional dispute with an iron workers' local over the hanging of aluminum ceiling trim.

The workmen returned to work after a conference by top officials of both unions.

'Hall Dedicated to Better Rule for Pontiac'—Willman

By WALTER K. WILLMAN
Pontiac City Manager

It is with a great deal of pride that the City Commission and administrative staff present this fine new City Hall to the people of Pontiac.

This structure is forever dedicated to better government in the city of Pontiac in the interest of the citizens of Pontiac. It certainly should lend itself to an increase in efficiency in municipal administration and in the services so important to the people of our city.

The property upon which the structure was built was purchased approximately 25 years ago. The building itself contains about 65,000 square feet of space dedicated to office use, and houses all city departments except police, fire and municipal courts.

The Public Safety Building, now under design, is to be erected immediately north of the City Hall facing Pike street, and will house the Police Dept., the administrative section of the Fire Dept., and the Municipal Courts.

The City Hall, completely equipped, landscaped, and including a parking lot in the rear, will cost approximately $1,200,000, and is being paid for from current funds without the issuance of bonds.

Since the first allocation of funds in 1950 towards the construction of this building, the tax rate in Pontiac has been reduced from $13.98 per thousand to $13.70 per thousand so that this construction was accomplished without increased taxes.

Within the total cost of $1,200,000, approximately $75,000 has been spent in new furniture and equipment, and approximately $30,000 worth of equipment has been refinished and salvaged from previous quarters.

The administrative suite and the Commission Chamber are air conditioned from a central plant, and if air conditioning is considered necessary throughout the remainder of the building, it will be accomplished by portable units.

The building is heated with gas, the ceilings are all acoustical material throughout, the main lobby floors and stairs are of marble, and the remaining floors are of terrazza and asphalt tile.

The building is designed for simple and economical maintenance and steel has been properly placed within the columns so that another floor can be added when necessary, with a minimum of expense and inconvenience.

It is the sincere wish of the City Commission and the administrative staff that the people of Pontiac use this building in their public services to the utmost. Your suggestions will always be welcome.

Patterson to M. C. City Hall Dedication

Harcourt S. Patterson, city commissioner from District 2, will be master of ceremonies at the dedication of the new City Hall tomorrow from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

Patterson was chairman of the Commission's dedication committee.

Also serving were Commissioners Floyd P. Miles (District 4) and Roy V. Cooley (District 1).

Fluorescent Lighting

Fluorescent lighting is used throughout the City Hall. In the Commission chamber, the fluorescent tubes are encased in flush plexiglas fixtures.

Commission Started City Hall Fund in '50

Official action to create a City Hall building fund was taken for the first time on Dec. 12, 1950, when the City Commissoon authorized transfer of $150,000 from the 1950 capital improvement fund.

The fund actually came into being earlier, when the Commission adopted the budget for 1950.

Stairs or Elevator?

Visitors at Pontiac's new City Hall have a choice of using stairs or riding the elevator.

A shaft is ready for another elevator should the time come when one is deemed necessary.

The drafting room is on the top floor of the three-floor City Hall. At the rear is the assistant city engineer's office, which connects with the city engineer's office. The draftsmen formerly were in the City Hall annex on Hill street, slated for demolition soon.

City's Annual Report in Mail Today

Liberally sprinkled with photographs, the city's 1954 Annual Report was in the mail to Pontiac residents today.

The 34-page booklet reviews the official activities of the city during the 12 months ending Dec. 31. It reports that the capital improvements program in 1954 was the biggest ever accomplished.

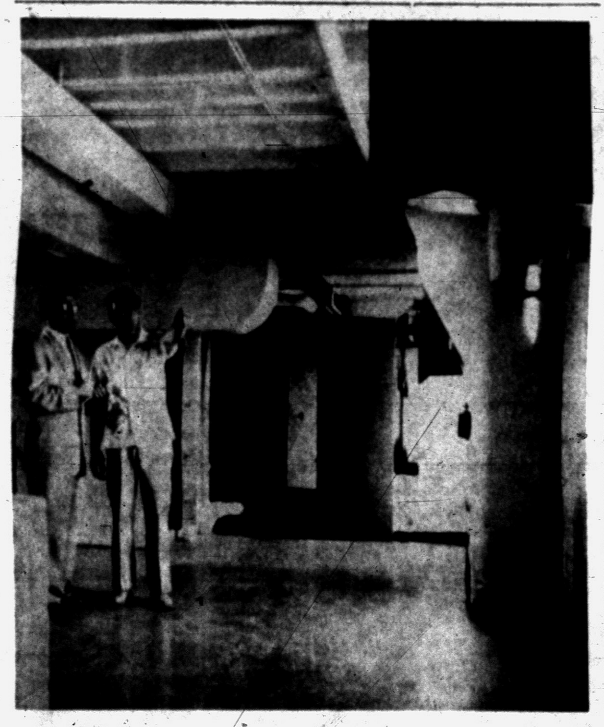

A total of $2,421,799 was spent on the program, with the lion's share—60 per cent—going for street and sidewalk improvements and new sewers.

The remaining 40 per cent went mainly for construction of the Adah Shelly Branch Library, two new bridges, new parking lots, the dismantling and relocation of the old City-County Market building and continued work on the new City Hall.

Filling the back cover is a list of "30 targets for a bigger and better Pontiac" for 1955 "and onward." Some of the "targets" will be completed in the near future, others in the not-too-distant future, according to City Manager Walter K. Willman.

The 30 points:

1. Public Safety Building—now in basic planning stages.
2. Completion of hospital expansion plans and start of construction—expected before year's end.
3. Study of Fire Dept. station houses with respect to future locations. Two field survey inspectors were here last week. Their report is due in about a month.
4. Telegraph-Orchard Lake grade separation — work slated to begin this summer.
5. Grade separations at Huron and Saginaw and Huron and Johnson Sts.—probably the most indefinite points on the program; depends on which funds become available.
6. Design of auxiliary sewage plant on newly purchased site—preliminary studies being made.
7. Saginaw street maintenance yard—under initial construction; equipment shelter already up.
8. Airport expansion — requests for grants are on file with the state and federal governments.
9. Continued paving and curb construction—now in full swing.
10. Continued sewer construction of all kinds—now operating under full summer program.
11. Enlarged sidewalk construction program—now in progress.
12. Improvement of Richardson Park by reason of channel change—to be completed within six weeks.
13. Parks improvement program continued—Parks and Recreation Dept. on complete summer activities schedule.
14. Establishment of tree nursery on Crooks road property—started.
15. Completion of Beaudette Park Well—finished.
16. Continued exploratory drilling for additional water—continually carried on by the Water Dept.
17. Participation in tri-county discussions concerning permanent water supply—Willman attended one inter-county meeting, another on county level.
18. Traffic control plan and continuous traffic studies—report on surveys taken since first of year due within a week or two.
19. Enlargement of City Planning staff—Willman now trying to finance.
20. Additional off-street parking facilities—more in offing pending land acquisition.
21. Main library building—"not so far off as you might think"—Willman.
22. Improved civil defense organization — extending to industry and utilities employes CD training given certain city employes.
23. City-wide dust laying program—already underway, one coat of calcium chloride has been laid.
24. Fiscal planning trunk line sewers—now under preliminary study.
25. Maintenance of current fiscal plan—tax rate is now $13.70, a dime below the $13.80 ceiling pledged by the city administration.
26. New National Guard and 5th Army armories—discussion with guard and reserve officials under way.
27. Development of area in front of new City Hall, bounded by Mill, Pike and Parke streets—undecided as to whether it should be a park or a parking lot; more property to be acquired.
28. Participation in construction of civic auditorium—first hint that the city might take part in building such a structure, finances for which are now being sought through the Pontiac Foundation.
29. Studies and action in connection with:
    1) Review of zoning.
    2) Review of charter.
    3) Program on sub-standard housing.
    4) Combined city-county health unit.
    5) Central stores.
    6) Modern election equipment.
30. Added street light—in preliminary stages.

COOLING LOCATION — Ronald Schemel, chief of maintenance at the new City Hall explains operation of equipment in the penthouse atop the million-dollar-plus structure to reporter Arnold Hirsch. Here is located the air conditioning equipment which cools the City Commission chamber and the administrative wing.

Air Force Plans Test Flight for Magnesium Craft

MITCHELL AIR FORCE BASE, N. Y. (AP)—The Air Force may send aloft today its experimental jet fighter-trainer made of solid magnesium.

The single-jet Lockheed plane was unveiled here yesterday, but a test flight was canceled because of generator trouble.

Pure magnesium, obtained from sea water and thus virtually in inexhaustible supply, weighs only two thirds as much as aluminum and is more rigid. The supply of aluminum is said to be limited.

The new plane needs fewer stiffening members and has 1,100 fewer parts than one constructed of aluminum. It weighs about the same as its aluminum counterpart, owing to greater thickness of some of its parts.

The manufacturers say it will cost 20 per cent less to build.

The plane was designed and manufactured by the East Coast Aeronautics Corp., of Pelham, N. Y. An official of the firm said the ship has a top speed 10 miles an hour faster than comparable aluminum planes.

City Property Covers 12 Acres

Public Safety Building Planned to House Fire, Police Departments

The city-owned area in which the new municipal building is constructed comprises about 12 acres, according to City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn.

The land on Porke street runs from Pike street south about half way to Auburn avenue. Another strip runs on the east side of Hill streets from Bliss street to about 200 feet south of Chandler avenue.

Besides the city hall, a $500,000 public safety building is planned on the site. Now on tthe drafting boards, the planned structure will house the Police Department and Fire Department administration.

The city eventually hopes to secure the whole block in which the old city hall is located bounded by Pike, Water, Mill and Parke streets. A park or a parking lot might then be constructed.

Ample Parking Facilities Set for Open House

"There will be ample parking facilities for visitors to the open house ceremonies Sunday at City Hall," Lt. Joseph Koren, chief of the traffic division, promised today.

In addition to the 250-car city parking lot at East Pike and Park Streets, the city has opened another smaller lot for the day.

The second parking lot, which will be open to the public, is located on Mill Street at Lawrence. Lt. Koren said there is space in the small lot for about 90 cars.

In addition, the normal "street-parking" rules will be in effect on all streets surrounding the area.

Lt. Koren said no special traffic routes were thought necessary, as "there is ample room for spectators on the existing grounds without blocking off a street for the overflow."

Blood on the Hoof

Ex-Patient Pays 1915 Hospital Bill

CHICAGO (AP)—A former patient at a Chicago hospital has paid a $21 bill and added $79 for his oversight of the bill he got 40 years ago.

Sister Mary de Chantel, administrator of St. Mary of Nazareth Hospital said yesterday the one-time patient, John Rola, about 63, brought the bill to the hospital, saying he had found it among some old papers. He said it was for 21 days' hospitalization after a motorcycle accident in 1915 but he remained in the hospital two months.

Salesman Escapes Hurt as Auto Turns Sub

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—An automobile driven by G. E. Alderson, 38, bounced off a concrete bridge railing yesterday, dropped 20 feet and landed upside down in a pond.

The furniture salesman was trapped in the partially submerged vehicle five minutes before three unidentified men pulled him out. A wrecker crew worked two hours to get the automobile out of the pond.

Alderson's face was scratched.

Careful Gardener

W. C. Cantrell used his wife's eyebrow tweezers to plant seeds in boxes at home. Her husband said the tweezers helped him put the seeds in place so that the rows "would be nice and straight."

Portable Cooling Units Can Be Used

Although only the administrative wing and City Commission chamber are now air conditioned, the new City Hall is built so portable units can be used throughout the rest of the building, should it be deemed necessary.

Forced hot water from gas-fed boilers will heat the building in the winter.

A re-circulating water air conditioning system — which complies with a new city ordinance—keeps the administrative section and chamber cool.

Building Outgrowth of Joint Project

Plans for the joint structure collapsed early in 1952, when the Oakland County Board of Supervisors voted to cancel all planning for the proposed building.

Great Britain has a population of about 50 million and of these 23 million are listed as employed.

EMPLOYES' SNACK ROOM — Equipped with basic kitchen equipment, plus soft drink and coffee machines, this room on the ground floor of the new City Hall was designed to meet the needs of employes for lunch and "coffee breaks." Planners realized most employes would stay in for lunch with the building more distant from downtown restaurants than the old City Hall at Pike and Mill Sts.

WE POURED

FOR YOUR NEW CITY HALL

Yes, we're proud to say that we poured all of the Ready-Mix Concrete, and supplied all of the Concrete Blocks used in the construction of Pontiac's New and Beautiful City Hall Building.

5,000 yards of highest quality transit mix concrete was used, and Boice was called on because our facilities and service is adequate to handle a job as large as this.

100,000 concrete and cinder blocks were supplied by us . . . and all were our High-Pressure, Pre-Shrunk blocks such as those being specified by all leading architects.

You, too, can depend on Boice for building supplies . . . for no matter how large, or how small the job may be we are eager to serve you.

STILL INCOMPLETE — City Sanitarian Charles S. Cohen visits the still unoccupied City Health Dept. section of the new City Hall. Arrival of equipment is holding up the movement of the department from its rented quarters in the Hubbard Bldg. New location will be in the north end of the ground floor.

FINAL INSPECTION — Inspectors and maintenance men examine the twin boilers in the basement of the new City Hall. The units are gas-fired, forced hot water type. Although only one is actually needed at one time, an extra one is needed should one breakdown in mid-winter. The boilers are located in the east section of the building, along the Hill street side.

IN EXECUTIVE SUITE — Glass is the chief component of the wall separating the secretaries of the city manager and city attorney from the main vestibule of the administrative section on the southern end of the second floor. The city manager's office is to the right, the attorney's to the left.

PLENTY OF ROOM NOW — Quite a change from the cubby-hole the mail department occupied in the old City Hall, this big new office is located on the ground floor of the spacious new building. Above, Mrs. Edward Thornton, mail clerk, checks records as Mrs. Margaret Churchill files bills for mailing.

New City Hall Finished Two Years After Start

Pontiac's new city hall was completed two years after the ground breaking ceremony held April 20, 1953.

The initial ceremony saw former Mayor Arthur J—. Law turn the first spadeful of earth with a chrome-plated shovel while 150 people looked on.

Then it was hoped the building could be completed in 18 months, but unforseeable delays caused an extension.

At the time Law said:

Turning over this sod is aymbolic of the hard work that has gone into preparation for this moment — the consummnation of that which we have planned for 11 years.

"We are able to present the citizens of Pontiac with a new city hall that will be completely paid for on completion. . . .

"We hope those who follow us, and have the priyilege of sitting in this new city hall, will work as diligently on behalf of the citizens of Pontiac as have those who have made this day possible."

Construction was begun about 40 months after the city established a building fund by resolution of the Commission on Dec. 12, 1950.

Hall Atop High Spot

About one-third of all cancer deaths in the U.S. could be avoided by early detection and proper treatment.

Tubes Provide Central Money-Changing Office

City Hall department clerks don't have to worry about making change now. Pneumatic tubes led from all departments where permits and licenses are sold to the treasurer's office.

As in a department store, clerks in the treasurer's office will make all change and stamp bills and receipts "paid."

Unique Outside Lighting Units Illuminate Hall

Unique, dual-purpose, outside-lighting fixtures have been installed at the new city hall, according to City Electrical Superintendent John W. Emerson.

"We couldn't buy anything which we felt suited the building design and landscaping plans, so architect Leo H. Heenan designed them himself," said Emerson.

Built on modernistic posts by the Electrical Department, there are two fixtures at the front entrance and one at each corner of the building.

Besides lighting the walks and general ground area, the installations have flood lights which can be turned on to illuminate the building, Emerson explained.

The inside lighting comes from rapid-start fluorescents mounted on the ceiling. "They light without flickering and starter troubles common to older fluorescent installations" Emerson stated.

Australia's crop area in 1953-54 was 21,138,000 million acres, a rise of 3.8 per cent over the previous year.

'Chieftain Chatter' Has Special Issue

A special City Hall dedication issue of Chieftan Chatter, publication of the city employes, is being distributed to the public during the open house at the new building.

The edition features interior and exterior pictures of the new structure, the mayor's dedication proclamation, a brief description of each department and the program for Sunday's dedication.

Usually published for employes' only, the special issue is designed to serve as a souvenir for visitors.

Staff Members, Heads Plan to Greet Visitors

City department chiefs and staff members will be on hand to greet visitors to Pontiac's new $1,000,000 city hall during the open house Sunday.

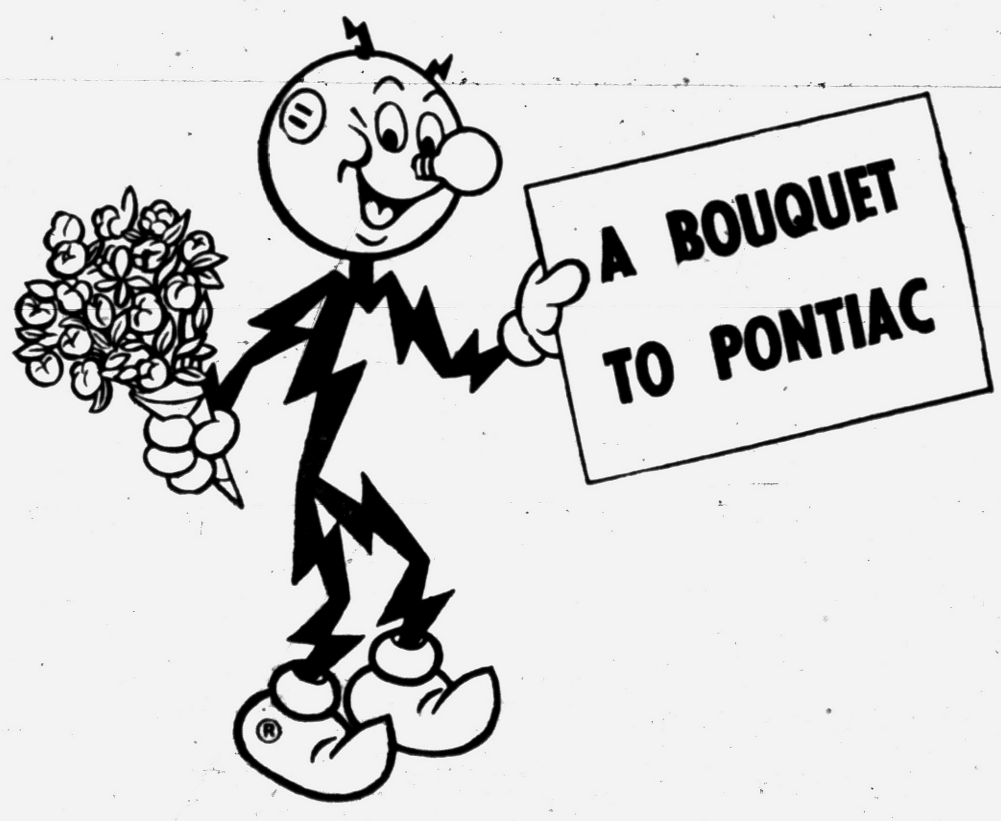

Placards giving directions to the many points of interest will be placed in the main lobby and hallways, City Manager Walter K. Wiman said.

Heads of each department or staff members will be on hand in offices to explain the functions of their units.

ON THE DEDICATION of Your New CITY HALL

This is a great step forward for Pontiac. The careful planning and wise financing of this handsome building are symbolic of the kind of progress and expansion that is going on all over Oakland County. It is the sort of progress that we are proud to be a part of.

CONGLOMERATION OF DEPARTMENTS — In one room in the old City Hall were jammed the City Engineering Dept., the Permits and Inspections Dept., the City Planning Commission and the city traffic engineer, plus a multitude of filing cabinets, as shown above. In the new building, each has a separate office, with plenty of space.

Goal Attained

New City Hall Fulfills Dream of 27 Years Ago

When construction was completed on the $1,200,000 Pontiac City Hall in April, a dream begun by city commissioners more than 27 years ago became reality.

An ordinance approved by voters in October 1926 for a $120,000 bond issue "for the purpose of constructing a city hall and purchasing a site for same"—was the beginnig.

In May 1928 an additional $300,000 bond issue was approved. In March 1929 City Manager Clifford W. Ham and City Attorney Goodloe H. Rogers were authorized to negotiate for 35 parcels of land to constitute a building site.

In 1929 the total money available was boosted to $750,000 with the approval of another $330,000 city hall bond issue.

The city hall site was purchased in 1930 when some $540,000 of the bonds were sold, and the $210,000 remaining was held in reserve to start actual construction.

Then the depression hit the nation and construction was postponed. In November 1934 the city electorate supported an ordinance canceling the $210,000 in unsold bonds.

This action left Pontiac with a city hall site but no means for constructing the building.

A fund was established by resolution of the city commission, December 12, 1950, and on May 10 this year the city hall was occupied and ready for business—because a 27 year-old dream was realized.

Plan 120-Car Parking Area Behind Building

An 120-car parking lot will be built behind the new city hall in the area where the city hall annex is now located.

Hill Street, now running between the new municipal building and the annex, has been vacated and will be relocated to curve around behind the planned lot to the east, said City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn.

The lot will provide space for service trucks, some city employes and for private persons transacting business with the city, Wrenn explained.

"Not all of the 110 city hall employes will be able to use it in order to reserve space for the public, he stated. "Limited space will require that only individuals with business at the city hall use the lot."

Water Is Ice-Cold

Zoo Official Mourns Declining Snake Quotas

ST. LOUIS (AP)—George P. Vierheller, director of the St. Louis Zoo, is mourning the encroachment of civilization on old snake haunts in Florida.

He says he really had to beat the bushes this year for the zoo's snake quota.

"Back in 1928 and later," he recalls, "you would build a fire at one end of an Everglades clearing and wait for the snakes to crawl into view."

Gov. Williams to Dedicate Hall

Robert M. Critchfield, Union Representatives Also Slated to Speak

Gov. G. Mennen Williams will deliver the dedication address at ceremonies marking the official opening of the new City Hall tomorrow from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

Short talks will be given by Robert M. Critchfield, general manager of the Pontiac Motor Division; Fred V. Haggard, president of the Oakland County CIO Council, and George Booth, of the Oakland County AF of L.

The Pontiac High School Band will kick-off the program at 2 p.m., with the national anthem to follow. A color guard will be provided by the 107th Ordinance Co., Michigan National Guard.

SEATS FOR 1,000

Rabbi Sanford Saperstein will deliver the invocation and the Rev. Edward D. Auchard will give the benediction.

Black Dirt Spread

Because there is no grass planted yet on the land surrounding the new City Hall, crews this week spread black dirt on top of the raw earth in order to improve appearances for the dedication ceremonies.

HALLWAY-STOREROOM COMBINATION — So crowded were conditions in the old City Hall that the basement hallway leading to the Personnel Dept. and Water Dept. collection office was used to store supplies and outmoded equipment. The old building, constructed in 1909, is slated to be razed to make way for a parking lot, for the present. The land may be used eventually for a civic park.

Limestone, Concrete Used in New Hall

More than 20,000-square feet of Indiana limestone and 3,300 yards of concrete went into the construction of Pontiac's new city government seat.

The limestone provides the facing for the new City Hall, located at East Pike and Parke Sts. The concrete, reinforced with iron rods, provides the framework.

The main vestibule and lobby are completely walled in Italian marble. All corridors are lined to a height of five feet with Missouri marble, identical to that used in the City Commission chamber on the second floor.

White oak is used in the administrative wing in the south end of the second floor. In the Commission chamber, the west wall is floor-to-ceiling black walnut, and the north and east walls are black walnut above a 5-foot wainscoting of marble.

Ceilings throughout the building are of fire-proof acoustical tile. Floors in public areas are either marble or terrazo. Those in offices are covered with vinyl plastic tile.

Fluorescent lighting is used throughout, with the fixtures varying with the use of the room or office. In the Commission chamber, for instance, the tubes are encased with plexiglas, while in the administrative suite they are recessed.

Twin gas-fed forced hot water boilers heat the building. Air conditioning units cool the administrative suite and the Commission chamber. Pipes for adding air conditioning throughout are provided.

Exterior windows are four feet wide. They are eight feet high on the first floor and 6-feet, 9-inches high on the ground and second floors. Aluminum Venetian blinds shade the windows, which also are equipped with screens.

Aluminum is used for the main doors, all door casings and the exterior facing between windows.

Only Health Office Is Late in Moving

Delay in arrival of new equipment is blamed for the tardiness. Meanwhile, the department continues to operate from its old offices in the Hubbard Bldg.

When the equipment arrives, the department will be located in the north wing of the ground floor.

Conscience Wins

OSCEOLA, Neb. (UP) — Albert Ryan, president of Polk County's fair board, received a letter with 50 cents enclosed. The unidentified writer wrote, "A long time ago I gained admission to the fair without paying."

'Fathers' Once Met Over Fire Horses

Modern, Compact 'Phone System Used in Building

What Michigan Bell Telephone Co. officials term "the most efficient, modern, compact and workable" telephone installation produced to date is in use in Pontiac's new City Hall.

Costing $50,000 and utilizing 50 miles of wire, the installation has as its keystone a dial switching unit which permits outgoing calls to be made without troubling the operator.

In addition, inter-office calls may be made by dialing two digits. In the old City Hall, all such calls had to be handled by the switchboard operator.

Included in the scores of new telephone instruments placed throughout the building are five "hands-free" sets. With them, users can leave the receiver on the cradle yet carry on a regular phone conversation while digging into files or looking up information.

A highly sensative microphone is built into the base of these phones and a small loudspeaker is attached to them. The instruments can be used as regular telephones, too.

Specially-Designed Table in Chamber

Basilio Ends DeMarco's Brief Reign in 12th

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Battle-scarred Carmen Basilio looked forward to a fishing trip today while his manager started work on reeling in some more greenbacks for the newly crowned welterweight champion.

Although the fistic pride of Central New York and of the king-sized Basilio clan said he was willing to defend his crown "against anyone I'm called on to meet," his manager had other plans for the immediate future.

"We'd like one or two non-title fights for Carmen to bring in some cash," said Johnny DeJohn. "I think we might take on Art Aragon (of Los Angeles) in an overweight fight on the coast. In a couple of months that should do plenty there. Then one more and we'll be ready for anyone Jim Norris (president of the International Boxing Club) says. We're not committed to fight anyone for the title, no matter what you hear."

It had been reported that the winner of the Friday fracas would take on ex-champion Johnny Saxton, who list his title to DeMarco via 14th round technical knockout April 1.

"Maybe we'll fight Saxton, we'll see," said DeJohn "We're interested in getting the most money. The kid deserves it."

"The kid"—one of the 10 children in the happy Basilio brood — earned approximately $30,000 as well as the title. DeMarco, who held the diadem only 70 days in becoming the 11th modern welterweight ruler to lose his crown in the first defense, collected a hefty $60,000.

A capacity crowd of 9,170 paid $119,794 and the coast-to-coast radio broadcast and telecast added another $50,000 to the pot.

DeMarco, a chunky, hard-hitting 23-year-old, was very much in the running until he got nailed on the button by a right in the 10th. Basilio's key gun is his left hook, as is DeMarco's, but it was the right that touched off the explosion.

Two more rights to the chin sent the bleeding and staggering Bostonian to the deck for seven. He came up firing and then ran into a blazing left hook to the jaw that sent him on his back with his head holding down the lowest strand of the ropes.

DeMarco, bleeding from cuts over both eyes, the mouth and nose, wasn't through trying. Everyone in the place but Tony knew he was done. A converted southpaw, he shifted to a lefty stance in the 11th and 12th in the hopes of pulling off a lucky kayo punch. He scored, too, with on-target hooks, but there was no power left in his blows.

The defeat snapped DeMarco's 17-bout unbeaten string and was his third knockout loss. Basilio ran his own undefeated streak to 12 since he dropped a split decision to Kid Gavilan, then the champion, in his first crack at the title, 21 months ago.

Williams' Blasts Sink Maas, Tigers Bow to Bosox, 5-2

DETROIT (UP)—Rookie Duke Maas had never pitched to Ted Williams before yesterday but it didn't take him long to learn that the big guy is poison at the plate.

Williams stepped to the plate in the 1st inning with two out and the bases bare. He lined a home run into the lower deck in right field.

Two innings later, Williams made his 2nd appearance in the batter's box with Billy Klaus on 1st. Ted walloped a drive into the right field upper deck for another homer.

Those two drives supplied the Boston Red Sox with a 3-0 lead over the Detroit Tigers and Boston went on to gain its 5th straight triumph, 5-2, behind the six-hit pitching of Willard Nixon.

When Williams came up a 3rd time, Maas had had enough. He wisely walked the Boston slugger but the damage had already been done.

Maas retired for a pinch-hitter in the 6th and turned the job of pitching to Williams over to Al Aber, the stocky southpaw who has been Detroit's most successful weapon against Ted. Aber fanned Williams in the 7th but gave up a infield single to him in the ninth.

Bill Tuttle and Al Kaline singled in succession with two out in the bottom of the 3rd and Ferris Fain walked to load the bases. Jim Delsing's single chased home two runners and sliced Boston's lead to a single run.

But the defense collapsed behind Maas in the 4th. Fred Hatfield fumbled Norm Zauchin's grounder for a two-base error and Harvey Kuenn threw into the Detroit dugout trying to nail Zauchin at 3rd after fielding Sammy White's grounder. Zauchin scored and White reached 2nd from where he scored on Grady Hatton's double.

Detroit never recovered, managing only three singles off Nixon during the final six innings. Two of those hits were by Kaline who boosted his league leading batting average to .383 with three-for-four.

His New York Yankees rammed home another nail in Cleveland's coffin last night 3-2 to move 6½ games ahead of the toppling tribe. But they had to call on Tom Morgan, and of course Jim Konstanty, to get the job done.

Morgan came on in relief of Tommy Byrne after the Yanks had taken a 3-1 lead in the seventh. And when Morgan faltered in the ninth, Konstanty strolled in to retire the last two batters with the tying and winning runs on base.

It was the 10th straight game in which Stengel has had to go to the bullpen and his firemen have won or saved six of them.

In their last 17 games, the Yankees have had only four complete games from their pitching staff. Yet they've won 12 of the contests to add three games to their American league lead—which at present is a 5½-game spread over the Chicago White Sox, who were idled by rain yesterday.

Konstanty's been the big guy, appearing in eight of the last 10 games to save four and win one.

Last night's performance may have been the biggest help, for it sent the Yanks winging in the opening game of a big four-game series at Cleveland and dumped the Indians to their seventh defeat in eight games.

In the National, Brooklyn and Carl Erskine slammed the runner-up Chicago Cubs 7-0 as the Brooks took a 9½-game lead. And New York beat St. Louis 2-1.

Singles by Gil McDougald, Andy Carey and Mickey Mantle broke up a 1-1 tie in the seventh at Cleveland and got Byrne started toward his third victory.

At Brooklyn, Erskine won his eighth on a four-hitter and belted his first major league home run. Pee Wee Reese and Roy Campanella added two more homers.

Rookie Gail Harris hit his second big league homer in the eighth to win for the Giants as Jim Hearn won No. 7.

American Team Has Edge in International

Harbert - Furgol Lead by 1 Stroke; Belgian Leads Individuals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States team carried a one-stroke lead into today's international golf championship play, but Belgium's Flory Van Donck threatened to run away with individual honors.

Van Donck was three strokes ahead of the field at the opening (12:30 p.m. EDT) of the third round and with teammate Arthur De Vulder was tied with Argentina for second in team competition for the Canada Cup.

Chick Harbert and Ed Furgol took the team lead for the United States with 282 as the defending champion Australian team dropped into a fourth-place tie with Ireland.

Van Donck, an urbane Belgian with a British accent, equaled the course record of 66 over the Columbia Country Club's 6,510-yard, par 70 course yesterday with a precision round in which he didn't hit the rough once.

Harry Bradshaw, the veteran Irish star, also shot a 66 to tie the course record set in 1952 by Jack Isaacs.

By contrast, Harbert was all over the course in carding a 69. Only a very hot putter kept Harbert in the running as he plowed through one stretch in which his drives didn't hit the fairway at all for five consecutive holes.

Van Donck's 66 gave him a 36-hole total of 136 while Harbert and Argentina's Roberto De Vicenzo tied for second with 139s.

Bradshaw's 66 pushed him up into a fourth-place tie with Mario Gonzales of Brazil at 140, and put the two-man Irish team in a fourth-place tie with Australia in the race for the Canada Cup.

Only Question at Belmont: Nashua's Winning Margin

NEW YORK (AP)—Nashua, beaten in the Kentucky Derby but winner of the Preakness, is the prohibitive choice to beat nine so-so 3-year olds in the 87th Belmont Stakes today but there is one big question.

Will the pride of William Woodward's Belair Stud win the classic mile and one-half race at Belmont Park easily as he appears capable of doing? Or will he draw the finish fine as he has done in many of his races while compiling a record of 10 victories and 3 seconds in 13 starts?

Off his second, back of Swaps' fast Kentucky Derby, and his record performance in the Preakness, Nashua should run off and hide from his rivals in this the third jewel in the turf's Triple Crown. But that has not been Nashua's way of operating.

In the Flamingo, Florida Derby, Wood Memorial and Preakness, all $100,00 added events like the Belmont, the robust son of Nasrullah won by margins of less than a length even though he appeared capable of scoring by much wider margins.

But the field today shapes up as the weakest ever to oppose Nashua. Not one of the nine others ever won a major race.

The early line quoted Nashua at 1 to 10 to wrap up his fourth one-hundred-grand victory of the year. Post time is about 3:35 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. The race will be televised and broadcast nationally (CBS) from 3:30 to 4 p.m. EST.

Santee Hands Sowell Sound Beating in 880

But Kansan Is Short of Record in Pacific AAU Meet

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Wes Santee, this country's fastest miler despite his frequent failures at the four-minute mark, has proved he's just as good at half the distance.

The crew-cut cowboy out of Kansas, although disappointing a crowd of 5,000 at last night's Pacific Assn (AAU) track meet because he didn't break a record, administered a sound trouncing to the pride of Pittsburgh, Arnie Sowell, in a special 880.

Santee sped around the baked clay track of Baxter Stadium in 1 minute 49.1 seconds for a three-yard victory over Sowell, previously undefeated in major competition. Sowell, the soft-striding Panther junior, was timed in 1:49.4.

The world record of 1:48.4 is held by Mal Whitfield. Santee was timed in 1:48.5 three weeks ago running in the California Relays at Modesto.

C. of C. Toasts PHS Track Squad

Minoso Says Beaning Not Cause of Current Slump

CHICAGO (AP) — Minnie Minoso hasn't had a hit since he was the victim of a bean ball last month and the Chicago White Sox are worried about their prize outfielder.

But the colorful Cuban laughs it off and says, "When I come out of it, I tear 'em apart."

Minoso, who hasn't had a hit in 15 trips to the plate since he was hit by a pitched ball thrown by Bob Grim of the New York Yankees, May 18, shakes off all possibilities that the slump can be attributed to the accident.

"I get hit in the head eight times in baseball and knocked out three," said Minoso who was hit by pitched balls 16 times ast year and has led the American League in that department for four years.

"They no scare me. They got to kill me before I move back." Minoso answered angrily when asked if the beaning had anything to do with the slump.

"I love baseball. It my bread and butter and if they kill me when I up at bat, I be buried in my baseball suit. I no back off for no one."

Currently he is batting .244, 65 points below his .309 lifetime average, and has a mere 38 total bases.

Sox Manager Marty Marion feels Minoso is the reason the Sox are 5½ games behind the Yankees. "If we could only get him hitting, we'd really roll," said Marion.

"I thought he was beginning to pick up before he was hit in the head but now he's no better than before. And being hit has nothing to do with it. You don't scare Minnie.

"Even in batting practice," continued Marion, "he just isn't hitting the ball solidly. I believe he's worried about not being able to shake the slump. All he needs is one good day at the plate."

Minnie agrees. He feels one good day would lead to another and—to hear Minoso tell it—he'd be up to .300 in no time.

"One day I get two hits, another three, then maybe four and I be right up there," said Minoso. "When I no hit, nobody say anything in dugout but I laugh to show I no worry. I start hitting soon and then I tear 'em apart."

Legion Loop Games Are Slated Sunday

Birmingham bids for its 2nd straight victory of the 18th District American Legion baseball league season Sunday when it entertains Homer Wing post 172 of Rochester at Pierce Field.

Birmingham won the season opener from Waterford post 431 last Wednesday, 3-2. Huron Valley Boys Club, which took its opener from Berkley via forfeit, goes to Clawson and Waterford is at Berkley. It will be the 1st action for Clawson and Rochester, which were rained out Wednesday.

Sunday's games are played at 2 p.m.

Exhibition Tilt Set

Auburn Merchants baseball team of the Class A City League will play Las Mayas of Pontiac in an exhibition game Sunday at 2 p.m. on the south diamond at Columbia-Joslyn.

Memorial Will Honor Glaspie

Multi - Lakes Program Set for Sunday at 2; Public Invited

All sportsmen and any others interested in conservation are invited to attend the dedication program of the A. Bird Glaspie memorial at Multi-Lakes Conservation Association clubhouse, at Reed's lake, Commerce, Sunday afternoon. Program begins at 2 p.m. In case of rain it will be held in the clubhouse.

The memorial, a buck and doe group on a field stone pedestal, is in honor of the former Pontiac Press outdoors writer, one-time state senator and a strong conservationalist all his lifetime. He pioneered the "one buck" law for Michigan, and was active in many other conservation affairs of this state.

Walled Lake High School band will play.

Clayton Adams, M-L prexy, will be the master of ceremonies, and talks are expected from others in the outdoors and conservation fields.

Morris Gives Shaw's Win on Two-Hitter

Morris blanked Knights of Columbus, 9-0, striking out 8 men along the way as Shaw's Jewelers racked up another victory. Morris' mates banged out 12 hits off Pete Mihay, including 3 by Louie Seay. Seay belted a home run to lead off in the ball game and added a lead-off triple in the 3rd.

Graham Hurls 4-Hitter as WMC Downs Arizona at Omaha

OMAHA, Neb. (UP) — Western Michigan defeated Arizona, 4-1, last night in the double elimination NCAA college baseball World Series.

Oklahoma A & M defeated Springfield (Mass.) College 5-1, in the other night game of the opening day of action. Colorado State topped favorite Southern California, 2-1, and Wake Forest squeezed past Colgate, 1-0, in afternoon games.

Left fielder Al Nagel singled with the bases loaded for Western Michigan in the 5th inning to drive in two runs and break a 1-1 tie. Arizona pitcher Don Lee loaded the bags by walking two and allowing a hit by shortstop Leland David.

Lefty Gary Graham scattered four singles in stopping Arizona. He struck out three and walked four. Lee allowed only four singles also, but the one by Nagel broke up the ball rame.

Draper-Miller Tandem Leads at Blythefield

Draper, 1949 Michigan Amateur champ from Detroit, and Miller, of Grand Rapids fired their 2nd straight 8-under-par-64 yesterday for a 2-day total of 64-64—128.

Bud Reniger and Lou Wendrow of Lansing held 2nd spot after 36 holes in the 72-hole tourney. The Lansing pair have 131.

Fair Visitor Shoots Self at Marksmanship Booth

LONDON (AP) — Terence Hennessey, 23, strolled up to the shooting booth at a fair here last night and paid sixpence (7 cents) for six shots with a miniature rifle. Then he lay on the ground and shot himself dead.

Auburn Nine Winner Again

Merchants Make Most of One Hit, 5 Errors by Elks

Auburn's Merchants defeated Elks No. 723 Friday night at Wisner Stadium in a Class A city league baseball game. The 4-2 score was the Merchants 2nd victory in as many nights.

Auburn's nine garnered only one hit, a double by Earl Mudge in the 4th inning, which accounted for one run. But five errors and four walks were costly for the Elks, contributing to every run that scored.

Woodrow Gordon pitched for Auburn until the 7th inning when a base on balls and single brought in reliefer Hud Johnson, who quickly put out the fire. John Jackson went the distance for the Elks.

Bean Ball Warnings Are Issued in 2 NL Contests

NEW YORK (AP)—National League umpires interrupted two games last night to warn against apparent bean balls.

Al Barlick halted the St. Louis-New York game at the Polo Grounds to admonish Cardinal Manager Harry Walker and the Giants' Leo Durocher after St. Louis rookie Luis Arroyo struck Jim Hearn, the New York pitcher, in the third inning.

In the Cardinal half of the frame, Rip Repulski had hit the dirt to avoid being hit by Hearn.

At Brooklyn, Frank Secory warned Chicago Manager Stan Hack about bean balls after Cub pitcher Sam Jones—just tagged for home runs by Carl Erskine and Pee Wee Reese—twice sent Duke Snider to the dirt with pitches.

Later in the game, Brooklyn's Junior Gilliam was struck by relief pitcher John Andre, but not injured.

None of the Dodgers indicated they thought Jones—whose wildness tops the league with 79 bases on balls—was trying to hit them.

Jones commented: "I could have stood at the plate and not been hit by either of the pitches" which Snider ducked.

How to Handle Your Money: 6

Investment Firms Best for Long-Range Buying

Following is the sixth installment of a ten-part interview with Benjamin Graham, security analyst and Columbia University professor who answers question on the hows, whys and whens of investing your money.

Q—What would be the best plan for this long-term investor? He's going to try to select a group of investments that he is going to buy over a period of years and he does not feel confident in himself to sit down and figure out what those issues should be—

A—It seems to me that the investment company is just made to order for that man.

Q—But aren't investment company shares expensive to deal in?

A—They are expensive on a short-term basis. They are not particularly expensive on a long-term basis. The commission rates run, let's say 7.5 to 8 per cent. If a man were to hold his investment for a 10-year period, that would mean it cost him about three quarters of a per cent a year on his principal. He's also paying a certain amount, perhaps 6 or 7 per cent out of the income, for operating expenses. While that is not negligible at all, I don't believe it's prohibitive.

One thing you must remember is that if he bought his investments directly and then later sold them, he would have an aggregate commission that might be about one third to a half of what he would pay to buy into an open-end investment fund.

Q—So that the investment fund is for the man who is making long-term investments, the man who is saving for the future?

A—Yes, by all means. I don't think it makes sense for any proposed investment for less than a number of years.

Q—And particularly for the man who hasn't great amounts to invest and not too much time to go into it?

A—Well, it's not limited to him necessarily, but it's of greatest advantage for the man who wants to invest over a period of time in a simple manner.

Less Than Half of Alumni Stay in Major Fields

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Outside of professional school graduates, only 38 per cent of college graduates go to work in the fields they majored in.

A recent study at the University of Michigan showed that 96 per cent of medical and dental students went on to a professional career in their fields, but only graduates in the earth sciences also tended to follow up their studies with related careers.

The Commission on Human Resources and Advanced Training, which conducted the study, said this tendency of graduates to work outside of the major fields was a good one.

They said it assures a steady supply of lawyers who also know science, scientists who know economics and economists who know law.

The study also showed that 50 per cent of female college graduates soon leave their jobs for marriage. The study said those who do not usually end up working at sub-professional levels or as teachers.

Swiss Granted Tariff Break

U. S. Agrees to Lower Rates on Some Items to Offset High Watch Duty

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has granted new tariff concessions to Switzerland to compensate for American action in increasing duty rates on foreign watches and movements.

At the same time it has agreed to lower some tariffs on exports important to Canada and Belgium to offset congressional moves in boosting duties on fishsticks and rubber soled shoes.

The announcement followed by a day that of mutal trade concessions between this country and Japan in the first such pact since reciprocal trade act was passed in 1934.

The new agreement with Switzerland, negotiated during conferences which ended Wednesday, will affect some $8,100,000 worth of annual Swiss shipments to the United States. Lower rates were agreed upon for Swiss hatbraids, some handkerchiefs, motion picture cameras and parts, embroidery, measuring and timing devices, surveying instruments, some knit underwear and specified coal-tar derivatives.

BIG REDUCTION

Reductions in American duties ranged from 12 1/2 to 50 per cent on most of the items involved, with the average reduction amounting to 44 per cent of present rates.

Switzerland had demanded the new cuts to compensate for the Eisenhower Administration's move in doubling the duty on watch and watch movement imports. This hike was decided upon on the grounds it was necessary to prevent serious injury to the American watch industry.

Switzerland shipped an average of 57 million dollars of watches and movements into the United States annually until the new rates went into effect. It protested the U.S. tariff increase as contrary to the spirit of the trade agreement between the two countries.

GM Experts Predict More Efficient Cars

ROME, Italy (AP)—Four General Motors Corp. research experts predict American automobile engines will be 30 per cent more efficient in 1960.

O. F. Caris, A. D. McDuffie, B. J. Mitchell and F. A. Syczalek of the General Motors Research Laboratories in Detroit said yesterday at the Fourth World Petroleum Congress that the engine of 1960 will have a compression ratio of 10 to 1 compared to the present 72 to 1.

Fuel economy will be 30 per cent greater, increasing from 42 to 56 ton miles per gallon, they said.

Dollarwise, the improvement will mean a cash saving of nearly four billion dollars to American motorists, they said.

Pomona Grange 'Mystery Ride' Slated Tuesday

HOLLY — The annual "mystery ride" of Oakland Pomona Grange will be held Tuesday evening.

Grange members will meet at designated places and join the mystery ride in a group.

A feature will be the choosing of a Grange Cinderella and Prince, to represent Oakland Pomona and subordinate granges at the state grange convention at Ludington in October.

Following the meeting, members will join in a cooperative lunch.

Dramatics Club Set to Present 'MacBeth'

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The Waterford High School Dramatics Club is presenting a three-part program at 7:30 today at the high school auditorium, climaxing the activities for the year.

The presentation will begin with the initiation of 10 members into the Thespian Society, a branch of the National Thespian Society.

Included in the evening's entertainment is a 40-minute production of Shakespeare's "MacBeth." The group preformed a similar showing at the Central Michigan College earlier this year.

Refreshments will be served after the program, and the public has been invited.

Agnes Jamieson, Arthur Barber Wed in Indiana

METAMORA—Mrs. Agnes Jamieson of Metamora and Arthur Barber of Lapeer spoke their wedding vows Saturday in a ceremony in the Church of Christ at Angola, Ind.

Blue with pink accessories were the colors the bride chose for her costume, and she wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ciofeck of Lapeer served as best man and matron of honor.

The couple will live in the Michael Apartment on West High street in Metamora.

GI Insurance Cut Opposed

Legion Is Against Plan to Drop Free Coverage for Servicemen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Legion has opposed a proposal to do away with the government's free $10,000 life insurance for GIs.

But T. O. Kraabel, director of the legion's National Rehabilitation Commission, spoke generally in favor of other key provisions in a revision bill before a special House committee on survivors benefits.

The measure would make sweeping changes in payment systems for widows, children and dependent parents of deceased servicemen.

In prepared testimony, Kraabel generally went along with:

1. The proposed placing of all men in uniform under the Social Security system.

2. The planned stepup in Veterans Administration (VA) compensation to survivors, including a change under which widows for the first time would be paid according to the serviceman's rank and length of service—rather than all equally. However, he voiced concern as to whether widows or lower-grade servicemen with children would be paid "adequately and promptly" enough under the "hybrid" compensation from VA and Social Security.

Old Ontonagon Set to Welcome New Neighbor

The neighbor is White Pine, a gleaming new model town of 1,200 population 19 miles southwest of Ontonagon at the edge of the Porcupine Mountains and not far from the northwestern tip of Michigan.

The Copper Range Co. and the federal government have poured 80 million dollars into the abondoned White Pine copper mine over the last two years to bring it back and ease the nation's copper shortage.

The rebirth of White Pine came at a most opportune time for Ontonagon, many of whose people have found jobs there and are sharing in its $5,000,000 yearly payroll. Ontonagon also is the shopping center for White Pine.

Ontonagon prospered in Michigan's lush lumbering days, but the last of its sawmills closed seven years ago. Its papermill closed two years ago. The town's big potato warehouse is boarded up now and Lake Superior fishing is far from the industry it once was.

To celebrate the coming of its new spic and span neighbor, old banner - bedecked Ontonagon is throwing square dances, parades and community suppers and conducting visitors on tours through White Pine. It also is donating a pine tree for planting at White Pine's dedication.

Area Supervisors to Meet Tuesday

Township supervisors and their boards from the east central section of Oakland County will meet 8 p.m. Tuesday to hear informal talks concerning sewage disposal problems in that area, according to Ralph Main, Oakland County drain commissioner.

Howard Decker, Pontiac Township supervisor, has requested the conference, and townships affected are Orion, Oakland, Avon, Independence, Troy, and the Village of Rochester.

Donald Pierce, of the Michigan Department of Health, is scheduled to attend Tuesday to inform the group what the health specifications are, concerning sewage disuosal systems, Main said.

Takes Cue From Bible

Church Unit Uses Talent in Fund Raising Campaign

Starting with a stake of $200, they saw their fund grow to $1,148 during the three-month period of the venture.

The 33 members of the group started out by reviewing the Parable of the Talents in the New Testament. Translating the parable into modern-day terms, each member decided to use her own particular talent to further the group project.

Each member dipped into the $200 fund for the original investment needed. From there on, she was "on her own."

Home baking industries sprang up. Handywomen went to work manufacturing picnic tables, bird houses. Some turned woodcutter and sold wood by the cord. Others found their talents lay in making special table napkins, or in selling flowers.

The group even published its own "newspaper"—Talent Times—each month, in order to provide a medium whereby the products of the members' talent might be advertised.

At the June meeting of the group, two members who had specialized in baking produced a group of cakes, shaped to the numerals $1,148.01, as a means of informing the eleated club member that their "Bible tip" had paid off.

The club is planning to donate the money from its unusual "talent show" to the church building fund.

Members to Offer Prayers for Peace

A giant Festival of Faith with members of half a dozen creeds participating will be held in San Francisco on June 19, the eve of the United Nations Tenth Anniversary commemoration. Protestants, Jews, Buddhists, Hindus, Moslems and Confucianists will join forces on the date to offer prayers for peace.

Initial plans for the observance were made by the city's Council of Churches, but sponsorship of the day is being shared equally by members of various faiths. Keynote speaker will be Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Among participants will be Dr. Walter W. Van Kirk, executive director of the Department of International Affairs of the National Council of Churches.

Argentina Fears Trouble in Holy March Today

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, (AP) — Authorities watched Roman Catholic preparations for today's Corpus Christi procession inside Metropolitan Cathedral. Trouble could erupt if the crowd spills out into the square in front of the church.

Although the square — the historic Plaza de Mayo — is the traditional scene of the annual ceremony honoring the Eucharist, police have forbidden it to the marchers this year.

Some church sources said the procession may attract one of the largest Catholic crowds in recent months in this country, where the church and President Juan Peron's government have been feuding since last November.

By switching the procession inside the cathedral, church authorities complied at least technically with the police order. But sources quoted Catholic leaders who informed government officials of the change as saying "we wash our hands" of what the people may do.

Michigan Employment to Rise This Month

DETROIT (AP) — Barring a strike in the automobile industry, employment in Michigan should continue to rise through mid-June, the State Employment Security Commission said today.

"Employers' reports indicate that approximately 7,000 were to be added to the Michigan working force between April and June," said Max M. Horton, commission director. "This will result in a further reduction of Detroit labor surplus."

Prelminary reports indicate employment last month was at the highest level of any May but May, 1953. Claims for unemployment benefits dropped to 22,400 for the week ending May 12. The total was about 6,000 under the same week of April.

Pontiac Man Treated for Cuts in Accident

Hubert Green, 43, of 54 Allison St., was treated for face cuts at Pontiac General Hospital early today after the car in which he was a passenger struck a parked car.

Driver of the vehicle was Robert O. Butler, 29, of 614 Franklin Rd. The struck parked car was pushed into a second parked auto, Pontiac Police said.

Storm Scatters 50 Women Flying Powder Puff Derby

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—More than 50 women pilots participating in the Washington-Havana 'Powder Puff Derby" headed for Key West today after bad weather scattered them for 800 miles along the South Atlantic Coast.

Only three of the 33 planes which left Washington early yesterday reached Key West by nightfall. Others were strung out as far north as Florence, S. C., victims of turbulent weather that delayed the start 24 hours.

One made a forced landing on a highway, another was temporarily lost and only one spent the night at New Smyrna Beach, where the contestants were supposed to stop as part of the annual seaside fiesta.

First to reach Key West were Mrs. Lucile Wright of Jamestown, N. Y., winner of the race two years ago, and Mrs. Edna Gardner Whyte of Flushing, Mich., her copilot.

Mrs. Lydia Hawkins of Cincinnati, scheduled to make the trip alone, came in with Mrs. Virginia Ashelford of Springfield, Ohio, as copilot.

Last to arrive before the 7:42 p.m. deadline was Mrs. Bernice Trimbel of Flint, Mich., and her copilot, Mrs. Joan Hrubec of Cleveland.

Mrs. Zaddie R. Bunker of Palm Springs, Calif., the 'Flying Great Grandmother,' became lost over Darlington, S. C., and was guided to safety at Florence by Mrs. Frances Bera of Los Angeles, another contestant.

Mrs. Ada R. Mitchell of Falls Church, Va., and her copilot, Virginia Thompson of Alexandria, Va., landed safely on Highway 41 near Johnsonville, S. C.

A storm front that lay over sprawling Lake Marion, south of Florence, battered the light planes and forced some back to Florence Airport. Others flew around the storm or landed at such nearby points as Moncks Corner, Charleston and Beaufort.

Others set down at Savannah and Brunswick, Ga., and planned to resume the trip to Key West at sunrise.

The 3 planes are scheduled to rendezvous at Key West today and continue the flight to Havana Sunday.

West Europe Maps Currency Program

PARIS (AP)— Western European nations have threshed out a plan aimed at achieving free convertibility of all their currencies. But they did not specify when they would withdraw their present money controls

The program was annouced yesterday by Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler. It was worked out by the finance ministers of 17 countries during a two-day meeting of the Council of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC).

Because of dollar shortages and trade imbalances, most European countries keep a tight rein on the exchange of their money into other currencies. Free convertibility is advocated as a means of boosting trade.

The ministers decided to continue for a month the existing European Payments Union (EPU) an OEEC clearing house for international trade payments. It was originally supposed to expire June 31.

The extension will be used to work out a new multilateral clearing arrangement for settling trade balances.

Against Linking Draft, Reserve

Sen. Russell Says He'll Fight Effort to Combine Measures

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga) said today he will oppose any effort in the Senate to tie the administration's controversial national reserve plan to extension of the Draft Act.

And if the Senate should take such action, which now appears unlikely, Russell said in an interview that he "will move for recommittal in order to conduct thorough hearings."

As chairman of the Armed Services Committee, Russell late yesterday completed speedy public hearings on bills for a four-year extension of the regular draft of young men 16 to 26 years and a two-year extension of the separate doctor draft law.

Pentagon officials suggested during the hearing that the reserve plan be considered at the same time, but Russell rejected the idea.

President Eisenhower suggested this week the Senate might rescue the reserve manpower program unless the House finds a way out of its present deadlock on the measure.

An antisegregation rider and other amendments were attached by the House and floor managers of the reserve bill shelved it. Eisenhower urged that the segregation rider be eliminated.

Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey told senators yesterday he doubts there is enough young manpower available for both the present regulars and the proposed new reserve program.

Of 637,200 men entering the military services in the last 12 months Hershey said 227,000 were drafted. And many of the recruits volunteered only to avoid being drafted, he said.

Burroughs Buys Out Todd of Rochester

DETROIT (AP) — The Todd Company Inc., of Rochester, N. Y., became a wholl yowned subsidiary of Burroughs Corp. of Detroit yesterday when officials of both firms signed the acquisition agreement.

Under the terms of agreement stockholders of the Todd Company will receive 1 1-3 shares of Burroughs stock for each share of Todd stock held. There are 350,000 shares of Todd stock outstanding.

The Rochester company, which manufactures protective devices such as checkwriters and check signers, will maintain its own identity and continue its own research, manufacturing and marketing organizations.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear husband and father, Ray E. Greenwald, who passed away June 12, 1952.
We miss you no less as time passes on.
Than we did on the day of your going.
For absence can never close the door of our hearts.
And the lamp of our love is still glowing.
Your heart was the truest in all the wide world.
Your love the best to recall.
For no one on earth could take your place
Your are still the dearest of all.
Sadly missed by his Wife and Children.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF RENA May Andrews, who passed away June 12, 1953.
Sadly missed by her Mother, Sisters and Brothers.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR wife, mother and grandmother, Rena May Andrews, who passed away June 12, 1953.
A light is from our household gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
Some may think you are forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more.
But in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
Sadly missed by Husband, Children, and Grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY dear son-in-law, Ray Greenwald, who passed away June 12, 1952. Too dearly loved to be forgotten by his mother-in-law, Jessie Graham.

LAKEFRONT

Here's the spot where living will take on a new meaning! No doubt you've heard the expression of "Love at first sight," which is how it impressed us when we first drove into the yard. Oh, how the children will love the fenced lot which is 75x170 ft. and the sand beach which features cement breakwater, no drop-offs which means safe swimming for the young bathers. A most attractive house of 5 cheerful rooms and an enclosed sun porch overlooking lake with a view hard to duplicate. There are 2 bedrooms one of which is carpeted 2 living rooms Also one has wall to wall carpeting. The other has a picture window overlooking a beautiful well landscaped lot The handy kitchen leads to full basement which features workshop and storage space for your boat The yard is gorgeous with its evergreen trees and other beautiful landscaping. We also have a 1 car garage. Full price $13,950 with $3,500 down. Call now for appointment. M-7.

Truman Speech Set in Oregon

Expect Sharp Blasts at Eisenhower Program for Public Power

PORTLAND, Ore., (AP)—Harry S. Truman speaks at a Democratic fund-raising banquet here tonight and some sharp criticism of the Eisenhower administration's power program is expected.

The former president said at Boise last night he had predicted in the 1952 presidential campaign that if the Republicans won office, it would mean an end to multi-purpose dam construction in the Pacific Northwest.

"I'll have plenty to say about that in my (Portland) speech," Truman told reporters in a train-side interview.

He said Republican 'bungling' is "making more Democratic votes than I possibly could in two campaigns."

Meanwhile, the Oregonian reported that Truman had told a reporter that his memoirs, to be published soon, will tell what he said was the part President Eisenhower played in the withdrawal of American troops from South Korea before the Korean War broke out.

The newspaper said Truman wouldn't go into details other than to say that Eisenhower was chief of staff at the time and that he knew what was happening.

"It's just like the 7the Fleet deal. Eisenhower said he was taking the 7th Fleet out of the Formosa Strait and taking the harness off of Chiang Kai-shek. The fleet had to be there to keep Chiang from being gobbled up. It had to go back," the paper quoted Truman as saying.

Truman, who was president at the outbreak of the Korean War, sent the 7th Fleet to neutralize the Formosa Strait at the same time troops were sent to oppose the North Korean invasion.

Miler Bannister Wed in Civil Ceremony

BASEL, Switzerland (AP) — Dr. Roger Bannister — the first man to run a four-minute mile — was married in a brief civil ceremony today to Moyra Elver Jacobsson, daughter of a Swedish economist.

The British and Swedish consuls were witnesses.

Scribe Summarizes TV Shower of Stars

Nobody at NBC knows what Dunniner's new summer TV series will be like. Not even Dunninger?

Baby and Bogie got $40,000 for their "Petrified Forest" teletake; Henry Fonda, $20,000.

Season's final "Shower of Stars" was a downpour, just one act after another . . . like the early-talkies' revues . . . but any show with Ethel Merman singing "You're the Top" is worth the while.

Tony Martin in a gypsy costume isn't the believeable fiction TV producers suspect. No matter what Tony dons, he's still the lucky sax player who made it big as a saloon singer. His sharp tux is more Tony's speed.

Skelton was up to par, whatever you think of Skelton at par.

And the "burlesque" excerpt was very good, Marilyn Maxwell customarily shapely and more lookable than listenable; Jack Oakie used with little care for his important capabilities; Dan Dailey injected an amazing amount of depth and sincerity into such a skimpy scene.

Wally Cox and his "Mr. Peepers" tenure Sunday with a commencement speech; leaving the door open for anothter write-in by his fans to keep the show on the air.

Ever notice how few male stars give their ladies first-mention? F'rinstance, Burns and Allen, Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy, Desi and Lucille, Goodman and Jane Ace, Tex and Jin, etc.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Spectator Wounded in Artillery Show

CAMP W. G. WILLIAMS, Utah (AP)—An object, presumably a shell fragment, hit a National Guardsman seated within yards of Gov. J. Bracken Lee and other dignitaries yesterday.

Struck in the face was Cpl. Norman W. Jorgenson, 19, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Jorgenson of Richfield, Utah.

He had multiple fractures of both the upper and lower jaws, and his physician said a metallic fragment lodged in his throat.

Cpl. Jorgenson was one of more than 4,000 spectators seated on what is known as VIP Ridge in the Oquirrh Mountains west of Camp Williams for the annual Governor's Day fire power demonstration.

Officials said the ridge is 2,000 yards from the target area and was considered entirely safe.

Newsman Urging Rights of Public in Court Trials

CINCINNATI (AP) — Managing Editor J. R. Wiggins of the Washington Post and Times Herald today challenged the arguments of some jurists that accused persons can forego a public trial just as they can waive trial by jury.

In an address prepared for a meeting of the American Bar Assn., Wiggins said that the right to a public trial belongs to "the people as a whole" as well as to defendants in court proceedings.

"It seems to me unreasonable and illogical," he said, "to suppose that any single citizen, in consequence of his being accused of a crime, should thereby acquire the right to close a court and thus deprive citizens, not accused of any wrongdoing, of their rights."

He said that "public administration of justice not only protects the private rights of accused persons but, in addition, secures the community as a whole against the dangers of judicial maladministration."

Wiggins is chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

He cited, as another point disputed by the press and the legal profession, various restraints on the use of cameras in court rooms.

He said these restrictions "smell of the flash powder" used by photographers when the bans were adopted.

Though urging that more courts open their doors to cameras and other recording devices, Wiggins said the press would "proceed with patience while lawyers and judges, one by one, become persuaded of the rightness of this view."

Wiggins said judges "must be the ones to decide whether a given piece of recording equipment is or is not so obtrusive, noisy or distracting as to interfere with the business of the court or the rights of litigants."

Japanese Urge U. S. to Release War Prisoners

TOKYO (AP)—Former Adm. Kichisaburo Nomura, Pearl Harbor ambassador at Washington, today urged the U.S. government to free all Japanese still serving prison terms as war criminals under U.S. military court sentences.

Tokyo's Sugamo Prison now holds 220 U.S. convicted war criminals, most accused of mistreatment of American prisoners of war during World War I. Also in the prison are eight major war criminals convicted by the International Military Tribunal and 371 minor criminals convicted by United Kingdom, Dutch and Australian courts.

Nationalist Chinese, Philippines and French military courts have pardoned or paroled all Japanese they sentenced.

Matusow Plans to Wed Artist

Turn-About Witness in Red Cases Gets Permit to Wed Divorcee

NEW YORK (AP)—Harvey Matusow, onetime FBI informer and turn-about witness in Communist cases, obtained a marriage license yesterday to marry Ellen Ruskin, an artist.

The 28-year-old Matusow said the wedding will be next Monday, but declined to say where.

Matusow listed his occupation as writer-actor. He was married twice previously, each time to Arvilla P. Bentley. They were divorced twice in 1953, both times in Reno.

Miss Raskin, 27, who lives in New York City, was born in Milwaukee, Wis., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Raskin. She was divorced in Juarez, Mexico, in 1953 from Alfred Kouzel.

Last February, Matusow said he lied as a government witness in the 1952 trial of 13 second-string Communist leaders. New trials subsequently were granted to two of them directly concerned in his testimony.

Later, in another case, Matusow was sentenced in El Paso, Tex., to three years for contempt of court. He presently is free in $10,000 bail pending appeal.

Private Eyes seem to like trouble. Rugged hard-hitting Michael Shayne of Miami, Florida, is no exception. In his latest caper he gets into trouble when his pretty, brown-haired, lissome secretary Lucy Hamilton plays Good Samaritan.

Lucy hid a mysteriously wounded young man, the brother of a friend of hers, in her apartment one night. After throwing police off the trail, she finds that the young man is suspected of murder and that she is in serious difficulties. And the young man himself is found dead, erasing any chance of help from him.

Convinced that Lucy is innocent, Shayne must vindicate her by explaining a series of apparently unrelated facts. There is an anonymous blackmailer who demands 70 grand for silence about Lucy's part. And another corpse turns up in the trunk of a car that plunges into Biscayne Bay when Lucy tries to contact the blackmailer. The story starts fast, gathers momentum with each chapter, and ends with an explosive, whirlwind race between Shayne and the murderer.
