HEROD
A personality study by Guy Rowe

'...Unto Us a Child Is Born'

Herod—He Died in Terror; in Terror of a Child King

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of eight studies of the birth and times of Christ. It deals with Herod, who ordered slain the innocent infants of Bethlehem in growing climax to a life of jealousy and hate.

By GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Writer

The black pain struck in his stomach and spread aching through his limbs. Herod moaned. He clawed at the girdle around his waist to loosen it. His face ashen, he bawled at the waiting tribune:

"Destroy them, I say—all of them! Assemble your men—take a whole cohort if it needs that! Put the blade to every one of them in that wormy city and 10 furlongs around! Don't stand there like an ox! Begone!"

The officer withdrew three paces, pivoted and went out through the brocade curtains, boots clicking on the marble floor. Herod, the ulcers cramping his belly, threw himself on a couch.

"Marianne, oh Marianne . . ." His lips moved, whimpering.

Faces, phantom faces—hers and many others—swam in his mind, the loved, the hated and feared whom he had slain.

He buried his face in the cushions, his fingers clenched and bloodless. It had to be done! But there seemed no end to the plottings and treachery. The very fiends of Hades conspired to ruin him.

Now this new defiance, this hushed-up intrigue about a "Child-King" in Bethlehem. Why? Why? Herod rolled over and stared blankly at the gold inlaid ceiling, his body shaking with misery and fever.

"Oh Marianne . . ."

In the early years, he had tried to provide beneficent rule, lavish even, at least after having that fanatic Jewish patriot, Malchus, assassinated and executing 45 sympathizers in the Sanhedrin.

But always, he sensed lurking treason. He had sought to beautify and fashion this land of Judea with games, gymnasiums, theaters and the gaiety of Greece and his Roman liege. But death stalked his chambers.

Abruptly, Herod raised his head. Voices, women's muffled voices, came from the outer corridor. Women. Never trust them.

Not even Marianne? A sob clutched his throat, remembering. But it was true. "They all preyed on him. Ten wives, he had had. All leeches. All but her!"

Even at the start, after Pompey seized Jerusalem, slaughtering 12,000 Jews and the assassination of Julius Caesar made

Approve Plan to Hike Rates on City Buses

Commission OKs Boost in Fares for Students,
Adult Passengers

Adults and students using the city bus lines will pay increased rates soon under a new agreement ratified by the City Commission last night.

The four token rate for 55 cents has been replaced by a flat 15 cents per ride charge for adults. Students over the age of 12 will pay 25 cents for two tokens instead of the old 10 cents per ride charge.

Commissioners approved the new rates as recommended by the Pontiac City Lines, Inc.

Company officials said the boosts were necessary as students during October and November amounted to only 13 per cent of the lines' customers. Token riders were only 34 per cent, they said.

How soon the new rates would become effective was not immediately known.

The city asked and received its request that the company drop their operating ratio (difference between gross income and operating expense) from 92½ per cent to 91. The company asked for 90.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said this ratio agreement "was merely to determine whether the company owes the city for use of its streets."

Under the new agreement, still to be ratified by the firm, children between six and 12 years may ride for 10 cents.

Children under six accompanied by parents, those in arms of parents, transfers, and police and firemen in uniform, will ride free of charge under the agreement.

The company has asked city officials to review and consider a Jackson ordinance where that city leases the lines there. No action was taken on this request.

U.S. Trade Commission Probes Newspaper Cost

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission, at the request of Sen. Potter (R-Mich.), is checking up on newspaper prices.

Potter wrote FTC Chairman John W. Gwynne Nov. 30 that Canadian manufacturers soon were expected to boost newspaper prices. Potter asked that the FTC look into the situation.

Potter, a member of the Senate Commerce Committee, had told Gwynne that "the sky-rocketing price of newspaper is working a hardship" on both U. S. and Canadian publishers and business interests. He suggested that Canada might be willing to cooperate with the FTC in a program "to counteract restraint of trade and price-fixing wherever they exist."

Purr-fect Present for Kids

75 Pets Cry for Homes

By JANICE HAYHOW

Have you heard any little voices at your house this year asking Santa for just one thing . . . a real, live pet of their very own?

If you've been dreaming up excuses as to why the jolly old gent couldn't oblige . . . like prices, finding just the right animal, you haven't got a leg to stand on!

A trip to the Oakland County Animal Shelter, 1200 E. Walton Blvd., proved to your Pontiac Press representatives beyond any reasonable doubts, that the easiest way to settle the pet-for-Christmas problem is to go out to the shelter and take a look around. About 50 dogs and half again as many kittens fill the pens of the shelter.

Tiny puppies, regal boxers, a friendly collie, a clowning Bassett hound and a host of just plain dogs of every size, shape and color, are crying for homes for Christmas.

The basset, which is well known for his woeful eyes and sorrowfully drooping ears, looks plenty woeful until prospective owners come along to consider him.

For the feline lovers, a variety of kittens is available . . . and just for the asking. Not a penny to pay and you can just imagine the bright eyes of some little girl who found such a ball of fur in her Christmas stocking.

According to Dr. Frank R. Bates, director of the shelter, the dogs are easy to acquire, too. "Most of them are just $2 plus vaccination and license fees. Some of the better dogs range from $5 to $10."

So if you're still in doubt about Christmas gifts for the youngsters . . . or oldsters . . . in your family, your worries are over. Just take a ride out to the animal shelter.

The only trouble you'll run into is refraining from coming away with three or four of the orphan pets.

Editor's Note: This story is not without some success already. Police reporter Harvey Zuckerman saw the story being written, and shortly after, appeared in the Press city room with a piece of rope attached to the collar of a basset hound.

Nehru Confident of World Peace

Indian Leader Appeals for American Sympathy on Radio, TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru of India winds up his talks with President Eisenhower today in apparent confidence that peace will prevail although he says "the danger of war is not past."

He stated his faith that "peace will triumph" last night in a nationwide radio-television broadcast in which he also appealed for American "friendship . . . co-operation and sympathy" in the development of India, now embarked on its second five-year plan.

He revealed nothing of what he and Eisenhower discussed during their daylong conversation at Gettysburg, Pa., Monday.

"I have had the great privilege of having long talks with the President," he said, "and we have discussed many problems which confront the world. I can tell you that I have greatly profited by these talks. I shall treasure their memory and they will help me in many ways in my thinking."

He indicated he had invited Eisenhower to visit India, saying, "I sincerely hope that an opportunity may be given to us before long to welcome the President in our country and to demonstrate to him the high respect and esteem in which we hold him."

Stassen to Remain.

WASHINGTON (INS)—Harold Stassen disclosed today that President Eisenhower has requested him to remain on in the new administration as "Secretary for Peace," and that he has agreed to do so.

OK of Terms to Bring Production Tomorrow

All Night Bargaining Talks Halt Eight-Day Strike, Picket Line Withdrawn

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

After an afternoon and all-night bargaining session, General Motors Corp. and UAW union officials agreed to settlement terms today which are expected to bring an end to the eight-day strike of 4,300 Fisher Body Division workers.

Union members of Fisher Body Local 596 UAW are expected to vote on the ratification of the terms at 1 this afternoon at Lincoln Junior High School.

If the terms are ratified, full production at the Fisher plant was expected to resume with the first shift Thursday, Thomas F. Wiethorn, plant manager, said.

Local President Harold A. Grant said pickets were removed soon after agreement was reached.

Both union and management officials refused to disclose terms of the agreement reached shortly before 8 a.m. Grant said he expected terms would be released following their ratification or rejection by members.

Some workers are expected to begin work this afternoon at the Fisher plant.

Some 7,600 Pontiac Motor Division workers killed by the strike, "will be recalled as soon as possible after production at the Fisher plant is resumed," Semon E. Coudreau, Pontiac's general manager and GM vice president, said.

An additional 1,600 workers were laid off last night at midnight from the Pontiac plant. A total of 11,900 workers were out of work at both plants during the walkout.

Production of 1957 Pontiac cars was eyed for Thursday. The 7,600 workers were sent home as the Fisher strike cut off all bodies for the main Pontiac plant. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Might Have Sleet or Rain Tonight

The Pontiac area will have partly cloudy, windy and warmer weather tonight, with some chance of light rain or sleet. Low tonight will be 30-34.

Tomorrow will be cloudy to partly cloudy with a little colder temperatures. High will reach 34-38.

Lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 19 degrees.

At 2 p.m. the temperature reached 35 degrees.

Gift Ideas for Her at Any Age

By JANET ODELL

Gifts for her at any age—that's what we'll discuss today. It's getting late to shop, but with persistent looking you can find many delightful gifts.

Padded hangers will make any woman feel luxurious. They come in luscious pastel colors and will keep her clothes looking bandbox new. Slip a tiny sachet in the box for a final touch of luxury.

The same store had intriguing coin purses. One we liked is made of aqua suede with a gold top. It's a long pouch-like coin purse, but it lies flat. Inside a key ring is attached.

Little girls will love a fur halo for their hair or white fur earmuffs. They will also enjoy having a pair of "talking" mittens. These have an embroidered face on each mitten. When the thumb is moved, the mouth appears to move also.

Big girls will like decorated woolen gloves or some of the new imported stretch gloves. No need to worry about sizes when you buy these stretch gloves.

Have you seen the new diffraction earrings? They are rainbow earrings that catch every bit of light. Since they have all colors in themselves, they may be worn with any color. Another interesting earring gift is a card holding three sets of snap-on silver earrings.

Ousted Justice Waives Exam

Charles O. Williams Held on Charges of Gross Indecency

Charles O. Williams, ousted Madison Heights associate justice of the peace, waived examination in Kalamazoo yesterday on charges of gross indecency involving a 30-year-old Vicksburg man.

Municipal Court Judge Clark M. Olmsted ordered Williams' bond of $1,000 continued pending his arraignment in Circuit Court. No arraignment date was set.

Williams, who was ousted by Lt. Gov. Philip M. Hart after an 18-year-old Ferndale girl testified he made immoral proposals to her was arrested on the gross indecency complaint immediately after the hearing in Hart's office.

The Vicksburg man testified last week that Williams made immoral advances to him Oct. 29. He said he recognized Williams' picture in a newspaper in connection with the removal proceedings.

Hart removed Williams from office, which he held for less than a year, when Patricia Dawn Slater testified he offered to give her $50 to pay her boyfriend's fine if she would spend two hours in a motel with him on each of six nights.

Abandons Baby in Christmas Box at Railroad Depot

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A telephone call yesterday from a weeping woman sent detectives to a railroad depot where they opened a locker and found an abandoned baby girl, cradled in a gay red Christmas box.

The infant was sped to County Emergency Hospital. After it was determined that she was in excellent physical condition, she was transferred to the nursery.

Police said that about 2:30 p.m., a woman telephoned the Catholic Social Welfare Bureau and sobbed that a baby could be found in locker No. 54 at the Milwaukee Road depot. The woman didn't identify herself, but indicated she was phoning from Chicago.

Hospital attendants said the founding was about five days old. They described her as "a beautiful baby."

Herod Died in Fear of a New-Born King

Mark Antony ruler of the East, a woman tried to wreck Herod's newly-bestowed kingdom.

But he had outwitted her. Herod—Herod the Great—had been too shrewd for the wiles of greedy, voluptuous Cleopatra. Lying there, he grinned through tight, blue lips.

She had tried to lure him to her bed to arouse Antony's vengeance.

But not Herod! He had kept his wits, kept Antony's favor, and even got his domain enlarged, and his crown sanctioned by the Roman senate, despite Cleopatra's designs to steal land for her adjacent Egyptian realm.

It didn't stop there, though. Not at all. He had had no qualms about beheading Antigonus, Rome's foe and local claimant to the throne, and as a politic gesture, married Mariamne, a princess of the Jew's royal Hasmonaean line.

The memory stayed like fire.

"Oh Mariamne, my beloved . . ."

Her mother, Alexandra, and Cleopatra had poisoned the air against him and drenched his house with blood. He had to execute all Mariamne's traitorous relatives, and finally, when her love turned to hate, he killed Mariamne herself.

He had gone on stubbornly, trying to buttress his kingdom. But nothing ever seemed the same.

Outside forces threatened, too, when war broke out in Rome. Octavian smashed Antony at Actium, and drove him and Cleopatra to suicide.

Desperately, Herod switched allegiance to Octavian, who as Augustus became emperor of the whole empire. It worked. Augustus even returned to Herod rich lands of palm and balsam Antony had given to Cleopatra.

But violence, like a deep-rooted vine, grew through Herod's castle of Antonia.

Evidence of a conspiracy by Alexander and Aristobolus, his two sons by Mariamne, was brought to him by his sister the cunning Salome, and Antipater, his son by another wife. Stealing himself again, Herod had his son strangled.

"Oh, Mariamne, my only love . . ."

Herod turned on his side, his features taut with sickness and the anxiety and erosion of 69 years. He belatedly to a porter for cow's milk and gulped it down.

Once, he had been a man of strength and intellect, a sturdy general, a flawless marksman, a hunter who caught 40 beasts in one day, but now droopy, ulcers, fever, convulsions—and grief—wasted him.

Even after killing his and Mariamne's sons, he had fought to secure his power, courting public favor by starting a new Jewish temple, the most imposing with precious stones on Mount Zion.

But the golden Roman eagles he had put on the east temple gate were torn down by 40 pious nobles, who deemed the heraldry unholy. He imprisoned them in the hippodrome.

THE CHILD KING
Then he learned from eastern scholars about this supposed "Child-King," but none would name the parents, and all Herod's spies and agents had been unable to discover the special Child.

Very well! A plague on the close-lipped rabble! His order to slay them all, every male child under 2 would answer that. Life is cheap! Herod's wrinkled hand wiped at his milk-wet lips.

Just a few months later, on his deathbed, he learned his son, Antipater, had invented the evidence against his half-brothers, Mariamne's sons, whom Herod had killed. In frothing rage, he condemned Antipater to drowning.

Dying in agony, he issued his last order to burn alive the 40 men who had torn down the eagles.

His final mumbled-words were about Mariamne. He was buried on Frank mountain south of Bethlehem. And Jesus then was nearly 2.

It was the end of a potentially great man, a clever, energetic man, but in whom evil bore its implacable fruits.

He killed his one good mate and his own sons, and left many Rachels weeping for their sons in Bethlehem, but he could not stay the Son of Man.

He died in terror—of a Baby. (Tomorrow: A Bridegroom's Travels)

Child in City Hospital Asks for Wrist Watch

Parents of Karen Scott, 14, who was critically injured when the car in which she was riding collided with a passenger train late Saturday night at the West Huron Street crossing, report the loss of Karen's wrist watch in the accident.

A special gift, the watch is something Karen keeps asking for even though not fully conscious. Mrs. Preston C. Scott said.

The Scotts, 1233 Applewood, White Lake Township, have offered a reward for the return of the yellow gold watch.

Search Begins for Area's 'Outstanding Young Man'

The Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce is once again beginning its annual search for the "Outstanding Young Man of Pontiac" for 1956.

This title is conferred each year upon a young man between the ages of 21 and 35 who has had an outstanding record of community service in the Pontiac area. He need not live in the city to qualify.

Deadlines for nominating letters is Jan. 4. Letters should be mailed to: Pontiac Jaycees, Distinguished Service Award, Box 210, Pontiac.

Leaders of the search have asked that local residents help select candidates by writing to the Jaycees describing the qualifications of persons they feel should receive the honor.

The winner will be selected from the letters by three judges, who will remain anonymous until the selection is made.

Last year's Distinguished Service Award went to William L. Treanor, 34, of 971 Berwick Blvd.

U.N. Salvagers Will Clear Canal

British - French Offer to Help Remove Debris May Be Rejected

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld is expected to turn down recommendations from his top advisers in Egypt that British-French salvage crews be used to help clear the blocked Suez Canal.

Informed sources indicated Hammarskjöld felt the U. N. salvage fleet he has been organizing will be able to do the job quickly and efficiently without any help from Britain and France.

The secretary general said in a statement last night the U. N. had built up a fleet "able to begin operations immediately."

Hammarskjöld was reported to have 10 salvage ships ready to start removing sunken ships, bridges and other debris as soon as the last British and French units leave Egypt. The salvage vessels have been drawn from Denmark, the Netherlands, Germany, Italy and Belgium.

Hammarskjöld also was said to have 600 crewmen, divers, salvage experts and others lined up to begin the clearing operation, which diplomats estimate can cost as much as 60 million dollars.

A U. N. spokesman said Hammarskjöld's decision to use neutral workmen was his own idea and not Egypt's. Egypt has declared it will not permit British and French crews to be used.

Vice Adm. L. F. Durnford-Slater, commander of British naval forces at Port Said, said a compromise plan to use part of the British-French salvage fleet and some 200 of its men had been approved and forwarded to Hammarskjöld by Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the U.N. Emergency Force commander, and U. S. Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, chief of the U. N. canal clearing operation.

The request resulted from officers' criticism of the board and Chief Herbert W. Straley's alleged influence over it.

They charged the board has refused to meet with them and that it has no fixed rules regarding discipline.

The trial board members have denied the charges.

Reach Settlement of Fisher Strike

Attempts will be made to return all workers to production lines by late Thursday so that they will qualify for Christmas Day pay under a GMC-UAW contract, a Pontiac Division spokesman said.

Workers must work the day preceding and following the holiday to qualify for the pay under the agreement. In this case, the last day preceding falls on Friday, as Dec. 24 has been declared a holiday for GMC workers.

Last Tuesday evening, second-shift workers at the Fisher plant walked off their jobs when negotiations between management and union failed to settle alleged union grievances.

The union charged management with "speed ups" and the elimination of other privileges granted to workers.

Special crews will be called into the Fisher plant following ratification, to prepare the plant for the return of the hourly-rate employees to their regular shifts tomorrow, Wiethorn said.

The strike action was approved Nov. 14 when union members voted 98 per cent in favor of striking. Permission was granted by the International UAW.

Top GMC and union officials, including Louis B. Seaton, newly-elected corporation vice president, and Leonard Woodcock, International UAW vice president, sat in on the last two bargaining sessions.

Yesterday's session began at 1:30 and concluded shortly before 8 this morning when agreement was reached. A 20-hour bargaining talk was held Sunday which resulted in progress reports for the first time from both sides.

Ike Holds Session on Defense Budget

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower holds another session with Pentagon chiefs today on the new defense budget, expected to call for at least 38 billion dollars.

Attending a White House conference on the budget will be Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, members of the joint chiefs of staff and Assistant Defense Secretary W. J. McNeill, the Pentagon comptroller.

Wilson said after reviewing the budget with Mr. Eisenhower recently in Augusta that it would be the President to put the spending figures for the next fiscal year in final shape.

Vienna Leaders Welcome Nixon

Cheered by Refugees Awaiting U. S. Plane to New Homes

VIENNA (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrived in Vienna by plane today for a three-day study of the urgent refugee problem created by the Hungarian revolt.

Nixon is bearing a message from President Eisenhower expressing thanks to Austria for helping fugitives from Soviet oppression.

Murky weather prevailed as Nixon's plane touched down at Vienna's Schwechat Airport this afternoon.

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Prof. George Katona of the University of Michigan is with Vice President Nixon in Vienna, it was announced today. Prof. Katona was born and raised in Budapest, but fled Hungary in 1919 and eventually settled in Germany. He came to the United States in 1933 when Hitler rose to power.

Adolf Schaerf, who had waited more than an hour at the airport for Nixon, greeted him as he stepped from the plane. With them was the U.S. ambassador to Vienna, Llewellyn E. Thompson.

The vice president was cheered as he stepped from the plane by a group of 72 Hungarian refugees who were waiting for a plane to take them to Camp Kilmer, N. J.

An honor guard of the new Austrian army, outfitted in steel helmets and full-field equipment presented arms while an army band played the "Stars and Stripes."

Nixon reviewed the guard of honor.

Former City Resident Admits Altering Check

Charged with altering his factory severance check before entering the Army, Lawrence A. Ledford, a former Pontiac man, pleaded guilty Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Returned from Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., Ledford admitted the forgery. He will be sentenced Dec. 26 by Judge Clark J. Adams, and is awaiting sentence in Oakland County Jail under bond of $500.

The Day in Birmingham

Yule Crowds Overflow Parking Lots and Stores

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—The city's new, old parking lots and stores in Birmingham were jammed to overflowing early this week with thousands hurrying to complete their Christmas shopping.

Parking lot use has been boosted to peak capacity, says Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley in a new report.

He said the majority of the lots only have space at two-hour meters, the all-day meters and those for short periods being filled constantly.

One resident reported a complete survey of Parking Lot No. 1 yesterday with no space to be found. Driving away, she was amazed to find plenty of space directly across from the lot on Brown street.

Charles Mortensen, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said that the town's business is excellent this year with the volume increasing daily.

A quick survey of local Christmas tree lots Tuesday showed many vacant spots indicating a brisk trade in greens and trees. This was especially true at the YMCA lot on Lincoln avenue, where only comparatively few trees remained.

Birmingham has voted to reaffirm its interest in the development in the Evergreen sewer system.

Ex-Hills Fire Chief Dies in Rochester

Retired last July from his post as Bloomfield Hills Fire Chief, Burton B. Bartholomew, 61, of 825 West Fourth St., Rochester, died last night at Avon Center Hospital. He had been ill several weeks.

Mr. Bartholomew, who had lived in the area his entire life, had been chief for the past seven years and with the Hills department for 27 years. He was a veteran of World War I, member of St. Paul Methodist Church, Rochester Lodge F. & A. M. No. 5, the American Legion, the Rochester Met Club and the Rochester Fire Department.

He is survived by his wife, Flossie M.; two sons, Burton G. and Philip B. of Rochester; a grandson, Neil; his mother, Mrs. Eva Bartholomew, and one sister, Mrs. Tillie Carriere, both of Cheboygan.

Service will be at the Pixley Funeral Home, Rochester, at 2 p.m. Friday, with burial in Mt. Avon Cemetery.

Drayton Man Admits Stealing From Store

Charged with stealing $30 from a Waterford Township hardware store Nov. 28, Arnold Dorey of Drayton Plains pleaded guilty Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Judge Clark J. Adams, who will sentence Dorey Dec. 26, returned him to Oakland County Jail under bond of $200.

Home Accidents Are Preventable; Watch Christmas Trees and Toys

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit public officials have issued their annual plea to prevent holiday accidents in the home—greatest cause of personal injuries.

Fire Marshal Matthew H. McNally asked Detroiters to help cut down the number of home fires. Last year 23 persons burned to death by Dec. 23 in pre-holiday fires throughout the nation.

Simultaneously, Dr. Joseph G. Molnar, health commissioner, warned parents to be on the alert for roller skates, scooters and other toys which may turn out to be "booby traps in disguise."

Fire Marshal McNally and Dr. Molnar suggested the following rules for trimming and caring for Christmas trees:

"Never leave children alone in a house, especially during the Christmas season;
"Choose a small Christmas tree. The larger the tree the more dangerous it can become;

"Make a fresh cut at the bottom of the tree on an angle at least one inch above the original cut. Place the tree in a stand that will hold water. Keep the water level above the cut as long as the tree is in the house;

"Never use lighted candles on a tree. Before using electric tree lights, check light sockets for cracks or other defects. Check wiring. If insulation is frayed or wires are exposed, dispose of the entire string of lights;

"When purchasing new lights make sure that wiring bears the Underwriter's Laboratory label (U.L.);

"Always put out lights upon retiring or leaving the house;

"Do not use paper decorations under any circumstances. Make sure all other types of decorations are fire proof or flame resistant.

Deborah Gets Apple

20 Take Deputy Exams

MUSKEGON (AP)—A group of 20 applicants took written examinations Monday under supervision of the Muskegon Civil Service Commission for posts as deputy sheriffs with the incoming administration of Sheriff-elect Arthur W. Davis.

American troops participated in 13 major battles during World War I.

"Dispose of all wrapping paper as soon as possible."

Dr. Molnar also warned against glass balls filled with carbon tetrachloride. While this product will put out a fire on the tree, the fumes are poisonous. Other warnings include:

"Look before you walk. Misplaced toys could cause broken or dislocated bones."

"Don't overload electric circuits and cover wall plugs with adhesive tape until after the Christmas tree is taken down."

Perfect Yule Gift: Peace

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. Hannah Brennan, of nearby Dunmore, turned 100 yesterday, with the wish for only one Christmas gift—world peace. Still active and keenly responsive to the news of the day, Mrs. Brennan, a widow since 1901, said: "I have every earthly thing I need. But world peace would be wonderful, the best possible Christmas present."

Jets 'Comfortable as Easy Chair' Until Gravity Grabs

H.C. Caryl, Managing Editor of the New England Division of INS, recently became an honorary member of the U.S. Navy's Blue Angels, the team of precision jet flyers. To win his "membership" Caryl took a fast ride with one of the Angels. Here he tells what it was like.

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (INS)—What's it like to fly in the bright blue colored jet planes of the U.S. Navy's famous Blue Angels?

I found it as comfortable as sitting at home in an easy chair and as smooth as riding in an exclusive type automobile on the best of asphalt roads.

At 500 MPH up 10,000 feet the ride vies with the best of the commercial airliners in jarless air transportation. Amazingly quiet too—only the swish of the wind now and then, and very few bumps.

It is only when Lt. Bruce Bagwell, USN, of Toccoa, Ga., one of the Blue Angels' flight demonstration team out of Pensacola, Fla., displays the technique of gravity force fighting in combat flying that things get upside down.

"You have to change direction fast," he said. "G is the pull of gravity. The plane wants to keep straight ahead. You have to swerve to the right or left. Let's try a one G."

Suddenly, the plane seemed to stand on end. The blood drained from my head. I was jammed down hard on the seat. My eyes saw a kaleidoscope picture of instrument panel clocks, speedometers and other equipment. It was the beginning of a "gray out." Five G's for five minutes mean knocking at death's door.

FULL QUICK

One G was plenty for demonstration purposes. The "pull" was over in seconds.

The plane 30-year-old Bagwell was flying was a Lockheed TV-2, a two seater fighter, tanks on the wing tips.

Plane Captain Don Newell helped me with a fire-repellent flight suit and gloves. Also an oxygen helmet with telephone to the pilot. The air conditioning system started. Lt. Bagwell talked with the field tower and away we went.

Up 3,500 feet at 120 knots. Higher 300 knots. Higher still 450 knots.

Around 8,000 feet a huge cloud cut off the vision of the earth. The plane cruised serenely through the billows of white. The great fluffy cloud drifted lazily by the plastic toy of the cockpit in which I was seated.

There was a way to get out in an emergency. One, lift a lever to open the canopy over the cockpit.

Two, lift a left hand seat lever. Three, lift a right hand seat lever. Four, pull a knob beneath the right hand seat lever. Up you go out of the top of the plane. Then, quick, rip open a belt strap clamp and you're coasting down to earth—perhaps. No oxygen needed on this run.

Lt. Bagwell explained that his "ship" is 38.9 feet long, 11.7 feet high with a wing span of 37.7 feet. The full gross weight of the TV-2 is 15,500 pounds. The TV-2 speed is 550MPH from an Allison J33 centrifugal compressor type engine rated at 4600 pounds. "The jet blast is the action," he said, "the reaction gives motion to the aircraft."

Coming down to the field at the South Weymouth Naval Station was a gentle operation. Lt. Bagwell got instruction from the field tower. As he decended and circled the field twice he put out two pie-shaped drag breaks, let down the carriage, cut off the speed around 100mph and glided neatly onto the runway.

The mission of the team of eight Blue Angels led by Commander "Zeke" Cormier, 35, of San Diego, Calif., is to demonstrate speed around 100 mph and glided strate precision tactical techniques of naval aviation. Colored water is sprayed from the wing tips during maneuvers to form swirling red and blue vapor trails.

What does a Blue Angel do during time off at home? Lt. Bagwell rides around Pensacola and Toccoa in his ancient Hupmobile automobile.

Candy Fancy Cause for Lost 3-Year-Old

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—When 3-year-old Curtis Hahn disappeared from his home the fifth time in a month police began to catch on.

Previously, a motorcycle patrolman and patrol cars took him to the police station when he was found. Each time he headed straight for the station's candy machine.

They decided to keep him away from the police station the fifth time. He likes candy too well.

Cafe 'Scales' Prices

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A suburban restaurant is using the scale to determine the bill for its younger customers.

Children under 12 are weighed when they enter and charged a cent for each pound they weigh before eating.

Man's Stolen Lunch Leads to Car Thieves

COLDWATER — Two Louisville, Ky., teenagers were in Branch County jail today because a filling station operator missed his lunch.

Sheriff's deputies said they picked up William Pringle, 18, and a 15-year-old companion and that the boys told them they had taken and abandoned three cars starting in Louisville Friday night.

One car was left at Canton, Ohio, they said; a second at Detroit and the third was abandoned near Saline after they ran out of gas. The boys said they hitchhiked from Saline to Coldwater.

They were arrested after a filling station operator reported his lunch was stolen while he was servicing a car.

Blames Blinding Sun for Auto Collision

Blinding winter sun was blamed by Lawrence Christian, 38, of 23 N. Roselawn Dr. yesterday for causing the auto collision which injured his parents, Laurence and Eunice Christian, both 60.

Driver Christian said he was blinded by the sun briefly, when his auto crashed into the car of Ward T. Hart, 31, of 2866 Buick St. at 2863 Voorheis Rd. Christian's parents were treated and released at Pontiac General Hospital. Hart was uninjured.

Trucks Pay Big Toll

CHICAGO — Highway users in the United States paid $7,300,000,000 in special vehicle taxes in 1955. Trucks paid nearly two billion dollars of this total—or as much as all passenger car, truck, and bus users paid in 1945.

Car Crash Kills 2 Teachers; 1 Injured

EDMORE — Two school teachers were killed and a third was seriously injured yesterday when their car crashed with a truck at an unguarded intersection.

Neither road entering the intersection in rural Montcalm County, about 15 miles southwest of Mt. Pleasant, was guarded by stop signs.

The dead were Alice M. Maccomb, 38, of Edmore and Edith Lake of Route 2, Blanchard.

The driver of the car, Margaret Harkness, 28, also of Edmore, was taken to Edmore hospital with a skull fracture.

Polar Expert Gould to Direct Program

WASHINGTON — Dr. Laurence McKinley Gould, president of Carleton College at Northfield, Minn., today was appointed director of the U. S. Antarctic program for the International Geophysical Year.

This was announced jointly by Dr. Detlev W. Bronk, president of the National Academy of Sciences and Dr. Joseph Kaplan, chairman of the U. S. National Committee for the International Geophysical Year, an intensive effort to learn more about the earth sciences.

A veteran of several Arctic and Antarctic expeditions, Gould was second in command of the 1938-1939 Byrd Antarctic expedition. He is a geologist by profession.

Hal Boyle Says:

Family Dream Comes True in Miami Hotel

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — "It's nice, sometimes to find that dreams really can come true," said the blue-eyed, middle-aged lady, looking down from the balcony to the sun-worshippers on the beach.

"Yeah," said her husband, co-monarch of all they surveyed except the ocean itself.

They are Al and Sadye Tische, who, with their two sons, Larry, 33, and Bob, 30, in a single decade have become the "world's largest family resort owners."

Their dream came true in the fabulous 17-million-dollar Americana, Florida's "hotel of the year."

The building is a 15-floor luxury symbol of the postwar prosperity spree that has come to the United States and to a family—the four Tisches. It is the house that jack built, and there's more jack where it came from.

Ten years ago Al, a former New York City college basketball player, and Sadye, who wore a bit of their chores in running two enterprises—a prosperous clothing business and a successful children's camp. They, like their sons, were interested in the hotel field.

"We came to Florida in 1946, but we couldn't make the right deal," said Sadye, who is vivacious and does the talking for the elder branch of the family.

"Yeah," said Al, who is balding, silent and friendly.

So they picked up the million dollars or so they had to invest and began buying hotels elsewhere — Laurel — in — the — Pines in New Jersey, the Belmont Plaza in New York, the Taymore and Ambassador in Atlantic City, and some six other properties. What ever they touched turned to gold, or, if it didn't they got rid of it quick.

"But we still had Florida sand in our shoes," said Sadye. "We kept coming back to our first dream. For a while we were afraid that Miami Beach was overbuilt, oversold, and overcrowded. But year after year we checked, and found that more and more people were coming here. Do you know seven million people visited Florida last year?"

"Yeah," said Al.

In the spring of 1955 they bought a 10-acre site here, a 650-foot beachfront, and 17 months and 17 million dollars later they had the Americana.

The original million dollars or so they started with has been parlayed into properties which the Tisches themselves value at 50 million or more. There are rumors that some of the glamor hostesses here have been financed by foreign adventurers, including racketeers from New York and gamblers from Las Vegas.

"Every penny in this hotel is ours," said Sadye. "We are a closely knit family, and the money all comes from the same pot."

Each hotel the Tisches buy becomes a monument to one of the family, and the Americana is

"Larry's baby—he deserves all the credit."

It is hard to describe the hotel. At last week's NBC convention its 475 rooms housed more than 900 guests who were cared for by a staff of more than 900 employees.

It has a lobby big enough to play half a football game in and

Loser of Close Election in Rhode Island Plans Test of Validity

PROVIDENCE, R. I. — Republican Christopher Del Sesto, 49-year-old former Democrat, today was Rhode Island's governor-elect but a court test looms over the validity of votes which brought him victory.

With only 340 absentee ballots still to be counted from the election six weeks ago, Del Sesto led Democratic incumbent Dennis J. Roberts by 509 votes—194,848 to 194,339.

Roberts, seeking a fourth term as governor, threatened court action over the validity of absentee and shut-in ballots.

But Del Sesto declared at a news conference:

"I am the governor now, based on the vote. If they think they're going to take it away from me, they're going to have an awful fight on their hands."

Roberts led by 207 votes after the counting of ballots cast on voting machines Nov. 6. Counting of 10,000 absentee ballots did not start until Dec. 5 because of a state law.

John G. Coffey, counsel for Roberts, took exception to the counting of "certain absentee and absentee shut-in ballots" by the Rhode Island Board of Elections.

He asked the board to discard the ballots on the ground that the Constitution specifically limited voting to election day.

Coffey contends the civilian and shut-in absentee ballot law allows voting by these ballots "on or before election day" in violation of the Constitution.

The Elections Board delayed a ruling.

A registered Democrat until 1945 Del Sesto held state and federal posts under Democratic administrations. He split with the Democrats because of a dispute.

The world has 917 million head of cattle, the U. N. says.

Some one-bedroom suites have two private entrances and two bathrooms. A $100,000 art collection hangs on the walls and so do the seals of 21 American nations. There is enough wood, metal and concrete in the hotel to build 500 air-conditioned homes.

Without leaving the hotel grounds you can swim in the ocean, see a doctor, eat in six restaurants, order a $25,000 diamond bracelet or a newspaper.

get a massage or a haircut, buy a share of AT&T stock, a $2.50 teddy bear, or an aspirin tablet. Have the Tisches gone mad in a luxury — mad world? Isn't their magnificent hospitality one step too much—even for Miami Beach, the frontier of the frantic dollar?

"No," said Sadye, "the surface of the prosperity to be here has been barely scratched, in spite of all the hotels that have gone up since the war ended."

"I don't understand it myself," said Al. "Before we even had a guest in the place we were offered 10 million dollars more than we had put into it."

"It's comfortable," said Sadye. "It's our dream come true."

"Yeah," said Al. "Of course, you never know when another deal will come along."

Would You Like to Be a Winner of Pot-O-Gold?

Pot-O-Gold money is back down to the $200 mark, but don't forget that will come in mighty handy for your New Year's celebrations, and unless you're really a spender, you should have some left over. Just remember to check the rules and make sure you have your entry postmarked by the new deadline. You won't want to be disqualified because your puzzle is late.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain 3 signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The 3 sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conform to these clues. Use your 3 signs to help you spell out the right words.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

- Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employees or their immediate families.
- A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.
- To submit an entry the contestant must print his answer words in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 29 must bear a Saturday, Dec. 22, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.
- Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.
- The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.
- Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.
- Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.
- Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.
- There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.
- Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Pontiac City Affairs

Add Four to Hospital Board

The addition of four members to the Board of Trustees of Pontiac General Hospital was made possible last night when the City Commission passed an ordinance permitting this move.

While discussion of candidates for the new opening is expected at the Dec. 27 informal commission session, formal appointment is not expected until January, Mayor William W. Donaldson said.

The boost from the present seven-member board was recommended in a management study completed in May of the city hospital. Present members favored the plan.

The ordinance passed last evening becomes effective Dec. 28.

At the beginning of the meeting, Raymond N. Rapaport, president of the Retail Merchants Assn., read letter from the group congratulating the commission "for the positive steps it has taken toward the improvement of Pontiac during 1956."

Commissioners then launched into a brief nine-point agenda which was written into the record in 47 minutes.

They accepted a mortgage release in connection with the widening of Bay street from Seth F. and Alma D. Arnold.

Confirmation of special assessment rolls were set for two public improvement projects.

A public hearing will be held Jan. 15 on the proposed rezoning to Commercial 1 of lots 79-81 in the Ball Park Subdivision.

Commissioner John E. Carry moved that the adopted rezoning to Commercial 2 of two lots in the Homestead Park No. 1 Subdivision be reconsidered. A public hearing will be held next Thursday night. Carry asked for the second hearing as two residents failed, he said, to receive notices of the previous rezoning hearing.

A one-year lease extension between the city and the Michigan Animal Welfare League, Inc. was approved.

Commissioners adjourned to hold next week's meeting Thursday in conjunction with a previously scheduled informal session. The regular meeting is expected to be called at 8 p.m.

Reports from workers on the Distant Early Warning radar line which U.S. and Canadian governments are building is that teenage Eskimos are now in the throes of rock 'n' roll. They learn it from the U.S. workers' juke boxes.

Official Will Talk on Civil Defense

A Detroit Civil Defense official will talk on that city's planning for attack-forced evacuation of residents before representatives of Oakland County Civil Defense department in Birmingham tomorrow night.

Peter C. McGillivray is expected to outline Detroit's plans as it would effect the county communities through which the residents would most likely flee in case of enemy air attack.

Some 36 persons from 10 cities are expected to attend the 6 p.m. dinner meeting at the Community House.

"All these cities are involved if the city of Detroit orders evacuation, so we want to know what their planning is," Lewis C. Jarrendt, county Civil Defense director, said explaining the purpose of the meeting.

Post 113 to Hold Dance

The Bemis-Olsen Amvets Post 113 has announced plans to hold a New Year's Eve dance at its Post rooms, 570 Oakland Avenue. Dancing will get under way at 9 p.m. and continue until 4 a.m. with music provided by a local orchestra. The affair will be open to the public with no reservations necessary, at a charge of $2 per couple. Refreshments will be served. Tickets may be obtained from any Post member.

Fancy Decanters Getting Big Play

Same Old Stuff Comes in Elaborate Dress for Holiday Trade

NEW YORK (U)—All that fancied up glassware in the ads and in the shop windows can be traced straight to costly competition in one of the most competitive of all businesses. And some companies wish they'd never started it.

It stems from this: Americans annually give each other some 100 million bottles of liquor — most of it around this time of year. Since that's no small market, distillers go after those sales vigorously to the delight of the glass, carton and wrapping paper industries.

This year the splurge on decanters and fancy trappings is at a new height. They're fancier, more imaginative, costlier. And for the first time imported whisky is getting in the act.

Some in the industry go in for it reluctantly, holding that it costs them too much for the return they get. But they're afraid to stop the practice unless their rivals do too.

So they hire noted industrial designers to turn out decanters looking like anything from old fashioned syrup containers to a ship's lantern-bottles that play tunes, bottle tops that are cigarette lighters or double for candlesticks — cases that can be used as end tables, their drawers filled with bottles.

The trouble is that, expensive as all this is, most distillers are convinced that the fancy decanter will lure the gift shopper away from the plain bottle on the shelf. It may make little difference to the man buying for himself, as he does most of the year, but when he is selecting a present he feels the fancy glassware makes it look more valuable.

If holiday sales come up to expectations, trade sources are estimating sales this year as high as 215 million gallons — the first gain in six years.

Whisky prices have gone up by 25 to 35 cents a fifth of a gallon in some places. In others, the rise comes after the first of the year — and the industry thinks this too should help sales right now.

Believes Sordid, Earthy Plays Are Losing Appeal

Laughton Sees Comeback of Great Drama

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK (INS)—In a small hotel suite overlooking the towers of Manhattan, there dwells a large, economy-sized gentleman and scholar of the classic named Charles Laughton.

When Mr. Laughton speaks, he appears to expand either his chest or his stomach, depending on what topic he is discussing.

At the moment, he is discussing the trend toward earthiness, in both drama and acting, as exemplified by some of the more sordid stories of our time, played in the realistic (or "dirty shirt") acting technique. In this instance, Laughton speaks from his midriff.

"I don't want to get into this, because it's a useless argument, but I will say that I do view with a great deal of relief the fact that this kind of drama, which requires digging down in the dirt, seems to be getting less popular."

His slow, droll voice, which enunciates each word as if it were the gem of the English language, was a precise illustration of his next theory. Which was:

Reds Double Shipping Through Turkish Straits

ISTANBUL (U)—Russian shipping from the Black Sea ports through the strategic Turkish Straits this year nearly doubled the 1935 total.

Diplomats in Istanbul consider Soviet shipments of oil and military equipment to Egypt and Syria largely responsible.

Unofficial but reliable figures show 376 loaded Soviet ships traveled south from the Black Sea in the first 11 months of 1936. There were 251 ships in all of 1935.

The average merchantman in 1935 had a deadweight tonnage of 4,600. This year it was 5,500.

Excavation of a limestone cave recently near Bridgeport, Ala., reveals it was a human habitation 8,000 years ago.

"I think that even the deepest tragedy has a sort of cleanliness about it. It is frightening to go to the theater and find no beauty, only the most stark and grim realities, unrelieved by poetry."

CLOTHED IN BEAUTY

"All great plays — Shaw and Shakespeare and the others — speak reality and truth clothed in beauty."

As for the "method system" of acting, which many of the hottest Broadway and movie talents have taken up — roughly, the idea is BE the character you are playing and let the lines fall where they may — Laughton speaks up with his diaphragm extended proudly.

"In some instances, this form of actor is effective. But they can't handle the language or the really great plays." The poetry confounds a method actor, and the rhythmic words cannot be spoken with relentless realism.

"If you try to make yourself a photograph, as some actors do," said Laughton, "the worst might happen and you might succeed. How unfortunate! A photograph is not nearly so beautiful as a painting."

Mr. Laughton, a graduate of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, an Academy Award winner in Hollywood and a man addicted to the beauties of drama since he was a child in Scarborough, England, is now directing and starring in Shaw's "Major Barbara."

The play, rarely produced successfully before the distinguished man of all talents got hold of it, has broken three theater box-office records.

PROVES THEORY

A play filled with Bernard Shaw's rambling dialogue and biting philosophy, its success is one certain indication that what its star-director said is true — people are getting back to the point where they don't need gaudy language and dirty shirts to acclaim a drama.

"Realism comes in cycles, and has its fling," said Laughton, leaning back and flattening his palms over his voluminous middle. "But Shaw and Shakespeare don't need cycles, because people are beguiled into listening to truth through the beauty of their language."

"It has always been that way and, thank heaven, it always will be."

Named to Top Jet Team

WHITE CLOUD (U)—The U. S. Air Force has appointed Capt. Clair A. McCombs, former West Michigan crop duster pilot, as a member of the "Skyblazers Air Precision Team," which performs with supersonic F100 Super Sabre jet fighters. McCombs is stationed at Bitburg Air Base, Germany. Announcement of the appointment was forwarded to his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth L. McCombs, who lives at White Cloud.

CHRISTMAS ORNAMENTS — 3
A Modern Whirligig

Here is a surprise ornament to make for your Christmas tree that will look like a modern design and hang like a mobile.

Trace the design carefully on colored construction paper. Then paste the drawing on another paper of contrasting color so that when it is finished, the completed ornament will be in two colors as it turns on the tree.

Keep the pattern handy as a guide while you work.

All heavy lines are to be cut and all dotted lines are to be folded.

Start cutting around the outer edge and cut out the whole circle. Then cut along one of the heavy lines that goes from the outer edge to the center. Do this throughout the entire circle being careful not to cut any of the dotted lines.

When all the cutting is done, the folding starts.

The various flaps are folded like accordion pleating, backward and forward. Fold forward on the dotted lines where "F" appears and backward where "B" appears as in the small sketches.

When completed, isn't it a surprise ornament? Punch a hole near the edge, run a string through it and hang the whirligig to the tree.

(First to submit this idea was Barbara Bollin, Baltimore, Md., who wins $10. Perhaps you have an idea for Junior Editors. If so send it in care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Electronic Beam Warns of Antarctic Crevasses

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica — Eleven U. S. Army and Navy men, aided by an electronic crevasse finder, have blazed a trail 632 miles across a previously unexplored reach of the antarctic.

Traveling by tractor and wessel, they made the trip from Little America V east to Marie Byrd Land in six weeks. Seabee members of Operation Deep Freeze will build an American station at the end of the trail to be used in the International Geophysical Year program.

The advance party was led by Maj. Merle (Skip) Dawson of Williamsburg, Va. In over-all charge of the push into Marie Byrd Land is Navy Cmdr. Paul Frazier of Higginsville, Mo., former skipper of a destroyer.

The crevasse detector, pioneered on the Greenland ice cap, was mounted on the lead wessel in the advance group. Long arms at the front of the contraption emit a high-voltage beam. When it fails to bounce back its impulse to the control panel in a steady signal, it means crevasse trouble ahead.

One tractor driver was killed during a preliminary exploration last season.

More than two tons of explosives were used on the trek to Marie Byrd Land to blast away false bridges concealing crevasses. One typical pit 20 feet wide and 100 feet deep had to be filled with a million cubic yards of snow bulldozed in to make a bridge.

The toughest going for the advance party was a seven-mile-area 180 miles from Little America V where the vast continental ice sheet moves slowly down from mile-high Rockefeller Plateau to the sea-level Ross Ice Shelf.

A second party of 19 men in six 30-ton tractors left Little America V Dec. 5, following the long path marked by trail flags planted by the advance group. The second expedition is hauling six sleds carrying 200 tons of building material, sleeping and food supply equipment.

Agreement Ends 1-Woman Strike

Lone Office Worker
at Steelworkers Union
Back After 9 Weeks

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A one-woman clerical staff has ended her nine-week strike for more pay and better working conditions against the United Steelworkers Union.

"It's wonderful to be back at work," said Miss Dolores Mann, secretary of USW Local 2227 for the past 15 years. "It's just in time for Christmas."

Miss Mann, who walked out of the local office with nearly 30 keys to office filing cabinets and set up a picket line Oct. 15, declined to disclose the terms of the agreement.

The agreement was reached in an eight-hour session between Local 2227—bargaining agent at the Irwin Works of U.S. Steel Corp.—and officials of Miss Mann's union, Office Employees Local 33.

Until 1951, Miss Mann was a member of the USW but office employees were dropped by the local that year and she joined the Office Employees Local 33.

Mrs. Sally Doughty, president of Local 33, said both parties agreed not to reveal the terms of the contract for the time being.

Miss Mann sought a salary increase, additional paid holidays, improved working hours and other benefits. Like the USW usually does in negotiations, she declined to put a dollars and cents value on her demands.

Cow Loses Decision, Feed Tax to Be Paid

ENID, Okla. (AP)—A three-judge district court decision upheld the legality of Oklahoma collecting sales tax on dairy feed.

The defense pointed out that certain raw materials in other industries are not subject to the sales tax. The unanimous court opinion declared:

"We are unable to find that a cow giving milk is manufacturing for resale within the intent of the legislative act. Our contention is that if there is any processing, it is by the dairy where the milk is purchased, and offered for resale."

Bob Considine Says:

Hong Kong Offers Old-Time Flying Thrills

HONG KONG (INS)—People who complain that flying commercially has lost its thrill should give themselves a refresher course by landing and taking off from Kai Tak, this incredible crown colony's airport. It beats the Coney Island roller coaster.

Capt. Max Weber, one of Pan American's elder statesmen of the cockpit, took us in and got us out. Each was a memorable feat.

The birds stayed in their nests the first morning we went in. The big Clipper had to be slowed down during the night flight up from Bangkok because the British, in their inscrutable wisdom, have never seen fit to putting lights on Kai Tak's runways, which are two in number or, rather, 1½.

Capt. Weber, and all in the air around him, had to wait for the dawn.

It did not come up like thunder. It was a day in which all land and sky was made of milk. The captain, with his eye on his radar, edged the big Douglas toward the invisible airport.

There was no GCA (Ground Control Approach) to help him, any more than there is television here. The ceiling was 150 feet, the hills around the strip much higher.

Capt. Weber let down his flaps, then his wheels and inched lower and lower. Then he pulled up everything and left that place. And after a time in the milk we heard his voice:

ON TO MANILA

"We have enough gas for one more approach," the big fellow said in his calm way, "and if we can't get down we'll fly on to Manila." In another day of aviation, Hong Kong's alternate field was Canton. But that was before Mao.

Capt. Weber brought us in like a feather, finally. And that's how he took us out, too, lightly and deftly, for Tokyo. As did everybody else, he took off downwind in order to utilize the longer runway, banked majestically to the right when perhaps 200 feet beyond the end of the runway, and let a 500-foot mountain slide by on our portside, echoing the whinny of the 10,000 horses in Weber's engines.

Below us, another pilot from another age, the pilot of a Chinese junk, trimmed his ragged sail and slid safely past the carrier Essex. Another day's work had begun for both.

You cannot throw a rock in Hong Kong without braining a tailor, a tailor's apprentice, a fitter, cutter, button man, silk thread specialist or tailor shop's delivery boy.

Hong Kong now has more of this sort of thing than any other place, per capita, on earth. The Russians did not invent it, curiously enough. The Americans did.

SOMETHING TO BUY

In the first years of the occupation of Japan, with dough piling up in the pockets of GIs and few luxuries available for purchase, some bright guy got the idea that he might just as well buy some suits for use after he was shipped stateside.

Hong Kong was the place. It was a free port and abounded in fine British woollens and cashmires, and prices that made the head spin.

Now there are about 4,000 tailor shops in town. Prices have risen. You can no longer get the cashmere suit or sports jacket for $24, tailored to order, but your chances of getting cashmere in your cashmere have increased.

The more responsible places talk about forming an association to police the bogus shops. The speed of creation continues to be astounding.

You pick out material and mode the first day, have a fitting the second, and get the finished garments late that night or they bring them to the airport in time in the morning.

There are no unions. Tailors work day and night, getting about $5 for each suit made. An American company recently tried to get one huge sweatshop interested in putting in air-conditioning, but the tailors themselves objected, not management.

FARM DESTROYED — Metro Docheff holds his head in anguish as fire destroys his farm near Broomfield, Colo. Machinery destroyed in the blaze alone was worth more than $3,000. The fire apparently started from a faulty cook stove.

Navy Mothers Club Holds Yule Party

Mrs. J. Paul Hanson was chairman of the Christmas party held by Navy Mothers Club 355. The recent affair took place at the Naval Reserve Training Center.

Mrs. Loren Felen and Mrs. William Christie assisted the chairman. Devotions were given by Mrs. Lodetta Stockwell and gifts were exchanged following the luncheon.

Mrs. Peterson III

Members of the committee, still in their uniforms, take time to make last-minute preparations for the "Benefit Ball" sponsored by the Alumnae to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. They are (left to right) Mrs.

Donald Peterson of Berwick boulevard, Mrs. James Greene of Eileen drive and Mrs. Robert Holm of Birmingham. The dance Dec. 28 at Elks Temple will feature a local orchestra playing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Mrs. T. R. Spratt left Monday to return to her home in Monroe, La., after an extended visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Coopersmith of Woodland drive.

Among local students receiving bachelor degrees at fall term commencement exercises at Michigan State University recently were James A. Brown, Armen P. Googasian, Warren A. Hagyard, William R. Koster, Kenneth Schlechter and Verne N. Vackaro.

Birmingham students included Jannette E. Stephens, Duane A. Scott, Richard C. Schurrer, Mary Owbra, Richard R. Deskin and Charles W. Dare. Robert E. Dean of Clarkston and Glenn R. Branchau of Orchard Lake also received degrees.

The children are among the more than 3,500 Hungarian refugees now living temporarily at this reactivated troop reception center. Another 444 of their countrymen arrived by plane yesterday.

Fog at Munich, Germany, yesterday permitted only one flight of a Military Air Transport Service (MATS) plane to depart, bearing 74 refugees to McGuire Air Force Base near here.

The youngsters shouted with delight at an Abbott and Costello comedy and a Woody Woodpecker cartoon and sat quietly during a showing of "The Night Before Christmas."

Then Santa walked on stage in the person of Z. James Fodor, a Rutgers senior who speaks the children's native tongue.

The kids hollered "Saint Mikulas" when they saw him.

Pillar Club Marks Yule With Dinner

Pillar Club members held a co-operative dinner Tuesday at the home of Mrs. D. R. Wilson on Oneida road.

Committee members assisting with the affair were Mrs. Robert B. Tarr, Mrs. A. C. Kirby, Mrs. P. J. Vieriech, Mrs. Arthur W. Selden and Mrs. Fred Holmes.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Selden, and Mrs. Ross Hulet entertained the members with a Christmas story. Mrs. Donald B. Hogue accompanied the group at the piano while Mrs. Theodore Wiersema led the singing.

Guests attending were Mrs. Isabel Selden, Mrs. Hulet, Carolyn Dunlap, Norma Strickland and Mrs. Harry Richards.

Manhole Covers Geared to Style

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The city engineering department here has capitulated to women's fashions and ordered 500 new manhole covers with holes too small to catch the heels of feminine shoes. New covers will be 1/4 inch across. The old ones were an inch in diameter. The decision to buy them followed a lawsuit brought by a woman who said she fell when her heel caught in one of the old-style covers.

Actress Likes Older Men

By JOAN MANAUER HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Valerie French is a curvy English actress with very decided opinions.

Take the subject of men, for instance. Valerie has been making a study of the Hollywood variety and comparing it with species from other lands. Her decision is that this blonde prefers older gentlemen.

"I like to go out with older men," she said, grinning fondly. "They have much more to talk about than younger ones. They have a greater knowledge of life and they are much more sensible."

"Older men have the same object in mind as younger men—romance. But the older ones have more finesse. Younger men are like bulls in a china shop. They lack tactics."

"What I find very attractive about older men is they sort of lull you. You miss the excitement and headstrong quality, but older men think of things so much more sanely."

ONLY A BOY

"A boy of 20 is still a boy. When I think of romance, I want a man."

Valerie admitted that she never experienced the movies-and-soda sort of date when she was in her teens.

"I was at school in England," she explained, "and we were very much regulated."

"I was at a very strict boarding school, I once got into terrible trouble because I was caught talking to some American soldiers at our gate. I was just giving them directions or some such a thing."

While an American girl's high school standing hangs heavily on her social success with the opposite sex, her English counterpart relies on hockey.

CAPTAIN OF TEAM

"The most popular girl," Valerie explained, "is always the captain of the hockey or lacrosse team. I was never any good at any of them."

Valerie, who is currently the feminine lead in "The Garment Jungle," thinks by and large British movie actors are better performers than the American set, but added:

"Movies are much more efficient here. You can relax and feel everything is taken care of, providing you don't let them erase your personality completely."

"In England it's much more slap-dash. Many wonderful performances are never seen because they aren't photographed well."

"For artists' creature comforts Hollywood is the place. They wrap you all up in cotton wool. You can see why some get swollen-headed."

"They don't have bars in the studio here," she complained. "But the French system is perfect. They start at noon and work until 8 at night. None of this ghastly business of getting up at the crack of dawn. By noon the face settles down and one looks civilized."

Auxiliary Plans Children's Party

Final plans for the annual children's Christmas party were made when the Auxiliary to Bemis-Olsen Amvets Post 113 met at the post home Tuesday evening.

The party will be held Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. at the post home and will feature a visit from Santa Claus who will distribute gifts and candy. Entertainment will include comedy movies and a floor show by students from a local dance studio.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butler will prepare and serve refreshments assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adair, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Harrell, Mr. and Mrs. James Houck, Robert Pate and Charles Crocker.

Mrs. Harrell, president, appointed Mrs. Malcolm Oswalt banquet chairman for the District III Rally of Amvets and Auxiliary to be held at Bemis-Olsen Hall Jan. 28.

Students of Crofoot School presented their annual Christmas play Tuesday at Pontiac High School auditorium. The play was entitled, "The Christmas Toyshop."

During the play, fifth and sixth grade students seated in the audience sang several Christmas songs. They were assisted by the other students during the program. Phyllis Baker directed the production.

Wife Objects to Hubby's Icebox Raids

He Helps Himself When Visiting His Parents' Home

By EMILY POST
A reader writes me as follows: "Very often my husband and I spend Sunday with his parents. During the afternoon should my husband become hungry, he goes to the refrigerator and helps himself to whatever happens to be handy. I think he is wrong to do this as it is no longer his house, nor his food. He feels he has a perfect right to do this in his parents' house. Will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: I agree with you. But after all, this is a question that concerns your husband and his family.

"Dear Mrs. Post: On my vacation last summer I met a young man who lives in another state. We became quite fond of each other and have been corresponding ever since. He would like me to come to his home town for a weekend to meet his family. His mother will extend the invitation as I will be staying at his house. My problems are: (1) To whom should his mother address the invitation — to me or to my parents? (2) Am I correct in believing that it would be proper for me to go alone? (3) Do I present a gift to his family when I get there, before I leave or after I leave?"

Answer: (1) His mother writes to you. (2) It would be entirely proper for you to go alone. (3) You do not take a gift when staying with a family for the first time.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it is ever proper to use artificial fruit as a centerpiece on a dinner table if neither fresh fruit nor flowers are available."

Answer: If the fruits are of porcelain or glass they would be lovely. Don't make the mistake, however, of choosing imitation fruits that may lead your guests to think they are real.

Look Your Best for the Holidays

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Only six days before Christmas! Even though the pace gets more hectic each day, this is the time to begin giving yourself a little extra beauty care if you are to look your best for the holiday festivities.

Your skin probably has taken a beating because you have been spending more time in overheated stores and then going immediately out into the cold weather. Continually changing temperature is hard on your complexion.

You have been subjected to all of the complexities of preparing for Christmas besides carrying on with your usual responsibilities. You may find yourself a bit tired. This also is reflected in the skin.

Then, too, since you are human, you no doubt have dropped into bed on many a recent night without indulging in your usual beauty routines. You may have failed to lubricate your face and neck because you have been in the house so little during the day and do not like to sleep with cream on at night.

I suggest that you take time for essential beauty care such as skin lubrication and the application of body and hand lotions and creams.

The usual beauty routines should not be overlooked during the Christmas rush.

Your poor feet may have more rough skin than usual because of the many miles you have walked in wintry weather. Your elbows and hands may need special attention. For a few nights use one of the oils which practically disappear into the skin. Apply this to your face and neck before retiring.

LOOK FRESH

These measures do not take much time and you will be repaid by looking fresh, rather than bedraggled, when family and friends gather for joyous times.

I hope you have already made an appointment for your hair and for a manicure, because if you have not you may not get one. If this is the case perhaps you can do something about them yourself.

When we feel pushed we may forget that an hour taken from a busy day will not be missed when spent in a couple of short rest periods and in the beauty care I have mentioned. You will accomplish just as much or more and feel and look a lot better.

If you would like my leaflet, "Your Outer Coating" (care of skin), send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 47 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Karloff Reveals True Self 'Monster' Is Expert on Nursery Tales, TV Show Proves

NEW YORK (INS)—Boris Karloff, whose "monster" movies have scared kids nearly out of their wits, emerged this week as a lover of Robin Hood, Sir Lancelot, Peter Pan — and children.

Karloff turned up as an expert on children's books on television's "the $64,000 question" Tuesday night and surprised everyone by his knowledge of "Peter Rabbit" and "Alice in Wonderland."

"I was born long before the days of radio, television and comic strips," the some-time horror actor confessed. "When I was a child growing up in England my parents read me a lot of books."

"It became a part of my education, I guess some of it must have brushed off."

Besides — the simple fact is — Karloff just loves kids.

"I think they're wonderful," he said in his soft voice. "It's just great to watch their minds at work soaking up new impressions and new ideas."

"I have always thought that if you leave children alone they're much more perceptive than grown-ups give them credit for."

RAN UP $8,000
The actor, who won $8,000 on this week's show, will return next week to try to run the ante up to $16,000 and so on to $64,000.

"I don't know how I landed on the show," he admitted, "except that I understand people wrote in suggesting that I should be on. And then some network officials sounded my wife out about it and she said the whole thing was a dead duck — that I'd never do it."

"When they did ask me I said 'Good Heavens no.' But the next thing I knew they had talked me into it. I'm sure I'll get bumped off next week!"

In addition to his own childhood learning, Karloff attributes his phenomenal knowledge of kids' lore to a 13-week radio program he once did for New York radio station WNEW.

"I told stories and nursery rhymes," he said, "and the whole thing entailed a good bit of research. I guess I read a couple hundred children's books."

In spite of his reputation for being a "monster," this has never hurt his relationship with children. In fact, it's helped.

"I'll never forget," he recalled "after I made 'Frankenstein,' I was deluged with letters from kids expressing great sorrow for the 'monster.'"

That sort of shock me up. Before that, I never dreamed that children had such perspicacity."

Metallic Rickrack Makes Fine Trim

Here's good news for home sewers and knitters who want to add fancy trim to sweaters, gloves, or other knitwear — and still preserve their washability. A metallic rickrack braid, available at novelty stores, takes to suds like a duck to water.

It can also be used to add a personal touch to ready-made dresses and sweaters. Any garment washable in soap or detergent suds will still be safely sudsable when trimmed with this metallic braid.

Let Small Fry Finger-Paint

When the youngsters yearn to decorate the window panes, the mirror — or even the glass table top — for Christmas, here's a good finger-painting recipe: Scouring powder mixed to an oozy paste with poster paints or water paints. The paints provide the color and the necessary moisture. Water paints wash away easily when clothes and small characters get splattered. Window panes and table tops need only hot soap or detergent suds and rinses to come clean after the holidays are over. The scouring powder itself aids the cleaning job, of course.

Veretta Dewald Becomes Bride of James D. Cheal

Veretta T. Dewald and James D. Cheal were married Saturday at St. Trinity Lutheran Church. The Rev. Ralph C. Claus officiated at the service.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dewald of Au Gres are parents of the bride, and James' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Cheal of Lowell street.

For the ceremony, performed in the presence of the immediate families, the bride wore a white silk princess style dress with round neckline and short sleeves.

MRS. JAMES D. CHEAL

Her shoulder-length veil fell from a white pillbox fleece hat.

She carried a white Bible with a cascade bouquet of lilies of the valley and ivy, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Maurice Stack Jr. was matron of honor, wearing a red satin princess style dress. She carried a cascade bouquet of Mame Eisenhower carnations and red carnations.

ATTEND BRIDEGROOM

Maurice Stack Jr. was best man. Ushers were Arnold Dewald and Nelson Fissard.

Mrs. Robert Cowdrey sang the bridal recital, accompanied by Kathy Zessin.

A dinner was held at Devon Gables for the family immediately after the service.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dewald wore a blue lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Cheal chose a two-piece gray wool jersey dress with black and white accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

The bride changed to a gray suit with white and black accessories and the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Famous Editorial Banished Her Doubts

Santa's Loyal Little Friend Virginia Now Helps Others Keep Their Belief

By IRISH DONNELLY
NEW YORK (U)—Once upon a time there was a little girl named Virginia O'Hanlon who believed in Santa Claus. Her faith was a source of great delight, but one day her friends started teasing her.

"There's no Santa Claus. It's your mother and father," they told her.

Virginia was shaken, but she was not one to let go lightly anything so precious as her belief in Santa.

So she consulted her father, Dr. Philip F. O'Hanlon. Then she sat down and scribbled in a childish hand the following letter to the old New York Sun:

"Dear Editor:
I am 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says 'If you see it in the Sun it's so.' Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?
Virginia O'Hanlon,
115 West 95th Street"

Virginia got her answer in one of the most famous newspaper editorials ever written.
"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus," the editorial by Francis Pharcellus Church began. "He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist."

That was in 1897. Today Virginia is Dr. Laura V. Douglas, principal of Brooklyn P.S. 401. She is the mother of a daughter and grandmother of seven children, all of whom believe in Santa Claus.

"It has been a wonderful thing to have my own daughter and to work with children. It has kept me young in heart," she said today. "I am very happy."

She and her staff instruct children in hospitals—children suffering serious illnesses such as heart conditions, cerebral palsy, polio and malnutrition, which keep them hospitalized more than three weeks.

She started her Christmas season visits 10 days ago and will see 214 children in 11 hospitals before Dec. 25, helping to keep alive their belief in Santa Claus just as mas with her daughter Mrs. Robert H. Temple at North Chatham, N.Y.

This is a picture of Dr. Laura V. Douglas, the former Virginia O'Hanlon, at her desk as principal of a Brooklyn public school.

Designs Are Neat, Sharp

Upholstery Colors Clear

Smooth, lightweight, crisp and clear—this is the formula for new upholstery fabrics.

Jacquard designs—small, neat but highly decorative—dispel surface monotony and introduce the warm human note. As pile fabrics get more reserved and simplified, flat weaves grow more intricate and decorative.

Newest woven designs are contemporary enough, traditional enough to qualify as accessories to almost any decorative setting.

In keeping with the current trends in furniture to mix and ab-soft outstanding features of diverse design periods, upholstery patterns take more and more inspiration from several sources at the same time.

Color continues to be strikingly important, say fashion editors. Gold, blues of every hue, magentas, oranges, yellows and bright greens are most prominent.

But whatever the color, it's the intensity and brilliance of the overall palette that brings so much extra decorative appeal to this season's crop of upholstery designs.

Table Rules Are Listed

Fundamental Tips of Etiquette Help Homemaker

"I have just started housekeeping and I'm shocked that I know nothing about table etiquette," writes an 18-year-old girl who adds that she knows very little about homemaking either. "How," she asks, "may I learn quickly?"

There are many good books on these subjects but there is no shortcut for young people maturing in the era of lap trays and snack tables to the goodness, wisdom and joy that their parents reaped at the old-fashioned dinner table.

Grace before meals, cleanliness inspection and table manners were basic fare, contributing to the advancement of the next generation. You can't find it in three easy lessons.

Parents are likely to react with booming criticism when a young one does try to cope with a properly served meal, forgetting they neglected this training, that their young moderns have not had table advantage — pearls of wisdom that drop from a grandpa's lips, the harvest of admonitions from Dad that sculpted out character or even the chatty theories that Mom discussed on the buying, selection and preparation of foods that enlightened daughter's world.

There are many books on setting tables, etiquette and hostessing that will serve daughter well, however. It'll just take her longer to do what should come naturally. It'll take a few meals to break bad table manners as any girl will find out.

Here are some fundamental rules that may help out in the meantime . . .

Use the side of your knife or a small piece of toast if you want to push food on your fork. Never use fingers for that purpose.

Do not pick up chops with the fingers.

Break bread in small pieces before buttering it. Never butter a whole roll or slice of bread at one time.

Do not push your plate away from you when you've finished eating. Leave it where it was placed by the hostess.

If invited to eat more do not reply by saying "I'm full" or "I'm stuffed" or use some other ugly phraseology. Instead say "no thank you."

Do not rest your elbows on the table.

Avoid using your knife and fork pointily, stirring coffee noisily, chewing with the mouth open or talking with the mouth full of food.

Eat cake with a fork.

Remove spoons from cups and glasses before drinking the liquid.

Remove olive pits, bones and seeds from the mouth in an inconspicuous way with the fingers, and place on the side of your plate. Do not spit them into the plate or on to a spoon.

Chicken may be eaten with the fingers, but the hostess is expected to serve fingerbowl so that napkins are not stained in messy fashion.

Gravy may be sopped up from your plate if small pieces of bread are used. Cut them with a knife and spear with a fork for sopping purposes.

Do not reach across the table for a serving dish or anything else.

Eat soup with the spoon going away from you.

Hang Your Pictures in Suitable Places

Hang pictures in rooms where they are suitable. Landscapes, marine pictures, architecture, portraits or flowers are good for living rooms; gay, bright colored pictures are usually cheerful for the dining room; restful pictures and family photographs are often used in bedrooms; and nursery rhymes, animals and flowers are good subjects for children's rooms.

Pictures for a child's room should never be castoffs of other rooms or chosen because they please an adult. Let your child select his own pictures for his room.

By ANNE HEYWOOD
Three years ago, about this time, I made the suggestion that we give the old folks a course in some subject which interests them, instead of the usual Christmas present of shawls, dressing gowns or slippers.
It seemed to me then — as it does now — that older people can still learn, and that a course which they might not be able to afford would open up new horizons for happy living.

Last week I received a heart-warming letter from a woman who did just that and found it paid off in a most unusual way.

"We gave Mom and Pop a course in ceramics," she writes, "and a couple of the best books on the subject. They had always had an interest in ceramics but, with Pop retired, they didn't really have the money to spare."

"At first I think they considered it a strange present, but they took the course and liked it a lot. Then two years ago, we gave them a tiny kiln, which pleased them because by then ceramics had become a hobby."

BEAUTIFUL LAMPS
"Last year, they gave us the most beautiful pair of lamps they had made and a very good-looking ashtray. Right after that, they set up a little shop in a room at home. It flourished from the beginning."

"They do make lovely things and they have a good many customers. They are also starting classes once a week to teach others."

"This year we're kidding them to death, because we honestly can't think of a thing to give them. They're making out so well."

"With their pension and the income from the shop they're now in the people-who-have-every-thing class!"

The capacity to learn new skills does not diminish nearly as much as people think. In the 50's, 60's and 70's, people can still learn plenty, if they want to.

KEEPS THEM YOUNG
Bear this in mind if you're stumped over what to give the old folks for Christmas.
Find out something they've always wanted to learn and treat them to a course in it. It's one of the best ways to help them stay young, happy and productive.

If they have no idea what they'd like, no subject that seems really interesting to them, why not give them a good vocational testing session?

It's always fun to get better acquainted with yourself and your talents, especially if you're getting along in years and feeling as though you have no talents at all, no reason for living.

Many an oldster has found a new lease on life as a result of learning that there's talent in the old boy yet!

WANDA LOUISE HOLLAND

Dramatizes Sun-Tan, Too

Black, White Good Taste in Contrast With Color

In any season when color is rampant, just plain black and white begins to look awfully, awfully smart.

This is the reasoning if Mr. Mort, the bachelor who turns out dresses by the tons for enthusiastic juniors all over the country. So his new resort collection, forecasting the new look for next summer, puts strong emphasis on sun dresses, play dresses and cocktail dresses in plain white, plain black or a combination of the two.

"Nothing dramatizes a good sun-tan like black or white," says this alert authority. "The kind of girl I like to be seen with in the good old summertime is a girl with a golden tan and a white dress that does things in the right places."

Mr. Mort also has a yen for polka dots this season, a group of his most striking resort fashions being various treatments of black and white dots.

One style bound to stand out at any resort is a sleeveless patio or cocktail dress of white cotton printed in graduated black polka dots arranged to look like stripes. The Empire look is achieved by narrow black bands which criss-cross under the bust to tie at the waistline in front.

Another is of plain white cotton with a harem skirt and a criss-cross band of black and white polka dots wrapping and tying around the midriff.

The group includes half a dozen other variations of the black and white theme, all in crisp, easily washable cottons, designed to flatter the youthful figure.

Thin eyebrows and short lashes can be corrected if you adhere to a nightly routine for a few weeks. Lightly brush them from root to tip with castor oil.

It's Easily Made at Home
A promising holiday decoration made of aluminum foil is designed for young visitors in your home during the holiday. Children will be enchanted with a sparkling Jack Horner Pie. It makes a wonderful centerpiece for a children's party, because each child can "put in his thumb and pull out a plum."

The "plums" are tiny gifts under the "crust" with lollipops (sugar plums) radiating from the top. Ribbons attached to each gift may stream to each place at the table.

The pie is easy to make. Its foundation is a round foil-covered cardboard box 3 or 4 inches deep and 16 inches across. Glued to the center inside is a smaller box, 3 or 4 inches across.

The gifts surround the small box. Over all, you lay a 17-inch circle of foil with scalloped edges. On top, supported by the small box inside, sits a lollipop ball.

To make the ball, cut a flat surface on a 6-inch foam plastic ball. Cover it with foil, crinkled to shape. Cover lollipops with foil and dot with colored sequins. Push lollipop sticks into ball, and a reindeer head directly into the top of the ball.

The reindeer head is made of foam plastic, too. Into a 3-inch ball of plastic foam, insert a small dowel. Cut pointed ears of foil, doubled and glued, and pin them to the sides of the head. Real twigs, painted white, serve as horns. They are pushed into the top of the head between the ears, and secured with a spot of glue.

Eyes are 1/4 buttons, pinned to the head, or bits of blue felt, glued on. A 1-inch length of wood (a piece of a broom handle, perhaps) painted white, is inserted with glue to serve as a nose. An artificial holly berry is glued to the end of the nose.

A 2-inch fringed circle of foil is the reindeer's collar. The dowel is inserted through the center of the collar circle.

An occasional massage with dry, domestic salt before shampooing stimulates the scalp and is a good dandruff remover.

Gift Pays Dividends for Oldsters

Last week I received a heart-warming letter from a woman who did just that and found it paid off in a most unusual way.

"We gave Mom and Pop a course in ceramics," she writes, "and a couple of the best books on the subject. They had always had an interest in ceramics but, with Pop retired, they didn't really have the money to spare."

"At first I think they considered it a strange present, but they took the course and liked it a lot. Then two years ago, we gave them a tiny kiln, which pleased them because by then ceramics had become a hobby."

BEAUTIFUL LAMPS
"Last year, they gave us the most beautiful pair of lamps they had made and a very good-looking ashtray. Right after that, they set up a little shop in a room at home. It flourished from the beginning."

"They do make lovely things and they have a good many customers. They are also starting classes once a week to teach others."

"This year we're kidding them to death, because we honestly can't think of a thing to give them. They're making out so well."

"With their pension and the income from the shop they're now in the people-who-have-every-thing class!"

The capacity to learn new skills does not diminish nearly as much as people think. In the 50's, 60's and 70's, people can still learn plenty, if they want to.

KEEPS THEM YOUNG
Bear this in mind if you're stumped over what to give the old folks for Christmas.
Find out something they've always wanted to learn and treat them to a course in it. It's one of the best ways to help them stay young, happy and productive.

If they have no idea what they'd like, no subject that seems really interesting to them, why not give them a good vocational testing session?

It's always fun to get better acquainted with yourself and your talents, especially if you're getting along in years and feeling as though you have no talents at all, no reason for living.

Many an oldster has found a new lease on life as a result of learning that there's talent in the old boy yet!

Modern Homes Provide No Privacy for Courtship

Automobile Replaces Front Parlor and Wide Veranda of the Past

By RUTH MILLETT

No wonder young couples today do so much of their courting in automobiles.

There just isn't any place in most modern, compact homes for a girl to entertain her best beau unless she is willing to let the rest of the family help entertain him, too.

The front parlor was laughed out of existence by home planners who claimed it was used so rarely it didn't earn its cost per square foot.

But it had the great advantage of privacy, as did the wide veranda with the squeaky porch swing. At least the front porch had privacy in the evening courting hours.

But what kind of a place has a girl got today to entertain a beau at home?

TROUBLE WITH TV

If she wants the living room, there's either a TV set in it to attract the rest of the family, or Mama and Papa are using it to entertain their friends.

The family room, if there is one, would be all right if it weren't open to the kitchen or if there were no younger children hogging it.

The great advantage of the front parlor was that it wasn't comfortable enough to attract the whole family, so it had privacy.

But today's living rooms and family rooms get so much use from the whole family, there's no place for a young girl to entertain a young man out from under the appraising eyes of Mom and Dad and the rest of the kids.

So the automobile has replaced the front parlor for the simple reason that it offers a little privacy.

SECURITY LOST

And parents have given up the security of knowing that Sis is entertaining her young man in the parlor or on the front porch for the uneasiness of not knowing where she is.

Make Snow Sure Thing on Christmas

"Will it snow on Christmas, mommy?"

If your little lords and ladies are worrying about this, you can let them in on a secret—that snow can be "manufactured!" Furthermore, they themselves can make the snow.

All anybody needs is a will, a wish, an idea, an eggbeater, and the ingredients—plenty of soap and a little water. And oh, how inventive do-it-yourself snowmakers can be!

Why, thickly beaten soapuds "snow" can be sprinkled liberally in places where even Santa never dreamed it could go—and, mind you, it will harden and last for a long time.

Try drifting it over greenery on the mantel, decorating your tree and wreaths with it—and "painting" it on windows and mirrors. What's more, you can color this homemade snow. A few drops of food coloring will lend that magic touch which makes children's eyes pop and sparkle.

Zonta Club Holds Christmas Dinner

Forty-five members attended the recent Zonta Christmas dinner party at Old Mill Tavern. Gifts were exchanged and the group sang Christmas carols.

The members voted to donate money to the Austrian Zonta Club for use among Hungarian refugees. They will hold a noon luncheon Thursday at Hotel Waldron.

Child Outgrows Jealousy of Baby

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
When Robinson Crusoe was cast up on his island, he was relieved to find it uninhabited. Solitude became his safety. Then it was suddenly taken from him.

Walking along his beach one day, you'll recall, he came on the human footprint that told him he was no longer alone. He was panic-stricken.

But as he discovered that he had nothing to fear from the intruder, he grew quite fond of him. He began to find safety, not in solitude, but in the companionship of his man Friday.

All he needed to alter his feeling of apprehension to one of acceptance was the passage of time.

A first-born child who is about to become a brother or sister is entering upon a Robinson Crusoe experience.

FEARS JEALOUSY

A young husband whose wife signs herself "Anxious" seems sure that it is bad, cruel experience. His wife writes:

"He is so afraid of jealousy in our 4-year-old girl that he won't let me tell her another child is coming. The baby is due in less than three months.

"But instead of letting me tell Edwin so she has time to adjust to it, he says it's time enough for her to adjust after the baby's here. I have to watch everything I say in front of her."

If a parent is so frightened of arousing a first child's jealousy, we have a right to wonder if he has worked out his own.

Is money the root of the trouble, asks one parent.

"Young people make too much money for their own good," he says. "Unlike the last generation, they're not putting the money into the family kitty."

One parent says his young man saved up on an after school job, bought himself a jalopy, and then presented his father with the bills.

TEMPORARY BELIEF

He knows it as a temporary one—one that will change as the child gradually learns she is still safe and loved, despite the intruder.

Because he has found companionship in the brothers and sisters who once intruded on him, he appreciates the baby's ultimate value to his little girl. Like Robinson Crusoe, he has outgrown the scared idea that solitude is safety.

But if he still resents his brothers and sisters as destructive to him, he will indeed be very sympathetic with his little girl's jealousy. Inflicting a rival on her will seem unbearably cruel because it still has been unbearably cruel to have had one inflicted on him.

His little girl needs the baby to help her become a member of her own generation.

Wake Up Young People!

Bad Manners Are Harmful to All

AP News Feature

"Most young people today (and my own are no exception) have atrocious manners," writes a disillusioned parent, "and it is pitiful they aren't aware of how much harm they do themselves or other people."

How much harm is done by bad manners?

A mother relates that she has been brought to tears by the actions of a daughter. On one occasion daughter barged into the house with a group of friends and asked her mother and her friends to leave the living room!

A teacher tells how she has been told over and over again to mind her own business by a number of spoiled girls in her class. "You can't do anything about it," she says, "because even a parent who understands the problem will rush to the school board and complain if you reprimand their grown-up brats."

Is money the root of the trouble, asks one parent.

"Young people make too much money for their own good," he says. "Unlike the last generation, they're not putting the money into the family kitty."

for school tuition, books and clothes.

School girls are wearing horrible dresses in an effort to be sophisticated, one mother says. When she was shocked by the fit and depth of the neckline plunge, her daughter responded with "I bought this with my own money, so why don't you mind your own business."

What can you do when she's all ready to go out? The mother waits. Young people are rude to each other.

One young girl observed telling a friend that her shoes were the cheapest looking pair she'd ever seen, was appalled when questioned about it. "Well, they were," she countered, not realizing that even if she had been asked to give her opinion her appraisal should have been tempered.

The girl who'd been insulted was hurt as it turned out, but when asked about it replied:

"Oh, I don't mind her. She's afraid to be nice because people will suspect she is soft."

Does this generation pride itself on being hard boiled?

Or is this independence the result of working and earning a good income?

A father has this to say:

"The last generation slaved to make a few pennies in the wheat fields or in a factory to help out a family. That taught them responsibility. But today's young people are only working greedily to corral more choice morsels for themselves. They're getting more egotistical and righteous every day."

It doesn't cost anything to give a verbal bouquet occasionally, to help out on the family groceries, to inflate Mom's ego by consulting her about clothes, to hold your tongue when any elder makes suggestions or offers criticism. If so many people are miserable because young people lack that kind of respect, why not give "being nice" a whirl?

Moms Can Get Around Strangeness

New Neighborhoods Pose Problems for the Whole Family

By JOHN BARROW
INS Staff Writer

The "new kid in the block" could be yours—carrying home the woes of any stumbles and scrapes that may befall him.

About one American out of every five moves to a different home within a year, census studies show. While parents seek a better job or better home, their youngsters face the strangeness of being an "outsider" trying to crash the "in" group.

Mother may find she can cushion the changeover by arranging visits between her child and old friends he pines for. She also can arrange get-togethers with her new neighbors to "introduce" the children.

From a career of reaching young minds, Jacob W. Getzels compares the small world with the grownup community and says each newcomer must undergo an "initiation."

Getzels, Associate Professor of the University of Chicago's Education Department, says it's like bidding to join a fraternity or to become an American citizen: "They say, 'who's this stranger?'"

How will he change us? Hurdles are differences in behavior, clothes and accent—whether the fists are used more seldom than your son is accustomed to, whether the children dress up for school or wear blue jeans, whether your Boston or Miami accent "sounds funny" to Omaha ears.

A parent can educate his children to expect these and differences of race and religion. Getzels scorns a "cook book formula" to fit all children in all cases. But "speaking generally," a parent can "accentuate the positive" in briefing a child and can lend a discreet hand when a chance arises. Children, themselves, are phenomenal "good will ambassadors." Likely as not, they will introduce you to the parents of all their new-made buddies.

Contrast With Neutral Walls and Draperies

Gay Colors Come to Furniture for the Bedroom

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — The room. Even the alarm clock into your bedroom by slapping it on the walls, hanging it from the windows and draping it over the bed in the form of a gay spread. This contrasted with the neutral tones of the furniture.

Here is an "heirloom" version of 1957 fashion. The dress is of white linen with Venice lace forming deep panels in skirt and bodice. A silk French rose accents the waistline.

But now it's smart to do it just in reverse — have neutral walls and window hangings and your furniture in gay tones of yellow, pink, turquoise, coral, charcoal or white — or any combination of them.

This holds true not only for the bed headboard, chests, and chairs but for the desk-vanity as well.

Color is as important as design — in fact, is used as an integral part of the design — in the line of bedroom furniture shown by the Vista Furniture Co. of Anaheim, Calif., at the Western Merchandise Mart in San Francisco.

MATERIALS BLENDED

The furniture combines wood, metal and mikarta — the wood lacquered in any of the four colors or black and white, the legs metal either black or white and the top white and washable. . . . no more spilled perfume headaches or cosmetic mess to mar your dresser top.

Combinations can even be carried farther; in addition to the lacquer colors you can have wood grain finished in bleached walnut, platinum walnut, natural birch and mahogany, or use the wood grain finish alone with a white or blonde mikarta top.

The pieces are sturdy, inexpensive — the desk-vanity, with three side drawers and a small drawer under the desk top, is approximately $84 — and have a feeling of lightness that comes as much from the design as from the use of color.

The chests are three and six-drawer; the chair, a swivel type that works equally well before a desk or vanity.

The headboards are either panel or bookcase types and come as low as $19.50. There is also a night stand and 16x16-inch stools that have foam rubber tops upholstered in plastic to match exactly the color of the lacquer on the furniture.

DANDY FOR CHILDREN

The furnishings are excellent for the rooms of growing children. A girl would love the lush pink, while the yellow might fit fine in the room of the young man of the house.

And it is furniture that will grow with them. It has the ability to stand abuse and for the growing youngster, it has good enough design to suit his maturing standards.

Drawer pulls are brass for an accent note.

Red Blazer Favorite in Country

Tracing the precise origin of the term "blazer" is a difficult order. It's said the term originated in England in the middle of the 19th century, at historic St. John's College.

The uniform of the college boat club included a loose-fitting flannel jacket in fiery-colored stripes or bright red. By its own vivid coloring, the jacket quickly was termed a "blazer."

There are other theories, too, but none is definitely established as official. American tennis players adopted the blazer fashion late in the 19th century.

When the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association first sanctioned championship tournaments, players made the creamy white blazer almost a uniform. It's still worn today, and will be by the U. S. Davis Cup Team in Melbourne next month.

Whatever its origins, the blazer's appeal is mounting. Light colored blazers will dominate the resort-wear scene early next year, and darker colored and striped blazers will be highly popular throughout the country in the spring.

Given new impetus by the Olympic uniform, this popular form of sports attire is due for a big year in 1957 for men of all ages.

Is Touted White Collar Just a Matter of Habit?

Sports Shirtmaker Bemoans Tradition of Colorless Attire for Men in Offices

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—The only trouble with being a white collar worker is that uncomfortable white collar—and the white dress shirt and tie attached thereto.

Why shouldn't men who work in offices wear sport shirts?

"No reason at all," says Murray Lesser, of Bartley, Ltd. "No reason except maybe that men are creatures of habit."

Bartley and many other sport shirt manufacturers are going all out to popularize the wearing of their goods every day. Naturally. And, in their campaign to interest men in wearing sport shirts to work, they're bringing out more and more models that are neat enough to satisfy any boss.

The new line that Bartley is introducing includes some extremely business-like sport shirts — the Chudda line, with insets of ribbon, mesh, basket weave linen and grosgrain; embroidered shirts; battiks, made in Switzerland from Indian designs; orlon knits in pepper-and-salt design with contrasting collars and cuffs.

"By next year," Lesser says, "you'll see the beginning of men wearing sport shirts to work. They're cool, they're comfortable, they're better looking than regular shirts."

"It'll take a while before all men wear them to work. Men are such creatures of habit. It took a long time for men to realize that garters were superfluous, and there's nothing worse than a pair of garters."

The slack business has been hit harder than it cares to admit by the advent of the walk shorts. Although walk shorts didn't quite come up to expectations this past summer, they still did well enough so that a fairly noticeable fall-off was felt by the slack people.

Find Weak Spots Now in Clothing

MADISON, Wis., (INS) — You need new clothes — not "white elephants."

The way to guard against getting an outfit that you can't stand to wear, says a clothing expert, is to clean out your closet.

"But cleaning out the closet and sorting suits, casual clothes, dressy clothes and accessories," advises Helen Pearson, "you'll be able to find the weak spots in your wardrobe."

To get even a better picture, said the clothing specialist, "make a paper-and-pencil plan of what you have and what you need." Here is how to do it, according to Miss Pearson:

"First, list all the coats, suits or other main group of clothes in your wardrobe. Note the colors, if the garment needs repair and if the style suits you."

"Then fill in the items you need to add. Perhaps a new color will fit in best as an accessory rather than a new dress or suit."

Or sometimes it's pleasant to and shoes that will go well with a dress or suit you plan to buy."

He makes castles grow in the sky

Each of us has his plans for the future . . . and we should start with what we have today.

This most logical and economical way to protect what you have is through insurance. But insurance cannot do the job if it is designed to do unless it is competently directed and planned.

Life's Just Wonderful for Ethel

Merman Keeps On Wowing Broadway

By LEE BELSER

NEW YORK (INS) — Ethel Merman is indomitable — even in hair curlers, kimono and bedroom slippers.

"I don't believe," she stormed in true Merman fashion, "the people come to openings to be entertained. I think they come to be seen."

"What we ought to do is have a performance for first-nights, get rid of 'em and then the next night have the critics and the people who want to see the show!"

Miss Merman was seated in her elegant suite at a Park avenue hotel sipping coffee like a little girl at a tea and lamenting the hazards of all the first nights in the world.

Her new show, "Happy Hunting," opened recently and is doing very well. So is Miss Merman, but she said positively:

"The was the toughest first night audience I have ever worked to in my life. First nights are always tough, but this was the worst."

LATE ARRIVALS

"People came in late, milled around, came in late at intermission and in the meantime we were up there on the stage sweating blood!"

Next day, when the reviews hit the New York papers, it was "Merman Day" on Broadway — all over again despite the fact that some critics didn't think much of the show.

"I can't get over the way I have been received," she said proudly. "I go out there and do the best I can."

"Sometimes they rap things and say this is dated and that is dated. But we do our best and that's that." Then she added:

"I like this show just as well or better than any of the others!"

The volatile star tugged at her pink-trimmed powder blue dressing gown and insisted she wouldn't have returned to Broadway at all if her husband, Robert Six, hadn't planned to be here on business anyway.

Her last show was the smash hit "Call Me Madame," but that closed back in 1932.

LONGEST BASENCE

"It's the longest I've ever been away from Broadway," she admitted, "but after all, I've got a new life and Denver, Colo., is my home now—not New York."

She said her husband, an airlines executive, is almost more interested in show business than she is.

"He's like a child with a new toy," she laughed. "And he waits on me like a baby. You'd think all this was a part of his racket!"

Off Broadway, the stage star lives with her husband and her two children, Ethel, 11, and Bobby, 14, in a 28-room mansion on six acres of high-climated ground just eight miles south of Denver.

"I love it there," she said enthusiastically, "you don't perspire in the summer and you don't feel the cold in the winter."

PUTTERS AROUND

When "at home" Mrs. Six just putters around the house, entertains in the evening and lives the life of (Ethel) Riley.

"I can't cook," she confessed, "but Bob is a great one with barbeques. He likes to cook 9-pound steaks. He's so wonderful I can't praise him enough, and not just because he's my husband!"

It's been 26 years since Ethel Merman became an overnight sensation in "Girl Crazy" when she held on to a long wild note in "I've Got Rhythm." But she remembers it like it was yesterday.

"One day I was nobody," she recalled, "and the next day everybody had heard of Ethel Merman!"

The one-time stenographer born Ethel Zimmerman in New York City said she's happier than she's ever been in her life. "I guess I'm pretty proud of myself at this point," she said without a trace of egotism.

Like the title of one of her long line of song hits, "Life for Miss Merman" Is Just a Bowl of Cherries.

Yule Dinner Is Attended by Sorority

Alpha Sigma Nu sorority and guests held a dinner and Christmas meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. O. C. Allen on Middlebelt road.

Christmas gifts were donated for teenage girls at Pontiac State Hospital. The sorority has voted to sponsor a girl of this group for one year in a supervised spending program under the direction of Mary Ellen Wyngarden.

Guests attending were Mrs. Bud Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Delise Wilson, Guy E. Donnell, Russell Evans, Jack Helvey, Albert Kohn, Howard Looney, Andrew Mitchell and Thomas P. Robertson.

Committee members were Mrs. Albert Kohn, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Fred Ellicott, Mrs. Floyd Compton and Mrs. Jack Helvey.

Initiation Conducted by Job's Daughters

Bethel Five, International Order of Job's Daughters, held initiation for Judy Hunt, Sally Austin, Suzanne Brummett and Sally Ide.

Pre-Shrunk Fabric Best for Slipcovers

If you want to make decorative slipcovers that are machine-washable, be sure to select pre-shrunk fabrics that will not fade when laundered.

A simple test is to suds and rinse a sample of the material before purchase.

An even surer way to buy decorative fabrics labelled "vat printed" or "vat-dyed" — including bindings, braids and other trims.

Designs Are Feminine and Flowing

By LEE BELSER

NEW YORK (INS) — Young New York designer Florence Pritchett Smith believes evening styles and clothes in general will be more flowing and more feminine this year.

"The spring and summer fashions will be flowing, as though moved by the wind," the designer declared.

"I think there is a tendency to get away from tight skirts and falsely held-out skirts that made women look like living liberty bells," she added.

Mrs. Smith's own collection is full of beautiful draped chiffons designed to make any woman feel romantic and beautiful.

Rather than using pale off-shades, Mrs. Smith has turned to true colors in green, red and blue.

"They are more vivid," she said, "and more flattering. Any woman wearing chiffon in a true color with the wind blowing through the fabric is bound to feel gorgeous whether she is or not!"

The new trend toward strapless, flowing gowns is in direct contrast to French designer Christian Dior's fall line which stressed the "covered up" look, with low back and long sleeves.

"I try to be practical," Mrs. Smith declared, "and I think it's just too hot to be covered up in the summertime. However, there are capes and filmy stoles that can be worn over almost any style evening dress."

Always Wash Thermometer

Never return a fever thermometer to its case without making it sanitary for next time it's needed. After use, wash it with soap and detergent suds and cool water.

Hospital authorities point out that hot water isn't necessary because the suds serve to wash germs and bacteria away.

In washing, use a soft cloth to avoid scratching the glass, and rinse under cool running water.

Pontiac Woman's Club Has Christmas Party

Mrs. Oro Brown and Mrs. W. M. Morgan were elected to membership at Monday's meeting of Pontiac Woman's Club held at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

Mrs. I. M. Lewis presided and Mrs. Ray Falk reported on the progress in the restoration of the Wisner Home. The group voted to donate money for restoring the dining room of the house.

Announcement was made of the Oakland County Federation of Women's Club meeting at Birmingham Community House.

Use Special Makeup for Camera

Whenever you plan an appearance before the "all-too-candid" camera, follow this film-gear grooming advice for a perfect portrait:

Wear your hair in its usual style, avoid washing it the night before your sitting, and don't keep it pin-cured right up until posing time.

Most hair looks and behaves better one or two days after washing.

Makeup should be kept to a bare minimum for photography. Don't wear foundation unless you have a real skin problem, or powder unless you have unusually oily skin. Rouge is vetoed because it appears as a smudge on a photograph.

Lipstick should be applied lightly and carefully. Avoid orange, which is too pale for black and white film.

Choose classic styles in dress. The most flattering and most photographed neckline is a V neck. You might select a tailored shirt in a light color, a single strand of pearls and perhaps small pearl earrings.

Marks 5th Birthday

Terry Lynn Skelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Skelton of Coolidge Lake, celebrated her fifth birthday with a party Friday. Guests included Avis Wagenschutz, Kenneth Lysinski, Robert Skelton, Mary Tommy, Therese and Jerry Schulte.

Foundation cream should not be used on an oily skin. Wash frequently with plenty of soap, and apply powder directly to the skin.

Jan. 4. A card party was planned for Jan. 30 with proceeds going to the welfare and scholarship fund.

Ora Hallenbach entertained with a Christmas story entitled, "The Little Snowman's Christmas Gift." Vocal students of Washington Junior high school sang several selections directed by Gordon Wilder.

Mrs. Harry Stowell was chairman of the day assisted by Mrs. A. E. Kilpela, Mrs. J. Daniel O'Dea, Mrs. William R. Georgia, Mrs. W. E. Blynn and Mrs. Barney McKelita.

Mrs. J. Gardner Lewis, Mrs. Archie Allen and Mrs. Albert Simpson made decorations for the affair. Mrs. John Lyons and Mrs. James Gilchrist poured at the coffee hour.

Chapter Holds Yule Gathering in Birmingham

The Christmas meeting of XI Phi Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority was held at the home of Mrs. John Black in Birmingham Tuesday evening. Mrs. William Thomas was cohostess.

Mrs. George H. Thurber presided at the business meeting, and the group sang Christmas carols accompanied by Betty Halsey on the autoharp.

Fellowship Class Holds Yule Meeting

A cooperative dinner was served to 50 members of the Fellowship Bible Class of First Baptist Church at their business and social evening Tuesday in the Educational Building. Dinner was served by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Anderson and their committee.

Devotions were heard from Albert Barnett, whose topic was "God's Gift at Christmas—His Son." Mrs. T. N. Slosson entertained with several songs and Earl Campbell led the community singing of Christmas carols.

Leaves Hospital

Peter Niemi of South Telegraph road is convalescing at home following surgery at Pontiac General Hospital.

Washable Leather Gloves — Smart

Gloves undoubtedly appear on more Christmas lists than any other item. Listed below are a few pointers on how to choose the type of glove most likely to please both men and women.

But before you delve into the particulars, there's one practical consideration to keep in mind: Make sure the leather gloves you buy are completely washable. This is no trick this year with the new U. S. made LaunderLeather gloves on practically every store counter—unlike last year when they had just come out and were hard to find. These one-hundred per cent sudsable American-made leather gloves can be washed over and over again without damage to color or texture.

Now for some tips on selecting what for whom on your glove list:

1. If she's the chic type who likes wearing fashionable all-black dresses or coats, a pair of sparkling white gloves in silky, thin kidskin makes the smartest gift. Get them in either wrist-length or in the new four-button length that reaches the middle of the forearm.

2. If she likes accenting her costume with a touch of color—like a bright yellow scarf or flashing red shoes—get her a pair of gloves in one of her favorite hues. She'll delight in teaming them up with another accessory—or even with costume jewelry, in the same tone.

3. As for the smart suburbanite on your list who prefers dressing casually, put her down for a luxuriously-grained pigskin in a new pale beige to russet brown tone and you won't go wrong. Due to a new tanning process the leather's natural grain will never flatten out—even after countless washings.

4. That tireless teenager on her first big round of holiday socials will enjoy a pair of the very briefest leather shorties. Buy them in snowy white or in pale pastels to go with her new party clothes.

5. And now for the man on your list. If he's partial to trimly-tailored dark-toned business suits, get him a pair of smartly cut capeskin gloves in oxford grey or one of the beige-tan tones. These are now considered in perfect taste for wearing either to business, to the theatre or to parties.

6. If he fancies himself in tweeds and more casual clothes, you'll make the perfect choice with a pair of handsome pigskin pull-ons in tan, grey or oatmeal. And, because pigskin's texture provides an extra-safe and firm hold on the steering wheel, he'll like wearing them for driving, too.

THE HOLIDAY TOUCH

Christmas is the time for eye-make-up. If you have never tried before... let yourself go at holiday time, apply the tiniest bit of eye shadow on the lower part of the upper lid, more toward the outside, blend well. If you have blue eyes, use blue. Brown eyes, use green or brown. Hazel eyes, green.

Draw a line with your eyebrow pencil on the upper lid just above the lashes. Try a new shade of polish and lipstick, get one to harmonize with your holiday clothes.

If you have thought of buying yourself a Christmas present, invest your money in a new perfume or cologne. It will make you feel as glamorous as you look.

Farm Kids Know How World Lives

'Envoys in Jeans' Enthusiastic About Youth Exchange

By ANNETTE DAVIS
(For Jane Eads)

WASHINGTON — "If I had a chance to go again, I'd grab it," said Tracy Remy of Iowa, Iowa. One of 62 "ambassadors in blue jeans" who spent five months abroad under the International Farm Youth Exchange program, Tracy recounted his experiences on his return here.

The young people, representing 31 states, lived and worked with farm families in 22 countries in Europe and the Near East.

The program is sponsored in the United States by the National 4-H Club Foundation and the Cooperative Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture to give American farm youth a chance "to learn another way of life by living it."

Remy, 21, a senior at Iowa State University, lived on three different types of farms in France.

VARYING METHODS

He said the most amazing thing about French farming to him was the varying use of modern equipment. He found horses still being used for some operations on farms using the most up-to-date machinery for other jobs.

Virginia Devinish, who comes from a wheat farm near Salina, Kan., feels that some of her best friends were made during her stay with three farm families in Germany.

She said the most touching moment came when one of her hosts realizing her difficulty with the German dialects, presented her with a farewell cake.

"It had 'Best Wishes to Our Dear Ginny' written in English on it," she told me.

The doors to an entirely different way of life were opened for Martha McDonald of Shippensburg, Pa., when she arrived in Israel.

She and two other exchange youths lived in a kibbutz, a communal-type settlement where everything is owned jointly and farming is done collectively.

ALL EAT TOGETHER

Discussing home life in a kibbutz, Martha said couples live in one or two room kitchenless apartments and eat all their meals in a community dining room.

Children live in nurseries as early as two weeks of age and see their parents from 5 to 8 every evening.

She said the families seem well adjusted to this way of living, but she felt the women would prefer to do their own cooking and have their children live at home if it were economically possible.

Woolen Dress Tops in Fashion

For mid-winter through early spring wear, the costume and the wool dress predominate. Short jacketed costumes with chiffon blouses are paired with pegged or pleated skirts.

The cape comes into fashion focus in Forstman's navy and white tweed, tapering gradually from a sloping shoulder to the hips.

The wool dress is favored for street through supper wear in several silhouette themes. For the daytime, it can appear with a pegged skirt, portrait neckline, and front closing in pale grey.

For late day, it can be done in navy or black and with a chiffon cape collar or, sporting a wide decolletage and long scarf tie at the bosom, the narrow wool dress goes out to dine.

Attends Christmas Party

Golden Age Group Meets

More than 50 members of the Golden Age Group of the Pontiac YWCA attended the monthly dessert luncheon and Christmas party held at the YWCA Tuesday.

Four members of Janice Anton's Americanization classes described Christmas customs in their homelands. They were Mrs. Flora Grimaldi of Italy, Mrs. Dolores Guzman of Mexico, Mrs. Sarah Allen, Ireland, and Mrs. Kay Halloway, Japan.

SUZANNE CAROL DANNER

The engagement of their daughter, Suzanne Carol, to Ivan Ray Findlay, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Danner of Alberta boulevard. Ivan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan K. Findlay of Dayton, Ohio.

Fur Accessories Popular

The current feminine fashions take to fur accents like a small boy to a lollipop.

Fur hats, fur muffs, fur stoles, fur belts and bags are the newest notes in the era of elegance. In many cases they are preferred to fur coats.

For instance, many a woman this year chooses a plain black fabric coat, cut on simple lines, and adds the luxury touch of a fur hat and matching muff—and the fur may be anything from mink to American broadtail, depending on her tastes and her budget.

If she doesn't want a muff she may substitute a king-size fur handbag, or a fur collar or ascot, which may be worn with suits as well.

Small, close-fitting stoles also are important in the holiday fur lineup, with fluffy Norwegian fox a new favorite. This handsome and luxurious fur comes at budget prices, and looks like a million.

The buyer will find an unlimited assortment of fur accessories in the shops this year, in all price ranges.

A trifle such as a fur belt and matching ascot, for instance, would delight any fashion-wise woman. A fur beret would make a young girl do nips in joy.

For the woman who likes dramatic fashions, a huge fur muff would be just the ticket.

Tights Sub for Lingerie

PARIS (INS) — Fuel-starved door styles for women in America are being tempted by a new style to keep warm.

The fashion is to wear wool-jersey ballet tights instead of frilly — and cold — unmentionables.

Jacques Heim has designed warm and chic cold-weather "in-

These pads are patches of red fox fur, sewn on the skirt at knee-height and held in place by invisible bands, fitted around the back of the knees. The result gives a trouser-look on the front, with the skirt flaring out at the sides and at the back.

Another Heim creation is also based on ballet tights. Covering everything except head, neck and hands, the beige tights are worn with an ankle-length skirt of beige-dyed Chinese lamb. The long, full skirt is slit open to the waist in front, giving an occasional peep of the tights.

The most sporty looking winter outfit by Heim is composed of a black sweater, black rabbit-torador pants, partly covered by a black tweed skirt slit in front. It is worn with red wool stockings and flat black shoes.

Mess Sergeant in a Good Mess

Firm Using Ike's Name Promoting Stock Sales, Commission Alleges

NEW YORK — A federal judge has restrained a brokerage firm from linking President Eisenhower's name with a food company headed by his former mess sergeant, Marty Snyder.

Federal Judge Edmund L. Palmieri issued a temporary restraining order yesterday against the Burd, Jacwin and Costa, Inc., brokerage firm. Palmieri acted after the Securities and Exchange Commission alleged that salesmen of the firm promoted stock by telephone, using the President's name.

"President Eisenhower would do everything in his power to see that Sgt. Marty Snyder's best stew would be used by the armed services," was typical, the SEC said, of the telephoned sales pitches used.

The SEC alleged also that purchasers of stock in the Sergeant Marty Snyder Foods, Inc., firm were deceived and defrauded by claims that Eisenhower endorsed the product and that the firm's products were being sold to the government.

Snyder, the SEC said, had told commission members that he had never discussed the stock enterprise with either Eisenhower or members of the White House staff.

Angry Artist Pays, Gets His License

KANSAS CITY — The city is mailing an occupational license to Thomas Hart Benton, noted artist, on questions asked.

Benton recently was sent a bill for the $25 occupational tax after city officials read that he received a $30,000 commission for some paintings.

He protested vehemently that artists should not be licensed, but finally paid the tax.

However, he refused to fill out an application for the license, on grounds that he could not jeopardize his residence by listing it as a place of business.

At first the city said it would not issue the license until Benton filled in the application. But yesterday, Curtis T. Thatcher, commissioner of revenue, relented and mailed the license.

U.S. Post Office Sticks to Deliver All Mail

WASHINGTON — The post office says it will deliver before Christmas all the mail its employees can handle physically, even though Dec. 24 has been designated as a federal workers' holiday.

The department said the designation by President Eisenhower will not apply to "any postal employee whose services are needed to get the mail out."

Deliveries and post office hours will be on a normal basis Dec. 24. There will be no window service Christmas Day, but delivery of Christmas packages will be made on that day.

Inherits Art Talent

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — Other 11 year-old boys may make their own Christmas cards, but Michael Mattil has been doing it since he was three. Michael's father is Dr. Howard L. Mattil, associate professor of art education at Pennsylvania State University, but dad says the boy is on his own in creating the cards. He says in recent years his son has found religious themes most appealing.

RED HOT — A technician prepares to let go a hot blast from the new E 30 R-1 "one-shot" flame thrower at the Army technical center, Edgewood, Md. The unit weighs 26½ pounds, loaded, contrasted to the 72 pounds of the conventional flame thrower. It can be "jumped" as part of a paratrooper's equipment.

Helpful Scouts Reap Rewards for Good Deeds

JOLIET, Ill. — The local Community Chest fund is $5 richer on the theory that one good turn deserves another.

Vacationing H. C. Crook of Clinton, Minn., enlisted the aid of the Joliet Boy Scouts to help him locate his hat. "I don't know the name of the restaurant," he wrote, "but we stopped at a place on Route 30 on the right hand side of the street going west and about three doors from the corner."

The Scouts scouted the vicinity and located his hat at the Little Lighthouse Sandwich Shop and sent it to him. Scout Executive Frank Geiger received a note of thanks and placed the check with the Community Chest agency.

Four-Year-Old Dies During Tracheotomy

NEW YORK — Four-year-old Diana Williams has lost her battle with death.

The Stamford, Conn., girl died yesterday on the operating table at Bellevue Hospital while surgeons were attempting a tracheotomy, an operation to enable her to breathe. The youngster had swallowed a quantity of sleeping pills her parents had left on a table. Their effects appeared to be choking her.

Diana had been in an iron lung in Stamford Hospital since Sunday evening. She was brought to Bellevue before dawn yesterday. While she was being rushed here in a truck at 60 m.p.h. four persons helped operate her iron lung by hand.

Darkness No Problem at Pianist's Concert

BARABOO, Wis. — A concert at the Al Ringling Theater here had just begun when a rainstorm disrupted power lines, plunging that portion of the city into darkness for over an hour.

But no one left the theater and the artist played on as though completely unaware of the difficulty. He was Alec Templeton, famed blind pianist.

Men Are Fussy, Too, Says Clothes Buyer

TOLEDO, Ohio — The steady growth in popularity of men's sportswear can be traced to the fact that "men are getting particular, like women," a buyer for a leading Toledo men's store says. "Men don't want to meet themselves coming down the street," Clarence Reiling believes.

Marks Steam Era

JACKSON — An old "Iron Horse" locomotive, now at Battle Creek, will be given to the City of Jackson to mark the passing of the steam era. The Grand Trunk & Western is making a gift of the Pacific-type engine, but the city is paying freight charges to bring it to Jackson.

Common colds are the most prevalent in the United States in three seasons — October, November and January and March-April.

Dead Man Shows Up

BUTTE, Mont. — Court attaches were startled when a man supposedly dead answered a call for jury duty. Edward P. Wolahan explained that his name had been confused on the jury venire record with that of his father, the late Ed Wolahan.

South America Uses 12 Railway Gauges

RIO DE JANEIRO — At least 12 different railway-track gauges are in use in South America. The principal one is 3 feet 3¼ inches between the rails—commonly called "meter gauge."

Of approximately 61,400 miles of railroad in South America, 34,000 miles are of meter gauge.

California began its present park system in about 1927.

WONDERFUL RESULTS REPORTED BY O-JIB-WA USER

The real test of a medicine is not in words, but in its use. Thousands of people right in your vicinity, have tried O-JIB-WA BITTERS, and have been so pleased with the results, that they are continually telling others, so that they too, can gain from their experience. Typical is the testimonial of Mrs. Clara Anderson, 5681 Nightingale, Dearborn, printed below.

Mrs. C. Anderson was returned about a week later. In 1952, a friend recommended O-JIB-WA BITTERS to me, so I decided to give it a good trial. It wasn't long before I could tell that your Bitters was helping me, as in two months the pain and swelling went out of my knee, and I was feeling lots better. Little things that bothered me in the past were no longer noticeable. O-JIB-WA also seemed to calm me down considerably, so that now I am able to pitch in and help around the house again. My husband has noticed too, how much stronger I am, and how much more pep I have. In fact, we both are painting our house, and that is something that would have been impossible except for O-JIB-WA BITTERS. I can't say enough for this wonderful medicine.

Nehru's Idea of Way to Peace May Be Different From Ike's

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—If you were Jawaharlal Nehru, you too might try to follow the middle, neutral road between the West and communism.

It will be no surprise if in their talks this week President Eisenhower and Nehru, India's prime minister, agree that both want peace but disagree on how best to achieve it.

Nehru is neither a simple man nor a humble one. More than half his life was dedicated to winning independence for India from Britain. With that done, he is dedicated now to bringing India abreast of the 20th century.

He has intellectual arrogance, at times scolding East and West. He has supreme confidence in himself. According to Frank Moraes, an Indian editor who knows him well and recently wrote a biography of him, Nehru has a broad streak of secretiveness and mistrust for others.

As a youth he was in private rebellion against British rule. But it wasn't until he was 31 that he realized the true condition of the great masses of his people: poverty and ignorance.

It wasn't until then that he visited an Indian village and saw how life was. His had been a sheltered life; only son of a wealthy father, he was educated in England's best schools.

When his eyes were opened he devoted his life to service and sacrifice. He had that thing called character. He never swerved although the British jailed him nine times, kept him in prison nine years altogether, and beat him.

Moraes says Nehru is a calculating man. His neutralism is probably coldly calculated as best for India and not necessarily the course he would choose if circumstances were different.

One paragraph from Moraes throws a light on Nehru: "If Nehru accepted nonviolence as a political weapon (against the British) it was not because he regarded it as dogma but merely as the right policy for India in the conditions which prevailed."

The conditions which prevailed in India throughout the 200 years of British rule were these: The Indians had no military force. The only weapons they could use were passive resistance and noncooperation.

India today—in relation to the armed power of the West on one side and communism on the other—is in a similar position.

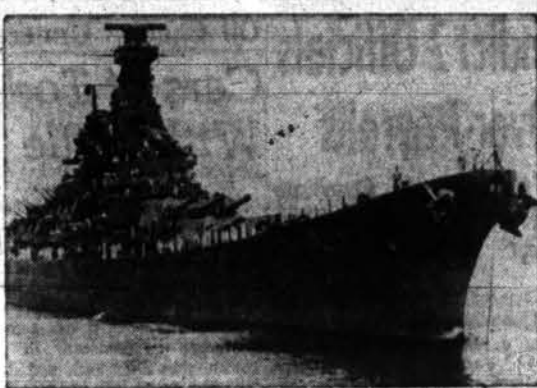

Although India's 400 million people outnumber the combined populations of the United States and Russia, India is so undeveloped industrially it could not hope to catch up militarily with East or West for a generation at least.

Communism—Russian and Chinese—stretches across Asia just north of India. The Communists can make spectacular industrial gains because they have absolute power. They can sacrifice a whole generation for the benefit of generations to come.

Nehru's democratic socialism by its nature has to move slower, concerned as much for the individuals now living as for those to come. To make his democratic socialism work, Nehru needs time but he also has to work fast to make it attractive.

Meanwhile, Nehru and his Indians, having watched Western colonialism most of their lives in Asia, can fairly say they will be suspicious until they are fully convinced the intentions of the West are good.

INTO HONORABLE RETIREMENT—The veteran battleship, USS New Jersey, is off to join the mothball fleet in New York for the second time. When launched Dec. 7, 1942, the 45,000-ton three-blocks-long New Jersey and her sister ship, USS Iowa, were the largest warships afloat. In 18 months of World War II combat in the Pacific, she took part in nine major operations. She was first mothballed in 1948, but recalled to service in 1950 at the outset of the Korean War, in which she was damaged in combat.

Optimists Present Gifts to Children

The Pontiac Optimist Club will present Christmas gifts to the Oakland County Children's Home director and turn over a $50 holiday donation to an official of Camp Oakland as a highlight of its dinner, at the Elks Temple.

Club members will bring their gifts to the meeting for presentation by the Christmas committee to Children's Home Director William Moulton and a group of helpers he is expected to bring along with him. The presents will be stowed away at the home until the big day.

The donation to Camp Oakland will go towards making it a better Christmas for its less fortunate year-round residents.

Ask Vote on Museum

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A subcommittee of the Greater Grand Rapids Civic Study Committee has recommended that voters should decide whether they want a $450,000 addition to the public museum. The subcommittee rejected a proposed appeal for private subscriptions for the project as suggested last summer by the City Commission.

Livestock Show Opens

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The 25th West Michigan livestock show opened Tuesday at Civic Auditorium for a three-day run which concludes with a public auction of animals on exhibition. Officials said entries included 72 steers, 27 pens of lambs and 14 pens of hogs.

Oakland Still Free of Diphtheria Cases

Oakland County is still free of any diphtheria cases, Dr. John D. Monroe, health director reported this week.

Thirty-five cases of chicken pox reported this week and 39 the previous week show a marked increase in the disease, Dr. Monroe said.

A complete breakdown of reports from the health departments on communicable diseases follows:

Cat on a Tin Roof Didn't Raise Brows

PARIS (U)—The French adaptation of Tennessee Williams' hit play "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" opened last night to polite applause but little politeness from the critics.

In French, the title translates something like "Cat on a Burning Roof" but the critic for Figaro said there was nothing burning about the play itself. He said the only bright spot was young French stage actress Jeanne Moreau, in the leading feminine role.

The critic for the morning paper L'Aurore said the play may have scandalized many in the United States but it hardly raised an eyebrow here.

The F-101 Voodoo of the U.S. Air Force is the most powerful fighter airplane in the world. Big as a World War II bomber, it has a speed of over 1,100 miles per hour.

Indict 2 Officials Over Payrolls

Waiver of Overtime Rate Was Condition for Employment

Engaged in preparing sites for guided missile installations, Sebastian J. Manusco, of 22748 Van Dyke, Farmington, and William R. Pankin, of 13390 Woodvale, Oak Park, were indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday for failing to pay $2,300 in overtime to employees.

The projects were located at Utica, Selfridge, Grosse Ile and River Rouge.

Manusco is president and Pankin is secretary-treasurer of the National Sand Co. and the M and B Topsoil Co. The two firms were hauling dirt for the guided missile installations.

James D. Dillard, assistant U.S. attorney, said a "no overtime" understanding was a contingency to employment by the firms.

"Employees had complained of the loss of overtime to their union, Local 234 of the International Union of Operating Engineers (AFL-CIO)," said Dillard, "but their protests were ignored. The FBI is now investigating charges against the union."

Dillard said the Army Corps of Engineers levied fines totaling $3,800 against prime contractors for whom the dirt-hauling firms were working.

Manusco and Pankin were charged with 10 counts involving falsification of payrolls.

Oil Change Unnecessary

Cars of Today Resist Cold With Little Preparation

Winters aren't what they used to be when it comes to protecting the modern motor car from plunging temperatures, points out H. J. Hales, general service manager of the Pontiac Motor Division.

"Time was when it was a must to change the lubricant in the transmission, differential and steering gear every fall and spring," Hales recalled. "Today, design improvements and greatly improved lubricants have made these changes unnecessary."

"Antifreeze in the radiator for the lowest expected temperature is really the only specialized winter service that a modern car needs."

"It is, of course, necessary to have your engine in good shape to start on a cold morning, but this and other maintenance services are recommended to be handled according to the speedometer instead of the weatherman."

"If owners would have their vehicles serviced according to mileage, they would preserve the value of their vehicle much better than by following the old 'winter and summer' service habits."

Hales cited a few things Pontiac recommends to its owners in severe winter areas to make winter driving more safe and pleasant:

Equip car with snow tires or use tire chains for safer driving in snow or on ice.

Don't start or run the engine in closed garage because of exhaust gas hazard.

Get antifreeze protection for windshield washer but don't use at freezing temperatures unless car is stopped and defroster has warmed windshield.

Protect chrome plated parts from salt and calcium chloride solutions by periodic application of recommended chrome protective product.

Skater Sues Actor

LOS ANGELES (U)—Belita, British-born ice skater and actress, has divorced actor Joel Rordian, 32, with testimony that "he hit me rather frequently when he was more intoxicated than usual." Rordian charged desertion in filing an earlier suit. Her cross complaint also charged desertion. The actor's legal name is Joel James McGinnis. Belita's true name is Belita Gladys Lyne Jepson-Turner McGinnis.

British Uncover 'Flying Bed' Jet

Permit Peek at Plane With Forward Speed, Vertical Takeoff

LONDON (U)—British aviation engineers have lifted slightly the veil of secrecy around a five-jet plane combining fast forward speeds with the ability to take off and land vertically.

Newspapers hailed the plane—the SC1—as putting British ahead of the United States and Russia in the race to develop jets that can operate from small airfields instead of mile-long runways.

The SC1—SC stands for Strange Contraption—underwent its first taxing trials at a guarded airfield in Belfast yesterday.

Only one official photograph was released—to show a minimum of detail.

Manufacturers of the delta-shaped plane, the Short Brothers & Harland Co., said it is powered with Rolls-Royce RB108 jet engines.

Two of the engines, pointing downward, raise and lower the craft vertically. The three other engines propel it in level flight.

The SC1 was described as successor to Britain's "Flying Bedstead," the first vertical takeoff device produced in this country.

Meanwhile France showed for the first time Monday its "Flying Bedstead"—a wingless, radio-controlled jet monster which looks like a long aluminum spindle with four legs.

The Atar Volant P1, the performance of which is still a well-guarded secret, is about 25 feet high. It is equipped with a single powerful jet engine.

Got a Minute? Gift Suggestions Plus Price Tags

NEW YORK (U)—If you're stumped for a Christmas present for a moppet who has everything, Netman-Marcus of Dallas has a suggestion. Cost: one million dollars.

It's a stuffed tiger, big as life and ornamented with jewels.

The store advertises the million-dollar tiger in its catalogue as a promotion stunt.

For the man who has everything, B. Altman & Co. of New York suggests a rare old book on falconry. The price: $695.

For more modest pocketbooks, Magnin's of San Francisco is selling solid gold lipstick at $400 each. Jack Wood Ltd. of Atlanta offers a $100 shoe shine kit. Carson, Pirie, Scott of Chicago has aprons that should delight Mama's heart. They're trimmed with mink or ermine.

Ruling Near on U.S. Reds

Court Action Expected in Effort to Force Party to Reveal Financing

WASHINGTON 19 — The six-year old government effort to force the Communist Party to register and disclose its financing moved a step nearer a final Supreme Court ruling yesterday.

The Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB) stuck by its 1953 finding that the U.S. Communist Party is a pawn of Moscow, even without relying on questioned testimony which had been given by three witnesses.

The Supreme Court had sent the case back to the SACB last April in a 6-5 decision. The court majority said the SACB should make certain that its finding about the party was not based on "isolated evidence."

Attorneys for the party had assailed the credibility of three witnesses who testified in the original lengthy hearings before the SACB — Harvey Matusow, Manning Johnson and the late Paul Crouch. All former Communist Party members, they testified for the government in a number of cases involving alleged subversion. Matusow has since recanted much of his testimony in such cases.

In its April decision returning the case to the SACB, the high court told the board to (1) wipe out the testimony of the three challenged witnesses, or (2) give attorneys for the party an opportunity to try to discredit their testimony.

The SACB decided to expunge the testimony of Matusow, Manning and Crouch.

Then it ruled yesterday that the record, containing testimony from many other witnesses as well as hundreds of documents, justified the original finding that the U.S. party is a tool of Russian communism.

That action foreshadowed another trip for the case through the federal courts. Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist Party, said in New York the SACB decision "will, of course, be tested all the way up to the Supreme Court."

'56 Brings Increase in Gold Production

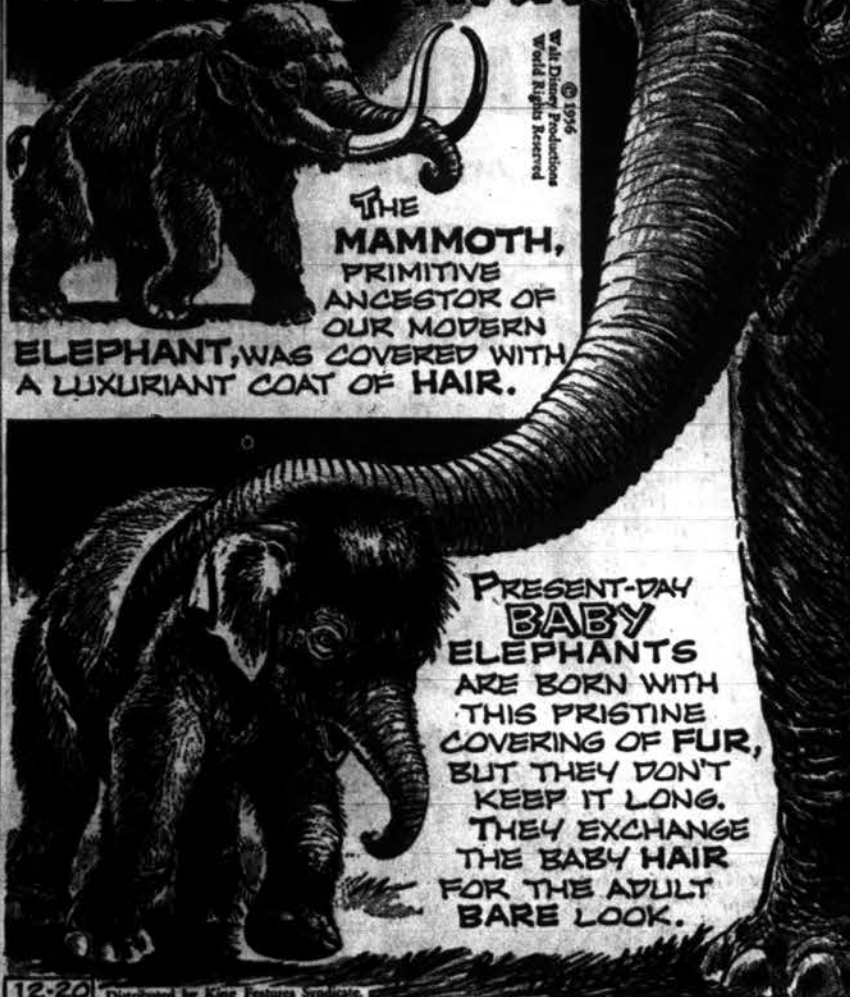

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — South African gold production in the first half of 1956 rose to 7,760,000 fine ounces.

For the first six months of 1955 the output was 7,490,000 fine ounces.

The value for the first half of 1956 was $26,500,000, or 8.2 per cent above the comparable 1955 period.

Breathing Aid Help for Palsied Children

EVANSTON, Ill. 19 — An electrical breathing aid developed for asthmatic sufferers was described by researchers as helping cerebral palsied children acquire normal speech.

They said the machine has been used with good results for six weeks in the Northwestern University Department of Speech Correction and Audiology.

The device, developed in Germany, stimulates and regulates the muscles in breathing.

Dr. Harold Westlake, head of the department, said in a statement that normal children breathe approximately 14 to 16 times a minute.

However, he added, some children with cerebral palsy breathe 60 to 80 times a minute, making continuous speech impossible.

The device, known as an electro-lung, is affixed to muscles of the chest and abdomen that are involved in breathing. The electrical charge causes the muscles to contract, and the subject to exhale.

Westlake said the device superimposes a proper pattern of breathing and gives the child an opportunity to experience and learn the proper rhythm.

Rattlesnake Sunbaths Have 'Killing' Results

SAN DIEGO, Cal. — Far from loving to bask in desert heat, rattlesnakes must find shade quickly or die, says Laurence K. Klauber, consulting curator on reptiles at the San Diego Zoo.

He explains that since they are cold-blooded they take on the temperature of their surroundings and if subjected to intense heat for only 10 or 15 minutes they die—even at temperatures merely mildly unpleasant to man.

Set New Waterford Community Classes

Due to the success of the dog obedience training program, just concluded at the Waterford Township Community Activities building, another 12-week course will begin Jan. 23, according to Tom Belton, township recreation director.

Twenty-three dogs "graduated" recently, and members of the Southern Oakland County Dog Obedience Training Club, judged the final exhibition of newly learned canine skills. This was the first time that such a program was offered at the Center.

Another popular activity will be resumed in the early part of January when the Ladies Exercise classes get under way. The women just concluded their 12-week exercising sessions but they will be resumed by popular demand, Belton said.

Over one thousand Junior and Senior high school students have received dance instruction at the Community center, over a period of four years. Eighty boys and girls have just completed the 12-week course, offered by the Recreation department.

An adult Archery League and a teenage gym night will begin January 8 and registrations for league participation are now being taken at the Community Center. There is room for 10 teams of four members each and shooting will be held every Tuesday evening from 8 to 11 p.m. Archery lessons for beginners are being conducted at this time, Belton said.

On Jan. 7th, a young Men's Athletic Club for high school boys will begin. This is the first time this year that the club has started any activity, and meeting time is set for 7 p.m.

According to Director Belton, the membership at the CAI building stands at well over 7,000 youngsters and hundreds of activities are offered for winter, summer, spring and fall.

Group Urges More Power for State to Control Seaway

LANSING (AP) — The state will not need a special agency to prepare it for the St. Lawrence Seaway, but existing state departments will need more authority to handle some of the problems the seaway will bring.

That's the feeling of the legislature's interim study committee on the impact of the seaway, which wound up hearings here Monday.

"Some legislation will be offered during the coming session, but the idea of a separate seaway agency seems to have been abandoned," said Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), chairman.

The committee heard state officials warn that the seaway, an economic boon, will cause problems of water pollution, air pollution and encroachment on state-owned land.

SUBMERGED LANDS

Nicholas V. Olds, assistant attorney general, said the state is fighting a "constant battle" to hold onto submerged lands along the Great Lakes shoreline. The lands were set aside as a public hunting and fishing trust in 1893.

"The additional ships and harbor facilities resulting from the seaway will bring greater pressure on the state to give up those lands," Olds said.

To prepare for this, Olds suggested that the legislature give the Conservation Department or some other agency authority to approve waterfront developments.

Under present law, he said, you can build a dock or other harbor installation without consulting the state. Only federal approval is required.

Olds said the state should also have more power to control smoke pollution on the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers. This problem is now handled by the International Joint Commission, composed of representatives from the United States and Canada.

"The smoke problem is now acute and it's going to get worse when the seaway brings in more ships," he said.

The legislators also heard a request from Dr. Paul Herbert, state economic development department research chief, for $25,000 to study the seaway's possible impact on industry in Michigan.

Wayland Osgood, deputy director of the State Conservation Department, predicted the seaway would put much heavier demands on the state's recreational facilities, already hard pressed.

And the state can expect instances of water pollution to increase when the seaway becomes a reality, said Milton P. Adams, executive secretary of the state water resources commission.

This will result from refuse from the greater number of ships and from the construction of the seaway itself, when dredging channels will cause temporary increases in pollution, Adams said.

Oil Use Zooms in U. S.

Civic Leaders Boost Auditorium With Cash Gifts

A $110 check from fellow commissioners and city department heads, and a $1,000 pledge from the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce greeted Mayor William W. Donaldson at last night's City Commission meeting.

Both were earmarked for the Pontiac Foundation toward its goal of a civic auditorium, according to Commissioner Philip Rowston and Melvin Eller, president of the Jaycees, who made the presentations.

City officials contributing to the $110 donation were City Manager

Walter K. Willman, City Clerk Ada R. Evans, City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn, City Attorney William A. Ewart, and Director of Finance Oscar Eckman.

"This commission desires to express its thanks and appreciation for his excellent leadership as mayor of the city of Pontiac, for his intense interest in community improvement and for his determination on the civic auditorium project which will soon become a reality," a resolution read in part.

No Small Peanuts!

BUENOS AIRES—Argentina planted a record 479,000 acres to peanuts in the 1955-56 season, an increase of more than 25 per cent over the previous crop year.

Louis Armstrong Gets Big Ovation

LONDON (AP)—Louis Armstrong blew and blew for Hungarian relief last night, and then the 100-piece Royal Philharmonic Orchestra came on to play Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2.

The shouting, stamping audience—many in evening dress—at the Royal Festival Hall would not have it. They changed, "We want Satch, we want Satch..."

So the orchestra filed off the platform and Satchmo came back with his hot trumpet for five encores, while the Duke of Kent, the Earl and Countess of Harrowood the Hon. Gerald Lascelles and hundreds of others applauded for more.

British Diplomats See Syria as a 'Powder Keg'

LONDON (NEA)—Communist-dominated Syria is now seen by British diplomats as the Middle East's real powder keg, and America is counted the main hope of averting another explosion.

Some believe the only answer to the peril posed by Russia's pouring in of arms and technicians and the establishment of a pro-Soviet military dictatorship in Syria would be for the United States to link itself more actively with the Baghdad pact.

British circles warmly welcomed the recent statement from Washington that it would view with "utmost gravity" any threat to the territorial integrity of the pact countries—Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan.

The influential Economist flatly declares America is the sole hope of checking rising Red influence in the Middle East, now that British power has virtually vanished there.

Supporting the idea of a closer tie between the U. S. and the Baghdad pact, the Spectator asserts:

"This would reassure Iraq and would do much to make Soviet maneuvers in Syria and elsewhere harmless."

SYRIAN IMPORTANCE

The importance of Syria lies in its strategic location. A country no bigger than Illinois, it borders Turkey on the north, Iraq on the east and southeast, Jordan and Israel on the south, and Lebanon on the west.

With Syria as a Soviet satellite, Turkey would be faced with the Russian menace at its back door as well as at its front. Russia would not only be bestride the oil pipelines from Iraq but would have a firm beachhead in the Middle East.

Occupying this vital position, Syria is ruled today by Colonel Abdul Sarraj, chief of Army intelligence, whom the Economist describes as "about as near to communism as one can be without actually carrying a party card."

It goes on to say that Sarraj "has been largely instrumental in putting pro-Soviet sympathizers into the army staff and the mechanized columns, which have always played a decisive part in military coups in Syria."

It was the army under Sarraj's direction, which blew up the Iraq Petroleum Company's pipeline and pumping stations on Syrian soil, thereby cutting Britain off from a vital oil source and wiping out $750,000 a day in Iraqi oil revenues.

British authorities said that Syria's President Kuwaily is now a puppet of the pro-Russian military junta. The Times calls the civilian government there a "cipher," while the Daily Telegraph asserts that "Mr. Kuwaily is now believed to be almost a prisoner of the Syrian army under the leadership of Col. Sarraj."

Syria receives an unimpeded flow of Soviet arms, including tanks, bombers, jet fighters and anti-aircraft guns in large numbers. Russian army officers, technicians and "advisers" accompany these supplies, the British say.

In the Times' view, the Russian aim is a base that could be used for its own operations, as well as for Syrian pressure against neighboring states.

The Soviet Union, besides building up Syria militarily, is using that country as its mouthpiece in the Arab world. An example was the Moscow radio report of an uprising in Iraq "in support of the holy struggle of Egypt, Syria and Jordan against imperialism."

The broadcast urged overthrow of Iraq's pro-Western premier, Nuri el-Said, whom the Russians label the "stooge of imperialist policy."

STRONGEST PARTY

Syria has by far the strongest Communist party in the Middle East with some 10,000 members. No other party in that nation can boast 10,000 militants. In comparison Russia on the eve of the 1917 revolution had only 23,600 Communists, but it had 160 million people against Syria's four million.

A British oil company official just back from Damascus said the Syrian leftist coalition resembles that which prevailed so long in Italy. The Syrian Communists have as their ally the Baath Socialists, who correspond to the fellow-traveling Nenni Socialists of Italy. One of their leaders, Salah Bitar, is Syria's foreign minister. Top Communist is Khalid Bkdash, 44-year-old Kurd, a graduate of Damascus University and a member of the Syrian parliament—first in any Arab land. With Sarraj and Bitar as "front men," Bkdash is said to control Syrian politics from behind the scenes.

Curiously, the majority of Communist leaders in Syria are graduates of the American university of Beirut, Lebanon, according to a British official.

He did not mean to imply that communism was part of this 90-year-old school's curriculum. The largest U. S. university outside America, with 3,340 enrolled, it has produced such outstanding democratic statesmen as Charles Malik, Lebanese delegate to the U. N.

The official's point is that communism's appeal in the Middle East is largely to the educated middle classes, including army officers like Sarraj. There are more lawyers, doctors, engineers, etc., than workers.

Respect the Dark When Driving

Car Accident Death Toll at Night Grows

CHICAGO—Afraid of the dark? You need not be afraid, of course, the National Safety Council says. But the Council adds that it's wise to have a healthy respect for the dark if you are driving a car. The reason is simple—you must see danger to avoid it.

Last year more than half of the 38,000 fatal traffic accidents occurred at night—and during the Christmas holidays, which the Council says are most deadly time of the year, 75 per cent of the fatal accidents happened during the dark hours of 5 p.m. and 1 p.m.

Because of the rising toll, a "Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents" campaign, launched this month and continuing through 1957, will emphasize night driving hazards during December. Emphasis also will be on speed, drinking drivers and pedestrians, and pedestrian hazards, all of which increase the Christmas holiday toll, the Council said.

The "Back the Attack" campaign, inaugurated because of the emergency traffic situation, seeks to encourage stepped-up enforcement by public officials, and to stimulate acceptance of enforcement by citizens.

"Drive safely yourself," said Ned H. Dearborn, Council president, "and prevent the one accident you can control—the one that involves you. Then get behind a community attack on this problem. Back your officials to the hilt in whatever needs to be done to stop this carnage."

SUGGESTIONS

The Council offers the following suggestions to help reduce night driving accidents:

1. Slow down. Don't regulate your speed by posted limits alone. Remember, speed must be governed by conditions, and darkness is a condition that calls for caution.
2. Have your car checked frequently. In darkness, immediate response of the vehicle is a must. Double-check all lights.
3. Be alert. Keep a constant watch for pedestrians and for vehicles with dim lights or no lights at all.

4. Don't wear tinted glasses at night. The advantage they offer in reducing glare is more than offset by the dangerously reduced vision.
5. Use headlights properly. Use upper beam only on rural highways when no approaching car is within 1,000 feet. Use lower beam when oncoming cars approach, when you are overtaking another car, and when driving in cities and residential areas.
6. Dim your lights, even though an oncoming driver fails to dim his. Trying to get even by blinding him is risking your neck. Maintain control of your car by looking at the right shoulder of the highway.
7. Be sure your lights are on before you pull into a lighted street at night.
8. Never stop on the travelled portion of a roadway at night. If you must stop, pull completely

Accident 35 Miles Off Injures Adrian Man

ADRIAN — It was definitely not Dennis Dowling's day. He was injured by debris from a train-car crash that happened 35 miles away in Ohio.

Dowling, 70, was near the Adrian train station when a Wabash railroad passenger train came chugging in.

The train, unknown to the engineer, had collided with an automobile at Kunkle, Ohio. Two men in the car were hurt, and the train carried away the hood of the car, jutting from its side.

At the Adrian station, the jutting hood struck a baggage truck which knocked down Dowling, injuring his leg.

Air Enthusiasts Invited to Join Aero-Bats Club

The Waterford Township "Aero-bats" will hold their first meeting in their new headquarters, at 7 p.m. Thursday in the basement of the CAI building on Williams Lake road.

The year-old organization invites airplane enthusiasts from the ages of "eight to eighty", to join the membership and model planes of every type are built, discussed and flown by the group.

The Aero-bats have a charter membership with the Academy of Aeronautics at Washington, and are affiliated with the National model airplane builders, according to Garvin Mosser, director of the group.

The "free flights" are held at Taggertown Road and Meceday Lake Road, and the "control-line" flights are held at the Hob Knob shop, at Airport and M-59.

Family of Four Dies in California Home

GLENDAL, Calif. (U)—Police broke into an apartment yesterday and discovered a gas heater burning full blast, all windows tightly closed, and a family of four dead of apparent asphyxiation.

Officers estimated the temperature at 150 degrees in the small apartment.

Gayle E. Hinton, 23, his wife Frances, 18, and their children Ava, 18 months, and Michael, 5 months, apparently died early Monday, investigators said.

Hinton's body was in the living room, sprawled near a tipped-over lamp, indicating he died in a desperate effort to reach and open a window. The other bodies were in or near their beds.

January Cool for Miami

MIAMI—January, with an average mean temperature of 68.3 degrees, is Miami's coolest month. August, with an average of 82.6, is the warmest.

Senators Hear Refugees' Story

Tales of Red Massacre in Heart of Budapest Told to Congressmen

WASHINGTON (U)—A Hungarian refugee told Senate investigators today he and 80 others escaped from Russians who had loaded them into cattle cars in Budapest, presumably for deportation to the Soviet Union.

Speaking through an interpreter, the witness said it was common knowledge that the Russians engaged in mass deportations, and that all of the 80 expected this fate until they made their successful break.

The witness, masked and using the assumed name of Istvan Kovacs to conceal his identity lest relatives in Hungary suffer reprisal, told his story at a public hearing before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

He said other Hungarians opened the doors of the cattle cars into which the 80 had been herded and told them to "escape as soon as they can because the Russians are on their way back."

Another witness, also masked and using the assumed name of Max Joseph, related that he had received a letter while in Hungary signed with about 50 names. He quoted it: "We are being deported to Russia. Please help us in any way you can."

He said he recognized the names of six of the signers as fellow students in Budapest.

Kovacs described himself as a nonparticipant in the revolution until its second day when he said he witnessed "the massacre in front of the Parliament" on Oct. 25.

In sometimes emotional tones as he addressed the interpreter, Laszlo Hadik of Washington, Kovacs gave an eyewitness report of the massacre in which he said Russian tanks and machineguns mowed down 400 to 500 unarmed Hungarians.

Austrians Greatly Fearful Reds Seek Invasion Pretext

WASHINGTON (U)—An American labor union representative just returned from Europe says Austria fears her wide open welcome for Hungarian refugees may be used by Russia as a pretext to invade Austria.

Victor Reuther, brother of president Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers Union (UAW), said yesterday practically every Austrian official he met was afraid Russia may invade that country.

"They feel Russia is looking for a pretext," Reuther said. "There seems to be a real danger that Austria's help for the Hungarian refugees may be seized upon as an excuse for Russian troops crossing over from Hungary."

He said little attention has been given here to a recent demand by the Hungarian puppet government that it be allowed to inspect refugee camps in Austria.

Reuther recommended that the U. S. Air Force, acting under the United Nations, start an immediate air lift to remove the refugees from Austria to reception centers in other European countries to avoid possible Austro-Hungarian "incidents."

140th Edition of Almanac Says 'Fairly Mild' Winter

LEWISTON, Me., (INS)—The Farmers' Almanac for the year of our Lord 1957, being first after bissextile or leap year and until the Fourth of July the 181st Year of Independence of the United States, is now off the press.

And Editor Ray Geiger says it's going to be a "fairly mild" winter. He shot this one off on page 4.

"No one should worry about the weather changing since it moves in cycles and we'll get back no matter which way the weather is at the moment. Remember someone is always pleased weather or not."

"It's the 140th consecutive issue of the Almanac published by Geiger Brothers out of Lewiston, Me., built as always around the all-inclusive calendar.

First Element Found Last to Be Produced

BOSTON — All living matter requires phosphorus. The chemical industry gets it from phosphate rock formed millions of years ago from the skeletons of sea urchins. Phosphorus never appears in nature in elemental form. Only in fairly recent years was a way found to produce phosphorus chemically.

It is all the more remarkable, then, that phosphorus was the first element discovered by modern man.

A Modern St. Nicholas

(WITH APOLOGIES TO CLEMENT C. MOORE)

'Twas the week before Christmas, when all through the house Every creature was stirring. Yes, even the mouse. The stockings were placed near the chimney with care Awaiting the night good St. Nick would be there.

Abroad in the land there were people galore Who never ceased working to lighten his chore. In past, the eight reindeer were good for the rounds. Now, chimneys are many. The land's full of towns.

The oranges up from the south, into snow Are hurried along from the soil where they grow. The spruce, fir and holly they pass on the way Highballing it south for a gay Christmas Day.

Plump fowl for the dinner roll east and roll west In cold, clean compartments that keep them the best. And oysters are trundled inland from the ocean For plainmen to savor if they take the notion.

Some trailers are loaded with dollies and bikes To make Christmas joyous among the young tykes. Within sturdy trucks, nicely stacked with great pains Are all sorts of things—even ships, planes —and TRAINS.

Each day in December and even before—Come gay things (or practical) right to the store. No hamlet too tiny, but what has the thrill Of daily deliveries without a big bill.

The nights before Christmas, 'tis said, on the road The innocent ones may behold o'er each load Of presents that hastens along the concrete A vision of St. Nick and reindeer—complete.

The old fellow keeps on—so true to his job. He loves all the work that has made the heart throb. Don't think for a minute he's passing the buck. It's just that he's modern—HE'S USING THE TRUCK.

Waterford to Talk Contracts

Sale of School Bonds Topic for Discussion at Thursday Meeting

When the Waterford Township Board of Education meets at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, it is scheduled to discuss sale of $2,500,000 in bonds, according to Superintendent William Shunk.

This figure is part of a $3,500,000 bond issue, $1,000,000 of which has been sold at a rate of 3.9 per cent interest.

The superintendent's recommendation, relative to teaching contracts for the school year 1956-57 will also be discussed at the meeting. This will include a summary from Oakland County Schools of "Salaries of Administrative Personnel, for 1956-57."

Further consideration of the proposed elementary school site near Cooley and Cass Elizabeth Lake Roads is planned, and a report on the negotiations connected with the stockpiled topsoil at John Monteith School will be given.

More than two-thirds of Arizona is owned by the federal government in national parks and forests.

Polio Protection Best Yule Gift Parent Can Give

LANSING 48—A father of seven whose family was hit by polio says protection from polio is the "best Christmas present" a parent can offer his child.

The view was expressed by acting Gov. Philip A. Hart, who urged parents to take advantage of the Christmas vacation period to have their unvaccinated children given an anti-polio shot.

"Unless your family was hit by polio — as my family was — you can't realize what it would mean if one of your children was stricken because of neglect to get Salk vaccine shots," Hart said.

Hart reminded that vaccination at state expense for children under 15 is still available in most counties of the state. Where a showing of need is made, shots can be obtained without charge in many places for older boys and girls.

One advantage of starting on the three dosage course of Salk shots now, he said, is that the course can be completed before the polio season starts next summer.

"Sudd" is a mass vegetable obstruction of plants and grass which form peaty blocks. These sometimes block navigation in the Nile River.

Hamster Newest Victim of Common Cold Curse

CHICAGO—The American Medical Association reports that researchers for the first time have given to the hamster, a small squirrel-like animal, a common cold, complete with runny nose, wheezing and swollen nostrils.

This makes the hamster the only animal other than the chimpanzee to get a laboratory-induced cold. There are only three counties in the state of Delaware.

City in Florida Reports All Tax Revenues In

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—For the third consecutive year the City of West Palm Beach reports collecting all city taxes 100 per cent, including real and personal

African Company to Divert River in Diamond Hunt

UPINGTON, South Africa — A company, hoping to find a fortune in alluvial diamonds, has been formed to explore the great hole where the Orange River plunges 480 feet into a churning cauldron before tumbling another 140 feet.

The new company is reported to have plumbed the hole to a depth of 350 feet in the Augrabies Falls in Cape Province. Diamonds are to be found at the mouth of the river in this province.

The group plans to divert the course of the river around the falls to make the search possible.

The Augrabies is one of the world's biggest falls.

Mesa Verde in Colorado has the most perfectly preserved cliff dwellings in the United States.

Rakoski Papers Given Senators

Refugee From Hungary Submits to Committee Purloined Documents

WASHINGTON — A Hungarian refugee said today he has handed a senate subcommittee documents he took from the home of Matyas Rakoski, Moscow puppet who resigned in July as the top Communist in Hungary.

The refugee, using the name of Lajos Ruff, is one of two witnesses called by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee to a hearing on the anti-Moscow revolts in Hungary.

It said rebel forces assigned him to "gather facts concerning the Communist dictator, Matyas Rakoski," who resigned July 18 as first secretary of the Hungarian Communist Party.

Ruff, 25, describing himself as a "Hungarian anticommunist resistance fighter," said he plans to "go back soon to fight another day" in hopes of freeing his country from Soviet domination.

Ruff said that for 3 1/2 years he was a fellow prisoner in Budapest of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, the Roman Catholic church leader of Hungary. Cardinal Mindszenty was released during the revolution and took refuge in the U.S. legation.

DESIGN FOR LIVING — Jutting out to a lofty position above the water, this "flying room" is one of the outstanding features of a Chicago pre-fabricated house which recently won a 1956 "Design in Hardwoods" award for Architect Bertrand Goldberg. The modern prototype house, which has survived two hurricanes without any damage, was constructed on its beach site by combining nine rooms and supporting them on pylons out over the beach and water.

Deportation, Slave Labor Are Old Soviet Weapons

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Deportation of uncounted thousands of Hungarian patriots to break the back of the anti-Communist revolt is a tragic repetition of a weapon the Soviets have used for decades.

Many of these youths never will be seen again. They are doomed to the "new slavery," the forced labor system so heavily documented through the years at the United Nations and other international forums.

Gen. Ivan A. Serov, the Soviet state security minister known as the "chief killer" of the Stalin era, is reported directing the deportations of Hungarians.

He is an old master. He was in charge of the three little Baltic countries of Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia were stripped of 100,000 of their inhabitants after the Soviet Union "annexed" those nations in August 1940.

Again, he was in charge when whole ethnic groups such as the Chebchens and Ingush, and the Tatars and Kilmnyks were branded "traitors" and deported eastward from the Caucasus after the war.

POLITICAL WEAPON

Forced labor, although based often on economic motives in the Soviet Union, has from the beginning of the Soviet system been employed as a political weapon.

Under the conceptions of Marx and Lenin prisons and prisoners were expected ultimately to disappear in a Communist state. Right after the Russian revolution the early Red leaders denounced even the labor of convicts as human slavery.

They predicted that "in the glorious Soviet era to come" there would be virtually no crime, no criminals, and no

"golden sweat" to be exploited from convict labor.

But from the beginning the Soviets resorted to forced labor. At first, it was mainly a political weapon since they were a small minority ruthlessly staying in power.

Dissidents were imprisoned, then worked to death, or given just enough food to make them a cheap source of labor.

USED ON PEASANTS

The system was used when Stalin liquidated millions of peasants who resisted collectivization of their farms.

When the German armies retreated in World War II, slave labor advanced with the Red army. Thousands of Soviet citizens who had been held captive by the Nazis were welcomed by the advancing Soviet agents only as "traitors" and were condemned to a life of servitude.

Russian prisoners of war, freed in Germany and Nazi-occupied countries by American, British and other Western troops, were repatriated often against their will, as required by the terms of the Yalta Agreement.

Many committed suicide rather than face the fate they knew would be theirs.

Poison Cherry Leaves Able to Kill Animals

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — Dr. Samuel Guss, veterinarian at Pennsylvania State University reports wild cherry or chokecherry leaves damaged by frost produce prussic acid, a poison fatal to many animals.

A handful of these leaves can kill a cow or several sheep, Dr. Guss said. Removal of the trees is the only permanent control.

CONSTIPATED? new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H and stimulate it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions. IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98¢ for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

Independent GI Survived Greater Ordeal

Sarge Dwells in Cellar but, by Golly, It's His!

STOW, Mass. (AP) — One year ago today a C-45 aircraft enroute to Bellingham, Wash., from Ft. Bragg, N.C., flew into a blizzard high above the Cascade mountains in Washington. Heavy with ice, the plane faltered and went into a spin.

One of the four passengers aboard was Sgt. John M. Horan, 24, of Maynard, Mass., a 3-year veteran with the Army paratroops. He was "hitchhiking" a ride to meet his Japanese wife, Teruko, due to arrive in Seattle with their three children on Dec. 21.

When the plane went into its dizzy plunge Horan knew he must jump to lighten the load.

"I had to get out to give the others a chance," he recalls. At 7,000 feet Horan jumped. The plane continued on safely.

When Horan's chute let him down he was treading on some seven feet of snow in the almost deserted mountain country near Lake Kachess, Wash. He was dressed in regulation uniform, a field jacket and paratroop boots.

"The storm blinded me; the snow was like a huge prison," Horan remembers.

Three days later Horan's wife and children, Kenneth, 5, Michael, 1, and Lorraine, 3 months, arrived aboard ship at Seattle.

There Teruko learned her husband was missing. Searchers had failed to find a trace of him in the storm-swept mountains.

After a day of wandering Horan found a cottage. He built a fire in the stove and tried to coax some circulation into his frostbitten feet. A box of cocoa was the only food in the summer dwelling.

Horan's chief need was a pair of snowshoes or some skis; some kind of a device to aid him in his flight out of his "snow prison."

He tried to make snowshoes from shingles taken from the roof. Tied on his feet with strips of bedding. No luck. He tried again. This time he fashioned snowshoes from an inner tube. They failed.

At last he took two shelves—metal gratings—from a refrigerator. He tore his parachute and tied the gratings on his feet. It worked. The gratings were heavy and cut into his frozen feet, but they buoyed him. He moved out into the wilderness.

On Dec. 22, four days after the ordeal began — Horan staggered into a mountain inn.

Horan and his wife were reunited briefly before he was taken to Madigan Army Hospital in Tacoma for treatment of severe frostbite. He remained at Madigan after his family went ahead to his hometown in Maynard, Mass.

Horan was transferred to Murphy Army Hospital in Waltham, Mass., on Feb. 22. The hospital is 20 miles from his hometown. There his toes were amputated and his feet fitted with special shoes. Last Nov. 15, a week before Thanksgiving, he was medically retired from the Army.

When Horan's Japanese wife and the little family arrived just before last Christmas, Maynard opened its heart to them. The town offered a rent-free apartment and sought to help them with a publicly-solicited down payment on a new house.

But Horan owns 14 acres of land in this neighboring town of Stow and, thanking the Maynard town-folk he said he'd try to build a home here.

Recruiting Head Gives Youth Tip on Obligations

The young men of Michigan who have a six-year military obligation may start retiring that obligation now while they are 17 or 18 years old, according to Marvin E. Mitchell, commanding officer of the Michigan Recruiting Service.

"Boys between the ages of 17 and 18½ may enlist directly into a local reserve unit," said Mitchell, "and serve six months with the active army and retire their military obligation with a local reserve unit."

Mitchell explained that students are permitted to complete high school before going on six months active duty.

There are other alternatives with men between 17 and 34 to fulfill their military obligation. They may enlist in a local reserve unit, serve two years with the active army and retire their obligation with a local reserve unit, or they may enlist in the regular army for three years.

The regular army enlistee is afforded a variety of options. There are more than 120 technical courses to choose from. These range from helicopter repair to topographic surveying.

The regular enlistee also has many branches to choose from, such as the corps of engineers, medical corps, transportation corps and many others. Mitchell announced that the options are open for immediate enlistment.

Pay Teachers Less Than Baby Sitters

DETROIT (AP)—Teachers in Detroit get less pay per child than the average babysitter, says School Superintendent Samuel M. Brownell.

Teachers are paid at the rate of 15 cents an hour for each of 35 pupils, Brownell said, assuming she works at least six hours a day during a school year of 180 days for a total of $6,000.

"When you hire a babysitter," Brownell added, "you pay considerably more for a person of less skill and training."

A Long, Thin Line Disputed in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court has a long, thin line to follow in handling one dispute.

The case involves a strip of land 4.5 inches wide and 140 feet long. Building owner Bertha Breier contends that if the land is not awarded to her, half of a cafe wall will be torn down.

Last summer when he was well enough to leave the hospital between treatments Horan began to build his new home. The Stow grange poured the cement for the cellar and dug a well.

The home has not gotten beyond the cellar stage, but the warm, cozy basement has been divided into a kitchen, dining room, living room, two bedrooms, a bathroom and a playroom. Next year Horan says he'll complete the house by adding a floor and another room for the baby expected in May.

City Gets Week in Court Case

Judge Asks Lathrup to Tell Pollution Progress by Dec. 28

Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland yesterday gave Lathrup Village one more week to tell what progress it is making in halting pollution of the Rouge River.

He adjourned a contempt of court case against the city until Dec. 28 "to give Lathrup Village a chance to make a formal written response" to the charges.

In December, 1955, a court order was issued telling Lathrup Village to end the pollution by solving its sewage problem. The order climaxed an action brought against the village by the State Water Resources Board.

Lathrup officials repeatedly have told the court they are trying to get sewage relief by joining the proposed Evergreen interceptor, or by taking joint action with Southfield Township.

The Evergreen project is in an indeterminate position now after having been shelved, reactivated and shelved again within the year. A recent attempt to revive it apparently has borne no fruit.

The joint action with Southfield Township, also facing court action in pollution of the river, was to be taken only if the Evergreen project proved impossible.

Commerce Circle Partying Tonight

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — The Catherine Booth Circle of the Commerce Methodist Church WSCS will stage a Christmas party at 8 p.m. this evening in the home of Mrs. Anthony Zielony, 3143 Royal Blvd. Gifts will be exchanged among the group's "secret pals." Members will also exchange their favorite Christmas cookies.

Saves Lathrup City $2,000

Locate Lost Profile Maps

LATHRUP — The long-sought profile maps here have been turned over to the city council by Charles D. Kelly's engineers, Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May. The maps are of the city sewers built by Lathrup subdividers Charles D. and Louise Lathrup Kelly, which were turned over to the city and then handed to the city when it incorporated several years ago.

Repeated requests for the maps by the council have brought denials of knowledge of their whereabouts by Kelly.

Possession of the maps will save the city $2,000 which is the cost of drawing up a new master plan for storm and sanitary sewers. The plans were needed to locate the mains to which the city wants to add new sewer lines.

Lack of Aid May Kill Vote

Southfield Investigating Ballot Instructions as Recount Begins

SOUTHFIELD — With a recount under way this afternoon, the possibilities are being eyed that 43 votes for the charter commission might be found to reverse the tally of the Dec. 3 charter election, and that lack of instruction might invalidate the entire vote.

Charges have been made to Justice of the Peace Edward A. Elsarelli, a member of the charter commission and the election board of canvassers that instruction of voters was incomplete.

He says that chairman of all the 12 Southfield precincts will be questioned at Southfield Fire Hall No. 3 this afternoon.

The charges, that precinct workers failed to instruct voters on sample machines before ballots were cast, point to the 533 more votes cast for city commissioners than on the charter issue that would have created the city.

Charter supporters hope to find that enough Southfield residents were not instructed to make another election mandatory.

Township Clerk Fannie Adams has agreed with the many who say the lever for the charter vote was too far above that for candidates, and adds that even her husband almost missed noticing it.

Planning Group Quits En Masse

Commission Walks Out for Lack of Cooperation — to Name New Slate

BERKLEY — The entire Planning Commission, consisting of eight members has resigned here in a mass protest over so-called "lack of cooperation" by the City Council.

In a letter delivered to city hall yesterday the commissioners said, "We have long felt that our efforts as an advisory commission to the city council have been ignored."

The letter was signed by Chairman Oswald N. Pears and Commissioners William Hintz, Mrs. Lee Hymans, Ralph O. Williams, Leonard Feltner, Mrs. Donald L. Thompson, Ira Morey and James W. Maguire.

Mayor William R. Rudy, who accepted the resignation with regret said it came as a complete surprise. He immediately announced that an entire new planning commission will be selected by the council next month.

False Choppers Pose Puzzlement in Post Office

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia post office has had some queer ones in its time, such as the Christmas gift that resembled a head shrunken in Ecuador. But those false choppers biting into a pear... They tumbled out of a damaged gift parcel of fruit and bottled flavorings, the teeth clamped grotesquely, on a pear. Even Harry Rose, veteran chief of the section, was shaken. "Work here long enough," he said, "and you've got to figure some of Santa Claus' helpers are off their rocker." Rose explained he packed up the teeth, the pear and whatever else was worth keeping, and returned them — his curiosity unsatisfied.

Enters Guilty Plea to Store Destruction

Charged with malicious injury to a Pontiac store Dec. 10, Lloyd E. Wegener of 14 School St., pleaded guilty Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Judge Clark J. Adams, who will sentence Wegener Dec. 25, returned him to Oakland County Jail under bond of $500.

Set Thursday Party for Four Towns Youth

FOUR TOWNS—The Four Towns school party will be held tomorrow afternoon. This will also be the last day of school until Jan. 2. Home room mothers will assist with the program and there will be a light lunch served, chocolate milk and cookies. Gifts will be exchanged and caroling in the halls will complete the day.

TO PLAY CONTRASTS — Ready for the Avondale High School concert, these band members are practicing traditional and popular music for the program in which the contrasts will be displayed by band and choir members. New and old tunes will be played by, from left to right, seniors Danny Reynolds, holding his cornet, Larry LaFarge with an alto saxophone, and Joy Owen, with her bassoon.

Plan Yule, Popular Music at Avondale

AVONDALE — Avondale High School's annual Christmas Concert tonight at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium will feature the concert band and the choir, in a program of a pageantry, seasonal song and popular music.

The band, under the direction of John Nettek, will play "Merry Christmas," "Christmas Rhapsody," "New Harford March," "White Christmas," "Winter Wonderland," "Headliner March," and "Christmas Suite."

Choral music will consist of the singing of the Christmas story for the pageant, Barbara LeBeau

PLAN CEDAR ISLAND LAKE FORMAL — Women of Cedar Island Lake's two Garden Clubs gathered yesterday for a planning tea, at the home of Mrs. Nicholas Randall, 638 Ranveer Dr. There they completed arrangements for the annual dance sponsored by the groups. The event this year will be held at 9 p.m.

Saturday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hart, Cedar Shores drive. Decorations will follow the Christmas theme and midnight supper will highlight the evening. Pictured planners (l to r) are Mrs. Randall, Mrs. Ward Veen, Mrs. Rune Jansson and Mrs. Wilbur Gibson.

Eccentric Kills Neighbor, Shoots 3 Others in Indiana

ANGOLA, Ind. (AP)—A 40-year-old eccentric wounded three of his neighbors, one fatally, abducted a 4-year-old girl and then surrendered quietly in his flood-lighted home at nearby Ray early today.

Sheriff Harry Dirrim said the man, Merlin McNaughton, offered no resistance as officers closed in after blinding him temporarily with spotlights. The sheriff said the little girl, Cathy Bradley, was with McNaughton, terrified but unharmed.

Pontiac Woman Killed by Car

Mrs. Eliza Jackson Hit While Crossing Street in Detroit

Mrs. Eliza Jackson, 44, of 503 Franklin Rd., was fatally injured when struck by a car while crossing a Detroit street yesterday afternoon. The driver is being held for investigation of manslaughter, police said.

The accident occurred, police said, as Mrs. Jackson crossed Abbott street in a crosswalk west of Sixth street on the city's west side at 1:30 p.m.

She was struck by Apolenar Burgos, 38, of 1686 Porter St., Detroit, who was making a right turn, police said.

Mrs. Jackson died shortly afterwards in Detroit's Receiving Hospital.

Police said they also are holding a passenger with Burgos as a material witness.

Novi Schools May Gain by Northville Bonding

NOVI TOWNSHIP — A three million dollar bond issue that passed voters in Northville yesterday makes the future brighter for the 160 Novi Township students who attend Northville High School.

The Novi Community School area, newly incorporated, schools 470 youngsters in the district's one school building, but has no high school.

Novi Supt. Bill Medlyn refused to say if there was speculation as to whether a high school would be built in his district.

Northville Supt. Russell Amerman said today his board has decided to take tuition students as long as it was possible and that the new high school to be financed by the newly voted bond issue will have no bearing on continuance.

"Perhaps next fall we may have to turn back a few more tuition students", Amerman said.

But he expressed optimism that more space for tuitioners might be available when the new school is built, in several years.

The Northville vote was 481 for and 294 against, and provides also for remodeling of the present high school, purchase of a new elementary school site, and an addition to the present elementary school.

Pupil Slashes Face of School Teacher

YPSILANTI (AP)—George W. Canfield, 42, principal of Ypsilanti Junior High School, was slashed in the face today by a razor-wielding pupil.

Canfield was in a classroom with 30 pupils when the attack occurred.

Police arrested a 15-year-old negro pupil, Billy Woods, for questioning.

Police said the youth fled from the classroom. He was picked up at his home in Ypsilanti and refused to give any motive, police said.

Canfield was taken to Beyer Memorial Hospital. Physicians said Canfield had lost considerable blood from severe facial cuts but they described his condition as good.

Southfielders Set Dinner at Pine Lake

SOUTHFIELD — The annual Yule party of the Southfield Optimist Club is set for 7 p.m. tomorrow at the Rotunda Inn on Pine Lake, with members entertaining wives for the dinner and entertainment.

The club is conducting a Christmas tree sale with the Opti-Mums making wreaths for sale on their lot.

County Deaths

Mrs. Leon Squier

IMLAY CITY — Services will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Lester Smith and Son Funeral Home for Mrs. Leon (Mollie) Squier, 66, of Tacoma, Wash., former resident here. Burial will be in Imlay Township Cemetery. She died Saturday.

Robert E. Hancock

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Service for Robert Edward Hancock, 12, who died Monday at Fort Custer, will be at 10 a.m. Friday from St. Patrick Church, with burial in Mt. Hope Cemetery. Rosary Service for the boy, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hancock of 335 Tower, will be at Hutton Funeral Home, Pontiac, Thursday evening.

Of the Northville-Novi cooperation, Supt. Medlyn of Novi said, "They need us and we need them," indicating that construction of a Novi high school would be probably delayed by the Northville expansion.

"We are standing pat until the Lincoln Plant is built here, and the expansion of the community is established," he said. "People may move here, or they may live in Walled Lake, Northville or other school districts."

Atomic Plant Not Electric

Builders Have Asked Government Not to List Them as a Utility

WASHINGTON (AP)—The builders of the controversial Monroe atomic power plant have asked the government not to list their firm as an "electric utility."

The reason, spokesmen said yesterday, is that some of the 21 utilities sponsoring the power plant might have to register as a "holding company" with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

SEC Examiner William W. Swift received the request from officers of the Power Reactor Development Co. of Detroit, the firm which is building the power plant.

Ernest Acker, vice president of the firm, told Swift that after the plant is completed about 1960, it will not be making any electricity at all.

He said PRDC plans to sell only plutonium, a nuclear byproduct, and steam. He said steam will be sold to the Detroit Edison Co., which will in turn produce electricity.

A bill introduced in the last Congress would have exempted projects such as PRDC from the "electric utilities" designation, but it failed to pass.

Joseph S. Mitchell Jr., an SEC attorney, said that PRDC President Walker Cister had testified in favor of the bill. He asked Acker if Cister's action was not "inconsistent" with a rule against any of PRDC's members "attempting to influence legislation."

Acker said he was not familiar with Cister's testimony, but he added: "I think he had a right to come down here and state his convictions under our structure of government."

The Commission will be handed the PRDC request for a ruling.

But next month the Atomic Energy Commission will hear contentions by some labor unions concerning the safety of the Monroe plant.

New Hudson Slates Christmas Events

NEW HUDSON — The Elementary School here will present its annual Christmas program at the school gymnasium Thursday evening at 7:30.

The Sunday School of the Methodist Church here will present its Christmas program on Friday evening, at 7:30, at the church.

Woman, 90, Has Same House 69 Years

90 YEARS THURSDAY — Mrs. Fidelia Kessell, observing her 90th birthday anniversary Thursday, sits in her home at 33 East Burdick St., Oxford, where she has lived since her marriage in 1887. Little girl is granddaughter, Barbara Groover.

By MARY MILLER
Oxford Correspondent

OXFORD — Mrs. Fidelia Kessell, who will be 90 years old Thursday, will celebrate her birthday quietly at her home at 33 East Burdick St.

She was married to Marshall Kessell at the home of her parents, Mr. and Wm. D. Barber in North Oxford in 1887, and since that time has been a resident of Oxford, and has lived at the same address.

Mrs. Kessell has been active socially in the life of the community.

She is a Past Matron of the Eastern Star; a charter member of both the LS Club and the Music Clubs; a member of the Pythian Sisters, and of the Congregational Church.

Although confined to a wheel chair, Mrs. Kessell's mind is keen and alert, and she still has an interest in all civic affairs.

Her daughter, Mrs. Edna Groover, is her constant companion.

Council Pair Renew Efforts for Ouster

LATHRUP — Lathrup Mayor John G. Campbell said yesterday that he and Councilwoman Katherine Feyerlesen will go ahead with their efforts to oust City Administrator Leonard L. Watchowski because of a what the two call "poor administration."

Mrs. Feyerlesen read her objections to Watchowski into the minutes of Monday's council meeting, since she was absent at the Dec. 3 meeting at which Watchowski won a majority vote of confidence.

Campbell also made objections at the Monday meeting.

2 Groups to Carol at Homes, Rest Haven

AVON TOWNSHIP — Two Young peoples groups in the township have slated carol sessions for this weekend.

Youth of Stone Baptist Church will sing at shut-ins' homes and the Curtis Rest Home, after gathering at the church at 7 p.m. Friday. They will return to the church for refreshments.

Avondale Baptist Church youth will go caroling at 7:30 p.m. Saturday under direction of Mrs. Virgil Goster. They will leave from the church and return there for refreshments later.

Manger Gifts at Keego to Finance an Adoption

KEEGO HARBOR — A march to the manger scene in Roosevelt school's auditorium on Friday will be taking funds there that may help a child in Korea.

Hopes for $180 to "adopt" a child in the Foster Parent plan were expressed today by Principal Gertrude Ely, but she said if less is collected, the fund will go towards "adopting" a child in a Korean orphanage. That plan would require $72, or $6 a month for the coming year.

"We'd prefer the non-sectarian group in the Foster Parent plan," she says, "but for the Korean orphanage, the children are well acquainted with the conditions there."

She explained that students of Roosevelt have sent CARE packages to that orphanage, and have received letters and details from there.

"If we adopted a child there, we can write to him or her and get pictures and so forth," she says.

The assembly will feature a program, starting at 11 a.m., with caroling and a Bible tale recitation.

For three years, the school has used a fund drive instead of a gift exchange, and CARE has received the aid.

The band, under the direction of John Nettek, will play "Merry Christmas," "Christmas Rhapsody," "New Harford March," "White Christmas," "Winter Wonderland," "Headliner March," and "Christmas Suite."

Choral music will consist of the singing of the Christmas story for the pageant, Barbara LeBeau

The two sixth grades of Union Lake School are presenting their play "Come to Bethlehem," at 7 p.m. tonight at the school. Play is by teacher Robert Godfrey, and scenery by Wayne Francis.

Mothers Club Sets Thursday for Yule Dinner

KEEGO HARBOR—The Mothers Club of the Roosevelt School will hold a Christmas dinner at 7 p.m. Thursday.

The potluck affair will be held at the home of Mrs. Chris Hammel, 1664 Cass Lake Rd. Gifts will be exchanged.

Mrs. Victor Golding has charge of entertainment and Mrs. Doris Thomas is supervising the dinner.

The club will furnish oranges for the small children at the school for the room parties Friday.

Troy WSCS Luncheon Program

TROY — The WSCS of Troy Methodist Church will meet for a potluck luncheon at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow at the church. The program "For All Children" is in charge of Mrs. Robert Schultz and Mrs. William Artman.

Bad Business to Be Passport Mutilator

WASHINGTON — A total of 528,000 passports were issued by the State Department in 1935, and indications are that the number will double by the end of 1936.

When you get that precious passport, be careful not to mutilate it. Putting adhesive tape over your age (as a number of ladies have been known to do) or using the pages for a diary, can make you a citizen without a country.

Passports should not be trimmed down or bent to make them wallet-size. If the State Department discovers you are a passport mutilator, you will have to wait until they get around to issuing you another.

Never Proffer Drink to Any Alcoholic

LANSING — An expert on alcoholism today counseled Christians against limiting refreshments to "spiked" beverages and other "hard" drink.

Ralph W. Daniel, executive director of the State Board of alcoholism, said:

"Those who offer alcohol to an alcoholic should be prepared to assume full responsibility for the results of the uncontrollable chain of events that results from the first drink."

Daniel said respecting the rights of those who prefer not to drink can be done "simply and quietly, by including non-alcoholic refreshments when one informs his guests what he has available."

The well meaning urging of some hosts, he said, is found "embarrassing" by persons who have sworn off drinking, and they make one more attempt to return to "normal drinking."

"This thoughtlessness, on the part of the host, will develop new evidence to the theory 'once an alcoholic, always an alcoholic.'"

'It Took Lots of Control Not to Run Away Fast'

By KATHERINE CLARK
BUDAPEST (INS) — Do you know Budapest?

If you do, you would not know it now.

It is night, and a sharp sickle moon, a few stars shine. My hotel window hangs over the Danube and below it are a few barges rocking with the wind. The wind is so strong it seems I am on a ship. There are few lights.

Only a string of them along the waterfront below my window and across the river at the same position. The other lights are a handful in a building at the water's edge which is occupied by Russians and a row of street lights going up Gellert Hill.

The hills of Buda at dark. I know they are there by memory and instinct, not by sight—except when the tanks and armored cars start climbing.

Because you must understand this city belongs to the Russians on the outside. I walked through the streets a little before curfew and it was a horrible experience. Great open streets which a few months ago would have been heavy with traffic are just open spaces now.

I was frightened—wondering who watched me go and from which window. Around one corner a red light from a handflash waved me off. Jerky waving as though the owner were frightened or, more probably and more dangerously, angry or impatient.

It took a lot of control not to turn and run—flee would be the better word—but what do we flee from? And to where?

These are the men from Mars. They are alien-foreign-beings.

Their life is in a tank. And it is hard to think of them being anywhere else. Just a piece of metal for home with their backs unbent and turned toward you.

Where do they sleep and when? What do they eat? Do they think? I saw one reading a paper and some others sitting on a park bench near their metal house. Could we send our men to do what these beings do? I don't think so. Our people think a little and talk a lot. Someone would tell them "shame," and they would feel shame.

But I do not believe these men are ashamed. They have so little in life and most are so young. Perhaps this is all they have done—ride their tank wherever the commander says to take it. There is no sense of their being a part of this life — only things imposed on this life.

People watch them. But they do not accept them as fellow human beings. It's like being in a home which is over-run with ants or beetles or cockroaches.

You try and try to get rid of them but no one has found the source—or rather, no one has found the powder which stops them at the source. It is not like having an enemy in the land. It is a pestilence.

Maybe that's only my feeling. I have my visa and car and money and passport. If I were hurt, there would be a terrible stink. I am the one the bugs can't bite—at least, not deliberately. But how does a Hungarian feel?

Much more hate, I think, for the traitors in their midst—for the men who tolerate the bugs and don't stamp them out. If you lift your foot a tiny bit, the nasty thing wiggles free and runs off. You have to be firm and stamp down and keep the foot down.

People say, more often than not, this is a bad thing for the Russians as well as for us. They endure the soldier, the lout who bumbles in and asks for a drink. Does he know the manager gave all his liquor to the hotel employees as soon as the tanks came back? The Hungarians are content to let the lout look in the cellar. There's nothing to find and the bugs can't get drunk.

They may be bugs but they have to stay in human forms or Hell would be here. But the manager knows there is little else to worry about from the bugs—unless their master orders them to do something bad.

See Chevy Expansion

KANSAS CITY — General Motors yesterday announced plans to expand its Chevrolet assembly plant here to meet greater production demands.

The disclosure was made on petition of the automobile manufacturing firm to the city planning commission for space. The city is being asked to give up a street now paralleling the plant.

The company said it plans to increase assembly space from 501,670 to 978,480 square feet, or by 95 per cent.

WALLED LAKE, MICHIGAN

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

To go along with the post-mortem of the Lions-Bears pro game Sunday, the Football Writers' Association of Michigan is quite infuriated over the haphazard and inadequately governed press box facilities with which they were confronted at Wrigley Field.

The entire setup resembled a press box picnic. Women had their lunch boxes and coffee jugs spread out all over the place.

They were taking up seats as spectators. Newspaper men, with their typewriters still in their cases, standing on the floor, could do nothing but fold their arms and watch or attempt to scribble notes with pads in the palms of their hands.

One rule of the Football Writers' Association strictly states that no women are permitted in the press box, except for Western Union operators.

George Halas, who governs the Wrigley Field press box line like he does everything else with the Bears, violates this and every other rule for working press facilities.

Paul Pentecost, secretary of the Michigan chapter of the FWA, said he was filing an official protest to the National Association in regard to the Wrigley Field situation.

"The Wrigley Field press and radio facilities, and the handling thereof were the poorest of any pro or college press box from which we have worked this year," said Pentecost.

"Michigan writers and radiomen, representing their readers for the visiting team, Detroit, in that game were given the poorest of treatment," Pentecost added.

"Visiting press people to any of the press boxes, college or pro in Michigan have always been given primary consideration," he continued.

Pentecost pointed out that the radio and TV simulcast coming back to Detroit was given the poorest broadcasting booth setup at the field.

"We were the visiting team, and yet our writers and broadcasters were given the worst facilities in the place," he said.

Of course this only adds to the rest of the poor setup of Wrigley Field.

So when the fans and press people in Michigan take their places in the fine surroundings of Briggs Stadium, they can always truthfully say, "we've got the best."

Michigan AAU Tourney Bouts Given TV Dates

DETROIT (AP)—To pep up amateur boxing in Michigan, 13 grueling hours of golden gloves and Michigan AAU tournament eliminations will be televised beginning next month.

That's the report from the sports guild which yesterday took over operation of the Detroit Golden Gloves tourney in conjunction with the Michigan AAU and the Detroit Amateur Boxing Assn.

For seven weeks beginning Jan. 7, golden gloves elimination bouts will be shown over CKLW-TV, Windsor, Ont. each show beginning at 10 P.M. (EST) that night will run an hour long.

The Detroit golden gloves finals will then pair off in a non-televised battle Feb. 22 at the state fair coliseum to determine who will represent Detroit in the National golden gloves tournament in Chicago.

A week after the finals, the Michigan AAU will use six hour-long weekly shows to telecast its elimination with the finals to be held on a non-televised basis at a site yet to be selected.

The Catholic Youth organization, which has run the golden gloves since 1950, has asked the sports guild, a group of sports minded Detroiters, to take over golden gloves competition. The CYO said the financial burdens of the tournament are becoming increasingly difficult to handle.

Says Pat McIntyre, secretary of the Michigan AAU:

Maryland Tracks Get '57 Schedule

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's major race tracks will seek in 1957 to sidestep competition by gambling with winter weather.

Racing will open Feb. 12 at Bowie, the earliest ever for a Maryland track or, for that matter, a major Eastern track. It will end Dec. 14 at Pimlico.

The schedule, adopted yesterday by the state commission, is: Bowie, Feb. 12-Mar. 30—41 days; Laurel, April 1-May 4—29 days; Pimlico, May 6-12—12 days; Laurel, Oct. 31-Nov. 12—11 days; Pimlico, Nov. 13-Dec. 14—28 days.

This year racing began March 1 and ended Dec. 15.

Michigan Team Hopes to Upset Kent State Vow

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan's Wolverines have lured Kent State into their basketball den, and to night they plan to make the Ohioans break a promise.

The Golden Flashes from near Cleveland have vowed they'd win their encounter with Michigan as a Christmas present for Coach Dave McDowell.

The Wolverines and coach Bill Perigo have other ideas.

It'll be Kent State's first hard-core venture against a Big Ten foe. Perigo and Company plan to make it a night for the Flashes to remember.

Michigan now has a two and two record after its comeback victory last Saturday over Butler.

Maples Sweep Past Bluejays

Birmingham Gets Easy 67-47 Basketball Win at Southfield

Birmingham High School's basketball team raced to its 2nd victory in three starts Tuesday night with a runaway 67-47 verdict over Southfield on the Bluejay court. Southfield absorbed its 4th consecutive loss at the hands of the Maples, who rushed into a 19-11 first quarter advantage and were never headed. Birmingham's halftime lead was expanded to 37-19.

Three Maple cagers broke into double figures in the scoring column. Rangy Bob Isbell whipped the meches for 15 points, followed closely by Marshall Roe with 17. Tom Kelly added 11 for Birmingham.

The only bright spot in the picture for Southfield was Mel Alldredge, who tallied 11 points. The Jays have yet to taste victory this season.

Houghton Sets Pace for Harness Drivers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Youthful William R. (Billy) Houghton still reigns as harness racing's sultan of the sulky.

The 33-year-old driver from Brookville, N. Y., led the nation's trotting-pacing pilots this year in the money-win list for the fifth straight time, and the race-winning list for the fourth time in a row.

The U. S. Trotting Assn., which handles all statistics on the harness sport, reported Houghton, won $572,945 and 167 heats this year, just off his record-breaking 1955 pace of $509,445 and 168 victories.

Among the top 10 in the heat-winning list was Thomas Winn of Northville, Mich., tied for eighth with 93.

More Records Seen for Star

SAN BENITO, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Morrow's track coach at Abilene Christian College predicted last night the track star would break his own world records in the 1960 Olympics.

Track coach Oliver Jackson told a welcome-home dinner crowd that "Bobby was not at his best and not as good as he will be in the 1960 Olympics." About 2,000 persons greeted Morrow on his return home.

Morrow won three gold medals at the Olympics at Melbourne, Australia.

Lions - Bears Movies Viewed Closely

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT—The four-star movie of the day yesterday took place in the office of the Detroit Lions where the action of Lions-Bears game Sunday was viewed on the screen.

The big scene which everyone was waiting for naturally was the play where Bobby Layne was injured, and contrary to the charge of Lions' president, Edwin J. Anderson and coach Buddy Parker, the film did not show Ed Meadows slugging Layne.

Anderson protested in letter to commissioner Bert Bell Monday that the injury to Layne was "premeditated."

Even though the slugging was not evident, it was noted by viewers that there was room for a personal foul to be called, inasmuch as Meadows hit Layne after he had already pitched out to Gene Gorman.

CENTER OF CONTROVERSY—Ed Meadows, defensive end of the Chicago Bears who has been the center of controversy after the injury to Bobby Layne Sunday, denies that he deliberately injured the Lions' quarterback in the second quarter of the game. Lions' president Edwin J. Anderson claims the injury was a "premeditated assault." The Bears whipped the Lions, 38-21, to win the Western Division championship of the National Football League.

Gains Ground Gaining Title

Casares Tops NFL

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rick Casares of the Western champion Chicago Bears won the ground gaining championship of the National Football League, while teammate Eddie Brown hauled down passing honors.

Casares, rugged former Florida fullback, smashed for 1,126 yards in 12 games, gaining more than 100 yards in each of seven contests as he averaged 4.8 yards on 234 cracks at the toughest opposition in football.

The final unofficial NFL statistics disclosed today that Casares, in his second year of pro football, came within 20 yards of equalling the 1949 record set by Steve Van Buren of the Philadelphia Eagles.

Casares outran Ollie Matson of the Chicago Cardinals, who finished second, by 202 yards. Matson gained 924 yards on 192 carries, and Hugh McElhenny, San Francisco, was third with 916 yards on 185 attempts.

Brown, runnerup for passing honors in 1955, averaged 9.92 yards per pass this year, tossing 168 and completing 96 for 1,667 yards and 11 touchdowns. Bill Wade of Los Angeles was runner-up with an 8.21 average, 178 thrown, 91 completed, 1,461 yards gained and 10 TDs. In third place was Bobby Layne, Detroit, with a 7.82 average, 244 passes, 129 completed, 1,909 yards gained, and 9 TDs.

Other departmental winners: Billy Wilson, San Francisco, who tied last year with Pete Pihos of the Eagles, won pass receiving honors with 60 receptions for 889 yards, Green Bay's Billy Howton wound up second with 55 for 1,188 yards.

Layne took scoring laurels with 99 points on 5 TDs, 33 conversions and 12 field goals. Casares was second with 84 points on 14 touchdowns.

Norman Van Brocklin of Los Angeles, successfully defended his punting title, averaging 43.1 yards per boot to 42.7 for Green Bay's Dick Deschaine.

Face Edsel Ford Five

By H. GUY MOATS
Fourth straight victory was the target on which Pontiac High School's unbeaten basketball team set its sights today. Chiefs tangle with coach Ed Kotlarczyk's Dearborn Edsel Ford club Friday night, on the Dearborn hardwoods, and are rated the favorites.

Pontiac compiled victories over Catholic Central (Detroit), and two Saginaw Valley opponents, Arthur Hill and Flint Central and is rated with the state's top Class A clubs at this time. In the only meeting between Edsel Ford and Coach Art Van Ryzin's five, a year ago, Chiefs proved easy victors, 67-47.

Friday's encounter will be the last action for Chiefs until after the holiday respite. They return to action on Jan. 4 with a visit to Bay City Central.

Kotlarczyk said today he could not match Pontiac's height or depth. His club, he said, probably was not as strong, overall, as the 1955-56 quintet. The Ford starters will probably include Bill Knipp at 6-14 Ford's biggest boy at center, and Cary Joschim, a six footer at forward along with six-foot John Brown, George Sarkozy and Sam Layman probably will occupy the backcourt spots.

The Dearborn club has won one, lost two. It defeated Taylor Center after bowing to Jackson by nine points and to Ecorse by a scant two.

Reserves of the two clubs will clash in the preliminary. Varsity game time is 8 p.m.

Trails to 5th Loss

DETROIT (AP)—Lawrence Tech never managed to close the gap to more than nine points as it dropped its fifth basketball game without a victory, losing to Baldwin Wallace, 85-76, last night.

Wilt 'Cold' Gets Only 23

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—California's Bears came closest to winning the "we stopped Wilt Chamberlain" prize. But the 7-foot Kansas is still a lot of basketball player to Pete Newell, California coach.

"He's the greatest sophomore offensive force I've ever seen," Newell said after his team lost 66-58 to Kansas last night. Wilt scored 23 points, a season low for him. He had a 39.5 average for his four previous games. Washington had Wilt to 30.

The Bears, playing before a packed house of 7,200 held Chamberlain to eight field goals, five of them in the second half.

Wilt had a 14-point second half but the big guns of the Kansas attack turned out to be Lewis

In a story in a Chicago newspaper, Meadows was quoted as saying, "Layne had his back toward me, and I could not see whether he had the ball when I hit him."

It was also observed that Gorman was already past the line of scrimmage with the ball and the tackle on Layne "would have cost the Bears 15 yards," one viewer said. There was no penalty on the play.

"The tackle was clean, but

In Chicago, the football fans had no opportunity to determine for themselves from game movies of what actually took place. The play was eliminated on the Bears weekly television show.

Commentator Red Grange first said the movie was not too good, and for this reason he had no action of that play.

In any form, none of the Lions' photographs could convict Meadows of slugging, and Anderson's protest to "bar Meadows from pro football," was hardly expected to get the slightest consideration from Bell.

Bell told Anderson to produce proof of his charges, showing any deliberate slugging.

Amid all the comments made in showing the film of the game, very little was said about George Blanda's attempt to kick Detroit's Stan Campbell who was on the ground.

"This would have made Layne's injury a minor one compared to what could have happened had Blanda's foot connected with Campbell's face," said one writer.

It was noted that "the movies did not have to show what a vicious act this was on the part of Blanda, every one of the 50,000 people saw it," according to the writer.

Meanwhile the cry of "let's forget it" went up from officials in professional football circles.

New York Giant scouts who watched the game offered no comment on the incident. "Our problem is to get ready for the Bears," said one of the Giant observers in a wire service statement.

NEW YORK (AP)—Already singled out by the hair-raising pass grabbing of end Marion Hill, the New York Giants today turned their attention toward Hill, in particular, and the Chicago Bears, in general, as they planned strategy for the National Football League championship playoff Dec. 30.

"We'll try to double-up on him as much as we can," said Jim Lee Howell, coach of the Eastern Conference champions. "But we can't go overboard on him because the Bears have such good runners. That's what makes it so hard to set up a defense for them."

In the only regular season meeting between the teams in Yankee Stadium Nov. 25, Hill came up with two spectacular touchdown catches in the final quarter to enable the Bears to pull out a 17-17 deadlock. Since the Bears won the Western Division title with a 9-2-1 record over Detroit's 9-3-0, Hill's performance in that game was of paramount importance.

"I don't know for sure who's going to defend against Hill," said Howell. "He's all over . . . at end . . . in the backfield . . . just all over. If I tried to have specific men cover him, they'd be running into each other. The best I can hope for is to do it by assigning areas, to double him on either side."

Between now and the Yankee Stadium title game, the Giants will have to concentrate on defense. For the Bears produced the most powerful scoring machine in the NFL in the regular campaign—363 points in 12 games for an average of better than 30 points a game.

Howell is studying the reports of four of his charges who saw the Bears mop up Detroit to win their Conference title last Sunday.

"They said it was a good rough, tough ball game, but they didn't see anything dirty," Howell declared in answer to a query on alleged unsportsmanlike action on the Bears' part.

"They did say, though," Howell added, "that on that particular day the Bears were one of the finest clubs they'd ever seen. They were very high."

McAteer, 24, a native of Birkenhead, England, can punch with either hand but especially is adept with a left hook. The invader has won 42 out of 44 starts and scored 21 knockouts.

Gerry Nosek and Ted Wharry each collected 13 points to pace Boys Club's victory over Clarkson. Pat Thompson made 10 for the Merchants.

Swaps Beats Nashua—as 'Horse of Year'

BALTIMORE (AP)—Another race between Swaps and Nashua went to Swaps yesterday as writers and sportscasters named him racing's "horse of the year" in the 21st annual poll conducted by Turf and Sport Digest.

Seventy-eight of the 140 voting picked Rex C. Ellsworth's sensational thoroughbred over Leslie Combs II's Nashua, second with 45 votes.

Burdette, who won 17 games by late August and finished with a 19-10 won-lost record after tiring in the stretch drive, also topped the National with six shutouts, two of them in succession in early July.

Burdette's closest competitor in the earned run department was his own teammate, Warren Spahn, who finished with 2.79 while compiling a 20-11 record.

With Burdette and Spahn running 1-2, the Milwaukee staff led the league with a low earned run average of 3.11 as compared to runnerup Brooklyn's 3.57.

Texas Hires Ex-Sooner to Beat Oklahoma Club

AUSTIN, Tex. (U)—The University of Texas today turned its sagging football fortunes over to Darrell Royal, at 32 a coach with an unusual amount of experience. It gave him five years to rebuild.

In a sort of "if you can't beat 'em join 'em," the university hired one of the crack quarterbacks who led Oklahoma to victory over Texas with the specific charge "beat Oklahoma and make it snappy." Oklahoma has been the biggest thorn in Texas' side for nine years.

Royal, who coached at the University of Washington the past season, was picked as Texas' 25th head coach in 63 years of football at a meeting of the board of regents yesterday.

The former Sooner field general, who has coached at four colleges plus the Canadian professional league, was named to succeed Ed Price, the coach who resigned amid hanging effigies and grumbling of the alumni with a year to go on his contract.

Price quit Oct. 31 as his last Texas team was moving toward the worst football season in the university's history. It won one game out of 10.

At the same time Royal was selected as coach, Ed Olle, athletic department business manager, was elevated to athletic director succeeding Dana X. Bible, who retires to limited service Sept. 1, 1957.

Royal was an assistant coach at North Carolina State in 1950, at Tulsa in 1951 and Mississippi State in 1952. He coached the Edmonton professional team in the Canadian League in 1953, winning 16 games and losing 3. He became head coach at Mississippi State in 1954 and had a 6-4 record both in 1954 and 1955. He went to Washington this year under a four-year contract at $17,000 a year. He had a 5-5 record his first season.

His salary at Texas was not disclosed but indications were it would be about the same as at Washington.

Royal played at Oklahoma in 1947, 1948 and 1949. In 1948 Oklahoma started beating Texas and since then the Longhorns have been able to post only one victory—in 1951.

Ebben Gets 25 in Titans' Win

U.D. Cagers Chalk Up Third Victory, Over Toledo, 81-68

DETROIT (U)—Led by Bill Ebben's 25 points, Detroit sank 46.6 per cent of its shots for an 81-68 non-league basketball victory last night over Toledo University.

Ebben's production gave him a season total of 132 points in five games. Toledo's Al Van, a Brooklyn, N. Y., sophomore tied Ebben for game scoring honors.

The victory gave Detroit a 3-2 record with Missouri Valley Conference play scheduled to start Thursday at Tulsa. Toledo has won once in six starts.

Detroit's shooting percentage came on 27 hits in 58 attempts, Toledo netted 45.3 per cent, sinking 24 field goals in 53 attempts. Detroit led 40-33 at the half, and by as much as 18 points during the second half.

Boyd May Be Ready for 1957 Campaign

BALTIMORE (U)—The Baltimore Orioles have been told first baseman Bob Boyd should be available for fulltime duty during the 1957 season—unless something unforeseen develops.

Boyd was out about three months with a fractured elbow last season. But after a second operation on his left arm yesterday, team physician Dr. Erwin Mayer said Boyd should be able to throw lightly in six to eight weeks.

THE NEW COACH—Tom Sealy, chairman of the Board of Regents at the University of Texas, gives Darrell Royal a greeting today in Austin after he was named new head football coach of the Longhorns. Royal, who was coach at the University of Washington, will also assume the duties of athletic director.

U. S. Gains Athletes

Emergency Admission Given 40 Olympians

WASHINGTON (U)—The United States may have come out second in the unofficial competition for "traders in human beings" who, he said, went to it seems likely to emerge with more athletes than it had when the games started.

Atty. Gen. Brownell announced yesterday he has authorized emergency admission into the United States of 40 Olympic athletes who chose not to return to their Iron Curtain countries when the games ended in Australia.

The athletes concerned, who are now in Melbourne, include 35 Hungarians, four Romanians and one Czech.

The Hungarians to be admitted to this country are among 45 who went to Australia for the Olympics and then did not return to their revolt-torn Communist homeland. The original Hungarian team numbered 175, including coaches.

In a broadcast heard in Vienna yesterday the Hungarian minister

"We know what difficulties and nervous tension you had to face in Melbourne," he said in a talk broadcast by radio Budapest. "You had to fight and conquer lures and temptation. We know what was tried in Melbourne to prevent your return."

Maros said the Hungarian government had tried to thwart efforts to "buy victims for political purposes." He said the West had tried to lure the Hungarians from their homeland "by false rumors and big financial offers."

He voiced gratitude that Russia finished first in the Olympics, saying "this proved that the Socialist countries are in the forefront in every field." The United States was second; Hungary finished fifth.

Some of the Hungarians who stayed behind, planned to remain in Australia for the time being and others hope to settle in countries other than the United States.

Sooners Dominate Final Grid Figures

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 1956 Oklahoma University football team, which started the season amid tearful statements from coach Bud Wilkinson and finished in a blaze of glory, outdid even the great 1955 Sooners, final NCAA service bureau statistics revealed today.

In completing their second straight offensive "triple", the Sooners averaged 481.7 yards a game on offense, gained an average of 391 by rushing alone and scored at a rate of 46.6 points a game. Last year the figures were 410.7, 328.9 and 36.5.

The 391-yard rushing average was an all-time NCAA major college record and in this department Oklahoma was 107.5 yards a game ahead of second-place Virginia Tech. Other Oklahoma records for the season were the 481.7 total offense, the greatest a team ever made against all-major opposition, and totals of 179 first downs by rushing and 222 altogether.

Oklahoma's 466 points in 10 games is the second-highest total recorded since 1920, having been exceeded in the past 36 years only by Army's 504 points in 1944. The only other teams even to approach Oklahoma's rushing record were Army in 1945 with a 359.8-yard average and Texas Mines in 1948 with 378.3.

This Sooner sweep left only the passing titles to be divided up by a couple of Pacific Coast teams. Washington State won the overall team passing title with an average of 206.8 air yards per game as compared to Stanford's 204.4. College of the Pacific and San Jose State were third and fourth, marking the first time teams from one section have created such a passing monopoly.

Stanford, the passing-est team for the second straight year, threw 305 times—the fourth-highest total—and completed 170 for record. The previous high was 164 completions by Loyola of Los Angeles in 1951. Stanford also had the best completion percentage, .557.

Runner-up to Oklahoma in total offense was Hardin-Simmons, which averaged 321.2 yards per game and had more offensive plays, 786, than anyone else but won only four of its 10 games.

Second to Oklahoma in scoring was Arizona State, with 20.6 points per game. Other high scoring teams were Yale, 27.3; Tennessee, 26.8; Colorado, 26.7; Michigan State, 26.6; Virginia Tech, 26.4; Princeton, 26.3; Michigan, 25.9, and Syracuse, 25.4.

Walker's Chances Slim

DALLAS, Tex. (U)—Doak Walker, a three-time All-America back for Southern Methodist University, has apparently been ruled out as his alma mater's head coach—at least for the present.

Athletic director Matty Bell repeated yesterday that the university is searching for a man with head coaching experience to replace Woody Woodward who resigned.

Furthermore, Bell said, that experience should have been earned at a major school.

Walker, who gained stardom in professional football with the Detroit Lions, has little coaching experience, Bell said, with the exception of assisting in SMU's spring football practice.

In addition Bell said, Walker is making considerable money in business and the university might not be able to make it worth his while.

Bell said he had already spoken to Walker.

The Dallas Morning News had reported that Walker would sign to coach his school's football squad next season.

Vejar Winner Over Andrews

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (INS)—Chico Vejar of Stamford, Conn., stopped Al Andrews of St. Paul, Minn., with a seventh round technical knockout last night at Miami Beach.

Vejar, who weighed 153 pounds, opened three cuts on Andrews' head. Both fighters were covered with blood.

Just about the MOST OF EVERYTHING

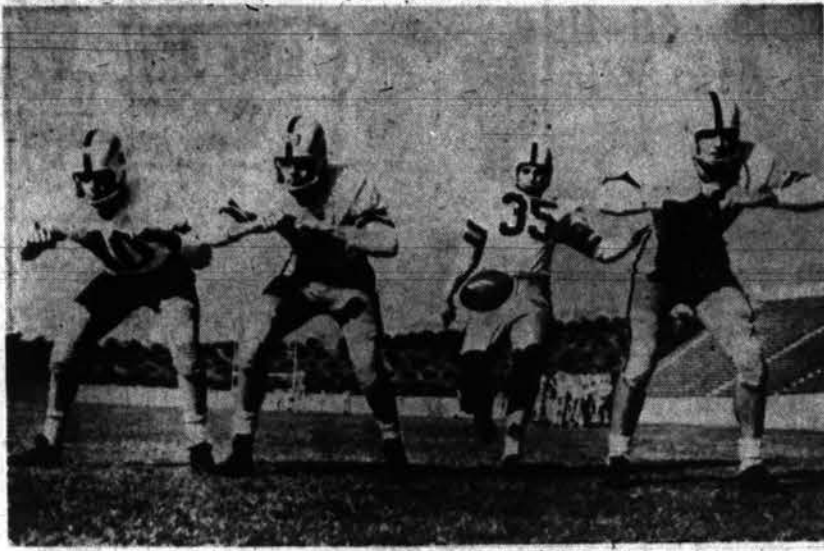

An automobile insurance policy is not worth much by itself... what count are the ability and the dependability of the organization that makes the policy good, the desire to serve, the facilities, the manpower, the offices and the know-how.

Those are the things that make insurance out of an insurance policy, and this Exchange at the Automobile Club of Michigan strives to have just about the most of everything.

Eaglets Coast In for Fourth Victory

Jumping into an early lead and then coasting along, St. Mary's (Orchard Lake) Eaglet eagers chalked up their 4th straight victory Tuesday night to continue in the unbeaten ranks.

Oak Park high was the victim of a 67-42 count, compiled on the Orchard Lake court. Eaglets used all 13 members of their squad.

Eaglets were led by Stan Moniuszko with 20, and Pete Madelans with 16. Junior Terry Raymond led Eaglet reserves to a 47-25 win over Oak Park with a 24-point effort.

The summary:

High Scoring Features Prep Card

Almont, behind a 37-point scoring spree by center Larry Kersten, kept rolling toward its 2nd straight Southern Thumb League title Tuesday night with a 70-50 triumph over Memphis.

But New Haven informed the Raiders that they had a challenger for league honors by handcuffing Capac, 41-29, to keep pace with the defending champions. Both teams

14 Matches Listed for Titan Fencers

University of Detroit, which will serve as host to the 1957 national collegiate fencing championships next March 22 and 23, has a schedule of 14 matches for its own swordsmen.

Site of the nationals in March will be the 9,000-seat U. of D. Memorial Building and upwards of 30 universities are expected to send entries. Detroit placed 19th in last year's NCAA meet at Annapolis, with 32 schools represented by full teams.

Two members of the Titan squad are area residents. Nelson Phillips is from Birmingham, senior foil performer and Denis Owocicki, as junior from Center Line handles the epee.

Coach Dick Perry of Birmingham, lists the following schedule: Dec. 22—Penn. at Detroit; Jan. 5 at Oberlin; Jan. 12 at Wayne; Case at Wayne; Jan. 19 at Michigan State; Feb. 2 at University of Chicago; Feb. 8 Ohio State at Detroit; Wisconsin at Detroit; Feb. 15 at Illinois; Feb. 18 at Indiana; vs Cincinnati at Indiana; Feb. 22 Notre Dame at Detroit; March 9 at Buffalo; vs Western Reserve at Buffalo; March 22-23 NCAA championships at Detroit.

Charlie Maxwell who will be 30-years-old a week before the season opens became the 14th player to agree to a new contract yesterday.

For outfielder Maxwell, a native of Paw Paw, Mich., last year was by far the best of his ten seasons in organized baseball. He batted in 87 runs and held a .326 average as the season closed.

The Tiger had not expected so much when they picked him up on waivers from Baltimore in 1954.

are undefeated in four Southern Thumb tests.

The lanky Kersten collected 16 field goals and five foul shots for his 37-point total. He tallied 17 of those points in the 3rd quarter when the Raiders wrapped up the verdict. Leonard Jakubiak scored 14 points for the home Memphis club.

The visiting New Haven quintet led Capac all the way. Dick Johnson notched 17 points for the winners and teammate Terry Foss was right behind with 16. Capac's Max Howell garnered 10 points.

In last night's remaining league game, Clare Wentworth bucketed a layup shot in the last second of play to give Dryden a 34-32 victory over Armada on the Armada court. Wentworth took scoring honors with 11 points.

Holly found 'rough going at Grand Blanc and bowed, 65-45, for its 3rd defeat in five starts. Grand Blanc, sparked by Bob Suel's 23-point burst, sewed up the win with a 21 to 8 scoring edge in the 3rd period. George McDaniel and Amos Bradsher each posted 12 points for the Broncos.

Jim O'Neill pumped in 20 points and John Ribner added 14 to lead North Branch to a 64-60 decision over Brown City. Jim Koyl and Vic Wanner piled up 17 points apiece for the invading Brown City squad.

Dick Hoard's field goal with 30 seconds left paved the way for Millington's 54-52 win over Frankemuth at Millington. Hoard contributed 21 points.

Other area games last night saw Center Line whip Van Dyke, 55-39, and Mt. Clemens bow to Grosse Pte., 64-51.

Judges Listed for PKC Benefit Show

Pontiac Kennel Club's first winter, and first indoor dog show in years, Jan. 19, promises to be quite an affair, with a probable entry of some 600 or more dogs in seven or eight different groups.

Show will also be a benefit for the Michigan Animal Rescue League's new shelter building fund. Shelter is now under construction in Pontiac.

Location is the Waterford Community Activities building 5640 Williams Lake road, two and a half miles west of Pontiac.

The show is licensed by the American Kennel Club. It is an all-breed, unbench event, and entries close Jan. 8. There will be trophies and ribbons for winners. F&C members will not exhibit any of their dogs in this show.

Judges have been approved by the AKC as follows: Rudy W. Buchmann, Pontiac; Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Carruthers 3rd, Glendale, O.; Edwin M. Combs, Detroit; Mrs. Julia Gasow, Birmingham; Earl H. Lounsbury, Shelton, Conn.; Roy A. Mitchell, Trenton; Elbert E. Very, Sterlins, Ill.

Variety group judging assignments include: Sporting, Elbert Very. Hounds, and working groups, Earl Lounsbury. Terriers, T. H. Carruthers who also will do the best-in-show chore. Toys, Lounsbury. Non-sporting, Very. Buchmann will judge the German shepherds. Mrs. Gasow will judge English springer spaniels. Show time is 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Chief ring steward will be Burt Johnston, member of the PKC show committee.

Lake Orion Rolls, 68-41; Colts, Clawson Also Win

Lake Orion returned to its winning ways with an impressive 68-41 decision over Fitzgerald and Clawson staggered past winless Roseville, 47-37, in Oakland B League basketball games Tuesday night.

Troy deserted Oakland B competition last night to hand Oxford a 50-35 drubbing on the Troy floor for its 2nd win in four starts. It was Oxford's 2nd straight setback.

Fitzgerald was even with Lake Orion going into the 2nd quarter 12-12, but the Dragons scored 42 points in the next two periods while limiting the Spartans to only a dozen to ice the decision.

Three Orion players recorded double numbers, led by forward Jim Drake with 27 points. Bob Bush topped the host Spartans with 18.

Clawson came from behind to defeat Roseville in a cold shooting affair at Roseville, The Trojans made only one field goal in the 1st half and trailed at intermission, 13-9.

Tom Trexler paced Clawson's anemic attack with 16 points. Duane Hussey notched 16 for the losers.

Fourteen Troy cagers saw action and 10 of them scored during the Colts' romp at Oxford's expense. Wayne Figley's 14 points led the Colts while Bill Niles of Oxford took scoring honors with 17.

Many For Deer Feeding

By JACK PATTERSON

We were collared the other day, on a windy street corner, by a local worthy who proceeded to take us to task for our endorsement of cutting down the deer herd. This gentleman belongs to the feed-the-deer school and is satisfied beyond all argument that a state-financed feeding program is the answer to deer management problems. In the course of the conversation he made the rather astounding statement that "it is the duty of the Conservation Department to provide better hunting (by implication, deer hunting) for the Michigan sportsman."

Now this statement, ridiculous though it may seem to us, would probably be wholeheartedly seconded by many Michigan deer hunters.

The average deer hunter wants more deer. He wants more deer to the exclusion of other wildlife considerations. He demands more deer as a matter of right. In defense of his "rights" he imputes to the body charged with the management of the deer herd a "duty" to see things his way.

What is the duty of the Conservation Department? In our opinion it can be stated very simply. The duty of the Conservation Department is to conserve, manage and protect from illegal and unwarranted exploitation the natural resources of the state, including fish and game, for posterity.

It is true that a major aim of the department is, and rightfully should be, better hunting and fishing for sportsmen of the state, insofar as such improvement is consistent with true conservation of affected species. But to confuse such an aim with a duty is to obscure the real meaning of the Conservation Department.

What is there about deer that promotes such fierce loyalties? They haven't the romance of the exotic, any more than squirrels, having always been among us. They don't present a threat to life and limb, thereby inducing in their pursuer the thrill of actual danger. They certainly aren't semi-legendary creatures, on the brink of extinction, to be spoken of in soft tones and viewed with reverence.

Frankly, we don't know why everybody gets so steamed up about them. But get steamed they do. Let a shred of suspicion fall that a certain animal might try a bit of venison for a change and a bounty or a posse, or both, are on him forthwith.

Take the remnant of wolves left in the U. P. with every hand turned against them. Forget for the moment that the wolf was man's first friend among the wild creatures, his first pet and ancestor of old Rover, and consider what a wolfless wilderness is. It's a synthetic, city-park kind of wilderness, no real wilderness at all. Putting a bounty on wolves because they eat deer is like putting a bounty on bass because they eat minnows. There are so many, many minnows and deer. There are so very few wolves.

Doves Provide Heaviest 'Bag'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hunters killed nearly 19 million mourning doves in 29 states which had an open season on the birds in 1935, the Fish and Wildlife Service reports.

More mourning doves are killed in this country yearly than any other game bird. By comparison, the duck kill in 1935 was 12 1/4 million.

A compilation made in cooperation with the states by the Fish and Wildlife Service showed Texas in the lead with a kill of 4,172,000 doves last year. California was second with 2,571,300; Georgia third with 2,000,000.

Giant Boeing 707, a 600-mile-an-hour jet transport, will soon be available for commercial aviation.

It takes a GIANT to move people

In the world of flying it takes a giant to move masses of people fast. In the world of selling, too, it takes a giant to move the people... a giant who lives in every town, the daily newspaper.

This giant not only lives in every town but in practically every home—every day. And in the home the newspaper remains to be read, put down, picked up and read again, so that it's no trouble at all for an advertiser to make a local call—when he's advertising in the daily newspaper. Daily newspaper circulation is at a new high—over 56,000,000.

Likely as not, some of the ads in the paper will end up in a purse or pocket because people habitually use the newspaper as a shopping guide. That's why advertisers—local, regional and national—spend more money in daily newspapers than they do in radio, television, magazines and outdoor combined.

To move a multitude of goods, you must move multitudes of people to action. Use "action" advertising. Use the daily newspaper.

All business is local...and so are all newspapers.

Hollywood Headlines

Lloyd Nolan Back Home for Role in 'Hatful of Rain'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Lloyd Nolan, who has been in Europe for months and months, returned home in a new Jaguar, which he drove from New York.

Lloyd was a terrific hit on the stage in "The Caine Mutiny," and I also saw him on the movie set for "Seven Waves Away," while he was doing a dramatic death scene.

Well, Lloyd is far from dead. He signed with 20th to play the father in "Hatful of Rain," which Buddy Adler plans for production early next year.

Although 20th hasn't said so, I know that Anthony Franciosa, who played it on Broadway with Shelley Winters, will play his original role. The only thing that has held up the deal is that Franciosa has to give 20th two more pictures.

I know Van Johnson is very glad his next picture will be made right in the U.S.A. He's tired of traveling in Europe where he is now on location in Spain starring in "Action of the Tiger" for MGM.

Speaking of his next picture, he's due to report to Columbia Feb. 11 to Brynne Foy for "Accused," which William Dieterle is directing.

Van, Evie and the children will be in Spain for the Christmas holidays, and that doesn't make Evie mad because she loves Europe.

POPULAR CHOICE

I should say offhand that Nick Adams is a popular choice for the role of Ben in "No Time for Sergeants." Mervyn Le Roy had tried to get Roddy McDowall because Roddy created the part on the stage, but he was busy with a stage commitment.

To my way of thinking, today Nick is more popular with the teenagers and it's high time he stopped following Elvis Presley around and tended to his own job.

Bright and early Gary Cooper telephoned to say that he is glad to be home to get warm. The Paris fuel is cut way down and practically all the Americans had the flu.

John Wayne and Pilar, he told me, were sick, as well as other members of the "Love in the Afternoon" company.

He told me that he got into a parade of Hungarians the day they set fire to the Communist headquarters in Paris. He said he felt that things had calmed down a little there since this first excitement.

Gary left for home minutes after he made his last scene in his picture and is happy to be able to be here to spend Christmas with Rocky and his daughter, Maria.

DECIDE ON DIVORCE

After being separated since their son was only a few weeks old, Maggie and Michael Rennie have decided to make their parting legal. She will seek a divorce and keep custody of David James, their 3-year-old son.

Mike once called Maggie the "wittiest blonde" he ever met. He still says she is one of the greatest women he has ever known. Her mother was found murdered in England in 1953 and the murder has never been solved, and since that time Mrs. Rennie has never returned to this country.

She was the former Margaret McGrath and in her statement she said, "No one had ever better say anything unkind about Michael." Their reasons for parting are that his work keeps him in Hollywood and she prefers her native London.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Estelita and Harry Half tied the knot on Friday at Mount Vernon, N.Y.

I predict a 1957 marriage for Linda Darnell and her pilot boy friend Robbie Robertson. They were a twosome at the Bantam Cook, and she goes with no one else.

Patricia Medina goes to England soon for that big reconciliation scene with Richard Greene—if it ever takes place.

A New Year's Day wedding in Las Vegas is that of Sally Forrest's mother-in-law, Mrs. Patricia Frank, to Robert Neuschatz, Los Angeles businessman.

Alan and Sue Ladd are on the high seas heading for home and Christmas.

Lana Turner and Lex Barker got in from Acapulco today and Lana goes right into last-minute Christmas shopping.

Sell License Plates for '57 at Rapid Pace

LANSING (AP)—The sale of Michigan 1957 auto license plates in the first 16 days ran three to two ahead of last year. Secretary of State James M. Hare's office said. A total of 121,696 sets of plates were sold up to the start of this week as against 86,333 in the comparable period of 1955.

Boyer Whittles Bills

BOYNE CITY (AP)—The City Council's Finance Committee has termed impractical a proposed tax increase to help the city erase back bills. The committee urged, instead of a tax boost, that city departments hold down expenses to save money for the bills. Mayor Harry Tompkins, who said the city is not "in too bad shape," noted that $21,000 has been paid this year in back bills.

Movie Set Actors Pray on Christmas Eve

Cecil B. DeMille has brought to the screen a number of stories from the Bible, including "The Ten Commandments," but his favorite Christmas story is an unscripted, personal experience that occurred during the filming of "The King of Kings" in 1927. He describes the experience below.

By CECIL B. DEMILLE
(Written expressly for INS)

Not long ago I was asked to recall my most unusual experience in motion pictures. I did not have to search my memory.

It was Christmas Eve on the set of "The King of Kings." We had just completed the scenes depicting the crucifixion, and the earthquake which followed. It was late and we were about to quit for the day.

Everyone was tired and hungry. Some had been rolled in the dirt. It had been a long and trying scene.

They had seen the three men on the cross—the good thief and the bad thief; and, in all its agony, the crucifixion. They had been taxed emotionally and they had been worn physically. They were anxious to get home.

Among the 2,000 people on the stage, every class and faith and type of human being could be found. There were atheists, those who believed in nothing. There were rough, tough, burly individuals who had been portraying the Roman soldiers. It was truly a mixed multitude.

The stage was made of glass.

Vote School Addition

IONIA (AP)—A $50,000 bond issue has been approved by voters of the Palo Alto school district for construction of a four-room addition to the present district school building. The district includes portions of northern Ionia county and southern Montcalm county.

and the light was beginning to fade as I turned to them. I called their attention to the fact that we were standing beneath the Cross on Christmas Eve.

"So let's take five minutes out to think," I said. "It will be five minutes of silence. Those who want to can pray. Those of you who don't believe and are just waiting, think of your mothers, or whatever it is that you find it inspiring to think about."

You could see the different expressions. Some of them were annoyed and anxious to get away.

The light continued to fade and soon the only light was on the Cross. An organ had been playing on the set to create "atmosphere" while we were shooting. The organist started to play again, very quietly. I still don't know whether it was a hymn.

One by one people dropped to their knees. Others began to sing. Some crossed themselves. Soon, almost a third of the company was on its knees at the foot of the cross. Some of the others bowed their heads.

And then, those who were left standing dropped to their knees. The light was almost gone. The Cross could be seen against the sky. Even today I cannot recall that scene without emotion.

I saw tears on the faces of hard-

Equal Rights Missing at Indianapolis Track

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Betty Skelton wants something few other women want . . . yet it looks like she'll never get it . . . because some men won't let her have it.

Betty hankers to drive in the Indianapolis auto races.

"But there's the greatest superstition against women being in the pits or even sitting in one of the cars," Betty said while here from Detroit for the auto show. Former world's champion stunt flier, who flew solo when she was only 12, Betty has driven a Chevrolet Corvette 145 miles an hour at Daytona Beach—but that means nothing to the Indianapolis Speedway daredevils.

"I go to Indianapolis every year," Betty, a slender, attractive 30-year-old brunette said. "And a couple of years ago, Jack McGrath, a driver, said to me during the week before the big race, 'I want you to drive my car around the track.'"

"As I started out, the famous driver, Bill Vukovich, who was standing beside him, said, 'Well, there goes the last of your race car.'"

"Bill was killed himself a few days later.

"And a year later Jack was killed in Phoenix."

Betty, being very much alive at this point, thinks it's not fair.

"But it's the story of my life," she said. "In the Cleveland air races they wouldn't let me race with the boys for the Thompson Cup."

"I didn't want to compete in that little women's race, but I had to."

Betty's torn right now between the idea of asking to be admitted to the race—and forgetting the whole thing.

"I don't want to be anywhere that I'm not wanted—yet, why shouldn't women be in the big race? I'm sure I could qualify—I do have a triple-A race driver's license—but you're also supposed to have two years of experience on the dirt tracks," she said.

"That I could get!" She was seriously contemplating it. But she looked worried.

"So you don't think you'll ever do it?" I asked.

"Oh, I wouldn't say that!" she flung back.

Betty, who grew up in Winter Haven, Fla., is 5-feet-3. And interesting note for the menfolk drivers . . . she weighs 98 pounds.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Hal March's expectant wife, Candy, has as her obstetrician Dr. Francis Salvador, who won $32,000 on the 64G Question—in the cooking category . . . Rita Hayworth danced at El Morocco with her boss, Harry Cohn . . . Debra Paget (of "Omar Khayyam") describes her new home as "done in early Hollywood."

Eli Bass is writing Zsa Zsa Gabor's new cafe act . . . Sharmen Douglas, the ex-ambassador's daughter, turns H'wood press agent.

Sammy ("Mr. Wonderful") Davis Jr. and Rex ("My Fair Lady") Harrison will give a joint party for the members of their casts.

Earl's Pearls . . .

Not all women want what the neighbors have. Some of them want something much more expensive.—Frances Rodman.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Christmas gifts are divided into two classes—those you don't like and those you don't get.—Vincent (Ricky's) Montemora.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Peter Donald tells of the habitual lush who can't even use mouthwash in the morning unless there's an olive in the glass.

Charlotte Rae claims that, for the real, true actress, doing live TV can never create the illusion of real theater. You can't hear the audience cough. That's earl, brother.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (INS)—

A young Waterbury, Conn., woman, who abandoned her three children in New York's Grand Central Station because she could not afford to give them Christmas presents, was held today by Jacksonville police.

Mrs. Irene Pierce, picked up last night in a cheap hotel, explained that she left the tots—Victor, 5, Sandra, 3, and James, 3 months—last Friday because "there was no chance for Santa Claus to come to our house this year."

Mrs. Pierce, separated from her musician husband, William, then traveled to Jacksonville where she went to the traveler's aid station to ask that relatives in Waterbury be contacted.

She later was recognized by a Western Union employee who had seen the woman's picture in a newspaper and a search for her followed.

Mrs. Pierce waved extradition and a New York city policeman was sent to Jacksonville with a warrant for her arrest.

West Berlin Rejects Spy Tunnel Damages

BERLIN (AP) — The West Berlin Senate today rejected Communist East Germany's demand that it pay damages for the digging of the so-called American "spy tunnel."

West Berlin officials said the East Germans were being told to serve their demand on the Allied occupation authorities, especially since the original Soviet protest was lodged with the United States.

The Russians claimed last May they had discovered a tunnel dug by U.S. intelligence agents from West Berlin into East Berlin territory. Moscow sent a protest to the United States which so far as is known Washington has never answered.

Nagy Cites Uselessness of Working With Reds

DETROIT (U. P.)—Ferenc Nagy, former prime minister of Hungary, says the Hungarian revolution has shown the futility of the doctrine of co-existence with Soviet Russia.

"It has shown the peoples of Asia and Africa that the Soviet Union would crush their aspirations toward national independence," Nagy told a Detroit Economic Club audience yesterday.

"The revolution has shown world intellectuals that there is no human dignity nor respect for liberty in Communism," Nagy declared. "It has shown businessmen that they can't carry on business with Communism."

Nagy, who was ousted as prime minister when the Communists seized power in 1947, said the uprising has demolished Communism as an ideology.

Cross Reveals Profits

DETROIT (U. P.)—The Cross Company, producer of atomation machinery and special machine tools, Monday announced a profit for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30 of $1,121,607 after taxes. The profit was equal to $1.81 per share on 621,200 shares of outstanding stock.

Lad Avoids Yule Trees, What a Sad Allergy!

CASPER, Wyo. (U. P.)—This is the time of the year that 8-year-old Gregg Carr begins wheezing and coughing.

He's allergic to Christmas trees. The Carr family puts up an artificial tree, but the smell of pine and spruce from neighbor's

Dow Invests in Mexico

MIDLAND (U. P.)—Dow Chemical Co. has purchased a 50 per cent interest in the Mexican firm of Productos Quimicos Mexicanos, producers of caustic soda and chlorinated compounds.

Hunter Bags His Deer in Spite of Paralysis

TITUSVILLE, Pa. (U. P.)—Garland Archer of nearby Pleasantville is paralyzed from the waist down but he didn't let that keep him from bagging a deer.

Archer, paralyzed in a 45-foot fall, was taken to a hunting camp near his home by friends.

In a wheelchair Archer spotted a buck on a hillside and brought it down with two shots.

He's been hunting 33 years and has bagged 30 deer.

Shopper Killed by Car

DETROIT (U. P.)—Mrs. Susan Otto, 78, of suburban Dearborn was killed Monday when struck by a car on her way to do her Christmas shopping.

Dog Is Well Trained

DALLAS (U. P.)—Mr. and Mrs. Jake K. Stults trained their dog to bring the newspaper into the house when it rained. It hasn't rained in so long that Rickie turned his talents elsewhere. Yesterday he came up to Mrs. Stults with a $5 bill. No one knows where he got it.
