Kennedy Fears Explosion in Laos

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says the unity talks in Laos must be speeded along before the sputtering cease fire explodes into a more hazardous situation.

He told his news conference Wednesday that the pro-Communist rebels had clearly breached the cease-fire agreement Sunday by storming a stronghold of the royal Laotian government and the United States has expressed its concern to the Soviet Union.

But, he added, negotiations between the royalists, Communists and neutralists toward formation of a neutral government must go on.

"I agree it is a very hazardous course but introducing American forces which is the other one—let's not think there is some great third course—that also is a hazardous course," he said.

URGES TALKS

He urged all three sides in restive Laos—pro-Western royalists, Communists and avowed neutralists—to resume their effort to form an independent government.

The longer the negotiations drag on, he said, "the more hazardous the situation becomes."

Kennedy called for prompt action to halt the shooting in Laos during a news conference which took him over a diversified route, from savings and loan associations to the conference tables of Europe.

The President said savings and loan associations have misinformed the public about an administration proposal—passed by the House but in trouble in the Senate—to withhold taxes on dividends and interest.

He opened the conference with a statement contending defeat of the measure would benefit "only those whose evasion of present taxes is costing every taxpayer dearly."

Kennedy estimated evasion on dividends and interest amounts to $800 million a year in taxes.

He said he wanted to set the record straight because mail coming to the White House and Senate "indicates that a great number of people have been badly misinformed."

Moving into international waters, Kennedy declared the United States would continue talks with the Soviet Union in pursuit of a settlement on Berlin.

Rural Supervisors OK Safety Rules for Lakes

A uniform ordinance to regulate activities on lakes throughout Oakland County has won the support of the Township Supervisors Association.

The 14 rural supervisors at a meeting of the association in Pontiac yesterday agreed unanimously to present the proposed ordinance to their respective boards for consideration.

The ordinance is intended to promote safety on the lakes by making reckless actions punishable as misdemeanors and by restricting sports to certain hours.

West Bloomfield Township Supervisor John C. Rehard had proposed that all townships adopt the same ordinance. Otherwise the situation will be chaotic, he said, with visiting lake users uncertain of the law on any particular lake in the area.

Following are major provisions of the ordinance form approved by the association:

MAJOR PROVISIONS

1. Allow water skiing only between 10 a.m. and sunset on weekdays, and until 7 p.m. on Fridays, weekends, the first day preceding a holiday and holidays.

2. Restrict motor boats to speeds of 10 m.p.h. within 100 feet of anchored boats, bathing areas or lawfully anchored rafts or floats used for swimming.

3. Prohibit those less than 14 years of age from operating a motor boat of more than 7½ horsepower, unless accompanied by an adult.

The ordinance proposes to make it unlawful to operate an improperly licensed or unlicensed boat, to operate any boat while under the influence of intoxicants, drugs or barbiturates, and throw or discharge any rubbish or refuse overboard.

FINE OF $100

Violations of the ordinance would be punishable by a maximum fine of $100 and or 90 days in the county jail.

★ ★ ★

Each township that approves of the uniform ordinance form would have to adopt it individually.

West Bloomfield Township was the only township in the county that had previously adopted such an ordinance. Re-hard said his township board would consider amending its ordinance for the sake of uniformity.

Oxford and Addison townships passed the uniform ordinance last night.

Other township supervisors who approved yesterday's action were: Assn, Chairman Duane Hursfall, Independence; Mayon Hoard, Milford; Frank Voll, Oakland; Vice

'Kennedy Regime Warned'

Discloses Threat by Estes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Billie Sol Estes made a rush trip to Washington last Oct. 18 and threatened to embarrass the Agriculture Department and the Kennedy administration unless an investigation of his cotton-planting operations was dropped.

The visit was disclosed today by an informant who said that knowledge of the visit did not, however, reach Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman or his top aides until late in April.

By that time, the Texas financier had been indicted on charges of fraud, and the department had decided much earlier to cancel cotton allotments used by Estes.

Estes' visit was to the office of a subordinate official in the cotton branch of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the agency which administers crop control programs. The name of this official was not disclosed by the informant who would not permit use of his own name.

At the time, Estes apparently had just heard that the Agriculture Department was investigating how he obtained — illegally, the department now contends — more than 3,000 acres in cotton allotments from displaced farmers.

THREATENED CAMPAIGN

"Estes told this cotton official," the department source said, "that if the department did not drop the investigation immediately, he would fly a staff of 30 to 35 people to Washington, set up an office, buy space in newspapers, and go on television in New York to embarrass the department and the administration."

Happy Visitor

LUCKY BOY — John Bunge, 8, takes his task seriously as he pins an earring on actress Jane Wyman at Camp Oakland last night. John and 35 other Camp Oakland children had Miss Wyman as their dinner guest and presented her with earrings and necklace they made. Souvanna Tells Reds to Leave Fallen Capital

Neutralist Denounces Pathet Lao's Attacks Breaking Cease Fire

From Our News Wires

VIENTIANE, Laos — Prince Souvanna Phouma has ordered pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong to withdraw his Pathet Lao troops from Nam Tha and Muong Sing to behind the original cease-fire line, informed diplomatic sources said today.

The informants said the neutralist leader sent a cable from France to Souphanouvong, his half-brothed and ally, denouncing the seizure of the two government outposts in northwest Laos as a violation of the year-old cease fire.

Souvanna, the Soviet and American choice to head a neutralist regime in the jungle kingdom, reportedly also cabled his acting premier, Phagna Khamsoukeola, at rebel headquarters at Khang Kay to arrange for the withdrawal of the pro-Communist troops.

Government troops retreating from Nam Tha were reported to have fallen back to within 10 miles of the Thailand border.

A pilot who flew the length of the road from Nam Tha to the border late yesterday said the withdrawing Royal Laotian army troops were then within 10 miles of Ben Honei Sai on the Mekong River which divides Laos from Thailand.

COULDN'T ESTIMATE

He said the course of the withdrawal was clearly marked by dozens of forest fires set by tracer ammunition.

He said that the smoke from the fires made it impossible to estimate the number of pursuing enemy troops.

He told French newsmen Wednesday night he was prepared to return to Laos any time. Prince Boun Oum's right-wing regime formally requests resumption of talks on formation of a coalition government of Communists, conservatives and neutralists.

Souphanouvong's pro-Communist rebels also were reported ready to return to unity talks. Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, deputy premier and strongman of the royal Laotian government, said despite the Pathet Lao attacks, he still was ready to negotiate.

But he demanded that Souvanna first return to Laos and give assurances that he is truly neutral.

Before his departure for France, Souvanna publicly pledged that his neutralist and pro-Communist troops would not attack unless they were themselves attacked.

He told French newsmen that he believed Nam Tha "was not attacked deliberately" but that royal government forces in trying to break the rebel siege of the provincial capital might have provoked the assault last weekend.

SUPPORT SOUVANNA

Souvanna has the support of the United States, the Soviet Union and other big powers at the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos.

Critical Ike Backs JFK Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower expressed strong disapproval today of the Kennedy administration's domestic program—its heavy spending on all fronts and moves for increased presidential powers.

But he called for full support of its foreign policy.

The ex-President, facing a room full of reporters at a news conference in the old Senate Office building, said no one, in or out of office, had sufficient knowledge to criticize President Kennedy on his handling of foreign policy.

And, without mentioning any specific events, Eisenhower said he applauded what he called a growing firmness in the administration's handling of its difficulties with the Soviets.

On the domestic front, however, Eisenhower said he had radical differences with Kennedy. He read a prepared statement expressing concern over:

"First, the strenuous efforts of the administration to increase greatly the power of the executive branch of the government.

"Second, administration insistence upon increasingly heavy federal spending on all fronts."

Eisenhower said the problem of the presidency rarely is lack of power.

"Ordinarily," he said, "the problem is to use the already enormous power of the presidency judiciously, temperately and wisely."

In a question and answer period, Eisenhower declined, however, to express an opinion on the way Kennedy used his power in the steel price situation and forced a rollback of a price increase.

JOE HAAS

Joe Haas, Oakland's Famed Reporter, Wrote 'Man About Town'

The 84-year-old "Man About Town" columnist for The Press had been ill for a week. He was making plans, however, to return to his desk for the conclusion of his popular baseball contest, an annual event in his column.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Dryer Funeral Home, Holly, with burial in Lakeside Cemetery.

Mr. Oakland County, as he was known in his later years, narrowly missed being a native-born son. He came to Holly when he was six months old from his birthplace, Waterbury, Conn. He was the son of Frederick and Delia Hammond Haas, born June 18, 1877.

STARTED AT SEVEN

From a farm four miles north of the village, he walked to attend Holly schools daily. He dated his newspaper career back to his start as a carrier at the age of 7, and was proud of the fact he was the oldest working newsman in the state.

In 1901, with borrowed capital of $50, Joe founded the weekly Holly Herald. A year later, he married Winifred Giddley. Mrs. Haas died July 15, 1950. There were no children.

Joe published the Holly Herald until 1937, when he sold it and traveled for a few years. He

Skies to Remain Cloudy; Warmer Winds Expected

Ducks and leaves of grass may like this weather but for people it'll be just plain drizzly and cloudy.

Showers in spots are expected to end tonight, with a low in the 40s forecast. Considerable cloudiness is the word for Friday with slightly warmer temperatures culminating in a high between 60 and 65.

WARMING UP

Gentle zephyrs (10 to 18 miles an hour) will stir up a little dust to make the outlook a little gloomier. Aches in certain joints may indicate more showers Saturday.

Geodetic Capsule Burns as Rocket Fails to Ignite

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An attempt to launch a flashing light geodetic satellite into orbit failed today when the second stage of the launching vehicle did not ignite.

If successful, the satellite named Anna would have helped make more accurate maps of the world.

The 355-pound payload was propelled aloft at 7:06 a.m. by a Thor-Able-Star rocket. The early portion of flight appeared normal as the 79-foot-tall booster streaked swiftly from sight.

However, the Defense Department announced about 20 minutes later that preliminary telemetry reports indicated that the Anna satellite had failed to go into orbit. The second-stage ignition was not achieved, it said.

The announcement said records of radio signals from the vehicle are being studied to determine the exact cause of the failure.

Moslem Women Killed by OAS

Nine Females Murdered in Algerian Streets as Death Toll Mounts

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Secret Army terrorists lashed out at Moslem women on the streets of Oran and Algiers today, killing nine of them by noon.

The toll of European Secret Army gunmen in the two cities stood at midday at 27 persons killed and 17 injured. With the exceptions of one European killed and another injured, all the victims were Moslems.

★ ★ ★

A Secret Army commando swept up five young Moslems in Oran who were on their way to an examination for jobs in the Algerian Railway System. There was no immediate word on their fate.

ISUES NEW ORDER

Oran's prefect of police issued an order forbidding vehicles occupied by Europeans from driving in streets leading to the city's Moslem neighborhoods.

He coupled this with advice to the Moslems to remain away from the European neighborhoods for the time being.

The killings of the Moslem women were clearly in reprisal for the death of a young European woman yesterday. Europeans said she was shot by a Moslem disguised as a woman in robe and veil.

One by one, the European terrorists shot down Moslem women as they shuffled fearfully along the streets of Algeria's second city.

After the quick series of attacks, several hundred Moslems tried to enter the European quarter to vent their anger. French police and troops were hurried to the scene and dispersed the crowd. No casualties were reported.

Riot police and troops also moved in and sealed off the area where the women were shot.

WARNING UNHEEDED

The terrorists paid no heed to a broadcast warning from Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda of the Algerian provisional government that they risk their future in the country if they keep up their attacks on the Moslem population.

Moslem women were targets again in Algiers. A gunman killed one Moslem scrubwoman

His Opinion of Businessmen

JFK Explains Quote From Dad

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy drew laughter from newsmen as he fielded a question about a quote attributed to him that "my father always told me that all businessmen were sons of bitches, but I never believed it till now."

Here's the exchange between a newsman and the President at Wednesday's news conference on the quote, published April 23 by the New York Times:

"Mr. President, at the time of your controversy with the steel industry, you were quoted as making a rather harsh statement about businessmen. I am sure you know which statement I have in mind."

"Yes. You would not want to identify it, would you?"

"Would you tell us about it, Mr. President?"

"Would I want to comment on it?"

"Yes."

QUOTES FATHER

"Oh, well, the statement which I have seen repeated as it was repeated in one daily paper, is inaccurate. It quotes my father as having expressed himself strongly to me, and that in this I quoted what he said, and indicated that he had not been, as he had not been on many other occasions, wholly wrong.

* * *

"Now, the only thing wrong with the statement was that as it appeared in the daily paper it indicated that he was critical of the business community—I think the phrase was 'all businessmen.' That is obviously in error, because he was a businessman himself. He was critical of the steel men, and he'd worked for a steel company himself, and he was involved when he was a member of the Roosevelt administration in the 1937 strike, and he formed an opinion which he imparted to me, and which I found appropriate that evening. But he confined it, and I would confine it.

* * *

"Obviously these generalizations are inaccurate and unfair, and he has been a businessman, and the business system has been very generous to him. But I felt at that time that we had not been treated altogether with frankness, and therefore I thought that his view had merit. But that is past. That's past. Now we are working together, I hope."

APPOINTED IN 1937

What part the father, Joseph P. Kennedy, played in the steel crisis of 1937 is not clear. He was an intimate of President Roosevelt, who appointed him in that year to be ambassador to London.

* * *

Ambassador Kennedy, however, was close to both Myron C. Taylor, then head of U.S. Steel, and to John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers and of the Committee of Industrial Organization, predecessor of the Congress of Industrial Organizations—CIO.

County's Joe Haas Dies

worked with Dan & Bradstreet briefly but returned to his first love, newspapers, when he joined the staff of the Pontiac Press in 1944.

SERVICE TO OTHERS

Service to others was a way of life for Joe Haas, and he spent a good share of his leisure time working for his community. He was village and township clerk at Holly from 1898 to 1902, and later a member and president of the Holly Board of Education.

Another service to his community was his work as a member of the Oakland County Selective Service Board through World War II, the Korean action and in later years.

He was also president of the Holly Chamber of Commerce, and active in the Michigan Press Association for more than 50 years. He was a vice president and chairman of the board of directors of the MPA.

Joe was an active Boy Scout leader for many years, and faithfully attended every National Jamboree, regardless of where it was held. For his outstanding service to scouting, he received the Silver Beaver award. For many years he was a member of the executive board of the Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts.

* * *

Another organization he served was the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium. He had served on the board of trustees since 1945, and was a past president of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Association.

WITH PRESS IN 1940

After taking over the column on the editorial page of The Press in 1944, Joe covered every national political convention. He came to know all the leading national politicians on a first-name basis, and his knowing comments from the convention press box often presaged future developments in the nomination struggles.

Vitally interested in the history of Oakland County, for many years he wrote the annual foreword to the official Oakland County Directory.

At a 1959 meeting he was officially named Oakland County Historian by unanimous vote of the county board of supervisors.

He was a member of the Oakland County Historical Foundation, the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, and the Pontiac City Club.

OVER 6,000 TULIPS

Travel and flowers were his two chief hobbies. He had visited all the national parks, Hawaii, Alaska, South America and Bermuda, in addition to every state in the Union.

Around his own small house at 201 Grant St., he had more than 6,000 tulips each year. At his invitation through his column, thousands drove to his home each year to see the display, and take home a few of the blooms.

This wasn't the only time the public found its way to the Grant Street residence, however. Each year Joe had the most decorated Christmas tree in the county, featuring some 1,500 lights which drew crowds from the entire area.

In 1939 the Detroit chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, honored Joe as the dean of working newspapermen in Michigan.

When Pontiac was preparing for its centennial last year, and The Press began to work on a voluminous edition, Joe pitched in with the vigor of a high school student.

* * *

From his keen memory of Oakland County history came the background for many of the articles, and he authored another score himself.

* * *

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Roy Smith of South Haven and Mrs. Edna Hearns of Detroit.

$126,128 Budget Passed by Sylvan Lake Council

Sylvan Lake City Council last night passed a $126,128 budget for 1962-63 without a tax increase which had been asked by the city manager. The budget is below the current budget of $127,725.

Ten residents present at a public hearing preceding adoption were given three copies of the budget which had been worked out by councilmen at four unannounced special meetings. None of the residents registered an objection.

Present and voting yes were Mayor Richard Jarvis and councilman Frank J. Dickie and John M. Dawson and appointed councilman Clement F. Cleveland. Councilman Edwin F. Clark was absent.

The budget avoids a 2.2-mill tax increase which had been recommended by City Manager LeRoy Trafton. The council avoided the tax hike, partly by not budgeting an equipment replacement fund which is required by the city charter. The second is a so-called "local improvement revolving fund" which was established by a 1958 council resolution but never funded.

REQUESTED $3,500

Trafton had requested $2,500 for replacement and $1,000 for the improvement fund.

Also lopped off was $3,000 proposed by Trafton to enable the city employes to join the Michigan Municipal Employes Retirement System.

One of Trafton's items which did pass was the setting aside of $5,000 for a city revaluation program.

* * *

The budget breakdown is as follows:

Legislative and administrative—$36,949 (current year: $28,485); Police and Fire: $38,214 (current year: $37,561); Judicial — $1,340 (current year: $1,600); Public Works: $49,625 (current year: $63,735).

Ask Water Board for 'Big' Sewers

Overtures have been made to the Detroit Water Board to consider paying for enlargement of the proposed Dequindre and Troy interceptor sewers and thus save Oakland County $2.4 million.

Oakland County Public Works Director R. J. Alexander told the County Planning Commission yesterday that he has asked the Detroit Water Board to consider spending $2,926,000 toward the two projects "as an investment in the county's future."

Spending the money now to increase the capacity of the two pipelines to Detroit would result in a savings when a sewage system inevitably will be required further north, he explained.

Otherwise, the cost of building an additional pipeline to serve the northerly Clinton River Basin separately would rise approximately $2.4 million, Alexander said.

The savings would be realized by extending the Dequindre and Troy lines, rather than constructing a third line parallel down the east side of the county to Detroit, he added.

As originally planned, the Dequindre and Troy lines would not be big enough to handle the additional flow later on.

Twelve southeastern communities are paying the cost of the two pipelines to go under construction within 30 days. Alexander said he hopes to have an answer from Detroit authorities in time to change the dimensions.

TO BE PAID BACK

As proposed by Alexander, the Detroit Water Board would own the additional capacity of the two lines. It would be paid back plus interest by the benefiting government units to the north when they are added.

The added cost to these units still would be cheaper than their paying for a separate pipe line, Alexander said.

He had asked the County Board of Supervisors for additional money to enlarge the Dequindre and Troy lines but was turned down. The board had been advised that the county could not legally enter into financing the added cost.

ALL WILL CONNECT

All of Oakland County's sewers eventually will connect into the Detroit sewage system for treatment.

This method is cheaper than what it would cost the county to build its own treatment plants by several million dollars, according to the DPW director.

Oakland County users pay 32½ cents per thousand cubic feet of water supplied by Detroit for all purposes including sewage.

* * *

Alexander estimated that Clinton Valley users will pay 42½ cents to cover the added cost of paying back Detroit for its investment, if it goes ahead at this time.

Friday Editions Slated as Union Settles Its Picket Lines

DETROIT (UPI) — Editors of the Detroit Free Press and the Detroit News made plans today for regular Friday editions as their labor troubles appeared at an end.

* * *

The four-week old dispute which shut down both the morning Free Press and the afternoon News appeared settled on the surface when members of the Paper and Plate Handlers Union voted early today to withdraw pickets at the News and return to work there. The union had not picketed the Free Press.

The paper handlers made it clear, however, that their vote to return to their jobs today did not mean they had settled their differences with the News.

The paper handlers set up picket lines around the News Sunday night, claiming the had been locked out during a Teamsters Union dispute with the Free Press April 16-19.

WELCOMES VOTE

Robert C. Butz, executive secretary of the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Association, welcomed the paper handlers vote and said the papers hoped to publish Friday editions on schedule.

* * *

That would mean that Detroit's first newspaper since April 11 would be on the streets tonight with the Free Press' first Friday edition.

Seek Wyandotte Man in Gunshot Slaying

TRENTON (AP) — A 30-year-old Wyandotte man was sought on a first-degree murder warrant today in the gunshot slaying of a private security guard whose body was found in a nearby ditch.

Named in the warrant was Arthur Skidmore. The Wyandotte man and his wife Betty, 24, were the object of a multistate search across the Midwest and Southwest.

Skidmore is sought in the death of 22-year-old Richard J. Sobell. Sobell's body was found in a water-filled ditch yesterday. The youth had been shot in the head and his hands were bound behind his back with handcuffs.

The Day in Birmingham

Bloomfield Hills Chiefs Slate Hearings on Budget

BIRMINGHAM—A May 29 public hearing was scheduled by the Bloomfield Hills City Commission last night after receiving the proposed 1962-63 budget.

* * *

The current tax rate of $26.80 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation will remain the same if the tentative $426,000 budget is approved, according to City Clerk Robert J. Stadler.

The proposed budget is approximately $55,000 higher than the one adopted for the 1961-62 fiscal year but there will be no need for a tax hike because the city's valuation has increased, he explained.

The increase is due to a general increase in operating expenses, a 7½ per cent pay raise for city employes, and additional road maintenance and construction, Stadler said.

MORE MAINTENANCE

There will be more road maintenance and construction because of the newer construction project currently under way and expected to be completed by midsummer, the clerk added.

These sections of the major project already have been completed by two contractors and are in the process of being cleaned up.

Applications are now being accepted for the fall term of the First Methodist Church of Birmingham nursery school. Children must be 3 years of age before Dec. 1.

An open house will be held at the nursery school on Tuesday from 1 to 3 p.m.

Three other sections, mostly on the east side of Woodward Avenue, are under construction now by the contracting firm of Ray D. Baker of Detroit.

* * *

Stadler said that a number of residents already have hooked into the Evergreen Interceptor.

The sewer project is costing residents $6.62 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation. The rate is included in the total tax levy of $26.80.

The public hearing will be held at the City Hall at 5 p.m.

Special questions designed to provide information on the number of persons who have more than one job will be asked in this month's current population survey.

The information will be collected locally by Patricia A. Gray of 292 W. Lincoln Road and Mary E. Heck of 30545 Birchway Drive, according to the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce.

GEORGE LENNOX

Seeks Dem Nod for 18th District Congress Race

George Lennox is going to try again.

The Royal Oak Democrat, who failed to win his party's nomination for Congress in 1960, announced he will seek the same bid in this year's primary.

Lennox will be opposed by Birmingham attorney George Fulkerson, who announced his candidacy two weeks ago.

Owner of a Hazel Park tool supply company, Lennox, 34, is chairman of the Royal Oak Democratic Club. He is a graduate of Hazel Park High School and Alma College, where he studied economics and speech.

Lennox, his wife and five children live at 222 Royal Ave.

Chairman Edward Cheyz, White Lake.

Also, Frank Webber, Addison; Louis Oldenburg, Highland; Thomas Tilcy, Commerce; J. Wesley Duncan, Rose; John Carey, Springfield; Seeley Taaman, Holly; Arno Hulet, Bloomfield; and Cyril Miller, Avon.

Waterford Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson, unable to attend the meeting, said later he also would present the proposed uniform ordinance to his township board.

Milk Carton, Sewage Plant

Win Regional 'Week' Awards

A milk carton and a former sewage disposal plant in Birmingham — simple as they may sound — were singled out for praise today as Michigan Week awards were announced for Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties.

The milk carton, called "Pure-Pak" and developed by Ex-Cell-O Corp. at a cost of $40 million, was named the outstanding product in the tricounty area.

The winners were announced by Charles F. Adams, Michigan Week regional chairman, who is executive vice president of MacManus, John & Adams advertising agency.

Adams said the outstanding product was chosen for its newness, uniqueness and economic significance.

The plastic-coated "Pure-Pak," he said, "is rapidly displacing the familiar glass milk bottle and the wax container here and abroad."

Bloomfield Art Association was praised by the three-man selection committee for "its considerable contribution to the cultural development of the rapidly expanding Bloomfield-Birmingham area."

"It took a lot of hard work," Adams noted, "and the dedicated support of hundreds of art lovers to raise the funds necessary to convert a dilapidated former sewage disposal plant into an attractive art center serving the entire community."

"Pure-Pak" and the art group will be entered as finalists in their categories against 14 other regional winners in Michigan Week competition May 14.

Celebration of Michigan Week will be May 20 to 26.

AF Picks Firm to Build Booster for Dyna Soar

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force yesterday announced selection of a California company to develop the solid-fueled rockets that will be used in the "work horse" space booster for the manned Dyna Soar spacecraft.

United Technology Corp., Sunnyvale, Calif., and the Air Force will begin immediate negotiations for development of the solid propellant.

But a contract will not be awarded until a development program has been approved by the Defense Department, an announcement said.

★ ★ ★

The solid rockets will be used with the Titan III missile for a "wide range of both manned and unmanned space missions during this decade," the Pentagon announcement said.

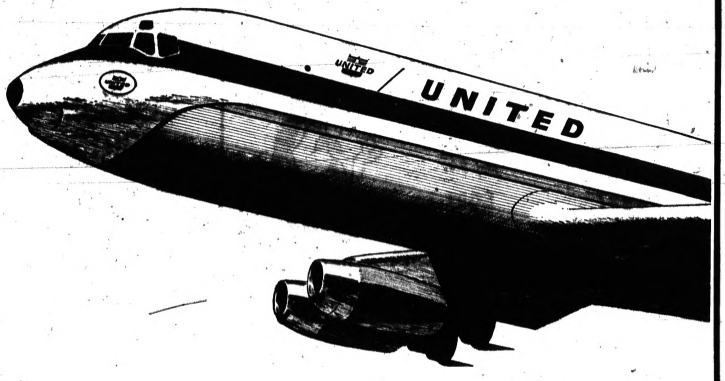

Man Killed in Attempt to Save Dog From Train

CHICAGO (UPI) — A man was killed yesterday in a futile attempt to prevent his dog from being hit by a train.

He was James De Michele, 65, who was hit by a Milwaukee Road suburban train as he tried to lead his 8-year-old great dane from the tracks at Neva Avenue, on the Northwest Side. The dog also was killed.

More Men Wear Bond Clothes Than Any Others

Bond's slogan — "More men wear Bond Clothes than any other clothes in America" — is well known throughout the United States.

Rochester is the American center for the most skilled tailors in the menswear industry and is the home of America's finest clothing for men. Bond Clothes have been tailored there for three decades.

Careful supervision of every aspect of design and production of clothing in the Bond factories—plus Bond's tremendous buying power in the fabric field—enable Bond's to effect important savings, which the nation-wide firm passes on to their customers.

Bond's Tailors 240 Different Sizes & Shapes

With over 50 years of experience in the menswear field, Bond's believes in fitting men correctly with a minimum of alterations.

In order to do this, Bond's tailors 240 different sizes and shapes of men's clothing, and carries tremendous stocks of suits, sports coats, slacks and outercoats in the Bond stores.

It takes real know-how on the part of salesmen, fitters and tailors—plus hundreds of different sizes and shapes to fit each customer correctly. Personnel of the Bond stores are carefully trained and experienced in fitting their customers—and Bond carries vast selections of sizes and shapes of apparel to do an outstanding job of fitting Bond customers.

Bond Clothes Famous for 2-Trouser Suits

Bond's success with two-trouser suits has made the name Bond's and two-trouser suits almost synonymous.

In fact, from coast to coast, among well dressed men who appreciate value, Bond's is recognized as the specialist in two-trouser suits.

Bond's offers two-trouser suits at prices usually charged by other clothiers for a one-trouser suit.

The advantages of the two-trouser suit — longer wear with constantly fresher, better appearance — are especially valuable in the warm weather months, giving special popularity to Bond's handsome two-trouser tropical suits. (One pair of trousers works while the other pair rests—this saves pressing.) Bond summer suits are available now in the new Bond showplace in Pontiac Mall Shopping Center and all Bond stores from coast to coast.

132 Bond Stores Coast to Coast

The new Bond apparel center at Pontiac Mall Shopping Center is the fourth of 15 new Bond stores to be opened this year, it was announced by Ellis H. Schechtman, president.

With the new stores, there will be 132 Bond apparel showplaces located in principal cities and shopping areas throughout the United States by the end of this year.

More stores—more business—enables Bond's to consistently deliver more for the customer's money in fine pedigreed fabrics and top-rated hand-detailed tailoring, all at prices equalled by no other clothier for such superior quality.

Bond Clothes Charge Cards Speed Service

Bond's offers three types of charge accounts, tailored to suit most budgets: 30-day charge, 90-day charge or the popular 6-month "Revolving Charge."

Customers may request a Bond charge account by mail or in person.

Many Problems Behind Building New Factories

Practically all of the economists in this country and a great many businessmen point out that we have growing pains. They emphasize that the economic growth this country is sure to experience in the next few years cannot be accomplished by fuller use of the factories and facilities we have.

Countless new plants will be needed. One might ask: "So, what's stopping us? Let's build them." Unfortunately, it isn't quite that simple. First, there is the matter of money to build the plants and then the question of where to put them.

A lot of businessmen today are leery. They don't understand the government's position toward business. They cannot risk large capital expenditures unless they are assured of a friendly over-all business climate.

Locating factories today is not an easy job. It is a mighty big problem because some areas and states have shown an apparent disdain for business by increasing business taxes.

Good industrial sites are getting harder to find. The trend today, according to real estate men, is for more space per plant. This is the age of large one-story sprawling plants with huge parking lots.

There is nothing automatic about economic growth. Businessmen must first feel that their government wants them to continue to grow and prosper. Further, they must have a feeling of being wanted by an area or state.

Here's Chance to Learn More About Hospitals

A visit to a hospital is usually made reluctantly and with some anxiety. During National Hospital Week, however, there's a chance to step over the threshold without fear of a needle in the arm or a bill at the end of the month.

Both Pontiac General and St. Joseph Mercy hospitals are observing this week with open houses and exhibits. Pontiac Osteopathic will hold an open house upon its completion this fall.

It's a chance to see the changes in hospitals that have been made in recent years, and to meet some of the people who have made helping the sick a career.

★ ★ ★

Too often the vital role of the medical care facility is overlooked by citizens until a personal need is felt. National Hospital Week gives everyone a chance to view the institution vertically instead of horizontally.

Claims Commission Should Pay War Debt

Congressman WILLIAM S. BROOMfield spoke recently in the House of Representatives in support of House Bill HR 8617, the Philippine war claims bill.

Back in 1946 we passed the Philippine Rehabilitation Act whereby we agreed to pay the damage done by our planes, ships and troops in the reoccupation of the islands.

We have already paid $389 million on the claims, but still owe $73 million.

★ ★ ★

Actually, the agreement was not between the Philippine Government and the United States. Our government in 1946 established a War Claims Commission to evaluate the damage and to pay back to the people the just awards the commission agreed on.

The commission was an agency of the United States Government.

It did, however, have one Philippine serving on it. Individuals and corporations were invited to submit claims for payment.

The Philippine citizens were told to go ahead and repair the war damage immediately, that restitution would be paid in full. Nothing was said to the effect that the bills would be met on a partial basis.

Now some 16 years later some of this debt apparently is still unpaid. Possibly the commission has a just reason why it has delayed payment.

If the claims are honest, we reason, why should we not honor our just debts? Often in the past we have criticized others for not paying creditors.

We should show the world we stand ready to honor our commitments and fulfill our obligations.

The Man About Town

'Tis Blossom Time

Trees and Wildflowers in Pontiac Area Ready

(Editor's Note—Today's and Friday's will be the last "Man About Town" column contributed by Joe Haas. He worked almost up to the end — and loved it — although the past week he confessed he was "a little under the weather." An editorial on him appears tomorrow.)

By JOE HAAS

This weekend and during the coming week now appear to be the best time to take a drive into the country in this section, to see the spring blossom display. The pinks and whites of the fruit trees are bursting from their buds in a prolific manner, which indicates a good crop.

A drive among the orchards over Farmington and Walled Lake way is suggested. While, in a large measure, our fruit trees have been driven out by our explosive population gain, there still is plenty to see.

The trilliums and other spring wildflowers also now are beckoning you from every woods and hedgerow. Please remember that these are for exhibition only, as it is unlawful to pick wildflowers.

The best news on television, according to a phone call from

of Keego Harbor, is that "87th Precinct" is to be discontinued in a few weeks, and she wonders why wait that long?

The Old Farmer's Almanac says for this week in the Pontiac area:

"Only a mule likes it this cool."

Everybody will be in full agreement with

of Drayton Plains, who phones that while spring may have made some detours, it surely has been making up for lost time, and the leaves broke all records in bursting into glory.

There's surely something screwy in the national publicity about the impossibility of breeding a black tulip. Many Pontiac area devotees of the flower that heralds the glad season, the most diligent of which is of Waterford, have been raising them for many years. If they aren't black, neither are tar, soot, asphalt or muck.

"Mother About June 15,"

Here's a Reminder— Be Kind to Animals

Following is an excerpt from an article in the National Humane Review Bulletin, published by the American Humane Society:

"Abandonment of animals is particularly heinous. Thousands are tossed to fate with little compunction on the part of those humans to whom their lives have been entrusted. Animal abandonment is a strange result of the human belief that once a subject is out of sight, it doesn't really matter what happens to it.

"Remind neighbors and friends that abandonment of animals is cruel. Pets which owners must give up should be taken to an animal shelter."

Be kind to those which cannot help themselves.

Two few members of the legislature have analyzed the huge budget proposed by Governor Swainson. Sen. His conservative estimate details a potential savings of $130 million.

If the governor and legislators have the interest of the taxpayers at heart and the courage to fight the tax-hungry local politicians and make a serious effort to eliminate, say, 60 per cent of Sen. Francis' proposed savings, there would be no need for added taxes.

Claims Sales Tax Varies in Stores

I wish someone had an answer to the sales tax. In Michigan we pay 4 cents but why does the tax start at different prices? In the store where I work 13 cents to 37 cents is 1 cent; 38 cents to 63 cents is 2 cents; 63 cents to 87 cents is 3 cents; and 88 cents to $1.12 is 4 cents. At one dime store 13 cents to 34 cents is one cent and 34 cents to 59 cents is 2 cents.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Thursday, May 10, the 130th day of the year with 235 to follow in 1962. This is confederate Memorial Day, a legal holiday in North and South Carolina.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1865, Jefferson Davis, confederate president, was captured and arrested as he was fleeing from Irwinville, Ga.

In 1940, 89 divisions of the German army, moving by land, air and water, led a surprise invasion of Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

In 1960, the nuclear-powered submarine Triton surfaced off the coast of Delaware after an 84-day world trip.

A thought for the day: American lawer Robert Ingersoll said: "In nature there are neither rewards nor punishments...there are consequences."

David Lawrence Says:

JFK's Real Pals Point Out Errors

WASHINGTON — Who are the real friends of President Kennedy? Are they the people who resent criticism of his policies and want it suppressed, or are they the critics who point out errors while there is still time for the President to correct them before he faces an election in which the voters render their verdict?

LAWRENCE

Letters from a small minority of readers sometimes indicate a closed mind—an unwillingness to examine criticism they dislike and a tendency to consider it as somehow personally unfriendly to the official who is criticized.

It so happens that this correspondent, for example, has always regarded John F. Kennedy as a man of engaging personality. But the liking that a newspaper writer has for a president should have nothing to do with the serious business of pointing out errors in public policy.

The responsibility of a writer is very much the same as the responsibility of a person who holds office. The people are not interested in one's personal preferences but in the truth about governmental actions and policies.

Public officials pay far more heed to criticism that comes from conscientious critics than they do to the plaudits that come from sycophantic friends and worshiping supporters.

THE 'OTHER SIDE'

Democracy can function best when the electorate is adequately informed. These are days when highly effective use is made of television, radio and the press to present the Administration's side on public questions. But what of the "other side?"

Thus, for instance, at yesterday's press conference on television and radio, the reporters didn't take up the following statement by the President concerning the withholding tax now being proposed on interest and dividends. He said the charges being made against the bill were "not true." He then added:

"The only ones affected will be those individuals who are not now paying the taxes they owe on this income, either through neglect or for some other reason."

But Mr. Kennedy evidently has not himself read the statement appearing in the newspapers the other day quoting the commissioner of internal revenue as saying it is estimated that more than $200 million will be "over-withheld," and that these taxpayers would have to apply for quarterly refunds.

The President said not a word about the loss of interest to the taxpayer on the amounts the government takes away from him this way for at least a quarter of a year."

Nor did Mr. Kennedy mention the plight of the taxpayer who wouldn't be permitted to file a claim for exemption in advance, as he would owe a certain part of the amount withheld but not all of it. He would be compelled to wait for the return of his money.

How, therefore, can the voters get the whole story on controversial issues?

Voters are, in the last analysis, fair-minded. They want to know the real impact of national and international policies on their own lives and on the future of their children.

It may be popular for a President to cry out against a rise in prices, but governmental interference can bring on a recession if it caus s the economic system to become stagnant and the profit system to disintegrate.

Recollection of the breakdown in 1929, which was due to a failure of the national economy to adjust to the consequences of World War I, may have become dimmed in the minds of many people who think the law of supply and demand can be brushed aside and the government can solve everything.

Dr. William Brady Reports:

Saliva's Healing Power Discussed, Questioned

"Years ago, I read somewhere—could it have been in your column?—that the saliva has some curative power. How else to explain why mouth wounds of every type and severity heal beautifully—the more they are neglected the better they heal? And why does a dog instinctively lick his wounds, as do most animals?

BRADY

"In practice we see about three full upper plates opposing natural lower dentition to each full upper and lower. The lowers are constantly bathed in saliva. The uppers are not.

"A relative of mine, aged 62, inveterate tobacco chewer, has only one filling in his mouth and that was due to his trying to crack a beef bone. I have never seen tobacco chewers with poor teeth. Please comment." (——, D.D.S.)

Nothing I can say would be as interesting and thought-provoking as what you say, doctor.

The suggestion that the saliva may account for the better preservation of the lower teeth is new to me — but a dentist's observation and opinion would be better than mine.

I am painfully aware that dentists do not love me very well, but I hope they will give us their views about tobacco chewing and the teeth.

FOUND THE TEETH

That book by the dentist, describing his experience in Deaf Smith county in northwestern Texas (the author's name eludes me and the book is lost somewhere in my library), impressed me greatly, particularly the description of the dentist's two-day project getting down to the teeth of a tobacco-chewing character from out on the range who had never visited a dentist before. When the job was finished the dentist found a full set of perfect teeth. How shall we explain it?

★ ★ ★

Was it because this character (1) Never brushed his teeth? (2) Was never without a cheek-ful? (3) Lived on Hereford grown food?

Please understand—I do not suggest or condone tobacco chewing. Whether he spits or not, the tobacco chewer should be isolated from even casual contact with human beings.

I'm just inviting comment by dentists. Comments by others are scarcely worth the paper they're written on.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Many Women Crave the Spotlight

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE M-410: Jane J., aged 34, is the mother of three children.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," her brother protested, "Jane is the very opposite of everything a mother should be. She gets drunk. And then she flaunts her unfaithfulness even before her own children.

"For she will actually entertain her playboy lovers right there in her own home. Her children range from 7 to 12, so they are aware of her misconduct.

"Her husband is a minor executive in a factory, but she bosses him around and he takes it, probably because he is devoted to the kids.

"Jane got elected president of a statewide organization where she was called upon to preside in formal clothes and be somewhat of a spotlighted actress.

"It must have gone to her head, for she now acts as if she is intoxicated with the desire for headlines.

DOPE ADDICTS

Yes, for all the dope addicts are not opium eaters.

Many women develop an intense craving for the spotlight. This may start with their winning a high school beauty contest.

From then onward they think they will rate the bigtime in Hollywood so they primp and affect stage behavior.

Meanwhile, they keep complete scrapbooks of every printed story or picture in which they participate.

This craving for publicity can become a mania. They may properly be regarded as just as much an addict of headlines as any dope addict is chained to his drug injections.

Many of these women may stay single, for they become so jealous of their own figures that they will not marry, or if they do, they refuse to alter their figures for pregnancy.

Many of them will consent to affairs if by so doing they think they can lift themselves a notch higher in the social and stage limelight.

In their wrinkled old age, they even swish their skirts and still try to be cutey. Like Jezebel, they paint their faces and lips even into the grandmother age brackets as a bid for attention.

And they hoard all their press clippings, maybe dating back for 50 years. They re-read these as a tonic for a withered, selfish soul.

MOTHERS DAY

Mothers Day was established to laud the GOOD mothers, but we psychologists and marriage counselors realize all too well that there are actually thousands of bad mothers.

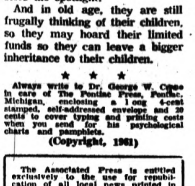

Jane is obviously so interested in her own selfish desires that she ignores the proper role of a good mother.

They do not smoke or drink or flaunt unfaithfulness before those youngsters. They even efface themselves to give their youngsters the spotlight.

And in old age, they are still frugally thinking of their children, so they may hoard their limited funds so they can leave a bigger inheritance to their children.

Gas Tank Explodes Killing Milan Man

Milan (AP) — One man was killed and another injured yesterday when a 1,000-gallon gasoline tank blew up while being repaired.

The victim was James Pickett, 22, of Milan, a gas station attendant who was using a welding torch to repair holes in the tank at the Thompson Fuel Co. here. The blast hurled him 33 feet.

Seriously injured was Jack Thompson, 44, of Milan, the son of the company owner. He was hospitalized at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Washtenaw County sheriff's deputies said Pickett and Thompson were standing atop the steel tank when a spark from the welding torch apparently set off a pocket of gasoline fumes in the tank.

Mexico is the world's largest silver producer, contributing 23 per cent of the total output. Her 1959 production was 43,300,000 troy ounces, with 15,800,000 going to the United States.

Nuisance Taxes Groomed for Showdown

LANSING (AP) — A $69-million "nuisance" tax package, the answer to House Republicans to Michigan's financial needs, is being groomed for a showdown vote next week.

"Search your souls over the weekend and come back next week prepared to make some hard decisions," Rep. Allison Green, R-Kingston, GOP floor leader, told House members yesterday.

Democratic leaders, still pushing for an income tax, said Republicans would have a tough time putting the package through the house, let alone the Senate.

"We are standing firm against any nuisance taxes," said Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, Democratic floor leader. Other Democrats, however, predicted a few of their number would break ranks in a move to close out the 1962 legislative session before June.

Legislative rules call for "sine Die," or final adjournment of the legislature May 18, but there is virtually no chance of meeting the deadline. Moves have started in both houses to extend the session for possibly three weeks more, although there's a possibility it may stretch into late June.

RELEASES PACKAGE

At the direction of the Republican caucus, the House Taxation Committee released the five-bill, $69-million nuisance tax package yesterday.

The program, readied for debate today, would raise $34 million a year by adding two cents a bottle to the beer tax and $20 million by hiking the cigarette tax from a nickle to seven cents a package. A 4 per cent excise tax on liquor and a 4 per cent use tax on telephone and telegraph service, both part of a $50 million nuisance tax package that expired last June 30, would bring in another $15 million.

"This approach to solving Michigan's financial problems is totally completely wrong," said Rep. Arthur Law, a Democrat and former mayor of Pontiac. "I will never vote for it."

Rep. Fred Olsen, R-Sheridan, is expected to return to Republican ranks next week after hospital treatment for a blood clot. With him, they will be back at full strength of 56, the minimum required to pass a bill.

GOP leaders concede, however, that they can't get unanimous support from their forces for the nuisance taxes and must have several Democratic votes to pass them.

TAX REFORM DEAD

In the Senate, meanwhile, the death knell was sounded for an ambitious tax reform program based on a 3 per cent tax on personal income and a 5 per cent tax on corporation profits.

Over the objections of Democrats and five self-style Republican "moderates," Senate Republicans sent the 13-bill package back to the tax committee for final burial.

The income tax bill, which passed last month after a dramatic all-night session but never made it to the House, was kept out on the Senate floor.

However, a clause in the bill makes it ineffective without the other bills in the tax reform program.

Rep. Alexander Petri, D-Ecorse, introduced a bill to impose a 20 per cent tax on all commercial advertising in newspapers, on radio television broadcasts and other media. He said it would raise at least $60 million a year.

The measure had little chance of winning much support.

Negro Children Tops in Stability

American Whites Next With African Colored Third in Tests

TORONTO (AP)—American Negro children showed better emotional adjustment than American white children in a recent personality test, a research group reported today.

The conclusions of the study, the researchers said, contradicts previous psychological studies that have pictured the American Negro as suffering from a high degree of emotional distress.

A research team from the State University of New York Medical School at Albany reported its findings in a text prepared for presentation at the 118th annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association.

★ ★ ★

The study rated American Negro children first in such things as feelings of adequacy and richness of personality. American white children were rated second and African Negro children third.

The American white did better than the African Negro on all of test scales, but the researchers said: "Within the limitation of the test and the small samples used, the American Negro children tested show a better emotional adjustment."

Dems Working on $10,000 Pay for Secretary

Oakland County Democrats report they have passed the 70 per cent mark in their drive to raise $10,000 for hiring a full-time executive assistant.

County chairman Sander Levin said the primary source of funds is a $100 club set up to receive party members' contributions. All $100 donations to the club are earmarked for the executive assistant fund.

Recent members of the club, Levin said, are state Auditor Gen. Billie S. Farnum and Deputy Secretary of State Frank Sierawski.

Levin said when the fund reaches $9,000 he will start screening applicants for the new post.

Party plans call for the full $10,000 to cover both salary and expenses.

Plead Innocent in Steel Probe

4 Executives, Four Firms, Trade Assn. Face Antitrust Charges

NEW YORK (AP) — Four steel company executives, four steel companies and a trade association today pleaded innocent to charges of price fixing and bid rigging in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

The four corporations are the Bethlehem Steel Co., United States Steel; Erie Forge and Steel Corp. and Midvale-Heppenstall Co. The association is the Open Die Forging Institute, Inc., of New York City.

When they appeared for pleading before Federal Judge Sidney Sugarman he released the executives on their own recognizance—that is, without having to post any bond.

A fifth executive involved in the case, Homer Lackey, president of Erie Forge, was reported by counsel to be recuperating after an operation and his pleading was adjourned until May 28.

Judge Sugarman announced that he would set a date for trial on July 9.

The defendants, indicted by a federal grand jury on April 26, are charged with conspiring at various times between 1948 and 1961 to fix prices and rig bids in sales of steel forgings to the Army, Navy, electrical companies and other purchasers.

Permit Values Off in Waterford

Number of Approvals for Building Up, but Figure Less Than Half

Dollar value of building permits issued in Waterford Township during April fell far below the total for the same month last year when fewer permits were issued.

This year the valuation set for the 138 permits amounted to $837,801 in April. Just 107 permits were issued a year ago in the same month but the valuation totaled $2,443,740.

Permits for three large commercial projects in April, 1961 accounted for the high valuation figure. That total was $1,836,000 compared to only $136,000 for two commercial permits during the past month.

This year's residential permit value for April was $468,430 as compared to $398,500 during the same month a year ago. In each of these monthly periods 29 permits were issued.

★ ★ ★

Total building permit value through the end of April this year is $1,835,709. During the first four months a year ago the valuation was $3,335,091.

Getting Rapid Change

Mr. FBI Ignores Big Fuss on 38th Anniversary in Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover's 38th anniversary as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was widely observed today. But not by Hoover.

"He refuses to treat it different-ly from any other working day," said an FBI spokesman.

No special luncheon, no dinner party, no interviews, said the spokesman.

ORDERS CAKE

As the day dawned, no one was really sure about how and when the cake would be presented to Hoover.

In Baltimore, Mayor J. Harold Grady, a former FBI agent, proclaimed, "J. Edgar Hoover Day." So did Mayors Ivan Allen Jr. in Atlanta and Anthony J. Celebreeze in Cleveland.

USUAL ROUTINE

Govs. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland and Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio also issued proclamations honoring the FBI director.

The FBI spokesman said the director expected to follow his usual routine, which calls for a drive from his northwest Washington home to a point about five blocks from the Justice Department building offices of the FBI, then a brisk walk to the building with Clyde A. Tolson, his longtime friend and FBI associate director.

After working until about noon, the director usually leaves the building for lunch.

Then comes more work in the afternoon until about 6, when he departs for home and two of his favorite sources of relaxation, gardening and his two cairn terriers, Chi-Boy and Tucker.

And if this is like many other days, there may be another report that Hoover's retirement is imminent. Then the report will be emphatically denied, as it often has been by FBI officials or Robert Kennedy himself.

Members elected to the board of directors are William Coulacos, Vera Devor, Alfred Hansen, L. M. Oakley, Olin LaBarge, Curtis Patton, Cletis Mick and Charles Vaughan.

"A maiden voyage" on these vacation cruise ships — according to a stenographer friend of ours —describes most of them: there's never a man aboard . . . GM Division Wins $16-Million Contract

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp.'s AC Spark Plug Division has been awarded a $16-million program for navigation and guidance equipment for the Apollo lunar spacecraft, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced yesterday.

NASA said development work will be done at GM facilities near Boston and production in Milwaukee.

The GM division will negotiate with NASA for production of the inertial platform and associated electronic equipment in the navigation and guidance system. The division will build a group support and checkout system for the program.

The Apollo is being designed to carry three Americans to the moon before 1970.

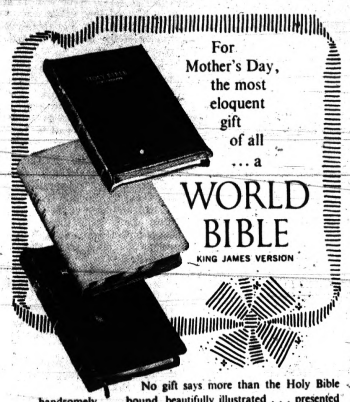

Swainson Reappoints 2 to Children's Commission

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson yesterday reappointed Mrs. Frieda Engblom of Iron Mountain and Dr. Samuel I. Clark of South Haven to the Michigan Crippled Children's Commission.

The appointments are for terms expiring March 29, 1965, and require Senate confirmation.

The governor also named Mrs. Barbara Kowalski of Battle Creek as assistant juvenile officer for Calhoun County.

Stilwell Hurt in Jump at Chute Practice

Stilwell, assistant commander of the 5th Infantry Division, was at this northern New York training camp to direct antiguerrilla warfare training of the 2nd Brigade of Ft. Devens, Mass. An Army spokesman said he apparently had landed off balance.

★ ★ ★

Stilwell is the son of the late Gen. Joseph (Vinegar Joe) Stilwell, who was commander of the China-Burma-India theater during World War II.

N-Sub, Freighter Collide in Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A nuclear-powered U.S. submarine due to be commissioned later this month and a freighter collided in calm seas 30 miles west of here Wednesday night.

Both headed toward San Francisco today.

No injuries were reported.

The collision occurred off the Farallon Islands between the 300-foot Permit and the 468-foot Matson freighter Hawaiian Citizen.

The Permit was launched last July.

House Unit Says Firm Printed Soviet Books

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities said yesterday an American publisher has been paid more than $240,000 by the Soviet embassy for printing nearly three-quarters of a million Soviet books and pamphlet.

The payments were made since September 1959 to Crosscurrents Press, Inc., of 156 Fifth Ave., New York. Its president, Myron E. Sharpe, cited the 5th Amendment more than 100 times in declining about his operations.

Committee Counsel John C. Walsh said "99 per cent of all the pamphlets published by Crosscurrents Press were sold to the Soviet embassy in Washington which has one of these bulk rates for distribution of the material throughout the country."

Rep. August E. Johansen, R-Mich., added that the bulk rate meant a third-class mail privilege "which in effect is subsidized by American taxpayers."

REFUSED TO ANSWER

Sharpe refused to answer all questions asked by the committee, including whether he is a Communist.

The committee counsel produced Justice Department records showing Sharpe's company was registered as a foreign agent.

From reports required under the Foreign Agents Act, the counsel also read into the record statements of how many pamphlets and books were printed by Crosscurrents Press, how they were sent to the Soviet Embassy, and payments for them from the Soviet embassy.

The records showed that 33 pamphlets were published since late 1959, and copies of these totaled 718,300.

★ ★ ★

Congressmen and others have protested lately when smalltown libraries and even churches in their districts received such booklets in the mail, unsolicited.

Reports Unrest Ups Demand for Bibles in Areas

NEW YORK (AP)—Periods of political unrest cause an increase in the demand for Bibles in areas of political tension and revolution, the American Bible Society reported Wednesday night.

"Cuba and Congo are cases in point," the report said.

In Cuba last year the annual distribution increased from 611,993 copies to 906,660, the society said. And in the Congo there was an increase of over 75,000.

Strikes, Shortages, Rebellious Workers

Franco Being Pressured From Both Right and Left

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Generalissimo Francisco Franco always has had trouble with the rebellious workers of northern Spain.

Laws promugated at the start of the Franco regime more than 25 years ago declared strikes illegal and placed them in the same category as military rebellion, subject to the penalties of a military court.

Yet even stern measures failed to subdue the tough dock workers of Bilbao or the Asturian miners who fought Franco in the mountains during the civil war.

Today, a strike touched off by 60,000 Asturian miners has affected steel, heavy machinery and electrical works in Vizcaya and Guipuzcoa provinces in the north and threatens to spread still further.

BLAMES REDS

Barcelona, where strikes also threaten, was a principal republican stronghold during the civil war and has remained a center of underground Communist opposition.

It is natural then that the government should blame the strike on Communists.

A manifesto issued by the Catholic Action Workers Brotherhood declared that Spain's efforts to lift itself economically had placed the heaviest burden on the workers.

"We conceded the need for financial stability," the report said ". . . but we demand that the necessary sacrifices be evenly distributed . . . in many ways the working class is without authentic representation, without means of expression."

In the last seven years, strongly supported by more than a billion dollars in U.S. economic aid, Spain has registered some spectacular gains.

Electric power and coal and steel production have zoomed upward. Fertilizers, cement and consumer goods pour out from old and new factories.

Spanish currency is stable, and in the next year the government plans to double investments in agriculture and to boost industry and public works investments 50 to 25 per cent respectively.

Last summer, about eight million tourists spent around $450 million in Spain.

But much remains to be done. Railroad rolling stock is out of date. There is a shortage of a million houses.

There are fears that government complacency and internal bickering could erase Spain's modest standard of living gains and leave the country far behind its prosperous neighbors in the European Common Market.

Political tolerance seems far in the future.

Mt. Olympus in the northeast part of Washington has up to 250 inches precipitation, mostly snow, each year.

Forest Funds Divided by Law

Swainson Signs Bill Requiring 75 Pct. Go to County School Districts

LANSING (AP) — Monies received by the counties from the National Forest Reserve Fund must be allocated 75 per cent to the county school districts and 25 per cent to the road commission under a bill signed into law yesterday by Gov. Swainson. Previously, counties were able to use their own discretion in dividing the funds.

The measure was among 10 bills, mostly of a minor nature, approved by the governor.

Among other bills signed were ones to:

—Amend the cities home rule act to authorize changing boundaries between adjacent cities when they are affected by the relocation of a river, drain, street or highway.

—Require female dairy or breeding cattle born after Jan. 1, 1963, be vaccinated for brucellosis at ninth months on sale or transfer.

—Increase the fee from 50 cents to $1 for placing or discharging a lien on a vehicle title.

—Amend the school code to allow county school districts to place before the voters the question of a previously approved millage for operating special education programs.

—Authorize boards of supervisors to use an electrical roll call system when recording any votes.

—Provide for the conversion of leasehold interests along a portion of the middle channel of the St. Clair Flats into fee ownership by issuing deeds for property now held by lease.

Most of the clerks are asking the court to delay the Keyes hearing so they can attend the International Institute of City Clerks starting Monday in San Francisco.

Indicted for Fraud in Knitting Machines

DETROIT (AP) — A Royal Oak man was indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on 10 counts of mail fraud in connection with a knitting machine business he operated from March 1957 to May 1959.

Charles Semchena, 41, of 2838 Shenandoah St., is charged with enlisting housewives to make knitted garments for sale on machines sold to them by him.

William H. Merrill, chief U.S. attorney, charged that Semchena sold 550 knitting machines through companies in Saginaw and Flint but actually accepted few of the women to pay for the machines through finance companies.

★ ★ ★

Semchena was to be arraigned later this week before U.S. District Judge Wade H. McCree Jr.

Death of Pontiac Man Ruled Suicide by Police

Probate Judge Moore Asks Cooperation

Proposes Streamlining of County Units

Units of government in Oakland County—all 102 of them — were urged by Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore last night to join hands to improve efficiency and economy.

Moore proposed to the Oakland Citizens' League that these units contribute $200 or $300 each for a planning group to find ways of coordinating governmental services.

Even though he called Oakland County government "probably the best in Michigan," the judge said there is presently no method of coordination of services.

"There are a total of 102 units of government within Oakland County," he said, "all of which are self-managing, absolute in their own right of control, administering their own small segment of the people's government, and with little opportunity of knowing the programs and needs of the other 101 governmental agencies."

Moore included school districts, cities, villages, townships and county government departments among these agencies.

"A cooperative planning agency is most necessary," Moore asserted.

Equally important to his plan, Moore said, is a "vast new group" of Citizens' League members and municipal participation in Civic Research, Inc., a county government and political study group.

The judge proposed that citizens cooperate in a research and study forum, and government agencies "become an authoritative board of directors to operate the study, research and planning involved."

"We must be supreme in efficiency," Moore said.

Complicating problems, Moore noted, are some federal bureaus interspersed in county agencies which he called "Santa Claus" bureaus.

"They spend our money," he said, "while the people think it comes from the federal government."

Moore declared a "home rule" provision in the new state constitution would help modernize and lead efficiency to county government.

A voluntary substitute for home rule, he said, is cooperative planning as he proposed.

'PLANNING IMPORTANT'

"The problem of (county) study, research and planning is so important," Moore said, "that it must either be done by cooperative action . . . or it must be done by one governmental agency acting alone for all."

More than 100 county officials were invited to attend but only a few were in the audience. Officials blamed lateness in extending invitations.

Florida Is Preparing Fire Ants' Last Meal

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Fire ants in north and west Florida may soon eat a last meal of Southern grits.

State Plant Inspector William Cowperthwaite said the meal, to be served by aircraft and ground equipment, will include grits, soy bean oil and a poisonous chemical.

He said fire ants are attracted to the deadly meal by the soy bean oil and feed the preparation to their queens and larvae. The state is aiding farmers in an intensive eradication campaign against the destructive pests.

Strikebreaker Bill Signed by Swainson

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson has signed into law a bill making it a misdemeanor to hire professional strikebreakers.

The bill, signed yesterday, also makes it a crime to "customarily and repeatedly" offer oneself to take the place of employes affected by a strike or lockout. Employers also are forbidden to hire anyone not aware that a strike or lockout is in existence and employment agencies are forbidden to refer workers to an employer without notifying the prospective employe that such a condition exists.

The International Typographical Union promoted the measure. The Michigan Press Association neither supported nor opposed it.

School Issue Passes

FLINT (AP)—Beecher School district voters on Flint's North Side approved a two-mill operating levy for two years Tuesday. The issue passed 294 to 140.

'Marriage Tough Proposition'

In No Hurry to Marry Ekberg

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "Marriage is a serious business. You've got to work hard at it. That's why we're not going to be rushed into anything."

★ ★ ★

This was Australian actor Rod Taylor speaking about his engagement to his Swedish flame Anita Ekberg. Reports circulated last week that they would be wed on the weekend.

THOMAS

"Yes, I know there are people who are eager for us to get married," said the actor. "But we aren't going to do it just to bear out the rumors. We'll marry when we are good and ready.

"Marriage is a tough enough proposition without starting out with extra handicaps. We have certain things to work out."

FILM INTERFERES

For one thing, Taylor is still enmeshed in battling "The Birds," Alfred Hitchcock's new horror film about a future battle of man vs. bird. When I saw the actor on the movie set, he was bandaged and bloody from an encounter with a sea gull.

"I'll be tied up in the picture for at least until next month, maybe longer, the way things are going; these birds are tough to work with," said Taylor. "It wouldn't make much sense to get married until I am through."

What problems remain to be worked out?

"Career problems," he explained. "Anita's career is in Italy, mine is here. I don't blame her for liking to work over there. Hollywood treated her pretty shabbily; in Italy she is a real star and is treated like one.

"But I am just old-fashioned enough to believe that the husband should be the boss of a family. I have no intention of going to Rome and hanging around the set while she makes a movie."

How does Anita feel about all this?

"She understands," Taylor said, adding with a smile, "she is a good, healthy Swedish peasant type. She says she wants the home and children and the whole bit."

As proof of this, she passed up a chance to do another film with Federico Fellini which was to start this week. He is the Italian master who directed her in "La Dolce Vita" and "Boccaccio 70."

"Since I was tied up in the Hitchcock picture, I suggested she go back to Rome and do the picture," Taylor said. "She said she didn't want to leave."

Opening of Bhutan Road Delayed Until Next Year

NEW DELHI (AP) — The first road linking India with the hermit kingdom of Bhutan will be opened formally in early 1963 because 1962 is a "black year," according to the Bhutanese calendar, the foreign ministry said Tuesday.

4 County Officials to See 'Jacktown'

Four Oakland County public officials will sit in on a sneak preview Friday of a Hollywood movie they helped produce here last summer.

Prosecutor George Taylor and three Royal Oak men—Municipal Judge Keith Leenhouts, City Personnel Director M. E. Leske and Jim Maley of the police department—have received special invitations to attend the preview of "Jacktown" at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Michigan Bell Persuaded to Seek Troy Switch Now

TROY — City commissioners, unhappy with the reluctance of Michigan Bell Telephone Co.'s consent to seek state approval for a switch of the city's 498 Ulysses phone numbers to the Trojan exchange, have wrung further concessions from the telephone company.

★ ★ ★

Michigan Bell Division commercial manager James S. Richards bowed to Commissioner Robert Bargert's request that the company forward immediately its petition to the Michigan Public Service Commission for permission to make the change.

The telephone company had not planned to submit the petition for about six months, according to Richards.

Richards admitted the company was approaching the MPSC with reluctance, but said the company would not oppose the change.

★ ★ ★

Bargert one of the Ulysses exchange customers, claimed the MPSC would be influenced against the change by Michigan Bell's attitude that it was being forced into it despite inconclusive results of a survey.

POINT OF DISAGREEMENT

Richards had said the decision was made to make the change despite the fact that only 57 per cent of the 498 Ulysses customers voted for it in a joint city-telephone company survey.

★ ★ ★

The company had agreed to make the change only if a "substantial" majority desired it.

Bargert pointed out that of those replying to the survey, 65 per cent voted for the change. He said the telephone company was trying to give MPSC the impression the change was not wanted by a significant majority.

The telephone company apparently expects MPSC approval, however, as Richards reported the equipment required for the change had already been ordered.

Bargert also criticized Michigan Bell for not saying sooner that 12 to 16 months would be required to make the changeover. He said the city had been misled to believe only three or four months would be needed.

Michigan Bell's agreement to honor the wishes of a majority followed negotiations with the city arising out of protests by the Ulysses customers in northwest Troy against toll charges on phone calls to other parts of the city.

FOSTER PARENTS HONORED — Mr. and Mrs. Milewicz, 357 Hurst St., Troy, are among the 11 couples who have been honored by the Committee for Foster Children of Catholic Social Services. The Milewiczs, who have cared for eight foster children since 1960, were selected to represent Oakland County foster parents at a kickoff luncheon for Foster Child Week for the tricounty metropolitan area. They have a daughter of their own.

Oral Surgeon Plans Summer on SS Hope

OAK PARK — Oral surgeon, Dr. Irwin A. Small, 22100 Church St., is among those doctors who will serve on board the SS Hope in South America this summer.

Dr. Small attended the University of Michigan and was a member of the 1947 Rose Bowl football team. He received his degree in dentistry from Columbia University in 1953.

A member of the American Board of Oral Surgery and the American Society of Oral Surgery, Dr. Small is on the staffs of Mt. Carmel, Sinai and Providence hospitals. He is in private practice in Birmingham.

Utica Council to Seek Funds for Sewage Plant

UTICA—City Council has taken another step toward satisfying State Health Department demands for a new sewage disposal plant here by approving an application for federal aid to help pay for it.

City engineers Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc., of Birmingham, have presented plans for a plant estimated to cost some $343,000.

Plans and cost estimate had been requested by the council after the State Health Department told the city it would take action to force construction of a new treatment plant if the city failed to take action immediately.

Federal aid, if approved, would pay up to 30 per cent of the cost.

Utica had been cited by the health department as the only city along the Clinton River that had not yet taken steps to correct its inadequate sewage treatment facilities.

City Council has also approved a 1962-63 total budget of $208,989, which represents little change from the current 1961-62 budget figure.

The total budget includes a general fund budget of $126,259, a library budget of $7,875, and a sewer and water fund budget of $74,855.

St. Matthew Guild Sets Rummage, Bake Sale

Levy Renewal Being Sought

Request for 6.5 Mills in Lyon Twp. Doesn't Involve Rate Hike

SOUTH LYON — A proposed millage request will be voted on in a special election Saturday in the Lyon Township School District.

Continuation of a 6.5-mill levy is being sought. The tax would provide the school system with about $145,000 annually for operations.

The tax was levied last year, expiring in December, but only four mills had been earmarked for operations. The remaining 2.5 mills was used for buildings and sites.

The school board, however, believes that the 2.5 mills is no longer needed for this specific purpose and can be better used by converting it into operating funds, according to Supt. Frank Bartlett.

No tax increase is involved in the proposal, only the renewal of a levy that had been in effect the past several years, he said.

The conversion of the 2.5 mills into operating funds rather than using it for what was originally intended would allow the school board to make substantial increases in teacher salary schedules.

The board already has approved salary hikes of $300 for teachers in the 1962-63 budget. This itself will require about $21,000 in additional funds.

PAY SCALE LOWEST

Bartlett explains that the increase was necessary because the pay schedule in the school district was the lowest in Oakland County.

If the millage proposal is approved, and the county allocation remains at 8.37 mills, the district would have a total of 14.87 mills for each $1,000 of assessed valuation for operations next year.

Anyone of voting age who has lived in the school district for 30 days can cast a ballot since it is a nonregistration school district.

Enrollment Set Next Week for Kindergarten

LAKE ORION — Parents of children eligible to enter kindergarten in September will start Monday to enroll them according to a schedule announced today by Vena B. Kirkpatrick, administrative assistant of Lake Orion Community Schools.

★ ★ ★

Blanche Sims School: Monday or Tuesday, 9 a.m. to noon, and 1 to 4 p.m.

Proper School: Tuesday, 1 to 3 p.m.

Carpenter School: Thursday, 9 a.m. to noon, and 1 to 3 p.m.

Webber School: Friday, 9 a.m. to noon, and 1 to 3 p.m.

To be eligible for kindergarten in the fall, a child must be five years old on or before Dec. 1. Parents are asked to bring proof of their child's birthdate.

To Install PTA Officers

CLARKSTON — New officers will be installed at today's 8 p.m. meeting of the Sashabaw Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association.

SING ALONG — Four women of the 72-member cast of "Riverboatin' Days" to be staged at St. William's Parish in Walled Lake rehearse for the May 17-18-19 production, which is being sponsored by the Men's Club of the Church. Curtain time for each performance is 8:15 p.m. Plinking away on the ukeleles are, from left Anthony DiCicco and Mrs. William Dolan. Standing are Mrs. Charles Kramb, left, and Mrs. Edward Brinker. The 2½-hour show was written and directed by Mrs. J. William Klem and Joseph Sharpy.

Schedule June 28 Special Election

Novi Schools Bid for 5-Mill Tax Hike

NOVI—A five-mill tax increase for operations in the Novi School District will be asked of voters in a special election June 28.

The board of education scheduled the election at its meeting last night and announced at the same time it will reduce taxes for bonded indebtedness by two-and-a-half mills, thus lowering the requested increase to two-and-a-half mills.

The five mills for operations would give the school district from $55 to $60,000 annually, according to Supt. Thomas Culbert.

Last month a proposed six-mill increase for operations was rejected by voters. At that time, however, the school board had made no plans for reducing the levy for bonded indebtedness which is now seven mills.

The superintendent explained that the board will be able to reduce it to four-and-a-half mills by using a surplus in the building and site fund to pay off the principal on 1957-58 bonds.

The increase would give the school district a total tax of 20.37 mills. This includes eight mills allocated by the county for operations.

The school board is asking that the operational increase run for five years.

MET FOUR TIMES

Culbert said the school board had met four times prior to last night in hopes of trying to come to some conclusion on a new millage proposal that would be favorable to the voters.

The defeat of the six-mill proposal last month will mean minor cutbacks for the system, specifically in foreign language, library materials and teacher supplies, according to Culbert.

"The five mills would allow us to continue the present curriculum program with very little adjustment," he said.

The current two-an-a-half-mill tax rate for operations is lowest in the county, the superintendent said. This rate has been in effect four years and will terminate in December 1963.

The regular school board election will be held June 11 to elect two members to the board for three years.

Those whose terms are expiring are Russell Taylor and Arthur Heslip.

Candidates have to return their nominating petitions to the school board office by 4 p.m. Saturday.

Avon Twp. Hall Hits Cost Snag

Only Bid Nearly Twice Estimate; So Project Is Held for Study

AVON TOWNSHIP — Another snag in plans for an addition to the township hall cropped up at last night's township board meeting.

★ ★ ★

The only bid received for construction of the 30- by 30-foot addition was almost double the $7,500 set aside for the project in the township's budget.

L. & D Builders of Rochester submitted a bid of $14,004 for a complete job including electrical, plumbing, heating and construction.

Architect Edward Heins had estimated the addition would cost about $9,000.

Disconcerted trustees referred the bid to building inspector Lawrence Porter and the board's building committee for study.

Plans for the addition recently surmounted a zoning obstacle when the Village of Rochester waived a restriction against expansion by a nonconforming use.

Filing Deadline Saturday for Almont School Board

ALMONT — Candidates for the board of education have until 4 p.m. Saturday to file petitions for the June 11 school election here.

Two school board members will be elected for four-year terms. Members whose terms expire this year are Robert Currey, treasurer, and Fred Eschenburh.

Mental Health Group Plans Open Meeting

The annual meeting of the Oakland County Chapter, Michigan Society for Mental Health, will be held Thursday noon, May 24, at Devon Gables.

★ ★ ★

Speaker will be Clyde B. Simson, M.D., chief of the children's division, Lafayette Clinic, Detroit. His topic will be "Children's Psychiatric Services, Past, Present and Future."

★ ★ ★

A graduate of the University of Buffalo and the Judge Baker Guidance Center, Boston, Dr. Simson has been with Lafayette Clinic since its opening in 1956. Previously, he was director of child guidance clinics in Kalamazoo and Wayne State University.

John D. MacKay, president of the chapter, will preside. Mrs. A. W. Nevala, chairman for the annual meeting, is being assisted by the Rev. John Wigle in charge of programing, Mrs. Palmer Bundy, Mrs. Carmi J. Odell, Elmer Hartwig and Mrs. John Driver.

The public is invited to attend this luncheon. Reservations must be made before May 22. Tickets are available from the Detroit office (Michigan Society for Mental Health, 1528 Woodward, Detroit 26) or from Mrs. A. W. Nevala, 4048 Crocus Road, Pontiac.

Walter Wilberg, whose term on the board is expiring, will seek re-election. His only opponent to date is Hudson L. Folen of 5449 Console St.

Other officers of the nursery, conducted at the Orchard Lake Community Church, are Mrs. John Marble, first vice chairman; Mrs. Robert Carter, second vice chairman; Mrs. David Hutton, secretary; and Mrs. W. R. McNary, treasurer.

A three-member committee also was formed to review the organization's by-laws for possible revision. Any amendments would be proposed at the group's June 4 meeting.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Radford plans to attend the Michigan Council of Cooperative Nursery convention to be held Monday and Tuesday in East Lansing at the Kellogg Center.

Oxford, Addison

2 Townships OK Lakes Ordinance

A uniform ordinance regulating boat activity on lakes recommended by the Township Supervisors Association was adopted last night by the Oxford and Addison township boards.

★ ★ ★

To go into effect June 15, the ordinance sets times for water skiing, limits boat speeds near bathing areas and restricts boat operation by persons under 14 years of age.

The ordinance was adopted by Oxford at its regular meeting and by Addison at a special meeting.

Lakes most affected by the new ordinance will be the several lakes just west of Oxford and Stony Lake north of Oxford, and Lakeville Lake in Addison Township.

WORK OUT DETAILS

Details of the uniform ordinance had been worked out yesterday morning in a meeting of the Township Supervisors Association where it won support of 14 supervisors present at the meeting.

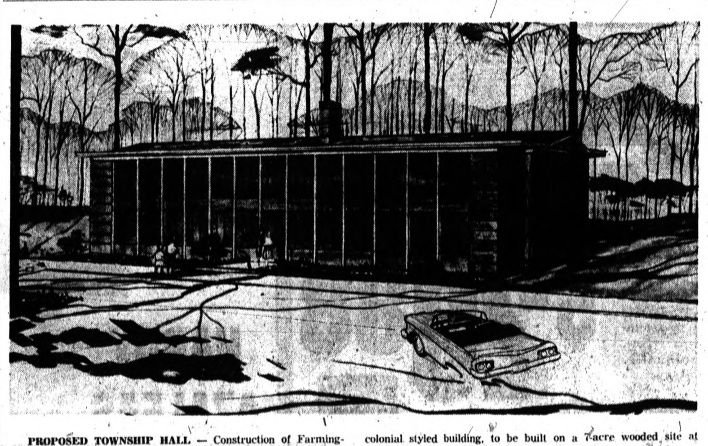

★ ★ ★

Formulation of the uniform ordinance to be presented to all county townships followed adoption last week of a similar ordinance by West Bloomfield Township.

The ordinance also makes it unlawful to operate an improperly licensed or unlicensed boat, to operate a boat while under the influence of intoxicants and to throw trash overboard.

Violations will be punishable by a maximum fine of $110 and or 90 days in the county jail.

PROPOSED TOWNSHIP HALL — Construction of Farmington Township's new administration building, shown here in an architect's sketch by Charles D. Hannan of Farmington, is expected to begin within a couple of weeks. Construction bids on the two-story structure will be opened Monday. The modern-colonial styled building, to be built on a 7-acre wooded site at Orchard Lake and 11-Mile roads, will house all township departments including police. The new hall is expected to cost under $100,000. It will replace a 90-year-old building now serving the township.

572 Complaints to Police

Send Protest to France

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia has lodged a strong protest with France for allowing Dutch troops to land in New Caledonia en route to disputed Dutch New Guinea, a Foreign Office spokesman said yesterday.

The temperature of the healthy human adult body averages between 98.4 and 98.6 degrees farenheit.

But Interest High Over French Blast

No Progress Admitted in Detecting N-Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The speed with which word got around here that France had conducted a new underground nuclear test has prompted questions as to whether this country can detect small clandestine explosions after all.

Preliminary evidence, at least, is that it cannot. Indications are that the incident standing by itself has no particular significance in the effort to achieve a nuclear test ban. But it has stirred considerable speculation here and abroad.

INTEREST HIGH

Interest in how public word of the blast became known here first is particularly high because U.S. negotiators at the Geneva test-ban talks with Russia have insisted there is no effective method for detecting such blasts.

It is on this argument that the United States has based its insistence on the need for an on-site inspection system to enforce any test ban. Russia will have none of this. The result has been three years of stalemate.

First word of the French test came out of Washington over the weekend with no explanation as to how it was obtained. The French government confirmed the shot Monday but gave no details, saying merely that it had been conducted underground on May 1.

But the Paris newspaper Le Monde said the test was of "weak average power" and that it was held at the French testing grounds in the Algerian Sahara. The low power of the device, as described by Le Monde, would tend to minimize chances that it was detected by U.S. seismic devices.

If so, it would seem the information must have been obtained through intelligence sources.

NO COMMENT

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) offered no help in the matter. A spokesman said the agency had not made any announcement regarding the explosion and therefore had no comment.

Nevertheless, a great deal is known of what is involved in detecting nuclear explosions underground as well as in the atmosphere.

The joint congressional committee on atomic energy reported last month that "no material progress" had been made in almost three years of research for an effective method of detecting underground tests.

The committee said "some promising avenues of investigation" had opened up which might "prove out in the next few years."

But it said there was nothing to justify modification of previous views regarding the difficulty of detecting and identifying underground explosions of a force less than 20 kilotons (20,000 tons TNT equivalent).

A newly published edition of "The Effects of Nuclear Weapons," issued by the Defense Department and the AEC explains various detection methods employed by the United States.

But it too stresses that "much remains to be done in the development of reliable techniques for the detection of nuclear detonations," whether in space, in the atmosphere, underwater or underground.

Starting, Stopping and Speeding

To Build Up Better Gas Mileage, Stop Hotrod Habits

By BEN PRIEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — "There sure isn't any magic in good gas mileage. You just avoid all the mistakes you can — specially stepping on the accelerator."

The speaker was Les Viland, who says he's 50 years old and looks a lot more like 35, and who, on numerous occasions, has proved he can cost more than 30 miles of driving out of a single gallon of gasoline.

A five-time winner of cross country economy runs, Viland regards the three Rs — starting, stopping and speeding — as major obstacles in the path of good gas mileage.

"One of the most common mistakes is in acceleration," Viland said, "especially after a stop. So many people push that pedal down hard, just to get up to 35 miles an hour. That opens the throttle wide and gives them about four miles to a gallon of gas."

And in this regard Viland says it isn't only the hotrodder with his jack-rabbit getaways who is the offender. He believes many drivers unconsciously feed too much gas into the engine just to get their cars rolling.

An even speed produces the best mileage and "the faster you go after about 30 or 35 miles per hour the more gas you are going to use. And there are no exceptions to this rule," Viland declared firmly.

THAT EXTRA 10 MILES

He said that while actual fuel consumption will depend in part upon your car, you can figure on cutting as much as four to five miles per gallon off your mileage figures for each 10 miles per hour you travel above 35.

Speaking of his recent contests, Viland said driving the 3.7-mile closed course at Daytona Beach was tougher on gas than the 2,500-mile Los Angeles-Detroit run of last month.

"At Daytona you have to stop twice in the 3.7 miles and accelerate to 65 miles an hour," he explained. "On the cross country trip you don't often find two stops in 3.7 miles and you drive to an average speed.

"It makes a lot of difference where you drive as to what you're mileage will be. I remember I used to drive 12 miles into downtown Detroit every day and I got only 12 to 14 miles per gallon. That was bumper-to-bumper traffic and took an hour."

Viland has been an engineer for American Motors for the past six years and drives their products in competition. His own Rambler is equipped with overdrive and he says he gets 26 to 28 miles per gallon on his daily driving now between his home in Livonia and the AMC offices.

"It's a straight line and the traffic isn't too heavy," he added.

On his own personal cross country driving he apparently fares quite well, too. He said he loaded his air-conditioned station wagon with his wife Marjorie, three children and their luggage, and drove "70 to 75 miles an hour" to Denver and back and still averaged 17 miles per gallon.

On another trip, again with his wife and kids, but at a slower pace he averdged 30 miles a gallon on a Detroit-Daytona Beach and return excursion.

Besides economy tests Viland works on acceleration and fuel problems for American Motors and draws a fairly steady fan mail asking for driving tips. He says he has gone to college "part-time" for nine years "but I only have three full years of engineering credits."

He shares a general industry belief that great improvements have been made in both the internal combusion engine and in gasoline.

"You used to get 25 miles to the gallon with a model T with a top speed of 50 miles an hour," he said. "Now with three times the horsepower and a lot more weight you can get the same mileage."

Long-Time Customer Doesn't Have to Pay

ILION, N.Y. (AP)—Melvin Casler, 88, probably never will have to buy a meal again.

Peter and Tony Scaparo, owners of a restaurant here, said Casler could eat in their establishment for the rest of his life as a nonpaying guest because he had been a patron of theirs for 35 years.

"After 35 years of eating their cooking, who wants to change," said Casler. "It must agree with me."

Burmese AF Plane Crashes, Killing 31

All the victims were believed to be Burmese Air Force personnel and their families.

The DC3 transport was en route from Mong Mpayat, near the Burmese-Thai border, to Mandalay. About six miles from the Mong Hyayat the plane suddenly plunged into the ravine.

Cause of the crash was not immediately determined.

From its source to its junction with the Mississippi, the Missouri River is 2,945 miles long. Their combined length of 4,200 miles is said to exceed any other river system.

$544,162 Penalty Levied on Estes

Officials Not Confident Assessment for Cotton Violations Will Stick

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has levied a $544,162 penalty against Billie Sol Estes for his cotton production operations. But officials were not too confident today they could make the big assessment stick.

The West Texas financier who is under fraud indictment was penalized for producing cotton on acreage allotments which, the department contends, he had secured illegally from farmers displaced by the government.

Estes has a right under farm law to appeal the penalty to a local farmer committee of three. Should it rule his operations were legal the penalty would be canceled and there would be nothing more the department could do about it.

FINE POINTS

In expressing some uncertainty, officials emphasized that Estes' controversial cotton operations present fine legal points which do not make a clearcut case that he acted improperly and illegally.

Should the farmer committee find for the department, Estes could appeal to the courts. Not so with the department if a committee decision goes against it.

Estes was not available for comment Wednesday.

Last month a federal grand jury indicted Estes for fraud in connection with chattel mortgages he was charged with selling on nonexistent fertilizer tanks. And, a Senate subcommittee is investigating whether he received favored treatment from Agriculture Department officials.

Moscow Vetoes Exhibit of Glenn's Capsule in Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States wanted to exhibit in Russia the space capsule astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. rode in orbit. The Soviets said "nyet" — Russian for "no."

"We are very disappointed," a high-ranking State Department official said yesterday. But the Soviet refusal to let Russians see the capsule is considered final and the State Department has no plans to argue about it.

The capsule is now touring the world, being exhibited in major cities by the U.S. Information Agency. It was thought here to be a good idea to add it to the U.S. medical exhibit now in its second month in the Soviet Union.

They recalled that the Russans had a space medicine section in their medical exhibition which was shown in Chicago and Minneapolis for three months last fall.

Russia to Help Cuba Set Up Chemical Plants

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba and the Soviet Union signed a technical aid pact for developing the Cuban chemical industry, press reports said yesterday.

The reports said Soviet engineers will build two plants capable of turning out 120,000 tons of ammonia and 200,000 tons of superphosphates annually. Experts also will study the possibility of building a synthetic rubber plant.

Disputes ADA's Position on S. Viet Nam

By STEWART HENSLEY

The administration believes its present program of stepped-up assistance to South Viet Nam in its fight against Communist-led guerrillas is the most promising chance to block further Red inroads down the Indochinese peninsula.

Administration officials took exception to a recent resolution by Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) charging the administration with "unilateral commitment of America's own military power and prestige" in a Civil War.

ADA singled out for particular blame what it called the "totalitarian" government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, whom the United States supports. It said Diem has lost popular support and his people are "either actively hostile or indifferent."

Administration officials said the ADA resolution, passed at the organization's annual convention, appeared to be based on a complete misunderstanding of the situation and the role the United States is playing in South Viet Nam.

They said ADA was completely wrong in describing the fight in South Viet Nam as a Civil War. Kennedy and Rusk frequently have described it as being controlled from Communist North Viet Nam, which has sent about 20,000 guerrillas into the south to conduct an organized campaign of terror and subversion. State Department officials have cited documented evidence of this.

The administration's official position on another ADA point is not so clear, as public statements are concerned at least. ADA said that the administration is correct in its contention that South Viet Nam is a victim of outside aggression, the United States should put its case before the United Nations.

WHAT NEEDS WANT

Administration officials point out privately, however, that such action would simply play into the hands of the Communists. They said U.N. consideration of the problem could be expected to degenerate into the usual East-West deadlock. Meanwhile, Diem's forces, unless aided by the Americans, would be fighting a steadily losing battle.

Kennedy decided to increase U.S. military aid to South Viet Nam into last year after his personal representative, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, made an on-the-spot survey.

Nor has all the help been limited to new military equipment. The United States has sent large numbers of tough U.S. Army Rangers into South Viet Nam to help train local antiguerrilla forces. There now are more than 6,000 Americans in military and economic capacities in the country.

★ ★ ★

The administration denies they are combat forces. Some accompany their students into battle on occasion, however, and at least 19 American military personnel have been killed so far.

DIEM CHANGES

The Kennedy administration likewise rejects ADA charges that Diem has no popular support. Rusk has acknowledged that Diem's authoritarian government leaves much to be desired. But the United States earlier this year did get him to undertake certain economic and political reforms designed to win more popular support. He also was persuaded to ease some of the political pressures within his armed forces.

These steps, combined with an American-suggested reorganization of his army, are said in Washington to be showing signs of real progress.

The administration contends that inhabitants of areas now terrorized by Communist guerrillas are quite ready to support Diem as soon as he is able to guarantee them protection against Red raids.

The new, military-economic program is designed to win the villagers back one by one, giving them protection and sealing them off from Communist penetration, thus denying the Reds access to sources of tribute and manpower. There is no denial that this — as Undersecretary of State George W. Ball put it — will be a "long, slow, arduous . . . process."

Swainson Kills Roberts' Bill

Maintains Change in Accident Compensation Act Unfair

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson yesterday vetoed a bill amending the Workmen's Compensation Act, declaring it would be unfair to some injured persons.

It was the fifth veto of the 1962 legislative session for the governor and his third in three days.

"This legislation would prohibit any person from receiving workmen's compensation benefits concurrently with unemployment compensation benefits," the governor said.

Swainson said a single example illustrates the undesirability of the bill, sponsored by Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Pontiac.

An injured worker not able to perform his usual job is now entitled to workmen's compensation if he takes another position with a lower wage, the governor said.

Under present law, he said, if the workman is subsequently laid off the second job and is eligible for unemployment compensation, he is not disqualified from workmen's compensation.

The measure he vetoed, the governor said, disqualified such an injured worker from the protection now provided by the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Swainson said the measure "withdraws protection from some persons while retaining it for others—with no logical reason for doing so."

Eight-Year-Old Dies When Hit by Boy, 5

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—An 8-year-old boy was struck in the neck and killed by a piece of glass thrown by a 5-year-old Wednesday night.

The boy was identified by police as Roland Robertson. An artery in his neck apparently was cut by the jagged edge of a broken soda bottle.

Police said the incident occurred when five boys—age 5 to 8—quarreled in the yard of a housing project.

They said the 5-year-old boy would not be prosecuted because of his age.

Anybody who ever woke up with a hangover can tell you—partying is such sweet sorrow. . . . Says a cynic, "The Internal Revenue Bureau must love poor people—it makes so many of them." . . . A dream girl is the type you wanted to marry—till your wife came along and spoiled your dream. —Earl Wilson.

Residents Want Brakes on Our U.S. Spending

Oakland County residents appear to favor breaks for business and brakes for the federal budget.

In a poll of some 14,000 of his constituents, U. S. Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) reports more than 70 per cent want a tax reform program providing incentives for plant expansion and purchase of modern equipment.

Only 25 per cent are in favor of Congress approving President Kennedy's record $93.5 billion peacetime budget.

To balance the budget, 69 per fense spending and 15 per cent want to increase taxes to provide a "cushion."

Opinions on the controversial Sleeping Bear Dunes Recreation Area near Traverse City were almost evenly divided. Some 47 per cent were against its creation but 45 per cent liked the idea.

OTHER TABULATIONS

Other issues and their results, tabulated by an independent data firm, are:

—50 to 44 favoring federal regulation of medical drug pricing and testing.

—80 to 11 for changing U.S. policy and demanding approval of projects by a foreign country before loans or grants are made to that country.

—77 to 8 for strengthening economies of known friendly countries as a basis for overseas aid.

One of the poll's most detailed questions involved medical care for the aged. Voters were 38 to 29 in favor of compulsory medical care financed by increase in Social Security taxes to cover only those over 65 eligible for benefits.

The sentiment was 32 to 24 for expansion of existing voluntary federal-state medicare program in which Michigan now participates and 29 to 26 favoring doctors' plan for low-cost medical treatment.

County residents also approve federal regulation of medical drug pricing and testing by a margin of 50 to 44.

City May Sell 110-Acre Farm

Avon Site Now Used for Tree Seedlings to Go Into Parks

The city is thinking about selling some 110 acres in Avon Township currently used as a tree farm.

"It doesn't seem to be of any value as far as public use is concerned and we're paying taxes on it to the township," Bottom said.

"It might be worth our while to advertise it for sale."

Stierer said he would get the appraisal. The land, known as the Crooks Road Farm, was purchased by Pontiac in 1929.

For the past six years the Parks and Recreation Department has carried on an extensive tree-planting program on the site. Approximately 80,000 conifer and hardwood seedlings are growing there and many are nearing the stage when they can be transplanted to city parks.

Department officials have earmarked the tree nursery program as a major money save in the city's tree-planting program.

Astronaut's Trip May Have a Few Added Features

WASHINGTON (AP) — Malcolm Scott Carpenter's Mercury spacecraft, set for launching in little more than a week, may release a cloud of particles in an experiment designed to solve a space mystery.

★ ★ ★

The particle cloud may shed light on the "fireflies" reported by astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. on his three-orbital flight, and the phosphorescent spots noted by Soviet cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov during his 17-orbit journey.

Glenn disclosed last week that Carpenter's craft will release a balloon to be towed behind the orbiting capsule to measure any type of resistance that may be encountered above the earth's atmosphere.

Middle Age Has Its Good Points if You Only Look

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Every age in life has its rewards.

Sometimes the truth of this is pretty hard to see—but it is there.

The age that many people seem to fear or resent the most is middle age. Its onset brings a kind of panic to them.

BOYLE

"I didn't mind being young, and I'm not afraid of being old," a friend wailed recently. "But I hate the thought of being caught in between. What possible advantage can there be in being middle-aged?"

Well, if a fellow really puts his mind to it, he can find a number of blessings in the mid-span of life. Such as—

As your hair gets thinner, you find it takes less and less muscle to comb it. This enables you to conserve your strength for more important tasks.

YOU LOSE DANDRUFF

You also find out that the shinier your scalp grows the less dandruff you have. There is no longer much for it to hold on to—or hide behind.

* * *

Your wife and you get along better and have fewer violent word storms. After all, if you no longer can hear her—and after 45 few men do hear their wives very clearly—how can you disagree with what she says? Her advice comes to have the pleasantly vague sound of ocean surf, endlessly beating on the same old shore.

At the office the boss picks on you less and less after you start sporting that 25-year pin in your lapel. When you pull a blooper, he simply sighs and says, "Well, I guess you can't really teach an old dog new tricks."

NAPS COME EASY

You may not sleep as well as you used to, but you find it easier to get a little rest during the day. As a matter of fact, just being middle-aged makes a man feel so worn out he can take a nap in any posture—even while standing on his head.

Medically speaking, you become more and more fascinating to doctor. He dismisses the aches of the young as growing pains and the aches of the elderly as incurable, but any symptom of the middle-aged stirs his active professional interest and sympathy—probably because he is middle-aged himself. Most doctors are.

GREAT PRIVILEGE

You no longer are expected to play tennis all Saturday, and dance all Saturday night. You can greet with a big fat yawn all such invitations to fritter away your energy. Society doesn't mind if you demand a little peace and quiet while the rust and the barnacles gather. That is one of the imperishable privileges of middle age.

You can now carry an umbrella or don your rubbers on a day of potential showers without feeling cowardly. A sense of proper protective self-caution is becoming in one at your time of life.

Teen-agers pay no attention to you, but then teen-agers don't really pay attention to anbody or anything except another teen-ager of the opposite sex.

On the other hand, people over 70 still regard you as young and full of promise. They even envy you.

Oh, middle age is wonderful in many, many ways. If you've had any luck at all, you probably have enough money at last to do some of the things you earned to do when a boy.

* * *

You can now afford to eat the foods and drink the drinks you couldn't afford before, and maybe even make a desert hike to romantic Timbuktu. The fact you no longer want to do any of these things—bad for the health, you know—is beside the point.

In middle age you abandon all the useless dreams that cluttered your earlier life. You have only one goal left—to grow as old as you can.

Czech Youth to Perform Labor Service 5 Years

VIENNA (UPI) — Czech President Antonin Novotny yesterday announced the imminent establishment of a compulsory five-year labor service for all young people.

Speaking at the annual "Liberation Day" military parade in Prague, the Communist president said first party secretary said the Czech youth will have to serve a five-year term in either a collective farm or a factory after leaving school.

Navy Continues Contract With Michigan Concern

ELLSWORTH (AP) — Receipt of a $408,000 continuation contract from the U.S. Navy for an underwater sound signal system was announced yesterday by Morweld Steel Products Corp. The original award last November was in the amount of $559,700.

* * *

M. M. Taylor, president, said the project involves underwater sound systems used in submarine detection. The Ellsworth firm last January received a $413,000 contract from the U.S. Army Signal Corps for wire reels of varying sizes.

Rogers City Firm Asks OK to Build FM Station

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rogers City Mich., has applied to the communications commission for authority to construct an FM radio station in Alpena, Mich.

Radiological Warfare Idea Given Up by U.S. Experts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The idea of radiological warfare, in which deadly contamination would be sprayed or otherwise spread over an enemy area, is out.

U.S. experts say the plan considered during recent years just isn't practical—and, moreover, better results could be obtained by exploding fission weapons at low altitude, or salting them with extra poisonous material.

A newly revised edition of the Defense Department-Atomic energy Commission handbook, "The Effects of Nuclear Weapons," writes off the subject of radiological warfare.

The radioactivity of materials which could be used wouldn't last long enough in a stockpile to be useful; their strength would diminish too fast, it says.

Junking of the idea of radiological warfare—where radiation would be the primary killer instead of just the byproduct of a nuclear explosion—apparently does not throw out the concept of a neutron bomb.

DEATH RAY THEORY

The theory behind the N-bomb, or death ray, is that a precisely controlled nuclear explosion would be made to produce a burst of intense radiation without the intense shock, heat and radioactive contamination of present bombs. Thus it would kill without destroying.

★ ★ ★

The handbook provides the first official details on results of some of the tests conducted prior to 1958, the start of the moratorium on nuclear testing which was broken last fall by the Soviet Union's series of explosions in the atmosphere.

★ ★ ★

Descriptions of some of these tests could be forerunners of experiments to be carried out during the current American series in the Pacific.

Students Pledge $7,000 for New School Building

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Some 1,100 students at Grand Rapids Christian High School needed only two hours yesterday to raise more than $7,000 toward a $500,000 goal for a new school building.

"Things were in a turmoil here for a while," said Principal E. R. Post, "but the students exceeded their goal." They had sought $6,000.

Student Council President Louis Roossien said the goal was set on the basis of "a nickel a week, $2.50 a year or a total pledge of $7.50 per student" over a three-year period.

Prices are certainly going up. It now costs as much to cure an ordinary cold as it used to cost to cure pneumonia. . . . Some women spend the first part of their lives shopping for a husband, and the rest of their lives shopping for everything else.—Earl Wilson.

FAREWELL IN BERLIN — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, left, shakes hands with Gen. Lucius D. Clay at Berlin's Tempelhof Airport as the general prepared to leave the divided city after an eight-month assignment as personal representative of President Kennedy. Clay told Berliners that should he hear he is needed back in the city, "I'll be on the next plane."

His Children Caused, Cured His Illness

(Second of a Series)
By HELENA FROST

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (NEA) — It was a good marriage. And it had to be to survive the ordeal of mental illness.

It is nine years since Robert Dahl's recovery, and today Robert and Marilyn Dahl have wrought it better than good marriage solidly based upon three wanted children. The wanting is a measure of happiness in the Dahl family, because Dahl's breakdown in 1952 was precipitated by the then unwanted responsibility of fatherhood.

Bob was there twice, at two different hospitals and in different phases of manic depression. He describes it as an "emotional seesaw," and in a year of illness, he went all the way down and then all the way up.

The Dahls don't use a pseudonym to protect themselves, although Marilyn says with sorrow of knowledge, "The newly released patient can be crippled by social stigma." In time Bob reached a point when he could write "Breakdown," a frank and moving book about his experience in two Ohio state hospitals. It has since become a classic.

Bob and Marilyn Dahl are trained journalists and they use their power with words to tell people what mental illness is like to live with when it is happening and after recovery.

"Our friends knew us," said Mrs. Dahl. "If anyone wanted to think less of us, because of what we had gone through, we were no longer afraid or ashamed or weak. And we are trying to bring up the children that way.

"I don't say they will never encounter stigma. But their life with their father — knowing him as a warm, wonderful, capable, dependable, honest and loving man — is the best proof that Daddy has recovered from mental illness, as people recover from other illnesses."

What about heredity? The Dahls knew the question may be raised by those who still cling to the old misconceptions about mental illness. Marilyn said, "Bob and I feel the really important thing is to give our children the most satisfying environment we can provide — love, security and reasonable independence."

NOT INEVITABLE

Children are sometimes born vulnerable to certain mental illnesses; but the child of a mentally ill parent is not necessarily vulnerable; and vulnerability is by no means synonymous with inevitability.

The Dahls' "satisfying environment" can go far toward protecting their children against an episode of breakdown. In fact "love, security and reasonable independence" is good food for mental health.

Mental health is also Bob's chosen job in life. He is executive director of the Illinois Mental Health Association, an affiliate of the National Association for Mental Health. He guides the activities of 24 local chapters, a big responsibility.

In the most loving partnership there are unresolved problems and when mental illness overtakes one partner, the smallest molehill can swiftly become a mountain.

When Marilyn told Bob that she was pregnant they had been married three years. She thought it was happy news. But after Bob learned about the baby, Marilyn saw a change, a steady descent into depression.

She thought, "Doesn't he want the baby? Has he stopped loving me?"

And a few months later, when she lost the baby and very nearly her life, Bob thought, "You yourself killed her. You've killed her and little Stevie. He's dead now, too!"

He did not understand that he had nothing to do with the strange accident called abrupto placenta which killed his premature son.

It was not until he met Dr. Tibor Agoston, psychiatrist at the state hospital, that Bob began to understand himself and his illness.

Before his wife lost the baby, he had been fighting the desire to "escape from this strange sad world." While Marilyn was confined to a hospital bed, he himself went to a state receiving hospital to seek help against his despair.

This was the deep down-swing of the seesaw. Bob tried to kill himself. He ran the length of the hospital washroom and rammed his head into the wall.

As he emerged from depression, he returned actively to his religion, and was soon released from the hospital. But it was not long before symptoms of elation developed.

In this manic phase of illness, he decided he was a saint. And while Marilyn worked on a newspaper, he began to pour out words about his illness and recovery — which he saw as the triumph of good over evil.

He took a massive manuscript to a New York publisher. He recalls: "I flew home, high in the air, far above the earth and its poor people . . . and in my mind a great plan began to stir to life."

He flew higher and higher in fantasy, and tried to take his wife and friends with him in his plan to save humanity. An infectious and rueful grin broke as he added, "People who didn't agree with me were wrong and evil."

And Marilyn said, with memory of pain: "When he became 'manic,' I couldn't get through. We weren't communicating. I realized unless I found courage to act, I might lessen his chances of full recovery."

* * *

She found the courage when she became pregnant again. She wanted a responsible father for their child, so she signed the papers for Bob's admission to the old state hospital which he dreaded . . . and which restored him to mental health.

When they told Marilyn, "Your husband's young, he'll be all right," she felt strengthened in her decision. But when she went to see him and he shouted, "Who is this stranger? I have no wife," she left weeping.

It did not mean he had stopped loving her. Our emotions are very mixed, neither all loving nor all hating. They call it ambivalence.

Soon after he went to the hospital, Bob met Dr. Agoston. "I talked to him easily," Bob says. And that was the beginning of recovery.

It was not until later that the psychoanalyst explained, as friend rather than doctor, that Bob had become sick because in his subconscious he had remained a child.

He had never grown strong enough to break infantile ties, and was not emotionally ready for the responsibility of fatherhood. He actually saw in the unborn child a "rival for Marilyn's affections."

Six weeks after his psycho-therapy began, Bob went home for Christmas.

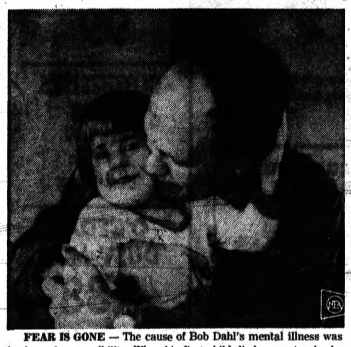

He did not need to return.

He called Dr. Agoston and said he wanted to stay out and get a job. And the doctor chuckled and said, "A job is a good thing for a man to have."

"That night at home everything was fantastically normal. As Marilyn went to the kitchen for coffee, I could see where her waist was thickening, where inside her our new baby was growing. . ."

NEXT: Polly Cooper's story.

FEAR IS GONE — The cause of Bob Dahl's mental illness was the fear of responsibility. When his first child died prematurely, he felt the blame was his, and thus had a mental breakdown. Today, he is happy and well, a good father to his little daughter, above.

How to Keep Your Husband Alive

You Can't MAKE Him Exercise but . . .

(Editor's Note — Following is the fourth in a series of 12 articles by Dr. Kenneth C. Hutchin, English doctor and noted author, condensed from his new book "How Not to Kill Your Husband.")

By KENNETH C. HUTCHIN, M. D.

The wife who wants her husband to keep fit will encourage him to take regular exercise of a type suitable to his age and health.

She should start sending him out to play soon after they are married. If she waits until he is approaching the dangerous age, it is often too late.

★ ★ ★

Ex-President Eisenhower's heart specialist, Dr. Paul Dudley White, is among those who advocate regular exercise as a means of warding off coronary thrombosis in middle-aged men.

★ ★ ★

If your husband boasts that he gets no more exercise than getting up from his desk to open the door for a departing client, persuade him to become a secret exerciser.

ROTARY MOVEMENTS

To combat belly bulge the most important concealed exercise is repeated contraction and relaxation of the abdominal muscles, which should be combined with rhythmic rotary movements.

Deep breathing may be associated with tensing of the muscles of the buttocks. This often produces a contraction of the lower abdominal muscles.

Variety should be provided by contracting and relaxing other groups of muscles, such as those of the buttocks, thighs and feet.

★ ★ ★

When driving an automobile it is possible to exercise the neck muscles by exaggerating all head movements required for normal driving.

TOE WIGGLING HELPS

In addition to concealed exercises, overt exercises should be done by all sensible men. Those so lazy as to refuse to do the daily dozen should have their contours ridiculed by their wives, but you must know which approach is likely to be most successful.

A man should start his morning exercises by lying on the floor doing deep breathing. It makes getting up less of a shock if you lie down again at once.

Stand as tall, or lie down as long, as possible. The first five exercises are done lying flat on the back. The first starts by raising the feet six inches from the floor, and they are not lowered beyond this point throughout the exercise.

The legs are raised to the vertical while breathing out, and then, widely separated, they are slowly lowered and gradually brought together to reach the original position while breathing in. This is repeated ten times.

★ ★ ★

In the fourth, the body has to be raised slowly to a sitting position while breathing out and slowly lowered to the floor again while breathing in. After this, 30 seconds rest and deep breathing is allowed.

REGULARITY HELPS

Your husband now stands up. Placing the hands so that they curve around the lower ribs with the finger tips touching in the middle line in front, he takes deep breaths.

The next exercise begins with your husband standing with feet apart. Hands on hips, he rotates his shoulder blades ten times in one direction and ten in the other. He then stands and, with shoulders at rest, moves his head ten times in each of four directions — turning to face each side, tilting to left and to right, nodding forward and backward, and rotating the head through a circle.

He then relaxes and does deep breathing with hands testing the movement of the lower ribs.

For the next exercise he stand with feet wide apart and bends his torso ten times to right and left. After that he rotates the torso as far as possible ten times in each direction.

He then relaxes and breathes deeply. The arms are next raised in a wide circle above the head. The trunk then swings forward until the finger tips reach as near the floor as circumstances will allow.

August vows are planned by Sharon Lee Warren, daughter of the Ray A. Warrens of Snellbrook Road to Richard F. Hoover, son of the Cyril C. Hoovers, Sherman Oaks, Calif. She is a senior at University of Michigan.

SHARON LEE WARREN

It's Okay to Suggest if Asked

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: When I was married a little over a month ago, a friend of mine told me that she hadn't sent us a wedding present because she didn't know what we needed and said that when I thought of something we would like to let her know and she would give it to us.

While out shopping the other day for furnishings for our apartment, I saw just the thing I would like for our living room. Would it be proper to call this friend and tell her that I saw something I would like for our apartment and where, so that she may buy it for us as a wedding present?

A: Since your friend asked you to let her know what you would like, you may perfectly well tell her that you have found just the thing you would love to have as a wedding present from her and ask her to go and see if she approves of it and would she like to give it to you.

Q: Just how much of an honor is it to ask someone to sit at the dining table and pour tea throughout the afternoon? By that I mean, should someone of importance be asked to fill this place or just someone who does not mind this chore?

A: It is definitely an honor. In fact, it denotes that she is someone of whom you are especially fond as well as one who will "do the honors" with deftness and charm. However, a guest of honor never is asked to pour because her place is receiving with the hostess. The one who pours is generally a very intimate friend of the hostess.

Q: Will you please answer the following question concerning graduation invitations? Is it proper for the personal cards enclosed with the graduation invitations to have a title on them (Mr. or Miss)?

A: Miss is proper for a girl, but according to best taste, Mr. is not put on a boy's card until he graduates from college or has reached his twenty-first birthday.

Q: My husband is in his early thirties and has been going to college part time at night for the past seven years. He will graduate the end of May. I would like to know if it would be proper to give a party to celebrate the occasion or would such a party be in bad taste?

Hi-Infidelity

'Wait, Ask Your Dad' Worked to a Frazzle

(Editor's Note — A condensation of Abigail Van Buren's new book "Dear Abby on Marriage" is appearing daily in The Pontiac Press in 24 installments under the serialized title "Hi-Infidelity.")

Democracy is grand. I'm for it. But marriage is a social, not a political, institution.

Give both husband and wife an equal vote on family matters and you'll have more stalemates than in the Security Council of the United Nations!

A family is an organization, and an organization without a boss is like a ship without a captain. Someone must make the important decisions!

Should the "boss" be a woman? Maybe. When the wife has demonstrated her superiority as the household chief of state she should take the helm. But this is an exception.

★ ★ ★

UNDERMINES DAD

She'll nod her head in agreement when Dad is making a long speech about how the children must learn to budget their money and live within their allowances. When they're short, she'll slip them an extra dollar behind his back.

Dad sets up the rules, and Mom, in a moment of weakness, countermands his orders. "Good old Mom," she hopes the children will think. Meanwhile Dad becomes the "Bad Guy."

Mothers who use such tactics have shredded wheat where their brains belong. Divided authority confuses the children. It also gives them a distorted picture of what a good marriage relationship is supposed to be.

TO ASK DADDY

Children learn to play one parent against the other. The old "Ask Daddy" and "Ask Mother" dodge has been worked to a fare-thee-well.

DEAR ABBY:

I am nine years old, and very mixed up. I would like to know who the boss is supposed to be in the family. My mother says to ask Daddy when I want permission to do something, and my daddy tells me to ask my mother. I am getting tired of this.

John D.

A successful family must be a team effort. It's Mother's job to help create an aura of respect around Father. She shouldn't say, "Quiet, Dad is hung over again." It is quite sufficient to explain that Daddy has a "headache."

And the wise mother will not threaten a youngster with, "Just wait until Daddy comes home — he'll fix you!" She is building Daddy into the image of the "Enemy."

In making decisions that affect the children, parents should let the children know that the decision was the result of a discussion between both of them.

No mother has the right to throw the problem into her husband's lap and then sit back and say, "It's up to your father!" If the decision is contrary to the children's desires, guess who the villain is again?

★ ★ ★

United, your marriage will be solid as the Rock of Gibraltar. Divided — you're Romeo without Juliet.

Remember Heavy Soil

Despite the vast volume of wash-wear and delicate washables in use, the bulk of home laundry is still made up of sheets, towels, work clothes, and children's clothes.

These heavy soiled pieces require hot water, plenty of soap or detergent suds, and agitation to come really clean.

Want to Uncover the Secret of Discipline?

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

She is a hospital's supervisor of student nurses, a job which includes the ability to make palatable to untrained girls the hard and rigorous disciplines of the nursing profession.

One day when I admired an enameled brooch she was wearing, her husband told me that her students had given it to her for a recent birthday.

Then, pride shining in his face, he said, "Go on, Helen, tell her about that string of pearls you're wearing." And turning back to me, said, "It was sent to her from three of her graduated children in three different states who got together to send it to her for Christmas. Go on, tell her what they said on the card, Helen . . ."

She laughed. I say, 'Come on—and I'll do it with you,'" she said. "When I was in training, that's what my supervisor used to say to us. Never was she unwilling to help us do what she'd told us to do. I guess you might say that she taught me the secret of discipline."

So is the secret of parental discipline the willingness to do what we ask children to do, although many parents won't believe this.

When Julie dawdles, complains or otherwise balks at an order to set the supper table, some parents find her disobedience so humiliating that they either fuss back or precipitate a will power showdown with Julie.

When Billy ignores a command to remove his fishing tackle from the porch, they can't remove it themselves lest he get the idea that he has defeated them.

To such parents a child's obedience is always deference to their power over him, and when he denies it, they feel so threatened they either have to force his submission or boil with resentment at his defiance.

"Rational authority," writes psychoanalyst Erich Fromm, "has its source in competence. Its acceptance depends on its performance."

If we must always have a child's obedience without leading him into it, Dr. Fromm's and the supervisor's opinions will infuriate us.

We will feel outraged by my suggestion that Julie's disobedience calls for a refreshment of her respect for our competence in setting the table, for the cheerful, uncritical and unthreatened, "Come on, I'll help you set it."

Parents who must have obedience disconnected from any effort of their own are those who secretly feel:

"I work so hard; I sacrifice so much and am so generally hounded by the obligation to consider others that nobody is entitled to require proof of my competence. I'm above having to prove anything. My noble life is enough justification of my right to command."

That such secret resentment of family responsibility accounts for this proud attitude toward obedience is something that should occur to them.

To Aid at Meadow Brook Ball

Scholarship winners of Michigan State University Oakland will be assisting at the annual Meadow Brook Ball Saturday in Meadow Brook Hall on the Rochester estate of Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson and the late Mr. Wilson.

Coed scholarship recipients will be acting as junior hostesses, greeting and ushering guests about the hall and helping with seating for the dinner which opens the gala affair at 7 p.m. MSUO boys on scholarships will park cars.

The students have offered to help as their way of expressing thanks for the study grants presented them by the university's ball and scholarship committees.

Because of the late Mr. Wilson's keen interest in MSUO Mrs. Wilson, who is not in residence at Meadow Brook, decided to proceed as planned with the $100-per-couple ball, Oakland County's outstanding social event of the season.

OUTDOOR DINING

Weather permitting, dining will be outdoors in a tent decorated with large gold satin bows. The university's colors, white and gold will be employed for table coverings, and white roses and other white flowers grown at Meadow Brook for the occasion will be used.

Some 250 couples are expected for dinner and dancing. Mrs. Wilson and executive trustees of the MSUO foundation are sponsoring the event to raise $25,000 toward the university foundation scholarship committee's goal of $80,000 for the 1962-63 college year. Scholarships will be given to 100 students who otherwise could not attend college.

Mrs. William T. Gossett and Mrs. R. Jamison Williams are ball cochairmen.

Nearly 16 per cent of the MSUO student body receives some scholarship aid, through the efforts of two score or more women comprising the ball and scholarship committees.

Fulfilling the role of alumni, this group is helping Chancellor D. B. Varner make good on his pledge that no top quarter area high school student shall be denied the opportunity to attend college for lack of funds.

A showing of recent works by art students at Kingswood School Cranbrook will be a highlight of the traditional Mother's Day Tea Sunday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Tips on Careers

Commerical Art Appeal to You?

(Editor's Note — This week's commercial artist tips comprise the fifth in a 12-week series of career articles, giving you in a capsule up-to-minute facts on job possibilities in industry and the professions. Source: U. S. Department of Labor.)

GILBERT YOUTH SERVICE

Educational Qualifications: Courses in art schools or institutes that specialize in commercial and applied art, plus extensive educational training in the fine arts. Art school programs generally take two or three years, but a growing number, particularly those connected with universities, require four or more years of study, conferring the degree of bachelor of fine arts.

Personal Qualifications: Talent (some art schools admit only those who demonstrate talent in submitted samples); creative imagination; artistic judgment concerning the harmony of color and line; accomplished draftsmanship; patience to learn exacting details of craft.

Advantages of Profession: Creative satisfaction; good employment and advancement opportunities for talented and well-trained commercial artists through the mid-60s; artists who are qualified to work with engineering concepts can find work in the growing field of industrial design; also growing demand in TV for illustrators.

Disadvantages: Highly competitive field for those with only average ability; jobs at the top (art directors, illustrators and designers) few in number; employment opportunities would be drastically cut in event of a serious economic downturn, since advertising budgets would be cut; salaried commercial artists often work long hours under pressure; free-lance artists find income fluctuates greatly.

Salary: Inexperienced earn between $50 and $80 weekly; talented, qualified artists with a few years' experience may earn between $100 and $125 weekly; those in top positions may earn more than $15,000 a year; free-lance artists' earnings vary ($25 for a single fashion sketch to $750 for a color figure with a background, for example).

The concert marks the 30th anniversary of the chorus, sponsored by Pontiac Parks and Recreation.

But 70 Pct. Still Plan to Go

Most Teen-Agers Say Proms Less Popular

By EUGENE I. GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.

What's happening to the high school prom?

There has been criticism in recent years about the trend toward super posh proms with big name bands, new formals for the girls and tuxedoes for the boys.

But in some places, the prom is a school-centered event, with the ball taking place in the gymnasium (properly gussied up for the occasion), tickets selling for $1 or less, and things generally kept at a modest level.

Questioning nearly 1,000 teenagers across the nation, we found most of you think that the prom now is less popular than it used be. Nearly 42 perce ntsaidsoto to be. Nearly 42 per cent said so as against 36 per cent who thought proms are more popular. The others just didn't seem to know.

Bearing this out was the assertion from 70 per cent of you that it's no tragedy if you don't go to the prom.

"It really isn't a status symbol or anything to go to the prom," commented Bili MacDowell, 15, of Oakland, Calif. "You aren't looked down on if you don't."

We found, however, that 70 per cent of those interviewed do plan to go to this year's prom.

At least, that's the testimony from those who attended the last prom at their school. Ninety per cent said they enjoyed themselves.

Among those who have no plan to attend this year's prom, the reasons range from objections to the expense to the plain and simple fact they weren't invited.

★ ★ ★

One attraction of the prom is the opportunity to dress up. Nearly 87 per cent of you said you like getting into fancy clothes.

"I'm not ashamed of my monkey suit," wisecracked Darrell Callaro, 18, also of Lincoln.

"I feel proud of myself and it makes me feel grown up — practically," said Eril Berg of New York City.

Among the nay-sayers was Mary Michele Stone, 17, of Durham, N.C. who said, "Evening dresses are too expensive; can't really dance good all dressed up."

While there have been cries about rising expense, this doesn't seem to be too much of an obstacle. Only one out of five of you thought proms are too expensive.

But Sallee Reiner, 16, of Brooklyn, said the prom at her school comes to $23.50 a couple. And Fern Feenberg, 17, of Philadelphia, remarked that "including dress, hair, tickets and breakfast, it is too much."

"Our's was only 75 cents," said Denise Bischoff, 15, of Ogden, Utah. The boys seemed a bit reticent about this.

Dean Mosher, 16, of Eagle Grove, Iowa, said it "depends on if you have a girl and go to extremes."

We also asked whether you would go to the prom if it were not socially important. Fifty-five per cent said yes, and nearly 34 per cent said they just didn't know.

What about those who are unable to attend because they can't afford it or because they're not asked? Sixty-five per cent of you agreed that such people have hurt feelings.

We decided to give you a chance to sound off about proms. In the list of things that you said you didn't like about them, were:

"They are too competitive in dress and even in being asked," said Margi Eakhouse, 16, Winnetka, Ill.

Club Hears Glass Talk

Guests were Mrs. Charles Kaufman, Mrs. James Mitchell, Mrs. William Gordon and Mrs. Harold Meston.

Husbands of members will be guests at a gourmet dinner, next month in the East Hammond Lake Drive home of Mrs. James Youngblood in Bloomfield Township.

Needs a Sedative, Says Abby

Twister Really Tears Loose

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a 6-foot-4, 220-pound husband who loves to Twist at every party we attend. For the short time he has been Twisting he has already torn to shreds one white dress shirt, one pair of dress slacks and three pairs of shorts. Have you any solution, Abby?

ALEXANDRIA

ABBY

DEAR ALEXANDRIA: Your husband is putting too much enthusiasm into "the dance." He needs a sedative.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going steady with Claude for 6 months. I am 17 and he is 19. He started college (in this city where we live) but quit because he couldn't see any future in it.

His mother blames me. She told him if he didn't stop seeing me she would take his car away. He works as a painter and that is good enough for him, but his mother thinks he should go back to college. I think he should do what he wants to do.

His mother has called me and told me to leave him alone. Abby, I love him and don't intend to leave him alone. We can't afford to get married yet. What should I do?

HEAVY HEART

DEAR HEAVY: Claude's mother knows her son better than you do. If you can't encourage him to continue his education while he is young and able to, do him a favor and leave him alone.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon and the question of who should give me showers has come up. Someone told me showers shouldn't be given by a relative—only by a friend. My problem is, I don't have any friends. All I have is relatives. Now, who gives me the showers?

SUMMER BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: A shower should not be given by a CLOSE relative (a mother or sister). But a cousin may give one.

Brief Cooking Best for Asparagus

FRESH ASPARAGUS — It's springtime on toast, this platter of crisp-tender fresh asparagus topped with a flavorful sauce. Undercooking is the watchword for this best of all spring vegetables. As a change from just melted butter, serve it with a butter and egg sauce. Be sure to serve it often in season.

By JANET O'DELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Over the weekend we had the first asparagus from our own garden. Saturday we saw beautiful bunches of asparagus at the farmers' market. So the season is here and let's make the most of it.

Keep your bunches of asparagus in the refrigerator until you use them; and eat them within a couple of days after purchasing.

To be sure you won't be eating sand, remove all the scales along the lower part of the stalks after you have snapped the ends off. Then cook briefly.

You can cook asparagus full length in a pan with just enough water to cover the stalks. The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association says 5 minutes without a lid, 10 additional minutes covered.

If you want to cook it in an upright position, put 1½ inches of boiling salted water in the pan and allow an additional 3 to 5 minutes over the above cooking time for the tips to steam while the lower parts cook in the water.

★ ★ ★

We like sometimes to slice asparagus on the diagonal and cook it in just a little butter and water. Here is a similar recipe from the Western Growers Association.

Fresh Asparagus Cantonese

2 tablespoons salad oil
1 clove garlic, pressed
2 pounds fresh asparagus, sliced on diagonal
Salt and pepper

In frying pan heat oil almost to the smoking point. Stir in garlic. Then add asparagus. Cover. Then, as when making popcorn, shake pan rather vigorously for 3-5 minutes, holding it about an inch above the flame. (It is permissible to rest it occasionally for a few seconds right on the flame.) Asparagus should be tender-crisp. Season with salt and pepper.

Butter and Egg Sauce

2 lb. fresh asparagus
1 teaspoon salt
½-inch boiling water
6 slices whole-wheat toast
½ cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ground white pepper
3 hard-cooked eggs

Wash asparagus, remove scales from stalks, break off tough ends and wash again. Place in a saucepan with salt and ½-inch boiling water. Bring to boiling point and cook, uncovered 5 minutes. Cover and continue cooking until asparagus is crisp-tender, 10 minutes. Arrange toast on warm platter over which place asparagus.

In the meantime soften butter or margarine and mix with lemon juice, nutmeg and white pepper. Peel eggs, separate the yolks from whites. Put yolks through a sieve or chop fine and blend with the sauce. Spoon over the asparagus. Sprinkle with finely chopped hard-cooked egg whites. Yield: 6 servings.

★ ★ ★

If you adore Italian food and want your asparagus to be more than the vegetable course, try the following recipe. It calls for a spicy tomato sauce and two kinds of cheese.

Asparagus Parmigiano

1 onion, chopped
1 garlic clove, minced
3 tablespoons oil
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon Tabasco
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
¼ teaspoon thyme
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
4 ounces Mozzarella cheese, thinly sliced
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Drain cooked asparagus and arrange in shallow baking dish. Saute onion and garlic in oil until golden. Add salt, Tabasco and tomatoes. Simmer, uncovered, 10 minutes. Add thyme and tomato sauce; simmer 20 minutes longer. Pour sauce over asparagus.

Place slices of Mozzarella cheese over top. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Lamb Roll Holds Green Beans

Coming to the aid of busy homemakers are versatile ground meats and all the many ways they may be prepared.

Next time, choose ground lamb for a change. Select an enticing recipe with a new twist,.. like Lamb and Bean Whirls, and you'll have an easy-does-it meal that attracts praise as well.

The ground lamb is mixed with tomato juice and seasoned with herbs. The meat is rolled as a jelly roll around cooked frenched green beans. The roll is sliced and the colorful whirls are cooked in the broiler. It's so simple to prepare, yet makes a very impressive main course.

Lamb and Bean Whirls

1½ pounds ground lamb
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon basil
¼ teaspoon thyme
½ cup tomato juice
1 package (9 ounces) frozen frenched green beans, cooked

Mix together lamb, salt, pepper, basil, thyme and tomato juice. Place on waxed paper and shape into a 10x12-inch rectangle. Spread green beans over meat.

Beginning with a 10-inch side, roll as a jelly roll. Cut into 10 slices, each 1 inch thick. Place on broiler pan so the top surface of the lamb whirls is 2 to 3 inches from the heat.

Broil until brown on first side, 8 to 10 minutes. Turn and brown on second side, about 2 to 3 minutes. 5 servings.

All Sausage Sold Here Has to Pass Strict Test

Michigan sausage laws are among the most strict in the country! All wholesale sausage manufacturers must be licensed by the state and meet the standards of the Michigan Comminuted Meat Law. This means that if a package of cold cuts bears the label of Michigan Grade 1, a homemaker may be assured of not only a sanitary product, but also one that is palatable and nutritious.

In fact, packers that ship across state lines to us must not only comply with the federal laws, but they must also comply with these Michigan laws — and outside packers often have to have 2 formulas because our state laws are so rigid.

New Touch to Meatballs Add Barbecue Beans

Marvelous meatballs! The magic ingredient? Barbecue beans. Soak 1 slice of bread, cut in cubes, in 2 tablespoons of milk. Combine with ½ pound ground beef, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon oregano, and pepper.

Shape into 10 meatballs; brown in 1 tablespoon of butter in skillet. Add a can (16 ounces) barbecue beans and another ⅛ teaspoon oregano. Heat, stirring now and then. Serve to 2 or 3.

Honey Pancake Sauce

Hot honey-cinnamon sauce is delicious on buttermilk pancakes. To make 1 cup of sauce, combine ¼ cup of butter with ¾ cup of honey and ½ teaspoon of cinnamon in a small saucepan. Heat slowly, stirring occasionally. Leftovers should be refrigerated.

Dainty Maple Dessert Is a Pudding-Cake

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

How do new recipes happen? They certainly don't come out of the blue! There are only so many basic recipes in the world —all others are variations on these themes.

Take this excellent dessert recipe for Maple Spongettes. It's the offspring of an old pudding recipe flavored with lemon, one that has gone under a number of names—among them Spongettes, Caketop Puddings, and Puffs.

This recipe happened because a bright cook thought of substituting maple-blended syrup for the sugar, lemon rind and lemon juice usually used—adjusting the amounts, of course.

We like to add extra flavor to these Maple Spongettes by serving them with maple-flavored cream. If you want to do this, just beat together half a cup of heavy cream with two tablespoons of maple-blended syrup and a few grains of salt. You can put this whipped cream in your freezer, if you like, to have the topping ready.

If you plan to serve the spongettes to toddlers in your family, you may wish to omit the nuts from their portions before baking the spongettes.

Maple Spongettes

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
⅓ cup maple-blended syrup
2 eggs (separated)
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
¼ cup chopped pecans

Cream butter; gradually beat in syrup. Beat egg yolks until they begin to thicken and look pale yellow; beat into butter mixture—it may look curdled. Add flour and milk; beat until smooth.

With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff. Fold egg white mixture into yolk mixture. Turn into 6 buttered custard cups. Sprinkle tops with pecans. Place in a shallow pan of hot water ½ inch deep.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 40 minutes, or until cake-like layer on top is golden and custard underneath is just set when a knife is inserted. Cool about 30 minutes before serving, or serve cold.

Bombe Needn't Be So Difficult

If you've always admired bombes from afar, you'll be delighted to find one you can turn out sans special mold, sans freezer space — in fact sans ice cream mixture. All it takes are frozen raspberries, sweetened whipped cream, an oven-proof bowl and a package of brand-new Raspberry Sundae Angel Food Cake Mix.

The bombe shape results from baking the cake in a bowl. The traditional fruit flavor is all the way through the cake. And the mixture of whipped cream and raspberries frosted petal-fashion atop the cake will give you as elegant a centerpiece as any concoction turned out by a French pastry chef.

Petal Cake

1 package Raspberry Sundae Angel Food Cake Mix
2 cups whipping cream
¼ cup powdered sugar
10 oz. package frozen raspberries

Prepare Angel Food Cake Mix as directed on package and bake at 350 degrees in 3½ or 4-quart Pyrex bowl for 35 to 40 minutes. Cool cake thoroughly before removing from bowl. Remove cake by running spatula along sides, pressing it so that it curves down into base of bowl.

Defrost, and drain frozen raspberries. In a small bowl, combine raspberry juice (about ¼ cup), powdered sugar and whipping cream; whip until thickened. Place cake with rounded side up; frost outside of cooled cake, creating petals with spatula strokes. Spoon well drained raspberries over top.

Rice Muffins Symbolize New Spring Season

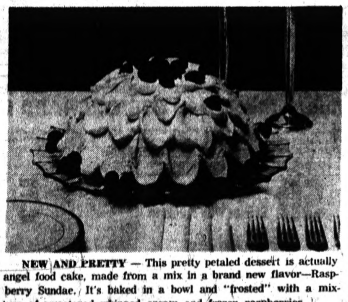

With spring, the whole country seems to wake up, stretch and rubbing its eyes, say, "My goodness, it's time to get myself back in shape."

The fertile earth displays its first buds, blades of grass, and bright spring flowers. Rice was an ancient symbol of fertility so you might wish to add a tasty dish prepared from this grain to your menu.

Delicious Rice Muffins, a delightful addition to a leisurely breakfast, or lunch and dinner, can be prepared with rice now being donated to needy families by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Sift together 1 cup flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon baking powder and ¼ teaspoon salt. Beat 1 egg and combine with ½ cup milk, 1½ tablespoons melted shortening or oil and 2-3 cup cooked rice. Add milk mixture to dry ingredients and mix only until combined.

Fill greased muffin pans 2-3 full. Bake at 375 degrees for 25-30 minutes or until brown. Serves 6.

NEW AND PRETTY — This pretty petaled dessert is actually angel food cake, made from a mix in a brand new flavor—Raspberry Sundae. It's baked in a bowl and "frosted" with a mixture of sweetened whipped cream and frozen raspberries.

Hawaii Alone Produces Macadamias

By JEANNE LESEM
United Press International

KEAAU, Hawaii (UPI) — The macadamia is a tough nut to crack but this is only one of the reasons for its rarity.

An executive at the orchard here calls these ¾-inch, hard shelled nuts "probably the rarest of Hawaiian foods." Only Hawaii produces macadamias commercially on a large scale. Annual production of the macadamia here is only about 1½ million pounds, compared with 160 million pound walnut and 16 million pound filbert crops on the Mainland.

Slow growth, hand-harvesting and hand-processing largely are responsible for the small production, said John F. Cross, vice president and orchard manager for the Royal Hawaiian Macadamia Nut Co. This and the Honokaa Sugar Co., also in Hawaii, are the major producers among some 15 in the state. The trees are native to Australia, but commercial production there is negligible.

A tree must be five years old before it produces mature edible nuts, Cross explained, as we toured the orchard seven miles south of Hilo. A tree reaches full production in 15 years. Each tree bears thousands of blossoms annually but 100 blossoms may produce only six mature macadamias.

Hand-harvesting still predominates, although a new machine in limited use can harvest 4,000 pounds of the product in the eight hours needed to harvest 400 pounds by hand. Macadamias are harvested only after they fall to the ground naturally. Those on the branches lack oil content and flavor, Cross said.

USED MORE

Partly because of their rarity, macadamias are known on the Mainland largely as snack food. But Hawaiian restaurants and soda fountains use them as ingredients.

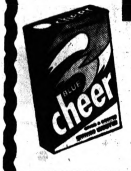

Ground macadamias are served in sundaes, cakes, pastries, and other desserts, as a relish for fish and as breading for turkey cutlets made from boneless white meat.

The flavor is faintly reminiscent of almonds and Brazil nuts. Their name honors an Australian botanist, Dr. John Macadam, who first called attention to their edibility.

Cross said that the macadamia industry is only five years old, commercially, although trees have thrived in Hawaii since importation in the late 19th century. They were strictly ornamental for many years and some were used for reforestation.

The leaves look so much like holly that Hawaiian housewives used to make wreaths from the branches.

BEEF TONGUE — Even slices of beef tongue make fine eating, whether they are hot or cold. Beef tongue is usually an economical meat and those who enjoy it welcome its appearance with something like stuffed green peppers. The tongue may be fresh, sugar cured or smoked.

Beef Tongue Deserves to Be Served Oftener

Why not explore the meat counter for a new adventure? Many cuts of meat often go unnoticed and too often we turn to the old faithfuls. One cut to consider in your exploration is the cured and smoked beef tongue which introduces an entirely new flavor and texture. Many consider it a delicacy.

Beef tongues range in weight from 2½ to 5 pounds. In addition to the cured and smoked tongue you may also purchase the sugar cured or fresh tongue. They are cooked in gently simmering water using the fork-tender test as a guide to doneness.

When sliced tongue is served hot, a colorful complement might be vegetable stuffed green peppers. For cold "day after" service cut the tongue into cubes to be speared on wooden picks and dipped into an avocado-blue cheese mixture.

Martha Logan of meat headquarters gives some helpful suggestions for carving beef tongue. For serving hot allow the tongue to cool slightly after removing from the water. The bones and gristle should be removed from the thick end and the skin peeled off from the thick end to the tip being careful not to roughen the surface of the tongue.

Using a sharp knife and starting at the tip make lengthwise slices. As you proceed toward the thick end change the angle of the slices so that the slices are cut crosswise when the thick end of the tongue is reached.

Cut ¼ inch thick slices to serve hot. For cold service chill the tongue for easier carving. When carved into ⅛ inch slices for serving cold, a 2½ pound tongue will yield 26 to 28 slices, 3½ pound tongue, 28 to 30 slices, and a 4½ pound tongue, 32 to 35 slices.

Tongue With Stuffed Peppers

4 to 5 pound beef tongue
4 large green peppers
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup mushrooms
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup rice, cooked
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
8 ounce can green peas

Cook tongue according to directions on label. Cut each green pepper in half. Remove seeds and membrane. Cook in boiling water for 5 minutes. Cook onion and mushrooms in butter for about 5 minutes. Combine cooked rice, pimiento, and peas with onions and mushrooms.

Fill green pepper cups with rice mixture and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 to 25 minutes. Serve hot with tongue. Makes 8 servings.

Tongue Tid-Bits

2 cups cooked cubed tongue
1 ripe medium-sized avocado, mashed
¼ cup dairy soured cream
2 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese, optional
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon white wine vinegar

Whip together all ingredients except tongue. Place each tongue cube on a wooden pick and stick each pick into any desired holder, such as cabbage or grapefruit. Place avocado mixture in a bowl. Serve as a dip for tongue cubes. Makes 1 cup dip.

Fool the Family

To prevent your family from thinking they'll have to wait hours for dinner when you've had an afternoon out, set the table before the gang gets home even if you haven't planned the menu. It will create the illusion that you're on schedule.

Freeze Meat in Gravy to Protect Flavor

URBANA, Ill. (UPI) — When freezing cooked meat, make sure to combine it with a sauce or gravy.

The University of Illinois home economics department recommends this procedure because the sauce or gravy assures a more airtight package and has been shown to protect the meat during freezer storage.

Package the cooked meat carefully, home economists advise, leaving space at the top of the container for expansion during freezing. Transfer the package to the freezer immediately and store it at zero degrees or below.

Orange and Cinnamon Do Wonders for Chops

Here are pork chops with real personality! Trim 4 pork chops (about 1 pound) and sprinkle with salt, pepper, and cinnamon. Brown well in skillet. Add 1 can (10½ ounces) mushroom gravy and 1 to 2 tablespoons frozen concentrated orange juice. Cover and cook over low heat about 45 minutes, or until meat is tender. Baste now and then with gravy.

Protect Floor

Before you defrost the refrigerator, spread a bathmat on the floor to catch spills and protect the floor covering. Afterwards, it can be machine-washed easily.

U. S. Might Go Bean-less Without Michigan Crop

Boston may have made them famous . . . but Michigan grows them! . . . 99 per cent of all the navies produced in the United States are grown in Michigan. The combination of soil in the growing regions and the lake swept breezes are said to account for the unusually fine flavor of Michigan Navy Beans.

★ ★ ★

The big canners buy over 50 per cent of Michigan's bean crop. They prefer Michigan navies because they won't mush up when cooked. Americans consume an average of 7 pounds per capita a year. Michigan's latest crop (harvested last fall) totaled nearly 7 million 100-lb. bags.

Campanella Winning Biggest Victories in Wheel Chair

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Roy Campanella, the great Dodger catcher who broke his neck in a car accident four years ago, today is winning little physical triumphs which by comparison make the massive muscular achievements of his baseball career seem tame.

One night not long ago his housekeeper stepped outside the door of Roy's 16th-floor apartment to pick up a newspaper and the wind from an open window blew the door shut.

It was a special snap lock, and her key was inside the apartment.

She knocked, and called to Roy to let her back in.

Campanella, who cannot move his legs, slowly wheeled his chair over to the door and, after great effort, was able to place his hands on the knob—which could be turned from that side of the door.

★ ★ ★

The hands that gripped and swung a thousand clubs, which caught and squeezed baseballs until the stitched covers whinnied, struggled now to turn the knob. He couldn't turn it.

REMEMBERED CLOTH

Roy called to the woman to wait, he'd think of something. He sat back in his chair to think that one through. Then he remembered a damp dish cloth in the kitchen.

He rolled to it, picked it off the sink, and came back to the knob. This time, he shouted to her, he'd have the friction he needed.

He couldn't turn it.

Now he'd have to think of something else, he called, and he did. He told her to go downstairs and outside and he'd throw the key out the open window to her. It would be wrapped in the dish cloth, he said.

It was not easy—nothing is — for Campanella. But this was one of those little things he was going to lick, a millimeter milestone on what must at times seem an endless road.

He got the key, wrapped and knotted it in the cloth and wheeled himself to the window.

TEETERS DANGEROUSLY

It is impossible for him to extend his limp, curled hands more than a few inches forward.

But in time, teetering dangerously on his chair, he knew he was far enough forward to clear the window sill when he dropped the package.

Roy wheeled himself around the apartment. A stick was what he now needed, a stick to push it off the ledge. But there was no stick, he knew without even looking. Yet he must find a way.

Then an inspiration.

The housekeeper had finished a roll of aluminum wrapping foil that night and he had noted that she had thrown the empty paper cylinder in the garbage pail. He wheeled back into the kitchen and retrieved it.

Then into another room where he keeps one of the many remarkable aids developed at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, New York University-Bellevue.

It fits around the back and palm of the hand and there is an incision in it, into which can be placed a fork, or knife, or spoon, toothbrush, etc.

SUCCESS IN SIGHT

Roy slowly raised the paper cylinder to his mouth, bit the end of it flat, and painstakingly fitted the flat section into the hand band.

Now he would be able to reach the marooned package and knock it on its way to the earth below.

He couldn't reach it. The cylinder was long enough, but he couldn't reach far enough out over the sill to touch the package, which was near the face of the building.

He sat back in his chair and the sweat was on him now. But he couldn't come that close and fail. By God, he'd find a way.

He closed his eyes, and when he opened them again he had found a way. He bent the cylinder, gave it an angle that would bring it straight down from the sill.

He fished and fished and found the rag, and ever so slowly moved it to the edge—and over, by God.

Fair Board Tones Down Girlie Show in Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The girls of the galaxy show were back in business at the Seattle World's Fair Wednesday night, still semi-nude but not quite so racy.

The show was closed April 25 after Seattle censors said it had been changed from the version they approved. The new format was passed by the Board of Theatrical Supervisors Tuesday. Under the revised format, comedian Jose Duarte spends more time on stage and the bare-breasted girls less.

A local restaurateur claims his place is a perfect spot to relax these days—the air conditioning is working, and the TV set isn't . . . To be a gentleman is a worthy trait, but it's a great handicap in an argument . . . If the world's getting smaller, how come they keep raising the postage rates?—Earl Wilson.

Jazz King Now in Scotland

Satchmo to Rest a Year

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Louis Armstrong says he plans to take a year off from trumpet blowing—and spend six months of it sleeping.

"I'm just going to take a long rest," said Satchmo, who was stricken with pneumonia in 1959. He'll be 62 on July 4.

"I'm going to take a year out so I can get down to some reading, writing and arranging tape recordings.

Astronaut Doctor Sees Accent on Youth One Day

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Stanley White, medical man for the U.S. astronauts, said Wednesday younger men may be used in the American space program some day.

"We are trying now to pick a man who will still be a good risk three or four years later," he told a meeting of the Harris County Medical Society.

John H. Glenn Jr., first American to orbit the earth, is 40.

White described the ideal astronaut this way: "He would be 18 years old, have a Ph.D. and 25 years' flight engineering experience."

Trouble in 2nd Stage Doomed the Centaur

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Trouble in the second stage caused the first Centaur space rocket to explode on its maiden flight, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reports.

There was immediate concern that the Atlas first stage was at fault. If this had been so, the forthcoming orbital flight of astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter might have been affected. A similar Atlas is to boost Carpenter aloft.

Following the Centaur post-mortem, Project Mercury officials reported they were moving ahead with plans to launch Carpenter on May 17. The shot could be delayed, however, if technical problems develop during tests and checkouts which still lie ahead.

FABULOUS DESSERT — Nutty ice cream balls appeal to young and old alike. Scooped and rolled in a mixture of peanut butter and fine rolled honey graham cracker crumbs, the snowball-size treats are then put in the freezer until time to serve with chocolate-flavored sauce.

Simply Elegant Dessert Given a New Touch

For goodness knows how many years there existed on New York's Park Avenue, in the Fifties, a fabulous place to go for lunch or early dinner. It was a place equally beloved by couples meeting for a leisurely meal, by matrons before a matinee, by mothers with children on a school holiday. Gorgeous with white rococo woodwork, red velvet banquettes and crystal chandeliers, it was famous for certain menu items that never changed.

Those for whom it is now a fond memory will never forget, for instance, the great puffy popovers that arrived, with generous blocks of butter, as soon as a guest was seated. And of the desserts the all-around favorite was the oversize and perfectly delicious ice cream ball.

It came on a large glass plate, vanilla ice cream like a giant snowball rolled in ground peanut crumbs and set in a rich dark pool of chocolate sauce. People who took dieting seriously simply had to refrain from going within a mile of the Town and Country because it seemed impossible to approach nearer without falling into temptation.

Though the original ice cream balls are no more, they can be copied today in any home, and it's even possible — if one hasn't a peanut chopper handy — to make a "crumb" which is equally tasty and quite a bit less fattening. So roll the big scoops of vanilla ice cream in this crumb, put them in the freezing compartment until dessert time, and then set them in their fine chocolate syrup pools for serving.

Using a fortified chocolate syrup (with vitamins added) also reduces any guilt feeling about the calories in the ice cream. Here's the simple recipe:

Peanut Butter Ice Cream Balls

1 cup sugar honey graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup creamy or chunk - style peanut butter
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 quare vanilla ice cream
Fortified chocolate-flavored syrup

Blend graham cracker crumbs, peanut butter, sugar and cinnamon. Scoop ice cream into large balls and roll in crumb mixture until well coated. Freeze until serving time. Serve with chocolate syrup. Makes 6-8 servings.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Blend 1 cup of mayonnaise with 3 tablespoons of frozen grapefruit juice concentrate, undiluted, to make a tart dressing for seafood salads.

Don't Worry About Pink Meat in Cooked Turkey

What causes pinkness in cooked turkey meat? Pink-tinted turkey meat is perfectly good. Pinkness is caused by various gaseous substances in the atmosphere of any heated oven or on top of the range.

These substances react with traces of hemoglobin in the meat to give a pink or reddish color. The gaseous substances causing the reaction are the same chemically as those used in the brining and soaking processes of curing meat.

Frozen Brussels Sprouts Become Cocktail Treat

NEW YORK (UPI) — Neapolitan cocktail nibbles welcome your guests Italian-style and make a good beginning for a festive dinner. To serve 6, make marinade as follows: Combine ¾ cup of olive or salad oil, ¼ cup of vinegar, 1 tablespoon of sugar, 2 tablespoons of prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon of capers, chopped, ¼ teaspoon of basil and ⅛ teaspoon of oregano; blend or shake well.

Add 1 (10-ounce) package of frozen brussels sprouts to marinade and chill 3 hours, stirring occasionally. Drain sprouts and arrange on cocktail picks.

Shortage of iron in the diet can lead to nutritional anemia.

Olive Oil With Beets

Drain 1-lb. can of beets, add 2 tablespoons olive oil, 1 teaspoon vinegar, ¾ teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon dry or prepared mustard, with 1 tablespoon beet juice. Cover, place over moderate heat until beets are just heated through. Good hot or cold.

★ ★ ★

Occupancy throughout the hospital averaged above 100 per cent for the third time this year. The emergency department treated 304 cases from Friday to midnight Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The busiest day was Sunday when 130 emergency cases were seen by the medical staff. Comparative figures show that over 900 more emergency patients have been seen at the hospital this year than were seen as of this time last year.

★ ★ ★

Other figures also released this week, show income exceeded expenses by $1,692 in the fourth accounting period ended April 21.

Republican Attacks Labor Leader's Record

Swainson Appointment Angers Senators

LANSING (AP)—Paul Silver, a rugged union leader from Detroit with a police record dating back 34 years, made some senators boiling mad when Gov. Swainson named him to a minor state post recently.

★ ★ ★

Swainson shot back "unfair," and backed up the appointment. Silver called the senator a liar.

The appointment—to the nine-member State Hospital Advisory Council—is a minor one.

Silver, 57, is president of Detroit UAW Local 351 and a member of the Democratic State Central Committee.

"He was known as 'Heigh-Ho Silver' back in the days when he was being arrested for picket violations," Sen. John P. Smeekens R-Coldwater, said. "No strike was complete without him.

"He has a police record dating back to 1928," said Smeekens, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee. "I think we could look around and find a better and more qualified man to advise the state on hospital policies."

SMEEKENS CHARGES

Swekens said Silver had served a sentence in the Southern Michigan Prison.

Actually the record shows that Silver was sentenced in 1940 to six months to five years in prison for negligent homicide after being charged with involuntary manslaughter. He won a new trial in 1943 and was convicted again, and given five years probation with no driving.

Said Silver, contacted in Atlantic City, where he was attending a UAW convention:

"Lord-mother Smeekens is commonly known as a liar. If there was the least spark of decency in him, he would have faced me before the Senate Business Committee hearing.

"Smeekens, who is never interested in the truth, made a typical Smeekens attack," Silver said, "without having the slightest concern about the effect on myself and my family. In his usually cowardly way, he hid behind the immunity that cloaks him as a legislator. I challenge him to make the same statements outside the legislative halls or to waive his legislative immunity."

On the involuntary manslaughter charge, Silver said it involved a case of an elderly man stepping off the curb in front of his car at Grand River and Washington Boulevard in Detroit.

"I was completely cleared on that charge," Silver said.

Smeekens previously had asked that approval of the appointment be put over for one day. He later asked that the Senate "leave well enough alone" and reject it.

BLASTS SMEEKENS

Sen. Lynn O. Francis, R-Midland, Republican caucus chairman, then asked Smeekens to produce evidence to support his opposition to the appointment.

Gov. Swainson replied in a hastily-prepared statement that Silver had not served any prison term as charged, and termed Smeekens "most unfair, not only to Mr. Silver but also to his family."

★ ★ ★

The Democratic governor cited Silver's "experience, abilities and interest" in hospitals as reasons for the appointment. "I still have no doubt that he meets these qualifications for appointment," he said.

Wants Apology From Swainson

Rep. Handy Says Veto of Approval Bill Is Slap at Lawmakers

LANSING (AP) — A Republican legislator says Gov. Swainson made "slanderous remarks about the integrity and leadership of the Michigan legislature" and wants a public apology.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Gail Handy, R-Eau Claire, made the demand yesterday in calling on the House to override the governor's veto of a bill to require legislative approval of rules adopted by state agencies, boards or commissions before they can take effect.

★ ★ ★

Swainson said the bill would hamstring efficient administration of state government.

Passage of the bill, he said, indicated that the approach of the ultra-conservative John Birch Society to government operations had infiltrated the legislature.

"It is a tool of minority rule which is repulsive to Democratic demands for efficient, economical and responsive government," he said.

A SLAP IN THE FACE

Handy, sponsor of the bill, told legislators the governor's remarks were "morally disgusting and an open-handed slap in the face to the voters of Michigan who have elected this legislature."

Handy asserted that the bill was an attempt to return to the legislature its constitutional rights. These, he said, have been usurped by the executive and judicial branches of government.

Said the 64-year-old lawmaker: "It is about time we decided who is going to run this state, the appropriate branches of government as provided in our constitution, or some political appointees of that young lad in the front office."

Swainson's attitude, he said, "smells of dictatorship."

Young Polar Bear Twin

Monster Out of the Past — Iguana

Zoo's Who

By RALPH HUMMEL

A chimp named Joey was launched in a white rocket.

And 20 newsmen clapped like kids.

Merely? Well, almost merely. All but for the noise, the tension, the excitement, the success of a well-trained mission.

The Detroit Zoo has all of these in its trained chimp show under the motto "Project Blast-Off."

Under the command of trainers Bill Polovich and Ernie Soderberg, Chief Astrochimps Jazbo and Joey and nine other fellow chimpanauts showed star travelers' endurance in tests while bareback on bucking broncos, in triple head stands atop steel poles, rolling the barrels, speeding on motorcycles and racing in cars against humans—and winning!

The show was hailed by newsmen who had seen other performances in other years, as the fastest-paced and most sensational.

Some distance away, the Judas trees and crab-apple trees were blooming dusky lavender and white, the birds were twittering in the morning silence, and a small white polar bear—one of two pairs of twins—was squealing:

"Look, Mom! What are those?"

"That's really a joke," she explained, stretching her 10-foot height up the wire mesh on her hind legs. "They're really vicious! Look at Poor Li'l Brown Bear!"

Poor Li'l Brown Bear was being carried back-end and neck-end in the hands of a human outside his cage. He was growling and yelping desperately.

Li'l Brown Bear was unhappy.

"That's why there is the wire mesh and steel cars between them and us," explained Moma Polar Bear wisely. "But most times the humans don't attack us like that."

★ ★ ★

A morning-sun-red-breasted robin saw the train move along the green and white and purple trees. It followed all along the path to the elephant house, where four of the thick-hiders paraded in caps just like those of some human military officers to the tune of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

LIONS LOOK UP

"Dinner," said one.

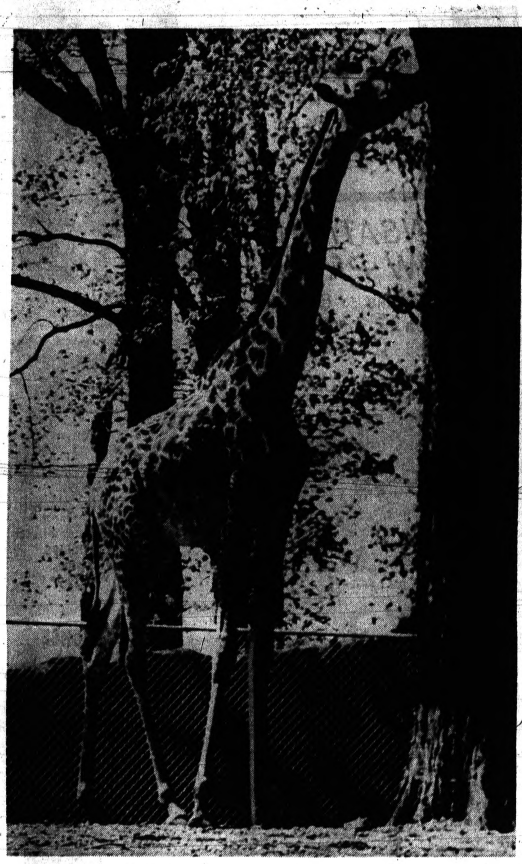

"Too skinny," said another.

The visiting hours for the Detroit Zoological Park, 8450 W. 10-Mile Road, Royal Oak, are:

Weekdays—10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Sundays and holidays—9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Opening lead—♠ 5

By OSWALD JACOBY

Look only at the North and South hands while you plan your play as declarer at three no-trump.

The spade opening is not what you had hoped for and you will want to keep East out of the lead is possible.

East plays the ten of spades on West's opening lead. You note that you cannot afford to let it hold, and you win the trick and must try to find eight more.

You must go after one of the red suits and because you have eight diamonds as against seven hearts you attack the diamonds.

When dummy's jack holds the first diamond trick business is looking up. You return to your hand by leading a club and overtaking. You are going to need as many entries as possible.

A second diamond lead is won by the jack and East shows out, but this is just a minor irritation. You cash the ace of diamonds; return to your hand with a second club, carefully preserving a third club entry, and give West his king of diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three diamonds your partner has raised your two heart bid to three. What do you do now?

If West leads a heart you cannot afford the luxury of a finesse in that suit. Instead you must rise with the ace, return to your hand with the third club and cash that last diamond.

Watch That Mower! Doctor Gives Rules

With the drone of power-driven lawn mowers about to start, Dr. John D. Monroe of the Oakland County Department of Health offered tips today on how to lower the number of injuries.

Both power and hand-driven mowers are not completely safe in use because they can cut most things they touch besides grass, Dr. Monroe said.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that 75,000 power mower accidents occur each year.

More than half the injuries are to the feet and hands. About one-third involve different parts of the body when stones or pieces of metal are thrown by the mower blades. These missiles can have the impact of a 22-caliber bullet.

Since most injuries are due to carelessness or error on the part of persons using mowers, Dr. Monroe advises these precautions:

1. Remove stones, sticks and other objects from the lawn.
2. Check all bolts, nuts and screws to see that they are properly tightened.
3. Add fuel before starting the engine, never while the engine is running.
4. Keep hands and feet away from mower blades when starting the mowing.
5. Learn how to stop the mower's engine quickly.
6. Children and pets should be at a safe distance from the mower, preferably inside the house.
7. Stop engine before pushing mower across gravel driveways, walks or roads.
8. Be sure of footing when mowing slopes or when grass is wet.
9. Never plug in an electric mower when it's raining.
10. The mower should always be moving away from the operator.
11. Sit-down mowers can turn over on sloping ground.
12. Disconnect the spark wire before checking or cleaning mower.
13. Mowers with crank-type starters should not be in a charged position until ready for use.
14. Keep fuel in marked, closed container in a safe place.
15. At all times, stop the engine when the mower is left unattended.
16. Scan the path in advance of the mower at all times for objects that might be thrown.

Earl Warren Jr. Starts Campaign for Gov. Brown

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Earl Warren Jr., son of the chief justice of the United States, took the campaign trail today for Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown three months after changing party affiliation.

★ ★ ★

"The Republicans are drifting away from my father's brand of Republicanism," said the son of the former California governor.

Brown is seeking re-election. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon seeks the Republican nomination in the June 5 primary and his chief rival in that contest is Assemblyman Joseph Shell of Los Angeles.

Young Warren, 32, said of Nixon, "I haven't been able to see that he has any philosophy that you can hang your hat on. He opposes spending but offers no alternatives. It is difficult to tell what motivates him and who is guiding him."

Russia, Stepping Up Trade With Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Russia's economic offensive in Brazil gathered speed today with an announcement by the foreign ministry that trade between the two countries would double this year.

The ministry said total trade in 1962 should reach $80 million.

Last night, Soviet Foreign Commerce Minister Mikolai S. Patolichev said Soviet trade with Latin America except Cuba — was now small but that it would rise greatly.

Patolichev just concluded an agreement with Brazil by which the Soviet Union will buy 40,000 tons of Brazilian coffee and sell 500,000 tons of crude oil, 300,000 tons of wheat and $310 million of machinery.

94-Year-Old Settler Lives in Pioneer Sod House

ALINE, Okla. (AP) — An original sod house of the type used by pioneer settlers in Oklahoma is still in a good state of preservation a few miles south of Aline in north-central Oklahoma. It was built in 1894 on a homestead staked in the Cherokee Strip run of 1893.

And the original owner still owns it. He is 94-year-old Marshall McCully. The sod house is near the more modern farm home erected by the McCully family in 1909.

Colavito and Kaline Star in 6-3 Detroit Triumph

'Let Bat Fly' Plan Has Kaline at .363

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One of the baseball season's best kept promises may be the one made by Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers.

"I made up my mind," Kaline said, "to let the bat fly this year and not guard the plate so much. I wanted to attack the ball and hit it hard somewhere.

"If I do that, I think I'll be of more value to the club. That's the way I was swinging in 1955 and '56 (the only two seasons in which he batted in more than 100 runs)."

The present season is barely one-eighth over and Kaline is already more than a fourth of the way toward his third 100-RBI year.

In fact, this may be even a better start than he had in 1955, when he won the American League batting title at the age of 20 with an average of .340.

Last night Kaline hit a run-scoring double and a 420-foot homer his ninth this season — as the Tigers defeated the Los Angeles Angels, 6-3.

AP Photofax

AP Photofax

GETTING A FOOT ACROSS — Detroit's Jake Wood gets one foot across the corner of the plate to score from third base on a fielder's choice in the third inning of last night's game with the Los Angeles Angels at Los Angeles. The Los Angeles catcher is Bob Rodgers. The Tigers scored a 6-3 triumph to square their record at 11-11.

Swing Bats for 5 RBIs at Los Angeles

Big Catch by Rocky Helps Jim Bunning Keep Spree Going

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rocky Colavito slammed in three runs and robbed the Angels of a homer to help Detroit's Jim Bunning to his sixth straight triumph over Los Angeles last night, 6-3.

It was Bunning's fourth win for the Tigers in five decisions this season. Al Kaline hit his ninth home run to move into an American League tie with Leon Wagner of Los Angeles in the home run race.

Kaline also hit a run-scoring double and was two-for-four for the night. Wagner's first-inning triple was his only hit in four at-bats.

The Angels, trailing 6-1, threatened in the seventh. With two on, pinch hitter Earl Averill doubled to score one. Hank Aguirre replaced Bunning on the mound.

Billy Moran, attempting a sacrifice fly, slammed what looked at first like a homer, but Colavito's backhand stab into the stands made it two out. The sacrifice worked, but Wagner flied out to end the rally.

BOWSFIELD LOSES

Ted Bowsfield absorbed the loss, his second in three decisions. He gave up six runs and five of the Tigers' six hits. Bowsfield last year lost his only two contests against the Tigers.

The Angels managed nine hits in all, but most of them were wasted. Colavito threw out a runner at home to hold a four-hit Angel fourth inning to one run.

Jake Wood was the first Tiger to score, in the third, he singled and stole second, his sixth successful steal in six tries. Bowman's pick - off attempt went into center field, and Wood took third.

Billy Bruton grounded to Moran, but reached first when Moran tried, unsuccessfully, to throw Wood out at the plate. Kaline's double scored Bruton.

Wood touched off the three-run Tiger fifth with a ground-rule double. Bruton was hit by a pitch, and Kaline reached first on another unsuccessful fielder's choice. Colavito's triple scored them all.

Simmons, Stan Poison to Giants

By The Associated Press

A comeback pitcher who has again found the victory touch, a reserve catcher with a hot bat, and an aging marvel who is simply one of the greatest hitters in baseball annals.

That was the vital combination as the St. Louis Cardinals threw a roadblock at San Francisco's streaking Giants in the National League's feature attraction Wednesday night.

Left-hander Curt Simmons, an ailment-plagued reject by Philadelphia when he was picked up by the Cards two years ago, maintained his perfect season's record in the 7-3 win. Carl Sawatski, second string catcher behind Gene Oliver, sparked the attack.

NEARS ANOTHER MARK

And Stan Musial, the durable great, closed in on still another record with a pair of singles that lifted his league leading average to a sensational .394.

Simmons became the first pitcher to go the distance against the Giants this year in their 28 games, throwing a nine-hitter in his fifth victory and fifth complete game in as many starts. Sawatski drove in four runs with a homer and two singles, zooming his average to .389. And Musial, the frisky 41-year-old, inched to within one hit of Honus Wagner's NL record of 3,420.

But most important for the runner-up Cards was shaving the Giants' pace-setting margin to three games.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles moved into third place in the NL with a handy 9-2 romp against Houston. Cincinnati clouted Philadelphia 7-4 as unbeaten right-hander Bob Purkey won his fifth in a row, and Milwaukee outlasted Pittsburgh 4-2, dropping the Pirates into fourth place. Cold weather at Chicago forced postponement of the New York-Cubs game.

YIELDS THREE HOMERS

Simmons, who had lost four straight to the Giants over the last four years, was rapped for three homers among the nine hits he allowed but kept the league leaders in check. San Francisco blaster Orlando Cepeda hit homer No. 9 in the fourth, and reliever Mike McCormick and Jim Davenport connected in the seventh.

Sawatski boosted his average with a two-run single in the first, his homer in the fourth and a run-scoring single in the fifth. Curt Flood, another of the Cards' hot batsmen with his .350 mark, contributed a triple and two singles to the 12-hit total.

The Dodgers peppered Houston pitching for 14 singles and a pair of doubles, backing up a strong eight-hitter by southpaw Johnny Podres, in moving up a place. They are four games behind San Francisco, one back of St. Louis.

Nicking Dean Stone for 11 hits and four runs in seven innings, the Dodgers made it a rout with five more runs off Dave Giusti and Hal Woodeshick in the ninth. Jim Gilliam and Wally Moon had three hits each for Los Angeles.

Cincinnati also gave Purkey support, hammering Phillie pitchers for 15 hits. Purkey yielded only five hits and two earned runs. The Reds pounded in front by scoring twice off Art Mahaffey in the first and were ahead 6-1 after three.

ROBINSON POTENT

Frank Robinson, showing signs of breaking out of a prolonged slump, singled three times and knocked in three Cincinnati runs. Wally Post weighed in with a homer and single.

A 15-hit barrage led by Joe Adcock and Frank Bolling and neat stint of clutch relief by rookie Hank Fischer carried the Braves over the Pirates in a battle between contenders.

Adcock homered and singled and Bolling stroked three singles as Milwaukee took a 4-1 lead, but the Bucs threatened in the eighth by loading the bases against winner Ron Piche. Fischer came on with none out and allowed the Pirates to salvage only one run out of the rally.

The smallest crowd in Milwaukee County stadium history, 3,673, saw the Braves win for the third time in their last eight games. Pittsburgh now has dropped six of seven.

Tired Palmer Heads 57 in Colonial Play

In the minds of most of the star-studded field is a pay-window appointment for $7,000, but for Palmer the 7,112-yard, par 70 course offers a special challenge.

The Latrobe, Pa., belter already has five tournament championships tucked away this year and 31 during his illustrious career, but none bear the Colonial stamp.

OUSTED HIMSELF

The tour's leading money winner skyrocketed to a 76 in the final round here last year to eliminate himself from contention and help pave the way for Doug Sanders to tuck away the title with a one-over-par 281.

Palmer's tie for sixth place nevertheless was the best showing he's made here in seven excursions.

Palmer skipped Wednesday's pro-amateur but showed up in time to play a practice nine, which he termed "pretty good." He said he played well but was just generally dead tired.

FIVE-WAY TIE

The pro-am wound up in a five-way tie for low pro, with Dow Finsterwald, Don Fairfield, Joe Campbell, Bruce Crampton and Jacky Cupit shooting 68s and sharing 1261 each.

Ben Hogan, making one of his rare appearances on the pro circuit, also bypassed the pro-am. He toured the course earlier this week but decided to forego a practice round Wednesday.

Title Bout in Muddle

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Harold Johnson said today he doesn't feel like the National Boxing Association light heavyweight champion that he is and threatened to pull out of his title bout against Doug Jones Saturday night as the result of a continuing court feud with his manager over money.

But Alfred M. Klein, a member of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, said, "There's not the slightest chance" of the bout being called off.

"We'll get it straightened out," said Klein as he prepared for a conference with attorneys for Pat Olivieri, Johnson's manager. "I'm surprised he (Johnson) talked that way. All hands will confer and we'll have it worked out."

Johnson said in an interview that regardless of the consequences he would pull out of the 15-round nationally televised bout at the Arena if his purse is held in escrow by legal action or if Olivieri is allowed to take the manager's share immediately after the fight.

Olivieri subpenaed Johnson into court Wednesday to testify at a hearing at which the manager sought a preliminary injunction to block Johnson from going through with any matches not arranged or approved by Olivieri.

UNFAIR TREATMENT

Johnson said he didn't feel like a champion because he felt he was being treated unfairly and dragged into court where false accusations were made against him that he owed Olivieri money. He said the whole thing, occurring three days before his fight has upset him and he couldn't say what kind of a psychological effect it would have on him in the ring.

"Nothing ever happened to me like this before," he said. "Now it's just like something is drained out of me. My mind is all puzzled up. Maybe after I throw a few punches and get hit a few I'll probably forget the while thing."

Specifically, Olivieri's action Wednesday was aimed at George Gainford, Johnson's adviser and manager in New York State, who has been trying to arrange for a June title fight with Gustav Scholz in Germany, provided Johnson defeats Jones.

U.S. Is Third in Pentathlon

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—U.S. Naval Reserve officer Robert Beck of Philadelphia won the international penthathlon competition Wednesday despite finishing 13th in the 4,000-meter cross country run.

Beck ran the rugged course at Ft. Sam Houston in 15 minutes 37.6 for 889 points and a total of 4,678 in the five events—horseback riding, fencing, pistol shooting, swimming and cross country running.

Mexico won the team title with a total 12,817 points, followed by Brazil with 12,000, the United States with 11,365 and Uruguay with 1,072.

NAME MISSING

Beck's name didn't appear in the standings until he was ruled eligible for the championship after three events had been completed. He competed in riding, fencing and shooting as a reserve entry.

U.S. Army Lt. John Cox of Stamford, Conn., finished fourth in the run at 14:35.4, picking up 1,075 points and taking second place in the overall standings with 4,475 points.

U.S. airman Thomas Curry of Chicago won the cross country competition with 13:33.6, his 1,261 points gave him 3,371 for the meet.

U.S. Army Pvt. Davis Moberly of Sherman, Tex., turned in the second-best time in the run, 13:41.4, good for 1,237 points and a fifth-place total of 4,209.

NOT THIS TIME — Larry Burright (11) of the Los Angeles Dodgers slides back into second as Houston Colt 2nd sacker Joe Amalfitano got behind him to take the throw from pitcher Dean Stone. The pick-off failed as umpire Augie Donatelli took a close look at the play in 4th inning yesterday at Houston.

County Owner of 2 Entries Sees 150 MPH

Qualifying Races Start Saturday With 145.8 Seen Necessary

ROYAL OAK (UPI)—Industrialist Jim Robbins said today he believes it will take a speed of at least 145.8 miles an hour to qualify for the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Robins, who has two cars entered in the May 30 classic, also said he believed the magic 150 m.p.h. barrier, never before reached at Indy, may be broken when qualifying opens Saturday.

Robbins' best finish in the race came in 1951 when one of his cars driven by Mike Nazaruk came in second to Lee Wallard. His cars finished sixth and ninth in 1960.

Troy Ruttman of Dearborn, the 1952 winner, will drive one Robbins car this year. Chuck Weyant of Springfield, Ill., will drive the other.

Robbins expects his cars to qualify at 148 m.p.h., enough to put them well up in the field. Both will be ready to run Saturday.

LIKES TWO DRIVERS

The most likely drivers to hit 150 m.p.h. this year, according to Robins, are Parnelli Jones and Bobby Marshman. Jones, Torrance, Calif., was rookie of the year in 1961 and has been timed unofficially at 149.7 in practice this year.

Asked about the radical Mickey Thompson cars, Robbins said "it's very difficult to be able to do very well the first year. I think he's a tremendously capable individual and may get the cars in the race. But these are very radical cars."

The Thompson cars have a rear-mounted V-8 Buick engine. Both engine and chassis are built of lightweight materials. They weigh 500 pounds less than the standard Indianapolis car using a front-mounted cast-iron four-cylinder Offenhauser engine.

Asked about the race itself, Robins said he thought it would be about two miles an hour faster than the 139 m.p.h. winning speed of A. J. Foyt last year.

How are your chances? Robbins was asked. "I feel as good as I ever did, but never let myself get too optimistic because then I'd feel pretty bad if I didn't win," he said.

POST NO BILLS — This 6-year-old, St. Hugo, must have some notion as to why John C. Daniel, Detroit Race Course racing secretary, is looking for a spot to hammer up a sign. Daniel shows the dates of the DRC track meeting which starts Saturday afternoon and runs through July 31st.

Detroit Race Course Has Opener Saturday

The 12th thoroughbred season of the Detroit Race Course begins Saturday afternoon with the $5,000 Inaugural Handicap as the feature of the day. It is a six furlong test for three year olds and up and George Jennings, former U.S. Davis Cupper and currently coach at Lake Forest College, will be direct a tennis clinic sponsored by the Birmingham Recreation Department at Eton Park in Birmingham, Saturday, May 26th. Jennings will demonstrate all phases of tennis and then put on an exhibition.

Bob Thiel, 18-year-old Evansville, Ind., senior, was named winner of the Grantland Rice Memorial Scholarship which goes annually to a promising young sportswriter. It is a $10,000 scholarship and it is financed by the Thoroughbred Racing Association.

★ ★ ★

The 69-day meeting is the longest in history of the track and it is certain to set a new total attendance record. The best total gate came in 1958 when 697,858 racing fans watched a 60-day season.

The best parimutuel handle for the season was in 1953 when racing fans wagered $43,044,987 for a 57-day season. During the 12 years, the state of Michigan has gained a total of $32,306,345.43 in revenue out of DRC.

A crowd of about 12,000 is expected for the opening day ceremonies and races, and post time Saturday and on holidays is 2:00 p.m. On weekdays, post time is 3:30 p.m.

The top crowd for a single day was Memorial Day May 30, 1952 when 29,570 were in attendance. Memorial Day and Labor Day have drawn the largest single day crowds at DRC.

Some of the top races of the season will take place May 30th in the $15,000 added Greatest Stakes; June 9th in the Second Avenue Handicap; the Michigan Mile, a $50,000 added on June 23rd; the Detroit Sweepstakes Stake, for $25,000 added; July 14th and the closing Wolverine Handicap, July 31st, a $10,000 purse.

Pitchers Cut Down by Deadline Limit

By The Associated Press

May 9 was a bad day for pitchers. This time, however, it wasn't opposing batters who were the dispensers of gloom and woe. It was the calendar.

Midnight Wednesday night was the deadline for major league clubs to cut their squads to the 25-player limit. And, surprisingly, pitchers were the chief targets of managerial parting knives.

Don McMahon, Joe Nuxhall, Sherman (Roadblock) Jones, Al Cicotte and Jim Umbricht were among the more familiar names involved as the major league teams went through their last scramble to reach the limit. Several teams had reached the limit well in advance of the deadline.

OUTRIGHT SALE

McMahon, a veteran relief pitcher who helped Milwaukee to two National League pennants and a world series victory, was dealt to the Houston Colts in an outright sale. The others drifted back to the minors, Nuxhall, once a steady pitcher with the Cincinnati Reds, was given his outright release by the Los Angeles Angels. Earlier, he had failed in a trial with Baltimore.

Jones, expected to be one of the New York Mets' starters, was 0-4 and relegated to the bench when the new NL club decided to option him to Syracuse. Both Cicotte and Umbricht were optioned by the Colts to Oklahoma City of the American Association, which also will get outfielders Al Heist and Don Taussig from the new Houston club.

McMahon, a big right-hander who had three big years with Milwaukee, tailed off to 6-4 last season and was 0-1 this year after a long spring holdout.

The Braves also optioned utility infielder Lou Klimchock to Louisville of the American Association.

VIRGIL DEPARTS

Baltimore optioned pitcher Bill Short and utilityman Ozzie Virgil to Rochester, and made room for the return of pitcher Jack Fisher from the disabled list by selling first baseman-outfielder Marv Throneberry to the New York Mets. The Mets will cut one more player when Throneberry reports Friday.

Other last minute deals included:

Cincinnati—Shipped rookie pitcher Sammy Ellis to San Diego of the PCL.

Cleveland—Sold infielder Jim Mahoney to Louisville.

Yankee Uniform Failed to Help Tex Clevenger

"Wait until he pulls on those pinstripes," the pundits muttered when the journeyman relief pitcher went to the New York Yankees from the Los Angeles Angels. "He'll be a killer."

But Wednesday, a year to the day after he came to the Yanks, the 29-year-old right-hander was on his way back to the minors. The Yanks couldn't find a place for him under the 25-man limit and all other 19 major league clubs passed him on waivers.

No one seems exactly sure what changed Clevenger from one of the most respected relief men in the league to the man who was ortioned to Richmond in order for New York to make the 25-player limit.

Fullmer-Pender Fight Delayed in New Plan

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—Fight manager Marv Jenson says negotiations for a championship doubleheader on theater television are holding up a date for the middleweight championship bout between Gene Fullmer and Paul Pender.

Jenson, Fullmer's manager, said Wednesday he understands that promoter Norm Rothschild is trying to arrange a match between welterweight champ Emile Griffith and challenger Ralph Dupas.

He said both fights apparently would be the same night on closed circuit theater TV. Fullmer and Pender are scheduled to fight in Bozeman, Mont. The original fight date of June 9 has been canceled, Jenson said.

Purdue Belter Leads Big Ten Batting Derby

Boilermaker Outfielder Hitting at .500 Clip After Weekend Binge

CHICAGO (AP) — Outfielder Gordon Arnsperger of Purdue, with a nine-bit binge in 13 trips last weekend, has captured the Big Ten baseball batting lead with .500.

He is followed by Dennis Spalin, Michigan, .429; Lloyd Flodin, Illinois, .391; Dick Honig, Michigan, .391; Terry Hyner, Indiana, .367; Lake Lansbeley of Wisconsin, last week's leader, .360, and Dennis Ketcham, Michigan State, .357.

SIX-WAY-TIE

Six are tied for the RBI lead with 10 — Spalla, Honig, Porrevecchio, Ken Peters of OSU, Ron Tate of Michigan and Bill Hess of OSU.

Topping the pitchers is Dave Roebuck, Michigan, with a 4-0 record. Three others have 3-0, including Illinois' Tom Fletcher who has yielded only one run in 27 innings for a 0.33 earned run average. Joe Sperma of OSU, with a 1-2 mark, is the strikeout leader with 27.

Illinois, sharing second place with OSU at 7-2, is No. 1 in team fielding with .967 while Wisconsin has .960 and Indiana .957.

Ohio State is tops in team batting with .311. Defending champion Michigan and current pacesetter with 8-1 is second in hitting with .306, followed by Purdue at .269.

Tomorrow's single-game schedule sends Indiana to Michigan, Northwestern to Iowa, Ohio State to MSU, Purdue to Illinois and Wisconsin to Minnesota.

Titans Back in Form, Wallop Hillsdale, 16-3

DETROIT (AP) — University of Detroit's baseball team got back on the winning track yesterday with a 16-3 lambasting of Hillsdale. The victory was the 15th in 16 starts for the Titans.

U-D batted four Hillsdale hurlers for 15 hits.

Paul Bibeau had four singles in four trips, scored four runs and drove in one. Capt. Glen Goode had three singles in five trips for the Titans.

QUICK DRAW — Howie Young, one-time defenseman for the Detroit Red Wings, is shown pointing his fingers at the fans as though they were guns during the Hamilton-Edmunton hockey playoff finals Wednesday night at Kitchener, Ontario. Moments later he was involved in a fist fight with Hamilton coach Eddie Bush. Young was released from jail on $5,000 bail.

'Cheerleader' Young Out on $5,000 Bail

KITCHENER (AP)—Howie Young, 24, former Detroit Red Wings defenseman arrested Wednesday night after a hockey game brawl that sent a detective to a hospital, was released today on $5,000 property bail.

Young was charged with assault causing bodily harm after Det. Sgt. Charles Bignell suffered a black eye, elbow injury, facial lacerations and an injured back.

Hospital officials today described his condition as good and said the officer would be released this afternoon.

HE'S A CHEERLEADER

At the game, Young had been serving as self-appointed cheerleader for the Oil Kings. Dressed in a black 10-gallon hat and cowboy boots, he was leaping to the rail and whooping it up for the benefit of the Western visitors.

Eventually, he was asked by Kitchener Memorial Gardens manager H. M. Crosby to take his seat.

The former hockey star was being assisted out of the gardens by Crosby and assistant gardens manager J. G. White when a brush with Hamilton coach Eddie Bush flared into fisticuffs.

The fight started as Young was being escorted past the Hamilton bench near the dressing rooms.

Off-duty Det. Sgt. Bignell was involved in the brawl as it moved from the stands toward the team dressing rooms.

Young faces trial May 17.

Hamilton defeated Edmonton, 7-4, to win the best-of-7 finals in 5 games.

Optimists Register Juniors on Saturday

The Optimist junior baseball program will register players of any age group under 18 Saturday morning at 9:00 a.m. at Lincoln Junior High School.

This is the 5th year for the program which is completely supported by the Pontiac Optimist Club and it is expected that eight or nine teams may be formed this year.

Howard Dell, head of the program, said it was expected that five and possibly six teams may be entered in the city recreation league this year.

"We do not compete with the city program," said Dell, "we really augment it. There are many players who are unable to play on the available openings of teams in the city league and we welcome them to our workouts."

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

Veicho (Vic) Juhola, new head pro at Sylvan Glen Golf Club, has some unhappy information to relate to his many public links customers. He's going to make the course tougher.

Juhola's program has already begun and when it's completed, three holes will be longer, one will increase from par four to par five and three other holes will be brand-spanking new.

New holes are planned for numbers 13, 14 and 15. The present 13th, 14th and 17th holes are being removed. What is now No. 15 will become No. 16 and the current 16th will become the 17th.

JUHOLA

The 475 - yard 12th hole and the 465-yard 18th may be lengthened. In addition, the 430-yard 5th may be increased by another 30 or 40 yards, which would jump the par from four to five.

These maneuvers would change Sylvan Glen's par from 35-35—70 to 36-35—71.

Juhola also hopes to start a rebuilding process on the greens, which he claims are badly in need of renovation.

"Some of these greens have never been changed," Juhola declared. "They must be among Oakland County's oldest."

The overhauling process will not affect play on the course, Vic said. Golfers will merely keep playing on the layout as it now stands until the renovation is finished, he added.

"We hope to complete our rebuilding program in two months but it may not be ready until September," Juhola said.

Juhola, who lives in Clawson, also operates the Maple Driving Range on the corner of Maple Road and Stephenson Highway. A hole-in-one contest for charity is tentatively scheduled at the range June 3-4.

Sylvan Glen will be host to the MPGA's 5th annual Best Ball event May 26-27. Juhola's new assistant at Sylvan Glen this year is 20-year-old Bob Sarti of Berkley.

SHORT PUTTS

Todd Brackett, Silver Lake pro, works on the night shift at Pontiac Motor . . . More than 5,000 golfers used the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority's three courses during the month of April, including an estimated 1,320 as Kensington Park . . . Assistant pro Bill Mattson has switched from Edgewood to Farmington Country Club.

Would you believe it? They're planting more trees at Pine Lake. A dozen have been planted between the 5th and 6th holes, club officials report.

Detroit's Doug Woody has replaced Joe Peak, also of Detroit, as MPGA tournament director for the 1962 season . . . The construction of a synagogue has reduced River Bank from 18 holes to nine this year.

Two former Oakland County caddies, Steve Alexander of Franklin Hills and Kurt Prescott of Birmingham, averaged B or better during their first term of college under the Western Golf Association's Evans Scholarship Fund. Alexander attends the U. of M. and Prescott goes to MSU. Four other state youths were among the 20 honored.

Red Wings Search for 'New Blood'

DETROIT (UPI) — When the Detroit Red Wings open the 1962-63 season, you may need a program to tell the players apart.

The Wings escaped complete ignominy in the National Hockey League last season thanks to the generosity of last place Boston. Now, the organization feels it's time to clean house and embark on a youth program.

Co-ordinating the "new blood" regime are club president Bruce A. Norris, who has decided to strengthen his hand in policy matters, and coach Sid Abel, who has added managerial duties to his on-the-ice activities.

Norris and Abel, successor to the deposed Jack Adams, will head for the league meetings in Montreal early next month with a definite mind toward trades.

"We're open to any possible deals that would strengthen the team," Abel said today.

"Last season we scored only 184 goals. Only one team — Boston — had fewer. This has been our chief trouble for the past several seasons. Some of the players haven't been producing and we're going to try changing this."

Defense and goal tending also need strengthening, Abel believes, and the Wings may be trading there. One corner believes Detroit may make a pitch for New York's goalie Gump Worsley, who was a standout during the playoffs.

The Wings' two best defensemen are aging. Bill Gadsby will be 35 in August. Along with Gordie Howe, he's one of the league's deans with 16 seasons behind him. Marcel Pronovost, who had an off year, will be 32 in June.

Goalies Terry Sawchuk and Hank Bassen failed to please Abel last season. Sawchuk, apparently over the hill at 32, was dented for an average of 3.32 goals per game.

Abel said he considered seven players as the nucleus of his rebuilding project. They are Howe, Norm Ullman, Alex Delvecchio, Pronovost, Gadsby, Bruce MacGregor and Larry Jeffrey. Presumably, only Howe, Delvecchio and Jeffrey are considered "untouchables."

List-scoring members like Marc Boileau, Val Fonteyne, Len Lunde, Parker MacDonald, Claude LaForge and Noel Price are not on too solid footing.

Lady Pros Can't Hit With Mickey

★ ★ ★

"Try to hit with Palmer and you're dead," says South African Gary Player. "He crunches it and, in trying to stay up with him, all you do is ruin your timing."

MICKEY WRIGHT

Which is exactly the case when the women pros go up against pretty Mickey, the long hitting blonde from San Diego.

She and Palmer both make a liar out of the old slogan that "you drive for show but you putt for dough." Any top player will tell you that when he's using a six iron for his second shot approach and Palmer is using an eight iron or a wedge, it's a case of the closer you are the closer you get.

That long ball off the tee sets you up for those birdie approaches which, also is the edge Mickey has against the other gals. Her tee shots average around 250 yards and she has driven the ball a measured 295 yards. That's a figure that would win most of the men's professional driving championships.

★ ★ ★

If that sounds peculiar, consider that the drive is the most overjudged shot in golf. Jimmy Thomson, the first of the famed long ball hitters, contends unequivocably that no man can hit a ball 300 yards on the flat in a dead calm.

BIRDIES COUNT

Those long straight drives which put them anywhere from 25 to 50 yards in front of their rivals is the reason why Palmer — and Miss Wright—also follow the same pattern of throwing a flock of birdies at the opposition at certain stages.

Mickey did it again in her playoff against Ruth Jessen this week to capture the Augusta titleholders, the women's equivalent of the Masters, for the second year in a row. She hit Miss Jessen with birdies on three of the first five holes and shot four birds on the front nine. Her final three-under-par 69 picked up the marbles.

There is no question now but what Miss Wright dominates the women's game as fully as Palmer does the men's circuit.

Only 4 City Clubs Set in Baseball

By DON VOGEL

A lack of sponsors may force the Pontiac Recreation Department to go with only four baseball teams in its adult program this year.

★ ★ ★

"We feel there are enough players for eight teams," said Leonard Buzz, director of the baseball program, "but only four have come up with sponsors."

The final managers meeting is next Tuesday.

Commitments for entering teams must be made at this meeting. League play gets under way May 20.

★ ★ ★

"If we have only four teams, there will be only one league, Class A," Buzz stated. "Should six or eight teams enter, a Class B loop could be formed."

★ ★ ★

The four teams ready to start play are Talbott Lumber, Local 594, R. T. Clippers and Huron Airway.

TWO TEAMS

"I have been contacted by 24 players who expressed a definite desire to play city ball," said Vallad. "This would be enough for two teams. But I can't locate one sponsor."

Another team which participated last year no longer has the same backer and is casting about for a new one.

"Many of the players I have talked to have moved to the Pontiac area in the last year or two and are just becoming aware of the organized league," Vallad pointed out. "I feel there are several others who would like to play who haven't contacted a manager.

★ ★ ★

"I believe there would be little trouble finding players for an eighth or even a ninth team."

Major drawback to obtaining sponsors, according to Buzz, is the initial cost.

"It would cost about $1,000 the first year for the entry fee, uniforms, catching equipment, bats, balls and head protectors," he reported. "The greatest amount would be spent for uniforms.

"After the first year the cost drops way down. There would be the entry fee and any necessary equipment replacement. We have had some teams in the adults leagues that have used the same uniforms for 12 years."

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Players living in Oakland County north of 13 Mile Rd. prior to the first manager's meeting are eligible to compete in the Pontiac loops. This year's meeting was April 9. Each team is limited to 15 players.

JUNIOR LEAGUES

The department has been experiencing some difficulty obtaining sponsors for its Class D, E, F and Widget Leagues for boys up to 18 years old.

"The expense isn't as great in the junior leagues," said Buzz, "and some concerns are sponsoring two or three teams. But we still are having somewhat of a problem."

Regardless of how many teams enter, play will begin May 20.

The schedule calls for night games at Jaycee Park if the number exceeds four and two leagues are formed. Should the league stay at four, the majority of contests will be twilight encounters.

Might Better 1st With 5-0 Start

Curt Simmons Having 'Second Career'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Turned loose two years ago by a last-place Philadelphia club, left-hander Curt Simmons is working on "my second career—this time as a pitcher, not a thrower"—and it might surpass the first one.

Simmons stopped the hot San Francisco Giants 7-3 Wednesday night and became the first pitcher this season to go all the way against them. Curt has five straight complete-game victories, against no defeats, and has a 1.60 earned run average, best of any National League pitcher.

Catcher Carl Sawatski, who drove in four runs, said, "He's always pitched this way for us. They're just getting him some runs this year. He really works on those hitters and makes 'em hits his pitch."

NO BAD GAMES

Manager Johnny Keane said, Curt has been a great man for this club. He's never pitched a bad game for us that I can recall."

★ ★ ★

"But Curt was always in command. Sure, he gave three homers, but he didn't walk a man, so they didn't kill us."

Keane and Pollet were raving about Simmons' two strikeouts of Cepeda on 3-and-2 pitches—the first a "slow-slow" curve, the second a fast ball. Cepeda homered his second time up.

All this for a pitcher who walked into a San Francisco hotel lobby on May 12, 1960 to hear roommate Robin Roberts say, "They've released you."

Simmons was stunned but the Cardinals signed Curt seven days later. The Redbirds gave him an immediate raise from his $20,000 salary with the Phillies, and has never been sorry.

Simmons, 32, had a 9-10 record last year, but his earned run average of 3.12 was the best on the Redbird staff.

Swap Rookie, Draft Choice

Giants Get Guglielmi

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants, Eastern Conference champions of the National Football League, today obtained veteran quarterback Ralph Guglielmi from the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for rookie back Bill Triplett and a high 1963 draft choice.

Guglielmi, a 4-year NFL veteran, will back up veteran Y.A. Tittle fo rthe Giants, who also have holdover Lee Grosscup.

Triplett, whose brother Mel plays for the Minnesota Vikings after being traded last year by the Giants, was New York's No. 6 draft choice this year after starring at Miami, Ohio, University.

Guglielmi, a former All American at Notre Dame, was the No. 1 draft pick of the Washington Redskins in 1955 and played as a rookie that fall before entering the Air Force. He was traded last fall to St. Louis for quarterback George Izo.

"Tittle will remain the No. 1 quarterback, of course," Giants head coach Al Sherman said. "But in getting Ralph, we'll have the benefits of youth and experience. He's been with two clubs and knows enough about the league to make a fine backup quarterback."

Best Women Pros in Western Open

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Top women golfers from throughout the country begin play today in the $7,500 Women's Western Golf Association Open.

Two-time WWGA Open winner Betsy Rawls is among those trying again this year. Other top contenders include Mickey Wright of Dallas, Tex., who won 10 of the 23 tournaments she entered last year, and Shirley Englehorn of Spokane, Wash., who lost the Betsy Rawls-Peach Blossom Open to Miss Faulk by one stroke Sunday.

Karting Course Holds Grand Opening Sunday

The Everett Monza course for Karting, a new ¼ mile blacktop road course located at Opdyke (M24) and Walton Blvd., will have its grand opening Sunday.

Registrations for entries will begin at 11:30 a.m. and the first race starts at 1:30 p.m. Trophies and prizes will go to the winners in all classes, including A-Bushing, 4 Cycle and 165 pound or over.

Disgusted Howard Paces Yank Win

From Our Wire Services

NEW YORK — Elston Howard normally is a contented, pleasant-mannered, easy-going guy but Wednesday he was singing the blues as he sat slumped in front of his locker in the Yankee clubhouse before the game with the Boston Red Sox.

"Look at me," he moaned, "A .246 hitter. A lousy .246 hitter. I'm ashamed of myself. I should be hitting 100 points higher but I'm not. Know why? Because I let a few home runs go to my head. That's why.

"I had my best season last year and I didn't hit my first home run until July. That's because I was not going for the long ball, just hitting the ball where it was pitched. This year I get four quick home runs, and right away I get ideas. I start swinging hard. I get a few extra base hits, but my average drops down to nothing.

"Where the heck are my brains? I'm no home run hitter. I wish now I never hit those home runs. They haven't done me any good. They just put bad notions in my head.

"No more of that swinging for the fences for me. I'm just going back to meeting the ball. And I'm going to start today. Just wait and see."

Howard was true to his word although the return to his old style of hitting didn't pay off until the seventh inning. Boston's Bill Monbouquette, after pitching six hitless inning, finally gave up a bunt single by Tom Tresh with one out in the seventh. It was a little pop over Mombo's head.

The Baltimore Orioles defeated the Kansas City A's, 6-3, the Minnesota Twins shaded the Cleveland Indians, 2-1, the Chicago White Sox scored a 7-6 decision after losing, 9-3, to the Washington Senators and the Detroit Tigers whipped the Los Angeles Angels, 6-3, in American League activity.

Milt Pappas struck out 13 and pitcher a five-hitter for the Orioles, who routed Ed Rakow with six runs in the second inning. Big blow of the frame was a grand slam homer by Brooks Robinson—his second in as many games.

Jack Kralick went 7 1-3 innings to win his second game for the Twins who scored both their runs against Gary Bell in the first inning. Key blow of the rally was a run-producing double by Zoilo Versalles. Johnny Romano homered for Cleveland.

Don Rudolph pitched an eight-hitter to win the first game for the Senators but Al Smith's three hits and two blows by Joe Cunningham enabled the White Sox to win the nightcap for Ray Herbert's second triumph. Jim Landis hit his eighth homer for the White Sox in the opener but it wasn't enough to prevent "Yankee killer" John Buzhardt from suffering the loss.

At West Coast Relays

Distance Events Featured

The reason is Dyrol Burleson of the University of Oregon.

Burleson will anchor his team in an assault on the world record in the four-mile relay, then will have the option of running a special mile race or anchoring his team in the medley relay.

It is conceivable he could do all three.

STAMINA SHOWS

The American mile champ's stamina showed here last year when he ran a 4:00.3 anchor in the four-mile and then ran a 4:00.4 in the medley relay.

The sprints usually get the spotlight because of Ratcliffe Stadium's fast clay track. The 100-yard dash here has been run in 9.3 three times since 1948.

Featured in the 100 this time are four men who have done 9.3—Oregon's Harry Jerome, San Jose State's Dennis Johnson, Arizona's Larry Dunn and the Los Angeles Striders' Roscoe Cook.

Dave Tork and John Uelses, both of whom have gone over 16 feet, will meet in competition for the first time.

Oregon State's Dale Story, NCAA cross-country champ, has a best of 14:06.0 in the 5,000 meters and is capable of bettering Max Truex's meet record of 14:04.2.

The mile relay has Arizona State's speedy squad which broke the national collegiate record with a 3:07.5.

The Sundevils' Ulis Williams, a frosh sensation, will be in the open 440 against former Olympian Jack Yerman, Keith Thomassen and Bill Knocke. All have times under 47.0 with Williams' 46.0 the best.

Central Takes Skippers, Track Records Snapped

Pontiac Central blasted Waterford 9-1 while Cranbrook was nipping Notre Dame 3-2 in baseball yesterday. The Crane netters bowed to Grosse Pointe, 5-2.

In track, Kettering and Lapeer squeezed out double dual Tri-County victories at Rochester. Lake Orion and Clawson romped in an Oakland A pair.

The Chief baseballers broke a 1-1 tie with two in the 3rd and kept rolling backing a four-hitter by Ray Collins. Two walks and a double by Stan Grant had given Waterford a quick lead in an effort to give the Skippers wins over two Pontiac schools on successive days. Dave Abel took the loss. Waterford made five errors for two for Central.

Winner John Billesdon doubled in the 1st two Crane runs and Tom Bennett singled in another before Notre Dame came back with two in the 6th. Billesdon blanked the visitors in the 7th. The Cranes evened their record at 5-5.

Whit Conrad took a singles match 6-3, 6-2 and John Brandt-Steve O'Grady teamed for a 6-3, 6-1 doubles triumph in the Cranbrook net setback.

Mike Popovich set a new field record with a 4:34 mile, Orv Mullens won the 100 in 10.6 and 220 in 23.1 and the 880 relay group was 1st for other WKHS highlights. Earl Hook took the pole vault at 10 feet and Bill Haviland won the 440 in 54.1. Rochester's Pete Long had 16.4 in the high hurdles, a 5-6 high jump, 19½ broad jump for 1sts and was runnerup in the 220.

SET SCHOOL MARK

Doug Sloan of Rochester set a new school mark with a 2:07.5 880. Bob Shelton of the Falcons took the shot with 45-8 and Ted Swoboda the low hurdles in 22.5.

Dick Schalau, Lapeer, took the 100 in 10.6 and the 220 in 23.3. Other Panther victors were Dick Morris, with a 39-8½ shot heave, Bob Ballard in the 880 at 2:15.2, low hurdler Ernie Kolhoff in 22.5 and John Taylor broad jump, 18-7. Dick Frederick, Curt Shelton, Joe Willis and Tod Krusinski had L'Anse Creuse wins. A boy from each school tied in the high jump and they split the relays.

Lake Orion upped its record to 4-0 by belting victoryless Troy 77-32 sparked by a 22.2 time in the 220 by Dave Welch. Ron Qualman took both hurdles for the Colts.

Bill Hayes set a new league shot put record and Brodie Burton won the pole vault and low hurdles to pace Clawson over Avondale, 66-43. Hayes' heave went 50 feet, one inch. Romy Lucero of the losers won the 100, was 2nd in the 220 and starred in the broad jump event.

Take Over Bullpen; McMahon Sold

Youths Aid Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves youth movement has begun to pay off, especially in the pitching department, despite the club's 11-14 record in the first month of the season.

Two unheralded young pitchers, Ron Piche, 25, and Hank Fischer, 22, combined for a six-hitter and a 4-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday night before a chilled crowd of 3,673, the smallest home turnout since the Braves moved from Boston in 1953.

Piche, a converted relief specialist, allowed only three hits before he weakened in the eighth. Fischer, a fire-balling right-hander, came in to work out of a bases-loaded jam, permitting just one run.

"I'd say our bullpen is in pretty darn good shape," said manager Birdie Tebbets. "Fischer and Cecil Butler can fire the ball and Jack Curtis gives me a southpaw who can throw. We have a bunch of kids who can pitch and they're all going to get the chance."

Tebbetts was pleased with his pitching force despite the ailments of veteran Lew Burdette and young Tony Cloninger. Burdette is sidelined with an ankle injury and Cloninger has had bouts with virus and a skin infection.

"By the time Burdette returns, he'll probably have to pich his way back into shape," Tebbetts said. "So I may put him in the bullpen for a few relief jobs. If I do, I might give Butler or Fischer a starting shot."

The Braves gave their young hurlers another vote of confidence Wednesday by selling relief ace Don McMahon to the Houston Colts. McMahon's departure left Burdette, Warren Spahn and Carl Willey as the lone pitching holdovers from the 1958 championship club.

The way the batters have been hitting, the Milwaukee pitchers had better come through. The Braves collected 15 hits against the Pirates, but struck out 11 times and left 14 runners on base.

In their 25 outings this year, the Braves have struck out 171 times, an average of nearly seven a game. Tebbetts isn't too concerned, however, explaining that "free swingers always are going to strike out."

55 Old Timers Expected

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The balance of the Old Timers squad is expected to show up today, making a total of 55 players coach Al Dorow will have on hand for the annual game.

Dorow said yesterday's squad was made up mostly of graduated seniors. Most of the players that arrived today are from the pro ranks.

"I've scheduled some light scrimmages and passing workouts for today," Dorow said.

Michigan State coach Duffy Daugherty said earlier his squad, against whom the Old Timers will play on Saturday, will be lucky to show up for the game.

IHL Absorbs 10 From Disbanded Indianapolis

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—International Hockey League teams absorbed 10 players from the disbanded Indianapolis Chiefs yesterday but postponed until a meeting May 16 the selection of a commissioner.

The action on a successor for Frank Gallagher, IHL commissioner who is resigning to become general manager of the new Port Huron, Mich., franchise, came after four nominations for his post were selected.

In the player draft, Lloyd Maxfield, Grant Morton and Sid Garant were taken by Port Huron. Toledo selected Jean Gherrien, Marcel Goyette, Bill Wilkes, Garth Hayes and Hank Therrien, and Fort Wayne tagged Bobby Rivard and Chuck Adamson. Omaha, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Muskegon passed.

The IHL also postponed until the next meeting action on three proposed franchises—Denver, Kansas City and Detroit. Officials said the first two looked "real good" but there was some doubt about Detroit.

4—Maintenance

By TED JONES
Marine Designer

Cost of maintenanee is another bugaboo that has frightened too many people away from family boating. Certainly you can't maintain a boat for nothing, but the upkeep on a small boat is far from prohibitive.

The incidentals you must figure are gasoline and oil, storage and docking facilities, winterizing of motors, periodic checkups of motors and trailers and possibly painting.

Your biggest incidental probably will be storage and docking. If you plan to trailer your boat, you won't have these. You can launch your pleasure craft when you want to use it—and store it in a garage, or even backyard, in the winter.

If you can't trailer, it will cost you from as little as $6 a month (in a sparsely populated Midwest area) to as high as $200-$300 along the heavily populated East Coast. Prices depend on the size of your boat, availability of berthing space and the number of boats competing for this space. Included in this price may be such extras as launching, refueling and storage in drydock when not in use.

Before you buy, find out what storage and docking costs are in your area for the type boat you plan to own.

Gasoline and oil are not big items for smaller craft. Most boatmen do their own painting as part of the fun and winterizing and periodic checkups will be done quite economically at reputable marinas or shipyards.

5—What Motor?

What many beginning boaters forget is that it is as important to have enough power in a motor as it is to avoid having too much. Choose the motor for your boat that will do the job you want it to do. This is especially important with outboards.

Motors of lower horsepower — up to 10 or so—are called fishing motors, and are generally used on boats under 14 feet in length. With a little more horsepower, the boatman acquires more flexibility. A 25-hp motor, for instance, can do everything the little brothers can do, plus pull one or two water skiers.

With the 40-50-hp motors, you enter a different category. These are the general purpose motors. They will plane any type of boat up to and including small cruisers and will pull several water skiers.

More powerful motors — 70-hp and up—are available for all-purpose boating. They power cruisers as well as fast runabouts, and are frequently used by offshore fishermen in coastal areas.

Whatever you do, however, don't load a small boat down with a too-big motor. This can be dangerous. By the same token be sure to get a motor powerful enough to get you home in a hurry when a squall cloud comes up.

One major outboard motor manufacturer (Mercury) tests new boats with various motors, and advises dealers of performance. Your best bet in selecting the proper motor is to consult a reputable dealer, or write the manufacturer.

Anchor Weight Is Important

Boaters Should Know Rule Depending on Craft Length

All experienced boaters know there is no hard and fast rule on the size of anchor that a boat should carry.

The reason for this is that every type of boat exposes a different area to the water and the wind, and pulls differently at the anchor, therefore a hook that holds well for one boat might not do the job for another.

The shape of an anchor is of primary importance. For example, tests have shown that the mushroom type of anchor, used chiefly on fishing boats, has the least holding power for a given weight.

The Navy anchor is a little better than the mushroom, while the best of all, experts agree, is a burrowing type of anchor, like the yachtsman's kedge. A burrowing anchor is so much better than a mushroom anchor that a folding anchor weighting only a fraction of the mushroom will hold just as well once it gets well dug in the bottom.

Boat Length	Anchor Weight
15 feet	4 pounds
20 feet	8 pounds
26 feet	13 pounds
35 feet	22 pounds
50 feet	40 pounds

It might be well to remember that this is not an anchor to try to hold your craft in a storm a "storm" anchor should be double or triple the charted weights. And it's always a safe bet to carry two anchors rather one, both for the safe feeling of "having a spare" and for holding your boat exactly where you want it.

Mid-America Race for Canoes, May 20

Scores of midwesterners will man canoes in competition for trophies in the 1962 Mid-American Canoe Race, to be run Sunday, May 20 on the Fox River in northern Illinois.

A 22-mile course between Elgin and Aurora will include five portages and will pass between banks and under bridges expected to hold tens of thousands of spectators.

One of the most highly organized sporting activities of its kind, the race will be run under the supervision of Illinois Department of Conservation officials. Continuous reporting of race progress to crowds and officials along the entire route will be made by a team of ham radio operators.

The race is open to all comers, with no classes being observed. Deadline for entries is noon, Wednesday, May 16. Ten canoes will race in each heat.

Britisher Goes 125 H.P.

A British manufacturer has introduced a 125-horsepower marine diesel engine fitted with a new whineless turbocharges. F. Perkins Ltd. said the six-cylinder, four-stroke unit will be distributed worldwide. The turbocharger is mounted on the aft end of the exhaust manifold to maintain a low engine silhouette.

Boating Boom in Britain

The boating boom has spanned the Atlantic to Britain, where sales of outboard motors have climbed fourfold in six years. According to a big outboard producer, English boaters purchased 4,000 motors in 1955, and more than 17,000 in 1961. This year the total 1962 outboard sales in England is expected to top 20,000.

America's Cup Plans Have 'Knotty' Problems

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP) — A young "old man" is grappling with a peculiarly knotty problem today — how to produce a yacht which can turn back the Australian challenger for the America's Cup, after first disposing of three other aspirants for defense of the holy grail of the blue water sport.

Under seafaring tradition, regardless of age, a skipper is "the old man." When Hood takes command of a defense aspirant nearing completion from his own design he, at 34, also will be the eldest man aboard.

Hood is far from garrulous — more like a scientist in deep meditation over an abstract phenomenon — but he disclosed some of his strategy.

The Australians' problem is much simpler, he explained.

"We must figure two ways," he said, "We have to worry about the August trials, when the wind is likely to be light. The Australians don't have to worry about that — only the finals, when the weather is likely to be heavier.

"We have figured on the conditions we expect for the finals, which may be a mistake. I don't know."

Word from down under has indicated the challenger, Gretel, has been tailored for 14 knot winds off Newport, R.I., when the title series is sailed in September. Hood said: "We would be happy with 12."

Hood is unique in big league yacht designing. Before he turned his hand to a naval architect's drafting board he already had a reputation as an uncommonly skillful sailmaker. This should be a distinct advantage to the new boat. He also has an impressive record of racing success in a series of yachts built from his plans.

SLOOP UNNAMED

Hood expects the new sloop, yet unnamed, to be launched between May 19 and 30. He said he did not know if a name has been selected, that it might not be announced in advance by Ross Anderson and Robert Purcell, who spearheaded financing of construction. Hood thinks her mast may be stepped by the builders, graves yard, near his sail loft, before she goes down the ways, an unusual procedure.

Hood furnished these general dimensions of the new boat: 68 feet overall, 45½ waterline, 9 draft, 12 beam and a mast rising 85 feet above the waterline.

She will carry an aluminum spinnaker pole and main boom. Her standing rigging will be streamlined rods. Running rigging will be dacron and stainless steel wire. Working sails will be dacron and light sails nylon, made in Hood's loft. The mainsail will have 1,900 square feet, the Genoa Jib 1,200 and the spinnaker 3,500.

The surface of your boat requires the greatest amount of labor to maintain. Protection against deterioration may be secured either by a finish applied by brush or spray, or by a fabric cemented to the appropriate surface.

Boating Safety Tip

Here is a safety tip: The load capacity of a boat trailer — usually indicated on a plate attached to the trailer — means the combined weight of boat, motor and gear that can be carried safely. Know your trailer's capacity, and heed it when you prepare for a day on the water.

Discuss Rifle River Camp

BAY CITY (UPI) — A temporary plan to open the Rifle River area for camping was the top item considered at the monthly meeting today of the conservation commission.

Department officials recommended the plan be put into effect July 1st if funds are appropriated by the legislature to operate the area as a park.

Under the department's short-term plan, during the 1962 season, immediate picnic development is suggested at three locations along the rifle river.

Their proposal called for converting an existing picnic area into a campground on Devoe Lake. This campground would provide about 20 to 25 sites and could be expanded as the need arises and money is available.

Buying Fails to Help Market Sinks Near New Lows

New York (AP)—A floundering stock market sank toward new lows early this afternoon in fairly active trading.

Losses of key stocks went mostly from fractions to a point but a few were off more sharply.

The list was down from the start as prices gave ground in active trading. Two buying drives accompanied by late ticker tapes failed to reverse the downtrend.

The market has fallen to yearly lows on the past two sessions and prices were low enough to attract some buyers, but not enough to change the downtrend. Utilities were sharp losers. Rails, tobaccos, mail order-retails and aerospace issues also were generally lower. Steels, motors and oils were mixed.

LACKADAISICAL

While some Wall Street analysts thought it was about time for a reversal of the downtrend, the attitude of most investors seemed lackadaisical. Although the economic background was fairly good, there seemed nothing to inspire any special enthusiasm. The drop in unemployment below the four million level was encouraging but Wall Street shrugged it off.

★ ★ ★

American Telephone, off a couple of points, was an outstanding weak spot among utilities. Consolidated Natural Gas dropped more than a point. International Telephone was about a point higher.

★ ★ ★

Bond Prices Irregular

Over the counter dealers in U.S. government securities said the few changes posted showed advances of 1-32 or so but there were not enough to give the market a generally higher tone. Volume was moderate.

Rails tended to improve in early corporate dealings on the New York Stock Exchange but industrials and utilities were no better than mixed.

Among moves of a full point or more were Hocking Valley Railroad 4½s up 1¼ at 96 and W. T. Grant 4¾s up 1 at 104½.

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—I had lunch with Joseph McCaffrey, a television commentator, and we fell into a discussion about the new programs coming on the air next fall.

★ ★ ★

"It's going to be a big season for the medics," McCaffrey said. "The networks have lined up a bunch of shows to follow in the trail blazed by Ben Casey and Dr. Kildare.

"A program that doesn't have a doctor on it simply won't be in the swim of things. I'm thinking of hiring a physician to assist me on my show.

"I'll comment on the news and then let him come on and perform a tonsillectomy."

I asked McCaffrey what effect the spate of doctor shows would have on established programs, such as westerns and private investigators.

"They'll be facing stiff competition," he said. "No question about it. Some of them will have to make adjustments to stay on the air."

"What sort of adjustments?" I asked.

"Well, take a program like 'Gunsmoke,'" he replied. "With just a slight alteration, it could be made to fit right in with the new wave.

"It already has a minor character called 'Doc.' The producers could subtly shift the emphasis away from Marshal Dillon and let Doc gradually take over as the hero.

"The Longbranch saloon, where most of the action takes place, could be converted into a hospital and 'Miss Kitty,' the saloon girl, could become a nurse. The bartender, naturally would be the anesthesiologist."

WHAT ABOUT CHESTER?

"I see," I said. "What would happen to Chester, the marshal's sidekick?"

"I think it would be appropriate to have Chester start taking medical training under Doc," McCaffrey said. "That would give the program a Kildare-Gillespie relationship."

"It seems to me the program would soon get monotonous," I said. "All they would be treating would be bullet wounds."

"Not necessarily," he said. "They could take on cases of tick fever and foot-and-mouth disease and things like that. It would help retain the Western flavor."

"You seem to have covered all the angles," I said, "but I can't help but feel sorry for poor Marshal Dillon being squeezed out of the program like that."

"You forget that we operate under the free enterprise system," McCaffrey said. "Dillon can take a few correspondence coirses and go into practice for himself down the street."

Jeweler Brings Suit for Return of $732,000 in Gems

NEW YORK (AP)—Cartier, Inc., Fifth Avenue jewelers, has brought suit for return of $732,000 worth of gems. The firm charges the woman who bought the jewelry referred payment to her recently estranged husband, who refuses to pay.

Attorneys for Cartier said in State Supreme Court Wednesday the jewelry was delivered last month to Mrs. Edward M. Gilbert, wife of a multi-millionaire lumber executive.

The purchases included two pear-shaped emeralds, 19 square emeralds, two black pearls, 32 triangular diamonds, 16 round diamonds and 20 pear-shaped diamonds.

Justice Owen D. McGivern ordered Mrs. Gilbert not to take the jewelry out of the state pending outcome of the action.

To Discontinue Food Program

Black Marketing of Church Service Cites Formosa Dole

NEW YORK (AP) — Church World Service, the overseas relief agency of the National Council of Churches, plans gradual discontinuance of its mass distribution of food—most of it U.S. government surplus—to families on the Nationalist Chinese island of Formosa.

Black marketing is a factor in the decision.

The discontinuance will extend over the next 14 months. In its place, the relief agency will inaugurate a program of technical assistance and other self-help projects.

RATION CARDS

Hugh D. Farley, executive director of the service, said at a news conference Tuesday that the current basis for direct food distribution is a ration card system under which local governments furnish lists of recipients. The U.S. government and church agencies approve the lists.

Complexity of this system, Farley said, has imposed an administrative burden on the Formosa churches and their relief channels and makes it difficult to insure equitability and freedom from possible abuses.

Two Hollywood Stars Off to Film Festival

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — There's another couple which us Jet Set journalists have to start spying on—Natalie Wood and Warren Beatty. They've both been in New York—and they're expected to be seen around the Cannes Film Festival together quite a lot . . . but don't go tassling and head-wagging, because they're single, and of age, and there are no children involved. I don't intend to ask them whether they're going to get married because I once asked Eddie Fisher if he was going to get unmarried with Liz Taylor . . . and he wasn't exactly frank.

WILSON

Gene Tierney and husband Howard Lee of Houston are already in Cannes (Gene's in Otto Preminger's "Advice and Consent"), happy as clams. Just before they took off, Gene, fashionably figured but not skinny, beautiful and fresh, shopped here to "decorate a new home in Houston not even built yet." She said she's in love with Texas . . . and Texans. One of the Texans (her husband) was out shopping for gold bathroom accessories. "Gold-plated," she hurriedly explained.

Police Having Trouble With Radio Network

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Jefferson County police force has a problem. Their radio network turns out to be a party line.

County Judge Marlow Cook said the trouble lies in a frequency that is too low. The force is considering getting a higher frequency.

In the meantime, officers in the cruisers hear their own dispatcher now and then, plus police radio calls from Toronto, New York, Waco, Tex., and Spanish speaking programs from Mexico, Cuba or Puerto Rico.

Says U. S. Should Work for Arab-Israeli Truce

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman says the United States has an obligation "to use its influence to bring about a settlement" of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Truman spoke Wednesday night at the Jewish National Fund of America's salute to Israel on its 14th anniversary.

Titov Impressed by Friendliness of Americans

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov says what impressed him the most about the United States is the friendliness of the American people.

Speaking through an interpreter, Titov said "our planet is beautiful, and too small to allow wars and quarrels."

Two Men Buried Alive on Construction Job

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (AP)—Two men were buried alive by another workman Wednesday in a sewer trench they were digging.

The operator of a mechanical shovel, unaware that Paul-Emile Panneton and Yvon Vincent were in the trench, filled it up with 8 feet of earth. The men's absence was not noticed for half an hour and they were not found until too late.

Panneton, 33, was the father of four children. Vincent was a bachelor.

JFK Fears Blowup in Laos

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says the unity talks in Laos must be speeded along before the sputtering cease fire explodes into a more hazardous situation.

★ ★ ★

He told his news conference Wednesday that the pro-Communist rebels had clearly breached the cease fire agreement Sunday by storming a stronghold of the royal Laotian government and the United States has expressed its concern to the Soviet Union.

But, he added, negotiations between the royalists, Communists and avowed neutralists—to resume their effort to form an independent government.

The longer the negotiations drag on, he said, "the more hazardous the situation becomes."

Kennedy called for prompt action to halt the shooting in Laos during a news conference which took him over a diversified route, from savings and loan associations to the conference tables of Europe.

The President said savings and loan associations have misinformed the public about an administration proposal—passed by the House but in trouble in the Senate—to withhold taxes on dividends and interest.

He opened the conference with a statement contending defeat of the measure would benefit "only those whose evasion of present taxes is costing every taxpayer dearly."

Kennedy estimated evasion on dividends and interest amounts to $800 million a year in taxes.

He said he wanted to set the record straight because mail coming to the White House and Senate "indicates that a great number of people have been badly misinformed."

★ ★ ★

Moving into international waters, Kennedy declared the United States would continue talks with the Soviet Union in pursuit of a settlement on Berlin.

Tells Pathet Lao to Quit Nam Tha

VIETIANE, Laos (AP)—Prince Souvanna Phouma has ordered pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong to withdraw his Pathet Lao torops from Nam Tha and Muong Sing to behind the original cease-fire line, informed diplomatic sources said today.

The informants said the neutralist leader sent a cable from France to Souphanouvong, his half-brother and

★ ★ ★

Souvanna, the Soviet and American choice to head a neutralist regime in the jungle kingdom, reportedly also cabled his acting premier, Phagna Khamsoukeola, at rebel headquarters at Khang Kay to arrange for the withdrawal of the pro-Communist troops.

He told French newsmen Wednesday night he was prepared to return to Laos any time since Boun Oum's right-wing regime formally requests resumption of talks on formation of a coalition government of Communists, conservatives and neutralists.

Souphanouvong's pro-Communist rebels also were reported ready to return to unity talks. Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, deputy premier and strongman of the royal Laotian government, said despite the Pathet Lao attacks, he still was ready to negotiate.

But he demanded that Souvanna first return to Laos and give assurances that he is truly neutral.

Before his departure for France, Souvanna publicly pledged that his neutralist and pro-Communist troops would not attack unless they were themselves attacked.

★ ★ ★

He told French newsmen that he believed Nam Tha "was not attacked deliberately" but that royal government forces in trying to break the rebel siege of the provincial capital might have provoked the assault last weekend.

SUPPORT SOUVANNA

Souvanna has the support of the United States, the Soviet Union and other big powers at the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos.

President Kenedy told his news conference in Washington Wednesday that the rebel advances were "a clear breach of the cease fire." But he said such incidents can be expected to continue as long as the political talks drag on inconclusively.

U.S. and British diplomats meanwhile urged the Soviet Union, cochairman with Britain of the Geneva conference on Laos, to use its influence to get the rebels to pull back.

★ ★ ★

In Washington, Acting Secretary of State George W. Ball called in Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin and told him the United States was seriously concerned about developments in Laos. Dobrynin said he would relay the message to Moscow.

Seeks to Regain Allied Harmony

U. S. Asks W. Germany to Clarify Stand on Talks With Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an effort to restore allied harmony, the United States is reported seeking full clarification from the West German government of its stand on exploratory talks with the Soviet Union about terms of an East-West agreement on Berlin.

President Kennedy also made clear at a news conference Wednesday that he wants to see secrecy restored to allied consultations on proposals put to the Soviet government during the talks. He seemed to be asking Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a diplomatic way to stop debating the issues in public.

Other officials said there is considerable confusion here over what Adenauer is driving at. His public criticism of the U. S.-Soviet discussions is out of line with West German views communicated through official channels, they said.

The United States has never been unduly optimistic about achieving an East-West agreement, the President said, but "we believe there should be a continuation of these talks."

Few Warmer Winds Expected Tomorrow

Ducks and leaves of grass may like this weather but for people it'll be just plain drizzly and cloudy.

Showers in spots are expected to end tonight, with a low in the 40s forecast. Considerable cloudiness is the word for Friday with slightly warmer temperatures culminating in a high between 60 and 65.

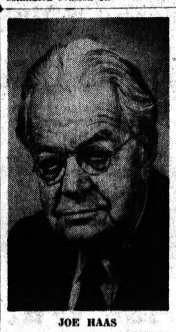

WARMING UP

Gentle zephyrs (10 to 18 miles an hour) will stir up a little dust to make the outlook a little gloomier. Aches in certain joints may indicate more showers Saturday.

Forty-two was the low today in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury was at 55 degrees at 1 p.m.

Newsman, 84, Dies in Holly

JOE HAAS

The 84-year-old "Man About Town" columnist for The Press had been ill for a week. He was making plans, however, to return to his desk for the conclusion of his popular baseball contest, an annual event in his column.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Dryer Funeral Home, Holly, with burial in Lakeside Cemetery.

Mr. Oakland County, as he was known in his later years, narrowly missed being a native-born son. He came to Holly when he was six months old from his birthplace, Waterbury, Conn. He was the son of Frederick and Delia Hammond Haas, born June 18, 1877.

STARTED AT SEVEN

From a farm four miles north of the village, he walked to attend Holly schools daily. He dated his newspaper career back to his start as a carrier at the age of 7, and was proud of the fact he was the oldest working newsman in the state.

In 1901, with borrowed capital of $50, Joe founded the weekly Holly Herald. A year later, he married Winifred Gidley. Mrs. Haas died July 15, 1959. There were no children.

Joe published the Holly Herald until 1937, when he sold it and traveled for a few years. He worked with Dun & Bradstreet briefly but returned to his first love, newspapers, when he joined the staff of the Pontiac Press in 1944.

SERVICE TO OTHERS

Service to others was a way of life for Joe Haas, and he spent a good share of his leisure time working for his community. He was village and township clerk at Holly from 1898 to 1902, and later a member and president of the Holly Board of Education.

Another service to his community was his work as a member of the Oakland County Selective

Geodetic Capsule Burns as Rocket Fails to Ignite

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An attempt to launch a flashing light geodetic satellite into orbit failed today when the second stage of the launching vehicle did not ignite.

The 355-pound payload was propelled aloft at 7:06 a.m. by a Thor-Able-Star rocket. The early portion of flight appeared normal as the 70-foot-tall booster streaked swiftly from sight.

However, the Defense Department announced about 20 minutes later that preliminary telemetry reports indicated that the Anna satellite had failed to go into orbit. The second-stage ignition was not achieved, it said.

The announcement said records of radio signals from the vehicle are being studied to determine the exact cause of the failure.

To Air Parade Plans

The roster for the local Memorial Day parade will be discussed at a special meeting of the Pontiac Memorial Day Association at 7:30 p.m. today at the Cook-Nelson American Legion Post 206 Auburn Ave.

Supervisors Support Lakes' Safety Rules

The 14 rural supervisors at a meeting of the association in Pontiac yesterday agreed unanimously to present the proposed ordinance to their respective boards for consideration.

The ordinance is intended to promote safety on the lakes by making reckless actions punishable as misdemeanors and by restricting sports to certain hours.

West Bloomfield Township Supervisor John C. Rehard had proposed that all townships adopt the same ordinance. Otherwise the situation will be chaotic, he said, with visiting lake users uncertain of the law on any particular lake in the area.

Following are major provisions of the ordinance form approved by the association:

MAJOR PROVISIONS

1. Allow water skiing only between 10 a.m. and sunset on weekdays, and until 7 p.m. on Fridays, weekends, the first day preceding a holiday and holidays.

2. Restrict motor boats to speeds of 10 m.p.h. within 100 feet of anchored boats, bathing areas or lawfully anchored rafts or floats used for swimming.

3. Prohibit those less than 14 years of age from operating a motor boat of more than 7½ horsepower, unless accompanied by an adult.

The ordinance proposes to make it unlawful to operate an improperly licensed or unlicensed boat, to operate any boat while under the influence of intoxicants, drugs or barbituates, and throw or discharge any rubbish or refuse overboard.

FINE OF $100

Violations of the ordinance would be punishable by a maximum fine of $100 and/or 90 days in the county jail.

Each township that approves of the uniform ordinance form would have to adopt it individually.

West Bloomfield Township was the only township in the county that had previously adopted such an ordinance. Rehard said his township board would consider amending its ordinance for the sake of uniformity.

Oxford and Addison Townships passed the uniform ordinance last night.

Other township supervisors who approved yesterday's action were: Assn. Chairman Duane Hursfall, Independence; Mayon Hoard, Milford; Frank Voll, Oakland; Vice

Nine Females Murdered in Algerian Streets as Death Toll Mounts

The toll of European Secret Army gunmen in the two cities stood at midday at 27 persons killed and 17 injured. With the exceptions of one European killed and another injured, all the victims were Moslems.

A Secret Army commando swept up five young Moslems in Oran who were on their way to an examination for jobs in the Algerian Railway System. There was no immediate word on their fate.

ISUES NEW ORDER

He coupled this with advice to the Moslems to remain away from the European neighborhoods for the time being.

JFK Aiming for Greater Power—Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower criticized today what he said are President Kennedy's efforts for greater powers and increased federal spending.

At a news conference sponsored by Republican congressional leaders the former president said he was concerned about two developments in domestic affairs:

"First, the strenuous efforts of the administration to increase greatly the power of the executive branch of government.

He spent the night there but came to the Capitol early this morning for a breakfast meeting with Republican congressional leaders and a talk with them about the GOP fall election campaign.

"It has long been my judgment," it said, "that the real threat to liberty in this republic will come not from any sudden, calculated assault.

"Rather, the threat to our liberties will be primarily found in a steady erosion of self-reliant citizenship, and in excessive power concentration, resulting from the lodging of more and more decisions in an ever-growing federal bureaucracy."

Politicians Rumored Involved

Probe Reports on Estes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators were reported today exploring stories that some Washington politicians or their wives held financial interests in firms which profited from dealings with Texas financier Billie Sol Estes.

They also have received reports that the taxpayers paid some heft and unnecessary freight bills for shipping government-owned grain by unusual routes to storage elevators in Texas owned by Estes. The reports from Texas said the grain could have been shipped at far less cost to grain elevators owned by others who sought and failed to get the business.

These are just two angles the Senate Investigations subcommittee is exploring in its efforts to find out how the Pecos man massed a fortune at the age of 37.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., senior Republican member of the investigations subcommittee, confirmed reports that its staff is sifting through subpoenaed documents which should confirm or explode stories that political figures profited from investments in companies which had dealings dealings with Estes.

'LOT OF EXPLAINING'

Mundt said Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman will have a lot of explaining to do as a witness in the subcommittee's hearings. He said Freeman's denials that Estes received favored treatment from the Agriculture Department are in bold contrast to evidence.

★ ★ ★

Mundt said evidence produced already in a Texas court of inquiry shows Estes was required to post only 2 cents a bushel bond for millions of bushels of government grain stored in his facilities, while competing firms had to put up 12 cents a bushel. "This certainly is favoritism," Mundt said.

County Board OKs Valuation

A county equalized valuation of $2,112,408,300 for 1962 tax purposes was approved this week by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The valuation recommended by the board's equalization committee is $45,115,496 less than what had been anticipated. It necessitates the board asking for 6.18 mills of the total 15 mills divided by the County Allocation Board.

* * *

The equalized valuation figure for 1962 represents less than a 1 per cent increase over that of last year. The County Board of Auditors had anticipated a 3 per cent increase in figuring next year's tentative budget.

If the auditors' estimate had held firm it would have required 6.05 mills for county government purposes. Even that would have represented a .13-mill increase over the 5.25 mills approved by the Allocation Board for county government this year.

The board of supervisors has until September to consider trimming the budget.

According to the equalization committee's report, a general drop of 10 per cent in property values this year caused the annual increase in valuation to fall short of what had been anticipated.

The increase, less than 1 per cent, results from new construction in the still-growing community, the report added.

* * *

Approved awarding of contracts totaling $577,137 to begin construction of a new auditorium at the County Service Center as the future meeting place for the board and committees.

ON AIRPORT STUDY

Concurred with a resolution by the special aviation committee to make it a regular standing committee, and accepted a recommendation by the committee to hold up further study on the county's proposed, multimillion-dollar major airport in Orion and Pontiac townships pending site approval by the Federal Aviation Administration.

Instructed the buildings and grounds committee to conduct a study of site allocations for juvenile facilities in view of present and future needs.

Approved enlarging the juvenile committee from five to seven members.

* * *

The board also approved urging Governor Swainson to sign the Bowman Bill which would have made it illegal for financially-pressed Detroit to levy an income tax on persons living outside the city but earning their income in Detroit.

Shortly after this wish was conveyed to the governor's office by telephone, he vetoed the bill, thus favoring Detroit Mayor Cavanaugh's plea for more taxes.

County's Joe Haas Dies

Service Board through World War II, the Korean action and in later years.

He was also president of the Holly Chamber of Commerce, and active in the Michigan Press Association for more than 50 years. He was a vice president and chairman of the board of directors of the MPA.

Joe was an active Boy Scout leader for many years, and faithfully attended every National Jamboree, regardless of where it was held. For his outstanding service to scouting, he received the Silver Beaver award. For many years he was a member of the executive board of the Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts.

* * *

Another organization he served was the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium. He had served on the board of trustees since 1946, and was a past president of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Association.

WITH PRESS IN 1944

With the founding of his column on the editorial page of The Press in 1944, Joe covered every national political convention. He came to know all the leading national politicians on a first-name basis, and his knowing comments from the convention press box often presaged future developments in the nomination struggles.

Vitally interested in the history of Oakland County, for many years he wrote the annual foreword to the official Oakland County Directory.

At a 1959 meeting he was officially named Oakland County Historian by unanimous vote of the county board of supervisors.

He was a member of the Oakland County Historical Foundation, the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, and the Pontiac City Club.

* * *

Travel and flowers were his two chief hobbies. He had visited all the national parks, Hawaii, Alaska, South America and Bermuda, in addition to every state in the Union.

OVER 6,000 TULIPS

Around his own small house at 201 Grant Ct., he had more than 6,000 tulips each year. At his invitation through his column, thousands drove to his home each year to see the display, and take home a few of the blooms.

This wasn't the only time the public found its way to the Grant Street residence, however. Each year Joe had the most decorated Christmas tree in the county, featuring some 1,500 lights which drew crowds from the entire area.

In 1939 the Detroit chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, honored Joe as the dean of working newspapermen in Michigan.

When Pontiac was preparing for its centennial last year, and The Press began to work on a voluminous edition, Joe pitched in with the vigor of a high school student.

* * *

From his keen memory of Oakland County history came the background for many of the articles, and he authored another score himself.

* * *

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Roy Smith of South Taven and Mrs. Edna Hearns of Detroit.

Sought in Slaying of Security Guard

TRENTON (UP) — State police are searching for a W. andotte man wanted for questioning in connection with the slaying of a 22-year-old private security guard whose body was found yesterday in a water-filled roadside ditch near here.

Sgt. Garial Gray, of the Flat Rock Post, identified the man being sought as Arthur R. Skidmore, 33, of Wyandotte, but declined to give details on Skidmore's involvement in the case.

The victim was identified as Richard J. Sobell of Detroit, who worked as a private security guard at the Ferndale construction site of south Oakland County's 12-Town Drain storm relief sewer project.

* * *

He was identified by his employer, police said, after a witness in a downriver area bar told officers the victim was a private policeman, employed in Ferndale.

Nine Moslem Women Murdered in Algeria

women were clearly in reprisal for the death of a young European woman yesterday. Europeans said she was shot by a Moslem disguised as a woman in robe and veil.

* * *

One by one, the European terrorists shot down Moslem women as they shuffled fearfully along the streets of Algeria's second city.

After the quick series of attacks, several hundred Moslems tried to enter the European quarter to vent their anger. French police and troops were hurried to the scene and dispersed the crowd. No casualties were reported.

Riot police and troops also moved in and sealed off the area where the women were shot.

WARNING UNHEEDED

The terrorists paid no heed to a broadcast warning from Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda of the Algerian provisional government that they risk their future in the country if they keep up their attacks on the Moslem population.

Moslem women were targets again in Algiers. A gunman killed one Moslem scrubwoman with a pistol shot. Moments after she fell, another scrubwoman was shot and seriously wounded.

* * *

The two women were among the diminishing force of Moslem domestic workers who have braved death to keep their jobs. The Secret Army has stepped up attacks on such women in an apparent attempt to frighten others from working.

* * *

Many Moslem men have long since given up trying to work in European quarters of the city and are idle in the Casbah, where the economic situation was reported to be worsening. More than 80,000 Moslems live in the Casbah.

Ask Water Board for 'Big' Sewers

Overtures have been made to the Detroit Water Board to consider paying for enlargement of the proposed Dequindre and Troy interceptor sewers and thus save Oakland County $2.4 million.

Oakland County Public Works Director R. J. Alexander told the County Planning Commission yesterday that he has asked the Detroit Water Board to consider spending $2,926,000 toward the two projects "as an investment in the county's future."

Spending the money now to increase the capacity of the two pipelines to Detroit would result in a savings when a sewage system inevitably will be required further north, he explained.

Otherwise, the cost of building an additional pipeline to serve the northerly Clinton River Basin separately would rise approximately $2.4 million, Alexander said.

The savings would be realized by extending the Dequindre and Troy lines rather than constructing a third line parallel down the east side of the county to Detroit, he added.

As originally planned, the Dequindre and Troy lines would not be big enough to handle the additional flow later on.

Twelve southeastern communities are paying the cost of the two pipelines to go under construction within 30 days. Alexander said he hopes to have an answer from Detroit authorities in time to change the dimensions.

TO BE PAID BACK

As proposed by Alexander, the Detroit Water Board would own the additional capacity of the two lines. It would be paid back plus interest by the benefiting government units to the north when they are added.

The added cost to these units still would be cheaper than their paying for a separate pipe line, Alexander said.

He had asked the County Board of Supervisors for additional money to enlarge the Dequindre and Troy lines but was turned down. The board had been advised that the county could not legally enter into financing the added cost.

ALL WILL CONNECT

All of Oakland County's sewers eventually will connect into the Detroit sewage system for treatment.

This method is cheaper than what it would cost the county to build its own treatment plants by several million dollars, according o the DPW director.

Oakland County users pay 32½ cents per thousand cubic feet of water supplied by Detroit for all purposes including sewage.

* * *

Alexander estimated that Clinton Valley users will pay 42½ cents to cover the added cost of paying back Detroit for its investment, if it goes ahead at this time.

Soviets Drop Proposal to Recess Arms Talks

GENEVA (UP) — The Soviet Union today dropped its proposal to recess the 17-nation disarmament conference for two months and then move it to New York.

The decision was announced by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin after his proposal — put forward in private talks — had run into determined opposition from both the Western and the neutralist delegations.

Detroit Papers Plan to Publish

Friday Editions Slated as Union Withdraws Its Picket Lines

DETROIT (UPI) — Editors of the Detroit Free Press and the Detroit News made plans today for regular Friday editions as their labor troubles appeared at an end.

* * *

The four-week old dispute which shut down both the morning Free Press and the afternoon News appeared settled on the surface when members of the Paper and Plate Handlers Union voted early today to withdraw pickets at the News and return to work there. The union had not picketed the Free Press.

The paper handlers made it clear, however, that their vote to return to their jobs today did not mean they had settled their differences with the News.

The paper handlers set up picket lines around the News Sunday night, claiming the had been locked out during a Teamsters Union dispute with the Free Press April 16-19.

WELCOMES VOTE

Robert C. Butz, executive secretary of the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Association, welcomed the paper handlers vote and said the papers hoped to publish Friday editions on schedule.

* * *

That would mean that Detroit's first newspaper since April 11 would be on the streets tonight with the Free Press' first Friday edition.

The paper handlers vote, climaxing a 4½ hour meeting, came on the heels of Wednesday's presidential press conference where President Kennedy took note of the prolonged inability of the two papers to publish.

He said he viewed any newspaper shutdown as "unfortunate" because it affects a whole community as well as the parties concerned. But he said there was nothing in the shutdowns of a national emergency nature.

* * *

The President said he had discussed the newspaper shutdowns in Detroit and Minneapolis with Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg and said the secretary would be glad to step into the discussions.

Brazilian Airliner Explodes, Killing 24

The airliner burst into flames as it was making its landing approach and blew up after plunging to the ground. The wreckage burned for hours and only one body was recovered immediately.

The Day in Birmingham

Bloomfield Hills Chiefs Slate Hearings on Budget

BIRMINGHAM—A May 29 public hearing was scheduled by the Bloomfield Hills City Commission last night after receiving the proposed 1962-63 budget.

* * *

The current tax rate of $36.80 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation will remain the same if the tentative $628,000 budget is approved, according to City Clerk Robert J. Stadler.

The proposed budget is approximately $35,000 higher than the one adopted for the 1961-62 fiscal year but there will be no need for a tax hike because the city's valuation has increased, he explained.

The increase is due to a general increase in operating expenses, a 2½ per cent pay raise for city employes, and additional road maintenance and construction, Stadler said.

MORE MAINTENANCE

There will be more road maintenance and construction because of the sewer construction project currently under way and expected to be completed by midsummer, the clerk added.

Three sections of the major project already have been completed by two contractors and are in the process of being cleaned up.

Applications are now being accepted for the fall term of the First Methodist Church of Birmingham nursery school. Children must be 3 years of age before Dec. 1.

An open house will be held at the nursery school on Tuesday from 1 to 3 p.m.

Three other sections, mostly on the east side of Woodward Avenue, are under construction now by the contracting firm of Ray D. Baker of Detroit.

* * *

Stadler said that a number of residents already have hooked into the Evergreen Interceptor.

The sewer project is costing residents $6.62 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation. The rate is included in the total tax levy of $36.80.

The public hearing will be held at the City Hall at 5 p.m.

Special questions designed to provide information on the number of persons who have more than one job will be asked in this month's current population survey.

The information will be collected locally by Patricia A. Gray of 292 W. Lincoln Road and Mary E. Heck of 30545 Birchway Drive, according to the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce.

Plead Innocent in Steel Probe

4 Executives, Four Firms, Trade Assn. Face Antitrust Charges

NEW YORK (UP) — Four steel company executives, four steel companies and a trade association today pleaded innocent to charges of price fixing and bid rigging in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

The four corporations are the Bethlehem Steel Co., United States Steel; Erie Forge and Steel Corp. and Midvale-Heppenstall Co. The association is the Open Die Forging Institute, Inc., of New York City.

* * *

When they appeared for pleading before Federal Judge Sidney Sugarman he released the executives on their own recognizance—that is, without having to post any bond.

A fifth executive involved in the case, Homer Lackey, president of Erie Forge, was reported by counsel to be recuperating after an operation and his pleading was adjourned until May 28.

Judge Sugarman announced that he would set a date for trial on July 9.

The defendants, indicted by a federal grand jury on April 26, are charged with conspiring at various times between 1948 and 1961 to fix prices and rig bids in sales of steel forgings to the Army, Navy, electrical companies and other purchasers.

Seeks Dem Nod for 18th District Congress Race

George Lennox is going to try again.

The Royal Oak Democrat, who failed to win his party's nomination for Congress in 1960, announced he will seek the same bid in this year's primary.

Lennox will be opposed by Birmingham attorney George Fulkerson, who announced his candidacy two weeks ago.

Owner of a Hazel Park tool supply company, Lennox, 34, is chairman of the Royal Oak Democratic Club. He is a graduate of Hazel Park High School and Alma College, where he studied economics and speech.

Lennox, his wife and five children live at 222 Royal Ave.

Permit Values Off in Waterford

Number of Approvals for Building Up, but Figure Less Than Half

Dollar value of building permits issued in Waterford Township during April fell far below the total for the same month last year when fewer permits were issued.

This year the valuation set for the 138 permits amounted to $837,801 in April. Just 107 permits were issued a year ago in the same month but the valuation totaled $2,443,740.

Permits for three large commercial projects in April, 1961 accounted for the high valuation figure. That total was $1,835,000 compared to only $135,000 for two commercial permits during the past month.

This year's residential permit value for April was $468,430 as compared to $398,990 during the same month a year ago. In each of these monthly periods 29 permits were issued.

Total building permit value through the end of April this year is $1,835,709. During the first four months a year ago the valuation was $3,335,091.

Oakland GOP Elects 4 to Executive Committee

Four new members have been elected to the executive committee of Oakland County Republicans.

Pineapple is the most popular of the canned fruits in the U.S. today but canned peaches rate second by only a slight difference.

Radiological Warfare Idea Given Up by U.S. Experts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The idea of radiological warfare, in which deadly contamination would be sprayed or otherwise spread over an enemy area, is out.

U.S. experts say the plan considered during recent years just isn't practical—and, moreover, better results could be obtained by exploding fission weapons at low altitude, or salting them with extra poisonous material.

* * *

A newly revised edition of the Defense Department-Atomic energy Commission handbook, "The Effects of Nuclear Weapons," writes off the subject of radiological warfare.

* * *

The radioactivity of materials which could be used wouldn't last long enough in a stockpile to be useful; their strength would diminish too fast, it says.

Junking of the idea of radiological warfare—where radiation would be the primary killer instead of just the byproduct of a nuclear explosion—apparently does not throw out the concept of a neutron bomb.

DEATH RAY THEORY

The theory behind the N-bomb, or death ray, is that a precisely controlled nuclear explosion would be made to produce a burst of intense radiation without the intense shock, heat and radioactive contamination of present bombs. Thus it would kill without destroying.

* * *

The handbook provides the first official details on results of some of the tests conducted prior to 1958, the start of the moratorium on nuclear testing which was broken last fall by the Soviet Union's series of explosions in the atmosphere.

* * *

Descriptions of some of these tests could be forerunners of experiments to be carried out during the current American series in the Pacific.

Students Pledge $7,000 for New School Building

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Some 1,100 students at Grand Rapids Christian High School needed only two hours yesterday to raise more than $7,000 toward a $300,000 goal for a new school building.

"Things were in a turmoil here for a while," said Principal E. R. Post, "but the students exceeded their goal." They had sought $4,000.

Student Council President Louis Roossien said the goal was set on the basis of "a nickel a week, $2.50 a year or a total pledge of $7.50 per student" over a three-year period.

* * *

Prices are certainly going up. It now costs as much to cure an ordinary cold as it used to cost to cure pneumonia. . . . Some women spend the first part of their lives shopping for a husband, and the rest of their lives shopping for everything else.—Earl Wilson.

Bells Ringing for May Brides

Miss Henry Is Married to Marine

Marine Lance Cpl. Charles W. Hayward claimed Patricia Ann Henry as his bride in a candlelight ceremony performed by Rev. Lyal Howison Saturday evening in the First Free Methodist Church.

The newlyweds and their parents, the Ferman Henrys of Knollworth Avenue and the Charles H. Haywards of Joslyn Road, greeted some 350 guests, in the Baughey Tabernacle banquet hall.

Fingertip veiling of silk illusion complemented the bride's gown of white nylon over taffeta, styled with fitted bodice and wristpoint sleeves. A purple orchid centered her cascade bouquet of white carnations.

★ ★ ★

On the esquire side were George T. Holzworth Jr., best man, and ushers William Ballard, Robert Sturgis and Donald Hawkins.

The bride donned a beige satin suit for their Niagara Falls honeymoon. The couple will live on Joslyn Road while the bridegroom is stationed at Grosse Ile Naval Air Station.

An average U.S. farm worker in 1880 harvested 21 acres of land. By 1950 the average was 47 acres and now it is near the 60 acre mark.

Miss Hickey Weds Sidney A. Colyer

Traditional white slipper satin was chosen by Maudie Marie Hickey for her marriage to Sidney A. Colyer Saturday evening in Grace Lutheran Church. Rev. Richard C. Stuckmeyer performed the candlelight ceremony.

The princess-line gown featured a front panel of Alencon lace and chapel train. A diamond-shaped bouffant veil was fitted to a small satin cap topped with a self rose. The bride carried gardenias and stephanotis.

Stuart Colyer, Union Lake, stood as best man for his brother and Ronald Colyer ushered. They are the sons of Mrs. Joseph E. Smith, Union Lake, and the late Mr. Colyer. Also seating guests were the bride's brother Ernest Hickey and Michael Hudson.

For the wedding and reception in the Auburn Heights Community Club, Mrs. Harbin chose a satin-trimmed dress of beige lace. Her flowers were pink cymbidium orchids. The mother of the bridegroom appeared in royal blue silk linen to which she clipped white cymbidium orchids.

Hi-Infidelity

'Wait, Ask Your Dad' Worked to a Frazzle

(Editor's Note — A condensation of Abigail Van Buren's new book "Dear Abby on Marriage" is appearing daily in The Pontiac Press in 24 installments under the serialized title "Hi-Infidelity.")

★ ★ ★

Democracy is grand. I'm for it. But marriage is a social, not a political, institution.

Give both husband and wife an equal vote on family matters and you'll have more stalemates than in the Security Council of the United Nations!

A family is an organization, and an organization without a boss is like a ship without a captain. Someone must make the important decisions!

Should the "boss" be a woman? Maybe. When the wife has demonstrated her superiority as the household chief of state she should take the helm. But this is an exception.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

UNDERMINES DAD

She'll nod her head in agreement when Dad is making a long speech about how the children must learn to budget their money and live within their allowances. When they're short, she'll slip them an extra dollar behind his back.

Mothers who use such tactics have shredded wheat where their brains belong. Divided authority confuses the children. It also gives them a distorted picture of what a good marriage relationship is supposed to be.

TO ASK DADDY

Children learn to play one parent against the other. The old "Ask Daddy" and "Ask Mother" dodge has been worked to a fare-thee-well.

DEAR ABBY:

I am nine years old, and very mixed up. I would like to know who the boss is supposed to be in the family. My mother says to ask Daddy when I want permission to do something, and my daddy tells me to ask my mother. I am getting tired of this.

John D.

A successful family must be a team effort. It's Mother's job to help create an aura of respect around Father. She shouldn't say, "Quiet, Dad is hung over again." It is quite sufficient to explain that Daddy has a "headache."

And the wise mother will not threaten a youngster with, "Just wait until Daddy comes home — he'll fix you!" She is building Daddy into the image of the "Enemy."

In making decisions that affect the children, parents should let the children know that the decision was the result of a discussion between both of them.

No mother has the right to throw the problem into her husband's lap and then sit back and say, "It's up to your father!" If the decision is contrary to the children's desires, guess who the villain is again?

★ ★ ★

United, your marriage will be solid as the Rock of Gibraltar. Divided — you're Romeo without Juliet.

Remember Heavy Soil

Despite the vast volume of wash-wear and delicate washables in use, the bulk of home laundry is still made up of sheets, towels, work clothes, and children's clothes.

These heavy soiled pieces require hot water, plenty of soap or detergent suds, and agitation to come really clean.

Want to Uncover the Secret of Discipline? Here It Is

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

She is a hospital's supervisor of student nurses, a job which includes the ability to make palatable to untrained girls the hard and rigorous disciplines of the nursing profession.

One day when I admired an enameled brooch she was wearing, her husband told me that her students had given it to her for a recent birthday.

Then, pride shining in his face, he said, "Go on, Helen, tell her about that string of pearls you're wearing." And turning back to me, said, "It was sent to her from three of her graduated children in three different states who got together to send it to her for Christmas. Go on, tell her what they said on the card, Helen . . ."

She laughed. I say, 'Come on—and I'll do it with you,'" she said. "When I was in training, that's what my supervisor used to say to us. Never was she unwilling to help us do what she'd told us to do. I guess you might say that she taught me the secret of discipline."

So is the secret of parental discipline the willingness to do what we ask children to do, although many parents won't believe this.

When Julie dawdles, complains or otherwise balks at an order to set the supper table, some parents find her disobedience so humiliating that they either fuss back or precipitate a will power showdown with Julie.

When Billy ignores a command to remove his fishing tackle from the porch, they can't remove it themselves lest he get the idea that he has defeated them.

To such parents a child's obedience is always deference to their power over him, and when he denies it, they feel so threatened they either have to force his submission or boil with resentment at his defiance.

"Rational authority," writes psychoanalyst Erich Fromm, "has its source in competence. Its acceptance depends on its performance."

If we must always have a child's obedience without leading him into it, Dr. Fromm's and the supervisor's opinions will infuriate us.

We will feel outraged by my suggestion that Julie's disobedience calls for a refreshment of her respect for our competence in setting the table, for the cheerful, uncritical and unthreatened, "Come on, I'll help you set it."

Parents who must have obedience disconnected from any effort of their own are those who secretly feel:

"I work so hard; I sacrifice so much and am so generally hounded by the obligation to consider others that nobody is entitled to require proof of my competence. I'm above having to prove anything. My noble life is enough justification of my right to command."

★ ★ ★

That such secret resentment of family responsibility accounts for this proud attitude toward obedience is something that should occur to them.

Campanella Winning Biggest Victories in Wheel Chair

MARK OVER PAGES

BY BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Roy Campanella, the great Dodger catcher who broke his neck in a car accident four years ago, today is winning little physical triumphs which by comparison make the massive muscular achievements of his baseball career seem tame.

One night not long ago his housekeeper stepped outside the door of Roy's 16th-floor apartment to pick up a newspaper and the wind from an open window blew the door shut.

It was a special snap lock, and her key was inside the apartment.

She knocked, and called to Roy to let her back in.

Campanella, who cannot move his legs, slowly wheeled his chair over to the door and, after great effort, was able to place his hands on the knob—which could be turned from that side of the door.

★ ★ ★

The hands that gripped and swung a thousand clubs, which caught and squeezed baseballs until the stitched covers whimpied, struggled now to turn the knob. He couldn't turn it.

REMEMBERED CLOTH

Roy called to the woman to wait, he'd think of something. He sat back in his chair to think that one through. Then he remembered a damp dish cloth in the kitchen.

He rolled to it, picked it off the sink, and came back to the knob. This time, he shouted to her, he'd have the friction he needed.

He couldn't turn it.

Now he'd have to think of something else, he called, and he did. He told her to go downstairs and outside and he'd throw the key out the open window to her. It would be wrapped in the dish cloth, he said.

It was not easy—nothing is — for Campanella. But this was one of those little things he was going to lick, a millimeter milestone on what must at times seem an endless road.

He got the key, wrapped and knotted it in the cloth and wheeled himself to the window.

TEETERS DANGEROUSLY

It is impossible for him to extend his limp, curled hands more than a few inches forward.

But in time, teetering dangerously on his chair, he knew he was far enough forward to clear the window sill when he dropped the package.

Roy wheeled himself around the apartment. A stick was what he now needed, a stick to push it off the ledge. But there was no stick, he knew without even looking. Yet he must find a way.

Then an inspiration.

The housekeeper had finished a roll of aluminum wrapping foil that night and he had noted that she had thrown the empty paper cylinder in the garbage pail. He wheeled back into the kitchen and retrieved it.

Then into another room where he keeps one of the many remarkable aids developed at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, New York University-Bellevue.

It fits around the back and palm of the hand and there is an incision in it, into which can be placed a fork, or knife, or spoon, toothbrush, etc.

SUCCESS IN SIGHT

Roy slowly raised the paper cylinder to his mouth, bit the end of it flat, and painstakingly fitted the flat section into the hand band.

Now he would be able to reach the marooned package and knock it on its way to the earth below.

He couldn't reach it. The cylinder was long enough, but he couldn't reach far enough out over the sill to touch the package, which was near the face of the building.

He sat back in his chair and the sweat was on him now. But she couldn't come that close and call. By God, he'd find a way.

He closed his eyes, and when he opened them again he had found a way. He bent the cylinder, gave it an angle that would bring it straight down from the sill.

He fished and fished and found the rag, and ever so slowly moved it to the edge—and over, by God.

Astronaut Doctor Sees Accent on Youth One Day

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Stanley White, medical man for the U.S. astronauts, said Wednesday younger men may be used in the American space program some day.

"We are trying now to pick a man who will still be a good risk three or four years later," he told a meeting of the Harris County Medical Society.

John H. Glenn Jr., first American to orbit the earth, is 40.

White described the ideal astronaut this way: "He would be 18 years old, have a Ph.D. and 25 years' flight engineering experience."

Sentenced for Spying

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP) — The West German Supreme Court today sentenced American businessman Harold N. Borger to 3½ years in prison for betraying U.S. military secrets to the Communists.

Trouble in 2nd Stage Doomed the Centaur

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Trouble in the second stage caused the first Centaur space rocket to explode on its maiden flight, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reports.

There was immediate concern that the Atlas first stage was at fault. If this had been so, the forthcoming orbital flight of astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter might have been affected. A similar Atlas is to boost Carpenter aloft.

Following the Centaur post-mortem, Project Mercury officials reported they were moving ahead with plans to launch Carpenter on May 17. The shot could be delayed, however, if technical problems develop during tests and checkouts which still lie ahead.

FABULOUS DESSERT — Nutty ice cream balls appeal to young and old alike. Scooped and rolled in a mixture of peanut butter and fine rolled honey graham cracker crumbs, the snowball-size treats are then put in the freezer until time to serve with chocolate-flavored sauce.

Simply Elegant Dessert Given a New Touch

For goodness knows how many years there existed on New York's Park Avenue, in the Fifties, a fabulous place to go for lunch or early dinner. It was a place equally beloved by couples meeting for a leisurely meal, by matrons before a matinee, by mothers with children on a school holiday. Gorgeous with white rococo woodwork, red velvet banquettes and crystal chandeliers, it was famous for certain menu items that never changed.

Those for whom it is now a fond memory will never forget, for instance, the great puffy popovers that arrived, with generous blocks of butter, as soon as a guest was seated. And of the desserts the all-around favorite was the over-size and perfectly delicious ice cream ball.

It came on a large glass plate, vanilla ice cream like a giant snowball rolled in ground peanut crumbs and set in a rich dark pool of chocolate sauce. People who took dieting seriously simply had to refrain from going within a mile of the Town and Country because it seemed impossible to approach nearer without falling into temptation.

Though the original ice cream balls are no more, they can be copied today in any home, and it's even possible — if one hasn't a peanut chopper handy — to make a "crumb" which is equally tasty and quite a bit less fattening. So roll the big scoops of vanilla ice cream in this crumb, put them in the freezing compartment until dessert time, and then set them in their fine chocolate syrup pools for serving.

Using a fortified chocolate syrup (with vitamins added) also reduces any guilt feeling about the calories in the ice cream. Here's the simple recipe:

Peanut Butter Ice Cream Balls

1 cup sugar honey graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup creamy or chunk - style peanut butter
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 quare vanilla ice cream
Fortified chocolate-flavored syrup

★ ★ ★

Blend graham cracker crumbs, peanut butter, sugar and cinnamon. Scoop ice cream into large balls and roll in crumb mixture until well coated. Freeze until serving time. Serve with chocolate syrup. Makes 6-8 servings.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Blend 1 cup of mayonnaise with 3 tablespoons of frozen grapefruit juice concentrate, undiluted, to make a tart dressing for seafood salads.

Don't Worry About Pink Meat in Cooked Turkey

What causes pinkness in cooked turkey meat? Pink-tinted turkey meat is perfectly good. Pinkness is caused by various gaseous substances in the atmosphere of any heated oven or on top of the range.

These substances react with traces of hemoglobin in the meat to give a pink or reddish color. The gaseous substances causing the reaction are the same chemically as those used in the brining and soaking processes of curing meat.

Frozen Brussels Sprouts Become Cocktail Treat

NEW YORK (UPI) — Neapolitan cocktail nibbles welcome your guests Italian-style and make a good beginning for a festive dinner. To serve 6, make marinade as follows: Combine ¾ cup of olive or salad oil, ¼ cup of vinegar, 1 tablespoon of sugar, 2 tablespoons of prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon of capers, chopped, ¼ teaspoon of basil and ⅛ teaspoon of oregano; blend or shake well.

Add 1 (10-ounce) package of frozen brussels sprouts to marinade and chill 3 hours, stirring occasionally. Drain sprouts and arrange on cocktail picks.

Quick Pickled Beets

Drain [illegible] beets, add 2 tablespoons olive oil, 1 teaspoon vinegar, ¼ teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon dry or prepared mustard, with 1 tablespoon beet juice. Cover, place over moderate heat until beets are just heated through. Good hot or cold.

Losses of Key Stocks Fractional

Market Continues Downhill

The list was going into its fifth straight session of lower prices and there seemed to be increasing resistance to further losses.

With the list at new lows for 1962, motors were mostly unchanged with Ford off a fraction. U. S. Steel was about unchanged and Republic Steel up a fraction while Bethlehem and Jones & Laughlin gave up a little ground.

Although American Telephone dropped about a point, other utilities were narrowly mixed. The nonferrous metals group was uneven, with Phelps Dodge and Kennecott posting small gains.

FIRMS SLIP

Polaroid slipped about 3 points in a routine move. International Business Machines dropped 2 points. Losses exceeding a point were taken by Merck and Korvette.

Mission Development rose 5/8 to 26 on an opener of 8,800 shares. Goodrich gained nearly a point.

Oils were unchanged to easy, with Standard Oil (New Jersey) fractionally lower. Building materials, aerospace issues and farm implements showed a mildly lower trend.

Prices were generally lower on the American Stock Exchange. Anken Chemical lost more than a point and Mead Johnson about a point. Other losers were Sherwin-Williams, Aerojet-General, Edo Corp. "A" and Ross Products. Insurance Co. of North American was up about 2.
