U.S. to Review Perjury Case

Wiretap Evidence Ban by High Court May Help Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teamsters President-Elect James R. Hoffa may beat federal perjury charges against him as a result of a Supreme Court ruling of wiretapping yesterday.

The Supreme Court has extended the ban on use of wiretap evidence in Federal Court to include such evidence obtained by state law enforcement officers.

Under previous decisions by the high tribunal, wiretap evidence obtained by federal agents has been held inadmissible in Federal Court trials.

The new, unanimous ruling extends the ban to state-obtained evidence even though the facts were obtained without participation or cooperation of federal agents.

The new ruling, given in a case involving transportation of bootleg alcohol, blocks the government's plan to use state-obtained wiretap evidence in the perjury prosecution against Hoffa. It also is expected to affect a case against gambler Frank Costello in New York.

Hoffa, president-elect of the Teamsters Union, was charged with perjury because of replies he gave to a federal rackets grand jury in New York.

His trial on this charge was postponed there pending the Supreme Court decision on the use of state-obtained wiretap evidence.

Hoffa now is on trial in federal district court in New York on charges he had a part in some wiretapping himself. These charges grew out of the alleged tapping of telephones at Teamsters headquarters in Detroit.

In Costello's case, Federal District Judge John F. X. McGohey reserved decision last Oct. 22 on a motion to set aside Costello's conviction in a 1954 income tax evasion case and give him a new trial.

Costello was convicted of evading payment of $28,532 in income taxes for 1948 and 1949, and Costello's lawyer contended there was "knowing, conscious cooperation" between the Internal Revenue Service and the New York County district attorney's office in acquiring wiretap information used at the trial.

Willman to Offer Plan for Hospital

Would Collect $960,000 From Capital Funds

Commission May Vote Tonight; 3-Year Term to Bring No Tax Hike

How Pontiac's No. 1 question mark — the Pontiac General Hospital addition —will be finished is expected to be answered by the City Commission tonight.

City Manager Walter K. Willman will propose a three-year plan in which approximately $320,000 a year will be taken from the city's capital improvement funds to provide the "minimum" to put the new wing into operation.

"As far as I'm concerned, this is the time to decide the matter," declared Mayor William W. Donaldson. He said he "might" call for a vote tonight.

The financing will be a last-ditch stand after Pontiac voters have twice this year said "no" to bond issues to finish the $4,900,000 addition.

Donaldson disclosed that the plan is designed so as to not cause a tax increase.

However, he said the city's street sidewalks and sewer program for the next three years would be "retarded, but not seriously curtailed."

APPROVAL NEEDED

The proposal would call for approval of the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission because the funds would be borrowed on a tax anticipation note basis for the next three years.

It would not need voter approval, Donaldson said. "The people have voted money for capital improvements and this certainly is one," he said.

Hospital officials say that $969,933 is the "minimum" amount needed to place the new addition and the present building, which must be renovated, in a minimum operating condition.

Willman last month said a two-year borrowing plan from 1958 and 1959 taxes was the only avenue left to completing the wing. This has been stretched one year further so as to not trim the city's $900,000 annual capital improvement works too much.

Commissioners also will learn tonight about a request from the Oakland County Table Toppers that the city's beer and wine ordinance be amended to allow taverns to open at noon Sunday instead of 2 p.m.

REZONING HEARING

The commission will conduct a public hearing on the proposed rezoning to Commercial 1 of lot 167 at 249 Auburn Ave. The City Planning Commission has approved the change from Residential 2

Also among the 13 items on the docket will be three involving agreements and a deed between the city and Paul and Lita O. Kern for property needed for a sewer project.

Subway Strike Throttles New York

Commuters Jam Grand Central Terminal

WE WANT TO GO HOME — Bronx, Westchester and Connecticut-bound commuters jam lower level of Grand Central Terminal in Manhattan last night in an effort to reach home while strike severely crippled New York subway system. Normally busy terminal was further taxed as regular subway riders sought alternate routes to their homes.

Riders Battle to Board Trains; One Man Dies

6 Other Unions Join Motormen as Walkout Goes Into 2nd Day

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's work-bound millions, who seldom ever find travel easy, ran into incredible difficulties this morning as a mushrooming subway strike made movement almost impossible.

The strike, begun at 5 a. m. yesterday by a union representing most of the subway motormen, was joined today by six other unions.

Service ranged from zero on some lines to one-third on others.

As a result, countless thousands of desperate commuters jammed stations of subway arteries still giving any service and battled to get on trains.

The crush was so great that even breathing was difficult on the subway cars.

All indications were that the situation was much worse than yesterday.

Transit Authority Chairman Charles L. Patterson announced that any striking motormen who fail to show up for their jobs by this afternoon will be fired.

He also announced that the authority was offering a bonus of 25 per cent to all operating and maintenance employes who stay at work during the strike.

The authority will provide sleeping and eating facilities at various terminals and plants for those seeking to keep the transit system going.

Hundreds of thousands sought vainly to switch to buses and trains operated by commuter railroads leading into Manhattan.

Thousands of others set out to come to town in their cars, creating terrific traffic jams.

Travel was at a virtual standstill at many places.

Strong Chance Ike to Attend NATO Meeting

WASHINGTON (INS) — There was a strong expectation at the White House that President Eisenhower would get his doctors' approval today to attend the Western "summit" meeting in Paris.

The Chief Executive planned to answer the big question immediately after a 2:30 p.m. (EST) examination by a panel of specialists.

The 67-year-old Chief Executive, whose recovery from a mild stroke 15 days ago has astonished the world, was described by his top White House aide last night as a man who "looks strong — acts strong — and is strong."

Unless the doctors disagree, Eisenhower will take off Friday or Saturday for Paris to attend the conference of the 15 NATO heads of state. The parley called to tighten Western unity against the Soviet missiles threat is scheduled to open next Monday.

If the President can't convince his physicians that the trip will not place any undue strain on his health, Vice President Richard M. Nixon will head the U.S. delegation in his place.

Diphtheria Threatens

DETROIT (INS) —The Detroit Health Commission issued warning to all parents today informing them of the threat to children who are not immunized against diphtheria. Dr. Joseph G. Molner said an outbreak of the disease has already stricken twenty children and two adults.

Cold Spell With Snow Due for Pontiac Area

A cold wave, with snow and winds ranging up to 40 miles an hour, is expected to sweep into Michigan late today.

Pontiac area residents can expect snow flurries and some heavy snow squalls this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow with temperatures falling to 12 to 18 degrees by early Wednesday morning.

At noon the U.S. Weather Bureau said the frigid weather would hold through Wednesday.

Twenty - six was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. At 2 p.m., the reading was 30.

AFL-CIO Votes to Expel Bakery Workers at Once

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — AFL-CIO Executive Council today voted to expel the Bakery Workers Union this week unless clean-up moves are made in the alleged corruption-tainted union by noon Thursday.

The ultimatum follows through on action by the AFL-CIO convention yesterday conditionally expelling the bakery workers.

The Executive Council was empowered to effect the expulsion not later than March 15 if the Bakery Union failed to comply.

Directives include a demand that James G. Cross step down as president. Cross has repeatedly refused to do so and has said he will run for re-election at a special convention in Cincinnati March 3-5.

AFL-CIO President George Meany announced the Executive Council action to convention delegates.

Meany said the Executive Council will charter a new union within the federation. A segment of 85 locals, with a membership of 50,000, plans to ask for a charter if the Baker Union is expelled.

Meany said the Executive Council had invited the Bakery Union to meet with it this morning but the Baker officials failed to show.

Reached at the airport before he left the city, Cross said: "Meany's action creating a dual union in our jurisdiction, and the results thereof, will be his responsibility."

Cross accused Meany of willful distortion of the facts in a speech before the convention yesterday and in remarks Meany made this morning.

Blasting Cross as corrupt, Meany indicated the expulsion reprieve would be canceled, the union kicked out and a reform "integrity group" of the bakers chartered as a new, clean Bakery Workers Union.

The "integrity" group, claiming to represent about 100 local unions in cities across the nation with some 50,000 members, or more than a third of the Baker's Union, has had delegates here a week drafting a constitution and otherwise getting ready to establish a new union.

Meany condemned Cross in a blunt, tough speech. He detailed testimony before the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington that Cross had accepted expensive cars bought with union funds, had used union money to finance lavish homes in Washington and Florida, and practiced reprisals and "terrorism" against unionists opposing him.

Cross, with his wife, daughter and son-in-law watching from the galleries, told delegates he had done nothing sufficiently wrong warranting the demand for his ouster. Cross said he was "a "whipping boy, a scapegoat."

Racket Probers to Quiz 'Strong Arm' Teamster Aide

WASHINGTON (AP)—W. A. Smith, a Tennessee Teamster official, faced questioning today by the Senate Rackets Committee, which has heard him pictured as dynamiter and strong arm man in labor disputes.

The committee, investigating alleged Teamster terrorism in Tennessee and nearby states, announced it planned to call Smith—also known as Hard-Hearing Smitty—as a major witness in the day's hearings.

Chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy said he expected first to develop more testimony about Teamster violence and to hear two top police officials from Knoxville, Tenn., who have demanded the right to defend their city's record of law enforcement in labor violence cases.

Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) has sharply criticized the handling by law officials of investigations of dynamitings and other violent incidents connected with labor troubles in Knoxville.

Kennedy said today's hearing would cover "difficulties of the Wilson Trucking Co. of Nashville in efforts of the Teamsters to organize it," and a request by the company for assistance from the police of Bellemead, a Nashville suburb.

Train Collision in Italy Kills 15

Probe Opened to Find Out How Truck Was Caught in Barriers

CODOGNO, Italy (AP) — Officials today opened an investigation to determine how two railway crossing barriers became a death trap for 15 persons in the collision of a truck and one of Europe's fastest trains.

Nineteen of the 30 injured were released from the hospital after treatment. Ten Italians and a Swiss remained in serious condition.

The Milan-to-Rome electric Rapido express was speeding toward this village 40 miles south of Milan at about 80 miles an hour when the barriers went down.

Pontiac UF Drive Within $9,000 of Area's Goal

The Pontiac Area United Fund campaign is within $9,000 of its goal of $612,000, drive chairman Dr. Dana P. Whitmer announced today.

Citing the figure of $603,271 collected, some 98 per cent of the goal, Whitmer said: "We're on the verge of going over the top. We won't consider our job complete until the final $9,000 is raised."

The drive's 10-day extension expired last Friday. UF officials are still hopeful that enough additional funds will come in to put the drive across the line.

Mackie Says It'll Have Priority Over Northwestern

U.S. 10 Expressway to Come First in Area

By PETE LOCHRILER

Construction of a new U.S. 10 as an expressway from Detroit past Pontiac to Flint must be given priority over the proposal to extend Northwestern highway across western Oakland County, State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie indicated today.

In an eight-point set of remarks prepared for delivery tonight to a group of Fenton and Flint area advocates of the Northwestern proposal, Mackie criticized efforts to pressure him into changing his five-year highway plan, by saying:

"I am not going to trade highway projects with anybody to smooth over local opposition that may develop to my highway plan or to my own political support.

NOT APPEASEMENT

"It should be clearly understood that as long as I am State Highway Commissioner the theory expressed by the old saying 'the hinge that squeaks loudest will be the first to get oiled,' is definitely not going to apply."

The U. S. 10 project is favored, Mackie said, because it would cost fewer state dollars, serve more drivers and connect more cities than Northwestern.

Saying the U. S. 10 project would better fit into the proposed new arterial trunkline system covering the entire state, Mackie made these points:

1. The new U. S. 10 (or Oakland County extension of the Hastings-Oakland Expressway in Detroit) would serve all of the south Oakland County communities, plus Pontiac and Flint. Northwestern, however, would serve no major community.

2. Projected traffic volumes indicate the new U. S. 10 would have an average daily traffic potential in 1977 of 160,000 vehicles, compared to a peak 34,000 vehicles on Northwestern.

3. The proposed Northwestern extention as an expressway to U. S. 23 near Fenton would cost over $40 million. But it is not eligible for designation as an interstate highway with 90 per cent federal aid, and so would have to be built almost entirely out of state funds.

"Federal money would be available only if our entire state-federal primary allocation for the next two years is used on a 50-50 matching basis. But to use the money in this way would mean tossing out other plans for improvement of other roads on a 90-10 matching basis."

The U. S. 10 proposal would cost about $50 million, but it is eligible for 90 per cent federal aid and therefore would probably cost less than $3 million in state funds.

4. The proposal to extend Northwestern a full 35 miles has not been abandoned, however. The $25 million in bonds already sold for the project will be used to bring the road "up to expressway standards" from Eight Mile road, where it will connect with the John

Dulles to Defend Plan for NATO

Newsmen Will Learn Proposals for Sharing in 4 Basic Fields

WASHINGTON (AP)—A news conference today gave Secretary of State Dulles a forum to defend the administration's plan for strengthening the North Atlantic Alliance to cope with Soviet military-scientific-economic advances.

The secretary arranged to meet with newsmen two days before his expected departure for the NATO summit conference opening in Paris next Monday. President Eisenhower will learn from his doctors later today whether he is fit enough to make the trip.

The Eisenhower administration has been keeping secret the specific proposals it has worked up to give new strength in NATO. However, the general outlines have become known.

Democratic critics have argued that the proposals do not go far enough.

The main purpose of the Eisenhower program is to increase unity among the 15 NATO nations and to share on a greater scale the responsibility for maintaining a missile-atomic era defense Russia.

In the economic field, the administration unveiled its plan for a five-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. It would give the President power to reduce tariffs up to 30 per cent in three years, with built-in safeguards to protect domestic producers against serious injury arising from a heavy influx of cheap imports.

Two other key elements of the administration's foreign trade program are a proposal, under a nearly four-billion-dollar foreign aid request, for a 625-million-dollar fund for loans to underdeveloped countries, and membership in the Organization for Trade Cooperation among free world trading nations.

In the political field, Dulles has called for greater consultation among the allies before they take any particular step. Also, Dulles has said the free world regional alliances should be interlocked. Another U.S. aim is to restore allied confidence in America's leadership.

In the scientific field, the administration is reported anxious to provide more atomic data to its allies. American planners are hampered, however, by legal restrictions on letting foreign countries in on American atomic secrets.

Rep. Griffiths Demands Billions for Protection

Underground Shelters for Nuclear War

LANSING (AP) — Underground shelters, thousands of them costing billions of dollars, offer the American people their only salvation in a nuclear war.

That was the firm pronouncement of Rep. Martha W. Griffiths (D-Mich) yesterday in a dramatic appearance before top state officials in Gov. Williams' executive office.

Mrs. Griffiths, Michigan's only woman member of Congress, reported on the findings of a military affairs subcommittee assigned to look into Civil Defense matters. Her all-male audience, including the Governor's Civil Defense advisory council, sat by in grim silence as she told of the horrible death that awaits the nation's civilian population if nuclear war finds them unprepared.

"What we have now is worse than nothing at all," she said. "The people have been given misinformation on Civil Defense which has done more harm than good.

"Civil Defense doesn't mean anything until the people are made aware of the danger and the problem."

The danger, she said, lies more in the creeping death of radiation from nuclear war explosions than in the blasts themselves, which would kill outright.

"Every legislator, everyone in Michigan, should be made aware of the fact that radiation from a bomb dropped on Milwaukee, for instance, would kill everyone in western Michigan if they had no shelter," she said.

The problem, she continued, is to get federal backing for a huge network of bomb shelters and to develop an effective attack warning system.

Mrs. Griffiths said the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Chet Holifield (R-Calif), drafted a bill calling for a federal shelter-building program costing 17½ billion dollars. It would furnish a haven for 100 million people in regions most likely to come under attack.

Federal Civil Defense authorities, she said, have since come up with a 34½-billion-dollar program which would furnish cover for virtually all the population.

Most shelters would accommodate 200 to 300 persons, she said, and could be used as schools or garages.

U.S. 10 Expressway to Take Precedence

C. Lodge and James Couzens expressways, to Telegraph road.

Just south of Telegraph it would connect with an expressway in the vicinity of 11 Mile road, providing a link with the Brighton-Farmington expressway and other projected expressways leading north to the Mackinac Bridge.

5. Only $25,000 of the $25 million bond issue has been expended. Of the remainder, $23.9 million has been reinvested at a favorable rate and the rest is cash on hand.

6. What money has been spent on engineering studies for Northwestern has been a good investment, which will be of a continuing value when the extension finally is completed.

7. Plans to complete the Northwestern extension at some future date will not be sacrificed merely to enable construction of a proposed north-south toll highway.

8. To try and construct both the new U.S. 10 and the Northwestern extension in the five years included in Mackie's first highway plan "would deprive other parts of Michigan of a meaningful, arterial highway program."

In conclusion, Mackie said that even with anticipated federal aid, the increased state highway revenues forecast over the next five years and an additional $400 million from bond sales, the proposed $1,250,000,000 highway program "will still meet only one-third of the total highway needs in Michigan."

Although it was a foregone conclusion, he said, that "some areas" would have to be disappointed, for the first time in history Michigan now has a five-year highway program spelled out in detail and providing a long-range plan to coordinate engineering, right-of-way and financing to their maximum advantage, as well as letting local agencies in the highway industry know what to plan for in the way of new roads."

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What is the sign of the sky when high up, on an otherwise clear day, you see an increasing spread of webby cirrus?

This is a bad weather sign. It means a disturbance, which could be either ordinary warm front activity, including rain, or a severe disturbance—usually the former—is on its way.

This is true because the leading edge of a warm front leans forward. The slant is so gradual, upward, that the cirrus edge of a warm front might move in above you while the surface front is several hundred miles behind.

If you are planning a picnic or some fair-weather activity for the next day and see this sky above you, make alternate plans just in case.

Mercury Surges to 71

Heat Wave Hits Denver

DENVER (AP) — The mercury surged to 71 degrees here yesterday, breaking an 18-year record for the day. And the Weather Bureau predicted the same warm temperatures today for most of Colorado and Wyoming.

The old record of 70 degrees for Dec. 9 was set in 1939.

Several other eastern Colorado communities reported highs for the day in the 70s, while elsewhere readings were in the 60s.

In Wyoming temperatures ranged in the 50s.

However, a mass of cold air plunged southward out of Canada into the northern plains today, bringing cold wave warnings and forecasts of zero temepratures.

Snow flurries accompanied the chilly invasion along northern border states, but amounts were generally on the light side.

Skies were generally clear in the far Southwest and eastward to the Gulf Coast, while in the far Northwest there was considerable fog and low clouds in some sections with freezing drizzle accompanying the fog in southeastern Idaho.

The southward pushing cold air stirred up gusts of 40 to 50 m.p.h. and churned dust clouds in parts of North Dakota. Snowfall associated with the chilly air movement ranged from an inch at several stations along the northern Great Lakes to 3 inches at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., also on the Lakes.

Early morning temperatures in the northern plains were as much as 30 degrees colder than daytime readings yesterday. The mercury fell from a record-breaking 69 degrees at Billings, Mont., to well below freezing.

Sputnik Seen Locally

Greeks, Turks Clash Furiously

British Rush Troops to Quell Cypriot Rioters in Violent Outbreak

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Turks and Greeks clashed today all along the line that separates their two sectors in Nicosia. British troops broke up many furious clashes.

Cypriots charged into the Greek sector seeking revenge for the wounding of a Turkish policeman during a violent Greek Cypriot demonstration against British rule. Earlier in the day, the Turks stoned cars and looted shops.

Turkish police had been unable to control the mob, which armed itself with stones and clubs and stormed into the Greek quarter. Greek owners hurriedly barricaded their shops and fled.

British troops rushed to Nicosia's main thoroughfare and kept the Greeks and Turks separated by a No Man's Land. The Greeks and Turks shouted abuse at each other.

Military police patrols toured the city announcing the imposition of a curfew. Some Greeks said they would not observe the curfew because they had no confidence in the police and the military.

—Business administration enthusiasts—36 per cent single.

—Science trainees—41 per cent never made the trip to the altar.

New York Strangled by Subway Strike

of New York was hit hard—both from lack of workers and loss of customers during the Christmas shopping season.

PICKETS OUT

The New York Transit Authority, which operates the subways and many bus lines, said pickets had appeared at most bus depots throughout the city.

MORE

As the situation worsened on the second day of the strike, an official of the Motormen's Benevolent Assn., the union that started the walkoff when it struck the transit system at 5 a.m. yesterday, declared the city would be paralyzed by eight a.m. today.

The announcement was made by Frank A. Zelano, executive secretary of the MBA.

Most lines on the Independent line, which operates in all boroughs except Staten Island, were out, the TA said. The few IND lines that were still operating were doing so irregularly, according to the TA.

The Interboro Rapid Transit, which ran almost 100 per cent of normal yesterday, was reported down to 30 per cent efficiency.

The Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit was reported at 25 per cent of normal. It provided about 50 per cent of its usual service yesterday.

The IRT serves Manhattan, the Bronx, Queens and Brooklyn. The BMT operates in Manhattan, Queens and Brooklyn.

TA Chairman Charles L. Patterson said last night that as far as he was concerned, "we will operate our trains with qualified men.

CONFUSION REIGNS

Yesterday, the rain-soaked city was turned into a beehive of vast confusion almost as soon as the motormen struck. Service was cut on all branches of the subway system and completely knocked out some heavily traveled lines.

ROADS JAMMED

People fought to get on the few subway trains moving. At some stops, passengers couldn't get off because of the crowds battling to squeeze in.

Long Island Rail Road trains which handle a large share of the Manhattan office workers commuting from homes in suburban Long Island, were burdened with extra riders who shifted over from the subways.

Some stations on the IND subway were closed temporarily. They were thronged with people who had risen early in an effort to beat other travelers into the few trains running.

The striking motormen's union claim 2,600 of the subway system's 3,167 men who handle controls of the trains which daily carry 4,700,000 riders.

The striking union was joined by conductors, towermen, signal electricians, repair shop mechanics, a coach union and plant workers.

Shortly after 8 a.m. the Transit Authority reported about 3,000 bus maintenance men had refused to report for work in Brooklyn.

been linked with violence in committee testimony.

Yesterday's hearing was marked by these major developments:

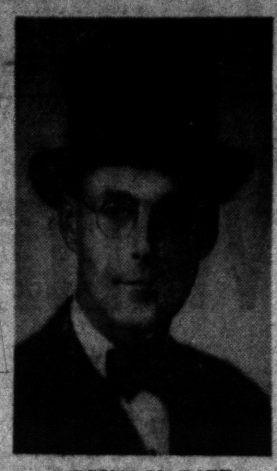

1. Joseph Katz of Atlanta, president of Terminal Transport Co., testified he asked one of his employes to drop assault charges against Smith in Nashville after James R. Hoffa requested him to do so. Hoffa is president-elect of the Teamsters Union and has been a target of committee corruption charges.

The employe, Frank A. Allen, manager at the time of the company's Nashville terminal, said he was so badly beaten up by Smith April 5, 1955 that he had to spend a week in the hospital.

However, Allen said that at Katz's request he obtained court permission to drop a complaint against Smith for assault with intent to kill. Allen said the judge gave him "quite a dressing down" for asking that the charge be withdrawn.

2. Kenneth Whitley, a former Nashville city employe, testified that the city attorney told him he could help Mayor Ben West by dropping prosecution of Perry Cannady, business agent of Teamsters Local 327, whom Whitley accused of punching him in the nose in December 1954.

WILLIAM M. BARR

Birmingham Lodge Slates Installation

BIRMINGHAM—New officers of Birmingham Lodge 44, Masonic Order, will be installed at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Birmingham Masonic Temple.

The worshipful master to be installed is William M. Barr, 1899 Pine St. The ceremony will be conducted by Past Masters S. Robert McComb, Thomas E. Simpson, William W. Jones and O. Darwin Hillman.

Other officers to be installed are: J. Parker Eckersen, senior warden; Richard Broxton, junior warden; Ernest E. Morrow, treasurer; Robert C. Crouch, secretary; John P. MacKay, chaplain; W. Lyle Bones, senior deacon; Jack E. Thatcher, junior deacon; Thomas L. Bain, Robert A. Heyl, Merlin L. Holmquist, Jack E. Morningstar, Alvin J. Lawrie and Charles T. Buchan, stewards.

Merle E. Ryder, marshal; William C. Morrison Sr., tiler, and Alexander Busby, organist, also will be installed.

Laud Rep. Broomfield for Consistent Efforts at County Betterment

More than 200 Republicans, including many state, county and local officials gathered in Berkley last night to pay tribute to Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) for his record during his first year as Washington representative from Oakland County.

Topping a long list of speakers praising the 35-year-old Congressman, were State Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Drayton Plains), State Rep. Theodore F. Hughes (R-Berkley), and former Representative George A. Dondero.

The affair was held at Adrian Cotter's Tavern under the auspices of the North Woodward Republican Club.

Broomfield's youthful contribution on the national scene plus his consistent efforts to better Oakland County on a federal level were lauded.

Singled out was the young lawmaker's two-month tour of Oakland County this fall for the purpose of sounding out his constituents' individual problems, many of which already have been solved through his efforts.

PROGRAM READY

Aided by experience gained during the tour, Broomfield already has developed a legislative program for January's congressional session to meet existing Oakland County problems, it was pointed out.

Broomfield's efforts for federal flood control, a new Pontiac post office, small businesses, the St. Lawrence Seaway, and other projects that would benefit Oakland County were mentioned.

Broomfield was elected to Congress for the first time last year. He previously served eight years in the state legislature in Lansing, both as a state representative and a senator. He also served as speaker pro-tem of the House.

The testimonial was climaxed when the club presented a plaque to Broomfield.

The Day in Birmingham

Parents Make Complaints of Muddy Places at Schools

BIRMINGHAM—The complaints of muddy conditions around schools where parents pick up their children came in for considerable discussion by city commissioners at their meeting last night. The schools involved are Quarton, Barnum and Torry.

Commissioners pointed out that they do not feel the problem is one they should solve alone. They said specific recommendations should be made by the school board for city consideration. They added that the city would be willing to participate and co-operate in correcting the muddy conditions in anything short of permanent improvement.

The muddy conditions are made worse by parents driving off the pavement onto the outlawn area, commissioners said. The constant traffic creates the mud holes and continues to make them worse.

Commissioner Carl Ingraham said he felt that with a little patience by parents the problem could to a great degree solve itself. At Torry and Barnum schools, there are paved surfaces where parents can drive to get children. At Quarton School one exit now barred from childrhen's use could be opened on rainy days to permit children to travel from school to car on a concrete walk.

No action was taken, although many suggestions were presented.

Commissioners believed that further study is needed in relation to street paving programs.

Andrew F. Butt, building inspector, reported that 26 building permits were issued last month for construction valued at $162,542. This represents a drop of 10 permits and approximately $5,000 below last year's November figure.

The North Suburban Alumni Assn. of Chi Omega will meet with Mrs. Walter Koch at 153, Lakeside Dr., Royal Oak, Thursday. The annual Christmas dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. John Lindstrom will be assistant hostess. Mrs. Robert Page is accepting dinner reservations.

Recently elected officers of Pythian Sisters Temple 94 include past chief, Cathy Ling; most excellent chief, Mrs. Colin Gowans; most excellent senior, Mrs. Grant Capling; most excellent junior, Mrs. John Brown; manager, Mrs. John Matice; treasurer, Mrs. Edith Follman; secretary, Mrs. Howard Wright; protector, Mrs. Robert McKee; guard, Mrs. Irene Gifford; and pianist, Mrs. Edith Adams.

The annual Christmas gift exchange party will be held at the Community House at 8 p.m. Dec. 17.

High Court Bans Wiretap Evidence

consider the perjury case against Hoffa to determine whether it has enough evidence, outside of wiretaps, to proceed with the trial.

Chief Justice Warren, author of the wiretap decision, said the Federal Communications Act ban on wiretapping meant that such evidence, whether obtained by state or federal agencies, "is inadmissible in a federal court."

The question of the legality of using state-obtained wiretap evidence in state prosecutions was not directly involved in yesterday's opinion. However, some lawyers speculated the language of the opinion indicated the court might rule out use of state wiretaps in state courts if a clearcut case comes before the court.

The decision upheld contentions by Salvatore Benati of New York, who had been convicted of possession of 11 cans of bootleg alcohol. He was sentenced to 18 months by the Federal District Court in New York. New York state police, by tapping a wire to a telephone in a bar, learned of plans to move the alcohol. After it was seized the state officers informed federal officers.

In another decision involving an intercepted telephone conversation, Warren said that listening in on an extension phone at the request of the person called was not banned by the federal act.

The case involved a telephone call received by a Pueblo, Colo., businessman from an associate, Floyd Linn Rathbun, in New York. Sparks asked a policeman to listen in on an extension line and the policeman later testified in Federal Court he heard Rathbun threaten to kill Sparks in a dispute over a stock deal.

Rathbun appealed to the high tribunal after he was sentenced to one year's imprisonment and $1,000 fine. Warren, announced a 7-2 decision, said such listening in on an extension line at the request of one of the parties was not interception as Congress intended that word be used. Justice Frankfurter dissented, with Justice Douglas joining him.

Seaplane Carrying 11 Goes Down in Flames

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—The Navy reported that a two-engine seaplane with 11 persons aboard crashed in flames today near Portland, Tex., about 8 miles north of here.

It was not immediately determined if anyone survived.

The Navy said the plane spun to the ground in flames after an engine exploded and the engine and the right wing fell off.

Jan. 20 Is Last Day to Pay County Taxes

Pontiac taxpayers will have through Jan. 20 to pay their 1957 county taxes without penalty, Walter A. Giddings, city treasurer has announced.

They are payable at the treasurer's office in the City Hall beginning Tuesday. After Jan. 20 a collection fee of four per cent will be added through Feb. 28.

On March 1, all unpaid county and 1957 city and school taxes will be turned over to the Oakland County treasurer as delinquent. They must be paid there with added penalty.

Giddings said the city's share of the county tax is $1,956,747, which includes $178,000 for special education.

The 1957 city-school taxes, which became payable in July, are 98 per cent paid, Giddings said.

3 Italian Noblemen Guilty in Drugs Case

ROME (AP)—Three young Italian noblemen were sentenced to prison today at the end of Rome's most sensational narcotics trial in years.

Twenty-four other defendants were fined or sent to jail and seven were acquitted.

Prince Giuseppe Pignatelli of Rome and Mexico City, a member of one of Italy's most prominent aristocratic families, was given two years. Duke Augusto Torlonia, reported recovering from an illness in Spain, was sentenced in absentia to two years and two months. Marquis Emanuele de Seta, a Sicilian aristocrat and Italian World War II hero, got two years and three months.

All were charged with possessing and using cocaine. Lawyers did not indicate whether they would appeal.

Ex-Hero Pleads Insanity in Trial

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Claude R. Eatherly, who helped drop the first atomic bomb, is relying on a plea of insanity in his trial on charges of burglarizing two post offices.

Eatherly, 39, is a former Air Force major from Van Alstyne, Tex. He piloted a B29 reconnaissance plane in the Hiroshima raid Aug. 6, 1945. He won a decoration for heroism. The Air Force discharged him in 1947.

Roy Lee Mantooth testified he, Eatherly and Alvin D. Crews of Abilene broke into the post offices at View and Avoca, Tex., April 30, 1956, in an attempt to get money order blanks and a validating stamp.

Another witness yesterday was Dr. Robert P. McElroy, psychiatrist at the Veterans Administration hospital at Waco, Tex., where Eatherly was a patient after his arrest in the spring of 1956.

"I do consider him insane on April 30, 1956," the doctor testified. "If he's able to maintain his improvement, he should make an adequate social adjustment."

Dr. McElroy said Eatherly previously was a patient at the hospital in 1950 after attempting suicide.

Tree Trimmer Killed When Palm Fronds Slip

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A man trimming a palm tree in a cemetery was suffocated when a mass of palm fronds slipped down the trunk of the tree and completely enveloped him.

The body of Melchor Vargas, 30, was found 40 feet up the tree under a huge circle of fronds that had been loosened by his trimming and had slipped down some six feet.

Latest Russian Claim--They Invented Santa Claus

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians didn't invent Christmas but they do insist that Grandfather Frost—Santa Claus to you—is a dyed-in-the-wool Russian invention.

Grandfather Frost, known as "Ded Maroz" here, looks and acts like Santa Claus. He has the same ruddy cheeks, flowing beard and overflowing bag of gifts.

But the Russians say his origin is pure Russian folklore without any religious overtones, imported or domestic.

The Russians also say Grandfather Frost has nothing to do with St. Nicholas, the prototype of Santa Claus for the rest of the world. This despite the fact that St. Nicholas is and long has been probably the most revered saint in Russia. More Russian churches are named after him than after anybody else.

St. Nicholas reputedly Christianized the Slavs in the Fourth Century but at that time there was no Russia as such. Christianity came to Russia more than six centuries later, from Byzantium.

The Russians started celebrating Christmas soon after that, and incorporated much of their old pagan folklore into the Christian ritual.

PAGAN CHARACTER

Grandfather Frost was one of the pagan institutions incorporated into the ritual. Other equally pagan institutions were Snegurechka, the legendary Snowmaid, and Vesna Krasna or the Beauty of Spring, a female personification of spring.

Fortune-telling, hardly a Christian rite, was another institution incorporated into the Russian celebration of Christmas.

Much of this ritual has lasted the thousand years since then and survived the Russian revolution 40 years ago.

CHANGED NAME

And today, in atheist Soviet Russia, almost everybody celebrates Christmas. To avoid the "stigma" of religious connotation, however, they call it New Year's. Even Christmas trees are called "New Year trees" in Russia today.

Current Christmas (or New Year) celebrations in Russia smack of the pagan days. They lack the carefree flavor of pre-revolutionary times, and are much more highly organized, in keeping with the spirit of the times here.

Even the Kremlin, that once forbidding fortress of Stalin's day, and the House of Unions, scene of the purge trials of the 1930s, have got into the act.

Mammoth Christmas (or New Year) parties are staged in them and tens of thousands of Moscow children stream through, singing and dancing, for the two-week run of the holidays.

OPEN DOORS

During Stalin's day the ordinary Russian citizen stepped into the Kremlin only with trepidation. Today both the Kremlin and the House of Unions are open to visitors the year round, and during the New Year holidays the children take over completely.

A giant, 75-foot "New Year tree"—brightly lighted and revolving—brushes the golden chandeliers of St. George's Hall in the Grand Kremlin Palace as the kiddies dance around in awe.

GRANDFATHER FROST, who Russians say has a pedigree longer than St. Nicholas or Santa Claus, poses with admirers in Moscow's House of Unions. He has no connection with religion.

Clowns, acrobats and magicians hold the children enthralled with practically continuous performances, and redkerchiefed Young Communist League cheerleaders guide them in song and applause.

Other Christmas trees, proportionately smaller, are the center of attraction in practically every home in Russia over the holidays.

Christmas here is a season of gift-giving as it is everywhere else. The department stores are packed for weeks ahead with crowds jostling for gifts and decorations.

This year's observance has been given an added lift for the younger generation with completion of a giant new department store catering exclusively to children. It's called Detsky Mir, or Children's World, and took four years to build.

Detsky Mir stands on a corner opposite Lubyanka Prison and is a token of the consumer goods the post-Stalin leadership has promised the Russian people.

The sack that Grandfather Frost slings across his shoulder this Christmas is bulging with gifts from Detsky Mir, gifts that will be spread under Christmas trees high and humble in Moscow and for miles around.

Grandfather Frost delivers his gifts in person too, just as Santa does in the West, but with one difference. He does not deliver them via the chimney chute.

Grandfather Frost delivers his fied to come down the chimney," one Russian explained.

There are about three widows to every widower in the U. S.

Romeos Hearing Set for Friday

Civil Service Board May Be Called On to Testify

Pontiac's 3 civil service commissioners may be called to testify on the appeal of former Patrolman Louis Romeos for reinstatement on the Pontiac Police Department.

A hearing to consider Romeos' dismissal by the commission July 9 has been scheduled for Friday before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

Romeos has claimed that he faced the commission privately, without legal counsel, at one point during the public hearing that led to his dismissal.

Charged with insubordination, Romeos appealed his dismissal under a procedure set up by the civil service act.

The dismissed officer was charged principally with refusing to return to work when so ordered by a superior office.

East German Pastor Jailed by Communists

BERLIN (AP)—An East German court has sentenced an Evangelical (Lutheran) preacher to six months in jail, a Communist party newspaper reported today.

Neuer Tag said the Rev. Georg Herche, 30, was sent to prison for spanking children at religious classes and for preaching against the East German state from his pulpit.

Oppenheimer Leaves $10 Million to Son

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Sir Ernest Oppenheimer, the mining magnate who died two weeks ago, left an estate valued at 3,600,470 pounds—$10,088,316—to his son Harry, 49, in his will, filed today.

Harry Oppenheimer was named executor of the estate as well as sole legatee. Lady Oppenheimer was reported to have been provided for by Sir Ernest before his death.

Forest Products Up Farm Income

WASHINGTON (INS) — Woodlots can be moneymakers, and many low-income farm areas are finding they can produce profits from their own neglected forests.

The rural development program, the Agriculture Department's pilot program for marginal farming areas, has found that forest products are a key to boosting income in areas where crops cannot be raised efficiently.

Most of the nation's available timber, they point out, is on private land.

And the future outlook is excellent. The demand for timber products is expected to double in the next 40 years.

One timber program actually baled out a group of drought-stricken farmers who would have been hard-pressed if they had to rely on income from their normal crops a few years ago.

Many localities need special market information and promotion before they can cash in on the trees they own. Often, lumber industries will help out. Forest service experts are available in most areas.

The soil bank conservation reserve can be made to dovetail with a timber program through its cost-sharing provisions to stimulate tree-planting and its annual "rentals" of the forested acreage.

Curtice Says: Safety Comes From Within

Driver Must Educate Self

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Harlow H. Curtice, a hard-working and decisive leader in the auto industry, believes motorists should work hard at driving safely and help themselves stay alive.

Curtice, president of General Motors and chairman of the President's Committee on Traffic Safety, which meets in Washington Monday, says safe-driving practices are going to come "from within" drivers themselves.

He feels traffic agencies can help guide them, but motorists have to educate themselves to drive correctly.

The GM president expressed this philosophy as far back as 1938, when he told a class of college students:

"The power to advance and grow resides in man himself and not in circumstances outside him."

His statement typifies his own rise in the auto industry.. A native of Eaton Rapids, Curtices answered a "blind" want ad 43 years ago for a job as bookkeeper at the AC Spark Plug Co. in Flint.

"A fine opportunity for the right applicant," the want ad had said. Within 15 years he was president of AC.

REVIVES BUICK

He went on to head GM's Buick Division in 1933 when sales had fallen considerably and the car was thought doomed. Curtice challenged the industry by producing the Series 40 Buick in May 1934, and the car's volume doubled almost immediately.

He usually spent about ten hours a day on the job at GM, becoming top man in 1953, when Charles E. Wilson was named defense secretary.

The gray-haired, 64-year-old father of three daughters is well known for urging people to "do things the hard way." When it comes to traffic safety, he tells them to work hard at avoiding accidents.

"Think ahead," he says. "No one can cheat you but yourself."

Curtice's second goal in combatting traffic hazards is in promoting a major highway improvement program, for he believes "safe and adequate highways are one of the finest investments we as a nation have ever made."

Observes Toad Mating

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Dr. Arthur N. Bragg, zoologist at the University of Oklahoma, wondered just how old a toad is when he starts courting. To find out, we spent many nights huddled at the side of ponds in the country. He found that when the male toad can give out with his mating song, he was old enough to court.

Rain, Traffic Jams Cancel Plans

No Parade for Monarch

NEW YORK (INS)—Heavy rain and traffic jams caused by a subway strike forced cancellation yesterday of a ticker tape parade up lower Broadway for Moroccan King Mohammed V.

Santa and the STRONG BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Cruel King Ignatz of Ketchikan orders the circus people to amuse him or be imprisoned. They put on their acts but cannot make the king laugh. "Get the Strong Boy!" cried Mr. Maxim. But Richard cannot be found.

Chapter Six

THE KING IS AMUSED

"Is this all there is to your circus?" demanded King Ignatz. "I have not been amused."

"There is one more thing, your majesty," said Mr. Maxim. "Our Strong Boy act."

"Bring it on, then," said the king.

But no one could find the Strong Boy for Richard was hiding in a costume trunk in the center of the ring. The sight of King Ignatz waving his sword and the sound of his fierce shouting had so frightened the boy that he had leaped into the trunk and pulled down the lid.

To hide himself even better he wrapped himself round and round with the costumes in the trunk.

"They'll never find me!" he whispered to himself.

But he did not know his own strength. The trunk was old and weak and as Richard thrashed about there was a sudden awful creaking the four sides of the trunk burst open.

There, before the astonished king, stood Richard with a plumed hat on his head, a clown's mask on his face, and a ballerina's dress draped from his shoulders.

"Oh!" said King Ignatz, and he began to laugh. "Ho! Ho! Ho!" He threw back his head and laughed until the tears rolled down his cheeks. "The Strongest Boy in the World!" he cried. "Oh, what a joke!" He pointed at Richard, whose teeth were chattering so that the sound could be heard all over the tent. "That's the funniest sight I've ever seen! I am amused!"

Mr. Maxim and all the circus folk sighed with relief.

"You may go free," said King Ignatz grandly.

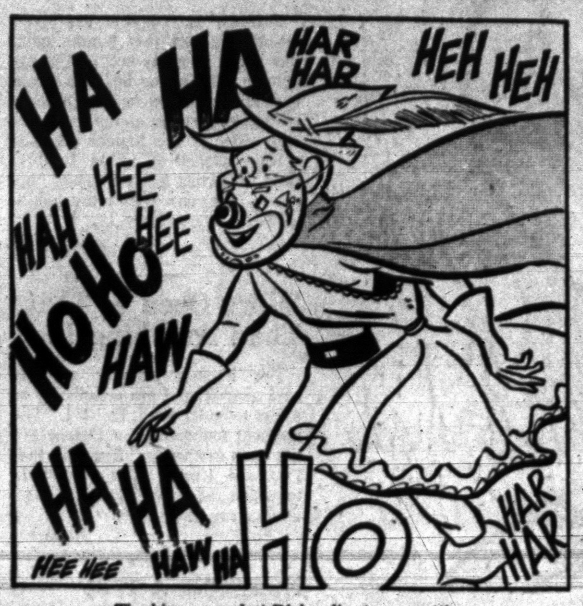

"Thank you, your majesty," bowed Mr. Maxim.

"Only," said King Ignatz, "I shall keep your Strong Boy. He will be my jester. He will live with me and amuse me."

"But, your majesty," protested Mr. Maxim. "He's only a dim-witted boy and —"

"Good," said the king. "He will not dare to match wits with me. Come, now. Leave my kingdom but leave the boy behind."

The king roared at Richard's strange attire.

It was a place of dreadful gloom. It was surrounded by 20 foot walls and a moat. Every window was barred and every other door led to a dungeon cell.

"Now, boy," said King Ignatz, "you are to make me laugh whenever I say. I often need to be cheered."

"I'm sure you do," said Richard timidly.

"Why so?" demanded the king in surprise.

"Because your palace is so gloomy," said Richard.

Ignatz guffawed. "Oh you do make me laugh. You've never been in a palace except in your dreams."

"All the same," said Richard, "a palace should be bright and splendid with gardens around it and happy people everywhere."

"What nonsense!" cried Ignatz. "A king who treats his people to happiness is a weak king. I am the greatest king in the land and I am going to conquer all the world. Tomorrow I am setting out to conquer the Kingdom of Mitzenpoo."

"Mitzenpoo!" gasped Richard.

"Yes. By Christmas Day the King of Mitzenpoo will be at my feet."

Richard's face turned white and his heart pounded and suddenly he himself fell in a faint at Ignatz' feet.

(Tomorrow: Richard's Plan)

Farmer, Sheriff Scratch Heads

Army Silent on Big Hole Found in Alabama Farm

RED BAY, Ala. (AP)—A huge hole found on a northwest Alabama farm is going to be investigated by Sheriff's officers if the Army doesn't look at it.

Blackburn told authorities he found the hole last Tuesday after hearing an explosion and "l o u d, roaring racket" Monday.

He didn't report the hole, three smaller holes or an oddly broken wire fence to authorities until Saturday.

The sheriff's office passed the word to Redstone Arsenal, the nearest military installation. The arsenal in turn notified 3rd Army Headquarters at Atlanta after noting a large hole from the air.

No word has been received from the Army.

Deputy Sheriff Aubrey Patterson inspected the holes and the wooded pasture where they appeared and made the following report:

The large hole is about 48 feet long, three to four feet wide and waist deep. The smaller holes are six to eight feet in diameter and two to three feet deep.

Barbed wire of a nearby fence has been brokn in several places. The double strand of one wire has been fused together as if by heat.

Blackburn said that when he found the holes Tuesday he thought they must have been caused by lightning. Robertson said the day was clear at the time Blackburn heard the noise.

Redstone is the center of the Army's rocket and guided missile research and development program. But only small rockets which couldn't travel as far as Red Bay are tested in free flight at the arsenal.

Red Bay is about 100 miles northwest of Birmingham near the Mississippi-Alabama line

President Bounds Back After Serious Illness

Any man who can suffer something that passes under the official pronouncement of "a stroke" on Monday and then rebounds the way DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER did, must have a powerful constitution and a lot on the ball.

He hasn't yet found the word "quit" in the dictionary or in his personal vocabulary. Just a few days after his affliction, he enjoyed a normal Thanksgiving dinner and attended church. Also, he accompanied Mrs. EISENHOWER on an 80 mile drive to the farm. Then the next Monday, he presided over a meeting of his cabinet.

Iron man IKE's on the job.

He's really "in there pitching."

This might be a good time for some of his two term snipers to hold their fire and calm down. A little peace and quiet on the side might do wonders for a brave and courageous soldier who is carrying the biggest burden in the world.

Never ending criticism for the sole purpose of advancing the opposition party might well be dropped for a time. The cause of the nation really comes first.

It probably will be expedient for Congress to clear up the duties of a president who is partly or completely incapacitated. The nation and the world in general should have an accurate idea of what can and will take place. There is no use to enshroud this in mystery. It is a practical question and deserves to be faced squarely and fairly. It happened before. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT was wholly incapable for some time before he died. It can happen again.

There is some insistence in Washington that the demands on the President are so tremendous and so exacting that Eisenhower should voluntarily step aside. Others feel the decision should rest purely with him. All parties still recognize that his claim on the voters is greater than that possessed by any other individual. This cannot be discounted.

Wild Life Likes Our Human Company

Contrary to the general opinion, the great population growth in the Pontiac area is not driving out our native wild animals and birds.

In fact, in many cases it is bringing them back.

Deer, which in Indian days roamed our forests in countless numbers, were driven north by the gunfire of our early settlers. That situation now is in reverse.

Hunters and a dwindling food supply in the northwoods, are forcing deer to return south and become semi-domesticated.

Beaver, once one of this area's principal fur producers, also were chased northward by trappers who didn't appreciate their damming instincts, and for many years were considered extinct here. But a few are back with us again.

Muskrats, killed by the thousands, also emigrated to northern lowlands, but the increase in their houses in the Pontiac area shows that they're on the way back. They like the shallows around our lakes.

Mink, skunk, fox and some other fur bearers do not show the depletion that has been apparent in some former years. They're running 50-50 with the trappers and hunters.

And the lowly porcupine, driven to extinction here by hunters who didn't know why they should shoot such a combination, is needling its way back.

With the birds, the quail is thriving under its year round protection, but in spite of its seeming shyness, never is found very far from human habitation.

Wild geese and ducks often seem anxious for domestication if there's no sound of gunfire. They make periodical comebacks when not scared away.

You never saw a robin where it couldn't see a human on sport approach.

Postage Contest

Here's a List of Winners; Over 200 Sent in Figures

Success: What comes in trying again. Contestants take note.

The 211 good sports who entered our postage contest surely did a lot of digging. We wish they all could have been prize winners. Their efforts were crowded with merit.

After careful checking, it is found that of Waterford, wins the first prize, a $25 bond. He found that 885 combinations are possible in the number of stamps to cover the postage on an air mail letter on which the total postage is 12 cents.

Second prize, a $25 bond, goes to

Eugene L. Chamberlain

of Rochester, with 723 combinations.

Third prize, $10 in cash, was won by

Roger M. Ball

of Orchard Lake, with 721 combinations.

Fourth prize was to have been $5 in cash, but

of 405 Gateway Drive, Pontiac, and

of 280 Rockwell Ave., Pontiac, were tied at 720 combinations each, and will receive $5 each.

Thirty-three others found over 700 combinations; 48 found between 600 and 700, and the others were below 600. A great many expressed satisfaction in the work, "whether I win anything or not." One called it "a wits' sharpener."

This column wishes that all of our readers could see the masses of figures compiled. Thanks several millions.

"Boy, He's Sure Playin' It Cool"

David Lawrence Says:

High Court Rules on Wiretapping

WASHINGTON — Overnight the "supreme law of the land" has been proclaimed by the Supreme Court of the United States as follows:

LAWRENCE

1. It is illegal for anyone to tap a telephone wire, and where state authorities do it — as permitted under state laws — the evidence cannot be used in federal court trials.

2. It is lawful for either party to a telephone conversation to eavesdrop and make a stenographic or tape recording.

Many people will call this "a distinction without a difference."

For when the intercepted recording is made without the knowledge and consent of one of the parties to a telephone conversation, it is seemingly as much a violation of privacy as if it had been accomplished by a clandestine apparatus unknown to either party.

For the Federal Communications Act passed by Congress is explicit on this point. It says:

"No person not being authorized by the sender shall intercept any communication and divulge or publish the existence, contents, substance, purport, effect, or meaning of such intercepted communication to any person."

But two out of the nine justices of the Supreme Court — Justices Frankfurter and Douglas — said:

"It is one of the accepted modes of carrying on business in our time to have secretaries listen in on conversations by their principals. A secretary may fairly be called the employer's 'alter ego.' And so, a secretary is fairly to be deemed as much of an automatic instrument in the context of our problem as a tape-recorder. Surely a police officer called in to facilitate the detection of crime is not such an 'alter ego'."

In this case it wasn't a private secretary but a police officer who listened in on an extension telephone when a man was making a criminal threat.

The two dissenting justices thought that the evidence obtained by the police officer should be barred from use at the trial just as is any testimony obtained through wire-tapping. The other seven justices thought it was all right to use in court the information obtained.

Chief Justice Warren, speaking for the majority, argues that federal law also says that the receiver of a communication by telephone or otherwise may use it for his own benefit. The court says it isn't an "intercepted" communication at all and that Congress didn't intend any such meaning.

But the fact remains that one party to the conversation had not given the other party any permission. On this point, the court majority opinion says:

"The communication itself is not privileged, and one party may not force the other to secrecy merely by using a telephone . . . the conduct of the party would differ in no way if instead of repeating the message he held out his handset so that another could hear out of it."

Certainly if a man threatens another man's life and the police listening in learn that fact, they should have the right to save a life and use the evidence at a trial no matter how they get it. But the Supreme Court says it can't be done unless the police happen to be listening in on an extension telephone.

The police are, therefore, forbidden to tap wires leading in and out of bars and places where criminals gather and to intercept messages, for example, concerning the unlawful use of narcotics. Nor can the police hereafter use in court such evidence obtained against enemy spies.

It remains to be seen what some court may do someday in a case involving the publication of information which the sender had every reason to believe was being kept secret as he requested.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Diet Brings New Youth, Cuts Gall-Bladder Attacks

"Due to gallstones my diet is limited," says Mary Roe. "It includes whole wheat bread only, that is, no white bread; spinach every day; bananas; and at least 2 glasses of skim milk every day.

DR. BRADY

"On this diet my gall bladder trouble is greatly relieved. I have gained in vigor and general health, but not in weight. Sometimes I wonder why we are not more intelligent about our eating and just why doctors do not go into this food matter more seriously. I am indebted to you for your fine teachings." (Mary Roe)

What! No meat, no eggs, no vegetables?

Even a peck of spinach every day would be insufficient to supply the minimum daily requirement of essential minerals and vitamins, especially vitamin C.

If the whole wheat bread is 100 per cent wheat (from which nothing has been removed), it would supply a considerable amount of vitamin B. Wheat as it comes from the thresher is the richest food source of vitamin B complex.

One with gallstones or chronic inflammation of the gall bladder (cholecystitis) may get enough biologically complete protein from skim milk (or whole milk or buttermilk) and wheat—but only two glasses of skim milk a day would be hardly enough to maintain good nutrition. Take four glasses of skim milk daily, or the equivalent in cheese (whatever kind you like) and eggs (two a day).

10 YEARS OFF AGE

If your limited diet brought about your gain in vigor and general health, supplementing your diet with the essentials I have mentioned probably would astonish, if not scandalize, the neighbors by making you a good 10 years younger.

Milk, skim milk, buttermilk and/or cheese is indispensable in the diet of any one who wants to keep young. They are the best food sources of calcium, which, notwithstanding funny notions about "deposits" in the arteries, joints etc., keeps the arteries elastic, the joints supple, the skeletal and heart muscle firm and the nerves steady.

They also are among the best food sources (leafy green vegetables being the other) of riboflavin (formerly called vitamin B-2 and vitamin G).

E. V. McCollum, Ph. D., Sc. D., LL.D., top nutrition authority, ascribed to an optimal daily intake of riboflavin "preservation of the characteristics of youth."

Now tell me, just what are the "characteristics of youth?" Well, to my mind the most significant is suppleness. But I grant you a "milk-fed" complexion is significant too.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Perhaps E. Higgins has overlooked the fact that human unity has never been, is not, and in my opinion, will never be. Suggests a Way to Raise Funds

Let's think what our tax dollar has given us in Pontiac. We were heavily bonded, and those bonds have been paid off. Streets have been improved and paved, sewers extended, water mains extended, garbage and refuse is picked up regularly. We have a new fire station, a new City Hall, a new public safety building. All these are equipped and paid for. The city has done very well to get all this and hold taxes in abeyance.

Now our beautiful hospital is at a stand-still because costs have advanced, which is no one's fault. Are we going to let it stand? In order to finish it, and not go in debt, why not ask every taxpayer in the city to donate $30 toward finishing and equipping our hospital? This way we'd need no bond issue or draw on future taxes. We could maintain our public improvements. This amount would be more than enough to finish it, and the rest can go toward our planned civic building.

Let's all unite and prove we do not need a bond issue.

Explains Lag in UF Drive

The United Fund campaign has been a little slow this year. I would like to give a few reasons. People have made less money this last year. It is supposed to be voluntary but they post charts telling you what to give. I know of cases where pressure has been used. Workers were called into the office after they had voluntarily refused.

I have given in the past but if the United Fund keeps the Urban League as one of its agencies in the future, I will not give. It is just another NAACP and trouble maker, as the people on the east side know from a few years back.

'Browns Set Him Back a Step'

Since Bobby Layne is such a ladies' man, it was obvious that he would not get the punishment for drunk driving he deserved. But I guess the Cleveland Browns set him back a step or two. Maybe that's what he needed. Even one of the Cleveland players said he should be in jail. Look who won the game for the Lions.

Complains Stories Are Not Equal

When it comes to sports, I don't think The Press is fair. Not just sports in general, but school sports. In the write-ups all we see is Pontiac High School. They get such a large write-up that the others are lucky to find two or three paragraphs about them.

(Editor's Note: Because Pontiac High School enrollment is considerably larger than other area schools, the space given to its stories will be in proportion to the number of students and the general interest.

'That Isn't Only Kind of Filth'

I was wondering if the woman who visited our County Jail and found the kitchen spotlessly clean read about the 17-year-old boy who was molested while confined in that institution. There are other kinds of filth than what you eat.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Handicapped Need 'Booster Shots'

Billy is like millions of other boys and girls who have some kind of physical handicap. But you can either become a slave of your defect or become master thereof and actually use it to attain greater success in life. Scrapbook this case and employ the methods outlined below to give a "booster shot" to the morale of all crippled youngsters.

By DR. GOERGE W. CRANE

Case W-368: Billy Z., aged 7, limps on his left leg because of a former attack of polio.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," his worried mother began, "I know that Billy often feels inferior to other youngsters.

"Some of the latter even say cutting things to him because he can't run as fast as they do.

"So what can I do to give him a better outlook on life and inflate his morale?"

MORALE BOOSTERS

In medicine we give booster shots long after an original vaccination or inoculation. And we should do the same regarding a child's morale.

Billy's mother is thus very wise in trying to help her son build up a positive spirit by offering him psychological "booster shots."

One way for doing this is to stress how much better off Billy is than some other kids whom he may meet, who are wheelchair cripples or forced to walk with two crutches.

"I cried and was quite upset because Daddy wouldn't buy me new shoes for the Prom" said a teen-age girl, "until I happened to see a returning soldier who had no feet."

That quotation beautifully expresses the thought that we need to look at our less fortunate companions in order to bolster our morale and become more thankful for what we have.

But mothers can also read stories aloud that show how great men and women have often become famous in spite of physical handicaps.

THINK BIG

Encourage handicapped children to think BIG! Remind them that Moses and Demosthenes stuttered. Caesar was an epileptic. Milton was blind and Beethoven grew deaf. Thomas Edison was also dezf.

Robert Louis Stevenson was a frail, sickly child who compensated for his own inability to engage in rough play by writing "Treasure Island."

And Franklin D. Roosevelt was a paralyzed polio victim, yet ran for the presidency after he became crippled.

Remind your child that handicaps often become actual stepping stones to great attainment if the victims thereof use them as goads or spurs to harder work.

So tell your child he can either become a slave of his handicap or else master it by using it as a spur to unusual accomplishment.

STORY BOOK TECHNIQUE

And also encourage your handicapped youngster by story book cases, as of Cinderella.

"Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" is another recent tale that helps buoy up the morale of youngsters who feel below par.

The newest and best song and story along this line is that about "Little Sandy Sleighfoot," who was ostracized by other children because of his long feet.

Such modern tales as "Little Sandy Sleighfoot" serve as powerful aids to youngsters who have had polio or who have crossed eyes, harelips, birth marks or are spastics or suffer from other defects, real or imagined.

Tactful parents should concentrate on building up the wounded ego and deflated morale of boys and girls who are psychological cripples.

A handicapped body is not so bad if the child meanwhile does not develop into a mental or spiritual cripple.

Medics can often do wonders toward correcting the physical ailments, but you parents and grandparents, or Sunday school teachers, wield the major influence in correcting the child's mental outlook and giving him new zest for living.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

FEDERAL DEPT. STORES - SAGINAW AT WARREN, PONTIAC OPEN EVERY NIGHT TO 9 (Monday through Saturday)

Hal Boyle Says:

Nassau--Atlantic City With British Accent?

The Florida land boom has leaped the Gulf stream and landed in the Bahamas.

A tidal flood of tourists and foreign investment capital has created the greatest wave of prosperity in these islands since Christopher Columbus discovered them in 1492.

Nine hotels have been built here in the last four years. Commercial lands values in Nassau, the capital, have trebled in the last six years. Property along Bay street, the main business thoroughfare, now sells for about $8,000 a front foot.

Once merely a playground for wealthy sportsmen and international society, the islands have become a resort popular with the great middle class. Nassau looks forward, with some misgivings, it must be admitted, to becoming something of a Miami Beach or Atlantic City with a British accent.

It is trying hard to retain the picturesque, leisurely charm of its past while at the same time adjusting to the faster tempo required by its new prosperity and an enlarging population.

Many an American state might take a tip from the Bahamas on how to fight its way out of the doldrums. The islands emerged from the second World War in bad shape. They had no major industries, much unemployment.

TOOK STOCK CAREFULLY

The colony took stock of itself. What did it really have to sell? Nothing but a wonderful climate, fine fishing and certain tax advantages. (It has no income tax, no death tax on real estate, and only a four per cent inheritance tax on personal property.)

The Nassau Development Board was formed to exploit these attractions, and it has done its task well. Only 32,000 tourists came here in 1949. This year the figure will be about 195,000.

"We estimate we will have 250,000 visitors annually by 1960," said a board spokesman.

Not all who come are vacationing tourists, anxious to buy low-priced French perfumes and gin at $2 a fifth. Some are wealthy American, English and European businessmen who have sunk millions of dollars in resort ventures which they can leave, tax free, to their heirs. A number of large corporations, including several U.S. firms attracted by the special tax advantages, have centered their overseas operations here.

The population of the colony has spurted from 68,846 in 1943 to about 90,000 today.

PRICE OF GROWTH

But growth has its price, and the price here is the same that prosperity has exacted in other countries—a housing shortage, a growing traffic problem, and a rising cost of living.

"I was renting a three-bedroom furnished house for $196 a month," grumbled a resident, "and one of your American steel firms bought it for $56,000 for one of its executives. Now I have to find a new place to live."

Said a local businessman:

"The Americans are bringing in high-priced employes and thereby forcing up our own wage scales. We used to be able to hire a good secretary for $42 a week. Now even a beginner wants $70."

Yes, prosperity has a price—even in an island paradise. But they still like the Yankee dollars here, and all they want is more and more of them.

Homes Big Part of Tax Base

County Valuation Still Rests Heavily Upon Residential Property

Private homes and property continue to contribute most to Oakland County's valuation, a report readied by the county's equalization staff shows.

Residential properties are figured in the report to provide almost 61 per cent of the county's valuation, set at a record $1,673,313,000 this year.

Real estate as a whole makes up 80 per cent of the valuation, with personal property in industry and business accounting for another 16.5 per cent of the total.

Industrial inventories alone contribute 11.6 per cent of the county's tax base, the report says.

Farms contribute 2.6 per cent of the total county tax base; business properties, 8.7 per cent; industrial properties, 6.8 per cent; and utilities, .28 per cent.

In the personal tax category, farms account for .17 per cent; businesses, 4.9 per cent; and utilities, 3.18 per cent.

'Can't Bag Tourists With Peashooter!'

BAY CITY (AP)—The low pressure of Michigan's sales campaign to lure tourists is "becoming dangerous," the East Michigan Tourist Assn. said yesterday.

The association said in a newsletter that the Michigan tourist industry is being "handed a peashooter instead of a potent weapon to attract tourists."

The recommended budget of $493,000 for tourist inducements next year is inadequate, the association said, and "the legislature might cut it even further."

"This year's tourist business ran about the same as the year before," the association said, "but that isn't progress, because if we aren't coming forward in this business we are moving backwards."

Government Control Power Grab or Stabilizer?

Indonesia Seizes Dutch Estates, Plants

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Indonesia's ambition has been called vaulting.

The young republic, which is so rich potentially but which has so many economic failures, at the moment is not able to govern its own territories.

These territories—3,000 islands—if superimposed on that of Europe, would stretch from Ireland to Greece.

Java is the home island in this group and Jakarta, the capital, is the center of the republic carved out of a rebellion against 300 years of Dutch rule. Yet the other large island groups, such as Sumatra and the Celebes, have instituted their own local rule virtually independent of the federal government because of hostile reactions against the main regime.

Now Indonesia, which is so scattered and so divided, is expelling some 50,000 Dutch because its case failed at the United Nations.

The Indonesians, who won their freedom in 1949, want to annex Dutch West Guinea. This territory was withheld in the cession of a vast archipelago.

The United Nations, which helped the Indonesians so much in their drive for independence, rejected an Indonesian attempt to force the Netherlands to negotiate over New Guinea, which the Indonesians call West Irian.

What is New Guinea, and what right has Indonesia even to claim it?

New Guinea is the second largest island in the world, being exceeded only by Greenland. Part of this 309,275-square-mile area is governed by Australia, and the rest by the Netherlands.

The Dutch argument is simple. We gave up Indonesian territory, they say, but this is not part of Indonesia. The Indonesians want it only as a victory to be used politically at a time when the young republic is having a tough time making ends meet.

The Indonesians argue this way: The New Guinea area was part of the former Netherlands East Indies and therefore should be a part of our new republic.

New Guinea is a vast territory which also has not been deeply explored. The Indonesians have vast known resources which they have not fully exploited. New Guinea may have many yet untapped. So the contest boils down to the usual self-interest.

Stairs Disappear, So Does Baby —for 15 Minutes

She called firemen, who knocked out the wall of a bedroom closet and released the tot. He had plunged down a 12-foot shaft between the chimney and the wall.

"Look, dirty," said Tony when he was released, and he showed his mother his hands. He was imprisoned about 15 minutes.

20 Residents of County Pass State Bar Tests

Twenty Oakland County residents were listed among the 174 persons who successfully passed their examinations in September to become attorneys, the Michigan State Bar Association has announced.

Included in the list was T Boice Purdy of 205 Linden Rd., Pontiac.

Others were:

Birmingham—Robert B. Webster, Arthur T. Iverson Jr., Paul J. Ethington, Claude A. Patalidis, John F. Foley and Stwart E. Kenney.

There were 241 who took their State Bar examinations at this time, it was announced.

WILL SALLY EVER BE A TEACHER?

Sally certainly has a way with children. She has a real love for them. Makes you think she'd be a wonderful teacher. But she may never have the chance.

Sally lives in a community where there's a serious shortage of classrooms, teachers and good schoolbooks. That means less schooling for Sally than she needs.

Let's see that this doesn't happen in our schools. You can help by supporting our School Board, by attending PTA meetings and school conferences.

He Helps Perk Up U.S. Women

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — When the average woman is down-at-heart or up-in-arms or over-a-barrel emotionally, tradition has it she goes out and buys a new hat.

This can be expensive.

HAIR CHANGED

The more jaded woman, under the same demoralized circumstances, goes to a beauty parlor to have her hair changed.

This system, referred to as the "tranquilizer tint" or "paroxysm per peroxide," is even costlier.

There are simpler, cheaper ways to lift one's heart out of one's stomach . . . and more than 25 years ago a dapper young man named Charles Revson figured it out.

HANDS IMPRESSIVE

"A woman's hands are the most impressive vehicle she has, except her eyes," he says today. "And colors are very intriguing to a woman. She can express herself faster through color than in any other way."

Revson, sensing this even back in the days when vivid red nail polish was "The taint of sharp women," founded the biggest name in the business today — "Revlon."

With $300, and an idea that "women lead lives of quiet desperation" from which they deserve a cosmetic lift, Revson at first went from door to door, peddling his pick-me-ups. Which came in gay, but my dear, how shocking! shades of red.

Then, in the mid-1930's, he took the big gamble.

To put over his point that colored nails and lips were not for "cheap women," he set a price of 50 cents on his nail enamel, when competitors charged a dime, and a price of $1 on lipstick, when other lipsticks sold for 49 cents.

To convince women, also, that color was an easy way out of the doldrums, he splashed his new products with exotic names: Fatal Apple (the "fatal" made her feel irresistibly devilish; the "apple" leavened her with sweetness), "Touch And Glow" (ooooh and ummmmmm), "Say It With Rubies" (respect me, sir), "Fire and Ice" (for the lady who can be anything).

The result is a $90-million-per-annum business for Revson and a devout following of women who switch their face and hand fashions twice a year, when Revlon comes out with a new shade. "When you yell your wares loud enough, and what you're yelling makes sense to women," says the big man, honestly, "They'll establish a habit."

Revson admits, just as honestly, that in his role as unofficial female psychologist he gets a bang out of watching, or hearing of, the reactions of ladies to a new shade.

"When even her husband says, 'Hey, what did you do to yourself — lose weight or something?' I know I was right."

Mrs. Revson pulls this trick frequently, even on the master himself.

Inventories Typewriters

Storage Trade Up in Detroit

Holland State Senator Asserts Property Tax Exemptions Did It

LANSING (AP) — A Republican state senator said that business in Detroit warehouses has gone up 50 per cent since the Legislature granted personal property tax exemptions.

Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland) said he referred to exemptions covering certain items stored in warehouses and destined for out-of-state delivery.

Geerlings said that the legislative move resulted in an increase of 1,500 job opportunities.

The senator, who heads a Senate group studying business taxes in Michigan, said the Legislature sought to put Michigan warehouses in a better competitive position with similar establishments in Ohio, which he said enjoyed tax advantages.

"If one tax is a factor in expansion of business and job opportunities, then it is reasonable to believe that other state and local taxes are causing industry to look to other states for their future development," Geerlings said.

Senate to Probe Rocket Failure

Preparedness Group to Reopen Hearings on Satellite Program

By JOHN A. HARRIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kuchel (R-Calif) said today the American people are "demanding that this country forge ahead in the missile field, no matter what it may cost."

And, he added, in his judgment Congress is ready to vote defense money "on any reasonable considered and justified basis."

The senator spoke in an interview as members of the staff of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee prepared for the reopening of hearings Friday into the nation's missile-satellite programs.

Defense officials will be questioned at length on the failure last Friday of the Vanguard rocket, a 72-foot device with which the Navy attempted to put the first U. S. earth satellite into orbit.

The Office of Naval Research—which has jurisdiction over Vanguard—reported it had determined the exact cause of the rocket's failure at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., test area.

The misfire "was caused by a mechanical failure in the propulsion system, details of which are classified," the Navy said.

The failure of the Vanguard rocket stirred new congressional demands for acceleration of the satellite and missile's programs. Pressure for a speedup has been building since Oct. 4 when Russia launched its first satellite. Russia put Sputnik II into orbit Nov. 30.

The chief assistant to President Eisenhower, Sherman Adams said however, that the Vanguard failure was not as serious as some people think.

"I can't throw much light on the subject," he said in a news conference in St. Louis. "But we'll have it straightened out before long. What we want is action and better luck next time. . . .

"It is not as serious as taken to be in some quarters of this country and around the world."

U.N. Truce Official Displeases Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A second Arab nation has accused a U. N. truce observation official of favoritism toward Israel and announced it would no longer cooperate with him.

A Syrian army spokesman yesterday accused Col. Christian Moe, Norwegian chairman of the Syrian - Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission, of "pro-Israeli leniency" and bowing to Israeli pressure.

Jordan charged recently that U. S. Marine Col. Byron Leary, acting head of the U. N. truce observation organization, favored Israel in a dispute over Mt. Scopus.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold expressed confidence in Leary. After Hammarskjold visited Israel, Jordan and Syria last week, his office announced that a personal representative would be named for Mt. Scopus questions, apparently sidetracking Leary.

May Not Be Anything New, Bold

Crucial Point in Upcoming NATO Parley Is What U.S. Has to Offer in Ideas

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The main point in this country's meeting with its allies in Paris next week is not whether President Eisenhower can go there but what this country has to offer there in the way of ideas.

This government—judging from reports leaking out on the administration's thinking—isn't going to propose anything very new, bold or imaginative to its partners in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Secretary of State Dulles, starting to prepare for this meeting a month ago, looked around for some new and dramatic concept to strengthen the alliance. It is understood he didn't find what he sought.

Yet this NATO meeting comes at a moment of utmost seriousness for the Western Allies and at a time when reports from Europe indicate a dwindling faith in Eisenhower's leadership and Dulles' ability.

Eisenhower's appearance in Paris, besides testifying to his quick recovery, might provide some dramatic color to the meeting and dmonstrate his realization of its importance.

The Russians Sputniks, startling evidence of Russia's scientific progress, shocked the West Europeans, who live next door to the Soviets and would be in range of Russian intermediate range missiles if war began. This is disturbing.

So is their realization of the progress the Russians have been making in the Middle East—Europe's main oil source—at a time when Western influence has been decaying there.

In addition there have been splits among the Allies. For example: between the French and their American and British friends over arms shipments to Tunisia, next door to Algeria where France is fighting revolt.

This country reportedly has rejected any plan for working with NATO to win the Middle East from Russia with a broad, Allied economic plan although the United States next year plans to step up foreign aid worldwide.

Nor is likely this country will offer anything in the way of pulling the West Europeans closer together politically. Apparently the main American proposals will be military.

County Residents Warned of Thin Ice on Lakes

Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons today warned county residents to stay off area lakes which have frozen over and to keep their children from wandering out on thin ice.

"This is a critical time of the year in which we can expect a rash of drownings unless people stay off the gradually thickening ice," he said.

"Until we have a least a week of constantly freezing temperatures, the ice cannot be considered safe enough to walk on," he explained.

Recent weather conditions have put a sheet of ice over many area lakes but the temperatures have not been constant enough or cold enough to afford strong, safe ice.

"Each year there are those who venture out on the lakes too soon," Irons continued. "They are taking their lives in their own hands. Falling through weak ice is treacherous and far more disabling to excellent swimmers than falling out of a boat."

Szymanski Denies Common Pleas Bid

LANSING (AP) — Aud. Gen. Frank S. Szymanski today squelched reports that he might leave his job to become a judge in Detroit's Court of Coommon Pleas.

"Very definitely, the reports are not true," said Szymanski, whose term as auditor general will expire next year. He said he "very likely" would run for another term.

Szymanski had voiced interest in the attorney general's post to be vacated by Thomas M. Kavanagh when he becomes a state justice of the State Supreme Court in January. When Gov. Williams named Paul L. Adams to the job last week, Szymanski reportedly was offered a judgeship left vacant by the death last month of Common Pleas Judge John Snyder.

"I was disappointed that I didn't get the job, but I can certainly see the political advantages in appointing Adams," Szymanski said.

Eventually, he added, he likely will set his sights on the Wayne County bench rather than the attorney general's office.

Meanwhile, he said, the Frank S. Szymanski Booster Club, is ready to promote his political ambitions. The group, made up of Detroit area friends, now boasts about 400 members, he said.

Young Santa Does Well

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — Santa Claus had a tough time here when the make-believe St. Nick, complete with beard and boots, was picked up by police after soliciting for three hours in the downtown area and collecting money from passersby. Police gave the errant Santa's age as 10. His haul: $6.65.

Detective Hospitalized—Gets His Man, Anyway

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Detective George Weidl was forced to give up his hunt for a man in connection with forgery and bad check charges while hospitalized for a checkup.

Yesterday, Weidl looked up from his bed and saw a familiar face pass the door. Leaping out of bed, he grabbed William Swindell Jr., 28. He held him, until brother officers arrived, then went back to bed.

Missile's Flop May Draw Aid

Nixon Urges Americans to Sympathize With Vanguard Scientists

WASHINGTON (INS)—Administration leaders, smarting over criticism brought on by the Vanguard rocket failure, believe the reaction will at least help them get missile money from an otherwise hostile Congress.

While this prospect doesn't make last Friday's satellite launching any less of a flop, they concede, it is a helpful byproduct to what they still term a "test" for bigger and better attempts later.

The faulty effort to launch a six-inch earth satellite demonstrated not only the great difficulty in achieving space age success but the great cost involved.

WORRIED ABOUT RESULTS

Congress, as a result, is expected to be more concerned about getting results in the race to overtake Russia than in counting pennies.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon gave evidence of the administration's worry about the "defeatist" reaction to the Vanguard test failure by urging fellow citizens not to "sell America short."

Nixon called on Americans to abandon their "weeping walls" and give moral support to the missile experts and scientists responsible for the missile-satellite program.

"We need to keep our sense of proportion," he said. "We haven't overnight lost our scientific know-how, our ability to get things done."

NO POLITICAL MISSILES

Calling for support of the missile experts, he said:

"After all, they're Americans—not missile Americans, or Republican Americans, or Democratic Americans. You don't fire missiles with a party label on them."

President Eisenhower and his aides have outlined defense spending increases expected to gross two billion dollars. But congressional leaders were told at last week's budget briefing that trimming obsolete weapons and non-essential domestic spending from the overall budget might hold this increase to an actual one billion dollars.

The attitude of Congress may be shaped somewhat by further testimony before the Senate preparedness subcommittee now investigating the missile - satellite program.

These hearings, under Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, resume Dec. 13, and it is likely that an explanation of the Vanguard misfire may be taken up first.

The subcommittee asked the Defense Department for a report on the Florida failure last Friday, a few hours after the test mishap.

Urges Seaway Stay Under Defense Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McNamara (D-Mich) has suggested that supervision and direction of the St. Lawrence Seaway Corp. remain with the Defense Department "at least until such time as the corporation can be made an independent agency."

McNamara's suggestion was made in a letter to President Eisenhower, who has authority to vest supervision of the Seaway Corporation with any agency he may designate.

The administration is considering transferring supervision from the Defense Department to the Commerce Department.

"I have looked into the matter quite thoroughly," McNamara said, "and I am not convinced that any worthwhile purpose would be accomplished by the transfer."

Should Even Silence Arch-Critic

Big Yacht Bought by Rainier

MONTE CARLO (INS) — Prince Rainier of Monaco has acquired a yacht that should satisfy everybody including her serene high-arch-critic Lady Norah Docker.

Princess Grace should approve of it because it appears large and stable enough to spare her possible touches of sea-sickness.

CRAFT BIG ENOUGH

Presumably the new craft is big enough — but this is not absolutely sure — to prevent Lady Docker from making disparaging remarks about Rainier's "little" yacht, which she did when he owned the smaller "Deo Juvante II." Rainier sold the latter some months ago.

Finally, Rainier himself supposedly will be happy because the people who sold him the craft gave him a dog with it at no extra charge.

Rainier's new yacht is now called the "Costa Del Sol," but will be renamed "Deo Juvante III." It is a three-masted schooner and is now at the Toulon Arsenal, awaiting refurbishing. Before Prince Rainier bought it the vessel transported oranges between Malaga and Marsille.

NOBODY ABOARD

The yacht will be transformed completely. For the moment nobody is aboard except one sailor and a dog named Bobby. Both the sailor and Bobby were delivered with the ship. They had been aboard so long neither wanted to leave. The previous Spanish owners gave Bobby to Rainier as a "bonus" along with the craft.

The vessel at the moment is black with yellow masts. It will be repainted entirely and equipped with new sails. It will be fitted with de luxe cabins and several bathrooms.

The vessel is 45 meters long (about 140 feet) and the present masts are 22 meters high (about 70 feet). The latter will be replaced by much higher masts designed for added speed. Beam of the craft is 12 meters (about 40 feet).

The present auxiliary motor is rated at 400 horse power but will be replaced by a more modern 800 h.p. motor.

Already the red and white Monegasque colors flutter above the craft, which is to be ready for the Prince by the end of next May. Rainier and Grace will inaugurate it by going for a cruise.

Glaciers Recede on Famous Peak Mt. Kilimanjaro

NAIROBI — The legendary "Snows of Kilimanjaro" are slowly disappearing, scientists report in Nairobi, Kenya. In 50 years Kilimanjaro, Africa's greatest mountain at 19,319 feet, will have no snow at all, the experts predict.

Three safaris of scientists will set up a meteorological station on the crater's edge to measure temperature, humidity, wind prevalence and snowfall. They hope to find the rate at which glaciers of "The Shining Mountain" are receding, and the likely reason.

Widening Job Done on 11 Mile

Road Commission Work Enlarges Street From Woodward to Coolidge

Widening of 11 Mile road from Woodward avenue to Coolidge highway has been completed, the Oakland County Road Commission announced.

The $165,900 project, built with the cooperation of Berkley and Huntington Woods, widens the 1.25 mile-long stretch of road from two lanes to four lanes, with curbing and storm sewers.

The road commission paid about half the cost and the two cities paid the rest.

The improved road has been turned over to the two cities for future maintenance and improvements, the commission announced.

Of six other similar projects completed or under way by the commission, one is to continue the widening of 11 Mile from Coolidge west to Greenfield road. Berkley and Oak Park are sharing in this project.

Custer's Descendant Joins Same Outfit

MUNSAN-NI-KOREA (AP) — The great grand nephew of Indian Fighter Gen. George Armstrong Custer has joined the 7th Cavalry, the outfit in which Custer was a leader at the "last stand" against the Sioux June 25, 1876, at Little Big Horn, Mont.

Capt. George Armstrong Custer, Monroe, Mich., has been assigned to Headquarters, 1st Battle Group, 7th Cavalry, 1st cavalry division, in Korea.

They have been the only members of the family to serve in the U. S. Army since Gen. Custer's command, including five members of the Custer family, was wiped out to the last man 81 years ago.

Circus performing tigers, which once cost $1,000 each, now cost up to $3,500. Inflation probably.

Hunters Flee Bear and Vice Versa

Byous trudged through the underbrush and past a startled bear, which sent him sprawling.

He made an unsuccessful pass at the animal with a knife and both hunters and bear took off —the bear for the woods and the hunters for their car.

Girls Given Welcome to Capital

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Right from the sticks and green, Mrs. Elizabeth Puryear arrived in Washington from North Carolina in 1933 to work as a government employe.

Before the end of the first day, she was ready to turn around and head back again.

"About four days' of work was laid out for me," she recalled. "Something was brewing like a hill of ants and the men were all asking for service. I didn't know from nothing what to do."

PROGRAM NEEDED

She learned the hard way. Her early experience, and that of many other G-girls, pointed up the necessity for some "kind of program to acquaint a newcomer with what she was required to do in her job."

In the U. S. Forestry Service, where she became head of the stenographic division, Mrs. Puryear began setting up a training group and for many years has been the agency's counselor for women secretarial workers.

Then in 1940 under a program called the "Orientation Plan for Washington Office Girls," Forestry initiated a "sponsor program."

ADOPTED BY OTHERS

The plan has been adopted by other bureaus of the Department of Agriculture and agencies of the government.

"The first purpose of the sponsor program," Mrs. Puryear told me, "is to keep a new girl from feeling like a little pebble in a big puddle. The program makes a girl feel she's a part of the organization immediately."

The sponsors committee is made up of about six women selected from various departments of the Washington office of the forestry service to serve for two years.

Promenaders Greet Couples

Mr. and Mrs. Al Alderholdt and Mr. and Mrs. William Betts were received as new members of Promenaders Square Dance Club when that group met Saturday evening at Hawthorne School. Callers were Frederick Newmann and Warren Allen.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Vern Kaul, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cram, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter DuPree, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Parker, Mr. and Mrs. John Guenther and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bixby.

Yule Party Slated

Mrs. Walter Williams announced plans for a Dec. 20 Christmas party when members of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Auxiliary met Monday afternoon in the Nurses' Home. Mrs. Forrest Rorabuagh, chairman of the auxiliary's recent Petite Bazaar, reported that the project had raised $356.

Four pages today in Women's Section

Mrs. Donald Montney (center) watches Mrs. Richard Lasho (left), who is secretary-treasurer of the group, and Mrs. Lois Jones (right), who hostessed the group. The centerpieces that Mrs. Lasho and Mrs. Jones are making seem to be coming along nicely.

Pledged to Delta Zeta sorority at Western Michigan University is freshman Sandy Filer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver G. Filer of Edgefield drive. She is majoring in occupational therapy.

Eleanor Hassenzahl, a freshman at Eastern Michigan College, was selected feature soloist when the Music Department presented its recital Dec. 5. She also sang with the Freshman Girls' Ensemble at a formal faculty Christmas party Sunday evening and will sing again in the Choral Union's annual Christmas concert in Pease Auditorium Thursday.

At Denison University, Granville, Ohio, Thomas G. Hawley, son of Mrs. Charles D. Hawley of Birmingham, is directing and acting in a Christmas play, "For the Time Being," to be produced by the university's Studio Theater Wednesday through Saturday. Tom, who is a senior, also designed the scenery for the play.

On Dec. 20 Maryjane Morrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Morrell of Birmingham, will begin her Christmas recess from Centenary College for Women, Hackettstown, N.J. She will return to the campus on Jan. 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lucien Hardig (nee Carolyn Dickie) of Birmingham are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Joseph Lucien Hardig III, on Dec. 4.

Dear Abby—

He May Repay Honor When Cat Has Kittens

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A grouchy, old, retired school teacher lives behind us and he has a great big lady cat who is always trying to scratch the eyes out of our dog, Taffy, who is almost littler than his cat.

ABBY

Taffy had a litter of pups and we named the cross-eyed one "Mr. Hanson" after him. Now he is very mad at our whole family and says he is going to get the law after us. Can he?

TAFFY'S MASTER

DEAR MASTER: I doubt if your neighbor will make good his threat, but don't be surprised if he gets even with you when his cat has kittens.

DEAR ABBY: I am twice married and twice divorced and I have had nothing but bad luck with men. I am very much in love with a man named Walter but he has me at the end of my rope.

He has been a divorced man for six years and says the best check he writes out every month is for alimony. He has told me many times that he is through with marriage.

I don't want to live like this the rest of my life. How can I get him to change his mind? He says he loves me. We are both in our late 40s.

WANTING TO MARRY

DEAR WANTING: You will never get Walter to the altar. Face it, and act accordingly.

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and like to have my friends over, but when I do my Mom starts singing at the top of her lungs. She tries to sing popular songs and she is way off-key and also she doesn't know the right words so she makes them up.

My friends laugh and it gets me embarrassed. I know she can't help singing off-key but don't you think she could learn the words?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Thank your lucky stars you have a mother who feels so good she bursts into song! Let the rafters ring (with her own "made up" words) . . . and join her!

DEAR ABBY: My sister has two children, ages 10 and 12, and I have always remembered these children with gifts at Christmas, Easter and their birthdays. Am I wrong to expect them to thank me themselves for these gifts?

My sister merely picks up the telephone and conveys their thanks for them. I am of the opinion that children 10 and 12 are old enough to say "thank you" for themselves. Correct me if I am wrong!

AUNT GERTRUDE

DEAR AUNT: You are correct—but don't blame the children. What your sister doesn't teach them about manners they will be a long time learning.

Lake Club Announces New Slate

It was announced today that Elroy L. Sandberg of Birmingham has been re-elected president of Forest Lake Country Club. Elected to serve with him for one-year terms were Bernard Girard, vice president; Albert C. Yost, treasurer, and Robert J. Walls, secretary.

Elected to the board of directors for three-year terms were Ralph E. Hunt, Mr. Yost and Blaine E. Eynon.

Women of the club planned a tree-trimming party today, and Wednesday is the day of the annual Christmas luncheon.

Shower Given for Bride-Elect Elaine Kneale

Among the guests were Mrs. Russell Kneale, Barbara Kneale, Beverly Kneale, Janet Kneale, Mrs. Mark LaBarge of Utica, Mrs. Richard Graham of Birmingham, Patricia Coles, Mrs. Edward Leland, Mrs. Bert Tabbert of Madison Heights, Betty Anne Jarrett of Detroit and Barbara Miller.

Miss Kneale, who will become the bride of James H. Phillips, is the daughter of the Russell A. Kneales of Mark avenue. The prospective bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Mark LaBarge of Utica and Louis Phillips of Williamston, W. Va.

Mrs. Brown Feted at Shower

Mrs. Henry Brown of Menominee road was honored at a pink and blue shower Monday evening. Mrs. Harold Eagle, Mrs. Paul Morse, Mrs. Elmer J. Dunlap and Mrs. James Maddox assisted with the affair which was held at the home of Mrs. William R. Brown on South Marshall street.

Garden Club Hears Talk on Yule Decor

Three new members, Mrs. Donald Neal, Mrs. William Thomas and Mrs. William Rogers, were welcomed into the association.

AUTHOR SPEAKS

Guest speaker for the event was Mrs. Hazel P. Dunlop. Mrs. Dunlop is the author of the book "Let's Arrange Flowers" and has written numerous magazine articles, staged special flower shows and given lectures on antique silver, table settings, floral arrangements and gardening.

Elaborating on the topic "Holiday Decorations", Mrs. Dunlop discussed new ways to reflect individuality in decoration throughout the home, illustrating her program with demonstrations using holiday greens, fresh flowers and decorating accessories.

"The type of decorations used in the home is a personal decision," stated Mrs. Dunlop. "The architecture of the home, color scheme, and one's imagination enter into the final effect, which to be artistic must be in proper proportion for the background and have a point of interest."

Using a variety of evergreens native to Michigan or available here, Mrs. Dunlop combined juniper, Scotch pine or holly sprays with a variety of cones in baskets or cornucopias to make door, mantle, table and wall decorations.

Christmas ornaments, bells, gilt grapes and metallic sprays were used as focal points of arrangements, essentially simple in design, which were contemporary or traditional in effect, depending on the choice of material.

The speaker explained how proper care will prolong life and enhance the beauty of evergreens, relating that a sudsing in hot soapy water followed by a rinse in warm clear water will cleanse them and protect the house from staining by pitch and dust.

Pointers on the care of cut flowers included a reminder that coolness at night is essential for prolonging freshness. "Poinsettias may be used as cut flowers," said Mrs. Dunlop, " if the stems are first sealed by thrusting the end in a candle flame."

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Cross and Mrs. Stuart Whitfield poured tea at a table on which a stylized miniature blue and white Christmas tree was accented by antique Meissen candelabra.

Plastic Trees Last Lifetime

Sturdy, symmetrical plastic Christmas trees that last a lifetime can be bought in kits and assembled at home. They are safer than a natural tree, and their flexible needles don't shed.

Furthermore, they can be kept bright and clean by swishing the detachable branches through warm soap or detergent suds, then wiping the trunk and metal base with a sudsy sponge.

These do-it-yourself trees only take a few moments to assemble or take down; and thanks to detachable parts, they store in a compact carton. The sizes are 6, 4 and 2½ feet tall, and the colors are forest green, delicate pink or snowy white.

Teach Children the Real Meaning of Yule Presents

Gifts Ought to Say 'I Love You'

By DR. DOROTHY WHIPPLE

The giving of presents can be an expression of love, a real desire to please and make another happy—but all too often in our tense complicated society the giving of presents becomes a duty, an unpleasant chore that burdens the giver with obligations.

ALL WANT LOVE

It is hard to say "I love you" except, perhaps, during a brief period of romantic love and yet we all want to be loved.

Children who grow up in a family that has found means of expressing the deep enduring respect and affection they have for each other often can carry into their own adult life not only the capacity to love but the techniques of making others feel their love.

The giving of presents is only one of many ways of saying "I love you, your happiness is important to me," but it's one of the very nicest ways.

Presents given this way are thought about in advance, they are selected with care and appreciation of the receivers' taste and desires.

They say: "Your happiness and pleasure mean so much to me that I want to give you of myself."

The cost in money of such presents is no measure of their real value. Sometimes they are costly—a man may skimp on lunch or go without cigarettes to save enough to get his wife a wristwatch for Christmas.

But real presents do not have to be costly. A needed shelf in the kitchen could carry the same warmth and love and cost but a fraction of what the watch cost.

Help the children learn the joy of giving. Explain to them what Christmas is all about, how it makes you feel nice inside to please someone else.

Children love to please the people they love. Encourage the children to make gifts for the family or let them take their small accumulated wealth and select something in a store.

SO LIVELY!'

Chris at the age of 7 discovered a little china horse in a store window, and cried:

"He is so lively and jumpy, I just know Anne would love him!"

Chris went in by himself and priced the horse. Joy, of joys, it cost 25 cents and he could buy it for his big sister.

We want our children to grow up with a knowledge in their hearts of the spirit of love of Him whose birthday we celebrate. It can be done.

Denies 'Cruel' Versions of President's Illness

Wilson's Daughter Says His Mind Stayed Clear

(The President's recent stroke and the Constitution's vagueness of when a President is too disabled to continue in office provoked new discussion of the months when Woodrow Wilson lay ill in the White House. One of the few persons still alive who was close to that situation is Wilson's second daughter, Eleanor Wilson McAdoo. Now 63, Mrs. McAdoo, in the following exclusive interview, given her recollections of those days).

By CLAIR DREW FORBES

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (INS) — "During his illness in the White House, I am convinced that my father was not in the least affected mentally, and after the first few weeks was able to perform his duties as President of the United States."

Those were the words of Eleanor Wilson McAdoo as she recalled today the days of her father's illness.

MADE EVERY DECISION

"He constantly saw members of his Cabinet and other members of his administration when necessary, and he made every decision regarding documents and procedures," she continued.

"Many cruel things, untrue things have been said. I know this, and because I know the truth, I am telling it. Although I do so with despair that it will do any good, because no matter what we say, the false stories about his condition will be told over and over again by many who do not care to know or believe the truth."

Mrs. McAdoo, who was married in the White House to the late William Gibbs McAdoo, secretary of the treasury under her father, said that she and her husband went immediately to the White House from New York City the day after President Wilson was stricken with the illness which interrupted his crusading tour of the U. S. on behalf of the League of Nations and his dream of world peace.

She and her husband remained at the White House at least a week, she recalled. They were with President Wilson frequently during the following weeks.

REMARKABLE RECOVERY

"My father made a remarkable recovery," Mrs. McAdoo said. "At first he was quite ill. His left arm and his left leg were partially paralyzed. But he gradually regained their use. Then he was able to walk, using cane."

During this period his mind never faltered, she said.

"He was aware of every action," she stated. "There was one time I recall that a group of congressmen insisted upon seeing my father, to prove to themselves that he was not incapacitated mentally."

When asked if he would see them, he replied, "Of course, let them come!"

The group came, Mrs. McAdoo recalled. They visited with the President. As they were leaving the White House, one was heard to say: "Well, if there's anything wrong with that man's brain, we ought to have our own heads examined."

AN HONORABLE MAN

Mrs. McAdoo said, "My father was a very honorable man. He would have been the first to talk of resigning from the presidency had he thought it necessary that he do so.

Perhaps in a sense he wanted to resign because he was tired from his illness, but the ratification of the League of Nations was before the Senate and he felt it might fail of ratification if his power and influence as President could no longer be used.

"Never at any time do I recall that my father had an impediment in his speech. His mind was brilliant. I am sure that it was not the least affected. He was able to think and make decisions carefully."

Mrs. McAdoo recalled that her father was a man who required sleep, lots of it. She said he used to quip that he had an alarm clock in his mind, and could go to sleep for short intervals and awaken refreshed at the time he set. "Pulling down the curtain," he called those moments of sleep. This was his means of resting.

NOT A SERIOUS CASE

In Paris, however, during the conference on the League of Nations he contracted influenza. It was not a serious case, but it was exhausting and left him with an asthmatic condition which interfered with sleep.

When he returned to the U.S., and was making plans for his tour to crusade for the League of Nations, his doctor told him he had to get some rest. "At least a month's rest," the doctor emphasized.

"No," President Wilson replied. "I must keep going. I sent hundreds of men to die. Am I to think of my life at a time like this?"

So he insisted upon starting the speech-making tour, Mrs. McAdoo recalled. It was toward the end of his tour in September, 1919 that he was taken ill.

Rushed to the White House, he spent several weeks in bed. Then followed some time in a wheelchair. He would sit and talk with his family, his Cabinet, and his close administrative officers, Eleanor McAdoo remembered.

"At first my stepmother or his secretary, Joseph Tumulty, read the lengthy documents to him. This was only for a short while however, at the beginning of his illness. But my father would make the decisions regarding them."

"The rumors that started about Mrs. Wilson running the nation were utterly absurd," said Mrs. McAdoo. "After my father had gone over a matter, she got in the habit of writing 'OK' and signing her initials, E. B. W., at the bottom of a paper. But the decisions were my father's, not hers."

Mrs. McAdoo showed this reporter the book by Joseph Tumulty about her father. As former secretary to the President, he told of many incidents he'd observed during Wilson's illness. Among them was the visit by Louis Seibold, then a reporter on the New York World.

Seibold arrived in Washington to see President Wilson on the Tuesday following Harding's nomination in 1920. The President talked unreservedly and at length with him, discussed the Republican convention and characterized it as "the apotheosis of reaction."

VIGOROUS PHYSICALLY

"During the visit," Tumulty wrote, "Seibold had abundant opportunity to observe the President's condition of health, which had been cruelly misrepresented. 'He is more vigorous physically than the public had been given to understand, and mentally as alert and aggressive as he had been before his illness.'" Tumulty quoted Seibold as writing in his paper.

Last year Mrs. McAdoo was guest of honor at many events that honored her father on the centennial of his birth.

"Considering that it was only 33 years since his death," she said, "it was amazing that such overwhelming tribute was paid to him everywhere from coast to coast. It was wonderful.

But there was an element of sadness in it, because you see, it is my firm conviction that if his countrymen had paid tribute while he was still alive by joining the League of Nations, there never would have been another horrible war."

APPEARS YOUNGER

The daughter of the late President, tall, slender, quick of movement and always smartly groomed, appears far younger than her years.

Mrs. McAdoo moved to Montecito, a suburb of Santa Barbara after World War II and purchased a home near the Pacific. She said that now she lives quietly compared to her earlier years, but she thinks it is wonderful to have a simple and quiet life in one place at least.

"Today, I make this statement for your news service because they have asked for it," Mrs. McAdoo said. "But I wish I could make it so strong that everyone will know I am telling the truth and will believe." Her voice was firm with conviction as she added:

"Others could have found the truth — from Mrs. Wilson, from me, from Joseph Tumulty when he was alive, from members of my father's Cabinet who saw him during his illness. But his enemies thought of the lies, and have spread them unmercifully."

"My father never publicly denied the lies that were told about him because he often said, 'People who want to believe the lies will believe them. But people who trust me know that I speak the truth. Denials only spread the lie."

INCIDENT RECALLED

Mrs. McAdoo related an incident about her own mother, before the latter's death in 1914, which took place at the White House:

"My mother sat in the sitting room, surrounded by newspapers which attacked my father because he refused to be pressured during a Mexican revolution period. She was distressed, heartsick.

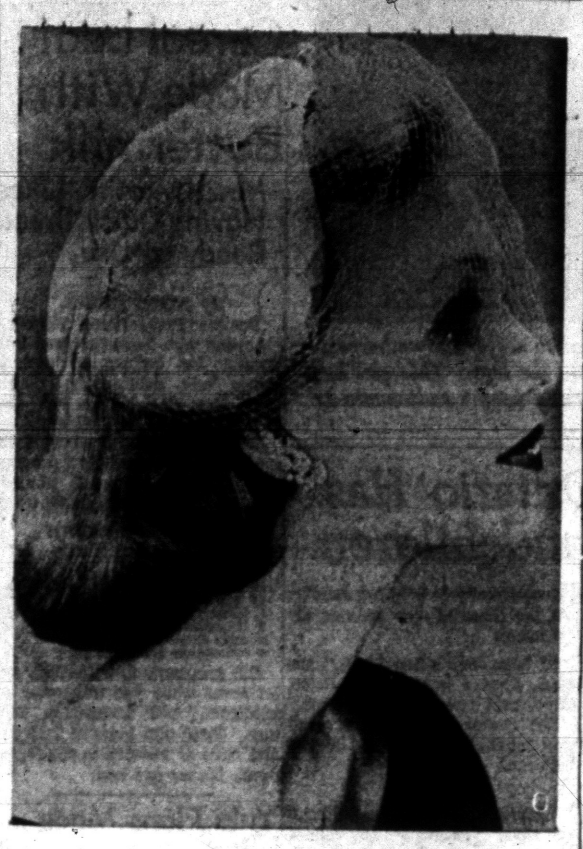

"My father came in and saw her with the papers and the family gathered around her. Quickly he went to his study, then returned with another paper. He started to read from it:

"'Attacks on the President . . .' he read them aloud. My mother's eyes became bigger and bigger. Her face became white. My father looked up from his paper, saw her stricken look.

"Quickly he went over and put his arms around her. 'My darling,' he said, 'that was not written about me, but was about Abraham Lincoln. I wanted you to know once and for all that every President is attacked, abused, even slandered. Especially the men who weren't afraid to do what was right.

"You were suffering because of criticism which is trivial indeed, compared to the violent attacks against Lincoln. Yet he is revered and honored as few men ever are, and who remembers what his enemies said?"

The daughter of a great President smiled.

Start Young to Acquire Fine Figure

A figure can be remolded, to some extent, at nearly any time of life through diet and exercise. But the best and easiest time for a girl to start getting and keeping a figure is in her early teens.

Baby fat is no longer a problem by this time and, to a degree, the figure is being "set."

Posture is all-important and so it the walk you develop. Both are helped immeasurably by exercises. Swimming, tennis and walking are all excellent.

To these, add exercises which solve your particular figure problems best: exercises to flatten the stomach, trim the derriere or slim down thighs. If large upper arms are your pet peeve, go after them with exercise.

Once your exercise habits are well formed, they'll stay with you for a lifetime. You'll need have no worries about being fat and flabby in your fifties.

Rack Protects Pressed Garb

To keep clothes neat after pressing, try hanging them on a metal rack which clamps to the end of your board. A horizontal bar is indented with notches to accommodate at least a dozen hangers.

That permits you to iron sitting down, without having to trot back and forth to the closet.

When you're finished and garments are completely dry, you can take them to their respective closets to hang smoothly until needed.

Gentle Hose Spray Will Please Baby

A gentle spray from a hose attachment is exciting sport for even a tiny baby.

After soaping him all over, lay baby on his tummy, and rinse the suds with the gentlest spray you can coax out of the faucet hose.

Short Wave Is Faster Than Electrolysis

Explains Methods of Hair Removal

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

For a few days now I am bringing you some of the latest information about superfluous hair and what to do about it. Many women are puzzled by the fact that there are two methods of removing hair permanently: By electrolysis and by the newer radiomatic or short-wave method. I thought you might like to know what the difference is between these two techniques.

Originally, one needle was used in electrolysis. Later Prof. Paul M. Kree invented the multiple-needle process. In both the single and the multiple-needle process a tiny amount of negative galvanic electricity is applied to the papilla (which feeds the hair root) to destroy it.

This galvanic method is highly successful but it is slow as compared to the short-wave technique. It requires from 50 seconds to three minutes to destroy each papilla and therefore only a small area can be treated at one sitting.

A single needle is used in the radiomatic or short-wave method. However, this newer way is much faster since it takes only a small fraction of one second to dissolve each papilla. It also has an added advantage since it has an electronic timing device which shuts the current off automatically and therefore eliminates any chance of human error.

It is 5 to 10 times faster than the former method. There is no pain involved in the treatments, only a slight tingling or warmth. A little redness follows but this soon disappears.

TREATMENTS VARY

How many treatments will be necessary depends on the amount of hair to be removed, the texture of your skin, the coarseness of the hair and its location. For instance, a technician can work for several hours on the legs or arms but only 15 minutes on each side of the upper lip.

Electrolysis is not cheap but the treatments and expense can be budgeted over a period of time and it is a lifetime investment since the hair removal is permanent. Each treatment costs about what a trip to an average beauty parlor would be.

I have asked Garo Artinian, America's outstanding authority, the questions you have been asking me. Tomorrow and the next day I will give you his authoritative answers in this column. He debunks a lot of ideas women have about the removal of superfluous hair.

Tomorrow I will answer such questions as whether or not shaving makes hair grow in thicker, what to do about the fine facial hair women often have from middle age on. All sorts of things you have been wondering about will be answered.

Tomorrow: "Find an Answer to Your Query on Superfluous Hair."

Today there is no need to suffer the embarrassment of superfluous hair on the legs. This girl has had hair removed permanently by the radiomatic or short-wave method.

Woman in Ontario Has Mere 124 Grandchildren

CORNWALL, Ont. (AP) — Newly-born Nicole Constantineau is the 124th grandchild for Mrs. Alsime Bazinet. She has nine great-grandchildren.

At 62 years of age Mrs. Bazinet has seen 16 of her 17 children—one died—married and raising families. She says she knows the names of all her descendants, but sometimes forgets their ages. Baby Nicole, for instance, is one of 16 children in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Constantineau here.

Mrs. Bazinet has lived in Cornwall since the death of her husband 10 years ago caused her to give up a farm. She's always ready to help her family in the cases of new arrivals or sickness.

"I help them when I can," she says, "but I never give advice. They must make their own lives."

She cannot understand present-day families of only one or two children.

"A big family is a good thing," she says. "When the baby comes, the bread will come."

The largest family gathering in recent years brought 70 grandchildren together, but Mrs. Bazinet doubts whether the entire family could meet at the same time without hiring a hall.

Thoughtful Guest Tells About Diet

Much Better Than Offending Hostess by Refusing Food

By EMILY POST:

"Dear Mrs. Post: Last Sunday afternoon a friend called and said if my husband and I were not doing anything that evening to come over and play some cards. We had nothing special to do and I told her we would be delighted to come over.

"I added, however, 'Please don't bother about preparing anything to eat as John and I are watching our calories.' I know this friend always serves refreshments when we go there and I thought it best to tell her so that she would not go to any bother for us.

"My husband thought I had a 'lot of nerve' telling her not to serve refreshments. He said that if we didn't want anything, we didn't have to eat it, but that it was up to her, as hostess, to do what she pleased. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?"

Answer: On the contrary, it was thoughtful of you to tell her you were on a diet before she prepared food for you rather than risk offending her later by having to refuse it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Many of my friends are closer to me than my relatives. Some of the relatives I see only at family weddings and funerals. At my wedding must these relatives be asked just because they belong to the clan, and my friends left out as a result? This list has to be cut and I can't have both."

Answer: If you have to cut your list, then it seems to me it is better to cut it according to affection. That is, ask those whom you know best and care for most, be they relatives or friends.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me how far over the edge of the table the cloth should hang?"

Answer: Fifteen inches over the edge of a small table and 18 inches over a large one is about right.

If friends entertain you when you are stopping at a hotel in their city, be sure to write a thank-you note when you return home.

Must Play With Kids Sometime

By this time, America's parents are almost thoroughly brainwashed with the stern dictum: Spend more time playing with your children!

Now comes an expert who takes the sting out. "Play with your youngsters," agrees Mel Freud, president of a National Toy Council, "BUT . . ."

The "but," according to Freud, refers to when and how it's best for you to play with the kids. Here's "when" he says:

If Junior and Sis are busily competing against the neighbor's children at pitching horseshoes in the backyard, it's best if Mom and Dad relax with the Sunday paper. But, if Junior sits pounding longingly at his baseball glove because none of the other fellows are around to play, Pop might be smart to drop the paper and pick up a bat and ball.

The thing to remember about "When," says Freud, is that children naturally want the companionship of their parents, but not when they're having a great time with their own playmates. Be a pal when they want one. Otherwise, just be an unobtrusive parent.

Here's Freud's advice on "how":

When Sister reaches a dead-end with her jig-saw puzzle, Mom might ask if she's tried the big yellow piece up in the corner. If it fits (and Mom knows it will), the child is grateful to her "pal" for the suggestion, yet she experiences that wonderful feeling of having made the actual accomplishment herself. But, if Brother is stumped about adding a girder to his Erector Set structure, it's just about fatal for a parent to take the tools and parts, saying, "Here watch me do it!"

The important thing about "how," says Freud, is to play with the child, not for him.

New Officers Are Selected by Ladies Aid

Mrs. Edna Matheny was elected president of Ladies Aid Society of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church when that group met Thursday in Fellowship Hall.

Other officers are Mrs. Ralph Osborn, vice president; Mrs. Foster Berdan, recording secretary; Mrs. Clarence Failing, corresponding secretary and reporter, and Mrs. Iva VanderKooy, treasurer.

Hostesses for the dessert luncheon were Mrs. Guy Caswell, Mrs. Howard Hall and Mrs. Percy Blynn. Mrs. Margaret Crew was a guest and the Rev. Theodore Allebach participated in the program.

Girl Needs Incentive to Lose Weight; Job or Boy Friend Helps

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Beauty Editor

Any girl who wants to be a beauty contest winner should practice looking good in that bathing suit, says lovely Jackie Lougher, Hollywood star and many-time beauty contest winner.

Jackie was Miss Rockaway Point in 1949 and went on from there to be Miss Christmas Seal, Miss Queen of Cover Girls, Miss New York State, Miss U.S.A., and has acquired many other titles.

She watches her calories although she enjoys eating. Says she:

"You should have an incentive to lose weight — a boy friend or a job will help. I had to lose weight to make 'The D.I.' with Jack Webb, and I was dying for the role. I made myself lose seven pounds by giving up potatoes, sweets and other fattening foods."

Jackie is a redhead, and redheads somehow always seem to have the edge with judges in beauty contests, or so it would seem.

"As a matter of fact I wasn't a real readhead until I got to Hollywood," says Jackie, "then I was influenced by the glamor of the place. I dyed my hair bright red, and all the rest of it.

Pretty soon I realized I had the typical Hollywood starlet look — brassy, brazen, too much makeup and tight dresses."

Nowadays Jackie limits her makeup to eyebrow pencil, rouge, petroleum jelly for lashes, lip-stick. She used two shades for her lips, a dark one for the lip outline and a lighter one to fill in. The light lipstick also is used for rouge. She doesn't use any powder on her face, although she pats it on her mouth before applying lipstick "as it sets better."

Lovely Jackie can't use cold cream, as it makes her skin break out. She uses greaseless cream, also soap and water, making a lather of it on the face cloth.

She loves to sleep and "could use 10 or 12 hours" but seldom gets more than six or seven. She dyes her own hair, combining a shade of chestnut brown and red ginger which she says is just right for her. She cuts her own hair.

Another advantage of a movie actress keeping slim is that she can frequently acquire clothes she wears in pictures, so it doesn't pay to go on an eating binge after a picture is made.

"I love the clothes I just inherited from the 'The D.I.', says Jackie. "They were all designed by Baxwell Shieff, and the clothes were just right for me. But now I can't get into them. Every once in a while I wear one of the dresses, even though I've gained weight. I seem to bulge in all the wrong places."

Paris Styles Featuring Use of Lace

PARIS (AP) — Dramatic use of lace is a prominent feature of the Paris fall fashion collections, seen principally in cocktail and evening outfits which give full play to famous French craftsmanship.

Although some of the daytime clothes seen in top Paris salons this season may startle the beholder, evening fashions are almost always feminine, flattering and distinguished by delicate and intricate hand work. It is the French belief that women should look romantic after dark, and they achieve the desired effect by use of fragile, cobwebby chiffons, gauzy lace, sheer point d'sprit and other fabrics noted more for beauty than for durability.

Evening gowns in the Paris collections are about equally divided between short and long skirts. The formal ball gowns are, of course, full length, but the youthful dance frocks are likely to be short and sweet.

Bow Ties Correct for Office, Dressup

Bow ties are correct for business and dress-up wear as well as for sportswear, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

Of course, nothing but a bow—black for semi-formal, white for formal — will do with evening clothes. Bows are made in all the fabrics used in four-in-hand ties.

Called to California

Cameron H. Clark of Summit avenue flew to Pomona, Calif., Sunday evening to attend the funeral of his father, Charles R. Clark. Mr. Clark was accompanied on the trip by his son, Charles R. Clark II.

Male Style Experts Give News on Cuff

Here is some information on the cuff from the American Institute of Men's and Boys Wear. Some of the newer French cuffs on men's shirts are made without a foldover. This, it is claimed, make it easier to insert cuff links.

Some of the ultra-Ivy suits and sports jackets are made with decorative sleeve cuffs for added smartness. The buttons on the cuffs of coat sleeves are a holdover from the days when businessmen unbuttoned them and rolled them back for desk work. Some custom suits still have cuffs that unbutton.

Cherish Woman Friend Who Has These Qualities

Hold Onto Her if She's Understanding, Helpful, Tactful, Trustworthy

By RUTH MILLETT

She's a friend worth keeping if—

She'll accept your excuses for things you can't or don't want to do without an argument, instead of insisting "Of course you can."

She never reports anything anyone else says about you, unless it is a compliment.

She listens with complete attention when you talk and is willing to let you do.

She never says vaguely, "If there is anything I can do, let me know," when you might need a friend's help. Instead, she sizes up the situation, figures out how she can be of the most help and says, "Don't worry about such and such. I'll take care of that."

She asks for advice as often as she gives it.

You are satisfied that she has enough judgment not to repeat anything you tell her that you wouldn't care to have repeated.

If, in a need to confide in someone, you tell her about an unhappy or unpleasant situation that is worrying you, she never refers to it again, unless you do.

She never runs down your other friends.

She never makes you feel the hat you have just bought, or the color you have had the living room painted, or your new hairdo, is a mistake.

She doesn't take life so seriously that conversations with her are usually depressing.

You are glad to have her drop in even though the house isn't spic and span, because you are sure that she isn't silently criticizing you for the lack of order.

You somehow know that she puts in a good word for you whenever she can, because you know she does that for her other friends.

If you have a friend like that, hold onto her. Every woman needs at least one friend with those qualifications.

So Why Not Wait?

"I was afraid you might be asleep," says the person who makes a late telephone call. Which always raises the mental question, "If you thought I might be asleep, why didn't you wait until tomorrow to call?"

Men's Sportswear Stars Soft Greens

Soft shades of green have reached new heights of popularity in men's sportswear as well as in Ivy-style suits. Gray, blue and tan make excellent color combinations with the new greens.

Try them, advises the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, as accessory colors in shirts, ties and handkerchiefs. A spot of red in a tie worn with green suits or with green sports jackets makes a handsome combination.

Wardrobe Preferences May Reveal Your Age

Or so claims Karlyn Anspach, who studied the wardrobes of 304 women to write her thesis for a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.

IOWA COMMUNITY

The survey, said Miss Anspach, showed that "the only women who selected dresses with high fashion features as favorites were under 45 and usually wore a small size."

Although a woman's size has some relationship to her interest in keeping up with fashions, Miss Anspach said in her survey that "age was the most important element in dictating preferences."

"A comparison between the 18 to 44-year-old group and those 45 years and older shows marked differences in the dresses women prefer.

MODERATELY FLARED

"The gathered bouffant skirt preferred by small women in the younger group diminishes to the moderately flared gored skirt preferred by women in the older group.

Clarkston Votes to Condemn Caribou Inn to Provide Off-Street Parking Space

CLARKSTON — Members of the Clarkston Village Council adopted a resolution to condemn the century-old Caribou Inn for off-street parking at last night's regular meeting.

Culminating a six-month study with Clarkston people and recommendations by the zoning board, the council passed the resolution five to one "to preserve deterioration of the business section and subsequent loss of tax income from this high source of revenue.

The old inn has been a bone of contention since January. Recently, the owner, Ernie Felice, leased the Caribou to a group of Negro business and professional people who plan to make the inn a private year-round club.

The council also voted to file the condemnation proceedings directly with the circuit court, rather than go through the local justice of the peace court as had been anticipated.

DEBATE MARKET VALUE

There was considerable discussion at the meeting between interested residents and council members regarding an acceptable market value of the old inn.

It was revealed that of the reputed $60,000 Felice was to have received for a proposed gas station, $45,000 would have been earmarked for the new building, leaving approximately $15,000 valuation for the site.

Council members voiced opinions that the valuation should be set somewhere between $13,000 and $17,000.

It was disclosed to the council by businessmen that unless the village does something to assist merchants in their off-street parking problem, some businesses may leave the area.

Several factors contributed to the selection of the inn site. There are delinquent taxes owing on the Caribou; condemnation proceedings would not effect a business operaton there; and the site is an ideal location for off-street parking for both sides of the street.

Proceedings will be filed sometime this week, according to Village Attorney Milton Cooney. A jury is expected to present a verdict next month on the necessity of the condemnation and to establish a fair market price. The council has 40 days to act after the jury award.

BARBARA LOUNSBURY

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Lounsbury of Big Lake road, Clarkston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Alvin Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Hutchinson of Cass City. A summer wedding is planned.

CED Suggests Fewer Farms

Continuing Surpluses, Low Income Indicate Too Much Capacity

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Committee for Economic Development (CED) says more land and people need to be taken out of farming.

Present price-depressing surpluses and the low level of income of many farmers reflect the existence of too much productive capacity, the CED said yesterday in a report prepared by one of its committees.

The CED is a private research agency sponsored by 150 leading industrial leaders and educators. Its declared purpose is to help boost the nation's productivity and standard of living. CED describes itself as a nonpartisan, nonprofit organization.

The CED study of the farm situation, made by a group of experts in the farm field, said present programs have failed.

It recommended returning farm products to free market prices. That is, it would gradually reduce government price supports to a point where they would serve merely as a floor to prevent a possible disastrous drop.

It would have the government rent much farm land, including full farms. The purpose would be to help hold down overproduction.

The committee said the government also must take steps to help get many low income farmers settled in other jobs. It would, in some cases, extend financial aid to help such families travel to new jobs and get established.

GROWING PAINS — Indicating that the talk about the corn being as high as an elephant's eye wasn't exaggerated, farmer T. R. The photographer did admit, however, that the two men were approximately 20 feet further away from the camera than was the ear of corn.

Chest Drives Hit New High

Many State Citizens Will Be Honored at Assembly Monday

EAST LANSIN (AP) — More than 500 leaders of local United Fund and Community Chest Drives through the state will assemble here Monday to celebrate their most successful year.

Robert P. Briggs, Consumers Power executive and president of the Michigan United Fund, said the annual celebration is "to honor the many citizens of Michigan who gave of their time, energy and talents to aid their fellow man.

"Although our economy was 'softer' than last year," he said, "community after community reached new heights in United Campaigning."

Detroit led the way with its ninth straight successful drive, raising $16,660,580 on a $16,350,000 goal.

Briggs also cited Battle Creek which switched from a Community Chest type drive to a United Fund drive and raised $383,256 on a goal of $377,958. Saginaw, after several unsuccessful campaigns in recent years, surpassed its goal of $709,455 by $40,000.

"Five counties in the Upper Peninsula held United Fund Campaigns for the first time this year and each achieved their goal," Briggs said.

More than 134 communities and counties now conduct United Funds Campaigns, he said.

Seek Top Farming Lad

ADRIAN (AP)—A contest to name Michigan's outstanding young farmer will be sponsored by the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce. Jim Thomas of Adrian, chairman of the committee, said candidates will be selected by local Jaycee contests. The nominees will meet in Adrian on March 8 for presentation of the state award. Farmers between 21 and 35 years old are eligible.

West Bloomfield Actors Slate Christmas Party

WEST BLOOMFIELD — The Township Players of West Bloomfield are planning a gala Christmas party Saturday at the VFW Hall, 3325 Orchard Lake Rd., beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Invited are members, spouses or escorts, prospective members, friends and friends of friends. There will be dancing, midnight supper and entertainment.

Reservations can be made with the secretary, Phyllis Batts.

Shares Gannett Estate

DEARBORN (AP) — Dixon Gannett of 21008 Ann Arbor, Dearborn Township, was one of several relatives of the late Frank E. Gannett who were named to share in the publisher's three million dollar estate. Gannett, the publisher's adopted son, was bequeathed a trust fund of $100,000 in the will filed for probate in Rochester, N.Y.

The earth's weight is computed to be about six settillion, six hundred and sixty quintillions of tons.

4-H Club Holds Its Yule Pageant at Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — Climaxing a busy and eventful first year, the Rip and Tear 4-H homemaking group of Walled Lake held a Christmas pageant in its clubroom Sunday afternoon. Theme of the program was "The Night Before Christmas."

Organized last January, the club meets in the basement of Mrs. Leonard Sherwood's home.

The highlight of the Sunday program was the presentation of a china platter to county 4-H agent, Miss Sue Sturgis.

Romeo Amvets Fete National Commander

ROMEO — Amvets National Commander Stuart Satullo of Bayview, Ohio, was honored at a reception Sunday afternoon in the organizations Romeo Post Home on South Van Dyke.

Another special guest was Edmund Gulewicz, Hamtramck, national senior vice commander. Also present were state officials, district post commanders and their auxiliary presidents.

The national commander was introduced by Merrill Carlton, third vice commander of Romeo's third 150. Satullo spoke briefly on the national missile program.

Singled out for special honors at the meeting was a non-veteran, Walter Alward of Washington (Mich.). He was awarded a certificate of service from the local post.

Opposes Doe Hunting

CADILLAC (AP) — The Wexford County Board of Supervisors was on record after its monthly session Monday night as opposed to any future open deer season on does in the county, contending that feed is plentiful as opposed to a Conservation Department report that deer were starving in the wood and should be hunted to reduce the number.

Kensington Park Busy in Winter

Changing Seasons Studied

Both indoor and outdoor opportunities to study nature at first hand are available at Kensington Metropolitan Park near New Hudson where as many as 600 persons visit the Nature Centef Building on Sundays.

Bill Hopkins, chief naturalist for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, of which the park is a unit, said the Nature Center is open daily and is featuring exhibits appropriate to the changing seasons.

Currently on view are mounted ducks typical of those migrating through the park; an exhibit of bird portraits by Reuel Kenyon, a 12-year-old seventh grader from Slauson Junior High School, Ann Arbor; and a 50-gallon aquarium containing small specimens of the fish inhabiting Kent Lake in the park.

Hopkins and Charles Damm, assistant naturalist, keep the Nature Center open from 2 to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays, and from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sundays. It is open by appointment from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Mondays through Fridays.

Nature trails radiating from the building are open all year long during daylight hours. Vic Knowles of the Detroit Audubon Society has his winter feeding station for birds in operation on Tamarack Trail, 500 feet from the Nature Center.

While the ducks are leaving Wildwing and Kent Lakes now, many Canada geese will remain all winter. When the lakes freeze over, expected to be very soon, the ducks will move to the open water at the river channel at the head of Kent Lake near Park Headquarters.

Other exhibits inside the Nature Center include dioramas showing the development of vegetation on the glaciated hills of the park and electric game boards on which visitors may test their knowledge of ducks, winter birds and twigs of trees in winter.

Mimeographed information sheets designed for school teachers bringing groups to the center are available on request at the park or the Authority's Detroit headquarters, 1750 Guardian Building.

Robber Slugs Man in Pleasant Ridge

PLEASANT RIDGE — A Ferndale man last night was slugged and robbed of $529.75 which he was about to drop in the night deposit box at the Manufacturer's National Bank, at the corner of Wellesley and Woodward. The assailant fled afoot, the victim said.

Kenneth Snyder, 37, of 2231 Orchard St., Ferndale, part owner of the Pure Oil Gas Station, 1221 East 10-Mile Rd., Royal Oak, told Pleasant Ridge Police a man stepped in front of his truck in an alley behind the bank. When he got out of the cab to make his deposit, someone slugged him from behind.

While he was down, his assailant fled, Snyder said. He didn't know what type of weapon was used.

Snyder reported the attack to Pleasant Ridge Police at 9:52. The police station is across the street from the bank.

Blue Star Mothers to Have Yule Party

ROCHESTER — About 50 Blue Star Mothers Club members will gather at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Avon Township Hall for their Christmas party.

Mrs. C. J. Grimbleby is general chairman of the affair, with Mrs. Agnes Sanford as cochairman. Mrs. Marie McGee has charge of entertainment. The names of secret pals will be revealed at the meeting.

Thursday, the mothers will serve the annual Christmas dinner at the American Legion Hall for employes of the Rochester Branch of the Detroit National Bank.

Students Selling Trees

ALMONT — The high school junior class has purchased 400 Christmas trees to sell in the area. They will sell them on a lot adjoining Harvey's service station on South Main street during the day and evenings until 9 o'clock, class officers announced.

Rackets Probers Investigate UAW

DETROIT (AP) — The Senate Rackets Investigating Committee is looking into the affairs of the United Auto Workers union.

John McGovern, committee counsel, indicated the probe would include the union's near four-year strike against the Kohler Co. of Wisconsin, the UAW's political activities and the unsolved 1948 shooting of UAW President Walter Reuther. "I can't go into details," McGovern said. "But there are a number of people I want to have a talk with."

"We are going into all phases of the union and the activities of all the top officers including Reuther."

Mother Accused of Child Neglect

PARK FALLS, Wis. (INS) — Child neglect charges were filed today against a mother whose eight small children perished in a fire which swept their three-room frame cottage home.

The mother, Mrs. Harvey Klein, 38, waived preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Felix Weber in Park Falls and was bound over to circuit court. Bond was set at $500, but date for the trial was left open.

Mrs. Klein said nothing at today's proceeding and appeared dazed by the early Sunday tragedy in which the children, aged one to 10, died in their beds.

Price County Sheriff Andrew Pilch said the mother had stayed at a nearby tavern until the 1 a.m. closing time. She fainted upon viewing the ruins of her home.

The father, Harvey Klein, 45, was working in a logging camp when the tragedy occurred. He did not appear in court with his wife.

Delay Hospital Action

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — The Mecosta County Board of Supervisors tabled until January a request from the trustees at Stanwood to change County Memorial Hospital board of the hospital bylaws to allow a dual staff of osteopaths and M.Ds. Their action waits a "merger report" from Big Rapids Community Hospital.

Airport Adviser Hired

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Former Grand Rapids Airport Manager Thomas E. Walsh, who retired last March because of ill health, was hired Monday as airport consultant at an annual fee of $5,000. The airport board voted unanimously to hire Walsh after County Director of Aeronautics John E. Meacham recommended the move.

Paul A. York Comes From Rockford

Rochester Hires Manager

ROCHESTER —Paul A. York, 33, city manager of Rockford was hired as Rochester Village manager at last night's council meeting. He will succeed Robert A. Slone, who will become Grosse Pointe Park's manager Feb. 1.

The new manager is a native of Sault Ste. Marie, is married and the father of two children. He received his bachelor's degree in city management from Michigan State University in June 1949. He also completed six months of graduate work in public administration and political science at MSU.

Prior to the Rockford post, which he held for three years, York was an administrative officer of Durand.

6 Gray Ladies Capped

MARLETTE — The second class of Gray Ladies of the Marlette Community Hospital has been capped. Receiving their caps were Mrs. Dorothy Lee, Mrs. Ada Shoemaker, Mrs. Mildred McDonald, Mrs. Ola Knaggs, Mrs. Hazel Wanner and Mrs. Winifred Ramsey.

Council Tables Requests for Pay Hike, Equipment

ROMEO — Requests for pay boosts and new equipment presented to the Village Council last night were tabled pending a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee Sunday morning.

Desk personnel of the Romeo Police Dept. asked a pay hike of 25 cents an hour. The Fire Dept. requested a front-end pump for the tank truck to be used in both rural and town fires. It would pump 550 gallons a minute and cost an estimated $15,050.

Trustees voted to advertise for bids on a new police scout car and a dump truck for the Public Works Dept. Firms may bid on either or both vehicles. Bids will be opened at a special meeting Dec. 23.

The school district request that the high school fire alarm system be connected to the village dispatcher's desk was approved. The district will pay the cost of installation.

Board Changes Engineer Policy

Waterford Won't Use Regular Firm in Case of Conflicting Interests

A new policy regarding engineering operations in Waterford Township was established at last night's regular board meeting.

If township engineers Johnson & Anderson have been employed by a land developer to draw up plans, the township board will employ a different firm for that project.

Other business included the opening of bids for 2,000 feet of fire hose. Eight bids were submitted and the contract was awarded to the American-La France Corp. of Hazel Park, its bid was $2,650.

Six no parking zones and signs were authorized by the board to be established on Lannette and Grixdale streets in Randigate Park Subdivision located on the northeast shore of Elizabeth Lake.

In the clerk's financial report, receipts showed $51,959 and disbursements were $26,760, leaving a total balance at the end of November of $91,518. At the end of October there was $66,320.

A hearing has been set for Dec. 27 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on street lighting in the Cass Lake-Highland Subdivision near Dodge State Park No. 4.

Dangerous Pay Trend Noted by Economist

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A New York University economist says pre-determined wage increases in long-term contracts with auto and steel workers prevent a breathing spell in the rise of costs and wages.

Prof. Jules Backman told a University of Michigan industrial relations conference that "unless industry-wide bargaining is adopted, the United Auto Workers Union will again be able to capitalize on the intensely competitive situation among the big three (auto companies) picking them off one at a time.

New contracts come up for negotiations in the auto industry this spring.

Rochester Seeks to Replenish Its Blood Supply

ROCHESTER — The Red Cross Blood Mobile will be here Feb. 4, Mrs. Russell W. Nowels, chairman of the Red Cross Blood Bank for this area, has announced.

The visit of the unit to St. Andrew Church will be the only one in 1958 if enough local residents participate, she said.

"An amazing amount of blood is needed each year by Rochester residents," she said. "We must replenish our supply and build a reserve for 1958."

Mrs. Robert L. Sanford, Red Cross chairman for the Rochester Junior Woman's Club, is in charge of recruiting.

Air Force Will See Army Missile Built

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has arranged for a high level Air Force and Defense Department tour of its missile-producing facilities, beginning tomorrow.

The Defense Department said Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker will accompany Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas and guided missiles director William H. Holaday on visits to the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Huntsville, Ala., and the Chrysler Corp. Missile Production Facility, Warren, Mich.

The party is scheduled to arrive at Selfridge Air Force Base near Detroit, tomorrow.

The Army Jupiter is manufactured at Redstone with some components produced by Chrysler and studies have been made toward possible quantity production of the missile by Chrysler when it is perfected.

Adrian Ups Salaries for Professors, Staff

ADRIAN (AP) — Faculty members at Adrian College have received a salary increase ranging up to $1,500 for full professors and department heads. The boosts are retroactive to Sept. 1.

Consulting engineer James Sall of Detroit had estimated Madison Heights could save more than $2,000,000 by building its own system.

Goodfellow Drive Set in Lake Orion

LAKE ORION—Lions Club Goodfellows will make their annual newspaper sales drive this Saturday. The money is used to make up Christmas baskets of food, clothing and toys for needy families and their children.

The Lions also will sponsor a Christmas party at the State Theater at 2 p.m. Dec. 21 for all children of Lake Orion who want to attend.

This is the 19th year the Lions have undertaken the project, says drive chairman James Sheldon. "We'll be out from dark to dark, or until all 2,000 of our papers are gone," he said.

Last year's drive netted $600 for the needy, Sheldon said, with the club selling the same number of papers.

About 35 members of the club are expected to pitch in to put the drive over the top again, he said.

Mail Too Engrossing

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Reading her mail while returning from the rural mailbox across the road from her home landed Virginia Tharp, 34, of Rural Traverse City, in Munson Hospital. State Police said she became engrossed in the mail and walked into the side of a car driven by a neighbor. She suffered multiple abrasions and chest and leg injuries.

Goodfellows Net $1,400 From Drive

Last year's receipts totaled more than $2,000, but due to adverse weather conditions, the group fell short of this year's goal.

About 80 Waterford Township families will be given baskets of food, and deadline for prospective applicants has been set for Friday, Dec. 20.

Contributions to the Goodfellow fund may be sent to any Waterford Township fire station, Fangboner said.

November was almost named Tiberius, but Emperor Tiberius overruled the Roman Senate.

County May Let Slayer Go Free

Ingham Prosecutor on Side of Man Who Slew Wife's Lover

LANSING (AP) — The Ingham County prosecutor says that unless instructed by a coroner's jury he will not press charges against the admitted slayer of his wife's male drinking companion.

Prosecutor Jack Warren reached this conclusion yesterday after investigating the death of Bennie Berryhill, 25, in the parlor of the home of Leroy Barber, 25, an unemployed laborer.

Berryhill was fatally shot about midnight Saturday shortly after he and Barber's wife, Doreen, returned from an evening's drinking in a tavern. Berryhill had assaulted Barber outside the tavern a few hours before.

Barber signed a statement admitting the shooting. He was held without charge.

Said Warren:

"After reviewing all the facts, including the difference in size, the fear in which Barber awakened, the previous physical assault, fact that Barber was home taking care of his family while his wife sat in a tavern, I just can't see further legal proceedings."

Police said Barber weighs 150 pounds while Berryhill was a 200-pounder.

Warren observed that a prosecuting attorney bears the burden of protecting an accused as well as prosecuting when the facts justify.

The Barbers have three children, all two years old or under and all asleep when the shooting occurred.

After the return of Berryhill and his wife, Barber ordered the larger man out of the house three times, Warren said, and Berryhill responded by threatening to "beat the eyes out of Barber's head."

Junior Editors Quiz on OLD FAITHFUL

QUESTION: What makes Old Faithful spout?

ANSWER: Every year thousands of persons visit Yellowstone National Park, where there are more than 200 active geysers. The best-known of these is Old Faithful, which shoots up a great column of water 120 to 170 feet approximately every 66 minutes. Each spouting lasts about four minutes.

Geysers are formed when a deep channel reaches from the surface far into the earth near a river or lake. Cold water seeps into the channel until it reaches rocks that are very hot. The water fills the channel and is heated by the rocks. Gradually the heat at the bottom rises far above the boiling point and steam forms. Suddenly all the water near the bottom expands into steam and forces out the rest in a steam explosion. After the eruption, more water seeps into the channel and the process is repeated. The flow of water into Old Faithful is constant, thus it erupts regularly.

Enact 'Hoover Report' to Cut Waste

$5 Billion Savings Possible

CHICAGO (INS)—Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio) said today saving of $5 billion a year could be made if all federal economies in the Hoover report were placed in effect.

These savings, he told a luncheon meeting in Chicago, would help cover additional defense expenditures in the space age. He addressed a regional conference of the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report.

Lausche charged:

"This $5 billion is your yearly cost of government waste and inefficiency as demonstrated by the bipartisan Hoover Commission report which outlined agency duplication of activities, unneeded and competitive federal business activities, and old-fashioned laws and procedures."

Jury Convicts Frank as Agent for Trujillo

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Joseph Frank was free on bond today pending sentencing on his conviction on charges of acting illegally as an agent for the Dominican Republic and Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo.

Frank, 42, Washington attorney and former FBI agent, was convicted last night by a Federal District Court jury.

The jury of nine women and three men reached its decision after reporting Friday it was hopelessly deadlocked. Judge James R. Kirkland has ordered further deliberations following a weekend recess of court.

Frank faces a possible maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine on each of four counts.

In allowing Frank to remain free under $10,000 bond, Kirkland said the case will be referred to the probation office for a pre-sentence investigation. He fixed no date for imposing sentence, but there generally is a lag of several weeks between conviction and sentencing.

Lexington Woman Dies

PORT HURON (AP) — Mrs. Maude Doner, 72, of Lexington, suffered fatal injuries last night when her car collided with a Chesapeake & Ohio freight train at a crossing near Croswell in Sanilac County.

Michigan AF Sergeant Dies After Accident

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A sergeant was pronounced dead on arrival at Eglin Air Force Base hospital after his automobile was involved in a minor traffic accident.

Highway Patrol Trooper W. A. Kelly identified the man as T.Sgt. Thomas E. Abbott, 35, of Sault Ste. Marie, stationed at Hurlburt Field, and Eglin auxiliary. Kelly said Abbott's car ran off a road in suburban Mary Esther, ran over a city limits sign and bumped into another car. He died of a heart attack.

Ship More Iron Ore on Lakes Than in '56

CLEVELAND (AP) — Almost seven million more tons of iron ore were shipped on the Great Lakes this year than in 1956, the American Iron Ore. Assn. said in its final report of the shipping season.

However, the 84,614,734 tons shipped in 1957 was well below the 1953 record of 95,844,449 tons. In 1956, the total was 77,633,027 tons.

An early lay-up of most Great Lakes' ships this month accounted for low monthly shipments of 19,498 tons in December compared with 1,580,424 tons in the corresponding month of 1956.

Interprets Flop as Progress

Air Force Missile Man Says Misfire Reveals Cause of Trouble

DETROIT (AP) — The commander of the Air Force Missile Test Center in Florida says the explosions at Cape Canaveral must be measured in terms of progress—not failure.

Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates told the Detroit section of the Society of Automotive Engineers that even a misfire normally reveals "precisely the cause of the malfunction."

While he did not refer to the failure Friday of the Vanguard rocket bearing a U.S. satellite, Yates said news stories of missile tests sometimes "through conjecture and erroneous conclusions confuse the public and compound our own internal problems."

He said they sometimes reveal technical information that may be detrimental to the nation's security.

The Air Force general, commander of the Missile Test Center at Patrick Air Force Base, said missile experts art unable in most instances to correct false impressions passed on by newsmen through speculation.

"To do so in most causes would provide vital information to an enemy on a silver platter," he said.

Deportation Fought by Ex-Track Owner

A hearing on his request for a Federal Court order to set aside a final deportation order will be held before District Judge Burnita Matthews. Lias was a prohibition era figure in Detroit.

Lias, who has been fighting deportation since 1952, says he was born in Wheeling. The government contends he is a native of Greece brought to this country at the age of nine.

Deportation proceedings were instituted after the Immigration Service charged that Lias illegally re-entered the United States in 1949 after a trip to Canada. The Service says Lias has a police record that includes arrests for bootlegging, income tax evasion and gambling.

To Amend Constitution on 'Disability' Too Slow

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's plan for deciding how a vice president would take over if a president is disabled solves nothing if Eisenhower is disabled before his term ends.

Eisenhower's plan — offered earlier this year after two of his illnesses but before his third—is in the form of a constitutional amendment. It would take years to complete approval by Congress and ratification by at least 36 states. Eisenhower's term will end in a little more than three years.

On this subject, everyone seems to have his own idea, with no two ideas alike.

Here are some of them:

Let the vice president decide. Let the Cabinet do it. Let it be done by Congress or a mixed commission, including Supreme Court justices, or a commission of private citizens or medical experts.

Some proposals call for constitutional amendments, some for a simple act approved by both houses of Congress.

Any answer for handling a complete Eisenhower disability before 1961 would have to be in the form of an act.

In the past Congress has considered many proposals and done nothing with them. It may do nothing again this year although the scare after Eisenhower's third illness in 26 months is plain evidence Congress has been ducking the issue.

The Constitution has been fuzzy on this point from the beginning. It simply says that if a president resigns or can't carry out his duties, the vice president shall take over.

It would be no problem if a disabled president resigned. Nor would there appear to be any if a president, unwilling to resign, recognized his disability and told the vice president to take over until he recovered. But these are the unanswered questions:

Who decides if a president is unable to do his job but won't let the vice president step in? And what if a president for some reason does not recognize his disability?

Should the vice president decide? That's what Eisenhower thinks. He proposed to Congress that in such a case:

The vice president would make the decision—provided a majority of the Cabinet approves—and act as president until the President recovered.

Former President Hoover thinks the Cabinet should make the decision. His reasoning is that if the executive branch was in the hands of one party and a majority of the opposition party controlled Congress—and Congress could decide on disability—the opposition would be in a position to nullify the previous election results by ruling out the ability of the chosen president to function.

Rep. Keating of New York, senior Republican member of the House Judiciary Committee, wants action on his own proposal next year, not Eisenhower's.

Children Blamed for Train Wreck

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Children who put stones on the track to see what would happen were blamed today for a train wreck that killed 19 persons.

Twenty persons were in critical condition and more than 100 others injured slightly in the derailment Sunday of the locomotive and 8 of 11 passengers coaches. The accident about 15 miles south of Taipei was the worst train wreck on Formosa in nine years.

Railroad authorities blamed unidentified children for the wreck and urged parents to emphasize the danger of putting stones on tracks. Several accidents have been caused by such pranks.

Domestic Budget Cuts Opposed by Stevenson

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, twice-defeated Democratic candidate for president, has advised against cutting the domestic budget to finance an accelerated missiles program.

He said the United States and its allies should give new economic help to the weaker areas of Asia and Africa to outmaneuver the Russians there.

It must not be a cautious approach, Stevenson said, but a resolute, nonpartisan determination to lead and stay on course.

He urged that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization be used not only for immediate military needs in meeting the Russian challenge but for this larger effort in a "joint search for a better, safer future."

While he strongly favors enlarging the foreign aid program, Stevenson said, he believes it should be coordinated with similar programs of other free governments.

At the same time, he said, it is up to capitalist democracies to prove they can do these things without sacrificing the essentials of individual welfare as the Soviet Union has done.

He said he has been impressed by American preparation for the forthcoming NATO conference in Paris. As a special consultant to the State Department, Stevenson recently attended conferences in Washington where the preparations were viewed.

"The President has acted creditably, in my judgment, in taking steps to restore urgency to our missile program," he asserted. "But there are still other military programs that must be faced with bold resolution."

These include providing adequate mobile forces to cope "with small wars and keep them small," a drastic reorganization of the Defense Department to eliminate interservice conflicts, and an improved military recruitment program with a pay incentive for trained specialists to remain in service.

Attorney Opening Defense of Beck

Atty. Charles S. Burdell told newsmen that Beck, "at this point," appears certain to be a witness.

Burdell' motion for acquittal was submitted — and turned down by Superior Judge George H. Reveile — after the state rested its case against Beck yesterday.

The Teamsters Union boss is charged with misappropriating $1,900 from the sale of a union-owned car. His son, Dave Jr., was convicted of similar charges Nov. 23.

The state's last witness, Donald D. McDonald, bookkeeper for the Western Conference of Teamsters, testified he never received $1,900 from Beck, who has contended he turned the money from the sale of the car over to McDonald in 1956.

★ ★ ★ ★

McDonald said the Western Conference's books do not show any money receipts from the sale of any car. Under cross-examination however, he said there was much confusion about the ownership of cars driven by union officials.

Communists Could Envelop Indonesia in Civil War

By MURRAY FROMSON

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Beset by threats of bankruptcy and political chaos, Indonesia has now been clearly divided into Communist and anti-Communist camps.

Responsible sources just returned from Jakarta say that for the second time since 1948, the Communists are in a position to envelop the country in civil war.

Although the Reds failed in the abortive Maduin rebellion nine years ago, there is no certainty that they would fail again—at least on Java. The sources say the best guess throughout most of Indonesia is that the Communists could seize control of much of Java now — but they won't.

The reason is simple: They would face isolation because the islands of Sumatra, Borneo, the Celebres and the rest of East Indonesia are prepared to establish a separate Indonesian government the moment the Communists grab power in Java.

Col. Maludin Simbolon, the articulate rebel who now directs a solidifying command of the Outer Islands from his Sumatran headquarters in Padang, told visiting correspondents:

"This is no longer a revolt to gain autonomy. This is a fight to preserve our freedom and stop communism. The minute the Communists seem to be in control of Java or the central government abandons its neutral foreign policy and invites Soviet or Chinese technicians into the country, we will establish an independent free government of Indonesia and ask for United Nations recognition."

The colonel added that he hoped this drastic step would not be necessary.

Despite the desperate political and economic conditions which now prevail, there appears to be considerable hope among responsible Indonesians that a way will be found to curb the Communists.

"He is like a horse with blinkers," said one observer who had watched him for a considerable period of time. "He plods straight ahead, oblivious to the cold war, the nuclear age, the international threat of communism, and Indonesia's troubles which are going on all around him."

The President insists that the Indonesian Reds are Indonesians first and Communists second and that they can work together with other parties in the government. Other leaders, including some of Sukarno's closest friends and former revolutionary allies, disagree.

What makes a company a good citizen*

You ought to meet the rest of this Michigan family!

Big healthy families like the Barneses are a tradition in Michigan. Mr. Barnes is a Standard Oil chief clerk in Dearborn, and we wish you could meet the rest of the family he belongs to, the other members of his Standard Oil family who live and work in this state. How many folks would you suppose we're talking about?

First there are our employees, hundreds of men and women, people like the Barneses, who live in cities and towns throughout the state and work in our offices and in the field to help our dealers and agents serve you better.

Then there are the friendly men you know so well, the more than 2,400 independent businessmen who run the Standard stations serving you all over Michigan. And, of course, our agents, some 350 men working for and with Michigan farmers, winter and summer, bringing them the many petroleum products so important in the modern, efficient farming practices for which the Wolverine State is noted.

The total number of Standard shareholders in Michigan at the last count was 5,509. Standard Oil stock is held by retired teachers and new babies, by farmers, ministers, bankers, union leaders and public servants. Institutions, too, such as colleges, banks, hospitals and insurance companies are stockholders in our company. And, we're proud to say, scores of our own employees in Michigan own stock in the company as well.

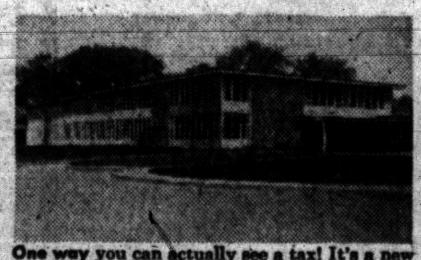

Like other Michigan families, we pay taxes, too. For instance, in addition to federal taxes of various types, Standard Oil pays taxes which go to support local and state governments in Michigan. Also, in accordance with your laws, we collect taxes from customers and turn the money over to your government.

 What makes a company a good citizen?

Citizenship is a privilege. A good citizen assumes the responsibilities toward his community which accompany this privilege. Standard Oil Company and its people assume these responsibilities by trying at all times to contribute to the security, the economic well-being, and the general welfare of the communities in which they live and work.

Joan Mortimer works in Standard's Detroit office. She is one of the hundreds of persons employed by Standard Oil in Michigan. In turn, this makes more business for other Michigan companies—and more jobs, too.

One way you can actually see a tax! It's a new public school in East Grand Rapids. Last year Standard Oil paid many thousands of dollars in local and state taxes which helped support community and state services.

Joseph Hughes of Grand Rapids recently retired after 28 years of service with Standard Oil. He has been one of our stockholders since 1932. And, by the way, Standard this year paid dividends to Michigan owners for the 64th consecutive year.

Printer, Wife Thwart Holdup

Couple Chases Gunman, Helps Police Capture Royal Oak Man

DETROIT (AP)—A nervy printer was credited today with the arrest of an armed man in a holdup that flared into gunfire at one point.

Wounded and held on a charge of robbery armed is James Stein, 29, of 103 Center, Royal Oak.

Franklin Smith, a 25-year-old Highland Park printer, and his wife, Dorothy, also 25, bumped into the holdup at a milk depot where they had driven with their children, Paul, 5, and Darlene, 3.

Smith was just entering as the holdup man ran out. He wheeled, ran to his car and gave pursuit. His wife managed to jot down the license number of the fleeing car with her lipstick. The couple followed the car to downtown Detroit, but halted when it turned down a dark street.

Smith called police, giving them the license number and his location. Two scout car officers found the car parked and established at watch.

When a man got in it later, Policemen Charles Beach and Everett Spicer ordered him to surrender, but the man sped off. Beech fired six times, Spicer four.

Beach said he recognized Stein, who formerly lived in the area. The license number Mrs. Smith took also was traced to Smith, Beach said.

An hour later, Stein was seized by two other patrolmen as he walked along a near-downtown street, near where his father operates a rooming house.

Policeman John Ney said Stein was carrying a loaded pistol in his coat, but offered no resistance when officers approached him with drawn guns.

Stein had a bullet wound in his shoulder.

Ney said Stein also carried $31 in bills and $10.50 in change. The milk depot reported it lost $5, including change, in the holdup.

Smith calmly returned to the milk depot after reporting his chase to police and got what he went after—three gallons of milk.

There Was at Least One Good Crop in 1957---Wacky Accidents

Every year the National Safety Council produces a round-up of wacky accidents that happened throughout the country during the year, for its magazine, Traffic Safety. These are some of the mishaps that "couldn't happen" — but did.

Mrs. Charles Drennon, of Memphis, Tenn., still doesn't know for sure that the little light in the refrigerator really does go out when you close the door. She was peering intently inside when she slammed the door shut. No—her nose wasn't broken, the doctor said. Just terribly, terribly sore.

George Bates, of Evanston, Ill., knows a driver must be prepared for anything in today's traffic. But he was surprised when a canoe flew down the highway straight at him, crashed through the windshield and clobbered him good. It had been blown from the top of an approaching car by a high wind.

One of Charles Combs' farm hands at Olney, Ill., knew a sure-fire way to get rid of those wasps in the barn. He would burn them out. It worked. The wasps went up in smoke. So did the barn, 5,000 bales of hay, 2,000 bushels of barley, a shed, a garage, three drums of gasoline and 200 loads of manure.

The case of the Vaccinated Veterinarian happened in Wadesboro, N. C., where Dr. Guy Jones got a syringe full of vaccine in his arm when a cow he was preparing to inoculate suddenly lunged against him. Moral: Never vaccinate a cow at lunge time.

When three-year-old George Wilkins' mother found him playing with matches in the Wilkins' home in San Antonio, Tex., she picked him up to warm his seat. She didn't have to. It was already warm. Matches in Georgie's hip pocket had set his pants afire.

In East Los Angeles, Calif., dogcatcher Donald Baird was bitten on the arm good and hard by a lady who seemed upset because Baird was trying to ompound her pet pooch. "It shouldn't have happened to a dog," moaned Baird, as he surveyed the teethmarks.

Seek New Trial in Old Slaying

Kalamazoo Man Who Was Freed by High Court Gets Chance

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A new trial will be sought here for Willie B. Moore whose conviction in the 1938 slaying of Mrs. Josie Zeedyk has been set aside by the United States Supreme Court.

Prosecuting Attorney Jacob A. Dalm Jr. said the trial will be held "as soon as possible."

Dalm said he expected the state's case to be hampered somewhat by the death of material witnesses. He added, however, that Ralph G. Cook, county coroner who participated in the original investigation, and Mrs. Zeedyk's son and daughter will be available to testify.

Moore, a Negro, was sentenced to life 19 years ago in the slaying of the Kalamazoo woman at her home. Mrs. Zeedyk was killed Oct. 26, 1938. Three days later Moore pleaded guilty and was sent to Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Moore, who was 17 at the time of the slaying, complained to the Supreme Court in 1956 about the manner in which his case was handled in 1938.

He said the trial judge, the late George V. Weimer, did not tell him of his right to counsel, his guilty plea was not voluntary, consequences of the plea were not explained to him, and he was not told of his right to a jury trial.

Justice Brennan, who delivered the 5-4 majority decision, said the majority felt that fear of mob violence, "planted by the sheriff" in the mind of Moore, motivated his guilty plea.

4 Townships Propose Sewage Plan

Want City Included in Clinton System

Pontiac should be included in planning for a Clinton River basin sewage disposal system, according to Waterford Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

"I would definitely like to see Pontiac take part. The city is right in the middle of the proposed project, so to speak, and could benefit by it, I think," Johnson said.

PETITION COUNTY

Waterford and four other neighboring townships have petitioned the Oakland County Department of Public Works to plan a master sewage system in the area drained by the Clinton River.

The townships are Independence and Orion to the north and northeast plus Pontiac and Avon to the east. At the heart of the proposed drain would be a large transmission line running from Waterford, on the west, past Pontiac as far as Auburn Heights or the Macomb County line, Johnson figured.

"Originally we were planning in Waterford for this transmission line to run south of Pontiac, without serving any additional areas outside the township.

"However, it occured to us that the project could serve a greater area running north of Pontiac with laterals to surrounding townships."

Again, Pontiac might take part by treating sewage handled by the line, Johnson said.

KNOWS OF PLANS

"I know there are plans in Pontiac for a new sewage treatment plant. There has been discussion that with this new plant Pontiac might liberalize its strict policy of minimum municipal services to outside areas."

However, Johnson agreed that the extension of the transmission line east of Pontiac might indicate the treatment plant should be located somewhere in Avon Township.

"An important consideration in this regard," he said, "is the new Michigan State University branch college near Rochester, which may eventually tie in with our plan."

The County Board of Public Works is scheduled to take up the townships' petitions Friday for possible recommendation to the Board of Supervisors Dec. 23.

If the county decides to back the plan, it will place its full faith and credit behind the sewage bonds. It will be several years, at least, before the project is a reality, Johnson figured.

Dems to Send 50,000 Greeting Cards

State Officials to Flood Yule Mails

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's elected state officials are getting ready to flood the Christmas mails with nearly 50,000 greeting cards.

In fact, if Postmaster General Summerfield wriggles through his budget difficulties, maybe the former Republican National committeeman will want to tip his hat to old Democratic foes in Lansing.

ALL FIRST CLASS

The mailings, by eight Democratic state administrative board members, all will go first class and feed about $1,500 into postal tills.

The state officers all say the expense will be met from personal funds.

Over the years, Christmas card mailings have been big business in the state capitol. The present all-Democratic cast probably is hitting a new high in volume and in production-like technique, however.

STARTED IN APRIL

Gov. Williams expects to send out 20,000 cards next week, a couple of hundred more than in 1956. Addressing of the envelopes began last April and was completed two months ago, an office assistant reported.

Work began in August on State Treasurer Brown's Christmas greetings.

Missing will be Miss Pris, one of two family dogs pictured in 1956, but Torchy, the black cocker spaniel, will be shown. Miss Pris was given away.

When the photographs are delivered, volunteers will be called in for an envelope stuffing bee.

Lt. Gov. Hart, Brown, Secretary of State Hare, Aud. Gen. Szymanski and Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, also plan family photographs on their cards.

In keeping with personal tradition, Atty. Gen. Kavanagh will send a religious card. The card of John C. Mackie, state highway commissioner, will show a highway bridge.

Hart's mailing list is the second longest, with about 6,000 names, up between 1,000 and 1,500 since last year. Brown plans to mail about 5,000 cards, Mackie 3,500 and the others 3,000, give or take a few hundred.

New faces will brighten some of the cards: a baby boy, making eight children, on the Hart card, a new baby girl on Szymanski's and two new grandchildren on Brown's.

Mackie said his wife addressed "practically all" of his cards, and Hare said he hired a girl to take care of the bulk of his chores.

Other state officials relied largely on office help and volunteers with Hart's office estimating that probably as many as 10 volunteers contributed time, off and on.

Kavanagh, awaiting the start of an eight year term on the State Supreme Court Jan. 1, was the only state official who reported a shortening of his Christmas card list. It's down 1,000 names or more from last year.

TO AID NEPHROSIS VICTIMS — Mayor William W. Donaldson (left) purchases the first ticket to the three-act comedy "Three Men on a Horse" which will be staged by the Lakeland Players Jan. 6, 7 and 8 at Pontiac High School. With Donaldson is David L. Navarre (right), head of the players. All proceeds from the play will go to the foundation to aid those youngsters stricken with the disease.

'World Citizen' Sits on Border, Held by French

NICE, France (AP) — Self-styled world citizen Garry Davis was arrested today in the middle of a proclamation.

He was seated on a suitcase which rested precisely on the French-Italian border, a portable typewriter on his lap. Italian border guards invited him to "circulate" to France.

Arising, he was in France and French authorities arrested him. He is held for an appearance for not having a passport.

The young American, who gave up his passport after World War II to publicize his world citizenship movement, was taken to the border this morning by French officials after being ordered out of Monaco. He had previously been denied the hospitality of France.

When Italy wouldn't take him either, he placed his suitcase directly on the border, broke out his handy portable typewriter and announced he was writing a proclamation.

He didn't get to finish it.

Sallade Tells Labor of Republican Stand

GOP Not Hostile to Labor

Rep. George Sallade (R-Ann Arbor) told an audience of United Automobile Workers that "hostility to organized labor on the part of all Republican officeholders is a fiction that the Democrats of Michigan have repeated so often that for many it has assumed an element of truth."

He made the statements to the UAW Local 38 which represents employes of the Hoover Ball Bearing plant and other Ann Arbor industries.

Sallade, who wants to run for governor either next year or in 1960, said he refused "to believe that organized labor is the special property of the Democratic party.

"If it is it will be more used than rewarded," he said.

"The Michigan Fair Employment Act, the Workman's Compensation Act and an unemployment compensation law labelled by the leading Democratic presidential hope, Sen. John Kennedy, as the best in the nation, all were the result of action by a legislature dominated by the Republican party," Sallade said.

The legislator added that Michigan can boast of responsible labor leadership and should be proud that its hourly wage scale is the highest in the country.

Iron, Steel Workers Paid Less Hourly

NEW YORK (AP) — The average hourly payroll cost for wage earners in the iron and steel industry in October was $2.992 compared with $3.022 in September, the American Iron and Steel Institute estimated.

The reduced hourly earnings in October were due largely to a reduction in overtime hours worked, the institute said. Its figures do not include an average cost of over 29 cents per hour for pensions, social security and insurance, estimated on an annual basis.

The industry's total payroll increased to $345,580,000, compared to $330,076,000 in September, the institute said. It added, however, there were more man-hours worked in October, a 31-day month.

Grosse Pointe Park Lad Dies After Auto Crash

DETROIT (AP) — Robert G. Lowery, 17, of Grosse Pointe Park, died last night of injuries suffered Friday night in a traffic accident which killed another of six youths en route to a basketball game.

Larry L. Schmitt, 17, of Detroit, was killed instantly when the car he was driving jumped a curb and hit a tree in Grosse Pointe Park.

Lowrey, Schmitt and four other Austin Catholic High School students were en route to a high school basketball game.

Child Dies of Burns

DETROIT (AP) — Seven-year-old Raylna White of Detroit died Monday of burns suffered last Tuesday. Her dress caught fire when she attempted to stamp out flames in a pile of newspapers which had been ignited by her sister.

Testimony Shows Scott Changed Will

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Testimony in the L. Ewing Scott murder trial shows he changed his will after his wife disappeared and he designated half his estate for a divorcee he had recently met.

The will was produced in evidence by the prosecution yesterday as the 10-week trial neared its close.

As originally drawn in 1951 the will left $1 each to Scott's brother, George Scott of Frankfort, Ky., and sister, Lucie Scott Swift of Paducah, Ky., and the rest to his wife, Evelyn.

But in March 1956, 10 months after Mrs. Scott vanished, he changed his wife's bequest to $1 and divided his estate evenly between a friend, Roy Wharton of Tarzana, Calif., and Mrs. Marianne Beaman, a divorcee he had met six months earlier.

The prosecution said it got the will from Wharton on a tip from the FBI.

The state charges Scott killed his wife and disposed of her body so he could take control of her $600,000 fortune.

250 Crippled Tots to Attend Yule Party

At least 250 county crippled children are expected to attend the 12th annual Christmas party sponsored by the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children tomorrow afternoon.

The party, which begins at 1:30 p.m., will be held in Stevens Hall of the All Saints Episcopal Church, corner of Pike and Williams streets.

Entertainment will include the Sweet Adeliners, a Royal Oak allgiri quartet, Mel Snyder, the television balloon man, and Santa Claus who will distribute a gift to each child.

Detroit Youth Killed in Seaplane Explosion

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A Michigan man has been listed by the Navy as among nine sailors killed when their seaplane crashed and exploded in a desolate area near here yesterday. One man escaped.

Killed was Daniel S. Kwas, 19, aviation electrician's mate 3.C., of 7282 Plainview, Detroit.

The plane was from a patrol squadron based at San Diego. It was en route to Baltimore, Md., and had stopped at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station to refuel.

It crashed shortly after the takeoff from the air station's seadrome when an engine exploded and blew a wing off.

Storekeeper 1. C. Sam Gariffo parachuted to safety but was badly burned and in shock.

Recommends Rehiring of Fired Truck Driver

DETROIT (AP) — A National Labor Relations Board trial examiner has recommended the Julian Aluminum Foundry Co. of Detroit be ordered to rehire an employe who complained he was fired for union activity.

Lloyd Buchanan also recommended the Detroit firm be ordered to reimburse Perry Walker, a truck driver, for pay lost since his dismissal Feb. 13, 1956.

Buchanan said he found that "any pique or dissatisfaction was due to Walker's union activities."

The company contended that Walker was fired because of inefficiency, absence from work, and holding another job without informing the firm.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Most constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that loses so much moisture that its contents become so dry they block the bowel; so shrunken they fail to stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE colon to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only new COLONAID, possesses its great moisturizing capacity plus its stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so gentle it has been hospital proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Waterford Set for Yule Sings

Schools at Williams Lake, Drayton Plains to Perform Outdoors

An old fashioned custom of group singing at Christmas time will be featured by various Parent-Teacher Associations throughout Waterford Township on Thursday night.

Beginning at 7:30 p.m., children in grades from two through six will present an outdoor concert at the Drayton Plains School. Dan Addis will direct the group.

Refreshments will be served to the children and their parents in the school auditorium following the sing.

A community sing will come after special presentations by each grade at the Williams Lake School. This, too, will be held outdoors and will begin at 7 p.m.

All elementary grades at the Waterford Center School will sing Christmas carols on the school grounds beginning at 8 p.m.

At the Monteith School pupils will present two performances of the "Last Doll" operetta, with 90 children included in the play who are supported by some 200 voices.

The first presentation will be at 10 a.m. and the last one will be at 8 p.m.

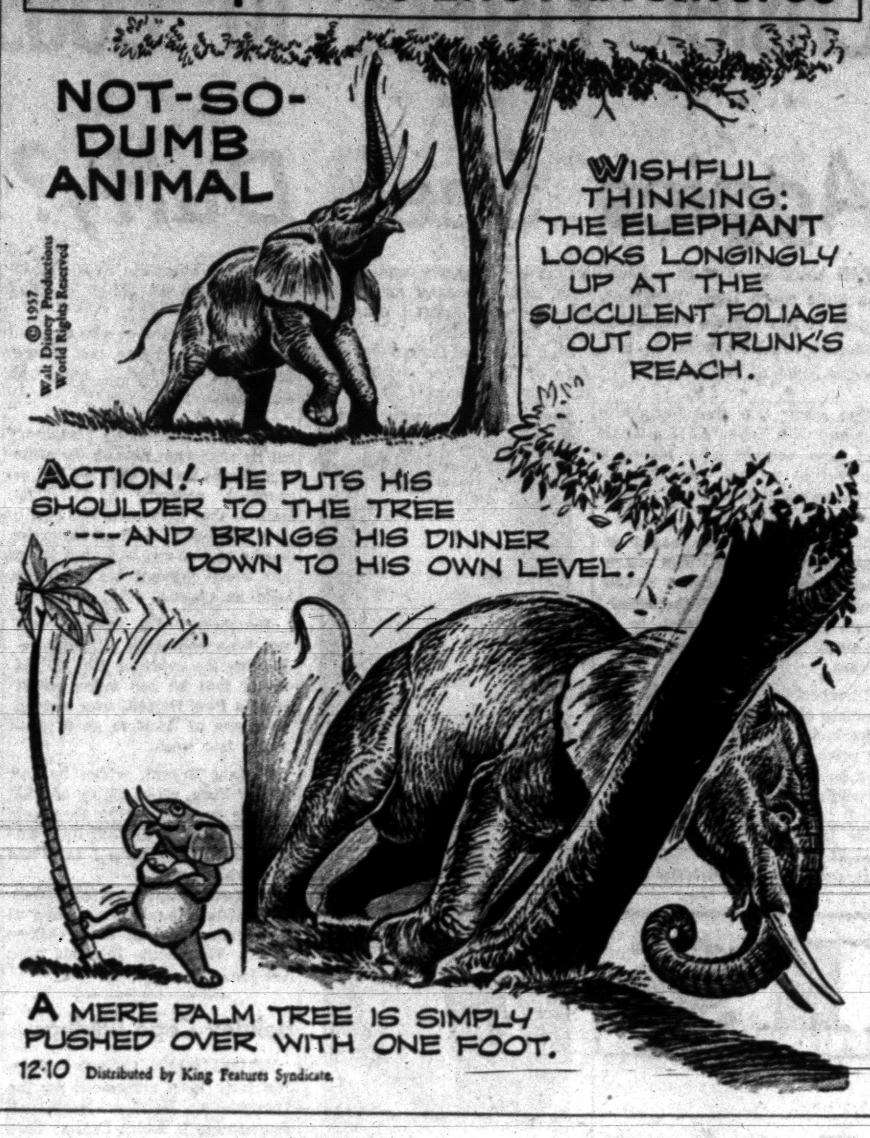

Portraying the Mother in the operetta will be Sue Teeples, Debbie Getzan will be the daughter, with the personal shopper, Jane Ostrander. The floor walker will be Randolph Bristol.

All of the music has been under the direction of Mrs. Helen Glen, and Miss Sally Davis has supervised the dancing numbers.

Infant Wears Glasses

DALLAS (AP)—Little Ann Griber can't read yet, but otherwise she's ready. The six-months-old infant is wearing specially fitted plastic glasses. Doctors say her eyes have tended to cross since birth and surgery will be considered if the glasses don't correct the condition.

Broomfield Remains Neutral on Federal Aid to Education

Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) remained neutral on the question of proposed federal aid for education when he addressed a meeting Monday of the Governmental Affairs Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

The 35-year-old representative said he would "like to reserve judgement" on two bills which would provide federal assistance for school.

KEEP PACE

"I agree with the precautions you have taken," he said, "such as the fact that the bills would tend to centralize our education in Washington. However, we've got to have adequate education programs if we are to keep pace."

The "precautions" were six reasons the members of the Chamber committee had drafted in firmly opposing all federal aid to education.

The committee also endorsed Hoover Commission proposals to cut the cost of government, and further study on the proposed Sadlak Amendment to the Internal Revenue code which is designed to equalize and reduce income taxes by causing the federal government to spend within the sphere of economic growth.

CHANCE SLIM

Broomfield called for a re-evaluation of the country's entire education system and ventured an opinion that the education bills stood little chance of Congressional action next year, because of the recent Little Rock integration incidents.

The Governmental Affairs Committee, headed by William F. Kalwitz, opposes the aid because Michigan, under one measure, would pay to other states $5,000,000 more than what it stands to receive as aid.

It also would mean "centralized control of education by the federal government" which belongs to individual states and local governments, the committee said.

Broomfield summarized his first session in Congress and viewed next year's which he termed "one of the most hectic sessions in the history of the United States."

Looking at the local scene, the lawmaker from Royal Oak said the proposed Walter P. Chrysler (Hastings-Oakland) expressway and Northwestern Highway extension "will go a long way toward solving Oakland County's future traffic problems."

He criticized this year's public works bill which he charged was padded with 17 objectionable projects totaling more than $300,000,000 which were "to feather the political net of either a senator or representative."

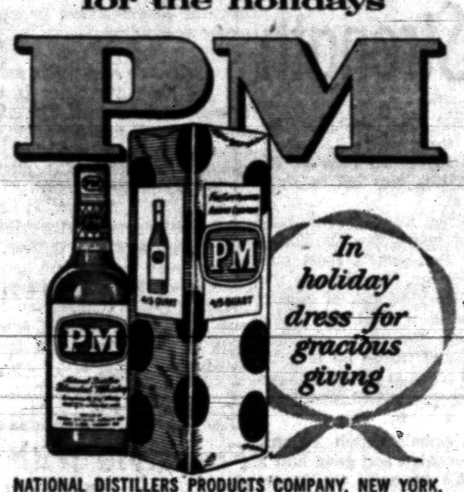

The speaker cited two ways in which he would propose to correct such "pork barrel" measures. These would be to give the President select veto power over appropriation bills, and secondly, to remove general proxy procedure granted representatives, which tend to railroad bills to passage.

More than 12,000 bills introduced at the last congressional session never left committee, Broomfield said, because some congressman "put more emphasis on the 1958 congressional election and wanted to embarrass the administration."

Pearson Receives 1957 Nobel Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Lester B. Pearson of Canada today received the 1957 Nobel Prize for his leadership last year in U.N. efforts to end the British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt.

The former Canadian foreign minister accepted the prize before King Olav V of Norway and the Nobel committee of the Norwegian Parliament. The committee selected him Oct. 14 for the $40,275 prize money.

Dr. Gunnar Jahn, chairman of the committee, made the award speech at the University of Oslo auditorium. Pearson will give the Nobel winner's annual lecture tomorrow night.

Jahn said the prize was awarded "not to the politician or to the secretary of state as such, but to the man Lester Pearson because of his personal qualities, his powerful initiative, strength and perseverance displayed in attempting to prevent or limit war operations and to restore peace in situations where quick, tactful and wise action has been necessary to prevent unrest from spreading an developing into a worldwide conflagration."

Pearson lost the post of foreign minister when his Liberal party was defeated in Canada last summer. He is the leading candidate to become head of the party in January, putting him in line to become prime minister of Canada should the Liberals return to power.

Cyprus Youngsters Fight British Troops

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Screaming Nicosia schoolchildren battled with club-swinging British troops again today. It was the fourth day of a new surge of anti-British feeling keyed to the U.N. Assembly debate on the future of Cyprus.

All high school children and some from the government-run elementary schools went on strike.

At Nicosia Gymnasium, the island's largest school, 1,000 boys stoned police and troops from the streets. Baton charges and tear gas drove them to the school rooftop and the roofs of adjacent houses, and from there they pelted the British forces with any missiles they could lay their hands on.

Greek Cypriot workers, who took part in an islandwide strike yesterday, were back at work today.

Russians Boast About Sputniks

Soviet Scientist Says No Failures Needed to Launch 'Moons'

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet scientist boasted today that Russia has made only two attempts to launch earth satellites and both succeeded.

The remarks of the scientists were part of a full-page display in Pravda saluting the completion of 1,000 trips around the earth by Sputnik I, launched Oct. 4.

Academician L. Sedov wrote: "The entire preparatory work of launching the satellites was carried out thoroughly. Separate elements were tested, studied and checked. The general system of launching was designed and analyzed in detail. The result was that in the Soviet Union there were no unsuccessful attempts in launching artificial earth satellites.

"Only two attempts were carried out and both were successful. It can be noted also that the launching of the Soviet satellites was carried out somewhat earlier than originally planned."

Sedov cited America's difficulties with their satellite. But he said the United States has "experienced, fully qualified specialists in rocket technique and I believe they will succeed in launching a satellite after a certain period of time. The Soviet specialists sincerely wish American scientists and engineers success."

Sedov said Soviet scientists hope developement of the satellie will serve as a basis for peaceful competition, for the beginning of joint efforts in the solution of the great tasks of interplanetary travel of the future. . . ."

Spain Appears In for Guerrilla War

MADRID (AP)—Spain appeared today to be in for a long guerrilla war in Ifni, her pocket-size North African colony entirely surrounded by Morocco.

Although the Spanish claimed Saturday organized resistance had ended in the 741-square-mile area on the Atlantic coast, rebel bands still holding out were estimated to total about 10,000 men. Reinforcements have brought the Spanish force to a total of 6,000.

Reports from Ifni said the Spanish forces have regrouped and are ready to launch an all-out mopup.

Nationalists in neighboring Morocco claim the rebels control almost the entire colony except the immediate vicinity of the capital of Sidi Ifni.

Arab nationalists in Morocco contend the uprising is entirely the work of Ifnian rebels. The Spanish say an irregular liberation army from Morocco crossed the border and launched the attack Nov. 23.

Sees Less U.S. Funds for Local Projects

LANSING (AP) — Rep. Charles Chamberlain (R-Mich) advised the Lansing City Council last night that increased defense spending will probably mean less federal money for local projects.

The Sixth District congressman said the Grand River flood control project is still in the House of Representatives and is a long way from winning approval.

"It would be advisable to rub our chins a bit in respect to this project in the face of what we can expect in the way of defense spending when we return to Washington," Chamberlain said.

The proposed project, estimated to cost 13 million dollars, includes flood control facilities to serve Ingham, Ionia and Kent Counties.

Form Group to Study Sylvan Lake Pollution

Members of the Pioneer Highlands Civic Assn. last night approved formation of a 10-member committee to look into the reported pollution of Sylvan Lake and possible weed control in the lake.

Floyd J. Shotwell, association president, said the committee would work in cooperation with other associations bordering the lake.

Hollywood Headlines

British Star Jack Hawkins Has Good Word for U. S.

By BOB THOMAS

But he reports charitably that he's still not unhappy with the town. In fact, he even defended the many British stars who have come here.

"There is a great deal of damaged pride in England over it," he observed as he breakfasted on an American waffle. "People over there claim actors come here and get ruined.

"Actually, the reverse is often true. Take a girl like Kay Kendall. I knew her well because we were under contract to Rank together. She made a terrific hit in a picture called 'Genevieve.' You'd expect her career to boom. But nothing happened. Absolutely nothing.

"She had to come to Hollywood to become a big hit.

"The same thing has happened over and over again, back to the days of Ronald Colman. I remember Bruce, who was around London in plays for years with not too much luck. Then he came to Hollywood and had a rousing success. The same was true of C. Aubrey Smith, who toured the provinces for years in a mystery play."

ber dear old Willie Nigel Hawkins, whose square build and masculinity seem to typify the British Empire at its best, said no actor can become an international star without the benefit of American-made productions. He has had them without ever coming to Hollywood. Examples: "The Black Rose," "Land of the Pharaohs."

Now he has his biggest one, "The Bridge Over the River Kwai," made by American producer Sam Spiegel with an international cast and crew. Hawkins is here to help publicize it.

U.N. Might Table Algerian Settlement

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The way seemed clear today for the U.N. Assembly to bypass the thorny Algerian problem for another year with almost the same innocuous resolution it adopted last year.

The continued failure of the Assembly to find a constructive solution has convinced many delegates that the only hope for restoring Algerian peace lies in moves outside the U.N. to bring France and the Algerian nationalists together.

Tunisia and Morocco offered to mediate the problem, but France refused on grounds that the two Arab countries sympathize with the rebels who have been fighting for three years in Algeria.

Emphasizing that Algeria legally is an integral part of France and not just a territory, France has contended that the U.N. should stay out of the dispute.

Female Band Leader, Spouse OK Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Girl band leader Ina Ray Hutton and her former husband, musician Randy Brooks, have settled divorce litigation.

She obtained a Nevada divorce last June but Brooks sued for separate maintenance in July and was granted $35-a-week tmporary support. He testified he had suffered two strokes and had been unable to work as a trumpeter or band leader.

Under the settlement, Brooks, 38, agreed to recognize her divorce, dismiss his suit and move out of their Northridge home by Friday. Miss Hutton agreed to giv him $13,500 from sale of property and to drop her cross-suit for a California divorce.

Eyes Technical Power

DALLAS (AP)—A manpower specialist says the nation can turn out scientists and technicians to meet the Soviet Challenge. One source, said John Hilliard, is the estimated 200,000 able students who fail to go on to college each year. Hilliard is assistant director of manpower for the Office of Defense Mobilization.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Fred Zollner, the dollar-sign owner of the Detroit Pistons, isn't losing any sleep over the fact that the pro cage team has to average 5,000 fans per game to stay level with the red line financially.

Zollner has had financial losses before and they didn't empty his stuffed bank roll.

For this reason National Basketball Association President Maurice Podoloff believes that the Pistons will make the grade in Detroit even it it takes several years.

He points to Boston as an example. "It got so bad when the Celtics played a few years ago only a few hundred used to show up. We never even mentioned the poor gate receipts."

Now the Celts are drawing 10,000 and more a game. This is the best drawing team in the league. Of course, it is the winningest team also.

Last year Boston's gate receipts totaled a gross $400,000, a far cry from the first season when the Celts grossed $58,000.

The other day the Pistons had one of their poorest crowds of the season when less than 3,000 watched a contest.

What has hurt is the fact that the Pistons have won more on the road than they have been able to do at home.

The players themselves feel that the winning should be done at home. They believe Detroit is a sports-crazy town, but they have to win for the home folks more often.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

They throw around 10-year football coaching contracts at some colleges faster than they can have the new papers printed.

Take the case of Jack Mitchell. After a great season at the University of Wichita three seasons ago, Mitchell was greeted by 5,000 fans after the last game. He was awarded a 10-year contract, and pampered with a shining new automobile from the fans.

Several months later he was headed for Arkansas and another 10-year contract. Last week with eight years to go on the contract, he packed up and headed back to Kansas, this time to the University of Kansas.

Being in the same league with Bud Wilkinson is something Mitchell always wanted. He was a student of Wilkinson's in the late 40's. He didn't get the chance to play Oklahoma while at Wichita or Arkansas, now he will.

Mitchell isn't the only contract jumper among college coaches. Bowden Wyatt jumped from Wyoming to Arkansas, was given a car as a gift, and then drove it to Tennessee where he has been for two years.

Darrell Royal has also traveled from Mississippi State, to Washington and then to Texas, and the latest is Bear Bryant who left seven years on his contract at Texas A&M, after skipping from Maryland to Kentucky, then to A&M, and now to Alabama.

They call the football player who transfers a "tramp athlete," but how about the new term "gypsy" coach?

WILLING TO LISTEN — H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, Michigan University athletic director for 17 years, is "willing to listen" if the Pacific Coast Conference wants him as commissioner to succeed Victor O. Schmidt who resigned last week. He denied he was seeking the west coast job.

Aggies Seek Duffy?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Michigan State coach Duffy Daugherty visited in San Antonio and Dallas yesterday amidst reports he may become coach at Texas A&M.

One report was that Daugherty had met with Texas A&M officials and may already have signed a contract to replace Paul Bryant, who resigned the A&M job to go to Alabama.

A member of the board of directors of A&M said here Daugherty was the No. 1 choice and he hoped to have the Michigan State coach signed to a contract before Daugherty left Texas.

Daugherty, here to speak at a meeting of the San Antonio Quarterback club, left Monday afternoon by private plane with A&M directors for Dallas, from where he was to continue on to Chicago.

He is due in Rochester, N.Y., tonight.

It could not be determined in Dallas if Daugherty was meeting with A&M directors and an announcement wasn't considered likely before today.

Jack Finney of Greenville, chairman of the athletic committee of the board, was quoted by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram as saying an announcement was likely "in a day or two."

AP Wirephoto

The board member, who declined to be quoted by name, met Daugherty here and had a long talk with him.

Newsmen questioned Daugherty but he would not discuss the situation except to say that he had no coaching contract at Michigan State — that he was on the faculty as a professor — thus indicating that he had no ties with that school that would prevent his coming to A&M as coach.

Daugherty also said he had not been contacted officially regarding the coaching job. He did admit that he had talked about it with Paul Bryant, who resigned as coach at A&M to go to Alabama last week.

He said Bryant, whom he saw in New York, spoke highly of A&M and the coaching setup there and told him going to Alabama was "the toughest decision I ever had to make."

Daugherty came here from Houston and said he had not been at A&M college, which is at College Station, Tex., some 70 miles from Houston.

PCC Seeks 'M' Athletic Head to Run League

Wolverine Boss Denies He's Trying to Obtain Commissioner's Job

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, Michigan's athletic director for 17 years and one of the Big Ten's most powerful and influential citizens, says he is "willing to listen" if the Pacific Coast Conference wants him as commissioner.

But Crisler denied he was seeking the job vacated last week by Victor O. Schmidt. Crisler expressed surprise when informed that the Detroit Free Press said the PCC post will be offered to him.

"A man always should be willing to listen," said Crisler. "If people didn't listen, once in a while, we wouldn't have any oil wells."

The paper said Crisler "will be offered" the PCC commissioner's job. It added that "Preliminary offers and negotiations may be made late this month if Crisler goes to the coast for the Rose Bowl game."

Crisler said he plans to attend the New Year's Day classic between Ohio State and Oregon, but cautioned "that doesn't mean anything—I go to the Rose Bowl game every year."

Asked if he and Mrs. Crisler would "like the West Coast climate" Crisler laughed and said: "If I said I liked it then someone would think I was putting myself up as a candidate for the job—and I'm not doing that."

The Pacific Coast conference has been beset by eligibility troubles in the past few seasons. There has been recurrent talk that the conference would split wide open because of policy differences, and that the league would undergo a major reshuffling.

A conference spokesman said he did not know if Crisler is being considered for the job. The spokesman said no announcement was expectable until at least next month when the PCC advisory committee meets.

Schmidt's resignation doesn't take effect until July 1, 1958. The Coast conference has had only two commissioners in its history. The first was Edwin N. Atherton, a former FBI agent. When Atherton died in 1940 Schmidt, a lawyer, was hired.

Chiefs Host to Arthur Hill

SVC in Action Friday

Pontiac begins its defense of the Saginaw Valley Conference basketball title at home Friday night against darkhorse Arthur Hill.

Both teams scored opening day victories last Friday but Arthur Hill has a scheduled assignment for tonight against Bay City Handy in Saginaw, while PHS is idle.

The Chiefs got by dangerous Detroit Catholic Central, 55-45, while the Lumberjacks staved off a late Ann Arbor rally to gain a 50-48 decision last week.

Arthur Hill proved in the opener that it has the shooters. In firing at a .450 percentage against Ann Arbor, the Lumberjacks made 17 of 38 shots paced by Art Street's 21 points.

Right behind in the scoring were veteran Jim Rae with 13 and Bill Brussow a junior with 13.

A full slate is on tap for the league Friday. In other games Bay City is at Flint Central and Flint Northern is at Saginaw.

The Chiefs, picked to repeat in the SVC, will have to be cautious against Arthur Hill. PHS earned a well-played game against Catholic Central with big Hud Ray dominating the boards and hitting for 20 points.

Arthur Hill will have 6-4 Paul Doersom at center and 6-3 Street at forward for its height, with Brussow at the other forward slot.

Rae, a 5-10 guard and Herb Hinds at the other guard post, are good outside shots.

In the opener, Skinner hit for 14 points while Whitmer and Barge each added eight and Williams five.

Coach Chuck Fowler does not agree with the pre-season prediction which had his ball club earmarked for the second division of the deague.

A capacity crowd is expected to fill the PHS gym for home opener. The junior varsity game will get underway at 6:30 and varsity contest at 8:00 p.m.

Tickets are still available for the game and while general admission will go on sale at the door, the reserve seats may be gone before Friday.

Royals Nip Shaw's, 67-65, in City Basketball Opener

Behind a 22-point splurge by sharp-shooting Levi Pilgrim, the Royals opened defense of their city Class A championship with an exciting 67-65 victory over Shaw's in the feature attraction of a doubleheader.

Lakeside and the Jewelers, who waged a nip-and-tuck struggle for city honors last season, fought the same kind of battle yesterday.

The Royals held a 20-13 lead entering the 2nd quarter, but Shaw's bounced back for a 31-28 edge at halftime. The see-saw fight resumed after intermission as the Royals rebounded to take a 51-50 lead going into the 4th period. Shaw's was unable to catch Lakeside during a wild finale.

John Jackson netted 18 points and Gerald Fudge added 15 to reinforce the 22 made by Pilgrim for Lakeside. Shaw's Ernie Wagner took individual honors with 23 points while teammates Ray Wilkerson and Bob McManus scored 16 and 12 respectively.

In contrast to the topsy-turvy game between the Royals and the Jewelers was the Booth Homes-Boys Club clash, which saw the winners lead from start to finish. Boys Club held a 22-17 edge at halftime and Booth's 4th quarter rally was too little and too late.

Booth's Jerry Long was the game's high scorer with 12 points.

1957 Pitching Records Show Braves' Strength

NEW YORK (AP) — The strength and depth of the Milwaukee Braves' pitching staff and the brilliance of Warren Spahn, their ace lefthander, was emphasized again today with the release of the official National League pitching records for 1957.

The statistics confirmed the winning of the prized earned run championship by Johnny Podres, the Dodgers' fine southpaw. He paced the circuit with a 2.66 mark, permitting 58 earned runs in 196 innings. Podres also led in shutouts with six.

The figures also showed why Spahn was voted the Cy Young Award as the game's most outstanding pitcher. Warren was the only NL hurler to win 20 games, finishing with a 21-11 mark. He also pitched the most complete games, 18 and wound up in a tie for second place in the earned run competition with a 2.69 average.

It was Spahn's eighth 20-game victory campaign and gave him a total of 224 triumphs in 13 seasons with the Braves. He also had four shutouts in '57 to lift his career total to 42.

The Braves, who won their first pennant and world championship in Milwaukee, also had the most complete games, 60. Bob Buhl and Lew Burdette chipped in with 14 route-going performances. The champs also allowed the fewest home runs, 124.

Lane TKO Winner at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., No. 1 contender for Joe Brown's world's lightweight title, scored a technical knockout victory over Luke Easter, San Francisco, in the eighth round of their scheduled 10-round fight last night.

Referee Vern Bybee stopped the uneven contest when Lane was punching the helpless Easter all over the ring. Lane weighed 138¼, Easter 137.

Bybee ended the fight at 1:51 of the eighth round.

Easter made a game try and managed to hold Lane even in the first and seventh rounds.

The victory was Lane's 50th in 55 bouts. He won every round but the two called even.

Gets Biggest Test First

PHS Faces SVC Swim Champs Friday

By H. GUY MOATS

Saginaw Valley Conference swimming teams this week open the winter's campaigns, and all are faced with the question as to how each will fare against the perennial champions, Arthur Hill's aquatic Lumberjacks.

Pontiac's Chief tankers will provide the first dual test for the 'Jacks, coached by one of the state's most dedicated swimming mentors, David A. Gainey. Chiefs, directed by Robert (Des) Boyce, will oppose the 'Jacks in the upstaters' pool, Friday night.

Pontiac won its first dual, last week, over Ypsi Central. However, Gainey's veterans are heavily favored in the Valley opener.

Lumberjacks, under Gainey, have established an awesome record.

With one exception they have held unbroken control over the Valley swim business for the last 14 years. Only Bay City Central (in 1950) has been able to unseat them. In 95 dual meets, the Hillites have lost only six, tied one. Overall their record is 119-19-3.

Against Pontiac the 'Jacks have won 27, lost two (1943-1948)

Hills won both last year's meets (63-33 and 68-28).

Gainey has nine lettermen back, including captain Ron Gage backstroke and individual medley; Paul Nieman, butterfly and individual medley (both placed in the state meet last spring). Other senior lettermen are Joe Day, butterfly; Tom George, freestyle; Jim Leaman freestyle; Jim Williams, freestyle, and juniors Pete Cox, Bill Williams, divers, and Dee Young, freestyler. He has a number of promising sophs and jayvees to round out another strong club.

Several outstanding swimmers were lost by graduation. They were freestyler Tom Bear, now at Albion; Chauncey Johnson and Ernie DeWell (at MSU); Ron Koehler (back), and Ron Myers (fs) at Central Michigan.

Oakland county area prep meets today:
Birmingham at Southfield; Mt. Clemens at RO Kimball (EML) and Hazel Park at RO Dondero.

Ex-Chief Swims Freestyle With Wooster Squad

Former Pontiac High freestyler, John Doerr, has claimed a spot on the Wooster, Ohio, college swimming team. The former Chief is one of the Scots' freestylers for the Dec. 14 Ohio Conference relays at Gambier, Ohio, Kenyon College and for the Akron University dual, three days later.

Doerr, a freshman, graduated from PHS in June. He won varsity letters in both swimming and tennis at Pontiac High. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell H. Doerr, 174 Ottawa Drive.

Grid Attendance Drops

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football attendance dropped a bit in 1957 because (1) of television, (2) of low-scoring, ball-control tactics, (3) it's harder to get a spare buck these days, and (4) people have more ways to entertain themselves or be entertained than they used to.

The decline was rathe small — 1.41 per cent of the average at major colleges surveyed by the Associated Press. But that decline, in view of large enrollments and alumni bodies, was significant enough for the inclusion in the AP post-season questionnaire of a question about the reasons for the drop.

While TV, both the Saturday afternoon college variety and the Sunday afternoon pro games, was listed as the No. 1 reason, the replies brought some strong comments about "dull" split T, ball-control football.

One writer described it as resembling "22 men in a big crap game."

This kind of football, they said, was driving the fans away, especially where it was contrasted with the livelier, free-scoring professional football - either live or televised.

Three said college students themselves were losing interest and this was reflected by the general public. A half dozen saw the change as being so insignificant it might be explained by many things and a couple said attendance and interest were higher than ever.

WILSON SIGNS AGAIN — George Wilson (left) coach for the Detroit Lions, signs a new contract with the Lions for next season with a broad smile matching that of Edwin J. Anderson, (right), president of the Detroit Football Club. No terms were disclosed. Wilson's team pulled to a three-way tie in the league with the San Francisco 49ers and the Baltimore Colts after their victory Sunday over the Cleveland Browns.

Tar Heels Tops in Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

No sooner are Frank McGuire's North Carolina Tar Heels tabbed again as the Nation's No. 1 team than a flock of potent challengers turn up, one right in the Tar Heels' own backyard, Kentucky's beatable and even Wilt the Stilt Chamberlain has a likely rival.

Maryland, bouncing Kentucky 71-62, and Cincinnati, romping 80-57 over a Temple team regarded as about tops in the East, fired the strongest playing-court protests last night to the way the nation's experts rated the teams in the first weekly Associated Press poll of the new campaign.

Chamberlain, as highly ballyhooed individually as North Carolina was collectively last season, picked up a challenger in Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson. An 18-year-old sophomore, he dazzled Temple for 36 points and 18 rebounds in running his young season's work to 64 points in 68 minutes of play.

North Carolina, drawing 41 of 117 first place votes and 1,018 points, led the first AP reckoning in a close race with Kansas, which drew 34 firsts and 965 points. Rounding out the top 10 were Kentucky, Bradley, Kansas State, San Francisco, Michigan State, West Virginia, St. Louis and Temple—in that order.

Titans Lose 2nd Game to Wichita

DETROIT (AP) — University of Detroit lost its second game in four starts last night when it fell before Wichita, 89-82, in a rough-and-tumble contest that saw the home team leading most of the way.

Mike Walsh and John Belohavek led the Titan attack which sputtered late in the third period before a Wichita rally. Detroit had a 47-38 lead at halftime but was unable to overcome Wichita's determined second half push.

Two players on each team were ejected because of fouls. Wichita had 25 personal fouls to 24 for Detroit.

Wichita's top scoring aces—Don Woodworth with 18 points and Joe Stevens with 17 — were sent to the bench late in the game because of the foul limit.

Veteran Writer Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Caswell (Cass) Adams, a lean, witty sportswriter who named the Ivy League and made a star of a Chinese halfback who didn't exist, died yesterday at Manhasset Medical Center.

Adams, who suffered a severe stroke 10 months ago today, had been a boxing writer for the New York Journal American since 1953. He was 50.

Prep Cage Slate Light

By CHUCK ABAIR

Two more Pontiac area teams move into the basketball picture tonight as Waterford and Avondale open their seasons at home.

The Skippers will meet thrice-beaten Cranbrook and Avondale goes against Oxford in the top local games of an 11-game schedule. All action will involve non-league play.

Close behind in interest will be the Birmingham at Royal Oak Dondero and Utica at Rochester contests.

Ferndale St. James plays host to Madison, Ortonville travels to Goodrich, Oak Park is at L'Anse Creuse, Imlay City is at home against Capac, North Branch is at Lakeville, Redford St. Mary at Royal Oak Shrine and Mt. Clemens at Grosse Pointe in other contests.

Waterford is anxious to get off on the right foot in basketball after a rugged season in football and is expected to do so.

The Skippers are led by returning starters John Herrington and Jim Devine. Herrington is expected to provide the big scoring punch this year while Devine serves as the playmaker.

Herrington (6-1) will start at center, John Keating (6-1) and Chuck Kirken (6-1) will be at the forwards. Teaming at guards with the short Devine will be Bob Mitchell (5-11). Barry Campbell, Delber Green and Wendy Meyer are also expected to see a lot of action.

Cranbrook has averaged 35.7 points per game in bowing to three Class A schools. The early experience under fire could make the Cranes a tough opening foe.

Avondale is in a rebuilding year with center Jerry Hill the key to the Yellowjacket machine. Oxford is winless in one start.

There should be some fireworks at Dondero with both the Acorns and Birmingham boasting an opening win. Dondero whipped city rival Kimball and Birmingham romped over Cranbrook in lidlifters.

Rochester has walloped two opponents with ease but could run into its 1st real test against Utica. "Peanuts" Montross leads the Falcons. He scored 15 points in each win over Milford and Romeo.

Yardley Top NBA Scorer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Boston Celtics, beaten in only two of 21 games they've played in the National Basketball Assn., have fashioned their runaway with a balanced scoring attack no other club in the league comes close to matching.

Weekly statistics today from NBA headquarters list four members of the Celts' starting five among the league's top 12 scorers. The only starter missing is Bob Cousy, perhaps the key Celt of them all and a consistent high scorer when he's physically able. Cousy, however, shows only an 11 point average so far because he has been limited to part-time service by a leg injury.

The other starters are doing the job game in and out with Bill Sharman leading the way with 520 points for a 24.8 average, third best in the league. Bill Russell ranks seventh with a 19.7 average, Frank Ramsey eighth with 18.4 and Tom Heinsohn 12th with 17.6.

No other team has more than two representatives among the leading scorers.

Other department leaderships are well distributed around the NBA. Russell tops rebounders with a 26.1 average, Neil Johnston of Philadelphia leads in field goal percentage with .477, Maurice Stokes of Cincinnati in rebounds with a 6.5 per game average, and Ron Sobie of New York in free throw percentage with .891, having hit on 82 of 92 attempts.

Ducats Ordered for Title Tilt— Just in Case!

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions, with authorization from football commissioner Bert Bell, have ordered two sets of tickets to be used in the event of championship games in Detroit.

A three-way tie in the National Football League's Western Division after next Sunday's action would mean that Detroit and San Francisco would meet here on Dec. 22.

The world championship game will be played in the Western Division title city — either on Dec. 29 or Jan. 5 — and there's the possibility that the Lions will earn the right to play in that game.

Newcombe Signs '58 Pact for $30,000

The Dodgers announced yesterday that the big right hander took a token cut in his salary, estimated at $30,000.

Newcombe won 11 and lost 12 last season, but led both major leagues in control in issuing only 33 walks in 199 innings.

Hornsby Resting OK After Eye Surgery

CHICAGO (INS)—Rogers Hornsby, 61, one of baseball's great stars, was reported in good condition today at Wesley Memorial Hospital in Chicago where he underwent surgery to remove a cataract from his right eye.

Physicians said the surgery yesterday was successful and that Hornsby was in good spirits.

Hornsby is director of athletic activities for the Chicago Youth Commission.

UNDER WAY — John Herrington (top) of Waterford and Gary Acker of Avondale will lead their teams into the season openers in basketball tonight. The Skippers host Cranbrook while Avondale is at home against Oxford.

Back to Business After Wilson Signs for 1958

Entire Staff Returns With Coach, Who Gets a Raise

DETROIT (AP) — As a flock of people armed with pads, pencils, cameras and questions crammed into one room of the Detroit Lions' office to get the ordeal over with and return to the first order of business—football.

Winning football, to be more exact.

Aldo Forte, the rotund fellow who works with the linemen, kept saying "get those guys out of here—we got work to do . . . c'mon, speed it up a little . . . aren't those guys through yet?"

Aldo wasn't mad—far from it. But while he was pleased that he, three other assistant coaches and head coach George Wilson had been rewarded with new one-year contracts, another task awaited them and he wanted to get back to it.

The Lions got their latest scouting report yesterday on the Chicago Bears, whom they must defeat next Sunday at Wrigley Field in order to keep from sinking out of the Western Conference title chase. Lou Zarza supplied the report on the Bears, and it told of the Chicago running attack that was operating smoothly a day earlier against the Chicago Cardinals—of the work of quarterback Ed Brown, who went all the way without relief in the 14-6 triumph.

The Bears, the same team that beat the Lions decisively two weeks ago after knocking them out of the Western Division title a year ago, have nothing to shoot for except a victory—and it would be a victory that would do next to nothing for them in the standings.

A loss by Detroit—unless both San Francisco and Baltimore lose—means the end of a long, hard season that has had its fill of "extra-curricular" incidents.

The Lions yesterday assured themselves of a smooth road as far as the coaching ranks go when they gave Wilson and his staff new contracts. Wilson wanted the job back. He got a raise in the process and the right to name another assistant coach to go with Forte, Buster Ramsey, Bob Nussbaumer and Red Cochran. It's likely to be Ray (Scooter) McLean, who has been a personal friend of Wilson's for a long time. McLean now is backfield coach for the Green Bay Packers.

Bobby Layne is on the mend at a Detroit hospital and Dr. Richard A. Thompson, team physician, assures that the veteran quarterback will be "as good as new" in five or six weeks.

Skipper Gridders Feted

Other guests included Kerry Keating, former Skipper star who paced the state in scoring last fall at Eastern, Chuck Shonto, one of the Huron co-captains for next season, various school officials and coaches. John Hirlinger of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce was toastmaster.

Movies of some of Keating's exploits at Eastern and of the Waterford team in action were a feature of the program.

Despite having a losing season, Skipper coach Dave Freeman was presented a placque by the team for an excellent coaching job. "Red" Farrar made the presentation. Ray Cole was banquet chairman.

Kentucky Track Places Lifetime Ban on Five

LEXINGTON, Ky. (INS) — Four jockeys and a trainer have been suspended for life by the Kentucky State Racing Commission following an investigation of alleged race fixing and other irregularities at Kentucky tracks last season.

The commission yesterday suspended jockeys George Steineman, James C. Ring, Alfred Applebee and Daniel Brice and trainer Thomas Kenwood.

The suspension of the five men is equivalent to barring them from racing altogether since other states in racing honor action taken by individual commissions.

Three other men, Breck Lutes, Richard Asher and Kenney Bright, were denied "privileges of all Kentucky tracks" by the commission in connection with the probe.

6th Sellout Coming Up

49ers Strike It Rich on Field and at Gate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Those amazing San Francisco 49ers, winning in the waning seconds, have struck it rich this season both on the field and at the gate.

Five of their six regular season home games will have been sellouts and they will have played before more than 660,000 fans counting games at home and away. That's far beyond the wildest preseason expectations when the 49ers were considered among the also-rans.

Coming up Sunday is a sellout of nearly 60,000 for the Kezar Stadium battle with Green Bay's Packers. The 49er management has taken precaution against another riot such as the one that broke out Sunday after frenzied fans rushed for a final batch of unreserved seats in the game with the Baltimore Colts.

With the San Francisco crew of Frankie Albert in a three-way tie for first place in the National Football League's Western Conference, this game could prove decisive. While the 49ers play the Packers, the other two teams in the deadlock—Baltimore and Detroit—play the Los Angeles Rams and Chicago Bears respectively.

Tickets went like wild fire yesterday as the fans gobbled up the final 2,000 reserved seats. About 4,000 were sold right after the 49ers beat Baltimore in the final 46 seconds Sunday.

Frankie Ryff Eyes Title After Victory

For the first time in three years the rangy, 25-year-old New Yorker came out of a fight without any cuts over his eyes. Making his first start in eight months, after undergoing an operation for removal of scar tissue over both eyes, Ryff easily outpointed and chopped up Ippolito in a telecast 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena, eliminate.

Final Bout Card Set for Saturday

Two 10-rounders are scheduled, one of them sending Pat Lowry of Detroit and Toledo against Chico Vejar of Stamford, Conn. Duke Harris, Michigan State welterweight champion from Detroit, meets Wilf Greaves of Pittsburgh in the other.

Both are welterweight contests, and will be followed by a workout involving Chuck Speiser, who meets Archie Moore for the light heavyweight title in Detroit in late January.

Fencers Perform on Wednesday

National Epee Champ, U-D Coach in Exhibition at Pontiac High

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring a fencing exhibition Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the Pontiac High School girls' gymnasium. The public is invited to attend the program.

Dick Berry of Royal Oak, 1957 national epee champion, and Richard Perry, University of Detroit fencing coach, will demonstrate the three weapons of fencing — epee, saber and foil.

Berry was voted the nation's outstanding collegiate fencer in 1952 and placed 2nd in the NCAA epee tournament the same year. He was Big Ten champ in 1952 and 1953, fenced for the United States Navy in the world bouts at Rome in 1955 and took 2nd place in the world military bouts at Cairo in 1956.

He was a member of the Michigan three-weapon team and the Michigan epee team, which took national honors in 1957. Perry, the U. of D. coach, formerly fenced for Columbia University.

The Parks and Recreation Department reports that its growing fencing program needs additional instructors. Any adult with a fencing background who is interested in assisting should call Leonard Buzz at the recreation office, FE 3-7131.

Waterford Loop Cage Season Opens Tonight

The 1957-58 season openers are Drayton Drug vs. White Swan at 7:15 p.m. and Johnson & Anderson vs. Ryerson's Market at 8:30.

Three qualifying alleys for the tournament are Montcalm Centre, Motor Inn Recreation and Howes Lanes. Finals will be held at the Huron Bowl. Next year new sites will host the tournament.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

Today, let's address the ladies again. The girls have some fairly common bowling faults that they should check and guard against.

First, too many ladies rush their approach. It may be nervousness or shyness, I don't know. Maybe they think it'll give them greater speed. It won't. It will only ruin their timing — a bowler's greatest asset.

Second, many women don't bend the left knee in releasing the ball. They are stiff throughout their approach, but they become almost petrified while releasing the ball. We show a fine delivery form in today's drawing.

Third, some ladies don't have the proper backswing or follow-through. Note the hand out in front and coming up. She has fine bal- Many bowlerettes, because they're afraid of hitting their legs with the ball in the backswing, bring the ball back out of line.

If you're a gal who's interested in pushing that average up a few pins, then you'd better watch out for these common faults.

Baker Takes On English Fighter

LONDON (AP)—American heavyweight fighter Bob Baker steps into the ring tonight against Dick Richardson in a bout to prove he's not "washed up" at 31.

Baker, who comes from Pittsburgh, meets the 23-year-old Briton in a 10-rounder at London's Harringay Stadium. The match has brought about a sell-out of the 11,000-seat stadium.

The fans lapped up the tickets despite American reports that Baker is "all washed up."

Baker says he may be a "lazy boxer" and even hate training but not washed up, he insisted.

"You'll be able to judge for yourself in the ring tonight," he told newsmen.

State Pair Sets Pace

CHICAGO (AP) — A pair of rugged competitors from Michigan led into the head-to-head match play finals of the first world's invitation bowling tournament today in the Chicago Coliseum.

Eddie Lubanski, former minor league pitcher from Detroit, and Marion Ladewig, six-time all-star champion from Grand Rapids, set the pace for the 32 bowlers—16 men and 16 women—who start shooting for a rich prize fund in the finals.

Lubanski, one of the top finishers in the all-star tournament the past several years, finished on top in the men's bracket by 79 pins over another Michigan star, Billy Golembiewski of Grand Rapids.

Lubanski totaled 7,667 pins for his 36-game qualifying round while Golembiewski had 7,588. In third place was former all-star champion Bill Lillard of Chicago and 19-year-old Jim Carman of Dallas, Tex., who both had 7,563.

In the women's division, Mrs. Ladewig had a 62-pin bulge over second-place Ann Karrer of Philadelphia in the final standings.

Jeannette Grzelak of Rockford, Ill., took the 16th and last qualifying spot with 4,556 as compared to Mrs. Ladewig's 4,775 and Mrs. Karrer's 4,713 for 24 games.

Piston Center Houbregs May Be Lost for Season

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons fear their center Bob Houbregs may be lost to the National Basketball Assn. team for the rest of the season.

Preliminary medical reports by Dr. Raymond Forsyth, team physicians, indicated that Houbregs would be unable to return to he lineup without the use of a special back brace.

Houbregs was placed on a temporary disabled list 10 days ago after injuring his back in New York. The injury is a recurrent one which has hampered his play the last two seasons.

Jordon will get a one-game try-out tonight when the Pistons meet the Philadelphia Warriors at Olympia here. Syracuse meets Minneapolis in the opening game of a doubleheader.

U. of M. Device Tracks Weather, Planes

'Pictures' of Battle Lines Transmitted by Teletype

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Engineers at the University of Michigan have developed a device for the rapid transmission of pictures of battle lines and weather fronts over regular teletype machines.

The device is basically made up of the teletypes and plotting boards at both the transmitting and receiving ends of the system.

The method was developed by research engineer John Brown of the U. of M. Engineering Research Institute's "Project Michigan," a classified program on combat surveillance conducted for the armed forces.

Brown said the apparatus works by sending numbers. It operates this way:

The line to be sent is drawn across a map and it is scanned through a transparent grid by a teletype operator. He sends out a number which represents the direction of the first segment of the line.

By receiving the number on the second machine, it may be converted automatically into the correct line segment on grid-covered maps at the other end.

An irregular battle line on a 12-by-18-inch map can be transmitted in three to seven minutes, beating facsimile devices by several minutes, Brown said.

He said his machines also are suited for tracking aircraft and outlining atomic fallout areas. They can trace segments as short as a tenth of an inch, and 100 segments can be sent every minute.

Dog Warden Has Safe Way to Nab Canines

SNOW HILL, Md. (AP)—William Allen, dog control officer of this town, has devised a new way to nab unwilling canines.

Allen said he packs a couple of sleeping pills into a piece of meat and then retreats from the scene to watch. The dog becomes groggy after dining and soon falls into a deep sleep. Then Allen steps in and makes his nab.

Predicts Retail Sales to Increase Next Year

Samuel Cherr of New York, senior vice president of Young & Rubicam, Inc., said durable goods sales will rise two per cent; nondurable goods 2½ per cent, and service items, six per cent.

He told the annual Parke-Davis managers' sales conference that they "will never see another depression in which there would be sharp decrease of approximately 15 per cent in business."

No Christmas for Ridulph Children

Searchers Find No Clues

SYCAMORE, Ill. (AP) — A week ago today a playful 7-year-old girl disappeared. But Maria Ridulph's mother hasn't reckoned the anguished interval since then in terms of days or hours.

"Maybe our girl's been gone only a week," she said, "but it feels like years. Who can keep track of time when there's been nothing but anxiety?"

Hundreds of volunteers have fanned out day after day poking into ravines and sloshing through swamps. Not one hard clue has come of it.

A report last night that the "decomposed remains of an infant" had been discovered seven miles west of Aurora, Ill., was discounted on further investigation by Kane County authorities and state police. Nevertheless a further search of the area was planned.

The net result for a mother who has not yet given up hope is, as Mrs. Ridulph puts it, "numbness that comes from waiting and not knowing."

In another two weeks it will be Christmas, but for three other children at home there's been no hint of it.

"The time of the year makes no difference now," Mrs. Ridulph said.

Maria's 8-year-old playmate, Cathy Sigman, said a strange man asked them if they'd like a piggyback ride, an automobile ride.

Cathy ran home to get her mittens. When she got back, all she saw was Maria's doll lying in a driveway.

Jakarta Plane Returns Empty

Report Dutch Evacuees Not Permitted to Board British Liner

SINGAPORE (AP) — Airline officials said tonight a special British plane sent to Jakarta to pick up Dutch evacuees is returning to Singapore empty.

An airport spokesman said he understood the Indonesians refused to permit the Dutch to board the plane.

The spokesman could give no explanation for the reported Indonesian action. Earlier reports from Jakarta said the normally slow immigration service was issuing exit visas with "lightning speed" to the prospective evacuees.

Dutch evacuees poured into Jakarta from Bandung, Bogor, Semarang, Sumatra and other points in the Indies. Although cheerful, all showed the strain of leaving their homes, jobs and belongings for an uncertain future. But most said they were anxious to leave as soon as possible.

Indonesia has demanded that all Dutch citizens except skilled technicians leave the country. Many of them are Eurasians who have lived all their lives in the Indies.

Some 46,000 Dutch citizens still live in Indonesia, but there has been no definite estimate how many will be forced out or will demand to leave. The Indonesians want all those whose skills are useful to the country to remain. If all pull out, the country's economy faces a breakdown from lack of skilled personnel.

Communist trade unions took over four more large Dutch firms including the Phillips radio and appliances factory. The Indonesian government was expected to follow up by taking over control from the unions, reinstating the Dutch managers to run them.

Grain Futures Mostly Steady

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures were mostly steady in extremely quiet dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Volume was lacking in all pits early and prices held within a narrow range on either side of previous closes.

Old crop wheat advanced fractionally at the outset, helped by a firm market for the cash product. A broker representing export interests bought around 350,000 bushels of the bread grain. Local traders and commission houses were on the selling side.

Corn showed little price change with volume light and the trade mixed. Cash houses were the best sellers with commission houses and locals absorbing offerings.

Soybeans demonstrated a little strength at the outset but then turned lower. Rye also declined.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, Dec. $2.21⅛; corn unchanged to ¼ higher, Dec. $1.16⅜; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, Dec. 65½; rye ¾ to 1 cent lower, Dec. $1.37; soybeans ½ to ⅞ lower, Jan. $2.31, and lard was unchanged to 2 cents a hundred pounds higher, Dec. $12.45.

Subway Strike Hurts Business in Gotham Shops

NEW YORK (AP) — The subway strike here has hurt business activity generally — and particularly the Christmas trade of department stores.

No definite figure was available, but a spokesman for the Commerce and Industry Assn. said business losses might run to millions of dollars.

Crowds and sales were below normal in department stores. With only 12 shopping days left before Christmas, some merchants said the lost business was unrecoverable. Suburban branches of New York stores were reported, however, to be doing a brisk business.

Not only were hundreds of thousands of employes late in getting to work, but the work day was shortened further when many, including city employes, were let off early to cope with the problem of getting home.

A 10 a.m. check of business houses yesterday indicated absenteeism was 13 per cent. Other employes straggled in after that so the figure had dropped to about 5 per cent at noon yesterday.

Five Coal Miners Killed in West Virginia Cave-In

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP)—Five coal miners were killed last night, a few minutes before their work shift was to end, when tons of rock caved in on them inside a southern West Virginia mine.

Three of the bodies were recovered during the night and a fourth sighted in the rubble, officials of the Raleigh-Wyoming Mining Co. said. The fifth body was still being sought.

The tragedy occurred two miles inside the company's No. 2 mine at Glen Rodgers, 15 miles southeast of here, at 10:45 p. m. The work shift was to end at 11 p. m.

Company officials blamed the accident on a "mountain bump." They said the pressure from above became so great that the mine roof broke through the heavy timbers holding it up.

The dead were identified as George Durham and Wayman Acord of Bolt, W. Va.; Noel Trump and John Lomack of Glen Rodgers; and John Coleman of Beckley.

Testifies Dio Hired Hoffa Wiretapper

NEW YORK (AP) — An FBI agent has testified that racketeer Johnny Dio lined up a professional wiretapper for a job at James Hoffa's Detroit Teamsters Union headquarters.

FBI Agent John Henry Doyle testified yesterday that the wiretapper, Bernard Spindel of Holmes, N. Y., told him Dio had said "I have a friend in the Midwest who has to have his lines checked."

Hoffa is on trial in Federal Court on a charge of illegally conspiring here in 1953 to have the phone lines in his Detroit headquarters tapped so he could make sure his underlings were loyal to him. Trial continues today.

Spindel is on trial with Hoffa and Owen Brennan, president of a Michigan Teamsters local, on the wiretap conspiracy charge.

This trial was not affected by the U. S. Supreme Court ruling in Washington yesterday that evidence obtained by wiretap can not be admitted in federal court trials. Although the trial concerns wiretapping, the government has not introduced any evidence obtained by wiretapping.

However, another charge pending against Hoffa is affected by the decision. In that charge, Hoffa is accused of committing perjury before a federal grand jury. U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams has said he intended to use wiretap evidence in that trial.

Stock Market Still Declining

Losses of fractions to around a point were prevalent among key stocks but there was an occasional small gainer.

The Stock Market was continuing to absorb unfavorable news. Reduction of the steel industry operating rate to its lowest since 1954, except for last year's strike period, and word of slow retail sales for autos and spreading layoffs in that industry dominated sentiment. Easier conditions in the money market lent some encouragement.

U. S. Steel and Youngstown Sheet were off around a point and Republic Steel a fraction. Ford fell a major fraction while General Motors and Chrysler eased.

Down about a point were International Nickel, Kennecott, Dow Chemical and General Electric. Sizable fractions were dropped by Texas Co., Royal Dutch, Northern Pacific, Du Pont, Douglas Aircraft, Zenith and Anaconda.

Curtiss-Wright recouped a good fraction as the company made known its determination to fight the federal government's claim for back rent of its plants. Texas Gulf Sulphur resumed its advance on news of higher prices for Mexican sulphur, adding a major fraction.

2 New Plastics Enter U.S. Competition

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Two newcomers are stepping out today in the competitive race within the still-growing plastic industry.

Latest is a jawbreaker, polypropylene, which the Hercules Powder Co. here and the Montecatini chemical firm in Italy are putting on the market. It is akin to the fastest growing plastic of all, polyethylene, which you know as a cover for meat and vegetables and as a squeeze bottle.

Hercules is starting production of polypropylene at a Parlin, N. J. plant with a 20-million-pound annual capacity. The initial price is 65 cents a pound, with hopes of a less costly product later through production economies. Other American companies are known to be considering jumping into the field through the patent license route.

The new plastic, made from a byproduct of gasoline refining, melts at high temperatures but retains its strength at temperatures well above the boiling point of water. Possible uses: in pipes, molded auto parts and appliances.

Earlier in the year Celanese Corp. of America began producing in Houston the other new plastic, variously known as linear, high-density or low-pressure polyethylene. It says the newcomer, now being made in commercial or pilot form by 13 other companies, exceeds the older high-pressure polyethylene in rigidity, strength and heat resistance. For example, a baby's bottle made of the old melts in hot water. Made of the new it doesn't.

The newcomer is now showing up in the consumer market in some housewares and toys. The low-pressure variety also aims at pipes and fittings, cable insulation, auto parts, industrial housings, and even panels for house walls and curtain walls for skyscrapers.

Present capacity for making the low pressure variety is 250 million pounds a year and the price is 47 cents a pound, which may be lowered with mass production. The older variety's annual capacity is 800 million pounds, now, compared with 13 million in 1946. First U. S. production was in 1943.

A spokesman for the Bakelite Division of Union Carbide thinks the new plastic may take 15 per cent of the older type's market, but will have its biggest expansion into new uses and in competition in the container field with paper, glass and tinplate.

Charge Area Youths With Sheep Rustling

The two youths are James Cole, of 60690 Pontiac Trail, Wixom, and William Kelley, 7500 Hickory Ridge Rd., Highland.

They admitted this morning they had stolen seven sheep Dec. 1 from a Highland Township farm and then sold them for $84 the same evening to a Detroit livestock selling agency, according to Asst. Prosecutor Jerome Barry.

The youths were arrested last night by Brighton State Police troopers following investigation of the complaint made by the farmer, Lucius Lyon, 316 King St., Highland Township.

Says Crooner Listens to Logic

But Remembers Years With Milton Berle as Tough Work

By CHARLES DENTON

NEW YORK (INS) — There's really only one important difference, says Goodman Ace, between writing for television and writing for radio—which, in case you've forgotten, is the little box which doesn't believe one picture is worth 10,000 words.

"Don't ask me why," shrugged the redoubtable Mr. Ace, who has achieved affluence in both fields of endeavor. "All I know is that if you don't write on the right-hand side of the page in television, you're okay."

Outside of this one, obviously significant difference, he went on, watching his current boss, Perry Como, rehearse out of the corner of his eye, the writer's position in TV is just the same as the one he occupied in radio—very low.

"On most of them a writer is just a necessary evil. After all, who else has a typewriter?

SNAPPY LINES

"He's just someone to write snappy lines like 'Hello, how are you?' and things like that."

This, he hastened to add, is not the case with Como, whose placidity under fire is rapidly becoming one of show business' incontrovertible legends.

"You don't take a beating on this show," Ace averred with unmistakable conviction, as Como gagged his way through a routine on stage.

"After we get the script ready, we have a meeting and I read it to Perry. He says 'another smash!' and that's it. Oh, sometimes he may want something changed here and there, but he never tries to rewrite the script.

MUTUAL RESPECT

"I have respect for him, and he has respect for what we (Ace has three aides) do, and everyone around here doesn't look like he's trying to get everyone else's job or to be dictatorial."

It was not always thus for the outspoken Mr. Ace, however.

"Those three years I put in with Milton Berle were tough work," he admitted.

"With Berle, every time you cut two jokes out of the script, he wanted to know what you are going to give him in their place. He seemed to think he was buying the stuff by the yard!"

Handsome Met Star Gives Advice to Girls

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Cesare Siepi, the Metropolitan Opera's tall, handsome bachelor who's often on Ed Sullivan's TV show, was astonished to hear that there are Americain girls who are love-starved.

WILSON

"What's this 'friendship clubs' where they have to go to meet men?" demanded Cesare in amazement.

"Dey should get busy!" declared Siepi. "Use the imageenation! Dey should start their own Do-It-Yourself one-woman-only Lonely Hearts Club!

"Why should some girls have a dozen boy friends but they are not exceptionally attractive? Sure, some girls are God's gift to men. But plenty others get married—and dey are not so gifted!"

Cesare whips around the U.S. on tour and finds American girls so attractive that he doesn't always keep his mind on Milan where, according to reports, his heart is supposed to be.

"I just meet one beautiful girl in Pittsburgh or Chicago . . . then I have to go to Detroit or St. Louis—where I meet another one," sighed Sesare, sadly.

I asked Siepi whether he meant that the lonely girls should ask guys for dates—which was considered real bold when I was young.

"Ah, a woman starts the romantic fires burning when the man is slow," he said. She makes the man curious. There is that mystery . . ."

Siepi looked into the scotch-and-soda he was sipping.

He seemed to enjoy the subject.

"But these are business girls with so little time," I mentioned.

"From 9 to 5 she is working," Siepi nodded. "But at 6 she becomes feminine. I never saw a girl being business-like after 7 p.m.!"

"But there are so many girls . . . and an awful lot of men don't want to be caught," I argued.

"It is up to the girl," insisted Siepi, "to help the man catch her!"

SIEPI

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Garry Moore now reveals one big reason he's giving up morning TV: multiplicity of sponsors. He's had as high as 29. "You have to rehearse commercials more than show, and become more a pitchman than a showman" . . . NBC brass thinks impact of Elsa Maxwell once a week on Jack Paar's show is terrific; more often wouldn't be as good, and is in concert with idea Dody Goodman might be stronger three times a week than five, as at present. Jane Forman broke down and wept at her successful Las Vegas opening, her first cafe stint in six months . . . A film studio filed two titles last week: "I Married an Ape" and "Teenage Brain Surgeon".

EARL'S PEARLS: H. C. Diefenbach says this is his favorite desk sign: "Never be positive—we all make misteaks." That's earl, brother.

Veteran Santa Claus Says Children Spurn Space Suits

SANTA CLAUS, Ind. (INS) — There will be fewer space suits and science fiction toys under the Christmas tree this year.

The prediction is that of a veteran listener to the wants of children—Jim Yellig, the Santa Claus of Santa Claus, Ind., since 1933.

GREETS MILLIONS

Dolls will ape top feminine fashions. Many will have fur coats, simulated mink stoles, and wear high-heeled shoes. Extra clothes featuring all types of garb from blue jeans to evening dresses, and

NO. SIGNIFICANCE

However, the name had little national significance until the late 1920s when a syndicated cartoon called attention to the fact such a necklace and earring sets are favored for the beloved dolls of a previous Christmas.

Cowboy suits still survive as a big favorite with boys. Toys and games based on television personalities and programs are requested frequently by both boys and girls.

Yellig expects to wecome about 750,000 visitors this year alone to the small town whose fame rests upon a choice made in the mid-1800s by a group of settlers. The story goes that a stalemate in naming the settlement was broken when Santa Claus entered the room in preparation for the community Christmas party to follow. town was on the map.

Letters from children flooded the postmaster, the late James F. Martin.

He tried to answer them all, but couldn't. So the American Legion Post of Santa Claus came to the rescue, and still supervises the volunteer groups who see that every child who writes to Santa Claus gets a reply.

Bert Reinke, the present postmaster, estimates that he and his seasonally-increased staff will handle four million pieces of mail again this year, as they have in past years. Only a part of these are letters from children, however.

Many individuals and organizations arrange to have mail and packages postmarked in Santa Claus.

The new building, dedicated Oct. 1, gives Santa Claus one of the most modern post offices in the country—on the inside. The exterior, however, resembles a pink castle, with turrets.

This is an adult idea of what children expect the home of Santa Claus to be—but the children don't seem to mind.

Here's Way to Make Diamonds Sparkle

Diamonds may be washed with three parts hot water and one part amonia or a solution of soap or detergent in hot water. However, never take diamonds out of hot water and dip immediately in cold water. This may crack them.

Powder Bar Prevents Bathroom Bottleneck

To keep other guests from going on the warpath, try installing a powder bar just outside the bathroom door.

You can create a "nook" using a ceiling-high panel of translucent patterned glass; a table-high shelf of polished plate glass will make the bar itself; and a standing three-way mirror on the glass shelf adds the final touch.

Won't Seek Addition to Civil Rights Law

By JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department does not plan to recommend additional civil rights legislation at the next session of Congress.

Atty. Gen. Rogers made that statement yesterday at a news conference, his first since he became a Cabinet member last month.

Rogers expressed the view that Congress and the country might well "let some little time elapse" to observe the workings of the Civil Rights Act adopted after considerable debate at the last session.

That law represented a somewhat watered-down version of the administration's proposal, with the result that some congressmen have announced intentions of seeking additional legislation next year.

The 44-year-old attorney general who was moved up from the deputy's job to succeed Herbert Brownell, voiced the belief that the civil rights question was fully debated last summer and that it would be "just as well not to have another debate of that kind at this session."

One in Three Tints Hair

NEW YORK — It is estimated that one out of three American women now tints or dyes her hair compared with one out of 10 in 1952.

The Nile, 960 miles in length, is the sole river in Egypt.

Old Candles Useful in Making New Ones

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—High on your list of early holiday projects should be candle-molding. All the old ends and bits of candles collected during the year can be turned into fancy Christmas decorations.

Melt wax over hot water—never over direct flame. And do not permit the wax to get too hot.

Many kitchen containers can serve as molds—milk cartons and tin cans of assorted sizes—as well as salad molds and paper cups.

Suggestions for Those Who 'Have Everything'

By AILEEN SNODDY

The scene is set. The sun lifts its curtain and the Christmas morning show begins: First, the overture, ("Squeals of Delight in C sharp minor") followed by the "Dance of Delight" through crackling Christmas wrappings who've had their day.

The housewife who has been pinching packages and shaking boxes all week extracts an item and she doesn't have to ask, "What is it?"

Obviously a conversation piece is the chic toilette seat. Original, and hand-painted, these feature colorful poodles dancing around the top and barking "Oui, Oui, Cherie," can-can girls, or an elegant black and gold design.

This $14.98 item made especially for Gimbels in New York may start a new look in bathroom decor. Done with taste, the seats will have matching towel and wash cloth sets and shower curtains. The idea is to remove the aseptic look from the family bathroom.

For the man of the house there are bottle toppers with stocking bottoms and felt heads of various characters, like a moonshiner who looks like the wife's Uncle George. And only a dollar.

Also in the entertainment department are inexpensive gift items meant for cocktails. But youngsters can use them as well. These are Frostene cocktail stirrers. These $2.98 items go into the family freezer to do what most items do when put in a freezer, freeze. Then a wise hostess utilizes them as stirrers to keep drinks cold without melting ice into them.

Coffee connoisseurs will brew something special for their friends with a two-cup expresso maker gift.

And shishkabob skewers in the shape of fencing foils will have Daddy Gourmet fencing around the patio or kitchen before showing his cooking ability. Also in the gift department for friend or foe are pepper mills in leather, ceramics or fine woods. These come in all sizes, even to two feet tall.

Air Plan for U.S. to Spend Big Sum on Science Education

WASHINGTON (AP)—An educator said today Secretary of Welfare Folsom is supporting a proposal that the federal government spend 287 million dollars a year on aid to education.

Heavy emphasis would be placed on science and mathematics in elementary and high schools. The plan would provide for some 20,000 scholarships a year, financed by the federal government but administered by the states.

G. Kerry Smith, executive secretary of the Assn. for Higher Education, is one of several education leaders who have been meeting in secrecy with U.S. Office of Education officials to work out the plan, which would run four or five years.

The AHE is a department of the National Education Assn.

In an article for the Dec. 15 issue of AHE's college and university bulletin, Smith wrote that the program, "designed to help meet the challenge of Soviet scientific advances, is being prepared by the U.S. Office of Education and supported by Secretary Folsom . . . for inclusion in the President's budget message to Congress."

From other sources it was learned that current official thinking is that the new program would take priority over Eisenhower's school construction bill, which has been rebuffed by Congress.

The 287 million dollar figure attached to the new program compares with 451 million dollars requested by the administration for the first year of the proposed school construction program.

Smith said the new program is subject to change but that, as it stands now, it calls for:

1. Alloting 150 million dollars a year to raise the salaries of elementary and secondary school science and mathematics teachers and to provide laboratory equipment.

2. A total of 20 million dollars to uncover high school students with special talents in science and math and to seek to guide them into these critical fields, providing some 20,000 scholarships a year for such students.

3. One hundred millions dollars a year to expand and improve buildings and equipment at two-year technical institutes and at colleges and universities.

4. Twelve million dollars to expand the program of university graduate study already supported by some government agencies, such as the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Science Foundation.

5. Five million dollars to support foreign language instruction centers at universities, and to provide language fellowships.

The proportion of funds which states and institutions might have to put up to go with federal money would vary with different parts of the program. In some cases this proportion has not yet been worked out.

One big problem not yet resolved is whether scholarships should go only for science and related fields of study or whether all areas of learning should be covered.

Smith said a possible compromise would give the President authority to set aside some grants for the specialized fields, but only during a designated emergency period, with all the remaining grants to go for general study.

Canada Leads World in Insurance Ratio

OTTAWA — Using the ratio of life insurance in force to the national income, Canada ranks first among the nations of the world, with life insurance in force at the start of 1957 equal to 133 per cent of the national income. In the United States the ratio was 121 per cent.

Know Procedure When Fuse Blows

A fuse is dead if the window is cloudy or scorched or if the metal strip under the window is broken.

To replace a dead fuse, stand on a dry, insulated surface (step-ladder or board) to spot the dead fuse. Unscrew the fuse and throw it away. Screw in a new fuse just as you would a light bulb.

The right size fuse for most residential purposes is 15 ampheres. The number, "15-A" will be on the fuse. Buy a supply of fuses and keep them near the fuse box for convenience.

2 Queen Bees in Hive Boost Honey Output

CANBERRA — C. B. Scarfe, a South African apiarist for 25 years, has developed what he claims is a unique system of bee-keeping, involving the use of two queen bees in one hive.

He said the system, during a 12-month trail period, increased the honey output of his 500 hives by 50 per cent.

Santa Goes to School to Learn Job

Here at Christmas Park, for 20 years now, he and his helpers have been going in for higher education at the country's only Santa Claus school.

During that period the number of students, sent by stores and other organizations, has increased gradually until the enrollment for the one week course in October is in the 40s.

How on earth can Santa Claus spend a whole week brushing up on his business?

There are lectures and demonstrations on 27 subjects, such as the history and evolution of Santa, makeup and costume, child psychology, toys for different ages, stories and mannerisms. And there is actual casework with some of the children who visit Christmas Park in droves as winter comes on each year.

A successful student earns a silver pin and the "degree" of bachelor of Santa Claus. There are refresher courses and follow-up work too, and the students go back and teach others in their own organizations so that their influence is multiplied.

What does it take to be a successful Santa Claus?

CHILDREN HARD TO FOOL

The basic requirement, says Howard, is genuineness. Watch the details of appearance, because the youngsters will trip you up if you get careless. Play the hearty, friendly role of Santa to the hilt, whenever you are in costume.

Without trying to deceive, turn aside a child's inquiry about your identity, but if he insists concede that you merely are one of Santa's helpers.

"If you aren't going to do a good job, whether it be in a store or in your home, don't do it at all," Howard says. "Parents sometimes fail miserably because they don't work at the project. But if you can impress your own children, you are a good Santa. Children are smart and hard to fool."

Originally a farmer, he runs his school and the collateral enterprise of Christmas Park on a typical upstate New York farm.

After early farming experience in which he suffered serious injuries, he tried toy manufacturing without any great success. Then, peddling some of his toys to a storekeeper one day, he was irritated at the sight of a slovenly Santa Claus.

"I could do better myself," he exploded.

Why don't you, he was asked. So he did.

ESTABLISHMENT GREW FAST

At first, Howard continued to farm and play Santa personally as well as to teach others. But soon the enterprise was spreading out and requiring his full time.

Since proper appearance is a fundamental for a professional Santa, Howard helped out by supplying costumes—at a price. He sells about 200 a year at $260 apiece and sends them as far away as Hawaii.

To assure his students necessary practice, he imported school children. Providing a proper setting, including a huge red sleigh and a toy exhibit, he found he had an attraction on his hands.

Soon he was incorporating to raise money, tearing out the pig pen and cowbarn to provide space, and building a "Santa Claus castle" that now attracts paying visitors by the tens of thousands. Reindeer are among the exhibits.

All this provides plenty of opportunity, of course, for the student Santas to ply their sincere art on wide-eyed youngsters.

Moreover the reindeer double in brass because they feature a float that Howard rents out to communities and organizations all over the country.

All in all, Howard feels well satisfied, and well paid, by his life as a Santa emeritus. Sixty-one now, but with considerably less hair than you might expect of the jolly old elf, he has no expectation of slowing up.

Tries to Learn Wife's Secrets With Hypnotism

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A housewife has been granted a divorce on testimony that her husband tried to hypnotize her to find out if she was going out with other men.

Mrs. Verona Wandt, 36, testified that her husband Henry, 39, would wait until she was asleep and then start murmuring to her, over and over, such questions as "Can't we go out today as we did yesterday? Your husband will never find out."

"I would understand what he was saying, but I would not be sufficiently awake to reply," said Mrs. Wandt. She said her husband told her people are supposed to tell the truth when they are asleep.

Dope Charges Dropped Against Actor, Agent

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Marijuana possession charges have been dismissed against actor Scott Brady and film press agent Desmond Slattery.

Brady and Slattery had denied police charges that narcotics officers had found two marijuana cigarettes when they raided the actor's home in the Hollywood Hills last Oct. 17.

Municipal Judge Louis W. Kaufman granted dismissal yesterday. The district attorney's office recommended charges be dropped on two grounds, insufficient evidence, and that prosecution of the case would divulge the identity of a "reliable informant."

Security for You

Badly Disabled Persons Should Check With SS

By RAY HENRY

Some 70,000 badly disabled persons who could have been collecting Social Security disability payments since July 1 still haven't asked for them.

Even so, the Social Security Administration says they haven't lost any money. They can apply now and draw full back payments.

But, they must act quickly. For, if they apply after Jan. 1, their payments will start as of the month they apply and there'll be no back payments.

Just why so many haven't applied yet, the Social Security people don't know. Presumably, it's because they don't realize they're eligible.

So, if you've become disabled at any time since then and haven't applied for the payments, it will be well worth your time to check your eligibility with your nearest Social Security office.

4 REQUIREMENTS

To be eligible, you'll have to meet these requirements:

1. You must have a permanent mental or physical disability which is so severe that you can't do any substantial work, and

2. You must be between 50 and 65, and

3. You must have had the disability for at least six months, and

4. You must have worked under Social Security for five of the ten years before you were disabled and for 18 of the last 36 months before you were disabled.

Without too much trouble you should be able to decide whether you meet the last three requirements. Only the Social Security Administration — after you apply for payments—can decide whether you meet the first requirement.

It usually makes the decision after your family doctor has examined your disability and given the facts surrounding it to the Social Security officials.

In any case, whether you're eligible or not will depend on how your disability fits this wording of the Social Security law:

"The term 'disability' means inability to engage in any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determined physical or mental impairment that can be expected to result in death or to be of long continued or indefinite duration."

PAYMENTS TIED TO WAGES

If you're found eligible, the size of your payments can be anywhere between $30 and $108.50 a month. The actual amount will depend mainly on the amount of your wages before you were disabled and on when you were disabled.

Before starting your payments, however, the Social Security people are required to reduce your payments by the amount of all but one type of other government disability payments you're getting.

If the other payments are less than your monthly Social Security payment, you'll receive a Social Security check for the difference between the two amounts. If the other payments are equal to or larger than your Social Security check, you'll not collect a check for any month in which the other payments are made.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Ex-Research Chief Calls for Firings

PASADENA, Calif. (UP)—The former head of the Air Force's research program said last night his remedy for the Vanguard failure would be "to start fairly close to the top and fire quite a few people."

Trevor Gardner, who resigned two years ago as assistant secretary of the Air Force for research and development, said he'd begin by firing the civilian administrators of the satellite launching program.

Gardner said he had no criticism of the technical aspects of the project.

"Vanguard failed because it was started with insufficient funds —a mere 20 million dollars being allocated whereas 200 million would have been a more realistic figure," he said at a meeting of the World Affairs Institute.

"The project lacked priority, and interservice rivalry was much to blame for slowing down progress and for its failure to get off the ground last Friday."

Gardner said the United States should now scrap the Vanguard project, bear down on its anti-missile program and acquire 50 missile launching bases overseas.

Oriental Couple, Love Banned, Die by Suicide

SHIMODA, Japan (UP)—The niece of the last Chinese Manchu Emperor and her young Japanese lover were found dead today on a wooded hill, suicides for love.

The bodies were found near Shimoda, 110 miles southwest of Tokyo. Beside them was a pistol and a suicide note.

Jail Cages Too Good

NEWPORT, R.I. (UP) — Sheriff Herbert K. Macauley found that one of two new wire cages for prisoners was so safe he couldn't get a prisoner out, even with a key. A civilian locksmith had to be called in to open the cage to release a man for trial.
