Dustiest Day in Town's History Hits San Angelo

AP Wirephoto

WORST DUSTER ROLLS IN — Winds in San Angelo, Tex. brought what aged residents called the worst dust storm that they could remember. This picture was taken yesterday afternoon as the storm rolled in bringing a half-hour of midnight blackness. Winds up to 70 miles an hour smashed windows and roofs and dust covered the whole town with a thick silt.

Survey OK'd by School Board

Panel Reverses Former Stand on Merchandising Check in Area

Pontiac Board of Education rescinded its May 12 stand Wednesday night at its regular board meeting when it granted permission for the distribution of a merchandising survey through the local schools.

Grades one through nine will handle nearly 13,000 questionnaires which are to be taken home Friday, filled out by the parents and returned via the children by next Tuesday.

The board had previously gone on record saying that distribution of materials through the schools, other than that which pertained to the educational program, was contrary to its established policy.

This survey, they stated last night, was the "exceptional" case. The information noting the buying habits of the population is being sought by the Retail Committee of the Oakland County Plan Commission and they said that it would have no value without the inclusion of the Pontiac area.

The survey will be tabulated and evaluated by the University of Michigan Bureau of Business Research. It was initially presented to the Oakland County School Superintendent's Association and 54,000 questionnaires are now being circulated throughout the county.

The school's role is to distribute and collect the forms. Other costs are being borne by the county.

Dust, Hail Lash Texas; Damage Is Widespread

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—Whiplashing thunderstorms, some loaded with dust and hail and charged with lightning, swept a path of destruction across sections of Texas yesterday and last night.

Damage was widespread but not believed heavy at any particular point. Injuries were few. One man died when struck by lightning.

Tornado reports flew thick and fast for a time, but there was no word of the funnels touching the ground. Six of the ominous clouds were sighted.

Thick dust swirled with the squall line and San Angelo reported its worst duster in the memory of old settlers. Thick dust at Sweetwater caused 10 automobiles and a truck to collide, injuring four persons. At a score of points from central West Texas to the Dallas-Fort Worth area normally daylight hours became black as night.

Occasional Rain Seen for Pontiac Area

Mostly cloudy with occasional rain is the forecast for tonight and tomorrow, with showers ending tomorrow night.

The weatherman says it will be cooler tomorrow with a high of 64-68 degrees. Tonight's low is expected to be about 54 degrees.

Yesterday's high was 68, low 57, and a rainfall of .12 inch was recorded. At 8 a. m. today, the temperature in downtown Pontiac was 60 degrees to 68 at 2 p.m.

Hopes High for Quick End to British Railway Strike

LONDON (AP)—Union and government negotiators met for two hours today in their first full talks to end Britain's crippling 12-day-old rail strike and then adjourned until tomorrow.

Informed sources said the two sides traded views and the adjournment does not mean any breakdown.

Hopes stayed high for a quick end to the strike, which has slowed the nation's industrial boom. Some London newspapers said it might come within 48 hours.

Despite these hopes, however, Jim Baty, leader of the striking Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, told newsmen after the meeting:

"Nothing of a material kind has developed to date."

The peace talks began at the Ministry of Labor minutes after Queen Elizabeth II warned in a speech opening Parliament of "the grave situation created by the interruption of the railway services."

Meanwhile, efforts to spread a wildcat seaman's strike to the Queen Elizabeth failed today and the pride of the Cunard line sailed for New York as scheduled.

The vessel will call at Cherbourg, France, where she is due to pick up a group of passengers including Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

About 800 British seamen, mostly stewards and catering personnel, have struck in Liverpool and Southampton, tying up six transatlantic liners and stranding American tourists and emigrant families. The strikers want better working conditions.

Only about 30 of the Queen Elizabeth's crewmen walked off and Cunard officials said "we can carry this loss comfortably."

Missing Girl Found Hiding Out in Attic

DETROIT (AP) — A 12-year-old Detroit girl, the object of a police search for more than 24 hours, was found hiding in the attic of her home yesterday, apparently because of an argument she had with her parents.

Dorothy Jean Kaufman was found by police after they heard noises in the attic during a search of the Kaufman home.

Her school teacher told officers the girl did not come to school Tuesday and that she asked another girl to go on a walking trip to Pontiac with her to win a Girl Scout "walking badge."

Salaried Group May Get Stock

Chairman Says Ford 'Fully Expects' to Offer Shares When Available

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. "fully expects" an opportunity will be given its salaried employes to purchase Ford stock when it is put on the market.

Ernest R. Breech, Ford board chairman, said, however, the company is undecided whether it will repeat its stock offer to hourly rated workers.

Ford offered to sell hourly rated employes Ford stock at half the market price in negotiations with the CIO United Auto Workers union last week, but the UAW rejected the proposal in favor of a guaranteed wage plan. Ford proposed to pay half the price of the stock, with worker-purchasers paying the other half.

If the offer is repeated, Breech said, it will not be subject to negotiations with the union, the new contract leaving to the company's discretion any stock offering.

The stock, Breech said, would come from 3,089,908 non-voting shares now held by the Ford foundation, which has announced its intentions to sell a part of the block in an investment diversification program.

NOT BEFORE 1956

Foundation officials said yesterday the offering would not be made before "the latter part of this year, if then."

Henry Ford II, president of the motor company and chairman of the foundation, said problems involved in preparation of a public offering would require at least another six months of study and no offering date presently could be set.

Conrad scored a smashing 6 and 4 victory over F. Alvarez of France in the third round. Campbell eliminated L. E. Evans of Great Britain, 6 and 5. Bruce Cudd of Portland, Ore., youngest member of the U. S. Walker Cup squad, won from R. Carter of France, 5 and 3.

Other Americans to reach the fourth round were Don Bisplinghoff of Orlando, Fla., Bruce Coffin of Salem, Mass., Joe Bullins of Winston-Salem, N. C., Col. Robert Conrad of Collidge, Ariz., and Lt. Jim Gray of Jacksonville, Fla.

Pontiac residents will get a chance to take a close look at their new debt-free City Hall during the next three days when open house is held at the $1,200,000 structure.

The observance, which begins tomorrow and continues through Sunday, will be capped by ceremonies Sunday afternoon at which Gov. G. Mennen Williams will deliver the dedication address.

Say Bethlehem May Take Lead From U.S. Steel

Recesses Wage Talks, Suggesting No. 2 Firm Setting Pace

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

PITTSBURGH (INS) — Bethlehem Steel beat U. S. Steel to the punch today and recessed its wage negotiations with the CIO-United Steelworkers "until sometime next week."

Speculation immediately started that Bethlehem, the nation's No. 2 producer, may be taking the lead in bargaining talks with the union.

Several years back Bethlehem broke a contract negotiations deadlock by submitting a wage increase offer which the union accepted. Then the remainder of the industry fell into line.

Presumably the same process could be repeated. Generally, U.S. Steel, the No. 1 producer, sets the bargaining pace.

U. S. Steel is still meeting with the steelworkers who went into wage talks this morning with Jones and Laughlin. This afternoon the union will meet with Youngstown Sheet and Tube and tomorrow with Inland, thus completing the face-to-face meetings with the industry's top six producers.

The 600,000 USW members in the basic steel industry now earn an average of $2.33 an hour under a two-year contract signed last June. Under the contract present negotiations are limited to wages only. The union can strike June 30 should the wage talks unexpectedly collapse.

Union and company spokesmen say there will be no discussions of the guaranteed annual wage this year.

The union presented its demands yesterday to Bethlehem Steel Corp. and to Republic Steel. Tomorrow the last of the Big Six, Inland Steel Corp., will meet with union negotiators. The Big Six employ 400,000 USW members.

The first of other, smaller steel concerns, Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Corp., entered the wage bargaining arena today.

Allegheny - Ludlum announced yesterday that it had agreed to extend pension benefits to widows or other dependents of its pensioners under a plan similar to one worked out with Bethlehem Steel a few months ago. Observers saw a possibility that other firms may make similar arrangements during the current wage talks.

The plan allows workers to sign up for lower pensions which will be continued to the survivors. Previously the pension stopped with the worker's death.

Arizona's Heat Just Too Much Even for Snakes

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Arizona's weather was too hot even for some of its native reptiles yesterday.

Dr. Herbert L. Stahnke, director of the Poisonous Animals Research Laboratory at nearby Arizona State College at Tempe, put four healthy Arizona coral snakes in glass cages and started out for his weekly television show in Phoenix, where the temperature reached 112.

When Stahnke checked the cages just before going on the air, he found the four reptiles dead—victims of heat prostration.

GM, UAW Negotiators Seem Sure of Reaching Settlement Before Sunday

DETROIT (AP)—Negotiators for General Motors Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers appeared confident today they will reach a contract settlement before a Sunday midnight strike deadline.

They kept mum on the trend of the talks, under a strict secrecy agreement. But they went back and forth from negotiating sessions in high humor like men without too many worries.

It was quite a contrast from the grim air that hung over the Ford Motor Co. bargaining last weekend before an agreement was reached Monday for a three-year contract including a supplementary guaranteed wage plan.

Another bargaining session was scheduled for early afternoon.

Ford and the union signed the new contract yesterday.

Meanwhile, scattered walkouts of both GM and Ford workers across the nation were subsiding, although about 25,000 GM workers and 5,000 Ford workers were reported still idle.

The UAW has warned both GM and Ford workers to get back to their jobs. Reuther sent telegrams to all GM locals saying work stoppages were "sabotaging national negotiations."

Last night the union notified Ford strikers they would have no protection against company disciplinary action for idleness beginning today.

CONTINUING STRIKES

The continuing GM strikes were at St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Linden and Trenton, N. J., Los Angeles, Kansas City and Parma, Ohio.

The Ford walkouts were centered at aircraft and auto assembly plants at Kansas City. Nearly all workers had returned to Ford's big Rouge plant at Dearborn.

It was generally believed that GM was working out a package contract offer for the UAW containing income insurance for workers while unemployed, plus boosts in wages, pensions, insurance and holiday and vacation benefits.

How close or how different any GM settlement would be to the Ford pact, which the UAW claimed was worth more than 20 cents an hour to the workers, was the question intriguing the auto industry.

Under the union's value estimate of the Ford contract, a similar deal for GM's 325,000 auto workers and 35,000 electrical workers would cost GM about 150 million dollars a year.

TALKING TO UEW TOO

GM is carrying out separate talks with the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, also with a Sunday midnight strike deadline.

GM has the same choice as did Ford: Either agree to some form of guaranteed wage — company-financed payments for laid-off workers, supplementing state unemployment benefits — or face a certain strike.

Ford preferred to grant a modified guaranteed wage rather than be idled by a strike while GM could continue producing for the present lush car sales market.

Few expect GM to buck the union and take a strike that would leave the market clear for Ford.

Charles E. Sorensen, Ford Motor Co. executive vice president and general manager until 1944, in an interview with the Miami Herald yesterday hailed the partial guaranteed wage as a step toward "greater national prosperity."

Lev Is Recalled in Senate Probe

Hatmaker Will Testify Again on Alleged Graft; Wool Charged by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Investigations subcommittee called Chicago hatmaker Harry Lev for further testimony today in the wake of punitive action against two procurement officials linked with his activities.

Chairman McClellan (D - Ark) said Lev still has "a lot to explain" after two days of testimony about his dealings with the government.

The Air Force announced last night it has filed court - martial charges against Capt. Raymond Wool, who formerly headed military clothing procurement activities in New York. Wool is now in New York, where his wife gave birth to a baby Monday, but is assigned to Dayton, Ohio, pending action on the charges. He could not be reached for comment.

The Air Force said he was charged with permitting doctor's bills to be paid for him by an Air Force contractor; with falsification of travel vouchers, and with accepting gifts and gratuities "for services rendered."

The Army announced the summary suspension of Ferdinand Tartaglia, former research and development chief of the Quartermaster Corps' clothing purchase division at Philadelphia, after Lev had named him as his partner in a feather business.

At the time of suspension Tartaglia was supervisory military clothing specialist at Natick, Mass.

Wool has denied vigorously hearsay testimony before the subcommittee that he "got $50,000" to swing a big uniform cap contract in 1953 to Lev's Mid-City Uniform Cap Co. of Chicago.

The subcommittee is studying evidence of possible graft in the buying of uniform clothing items for the armed forces.

Adenauer Reported Ready to See Reds

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is prepared to meet Russian leaders, a West German Government spokesman announces.

But he added that the meeting will not necessarily take place in Moscow.

The spokesman said Adenauer has insisted there should be an exchange of opinions between West German and Russian experts before the place and time of the meeting is fixed.

This exchange of views already has begun in Paris, he said.

In Frankfurt, Russia's invitation to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to visit the Soviet capital brought this wry jest today from a Frankfort streetcar conductor:

"Maybe Konrad will succeed in what Adolf failed to do — enter Moscow."

Dearborn City, Authority Both Shun Testimony

Ann Arbor Jurist Will Hand Down Decision Within Few Days

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The first court test of Michigan's controversial Turnpike Act opened today and headed toward an almost immediate decision.

All the parties to the suit declined to testify, leaving the court's own verdict to come.

Promptly, Circuit Judge James R. Breakey Jr. promised his decision on the constitutional questions within "the next day or so."

Thus the dispute was sped on the way toward a probably ultimate ruling by the State Supreme Court on the powers of the Michigan Turnpike Authority under the act.

Judge Breakey yesterday held the court case must go on despite the complaining City of Dearborn's request that it be permitted to drop the case. Judge Breakey held, in effect, that since serious questions had been raised they should be settled.

Dearborn, represented by attorney James Broderick, sought an injunction prohibiting the Turnpike Authority from building a part of the 113-mile Flat Rock-to-Saginaw toll road through Dearborn.

Judge Breakey decided it was within his discretion to grant or deny a discontinuance "since the defendant (the authority) had been forced to go to great time and expense to prepare its case."

Broderick then asked the court for additional time to prepare an appeal to the Supreme Court on the court's decision to deny the discontinuance.

Judge Breakey said that this could be taken to the Supreme Court with the rest of the case should Dearborn lose its fight for an injunction. He added:

"The court insists that the whole matter be presented to the court now . . . the court is assuming that the Supreme Court will have

Nab Circus Man on Local Charge

Florida Police Arrest Advance Agent; Pontiac to Ask Extradition

An advance man for the Cole and King Brothers Circus, which played here last weekend, was charged with larceny by conversion yesterday in a warrant ordered by Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor William E. Lang.

Bud Fisher, 28, was arrested by police in Miami, Fla., an hour after Pontiac Police requested his apprehension yesterday afternoon.

He is charged with converting to his own use $210 in advance ticket-sale money which should have been turned over to the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce which sponsored the performance.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Elter said Fisher will be asked to waive extradition. If he refuses, formal extradition proceedings will be started, the prosecutor added. The warrant was signed by John A. Benson of the Jaycees.

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)— When a patrolman reported the monkey house at City Park Zoo was blacked out at night, investigators found the occupants had been unscrewing electric bulbs from their sockets and munching on them.

Atomic Fires to Burn for Peace at UM's Phoenix

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The fires of the universe, banked in the atom, have burned mostly for war. Today science dedicates a new laboratory to turn these fires to peace.

The laboratory is the University of Michigan's memorial to the dead of World War II—The Phoenix Memorial Laboratory, dedicated to research into the peacetime uses of atomic energy.

It's an impressive building—its four ventilating stacks reaching into the air, its deadly cargo of radioactive uranium and cobalt, not yet arrived, to be buried deep in the ground under a shield of water.

Ralph A. Sawyer, dean of the university's school of graduate studies, is director of the Phoenix project with Dr. Henry J. Gomberg as his assistant.

It will be the largest reactor owned and operated by a non-governmental institution. Paid for by the Ford Motor Co., its cost is one million dollars.

NO WINDOWS

It will be a gas-tight, windowless building, housing a water-filled "swimming pool." Under this will be the uranium fuel and its ultimate heat of 10 million degrees.

The one and a half million dollar laboratory, which was dedicated today, adjoins the reactor. The hottest (most highly radiated) work takes place in the part of the lab which is next to the reactor.

Here a huge cave was built of high density concrete, three feet thick. Three windows of special cerium glass allow technicians and scientists to look inside. Mechanical arms and fingers do all the work, manipulated by workers on the outside.

Another cave, identical to the first, adjoins the high gamma radiation area. Behind both of them is the disposal and decontamination room.

In the high gamma radiation room is a 16-foot well, filled with water. In the bottom will be placed the 41 rods of radioactive cobalt 60 which arrive next month from Canada's Chalk River Laboratories.

HUGE POTENTIAL

Dean Sawyer says the 3000 Curies of radiation in the cobalt is almost twice the power of the world's entire supply of purified radium.

The sheer complexity of the construction and equipment in each of the rooms defies description. What it all means is an easier story.

Some 25,000 individuals, including everyone from John Doe to the Ford Motor Co. and General Motors, have contributed seven and a half million dollars to Phoenix.

They did it to make the Phoenix myth come true. Dean Sawyer explains it this way. The name Phoenix was chosen with reference to the Egyptian mythological bird which every 500 years flew into a sacramental fire and was consumed, to be later reborn, with renewed youth.

Out of the atomic fire and death of World War II, the Phoenix Memorial project was born, dedicated to the university war dead, to benefit the living.

Salaries Committee Considers Requests

The Salaries Committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors agreed yesterday that the County Juvenile Department needs more employes, "but the problem is to find funds to pay them," said Chairman Willis M. Brewer.

The committee met in conjunction with the Juvenile Affairs Committee to consider a request from Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore for more workers to handle the increasing number of youngsters up for adoption, on probation, or classed as neglect and dependency cases.

"We will try to get together with the Ways and Means Committee before the Supervisors' June 27 meeting and see if the way can be cleared for three more employes," said Brewer.

A request from Sheriff Frank W. Irons for eight additional men also will be discussed with the ways and means group, Brewer stated.

the case. I think it is important that the Supreme Court get the case . . .

"It is a matter of grave importance to the entire state. Your clients are entitled to a decision; the state is entitled to a decision."

Extensive briefs have been filed by both sides, the Turnpike Authority, the City of Dearborn and the Michigan Free Highways Protective Assn., which has joined Dearborn as a plaintiff.

As an intervenor, the association is bringing up constitutional questions which it considers necessary to have answered before turnpike bonds are sold and construction begins.

George Kely, attorney for the association, said, "Our interest is in good roads." He added that the association was siding with the Turnpike Authority in insisting that the case be continued.

Judge Breakey indicated that an answer on the constitutional questions in the case would be expedited.

The City of Dearborn has objected to the turnpike on the basis that it would deny the city reasonable control of its streets and public places.

More specifically, the city says that the turnpike would interfere with fire routes and a proposed flood control program.

Fred B. Besimer, attorney for the authority, insisted that the case be heard to settle these constitutional questions. He said he would have no objection if the constitutionality of the Turnpike Act, as questioned by Dearborn, was settled and certain disputed facts, also in the Dearborn case, were forgotten.

Courthouse Building Committee Meets Today

The new special courthouse building committee of the Board of Supervisors is holding its first meeting today in the Oakland County Office Building, at 1 Lafayette St.

Chairman Willis M. Brewer said the group plans to select a secretary and get discussions started toward launching a new program for securing Oakland "an adequate courthouse."

TIMES HAVE CHANGED — Walter Reuther, left, head of the CIO Auto Workers Union, who signed an historic contract with the Ford Motor Co. this week, had a rough trip to the top. Reuther and fellow union organizer Richard Frankensteen, who held torn clothing, presented this disheveled appearance in 1937 after a beating by company tough guys for their attempts to organize Ford workers. Frankensteen now is in private business.

County Water Study Group Seeks Workers

The Oakland County Water Study Committee is seeking a $15,000 appropriation through the Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Supervisors to employ two full-time staff workers, according to Howard K. Kelley, chairman.

The money would be part of $75,000 previously set aside for water-study work by the Supervisors, he explained.

"The men are needed to get the technical aspects of the survey under way," Kelley stated. "We hope the financing will be approved when the Supervisors meet this month."

The committee was set up to launch and carry through a program to supply Oakland with an adequate and lasting water supply, probably from the Great Lakes.

It is working in conjunction with similar county groups in St. Clair and Macomb. The three committees are expected to meet jointly within three weeks, said Kelley.

The Day in Birmingham

Two Groups Add Support to School Bond Proposal

BIRMINGHAM — Support for a "yes" vote next Monday on a $5,500,000 school bond issue snowballed today as two organizations went on record in favor of the proposal.

In addition, the Independent Citizens Committee — the group which surveyed the need for more school facilities in the Birmingham district — said it was distributing 10,000 printed folders on the necessity for immediate classroom expansion to schools, service clubs and homes.

The committee's study plus recommendations were presented to the Board of Education last month. The board, with few exceptions, went along with the recommendations which included the bond issue.

Organization support for the proposal came from the Birmingham area branches of the League of Women Voters and the American Association of University Women.

Marvin Brokaw, 1165 S. Bates, chairman of the citizens committee, said support of the two groups supported the findings of the committee.

"It shows," he said, "the findings of our committee that the need for additional classrooms, modernizing of existing facilities and completion of two swimming pools for community use is based on facts and sound reasoning."

The proposal, if approved, would authorize the school board to spend the $5,500,000 over the next three years for five new elementary schools, five additions to existing elementary schools, modernizing older schools and completing swimming pools at Birmingham High and the new Derby Junior High. One of the pools would be the indoor-outdoor type.

Retiring Birmingham fire chief Vern Griffith will be honored tomorrow at a dinner at 7 p.m. at Devon Gables. Griffith officially retires Aug. 27 after 32 years with the department.

The state and international conventions of High Twelve clubs will be held at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit June 11-15.

The state convention, according to Birmingham High Twelve president Thomas Campbell, is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday with the international convention slated for the following Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Birmingham's High Twelve club is the largest in Michigan, Campbell said.

Harriet E. Stieglitz

Service will be held at 8 p.m. Friday for Mrs. Harriet E. Stieglitz, 56, of 811 Westchester Way at Manley Bailey Funeral Home. She died suddenly at Henry Ford Hospital yesterday.

Names Refugee Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today named Pierce J. Gerety, general counsel of the Civil Service Commission, to take charge of the bogged down refugee relief program.

Pontiac School District Will Borrow $350,000

Pontiac School district will borrow $350,000 at an interest rate of one per cent on the sale of tax anticipation notes to mature in September of 1955.

Low bidder at this rate was the Pontiac State Bank which entered its bid Wednesday night along with the bid of First of Michigan Corp. at a two per cent rate.

Vernon L. Schiller, treasurer of the Pontiac school district, said that this amount, together with the $400,000 borrowed from the state on anticipated state aid, will tide the district over until the July tax collections are in.

The board also announced last night that it would open bids for the new junior high school on June 14 with the contracts to be awarded at 5 p.m. on June 16.

According to Dr. Otto P. Hufziger, administration assistant in charge of building, the bid forms will be written in three parts with the stipulation that the academic section of the building be completed by January 16 of 1956.

The vocal room is to be completed as soon after as possible and the gymnasium and cafeteria area is to be finished not later than March 29, 1956. Rehabilitation job contracts for three elementary schools will be let at this same time.

This, said, Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, will allow the district to move the junior high school students in by the second term of the 1955-56 school year.

William Wright was named to the principalship of the new Linda Vista school by the board of education. It was decided that inasmuch as Wright heads up the special education program and facilities for this type of teaching will be located at the new school, it would be desirable to place him in this post.

Mary Killian was also named by the board to head the program at new Lake Street school. She will serve as instructional aide for the Bagley school in conjunction with the new position.

Three school principalships — Estern Junior high school, Crofoot and Whittier — are still unfilled.

SHORT 'N' SNAPPY—It's easy to see why Gwen Verdon gets plenty of applause in her latest movie, "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes." She appears for less than a minute, but in that time she shows off a diamond-studded garter belt at a Parisian fashion house.

Use Kitchen Blender to Chop Up Bones

CLEVELAND (UP)—An ordinary electric kitchen blender, usually used to reduce fruits and vegetables to liquid, has been doing highly satisfactory work in a hospital laboratory as a bone miller for the past five years.

Three doctors searching for an instrument to mill bones used in repair work on the human skeleton found that the blender did better than anything else then in use. They had previously tried a coffee grinder, a pencil sharpener and a bone saw.

Drs. Norman J. Rosenberg, Malcolm A. Brahms and Rudolph S. Reich of Mt. Sinai Hospital said the blender produced bone chips more easily incorporated into the patient's own structure than larger chips.

Forty-one patients in the hospital have been treated with the blender-produced chips since 1950. Originally the bone dust so produced supplemented other material more conventionally obtained but now it is used exclusively.

Milk Supply Shorted

WARREN, Ohio (UP)—Farmer Ralph Gallant wondered why the milk output of his big dairy herd had been dropping off. He found out when seven cows were electrocuted. A short circuit had charged the water bowls alongside each stanchion. Apparently enough of the current had been reaching the cows for some time before they were killed to make them leery of drinking.

Legion Report Gives UNESCO Clean Bill

Because the American Legion long has been suspicious of UNESCO, its decision to study that U.N. group was news of real importance.

Even more important, in view of this attitude was the nature of the study committee's report to the Legion's executive board. As related in the Milwaukee Journal, RAY MURPHY, past national commander and study committee chairman, a year ago told the board the Legion should consider joining UNESCO.

This advice and MURPHY'S statement that there is nothing wrong with the United Nations Education, Social and Cultural Organization, made no impression. The committee was told it had listened to the State Department instead of making a real study. MURPHY and his group went back to work again and for a year probed every phase of UNESCO work.

Late last month MURPHY went before the executive board and gave a two hour report. Among other things, he said most of the charges against UNESCO are based on misstatements and distortions of fact traced to hate groups. He said it has nothing to do with U. S. school activities, has no U. S. program and is not favorable to work government.

The chairman further pointed out that the United States Commission on UNESCO is strongly opposed to world government. Finally, Murphy said, UNESCO is not atheistic and in no sense is it Communistic.

In a press release the executive board said that the committee had "produced an exhaustive report clearing UNESCO of left wing charges." The significance of this statement is that it is a complete reversal of the Legion's previous official attitude.

Campaign Expense Law Needs Upward Revision

There long has been in both major parties considerable opinion in support of the principles set forth in a bill sponsored by Missouri's Sen. HENNINGS.

This measure now before a subcommittee of the Senate Rules Committee, would revise upward the limits now set by law on campaign expenditures. That there is need for such revisions to safeguard our election machinery against corruption is undeniable.

Even when most economically managed in these days of radio, television and air travel, a campaign costs many times the $3,000,000 allowed each national committee. The same is the case with Senatorial candidates trying to operate on the $10,000 to $25,000 allowed them by the law, and with House candidates limited to $2,500 to $5,000.

The Hennings bill would allow national committees up to $12,000,000 and Senatorial candidates up to $50,000 or 10 cents per vote cast in the last election. House candidates would be allowed up to $12,500 or 10 cents a vote.

Although steps in the right direction, these limits would fall far short of needs. In a large state Senatorial candidates using modern facilities have to spend up to $250,000 to get the issues before all the voters. It has been estimated that the last Presidential campaign cost $100,000,000.

PHILIP L. GRAHAM, publisher of the Washington Post, thinks the source of campaign funds is frightening. He says candidates have to depend too much on underworld and special interest groups and people expecting to be rewarded with jobs. GRAHAM cited a GALLUP poll that showed only one family in 20 made 1954 campaign contributions, but that 33 per cent would have given $5 if asked.

Certainly if sufficient campaign funds could be raised in that manner, as GRAHAM urges, our politicians could run for office without becoming obligated to corrupt or selfish forces.

New Mail Service Begun

The Post Office Department has established a new postal classification known as "certified" mail.

This new service is intended to meet the need of those who want to know whether a piece of mail has been delivered, yet don't want to pay extra for indemnity in case of loss. For cost reasons alone, certified mail is expected to replace much of registered mail volume.

Letters in this category call for a special stamp costing 15 cents, or just half the 30 cents charge for no indemnity registered mail. Hereafter the minimum charge for registered mail with $5 indemnity will be 40 cents.

It is important to remember that users of certified mail service will get receipts showing delivery. Otherwise, it will be handled at post offices and in transit as ordinary mail.

There are sound reasons for this new service. Figures show that in handling registered mail at an average unit rate of 52.8 cents, the department was operating at a unit loss of 8 cents or a total of more than $5,000,000 for 1954.

System on 3-Day Holiday Traffic Is to Be Duplicated

Punctuality: Something to cultivate if you want to avoid people.

The manner of handling the three-day Memorial weekend traffic was such a success that tells me the system will be duplicated on July 2-3-4, in co-operation with

Sheriff Frank Irons

Chief Herbert W. Straley

of the local State Police and his men, and others to augment the service.

In my last conversation with

Governor G. Mennen Williams,

he highly complimented Pontiac on its method of securing a new city hall under which the building can be dedicated debt free.

Back from a visit with their son at Fort Sills, Okla.,

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. DuFrain

report considerable wild life in that area. At one point it was necessary to slow up their car to allow a herd of buffalo to cross the road.

There's an extra incentive for Pontiac people to put special stress on the observance of Flag Day next Tuesday. Not only does

tells me Pontiac's display was so well organized last year that it should be kept up, and is a pattern for other cities.

A wholesome oral bouquet comes to the Pontiac Press from

of Lake Orion, who phones, "Your editorial on Oakland County's highway situation in Friday's paper showed an exceptional understanding of the matter, and was the best thing I've read in many, many moons."

Oakland County now claims the largest new home development by one builder in Michigan. It is the project in Southfield Township, comprising 1,200 homes ranging from $17,500 to $30,000, some of which will be ready in three months.

A mother rabbit built her nest in the yard of

of Commerce, and sunk it so well that the lawn mower passed over it without harming the young bunnies. It now is on a grassy "island" of its own.

Pontiac Tiger fans, according to the team's local manager,

George Winters,

should go all out in voting for

for berths on the all-star team.

Hal Boyle Says:

Gold-Searching Outmoded in Modern New Mexico

RUIDOSO, N. M. (AP) — Leaves from a touring notebook:

Francisco Vasquez Coronado, one of old New Mexico's earliest tourists, made a major mistake 415 years ago when he set out on the first great treasure hunt through this territory.

He didn't bring along a Geiger counter.

Coronado, his heart lusting for loot, spent two fruitless years searching for the golden streets and jeweled towers of the fabled seven cities of Cibola. The expedition, one of the great land explorations of history, was a financial flop. Coronado found seven dusty Indian villages but no gold.

He searched for the wrong metal. He should have been looking for uranium.

Uranium fever has swept the Southwest as gold fever did in other centuries.

GOLD UNPOPULAR

"I don't know of anyone today who is actively prospecting for gold," said a resident. "But there are thousands who are looking for uranium."

A visitor gets the impression that half the motorists and pedestrians he meets on hill trails are wearing hearing aids.

"They aren't ordinary hearing aids," he is told. "Those people are listening for uranium."

City dwellers spend their weekends seeking the clicking hidden wealth. Tourists arrive with Geiger counters in their suitcases, hoping to find a fortune on their vacations.

This is the favorite local gag: "The quickest way to make money is to buy a piece of uranium and go out and find all the Geiger counters the prospectors have lost."

However, you don't have to go out in the hills yourself to hope for a profit from the uranium rush. Some automobile dealers are offering 1,000 free shares of uranium stock with each car sale.

JUST BUY A CAR

All a lazy man has to do is buy a new car — and wait for his uranium dividends to roll in. So far it has been a long wait. Uranium has turned out to be as scarce as — well, as scarce as uranium.

But even private fliers have installed special equipment in their planes so they can look for the precious metal while on routine business flights.

The Apache Indians, hitherto so jealous of any encroachment that they have forbidden overnight camping on their sprawling 460,536-acre reservation, opened it to uranium prospecting last week for the first time.

Prospectors for a fee of $200 each can search up to six months on the reservation and lease 20 acres of any area in which they discover ore.

"A survey by the Atomic Energy Commission showed two likely uranium deposit sites on the reservation," said Wendell Chino, president of the tribal business committee and distant kinsman of Geronimo, the last great Apache war chief.

The Apaches are naturally hopeful that uranium will make them as wealthy as oil did the Indians of Oklahoma. Their reservation borders the White Sands Proving Grounds.

But the Apaches, who have graduated from the Stone Age to the atomic era in half a century, are content to let the white man, who put them on their reservation, carry the burden of discovery.

"All we insist on are our rights," said Chino, his eyes twinkling.

So the grave-faced Apaches patiently lend their cattle as the new impatient pale-faced Coronados toil over mesa and mountain in quest of the pale gold of a new age.

The Indians figure that, no matter how the uranium boom turns out, they can't lose. It's a comfortable feeling for them. They haven't enjoyed anything so much since the buffalo days.

Woman Recently Involved in Accident Thankful for Good Samaritans of Today

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Let's praise God for our good Samaritans of today, as we have some now, just as in the days of old.

Last Thursday I was involved in an accident at Huron and Tilden Streets.

I was stunned for several minutes. Some kind gentleman, whom I didn't know, took my car from the intersection and moved it to safety. He also took my purse and car keys until I was able to care for them.

Much praise goes to that man and the lady who were so kind to me.

The other party involved in the accident was the grandest person. His car was smashed up considerably, yet his kindness and courtesy were wonderful.

The officer from the Waterford Township police department was kind and courteous, too. The agents from the insurance company handled the situation with the greatest kindness and consideration, deeply concerned over the injuries received in the accident.

So again I thank God for each and everyone who was so kind to me in a time of need, and may I do good unto my fellow man in return.

'Marl Marauders' Head Answers Pace Letter

Skin diving is fast becoming a very popular sport in the lake areas surrounding Pontiac and is being injured by misleading facts about the ease and simple operation of the necessary equipment used in this sport. A recent letter specified, in the opinion of the writer, that there is no danger in diving down to the 35-foot level.

I disagree, and rightly so. We have been operating a skin diving organization in this area for two years, incorporating safety precautions and advice from such people as Rene Bussoz, pioneer in the development of the sport.

In using underwater equipment the pressure at various depths does not affect all persons in the same manner. Some swimmers may reach 35 feet without difficulty, while others may experience sharp pain in the ears and chest, and at depths less than 20 feet.

The pressure and water gravity in your body are the deciding factors which determine the limit of your operations underwater.

Another point which was not mentioned is that persons subject to asthma or asthmatic conditions, coughing spells, sinus and other conditions relative to the breathing system should not participate below 20 to 30 feet. This is because of consequences brought on by pressure and physical changes within the body.

Coughing is dangerous to swimmers who have not had enough experience or instruction to know what to do when the spell occurs beneath the surface, thus losing the mouthpiece, gulping water and here tragedy enters the scene.

This inexperience is bad for the sport, as well as the manufacturers of such equipment. Nine times out of ten, the tragedy is due to carelessness, inexperience, lack of instruction and the lack of supervision in the case of beginners.

Persons interested in participating in this sport should be taught to the fullest extent the limitations of the various types of equipment sold and begin their underwater adventure under the strict supervision of an experienced diver. No one should be allowed to go down alone, especially beginners.

Those persons wishing to engage in this sport should be capable swimmers beforehand and should be taught how to support 40 pounds of equipment while on the surface waiting for aid.

Underwater, the equipment has no apparent weight, yet after swimming around below the surface you burn up much energy and upon returning to the surface find it difficult to maintain buoyancy.

Most self-contained units are of the hour and half-hour capacity. No one should spend more than six hours underwater in any 24 hour period, due to physical reactions within the body itself, change of pressure, depth and the use of energy which tend to weaken the system.

We would welcome the opportunity to aid, demonstrate or instruct in the use of such equipment without any obligation to those wishing to learn. A call to our headquarters, FE 5-7891, will start action on their behalf. Remember, no sport can be popular until the rules are laid down and safety precautions followed to protect the participants.

James Marlow Says:

Both Unions and Industry Have Grown Up Since '37

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eighteen years ago newspapers carried pictures of Walter Reuther, his face bloodied, after a beating by company tough guys for trying to organize auto workers into a union.

This week newspapers carried pictures of the same Reuther, all smiles, sitting beside smiling John S. Bugas, a Ford Motor Co. vice president, after their agreement on an historic contract.

Those bloody days of 1937 may seem primitive now. In the intervening years the United Auto Workers has become the largest union in the CIO, it has organized all the auto makers' plants and the industry has learned to live with it.

An historian, looking back on this week 200 years from now, may think the way UAW President Reuther and Bugas worked out the contract was as sensational as the principle they agreed on.

Both sides negotiated as businessmen. Neither made swaggering threats beforehand, thus making compromise possible. Both compromised. The company yielded more than it originally offered; Reuther accepted less than he demanded.

That historian, looking back with the hindsight of history and the evidence of events which haven't occurred yet, may decide the maturity both sides showed in this case was the coming of age of American labor and management.

Perhaps that is true for the UAW and the auto industry and they will henceforth live peacefully. But it won't be true with other unions and other industries and it may not be true for the UAW and the auto makers.

This week's Ford-UAW settlement, friendly as it was, was a cold-blooded business. If Ford defied the union and the workers struck, the company might have lost disastrously in the fierce competition with General Motors.

If GM now doesn't grant the UAW what Ford did, and there's a strike, the giant of the industry may suffer terrible damage. But in any auto strike that lasted long the workers would suffer terribly too.

It is nice to think labor and management in the auto industry have become mature. But if they are mature now, their coming of age had its roots in a factor both sides recognized in each other; both hold enormous power to hurt each other.

But it will be a long time before all unions and industries will work out their problems as peacefully as the auto industry and the UAW. This may be particularly true in the South, where the merged AFL-CIO plans big organizing drives. In some areas of the South the growing pains haven't started yet.

Are a Few More Dates Worth Risks Involved in Pre-Marital Sex Relations?

Marilyn said "Good-bye" to her boy friend with tears in her eyes. She felt crushed but she knew she was acting wisely. For men always admire spunk and idealism so no girl ever loses charm by living up to the rules of the game. Never sell out, like Esau, because you are afraid of being jilted.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-352. Marilyn T., aged 17, is the senior high schooler who was faced with a grave moral decision.

"Morality is chiefly mathematics," I informed Marilyn as I drew a picture of a scales with its two pans.

"If you accede to this boy friend's insistence that you submit to his illicit sexual demands, what do you gain?

"Well, you may 'buy' 15 or 20 more dates with him before the end of the school year.

"But you plan to go on to college and it is the usual reaction that torrid high school romances cool off when either the boy or girl goes away to college.

"So you may not be as attracted to each other in another year. In fact, you may drift into simply casual friendship.

BIG PRICE—

"Why pay such a big price for 15 or 20 dates? Now in this other scale pan we'll list the disadvantages.

"First, you may break your parents' hearts, especially if you become pregnant and must quit school in social disgrace.

"All through your 17 years they've planned for your best interests. This included high school, college and happy marriage.

"Is it worth gambling with such a big investment on their part, just to buy 15 more dates with your high school hero?

UNFAIR TO CHILD

"And if you bear a baby out of wedlock, you will be unfair to that child, so we'll list this as another weight on the pan of our scales.

"Meanwhile, you will have lost your spirit or spunk. You will grow fearful lest the boy 'tell' of your affair, especially, if he drinks liquor.

"You will become shifty-eyed and evasive. You will grow suspicious and imagine the other girls are whispering about you behind your back.

"You'll imagine people are indicting you, for you will have an inferiority complex all the time, and just for the price of 15 more dates!

GUILT FOLLOWS

"Next fall, if you should go to college and really fall truly in love with some other man, then you'll be scared to have him come to your home town to visit, lest he learn about your past affair.

"So you may even tell lies to cover up, for one mistake of this sort often produces many more sins, such as lies and falsehoods.

"So in one pan of our scales, we see 15 dates you may buy with the leading boy in your senior class.

"The other scales pan contains possibly broken hearted parents, an infant born outside of wedlock, gonorrhea and syphilis, suspicion, lies, and a broken spirit in yourself.

IT'S UP TO YOU

"Marilyn, nobody else can make moral decision for you. This is one crisis that each person must decide for himself or herself.

"Here are the facts. Weigh them. Decide what will do the most good for the most people over the longest period of time."

"Dr. Crane, I knew what was right before I ever came to see you," Marilyn said, "but I am glad you gave me the full facts.

"It will be hard to be jilted during the final weeks of school, but I'll tell him if he doesn't like me enough to date me under the present rules, then he'll have to date somebody else."

ULTIMATUM

And she did just that. Tears were in her eyes when she delivered her ultimatum, as she confessed to me later.

But the boy not only retained his respect for her high ideals, but came back to her after three days and asked to continue with their romance on her terms.

For most men admire idealism, so any girl with charm never loses by playing the game according to the rules.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Some Parents Succumb to 'Bad Tonsils' Warning

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

A familiar device of ever-ready operators working up business for themselves and the hospital is this:

"The child will probably continue to have one cold after another until those bad tonsils are removed."

This shabby trick disarms countless parents, grandparents, uncles, aunts, big brothers or sisters who might otherwise save the child from a major operation.

Notice, please, the tonsil snatchers give no guarantee or commitment of any kind. They leave it to the gullible guardians to draw the inference that tonsillectomy will put an end to the usual childhood illnesses.

STATISTICS CITED

Well, now, what can parents, grandparents, uncles, aunts, etc, who have gotten beyond the third grade in school learn from the most authoritative statistics available today concerningg the effects of tonsillectomy?

I'll cite these stitistics for you, or, if you'd rather study the question first-hand, you may find in your public library the book from which I quote: Children's Tonsils In and Out, by Albert D. Kaiser, M. D., published by Lippincott, 1932.

Just in case some trick specialist or "clinic" racketeer says out of the corner of his mouth "There he goes again, 22 years behind the march of medicine!" I repeat, Dr. Kaiser's statistics are the most authoritative we have today, and I do hereby solemnly promise to make public apology, retraction, correction, or amendment if any reputable physician or group of physicians can show that there are today any more authoritative or more carefully compiled statistics on the effects of tonsillectomy on the frequency of so-called "colds" in childhood than Dr. Kaiser's.

Information obtained from parents of 4,400 Rochester school children between four and seven years of age showed that 42 per cent were subject to three or more "colds" a year.

EXPERIMENT

For various reasons physicians advised removal of the tonsils and adenoids of the 4,400 children. But 2,200 of the children were subjected to the operation, and 2,244 were not.

The entire group of 4,400 children were observed over a period of ten years, and then, when the children were from 14 to 17 years of age, high school students, "the general incidence of repeated colds was definitely less than it had been when the childfen were four to seven years of age."

Among the 2,200 children whose tonsils and adenoids had been removed 23 per cent (484 children), were still subject to repeated "colds." Among the 2,200 whose tonsils and adenoids were not removed 31 per cent (692 children) still had repeated "colds."

In view of these statistics I must say I don't see how any doctor can condemn a child to tonsillectomy just because the child has three or more alleged "colds" in a year.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Abandoned B47 Puts Fishermen to Flight

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP)—Lt. Floyd L. Doss, of Lynchburg, one of the few men to bail out of a 600-mile per hour B47 jet bomber, admits it was scary plunging out into midnight darkness. But Doss and two other crew members were not the only ones who were scared.

Two men were at a small lake where the plane fell, preparing for some night fishing.

"When they saw the bomber, with all its landing lights on, come swooping down at them, they first jumped into the water and then took off through the woods," Doss said.

Doss and his two companions escaped with minor injuries, but Doss spent over 6 hours in the top of a South Carolina pine tree before National Guardsmen got him down.

Prayers Get Results in Church Burglary

DIXON, Ill. (AP)—The congregation of the Methodist Church has turned to the Lord instead of the police for the solution of a theft. And they're getting results.

Several weks ago someone stole a birthday penny bank from the church Sunday school department. The class prayed for the thief and the eventual return of the bank, fashioned in the shape of a cross.

The bank was returned — left on a shelf. It was empty. Now prayers have renewed for the thief and return of the cash—about $4.

Frozen Juice Buyers Educated, Well-Off

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Income and education are factors in the use of frozen orange juice, according to a University of Michigan survey.

It revealed that 66 per cent of the persons questioned in this city were regular users. Large families, those in the higher income brackets and those with college educations were the heaviest purchasers of the frozen juice.

The survey, conducted by the school's business administration department, revealed that an estimated 10,000,000 persons have become new orange juice drinkers because of the introduction of frozen orange juice.

Users average about 1.19 cans per week, the survey showed. Students questioned 113 families for their findings.

Trap records show mice may migrate four miles in a week.

Lab Finds Universal Use of Seat Belts Would Cut Auto Crash Deaths in Half

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP) — Scoffed at for years as impractical and unwanted, the automobile seat belt may yet become standard equipment. Edward R. Dye of Cornell University testing laboratory says its universal use would cut auto crash fatalities in half.

A 35,000 annual death toll on the nation's highways is making more motorists conscious of safety. National and state legislation is being proposed for the installation of safety belts.

However, even proponents of the belts say safety cannot be legislated into motorcars and motoring. It will have to come, they say, through a prolonged course of education.

Probably nothing suggested for the automobile in the last quarter century or more has stimulated as much argument as the seat belt.

The automobile industry's spokesmen say it can be installed in a car with relatively little added cost. But, they add, few persons want the belt until they have been involved in a serious traffic accident.

CONTRAST—Drawings based on Cornell University laboratory tests showing how safety belts prevent injuries.

They add also that the belt alone may not be the complete answer to safer driving. It may have to be supplemented with a shoulder harness. Relatively few persons, they say, want to be strapped into an automobile.

Also proposed are a chest guard over the steering post and padding over the dashboard.

The former would save many drivers from chest injuries; the latter would absorb head blows that might be suffered by the occupant of the so-called "suicide" seat—alongside the driver.

All these things have been tested exhaustively by the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, an affiliate of Cornell University.

And the safety belts have been unqualifiedly endorsed by a group of surgeons who participated recently in a panel discussion of the car safety problem.

Alvin C. Smith, writing in the laboratory's "Research Trends," says that to be really effective the belt "must be attached to the primary structure (frame) of the car;" that the belts should be arranged with one person per belt.

WHAT HAPPENS?

What happens to driver and passengers in an average automobile colliding head-on with another vehicle or crashing into an immovable object? Many of the car companies have joined in the effort to find out.

Generally they are coming up with almost identical answers. Simulating various types of crashes, with driverless cars occupied by dummy figures representing children and adults, they learn:

The majority of passenger fatalities are a result of head blows.

In a front-end collision the driver will invariably receive a potentially injurious blow to the torso against the steering wheel; where the rate of deceleration is beyond a certain point the driver, if not impaled on the steering wheel post, will also receive a head blow against the upper windshield or windshield molding.

For the adult in the front seat, the head initially strikes the upper windshield molding region, followed by a secondary head blow, usually glancing against the windshield and a facial blow on the upper instrument panel shelf.

CORNELL LAB FINDS:

Describing its tests the Cornell Laboratory reported:

"Rear seat occupants frequently ended up in the rear compartment, although photographic records disclosed they had traversed the length of the compartment—rear to front and then back again."

Out of the tests may come modification of automotive interiors. And because acceptance of seat belt on a wide scale may be slow in coming, the researchers are exploring other methods of body restraint.

Among these other methods are such things as pull-out panels, crash bars and special seat design. It is agreed, however, that these devices, requiring major redesign of the vehicle itself, are restricted to the car of the future.

Finds GOP at Last in Nonpartisan Unit

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Partisan politics crept into Nebraska's nonpartisan Legislature when Gov. J. Hugo Aronson of Montana appeared before the body.

In a brief address, Aronson noted he is only the third Republican to be elected governor of Montana.

Silence greeted the comment.

"Aren't there any Republicans in here?" asked Aronson.

Applause followed.

Members of Nebraska's unicameral (one-house) Legislature are elected on non-political ballots.

2 Canadians Plan Round-World Trip

EVERETT (AP) — A couple of British Columbia men with a small boat and a large case of wanderlust are getting ready to start a round-the-world cruise which "might take three years—We're not in a hurry."

Barney G. Stoney, 44, of Vancouver, is the skipper. His crew is Brian C. Laurence, former British army dispatch rider.

They have a 33-foot fishing boat. They plan to loaf down the Pacific Coast, visit the Caribbean, then return through the Panama Canal and head west.

Boyhood Buddy Protects Bing

Studio Property Man and Crosby Grew Up Together in Seattle

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Bing Crosby has a friend who, whether Crosby wishes it or not, is about as close to being a guardian angel as an earthling can get. In addition to that, he's also about as plain-talking as anyone in the business ever is with the Old Groaner.

The person involved is Jimmy Cottrell, a studio property man who grew up with Crosby in Seattle, Wash.

In fact, they used to get in fights together, but usually they were on the same side during rougher sessions on Seattle's B street.

The adult phase of their story begins with occupations. Crosby decided to sing for his supper in night clubs.

Cottrell became a boxer and stayed with it until his legs gave out. It was he who lent Crosby moral support when Der Bingle first gave the movies a whirl.

HIS MAIN WORRY

Cottrell became a property man and has been at Paramount for many years. When he talks about Crosby, it's easy to realize the crooner is his main worry.

"I talk to Bing the same way as when we were kids," he said. "I tell him straight. I'm one guy who always levels with him. Mainly, I tell him to take it easy. Sometimes I see him under terrific pressure, with everyone coming at him for favors and requests and this and that.

"He's such a wonderful guy and the softest touch in the world that it burns me up to see him get taken. Sometimes I can't stand it."

Cottrell's worrier worked at its peak when Crosby underwent surgery recently prior to starting work in Paramount's "Anything Goes." The old pal now would like to see more weight on Crosby to build up his resistance.

"I do the best I can, but I can't be everywhere," Cottrell said with a shrug. "I'd certainly hate to have to go to his mother about it again."

Gets Life Term for 'Suicide'

St. Louis Man Kills Transient to Set Up Fake Funeral

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The bizarre case of Albert L. Paglino, charged with killing a man to set up a fake funeral for himself, came to an end last night with a first-degree murder conviction.

But even then the case took another strange twist briefly.

The Circuit Court jury in suburban Clayton returned its verdict and set Paglino's punishment at life imprisonment. His sister Mrs. Rose Fills screamed and fainted in the courtroom and had to be revived in the corridor.

Then the 29-year-old Paglino was about to be taken back to jail but for a moment it was thought he had escaped. Radio messages were sent out and deputy sheriffs rushed about with guns drawn.

But Paglino meekly appeared in the sheriff's office in the custody of jailer Ruben Sauers. As Deputy Sheriff Jack Culligan put Paglino on the elevator to return him to jail he turned for a moment and the elevator door suddenly closed.

Paglino was inside and the officer outside. The elevator then descended to the garage of the courthouse building. The door opened as Sauers approached.

"I'm Paglino," Paglino said. "I'm waiting to be taken to jail."

Sauers did just that. The radio alerts were canceled.

Paglino was charged with killing a drunk and rigging the evidence to make it appear that he himself had died in a tourist court fire in St. Louis County in April 1954. He was spotted in a tavern the day of the funeral.

He later jumped bond and was arrested in El Centro, Calif., last February.

The victim in the fire, first buried as Paglino, later was identified as Willie Burchett, a migrant railroad worker.

The prosecution said in its opening statement at the trial Monday that Paglino was in financial trouble and "wanted the world to think that he was dead."

Power, Water Failure Stops Edmonton Dead

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP)—A fire cut off the water and the electricity in this city of 209,000 yesterday just as evening meals were being prepared and workmen were heading for home.

The cutoff lasted 1 hour and 21 minutes after a small fire started in the main switch gear at the city powerhouse.

Water ceased running. Traffic lights went black. Trolley buses stalled where they were until power was restored.

He Leaves Pal With Honey of a Problem

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—When Bill Cole found a queen bee and her many subjects on the hood of his car, he revved up his motor in hope the heat would scatter the swarmers.

They only resettled on a cooler spot. So Cole tried to blow them away by driving around. The blanket of bees caused the engine to become overheated.

Bees and all, Cole steamed up to a service station operated by a friend, George Reddick, who cooled the radiator with an injection of water. Meanwhile, the bees zoomed all over the station.

Before they could alight again, Cole drove off, leaving Reddick with a honey of a problem.

Seeks Hulk of Boat on Which 1,457 Died

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP)—Lumberman A. P. Dacus is planning a search for the hulk of the Sultana, a steamboat that sank near here in the worst boat disaster this nation has ever known.

The steamer caught fire on a brisk April night in 1865 and carried 1,457 persons to death in the Mississippi River.

The disaster changed the course of the Mississippi. Silt piling around the hulk forced the river into a new bed. The main stream is now about four miles east of where the Sultana went down.

Dacus said a study of old maps shows the site of the sinking is on his riverside land. If the search is successful, he plans to restore the hulk to its original condition and place it on public display.

Korean Police Quell Anti-Jap Marchers

SEOUL (AP)—Armed police today quickly squelched a second march on the United States Embassy in two days by "anti - Japanese" demonstrators.

Today's unrest began at the port of Inchon, where 500 labor unionists climbed into trucks and drove to Seoul to parade and shout anti-Japanese slogans. Police quickly threw up roadblocks. They said there was no bloodshed as the men were stopped from approaching both the embassy and President Syngman Rhee's residence.

Yesterday 200 South Korean war veterans fought rifle - swinging police in an effort to force entrance to the embassy compound and Dr. Rhee's palace. Between 50 and 100 received minor injuries and some 25 arrested.

Democrat Wins Race

HANOVER, N.H. (AP)—Hanover has elected a Democratic representative to the New Hampshire Legislature for the first time since 1904. Clothing merchant James W. Campion Jr., defeated Republican Robert S. Monahan 503-465 yesterday in a special election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mrs. Edith P. Atkins.

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—Medicine, in ancient Greece, was of the stuff dreams are made of. Starts Library in Denver Jail

Prisoner Urges City to Establish Branch for Fellow Convicts

DENVER (AP)— A 60-year-old cabinetmaker has been instrumental in establishing a branch of the city library in jail.

William M. Zenker has been in jail since Feb. 24, 1954, for contempt of court. He was sentenced to an indefinite term for refusing to divulge where he buried $10,000 the court claims belongs to his ex-wife and which he says should go to a daughter he hasn't seen for years and can't locate.

When he went to jail, Zenker immediately devoted himself to taking care of the few paper-back books available. When his own case was publicized, he managed to direct attention to the lack of reading material in the county institution.

With his urging, the county jail officially became a branch of the Denver Public Library. Warden Gordon Dolliver says the arrangement makes 500 books available to the inmates.

NAMED LIBRARIAN

With the establishment of the library, Zenker—who can get out of jail any time he tells where the money is—has been named official librarian and Dolliver reports:

"He's so pleased with his new assignment and responsibilities, I doubt now whether he will ever tell where he buried the dough—he likes it here."

NO DUMMY SHE — This window "mannequin" in a San Francisco store window had scads of pedestrians doing a double-take. They'd look at the "dummy" for several minutes, admiring its lifelike appearance. Then the "dummy" would move. The bathing suit model is actually Carole Nielson, a finalist in the Miss San Francisco contest. She got a big kick out of reclining with complete immobility and then suddenly coming to "life."

How to Handle Your Money: 4

Investment Education Needed for Best Returns

Following is the fourth installment of a ten-part interview with Benjamin Graham, security analyst and Columbia University professor who answers questions on the how's, why's and when's of investnig your money.

Q—Where can the average man get his information? How does he go about it?

A—You mean his education. Information is one thing and education is another; a more fundamental thing in connection with investment. Naturally, the way he can do that is by pursuing some of the avenues of instruction that are open. He can take courses, as many do. Those who are in New York, of course, have a better opportunity than those who are in small towns.

Q—Around the country, though, many can't get such instruction, can they?

A—Well, the average man won't do it. But I wouldn't be willing to admit that he can't do it. A person who is really determined to prepare himself to be an intelligent investor can do it. For example, he can take a correspondence course. You learn the job just the way you learn to play the piano.

Q—What about the man who lives where such a course simply is not available? As a matter of fact, most people aren't willing to devote the time for such courses, anyway. What's the next best thing?

A—The next best thing for him to do is to decide that he cannot except to get optimum investment results without this optimum preparation, and consequently he has to accept a more representative or average investment program. He can do that by deciding to follow a simple but very definite plan—first, dividing his money into the compartments we discussed before and, secondly, following a systematic and simple procedure with respect to the common-stock components.

DOLLAR AVERAGING

For example, I suggest that he buy investment-company shares on a regular basis. That brings in the concept of dollar averaging, which has now become so familiar and popular. That would be a sound procedure. The main thing for him is not to go off suddenly on a tangent, believing that he had suddenly become an expert because the market has gone up and he has been making some money.

Q—What do you mean by "dollar averaging"?

A—Dollar averaging is a method of investment under which you set aside regularly a fixed amount of money and invest it in common stocks generally, either in a single common stock or preferably in a group investment through investment-company shares. By investing the same amount of money at regular intervals—say, every three months—you get two advantages. One is that over the years your investment reflects the average market price rather than the high market levels—which is where you are likely to buy if you follow the crowd.

MORE STOCK CHEAPER

Secondly, the arithmetic of dollar averaging gives you more shares at the lower prices than at the higher prices, so that your average cost is lower than the arithmetical average. If you are putting $1,000 in one kind of stock and the price is $10, you'de get 100 shares. If latter is $20, you'd get 50 shares. You bought more stock at the $10 basis than at $20. Consequently your average price would be less than $15.

Blast Furnace World's Biggest

Great Lakes Steel Puts Hearth in Operation at Zug Island Plant

DETROIT (AP) — What it termed the world's largest blast furnace was placed in production today by the Great Lakes Steel Corp. at its Zug Island plant in the River Rouge.

The new furnace has a hearth 30 feet 3 inches in diameter and a rated capacity of 50,000 tons of pig iron a month. Great Lakes engineers predicted, however, that as operating experience develops the giant may average 60,000 tons a month.

No other furnace has a 30-foot hearth, and Owen R. Rice, vice president and general manager of the Freyn Department of Koppers, Inc., the furnace builder, said: "It has taken 37 years to cross the 30-foot line, which has been to us somewhat like the sound barrier was to aviation."

The new furnace will consume in a 24-hour day 3,200 tons of ore, 1,300 tons of coke, 550 tons of limestone, 55,000 tons of water for cooling, and 5,000 tons of air for blast. Ninety men are required to man the furnace and its auxiliary installations for three shifts.

Great Lakes, a division of National Steel Corp., has four blast furnaces, including the new one which replaced a 20,000-ton monthly furnace.

K. of C. Award Goes to Catholic Editor

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — The Rev. Hubert A. Maino of Detroit, editor of the Michigan Catholic, was announced today as winner of the second annual Knights of Columbus award for journalism.

Father Maino will receive the plaque during the three day K. of C. convention which opened today on Mackinac Island. Walter W. Fuller, fraternal editor of the Detroit News, won the 1954 award.

State Deputy Walter H. Graveline of Bay City said Father Maino's paper was cited for its campaigns to rid newsstands of humanitarian causes.

Father Maino, a native of Jackson, has been editor of the Michigan Catholic weekly since 1947.

Some 1,000 delegates are attending the K. of C. meeting. Honored guests include Edward Cardinal Mooney, Archbishop of Detroit, and the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noe, Bishop of Marquette.

Principal speaker at tomorrow night's banquet will be Walker L. Cisler, president of the Detroit Edison Co.

Nike Missile Found Effective in Arctic

OTTAWA (AP) — Canadian army headquarters have reported that subarctic tests had proven the Nike, ground-to-air guided missile developed in the United States, is successful in the most severe weather. The Nike is designed to locate and destroy enemy aircraft by means of an electric brain.

Six months of tests were conducted near Churchill, Man., on the western shore of Hudson Bay by Canadian artillery and engineer personnel. Previously the missile was tested in New Mexico.

Grayling Scouts Begin Annual River Cleanup

GRAYLING (AP) — Explorer Scouts from Grayling were to begin their second annual "river cleanup' of the main stream and south branch of the Au Sable today.

The job will take about three weeks to complete. The boys will remove cans, bottles and other trash from the streams.

The cleanup is sponsored by the Grayling Guides Association, the Chamber of Commerce and the Sportsmen Club of Grayling.

SOVIET GOAL — Goal of current Soviet diplomacy is a belt of neutral nations from the Baltic Sea to the Adriatic that would separate European members of NATO from the Soviet Union and its satellites. At present only Austria and Switzerland are neutral in Central Europe. Playing on all Germans' deep desire for unification, Moscow holds out neutrality as bait for West Germany. So far, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has rejected the bait. Southern link in the neutral belt would be Yugoslavia. Soviet top brass went hat-in-hand to President Tito, hoping to sell him on the idea. So far, Tito maintains his "firm independence." Early this year Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko went to Stockholm with the reported message that the Soviets would not object to a Scandinavian union (Sweden, Finland, Norway, Denmark) if the union would pledge strict neutrality.

Shady Adoption Rings Flourish

U.S. Delves Into Problem of Black-Marketed Babies

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The young girl leaving the clinic obviously was pregnant. It was obvious, too, that she wasn't married, for she wasn't wearing a wedding band and her eyes were reddened and troubled.

As the girl boarded a bus, an older woman followed behind and started a conversation. The woman was kindly and most understanding.

Soon a friendship had blossomed and the girl was sharing her troubles. She would soon be an unwed mother, she said, and had come to the city so no one would know.

The older woman consoled her, then offered to help. She said she knew a good doctor, and thought she could find a couple who'd agree to adopt the young girl's child. And she said she'd take care of the medical bills.

A few weeks later, the young girl had borne her baby—and another innocent child had been claimed by a shady adoption ring which would peddle him off to the highest bidder.

In 1953 alone, according to latest and as yet unpublished figures from the Children's Bureau of the Health, Education and Welfare Department, more than 22,000 babies had been placed in strange new homes through illegal, unrecognized channels.

An unknown number of these infants were sold for a profit. Although the total may be comparatively small, public indignation over this black market in babies is greatly stirred up.

On the basis of court convictions it has been proved that fees for babies range from $250 to $3000.

This is one of the main reasons why the federal government has at last taken steps to study the problem. Officials are gravely concerned by the traffic of babies who are passed from frightened, unwed mothers to craving, childless couples. Too often this results in tragedy, they say.

Because of these and other reports, the Children's Bureau has hired a special consultant on community planning for the prevention of the black market in babies.

She's Margaret Thornhill, one of the few experts in this field. Reported here exclusively are some of her views and experiences since she's been on the job.

"I am looking into those situations where babies are not being put into recognized and competent agencies," explains Miss Thornhill, who has already taken a swing through Tennessee, Florida and New York.

"I want to accumulate all the latest information on the situation of unprotected babies so the Children's Bureau will have some hard-hitting and useful facts to present to social workers, citizens, lawyers, doctors and legislators.

"Numerous states laws need improvement and we might want to recommend federal legislation as result of the study."

Approximately 146,500 babies are born each year to unmarried mothers, almost a fourth of whom are 17 years or younger, according to Martha M. Eliot, chief of the Children's Bureau.

"Most of the babies involved in the black market are born to young unmarried women," she says. "The black market operators take advantage of these girls at a time of deep emotional stress."

MARGARET THORNHILL

"One of the most important factors," Miss Thornhill points out, "is the tremendous growing demand for adopted children. There are simply not enough babies to meet this need no matter what channels parents choose to go through.

"In 1953 an estimated 90,000 adoption petitions were filed in courts across the country. This is 60 per cent greater than the estimate made in 1944.

"The sale of infants for a profit to would-be adoptive parents is due in a large part to lack of adequate protections in many states. This is a critical situation, but it is most critical for the individual child who becomes an innocent party."

It is one of many Miss Thornhill encountered in her recent trip. While this case involved money, the hundreds of others which don't have equally sad results.

The older woman who had offered to help did not meet the girl by accident. She makes it her business to spot a girl in trouble, and she has a seemingly easy answer to all worries and uncertainty.

In return, the pregnant woman agrees to give up her baby after birth out of desperation and fear. But when it's all over and she no longer has her baby, she has a terrible feeling of remorse, and it is unlikely she will make a satisfactory adjustment.

The baby's future is just as dark. It is taken by a couple who are unable to have a child. This has been an emotional upset for the wife whose desire for a child has become an unnatural obsession. As a result, none of the recognized social agencies will grant her permission to adopt.

But her husband can afford to buy a baby through the black market. And so this child innocently is used as a cure for a woman's unbalanced feelings.

Miss Thornhill stresses that other cases vary around the same theme. Sometimes the pregnant mother is falsely led to believe her child will be returned.

Later she finds that papers she signed made it legally possible for the baby to be kept. Often babies are just hurriedly given away under pressure of well-meaning friends or relatives.

House Expected to OK $1 Floor

Minimum Wage Hike Passed by Senate in Speedy Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two key members predicted today the House will follow the Senate's lead in voting to increase the minimum wage from 75 cents to $1 an hour.

President Eisenhower has asked for no more than 90 cents, and reiterated that position yesterday.

Rep. McConnell of Pennsylvania, senior Republican on the Hou Labor Committee, told newsmen he expects the committee to approve a bill for $1 and said the House "very definitely" will pass it.

Rep. Kelley of Pennsylvania, second-ranking committee Democrat, said, "Most members of the committee are for $1."

Chairman Barden (D-NC), on the other hand, was backing the administration figure and declared he would accept no more than 95 cents.

The Senate, with rare speed and a minimum debate, called up the wage bill yesterday and pushed it to passage without a record vote. The increase, effective Jan. 1, would bring automatic wage increases for an estimated 2,100,000 covered workers now making less than $1 hourly.

Lincoln Sales Up

Besides Silkowsky, inductees from the local board were:

Massey Gets a Divorce From Honest Abe

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Raymond Massey of Broadway and Hollywood is eternally grateful to Abraham Lincoln of Illinois and Washington, D. C., for giving him a comfy living in the theater these last 17 years. But he cannot honestly play the role of Honest Abe again.

Massey feels he has outgrown the White House and, in effect, passed Mr. Lincoln by.

"What I mean is," he said, casting about desperately for a place to deposit his legs, "I am too old and too fat to play Lincoln any more. I am therefore switching, as any actor with a touch of brain does at some time or other, to Shakespeare."

Such an announcement as this, coming from a distinguished actor born in Canada and graduated from Oxford in the Merrie Olde Bard's country, does not come as a particular surprise. Except to the actor himself.

NO AD LIBBING

"Some people have the impression," he says, "that I am an old hand at Shakespeare, but actually I've collided with the bard only once in my life—25 years ago when I did 'Hamlet' on Broadway.

"Scared me to death then, scares me to death now. You don't ad lib Shakespeare, you know. You have to be good. You have to have a memory like a—well—a Shakespearean actor."

When he played "Hamlet" in 1930, Massey found it the hardest work he had done before, and possibly since, and was rewarded "by five good, two indifferent and two bad reviews from the critics."

"There was also an ambiguous mention," he remembers with a laugh (a Massey laugh is rather like that of a vocally coached hyena, and is infectious within a 100-yard radius). "It was written by a man named Robert Benchley.

"Benchley wrote, and I quote, 'Raymond Massey plays Hamlet as a very decent young man who doesn't like actors.' . . . you can take that many ways but, for the sake of my stomach, I took it as a good notice."

FIRST IN AMERICA

Massey's upcoming Shakespearean assignment will take place at the launching next month of America first all-Shakespeare theater in Stratford, Conn., a big cultural project which the actor believes is long overdue.

"It is like the study of Latin and Greek to a scholar," he says. "Every actor, to be good, should do Shakespeare—because it will make every other form of acting easier to comprehend and interpret."

And as for the people who go to Stratford, Conn., to see the prospective annual "American Shakespeare Festival" opening July 12 and continuing for eight weeks in its first season—Massey foresees their loving the experience.

"The bard knew a darn sight more about the theater than almost anyone alive today and for entertainment he just couldn't go wrong. If he were alive now, he'd still be the biggest money-making playwright in the business."

What's more, Massey believes playgoers will be happy to see normal characters again. "Shakespeare knew the normal people so well," he says. "So many of the so-called fine playwrights today know only the neurotics . . .

"It'll be refreshing, won't it, to hear beautiful language instead of Dese-dems-doses. And to see real leading man drop a cigarette in his coffee cup? That sort of gesture has all sorts of deep meaning in the modern theater—but it's overdone."

At the beautiful new Shakespearean theater, located less than two hours drive from New York City, Massey will alternate between two roles: Brutus in "Julius Caesar," and Prospero in "The Tempest."

"Golly, the lines are wonderful," he says, "and there is one that sums up what we talked about earlier—why I can no longer play Abraham Lincoln, much as I loved the roles.

"I am now 59 years old, and 190 pounds around, and Prospero sums up the whole thing for me most poetically—when he soliloquizes, 'Be not disturb'd with my infirmity.' For, with Shakespeare in my future, I am not."

Michigan Wages High Compared to Average

KALAMAZOO, (AP) — A report by Dr. Paul V. Sangren, president of Western Michigan College, indicates that the average Michigan family has $1,000 more to spend each year than the nationwide average.

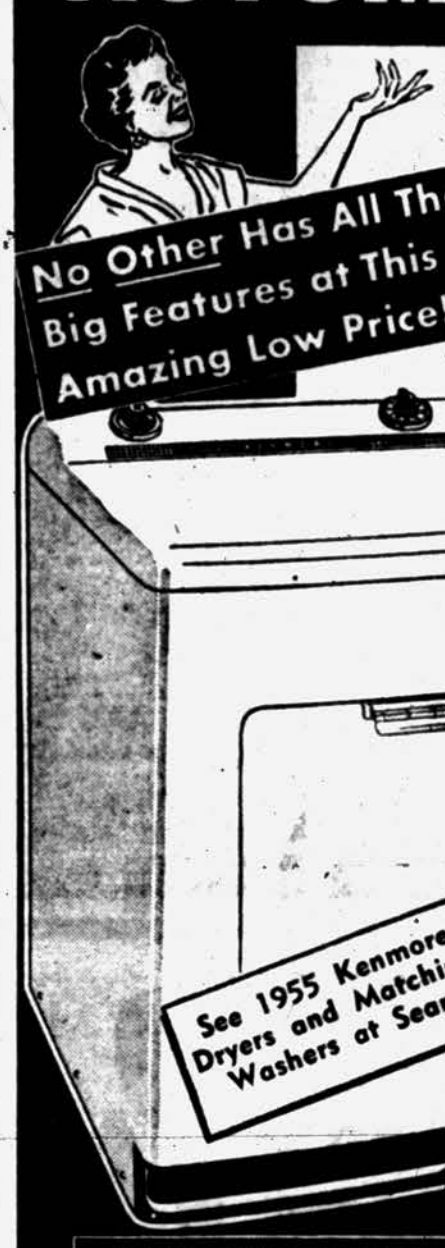

He said for each dollar received in 1929 the average Michigan family now gets about $2.70. The average for the nation is $2.50.

U. S. Word 'Fix' Confuses Guest From England

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—An English visitor listened as two American newsmen discussed clarity in news writing and the need for simplified language.

"And how you Americans do simplify it," said Karl Archibald, of London. "I am interested in the use here of the word 'fix.'

"I am invited to dinner and my host asks how I would like a drink fixed. He means mixed. My hostess calls to us to hurry because dinner is all fixed—and she means prepared.

"My host says he must get a flat tire fixed—and he means repaired. You say you are on a fixed income—and you mean steady and unchanging. You say you will fix something to the wall—and you mean attach. And you say 'I'll fix him—and you mean get revenge.

"Finily you remark that you are in "a H—— of fix,, and I see that you may have some comprehension of my predicament in trying to follow your simplification."

Save Million Dollars With Single Idea

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Two enlisted instructors at Lowry Air Force Base here have developed training gear at a cost of $13,250 that will put $1,200,000 in bomb navigation equipment back in flight operation.

T.Sgt. Frederick N. Ard, and S.Sgt Warren E. Arnspiger, spent 480 off-duty hours and $4,250 in Air Force money developing a pilot model of the training aid. Three more models are being constructed at a cost of $3,000 each.

Capt. Paul B. McCann, chief of the Lowry bomb navigation branch, said when the models are completed, the expensive operational equipment designed foruse on Air Force B-47 bombers can be put in flight service The training models "simulate" all the electrial and mechanical impulses of the B-47 gear in the training of bomb navigation mechanics.

Both sergeants have been recommended for the Commendation Medal.

A gas-operated refrigerator.
A gas cook stove.

A bunk for himself and his wife.
An 18-foot sailboat.

All this and more. He also takes along pots and pans, clothing, dry foods and cereals, a water canteen, a portable radio and an outboard motor.

Sterner knows how to pack, that's all.

Just looking at his station wagon from the outside, you'd never suspect he could load all that stuff into it. Of course, he had to remodel the interior.

He took out the middle and back seats and built a bunk of plywood about 10 inches above the car floor. In the rear, he used plywood for racks and compartments around the refrigerator and wedged a tank of liquid petroleum gas next to it.

The sailboat, a collapsible job, is stowed under the bunk.

Nearby is the portable radio with a timer that turns it off automatically. Sterner can plug the radio into the car loudspeaker or into another speaker he installed on the back flap of the station wagon.

"We use that speaker when we're eating outside," he said.

The table on which he and his wife dine is a type that unfolds, benches and all. He stores it above the spare tire.

The tire itself serves a dual purpose. Sterner keeps it over-inflated so he can use the excess air to blow up his air mattress at night.

He installed screens over the windows of the two back doors and built storage compartments under the front seat and the dash. There's even an umbrella fastened to the firewall near the heater.

For six months Sterner, a former sailor, spent his spare time rejiggering the station wagon and getting it shipshape for his outings. He spent about $600 on the project.

On summer week ends he and his wife drive out to one of the lakes near Chicago and assemble their sailboat.

"There's always a crowd around when we stop," he said.

"And what surprises them most is when I lift the hood and take out the outboard motor I keep strapped to the top of the car's engine."

Professional Men Unhappy While in Industry Jobs

CHICAGO (UP) — Professional men in industry — engineers, chemists, physicists — are chronically frustrated and dissatisfied, a university of Chicago research team has reported.

David G. Moore and Richard Renck used ann "employe inventory" test with 543 employes in an effort to determine their feelings toward their jobs.

The inventory covered 78 statements relative to the employes' feeling about their jobs, working conditions, pay, benefits, confidence in management, status and recognition.

The over-all attitude of the chemists, physicists and engineers was classified as "average" compared with executives and top personnel who ranked high or very high.

Idaho's mean average temperature is 56 degrees.

Hart Predicts GOP to Change

Says Republicans Now Will Support Higher Unemployment Pay

MUSKEGON (AP)—Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart last night twitted the Republican Party for what he said was its past opposition to higher unemployment compensation benefits. The Ford-UAW agreement will change that, he said.

Addressing a county Democratic dinner, Hart said "every significant improvement in the law had to be dragged from their doubtful and protesting souls."

Now that Ford Motor Co. has agreed with the CIO United Auto Workers to pay idle workers the difference between their unemployment benefits and 65 per cent of their regular pay, an "economic motive is created for big business to be in favor of, rather than opposed to, higher unemployment compensation," Hart said.

Hart, saying it would be interesting to watch Republicans change sides, declared two Republicans who sponsored "the inadequate and deceptive jog insurance bill passed in the 1955 session," already have said publicly they would be "very happy" to support changes to make the law conform to the Ford-UAW agreement.

He accused the two, Reps. George M. Van Peursem of Holland and Richard C. Van Dusen of Detroit, of having fought Democratic-sponsored benifit increase this year.

"It will be a new experience," Hart said, "to be on the same side of this issue with the lobbyists of Ford and General Motors and the Republican legislators who listened to them."

Nehru Is Reportedly Impressed by Soviet

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—What does Indian Prime Minister Nehru think of the reception he is getting in Moscow?

If stories from Indian newsmen accompanying him are any indication, the Russians have made an immediate favorable impression on Nehru.

The Hindustan Times, which is close to Nehru's Congress party, said in a dispatch from its editor touring with Nehru: "Popular enthusiasm knew no bounds wherever he appeared in public. . . Nehru was deeply touched by the affection shown by workers and people" of Moscow.

'MY FOOT ITCHES' — Visited by a friend in a Winfield, Kan., hospital, that's what three-year-old Connie Ruth Lawson, victim of the tornado that blew her home town of Udall to pieces, told the friend. But the foot Connie complained of wasn't there. It had been amputated. The little girl lay in the hospital not knowing that her mother and four others of her family had been buried in the Udall cemetery. Her father, also a tornado victim, is alive in a Wichita hospital.

Estranged Wife Calls Bruce Cabot 'Coward'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Franchesca de Scaffa, 24-year-old Venezuelan actress, calls her estranged husband Bruce Cabot "cowardly" and says she will pursue him to Italy, if necessary, to get support for her daughter.

Superior Court has decided that Cabot owes her $4,950 for the support of Alfonsine, 2, and sentenced him to five days in jail for contempt, if he returns here. Cabot, 52, has indicated he'll remain in Italy and claims he's living in a basement, not a villa.

Farmer Grins at First Bale

Early Cotton Harvest May Bring Big Sum for Texan

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP)—A farmer who suffered losses on corn and tomatoes wore a big grin today. He's got half interest in the nation's first bale of 1955 cotton.

That means in all probability a $2,000 windfall, maybe more, for Jerry Block. He says he can use his share of the auction money.

A hardy strain of cotton that blossomed out of almost bone-dry soil provided the first bale.

They finished plucking it late yesterday from a 240-acre Rio Grand Valley tract operated by Bock and Will Wallace some 15 miles east of Edinburg. Picking began Saturday.

Ginned at Edinburg from 1,647 pounds of seed cotton, the 537-pound bale was sped some 35 miles here under police escort. It was officially registered in the Harlingen police station at 48 minutes and 40 seconds after 6 p.m.

Last year's first bale was cashed in for $4,500. The normal price is around $150 a bale.

Block, 50, is a pioneer Edinburg farmer. Wallace, 38, farms and runs a cotton gin and vegetable picking shed at Edinburg.

"We'll split the auction money 50-50," Block said happily.

"What will I do with my share? Man that's easy. I'll pay off some of those bills I've incurred because of crop losses earlier this year.

"I'm not kiddin' you, mister. There's just been no market for corn or tomatoes. Sweet corn roasting ears have gone begging. You can't even give them away. It's been rough."

Block and Wallace planted their cotton Jan. 23. It flourished despite drought and no irrigation. It is paymaster cotton, a type developed for dry West Texas and grown in dryland sections of the valley. Most of the valley is irrigated.

The valley, a semitropical strip at Texas' south tip, annually produces the first bale because of its early growing start.

The Harlingen Chamber of Commerce will auction the bale within a week. The growers get $1,500 from the chamber for bringing the bale here, plus whatever it auctions for.

Last year's winner, Ray Barnick of Mission, auctioned his bale for $3,000.

Light That Wasn't There Puts Tipsy Driver in Jail

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—There it was, a truck as big as a house, parked smack in the middle of a city intersection.

A policeman wanted to know why the truck didn't move but the driver, Charles H. Turner, 22, of Moberly, Mo., said he was waiting for the light to change.

There was only one thing wrong with his story. There wasn't any light at the intersection.

Turner was fined $100 and given a 30-day jail sentence on a charge of drunk driving.

Ford Opens New Center for Research in Birmingham

Ford Motor Co. formally opened the new research and engineering center at its Tractor and Implement Division in Birmingham yesterday.

The new facility is located in a separate building connected with the division's general offices at 2500 E. Maple Rd.

Some 300 business, civic and professional leaders of the area and press representatives inspected the center yesterday and were guests at a reception and dinner at Oakland Hills Country Club.

Dr. Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, announced at the reception that Ford has given a grant of $100,000 to the University for a research on the relationships between plant roots and the soil.

Principal speaker at the dinner was Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.), chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture.

Rep. Cooley praised the efficiency and productivity of America's farmers.

He said: "Machines and the science of agriculture are available in Russia. Yet, in that unhappy land, they want for food. In Russia, agriculture requires the labor of fully one-half the total population. One family on a farm hardly can feed itself and one other family in town.

"In America, each farm worker feeds 18 persons—16.4 in our country and another 1.5 abroad. Thus while half of Russia's total population works on farms, and still cannot meet the Communist's needs for food and fiber, in America the efficiency of our farmers—with the tools from our industry—releases over 86 per cent of our population for other work . . ."

The congressman went on to point out that industry has a responsibility to join farmers in bringing economic equality to agriculture.

"Without our farm program agriculture, this very day would be in the depths of a depression, and a great number of men in . . . implement plants would be looking for other employment," he added.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED

A public open house is planned at the center Sunday afternoon, with all residents of the area invited. Guided tours are planned and special displays will demonstrate for visitors some of the interesting technique employed in the design and engineering of modern farm machinery.

The new center employs approximately 1,100 persons in its 112,000 square feet under roof. Many of the workers are trained researchers, technicians and engineers engaged in the development and design of tractors and farm machinery.

Tests of various kinds, including dynamometer shakedowns, are carried out in the center on tractor engines, transmissions and axles. Transmissions and axles are driven hour after hour to determine durability and efficiency.

Facilities are available for virtually every phase of tractor and farm implement development, design and testing.

TORTURE COURSES

Currently under construction behind the new center are a test track and four specially designed "torture courses." Irving A. Duffy, general manager of the Tractor Division, said these facilities will enable Ford engineers to test farm machinery under the toughest conditions modern engineering methods can devise. In a matter of weeks, he said, preproduction models can be given the equivalent of years of normal usage.

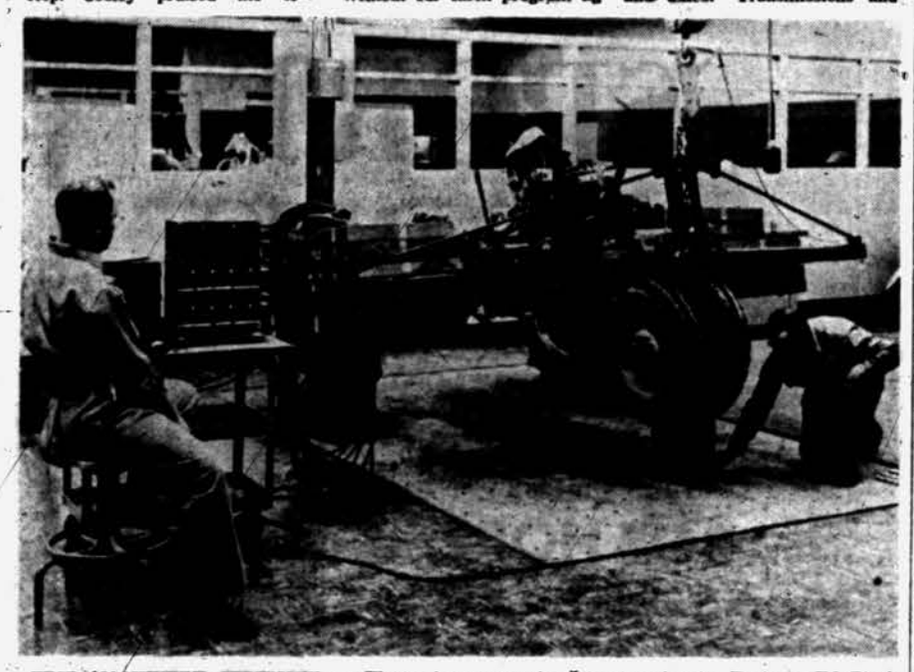

Duffy noted today that in less than two years the Ford tractor Division has moved from the role of a manufacturer of one 4-wheel tractor model to five 4-wheel tractor models, three tricycle tractor models, plus more than 100 major farm machinery items.

Modernization of the company's tractor plant was a multi-million dollar project. The plant has more than four miles of conveyor lines to handle multiple model production.

TEST MACHINERY STRENGTH — Electronic gauges so sensitive they can measure the stresses in a heavy steel railroad rail produced by a light touch of the finger are used to determine the strength of farm machinery. In Ford's new farm machinery Research and Engineering Center, Birmingham, the sensitive electronic fingers are being used to check stresses in a tractor chassis. Engineer Ed Binek, left, checks the control panel as a ton of weight is applied to the chassis of a tricycle-type tractor. Bernard Trescott, right, measures the distance from which the front wheels will be dropped during a particular test. All Ford farm machinery undergoes similar strength analysis.

1,500 Attend Key Club Convention in Detroit

Approximately 1,500 young men from 1,300 U.S. and Canadian communities will attend the twelfth annual Key Club convention in Detroit July 3-6, together with some 200 adults, Kiwanis sponsors, faculty advisers and parents. Key Club is a service association of high school boys. The only Oakland County Key Club thus far formed is in Southfield.

Molotov Having Lunch With French Leaders

PARIS (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov arrived in Paris by plane today for a luncheon visit with Premier Edgar Faure and Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay.

He is en route to the United States to attend the United Nations anniversary session in San Francisco June 20-26.

Jackson Church Is Sold

JACKSON (AP) — The First Presbyterian Church of Jackson, founded in 1887, was sold Wednesday to the Camp Realty for $125,000. The church was rebuilt in 1927. Its congregation plans to start construction on a new church in August.

Practice Water Safety

Swimming is fun — but it can end sadly for the person who doesn't memorize and practice a few simple safety rules, such as the ones illustrated below. If you can't swim, you should learn, because you are missing some of the best of summertime recreation. The Red Cross offers free courses in swimming, lifesaving and handling small craft. If you want to learn to swim or improve your present ability, consult the Oakland County Red Cross chapter, 118 Franklin Blvd.

Don't swim right after eating or when overheated or overtired. Also, swimming in the dark isn't such a bright idea.

Before diving, make sure the water is deep enough and has no hidden objects that might cut you or break bones.

Never swim alone. Make sure someone is nearby who can help in case you get cramps or run into some other trouble.

Distance over water is misleading — don't overestimate your endurance or try to make like a Channel swimmer.

If you do go in for distance swimming in open water, have someone in a boat follow along for safety's sake.

Swim at a safe place, preferably one where there are life guards. If you tire in swimming, float for a change.

Car Auctions No Picnic for Deputies

Want to buy a car—cheap?

Every year, at 3-month intervals, the Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. puts literally hundreds of abandoned autos on the auction block. Some of them sell as low as $8.

Although it may be a picnic for buyers, it's no picnic for deputies Ferris Holcomb and Ed Hooper whose chore it is to complete the mountains of paper work and correspndence necessary to have the cars declared abandoned.

Only yesterday, Holcomb and Hooper completed a 3-day sale of 100 cars, some in fair condition, some clunkers and others wrecked.

But the auction sale, conducted in garages throughout the county where the cars are stored, is only a small part of the overall task.

Here's how they explain the system, which is controlled by state law, works:

After a car has been abandoned 15 days, a report of the car, its motor and license number is sent to the Secretary of State's office at Lansing to obtain the last owner's name and address.

The owner is given 45 days to claim the car after which the sheriff is authorized to advertise its sale. Before the car can be auctioned, the sale must be advertised twice in consecutive weeks in a newspaper that circulates in the county. Notice of the auction must be posted at the place of sale for a 10-day period.

The two deputies must conduct the auction and, if no bidders are available, the car is sold to the garage owner for $8 to cover advertising costs.

In their spare time the two deputies check all boat liveries in the county to pass on safety and seaworthiness of rented craft, make out forms for all predatory animals killed in the county and process and check disposition of all traffic violation tickets by the department.

The state gives $5 for each predatory animal killed. More than 600 foxes were slain in the county last year, the deputies reported. A long form, certifying the kill, must be made out for each.

Each spring, Holcomb and Hooper check more than 2,000 boats in some 200 liveries in the area.

But their biggest job is handling the total of more than 200 stolen and abandoned car reports that pass their desks each month.

CD Learns Mass Feeding

Scenes like the ones below may be taking place throughout the nation when the 57-city H-bomb test gets under way, June 15. Photos below were taken during a recent mass feeding test conducted by civil defense volunteer workers in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Gathering in schoolyard, CD workers practice mass feeding techniques. Cooking is done with makeshift equipment. Youngsters, not grasping the seriousness of the problem, enjoyed themselves. But defense workers learned some valuable lessons.

Outdoor biscuit baking is demonstrated by Mrs. Raymond Sullivan, kneeding. Looking over Mrs. Sullivan's shoulder is Janet Bryan. Metal barrel serves as a stove.

Jet Base Start Due Next Year

Air Force Reportedly to Begin Construction About February

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Construction on the controversy-locked northern Michigan jet air base probably will be delayed until next year, the Grand Rapids Press reported today.

It said Air Force officials indicated yesterday that work on the multi-million dollar installation will begin about six months after a decision on the site is announced.

The Press reported construction will not start until next February, according to Air Force estimates, if a decision is reached within 30 days.

A decision would still a rumble that began June 17, 1954 when it was reported the Air Force had decided upon the Homestead site in Benzie County for the proposed jet interceptor base.

The site was switched last Dec. 2 to the Cadillac area of Wexford County. Air Force spokesmen said they hoped to begin work on the base early this summer. Surveys for housing and other construction began in Cadillac last February.

Federal Court Upholds Pegler Libel Verdict

NEW YORK (AP)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals has upheld the $175,000 libel verdict in favor of author Quentin Reynolds against columnist Westbrook Pegler and two Hearst corporations.

The award of punitive damages last June 20 followed a jury trial of charges by Reynolds that he had been libeled in a column written by Pegler Nov. 29, 1949. The verdict assessed damages of $100,000 against Pegler, $50,000 against the Hearst Corp., and $25,000 against Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc. The jury also awarded Reynolds a token $1 as compensatory damages.

Ike Finds Job Fascinating, Enjoyable Too

WASHINGTON (AP) — Last week Dwight Eisenhower sized up the world's toughest job, that of being U. S. President, this way:

"It's a fascinating business."

Today he acted like a man who not only finds it fascinating but also extremely enjoyable.

His weekly news conference lasted 30 lively minutes, and reporters who got together later to check their impressions came to this conclusion:

Rarely has the President been in better form.

Maybe one reason for the President's liveliness was the fact that he had just returned from a reunion of his old classmates at West Point.

And maybe, too, it was because one of the first questions put to him dealt with the military, a field on which he naturally feels most at home.

He was asked what he thought about the House's failure to pass a reserve training bill.

Eisenhower promptly started to talk; paused, grinned, and said he supposed it was only natural that he should speak with feeling on this. And so he did speak with feeling, for four minutes.

He said the need for trained men was great since every hamlet and city in atomic warfare is in the front line. After mustering up all his reasons why he felt the reserves are necessary, he wound up with a simple but firm statement.

We must have it, he said.

That got the conference off the ground, as it were, and it flew right along.

Nixon Invites Indian for Visit to States

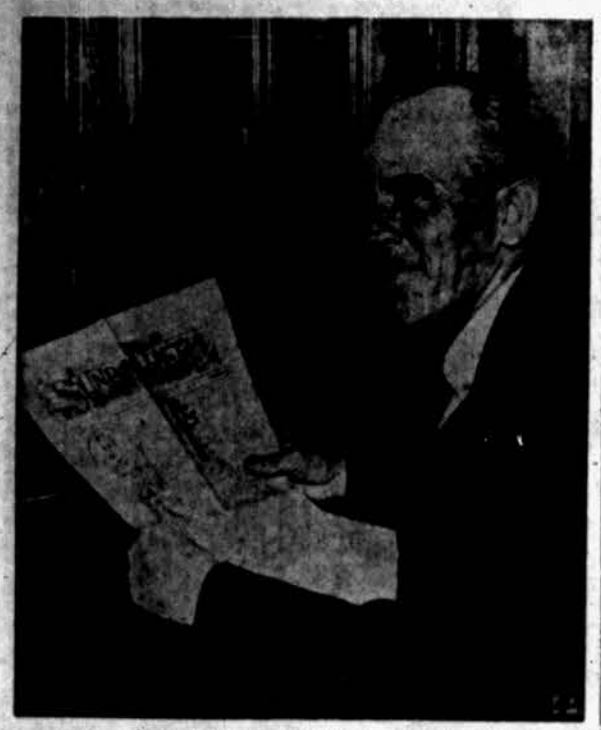

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Hindustan Times said Vice President Nixon has invited Home Minister Chakravarthi Rajagopalachari to visit the United States.

Nixon met Rajagopalachari, one of India's elder statesmen, during a visit to India in 1953.

Rajagopalachari declined comment.

He Said Gossip and He Meant It

Old-Time Editor of Coldwater Weekly Really Believed in Freedom of Press

LIVELY EDITION OF 70 YEARS AGO — Frederick M. Townsend Jr. of Coldwater, wears an amused smile as he looks up from reading an old issue of "Townsend's Sunday Life," a weekly edited by his father more than 70 years ago.

COLDWATER (AP)—The press wasn't just free for an old-time Coldwater editor—it was completely unfettered.

He was Frederick M. Townsend, who published a weekly, "Townsend's Sunday Life," in Coldwater between 1887 and 1890. And in his flourishing journal Townsend took a generous stand on freedom of the press.

The papers are some 70 years old now, but they haven't lost their sparkle.

As a court reporter, Townsend sometimes went outside the official record to report what happened. Describing a man who pleaded guilty to assault on his mother and sister, the editor wrote: "George will take in Detroit for 90 days. He chased his folks with an axe at 3 a.m., being too gallant to strike a woman with his fist."

CRITICAL COMMENT

Drama criticism was another wide open field for Townsend. In one theatrical item he noted: "Roland Reed has some new songs—thank Heaven! for his new play."

He said of one troupe: "The Southern-Price troupe of knock-kneed tragedians got hung up somewhere and failed to get to Coldwater for their seven nights' stand."

Townsend didn't like people who preferred to read out-of-town papers and wrote of one citizen who habitually got a Detroit paper that he was "a proper subject for an inquest."

"Sunday Life" was, in its editor's words, devoted to "local news and gossip, comment, society, humor and recreative literature."

When Townsend said gossip, he meant it. If he heard of a young man taking his girl, or another man's girl or wife for that matter, for a buggy ride on a lonely country road, Townsend would report it.

He commented one time, about a man seen trotting his horse, that "Will presents the graceful appearance of a monkey dodging brickbats."

BECAME EDUCATOR

Townsend was born in Coldwater in 1860 and after his publishing days became a well-known educator. He was superintendent of schools at Marshall and established a girls' school in Connecticut.

He retired in 1930 and returned to Coldwater where he died in 1940 at the age of 79. His son, Frederick Townsend Jr., lives on Route 2, Coldwater.

Charge 5 Policemen in Theft From Store

CHICAGO (AP) — Five suburban policemen were summoned today before the Cook County (Chicago) grand jury in connection with stealing an estimated $800 of merchandise from a suburban supermarket.

Three of the five policemen constitute the entire law enforcement agency of Norridge, a suburb west of Chicago. The other two policemen are from neighboring River Grove.

They were released last night after being questioned by State's Atty. John Gutknecht. He said the five admitted looting the Jewel Food Store in Norridge early last Friday.

Directed to appear before the grand jury were Police Chief Raymond H. Peters, 29; Patrolmen Herman Marchel, 26, and Richard Potempa, 30, of Norridge; and Patrolmen Clarence Herman, 36, and Frank Kurowski, 39, of River Grove.

Youth Killed, Girl Hurt in Two-Car Collision

WILLIAMSTON (AP) — Richard DeWaters, 17, of Fowlerville, was killed and a girl companion critically injured last night in a two-car collision on U.S. 16 a mile west of Williamston.

State Police said DeWaters lost control of his car and swerved into an oncoming car. Gail Shermer, 17, also of Fowlerville, returning from a drive-in theater with DeWaters, was critically hurt.

Juvenile Delinquency Laid to Breakdown

NEW YORK (AP)—The Synagogue Council of America says the wave of juvenile delinquency is a "symptom of a growing moral chaos and social disintegration."

The council, at its national meeting yesterday, said the youth crime problem "challenges every social and spiritual resource at the command of the community."

The body cited a "breakdown" in neighborhood ties and "indifference of parents in a community to the needs and problems of their own neighborhoods."

The council urged all other religious organizations to join in bringing neighborhoods under religious leadership and to "strengthen the foundations of family living."

The delegates — from Orthodox, Reform and other Jewish bodies—elected Dr. Abraham J. Feldman, of Hartford, Conn., as president for the coming year. He succeeds Dr. Norman Salit, of New York.

It's Hard to Heist Hogs

BLOOMINGSBURG, Ohio (UP) —Somebody went to a lot of trouble to steal four hogs from Tom Parrett's farm. Sheriff Orland Hays said the thief drove a vehicle, presumably a small truck, into Parrett's hog lot, loaded four hogs aboard and then got stuck. The thief then walked about three miles into town and stole a tractor, which he used to pull the truck out of the mud. The tractor was abandoned nearby.

Pilot Burns to Death in Plane's Wreckage

LOCKWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Screaming for help, a pilot was burned to death in the wreckage of his plane yesterday. His foot was wedged under the gas tank and bystanders, including his father, could do nothing to save him.

The pilot was Donald Betts McNab, 44, grandnephew and heir of Gavin McNab, attorney and colorful political power in San Francisco at the turn of the century. He had flown here to visit his father George Betts.

On takeoff, the plane struck a 12,000-volt power line, flipped over and burst into flames.

McNab's passenger, John Marcus, 30, was thrown free although critically burned.

Dick Haymes Plans to Become Citizen

RENO (AP) — Dick Haymes, 36, crooning husband of actress Rita Hayworth, picked up an application for citizenship here yesterday. He told reporters, "I should have applied for citizenship a long time ago."

The Argentine - born singer was plagued by deportation proceedings after he made a trip to Hawaii in 1953 to woo Miss Hayworth.

Last week a federal court ruled Haymes did not lose his chance for citizenship because of the trip to Hawaii, the court holding the islands are a geographical part of the United States.

Processing of the crooner's citizenship application may be held up if the government appeals the decision that he cannot be deported.

Woman Plumber Says Pipes Beat Teaching

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Lucile Oellerich of Augusta, Ga., one of the nation's few women master plumbers and a former schoolteacher, says that plumbing is more fun than teaching school.

Mrs. Oellerich, pretty and petite, married a plumber and helped out in his office. When her husband died six years ago she began studying the trade's techniques herself. She is in Chicago for the convention of the National Assn. of Plumbing Contractors.

Church Council May Ask Views of Soviet Clergy

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Council of Churches is considering the possibility of sending American church leaders to Russia to exchange views with Soviet Union clergy.

The council's 250-member General Board yesterday voted to study such a move. Final decision will rest with the council's Policy and Strategy Committee.

The council is a federation of 30 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations with 35½ million members.

In the Soviet Union, Christianity's main arm is the Russian Orthodox Church. Baptists and some other Protestant denominations also have churches there.

The proposed conference, the board said, would be aimed at achieving "a just and durable peace."

The General Board also approved plans for financing construction of a 17-story, 14-million-dollar united church center on Riverside Drive, Manhattan.

Just to Let Him Know

CHESHIRE, Conn. (UP)—A thief added insult to injury when he telephoned Joseph Fazzone in the wee hours to tell him his automobile had been stolen. The culprit also took the two evergreen trees that were on Fazzone's front lawn.

Cold Bug Bites Beauties in Miss Europe Contest

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — The cold bug is biting the bevy of beauties assembled here to compete for the title of Miss Europe.

With the judging only two days off, Finland's treacherous weather has brought sniffles and sore throats to Italy's shapely Vandesa Guida, Turkey's dark-eyed Suna Soley and vivacious Monique Lambert of France.

Feted at an endless round of parties, the girls have been leading a hectic life. But they are confident they will be in top shape for the crowning Saturday night.

Chicago, served by 38 railroads, is considered the world's greatest railway center.

2,000 Respond to Graham Call in Paris Crusade

PARIS (AP)—Billy Graham tonight ends his five-day Paris Crusade, which so far has brought out more than 31,000 persons. Nearly 2,000 of them have answered the American evangelist's call to make "Decisions for Christ."

"We have fallen in love with the French people," Graham told a crowd of nearly 10,000 last night. "We like everything about you, even your coffee."

In delivering his spiritual message Graham told the audience, "Many of yo uhave been searching all your life and haven't found satisfaction. You will never find it until you have taken Him into your life."

The alternatives, the 37-year-old preacher said, are "eternal life and Heaven or judgment and destruction."

A total of 467 persons answered last night's call for Decisions for Christ.

Although the Paris crowds have been much smaller than those during his recent seven - week campaign in Britain, Graham said he was "extremely gratified" by the turnout. Graham's words are translated into French as he speaks here.

In London, a spokesman for the evangelist announced the opening of an office in the British capital. It will serve as headquarters for Europe.

Old Bulb Still Burns

ADRIAN (AP) — J. J. Clark has an old-fashioned carbon-type electric light bulb which, at last look, still was burning after nearly 30 years of use. Clark put the light in a basement fixture in 1926 and estimated that it is turned on an average of four hours a day.

Swedish Tanker Hit, Burns in Channel

RAMSGATE, England (AP)—The Swedish tanker Johannishus caught fire and was abandoned by her crew of 42 early today after a collision in the English Channel with the Panamanian freighter Buccaneer.

By dawn at least 24 survivors and one dead had been reported recovered by ships in the vicinity, about halfway between here and the Belgian coast.

However, coastal stations reported the small timber ship Gloria had rescued "a number" of seamen and was taking them to Dover.

The 10,780-ton Johannishus had 41 men and one woman aboard.

The 7,256-ton Buccaneer radioed she also had caught fire but later reported she had the blaze under control and was standing by the Swedish ship.

"We switched back to Blue Cross - Blue Shield soon after dropping it," says Mr. Lane, "because, as we found through experience, no other plan could protect our employees so well!"

"We learned the hard way—

says Mr. DONALD J. LANE, General Manager, Detroit Typesetting Company

"It's when you make the switch from one hospital-medical plan to another that you can judge firsthand the important differences between them," says Mr. Lane.

"Our company made the switch in 1948 – from Blue Cross - Blue Shield to another type of plan.

"But it wasn't long after we'd made the change that we realized our employees were not getting nearly as much coverage as they had under Blue Cross - Blue Shield!

"At this point, we screened other plans, too . . . but concluded that Blue Cross - Blue Shield offered far more protection per dollar than any of the rest of them!

"It's been three years since we've been back with Blue Cross - Blue Shield, and we wonder now how we ever happened to get away from it! We learned . . . and our employees learned . . . that nothing can take the place of Blue Cross - Blue Shield. There is no substitute!"

Hospital services . . . not cash!

The big difference between Blue Cross and other forms of hospitalization is this: other plans give you money, often too little money, to "buy" hospital services . . . while Blue Cross provides services themselves, no matter what they cost!

And, under the Blue Cross Comprehensive Contract, you get all the basic hospital services, without ever having to worry about their cost!

The number of basic services Blue Cross provides is so great, that only in special cases do you require additional services, to be paid for by you. That's why, in most cases, Blue Cross covers the entire hospital bill! In fact, Blue Cross covers more hospital bills in full than any other state-wide plan!

Doctor services . . . not cash!

Along with hospital care, you'll surely need a doctor's care, too . . . and it's against part or all of the cost of in-hospital doctor care that Blue Shield protects you.

Blue Shield offers you a choice of a $2,500 or $5,000 family income medical-surgical contract. If your family income meets the requirements of the contract you choose, the cost of your participating doctor's in-hospital services will be covered by Blue Shield. This service benefit provision is made available to you only through Blue Shield. In any event, regardless of your income, liberal amounts will be paid to the doctor of your choice.

Non-profit organizations. Blue Cross and Blue Shield are non-profit organizations . . . sponsored by hospitals and doctors themselves. Together, these plans offer more protection per dollar than any other state-wide plan.

Ask your employer or your union representative how you can get low-cost group coverage. (A company with as few as five employees may qualify as a group.) Or, contact your local Blue Cross - Blue Shield representative, Mr. Gordon Cox, Blue Cross-Blue Shield, Huron Centre, 1058 W. Huron St., Pontiac, FE 4-1541.

First Time Since Civil War

U.S. Capitol Building Is Due for a Major Facelifting in Near Future

WASHINGTON (INS) — The United States Capitol seems certain to undergo major structural surgery soon—for the first time since the Civil War.

The operation, which was first called a "necessity" 92 years ago but which has been put off since then, will be designed to correct two major architectural defects.

One is the fact that the Capitol Building is too small for its dome, a part of which actually rests, not on the structure itself, but on its pillared east portico.

Without the portico, it would look something like a hat whose crown extends beyond the brim. The architect of the Capitol recognized this was wrong as soon as the dome was completed in 1863 and said something would have to be done about it, but nothing ever was.

STEPS OUT OF LINE

The second defect is the fact that the steps to the portico start from a point some 30 feet farther in than do those leading up to the House and Senate chambers on either side.

To remedy these ills present plans are for bringing the central front of the capitol forward about 40 feet.

That would give the nine-million-pound cast-iron dome a more graceful and substantial setting and would put the front steps more nearly in line and in "harmony" with the others.

Most members of Congress are just as eager as the architects are to get the job done—but for less aesthetic reasons.

BIGGER RESTAURANT

They realize that the extension would give the more badly-needed space, including additional offices hearing rooms—and, most important, a larger restaurant.

In fact, the resolution in which the House approved the whole idea states flatly that the extension should be built "in order to increase and improve the restaurant facilities in the Capitol building."

This resolution was passed less than two months ago, although the Senate had okayed the renovation for the second time in 1937. The House had simply refused to go along until now.

When it did, President Eisenhower promptly suggested to Congress that it appropriate five million dollars to get the project started.

His suggestion was coupled with a proposal that a commission be created to draw up the necessary plans, although these would have to be in "substantial accordance" with something known as "scheme B."

1905 BLUEPRINT

This scheme—providing for the 40-foot extension—is a well-known figure on Capitol Hill where it has been hanging around since it was formally submitted in 1905. A model of what the building would look like if the scheme were carried out has long been on display in the Capitol.

During the 83rd Congress, "Scheme B" was the basis of a blueprint drawn up by the Capitol architect submitted to the House Appropriations Committee and pretty much ignored.

Those plans, which are expected to be followed closely by the proposed commission, call for the 40-foot extension, would require two years and seven and one-half million dollars to complete.

Argentine Catholics Plan Indoor Holiday

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentina's embattled Roman Catholic authorities have moved their annual Corpus Christi procession indoors following a police ban on the annual outdoor ceremony.

Church sources said last night the annual procession honoring the Eucharist would be held Saturday in Metropolitan Cathedral instead of in Plaza de Mayo, on which the cathedral fronts.

The procession usually is one of the largest Catholic gatherings of the year in Argentina. Corpus Christi Day is today, but church officials scheduled the procession for Saturday because President Juan Peron's government has withdrawn recognition of the festival as a religious holiday.

The government cancelled the legal status of most religious holidays as part of its continuing dispute with the church. Last November Peron accused some churchmen of working against his regime. Catholic authorities denied the charge.

Pilot Calls Firemen

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—A trainer plane from the Navy's Cabiness Field called out Navy fire fighters yesterday and was credited with saving six farm tenant houses from destruction. One house was destroyed but Cabiness Fire Chief Leroy Dunk said all seven would have been destroyed if the pilot had not radioed his base.

Star Undergoes Surgery

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress June Havoc undergoes surgery today at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. Her studio said an operation of minor corrective nature was ordered by her physician Dr. Saul Fox. She may be able to leave the hospital Sunday.

FUTURE CAREERS—4
A Librarian

The friendly lady who helps you at your school or neighborhood library really is a trained specialist. She has made a career of library service, and her life is one that will appeal to many boys and girls as a possible future career.

In addition to having a wide knowledge of literature and the world of books, a librarian also is an expert in the "cataloging" of all types of books, magazines and articles. The catalog is your guide to all kinds of reading, whether as part of your studies, for entertainment or to help you find some little-known fact in science, sports or history.

Libraries are friendly places. Often they have special rooms for children, with small tables and chairs just the size for young readers. If there is a special Children's Librarian, she may have a weekly story hour at which she reads to groups of children.

Special high school and college courses help train people in the science of library management. But most librarians also have a special talent for such service along with a very pleasant personality. Color today's picture and add it to your collection of Future Careers.

Irish Farmers Stay on Land

Community Plan Aids Workers, Bosses; Halts Exodus to Cities

DUBLIN (UP) — A movement started 20 years ago to foster better relations between agricultural workers and their bosses is believed to have been a major factor in slowing emigration and the flight from Ireland's rural areas to cities.

When 66-year-old Canon Joseph M. Hayes first got the idea in 1935 of starting a local community "get-together" plan in the County Tipperary village of Bansha, he had no idea that it would mushroom into a nation-wide movement with more than 400 branches and its own monthly magazine.

The plan called Muintir na Tire (people of the land), originally had as its main function the overcoming of bickering between agricultural workers and producers and the promotion of a spirit of mutual cooperation.

It gave agricultural workers a "new deal," forged new outlets for the produce of the farm owners and brought big business down to community level.

Moreover, the plan created an evening life for the villages. Lack of this was one of the main reasons for the exodus from the land.

Extension of Canon Hayes' parish plan began when neighboring communities, envious of the new spirit originated by the white-haired, soft-spoken priest in Bansha, invited him to pass on the idea. The movement spread rapidly and now covers practically the entire agricultural area of Ireland.

It even overcame the political border and spread into Northern Ireland. Social and religious barriers were broken and the seal was set on the movement when it received official recognition from the government.

Each branch is called a "guild" and is, in effect, a parish parliament. A new guild is started by inviting everybody in the parish to attend a meeting and elect a council comprising six representatives of the groups which make up the parish — farm owners, laborers, businessmen and clerks, the women and the youngsters.

Each guild — Canon Hayes said they now number well over 400 — draws up a social, educational, economic and recreational program designed to suit its own locality. Disputes of all kinds, however trivial, are settled by the council.

The rabbit is not a true rodent, but a lagomorph, because it has two sets of upper front teeth, one behind the other, while a rodent has a single set.

Five-Year-Old Slang Really Can Date You

CHICAGO — Your slang is apt to be dated if you still use the jargon of 1950.

A confidence man is still a "grifter" or a "comeroo" to those who have failed to keep up with the times, but to be hep he has become a "spritzer."

That's the word from the American Dialect Society, which contributed an article on new words and their meanings to the Encyclopedia Britannica's current book of the year.

Lovers of jazz 1955-style, the society discovered, are using "belt" as a verb to describe violent singing. "Hydrogenize" describes what the H-bomb can do and "uranium-aire" means a man who makes a fortune from the precious atomic ore.

"Sloganize," a contribution from the business world, speaks for itself, but "roundie" is another matter. It means 3-D movie.

Plenty of People in Rural Spain

Move to Cities Fails to Cut Down Provincial Population

MADRID (UP)—The drift of the peasant population to the big towns presents no problem for Spain, according to the latest population figures. Spain's agricultural problem still remains one of over-population of country areas.

The figures showed that in 1930 there were 5,000,000 inhabitants of provincial cities and 18,500,000 in the provinces outside of the big cities.

The figures for 1950 showed 7,500,000 in the provincial cities and 20,000,000 in the smaller places.

Observers pointed out that while thousands of country dwellers have moved into Madrid and Barcelona, Spain has a very large population increase rate and the non-city figure has not been affected.

The general population increase is partly explained by the improvement in Spain's health as a nation.

Infant mortality, which was at a rate of 200 per 100,000 inhabitants at the turn of the century, is now down to 48 per 100,000.

The general mortality rate also is now down to 9 for each 1,000 inhabitants.

Commercial fertilizers generally are made up of potash, nitrogen, and phosphoric acid.

East Germany Tries Seven for Spying

BERLIN (AP)—Seven men went on trial today before Communist East Germany's Supreme Court on charges of being "imperialistic" spies.

The official Communist news agency ADN said they were accused of working for West Germany, the United States counter-intelligence corps, and NATO, the supreme Allied military setup in Europe.

ADN said the men had been outfitted with modern American radio equipment, codebooks, false identification papers and weapons.

They were identified as Wilhelm Lehmann, Erich Eich, Martin Schneising, Wilhelm Van Ackern, Johann Baumgart, Hans-Joachim Koch and Benedykt Szuminski.

U.N. Charges Murder by North Koreans

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The United Nations Command today accused the Communists of "wanton murder" of two South Korean soldiers in the demilitarized zone June 2.

The U. N. in a note to the Communists said Reds shot the two men while they were working in the United Nations half of the truce zone and then dragged one body across to Red territory.

The Communist radio earlier denied the U. N. version of the incident. Peiping radio said the men were "invading agents" who opened fire first.

Painter Perotti Dies

ANCONA, Italy (AP) — Francesco Perotti, 48, noted Italian painter, died here yesterday. His paintings have been shown in many international exhibitions.

Finally Find Place for Jazz Concert

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—The Newport Jazz Festival has finally found a spot for its three concerts next month after getting less than enthusiastic response at two proposed sites.

The festival originally was scheduled for the Newport Casino, where it held its first concerts last year. Casino officials, however refused to permit its return.

Festival officials next sought to hold the affair at Belcourt, the former Belmont estate on Bellevue Avenue.

Summer colonists, however, said they would protest to city officials.

The jazz enthusiasts went before the City Council last night and won permission to hold the concerts in Freeb Park July 15, 16, and 17.

Brave Truckers Wear Bermuda Shorts Now

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Girls, here's your chance to whistle back at the truck driver.

That is if he's one of the eight with a trucking firm here who have gone in for Bermuda shorts: grey denim with a green stripe running down the side.

Driver E. L. Walden said "I get compliments from truck stop waitresses—all the way from here to Chattanooga."

Italian Sculptor Dies

MILAN, Italy (AP)—The Marquis Emanuele Ordono de Rosales Cigalini, 82, famed Italian sculptor of Spanish ancestry, died here last night. His works are in the museums of New York, Luxembourg, Paris, Lyon, Munich and Rome.

Freed Airman Urges Work to Release Rest

SWEA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Capt. Harold Fischer Jr., home after two years captivity in a Red Chinese prison, says he hopes Americans will "continue to work for the release of men still held in Red prisons in China."

The double jet ace spoke yesterday at a gala, celebration. An estimated 7,000 persons—nearly 10 times the population of his tiny north Iowa home town—gathered to welcome him back.

The captain, one of four Korean War fliers released by the Chinese Reds recently, said the celebration was "the high point of my life. It's terrific."

Then he said solemnly:

"I know this (the celebration) is not done for me but because I am a representative of the many others who could have been in my place.

"If you want to do something for me, here's what you can do. Continue to work for the release of men still held in the Red prisons in China."

He said he knows the United Nations will help them as it did him and the three other airmen released with him—Lt. Col. Edwin Heller, Wynnewood, Pa.; 1st Lt. Ron Parks, Omaha; and 1st Lt. Lyle Cameron, Lincoln, Neb.

Efforts are being made to persuade Red China to free 11 other American airmen captured during the Korean War.

The Grocery Bag?

Need a Change in Pace? Try a Beltsville Turkey

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Boneless chuck pot roast and frying chickens will be among the featured meats in the nation's food stores this weekend.

Prime ribs, lamb chops, smoked picnics and steaks also will be offered as advertised specials. And if you're looking for a change in pace, consider Beltsville turkeys.

They're the birds that range in weight from four to around 10 pounds and they are now coming to market in heavier volume. A good number of stores will have them this weekend at moderately lower prices.

Legs of lamb will be more costly this weekend in many areas. One big chain is boosting prices from four to eight cents a pound over a week ago. A meat specialist explains that winter lamb has just about disappeared and stores will now have nothing but spring lamb, which is bringing higher prices.

EGGS MAY BE UP

Egg prices may be up in your market. Increases of one to four cents a dozen are planned by a leading chain. Butter will be the same as a week ago nearly everywhere.

Lettuce continues in abundant supply at low prices. Produce specialists say that cucumbers and beans have come down in price and rate shoppers' attention. Also listed as outstanding buys are beets (mostly bunched with tops), squash and nearby vegetables such as escarole, endives, radishes, green onions, spinach and parsley.

There's a good selection of other worthwhile buys, too: Celery, carrots, asparagus, corn, onions, potatoes and peppers.

Limes are getting plentiful again. In the wholesale markets, they are rated with oranges and grapefruit as the best buys in fruit.

Watermelons are down in price, but warmer weather might send them higher. Strawberries are reasonably priced.

Mangoes are more plentiful and apricots and plums are arriving in most markets. Cherries are lower in price but still on the high side.

One Who Is Injured Loses in Accidents

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The biggest financial loser in Philadelphia automobile accidents is the guy who gets hurt. A Temple University survey showed personal injuries in car mishaps resulted in "out-of-pocket losses, a large proportion of which are never recovered."

Dr. John F. Adams, director of Temple's Bureau of Economic and Business Research, said the study also disclosed "that the existence of insurance materially improves the chances of recovery" from injury losses.

Pecking at Pickles Popular Pastime

EAST LANSING, Mich (UP) — Pickels have experienced a tremendous growth in popularity in the past 25 years, according to the National Pickel Packers conference at Michigan State College.

Dr. F. W. Fabian, retired MSC scientist, traced the development of the pickel's popularity at the meeting.

He pointed to the rise in the consumption of pickels from a few million bushels in 1930 to 12,000,000 in 1952 and predicted that the 1952 figures will be more than doubled in the next 10 years.

Scientific research has led to more and better pickels, according to Dr. Fabian, and laboratory work done at MSC is credited with developing and improving many varieties.

Michigan now grows 31 per cent of all the cucumbers used for pickling.

Fish Helps Trio Win $430 on Horse Race

The men made up $50 for one of them to bet on a race on his trip to Florida this winter.

Since the winner of the trophy for the largest fish caught by a member of the group was for one weighing three pounds, six ounces, it was decided to bet the money on the number three horse in the sixth race. The bunch cracked.

FOLEY, Fla. (AP)—At the end of next summer the only buildings left here will be a church, post-office, schoolhouse and a couple of stores and service stations.

No homes.

Foley is 26 years old and at one time had a population of about 1,600 in 200-odd homes.

The Buckeye Cellulose Corp. bought the townsite and other properties and built a huge pulp mill which went into operation last year. Then ie began selling the homes to its employes on condition they find new sites for them.

Most of the houses are being moved to nearby Perry but some are being taken farther away.

What will happen to the post-office, church and other structures remaining is still a question. The company hasn't said what it plans to do with the Foley townsite.

Erie Brothers Fly to Classes

Rattlesnake Isle Trio Take Put-In-Bay Plane to School Every Day

RATTLESNAKE ISLAND, O. — (NEA) — "Hurry, it's time for school. I hear the airplane coming," might well be the way Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lasch call their sons in the morning. Instead of boarding a bus, these boys fly to school in a regularly scheduled airline plane that lands in their back yard.

The Lasch family lives on tiny Rattlesnake Island in Lake Erie, and only by air can the boys get to school. The three boys, Henry 10, Larry, 13, and Jim, 17, attend Put-in-Bay School on South Bass Island, about five miles from their home. Their father is caretaker of an estate on Rattlesnake Island. It is so small that a 1500-foot runway takes up the major portion of it.

Henry is in fourth grade, Larry is in eighth and Jim is a tenth grader, and they rarely miss a day of school. Last year, the boys missed two days during a dense fog, and one day when a sleet storm halted air traffic.

The cost of this special "aerial school bus" is borne by the Put-In-Bay and the Ohio State boards of education. The school at Put-In-Bay has 61 pupils in grades one through 12, all the children of islanders.

The unique service is performed by the Island Air Service, Inc., an airline that hauls passengers, mail and freight from Sandusky and Port Clinton, Ohio, to the Bass Islands, 15 miles out in Lake Erie.

The airline is believed to have the shortest over-water haul in the world, and is the only connection the islanders have with the mainland in winter. Using antique Ford tri-motored planes, the airline operates from short sod runways on five major islands.

Attends High School Via Phone Hookup

MAYNARD, Ia. (UP) — Dean Raether, 16, hasn't been able to attend school the past two years, but he's "in class" every day.

A twin phone system installed in his home and connected with the classroom allows Dean to hear class discussions and in turn answer questions directed at him.

The youngster became a victim of hemophelia, a disease which does not allow the blood to clot. He bruised a knee when a freshman which resulted inexcessive bleeding and left the joint premanently stiff.

To avoid the risk of receiving even a slight bruse when mingling with others students, Dean stays at home.

The Iowa State Board of Education installed the twin phone system at no cost to the Raether family.

Man's Joke Backfires; Police Come Running

DAVENPORT, Ia. (UP)— When a woman dance instructor telephoned a Davenport man and tried to sell him a dance course, he jokingly told her he couldn't "because I just killed my wife."

The frightened woman reported the "murder" to police who immediately phoned the house. Thinking it was the persistent woman again, the man answered, "Don't bother me, I'm eating."

Police sent squad cars to the address where they found a very apologetic "suspect."

Destined to Be Spartan

SPARTA, Wis. (UP) — Mary Pappas, 17, moved halfway around the world but her town's name remains the same. The attractive bruenette, a native of Sparta, Greece, moved to Sparta, Wis., to live with her aunt, Mrs. P. J. Stathis.

Army Trainees Get Practical Teaching

FT. CARSON, Colo. (AP)—Draftees and enlisted men sent here for basic Army training are learning by doing. The old system of lectures and demonstrations by instructors in combat tactics has been abandoned in favor of actual practice of military techniques. Unit commanders and squad leaders are mostly combat veterans of World War II and the Korean War.

Major emphasis is placed on the M-1 rifle, basic infantry weapon. Other weapons include light machineguns, automatic rifles, carbines and rocket launchers.

Trainees also are taught bayonet fighting, night firing, first aid, guard duty, comouflage, battle indoctrination, mines and booby traps, signal communications, inspections, gas mask drill, field sanitation and intelligence.

There are about 100,000 more widows in the U.S. each year.

351 to Celebrate Not Attending Year's Classes

BRADFORDSVILE, Ky. (AP) — There'll be a celebration tomorrow for 351 students who did not attend school this year.

None of the youngsters has been in class since Sept. 3, when parents called a strike to protest closing of the high school by the Marion County School Board.

Involved in the controversy are 275 elementary pupils and 76 high school students who refused to enroll in another institution 10 miles away.

Tomorrow's program will include speeches, a lunch served by various churches, a parade and gifts for each boy and girl.

"Pep talks for being so loyal" is the way one spokesman summed up the scheduled speeches by three ministers.

The School Board contended Bradfordsville High was closed because attendance was small. Parents argued that other high schools in the county were built up at the expense of Bradfordsville High.

Cattle-Judging Contests Won by All but Mother

SOUTH SIOUX CITY, Neb. (AP)—When Aberdeen-Angus breeders of Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota held their annual field day yesterday the entire Frank Beelaert family, of Page, Neb., entered judging contests. This is what happened:

Mr. Beelaert tied for first with O. W. Weidauer, Lemars, Iowa, in the men's contest but got the trophy on a flip of the coin. Son Bob won the junior award. Mrs. Beelaert tied for first with Mrs. Dick Bruner, David City, Neb., in the women's contest but lost the trophy on a flip of the coin.

Senate Rushes Bill to Extend Draft Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders moved today for quick action on extension of the peacetime draft and the separate doctor draft act, both due to expire at the end of this month.

But they delayed a decision on an appeal by President Eisenhower to rescue the administration's broad manpower reserve program, designed to swell the size of the reserve which could be called to active duty at once in event of national emergency.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) invited opposition witnesses before the Senate Armed Services Committee for testimony on the separate laws for drafting youths from 18 to 26 years and physicians and other medical specialists up to 50 years.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said discussions were under way, meanwhile, about starting the controversial reserve manpower measure through the Senate.

Parrot Outdoes Pooch in Guarding the Home

ROCHESTER (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Skinner knew how the burglars who entered their home in suburban Brighton pacified their pet cocker. The animal was happily devouring a four-pound roast.

But the Skinners could not figure out why the burglars fled the house with only an electric iron and toaster, ignoring other valuables in sight.

Then they heard a voice from the next room cry: "Hello! Who's there? Hello!"

Envoy Hits Critics of U.S.-Jap Treaty

TOKYO (AP)—Kichisaburo Nomura, Pearl Harbor ambassador to the United States, said today Japan may never again be strong enough to stand alone.

He called for Japan realistically to base its future security on two things—buildup of its own defense force and collective security with the United States and other free nations.

In an interview hitting at critics of the United States-Japan security pact and U. S.-sponsored Japanese rearmament, Nomura said many Japanese forget the United States "can occupy Japan in a matter of hours."

Despite potent drugs, about 47,000 persons in the U.S. still are victims of pneumonia each year.

Petrillo Pledges Fight on Federal Amusement Tax

CLEVELAND (AP)—James C. Petrillo, fiery union champion of America's musicians, made an "average Joe" appeal last night in an attack on his favorite target—the 20 per cent federal amusement tax.

Calling on the nation to unite against the tax, Petrillo told a reporter:

"I want to see the return of the day when the average Joe could afford to take his wife out for supper and a dance date . . . The amusement tax ended all that as well as eliminating 50,000 musicians' jobs."

Petrillo, president of the 250,000-member AFL American Federation of Musicians, vowed to wage a "war of survival" against the tax in speech yesterday before 1,200 delegates to the union's 58th annual convention.

In an interview last night he said he wanted to elaborate on his stand.

"The rich guy can go out, wash caviar down with the finest champagne and dance all he wants in a private club that pays none of the tax," he declared. "The average Joe who can't afford a country club is the one who is suckered. He and the musicians are the real fall guys."

"Why, I'm pretty lively for my age," continued the 63-year-old unionist, "and I used to shake a mean foot. But I don't even try any more. It isn't the years; it's the tax that's got me down."

Lockheed Gets Order for Turboprop Ships

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp. has won a 65-million-dollar contract with its design for the first commercial turboprop transport to be built in the United States.

American Airlines announced yesterday it has placed an order for 35 of the high-speed, medium-weight planes with cruising speeds of more than 400 m.p.h. and a range of 2,000 miles.

Delivery is to start the latter part of 1958.

Awarding of the contract gives the first challenge to British leadership in the commercial jet-with-propeller field. The turboprop power plant utilizes a turbine but instead of releasing its power in pure forward thrust as a jet engine does, it uses it to turn propellers.

The new four-engine Lockheed Electra seat 64, four more than are provided for on the DC7 flown by American.

Arrow-Making May Be Career

Lab Technician Finds Odd Hobby Expanding Into Business

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—A man who is an instrument technician by trade has an odd hobby that has given him so much work to do he is thinking about quitting his job to devote full time to it.

Richard E. Ellinger, a Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory employe, spends close to 50 hours weekly in his basement workshop making arrows for both hunting and target shooting.

Ellinger, who said he first became interested in archery when he was "knee-high to a bow string," began making his own arrows about eight years ago.

Fellow-archers soon became interested and he turned part of his efforts toward supplying them.

Then, two years ago, he began making arrows on a semi-commercial basis, and business has been picking up ever since.

The archery enthusiast buys Port Orford cedar from Oregon for the shafts and specially treated turkey feathers from Texas.

He uses a "feather-burner" he built himself to trim the raw feathers to the perfect shape necessary for true flight.

With much painstaking labor, and the help of his wife, Mildred, Ellinger turns out about 120 arrows a week.

The sudden upswing in his work, he believes, is due to the fact that interest in archery has increased greatly since World War II.

"Many former rifle-hunters have switched to bow and arrow," he said, "because they realize it is closer to true sport."

It takes nearly 800 pounds of wood to produce the paper and paperboard products used by the average citizen of the United States in a year.

Patients Likely to Act Childlike

UM Professor Says Fear Motivates This Cranky Behavior

ANN ARBOR (UP) — If you complain about everything while hospitalized, you're just acting like a child and doctors won't hold it against you, a medical group was told.

Elton B. McNeil, assistant professor of psychology at the University of Michigan, told a meeting of hospital administrators and accountants that the "basic reaction to hospitalization is fear."

"Being distressed, anxious and apprehensive, the patient regresses to childlike behavior," he said.

"The things he would normally shake off and disregard become issues of central importance for him."

That's why, McNeil said, hospitals should resign themselves to regarding most adult patients as children rather than adults.

"It is impractical, if not impossible, to set about changing human nature," he said.

Most complaining patients don't aim their criticism at doctors and nurses because they represent "comfort and survival," McNeil said. He said hospital administrators were the most popular targets.

"And, it is true," he said, "that the better the patient begins to feel, the louder his complaints become."

Italy Bolstering Port of Trieste

Sagging Economy of the Free Territory Shows Improvement

TRIESTE (UP)—The Free Territory of Trieste, outwardly, has changed little since departure of U. S. and British occupation troops.

It has become a much quieter city, and the traffic has thinned out considerably because 3,000 private and military vehicles were taken away by the soldiers.

It was on Oct. 26, 1954 that the Allied Military Government turned over the Free Territory after nine years to the Italian government, which set up its own administration under the terms of the London "Memorandum of Understanding."

A national loan of 30,000,000,000 lire ($50,000,000) was granted immediately to boost the port city's long-time failing economy.

An additional 32,000,000,000 lire ($53,000,000) was spent in Trieste during the first six months of Italian administration.

PREVENT DISASTER

These funds and their carefully planned use have prevented a major disaster economically and politically which Italy could ill-afford to have happen.

Trieste is not actually booming and its economic future is far from solved, but the situation is better than many Triestines, and some minority Slav inhabitants, expected.

One of the main headaches for the new administrators is the high unemployment in the territory. Out of a population of 30,000 about 26,000 are unemployed. Ten thousand of these lost employment when the Allied troops left.

To ease this situation, Italy has encouraged many Triestines to emigrate, and already several thousand have gone to Australia, Brazil, Argentine, Venezuela and the United States. Plans are underway for many more to go to Canada.

AMA HEAD—New president of the American Medical Association is Dr. Elmer Hess of Erie, Pa. He has stressed the importance of mental health, suggesting that doctors become increasingly active in developing more psychiatric units in hospitals.

Coldproofing Planes for Antarctic Trip

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Five aircraft for the Adm. Byrd expedition to the South Pole, in November are getting cold weather fittings—including "bathtubs"—at Jacksonville Naval Air Station.

Two transports, and three helicopters are being outfitted here. The helicopters are being adapted to withstand the antarctic cold which drops to 60 below zero.

The Navy hopes to insure comfort for the transport crews with special heating equipment. The units also defrost the windows of the pilot's cabin and the so-called "bathtubs" which are built into the plane's belly to house the cameras.

The planes are doubly insulated inside and special electronics gear added.

A knot is a unit of speed. When a ship goes eight nautical miles an hour, her speed is eight knots. A nautical mile equals 6,080.27 feet.

Bob Considine Says:

Wicked Kids Get Lion's Share of Publicity

NEW YORK (INS)—"Dew Drop" Holly, born in Brooklyn as recently as just before Pearl Harbor, has been sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing for the murder of another juvenile hoodlum. It happened last year when both were 15.

In sentencing Holly, Judge Sam Leibowitz said, "This is one of the saddest days of my life."

The verdict will be appealed, but as of now "Dew Drop," former "war counselor" of the El Quintos, a vicious teenage mob, is headed for the same gruesome seat which snuffed out the lives of the Rosenbergs and many a renowned adult mobster of another era . . . the era before the children took over in organized crime.

Two other boys who should have been in school when "Dew Drop" impassively heard his doom were given 20 years to life terms in prison, for their part in the bloody gang war involved.

In another part of the city, East Harlem, blazing police guns brought down 16-year-old Renato Mella and broke up a gun battle between two gangs of Puerto Rican boys.

GIN MILLS SCORED

I think Chief Probation Officer Edmond Fitzgerald made some good points in his probation report on the three young killers in the Brooklyn case.

He said that juvenile crime was on the upgrade in Brooklyn chiefly because more and more youngsters of this age, from increasingly derelict and godless families, are patronizing the borough's rat-trap taverns and lowdown gin mills.

He estimated that 60 per cent of teenage crimes emanate from such dives, and deplored the fact that children on probation invariably returned to these places.

"There are blocks (in Brooklyn) and indeed whole areas, in which no respectable youth may intrude even on legitimate errands without inviting assault and sometimes death," Fitzgerald gloomily reported.

It is proper to throw light on such conditions, just as it is on other malignant diseases. The rotten products of rotten environment serve one purpose through their violence. They dramatize the situation so vividly that even the most stupid lawmaker or dumbest cop cannot fail to be stirred into action.

ALL YOUTH NOT BAD

On the other hand, it's good to point out repeatedly that all of our youth is not going plumb to hell.

Ever hear of Edith Sternlicht, late of Hunter College, here in New York? Or her classmates. Edith could never do enough for people. During her vacation periods she worked as a counselor in a camp for children stricken with cerebral palsy.

She planned to make this her life's work after finishing college. It was while she was working in one of these camps that she was stricken with an incurable disease. Her last words before she died were an expression of concern for the sadness her parents would undergo.

Couple of weeks ago a classmate, Barbara Storms, conducted a memorial service for Edith at which a tree was planted.

At its base, for future generations to see, is a bronze tablet on which is inscribed: "Edith Sternlicht, 1935-1955. When God lends us a diamond, we must return it."

Also happened to run across this item in the Elizabeth, N. J., Journal: Jeanne Higgins, 16, and John L. Lutz Jr., 17, of the city's Battin High and Thomas Jefferson High, respectively, won the annual Leurich Foundation Award. The award is named for the sons of an Elizabeth minister who were killed in World War II.

EVIL IS PUBLICIZED

Miss Higgins devotes hours every day serving as the "seeing eye" of a former classmate Joan Goldberg, who is blind. She is also active in the work of the famous "Lighthouse," New York home and school for the blind, and will work in a blind children's camp this summer.

Young Lutz took over his father's welding business after the latters death, held the family together, and has expanded the business.

The "Dew Drop" Hollys get more publicity.

The woodcock never sees what it eats, driving its 3-inch bill into the mud and using the highly sensitive tip to feel earth worms upon which it feeds.

Fiddles for Inaugurations

CONCORD, N. H. (AP) — Ned Quint, 81-year-old violinist, played at Gov. Lane Dwinell's inauguration. It was the 31st consecutive inauguration reception at which he has played for a New Hampshire governor. Quint first fiddled during the reception for Gov. Charles A. Busiel in 1895.

Use Shock Tube to Test Blasts Without Bombs

CHICAGO (UP) — The largest laboratory device yet developed for simulating the blasts from bombs has been designed at Armour Research Foundation of the Illinois Institute of Technology.

The instrument is called a "shock tube." It allows engineers to study the effects of blasts without actually exploding a bomb.

The new shock tube has a six-foot diameter, Arne H. Wiedermann, associate engineer in propulsion and structural research, said it is by far the largest yet developed in this country.

The tube, built in nearby Gary, Ind., for the Air Force, has an over-all length of 150 feet.

A certain amount of combustible gas is introduced into one section of the tube and is confined by a light diaphragm. The diaphragm is shattered when the gas is ignited and the released pressure wave travels down the tube to a test section, where a model of a building has been placed.

The resulting forces are recorded with electronic equipment.

Youngsters Approve Gun-Handling Schools

BOSTON (AP) — State-sponsored schools to teach youngsters safe handling of firearms are popular. The state has established seven more schools, running the total to 13. Some 200 have graduated and received certificates of competency.

The object is to eliminate accidental shootings and familiarize youngsters 15 to 18 years old with the danger of mishandling weapons.

That's Texas for You

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — It's the law in Texas: Water districts can's use money received from sale of their bonds to install fire hydrants. So such itms in these districts are referred to as "flushing" hydrants. Nothing illegal about them.

REFLECTED GLORY — The Arch of Triumph is mirrored in the shiny helmet of this American GI visiting the famed Paris, France, landmark. The brightly polished helmet almost looks like a glass dome revealing what's on the soldier's mind.

In 1900, school children of the United States gave France an equestrian statue of Lafayette in return for the Statue of Liberty.

Lights of Auto Guide 'Copter Through Pass

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP)—A state highway patrolman reported guiding a military helicopter flying six to eight feet off the ground over a mountain pass in a recent soupy fog.

The patrolman said the pilot, a lieutenant, explained he was having difficulty making his way through a dense, grey fog bank blanketing the Altamount Pass in Alameda County, and asked help.

The officer used all his car lights to show the way. He pointed the white spotlight ahead, illuminating the road. The rear red light served to guide the pilot. The red spot light was pointed rear and up, and was used to indicate possible danger ahead.

The 'copter flew between 20 and 30 miles per hour over the pass. It was about seven feet off the road most of the time, except once when it dipped to less than six inches above the pavement to pass under a railroad bridge.

Once the fog bank was pierced, the helicopter made its way alone.

U.S. Family Income of $6,600 Is Predicted

CHICAGO (UP)—A University of Chicago sociologist predicts that by the year 2000 the average family in the U.S. may have an annual income of $6,600.

William F. Ogburn, professor emeritus, said this would be true if the standard of living doubles in the second half of the century, as it did in the first half.

The $6,600 would be in terms of 1950 purchasing power.

Old Pop Bottle Debt Paid

VINCENNES, Ind. (UP) — A stranger called on Gaynord Martin to pay off a debt, with interest. He said 15 years ago he walked off with two pop bottles from the gasoline station Martin used to operate without paying a deposit. He paid Martin 15 cents to clear his conscience—a dime for the bottles and five cents interest.

Only all with "controlled suds" washes so clean, yet rinses so free...in every kind of automatic washer!

EVEN TODAY some women still make the grave mistake of using old-fashioned thick-suds detergents in their precious automatics. This can be bad for their machines and their clothes.

For when choosing the detergent that lets your automatic washer (either front-loading or top-loading) perform at its very best . . . there's only one choice: all.

A washer maker asked for all

Automatic washers, when they were first introduced, had trouble with old-fashioned thick suds that slowed down washing action, damaged expensive working parts.

A washer maker called in Monsanto Chemical Company, gave them the problem . . . asked if they could develop a detergent with "controlled suds." The result was all . . . the original "controlled suds" detergent that does a better washing job in automatics than any soap or detergent ever known before. Today, most automatic washers leave the factory with a box of all inside!

Why all outwashes thick suds

all has no thick, sticky suds to float lazily on top of the wash water. Instead, all goes to work down in the wash water where it gets out the dirt. all with "controlled suds" can't possibly slow down the washing action of your washer. And free washing action is so necessary if clothes are to be washed completely, beautifully clean.

How all outrinses thick suds

You've noticed how difficult it is to rinse thick-suds detergents down the sink or drain. Thick suds stick just as stubbornly to your fresh-washed clothes. They cling to fabrics and often fail to rinse away.

However, all with "controlled suds" never clings to clothes. all rinses completely away. That's why all in your automatic washer leaves no suds scum, gives you the cleanest, brightest wash you've ever admired.

More clean clothes for your money!

You get more washes from one 10-lb. box of Condensed all than you do from three "giant" size boxes of thick-suds detergents. And no thick-suds detergent can wash so clean yet rinse as free as all with "controlled suds." No wonder automatic washer makers prescribe all.

Buy all today... for best results

Blue Cheese Peps Up Tomatoes

Celery Sauce Accents Flavor of Swordfish

The might swordfish, caught the world over, is one of the most prized of all fish—both to the sports fisherman, who considers it a rich trophy, and to the commercial fisherman who can sell his catch for a handsome price.

Broiling is the best way of preparing it, to be served either with lemon wedges or with a creamy sauce like the one below which calls for diced celery.

Broiled Swordfish Steaks With Celery Sauce

If steaks are frozen, let thaw before cooking. Pre-heat broiler and broiler pan. Place steaks on pan about 3 inches from source of heat. Brush with butter. Broil six to eight minutes on each side. Serve with Celery Sauce.

Celery Sauce

1-3 cup diced celery
2 tablespoons butter
1½ tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Saute celery in butter until celery is tender. Remove celery. Stir flour into butter. Remove from heat and add milk. Replace on heat and stir until sauce is smooth and thickened.

Season and add celery. Pour over hot fish steaks, or serve in bowl. Makes enough for four servings of swordfish.

Adds Grandeur to Broiled Dish

Blue Cheese Broiled Tomatoes is a recipe that has an epicure's touch added to an old favorite, broiled tomatoes. This dish, quick and easy to prepare, will become a favorite with busy homemakers and their families.

American blue cheese adds not only taste appeal to a variety of dishes, but it contains all the important nutrients of cheese—protein, calcium and phosphorous.

The creamy white, blue-veined cheese, rich with its pleasingly piquant flavor, is an outstanding product of the American cheese industry. Use it often during Dairy Month.

Blue Cheese Broiled Tomatoes

¾ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 4 ounces)
2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs
4 medium-sized tomatoes, cut in half
Garlic salt
Pepper
2 small onions, thinly sliced

Combine cheese and crumbs; mix well. Sprinkle tomatoes with salt and pepper. Top with onions and sprinkle with cheese mixture.

Broil 3-4 inches from source of heat about five minutes, or until cheese is lightly browned and tomatoes thoroughly heated. Serves four.

Barbecued Beef Boon to Hostess

Hot summer weather should go hand-in-hand with relaxtion for our heat-strained nerves. A new kind of summer entertainment—an at-home picnic—stops the clock and allows hostess and guests alike to enjoy the long, warm evenings.

The power of suggestion definitely is involved. . . . Serve picnic foods to your family and friends on the porch, terrace or in your dining room and the meal takes on all the festivity of a picnic.

There is a very good recipe for this kind of entertainment, a recipe so simple that hostess can almost be a guest at her own party, and this is indeed a happy factor to consider.

This recipe offers a new way to prepare:

Hot Barbecued Beef Buns

1 cup chili sauce
1 cup beef bouillon
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
2 drops Tabasco
2 cloves garlic, split lean roast beef, hot butter or margarine
8 hamburger buns, split

To make barbecue sauce: In a saucepan, combine chili sauce, bouillon, salt, Worcestershire sauce, mustard and Tabasco. Add garlic.

Bring to boil, then cook over low heat 20 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. If the sauce becomes too thick, add a little water. Remove garlic.

To serve: Slice meat very thin, more like shredded meat. Butter the buns, place several layers of the hot meat on bottom half of each bun.

Pour the hot barbecue sauce over meat. Top with remaining half of bun. Serve immediately.

These may also be served cold, using cold meat and sauce. Makes eight servings.

Add diced green pepper or celery to canned baked beans before heating. Makes good texture contrast.

Yule Cookies Still Fresh After Over Five Months

This is the tale of a cookie, of two cookies, in fact. Little did we realize when we published Mrs. George Tallerday's recipe for Christmas Fruit Cookies that they would keep so well.

A few days ago Mrs. Robie Clack of Drayton Plains called in to tell us that she had discovered two stray cookies in the bottom of a covered turpen she opened while housecleaning.

Mrs. Clack had made some of the fruit cookies several weeks before Christmas and thought her family had eaten them all. To her surprise the two remaining cookies were still moist and fresh.

Mrs. Clack knew when she first made them that the cookies were delicious and that her family enjoyed them. Now she's convinced that the recipe is superior.

We're repeating Mrs. Tallerday's recipe. These cookies would taste good with cool summer drinks. And who knows, you might be able to save some for your Christmas cookie plate.

FRUIT COOKIES
By Mrs. George Tallerday

1½ cups brown sugar
1 cup butter or margarine
3 eggs, well beaten
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon soda
2 pounds dates, cut fine
½ pound candied cherries, cut fine
3 cups chopped nut meats

Sift spices and soda with flour. Cream sugar and shortening. Add eggs, flour, fruit and nuts. Drop on greased baking sheet. Bake at 350 degrees about 10 minutes.

2 Savory Potato Recipes Come From South, West

Your family will enjoy these two new potato dishes. One comes from the South, the other from California.

Mashed Potato and Chive Casserole

2½ pounds (7 medium) potatoes
1-inch boiling water in pan
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup potato cooking water
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
2 tablespoons nonfat dry milk
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons finely chopped chives or green top onions

Pare potatoes; cook in the boiling water and salt until tender in covered saucepan. Drain off water and measure three-quarters cup.

Mash potatoes. Gradually add potato cooking water. Stir in remaining ingredients. Beat until fluffy.

Turn into a buttered 1-quart casserole. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 30 to 40 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes eight servings.

Carrot-Potato Scallop

3 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups potatoes, pared and sliced thin
2 cups carrots, scraped and sliced thin
½ cup celery, diced
2 tablespoons onion, chopped
2 cups milk, scalded
3 tablespoons butter or margarine

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Arrange a layer of half the potatoes, then a layer of half the carrots in greased casserole (1½ quarts).

Sprinkle each layer with celery and onions and flour mixture. Repeat. Pour on milk, dot with butter or margarine.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 45 minutes. Makes six servings.

Glaze Your Cookies

Want to give your cookies a shiny glaze? Mix an egg white or an egg yolk with a tablespoon of water and brush over the cookies before baking. Or brush the cookies with cream, if you have any in the house.

Jaunty Fruit Salad

For a jaunty fruit salad, try serving a pear half with drained pineapple chunks or tidbits in the hollow center. Toss a few strawberries or cherries on top.

Serve Beef Kabobs

Alternate squares of beef tenderloin, small mushrooms and squares of green pepper and bacon on skewers. Dip in melted butter or margarine and broil. Serve with rice and tomato sauce.

PINEAPPLE MEATBALLS—Here is a meat dish for a casserole over a candle warmer will keep these you can serve on the porch or the terrace as easily meatballs in pineapple sauce hot. Fluffy rice is the as you can inside. A chafing dish, an electric skillet, perfect accompaniment.

Simmer Meatballs in Pineapple Sauce and Serve Buffet-Style on the Porch

If you are one of the smart homemakers who has a special love for buffet entertaining, you'll find Pineapple Meatballs a perfect dish for such occasions.

There is an air of simple elegance about this recipe, for a buffet supper or cocktail buffet, when served in a chafing dish or candle warmer.

The meatballs are first browned in hot fat, then added to the sweet and sour sauce and simmered gently until tender. Thrifty rice is an excellent accompaniment to the savory meatballs.

Pineapple Meatballs

½ cup milk
1 slice bread
1 pound hamburger
1 pound ground round
1 egg
2 teaspoons salt
Pepper to taste
Dash garlic salt
2 tablespoons salad oil or shortening

Pour milk over crumbled bread to soften. Add to combined meat, egg, 2 teaspoons salt, pepper and garlic salt. Mix well.

With wet fingers form into walnut-sized balls (the meat mixture will be soft). Brown in hot oil, shaking pan frequently so balls will keep their round shape.

Pineapple Sauce

1 can beef bouillon
1 No. 2 can pineapple chunks
½ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup wine vinegar
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons soy sauce
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Simmer together for about 15 minutes the bouillon, pineapple and syrup, green pepper, vinegar, sugar, soy sauce, salt and monosodium glutamate. Moisten cornstarch in a little water and stir into boiling liquid. Simmer and stir until sauce is clear and thickened.

Add browned meatballs and simmer 10 to 15 minutes until flavors are blended and meatballs are heated through.

Serve from chafing dish or candle warmer with fluffy hot rice or noodles. Serves eight for dinner or many more for a cocktail buffet.

For Cooler Lemonade

How to make a cool drink cooler? Garnish lemonade with sweetened fresh fruits. Use strawberries, melon balls, sliced peaches or apricots — layer them with ice in tall glasses. Then mix up a pitcher of lemonade, using the easy frozen concentrate, and fill the glasses. Delicious, and looks twice as cool!

Fix French-Fried Franks for Rainy-Day Picnic Fun

If your picnic day dawns cloudy
And the rain begins to fall
Just follow these directions
And it won't bother you at all

No need to fret about a rainy day. Your picnic can be as much fun indoors as out. Just spread your blanket on the basement floor and proceed as directed.

Your menu calls for franks, and franks you shall have. Instead of roasting, try French-frying them.

Dipped in batter, then allowed to turn a golden brown in hot deep fat, batter-dipped franks are a treat that makes staying indoors a pleasure. With the franks go a Horseradish Sauce and Macaroni Salad.

French-Fried Franks

3 cups pancake mix
1-3 cup enriched cornmeal
1 teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons sugar
2½ cups water
20 franks

Combine dry ingredients. Add water and beat with a rotary beater about two minues. Dip franks in batter holding with chicken fork or tongs. Drain off excess batter.

Fry in hot deep fat (375 degrees) 2 to 3 minutes. Drain. Insert wooden skewers. Serve with horseradish sauce. Makes 20.

Horseradish Sauce

Add one tablespoon flour to one tablespoon melted butter; combine well. Add one cup chicken broth (or one bouillon cube dissovled in one cup hot water) gradually, stirring until thickened.

Add one-quarter cup cream to two beaten egg yolks. Pour thickened chicken broth over egg yolks gradually, stirring constantly. Add one-quarter cup horseradish and cook five minutes longer, stirring very frequently. Chill thoroughly.

Nectar for Dieters

Weight-watchers will be interested to know that there is now an apricot nectar on the market that has a non-nutritive sweetener — instead of sugar — added. The nectar comes in a 12-ounce can; each ounce of this nectar contains about seven calories.

Cucumbers in Cream

Cucumbers in lemonade cream are extra good. Slice four cucumbers very thin; crisp the slices in a bowl of ice cubes. Then combine 1 cup commercial sour cream with 2 tablespoons frozen concentrate for lemonade and one-half teaspoon salt. Dry the cucumber slices and fold them into the dressing.

Delicious Dressing

Delicious dressing for summer fruit salads: Mix together 1 pint of thick sour cream and one 6-ounce can of frozen lemonade concentrate. Salt and pepper to taste.

Gourmet Dishes Can Be Prepared from Children's Bugaboo -- Spinach!

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Children aren't going to like this article. It's on spinach!

The other night we had fresh buttered spinach. It was picked from the garden only minutes before it was cooked. I washed it carefully and thoroughly three times in lukewarm water. The tiniest speck of sand can ruin a dish of spinach. Warm water seems to loosen this sand quicker than cold.

I cook my spinach in a deep sancepan, using only the water that clings to the leaves, and cooking just a few minutes. In this way the spinach retains all its greeness—also its vitamins and minerals.

We like butter, salt and pepper and a hint of freshly ground nutmeg on spinach at our house. The vinegar cruet goes to the table for those who wish to add it. Personally I like lemon juice just as well.

Earlier this spring we had spinach salad. When the leaves are about the size of a fifty-cent piece, I serve them with french dressing. They are a welcome change from lettuce or cabbage. Sometimes I add sliced radishes or wedges of tomato for garnish.

If you are entertaining at luncheon and wish to serve creamed chicken or creamed seafood in a ring of some kind, try a spinach ring. It is delicious, unusual and contains fewer calories than a noodle or rice ring.

Spinach Ring

2 cups chopped cooked spinach
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
2-3 teaspoon salt
Dash of cayenne pepper
½ teaspoon onion juice
2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Turn into a well-greased ring mold. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a 350 degree oven about 30 minutes, or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Unmold at once and fill with creamed fish or chicken.

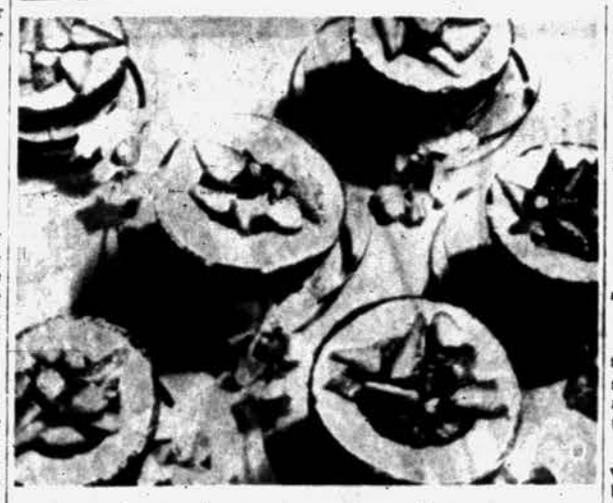

The lowly spinach can be a gourmet's delight. If you like herbs, add finely chopped chives and a bit of dried tarragon to buttered spinach.

Jeanne's Spinach

1 package ready-to-cook spinach
1 cup cream sauce
Garlic or garlic salt
Salt and pepper
Cracker crumbs
Butter or margarine

Cook and drain spinach. Mix with the cream sauce, garlic as desired, and seasonings. Brown the crumbs in butter and sprinkle over the top of the dish just before serving.

ICE CREAM TROPICALE — If you think this picture shows strawberries served in fresh coconut shells, you're all wrong. The hollowed-out shells are filled with coconut or vanilla ice cream. Then the strawberries are added. Isn't it a beautiful dessert?

Tropicale Fills Coconut Shells

Ice Cream Tropicale can be the hit of the party. Fresh coconut ice cream and ripe fruit is an elegant combination which becomes even more gala when served in coconut shells.

Spoon the coconut ice cream into the shells, pressing it smoothly, leaving a hollow in the center for the fruit.

If the fresh coconut ice cream is not available, a rich vanilla ice cream may be substituted with shredded coconut sprinkled over the surface.

If a freezer is available, the ice cream-filled coconut shells may be prepared in advance and kept in the freezer until almost ready to serve.

At serving time, fill the hollow in the ice cream with ripe strawberries which have been sliced in tempting big rosy slices.

Raspberries or crushed peaches or a combination of strawberries, raspberries, or peaches with crushed pineapple make a colorful and refreshing dessert topping also.

Grated kumquats are an exotic combination with the coconut ice cream for this tropical dessert.

Meal-in-One for Baby

A meal-in-one for baby is the new strained macaroni, tomatoes, beef and bacon. It's a "casserole-type" dish, a lightly seasoned combination of meat, macaroni and vegetable. Although it is pureed so as to be easily digestible, it has a wealth of flavor that is bound to be popular with baby.

Our milk supply is provided by 25,000,000 dairy cows on some 3,000,000 farms throughout the United States.

Soup Sauces Add Sparkle to Meat Loaf

Good cooks, always looking for something special in a meat loaf, will sing praises for this one. The "fancy" part is using a can of vegetable soup in the basic meat-egg-bread mixture. Clever way to spark up the color, bring out the flavor.

Fancy Meat Loaf

2 pounds ground beef
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed vegetable soup
2 cups soft bread cubes
1 large onion, chopped
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper

Mix all ingredients together well. Shape into loaf and place in shallow baking pan, or pack into lightly greased loaf pan. Bake in 350 degree oven about one hour or till done. Makes eight servings. If desired, serve with one of the sauces.

Celery Pimento Sauce

Mix one can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of celery soup with one-third cup milk (or drippings from loaf) and about one-third cup chopped pimiento. Heat.

Mushroom Sauce

Mix one can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup with one-third cup milk (or drippings from loaf) and about 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Heat.

Tomato Mustard Sauce

Mix one can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup with one-third cup drippings from loaf (or butter) and 1 tablespoon prepared mustard. Heat.

For Teatime Treat

Teatime treat: Bake packaged devil's food mix in a 9-inch square pan. Cool the cake, then cut in half crosswise. Now cut both layers of the cake into diamond shapes. Frost the cake diamonds with a fudge icing, then quarter marshmallows and tuck a piece of marshmallow in the center of each.

Pour Fruit Sauce Over Gingerbread

Pineapple-Grapefruit Sauce

2 tablespoons cornstarch
Salt
⅛ cup sugar
1¼ cups canned pineapple juice
1 cup frozen grapefruit juice (diluted according to directions on can)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Stir cornstarch, dash of salt and sugar together thoroughly in a saucepan. Gradually stir in pineapple and grapefruit juices until there are no lumps.

Cook, stirring constantly and vigorously, over moderately low heat until thickened and bubbly; cook a few more minutes.

Remove from heat and stir in butter until melted. Makes about 2½ cups.

State Housewives Get Milk Bargain

For every dollar spent for fluid milk, the consumer receives nearly two dollars' worth of food value. The average Michigan housewife spends 15 per cent of her food budget for milk and products made from milk, but she is actually buying 30 per cent of her family's nutritional needs.

Fluid milk, fresh from the farm, is the principal dairy item purchased daily, accounting for 71 per cent of the milk shipped to Detroit. The rest goes into cheese, butter, ice cream, cottage cheese and other dairy products.

That's only part of the story of milk in the Detroit market, according to statistics of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association, whose members are 17,000 dairy farmers in 33 counties of Michigan, 13,000 of whom send over 2.2 million quarts of milk to Detroit every day.

This unsurpassed bargain in good living is one of nature's bountiful gifts to man, implemented in no small measure, according to association records, by the modern production and marketing skills of Michigan's dairy farmers.

For Flavorful Chops

Braising pork chops? Top them with green pepper and onion rings for delicious flavor. Canned cream of mushroom sauce, with a little soy sauce added, makes an excellent braising liquid.

Refreshing Limes Cultivated for Centuries

Limes, like other citrus fruits, are native to Southeastern Asia and have been cultivated for thousands of years. It is believed the Arabs brought them from India to Persia, Palestine and Egypt during the period of expansion of Mohammedanism, 570-900 A. D.

Limes were not mentioned by European historians until the time of the Crusades, and were probably introduced into Europe at that time by the Crusaders who became acquainted with them on their expeditions.

From the early days of sailing vessels, lime juice has been on the regular ration of the British Navy to prevent scurvy. And it was from their large consumption of lime juice that British sailors were nicknamed "limeys."

Limes have been grown in Florida and California from the first years of the citrus industry. During the '70s and '80s California grew more limes than lemons and it was thought the lime industry would become highly important there. On the other hand, Florida grew lemons and relatively few limes.

Now the situation is reversed. California grows virtually all the lemons and Florida grows most of the limes. Florida's lemon industry was almost totally destroyed by the great freeze of 1894-95, after which the lime industry expanded here.

MOST DESIRABLE

Limes that are green in color and heavy for their size are the most desirable. Deep-yellow fruits, that is, those that are fully ripe, do not have the desired acidity. Decay and mold may affect limes in the same manner they affect lemons.

Limes often develop purple-to-brown colored and irregular-shaped spots. Sometimes the whole fruit turns brown. This is the result of scald, a storage disease related to the temperature and length of time the commodity has been stored.

Since limes lose juice rapidly when the air is dry or hot, they should be kept under moist refrigeration. A dry, shriveled lime has lost its value.

Besides making a refreshing drink or drink ingredient, limes can be used with any food usually served with vinegar or lemon juice. Lime juice is tempting in salads, salad dressings, mixed with honey in fruit cocktails and added to chilled fruit juice.

Lime pie rivals its close cousin, lemon pie, in deliciousness. Limes provide an excellent flavor for tasty sherbets and ices.

People who use them regularly prefer limes to lemon for hot or iced tea. They are particularly useful when prepared as limeade and frozen into ice cubes for use in iced tea and many other summer drinks.

Persian Iced Tea

During the hot weather try this new variation for iced tea. In the morning pour limeade into an ice-cube tray and freeze. For luncheon, afternoon tea or dinner, fill tall glasses with these cubes and pour freshly brewed hot tea over them. The aromatic fragrance of both the limes and the tea makes a delightful and refreshing drink.

Lime Cooler

¼ cup sugar
2 egg whites
½ cup lime juice
4 cups cold water
Shaved ice

Gradually add sugar to stiffly beaten egg whites. Combine lime juice with the cold water and slowly add to the egg white mixture, stirring constantly.

Fill tall glasses half full with shaved ice, then pour in mixture. Garnish with sprig of mint. Serve.

Lime Cream

1 tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¼ cup fresh lime juice heated
½ cup water heated
½ cup sugar
Pinch of salt
2 egg whites stiffly beaten
1 teaspoon grated lime peel
½ cup chopped pecans
1 3-ounce package cream cheese
1 cup whipping cream

Soften gelatin in water. Dissolve in hot juice. Stir in sugar and salt and cool. When beginning to set, whip with rotary beater, add cream cheese cut into small pieces and continue beating. When smooth, fold in egg whites, add nuts and grated lime peel.

Whip half the cream and fold into gelatin mixture. Pile into serving cups and chill. When ready to serve, top with rest of whipped cream. Garnish with half pecan on top.

'Bonanzagram'

Have Fun! Win $100!

"Bonanzagram" is an exciting new puzzle in which the Pontiac Press offers both fun and a $100 cash prize. BUT before you try your hand at "Bonanzagram" be sure and read the rules at the bottom of this page. Solution will appear in the Press June 10.

CLAIM CHECK

Below is a duplicate of the "Bonanzagram" entry you send in to contest headquarters. It is ESSENTIAL that you fill it in and save it until the correct solution to "Bonanzagram" No. 14 is published Friday, June 14. Unless you do so, you will be unable to collect the prize if you should send in a winning solution. Check the rules below for further details.

Bonanzagram No. 14

At closing time in the New York office of a motion picture company, the chief's secretary, in a hurry to get dressed for a dinner date, teletyped a hasty message to one of their directors in Hollywood. He was supposed to be ready to begin shooting an important new picture, and certain matters had been decided upon during the day that the secretary thought ought to be passed along without delay to her good friend on the West Coast. She had from time to time, through many a year, given him friendly advice and advance tips about the chief's disposition and intentions, eespecially if anything came up that was apt to cause complications for the talented but somewhat dilatory director. Unfortunately, this evening, there was something wrong with the teletype machine, and no one was around to fix it. So that there were missing letters in the message received in Hollywood. However, the director was able to fill in the gaps, and went into immediate action to cope with the situation. Can you, too, figure out what the secretary was trying to tell him?

How To Play 'Bonanzagram'

Solve the "Bonanzagram" by filling in all the missing letters, as indicated by the underscores, in the message. Insert only one letter above each underscore. Many clues to the missing letters are hidden in the story, or anecdote, accompanying the message itself, and, in a few cases, the contestant's general knowledge should provide the correct letter. The contestant will note that the message is unpunctuated. Punctuation will help solve the message but is not necessary to win.

All missing letters must be correctly inserted to win a Bonanzagram prize. Punctuation will not be considered in judging a correct answer.

When properly filled in, the "Bonanzagram" will spell out a clear message that will conform in every way with the clues. In many cases it will seem that more than one word would be the correct one. That's part of the fun! You should weigh the clues and select the BEST possible word in each case.

How to Submit Entries

1. After solution is completed, "Bonanzagram" should be clipped and pasted to a two-cent postcard with your name and address.

2. Entries will be received at the Pontiac Press office, 48 W. Huron St., until 5 p. m. Tuesday, June 14. Mail entries must be postmarked before midnight Tuesday, June 14 for Bonanzagram No. 14. Address "Bonanzagram, %, Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

3. Entries may be mailed in envelope but contestant's full name and number of puzzle must be printed in upper left corner of address side of envelope.

Facsimiles made by hand and corresponding as closely as possible to the original "Bonanzagram" printed in the Press will be accepted but are limited one to a family. Mimeograph, duplicator or other unofficial mechanical reproduction is forbidden.

How to Collect the Prize

The entrant must work out and keep duplicate solution as a claim check. When the solution is published in the Press, he should compare his "claim check" with the published solution, and, if his claim check is identical, he should call in person with his claim check at the Press office, 48 W. Huron St., before 5 p. m. on the Monday following publication of the solution.

If a winner cannot call at the Press office in person, he should mail his solution to "Bonanzagram Editor." Postmark on this letter must be not later than 5 p. m. the Monday after publication of the answer. Correct answers are void unless the contestant reports his claim by the deadlines listed here.

Everyone Likes Chocolate Milk

The universal liking for chocolate flavor has made chocolate milk and chocolate drink a popular dairy food.

Children are especially fond of this product. It is an ideal snack for a mid-morning or mid-afternoon break when children have been playing hard.

In the summertime, chocolate milk is best served ice cold. But when winter comes, it tastes delicious served hot. For parties, a mound of whipped cream atop the glass of milk adds flavor and eye appeal.

Chocolate milk is made with fresh whole milk. The food value of the milk is not changed, but the sweetened chocolate flavoring adds energy-producing calories for active children.

Chocolate-flavored milk drink is different from chocolate milk. The "drink" is made of a mixture of whole and skim milk plus chocolate syrup or power and is of lower fat content.

Both of these beverages serve as a means of getting more milk into the diet.

To insure the maintenance of good health, adults need at least three glasses of milk a day, and children at least four glasses.

The first law making pasteurization of milk compulsory was enacted in Chicago 47 years ago.

Tuna, Noodles Make Hearty One-Dish Meal

Here's a one-dish meal, hearty and delicious:

Cook one-half package (4 ounces) noodles; arrange in a baking dish in alternate layers with two cans tuna and one can (17 ounces) green peas, drained. Reserve one-half cup liquid from peas and add it to one can condensed mushroom soup. Pour over the noodle mixture.

Top with a cup of crumbled cereal flakes, and bake in 350-degree oven 30 to 40 minutes. Serve hot biscuits, tossed green salad, and there's a simple, satisfying meal.

Tomatoes Give Salad Additional Nutrition

With tomatoes, a salad becomes especially nutritious. They add a rich quantity of vitamin C as well as an appreciable amount of vitamin A to the salad bowl. The greens are packed with minerals and vitamins, especially vitamin A.

A pound of tomatoes contains a mere 97 calories. This makes them a boon to all weight-watchers, as well as to those of us who enjoy them for their delicious flavor.

Add a half-teaspoon of maple flavoring to penuche fudge and frosting mix for a new flavor.

ORANGE-BANANA DANISH PIE—There is intriguing flavor in this special variation of cool Danish pie. Sparkling Danish dessert filled with slices of orange and banana is poured into a cheese-lined pie shell and chilled.

Fruits Featured in Danish Pie

For a special summertime treat, serve Orange-Banana Danish Pie—cool, refreshing, flavorful slices of tangy-fresh orange and mellow banana are added to cool Danish dessert filling for real flavor excitement.

Poured into a nut-sweet pastry shell lined with a smooth-blended cream cheese mixture, you have a dessert no guest will ever forget.

Danish Pie is made three or four hours before serving time, eliminating any last minute dessert-fixing after guests arrive.

Orange-Banana Danish Pie

1 baked pie shell
1 package Danish dessert
2 cups cold water
2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
3 tablespoons sugar
Dash of salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup heavy cream, whipped
1 medium orange, sections free from membrane and cut in pieces
2 medium bananas

Make pie shell and let cool. Add Danish dessert to water, boil just one minute, then cool at room temperature until lukewarm. Meanwhile, cream the cheese with wooden spoon, add sugar, salt and vanilla and mix well.

Fold whipped cream into the cheese mixture and spread on bottom and sides of cooled baked pie shell, reserving about one-fourth for garnish.

Add oranges to cooled Danish dessert. Peel bananas and slice directly into the dessert. Stir fruit lightly into filling, then spoon into cheese-lined pie shell.

Chill in refrigerator until set (three-four hours). Garnish with remaining cheese mixture.

Spinach Served With Scallions Rates Applause

Spinach served this way will have appreciative customers!

Springtime Spinach

1 package (10 ounces) frozen spinach
½ cup boiling water
2 good-sized scallions (green onions)
2½ tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper

Cook spinach according to package directions using one-half cup boiling water. Turn into a strainer to drain thoroughly; press out liquid.

Trim roots and wash scallions; cut into thin small crosswise rounds, using all of green tops.

Melt butter in 1½ or 2-quart saucepan; add scallions and cook over low heat about five minutes, stirring often with wooden spoon to separate tiny root rings.

Stir in flour well. Add milk all at once. Cook and stir over moderately low heat until thickened and bubbly; cook a few minutes longer.

Add salt, pepper, drained spinach and reheat. Makes four servings.

Cobana Bars Are Both Cookie, Cake

Coffee and bananas! You can thank our friends in Latin America for both these delights.

We hope you'll remember this whenever you make yourself a cup of coffee and maybe bake a batch of delicious Cobana Bars—halfway between cookies and cake—to go along with it.

Cobana Bars

1¾ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons instant coffee
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon lemon extract
3 eggs, well beaten
(3 fully ripe bananas)
(3fully ripe bananas)
½ cup broken walnut meats

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and instant coffee. Cream shortening and sugar. Add lemon extract and eggs. Mix well.

Add flour mixture alternately with mashed bananas. Stir in walnuts. Bake in greased pan, 8x12x2 inches, in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for one-half hour.

Cool in pan and cut into bars four inches long and one inch wide. Frost with plain confectioners' sugar icing and sprinkle with chopped walnuts. Makes 24 bars.

Searing meat gives it an appetizing brown color; but searing meat will not "keep the juices in" as was once believed.

Salads—Salad Dressings Easily Varied With Cheese

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

A request from a man cook for a good Roquefort dressing recipe lead to this article. The number of ways cheese can be used in salads and salad dressings is legion.

Cottage cheese has been a reducer's standby for ages. It combines well with most fruits, especially the tart fruits which give the added color and flavor the bland cheese needs. Here is an interesting cottage cheese salad that combines both fruit and vegetables.

Cottage Cheese Slaw

1 cup cottage cheese
¼ cup French dressing
2 cups shredded raw carrots
2 cups shredded cabbage
1 cup grapefruit sections
Lettuce

Combine the cottage cheese and French dressing and blend well. Add the carrots, cabbage and grapefruit. Toss lightly and serve on crisp lettuce. Makes 6 servings.

Cream cheese has its place in the salad picture also. You might try this dressing on fruit salad.

Cheese-Onion Dressing

1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
6 very tender green onions, chopped fine
Pear juice for thinning

Soften cream cheese; blend in mayonnaise, keeping mixture smooth. Stir in onions. Beat in pear juice to make pouring consistency. Makes about 1 cup.

This salad that's shaped and chilled like refrigerator cookie dough, then sliced and served.

Cheese Salad Roll

½ pound American cheddar cheese, shredded
½ cup chopped pecans
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons pickle relish
½ teaspoon salt
Mayonnaise or salad dressing
Lettuce

Combine all ingredients except the lettuce. Form into a roll; wrap in wax paper and chill. Slice and serve on crisp lettuce. Makes 6 servings.

And now for the Roquefort cheese dressings. For the simplest kind just add crumbled cheese to your favorite French dressing. The first recipe calls for cream.

Roquefort Cream Dressing

¼ pound Roquefort cheese
1 cup mayonnaise
¼ cup light cream
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon grated onion
¼ teaspoon each
Worcestershire sauce
Garlic salt
Coarse black pepper
Dash of cayenne
Salt
½ teaspoon MSG

Place cheese in bowl; mash with fork; gradually add mayonnaise, blending until smooth. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Store in covered jar in refrigerator. Let come to room temperature before serving. Makes about 2 cups.

Potter Palmer Dressing

½ pound Roquefort cheese
5 tablespoons olive oil
1 teaspoon butter
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
Few grains mustard and paprika
1 tablespoon sugar
Juice 1 lemon
Tarragon vinegar

Cream cheese with oil and butter. Add seasoning and lemon juice, continue creaming until well blended. Thin to desired consistency with tarragon vinegar.

Serve Bean Salads With Varied Dressings

Salads with chilled beans can be served with a variety of dressings: Mayonnaise, cooked dressing, or French dressing.

The drained canned beans may be combined with diced celery, cooked diced carrots, diced cooked beets or potatoes, minced onion, chopped pepper, cucumbers, leftover ham, hardcooked sliced eggs, cubed or grated cheese, crisp bacon bits, or pickle.

COCONUT TWIST COFFE CAKE—Introduce a ray of tropical sunshine to your breakfast table with Coconut Twist Coffee Cake. Its unusual shape will be a conversation starter. If you like, you may make it the day before and heat it just before serving.

Coconut Filling Peeks Out of Twisted Coffee Cake

For your next brunch or Sunday breakfast make a sweet bread filled with the tropical goodness of coconut — Coconut Twist Coffee Cake.

Richly flavorful brown sugar and spicy cinnamon nestle deep inside the delicate yeast bread. It satisfies down to the last delicious bite.

The unusual shape of Coconut Twist Coffee Cake will be of interest. Snip and twist the dough so the filling can show off all its golden-brown beauty — all the better to tempt reluctant breakfast appetites.

Make Coconut Twist Coffee Cake the day before you plan to serve it. Then just before serving heat it quickly in the oven.

Coconut Twist Coffee Cake

1 package yeast, compressed or dry
¼ cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
½ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
3 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
¼ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup shredded coconut
Confectioners' sugar icing

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to softened yeast and egg. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1½ hours). When light, punch down. Let rest 10 minutes.

Roll or stretch dough into long narrow strip about 4x24 inches. Combine butter or margarine, brown sugar, cinnamon and coconut and mix well. Spread coconut mixture on dough. Fold strip into thirds and seal open end.

Flatten slightly so dough measures about 5x8 inches. Place in greased 8-inch-square baking pan. Make three slashes with scissors on each of the narrow sides to within one-half inch of center. Twist first and third strips entirely around so ends are at opposite sides of pan. Turn remaining strips so coconut filling shows.

Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes. When cool, brush with thin confectioners' sugar icing, if desired. Makes one 8-inch square coffee cake.

Use Leftover Pork in Fried Rice Dish

Here's a good way to use up leftover pork.

Main Dish Fried Rice

1 cup converted-type, or long-grain rice
2 tablespoons salad oil
¼ cup finely diced onion
1 cup finely diced celery
2½ cups thin strips leftover roast pork
2 tablespoons American-type soy sauce
¼ teaspoon sugar

Cook rice according to package directions. Heat oil in skillet (about 10 inches); add onion and celery and cook over low heat about 10 minutes, stirring often.

Stir in 2 cups of the pork, then the rice. Sprinkle with soy sauce and sugar; mix lightly but thoroughly. Heat gently about 10 minutes.

Serve topped with remaining one-half cup slivered pork. Makes four servings.

Spread Broiled Steaks With Gourmet Toppings

If the Dad in your family is a gourmet — or a guy who appreciates a subtle flavor touch — spread the hot broiled steaks with one of these tasty toppings:

1. Lemon butter: One-fourth cup butter or margarine creamed with 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley.

2. Wine-herb butter: Melted butter combined with an equal amount of dry red or white wine and a little thyme or marjoram.

Make Herb Vinegar

Add half a teaspoon of dried crushed basil to a pint of very hot vinegar and pour into a bottle or jar. Cover tightly and allow to stand about 10 days, shaking the mixture each day. Then strain through cheesecloth and your herb vinegar will be ready to use in salads.

Milk contains some of every known vitamin.

Classic Car Fans Scorn Modern Auto Designs

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The writer of the the following is strictly impartial. He doesn't even own a motor scooter.)

By H. D. QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Anybody got an old beat-up Dusenberg? Or maybe an Auburn or a Cord? Or a rusty, dusty Marmon 16?

Don't throw it away. It's a classic. Restore it—and live.

There's a fast-growing club here with members in all states and in many foreign countries that look upon modern motor car styling with a tolerant disdain best expressed by one word, "ugh." They call it the "bathtub, or bubble, era" of automobile design.

These men, and some women, of rugged taste for individual design, who thrill to ownership of a car of classic, vertical lines and like to commune with a mighty motor through a lever to the transmission, hark back to the late 1920's and the 1930's as the golden era of autos.

They want a car with two big standout headlights, proud and alone at the prow . . . four wheels spinning bright and nude, uncovered by skirts dropping down from the fenders . . . running boards, beautiful in utility.

They like to feel the road through the wheel in their hands.

GREAT NAMES

They tremble at the mighty names of Stutz, Franklin, Pierce-Arrow, Cord, Auburn, Marmon, Packard, DuPont, Duesenberg, Rolls-Royce, and Kissel White Eagle. They bow at the great name of Isotta Fraschini.

The Classic Car Club of America started in 1952 with 80 members. Now it has more than 1,000. They're not worshipers of antiques. Their constitution specifies that the classic is one of the super-fine cars built between 1925 and 1942. They believe the real classics, despite their age, are right now the finest cars in the world.

"A lot of us die-hard classicists," said their president, Arthur Perrow, an encyclopedia editor, "figure they haven't made any classics since the period bounded by 1928 and 1935. After that, the builders started in with this phony streamling, skirts on fenders, bulbous bodies, superfluous metal. They covered the radiator with big metal so it wouldn't cool the car, and shoved it forward of the axle.

"We're interested in the discovery, rescuing, and restoring of a classic. It breaks our hearts to see it sit there and rot."

The club has a monthly bulletin and a quarterly magazine. The regional clubs all over the country have monthly "meets" with driving performance, and style competition. There are big national contests annually, for which owners prep and groom the old beauties.

EXPLAIN TERMS

They have their own language. "Rough" means a classic discovered dirty, rusty, and falling apart. When it's been restored to perfect mechanical condition, it's "mint." An "iron" is a heavy, cumbersome, old car; an old limousine with hard top and four doors and little style.

Instead of horsepower, they're likely to say, reverently, that a certain number of "horses live under the hood." The Duesenberg Model J, dating from 1927 to 1936, when supercharged had 320 horses living riotously under the hood, more than any car made today, Perrow said.

As for prices, the Duesenberg ran from $10,000 to $25,000 new. Now you may get one rough for $1,000 or less and restore it for $2,000 to $5,000. The classic lovers exchange such information by grapevine.

Gordon Webber, the first president, believes the fast club growth reflects "people's revolt against standardized living, against all cars' looking alike, as they do now; it's a return to individuality."

Webber said the complaint against modern cars is that "they're too heavy, gross of line; squashy on the curves, tires squeal, don't have the roadability and durability of the classic, don't have the workmanship."

Perrow puts it this way: "Modern cars are to full of gadgets, too easy to operate. It's like sitting in a living room and pushing a button. We like some movement. We like the gear shift on the gear box, like the feel of shifting the gears, when you get to know your own transmission."

India Sending Girls to U. S. in Exchange

NEW DELHI (AP)—For the first time, India is sending girls to the United States to participate in the Live-and-Work Exchange Program sponsored jointly by the 4-H clubs and the Ford Foundation. The Indian government has selected 10 girls to go to the United States to study home economics.

During the past three years, Indian farm boys have been going to the United States to work on American farms. As part of the exchange, several American boys and girls are scheduled to visit India for six months, starting in September.

Old Gold Mine Town Making Comeback Now

RICO, Colo. (AP) — This town, whose gold and silver mining history began in 1869 and fades in the early 1900s, is staging a comeback. Sulphuric acid, an important ingredient in processing uranium ore soon will be produced at the rate of 150 tons a day in a plant being constructed here.

Uranium mills within a 100-mile radius of Rico now depend on supplies from Utah. Most of the workers in the town's 400 population help mine iron pyrites from which the sulphuric acid is made.

Geysers first were found in Iceland, then the United States, and later New Zealand. The word is Icelandic in origin and means "to burst forth with violence."

Youth Authority Warns Parents

Should Know How to Advise Kids Afraid of Being 'Chicken'

CHINO, Calif. (UP) — Today's parents better know how to explain to their teenage children that there are worse things than being called "chicken" by other teenagers, according to Frank Graves, youth authority.

Graves is director of Boys' Republic, about an hour's drive from Los Angeles.

He feels that teenagers get into trouble in most cases because they are more afraid of being called "chicken"—today's equivalent of "yellow belly"—than they are afraid of police.

Parents of the teenagers who start breaking society's laws rather than their own "gang" laws are confronted with a situation that requires immediate action, Graves said.

He warned also that preteens frequently are spurred to their first illegal acts by the same fear.

Graves bases his views on his general background, training and experience at Boys' Republic, a privately supported institution for boys who are underprivileged, come from broken homes or are "pre-delinquents."

There are five questions that parents who are worried about their children should ask themselves, Graves said, if they are to explain that maybe "being chicken" isn't always so bad.

1. As a child, did you ever do something similar to the offense your child has committed? If you did, it should be easier for you to give the child sympathy and understanding before you become morally righteous and indignant.

2. Can he expect sneers and reprisals from others, and what will happen to his self-respect if he does not give in to pressures and has to stand alone?

This is another opportunity for understanding from a mature adult — you — who have fewer moral decisions to make per day. But you wouldn't want your friends to call you a coward or poor sport, would you?

3. Who are the bad influences? You may be able to point tactfully to associates after learning they are unhealthy influences like bullies or cheats or cowards rather than heroes.

Or perhaps you can help the bad influences, or learn enough about them to advise your teenager how to win others' approval.

4. How can a son realize the real consequences of his act? Try to explain how a fatal accident can occur with guns or automobiles—how even experts have accidents.

5. Are you proof that "every teenager in trouble is an indictment of his parents?"

Thinking objectively and realistically about your children will show you a way to prove to them that parents love them and are more loyal than any gang and will help rather than censure them.

They're off to a good start in their OK Used Car

The red OK Tag promises they'll get where they want to go!

JUST MARRIED? Yes, and they're going to get where they want to go in life because they're beginning right.

Sure, they left in a haze, but they also left in the kind of car that gets young folks off to a good start. It's an OK Used Car, warranted in writing by their Chevrolet dealer. It's the kind of used car that will satisfy their new-car taste and their "just married" budget.

Lots of people are discovering that there's a big difference between a used car bearing the red OK Tag and an ordinary used car. Will-O-Way to Begin Registration

Will-O-Way Playhouse Apprentice Theater has announced that registration will begin Saturday for its 1955 summer course. Registration will be in the lobby of the playhouse. Children from 7 years of age and older, as well as adults, are eligible.

The summer course will run from June 21 through Aug. 9, with two one-hour classes each week and a public performance at the end of the term. These classes will be held mornings, afternoons and evenings, Tuesday through Friday.

Major changes have been made in this summer's program to accommodate the growing demand for part-time summer training at Michigan's professional school of the theater.

In the past, during the summer, only 10 adult students have been accepted. These students were required to attend all day six days a week. This summer there will be classes for both children and adults, with only two class hours per week required.

The Apprentice Theater program offers complete background and training in theater and covers both acting and production techniques.

Classes include work in physical and emotional expression and control, voice training, speech analysis and correction, pantomime, stage presence and movement, acting styles and characterizations, history of drama, theater terminology, stage management, stage lighting, stage makeup, radio and television techniques, and other subjects.

PERFORMANCE GIVEN

At the end of each term a performance is given before the public in which all students take part. They produce the show, work backstage, and act to get actual theater experience before an audience.

In addition to the regular course, a conpact and intensified course will be offered college and pre-college students who are qualified.

This course will cover three times the normal amount of work given in a term. There will be six hours of class work a week required or a total of 45 class hours for the term. This also includes a final public preformance.

All enrolled students are eligible to be chosen for acting parts or technical work during the professional summer season. Students are chosen for these professional shows by the producer-director, William W. Merrill, solely on the basis of merit and ability.

There are five pages in Today's Women Section

Many students in the past have both appeared in the cast and worked on the technical crew in playhouse productions. Opportunities have also occurred in radio and television work, modeling, and commercial film work. These opportunities have been made available to qualified students.

THEATER LICENSED

Will-O-Way Playhouse Apprentice Theater is licensed by the Michigan State Board of Education as a trade school in theater. Many colleges and universities accept completed courses in lieu of prerequisite courses in theater and give credit for these courses towards a master's degree.

A Senior Certificate is awarded by the Apprentice Theater upon completion of nine 15-hour terms or a total of 135 class hours, plus participation in at least five professional shows at Will-O-Way Playhouse.

A Junior Certificate is awarded to students under 16 years of age on completion of nine 15-hour terms of 135 hours of class time. Three terms are offered each year.

Registration for the summer term on Saturday will be in the lobby of Will-O-Way Playhouse, West Long Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Registration at any other time before June 21 may be arranged by appointment with Celia Merrill Turner.

Housework-Hating Wife Hit Jackpot

By ANNE HEYWOOD

One day, an attractive woman in her mid-thirties, came into my office.

She had two children in school and "she sort of, kind of, wanted a part-time job."

"But," she told me, "my husband definitely doesn't approve.

"He doesn't want me to work," she added in a smug, I'm-terribly-cherished kind of voice, which made me suspicious.

As the story came out, I felt more and more suspicious.

Her husband sounded like a nice man and certainly not old enough to be a blindly stubborn woman's place is in the home type; especially since the home was a six-room, easy-to-care-for modern house, and the two children were in school.

On top of that, her mother lived with them and liked the children.

HATED HOUSEWORK

In other words, here was a woman whose household chores could never have been stretched to take a full day, who admitted that she hated housework, who had a mother to help with the children after school and a husband whose salary had to cover a family of five.

At my insistence — and in spite of her own reluctance — she brought her husband with her the next time.

Sure enough, the husband had no objections at all.

On the contrary, he felt they really needed more money if they were to have any luxuries at all.

He also pointed out that her mother felt terribly unnecessary and would be more than willing to help out with the children and housework.

EILEEN L. HARMER

Eileen L. Harmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harmer of Monterey boulevard, will receive her BS degree on June 11 from University of Michigan.

But what was even more significant, the husband as good as said that he was tired of hearing her complain about the drudgery of housework and that the children were getting nervous and high-strung because of her constant martyr attitude.

GAVE HER FREEDOM

But the woman didn't really want a job. She hated housework, but at least it gave her freedom.

She could be shiftless and lazy and do it badly and nobody could fire her.

It also gave her a chance to be a real martyr, whereas if she got a job and got out of the much-hated housework, she'd have nothing left to complain about.

In a regular job, she'd have to work and maintain some kind of standard, and that was what she didn't like.

SHE BLEW UP

When this was pointed out to her, she blew up.

Later on, her innate decency came to the fore and we worked things out.

She has a job now and really likes it.

Her mother is happy, doing the housework and feeling important; the children have a happy and self-fulfilled mother instead of a whining "saint;" the husband looks ten years younger.

Sometimes it seems to me that the modern husband has every bit as much of a dilemma as the modern wife!

It's a "princess" dress—the prettiest flattery your figure ever had! Smooth, simple lines from molded bodice to flare skirt — adapt so beautifully to almost every fabric. Easy sewing, too—make several for glamour wear!

The bride-elect's mother, Mrs. W. Roy Thompson, presided over the punch table.

Offers Cure for Gal Who's 'Bad Medicine'

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been good friends with this girl for a year or so.

"When I first moved here I was very popular, but as soon as I started running around with her, my popularity went down.

"Lots of the time she is fun (when there are no boys around). But she's terribly boy crazy. She likes boys five or six years older than we are (14).

"She wants me to do things that I know are wrong. My mother says she's 'bad medicine' for me.

"She also says that I have a lifetime to go out with boys.

"How can I stop running around with her so much but still be friends with her?"

Answer: Start seeing more of your other girl friends, so you won't be quite so available for running around with just one.

Join up with other girls during lunch hour. Invite one or another to come home with you after school.

Cultivate the friendship of one girl so that you find yourself spending a lot of time over at her house. And see to it that still another girl spends a lot of time at yours.

That busyness will keep you occupied with activities that are more your style.

Your abrupt diversion of attention from your boy-crazy friend to other girls will prompt her to look up another running mate for herself — one whose tastes are more like her own.

It's not a question of "breaking up" with her. It's just tapering it off without any serious words, so that your friendship dissolves into thin air.

Then you can see her around, speak and be friendly (without being intimate) and without any hard feelings.

"Dear Miss Woodward: My best friend is now going steady with my ex-boy friend. Last night she had a party and he was there, of course, with her.

"I didn't think I cared for him any more, but last night I found out I do. I know he likes her very much, but I think he still likes me by the way he acted.

"He goes to a different school and hangs out with a different crowd, so since my girl friend is always with him and his friends, we don't go around too much together.

"But I value her friendship and like her very much. To top it all off, I'm supposed to be going with a boy in my crowd. I liked him until last night.

"If I break off with him, he and everybody else will be mad and they'll say I was just stringing him along until I found someone else.

"Should I wait until my girl friend and my ex-boy friend break up and then step in? Or what?"

Answer: You've let a close look at an old beau unstring you. The memories of the way things used to be have completely clouded your thinking.

They have a going deal now, your girl friend and he. You're out of it.

You have a going deal of your own. Stick to it. Hankering for what's over and done with is foolish.

Table Transformed With Rubber Tile

An easy renovation project for an old coffee table or bridge table is to transform it into a smart modern-looking game table with rubber tile.

The resilient tile is easy to cut with a flooring knife into small squares needed for a checkboard.

When you receive an invitation to a party given by several women, either answer to the one you happen to know, if you do not know the others, or to the one whose return address is given.

When leaving the party, you, of course, make an effort to tell all of the hostesses that you enjoyed it.

Black-and-white is a sophisticated, high-fashion combination this year. But it's a youthful fashion, too, done for juniors in overblouse and skirt, tunic-and-skirt, sheath-and-coat partnerships.

Church Women's Leader Treasures Antique China

By JANET ODELL

Who are the women who head the various civic and service and educational organizations in Pontiac? What sort of individuals are they? What kind of organizations have they been elected to lead?

These are some of the questions we hope to answer in a series of articles devoted to interviews with the presidents of a number of church, school and community clubs.

Mrs. Homer B. Harbage (Elizabeth), president of Pontiac United Church Women, comes honestly by her love of antique dishes. People used to come from all over the state of Ohio to view the collection her mother had. She, naturally, has inherited some of this collection. One of the oldest pieces is a long-necked vase dated 1785.

She also owns a cup and saucer that was part of the wedding china of her great-great-great-grandmother. This ancestor was married to an officer in the Revolutionary War.

White, with a gold rim, the china is etched in soft gray with a cherub perched on a cloud. The saucer is as deep as a modern sauce dish. It will be remembered that tea drinkers of an earlier day "saucered" their beverages for cooling purposes.

ENJOY HAVILAND

The dishes which bring the most pleasure to both Mrs. Harbage and her husband are a set of Haviland china.

At the end of World War I, before young Lieut. Harbage returned to America, he visited the Haviland china factory in Limoges, France. After consultation with Mr. Haviland, he ordered a complete set of dishes to be made and sent to him and his bride-to-be.

Mr. Haviland took the order, then presented the officer with a chocolate set of his own choosing. Mrs. Harbage showed it to me. It's composed of a chocolate pot in the shape of a duck, two cups and a tray, all in a soft blue china.

Mrs. Harbage knew nothing about the china her husband had ordered. A year or more after their marriage a fat, squatty barrel arrived from France. It was their Haviland china set, each piece made by hand, each piece monogrammed "HBH".

On the bottom of every piece—even the tops to the sugar bowl and cream pitcher — this inscription appears: "Manufactured by Theodore Haviland, Limoges, France for Lieut. and Mrs. Homer B. Harbage, December 1918."

IN PLACE OF HONOR

Today this set of dishes holds a place of honor in a large oak cabinet in the living room of the Harbage home on Lenox avenue. On top of the cabinet stands the 18th Century vase. Next to it stands the 20th Century television set.

The young bride who unpacked the surprise barrel of dishes is now the mother of three grown children and a grandmother. Through the years she has worked in many organizations connected with the school and church.

About four years ago she became an active member of the United Church Women. She has served the group as secretary and at present writing is its president.

Any woman who belongs to a Protestant church is automatically a member of the United Church Women. This organization is a union of three separate church women's groups, the Council of Women for Home Missions, the Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions and the National Council of Church Women.

Because all Protestant churches have the same aims in certain fields, it is felt that the women can do a better job by uniting and working together.

By pooling their efforts, this group "makes vivid the reality of the bonds of Christian fellowship among women of different races, nations, and churches." Monthly programs help carry out this aim.

WORLD PRAYER DAY

One of the better known parts of the United Church Women's program is the World Day of Prayer, held the first Friday in Lent throughout the world.

Mrs. Harbage will preside over the last meeting until fall on Monday. At that time Miss Hinckley from the Bureau of Social Aid will discuss "Social Problems of Oakland County."

One last chore before the season ends will be a two-day ecumenical seminar for state church women. This is to be held at the MEA Camp at St. Mary's Lake near Battle Creek.

Then it's off to the woods for this charming, soft-spoken lady. She will spend nine weeks this summer doing what she has done for several summers in the past—cooking for a hundred Camp Fire Girls from Detroit.

Asked what her husband does without her for all this time, she answered, "He loses weight. It's the only time, he says, that he weighs what he ought to weigh."

The leadership of the Pontiac United Church Women is in firm, capable and kindly hands.

Mrs. Homer B. Harbage of Lenox street proudly displays her exquisite Haviland tea pot which was part of her wedding china.

Mothers' Club Officers Are Installed

For each of the 10 years since the local Mothers' Club of the Boys' Club has been organized, Charles F. Rhodes has taken charge of installing new officers.

This year being no exception, Mr. Rhodes performed his duties once again on Tuesday evening at the closing dinner and ceremonies at the club. Mrs. Herman Dennis stepped into the role of president.

She will be assisted by Mrs. Ray Ellsworth, vice president; Mrs. Arthur Longbrake, secretary, and Mrs. Charles M. Lucas, treasurer.

Serving on the board of directors will be Mrs. Ralph Weir, Mrs. Walter Peters, Mrs. Ford Snyder, Mrs. Charles Eaglen, Mrs. Floyd Halpin, Mrs. Lester Christiansen, Mrs. Phillip Rabaja and Mrs. Lillian Fink.

CHAIRMEN NAMED

Next, Mrs. Dennis appointed committee chairmen, including Mrs. Peters, Mrs. Almon Austin, Mrs. Clarence Chamberlain, Mrs. Henry Engholm, Mrs. Harold McKenzie, Mrs. Walter Jeffreys and Mrs. Jack Nelson.

A gift and past president's pin were presented to Mrs. Rabaja. Members voted to hold their regular meetings on the third Tuesday of each month when activities resume again in September.

TV Set Placed Beneath Desk

If you have trouble fitting a table TV model into your decor, try a trick used by New York decorators Edward Wormley and Bertha Shafer.

In a model apartment display, they placed a table TV neatly under a desk ledge and still allowed it to swivel for complete ease of viewing.

They merely put it on a regular metal swivel stand and chopped off the legs of the stand.

Man Should Stay Not at Widow's, but at a Hotel

By EMILY POST

A reader asks the following question: "Will you please clarify a point of etiquette for a friend and me?

"I say that it is highly improper for a young widow, living alone with a nine-year-old child, to have an out-of-town man friend stay overnight in her house.

"I maintain that unless she can be chaperoned by an older member of her family, he should stay at the hotel. My friend says that such stuffy conventions went out of date with high button shoes.

"I would like very much to have your opinion on this matter."

Answer: A nine-year-old child is too young to be considered a suitable chaperone and to have a man stay overnight in the house under these conditions would not escape criticism.

If the daughter were grown that would be another story.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When writing to my friends I find it more convenient to typewrite my letters rather than write them by hand.

"The other day while typewriting a letter to a friend, one of the girls in my office brought me to task for this and said it was improper to typewrite personal letters.

"Will you please tell me if she is right about this so that I will know whether or not to continue this practice?"

Answer: To typewrite informal letters to friends is today not only correct but preferable if the letter is long or one's handwriting is at all hard to read.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I received an invitation to a large dinner party. The invitation specifies 'Black Tie.'

"Am I right in assuming this means evening dress for both me and my husband? Would a ballerina-length dress be acceptable?"

Answer: "Black Tie" means that the men are expected to wear tuxedos and the women not too elaborate evening dresses. A ballerina length would be acceptable.

IF bosom problem—

Keep upper bodice as stark as possible to minimize bust, plump out the bosom with pleated frill. Black sheer is new.

Simple bodice of black chiffon with slim sleeves and flared skirt of taffeta plays down the large bosom. Black sheer sheath with covered chest of pleated black net is a fine chest expander. Black is being worn for late day events.

London's subways always remain at a nearly constant temperature, regardless of the weather outside.

DOLORES JOAN HYLLA

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Hylla of Florence avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Dolores Joan, to William O. Thomas Jr. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Thomas of Center Line. The couple is planning a fall wedding.

Installation Rites Held

Rabbi Sanford Saperstein conducted an installation of new officers for the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Jacob when members gathered Tuesday.

The first taper in the candlelight ceremony was lighted by Mrs. Herman Dickstein, outgoing president, which she passed on to Mrs. Irving Gordon, newly elected president.

The procedure was followed by Mrs. Joseph Nosanchuck, first vice president; Mrs. George Wyman, second vice president; Mrs. Harry Arnkoff, secretary and Mrs. Rudy LoPatin, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Tom Horwitz is treasurer; Mrs. Harry Ackerman, financial secretary, and Mrs. Julian Levine is parliamentarian.

Mrs. Irving Steinman gave the invocation following the annual luncheon. The musical part of the program was presented by the Senior Girls Ensemble from Pontiac High School.

Mrs. Harold Chapman, program chairman, introduced Rabbi Saperstein who paid tribute to Mrs. Dickstein and the Sisterhood. He closed the affair with a prayer.

A toy water pistol is a fine thing for wetting down the edges of plaster and concrete before a hole or crack is filled with patching compound.

Graduation Events Set by Cranbrook

The commencement week program for students at Cranbrook School is a busy one.

This evening a June formal dance will be enjoyed by seniors, post-graduates, members of the third, fourth and fifth forms and the faculty.

Friday evening a supper for the faculty, resident students and parents and guests from out-of-town will be held at the school.

Commencement will take place Saturday morning at Christ Church. A commencement luncheon will be held during the afternoon honoring members of the graduating class and their families.

New Bridal Hats Differ From Traditional Veils

PARIS (INS) — Some of the latest bridal head-covers in Paris are a far cry from the traditional veils and orange blossoms.

Lilies-of-the-valley are the most popular bridal flowers since Parisians believe they bring good luck. Patou has designed a sweet bridal ornament in a most romantic mood.

Three wreaths of lilies are worn in the hair, ballerina fashion. At the nape of the neck they end in two wide bands of white organdy knotted to a large bow with the ends floating down to the waist.

A hat, shown at Fath, also has a bridal touch. A small white straw crown has a large brim made entirely of lilies-of-the-valley mounted on wire for a halo effect. For the spring bride, Fath also has a crescent shaped headgear made of jasmin blossoms.

Hubert de Givenchy shows an original head ornament for a bride with a chignon. It is a long white muslin scarf which he winds twice around the chignon.

From the back the two ends are brought forward, crossed in front of the throat and draped back again over the shoulders. With some lilies-of-the-valley pinned to the chignon, it looks dressy, new and youthful.

One Paris designer suggests the simplest bride's head-cover in the shape of a white lace kerchief worn peasant manner. Simply knotted under the chin, it looks charming on a very young bride in a country setting.

Wood members can be fastened together with machine screws or bolts through the use of a small threaded anchor that can be set into the wood. Fine for any article that needs to be taken apart for one reason or another.

Will West Deal With Second-String Soviets?

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NEA) —Is the Western Big Three scheduled to have its forthcoming "summit" talk with the Russian second team?

In Yugoslavia Marshal Tito talks with Nikita Khrushchev and virtually ignores Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Yet it is Bulganin with whom President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Anthony Eden and Premier Edgar Faure are scheduled to meet this summer.

Western diplomats are beginning to wonder if the U.S. should not suggest a change in the Russian lineup. Surely if little Yugoslavia rates the full treatment of a delegation led by Communist Party Boss Khrushchev, why should the Western powers sit down with the bearded Bulganin, who begins to look more and more like a figurehead?

It was short, bull-necked Khrushchev who held the spotlight in the Soviet delegation to Yugoslavia—though officially he is not even a member of the Russian government.

President Tito, who is intimately familiar with Red "protocol" and the struggle for power in the Kremlin, treated Khrushchev, rather than the silent Bulganin, as his opposite number and equal in rank.

ROLE CONFIRMED

Khrushchev's top role is also confirmed by the reports on the Soviet-Yugoslav negotiations printed in Pravda, mouthpiece of the Russian Communist Party, copies of which just reached this country.

Yet it is with Bulganin who even in the Soviet press was cast in a pitifully subordinate role to Khrushchev, that President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Eden and France's Premier are scheduled to meet at the forthcoming Big Four conference.

In view of the President's assertion that the meeting will seek to determine procedures that might work in the attempt to solve specific world problems, experts on Russia ask:

1. What assurances are here that Bulganin, at the Big Four talks, will represent the true views of the Soviet Politburo?

2. Wouldn't it be more realistic—and less time consuming—for the West to cut a corner and request a conference with Khrushchev?

There are strong indications that even Khrushchev, though he may be on the top, is not yet firmly in Stalin's saddle. Since the death of the powerful dictator, Russia is a dictatorship run by a group of ruthless little dictators where the struggle for power continues to rage unabated.

FIGHT BREWING

A new fight seems to be brewing in the ranks of the Red Army between Khrushchev's protege, Marshal Ivan S. Koniev, and the popular Marshal Gregori Zhukov.

Under the Warsaw agreement recently concluded among the Soviet Union and its European satellites it was Koniev and not Zhukov who was made head of the Red NATO.

Though Zhukov was the victor in Germany in the last war, it was Koniev who held the center of the stage in Moscow on May 8 as the main speaker at the celebration of the 10th anniversary of the defeat of Nazi Germany.

Some U.S. diplomats observe a steady Soviet effort to reduce the importance of President Eisenhower's "comrade - in - arms" and correspondent before the Russian and foreign public.

Is it because Zhukov is considered by Khrushchev and his clique in the Kremlin as too pro-Western and too powerful a figure who might one day try to seize the reins of power?

Whatever the reasons, the West must, once again, realize that in any negotiations with Moscow, no Russian leader can give a signature valid beyond the day it was written.

It is now less certain than ever who will be in power in Russia after the Big Four talks.

Student, 82, Near End of Law Course

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Bert Schnurer, 82, says he's going to be an angelic attorney. On the last lap of a 4-year law course at the University of Miami, he is due for his degree in June, 1956.

The sprightly little man with the hearing and likes to joke about his ambition.

"When I go through those pearly gates, St. Peter is going to grab me by the arm and make me his attorney general," he says. "And I'll have an assistant in Hades to take care of the bad and indifferent."

Schnurer graduated from the College of New York in 1893, before some of his present teachers were born.

He did well enough in the fashion manufacturing trade to retire in 1938. In 1952, he enrolled for a law course. Mrs Sshnurer, a bride 58 years ago, enrolled for a secretarial course so she could transcribe his class notes.

Some infirmities of age can be a help, Schunrer found. When studying in the law library, he turns off his hearing aid, shutting out distractions.

They Shouldn't Admit It

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (UP) —Officials of George A. Keene, Inc., said they were vacating an abandoned railroad station used as a warehouse because vandals smashed windows and doors repeatedly. The firm makes prison steel and locking devices.

Charge Woman $50 for Fudge Sundae

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Harry Lansman ate a $50 hot fudge sundae for dessert. Dining with her husband at a restaurant, Mrs Lansman said: 'I'd give $50 for a hot fudge sundae and all you have is apple pie."

John Leonard, restaurant proprietor, said:

"Give me the $50 for Variety Children's hospital and I'll get you the hot fudge sundae."

Mrs. Lansman turned to her husband and said:

"Darling, do you have a loose $50 bill?"

Lansman paid.

Attlee Will Quit Leadership of Labor Party

LONDON (AP)—Clement R. Attlee has told colleagues he intends to retire from leadership of the Labor party this fall.

Authoritative sources said today the 72-year-old former Prime Minister took "a firm decision" to step down in response to party demands for younger and more vigorous hand at the helm. The Laborites suffered a bad licking in the May 26 general elections from Prime Minister Eden's Conservatives.

Attlee, who headed the postwar Socialist government, has led the Labor party for more than two decades. He has arranged to hand in his resignation in July, after the current short session of Parliament. The party was pictured as ready to accept Attlee's resignation, but anxious for him to carry on until the annual Labor party conference in October.

Burly Cop Paints Delicate Figurines

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Detective Sgt. Claude Hendricks weighs 265 pounds and has hands like hams. But he's just as facile with a tiny paint brush and delicate figures as he is with a pistol.

Hendricks makes money painting figurines and recommends it as a sure fire way to take your mind off your troubles.

"Your thoughts don't have time to wander when you're trying to apply color to a tiny set of lips on a 12-inch bit of plaster," he explains.

A fellow detective, who had dabbled at making figurines, introduced Hendricks to the art.

Three months ago he opened a retail store in partnership with John B. Outz. Hendricks does his sideline painting in his spare time. Outz does the moulding.

Former U.S. Presidents John Adams and Thomas Jefferson died on July 4, 1826, while James Monroe died July 4, 1831.

Brewers Fume Over German Plans for Pile

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — West Germany plans to set up an atomic pile near Munich, and Bavarian brewers are mad as hops about it.

The pile is to be small, for industrial research, and hardly powerful enough to do anything but quietly react. Just the same, the men who make this the beer capital of the world are uneasy.

H. Eisenberger, deputy president of the Bavarian Brewers Assn. voiced public concern today over the project. Waste water from an atomic pile might make the hop crop come a-cropper he claimed.

Not so, said Bavarian Culture Minister August Rucker. There is no danger that Bavarian beer—or anything else—would be adversely affected, he said.

"We wouldn't want people to think that our fine Bavarian beer contains a little atom bomb," Eisenberger told a brewers' meeting.

Charles Back in Contention Among Heavies

Ezzard Avenges Loss With Unanimous Victory Over Holman

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ezzard Charles still says he's ready to fight anyone—and of course that goes for heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

Ezz, the Cincinnatian who has failed three times to regain the heavyweight title, bounced back a bit last night when he won a unanimous 10-round decision from long-armed Johnny Holman of Chicago.

It was Holman who scored a surprising ninth round technical knockout over Charles in Miami last April.

But last night Ezz had the answers. He kept his left shoulder up and his head buried in the taller and heavier Holman's chest and never gave the Chicagoan a chance to unloose those powerful rights which wrecked Charles in their last fight.

It was a smart fight as far as Charles was concerned even though it wasn't a spectacular performance for the 2,522 paying customers and the television audience.

Holman, summed it up after the fight when he said:

"I just couldn't get a solid punch."

Charles said he thought his best punch of the night was a right hand wallop in the third round.

"My legs felt a little tired after the eighth round," Charles said, "but at the end the legs were just as fresh as earlier in the fight."

Jake Mintz, Charles' voluble comanager, declared, "If he would fight all the time like he fought tonight he could lick anyone."

"He's an awful smart fighter," said Holman, "and he wouldn't let me get set all night."

Little Stories From Majors

CLEVELAND, (AP)—Boston's Jim Piersall is showing signs of shaking the batting slump that has plagued him almost from the start of the baseball season.

The fleet outfielder has hit safely in his last six games, collecting 11 hits in 26 at bats and has raised his average from .211 to .245.

Piersall had four hits in five trips as the Red Sox nosed out the Indians 5-4 in 12 innings last night.

NEW YORK (AP)—You could hardly ask for any closer games than the ones they played in the major leagues yesterday.

Five of the seven games were decided by one run and the other two wound up with only two runs separating the winning and losing clubs.

The results: Giants 5, Braves 4; Pirates 2, Cubs 1; Orioles 3, White Sox 2; Red Sox 5, Indians 4; A's 3, Senators 2; Tigers 3, Yankees 1 and Dodgers 3, Redlegs 1.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dale Long who wasn't expected to gain a regular berth with Pittsburgh, appears to be in for a long stay as the Pirates' first baseman.

Long's fourth homer gave the Bucs a 2-1 ninth-inning victory over the Chicago Cubs last night. He also had a double in four trips and boasts a batting average of .333 with 41 safeties in 123 at bats.

'Barbarism Is Sacrilege'

British Doctor Cries Out Against Boxing

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A British physician today swung a medical haymaker at the sport of boxing—whether championship or amateur—declaring:

Boxers can get damaging "cauliflower eyes" as well as cauliflower ears.

Knowing how to box is not a defense "against blackguards and slubberdegullions" who probably will use brass knuckles or knives.

The brain is a delicate complex of nerves and sense organs and "the very thought of setting out to smash all this artistry with fists is a sacrilege, not a sport, and it behooves us to speak out against such barbarism."

Nearly half regular professional boxers show brain defects sooner or later, by findings of one researcher.

Medical exams before a fight can single out "the cripples and morons," but cannot predict whether a fighter may be killed in the first round.

"One expert has said that probably no head blow is taken with impunity, and each knockout causes definite and irreparable damage."

For every boxing fan really interested in the technique of the sport, "there must be many who consciously or unconsciously utilize boxing to foster their sadistic impulses."

Boxing is not harmless and "will soon, we hope, be as obsolete as galley slaves or the chain gang."

The criticisms came from Dr. James Hamilton Doggart, of Moorsfield Eye Hospital, London, in a speech to the American Medical Assn.

Cauliflower eyes are destructive hemorrhages in blood vessels of the eye nourishing the retina and lens, and account for many of the vision defects in boxers, he said.

Doggart said boxing blows can cause many kinds of damage to eyes, and to various parts of the brain.

Birmingham 9 in Legion Win

Waterford Bows, 3-2; Boys Clubbers Victors on Forfeit

The 18th District American Legion Junior Baseball League season got under way Wednesday with one game played, another rained out and a 3rd resulting in a forfeit.

Huron Valley Boys Club won by forfeit from Berkley and the Clawson-Rochester contest was rained out. In the lone game decided on the field, Birmingham nipped Waterford, 3-2, on the Waterford High diamond.

Herb Kelly's defending district champions jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the 4th inning, then pushed over what proved to be the winning run in the 6th. Jim Traa singled and Tom Beck poled out a long double, scoring the swift Traa from 1st.

Waterford rallied in its half of the 6th, loading the bases with none out as Dave Latta singled, Tom Bryce doubled and Ron Kind walked. However, Latta was forced at the plate and the uprising died after Leroy Nicholas had singled home 2 runs.

Larry Hower of Birmingham bested Waterford southpaw Chuck Gillis on a 3-hitter.

League play resumes Sunday with Rochester at Birmingham, Waterford at Berkley and Boys Club at Clawson.

Trabert in 3rd Round of Kent Grass Courts Championships

BECKENHAM, England (AP) — American tennis players tuning up their strokes for the June 27 start of the All-England championships at Wimbledon are making strong bids for titles in two warm-up tournaments this week.

Tony Trabert, U.S. Davis Cup ace, has reached the third round of the Kent Grass Courts championship here along with Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., Gil Shea of Los Angeles and Hugh Sweeney of New York, and Louise Brough of Beverly Hills in the women's division.

At Bristol, where the West of England championships are being played, Hugh Stewart of Los Angeles, Malcolm Fox of Baltimore, Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Alameda, Calif., and Lois Felix of Meridan, Conn., are in the third round.

Trabert, playing cautiously on a court made slippery by rain, had the closest call yesterday. He defeated young Mel Anderson of Australia 11-9, 8-6 but had to fight off a set point in the first set and rally from a 2-5 deficit in the second.

"Gee, it was dangerous out there," the Cincinnati star said. "It would have been the easiest thing in the world to slip and sprain an ankle. I had no intention of taking such a risk."

Savoldi and Gosper Win Track Honors

EAST LANSING (UP)—Joe Savoldi Jr., son of the former Notre Dame football great, today was named captain of the 1956 Michigan State College track team.

Savoldi, a crack hurdler, broad jumper, high jumper and shotputter, is rated as a top decathlon candidate for the 1956 Olympics.

Teammate Kevan Gosper, Newcastle, New South Wales, Australia, was named to receive the M. M. Knappen Merit Award.

Triple Play Record

Most triple plays in one league during a season is seven. This was registered by American League teams in 1922 and 1936. The National League executed seven in 1910 and 1929.

Tigers' Lary Stills NY Homerun Bats

DETROIT (AP)—Frank Lary, a nerveless rookie, hurled the Detroit Tigers to a tense 3-1 victory over the New York Yankees last night before 43,139 fans in Briggs Stadium.

Winning his 6th game against five losses, Lary stilled the roaring home run bats of the Yankees. He gave them only eight hits—all singles.

Bob Turley started for the Yankees but gave up 10 walks in six innings. Tigers turned three of them into runs, and handed the fireballing righthander his 3rd straight defeat.

In the 4th inning, Turley walked Bob Wilson, Harry Malmberg and Lary to fill the bases. Wilson scored on a force out and Malmberg came across on Bill Tuttle's single.

That gave Detroit a 2-1 lead but Turley helped the Tigers to another run in the 6th by issuing two more walks. He passed Lary for the 2nd time, gave up another single to Tuttle, then walked Al Kaline. That filled the bases again.

Lary scored when Ferris Fain grounded out to 1st baseman Eddie Robinson.

Victory gave the Tigers a 2-1 edge in the four-game series, which concluded today with a single afternoon game. It also pushed them seven games over the .500 mark, with a 29-22 record.

In addition to allowing eight hits, Lary walked four batters and hit one. But four double plays helped him out of frequent trouble.

"You've got to bear down against these guys all the time," he said after the game. "You can never take it easy. Any one of them can knock the ball out of the park."

Only time the Yankees scored on Lary was after the game was halted for 28 minutes by rain. When it was resumed, they nicked him for a run in the 3rd inning on a single by Gil McDougald, a walk and a single by Mickey Mantle.

But home runs—none!

Turley left after six innings, in which it seemed like he threw a thousand pitches. It was more closer to 500.

His 10 walks gave him 82 for the season, high mark in the American League. At that rate, he may threaten Bob Feller's record of 208 walks in one season, set in 1938.

Turley gave up five hits and struck out five. He now has 92 strikeouts, tying him with Cleveland's Herb Score for the lead.

In all, Tigers were given 14 walks—four from rookie Tom Sturdivant who pitched the last two innings.

'BABY' IN STAR-STUDDED FIELD — Deane Beman, 17-year-old high school golf star, smiles last night from between the driver and putter which won him a berth in the star-studded field for the National Open Golf championships at San Francisco. He'll be the baby in a field of golfing names such as Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Cary Middlecoff, etc. The Bethesda, Md., youngster shot a 75-69—144 in the qualifying rounds and got his chance when Charles Bassler of Baltimore withdrew because of the illness of his wife.

Campbell Heads U.S. Links Contingent in French Test

PARIS (AP) — Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., led a strong contingent of Americans today into the 4th round of the French Amateur Golf championship.

The tall U.S. Walker Cup captain, playing brilliantly, eliminated L. E. Evans of Great Britain, 6 and 5, in one of the most one-sided matches on the Chatilly course.

Other U.S. players to advance included Don Bisplinghoff of Orlando, Fla.; Bruce Coffin of Salem, Mass., and Joe Bullins of Winston-Salem, N.C.

Bisplinghoff defeated P. Chaveau of France, 4 and 3 Coffin won over J. R. Levy, another Frenchman, 3 and 2. Bullins turned back P. Maeght of France, 5 and 4.

An American loser was Jack Brown of White Plains, N. Y., an army man stationed in Frankfurt, Germany, who dropped a 19 hole match to Michel Carlhian of France.

Lieut. Joe Conrad, newly crowned British amateur champion from San Antonio, Tex., and 11 other Americans were among the 23 players who went out for two more rounds of competition today.

And the experts say they'll still be at least five Americans among the eight left in the competition when the last putt is dropped today.

Favored to win through to the quarterfinal round were Conrad; Bisplinghoff, 20-year-old North South champion from Orlando, Fla.; Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., captain of the U.S. Walker Cup team which downed the British; Bruce Cudd, 21-year-old college student from Portland, Ore. and Bullins of Winston-Salem, N.C., an Army private stationed in France.

None of the American favorites were seriously challenged in yesterday's competition over the 6,140-yard par 72 Chantilly course. Seven of the American survivors are members of the U.S. armed forces stationed in Europe.

Larkin Is First Winner of Miceli Memorial

Skipper, 2-Sport Star Named as School's Top Senior Athlete

Dave Larkin, Waterford High School football and baseball star, became the 1st recipient of the Andrew Miceli Memorial Trophy in an impressive and moving ceremony at the school's awards assembly Wednesday morning.

The beautiful trophy, a gift to the school, was established in the memory of Andrew Miceli, 10th grade student at the Township High School, who was a recent drowning victim.

The award is given the boy selected by the school's coaching staff and athletic director as the outstanding senior athlete of the year. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miceli were present as principal Roy Larmee made the presentation to Larkin.

Larkin was an all-Inter-Lakes Conference selection in both football (as a fullback) and baseball (as a 3rd baseman). He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo W. Larkin, 6412 Logan, Williams Lake.

Keith's One-Hiter Eases Lions to Win

Harlan (Fat) Keith, whose wife presented him with a new daughter Tuesday, celebrated the event last night by pitching a 1-hit shutout as the Waterford Lions blanked Sylvan Center, 10-0, in a Waterford Recreation League softball game.

Keith yielded a single to Sylvan's Van Alstine in the 1st inning, but was untouchable thereafter as he struck out 11 and didn't walk a man. His batterymate, Art Ruelle, paced a 10-hit Lion batting attack with a 3-run homer in the 6th inning.

Norris Becomes Prexy

NEW YORK (INS) — Jim Norris, millionaire president of the International Boxing Club, takes over the presidency of Madison Square Garden today in a reorganizational move resulting from the mass resignation of six members of the board of directors.

The board was reduced from 15 to nine members, with Norris as top man, following the walkouts yesterday. John Reed Kilpatrick, former president, succeeds Bernard F. Gimbel as chairman in the new structure which will be made official at a meeting today.

Golfers Billy Joe Patton and Marjorie Burns were selected as the outstanding amateur athletes of the year by the Carolinas Assn.

'Little Mo' to Wed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (INS)—Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly, the ex-world's tennis champion who retired from active competition last spring, will marry Norman Brinker, 24, Saturday in San Diego.

Mary Downey Holds Eight Stroke Lead in Tourney

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Mary Ann Downey, a rather stockily built brunette from Baltimore, threatened today to make a farce of the 50th annual Women's Eastern Golf Assn.'s amateur tournament.

She carried an eight-stroke advantage into the final round of play over the 6,197-yard par 73 Farmington Country Club layout. Miss Downey had rounds of 73 and 74 for a 36-hole total of 147.

Not only did the veteran ace from the Baltimore Country Club appear a shoo-in for the championship but she had a golden opportunity to establish a new record for the 54-hole event. A par performance by Miss Downey today would break the record of 221 set last year by Mrs. Mae Murray Jones of Rutland, Vt.

Trailing Miss Downey by eight strokes was Margie Burns, a scratch player from Greensboro, N. C. She shot one of yesterday's three best rounds with a 76 for a total of 155.

Mrs. Jones, the defending champion, likewise posted a 76 to go with Tuesday's 81 for a two-round performance of 157, the same total scored by Mrs. Kip Finch of New Canaan, Conn.

Three more strokes back with 160s were Mary Pat Janssen, the host club's best bet to win the crown, and Mrs. Maurice Glick, a tourney veteran from Baltimore. Next on the list of leaders were Mrs. A. B. Bower of Richmond with a 162, Josephine Smith of Philadelphia with 164 and Mrs. N. S. Woolworth of Darien, Conn., and Mrs. Reinert Torgerson of Garden City, N. Y., with 165.

DETROIT (AP) — Lt. Charles J. Young, of West Orange, N. J., will defend his Air National Guard Ricks Trophy in a cross-country jet race that will be a feature of the 1955 Detroit Air Show July 2-4.

Young, a Korean veteran and representative of the New Jersey Air National Guard, set a 560.438-mile-an-hour record from Ontario, Calif., to Detroit in last year's Ricks Trophy race. The trip took 3 hours 27 minutes and 13.4 seconds.

Auto Races Cancelled

Wednesday night's old model stock car races at the Pontiac Speedway were canceled because of a wet track. Racing resumes at the M59 oval Sunday with a 9-race hardtop show scheduled. Sunday's races start at 7 p. m.

Irish Miler Badly Injured

JACKSON, Wyo. (INS) — Northern Ireland's champion miler hovered near death today in a Jackson hospital after falling 100 feet over a cliff in the Grand Teton National Park.

Star athlete Victor Milligan, 25, of Belfast, was reported in very critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital in Jackson from two compound fractures of the skull and internal injuries.

He has held the Northern Ireland mile track record for three years with the time of 4:06, and placed 4th in the "miracle mile race" a year ago in Vancouver.

He was climbing a cliff in the Grand Tetons with David Grunau of Valparaiso, Ind., a fellow-student at Purdue University, when he lost his balance and fell Monday.

Plastic Helmet May Have Saved Life of Player

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Curt Roberts, Hollywood second baseman, suffered a brain concussion when struck by a pitch by Bubba Church of Los Angeles last night.

Roberts, 25, was taken to Washington Hospital where x-rays later today will determine whether his skull was fractured. He was reported resting well.

Team physician, Dr. Murray Small said the plastic helmet Roberts wore under his cap probably saved his life. The pitch struck him high on the forehead.

Roberts, the first Negro to play for Pittsburgh, is here on option from the Pirates.

JC Golf Test Slated

The annual Junior Chamber of Commerce golf tournament has been scheduled for June 20 at Pontiac Country Club. Bill Whitlock is chairman of the activity for the Pontiac Jaycee chapter.

The 5 players who qualified for the state tourney from Pontiac last year are Bob Shaver of Walled Lake, Jack Morriss of Pontiac, Dick Murphy of Keego Harbor, Pete Green of Franklin and Warren Sumner of Birmingham. All are probable entries again this year.

Entries are available at Pontiac, Waterford and Birmingham High School, and at the following golf courses: Pontiac Municipal, Pontiac Country Club, Pine Lake, Orchard Lake, Tam O'Shanter, Knollwood, North Hills, Oakland Hills, Birmingham CC, Bloomfield Hills and Forest Lake.

Rookie pitcher Luis Arroyo of the Cardinals hurled two no-hit games in the minors.

Big Newk Dislikes Cold, Says He's No Hitter, but He Gets 10th Mound Win, Lifts Hit Mark to .400

BROOKLYN (AP)—Don Newcombe doesn't like cold weather and doesn't rate himself a hitter but recent records belie him.

It was cold and rainy at Ebbets Field last night, but the big Brooklyn righthander racked up his 10th victory without a defeat as the Dodgers turned back the Cincinnati Redlegs 3-1. And Newk figured in two of the league leaders' runs. He carried home the first run after a single and drove home the third with a double.

"I don't like cold weather," said Newcombe after hurling a four-hitter and striking out seven with only 91 pitches. "But I never got a chance to cool off because Staley (Gerry) also pitched a good game and it was wrapped up in short order." The time was one hour and 58 minutes.

Newcombe still is a long way from the major league record of 19 successive victories hung up by Timothy Keefe of the old New York Giants back in 1888 and matched by Rube Marquard of the same club in 1912. But he sure is a different pitcher from the one who had only a 9-8 record last season after returning from the service.

In 81 innings this year, Newcombe, who'll celebrate his 30th birthday next Tuesday, has given up 73 hits, handed out only nine walks and struck out 57. He has a 2.44 earned run average.

Since he was fined May 5 for refusing to pitch batting practice he has won eight straight and given up just 11 earned runs in 53 innings for an earned run average of 1.57. Last night he retired the last 16 Redlegs in order. The only blot on his record was Ted Kluszewski's 16th homer in the fourth.

"And I thought Klu's blow in the first inning might have been a home run but for the wind," Newcombe said. Sandy Amoros backed up near the left field wall to catch the ball.

Newcombe was the first to admit he might have been helped by the wind, even though it was cold. Of Amoros' seven putouts in left field, five were hit by left-handed batters.

Most pitchers, with the .400 hitting record held by Newcombe, would be letting everybody know about their batting prowess, but not Newk.

Harbert Sees 560 as Winning Total

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fifty golfers from 26 nations tee off today in the International Golf Championships over a Columbia Country Club course soaked by rain and with more showers promised.

The sponsoring International Golf Assn. bills it as a $150,000 tournament, but that figure includes expense money and a $500 payment to each man who participates. Actual prize money is $11,800.

Chick Harbert, the U.S. PGA champion, said he thought a figure of 560 would win the Canada Cup, which goes to the country with the lowest combined score for its two team members for 72 holes of medal play.

Par for the 6,510-yard course in suburban Chevy Chase, Md., is 72.

Harbert, who attended a banquet for the entrants last night along with Vice President Nixon and ambassadors from a score of countries, said he thought 275 would be enough to win the $2,500 first prize which goes to the individual who scores the lowest number of strokes in the individual tournament. It runs concurrently with the international event.

"If his partner gets 285, that should be enough to win," Harbert said.

Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle of Australia, defending champions in the third annual Canada Cup competition, were rated as favorites.

Harbert and Ed Furgol, the National Open champion, were rated just behind.

The theme of the International Golf Assn. is "international good will through golf," and that theme was played for all it was worth last night at a banquet for the participating golfers.

John Jay Hopkins, president of General Dynamics Corp. and the moving force in the association, had this to say:

"All men are equal when faced with the nerve-shaking dilemma of a ball buried deep in the confines of a sand trap and a seven-stroke score facing them on a par-3 hole."

"Whether a man speaks Cherokee, Japanese, Saudi Arabian, flawless Persian or English, his problem with that ball is the same as the other players who find themselves in the same bunker, and he and his fellow sufferers will understand each other a lot more quickly after having faced the identical devilish quandaries that a golf course poses for all men."

Jabneh, Son of Bimelech, 'Dark Horse' for Belmont

NEW YORK (AP)—Jabneh is the dark horse for the $100,000 Belmont Stakes Saturday, and he's a pretty good story even if you like Nashua at 1 to 5 in the 87th running of the 3-year-old classic.

Laudy Lawrence, a retired motion picture executive who lives in Paris, owns this bay son of Bimelech out of Bellesoeur. Jabneh has the pedigree to make the mile and one half Belmont interesting for anybody.

On the day the California colt Swaps—who will be absent Saturday—upset Nashua in the Kentucky Derby, Jabneh captured an obscure $4,000 race named the Johnren Purse at Belmont Park. He's been idle since. Unraced as a 2-year-old, Jabneh was the $1.45 to $1 favorite, and beat War and Peace by 2½ lengths. The colt started racing last winter at Hialeah.

Just imagine the story it would be if Jabneh won the Belmont. Hardly anyone, including his owner, gives him more than an outside chance.

"He doesn't have much chance, but I hope he doesn't disgrace us," is the way Lawrence put it at his home in Chantilly near Paris.

Top Net Stars in Dixie Event

Blue-Gray Tourney Promises Hot Action in Today's Matches

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Some of the top stars in the Blue-Gray tennis fight may be butting heads at the net today after weeding out many lesser lights in opening play yesterday.

Johann Kupferburger, a sturdy South African Davis Cupper playing for the University of Miami, comes up against Jerry Hunt of Atlanta, Cuba's Davis Cup star, Orlando Garrido, tangles with Anniston ace Les Longshore in another match.

The likeliest upsets may come this afternoon when Davis Cuppers from the U.S. and Mexico square off in separate matches with two tennis-wise opponents.

White Sox Purchase Howell of Memphis

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox, their pitching staff reduced to eight as the result of trades this week, yesterday announced the purchase of pitcher Millard (Dixie) Howell from the Memphis farm club.

Howell, a 35-year-old righthander, once had a brief trial with the Cincinnati Redlegs in 1949 but most of his career has been in the minor leagues. With Minneapolis in 1950 he posted a 14-2 record. His mark at Memphis this year was 5-3.

On the special day, members of the West Pontiac Kiwanis Club and wives will visit the "Michigan Mile Track" for luncheon and an afternoon of thoroughbred racing. The visitors will sit together in the clubhouse.

Sam Snead's Golf Clinic

The best swing is made in as nearly a vertical plane as the player can make it. A player who is heavily built in the middle must necessarily use a flatter swing. Such players who lack distance sometimes compensate by using long-shafted clubs. These clubs have the clubhead leaving the shaft at a flatter angle than normal. And, by using a club so designed, the player must use a flat swing.

But unless you fit into the heavy-in-the-middle class of players, the upright swing should be your preference. There are obvious mechanical reasons why this is so. Pictured is a square stance.

The player who has difficulty in swinging inside-out may find the square stance a help in straightening out his shots. Some may even want to try the closed stance, which means the right foot is farther back from the direction line than the left.

Bennie Says Pace Has Lot to Learn

In Michigan's spring practice, Pace showed some shifty and fast running but average passing.

Colts Sign Ohio Star for Punting Duty

BALTIMORE (AP) — Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Baltimore Colts hoped to have ended his need for a punter today by signing Billy Bradshaw, formerly of Bowling Green. Bradshaw was the leader among small college football players the past two seasons, averaging 43.9 yards for the Ohio college.

Ewbank had to look for a kicker after Cotton Davidson went into military service.

Skippers, Bears Place Trio on All-Inter-Lakes

Larkin, Kruskie, Kebler Honored; Viking Soph Walker on List

The "pennant" winning Berkley team and Waterford, which tied for 2nd place, each landed three players on the annual Inter-Lakes Conference all-star baseball team.

There were no repeaters among the 12 players selected on the honor squad. Named from the title-winning Bears were junior pitching star Herb Duncan, his catcher Keith Phillips, and outfielder Bob McCaffree.

Waterford players picked included pitcher Steve Kebler, 3rd baseman Dave Larkin, and outfielder Jerry Kruskie. Joining Duncan and Kebler on the 3-man pitching staff is Van Dyke's Ed Gordon.

Honored with Larkin in the infield were 1st baseman Bob Evans and 2nd baseman Don Collier of Southfield and shorstop John Fawcett of Farmington.

Four outfielders were named. Besides McCaffree and Kruskie, they are Walled Lake sophomore John Walker and Farmington's Don Robinson. Gordon, Kebler, Collier, Fawcett and Larkin are the only seniors.

For Evans and Larkin, it was their 2nd all-league selection. The Southfield junior also made the basketball honor squad and the Skipper's Larkin was the all-league fullback in football.

Ft. Ord Wins 6th Army Track and Field Meet

COMPTON, Calif. (UP)—Ft. Ord, Calif., won the 6th Army track and field meet here last night, a meet highlighted by a new Army record of 4:09.2 in the mile run by Fred Dwyer of Ft. McArthur. The old mark was 4:14.

Dwyer ran the last two laps with the shell from a starter's gun stuck on a spike. The shell was an old one and apparently had been imbedded in the cinders for a long time. Dwyer said he noticed that one shoe seemed to strike unevenly and it bothered him for the full half mile.

Lighter Bats Given Credit for Gains in Major Homers

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Harry (The Hat) Walker, the new St. Louis Cardinal manager, said today it's the lighter bat rather than a more lively ball that is producing more major league home runs.

Walker sounded off on sundry baseball topics after last night's game with the Philadelphia Phillies was postponed because of rain.

On the subject of hitting he said it was "a lot of nonsense" to suggest that more homers were the result of a lively ball.

"It's the bats these guys use," he said. "They're like buggy whips. They swing those bats so much faster than the old 38 to 42 ounce bats that when they connect the ball flies.

"It's like a golf club. Just because a fellow weighs 200 pounds he doesn't use a golf club with a head like a canteloupe. He uses a whippy club that sends the ball flying.

"I used to think a 35 ounce bat was light. Now the bats on this club average between 30 and 33 ounces and have handles like broomsticks.

"Let me give you an example of what power is. If big guys like Ted Kluszewski, Del Ennis, Gil Hodges, Roy Campanella or Jackie Robinson connect using a heavy bat, they're hitting the ball like a car running into a wall in low gear. There's power, but not that crashing impact.

"Now take the lighter guy with a 30-ounce bat. He swings it like a whip. When he hits the same ball it's like running the same car into the same wall at high speed in high gear. Crack. Something's gotta go. In the case of the automobile it's the car, but in the case of the ball and bat, it's the ball—and it goes just as far when it's buggy whipped by a 140-pound hitter as it does when it's slugged by a big guy."

"I learned a lot of lessons managing in the minors and from the men I played for," he said. "I played for some really tough managers. Ben Chapman was one when he managed the Phils."

He also mentioned Billy Southworth, Eddie Dyer, Charlie Grimm, Burt Shotton, Frank Frisch and Bucky Walters—others he played for during the course of his major league playing days.

"I learned something from each of them," Harry said, adding that his personal choice was Southworth.

"I'd like to be able to manage the way he did, the way he gained the respect of his players," he said.

Fishing should pick up in Little Darby Creek, Marysville, Ohio. A truck hauling live fish overturned in the creek.

Chisox Sign Powell, Hard-Hitting Spartan

CHICAGO (UP)—Robert Powell, 21, hard-hitting Michigan State outfielder from Flint, sought by 15 of the 16 major league clubs, signed a bonus contract with the Chicago White Sox today.

Powell was the 2nd bonus player ever signed by the Sox, joining 1st baseman Ron Jackson of Kalamazoo, Mich., who signed a bonus contract last year.

Powell hit .439 in the Big Ten this year, .348 in 1954 and .340 in 1953.

Deer Present Threat to Reforestation

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Deer browsing on small trees planted in the state's reforestation program on the big Tillamook burn area have become a major threat to plants for restoring the timber, the Oregon forestry department says.

Fire used to be the biggest threat to timber, Forester George Spaur said, but now insects in the grown trees, deer nibbling the young trees and field mice eating the seeds have become major worries. In some areas, damage from deer is estimated at up to 80 per cent of the young trees.

Porcupines are another hazard. In the Lakeview area the Elks club offers prizes to boys and girls who kill the most porcupines. The animals eat bark from the young trees, causing heavy loss.

Basilio Rules 17-10 Choice Over DeMarco

Tony Making 1st Title Defense in Welter Battle at Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—A 17-10 underdog in his first title defense, welterweight champion Tony DeMarco arrives in this hotbed of Carmen Basilio supporters today quietly confident he'll still be wearing the crown after Friday night.

The Boston buzz-bomb looked strong and sharp in sparring 51 rounds at his mountain training camp at downstate Monticello. His party was to make the 150-mile trip here by plane.

DeMarco and Basilio clash tomorrow night before a sell-out crowd of 9,000 at the War Memorial Auditorium.

The fight will be televised and broadcast nationally, starting at 9 p.m. (EST). Central New York will be blacked out of the telecast.

Basilio planned to run a couple of miles today to keep limbered up. Both fighters ended heavy workouts Tuesday.

Neither Basilio nor DeMarco, who took the title from Johnny Saxton in Boston April 1, is making any predictions. But Basilio cracked back at DeMarco's handlers who predicted the champion would win by a knockout.

"Let him come in and try it," Carmen challenged. "Then he'll leave himself wide open."

The veteran Basilio, who has waited patiently for another crack at the title after losing a split decision to then champion Kid Gavilan, has called DeMarco "a rough, tough boy—busy all the time—a hard puncher and always dangerous."

Rugged and eager, the two feature solid left hands and are willing to mix it up. Promoter Norm Rotschild predicts it will be the "fight of the year."

Rotschild also is pleased with what he calls his "promotion first" of piping in closed-circuit television to the nearby State Fair Coliseum for area fans unable to get into the auditorium. That arena, formerly used for boxing, will hold another 9,000. Rotschild said he needed to sell about 3,300 tickets to the Coliseum, at $3.50 each, to break even on that venture.

WEDNESDAY'S HOME RUNS
Courtney, Senators; Kluszewski, Reds; Ivy, Cubs; Evers, Orioles; Harris, Giants; Stephens, Red Sox; Kiner, Braves; Rosen, Wertz, Indians; Long, Pirates.

Hazel Park Harness Race Meeting Near Conclusion

Hazel Park Harness racing moves into the final portion of its meeting with grand circuit racing highlighting the last nine nights of racing.

A total of seven big stake races will be raced during the final week and a half with the Detroit Pacing Derby and Detroit Trotting Derby holding the spotlight.

Tonight at Hazel Park a select field of pacers will race the mile and a quarter for a $10,000 purse. The pacing feature includes Mighty Brewer, Clever McKinney, Russet Hal, Know Hanover and Warpath. Also entered are Worthy Melody, Peral Creed, The Scamp, Hillcrest Attorney, Chief Strong, Mr. Dean and Freeman Hanover.

Friday night the Beaubien, for three year old pacing fillies, will be raced over a mile in one dash for a $2,500 added purse. A total of 22 horses has been entered.

Racing concludes at Hazel Park on Saturday, June 18.

Worm-Farming Growing Fast in Nebraska

WOLBACH, Neb. (UP) — Worm farms are popping up in increasing numbers in this area.

Half a dozen businessmen here have gone into the worm-raising business.

It is not uncommon to see the men armed with spade, rule and can, moving up and down the alleys. Every once in awhile the men will stop, stoop, dig a worm out of the soil and start measuring — if the worm will be quiet long enough.

The worms are measured for length, diameter and maneuverability.

If a worm lacks the ability to wiggle while being held by the head or tail it is discarded. Worm farmers point out that if a worm isn't active enough it won't attract the attention of fish.

Captured worms are moved to "farms" — specially built pens where they are fed fattening foods. The pens vary from 3 by 4 to 3 by 6 feet and have a substantial floor underneath them.

The farmer's wife is instructed to toss all the coffee grounds and vegetable waste into the dirt-filled pens.

Well-fed worms will produce about 100 offspring a year.

Cooper's Card Tops

Butler Cooper of Pontiac not only recorded the outstanding score in Oakland County last Saturday during National Golf Day, but the best in Michigan as well, according to Fred Beck of Life Magazine.

Cooper, national Negro amateur champion in 1950 and winner of the Joe Louis Open in 1951, posted a 69 at Pontiac's Municipal Golf Course. Needless to say, he didn't use a handicap.

Hunter, 103, Wants to Get One More Buck

Michigan Man Plans for 90th Season as 'Deerslayer'

WHITTEMORE (UP)—Peter J. Cameron, Michigan's "deer hunter of the century," will observe his 103rd birthday next Tuesday.

"My only birthday wish is that I am able to go deer hunting again this fall and get a buck," Cameron, who bagged his 1st deer in 1865 at the age of 13, said.

Cameron, who is known as "Camey" to all of his friends in this Iosco County community, related disappointingly how he came home empty-handed last fall when he went deer hunting.

"Just one more chance to get a buck—that's all I want," Cameron, who still walks spryly, said. "I got me one two years ago on the 2nd day of the season. A nice spikehorn buck.

"But I didn't do very good last year. I want to make up for it this fall."

If he goes hunting next fall—and he's already making plans to—it will be the 90th consecutive year he has hunted deer.

Tribe Hitting Homers, But Still Loses Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It might be a good idea if General Manager Hank Greenberg told his Cleveland Indians to forget about b r e a k i n g the American League home run record and got them busy hitting the singles that win ball games.

Particularly since the Tribe is snarled in a slump just when the first-place New York Yankees—the team with the homer patent—are due to pay a weekend call.

Greenberg got the homer idea last spring. "Wouldn't be surpriesd if we hit 196," said Hank, with an eye on the record 182 hit by the 1936 Yankees.

Manager Al Lopez agreed. "Singles?" he scoffed. "I'll take the home run any time."

Oh yeah? In the last six games, the Indians four times have hit three home runs in a single contest. Result: They've lost five of the six, including the four homer-happy games.

Going for the fences, the Tribe has batted just .222 in the slump, and has slipped into third place, 4½ games behind the Yanks.

And here's the kicker: Even with the increased homer pace, which has netted 52, Cleveland is just second best. The Yanks have clubbed 70.

The Indians had one of their three-homer games last night, but wound up losing to Boston in 12 innings 5-4. The Red Sox had only one homer—and six singles.

The Yanks also were beaten, 3-1 by Detroit. The second-place Chicago White Sox lost to Baltimore 3-1. And Kansas City toppled Washington 3-2.

The National League played 'em close too. Brooklyn beat Cincinnati 3-1 as Don Newcombe became the first pitcher to win 10 this year. The New York Giants regained third from Milwaukee, defeating the Braves 5-4 in 10 innings. Pittsburgh edged the Chicago Cubs 2-1.

Rain postponed St. Louis at Philadelphia.

Boston beat the Tribe on Jim Piersall's double and a fielding error. Vic Wertz had tied it at 4-4 for the Tribe with his solo homer in the ninth. Gene Stephen's three-run homer gave the Red Sox a 4-1 lead in the fifth. Al Rosen homered for the other runs scored by the Indians, who had only six hits.

Detroit had only six hits too but made the most of Bob Turley's 10 walks to hand the Yankee right-hander his fourth defeat. Frank Lary, with the help of four double plays, won his sixth.

Tuesday's four-player deal between the White Sox and Senators failed to pay off immediately. Jim Busby, reclaimed by the Sox, hit into a bases-loaded double play at Chicago, where Hoot Evers won it for the Orioles with an eighth-inning homer.

And at Kansas City a two-run homer by Clint Courtney—the ex-White Sox catcher—wasn't enough for the Senators. The A's took it on a pinch single by Enos Slaughter in the ninth.

Newcombe was in command all the way for the Brooks, who moved nine games ahead of the second-place Cubs. The unbeaten right-hander, despite rain and cold, tossed a four-hitter, fanned seven, walked none and retired the last 16 men he faced. Newk, who was 9-8 a year ago, also singled and doubled to figure in two runs.

A pinch single by Bobby Hofman won for the Giants. The Braves had tied it at 4-4 in the ninth with the help of two New York errors.

At Pittsburgh, Dale Long's bases-empty home run in the ninth packed it away for the Pirates. Jim Davis was the loser. Ron Kline won his third.

Bill Consolo, former Boston Red Sox bonus infielder, is playing 2nd base and leading off for Oakland. He's there on option, having served his two-year bonus apprenticeship in the majors.

City Man Faces Second Charge

Warrant for Bad Check Passing Issue Against Real Estate Agent

A Pontiac real estate agent, previously accused of embezzlement, was charged with an added bad-check-passing count in a warrant issued by the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office yesterday.

Francis E. Miller, 41, part owner of the Stone Realty Co. at 919 Joslyn Ave., demanded examination when arraigned in Municipal Court yesterday.

Miller was charged June 2 with embezzling $2,000 from a Drayton Plains man while negotiating to sell a home. Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said a number of Miller's clients allege they have been bilked out of sums totaling about $30,000.

The bogus-check complaint was signed by Guy DeMeyer Jr., of 307 S. Paddock St. DeMeyer claims he received a $600 rubber check from the business man as a refund on a property-sale deal which fell through.

Miller will be examined on both counts June 15 before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan. The accused is free after putting up $1,000 bond on both charges.

Study Proposed Drain Interceptor in Area

Talks concerning a proposed drain interceptor in Farmington will be heard at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the conference room of the County Building, according to Ralph Main, Oakland County drain commissioner.

Representatives from West Bloomfield and Farmington Townships, and the city of Farmington, will discuss advance finances necessary for the interceptor.

Main said the proposed project would cost about $2,000,000 and service a 15 to 18 mile span in the eastern sections of Farmington and West Bloomfield townships, and perhaps a section of Waterford.

Convict 8 for Adding Chemicals to Hamburg

LANSING (AP) — The State Agricultural Department today reported a flurry of convictions for illegally adding preservatives to hamburger.

Miles A. Nelson, chief of the marketing and enforcement division, said the department has obtained eight convictions in the last 10 days.

Most of the cases were in Saginaw and Bay City, Nelson said. They involved the addition of benzoates, sulphites and other preservatives forbidden by state law.

Michigan State has been represented by at least one member on every U. S. Olympic team since 1928.

Waterford Ups Water Tap Fees

Township Board OKs 7 Volunteer Firemen; Delays Plat Approval

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Water tapping fees for new buildings have been raised form $82.50 to $100 by the township board. The increase is due to higher labor and material costs, the board members pointed out.

The appointment of Ed Allen of 4781 Dixie Highway as an active member of the Waterford Township Fire Fighters Association was approved by the board. Seven new probationary members of the association are: Leon Griffin, Ernest Latimer, Douglas Schluter, Ray Allen, Louis Miller, Kenneth Goit and Everett DeRowsha.

The plat for Whitfield Estates No. 2 adjoining Maceday Gardens was held up by the board subject to complete planning of the lots in the area.

Several licenses were granted by the board: a hawkers and peddlers for a popcorn stand to Roy Hess of 686 Crescent Lake road; soft drink licenses to Thelma and Lyle Fennig for Rael's bar at Highland road and Raymond Davis at Elizabeth Lake and Tilden; SDM license for National Food store at 4889 Dixie Highway; renewal of a sewer bond for George Todoroff.

Also granted was an amusement license for CAI Fair on Williams Lake road; fireworks permit to Elizabeth Lake Improvement Association; Ray Jewell, 3381 West Huron, soft drink license; dance permit to Thomas Maragos, 2180 Dixie Highway.

At a special meeting the board recently approved the transfer of ownership of the Ir-D-Le restaurant on Highland Road. The business was sold to Leo and Agnes Frankowski by Irma Flaugher.

Waterford Stresses Dwelling Standards

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — An amendment to the rules and regulations of the Waterford Township board of health has been adopted by the board of health.

The by-laws specify that no one can use as a dwelling any building or structure of less than 480 square feet of inhabitable floor space, nor can any building be used as a dwelling unless it has separate sanitary facilities for such dwelling unit.

A basement or cellar used as a dwelling must have two entrances or exits located opposite each other and the basement or cellar must be at least 50 per cent above average grade. All buildings used as dwellings must have two entrances or exits.

The township board of health considers any building or structure violating these provisions to be a nuisance, and the health officer will be instructed to institute appropriate action to rid the township of the structure.

Election Called After Petitions

Public to Cast Ballots on Ordinance Approved by Trustee Board

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — At a special election Tuesday, White Lake Township electors will ballot on approving or disapproving the township's zoning ordinance.

The township board set the election date after receiving petitions from several property owners asking for the vote.

To begin zoning work in the township, Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore named a five member zoning board, composed of Donald Cavin, Charles Harris, Frank Ruggles, Percy Stowe, and Russell Thompson.

This group devised an interim zoning law, which was passed by the township board. This law became effective in September, 1954, and the zoning board began working on a permanent law at that time.

The permanent zoning ordinance was passed by the township board in March. The petitions seeking a public vote on the law followed.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Eskimos Ready for Annual Hunt of White Whales

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP)—The cold waters around Baffin Island soon will flash with the glistening back of beluga, the white whale. Rifle fire and the cries of excited Eskimos will break the Arctic silence.

Every July brings the annual whale hunt, a time when the Eskimos feast and make extra money.

The white beluga, resembling a dolphin, grows only about 10 feet long. The whales feed along the coastline of Baffin Island, 1,550 miles northeast of Winnipeg, and in summer travel in schools up its fjords.

"We say we want so many whales and the Eskimos go out and get that many," said Peter Nichols, of the Hudson's Bay Co. "They also shoot some for themselves as well."

The quota is set by the company's only customer for the hides, an English tannery that turns them into shoe laces. The average catch is 100. Hunters kill them from the shore or from boats. They keep the meat.

After the skinning, wives and children cut the hide from the blubber, the fatty layer underneath. From the blubber a rendering plant extracts oil used in Canadian margarine.

The whale hunt usually lasts a week. Then the Eskimos return to hunting seal. They use its skin for clothing, its oil for lamps and the meat for food.

Tragedy Strikes Crushing Blow to County Family

As the young mother of eight children lay, in a local hospital Saturday, tragedy in its worst form struck a crushing blow at her family, killing two and crippling seven others.

Richard Frey, 32, of 6504 Farmington Rd., Walled Lake, a carpenter, struck a semi-truck on M28 near Shingleton Saturday noon. The collision killed his son, Jerry, 3, and a brother-in-law, Francis Teifer, 35.

Six of his other children riding with him, were seriously injured. Three are on the critical list in St. Luke Hospital, Marquette.

Today, in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital here, Mrs. Frey, 31, lies recuperating from an abdominal operation performed Friday.

Her physician, Dr. H. L. Munson of Walled Lake, says she is "all broken up" over the tragedy, but is recovering. The mother had just recovered from a nervous breakdown previous to the operation.

Frey, trying Friday to solve the problem of the care of his eight children, ranging in age from eight months to 11 years, while his wife was hospitalized, had hit upon the idea of going up north to bring back a relative to care for them.

He started out Friday night, leaving the baby in the care of Mrs. Frey's aunt, Mrs. Charlotte Hacker, taking the other seven tots with him.

That is when the accident happened.

Shocked and sympathetic neighbors, learning of the tragedy Monday went into action, led by Edgar Pounds, a Twin Beach grocer.

Pounds, in four hours on the phone Monday contacted friends, the Oakland County Chapter of the American Red Cross, newspaper, and others whom he thought might help.

The Pontiac Press immediatley contacted George Burt, member of the Oakland County Social Welfare Commission.

Burt contacted welfare officials of Marquette, Alger and Schoolcraft counties, where the victims of the crash had been taken. He authorized payment for their care and then contacted officials in Delta County where little Jerry was buried yesterday, guaranteeing payment for the funeral.

Meantime, the Red Cross has alerted one of its offices in the Northern Peninsula, which will assist and report on the condition of the injured there.

Walled Lake neighbors took up a collection totaling about $75 and Pounds also has set up a "Frey Fund" box in his store on Green Lake Rd.

Mrs. Hacker and Mrs. Pounds, the grocer's wife, have left for Manistique, where they will try to aid the stricken family.

Frey is a member of Local 92, AFL, and carries some hospitalization insurance through the union.

An alumus in his 80s told a tale showing that professors have always been sharp-tongued.

"We had a class of four students in those days," he reminisced, "and when we didn't get back some examination papers, I asked the professor, 'Did we all pass?' "

Wives May Be Key to Success

Woo Workers' Mates to Improve Business, Executives Told

EAST LANSING (AP) — A business expert told hardware dealers to woo their employes' wives — but for business reasons.

Edward R. Finan of Kalamazoo, Michigan representative for the Research Institute of America, told a hardware dealers management conference at Michigan State College, "The wife of your employe might be the key to the success or failure of your store."

Finan said a business survey among 15,000 wives showwed that 86 per cent of them wanted to know more about their husband's work, but that only two per cent received the information they wanted.

Finan had thses suggestions to make wives more interested and better informed about their husband's work and boss:

Invite the wives to an occasional company business meeting and let them join in the discussion.

SEND FLOWERS

Send employe's wives flowers on their birthdays.

Treat the wife and family of an employe to dinner to celebrate completion of anjother year with the company.

If you post a photograph of an standing work, frame a copy and send it with a complimentary note to the wife.

Try not to hold meetings after clsing hours on short notice.

The union failed in an attempt to obtain the reversal of a court three other hotels.

Invents Gadget to Hoist Beds to Attic in Day

MONTREAL (AP)—A Canadian inventor says he has the solution to the housewife's space problem—a gadget to shift beds to the attic during the daytime.

Guy Roberge, former lieutenant colonel and a career soldier before his retirement in 1948, has patents pending in Ottawa and Washington.

"The only way to build a cheaper house is to build it smaller," he says. "And the smaller it gets the less room you can afford to waste."

His machine consists of a series of pulleys hung from the roof beams. Four steel wires hoist the bed into the area between the roof and the ceiling during the day. The machine can be worked by hand or by electric motor and when the bed is in use the cables are detachable. A swinging trap door or a sliding panel covers the ceiling cavity when the hoist is not being operated.

Roberge says his gadget would simplify room cleaning, give more play space, especially in children's rooms, and cut taxes, heating and maintenance costs by reducing the size of houses.

Oakie Adopts New Tricks for Video Scene-Stealing

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — That veteran scene stealer Jack Oakie will be up to his old tricks tonight when he appears on CBS' Shower of Stars. But he's had to learn some new strategy for TV.

Oakie is enacting a scene from "Burlesque," which he performed earlier in the season. "I didn't know they had retakes in TV too," he cracked.

But he's just as happy the scene is being repeated. Reason: he gets to uphold his honor as a scene stealer.

"I made a mistake the first time," he remarked analytically. "I was over in a corner of the hotel room dancing with Dan Dailey. I didn't realize the camera was going to cut to the door, where Dick Foran was coming in.

* * *

"This time I'll be over by that door, Foran will have to shove me aside to get through."

Yes, the word "honor" is used in connection with scene stealing. Although the craft has criminal connotations, it is both ancient and honorable. It's the scene stealers who liven the show.

"Oh, we used to have a ball in the old days," Oakie reminisced between rehearsals. "We tried to think of new ways to get closeups. One of my favorite tricks was shifting a drink from one hand to another between scenes.

"When they ran the rushes, they saw I had the glass in one hand for one scene, then in the other. So they had to shoot a closeup of me shifting the glass.

"I used to have fun with Ned Sparks, who was one of the great scene stealers. The only way I could top him was to keep him off balance by pushing him. Finally he blew up and said, 'Keep your blankety-blank hands off me.'"

Oakie explained why he had to learn new tricks for TV: "In pictures, we kept our eye on the cutter. You could usually devise ways to make him cut to you. But in TV, the director is King. If he doesn't put one of the cameras on you, you're dead."

Dinner Affair Honors Retiring PHS Custodian

George Provan, 65, retiring after 21 years as custodian of Pontiac High School, was honored last evening at a banquet in the school cafeteria.

Guest speaker for the occasion was John Thors Jr., principal, who commended Provan on his many years of faithful service. Assistant Principal C. T. Forsman also spoke briefly.

Cloyd Houts, general maintenance foreman for Pontiac Schools made the presentation of a wrist watch.

Present for the occasion were Provan's wife, Sarah, and daughter, Margaret, and 55 members of the high school maintenance department and their guests.

The Girls' Ensemble of the school vocal department, under the supervision of Mrs. Mary Buck, entertained with songs and Margaret Wood and Kay Reichert appeared in an exhibition of Highland dancing.

Vivian Blaine Is Sued for TV Contract Breach

LOS ANGELES (AP)— A $375,500 suit has been filed by two TV producers against actress Vivian Blaine and her husband, charging that she failed to appear in a series of video films.

Norman and Irving Pincus brought the suit yesterday against Miss Blaine and Manny G. Frank, a theatrical agent, contending that after they spent $75,000 on a pilot film, Miss Blaine refused to complete the contract.

Andrew Jackson lacked only 11 day of being 70 when he retired from the White House in 1837, the oldest President of the United States.

Reveal Tricks of Card Cheats

Austrian Authors Tell How Crooks Prey on Other Players

VIENNA (UP) — A retired police inspector and a professional magician have published a 150-page report on the art of crooked gambling as practiced in Vienna card rooms. Their findings can be summed up in a sentence:

"If you want a guarantee against being cheated, don't play."

Some 5,000 Vienna cafes and bars are licensed for card gambling. Former Inspector Ernst Sprung and his magician collaborator, A. Allen, estimate that 30,000 Viennese sharpsters make a crooked living at the tables.

Things have reached the point, they say, where crooks prey upon crooks. In such games, all players know trickery is afoot and try to outmatch each other in skulduggery. The crook with the craftiest technique wins.

A smoldering cigarette, a smile, the clearing of a throat—these or any of 1,000 other seeming commonplaces may be the gimmick that takes the pot.

Sprung and Allen say the purpose of their book, titled "Luck—Adjusted," is to reveal various forms of trickery and try to show the amateur how helpless he is against experienced cardsharps.

The Sprung - Allen book describes a long list of sleight-of-hand tricks, including old-fashioned card-up-sleeve devices, and illustrates them with photographs.

It demonstrates how the backs of cards can be "read" by crooks through scores of marking methods —some as subtle as the delicate nick of a fingernail on the edge of a card.

One gambler even used the sun to mark his cards — by putting them outdoors for varying degrees of bleaching.

The book also describes a number of gambling gadgets the inspector and the magician encountered during the years they prowled gaming haunts in search of evidence.

One pipe-smoking crook had a tiny mirror built into his pipe, for instance. Colored spectacles have been put to many shady purposes.

Sprung and Allen say that of all crooked gaming practices, the hardest to detect and beat are signals. A cigarette that droops from one corner of a player's mouth may signal spades.

A casual pluck at a kibitzer's label could mean the ace of hearts. A finger bent a certain way might mean anything its owner intended it to.

"Gamblers ring an infinity of changes on the language of signals," Sprung said. "And if they are good at their game, there is absolutely no way to detect them."

Of New Jersey's total land area, about one-sixth is classified as urban.

Victory Over Starlings Is Scarcely Worthwhile

LONDON, Ky. (AP) —It was a costly victory W. S. Carpenter scored over starlings. His double-barreled shotgun went off prematurely as he closed the breech while preparing to fire from an upstairs bathroom window. The charge made a sieve of the plumbing, water leaked through to the living room below, and his wife was scared nearly out of her wits in the belief he had been shot.

Carpenter figured the scare he threw into the starlings cost him several hundred dollars.

Royal Air Force Draws Briton's Ire

LONDON (INS)—Farmer Ralph Goodall, 41, of Rossington, Yorkshire, is slightly upset at the Royal Air Force these days.

He claims that a jet plane made a super-supersonic bang with the result:

Polly, his prize porker, delivered eight piglets a week early. Polly and her litter all died.

Mist of Akdebourne, a champion Pekinese, gave birth to five puppies a week early. Three puppies died.

Cows ran about wildly and farm dogs barked.

"Help! . . . Save me . . . Save me!"

Mahogany trees are cut by the light of the moon because at this time they are freest from sap, sounder, and of a richer color than during the day.

Prices Slump on Grain Board

CHICAGO (AP) — Most prices fell away from previous closing levels as trading progressed on the Board of Trade today.

A little opening strength in soybean oil and meal quickly evaporated. This carried raw beans as much as a cent lower at times.

Grains drifted lower on new crop prospects.

Toward the end of the first hour wheat was ¼ to ⅝ cents lower, July $1.97⅝; corn was ⅛ to 1 cent lower, July $1.41; oats were ⅛ to ⅜ lower, July 66, and rye was ¼ to ¾ lower, July $1.04¼.

Soybeans were ¾ cent lower to ¼ higher, July $2.42, and lard was 5 to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $12.32.

Western Union was in demand. It opened on a 12,000-share block up ½ at 28⅜. Lockheed, which signed a big plane contract with American Airlines, rose more than a point.

Also higher were Zenith, Celotex, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Standard Oil (NJ), Johns-Manville, McIntyre-Porcupine, International Harvester, General Electric, United Aircraft and TWA.

Kaiser Aluminum, strong in recent sessions, lost a small fraction.

Yesterday, the market hit an all-time high. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed at $169.00, up 80 cents. Volume was 3,300,000 shares.

Helen Keller Returns From Tour of World

NEW YORK (AP)—Helen Keller, deaf and blind author and teacher who will be 75 years old June 27, ended a 40,000-mile tour at Idlewild Airport today "very tired and glad to be home."

Miss Keller arrived with her companion, Miss Polly Thompson, from Los Angeles. She landed there yesterday from Tokyo and had visited India, Pakistan, Burma and the Philippines.

Koreans Plead to Stay in U.S., Afraid of Reds

EAST LANSING (AP)—A Michigan State College student and his wife hope a bill now before Congress can save them from the vengeance of Communists in their homeland of Korea.

Rep. Don Hayworth (D-Mich) has introduced a bill which would allow Kyu Yawp Lee and his wife to stay in this country permanently.

Lee served as a translator for Army intelligence during the Korean War. He and his wife fear they will be victims of violence if they return to South Korea.

The U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service has rejected the Lees' pleas to stay in this country. The service claims the South Korean government can protect its nationals from the Communists.

Lee, who fled North Korea when the Communists took over, thinks otherwise.

"It is not like the United States," he says. "In South Korea, they have a strong underground party with ways of getting people."

His parents, he said, who remained in North Korea, are under heavy pressure from the Reds because of their son's service with the United States army.

The Troy Township zoning board will hold a June 14 rezoning request leasing which may bring a $2,000,000 office building and research building into the area.

An undisclosed firm has options on 100 acres on the north side of Maple Road, across from the Berz airport between Crooks and Coolidge roads.

Plans call for a 100,000 square foot office building and a 50,000 square foot research laboratory, according to Township Supervisor, Norman R. Barnard.

The land is presently zoned for residential development. The company wants it rezoned to light commercial development.

"This building would be similar to the Ford Motor Co. Tractor and Implement Division and the proposed Vickers Corp. office building," Barnard said.

If the zoning change is favored by the zoning board and the township board, construction might get under way this year.

The building is scheduled to have space for 1,000 employes.

Demands Probe of Kaiser Order

Solon Claims Banker Intervened to Get AF Contract for Firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Flood (D-Pa) asserted today the Air Force reversed itself and awarded a contract to the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., after intercession by a Boston banking official.

In a speech prepared for the House, Flood demanded a congressional investigation.

The contract, he said, was let in April for the Kaiser Company to operate a heavy press extrusion plant at Halethorpe, Md. These presses are used to stamp out large sections of combat aircraft to speed production.

Flood said Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbott "found Kaiser unfit to operate" the facility when negotiations were first undertaken in November 1954.

But the contract was awarded to Kaiser in late April, Flood added, providing for the company to lease the government-owned press to fill both Air Force and private orders.

BOSTONIAN NAMED

"I have learned from friends in eastern banking circles," Flood said, "that no less a personage than the chairman of the board of the First Boston Corp., G. D. Woods, went to the secretary of the treasury and asked him to intervene with the Air Force to get this facility for Kaiser."

There was no immediate comment from the Air Force.

Factory Worker's Body Found in Grand River

LANSING (AP) — The body of Willie P. Foran, 38, of Lansing, was found floating in the Grand River at the western city limits of Lansing last night. Two motorists driving along a riverside road spotted it.

Foran's wife said he had been missing since Sunday. He was a factory worker.

Ford May Sell Voting Stock

Detroit Times Claims Foundation Will Offer Shares Next Fall

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Times said yesterday that Ford Motor Co. stock will be offered to the public some time between Oct. 15 and Nov. 15 and will carry voting rights. There was no company comment.

The Times said:

"The Ford family is reportedly convinced that working control can be assured with a 15 per cent ownership of outstanding stock by management. The Fords already own about 10 per cent of all outstanding Ford stock. (The remainder, reported to amount to 3,089,908 non-voting shares, is owned by the Ford Foundation.)

"Stock to be offered publicly will be sold by the foundation.

"A decision to give voting rights to publicly-owned Ford stock would be dictated by a desire to attain the largest possible public distribution. That can be done best through a listing on the New York Stock Exchange. The big board does not list non-voting stock.

"Furthermore, pension funds and institutional buyers generally will not buy a non-voting common.

"Ford stock, according to estimates based on available facts about 1954 operations, was worth about $600 a share at year-end. To insure popular appeal, this would be split at least 10 for 1.

"Ford earnings last year on the $600 a share stock were about $58 a share. This year's earnings would be substantially higher."

Electric Power Up 15.6 Pct. Over '54

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's output of electricity last week ran 15.6 per cent ahead of a year ago, Edison Electric Institute reported today.

Output was down from the previous week, however, as a result of the Memorial Day holiday.

Production of Electricity in the week ended June 4 amounted to 9,537,000,000 kilowatthours, compared with 8,246,000,000 kilowatthours, in the like holiday week a year ago and 9,976,000,000 kilowatthours in the week before.

Sharpest output gains were in the central industrial area, including the steel and auto manufacturing centers, and the southeast, where consumption of electricity at Atomic Energy Commission installations has risen sharply. Production in the central industrial area was 23 per cent ahead of a year ago and in the southeast was up 23.6 per cent.

All other sections showed gains over a year ago as follows: New England 8.4 per cent; Mid-Atlantic 9.2; West Central 7.2; South Central 9.6; Rocky Mountain 7.1; Pacific Northwest 10.0; and Pacific Southwest 8.3.

Earnings

NEW YORK (INS) — The F. W. Dodge Corp. announced today that contracts awarded in May for future home construction in the 37 states east of the Rockies totaled $1,011,310,000. This was 23 per cent higher than the same month last year, although below the year-to-year gains of 34 per cent in April and 48 per cent in March. Total construction awards in all categories in May showed a drop of six per cent from April. This was the first decline from the preceding month since last November.

NEW YORK (INS) — Celotex Corp. reported net income for the six months ended April 30 of $1,854,676, equal to $1.96 a common share. This compared with $1,018,492, or 98 cents a common share, in the same period last year. Sales increased to $31,218,353 from $27,488,346 in the initial half of 1954.

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Federal Reserve Board announced that business loans of member banks decreased $5,000,000 in the week ended June 1. Principal changes were a decrease of $14,000,000 in the St. Louis District and a rise of $10,000,000 in the San Francisco District. Outstanding borrowings now total 22 billion 636 million dollars, a gain of one billion 37 million dollars over this time a year ago.

Former TV Pair Danced to Fame

Will Adapt Broadway Musical '3 for Tonight' for June 22 Telecast

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Marge and Gower Champion, who were among TV's earliest stars and then danced their way to film fame, will return to home screens soon.

The Champions are adapting their current Broadway musical production "Three for Tonight" for a one-hour telecast on CBS' new Wednesday night drama hour June 22. And they're considering offers from both CBS and NBC for three or four color spectaculars during the fall and winter.

Marge and Gower both appeared in plays and movies before they decided to become a dancing and marital partnership in 1947 but played as a team only in night clubs until their TV debut in Max Liebman's Broadway Revue series in 1948.

The show, often called TV's first spectacular, brought instant national recognition to the Champions and two other relatively unknown performers named Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca.

"After that it was astounding the way we were recognized wherever we went," Gower says. "It also gave a big boost to our personal appearances.

"After the TV series we played the Riviera across the Hudson from New York and went next to the Mocambo in Hollywood, and it was there we began to get offers for movies."

Since then the Champions have been featured in seven major pictures—five for MGM and one each for Paramount and Columbia. Their latest was "Jupiter's Darling" for MGM.

Meanwhile, they have made only three TV appearances. Two were on Ed Sullivan's Toast of the Town, first in a telecast on their life story, and then in another devoted to Columbia Pictures. Their other performance was in a Video Theater play.

Woman, 104, Can See Better Without Specs

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Mary M. Kelly passed her 104th birthday yesterday with the observation that she sees things more clearly now.

That's because she tossed away her spectacles when she was 103.

"I can see much better without them," she said with a grin. "In fact, I can see better all the time."

She has an opinion that anyone can live to be a mere 100.

"Eat plenty, see plenty of people and laugh a lot," she says. "And don't tell your true age."

Plans Parachute Jump to Show He's Got Pep

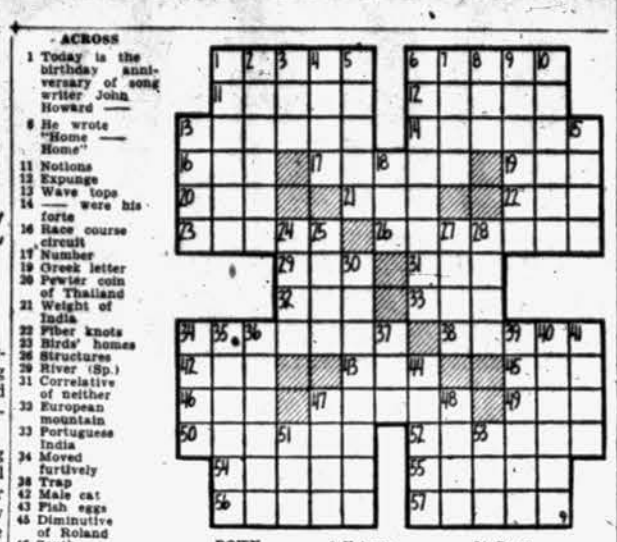

DETROIT (AP)—At 70, Jack Clapp contends he still has years of useful activity ahead of him.

To prove it, he's going to parachute from an airplane into Lake St. Clair Sunday as a protest against his forced retirement as a painter for Detroit's public schools. Seventy is the mandatory retirement age.

"I'm still too full of pep and ginger to be put out to pasture," said Clapp. "I'm going out and show folks a 70-year-old codger still has gumption."

Church Elects Head

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP)—The Rev. George A. Long, of Pittsburgh, is the 1955 moderator of the United Presbyterian Church of North America. Dr. Long, 70, who has been president of Pittsburgh-Xenia Seminary since 1943, was named by the church's 97th General Assembly last night. He succeeds Dr. Albert E. Kelly, of Philadelphia.

Atomic-Powered Planes Hinted Near to Reality

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission, hinting that a "new approach" may have eased the way toward building atomic-powered airplanes, has asked funds to speed up its work on the project.

Testimony released last night by a House Appropriations subcommittee quoted AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss that "experimental results warrant a sharp intensification and expansion of these efforts."

No details of the reported new approach were made public, but Strauss said he was "greatly encouraged" by the progress made. One major problem has been the development of a power plant light enough to fly.

For work on that and other reactor projects, the AEC asked 134 million dollars — one third more than its current reactor budget. The money will be used also to develop power plants for Navy surface ships and peacetime electric plants, and to stimulate private development of peaceful atomic energy.

The commission asked also for a 30 per cent increase in its fund for atomic weapons, for a total of 271 million dollars. Most of the money, the subcommittee was told, "is necessary as a result of increases in number of weapons scheduled for production."

Telephone Line to Span Atlantic

Begin Cable Project to Link U.S., Britain With 36 Circuits

NEWINGTON, N.H. (AP)—Workmen today began the first phase of a 40-million-dollar project to link North America and Britain with the world's first transocean telephone cable.

When the project is completed—expected in the summer of 1956—2,000 miles of cable will stretch under the Atlantic, which in places is 2½ miles deep.

The cable will contain 36 conversation circuits—30 for Anglo-American calls and six for calls between Canada and England.

That almost triples the present radio-telephone capacity between the United States and Britain.

The cable was planned to do away with the poor connections, electrical disturbances and the voice fading of the present radio-telephone circuits.

The British cable-laying ship Monarch, with a crew of 130, is loading its first consignment of the underwater link at the Simplex Wire and Cable Co. plant in Newington.

The Monarch is expected to leave Sunday for Clarenville, Nfld., where the actual cable-laying work is due to begin June 22.

It Does Strike Twice

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP)—Lightning that accompanied Texas' most widespread thunderstorms of the year knocked out an air conditioner at Odes Simpkins' grocery store yesterday. Fifteen minutes later another lightning bolt struck the same air conditioner, this time knocking out the store's lighting system too.

Pick Out a Birthday

BELLEVUE, Neb. (UP) — The parents of a baby girl here had the priviledge of selecting her birthday. The infant was born at the stroke of midnight and the doctor told the parents they could pick either the day preceding or the day following as the child's birthday. They chose the latter.

Vassar Future Rests in Talks

Eaton and AFL - UAW Will Try to Work Out New Contract

VASSAR, (AP)—Crucial talks that may well decide the economic future of this Tuscola Country community open today between the Eaton Manufacturing Co. and AFL United Auto Workers.

Officials fo the company and UAW Local 564 will try to work out a new contract for 600 Vassar area residents employed at Eaton's foundry division here.

Frank H. Mott administrative vice president at Eaton, has recommended the plant continue operations after its June 30 scheduled closing date. Top officials of the company agreed to a reopening if "conditions could be changed," he said.

Two weeks ago Eaton announced it was closing the plant because labor costs were considerably higher than those in competing industries. Eaton is the chief source of income for this town of 2,700.

Mott warned that the union must agree to a sharply revised pact before the firm would continue its operations here.

Workers Sunday approved a memorandum authorizing new labor management conditions.

There are about 6,000 commercial fur farms in the U.S.
