Argentina Quiet as Troops Patrol Streets

Peron Appeals for Calm, Says Revolt Is Over

Report Jailed Priests Freed; Rebels Claim Fighting Still On

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Armed troops patrolled downtown Buenos Aires today as stores shuttered by South America's bloodiest revolt in many years cautiously started to open again for business.

President Peron set up his headquarters in the Army Ministry, surrounded by military chiefs whose forces put down the naval-air uprising Thursday.

Millions of Argentine workers went back to their jobs after a 24-hour general strike called in mourning for the 360 persons killed and nearly 1,000 wounded in the short but violent action.

Appealing to the nation for calm, Peron said in a broadcast last night the revolt had been put down and peace prevailed throughout the country.

A radio station claiming to be a clandestine rebel transmitter, heard in Montevideo, Uruguay, reported widespread areas of continued resistance, however.

BLAMES REDS

Peron blamed the Communists for the vandalism against the churches, which he called "historic relics" of the nation.

A Reuters dispatch from the Argentine capital said every Catholic church in the downtown section and the Roman Catholic diocesan headquarters were set afire.

A communications blackout that prevented newsmen from reporting events in the city directly to the outside world was lifted last night but the correspondents were required to have their copy cleared (censored).

Peron insisted in his broadcast that at issue was the question of whether the Roman Catholic Church should remain the official state church as it is now, or whether the legal ties between church and state should be severed.

He urged again and again that Argentines remain calm and let this issue be settled at the polls, probably late this year.

An Argentine radio broadcast heard in Montevideo today said the Ministry of Interior had ordered the release of all Roman Catholic priests now held under arrest.

Mercury Expected to Hit 90 Today

An almost sizzling Saturday and Sunday is foreseen by the U.S Weather Bureau for the Pontiac area.

Although temperatures are expected to reach 90 today and tomorrow, this can't compare with the melting 95 degrees which established a record here on June 18 in 1944.

Little or no rain is expected within the next five days and the forecast is—"continued hot."

Yesterday's high in the downtown area was 88 degrees. From a low of 63 this morning, the mercury, with almost visible leaps and bounds, reached 88 by 2 o'clock.

Bass Season Under Way

Pontiac Press Photo

FIRST CONTEST ENTRY — Keith Parker, 137 Girard, Royal Oak, wasted little time after the opening of the bass season today in landing this beauty at Watkins Lake. Parker took the five-pound, four-ounce fish at 1 a. m. and became the first entry in the Pontiac Press Big Fish "Derby." Parker's catch was 21 inches in length, and 16 inches in girth. The Press' contest, open in bass, pike and bluegill divisions for Oakland County residents, runs through Labor Day.

Soviet Buddy Diplomacy May Highlight U.N. Session

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Russia's V. M. Molotov arrives here today for a week of diplomatic activity which may well overshadow the scheduled program of the U.N.'s 10th anniversary session.

Although the Soviet foreign minister ostensibly was coming to San Francisco primarily to address the June 20-26 session, he brought with him a delegation of 50 aides and advisers, many of them coming all the way from Moscow.

Western diplomats are convinced Molotov is determined to use his visit in every possible way to push the new Soviet "friendship" line. This may include a number of bilateral talks with foreign ministers of small nations.

The big diplomatic event is expected to be the talks between Molotov and the Big Three Western foreign ministers on plans for the top level meeting of the chiefs of government in Geneva July 18. The four-power talks will open here Monday.

Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay will arrive by plane Sunday from their strategy meetings in New York.

If the Soviet foreign minister follows the recent friendly pattern, there should not be too much difficulty in arranging an agenda for the Geneva conference. The controlled Soviet press, however, has indicated strong opposition to U.S. demands that the future of the satellite countries should be discussed. If this question is pushed, it may prove a tough one.

* * *

Western diplomats have been watching with interest Molotov's journey across the United States by train. For the first time in their memory, the usually aloof Molotov has been making all sorts of friendly gestures.

Molotov will speak Wednesday morning.

'Cactus Jack' in Roundup

Garner Quits Self Exile to Spur Dems Texas Drive

UVALDE, Tex. (AP)—Former Vice President John Nance Garner, 86, emerges from his self-imposed political exile for the second time since 1941 tomorrow to boost the Democratic party's drive to reclaim Texas.

National Democratic Chairman Paul Butler will be the luncheon guest of crusty "Cactus Jack."

Then Garner has invited "everybody" to gather on the shady lawn of his home here to meet the chairman of the National Democratic Committee.

JOHN NANCE GARNER

Butler is touring Texas in an effort to reunite feuding party factions and to make sure this state's presidential electors return to the Democratic fold in 1956 after the 1952 defection to the GOP.

The party factions split three years ago when a large segment led by Gov. Allan Shivers supported Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower. Shivers and his closest allies have snubbed the Butler pep meetings. Butler said his own refusal of a Shivers' luncheon invitation was no snub, but he couldn't go because he was running on a tight schedule.

Garner came out of his political shell in 1952 to give Adlai Stevenson a lift when the state organization under Shivers' guidance campaigned for the GOP.

The former vice president ate breakfast with Stephenson and Speaker Sam Rayburn, who spearheaded the national party's campaign in Texas. Then they all appeared on the front porch of Garner's home where a crowd of more than 1,000 heard the nominee and the former vice president.

* * *

Although Garner had made no political pronouncements after his retirement in 1941, he answered the plea of his old friend and Washington protege Rayburn to lend a hand in the tough Stevenson campaign. Eisenhower became the second Republican ever to carry Texas.

Garner spends most of his time tending to his chickens, shelling pecans and puttering around his home here.

"Just put me on the lazy, no-account list," he said.

Compensation Suggested for Boss' Ulcers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Catholic educator says that business executives should get workmen's compensation for ulcers and heart trouble "because they are certainly occupational diseases."

The Rev. Andrew C. Boss, director of the labor-management school at the University of San Francisco, also told the 11th annual conference of the American Society of Training Directors yesterday that better communication is needed between minor and top executives.

"Executives trying to climb over the backs of other executives to reach the top—this eternal scrambling to get ahead—breaks down both communications and the nervous system," he said.

MSC Raising Tuition Costs

College Budget Jumps $2,265,166 to Allow Health Center Addition

LANSING (AP)—The State Board of Agriculture yesterday approved a tentative budget of $20,044,926 for Michigan State College during the next fiscal year.

The amount, $2,265,166 greater than the current year's budget, reflects an increase of more than $500,000 in student fees.

The largest increase in expenditures—$1,137,846—is earmarked for salaries. Pay raises of some $320,000 are in store for selected salaried employes. Hourly employes will receive boosts of from four to 12 cents an hour.

The board voted to increase student fees to $68 a term next year. The fee, currently $60 per term, was raised $5 a term in January.

Board members said an additional increase of $3 a term was necessary to finance a $2,000,000 addition to the health center.

The addition, now in the planning stage, will double floor space of the existing center and increase bed capacity from 60 to 130 beds.

Also approved by the board was a $10 per term increase in dormitory fees. Starting next year, students will pay $690 per year for dormitory board and room.

Board members also voted to change the names of individual schools to "college," effective July 1.

Also approved was a plan to divide the Department of Geology and Geography into two departments.

The board also approved changes to the "Fight Song" and "MSC Shadows," to conform with the change of the college's name to "Michigan State University" July 1.

Nixon Predicts Money Policies 1956 Vote Issue

Ike's Economic Views Lauded in Talk Before Young GOP in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Vice President Nixon says the economic policies of President Eisenhower will be the "great issue" of the 1956 presidential election.

"In 1956," Nixon told the Young Republican National Convention last night, "we shall have a showdown battle between those who would nationalize and socialize basic American economic policies which have been put into effect by this administration and which have worked so well."

A defeat for the Republican party could mean only a return to the "Truman economic policies," he said. And, he added, "the basic theory of the New and Fair Deal was that every problem should be solved by government action."

A chant of "We Want Ike" broke from the crowd of 1,200 that attended the $10-a-plate dinner as Nixon accepted a convention mission to give the President a scroll signed by 1,000 supporters urging the "Eisenhower - Nixon team" to run again in 1956.

Nixon told delegates the most significant political development the past 2½ years has been "that what was our weakest issue has become our strongest."

"The phony idea that Republican economic policies were not good for the average man has been blasted to bits by the record of this administration," Nixon said.

He said jobs and wages were at a record high under the Eisenhower administration and he said the workers' purchasing power is higher than ever before in history.

Nixon's appearance climaxed the convention, which ends officially today. Some 1,600 delegates from all 48 states are attending.

Hogan, 9 Others Share 5 Stroke Spread in Open

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Four-time winner Ben Hogan and nine other challengers, all bunched within a 5-stroke spread, dominated the picture as the United States Open golf championship swung into the final two rounds today.

Tied for the lead and among the later starters were Tommy Bolt and San Francisco's amateur star, Harvie Ward Jr.—Bolt with a 67-77—144 behind him, and Ward with 74-70—144.

Peiping Says 16 Others Who Remained Behind Are Welcome to Leave

TOKYO (AP) — Red China today said it was sending home three Americans and two Belgians who chose to remain in Red China after the Korean War.

A Peiping radio broadcast said 16 others who refused repatriation could come home, too, anytime they choose—and hinted strongly they're homesick.

There was no mention of 11 American fliers held by the Peiping government who were captured late in the war when a B29 bomber was shot down. Four Sabrejet pilots also captured late in the war were released recently at Hong Kong and have reached home.

Those to be released are:

Cpl. Lewis W. Griggs, of 406 Kickapoo St., Jacksonville, Tex.

Cpl. Otho G. Bell, 494, Rt. 5, Olympia, Wash.

Cpl. William A. Cowart, 503 Benton St., Dalton, Ga.

Roger Devriendt, Westvlaanderen, Belgium.

Louis Verdyck, Antwerp, Belgium.

The broadcast did not say when or where the five would be released but said "we are going through the formalities for their exit and making all necessary arrangements."

The five will leave China when these are completed, the broadcast said.

Shipping Strike Nearly Ended

Two Big CIO Unions Reach Agreement With Operator Groups

NEW YORK (AP) — Shipping tie-ups along two - thirds of the nation's coastline today appeared almost ended.

Two big CIO unions reached tentative agreements early today in disputes with shipping companies. Another CIO group, the National Maritime Union, had settled earlier.

This left only one other strike, by an AFL union, still pending. It was not expected to affect resumption of work by the others.

Tentative pacts were achieved at dawn this morning between the National Maritime Institute, representing operators of cargo and passenger vessels, and the CIO marine engineers and radio operators.

Officials of the marine engineers union quickly signed the new contract.

The radio operators union was due to follow momentarily.

It was believed that back - to-work orders would be issued before the day is over to union members aboard passenger and cargo ships of some 40 companies operating from East and Gulf Coast ports.

A Man Should Be a Hero to His Son on Fathers Day

By HAL BOYLE

If he isn't, then no family gift of necktie, belt or robe, will have meaning to him. He has to be king of the hill to his boy or the day is a mockery.

Dad is to be looked up to. His nature and the structure of the family require it. If he isn't looked up to, then the family's in a bad way.

But being a father is a puzzling job. You do so much for the kids . . . and the kids take it for granted . . . but what do they really know about you . . . and what do you really know about them?

ACT THE ROLE

One way to stay a hero to your son is never to do anything a hero wouldn't do. Considering the fragility of flesh and fathers, that's nigh impossible. The human way (and this is possible) is for a dad to live so, that his boy is proud of him—and never do anything deliberately to hurt the boy's pride in being his son.

★ ★ ★

The moment of questioning does have to come, of course, by the natural laws of living.

Sooner or later a boy whose mistakes have been pointed out to him by his father makes a landmark discovery — his father can be wrong, too. Authority can err.

This is a big thing in a boy's lifetime—the first time he catches a parent violating a code the boy believes in—and he remembers it forever. How it affects him depends on what came before, the tolerance his parents showed him. Or the lack of tolerance.

FAMILY MAN

I remember a time when my dad, who now gets a wreath of flowers for Father's Day, used to like to go hunting on the only afternoon of the week he didn't work.

★ ★ ★

He had four sons and two dogs, and since he was a family man and loved us all he took us all along. He carried the only gun. Boys and dogs had the fun of seeing who could flush up the first rabbit or quail, and it was fun. The boys got a big kick out of showing, now and again, we could start up more game than those big-mouthed beagles.

But one winter day nothing moved but us, hour after hour. Dad, who was a splendid shot, became restless for lack of targets.

We started back to the car. We met a farm boy carrying a small coop of pigeons. Dad asked what he wanted for them and the boy said 15 cents apiece and dad said go ahead and let them loose, one at a time.

I stood there in silence as he shot and he didn't miss many. Neither the farm boy nor dad, who had run a trapline at the age of 10, thought there was anything wrong. But I had never seen my father fire at a sitting rabbit or a standing quail. And for the first time in my life I was against my father and in favor of something else—the pigeons he was firing at.

★ ★ ★

When it was over, we started on again toward the car. Always before we had brought back and eaten the game from our hunts—rabbit, quail or squirrel. The beagles ran up and sniffed at the fallen pigeons, but we didn't take them home.

I walked with my face turned away from my father.

"What's the matter, son?" he asked, puzzled.

"Nothing, dad."

How could I put into words what I felt? He had shown a fault in my eyes, the first fault, the one a boy always remembers.

He was still my dad, and because he had always been kind before and always was kind in a time of need later, it really didn't make any difference between us.

★ ★ ★

He remained my hero—he still remains my hero more than 30 years after that wintry day in the woods—but his halo had gained a tarnish, and I found that a boy must learn also to love his father as a human being.

Police Probe 5 Breakins in City

Pontiac Police today were investigating five burglaries which last night netted thieves loot ranging from an empty wallet to four bottles of whisky and $50 in change.

The empty wallet was taken from the Stewart-Glenn Co. furniture warehouse at 20 Franklin Rd., along with some miscellaneous tools, police reported. The whisky and $50 were taken from a grocery at 220 S. Telegraph Rd., owned by Joseph Felice.

Also broken into during the night were the Shamrock Dairy, 936 Joslyn Ave.; Clyde's Wheel and Frame Co., 169 Orchard Lake Ave., and Springer's Feed Store, 1484 Baldwin Ave.

Court Decision on Upstate Bank

U. S. Referee Upholds Comptroller's Argument to Consider State Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal court has upheld a ruling by the comptroller of the currency that he must consider state banking laws in processing applications for national banks to set up branches.

U. S. District Judge Edward M. Curran affirmed yesterday the comptroller's policy in a case involving an attempt by the Michigan National Bank of Lansing to open a second branch in Saginaw.

The Michigan National Bank was established in 1940 by consolidating seven national banks—one of them in Saginaw. The bank applied to the comptroller for permission to open a second branch in Saginaw, but was turned down.

The comptroller based his ruling on a state law which prohibits opening of a branch of a state bank more than 25 miles away from the parent bank.

The bank argued it had inherited the Saginaw bank's pre-consolidation right to open a branch in the same city. It also claimed a branch bank could open another institution in the same city.

Judge Curran held Michigan law permits only a parent bank, not branches, to open other branches. He also ruled against the bank inheriting a pre-consolidation right.

Plan Panorama of Saugatuck

Art Club Painting Huge Canvas Scene Showing Town in 80's

SAUGATUCK (AP)—A historic canvas awning, 10 by 40 feet, is being painted with 19th century scenes by the Saugatuck-Douglas Art Club as their contribution to the village's 125th anniversary.

The canvas originally functioned as a sunshade for the Hotel Maplewood, one of Saugatuck's older resort hotels.

The painted panorama, showing the Saugatuck area as it was in the 80s, will become a permanent part of the lower room of the 75-year-old village hall.

Saugatuck Assn. spokesmen said the room, formerly housing the village fire department, will be remodeled into a resorters' lounge.

Miss Jean Goldsmith, president of the Saugatuck-Douglas Art Club, says the panorama project involves extensive research to keep the painting accurate. History books, etchings and memory recall of older residents help place the painted landmarks correctly, she states.

The canvas represents a four-mile stretch of land, extending from a southern point near the present Douglas business district to the site of the abandoned village of Singapore.

The home of William Butler, Saugatuck's first white resident, the old lighthouse, an Indian encampment and maple sugar bush growth are some of the painting's highlights.

Miss Goldsmith said the art club now in its third year, numbers 30 members from the two villages. All are amateur painters, she states. Other club projects include a clothesline art exhibit in July and the second annual exhibit at the Red Barn Theater later this month.

Warning Device Automatically Summons Nurse

ELYRIA, Ohio (UP) — An automatic blood pressure recorder that will summon a nurse when a patient's blood pressure reaches a critical level has been put into production here.

* * *

The device, which works in connection with a buzzer, bell or light warning system, was first developed at the National Bureau of Standards. It is being produced for hospitals by the Colson Corp.

The device can be set to record blood pressure—both diastolic and systolic—at intervals of from 30 seconds to an hour.

A blood pressure cuff is wrapped around the patent's arm and inflated. A microphone is strapped over the arm at the point where a physician holds his stethoscope in ordinary blood pressure reading.

An electric circuit amplifying impulses from the microphone sets in motion a printing device that records the blood pressure.

* * *

By setting the device for a certain pressure, the nurse of a post-surgery of cardiac patient can be summoned when the pressure falls to the pre-set level through the bell, light or buzzer attachment.

President Given Mobilization OK

Nation Should Depend Upon Chief Executive's Decision After Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government emerged today from "Operation Alert 1955" with a clear decision to rely on the "inherent powers" of the presidency to mobilize the country under any attempted real knockout attack.

This decision appeared to rule out any possibility that the administration would seek standby powers from Congress to invoke a swift "freeze" of wages and prices and to assume control of materials and production.

Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming said the decision to rely instead on the President's inherent powers, as part of which Eisenhower invoked a pretended state of martial law, was the "most important" of the three-day test.

The President rested at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm today and the remainder of the government had returned to Washington from the 31 hideouts to which 15,000 key officials and workers fled Wednesday in advance of the simulated atom and hydrogen bomb attack. From the hideouts they went through the motions of putting a theoretically stricken nation back on its feet.

* * *

Instead of setting up a reservoir of powers in advance, he said, the President at the moment of attack would invoke his "full and inherent powers." Flemming said Eisenhower made the decision only after he was advised of "the full facts of the devastating attack" which was simulated in the test exercise.

Cowboy Dreams Become Reality for City Native

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, N.M. (AP) — When Mike Kirk, 17, was a toddler in Cincinnati and Indianapolis he played cowboy with the other youngsters. When he moved west with his parent, he began to meet youngsters from farm and ranch families for whom the cowboy role was not a game, but the real thing.

He visited their homes, saved his money to buy boots like they wore, and eventually got a vacation job on a ranch. Even the fact that much of the work turned out to be muddy chores in fields and irrigation ditches failed to mar the glamour.

Finally he mat rt Evans, manager of a big ranch, and arranged for spare-time work there during his senior year in high school. He lived at the ranch, part of his duties being to drive ranch children to school.

Now he has a full-time ranch job. He plans to work until he is drafted. He's saving his money and after he completes his military tour hopes to "get started on my own."

Program to Be Carried on Through Summer If Vaccine Is Available

LANSING (AP) — Michigan will go ahead with polio vaccinations of the "highest risk" five-to-nine age group during the summer months if the vaccine becomes available.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, made this decision yesterday on recommendation of a governor's special advisory committee composed of physicians, pharmacists and public health officers.

With only one negative vote, the committee voted to proceed with the vaccination during the polio "season" despite risks of public outcry.

Dr. Heustis accepted the committee recommendation that state and local health officers and local physicians consult before suspending the vaccination program in any area which experiences an epidemic of the polio during the vaccination peroid.

He said there was a possibility that federal health authorities will fix a level of polio cases at which point vaccination should stop.

Some states have decided to halt vaccinations during the summer months.

The committee voted to give the 5-9 age group first priority in issuing vaccination to be bought with a two million dollar state grant.

Dr. Heustis said this program would start as soon as Michigan got a supply of vaccine. He said the National Foundation for infantile paralysis believes supplies may be ready in 30 days.

Rochester Man Dies in Crash

Richard Diewald Killed in Automobile Accident in Virginia

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — A 23-year-old sailor from Rochester, Mich., was among three young servicemen killed early today when their auto roared out of control and crashed near the West Virginia line.

Dead were:

Richard Stewart Diewald, the driver, of Bloomer State Park, Rochester. He was attached to the USS Vermillion in Norfolk.

Norman L. Binson, 21, of Jackson, also attached to the Vermillion.

James C. Hillian, 20, of Oklahoma City, assigned to a Marine air group in North Carolina. A fourth man was injured.

According to State Police, the accident occurred around 12:45 a. m. about 1 miles north of Winchester on U. S. 522. A policeman said Diewald's car veered out of control on a curve. The careening vehicle hit the road shoulder, skidded on gravel and plunged over an embankment, the trooper said.

Cavein Traps Two Digging Sewer Hole

A Southfield man yesterday was buried under three feet of clay when the earth around a sewage hole he was digging for the Lockwood Project gave way.

Ray Carps, 28105 Stuart, was admitted to Beaumont Hospital with a fractured left leg, after the cavein occurred about 1:30 p.m.

Carps and another man, unidentified, were rescued by Michael O'Hara, owner of the Nelson construction company, their employer.

O'Hara was held by the feet as he administered oxygen to the trapped men, while digging them out with a trowel.

While the men were in the hole, in a kneeling position, the walls collapsed and the clay broke over them in large chunks, giving them enough air to survive until O'Hara rescued them.

Detroit Slum Clearance Plan Gets Federal Nod

DETROIT (INS) — James W. Follin, commissioner of urban renewal for the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, said yesterday that federal aid for Detroit's multi-million-dollar program for slum elimination will be granted "as fast as the city can use it."

Follin said the Federal Government has certified Detroit's "workable plan" for redevelopment of old neighborhoods and authorized grants of $2 for every $1 spent.

'Old Stone House' Near Milford Scene of Centennial Anniversary Fete Today

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Pontiac Press Correspondent

MILFORD—One hundred years ago this week, Squire Washington Rowe finished building a mansion out of field stone and timber from his own forest near Milford.

Fifty descendants of the Rowe family are gathering today at the "Old Stone House" to celebrate the centennial anniversary of one of the most magnificent homes in this area.

Pioneer records of the Rowe family read like a Davy Crockett legend. Wild bear, Indians, politics and the Civil War were all woven into the history of these courageous early settlers.

Coming from New York State in 1835, the Rowe clan settled on 200 rolling acres of unbroken forest and lived in bark shanties the first summer. In the fall of that year, the Rowes built neat log cabins overlooking a lake, which is still known as Rowe Lake.

For twenty years, the Squire and his wife Dolly lived in one of the double cabins, rearing five boys and three girls. In 1855 they decided to build the stone house.

It took almost a year to haul stone from the fields, cut down the timber and build the 12-room house that still stands in wonderfully preserved condition at 2380 Lone Tree Rd.

In the 20-foot square reception room there are seven doors leading to various parts of the house. This room, with its large stone fireplace, still serves as a "keeping room" for the present owners, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mastick. Mrs. Mastick is a great-granddaughter of the early pioneers.

Many furnishings in the old stone house are original pieces, including a square Rosewood piano, one of the first in this part of the country.

Original oil paintings hang throughout the rooms, marbletop tables and handmade chests have been rubbed to a satiny finish by years of excellent care. Fine old glass and silver indicate the pride with which the Rowe family has kept these heirlooms.

Outside are 30 maple trees, planted the same year that the house was completed. These century-old trees also line the road for 500 yards in each direction. A field-stone fence surrounds the spacious grounds.

Official records covering the history of Oakland County show that Squire Rowe was a Republican, and held the office of supervisor in his township 21 terms.

At the close of the Civil War he was elected a member of the State Legislature, and held that position until the time of his death. Two of his sons served in the Civil War.

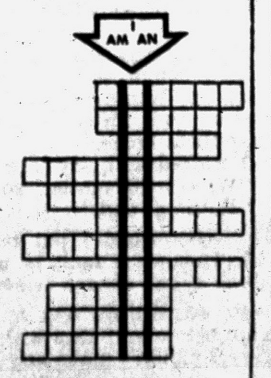

An original copy of the resolution ratifying the Emancipation Proclamation, dated 1865, hangs in the east wing study of the house. It was designed and executed by hand by L. B. Potter, almost one hundred years ago.

As friends and relatives gather today, the history of the Rowe family will be reviewed and childhood memories talked over by descendants of Dolly and Squire Rowe.

Women of the West Highland Church will serve the noon dinner today, and festivities will continue through Sunday. Visitors are expected from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and California for the celebration.

Jungle Queen Has Past --Was Phone Operator

by EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I think it's only fair to tell you TV fans that "Sheena, the Queen of the Jungle" used to be a phone operator in Marysville, Kan.

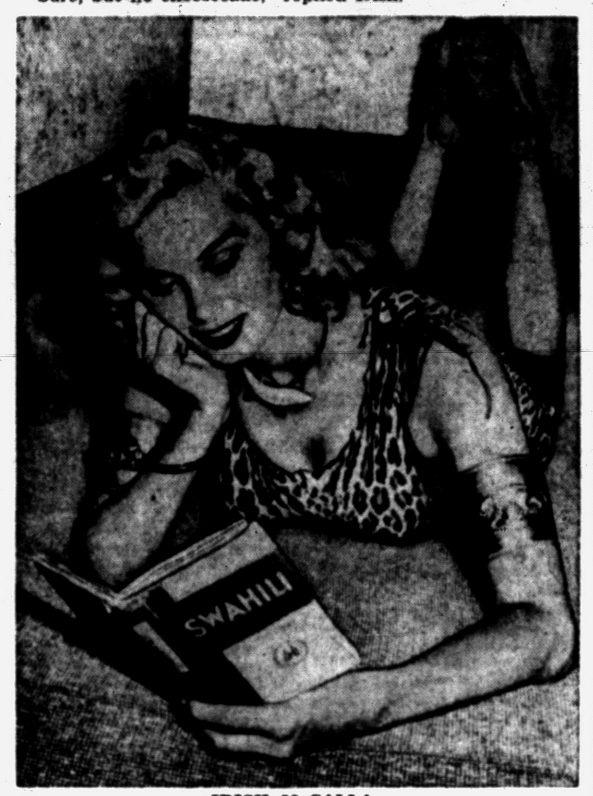

★ ★ ★ ★

Miss Irish McCalla, who later became a Hollywood cheesecake model, has also lived around such famous jungles as Des Moines, Omaha and Marshalltown, Ia.

Her Jungle Queenship, visiting New York recently, had a book of "Swahili" (that's the language of the Bantu people of Zanzibar) which she seemed to be studying, although as she said, "Suppose I learn it? Who's I gonna talk it to?"

"How about some pictures?" the interviewer said, inasmuch as Sheena, or Irish was in a sort of jungle negligee . . . made, she said, of fireproof material.

"Sure, but no cheesecake," replied Irish.

IRISH McCALLA
. . . She's Supposed to Appeal to Kiddies

"But you've posed for as much cheesecake as Marilyn Monroe!" protested the disappointed photog.

★ ★ ★ ★

"No more, though," flung back the 5'-9 blonde beauty, mother of two. "Sheena's supposed to appeal to the children."

"But it's all right if their daddies look too," spoke up a representative of TV producer Don Sharpe, who took Sheena, the comic book jungle queen, and put her on television.

"Let me make sure I've got everything on," Irish requested. "Oh, oh, I forgot my jungle bracelet."

"My first year of high school, I went through on a broken leg.

"You see, my brother had a pony. I had a crush on my older sister's boy friend. You know the cowgirls could jump over the back of the horse. I tried that with the pony and landed stiff-legged . . ."

While a telephone operator in Marysville, Kan., she decided to go to Hollywood, became a model, married Patrick McIntyre, and never suspected she'd one day be jungle-queening it down around Kenya, South Africa, somewhere—in her imagination.

Biggest Single Export Transaction Inside Iron Curtain Since 1949

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Commerce Department spokesman said today the department has approved the export of about 500 Chevrolet passenger cars to Communist Bulgaria.

It was the biggest single export transaction with the Soviet Union or its satellites since 1949, the spokesman said. In that year the Commerce Department's Bureau of Foreign Commerce, which administers export controls, approved the shipment of half a million dollars worth of equipment for shallow water well drilling to the Soviet Union.

The department announced yesterday it had penalized Willys-Overland Export Corp. because some 100 jeeps shipped to Lebanon had been diverted to Communist Romania.

The department spokesman who disclosed approval of the shipment to Bulgaria said, however, the two cases could not be related. He said the jeeps were four-wheel drive vehicles and as such were on the department's list of strategic items banned for shipment behid the Iron Curtain.

He said ordinary passenger cars are not considered strategic.

The Willys-Overland Corp. was put on probation for six months. The BFC said Willys had been disciplined because it had reports that the jeeps were to be transshipped and failed to inform BFC of these reports.

New City Playgrounds

DAVID R. EWALT, Pontiac's recreation director, is understandably happy over the City Commission's action in naming three additions to the City's park and playground system.

The names chosen were recommended by him. They are official recognition of the contributions made to playground construction costs by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Optimist and Rotary clubs.

A 32-acre park adjacent to the Malkim school has been named Jaycee Park. A one-acre playground between Strathmore and Fairmount avenues near Hollywood will be known as Optimist Playground. A five-acre area at Wessen and Walnut streets will bear the name Rotary Playground.

Director EWALT has done well to commend these organizations for the civic spirit behind their contributions to the City's expanded park and playground system. It always has been our view that money devoted to parks and public recreation is an investment that pays large and lasting social dividends.

Ike to Play Top Role at U. N.'s Anniversary

The eyes of all 60 member states will be focused Monday on San Francisco where celebration of the 10th anniversary of the United Nations Charter will begin.

A leading figure in the week long observance, of course, will be President Eisenhower. A few days ago in speaking of the conference, he urged that the country review U. N.'s failures, goals and achievements and our own "hopes and expectations for such a body."

Another leading figure at the scene of U.N.'s birth will be former President TRUMAN who has accepted an invitation to speak. It will be remembered that he closed the organizing conference with a speech on June 26, 1945.

His words then were prophetic for he described the Charter as "only a first step to lasting peace and not a final or perfect instrument." However, he called it a "great instrument" which declared "faith that war was not inevitable" and said the world must use the Charter.

In the 1945 conference the Russians gave early evidence of the intransigence they were to show in later U.N. activities. Also the Little 45 Nations staged an unsuccessful fight to limit the veto power of the Big Five.

The United Nations officially came into existence on October 24, 1945, after ratifications of the Charter by the Big Five. U.S. Senate ratification came on August 8 by a vote of 89 to 2. The only no votes were cast by Senators LANGER and SHIPSTEAD.

★ ★ ★

Target of criticism though it is and despite its failures, the 10 year old United Nations has served the cause of peace well. While U. S. official and popular opinion continue to support U. N. attention is now focusing on ways and means of strengthening the organization by charter revision next year.

Peron's War on Church Leads to Revolution

No one should have been surprised by the brief but bloody rebellion over Argentine Dictator PERON'S war on the Roman Catholic Church.

Fighting broke out in Buenos Aires immediately after the news came that the Vatican had excommunicated PERON. The incidents which culminated in this retaliatory action are numerous and disturbing. They include the arrest of many members of the clergy.

It isn't clear yet whether PERON was making his campaign against the church a diversionary maneuver to keep the people's minds off the evils of his dictatorship. But according to the New York Times' Buenos Aires' correspondent if PERON wanted separation of Church and State he could have had it without strife.

The correspondent points out that the state supported church in Argentina has a tradition of non-interference in politics. In view of that, measures rammed through the rubber stamp congress indicate that the dictator was looking for trouble.

Among other things public meetings aimed at religious processions, were banned. Laws legalizing divorce and prostitution were enacted. There also were numerous new restrictions on the teaching of religion in state and church schools.

Finally, PERON is reported offering the people his own Fascist brand of religion with his dead wife EVITA defied as a substitute for the VIRGIN MARY.

No one knows where all this will end. But what is happening in Argentina is bad for the church, for the country and most of all, bad for PERON.

Cobo Candidacy

GOP Leaders Wondering Which Way to Jump

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING—The growing boomlet to make Mayor Albert Cobo of Detroit the Republican nominee for governor next year has got politicians talking to themselves.

• • •

The boom was kicked off in the State Senate with a petition asking Cobo to run. It was joined by a substantial number of House Republicans, although most of the young Republicans refused to sign.

Then the stage was set for the Republican legislators to move on Detroit and present the petition to Cobo at a testimonial dinner.

Much to the surprise of many Republicans outstate, Cobo started talking like a candidate although he withheld a flat decision.

• • •

But he has placed conditions on his acceptance which bother Republicans in addition to the age-old question: "Can he be elected?"

The Cobo candidacy—if you can call it that—is a hard one for political pros to figure.

GOOD RECORD

Cobo has made himself a good record as mayor of Detroit. He is credited with a sensible, economical use of tax money and with a progressive program. He has shown real leadership in untangling Detroit's traffic bottlenecks with a major expressway program.

• • •

Those who are pushing Cobo believe that he can pick up a bigger vote in Wayne County than many previous Republican nominees and that he can be sold to upstate voters as a solid, hard-working, sensible man.

Cobo is a stocky, rather ordinary looking fellow who might be mistaken for a successful small town businessman. He speaks well and to the point, but is no orator.

• • •

GROWS ON ONE

One Republican leader says that Cobo grows on one with acquaintance. Thus, he asks, will a governorship campaign provide sufficient time for Cobo to get around the circuit often enough to give the voters a sense of familiarity with him.

• • •

Unquestionably, a lot could be done—and probably will be done—to make Cobo more familiar outstate than he is now.

But Cobo has insisted that he withhold any decision on the race until next Jan. 1.

That has got the politicians worried.

If the Republicans can keep all opposition out until next January—and that will be difficult—and if they can throw united enthusiasm behind Cobo then he might come sailing across the starting line.

But if some of the other possible candidates get edgy and start out for themselves earlier, the whole scheme might go up in smoke because Cobo apparently will not consent to a hard primary campaign and then a hard election campaign on top of it.

WHICH DIRECTION?

Noting the signs of important people behind Cobo, upstate Republican leaders are wondering which way to jump.

• • •

They do not know Cobo. Because of his long years of nonpartisanship in Detroit municipal government, he had not been active in Republican circles. He is not the glamour boy which the Republicans dream of finding to offset Williams or Hart.

Signing of Magna Charta Has Religious Significance

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, June 19 is the anniversary of the signing of the Magna Charta (great charter) at Runnymede, England, in 1215. Although it does not appear in the official calendar of any church, it is a day of great religious significance throughout the English-speaking world.

It was on this occasion that the English nobility forced the tyrannical King John I to sign a document giving them—not everybody, just noblemen—48 new personal rights and liberties, chief of which was freedom of worship. The opening words of the Magna Charta were "The Church of England shall be free."

To Americans, long accustomed to liberty, the mere loosening of a few restrictions for a small group of dukes and earls may not appear to be much of a step toward freedom. The point is that it was a step—perhaps it might even be considered the first one.

The religious meaning here was that the basic Christian idea of the value of the individual human being began at Runnymede to find at least some meager, limited expression in the structure of government.

NEW CHURCH DAY

Many Christians look forward to the Second Coming of the Lord, but to one group the Second Coming has already happened. Today, according to the Swedenborgians, is the anniversary of that event.

Followers of the 18th Century Swedish mystic Emanuel Swedenborg believe that in the year 1757 there was a great judgment in the spiritual world, with the result that the evil spirits were separated from the good, and a New Heaven was set up.

Jesus called His Apostles together and put them to work again in the new Heaven just as He had put them to work on earth 17 centuries earlier. And it was on June 19 and 20 that this reassembling and recommissioning took place.

Without being conscious of the importance of the date, a number of Swedenborg's disciples met on June 19, 1770, and organized themselves into the Church of the New Jerusalem, which soon came to be called, as it is now, simply "The New Church." It was some years before they began to realize that they were always, apparently quite by chance, holding their really important meetings on the 19th of June. Then they perceived the significance of this day, and named it New Church Day.

ST. JOHN THE BAPTIST

Friday, June 24 is the date the Church set Dec. 25 as the birthday of Jesus it was a matter of simple arithmetic to establish the feast of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist. In Luke, chapter I, verse 36, when the Archangel Gabriel announced to Mary that Jesus was to be born he also told her that her cousin Elizabeth would bear a son (John) and said "it is now the sixth month with her." So—John was six months older than Jesus.

This reckoning of course set the Baptist's day exactly at the time of the summer solstice, a time of great pagan festivity. This was the ancient Midsummer's Night, and dedicating it to John the Baptist did not do much toward turning it into a Christian occasion.

An interesting legend in connection with Midsummer's Eve (the night before) was that all the Egyptian soldiers who had been drowned when the Red Sea closed over them could be seen on this night. They had been turned into seals at the time of their drowning, but tonight they came ashore as mortals and sang and danced on the beach until dawn.

St. John the Baptist is the patron saint of missionaries because he was the prophet "sent to prepare the way of the Lord." (Luke, chapter 1, verse 76.)

Two Considerate Truck Drivers Help Pontiac Residents En Route to Hospital

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature

I would like to praise the action of two truck drivers who were kind enough to change a tire for us on June 6 on Bald Mountain. The truck drivers went past us going in the opposite direction, but turned around and came back to help us.

A neighbor lady was taking me to the hospital where I was to be admitted and we were unfortunate to have a blowout at this time. Time was precious, and we owe these truck drivers a debt of gratitude.

Also, at this time, I would like to let people know that the complaints of doctors who are too busy for their patients is not altogether true. In my case I was turned over to other doctors for an operation, but at the same time my own family doctor took time every day to see me and inquire about my general condition. He is a very busy man. Let's give credit where credit is due.

Uncle Josh Seeks Horse After Hearing Gas Rates

With all this Union-Ford business and the raise in gas tax, I'm pretty upset. I drove my little "Austin" down to the corner gas station for my annual 50 cents worth of gas and the man came out with an eyedropper in his hand.

I asked "You aren't going to fill her up with that, are you?" He answered, "Well, I don't know, if we get one more gas tax I'll be doing just that."

Well, what is the world coming to? I dug the old rubber tired buggy out of the back of the tool shed and with a couple of coats of good paint—do you know where I can buy a good horse?

Urges Men Stay in Union, Says Better Things Ahead

At Local 653 Pontiac Motors, it looks like the days of old. Men are walking over to the CIO hall forming a line, waiting their turn to sign up and join the union. Some of them have their 25 year watches on, others say they will quit before they join them.

I don't think Pontiac Motors will lose a man. Most of the men have been riding free for 18 years, but now they are squealing because they've got to start paying their way. They have always taken the holiday pay, vacation pay and raises in wages but now they think their dues should just be paid by someone else.

Now things are changed, the union is not forcing you to join, which is only fair. So if you don't want to join, you do not have to. However, almost everywhere you go, there is a union.

So just stay with the union, it will win many more good things for all of us. We have a start on the annual wage, the next goal will be the 30 or 32 hour week. The winning of that will not be any harder than the annual wage success.

Operation Alert Headlines This Week's News Review

WASHINGTON (INS)—The U.S. government took to the woods and the hills this week. A make-believe hydrogen-atomic attack tested the nation's ability to survive a disaster of almost unimaginable proportions.

Just as he would do if the real thing occurred, President Eisenhower took personal command of the situation prescribed in "Operation Alert, 1955," the most spectacular civil defense exercise ever held anywhere in the world.

More than three-score American cities theoretically were blasted, gutted, piled high with dead and dying, and then hit with muderous radioactive fallout.

Ike led 15,000 government officials and employes in a fast getaway from Washington, ahead of the hypothetical H-bomb which in theory reduced the capital to rubble while other city-busting missiles—equally theoretical—pulverized New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Los Angeles and a long list of other metropolises.

TEST SUCCESS

Civil defense officials said the three-day exercise was successful in proving that the nation's leaders could function efficiently even under saturation-type nuclear assault; in driving home with enormous impact the need to be prepared.

The grim simulation of nation-wide terror was enacted while famed foreigners were in the U.S. to talk about prospects for averting any such atomic cataclysm as Operation Alert visualized.

Among them were West German Chancelor Konrad Adenauer, India's roving Ambassador V. K. Krishna Menon, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay—and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

AGREE ON POLICY

Adenauer held a highly significant conference with Eisenhower. They agreed to reject any Soviet attempt to make West German neutrality the price of a reunited Germany.

Krishna Menon's visit to the White House may have been more important than it looked on the surface.

Officially, very little was said about his report to the President and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on his recent talks with Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai.

But unofficially, it was indicated that Ike and Dulles listened attentively to the Indian diplomat's ideas about easing the tensions between the U.S. and Red China.

Arrangements were made for Krishna Menon to see the President again in a couple of weeks. Meanwhile, he may prod Chou for release of the (at least) 63 Americans, including 11 airmen, still held by the Chinese Reds.

Dulles, who was excused from participation in Operation Alert because of his pressingly real diplomatic problems, held strategy talks in New York with Macmillan and Pinay. Adenauer was brought into the discussions.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Doctor Raps UMT for Separating Men From Refining Influence of Family Life

UMT makes an excellent topic for high school and college debating teams. Most of our college presidents, labor unions and church leaders oppose UMT, and not because they are complete pacifists. They feel forced military servitude is un-American, at least in peace time.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case 0-360: Harlan D., aged 35, is a high school principal.

"Dr. Crane, what do you psychologists think about UMT?" Harlan began. "Many of my high school boys are worried and uncertain about their future because of the continuing draft.

"It demoralizes them in many ways. In fact, I think much of our current juvenile delinquency is due to the threat of military conscription that hangs over the heads of all American boys.

"So what would universal military training do to our youth?"

UMT DEBATE

There are obviously two sides to such a major issue as the proper way to protect the United States from outside military aggression.

Many people, especially those who have made the Army or Navy their lifetime career, are ardent advocates of universal military training for all American boys.

Others feel that the coercive or forced induction of all boys is not the American way of doing things.

* * *

Instead, they suggest that a military career be "sold" to boys on its merits, just as law or medicine or business.

"BRASS" BLAMED

They say the military "brass" just want big armies and navies in order to maintain their own officer status and higher pay.

This topic should make an ideal debate subject for our high school and college debating teams this coming year.

The military minded folks argue that we need vast armies of recruits to defend America.

* * *

"Against what?" retorted those opposed to UMT. "If America, with the strongest fleet and air army in the world, finds it impractical to ship vast armies abroad, how can Russia or any other possible future foe, place vast armies on American soil?"

"Besides," they add, "if this is to be an atomic war, why waste our money training millions of boys to trudge on drill fields and carry puny little rifles?"

MILITARY SPEAKS UP

The militarist, however, argues that it requires previously trained armies to defend a nation.

"How about Germany and Japan?" reply those who oppose UMT. "They insisted on forced conscription of men. They trained their boys to goose-step, yet our self-reliant Americans beat German soldiers in two world wars."

Psychologists are pretty well in agreement that America needs to be strong, but whether conscription of teenagers on a universal and forced servitude basis, is the proper answer, is subject to doubt.

* * *

Labor union leaders and college heads and most of the clergy are likewise heavily opposed, for they feel the idea of compulsion is repugnant to America's entire tradition, at least in peace times.

ON THEIR OWN

"But it does boys a lot of good to get away from home and to be thrown on their own resources," many folks maintain.

That is quite true, but college will do the same thing with much less emphasis on vulgarity, sexual immorality and the coarser all-male environment.

It's not good psychology to segregate men away from the cultural and moral influences of their parents, sisters and other refining influences.

* * *

Jet pilots and scientists are the best defense of the future. Adequate pay incentive should attract plenty of topnotch men for such officer training.

* * *

Meanwhile, the National Guard of each state, plus the Boy Scouts, can handle the usual need for foot-soldering, which is largely an obsolete concept in this atomic age if we mind our own business and wage only defensive wars in the future.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Questions & Answers

This new Salk vaccine is giving vivisection a tremendous boost. Poor monkeys are the victims. God never intended healing to be done through such means . . .(M. J. B.)

Answer — I wouldn't kill bird, fish or animal for sport, but I still eat 'em. I'm sorry for the monkeys but grateful for the Salk vaccine.

* * *

A few years ago you gave the recipe for a corn and callus remedy that was most effective. Now I have lost the recipe . . .(Mrs. J. W. McH.)

Answer — Paint corn or callus not bunion) daily with a solution of 30 grains of salicylic acid in one-half fluid ounce of flexible collodion. In a week or so corn or callus softens so you can wipe it away.

* * *

For many years I have enjoyed your daily articles and have learned much to the advantage of my health. I am 78 and I feel indignant when any one makes unkind remarks — they don't know what a friend you have been to mankind . . . (S. L.)

Answer — Thank you sir. Mankind, put this in your pipe and smoke it.

* * *

The chamomile tea treatment you give in your pamphlet has healed my varicose ulcer . . . (J. M. P.)

Answer — The treatment is described in detail in the pamphlet on Varicose Veins And Varicose Ulcer, for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

* * *

Please make a statement on the idiotic practice of using suppositories on babies. My daughter uses two suppositories a day and insists it is what they recommended at the hospital . . .(V. M. F.)

Answer — Your daughter is probably a dumb high school or college graduate and being totally ignorant of child care she swallows as unquestionable any damphool thing the tyros at the hospital tell the customers. Send twenty-five cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for The Brady Baby Book.

Would a cancer smear from one spot answer for the whole body . . . ? (B. W.)

Answer — No, only for the spot from which the smear is made. Better leave it to the physician whether any further smears are necessary.

* * *

A pamphlet on shaking palsy? We like your column very much, and believe everything you say. God bless you for the good you do — and for the fine humor you mix with your medicine! (W. P.)

Answer — For the pamphlet on Shaking Palsy send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

* * *

Your pamphlet on varicose veins gave me so much help. It is over a year now that I have been doing what you advised, and the sore spots have disappeared, even the lumps and brown spots. The doctor had told me only operation could do any good . . .(Mrs. H. J.)

Answer — Thank you, Ma'am. Any reader who asks for it in writing and provides stamped, self-addressed envelope, may have the pamphlet Varicose.

* * *

Answer — That reminds me — but after thirty or forty years, you'll forget about it, except when something reminds you to listen to it. However, the pamphlet on Deafness and Tinnitus may interest you — for a copy send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

* * *

I would like to have a large Dr. Brady book . . . (L. T. E.)

Answer — You never will, if I can help it. Instead of a monomonolithic symptom-emporium, wouldn't you rather have Ol' Doctor Brady's Pocket Encyclopedia of Health, Hygiene and What's Eating Ya, in XVII volumettes convenient to carry in purse or pocket and read at odd moments, say when you're sitting on the bench waiting for train . . . $5 postpaid?

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

FATHER'S DAY

Give good old dad a slap on the back. He's a grand man and is as anxious for recognition as the rest of us.

We've set aside June 19th as a time when we can make allowances; if he likes hash more than turkey give him hash, blackjack gum more than mint give him blackjack, take him to a ball game or invite special friends for checkers or poker. Make June 19th a big day, a special occasion, make it Father's Day, a day he'll remember during the hurly burly of the next 365.

M. E. SIPLE

Dad has taken life in stride, has never turned his back on defeat but met it head-on, given us the best within his powers, he might have grumbled to himself as he waited for the bathroom, telephone or newspaper, but he's loyal to the core, in love with his family. Display your affection. Hold it out for him to sample, know that it is real. Dad'll like it and so will we.

AMERICANS MAKE THINGS THEMSELVES—1

Basket Weaving

Basket weaving is one of the oldest trades in America. The Indians have been experts at the art for centuries.

Indian women began by making crude baskets as containers for corn and vegetables. Later as they became more skillful they added decorations to the baskets.

The Pima and Apache Indians of the southwest used the fibers of the Yucca plant to weave their baskets.

Above a young Pima mother is making a big basket to carry ears of corn from the field. Her little boy uses a small basket playfully as a sunshade.

The Indians dyed some of their fibers with native roots or colored earth to add designs to their finished products.

This is the first of a series of pictures on "Americans Make Things Themselves." You can finish the pictures in all sorts of bright colors and add them to your collection of American arts and industry in the making.

Poor Box Robber Posing as Priest Nabbed in Hotel

NEW YORK (AP)—A man released from prison less than a month ago has been accused of posing as a priest and robbing collection and poor boxes in Roman Catholic churches and parochial schools of more than $5,000.

Police yesterday arrested Robert L. Markan, 45, in a mid-Manhattan hotel. Detectives said they found in Markman's room some clerical garb and a brief case containing a screw driver, hacksaw and skeleton keys.

* * *

Markman, who has a record of 28 arrests, was quoted as saying he spent the money on women and good food which he liked "equally well."

Authorities said Markman got away with some 200 robberies in churches and schools in Brooklyn and Manhattan, but came a cropper on his first foray into Queens.

On Wednesday, Markman allegedly took $25 from the poor box of St. Rita's Church in Long Island City, and $7 from the colection box in the adjoining parochial school.

During these operations, police said, Markman dropped a wallet bearing cards which led them to the Hotel Tivoli on West 42nd St.

Markman was released last May 21 from Rikers Island Penitentiary, where he served a three-year term for burglary.

Bandits Scatter Tacks to Discourage Chase

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Two bandits used a sharp technique to make sure they wouldn't be followed.

After robbing three employes of the Inglewood Finance Co. yesterday of $319, the gunmen took off their victims' shoes—and then scattered carpet tacks on the floor.

Manager Don Knox, 47, didn't try to pursue the bandits. He phoned police instead.

The studio claimed the money was due on a promissory note. But yesterday Judge Leon Yankwhich dismissed the suit "with prejudice,' meaning it cannot be refiled.

Academy Offers Addict Solution

New York Group Asks U. S. to Supply Drugs, Help in Rehabilitation

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Academy of Medicine says pr Academy of Medicine says providing drugs at low cost to narcotics addicts, while attempting to rehabilitate them, would take the profit motive out of drug peddling an thus reduce the traffic.

The academy, in a report yesterday to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said addicts should be treated as sick persons and given medical supervision, adding:

* * *

"Since about 85 per cent of the 'pushers' on the streets are said to be addicts, they would be glad to forego this dangerous occupation if they were furnished with their needed drugs. Thus the bulk for the traffic would substantially disappear."

* * *

The report said administration of the cheap drugs should be under federal control.

The academy further said that punitive laws have failed to cut down on illegal selling of narcotics or to curb addiction.

* * *

Harry J. Anslinger, U.S. commissioner of narcotics, has frowned upon plans similar to that propo by the academy.

Any such idea, Anslinger has said, "would not be considered seriously by anyone who understands the narcotics control problem."

High Wire Artist Plummets to Stage

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)— A high wire performer survived a 55-foot fall from a swaying pole and is reported in good condition in Atlantic City Hospital today.

Thirty-eight-year-old Robert Atterbury of Minneapolis, Minn., toppled to the stage last night while performing at the first water circus of the summer at stel pier.

* * *

Three thousand spectators watched in horror as Atterbury lost his balance while climbing to the top of the 65-foot pole on which he was performing with his wife, Lauren, 25, and sister-in-law, Shirley Peterson, 21.

The two women were at the 25-foot level and Atterbury was 10 feet from the top.

Hoa Hao Army Heads Trapped in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A national army spokesman said today 15 members of the encircled Hoa Hao religious sect army have been killed, 50 wounded and 16 captured in hand to hand fighting the past 24 hours.

Authoritative sources said the rebel forces are trapped in a four-mile square between Racghia on the west coast and Thot Not, 35 miles northeast. They are threatened by 15 government battalions.

* * *

Among those reported trapped are the Hoa Hao's two top generals —Le Quang Vinh, popularly known as Bacut, and Tran Van Soai. With them, the source said, are ousted Chief of Staff Nguyen Van Hinh and the army's outlawed former inspector general, Nguyen Van Vy.

Soai's forces were lured out of the Can Tho Long-Sadec area about 90 miles west of Saigon, three days ago to make a junction with Bacut's regiments. The army laid the trap by spreading false information and staging aerial maneuvers in another sector.

Pulpwood is produced in nearly every forested section of the United States.

An Open Letter to Pontiac Parents

Waite's

June 18, 1955.
Pontiac, Mich.

In June, many parents look forward to college graduation for their sons and daughters. These young men and women are about to start their business careers, and have many fields from which to select.

For those who wish to make their home in our growing community near friends and family, we invite them to consider the opportunities of a career in retailing with Waite's.

Our program of development for executive trainees includes both college graduates and men and women from within Waite's who have qualified for this opportunity by merit of work performance. The scope of the program encompasses weekly class sessions on all phases of department store operations and scheduled rotating work assignments in representative divisions of the store. In many cases after approximately eight months, successful performance in these phases of the Executive Training Program earns promotion to positions of Junior Executive responsibility.

We thought that this letter to you who are most interested in their success and happiness in the future might be the best way of informing them of at least one of the opportunities existing for young people in a growing organization. We should be pleased to have interested persons visit or write for further information concerning the Executive Training group currently being organized.

Sincerely,

WAITE'S

Everyday Religion

From Ilala to Zanzibar

By DON D. TULLIS

When that well known Negro leader Mary Bethune passed away in Daytona Beach, Florida a few days ago, after a lifetime of devotion to her people, I recalled her years of struggle against almost impossible odds, as she saw her little school for children, held in a shack, with store boxes for desks, grow into Bethune-Cookman College, a great institution with many fine buildings and hundreds of students.

She was the long-time president of this college, and I was a member of her Board, together with other business and professional men of Daytona.

Her loyalty and determination reminded some of us of the "rock from which she was hewn"—her forebears, Suai and Chuma, two black men in darkest Africa, who became heroes of the Kingdom of God

These two men were the servants of the missionary David Livingstone. One morning they found him on his knees by his bedside—dead. After recovering from the shock, they buried his heart under the tree he loved, then embalmed the body after the manner of their tribe, wrapped it in bark and cloths and, having no beasts of burden, started on foot bearing their load, from Ilala to Zanzibar, sixteen hundred miles distant. Where can we find a greater expression of love and devotion of man to man.

Struggling through bogs, fording rivers, passing through hostile tribes, the little funeral cortege traveled on, day after day, for nine long months until they reached Zanzibar. From there they sailed for England, over four thousand miles away.

At the funeral of their friend, these two, so recently come out of savagery, stood with the great of England in Westminster, towering head and shoulders, in the sight of the Great Judge, above some of the crowd who had royal blood flowing in their veins.

Suai and Chuma; unknown to this generation, but whose names are carved deep in the records of Time, others of your race, like Mary Bethune, have traveled this same trail from Ilala to Zanzibar, from ignorance to knowledge, from poverty to economic security, from servants to masters, from outcasts to children in the household of God.

American Negroes! It's a long, difficult trail, but you are on your way, bearing your burden, like Suai and Chuma, marching through miasmal marshes of misunderstanding, from the dark continent of you yesterdays to the day of your dignity, respect and equality, the longed-for Canaan of your dreams.

About 100 million acres—30 per cent of U.S. crop land—is used for corn each year.

Simultaneous Service Held in 200 Churches

NEW YORK — Nearly 200 churches throughout America will hold a simultaneous worship service tomorrow to commemorate the founding of the International Christian University in Japan. An identical service will be held on the same day in the chapel on the ICU camps near Tokyo.

The International Christian University in Japan, which has an enrollment of 504 students and a faculty of 71 full and part-time members, is supported in part by the foreign mission boards of fourteen major denominations in the United States and Canada.

The word novel is derived from the Italian word novella, meaning a story or a tale.

OH SAI SHIN

Women's Unit Adopts Korean

Christ Church Auxiliary Contributes to Support of Oh Sai Shin

The women's auxiliary of Christ Church Cranbrook has "adopted" Oh Sai Shin, 12-year-old Korean boy, through Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, Inc.

The plan is now operating in Belgium, England, France, Western Germany, Greece, Holland, Italy and Korea, and is helping impoverished children of 19 nationalities without regard to race or creed.

Foster Parents' Plan does not do mass relief; each child is treated as an individual. "Adoption" is financial not legal. It promises to contribute $15.00 monthly towards the child's support, for at least a year.

In return, the Foster Parent receives a brief history of the child and a phoogaph. Correspondence is encouraged, since the children need the feeling of being loved and belonging to someone, someplace.

Mrs. Roland M. Diemer, secretary of the group received a brief case history of the boy.

Confident Living

Druggist Concocts Advice for Down-Hearted Pastor

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Many years ago, I had some struggles with discouragement. At that time I lived on lower Fifth Avenue in New York. I used to walk home from church Sunday nights and, on my way, occasionally stopped in at a little drugstore.

It was run by a fine old man who was the kind of person to whom we're all tempted to tell our troubles. And now and then, when I felt I'd done poorly, I would pour my woes into his ears; what a poor sermon I had preached that night, and why did I ever get into this field anyway, and how nobody would be in church to hear me next Sunday. So ran my dismal and negative complaint.

DR. PEALE

He would listen patiently and tell me to go back next Sunday and try it again. Sometimes, he'd come to hear me. Then, one Sunday night, when I thought my sermon had been particularly poor, I went into his story and found him behind the soda fountain, working. I perched up on a stool to talk to him and said, "Mr. Russ, I'm looking for a job."

"What's the trouble?" he asked.

"I guess I'd better give up preaching," I told him. "I can't do it. There's no use trying and I'm about to give up and get another job."

"What kind of job are you going to get?"

I watched him making sodas and replied with a question: "Do you need a soda jerk here?"

• • •

"Well," he said, "as a matter of fact, I am looking for someone."

"I'll apply for the job. I can start right now."

DRUGGIST ORDERS SODA

"All right. Put on an apron," he directed, "and come around the counter here and see what you can do." I followed his instructions and, taking a seat at the counter, he ordered, "Give me a chocolate soda."

"Yes, sir," I said. I hunted around and found the right ingredients and put them in a glass. When I squirted the carbonated water in, I didn't get quite the head on the soda a professional does but it looked pretty good to me. I set it down before Mr. Russ. He took a straw, put it down into the soda and took a long draw.

Then he looked up at me and shook his head, "Better stick to preaching."

We went back behind his prescription counter and sat down. "You know, son," he said, "everyone in every job has their moments of despair. You're going through the same thing everyone else does."

SHOW PICTURE OF WIFE

He reached into his pocket for his billfold and brought out a picture of a lovely young woman. "Take me, for example. I lost her after we'd been married only three years.

• • •

"It seemed that the light of my life went out. There was nothing but darkness and despair. Then I turned to the Bible and one day, I found a message that was like a burst of light: 'He careth for you.' And suddenly I knew in my heart that God did care for me and that He would see me through."

That experience gave him faith which helped him to shake off discouragement. And from it, he said, he learned three things which are sure cures for discouragement.

The first is to think right. The second is to believe right and the third is to act right. Think—believe—act—and you have the answer. My friend taught me that when discouragement threatens your happiness, simply use your will power and think creatively, positively, optimistically.

• • •

We must recognize that discouragement is part of life and we must expect it. It is part of the pattern of this human rhythm of exaltation and depression. But, when it gets into our thoughts and we become supersensitive to it, so that it dominates us, we must use the power of positive thinking to cast it out. And that will work too.

Teachers, Police Officers Study Human Relations at Detroit Conference

Thirty-one Michigan teachers, police officers and community organization leaders will study human relations this summer on scholarships provided by the Edgar DeWitt Jones fund of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. The announcement was made this week by Dr. Robert M. Frehse, director of the Michigan Regional Office.

Lucile Hawkins, third grade teacher at Whittier School in Pontiac will participate in the workship to be held at the University of Detroit June 27 to July 22.

Funds for the scholarship were provided by the Pontiac Board of Education through the Edgar DeWitt Jones Education Fund of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Miss Hawkins is a member of the Michigan Teachers Association and the Pontiac Teachers Association.

The workshops, two to six week intensive periods of study in the methods of building intergroup harmony, will be held at universities ranging from Maine to Hawaii and Mexico City. Among these will be the University of Michigan, Wayne University and the University of Detroit.

Since 1941 the National Conference of Christians and Jews has aided 211 Michigan residents in their studies of intergroup relations at colleges and universities.

"There influence in the fight against prejudice has been felt by tens of thousands of school children," Dr. Frehse said. A number of these work-shoppers serve on the human relations committees of their schools in addition to their class-room work, he explained.

"In addition to a large number of teachers, scholarships were awarded this year to three Detroit police officers," Frehse added.

Father Rates as King of Household on Sunday, His Own Special Day

Pontiac Press Photos

Robert Boyce will spend Father's Day Sunday at home with his two sons, Robert (Bobbie) Jr. (left) who is 5 years old and Richard (Dickie) who is 4. It's a double celebration for Mr. Boyce who also will celebrate his birthday Sunday.

It's the first time that Charles Haun of North Johnson avenue can take the spotlight in his home on that very important day, Father's Day. Three and one-half month old Gregory occupied his father's attention when the photographer snapped this picture.

Author Tackles Ticklish Problem

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

There was a cartoon in our newspaper the other night in which one secretary said to the other, "The way to get attention around this office is to make lots of mistakes."

* * *

Maybe so. But what kind of attention? From my angle it's a mistake for a girl to demand attention. She ought to plug along quietly taking what attention comes her way. It may be all she deserves. It may be all he can afford.

The girl in this piece is about ready to ask a very ticklish question. A question that demands attention. A question that would be a big mistake.

Inconsistency is the middle name of this girl's boy friend. His spurts and silences have her in such a lather she's about to commit an error. Perhaps we can stay her hand.

"Dear Miss Woodward: He lives out of town, but he has spells of driving over to see me week after week, then suddeny he won't show up for a month or so. This has been going on for about a year now.

"I don't actually know if he likes me or not. From what I hear he doesn't date anyone but me. I don't go steady with him but I like him so much I don't date too many other boys.

NEVER ASKED WHY

"I've never asked him yet why he doesn't come to see me more regularly, but I'm strongly tempted to. Should I?

"Or should I just take him in my stride and consider him a good friend to date now and then?"

Answer: The question you have in mind asking would be like subjecting your boy friend to the third degree. He won't appreciate having his motives pried into. He'll suddenly see you as a creature with grasping, clawed talons.

He has his own reasons for his spurts of dating with you and his absences, too. But how can he explain to you that it's a matter of mood?

How can he hope to make you like the fact that there are times when he doesn't care a hoot about seeing you?

Would you dare risk making him think such things—and say them out loud? Isn't it safer for your own peace of mind to take him in your stride and see him when he wants to see you?

Impartiality is this girl's problem. Her boy friend is dividing his time between her and several other girls.

Her friends are making her feel that she is being imposed on. They're egging her on into asking a very ticklish question.

First recruits sign up in the student volunteer program begun by the Central Volunteer Bureau. Left, Mrs. David MacLaren, recruitment committee member for the bureau, a United Fund service, takes an application from Juanita Dovonno (center). Mary Beth Shearer (right) studies a jobs-opportunities folder. Both girls are students at Pontiac High School. Juanita's job will be in the Pontiac State Hospital offices. Mary Beth is choosing a Girl Scout job.

Molly Crane Tells Plans for Wedding

Molly Crane has announced attendants for her July 9 marriage to 2nd Lt. Charles W. Peckham Jr. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Crane of West Iroquois road. Parents of her fiance are the Charles W. Peckhams of Norwalk, Ohio.

The prospective bridegroom has asked Edward Miller of Columbus, Ohio, to be his best man. Walter Randolph of Toledo and David Lang and Frank Hicks, both of Cleveland, will be ushers. The couple will be wed at All Saints Episcopal Church.

Volunteers Needed in City

It's student volunteer time.

Vacationing college and high school girls are needed for part-time volunteer jobs in nearby social and recreational agencies, and are already being signed up by the Central Volunteer Bureau.

* * *

The bureau, a Pontiac Area United Fund service located in the National Building, has the jobs list. Girls register there as they would at an employment agency and are placed according to abilities and desires.

Those interested in office experience can be typists or receptionist-typists.

Girls who like outdoor work with children can sign up as Day Camp aides, sports aides or water safety instructors, if qualified.

Those with skill in arts and crafts are in special demand as handicraft helpers.

DRIVERS NEEDED

Older girls who can drive a car are needed to transport foster-home children to clinics and doctors.

Mrs. George Petroff, Volunteer board president, points out that though these jobs carry no paycheck, the experience they provide may prove to be a big asset when references for a paid job are needed. "Also the girls have the satisfaction of doing a service for others during some of their spare time, while still having plenty of time left for vacation activities," she says.

Students may call the Volunteer Bureau, FE 4-3598, between 9 and 5 on weekdays.

Etiquette of Visiting Is Explained

What Is Proper About Boy, Girl Paying Calls?

By EMILY POST

The following letter comes from a young girl: "I am not engaged, but I do have a special boy friend who goes almost everywhere with me.

"Several times he has wanted to take me to the houses of his friends, but my mother does not think it proper for me to go. I can't see why, if he goes with me to the houses of my friends, it would be wrong for me to go with him on occasion to visit friends of his.

"What is the difference?"

Answer: It always has been considered proper for a man to go with a girl to the house of any friends of hers.

But according to proprieties, a young girl who goes running around to the houses of strangers on the invitation of any man — in short, to be just "brought along" —is considered cheap!

"Dear Mrs. Post: My son will receive his medical degree shortly and I would like to give a party of some kind in honor of the occasion.

"Will you please tell me what type of party would be appropriate for a man, and also how should the invitations for such a party be worded?"

Answer: I am sorry to be so unsympathetic, but the occasion is not one that should be celebrated by a conspicuous party.

If it were a daughter, yes; but not for a son.

He himself could give a dance at home for his friends, but it should not be for having received his medical degree.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a gentleman is out with two ladies, one of whom is his fiancee, is his first duty toward his fiancee or to their guest?"

"For instance, in a restaurant, does he seat his fiancee first and help her with her coat or should this courtesy be given the woman guest?

Answer: If as you indicate the second woman has been invited to lunch or dine with the gentleman and his fiancee, she is their guest and as such his first duty is toward her and not toward his fiancee.

World Gets Mamie Dress by Parnis

This pattern is cut to designer measurements, not standard pattern measurements.

Weddings Cast Romantic Glow Over the Weekend

MRS. LARRY P. BILODEAU

Mrs. Larry P. Bilodeau was Lou Stout before her marriage this morning at St. Andrews Catholic Church in Rochester. She is the daughter of Mrs. Charles E. Stout of Rochester. Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Bilodeau, also of Rochester, are parents of the bridegroom.

Lou Stout Wears Gown of Italian Silk Taffeta

At an 11 o'clock ceremony at St. Andrews Catholic Church in Rochester this morning, Lou Stout and Larry P. Bilodeau exchanged nuptial vows before the Rev. Harry Paul

Mrs. Charles E. Stout of Rochester is the mother of the bride. The bridegroom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Bilodeau, also of Rochester. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Warren C. Stout of Bloomfield Highlands.

Her bridal gown was of white Italian silk taffeta with the sleeves tapering to points over the hands. The bodice featured a portrait neckline of pearled alencon lace appliques which were continued on the skirt, extending to the chapel length train.

Big 3 Ministers Hope for Peace

Sound Optimistic Note Over Prospects From 'Summit' Meeting

By JAMES DEVLIN

NEW YORK (AP) — The Western Big Three foreign ministers say they are hopeful that "with persistence much can be achieved in the coming months toward the goal of peace."

The hopeful note was sounded yesterday in a communique issued by the American, British and French foreign ministers after two days of talks here.

The meetings were a prelude to the Big Four parley with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov Monday in San Francisco.

* * *

The Big Three communique further said the ministers were "confident that the common policies which they and their Allies have successfully pursued in the past will privide the foundation for further progress and the settlement of outstanding problems."

Like the New York session the Big Four meeting on the West Coast will be in preparation for the chiefs of state "summit" meeting at Geneva July 18.

The Big Three foreign ministers were joined in their final session by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

* * *

A German spokesman said Adenauer had informed the United States, Britain and France it will be early fall before he will go to Moscow in response to a Soviet invitation he has accepted in principe.

The spokesman attributed the delay to the time needed to study and explore topics to be discussed in Moscow.

Something Fishy Results Despite Mom's Ultimatum

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The odor of fish has almost quit the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Starr, despite the efforts of Linda, aged 3.

Linda caught five small bream a few days ago and won a prize in the junior fishing rodeo sponsored by the Commercial Appeal. She didn't want to give her fish up.

Finally, Mrs. Starr put her foot down. The fish had to go. Linda tearfully complied. But the potent aroma lingered on . . . and on. Mrs. Starr found out why when she apologized for the cruel separation.

"Oh, that's all right," said Linda, digging into the pocket of her jeans. "I still have two more."

Ike's Display A-Ship Gets House Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Merchant Marine Committee says work should begin "at the earliest possible moment" on President Eisenhower's proposed atomic display ship.

The committee said this yesterday in a report approving a bill to authorize construction of both the atoms-for-peace vessel and an atomic-powered merchant craft. Both the House and the Senate would have to act.

Under the legislation, the Maritime Administration would be empowered to build the two ships and, in doing so, to utilize the facilities of the Atomic Energy Commission. Separate legislation would be required to provide funds.

Bolt, Ward Share Lead, but Hogan Hovers Close

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The shadow of "The Hawk" lay over the National Open golf tournament again today.

Ben Hogan, the limping four-time champion dubbed "The Hawk" by his touring pro companions, was one stroke off the pace as the field of 58 squared away for the gruelling 36-hole finals of the 55th annual tournament.

* * *

Holding the lead, but looking over their shoulders at the men seeking an unprecedented fifth Open title, were amateur Harvie Ward, Jr. of San Francisco and tempestuous Tommy Bolt, each with 144.

Hogan himself was bracketed with three others—two of them virtual unknowns on the golf circuit—with 145. Walker Inman Jr., of Augusta, Ga., and Jack Fleck of Davenport, Iowa, equalled Hogan's 36-hole total. So did Julius Boros, the 1952 Open titlist.

The 42-year-old Hogan, obviously dreading the long double tour over the hilly, rough-strewn, 6,700-yard Lake course of the Olympic Country Club today, brooded late yesterday as he finished his round. He studied his card intently but had little to say

Such was not the case, however, with Bolt. The quick-tempered Texan, who chopped three strokes off par with a 67 on his opening round, skyrocketed to a 77 yesterday and stalked angrily from the clubhouse when newsmen sought to question him.

* * *

"I have nothing to say to newspapermen," he stormed, in contrast to his affable attitude of 24 hours earlier. Later he made a token appearance in the press room.

* * *

The 29-year-old Ward, who flew straight home from Scotland after helping America win the Walker Cup this year, fired a par 70 to reach the halfway mark with a share of the lead. Now an automobile salesman here, Ward passed up a chance to play in the British Amateur which he won in 1952 to return for practice rounds over the Lake course.

* * *

"I definitely have the edge going into the last round," the baby-faced former University of North Carolina athlete said confidently.

Young Inman, only 10 months out of the Air Force, explained after checking in with his 145 that "I didn't look at the scoreboard until I finished," so didn't know he was near the top of the pack.

* * *

The heavily-roughed Lake course which only Bolt clipped for a subpar round on opening day, continued to plague the 159 golfers who teed off yesterday. It took a 155 score to qualify for today's windup—and defending champion Ed Furgol just made it with that total after sweating it out in front of the scoreboard for two hours after completing his round of 73.

* * *

Sam Snead, the slugger from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., was one who conquered his awe of the course. The Slammer coined a slick 69, ten strokes better than his horrible first-day score, for a 148, and professed no further fears.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the Masters' champion, made it, too, with a 154.

Among those who didn't were Lew Worsham, former Open champion; Dick Mayer, third-place finisher a year ago; Ted Kroll, Claude Harmon, Ed (Porky) Oliver and Walter Burkemo, former PGA champion.

GREENWARD BOUND — Tom Draper, former state amateur golf champion from Red Run, parks his tee shot on the green as he and partner Perry Byard play the 2nd hole in their 1st round match in the Pine Lake Invitational tournament. They parred the hole and went on to a 4 and 3 victory over Bob Fife and Bob Muzzy.

Most Favorites Advance in Pine Lake Tournament

By JACK SAYLOR

Most favorites came through as expected Friday in 1st round matches in the 6th annual Pine Lake Country Club Invitational scotch 4-ball tourney.

One exception was the team of Bob Babbish and Bill O'Brien. The many-time Detroit district champion and O'Brien, who plays from Oakland Hills, were upset by 2 Oakland Hills golfers, Wally Ivers and Clem Jensen, 1-up.

Defending champion Tony Skover and partner Bob Whiting drubbed Harry and Len Latos, 6 and 5, and the highly-regarded team of Tom Draper and Perry Byard of Red Run had nearly as little trouble disposing of Bob Fife and Bob Muzzy, 4 and 3.

The upper bracket was completed with the 2-up victory of Harry Nederlander and Art Thorner over Goven Hill and Dick Robertson.

The feature in the other bracket was the longest match in the history of the Pine Lake event. Dick Wibel and Art Olfs were forced to go 24 holes before subduing George Linklater and Doug Williams.

Linklater and Williams bowed when they needed 3 strokes to get down from the edge of the 6th green, the 24th hole of the match. Wibel had rolled in a 25-foot putt on the 3rd (21st) green to keep himself and Olfs "alive" in the match.

Two teams of Pontiac hopefuls were among the 1st round victims as Chuck Livingston of Pine Lake and Roy Iceberg fell before Mace Brown and Carl Sielaff of Plum Hollow, 3 and 2, and the Twin Beach tandem of Dick Vershure and Max Richardson were routed by Tommy Sheehan and Bud Gould, 6 and 5.

Sheehan and Gould played the best golf of the day, 2 under par with 5 birdies and 3 bogies for the duration of their match with Vershure and Richardson. Brown and Sielaff were 1-under par, while the Draper-Byard and Wibel-Olfs teams were even.

In matches of local interest in other flights, Don Nicholie and Dick DeWitt won a 2nd flight decision from Tom Pfaff of Pine Lake and Vern Horst of Forest Lake, 1-up in 19 holes, and now meet the Kraus twins, Jim and Jerry, of Pine Lake.

Former Detroit Tiger and Cleveland Indian pitcher Hal Newhouser also is a 2nd flight entry. A five-handicapper at Birmingham Country Club, "Prince Hal" and his partner, Harold Hurkett, walloped the Tam O'Shanter team of Rosin and Betz, 6 and 5.

In a 3rd flight match, Tom Cross and Ed Novak were 6 and 5 victors over Ernie Kuzak and Luke Little of Pine Lake, and now face Howard Neilson of Pine Lake and Harry Heilmann, Jr.

Friday results: Tom Draper and Perry Byard def. Bob Fife and Bob Muzzy, 4 and 3; Tony Skover and Bob Whiting def. Harry and Len Latos, 6 and 5; Wally Ivers and Clem Jensen def. Bob Babbish and Bill O'Brien, 1-up; Harry Nederlander and Art Thorner def. Goven Hill and Dick Robertson, 2-up.

Dick Wibel and Art Olfs def. George Linklater and Doug Williams, 1-up (24 holes); John Watson and John Griffin def. Seymour Winokur and Herb Segal, 4 and 3; Mace Brown and Carl Sielaff def. Chuck Livingston and Roy Iceberg, 3 and 2; and Tom Sheehan and Bud Gould def. Dick Vershure and Max Richardson, 6 and 5.

Today's pairings: Draper-Byard vs Skover-Whiting; Ivers-Jensen vs Nederlander-Thorner; Wibel-Olfs vs Watson-Griffin; Brown-Sielaff vs Sheehan-Gould.

Westlake Reporting to Baltimore Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP)—General Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles said last night outfielder Wally Westlake, late of the Cleveland Indians, has notified him he would report here Sunday or Monday.

Westlake said earlier he hadn't decided whether to report to Baltimore.

First Baptist Leads

First Baptist stayed atop the Pontiac Church Softball League standings the easy way Thursday night, winning by a forfeit over Marimont Baptist. Central Christian nosed out Church of the Brethren, 10-9, and Memorial Baptist edged St. Paul Lutheran, 8-7.

Enthusiam Needed!

Squaw Valley Elated Over Receiving Games

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—The people who live in the mountain communities around this Sierra Nevada winter resort are just beginning to realize they did it—won the nomination for the 1960 Winter Olympic games.

At Tahoe City, five miles away, there was a parade in the streets yesterday. High school students and Squaw Valley employes began an impromptu celebration as soon as the site was named. And then the townspeople began to catch on.

"It's the greatest thing that has come to California in many years," said hotel operator Bill Becholdt, "in fact, I think it will open Lake Tahoe as a winter resort." The mountain lake has specialized in the summer trade for years.

It will take all that enthusiasm and the million dollars the state of California has promised to supply to turn this natural winter sports arena into the site of the 1960 International Winter Olympics.

In its favor Squaw Valley can guarantee plenty of snow and crisp cold weather. The averge snow depth over a 60-year period is 37½ feet.

Squaw is easy to reach by car, train or plane. But at the same time it retains the secluded atmosphere of a mountain community. San Francisco is 170 miles to the west and Reno 40 miles to the last.

But between now and 1960 Squaw Valley will have to build: an Olympic Stadium seating 8,000, a ski jump built to the maximum 260 feet allowed for international competition, another double chair lift, a bob sled run and an olympic village to house the participants.

Daugherty to Help Coach Servicemen

EAST LANSING (AP)— Michigan State College football coach Duffy Daugherty will help coach members of the armed forces this summer in a series of football clinics in Hawaii and Japan.

The college said Daugherty will assist Maryland's Jim Tatum and Paul Bryant of Texas A. and M. conduct the clinics.

The first clinic will be held in Hawaii near the end of this month. Two others will be held during July in Tokyo and Yokohama, Japan.

Patty Retains Triangle Lead

But Miss Berg Expects Trouble From Jameson, Bauer in Finals

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (UP)—Defending champion Patty Berg carried a five-stroke lead into the 5th and final round of the Triangle Round Robin golf tournament today, but anticipated trouble from longshot hopefuls Marlene Bauer and Betty Jameson.

Miss Bauer of Sarasota, Fla., pulled into 2nd place in the unique tournament yesterday when she fired a two-under-par 70 for a new women's record over the Grossinger Country club course. Miss Berg had 77.

Miss Bauer's record - breaking round enabled her to pick up 15 points and brought her total point scoring to plus 35, while Miss Berg stood at plus 40.

They were followed by Jackie Pung of Honolulu (plus 29), Louise Suggs of Savvanah, Ga., (plus 28), Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn. (plus 22) and Miss Jameson of San Antonio, Tex. (plus 20).

Miss Berg teed off against Mrs. Pung, Miss Suggs and Carol Bowman of Oakland, Calif., today. All have played well in this tournament.

Franklin Edges Cleaners' Team

Win in Overtime, 4-3; Bicmar Trims Kaycee in Softball Tilts

Franklin Products scored a run in the bottom of the 9th to defeat Drive-In Cleaners, 4-3, in men's city league softball Friday night at Northside Park.

A single by Burt with two aboard broke up the overtime session. Bill Abbott walked to lead off, then held as the next two hitters were easy outs. But Dick Ramsey singled to set the stage for Burt's game-ending hit.

Cal Bidwell hurled for Franklin, giving up six hits, as did Ryan, the opposing moundsman. Bidwell walked two and fanned three.

Bicmar Inn soundly trounced the Knights of Columbus, 10-3, in last night's nightcap. The KC squad outhit Bicmar, 11-6, but stranded base-runners most of the contest. Bicmar sewed up the game with a 7-run outburst in the 5th inning. Hank Dudzinski pitched for the winners.

UP AND OUT — Ben Hogan of Ft. Worth, Texas, making his 5th bid for the U. S. Open championship, uses a wedge to lift the ball out of the trap onto the 3rd green in the 2nd round of the 72-hole National Open golf tournament at San Francisco Friday. He took a bogie 4 for the hole and finished one stroke behind co-leaders Tommy Bolt and Harvie Ward.

Tigers Bow in 11th, 3-2

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Detroit Tigers changed the script but couldn't avoid the same sad ending, so they lost another ball game in the last half of the last inning last night.

The lowly Baltimore Orioles beat them, 3-2, although veteran Steve Gromek rationed a mere six hits over the 11 innings, struck out 10 and walked just one man.

In only one inning did the Orioles get to Gromek for more than one hit—but, as has been the pattern on this road trip for the Tigers, the big inning for the home club was the last one, the 11th.

With one out, little Art Schallock, the second Baltimore pitcher, drilled a sharp single past Gromek. Then Chuck Diering, who had come in to play left field in the 8th inning, hit deep into the left field corner.

Jim Delsing couldn't find the handle as the ball bounced off the wall and Schallock raced all the way around to score.

This was the 4th straight game in which the Tigers have been ahead most of the way, and the third time out of four they've been beaten by do-or-die rallies.

Last night's battle was a pitching duel between Gromek and Don Johnson. Detroit edged ahead with a run in the 5th. With one out Harvey Kuenn, who had three hits for the night, doubled off the left field wall.

Earl Torgeson popped out but Al Kaline beat out an infield single and Delsing followed with a single to center.

Baltimore tied it in the 7th on a lead - off home run by Wayne Causey, an 18-year-old bonus third baseman. It was his first major league homer.

The Tigers jumped in front again in the 8th on a squeeze play single by Fred Hatfield with Bill Tuttle on 3rd base. Detroit loaded the bases again in that inning but Schallock fanned Gromek to escape further trouble.

A pinch hit home run by Gil Coan in the 8th knotted the score again. It, too, was the first of the season for Coan.

Torgeson drew a walk in the 9th but didn't get past first and the Tigers, who left a total of 11 stranded on the bases, didn't have a base runner in the 10th or 11th innings.

The series with the Orioles continues with a single game today and a doubleheader tomorrow.

Union Rally Is Late, Elks Win

Elks No. 723 scored in each of the 1st four innings, then staved off a 7th-inning rally to defeat the CIO, 6-4, in a Class A city league baseball game Friday night at Wisner Field.

Elks made proper use of four hits and three bases on balls to establish a 5-1 lead after four frames. Two singles and a hit batsman produced another tally in the 6th, fattening the margin to 6-1.

The CIO nine battled back in the 7th. Aided by the wildness of pitcher Bill Hurd, who walked the bases full, the Unionmen pushed across three runs. Tom Studt got the only hit in the stanza, a double off relief hurler John Jackson to clear the sacks. Jackson then retired the side to preserve the victory for Hurd. Steve Kebler went the distance for the CIO.

GMC will face Elks No. 723 today at Wisner Field in a rescheduled Class A city league baseball tilt. Game time is 5:30 p.m.

NCAA Athletes Break Records in Javelin, 220

Golliday Hits 20.9 Mark on Turn; Sowell Fails to Qualify in 880

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With two marks smashed — one by three men—in the preliminaries, the nation's top collegiate track and field athletes assault the record book anew today in finals of the 34th NCAA championships.

Jerry Church of Oregon State and two other qualifiers bested the existing collegiate javelin record of 228-8⅜. Northwestern's Jim Golliday sprinted the 220 around one turn in 20.9, a fifth of a second better than the existing NCAA mark.

These efforts and the lack of it by Arnie Sowell, Pittsburgh, favored to retain his 880 title, highlighted yesterday's card. Sowell "just went to sleep" and finished 4th in a heat in which only the first three qualified.

Church got off a javelin throw of 232-6, an inch better than Charley Higgins of Brigham Young, who placed second ahead of Phil Conley, Cal-Tech; Conley tossed one 231-7.

These three and four other qualifiers get three more chances to better their marks in today's finals.

* * *

Displaying consistent speed, Golliday won his semifinal 220 heat in 21.1 and tied the Coliseum record of 9.5 in a 100-yard dash preliminary. Today he runs a semifinal 100, and if he qualifies, a final plus the finals of the 220.

Minnesota's Harry Nash and Dean Smith of Texas are expected to push Golliday in the century. Art Pollard of Penn State won his semifinal 220 in 21.2 to serve notice that he will be hard to beat in the furlong.

Sowell's failure to qualify was a major upset. He has pending a collegiate record of 1:49.1, more than a second faster than the meet mark of 1:50.3.

Three teams, Kansas, UCLA and Penn State, qualified more than favored USC in the preliminaries, but the Trojans are counting heavily on points in the high jump and pole vault, in which there are no preliminaries.

Jones Whips Durando Easily

NEW YORK (AP)—If Bobo Olson is thinking of moving out of the middleweight division, Ralph (Tiger) Johes figures to be in the picture.

Although Jones has been an in-and-outer during his career, and often has followed brilliant fights with mediocre performances, he is a good solid workman.

The Tiger handled Ernie Durando with the greatest of ease last night at Madison Square Garden to score a technical knockout at the end of the sixth round of a scheduled 10-rounder. Under New York rules, it went as a sixth round TKO because the bell never rang for the 7th.

Kell Foils Ford, Singles in Run That Beat Yanks, Pulls Sox Within 2 Percentage Points of Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Those Chicago White Sox leave a pretty strong impression for a club that's supposed to be a weak sister expected to drop out of the American League race any minute now.

* * *

Manager Marty Marion's athletes, virtually the same bunch who failed before under Paul Richards, have generally been disregarded as a threat by first pace New York, but after spilling the Yanks 2-1 last night, the Pale Hose are just two percentage points shy of the lead.

* * *

Cleveland, the team the Yanks figured they have to beat, is 2½ back, beating Boston 3-2 after losing 6-5 in the afternoon portion of the day-night twinbill.

Fourth place Detroit was beaten 3-2 in 11 innings by Baltimore and Kansas City defeated Washington 4-2.

* * *

Brooklyn extended its National League lead to 11½ games again, breaking a two-game losing streak by walloping St. Louis 12-1 as Don Newcombe won his 11th. The runner-up Chicago Cubs were spilled by Phiadelphia 3-2 while Milwaukee moved to within a game of third place New York by defeating the Giants 5-4 in 10 innings.

* * *

Righthander Dick Donovan, who was sent packing by the old Boston Braves and Detroit Tigers in previous attempts at the big time, won his eighth against two defeats for the White Sox and drove the Yanks crazy with slow, breaking stuff. He had a two-hitter and a 1-0 lead until Mickey Mantle belted his 15th homer to tie it in the eighth.

Then George Kell, the third baseman with the back miseries, fouled off Whitey Ford's attempt to give him an intentional pass on a 3-1 count and followed with a single that scored Nellie Fox with the winning run in the ninth.

Some 33,744 fans sat in on the Yankee Stadium thriller—just a few more than the 33,014 who watched Cleveland's Ray Narleski one-hit the Bostons after Norb Zauchin's two-run double in the first. Narleski, a last-minute change for Art Houtteman, who showed up with a blister on his hand, pitched a four-hitter while breaking the Red Sox' four-game string.

Newcombe, beaten once this season, added his fifth homer to the 16-hit Brook attack that gave the Dodgers their first success of the season at St. Louis. Duke Snider belted his 21st and 22nd homers.

Curt Simmons went the distance for the first time this season for the Phils and won his fourth on Stan Lopata's two-out homer in the ninth.

Washington and Kansas City each got nine hits, but Arnie Portocarrero won his first of the year with Tom Gorman's help as the A's beat Bob Porterfield with two runs in the sixth. Washington has lost nine of 10.

Gunman Jailed in Murder Try

Florida Man Draws 7 to 20 Years in Attempt to Kill Union Official

HACKENSACK, N.J. (AP)—James E. Cobb of Tampa, Fla., confessed triggerman in an abortive plot to assassinate a top union official, has drawn a 5 to 7 year prison term.

In sentencing the slender 33-year-old gunman yesterday, Bergen County Judge Arthur J. Odea said:

"There's probably a price on your life now.

"Your life isn't worth much. That is part of the penalty for what you did."

* * *

The defense asked for leniency because Cobb had cooperated with the state.

Cobb had admitted he was to receive $15,000 to murder Paul Hall, secretary-treasurer of the AFL Seafarers' International Union of North America. Hall was running for re-election to the $28,000 post at the time against Ray White of Tampa, Fla. Hall won.

Following receipt of a tip, police picked up Cobb Dec. 23 near Hall's Montvale home. A new, loaded .12 gauge shotgun was found in Cobb's car.

In addition to Cobb, three others have been arrested. A total of 10 indictments have been returned, including five against John Does. One man is still being sought.

White, president of the AFL Central Trades and Labor Assembly of Tampa, is one of the men indicted in the plot. He is charged with conspiracy to murder Hall. He has denied the charge and is free in $3,000 bail.

"Gosh, I'm hungry! What are we having for dessert?"

Ex-Mrs. Bleyer Sues Bandleader for $214,000

NEW YORK (AP)—The ex-wife of bandleader Archie Bleyer says he has failed to live up to their financial settlement and is suing him for $214,000.

In 1952 Bleyer agreed to give her $925 a week plus a 15 per cent cut of any earnings over $120,000, said Kitty Bleyer in papers on file in State Supreme Court yesterday.

* * *

Not only is he behind in his payments on a gross income of $900,614 from 1952 through 1954, she said, but he has taken steps to hide his true income from her.

Bleyer married Kitty in 1939. After their divorce he married Janet Ertel, a former singing chordette on the Arthur Godfrey show.

Once musical director of Godfrey's television shows, Bleyer was fired in 1953 at about the time of Julius La Rosa's highly publicized on-the-air dismissal.

Bank Deposits Change Bill Vetoed by Williams

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams today vetoed a legislative bill removing the ban on villages depositing more than $200,000 in any one bank.

Williams said he had no objection to this, but that the bill also reinstated a previously repealed provision which would require banks to post depository bonds for village deposits.

The Governor said he believed the second provision was included in advertently, but that the Michigan's Bankers' Association agreed the measure should be vetoed.

Teenager Dead in Plunge After Late Hour Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—After quarreling noisily with her father about the hours she had been keeping, a 15-year-old girl plunged to her death from her apartment window, police reported.

Daisy Homs and her father had argued so loudly last night that police were summoned. They left when the dispute appeared to have quited.

Called back two hours later, they found the girl had jumped or fallen from the fourth-floor East Harlem apartment.

Tax Collector in $4 1-2 Billion Damage Action

ARTESIA, N.M. (AP)—An agent of the Internal Revenue Bureau says it will be up to his superiors to decide what to do about a 4½ billion dollar damage suit filed against him.

C. Buck Caviness, revenue agent at Carlsbad, who was sued for the atronomical figure yesterday by Lester C. Plummer, 47, of Artesia, said:

"The Plummer matter was handled in a routine manner just like all others. We went through regular procedure under federal revenue laws."

Plummer filed his suit declaring Caviness filed a levy on Plummer's bank account May 3, taking $83.70. The insurance adjustor said he presumed the levy was for failing to pay social security taxes for self-employment in 1953. But he objected, saying the levy also charged that he had not paid his income tax. He called the action "illegal and unconstitutional confiscation of private property and money."

"I figured I might as well get up into figures the government can understand," Plummer said of his suit.

He said he would ask 1½ billion in actual damages and three billion in exemplary and punitive damages.

Dealers Arguing New Auto Costs

Wage Increases in Steel Indicate Higher Prices for Needed Materials

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—New automobiles undoubtedly are going to cost more. How much more still is a widely discussed question in automotive trade quarters.

The increase, say veteran industry authorities will result only partly from the new wage settlements made by the major car makers with the CIO United Auto Workers. These authorities say a rise in steel industry wages is likely to be followed by an increase in steel prices.

In somewhat smaller volume consumption by the car makers are such materials as aluminum, copper, rubber, electrical equipment and a long list of other items. All probably will go up in price.

Industry experts say production costs have been spiraling for many months. At the same time, they say a price hike in new car prices probably will not come until 1956 models are brought out.

Wildcat strikes pared factory shipments of new cars this week, but dealer inventories still are higher than they have been at any comparable period in automotive history.

Dealers are counting upon present price inducements to assure a quick leveling off of the record-breaking inventories. Many new car buyers do not know whether higher tags will go on the 1955 model cars currently in stock. But they are being urged to buy now before prices go up.

Price tags have been important factors in the heaviest volume of sales the industry has experienced in years. The tags have been slashed by the dealers in varying amounts from the so-called "list" price. This is the price suggested by the manufacturer.

DEALERS WORRIED

The retailers already have cut prices about as much as they can and still remain in business. Therefore any increase in the wholesale price the manufacturers may decide to make on future deliveries will be passed on, in part at least, to the buyer.

One of the surest things at this point in the development of the new era in management-labor relations in the auto industry is that the job ahead of the retailers will not be any easier. Certainly the retailers' profit margin is not going to go up suddenly.

REQUEST FOR BIDS

The Board of Education of the Walled Lake Consolidated School System will accept bids for public liability and property damage and fire and theft on the school fleet up to 5:00 p.m. on June 27, 1955.

The policy term is from July 1st, 1955 to June 30th, 1956.

Public liability should have $10,000 limit on one (1) person up to $100,000 on any accident. Property damage coverage is to be in the amount of $5,000.

Liability policy is to be drawn so that any two (2) buses, the 1949 Ford pick-up, the 1953 Chevrolet passenger car, and the 1950 Ford passenger car, are covered from July 1, 1955 to June 30, 1956. Coverage on balance of the fleet is from September 1, 1955 to June 30, 1956.

The fire and theft policy is to be quoted separate from public liability and property damage. This coverage is to be on all vehicles on a year-around basis.

Bids should be net bids, without reduction from any dividends which may be due the Board of Education from policies previously carried.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Unique Truck Design Increases Payloads

CLEVELAND (AP)—White Motors announced today it has developed a new diesel tractor incorporating unique design and construction features, aimed at hauling greater payloads at lower cost.

The tractor is 90 inches from bumper to back of cab, permitting use of a 35-foot trailer and still keeping within the 45-foot length limitations of many eastern states.

To reduce chassis weight expanded use is made of aluminum and lightweight steel. A new fuel injection system is used which is said to deliver unusually high mileage.

Heavy insulation and extra sized mufflers are used to diminish engine sounds and exhaust fumes. Over-sized vertical stacks carry the fumes high into the air.

White said it has made delivery of 140 of the new vehicles to Roadway Express, Inc., which cooperated in designing the new unit.

Reserve Plan May Be Saved

See Move in House to Revive Ike's Huge Military Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backstage moves to break a House stalemate over the military reserve bill appeared to be underway today after President Eisenhower had made a fresh appeal for its enactment.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee said he would make a statement Tuesday, but would give no advance hint of what he has in mind.

The Senate Armed Services Committee yesterday postponed efforts to prepare its own bill to await possible further action in the House.

* * *

A measure designed to add another two million men to the trained reserve force by 1960 was sidetracked in the House last month after it was amended on the floor to bar the assignment of reservists to racially segregated National Guard units.

The bill is classed as "unfinished business" on the House docket and can be brought back to the floor again. Or a compromise measure could be introduced.

Eisenhower, bringing a three-day government preparedness exercise to a close yesterday, said the program to strengthen the nation's reserves must be enacted promptly "for the security of the United States and its 165 million people."

Let Relatives Know When Delayed in Boat

SEAFORD, Va. (AP) — The Coast Guard suggests that persons who will be delayed on boating trips notify relatives.

W. A. Mitchell's boat developed engine trouble enroute here and he put in at Hampton and spent the night. Next day when he arrived here he was surprised to find the Coast Guard, commercial vessels and private craft scouring the York river and Chesapeake Bay for him. His family had become alarmed.

Cats Thrive on Trouble

DETROIT (AP)—Curiosity doesn't always kill cats, but the Michigan Humane Society says it sure gets them into a lot of trouble. The society reports it has more cases involving cats than any other animal. They include cats in trees, cats on poles, cats in machines, cats between walls and cats lost, sick or poisoned.

Track Large Footprints to St. Bernard Dog

The footprints were huge—five inches across.

They summoned John Luck, a government trapper, and started tracking the beast.

Six miles down the road the trio came upon their quarry — a St. Bernard dog belonging to E. G. Commons.

Clock and watch manufacturing still is concentrated in Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Passes Cash as Paper

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — The Bryan Eagle reports actor William Bendix must have an awesome opinion of Texas. Here for a radio show, he was asked by a number of people for his autograph. But nobody had any paper.

SHADES OF MT. VERNON—The story goes . . . Yes, there are many tales told of the house at the head of the hill between Washington and Mt. Vernon. It is now the lovely country home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Mikesell. Reputed to have been built at least 125 years ago, it was originally styled along the lines of the historic Mt. Vernon home of George Washington. The back of the house, which overlooks rolling countryside and winding streams, has the long, formal porch of the original Mt. Vernon. The midsection of this home is the part of the first house which was built and the stone section at the right was added by Mr. and Mrs. Mikesell for their family. Note the green shutters. A heavy brass knocker on the front door could easily have been on the original solid plank door. Stories surrounding the past of the house report that slaves were once sheltered in its big basement and smuggled in via an underground tunnel which lead to this room. At one time this house was a club house, and the Mt. Vernon Country Club was located here before the war. Part of the golf greens are still in existence with water piped to each hole. How this home looked in its golf club days is shown in the lower left photo.

background for LIVING

. . . From Washington to Mt. Vernon . . .

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

Like people, too, they develop character, poise and self-assurance. They ripen with the years and the vintage of their saga is marked by the tales told of such times as the War of 1812, the birth of the State of Michigan, the period of the Gold Rush fever, the freeing of the slaves and the Spanish American War.

Incidents of the 20th century are comparatively young to their sturdy 18-inch walls, their walnut beamed ceilings and the stone fireplaces which once had no competition from furnaces.

For a casual trek back a century plus or minis in house architecture, take the road from the quiet and early settlement of Washington and head for the slightly - slumbering community of Mt. Vernon. These names were no accident — the story goes that the proximity of the towns mandated the titles.

EWALTS KEEP FAMILY HOME

On West St. in Washington, we found the newly painted family home of Mr. and Mrs. George Ewalt. Preserved completely in its original style, it has the second-story tower with windows and the intricate lattice work around the top ledge of the around-the-house porch. A family "heirloom," it was built some four score of decades ago (perhaps even longer) by one of Mrs. Ewalt's predecessors. Her father, Earl Stone, once lived in the house.

In the sprawling backyard, the old hip roof barn shelters neither horse nor cow today. With its new coat of paint and white trim to match the house, the old hay loft has become extra storage area.

But the same hollyhocks still grow at its side as they did in the beginning.

"Old houses have a way of keeping the past very close to you," says Mrs. Ewalt who enjoys raising her family in the house she has known all her life.

ON TO MT. VERNON

On toward Mt. Vernon, the once conversation piece of the countryside is now the lovely and gracious early American home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Mikesell and family.

The stories (and there are many) relate that the present midsection (oldest part of the house) was built over 125 years ago.

Originally designed as a replica of Mt. Vernon, its greatest resemblance is at the back where once carriages might have drawn up to deliver fair and stalwart passengers for a grand ball. It has the long porch style of Mt. Vernon.

Subsequently this house became a club house, and down through the years was developed into the Mt. Vernon Country Club with a marble floored dance floor where the Mikesell rose garden now grows.

There is another once-upon-a-time story circulated about the Mikesell home. Slaves are reputed to have been sheltered there and hidden in an underground passage which tales say once existed.

MIKESELLS ADDED STONE

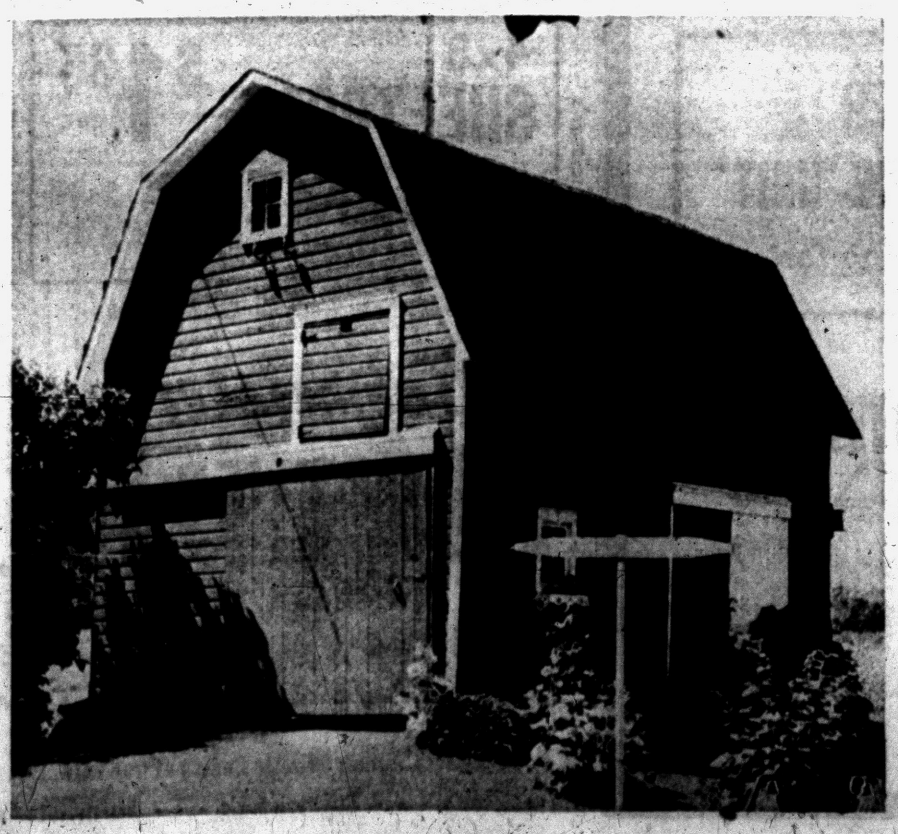

The Mikesells, when they bought the structure a number of years ago and proceeded to put it back into shape for a home, added a field stone section for bedrooms and a two-car ga-

ONE HUNDRED AND MANY MORE—This is the more than century-old home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Perrill on Winkler Rd., outside of Mt. Vernon. Note the outside basement entrance doors which have been preserved. To see the house as it stood when the Perrills bought it several years ago, view the upper left hand picture.

Century-Old Houses Continue to 'Live'

rage. The same, spacious country kitchen is used and the central living room has only a few minor changes.

Then there is the house owned by the K. Alberts between Mt. Vernon and Washington. The one section of this house was part of an old homestead and today it has black shutters and the same early American gables. A one-story section joins the two two-story ends of the house.

Through Mt. Vernon and down Winkler Mill Rd. you find the majestic home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Perrill. Its appearance today belies the years of hard labor they have expended on this house for in the beginning they saw an unpainted, rickety-porched and windowless old house deserted for a number of years. But it was in fine shape structurally and they saw the value of the old walnut beams (once hewn from a walnut grove in the rear of the house). They restored the fireplace chimney, planted the ivy which now shrouds its towering stack of brick, pruned the plum trees and trimmed the mature pair of walnut trees growing in the front yard.

There are these and many more — and the once upon a time stories are destined to be repeated for many more generations — for these houses refuse to "give up the ghost." Washington and Mt. Vernon are growing — but they are keeping their past.

'Shoulda' Called for Short Straws to Decide Issue

BRUNING, Neb. (AP) — It took some doing to break the tie between Chester Park and Chris Lichti for a place on the Bruning school board.

Park and Lichti each got 65 votes in the election. So yesterday they met with the election board to do something about it.

* * *

As a starter, County Atty. Leonard Germer suggested a card drawing or a toss of the dice. But no one had any cards handy or any dice.

Then they tried a guessing contest. A board member wrote a number between 1 and 10 on a slip of paper. Park and Lich to the written number would get the school board job. Both gussed No. 7.

* * *

So they went to the time honored toss of a coin.

Banker Fred H. Bruning flipped it. The coin landed standing on its edge in a crack in the floor.

Park called it right.

Man Out-Wigs Shop

DETROIT (AP)—Police are looking for a distinguished appearing man with brown hair graying at the temples. A bald man ordered a toupe from a wig shop. He tried it on to make sure it was a good fit. Then walked out without paying the $155 bill. That's the fellow they're looking for.

Williams Signs Bill to Hike Ceiling on Highway Bonds

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams has approved 15 legislative acts including one to increase the amount of money which can be pledged for limited access highway bonds from $7,000,000 a year to $12,000,000.

Other bills approved:

Forbid advertising media to use paid advertisements for or against any public ballot proposal unless it includes the name of those sponsoring the ad.

Allow druggists to fill oral presceiptions for narcotics listed as having little or no addiction characteristics.

Permit the basic science board to accept the examinations of examining and licensing boards in the healing arts from states having no basic science boards.

Increase the boards of managers of the veterans facility from six to seven to add a Spanish War Veteran and forbid a member to become commandant until he has been off the board one year.

* * *

Make it a felony to obtain narcotics by fraud.

Establish reciprocity with other states in the licensing of cigarette jobbers.

Permit two or more adjacent counties to establish inter-county super highways.

Create a legislative advisory council on problems of the aging.

Allow life insurance policies be made effective up to six months prior to the application.

Permit persons sentenced to a year of less in Wayne County to be sent to the Detroit House of Correction.

Reduce the size of state insurance fund from $1,750,000 to $250,000.

* * *

Change the township zoning act to provide members of the board to be appointed by the township board rather than the probate judge and reduce the number of signatures needed to initiate application of the zoning law.

Repeal the bartender licensing law which prevented women from tending bar.

The deepest oil wells penetrate the earth about four miles.

How to Paint

You can avoid laps and achieve an even coverage in using a paint roller if you start each new movement on an unpainted section and roll toward the last painted section. For best coverage, roll the paint in one direction first, then immediately roll in a cross direction.

The opposite side is designed to be used with the dining group but will harmonize with almost any type of furnishings. The living room side (shown here) has one drawer with a let-down front that forms a desk. There are also book shelves and extra storage in a large compartment. The sculptured legs extend almost to the top of the piece, forming a decorative and sturdy support. Sliding doors offer opportunity for different arrangements. It measures 63" high, is 56" wide, and 18" deep.

Says Antibodies May Cause Ills if Too Healthy

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A suggestion that over-eager defense forces in the body may actually help bring on such diseases as rheumatic fever, arthritis and defective kidneys has been made by Dr. Harrison Latt.

* * *

The associate professor of pathology at University of California's medical center here, who is making a study of antibodies for the U. S. Public Health Service, said that sometimes the defense forces pursue disease-carrying elements so vigorously that they may damage healthy cells.

The doctor explained that the damage may be in the form of changing the permeability of cell walls, thus upsetting the cell's osmotic pressure.

This apparently causes a sudden change in cellular components and in cell function, he said.

* * *

"Such a reaction would result in damaged tissue and may explain many maladies," Latt added.

Handling Poisons

Never leave poisons within the reach of young children. Teach children not to put things in their mouths.

By following these two safety rules, you can avoid results that can be disastrous.

People are often careless in leaving medicines containing powerful drugs on a table or in a drawer within easy reach of children.

True marble is a dense limestone.

Summer-Time Rugs Are Labor Savers

Summer rugs are actually labor-savers. They are especially easy to keep clean because the loose weave of fiber floor coverings makes it particularly simple to remove the dust and lint with the vacuum cleaner.

Nearly all such summer rugs are reversible and their adaptability to decorative schemes thus is still another of their features.

Patterns and colors can be found that fit in well with both period and modern schemes, as well as the varied furnishings that characterize a great many comfortable homes.

But whether you make a point of using special rugs in the summer or stick to the year-round floor coverings, as most families do, it is well to remember that the household vacuum cleaner has become indispensable as a means for preserving them.

Home Fire Alarm

Fast warning of fires is insured with a new home fire alarm equipped with cord and plug for wall mounting, and two thermal detector units which set up a piercing alarm when temperatures reach 140 degrees.

SAFETY PAYS

BATHTUBS are dangerous. Little boys sense this. Statisticians prove it. A strong grip bar prevents accidents—a horizontal bar for tub, vertical for shower. The American Home magazine suggests screwing such bars firmly into the studs with long screws. Tile work alone will not hold.

Save on Floors

Save money when building that new home by using low-cost, utility grades of flat-grained hemlock or fir flooring where linoleum, asphalt tile, cork or wall-to-wall carpeting will cover the entire floor surface. You thus get all the advantages of resilient wood walking surfaces at lower cost.

Building Booms Stirring Nation

Demand, Easy Credit Spurs Uptake in Record Growth of Home Units

WASHINGTON (INS) — The nation's home builders started construction on 132,000 dwellings last month, the highest level in four years.

Sparked by easy credit and a persistent demand, housing ouput hit full stride in May as production zoomed 22 per cent above the same month last year and increased four per cent over April.

On the basis of the Bureau of Labor Statistics report, government and industry officials confidently predicted housing output this year would total about 1.3 million units, second highest in history.

For the first five months of 1955, builders chalked up a new record six billion dollars in residential construction spending and the number of units started ran just two per cent behind the all-time record set in 1950.

* * *

BLS coupled its report with a new survey which showed a mixed picture on the volume of building permits issued in May. The survey usually provides a clue to future construction prospects.

PERMITS INCREASE

BLS said the number of building permits issued last month increased in northeastern and southern states but declined in the west, particularly in California.

Economists blamed the western situation on a recent tightening in the avilability of financing for home mortgages. They also pointed to statements by Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole that "a normal self-adjustment is taking place" in the industry to avoid overproduction.

Despite these developments, government and industry experts said they believed housing output in June would match last month's volume because of the "very strong" market situation indicated so far.

The 132,000 homes started last month compares with 127,000 in April and is the highest monthly figure since June, 1951 when output hit a peak of 132,500 units for the year and then dropped.

* * *

In the first five months of this year, builders started 553,550 dwellings, or about 100,000 more than in the same period last year, and just 10,000 less than those started in 1950.

Meanwhile, the National Association of Real Estate Boards says its members believe the current volume of new single family home construction will continue during the second half of this year and may increase.

Moreover, NAREB says a survey in 217 cities indicates that realtors do not anticipate a price rise for new houses. But the National Association of Home Builders reports that construction costs have risen three per cent in the past year and "all evidence points to a continued upward trend."

Bathroom Tells Tale

The bathroom can tell you a lot about the older home you consider buying. Fill the bathtub, for instance. If the water is rusty, pipes are not in good condition. Check the wall and floor finishes. A quality home will have ceramic tile on the bathroom floor and walls, to make them waterproof. Drop a cigarette in the water closet and flush it. It should flush completely and the bowl should refill quickly. If it is noisy, be sure sounds do not carry to other parts of the house.

Protecting Ladders

If you use ladders outdoors a great deal, it is wise to protect them regularly by rubbing with boiled linseed oil. This prevents moisture penetration and keeps the ladder strong. Sand the rough surfaces, then apply the oil with a cloth.

Keep Souvenirs of Your Holiday

Preserve the Odds and Ends You Collect While Vacationing

Match book and magazine covers, old road maps, travel posters, post cards, newspaper clippings, theater ticket stubs, calling cards, menus—any of the souvenirs you have amassed enroute—can be displayed effectively and, at the same time, turned into decorative accessories by the ingenious do-it-yourself fan.

Any one of those categories would make ideal coverings for everything from a back-bar in recreation room to an umbrella holder for a corner of the hall. Only sizes and the numbers in the collection determine what can be done with them. Larger things such as maps, posters and menus can be used as wallpaper for definite areas in a room, while the smaller pieces lend themselves to easy application on accessories.

To make an umbrella holder good project for a beginner buy an inexpensive tin wastebasket or ask the grocer for an empty tall, round can which held popcorn or potato chips.

Whether you're using match book covers, theater tickets, cards or clippings, cut them first to similar size and then make a "dry run" around the area you wish to decorate to see how many you'll need. To speed up the job, lay the covers (or whatever you are using) out in rows, coat the back of each thoroughly, a few at a time, with a good household cement or adhesive.

It's a good idea to use a brand packaged in a metal tube which is easy to handle and won't leak or spill while you're at work. Start at the top and paste each cover on the container, making sure edges are lined up neatly and that each one is securely in place.

Work in slightly overlapping rows towards the bottom of the can to allow for error in judgment solved by a "border" of covers which you can cut to the smaller proportions of whatever space you have left. Or, a vacant row at the bottom or a ridge at the top might be simply painted a matching or contrasting color to finish the project.

A plain glass ash tray, too, can be dressed up with a hobbyist's hoard. Here again, the covers are trimmed to fit, glue or adhesvie squeezed out of the tube onto the backs of the covers and each attached in rows to a piece of heavy paper or cardboard cut to fit the bottom of the ash tray.

When the adhesive has dried, brush off any loose particles and apply a fresh supply to the edges of the cardboard base and press firmly against the bottom of the ash tray, decorated side up so that the design may be seen through the clear glass.

Lamp shades, desk accessories such as blotter covers and letter holders, wood mirror frames—actually any surface that is smooth and plain-toned is fair game for the post-vacation decorative touch.

Taxes Are Intangible?

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A taxpayer approached J. M. Barlow and asked for a "tangled up tax form."

DUPONT PAINTS for every purpose

Catholic Shrines of Europe Subject of Engaging Work

NEW YORK (INS) — Tourists, pilgrims and art lovers will be aided on their European journeys by the contents of a new book detailing the history and beauties of Europe's great Catholic shrines and sanctuaries—the little known as well as world-familiar.

The book, "The Catholic Shrines of Europe" (published by McGraw-Hill) brings home clearly to the reader the majesty and dignity of the holy places—the best in the cultural core of our Western civilization.

The entire development of the Catholic Church in Europe from the time of the Crucifixion to the present; from the early fortified churches to such famous shrines as those of St. Francis of Assisi and more recently Our Lady of Fatima in Portugal is depicted in word and picture.

St. Peter's in Rome and Vatican City; the magnificent Gothic cathedrals of France and the shrines of Lourdes and Laon all are treated with dignity among the 250 black-and-white photographs and eight pages of full color pictures.

Author, lecturer, photographer, foreign correspondent and film director, Alfred Wagg has brought to this new work the most perfect of the 5,000 photographs he made while traveling some 10,000 miles in preparation of this book. His technical preparation and unwavering interest in his subject combine with his unusual and exquisite touch in selecting masterpieces of God as well as those of man.

The text of the book is the work of Monsignor John K. Cartwright, who is director of the Cathedral of St. Mathews in Washington. He studied for the priesthood at the North American College in Rome, and until recently was Professor of Church History at Sulpician of Pastoral Theology at Catholic University, Washington, D. C.

Msgr. Cartwright brings his wealth of historical and clerical knowledge to this book, to the reader's great benefit.

The new volume is dedicated to Myron C. Taylor and his wife. Taylor, it will be recalled, although a non-Catholic, was sent by the late President Roosevelt to the Vatican as special presidential envoy.

There is a delicate balance in Wagg's photographs. They give the reader the feeling of the massiveness of the Cathedrals, the glory of Mont. St. Michel in France; the present-day architecture of the small U.S. Armed forces chapel at SHAPE headquarters, and the delicate touch of the photographs of the clothes and handwriting samples of St. Francis of Assisi.

"The Catholic Shrines of Europe" truly can be an excellent handbook for the traveler, a guide for the art lover, and a manual for the student of Europen architecture.

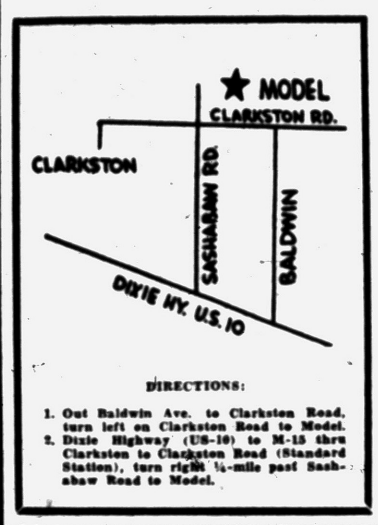

For Fine Results

If you're changing the color of your garden furniture radically when you repaint it, it's a good idea to apply enamel undercoat before you begin with the new color. This is especially advisable if you're switching from dark to a light hue.

Oklahoma Oaks Get Kind Word After Inspection

NORMAN, Okla. (UP) — Many a curse has been flung at the blackjack oak tree by Oklahoma farmers, but a University of Oklahoma scientist has taken the tree apart molecule by molecule and says the wood may have some value after all.

* * *

Dr. Arthur C. Shead, associate professor of chemistry, said he bought 20 acres of the poorest land he could find near Norman. It was covered with blackjacks.

He burned the blackjack wood and spread the ashes as fertilizer in his garden. His potatoes grew big and thrived, paying little attention to the dry weather.

There is one other use for the blackjack which Dr. Shead is not recommending for Oklahomans. It provides an excellent fuel for certain distilling processes that occur in a well-known home industry. But federal revenuers frown on moonshine stills.

NEW AUBURN AVE. SHOPPING CENTER — The first to open of a new six-store shopping facility known as East Side Shopping Center is the above store. Known as the Auburn 5 and 10 cent store, it was formerly located at 504 Auburn. Owned by Vern and Esther Abbott, the new store is a self-serve and has contemporary fixtures. The entire center was built by Burt Lytell and Owen Colgrove and the remainder of the shops will be open for business within 30 days. The center measures 192 by 90 feet and there is adequate parking with three areas designated for this purpose. Waterford Builders, Inc. constructed the building.

Floor Laying Don'ts Listed for Guide

Don't lay flooring immediately after delivery at the building. Store it for a few days in the building in which it is to be laid.

The ideal condition is a thoroughly dry building. Where that condition exists, allow at least three days for the normally absorbed moisture in the flooring to evaporate. This precaution should prevent the possible later development of unsightly cracks between joints. Where the ideal condition does not exist, a few days delay in laying the kiln-dried flooring will acclimatize it to moisture conditions in the building.

Don't lay flooring until the building in which it is to be used is dry.

Dry flooring laid in a damp building will swell and may cause "cupping" or "buckling."

Don't under any circumstances, laying the flooring tight against studding or walls.

This provision for an expansion joint (the width depending on size of floor area) is an additional safeguard against buckling.

Don't lay flooring until plastering and cement work are thoroughly dried and woodwork and trim are installed.

The laying and finishing of hardwood floors should be the last operation in building construction.

As a final precaution—heat for 10 days to at least 70 degrees. This means heat even in the summer and early fall.

Don't stack bundles too close together or in solid piles—avoid unheated rooms.

The more air circulation around each bundle the quicker and better it throws off any absorbed moisture taken on after leaving the factory.

Don't close windows.

This is important. Opening windows at top aids in driving out moisture through air circulation.

Nails for 3/8" flooring, 1½" No. 1 spiral floor screws or 4d cut steel flooring nails, driven 9 inches apart, are recommended. If these cannot be obtained, 3d finishing nails may be substituted. For 25-32" flooring, use 2¼" No 5 spiral floor screws (or 6d—not over 7d—cut steel flooring nails or 8d light flooring nails, not over 10 inches part). The average carpenter finds screw-type nails more satisfactory because they eliminate splitting. Drive nails through side tongue at an angle of 45 degrees to 55 degrees and set them. "Toe-nail" the first nail or two in each piece toward the preceding piece which it end-joins, to insure tight joints. Break joints as flooring is laid.

Condensation Can Be Prevented

If you're troubled by condensation inside your walls, try casting paint in the role of vapor barrier.

Several coats of high gloss oil paint have been found to be highly effective over plaster. Aluminum paint or several coats of shellac achieve the same effect.

You can paper over any of these applications without diminishing the vapor barrier effect.

Build Playroom Now for Winter

It's a wise parent who realizes that his children will need a playroom this winter and builds it now, while they are away to camp or spending their time outdoors.

If he's doubly wise, he'll finish a basement playroom with a tile floor, colorful enough to dress up the room and durable enough for the roughest play even roller skating. If the space is small, it can be made to seem larger by the use of small tile units known as mosaics.

Use Shellac With Care

Dos and the Don'ts Are Listed to Work With This Finish

DO. . .use shellac as a wash coat, an undercoat or a final finish—but it should never be used undiluted except for sealing in knots, sap runs, etc.

DO. . .thin shellac only with denatured alcohol, with a 50-50 mixture right for most jobs.

DO. . .remember that 2 thin coats will produce a much better job than one thick coat, sandpapering or steel wooling lightly between coats.

DO . . . work fast when using shellac, flowing it on and never brushing it out like paint.

DO. . .buy only enough shellac to last for a few months, as it deteriorates slowly but surely once the can or bottle has been opened.

DON'T. . .ever apply shellac over a surface that has been waxed or oiled until all vestiges of the wax and oil have been washed off.

DON'T . . . apply schellaac in a moisture-laden atmosphere or to any wood which is not completely dry.

DON'T. . .forget that if a shellac finish develops a white spot as a result of prolonged exposure to spilled water, the stain can be removed by rubbing lightly with an alcohol-dampened cloth.

DON'T. . .overlook the use of a mixture of shellac and sawdust to fill cracks in wood.

DON'T. . .fail to clean a shellac brush with denatured alcohol after each use and keep that brush only for shellac.

Some Choose to Buy Apartments Today

Everyone who buys a new home does not buy a house—some buy an apartment in a cooperatively owned building. Of course, they do not actually own the apartment they occupy. They own stock in a corporation which owns the building. This entitles them to occupy and maintain their apartment—so it amounts to about the same as owning the rooms.

However, lots of people would rather establish their homes in or near the heart of a crowded city, where they can be within walking distance or a short taxi ride from their jobs, than travel a long distance for the pleasures of lawn mowing, snow shovelling and falling off painters' ladders.

So the other day we took a look at how the other half lives, visiting a swank new cooperative project on New York's Fifth Avenue, directly opposite the Metropolitan Museum of Art. We found a very fine apartment that compares favorably in space with a nice house in the country—7 rooms, 3 baths, extra lavatory and a private porch in the form of a roof terrace overlooking Central Park.

PRICE IS $26,325

The price for this apartment is $26,325 and the estimated total annual charge, including maintenance and other fixed expenses, is $5,872.50.

Now of course you can find cooperative apartments for much less money. In the past 10 years many cooperative apartment buildings were erected for the average man with the aid of subsidies or FHA assistance. In each case the advantages of real estate tax deductions on your income tax return were stressed.

So in this luxury building, where income taxes are no joke for the apartment dwellers, the salesmen point out that if you are in the 50 per cent tax bracket (if, he says) your deduction for real estate taxes will amount to $1,822.50 yearly, which leaves you only $337.50 for an actual monthly charge to live there.

LUXURY CHANGED

But Luxury certainly has changed its meaning in the past generation. Back in the 1920s, before the 1½-room apartment had been invented, 7-room apartments were ordinary. Sometimes you had to enter through the dining room and apologize to the sauerkraut and pig knuckles fans for inspecting their quarters at that hour—but John Markle, the coal man, was then living in a 40-room Fifth Avenue apartment, all alone—except for 14 servants.

We remember having printed an item in the early 1930s when documents in the county clerk's office showed that a famous banker paid $350,000 for his cooperative apartment. Although the price had become a matter of public record, he was furious when he read the item and called up to ask if we didn't know men were selling apples on the street.

And Arthur Brisbane, the famous editor and real estate speculator, had 32 rooms on the top two floors of another Fifth Avenue building. His living room was 60 feet long, 30 feet wide and two stories high, with fireplaces at each end big enough to barbecue a Texas steer whole in each one of them, but Brisbane never was that informal.

The biggest apartment we ever saw was that of Mrs. Marjorie Post Close Hutton (later Davies)—totaling 66 rooms. She was so much in love with the Hutton mansion on upper Fifth Ave. that she couldn't bear the thought of losing it when skyrocketing taxes dictated the construction of an apartment house. So she had the entire mansion reproduced, exact to every detail, on the top three floors of the new building.

What became of such luxury homes? Times changed. And architects had many a headache trying to cut such apartments down to size.

Fine Finishes Protect Woods

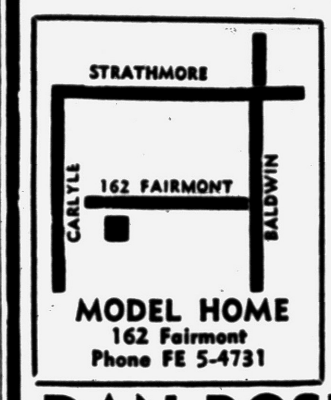

Your furniture and household appliances can be no finer than the finishes which protect them—in much the same fashion as a fabric determines the life and beauty of a suit or dress.

To aid the manufacturers of furniture and appliances, the chemists of the paint, varnish and lacquer industry have developed countless new materials for protective and decorative coatings.

Each is carefully formulated to meet the requirements of the product for which it is intended, be it a bobby pin or a bar-top.

Resistance to food acids, alcohol, heat and cleansing agents are only a few of the properties which must be built into the finishes for your household's furnishings.

We are sold out on this development but we are still selling homes to be completed this fall in a new development.

Rain Deteriorates Frame House Walls

Driving, windblown rain is one of the most troublesome sources of outside moisture. When frame walls are improperly constructed or have been permitted to deteriorate, driving rains can often damage paint films, rot timbers and sometimes ruin interior decorations.

Obviously, cracked weather boards which permit rain to get inside a wall should be replaced.

Nails should be properly set and adequately covered with putty. If this is not done, the paint film around the nailhead will be broken by the expansion and contraction of the board, thus permitting damaging moisture to enter the nailhole and find its way between clapboard and sheathing.

Save Long Bottles for Plant Markers

Don't discard any long slender bottles like olive bottles that come into your house. Save them and use them to enclose labels identifying the flower or vegetable seeds you plant in your garden.

Just be sure to cork the bottle tightly so that moisture won't seep in. Glass containers for new toothbrushes are ideal for this purpose.

Self-Prime Pump

A new lightweight self-priming utility pump has been designned for a wide range of pumping applications. Easy to carry, it is handy for draining basements, excavations and ponds, watering gardens, filling reservoirs, filtering swimming pools and many other jobs. The pump, which can handle small solids and other foreign matter in water, comes with a third-horsepower electric motor.

Test Basements Before Tiling

Before you paint or tile your concrete basement floor, it's a good idea to make sure that no moisture rises through the floor and evaporates unseen by the eye.

A good test is to lay a piece of linoleum or heavy carpet on the cement for a few days.

Lift the coverning. If a dark spot shows, it means that moisture rises through the floor and that covering it won't be a complete success.

For Cooking Magic

Something new in top-of-stove cookers is a scientifically designed condenser top that allows some steam to escape but retains enough extra heat and moisture to dry-fry, brown stews, chafe, casserole and cook both sides of food at once, even bacon. The retained heat in the Aladdin "magic cooker" permits large fuel savings, say the manufacturers.

Mom Looks to Science

Promises Atomic Age Cooking Devices to Lighten Chores

Junior, anticipating the atomic age and a future without toil, can take a lesson from Mom. She has been using scientific devices to lighten her chores for years.

Even Mom would be surprised, the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association claims, if she sat down and made a list of the labor-saving devices she is dependent upon to get through the day's work. Probably one reason she isn't aware of the number of them is that they are generally disguised under the name of "controls" rather than identified as labor-saving devices.

GAMA says that the automatic gas range is typical of the many modern devices that save the housewife time and effort. On today's range the housewife can cook an entire meal without even being there. All she does is set her oven clock control for the length of time the food is to cook, pop the food into the oven and go about her business. When the meal is done, the clock control automatically turns off the oven. And now they've eliminated pot-watching with a timer control for the top burners, too, which turns off the gas at a predetermined time.

There's also a reason why the housewife can take her unlimited supply of hot water for granted, too. GAMA points out that the thermostats and aquastats work silently and automatically to keep the tank well filled and the water heated to the proper temperature. And if the housewife wants 150-degree water for clothes washing or the lower 95 degrees that makes bathing a pleasure, she can set the thermostat by hand for the right temperature.

Many other household appliances save the housewife time and energy because they are equipped with controls of one sort or the other. The gas clothes dryer has an automatic timer which turns it off when clothes are dried while the press of a button sets the gas incinerator to work in disposing of trash or garbage and stops when the job is complete.

And a steady flow of heat is assured from the gas central heating unit because of thermostatic controls which are sensitive to any fluctuations in room temperature.

Although cornerstones of buildings may weigh several tons, those of the Washington Monument, the New York City Hall, the White House and the U.S. Treasury building and other structures cannot be located, says the National Geographic Society.

Rule to Follow

Always losing your rule on your workbench, or covering it with tools so that you never find it when you want it?

You can save time by mortising a yardstick into the edge of the workbench as they do on drygoods counters.

Or use the bench itself as a rule by carefully marking off inches on the edge with Indian ink, then covering the ink with a thin coat of varnish.

Table-Locking Chair

A new - style high chair that locks to your dinning table, then folds up when the meal is over, gives the baby a part-of-the-family" feeling, but also allows Mother to watch mealtime antics. The chair fits any table, and provides an easy way to seat the baby at picnics.

Lighten kitchen work with CURTIS cabinets

Now you can plan exactly the kitchen you want . . . with cabinets arranged to suit your convenience . . . and you can decorate them to express your taste! For today, Curtis presents its modern line of wood kitchen cabinet units — wall and floor cabinets that fit together as you want them, in any size or shape of kitchen!

Curtis cabinet units give you freedom to choose your own favorite decoration! These sturdy, precision-built wood cabinets come prime-coated and ready for the final color finish you desire. You can have exactly the colors you want — and change your color scheme at any time.

You Can Build a Safe Playpen

OUTDOOR PLAYPEN — Build it yourself with aluminum chain-link fencing. Vines and flowers are a gay addition.

Why not build your baby an outdoor playpen?

Make it large enough to give him plenty of freedom and he'll enjoy it, perhaps from toddler stage until age 4. Then a stone fortress won't be able to hold him within.

Mom and Dad can make this playpen a joint project. Dad may dig the post holes and Mom can help to unfurl and steady the chain-link fence as Dad adjusts it into place. Aluminum chain-link is light, easy to handle, needs no paint as it does not rust. It may be mounted on wooden or steel posts.

Although these fences have a luster bright finish, you might add a creeping vine of some sort. You could also plant a flower border or shrubs around the pen. If they are low growing they will not screen out baby.

HERE'S HOW:

Dig post holes two feet deep and big enough around to hold 4 by 4's of any good grade of lumber. Post holes should be 6 to 8 feet apart. If the fence is 10 feet square, post holes should be about 5 feet apart. Use a regular post hole digger or if the ground is rocky rent one of the electric professional diggers that grind into the rocks in a jiffy. (Some states prohibit the rental of this type of high-powered tool.)

Put a 4 by 4 in each hole making sure it is absolutely vertical by bracing it while the concrete is poured and hardened. A small bag of pre-mixed concrete that merely requires the addition of water, is all that is needed.

Nail 2 by 4 cross beams between the posts. Use a heavy duty stapler (that can be rented at local hardware stores or borrowed from a factory or office) to fasten the chain-link fence directly to the cross beams and posts.

The usual height of this baby playpen would be about 4 feet. It is linked so that it cannot be climbed by a youngster.

Junior can entertain in this play area to his heart's delight. A sandbox with awning may be put inside to provide shade on a hot day. A little wading pool may also be built within this space, providing it is filled only when adults supervise the play.

Vacuum Cleaners Prove Versatile

There is no substitute for the household vacuum cleaner and the many services it performs.

It is not possible to remove deeply embedded dust and dirt by just going over the surface. The suction of the "vac" reaches down and draws the dust into the cleaner, once and for all.

For this reason the vacuum cleaner is recommended, for thorough cleaning, not only by the Carpet Institute, but also by authorities in numerous health and governmental fields.

Oven Care Easier Today With Cleaners

To keep it operating at peak efficiency, think of its porcelain enamel, durable as it is as a glassy surface. Spare it thermal shocks and sharp blows from shelves or pans. Never scratch it by using harsh abrasives.

Remove spills and spatters as soon as possible, with a dry cloth on warm surfaces, a wet damp soapy cloth when the oven has cooled. Acid foods can stain the enamel.

All ovens need a thorough cleaning periodically. This job was once the worst a homemaker had to face, but a new oven cleaner does away with old-fashioned scrubbing, scouring and scraping.

When the oven is not in use, brush the jelly-like cleaner on oven lining, broiler pans and rack shelves — any parts and surfaces made of porcelain enamel, plain iron or chrome.

Let stand for an hour or so, then wash off with water and a little vinegar. Stubborn stains and black, crusted grease disappear.

For even baking, make sure your range is sitting level on the floor. Check to see if oven controls, timers and heating elements are properly functioning and if burners are free of clogging.

Enjoy Your Bath With New Cushion

You can relax in comfort in the bathtub with a new air quilt rubber cushion bath back rest introduced by Continental Industries, 684 N. Sangamon St., Chicago, 22, Ill.

Made of high quality quilted rubber and filled with lifetime shredded foam latex, it helps ease aching back, neck and shoulder muscles.

It is held firmly in place by suction cups, and is ideal for bathing children or for the sick and aged.

Use Windshield Wipers in Colorado Dust Storm

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Normally they're used to control moisture, but —

Snow fences can be seen here and there in west Kansas, says the Hutchinson News-Herald—set up to control bad spots of blowing dust.

And the Pratt Tribune told of a Kansas couple just back from a vacation trip through eastern Colorado — who turned on their windshield wipers to clear off the dust.

Although aluminum alloys are weaker than the same bulk of carbon steel, they are stronger than the same weight of steel.

Hang Your Own — It's Easy to Do if You Make Simple-to-Build Rack

By STEVE ELLINGSON

There seems to be a deep and profound fact in human nature, that a man gets about what he is looking for in this life.

For example, when he comes home from the office, and changes clothes, and doesn't hang them up . . . obviously, he's looking for trouble. And still more obviously, he's pretty sure to get it.

New clothes make the man so he's got to have them. With women it's a little different, clothes for a woman merely show how she is made.

In any case, when the honeymoon is over and the dog brings your slippers and the wife begins to bark at you, there's just one thing to do. Hire a valet. This will run into a little money and maybe you can't afford one. If that's the case, then we have another answer. Build your own silent valet. One like you see pictured here with NBC's popular young television actor Jim Thornton.

With this device it's much easier to keep your clothes hung than it is to have them scattered all over the house. There's a rack to put your shoes on, a hanger for your coat and another for your trousers. Then there are hooks for your belt, suspenders and necktie. But the handiest thing is the little shelf where you can place your cuff links, wallet, cigarette lighter, keys, change, cigarettes, chewing gum, or whatever else you might have in your pockets.

The whole device may be placed on casters to make it easy to move from one part of the house to another.

When we took the picture we showed Jim with two racks. One has clothes on it so you can see how nicely it works and the other without clothes so you can see how easy it is to build when you use the full size pattern.

All that's necessary is to trace the full size pattern on wood, then saw it out and finally put it together. The pattern lists the required materials along with pictures showing the construction. Easy to read step-by-step directions are also given. Any school boy can build these and he will only need a few simple tools.

If you want to preserve the harmony in your home and keep things tidy looking, then send 50c for the full size silent valet pattern No. 148. Send your coin to Steve Ellingson, Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, California.

PERRY FRIENDLY MARKET—Grand opening of the remodeled Perry Friendly Market is being held this weekend at 1220 N. Perry St. Owned by Joe Puertas, who founded the store in 1934, the extended store front of glass and brick gives this business another 22 feet of floor area.

Use Spar Varnish for Furniture

If you wish a transparent coating for any of your outdoor furnishings—such as rattan—use spar varnish. This is an exceedingly durable varnish of the type devised for the weather-beaten masts of sailing ships. Hence, its name.

If you're enameling or varnishing wicker furniture, use a spray gun rather than a brush, if it's feasible. If not, take especial care that the finishing material does not settle in blobs at the wicker intersections.

The number of visitors to the United Nations buildings in New York City is increasing rapidly with the number approaching 6,000 on peak days.

Choose Color Stains for Kitchen

Color is the latest recipe for a livable kitchen. Colorful cabinets, countertops and floors appeal to the majority of women who want something different from the laboratory-style white kitchen. Many kitchens are now decorated with the same care as any other room in the house.

* * *

Along with this trend, makers of wood cabinets and paint manufacturers have joined in considerable research on stains. Color-stains have resulted. These preserve the natural grain of wood and still provide the variety of shades people want to choose from. When used over clear ponderosa pine, the wood that is generally used for stock kitchen cabinets, they produce what is known as a "decorator" effect. The color is pleasantly soft and natural, sparing a kitchen from the sheen of automobile finish.

EIGHT POPULAR STAINS

Here's a list of eight of the most popular stains:

1. Early American pine. A mild reddish stain. Use pecan oil stain colored to suit with vermilion fluid oil tint.

2. Pecan pine. A uniform brown. Pecan oil stain.

3. Suntan pine. A light-to-medium warm tan. Use suntan stain or champagne.

4. Straw-tone pine. This gives a golden effect. Use bleached mahogany stain.

5. Blond pine. Use blond stain, wheat or platinum.

6. Platinum pine. A color stain on the gray side. Use driftwood stain.

7. Silver-gray pine. Wipe this stain with a rag when it is semi-dry. Use silver-gray, platinum of graywood stain.

8. Graywood pine. Gray paint thinned as desired.

Some of the stains in the new assortment give a striking effect when the pine has been sandblasted first. Uusually only the doors and drawer fronts are sandblasted. The cabinet bodies, not sandblasted, can be given the same stain or they can be painted in a harmonious hue.

You can get sandblasting done at any monument works. It's a good idea to have the man who does the sandblasting experiment on a sample piece of the same wood first.

Watch him as he does it and tell him when he gets the degree of sandblasting you want.

Paint Changes World

Now that summer is here, our private worlds suddenly widen. Even our households seem larger because we can extend the scene of our daily activities to the garden, terrace and porch. Drab and dirty surfaces, chipped and peeling paint should, of course, have no place in your private summer world—especially when you can have so much fun transforming them with gleaming, colorful new coatings.

Save Your Porch

Rain may look good to the farmer, but it won't benefit the wooden floor of a porch.

Now is a good time to check that floor, to learn just what the rains and the seasons have done to it.

If it's rotting, a good plan is to replace it with a durable material such as ceramic tile, which will not be damaged by rain and which comes in a number of frost-proof types.

Clean to Prolong Life of Your Rugs

Carefully selected, attractive floor covering can do more than any other thing to serve as the color keynote for every element of a harmonious room, even to walls, draperies, slip-covers and upholstery fabrics.

Obviously then, it is a waste of time, money and effort to work out a good decorative scheme for a room and then proceed to let it become dingy through neglect.

The use of the vacuum cleaner and its attachments regularly will prolong the life and continued attractiveness of the whole room ensemble.

The distinction between a cathedral and a church is that any building used for worship is called a church, where the word cathedral comes from the Latin "cathedra," which means the official throne of a bishop.

Artist Completes Disciples' Portraits

By Religious News Service

TULSA, Okla.—George Leonard Shultz, Tulsa portrait artist, has completed a series of studies which he says will never be sold. They are of Christ's Twelve Apostles.

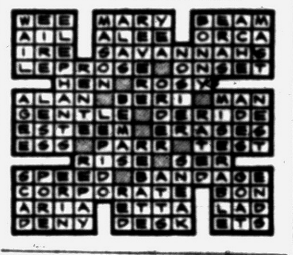

The artist spent five years in research before starting work on the portraits, consulting many little-known books and articles on religious art and symbolism, the lives of the saints, and related subjects.

"I would get background from the various books, then I'd come back to the original Gospels to complete the picture, Mr. Shultz said.

The Tulsa Council of Churches will sponsor a public showing of the portraits on June 22.

Tin added to copper creates a bronze which is harder than either of the other two original elements.

TV Finale Puzzles Fans

Author Claims Drama Mixed Fantasy, Horror

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — For all those still puzzled over Studio One's Monday night drama's finale:

Reginald Rose, author of same, wishes to apologize to all the switchboards which lit up in ire at the puzzling climax; to all who misunderstood his intentions everywhere . . . Rose told us last night to say:

"I think the way the part was written — Art Carney suffering what seemed to be a disordered mind—was the fault.

"Since I wrote it that way, I'm certain it is my own fault. If it had been written, say, in the mood of Leslie Howard in 'Berkeley Square' I think the fantasy would have come through better.

"The problem mounted because the end had no big meaning, no hidden meaning at all. I simply tried to tell a horror story in terms of fantasy.

"If you have read science fiction—and I've read plenty of it—there are lots of stories which stand up for dramatic purposes where men walk right into their own pasts.

"My story was simply about a guy, fairly common these days especially in big cities, who simply can't compete with today. They live in the rosy memories of their pasts, usually childhoods, and don't remember the bad things.

"I was taking my story beyond the mind of such a fellow, past any simple or complicated neuroses or insecurity and translating a horror story into what I call a fantasy stated in realistic terms.

"I see now from the limits of production and my own writing that the puzzle in the minds of viewers was justified. It was supposed simply to be a ghost or horror story of a man who wants so much to escape into the past that he does.

"If I ended it where the child—Art Carney as a boy—was beaten up, I felt the audience would not know if the action was meant literally or a memory-fantasy.

"I thought having the child bring the Mickey Mouse watch back at the finish would establish it for what I meant, pure and simply—my intentions were pure and simply horror stuff—that this was not just a televised look into a twisted mind, but an actual wish-fulfillment clearly and visibly into his own past, with no explanation, just pure psychic phenomema, like the movies 'Dead of Night' or 'The Uninvited.'

"We were a little crammed for space in the street scene, which may have kept the story from simplifying but I don't want even to fall on that excuse, because I'm writing for the limitations of TV and should have kept inside of them, So—my apologies all around.

"A friend of mine suggested I extend the fantasy by having a recording ready for such climax trouble. Whenever the CBS switchboards light up, a voice fooled yuh, I fooled yuh!' I may just do that."

In any case, thanks for setting us straight, Mr. R. R.

Death Has 3 Lives

by Brett Halliday

Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Frightened by threats, Lucy Hamilton does not tell until too late that she has harbored a fugitive in her apartment. By that time Private Detective Mike Shayne, her boss, had forcibly ejected a policeman who tried to make an illegal search. When Mike learns that Jack Bristow, the fugitive, is wanted for murder, he drives to the scene of the crime to investigate.

VI

Shayne shook his head. "Heard a radio broadcast and was just driving by." He dropped his voice. "You know the name of the girl that got it?"

"Heard someone say they called her Trixie." The policeman said "One of your girl friends?"

* * *

Shayne grinned. "Trixie, eh? No friend of mine. How did it happen?"

"Nobody knows much, I guess. Another girl found her dead about an hour ago."

A squat figure in plain clothes stepped out the front door and lit a cigarette. He said, "There's Bentley. Mind if I ask him about it?"

Detective Bentley scowled as Shayne walked up. "What's on your mind, Shamus?"

"Used to know a girl who lived here," Shayne told him mildly. "I hoped nothing had happened to her."

"This one is new, I guess. Only been here a few weeks. Name of Trixie." The detective drew in a deep gulp of smoke and exhaled slowly. "Not more'n 20. Supposed to be occupying the room alone, but looks like a man was with her."

"He do it?"

"Nobody knows from nothing. He's missing. May be the one a taxi driver reported picking up in front of here who acted hurt and left blood in the cab when he got out. Chief's in there now. You got any ideas?"

Michael Shayne shook his head slowly. "Think she shot the guy while he was choking her?"

"Nothing to show it," grunted Bentley. "No one heard a sh and no evidence a gun was fired in the room."

SAYS GOODNIGHT

As he neared the corner, he heard the light, fast clack of high heels on the sidewalk behind him. He crossed the street slowly and she came up behind him as he reached the shadows on the other side. A low, tremulous voice said, "Wait a minute, Mister," and Shayne turned to see a small, pinched face with big eyes.

She was thin and young and shabbily dressed in a gray sweater and short tweed skirt, and thin fingers clutched tightly at his forearm as she said, "I saw you talking to the cops there. What's happened?"

Shayne said, "Here's my car." He opened the door and put a big hand under her elbow to urge her in. "Why don't we go some place and talk about it?"

"Tell me one thing first." Her voice was fierce. "Who was it? I got to know."

Shayne closed her door firmly and went around to slide under the wheel beside her. "A girl who called herself Trixie was strangled there tonight."

"Oh!" She exhaled a great sigh of relief against the cushion. "Thank God, Mister. I just didn't know. You see, I'm a stranger here. Just hit town tonight. I didn't know . . . what to do." Her voice cracked on the final words and she compressed her lips tightly.

Shayne started the motor and the big car pulled ahead smoothly. "Where are you from?"

"New Orleans. I hitch-hiked all the way. Look, Mister, I'm just about nuts. I don't know what to do. I was to meet my husband there tonight, see? We fixed it up two days ago. I had that address, and he promised to meet me there outside if I made it by tonight. So when I got there, there was cops all around. I was afraid to ask questions, and I just didn't know. If he was there waiting and saw the cops, he'd of blown. How'll I ever find him now?" Tears ran down her pinched cheeks and she made no move to wipe them away.

TURNS SOUTH

Shayne turned south on an avenue without saying anything, and stopped in front of a lunchroom a few blocks away. He said gruffly, "Let's go in and talk it over. Maybe I can think of some way to help."

She laxly let him help her out, and went in beside him. There were a few men at the bar, an empty booth at the rear. Shayne steered her into it, told the waiter to bring him a double brandy and ice-water, and looked inquiringly at the girl across from him.

She looked doubtful and frightened and said, "I don't drink much."

She was under 20, Shayne thought, obviously undernourished and anemic. She would be quite pretty, he thought, with the hollows in her cheeks filled out, and and her gray eyes were nice though now they were hauntingly remindful of those of a wounded fawn.

He said, "Better have something to eat first: Bring us a menu, waiter."

"If I could just have a sandwich," she said doubtfully. "And maybe a glass of milk. But I'm flat broke," she went on fiercely with a swift pride in her voice, "and I can't pay you back until I find my husband, and I don't want you to be thinking. . . ."

Shayne said, "I'm not thinking anything. How about hot roast beef . . . a couple of them," he told the waiter when she nodded eagerly, "and a big glass of milk."
