Reserves Plan Proposals Kill Flavor of UMT

House Group Suggests
Changes in Recruiting,
Use of Compulsion

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee has taken steps designed to prevent the administration's military reserves plan from becoming a start for universal military training.

Working on a Pentagon bill to strengthen the reserves, a House Armed Services subcommittee yesterday made tentative changes which Chairman Brooks (D-La.) said show "conclusively it is not a universal military training measure."

The group has not yet acted finally. Brooks said the bill still is open to amendment. He announced hearings will open Monday to get the views of Pentagon, National Guard and Reserve Officer spokesmen on the revised proposals.

In the main, the subcommittee changes deal with Pentagon proposals for: Recruit a corps of youths under 19 for six months of intensive training to be followed by a hitch in the reserves; and use compulsion for the first time in getting reservists to keep up their required training.

The administration bill spelled out no specific annual quota for the special corps of under-19 trainees. It was this aspect that critics contended could be a loophole through which the program could be expanded into UMT.

To seal such a possible loophole, the subcommittee specified a minimum of 250,000 such trainees annually. Pentagon spokesmen had said they were thinking in terms of 100,000 a year.

The House group also provided that service in such a corps should be voluntary. It thus rejected a Pentagon proposal to permit drafting trainees if there were not enough volunteers. The regular draft would continue in effect for most youths between the ages of 18 and 26.

Under the subcommittee plan, the special trainees would be liable for 7½ years of reserve service after return to civilian life. The Pentagon had asked 9½ years reserve obligation.

As for draftees and regular volunteers, the subcommittee provided that those who refuse to keep up their reserve training can be recalled to active duty for up to 45 days.

MSC Proposes Installment Plan

Parents Could Finance
Child's Tuition in Small
Payments From Birth

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State College is working on a prepayment plan to permit parents to finance the college education of their youngsters starting from birth.

MSC treasurer Philip J. May proposed the idea at the meeting yesterday of the State Board of Agriculture, college governing body and received a go-ahead on the plan.

"We figure parents could start making monthly payments from the birth of a child—or later if they want," May said.

"If they paid, say, $15 a month the fund would amount to enough to cover college expenses of around $1,200 a year for four years when the child reached college age."

"The interest would add up to one year of college free," he said. Withdrawals would be authorized at any time, he said. Prospective students enrolled in the plan still would have to pass the regular college entrance exams.

Proper Public Housing Can Be an Asset, McAfee Replies to City Voters League

The executive director of the Pontiac Housing Commission today answered statements by the Pontiac Voters League, a group seeking an ordinance to ban further public housing here.

In answer to the charge that "public housing seriously affects property values wherever it is placed," Roy B. McAfee declared:

"The Housing Commission believes a public housing project properly designed, constructed and managed can be an asset to any residential community in which it is located."

"In addition to the fact that construction equals that of the average private construction in quality, any housing project in Pontiac would bring into a residential community recreational facilities . . . available to the surrounding community . . ."

Regarding the voters league statements that public housing "discourages home ownership by tenants," McAfee said:

"This statement is completely without fact and would not have been made by anyone who had investigated the matter of income of families living in public housing in Pontiac."

"No family is admitted into public housing who has sufficient income to purchase either new or used property. In fact, there is a gap between the families whose incomes are low enough for public housing."

"When families become 'over income' and are required to vacate from public housing they often then become property owners because their income has increased."

Regarding the league inference that the prime reason for public housing is slum clearance, McAfee stated:

"The primary purpose of public housing, as established in the Housing Act of 1949, is to provide housing for low income families living in substandard units and for veterans . . ."

"The philosophy behind the act is that the removal of families from substandard dwellings into public housing places any local government in a better position to enforce building codes in regard to condemnation and removal of slum-dwellings and the bringing up to standard units which do not completely meet the housing code."

"In this respect, it is required that an equal number of dwelling units as constructed in public housing be so eliminated or brought up to standard."

"This has been more than accomplished by the City Building and Health departments, who report, since the initiation of the 400-family Lakeside Homes project, the elimination of more than 400 substandard units."

McAfee also contended that statements about "continued surveying and other activity at East Blvd. and Michigan Ave." are unfounded.

He said the Housing Commission is not carrying on any surveying or other activity there or at the other two sites listed as (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Politics Rears Confusing Head in Stock Probe

Both Sides Agree Quiz
May Fizzle; Schedule
Fairless on Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The warring factions in the Senate stock market inquiry voiced agreement on two things today: That the inquiry is something of a fizzle and that politics is responsible.

Each side blamed the other for injecting politics into the public hearings, now in recess for the weekend. They resume Monday with Board Chairman Benjamin Fairless of the U.S. Steel Corp. as the witness.

Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) of the Senate Banking Committee told reporters he has no doubt the "friendly study" of market conditions will fall short of the hopes he had for it—hopes that it would inform the country about stock market conditions and maybe shore up some weaknesses.

Fulbright said the Eisenhower administration has made it plain there will be no change in its economic policies even if the inquiry points to a need for change.

The Arkansas senator said public reaction to the inquiry undoubtedly will be dampened, too, by "the fact that the Republicans have pinned a partisan label on it."

"It wouldn't surprise me if the inquiry has been wrecked," Fulbright said, "but its effectiveness—perhaps has been diminished by the injection of partisan politics."

The committee's ranking Republican, Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.), took an even more bearish view of the inquiry. He said it has done "no good, probably has done harm by scaring investors unnecessarily, and ought to be called off 'unless it gets back on the rails.'"

"It is perfectly plain," Capehart said in a separate interview, "that we have been seeing in operation a Democratic plan to discredit the administration and impair confidence in the country's economy."

Capehart said he saw no need for any inquiry into the stock market unless the object was to look for "rigging" or other crooked work. And he said no hint of any such activities has turned up since the inquiry opened March 3.

In Wake of Yalta Storm

Knowland Will Ask Release of Other Conference Papers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today he will press for publication within a year of official reports on the wartime Tehran and Potsdam conferences. Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said that so far as he is concerned it is "purely coincidental" that reports of these meetings of Democratic presidents with Russia's Joseph Stalin may become public as the 1956 presidential campaign is getting under way.

State Department officials said yesterday that world reaction to disclosure of the Yalta conference report has caused abandonment of plans to publish reports of the Potsdam, Tehran and Cairo conferences this year. The Russians were not represented at Cairo.

Knowland indicated he will demand the decision be reversed, and predicted the additional reports will be published by next year.

The Foreign Office said the U.S. State Department sounded out Britain on the Potsdam record before its decision to publish the Yalta papers.

The release in Washington of the secret account of the earlier 1945 Yalta meeting between Churchill, President Roosevelt and Stalin brought angry official and press reactions in Britain. Reports from Washington said the worldwide furor over the Yalta papers has prompted Washington to put off plans for Big Three meetings at Potsdam, Cairo and Tehran.

The Tehran conference in November and December, 1943, was the first meeting between Franklin D. Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Stalin. It dealt largely with plans for a second front in Europe, pledged the postwar recall of occupation troops in Iran and underwrote the arming of Yugoslav guerrillas.

National Total Is $101 Billion, Congress Told

State Ranks Second in Amount Required for Building Roads

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cost of needed highway construction in Michigan through 1964 was estimated by the Bureau of Public Roads today at $6,701,000,000.

The Michigan total was second only to California's whopping $8,209,856,000 among the state figures.

The bureau's long-awaited report to Congress put the total cost of all needed highway work in the nation for the 10-year period at 101 billion dollars.

The survey, made by the bureau at the direction of Congress, is intended to give an up-to-the-minute picture of highway needs. Congress is considering several proposals for an accelerated highway program.

The Interstate Highway system—major highways crisscrossing the nation—would require nearly one-fourth of the huge total or about $25,325,000,000, the bureau estimated.

Cost of highway needs in the various states ranges from 220 million dollars in Nevada to more than eight billion in California.

Of the Michigan total, $4,172,000,000 would be for rural highways and $2,529,000,000 for urban roads and streets.

Estimated cost of Michigan's part of the interstate system is $1,265,000,000, split between 807 million for rural and 458 million for urban highways.

Primary and secondary road systems also receive federal aid. The report put Michigan primary highway needs at $1,555,000,000 and $440,000,000 for urban construction. The state's secondary system needs were placed at $1,355,000,000 and $335,000,000 for state roads and $720,000,000 for local roads.

In all, Michigan's federal aid system needs were estimated at $4,338,000,000—$3,460,000,000 rural and $878,000,000 urban.

For non-federal aid roads, Michigan's needs were figured at $2,313,000,000, divided $1,601,000,000 urban and $712,000,000 rural.

Of this total, $162,000,000 would be for state highways and $2,151,000,000 for other roads and streets. There would be $57,000,000 for rural and $105,000,000 for urban construction. The breakdown of the $2,151,000,000 is $655,000,000 for rural and $1,496,000,000 for urban roads.

Winter May Still Pack a Wallop

Spring Due Monday but Don't Ditch Snowshoes Yet

The Weatherman warned Michigan residents today to keep their mittens and fur coats handy for a while even though spring officially arrives Monday.

Spring will make its appearance when the sun crosses the equator on its way north Monday morning, at 4:36 Pontiac time, to be exact. That is the day that daylight and darkness will be equal. From then on, daylight hours will steadily increase until the arrival of Summer in June, when the sun reaches its northernmost point.

But the weatherman warned the advent of spring isn't going to assure that snow and cold weather are gone until next fall.

"Michigan is the favorite conflict zone for warm and cold air masses," W. W. Oak, chief meteorologist in charge of the weather bureau at Detroit, warned today. "There is a definite possibility of Michigan getting heavy snows in late March and April with considerable cold weather."

According to Oak, winter makes the transition to spring normally practically everywhere but in Michigan. He said Michigan winters "are definitely not normal."

"Winters are rarely normal in Michigan," he said, "and this one is no exception."

This winter's most significant feature, Oak said, was the lack of a warm period in February to begin the first stages of ice deterioration on the Great Lakes.

"The lack of warmth is bound to delay the opening of the Great Lakes to navigation," he said. "This is unfortunate because economic conditions are pressing for an early opening this season."

Opening of the Great Lakes to early navigation is an important factor in Michigan's economy, Oak said, because when the ships don't sail "industry must survive on its stockpiles and usually uses them up by early spring."

He pointed out that a minimum of 1,000,000 tons of iron ore can be gained per week if navigation on the lakes begins soon enough.

In the Pontiac area the January-February temperature average was slightly over 25 degrees. Despite nice weather here in March to date the temperature has averaged 33.6 degrees as against a March normal average of 35.1.

Snowfall in the state was off base the past winter. This area usually has a snowfall of 21.6 inches by this time of the year, but only about 18 inches have fallen so far.

Snowfall in the Upper Peninsula has been unusually light.

Boys Club Ready for Celebration

Banquet, Pet Show, Carnival to Highlight Week-Long Event

Some 1,400 youths have turned Pontiac Boys' Club into a scene of bustling activity this week as they prepared for the annual celebration of Boys' Club of America Week which starts Monday.

A proclamation by Pontiac Mayor William W. Donaldson urges that all our citizens cooperate in making the 1935 observance of National Boys' Club Week a significant and memorable occasion.

With a membership of nearly a half million boys and 600 Boys' Clubs throughout the country, the 40-year-old national group this year has chosen for its theme, "Operation Juvenile Delinquency."

Observing its 11th year here, Pontiac's group will hold its main attraction Monday evening when some 700 are expected to attend the Father-Son banquet. According to William W. Coulson, executive director, already 530 reservations have been made.

The rest of the week the following activities will attract hundreds of other spectators, said Coulson:

Tuesday night, pet show contest; Wednesday, penny carnival and Thursday, "the world of make-believe" featuring magicians.

Miss Boys' Club, a younger sister of one of the youthful members of the club, will be chosen and crowned with her court on Friday night. The week's activities will be climaxed Saturday when young members of the club turn politicians and hold their annual election for mayor and eight councilmen.

Finnish Tanker Ordered to Stay in Neutral Seas

COLOMBO, Ceylon (U)—The Finnish tanker Aruba, making 100 miles a day in the Indian Ocean with a cargo of jet fuel for Communist China, passed 70 miles off the south coast of Ceylon today.

A chartered plane carried press photographers over the ship. Crewmen took off caps and vests and waved.

The Aruba, carrying 13,000 tons of jet fuel, was instructed yesterday by her owners to keep going, to avoid ports and—if she must stop for any reason—to wait in international waters until fresh orders are received.

Seamen's union spokesmen in Helsinki said Wednesday the crew would strike if ordered to take the Aruba beyond Singapore. The crewmen are fearful of being involved in a fight with Nationalist Chinese naval units which might try to stop the tanker.

Action Expected in Milk Dispute

Grocery, Dairy, Union Men Meeting in Detroit Over Weekend

Action on Oakland County's milk price war is expected Monday after a series of meetings in Detroit to iron out the week-old dispute between independent grocers and chain stores.

Maurice J. Croteau, president of the Oakland County Food Dealers Assn., said results of the meetings between dairy company, dairy union and independent grocer representatives will be made public then. A preliminary meeting was held Friday, Croteau said, but no conclusions were reached.

The meetings were scheduled after charges were leveled at chains and large independents that they were getting special discounts on milk from dairies.

Many county independents, chiefly in the Pontiac area, are selling half-gallon containers of milk at 23 cents—seven cents less than they pay for them and 13 cents under the retail price.

The price-slashing by 45 independents came last weekend for apparent penny-under wholesale sales by chain stores for the past three weeks.

The meetings were scheduled after charges were leveled at chains and large independents that they were getting special discounts on milk from dairies.

DURAND (INS)—Traffic on the Grand Trunk Railroad was tied up a mile east of Durand today when a diesel engine and five cars were derailed in a two-train collision.

One of the trains involved was leaving the Durand yards. The other was en route from Chicago to Detroit, both were freight.

Traffic was rerouted through Holly via the Pere Marquette while the cars were being removed and the cars were repaired.

No one was injured in the accident.

New Maps of Michigan Ready to Be Distributed

LANSING (U)—The first edition of Michigan's 1935 state highway map now is ready for public distribution.

The map notes three anniversaries being observed in Michigan this year—the centennials of the founding of Michigan State College and of the opening of the Soo Locks, as well as the highway department's 50th birthday.

Spring officially begins when the sun, finished with its job of making summer for the Southern Hemisphere, travels northward and passes over the spot indicated on the map. This will happen at 4:36 a.m. EST, Monday.

NEW YORK (U)—Showing off a little for a couple of girls, 4-year-old Walter Adams Jr. dove from a window of his fourth floor Brooklyn apartment yesterday and escaped apparently unhurt.

Walter, who took off like a high diver with his hands together, landed in a snowbank. A clump of bushes also helped break the fall.

Said Walter gleefully to his frantic parents: "I played superman."

Find Man Guilty of Manslaughter

Birmingham Motorist Faces Prison in Death of Highway Worker

A 43-year-old Birmingham man was found guilty of manslaughter yesterday by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury in the death of a county road commission worker Feb. 11, 1934.

Eldon D. Quigg, of 1060 Smith St., will be sentenced April 11 by Judge George B. Hartwick, according to Assistant Prosecutor Carl A. Braun.

Quigg was charged with driving carelessly on Woodward avenue near Benjamin street in Royal Oak and fatally injuring Charles Vincent, 66, who was directing traffic around a road commission truck.

Vincent's wife, Myrtle P., of 144 Lincoln, Clawson, was awarded $1,000 damages against Quigg by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty last Jan. 12. Manslaughter carries up to 15 years in prison.

Pope Pius Receives Touring U. S. Editors

VATICAN CITY (U)—Pope Pius XII received in special audience today American editors on a tour to Europe and the Middle East.

He received 24 members of the group in the "little throne room" of the Vatican Palace. Seated at his throne, he gave them a brief greeting in English.

The tour has come here for the third consecutive year. Most of those on the trip plan to visit the Soviet Union.

Later, responding to cheers of some 10,000 Romans, tourists and pilgrims gathered in St. Peter's Square, the Pope appeared at his apartment window and gave his blessing.

Three Youths Admit Six Pontiac Breakins

Three boys today confessed to police six breakins at Pontiac business places in the past two weeks.

Questioned by Sgt. Henry O. Hoyt, head of the juvenile department, the youths, 14 and 15 years of age, said the latest breakin occurred Thursday night at the Red-Built Construction Company, 685 S. East Blvd., where they took $122 worth of equipment.

Hoyt said the boys would be questioned further to determine values of other articles they might have taken from restaurants and stores on S. Saginaw street. Hoyt said Detective James Graham of the Grand Trunk Railroad also questioned the youths about other breakins.

'You Will Travel Electronic Roads Within 20 Years'

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—Electronic highways may be just around the corner, the director of research for the Greyhound Corp. believes.

Richard A. Rice Jr. told officials at the 40th annual Michigan Highway Conference that ended this week that within 20 years, American motorists will ride highways which will drive their car from one place to another without any effort on part of the driver.

Or, he said, motorists may travel in their cars from one city to another on railroad flatcars. He said whole truck trailers now are being hauled this way and are hitched to truck tractors for local delivery when they reach their destination.

Truck Load Restrictions on M-59 Ending Sunday

Normal truck loading on all concrete-base highways will be allowed south of and including a line from Mt. Clemens to Howell via M-59 and from Howell to Muskegon via U. S. 16.

Load restrictions will remain in force on M-21 between Grand Rapids and Holland, Highway Dept. spokesmen said.

Pat Ward Tells of Florida 'Date'

Admits Getting $100 Short Time After She Left Jelke

NEW YORK (U)—Pat Ward has admitted under cross-examination that she had a $100 "date" with a man in Florida soon after she broke up with Minot F. Jelke.

Miss Ward was quizzed for the second day in a row yesterday by George W. Herz, attorney for the 25-year-old Jelke, being tried for allegedly recruiting her for safe society prostitution.

The defense has been dwelling on the theme that Miss Ward was an experienced girl-about-town before she met Jelke.

Yesterday before General Sessions Judge Francis L. Valente and a jury, Herz asked Miss Ward about her activities after she and Jelke split up in Miami Beach in mid-March, 1932.

"Did you engage in a life of prostitution in Florida after that?" Herz asked.

"Yes, once," she replied.

"How long was that after you and Mickey broke up?"

"About a week," Miss Ward said, adding: "I didn't have a dime to eat breakfast with. I was a stranger down there."

Miss Ward said $100 was given her by a "Mr. Han" after a date in a motel near Miami.

Miss Ward also admitted living for a time in a fashionable Park Avenue hotel although she had no visible means of support.

"Isn't it a fact," Herz asked her, "that while you were at the hotel you went through the telephone book and called men you thought might be interested in prostitution with you?"

"No," she replied.

Miss Ward has admitted having $50 to $100 sex dates with many safe society playboys, but claims Jelke forced her into the dates and took $10,000 to $15,000 of her earnings.

Jelke is being retried on charges he induced Miss Ward and 25-year-old Marguerite Cordova into prostitution. The oleomargarine heir was convicted on the two counts two years ago. But a new trial was ordered because press and public were barred from the state's testimony.

The defense then asked Miss Ward about a number of extortions figures including actors Mickey Rooney, John Carradine, Alan Curtis, and Mark Stevens, and singer Alad Dale.

Rooney consistently has said that, while he may have met Miss Ward in a crowd, he never was alone with her.

Miss Ward was asked about the note she addressed to Alan Dale before she tried suicide in the spring of 1932. The note read: "Because I love you, remember me."

Dale has said there was no romance between them although she may have developed a crush on him.

possible location for the development of a 300-home project.

No such work is being done, he said, because the City Commission has not yet selected any one of the sites.

He also pointed out the City Commission has tabled a motion approving a site on Franklin road to permit further study.

McAfee said the housing panel is currently trying to locate instances where actual studies and surveys may have been made, to establish the fact that property values have not been affected by construction of a public housing project within a residential community.

Area Residents Report Crank Telephone Calls

Oakland County residents were warned today by Dr. John D. Monroe, health director, that a man identifying himself as a member of the health department staff has been conducting a strange telephone quiz in this area.

Dr. Monroe said he had received two inquiries from local residents who said they were called by a man who asked a number of intimate questions, saying that he was conducting a survey for the health department.

"We are conducting no such survey," Dr. Monroe asserted, "and if we were, we would certainly never ask questions like that over the telephone."

The official said the calls were apparently the work of a crank or deviate.

The Day in Birmingham Voters League Program Will Air 3 Ballot Issues

BIRMINGHAM — Because the three questions to be voted on at the April 4 election are topics for their Monday meeting, League of Women Voters members will open their doors to the public.

As a major portion of the 1:15 p.m. program at the Community House, City Manager Donald C. Egbert and Albert Riebling, interested citizen, will present pros and cons of the most controversial question.

This relates to moving the city's Shain Park one block south to make way for a parking lot. The newly acquired block would become Shain Park.

A 15-minute panel discussion by three members of the Recreation Board will explain the $125,000 bond issue which would add an artificial ice skating rink and other facilities to Eton Park. Questions will again be answered.

Included on the program is an explanation of the proposed $2,740,000 Evergreen Interceptor sewer, also to be voted on. Birmingham is one of six municipalities which would pay for the sewer. The sewer would abate pollution of the Rouge River.

Local Soroptimist International members attending charter ceremonies today for a new Toledo club are Irene Hanley, Mrs. W. J. Meadowcroft and Helen Larkin. Miss Larkin is governor of the club's midwestern region. She will present the charter and install officers.

Cecelia Carter, Negro soprano, will present a program of spirituals at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church. Tickets may be purchased at the door. Miss Carter, a native of New Orleans, is being sponsored by a committee headed by Mrs. William Esery.

The public is invited to tonight's monthly square dance at the YMCA, with Mark Smith doing the calling from 8 to midnight.

Referred to the Planning Board by the City Commission this week was a petition requesting the vacation of the alley north of 14 Mile road on the west side of Croft.

Laymakers took no action on a request that the city acquire property on the west side of Eton road between Hazel and Cole to serve as a buffer between residential and industrial areas, inasmuch as the plan was already under consideration by the Planning Board.

Subsequently, the Planning Board approved the move and will submit its recommendations to the commission.

Mozart's "Coronation Mass" will be presented for the public by the St. James Episcopal Church senior choir at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Fines of $75 plus $25 costs apiece were paid by two men appearing before Associate Justice John C. Emery Jr. yesterday. Pleading guilty to the charge were Leo Ranta, 29, of 344 W. Huron St., Pontiac, and James Grissom, 34, of Highland Park.

See Automation as Aid to Jobs

Curtice Tells Senate Group It Is Best Way to Help Economy

WASHINGTON — Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors, told the Senate Banking Committee, yesterday that improvement of machine tools and industrial processes "will strengthen industry and provide more and better job opportunities."

Some of the testimony on this phase of industrial economy follows:

The chairman: Do you feel Mr. Curtice, that this growing tendency toward what is called automation has played any part in the reduction in employment. We have heard a good deal of discussion of automation, so first would you give us your views about its prospects. Do you think it is going to make a big difference?

Mr. Curtice: I would like first of all to debunk the word "automation."

The chairman: I am perfectly willing for you to do that.

Mr. Curtice: There is nothing new about it. It is just a number of letters put together to form that word, to describe a practice which has been going on in all industry, and in the automobile industry, since its inception. It is making tools to produce more efficiently than was the case last year with the result that we make more value available to the public in the products that we are able to offer and put them within reach of more people, and thereby expand their use.

The chairman: Would it be fair to say that during this last year or so there has been an increase in the tempo of improvements in machinery, machine tools? Do you see any difference?

Mr. Curtice: No, I would not say so. Of the $750 million that we expended for new facilities in the year 1934, that represented the latest type of machine tool that is available, and it represented all the technological knowledge up to the present time to be applied to certain machines to accomplish a certain set of operations.

The chairman: Then you do not think that it creates a problem that would require special attention by the congress?

Mr. Curtice: I certainly do not. I think that it is the one thing that is going to continue to strengthen industry and provide more and better job opportunities.

Then the questioning proceeded to buying and selling stocks.

The chairman: Mr. Curtice, do you or your management take steps to see that inside information available to officers of the corporation is not used for the personal benefit of these officers in market transactions?

Mr. Curtice: No, sir.

The chairman: Has that ever been a problem?

Mr. Curtice: There has never been a discussion about it.

The chairman: It has never come to your attention or no one has ever been accused in General Motors of taking advantage of it?

Mr. Curtice: No, sir. As I stated a little earlier, I do not speculate in the market, I am just bullish on the future of America.

Flip of Coin Started Rosemary on Career; Teresa Brewer Was Fledgling Thrush at 2

By DICK KLEINER
(Second of Three Articles)

NEW YORK (NEA)—When Teresa Brewer was two, she was well started on the career that made her one of the leading thrushes of the day. When Rosemary Clooney was two, she was just another kid. That's how thrushes are created—in many ways.

Teresa Brewer's career was started for her by her parents. She sang in her home town of Toledo, O., when she was barely through with pabnum. By the time

TERESA BREWER AND DAUGHTER MEGAN—She started singing when she was barely through pabnum, but she prefers the nest.

Tony and Rosemary did a duet on a now forgotten song called "I'm Sorry I Didn't Say I'm Sorry When I Kissed You Last Night." Joe Shribman, Tony's manager and now Rosemary's, remembers clearly.

"I was in the control booth," he says. "I heard her sing and I lit up. So did everybody. For the first time, I guess, we were really listening to her voice."

"On the bandstand, all we cared about was that she was in tune. But I knew the minute I heard her she had a big potential for records."

There were a few more duets with Pastor, then, under Shribman's guidance, she left the band and Columbia signed her to a record contract. The first record went nowhere. Then she made a thing called "Me and My Teddy Bear," as both a pop record and a kiddie record, that is still a kiddy best-seller. After that came "Beautiful Brown Eyes," which was doing reasonably well until it was overtaken by her next record. "Come On-a My House." It made her a star.

Then came a procession of hit records, capped by the phenomenal two-sided hit, "Hey, There" and "This Ole House" which sold more than 2,000,000 copies.

Hollywood called her and she married Jose Ferrer and a flip of the coin on the way to the swimmin' hole—sure changed a gal's life.

Like Rosemary's "Come On-a My House," Teresa Brewer traces her stardom to one record, too. It was the bouncy little novelty, "Music, Music, Music."

Between her Major Bowes days and "Music, Music, Music," life wasn't too easy. She'd come to New York, and was singing in a 44th Street cafe, but she was discouraged and was about to go back to Toledo. Then a manager named Richard Lasella walked past the cafe while she was singing and—

"And I heard this odd sound," Lasella says. "I went in and it was her singing. I signed her up. The big record companies turned her down, but I got her on this other label. Her fourth record was "Music," and she's been rolling since."

That odd sound in Teresa's trademark. It's best described as what a kitten would sound like if a kitten could sing. With it, Teresa can rip into any kind of song—from a plaintive ballad like "Til I Waltz Again With You" to the brassy "Jilted."

Her kittenish voice and her kittenish looks—she's a cuddly 55-pounder—have led her to popularity in night clubs, TV and Hollywood. The only limit to her activities is her preference for home life.

She's married to a construction company executive, Bill Monahan, and the Monahans have three daughters—Kathleen, 4½, Susan, 3, and Megan, 1. (The older two sing just like Mommy, and delight in imitating her.) They live in New Rochelle, and Teresa turns down many lucrative offers in order to stay home.

This is one thrush who prefers the nest.

Next: Patti Page and some thrushings.

SINGAPORE (AP)—The British liner Caronia arrived in Singapore today with five shipwrecked Chinese fishermen picked up off Malaya.

They were survivors of a group of eight fishermen whose vessel sank in a storm off the Malayan port of Penang a week ago. They had clung to rafts until the Caronia spotted them Friday.

Reported Seriously Ill

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—John W. Davis, 81, presidential candidate in 1924, was reported in serious condition yesterday in a hospital here.

Hospital officials refused to say what Davis' illness is. It was reported that he is in a "serious" condition.

Davis represented South Carolina last year before the United States Supreme Court in the school segregation case.

In 1924 he ran for president against Calvin Coolidge.

Military Aircraft Said
Damaged in Plant; FBI
Launches Probe

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Damage to government planes being modified at the Hayes Aircraft Corp. plant was called "a serious case of sabotage" by a high company official.

Vital flying surfaces of air force transport planes—the large C119 Boxcars and the smaller B25 aircraft—were found to have been tampered with, the company reported. The extent of the damage was not revealed.

The damage was discovered yesterday, and FBI, Air Force and company agents began an immediate investigation.

"Such sabotage endangers the lives of people who fly these airplanes," said Harry Rowland, president of Hayes.

He labeled the reported damage "a serious case of sabotage." The company is negotiating a new contract with the United Automobile and Aircraft Workers Union, which has notified the firm it will terminate its agreement March 27 unless a new agreement is reached.

Union leaders disclaimed any responsibility for the alleged sabotage.

Confident Living Top Insurance Salesman Dropped His Lazy Habits

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I have been reading a fascinating book by Frank Bettger, who is said to be one of the greatest insurance salesmen in the country. Bettger talks about the principles of selling, but his book contains one of the best lessons in enthusiasm I have ever seen.

This man didn't start out selling insurance. Instead, he was a baseball player and his first job was with a Class D league team. He lost that job, not because he couldn't play ball well, but because the manager thought he was too lazy and unenthusiastic to make good.

Bettger drifted around for a while and then got another chance in professional baseball with a team in New Haven. There he became friendly with one of the older players and confided in him that he hadn't been able to get ahead in baseball because he had a reputation for being lazy.

"Well," the other man said, "no one knows you up here in New Haven. When you get out on that field the first day, why don't you act as though you were the all-time man in the world? Quit telling yourself you're slow and lazy. Act as though you were bursting with enthusiasm."

When Bettger went out on the field that same afternoon, he took his friend's good advice. Although it was a hundred degrees in the shade, he went round those bases like greased lightning. He acted like a man possessed. He threw the ball so fast it burned the hands of his teammates. And, one time at bat, he got to first safely, went on to slide into second with such force that the baseman dropped the ball, managed to do the same at third, and so got a home run on a single.

He was like a demon on the loose. The next day the New Haven papers said that there had never been such a dynamo of enthusiasm on the New Haven diamond. The fans began to call him "Pep" Bettger.

Bettger sent these clippings back to the manager who had fired him for being lazy. Projected upward by this enthusiasm two years later he was playing major league ball, second baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals. As he points out, "Nothing in the world did it but boundless enthusiasm."

When the time came for him to leave baseball, he decided to go into life insurance. He knew he had to be enthusiastic about a business which, up to then, had left him cold. He told himself that selling life insurance was the greatest calling known to man and that people needed it as much as they did their daily bread. And he told his prospects that they couldn't afford to let another minute go by without buying a new life insurance policy. In no time at all, he was breaking sales records through enthusiasm.

How do you feel about your job? Is it just routine, or is it to your mind the greatest opportunity in the world? You may be saying to yourself as you read this that I don't know your job—it's pretty ordinary. Ordinary? With made it ordinary? With real enthusiasm, you can do it with glory. Love it, think about it, get excited about it. Soon your whole life will overflow with vitality and power and your job that you thought dull and ordinary will become fascinating. Then you will find new opportunities in it.

So, if you want enthusiasm and vitality, live as though you have them. And you do have them. You have tremendous values within yourself. Does not the Bible tell you, "The kingdom of God is within you." What is the kingdom of God? Health, happiness, power, vitality, strength, beauty, glory and every other wonderful thing that is inside each of us. If you aren't living as though you have them, you're not living up to yourself. You've got what it takes—remember that and act accordingly. Be enthusiastic.

YMCA Sponsors 'Thought-for-Day'

By Religious News Service
BALTIMORE, Md. — A telephone "inspirational" thought-for-the-day service instituted by the YMCA here was "swamped with calls" during the first week of its operation. F. W. Stahl, associate general secretary of the local "Y" reported.

Calls have been averaging between 120 and 130 an hour, he said, and the telephone company is rushing through installation of a second trunk line. Mr. Stahl said one correspondent reported he got a busy signal nine times before getting through to receive his inspirational message and a woman wrote to say, after finding the number engaged many times, "this is one I am glad to find busy."

The service, believed to be the first of its kind in the nation, enables residents of Baltimore to get a half-minute of inspirational thought simply by dialing a telephone number—in the same way they get weather or time reports.

Charge Woman With Witchcraft in Guatemala

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemalan authorities have charged Olga Monzon with practicing witchcraft against President Carlos Castillo Armas.

The rare charge said that Olga placed a small rag doll in a jar containing a thick liquid, pieces of garlic, onion, tomato and some buckshot.

Stuck some pins in the doll's head, then sent her maid to the cemetery to bury the jar.

Olga was identified by police as a sister of Col. Eliezer Monzon, a former member of the ruling Junta that took over Guatemala's government shortly after the Communist-backed regime of Jacobo Arbenz Guzman was ousted.

Monzon was recently sent into exile and reportedly is living in Miami.

Witchcraft experts here say the hex doll practice is intended to cause the death of the person represented by the doll.

Korean Ambassador Gets First Mobile Unit

NEW YORK — A mobile anti-tuberculosis X-ray unit being sent to Korea as the gift of American Protestant church groups was presented to Youn Chan Yang, Korean Ambassador to the U.S., in a ceremony at City Hall here.

The first mobile X-ray equipment ever to be made available in Korea is an especially designed by International Electric on a four-wheel drive automobile chassis and carries with it on a trailer its own gasoline-driven electric generator.

The unit will be put to immediate service in areas of Korea where such clinical apparatus is unavailable to the people owing to great distances or the impassability of roads.

Officials of Church World Service, National Council of Churches' relief agency through which the unit is being sent, said tuberculosis is "by far the greatest of the disease enemies in Korea with a death rate of 400 per 1,000 population."

Nelson, Westerdale Open New Model of Scholz Home Today at Union Lake

When you walk into a kitchen that is as luxurious in looks as the sloped and story and a-half living room; when you get the feeling that you are living in the great outdoors and yet are snug within the glass and clapboard walls of a spacious contemporary home — you are probably visiting a Scholz home.

Most recent Scholz model to be built in this area will be opened today for the public to inspect at 1740 Union Lake Rd. It was built by Nelson and Westerdale and is owned by Mr. and Mrs. John C. Westerdale.

The Westerdale's enthusiasm for the design they selected for themselves has sent them into the home selling business. "Bud" Nelson of Walled Lake, partner in the business and a traditional builder who is well known in this area, has caught the same enthusiasm.

"The engineering that goes into these partially pre-assembled homes can compete with any on-the-job assembly at a savings in both time and money," claims Nelson.

Initial assembly and engineering takes place at Scholz Homes, Inc., in Toledo. Offering designs ranging from $16,000 to $32,500, there are two bathrooms and three and four bedroom models. They take from 60 to 90 days for construction and even the touch-control Philippine mahogany cabinet and cupboard work is included in the building package.

The Union Lake model shown by Nelson and Westerdale is painted a pale pink and overlooks the lake. It has the double-glazed gable end with floor-to-ceiling double windows.

Designed with a deep solar overhang to partake of the solar heating principle, the one-story house has two large bedrooms, three bedrooms, a large open-plan living room, dining area, kitchen and laundry and recreation room. A garage and utility room are attached.

Traffic-laned to make the bedroom wing accessible from the back porch door or the living room, the kitchen can be reached without going through the living room from both the back and the front side plus the garage entrance way.

Focal point of interest in the living room is the Philippine mahogany wall unit which houses a fireplace, the furnace and a storage area for hi-fi and radio.

This same wood marches into the kitchen for cabinets and into the recreation room. It is also used for the many closets in the bedroom hallway and for the full-wall closets of the bedrooms.

Pass-through china cabinets are accessible from both dining room and kitchen. Sliding California contemporary windows are placed in the bedrooms. Full ceramic tilled bathrooms, one featuring a frosted glass built-in shower and reached from both entranceway and from the master bedroom, are included in the floor plan.

The one concession to the traditional in design is the scalloped cornice back porch which is covered.

For electrical facilities, the Westerdals chose yellow in a stove and refrigerator. Walls are green in color with some sections in soft-colored and patterned wallpaper.

The model will be open 8 hours each day from today on, said Nelson and Westerdale.

How to Plaster Patch

A patch in plaster must be primed before it is painted else you'll find that the patch will absorb too much paint and produce an uneven effect. You can use either plaster primer or flat wall paint thinned with turpentine for this purpose.

Homemakers Want Efficient Kitchens

There's no two ways about it—homemakers today insist on efficient kitchens. Here are the most-wanted features: 1. Big work counters of easily cleaned material like ceramic tile. The counters should surround sink, range and refrigerator. 2. Good natural lighting from the outside, especially over work areas near the sink.

3. Indirect electric lighting over major appliances and work areas. 4. Safety. A durable, slip-proof ceramic tile floor is very popular. 5. A lot of built-in storage. 6. Eating space. Homemakers prefer an area for informal meals right in the kitchen.

More than two million persons visit Great Smoky national park each year.

Intimate Room Found Useful in Any Home

A lot of people are left cold by the too-large, modern living room area where everything is exposed to view. In smaller homes, such an area may be invaluable as a center for family living. But even in those homes, there is usually a way to compensate for the lack of seclusion common in wide-open modern interiors.

One good suggestion, of course, is to group furniture around the fireplace for an occasional quiet evening by the fire. The use of screens and movable room dividers also gives a feeling of privacy.

For a permanent cozy corner you could perhaps convert a small room, such as a dinette, into a private living room or study. A small fireplace will do a lot to comfort the spirit. If you use wood paneling for the walls, install a complementary material on the floor which will lend a warm, soft, yet rugged appearance.

In any case, there should be a place in every home for private meditation and relaxation.

Inflatable Pillows Can Have Many Colorful Covers

New inflatable pillows are made of flexible plastic in square, circular and triangular shapes for both practical and decorative uses. Uncovered, they can be quickly inflated for use or deflated for storage.

Because plastic is strong, light in weight, moisture-resistant, and easy to wipe clean, these uncovered pillows are particularly handy for traveling, boating, at the beach, in the bath, sickroom or nursery.

Decorative covers can be easily made of colorful, textured fabrics. The outline of a deflated pillow is traced on a sheet of paper as a pattern for two pieces of cover cloth. Sewn together at the edges part way around, the cover is turned inside out to hide the seam. The deflated pillow is inserted and two large wooden buttons supplied with it are attached through the center hole in the pillow, which is then inflated.

The cover may be closed by means of a slide fastener, hooks and eyes, snap fasteners, or just plain sewing. For decorative variety, the natural wood center buttons may be left bare or covered with matching or contrasting cloth either sewn or glued in place.

The square pillow has 15-inch sides; the triangular one, 17-inch sides; the circular one is 15 inches in diameter.

Folding Screens Give Dramatic Effect

Folding screens are more than room dividers. They can add new and dramatic effects to a room's decorating scheme.

A screen may camouflage a little-used door, add importance to a corner of a room, hide a hallway, or even conceal the furnace in a basement recreation room. It should be made or covered with materials that harmonize, or add accents, to the decorating scheme.

DON'T ... think that squeaky floors occur only in old houses, as there are a variety of reasons why they can happen in new homes.

Monochromatic scheme is used by L. Raymond Toucher.

A blend of styles marks William Pahlmann's living room.

Colors and Periods Mix Compatibly for Decorators

Two of America's foremost decorators, William Pahlmann and L. Raymond Toucher help prove the theory that anything goes in today's home.

Take Mr. Pahlmann's living room. He uses contemporary, French, Oriental and Portuguese styled furnishings all in complete harmony. He takes glowing colors like turquoise, red and terra cotta, tempers them with white and sets the entire scheme against sand walls and draperies.

Pahlmann's sofa, a 12-foot natural leather contemporary piece is flanked by two tables—one white, the other a pinky-orange. In front of it he has placed four Japanese tea tables designed in miniature from some he saw in the Orient. They are lacquered in a deep terra cotta. Two Louis XVI chairs with gilt frames are covered in turquoise leather, one French bergere is in red leather. Sofa pillows are in a variety of colors. Lamp bases are white Portuguese ceramics.

The background of the room is subdued because Pahlmann believes that "if you have objects of art in your home they can be emphasized with a natural background." He displays his own collection from many lands in an open book case. Japanese screens decorate the wall above the sofa and a Japanese scroll complements another wall.

Toucher's living room is done in a monochromatic scheme of Adams grey-green. This is an idea that will appeal to men, especially those who keep bachelor quarters.

Toucher carries out his monochromatic effect with two sofas in the same family of green. Gold and red are his other accents, however, and he plays them conservatively with a lounge chair in pale gold and four Regency side chairs with small red cushions. The room is paneled, has an Adam cornice and accessories mix the old and new from classic to modern.

So it should go with the average household. If you like two or three objects of different periods, use them without the slightest qualm. Put a miracle fiber lampshade on an ancient chinoiserie base, put an Aubusson tapestry sofa at a window drapery of burlap.

You can go haywire with color too, but learn how to use warm and cool colors for best effects. One way to do it is to play with small swatches of color. Take the colors you prefer and shuffle them around until you find a good combination. If you are a yellow-fancier, for instance, there's just the right line of that color to go with your other favorites—blues, greens, etc.

Keep in mind Pahlmann's preference for a natural background to play up important pieces. This can be effected with a small collection by painting one wall in the neutral shade and putting all the decorative objects at that point. One collector of African painted walls bright white, a perfect background for masks and sculpted teakwood and ebony.

Flexible Dustpan Easy to Pick-Up

A new lightweight dustpan also doubles as a crumb tray and is made of flexible Bakelite polyethylene that will not break, rust, dent, or scratch floors.

Easy to grip, the flexible dustpan conforms to any surface for quick, complete dust pick-up. Once brushed on the pan's surface, dirt and dust are trapped in three concentric ribs until emptied.

Light hand pressure on sides of pan forms convenient scoop for discharge of dirt into garbage can without side spill onto the floor. The softness of the polyethylene pan also prevents surface scratching and permits extra duty as crumb tray on even delicate table coverings. This unbreakable dustpan is available in red or yellow.

Directions on Point There for Your Help

There is such a wide variety of paint material available today that it's more important than ever to read the information regarding each product on its label. Study directions carefully before opening the can so that no colorful smear interferes. Because the manufacturer knows his product better than anyone else, it's more than wise to follow his suggestions exactly.
