

GM to Spend Record 1.1 Billion in 1956

NEW YORK — General Motors will back its confidence in continued national prosperity with capital expenditures totaling an all-time record one billion dollars in 1956, President Harlow H. Curcio announced today.

"This represents 65 per cent more than we expended in 1955," Curcio said. "It is the largest total of capital expenditures ever made by us in any one year."

Curcio, in his annual business forecast at GM's Luncheon for Business Leaders in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, predicted that prosperity will continue through 1956 and will carry business generally to "another record year" with full employment and a new high in the gross national product.

He said the automotive industry can enjoy "the second best production and sales year in the history of our industry"—second only to 1955, when a wave of buying from July through October swept the industry to a new peak.

He estimated that the industry will produce and the domestic market will absorb 7,500,000 cars and trucks in 1956. Including Canada and for export to other markets, he said, 1956 production should approximate 8,350,000 cars and trucks.

ANOTHER BIG YEAR

"For General Motors 1956 should be a record year exceeded only by 1955," Curcio told 500 top executives of American industry at the luncheon, an annual event in connection with the General Motors Motorama. In 1955, he said, General Motors set all-time records in earnings and dollar sales, with dollar sales exceeding $12 billion.

The 1956 Motorama, a giant display of General Motors products plus "dream cars" and other dramatic hints at the possible shape of the future, opens a five-city tour with its national debut at the Waldorf Thursday, January 19, through Tuesday, January 24.

Curcio's address included these other highlights:

1. Eisenhower leadership. One of the "fundamental" reasons for expecting continued prosperity in 1956, Curcio said, is the favorable economic climate resulting from "the outstanding leadership of the Eisenhower administration."

"That leadership has produced widespread public confidence not only in this nation but throughout the free world," Curcio said. "The importance of public confidence cannot be overemphasized."

2. GM capital expenditures

Curcio announced that "as concrete evidence of General Motors confidence in the year ahead, and in the long-range picture as well, GM is accelerating its expenditures under its current capital goods program."

PLAN HIGH SPENDING

This acceleration, he said, is reflected in the record one billion dollars in capital expenditures planned for 1956.

The expenditures basically will come under previously announced programs for expansion and improvement of facilities which Curcio said, when completed, bring total expenditures by General Motors for capital investment since the end of World War II to 4½ billion dollars.

"This is in addition to very substantial annual expenditures for special tools during this period," he said.

3. General prospects for 1956. Curcio said it "would seem reasonable to expect" an increase of about four per cent in the gross national product for 1956, which would mean a new high in excess of $400 billion although the rate of increase would be less than that experienced in 1955.

"There is every indication that full employment will continue in 1956," he said.

"As a result, personal income will rise, and disposable income will reach a new high level. This may be raised still further through lower taxes. With confidence prevailing, personal consumption expenditures will continue to increase from the current high level."

CITES HIGH CONSTRUCTION

Among other reasons for expecting prosperity in 1956, Curcio cited a continued upward trend in record-breaking new construction, and a new high of an estimated $32 billion in capital expenditures by industry during the year—nearly 15 per cent higher than in 1955. He also expressed the belief that defense and other spending by Federal, state and local governments will be "somewhat higher" in 1956.

4. Prospects for the automotive industry. Curcio said the automotive industry "will share substantially in the general prosperity of 1956," although the "percentage of consumer spending channeled to automobiles may not reach the record level of 1955."

In 1955, he said, retail passenger car sales to consumers were about five and one-half per cent of total consumer expenditures, compared with about four per cent for the earlier postwar years and a prewar average of less than three per cent.

"An important factor to be considered is the current policy of the Federal Reserve, which is restrictive from the standpoint of the cost and availability of credit and may result in less support to sales in 1956 as compared with 1955," he said.

The industry will continue to prosper in 1956, Curcio said, because it is offering customers the greatest values in its history, because the population is growing and because more people are moving to suburbs.

COMPETITION INTENSE

The year will be another one of intense competition, he said, but "that is the way our competitive system works—to the benefit of one person—the customer."

"For producers and sellers, 1956 will be just as good as we make it," he said. "In other words, the year will be profitable for everyone willing to work to make it profitable."

5. Prospects for General Motors. Curcio said General Motors' 1956 volume of sales in physical and dollar terms should not be far from the record level attained in 1955.

"It should be another highly profitable year for our dealers and for our suppliers," he said.

General Motors spent more than $350 million to bring its 1956 models to market, Curcio said. He noted that they contain many important mechanical and styling advances, maintaining "General Motors' leadership in engineering, styling and value for the customer's dollar."

"They are the greatest values we have ever offered to customers," he said.

6. Need for road improvement

Mr. Curcio expressed the hope that Congress will "act immediately" to put into effect President Eisenhower's proposed 10-year, twice-as-big road-building program. The program, he said, "represents the kind of thinking and leadership that is needed."

"Nothing has more dollar and cents importance for every American," Curcio said. "Nothing is more essential to the welfare of every segment of our economy."

CITE SAFETY NEEDS

7. Highway safety. He said better highways would contribute, as engineering safety into automobiles is contributing, too a better safety record. However, he added, "the final responsibility rests and must continue to rest with the driver behind the wheel."

8. Shortage of engineers and scientists. Curcio said that America's inadequate supply of engineers and scientists represented a "challenge to continued technological advance."

"Six years ago we were graduating twice as many engineers and scientists as Russia, whereas today Russia is graduating more than twice as many as we are," he said.

9. "Inquiring mind" approach. GM's own recent contributions to technological advance, Curcio said, include its gas turbine car Firebird II and other "dream cars" displayed at the Motorama; the revolutionary Aerotrains now under test by American railroads; and the Allison prop-jet engine.

Senate Expects Explosion on Natural Gas Measure

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Senate begins an explosive debate today on a bill designed to exempt natural gas producers from rigid price regulation by the federal government.

Outcome of the fight may affect the monthly bills of the nation's 20 million natural gas consumers.

Northern Democrats charged that the measure, approved last year by the House, would produce rate increases totaling hundreds of millions of dollars annually due to relaxed regulation of well-head gas prices.

But the General Gas committee, which supports the bill, warned that failure to enact the legislation would cost consumers as much as $16 million dollars a year.

The committee's estimate was based on the extra bookkeeping by the gas companies and the Federal Power Commission to keep tabs on gas prices in accordance with a Supreme Court ruling on the issue.

Both sides in the dispute predicted the debate, which is expected to produce the first major Senate flare-up of the new session and has split both political parties, may last as long as three or four weeks.

NO FILIBUSTER

But Sen. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), floor manager of the bill, ruled out the possibility of a filibuster. Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.), an opponent, said he agreed although there will be "full debate."

The split among Senate Democrats over the measure is underlined by the fact that Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), supports the measure as one of 13 bills constituting his legislative program.

The legislation, known as the Harris-Fulbright bill, stems from a Supreme Court ruling two years ago which held that FPC has power to regulate natural gas prices.

2 Detroit Dailies Start Presses for Publication

Free Press Will Resume Tuesday as 46-Day-Old News Famine Ends

DETROIT (U)—A 46-day strike-shutdown of Detroit's three metropolitan daily newspapers ended today.

It was one of the longest shutdowns in a competitive newspaper city in the last 10 years, and was set off Dec. 1 by a walkout of stereotypers.

Only contract ratification by truck drivers (teamsters) at the afternoon Times and morning Free Press remained today between full settlement with eight unions.

Drivers at the afternoon News approved a new pact unanimously yesterday and teamster leaders said ratification by the other two units was "a foregone conclusion."

All three newspapers, whose combined employment totals 4,600 and whose daily circulation totals more than 1,300,000, called back workers yesterday to begin readying the News and Times for publication today and the Free Press to roll tomorrow morning.

Stereotypers walked out Dec. 1, a few hours after their contract with the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Assn. expired at midnight Nov. 30. Other craft unions respected their picket lines, and in mid-December the printers and mailers declared themselves on strike officially.

None of five other unions representing employees on the papers struck.

The last to come to terms were the teamsters. While they normally bargain separately, they reached agreement in a joint session with all three newspapers late Saturday night.

An alert State trooper is credited with the capture Saturday morning of an elusive shotgun bandit who has admitted three area stickups, Detective Ray McConnell, of the State Police's Romeo Post, said today.

Marvin Charles Franz, 24, of Richmond, was stopped and searched when Trooper John Jurcic noticed that the general description of Franz' car checked with that of the bandit.

Among the holdups admitted by Franz, McConnell said, is the December robbery of Mrs. Elisabeth DeClerck in her Auburn Ave. market. Franz reportedly escaped with $116.

On Jan. 2, McConnell said, Franz took $70 from a Shelby market and escaped through a network of converging squad cars from six police departments.

He also admitted holding up another market in Macomb County, at 15 Mile and Utica roads, McConnell said.

In all the robberies, Franz is alleged to have walked in with a shotgun under his coat, demanded the money, and escaped in a 1956 model car.

Billy Graham Leaves for India on Gospel Tour

Before leaving New York he said he had been invited by leaders of Christian churches in India, and added:

"I am not going to proselytize any Hindus. I will talk to the Christian people in India, of which there are eight or nine million."

"I am not going for any political reasons or to get involved in politics. I will simply talk about the love of God."

Florida Cold Wave Expected to Ease Up

MIAMI (U)—A sustained cold wave which brought south Florida an unrelenting week of frost and ice that wiped out crops and chilled tourists was expected to begin loosening its grip today.

The amount of damage it caused is not yet determined.

Vegetable crops were hardest hit. The state's citrus crop, which grows further north, was largely undamaged.

In one last slap, the cold wave brought heavy frost yesterday morning to south Dade County (Miami) and the lush vegetable fields near Lake Okechobee. These areas generally were bypassed by earlier frosts.

Damage in Dade County alone was estimated at thirty million dollars.

Auto Show Tops Record

CHICAGO (U)—A record 493,143 persons attended the 48th annual Chicago Automobile Show which ended last night after a 9-day run. Greatest previous attendance was 490,500 last year. About 300 passenger cars and trucks were displayed.

Ziegler Says Michigan Will Spend $304 Million on Road Improvements

A $304,000,000 Michigan highway construction program for 1956-57 was revealed today by State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

No previously announced projects were listed for Oakland County, but Ziegler indicated those planned would be completed faster than formerly thought possible.

The commissioner only listed improvements slated for completion this year. Local highway officials expressed the hope that new projects would be scheduled for the county in the 1957 list, not yet announced.

The $304,000,000, Ziegler said, will be in addition to a "conservative" estimate of 500-miles of regular two-lane construction.

Ziegler said $132,370,000 will be spent under the so-called Coleman Act of last spring which boosted the gasoline tax one and a half cents a gallon. A considerable amount of this program will be financed by bond issues which cannot be issued until next July 1 under the law.

He said $172,145,000 will be spent on projects allowed under previous highway laws.

These compare with the 72 million dollar program in 1955, the department's largest in history. If Congress increases the federal aid program this year, the 1957 program will be revised into a 1957-58 program.

THE BUDGET DOLLAR — This chart has been released by the Budget Bureau in connection with President Eisenhower's budget message to Congress. The chart shows the source of the budget dollar and how its distribution is planned.

Ike's Highway Program Backed by GM's Curcio

NEW YORK—The hope that Congress "will act immediately" to adopt President Eisenhower's proposed 10-year, twice-as-big highway building program was expressed today by Harlow H. Curcio, president of General Motors.

"Nothing has more dollar and cents importance for every American," Curcio said. "Nothing is more essential to the welfare of every segment of our economy."

Curcio deplored the lack of effective national action on the highway problem in his address before the Luncheon for Business Leaders, held annually in connection with the GM Motorama.

He predicted a "record year" for business generally in 1956 and noted that industry is expanding its plant facilities to meet the challenge of a growing economy that is "moving steadily toward the goal of a gross national product of $550 billion by 1965."

"As a nation, we are not meeting the challenge in that vital area of distribution represented by our highway facilities," Curcio said.

"The need for better highways continues to be one of our most pressing domestic problems. A nation so dependent upon the efficient operation of motor vehicles must have a highway system that meets the demands of public safety, economic expansion and national security."

"It is not too much to say that improved highways represent a capital investment in facilities just as necessary and desirable as the capital investments made by industry. The economic loss to the country from our inadequate road system is estimated at more than five billion dollars annually."

Local Man Dies in Auto Accident

Douglas Palmer Victim; Pontiac Family Involved in Second Collision

A Pontiac man died after an accident Saturday morning, and another Pontiac man and his wife and daughters were involved in a Redford Township accident yesterday which killed two Detroit area persons.

Douglas Palmer, 21, of 254 Dick Ave., died early yesterday morning in Pontiac General Hospital after suffering fractures to skull and jaw and internal injuries in an accident on Commerce Road near Old Indian Trail.

The car in which Palmer was riding, driven by 21-year-old Willis Jacks of 335 Voorhies Rd., reportedly overshot a curve, glanced off a telephone pole and hit a tree.

Officials in Oakland County Prosecutor's Office say they plan to take a statement from Jacks, who reportedly was ticketed for reckless driving after being treated at the hospital.

Wilson L. Sigler, 38, of 90 E. Longfellow Ave.; his wife, Catherine, 36; and two daughters, Karen, 14, and Katherine, 5, were taken to Wayne County General Hospital yesterday after an early-morning head-on accident on Telegraph Road at Joy Road which killed two persons.

Wayne County Sheriff's deputies said 23-year-old Wayne E. Gerard Jr., of Detroit, and Neil Davis Hickman, 18, of Garden City, were killed in the crash.

Wilson and his wife are reported in fair condition in Wayne County Hospital. Gerard is in good condition, and Katherine was released from the hospital yesterday after treatment.

574 Million Cut in Federal Debt Will Even Books

Fiscal '57 Asks Outlay of $66 Billion for Home Needs, Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower sent Congress today a delicately balanced 1957 fiscal year budget that calls for spending $65,865,000,000 at home and abroad while slicing 574 million dollars from the public debt in the next 18 months.

While not closing the door on possible election-year-tax cuts, the President said cuts should come only if they would not reduce federal income below spending.

Eisenhower asked for funds to continue building up Western military might, including record outlays for atomic and guided missile programs. He also sought increased money for foreign aid, more school rooms, better highways, an agriculture soil bank and expanded medical research.

In this way, Eisenhower said, the nation can achieve its objectives of "securing a lasting peace and sustaining widespread prosperity" while maintaining its financial strength and stability.

The President said federal income will reach an all-time peacetime high of $65,300,000,000 in the 1957 fiscal year that begins July 1 because of "significant" increases in revenue resulting from "our present unprecedented prosperity."

This leaves a surplus of $435,000,000 for the coming year.

Instead of the $2,400,000,000 deficit predicted for the current fiscal year, the President said the 1956 budget will show a surplus of about $231,000,000.

Of the $65,000,000 in surpluses that are expected to accumulate between now and July 1, 1957, the President recommended $374,000,000 (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Ike Includes State Projects in Budget

WASHINGTON (U)—The following items were included by President Eisenhower today in his budget recommendations for flood control, navigation and reclamation projects in Michigan for the 12 months beginning July 1:

Flood Control — Battle Creek (new) $500,000.
Navigation — Black River harbor, Gogebic County, $150,000; Port Austin harbor, $313,000.
Alteration of Bridges — Houghton-Hancock bridge (new) $500,000.
Shore Protection — Chippewa Harbor, Isle Royale, $94,000; Eagle Harbor, $112,000.

Summary of Eisenhower Budget Report to Congress

Highlights Cover 14 Major Parts

Policy to Develop Basis to Spur Business Volume, Work, High Income

WASHINGTON (INS)—Here are the highlights of President Eisenhower's annual budget message to Congress:

Defense: Our defense program has been successfully re-oriented to reflect the changing nature of the threat to our security, the revised requirements brought about by the end of the Korean conflict, and the increasing availability of new weapons of unprecedented strategic and tactical importance.

Tax Cuts: "In the present state of our financial affairs, I earnestly believe that a tax cut can be deemed justifiable only when it will not unbalance the budget, a budget which makes provision for some reduction, even though modest, in our national debt."

Russian Maneuvers: "It is clear that we must never permit ourselves to be panicked by temporary crises or beguiled by a campaign of smiles without deeds."

Cold War: "During this past year, the United States has made positive new proposals aimed at relaxing international tensions. But it remains clear that the search for lasting peace will require patience, strength and continued vigilance."

Nuclear Weapons: "Pending a trustworthy (disarmament) agreement, we must continue to increase our nuclear weapons stockpile which, together with the means of delivery, is the principal deterrent to armed aggression in the world."

Farms: "We should resist new efforts to have the government restore high rigid price supports which would aggravate the problem."

Policy: "This course of government (fiscal) policy has helped to lay a sound basis for the greatest volume of business, the highest employment and the highest national income in the history of this country."

Role of Government: "The success of our country depends not upon centralized government control, but upon the efforts of all our people to do more for themselves, to better themselves, their families and communities. The role of government is to encourage these efforts."

Allies: "Our future prosperity, perhaps our very survival, will be linked with the strength of our allies and in the development of good will rather than fear and distrust among the nations."

Public Welfare: "Budget revenues must now permit us to undertake some new and expanded programs for enhancing opportunities for human well-being and economic growth."

Private Enterprise: "We will progress fastest by relying on private initiative as the main-spring for economic growth and a better life for all."

Federal-State Relations: "The interests of our citizens are best advanced by encouraging state and local governments to strengthen themselves and thus keep as much government responsibility as possible in the states and communities, close to the people themselves. . . . Our present endeavor is to help fill the gap between the need for essential services, on the one hand, and the present ability of state and local governments to meet those needs, on the other."

Schools: "The educational problems of the nation are acute. School enrollments are growing. Classrooms are overcrowded. We do not have enough teachers."

General Motors Reveals '56 Billion Dollar Outlay

resulted from GM's "inquiring mind" approach to problems, an attitude which "holds that everything and anything can be improved," he said. He described GM's new Technical Center, which will be dedicated next May, as "a measure of General Motors' determination to make its proper contribution to technological progress."

Curtice said he considered adoption of the Allison prop-jet engine to power the new Lockheed Electra, which has been ordered by several leading airlines, a "most important milestone for General Motors and for the progress of aviation."

"It is my belief that in ten years prop-jet planes will be handling 75 to 80 per cent of our country's air transport requirements, with full jets handling the balance," he said.

1956 REVIEWED
10. Review of 1955. Reviewing 1955, Curtice said that from the business and economic viewpoint, "it was a most outstanding year, and in my opinion the most outstanding in the history of our country."

"In my opinion, the most important factor responsible for the economic results of 1955 was the extremely high degree of public confidence that prevailed," he said.

This public confidence, the high level of spending by consumers, and the fact that "the entire industry had come forward with the most outstanding products ever offered to consumers," helped to make 1955 a "phenomenal" year for the automobile industry, Curtice said.

The most optimistic forecasts of 1956 sales, including his own, proved to be conservative, Curtice said, partly because of "the extraordinary and unprecedented 'bulge' in demand which caused a steady, contra-seasonal rise in new car sales from July through October."

He said this phenomenon, which was contrary to all previous experience with seasonal trends in automobile demand, accounted for "consumer purchases in the area of 500,000 additional units."

The unprecedented buying trend helped to carry the industry to an all-time production record of 9,643,000 cars and trucks in the United States and Canada, Mr. Curtice said.

34 PER CENT JUMP
He reported that unit sales of cars and trucks produced in GM's United States and Canadian plants totaled 4,638,000—34 per cent above 1954.

"This higher level of activity was reflected in all product lines, including household appliances, Diesel locomotives and Diesel engines," he said.

"Dealers handling General Motors products shared importantly in the year's prosperity," Curtice reported. "Their profits were in keeping with the record sales in units and dollars and represented a very high return on capital invested."

"It was also a very prosperous year for our 21,000 suppliers of goods and services."

Other 1955 highlights for General Motors, Curtice said, included the opportunity given to GM shareholders to subscribe to additional shares of common stock representing $325 million of new capital, and the splitting of GM stock three for one in September.

"These two actions resulted in an unprecedented increase in the General Motors shareholder family to a record 565,000," he said. "The addition of 77,000 new shareholders during 1955 represented more growth than had occurred in the entire preceding 13 years."

He also cited the 1955 announcement of General Motors' expanded program of financial aid to higher education. When this program is in full operation in 1958, 1,400 students will be receiving four-year scholarships sponsored by General Motors and GM's financial support to higher education will total $5 million a year, Curtice said.

11. The long-term future, Curtice said he believed the country "is moving steadily toward the goal of a gross national product of $500 billion by 1956."

"The great challenge before us lies in providing an industrial structure capable of supporting a gross national product of this size," he said. "We must be able to provide goods and services for a population of 190 million persons who will have an estimated disposable income of about $400 billion."

He predicted that America "will continue to expand and prosper with benefit to all."

"In General Motors," Curtice said, "we are determined to make our full contribution to meeting the challenges ahead and helping to build an ever more dynamic and prospering national economy."

Rivers Threaten California Again

Mighty Torrents Peril Yuba City Levee After Second Big Rainstorm

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A mighty torrent rolled down the Feather River in northern California today, threatening the "green" new levee hastily erected at Shanghai Bend after the holiday floods at Yuba City.

Army engineers said the levee was "likely to fail" because it was thrown up with mud and other readily available materials.

The region's second big rainstorm in less than a month ended last night with clearing skies, but it left raging torrents cascading down the Feather and Yuba River systems to converge on Yuba City, still sodden from Christmas floods that took 33 lives there. The state's total was 62 deaths with an estimated property loss of half a billion dollars. Only two deaths were reported in the latest storm.

Civilian defense evacuated more than 700 persons from ports of Olivhurst and Arboga yesterday when the Bear River backed up seven miles south of Marysville, where it runs into the Feather from the east.

EVACUATION HELD UP
Officials at Yuba City decided against evacuating the remaining residents of that city, at least until they learned the levee's fate. Saturday night they evacuated the southern part of the city and some threatened sections of Sutter County. That order affected an estimated 1,500 persons.

Civilians stopped working on the Shanghai Bend levee last night and 310 men from Beale Air Force Base were put on a patrol from Marysville to the Bear River. The levee was built around the gap through which water poured Christmas Eve to flood the town.

Less serious was the situation at communities along the north coast, where there was lowland flooding from the Eel and Smith rivers and Redwood Creek.

Crumbling cliffs at Bodinas, a small coastal town 30 miles north-west of San Francisco, gave way and wrecked around 40 homes to flood. That many families were evacuated from their homes as mud slides pushed them off their foundations.

Fisher Body Use Real Old Story, Reader Reports
A Lake Orion resident chuckled at a joke made by columnist Earl Wilson in Thursday's Pontiac Press, but begged to differ with Wilson's facts.

Wilson, commenting on singer Eddie Fisher's recent appearance on a TV show sponsored by Ford Motor Company, made this crack:

"First time Ford ever used a Fisher Body."

But Harold Halliwell, 56, claims he once helped build bodies for Ford cars in Detroit's Fisher Body Plant on W. Fort St.

"I started work there in 1921 and for nine months we put out bodies for Ford Model T's and coupes," Halliwell recalled.

He explained the plant switched to making bodies for Cadillac soon afterward.

"But at the time, many companies let out contracts when bodies for closed cars were to be built. Open bodies — as were built for touring cars — were constructed in home plants," Halliwell explained.

Still employed at the Fort St. plant, Halliwell said he will retire in eight years.

Three Factors Considered in Fixing Road Capability
Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of articles on the highway situation condensed from the book "To Be Published by the Oakland County Planning Commission."

Three factors—safety, service to the motorist and physical condition—are considered in deciding whether a road is capable of adequately handling traffic.

A road is safe if traffic moves freely and at the desired speed with a minimum of accidents. A rough and faulty surface can cut down a highway's safety by as much as 50 per cent. Narrow shoulders increase the chance of accidents.

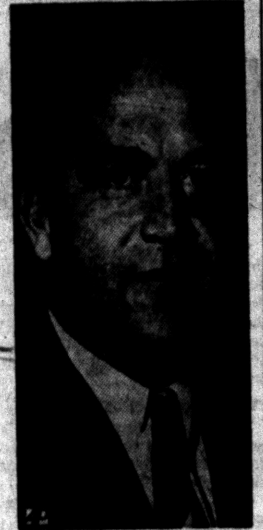

Short-sight distances ahead and rear, in both passing and stopping, force the motorist into risky blind dashes. Hills and sharp curves create accident-producing situations.

A moment's reflection is all the metropolitan-area driver needs to envision dangerous stretches of road which he drives every day.

Highway engineers are satisfied they have served the average motorist if they can eliminate the confining features of a road.

These include narrow lanes, narrow bridges and overall failure to move traffic without congestion, numerous stops and a high accident rate.

When a competent driver finds himself becoming nervous, fatigued and short tempered while motoring, he probably is on a

Gubernatorial Election Tomorrow Leads Off Nation's '56 Voting

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Louisiana leads off the nation's 1956 election parade tomorrow with all five Democratic candidates for governor in step on segregation, strict law enforcement and attracting industry from the North.

The Republicans, counting less than 5,000 of the more than one million registered voters, have bypassed the governor's race to build a two-party system with their first statewide primary since reconstruction.

Although no presidential primary is involved, the election will have national interest. It will show how a Democratic governor in Dixie fares with the voters four years after backing Eisenhower and how another Deep South state votes in the wake of the U. S. Supreme Court school segregation decision.

Gov. Robert Kennon, who narrowly missed delivering Louisiana into the Republican ranks in 1952, cannot succeed himself. He is hitching his political future to dark horse candidate Fred Prews, his personal friend and former Highway Board chairman, a virtual unknown before deciding to run for his first state elective office.

LONG KIN ENTERED
Arrayed against the administration are former Gov. Earl Long, younger brother of the late Huey P. Long; Del Leases Morrison, the handsome, vote-charming mayor of New Orleans; Francis Grevenberg, the dashing young superintendent of state police who toppled a gambling empire second only to Nevada; and James McLemore, an Alexandria cattleman.

Each of the five regards himself as the candidate with the most business acumen to woo more industries away from the North, with the most judicial knowledge to make sure integration stays in the legal briefs and out of the classroom, and with the most ability to keep gambling out of the state.

All are committed to increased welfare benefits, schoolteacher pay raises, no new taxes, and abiding by the wishes of the Legislature in regard to the 1954 "right to work" law.

In one out of every six fatal traffic accidents in 1954 the weather was rainy, snowy or foggy.

street not equipped to offer proper service. He is driving a high-powered vehicle on a Model-T road.

Bad roads are costing us an estimated five billion dollars each year in excessive expenditures for gas, brakes and tires, in accidents and time lost on jammed roads.

We are paying more in lives and money for bad roads than new roads would cost.

Cottage Breakin Loot as Yet Undetermined
Loot from the breakin last night of a summer cottage owned by Frank Stauter of Clarkson has not yet been determined, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said today.

Occupant of the cottage, located behind Stauter's Main Street residence, reportedly has been absent all winter.

Bloomfield Woman Hurt in Four-Auto Accident
Mrs. Eddie L. Moore, 46, of 415 Bloomfield Ave., received minor injuries in a four-car accident at Fisher Ave. and Motor St. Sunday. She was released after treatment for facial cuts, authorities said.

Police said Mrs. Moore's car was struck by James E. Hollis, 46, of 2 1/2 Grant St. Her car then bounced into two parked cars, they added.

14 Killed in State Traffic Mishaps

Three Others Die Over Weekend in Shooting, Water, Plane Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fourteen persons died over the weekend in Michigan traffic mishaps and three others were killed in other accidents.

Lindelle Revelle, 38, of Detroit died Saturday when struck by a .22 rifle bullet when the weapon accidentally discharged during target practice near Blissfield.

Bernard Driver, 7, of Garden River, Ont., drowned Saturday after falling through ice on the St. Marys River at Sault Ste. Marie.

Clarence Paden, 46, Willow Run Airport serviceman, was killed Saturday when struck by an airplane's propeller. He lived near Ypsilanti.

Traffic deaths include: Mrs. Mina Hagerman, 87, of Jackson.

Lynn Steadman, 17, of Ovid. Dennis Jaronski, 7, of Utica. Glenn E. Gerard Jr., 23, of Detroit.

Nellie Hickman, 18, of Garden City. Wayne G. Wilson, 24, of Boyne City. Verlan L. Stowell, 38, of Woodland.

Joseph L. Adams, 51, of Detroit. Roy Lydie, 68, of Ovid. John D. Kennedy, 17, of Keego Harbor.

Alex Marshall, 64, of Kingston. Noah Chesley Chapman, 68, of North Liberty, Ind., and his wife, Dora, were killed Saturday in Hillsdale County.

Frank LaChonce, 76, of Cadillac.

Israel, Arab Troops Clash on Gaza Strip
JERUSALEM (INS)—Israeli and Egyptian armored patrols fought a series of battles over the weekend along the bloody Gaza Strip and in the El Ajia demilitarized zone.

An Egyptian spokesman, whose government protested to the U.N. Armistice Commission, accused the Israelis of twice provoking a gun battle in the El Ajia area.

An Israeli spokesman said an Egyptian patrol clashed with an Israeli patrol in the demilitarized zone and earlier Egyptians had fired on a patrol in the Beer sector of the Gaza Strip.

Syndicate to Meet in Sale of Tigers
WARE, Mass. (AP)—Lionel Grise, burial bag broker, said today a meeting of his six-man syndicate will be held in New York the second week of February with Walter O. Briggs Jr., owner of the Detroit Tigers, relative to the purchase of the club.

Grise said the selling price is about three million dollars and that the club is not expected to be sold before the end of the 1956 season.

He added that under no consideration would the baseball club be transferred from Detroit to some other Western city.

White Lake Resident Sentenced to Jail Term
Henry Carbow, 31, of White Lake Township, pleaded guilty on two counts Saturday before Orion Township Justice Helmar G. Stannback and was sent to jail for a minimum of five days.

For drunk driving, Carbow was fined $100 with $15 costs or 30 days, and for driving with a revoked license $35 fine, $15 costs and five days.

Money, Watch Stolen
About $300 in cash and a 1950 watch were reported stolen Sunday from a home at 429 E. Tennyson St., Pontiac Police said.

Ford Duval explained that the money, most of it in change, was kept in a one-half gallon jar, also missing.

Grocery Store Burglary Nets Pennies, Canister
A petty burglary from a grocery store at 386 N. Saginaw Saturday, netted $2 in pennies and $2.50 from a March of Dimes Canister, police were told.

The owner, Franklin C. Batten, 118 Edison St., reported the thief entered through a rear window of the store.

Guilty Plea Entered to Disorderly Charge
Pleading guilty to disorderly conduct, James Frosley, 39, of 38 S. Saginaw St., was fined $100 and jailed 40 days by Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum Saturday.

Frosley was arraigned after police charged he committed an indecent act in the men's lounge of a downtown theater.

Six Bottles of Whisky Stolen in Breakin
Six bottles of whiskey, worth $27, were all that was reported missing from a store at 99 S. Saginaw St., broken into Saturday.

Owner, Joe Mihalak, 150 Berkshire St., told police that a rear window of the store was smashed by the culprit.

The Day in Birmingham

Map Shows Possibilities of 2 More Parking Lots

BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners discussed not only the three parking lot possibilities previously considered, but two more, when they met in unofficial session on Saturday morning.

A good number of citizens joined in the discussion, which ended with the city manager planning to turn in a report at next Monday's commission meeting on proposed parking lot A, and to submit a resolution on its necessity. A date on a necessity hearing would then be set.

Shortly thereafter, a report on the other locations will be presented by the city manager, as well. Besides A, which would be north of Hamilton between Park and extended Fernald, possibilities include F, on Hamilton behind the bank building, E, just to the east, and MH, still further to the east and adjoining the Hunter House at Hamilton and Hunter.

Tonight's commission meeting will hear a report on expected completion of the skating rink, further hearings on widening of Willets, and discussion of whether telephone booths in Parking Lot No. 1 are non-aesthetic.

Lorraine and Lynwood R. Shotts, 715 W. Frank, both received face lacerations when another car struck theirs as they made a left turn at Maple and Telegraph at 1:45 a.m. today. Bloomfield Township police said the accident, which forced the Shotts car against a telephone pole, was unavoidable. The other car was driven by James D. Biller of Mt. Morris.

Paul Barnett, state conservation officer, will speak at tonight's High Twelve meeting at the Community House. His talk was arranged by Noah O. Blocker.

Fire last year cost Birmingham residents $32,965 in damage losses, according to Fire Chief Park H. Smith's annual report given to the city manager last week. His department made 420 runs, including 65 for first aid, 38 for suspected gas, and 12 false alarms.

Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit will speak at the Men's Club dinner Jan. 30 at St. James Episcopal Church, and reservations indicate a capacity crowd will be on hand.

The green belt along the railroad north of Derby may be used by adjacent homeowners as private lawns, provided they keep up the property, city commissioners decided last week.

Richard L. Alexander, Service for Richard L. Alexander, 86, 16975 14 Mile Rd., who died Sunday at Henry Ford Hospital after a short illness, will be in Baltimore. Alexander, a salesman for Eastman Kodak Co., came here from Baltimore four years ago.

His body will be at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton company until 4 p.m. today, before being sent to the Pickner Funeral Chapel in Baltimore for the Thursday service.

He leaves his wife, Lina Bride Alexander, two sons, Robert and Richard C., and one granddaughter.

Boys Club Burglars Fail to Remove Safe
Attempts to steal a safe from the Pontiac Boys Club early Saturday apparently were frustrated, Pontiac police reported, but thieves escaped with $37 and a movie camera, they added.

According to Detective Olin E. Hoffman, the safe had been rolled from the office to a rear door and was abandoned there, unopened.

The money and camera also were removed from the director's office, he said, by unknown culprits who entered the building through the rear door.

Juveniles Suspected in Cottage Breakins
Oakland County Sheriff's detectives suspect juveniles are responsible for the breakins of four summer cottages on White Lake, Undersheriff Elmer McQuern said today.

The cottages, owned by Edward Ormond of White Lake Township, reportedly were last checked shortly before Jan. 1. Loot from the breakins has not yet been determined, but apparently the thieves got only a few rifle and shotgun shells and some small change, McQuern said today.

Grocery Store Burglary Nets Pennies, Canister
A petty burglary from a grocery store at 386 N. Saginaw Saturday, netted $2 in pennies and $2.50 from a March of Dimes Canister, police were told.

The owner, Franklin C. Batten, 118 Edison St., reported the thief entered through a rear window of the store.

Nurse, 50, Held for Murder Try

Suspect Illinois Woman of Shooting Love Rival in Romance Hassle

MORRIS, Ill. (AP)—A 50-year-old nurse has been charged with attempted murder for emptying a pistol at a woman she considered her rival for the affections of S. J. (Jim) Holderman, chairman of the State Industrial Commission.

The other woman, Miss Elsa Kusler, 53, Holderman's secretary remains in critical condition at Morris Hospital from three bullet wounds suffered in the shooting Saturday.

Mrs. Ruth Olson, Grundy County public health nurse, is held on $25,000 bond. Arraignment is scheduled today.

Holderman said he dated Mrs. Olson occasionally but that Mrs. Olson had never been more to him than a casual social companion.

Mrs. Olson in a statement admitting the shooting described the romance as a torrid one and said that she and Holderman had been intimate on a number of occasions.

Holderman, 54, a widower, is also Grundy County chairman of the Republican party.

The shooting occurred in the women's lounge of the Morris Building, where Holderman maintains law offices. Only Mrs. Olson and Miss Kusler were present.

Mrs. Olson said Holderman stopped taking her out and began dating Miss Kusler about six months ago.

Ousted Clergyman Meets Rival Heaton in Services

NEW YORK (AP)—A long-standing church feud brought two clergymen into open competition yesterday before the altar of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity in Brooklyn.

One of the clergymen was the Rev. William Howard Melish, acting rector of the church for seven years and recently removed from that job by a vote of the vestry.

Disregarding advice from his bishop and the vestry's efforts to lock him out of the church, the Rev. Mr. Melish was determined to conduct Sunday services as usual.

His rival at the altar was the Rev. Robert Thomas, appointed by the bishop of Long Island to conduct services at the church until a newly nominated rector has been installed.

The Rev. Mr. Melish had already started the early morning communion service, slightly ahead of schedule, when the Rev. Mr. Thomas arrived. The two clergymen, officiating at separate altars, conducted separate services for two small groups of parishioners.

At the 11 o'clock service the two ministers encountered one another before the main altar. Both men read opening portions of the service. After several minutes, the Rev. Mr. Thomas was heard saying, "You're out of order, Mr. Melish."

Confusion threatened when the two ministers announced different psalms to be read alternately by clergymen and congregation.

At this point the Rev. Mr. Thomas announced, "I refuse to make a mockery of this church and religion in general," and strode down the aisle. About 50 persons from the congregation of approximately 250 followed him out of the church.

The controversy over the Rev. Mr. Melish began in 1949 when his alleged left-wing activities caused the removal of his father, the Rev. Dr. John Howard Melish, as rector of Holy Trinity. The son was serving as his father's assistant at the time and had been named chairman of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship.

Efforts of a pro-Melish vestry to have the son named later as his father's successor were blocked by the Rt. Rev. James P. DeWolfe, bishop of Long Island.

BISHOP REFUSED

The bishop refused to approve the Rev. Mr. Melish as rector and the vestry refused to name anyone else. Under this stalemate the Rev. Mr. Melish remained acting rector of the church until last week when four members of the seven-man vestry voted to end his employment and nominated a new rector.

To keep the Rev. Mr. Melish from continuing to conduct services, the vestry majority changed locks on some 40 doors of the church and adjoining buildings.

Detroit Couple Dies in Tennessee Motel

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A Michigan couple, only recently married, were found dead in a Nashville motel yesterday. They were Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Troxel, aged 28 and 24, of Detroit.

Their deaths were attributed to carbon monoxide poisoning in their closed, gas-heated cabin.

The double death was discovered by Troxel's father, G. C. Troxel of Detroit, who obtained a pass key to investigate when the couple failed to answer repeated knocks on the door.

The couple came to Nashville Saturday with Troxel's father and stepmother and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wilson of Dearborn, Mich.

4 of 40 Non-Totalitarian Nations Keep Press Free

ZURICH (INS) — The International Press Institute reports that only four of 40 non-totalitarian states in the world do not restrict the press one way or another.

A comprehensive study by the international organization of editors also concluded that press freedom has been on the decline since the end of World War II.

The report, covering the period from 1941 through 1955, termed "serious" the "emergence of new forms of government pressures in countries which are democratic in tradition and which have a long history of parliamentary life."

Russia and Iron Curtain satellites, where the press is a government instrument were not included in the study.

Several nations were singled out for inflicting "crushing" blows to press freedom. Argentina was cited for the expropriation in 1952 of the newspaper La Prensa and the muzzling of the entire press during the administration of ousted Dictator Juan Peron. The liberal Buenos Aires newspaper has now been restored to its owner.

COLOMBIA NAMED

Colombia was named for the banning of the newspaper El Tiempo at Bogota and Turkey for the imprisonment of 20 journalists.

The arrest or detention on suspicion of other newsmen in Chile, Pakistan, Indonesia, France, Germany and the Netherlands was listed as "government pressure on the press" in those countries. South Africa was accused of "deliberate use of intimidation" of its newspapers.

The IPI reported an increasing tendency on the part of government to abuse the concepts of "national security," "national pres-sense," and national interests in order to muzzle the press. The study described this as "the most present danger to the freedom of the press," and attributed it as an aftermath of World War II increased by the cold war.

It added that this type of danger existed particularly in Italy, the Union of South Africa, most of the Latin American countries and also in Asia.

VARIETY OF PRESSURE

The pressures on publications, according to the report, took on a variety of forms.

In some countries, government news is withheld from unfriendly newspapers, in others the opposition press gets only a meager share of government-controlled newspaper imports or profitable official advertising.

A few countries, Democratic more in name than in fact, subject journalists to arbitrary arrest and pose a constant danger of government-induced mob attacks on newspaper plants. The study also indicates there are hundreds of other ways open to authorities who want to muzzle press freedom.

These include licensing, laws requiring financial deposits from newspapers, official "recommendations" and "advice," governmental inquiries or administrative orders hampering distribution of newspapers.

The free press, according to the IPI, "can also boast of some resounding victories." The report says:

"Its vigilance, together with that of a section of public opinion, enlightened by it, led to the crushing of the Federal German Republic, Italy, Japan, Brazil and elsewhere of a resurgence of some forms of authoritarian control."

The report concludes that cases of pressure "usually" are more the outcome of "an abuse of power on the part of public authorities" than fundamental hostility to freedom of the press.

The IPI listed two conditions for safeguarding press freedom. These were equal treatment in law, political, economic and administrative matters for all papers of a country and extending to its journalists the same safeguards and laws that apply to other residents.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR: JUNIOR EDITORS

Ancient Egypt — 1

Nearly 5,000 years before Christ, the ancient Egyptians were raising flax, weaving linen and making pottery.

In recent times scientists have been digging into their tombs buried in the desert sand. In them, written records, tools, dishes, jewelry and furniture, as well as small models showing everyday life activities, have been preserved perfectly.

So now we know a great deal about the ancient Egyptians, living on a narrow strip of fertile land along the Nile.

They had many gods. Osiris was the great god who judged the deeds each man did on earth. Isis was his queen. They looked like the kings and queens, but there were other gods who were pictured with the bodies of men and women and the heads of birds and animals.

Here is a boy of ancient Egypt, carrying fruit and flowers to the temple as an offering to the gods. On the wall directly behind him is the god Anubis and at the side is Horus, the hawk-headed god.

Color this picture with crayons and paste it down on cardboard. The boy's skin is dark brown, his clothing white. Then cut out the parts carefully. Cut slits in the baskets as indicated. Cut the tabs on the fruit up to the dotted lines and slip the tabs into the slits, matching the letters.

Fold the left end back and the right end forward on the dotted lines and the figure will stand.

Illinois Church Fund Audit Finds Shortage

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — More than $100,000 is believed missing from a Lutheran church account in the Mercantile Bank of Quincy.

The shortage was discovered after the death Nov. 28 of Andrew C. Schnack, treasurer of the Central Illinois District of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, and president of the bank.

The exact amount will not be known until an audit is completed in about three months.

The shortage was announced Saturday by the bank. The bank did not estimate the loss, but the Quincy Herald-Whit learned from church officials that indications were it would run "into six figures."

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both — Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months! In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing. All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body. This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed—money refunded.

Climbs to Retirement

BALTIMORE — Osborne O. Heard has been making embryological models at the Carnegie Laboratory in Johns Hopkins Medical School for 42 years. At 61, he took up mountain climbing. At 65, he climbed the Matterhorn. At 65 this year, he plans to retire. Then he will move to Idaho's northern panhandle, so he and his family can devote their full time to climbing and outdoor living.

Believe Dulles Will Campaign

Furor on 'Brink of War' Comment May Demand Explanation Speeches

WASHINGTON — Foreign policy appeared today to be assuming such proportions as a political issue that Secretary of State Dulles may be induced to take to the campaign stump.

He has said he has no present intentions of making presidential campaign speeches, but he may change his mind in the light of a furor over his latest defense of the administration's handling of foreign affairs.

A Life magazine article last week quoted him as having said the nation has looked war in the face in Asia three times and avoided it.

Dulles was roundly criticized by a number of Democrats and by some British newspapers for his quoted statement that "the ability to get to the verge without getting into war is the necessary art."

Vice President Nixon, Adlai E. Stevenson and Harold E. Stassen joined over the weekend in the debate swirling around Dulles' words.

Stevenson, again seeking the Democratic presidential nomination which he won in 1952, accused Dulles of being "willing to play Russian roulette with the life of our nation."

"Deliberate distortion," replied Stassen, Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament problems. Accusing Stevenson of having "partisan political ends," Stassen said in a statement that "the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy cannot fairly be labeled by any thoughtful and responsible American as recklessly playing Russian roulette, and to so label it is harmful to the United States."

Nixon termed criticism of Dulles' remarks a "tempest in a teapot," and told reporters that avoidance of war in crises cited by Dulles "is to the eternal credit of the President and the secretary of state."

General, Novice GI Hunters Kill 15 Raccoons

FT. KNOX, Ky. (U)—The raccoons in this neck of the woods—what's left of 'em—must have thought an army of Davy Crocketts passed through Saturday night.

But it was only Brig. Gen. Samuel L. Myers and some 75 pre-draft-age reservists, mostly Easterners who had never been on a coon hunt.

Gen. Myers, commander of the training center, was impressed with a marksmanship score turned in by the 17 and 18-year-olds, as he invited their company to hunt coons with him.

The party brought in 15 coons.

OPEN MON FRI SAT NIGHTS TO 9

Rainier, III—Absolute Monarch of Monaco

By REV. J. FRANCIS TUCKER
The night after the Prince spent an evening with Grace Kelly, he called me to ask what I thought. I said, "Monsieur, that is the kind of girl I want to see you marry."

I believe they both had fallen in love when Grace visited Monaco last March during the Cannes film festival.

Grace was his own choice. But I think he had no intention of asking her for fear she would say no. Both question and answer were facilitated by the offices of—shall we say—good angels.

Grace, an American, will become her serene highness, Princess Grace of Monaco, with all the prerogatives of a crowned head.

If the prince were not Prince of Monaco, he would be an American. He is 100 per cent American in his mannerisms, ways and ambitions.

THE SAME LIKES
At his lovely villa near Monaco he keeps an American cookbook, and translates from it for his French chef. He has served me such American dishes as corn fritters, coconut cake and lemon meringue pie.

Grace will find some little talent akin to hers. The Prince is jovial, witty, humorous and loves laughter and fun-making. He has the true talent of a mimic, often taking off some actor and larding his speech with a foreign accent.

The Prince is getting the kind of woman he wanted. He can't stand talkative women. He does not like women with too much gush. And he does not like women to be in anyway slovenly in attitude or appearance.

AN ABSOLUTE MONARCH
A true gentleman, a man who excels in courtesy and politeness, he is very tender and does not like to hurt people. I once pointed out to him that he is an absolute ruler of Monaco and its people. I said, "you realize, Monsieur, that you have the power of life and death?"—"So what," was his answer.

He is a great sportsman, and—without an heir to the throne—has kept his subjects in a dither by sports car driving, skin diving and other sports. He claims the element of risk is what makes a sport a sport.

I believe they will be a happy couple—this is not based on my duty to him as a professional chaplain but on my attachment.

If ever there occurs a little ripple on the matrimonial sea, it will be Prince Rainier who will be the first to calm the waters.

He is also in private life a gardener, animal lover and trainer, student of marine subjects, cruising yachtsman, skier, metal worker, and devoted family man.

He calls his large animal menagerie on the slope near the palace, his "Garden of Acclimatization." I have seen him help the veterinarian—he acts as his personal assistant—give an injection and extract a tooth.

In the best of health, the Prince sleeps soundly either at the villa or in his palace apartment.

ment. He wakes up fresh early in the day. The only thing I know of that calls for future attention, is his slum. He plans to undergo an operation at Johns Hopkins before returning to Monaco.

At his villa, he puts on blue jeans and for an hour each morning, he does the housework. He cares for the exotic plants he loves and has planted all around. Later, he works in his shop where he welds and shapes metal into small ornaments.

The Prince is very keen about his 150-foot motor yacht, the yacht, veteran of Atlantic crossings, bears the name, "Des Jumeaux" (by the help of God), the motto of the Grimaldi family that has ruled for more than 600 years.

He is a wealthy man. The government pays him $100,000 a year just for being prince, plus an expense account for state business. He has his own private family property and income.

The prince is well-educated and well-read, with a wonderful personal library, much of it centered on maritime and zoological subjects. He was schooled in England, Switzerland and France. He was graduated from Paris' Institute of Political Science.

(Tomorrow: The Official Life of Absolute Monarch Rainier.)

Imports Said Cause of Wood Price Dip

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U)—General Plywood Corp., in a report to stockholders yesterday blamed the importation of too much Japanese hard plywood for lower selling prices in 1955.

Adolph F. Spear, secretary-treasurer, said the price reductions came during a period when the cost of labor and materials was rising. And he said it was the "direct result of Japanese hard-wood plywood being dumped into this country . . . to the extent of 440 million square feet." Spear said this amounted to 41 per cent of the American hard wood plywood market.

Spear said General Plywood's sales rose 27 per cent to $8,571,189 in fiscal 1955 from $6,762,402.

About 15 per cent of all U. S. families with both of the parents working have children under the age of 6.

Press Women's Editor Visits Princess

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
NEW YORK—After a busy week of previewing fashions from the collections of top New York designers, it is apparent that the Directoire and Empire eras are having their way with fashions for all ages this spring. Everywhere the high rounded bodice seamed or belted just under the bustline is acclaimed for sheath and full-skirted dresses alike.

Suit and dress jackets follow the pattern and boleros are cropped at the bust or just topping the waistline.

The costume has become a custom with every house having its own favorite. There are slim, flared Oriental tunics (there's the feeling of the Orient in most of the collections).

Mrs. Clemence slashed back Directoire coats over sheath dresses and back-button jackets. Back interest has dominated all collections from flaring, folded panels on street dresses to long peacock trains for formal evening wear. You will see many bloused-back jackets with fullness just above the waist. The tightly nipped waist is gone, giving way to the eased, more relaxed look. YELLOW IS THE COLOR Designers have agreed that it is the feminine look that is important for spring. The severe, almost harsh look of past seasons is gone. Opposed to the tailored look are lady finger neckties such as little blips of sheer linen or organza, often frilled with lace and tiny bows that center necklines. Yellow is an important color for spring, but does not do away with the importance of navy. ORIENTAL LOOK Fabrics can not be overlooked in the spring story. Mixed and blended, wools are as sheer as silks. One designer believes fabrics will be the most important issue for spring. He maintains pure silk whether rough or smooth is the answer. Fashion news in millinery for spring lies in its light, airy look although the motto is, "more hat" or the bulky look. Contrasting the slim, slim costume will be the larger hat with the Oriental inspired look the outstanding apparel theme. These you'll see in toques, turbans and coolie domes. We'll have the complete hat story for you Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Kremer of Dwight avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Lee Aldrich, to Theodore F. Cohassey, son of the Fred Cohasseys of South Johnson avenue. Nancy attends Michigan State University and Ted is a graduate of General Motors Institute of Technology.

NANCY LEE ALDRICH

Women's and fashion editors concluded a week's stay in New York sponsored by the couture group of the New York Dress Institute with a weekend trip to Pound Ridge, Conn. where as guests of Lind Gilbert Associates we visited the famous Emily Shaw Inn.

VISITS PRINCESS On Saturday Madame Helen Rubenstein entertained us at her triplex penthouse on Park Avenue.

The famous hostess, who in real life is Princess Gourielli, gave us a tour of her unique art gallery on the top floor of her penthouse after serving breakfast to the group.

Sunday we returned to our headquarters at the St. Regis inspired with many other ideas for spring fashion which we'll pass on to you.

WSCS Presents Mission Film

At the recent meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Oakland Park Methodist Church, members of the Esther Circle presented the program.

The devotional message, "The Changeless Gospel in a Revolutionary Age," was given by Mrs. Clayton Gillies. Musical selections were presented by Ruth Ann Bandy and Kathleen Hertel and a colored film, "Ming-May of Malaya," was shown.

The film illustrated the work of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the church in Malaya and Indonesia, with the students of both countries as they embrace the Christian religion.

Mrs. Irl Williams, president, announced an executive board meeting being held at the church on Jan. 24 at 7 p.m. Members of the Mary-Martha Circle were hostesses during the social hour.

Leah Circle Host to WSCS Group

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met Thursday in the Church parlors. The Leah Circle was hostess to the 45 members and guests present.

Mrs. Frank Coons presented the devotion, using as her topic, "The Same Gospel in 1956." The program, arranged by Mrs. Sigmund Chmilooski, presented the related subject, "The Changeless Gospel in a Revolutionary Age." The February meeting of the society will be a Lincoln breakfast with Mrs. Phillip Gentile of Detroit, the speaker.

Florence—a spring 1956 day dress of Dior blue silk-and-wool from Christian Dior's New York collection. Antique white silk linen is draped at the neckline.

Iota Eta Members Meet

Mrs. Paul Hoskins was hostess to members of Iota Eta Chapter of Pi Omicron National Sorority at her home on Lincoln avenue. The philanthropic program of the chapter was discussed and the group agreed to continue their assistance to the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children. Plans were made to attend the Michigan State Board dinner meeting held Sunday at the Hotel Waldron to which all members of the Pi Omicron Chapter were invited. Mrs. Harold Gillois, Mrs. Elma Haines, Mrs. Stig Danielson and Mrs. Bernadette Arnold were guests at the Thursday evening meeting.

Baby Gifts of No Use to Woman

She Inquires About Presenting Them to Mothers-to-Be

By EMILY POST

A letter tells me: "A year ago a baby shower was given for me but unfortunately my baby did not live. I kept these gifts thinking that we would adopt a baby, but this doesn't seem possible at the present time."

"Would it be proper for me to give these things away as gifts to friends and relatives who are expecting babies, or might the givers take offense at this."

"It seems such a waste to go out and by new things when I have all these lovely baby clothes on hand which will probably never be used. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: If any of the givers have babies who could use them or are expecting babies, you would return the presents to them. But if they would have no use for them, you could give them away to friends who are going to have babies.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When an invitation reads '4 to 6 o'clock' or mentions any two hours, does it mean that guests are supposed to come in for a short time between these hours, or does it mean that the party starts at 4 and is over at 6 but that guests may stay the entire time or part of it?"

Answer: It means the party starts at 4 and ends at 6 and that guests may stay as long as they are having a good time between these hours. In other words, they may stay the entire time or part of it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When an engagement has been broken, should the girl return all the presents that were given her by her fiancé's family and friends to him to dispose of as he pleases, or does she return each individual present to its donor?"

Answer: She returns each individual present to its donor and her fiancé has nothing to do with it.

Muted Walls Best for Colorful Room

Florals are featured on many of the new wallpapers, but these are generally small scale designs in neutral tones which makes them suitable for almost any color scheme. If you plan on using a bright or "busy" upholstery and drapery fabric, keep the walls in muted tones, like dove grey or pale beige to avoid a crowded looking room.

Personal News of Interest

Mrs. Edwin J. Anderson of Wagonah drive entertained 42 guests at luncheon and bridge Saturday at Carrie Lee's Tea Room. This is the first in a series of luncheons at which Mrs. Anderson will entertain for friends.

Designers Serving U.S. as Envoys

Fashion Experts Find Other Nations Want to Progress

By DONALD ROE
Newsdays it seems that some of Uncle Sam's best ambassadors are designers.

Nations may disagree on politics, tariffs and disarmament, but the language of fashion and design is universal. So is the problem of making a living and learning a business.

Underlining this fact is the current trip of industrial designer Russell Wright, fashion designer Josephine Walker and handicraft expert Remy Alexander to Southeast Asia under sponsorship of the U.S. State Department.

These three American experts are visiting Formosa, Viet Nam, Cambodia, Thailand, Hong Kong and Indonesia to stimulate trade in Oriental handicrafts, to tell the Asian people what kind of things will sell in this country, to suggest ideas and methods to them and try and help to make millions of these people self-supporting.

Interviewed in his New York studio shortly before departure of the group, Wright, who is known for his modern designs in furniture and tableware, said:

"One of the things hardest to find in America and most valued when it is found is fine handicraft. We are a country of industrial know-how, of skilled machine production, but nobody has the time here to make things by hand.

"That is where the people of the Orient can cash in on their skills. There, millions of people are dependent on their hand skills for a livelihood.

"If we can help them to redesign and restyle their handicrafts for the U.S. market, improve their efficiency and stimulate private investment in this vast field, I think we will have accomplished a master stroke for American-Asian friendship and trade."

Alpha Omega Slates Sno-Ball Dance for Feb. 3

Members of Alpha Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority have scheduled their annual Sno-Ball for Feb. 3.

Final plans were formulated at the recent meeting with Mrs. Muri Dodge at her home in Ramona Terrace. The dance will be held at the Elks Temple with a local orchestra.

Mrs. Robert Terry reported the need of contributions to the Pontiac Foundation and it was voted proceeds of the dance will be donated to the Foundation for use in the Civic Auditorium.

The group will meet Jan. 25 at the Center Street home of Barbara DeWolfe.

Funny Business

Ever wonder why a story that had everyone in stitches at a party falls with a thud when you try to tell it the next day? One psychologist experimented and found that jokes rated very funny by those who heard them in groups of thirty persons were rated less funny by those who heard them in groups of six or seven, and least funny by persons who were told the jokes individually.

Regretful Tone Will Soften Refusal of Date

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD
"Dear Miss Woodward: How can I refuse a boy who wants to take me out? If I say 'no,' he'll call me stuckup. Mother doesn't allow me to go out yet, though I'm 16, but I can't tell him that. 'If I tell him I can't go out he'll call me a baby. I really don't want to go out yet, but I can't very well admit that either. So what do you suggest I do?'"

Answer: Why should he call you stuckup if you act and sound very enthusiastic over his invitation, and no end regretful that you can't accept it?

An abrupt, casual, "have something much better to do" sort of turn-down might give him the idea that you thought you were too good for such dates. But a sincere-sounding sorry (even if you have to pretend it) would make him glad he'd asked you.

And why should he call you a baby when it's your mother who has strong and strict convictions about your dating? You can try to explain how she feels on the subject and place the cause for your "no" in her lap.

Or you can take the blame for the turn-down yourself. You can admit gladly and ruefully that you haven't ever been out on a date yet simply because you haven't wanted to go out with boys. It's not because you haven't been asked. You're too shy, or too tongue-tied, or too afraid you won't like it. And there you'd be starting something you wouldn't want to finish.

You do sound scared to death of the very prospect of being asked for a date. You know you're going to have to turn it down no matter what. But the frightening thought is what he will think of you for doing it.)

It's better to make him think you're grateful for his thoughtfulness to make him feel that his invitation appeals to you, that you'd enjoy spending the evening with him, and that you're dismayed that you can't.

Your tone of voice, your attitude and the very words you use will convince him that you appreciate being asked. And that impression should be made on any boy who asks you—even if you can't stand the sight of him. It's polite, decent and politic.

And should it happen that the boy appeals to you in that special way, and you surprisingly find yourself relishing the idea of a date with him, you can always parry the bid with the statement, "It sounds like lots of fun, but I don't know whether I can go that night. I'll have to ask Mother. Can I call you tonight or tomorrow to let you know?"

Take the invitation to your mother. Hatch the whole thing over with her.

If you really want to go badly enough, and it's a reasonable invitation, she just might let you go. Then you can give the boy an enthusiastic "yes" for a change. (Copyright, 1955)

19 Elect Mrs. Hotchkiss

Mrs. H. E. Hotchkiss was elected president of the Mayflower Group of the First Congregational church at its recent meeting in the church parlors.

Others elected for the coming term were Mrs. Robert Sanford, vice president; Mrs. David Edwards, recording secretary; Mrs. Edgar Thomas, treasurer, and Mrs. Charles Brooks, corresponding secretary.

Nineteen members attended the meeting, and guests were Mrs. Philip Hubbard and Mrs. Ella Archer.

Mrs. G. E. Hedrick gave the devotion, and projects for the year were discussed. Mrs. Dexter Craig showed colored slides of her trip to England and Scotland.

A dessert luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Craig and Mrs. John Kille.

Franklin's Specs, Dillinger's Guns Stolen in Miami
 MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 15 — Benjamin Franklin's spectacles and one of John Dillinger's guns were reported stolen yesterday.
 Detectives John Hammer and B. J. Palmer said the pistol, a .38 Colt, was taken from the home of Frank Derris. The owner told officers he took the gun from public enemy Dillinger in a bar years ago, when he was a policeman.
 Mrs. Lowry Bell told police the glasses taken from her home were an heirloom, believed worn by Franklin shortly before his death.
 For each traffic fatality in the U.S., there are 35 persons injured and about 150 vehicles badly damaged.

HE IS BUT MORTAL — The insignificance of man is symbolized as a lone workman cleans statues on the facade of St. Peter's Basilica in Vatican City. Statues shown represent Christ bearing his Cross, left, and two of his disciples.

World Ski Club Seeks Members
 21 Day European Tour Features Trans-Nation Trek on Slopes

The Pan American World Ski Club, formed last year, will again be open to all travelers who fly abroad to ski. An informal organization of ski enthusiasts, the Club has no membership fees or dues. Members receive a handsome certificate and a colorful, embroidered jacket patch. Ski Club members also receive information on ski areas, resorts, hotels and snow conditions throughout the world.
 Application can be made at any Pan American ticket office, authorized travel agent or by writing directly to the Pan American Ski Club, Box 1111, New York 17, New York.
 This year, special ski tours are being conducted to the leading winter sports centers in Germany, Austria, Switzerland and France.
 A 21-day tour to Germany and Austria covers Munich, Garmisch-Partenkirchen, St. Anton-am-Arlberg and Paris. Featured on the tour are a week-long ski trek through the German Alps, another week in the famous slopes around Innsbruck and sightseeing and shopping in Munich and Paris.
 Another 21-day ski tour is devoted entirely to Switzerland. In addition to four days in Paris, the trip features a full week at St. Moritz and Klosters for skiing in the Swiss Alps.
 A 16-day tour of Austrian ski resorts takes in Munich and the choice of a two-week stay in any one of the ski centers at Badgastein, Kitzbuhel, Lech-am-Arlberg, St. Anton-am-Arlberg and Zuers-am-Arlberg. All of the centers maintain excellent ski schools that can convert a novice to a sound skier in a few days on the gentle slopes.

PRINCESS KELLY

Academy-award winning Grace Kelly, glamorous star of the silver screen, is engaged to Prince Rainier, ruler of Monaco and Europe's most eligible royal bachelor.

What will her life be like in Monaco, glittering Gilbert and Sullivan principality on the Mediterranean? About one-fifth the size of Detroit's Belle Isle Park, this fabulously wealthy playground on the Riviera needs an heir to protect its sovereignty and save its citizens from paying French income taxes.

Will the Philadelphia Mainline actress daughter of an Irish bricklayer be happy as the royal consort of the ruler of Monaco's few thousand subjects when now she can count millions of movie-going audiences as her fans?

As Her Serene Highness, the Princess of Monaco, what kind of life will she lead in the tiny state famed for its Monte Carlo gambling casino, its 24 soldier army with only one private, its world-renowned ballet company?

Do intimate observers think this marriage will work—or will Prince Rainier's romantic attachments of the past cloud their happiness? Now, in an intimate and exclusive series, the Detroit Free Press reveals the story about Grace, her prince-charming, her family and friends, her career in Hollywood, and how she won the heart of Rainier. You won't want to miss a single installment!

SHE DOESN'T GIVE A HOOT FOR CLOTHES—Claudette Colbert, who says she owns only a handful of evening gowns and party dresses and doesn't give a hoot if friends do notice she wears them again and again, makes some final rehearsal adjustments on the "ghost" costume she wears on tonight's TV presentation of "Blithe Spirit." The veteran actress contends she maintains a slimmer closet than most of Hollywood's glamor girls, and hasn't nearly as many clothes as a lot of film producers' wives. She says she often wears a dress five years or more.

Hollywood Headlines:

Donald O'Connor Plays Role as Buster Keaton

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Here is what I call perfect casting—when "The Buster Keaton Story" goes before the cameras in June at Paramount, Donald O'Connor will be the star! He is an inspired choice to play the beloved deadpan comic.

Even the private life stories of Donald and Buster are similar. Both were carried onto the vaudeville stage by their parents before they could waddle, both became famed child entertainers, and both went on to become tops in the comedy field.

Kathy Grant, the girl Bing Crosby sees the most often, will have to cut short that visit to Oklahoma and Houston, Texas. Just before she left town she was told Columbia has loaned her to United Artists for the melodrama "Step Down to Terror."

This means that Kathy will be co-starred with Anthony Quinn in a story with plenty of action and excitement. Harry Horner is their director.

Kathy is a very pretty girl, and she has received much publicity because of Bing's interest in her. She seems to have calmed down considerably.

"I'm coming back to Hollywood to make motion pictures," Errol Flynn told me when I talked with him Saturday. "It's just been great to see some of my old pals and I have decided I'd like to resume my career right here."

He says his wife, Patricia Wymore, is now living in Majorca, but she will join him after he returns to Hollywood. He took his two daughters, Dieder and Rory, age seven and eight, shopping, after getting permission from their mother Nora Flynn Haymes.

Other unfinished business Errol completed while in town was having his lawyer get together with Lili Damita's lawyer about reaching some agreement on back alimony.

At the time Grace Kelly won the Academy Award I talked to her uncle George Kelly and he was very bored with the whole thing! He's now in Arizona getting over the effects of a cold, and he's no more interested in the engagement of his niece to Prince Rainier III than he was in her success as an actress.

George has had a few triumphs of his own. He won the Pulitzer Prize for "Craig's Wife." He wrote "The Torchbearer," "The Show Off," Tallulah Bankhead's play "Reflected Glory," and Judith Anderson's "Behold the Bridegroom."

He still is active, with a great sense of humor. I suspect he's prouder of Grace than he admits.

Roulette Game Fatal to Fearless Teenager

PRICE, Utah 49 — Joseph C. Clarus, 16, wanted to prove he wasn't afraid.
Sheriff Albert Pasic says three friends of Clarus told him the youth suggested a game of Russian roulette yesterday. He took his empty, 22 - caliber revolver and showed them how to play.
Then, to show he wasn't afraid, he put a single bullet in the gun's cylinder, pointed the weapon at his head and pulled the trigger. Nothing happened. He did it again. Again nothing happened.
Next time, however, the gun fired, sending a bullet into his brain. He died three hours later in a hospital.

About 20,000 persons, ages 15-44, died of cancer in the U.S. in 1954.

Third Graders Prove Fine Self-Appraisers

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Third graders at the Gateway School have a new wrinkle in self-service report cards.

Mrs. Vivian Mackey, the teacher, says the youngsters are often surprisingly honest on the estimates she has them prepare for their parents twice a year.

One 8-year-old girl wrote: "I copy Cindy sometimes. And sometimes I copy Charmaine, but I do not very much now."

And an 8-year-old boy sized his work up in these terms:

"Dear Parents: 1. I'm medium in arithmetic; 2. I'm medium in reading; 3. I'm medium in writing; 4. I'm medium in talking; 5. I'm medium in education."

The teacher thought it was a good estimate.

Seeks Prompt Return of Statements

Large-payroll business firms to-day were asked to release 1955 W-3 income tax withholding statements to their employees as soon as possible, to help expedite filing, payment and adjustment of individual taxpayer returns.

District Director A. M. Menninger of the Internal Revenue Service points out that many taxpayers will be able to prepare their income tax forms immediately upon receipt of the W-3 statements.

Completed forms should be sent to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Detroit 31, Mich., and should contain checks or money orders rather than cash, Menninger said.

He added the Service will hold all offices in major cities open every weekday from Jan. 16 through Feb. 17 to help taxpayers with problems in filling out the forms.

MIDLAND — Dow Chemical Co. Saturday reported net earnings of $2,330,615, or $1.22 per share of common stock, on sales of $77,571,516 for the 6-month period ending Nov. 30.

In the same period of 1954, sales totaled $22,096,609 and net earnings were $16,531,889 or 71 cents per common share after providing for preferred stock dividends of $300,000. The preferred stock issue later was called in. The company's earnings before taxes on income rose from $33,716,054 to $54,549,283.

Business Notes

DETROIT (INS) — Nash Division of American Motors Corp. announced today the promotion of M. A. Saunders to assistant sales manager.

The announcement was made by Sales Vice President John W. Raisbeck, who said "the promotion of Saunders to the newly-created position is part of Nash Motors' aggressive sales program, which is geared to the selling of 157,000 cars this year."

Saunders was formerly eastern division sales manager for Nash. He joined the firm a year ago after serving as midwestern division manager for another auto company.

Grains Move to Easy Side

CHICAGO — Grains turned easy after a slow and indecisive start on the Board of Trade today. Activity picked up as the market declined.

A couple of distant wheat futures sold off for major fractions early, reflecting the possibility of a slight break in the prolonged drought in the winter wheat territory. This eventually undermined other wheat contracts.

Distant soybean futures started off firm, rising about a cent before profit taking knocked them back below Friday's final prices. Feed grains were mixed early and then slid downward.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ lower, March \$2.11 $\frac{1}{2}$; corn $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ lower, March \$1.29 $\frac{1}{2}$; oats $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ lower, March \$1.21; soybeans $\frac{1}{4}$ to 1 cent lower, January \$2.43, and lard 2 to 3 cents a hundred lower, March \$11.20.
