Troy Official Won't Resign

Township Board Fires Attorneys at Turf Hearing

Treasurer Hildebrandt Refuses to Leave Post; Track OK Canceled

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH

Dramatically declaring that the Troy Township Board had no authority to dismiss him, Township Treasurer Fred W. Hildebrandt last night refused to hand in his resignation.

"You have the right to fire the lawyers, but you can't fire me," he stated at a special meeting of the board..

His statement followed adoption of a resolution terminating the services of the firm of Dell and Heber as attorneys for the township.

The board also voted to wipe out a resolution adopted May 23 which approved a pari-mutual race track at 14-Mile road and John R.

Hildebrandt abstained from voting on the proposal to rescind, which was moved by Trustee J. Wesley Smith, who also presented the May 23 motion favoring the track.

The trustees learned in the past week that Hildebrandt and the attorneys were connected with land deals for the track even before the May meeting.

CHANGES MIND

Hildebrandt, whose declaration came before a second was offered to Smith's motion asking him to resign, stated:

"I've received telephone calls at home and people were waiting in by yard when I got home tonight. They said they elected me and wanted me to stay.

"Gentlemen, I've changed my mind."

Earlier in the day, at a State Racing Commission hearing in Detroit, Hildebrandt said he would resign if the board so requested.

Following the 15-minute meeting, which ended after his statement, Hildebrandt, 55, reaffirmed his announced intention to sell his stock in the Esroh Development Co. "within a week."

Esroh is a three-man corporation in which Hildebrandt owns half the stock.

His partners are Malcomb M. Heber and Harry N. Dell, Royal Oak attorneys who have served as the township's legal counsel for 4½ years. Each owns one-quarter.

DELL MAY TESTIFY

Dell has not testified as yet but may at Monday's session.

The hearings on a franchise for the Michigan Thoroughbred Turf Club in Troy for the past two days have been aimed at the fact Esroh

New Strain Grown in Rochester

DEVELOPS NEW POTATO—Mrs. Otto K. Schuler of Rochester sees no sign of blight as she squints into a microscope at a section of leaf from a new blight resistant potato she has developed. At the left is the vine from her potato; at the right, the best vine from five other varieties that grew side by side with hers and died of blight during trial plantings.

May Save Millions for Farmers

Potato Immune to Blight

A Rochester woman has developed what is believed to be the first high quality potato to be immune to blight.

To America's farmers, such a potato can mean millions of dollars a year in crop savings.

After 16 years of research and development, Mrs. Otto Schuler of 333½ Main St. believes her new variety is ready for outside tests. She has arranged to turn it over to Michigan State University for final test planting and trials.

There have been other blight-resistant potatoes, but Mrs. Schuler believes hers is the first to be immune to blight and, at the same time, of top-grade quality.

EXCELLENT TASTE

It is extremely white, not subject to discoloration, and can be boiled, fried, baked or mashed. It has a good, firm texture, superior keeping qualities, and excellent taste. It produces an average of eight good-sized potatoes to a hill.

Planted side by side with five other types this year, the Schuler potato vines stayed green and continued to flourish long after the other varieties had withered and died of blight.

Experiments in developing the new variety were carried on at Cranberry Lake north of Rochester where, for some years, Mrs. Schuler had a plant nursery, and in scattered plots near Lake Angelus.

Assisting her in her work was Mrs. Schuler's husband, Otto, a mailman who, she smilingly says, "likes potatoes so well, he inspired me to keep on producing them."

Mrs. Schuler started her experiment by crossing a Main Katahdin with a Puerto Rico potato that was blight resistant but otherwise was almost inedible. Seed from this was later crossed with the Russet Burbank or Idaho potato.

POTATO DIFFERENT

"Seed from the final potato was from the Russet Burbank," she said, "but the potato was different."

"Mine has thin skin and will cook in any fashion, while the Burbank has heavy skin and is a baking potato."

A naturalist, Mrs. Schuler acquired her knowledge of plant life through direct experiments and independent studies. She has developed at least a dozen new flowers and vegetables, including a potato that peels clean and is widely used by the restaurant industry and a tomato that has about 80 per cent less seeds than regular varieties.

Mrs. Schuler has been a reporter for Detroit Dailies, has invented two successful auto accessories, and has had published, under the pseudonym of Helen Janet Miller, two books and more than 500 poems.

Mrs. Schuler said she will take the new potatoes to MSU sometime in November.

"The University has been of invaluable help to me, and I am happy that they want to make the final tests," Mrs. Schuler said. She indicated that her next venture would be in the field of research on cancerous growths in plants.

Meg and Peter Week-end —by Help of Barbed Wire

LONDON (INS)—Barbed wire was erected today to give utmost privacy to Princess Margaret and Peter Townsend who will spend the week-end discussing her love-or-duty problem.

Evidence accumulated that a public announcement on the romance of the 25-year-old princess and the 40-year-old commoner might be near.

The two were the guests of Lord Rupert Neville at his home in Uckfield, Sussex County, in their second weekend together.

Lord Nevill was dubbed the wartime "godfather" of the royal family because he used to trail its members during the war with an emergency bullet-proof car that could be used as an air-raid shelter.

He converted his house and grounds into a veritable fortress today to keep out reporters and curious Britons. One reporter's efforts to get inside the grounds left him convinced it would be easier to crack the Kremlin.

Predictions mounted that next week will witness important developments in the Margaret-Townsend drama.

Big 4 Still Striving to Break Deadlocks

GENEVA, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers met today for the third time to try to bring nearer together their apparently irreconcilable views on how to reunite Germany and achieve European peace.

Soviet Foreign Minister R. M. Molotov, U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Britain's Harold Macmillan and France's Antoine Pinay assembled in the Palace of Nations.

Russia and three Western powers presented each other yesterday rival programs for solution of Europe's problems. Diplomatic quarters said the two plans were almost as far apart as they ever have been.

Today, the foreign ministers will see what they can do to find at least some common ground between the two plans. There were many fears, however, that they faced a stalemate.

Cabinet Holds Session — Mostly With Proxies

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower's Cabinet held its regular meeting Friday. The only thing missing was the President and half of the Cabinet.

The ailing Chief Executive was represented by Vice President Nixon. Assistants sat in for the secretaries of state, defense, agriculture and interior.

The company is planning a testimonial dinner for its retiring chairman on his forthcoming 61st birthday.

Street Shooting Kills Man Here

Samul Vaughns Is Held in Death of Detroiter, Willie Henry

Samul Vaughns, a 33-year-old construction laborer, today was charged with murder after admitting he shot a Detroit man on a street corner last night, Pontiac Police said.

He is charged with the shotgun slaying of Willie Henry, 37, of Detroit, in front of the Mellow Lane Club, Bagley and Hibbard.

Vaughns, of 73 Crawford St., told police he fired the fatal shot from behind the wheel of his auto when Henry drew a revolver from beneath his coat.

He said Henry previously had threatened to kill him, charging Vaughns was "making a play for his woman." Vaughns said the shotgun was in the car because he was returning from a hunting trip.

Henry's revolver had no ammunition in its chambers, police said.

Trouble-Laden Benson Meeting With President

Ike's 1st Stand-Up Heart X-Ray Reported Good; No Abnormalities Seen

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower, past another important recovery milestone, arranged a hospital conference today with Secretary of Agriculture Benson—around whose head a bitter political storm is howling.

As the President's doctors reported that new X-ray pictures disclosed no enlargement of his heart, and termed that the most significant medical development of the week in his case, the embattled Benson declared last night:

"I am going to see it through just as long as the President wants me to remain in his Cabinet."

So the scheduled Eisenhower-Benson conference at Fitzsimmons Army Hospital took on the aspect of a chips-are-down session.

It affords the recuperating President an opportunity to say just how he feels about the sharp criticism of Benson—and to make it clear whether he wants him to stay on in the Cabinet.

In the past Eisenhower has warmly defended Benson, who comes to Denver today in the wake of published reports—denied by the White House—that some of his fellow Cabinet members tried to oust him from his agriculture post.

The storm raging around Benson is linked to falling farm prices—a decline for which he contends the Eisenhower administration is not responsible.

The farm price issue is shaping up at this point as a key one of the 1956 presidential and congressional campaigns.

The President, awaiting his meeting with Benson, today entered the sixth week of his convalescence from a heart attack with cheering new word from his physicians.

Yesterday they took the first chest X-ray pictures of Eisenhower standing up and they reported just before dinner time that the examination "revealed no abnormalities."

If all continues to go well, the doctors plan to let Eisenhower leave the hospital in another 10 days to two weeks—somewhere between Nov. 5 and 12.

Car Victims

GLENN BEST

HELEN BEST

Youngsters Hit While Crossing Menominee Rd.

Glenn and Helen Best Struck Down in Front of Pontiac Home

By WILMA GREENWAY

Seventy-six witnesses watched in horror yesterday afternoon as tragedy struck the Glenn Best family, 755 Menominee Rd., for the second time within a year.

The Bests' two children, Glenn Jr., 3, and Helen Ann, 4, suddenly darted into the street in the path of an oncoming station wagon. Both were struck simultaneously.

Glenn was killed instantly after the wheels passed over his small body. Helen, also crushed beneath the wheels, died two and a half hours later at Pontiac General Hospital. The Bests' only other child, 20-month old Barbara, was in the house sleeping when the accident occurred, at 3:20 p.m.

Besides six adult witnesses, the entire 70-piece Washington Junior High School band, practicing in the school grounds across from the Best home, saw the accident. The band had just gone out of a formation and was standing at attention when the accident occurred.

Less than a year ago, last Dec. 5, the children's uncle, Lynn Best, 27, of Oxford, was killed in the "Slaughter Hill" crash north of Oxford, which killed five and orphaned nine children.

Driver of the station wagon which struck the two was Mrs. Norman LaLone of 96 Franklin Blvd., herself the mother of five who had her own two smallest children with her in the car. She was released by Pontiac Police, after witnesses testified that she was driving about 20 miles per hour and the two youngsters darted in front of her car so suddenly that it was impossible to stop in time.

At the time of the accident, the mother, Louella Best, 25, was in the house. The father, Glenn, 30 who drives haulaway cars for Contract Cartage Co. was on the road, on a return trip from Cleveland.

"I had just let Glenn go out, when I heard an awful thump," Mrs. Best sobbed. "I ran out to learn what had happened. The first thing I saw was little Glenn's tiny feet sticking out from the side of the station wagon. He didn't move.

"Then I saw Helen. She was conscious, her leg pinned beneath a wheel, and she wanted to get up and walk around."

Later, when Mrs. Best was told of the girl's death, she screamed:

"Oh my God, not Helen too. Not both of them. What will my husband do when he gets home and finds them both gone.

"They were always together—they were inseparable. It must have been meant that they should go together."

Meanwhile, the children's father, Glenn Sr., was stopped on the road and told that a "serious injury" had occurred. It was not until he walked into his home shortly before midnight that he learned his only son and the oldest of his two daughters had been killed.

Almost equally affected in the tragedy was the driver of the station wagon, Mrs. Bernadette LaLone. She became hysterical when she stepped from the car, alternately trying to help the victims and to hide the accident from her own three-year-old boy and her girl, 4, Pontiac Police said.

"It happened so fast, I didn't even see the tots run in front of the car," she cried. "I can't bear it. I have five of my own—I know what it means."

Police said Mrs. LaLone was traveling at a moderate rate of speed, and her car traveled only six feet after the initial impact.

Funeral service for Glenn and Helen will be held at Flumerfelt Funeral Home, Oxford, at 2 p.m. Monday. Burial will be in Ridgelawn Cemetery. The Rev. G. E. Behnke, pastor of Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Oxford, will officiate.

Surviving besides the parents and the younger sister are Mrs. Guy Sutherland of Oxford, foster grandmother; and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Harry Best of Metamora.

Pontiac C. of C. Backs Williams' Safety Program

Governor Williams' 14-point traffic safety program now before the Legislature received support yesterday from Pontiac's Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee.

The committee went on record as favoring the program, "or any other constructive program for highway safety," Chairman Clyle Haskill said.

Also officially favored was the use of safety seat belts, which the committee felt were "a definite asset in prevention of traffic injuries."

Sears' Contribution Boosts United Fund

United Fund officials said they were "optimistic" about reaching their campaign goal yesterday as pledges began to come in at an increased rate. A gift of $4,150 from Sears-Roebuck Co. and employes led the increase.

H. Wayne Gabert, commercial division chairman, said he was optimistic "despite the fact that we have so far collected only about half our quota.

"Enthusiasm and hard work are beginning to pay off," Gabert said. "If everyone digs in hard these last few days, we have a real chance of making goal in time."

That Makes Sense?

FORT MADISON, Iowa (INS)—A hopeful football player at Fort Madison State Prison informed Coach Roby Hilpert:

"I just came back from being on escape. The law chased me for five years before they caught me. I should be a great open field runner."

Judge Moore Proposes Retarded Children Clinics

A proposal for clinics in more populous areas to care for and study mentally retarded children was made today by Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Judge Moore

He suggested that "in larger populated areas we have clinics and custodial centers sufficient in size to accommodate a comparatively small number of cases, perhaps about 20.

These could accomplish three major things, the judge said:

Study and correlate specific cases; encourage family care of defectives plus assisting such care by expert advice; and, screen defectives who are injurious to their home and community, therefore being a possible menace to society.

Judge Moore will outline his views on handling of mentally retarded children in an address before an American Legion meeting at the Bancroft Hotel in Saginaw tomorrow morning.

THREE PHASES

Judge Moore's remarks will come just before the State Legislature convenes Tuesday in a special session which, among other things, has been called by Gov. Williams to consider steps to aid mentally defective children.

"Those who have studied the social problems concerning defective children now understand there are three phases to be dealt with," said Judge Moore.

The first concerns educating such youngsters who have an IQ of from 40 to 50 up to 70 or 80, Judge Moore stated. (An IQ of 90 to 110 is considered normal).

Children in the 40-80 range are considered educable or trainable. "They who can be taught through skills of especially trained teachers and through work-training to take an active part in their community, earn their own living, and thus be good citizens."

Some can be cared for in their own homes if necessary school training and work opportunity is afforded them, he explained.

"Thus, the cost of boarding them, furnishing them with meals and lodging in a state institution can be avoided and the security of their own home atmosphere will assist them."

A CASE IN POINT

Another phase of the problem concerns defectives who cannot be cared for in their homes, the judge said.

"I think of the 16-year-old defective boy who bullied his mother, a little woman weighing less than 100 pounds. The boy was morally depraved and a menace to his family and local community.

"This type of child, who will either injure other children in his own home or many potentially injure others in his community, must be institutionalized, sometimes over long periods of time in order to protect society and deal fairly with his own family."

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

The problem's third phase lies in scientific research, Judge Moore pointed out. He recommended an intensive study from both the point of view of medicine and society to determine why certain children are born mentally defective.

"Such questions might be answered as: Is childbirth or medical treatment at the time of childbirth in any way responsible? Are there sociological factors in the family background which seriously impair the child's mental growth during the mother's pregnancy?"

It was once held that feebleminded children came from feebleminded parents, Judge Moore reminded. "At least some of this has been disproved . . . we cannot blame feebleminded parents for many instances of children who are mentally defective."

Research is made even more important, he asserted, because medicine has made the average life span longer and "even defectives are living to a ripe old age and therefore multiplying the intensity of the problem."

Celler Questions Stroebel's Acts

Prober Says Buildings Supervisor Came Close to Impropriety

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Celler (D-NY) said today Peter A. Stroble came "perilously close" to impropriety by maintaining a private business connection while serving as public buildings commissioner.

* * *

Celler heads a House judiciary subcommitte which has been inquiring into Strobel's actions on behalf of the New York engineering consultant firm of Strobel & Salzman, in which he retains a profit interest.

In his federal position, which pays $14,800 annually, Strobel supervises far-flung government real estate properties and selects architects and contractors for new structures.

Strobel has denied any wrongdoing. And he testified yesterday that in letting contracts he will disqualify himself whenever any former clients of his company are under consideration.

With the hearings in recess until Monday, Celler told newsmen:

"I think Mr. Strobel went perilously close to a line between what is proper and what is improper.

* * *

"He certainly got himself into embarrassing situations wittingly or unwittingly—witness the fact that the Corps of Engineers wrote him a letter asking him to end his profits from his firm. It would be interesting to know why the contractor was reinstated, and what influences were brought to bear."

* * *

This was a reference to testimony that the Army engineers had voiced doubts about entering into a contract with Strobel's firm about the time he took a federal position, but that the contract eventually was signed. Strobel became head of the Public Buildings Service in July 1954.

Charge Pontiac Man in Rape of Niece, 8

A 29-year-old Pontiac Motor worker has been charged with the rape yesterday of his eight-year-old niece, Pontiac police said today.

Sherman L. Wilson, of 407 N. Cass Ave., was arrested last night leaving a downtown theater after the girl had told her parents what had happened. She said her uncle had assaulted her twice before, threatening to whip her if she told.

She was taken to Pontiac General Hospital where authorities confirmed that she had been attacked.

Police plan to question Wilson about other sex offenses in Michigan this year.

Lost 76 Year Old Found in Brandon

Charles A. Miner, the 76-year-old Brandon Township farmer whose disappearance Thursday night set off a 17-hour manhunt, was found yesterday afternoon sitting quietly in a field less than a mile from his house.

An acquaintance, Miles Powell of Oxford, noticed him in the field as he drove past. Sheriff's deputies said today. Miner's family said he apparently had suffered few ill effects from his night in the open.

Searchers for Miner included Sheriff's deputies farmers. They numbered about 25 at the height of the search.

Ohio Court Uses Protective Law

Molester of Young Girls Faces Life Term Under Little Used Ruling

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 34-year-old man today faced possible loss of freedom for the rest of his life if psychiatrists so recommend under a little used Ohio law to safeguard society from potential criminals.

* * *

Ralph J. Oberacker, adjudged to possess a child's mind, was convicted of assault and battery, for which the ordinary penalty is a six months workhouse term. He had no previous record.

But Oberacker was accused of molesting little girls in his neighborhood, and Municipal Judge Louis Petrash decided yesterday to invoke the Ohio Ascherman Act, which until recently, has been used only against confirmed sex pervert who committed serious crimes. Under the law, sex felons, instead of drawing long prison prison sentences, go to Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, remaining until cured or for life.

NO CONVICTION

But Oberacker has not been convicted of a felony, nor has he any police record. The judge said he has worked steadily in the same place nine years and is the sole support of his aged mother.

The judge, deferring sentence until Nov. 14, said he would ask Lima Hospital authorities to accept Oberacker under the law.

The defendant's attorney, Donald P. Mull, did not object. He asked only that the man not be sent to the workhouse "because he certainly won't be helped there."

U. S. Rejects Red Claim of Postwar Violation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has rejected a Russian contention that it violated postwar agreements by permitting West Germany to join the Atlantic pact and other Western Defense alliances.

In a formal note, the State Department also restated yesterday its view that these same postwar agreements make Russia, not East Germany, responsible for "normal functioning of communications" between West Germany and Berlin.

Waives Examination on Indecency Charge

Paul R. Ivan, 28, of Livonia, waived examination on a charge of gross indecency when he appeared before Justice John J. Gafill yesterday and was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court.

Ivan did not furnish $2,000 bond and was remanded to jail. Police said they have had five complaints on Ivan, all involving boys between the ages of 9 and 14.

stood to make nearly $170,000 by obtaining options on the track site for the turf club.

* * *

Hildebrandt said he did not know if he would transfer the stock to the other partners or sell it.

In the closing minutes of yesterday's session before Racing Commissioner James H. Inglis, Heber revealed that a Detroit businessman, Warren Avis, last month offered to buy out the corporation for $50,000.

He testified that Hildebrandt talked the two attorneys out of selling to Avis.

"I think the race track is a very nebulous thing," Heber stated. "I don't know if it ever will be there or not."

He said Avis wanted the 200 acres for speculation.

ATTORNEY LEAVES

Heber's concluding testimony was interrupted by the blazing departure of Henry C. Murray, one of two turf club attorneys and a stockholder in the racing group.

* * *

Murray demanded that Inglis delay the hearings for three weeks, until the turf club could hold a directirs meeting.

Hot words were exchanged between Murray and Wilbur DeYoung, assistant attorney general assigned to the racing commission.

Murray said he would not be responsible for the appearance at Monday's hearing of four principals in the turf club, including the treasurer, public relations man and two stockholders with whom Heber had dealings.

"If you want them here, get them down here yourself," he declared before stalking out.

Early in Friday's hearing, Mrs. Eva M. Brace, a 76-year-old grandmother said she was miffed at Hildebrandt for "putting something over on me."

Mrs. Brace, who now lives in Port Huron, testified that Hildebrandt, a personal friend for 25 years, told her several times he was "not making a penny" when he obtained options on 72 acres she and her husband owned at 14-Mile road and John R.

She said she signed an option for $1,500 an acre for the land, then learned that Esroh, for whom Hildebrandt acted, in turn optioned it to the turf club for $3,000, netting a profit equal to the sale price of $117,000.

PURCHASE SHARES

"I objected to Mr. Hildebrandt putting something over on me," she said. "I thought he was a friend."

Testimony by Heber disclosed that the three partners purchased the 1,000 shares of Esroh stock without spending any of their own money.

After Dell and Heber were dismissed last night, the Pontiac law firm of Leonard and Barningham was suggested as a possible successor as township counsel.

The Day in Birmingham

Expect 6,000 Youngsters for Halloween Festivities

BIRMINGHAM—Pumpkins come alive with faces, some sombre, some smiling, will find their front porch vigilance to no avail come Monday night.

On their one night to shine, even without candles, they'll be deserted for the 20th successive Oct. 31, their only satisfaction in that their fixed stares might catch a glimpse of some of the 6,000 youngsters scurrying uptown about 7 p.m.

That's when the parade will form at Hill School for costumed marchers, just the beginning of the yearly festivities paid for by local business and professional people and sponsored by the Recreation Board. At 7:30 youngsters will follow the Birmingham High School band along the familiar route over Maple to Woodward and south on Woodward to the food lines.

If they can tear themselves away from the hot dogs, cider and doughnuts, the 600 "best costume" wearers will find their prizes awaiting them at the Briggs parking lot.

All this is only the beginning of the fun. The high school Student Congress has completed plans for a dance to follow in the Maple Room, featuring a University of Michigan band.

ORCHESTRAS FOR DANCING

Live orchestras will also supply music for junior high school students going to their respective Adams and Barnum Schools for parties after. Games, movies and refreshments will add to the program.

This is the first time such a party has been held at Adams, but with 350 junior high students there this year, Roland W. Reese, chairman of the Halloween party committee, said the addition was needed.

Smaller school youngsters will again head for Baldwin School and an evening of movies. Reese reminded that tickets distributed in the schools are necessary for admittance.

Shown throughout the country last year, the movie "Martin Luther" will be the high point in an interdenominational meeting for junior and senior high school ages at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow at First Presbyterian Church.

The special youth meeting is honoring the Protestant reformation and will be followed by a special Reformation Day service at 8 p.m. at First Methodist Church. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, nationally known minister of Park Avenue Methodist Church in New York City, will preach at the community service.

Both services are sponsored by the local Council of Churches and will include special music.

Requests for building permits showed a normal drop-off during September, Building Inspector T. C. Brien reports, with the issuance of 55 permits at a total valuation of $1,126,.350. Five new businesses accounted for $472,500 with another $219,800 for four business alterations.

Permits for 14 new single family residences added $266,300 to the total, plus a five-unit multiple family residence at $50,000 and five new duplexes at $86,100.

Costumes, cider, doughnuts, movies, merry-go-round, fish pond, games, and perhaps a photographer — the combination spells a Halloween party, and this one will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday at Franklin School.

Adenauer May Take Full Duties in 1956

BONN, Germany (AP) — Ailing Chancellor Konrad Adenauer may not be able to resume his full political activity until "early next year" it was indicated today.

* * *

Adenauer's Christian Democratic party has postponed its annual convention, which was to have been held in Baden-Baden Nov. 21. Today's announcement said Adenauer, as party chairman, requested the postponement until "early next year" so that he could take part in the convention.

His doctors last night said that they expected him to make a complete recovery from his attack of bronchial pneumonia.

Postponement of the party convention indicated, however, it will be at least early 1956 before he will be able to take full control of his country's affairs.

Jobs Stay at Peak

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Kent County's October labor force remained at the highest postwar level for the month with 126,000 persons employed, the Michigan Employment Security Commission office here reported. The figure is the same as last year's October employment, the MESC said. There were 2,700 persons unemployed during the month, the office reported.

"Common Sense" Is Free

J. L. VOORHEES

M. E. SIPLE

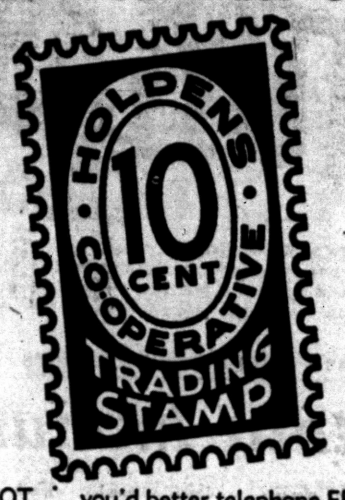

"Dear son," the letter began. "You say, 'I'm waiting for something to turn up.' Things don't just turn up; takes 'grit' and 'gumption' to get what you want. You wanted to go to college; I gave you a calf and mother gave you a pig, and the eggs; you sold them. When you were ready to enter college you had the money. 'Git' and 'gumption' may be old fashioned, but, son, they are the axis upon which they world revolves. 'Git' off your pants. Exercise the 'gumption' we taught you——" The letter is dated 1862 and is signed merely "Dad."

"Git" and "gumption" are magic words of all time. We'll never find the men at the top polishing the seats in the waiting room for "Something to turn up." Those men are powered with "gumption" to do while "git" is the spark plug to get it done.

Common sense is free. Use it.

British Were Duped

Housing Costs Rising

WASHINGTON — Costs of housing are estimated to take about 33 cents from the average American consumer's dollar, and they're said to be creeping up. A house that cost $12,000 to build in 1947-49 now sells for about $14,700, according to real-estate experts.

Liquid Fuel Used

STOCKHOLM — Consumption of liquid fuels in Sweden increased by 256 per cent between 1946 and 1954—from 1,949,000,000 litres (a litre is about a quart) to 7,104,000,000 litres. It now totals about 1,000 litres for each person a year, the highest average in Europe and exceeded only by the United States and Canada.

Lonardi Averts Argentine Strike

Government Suspends CGT Officials; Orders New Elections

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's provisional government has headed off—at least for the present a threatened strike by the labor unions that formed a main part of fallen dictator Juan D. Peron's strength. The new government suspended all officials of the unions and ordered the election of new officials within 120 days.

* * *

The General Confederation of Labor promptly withdrew its threat to call the strike, but the situation remained tense.

The CGT, which claims six million members, had warned it would call its men out unless anti-Peron leaders who had seized control of many member unions were removed.

After the government action, which came last night, CGT issued a statement telling the workers "to continue peacefully in your jobs with the assurance your interests will be protected."

A CGT committee continued to sit throughout the night with Labor Minister Luis Benito Cerrutti Costa discussing the government decree. The big question was whether the government's action constituted "intervention" in the labor organization. That is a technical term in Latin America implying the government was expected to supervise administration of the unions pending the elections.

* * *

However, the labor minister issued a statement denying that CGT had been "intervened." He said the move was aimed at assuring tranquility until government-supervised Democratic elections are held.

British Planning Cut in Military Strength

LONDON (AP)—A plan to cut its armed forces by 100,000 men the next 2½ years has been announced officially by Britain.

The government said "in a nuclear age the conception of reserve forces waiting to take part in large scale conventional war is out of date."

Courthouse Anniversary Reminder of Bygone Era

Approach of the 50th anniversary Wednesday, November 2, of Oakland County's present Courthouse is a nostalgic reminder of a vanished era. It is a reminder, too, of how much growth and change can take place in the relatively short span of a half century.

In a Pontiac Press Gazette article describing the dedication ceremonies November 2, 1905, the cost of the stone structure at Saginaw and Huron streets was given as $113,232.18.

The building itself was described as "a gem of taste and an ideal of convenience and comfort among the public buildings of southern Michigan." At that time it was believed that the County's Courthouse needs had been taken care of for an indefinite period.

Few, if any residents of that day could have visualized the changes which have transformed Oakland from a strictly rural to a thickly populated, highly industrialized suburban county. Nor could the leaders of that day have foreseen that Pontiac, once famed as the center of the carriage industry, would become one of the world's great automotive centers.

★ ★ ★

No one can read without a feeling of sadness, the list of those who contributed in small or large part to the building of the courthouse. As a group they were the leaders in the County and municipal governments and in the community life of 50 years ago.

★ ★ ★

The Courthouse, even with its annexes, long ago ceased to serve the County's needs and the supervisors are considering plans for a new and much needed larger one. Nonetheless, the present building stands as a monument to the good taste, common sense and public spirit of those who directed its erection shortly after the turn of the century.

Administration Shares Credit for Prosperity

Consider current national prosperity.

It tops anything ever enjoyed by any nation since the dawn of history.

Much of the credit for this situation is due the Eisenhower Administration. It has maintained an economic climate in which business could operate and expand with confidence. At the same time labor worked hand in hand with business to create one of the best years in our history.

Among latest proofs that this policy is effective are the record net earnings and sales of General Motors, the world's largest industrial corporation.

In their report to stockholders, GM President Harlow H. Curtice and Chairman Alfred P. Sloan said the automobile industry is experiencing the best year in its history. Continuing, the report pointed out that after setting aside the enormous sum of $1.063 billion for U. S. and foreign taxes, the corporation's net earnings for the year's first nine months totaled $913,000,000.

These earnings indicate that sales for the full year of 1955 will exceed one billion dollars. This is a figure never yet reached by any business enterprise.

Similarly, General Motors sales for the first nine months reached a new record high of 3,622,000 cars, more than sold in all of 1954. Dollar sales of all GM products in the same period set a new nine months record of $9.544 billion.

★ ★ ★

There are other indications that the Eisenhower Administration's homefront policies have brought unprecedented prosperity. One is the continuing boom in the construction industry. Another is total national employment above 62,000,000.

This record of dynamic economic health and increased buying power will provide the Republican Party with unassailable 1956 campaign material.

A British court refused a girl permission to marry because she couldn't cook. If such a precedent were established and followed in the U. S., in a few years there would be plenty of schoolroom space.

For $100 cash on the barrelhead, we'll sell the following slogan for 1956 to the Republican Party: "Don't Change Horses in the Middle of the Rising Tide of Prosperity."

A man can't learn anything about women by marrying one of them, but he can unlearn a lot of things he thought he knew about them.

The People's Business

Stays in Spotlight

Williams Outmaneuvering the GOP Legislature

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING—Republican leaders have signalled for a longer and stormier legislative session on traffic problems than expected—but Gov. Williams resolutely is looking the other way.

* * *

Six top Republican legislators announced that when they meet in special session Tuesday to work over the governor's program they will have their own plan to reduce highway fatalities.

Now this was well calculated to take the spotlight away from the governor, but no matter where the spotlight swings the governor is standing there with his arms around the Republicans.

Williams refused to take issue with the Republicans. He refused to criticize their program much.

* * *

He said it was "analagous" to his program, although to some observers there was as much analogy between the Republican and Democratic programs as there is between a Black Angus steer and a Holstein heifer. At the most, all you can say is that they are both cattle.

TO TAKE CREDIT

However, the governor's sweet reasonableness indicates that he is preparing to take credit for whatever the Legislature passes.

* * *

If the lawmakers should be so forgetful as to pass his program, he can say, "Look what I did, fellows." If they pass their own program, he can say, "That's about what I wanted anyway."

The governor has already taken a lot of steam out of the Republican opposition.

He has come out fatly for a speed limit, sensing a desire by many Republican leaders to pass one anyway. He has dropped his plan to take driver licensing away from local officials, a proposal the Republicans were set to clobber with great shouts of indignation.

* * *

He has shied off from compulsory auto inspection, another item which the Republicans probably would have bucked.

To top it all, Williams has taken the unprecedented step of "delivering" his message to the lawmakers by mail five days before they meet—thus attempting to head off any Republican moves to delay while they "study" his programs.

IN THE POCKET

In short, Williams seems to have gotten the Republican Legislature in the well-known pocket. If they do nothing he can abuse them royally and if they do anything he can say "we did it."

* * *

The depth of Williams' strategy can best be gauged by his attitude on driver-licensing examinations.

He started out proposing to take the job away from local officials and give it to a new organization of 500 state examiners under civil service protection.

Under fire from the sheriffs, he abandoned that, with admitted reluctance, in favor of methods to improve local examining procedures.

The Republicans came back with a proposal to take all licensing supervision, as well as the central violations file, away from the Democratic secretary of state, James M. Hare, and give it to the State Police.

* * *

But Williams told reporters mildly that he supposed it didn't matter who administered the law as long as it was well done.

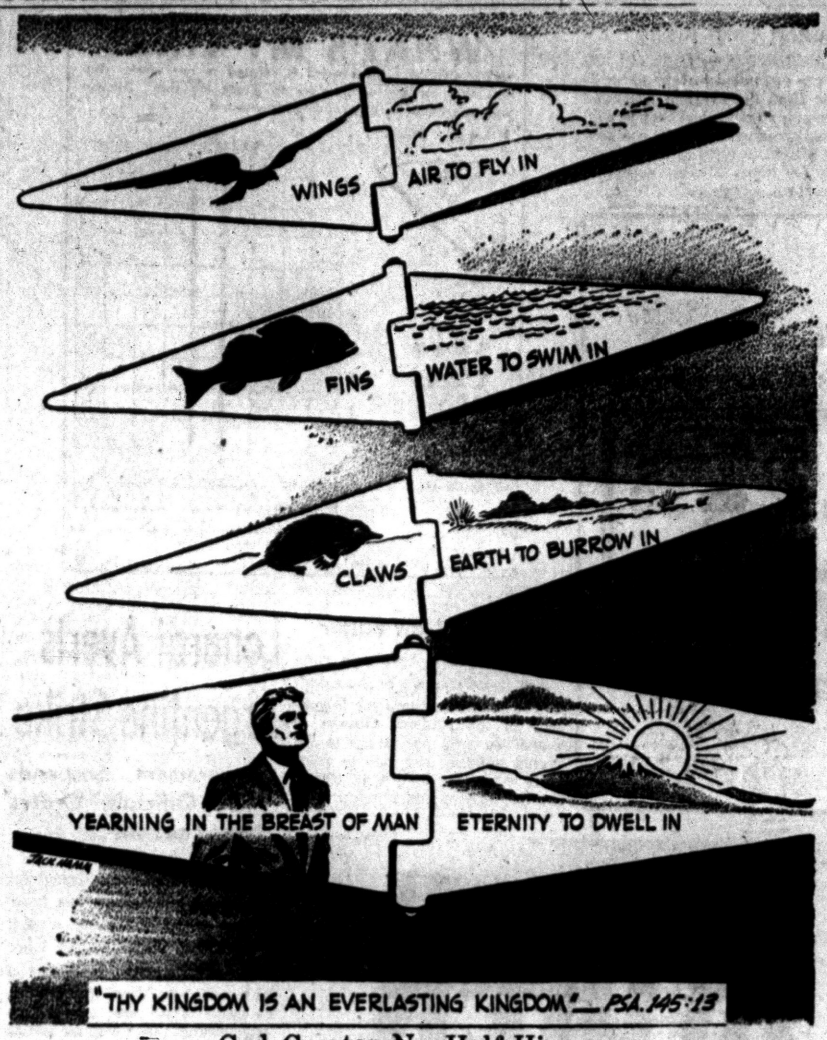

And, since Williams took his original stand from Hare, it would appear that the governor has left Hare holding the bag.

CAN'T BE HAPPY

Hare can quip that it "appears the Republicans have abandoned hope of ever electing another secretary of state," but he cannot be happy at seeing the core of his program, the one which has brought him so much criticism, calmly tossed aside.

* * *

This is especially true since all indications are that the Republican plan has been hastily considered.

Reformation Sunday Commemorates Martin Luther's Challenge Oct. 31, 1517

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

The Sunday nearest Oct. 31 is becoming one of the great Protestant festivals. Known as "Reformation Sunday," the day commemorates Martin Luther's daring challenge on Oct. 31, 1517, when the German monk posted his "95 theses" on the church door at Wittenberg and unexpectedly touched off a reform movement that swept over Europe.

* * *

Luther's intention was merely to find someone who would engage in a public debate with him. The 95 theses, or propositions, that he put up on the church door were all about church practices and customs he wanted to change. At the end of October, the town, like all towns, would be filling up with pilgrims arriving for All Saints Day (Nov. 1) and Luther expected to get both a worthy opponent and a good sized audience out of the visiting crowd.

The result was not a local debate. Nobody in Wittenberg argued with Luther. Instead, his ideas spread from place to place with such speed that all of northern Europe was soon involved in violent controversy.

Other leaders arose—John Calvin in France, Ulrich Zwingli in Switzerland, John Knox in Scotland—and in many cases Christians broke their centuries-old connection with the Roman Catholic Church and established new independent churches of their own.

EAST-WEST DIVIDED

This was not the first split in the unity of Christianity. Five centuries earlier, in 1054, the bishops of Rome and Constantinople had come to a parting of the ways and when Antioch, Alexandria and Jerusalem sided with Constantinople the result was a complete separation between East and West.

But the Protestant Reformation started by Luther was no high-level disagreement among bishops. It was a movement, a shaking of the foundations, and its participants were the little people who sat in the church pews.

Today, in the Western World, there are more than 250 million Christians who are not in communion with the Bishop of Rome, and most of them are in churches that owe either their existence or their independence to the action of the fiery German monk who, on Oct. 31, 1517, was looking for an argument.

* * *

Many denominations will hold joint services Sunday in acknowledgement of their common indebtedness to Luther and the other Reformation leaders. It has become traditional to include Luther's famous hymn, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," in today's services.

ALL SAINTS DAY

Tuesday, Nov. 1, All Saints' Day, observed by all Catholics and in recent years by many Protestants, honors all the unknown saints who by reason of their obscurity do not have days of their own in the Christian calendar. The day was established early in the seventh Century by Pope Boniface IV. Originally it was set for May 1, but in 834 it was changed to Nov. 1.

This change in dates brings up some interesting speculation. The best known feature of All Saints' Day is not the day itself but the evening that precedes it: Halloween.

People who have no idea of what All Saints' Day is about are probably the most active of the Halloween revellers. The strange fact is that all the typical Halloween pranks were happening on Oct. 31 long before there was an All Saints' Day, even before Christianity.

OLD DRUID FESTIVAL

Scholars say that back in the time of the Druids, Nov. 1 was the feast of Saman, Lord of Death. It was the day on which Saman called up the souls of all the departed. Naturally, the idea got about that the dead would begin to appear at midnight, when the day actually began, and since no one likes the prospect of facing a ghost alone people soon developed the custom of gathering together in groups on this fearful night.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Real Test of Minister's Forsenic Skill Is in Giving Satisfying Funeral Service

Rev. Busacca is a great credit to the pulpit. And he can deliver an excellent funeral sermon, which is a good test of a clergyman's forensic skill. A funeral address should not be a mere recital of Biblical quotations, but should also demonstrate Mark Anthony's good psychology.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case P-378: Rev. Dwight Busacca, aged 29, is pastor of the Memorial E.U.B. Church in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Mrs. Crane and I were there to attend the funeral of Dan Stair, who had been a neighbor of mine at Fort Wayne, Indiana, 40 years ago.

We sat through the funeral service in the church sanctuary.

"That's the most beautiful funeral service I have ever heard," Mrs. Crane whispered to me, at its conclusion.

Rev. Busacca briefly mentioned Mr. Stair and his positive personality. He told us about his inventive genius and many patents.

Then he cited his constructive work in the community, and finally shifted over to the usual reference from St. John wherein Jesus said:

"In my father's house are many mansions. I go to prepare a place for you."

It was a very dignified and personalized sermon that inspired everybody in the congregation. And it fulfilled the formula for an ideal funeral sermon, which demands:

(1) Personal mention of the deceased in a laudable manner so that the audience can be inspired by his good deeds or community efforts;

(2) Assurance to the family of the eternal life with the further reenforcement of their faith by use of Christ's positive promise in St. John 14:1-3;

(3) A 10-minute inspirational message for everybody, to exalt the soul and lift people momentarily from this mundane world into a brief glimpse of eternal verities.

FUNERAL OPPORTUNITY

A funeral should be a clergyman's greatest evangelistic opportunity for at that time many old reprobates and others who have drifted far from their ethical childhood moorings are back in the familiar church pews.

They are then meditative and open-minded. They constitute what we psychologists call a "polarized" audience, for they are already wondering about our purpose on this earth and whither we journey at such a graduation from it.

A clergyman thus has a very unique audience. He gets undivided attention from people who may never be in a church again.

So he should uplift them by a 15-minute dignified sermon, and take them up to the top of the mountain, as Moses went of old, so they can obtain a momentary glimpse into heaven.

BE SPECIFIC

A good funeral sermon should also contain specific references to the departed so the congregation will know whether it is a man, woman or child.

Some services are so vague, the listeners don't even know who is in the casket!

Mark Antony showed that a funeral sermon should list some of the specific good deeds of the departed. His unselfishness and kindliness should be stressed, for those positive virtues are a solace to the family and an inspiration to the living friends.

Psalms and the Gospels, as John 14:1-3, are an ideal inclusion, but don't recite scripture exclusively for the entire service.

For a recital is never an oration! Every sermon should be an oration of a special, evangelistic sort to inspire and uplift men.

Rev. Busacca's father and the latter's boyhood friend, came over to America from Italy, where they were boys studying for the priesthood. Somehow they got switched to the Evangelical United Brethren denomination.

So Rev. Busacca's father now occupies a pulpit in Wisconsin and this talented 29-year-old son is following in his father's footsteps. And he is a great credit to the pulpit.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane, in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'National Symbol, Eagle, Mentioned Often in Bible'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Recently the paper has carried some articles and pictures regarding the bald eagle or American eagle, most of them derogatory, and one suggesting the turkey as a national bird.

It would be very effective for any person or group interested in changing our form of government or destroying the morale of our fighting forces, to destroy the symbols and the culture of our American heritage, upon which they are founded.

May I point out that many early Americans were Bible readers and that the eagle is mentioned about 25 times in the Bible, three or four times in oft-quoted, inspirational phrases, although their source may have been forgotten by most of us.

I cannot find anything regarding the turkey, although it is a grand old bird and something to be thankful for.

Only an athiest or a very dull soul could fail to see the great inspiration of the Bible passages and the value of keeping ideals and morale high through the preservation of our American heritage.

If the Press Clubs and Literary Luncheon Clubs like the turkey, I suggest they develop a uniform of their own with turkeys on the shoulder, or preferably on a platter.

And, seriously, as an active member of the American Bible Society, I suggest that in any battle, whether with sword or with pen, we look to our Bibles and our churches for more inspiration so that we may draw together in common defense on the right side, God's side, which, in essence, is also America's side, ". . . so that thy youth is renewed like the eagle's . . ."

'City Hall Comfort Station Won't Aid Shoppers'

The other night and some time before a reqest was made in the Press that there be a comfort station downtown. After the first request the reply was that provisions have been made for it in the new city hall.

No doubt this would be of great comfort to those employed in the city hall, but what of the people who shop downtown?

State Corps Battled Huge Rebel Army

(AP Correspondent John Barbour of Ann Arbor has written another three-part series on Michigan's role in the Civil War)

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's Fourth Infantry Regiment was part of a corps which faced an entire Confederate army for seven days while a cautious general tried to make up his mind to attack.

* * *

The Fourth, recruited in Southeastern Michigan, is dramatized this week over a University of Michigan radio program on Michigan men in the Civil aWr.

During the entire "Seven Days Battle" for the Confederate capitol at Richmond, Va., the Fourth engaged rebel forces. Gen. George B. McClellan was trying to decide whether to attack Richmond with the rest of his army.

But for some reason or other McClellan never did attack. Every time the Fourth halted the rebel attacks, McClellan pulled them back further to await renewed rebel charges.

McClain had assigned the Fourth regiment in the Fifth corps to delay the rebels while he led the rest of the army to hit Richmond. Despite the fact that McClellan didn't attack, the Fourth did what they were told to do.

On July 1, 1862, the seventh day, the Fourth took positions with the corps on Malvern Hill. There they smashed the Confederate reserves with artillery and infantry fire.

When the battle ended, the Michigan regiment had at least 25 per cent casualties, including their commander Col. Dwight Woodbury of Adrian who said "Goodbye boys," as he was carried from the field with a bullet in his head. He died shortly after.

Capt. John Randolph of Ann Arbor wrote after the battle, "The regiment held its ground against fearful odds until its ammunition was expended. At evening when the action closed, we again held our first line."

Woman Reader Worries About Rumor Brady Is No Longer Among the Living

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS
By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Sometimes your article does not appear . . . is it true that you are no longer alive and the occasional articles that are printed are reprints? I have read this report . . . (Mrs. M. G.)

Answer—Sometimes I wonder about that. How can one know whether one is really alive? I remember now that at breakfast one morning seven years ago I had a sudden strange feeling that I was about to take off for the next world, but I snapped back again in a moment—maybe I did depart and my ghost is conducting this column. If so, I must say being a ghost is great fun. If you will kindly tell me who reported that I'm no longer alive I'll send you a complimentary set of the encyclopedia of health, in 23 volumettes, and we'll make the liar eat his words.

Had my first baby in the cold, impersonal and really harsh atmosphere of an Army hospital . . . but how in the world do you find a doctor who's willing to deliver a baby at home? (Mrs. O. LeS.)

Answer—Army or civilian, that atmosphere is part of the hospital routine. I regret I can't maintain a directory service. But I'll do all I can to persuade doctors that they had better get on the wagon and retain the good will of the people who establish family life.

Maybe I'm just an old granny, but I cannot believe it is good to give infants aspirin and (a carbonated, sweetened, colored, flavored soft drink) when they are not well . . . (Mrs. F. M.)

Answer—I'm with you about that Ma'am. I think parents guilty of such maltreatment of their children should be compelled to take a course of lessons in the care of children. All such nitwits know is what they see in the funnies and on TV.

Dime and stamped self-addressed envelope inclosed, for your pamphlets Wheat to Eat and Yankee Stomach. May we have your opinion of the nutritive value of American style bulgor, the Biblical wheat . . . (Mrs. K. L.)

Answer—A newspaper report describes "white wheat soaked, heat-treated and dried, purified, cracked and screened" as bulgor. The "heat-treated" and "purified" terms seem tricky. This newspaper report is the only information I have about bulgor. Omit the tricky words and the description might fit one or another wheat item suggested in the Wheat to Eat pamphlet.

What causes corners of mouth to become wrinkled and fissured or cracked open and lips covered with a sort of skin . . . (J. E.)

Answer—Very likely riboflavin deficiency. To correct it you must consume not less than 1½ pints (three glasses) of milk, fresh, evaporated, dried, skim, certified or pasteurized, daily in addition to regular diet. If you will not or cannot do so, then eat cheese, whatever kind you like, every day. Also eat liver once or twice a week. Or supplement your regular diet with three 5-mg. riboflavin tablets daily for at least a month.

I am often awakened by painful cramps iin legs or feet and have to get up and rub my legs . . . (M. H.)

Answer—Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet "Adult Tetany and Growing Pains."

Husband has had "sinus" for many years. His nose runs constantly. Here is a clean four bits and stamped self-addressed envelope for Little Lesson 5 (Call It C R I) and Little Lesson 26 (The Calcium Shortage). We love your column and we'd hate having your articles become more "dignified," as sugested by S. L. E. (Mrs. T. H.)

Answer—Thank you, Ma'am. When I'm in doubt about the effect a piece may have on readers I try it on the Young Snip. If it seems to worry her at all, I kill it.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 150 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

'Martin Luther' Film Scheduled

People of Community Invited to View Picture at Ascension Lutheran

In celebration of the 438th anniversary of the nailing of his 95 theses on the Church door at Wittenberg, Ascension Lutheran Church, 96 Williams St., will relive the event by showing the film, "Martin Luther."

The complete film will be projected on the eight by ten foot screen at 7:30 Sunday evening. Multiple speakers will provide the sound.

The film has just recently been released for purchase by congregations for local showings. This picture was given one of Hollywood's "Oscars" last year.

Reformation Sunday is observed each year on the Sunday closest to the anniversary of the posting of the theses in 1527.

According to the pastor, the Rev. George L. Garver, it is not the congregations's purpose to raise money by the showing but to have the film's message presented to more people.

The presentation will require one hour and 45 minutes. All members of the community are invited.

Urges Morality Be Instructed

Catholic Bishop Asks Public Schools to Join Delinquency Fight

NEW YORK (RNS)—A plea that the Ten Commandments and other fundamentals of morality be taught in the public schools was made by Roman Catholic Bishop Charles F. Buddy of San Diego, Calif., in the current issue of America, National Jesuit weekly published here.

He said this was the only way to check the alarming growth of juvenile delinquency. Bishop Buddy cited statistics recently issued by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover that persons 17 years of age or under comprised 10 per cent of the 1954 arrest total of 1,688,550 reported by 1,389 cities.

"Nor was the misconduct for which these youths were arrested mere 'pranks,'" he pointed out. "Juveniles represented 57.6 per cent of all persons arrested for auto theft. Youngsters in this age group also were high in burglary and larceny arrests—49 per cent and 43.6 per cent respectively of the persons arrested in each category.

"If we assume, as seems reasonable enough, that lack of moral guidance is one cause of this alarming rise in youthful criminality, the big question is 'what can we do about it?'

"Let's face facts. We have failed to indoctrinate youth on the fundamentals of right and wrong. All of us, as citizens, are to blame. If we have not advocated, we have at least tolerated and not taken action to overcome the ostracizing of true morality, founded on belief in God, from our public school system."

The immediate need, Bishop Buddy said, is for moral instruction based on belief in God.

"Cannot intelligent leadership in this country be alerted to the necessity of teaching children in the public schools the mere essentials of morality—independently of anyone's religion in the sectarian sense that term is used?" he asked.

He noted it was shown earlier this year, during hearings of the Seunate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, that two-thirds of 50,000 New York City high school pupils surveyed had never heard of the Ten Commandments.

Reds Restrict Catholic Priests to Parishes

HONG KONG — Dispatches from Canton reported that Communist authorities in Kwantung Province have forbidden Roman Catholic priests to preach outside their parishes.

The reports also said Catholics are not allowed to discuss religion outside of churches. Only a few churches remain open in the city.

Other information from the mainland said heavy taxes are being levied by the Communists on articles, such as candles, used in worship.

Meanwhile, the Catholic Center here said no foreign Catholic priests were allowed to leave China during August. One priest was expelled in July.

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (RNS) — Representatives of the American Methodist Board of Missions and the British Methodist Missionary Society tentatively agreed here on plans for training Africans as ministers and evangelists for work in East and Central Africa.

WHAT MADE LUTHER GREAT?

Hundreds of biographies of the great Reformer have been written—in English, Latin, German, French, Danish, Swedish, Italian, Spanish, Russian, Polish, Lithuanian, and other languages.—Why?

What was it that made Martin Luther "an Atlas who lifted the world upon His shoulders and carried it over into another age," as one historian describes him?

It was nothing but Luther's rediscovery of the Christian Gospel! Luther taught nothing new. He taught no doctrine which Christ had not taught. But he did insist that men must teach and believe everything that Christ had revealed to them.

He insisted that all religion must be based on the Bible alone. 2 Tim. 3:16. He insisted that man is saved by grace alone, that salvation is 100% a free gift of God's mercy. Rom. 11:6. He insisted that man becomes a partaker of this free salvation alone by faith in the redemption of Christ. Gal. 2:16. And he insisted that the individual Christian has direct access to father-heart of God through Jesus Christ without any human go-between. 1 Tim. 2:5; 1 Pet. 2:9.

That was the secret of Luther's greatness. He had rediscovered the Gospel of Christ, which St. Paul had said was "the power of God." With that power on his side, the success of his tremendous undertaking was assured.

With that power on your side, your future for time and eternity is also sure.

Confident Living

Wise Man Finds Positive Values in Trying Situations

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A few years ago I learned an important lesson on a trip to Florida. I had been even more busy than usual, but had managed to find ten days during which I could get away. I wanted to go to Florida for some winter sunshine and to work on a book I was writing.

* * *

Upon arrival I found the usual salubrious climate with golden sunshine and balmy air. I anticipated ten days of pleasant recreation and constructive work.

But fate decreed otherwise, for twenty-four hours after my arrival I began to feel alternately hot and cold. The hotel doctor, a friend of long standing, came to see me. "You don't look so good," he observed. I waved him away.

DR. PEALE

"There's nothing wrong with me," I insisted. "I practice positive thinking. I'm O.K."

"Well," he answered, "let's put a thermometer into your mouth and we'll see what it thinks." He did just that, and looking at the temperature it registered, ordered me to bed. I was there for seven of the ten days I had allowed for my Florida visit.

The doctor came to see me regularly and, being an old friend, told me all about his troubles. He was forty-seven, with a bad back and other physical ailments. And he had three children and a busy medical practice. Yet the United States Army was recalling him to active duty as a major because doctors were needed to care for the large number of men in service during the Korean trouble.

LOOKING AT THINGS WRONG WAY

I could see he was very low in spirit; so I said to him, "Joe, you are looking at this in the wrong way. Maybe you're in a rut here. Maybe God is taking you out of this pleasant routine to make a better doctor out of you.

"You are a fine physician, but any man in any line can always improve. This may not really be a hardship or a total loss after all. The Army may even teach you many things about your profession you couldn't learn here. You should think of the positive values in this situation."

"Perhaps you're right," he murmured.

The next morning I was impatient about being in bed when I had so much to do and I could see the bright sun outside.

"Look at my troubles," I said. "I came down to Florida to get some sun and do some work on my book. And here I am, tied down in bed by you."

* * *

He grinned at me. "Now, Norman," he replied, "why don't you think of the positive values in this? This may be just what you need. Perhaps you will learn something, lying there in bed, that you might never have known otherwise. Look for the silver lining."

I grinned back at him. Just two philosophers!

DID MORE WORK ON HIS BOOK

But, in fact, I believe actually I did more work on that manuscript in bed than I would have accomplished had I been well, for then I would have divided the time with fishing and golf. And, in addition, I got a good rest, which is probably what was needed most of all.

It's a good mental slant to take toward the difficulties you may be facing, or the conditions under which you are struggling. If you think of them as totally bad, it is very likely that they will be just that. But if you develop the habit of looking for the good that always comes along with the seeming bad, you probably will find it, too. Positive values are present in almost any set of conditions.

God sometimes allows difficult circumstances to involve people so that their thinking may be directed to the good that lies beneath their trouble. This may well be a reason underlying difficulty, for human nature seems to require the sharp prodding of adversity to find life's deeper values.

* * *

The old saying that "Behind every cloud is a silver lining" is pretty wise after all. In every situation, however trying, there is some real good. The wise man learns to look for the positive values, for they are there.

Baptists Rise in Asia

Lutherans Fight Juvenile Crime

Walther League OKs Youth Caravan Plan to Warn of Dangers

NEW YORK (RNS)—Some 2,500 delegates to the 63rd convention of the International Walther League here voted to send youth caravans during the coming year to congregations over the country to alert churches and families to the dangers of juvenile delinquency.

* * *

The action came after retiring president Edgar Fritz of Godfrey, Ill., urged that Lutheran youth place increased emphasis on the importance of the Christian home.

"For every case of juvenile delinquency which comes into the courts," Fritz said, "nine times out of ten the blame may be placed upon parental delinquency in the home."

The delegates also voted to establish a $20,000 fund to support five-man teams of Home Mission Builders that will help erect chapels for mission congregations in the United States and Canada. Members of the teams, to be recruited from the Walter League membership, will be volunteer lay workers with special building skills. Serving without pay, their maintenance will be provided by the fund.

* * *

The convention adopted a budget of $89,500 to support the youth program of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod in 1955-56.

God loveth a cheerful giver.

Invalid Brings God to Teeners

Grandmother Conducts Sunday School for Lads From Bed

DETROIT (RNS) — "There's too much talk about teen-agers and not enough encouragement and understanding," says Mrs. Mabel Card.

She knows what she's talking about. For six months she's been giving that encouragement and understanding from her sickbed.

* * *

Mrs. Card calls it her Sunday School class. She gives Bible lessons to youngsters in suburban East Detroit. Nobody makes the boys attend, but about a dozen of them crowd into her bedroom every week.

The frail, 54-year-old grandmother doesn't talk much about herself, but there's no doubt that her cheerfulness is an inspiration to "her boys." She has a deformed spine and anemia and weighs only 60 pounds. She's been an invalid most of her life.

"We started the class with the Ten Commandments," Mrs. Card recalls. "You'd be surprised at the change that has come over the boys."

* * *

"She sure gives us a conscience," says Kenneth Taylor, 13, one of her students.

TORONTO (RNS) — A total of 362,000 persons attended meetings addressed by Evangelist Billy Graham during his month-long Greater Toronto Crusade.

* * *

Of this number 7,348 came forward to make "decisions for Christ."

On the last day of the campaign, Mr. Graham broke all records for attendance at the Coliseum here when he packed more than 28,000 into the building.

The Toronto campaign was the evangelist's 37th crusade. In addition to his 27 meetings in Toronto, Mr. Graham addressed a total of 2,400 ministers at four breakfast sessions, 3,500 businessmen at three luncheons, and thousands of university students and high school pupils.

* * *

On a one-day trip to Ottawa, the nation's capital, he spoke to 23,000 persons and won 687 converts.

* * *

Mr. Graham said he felt the Toronto crusade had developed into one of the greatest he and his team had ever conducted.

Bible Verses to Be Heard by Dialing FE 8-0451

By dialing FE 8-0451, a message may be heard 30 seconds in length including a verse from the Bible, a brief comment and identification of the speaker.

This service was inaugurated last week by the Keego Church of Christ, Orchard Lake road, especially for those who are shut-in, discouraged or anyone who feels the need of a spiritual lift.

Some of the thoughts which have gone out during the past week are: "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

"You and I, with the same determination and assurance, can accomplish any task or overcome any difficulty. It can mean the difference between success or failure.

In everything however, we ought to be certain that the accomplishment will be in keeping with the will of Jesus. Seek always to be pleasing Him."

The local devotional messages are being dictated by the Rev. Marvin W. Hastings, minister of the church. The messages are available both day and night.

120 Pages to Appear Dec. 21, Editors Labor 2 Years on Project

NEW YORK (RNS) — Life Magazine will publish a special 120-page issue on Dec. 21 devoted entirely to the Christian religion.

* * *

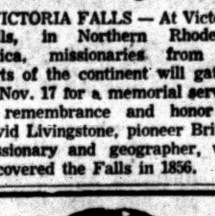

Combining the publication's normally heavy Christmas and year-end issues with the final articles in its series on "The World's Great Religions," the magazine will be bound in a heavy-stock, semi-permanent cover to facilitate its library use as a reference source.

In preparation for nearly two years, Life's editors said, the issue "represents the most ambitious project ever undertaken by the magazine, drawing upon a vast treasury of paintings and photographs to document visually the basic teachings, tenets and development of Christianity."

In addition, they said, Life's cameras focused on "the visible evidences of Christianity as it is practiced in the world today, giving special emphasis to the genuine Christian revival in the United States."

Old World Customs Spark Halloween Festivities

Residents of Lincoln Heights are getting ready for the annual visit of witches and goblins Monday evening. On hand to choose their pumpkins early were (left to right on the pumpkin pile) Barbara Cole and Kristine Jones, both of Lincolnshire drive, and (foreground left to right) Herbert Mack of Oakshire drive and Donald Absher of Lincolnshire drive. The jack-o-lanterns will be used to decorate the party grounds.

Little Karen Ann Nelson, 6, (left) is going to take her brother Victor II, 4, begging on Halloween evening. They were so excited Wednesday at the prospect of "trick or treat," they immediately donned their new costumes for the Press photographer. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Nelson of Pionee drive.

Irish, Scots, Britons Gave Quaint Ways

Religious Feast Day Reflected in Name of 'Spook Day'

By JOAN RITTER

Halloween as we know it today is a time of gaiety for the entire family. Begging has taken on a family flavor when pafents accompany their youngsters to the home of neighbors for "tricks or treats." Entire neighborhoods also have joined in the program and hold parties for children in their area, featuring jack-o-lanterns, witches and goblins.

* * *

The name Halloween, is of Christian origin. It refers to the eve of All Hallows or All Saints Day which occurs on Nov. 1.

The spooky things and happenings we associate with the celebration of Halloween have their basis in superstitions of people of many lands.

Parades for masquerading youngsters are a modern development but the custom of children going from house to house in costumes and masks begging for apples and candy is a survival from the seventeenth century. The Irish peasants then went about asking for money to be used to buy luxuries for a feast and demanding in the name of Cocumb Kill or St. Columba, that fatted calves and sheep be prepared for feasting.

IRISH FOLK LORE

Ireland has a story about the origin of the jack-o-lantern carved and carried on Halloween. It seems that a stingy man named Jack died and was barred from heaven because he was too evil and he was forbidden to enter Hell because of his practical jokes on the devil so he was condemned to walk the earth with his lantern until judgment day. Though we don't believe this story today the jack-o-lantern is an essential part of our Halloween festivities.

The Scots observed some of the Irish customs and had others of their own. In the Highlands in the Eighteenth Century each family would carry lighted torches into the fields on Oct. 31 and march about in the belief that good crops would thus be ensured for the year.

SCOTS USED TURNIPS

Scottish children also made jack-o-lanterns from large turnips and put a candle inside.

In England they ducked for apples like the Irish and Scots did and the Americans do now.

These customs were brought to America by families moving here from the old World and are still being carried on as a means of celebration and fun for all, principally for youngsters and no superstitious beliefs are connected with it.

Part-time Job Requires Enthusiasm

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Enthusiasm is a factor which is too often overlooked in getting, and succeeding at, a job. This is particularly true of the housewife who wants a part-time job. To succeed in it, she must be really sold on it.

* * *

Many women, for example, try direct selling. Some fail miserably while others make lots of friends, money and have lots of fun. And the difference is usually a matter of enthusiasm.

SUCCESSFUL WOMAN

Here, for example, is a letter from a very successful woman, Mrs. Kathryn M. Hines, who sells a vitamin product.

* * *

"This product is simply wonderful; the repeat business comes in every month. Also, I have a chance to help others by introducing them to this golden opportunity and at the same time, there's that wonderful feeling of doing good for people who buy it.

"I'm 40 years of age," she continues, "and have five children ranging in age from 2 to 15.

"We have a house with the usual mortgage, one car and only one salary. So, when my girls started asking for dancing lessons, extra clothing, etc., I just decided it was time to supplement our income.

* * *

"I found working part-time — about 7 to 9 or 9:30 evenings and on Saturdays when my husband is home all day—worked out very well for me. No one was neglected in any way and I think it makes me easier to live with.

"Working breaks the monotony of housekeeping and caring for the children. It also gives me something to look forward to, besides the chance to make new friends and increase the family budget.

* * *

"As far as my children and husband are concerned, I've had no complaints. They are very interested in my activity. As for the neighbors, I don't know what they think, but I believe it would help a lot of women to get out like this, have fun and broaden their horizons.

"Another asset, I think, is that it really keeps you on the ball as far as personal appearance is concerned. You begin to be more careful about hair, nails, clothes, etc.

"And it has been good for my girls, too. I see them copying me more and more and they are getting quite particular about their dress."

Kingswood Sponsoring Art Shows

The staff of the Art Department of Kingswood School Cranbrook announces a series of one-man shows of professional artists in painting, sculptor and creative photography.

Mrs. Lillian Holm, instructor in weaving, Robert Kline ceramics instructor, and James Bryan, drawing, painting and art history instructor of the school, have planned these exhibits in order to stimulate the appreciation of art at a high school level.

Genevieve Hanel of Birmingham will exhibit 25 still-lifes and protraits at the first of these exhibits, which opened with a preview exhibition Friday evening and will run through Nov. 14.

The exhibit may be viewed by any interested persons at the Art Gallery of Kingswood School during the regular school hours.

A display of creative photography by Harvey Craze will follow this exhibit.

Old-Fashioned Discipline Gets Educator's Approval

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Horse-and-buggy ways are outmoded in teaching, but not in discipline—thus, "spare the rod and spoil the child" should prevail.

* * *

This is the belief of Dr. K. Richard Johnson, president of the National College of Education in Evanston, Ill.

Dr. Johnson, in San Francisco for a visit with alumnae of the school, expressed himself this way:

"The so-called ultra-progressive teacher believes children must not be disciplined should not have gone into teaching.

"Children need discipline because we live in a controlled world.

"They have to learn to cooperate with others sooner or later."

* * *

But new theories have their place, he stressed.

"The teachers must keep up with the youngsters," he said.

Another important function of the teacher, Dr. Johnson believes, is to carry on the indoctrination of a feeling of security that should have been begun in the home.

MALE INFLUENCE

"Security starts in the nursery and should go on in the home and the school," he said. "The school should be an extension of the home, and both sexes should teach elementary grades; for youngsters need their fathers' or a man's influence."

* * *

Dr. Johnson, who heads the oldest school of education in America, thinks it is almost incredible that a teacher can retain his or her sanity, with the overcrowded schools that have resulted from our vast increase of population.

He has praise for states that have moved to meet this challenge by building new and better schools and said this is a continuing requirement.

"California, like many other states, is doing a fine job in meeting the situation by building more schools, but we still need more teachers," he said. "Those who graduate from our schools now have as many as 10 offers for positions."

* * *

He would like to assume the role of an evangelist in convincing young persons that teaching should be their future, and thinks that the whole community should join in encouraging youths to take up teaching as a profession.

"In order to get more teachers, we should first see to it that People all over elevate the status of the teacher in society, and then we have to raise the economic level of teachers," he said. "But the status part comes first.

Dr. McHugh spoke of the conflict between psychiatry and religion during the beginning of the practice of psychiatry. He said, "It has taken a long time for religion to recognize that psychiatry is a medical science and for psychiatry to recognize that religion is essential to the practice of that sceince."

WORKERS NEEDED

He stressed the tremendous need for psychiatric workers. In conclusion, Dr. McHugh thanked the Women's Fellowship for their interest in the children at the State Hospital and for their financial contribution to this work.

Mrs. Oscar Lundbeck, president, announced that a parish night dinner would be served by the Colonial group Wednesday evening at 6:30 p.m. at the church. They Act as if We're Wild Beasts!

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

So long as you get to do just as you please there's peace and joy around your house. You're in a divinely good humor when you aren't crossed. When you can come and go as you will with no questions asked, everything's lovely. When there's no nagging, no prodding, no criticism, you're an angel.

* * *

But the minute your parents put their feet down, you boil over. Then they're the ones who are wrong. Their notions are old-fashioned. Their insistence is stubborn and selfish. They're out of step, out of tune, out of date. And you rebel.

Parents take a dim view of free and fancy comings and goings, as in this girl's case. She writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: Why don't our parents trust us? Because we're teenagers they think and act as though we're wild beasts. Because some misbehave, they think we're all the same, which certainly is not true.

"Why shouldn't and can't they have faith in us? If they don't even trust their own children how can they possibly be good parents? They should at least give us a chance to prove ourselves. Don't you agree?

"Do you think it's wrong to go to public places to dance? I'm hoping your answer will influence my parents in some way."

Answer: Do your parents have every reason in the world to have confidence in you? Have you proved yourself always to be relied on? Are you the responsible one in your house—the one who always does as she's told, the one who always does what she says she will, the one who is time-conscious—the old reliable?

If you can honestly answer yes, it must follow that your parents trust you. How could they do otherwise?

What they don't trust are the cars you want to ride around in, and the boys who drive those cars. They don't trust some of the places you want to go, and some of the things that go on there. They take a dim view of the mood and atmosphere of such activities. They distrust them as an influence for you.

* * *

It's not that they have no faith in you, though they watch with certain misgivings as you branch out away from home. It's not distrust of you. It's disapproval of some of the things you want to do.

It's apprehension based on their own experience. You were put in their trust for safekeeping. They intend to do their job. And your rebelling is no help.

The parents of this girl consider that first things definitely come first. A slight difference of opinion on what's really important has this girl in a twit. She writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 16, and a junior in high school. I like a boy who is six years older than I am. We dated all during the summer and my parents didn't object. But now that school has started they don't think I should date at all, particularly him.

"When I asked my mother if it would hurt to have dates on weekends, she said I had plenty of time for boys. What she really wants is for me to find a boy friend more my own age.

"Please help me. I've gone with him for almost seven months and I've had lots of good times with him."

Answer: And you can't see why your mother is taking a dim view of him now? You can't see that she's afraid your dating only him will turn you very serious about a young man who's old enough to get married.

* * *

She wants you to lower your sights to boys who are in your class or are seniors—boys to whom school activities are all-important.

You can't see that she wants you to put your mind on your work—to snap out of the carefree, routineless mood of summer vacation.

She thinks studying and school activities are more important than running around at night. She's taking a dim view of all dating at the moment in order to make her point clear.

And all you have to do to cooperate is taper off the steady part of seeing your older boy friend, while you whip up steam over boys and interests in your class. And when special invitations for weekend dates and parties come your way, your mother will cooperate.

Disapproves of Playing for Stakes

Reader's Friends Engage in Games for Money

By EMILY POST

"What can be done if all one's friends like to play for stakes whenever they play a game of any kind? I don't play for money because I was brought up not to play games for money.

"It isn't a question of the sums of money involved, because they are slight and not beyond what I could easily afford. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: This is solely a question of your own conscience! Feeling as you do, your friends will understand why you refuse to play (I take it for granted that they will not change their own custom for you alone)!

'Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning to be married soon. Both my fiance and I are in the early 20s. We plan to have four bridesmaids and four ushers in the wedding party.

"My fiance has two uncles of whom he is very fond and he would like to ask them to be ushers. Both, however, are in the early 60s. All the other attendants are around our same age.

"I would like to know if it would be proper to have them as ushers, or might they look out of place. I would appreciate your advice on this matter."

Answer: No—uncles would seem a very strange choice unless they happened to be extraordinarily close to your own age.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the proper way to introduce a husband and wife who are both medical doctors? Also, what is the correct form of introduction when only the wife is a doctor?"

Answer: (1) Dr. Jane and Dr. William Jones. (2) Dr. Jane and Mr. William Jones.

Hint for Cardigan

If you can handle a needle and thread you can make your cardigan very "Frenchy."

For a sporty look hunt up some leather buttons in the same or contrasting shade as your garment to replace the pearl buttons. This idea comes from Hubert de Givenchy, who has just designed camel-hair colored Orion cardigans trimmed with brown leather buttons.

Coat-Dress Stays in Style as Other Fashions Vanish

Waistlines and "looks" come and go but the coat-dress goes on forever as one of fashion's most enduring styles.

* * *

This one by Herbert Sondheim gives many reasons for this popularity for it has a silhouette that is flattering to all figures, the softly full skirt, the slenderizing V neck.

Playing up the utter simplicity of the cut, Sondheim allows one special bit of detail, that of the flapped bodice pockets made with released tucks.

Choose sheer wools for wear right now with fur accessories and for all around use all winter. In faille, crepe or shantung, it becomes a beautifully understated afternoon model.

For resort and cruise wear, it is perfect in linen, chambray or novelty cottons.

Halloween Is Big Day for Nevada

Besides the traditional lore of witches, druids, goblins and spooky spirits of another world associated with Oct. 31, it is a big day in the history of the United States, for it marks the admission of Nevada into the union.

The territory of Nevada, created by Congress in 1861, was admitted to the union as a state Oct. 31, 1864, by a proclamation of President Abraham Lincoln.

Although the population of the region was small, the political conditions growing out of the Civil War made it desirable that there should be two more states to ratify the amendment to the U.S. Constitution abolishing slavery.

So the state of Nevada was created, with a constitution prohibiting slavery within its borders.

Thus Halloween is a day of double celebration in Nevada. It is a legal holiday and is observed by the display of flags on all public buildings.

Halloween is important to all youngsters as "fun night," and it is also an important date in our American history.

Coeds' Complexions Regulate Decoration

Coeds should keep in mind their schoolgirl complexions and their hair shades when decorating.

Very dark brunettes look well against bright settings of orange, red or vivid green, while blondes are beautified by blues, yellows and sea greens.

Browns, rusts, softer greens and mustards are particularly effective for redheads.

An experienced sportsman is a man who can keep both hands in his pockets while describing the one that got away.

Polka Dots Dot Fall Notebooks

You may think that high fashion colors apply only to dresses and home decor—but they also apply to your youngster's notebook.

Nowadays the smart in style carry their school notes around in ringbooks of pink, turquoise, blue, green, charcoal and almost any shade you can think of.

There's even a new zipper kit bag in polka dots or plaid that can carry almost everything a youngsters needs, wants or happens to pick up.

It's available in red or blue polka dots or green plaid, and has a smart bottom bar of solid color.

Fall Coats Get Kid Trimming

NEW YORK (INS)—The leatherneck look is the latest thing in cold weather coats for the junior set.

Kid is being used this fall to highlight collars of casual coats for back-to-school wear. The leather look will also be smart for cuff and pocket trim.

Other junior coat trims include black satin or velvet for dressy models. A stylish note is knotted ribbing used for yoke insets and little eton collars.

Silhouettes are slim, but range from the clutch coat to a good number of garments that button all the way down the front for secure warmth on a no-hands basis.

Her attendants were Norma Keeling of Highland Park and Mrs. Carl E. Rehm of San Antonio, Tex. They wore chiffon gowns of peacock blue with matching accessories. Claudia Jean Karner, sister of the brides, was their joint maid of honor. She was gowned identically to the other bridal attendants. June Lannom of Manchester sang the bridal recital.

ATTEND BRIDEGROOM

Peter F. Karnner Jr. served as John's best man assisted by Carl E. Rehm of San Antonio, Tex., and Bill G. Dice of Berkley, who seated the guests.

After the Nuptial Mass the brides placed presentation bouquets on the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Both couples and their immediate families attended a wedding breakfast at Rotunda Inn immediately after the ceremony. For the evening reception held at Hotel Waldron, Mrs. Karner wore a Dior blue dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was a single orchid.

Mrs. Bush wore a teal blue dress with black accessories and Mrs. Rehm was gowned in a navy and pink satin dress with navy blue accessories. The mothers of the bridegrooms both wore corsages of pink carnations.

The new Mrs. Bush chose a brown silk dress with avocado accessories and a rose corsage for their wedding trip to Wisconsin Dells. On their return the Bushs will reside in Benton Harbor.

Mrs. Bush is a graduate of the University of Michigan and Mr. Bush attended the University of Montana and is a graduate of the Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, N. Y.

TRAVEL TO CHICAGO

The new Mrs. Rehm chose a charcoal brown wool dress with pink and brown accessories for her going-away outfit. She wore an orchid corsage. They will honeymoon in Chicago.

On their return the Rehms will reside on Murphy Avenue. Mrs. Rehm is a graduate of Michigan State University and Mr. Rehm is a graduate of Wayne University.

The couples were guests at a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Devon Gables.

Actor Overcoming Flu

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Robert Young was reported in satisfactory condition last night, but he is expected to remain several days for observation at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital where he was admitted Thursday. He apparently was suffering from the flu.

There are 2,300 telephones aboard the new carrier Forrestal.

Denmark exported $180,000,000 worth of live animals, meat, and meat products in the first half of 1955 compared with $156,000,000 during the comparable period of the year before.

Transplanted Britisher Loves Life in Hollywood

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"I love Hollywood's relaxed, casual life—I'm kind of a slob," Joan Collins of London said.

Joan's just back from a trip home that was quite satisfying.

"In England, I guess I had the reputation of giving the worst presentation of any girl on the screen . . . of any person on the screen," she said the other day.

"I was massacred by the papers. The critics said I generally displayed my two bad expressions and gave my usual bad performance. The press was always baiting me.

JOAN COLLINS

"I thought it wasn't all my fault. Because I was miscast. Any time there was a tart, or a prostitute, or a girl who'd been done wrong by, I got the part. It was so boring . . ."

Finally, after she'd become sort of a laughing stock in England, the J. Arthur Rank studios peddled her contract to 20th Century-Fox and she came to the U. S.

Sexy and wiggly and shapely, she was given the part of Evelyn Nesbitt in the Harry K. Thaw-Sanford White chiller-drama, "Girl on the Red Velvet Swing."

"I know what they'll say when I get back to London," Joan told me before she left.

"They'll resent me coming over here and they'll say, 'She's gone Hollywood.' What was I going to do? I hadn't done a picture in nine months. Life's too short . . ."

But everybody was quite nice. They sort of forget her "two bad expressions" and her "usual bad performance" and congratulated her on making it here.

Another reason she didn't relish returning was her ex-husband whom she was in the process of divorcing.

In California she was romancy for a while with Syd Chaplin and later with young Arthur Loew Jr. The latter and his mother took her to the airport when she went back to London. We refuse to believe that young Loew was strictly interested in getting her to work for MGM, which is more or less bossed by his father.

"The kind of men I've met in California are about the same as I knew in England, being in the same profession," she remarked.

"Are their morals different?" I asked.

"It's a show business thing where the morals are about the same—not so hot," replied Joan, who has the gift of candor.

"Americans treat women with more consideration. More holding doors open, bringing flowers . . . all that bit."

When she returned, I asked whether she'd brought back a lot of clothes and wonderful purchases in Europe.

"I did indeed," Joan cracked. "Five bags full of trash!"

Jurors Acquit Wife in Slaying

Insanity Plea Accepted in Shooting of Mistress by Petite Mother

WASHINGTON (AP) — Katharine Ann Hayes, petite killer of her husband's 19-year-old mistress, faces one final barrier to freedom: She must prove she is sane now.

A federal court jury of six men and six women yesterday acquitted the 93-pound Mrs. Haynes of murder, "by reason of insanity" at the time of the shooting last summer.

* * *

The jurors thus accepted defense testimony that the 28-year-old mother of four daughters was driven out of her mind by her husband's braging of intimacies with the red-haired teen-ager.

Under the verdict, returned more than 27 hours after the jury got the case, Mrs. Haynes was immediately committed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital. Her release from this government mental institution could come at a court hearing scheduled Monday.

* * *

Mrs. Haynes shot and killed Nancy Penton in the girl's northeast Washington apartment July 19. Her husband, Willis M. Haynes, 32, witnessed the shooting.

Government prosecutors contended the killing was premeditated. A first-degree murder conviction would have carried a mandatory penalty of death in the electric chair.

* * *

After her acquittal, Mrs. Haynes said hardly a word. She did thank her attorney and turned to a neighbor from nearby Falls Church, Va., and said:

"Take care of my children."

The eldest of the Haynes daughters is 10.

Haynes, a door-to-door vacuum cleaner salesman testified his wife felled Nancy with a single shot from a .22 caliber pistol.

Mrs. Haynes is seeking a divorce, charging adultery.

Plans Ill Wife's Funeral Then Commits Suicide

MERCED, Calif. (AP)—Explaining that he felt nervous and "probably will not outlive my wife," Leonard Spencer Spears made arrangements Thursday for the funeral of his wife, Anna, who is critically ill in a Modesto Hospital.

Today Spears' body was at the Ivers and Alcorn Mission Chapel awaiting his own funeral.

Coroner Kenneth Riggs said that Spears, 65, had shot himself to death in an auto court cabin.

The nation's eleven largest steel companies increased their production capacity 48 per cent between 1939 and 1955. Other companies of the industry showed an 85 per cent increase.

Sales of paper milk cartons in the half-gallon size soared from 45,000,000 units in 1945 to more than 1.1 billion in 1954, and the 1955 usage is estimated at 1½ billion units.

'Scotch' Patron Argues the Cost of Ciro's Scotch

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Is $28 for a bottle of scotch too much?

Not at Ciro's, that plush Sunset Strip bistro, contended owner Herman D. Hover at the Municipal Court trial of Richard Shubert, 35, New York. Hover made a citizen's arrest of Shubert when the fishing tackle manufacturer refused to pay for the bottle Sept. 14.

"I told him we only charged $1.25 a drink for that scotch," Hover testified yesterday, "while most places charge $1.50 or $1.60."

Waiter Oliver Kreiziner, who served Shubert and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pavich of Los Angeles, said, "the next thing I knew the check and Shubert had gone to jail."

Shubert testified he thought $28 for a fifth of scotch whiskey was too much and just wanted an adjustment of the check.

"I just thought I shouldn't be thrown in jail because I think I was overcharged," Shubert said. Judge Henry H. Draeger told the jury to return Monday when he will give them instructions.

Hollywood Headlines:

MGM 'Show Takes More Than Cutting and Pasting

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When MGM decided to dip into its massive film vaults for a TV show, a New Yorker cracked, "It ought to be easy to put that show together; all you need is a pair of scissors and some glue."

* * *

It's not that easy, reports George Murphy, emcee and titular head of the show, MGM Parade, on ABC Wednesday nights.

"You can't just go to the files and pick out 10 minutes of film to run," he explained.

* * *

"For instance, a lot of people have asked why we don't run a duet with Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy. It's not easy to find one that will be good for the show. One song might not be good for her, another not good for him. The sound might be poor, or the photography."

TV is an entirely different baby from its forerunners in show business, Murphy is finding out.

* * *

"On the stage, you can do anything— realism or fantasy, and the public will buy it," he said. "The pubic comes into the theater expecting anything.

"When they see a movie, the picture on the screen has to be believable. With few exceptions, there has never been a successful film that didn't have some elements of believability.

* * *

"TV is something else again. They're looking at a picture on the front of a little box. There's an average of 3½ people watching, not a big audience. You're coming into their homes; you can't do the same things you do in movies."

It's hard to cut whole scenes out of pictures, he said. What seems good in a 90-minute movie might not condense into a 10-minute scene.

* * *

"You don't have the buildup to the scene, nor what comes after," he remarked. "So we try to select scenes that will stand by themselves. Like a comedy sequence we have from 'Philadelphia Story.' It runs 11 minutes and is thoroughly enjoyable."

60 Companies Added

Ohio's Youngstown steel district has added 60 companies working aluminum into consumer goods within the last few years. Youngstown's basic steel industry still employs 55,000 workers. Its steel fabricating mills have 25,000 more, compared to 5,000 to 6,000 for aluminum fabricating plants.

James Marlow Looks at Disarmament

Finds East and West Far Apart

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility of world disarmament has been given a lot of publicity since July's summit meeting when President Eisenhower made his sensational "open skies" proposal. On its face, it may have seemed simple.

The President suggested the United States and Russia exchange complete blue prints on their military establishments. Then, as a check on each other's honesty, he proposed they agree to aerial inspection of each other from the air.

In spite of repeated optimistic statements about eventual agreement by Harold E. Stassen, the President's special disarmament adviser, the two sides are still far apart.

And any agreement on disarmament at the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting, which began yesterday in Geneva, has a splendid chance of getting nowhere. A look at the problem shows why.

For years the United States has said that before this country would agree to disarm—which would mean getting rid of the atomic weapons on which it had spent so much time and cash—there would have to be this kind of agreement:

Before any disarmament the big powers must agree on a foolproof system of checking to prevent cheating. This country backed the idea of international teams of inspectors free to roam around inside the territory of the big powers.

The Russians wouldn't buy. They traditionally had refused to let outsiders poke around inside Russia. Then last May, no doubt as part of their so-called new look, they agreed to inspection but in a very limited way.

They suggested international inspectors be stationed only at airfields, railheads and harbors. That left a lot of territory uninspected. The United States wouldn't buy.

Then in July at Geneva, Eisenhower offered his suggestion. After many weeks the Russians insisted they wanted Eisenhower to accept their idea of limited ground inspectors.

Eisenhower replied in effect: "All right, if it'll make you happy, I'll agree on limited inspection. But I want you to agree on the aerial inspection too. How about it?"

So far—no answer from the Russians. But there is a point which the Russians certainly would want cleared up which this country hasn't cleared up at all. The President had spoken of aerial inspection only over each other's territory.

He didn't say anything about letting the Russians inspect American overseas bases inside countries friendly to this country. Yet it is from those bases the United States would hit Russia if the Soviets tried to attack.

Russian Foreign Minister Molotov at Geneva yesterday pointedly said the Soviet Union has liquidated "all its military bases on foreign soil"—in Finland and Manchuria.

* * *

Liquidation of the American overseas bases is one of the things the Russians want most.

The United States doesn't argue that aerial inspection is the beginning and end of all agreement on disarmament.

It takes the position that that is one of the early steps. The United States and Russia could be said to be a little closer than they were in the late 1940s.

But they are still so far apart that almost certainly it will be years before they reach a full agreement, if they ever do. They'd have to build up a lot more confidence in each other's good intentions than they have now.

Ruthven Would Ban Fees for Medical Schools

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Alexander C. Ruthven, president emeritus of the University of Michigan, says he believes medical schools should charge no fees at all.

Ruthven wrote in the Journal of the Michigan State Medical Society:

"There are brains on both sides of the tracks, and they should be fully utilized in medicine. Ability and ambition to achieve success are not related to the economic status of the parents."

Ruthven said he disagrees with the theory that medical students should be charged more than others because they may get better incomes later on.

"If medical students should pay all the cost of their education," he wrote, "so should all other college graduates who are destined to become wealthy automotive executives, lawyers and bankers."

And he added:

"If our doctors are making too much money, which of course they are not, it would make more sense to take it away from them after, instead of before, they have made it."

Scientists Make Progress in Battle to Curb Smog

By HILLEL BLACK

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Scientists at Franklin Institute report today they have worked out the first step necessary to end air pollution and smog. They say it is now a question of time before the over-all problem is solved.

Their problem was to identify the elements found in the atmosphere as they are affected by sunlight.

They used a cylinder filled with elements of the atmosphere similar to those found in the polluted air which hovers over many cities.

Dr. Nicol H. Smith, director of the Franklin Institute laboratories, puts it this way:

"Our air has become a common sewer into which are dumped many products created by combustion, such as exhaust fumes from cars or the burning of trash. Our problem was first to identify these elements as they are reacted upon by sunlight. The next step is to find which ones are harmful" and eventually remove them or control their source.

* * *

Up to now, says William E. Scott, head of the section which is conducting the experiment, scientists have been unable to determine precisely what products are formed in the atmosphere under the influence of sunlight.

"We know, for example," he said, "that smog under certain atmospheric conditions, is formed when the sun is out and is dissipated when the sun goes down. It is the energy from the sun which can change man-made pollutants into other compounds which make them irritating to man."

"However, not all man-made pollutants are necessarily harmful, when diffused in the atmosphere," he continued. "After identifying the products formed by sunlight in the proportion they are found in the atmosphere, scientists can then test them to see if they are harmful.

"But the first thing we had to do was to identify them."

This was done, Scott said, with the man-made sky chamber.

It consists of a stainless steel cylinder 18 inches in diameter and 10 feet long. First the scientists fill it with pure air. Then a chemical or pollutant is fed into the cylinder in concentrations approximating those found in the atmosphere. These concentrations are often very small.

Next an ultraviolet light, or sunlight, reacts on the mixture, changing it into different compounds, an identifier in the form of an infrared light is sent into the tube.

The infrared light bounces back and forth from one end of the cylinder to the other by means of a gold-plated set of mirrors. The contents of the air in this sample sky can then be analyzed through an infra-red spectograph.

The experiment is being sponsored by the American Petroleum Institute.

Eventually the Franklin Institute scientists hope to take their sky chamber into different cities where they will test actual atmospheric conditions. These conditions can vary from one community to another.

Resorts Expect Good Winter

Plan 44 Ski Centers, Three More Than Used in Past Year

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's resort operators, their ears still ringing from the sound of cash registers this summer, are expected to have the best winter season in the state's history, the State Tourist Council said today.

The council said a survey of winter sports facilities showed that 44 ski centers will be open this year, three more than last year.

"Given favorable weather, the approaching winter sports season should be our most successful to date," said Robert J. Furlong, executive secretary.

He estimated that 400,000 winter sports enthusiasts will flock to the resorts. Most of them will be skiers.

New ski centers to be opened this year are the Au Sable Ranch and Ski Club near Gaylord, Mio Mountain in the northeastern part of the Lower Peninsula and the Glacier Hills Ski Club near Bellaire.

Three other centers, one near Kalkaska, one near Lake Gogebic in the Upper Peninsula and one near Onaway were opened last year.

Seventeen of the state's ski centers are located in the northeastern half of the Lower Peninsula, nineteen in the western half of the Lower Peninsula, one in Southeastern Michigan and nine in the Upper Peninsula.

Ski slopes vary in length from 500 to the 3,500 run in the Porcupine Mountains of the Upper Peninsula, Furlong said.

The Upper Peninsula also has the world's highest artificial ski slide—a 300 foot trail down a 156-foot high scafford near Iron Mountain.

Hiccuping Plagues Victim for 7 Years

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It's Jack O'Leary's 30th birthday today but it is anything but happy. He has been hiccuping steadily seven years since his appendix ruptured in 1948.

His weight has dropped from 135 to 74. The past year he has developed diabetes and has had several heart attacks.

"Jack is failing. He seems to have given up hope," his mother, Mrs. Margaret O'Leary said. Formerly he liked to see people but now she said he prefers to be by himself."

Stuntman Turns to Acting, Injured by Pistol Mishap

IDYLLWILD, Calif. (AP)—As a stuntman, Robert Hoy, 25, worked five years with only the occupational bruises of that profession of hazards.

Then he had a chance to be an actor in a film now under production. He reported for work. Came his first scene and a pistol exploded in his face. Today he's recuperating after hospital treatment.

Ike's Old Job Still Awaiting

Army Says Five-Star General Could Apply for Reinstatement

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Dwight D. Eisenhower should start worrying about lean days after he is through being president, he probably could try joining the Army again.

His old five-star job is still vacant. It pays $18,761 a year.

Eisenhower resigned from the post in 1952 right after he won the Republican nomination for president.

* * *

In answer to a question today, the Army said that if Eisenhower desired to return to the Army after leaving the presidency he could apply to the adjutant general for reinstatement.

The normal procedure is for the Army to recommend commissions to the president. All commissions must be signed by a president.

An Army spokesman said there is nothing in Army regulations or procedure which would prevent Eisenhower from applying for his old job, although there is no precedent involving a five-star officer.

* * *

The five-star ranks for admirals and generals exist under special enactments of Congress which establish the ranks and specify the number but do not name specific persons for the posts.

When Eisenhower resigned his commission and all connections with the Army, this left three five-star Army generals—Douglas MacArthur, George Marshall and Omar Bradley. But the law providing four billets remained.

* * *

Five-star officers receive their pay whether they hold commands or not. None of them now do. A five-star officer doesn't draw retirement pay because he can continue on active duty, even though he has no command, until he dies or resigns.

Eisenhower hasn't yet said whether he'll seek re-election. But as things now stand, whenever he does leave the White House he will get no government pay. A bill to give former presidents a $22,500 annual pension passed the Senate late last session but was not acted on by the House.

Workers Find Thief Asleep on the Job

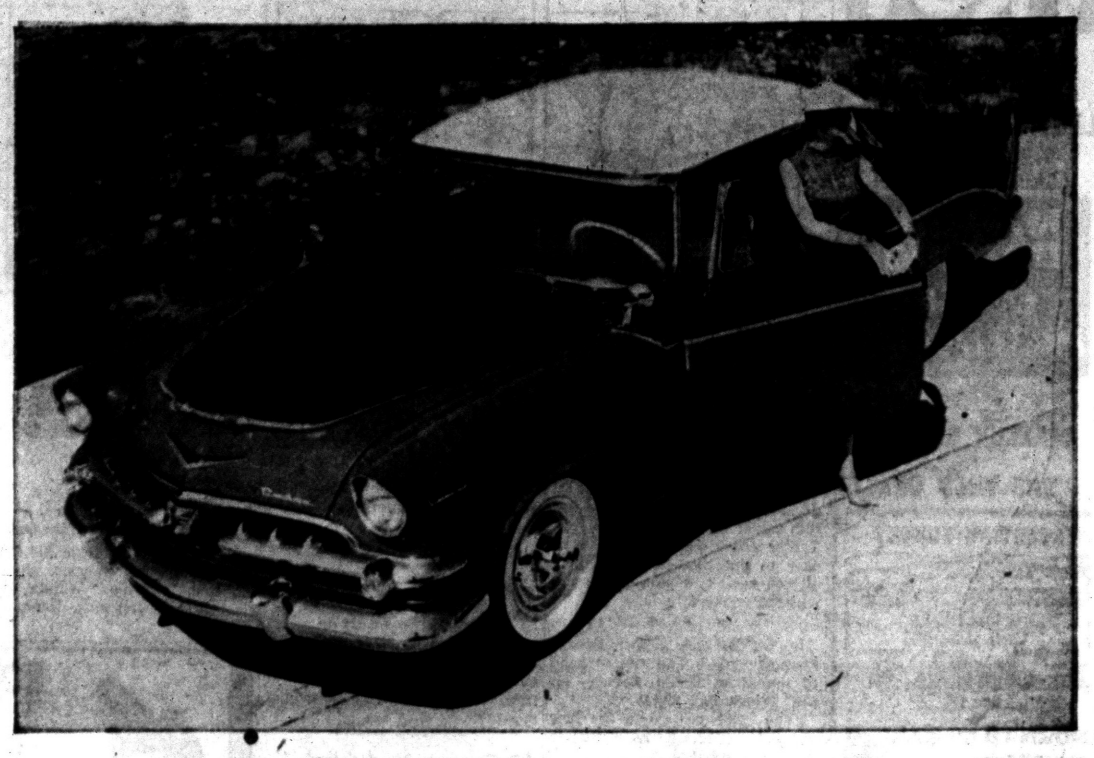

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 23-year-old porter, who apparently found unlawfulness a tiring proposition, was convicted of burglary yesterday by criminal Judge Joseph R. Byrnes.

* * *

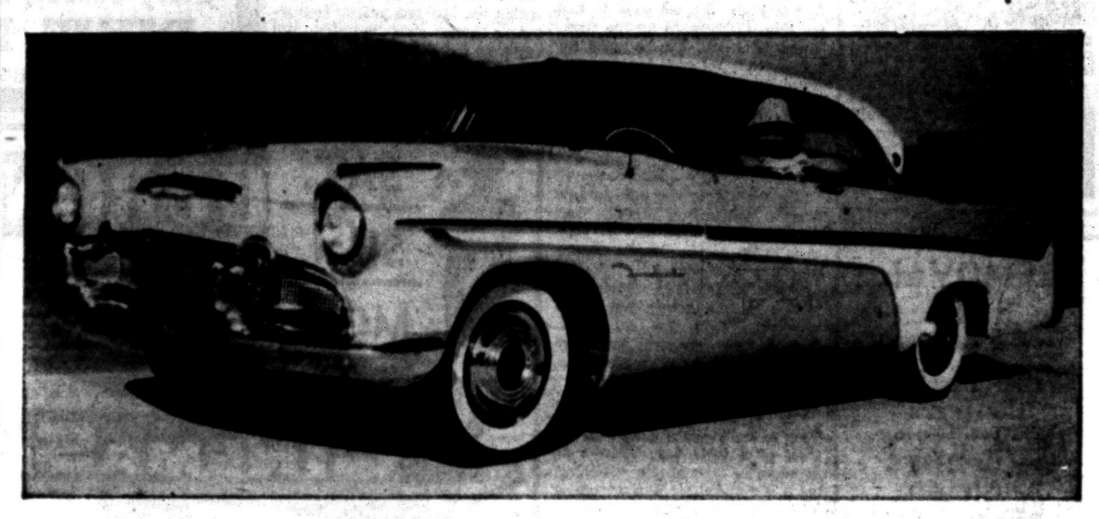

James F. Price, assistant state's attorney, told the judge employes of a motor company found Lawrence H. Court, a Negro, lying atop an overturned six-foot high safe, fast asleep, when they reported for work Oct. 8. Nearby, Price said, police found a hatchet with which Court had been beating on the safe.

* * *

Court told the judge he had been drinking. He pleaded guilty. Judge Byrnes deferred sentencing pending a probation report.

DODGE CUSTOM ROYAL LANCER — Revised grille and hood treatment and new high swept rear fenders reflect the aircraft motif in Chrysler cars for 1956. Shown above is the Dodge Custom Royal Lancer. Sweep of the broad, winglike front hood molding has been increased. Mechanical improvements include new safe-lock door latches, improved sealed-beam headlights and a less complicated power braking system.

DE SOTO FOR 1956 — A new mesh grille and new rear quarter panels with high swept rear fenders give a fresh appearance to the 1956 models of the De Soto. Parking lights in the restyled front end are placed within the bumper guards. On the headlights, sharply sloping bezels cap the units to give added emphasis to over-all car length. An entirely new braking system assures safer stops and adds additional lining wear, De Soto officials report. Two improved V-8 engines are available for 1956 models.

Moratorium on Foreign Policy Criticism in Order

Believes Acheson's Book Will Not Help U.S. at Geneva

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Dean Acheson was one of America's great secretaries of state during a very dangerous period in its history.

Before that, he contributed importantly to some of the nation's most constructive policies, such as the Marshall Plan. He made a few mistakes. He also avoided a vast number which might have been made in a period of great uncertainty.

During his term America built up a foreign policy, the principal points of which were to prevent Russia from gobbling the world piece by piece, while developing the strength of the free world to where it could force a change in Russian strategy.

* * *

Right now that policy is being credited with putting a new face on Russian tactics, if not yet on her intentions.

While doing these things, Acheson was subjected to bitter criticism by many Republicans and some members of his own party. It was a time of uncertainty when differences of opinion were natural, and they were freely expressed. It would be superhuman to expect Acheson to forget.

But it was also a time in which the United States solidified her leadership of the Free World.

Acheson's stature in that world is very high.

* * *

It is, then, somewhat disappointing that he should choose this time, when even his own party is giving strong nonpartisan support to an American foreign policy fundamentally like his own, for partisan criticism, the dangers of which he knows so well.

It is particularly unfortunate that this criticism, however accidentally, should come at a moment when Foster Dulles is actively trying to take advantage of the "position of strength" which Acheson was so influential in building: when the President is ill, and it has been necessary for him to give written assurance that the Secretary of State has full power to speak for the nations in exceedingly grave negotiations.

* * *

Acheson has written a book. This is the season for publishing books on weighty matters, as well as the season for good Democrats and Republicans to be at each other's throats prior to election of a president. The book undoubtedly was under way before the Geneva conference was planned and will not appear until its end. Part of it consists of an attack on Republican conduct of foreign policy, and that part has been published in advance by Harper's, as frequently occurs when such men write such books.

Before going to Geneva, Dulles obtained what seems to be a virtual truce on foreign policy from Congressional leaders. Anything which indicates a serious rift in America at this moment does his cause, and that of the United States, no good.

Are Indians Immune From Game Laws?

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Are Michigan's Indians immune from prosecution under state game laws by virtue of government treaty?

No, say conservation officers who brought charges against four young Chippewas.

Officer Earl Kaiser said the four, Emerson Teeple, his cousin, Lawrence Teeple; Maurice LeBlanc, and Bernard Shaw, all of the nearby Indian community of Bay Mills, were shining deer in the woods 20 miles from the Soo.

They shot a headlight out of Kaiser's car when they mistook the reflection of their searchlight as coming from the eye of a deer, he said.

In a 70-mile-an-hour chase that followed through the twisting forest trails, the Teeple car struck a deer and killed it. The collision damaged their car and they were forced to stop. Kaiser arrested them on charges of "using an artificial light for the purpose of hunting."

The four pleaded innocent at a hearing next day before Municipal Judge Mahlon R. Stewart.

They claimed that under centuries-old treaties the Chippewas signed with representatives of various governments that have controlled the area, they are privileged to hunt at any time and with any type of weapon.

Conservation officials claimed, however, Indians come under the state game laws as residents of Michigan.

The four pleaded guilty to the charge of shining deer. Each was fined $20 plus court costs of $6.85.

SAFETY AND CONVENIENCE — Greater safety and driver comfort have been dominant considerations in restyling the 1956 Plymouths. Instruments have been relocated and concentrated in front of the driver. Ammeter and oil pressure gauges have been replaced by red flasher lights set between the gasoline and temperature gauges. A push-button transmission selector is provided for cars equipped with Powerflight automatic transmission. It is on the instrument panel to the left of the steering wheel.

LONGER IMPERIAL — Both wheelbase and over-all length of the Chrysler Imperial are longer for 1956. The gun sight taillights continue to distinguish this luxury car, shown in a four door sedan. The Firepower V-8 engine has a 9 to 1 compression ratio. Better riding qualities and superior handling are claimed as a result of revised rear end design. The wheelbase is three inches longer; over-all length, five and one-half inches more.

Your Neighbor's House

F. B. Read Family Enjoying Rural Life

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

"We don't know why we didn't move out here years ago. We just love living here." Doris Read was voicing the opinion of the four other members of the family—her husband, Franklin, and three sons.

A little over six months ago the Read family moved into their new home on East Hammond Lake Drive. The pleasant looking home of antique brick and board and batten, with charcoal gray trim, looks as if it had always been there. There's a rustic chestnut fence across the front of the lot.

The trees and shrubs are placed. Mrs. Read's green thumb wrought its magic and produced a bed of chrysanthemums and marigolds that were still flaunting their gaudy colors in the October sunshine.

The house isn't large. There is, however, ample space for the family to live comfortably. "We don't miss a basement at all," says Mrs. Read. "We have plenty of room to store everything in the closets and in the garage."

In this home the kitchen is at the front of the house and the living rooms at the back. That is good, for it enables Mrs. Read to watch the ever-changing lake as she works in the kitchen.

Most of the outside wall of the living room is composed of windows. The den is merely one end of this room, separated from it by the fireplace which opens in both rooms. Floor-length, white mohair draperies give protection from the sun.

The wall behind the sofa and around the fireplace is made of red brick. The other walls are painted a fawn color. Mrs. Read has used fawn and green all through the main rooms.

In keeping with the modern trend of mixing periods, the Reads have antiques scattered throughout the house. These 19th century pieces are perfectly at home with their 20th century companions.

Above the mantel there is a large photograph of Mrs. Read's great-great-grandparents. When this couple were married in 1832 in Baltimore, they received a woven wool coverlet in red, blue and gold on a natural background. The grandmother's maiden name and the name of the weaver are still visible on this heirloom which serves as a bedspread in the eldest son's room.

A round marble topped table holding a lamp is another Victorian piece in the living room. In the hallway there is an old chair with a needlepoint covering. The Read coat of arms is framed on the wall.

The walls in the den are interestingly done in birch parquet paneling. There is a hearth that can be sat upon on this side of the fireplace. The outside door opens onto a paved patio.

One wall of the dining room is the same brick wall that is in the living room. The other three walls have a pine dado with soft green wallpaper on the upper part. The round braided rug is green and white. Here, all the furniture is antique.

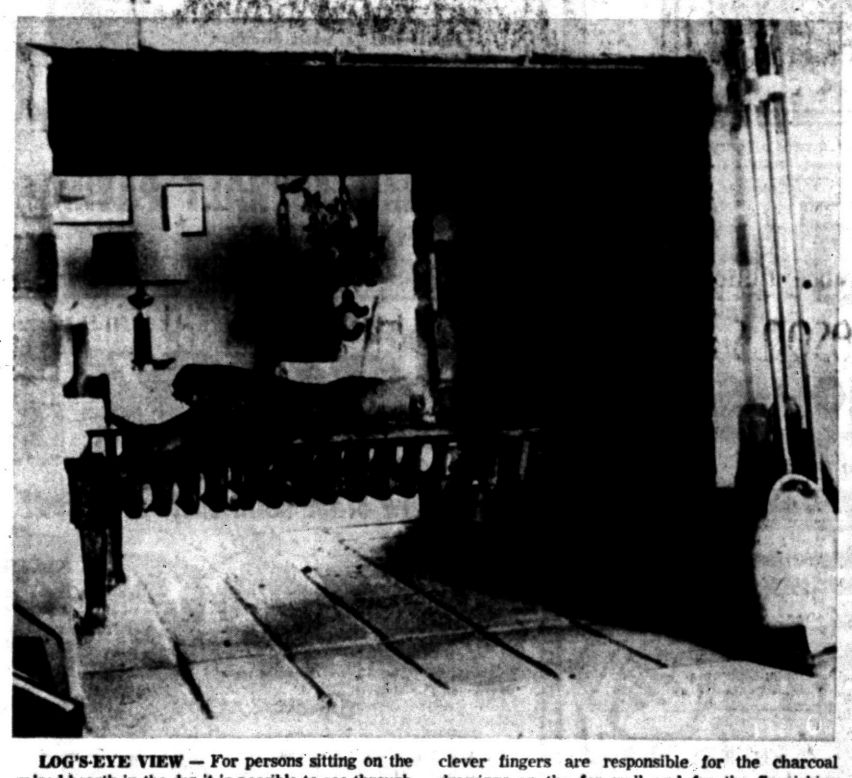

There's a dropleaf table under the window, a large chest of drawers for linen storage, cane-seated chairs and an old walnut buffet. This last piece started out as a commode. Shelves added above give the right background for displaying a number of pieces of old glass.

The kitchen is a long narrow room, about 8 x 20'. The far end is the breakfast room. Open shelves provide the only actual separation. The room is all green and white, except for the small bits of red in the spat-

RUSTIC SETTING — A rustic chestnut fence encloses the front yard of the Franklin Read home on East Hammond Lake drive. Exterior construction is red brick with charcoal gray shutters. Board and batten break the line in the front and on the rear of the garage where the family has an outdoor living room.

LOG'S-EYE VIEW — For persons sitting on the raised hearth in the den it is possible to see through the fireplace into the living room. Mrs. Read's clever fingers are responsible for the charcoal drawings on the far wall and for the flourishing plants in the corner.

BRIGHT AND SUNNY — Facing east, the living room in the Read home gets plenty of sunshine. Floor-length draperies of off-white mohair extend the entire length of the east wall. The marble-topped table in the foreground is a family heirloom, just the right height to serve as a lamp table. The den-TV room is on the other side of the fireplace.

LONG AND NARROW — The kitchen and breakfast room take up about a third of the front of the house. Mrs. Read finds this a convenient place for flower arranging as well as for cooking. The door to the left hides the furnace. Successfully combining the old with the new, Mrs. Read uses antique cane-seated chairs with a formica table in the breakfast room.

VICTORIAN DINING ROOM — From braided rug to calico-type wallpaper, this room is Victorian in feeling. All the furniture is walnut, finished to show off the beautiful grain of the wood. The unusual buffet on the left houses many of the Reads' choice antiques.

IT TAKES WORK! — Franklin Read takes advantage of pleasant fall days to get his lawn in shape. Even with a power mower, it's a time-consuming job. The Reads have accomplished much in the way of landscaping since they moved in and have extensive plans for next year.

Reads Enthusiastic About Country Home

ter-print linoleum and in the Pennsylvania Dutch wall paper of the breakfast room.

All the curtains across the front of the house are the same fiberglas boucle, made cafe style. Mrs. Read is most enthusiastic about fiberglas for curtains.

Her utility room and a half bath are in this service end of the house. The garage can be entered directly from the breakfast room.

Mrs. Read is an artistic person. There are a number of pictures in the house that are her work. One, in the bathroom, is unusual. Real butterflies and plants have been pressed under glass to make a pleasing picture.

There is plenty of storage space in the dubonnet bathroom. The trim is pale yellow. One of the best features is the big mirror mounted over the basin.

Because the oldest boy is as interested in antiques as his mother, he has a number of them in his bedroom. The aforementioned coverlet makes a spread for his bed and determines the colors of his room. The walls are gold, the rugs deep blue. His chest for clothing is an old oak one. He has a ship in a bottle on his desk, an antique kerosene lamp on his bed table.

The two younger boys share a room where antique hooked rugs lay next to modern twin beds. Here, three walls are brown — good and masculine looking—one is pumpkin color. The master bedroom is chintz and maple, with brown and rosy biege its main colors.

All the doors are birch flush doors, except for the bedroom closet doors. They are bamboo shades on traverse rods. The same fawn colored linoleum runs throughout the house.

How the Reads got their new home makes an interesting story. They had looked at the lot a year ago, for they were ready to build. But they couldn't sell their Pontiac home. Then in January that was sold very suddenly, and they had to find a place to live right away.

Much to their surprise, the house plan they had wanted was already built on "their" lot, ready for the decorating. Some one else had had it built, but the deal had fallen through. What else could they think but that it was their house all along.

Mr. Read is out of town often on business. The hours he can spend at home are put to good use. His current project is the lawn. He has big plans for further landscaping and needs only time. Mark, the German Shepherd accompanies him as he works; we won't say he actually helps him.

One more city family has moved to the suburbs and has found the ideal way of living. One more family owns nearly an acre of land and finds it good.

Hallmark Builders of Detroit built the Read home.

New Speech Prompter Helps Dinner Speakers

There is now a new speech prompter. It is a leather-covered box that occupies less than one cubic foot, and across its illuminated face runs a copy of your speech written in large type.

You control the speed of the moving speech with a little gadget you hold in your hand. You can talk for an hour as the script unrolls from the bottom spool, moves up across the box and rolls up on the top spool, much like a player piano roll. You don't have to talk for an hour, of course. Short speeches get more applause.

Quiet Colors Best

A fresh, cheerful bathroom is important for that favorable impression you want to make on your guest. It's psychologically true that guests are usually more conscious of bathroom decor than they are of almost any other room. Gay, warm, yet quiet colors are the best for making that impression.

Where's the Mirror

Last-minute "fixing up" before you or your guests leave the house can be done right in the entrance hall. Why not install a large-size mirror under recessed lights for that quick inspection of makeup and clothes? Perhaps a small shelf or table under the mirror could hold combs, pins, lipstick and the like. In any case, make sure your entrance hall is attractive as well as useful.

Dark Paints Soak Up Light, Make Rooms Dark

When you're choosing paint-colors, remember that dark colors soak up light as a sponge soaks up water. Light tints, on the other hand, serve as reflectors.

In other words, light tints walls and ceilings help to make the most of light.

Dr. Matthew Luckiesh, author of the book, "Seeing and Human Welfare," points out that if ceilings are dirty or of a low reflecting power, much of the light that falls upon them is absorbed and lost.

"Owing to neglect in repainting ceilings and walls of homes, offices and factories," he says, "many millions of dollars are wasted each year in paying for light that is lost by absorption."

Halloween Hints for Gay Window Decoration Items

Pumpkins are appearing at the market place. Youngsters soon will be rummaging in the attic or basement for old costumes.

It's time to start thinking about Halloween and many mothers will be looking for constructive suggestions for the occasion.

Finger painted scenes on store fronts that are easy to wash off now are a popular diversion for boys and girls in hundreds of communities.

For each different color, take an empty frozen juice can (6 ounce) and fill it half-full of powdered color.

Pour in just enough liquid starch to make a heavy paste. Stir in a dash of water. This permits an easy working consistency which virtually glides over the glass. Cleansing powder may be substituted for the powdered color if you're making a ghost or large white object.

A window covering an area of 36 square feet requires only one-third of a bottle of starch. The material does go a long way.

Rural Population Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—People moving into the outskirts of cities apparently have helped to change population patterns.

The Census Bureau reports that from April 1950 to April 1954 rural population increased by 6.3 per cent, while urban population gained 5.6 per cent.

Tending to lower installation costs are the economies of "back-to-back" installation where the same supply and waste piping serves both bathrooms or a bathroom and powder room. The prefabrication of standardized piping assemblies results in further savings.

70 New Homes Go Up on Third

Seventy houses are nearing completion on Pontiac's north side, according to Marvin Stearn of the BVG Construction Company, the firm handling both the building and the sales.

A few families have already moved into the three-bedroom homes on Third street, west of Joslyn. The houses are near schools and have city facilities for water, gas and sewer. Lots are 50x130 feet.

Purchasers have a choice of four different front elevations and a choice of color for the asbestos siding. Total price for these homes is $7,400.

Special features, Mr. Stearns says, are living rooms 11x20 with dining space; tile bath with choice of colors; Youngstown kitchens; and gas heat in the utility room.

Models are open daily from 11 A.M., Sunday from 2 P.M.

Expense of Extension Attic Is Small in Building Home

THE PONTIAC PRESS

Building Editor:

Enclosed is 35 cents. Please send me a copy of the study plan for The House of The Week, Design T-301. Stamps not accepted.

NAME.....
(Please Print)

STREET.....

CITY..... STATE.....

One way to get the most house for your money when building on a limited budget is to use a plan that allows for economical expansion. This is why expansion attics, under roofs pitched high enough to provide adequate headroom, hold their popularity against all other design ideas, including flat roofs, shed roofs and other low pitched styles.

A house with a spacious and strongly framed attic can grow with the least strain on your family budget. It is always cheaper to expand a house upward than outward. No excavation and foundation work are called for; no additional roofing is needed, and no existing construction must be destroyed, such as opening a wall to add a wing.

The initial cost of providing an expansion attic, instead of wasted space under a lower roof, is negligible—expecially when you compare it with the greater value it adds to your house. It not only gives you and your family more space to use, but it adds resale value, since a bigger house will appeal to more people.

In many locations this provision for future rooms may spell the difference between a liberal mortgage arrangement and almost no mortgage at all. The reason is that, aside from a retirement cottage, a house limited to two bedrooms is classed by bankers as "birth control" housing.

FORCED TO SELL

Mortgage investors know from experience that when a family in a rigid two-bedroom house begins to grow and needs separate rooms for boys and girls, it may be forced to sell the house and move to a larger one. The original house has limited appeal and limited value.

The house of the week, Design T-301, shown on this page is a smart example of an expansible house. Its compact, simple rectangular first floor, covering only 1,075 square feet, makes for economy of construction. Yet this can be a four-bedroom house with two complete bathrooms when the second floor is finished. There are 640 square feet of floor space upstairs.

Furthermore, the main floor rooms are large enough to justify use by a family of four-bedroom size. Architects will tell you that this is a point to watch in all plans for expansion attics—if living room, dining room and kitchen are not large enough, the house will not be comfortable when expanded.

Another prudent and convenient feature of this plan is its garage in the basement. The garage is entered from the rear.

GARAGES ARE COSTLY

Garages cost money to build. They don't cost as much as a part of the main house equal to their size, but they usually cost much more than basement space. Since a basement provides the cheapest space you can build, and since most basements provide too much space for sensible use, a garage in the basement becomes logical.

The architect also has styled this house in an attractive combination of the best traditional features and the most popular modern lines. Stone veneer flanks the front entrance and the living room window wall. The stone work is carried under that large window to form a permanent planting box.

ASPHALT SHINGLES

Vertical redwood or cedar siding on the left of the front entrance is 1 by 12 - inch V-jointed boards. Ends and rear of the house are finished with clapboard siding. Colored asphalt shingles can be used for the roof. The use of this economical roofing material is permitted by the roof pitch which drops 10 inches in every foot.

Amenities are not lacking in this budget-wise house. You enter a front foyer where a coat closet adjoins the front door. An open stairway to the upper floor adds length to the living room.

The chimney is located in such a way that a fireplace could be easily added at the end of the living room, if desired. The window wall of the living room is sheltered by a wide roof overhang. This glass area is designed for the use of standard units—awning type windows or large fixed panes surmounting hopper type openers at the bottom.

* * *

An oak floor is suggested for the living room with economical colored asphalt tile floors in other rooms.

An estimated 10 per cent more ceramic tile is being used in kitchens this year.

Gas Range Controlled

Automatic control of temperature on the top burners of gas stoves has been made possible by a new device. The temperature sensing element in the center of the burner is in contact with the cooking utensil, and it can be set for everything from warming to deep fat frying. Once set, the temperature remains constant.

Several Waxes Beautify Home

When we think of wax, most of us think of a liquid or paste composition which is used mostly on floors, woodwork, furniture.

We also think of it as a whitish and hardened substance which is melted and poured on top of preserves in glass jars. As far as some folks know, there is just one type of wax—a kind that comes from beehives.

Yet experts in this field will tell you there are several types—that waxes are usually grouped into four classes: Animal, vegetable, mineral and the synthetics.

You'll learn, too, that waxes and fats are alike in some ways. Some forms of wax look somewhat similar to melted-down and hardened fat, for instance. Chemically, however, the two substances differ. Fats are esters — chemical compounds—of fatty acids and glycerine.

For your needs, there are all-purpose polishes. For specific requirements, there are also special waxes. Always be sure to obtain the type best suited to your purpose.

Here's Something New

Thick squares of cotton carpet with adhesive on the back is the newest idea for covering your floors. The 18-inch squares come in 12 different colors. You can use one color or mix them up. The high pile carpet squares have cushions molded to the carpeting. You peel the paper backing from the adhesive, and press the square to the floor with your hand to anchor it.

Provide Game Room for Tiny Apartment

Few apartment dwellers can spare "house room" for a separate game or recreation room, but they need no longer be denied such quarters. Manufacturers are supplying the wherewithal for creating the much-coveted recreation area right in the living room.

A survey of the current market proves that designers are finding new inspiration each year in the theme of the dual-purpose room.

Sectional groupings, in particular, are being relied upon as the basis of achieving unusual, more functional room arrangements, such as an off-center grouping of major pieces that leaves the remaining wall space free for a separate game corner.

Upholstered pieces are also becoming increasingly simple in line and lighter in scale, which helps create the illusion of spacousness necessary to turn a living room into an inviting recreation area.

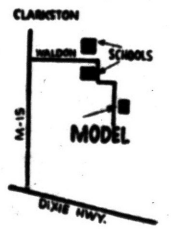

Each of the new aircraft carrier Forrestal's four propellers is more than 22 feet tall.

NEW COUNTY GARAGE—Oakland County Road Commission will have a new garage and repair shop on Pontiac Lake road. The structure is being erected near the Farmers' Market and is the first in a group of buildings planned for that location.

New Garage for County Being Built

Oakland County Road Commission is to have a new garage, repair shop and stock room on Pontiac Lake road. The steel framework is already in place. The building is scheduled for completion about the first of January.

* * *

Campbell Construction Company of Detroit is putting up the steel and concerete structure with brick trim. It was designed by Campbell Engineering Company, also of Detroit.

Because part of the present building occupied by the Road Commission will fall victim to the planned cut-off near Orchard Lake road, the new headquarters were planned. For a year or two the offices will remain on Telegraph road.

* * *

The building under construction will have a garage and repair room 100x160 feet. It is the first unit in the building plan.

Shaving Mirror Suggestion May Answer Puzzle

Wondering what to give the man of the house for Christmas? Probably nothing could mean more to him than generous, comfortable lighting at his shaving mirror.

* * *

Three new lighting fixtures, carefully chosen and placed according to General Electric light conditioning recipes is all it takes to "lighten" any man's shaving chore.

Fluorescent fixtures with 20-60 inches from floor to center and 30 inches apart.

* * *

The third fixture is the secret of light under his chin and on top of his head. When placed 12 to 18 inches from the wall on the ceiling directly over the wash bowl, light is reflected upward to the chin.

* * *

For a final touch of luxury, don't forget a tiny 7-watt nite light that can be plugged into one of the convenient outlets.

Dinah Shore Boasting Hubby's Home Decorating

Songstress Dinah Shore, who is Mrs. George Montgomery at home, is currently singing the praises of the lovely new Montgomery residence and, incidentally, of George's part in its planning.

* * *

The home, which boasts such elegant features as hardwood floors in herringbone design, reflects his handiwork.

* * *

Dinah says he designed, decorated and contracted for all the wood, stone and steel that went into it.

Attached Garages Convert to Play Areas

The garage adjoining your home, if it's tightly constructed and well-windowed, need not be waste space when the car is in use or parked elsewhere.

* * *

June Cabot, hme arts consultant says windows and a simple white-wash job will result in useful brightness and warmth. Wash can then be hung on an indoor line; children will have a dry, roomy place to play on rainy days and, given a couple of folding cots, the garage can be a dormitory when children "spend the night." The concrete floor, once it has been thoroughly cleaned, can be kept clean easily with a broom and garden hose.

Miss Cabot said many home-owners find plate glass windows or double-pane insulating windows a good initial investment, for they "look forward" to the day when the garage is converted to an extra living room or bedroom.

Many builders have been quick to realize the fact that an additional bathroom increases the value of a house far more than the actual cost of the fixtures and the installation.

Greek wheat production during 1955 is placed at about 50,000,000 bushels, second only to the record 1953 harvest.

Who's Cuckoo?

The A. & B. Sales Co. of Glen Rock, N. J., has figured out that people don't like to hear cuckoos say "cuckoo" so they invented a cuckoo clock that doesn't have cuckoo at all but has a bluebird that substitutes for the cuckoo but doesn't go "cuckoo." It is silent.

Steel Houses Being Built

PALO ALTO, Calif. (INS)—When the business man of the near future enters his steel office building, he'll probably feel that he never left home.

* * *

The house he dashed out of to catch the 8:05 or to leap into the family sedan will be constructed out of the same material—steel.

Experimental houses of steel are being built in various sections of the country. A steel frame house designed by West Coast Architect Raphael Soriano has been erected in Palo Alto to check the mass building practicality.

The builder sought to determine whether steel homes would lend themselves to an improvement in mass assembly line home production. All indications seem to be that they are.

The house proved fast to construct. It also had the almost unlimited interior design flexibility that a tract developer needs to keep one jump ahead of the changing desires of the home buying public. Experts are predicting that the day is not far away when the steel house will compete as a best buy in the home field.

Cost figures are hard to assess. Steel, as a building material, is in a competitive price class with wood, but because of the custom nature of construction work presently necessary in steel homes, overall costs are higher.

Here's Answer to Thrifty Giver of Yuletide Gifts

A treasure chest made up of gifts bought for the future will save time and money.

* * *

Whenever a sale is handy, keep an eye for the future. Pick up linens or toys at half price instead of rushing to the store just before a shower or birthday and paying a high price, suggests an article in a current magazine.

It seems that months like June and December always burden the pocketbook with gift bills. And, sadly enough, these are the times when there are no sales in sight. So, be pennywise and watch for seasonal and monthly reductions.

There's always January white sales when hand towels for bridal showers, or linens for wedding gifts can be picked up. After-Christmas sales offer chances to pick up place mat or card games for coming birthdays.

* * *

Other seasonal or end-of-the-month sales are also times to pick up gifts, and church bazaar sales offer many good items.

Paint Affects Most

The products of the paint industry affect more phases of your life than those of any other industry. You can hardly turn around without discovering some useful, necessary article made possible, in part, by some paint industry product.

Phone Dials Protected by Specialized Finish

Few people realize the punishment to which they subject an ordinary dial on the household telephone. Perspiration on the fingers contains acid which would quickly corrode the dial if it were not for the industrial chemical coating that is applied to it.

* * *

Members of the paint, varnish and lacquer industry who supply these highly specialized finishes are called upon constantly to solve such problems of protecting industrial products from deteriorating factors.

Nothing, it seems, is too large or too small to need surface protection. Whether it's a matter of protecting an automobile from the elements or a bobby pin from permanent wave chemicals, the paint, varnish and lacquer industry finds the answer.

Skewer Nails Giving Fine Baked Potatoes

Baking potatoes and special aluminum skewer nails designed to speed up baking and produce a fluffier baked potato are being produced.

The skewer, which resembles a large aluminum nail, is first greased, then pushed lengthwise into a potato. Because it conducts oven heat to the center of the potato, cooking time is reduced and the potato is more uniform in texture and taste.

"Nailing a potato" has won acceptance by cooking editors and other experts throughout the country. Recently, these aluminum nails, which double as skewers, were adopted by Congress for use in House of Representatives' kitchens.

The skewer-nails come six to a card, and can be used for a lifetime, since aluminum does not rust.

Ways to Extinguish Cooking Stove Fires

Fat sputtering out of the frying pan and into the fire was responsible for property loss of more than 50 million dollars in the last decade, statisticians say:

* * *

The fires were small at the start—a little grease from frying pan, broiler or griddle—but lives and money were lost in the end.

Every home should be equipped with a conventional fire extinguisher and every member of the family should know how to use it, advises the National Fire Prevention Assn.

Fat fires might be controlled if a mechanical fire fighter is handy, they advise.

A box of common household baking soda within easy reach of the stove will help quell flames. Just dump the baking soda on the flames.

It will create carbon dioxide or carbonic acid gas cutting off the air and smothering the fire. Water on a fat fire will make the fire spread and the hot grease splatter, increasing your chances of getting burned.

If baking soda is used for fighting frying pan fires, it shouldn't harm food. Simply rinse the soda off steak, chops or whatever was cooking.

Follow the Rules Given by Experts About Using Paint

DO . . . follow the advice of paint authorities who say that, even though most persons do their outside house painting in the spring or summer, it is much better to do it in the fall.

DO . . . prepare the surface thoroughly; remove loose, scaly paint with a putty knife or hand scraper and sandpaper or steel wool for smoothness.

DO . . . use an old, clean paint brush for getting rid of the dust that still remains on a surface that has been scraped or sanded.

DO . . . fill nail holes and cracks, wash off fungus growths and mildew, seal knots and sap streaks, and caulk all door and window frames where there are openings.

DO . . . bear in mind that all this necessary preparation (which often takes longer than the actual painting) will insure an excellent result only if a good quality paint is used.

When the cost of an extra bathroom is spread over the usual life of a mortgage, the monthly payments are increased only nominally.

STERN CHASE! — Freeman Watkins (22 PHS), was chasing speedy Ralph Forbes, Royal Oak (23) in above 4th period action, on the Acorn's field, last night. The action was typical of much of the night's play, as Oaks romped over Chiefs for a 26-2 victory. Watkins was back in play after a three weeks absence.

CASS FIELD, ROYAL OAK — A fired-up band of blue-garbed gridders last night poured on power and speed here to give Royal Oak a 26-2 victory over Pontiac High's Chiefs.

The hapless warriors from Pontiac, minus their headman, had a rough night of it. And there was nothing the PHS coaches could do about it. The orange-clad crew worked hard, but mostly was ineffective.

Pontiac played well in the opening period. Although Acorns made four 1st downs to none for PHS, the Chiefs had one chance at a TD. That was spoiled when a jump pass on 4th down, with only four to go for the tally, was knocked down. Chiefs collected their two points in the 3rd period, on a series of wild scrambles that could have as well produced a TD.

A punt that rolled out on the five put Acorns in a hole after two minutes of the period. Two low center passes to the RO punter were fumbled, Acorns recovered the 1st a yard from the end zone. The 2nd was also recovered by Jack Bill (kicker), but in the end zone, for a safety.

A long, high aerial from Darrell Harper, Acorns' workhorse, to end Len Milke in the end zone started the Acorns string. It covered 35 yards just 12 seconds from half time. Acorns had taken the ball on downs on Chiefs' 35.

A PHS fumble on its own 46, recovered by an alert Royal Oak lineman, set the stage for the 2nd counter. A counter fumble by Acorns delayed the TD move three plays, until Russ Atwater was trapped trying to get off a punt on 4th down. On the 1st play after taking possession on the 15, Jerry Snider rammed up the middle for the TD.

Acorns got two more tallies, in the 4th period. Chiefs never threatened after getting the safety.

Snider went over for the 3rd Acorn TD after a minute and a half of the finale. Two runs by Harper and Snider had moved the ball from the 35 before Jerry hit pay dirt. Three and a half minutes later Herb Deromedi, sub fullback, went 15 yards behind a flock of blue suits for the tally.

Among the sparkling plays of the game was the fine run by Chief Lon Humphrey on a pass interception in the 1st period. Aided by some fine blocking, Lonnie went all the way from his own 40 to Acorns' 15.

Charley Robinson at fullback did a good job, along with Arnold Larson. Bob Casteel and Art Poe also figured in some nice passing and running efforts.

Coach Jim Manilla tossed in a long string of Acorn players, with practically all turning in good jobs. However, it was big Darrell Harper and speedy Jerry Snider, who did the most to dump the Chiefs.

Loss was Pontiac's 5th for the season, against only two wins.

Sellout Crowd to Watch Navy Battle Irish

Unbeaten Middies One TD Underdogs in Game Dedicated to Rockne

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—An overflow crowd of 57,000 will jam Notre Dame Stadium today to get a true view of unbeaten Navy's strength against the favored Irish.

Navy, unextended in the last four games this season and with a nine-game winning streak, has been made a 6-point underdog to once-beaten Notre Dame.

Irish Coach Terry Brennan is wary of Navy quarterback George Welsh and Navy depth which, Brennan says, Notre Dame will be unable to match.

Fourth-ranked Navy suffered its last defeat at the hands of Notre Dame, ranked ninth, in a 6-0 rain-soaked contest. However, the rankings in this game mean little.

Notre Dame is expected to have added incentive in that the game has been dedicated to Knute Rockne, famed Irish coach who died in a plane crash in 1931.

Navy will be out to avenge last year's loss and hopes to beat Notre Dame for the first time since 1944 when the Irish bowed, 32-13. The two teams played a 6-6 tie in 1945.

Navy's only close battle came in its season opener when the Middies beat William & Mary, 7-0. The Midshipmen proceeded to romp over South Carolina, Pitt, Penn Stat and Pnn, shuttig out vry-baten 34-14.

Welsh, being groomed for All-America honors, did not play against Pennsylvania last week when Navy piled up a 33-0 victory. There were other regulars who missed the game and those that did play did so on a part-time basis only.

That has been Navy's story. Score early, pile up a lead and put in the reserves. This, Notre Dame suspects, has added to Navy's reserve strength and virtually makes Navy deeper than the Irish at every position.

The Irish opened with three straight shutouts, victimizing Southern Methodist, Indiana and Miami before getting bumped by Michigan State, 21-7. However, Notre Dame bounced back with a 22-7 victory over Purdue and is presumably ready to wreck Navy's perfect record.

The game will be broadcast at 1:30 p.m. EST (CBS) and will be carried on closed-circuit television to hotel ballrooms in nine major cities.

M-Iowa Tilt TV's Top Clash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A team named Desire and a team named Notre Dame clashed today.

The team named desire, is, of course, Navy, unbeaten and untied and with only a tie and a wartime victory to show in its past 18 years of frustration against the Irish.

* * *

There are other important games scattered around the country—like Michigan-Iowa in the television game of the week, Army-Colgate and Georgia Tech-Duke—but the eyes of the nation for the most part will be riveted on South Bend, Ind.

* * *

For the Midshipmen this was the biggest test of the season. A victory and they probably will go through to their first all-victorious season in history.

Navy was conceded their best chance of whipping the Irish in more than a decade. Of course, they were underdogs, more from tradition than anything else, for their record certainly compares favorably with the once-beaten Irish.

The game figured to revolve around two fine quarterbacks, George Welsh of Navy and Paul Hornung of Notre Dame. He who is "on" should carry his team to triumph. The 205-pound Hornung, although he is not an overpowering passer, can throw and run from the split T. Welsh, a whiz at calling plays and a great passer, is perhaps the finest uarterback Navy ever has produced.

The Michigan-Iowa clash at Ann Arbor was a crucial one for the Wolverines. Favored to win the Big 10 title since the start of the season, they had narrow squeaks over Northwestern and Minnesota the past two weeks.

* * *

The Georgia Tech-Duke battle at Atlanta is one between a couple of teams whose seasons already have been ruined by one defeat. Both had high hopes of riding through undefeated. But the winner still will be in line for a bowl bid.

* * *

In addition to Navy and Michigan, five other major unbeatens lay their streaks on the line. Maryland and Oklahoma, co-leaders in this week's Associated Press poll, have easy assignment. The Terps met South Carolina, and the Sooners sought to fatten their scoring average against weakling Kansas State.

West Virginia shouldn't have any trouble with Marquette, but Holy Cross could come a-cropper against Syracuse. The Crusaders have lost five straight to the Orange, Texas A & M, the Southwest Conference surprise package, played defending champion Arkansas.

The top game in the East pitted Colgate against Army. Hal Laher's Red Raiders have been beaten only once in their most successful season in two decades.

Maples Win 1st EML Crown; Edge Reds on 2nd Half Rally

By BILL CORNWELL

The 1955 Eastern Michigan League football championship belongs to Birmingham High School. But the 1st loop title in the school's history was earned only after a bitter, uphill struggle.

* * *

A fighting and determined band of Maples, thoroughly outplayed during the 1st two quarters and trailing by a 6-0 margin at halftime, came roaring back with a pair of 3rd-period touchdowns to defeat rugged Port Huron, 14-6, on the Birmingham High School field Friday night.

Co-captains Bill Swaney and Jim Traa and fleet halfback John Appleford spearheaded the last half rally, enabling Birmingham to win the EML crown and end a six-year Port Huron jinx. Victory also preserved the Maples' perfect record, which now stands at 7-0.

Port Huron completely dominated the 1st half. Sparked by Ken Wheeler, Big Reds pierced Birmingham's defense for consistent yardage. They drove 72 yards in the 1st period, but lost a golden scoring opportunity when Nick Colbert recovered a fumble on the Birmingham four.

* * *

Big Reds were not to be denied in the 2nd, however, as they struck pay-dirt with only 22 seconds left. Racing against time, Big Reds marched 90 yards on 19 plays with Wheeler scoring from the three.

* * *

Carl Lemle's spirited gridders were a revived lot after intermisison as they reversed the proceedings of the 1st 24 minutes. Traa ignited the comeback by partially blocking a punt. With Swaney mixing his plays well, Maples rolled 60 yards in 11 plays for the tying touchdown, a five-yard pass from Swaney to end Bob Isbell. George Huffman's placekick gave Birmingham a 7-6 lead.

Birmingham tallied again in the 3rd, and once more it was Traa who touched it off. He blocked his 2nd punt with teammate Harold Mitchell recovering on the Port Huron 20. Maples scored in six plays. Quarterback Swaney, a left-handed passer, pitched a two-yard touchdown aerial to Appleford in the end zone. Again Huffman converted—and it was all over but the shouting.

Bob Hayes' Big Reds made two belated drives in the 4th period, each effort dying on the Maple 20. They lost the ball on downs the 1st time and Isbell spotted a fumble to kill the 2nd push.

* * *

In remaining Eastern Michigan League action last night, Hazel Park surprised Ferndale, 13-7, and East Detroit blanked Mt. Clemens, 32-0.

Michigan Gets Favorite's Role Against Hawks

Unbeaten Ann Arbor 11 Aims to Bolster Hope for Rose Bowl Trip

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Unbeaten Michigan was a one to two touchdown favorite to beat Iowa today and edge closer to a berth in the Rose Bowl game Jan. 2.

The game, starting at 1:30 p.m., was televised nationally in both color and black and white.

Michigan carried a 5-0 record into the game, three of the victories coming in Big Ten play.

Only other team in the conference with a perfect mark was Ohio State (2-0), but conference rules prohibit the defending champion Buckeyes to return to the Rose Bowl.

Both Michigan and Iowa had considerable incentive against each other.

Wolverines not only were attempting to strengthen their hold on 1st place in the Big Ten, but were seeking to disprove the experts who dropped them from 1st to 3rd in this week's Associated Press poll.

Iowa was seeking its 1st victory over Michigan since 1924, and to avenge a pair of 14-13 losses to the Wolverines in the past two seasons, both times Iowa took a 13-0 lead, only to be overhauled.

Both teams had key injured linemen due back for action. Ron Kramer, Michigan's 6-foot-3 end, was expected to see at least part-time duty. The same went for Cal Jones, Iowa's brilliant guard.

A crowd of 75,000 to 80,000 was expected to turn out.

Four Way Duel at Garden State

Twelve Go After Rich Purse in 2-Year Old Decision Race

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — The two-year-old championship of 1955 is expected to be decided today in the fabulous Garden State Stakes and it looks like a duel of two speed horses, Nail and Bold Bazooka, vs. a couple of come-from-behind colts—Needles and Career Boy.

A dozen juveniles were entered for the mile and one sixteenth affair, which carries the richest purse in the sport's history. With $282,370 up for grabs, nobody will be sparing the horses, or the whips.

Oddly enough, when post positions were drawn Nail got the favorable No. 1 spot on the rail, while Bold Bazooka is right alongside in No. 2.

The field for the Garden State, which will be on radio and television (CBS 3:30-4 p.m., EST,) is the best since the race was inaugurated in 1953.

Eye Out for Olympics

U. S. Equestrian Team Ties Mexican Horsemen

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The U.S. equestrian team, with an eye out for next year's Olympics, shows promise of being able to hold its own with the world's best.

* * *

The U.S. entry in the Pennsylvania Horse Show captured both of yesterday's international events to bring its total to 4 wins, the same as Mexico's top-notch team. The other two nations entered, Canada and Ireland, with 1 win apiece.

* * *

While the Mexicans are somewhat crippled as the result of injuries suffered in a recent automobile accident, the United States wins have resulted from outstanding performances.

The U.S. captured the show's top championship, the international low score championship, an event based on three events spread over three days' competition. The final standings in this event were: United States 4½ faults, Ireland 20, Canada 25¾, Mexico 30.

* * *

The United States clinched the low score championship on a faultless ride by Charles Dennehy Jr. of Lake Forest, Ill. It recaptured for America the big silver trophy it held for four consecutive years but which it lost to a Spanish team last year. Spain had no entry this year.

* * *

In its other team win yesterday, for the Col. John W. Wofford Memorial Trophy, the United States had 8 faults; Mexico and Ireland 12 faults each and Canada 17¼ faults. Mexico was awarded second place on time.

Gonsalves Gains Win Over Perez

NEW YORK (AP) — If Johnny Gonsalves and Lulu Perez didn't cure your insomnia, give up. Your case is hopeless.

Lanky Johnny, little Lulu and Referee Ruby Goldstein last night struggled through 10 of the dullest rounds since Olle Tandberg invaded these shores from Sweden in 1948.

Gonsalves, 133¾, won a split decision at Madison Square Garden.

Gonsalves won because Perez, 133, hit him low in the 10th round, permitting Referee Goldstein to penalize the 22-year-old Brooklyn boxer. If Ruby hadn't taken the round away from Lulu, the decision would have been a draw.

Spartans Choice Over Badger 11 in Big 10 Tilt

Wisconsin's Star End Injured, Will Sit Out Homecoming Battle

MADISON, Wis. (INS)—Wisconsin's battered Badgers rate as underdogs today for their homecoming Big Ten game with strong Michigan State before 53,000 fans at Camp Randall stadium.

Wisconsin lost its last two games, including last week's struggle with Ohio State. Worse than that, the Badger defeat by Ohio State resulted in the loss through injury of star end Dave Howard, Wisconsin's best pass receiver.

Michigan State, conqueror of Notre Dame, has an ace passer in quarterback Earl Morrall and standout ball carriers in Walt Kowalczyk, Gerry Planutis and Gerry Musetti.

Wisconsin's chief scoring threats are passers Jim Miller and Jim Haluska.

Battle to Keep Label

Surprising Colts and Packers Collide Tonight in Struggle for 2nd Position

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts and Green Bay Packers will decide tonight (7:35 EST) which of them is going to continue to be the surprise team fighting for the Western Conference lead in the National Football League.

The winner of their return match will take at th least sole possession of second place with a 4-2 record. It could move into a tie for the lead if the Chicago Bears knock off the Los Angeles Rams in one of tomorrow's five games.

* * *

The other Western Conference game pits the reverse surprise team, the Detroit Lions, against San Francisco. Detroit, the defending loop winner, hasn't come out on top yet in five games.

* * *

In the Eastern Conference Cleveland seeks its fifth straight triumph against the Chicago Cardinals, Pittsburgh tries to keep pace with the Browns at the expense of Philadelphia, and Washington is at New York.

* * *

The Colts nosed out Green Bay 24-20 for their third straight victory Oct. 9 and they haven't been right since. They won the game and took a physical beating that showed up in subsequent losses to the Chicago Bears and Washington Redskins.

* * *

Several of the defensive Colt line are limping. Defensive halfback Carl Taseff is a doubtful starter and offensive halfback Royce Womble and defensive end Gino Marchetti are on the disabled list.

* * *

On the other hand, the Packers thirsting for revenge arrived with all players well. These include quarterback Tobin Rote, defensive linebacker Doyle Nix and fullback Howie Ferguson who were below par in last week's 41-10 loss to Cleveland.

* * *

Rote and Ferguson will be rematched with two Colt rookies who started off like a house on fire, quarterback George Shaw and fullback Alan Ameche. Shaw's passing has quieted down in the last two games and so has Ameche's running although the fullback still leads the league with a 5.5 yard average to Ferguson's 4.9.

The slowed-down Colt offense has scored only one touchdown in each of its last two games.

* * *

The Bears, whose applecart was tipped by early losses to the Colts, Green Bay, and San Francisco, can get back within striking distance of the Western lead by dumping the Rams. It would be the second loss in six games for Los Angeles and move the Chicago record up to 3-3.

Housewife Gets Leading Entry in Press 'Derby'

A Bloomfield Hills housewife proved Thursday that woman's place is not always in the home as she captured the lead in the Pontiac Press "Big Pheasant Derby" with a 3-pound 12-ounce entry.

Mrs. Paul Pace, 35, of 5060 Lone Pine Rd., shot the bird while hunting with her husband. It took two shots to bring him down off Pontiac Lake Road in Rochester. She used a 12-gauge shotgun.

Mrs. Pace, whose husband is a caretaker on the Everell E. Fisher estate in Bloomfield Hills, has enjoyed hunting for the past 10 years. Her winning bird measured 34½ inches.

Van Dyke Scrapes by Walled Lake, Wins I-L Title; Imlay Takes SC Crown; Skippers Grab I-L 2nd Spot

By GEORGE TRUMBULL JR.

Van Dyke High reigns today as 1955 champion of the Inter-Lakes League.

Deciding battle last night at Walled Lake was an uphill struggle for the Abes who had to overcome a 13-7 halftime deficit by scoring two touchdowns in the 3rd period to gain a narrow 20-19 win and the title. Ken Burchett and Roy Abbott scored the winning TD's. It was Burchett's 2nd of the night.

Walled Lake, battling to the final gun, counted when quarterback John Walker scored his 2nd marker of the night in the 4th period on a dash through the center of the line. The extra point pass attempt was incomplete making the final score 20-19.

Waterford Skippers gathered in I-L 2nd place honors as Norm Probert and Bill Clark paced the squad to a 7-0 victory over a sparkless Southfield eleven at Waterford yesterday afternoon.

The senior pair accounted for all but 55 of the Skippers 197 ground yardage as Probert carried 16 times for 94 yards and a 5.9 average while his teammate marched to 48 yards on 9 tries averaging 5.3 per carry.

The lone touchdown was scored by quarterback Tom Bryce from the 7-yard line early in the 2nd period after a 63-yard march. Jerry Kruskie converted.

Closest Monte Charles' company threatened was when Manderichia's passing and running took the ball to the Skipper 1-yard stripe. On 4th down, fullback Ron Brewer fumbled and Waterford's Jack Reynolds recovered to kill the threat.

In other prep games Milford quarterback Fred Baker continued his scoring stampede with three touchdowns as the Redskins downed West Bloomfield, 19-7. Baker has accounted for 11 of Milford's 15 touchdowns this season.

Berkley's 1st TD of the year wasn't enough as it lost 13-6 to Farmington while Clyde Kizer, George Lang and Chuck Passage did the damage for Clarkston against Oxford, 28-0.

Senior quarterback Duane Mason of Imlay City scored 18 of his team's 25 points as Spartans won the South Central League title by blanking Ortonville, 25-0.

A 99-yard run by sophomore fullback John Fowler enabled Romeo to squeeze by Rochester, 20-13 and Lake Orion's Doug Storey counted three times to lead his Dragons to a 26-7 triumph over Troy.

Other area scores—Huron Valley 19, Bloomfield 8; Clarenceville 25, Brighton 0; Northville 20, Holly 0; Madison 20, Roseville 6; Clawson 18, Avondale 0; Belleville 7, Fitzgerald 0; Center Line 27, South Lake 7; Lake Shore 20, Eastland 19; Utica 34, Warren 0.

Board Will Hire Architect

ROMEO—Looking forward to an anticipated building program next year, members of the Board of Education of the Romeo Community School district recently decided to consider hiring an architectural firm to work with them from the initial stages through final construction.

Following the suggestion of Supt. T. C. Filppula that they hire architects "as soon as possible," the educators began their screening of various concerns in the metropolitan area.

School sites are still being discussed by the board. The problem of sewage disposal in areas under consideration outside the village limits was of primary concern to board members, the superintendent and the three principals who attended the special session. Filppula reported on the way Rochester had worked out its problem of sewage for the new high school there and told its cost to the district.

The attitude of the county health officers on the subject of sewage disposal was reported by the superintendent. He stated they are "cautious in approving septic tanks" for a building the size necessary to house the upper grades in the district.

Another solution, that of constructing a sewage disposal plant on the new site, was then considered. In addition to being "expensive," the plant located near a creek into which the water must be channeled. The resultant suggestion was that sites nearer the village limits be considered so that the sewage lines could be hooked onto existing ones within the boundaries of the community.

If all members of the board are agreed on the necessity for immediate action in the launching of a program, the consideration of additional sites and the employment of an architectural firm will be on the agenda for the next regular meeting Nov. 10.

Hay Kindled in West Bloomfield Barn Fire Yesterday

WEST BLOOMFIELD—Gasoline and oil kindled hay in a combination barn and garage fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Depki of 4750 Arline, West Bloomfield Township late yesterday.

Mrs. Depki said that Wilbur Parsons, a neighbor, had moved a house trailer, which had been parked beside the barn, across the street when he saw what was happening. Other neighbors moved a bicycle and a barbecue from the burning building.

Fire Chief Ben Moshier estimated the loss to the building at $4000 and a $1000 loss to the contents. Mrs. Depki said that it was covered by insurance.

Children had been playing in the barn earlier and Mrs. Depki believed that "they were the cause of the fire."

$80,000 Walled Lake Fire Guts Theater at Noonday

WALLED LAKE—Fire completely gutted the Lake Theater on Pontiac Trail here yesterday shortly before noon.

* * *

The blaze was discovered by Mrs. George W. Graham, 36, of 108 Colmont who is employed as janitress for the owners, Mr. and Mrs. William (Bud) Harris of Sylvan Village.

When Mrs. Graham reported for work at 11 a.m., she found that the entire stage and screen were ablaze. She attempted to use a large fire extinguisher, but could make no headway against the flames, so she summoned the Walled Lake fire department.

Before the fire truck arrived, Mrs. Graham rushed back into the burning building to recover her purse and iin the attempt was burned about the face and head. She was taken to Dr. William VanderRoest and treated for burns and shock.

INSPECTED THURSDAY

A Michigan state theater fire inspector thoroughly inspected the theater the night before the fire, according to Harris, and found the wiring adequate.

The cement block structure seats 660 patrons and had been in operation eight years. A new $12,000 CinemaScope screen had been installed recently and Harris estimated the damage for the building and contents at $80,000.

It is covered by insurance, he said.

Harris said "I cannot understand what possibly could have started the blaze, as there is only one bulb and one switch at the rear of the theater." The conduit wiring is enclosed in a metal box.

The Walled Lake Fire Chief, Ray Price, Friday evening said that, in a consultation with the state fire marshal after the fire, it was determined that "the fire was caused by faulty electrical wiring." After a check, it was discovered that two fuses had been blown.

* * *

Repair work to be done includes: Replacing all the seats, repairing a part of the roof, the stage redone and a new screen installed. Several valuable lenses and the projectors were damaged but the amount has not yet been determined.

Phoenix Showing Harnessed Sun Power in Exhibit

By LAWRENCE MALKIN

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—The world's first exhibit devoted exclusively to harnessing the tremendous energy of the sun opened today.

* * *

Devices on display at the first solar fair ranged from stoves that quit when the sun ducks behind a cloud to a sun-heated home.

Few of the exhibitors see the sun as much more than a supplement to the world's current power stocks. And not one will say that his invention is perfect.

Demonstrations at "The Sun at Work" exhibit include sun measuring devices, collectors which "soak up the sun," cookers, water and air heaters, furnaces, mechanical engines, stills for turning salt water into fresh, factories for making food out of air, water and sun and silicon plates that produce enough direct electricity to run a telephone.

* * *

George O. G. Lof, Denver engineer, designed the solar heating unit for homes. Cold air filters through glass panels on the roof, gets warmed, and the heat is stored in tanks full of gravel. At night, fans blow across the warmed gravel and send hot air into the house.

But Lof admits he will need gas heat on really cold days, although the heater will save 75 per cent of the winter's fuel bills.

Neighbors' Tolerance Ends in Police Arrest

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP) — Police charged a trio with disturbing the peace.

The cops said they didn't see any sense in three disturbing many. And they didn't have to worry about getting along.

Eva Marie Saint Badly Hurt in Fall

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Academy award winning actress Eva Marie Saint suffered painful head and leg injuries yesterday when she fell from a table while doing a comedy dance on a movie set.

She was knocked unconscious for a while, her studio reported, and ruptured a vein in her right leg. The 31-year-old actress was expected to be confined to her home about a week.

A studio spokesman said it was believed she became tangled in a pair of oversized pajamas she was wearing for the comedy routine. Miss Saint won an Oscar as 1954's best supporting actress for "On The Waterfront," her first movie role.

'T' Men Seize Nickel Maker

Secret Service Agents Take Coin Counterfeiter in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Accused of manufacturing at least 300,000 bogus coins, a 64-year-old engineer was in jail today. Secret Service agents said "he made one slight mistake and it tripped him up."

* * *

Using a 250,000-pound press in Erial, N. J., Francis L. Henning managed to make $5,000 worth of nickels that he successfully deposited at banks in Philadelphia and Camden, N. J., and for which he later withdrew genuine money, Cleveland Secret Service Chief R. E. Holmes said.

But Henning forgot that coins minted in Philadelphia before 1944 bore a letter P on the back, and some 1944 coins lacking the letter turned up last June at the Federal Reserve Bank there.

LITTLE SLIP

That put agents on Hennigs' trail and he was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued in Philadelphia.

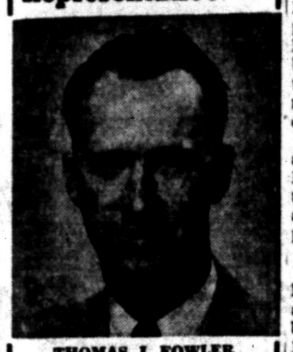

Holmes said Hennig, who came here six months ago as a $700-a-month mechanical engineer for a construction firm, had become frightened by newspaper accounts of the discovery of the bad nickels and dumped $10,000 worth of them into a creek.

PLATES FOUND

In his East Side room, agents found five zinc plates for printing $5 notes, a home-made camera and other materials for photographing and reproducing cash, Holmes said.

Brought before U. S. Commissioner H. A. Horn, Hennings agreed to waive a hearing here and was put under $15,000 bond. He will be returned to Camden to face counterfeiting charges.

Mr. Fowler has been connected with the Life of Virginia since 1941 and has consistently rated well above average in his service to the policyholders. One of the reasons he rates this merit is his constant study of the life insurance business and his recent completion of a course of study on the recent changes in the Social Security laws and its changes.

A married man with two children, Mr. Fowler, appreciates and enjoys the assistance he is able to furnish individuals, families and groups in their plans for financial security, through one of the oldest and largest insurance companies, The Life Insurance Co. of Virginia.

Tots Seek Halloween Money to Help Poor

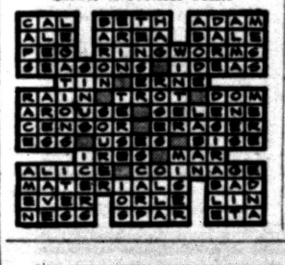

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Instead of seeking goodies for themselves Halloween, a lot of Kentucky tots will be seeking money for underprivileged children all over the world.

Children from a Louisville church group will go from door to door asking for contributions to the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

Funds for UNICEF also will be sought by children at Moreland and Danville.

At Richmond, church youths will sponsor a Halloween drive for CROP, Christian Rural Overseas Program.

Nat King Cole Will Star in 'Hot Mikado' on Video

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Nat King Cole was signed by CBS to star in "The Hot Mikado," one of our most exciting stage memories (when Bill Robinson starred).

Nat didn't know what part he'd play, but we suspect it'll be Nanki-Poo. They want Lena Horne or Dorothy Dandridge for "Yum-Yum," which would be yummy.

And probably with Louis Armstrong in the role Bill Robinson originated, sprightly casting indeed.

Betty Hutton proved mighty little in her explosive second TV try, except possibly that vitamins take Betty. . .

Prizefighter Walter Cartier was a sensitive realistic clown on Phil Silvers' GI caper. . .

Lowell Thomas was switched on CBS-radio for another full year by his battery sponsor. . .

Jeanne Crain, who just last year insisted she'd "never" go into TV, signed for several shows. . .

LU ANN TO SUE?

Godfrey & CBS haven't heard the end of the Lu Ann Sims firing: "Sweet Sue" is her new theme song.

Mickey Mouse Club clobbered the kid-size opposition — 66 per cent better than Pinky Lee, 45 per cent friskier than Howdy Doody.

Clifford Davis will star on "Star Tonight" next Thursday on ABC-TV, and it's a nice grease-painted Alger story:

The 24-year-old lad was an apartment house superintendent who simply "decided to be an actor," went to an actor's school and now, only 18 months after his janitorial disenchantment (means Clifford didn't like shoveling coal and sweeping sidewalks) he will have in support of his first star role such veterans as Nancy Coleman and Buster Crabbe.

Singer Marti Stevens (daughter of filmogul Nick Schenck) is a hit on British commercial TV; the London Times unstuffed its shirt and called Marti "a polished gem and a delight". . .

Polly Bergen has to get the okay from her TV sponsor for all stage or screen work; real exclusive stuff, but very nice so far about outside work. . .

Martha Raye turned down a high-fee Berlecast offer.

HOPE EYES HOPEFULS

Bob Hope says about half dozen young night club and TV comedians have star-stuff but doesn't name them. "All us oldtimers know they're breathing down our necks . . . the more there are the harder you have to work."

Hope will have to work a lot harder if he keeps his show on film . . . not so hot on celluloid.

Farm Chiefs Tour Dam in Hearing

Senate Group Studies Agricultural Problems in Crop Control, Prices

BISMARCK, N. D. (AP) — Senate Agriculture Committee members today were touring nearby Garrison Dam installations in the Missouri River at the close of the first week of hearings on the farm income problem.

* * *

In their fifth session since starting the national study, at Minot, N. D. yesterday, senators were told that a combination of lower farm prices and crop controls is forcing migration of smaller farmers into urban centers in search of jobs.

Witnesses also testified the family-size type farm was threatened unless owners of such tracts somehow could acquire more land. But there was no suggestion on how this could be accomplished.

North Dakota farm spokesmen were critical of present government wheat controls. They argued the regulations cut too deep into production of the bread-making wheat grown in Minnesota and the Dakotas.

* * *

Witnesses said higher support prices should be worked out in the federal program for premium, or quality wheat with the lower grades, much of which they said was unfit for human consumption, subject to lesser payment.

Growers suggested also that controls be put on a bushel rather than acreage allotment basis. They testified the acreage plan encouraged farmers to over-produce by applying fertilizer heavily.

Raymond Wendsel, Carpio, N. D. farmer with 3,000 acres, told the group that present farm programs, especially lower price supports, are tending to build up what he termed a "landed aristocracy." He said larger operators are buying up the land held by small producers.

The committee wil lspend the night in Bismarck before its Sunday trip by plane to Pendleton, Ore. After a hearing there Monday, the group headed by Chairman Ellender (D-La) will hold sessions Wednesday at Fresno, Calif., Friday at Albuquerque, N. M., and Saturday at Fort Worth, Tex.

Cheaper, Safer Blasting Material Now on Market

TERRE HAUTE, Ind.—A cheaper blasting product, said to cost about half as much as conventional types and to be safer to handle, has been developed by a Terre Haute concern.

The company says use of the explosive should save money in strip-coal mining, since present costs of drilling and blasting often eat up profits.

JUNIOR EDITORS

HALLOWEEN — 3
A Game

When you dress up in funny clothes and masks and go from door to door on Halloween crying "Trick or treat," you are doing very much the same as your ancestors did hundreds of years ago.

Here is a "Trick or treat" game two of you can play.

Paste this page on cereal box cardboard and color it with crayons. The roads are yellow, the spaces between them light green and the bushes and trees darker green. Make the houses light colored with red roofs. The jack-o-lantern is orange, of course.

Each of you uses a black button as a marker. Toss a penny to show the number of moves: two moves for heads, one for tails. Enter at the bottom. Play by turns and head up the road toward the jack-o-lantern which is headquarters for treats.

If your coin moves you to a square where there is a trick (a black bat in the square) you must go back one move and await your next turn.

The first one to reach the jack-o-lantern is the winner. But you must move in exactly with your final move, or you will have to continue tossing until you get just the right move.

Bank Thief Drops $8,800 of Loot Over City Block

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Rain and darkness reduced the confusion late yesterday as a fleeing bank bandit littered a city block with $8,800 in currency.

He fled the bank with $15,512, but the bulging loot broke through when rain hit the paper bag he used to collect it.

* * *

The lone bandit entered the Broadway branch of the First National Bank near the closing hour and stalled until all customers were gone.

He commanded manager Clarence M. Kelley to collect the money from the line of tellers and escaped on foot.

Charles F. Edwards, a truck driver, happened along just after the bandit fled and discovered the trail of money.

* * *

"I looked at all that money on the sidewalk and I said, 'that ain't real,' " he related.

He called employes of a nearby appliance firm who helped gather up the $8,800 and return it to the bank. Officials said they were unable to learn if others picked up bills and kept going.

Here Today and Gone Tomorrow!

That's the history of the itinerant salesman. No one can tell you how or where to spend your money. That certainly is your rightful privilege. Judging, however, from the number of complaints that are received by this office from Pontiac people who have purchased merchandise from itinerant salesmen, where the purchaser has little or no recourse, it would seem awfully smart to deal with Local Firms.
