U.S. Hopes Fade for Troop Removal

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON — American hopes for large-scale removal of Soviet troops from Cuba by mid-March faded today. It appeared that no more than 3,500 will have left the island by tomorrow.

A gleaming white Soviet ship glided north through the Caribbean this morning carrying up to 2,000 Russian troops home.

The 15,286-ton Admiral Nakhimov sailed from here last night and, if loaded to capacity, would enable Premier Khrushchev to claim he had technically fulfilled his pledge to President Kennedy to remove "several thousand" troops by mid-March.

Officials acknowledged that this could be considered bare fulfillment of Khrushchev's Feb. 18 promise to remove several thousand troops by the middle of March.

At that time, U.S. authorities said they hoped Russia would call home the bulk of their 17,000 troops and technicians in Cuba.

NO COMMENT

There was no comment at all from Washington on Soviet troop movements out of Cuba — reportedly on direct orders from Kennedy.

Four Russian ships had sailed earlier with units of the Soviet armed forces which the United States estimated numbered 17,500 in Cuba at the beginning of February.

The United States said there were 22,500 here at the height of last October's crisis.

There was no official announcement on how many persons sailed on the Nakhimov nor what their military classification was.

They were driven to the harbor in drab Soviet army trucks, many of which also were loaded with bedsrolls and suitcases.

All Friday, hundreds of young Russians, clad in sports shirts and slacks, poured on to the old Ward Line pier where the ship was tied up.

DRIVEN IN TRUCKS
They were driven to the harbor in drab Soviet army trucks, many of which also were loaded with bedsrolls and suitcases.

The young men carried small bags and packages, like tourists' souvenirs, and the whole affair had more the atmosphere of a weekend Caribbean cruise than a troop movement.

State Department officials said the United States would continue to press for the removal of the estimated 14,000 Russian troops and military technicians still on the island. But there were no plans for immediate representations to Moscow.

The U. S. Embassy in Moscow quickly filed a formal protest over the violation of American air space.

Several U. S. fighter planes sped aloft to intercept the Soviet aircraft and made radar contact but neither saw the Russian planes nor fired at them.

A State Department spokesman said this was the first "clearly established incident" of a Soviet overflight of the United States.

It followed by three days a Soviet protest Wednesday — rejected by the U. S. Friday — that the U. S. Naval vessels had fired dummy shells close to a Soviet trawler some 70 miles east of Norfolk, Va., March 8.

The two Soviet planes, operating in mid-evening darkness, entered American territory in the area of Kuskokwim Bay and left in a westerly direction in the vicinity of Hoover Bay.

The Defense Department said they were identified as Soviet planes in several ways, including radar monitoring of the course they followed.

Legislation on Desk After House, Senate Resolve Differences

LANSING (AP)—Armed with two pieces of "essential" legislation, Gov. Romney today made plans to help plead Detroit's case for the 1968 Olympic Games.

The second of the two bills — creating an authority to build a $25-million, 100,000-seat stadium, reached his desk yesterday after the House and Senate resolved differences over two restrictive amendments.

Efforts at compromise broke down and the Senate finally capitulated under House insistence that the bill be approved with a $30-million bonding limit and a provision that no bonds can be sold before March 31, 1964.

Legislative leaders took the attitude that the bill never was in serious trouble.

It was only a matter of time until we passed it," said one leading House Republican. "The question was which chamber would give in first."

But until the Senate voted 31-0 to accept the bill with the two House amendments, Detroit's hopes for what Romney termed a "strong, firm presentation" were missing a key element.

The governor called for the stadium bonding proposal and a companion bill raising horse racing pari-mutuel taxes to be passed before Detroit officials meet with the U.S. Olympic Committee in New York Monday.

REGAIN DESIGNATION
The Motor City seeks to regain designation as U.S. bidder when the International Olympic Committee convenes in Nairobi, Kenya, next October to pick a 1968 site.

The U.S. committee picked Detroit earlier, but the designation was withdrawn after Los Angeles and California Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown challenged the city's ability to provide proper facilities.

Romney and other members of the Detroit delegation will leave Sunday for New York where Los Angeles, Houston and Portland, Ore., also will present their cases.

A decision on the case has been promised by the U.S. committee for Monday night.

The parliament bill had been the subject of a House wrangle Wednesday but was accepted by the Senate without challenge and sent to Romney.

Report Soviet Soldiers Fighting Anti-Castroites

MIAMI (UPI)—New clashes between Russian soldiers and anti-Castro guerrillas in Cuba were reported yesterday by a Cuban exile leader here.

At the same time, refugees from Havana who arrived here yesterday said that Soviet troops in Cuba are now wearing the uniforms of Premier Fidel Castro's army and militia. The exile leader, Dr. Luis Conte Aguiar, said the Russians suffered "many casualties, including dead" in fighting in the Escambray mountain zone near the city of Cienfuegos.

He said he received the reports from Cuban agents of two underground resistance movements he heads, the National Resistance Front and the Christian Anti-Communist Front.

Conte said Thursday that at least seven Russians were killed in fighting a month ago against anti-Castro Cubans near the town of Bahianha in Havana province.

The Cuban-Americans who arrived aboard yesterday's refugee flight declined to give their names to newsmen for fear of reprisals against relatives left behind.

But they said that Russian soldiers in Cuba now are wearing the same olive green uniforms standard in the Cuban army. The Russians also are using Cuban army rank and insignia, they said.

In order to keep the Russian deaths secret the corpses of Russian soldiers killed were taken to the Cienfuegos Naval Base at Cayo Loco, Conte said.

Castro and his brother Raul, who is defense minister, attended services for two of the Russian dead, he added.

The exile leader said Raul Castro has had to shift his military operations headquarters from Santiago in Oriente Province to Colon in Matanzas Province because of a surge of rebel activity there.

Henry Would Appeal Charge

Hasn't Received Flint Contempt Citation

Pontiac attorney Milton R. Henry today said he would challenge the legality of a contempt of court charge issued against him in Flint Thursday.

Henry, a Pontiac city commissioner, said he hasn't as yet received a contempt citation.

Genesee County Circuit Judge Louis D. McGregor told Henry he would cite him for contempt when Henry was late in arriving for a hearing before McGregor.

Henry said he would appeal Judge McGregor's actions to the State Supreme Court if contempt charges are filed against him.

"There was no willful contempt or disobedience of the court on my part," he said.

APPEALS CONVICTION
Henry was representing Harold Liston, 54, of Flint.

Liston was appealing to Circuit Court an earlier conviction in Flint Municipal Court on an assault and battery charge, a misdemeanor.

Liston's case was scheduled for Thursday morning. Henry said he was in Federal District Court in Detroit where he is representing a client.

Red Threat in Brazil Politics Closing U.S. Purse Strings

WASHINGTON (AP)—An official U.S. statement that Communists have bored into Brazil's government put new steam today into a congressional movement to bar aid to the huge, trouble-racked South American country.

INFILTRATE LABOR
On Thursday, a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee issued a transcript of testimony attributing the following statement to Lincoln Gordon, U.S. Ambassador to Brazil: "The number (the Communists in Brazil) is small but their influence is much larger than those numbers would suggest. The principal field of infiltration and influence is in the labor unions."

"In the government itself there has been infiltration. The student movement is another major area of penetration, with the National Student Union now being dominated by Communists."

This statement was reported to have brought a hot, indignant reaction in government circles in Brasilia. Evidently, the State Department felt Gordon might meet an embarrassing reception when he returned there.

The department got out a statement saying the remarks had been submitted to the House subcommittee by the department itself, not by Gordon.

Still later it was explained that the department and Gordon were really in accord on the remarks.

REDS OUTLAWED
The Communist Party is outlawed in Brazil and no known Communists hold important posts in the government. However, the party operates openly and six men it backed in last October's election won seats in the Chamber of Deputies. Also, left wing nationalists hold several high offices.

Brazil's foreign minister, Hermes Lima, expressed regret over the state department's assertion.

Goulart declined immediate comment, although he said he might have a statement later.

Meanwhile, his leftist brother-in-law, Deputy Leonel Brizola, an anti-American firebrand, said of Gordon: "He doesn't have the minimum respect for Brazil's sovereignty."

In Washington, Rep. William H. Marsh Jr., R-Ohio, called attention to a recent acknowledgment by Dantas, said of aid money would be "used in part to promote trade with all countries, including Russia."

"At a time when we are using American tax dollars in the alliance for progress to try to strengthen Latin America against Communism," Marsh said, "it would be an exercise in futility to turn over money to Brazil so it can promote trade with Russia."

The observation continues with parades today—in New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago, Sunday—in Holyoke, Mass., and Monday in Boston, among other places.

Surprising, isn't it, that March 15, 16, 17 and 18 all rhyme with you-know-what color? — the same color, incidentally, that they'll dye the Chicago River at State Street.

The New York parade, ordinarily the biggest of the lot because of the size of the Irish population here, starts at Fifth Avenue and 44th Street and proceeds north to 86th Street.

FALLS ON SUNDAY
Although St. Patrick's Day actually falls on Sunday, there are various and sundry reasons—including, perchance, a bit of Irish influence—for spreading the observance over several days.

St. Pat's Holidays
NEW YORK (AP)—It makes no difference if your name is Green, if you're sportin' a green tie or if you're just plain green with envy (of the Irish—who else?). Almost everybody gets into the St. Patrick's Day spirit.

From that long green line up New York's Fifth Avenue to the green ink that the postmistress of Erin, N.Y., will use to cancel stamps — the color is virtually inescapable this time of year.

The four-day holiday observance began Friday when the Rhode Island General Assembly got its Irish up and when the Loyal Irish Sons of Erin held a feast commemorating both St. Pat's Purim—and sure there must have been a Green in the crowd.

Arabic Reunification Nearing Final Stage

From Our News Wires
CAIRO — Final details of a union linking the United Arab Republic and Iraq were being hammered out here today with the main issue still how close the ties should be.

U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser seemed certain to head the new federation and his neutral Arab Socialist views are expected to dominate it.

A final communique is expected after today's session which followed a general agreement to unify the three Arab states, worked out at meetings totaling 15 hours.

According to reliable sources, the new union would be a federation of the three countries with each retaining its separate identity, but under some form of central government with one chief executive.

The agreement must be ratified by plebiscite in the three countries before the new union can be officially formed. Approval is regarded as virtually certain.

The movement toward Arab unity seemed under way again after the blow it received when Syria broke away from Egypt in 1961. Since then, pro-Nasser revolutions have taken over in Syria and Iraq. A new pro-Nasser regime has also risen in Yemen, and its leaders said Friday they would like to join whatever union is set up.

Indications were that during the negotiations Nasser had to acknowledge the influence of the Ba'ath Socialist Party, for which he has had no use in the past. The Ba'ath played a large role in the Syrian and Iraqi uprisings. Many of its members oppose too rigid an Arab union.

Missing Plane Still Unsighted

From Our News Wires
SANTIAGO, Chile — Land and air patrols hunted fruitlessly today for a four-engine Bolivian airliner missing with 41 persons from a dozen countries, including two identified as Americans.

The plane was believed to have crashed yesterday in a sparsely settled area near the frontier Chile shares with Bolivia. The two nations temporarily shelved a border dispute to join in the search.

One of the 36 passengers was Leon Bornstein of Miami, Fla., who operated a cotton business in La Paz, Bolivia.

A Robert McCormick was another aboard. He was first listed as British, but the U.S. consul at Antofagasta said that a New York lawyer of that name had been in Arica, a port city from which the missing plane had left for La Paz, Bolivia, and that it was presumed he was on board.

This was subject to confirmation. Also aboard the missing plane were Gustaf Westerling, 63, former chief of staff of the Swedish Air Force, and Lars Nilsson, both of the Atlas Corp.

The R4D transport was ferrying the reservists from St. Louis to the Memphis Naval Air Station for weekend training when one of its two engines failed. The pilot was trying to land under emergency conditions in rain and thick fog.

County to Restrict Weight Monday

Load restrictions on two stretches of state highway in the county were to go into effect at noon today.

County restrictions for the spring thaw period apply to all county roads, according to Thomas Kennedy of the road commission.

State highways affected by the restrictions are Auburn Road (MSA) between Adams Road and Rochester Road and Rochester Road (M150) north of the Village of Rochester.

All other state highways in the county are part of the state's network of "all-season" roads designed as frost-free by the State Highway Department. They will have no spring weight restrictions on regular loads.

Twenty-two miles of M15 from the I-75 freeway at Clarkston to M21 in Genesee County have been added to the "all-season" network, the state highway department announced yesterday.

Thirty-five miles of I-75 freeway from Pontiac to a point near Flint and 3 1/2 miles of M59 from Pontiac to Auburn Heights were added to the frost-free highway system last month.

County restrictions call for a 25 percent load reduction on concrete roads and 35 percent on blacktop and gravel roads.

Weight restrictions are imposed every spring to keep heavy truck loads from damaging highways.

State highway department restrictions now cover all highways in the all-season system from the Ohio and Indiana state lines to and including M55 between Manistee and Tawas City.

DISCUSS UNION TITLE
The authoritative Cairo daily newspaper Al-Ahram said delegates at the Cairo summit also discussed possibility of naming the union the United Arab Republic — which was the name first applied to the union between Egypt and Syria in 1958 and returned by Egypt after Syria broke away from the merger in 1961. A common parliament also would be established.

The newspaper said Nasser repeatedly stressed in the talks that the U.A.R. is ready to carry unity to any extent wanted by the Arab countries as long as they share "unity of aim."

But Nasser insisted the countries "will not take any step or adopt any position unless it is fully assured and convinced of feasibility of its implementation and preservation of its objective," the newspaper said.

K's Undecided on Trip to Peking

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was on a trip south of Moscow today, apparently undecided about a possible trip to Peking to try to patch up his quarrel with the Red Chinese.

Diplomatic circles, doubted that Khrushchev would go to Communist China because of the loss of prestige it could involve.

Some Western observers, however, did not exclude that he might do so to demonstrate to what lengths he is prepared to go to settle the dispute.

The official Soviet news agency Tass reported that Khrushchev arrived in Kursk about 20 miles south of Moscow last night after visiting Tula.

He apparently lost no time in visiting a synthetic fiber plant and giving some advice on boosting production.

The aim of Khrushchev's current trip has not been announced officially, but it was believed the Soviet leader might be heading for Gagra, on the Black Sea, where he usually takes a working vacation in midwinter.

As Khrushchev headed southward, the sharpness of the Sino-Soviet quarrel was illustrated.

He received on tours of Miami, San Francisco and Chicago.

More of the same is expected when the committee visits Philadelphia, the other city bidding for the convention.

Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, former Democratic Gov. John E. Swanson, Democratic congressman Neil Stanley and other state and city dignitaries, gave the visitors a red carpet tour of Detroit's convention facilities.

A police escort picked up their motorcade from a downtown hotel and stayed with them through the entire tour.

Electric cars transported them through the $55-million Cobo Hall and Convention Arena. Bailey described it as "one of the greatest halls I have ever seen."

The tools and $5 in change were stolen from Paul's Seat Covers, located in the same building with Custom Color.

accused of revisionism and crises were raised for their removal."

This charge was contained in the February issue of the journal, approved for publication Jan. 22, 1963.

This was before the Communist Chinese agreed to stop publishing polemical articles attacking the Soviet Union, but shortly after Khrushchev called for a halt to polemics in mid-January at the East German Socialist Unity party congress in East Berlin.

Western observers said that in coming weeks, Khrushchev was likely to be occupied with the Sino-Soviet rift and planning future moves.

They said it was considered possible Khrushchev might decide to send a delegation of second-rank to Peking to avoid loss of face.

Auto Exec Warns Industry of Destroying Public Trust

DETROIT (AP) — The current boom in auto sales could turn out to be nothing more than a loud fizzle if the public suddenly loses confidence in the economy, a leading auto executive told the Adcraft Club of Detroit yesterday.

Virgil E. Boyd, vice president and group executive for automotive sales for Chrysler Corp., said that if the auto industry is to maintain and increase the level of consumer confidence which is so vital to it "we are going to have to answer some very basic questions about integrity—in the product, in sales and in advertising."

Boyd posed these questions:

1. Is it really true the industry is building the best quality and most reliable automobiles it can build?

2. Is the motorist getting the kind of treatment from dealers that he should have?

3. Is all auto advertising absolutely true? Does every car's performance—win, place, show or even also-ran—justify the extravagant advertising claims that invariably follow economy and performance capabilities and the durability of these all-out racing machines are inherent in standard production cars?

"These are very basic questions," Boyd said, "but they are important questions. And the answers that the automobile industry comes up with will determine in large part the measure of our success in the years ahead."

From the same platform last month Roy Abernethy, president of American Motors, decried the return to racing of some of the auto companies. One of the companies is Ford, and today Boyd, without naming it, also attacked current Ford advertising.

Boyd asked: "Is it right to imply through advertising that a special automobile which is winning circuit racing events can be bought in a dealer's showroom, when in reality it cannot be bought anywhere, at any price."

"Or is it right even to imply through advertising that the high-

Goren, Jacoby

Bridge Champs Feud

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Charles Goren and Oswald Jacoby, old warriors of the game of bridge, renewed a 20-year feud today over who's the world's best player.

Goren, 62, and Jacoby, 60, said in an interview each is better than the other. Neither is an introvert. "I don't have to rely on gimmicks like challenges to keep my reputation," Goren said. "My credo is dignity and that is why I have never participated in any 'showdown' playoff with anyone. In fact, I have studiously avoided it."

Jacoby repeated his offer to play Goren anytime. "But, of course, Goren won't play me. Why, if you asked the top 100 bridge players to name the best four, I'd be one. Goren might make 5 per cent of the lists."

STRICTLY GLORY
The two, probably the nation's most publicized bridge players, joined 3,000 others in the American Contract Bridge League's spring nationals here. They are playing, Jacoby said, "strictly for glory, for fun, or both."

Each is seeking bridge's top trophy—the blue ribbon team-championship for the Vanderbilt Cup and the McKenney Trophy.

"I understand I have already won the McKenney Trophy," Jacoby said. "I have little doubt I'll be in on the Vanderbilt Cup."

Goren, who plays in only three tournaments a year and spends most of his time traveling and writing syndicated columns, said he could win it all. "But I've already won more than 40 national bridge championships, so why should I knock myself out trying for more?"

35 BOOKS
Goren, a bachelor who could pass for a college professor or diplomat, said he has written 35 books on bridge with a total circulation of eight million copies. "That's more than all other bridge writers in the history of the world," he said.

Jacoby, a fast-talking, white-haired former naval officer, said he doesn't confine his writing to bridge. "I'm an authority on poker, gin and just about any card game you can name—and I write about all of them." He said his books have sold two million copies.

Girl Scouts Important to Country's Future

Congratulations are in order to the Girl Scouts of America on the 51st anniversary of the organization.

This movement has been of inestimable benefit to our country, and to young womanhood by preparing them for their future responsibilities as homemakers and mothers.

Regardless of a scout's inclinations, there is something to interest every enrollee, since the program covers the broad field of nature, the arts, homemaking and geography. Learning about other countries, they even meet girls from other lands.

Although membership participation is of the greatest importance, the leadership is no less vital in keeping alive scouting interest and inculcating the organizational spirit in the young troopers.

Our area has been blessed with hundreds of dedicated women who, despite family and business demands on their time, have given countless hours of planning and hard work to their troops.

Their reward, as so often expressed, is the stimulation and fulfillment that comes from working with the young brownies, the older intermediates and the more mature senior scouts on the threshold of womanhood.

We render a snappy salute to scouts and leaders on the praiseworthy job that has been done in raising their activity to the high position it occupies in the American way of life.

United States Right in Backing Betancourt

One of the few things President KENNEDY and Cuban Premier FIDEL CASTRO are in agreement on is the No. 1 Communist target in Latin America.

President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela has been combating Communist terrorism for three years. To date he has done a pretty good job.

Red saboteurs, some trained in Cuba and supplied by the CASTRO regime with tools of their trade, stepped up the terror campaign in the streets of Caracas and in the Venezuelan oil fields during and following the Cuban missile crisis last autumn.

Just recently, they tried to make things too hot for Betancourt to carry out his planned trip to Washington. The latest acts of sabotage, and more to be expected in the weeks and months ahead, appear to be aimed at forcing cancellation of national elections scheduled for next December.

Success in this objective would be a heavy blow to the future of democracy in Latin America. A peaceful transfer of power from one elected government to another, for the first time in Venezuelan history, is a prime aim of the BETANCOURT government.

In the statement issued at the conclusion of Betancourt's conferences in Washington, Feb. 20, President Kennedy pledged "full support to Venezuela in combating the all-out campaign of the international Communists, aided especially by their Cuban allies, to overthrow the constitutional government."

Since BETANCOURT became president in 1959, Venezuela has made economic strides in the right direction. But perhaps BETANCOURT's major achievement has been his success in staying in office for more than four years of a five-year term, despite attempted coups by the supporters of former dictator, Gen. PEREZ JIMENEZ, and the Communist terror campaign.

The idea of the opposition is to overthrow Betancourt and to install a national liberation government like that of Castro, or to have a military upset which would end in dictatorship.

President KENNEDY is absolutely right in backing the BETANCOURT government and attempting to stop Castroism right where it is.

And furthermore, it is sound judgment on the part of the United States to send military help to any Latin American nation threatened with a Communist take-over.

The Man About Town

MAT Gets About

Finds Farmer-Naturalist Wild About Wildflowers

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Although he would be the first to deny it, the Brandon Twp. farmer pictured played an important part in getting Michigan's pheasant-propagation program off to a flying start, nearly a half-century ago, with his assistance to the Conservation Department. In addition to his counsel, 160 cock pheasants were supplied from Ed Jewett's (of early radio fame) Bloomfield Game Farm at Pine Lake, of which

Alex Solley was gamekeeper. My friend, whose resemblance to Ike Eisenhower has often been noted, took up farming in 1913, at which he has made a substantial success in a calling on the economic decline in recent years.

He is a great lover of wildflowers, and his 600 acres are the home of an estimated 200 species—several of the rarest thriving in a now unweeded gravel pit.

Two of the choice ones that caught the MAT's interest, are the Feathered Geranium, which so far as is known is seen nowhere else in the state, and the Pitcher Plant. This is an ingenious organism that grows up to a dozen pods. They craftily collect moisture into which insects are drawn—thus providing nourishment for the plant. And you can see your calendar by the Wild Orchids that appear June 15 for a 10-day stay.

Many delegations as well as lone wildflower enthusiasts have roamed the farm, and all are most welcome.

Last year, among a variety of sunflowers that grew in many areas, Mr. S. came up with a couple of whoppers. One had an 18" diameter head, and the stalk of the other held 106-repeat 106-assorted-size blooms.

If my friend were not one of strict truthfulness and sobriety, I might have suspected, when he related that phenomenon, that his 45 milking Holsteins (from a herd of 125) had been sipping their milk!

As I drove off, the naturalist called to relay an invitation to one and all to stop by and avail themselves of a few of the store of seeds remaining from the giant sunflower head.

Maybe, in view of all this, the future will see the metamorphosis of the fairy tale "Jack and the Beanstalk" into "Alex and the Sunflower Stalk."

"Count Your Blessings," says Hazen S. Briggs of Rochester, and continues: "With so much being said regarding the pigeons, and having been annoyed by one, I have come to the undisputed conclusion, after due deliberation and forethought, that it is a good thing that crows don't fly." . . . To which we append a solemn Amen.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

William Cullen Bryant found in nature a witness to the power of faith. Even as a famous journalist and poet, he never outgrew the influences of his youth. Born in a family of Puritan and Pilgrim ancestry, he grew up in a western Massachusetts village pervaded by a deep religious spirit, and there gazed with awe on spectacles of nature that he saw as symbols of God's beauty and power.

Early in life he expressed in poems such as "A Forest Hymn" the faith he found in nature—

The groves were God's first temples. Ere man learned To hew the shaft, and lay the architecture, And spread the roof above them . . .

Father, thy hand Hath reared these venerable columns, thou Didst weave this verdant roof. Thou didst look down Upon the naked earth, and, forthwith, rose All these fair ranks on trees. . . .

As now they stand, massy, and tall, and dark, Fit shrine for humble worshiper to hold Communion with his Maker.

Days of All Faiths:

Sunday Crowds Out St. Patrick

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Few people or things would have the audacity to push the great St. Patrick around, but when his day falls on a Sunday in Lent the Sunday takes precedence over him. He was crowded out this year, but it was a poor victory for the Sunday. St. Patrick just moved forward to today, a day earlier. It is safe to bet that in actual practice it will be the Sunday that gets crowded out and the Irish patron's memory will be enthusiastically honored throughout the weekend, not only in Patrick's own land but in many American cities.

WHO WAS SHEELAH?

The day after St. Patrick's Day is known in Ireland as Sheelagh's Day. Who was Sheelagh? Was she Patrick's mother, or was she perhaps his wife? The pundits are not agreed, but they do not spend much time debating the question, for everyone is in full agreement on a far more important aspect of the matter. No one doubts that Sheelagh's memory is to be maintained by potatoes of whisky, or that the shamrock worn on St. Patrick's Day is to be kept and drowned in the glass.

The displacement of St. Patrick's Day to March 16 this year must pose a problem for Sheelagh. She cannot, as usual, fellow Patrick by only a day, for she cannot move up to Sunday, the 17th. If that day (Third Sunday in Lent) outranks Patrick himself, it certainly outranks Sheelagh.

It is a situation to tax the ingenuity of the Irish. But that ingenuity has been taxed many times before and has seldom been found unequal to any challenge. We may be confident that the sons of Erin will come up with a solution.

DR. LIVINGSTONE

On March 19, 1813 David Livingstone was born in the bleak country near Glasgow, Scotland. Destined to become the pioneer of medical missionaries to Africa, (a tradition represented in our time by Albert Schweitzer) young Livingstone started rather late on the road to his true life work.

Until he was 24 he worked in a Glasgow cotton factory. After that he began to prepare for the career that made him an immortal world figure. He studied theology, medicine, and the classics. By 1840 he was ready, and sailed for Africa to spread the rest of his life (33 more years) in that great unknown continent.

He made friends with the savage natives. He healed them, he taught, he preached, and by his life itself he showed them Christianity's great news that men can become the sons of God.

Along with his healing mission he found time both for writing and exploration. His writings, received with respect back in the outer world, did much to end the slave traffic and to open the dark continent to colonization. If the white man abused the new land and its people, Livingstone cannot be blamed for that. He was a good man, incapable of imagining the cruelties that can result from greed.

Livingstone died in Africa in 1873. He is buried in Westminster Abbey.

Washington Notebook:

Hikes Become Subject for Music

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Society song writer Gladys Shelley has come to the aid of Washington's 50-mile hikers with a new number called "The Kennedy Walk." Soon to be released on record, some of the verses go like this: I fell in love with you When I saw the hole in your shoe You got, doing The Kennedy Walk. Your vigan's makin' history But baby don't walk out on me, Doing the J. F. Kennedy Walk.

Some of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater's Missouri partisans turned their enthusiasm from the verbal to the visual at a Republican state gathering.

They set aside a "Goldwater Room" and papered it with various poster-like blowups. One showed a Kennedy-style PT boat, sliced in two, recalling the President's near-disastrous encounter with a Japanese destroyer in World War II. This cartoon bore the legend: "Goldwater Can Sink Him Again in '64."

Most intriguing exhibit featured some bottles with the label "Old Arizona Goldwater Perfume."

A newsmag suggested this mysterious concoction should be subtitled: "Provocative, but conservative."

Danish comedian Victor Borge, at a one-night performance in Washington's Constitution Hall, announced that, "the next portion of the program will be taped for the fighting men overseas. . . . De Gaulle and Macmillan."

Voice of the People:

'Memory of St. Patrick Belongs to Everyone'

There is much to be said for the wearing of the green. The tribute is to honor a man who stood tall in the corridors of time for his valiant fight for what he believed in. St. Patrick was Irish in spirit and mission, and hold in his convictions.

It is believed by some that in today's world Patrick might have been regarded as a protestant. So his memory belongs not to one church or group in particular, but to all men who believe intensely in something worth fighting for.

Provides Millage Enlightenment

An item in The Press reads: "The extra millage approved at the polls for 19 years in 1964 was earmarked by voters for new school construction and additions to existing schools." This is not correct. The ballot made no mention whatsoever what the money was to be used for.

To my knowledge no member of the board at that time made such a statement. It was to take care of added teachers and increased salaries and new buildings. This I am certain of and questioned at the time if it was lawful to do so in one package and was assured by both Glenn Griffin and Louis Schlemmer that it was and the ballot read just so much extra millage, a total of 3.75.

It is my understanding that the school board is going to have a citizens' committee to work with them to enlighten the public on the financial needs for the next 19 years.

'Unfair Coverage Given Policemen'

How come when a policeman does something wrong it is plastered all over the front page, but if he gets killed protecting others it is put in the back of the paper?

A Detroit policeman was killed and four others injured answering a family fight call. This appeared on page nine. Another Detroit policeman killed a man and this appeared all over the front page.

Doesn't a man who gave his life protecting others deserve front page news as much as the man who killed someone?

'Don't Want Pet? — Call the Shelter'

A few days ago a person took a dog and something to eat to a tree, told the dog to stay and then drove off. Our children saw this happen and each day they asked if the dog is still there.

This is not justifiable since we have an animal welfare. This is the fourth dog we have sheltered and fed. When you have eight children to feed there aren't many scraps left over to feed stray dogs.

Please call the animal shelter when you have an animal you no longer want. Leaving a dog is cruel and dangerous.

Charles B. "Bud" Wilkinson, Oklahoma football coach and special consultant to President Kennedy on physical fitness was asked if he thought there was any hope for Pierre Salinger over becoming physically fit. This was just after the White House press secretary had washed out during a 50-mile hike.

"I'd say that he's a bit more conscious of the problem now than he was before." Bud replied, "but since he can't enjoy a long walk today, he's not in condition to participate in sports."

Later in the session at which it was announced the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Standard Packaging Corp. would back a new, nationwide physical fitness leadership awards program, Wilkinson observed:

"We're emphasizing physical fitness for youth in this program, and that rules out Pierre."

Accused Killer Adored Singer

ROME (AP)—"I know it's insane to want to hold on to someone who no longer cares for you," Police said that was in a letter American opera star Frances McCann had in her purse when she was found shot dead in her room in a Rome hotel. The author, they said, was talent agent Ernest Arthur Boxmann, accused of pumping four bullets into the singer, then shooting himself in the head.

"But for me," the letter continued, "you will always be the most beautiful, adorable woman that God ever created."

Miss McCann, 41, was mature and lovely, with red hair and green eyes. Boxmann, 33, was puny and balding.

MARRIED WOMAN

She was a married woman with four children at home in Altadena, Calif., and a brilliant singing career in Europe.

Boxmann was a lonely bachelor from New York.

Today, she lies dead in a Rome morgue, her body torn by bullets. Boxmann tossed in delirium at a Rome hospital suffering from a head wound caused by a bullet from the same gun.

BUSINESS TRIP

Police said he killed her with four shots in her room at the Bernini-Bristol Hotel, returned to his own room down the hall and then, hours later, turned the gun against himself.

Her body, clad in a rose-colored nightgown, was found in a pool of blood Friday after Boxmann staggered into the hall. The bullet had entered his right temple and emerged from his forehead, leaving him badly but not critically injured.

BUSINESS TRIP

Boxmann and Miss McCann had arrived in Italy from West Berlin four days before. He told the hotel they were there on a business trip. She reportedly planned to make recordings here.

She was at the peak of her career. After film and stage appearances in the United States she had come to Europe seven years ago. Since 1961 she had sung regularly with the West Berlin Opera.

In California, her husband, J.

Walter Rodgers Jr., 47, a wholesale carpet salesman, learned the tragic news from a 17-year-old daughter, also named Frances. She had heard it on a car radio while driving to school.

The other children are Cynthia, 13, Walter III, 10, and Sally, 8.

Liz Keeps 'Em Waiting

PARIS (AP)—Bejeweled Elizabeth Taylor, on the arm of Richard Burton, came two hours late for Friday night's Paris premiere of "Lawrence of Arabia." But about 50 photographers and hundreds of onlookers still were waiting as they arrived at intermission.

The addition is scheduled for completion in July.

Price of Movie Career

Soraya May Lose Title, Cash

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—The decision of ex-Empress Soraya to take up a film career may cost her a title and a $4,000 monthly allowance from the Shah of Iran, informed sources said today.

Government officials said Shah Mohamed Reza Pahlavi has ordered a full investigation into Rome reports about his former wife "in order to take relevant steps."

Soraya, who was divorced from the shah in 1953 because she failed to produce a male heir to the peacock throne, announced in Rome yesterday she has signed a movie contract with Italian producer Dino de Laurentiis.

The 30-year-old green-eyed beauty said she had wanted to be a movie queen "ever since I was a little girl" but gave up her dream to play the real-life role of Empress of Iran.

"THINGS HAVE CHANGED"

"Now things have changed," she told a news conference in Rome.

Since her divorce, Soraya has had no job and has spent most of her time roaming the world's fashionable resorts.

She has been linked romantically with several international playboys, but has not remarried.

The shah gave her the title of princess and the $48,000-a-year stipend when he ended their childless marriage after seven years.

State Minister Jehangir Tafazzoli indicated a movie career for Soraya probably will mean loss of the title and allowance.

After consulting Premier Assadollah Alam and certain court officials, he said yesterday:

"While cinema stars often help create an atmosphere of understanding and friendship between peoples, certain roles they sometimes play are not compatible with the august position of princess."

"I would think it highly probable if Princess Soraya did not obtain permission from the Iranian court and participate in a film, she would lose forever her title of princess."

NO CONSULTATION

Sources close to the court said no such public announcement would have been made if the shah were not thinking of revoking the title. The sources said the allowance is linked to the title.

Soraya, who married the shah when she was 17 years old, said in Rome she did not consult her former husband before making the decision.

The shah now is married again and has two small children—one boy to continue his dynasty.

Colburn Raps Back at Dem

LANSING (U)—State Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn says Sen. Charles Blundy, D-Detroit, was wrong on every point in his Senate floor speech attacking Colburn for the handling of Blue Cross-Blue Shield rate increases.

He cited the 1959 acts under which the prepaid medical and hospital plans were set up in defending himself against Blundy's accusation that he was exceeding authority in demanding that certain policy changes be made.

"There is no limit to the insurance commissioner's authority to determine financial soundness of these organizations," said Colburn.

"The law provides for supervision and regulation of corporations by the commissioner."

Blundy angered fellow Democrats and delighted Republicans in the Senate yesterday when he made his anti-Colburn speech, accusing the official of acting beyond "the mandate of the legislature."

Colburn has served notice on the Blue plans that they must make certain policy changes or face loss of their proposed rate increases. Blue Cross seeks an average 29.3 increase, Blue Shield an average 33.3.

DEM'S DISCLAIMER

Democrats disclaimed their minority leader's attack on Colburn, a Democratic appointee of former Gov. John Swainson, saying Blundy wasn't speaking for them.

Republicans overruled Democratic attempts to silence Blundy, who charged Colburn's ultimatum to the Blue plans was the result of "youth, immaturity, his lack of business experience, political self-seeking or ineptness."

Colburn has served notice on the Blue plans that they must make certain policy changes or face loss of their proposed rate increases. Blue Cross seeks an average 29.3 increase, Blue Shield an average 33.3.

"The Blue plans are nonprofit medical care and hospital service corporations. They are not private corporations," said Colburn.

"Regarding my involvement with hospitals and doctors, I am merely saying that the Blue plans should be responsible to see that changes are made in policies affecting costs in participating hospitals and medical services.

"Nor am I attempting to impose my views on private voluntary community hospitals in doing business.

"None of these charges are factual. The only question in this case is whether the rate increases would be fair, reasonable and nondiscriminatory."

Pass 2 Bills for Expansion

LANSING (AP) — The House yesterday passed and sent to the Senate two basic bills in Gov. George Romney's economic expansion program. The bills had support from both parties and were approved by overwhelming margins.

One bill would authorize communities to issue revenue bonds to finance industrial facilities as an attraction to private business. It passed 82-18.

The other would enable creation of business development corporations to make loans to industries in order to get them off to a good start. It passed 89-3.

Rep. William Huffman, D-Madison Heights, was the only Democrat joining outstate Republicans in voting against the measures.

Action on a third bill to exempt small business investment corporations from the five-mill corporation franchise tax was postponed until Monday.

22 of Needed 38 States Ratify Antipoll Tax Rule

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twenty-two of the necessary 38 states including Michigan, have ratified the antipoll tax amendment to the constitution.

Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., is chief sponsor of the measure which would outlaw the payment of a poll tax as a requirement to vote in elections of federal officials.

Believes Competition in America Beneficial

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — If a European automobile manufacturer can't compete in the rough and tumble American market, he's not going to have much luck at home either.

That's the view of Vincent Grob, president of Renault, Inc., the American branch of the largest of the French auto companies.

"The United States is the very toughest market in the world," Grob says in his heavily accented English, "not only for product quality, but for merchandising."

"You must have a rugged product. You must be able to sell it. You learn about financing."

Grob maintains American experience will be vital to companies attempting to operate under the new European Common Market rules after benefiting for years from protective tariffs.

ONE REASON

And he cites this as one of two major reasons why Renault is willing to devote so much time, talent and energy to an area where it sold less than 30,000 cars in 1962.

The other reason, he says, is a firm belief the U.S. market can be developed to absorb at least 50,000 Renaults annually, or roughly 10 per cent of world-wide Renault sales.

"We will fight for this," Grob says.

Grob is a dynamic, 36-year-old Frenchman with a shock of curly black hair and a rugged handsomeness which causes women to become distressed when they learn he is married and has six children.

In the tradition of the new breed of American auto executives, Grob has a financial background. He was a financial expert for a French typewriter firm before joining Renault in 1959 and now acts as director of the accounting and budgeting division of the parent French company as well as serving as president of Renault, Inc.

REORGANIZATION

He admits frankly that most of his time since he came to the United States in 1961 has been devoted to a complete reorganization of the American company. Independent distributors have been bought out, dealers have been dropped and others added. Products have been changed.

Renault, Inc., had 330 employees when Grob arrived. Two years later it has 80. Grob said enough progress in reorganizing has been made that the company broke even financially last year while selling only 29,763 cars.

Ever since imports became a factor in the American market, Renault has been No. 2 in sales, always running in the beetle-shaped shadow of Volkswagen.

Renault sold 91,673 cars in the United States in 1960, only 29,000 behind Volkswagen and dreamed of overtaking the Germans. But as VW went up, Renault spun downward, falling even faster than the total import market.

Differences in heredity can produce profound differences in the way a person reacts to a drug.

Atlas Launch Vehicle

to Be Flown to Florida

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The Atlas launch vehicle scheduled to hurt astronaut Leroy Gordon Cooper aloft on a 22-orbit flight in May will be flown tonight to Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The silvery rocket bearing Cooper's signature of approval was to leave the General Dynamics-Astronautics plant by truck for nearby Miramar Naval Air Station this morning. An Air Force C133B cargo-master will transport the Atlas to Patrick Air Force Base near Cape Canaveral.

Break Engagement Quick! Be Ready for Verbal Arrows

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Don't tell me I'm a heel—I know it. I asked a girl to marry me and she said yes, and now I want out.

I'm no kid, Abby, (almost 40) and should have known better, but I got involved and spoke too soon. I even gave her a ring which she can keep. How do I break this engagement with the least amount of humiliation for her? She's making plans. There isn't anyone else. I just do not want to marry this girl.

HEEL

DEAR ABBY: Tell her IMMEDIATELY that you have changed your mind and do not want to settle down yet. She'll think you are cruel, inhuman, inconsiderate, immature, impulsive and a dozen other—but you'll be off the hook. It would be generous of you to allow her to tell her friends that SHE broke it off.

DEAR ABBY: Dad is 60 and I am 58. We have a married daughter who lives out of the state. Last week she wrote that she and her husband were breaking up after 12 years of marriage.

They have three school-age children. She wants me to come and stay with her children while she goes back to work.

I don't want to leave Dad alone, but I hate to let my daughter down. She didn't say for how long she would need me, but she's a very sel-

You Should Send Her Invitation

By The Emily Post Institute

Q. My husband is a medical student. A friend of his who is also a student at the same college, has invited his girl friend to come down here to a dance which is taking place in two weeks.

A. My husband and I have a four-room house a mile away from the college and we offered to let the young woman stay here with us the night of the dance.

I have never met her but know the man well. My husband thinks it is my place to write to the girl and invite her to stay with us. Is this necessary?

A. You should write her a note saying that you understand John Smith has invited her to come to his college dance the weekend of the 30th and that you will be very happy to have her spend the night at your house with you and your husband.

Q. I was to have been married at a large wedding two months ago. A week before the wedding, the invitation was recalled because of serious illness in the immediate family. The wedding is now going to take place the latter part of May.

I would like to know if it is necessary to send invitations to the same people. We would prefer, this time, to limit the guests to the immediate families and closest relatives. May we do this without causing hurt feelings?

A. Surely those not invited a second time will realize that because of the illness in your family your wedding plans have had to be changed, and their feelings should not be hurt at not being invited to the very small wedding yours is now going to be.

Q. When a girl has a date with a boy who has no car and she uses her car, may she pick him up at his house if it is on the way to where they are going, or must he come to the house for her?

A. If time is limited and they have to be somewhere at a certain time, an exception may be made, but under ordinary circumstances, he must come to her house for her.

Details concerning the announcing and christening of a baby are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "The New Baby." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

End Series of Lectures With Dinner

Pontiac Council of Pi Omicron National Sorority and Oakland University Division of Continuing Education closed their final lecture series Friday at a dinner meeting in the Oakland Room on campus.

The series was sponsored in conjunction with the Center for the Study of Liberal Education for Adults.

He is a former government researcher and former member of the Office of Strategic Services.

Mrs. Orvil Judd offered the invocation and Mrs. Robert Scharf of Pi Kappa Tau Chapter arranged the program.

Mrs. George Bickley will host the March 28 meeting in her Mechanic Street home.

Fashions for Spring

NEW YORK (NEA).—If you're chic, you'll be down at the heels this spring. The lower the heel, the higher the fashion.

Shoes for daytime bust short heels, starting at two inches and descending to pancake level. We can come down to earth after years of precarious teetering, and learn that working can be a pleasure with feet firmly planted on the ground.

Many of the new, soft, walking shoes have foam-cushioned insoles and are styled in grained leather in vivid reds, nutmeg, bone and black.

MANY STYLES

Among the many styles, there are updated moccasins, open-up sandals and spectators set on small, chunky stacked heels.

Crescent toes and the snipped, square toe have sent needle-heels packing. The new shapes add to walking comfort.

Flats were never dressier. Textured leathers, reptiles and patents mock more formal wear in pumps, T-straps and sandals, following fashion's decree that the less shoe, the more elegance.

To hear that LOWER heels mean HIGHER fashion, LESS shoe means MORE elegance and sturdy old FLATS are DRESSY may cause you to agree they get "curiouser and curouser."

But don't bother your head about these apparent contradictions. At least your feet will have easy going.

Clothes hooks of cast brass, black enameled, have animal faces, and smooth-pronged paws are made to hold toys, towels, sweaters and such. Ideal way to encourage neatness in a child.

Women's Section

Organize Sponsor Committee for OU Fall Leadership Institute

A sponsoring committee for the annual fall Institute on Oakland University was recently organized at a meeting of 25 group representatives. This committee will take over publicizing, printing, mailing, registration and hosting of the institute. It will also be involved in program planning for the institute.

Mrs. George Goble, corresponding secretary of the Oakland County Federation of Women's Clubs, is chairman of the new group. Vice chairman is Mrs. Charles H. Crawford of the Junior Pontiac Woman's Club.

Other Pontiac women serving on the committee are Vera Mae Adams, Pontiac Business and Professional Women; Mrs. A. F. Emsley, Amvets Auxiliary; Mary Johnson, Pontiac Chapter, National Association of Secretaries; Mrs. Ray Peterson, Omega Mu Sigma Sorority; Mrs. Merrill D. Petrie and Mrs. Richard Veazey, Pontiac City Federation of Women's Clubs; and Mrs. Carroll Welch, American Business Women's Association.

Birmingham representatives are Mrs. P. N. Askew, Village Woman's Club; Mrs. J. L. Barribeau, Birmingham Woman's Club; Mrs. Robert Campbell, Junior League of Birmingham; Mrs. George Elliot, Birmingham Democratic Club; and Mrs. John May, American Association of University Women.

Completing the list are Mrs. Eugene Alright, Rochester Tuesday Musicale; Mrs. Odes Case, Lake Orion PTA Council; Mrs. Allan Cunningham and Mrs. J. E. Frankenstein, Oakland County PTA Council; Margaret Mackenzie, Alpha Delta Kappa, Southfield; Mrs. L. H. Pate, Oakland County Kappa Delta Association; H. W. Robinson, Lake Orion Rotary Club; and Junior Woman's Club.

The Institute on Organizational Leadership was developed by the division of continuing education of Oakland University under direction of Mrs. Walter N. Jackson.

Its purpose is to provide a one-day annual training session for leaders of volunteer, civic, professional and business organizations.

The Institute, which has now grown to be a three-county affair, will continue to be under Mrs. Jackson's supervision.

Priest Probes Caves for Fall-Out Shelter

A 33-year-old priest who teaches mathematics at St. Henry's Preparatory Seminary, Belleville, Ill., has been helping convert Meramec Caverns, Stanton, Mo., into a fall-out shelter.

Rev. Paul Wightman, who belongs to a religious order known as "Oblate Fathers," has a hobby: exploring and mapping caves.

He created an electronic device which makes it simple for the investigation of underground caves.

When Lester B. Dill, operator of Meramec Caverns, wanted to convert his underground emporium into a fall-out shelter in case of national emergency he had a problem of getting into inaccessible underground passages to locate points on the surface topography for drilling escape hatches and air purification vents.

Mr. Dill called in his friend, Dr. Albert J. Frank, of Saint Louis University's department of geology and geological engineering.

Dr. Frank suggested that the Rev. Wightman's device would solve the problem. He was called after Dr. Frank surveyed the entire situation.

The Rev. Wightman's device best described as specialized directional radio transmitters and receivers for the location of points on the surface corresponding to locations underground, gave the cave the information it desired.

The Rev. Wightman was ordained in 1955. He has been interested in caves since 1948. The clergyman comes from Waterloo, Ill.

Deacons of the church will be in charge of devotions during the program at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow in St. James Missionary Baptist Church. Phyllis Vinegar will be mistress of ceremonies.

Detroit Man Guilty in Road Death

A 51-year-old Detroit man accused of leaving the scene of an accident in which a Fenton auto dealer was killed was convicted of negligent homicide Thursday.

Harold Quay was found guilty by Oakland County Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondoro at the end of a nonjury trial.

Quay had been charged with the more serious offense of manslaughter. The judge has the option of finding the accused guilty of a lesser crime.

The death of William McDaniel in an accident on Dixie Highway near Foster Road in Independence Township, resulted in the charge against Quay.

He was stopped on Dixie Highway by Waterford Township police minutes after the accident.

Witnesses said Quay's car hit McDaniel's and continued south on Dixie Highway, according to police.

Judge Dondoro set sentencing for April 3. Maximum penalty for negligent homicide is two years in prison.

background for LIVING

Fine Antiques in Old Home

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Pontiac Press Home Editor

A lifelong love of antiques and the desire for an informal, comfortable home has resulted in a gracious way of living for the Stanley Coddingtons of Waterford Township.

From the time a guest steps into the big open hallway and on into wide open rooms, there is a nostalgic feeling of the long ago when living was elegantly rugged.

White marble spreads over cherry tables like slabs of frosted snow. The mellow, old furnishings and muted color schemes blend in ageless beauty, and almost all of the Coddingtons' treasures are precious heirlooms.

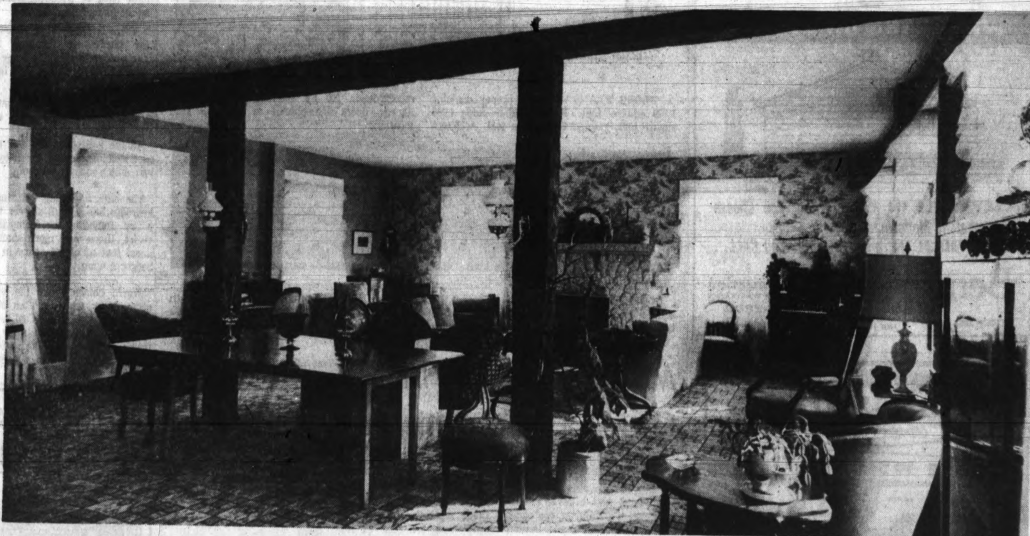

The original hand-hewn beams in the large living room are functional as well as decorative. The supporting beams rest on stone walls more than 18 inches thick, which was the way homes were built during the formation of early America.

Sparkling white ruffled curtains spill sunshine into the many old windows in the living room. The walls are soft Williamsburg blue trimmed with white woodwork. "His" and "Hers" chairs flank a lovely old Victorian sofa which has been upholstered in original horse hair material.

The large-sized den is overflowing with rare items that could never be replaced. However, they are arranged in such a way that nothing has that cluttered look. Each is displayed to the best advantage possible.

Lovely furniture of the past is repeated in the upstairs bedrooms. What were originally bedrooms have been turned into comfortable sitting rooms which adjoin main bedrooms. Ceilings are low, producing a friendlier atmosphere.

Although the kitchen has been modernized for more convenience there is still a hint that one day long ago, families gathered around a big table loaded with good food in the center of the room and gave thanks for their many blessings.

ROOM FOR HEIRLOOMS — This room, 36 feet long and 25 feet wide, is so arranged that no matter where you sit there is convenience for easy conversation. The old pump organ at the end of the room still works. Needlepoint chairs, cherry tables and oil lamps that have been electrified makes this room a nostalgic area for the Coddingtons. Two more hand hewn beams are concealed in the walls at each end of the center beam and all have been left just the way they were for more than 100 years. The table backing the sofa has drop leaves and ten people can be comfortably seated at one time.

Pontiac Press Photos by Phil Webb

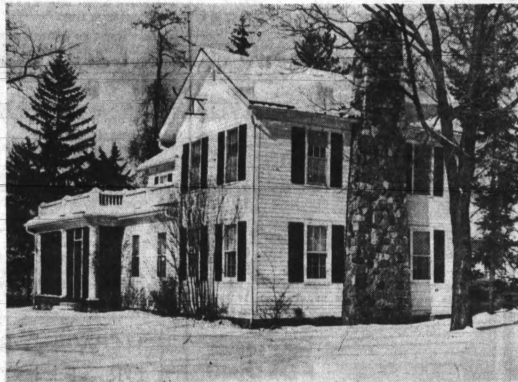

FOR SOLID SLEEPER — Almost every piece of furniture in the Coddingtons' big ten-roomed house has been handed down from one generation to another. This solid four postered maple bed is the focal point of the room and is flanked by two matching commodes from Ireland. Two of the upstairs bedrooms have adjoining sitting rooms.

GOOD OLD WORLD — This old globe is one of Stanley Coddington's favorite antiques. Although dark tan with age, the lettering and numbers are still distinguishable. Deep gold framed oil paintings, marble topped tables and rich mellowed wood makes living in the stately old house a pleasure.

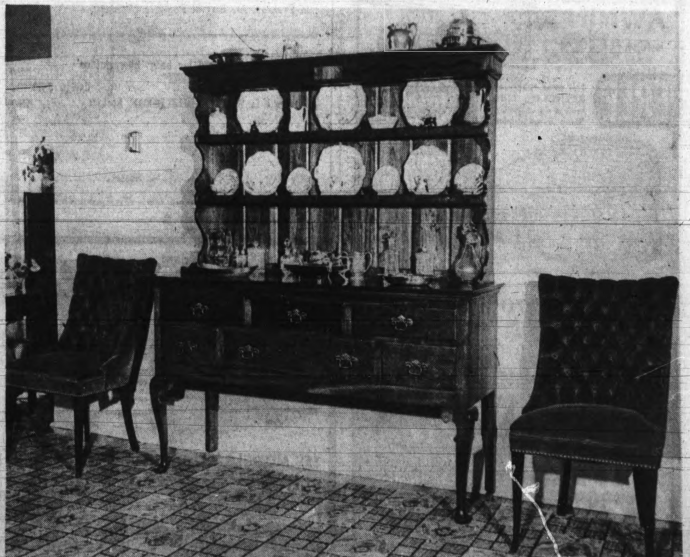

HOUSE WITH MEMORIES — Built in 1835, this lovely old house has been the scene of merriment, birth, death, love and sorrow. Each family that occupied it down through the years improved its mellowed beauty and Stanley Coddington and his wife have filled the rooms with cherished heirlooms. In the summer it's even lovelier nestled among the century-old oak and pine trees.

RESTFUL DEN — The former owners used this big room as a dining room, but the Coddingtons turned it into a comfortable den. The authentic old cobbler's bench to the right of the picture is practically a museum piece according to its owner. The dry sink at the end of the room holds fine old decanters and an electrified oil lamp.

LOVELY REPRODUCTION — That's what this cherry Welsh hutch is, which serves as a display cabinet for the rare old English Coalport dishes. The Coddingtons' have many unique heirlooms such as a little silver butter dish that has space underneath to put chopped ice. The two tufted chairs on either side of the hutch are dark red velvet.

United States wage earners have reached a life span of about 70 years average.

Extra Bathroom Space Hiding Under Stairs?

If your family is suffering from a bathroom shortage, space for more facilities may be found right under the stairs. There often are little-used closets or dead spaces under a stairway that offer an excellent location for a powder room or half-bath.

Most People Still Like One-Story Convenience

By JULES LOH

Despite the growing popularity of split-level and bi-level homes in our nation's suburbs, the clear preference of most home buyers is still for the convenience of one-story living.

The trouble is, most ranch type houses contain only three bedrooms, and as the average size of American families continues to grow, a great many people are having to settle for multilevel homes they would much prefer to avoid.

This violates the cardinal principle that the house should fit the family, instead of the other way around.

No four-bedroom family has to make any compromises in today's House of the Week.

It seems to have everything modern living demands, plus a number of dramatic extra features which bear the imprint of its imaginative designer, architect Samuel Paul.

The house is number 365 in the House of the Week series.

An example of Paul's skill at placing a good oil painting in a machine function with design is the floor-to-ceiling brick wall sweeping from front to rear, dividing the sleeping and living areas.

Clear separation of the bedrooms from the rest of the house, for reasons of both sight and sound, usually is an obstacle to good one-story design.

Paul has overcome it in a striking way.

Another creative touch is the played brick fireplace wall in the living room.

Generous use of brick as an interior material gives the house a sturdy, husky character balancing the bright airy tone resulting from broad expanses of glass in the living, dining and family rooms.

The interior brick also blends nicely with the brick veneer of the exterior.

"Retaining the same flavor inside and out isn't always easy to do," Paul said, "but it's important — just as important as placing a good oil painting in a machine function with design is the floor-to-ceiling brick wall

The house contains 1,879 square feet of living area not counting the oversized two-car garage with storage and work areas, the covered rear porch and the three exterior terraces.

There also is a partial basement beneath the living wing providing an additional 1,000 square feet for utility, recreation, hobby and storage space. Overall dimensions are 85 feet, 1 inch wide by 36 feet, 1 inch deep.

The spacious entry foyer is equipped with two large closets — the kind of facilities a large family needs.

From the front door the view extends clear through the house and on out to the rear dining terrace which features a pierced brick continuation of the interior brick wall.

The kitchen is convenient to both formal and informal living areas and is nicely laid out to provide a maximum of counter and cabinet space in a minimum of room.

Double windows over the sink afford fine backyard supervision.

An attractive breakfast bar with overhanging cabinets creates an effective separation from the family room without sacrificing the unity the two rooms should have.

ROOM DIVIDERS

Similarly, wood folding doors divide living room and family room; opened, the two rooms combine into a spacious entertaining area.

Four large windows, extending nearly from floor to ceiling, plus a glass door, assure plenty of natural light in the family room as well as up to date styling.

The family room is also equipped with a closet and space for built-in cabinets and a TV set.

Beyond the family room a lavatory is in an excellent location, handy not only to the housewife but also the kids in the backyard and the husband in the garage workshop.

The small foyer at this point, leading to the cellar stairs, garage and covered porch, will effectively keep traffic and congestion out of the kitchen area.

While the fireplace wall plainly is the eye-catcher in the living room, don't overlook the dramatic bank of windows overlooking the formal front terrace.

There is plenty of opportunity for interesting furniture arrangements in this handsome 20 foot, 8 inch by 13 feet by 4 inch room.

The bedroom wing has a straightforward floor plan with a minimum of hall space.

All the bedrooms are well proportioned, especially the 16-by-11 foot, 4-inch master bedroom.

The bath adjoining the master bedroom has a stall shower with a seat. Including the roomy linen closet, there are more than 21 linear feet of closet space in the bedroom wing.

Warm colors make the walls seem closer, which is often desirable in a large room. Cool colors make the walls seem more remote; also establish the sense of relaxation essential to a sleeping or study area.

Penetrating Finishes. Makes Tougher Floor

For a finish that will wear and require very little upkeep, many experts recommend a penetrating floor finish. This can be applied only to bare wood, new floors or floors from which the old finish has been removed with a power sander.

The finish penetrates the fibers of the wood, binds them together and strengthens them. There is no film left on the surface to be abraded or scratched. This type finish wears away only as the wood itself wears away.

Permanence Good in Home

Some moderns scoff at the idea of a "permanent home."

Their arguments go something like this: "With population shifts, job transfers and the like, chances are slim that a family will occupy any one home for 20 or 25 years, if that long. So why pay a premium for permanence, when you don't need it?"

There are some dangerous fallacies in this opinion.

While it's true that many families move after a few years of occupancy, you don't discard a house, like an old shoe. There's still the matter of resale value to consider.

It's also a fact that a dwelling with the character of permanence automatically assures the best possible resale price.

Beyond that, the owner enjoys the lowest possible maintenance and service costs during the period of occupancy. What's more—and contrary to some opinion—the quality of permanence is one of the least expensive things a home can have.

The ingredients of permanence are skilled design and construction, blended with good quality materials. Such a mixture is possible regardless of size of the building budget.

The services of an accomplished architect or builder should never be regarded as an unnecessary extravagance. His ability and "know-how" of the mechanics of construction should reduce, rather than run up the cost. Much the same applies to the use of good quality materials.

Mrs. Harold Wert Relaxes in Her Highly Efficient Kitchen

This Dream Kitchen's Built Right to Size

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Pontiac Press Home and Garden Editor

The dream of an ideally planned kitchen began to take form about a year ago, when Mrs. Harold Wert of 327 Liberty St. was teaching her extension group about household efficiency.

The pert little woman thought it would be a good idea if she "practiced what she preached" about having a place for everything—within arm's reach. Her kitchen's tiny—only eight feet square—but efficiency abounds.

The first thing that was changed was the back door. The old door would swing into the kitchen, grabbing off three feet of valuable space.

The Werts now have a neat fruitwood sliding door which is not only beneficial, but beautiful as well.

FORMICA SURFACING

Gold-speckled white formica lines the counters and working-area walls. Because she is rather short, Mrs. Wert had the counters lowered two inches.

Another counter was installed for use as a table under the counter. Two small stools can be pulled up for a friendly cup of coffee.

Every one of the under-counter cupboards pull out for easy accessibility. Near the bread drawer is a pull-out cutting board with knives. Underneath this are two vegetable bins.

The coffee and tea canisters are near the coffee and tea pots, and the flour and sugar canisters are across the room where the little lady does her baking.

PLENTY OF ELECTRICITY

And the electric outlets! The old kitchen had two, but now there are seven, plus two in the electric stove.

There are pull-out towel racks, pie pan and tray shelves, a couple of corner Lazy Susans with things that are for use in that particular spot.

Even the waste basket swings out on a door under the double sink.

One of the nicest features of this kitchen is the little built-in desk.

The telephone is hung at just the right height, and rather than the usual peg-board around the desk area, there is cork for hanging notes.

Two just-right-sized recipe drawers beside the desk make planning meals a snap. Sliding glass doors over the desk contain "company" dishes, fine glass and handpainted china. All the long hours of article clipping, research and creative imagination certainly paid off for this ambitious homemaker.

Many Families Happy

With Used-Home Buys

Should you buy a used home? Many families have had happy experiences with used homes.

With care in selection there is no reason why there can't be more. As long as permanent materials such as ceramic tile protect and beautify heavily used walls, floors and counter tops, you can be satisfied those areas won't require expensive redecorating.

Install Flooring in Jig Time

Thanks to manufacturing advances, even the rank amateur can now install a hardwood floor in less than eight hours—if he can drive a nail.

A special size of oak flooring designed for remodeling makes this possible.

The floor is only 3/4-inch thick, about half the thickness of regular oak strips. It lays right over old wood floors and installs so easily, says the manufacturer, that the do-it-yourselfer can begin in the morning and complete an average room in time for dinner.

There are no split tongues, bashed edges or sore thumbs to worry about because the home owner may use a small four-inch tool that guides nails and sets them at a proper depth. This unique tool consists of a nailing plate, fitted to the tongue edge, and a matching nail set. New techniques eliminate tedious sanding and finishing, too. For example, one brand comes pre-sanded, pre-finished, even pre-waxed from the factory, ready for immediate use as soon as the last nail is set.

Old Barn Hideaway Can Be Expensive

The annual search for old barns has begun. Highways and byways are being traveled in search of that bucolic dream scene complete with a barn, sugar house or water mill.

The aim is to remodel the hideaway and make it livable and cozy. Any advertisement that indicates there is a quiet retreat "that may be fixed up by a weekend handyman" is bound to corral a number of lookers.

Old barns are nostalgic edifices, a joy to own when your vintage point is from a house. But converting an old barn into a dwelling is another matter.

When entertaining the barn idea ask yourself a few questions. How much will it cost to remodel the barn whether you do it yourself or hire someone.

Owners get fabulous prices for old barns because of the demand. How much is the barn worth? Determine the price by finding out the going rate for acreage and deduct the cost of your acreage from the entire parcel. The sum left is the cost of the barn.

Is it worth it? Few barns are worth over $500. A well-kept large barn with good timbers may be worth as much as $1,500.

WATER? ELECTRICITY?

If the barn is dirt cheap, ask yourself why it is dirt cheap. Is running water available? Is there water in the well? Is there a well?

Is there electricity? If you are the type who must have electrical appliances and television to be happy, better determine that question.

Are the timbers good? If they are rotting, the barn must be completely rebuilt to be livable. Is the space adequate for your requirements, even though you plan to use the place for week-ends and vacations?

Even if a barn is left as is with slight necessary remodeling such as bathroom or kitchen, it will require windows and doors and old wood beams often are stronger than steel when you try to cut into them.

Check the roof. Leaky barns are not unheard of and chances are you will need a new roof.

Is there a storage area for storm windows, screens, outdoor furniture, garden equipment, toys?

Is the barn in an open section?

By PHYLIS BATTELLE.
NEW YORK — Alfred Hitchcock's new movie, which promises to offer technicolor terror at popular prices, has a cast of 16 humans and 28,000 birds.

It is called, appropriately, "The Birds," and is about how a skyful of crows, gulls and ravens swoop down and attempt to annihilate a

PHYLIS BATTELLE
swoop down and attempt to annihilate a townful of people.

Would Hitchcock call this a violence-packed movie? He was asked.

"No, no," he protested. "I would say it was comfortably violent. You sit there watching humans being murderously attacked by birds, comfortable in the knowledge that your love birds are home, nice and happy in their cages, twittering away to their heart's content. . . . Hitchcock leers. "Or are they?"

There's a moral to the movie too, "case you have to have a moral to condone your violence. The moral is that we are all selfishly complacent.

"The birds represent the things we've left undone, which may finally rise up and do us in. You might say the birds are symbolic of the race problem, mightn't you?"

Well at any rate, the moral is, why don't you treat birds better? Do you have to put them in cages?"

$3-MILLION FILM

It took 14 months and over $3 million to shoot this film, the great bulk of the time and money going for the technical problems of superimposing films of viciously attacking birds on films of scared, fleeing humans.

One scene, in which thousands of gulls screech down like dive bombers on a building, took three months of arduous work to finish. It takes 10 seconds on film.

But to the master of suspense and perfection, Hitchcock, the impact of that terrifying segment is worth the work; "Nobody," he says with restrained glee, "will know how it was done."

Not that all the bird attacks are superimposed special effects. Thirty-five hundred of the birds were trained to dive at the actors without hurting them.

Their beaks were bound to prevent them from biting such valuable human Hollywood properties as Rod Taylor, Suzanne Pleshette, Jessica Tandy and Hitchcock's new girl star, "Tippi" Hedren.

But a sea gull, however well trained, can be vicious, and Miss Hedren was scratched under one eye and bitten on the cheek.

"For one 15-second scene," Hitchcock recalls, "Miss Hedren stood in front of a door for seven days while the trainer threw ravens at her. She bore up well till we finally got the shot perfectly. Then, for some inexplicable reason, she was in bed for four days afterward."

During this interview, Hitchcock had his protegee, Miss Hedren, in the hotel suite at his side.

He admittedly is going all out, with money and publicity, to promote this petite, gentle blonde whom he "discovered" on a TV commercial for a dietary milk drink and has signed to a seven-year exclusive contract.

It has been mentioned frequently that he signed "Tippi" as another Grace Kelly. He denies any conscious attempt to "emulate Grace Kelly," while admitting that he believes the time has come to return "quote — ladies — unquote" to movies.

LADIES IN FILMS

"There was a period in this business, when such 'ladies' as Norma Shearer, Madeline Carroll, Carole Lombard, Joan Fontaine, Claudette Colbert, were the mainstays of the movie. The obvious blondes who were everything on the outside, leaving nothing to be discovered, were the exception."

Winning Bucket on Layup by Roger Hayward

Huskies Advance to State Quarter-finals

By JERE CRAIG

Pontiac Northern's Huskies hit off a man-sized chunk of tournament pressure Friday night, chewed it, almost choked on it, but found it very digestible when they were through.

Coach Dick Hall had some very uneasy moments as the home team never did relax but in the end it was a driving layup by sophomore sensation Roger Hayward with 0:30 showing on the clock that pulled PNH back from the brink of defeat for a 48-47 win over Livonia Bentley.

The roaring crowd of approximately 2,300 fans was on its feet in the final hectic minutes and many fans swarmed onto the floor although Bentley alert-ly called time with one second still to play.

When the players and officials had convinced the fans to return to their places, the game resumed with still one more thrill for the spectators.

Wayne Stevens, sharpshooting backliner who kept the Bulldogs in the game from the beginning and who hit a shot of better than 40 feet at the buzzer in the first half, took the pass inbound just behind the midcourt stripe and attempted to toss in another desperation basket.

Northern guard Mike Burklow, perhaps remembering Stevens' first half heroics, lunged and blocked the shot as the horn sounded. Bentley's pleading glances for a foul went for naught. There was no argument.

REGIONAL TITLE

The victory brought the Northern quintet its first regional tournament title. The Huskies will play tonight's winner in the Detroit Northwestern-Detroit Southwestern game in the state quarterfinal next Wednesday at either Hazel Park or the University of Detroit's Memorial Field House.

The win over the Bulldogs was accomplished under almost overwhelming pressure. It swamped to PNH playing floor from the opening tipoff and never decreased.

Both teams showed the effects with ragged floor play and inconsistent shooting. The Huskies ended with their lowest scoring total of the season, 48, falling under 50 for the first time this season.

But because of that, showing they could very well be a better team in their next outing, regardless of who and where they play.

For Roger Hayward it was his second consecutive standout performance in the high school playoffs. He led the PNH scoring with 16 points while brother Gary hit 13 and did a particularly fine defensive job on 6-5 Bill Bollin of Bentley.

Bollin tallied 26 points against Clarkson Wednesday night but he was exactly 26-points under that figure last night. The Buldogs top gun was Stevens with 22 while Roland Kent hit 10.

The visitors, riding the momentum of a 13-game winning streak broke to a 5-1 advantage in the first quarter. Northern rallied its forces and tied the score, 8-8, with 1:50 remaining in the first quarter.

A Gary Hayward field goal 53 seconds later put the Huskies in front and they stayed there throughout the second and third periods. Their biggest margin came at 2:38 of the third quarter on a jump shot by Roger Hayward that made it, 38-29.

Five straight points by the losers narrowed the gap almost immediately and it was 42-37 when the period ended.

Jerry Reese put in a bucket to start the final period; but the Bulldogs were just getting warmed up. Three different players put in two points apiece and the gap was one point.

Roger Hayward connected on one of two fouls and the scoreboard read 45-43 with 2:11 remaining. Again Bentley retaliated with a Vern Bergman layup tying the count at 1:41, and 17 seconds later he converted one of two free throws for a 46-45 Bentley advantage.

PNH fired away and missed with the visitors controlling the rebound.

Jim Storm connected on one of two free throws to stretch the lead to 47-45 with 45 seconds to play. Again PNH came down and fired a long desperation shot and it fell short.

Stevens then missed the first of a one-and-one situation from the charity stripe and the Huskies had the ball with 27 seconds left. This time reserve guard Jimmy DeFuria drew a two-shot foul. He hit the first with 0:1 remaining making the count, 47-46.

After a time out he missed the second and Kent grabbed the loose ball in the corner. But Gary Hayward tied him up and forced a jump ball.

The leaping Husky tipped the basketball into the deep backcourt where Burklow recovered and signaled for time out. The

"Cool, man cool!"

That was red-faced Pontiac Northern coach Dick Hall talking after last night's 48-47 heart stopping victory over Livonia Bentley.

He certainly wasn't talking about himself as the prepiration rolled from his forehead. And he wasn't talking about the screaming crowd or the bedlam that followed when Roger Hayward took two dribbles and drove in

Hayward, the 6-3 sophomore who very often appears to be deaf to crowd screams and emotionless during such high tension, called it "the biggest bucket I ever made."

This covers 20 games and a record of 17 wins and three losses this season only.

"I drove hoping for the bucket or the foul. If I couldn't get inside I was to pass off to Gary and let him take the jump shot," said Roger.

"The Livonia player (Roland Kent) was right on top of me, then suddenly he pulled off and I had a clear shot," he added.

It wasn't Northern's best game. In fact, Hall himself admitted the Huskies had one of their poorer nights, but he commented, "If we play a poor game and we win, what better time is there to get it out of our system?"

RIGHT DOWN THE MIDDLE — Pontiac Northern's team captain Gary Hayward sails gracefully through the air to score a field goal at the start of the second quarter last night. Helpful to halt the high-flying Huskie are Jim Storm (43) and Wayne Stevens (23) of Livonia Bentley. Following the play are Bill Bollin (51) of the Bulldogs and Roger Hayward (54) of PNH. In the background can be seen some of the standing room only throng of more than 2,300 spectators who crowded into the PNH gym for the regional final clash last night.

HERO IN ACTION — PNH's sophomore sharpshooter Roger Hayward (54) hit one of the biggest field goals in his young life last night when he tallied a layup with three seconds left in the game to give the Huskies a 48-47 victory and a regional playoff title over Livonia Bentley. Here he breaks loose in the second quarter and misses a backcourt shot under the basket.

RIVAL COMMENTS

Bill Foley, Catholic Central coach who was whipped 79-52 Tuesday night by PNH, was a pro-Northern spectator last night.

"Northern was the better team and they are better than what they showed against Bentley," he commented.

Foley, who has seen many of the Detroit schools play this season, including Northwestern and Southwestern, the winner of which will play PNH next Wednesday in the quarterfinals, added, "this Northern team needn't underestimate itself. They have enough to go all the way. They told us we didn't have a chance in 1961 either and we did it." (Speaking of the 1961 Catholic Central state champions)

BULLDOG DENIED — Livonia Bentley's 6-5 center Bill Bollin (51) was held to only six points in last night's regional final at PNH and it was fine defensive work like that above by Northern's Wayne Daniels (44) and Gary Hayward that was chiefly responsible. The two Huskies also turned in fine jobs on the defensive backboards.

Crown 5 Regional Basketball Champs

By United Press International

The first five regional champions were crowned last night, while 52 other clubs were eagerly looking forward to today's battles for the other 27 berths in the quarter-finals of the state prep basketball tournament.

But the big surprise came in the topsy-turvy Class C race as 1961 state champion Grosse Pointe St. Paul was ousted in the regional finals by Detroit St. Thomas, 58-53.

St. Paul, which knocked off top-rated Capar in that hectic thriller Thursday night, couldn't come back up against the St. Thomas team which handed the Lakers their only defeat this year.

Imlay City advanced to the Class C regional final round at Bay City by defeating BC St. Joseph 61-49, behind the one-man show of lanky Tom Hall Friday night.

The 6-3 forward hit 15 of the winners' 19 field goals in the contest, and added 13 of 15 foul throws for a 43-point performance.

The Spartans held only a 27-26 lead at halftime, and trailed 39-37 late in the third quarter. But they ran off a string of nine straight points to move into an unsurmountable advantage early in the last period.

Imlay City will meet Flint Holy Redeemer, 74-58 conqueror of Saginaw St. Mary, in the title game tonight.

EAST LANSING (AP) — Royal Oak Kimball will take a lead into tonight's final events of the Class A state high school swimming meets here.

They dominated two preliminary events — the 400-yard freestyle and diving — yesterday. The six fastest freestylers qualified for today's finals and 15 divers qualified for the semi-finals.

William McInerney of East Grand Rapids placed first in the diving competition with 121.20 points; Tom Gillan of Riverview came in second with 116.25; Don Gentry of Madison was third with 108.8, and Bill Bird of Riverview was fourth with 106.3.

Mike Smoots of Riverview won the freestyle in 4:18, and Glen Nucchi of Madison was second in 4:26.5.

Cinci Wins; but Not Mississippi State

By The Associated Press

The University of Cincinnati, beaten only once in 25 games this season, takes its second step in quest of an unprecedented third consecutive NCAA basketball championship tonight against brushed and battered Colorado of the Big Eight.

Both teams advanced to the finals of the midwest regionals Friday night at Lawrence, Kan. Cincinnati, No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll and king of the Missouri Valley Conference had to scramble to beat Texas of the Southwest Conference 73-60, while Colorado got past Oklahoma City, 78-72 after a tight midway in the second half that prompted both benches and king of the Missouri Valley Conference to turn into a free-for-all.

Burton Provokes Bowling Memory in ABC Triumph

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Nelson Burton Jr. aroused memories of his famous father when he took first place in the classic division all-events at the American Bowling Congress tournament yesterday.

Burton, 20, of St. Louis, piled up a nine-game total of 1,960 to drop Joe Joseph of Detroit, who had led the division since Feb. 28 with 1,928, to second place.

The new professional all-events leader is the son of Nelson Burton Sr., a leading candidate for bowling's Hall of Fame. The elder Burton finished third in Hall of Fame balloting this year behind Steve Nagy and Buzz Fazio.

Pontiac Boys Club Wins in Playoffs

The Pontiac Boys Club was slated to play its third state tournament basketball game in three days this morning after wins over Royal Oak and Redford teams.

The local team had a 10 a.m. quarter-final clash at Highland Park against the host team.

Waterford Rec. Champs Crowned in 3 Leagues

Waterford Township's recreation basketball program for fifth and sixth grade boys crowned four champions recently.

The Schoderl Pistons took the Waterford Center Bearcats who edged Adams Vikings, 31-10. "B" honors were dominated by the Donelson Gophers with a 14-12 victory over Houghton.

The Division A title went to the Division C crown by virtue of a slim 11-10 triumph over the Cooley Blue Devils; and the Burt quintet swamped the Pontiac Lake Colts, 14-4, in "D" play.

Jones in Title Match

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Willie Jones of Hillsdale College, competing in the unlimited class, advanced to the finals of the sixth annual NAIA wrestling tournament last night.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

From basketball to baseball and back to basketball plus a personal ding-dong battle with a nasty bug from Asia within a three week period certainly produced some noteworthy items to be mentioned.

Look at the Grapefruit League standings as of yesterday and the three teams from the bottom up are the way observers are picking the American League.

And the Tigers? Well, we would like to hold off on personal observations in the pennant race until sometime in April when the ridiculous openers will call for long underwear, blankets and predictions.

As for Lakeland? BOOOOO, HSSSS! Any place that greets its Northern visitors with flu bugs and rain doesn't deserve a kind word.

BACK TO BASKETBALL

Now back to basketball, and what a heart stopper to come back to last night — the Pontiac Northern 48-47 win over Livonia Bentley.

One thing is sure, the relatively new school on the Northside has come of age. Having beaten Pontiac Central twice in three games, the Huskies have stolen the show from the Chiefs for keeping the city well represented in state tournament play, having a city team in the quarterfinals for the 5th time in six years.

Now would be a good time for city cage fans, especially those from West Huron street, to show that the unfortunate brawl which took place when the cross town rivals met last week resulted only from the heat of battle.

Northern has no alumni of any great numbers and it will need all the vocal help it can get from the Orange and Black when the quarterfinals rolls along next Wednesday, probably at U. of D. or Hazel Park.

NEED AUDITORIUM

Because PNH has come of age, this should give the city fathers something to think about in the way of a much-needed civic auditorium.

More than 1,200 were turned away again last night at Northern for the regional finals and an arena with about 6,500 seats could make Pontiac a focal point for not only tournaments but other big sports and social events.

A spot right on Saginaw in the immediate civic center area surrounded with adequate parking would be one of the biggest boosts the city and downtown could want.

Where people gather there's life and where there's life there's business.

DITTOES FROM THE PRESS BOX

Very often in this column mention has been made about good and bad high school-relations.

We no longer have any doubts as to the poorest of 38 Oakland County schools as far as co-operation goes. Ferndale High is at the top of the poor list.

This opinion was finalized this week when a representative of The Press was denied entry to staff the Capac-St. Paul game despite all credentials which were presented.

It isn't a secret that Ferndale High school has had a history of poor relations with several Detroit working writers and even with other coaches who have the right to scout games.

The South County school ought to get off its high and mighty pedestal, someday the cream in the peach bowl will turn sour.

Griffith Is Even Choice to Keep Boxing Crown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Welterweight champion Emile Griffith may pay the price of a New York rates only an even chance to successfully defend his 147-pound title tonight against the challenger of Cuban refugee Louis Rodriguez.

The nationally televised, ABC, 15-round bout features a trio of world championship fights in the inaugural of boxing at Dodger Stadium.

Featherweight king Davey Moore battles another Cuban expatriate, Sugar Ramos, while Mexico's battling Torres goes against Roberto Cruz of the Philippines for the vacant junior welterweight title.

That 140-pound division was left without a leader when Italy's Duilio Loi retired.

Only the Griffith-Rodriguez scrap will be shown on TV, with the Los Angeles area blacked out.

Connie's Busy Recording in Different Languages

By EARL WILSON

"I'm going to record your song in Japanese, Spanish and Italian tomorrow night," Connie Francis, the No. 1 singing star, announced.

"All in one night?" I asked, surprised.

"Sure!" Connie, who was in town making personal appearances in theaters for her picture, "Follow the Boys," hardly looked up from her steak.

"I have to hit this girl over the head to keep her from working so hard," her father, George Francosero, said. "Sometimes I just walk away from her."

The following evening Connie recorded "It Happened Last Night."

A Japanese woman sat outside in an anteroom.

"That's Connie's Japanese teacher," Connie's secretary said, when we went inside the control booth.

Connie sat beside a well-fed, nicely dressed young man with a confident smile, who turned out to be her Italian teacher.

"Well"—Connie jumped up and addressed everybody—"let's not waste time." She popped out into the studio, to the mike.

Before I could get properly excited, Connie's secretary said, "What do you want to do about the Spanish teacher?"

"Forget about her for tonight," Connie said. "I've got nine songs to do in Japanese tonight. Anyway, I can do the Spanish myself."

WISH PD SAID THAT: One thing that puzzles us is how a woman with a heel the size of a postage stamp makes more noise than a guy with a heel the width of a canal boat.

McNamara May Ask to Testify

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara may ask to appear personally before the Senate subcommittee investigating the TFX fighter plane contract next week.

A defense spokesman also said yesterday he understood the investigation is bringing "nothing but grief" to the Boeing Co. of Seattle, Wash., which lost the bid for the multibillion dollar TFX to General Dynamics at Fort Worth, Tex.

The spokesman said Boeing wanted to drop the matter after losing out in the bidding. He told reporters that McNamara might want to testify Thursday, but said no decision has been reached. It is known that McNamara is anxious to present personally his side of the case.

Earlier this week, the defense secretary sent the subcommittee a written statement defending his actions. He also told the subcommittee by letter that public confidence in pentagon leadership was being needlessly undermined by the investigative procedures.

Sick Witness Causes Early DPW Recess

DETROIT (UPI)—Illness of a prosecution witness caused an early weekend recess in the Department of Public Works (DPW) scandal trial in Recorder's Court yesterday.

Judge Arthur J. Kocinski ordered the recess yesterday when he learned a witness, Herman Malone, 54, was undergoing heart examination in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Dearborn.

On Thursday, Malone became sick and was taken to Receiving Hospital where he was treated and released the same day.

U.S. Hopes Fade for Troop Removal

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON — American hopes for large-scale removal of Soviet troops from Cuba by mid-March faded today. It appeared that no more than 3,500 will have left the island by tomorrow.

A gleaming white Soviet ship glided north through the Caribbean this morning carrying up to 2,000 Russian troops home.

The 15,286-ton Admiral Nakhimov sailed from here last night and, if loaded to capacity, would enable Premier Khrushchev to claim he had technically fulfilled his pledge to President Kennedy to remove "several thousand" troops by mid-March.

Officials acknowledged that this could be considered bare fulfillment of Khrushchev's Feb. 18 promise to remove several thousand troops by the middle of March.

At that time, U.S. authorities said they hoped Russia would call home the bulk of their 17,000 troops and technicians in Cuba.

NO COMMENT

There was no comment at all from Washington on Soviet troop movements out of Cuba — reportedly on direct orders from Kennedy.

Four Russian ships had sailed earlier with units of the Soviet armed forces which the United States estimated numbered 17,500 in Cuba at the beginning of February.

The United States said there were 22,500 here at the height of last October's crisis.

There was no official announcement on how many persons sailed on the Nakhimov nor what their military classification was.

Report Soviet Soldiers Fighting Anti-Castroites

MIAMI (UPI) — New clashes between Russian soldiers and anti-Castro guerrillas in Cuba were reported yesterday by a Cuban exile leader here.

At the same time, refugees from Havana who arrived here yesterday said that Soviet troops in Cuba are now wearing the uniforms of Premier Fidel Castro's army and militia. The exile leader, Dr. Luis Conte Aguiar, said the Russians suffered "many casualties, including dead" in fighting in the Escambray mountain zone near the city of Cienfuegos.

He said he received the reports from Cuban agents of two underground resistance movements he heads, the National Resistance Front and the Christian Anti-Communist Front.

Conte said Thursday that at least seven Russians were killed in fighting a month ago against anti-Castro Cubans near the town of Batobano in Havana province.

The Cuban-Americans who arrived aboard yesterday's refugee flight declined to give their names to newsmen for fear of reprisals against relatives left behind.

But they said that Russian soldiers in Cuba now are wearing the same olive green uniforms standard in the Cuban army. The Russians also are using Cuban army rank and insignia, they said.

In order to keep the Russian deaths secret the corpses of Russian soldiers killed were taken to the Cienfuegos Naval Base at Cayo Loco, Conte said.

Castro and his brother Raul, who is defense minister, attended services for two of the Russian dead, he added.

The exile leader said Raul Castro has had to shift his military operations headquarters from Santiago in Oriente Province to Colon in Matanzas Province because of a surge of rebel activity there.

Mum Dems Praise Both Cobo Units

DETROIT (AP) — The 10-member Democratic National Convention Site Committee moved on to Philadelphia yesterday after praising Detroit's Cobo Hall and Cobo Arena as "magnificent... fantastic... overwhelming."

Despite the lavish praise, Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey and his fellow committee members refused to be committed as to how Detroit stacks up in the bidding for the 1964 convention.

"You can make a political case for any of the four cities, but no decision of any kind has been reached at this point," Bailey said.

The visiting group was given the same kind of royal treatment it received on tours of Miami, San Francisco and Chicago.

MORE OF SAME

More of the same is expected when the committee visits Philadelphia, the other city bidding for the convention.

Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, former Democratic Gov. John B. Swanson, Democratic congressman Neil Stander and other state and city officials, gave the visitors a red carpet tour of Detroit's convention facilities.

A police escort picked up their motorcade from a downtown hotel and stayed with them through the entire tour.

Electric cars transported them through the $55-million Cobo Hall and Convention Arena. Bailey described it as "one of the greatest halls I have ever seen."

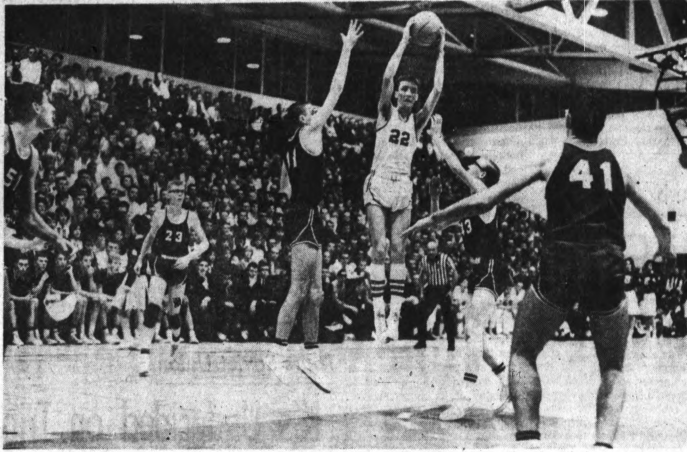

It'll Get Colder Here Tonight, Tomorrow

Colder temperatures will arrive in the area late tonight and tomorrow. The mercury will dip to a low of 30 this evening, and climb to a high of 40 tomorrow.

The intermittent rain this afternoon is expected to end late tonight or early tomorrow. The outlook for Monday is possibly rain with little change in temperature.

Winds today are from the south at 15-20 m.p.h. They will shift to northwest-west tonight, and diminish slowly tomorrow.

The lowest mercury reading preceding 8 a.m. was 30. At 1 p.m. the thermometer read a "springish" 46.

Henry Would Appeal Charge

Hasn't Received Flint Contempt Citation

Pontiac attorney Milton R. Henry today said he would challenge the legality of a contempt of court charge issued against him in Flint Thursday.

Genesee County Circuit Judge Louis D. McGregor told Henry he would cite him for contempt when Henry was late in arriving for an appeal case before McGregor.

Henry, a Pontiac city commissioner, said he hasn't yet received a contempt citation. He said he would appeal Judge McGregor's actions to the State Supreme Court if contempt charges are filed against him.

"There was no willful contempt or disobedience of the court on my part," he said.

APPEALS CONVICTION

Henry was representing Harold Liston, 54, of Flint.

Liston was appealing to Circuit Court an earlier conviction in Flint Municipal Court on an assault and battery charge, a misdemeanor.

Liston's case was scheduled for Thursday morning. Henry said he was in Federal District Court in Detroit where he is representing a client.

"If the citation is filed, I will ask the Supreme Court for a writ (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Red Threat in Brazil Politics Closing U.S. Purse Strings

WASHINGTON (AP) — An official U.S. statement that Communists have bored into Brazil's government put new steam today into a congressional movement to bar aid to the huge, trouble-racked South American country.

Pouring more millions into Brazil now would be "an exercise in futility," one congressman said.

There were demands that assistance be denied until Brazil cleans house of Reds or extreme leftists in any position of power, and shows that American aid will not be used to promote Brazilian trade with Russia.

The U.S. statement about Red infiltration came out at a time when Francisco San Tiago Dantas, Brazilian foreign minister, was here trying for multimillion dollar aid. A powerful man in the Brazilian government, he is an advocate

U.S. Scene's All in Green

NEW YORK (AP) — It makes no difference if your name is Green, if you're sportin' a green tie or if you're just plain green with envy (of the Irish—who else?). Almost everybody gets into the St. Patrick's Day spirit.

From that long green line up New York's Fifth Avenue to the green ink that the postmistress at Erin, N.Y., will use to cancel stamps — the color is virtually inescapable this time of year.

The four-day holiday observance began Friday when the Rhode Island General Assembly got its Irish up and when the Loyal Irish Sons of Erin held a feast commemorating both St. Pat's Purim — and sure there must have been a Green in the crowd.

The observance continues with parades today — in New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago, Sunday — in Holyoke, Mass., and Monday — in Boston, among other places.

Surprising, isn't it, that March 15, 16, 17 and 18 all rhyme with you-know-what color? — the same color, incidentally, that they'll dye the Chicago River at St. Patrick's Day.

The New York parade, ordinarily the biggest of the lot because of the size of the Irish population here, starts at Fifth Avenue and 44th Street and proceeds north to 86th Street.

Although St. Patrick's Day actually falls on Sunday, there are various and sundry reasons — including, perchance, a bit of Irish influence — for spreading the observance over several days.

Stadium Bill, Betting Taxes Ammunition

Legislation on Desk After House, Senate Resolve Differences

LANSING (AP) — Armed with two pieces of "essential" legislation, Gov. Romney today made plans to help plead Detroit's case for the 1968 Olympic Games.

The second of the two bills — creating an authority to build a $25-million, 100,000-seat stadium, reached his desk yesterday after the House and Senate resolved differences over two restrictive amendments.

Efforts at compromise broke down and the Senate finally capitulated under House insistence that the bill be approved with a $30-million bonding limit and a provision that no bonds can be sold before March 31, 1964.

Legislative leaders took the attitude that the bill never was in serious trouble.

"It was only a matter of time until we passed it," said one leading House Republican. "The question was which chamber would give in first."

But until the Senate voted 31-0 to accept the bill with the two House amendments, Detroit's hopes for what Romney termed a "strong, firm presentation" were missing a key element.

The governor called for the stadium bonding proposal and a companion bill raising horse racing pari-mutuel taxes to be passed before Detroit officials meet with the U.S. Olympic Committee in New York Monday.

REGAIN DESIGNATION

The Motor City seeks to regain designation as U.S. bidder when the International Olympic Committee convenes in Nairobi, Kenya, next October to pick a 1968 site.

The U.S. committee picked Detroit earlier, but the designation was withdrawn after Los Angeles and California Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown challenged the city's ability to provide proper facilities.

Romney and other members of the Detroit delegation will leave Sunday for New York where Los Angeles, Houston and Portland, Ore., also will present their cases.

A decision on the case has been promised by the U.S. committee for Monday night.

The pari-mutuel bill had been the subject of a House wrangle Wednesday but was accepted by the Senate without challenge and sent to Romney.

Arabic Reunification Nearing Final Stage

From Our News Wires
CAIRO — Final details of a union linking the United Arab Republic, Syria and Iraq were being hammered out here today with the main issue still how close the ties should be.

U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser seemed certain to head for a new federation and his nationalist Arab Socialist views are expected to dominate it.

A final communique is expected after today's session which followed a general agreement to unite the three Arab states, worked out at meetings totaling 15 hours.

According to reliable sources, the new union would be a federation of the three countries with each retaining its separate identity, but under some form of central government with one chief executive.

The agreement must be ratified by plebiscite in the three countries before the new union can be officially formed. Approval is regarded as virtually certain.

The movement toward Arab unity seemed under way again after the blow it received when Syria broke away from Egypt in 1961. Since then, pro-Nasser revolutions have taken over in Syria and Iraq. A new pro-Nasser regime has also risen in Yemen, and its leaders said Friday they would like to join whatever union is set up.

Indications were that during the negotiations Nasser had to acknowledge the influence of the Ba'ath Socialist Party, for which he has had no use in the past. The Ba'ath played a large role in the Syrian and Iraqi uprisings. Many of its members opposed too rigid an Arab union.

DISCUSS UNION TITLE

The authoritative Cairo daily newspaper Al-Ahram said delegates also discussed possibility of naming the union the United Arab Republic — which was the name first applied to the union between Egypt and Syria in 1958 and returned by Egypt after Syria broke away from the merger in 1961. A common parliament also would be established.

The newspaper said Nasser repeatedly stressed in the talks that the U.A.R. is ready to carry unity to any extent wanted by the other Arab countries as long as they share "unity of aim."

But Nasser insisted the countries "will not take any step or adopt any position unless it is fully assured and convinced of feasibility of its implementation and preservation of its objective," the newspaper said.

Resume Search for Airliner

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI)—A search resumed at dawn today for a four-engine Bolivian passenger plane which disappeared on a 200-mile flight over the rugged Andes mountains.

Forty-one persons, including an American and two prominent Swedes, were aboard the airliner.

The big DC-8, on route from Lima, Peru, to La Paz, disappeared yesterday at 1:27 p.m. EST. It carried 38 passengers and a crew of five.

The American aboard was identified by Lloyd Aero Boliviano Airlines as Robert McCormack, an attorney. (Home town unavailable).

The airline also listed as being aboard the missing plane Gustav Westberg, 43, former chief of staff of the Swedish Air Force Operational Department.

Westberg served as a military expert at the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva and was a member of the United Nations Commission on Korea in 1950-61.

Westberg, an executive for a major Swedish machine firm, was traveling with Lars Nilsson, the company's sales representative for South America.

REJECT COMPROMISE

A legislative conference committee of six was appointed to iron out the problem of Senate objections to the bill, but the compromise — to remove the bond limit amendment and retain the date — was rejected by the House GOP caucus.

Under pressure of time, the Senate finally "agreed to disagree" and take the two changes which majority leader Stanley Thayer, R-Minn., earlier had termed "unacceptable."

The Senate position was that the amendments would endanger the salability of the bonds in the eyes of purchasers.

"We can live with them," Thayer said after the Senate yielded. "The issue is too big to delay any longer."

Romney said he has no objection to the amendments, although he earlier was reported to have opposed House leaders' determination to attach them to the bill.

GRAND RAPIDS FIRE — Two major blazes hit Grand Rapids yesterday, causing combined damage of about $500,000. Flames raged out of control in a warehouse (above) where $350,000 damage was caused. The second fire was in an electric plating plant.

K's Undecided on Trip to Peking

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was on a trip south of Moscow today, apparently undecided about a possible trip to Peking to try to patch up his quarrel with the Red Chinese.

Diplomatic circles doubted that Khrushchev would go to Communist China because of the loss of prestige it could involve.

Some Western observers, however, did not exclude that he might do so to demonstrate to what lengths he is prepared to go to settle the dispute.

The official Soviet news agency Tass reported that Khrushchev arrived in Kuybyshev about 210 miles south of Moscow last night after visiting Tula.

He apparently lost no time in visiting a synthetic fiber plant and giving some advice on boosting production.

The aim of Khrushchev's current trip has not been announced officially, but it was believed the Soviet leader might be heading for Gagra, on the Black Sea, where he usually takes a working vacation in midwinter.

As Khrushchev headed southward, the sharpest of the Sino-Soviet quarrel was illustrated by a suggestion in a Communist Chinese newspaper called for Khrushchev's removal.

This was before the Communist Chinese agreed to stop publishing polemical articles attacking the Soviet Union, but shortly after Khrushchev called for a halt to polemics in mid-January at the East German Socialist Unity party congress in East Berlin.

Western observers said that in coming weeks, Khrushchev was likely to be occupied with the Sino-Soviet rift and planning future moves.

The World Marxist Review, journal of the Moscow-led Communist camp, alleged that: "outright attack was leveled against the Communist party of the Soviet Union, and its leaders were accused of revisionism and cries were raised for their removal." This charge was contained in the February issue of the journal, approved for publication Jan. 22, 1963.

Argentine Army Kept on Alert

BUENOS AIRES, (UPI)—The Argentine government, fearful of a Navy coup aimed at blocking a political comeback by followers of deposed dictator Juan Peron, kept the army on alert today.

Army troops were confined to their barracks, but federal police withdrew strict security measures which had been in effect for two days.

The Peronists have long been banned as a political party here, but a federal court last week ruled the organization could participate in the scheduled June 23 of superintending control," Henry said.

Such a writ, in effect, asks the higher court to prescribe what proceedings will be followed in a case where a defendant charges that the judge acted illegally.

"The contempt charge is illegal and it was illegal for the judge to discharge me and appoint a new attorney to represent my client," Henry said.

Judge McGregor, when informed by Henry's office that Henry was on his way to Flint, dismissed Henry, appointed another attorney, selected a jury and then declared a mistrial when Liston refused to accept the action.

"I arrived in Circuit Court at 10:40 a.m.," Henry said. "If the contest costs $500, as McGreggor claimed, it's not our fault. We never asked for a jury trial."

Guns and Tools Stolen in Three Break-Ins Here

Four guns and $300 worth of tools were stolen in three break-ins in downtown Pontiac during the night.

Two 22-caliber revolvers and an undetermined amount of ammunition was taken from Sears, Roebuck and Co., 154 N. Saginaw St.

A 22-caliber rifle and a 308 Mexican Mauser rifle was stolen from Custom Color, 236 S. Saginaw St., along with change from a vending machine.

The tools and $5 in change were stolen from Paul's Seat Covers, located in the same building as Custom Color.

Persons who plan to be out of town April 1 or otherwise unable to vote at the polls must sign application forms for the April 1 election may now be picked up by Pontiac residents at the city clerk's office at City Hall.

Train Rams Landslide, Plunges in Japan; 2 Die

TOKYO (UPI)—A locomotive with six passenger coaches steamed out of a tunnel today into a landslide, derailed and toppled from an embankment about 100 miles northwest of Tokyo, police said.

The Japan Broadcasting Corp., quoting police sources, said two persons were killed and 60 injured.

The bill is tailored to Oakland County's situation, according to Roberts. He said the county's board of education is the only such board in the state with a staff capable of operating a junior college system.

The provision would enable the county to have junior colleges about two years earlier than with a new board-Roberts said.

The existing county board could start immediately, but considerable time would be needed to establish a new board and get it moving, Roberts said.

Stamp Club to Celebrate Anniversary of Founding

BIRMINGHAM — The Birmingham Stamp Club will celebrate the 25th anniversary of its founding March 30 and 31 with an elaborate display of stamp exhibits at the Birmingham Community House.

Joining the local group, will be the Pontiac State Philatelic Society of Michigan, Ohio and Ontario, which is also celebrating its 25th birthday.

On display will be a special seal featuring the Henry Ford Centennial symbol.

The specially designed seal commemorates the 100th anniversary of the birth of Ford, who was a noted stamp collector.

The Community House, which will house the convention, is the location of the first club meeting 25 years ago.

Exhibits will be displayed from 1 to 10 p.m. March 30 and from 1 to 6 p.m. March 31.

Seven new courses will be offered to Birmingham senior high school students beginning in the 1963-64 school year.

Included is a course entitled Marriage and the Family designed to help the student recognize personal motives, develop a sense of values, understand human behavior and gain knowledge and understanding of factors involved in a successful marriage.

Other courses offered are Basic Business, Record Keeping, Business Mathematics, Humanities, Modern European History and Social Philosophy.

An exhibit of 20th century art can now be seen at the Cranbrook Academy of Art galleries.

Entitled "Wit and Whimsy," the exhibit will run through April 7.

The galleries are open from 2 to 5 p.m. daily except Mondays and major holidays.

The Congregational Church of Birmingham has scheduled the third in its series of family Lenten. Pollock suppers Thursday starting at 6:30 p.m.

Following the supper the law provides that only stores of 4,000 or less square feet will be able to remain open seven days.

WON'T ACT IN TIME

The law requires ample notice of a public hearing before any action can be taken. The county's supervisor, Councilman Robert Allen said this means at least three weeks notice.

In its resolution the committee said it didn't like the new closing law. The law is too regulatory, committee members agreed.

They said it would take unfair advantage of many small businesses in the lake areas of the county who rely on Sunday sales for their livelihood.

Committee chairman Frank Webber said May would probably be the earliest that the board of supervisors could set a public hearing.

Rob 2 Cabbies at Knife Point

Two cab drivers were robbed at knife point by passengers last night and early this morning.

The robberies took place about seven hours apart in the area of Paddock and Prospect streets.

Oakland Cab driver Bernard Wesley, 38, of 206 S. Shirley St., was robbed by two passengers at 9:30 shortly before 5 a.m.

At 9:30 p.m. James C. McCleary, 32, of 951 1/2 Orchard Road, a driver for the Yellow Cab Co., was robbed of $28 by three men.

Both cabbies told Pontiac police they were grabbed around the neck and knifes pressed to their throats.

County Junior Colleges in '64?

LANSING — Oakland County may have two junior colleges—one in the Pontiac area and one in Royal Oak—in operation by the fall of 1964 if an enabling bill is passed in the current legislative session.

That's the estimate of Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, sponsor of a bill that would enable the county to set up a community college district.

The measure may come up for a vote in the Senate next week. It was reported favorably out of the Senate Education Committee Thursday.

If passed by the senators, the bill will go to the House.

The legislation may get some opposition, however, because of its provision that existing county boards of education would be authorized to operate a community college system.

Roberts said community college proponents generally favor a separate board.

Existing state law last year stymied county hopes of starting the ball rolling by presenting a dilemma in which Clarencville could neither be left out nor included.

According to an opinion from the state attorney general, Clarencville could not be left out because a small northern portion of it lies in Oakland County although most of the district is in Wayne County.

At the same time, it could not be included because it already was part of the Northwest Wayne Community College District and already paying a one-half mill tax for a community college.

Construction and operation of community colleges are financed by a tax of $1 per $1,000 assessed valuation on residents of the area in the community college district. The tax must first be approved by voters.

The county's plans were developed by a citizens' study committee.

You Should Send Her Invitation

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: My husband is a medical student. A friend of his who is also a student at the same college, has invited his girl friend to come down here to a dance which is taking place in two weeks.

My husband and I have a four-room house a mile away from the college and we offered to let the young woman stay here with us the night of the dance.

I have never met her but know the man well. My husband thinks it is my place to write to the girl and invite her to stay with us. Is this necessary?

A: You should write her a note saying that you understand John Smith has invited her to come to his college dance the weekend of the 26th and that you will be very happy to have her spend the night at your house with you and your husband.

Q: I was to have been married at a large wedding two months ago. A week before the wedding, the invitation was recalled because of serious illness in the immediate family. The wedding is now going to take place the latter part of May.

I would like to know if it is necessary to send invitations to the same people. We would prefer, this time, to limit the guests to the immediate families and closest relatives. May we do this without causing hurt feelings?

A: Surely those not invited a second time will realize that because of the illness in your family your wedding plans have had to be changed, and their feelings should not be hurt at not being invited to the very small wedding yours is now going to be.

Q: When a girl has a date with a boy who has no car and she uses her car, may she pick him up at his house if it is on the way to where they are going, or must he come to the house for her?

A: If time is limited and they have to be somewhere at a certain time, an exception may be made; but under ordinary circumstances, he must come to her house for her.

Details concerning the announcing and christening of a baby are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "The New Baby." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Break Engagement Quick! Be Ready for Verbal Arrows

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Don't tell me I'm a heel—I know it. I asked a girl to marry me and she said yes, and now I want out.

I'm no kid, Abby, (almost 40) and should have known better, but I got involved and, spoke too soon. I even gave her a ring which she can keep. How do I break this engagement with the least amount of humiliation for her? She's making plans. There isn't anyone else. I just do not want to marry this girl.

fish person and once I get there, it will be months. What should I do?

BIG DECISION

DEAR ABBY: Stay with your husband and write your daughter that she will have to make some permanent arrangements for running her household if she intends to go back to work—so she had better start now.

DEAR ABBY: A boy called me last night and I wasn't home so he left his telephone number and asked my mother if she'd have me call him back.

My mother gave me the message and just I started to call him my father said it was not proper for a girl to call a boy, and if he wanted me, bad enough he'd call again.

Was my father right? It so happened that the boy DID call me back later, but I want to know if there's anything wrong with calling a boy back if he calls you first and leaves his number.

SENIOR

DEAR SENIOR: There is nothing improper about a girl returning a boy's call. It makes more sense than the boy calling her home every 20 minutes and asking: "Is Judy home yet?"
