U. S. May Protect 2 Offshore Islands

Defense Region Likely to Include Quemoy, Matsu

Spokesman Says That Agreement Has Been Made on Evacuation

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — A U. S. source said today he thought American support would be extended to the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, and conceded that agreement in principle had been reached on evacuation of the Red-threatened Tachen islands.

He said in event of a clash with the Communists he was in favor of giving the commander opposing them full power "without any privileged sanctuaries."

The Tachens are 200 miles north of Formosa and about 20 miles off the Red mainland. They are under direct threat of Red artillery on newly captured Yikiangshan Island and have been under heavy air bombardment.

The Matsu group is 100 miles northwest of Formosa and 20 miles off the coast. Quemoy, the main Nationalist offshore outpost, is 120 miles across the Formosa Strait from Formosa and seven miles from the Red port of Amoy.

Final decision on withdrawal from the Tachens apparently awaits congressional approval of President Eisenhower's fight-if-we-must Formosa policy.

Sabrejets of the U.S. 18th Fighter Bomber Wing have been transferred from Okinawa and the Philippines to Formosa to support the U.S. 7th Fleet, already in the area on combat alert.

While the U.S. beefed up its forces in the Formosa area, Nationalist warplanes attacked Red shipping and Communist island outposts near the Tachens.

Nationalist headquarters claimed direct hits on a 1,500-ton Red warship 35 miles northeast of the Tachens. Headquarters also claimed excellent results in raids on Red-held Toumen and Yikiangshan Islands.

A report from Hong Kong said Red China's official New China News Agency said two crewmen

Simplex Strike Settled Today

Southfield Tool and Die Plant Expected to Start Production Monday

The violence-marked strike at Simplex Industries, Inc., was settled today, two days after gunshots broke out on the picket line.

Federal and state mediators announced the settlement and said the tool and die plant, in Southfield Township, would resume production Monday.

The company agreed to dismiss a pending injunction suit against the striking CIO United Auto Workers local 157 and the union agreed to withdraw an unfair labor practices charge.

The union and the company are to resume negotiation of a "complete contract" in the latter part of the week of Jan. 31.

Malcolm House, federal mediator, announced the terms in behalf of the Federal Conciliation Service and the State Labor Mediation Board, both of which had participated in peace negotiations.

The statement specified that all employes, including three whom the company had discharged, would be called back to work on the basis of seniority.

Job classifications shall be a subject of negotiations on the complete contract, the statement said.

The settlement followed two days of mediation here. This followed upon the picket line gunfire of Wednesday.

Pontiac Boy Wins Diploma and Contract From Tigers

By H. GUY MOATS
Pontiac Press Sports Editor

For the first time in many years a Pontiac prospect has been signed by the Detroit Tiger Baseball Club.

Within minutes after he had received his diploma from Supt. of School Dana P. Whitmer in graduation exercises for the mid-year class at Pontiac High School last night, Marvin Caswell became a Tiger "farmhand."

Waiting outside for the young righthand pitcher, who set a fine record in both Saginaw Valley competition and in the Class A City Baseball League last summer, were representatives of the Detroit club. They signed Caswell, with his dad's okeh, to a Class C contract.

Johnny McHale, Tiger farm boss, and Don Lund, former University of Michigan player and present area chief scout, were here for the signing.

Caswell will be sent to the Idaho Falls Class C Club in the Pioneer League after spring training at Tigertown, Lakeland, Fla.

The 6 foot 2, 180 pound 18-year-old Caswell had a 13-1 record for PHS last year, when the Chiefs won the Saginaw Valley title. He is an 8-letter winner at PHS, with 2 baseball, 3 football and 3 basketball awards. Pitching for General

Kitchen Sink Sinks Too Thorough Thief

CINCINNATI (AP) — Osie Wright, 35, got away with everything but the kitchen sink—and was caught when he came back for that.

Wright had entered the home of Willie Turner and removed every bit of furniture and personal property except the sink, testimony in Criminal Court showed yesterday

Then he came back for the sink, and Turner discovered him there kneeling down with pipe wrench in hand.

Lehman Fears Reckless Action Leading to War

Seeks Delay in Senate Vote on Ike's Formosa Defense Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lehman (D-Lib.-NY) told the Senate today that "rash or reckless action" under the terms of the House-approved fight-for-Formosa resolution could plunge this country into war with Red China without allies.

Lehman called for a delay in action as he opened the Senate's third day of debate on the proposal.

Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore), an opponent of the resolution, predicted, however, that a final vote would not be delayed.

Morse, Lehman and a few others have sought to strip from the measure authority under which President Eisenhower could order U.S. forces to defend Quemoy and Matsu and to strike at the Chinese mainland in case of a Red buildup threatening Formosa.

Asserting that it would be a "tragic error" not to seek United Nations action toward bringing peace in the Formosa Strait, Lehman said there is no "historical justification" for American defense of the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Lehman said it had been made clear by administration spokesmen

Russia Asked to Curb China

Britain Calls on Soviet to Help in Drawing Up Formosa Cease-Fire

MOSCOW (AP)—Britain asked the Soviet Union today to try to restrain the government of Communist China and bring about a cease-fire over Formosa lest that dispute break into general war.

Sir William Hayter, the British ambassador, talked at the Kremlin for 30 minutes with V. M. Molotov, the Soviet foreign minister. The British Embassy said Hayter acted with the advance knowledge of the U. S. State Department.

The British ambassador sought to enlist Soviet support for a New Zealand move, backed by Britain, in the United Nations Security Council.

This proposal aims to bring about a cease-fire, and is understood to include a proposal to invite the Chinese Communists to attend a Security Council meeting to discuss a Formosan peace.

The British Embassy said the ambassador had told Molotov Britain "hopes to have the cooperation of the Soviet government in the Security Council and that in particular Her Majesty's government hopes that the Soviet government will urge the Chinese People's government most strongly that they will accept the invitation to attend meetings of the United Nations Security Council when such an invitation is made."

The embassy said this invitation to the Chinese Communists was expected to be extended as a result of New Zealand's proposal in the U.N. for a Formosan cease-fire.

The spokesman said Britain's intervention in Moscow coincided with action by the British charge d'affaires in Peiping.

Sabrejets Poised

Navy Chief Reports Ships Alert for Formosa Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas told Congress today the Navy can "adequately cope with any local naval actions" in the narrow Formosa Straits, but is not ready for "a major conflict."

The secretary did not elaborate on Formosa, in a statement prepared for the House Armed Services Committee.

But presumably he meant that fleet units could handle forseeable Communist submarine and air attacks that might be thrown at them in the area.

"If a major conflict should occur now or in the future," he said, "this current naval program is still designed to withstand the initial onslaught, to contribute immediately to the nation's retaliatory power, and to provide a base for full and rapid mobilization."

And in Formosa, veteran U. S. combat pilots and their swift Sabrejet Fighter-bombers stood poised today for any eventuality, including possible clashes with Communist MG15 jets from the Red mainland only 150 miles away.

They were whisked there in a dramatic transfer of American air might from the Philippines and Okinawa to defend this Chinese Nationalist stronghold from any Communist aggression.

The pilots are calm, unworried and confident they can deliver if called upon.

One, who asked that his name not be used, declared, "We are ready for, and can handle, anything thrown our way. But I do not believe a new war is on the way. I don't believe they (the Reds) are ready to start a war."

Another drew nods of approval when he said: "We're not going to be sitting ducks for anyone."

The pilots are combat-ready too. They burst from makeshift ready rooms, race across clay paths made slick by rain and into their cockpits in practice scrambles timed in seconds.

On Formosa, on Nationalist offshore island outposts and on patrol ships of the U. S. 7th Fleet are the radar stations that will give them warning if enemy planes approach.

Rubinstein Life, Death Probed

Three Are Quizzed in Mysterious Murder of Rich Draft-Dodger

NEW YORK (AP)—Police sought today to piece together the mysterious life and death of murdered Serge Rubinstein, Russian - born playboy, financier and convicted draft dodger.

Rubinstein, 46, was found slain yesterday on a bedroom floor of his palatial 5th Avenue mansion. He had been trussed with venetian blind cord, and several layers of surgical tape were around his throat and mouth. The face bore several abrasions but the rest of his body was unmarked.

After a three-hour autopsy last night, the medical examiner's office reported: "Rubinstein died of manual strangulation."

Authorities questioned three persons, including brunette Estelle Gardner, a model, who said she had dinner with Rubinstein Wednesday night and returned with him to his home.

Rubinstein's body was found by the family butler William Morter at 8:30 a.m. yesterday.

Also in the house at the time of the slaying were the dead man's 78-year-old mother Stella; his aunt Genia Forrester, 82; a woman cook, and two parlormaids.

The home was barred and locked and there was no sign of forcible entry.

Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams, who personally knew the dark-haired, stocky victim as a man of "tremendous strength and vitality," was asked if more than one person might have taken part in the murder.

"There's a possibility," Adams replied.

A boy wonder in Wall Street, a dashing figure in the continental capitals of the world, Rubinstein served 2½ years in prison for draft dodging in World War II. He was ordered deported in 1952 and his appeals from the order still are pending.

Graduates Told Value of Living

Pastor Urges Class Not to Go Through Life by Merely Existing

"Thousands of dead people walk the streets of this country every day," declared Dr. Harold C. DeWindt, pastor of the Kirk in the Hills, Bloomfield Hills, who addressed the January graduating class of the Pontiac High School Thursday night.

Speaking on "It's Great to be Alive," Dr. DeWindt pointed out the difference between living and mere existence. He diagnosed an alive person as one who:

1—Is responsive to the beauty the Creator has put on earth.

2—Has an alert and active mind.

3—Has hopes and goals that are alive.

4—Finds beauty in the spiritual realm.

"An alive person is one who does not believe in God as a doctrine, but as a living reality—as one who is above and with us constantly."

Quoting the late George Bernard Shaw, he said that most people's tombstones should read: "Died at 40, Buried at 70."

Challenging the graduates not to become so busy with mere existing that they would forget to live, he reminded them of the little lad who twisted his prayer lines

32-Acre Project to Be Located Near GMC Truck

500,000 Sq. Foot Area Will Be Used to Store Production Machines

The Army announced today it will build a sprawling dehumidified machine tool storage vault in Pontiac one-half mile east of GMC Truck and Coach Division on East South Boulevard.

Col. C. A. Heath, chief of the industrial operations division of the Detroit Ordinance District, said the vault will be the third and largest in Michigan.

To be built on "most" of a 32-acre site to be purchased from GMC, the 500,000 square foot building will house military production tools formerly used and still located at the GMC, Pontiac and Oldsmobile divisions.

Cost of the land and structure was estimated at $2,942,000 by the Detroit office, Army Corps of Engineer, which will supervise construction.

It is expected 250-300 construction workers will be employed on the project. Work is scheduled to start with warm weather.

The tools to be stored are all government-owned, he said.

Under the plan, the machinery and tools will be set in the building with only a coating of light perservative oil and a rust inhibitor powder covering them.

Special equipment will maintain a constant temperature and humidity in the vast building.

Only a small office in the building will be heated.

The land acquisition was approved yesterday by the Real Estate subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The project is a part of the defense department's reserve tools and facilities program for which 100 million dollars was appropriated last year.

"The method is a great saving to the taxpayers," Col. Heath said.

"And the beauty of it is when you yank the machines out, you are ready to throw the equipment right onto the production lines. You don't have to start unwrapping them from heavy cacoons and cleaning off thick grease."

The building, which will have 14-foot high double walls and no windows, will be manned by "very, very few men," Col. Heath said. "The manpower will be nothing but a guard force," he added.

The Army is just completing construction of a 375,000 square foot similar structure at Grand Blanc to store military production tools used by Buick Motor Division.

A year ago, the first warehouse was built for Ford Motor Co.-used tools at Livonia. It has a 300,000 square foot capacity.

Mercury Skids to Four Above; No Relief Seen

The deep freeze is expected to run right on through Sunday.

Sault Ste. Marie, with 12 below zero, was Michigan's coldest spot overnight. Other lows included: Battle Creek, -5; Houghton and Marquette, -1; Grand Rapids and Traverse City, 0; Alpena, 2; Lansing, 3, and Detroit 7.

The forecast for this area is for continued cold weather with a high tomorrow of 16 to 20 and a low tonight of 4 to 8 degrees. Tomorrow night will bring more snow flurries and low temperatures, low 6 to 10 degrees.

Today at 8 a. m. the mercury stood at four degrees, rising to 8 degrees by 11 a. m. and hitting 15 at 2 p.m.

Benefits and Safety Prove

Dr. John C. Monroe Backs Fluoridation

"I'm for fluoridation 100 per cent."

In those words, Dr. John D. Monroe, Oakland County health director, today summed up his thoughts on the increasingly popular subject of adding compounds of fluorine to Pontiac's water supply.

"The most exhaustive kind of research has proved beyond a shadow of a doubt," Dr. Monroe said, "that adding fluorides to a city's water supply cuts tooth decay among children as much as 67 per cent."

That was the figure tabulated in Grand Rapids, which this week marked the 10th anniversary of fluoridation. The first city in the U. S. to add fluorides to drinking water, Grand Rapids has been the subject of much detailed research in the past ten years.

Health, life-expectancy and disease figures have been combed and sifted since fluoridation of the city's water supply was started in 1945. Both the pro- and anti-fluoride factions have been searching for any possible connection between the fluorides and the incidence of disease. No such connection has been found.

What does Grand Rapids think about fluoridation? This excerpt from a Grand Rapids Press news item published Tuesday, tells that story:

"Grand Rapids health authorities have been called on frequently to answer falsehoods about the effects of fluorides. Charges have been made that heart disease, liver and kidney complaints, and even cancer and tuberculosis were increased here because of the experiment. While these charges have been disproved in every case, it has not stopped the propaganda.

"In spite of all this there has not been a single effective protest against the system here. The facts have spoken so loudly that opposition has not even had a chance to get started. Even the charge that fluorides are 'rat poison' has not made a dent here. . . ."

Speaking of the reliability of the results of the Grand Rapids experiment, Dr. Monroe said, "I've been following their project for many years, and I don't believe there has ever been any public health measure which received the amount of research and study fluoridation was given in Grand Rapids."

He also noted that the National Institute of Health recently completed a long term study in two Texas communities — Cameron and Bartlett — one of which has abundant natural fluoride in the water, while the other has little.

In the town with the fluoride-laden water, tooth decay was far less common, while the incidence of other diseases was almost exactly the same as in the town without fluoride. And Dr. Monroe pointed out, the natural fluoride in the first town was present in far greater amounts than cities add it to their drinking water.

"I'm convinced of the value of fluoridation," Dr. Monroe concluded, "and I subscribe wholeheartedly to the findings of the National Association for the Advancement of Science, which said after a long and careful study that fluoridation was one of the greatest steps forward in combating tooth decay in children."

Cost of fluoridation, according to Grand Rapids health authorities, run about 10 cents per person per year.

GMT Appoints Chief Engineer

C. V. Crockett Succeeds C. J. Bock at Local Truck Plant

Appointment of C. V. Crockett as chief engineer of GMC Truck and Coach Division was announced today by Philip J. Monaghan, division general manager.

Former chief engineer of the Cadillac Cleveland Tank Plant, Crockett succeeds C. J. Bock, who is on leave of absence due to illness.

Born in Shelbyville, Ind., in 1902, Crockett is a graduate of Purdue University and began his career with GM in 1924 as a lathe operator at Cadillac Motor Division.

In 1925 he was assigned to the engineering laboratory, then later became engineering secretary.

In 1931, he was appointed staff engineer and eight years later became head of the technical data section.

Through World War II he was in charge of armament on Cadillac-built tanks. After five years as head of Cadillac's electrical and accessories department, he was appointed assistant chief engineer of the tank plant. He was appointed chief engineer in 1951.

Group to Vote on Dixon-Yates

Dem Members of AEC Committee Plan Ballot Canceling Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic members plan to put the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee on record today for cancellation of the Dixon-Yates power contract but a Republican member said it was a meaningless gesture.

The group meets behind closed doors to act on a resolution proposed yesterday by the 10 Democrats who form the committee majority.

It not only would call on the Atomic Energy Commission to cancel the long-disputed contract, but also would rescind the waiver adopted by the joint committee last Nov. 13 to speed action on it.

However, Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), former chairman of the committee and now senior House Republican member, told a reporter in advance of the meeting that adoption of the resolution would "have no legal effect whatsoever." He said it was "simply an expression of opinion."

The committee, then under Republican control, voted Nov. 13 to waive a provision of the law which would have required that the contract lie over for 30 days while Congress is in session. In effect, the partyline 10-8 vote approved the contract and permitted the AEC to make it effective.

* * *

The contract, negotiated by the AEC at President Eisenhower's order, calls for the Dixon-Yates private power group to build a 107-million-dollar plant at West Memphis, Ark. The current generated there would go to the Tennessee Valley Authority to replace TVA power used by AEC.

Other students singled out for special honors included Bessie Bogan, Sue Ann Braid, Bob Dunn, Jeanette Larvick, Robert Loncharte, Margaret Neil and Erma Haynes.

Superintendent Dana P. Whitmer spoke briefly before he awarded the diplomas to the 138 seniors.

Music for the ceremony was provided by the Pontiac Senior High School band under the direction of Dale C. Harris. Besides the processional and recessional, the band also played selections from "The King and I."

"Woe unto all of us if Adm. Radford turns out to be wrong," he said.

Senate leaders expected to roll up a heavy favorable vote without making any changes in the broad powers asked by the administration.

Sen. Clements (Ky), acting Democratic leader, told the reporters as the Senate session began that he hoped for a vote before the day ends but that he was not certain it would come.

Briton Studies Auto Catapult

Uses Dummies to Test Practicality of Ejection Seats for Cars

NEW YORK (AP) — A British expert on low-altitude escape from airplanes was described today as experimenting with explosive seat ejection from automobiles.

The purpose would be to determine the minimum altitudes at which men could eject themselves from airplanes with any hope of survival.

Richard H. Frost, vice president of the Stanley Aviation Corp., a Buffalo, N. Y., manufacturer of ejection seats for jet airplanes, said Britain's Sir James Martin has used dummies for ejection in seats from automobiles.

"It wouldn't surprise me to hear, any day now, that the British have ejected a man and his seat successfully from a car," Frost said.

Thousands of fliers have saved their lives by jumping from piston-engine aircraft in distress and parachuting to the ground.

Jet aircraft fly too swiftly for the old bail-out technique, however. Nowadays the jet pilot in distress fires a charge which explodes him and his seat from the airplane. Then he works free from the seat and pulls the ripcord on his parachute.

Frost in a prepared speech told the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences that men have been ejected safely, in their seats, from airplanes traveling more than 500 miles an hour less than 500 feet above the ground.

Cold Wave Nips East, Lingers in the Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A late January cold wave engulfed wide areas in the eastern half of the nation today and there was no indication of immediate relief.

Snow, subzero temperatures and strong winds were in prospect for the Midwest, hardest hit by the coldest weather of the winter season.

The cold also swept into Eastern and Southern areas and temperatures dropped as the frigid air moved southeastward from the snow-covered mid-continent.

Temperatures in the Midwest were not as low today as yesterday morning, when they tumbled to -36 in northern Minnesota. But they were far below zero in most of the northern sections of the north central region. There also were subzero readings in parts of New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Temperatures dipped 10 to 34 degrees since yesterday morning from east Texas northeastward across the Gulf States and along the Atlantic Coast. It was 22 in Birmingham, Ala., and 19 in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mother, Two Children Are Revived After Call Alarms Relative

A tragedy was averted this morning by Pontiac Fire Department's inhalator squads and a 32-year-old Keego Harbor woman who telephoned firemen that her sister and two young children had been overcome by coal gas.

Mrs. Mary Mora, 29, of 356 E. Pike St. and her two youngsters, Richard, 7, and Joyce, 5, recovered after firemen gave them oxygen and rushed them to Pontiac General Hospital, where they received more treatment.

Engineer Fireman Vincent Dennen said that Richard, who also has the mumps, and his sister were unconscious when firemen arrived. Mrs. Mora was in a dazed condition.

She had awakened about 9:30 and stumbled several times trying to reach the telephone, according to Mrs. Mora's sister, Mrs Francis Poly, 32, of 2306 Fordham.

"Ruth, come over here quickly, I think we're all dying," Mrs. Mora told her sister in a faint voice and hung up the phone.

Mrs. Poly said she suspected "something funny" and called the Fire Department which started out for the home immediately.

Mrs. Mora said she first awakened at 5:30 a.m. to fix a lunch for her husband, Fred, who works the early shift at Fisher Body.

"I didn't smell any smoke or gas at that time so I went back to bed with the children," she said. "When I got up at 9:30, I couldn't breathe, talk or walk. I tried to crawl to the telephone. When I tried to walk I stumbled down the stairs several times."

Mrs. Poly quoted the city inspectors as saying the furnace is defective.

Operating the three inhalators at the home were Firemen David Warlow, Lawson Evans, Harold Lloyd, Arthur Carson, and Dennen.

"If it weren't for Mrs. Poly's call which got us to the house just in time, it might have been pretty bad," said Dennen.

Mrs. Mora said she didn't even suspect the furnace was defective.

Charity Group Offers to Buy Livonia Track

DETROIT (AP) — Boys Inc. of America, of Dallas, Tex., today announced it has offered to buy the assets of the Michigan Racing Assn. for a reputed $5,000,000 and operate its Detroit race course.

Clint Murchison, of Dallas, and Sid W. Richardson, of Fort Worth, Tex. principal trustees of Boys Inc., a charity organization, said profits from the track would be given to Michigan and national charities after the payment of indebtedness incurred in the purchase.

The sale plan must be approved by the federal revenue department, and present stockholders of the Michigan Racing Assn.

Cells Would Be Locked for Prison 'Open House'

LANSING (UP) — State Corrections Director Gus Harrison said today Michigan prisons might hold "open house" during the May 15-21 observance of Michigan Week.

"The inmates have a great pride in their state," Harrison said.

The plan would exclude Marquette and portion of Southern Michigan Prison, where "hardened" criminals are kept, he said.

Typewriter Thief Asks for Job as Watchman

JOLIET, Ill. (INS) — The thief who took a $450 electric typewriter returned it to the doorstep of the Joliet Office Machine Co., left $2 for using it and this typewritten note:

"Here's a couple of bucks for use of the typewriter. No one was in the office when I took it. Maybe I could get a job sitting in the front office watching your machines."

Pontiac Woman Shooting Victim

Mrs. Eleanor LaRousa in Fair Condition After Argument at Home

A 33-year-old Pontiac woman is reported in fair condition today after she was shot early this morning while attempting to get into a home near Whipple Lake in Independence Township.

Mrs. Eleanor M. LaRousa, of 714 Raeburn St., was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital, according to State Troopers of the Pontiac Post, William Dreger and Paul Witt.

The bullet was fired by Miss Williamina Purdy, 28, who lives in the basement home at 9175 Evee Rd. with Miss Lela Ashbridge, the troopers said.

The women told Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem they did not know it was Mrs. LaRousa, who is Miss Purdy's niece.

No one has been charged in the shooting.

Mrs. LaRousa was driven to the lake by Donald Wiscombe, 18, of 609 Peacock Ave., and Larry Termarsch, 17, of 3140 Joslyn Ave., after she drove a pickup truck into a gas station where they were working at Walton Blvd. and Joslyn about 3 a. m.

She asked to buy gas on credit, the youths told Ziem, and promised to get money for it if they would drive her to the Whipple Lake home. Mrs. LaRousa had been drinking, they stated, and had two sacks of beer in the truck.

On arrival, Mrs. LaRousa walked to the door, Termarsch explained, awakened the occupants and said, "If you don't let me in, I'll bust the door down."

Miss Purdy called police and threatened to kill Mrs. LaRousa if she didn't go away, he added. The shot was fired after the victim had broken a door window with her fist, the youths stated.

Miss Purdy said she became afraid when the window was knocked out. Ziem said he will take a statement from Mrs. LaRousa later today.

Talbott Remark Angers 3 Cities

Cadillac's Rivals Still Working for Relocation of Jet Base

By UNITED PRESS

Officials in three Northern Michigan communities, hopping mad at Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott for his blast against them, went ahead today with plans to try and convince a congressional committee that the controversial jet base should be built in their areas.

"The jet base is still a live issue as far as we are concerned," an official at Manistee said as officials of that city continued their efforts to have the $13,000,000 base located at a site they have proposed.

At Traverse City, William Milliken, chairman of the city's jet base committee, said the committee is continuing preparation of data on the proposed Traverse City-Kalkaska site which it hopes to present to the House Appropriations Committee.

The House Appropriations Committee has held up funds for the base pending a possible congressional investigation into why the site was switched from Benzie County to Cadillac.

"We're still convinced we have the best site and maybe one of these days the Air Force will be required to put the base here where it should be," an official said.

At Cadillac, where the base is now scheduled to be built, officials said they have been confident all along that the base will stay there.

"And we're more convinced than ever that after what Mr. Talbott had to say yesterday," one official said.

Talbott told the House Armed Services Committee that he is "disgusted with those people up there (in Northern Michigan) and the way they have handled this thing."

Officials throughout Northern Michigan, including those at Cadillac, believe Talbott has only himself to blame for the controversy that has raged for nearly a year over the base.

Included in their program for this tour are "Hallelujah, Amen Chorale," "O Praise God in His Sanctuary," "Beautiful Savior" and Luther's hymn "A Mighty Fortress is Our God."

Musical tours are sponsored by the college conservatory of music as part of its training program.

Oakland Water Authority Sells $5 Million in Bonds

BIRMINGHAM—At a yearly interest rate of 2.96 per cent, Series 1 bonds to finance construction of the $6,067,000 Southeastern Oakland County Water Authority system have been awarded to Smithers and Co. and Associates, of New York, low bidders.

This first issue totaled $5,350,000 for the project that will tie seven municipalities, including Birmingham, into Detroit's system.

City Engineer L. R. Gare, who is chairman of the authority's board of trustees, said today that construction contracts may be awarded next Tuesday, at the same time bids are taken for purchase of the North Woodward water system.

He explained that Pleasant Ridge, Royal Oak and Huntington Woods, all authority members, own the system. "The authority will purchase it from these three, who will put in bonds in lieu of money," Gare said.

New construction from Detroit will connect to the North Woodward system which will also be enlarged. Detroit has already approved contracts for selling water to the authority.

Motors last summer, in Class A City League, Marvin hung up a sparkling 5-0 mark. The previous season he lost only one game, hurling for Gingellville in Class D. This team went all the way to the finals in the state tourney before bowing out.

Caswell's pitching began back in the midget league. He moved up rapidly through the Class F and Class E loops and then hit the upper amateur brackets in the area.

He is credited with excellent control, has a good fast ball and appears to be one of the best prospects of the season, according to the Tiger scouts. Jack Tighe, who saw Caswell in action in 1954, was much impressed by his ability.

Caswell is the youngest of five children of Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Caswell, 72 Home St.

Caswell was the third youngster to be signed by Detroit within less than 24 hours.

The club yesterday signed Jack Feller of Adrian, a catcher, and pitchers Lawrence Johnson of Moline, Ill., and Robert Dustal of South River, N. J., both right-handers.

Just No Aptitude for Crime Career

DETROIT (AP) — Sylvester Novakowski, 56, of Detroit says the primrose path hasn't been easy. His career of crime, he told Recorder's (Criminal) Judge Joseph A. Gillis yesterday, has been "one big flop."

In 1917 he got eight months for grand larceny. But he said he was caught before he had a chance to peddle the merchandise he said he took.

In 1925 he got 10 to 25 years for armed robbery. But he said he was arrested after the hold-up before he had a chance to spend the money.

In 1929 he drew 3 to 6 years additional sentence for participating in a prison break. He was free 24 hours.

"I never made a success out of anything, Judge," Novakowski said. "Even the last job. I just got the bolts off that carburetor and there was a cop looking over my shoulder."

Novakowski was sentenced to 90 days for unlawfully tampering with an automobile.

Charlotte Church Destroyed by Fire

The brick building, two blocks from the main business district, has been a town landmark since 1874.

The Rev. Earl Thomas, pastor, said he had built a fire in the church's coal furnace yesterday morning to heat the building for workmen laying flooring. He said he looked out of the parsonage window about 1 p. m. and saw smoke pouring from the doors and windows.

The Rev. Mr. Thomas rushed to the building but was unable to save anything from the flames.

The parsonage and another house close to the church escaped damage.

The Rev. Mr. Thomas, who estimated the damage, said $12,000 insurance was carried on the church.

Korean Bonus Forms Not Yet Available

Although a Michigan bonus for Korean War veterans has received legislative approval, application forms have not been made available.

* * *

The announcement was made today by Floyd E. Cremer, deputy director of the Oakland County Department of Veterans' Affairs, who said hundreds of veterans have requested forms from the Pontiac office at 1 Lafayette St., and the Royal Oak office.

Cremer said public announcements will be made as soon as the applications are made available.

Ministers' Social Security Forms Now Available

Beck Urges Locals to Fight Injustices

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL Teamsters Union has adopted a policy of appealing all losing National Labor Relations Board cases to courts of revising labor contracts to get around the ruling.

Dave Beck, teamsters union president, has advised all councils and locals of the million-member union to make court appeals on "unfavorable" NLRB verdicts and to "challenge and press the board on every point."

"It is time American labor took action to protest the flagrant decisions of the NLRB which are destroying union rights and making collective bargaining more and more difficult," Beck said in a statement at a teamsters executive board sessions here.

At the same time union leaders said they had negotiated major contracts recently with language frankly designed to get around a recent NLRB "hot cargo" ruling.

* * *

The "hot cargo" term refers to goods originating with a non-union employer or one involved in a labor dispute.

The Taft - Hartley law's ban against secondary boycotts prohibits unions from refusing to handle goods labeled as "hot."

When Brother Itches, Distant Twin Scratches

LANDSTUHL, Germany (AP) — When U.S. Army Pvt. Eugene Ferri itches, his identical twin, Joseph, also scratches, even though they are miles apart.

While attending a signal school at Ansbach, Eugene's hands broke out in a rash. At the same time, Joseph, stationed in Berlin, suffered an identical rash.

Doctors found out that it was an old story with the Ferri brothers. Both had broken out simultaneously with similar rashes before. Doctors had no explanation.

New Hampshire has 131 covered bridges. The 132nd was torn down in the spring of 1954 in Norwich because repairs would have cost about $13,000. The span over the Ompompanoosuc River had originally cost $3,987.87 more than a century ago.

Israeli Official Studies Lansing

Interested in Michigan Government Because of the 2-Party Control

LANSING (AP)—A high-ranking official of the Israeli government is taking a close look at Michigan's government in hopes of picking up some ideas for use back home.

Isaac Levy, deputy director general in the office of the prime minister, says Michigan's government is especially interesting because the Legislature is controlled by one party and the administration by another.

"I wanted to see how that would work," Levy said. "And I am amazed at the coordination."

"I found that a habit of goodwill has developed," he said. "And I found an atmosphere of coordination prevailed among the officials."

Levy had high praise for the State Department of Administration, which combines many of the administrative functions common to all departments.

Levy arrived in Lansing Monday and will leave Friday for Sacramento, Calif., the only other state capital he will visit during his stay in the United States.

Insurance Firm Must Dole Out $23,000 in Silver

SEATTLE (AP)—If the West Coast Life Insurance Co. pays off Boris A. Krenov with 23,000 heavy silver dollars he won't have a kick in the world coming.

He asked for it. And a judge ruled, in effect, he should have it.

Krenov was agent for the company in Shanghai in 1933 when he took out a 20-year $80,000 endowment policy.

* * *

In 1941, he changed it to a paid-up policy, worth $36,000 at maturity in 1953. After World War II ended he showed up in San Francisco and paid up his back premiums, using several thousand paper Chinese dollars which it was said in court cost him $15.

When his policy matured he demanded payment in silver because a clause in the policy said, "Benefits shall be paid in Shanghai currency of the present (1953) weight and fineness."

* * *

The company demurred. The clause, it contended, was nullified when the Chinese Nationalist government made possession of silver dollars punishable by "permanent decapitation."

Judge Henry Clay Agnew held with Krenov, now a Boeing Airplane Co. Engineer, and said Krenov could collect on the value of the silver content of 36,000 Chinese silver dollars, vintage 1933. That's about $23,000, Krenov's attorney said.

Witness, Court Get Together Via Phone

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — The witness couldn't come to the court and the court couldn't wait for the witness. So the two got together on the telephone.

Attorneys trying a $54,511.12 suit in U. S. District Court needed the testimony of William Hill, ill in his Grinnell, Kan., home. Hill's testimony was taken in direct and cross examination and recorded by an official court reporter.

Telephone company officials who installed the 5-telephone setup, said this was the first use of a conference call in court litigation in the western part of the country.

St. Joseph Official Receives Plaque

The American Assn. of Hospital Accountants, Eastern Michigan Chapter, Wednesday presented a plaque to Miss Mary A. Johnson, business manager of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, in appreciation of her services as president of the chapter for 1954.

The meeting, held in the new Michigan Service offices in Detroit, was attended by representatives of 75 hospitals in the area, including six persons from St. Joseph.

A-Bomb Warning Laid to Crackpot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An anonymous phone caller last night set off a chain reaction of rumors regarding "planted" atom bombs in several Eastern cities that had police, the FBI and civil defense authorities checking fruitlessly well past the "deadline" of midnight.

The caller contacted the FBI in Philadelphia yesterday afternoon, identified himself as a "foreign agent," and said A-bombs would explode at midnight in buildings in Philadelphia, New York and Washington.

* * *

Precautionary checks were made, but William Peer, aide to New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner, said the official view was that the caller was a crackpot.

The rumors reached to the Midwest, with a Kentucky CD officer saying his group had been told to stand by.

In Washington, however, the White House said there had been no civil defense alert and that no atomic devices were found.

* * *

The anonymous caller reportedly said he "wanted to tip the FBI off before he skipped the country."

POW Kin Divided on China Trip Ban

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was some division of opinion today among relatives of Americans imprisoned in Red China concerning the State Department's ban on visits to the prisoners.

Secretary of State Dulles yesterday wrote to relatives of the 17 Americans—15 airmen and 2 civilian employes of the Army—that the government had reached the "reluctant conclusion" to forbid travel to Communist China. In identical letters, Dulles termed the trip "imprudent for the time being" considering "the increasingly belligerent attitude" of Red China.

Five Candidates for Michigan State Board

Oakland County is happy over the announcement that two of our favorite citizens, Sarah Van Hoosen Jones and Dale Stafford, are candidates for the Governing Board of Michigan State College. Mr. Stafford is a former Oakland County resident and at one time was a member of the Pontiac Press staff, while Miss Jones has long been one of our finest.

There are two candidates to be elected so both of these worthy people can be named.

The Press is pleased with both individuals. Miss Jones has already proved her worth by serving two terms on the MSC board and Mr. Stafford is eminently qualified. Himself a graduate of Michigan State, he has had experience in large, medium and small sized communities. For several years he was Managing Editor of the Detroit Free Press and currently he owns the Greenville News. As a host of Oakland County people can testify, Mr. Stafford is a man of the highest honor and character. Already he has served five years on the MSC athletic board.

Michigan State is essentially Big Business. The East Lansing institution has grown phenomenally in the last decade and now it ranks among the great Universities and Colleges in America. So long as control rests in the strong hands of people like Miss Jones and Mr. Stafford, American education is headed in the right direction.

★ ★ ★

Both primary and secondary education are on trial today as never before as the educational age claims the young people during an impressionable and formative period.

★ ★ ★

Dondero Criticizes Bad Manners in House

Oakland's veteran Congressman George A. Dondero said some things which long have needed to be said in chiding his colleagues for their bad manners.

★ ★ ★

The Royal Oak lawmaker hit out at House members who smoke, talk, put their feet on the back of chairs and violate other rules of good manners and congressional dignity. He was critical of those who read newspapers during debate, stray in and out of the chamber, walk in front of speakers and use incorrect forms of address.

★ ★ ★

Instead of calling members by their first names, he pointed out that Congressmen should be referred to in the third person as "the gentleman from . . ." or if the situation requires, "the gentlewoman from . . ."

Rep. Dondero is absolutely right in saying that the sloppy habits into which some members of the House have fallen make a poor impression on visitors in the gallery. The effect on the many delegations of school children visiting the Capitol is extremely unfortunate.

Members of the House and Senate in their respective chambers are transacting the business of a great Nation. In the process they should maintain an atmosphere of sincere purpose and fitting dignity.

Long Needed Item Veto Sought for President

One proposed reform which aims to tighten Executive control of the Federal budget is the item veto.

This is a long needed and often advocated constitutional amendment. It would enable the President to veto any item in an appropriation bill and at the same time approve the rest of it.

Such an amendment is favored by the Committee for Economic Development. Late in the 83rd Congress, Democratic Senator Byrd revived the fight for the item veto. But it was too late to get it through the already badly clogged Legislative mill. Now, as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, the Virginian is in a strategic position to win.

We know of no sound argument against this reform. Its stoutest opponents are lawmakers who like to take advantage of the opportunity to use riders. This is the trick of attaching unpopular or pork barrel proposals to essential appropriation bills.

As a long time advocate of the item veto we hope Sen. Byrd is successful in his crusade. Not only would it clear the way for substantial tax savings, but sound the death knell of the indefensible rider.

The Man About Town

Weather Warning

Mild Early Winter Usually Means Much Trouble Later

Troubles: What if you cannot make light of you should keep dark.

of Birmingham. He has kept close tab on our winters for 50 years, and says we have had the least snow by late January this winter than in any other, excepting two, in that long period. But in each of those exceptions we had more snow in February and March than in any other of the 48 years.

Never failing to get back his own hat is

Leo J. Heenan,

Duane Sullivan

reports that its animals and birds, which include most everything native to Michigan from quail and partridge to fox and deer, are having an easy winter, with plenty of feed.

A Pontiac store just escaped being victimized one day this week. A man with an article of merchandise which he said he had purchased there wanted to return it and get a refund. The clerk was suspicious, and found that the article had just been stolen from a shelf in the store. While this was going on the man disappeared—without the article or refund.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Whitfield who have a glorious habit of keeping young when most people of their age are old.

It always pleases and enthralls me to witness the enthusiasm of

in telling about what's doing and in prospect at that enormous plant on South Boulevard.

W. S. Downes Proposes Five-Cent Sales Tax as Solution to School Financing

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

The governor of Michigan is really out to outdo any other person on schools. He campaigned on more schools, more pay for teachers and so did Senator McNamara. He is going to get a great deal of opposition if he thinks he is going to penalize districts like Pontiac who have today one of the soundest pay-as-you-go plans in the state.

He admits that if his proposed legislation passes we will need more taxes. Also, item 16 of his program, "more money for the state tax commission to help local assessors in obtaining more local tax funds for schools", this I hope never comes.

I for one have fought for schools for 35 years, but I also know we cannot continue to tax the small home owner more than he can pay. If Soapy wants to do so much for schools, let him come out with a 5 cent sales tax and all of it go to schools. This could be apportioned in the same manner it is today, which is per pupil, 1½ cents for buildings and 3½ cents for maintenance and operation.

That is all that would be necessary to build more schools and get more and better teachers. Every school board would run its own business as is done today.

Under Soapy's idea you would lose control of your schools and they would be run from Lansing by politicians.

Suggests Ways to Get Social Security at 60

I am in my fifties and would be willing, if necessary, to have the Social Security rates doubled for those over 50 to make it possible for men and women of 60 years to draw Social Security payments.

It would give older people a pleasant old age to enjoy while they are young enough to enjoy life. It would also give them a few years to take up some small money earning hobby that most of them have wanted to do all their lives. It would benefit the younger people by giving them more employment.

Why doesn't someone form an organization to start the ball rolling? An organization could be operated in every town and city by people over 50 and younger people whose parents would benefit. They could petition our government to make it a law to give Social Security to people when it will do them some good.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And Jesus answering said unto them, The children of this world marry, and are given in marriage.—Luke 20:34.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Learn to Stand Up, Speak in Public and Find Occasions to Practice Often

Wilma's advice might be paraphrased to read: "Don't sell yourself short!" Yet that is what a lot of smart people are doing just because they haven't learned how to speak in public. Many college graduates thus sell themselves short, too.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case N-335: Wilma Y., aged 35, is a college teacher of public speaking.

"Dr. Crane, will you please send me your booklet on 'Public Platform Strategy'?" she began.

"I need some extra assignments for my students and should like to add this to the collateral reading list.

"And I wish you would again stress the great practical value of being able to speak with reasonable ease, for many of our graduates have lost good jobs for lack of this ability."

The thing which really distinguishes mankind from the lower animals is our ability to use language.

But many intelligent human beings don't even know how to use words to make love.

And after marriage, they are so set in their selfish, egotistical thinking that they don't pay daily compliments to their wife or children.

Men are notorious for their awkwardness with language. Thousands of American wifes write to me every year bemoaning the fact their husbands don't talk.

"My husband eats his meal in almost total silence, save for a grunt now or then to indicate he wants more food passed to him," wrote a recent housewife.

And her husband was the principal of the local high school!

So don't think it is just uneducated males who fail to use the English language with skill and diplomacy.

When Dean Swift, authority on English writing was asked to define literary style, he replied that it is simply "proper words in proper places."

But that's an excellent definition of applied psychology, too, since words are now the most widely used appeals or stimuli to influence people.

Even if you obtain a college diploma, people will disbelieve it if you don't learn how to stand up and speak with reasonable facility.

And this talent requires a lot of practice. So take advantage of every opportunity, even if you are simply to stand for two minutes and give the secretary's report of the previous meeting of your lodge or club.

"But I am scared so my hands tremble like a leaf!" you may protest.

So is everybody else for possibly the first 100 speeches! Take heart by realizing it requires repetition to attain poise on the platform.

Teach a Sunday school class or lead a Scout Troop. Make reports at meetings. And join local speech clubs, such as the Toastmaster's.

Organize a public speaking class in your church. And learn how to use the narrative formula for composing an interesting address.

Always document your presentations with actual cases or examples, preferably from your local area. This is Christ's "parable formula" which is unrivalled.

Many clergymen still make dry, essay types of sermon because they haven't studied Christ's perfect public speaking recipe.

If your hands tremble, hold them behind you for the first couple of minutes.

If, however, you must hold music or your speech notes in front of you, then use both hands and gently pull in opposite directions, for this counter-traction will neutralize most of your tremor.

For further practical advise, send for my booklet "Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

It is full of hints for speakers, teachers, singers, magicians and others who perform in front of audiences.

If Henry is self-made, so is a flea on a dog. He never gave a dime to help the community. Other men built the town, and all he ever did was feed on it.

David Lawrence Says:

Solon's Nonpartisan Plea Rare in History of Senate

WASHINGTON — Seldom in the history of the United States Senate has there been an address of statesmanship comparable to that delivered by Sen. Walter George, Democrat, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, as he upheld President Eisenhower's request for unrestricted authority to use the armed forces to defend Formosa and the American defense line in the Far East.

In contrast to the petty quibbles of some of his colleagues and the narrow interpretations which they interjected to hamstring the American armed forces if they should be attacked from the small islands off the coast of China, the Georgia senator made clear in his speech that this is not the time to give the enemy a privileged sanctuary of retreat, as was the case in Korea.

Such Americanism is a thrilling exhibition of the spirit that has governed the nation in all its past crises. It was especially stimulating to hear this doctrine from the lips of this senator — a veteran in experience in foreign affairs — as he cast aside all partisanship and focused on the central issue.

For, instead of leading to a "preventive war" — which is the smokescreen raised against all proper defense measures whenever it suits critics to use that term to break down American firmness — Sen. George showed how the American policy could deter the aggressor, prevent a big war from happening, and insure peace.

"I ask each man here," declared Sen. George, "if the Congress of the United States is willing to withhold its moral support from the President of the United States under these circumstances, what is your alternative? I ask each man what is his alternative?"

This was a challenging point addressed to the restrictionists — those who would, in effect, notify the enemy that American ships could be fired on and that the American Congress was unwilling to vote the authority to fire back.

Sen. George's most telling point — and one that was persuasively presented, too, by Sen. Knowland, Republican leader, in the previous day's debate — is that nobody knows from what point Formosa might be attacked and that it is imperative to notify the Red Chinese there would be unrestricted retaliation.

The effectiveness of the resolution is that it tells the whole world America not only will defend Formosa but will not hesitate to bomb the approaches within a radius of several hundred miles if such a step becomes necessary to protect American ships and military installations.

The same old cry — which has been heard again and again in instances of appeasement or in episodes in which there has been a fateful hesitation — has been repeated this week in the Senate. It is that the passage of the resolution might bring on war. Risks are always present in the evolution of international policy, but an unwillingness to make a clear statement of what counterforce will be brought to bear against an attacking force can only lead, as it has many times before, to an outbreak of a major war.

The "London Daily Mail" in an editorial says that such a clear warning as President Eisenhower can give by means of the joint resolution might — if issued before 1914 and 1939 — have prevented two world wars.

More and more members of the Senate have begun to see the joint resolution not as a narrow legalistic instrument of international policy but as a pronouncement on a moral issue — to make the aggressors respect the neutrality of Formosa. For Formosa today has not been given to the regime on the mainland because it has violated international obligations, including a flagrant act of aggression in Korea.

The Chiang Kai-shek government is still the recognized government of China so far as the United States is concerned. Under international law, any request for military help from a recognized government is granted in accord with tradition and custom.

So the resolution now before Congress meets all the requirements of international law and at the same time confirms the right of the United States to protect its military position in the Far East. Some people in the Senate have forgotten that it was from Formosa that the Japanese planes launched their attack which caused our defeat in the Philippines in 1942. Had America been able to dominate the air a few hundred miles around Formosa, the surrender at Bataan would never have occurred.

The President has wisely assured Congress that he alone, as commander in chief, will make the decision as to when measures of retaliation against an attacking force will be ordered. For it will be within his power to order American forces to repel attack and also to go as far out as necessary in pursuit of enemy planes. Had the U. S. forces been given that right, they would have won a victory in Korea.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(International News Service)

It had no resemblance to the 1929 crash-up and recovered faster than a pretty girl rescued by a handsome lifeguard.

The writer has been through some of these certificate-lined flurries. And knows when the operators are skimming the cream off the rainbow.

Boosting the margint from fifty to sixty had no more to do with it than you have with the dark side of the moon. Back in 1929 the ticker tape-worms were baiting lion-traps with cheese.

You could get into the bucket-shops with five per cent of anything. Money, marbles or chalk. Even paper hats were collateral.

The quiver in the guess-o-graph was timed with the opening of Congress. The needle wagged like a pup's tail. Which is fastened firmly on the near end.

Any investor who plops down fifty per cent of the transaction is not fishing with worms. Wall street acts sometimes like a jammed ferris wheel. You can get stuck at the top.

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

The question of colds and (I quote from Time, Dec. 13, '54) and other upper respiratory infections (so "colds" are upper respiratory infections, eh?) brought Dr. Lawson to his final blast against the overuse of antibiotics. More than 90 per cent of children's fevers and respiratory and gastro-intestinal infections are caused by viruses, he declared, and antibiotics are of no use against viruses. Then the magazine quotes Dr. Lawson's comment, as follows:

"Yet many physicians cannot refrain from scattering antibiotics far and wide because (1) the family expects it, (2) it won't do any harm, (3) it might do some good or (4) you can't tell which infection is viral and which bacterial . . . The pressure to 'do something' is always there, but it is often the truer test of the physician to let nature take its course than to give treatment when treatment is not necessary."

For the sake of the people of Miami in particular and the people of America in general, I hope and pray that the trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers of Miami will not have Dr. Robert Barrett Lawson expelled from the faculty of the Medical School of the University of Miami for this honest acknowledgement of one of the evils of the business of medicine. Dr. Lawson was head of the pediatrics department of the medical school when he made the statement before the winter convention of the American Medical Association in Miami last month.

Having been, well, say expelled from many a paper in my hectic career for just such truth telling, I can appreciate how much forthright courage it takes for a man in Dr. Lawson's position to commit himself so uncompromisingly. There's only one medical school in Miami, whereas in some cities when I'm kicked out of one paper very likely I'll bob up next week in another.

There's one thing that disturbs me, although I hate to mention it now. I don't know and I have been unable to learn how a doctor can tell whether a respiratory infection is due to germ or virus.

When I hear anyone say he or she is coming down with or getting over "this virus that's going around," I think "The poor geek probably knows as much about it as the doctor does." The notion that every respiratory infection short of pneumonia, diphtheria or brain fever is "this virus" is as sensible as the notion that every fleeting ache or pain is "neuritis."

Then there's one other thing that I can't get off my mind: How in the—how can the doctors tell that one or more shots of antibiotic accounts for any improvement that occurs afterward? That is, who knows whether the patient would not have recovered as quickly without the "shots"?

The businessman of medicine comes a-running with his syringe ready to shoot penicillin into the patient because, as Dr. Lawson says, the family expects it. What family? As Brady says, the Knucklehead family.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed. etc.

Sees A-Plane Within 5 Years

Rep. Durham Predicts Ship Flying Indefinitely Without Landing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Durham (D-NC) predicted today that a practical atom-powered airplane will be developed "within five years." Such a plane, he said, could fly indefinitely without landing.

Durham made the statement in commenting on Gen. Nathan F. Twining's statement yesterday that advances thus far have convinced the Air Force a practical nuclear-powered military plane is possible.

* * *

Twining, Air Force chief of staff, told the House Armed Services Committee, "We have hopes this will be a truly intercontinental weapon freeing us from the dependence" on overseas bases and supply lines.

Durham, a member of that committee and top Democrat on the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said the successful development of the atom-powered submarine Nautilus had spurred progress on the A-plane. The Nautilus is now making test runs.

* * *

The congressman said in an interview that a major remaining problem for an A-plane is how to control the terrific heat generated by atomic energy, and that others include reducing the weight and size of the craft.

"I am confident we'll whip these problems, just as we did in building the Nautilus," he said. "In my opinion the plane will be developed within the next five years."

Envoy to Formosa Minimizes Danger

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Karl L. Rankin said today he does not feel there is great danger of an important conflict breaking out in the troubled Formosa area if the United States maintains its firm attitude without being provocative.

Rankin told a news conference:

"I believe the stronger attitude we take without being provocative —and we will not be—the better chance we have of avoid war.

"I am sure the Reds intend to try to get Formosa sometime" but "I don't expect any trouble in the foreseeable future, at least in the next few months."

Rankin expressed belief that a clear statement of U.S. intentions "will cause the Reds to revise their timetable" for taking Formosa.

27-Mile Ropeway to Ease North India-Tibet Trade

WASHINGTON — High in the mountains of the little Indian protectorate, Skim, engineers are building a 27-mile ropeway to speed up trade between northern India and Tibet.

Like the 14-mile ropeway of neighboring Nepal, the Indian project is a series of trestles supporting freight-carrying aerial cables. Flung across the formidable heights of the eastern Himalayas the mechanism will bring a businesslike touch to nature's exotic and ice-capped peaks, says the National Geographic Society.

It will also offer a tangible reminder of changing conditions and potential rivalries developing in that part of the world since the Chinese seized Tibet in 1950 and pushed their frontier to the backdoor of India.

Tibet's main trade route and shortest outlet to the sea has long stretched southward across Sikkim to the bazaars of Kalimpong in northeast India.

In the last few years, however, the Chinese overlords of Tibet have launched an extensive building program designed to link this Asia-heartland country to Red China.

According to announcements from Peiping and accounts of travelers returning from the Himalayas and regions to the north, a network of all-weather roads—presumably military and supply lanes — is well underway in many parts of Tibet.

Eventually they are expected to provide communications between the Tibetan capital, Lhasa, and China's far inland provinces.

Even traffic to the south has not been overlooked. A motorable road was reported under consideration and perhaps been started from Lhasa to Natu Pass on the Sikkim border.

This 14,000-foot pass is to be the terminus of the new Sikkim ropeway, reaching northeastward from Sikkim's capital Gangtok.

As another motorable road already links Gangtok with Kalimpong, early completion of the relatively short transport facilities on both sides of the south Tibetan border would give the "roof-of-the-world" land its first modern route to the outside.

Meantime long lines of mule and pack-pony caravans, led by weatherbeaten men in fur caps and quilted coats, wind slowly over the rugged old trail from Lhasa to Kalimpong.

Traveling by way of southeast Sikkim, they bring India traditional loads of Tibetan wool, hides, musk extract for perfume, yak tails and prayer wheels. In return they carry salt, tea, cotton textiles, molasses, hardware and small articles for household use.

Outstanding among the trade's local specialties are enormous and delicious apples grown in the wild interior of Sikkim. These apples were originally transplanted from England.

By some quirk of soil and circumstance, reports one English orchard ardously made his way to this lofty spot. Sikkim apples reach a state of perfection that every apple grower dreams of for his own product.

Controls Hinted in China Crisis

Official Says Congress May Be Asked to OK Standby Measures

WASHINGTON (INS) — A high-ranking offidial has disclosed that the administration is considering a request to Congress for standby wartime controls on prices, wages and materials as a result of the Formosa crisis.

This official predicted that there will be no war.

However, he said the government cannot make plans on the basis of what it believes will happen — and that plans have to be formulated on the assumption that the unexpected may occur.

Because of possible developments, he said, serious consideration is being given to the request for standby control to be imposed immediately if the nation should be plunged into war.

There was a strong intimation that such a request may be made, although the matter is reported still under discussion.

The officials, who asked that he not be identified, declared that if a major shooting conflict develops, controls obviously would have to be imposed straight across the board — on prices, wages and materials as was done during the height of the Korean struggle and in World War II. This would be necessary, he pointed out, because of the inflationary forces that are invariably released by wars.

During the Korean conflict, prices were curbed by the Office of Price Stabilization and wages and salaries by the wage and salary stabilization boards. Materials in short supply were allocated among industries, and coordinating agencies were in operation to maintain order among the various programs.

World War II saw tighter controls on the economy, together with limited rationing of civilian goods, as the nation's vast industrial plant was converted to the all-out job of producing war goods for both the Pacific and European fronts and for U. S. Allies — which then included Russia.

U. S. railroads each hour of the day and night pay out an average of $135,000 in federal, state and local taxes.

Texas produces about 70 per cent of the nation's carbon black.

St. Mike Seniors Plan Play, 'Curious Savage'; Fred's Eye Basketball

Pontiac High activities were at a standstill this week as undergraduates took final exams and seniors awaited commencement on Thursday evening. St. Mike's students enjoyed a free day today, following exams, and St. Fred's anticipated a holiday next Thursday and Friday.

ST. MICHAEL

St. Mike juniors stepped into the spotlight this week as they announced their forthcoming pre-Lenten Coronation Ball. The theme will be patriotic and committees for the event are forming rapidly.

Nominations for the King and Queen of the ball will be Tuesday. A junior couple and a senior couple will be selected and the penny votes will be solicited by campaign managers of the classrooms.

Juniors refuse to divulge any more information except that it will be semi-formal dance and music will be furnished by the Esquires.

The want-ad section featured everything from an article announcing a fire sale on togas to an advertisement for elevator sandals. Needless to say, the juniors are really enjoying the reading of Julius Caesar.

Monday the senior English class listened to records of "Macbeth" and found that the drama was much more meaningful to them that way.

"Pictures, pictures, pictures! I'm getting spots before my eyes from looking at so many pictures!" That was the general opinion of the senior class this week, for pictures were taken for the playbook last Sunday and the proofs of graduation pictures arrived Monday.

The Michaelite, St. Mike's school paper, is due to come out this week, and reporters are seen scurrying around everywhere, gleaning news. The paper will feature several new articles this time, including a "Gadabout" column and an interview with a celebrity. This issue the celebrities will be the "Four Joes."

Congratulations were in order for St. Mike's girls this week after they downed Clarkston in a scrimmage basketball game.

Final exams were given to Michaelites this week, ending the second quarter's work. A free day was enjoyed by the entire high school today giving the sisters an opportunity to average the marks.

Cheerleader Captain Gwen Harald reports that the cheerleaders are holding daily practice sessions and will introduce several new cheers tonight when St. Mike's basketball team meets St. Rita.

Michaelites attended a Student Council meeting Wednesday morning. Highlights were talks by Fred West, Joan Dark, Joanne Helander and John O'Dea. Marty Keller praised students on the good school spirit they show at games. A movie on alcoholism was shown.

ST. FREDERICK

"Whew!" was the most popular and, by today, the most worn-out expression in the English language. Why all first-semester exams were completed this week, the only fit way to describe the relief was by exclaiming, "Whew."

"Should 18-Year-Olds Be Allowed to Vote?" was the question which was argued pro and con in U.S. history classes this week. After a period of floor discussions which brought out different viewpoints, the majority of the students favored the Constitution remaining as it is. Eighteen-year-olds are too inexperienced and too easily influenced was the conclusion reached.

Students transferred their semester holiday, which should have been today, to a week from now. On Monday students will buckle down to the seriousness of a retreat and then take a breather next Thursday and Friday.

Girls' basketball team met with victory again Sunday against St. James of Ferndale, 38-9. The victory was due to the high scoring of Sharon Neville, a sophomore, who paced her team with 13 points. This week the Lambs travel to St. Mike's for what they hope will be another victory.

"Hey, is that really me?" asked many seniors after gazing awestruck at their picture proofs this week. Orders, which will be back in time for graduation, were placed by the seniors today.

Troubled looks and excitement marked the boys' basketball team today, and gave the entire school an air of uneasiness, as everyone made ready for that all-important game with St. Benedict tonight. The only comment made by Captain Jerry Bradley was, "It'll be a long, hard fight to the finish."

New Zealand is about 1,000 miles long and is divided into North Island, South Island and Stewart Island.

Vertical Ascent Plane Tested in Pennsylvania

NEW YORK (AP)—A convertiplane developed by the Transcendental Aircraft Corp., of New Castle, Del., has made one of the first flights by that type of plane.

The flight was from New Castle to Media, Pa., it was announced last night by E. Burke Wilford, of Merion, Pa., long active in the design and construction of experimental convertiplanes.

Wilford said the craft took off vertically under the lift of two 17-foot-diameter rotors, which tilt 90 degrees forward to provide thrust for forward flight.

The Transcendental model L-G convertiplane, with a design forward speed of 150 miles an hour, was partially financed by Air Force contracts awarded in 1952 and 1953.

The purpose of a convertiplane is to take off like a helicopter and then convert to conventional forward flight.

8 Midwest Colleges to Run A-Smasher

NEW YORK (AP)—Four physicists have revealed how eight Midwestern universities plan to build and operate the world's biggest atom smasher.

Speaking to the American Physical Society Lawrence W. Jones and Kent M. Terwilliger of the University of Michigan told of the use of magnets to guide atomic particles.

The physicists including Keith M. Symon of Wayne University and Donald W. Kerst of the University of Illinois are members of the design committee of the Midwestern Universities Research Assn.

They said their 25 million dollar proton accelerator would use magnets to guide speeding atomic particles in the atom smasher while accelerators boost their speed.

Hold Memorial for Indian Hero of Flag-Raising

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Marine Corps and 10 other organizations conducted memorial services for Marine hero Ira Hayes today in the Arizona Capitol.

The 32-year-old Pima Indian who helped raise the Stars and Stripes atop Mt. Suribachi on Iwo Jima in 1945 was found dead near his Sacator reservation home Monday.

* * *

His own people said farewell to Hayes at funeral services in the First Presbyterian Church at Sacaton, Ariz., yesterday. Nearly 2,000 Indians and white friends packed the church and stood in the churchyard.

Hayes died of exposure and excessive alcohol.

* * *

Misfortune and unhappiness had been his lot since he came out of the Marines. Those who knew him said he drank too much because horrors of the island battles of Tarawa, Bougainville and Iwo Jima never left him.

Burial will be in the Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, D.C.

UM Pharmacists Study Machines

Tablet Press Punches 1,500 Pills Per Minute in Lab-Classroom

ANN ARBOR (AP)—They've got a machine here that turns out 1,150 aspirin a minute.

Actually the machine, a rotary tablet press, is just part of the complicated equipment at the University of Michigan's College of Pharmacy.

Here students learn the techniques and problems of making medicines, an exacting and difficult science.

If one machine could do all the work, making aspirins would be a cinch. But the machine can't do it alone.

Aspirin is bought from the manufacturer in powder form. This powder is compressed in tablets. But these tablets will not suit the pharmacists. They crumble too easily and won't pass pressure tests.

So the aspirin tablets go through a process called slugging, in which they are broken down again. This time they are a course, almost sandy, powder. Now they are ready for the tablet making machine for the second time, and they come out perfect, circular, pain killers.

Graduate students, including many from foreign countries, work on the machines learning to make ointments, tablets and ampules for hypodermic needles.

They will graduate to work in pharmaceutical firms and to do research work.

Dean of the college, Dr. Tom D. Rowe, explains that the corner druggist who has earned his bachelor's degree in pharmacy, doesn't have to work with the machines.

He explains, too, that the school is training 165 pharmacists on the undergraduate level and only 40 in the graduate phases. The laboratory medicine factory is only for the graduate students.

Here they learn how to keep a room sterile, or very nearly sterile, in order to produce pure fluids for hypodermic needles, and package them without contamination from the air.

Sicilian Child Has Faith in American Operations

BALTIMORE (AP) — Doctors at Johns Hopkins Hospital are cautious about his chances, but 7-year-old Vincenzo Gangemi of Sicily has faith that he will be healed.

Vincenzo was born with part of his bladder growing outside his stomach wall. Skilled surgeons have performed one operation. Two more are needed.

The youth was brought here 10 days ago by Mrs. Barbara Harrison, of Davenport, Iowa, an ex-Army nurse who befriended Vincenzo on a European vacation. Money she begged and borrowed to pay for the trip and operations is running short.

Stock Market of Today Is Building Up Because of American Family 'Wants'

By RELMAN MORIN

(Last in Series)

NEW YORK (AP)—When you read about "the greatest bull market in history," you are looking at a story that goes beyond Wall Street.

The high averages and zooming prices reflect many factors.

Sure, some people are simply gambling. "Institutional buying" of stocks by big organizations has increased.

* * *

And there is the argument that the market today is only now catching up with the true values of many stocks and bonds.

But the figures reflect more than that.

They represent a massive chunk of confidence in at least the immediate future—and to some, the long-term outlook—for the whole American economy.

Since nobody can read the future, the only thing you can do is look at some present bases, the trends, and make your own projections.

For example, the population today is an estimated 163 million.

By 1975, the U.S. Census Bureau estimates, it will climb to 200 million. How many more pairs of shoes will the factories have to turn out then? How many more miles of textiles? How many more radios, refrigerators, automobiles? How much more food?

* * *

"Since the current rate of family formation is about 700,000 a year, it is apparent that about 700,000 new units must be added annually, if our housing standards are to remain at present levels.

"And about 300,000 houses 'wear out and are demolished annually, bringing the total basic need to about one million units per year."

The gross national product for 1954 is estimated at 350 billion dollars. (GNP means the total value of all goods and services produced.) In his economic message, President Eisenhower called for a GNP of 500 billion by 1965. The National Assn. of Manufacturers estimates 700 billion by 1975.

Sound like overreaching? Here's a sober statement from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce: "There has been a more or less continuous upward trend in the output of American industry. Various estimates of the rate of increase in production have put it at 3 or 4 per cent more per annum."

* * *

The average American is a "wanter." Call it keeping up with the Joneses if you like, but he is forever wanting something new or better than what he has, whether it's a house, an automobile, a can opener, or a wider TV screen.

He will put himself in hock to get it too. And then work like fury to keep up the installment payments. His wants are limited only by his buying power and credit. And he has the buying power.

Then there's "research."

A New York Stock Exchange estimate puts the figure for industrial research and development in 1954 at about four billion dollars—adding that that is 345 per cent greater than the sum spent in 1941.

* * *

A steady stream of new or improved products are coming out of the laboratories every year. They create new jobs and new wealth.

For example, Du Pont spent eight years and 25 million dollars developing a synthetic fibre. Marketable now, it has created 2,800 jobs in the plant.

Doubtless you have heard the word "automation." Maybe you have seen whole plants operated by machines. Or a drill press controlled by a piece of perforated tape.

Now look around the map of the United States. Barely more than 20 years ago, the Southern states were described as the nation's "No. 1 economic problem." Today, with research and new industries, the South is rapidly catching up with the rest of the country in spite of the general boom.

* * *

A submarine powered by atomic energy went to sea last week. The atomic age in industry appears to be on the near horizon. It has been said that this will bring about "a second industrial revolution." The first one changed the face of the earth.

So the future stretches away, apparently limitless, unimaginably brilliant, barely glimpsed in all its immense potentialities.

The "greatest bull market in history," in some degree, mirrors this. But over the stock market today still hangs the black shadow of 1929 and the greatest crash in history.

"A glorious economic future may be ours, but it is not vouchsafed to us," the President told the Congress last week. "We shall achieve it only by wise management of our national household."

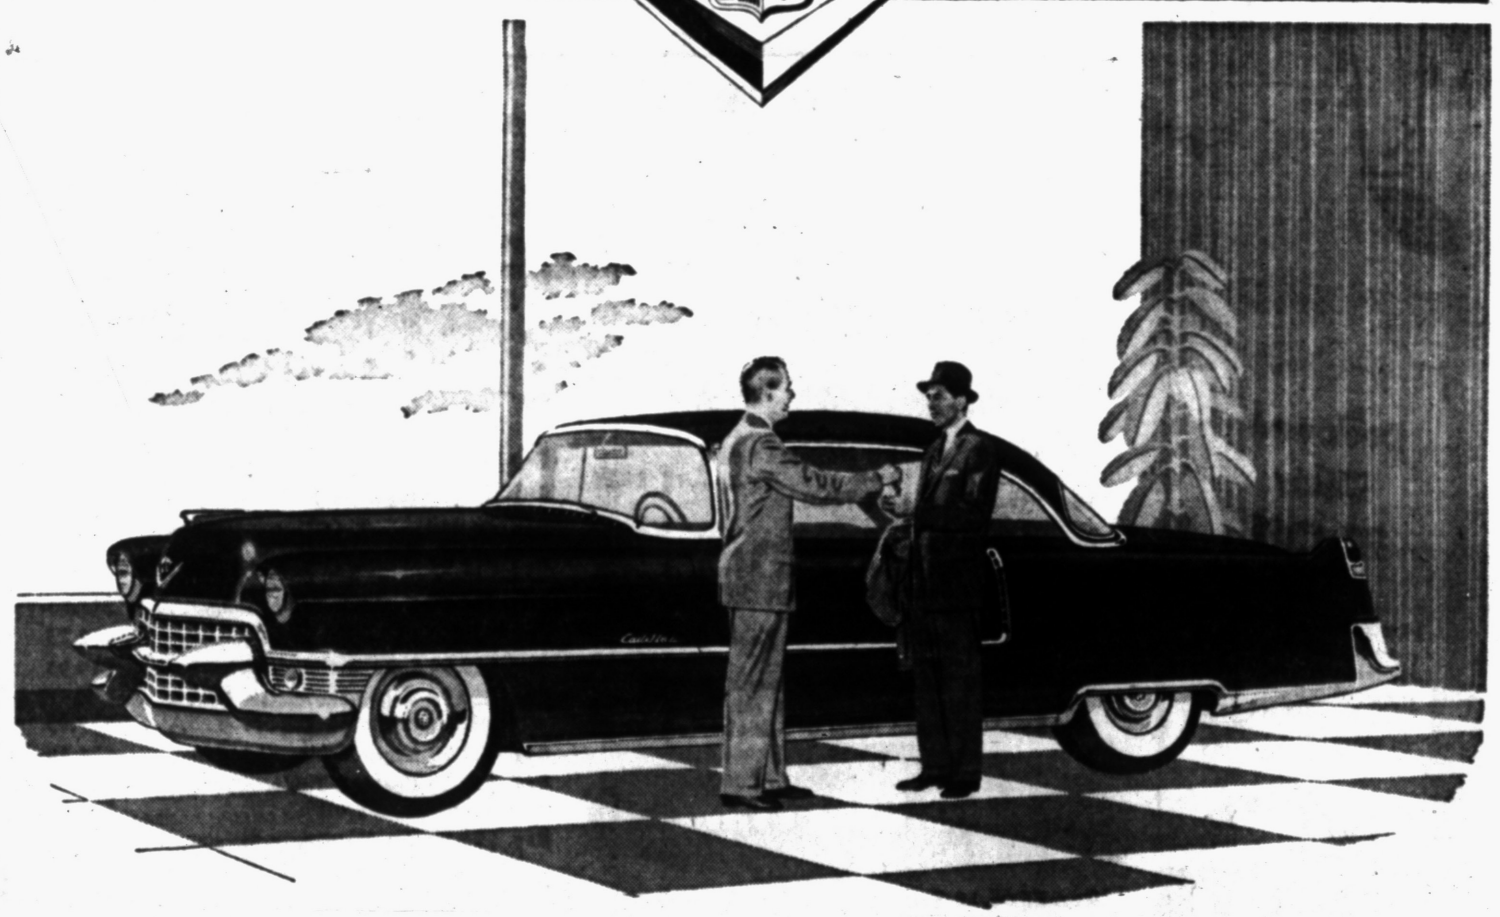
Cadillac



Only 35-But He Has Earned It!

Most of the proud and happy people driving Cadillacs showed at least a little gray at the temples.

But things are changing. In fact, it isn't at all unusual any more for a man in his thirties to move up to the "car of cars."

There are two basic reasons for this.

In the first place, success is coming much earlier now to a great group of young men than in years gone by.

Men are going into business and the professions with fine technical training which starts them off at levels they used to be years in attaining.

Actually, once a man feels justified in making the initial investment, he is economically on sound ground when he selects a Cadillac.

First of all, he can keep it and drive it with pride for almost any period of years he may elect—for its endurance is beyond all practical measurement.

Upkeep is remarkably low—and few cars of any size or price will run farther on a gallon of gasoline than a Cadillac.

And even when it comes to the purchase price, there is much to be said for the "car of cars." There are twelve models of other makes which actually cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac.

Thus, it is small wonder that more and more people in a younger age bracket are making the move to Cadillac. It has simply become a logical and practical thing for them to do.

So, if you feel that you are ready for a Cadillac—remember that achievement—and not age—is the criterion.

Harriman, GOP Locked in Battle

New York Governor, Opposition Chiefs Spar With Votes, Veto

ALBANY, N.Y. (UP)—Gov. Averell Harriman and the Republicans who control New York's Legislature are at war. The outcome could have an impact on the presidential race next year.

Skirmishing began soon after Harriman was elected last Nov. 2 over Republican Sen. Irving M. M. Ives as the state's first Democratic governor in 12 years.

Since his inauguration Jan. 1 as successor to Thomas E. Dewey, Harriman and the GOP leaders of the Legislature have been engaged in a steady crossfire.

Issues include taxes, workers' benefits, a number of Harriman's appointments, the record of Dewey's administration and whether bingo should be legalized immediately.

• • •

Harriman feels that what he does as governor could show the nation what a Democrat could do in the White House. He is plugging for a party victory nationally in 1956, and although he says he favors Adlai Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination, some observers believe Harriman himself would like to get the nod.

• • •

The Republicans have enough votes in the Legislature to defeat any Harriman measure. But Harriman also has a potent weapon—his power of veto.

The war would develop into a stalemate.

The governor can't get his program through the Legislature without Republican help—and credit for the GOP. The Republicans don't have the votes to override Harriman's veto on their own pro-programs.

Help Barefoot Shoppers

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UP)—Men who sell bread door-to-door from trucks in residential neighborhoods have begun using a new inducement to lure the housewife-buyer. The drivers drop rubber mats alongside their trucks when they stop so the barefoot women will not burn their feet on hot pavement.

MAN and WIFE

Mr. and Mrs. W. Kleimola

BOTH PRAISE O-JIB-WA BITTERS

"Ten days was all that it took O-JIB-WA BITTERS to bring me the results that I sought for so long," says Mr. Walter Kleimola, R No. 2, Ironwood, Michigan.

"My wife is the one who first introduced me to O-JIB-WA BITTERS. She began taking it about a year and a half ago, because her arms were swollen and very painful. Her blood circulation was very poor and brown spots began to appear on her skin. She had tried many medicines, but nothing helped very much until she used O-JIB-WA. The pains left and the spots went away, so she has been recommending it to others ever since. I read on the folder packed with the bottle, that it was good for stomach ailments, and as I have been suffering for a long time with my stomach, I decided to give it a trial. About all I had been able to eat was like baby food, and of course anything fried would about kill me. O-JIB-WA BITTERS helped me right away and in 10 days I wasn't bothered at all. Because of the excellent results we have both received from your medicine, we are glad to tell all who suffer about the merits of O-JIB-WA BITTERS."

2 Killed, 12 Hurt as Nationalists Hit Red Steamer

HONG KONG (UP) — The Peiping government's official New China News Agency says two crewmen were killed and 12 wounded Jan. 19 when Nationalist bombers hit the Red Chinese steamer Namhai in Swatow harbor. The vessel apparently was moored near the British ship Edendale, which Chiang Kai-shek's planes sank the same day.

Crewmen from the Edendale who reached Hong Kong Wednesday said they saw a Chinese ship nearby get direct bomb hits and burst into flames.

The Red news agency dispatch said survivors from the Namhai appeared at a mass rally in Swatow Jan. 21 and "expressed anger at the wanton attack on their ship." It said a similar rally was held the same day in Foochow, where workers of three bombed factories "were hard at work to resume production on improvised premises."

Maddy Seeks $18,000 for Music Broadcasts

LANSING (UP) — Dr. Joseph Maddy, president of the National Music Camp near Traverse City, today asked the Legislature to appropriate $18,000 to help pay for the camp's weekly nationwide radio broadcasts this summer.

Maddy said the Legislature usually appropriates money for the broadcasts but "forgot" last year.

"These broadcasts are heard all over the country and do a lot toward promoting Michigan's tourist business," Rep. George Sallade (R-Ann Arbor) said. "I think the Legislature should appropriate the money."

Solon Puts Colleagues on Carpet for Car Bump

DES MOINES, Iowa (UP)—State Sen. Lawrence Putney took a thoughtful look at his fellow members of the upper house and told them he found his automobile damaged in the parking lot reserved for legislators.

"It's not the principle of the thing," he said, "but the money that bothers me."

Escapes Gas Station Blast With Hand Burns

Vernor L. Sawyer, 33, was cleaning a water trap when fumes from gasoline, which apparently had collected in the trap, were ignited by a water heater some 10 feet away.

Township Officials Score Highway Bond Issue Plan

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's township supervisors wound up a three-day convention today by going on record as opposed to the proposed half a billion dollar bond issue for highway construction.

A companion measure to the opposition to a bond issue was a resolution advocating a two-cent increase in the state gasoline tax plus a "reasonable" increase in the automobile weight tax.

It was stipulated that this money should be substituted for the bond issue for road construction.

A group of resolutions aimed at keeping local assessing powers in the hands of local officials were approved.

Resolutions dealing with conservation topics included ones advocating opening the small game seasons for bear and requesting the State Conservation Department to open more roads to inaccessible lakes and streams.

Another resolution asked for legislature to make school boards file their annual budgets by March 1 instead of after tax assessors have completed their roles.

It was explained if this were done, school districts would have to base their budgets on need instead of one they could obtain from tax levies.

The association went on record as urging that congress permit the U.S. Department of Agriculture to again distribute surplus foods through normal business channels.

Farm Bureau Hits Road Plan

Opposes Bond Issue; Wants Pay-as-You-Go State Program

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Farm Bureau today issued a statement opposing a proposed constitutional amendment to provide for a half billion dollar bond issue for highway construction.

Farm bureau directors said they were opposed to any plan "to mortgage the future to build tomorrow's roads today."

In summarizing its position, the bureau made seven major points. These were:

1—Highways should be built and maintained through funds raised by the motorists.

2—The farm bureau said it would support a gas tax increase of five cents or higher, if the need could be demonstrated.

3—In any stepped-up program of highway construction, equal consideration should be given to all types of roads, including state trunklines, county primary roads, county local roads and municipal streets.

4—A "pay-as-you-go" highway program is the most sound and desirable.

5—No far-flung and drastic changes in Michigan's highway program and financing should be undertaken at this time.

6—A spasm of abnormally stepped-up road-building would result in excessive costs for materials and labor.

7—Because of heavy demands for public funds, expenditures for various projects should be carefully considered and kept in balance.

2 Retired Generals Back Firm Stand Against China

Editor's Note: The author of the following exculsive interview is a United Press vice president who has reported Asian affairs for the past 10 years. The subject of his interview, Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault of Flying Tigers fame, speaks frankly in his timely comment on the crisis with Red China.

By EARNEST HOBERECHT

TAIPEI, Formosa (UP)—Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault (ret.) said today the "time has come for a showdown with the Chinese Communists."

Chennault said in an exclusive interview that it will be easier for the United States and her Asian allies to defeat the Red Chinese now than one year hence.

"They (the Red Chinese) are not our friends and are not fit for membership in the United Nations," Chennault said. "They have demonstrated this."

"We had better have a showdown now," the former commander of the Flying Tigers added. "I don't like war but sometimes it's better to fight things out. The Red Chinese are the only aggressors in Asia. They are doing all the shooting and all the moving forward."

"The Chinese Nationalists are only trying to return the fire to protect themselves," he said.

Chennault said he did not believe American ground troops would be needed in a showdown with the Red Chinese.

"We can use troops of friendly Asian nations who are plenty willing to fight if we supply them and provide air and sea assistance," Chennault said. "We can run the Chinese Reds out of China if we will us our Asian allies who want to fight."

Chennault said the Chinese Nationalists and South Koreans have a greater combined, first-class fighting force than the Red Chinese.

"The Reds strained every muscle to get 1,000,000 men into Korea and many of them were 'human wave' troops rather than first-class soldiers," he said.

He said he believed the Chinese Nationalists and South Koreans could put 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 men on the battlefields if America supplies them. The retired general also said he refused to go along with those who fear the great numbers of Chinese on the mainland.

"Red China's big population is not the deciding factor," Chennault said.

"The real factor is what the Communists can equip and supply. Her tanks, guns, planes and other main war items must come from Russia. This is a big logistic problem. Then, when the supplies get to China, she still has only one railroad to move them from north to south.

"If we let South Koreans hit the Communists through North Korea and let the Chinese Nationalists hit the Reds in South China, the Chinese Reds will have two fronts and they cannot handle them.

"That one rail line—if we let it operate and don't bomb it—is not enough to handle military needs, and remember it also must take care of civilians.

"China is not like America or Europe. It does not have other lines or good roads. Without supplies the Reds couldn't fight long."

Chennault said it is "extremely ill advised" to give up the Tachens because they probably are more essentiail to the defense of Okinawa than Formosa.

Editor's Note: While Senate action is awaited on the "fight if we must" resolution, Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, USA (ret.), chief of intelligence on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's staff in the Philippines campaign of 1941 and in the Southwest Pacific from 1942 to 1946, describes President Eisenhower's move as sound. He defends Chiang Kai-shek and warns that Russia and China are "on their way" in their plan to conquer Southeast Asia.

By MAJ. GEN. CHARLES A. WILLOUGHBY, USA (Ret.)

NEW YORK (INS)—The presidential message to Congress, on the defense of Formosa, is in the important category of a modern Monroe Doctrine, applied to a specific situation.

It must be read in conjunction with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' declaration on the same subject in 1953: It confirms Gen. Douglas MacArthur's opinion, on the record, in 1950.

The President's position is entirely sound; his special background as supreme commander in Europe is an important element; his military judgment must be rated as superior; he has expert training and yast experience.

Obviously, the Formosa front has been under intensive study by all technical staffs.

The present Joint Chiefs of Staff membership is of a high professional order; Twining, Ridgway, Carney and Radford are war-tested commanders who have reached the top on sheer merit and ability; our roving emissaries in the Far East, Van Fleet and Collins, are equally competent.

Finally, we have the reasoned judgment of Gen. MacArthur:

"Formosa in the hands of an unfriendly power constitutes an enemy salient in the very center of this defense perimeter. There is on Formosa a concentration of operational air and naval bases which is potentially greater than any similar concentration on the Asiatic mainland. Our air supremacy would become doubtful.

"Formosa could be compared to an unsinkable aircraft carrier and submarine tender. Submarine blockade by the enemy would become a virtual certainty."

From an internal, political viewpoint, the President's approach is again sound; instead of an arbitrary personal decision on a quasi "police action," he has enlisted the moral participation of Congress.

Formosa and the Pescadores were seized as the direct result of American victory in the Pacific. The Chinese Communists contributed next to nothing to that war. Technically, Formosa was Japanese territory, taken by them in 1895.

Chiang Kai-shek fought the Japanese beginning with 1937, years before the European war. He has been a faithful ally ever since.

The China Reds contributed nothing to this war. They carefully husbanded their strength, intrigued with the Japanese, connived with the Russians—and waited for the kill.

We have seen Nationalist China fall; the next step, always progressive, will be Red expansion into Southeast Asia, via Indochina, Siam and Indonesia.

This area has the potential for a self-sufficient war economy. The are from Burma to Borneo contains strategic war materials of enormous significance—tin, tungsten, manganese, rubber, oil—and last but not least, rice!

The Sino-Soviet plan for the conquest of Southeast Asia differs from the Japanese only in that they operate from interior lines, as land powers, while the Japanese came in from the sea. Land powers would come in via Tibet, Indochina and Siam—and they are on the way. . .. !

Student Hitchhikes 5,000 Miles on $1.98

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Leo Torpey, 24, of Toronto, Ontario, is on his way home today after hitchhiking 5,000 miles on $1.98 and winning a $100 bet.

"I've had a wonderful time," said the University of Toronto student. "People have been awful nice to me."

Torpey made the spur-of-the-moment bet with five fellow students that he could thumb his way from Miami, Fla., to Cadillac, Mich., on $1.98 without working.

He did. He said he hitchhiked the full way getting rides in 116 cars and 3 trucks.

Which town did he like best? Ann Arbor, said Torpey. "Best place I've been," he said.

Hundreds Watch Fire on Showboat

LANSING (UP) — A briefly spectacular blaze attracted hundreds of motorists to the banks of the Grand River when Lansing's old showboat caught fire last night.

The fire in the floating showboat, built in the form of an old side-Wheeler, was discovered about 9:30 p.m. Three engines from the Lansing Township Fire Department brought the blaze under control in about an hour later.

Firemen estimated damage to the boat, owned by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, at less than $1,000. They said the fire apparently was set by youngsters or other persons who have been visiting the boat at night.

NOMINATED—Charles C. Finucane has been nominated to be undersecretary of the Army. If confirmed by the Senate, he would replace John Slezak, who resigned.

U.S. to Air Lift Food to Starving Eskimos

BATTLE CREEK (UP) — An Alaskan air lift of food and supplies to families hard hit by a poor salmon fishing season has been announced by the Federal Civil Defense Administration (FCDA).

FCDA headquarters in Battle Creek said yesterday the plea for help was made by the territorial governor and aid was authorized by President Eisenhower under the federal Disaster Relief Act.

About 1,800 families in an area bounded by Bristol Bay on the Bering Sea on the north and Kodiak on the south will be served, the FCDA said.

The foodstuff and supplies will be provided by the Department of Agriculture. They will be brought by rail and water from Seattle to Anchorage from where the 500-mile air lift will start.

Nickelodeon Repairmen Can't Even Carry a Tune

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (UP)—Two men walked into Creed's Restaurant yesterday and said they came to repair the automatic record player.

Restaurant Manager Al Zarilla told police the pair then lugged away the 300-pound instrument, valued at $1,100. The legitimate repairman arrived shortly afterward.

Grandma, 91, Celebrates Birthday With Actress

Miss Reed's birthday was yesterday but she declined to reveal her age. Her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Muellenger, is Denison's oldest citizen.

Church Marks Birthday

But Still Escape Wintry Winds

Vacationers Find Miami Mighty Cold

By ETHEL TOMBRINK

MIAMI—As the wintry winds howl down the streets in Pontiac today, don't think with envy of your Florida-vacationing friends.

It's mighty cold here too—30 degrees in the outlying areas of Greater Miami—and even colder in other parts of Florida. There's frost around, too.

Headlines of the past week jumped from the Shah of Iran and his beautiful but never-smiling Empress Soraya, who drew hordes of on-lookers wherever they went during their Miami Beach visit—to Vincent W. Van Gogh, nephew of the famous Dutch painter of the same name, and Mrs. Van Gogh.

The Van Goghs have been feted at a round of parties, the main one, a large dinner dance hosted by Beaux Arts of the Lowe Gallery in Coral Gables, Fla.

The Van Gogh collection of paintings, now on exhibit in Palm Beach, comes to the Lowe Gallery next month. This is the first time that the collection is being shown in the south.

In the midst of all this, there seems to be plenty of time for Michiganders in Florida just to rest and enjoy the tropical beauty.

Later than usual this year, Miss Harriett Ratliff arrived a week ago for her third winter in Miami.

She's in a guest house on busy, but beautiful Brickell Avenue, just a few blocks up the street from Miss Harris' Florida School where a close friend of hers teaches.

Miss Ratliff plans to spend most of her time just browsing around, resting and enjoying the sunshine—when it warms up!

She missed a call the other day from Mrs. Robert Fawcett — but hopes to see Mr. and Mrs. Fawcett soon. The Fawcetts are vacationing in Miami for a month or so.

This weekend will take Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Post, former Pontiac residents, in Miami across the state to Sarasota for a visit.

The F. D. Murrays are comfortably ensconced in their arpartment in the Alhambra Hotel apartment—just resting. They're hoping their daughter can come down to visit them later.

Farewell Party Is Given for Miss Zaffina

Christine Zaffina of Henry Clay avenue was honored at a farewell party Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Thomas C. Fitzpatrick on Mary Day avenue.

Christine and Mary Flynn of Walled Lake will leave this evening on a motor trip to San Francisco. From there they plan to fly to Honolulu, Hawaii, for an indefinite stay.

Guests at the party were Mrs. Dominic Zaffina, Mrs. Dora Scully, Mrs. Thomas Thornberry, Mrs. William Kinch, Mrs. Frank Scully, Mrs. Joseph Zaffina, Jean Guenther and Edna Scully.

Others were Mrs. Douglas Treais, Mrs. Frank B. Thornberry, Mrs. Kurt Byers, Betty Jo Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Russell A. Grover, Jane Ellen Thornberry, Mrs. Alfred Vidrio, Mrs. Paul Deschaine, Kathleen Kinch, Mrs. Claude Treais and Mrs. Palmer Kroh of Garden City.

Circulation Necessary for Feet

An old lady who had lived to be 103 years old without ever having a cold was recently asked by reporters covering her birthday celebration how she managed to avoid this common ailment. She said:

"Well, as soon as the cold weather comes, I stay indoors. I never stir outdoors from the first frost until spring comes."

Which is fine for them that can. But most of us are either rearing a family or earning a living, and we find it necessary to brave the elements come hail or high water. So we need some more practical advice.

Since a good part of the annual toll exacted by colds results from cold and wet feet, it is a wise precaution to start at the bottom, with your feet.

Foot specialists say you can keep your feet in good shape all winter long by taking a few simple precautions:

Don't overprotect them. Swaddling feet with heavy galoshes, overshoes or rubbers deprives them of air, resulting in an accumulation of moisture, which brings chafing, blisters, sometimes swelling — and, of course, damp feet make you more likely to catch cold. When protective footwear is called for, wear a leather boot, with real wool shearling inside.

Pontiac Press Photo

Tom Dunne and his sister, Kathleen, know that practice makes perfect and although they take an active part in many functions there's always time for the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra. They are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Dunne of Sweet Briar road in Westacres.

Young Musicians Are Inspiration for Pontiac Symphony Orchestra

Among the promising younger musicians in our Pontiac Symphony Orchestra are Kathleen, violinist and Tom, violincellist, of the James T. Dunne family who reside on Sweet Briar road in Westacres.

Kathleen, who is in the first violin section, is 16 and studies at the Detroit Institute of Music. Tom is 14 and is studying violincello at the Teal Music School of Detroit.

Both young people are active in athletics, enjoying skating, skiing and school sports. Tom is a member of the ninth grade basketball team of Walled Lake Junior High School.

Tom is also president of his school student council, of which Kathleen is a member. Both attended Interlochen Music Camp last summer and manage, beside school activities and symphony membership, to add much to the musical life of their community and church.

Young musicians of so much promise are an inspiration to the older, more professional members of the Pontiac Symphony, who in turn have much to offer in skill and experience to those who have been playing a shorter time.

Kathleen and Tom Dunne with the rest of the orchestra will be heard at the symphony's next concert on Feb. 9 at Lincoln Junior High School.

Eastern Junior High School Has Graduation Exercises

"We are all salesmen. . .sell yourself by knowing yourself, your ideals, your goals and aims," said Grace McLaughlin, to the graduating class at Eastern Junior High School Thursday morning.

Miss McLaughlin, of the Vocational Department of Pontiac High School, was introduced by Richard Elsholz, president of the student council.

The welcoming address was made by Juanita Dovonno to the parents and friends of the 90 graduates.

Joan Deter reviewed the achievements and activities of the past three years for the group, who had as homeroom teachers, Helen Lapisch and Mrs. Harry Hammerbeck.

Francis Staley, principal, expressed his best wishes to the group and gave a few words of advice, the formula for happiness at the high school.

The 9A ensemble, directed by Connie Klob sang "With a Song in My Heart." The Boys Glee Club led by Henry Elling, sang, "The Lord is My Shepherd."

Delores Kirk sang a solo "My Creed."

"A Farewell to Eastern," was given by June Dilldine and the program concluded with the entire audience joining in the "Loyalty Song."

Going to Beauty Salon Has Good Effect on Morale

Fortunately for those of us who discourage easily, there are some aspects of beauty care that show right away. A visit to a beauty salon has an immediate effect on morale, while a diet can be grim going for a long time before we see any difference.

Nail care is one of these happy parts of beauty. When a few minutes a day are invested in work on the fingernails, the results show up right away. Lovely hands really attract attention when the nails are well-groomed and not-so-perfect hands can be improved greatly with perfect nails.

Cuticle care is important, since this is the only living part of the nail. The cuticle is that little round of hard skin that grows up around the edge of your nail. It should be kept loosened and away from the nail to help the nail grow well.

It should be pushed back with an orangewood stick with cotton wrapped lightly around the tip. First dip it in an oily cuticle remover and then work gently around the sides. Work under the tip of the nail to get out any stains.

Then wipe away the loosened cuticle with a tissue or a towel. Be sure you get it all, for if it's left on, it can cause your polish to work loose.

If you have dry cuticles, brush a few drops of cuticle oil onto them and then massage it into the base and sides of your nail.

First, go over your nails lightly with cotton moistened in an oily polish remover. This will ready them for a perfect polish. Then apply a base coat to form a thin cover over the entire nail.

Then put on your chosen polish in two thin coats. Use a quick, light stroke down one side of the nail, a second stroke down the other side, a final one down the center.

As you finish each nail, wipe the tip with a tissue or the ball of your thumb to remove a hairline of polish. This will cut down on chipping.

Formal Rushing Ends on East Lansing Campus

By DELORES WEST

EAST LANSING — Following a whirl of parties and teas, formal winter term rushing has come to a conclusion at Michigan State College. So, the big news on the East Lansing campus this week is the announcement of new sorority pledges.

DELORES

Pledges all experienced the customary rushing consisting of four stages. During this time, rushees visited sorority houses upon invitation, made preference lists, picked up bids, and finally, accepted an invitation to pledge.

In solemn and formal ceremonies many Pontiac area coeds pledged their loyalty to Michigan State chapters of several national groups.

Among those who will be wearing pledge pins are Barbara Timmerman, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Susan Reason, Delta Gamma. Both girls are freshmen from Birmingham.

Chi Omega pledges include Sherrill Lyon of West Walton Boulevard, also Kathryn Moynahan and Judy Essig, both of Brimingham. These MSC coeds are freshmen.

Mary Goode, a freshman, and Joanne Sproule, a junior, will be affiliated with Alpha Phi. They reside in Birmingham.

Kappa Delta is being pledged by Fay Bloch and Mary Kay MacKenzie, Walled Lake freshmen; also Nancy Dickinson, freshman, who resides on Mohawk Road.

Jessie Huthwaite of West Iroquois Road and Norma Watson of Birmingham will be wearing the Gamma Phi Beta sorority pledge pin.

Nancy Aldrich of Dwight Avenue is pledging Zeta Tau Alpha. She is a freshman.

A social event on the MSC campus this week end will be the Delta Upsilon fraternity term party. Finding time to attend this affair will be Elvira Bisogni of Greer Boulevard, escorted by Charles Allen, a Lacon, Illinois, senior.

It is a formal dinner dance to be held in Hotel Olds Saturday evening.

Introduce Correct Toy to Children

At Age of 4 Months Baby Will Show Interest

In the beginning, a baby doesn't want things to play with. He enjoys feeding, bathing, being allowed to kick freely and wiggle, and he loves being picked up, rocked, sung to. As time passes, those busy hands begin reaching out for whatever is handy.

"It's a picnic to try to diaper Danny," laughed his mother. "He's grabbing for the pins or the cord on the window shade or if there's nothing else he'll go for his toes."

Now's the time to introduce a toy or two—he'll be around 4 months old. At this age he'll be awake for longer periods and probably will have at least one real play time.

Of course he plays every minute he's awake in between the eating and the cleaning up. But as time goes on there develops a time when there's nothing else to do but play. He'll spend this time examining his hands, feeling the sheet or the sides of his crib or playpen, looking at a light, a beam of sunshine or trees moving in the breeze.

A baby learns to grab before he learns how to let go. He will reach for and hang on to a toy, wave it around with glee, then suddenly the hand relaxes and he's quite surprised to discover the toy is gone. He'll like to have you put it back in his hand.

Your baby will feel, shake, look at and chew everything that comes his way. He has to find out all there is to know about it—chewing it and tasting it are important to him.

When he is getting teeth he has a special urge to chew to help push the teeth through the gums. The plastic toys filled with water that you freeze in your refrigerator are especially good at this time because the cold soothes inflamed gums.

By the time a baby is 6 to 7 months old he discovers he can throw.

About now he'll enjoy playing ball. He'll sit on the floor and push a big ball away from him and love to have you push it back so he can do it again.

During the first year a baby doesn't need many bought toys, but you'll probably want to get him some. Get plastic rattles, rings, big beads on a string, a small stuffed animal or two, or tails to wiggle are more fun than snug ones.

He'll like a soft rubber toy that squeaks. A large soft ball and something that dumps into something else are good toward the end of the first year.

Watch out that every toy is safe. Be sure it is too big to choke on and has no loose parts that can come off, like whistles in rubber toys, buttons on stuffed animals, stones in rattles. See that that there are no sharp edges or points and no paint that could poison him.

Use Bath Caddy

How about a bath caddy? It's a plastic bag that will hang from your shower rod and hold brushes, sponges, dusting powder and other supplies right at hand. It's transparent, too.

They Ski, Even Swim at Northern Michigan Resort

Just Loads of Fun

Skiers Say Sport Not So Dangerous

By DONNA ANDERSON

BOYNE FALLS — And so does just about everyone who signs up for a ski week. Hazards of this sporty package vacation, however, are not confined to falling out of the chair lift and twisting knees and ankles.

First day of a ski week at Boyne Mountain Lodge should be enough to convince the smug critics that while ski weeks are, admittedly, fashion shows, the card playing and advice giving are confined to evenings.

The skier is well qualifed, by then, to sit down (if he can) and give some advice, for classes are held everyday for two hours.

It may be a little discouraging to watch a four year old perform a perfect stem christi right in front of you while you're trying to find which way your right arm went, but no one is too proud to try, regardless of abundance of years and lack of experience.

It's a great place to relax tired muscles pulled from their cozy habitations by the tow rope. The pool becomes popular only after lessons are over and skiing comes to an end for the day.

World champion, Stein Ericksen heads the instructor corps. First morning he comes out and says, "Good morning ski-weekers." Next morning he says, "Good morning weak skiers," but no one gives up.

A Pontiac booster of the sport this past week has been Charles Gadd of Indian Trail. He arrived with his fiddle, hoping to stir up interest in square dancing.

Mrs. Bengt A. Pulls of Miami road and Mrs. E. A. Reitmeyer of Liberty street are also at Boyne Mountain.

Here for two weeks of "putting the weight on the downhill ski" are Jean Hardy of Rochester and the Norman Johnsons of West Huron street.

Bob Roensch and the D. M. Goldsmiths of Birmingham celebrated the end of exams at University of Michigan by coming to Boyne Mountain. Charlotte Malpeli is also here from Birmingham.

Members Participate in Special Topics

Members of the Child Culture Club were guests of Mrs. Maurice J. O'Connell of James street Thursday evening. Members answered the roll call question, "Should we take time for the arts in rearing our children?"

Members participating in the discussion of the topic, "Enriched By the Beautiful," were Mrs. Ralph Harrison who spoke on music; Mrs. Raymond Jacobson speaking on nature and Mrs. Floyd Crump talking on religion.

Mrs. Harrison said that practically every tribe has its music and every nation has produced music of some kind. The Greeks used music to make their poetry more effective.

The Hebrews first introduced sacred music and Italy's chief contribution has been in the field of opera. North America has no musical history except as we know it today.

Mrs. Jacobson discussed nature and "The Marvel of an Insect." Nearly 750,000 kinds of insects have been classified. Approximately 4,000 new varieties are discovered every year.

Mrs. Crump stated that religion implanted in a child will usually last through a lifetime. Church training begins young and parents should go to church with their children. A family that prays together stays together, she said.

Mrs. James MacDonald and Mrs. Max Ascelipiade were guests. Mrs. William Brannick was voted into the group as a new member. Refreshments were served at the close of the discussion.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Floyd Crump of Cherryland avenue. Secret pals will be revealed at the meeting.

Sorority Arranges for Annual Dance

The semi-formal event will take place Feb. 5 at Old Mill Tavern, with Mrs. George Pudduck serving as general chairman.

Banquet Planned by Guild Eight

Mrs. Walter Whisnant gave devotions when Guild Eight of All Saints Episcopal Church met Wednesday afternoon at the Kinney road home of Mrs. Christopher Gibbons. Mrs. Russell Cowan was a guest of the guild.

Plans were made for a father and son banquet to be held during February at Stevens Hall.

New Gadgets Do Break Bottleneck in Bathroom

New fixtures, gadgets and plans are aimed to help break the bottleneck in the family bathroom.

The early morning race to brush teeth, wash or shave faces, shower and speed away to school or work on time amid clamoring shouts that "I got here first" must be as familiar to other homemakers as it is to me.

It's scarcely a surprise to us to read that housing surveys indicate two bathrooms or a bath-and-a-half are among the most wanted features in a new home.

With new small-scaled fixtures it may be possible to shoehorn a powder room into an existing home. One manufacturer can pack all the bathroom facilities into a 5 by 5 foot space.

The wash basin is smaller than most and the shower fits snugly into an available corner.

This company also has available a sketch book of plans for remodeling old bathrooms to provide more convenient storage space and comfort.

Nationality Keeps Pair Apart

School Friendship May Be Solution to Problem

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I like him very much and he has asked me to go with him but my folks won't let me because of his nationality.

"I won't sneak out to meet him, but I do want to go with him. He is very nice and very popular in school and I think the world of him. Please help me as I need your help badly."

Of course, your family sees the boy through their own eyes and not as he is judged around school. They consider his family background as being in conflict with yours.

They hesitate to let you subject yourself to his influence. They fear the difference between you and refuse to appreciate the fact that those very differences might make you appealing to each other.

And until they know the boy, meet his family, see his home and hear lots of very nice things said about him, they're going to go right on refusing you permission to date him.

But even knowing his whole picture might not change their minds and you're stuck with their own decision. So why not divide your life in your own mind right now into school and out-of-school time?

See him around school, enjoy his friendship and companionship in what snatches are possible, but rule him out of your "dating time." Give him the excuse that you aren't dating anyone at the present moment. If he gets persistent you're sorry but you're going to be busy.

He may take the cue after frequent turn-downs and stop asking for dates. In which case the problem of "going with" him will evaporate and you'll be left with a school friendship which you can handle.

"Dear Miss Woodward: When I first met him a couple of months ago he asked me for a date, but I said no because he has a brother who ran the family name down and I'm afraid my parents won't like my going with him very well.

"He really is nice and he has lots of friends—everybody thinks he's nice. He keeps wanting to take me home from school and he has told all his friends that I like him too. How can I make my parents think he's nice so they'll let me go with him?"

Give the boy a chance to make his own impression on your family by producing him very casually at home. Let him take you home from school one day and introduce him to your mother.

Suggest that he drop in (without warning) some evening, so you can present him to your father. Both encounters will help you to know him better and see if you really do like him.

Your parents will have their own opportunity to judge for themselves without you're making a big issue of it. If they turn hands down, at least they'll have reasons. They won't be prejudging him—sight unseen.

Bride Includes Peelings in Hubby's Banana Pie

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — A local man, who prefers to remain anonymous to preserve his marriage, claims this story about his wife is true.

Just after their wedding, he told his bride he loved banana cream pie. Wishing to please her new husband, the bride whipped up a pie and served it for supper.

Hubby bit into it, then hesitated. He took another bite, then streaked for the back door. She'd put the bananas into the pie without peeling them.

Anniversary Celebration in Question

Four Generation Receiving Line Is Recommended

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me as follows: "My parents will soon celebrate their golden wedding anniversary and a large afternoon reception is to be given in their honor. Our main problem in connection with this reception is the receiving line.

Since none of the persons who attended mother and dad at their wedding are alive, my parents suggested that their seven children receive with them. Would this be proper?

If not, would a receiving line consisting of four generations be proper; that is, my parents, their oldest child, their oldest grandchild and the oldest great grandchild?"

A receiving line of nine persons would be very awkward. Furthermore, I think the children of the anniversary couple should be free to look after the guests. The idea of the four generations receiving sounds very attractive to me.

Dear Mrs. Post: I expect to give a large tea next week. In addition to tea, coffee will be served for those who prefer it. I would like to know if it would be proper to use my small after-dinner coffee cups at a party of this kine, or must regular size coffee cups be used.

Small after-dinner coffee cups for use after luncheon or dinner. Coffee served at any other time should be in regular size coffee cups.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have recently married for the second time. I have quite a few out-of-town friends who do not know of my remarriage. When writing to them would it be permissable to use my deceased husband's name with my present one? It has been years since I used my maiden name and many of them probably have forgotten it, but all know my first marriage name.

You sign your present name and underneath in parenthesis write your former married name.

Long Ambition Is Realized With Bridal Shop Opening

Mrs. William (Patricia) McRath, opened the door to a life-time ambition this morning when she unlocked the front door of the Alicia Bridal Salon at 55 W. Huron St.

"All of my life, through the many years I have worked in Pontiac stores, I have wanted a shop of my own which was designed to cater exclusively to the bride," said Mrs. McRath who for 15 years has had retail experience in this city.

Preparing the shop for business was a joint family enterprise with Mr. and Mrs. McRath.

Pink-beige carpeting covers the floor and the walls are done in a muted tone of turquoise up to window height. The remainder of the wall and ceiling is done in soft white.

A dais forms the separating partition between the customer reception room with a bride mannequin placed on this carpeted unit. Backdrop for this focal point of interest is a shirred curtain of pink and gold striped silk and nylon.

A pair of large fitting rooms have gray, gold and white printed paper walls and the store section in the rear of the dais is equipped for gown storage. Remodeling and alteration will be done in this section, too.

Mrs. McRath has obtained her gowns from Bridal Original of St. Louis and Vogue Bridal of New York.

She says she will buy for the young bride with a small wedding budget as well as for the more expensive nuptial occasion.

In the fall she expects to add custom gown making to her business, and at present is now equipped to make the flower and junior bridesmaids dresses to match the other wedding party gowns.

It's all right to talk about your children, if in return you'll listen attentively when the person who has listened to you talks about his children.

Trouble with so many parents is that they want to brag about Junior but start looking bored as soon as someone else starts bragging about his offspring.

Daughter's Bad Manners Show Emotional Honesty

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

You are at a family gathering. Among the guests is a small nephew from out of town whom nobody knows very well.

The cowboy gun holster he wears becomes the subject of much admiring comment by assorted aunts and uncles. Delighted, the small nephew's mother urges him to attract more of it by putting on the rest of his cowboy outfit.

But the dramatic effect of his return is marred by a sudden display of bad manners by your seven-year-old daughter. She resents the dark meat in her turkey sandwich. No, she doesn't want to politely ask Grandma for some white meat. She doesn't want to be a good girl and eat what she has.

As she jerks angrily away from your soothing arm, it is clear that what Kathy wants is to make you uncomfortable by exposing herself as a problem child to your relatives.

One of them offers you a diagnosis of her behavior. She says: "Kathy's jealous of all the attention little Jimmy's been getting. You are being a bad girl to make everyone notice you too, aren't you, Kathy?"

Do you accept this stupid charge? There is no truth in it.

No child takes delight in angry attention attracted by his bad behavior. It is resentment of the child which suggests that he does.

Your daughter's bad manners represent emotional honesty. At the age of seven, she has not discovered the adult trick of disguising ill-will. Her intuition has told her that the exaggerated admiration lavished on her cousin contains reproach toward her.

She knows, if you don't, that flattery of him as a supremely interesting child has been used to criticize her as an uninteresting one. And she has responded to this disguised ill-will with honest rebellion.

May I suggest that it is only natural for the adults who have indulged themselves in this cowardly criticism to accuse Kathy of enjoying it?

Let us then on these occasions silently reject the accusation. And with quiet awareness of what has actually been going on, remove Kathy and ourselves from this critical atmosphere. In another room let's sit down with her and invite her to join us in crayoning pictures in the coloring book she's brought.

She will sense at once whether or not we are aware of what she's been up against. If we are, she will grow quiet.

She will feel the support we are giving her and soon be able to reenter the critical atmosphere, strengthened to resist it more confidently.

Present Wins Over Past

People Not Afraid to Face Challenge

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

A clipping sent by a reader started it. The clipping told what an 18-year-old boy, Johnny B. Antillon, from the Philippines, said about his joy at living in this turbulent challenging century.

Around the living room fire we began at once to ask "If you could choose, what period of history would you have liked to be born into?"

Men at first leaned toward the swashbuckling eras. One thought it might have been fun in the time of the Crusades, particularly when Richard the Lion-Hearted and his men were riding off in full armor.

Another plugged for vivid Elizabethan days. A very young man, still under the influence of television films sighed for the frontier adventures of our own country's youth.

But as we talked, we became more conservative and more modern, too.

"On second thought," said the man who had spoken up for feudal days, "it probably was pretty dreary lugging all that armor around, even with a red nose or a lady's glove to keep up your courage. Besides, the plague got most of those heroes if battle didn't and even if they survived, they were old at 40."

The admirer of the first Elizabethan age and the pseudo pioneer also decided that while those periods might seem fascinating and free-wheeling in retrospect, life must surely have been painful, too. There was considerable debate about the years from 1870 to 1914 here in America when there were no important wars to upset us, life was leisurely, manners were gentle and there seemed no grave threats or problems.

"I think," said a woman who had been silent up to then, "that for a woman it is infinitely better not to have been born until 1900 or later—when we got the vote. I'd rather be living now than any other time in spite of all the things we worry about.

"We have the highest standard of living in the history of the world; the lowest death rate. People last twice as long, they don't have to work so hard. They have central heating, electricity, all sorts of work-saving machines. They can read, own savings accounts and talk back to anybody. They have courts and the secret ballot to protect them . . ."

Johnny Antillon, quoted in the Reader's Digest, said it even better:

"I like living in this century—so full of strivings and plans that I feel part of a wonderful and exciting experiment . . . with dreams for me to dream and problems for me to solve.

If I had lived before the A- and H-bombs, I might be less optimistic of the future. But today I have great hope that we shall enjoy peace, for I feel deeply that no nation will start a war which none can possibly survive. I believe that this world we have deserves a vote of confidence. With its dirt and cleanness, its ups and downs and its total unexpectedness, it has given, through variety, more pleasure than pain. Whatever else it may be, this particular century is still, the most exciting, the most promising."

Plan for a Dining Room, You May Have One Yet

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

The home that has no dining room at all now still can be well equipped with major pieces of dining room furniture.

A tall cabinet like this one has the height and dignity that does wonders for the good looks of a living room, and it's a prize for storage with its many drawers and doors.

The drop-leaf table can smooth along a wall as a console, or fit the back of a sofa. Arm chairs can be pulled-up chairs with an upholstered grouping, arm or armless chairs can be used at a desk and in the bedroom.

Then, when a move to a new home makes a dining room a reality, the same furniture settles down to full-time dining room duty just as if it had never done anything else. Of course, handsome design is important to this two-step success. Details of this grouping in butternut designed by Salvatore Bevelacqua are good examples, particularly the hand-carved cabinet fronts and the wide cane panelled chair backs.

Mrs. Jones Bakes Tasty Casserole for Meatless Days

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Good meatless dishes are always welcome. With Lent looming in the near future, you may want to start a collection of new ideas for fast days. Add this recipe from Mrs. Garred P. Jones of Commerce.

Mrs. Jones is the mother of a brand new daughter. That makes it more difficult for her to participate in the winter sports she so enjoys. She does find time for singing in the church choir and a Home Extension group.

TUNA SCALLOP
By Mrs. Garred P. Jones

6 medium potatoes, sliced
1 can (7-ounce) tuna fish
¼ cup chopped pimiento
¼ cup chopped onion
½ cup grated American cheese
½ cup canned mushrooms
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup milk
½ cup bread crumbs
Salt and pepper

Place first six ingredients in greased casserole in layers, alternating potatoes and tuna with other ingredients. Season each layer. Dot with butter or margarine. Blend flour and milk. Pour over top and cover with crumbs. Bake in a 350-degree oven about 1 hour, or until potatoes are tender. Makes about 6 servings.

Sensitive Alarm System Detects Thief's Breath

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP)—A massive electrical alarm system is so sensitive that it can detect a burglar's breath, according to the American District Telegraph Co.

Manned by 20 trained operators and armed guards, the new "brain" tells exactly if a burglary, robbery, fire or mechanical defect is the cause of the alarm. ADT officials say the system will immediately transmit messages of infant fires or jimmied windows.

One of the latest developments in the system, which occupies an entire floor of a local building, is a device sensitive of motion. The company says a burglar who takes as much as a deep breath will be detected.

Sam, Brothers Willed $196,000

Convicted Wife-Killer Among Three Heirs to Parents' Estates

CLEVELAND (INS)—Convicted wife-killer Dr. Sam Sheppard and his two osteopath brothers were left $196,000 by their parents in wills filed today in Cleveland.

Mrs. Ethel Sheppard, who committed suicide Jan. 7 in despondency over her son's conviction and her husband's illness, left $96,000 in real estate and personal property.

Also filed with the wills in Cuyahoga County Probate Court was a statement by Dr. Sam, convicted of second-degree murder for the slaying of his wife, Marilyn, in which he gave up his co-executor duties to his brothers.

Wants High Court Ruling on License Plate Offices

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh said yesterday he would appeal to the state Supreme Court from lower court refusals to dismiss challenges to the secretary of state's right to place license fee offices in automobile salesrooms.

Circuit Courts in Wexford and Mason Counties have denied motions by Kavanagh to dismiss petitions filed by Automobile Dealers Assns. to prevent Secretary of State James M. Hare from naming dealers William de Clerick of Cadillac and Jenning Runquist of Ludington as branch managers.

The courts also refused to order temporary injunctions against Hare.

Kavanaugh said he was referring the matter to the state Supreme Court to obtain a final determination on the matter.

Hal Boyle Says:

Sexes Draw Battle Line on Why Men Grow Stout

The U.S. Public Health Service has found the body shapes of Mr. and Mrs. America have undergone a significant change since 1912. Men of the same height are five pounds heavier, women five pounds lighter, than a generation ago.

There are now roughly twice as many fat men as there are fat women.

Why? Science may attribute this change to anything from hormones to heredity. But a poll I made of a number of husbands and wives themselves showed them in sharp disagreement.

"Intelligent people worrry," said one, "and they often show this worry by eating too much. The reason fewer women get fat is that every year they are becoming less intelligent, and no longer have enough brains to worry. Anyway, life has become so easy for the average woman she doesn't have anything left to worry about except her weight."

"How silly can one human being get? The reason husbands are fat is the same as why most babies are fat. When they start complaining, the easiest way for a woman to get peace in the house is to stuff some food in them to keep them quiet."

"I give my husband two sensible, well-balanced meals a day. But what can you do when he insists on having a three-hour, three-martini, three-course luncheon every afternoon with his pals?

"They'll never take the fat off most American men until they make them start conducting their business in their offices instead of restaurants."

All those polled thought that exercise was probably a factor in the problem. But the agreement ended right there.

Some husbands thought their wives kept thin because they got too much exercise gadding about on shopping sprees and going from gin rummy parties to club meetings.

Said one: "A lot of wives get too much pleasure telling a man what's wrong with him at breakfast and dinnertime, they don't like to interrupt themselves by taking time out even to put food in their mouths. Any normal woman would rather talk than eat."

"Men now have become too lazy to do anything except breathe and drive an automobile. Women have to do everything else for them.

"Who put the new wallpaper up in my house? Me! Who fixes the vacuum-cleaner? Me! When we are watching television and my husband wants a can of beer from the refrigerator, who runs and gets it? Me! I even have to lend him a hand to help him out of the bed in the morning."

One middle-aged husband had the oddest explanation for the weight differences between the sexes.

"It's all because women wear girdles and men don't," he said flatly. "If every day a husband had to struggle in and out of a girdle two sizes too small for him, he'd get so much exercise he could eat a roasted ox for luncheon and never gain a pound. It's exercising her vanity that keeps a woman in shape."

Rome Still Growing

ROME (AP)—The latest census estimate places Rome's population at 1,790,638, an increase of 782,555 over the 1931 figure and about 500,000 more than in the days when the Caesars ruled half the world. Rome is now the eighth largest city in Europe and 26th in the world.

Beaten Child, 5, Visited by Dad

Father Doesn't Want Sister Prosecuted; Boy Near Death

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — George Stanley, whose 29-year-old sister admits the brutal beating of his 5-year-old son, told officers last night he didn't want her prosecuted, preferring to "leave her fate up to the Lord."

The 32 - year - old unemployed father from Houston, Tex., made the statement after visiting the youngster's bedside. Physicians said the child, Lloyd George, was so badly beaten that they have doubts he will recover.

* * *

Mrs. Virginia Frances Thompson and her husband Lawrence, 32, were jailed in Pauls Valley Tuesday night. They were arrested at their farm homes by officers who were tipped that the 5-year-old youngster was in serious condition.

They found his brother James Edward, 3, also had suffered mistreatment.

Mrs. Thompson said the youngsters annoyed her husband and and were "always moaning and groaning."

* * *

She said the 5-year-old child is "possessed of the Devil" and that she and her husband prayed for him, but the child "wouldn't help God."

County Raymond Burger said he intended to prosecute Mrs. Thompson.

Takes Daily Lake Dip

CHICAGO (AP)—The air temperature was around zero and the water was about 34 degrees, but William Wohl, 46, an Aurora, Ill., railroad brakeman, took a swim in Lake Michigan anyway. He takes a dip every day because, he says, it keeps him healthy.

HOME AND OFFICE TOO—You can be at home and at the office at the same time if you live in the revolutionary type building shown in the architect's sketch above. The "X"-shaped structure will be built in downtown Chicago, within five minutes of the Loop. Besides its form, its unique feature is the 48 tenancy units, each of them duplex, with an office on the upper floor and apartment on the lower. Office and home will be connected by private, interior staircase. The main floor will contain all the stores and tenant services usually found in office buildings. The second floor will be a 15,000-square-foot garage. The $2,000,000 building was designed by Bertrand Goldberg for the realty firm of Arthur Rubloff & Co.

AFL Builders Seek Contracts

Unions Map Campaign to Get Share of Nation's Road Building Money

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Heads of all AFL construction unions mapped a campaign today to obtain as much work as possible for their union members under the proposed 100-billion-dollar highway building program.

The ambitious 10 - year superhighway construction plan has been recommended to President Eisenhower by a civilian study commission headed by retired Gen. Lucius Clay. The President is expected to send the proposal to Congress soon.

Leaders of the AFL Building and Construction Trades Department, composed of a score of unions claiming more than two million members, are framing strategy during winter meetings here to assure as complete unionizing of the road projects as possible.

The plan, if authorized by Congress and implemented by state matching funds, will probably be the biggest single construction program in the nation for years to come.

The Executive Board of the 1,300,000-member AFL Teamsters Union, meeting meanwhile in a separate session at nearby Miami Beach hotel, planned to decide on ouster charges brought against Union President Dave Beck by Martin O. Crouse, former recording secretary of a Yakima, Wash., teamsters local.

* * *

Crouse, here yesterday to plead his charges in person to the executive Board, left to return to the West Coast without waiting for the board's decision. He charged Beck had violated Teamster Union constitutional bans by lending more than a million dollars in union funds to the Fruehauf Trailer Co.

Beck, claiming the loan was within the constitution, appeared unworried that the board would uphold Crowse.

WHY Du Pont WILL BUILD IN OUTSTATE MICHIGAN

Plans for construction of a neoprene (chemical rubber) plant in the new Lake Michigan chemical center at Montague, Michigan, have been announced by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., world's largest chemical concern.

The new Du Pont plant will be close to the Hooker Electrochemical Company plant that began production recently.

Hooker will supply anhydrous hydrogen chloride to Du Pont for its neoprene process. Union Carbide and Carbon will build a new plant in the same area to manufacture acetylene for Du Pont.

Why did Du Pont choose this Outstate Michigan location?

"The plant area is over a huge deposit of salt from which the chlorine will be made (by Hooker)," said a Du Pont announcement.

"The existence of the deposits, the availability of labor, the ample supply of power and good water and proximity to markets are all major factors which led to selection of the Montague site."

Outstate Michigan has plenty of good sites for chemical plants as well as any other plants. Many, like the Du Pont site, offer the benefits of Great Lakes transportation.

Important as Cars to Michigan

Gambling Is Big Business, Asset to Las Vegas, State

(This is another article in a series by Bob Considine telling the story of Las Vegas, America's "mecca" of legalized gambling.)

By BOB CONSIDINE

LAS VEGAS (INS) — Nevada treats gambling like any other state treats its biggest indigenous industry.

It has surrounded wagering with imposing rules and regulations. It is as dependent upon games of chance as, say, Michigan is on auto plants.

Many allusions have been made to tie-ins between big gambling operators and politicians at Carson City and elsewhere in the state. Actually, there is little need for the gambling fraternity to spend much money attempting to elect "safe" officials.

An anti-gambling politician would stand no more chance of being elected in Nevada than a politician in Michigan could be elected on a "close down General Motors, Ford and Chrysler" slate.

Gambling in Nevada is as legitimate as church-going, but attracts many more people.

The aspiration of Nevada officials on most levels is to keep the thing clean and without warfare, to police it as well as a limited budget permits, and to discourage the arrival on the scene of hoodlums.

Gov. Charles H. Russell (R) has asked the legislature for a Nevada crime committee, to be set up with private funds.

Russell, an underdog who won in November after a name-calling campaign in which his opponent was accused of accepting campaign funds from gambling interests, also has asked for personal authority to revoke gambling licenses.

Under present law an operator suspected of violating the codes is first presented with a "show cause" order. Usually, weeks and months drag on while an inquiry is made. And the profits continue to pour into the suspected place.

Gov. Russell wants the right to clamp down in a hurry, an authority which successive Nevada legislatures have withheld from their governors.

Gambling in Neveda is controlled by the state tax commission, a seven-man group named and headed by the governor. The commissioners are chosen from loftier professions, serve without pay, and currently appear to be held in a combination of respect and awe by most operators.

One can only guess how much money is brought into the state treasury indirectly from gambling. Until a year or two ago nearly three quarters of all visitors to Las Vegas, for example, were from Southern California.

Over the past New Year's weekend, Abe Schiller of the Flamingo showed the writer registrations from nearly 30 states.

The population of Las Vegas has jumped from 3,000 in 1937 to about 50,000.

Real estate has sky-rocketed in value to such a degree that old-time "down-town" gamblers such as Tutor Scherer, 'Farmer" Page ex-Los Angeles Detective Guy McAfee, and others are as interested in this phase of the Las Vegas story as in harvesting the crops of nickels, dimes, quarters, halves and folding money.

Gambling has brought thousands of workers to Nevada, notably to Las Vegas, to man the big establishments. More and more build homes, take root, and contribute to the state through property taxes and other ways. There is no state income tax.

Some of gambling's earliest promoters here were shocking criminals, lucky not to have been put to death elsewhere as incorrigible enemies of society.

A handful remain, but the trend has long been toward respectability.

The older thugs are in happy retirement.

With the state asking only two per cent for the privilege of operating their plushy mints, most figure they'd be fools to do what they would have been tempted to do in their lawless younger days: Grab it all.

The elders lean more and more on young men. These are clear-eyed striplings of no crimi l background, mostly college trained, and willing to put in "e long hours demanded by an industry whose doors never close.

The prototype of this second generation of important figures in Las Vegas gambling, hotel and entertainment picture is Allard Roen of the Desert Inn—which was begun by Wilbur Clark and completed by a Cleveland bootlegging and gambling combination, which retains control.

Roen, whom I've known from frequent trips to Las Vegas, writes in response to certain queries:

"Our earnings are made on a relatively small percentage and operate no more dramatically than the stock market fluctuations.

"Owners and operators of Las Vegas and Reno establishments are now busy training a new group of younger people to handle this occupation. I am of this group. I was graduated fgrom Duke University in 1942, majoring in business administration. I entered the Navy in 1943 and served 27 months in the Pacific and participated in several engagements.

"I studied hotel management. My work entails booking and supervising the production of our stage shows, setting up credit systems for casino as well as hotel operations, and a host of other duties which include scheduling and handling the activities of our annual golf tournament of champions, from whose proceeds we donate each year $35,000 to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

"There is no onus attached to gambling in Las Vegas. The community has a good moral tone, a low crime rate, a population of almost 50,000 who attend 35 churches of all denominations. There is a good school system. Residents, in general, are proud of Las Vegas.

"The present prosperity is due to gambling. Most Americans know this is a legal business in Nevada, controlled by officials appointed by the governor.

"Gambling here is directed by men who have been engaged in this occupation for many years. Western states were a natural for gambling, what with mining camps, prospectors, and quick fortunes in gold and silver mines. Nevada comes honestly by this principal occupation. It was a pioneer business, once illegal but now respectable and very important to the state's economy.

"You ask me to outline my philosophy about choosing this career. I feel that many of the biggest fortunes in our country were originated by men who ignored the laws of the time to take advantage of the natural needs of supply and demand.

"These included fur trappers, land poachers, cattle rustlers, early railroad barons, and bootleggers among others. But time, and a new life within the law, and the raising of families placed their descendants among the blue bloods of the nation's society.

"In the old days of floating crap games and high stakes contests an operator might make a quick killing and move his action to another locale.

"Our set-up is different. We are now and hope to remain a permanent fixture in Las Vegas, performing in a perfectly legitimate manner. To the very best of my knowledge the operators are civic minded and charitable and have been exemplary members of the community.

"I do hope this gives you another view of our town."

Offer Gas Tax as Road Bond Substitute

2-Cent Increase Is Proposed

House Republicans Ask Voters Have Chance to Approve Plan

LANSING (AP) — House Republicans today offered a 2-cent gas tax increase as a counter-proposal to Gov. Williams plan for a 500 million dollar highway bond issue.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Emil A. Peltz (R-Rogers City), would increase the gas tax from 4½ to 6½ cents a gallon. It would not go into effect unless approved by the voters.

At the same time, Peltz filed a bill to allow cities, townships, villages and counties to issue highway construction revenue bonds backed by gas tax diversion money.

Gov. Williams has asked the Legislature to authorize an April vote on a $500 million highway construction bond issue. He says the bonds can be retired without an immediate increase in taxes.

Rep. George M. Van Peursem (R-Zeeland) filed legislation to permit county allocation boards to use state equalized valuations of the previous year in fixing assessments.

Under the present setup, Van Peursem said, allocation boards do not receive the state equalization figure in time for the current year's assessment.

Other bills would:

Authorize a referendum among state employes on whether they want to come under social security coverage.

Require governmental units with more than 50 voting machines to supply a sample voting machine to any political party requesting it.

Create a legislative committee to follow up recommendations of the "Little Hoover Commission."

Permit liquor by the glass licenses to continue in new villages or cities until the first election after a charter election, at which time the voters would decide on liquor sale policies.

Authorize the state to join an interstate compact to develop and protect water resources in the Great Lakes basin.

2 British Carriers Join Maneuvers of 6th Fleet

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Two British aircraft carriers, the Centaur and Albion, joined the U.S. 6th Fleet today for joint maneuvers in the western Mediterranean.

The six-day maneuvers will include antiaircraft firing practice, flight operations, communications and resupplying at sea.

Forces participating in the operation include the U.S. aircraft carriers Randolph and Lake Champlain and the 45,000-ton battleship Iowa, recently transferred from the Atlantic Fleet.

GOP Legislative Leaders Less Opposed to Williams' Corporation Tax This Year

LANSING (AP) — Republican legislative leaders today were more restrained than usual in their traditional opposition to Gov. Williams' oft-repeated demand for a corporation profits tax.

No Republican stepped right out and endorsed the governor's request, but a number said they thought the legislative climate was more favorable for passage this year than ever before.

Williams, seeking to wipe out a $46 million deficit in the budget he recommended for next year, has proposed a five per cent corporation profits tax to bring in $110 million.

As an offset against this Williams would repeal the 30-year-old corporation franchise tax and exempt corporations from the present business receipts tax.

The net result would be $44 million more in revenue, the governor said.

One senate leader, Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) said he thought the Legislature was "more receptive" to the profits tax this year than ever before, but he added "I am interested that the governor believes corporations should not pay a tax unless they make a profit, while small businesses and individuals should pay whether they make a profit or not."

This was a reference to the fact that the business receipts tax is based on business volume, not on profits.

Reps. Allison Green (R-Kingston), the Republican House floor leader, and Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), the House Tax Committee chairman, said the corporation profits tax would slump in times of depression and that they believed the present franchise and receipts taxes to be more stable.

Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), the Senate taxation chairman, said the governor's profits tax was not a profits tax but a corporate income tax. Historically, he said, a corporation income tax in other states has almost always led to a personal income tax.

Sen. Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek), the Senate majority leader, called Williams' program "deceitful."

The Williams' tax, Coleman said, "is not a profits tax, because profits are what you have left over to spend and taxes are a part of business costs."

$107,678 Given for Suggestions

Pontiac Motor Division employes came up with a record 7,227 bright ideas the company could use in 1954, earning themselves $107,678.

Quality of the suggestions was up, too. William Malinowski, chairman of the suggestion award committee, reported that one out of every four efficiency ideas submitted was adopted — setting another new record.

Three top awards of $2,500 were presented and awards totaling $1,000 or more went to 13 other employes. Thirteen more had suggestions worth $500 to $1,000.

Two of the top winners were Arthur O'Hara, of 635 Cedar St., Oxbow Lake, and Glen Knapp, of 136 Mt. Clemens St.

Eldon F. Olsabeck, of 4830 Hardin Dr., Waterford Township, and Gerald E. Whitacker, of 30 Lake Dr., Waterford Township, split the third $2,500 award.

Malinowski said the division stood second among General Motors' auto divisions in the suggestion program for the first nine months of last year.

Admits Beating Infant Nephew

Boy, 12, Blames Fatal Whipping on Refusal to Eat Soup

DETROIT (UP)—Police said today a 12-year-old Knoxville, Tenn., youth has admitted fatally beating his 18-month-old nephew because the infant "refused to eat soup."

Homicide Detective Charles Schlachter said Larry Silvers admitted beating his nephew, Roderick Silvers, last night when the child refused to mind.

The youth's sister, Mrs. Mary Silvers, told police she returned home from her job at a grocery store to find her son lying bruised on the kitchen floor.

She said she took the child to Receiving Hospital after he lapsed into a coma. Doctors there pronounced the infant dead on admittance.

Mrs. Silvers told police her brother had been visiting with her since Christmas and had been caring for the infant while she worked.

Bank Resources Hit $3.8 Billion

LANSING (AP)—Resources of Michigan's state banks and trust companies climbed to $3.8 billion during 1954, State Banking Commissioner Maurice C. Eveland said today.

Checking accounts rose $73 million during the year and savings deposits increased by more than $78 million, he said.

Eveland also reported these facts about Michigan banks during 1954:

State banks increased their capital stock fund by $6 million and added more than $16 million to their surplus and reserve accounts.

Farm Woman Receives TOPS Award for Losing 123 Pounds in One Year

CHICAGO (AP) — A farm woman who shed 123 pounds of excess fat in one year by dieting was crowned champion weight loser today by TOPS, a national women's reducing organization.

Mrs. Esther Conradt, 60, of Appleton, Wis., cut her weight from 315 pounds to 192. Her dress size narrowed from 56 to 42.

* * *

She said she got her biggest thrill when her 5-year-old granddaughter climbed into her lap recently and said:

TOPS stands for Taking Off Pounds Scientifically. Mrs. Conradt received the award at the organization's third annual meeting at headquarters of the American Medical Assn.

* * *

The group, started six years ago by Mrs. Esther Manz, Milwaukee, has helped some 10,000 women lose unnecessary fat. Members lose weight merely by restricting the number of calories in their diet. The weight is lost under a doctor's supervision.

Mrs Conradt said she suffered from high blood pressure, diabetes, arthritis and severe backache before dieting, and added:

"Now that I have taken off this weight I feel wonderful, have no arthritis or high blood pressure and no more backache. My health is better than it has been in 15 years. My doctor and my friends tell me I look 20 years younger, and I certainly feel it."

Driving Permit Is Restored

Doctor Gets License Pending His Appeal of Traffic Conviction

A writ of mandamus has been issued by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty directing Birmingham Municipal Court to return the driver's license of Dr. Everette M. Steffes, of Berkley.

The license was revoked by Birmingham Judge John J. Gafill Jan. 21 when Dr. Steffes was convicted of a driving violation. He immediately appealed to Circuit Court.

The doctor sued to have his permit returned, claiming he is allowed under law to keep it pending the outcome of the appeal.

Dr. Steffes' attorney cited part of a Michigan law which states "Whenever an appeal is taken from the justice court, the appeal . . . sets aside the proceedings in the justice court and the case stands for trial in the circuit court . . ."

Judge Doty ruled the license should be returned pending outcome of the appeal on the illegal driving conviction. No date has been set for the appeal hearings.

Air Force Reinforces Korea, Okinawa

TOKYO (AP)—The U.S. Air Force has reinforced South Korea and Okinawa with three air squadrons from Japan, it was learned today.

One squadron of F86 Sabrejets and another of B26 light bombers flew to South Korean bases. A squadron of F84 Thunderjet fighter-bombers flew to Okinawa.

The Air Force called these movements rotational in character, but there was no doubt they were part of a rapid air redeployment in the Far East as a result of the Formosa crisis.

There is no armistice violation in sending the planes to Korea since they were part of forces withdrawn since the armistice and can be legally flown back.

Strip-Teaser Bares Plans to Visit Campus

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—A showdown was in prospect today over a student's invitation for a burlesque queen to visit the University of Colorado campus.

Dr. Ward Darley, the school president, says he wishes she'd visit some other campus.

* * *

Bob Latham, photographer for a campus humor magazine, invited Miss Storm to visit Colorado as his guest, and to pose for some pictures for the magazine, suspended last month for what one university official termed "too much sex and emphasis on alcohol."

Word got around, and Dr. Darley didn't like the idea. He wrote Latham:

"This proposal to use university facilities for publicizing a night club entertainer is inconsistent with the dignity and purpose of a state university, and I request that this not be done."

* * *

Said Miss Storm:

"It's a state university, isn't it? It's supported by the people. I'm going anyway."

The strip artist, now performing in Denver, said she "doesn't understand Dr. Darley's attitude."

"I hope to meet him so I can talk it over with him," she said.

Cars and Taxes Hurt City Buses

Greyhound Executive Claims Transit Firms Are Pushed Aside

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A Greyhound Bus Company executive said today that automobiles and heavy taxes are pushing municipal transit systems off the streets.

John W. Powell, vice president and general manager of Great Lakes Greyhound Lines, told the Michigan Municipal Transit Clinic that bus companies need some sort of financial help.

Powell told the clinic at the University of Michigan that automobile registrations are increasing. He said the economists estimate that 50 million cars are now in use and that will rise to 65 million by 1960 and 80 million by 1980.

But, Powell said, Greyhound suburban lines in Detroit have lost 52 per cent of their passenger load since 1946, or more than 15 million passengers a year. He added:

"Our experience in Ann Arbor bears out the greater problem in the smaller communities. We lost over one million passengers annually since 1946, a drop of 60 per cent. Last year our total taxes on Ann Arbor city buses nearly equalled the loss we sustained."

Asks Foreign Aid Plan Changed to Loan Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—A "loan" approach to foreign aid was proposed today by Rep. Passman (D-La), head of the House Appropriations subcommittee which will handle bills carrying foreign aid funds.

Passman, who has consistently opposed the foreign aid program as a "giveaway," announced today he hopes to bring new approach to foreign aid.

What he will propose, he said, is that nations receiving U. S. aid set up a currency credit against which this country may draw at some future time.

"I would like to see this shifted from a giveaway program to a loan program," he told a reporter.

Sign Lancaster for Hero's Role in Arizona Epic

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
International News Service

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — A real gun-blazing factual story of Tombstone, Ariz., when Wyatt Earp was United States marshal and "Doc" Holiday went afoul of the law, has been bought by Hal Wallis.

He has signed Burt Lancaster for Earp, and he has Humphrey Bogart in mind for "Doc" Holiday — but who hasn't Bogey in mind?

This epic deals with the friendship of "Doc," a whisky-drinking ex-dentist and expert gunman, and Earp.

George Scullin, who wrote the story, spent a lot of time in Tombstone and was able to get some old newspapers disclosing new facts about the friendship between the two men.

Johnny Mitchum (Bob's brother) says that he has had to work extra hard to prove that he can act.

"You know, when you have a famous brother," Johnny said, "they think you are just being engaged because of your famous relative."

John had lunch at U. I. with producer Stanley Rubin, and the result is he will appear with Tony Curtis in "The Rawhide Years."

For two years, the younger Mitchum was always overshadowed by Bob, so he lived in Dallas, Texas, and worked in radio. Now he is going to carve a career in pictures under the name of John Mallory.

The reason no one has seen Spencer Tracy for so long is that he didn't come straight home from Europe. He went to Cuba to see Ernest Hemingway and discuss "The Old Man and the Sea," which Leland Hayward will make sometime, someday.

Spence doesn't have to be here for a few weeks until "Jeremy Rodock," which he's supposed to do (they hope) with Grace Kelly, is ready.

On the return home, Frank and Nancy Jr. will stop over a day-and-a-half in Honolulu. That's all the time he has before reporting for "Guys and Dolls." They fly in Monday night.

100 Years Old

MSC's Swift Expansion Amazes Even New Grads

(This is the second in a series of two articles on the Michigan State College Centennial.)

EAST LANSING (AP) — Even the most recent graduate of Michigan State College is bound to be amazed when he returns to the campus for a homecoming football game.

The old grad will invariably comment on the many changes and the rash of new buildings.

A new library is under construction. Workmen are busy adding to the Kellogg Center of Continuing Education — it has 181 double bedrooms but don't call it a hotel.

Flossy new dormitories are springing up, seemingly overnight. The shabby, wartime trailer camp for married students is gone and a modern apartment project is rising in its place.

These are the concrete and stone symbols of the mushrooming growth of Michigan State in recent years.

It has been said of MSC President Dr. John A. Hannah that "he doesn't let the concrete dry under his feet."

After its first uncertain years, the future of Michigan State College was assured by the Morrill Act of 1863 creating a system of land grant colleges.

For a long time, the growth of the college was slow and unspectacular but steady. There were many landmarks.

In 1870, the first coed was enrolled. In 1888, an experiment station was set up to launch a long-range program of agricultural research. In 1894, the first courses were offered.

By 1907, the college was solidly rooted with an enrollment of more than 1,000 students.

MSC professors made numerous contributions to agriculture and science.

In the 1870's, Dr. R. C. Kedzie proved that Paris green, used as a coloring matter in wallpaper could cause illness or death. He later instituted a campaign of debunking dangerous patent medicines.

College researchers pioneered in the development of hybrid corn, introduced the first sugar beets into Michigan and helped develop the use of chemicals to fight farm pests.

In 1925, the Legislature authorized a change in name from Michigan Agricultural College to Michigan State College.

As the college grew, it's educational program underwent continual change and expansion. Various administrations harked back to the words of one of the founders, who declared "nor should the claims of literature and fine arts by wholly neglected . . ."

Today, with an enrollment of more than 15,500, Michigan State offers a total of 126 courses of study. Seventy of these lead to graduate degrees.

Administration of these courses is divided into nine schools of agriculture, education, home economics, engineering, veterinary medicine, graduate studies, science and arts, business and public service and the Basic College, a two-year program of general education.

In recent years, Michigan State has pioneered in educational television, has expanded its continuing education program enormously, has undertaken projects in atomic research under government direction and has branched out into global responsibilities with educational missions to many parts of the world including the Ryuka Islands, Columbia, India, Brazil and Indochina.

MSC also has gained recognition in the sports world with its admission to the Western Conference and the possession of a championship football team.

The growth has made Michigan State a university in all but name.

The present spurt of building started under the late President Robert S. Shaw. Shaw obtained some money from the Legislature and more than three million dollars from the depression-inspired WPA.

His "built without expense to the public" signs in front of various new buildings became familiar campus landmarks.

During the war, Michigan State was primarily a training school for ROTC students. After the war, the college received a shot in the arm from the enrollment of veterans studying under the GI Bill.

A 25 million dollar building program was launched in 1946. The postwar building program now has been boosted to a total of more than 60 million dollars — about 60 per cent of it on a self-liquidating basis.

What can be expected in the future for Michigan State College?

"Continued growth and an expansion of services," Dr. Hannah said. "I won't attempt to predict our position 100 years from now.

"Right now, we're trying to plan for 15 years from now. Our enrollment should be between 30 and 35 thousand by 1970. This poses a tremendous expansion problem. But if we keep the vision of our early founders, we'll meet it."

Ed, Joe and Sgt. Brown Pave Way for Valentine

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I don't want to rush you—but have you noticed that Valentine Day's coming?

I mention this for the benefit of forgetful husbands. Every year I scoop Pegler, Pearson and Walter Lippman on Valentine's Day. How they can ignore Valentine's Day, I don't know. Maybe they don't have their "heart" in their work.

"I was at the Palace the other night," a fellow said, "and guess who was sitting right beside me."

"Mussolini," I said, with a flash of genius.

"No. Eddie and Debbie," he said. "Eddie was in a sports shirt, and Debbie in a turtle-neck sweater. They were smooching and having a good time. Nobody was paying a bit of attention to them."

"You must have been," I pointed out.

Arthur Godfrey's Dan Cupiding led Dorothy Maguire to take her husband Sgt. John Henry Brown along to St. Louis when the Maguires flew out there the other day.

DEBBIE

But it was probably Marilyn Monroe's "long weekend" with Joe DiMaggio that started me on this Valentine kick.

Joe borrows a car and away they go. Their close friends zipper up their lips.

"I'm praying for them to get back together," one person goes so far as to admit unequivocally but off the record and not for attribution.

"Could there be a second honeymoon coming?" I ask—and am answered with a knowing grin that says "Well, yes and no."

Anyway, love's very popular just now, and with Eddie, Joe and John Henry Brown in there pitching, and buying gifts, every husband should start out right now to pick a lovely Valentine for his wife.

A simple little diamond bracelet, inexpensive though it may be, will mean a lot to a wife, especially from a husband who hasn't noticed her for 30 years.

Now out on the farm, we used to be sentimental about Valentine's Day.

On Feb. 14, the husbands were very loving and wouldn't allow their wives to do any plowing that day (the ground was usually frozen).

So, husbands, if you want to keep in step with the modern fashions in wooing, order that Valentine's Day gift now. And, wives, if you want to be sure they do, read them this column now. Read it to them the day before Valentine's Day, too. Yes, and also the morning of Valentine's Day.

New Cinerama to Make Debut

World Premiere to Be Benefit in Music Hall Date Is Feb. 15

The second Cinerama production "Cinerama Holiday" will have its second in the world premiere in Detroit at the Music Hall Theater Tuesday, Feb. fifteenth. The opening performance will be for the benefit of the Detroit Memorial Hospital.

Like its predecessor, the new production utilizes the three-eyed camera, seven-voiced sound system and huge curved screen that together recreate virtually the entire range of human vision and hearing. But, as "This Is Cinerama" was a picture about places, "Cinerama Holiday" is a picture about people.

Even before the screen play was completed, de Rochemont dispatched talent scouts to find two "typical" young married couples who had never ventured across the ocean nor performed professionally, to portray his principals.

John and Betty Marsh of Kansas City, Mo., and Fred and Beatrice Troller of Zurich, were the fortunate selections. As soon as their signatures were dry on the contracts, the Marshes were flown to France and the Trollers whisked off to the U. S. — and "Cinerama Holiday" was in production.

The current "This Is Cinerama" will have completed an epochal run of 100 weeks when it leaves the Music Hall Theater, Sunday, February thirteenth to make way for "Cinerama Holiday".

Alabama Youth Admits Murder

Will Be Charged With Florida Rape - Slaying of Young Mother

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP)—An Alabama youth will be charged with first-degree murder, Sheriff M. J. Daffin said, for stabbing and strangling a former El Reno, Okla., band queen.

The rape-slaying 10 days ago of Mrs. Lou Ellen Jones, 21, was described in detail in a statement signed yesterday by George Lowell Everett, 19, the sheriff said. Everett, from Dothan, Ala., later told newsmen, "My conscience has about run me crazy."

The body of Mrs. Jones, mother of a 2½-year-old son, was found by her husband S. Sgt. Joseph R. Jones when he returned from duty at nearby Tyndall Air Force Base the afternoon of Jan. 18.

Daffin quoted the youth as saying he entered the house in search of money after he saw Mrs. Jones leave and slugged her with a heavy case when she returned earlier than he expected.

• • •

Everett, arrested Wednesday night, in Dothan, Ala., has been taken to the Raiford (Fla.) State Prison, near Jacksonville, as a precautionary measure before charges are filed, Daffin said.

The Jones moved here from El Reno about nine months ago. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Pittman, Long Beach, Calif.

New Parents Offered Course in Baby Care

Pontiac couples, currently waiting for the stork's arrival, will be offered a course in what to do when baby arrives, the city health department announced today.

A series of eight classes for expectant parents, sponsored jointly by county and city health authorities, will begin Feb. 10.

Classes will be held each Thursday evening, starting at 7:30, at Pontiac High School.

The course, approved by the American Medical Assn., is open to expectant grandparents, aunts and uncles, or just interested parties, it was announced.

Films, slides, lectures and demonstrations will be employed in covering a wide range of subjects related to baby care. Among topics included in the course are nutrition, hygiene, bathing, mixing formulas, and anatomy.

The last class will be devoted to a tour of maternity wards, delivery rooms and other medical facilities in Pontiac hospitals.

Persons who wish to take the course may register the first night, and information may be obtained from either the county or city health departments.

Helicopter Crashes in Germany Kill 6

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—Two U.S. Army helicopters on a training exercise crashed and burned last night within 25 minutes of each other, killing both three-man crews.

The helicopters crashed about 500 yards apart while trying to land on the side of a small hill six miles north of Stuttgart, an Army spokesman said. The cause has not been established. Names were withheld.

Car Benefits From Theft

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) — A young woman reported her car stolen after she discovered it had been moved from in front of the building where she works. When she returned from police headquarters the car was back where she left it. It had been greased, oiled and filled with gasoline. A man standing nearby told her he had mistaken it for his employer's car.

New Sports Era Begins for Keego Harbor

By JACK SAYLOR

A new era begins for Keego Harbor athletics tonight as the school's basketball team inaugurates activity in the beautiful, new West Bloomfield High School at Orchard Lake and Commerce roads.

The surroundings were tiny and cramped, but a glorious basketball past was written at Roosevelt School, where the Presidents have played for over 25 years. The fame of the school "with all the O'Shaughnessys" became widespread and a reputation for "giant killing" was attained.

Keego nearly always made a strong tournament showing largely because of playing basically a Class B schedule, then competing in its own Class C tournament. Now the situation is all changed.

The transfer to West Bloomfield involves over 300 students in grades 9-12. With only 56 in the graduating class and 105 eighth-graders ready to move up, the new school is a cinch to reach Class B status next year.

Students are drawn not only from Keego Harbor proper and 3 streets of Sylvan Village, but also from Green Lake, Cass Lake subdivision, Twin Beach, Shady Beach and south on Orchard Lake road almost to 14-Mile road.

Nearly everything about "Operation Moving Day" is new. The team will play on a full-size court. A stage occupies one side of the gym, but on the other side, permanent and folding bleachers provide a seating capacity of 1,000.

The school's teams will no longer be known as the Presidents. The student council has undertaken the project of selecting a new nickname. One unique title already advanced as a possibility is the "Birchies." The white birch is prevalent in the area—in fact the new school sits near a large grove of birch trees.

The only item not new concerning tonight's game is the basketball team. And coach Sam Minard is hopeful the new surroundings will be an inspiration to his slumping cagers.

Boasting excellent size and a fine scorer-playmaker in Frank Rogers, the team, nevertheless, has played good ball only twice in upsetting Milford, 52-51, and whipping oft-beaten Ortonville. The team's record is 4-4.

* * *

With a two-game deficit to make up, league chances for Minard's club appear very slim, but there is still time for the team to find itself and make a mark in its final Class C tournament showing.

Elsewhere, action is limited in the Pontiac area tonight. Pontiac and St. Freds are both on the road, but St. Michael is at home to St. Rita. Waterford is away at Walled Lake and Avondale journeys to Madison.

Birmingham plays at home with East Detroit, Rochester entertains Romeo, Oxford goes to Lake Orion and Milford to Holly. Clarkston does not play.

Pontiac at Flint Northern; Waterford at Walled Lake; Farmington at Berkley; Southfield at Van Dyke; Clarenceville at West Bloomfield; Milford at Holly; Brighton at Northville; Romeo at Rochester; Oxford at Lake Orion; Mt. St. Mary at Lapeer; Avondale at Madison; Troy at Roseville; Fitzgerald at Clawson; East Detroit at Birmingham; Mt. Clemens at Port Huron; Mayville at Ortonville; Millington at Imlay City; Royal Oak at Detroit Denby; Manchester at South Lyon; Redford St. Mary at Shrine; RO St. Mary at St. James; St. Freds at St. Benedict; St. Rita at St. Mikes; St. Clement at OL St. Mary; Eastland at Utica; Lake Shore at Warren; Lakeview at South Lake; Memphis at Almont; Armada at Dryden; New Haven at Capac.

Point Leaders Stay Same in County 'Race'

Milford Pair Setting Pace; Rams' Bradley Gains Ground

Leaders in the Oakland County prep basketball individual scoring race remained unchanged in the past week with Jim Davidson and Tom Gould of Milford and Jim Simer of Madison still holding down the first 3 spots.

Davidson is the pacesetter with an even 21-point average for his nine games, eight of which have been Milford victories. Gould's 2nd-place mark is 18.7, slightly better than Madison's sharpshooting Simer.

Hazel Park's Larry Chaney tossed in 32 points to boost his average to 20.5, but he has completed his career as a mid-year graduate. St. Frederick's Lionel Bradley bumped his average two points to claim 4th at 18.1.

Shrine's Hugh Kirtek and Ron Troy held their positions and Bob Evans of Southfield advanced to 7th, while South Lyon's Jim Hock slipped to 10th. Frank Rogers of Keego and Chuck Dixon of RO St. Mary got back among the top 10, while Vince Pernicki of OL St. Mary was nudged out.

Other notable rises were made by Jack Acton of Troy and John Keller of St. Mikes. Acton, with a 37-point spree against Clawson, leaped into 11th place, and Keller had 34 points in two starts to move into 13th.

The leaders:

	G	Pts.	Avg.
Jim Davidson, Milford	9	189	21.0
Tom Gould, Milford	9	168	18.7
Jim Simer, Madison	8	147	18.4
Lionel Bradley, St. Freds	8	146	18.3
Hugh Kirtek, Shrine	8	136	17.0
Ron Troy, Shrine	8	135	16.9
Bob Evans, Southfield	10	164	16.4
Frank Rogers, Keego Harbor	8	129	16.1
Chuck Dixon, RO St. Mary	8	124	15.5
Jim Hock, South Lyon	10	151	15.1

Defeat Hoad, Rosewall

Trabert, Seixas Become First American Team to Win Aussie Doubles in 22 Years

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas followed up their Davis Cup triumph by becoming the first American team to win the Australian National Doubles Tennis championship in 22 years.

Playing in 88-degree heat they whipped Australia's Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall 6-3, 6-2, 2-6, 3-6, 6-1 Friday, overpowering the Aussies with a faultless display in the final set.

The doubles trophy now comes to the United States along with the coveted Davis Cup that Tony and Vic wrested from the Aussies a month ago.

Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill of California were the last American team to win the Australian National Doubles and that was back in 1933.

* * *

The brilliant play of Tony and Vic in the fifth set made futile a rally by Hoad and Rosewall that saw them square the match after losing the first two sets.

So deadly was their execution that the final set was over in 12 minutes. They yielded only three points while taking a 5-0 lead.

After Hoad had won his service for the Aussie's only game of two match points at 40-15 with Seixas serving. The Aussies went to deuce but the Americans took the advantage on a Seixas bullet serve that Hoad was unable to return. Hoad then netted a volley to give the Americans set and match point.

* * *

The Australian is the first of the year's major doubles titles. The others are the French, Wimbledon and United States.

"It is a good start to have the Australian title to take home. We will leave for home Tuesday and it will be great to be back after 3 1-3 months away."

Trabert, the only U.S. survivor in the singles, battles Rosewall in the semifinals Saturday. Seixas was eliminated from the singles by Hoad in a quarter-final match.

Vic Howe's 1st Goal Spoils Wings' Win, Ties Game 3-3

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe, star right winger of the Detroit Red Wings, tried to sound annoyed, but there was a revealing tone of pride in his voice:

"How about that kid brother of mine? I invite him to my house, he eats my steak, then does a thing like that."

The younger Howe—Vic Howe of the New York Rangers—stole his big brother's scoring thunder last night and rifled in a 3rd - period goal which gave the Rangers a 3 - 3 tie.

Playing only his 13th game in the National hockey league (could you call it lucky 13?), the 25-year-old Howe beat goalie Terry Sawchuk with a 35-foot screen shot at 11:57 of the final session. It was his 1st goal of the season and capped a comeback which saw the desperate New Yorkers erase a 3-1 deficit.

Two minutes before Vic Howe's goal, Danny Lewicki put the Rangers back in contention with a 45-foot screen shot.

"We threw that one away," said general manager Jack Adams of the Wings. "we got a 'gift' goal in the 2nd period but threw it away in the 3rd period. It could be a costly tie."

Actually, it was a costly tie for the Wings. It prevented them from pulling to within a single point of the league-leading Montreal Canadiens: now they're two points behind the Frenchmen.

Detroit's "gift" goal was credited to center Glen Skov, who accidentally bumped Ron Murphy, causing the New York defender to knock the puck into his own net.

It was one of three goals which helped the Red Wings build a 3-1 lead during the 1st two periods. Bill Dineen and Dutch Reibel scored the others, while Pete Conacher fired New York's 1st goal.

Going into the 3rd period, it looked as though the Wings would beat the Rangers for the 6th successive time on Olympia ice this season. Then, for no apparent reason the Detroit attack became disorganized and Lewicki and Vic Howe clicked for the game's "big" goal, Gordie Howe drew a blank —very frustrating for the league's leading scorer for the last four seasons.

Marquette Five Extends String to 14 Games

Warriors Trip Loyola of South, 73-70, to Continue Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Even Marquette Coach Jack Nagle must be surprised over the Warriors basketball success this season after their mediocre showing a year ago.

Marquette, the nation's 11th-ranking team, has put together a 14-game winning streak—longest in collegiate circles this season—after an opening loss to Michigan State.

The Warriors extended their skein with a 73-70 victory over Loyola of the South last night. The streak will be on the line when the teams meet again in New Orleans tonight.

Nagle took over the helm at Marquette last season and his team won 11 and lost 15. Although Marquette had 10 lettermen returning for the 1954-55 campaign, Nagle never figured that his club would improve as much as it has.

Last night the Hilltoppers were hard-pressed to repel Loyola. Marquette piled up a 36-22 halftime bulge, but then had to withstand a last-half surge by the New Orleans club.

Action again was light last night with most of the major teams still idle due to midyear examinations.

Denver broke an 11-game Skyline Conference losing streak by upsetting defending champion Colorado A&M 73-69. Denver led at halftime 35-32 and never was headed.

For Sweet Charity!

Old-Time Puck Chasers Aid Crippled Children

TORONTO (AP) — Men whose heritage is hockey hit the exhibition trail Saturday to help some kids facing a bleak future.

National Hockey League Old-Timers Association is preparing for its 4th annual playing tour to raise money for crippled children. Nearly $65,000 has been raised in the last three years by the charity games which brought nostalgia to countless thousands of fans recalling the memorable exploits of hockey's stars of another era.

Former NHL greats open a six-city swing tomorrow night in Kingston, Ont., planned home of hockey's hall of fame. Other games are scheduled for Kitchener, Sundburg, Toronto, Fort William and Winnipeg, dates for which have yet to be set.

"Practically all the fellows pay their own expenses for traveling and equipment," said Lorne Duguid, association honorary president, and a forward with the old Montreal Maroons.

"For instance, it's costing us $2,500 to charter an airliner to fly to Fort William."

Familiar figures in the squad of 32 veterans include the Toronto Maple Leaf's former "Kid" line of Joe Primeau, Charlie Conacher and Harvey (Busher) Jackson.

Dit Clapper, Boston Bruins' great defenseman of the '30s will be back at his old stand as will Bill Cowley, Boston center who thrilled fans with his dipsy-doodle stickhandling. Syd Howe, former Detroit Red Wing forward, is another and there'll be one-time Leaf Billy (The Kid) Taylor, Turk Broda, Flash Hollett and Hank Goldup, all former Leafs.

Shamrocks Hope Rams Will Hand Bens an Upset

Win for Freds, Plus a Victory at Home Could Put Mikes on Top

St. Michael's Shamrocks, currently tied for the Suburban Catholic League lead, will be pulling for cross-town rival St. Frederick in tonight's loop action.

St. Fred's 4th-place Rams travel to Highland Park to take on once-beaten St. Benedict. An upset victory by Coach Ken Hulslander's Freds would give St. Michael undisputed possession of 1st place, providing the Mikes come through with an expected easy win over St. Rita here.

Other SCL games tonight send Royal Oak St. Mary to Ferndale St. James and Center Line St. Clement to Orchard Lake St. Mary.

Rams bowed to St. Ben, 54-43, in their 1st meeting but have shown a great deal of improvement since that contest. They have won three of their last five games, losing only to St. Michael and Orchard Lake St. Mary by a total margin of only eight points.

Leading the Freds in their upset bid tonight will be Capt. Lionel Bradley, who has averaged 17.2 points from his pivot spot. Bradley hit better than 20 points in each of his last three starts.

CASE—Spot to Line Change.

Last year he tried to change over to a "line" delivery, rolling the ball along a target board. But habit wouldn't let him. He still finished with his body bent far forward, his eye on the spot.

How to change over? Only one way: Straighten up the body at the foul line. Pull it up, if need be, at first—or until you feel the arm swinging on and out in a reaching follow-through at the target board.

You'll suddenly find yourself looking up front . . . 10, 12 or more feet down the alley. I'm confident the change will bring improved scoring; less tenseness at the foul line because of the free swing.

Gene Sarazen Favored Senior

Birmingham's Watrous Back for 2nd Crack at PGA Title

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Defending champion Gene Sarazen was the logical favorite in the 54-hole PGA Seniors tournament opening today but he will have a tough row to hoe.

A newcomer to the ranks of the Seniors (golfers at least 50 years old). "Lighthouse Harry" Cooper, is figured to give genial Gene the most trouble.

Another threat is Denny Shute, also a first-year senior and also twice a National Open runner-up.

Back for another shot at Sarazen is Al Watrous of Birmingham, Mich. These two staged a dramatic duel for 50 holes last year until Watrous' game collapsed.

By BILL MARTIN

There is a strong feeling around the Saginaw Valley Conference that the 2nd half of the 1954-55 basketball campaign will see one of the loop's most hectic races.

Second-round play gets under way tonight, with 2nd-place Pontiac playing at Flint Northern and top-ranking Arthur Hill tangling with Saginaw High in an intra-city battle. Bay City Central entertains Owosso in non-league action.

First half of the season, which was completed Tuesday, went strictly according to form. Not a single upset was registered, although the ease with which league-leader Arthur Hill handled previously-unbeaten Pontiac was a surprise.

Men closest to the Valley picture — conference coaches and sportswriters — think that 2nd-round action will see some startling reversals. The team regarded as most likely to scramble the race is Flint Central, which lost two of its 1st five SVC starts.

Both of the Indians' defeats came at the free throw line. They outshot Pontiac, 71 goals to 19, but bowed, 70-59. Tribe connected on 24 shots against Arthur Hill's 23 but was edged 53-52.

Paced by center Joe Quarles' 19.8-point per game performance, Central has averaged a lofty 69.4 points in posting its 6-2 season's record.

Another potential trouble-maker is Flint Northern. Vikings, who have no title aspirations after losing their 1st five Valley starts, have the tallest front-line combination in the league and could become key factors in the title race.

Arthur Hill emerged unscathed in its 1st five games, but had close calls against Flint teams. Lumberjacks' lack of a big man on the boards is a distinct handicap.

Pontiac appears to be the big question mark. Blessed with good over-all height and a wealth of experience, the Chiefs haven't yet realized their full potential. They got off to a fast start with convincing victories over Flint Northern and Central and Saginaw, but looked unimpressive in losing to Arthur Hill and barely edging Bay City.

Still, some observers think that Pontiac could lose one more game in the 2nd round without falling from contention. Final game of the season matches Arthur Hill and Pontiac here, and that clash may prove to be the deciding contest in the race.

Knicks Can't Get Going Against 2nd Division 5s

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If the New York Knickerbockers are going to make a race for the Eastern Division title in the National Basketball Assn. they'll have to learn the secret of defeating teams in the lower echelon.

The Knicks, two games below the .500 mark and four back of the pace-setting Syracuse Nationals, have dropped four of their last five games, two each to the Rochester Royals and the Philadelphia Warriors.

The second defeat this week by the Warriors came Thursday night in Philadelphia when the Knicks bowed 92-83. The Boston Celtics lost to Rochester 98-92 on the same card and dropped to second place in the division as Syracuse measured Fort Wayne's Pistons 94-79.

The Milwaukee Hawks finally turned the tables on the Minneapolis Lakers in the league's other game. After losing five straight times to the Lakers, including three games on a southern tour, the Hawks won 85-79 at Huron, S.D.

The Knicks came within five points of the Warriors on two occasions in the last six minutes but the comeback was halted by Jack George, who sparked Philadelphia with his floor play. George scored 23 points, but scoring honors went to Paul Arizin with 25, one more than Neil Johnston.

Chicago Dane Registers Doherty Test's 1st Upset

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Greta Leon, a native of Denmark who took up golf about four years ago because it looked like fun, pulled the first big upset of the Helen Lee Doherty Amateur tournament.

Miss Leone, who now lives in Chicago, ousted medalist Vonnie Colby in the first round Thursday when the Hollywood, Fla., girl gambled and lost on No. 16.

Vonnie, trans-Mississippi champion, tried to clear a canal with her second shot at 16 but dunked it into the water. Greta played it short and safe, won the hole and took the match 1-up.

Other favorites survived the first-round play. Defending champion Grace DeMoss Smith of Miami rallied spectacularly to defeat young Joan Toski of Livingston, N.J., 3 and 1. Joan, niece of pro Bob Toski, 1954's top money winner, had trap trouble on the back nine.

Others making the second round were Barbara McIntire of Toledo; Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis.; Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore; Ellen Gery of Reading, Pa.; Marjorie McMillen of Milwaukee; Theodora Rooney of Jamaica Plains, Mass.; Mrs. Harold Stone of Ware Shores, S.C.; Cookie Swift Berger of Buffalo, N.Y.; Joann Prentice of Birmingham, Ala.; Peg Cirino of Miami; Gloria Armstrong of San Lorenzo, Calif., and Mrs. George Wilcox of Miami.

Sexton Shoots for 'Insurance'

Makes Most of Ace's Last Game; 3 in State Risk Perfect Marks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lansing Sexton, seeking some "insurance" in its drive for a 3rd straight Six-A League basketball title, meets unpredictable Jackson High School tonight.

With a 5-0 record in conference play, Lansing Sexton has a firm hold on 1st place in the Six-A League. But after tonight the Big Reds will be without the services of their brilliant shotmaker, Art Gowans, who graduates.

So Lansing Sexton, which has an overall record of 8-1, will be seeking to make the most of Gowan's last appearance.

Jackson, which will have the home floor advantage, has been an erratic team this season. Vikings lost their opening game of the season to Lansing Sexton, 57-40, but have won four of their next six games—including the last two in a row.

First place will be at stake in the Arrowhead Conference when Traverse City journeys to Bay City Handy. Each has a 1-0 league record.

In the Saginaw Valley, surprising Saginaw Arthur Hill (5-0 in league play) entertains its hot rival, Saginaw. Pontiac, trailing Arthur Hill, attempts to stay in the running in a game at Flint Northern.

21 Night Games on Chisox '55 Schedule

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today announced a schedule of 21 night games for 1955.

The 1st night game will be May 3, with the Washington Senators and the last will be Sept. 23, with the Kansas City Athletics.

In all, eight of the games will be played on Tuesday nights, three on Wednesday, one on Thursday and nine on Friday.

Spartans Face Tough DePaul 5

Demons From Chicago Won Previous Meeting by One Point

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State basketball team takes a break from Big Ten play Saturday night. But it won't be any breather as far as the opposition is concerned.

The Spartans, with a 6-6 overall won and lost record, meet powerful De Paul. De Paul has won an even dozen games against only two losses.

Earlier this season, MSC played De Paul and lost a 76-75 thriller. Spartans have improved since that time but to off-set this, the Demons have been unbeatable in Chicago Stadium so far, winning 11 straight.

Golfdom Pays Honor to Ed Furgol, Patton

Open Champ Receives Hogan Award at Hands of Ben, Himself

NEW YORK (AP)—A galaxy of golf's brightest names, past and present, gathered Thursday night to pay tribute to National Open champion Ed Furgol and Billy Joe Patton, the colorful amateur from Morganton, N.C.

Patton, who came within a stroke of winning the Masters' title last spring, received the gold Golf Writers' Assn. as the person who made the greatest contribution to the sport in 1954.

The presentation to Furgol was made by Hogan himself, who said the award was not for his feat in capturing the open but for effort Furgol showed in battling his way to the top despite his handicap."

Mullin Named Manager for Idaho Falls

DETROIT (UP) — Pat Mullin, long-time Detroit outfielder, was named yesterday to manage the Tiger Class C Pioneer League farm team at Idaho Falls.

Appointment was announced by farm club director Johnny McHale and completed the selection of managers for Detroit's farm teams with the exception of Terre Haute, Ind., which might not field a team this season.

MULLIN

Mullin managed Little Rock of the Southern Association during the later months of the 1954 season but McHale has turned the Little Rock job over to Bobb Mavis.

St. Louis Protests MVC Holiday Meet

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—St.Louis University has filed a protest against the Missouri Valley Conference sponsorship of a Christmas holiday basketball tournament, Dr. George Small said today.

Dr. Small is athletic co-ordinator at the University of Tulsa and executive vice president of the Missouri Valley Conference.

Small said another vote would have to be taken by members at a meeting here, May 22. He said St.Louis' protest was based on the fact that the school would lose about $15,000 by participation in the tournament.

He said St.Louis officials pointed out that they would have to cut out three home games in order to play in the valley tournament at Wichita.

Williams Asks $1,666,000 Appropriation to Expand, Improve State Park System

Gov. Williams' budget message of a week ago included a whopping $1,666,000 for expanding and improving the state park system, which is beginning to show signs of wear.

Naturally, no one really expects the legislature to shell out that amount, the governor's budget requests are almost inevitably trimmed down.

Mostly in southern Michigan, where the big crowds from Detroit put a heavy strain on the parks and advancinbg civilization threatens to prevent future expansion.

"If we don't embark on a big land-acquisation program in that area, we'll soon be closed in and won't be able to expand in the future," says Arthur C. Elmer, chief of the parks and recreation division.

Another high-priority item is a 640 acre tract at Port Crescent near Caseville in the Thumb. That will cost a minimum of $100,000.

The department puts is minimum park land acquisition needs at 8,000 acres. If the legislature appropriates the full $1,666,000 requested by the governor, it will buy about 5,400 acres.

NEW YORK (AP)—American track fans won't get a chance to see Russian athletes in action here this winter.

Dan Ferris, executive secretary of the AAU, said Thursday the Russians expressed their regrets that Vladimir Kuc, the Soviet's outstanding middle distance runner, couldn't accept an invitation to compete in indoor meets in this country because he was not in shape to compete.

But Ferris said the Russians "are still interested in an exchange of weight-lifting, gymnastic and basketball teams, among others. This is now going through channels."

Mosconi now leads in the 1,500-point series which ends Saturday) five blocks to one and 900 points to 482.

North Carolina Pro Shoots 62 in $15,000 Test

Shelley Mayfield Is One Stroke Back; Four Tied at 66

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Johnny Palmer of North Carolina, second-high money winner on the 1955 winter tournament trail, led the way into the second round of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational golf tournament today.

* * *

The 36-year-old star from Charlotte whacked out a 10-under-par 62 in the first round, and with one exception, held a four-stroke advantage starting out this morning.

* * *

The exception was tall Shelley Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., who knocked out seven birdies on the back nine Thursday and ended the round with a 63.

Play is at the Thunderbird Country Club, a course stretched out to about 6,700 yards, with par 36-36—72—a par that baffled only three professionals in the select array of 42 players.

* * *

Tied at 66 were Peter Thomson, the British Open champion from Australia, Wally Ulrich, Jim Turnesa and big Mike Souchak, the latter a fellow North Carolinian of Palmer's.

* * *

* * *

Palmer did not miss a green. He took only 27 putts, most of them good from around eight feet, but one dropped in from 20 and another from 18 feet.

* * *

Each professional was paired with three club amateurs for the 36-hole pro-am. Seven teams were tied with a best ball 56. Pro leaders of the pro-am teams included Nelson, Bolt, Fred Wampler, Palmer, Furgol, J. R. Jacobs of England, Marty Furgol and Bob Rosburg.

Prominent amateurs in the 56 group included Ed Lowery of San Francisco, who won the Crosby affair with Nelson.

Minister of Gospel Once Coached Spartans

EAST LANSING—When Michigan State began playing football back in the 1890's, it was considered by college fathers to be such a rowdy, perhaps even immoral affair that a minister of the gospel was hired as head coach to safeguard the virtue of the lads. The coach was Rev. Charles O. Bemies. He coached the 1899 and 1900 teams to a modest three wins and seven losses.

Veteran Skater After 6th Title

Ken Bartholomew Faces Challenge of Youth in National Test

ST.PAUL (AP)—Ken Bartholomew, at 34 a U.S. speed skating patriarch, matches savvy and stamina against the challenge of youth again this weekend in the National Outdoor championships.

Senior men's winner nine times since 1941, the Minneapolis veteran is after an unheard of sixth straight championship in competition Saturday and Sunday.

His stiffest opposition is expected to come from young Stan Fail of Paramount, Calif., who supplanted Bartholomew last week as Great Lakes champion at West Allis, Wis.

The nationals, held in conjunction with the St.Paul Winter Carnival, will be followed next week by the U.S. Olympic speed skating trials.

Braves' Fans Must Get Suds at Ball Park

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Baseball fans who bring their own beer and bottled goods to Milwaukee Braves' games, says the County Board Recreation Committee, may endanger the safety of summer multitudes at County Stadium.

However, Stadium Manager William Anderson says an ordinance banning carry-in potables, approved in principle by the committee, is solely in the interests of safety.

Cans and bottles have been tossed into the aisles, endangering the public safety, he said.

Stadium concessions, operated by agreement between the county and the Braves management, sell refreshments served in paper cups.

'M' Field House to Have First Women Contestants

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan track coach Don Canham is carefully building the Michigan AAU Relays Saturday to conform with the Olympic games down to the last detail—women athletes.

It will be the 1st time that women track athletes have entered Michigan's Yost Field House. Sixteen women from Ohio and Michigan will make up four relay teams competing in a quarter-mile race.

Relays also will feature 10 top foreign track men, among them three from the University of Michigan.

Canham will take the 1st steps in showing off a Finnish pole vaulter, an Irish high jumper and a Danish miler. Of these only Irish decathlon champ Brendan O'Reilly in the high jump wil meet any serious competition. Michigan State's Doug Stewart, an Australian, could edge O'Reilly.

Geert Keilstrup, the Michigan coach's Danish protege, will run against very mild competition in the novice mile, but he will not be allowed to enter the more advanced events Saturday night. Eeles Landstrom, the Finnish pole-vaulter, is not expected to be pressed in his speciality.

N.S. Carnival Set for Weekend

Program is complete, and only the weather remains as an uncertain factor in plans for the mid-winter ice carnival on the North Side rink at Montcalm and Edison streets. The colorful event, with a long list of skating races, figure skating contests and other features gets underway Saturday at 1:30 p. m. It will conclude with the coronation of the 1955 queen, on Sunday night.

* * *

Public is invited to witness this demonstration of ice sports, held this year under joint auspices of the North Side Community Club and the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department. Russell Themm of the NSCC and David Ewalt, department director, are co-chairmen.

Activities on both days of the show begin at 1:30 p. m.

A dozen skate races for youngsters, plus qualifying test for the Silver Skates Derby, top speed event, take place Saturday. A hockey game, Dick and Wes vs. tourney All-Stars at 3 p. m. and figure skating for girls, are other features. Silver Skates test is set for 7:05 p. m.

All race finals take place Sunday, with the Silver Skates set for 3 p. m., figure skating at 3:30 and a five-lap old timers race as an added feature. Contestants for the ice queen post will be in action at 4 p. m. with the coronation at 8 o'clock.

Pontiac Skating Club's fine group of performers is scheduled for a colorful show, starting at 7 o'clock. Many of the city's best ice skaters are among the performers.

Good Weekend for Ice Fishing Looms in State

LANSING (AP) —Ice fishing should be good this weekend although little fishing pressure has been reported lately because of recent storms, the state conservation department said today.

* * *

Smelt fishing was good on Portage Lake, Manistee County, and was improving on Lake Charlevoix.

Pike fishing was good on Platt, Benzie and Crooked lakes, Missaukee county; on Wendover Lake, Clair county; in the backwaters of the Thunder Bay river; on Crooked, Carp and round lakes, Emmett county; on Fremont lake, Newaygo county, and Big Star Lake, Lake county.

* * *

Good to fair catches of perch and whitefish were reported from Long Lake, Presque Isle and Alpena counties. Occasional sturgeon and pike were being taken from Black and Mullett lakes, Cheboygan county.

Pan fishing was good on all inland lakes.

* * *

Heavy snow kept hunting at a standstill in the northern lower peninsula. Most side roads were blocked and main roads were slippery.

Pros Out in Front of Wynn Tournament

VENICE, Fla. (AP) — The Early Wynn Invitational Golf tournament moved into its second round today with three professionals tied for the lead but with several of the featured baseball participants well up.

Sharing the lead with par 72s were Toby Lyons, St. Petersburg, Carl Rohmann and Bill Hook, both of Cincinnati.

Lions Draft Four Gridders From Home State

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Lions failed to land any of college football's "glamor" boys in the annual National Football League draft, but coach Buddy Parker selected four players from Michigan schools.

Among their 30 choices, the Lions, in a tedious session which lasted until early this morning, picked Lee Riley, speedy halfback from the University of Detroit; Bert Zagers, hard-hitting Michigan State halfback; tackle Walter Jenkins, a "sleeper" from Wayne University; and quarterback Duncan McDonald of Michigan.

Reportedly, Parker tried to swing a trade with the Washington Redskins which would have brought Alan (the Horse) Ameché to the Lions.

In an effort to land the all-American fullback from Wisconsin, Parker supposedly had offered Laverne Torgeson, veteran linebacker, and another player for Washington's first draft choice.

The Colts, as a matter of fact, fared exceedingly well in the early selections. Winner of the bonus pick, they selected George Shaw, Oregon's passing ace who led all college players in total offense last season.

Upon hearing of their selections, Ameche indicated he would sign with the Colts in 1955, instead of going north of the border to the Canadian League, but Shaw cagily said he had been offered as much as $40,000 to play baseball.

Chicago Cardinals had 1st pick after Baltimore's bonus choice, and selected end Max Boydston of Oklahoma. Somewhat surprisingly, the Cards passed up both Guglieme and Ameche, who were quickly gobbled up by Washington and Baltimore.

Lions, picking 11th in the regular draft, made Dave Middleton, fleet Auburn back, their No. 1 choice. A 6-foot, 195-pounder, Middleton has blazed the 100-yard dash in 9.8 seconds. He was considered the fastest back in the Southeastern Conference last fall.

Riley, a standout at Detroit for several years, was selected in the 4th round. Lions picked Zagers in the 7th round, Jenkins in the 9th, and McDonald in the 27th round.

Altogether, a dozen players from Michigan were selected by the various NFL teams.

Green Bay, always strong in picking players from the Michigan area, selected Henry Bullough, Michigan State guard (5th round); Art Walker, Michigan tackle (12th round), and Fred Baer, Michigan fullback (14th round).

Other players from Michigan were drafted like this; Pittsburgh — Ellis Duckett, Michigan State end (15th round); Washington — Ron Geyer, Michigan tackle (20th round); Baltimore — Nick Manych, Michigan Normal end (21st round), and Philadelphia — Vic Postula, Michigan State back (24th round).

Nick Kerbawy, general manager of the Lions, said the draft has put Baltimore in the thick of the NFL race.

"The Colts had a tremendous defensive team last year," Kerbawy said. 'Now they have gotten themselves an attack. They will be tough. There wasn't a team in the league any better from tackle to tackle last year."

Devine Considered as Arizona Mentor

EAST LANSING (AP)—Danny Devine, backfield coach for the Michigan State Football team, is being considered for a position as head coach of Arizona State (Tempe) College, it was learned today.

MSC sources said Devine would visit the Arizona school this weekend for a formal interview and to meet faculty members.

Milwaukee Braves Loading Up on 'Hot' Rookie Hurlers

NEW YORK (AP)—Take note, Leo Durocher and Walter Alston...the pitcher - rich Milwaukee Braves have more on the way.

As if a pitching staff headed by Warren Spahn, Gene Conley, Lew Burdette, Chet Nichols and Bob Buhl, not to mention Jim (no-hit) Wilson, isn't enough, the pennant-hungry Braves have brought up 11 new pitchers including a 23-game winner, two 18-game winners, a strikeout leader and another no-hit performer.

* * *

The Braves did not confine their search to pitchers alone. Their rookie crop includes five players with .300 or better batting averages, three with 20 or more home runs, and two who topped 100 runs batted in.

* * *

The most imposing record is owned by Humberto Robinson, 24, a native of Colon, Panama, who led the Sally League pitchers with a 23-8 won-lost record and a 2.41 ERA. Robinson, a 6-1, 150-pound righthander, also fanned 243 batters in 276 innings. Righthanders Paul Cave, 21, and Bob Trowbridge, 24, won 18 games each for the same Jacksonville club, Cave striking out 150 and Trowbridge 195.

Wings' Red Kelly Is Honored Twice

First, he was awarded a plaque by the Sports Guild at its annual dinner as hockey's outstanding player in 1954. Later, in Olympia Stadium, he received a similar award from the Hockey News, a hockey publication, as the "player of the year" in 1954.

Among those honored at the Sports Guild banquet were Steve Gromek, Detroit Tigers pitcher; Mac Stefani, polo star; Jim Podoley, Central Michigan's outstanding halfback; Les Bingaman, former middle guard of the Detroit Lions; Chick Harbert, PGA golf champion; Lee Schoenith, winner of the President's Cup in powerboating; June Stack, teenage tennis star from Hamtramck; and Norb Schemansky, world champion weight lifter.

Marciano Nose to Be 'Unveiled' on February 12

NEW YORK (AP)—For almost three weeks Rocky Marciano has been training for an unveiling — Feb. 12 — the day they will let somebody take a poke at his nose to see how it holds up.

There is a noticeable scar on the left side of the heavyweight champ's bugle as a memento of his last fight with Ezzard Charles in September. Nobody knows for sure what will happen when he gets hit on the nose but the Rock thinks everything will be all right.

Marciano was in town Thursday on a day off from camp at Grossinger, N.Y. to accept the Sport Magazine award as "Man of the Year in Sports". Naturally, his nose drew more attention than the speeches.

NHL Governors' Board Rejects Wings' Appeal

NEW YORK (AP)—Board of governors of the National Hockey League has upheld the 10-day suspension of Ted Lindsay, captain and left winger of the Detroit Red Wings.

No vote was announced on the decision yesterday to turn down Detroit's appeal of the suspension.

Lindsay was suspended Jan. 26 through Feb. 4, as a result of a ruckus with a fan at Toronto last Saturday night. The suspension period covers four Red Wing games.

Local 594 Sets Point Mark for Union Season

Local 594 turned in the highest score of the Oakland County UAW-CIO Basketball League season last night, routing Local 898, 67-35. Bone led the winners with 14 points.

In another league game, Local 596 turned back Local 653, 39-22. Corke's 12 points paced Local 596's win.

Xavier Gets Connolly

CINCINNATI, O. (INS)—Harry (Micky) Connolly, a member of Frank Leahy's unbeaten 1940 Boston College team, is the new head football coach at Xavier University in Cincinnati.

Connolly, 34, who has been backfield coach at the University of Indiana for the past three years, was named last night to succeed Ed Koska, who quit at the end of the 1954 season.

Up to 1954 Arkansas had not won the Southwest football title in eight years.

Baltimore Fares Well in NFL's 'Grab-Bag' Pick

Colts Take Oregon's Ace Shaw, Then Land Alan Ameche

NEW YORK (AP)—Two of the slickest quarterbacks of the 1954 college season—George Shaw of Oregon and Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame—may ply their trade within 35 miles of each other next fall and make contenders of two of the weaker sisters in the National Football League.

Shaw, a 185-pound throwing whiz who led the nation's major colleges in total offense, was the surprise bonus pick of the Baltimore Colts in yesterday's prolonged professional draft, enabling the Washington Redskins gleefully to pluck the All America Guglielmi.

Wilbur Ewbank, the Baltimore coach, explained his choice of Shaw, a third-string All America, over the highly touted engineer of Notre Dame's fighting Irish.

"We think Shaw is the best quarterback in the country, barring none," he said. "We know he is a great passer—he proved it with a losing team. We weren't too sure about the passing of Guglielmi because Notre Dame isn't essentially a passing team."

The Colts in their first regular pick seized Alan (The Horse) Ameche, stampeding All America fullback from Wisconsin, giving them a potent one-two punch on the ground and in the air.

Seers of the professional circuit immediately labeled Baltimore a team to be contended with in 1955. The Colts were next to last in the Western Division last fall with a 3-9 record.

"The draft tightened the league considerably in my opinion," said Commissioner Bert Bell. "Baltimore and Washington particularly strengthened themselves."

Adrian Extends Win Streak to 13 Games

ADRIAN (AP) — Unbeaten Adrian stretched its winning streak to 13 games last night with an 88-63 MIAA basketball victory over Alma.

Otto Graham Urges Halt to Vicious Football Play

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Otto Graham, time to curb vicious playing which he claims is increasing in high school, college and professional football.

* * *

"You should knock a guy down and smile at him when he gets up," the Cleveland star said in an interview with Jimmy Burns of the Miami Herald.

Otto said he particularly objects to use of the elbows to inflict maiming blows.

"Note how many players are now wearing face masks," he said. "There are a few players who try to hurt you instead of stop you. I recall one player saying 'you're not a pro until you've lost four or five teeth.' I believe in being cautious, and keeping my teeth."

* * *

Graham thinks it might be wise to declare the ball dead when the ball carrier is tackled. This should not apply merely when a player has slipped, he added.

Dave Jones, president of the Browns, was impressed by Graham's discussion of vicious playing. He said he would bring the matter to the attention of his associates at the National Professional Football League meeting in New York later this week.

* * *

Graham insisted he meant it when he said after the 1954 season that he was retiring from professional football after nine seasons.

Hold Rites Saturday for Veteran Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Funeral services for Ed Burns, famed veteran Chicago Tribune sports writer, will be held Saturday and burial will be in Chicago's Rosehill Cemetery.

* * *

Burns, 64, died Thursday. He had undergone two operations in Boston following an illness that developed while traveling with the Chicago White Sox.

More Than 6,000 Violate Game Laws

LANSING (AP) — Number of conservation law violators increased slightly during 1954, the state conservation department reported Thursday.

* * *

The department said 6,068 cases were taken to court last year — 100 more than in 1953.

E. E. Tucker, in charge of conservation law enforcement, said the increase in violations reflects a rise in the number of hunters.

* * *

Violators have paid about $65,000 in fines and costs during the past few years, the department said.

'Satchel' Is Named Best in 25 Years of Semi-Pro Test

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Satchel Paige was given a plaque last week as the No. 1 graduate in the 25-year history of the National Baseball program.

Satchel said he was 37 when he pitched Bismark, N. D., to the championship in the 1st national tournament here in 1935. He still holds the record of 60 strikeouts in a tourney—an average of 15 per game.

"That was my peak year," Paige said. "I sincerely believe I had more stuff that year than any time since, and my only regret is that the major leagues in those days drew the color line."

It was 13 years later that the lanky Negro got into the majors with the Cleveland Indians.

Ray Dumont, Congress president, presented the plaque during the TV show originating over KAKE-TV. Dumont said hundreds of thousands of players took part in the baseball program during the 25 years but "none ever came close to equaling Satchel at his peak."

"I wasn't known over the country until that 1st national tournament," Satchel remarked, "but from then on the fans began to know who I was."

Expert on Banned Books Writes One of Her Own

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—People are always kidding Boston for banning books—a sort of habit the city has got into, like drinking tea and wedding Beacon streeters to Beacon streeters.

But actually, Boston is as free and open as Reno, when you look at the book-banning picture in toto.

Almost every book worth commenting on over the past 20 centuries has been booted out of one place or another, for one reason or another; and Boston, which seems to object primarily to sex and obscenity, is not nearly so rough on reading matter as Ireland, for example, where a board of church censors seems to object to virtually everything.

This low-down comes from Mrs. Carolyn Haight, a gentle, graying woman who looks like she wouldn't dream of reading a banned book—much less peruse hundreds of them and write a treatise on her findings.

One of the first to get the heave-ho was Homer's "Odyssey." In Greece, Plato thought Homer's inkings were too black for immature readers, and in 35 A. D., he was ordered suppressed in Rome because he expressed Greek ideals of freedom.

Homer was closely followed by Aristophanes whose famous works were considered "destructive," "impious." They were ordered killed—and so was Aristophanes.

"At least," remarks Mrs. Haight, brightening, "we do not destroy our authors any more."

Mrs. Haight has spent nearly four years compiling a paperback called "Banned Books," an enlargement of an edition she first put out 20 years ago. It's a brief listing of most famous works of the past which have been refused to readers by persons in authority, usually because they differed with the then-current views on religion, politics or morality.

"Today, when a book is banned, it's good advertising for the author," she notes. But for 19 Centuries, a thinking man could count on poverty or loss of head for the privilege of expressing himself.

The Bible was one of the most banned books of all time. Sections of it have been ousted from almost every country. William Shakespeare has oft been in ye hot water in England, because some plays were always offensive to some monarchs.

("King Lear" was ruled off the stage while King George III, acknowledged to be insane, was ruler). The Bard has also been blackballed in certain areas of the U. S. for using coarse language and allegedly fostering (in "The Merchant of Venice") anti-Semitism.

Voltaire, who authored the statement "I disapprove of what you say, but I shall defend to the death your right to say it," contributed as many books to the fire as any author. His "Candide" was long suppressed, even in America, as obscene. And Hans Christian Andersen, the fairy tale man, has had rough going, as who hasn't?, in Russia where, it is said, the Soviet disapprove of glorifying princes and princesses.

"You can go through the whole long list of authors and it's the same. The intolerance of their times has temporarily fouled them all." Mrs. Haight gets angry in a mild, sweet way at the very idea. "There are always groups who feel they can say what people should read and should not read. This should not be. I agree with President Eisenhower when he said—'Don't join the book burners. Don't be afraid to go in your library and read every book, as long as any document does not offend our own ideas of decency.

" 'That,' said the President, 'should be the only censorship' "

Mrs. Haight's book on banned books comes out next month, and she knows enough to appraise it frankly.

"I'm certain it will be acceptable in Boston, which is quite lenient now. But I have serious doubts," and she wags her head sadly, "that I will be looked upon kindly in Ireland."

Chevrolet, Ford Continue Feud

Both Claim No. 1 Spot in 1954 Car Production and Sales

DETROIT (UP) — Chevrolet Division and Ford Motor Co., battling for the No. 1 place in car production and sales, still are feuding about which delivered the greater number of cars at retail last year.

Official registration figures which confirm actual deliveries, are not yet complete. Meanwhile, however, both Chevrolet and Ford are hinting their totals will be higher.

One certainty appears to be that whichever leads in retain sales, the margin isn't likely to be very great. But it appears to have great promotion value for the world's largest car builders.

In the announcement earlier this month of factory output Chevrolet's 1954 factory shipments were reported at 1,414,365 cars. Ford reported its Ford Division assembled 1,394,762.

Today, in what apparently is a revised total, Chevrolet put its factory sales at 1,421,476 cars and 328,102 trucks. Ford's 1954 truck output was given as 302,796.

If the figures are not further revised Chevrolet will have topped Ford in both car and truck output insofar as factory shipments are concerned.

But figures on actual retail deliveries will have to await the final tabulation of reports from the various states issuing vehicle licenses.

Two Suspects Held in Pontiac Stabbing

Two persons arrested by Pontiac Police in connection with yesterday's stabbing of a 25-year-old South Lyon man are being held in Oakland County Jail pending charges according to Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang who took the pair's statement today.

Held for investigation of felonious assault are William Brooks, 21, of 168 Wessen St., and Norma Jean Able, 23, of 70 Houston St. Brooks, according to statements, said he stabbed Edward Banks of 425 Donovan in self defense during an argument in a green 1949 Cadillac.

He said Banks attempted to stab him, but wrested the knfe away after a brief struggle. Miss Able said in her statement that she saw the struggle but was unable to reveal other information. Lang said that charges would be decided later today.

According to Pontiac Police, Banks had accepted a ride in the auto, in which Miss Able also was riding. Banks is reported in fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital where he underwent surgery for two stab wounds.

On Board of Supervisors

Opposition Kills Measure to Cut City-Member Loss

Opposition of township supervisors apparently has ruled out a stop gap measure to prevent a drastic cut in strength of city representatives on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

City members face a cut of about 60 per cent when their total on the board reaches 75, as expected sometime this year.

An amendment to the supervisors apportionment law, passed in 1943 to accommodate Wayne County, creates the threat to city strength.

A committee of city supervisors has decided not to advance a temporary measure to the Legislature which would exempt Oakland County while a "more equitable" apportionment law could be worked out, according to Suervisor Harold K. Schone, who is Oak Park City manager.

Recent and planned incorporations would bring the total to 79, which would automatically be cut back to 30. This would leave a five-man city majority on the board, compared with the present 39.

"We realize something should be done to give the townships a bigger voice than they now have," Schone has said.

"But we feel the present law would reduce city strength out of all proportion to the amount of county population they represent."

Discussions of the problem were held this week at the meeting in Lansing of the State Supervisors Assn., said Schone.

Township supervisors felt any change should be permanent, rather than doing something now and revising it later on," he explained.

"The temporary measure would have included only Oakland County and we did not present it to our legislators because we felt the county would have had to be solidly behind it to see it passed."

A committee of 10 Oakland County supervisors, five from cities, has been formed, Schone stated.

"We hope to meet within a week and start drawing up a bill for a reapportionment of supervisors acceptable to both groups," he added.

Township Seeks to Halt Diggers

Excavators Operating Illegally, Area Claims in Petition

Hearings began yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court on an attempt by Southfield Township to permanently stop operations of an excavating firm.

The township claims Floyd Beardslee, Floydene B. Brownlee and Evelyn B. Malcolm are operating a sand and gravel removal business contrary to a zoning ordinance passed Jan. 30, 1952.

The area is zoned residential and excavating causes noise, dust and traffic detrimental to home building, the township alleges.

The company claims it was operating before the zoning ordinance was passed. The law allows non-conforming uses to continue which were started before zoning restrictions are put on, it asserts.

The firm also claims the zoning ordinace is illegal because of improper procedure in setting it up. The company asks an injunction stoppong the township from interfering with its operations.

Terms of settlement included company - paid hospital-medical insurance for employes and their families, an Ontario-wide agreement, a modified union shop, a four-cent hourly improvement factor to be effective June 15, a seventh paid holiday and inclusion of an eight cent cost-of-living allowance into the base pay.

The walkout had idled more than 7,000 employes in three Ford plants in Ontario. It was the longest strike in Ford of Canada's history.

JULIE HELPS HER BROTHER

Julie helps her brother Jimmy keep the walks and steps free of snow. While he works with the shovel you made yesterday, she sweeps with her own broom.

1. With crayons, you can color Julie's outfit in different shades of green, yellow and red.
2. Paste the picture smoothly on stiff paper. Cut out the parts carefully. Fold the flaps on each side of the base along the dotted lines, so Julie will stand up.
3. Place the arms on top of the shoulder sleeves and fasten them to the body with small brass fasteners pushed through the dots, so that Julie can move her arms. Paste Julie's left hand over the top dot on the broom. Paste her right hand over the second dot on the broom. Now you can help Julie move the broom back and forth.

Petitions Seek to Ban Fluoride

Rev. R. Garner Head of Group; 2,100 Voters' Names Are Needed

Forty persons, meeting at Pontiac YMCA last night, formed the Citizens' Fair Government League. The group plans to circulate petitions opposing fluoridation of the city's water supply.

The Rev. Robert Garner, pastor of the First General Baptist Church, was elected chairman. Petitions calling for an ordinance prohibiting fluoridation were distributed. Fluoridation, approved by the U. S. Public Health Dept., state and national dental societies and health departments, and by many other groups, already has been approved by the Pontiac City Commission, but with a delay granted to permit anyone opposing it to circulate petitions.

If approximately 2,100 signatures of registered voters are secured, the proposal will be put to a vote of the people. If the names are obtained by Feb. 15, the proposal can appear on the April 4 ballot, otherwise a special election would have to be held, according to H. Malcolm Kahn, attorney for the group.

U.S. Landmarks in Lower Philly Warmed by Fire

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Fire which raged for nearly three hours early today destroyed two business buildings and damaged eight others in the lower Market street district near Independence Hall and historic Christ Church.

More than 300 firemen fought the flames in weather near the zero mark. At times both they and their equipment were sheathed in ice, and water froze in the streets, making their job all the more difficult and treacherous.

* * *

Long lines of hose and queues of apparatus, summoned by six alarms, snarled automobile and trolley traffic for many blocks at the beginning of the morning rush period.

The wrecked buildings housed sportswear firms. Those damaged were sports goods and clothing stores all within a single block. Neither Independence Hall nor Christ Church, in the same block as the fire, was damaged.

Courthouse Plan to Go on Ballot in Leelanau

LELAND (UP) — The Leelanau County Board of Supervisors has approved a resolution placing a $200,000 sinking fund proposal on the April 4 ballot to finance construction of a new courthouse and jail.

The present courthouse, originally built for an iron furnace company, is more than 75 years old and the county jail has been condemned. If the proposal is adopted, $20,000 would be set aside each year for 10 years.

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—The Irish Press predicted today that John J. Hearne, Ireland's ambassador to the United States, will succeed Sean Nunan as foreign secretary. Nunan intends to retire in May. The paper said Sean Murphy, Irish ambassador to Canada, would succeed Hearne in Washington.

'Tired Feeling' May Be Mental or Physical Sign

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A group of six doctors, panelists in a free public medical forum, say "that tired feeling" may be caused by anything from cancer to imagination.

The doctors, answering mailed questions before an audience of nearly 700 persons, explained that diet, glands, age, women's functional problems, cancer, heart disease, dissatisfaction at work, anemia, pregnancy and arthritis may result in "that tired feeling."

They offered suggestions on a cure for the "feeling" and also explained when sufferers should consult a physician.

Dr. C. Allen Payne, Kent County Medical Society president, noted the importance of investigating fatigue as a possible early sign of serious trouble.

He suggested that prompt diagnosis enabled patients to make the best use of medical skill and knowledge available with less cost and less pain or inconvenience.

The panel this week was the first of five forums sponsored jointly by the Kiwanis Club, the Medical Society and the Grand Rapids Press.

Dewey Drawing $2,400 Pension

Ex-Governor's Stipend Will Grow to $12,412 After He's 65 in 1967

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is drawing an annual state pension of $2,400, which he plans to have increased to $12,412 a year when he reaches 65.

Dewey, 52, and a senior partner in a leading New York city law firm, became eligible for his pension Jan. 1—the day Democratic Gov. Harriman succeeded him in office.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt reported today that the former Republican governor was eligible for a basic retirement allowance of $9,010.50 a year for the rest of his life.

But, Levitt explained, Dewey chose to take the bulk of his stipend after he becomes 65, on March 24, 1967. Rules of the State Employes Retirement System allow Dewey to select his own plan for receiving his retirement allowance subject to the state comptroller's approval.

On his 65th birthday, Dewey will start receiving the annual allotment of $12,412, which will continue for the rest of his life.

Como Will Sing His New Song

Dan Dailey Helps Out on Rehearsals —Takes Johnnie Ray to Ranch

By JACK O'BRIAN

Desi and Lucy's writers Madeline Pugh and Bob Carroll have a new series, "Three Sisters," for which Janet Blair and Betty Garrett have been tapped, with one sister yet to be found . . .

Dan Dailey invited Johnnie Ray to his ranch and helped Johnnie rehearse for "The Big Shot" (Ray's role on next Sunday's General Electric Theater —live) by playing all the other parts himself . . .

Perry Como will sing a brand new song on Max Liebman's "Spectacular" Sunday—"Peace of Mind," which he'll also publish himself . . .

Hall of Fame's radio drama (next Sunday on CBS) based on a little known incident in Sir Winston Churchill's young life, was acquired with just a token royalty of $500 to Sir Winnie's favorite charity, the Churchill Homes for Elderly People . . .

Producer Martin Jones is dangling syndicated cash in front of actress Judith Evelyn to do a five-a-week filmed soap opera—which could whip up suds as high as $7,000 a week . . .

Henry Ford's original 999 racing car will be shown on the NBC-TV Hall of Fame Sunday . . .

Theater Guild bought "No Time for Sergeants" for $1500 from the book's galley proofs for the U.S. Steel Theater March 15 show; movies will pay $100,000 or more . . .

Giving Mr. Peepers the shallow gag-file treatment with unlikely situations is the shortest distance between two channels which is why we dialed over to Giselle Mackenzie's nifty musical fooling Sunday.

Coast Guard Tows Fire to Waiting Firefighters

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Fire broke out aboard a barge loaded with sugar and hemp on the Mississippi River at the East St. Louis terminal. But fire hydrants weren't available on that side of the river.

So a Coast Guard cutter and a tug boat pulled the barge to the west side, where firemen—waiting for the fire to arrive—put it out.

Gas Firm to Expand

LANSING (UP)—The Michigan Public Service Commission has authorized the Citizens Gas and Fuel Co. to add 300 Southern Michigan customers, it was announced today.

DR. JAMES A. ABBOTT

State Hospital Names New Clinic Director

Dr. James A. Abbott this week was appointed clinical director at Pontiac State Hospital, according to Dr. Ivan A. LaCore, hospital director.

A member of the hospital staff since 1946, Dr. Abbott has been a board psychiatrist since 1952.

Dr. Steiner was clinical director at the hospital for the past nine years. He was honored at a farewell dinner party at the hospital this week.

Bill to Extend GI Rights Gets Unanimous OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unanimous House approval boosted today the chances for quick Senate passage of a bill to continue GI schooling rights for men in the armed services by Jan. 31.

The House passed the measure 366-0 yesterday and sent it to the Senate. Chairman Hill (D-Ala) of the Senate Labor Committee said he plans hearings on the bill for next week.

* * *

The measure would assure up to 36 months of government-financed education for those in service by Jan. 31. After discharge, they will be entitled to 1½ days of educational benefits for each day of service up to the maximum. It is expected to add about 350 million dollars to the cost of veterans' care.

President Eisenhower, in an order Jan. 1, ended Korean War veteran benefits to all men entering service after Jan. 31. The order also had the effect of limiting educational credits of those already in to the amount earned by Jan. 31.

Painter Proves He's Still Alive

Death Mixup Prevented Chicagoan's Collection of Social Security

CHICAGO (AP)—A coroner's hearing has solved the mystery about the reported death and burial of William (Pat) Wallace, a 74-year-old retired painter.

Wallace walked into Coroner Walter E. McCarron's office yesterday and said: "I'm the guy you are looking for, and I'm very much alive."

* * *

Wallace was the chief witness at a hearing before McCarron. The hearing officially established Wallace as himself and the man buried under his identity last November as another William Wallace, 74, whose full name was William Stanley Wallace, a resident of Skid Row.

Officials of Local 147 of the Painters Union had paid for the burial of William Stanley Wallace in the belief he was a former member of their union.

* * *

But Ray Shanahan, a friend of William (Pat) Wallace, met him a few days ago and learned that he was unable to receive old age and security benefits because of his reported death.

The union officers investigated and had his name restored to the rolls enabling him to receive the benefits. They also asked Coroner McCarron to clear up the mystery of the burial.

Leaving C. of C. Post

Signature to Complete Canadian OK of Pacts

OTTAWA (AP) — The Paris agreement to admit a rearmed West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization went to Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey today for his signature—the final step in Canada's ratification.

The Senate unanimously approved the pact yesterday, one day after the House of Commons okayed ratification 213-12.

Pump Gas for Charity

PORT HURON (AP)—City officials and other dignitaries manned the pumps as Port Huron gasoline dealers contributed to the March of Dimes Thursday. The dealers contributed four cents on each gallon sold for four hours — a total of $601.75. Some 55 stations took part in the campaign.

Pakistan Official Winds Up Visit to India's Nehru

Ghulam Mohammed was invited here for India's Republic Day celebration Wednesday as a step toward ending the long dispute between India and Pakistan, particularly over the future of the Himalayan state of Kashmir.

Nehru, India's President Rajendra Prasad and other high government officials were on hand at the airport to see Ghulam Mohammed and his party off. Before leaving, the Pakistani chief embraced Nehru and declared: "We must solve all outstanding disputes."

U. of D. Dean Retiring

A Little Spice and Garlic Does Wonders for Mind

Now that the former governor of New York, and Mrs. Dewey, have left behind the ugly brown state mansion at Albany and located themselves in a fine apartment in Manhattan—I wonder if they are still having roast lamb for dinner every few days?

It's funny how odd bits and pieces of interviews stick in the mind. It wouldn't be surprising if Mrs. Dewey had forgotten that the governor once inquired what she had planned for dinner, and wasn't happy to hear about the leg of lamb.

To which she very aptly replied — "Well, there are only a certain number of things one can have for dinner—!"

And isn't it so! Most of us read the excellent recipes for varying the beans and bacon, peruse the color pictures of succulent souffles, truffled corn pudding and the like. Then we go right back to the pork chops Monday, soup on Tuesday, lamb on Wednesday, cheese on Thursday, fish on Friday. Saturday and Sunday is your own business.

It's easier that way. The family gets used to sameness, even in rotation. Keeps the mind free for more important issues. Pork chops will do the trick, so why worry about it.

It's easy to feed the mind the same way. It gets used to a certain pattern of ideas. Certain ideas are palatable, others not. In our house, our section of town," we think thus and so. We approve of this, not that. We like our politics a certain way.

We like a touch of variety through the week, but we want to start right over again on Monday with the same old pattern. "It was good enough for Grandpa and it's good enough, etc. . ."

There isn't a single thing wrong with a saddle of lamb—but a little garlic and marjoram brightens it up a lot. Nor is there anything wrong with a certain trend of thinking, just as long as is doesn't become the iron clad ritual for a specific time or place. A little spice and garlic does wonders for the inroads of the mind.

A little change from platitudes, whether of the culinary or the cultural, the political or the ethical, makes both the stew and the outlook a better seasoned product.
