Curtice Bids Farewell to Friend

Harry Anderson Is Laid to Rest

Harlow Curtice Among 700 Mourners Filling Church in Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A small, quiet country cemetery—half-hidden in a pine and oak grove—became the final resting place yesterday of Harry W. Anderson, 67, retired General Motors vice president who died tragically in a hunting accident Wednesday.

Among the mourners was retired GM President Harlow H. Curtice, who accidentally shot Anderson as the two-long time auto industry associates hunted ducks on an exclusive reserve on Ste. Anne's Island between the United States and Canadian borders.

Nearly 700 persons, including many of the top executives of the automotive industry, business, labor and civic affairs, paid their final respects to Anderson during the modest Mormon burial service. Rites were held in the First Presbyterian Church in order to accommodate the huge gathering.

★ ★ ★

Anderson's wife, Veda, 40, though visibily dazed by the sudden death of her husband, maintained her composure throughout the two-hour ceremony. She was accompanied by a brother, Rulon Satterfield of Salt Lake City, and Dr. A. C. Kerlikowske, director of the University of Michigan Medical Center and a close personal friend of the family.

★ ★ ★

Anderson was eulogized by Mormon Minister Karl Richards of Detroit as having given "new stature to labor statesmanship" during his long and brilliant career with General Motors. Richards, a close personal friend of the deceased, told the church gathering that Anderson had won the deep respect of both his "fellow execu-

Free Fallout Shelter Can Be Yours---If

Want to have a free fallout shelter in your basement?

Civil defense authorities are prepared to make such a gift to some Pontiac family if the family, in turn, is willing to do a favor in the name of civil defense.

Pontiac is one of four Michigan cities selected in a $3,000,000 national campaign to encourage construction of fallout shelters, Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager, explained today.

The Office of Civil Defense and Mobilization (OCDM) plans to build free prototype fallout shelters in selected cities across the nation with special funds from Congress.

It plans to build eight big school-hospital type shelters, 25 medium-sized 100-person shelters and 100 of the small, family-sized shelters.

In Michigan, it wants to build family-size shelters in Detroit, Grand Rapids and Saginaw, as well as in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

"Fallout shelters are a major facet of the national civil defense program," Stierer said.

Having decided on types it figures will do the job, the OCDM is now setting out on the job of selling householders on installing shelters in their basements, he explained.

Stierer, assistant director of the Pontiac Office of Civil Defense, wants to find a Pontiac family that will volunteer for one of the square $500 concrete-block shelters which the OCDM recommend

GM Showing Signs of Activity

But Local Plants Can't Predict Date Workers Will Be Called Back

General Motors Corp., with 220,000 workers laid off because of the steel strike, was showing signs of increased activity today.

Chevrolet and Buick divisions recalled 3,733 employes for work next week.

However, spokesmen for the corporation's three plants in Pontiac, Pontiac Motor, Truck and Coach and Fisher Body, could not predict a date when laid off workers would be called back.

The Truck and Coach Division official said none of the approximately 1,000 employes idled some three weeks ago due to the steel strike have been called back to work.

"However," he said, "we still are producing heavy duty jobs on trucks and coaches. We didn't have to stop production as many of the other plants had to do. We have received no word when we could expect to recall them."

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Motor Division spokesman said, "We have not called anybody back. We can't gauge or approximate when we might resume production again."

Close to 8,000 Pontiac Motor workers were laid off when production ceased as a result of the steel shortage. The Division has retained its maintenance and service people, however.

Close to 2,500 have been laid off at Fisher Body in Pontiac.

Meanwhile, Chrysler Corp. reported 2,650 new layoffs and the company was expected to make further cutbacks next week.

Ford Motor Co., which makes about half of its steel, has had less difficulty than its competitors in keeping its plants in operation.

Area Can Expect Snow or Rain by Sunday Night

The Pontiac area can expect some light snow or rain by Sunday night, the weatherman said.

Skies will be partly cloudy tonight and tomorrow, with the temperature dipping to 25 tonight. A high of 38 has been forecast for Sunday.

Variable winds will become 8-12 m.p.h. southeasterly tomorrow.

The five-day forecast calls for only minor day by day changes in temperatures. Precipitation will total about one-tenth of an inch in a light rain or snow tomorrow and again about Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Temperatures rose to 36 yesterday and the wind velocity at 10 a.m. today was westerly at 18 m.p.h.

At 1 p.m. the thermometer stood at 38.

Is Charged in Plot to Burn Pontiac Furniture Store Last Saturday

A Detroit man was arraigned today in Pontiac Municipal Court on charges of being the arsonist in a plot to burn the Lord's Furniture & Appliance Co., Inc., last Saturday.

Leonard Schultz, 42, of 18677 Meyers Rd., Detroit demanded examination this morning before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan. Examination was set for Dec. 3.

He was freed under a $5,000 bond.

The two owners of the furniture store have admitted their part in the arson attempt. They are Sidney Cohn, 41, of 21190 Kipling St., and Irving Aaron, 50, of 24701 Church St., both of Oak Park.

They were arraigned Monday before Judge Finnegan, together with Nathan Wolfe, 45, of 18651 Northlawn St., Detroit, whom they said furnished the arsonist. Wolfe has denied any knowledge of the blaze. Examination for the three also will be held Dec. 3.

★ ★ ★

The two owners said Schultz picked up a freezer, washing machine and living room set the day before the fire was set. Pontiac police learned the truck had been rented by Schultz, owner of a restaurant at the Alamo Motel, 2700 Woodward, from a truck rental firm in Detroit.

The two owners have identified Schultz through Detroit Police

U.S. Warned Steel Strike Likely to Restart

Government Urged by Union to Stockpile for Defense Needs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Steelworkers Union has told the government it better get busy stockpiling steel for defense needs because the steel strike is likely to resume in late January.

Arthur J. Goldberg, union counsel, said the union wants to make it "perfectly plain that should the strike resume, any peril to the national safety will not be chargeable to the United Steelworkers of America."

★ ★ ★

Goldberg sent his warning Friday to Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller, whose department handles government acquisitions such as steel. Mueller is currently visiting Poland and there was no word on when a reply to Goldberg might be expected.

The union struck most of the nation's steel plants for 116 days. Early this month they were forced back to work by a court order under the Taft-Hartley law. After 80 days they are free to strike again if a settlement is not reached.

Goldberg wrote, "While I have not abandoned hope that a settlement in steel will be reached before the 80-day injunction expires, I must advise you in all candor that at the present writing no settlement is in prospect.

"Surely the defense of this country should not rest on a gamble that hopes for a settlement in the 80-day injunction period will be realized."

Goldberg said a Nov. 17 order to steel companies to give priority to defense steel was completely inadequate. The order, he said, merely covers current orders for steel and makes no provision to ensure that essential steel "not currently needed, but required in the reasonably foreseeable future for defense purposes, will not be used for civilian production."

★ ★ ★

If no steps are taken, Goldberg added, defense steel "will be permitted to slip through the hands of the steel industry into the hands of private, non-defense consumers."

Chutist Scared? 'I Was Too Busy'

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—Fiery-haired Joe Kittinger says his 15-mile parachute jump didn't scare him—he was too busy to worry.

Kittinger, a jet jockey turned space-age experimenter — with himself as a guinea pig — stepped out of a bucket-like balloon gondola at 76,400 feet over White Sands missile range this week.

★ ★ ★

Protected from 104-below-zero cold, he plummeted at nearly 450 miles an hour for about three minutes. Then, still 12,000 feet high, a parachute automatically opened, and he drifted the rest of the way to the desert in six more minutes.

★ ★ ★

It was another part in his continuing effort to help develop equipment to bring men back alive from emergencies on the edge of space.

"I didn't have time to worry," the well-knit, 155-pounder said. "I had so many things to do. This was a research job. I wasn't just sitting there thinking about the jump. I was trying to get data we didn't have already."

The Air Force captain said he kept track of the time and altitude "and physiological reactions" on which he did not elaborate.

★ ★ ★

COMFORTABLE SUIT

He said his pressure suit, equipped with an oxygen system, kept him comfortable "going up and coming down."

Is he in good shape after his big leap? Well, he flew an Air Force T33 jet trainer from his new station at Wright Air Development Center in Ohio to Holloman Air Force Base, just outside Alamogordo, Friday.

The Air Force missile development center at Holloman is where he was stationed until his move to Wright several months ago. Holloman and the missile center are on White Sands missile range.

The jump was Kittinger's 41st since 1956.

The Air Force said this not only was the highest parachute jump on record but was the highest man ever rode in an open balloon gondola. The sides of the bucket were about four feet high, and it was about 4½ feet in diameter. There was a gap in the wall for Kittinger to take that first big step.

★ ★ ★

Kittinger, who has a German-born wife, Pauline, and two boys, Joe III, 7 and Mark, 4, at home in Dayton, Ohio, is attached to the escape section of Wright Air Development Center. He more or less commutes by jet fighter between Wright and Holloman for test work.

New Agreement Includes Joint Atomic Projects

Sets Up Discussion for Direct Air Routes; Provides TV Swap

By A. I. GOLDBERG

MOSCOW (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union signed a new, two-year cultural exchange agreement today that includes joint projects in peaceful uses of atomic energy.

It also sets up discussions for direct Moscow-New York air links, provides for radio and TV program exchanges, and paves the way for the ultimate sending of the Red army chorus to the United States in view of the U.S. Marine Band playing here.

The Marines are expected to be here during President Eisenhower's visit, it was indicated.

The agreement, second of its kind provides for potentially thousands of Americans and Russians to exchange visits in 1960 and 1961 in art, educational, agriculture, industry and science fields.

★ ★ ★

Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson signed for the United States in a ceremony at the headquarters of the Soviet State Committee for Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries, Georgi Zhukov, chairman of the committee, signed for the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

Both said the agreement of the past two years worked out well and the new pact is expected to fulfill hopes of bettering relations between the two countries.

In answer to a question, Zhukov said he is flying to London Sunday and later to Paris to talk about similar cultural exchanges with those capitals.

★ ★ ★

Both sides made the point that the signed agreement — actually negotiated for the United States by a State Department team headed by Frederick Merrill—makes provisions for continuing negotiations and adding plays, films, radio and other specific in at least 15 categories.

Max Baer Killed by Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Max Baer, 50, died of a coronary attack today.

★ ★ ★

Baer was stricken in his room at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel.

He had been at the hotel since Thursday and appeared in good health except that he had complained of a cold.

The hotel physician, Dr. Edward Koziol, went to Baer's room at 8:15 a.m. and found the ex-fighter sitting on the bed.

'MADCAP MAXIE'

Dr. Koziol said Baer died at approximately 9 a.m. and that death was due to a coronary thrombosis.

Baer, often called "Madcap Maxie" during his ring years, won the heavyweight title 25 years ago when he knocked out Italy's Primo Carnera June 14, 1934 at Long Island City, N.Y.

★ ★ ★

His reign lasted just one day short of a year. On June 13, 1935, at the same Long Island arena across the East River from Manhattan, Jimmy Braddock surprised by dethroning Baer with a 15 round decision.

★ ★ ★

"I clowned away the title," Max said later.

Baer was born Feb. 11, 1909, in Omaha, Neb., of German-Jewish-Scotch nationality, and weighed 209½ pounds when he won then lost the title. In recent years he was an actor, entertainer and referee.

Work Progressing on New Courthouse

UP SHE GOES — There're plenty of sidewalk superintendents these days among Oakland County officials and residents watching the progress on the new courthouse going up in Telegraph road County Service Center. George F. Kimber, county engineering supervisor, said work, which began the second week in October, is about three weeks behind schedule due to the cold weather. A March 15, 1961 completion date has been set. In this photograph you're looking east from West boulevard into the basement of the building. Kimber said walls are about seven-eighths completed up to ground level. When it reaches grade, the size of the building will stretch farther north and south than shown in this picture.

It's Beginning to Look a Lot Like Christmas Downtown

It's getting Christmasy in downtown Pontiac.

Going up are the first decorations in what the Downtown Merchants Assn. promises will be the biggest and brightest display ever.

Evergreen festoons were wrapped around utility poles on downtown Saginaw and Huron streets yesterday. They were to be followed by new, illuminated Christmas tree cutouts.

Later this month the association plans to unveil a $1,400 life-size nativity scene on the Courthouse grounds.

Next month, a 60-foot Christmas tree will be put up at Saginaw street and Oakland avenue, decorated with over 1,500 colored lights.

There won't be any colored lights hung across Saginaw this season, said George Richman, association president.

★ ★ ★

It is believed such lights are a traffic danger, easily confused with traffic signals, he explained.

The new decorations are being purchased through funds which in past years would have gone into the annual Christmas parade.

"We believe most people prefer having a beautiful downtown area throughout the Christmas season rather than a single parade lasting only a matter of an hour or so," he said.

SWITCHED LAST YEAR

The association made the switch from parades to decorations last year.

The Parks & Recreation Department added something to downtown yesterday, too. Two boxed trees — an elm and a locust — were set next to the courthouse.

Donald E. Nagle, forestry supervisor, said they would stay there all winter on an experimental basis.

★ ★ ★

The merchants association has been asked to consider financing boxed trees like these throughout the downtown area.

Richman said the association welcomed the cooperation of the city in the effort to beautify downtown.

Window an Intruder?

LONDON (UPI)—A young brewery worker, fined one pound ($2.80) in Old Street Court yesterday for smashing a shop window, was asked why he did it. "The window mirrored my reflection," he explained, "and I didn't like it."

Parcel Post Rate Boost Likely After Christmas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Parcel post rates will go up soon, but most likely after the Christmas mailing rush is over.

★ ★ ★

An 88-million-dollar-a-year increase was approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission Friday. This averages to a 17.1 per cent boost over current rates.

★ ★ ★

The Post Office Department said it would announce next week when the new rates go into effect. Reports were that officials would give the public at least a 60-day notice.

★ ★ ★

The increases will vary according to the size of the package and the distance it has to go. Small items going a short way will shoulder the biggest boosts. And there will be reductions for some of the biggest packages heading for long trips.

Under the law, the postmaster general has to ask for an increase in parcel post rates whenever that aspect of the postal business is in the red.

★ ★ ★

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield asked for the boosts a year ago when parcel post losses were coming to 88 million dollars a year.

The last parcel post rate increase, averaging 36 per cent, was approved in June 1953. Summerfield put them into effect more than three months later.

He said the delay was needed to let users find out about the new rates and to distribute new parcel post tables to the post offices.

★ ★ ★

Congress controls the rates for most postal activities. But, under the law, the ICC handles parcel post rates. Its approval is needed for any change.

★ ★ ★

Big users of parcel post—mail order houses and department stores—strongly opposed the new increases. But a big competitor of parcel post, the Railway Express Agency, told the ICC that the rates should be increased.

Free Fallout Shelter Can Be Yours—If

and other necessities, such a shelter could offer a family protection during the time it takes for radio active fallout to disappear, the OCDM believes.

The family that gets the free shelter must have a big basement and a basement door leading directly outdoors, Stierer said.

This latter qualification reflects the fact that the OCDM wants the public to be able to view the shelter.

The OCDM wants to lease the shelter for a one- or two-year period, during which time it plans to open the basement to public inspection about four hours every week.

In the lease arrangement, it is also stipulated that the OCDM can experiment with the shelter for two 15-day periods.

FAMILY TO LIVE INSIDE

During these periods, it plans to have a volunteer family live in the shelter under simulated civil defense conditions.

But there won't be any actual radio activity in the experiment, Stierer emphasized, and the people who own the house won't be asked to take any active part.

More details about the shelter offer are available at City Hall, Stierer said.

Eleanor Powell Granted $40,000 Yearly Alimony

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UP) — Eleanor Powell will receive $40,000 a year for six years and then $30,000 a year for the rest of her life from actor Glenn Ford after their divorce, her lawyer said Friday.

Attorney Robert A. Neeb Jr. said the former dancer is also scheduled to receive half the community property and adequate support for their son Peter, 14.

Northwest Gets Dunked for the Fifth Day

By The Associated Press

Rain drenched the Pacific Northwest for the fifth straight day today.

Civil Defense units began evacuating farm families from lowland areas northeast of Seattle where the Homish River roiled five feet above flood stage.

Fifteen families were moved to high land in the Arlington, Wash., area, north of Seattle, when the Stillaguamish River spilled over a dike. Flooding also was reported in lowlands in western Washington.

Authorities counted one death in a rock slide touched off by the downpours.

tives and those across from him at the bargaining table."

As one of Curtice's top aides, Anderson made labor relations history as vice president in charge of personnel and chief negotiator of union contracts. He negotiated pacts that gave the UAW cost-of-living increases and annual wage hikes geared to increased production.

Anderson died when he was struck in the head with a blast from Curtice's 12 gauge shotgun as the pair took aim from their mobile blind on a flight of incoming ducks. Curtice said Anderson stood up and appeared to stumble directly into the line of Curtice's fire. Anderson died instantly.

The Earhart Cemetery in which Anderson was buried, located only two miles from his home on the Huron River north of here, is more than 110 years old.

Among the mourners at yesterday's funeral were George Romney, president of American Motors Corp., John S. Bugas, Ford Motor Co. vice president, and L. L. Colbert, head of Chrysler Corp.

Pallbearers included Louis S. Seaton, who succeeded Anderson as GM's vice president in charge of personnel, Earl Bramblett, GM's labor relations director and four other executives from the GM personnel staff.

Head-On Crash on Auburn Hurts 4 Early Today

Four persons were injured in a two-car head-on collision early this morning on Auburn road just west of Willit street, in Avon Township, according to sheriff's deputies.

★ ★ ★

One of the drivers, James H. Symington, 64, of 107 W. Tennyson St., and his wife, Emily, 51, were reported in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital this morning with rib and wrist fractures.

The other driver, Harold F. Kalbfleisch, 24, of 4881 Fiddle St., and his passenger Ella M. Billings, 42, of Madison Heights, were treated and released.

Deputies said the Symington car went out of control on icy pavement and skidded across the center line into the path of the other auto shortly before 3 a.m.

Mom, Kidnaped Tot Home

'Back in Pontiac to Stay'

Mrs. Marilyn Vickers and son are home to stay.

The 19-year-old mother arrived in Pontiac yesterday with her four-month-old son, James, who had been kidnaped by his baby sitter, Mrs. Diane Varner, 27, from a Chicago hotel room Wednesday night.

The blond, blue-eyed baby was found in a Gary, Ind., hotel room the next day by FBI agents. Mrs. Varner was arrested in a nearby bar and charged with kidnaping.

The kidnaper took the baby while Mrs. Vickers was at work.

Mrs. Vickers, separated from her husband James, had moved to Chicago seven weeks ago. She was supporting herself and the baby.

"I left home because I didn't want to depend on anyone for my support," Mrs. Vickers explained.

She will live with her mother Mrs. Martha Dietrich, 85 Henry Clay St., a nurse at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

MONDAY? JOB HUNTING

The first thing she plans to do Monday morning is go job hunting.

"But there will be no more baby sitters," she declared. "Mother will watch my child for me."

Mrs. Vickers called her mother the minute she learned the baby was safe. Mrs. Dietrich then drove to Chicago for her grandson and daughter.

They did an immediate about-face and headed back to Pontiac.

By 11 a.m. yesterday Mrs. Vickers and James were home.

"I was never so happy and relieved in all my life," Mrs. Vickers exclaimed when asked how she felt when she learned her youngster had been found.

The mother was reunited with the child at Gary's Methodist Hospital.

"He's all right," Mrs. Vickers said. "Just listen to the noise he makes, there's nothing wrong with him."

"I was very lucky and have a great deal to be thankful for," Mrs. Vickers said.

"Of course I didn't know it then, but that was the second time that woman had kidnaped a baby."

Mrs. Varner told police she was released last year from the Women's Federal Reformatory at Alderson, W. Va., where she served three years for an Amarillo, Tex., kidnaping.

"I have no hard feelings toward her," said Mrs. Vickers. "There must be something wrong with her."

All day Thursday Mrs. Vickers stayed at the restaurant where she worked. Early in the morning she toured Skid Row saloons with detectives, then went to work.

After working hours, she stayed at the restaurant.

"I couldn't go back to my room, I didn't want to be alone.

"All kinds of thoughts—the worst imaginable — went through my mind. Was my baby hungry? Would she be good to him?"

She was at the restaurant when Chicago police called to tell her the happy news.

"I knew that I'd return to Pontiac if my baby was safe," Mrs. Vickers said. "I'm here for good."

But County Injuries Slight

Roads Slick, Cars Crash

Nearly a dozen auto accidents were investigated by sheriff's deputies last night and this morning following a brief snowfall.

Pontiac and Redford State Police, and Waterford Township police all reported several accidents on icy roads after midnight.

There were only a few involving minor personal injury.

Deputies said that Thomas E. Shonk, 34, 19318 Stahelin, Detroit, was injured when a car driven by his brother Michael, 29, hit a slippery spot on M15 near Rattalee Lake road, Independence Township, and smashed into a tree.

Shonk was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Two drivers, Gary F. DuFour, 16, 322 Reitman St., and Warren A. Schwartz, 35, 2010 Pontiac Rd., both of Rochester, were hurt when their cars met head-on in a similar accident.

Both were treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released.

The collision occurred just after midnight on Walton boulevard east of Old Perch road, Avon Township.

Army Sets Up Reserve School for Officers Here

Capt. C. H. Reed, coordinator of the U.S. Army Reserve Training Center of Pontiac, has announced establishment of a U.S. Army Reserve School for officers and the appointment of Lt. Col. William Lacy, 847 Menominee Rd., as commander.

Lacy is former commander of the Army's Reserve Ordnance Battalion of Pontiac. He is principal of Washington Junior High School.

The new reserve school, which will have an infantry and ordnance section, is open to all reserve officers in the area.

The first meeting will be Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Reserve Training Center, 40 Walnut St.

Navy Develops Vaccine Against Eye Scourge

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy has developed a vaccine that could lead to wiping out trachoma, a widespread eye disease that is a scourge in Asia, the Middle East and the Mediterranean area.

The vaccine was developed on Formosa, the Navy announced Friday, and preliminary tests have shown it has no major bad effects on humans. How effective it is in preventing trachoma is still under study.

The trachoma virus had been isolated previously. But Navy Surgeon General Bartholomew W. Hogan said the Formosa vaccine is the first known to have had some success in controlling the spread of the disease.

★ ★ ★

American and Chinese doctors worked for more than a year isolating different strains of the virus and then developing vaccines by working on monkeys.

The highly contagious disease often causes total blindness.

Her body is at the William & Son Funeral Home, Royal Oak.

In Any Language

K's Name Means Trouble

TOKYO (AP)—How do you spell Khrushchev?

Depends a good deal on where you live, the magazine Shukan Asahi discovered.

Kroutchev (France), Chruschtschow (Germany), Chroestjew (Netherlands), Krushulov (Italy), Kruschev (Spain), Khrushtsev (Israel), Khrusjtsjov (Norway), Krustjev (Sweden), Hrushtshev (Finland), Chruszczow (Poland), Chruscov (Czechoslovakia) and Hruscov (Yugoslavia).

In Japanese it's Hu-Ru-Shi-Cho-Hu, in six phoentic signs.

The Chinese Communists write his name "Brilliant Russian Daybreak Man" in four ideographic characters and pronounce it Four-Lo-Hsiao-Fu.

Different spellings result from efforts to approximate the pronunciation of the name as written in the Russian alphabet.

Sheriff Warns Area Residents to Stay Off Ice

"We are now entering the most dangerous 30-day period on county lakes," Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons warned today.

Irons appealed to area residents to "stay off the ice until it is thick enough to hold a human being. This may take a full month or only a few weeks, depending on the weather, he said.

Parents have been urged to keep their children away from the lakes just beginning to freeze over around the shoreline.

Irons said, "low temperatures at night do not mean fast ice formation if the thermometer goes into the 30's and 40's during the day.

Last winter the lakes were frozen over by Christmas, but this is not the case every year, he said.

'Explosion' in County Probably Jet Boom

State Police and Oakland County sheriff's deputies say an explosion reported by many residents in the eastern half of the county yesterday afternoon was believed to have been a sonic boom caused by jet aircraft.

★ ★ ★

Two sharp claps were heard at about 5:30 in an area from Utica as far north as Almont. Police cars in many communities were sent out looking for a possible explosion.

★ ★ ★

Romeo State Police reported 25 calls into their switchboard.

Arraign Detroiter in City Arson Plot

Dept. files as the arsonist, according to police. Schultz has a long police record, they say.

Schultz voluntarily surrendered himself yesterday afternoon at the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office.

He admitted picking up the items from the store but said he paid the owners. He denies any knowledge of the fire.

★ ★ ★

The arson attempt fizzled when Pontiac firemen reached the blaze before it went out of control. They found sticks of phosphorous planted in the building.

Oil Firms Hit by Castro Law

Must Start Working Cuban Claims or Face Loss of Property

HAVANA (AP)—The Cuban government today aimed another blow at foreign business interests by passing a stiff law that will force oil exploration and exploitation companies to work their claims or lose them.

The legislation, which follows a tough new minerals law, also sets production quotas for petroleum refineries. Affected primarily will be three big foreign operations—the American-owned Standard Oil and Texaco companies and the British-owned Shell, Ltd.

★ ★ ★

During a seven-hour session, Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cabinet also:

Ratified a ban on the immigration of Chinese and non-Chinese Asiatics.

Created a new tourist institute with authority to start proceedings to expropriate any property deemed necessary for tourist development.

★ ★ ★

Approved a decree giving prosecutors in military tribunal trials the right to appeal the decisions. The Cabinet recently re-established Army tribunals to combat growing opposition to the revolutionary government. When the tribunals were active during the first six months of Castro's regime, 555 persons were sent to death before firing squads.

DON SHAW

Kroger Manager Group President

To Head Miracle Mile Association in 1960; Other Officers Chosen

Don Shaw of the Kroger Co. has been named president of the Pontiac area's Michigan Miracle Mile Business Assn.

The election of officers for 1960 was announced today.

★ ★ ★

All are store managers or owners.

Shaw, 2915 Otsego St., has been with Kroger since 1941 and manager of the Miracle Mile Kroger Store since October 1957.

Last year he was named 1958 Good Citizen of the Year for the Detroit division of the retail food firm.

Elected vice president of the association was Ralph Eastridge, manager of the J. C. Penney Co.

★ ★ ★

Walter McCauley, manager of Associates Loan Co., is the new secretary-treasurer and B. J. "Bud" Sweeney, representative of D. M. Casto Co., is executive secretary.

Members of the executive committee include William MacDonald of W. T. Grant Co., Lloyd Hessenaur of A. S. Beck Shoes, Robert Terry of the Pontiac State Bank, Harold Pankner of Poole Hardware, Gene Schweiss of S. S. Kresge Co., William Harmon of Kirby Shoes, Marvin Talan of the Lion Store, Morris Fierberg, owner of Nadon's women's shop; Dore Novitz, owner of Monarch men's and boys' wear; and Darelen Goldberg, manager of Robinson's dress shop.

★ ★ ★

The officers and members of the executive committee were installed at a general meeting and luncheon this week.

Stabs Husband During Family Quarrel in Home

A woman with a one-week old baby stabbed her husband with an eight-inch carving knife yesterday morning during a family argument in their home.

Carl O'Brien, 29, of 477 E. Montcalm St., was in fair condition this morning at Pontiac General Hospital after being stabbed in the abdomen.

His wife Marie, 25, told Pontiac Police she stabbed her husband during an early morning quarrel. She said her husband had beaten her before the knifing occurred.

She made a formal statement to the Oakland County prosecutor's office but was not held because of the baby.

The Day in Birmingham

City Commission Studies Water Authority Proposal

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission will consider a request to furnish water from Birmingham to the Southeastern Oakland County Water Authority in case of emergency.

★ ★ ★

No decision was reached several months ago when the authority first submitted the proposal due to difficulty in determining a method of measuring flow of water under such an arrangement.

City Manager L. R. Gare has been notified, however, that the water authority has installed a new type of meter at the 14 Mile-Eton road connection between the authority and Birmingham.

Gare will report to the City Commission at its meeting Monday in the Municipal Building that it is now feasible to measure accurately the flow of water which would be supplied from Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Gare said he will recommend to the Commission that a stand-by charge not be levied.

"By the elimination of a stand-by charge," the city manager said, "we would not be under obligation to the authority and could make our own determination of how much water to give them, if and when it was required."

His statement was an endorsement of the recommendation of Assistant City Manager R. S. Kenning.

In his report, Kenning stated: "We should sell the water at the current rate being charged us by the authority and not use an annual stand-by charge to the authority.

"The control of our water usage in an emergency would be greater because we would not be under obligation to share it with the adjacent area."

JOHN A. REUTER

The Manresa Laymens Retreat will recite the Rosary 8 p.m. today at the William Vasu Funeral Home, Royal Oak, for John A. Reuter, 77, of 3827 Oakhills Dr. Mr. Reuter died Thursday in William Beaumont Hospital following a brief illness.

Another Rosary will be said at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Solemn High Mass will be celebrated at 11 a.m. Monday at the Holy Name Catholic Church. Burial will take place in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Mr. Reuter was a prominent wholesale food dealer in Detroit for more than 50 years until his retirement in 1951.

He began his career as a teenager and later organized and was a partner in the firm of Grosberg and Reuter.

The firm organized the Packers Supermarket and Mr. Reuter became its president. In 1951, the chain amalgamated with Wrigley's Stores.

Surviving are his wife, Irene; a son, J. Warren of New Baltimore; two daughters, Mrs. Robert J. Vlasic of Grosse Pointe Shores and Mrs. Frank J. MacDonell of Birmiingham; two brothers, Edward and Arthur; a sister, Mrs. Matthew Boehmer; and five grandsons.

Ivan E. Chapman

Service will be held at 3 p.m. Monday at the St. James Episcopal Church for Ivan E. Chapman, 79, of Detroit, who died yesterday in William Beaumont Hospital after a long illness.

The body is at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.

Burial will take place in Acacia Park Cemetery.

A retired teacher and principal, Mr. Chapman was a member of the Detroit Athletic Club, past president of the Peninsular Chapter of the Schoolmasters Club and co-author of a text book on commercial arithmetic.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. David J. Dugan of Birmingham; a sister, Mrs. Carie Taylor, and a brother, H. H. Chapman, both in Florida.

Try to Snare Capsule Tonight

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Air Force crews make another stab today at man's first midair catch of an object from space — a capsule hurled from a satellite.

On their success—now or later—hinges the first American venture of a human being beyond the earth's atmosphere.

The 300-pound capsule will be ejected from the satellite Discoverer VIII which rocketed into orbit from this West Coast base Friday.

Planes are poised for a snag attempt as the capsule parachutes over the Pacific Ocean. Ejection is set for the satellite's 17th orbital pass (between 7 and 8 p.m. EST).

Frustrated on four earlier attempts, Air Force officials said they will keep trying until they clear this hurdle. Once a catch is made, the next logical step would be to send a monkey up in a satellite, then try to bring him back alive.

McGregor's Will Includes $25,000 for Area Church

St. Philips Episcopal Church in Rochester is listed for a $25,000 bequest in the will of the late Howard L. McGregor, Rochester area industrialist who died Nov. 7.

McGregor, 72, was board chairman of National Twist Drill and Tool Co. near Rochester and owned Great Oaks Farm in nearby Avon Township. His will was filed yesterday in Probate Court.

The bulk of the estate was left to a son, Howard L. McGregor. The farm and its Aberdeen Angus cattle were left to Robert W. Williams, who managed the farm for McGregor for many years.

Four lesser bequests of $25,000 apiece went to close friends and a granddaughter, Helen McGregor.

★ ★ ★

McGregor's son is president of National Twist Drill and Tool Co.

Whose Idea Is That?

LONDON (UPI)—The London Daily Telegraph reported today that Britain was represented at the Dijon, France, gourmet food show by displays of dog and cat food.

Pretty Good Reason

VIENNA (UPI) — Czechoslovakian newspapers admitted yesterday the nine-week delay in Czech shoe repairing might be explained by the fact that all repairs require the shoes to be sent back to the shoe factories.

Master Your Tensions

Love Not Enough for Child

GEORGE S. STEVENSON, M.D. and HARRY MILT

Bobby, Anne, and Richard are known throughout their neighborhood as the "three little animals." They hit, bite, and scratch each other, and any other children brave enough to play with them. They run off with other children's toys and break them.

Their poor mother is about ready to give up. "I've tried everything," she told a guidance counselor. "Everybody says — give them love. But I've been doing that since the day they were born. Tell me, what's wrong?"

The counselor gave her a very simple answer. "Love," he said, "is not enough."

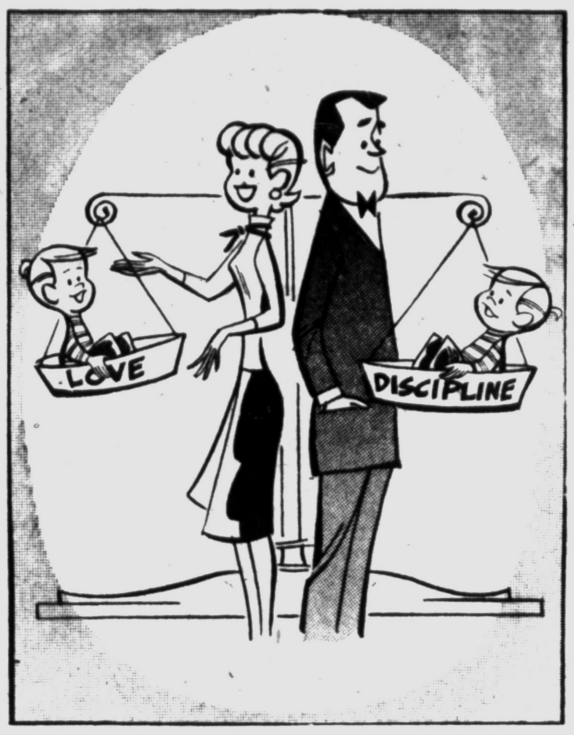

Love is only half of the prescription for reducing tensions in children. The other half is discipline.

Unfortunately, the word discipline has come to mean stern and punitive treatment, when actually the word comes from disciple — one who follows the teachings of a leader. It is in that sense that the word is used here.

★ ★ ★

Discipline may mean having to punish to stop disobedience. But even in its sternest form, it should be used to teach the child to control his own behavior, and not to beat him down.

At one extreme are parents who believe that children should have no discipline at all, because this might give them "complexes." At the other are parents who think children are "naturally bad" and should be watched and corrected every step of the way.

ARE YOU UNFAIR?

Alicia is 17, and she can't wait for the day when she will go off to college, out of the reach of the nagging and scolding she's been getting from the time she was an infant. "I've been made to feel," she told a friend, "that every time I want to do anything, I've got to ask my keeper to let me out of the cage."

Alicia's parents mean no harm. But they don't realize that lifelong policing implies a lack of faith in a child's ability to learn and behave himself.

Children should get only the amount of discipline necessary to teach them how to live safely and at peace with others. When discipline goes beyond that, it becomes a burden, and produces nothing but resistance and negative results.

A common complaint of children is that their parents are unfair. "They won't listen to me. They have only one answer to everything, and that answer is 'No.' "

★ ★ ★

Comments like this are often exaggerated, but in many cases they do arise out of justified grievance. What does "being fair" mean? It means putting yourself in your child's place and trying to see things the way he sees them.

It means giving your child a chance to explain. After the explanation, you may still be of the same mind, but at least you won't send your child off feeling that you've condemned him without a hearing.

FIRM HAND NEEDED

Betty Lou had been taking piano lessons for several years. When she entered high school, she was overwhelmed by her studies and had much less patience and energy for the piano.

One evening Betty Lou told her mother she was through with the piano. Mother retaliated by telling her she was not going to get a promised party dress.

For the next two days there was silent warfare. Finally, the girl exploded. She wept and shouted that her mother was cruel and unfair.

Betty Lou got her message across. The immediate conflict was settled by permitting the girl to drop her lessons for a few months to give her a chance to adjust to her school program.

A long-term gain was made, too. Mother resolved she would never again force a decision on her daughter without first considering the girl's views.

It does not, as some parents think, indicate weakness to admit an error and to reverse a decision. On the contrary, it indicates maturity and strength.

★ ★ ★

When children are untrustworthy and unreasonable, a firm and resolute hand is needed, rather than flexibility and a resort to reason. Some parents find it painful to be firm, and instead, resort to "reasoning it out." But this just won't work with young children.

Little April, who was 7, had been permitted to prolong the going-to-bed process into an agonizing affair filled with excuses, whining and pleading.

'Instead of shooing her off to bed, her mother would sit with her and explain (to a 7-year-old!) how wornout body tissues are replaced by new tissues during sleep.

GIVE 'EM LEEWAY, BUT

One night when April started on her old bedtime routine, her mother was short on patience and snapped: "April, you go to bed right away!" April made another try and asked: "Why, Mama?" "Because I want you to."

April's immediate response was "Why didn't you say so in the first place," and she scurried off to bed.

A good formula to follow is this: allow the child plenty of leeway on the little, ordinary matters where his behavior won't make much difference.

But when it comes to matters affecting the safety, welfare and morals of himself and others, then the rules should be plainly stated.

Parents are often confronted by a conflict on the one hand, they want to give their children, especially as they become older, the opportunity to handle their own affairs.

On the other hand, they are fearful their children are not grown-up enough to handle every situation with good judgment.

While we recommend strongly that children should be given plenty of freedom and initiative within their ability, parents shall not hesitate to step in when a child's immature judgment is leading him towards trouble.

Parents too often are fooled by surface brashness. While the young people will never say so outright, they may welcome parental interference that will take them "off the hook."

STEADY GUIDANCE

It is very confusing to a child to have his parents say "no" one day and "yes" the next. Children can't build up firm, steady self-control when parents don't give them steady guides to go by. If Billy is scolded one day for smearing up the living room rug with his paints, then he should be scolded the next time he does it.

An essential part of healthy discipline is the teaching of responsibility — of which there are two kinds. First, they should be taught to share in the work which keeps the household in operation. Second, they should be taught to assume responsibility for their own behavior, and to take the consequences, good or bad.

Mrs. F. is in constant conflict with her 14-year-old daughter Ella. "You say you'll do the dishes, but you let them go until bedtime, and then I have to do them myself. You promise to help out with the laundry, but you never get to it because you've always got something to do."

But what happens when Ella needs help? When she oversleeps and is late for school, Mama says: "Don't worry, darling, I'll drive you."

And when the girl falls behind in her school work, Daddy thinks nothing of dropping what he's doing to help Ella get straightened out.

From Ella's case and from thousands of others, the lesson comes through very clearly: You deprive your children of a feeling of self-respect, and gain no appreciation or respect for yourself, when you spare them from all work and responsibility.

Tourists Steer Wide of Cuba

Favorite Winter Spot Avoided After Castro's Tirades at America

NEW YORK (UPI) — American winter tourists by the tens of thousands have eliminated Cuba—for many years their favorite spot in the Caribbean sun — from their travel plans this winter.

Cuban travel bookings for the record tourist season just beginning are so pathetically few that Fidel Castro is sending his chief of tourism to New York next week for a last chance effort to drum up trade.

The Cuban Premier, who has whipped up anti-American feeling in his country while spending millions of dollars to attract American tourists, wants Carlos Almoina to find out why:

—Airplane bookings to Havana are off 90 per cent.

—Seven major steamship lines have eliminated 31 Havana stopovers from winter cruise schedules in the last week.

—American Express dropped its winter package tour of Havana Thursday and eliminated Havana from its escorted air tours of the Caribbean for 1960.

—Travel agents are refusing to promote Cuba and are telling client who insist on going that they "travel at your own risk."

—Puerto Rico, in particular, and other Caribbean neighbors such as Jamaica, the Virgin Islands, the Bahamas and Haiti are getting the bulk of the winter vacation trade.

Castro spent one million dollars entertaining 2,000 members of the American Society of Travel Agents just a month ago.

But the splendid impression his guests got of Cuban hospitality and tourist facilities was offset by his speeches, local demonstrations and the controversial "bombing" of Havana with anti-Castro leaflets.

Hawaiian Volcano Lava Lake Filling

HONOLULU (AP) — A rapidly filling lake of molten lava in Kilauea Iki crater was expected to reach the base of the fissure in the erupting volcano early today.

When that happens, the spectacular fountain of flowing lava may be reduced to a steady series of giant bubbles with occasional spurts.

The fiery fountain was still shooting as high as 800 feet on the eighth day of its eruption. U.S. Geological Survey officials measuring the lava level at the bottom of the crater—which spread into a 100-acre lake—said the lake is nearly 300 feet deep.

GMC Truck and Coach Division Making Best Trucks Ever Built

Although the steel strike is still holding Pontiac industry in low gear, a great and forward looking announcement came this week from the GMC Truck and Coach Division.

★ ★ ★

It has covered the field of industrial transportation with the greatest line of trucks ever unveiled. If you want to cart a packet of matches or a full grown pachyderm, GMC has precisely the vehicle designed for that particular assignment.

Make no mistake.

This outfit's running first.

★ ★ ★

Back when business wasn't as promising as it is now, PHILIP J. MONAGHAN and his associates drew up the most ambitious plans for expansion in the history of the truck industry. The great South Boulevard institution just about tossed all current things in the scrap heap and started from scratch.

★ ★ ★

"We had some really revolutionary ideas," said Mr. Monaghan, "and we were convinced they were sound, but they entailed such a huge expenditure we feared the top brass in the GM building might drop us out of the 14th floor windows."

But they went to bat.

And the answer was "yes."

★ ★ ★

Even after this, a few years' work remained to renovate a huge plant and bring in the equipment. Further, the country and the corporation were currently in the midst of an "austerity program" that delayed the start. But the whole thing's a fait accompli now and the new models have been transferred from drawing boards into living realities.

★ ★ ★

This is one of the most important developments in Pontiac's automotive history and augurs well for the future. The big South Boulevard plant is destined to grow and prosper further in the years ahead. It's in sound hands but hands that are essentially assertive and progressive. The average age of the administrative force is the youngest in the General Motors Corporation. It's an aggregation of doers. The men haven't the slightest interest in the past. The only calendar they know is tomorrow, next week and next year.

★ ★ ★

The whole area can be forever thankful for this great balance wheel in our local economy. It's the most leavening influence in the automotive industry. As Chairman of the GM Board, FREDERIC G. DONNER said earlier this week:

"Pontiac has two marvelous products."

Yes, Mr. DONNER, these current products are mechanical marvels. They've whipped the automotive world.

I'm Eating Cranberries . . . .

All this furor over the cranberry situation was caused by ARTHUR S. FLEMMING, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

★ ★ ★

He has probably killed the 50 million dollar crop which honest growers have raised "with faith, for Thanksgiving." If the cry of anguish becomes sufficiently nationwide, the U.S. may have to bale out the innocent growers by buying their products.

Then the taxpayers disgorge.

FLEMMING must be proud.

A few berries show signs of a "poison" that affects a man if he eats his weight in cranberries every day until Easter. And so this masterful soul shouts "wolf" from coast to coast and brings down the roof. If conditions were as bad nationally as he intimates, we should push Grant's monument up the Drive and make way for Flemming's —our hero.

If it's a false alarm, the Government should tell Van Doren to move over and let this master sit beside him.

Me?

Come Thursday, I eat 'em.

All or Nothing? . . . .

NELSON ROCKEFELLER said he was not interested in the GOP nomination for Vice President. It's the top spot — or he wants "out."

★ ★ ★

We hope his close associates change his mind as the combination ticket of Nixon and Rockefeller has color, sex appeal and the magic of big names well placed. Nixon says openly he hasn't a dime, while Nelson Rockefeller comes from one of the wealthiest families in the nation.

★ ★ ★

Anyway, the pair would give the Republican Party a man of great wealth and a man with none at all.

Here's a democracy and a republic at work.

★ ★ ★

Both men have fine personalities and are shrewd students of national and international affairs. Eisenhower and Nixon have dispelled the illusion that the Vice Presidency is a convenient shelf to "get rid of someone" and leave him in complete anonymity.

★ ★ ★

ROCKEFELLER would have a big, robust job of world importance.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Through the auspices of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, I had lunch with the top brass at Ford and General Motors this past week. Since we're strictly an automotive community, these gleanings should be of interest.

★ ★ ★

FREDERIC G. DONNER, Board Chairman of GM, asked, "How are things going in Pontiac?" I told him they were fine until this steel strike closed us up. He said: "Things should be good. Your city is turning out two wonderful products." Those are heartening words from the top boss . . . . . E. R. BREECH, Chairman at Ford, talked interestingly of the new cars and said their Falcon was very favorably received across the country . . . . . Pontiac's own "BOB" EMERICK has gone from 238 down to 216 pounds and he plans to shed 10 more. It's very becoming.

★ ★ ★

George Walker, Ford style boss, just completed a Lincoln Continental for Mrs. Breech that ranks as one of the most beautiful automobiles in America. It's a dark, wine red with a light interior and is really magnificent. Incidentally, George was on TV's "To Tell The Truth" program and he said Bud Collyer, MC, went to great lengths to avoid knowing which contestant was which to dodge rigging charges . . . . . Lou Weil, speaker for the ANPA read the birthplaces of most of the GM top executives and they were nearly all born in small, crossroad towns. High influences played no part.

★ ★ ★

HENRY FORD spoke for his company and made a very favorable impression again with his friendly attitude and bearing . . . . . The newspaper boys were kidding GM's GEORGE RUSSELL about staggering through life with all that money on his shoulders . . . . . MERRITT HILL, Ford executive, is back from acting as host to 70 tractor guests on a European jaunt. Incidentally, MERRITT'S a graduate of Pontiac Central . . . . . JOHN GORDON, GM President, was his usual ebullient self and greeted newspaper friends all over the place . . . . . The original HENRY FORD exercised great foresight in buying vast acreage around that Dearborn area. The Administration Building is a beautiful structure and has more available space surrounding is than of any other place I know . . . . . Both corporations feel the public is in an "automobile buying mood" if this steel situation doesn't hamstring the nation.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

"In the name of God, amen, we . . . having undertaken for the glory of God, and advancement of the Christian faith . . . a voyage to plant the first colony . . . do by these presents solemnly and mutually in the presence of God . . . combine ourselves together."

So wrote our founding fathers as they composed the Mayflower Compact before landing at Plymouth. Thus the Pilgrims began in faith, and it strengthened them to endure cold, starvation and disease.

Fifty of the 100 colonists died the first winter. Yet, when the Mayflower sailed for England, no one elected to return. They worked hard and reaped a bountiful harvest.

Then they rejoiced in thanksgiving, sharing their bounty with the Indians, in days of feasting and sport. Other colonies began to celebrate the day and in 1789 George Washington, officially proclaimed the holiday as one of public thanksgiving and prayer.

Christian Year Comes to a Close

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

This week draws the Trinity Season and the Christian year to a close, four weeks ahead of the end of the calendar year. Next Sunday the new year — and new cycle — will begin, with the Advent Season, which leads up to Christmas.

★ ★ ★

The Christian year divides generally into two main sections. The first, about to begin, deals with the life of Christ, beginning with Advent's preparation for His birth and ending with Pentecost, the day on which the Holy Spirit came to His church as He had promised to enable men to carry on the work Jesus has assigned to them.

After Pentecost comes the long, long Trinity Season — 26 weeks, or exactly half a year this year — in which the emphasis shifts from a commemoration of events in the Son's earthly life to a concentration on God's full revelation of Himself as Three Persons in One God.

ATTENTION FARRIERS

If you happen to be a farrier you should know that Monday is the day on which your patron saint, St. Clement, is honored. Crossword puzzle fans may know that a farrier is a blacksmith, particularly one who shoes horses, but we had to look it up.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Appendicitis, Olive Oil Don't Mix, so Try Iodin

Can a person be relieved of chronic appendicitis by taking pure olive oil internally for a period of time? Would there be any harm in trying it? (Mrs. R.E.G.)

★ ★ ★

Ans. — No. No harm in trying it, provided there is no acute inflammation or infection present. Olive oil is a food, slightly laxative. It is dangerous to take any laxative or cathartic when acute inflammation is present — if the trouble happens to be appendicitis the physic is pretty certain to aggravate it.

DR. BRADY

As for "chronic appendicitis" — to the best of my understanding there is no such condition. If you refer to repeated attacks of acute appendicitis, that is all too common.

★ ★ ★

You referred to milk as one of the nearly perfect foods. Does that mean that pasteurized and other doctored up milk has no food value? (Mrs. H. McW.)

Ans. — Heating milk up to 155 degrees F. for 20 to 30 minutes (pasteurizing) kills disease germs that may be present and so renders the milk less dangerous to drink, but alters food value very little.

Running my milk route seven days a week has kept me in good physical condition. But since I started taking iodin ration last spring I find that instead of lolling around afternoons I'm always doing things about the house and yard. . . (J. McN.)

Ans. — Everybody needs a wee bit of iodin daily and many, particularly in the Great Lakes region, do not get it. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for my free pamphlet The Iodin Ration. Best food sources of iodin are fish and shellfish from the sea.

★ ★ ★

Please explain what scoliosis is. Is it curable? (F.M.A.)

Ans. — Spinal curvature. It is usually curable if taken in time — when the patient is young. Too often it is neglected as "low shoulder" or "high hip" or "debutante slouch."

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Turns Problem Child Into Leader

Tommy's case is very common in Sunday School so scrapbook it for discussion at Teachers' Meeting. A little deft psychology can change Tommy into an enthusiastic Bible scholar. And he will then become an ally of the teacher instead of a chronic trouble maker. Then let your pupils take the Bible tests home to us on their parents. They relish doing so.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE D-406: Tommy L., aged 11, is a very energetic boy.

"Dr. Crane, he is a real problem," his Sunday School teacher began.

"He is the leader of several unruly boys. They try to attract attention to themselves by naughty behavior.

"They want the spotlight all the time and are trouble makers.

"Should I write letters to their parents about the problem? That's what we do in the public schools."

CRANE

SUNDAY SCHOOL PSYCHOLOGY

Tommy wants the limelight. He is a grandstander.

But that is not unnatural among children, for everybody at birth is branded with this tattoo across his chest:

★ ★ ★

"I Want to be Important."

Since he doesn't know anything about Bible stories, he can't gain prestige by correct answers to the teacher's questions.

He feels like a dunce. But that is a very deflating thought for everybody, so Tommy decides to gain notoriety, even if he can't win legitimate fame.

Shooting paper wads is a quick route to public attention. And because most children are overawed by adult authority, it makes the rest of the youngsters gasp somewhat admiringly at Tommy's audacity.

★ ★ ★

When he makes funny faces or pulls the chairs out from under his classmates, Tommy knows he is hogging the spotlight.

There are several effective methods to use in this type of situation.

First, employ typewritten True-False exams or the "multiple choice" type of quiz on the lesson topic, such as:

T F (1) The first King of the Jews was David.

To phrase the same query as a 4-answer (multiple choice) item, use this plan:

The first King of the Jews was Solomon-Saul-David-Hezekiah.

★ ★ ★

Let your pupils then encircle the letter "T" or "F" for the true-false queries or underline the one word of the four which they deem correct on the 4-answer type of quiz.

COOPERATION WITH TEACHER

It is smart for the teacher to invite a ringleader like Tommy to help prepare the quiz for the following Sunday.

With a few sheets of carbon paper, Tommy can help type enough copies of next week's exam to cover the class of 10 or 12 children. By enlisting his cooperation, his teacher thus makes him feel more important.

He can also help correct the exams on the next Sunday morning. She thus makes him a monitor or "straw boss."

By the way, these simple typewritten exams cause children to cooperate well, for if they come from a non-church home and thus know little of the Bible, they still can take a chance and try to guess the right answer.

Then, after the discussion of all the questions is finished, let them take their quiz papers home to test their Daddy and Mother.

This puts them in the role of teacher. Children relish "showing up" their supposedly superior parents on these Bible tests.

Rotate the job of having different pupils help prepare the written exams.

★ ★ ★

And if you teachers also visit the homes of your children, you will find that most behavior problems subside, even without your saying a word to those parents about their naughty youngsters.

Perk Up Sunday School Attendance," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Readers Tell Views About Cranberries

Maybe everyone else is all set to forget about the poison on the cranberries, but the Government wouldn't have come out and said what they did if something hadn't been wrong. It's too bad the cranberry growers have lost money, but it's a lot better to lose a few dollars than to take a chance on making people sick over the holidays.

Doubtful

I intend to eat cranberries whether the health department says I should or not. It's been proved that even on the bad berries there wasn't enough "poison" to hurt anything, and there are plenty of good ones around. What was all the fuss about?

L. L. J.

My father has grown a lot of cranberries on his farm and if he doesn't sell them because of this Secretary in Washington, then I think he should start a suit against the Secretary and demand full value of his crop. That man should have quietly gone to the bad area and straightened it out instead of getting up on top of a house and yelling his fool head off.

We Need the Money

I told my wife if she ducked the cranberries to give me a double dose of that heavy, rich gravy and I would worry through the meal and the only one who loses is the grocer.

'Give God Thanks for All Blessings'

Thanksgiving. The word actually makes your eyes light up and brings sort of a sensation in your stomach to know you'll be tasting all the traditional season dishes — turkey, cranberry sauce, dressing and pumpkin pie.

★ ★ ★

As you sit down to dinner on this particular day, food will naturally predominate, but many will go back and relive in memory what they have to be thankful for since the last Thanksgiving season. No person in the world knows better what to be thankful for than you, yourself.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps there are millions of things to be thankful for, but you know best what your blessings were; instead of picking out one particular blessing, why not just thank God for all your blessings?

As you thank a friend for doing you a favor, remember that God is your best friend.

Church to Build in the Spring

First Unit Scheduled for Construction After Fund Drive Successful

The Lutheran Church of the Ascension has announced that the first unit of the new church will be built in the spring on the Ponti c Lake road site.

The recent drive for construction funds was considered successful with a total of $16,000 turned in or pledged. This together with the help of the Lutheran Board of American Missions, assures the starting of the church.

Smith & Smith architects have been given the "go ahead" signal for drawing plans for the church, according to the Rev. William LaFountain, pastor.

Pastor Will Speak on Missions Board

The work of the Board of National Missions will be emphasized when the Rev. William Palmer, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church in Auburn Heights preaches at the 11:15 a.m. service on "The Mission-Evangelism."

"A Harvest of Praise" will be sung by the Chancel Choir.

The adult communicant's class, which meets at 10 a.m., will discuss "Our Presbyterian Heritage."

At the 6 p.m. youth service, a Thanksgiving film will be shown.

To Present Concert

The Couples Club of Trinity Baptist Church will present Mrs. Joel Hatchett Jr. and James Thnelkeld in a concert Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Classical and religious music will be included on the program.

This group of young people holds rallies on the first and third Saturday evenings of each month and a singspiration the second Sunday night of each month at 9:45 p.m.

The staff includes Glyn Stone and William Meyers, co-ordinators; Terry Walker, music; John McKinny, promotion; John Maddox, counselor; Bob Bell, head usher and David Brien, pianist.

Tibet Refugees Rushed Help

Church World Service Answers Plea to Aid Victims of Revolt

An urgent appeal from an emergency relief committee in northern India for help in feeding the growing influx of refugees from revolt-torn Tibet is being answered by Church World Service.

★ ★ ★

The National Council of Churches' relief agency immediately made up to $10,000 in cash available to the committee in Darjeeling to purchase food and other emergency supplies. It also ordered foodstuffs for an equal amount released from CWS stocks in India.

Noting that a brother of the Dalai Lama, spiritual and political leader of Tibetan Buddhists, is a member of the relief committee, Dr. R. Norris Wilson, CWS director, added that another member is Tensing Norkay, Nepalese conqueror of Mt. Everest.

Dr. Wilson also recalled that in 1955, Church World Service sponsored Thubten J. Norbu, another of the Dalai Lama's three brothers, who came to the United States under the Refugee Relief Act.

★ ★ ★

When Mr. Norbu escaped from the Chinese Communists in 1950, India offered him asylum. He later went to Japan and is now studying in this country.

New St. Luke's Church Choirs Will Sing

New choirs have been organized at St. Luke's Methodist Church, Pontiac road near Perry street. They will sing at the 11:15 a.m. worship service Sunday.

Sponsored by the Sunday School, they are being directed by Mrs. Donald Erickson.

Church Council Pioneers Reading Primer for Haiti

The first primer and graded readers for the adult Creole-speaking people of Haiti will soon chalk up another literacy first for the Committee on World Literacy and Christian Literature.

★ ★ ★

Following nine days of intensive work on the primer in Port-au-Prince, the Rev. Dr. Frederick J. Rex reported on his return last week that publication is expected soon. He is education secretary of the Lit-Lit Committee of the National Council of Churches.

"This is the first time," he said, "that representatives of 35 Protestant groups in Haiti have ever sat down together to work on any project." A temporary literacy committee has been formed headed by the Rev. W. Lloyd Shirer, Disciples missionary and chaplain at the Albert Schweitzer Hospital.

Dr. Rex also reported that the U. S. Point IV technicians in Haiti were so enthusiastic about the primer they lent the services of a fine artist to do the pictures and plan to run off 20,000 copies for their own use.

Dr. Wesley Sadler, who accompanied Dr. Rex, served in Haiti on his first Lit-Lit assignment. He was consultant to the group in discussions of dialect and other problems in teaching a language spoken by the majority but which few can read or write. Dr. Sadler leaves shortly to direct the new Literacy Center in Africa.

★ ★ ★

Plans call for three graded readers to be included with the primer in a kit containing a pencil and notebook. One will recount Haitian proverbs and fables and another is to be called "The Family Goes to Market."

The third and future readers will deal with child care, health and similar subjects, and short stories of Jesus' life will be added gradually, Dr. Rex explained.

The Haiti literacy campaign, which will be conducted by the local churches, has received the approval of the Minister of Education, said Dr. Rex.

★ ★ ★

He added that 85 per cent of the people are "functionally illiterate" and estimated there are 300,000 Protestants in the 153-year-old republic out of a population of 3.5 million.

The Rev. Gerald W. Gibson will preach on "Judgment to Come" at the 11 a.m. service Sunday in Central Christian Church. At 7 p.m. his topic will be "Paul and His Friends."

Confident Living

Thanksgiving Day Calls for Nation to Bow Low

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

On Thursday, Americans all over the world again will be observing our great national day of Thanksgiving. The purpose of Thanksgiving Day is to remind us to be grateful for God's bounty, which has permitted us to grow as a nation from humble, threatened and often starving settlements on the shores of New England and Virginia to our present size and prosperity.

PEALE

But there are other important aspects of Thanksgiving of which we should also be reminded. One is to cultivate the attitude of gratitude for personal blessings. Just suppose you did not have them!

I remember Dale Carnegie told how he had once tried an experiment of deliberately imagining that he had lost everything: his health, his job, his family, all his friends. Mentally he pictured that he had lost everything. Then in his thoughts he dwelt upon the sad state of affairs into which he had fallen. And the more the thought about it the more unhappy it all seemed.

Then, he said to himself: "The wonderful truth is that I do have all these things. I haven't lost them at all. I do have my health. I do have my job. I do have my family and my friends."

Instantly he felt a great burst of happiness and realized how grateful he should be. He became intensely thankful for the everyday blessings he had been taking for granted.

★ ★ ★

Actually this is excellent psychological procedure and I recommend it to you when you get to feeling that life is treating you badly. It is a good exercise for Thanksgiving Day. Take your own inventory of your everyday blessings, either mentally or even in writing, and then consider how terribly bereft you would be without them.

★ ★ ★

Then remind yourself of all that you do have and how wonderful it is to have them. You will gratefully find that you have so very much to be thankful for, not only on Thanksgiving Day but all the year round.

You see, the simple things, the things we take for granted in our everyday lives, are never quite that simple, and should never be simply taken for granted.

Let this Thanksgiving season, then, be for each of us a time to count our blessings and to be really grateful for them. Let it also be a reminder that thankfulness to God is not a matter for Thanksgiving Day alone, but for every day of the year.

There is a fine Thanksgiving Day prayer written by the great English preacher of Elizabethan time, Lancelot Andrewes. Although more than three hundred years old it expresses thoughts which each of us may profitably use today. Perhaps you might like to read it for the family when you sit down to Thanksgiving dinner.

★ ★ ★

"O Lord my God, for life and reason, nurture, preservation, guidance, education; for Thy gifts of grace and nature, for Thy calling, recalling, manifold recalling me again; for Thy forebearance, long-suffering, and long long-suffering toward me, even until now; for all from whom I have received any good or help; for the use of Thy present good things; for Thy promise, and my hope, of good things to come; for all these things, and for all others, which I know, which I know not, manifest or secret, remember or forgotten by me, I praise Thee, I bless Thee, I give Thee thanks; and I will praise, and bless, and give Thee thanks all the days of my life. Amen."

World Council Resettled Many Refugees Last Year

The resettlement in 1958 of 10,190 refugees and migrants from 40 countries brought to 107,686 the total moved in the past seven years, Dr. Edgar H. S. Chandler reported to the executive committee of the World Council of Churches.

The director of the WCC Service to Refugees continued: "To this figure we must add the approximately 100,000 refugees who were helped to resettle overseas between 1948-52, including 60,000 who went to the United States under the auspices of Church World Service of the National Council of Churches."

Dr. Chandler said Australia received the largest number in 1958—3,781, of whom 955 were White Russians from mainland China. Second came the United States which received 3,090, and third was Canada, which took in 1,214 refugees and migrants.

"In Latin America, Brazil was the scene of our most dramatic refugee operation," Dr. Chandler reported. There, 524 Russian Old Believers were resettled while 504 migrants went to other Latin American countries in 1958.

With over 2,000 refugees in China holding visas for Latin American countries, and many hundreds more documented for emigration," he continued, "1959 will be a busy year for our offices in those countries."

★ ★ ★

Declaring that efforts are constantly being made to find permanent homes for the difficult-to-resettle refugees, Dr. Chandler said that Belgium, France, Sweden, Holland and the United Kingdom have each taken a small number.

Many of the aged and chronically ill have also found homes in several of these countries, and 18 of them are now placed in the new wing of the Hospital de la Paix in Istanbul, Turkey, built with U.N. grants given to the World Council.

Brotherly Help Builds New Church

SOUTH PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—How does a congregation of 29 build a $51,000 church?

It's simple — brotherly love as exemplified by brethren in two distant states — Oklahoma and Texas.

Nearing completion in South Portland is a Church of Christ that will seat 200.

Blocked by a bank's refusal of a $25,000 construction loan because the congregation was so small, Shirley L. Morgan, minister, appealed for help to the Church of Christ in his hometown, Snyder, Texas, and the church in Del City, Okla.

The Oklahoma congregation raised $23,000 by selling bonds. The church at Snyder borrowed $12,000 from a Texas bank and gave it to the struggling South Portland brethren.

Fifty Persons to Be Confirmed

St. Andrews Episcopal Church, Drayton Plains, Scene of Service

Fifty persons will be presented for confirmation at St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Drayton Plains. The class actually numbers 52, but two were confirmed previously in a home service.

★ ★ ★

The service, which includes 24 youth and 28 adults, will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich will perform the ritual. He and Mrs. Emrich will be guests of honor at the reception after the service. Hosts will be the confirmation class of 1958 with Mrs. Robert Brown of Pontiac as chairman.

Corsages and boutonnieres will be presented to the class.

First Communion will be received at the Thanksgiving Eucharist Thursday at 9:30 a.m. or the following Sunday at the 8 a.m. service. The Sunday service will be a national corporate communion for men and boys.

Because of the size of the class, attendance at the 7 p.m. service Sunday will be by invitation only so that godparents and relatives may be accommodated.

★ ★ ★

Special music will be by the combined and augmented choirs under the direction of Ivan F. Rouse, Jr., musical director. They will sing "Brother James Air" arranged by Gordon Jacob.

The Rev. Waldo R. Hunt is pastor of the church.

Steinhaus Sets Organ Recital

Second Series Concert Will Be Composed of Bach Selections

The second program in the 1959-60 series of monthly organ recitals at All Saints Episcopal Church will be presented Sunday at 5 p.m.

Phillip Steinhaus, organist and choirmaster, will devote the entire program to works of Johann Sebastian Bach.

★ ★ ★

Numbers he will present will be "Prelude and Fugue in B Minor," "Sonata 1 in E-flat Major," "Prelude and Fugue in D Major," "O Lamb of God Most Holy" and "Farewell I Gladly Bid Thee." His closing number will be "Fantasia and Fugue in G Minor."

Services Listed by Pastors' Group

Traditional Union service is announced by the Pontiac Pastor's Assn. for 10 a.m. Thursday in First Congregational Church.

Other services scheduled by the group include 7:45 Wednesday evening at Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church; 10 a.m. Thursday at Grace Lutheran and Oakland Park Methodist churches and 11 a.m. in Trinity Baptist Church.

Churches Seek 'Crumbs' From Thanksgiving Table

Protestant churches will seek a few crumbs from America's Thanksgiving table next week for hungry children, widows and old people in other lands.

★ ★ ★

Across the nation, special offerings will be taken up at Thanksgiving week services for the annual "Share Our Surplus" (SOS) appeal of Church World Service.

Church World Service is the overseas relief agency of the National Council of Churches. The money raised through "SOS" offerings is used to distribute food year-round to some 20,000,000 destitute people in 25 countries.

The 1959 goal is $865,210 — a fraction of what Americans will spend on their Thanksgiving feast.

Even this modest sum, however, will go a long way. Food sent overseas by religious relief agencies is provided free from government stocks of farm surpluses. Distribution costs, which the agencies pay, are held down because much of the field work is done by missionaries and volunteer church workers.

The result is that every dollar contributed sends more than 300 pounds of food abroad.

The same charity bargain is available through several other religious agencies, including Catholic Relief Services, the United Jewish Appeal, and Lutheran World Service, which conduct their fund drives at other times of the year.

★ ★ ★

These agencies recently received a rude reminder that their food distribution programs are made possible, not by America's concern for the hungry abroad, but by Congress' solicitude for the American farmer.

Ohio Pastor to Speak in Pontiac on Sunday

The Rev. J. T. Davenport of Lima, Ohio will speak Sunday at 3 p.m. in St. James Missionary Baptist church.

★ ★ ★

He is being sponsored by the Pastor's Aid Club of the church.

Many members of the Ohio congregation including two groups of singers are expected to accompany their pastor.

"COMMON RELIGIOUS ERRORS NOT ENDORSED BY THE BIBLE"

Roosevelt Wells

The last two articles which have appeared in this space have been on eternal punishment. In those articles I endevored to present to you evidence which would conclusively prove that ETERNAL PUNISHMENT IS FACTUAL NOT FICTIONAL. Some would have us believe that ETERNAL PUNISHMENT is a THEORY DEVISED BY THE DEPRAVED MIND OF THE MODERN THEOLOGIAN, DESIGNED WHOLLY FOR THE PURPOSE OF FRIGHTENING MODERN MAN INTO SUBMITTING TO HIS FANATICAL, RADICAL, MISGUIDED CONCEPTION OF THE RELIGION OF JESUS CHRIST. This is not true. For Eternal Punishment is presented to us in the Bible as that to which many will be subjected who fail to, "DO THE WILL OF THE FATHER" and who KNOWLINGLY AND CONSISTENTLY COMMIT SINS AGAINST GOD. In concluding this study of ETERNAL PUNISHMENT I would to share with you these words from Albert Barnes. In commenting on Matt. 25:46, he says, "The original word here translated PUNISHMENT MEANS TORMENT OR SUFFERING INFLICTED FOR CRIME. The noun is used but in one other place in the New Testament, 1 Jno. 4:18. The verb from which the noun is derived is twice used. Act. 4:21; 11 Pet. 2:9. In all these places it denotes anguish, suffering, punishment. It does not mean simply a state of condition but absolute, positive suffering; and if this word does not teach it no word could express the idea that the wicked would suffer. —In regard to the meaning of the word Everlasting in this place it is to be observed, 1. That the literal meaning of the word expresses absolute eternity—ALWAYS BEING. 2. THAT admitting that it was the saviour's design ever to teach this doctrine this would be the very word to express it; and if this does not teach it, it could not be taught. 3. That he knew that the doctrine was calculated to produce fear and terror; and if he was benevolent, and actually used language calculated to produce that fear and terror, his conduct cannot be vindicated in exciting unnecessary alarms. 4. That the word used here is the same in the original as that used to express the eternal life of the righteous: if one can be proved to be limited in duration, the other can by the same arguments. The proof that the righteous will be happy forever is precisely the same, and no other, that the wicked will be miserable forever." Comm. on Matt. by Albert Barnes. No one that the writer knows actually desires to be punished forever, consequently it would be advantageous to OBEY THE GOSPEL OF JESUS CHRIST 1 Thess. 1:7-9 and LIVE SOBERLY, RIGHTEOUSLY AND GODLY IN THIS PRESENT WORLD. Titus 2:12. BELIEVETH THOU THIS?

'Humanism Has Failed'

Chinese Philosopher Tells Why He Turned to Christ

By LOUIS CASSELS

On a wintry Sunday morning several months ago, a small, bespectacled man with Oriental features was received into the membership of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York.

No publicity was given to his conversion. Only the Rev. David Read, minister of the church, and a few others were aware that the new member was the distinguished Chinese philosopher, Dr. Lin Yutang.

Although Dr. Lin has many other claims to fame, he is best known to Americans as the author of "The Importance of Living." The volume is a witty exposition of Confucianist philosophy which has enjoyed tremendous popularity in this country since it was published in 1937.

What led this outspoken unbeliever to join the Christian church at the age of 62?

Dr. Lin answers in a brief but moving spiritual autobiography in the current issue of Presbyterian Life magazine.

HUMANISM INADEQUATE

Throughout most of his adult life, he recalls, "My only religion was humanism: the belief in human reason and in man's power, lifting himself by his own bootstraps, to better himself and make a better world."

But gradually, "below the surface of my life, a disquiet began to set in."

"It was born both of reflection and experience. I saw that the fruit of the humanistic age of enlightenment was an age of materialism. Man's increasing belief in himself as God did not seem to be making him more Godlike.

Ultimately Dr. Lin arrived at the conviction that "humanity is not, and never has been, sufficient unto itself," and that "mankind cannot survive without religion."

The next question he faced was: "Is there a satisfying religion for the modern, educated man?"

TURNED TO CHRIST

He first examined the great Oriental religions, and found their answers inadequate. Then he turned to a study of "the awe-inspiring simplicity and beauty of the teachings of Jesus."

"I found that no one ever spoke like Jesus. He spoke of God the Father as one who knew Him and was identified with Him in the fullness of knowledge and love.

"It was astounding to learn that God, as Jesus revealed Him, is so different from what men had thought of Him to be. There is a totally new order of love and compassion in Jesus' prayer from the cross, 'Father forgive them, for they know not what they do.'

"I saw why men have turned to Jesus, not merely in respect but in adoration. In Him, the message of love and gentleness and compassion becomes incarnate."

GOSPEL BELL RINGERS PLAY AND SING — The Gospel Bell Ringers are scheduled to present a program Dec. 3. They will play and sing at the Light and Life Men's banquet in the Ada Shelly Library. Recently they gave a program at the Christian Temple. Members of the group include (from left) Larry Scherman of 666 Squirrel Rd., Mrs. John Pearson of 754 Squirrel Rd., Mrs. Russell Scherman of 666 Squirrel Rd., Debra and DeAnn Pearson, daughters of Mrs. Pearson. Mrs. Scherman, mother of Larry and Mrs. Pearson sings with her granddaughters. Larry and Mrs. Pearson play the Pakistan Saucer Bells, the trombone, euphonium, accordion, piano and organ. A student at the Bible School in Cincinnati, Ohio last year, Larry expects to return to study for the ministry. Mrs. Pearson composes music and runs a gift and dress-making shop at her home. They are members of the First Free Methodist Church.

Says to Cherish Church Liberty

Talk Less and Do More to Preserve It, Urges Department Director

Declaring that today's pressures and threats to religious liberty in this country must be constantly resisted, Dr. Claud D. Nelson has urged church people to talk less and do more about preserving it.

The director of the Department of Religious Liberty of the National Council of Churches addressed the 16th annaul meeting of the Pittsburgh, Pa., Council of Churches.

"The separation of church and state is not clearly defined either by Supreme Court decisions, Roman Catholic doctrine or consistent Protestant practice," Dr. Nelson told the assembly. Stating that he had seen religious liberty slowly slip away in other countries where the church accepts too much from the state, he called for joint interfaith understanding of what is at stake.

"Any violation of religious liberty jeopardizes all liberty," Dr. Nelson declared. "Conversely, every invasion of civil rights threatens the freedom of the church and synagogue, particularly if religious leaders ignore or condone the violation."

Warning that government subsidies may turn out to be "money to Caesar's servants," Dr. Nelson said that both Roman Catholic and Protestant thinkers are becoming aware of the need for a clearer and more consistent definition of church-state relationships.

Release Figures on Adventist Aid

Pontiac Churches Give Help Valued at $8,894; State Tab $27,685,730

Lansing headquarters for Michigan Seventh-day Adventists today released a report on church welfare and disaster aid activities for the past fiscal year which included work by Pontiac members.

Howard D. Burbank, health and welfare director for Adventist work in Michigan, said Adventist churches had dispersed clothing, medical aid, food and cash in Michigan valued at $27,685,734.

The Pontiac Adventist Church last year gave $8,894 in aid to 754 persons. Director of the local work here is Mrs. Cecil T. Reynard, 2130 Stout St., Keego Harbor.

The Pontiac health and welfare society is associated with the district Adventist Health and Welfare Federation. Mrs. Allen M. Breakie of Ypsilanti, directs the district work.

Text of the Presidential Thanksgiving Statement

Following is the text of President Eisenhower's Thanksgiving Day proclamation:

The time of harvest turns our thoughts once again to our national festival of Thanksgiving, and the bounties of nature remind us again of our dependence upon the generous hand of Providence.

In this sesquicentennial year of Abraham Lincoln's birth, it is fitting and proper that we should use his words contained in the historic proclamation of 1863, establishing this annual observance, to express anew our gratitude for America's "fruitful fields," for our national "strength and vigor," and for all our "singular deliverances and blessings."

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people, and the government of the United States of America, are dedicated.

We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among men and among nations.

★ ★ ★

We earnestly hope that forbearance, understanding, and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labor in this fair land.

Let us stand fast by the principles of our republic enunciated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom.

As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfill those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

Now, therefore, I, Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States of America, in consonance with the joint resolution of the Congress approved Dec. 26, 1941, 55 Stat. 862 (5 U. S. C. 87B), designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, Nov. 26, 1959, as a day of national thanksgiving.

On that day let us gather in sanctuaries dedicated to worship and in homes devoted to family sharing and community service, to express our gratitude for the inestimable blessings of God; and let us earnestly pray that He continue to guide and sustain us in the great unfinished task of achieving peace among men and nations.

Fund to Build Chapel for Camp Pugsley

BIG RAPIDS (UPI) — W. C. Taggart, well-knowen Big Rapids philanthropist, has donated $30,000 to build an all-faiths chapel at Camp Pugsley, a probationary camp for youthful offenders, it was revealed recently.

★ ★ ★

Construction on the chapel, which will seat 100 persons, will start soon. Camp Pugsley is located near Kingsley in Grand Traverse County. Named in honor of Circuit Judge Earl C. Pugsley of Hart, the camp is for offenders under 22 who do not require imprisionment.

★ ★ ★

The chapel will form an integral part of the camp's rehabilitation program, corrections department officials said.

Family Planning Urged

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—A Lutheran clergyman says that planned parenthood is "just good Christian common sense." Writing in the current issue of a church youth organ, Luther Life, he said indiscriminate procreation is "A blight, not a blessing." But many Christians, he added, have "stored up unnecessary guilt feelings" about birth control.

Poor to Be Aided by Presbyterians on Thanksgiving

Sunday in the Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church, the Thanksgiving spirit will center around "Others."

At the morning service, the congregation will bring foods and cash to fill baskets for the less fortunate, and the Westminister Fellowship will make an undesignated offering. The funds will go to its project, "Support for Ron Bumstead," a member of the church studying for the ministry.

Dan Proctor is the new director of the youth choir.

Here's Guidepost for Younger People

"I've been getting a lot of mail from kids—boys especially—who ask me if I don't think it's pretty sissy for them to go to Sunday School. I want to say right here and now that it isn't sissy at all.

"The things you learn in Sunday School will give you strength you'll need against difficulties and temptations of all kinds when you grow up.

"So go to Sunday School regularly, and learn all you can about the Bible and Christ's teachings—you'll always be glad that you did.

"Both my wife and I have accepted the Lord Jesus Christ as our personal Saviour.

"We love Him, try to follow Him in our daily lives, and are bringing our children up under His guidance.

"To us, Jesus Christ is truly 'the Light of the World.'"

"Thanksgiving Day — Remember Jesus Christ," will be the theme of the Rev. Theodore R. Allebach Sunday at 10 a.m. in Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

The adult choir will sing "Let All Things Now Living" and "O God Beneath Thy Guiding Hand."

The Pioneer Encampment will be held at 7 p.m., when 50 awards will be presented.

Churches Given Loans

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP)—Loans to 228 local churches, amounting to more than $4,500,000, were made last year by the Board of Church Extension of the Disciples of Christ (Christian Churches), it was announced at church headquarters here.

Youth Celebrating Brigade Week Here

This is Christian Service Brigade Week for many youth groups in Pontiac area churches.

The battalions and stockades are taking part in many church services, and special recognition is being given to outstanding members.

* * *

Among the area churches with organizations are First Baptist Churches in Pontiac, Walled Lake, Drayton Plains and Rochester, Marimont Baptist Church, Silvercrest, Sunnyvale, Christian Missionary Alliance and the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Must Give to Others

WASHINGTON (UP)—"Charity begins at home, but it doesn't end there," says the Rev. James L. Vazzard, director of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference. Writing in the Catholic monthly, Ave Maria, he adds: "As the most prosperous nation in the world, we cannot ignore less favored people."

Nation's Greatness to Be Church Topic

"What Nation So Great?" is the topic of the sermon by the Rev. Malcolm K. Burton at the worship service Sunday morning in First Congregational Church.

Charles Wilson, minister of music, has announced the special selections.

★ ★ ★

For the prelude and offertory he will play "Lord Christ, God's Only Son," by Pachelbel, and "Meditation," by Wyton.

The anthem to be sung by the chancel choir is "We Thank Thee," by Bortinanski-Tkach. Mrs. Carl Leonary will sing "Like as the Hart Desireth," by Allitsen.

Bethany Baptist Plans Children's Program Sunday

"It Costs to Give Thanks" will be the theme of the sermon by Dr. Joseph I. Chapman Sunday at 8:45 and 11 a.m. in Bethany Baptist Church.

★ ★ ★

He will be assisted at the first service by Jill LaFountain and at the last by Raymond Travis.

There will be dedication of children at the 11 o'clock service.

An open discussion will take place on the presentation made last week on the beliefs and convictions of the Christian Science religion. Dr. Chapman will point out areas of common agreement.

This is part of the program known as "Operation Understanding."

'Thanksgiving' Sunday Theme

Presbyterians to Have Rev. Hershey and Dr. Marbach as Speakers

"Thanksgiving" will be the theme at both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday in the First Presbyterian Church.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Galen Hershey will preach from the theme "Make Us Truly Thankful" at the first service and Dr. William H. Marbach's topic will be "Saying Thank You to God and Man."

Music will include Handel's "O Lovely Peace" sung by Jack Hillan and Royce Everett at 9:30, and "Lord of All Being," by the choir under the direction of Lyndon Salathiel at the 11 a.m. service.

"Leaders of the Protestant Reformation" will be the topic of the Pioneer group Sunday evening. Participating will be Susan Brooks, Elizabeth Grimes and Susan Hales.

★ ★ ★

Ted Panaretos, social worker at Pontiac State Hospital, will talk and show film at the meeting of the Tuxis group. This program will be under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. William Olmstead at 5:30 p.m.

Reed Singers End Programs

Sunday Evening to See Close of Special Week at Messiah Baptist

Sunday, 7:30 p.m., will mark the close of a week of programs at Messiah Baptist Church. Observing the 14th anniversary of the organization of the Reed Gospel Singers, the sermon will be given by the Rev. R. W. Wright.

Pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church in Detroit, he will bring three groups of singers from his church: A male chorus, the Wright singers; the Young Women's Christian chorus and the Goldenairs.

The Reed Gospel Singers was organized from members of New Hope Baptist Church and were named for the pastor, the Rev. Ford B. Reed. The group has kept together even though the members are now connected with other churches in the city.

Theme of the Sunday program will be "Sing Unto the Lord a New Song for He Has Done Marvelous Things for Us," taken from Psalm 95.

Church Plans Evening of Song, Surprise Soloist

An evening of song will be presented by Mrs. Roy Cummings in Macedonia Baptist Church at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Cummings, who is the wife of the pastor of Messiah Baptist Church, is the former musical director of Macedonia.

Among the songs she will sing are "I Want Jesus to Walk With Me," "In Times Like These How Great Thou Art," "Ride On King Jesus" and many others

She is also bringing with her a "surprise" soloist who will sing two songs.

Church in Drayton Plains Will Be Dedicated Sunday

Sunday has been chosen by St. Stephen Lutheran Church of Drayton Plains for the dedication of its new house of worship at 3795 Sashabaw Rd.

Three services will be held.

The service of dedication will be held at 10:30 a.m. with the opening of the doors and procession of the congregation into the church.

The Rev. Guy Bragdon Smith, pastor, will preach the sermon at the morning service.

At the 3:30 p.m. service the Rev. Edwin C. Weber, chairman of the Michigan district church extension board, will be the speaker.

The Rev. Louis Kochler, vice president of the Michigan district of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, will preach the sermon at 7:30 p.m.

Special music will be provided at all three services.

The Sunday School children will sing in the morning. The choir of Lutheran High School East will sing at the 3:30 p.m. service under the direction of Berwyn Lemke.

At the evening ceremony, during which the organ will be dedicated, John P. Baden of Detroit will play and Carmen Kaselitz, soprano, will sing.

A mass choir of members of Lutheran churches in the Pontiac area, directed by Paul Stohlmann of Pontiac, will sing a group of hymns.

Officiants at the services will be the Rev. Walter Gerken, pastoral counselor for the Pontiac Circuit; the Rev. William C. Grafe, pastor of St. Mark Church, Orchard Lake; the Rev. George Mahder, pastor of St. Paul Church, Pontiac; the Rev. Ralph Claus, pastor of St. Trinity Church, Pontiac; and the Rev. Gordon Behnke, pastor of Holy Cross Church, Oxford.

The ladies of the congregation will serve a hot supper in the church basement at 5:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The Drayton Plains area was canvassed in 1956 by members of St. Paul Lutheran Church of Pontiac under the direction of the Rev. George Mahder. The first service was conducted Nov. 4, 1956, by student Vicar Martin Renner with 41 persons attending.

When Vicar Renner returned to the seminary the Rev. William Grafe of Orchard Lake served as vacancy pastor until May 4, 1958. The Rev. Guy Bragdon Smith then became the first permanent pastor.

Ground breaking service for the first unit of the church building was held Nov. 2, 1958.

The congregation numbers 164 communicants, with a baptized membership of 280 souls.

General chairman for the dedicatory celebration is William Ginter. Others serving on the committee include Ervin Miller, congregational chairman; William Barlow, publicity; Warren Navarre, dedication booklet; Harold Kettner, building committee chairman; Emil Hagen, financial secretary; Charles Meyka, in charge of ushering; Mrs. Edward Kohnke, Ladies Guild chairman; Mrs. Norman Panker, Sunday School; Mrs. Raymond Walters, gifts and memorials chairman; Frank Mouser, elder; and Mrs. Ervin Miller, Ladies Fellowship Circle.

The $88,000 structure, designed by Chance Enterprises of St. Clair Shores, was completed by G. M. Merritt and Lyle S. Cole, architects, of Detroit. The builder was Frank Stewart and Son Construction Co. of Pontiac.

The new church is of contemporary design with a seating capacity of 300 and overflow space for an additional 100. The view of the nave from the narthex gives the impression of spaciousness enhanced by an abundance of light.

★ ★ ★

The chancel is accentuated by a 13-foot cross suspended above the altar. It is flanked on either side by a pastors' sacristy and a working sacristy, above which are the tonal chambers for a Baldwin electronic organ.

The woodwork in the sanctuary is a honey oak tone to blend with the pews.

★ ★ ★

A full basement provides a Sunday School and fellowship area as well as kitchen, church office, storage space, lavatories and a boiler room.

Teh pastor's study and the coat room are to the left of the church vestibule.

Members of the building committee are Harold Kettner, chairman; Emil Hagen, secretary; Ernst Mar, Wallace Zuelch, Charles Meyka, and Ervin Miller.

Billy Graham Convert to Talk

Service to Culminate Youth Fellowship Week at Missionary Alliance

Culminating a week of services by the Youth Fellowship of Missionary Alliance Church on M59, guest speaker Sunday will be Victor L. Oliver of London, England. He will speak at the 7 p. m. service.

★ ★ ★

The local fellowship have joined with some 1,000 other young groups in this observance.

A convert of Billy Graham's crusade in London, Mr. Oliver is serving as a missionary intern at the Christian Missionary Alliance Church in Flint, under the Missionary Internship, Inc. with headquarters in Detroit.

Special music for the Sunday evening service will be furnished by the Detroit Holiness Youth Crusade quartet.

Concert Here Sunday

A sacred music concert will be presented to the public Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Salvation Army, 27 W. Lawrence St.

The citadel band and songster brigade will give the Thanksgiving program, it was announced by Capt. J. William Heaver.

Stronger Sunday Schools Could End Delinquency

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa.—If parents would throw full support behind them, the Sunday schools could end juvenile delinquency in this country, a leading theologian declared here today.

Far more adults in the Sunday church school and far more Christian families at home are needed if the problem is to be solved, said Dr. Nels Ferre, Newton Centre, Mass.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Ferre, professor of theology at Andover-Newton Seminary, addressed a staff meeting of the National Council of Churches.

"Only through children can the world be changed," Dr. Ferre pointed out.

"Americans are "interested" in their children, he said, but they don't realize that "nothing is more important on earth" than strengthening the Sunday school. "The one thing children need the most, they're not getting."

Too many Sunday church schools, he stated, are "starved" for adult teachers and too many only "occupy time."

"A conscious conviction of the value of the Sunday school has not been caught by our people," Dr. Ferre stated. "Church members must assume responsibility."

Speaking about the home, he emphasized, "if we are to wipe out juvenile delinquency, another requirement is that the home become Christian and the Christian home 'fully Christian'. Also, the father must be 'loving' and 'fully strict.'

"Family devotions—too seldom practiced today—and the church school are both basic to success with young people," he said, "and are necessary supplements to each other."

Plans were completed for a Christmas party for the two Pontiac chapters Dec. 10 at 7 p.m. at the Waldron Hotel.

Friends Get Together in Birmingham

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BIRMINGHAM — Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. Galbreath of Columbus, Ohio, are here to spend the weekend with friends. They always attend the Michigan-Ohio State football game together, here or in Columbus. This is the sixth year this custom is being carried out. From Urbana, Ohio are Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stadler, houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Trumbull Jr. who will give a supper party after the game this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schmidt are here from Chicago and will stay with Mrs. Schmidt's parents, the Clark Bennetts of Westwood drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson B. Noland entertained the group at dinner Friday.

Others in the group, living in Birmingham, are the Loren C. Spademans Jr., the Wallace Mitchells and the Herbert W. Lesters of Ann Arbor, who were hosts at luncheon before the game today.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Galbreath will visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. Muir Lind over Thanksgiving. Mr. Galbreath will return to Columbus Sunday but will come back to spend the holiday weekend.

Also attending dinner tonight at the Trumbulls will be the William D. Seiberts, the Bruce Smiths, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Heuser and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Williams.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Baxley of West Hartford, Conn., formerly of Birmingham, are spending the weekend as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey B. Greene.

The Greenes will give a cocktail party and buffet supper for their guests this evening.

Mrs. William E. Hartman Jr. was hostess at luncheon Wednesday in her home on Berwyn road.

The senior Hartmans, who were former Birmingham residents, will come for the holidays from their home in Flat Rock, N.C.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Edward Purman Jr. will give a dinner Dec. 11 in their Lakeside drive home.

Nov. 28 has been set for the Winter Club dinner dance at Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton R. Kerr were cocktail hosts today before going to Ann Arbor for the Michigan - Ohio State football game.

Jane Ensign of Franklin, a student at Kingswood School, has a role in the Dec. 4 and 5 production of "The Bat," given by the Ergasterion drama group of Cranbrook School. Checking lines with Miss Ensign is Timothy Morgan of East Grinstead, Sussex, England who was awarded a fellowship by the English Speaking Union for a year's study at Cranbrook.

Will Benefit Cancer Research

Amies members are sponsoring a Turkey Trot Nov. 28 at the Cassino Restaurant, Telegraph and West Long Lake roads.

★ ★ ★

The annual affair will last from 8 to 12 with music by Chuck Lewis, a local disc jockey.

Tickets may be purchased from any Amies member or at the door. Proceeds will benefit the Cancer Research Fund.

Committee chairmen are Carol Hughes and Sheila Goldberg, hall, music, tickets and programs; Jennifer Clark and Linda Brown, decorations; and Sharon Guenther and Barbara Griffin, publicity.

Cathy Hawn and Peggy Warren are in charge of patrons.

★ ★ ★

Refreshments will be handled by Ann Hodges and Jane Charles. Martha Spark is in charge of the door prize.

Remember Veterans

Mrs. Olive Burgess, newly re-elected president of Oakland County Chapter 34, Gold Star Mothers, Inc., has announced the group will remember veterans at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Thanksgiving with fruit and pop corn.

Mrs. Eva Welch, hospital chairman, is directing the project.

Birth Date Mystery—Abby

Christmas Holiday What You Make It

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Already the stores are showing gifts for Christmas. It is a blasphemy to preach that December 25th is the birthday of Jesus. Jesus was born in October when the shepherds were still out with the sheep. Christ never asked or wanted his birth celebrated by gift-giving. That idea was invented by man, not God. Christmas is a racket and is getting worse every year.

A CHRISTIAN

ABBY

DEAR CHRISTIAN: The real Christmas spirit is "Peace on earth, good will toward men." If people wish to exchange gifts at Christmas time they need no commandment from the Scriptures to do so. Theologians have neither proved nor disproved the accurate birth date of Christ. Volumes have been written on this subject. But the last sentence always ends with a question mark.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about girls having to take showers together? After every gym period we have to take showers which, of course, we should. But there are no curtains or partitions for privacy and all the girls have to shower together. Some of the girls think nothing of it. But I was taught modesty at home and I do not like this idea. My mother doesn't like it either. Can something be done about it without causing a big fuss?

"MODEST"

DEAR MODEST: In my opinion, no girl should be compelled to shower with other girls if she doesn't want to. Yours is not the first letter I have received from a girl protesting "mass showering." Have your mother talk to the school authorities. Something CAN be done. But it will not be, unless someone complains.

'The Bat,' Dec. 4, 5

Play Set at Cranbrook

The Ergasterion drama group of Cranbrook School will present "The Bat," a mystery play, at 8:15 p.m. Dec. 4 and 5 in the school auditorium.

Timothy Morgan of East Grinstead, Sussex, England, winner of a fellowship for a year's study at Cranbrook by the English Speaking Union, will play the role of a socialite who is murdered shortly after his appearance in the melodramatic play written by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood.

Kingswood students in the play are Jane Ensign of Franklin, Carol Klenke of Bloomfield Hills and Abby Goldstein of Detroit.

Other Cranbrook school players are Louis Beer and Lanny Howe, both of Birmingham; Keith Davidson of Chicago; Tom Hipple of Dearborn; David Koether of Bronxville, N.Y.; and Fred Roth of Lakeside Park, Ky.

Karen Abbott Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Abbott of South Main street in Clarkston announce the engagement of their daughter Karen to Dean Giddings of Phoenix, Ariz.

Miss Abbott and Mr. Giddings are graduates of Alma College. They are planning a Dec. 27 wedding in Denver.

Mr. Abbott is principal of Owen School.

Mr. and Mrs. Benson O. Savedge of Anders street announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Lee, to Gregory L. Mooney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mooney of South Edith street. Miss Savedge, who attended Michigan State University, plans a June wedding.

Class Reunion Planned

Dinner and dancing will be the evening's highlights when Pontiac Central's Class of 1953 has its reunion Dec. 26 at 7:30 p.m. at Knights of Columbus Hall, Park street.

Plans were completed Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Wallace Knowles of Upland street.

Mrs. John Christoff of East Iroquois road, former class secretary and chairman of the reunion named her committee chairmen.

They are Mrs. Russell Bennett and Mrs. James Ladd, decorations; Mrs. Keith Traver and Mrs. Richard Hoehner, publicity; Mrs. Donald Harrison and Mrs. A. R. Bartlebaugh, tickets; Mrs. Allen Wickman, patrons; and Mrs. Knowles, entertainment.

★ ★ ★

Tickets may still be obtained from Mrs. Christoff. Class members and their friends are welcome.

MR. AND MRS. HORACE COOPER

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Cooper of Raeburn court whose 50th wedding anniversary is Tuesday will be honored at an open house for friends and relatives from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday. Mr. Cooper is a retired farmer and carpenter. The couple has five daughters, Mrs. Roman Dunlap of North Saginaw street, Mrs. Howard Blackburn of South Jessie street, Mrs. Charles Brown of Osmun street, Mrs. Helen Strong of Adams road, Mrs. Austin Crosby of Thompsonville, and a son, Horace Cooper Jr. of East Boulevard south. There are 13 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Story Unit Hears Tale of Hawaii

Julia Dalzell entertained the Pontiac Story League Thursday evening at her Monroe street home.

Grace Clark told a story of Hawaii and wore a muu-muu brought from Hawaii. Her story was "A Fisherman's Bad Luck" by Katherine Pope.

Mrs. W. M. Twichel related, "The Pedlar of Colored Threads" by Winifred Shattuck.

Margaret LaCocq was a guest.

On Dec. 17 the Walled Lake Story League will meet with the Pontiac league at Adah Shelly Library.

Pastor Speaks to Child Culture Club Meeting

The Rev. W. C. Grafe, pastor of the Lutheran Church of Bloomfield Hills, spoke to the Child Culture Club at the home of Mrs. Walter Johnson on Iroquois road, Waterford Township Thursday evening.

In his talk on "The Minds of Children," the pastor emphasized the child, his freedom, his responsibility and the background for respectful behavior.

The 18 members answered the roll call to the question, "Do You Approve of the Curfew and Why?"

Prevention Best

Face Blemishes Upsetting

As is true of so many defects in beauty, prevention is easier than cure.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A clear, glowing complexion builds self-confidence while one which is marred may cause a woman to be very self-conscious. Blackheads and pimples are two of the most usual offenders.

As is true of so many defects in beauty, prevention is easier than cure. Usually blackheads make their first appearance between the ages of 12 and 20, the peak being about the age of 17. During these years the glandular system is in turmoil and the little oil glands in the skin are abnormally active.

I often have asked dermatologists what can be done to prevent or banish these little pests. Sometimes the young person does not live near a skin specialist or cannot afford to be treated by one. Frequent washing of the skin, several times daily, always is recommended. Soap and water must be used to remove the excess oil from the skin. Otherwise this might combine with dirt and grime to clog the pores and form blackheads.

Many specialists also recommend the soap and water treatment for pimples. A complexion brush is fine when preventing or treating blackheads but experts like a wash cloth better for pimples because a clean one can be used each time. Otherwise infection might be spread. A drying antiseptic lotion should be applied to pimples.

It is most important to take care of the conditions which lead to blackheads or to treat them when they first appear. If they do not get too strong a hold, they will disappear when the boy or girl is older. When blackheads are picked at and squeezed, infection is apt to occur. Then the simple blackhead becomes a pimple.

Even fairly severe cases of acne sometimes improve tremendously during the summer because of exposure to sunlight. A sunlamp is helpful in fighting both blackheads and acne.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Reconditioning at Home" (some home treatments for skin defects) send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 49. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Ask Name of Caller on Phone

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Lately I have moved into an apartment house that has a telephone connection between each apartment to the street vestibule and a buzzer system that enables me to open the front door. Will you please tell if "Hello" is the proper way to answer this telephone when the bell rings?"

Answer: "Hello" is never unsuitable, but it would be more practical to ask, "Who is it, please?" A friend then answers, "Mrs. Smith to see Mrs. Jones." Or if she recognizes your voice, she says, "Mary, this is Sally! Can you see me?"

You then answer, "Yes, indeed" and release the door. Or explain that you are hurrying to go out, or to finish something, and ask, "Won't you come tomorrow?" or whenever.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A guest in our house recently disposed of cherry pits by dropping them into her cupped hand and then onto the side of the plate. As this person is someone whose table manners I have never questioned, I feel that perhaps I have been doing the wrong thing all my life and accordingly, instructing my children incorrectly. We have always dropped the pits into the spoon and conveyed them to the side of the plate. Will you please tell me which way is the right one?"

Answer: Either way is all right, but dropping the pits into the cupped hand is somewhat better table manners because less conspicuous.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's sister's son is going to be married soon to a divorced woman. They are not having a reception of any kind. My husband thinks we should send them a wedding present, but I do not feel that a wedding present is necessary under the circumstances. What do you think?"

Answer: Whether they have a reception or not, you would be expected to send a wedding present to your husband's nephew.

Nixon Urges More Athletics for U.S. Women

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon took a golfer's grip on a girls' hockey stick and put in a plug for making American women more athletic.

★ ★ ★

He greeted a trio of women physical education directors participating in next week's national field hockey matches at the Sidwell Friends School here, where Nixon's two daughters are students.

Nixon will welcome the participating teams at a field ceremony on Thanksgiving Day.

Nixon's daughters, Tricia, 13, and Julie, 11, are playing field hockey under Evelyn H. Fine, physical education director at Sidwell School.

'GO OUT AND WALK'

Miss Fine, Phyllis Pelleu, who captains the 1959 Southeast U.S. hockey team and teaches at Bethesda - Chevy Chase (Md) High School, and Elizabeth Cooper, of Calvin Coolidge High School here, called on Nixon.

"I encourage our girls," said Nixon, "to go out and walk and play instead of parking in front of the television set when they have free time.

"And I like to see competitive spirit. I think we've gotten away from 'wanting to win.' We should be good sports but we also should want to win."

★ ★ ★

Posing for photographers with a field hockey stock in his hands, Nixon took a golfer's overlapping grip on it.

"I wouldn't advise that," he was cautioned by Mrs. Pelleu.

Approximately one-third of all the steel supply of the United States comes from the Pennsylvania area.

Remember the wide shoulders and big sleeves of the '40s? They made waists look smaller, hips slimmer, and now this more feminine version is the height of fashion.

This Herbert Sondheim design plays it straight to create a background for the sleeve interest. The scoop neck is bordered in contrast which matches the wide belt, or a purchased belt may be used.

Try plain, print or plaid silk also plain woolens, for resort wear — checked cottons or gingham. The contrast can be faille, satin, pique or linen. From this size chart select the one size best for you.

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips Inches	Length From Nape of Neck to Waist

Grandma's Rules Are a Bit Out of Date

By RUTH MILLETT

A great many of grandma's rules for getting along with a man just won't do for granddaughter.

Grandma said, "Feed the brute," and counted heavily on her rich gravies, flaky pie crusts, and light-as-a-feather biscuit to keep her husband happy.

But today with men worrying about heart attacks and high blood pressure and being vain about their waistlines, feeding the brute just makes him growl, "You know I'm trying to keep my weight down."

Grandma thought that after a hard day's work a man had a right to peace and quiet and an easy chair. The modern idea of "togetherness" has laid that notion to rest—and papa is now expected to help mama cope with the kids and the dinner dishes after her hard day of car-pooling, doing community work and so on.

Grandma knew lots of little tricks for "managing" a man so painlessly that he never knew he was being managed. Granddaughter finds it much easier just to let her husband know who's boss and doesn't bother trying to make him think her decisions are his decisions.

★ ★ ★

Grandma made grandpa the center of the family, with everything revolving around his likes and dislikes and everyone catering to his convenience. Today the kids are the center of the family and their needs and demands come first.

HER PLACE

Grandma agreed with grandpa that a woman's place was in the home. But granddaughter may well be married to a man who doesn't want her to be "just a housewife" but expects her to either help earn the living or be active in community work.

That is how much marriage has changed in just a few generations.

MINCEMEAT COOKIES
By Mrs. George Larson

2½ cups mincemeat
1 cup lard or other shortening
1½ cups sugar
1 egg
3¼ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda

Cream shortening and sugar. Beat egg and add to mixture. Sift dry ingredients. Stir in mixture, blending thoroughly. Fold in mincemeat.

Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking pan. Bake 12-15 minutes at 400 degrees.

You Can't Get Much Farther Out Than This

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I don't like to call a girl a "broad," but since even nice girls call themselves that now, in Hollywood and on B'way, I suppose I must.

WILSON

Anyway . . . the first broad who ever went to Mars took us to lunch the other day.

"It's a real crazy joint, this Mars is," the gal, beautiful Hollywood redhead Nora Hayden, said. "They got man-eating plants with tentacles that strange you, and men 200 feet tall. I not only wouldn't want to live there—it's not even a nice place to visit."

"Sounds like a drag," I said. "Did you go on some junket or what?"

Nora shrieked. "Junket! Ho! Quel trip! Took 49 days flying to get there—no stopovers."

★ ★ ★

Nora said if anybody'd told her a year ago she was going to Mars, she'd figured they were smoking crazy cigarets.

But then she became a celebrated scientist — in motion pictures, that is — and they ordered her to Mars on a Navy rocket, so she packed a couple shortie nightgowns and wiggled aboard.

NORA

"Well, when we got to Mars, I tottered out and I was a mess," Nora said. "Imagine not having your hair done for 49 days!" Nora said the picture in Cine-magic, is going to make her famous — but it won't help the Martian tourist business.

"I didn't see any other broads and only one man," Nora wagged her head and added, "Talk about the man shortage. Worse than Hollywood.

"This one man I saw was far from yummy-looking. He had two antennae coming out of his head, and three eyes."

★ ★ ★

"I was ready to cut out after three days there but Gerald Mohr—the rocket commander—said we couldn't get through the gravitational pull. So then this Martian man gets confidential with me. Guess she never saw a red headed broad before.

"He speaks! He says 'We have been observing you for thousands of years through — I believe you call them flying saucers.' Oh, he was real sick, this boy! Oh I forgot one other man—a Martian midget . . . 33 feet tall. The other Martian towered over the mountains. And there was a giant amoeba with rotating, glistening eyes . . ."

"Who wrote up this pot of message?" I asked.

Nora said it was a really tremendous job of imaginative "science-fact" written by gifted Ibb Melchior, Lauritz Melchior's son.

"Listen, don't you want to hear about the rat-bat-spider that bit Gerald Mohr's arm while we were on Mars?" she demanded.

"Have they got rats on Mars?" the W.W. interrupted.

"Rats, bats and spiders all in one—HUGE—bigger'n John Wayne!"

Queen Elizabeth Marks 12th Year of Marriage

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh celebrated their 12th wedding anniversary yesterday without fanfare or fuss.

Prince Philip reserved the day for the Queen, keeping it free of the busy round of visits, dinners and other engagements which have occupied him in the past month.

For the Queen, it was another working day. She held a routine Privy Council meeting at the Palace during the morning.

Carolina Lawmaker to Retire Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Carl T. Durham (D-NC), who served twice as chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee which supervises the nation's atomic program, says he is retiring from Congress after next year.

Durham, 67, said Friday he expects to enjoy life at his home in Chapel Hill, adding "I'm still a registered pharmacist, when I feel like doing a little work."

'Brigitte Should Stop Peeling, Start Acting'

PARIS (AP)—Brigitte Bardot, who rose to stardom in the movies by taking off her clothes, has run into a crisis in her young career.

Her producer thinks the time has come for the "sex kitten" to put the accent on acting instead.

Miss Bardot doesn't like the idea.

"I shouldn't step out of the roles that the public likes," she purred to an interviewer.

★ ★ ★

The actress, now taking time out from film-making to have a baby, says she is confident "there will be a reconciliation" with the producer, Raoul Levy.

Levy, who has guided her career so far, says he is only taking a long-range view.

★ ★ ★

"I want to gamble on B.B. as an actress," he says. "I think that she could have 10 years of success as an actress, and not as a strip teaser. I know that I'm right."

Grand Rapids Annexation Will Get Poll Test Soon

By DAN HANLEY JR.

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Adolescents could look for sympathy in Grand Rapids today because the city has growing pains of its own.

★ ★ ★

Whether Grand Rapids, long known as the "Furniture City," will add a figurative inch or foot — or remain as it is for the present — is scheduled to be decided Dec. 8 in a metropolitan annexation election.

Annexation has been the "thing" for a number of Michigan cities in recent years.

But stumbling blocks are in the way for Grand Rapids, the suburban cities of East Grand Rapids and Wyoming and the townships of Paris, Walker and Grand Rapids all figure in the "new city" plan.

A court decision is expected next week on the validity of another annexation plan which could set back the "new city" vote. This plan is not as comprehensive as the one now set to be balloted on. Also, a move has been started to try and delay the annexation in East Grand Rapids by demanding a census first.

However, the pro and con annexation forces are going ahead with the idea that the "new city" will be decided Dec. 8, and the attention of 75,000 registered voters in Grand Rapids and 48,000 registered voters in the suburbs is being zeroed in on the issue.

"Town hall" type meetings have sprung up all over the metropolitan area to debate annexation. Backers of annexation appear to be better organized, but they have not been able to drown out the voices of antiannexation forces.

★ ★ ★

Grand Rapids would be nearly tripled in size by a successful annexation vote. Its current dimensions total about 24½ square miles.

Grand Rapids population would boom to about 273,000, definitely making it only second to Detroit in size for Michigan cities. Grand Rapids already is the largest city in western Michigan.

New Method Treats Cancer With Iron Specks

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit physician has described a new method of treating cancer by drawing treated iron particles through the blood stream by magnetism.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Michael W. Freeman said the treatment has been successful in experiments at Wayne State University and Detroit Memorial Hospital.

He said the minute particles can be injected into the blood system and pass through the smallest capillaries.

The particles are so tiny, he said, a billion would fit on one side of a grain of cement. The particles act as carriers for isotopic radiation for cancer treatment

★ ★ ★

Dr. Freeman said, however, it is possible the particles could be coated with nylon or other substances and carry other healing agents as well as isotopes.

U. of M. Regents OK Capital Outlay Plan

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A revised five-year capital outlay program was approved by the University of Michigan Board of Regents at its regular monthly meeting yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The university's request for $1.9 million for an institute of science and technology building on the north campus forced the figure for construction of new educational facilities to be revised upward.

No change has been made in the priority of the projects, with the school of music building remaining first on the list.

The changes made yesterday reflected the expected capital outlay appropriations for 1959-60 which are still waiting legislative approval.

A total of $1,517,000 for construction at the medical center in contained in the revised program.

The regents also agreed not to tamper with the National Defense Education Act's scholarship program, which requires persons applying for grants to take a loyalty oath.

Experts Say Nations Too Dependent on Each Other

No Soviet-Red China Break for Years

LONDON (UPI) — Authoritative diplomatic sources cautioned strongly today against the "dangerous illusion" of an early breach between Russia and Red China, because both sides have too much to lose by it.

The warning came amidst hardening indications of growing differences between the Kremlin and the Peiping regime over political and economic strategy.

Diplomatic reports reaching London here in the past few days pointed to increasing trouble in the Red alliance and to personal friction between the top leaders.

Nevertheless, an expert analysis of the varied information available to date underlined that neither side will risk a showdown, now or for some time to come.

To all appearances, the Moscow-Peiping alignment is vital to both the Kremlin and the Peiping regime for both national and ideological reasons.

The expert analysis cited several important points in support of the thesis that the Moscow-Peiping axis will be maintained intact for a long time to come, no matter how high tempers may run in Russia or Red China:

— A breach now could seriously affect the leadership of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev himself, both in the Communist camp — and at home. Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai was said to have saved Khrushchev in the crucial revolt of the Soviet Presidium two years ago by throwing Red China's backing behind him.

— It would split the entire Communist bloc and consequently seriously endanger Russia's hold on the European satellites.

Moreover, a breach would be a blatant refutation of international communism's claim to the cohesive role of Communist ideology.

— It would weaken Russia's international position and her bargaining power in negotiations with the West.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand Red China, the analysts said, also has much to lose from a break with Russia.

— Both militarily and economically Red China still depends heavily on Russian supplies and goodwill and will be dependent for a long time to come, possibly a decade or more.

★ ★ ★

— Red China is in the grip presently of a serious economic crisis, with her communes experiment gone wrong and in need of considerable readjustments.

DEPENDS ON RUSSIA

— Red China has no nuclear weapons thus far, and she depends on Russia even for her planes and conventional arms. Economically, these figures are cited to illustrate the degree of Red China's dependence on the Soviet: About half her foreign trade is done with Russia; tens of thousands of Chinese are being sent to Russian factories for training purposes; several thousand Russian technicians are working in China, running or equipping industrial plants; loans mounting to billions of rubles have been given and are currently being extended to Red China by Moscow.

The experts anticipate steadily growing tension between the Red allies — as result of Red China's mounting independence drive — that could lead up to crisis levels. But both are expected to guard against an all-out breach.

Christmas Seals Mailed in County

More than 90,000 homes in Oakland County were mailed 1959 Tuberculosis Christmas Seals this week, the county TB association announced today.

★ ★ ★

Close to 150 volunteer women have helped prepare the mailing.

They are members of Eight and Forty Oakland County Salon 224, Oakland County Council Ladies Auxiliary VFW, Oxbow Auxiliary 4156 VFW and the Junior League of Birmingham.

An association report states that more than 5,000 new cases of tuberculosis occur in Michigan each year. The disease kills more people in the state than all other infectious and parasitic diseases combined.

Williams, GOP Farther Apart

Senators' Tax Bundle Called 'Repugnant' by Balking Governor

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Senate Republicans drifted farther apart today in their search for funds to replace the use (sales) tax thrown out by the Supreme Court a month ago.

★ ★ ★

"The next move is up to him," said Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland), chief author of a package of "nuisance" taxes approved yesterday in caucus by Republicans on the condition Democrats give support.

The GOP package and ultimatum were delivered to Williams yesterday. Williams Balked. He said the plan was "repugnant."

"The Republican Senate caucus, which has the power to write a tax program or to block one written by anybody else, must decide what they want if this logjam is to be broken," Williams said.

★ ★ ★

"If the Republican senators want to adopt the nuisance tax program, they have the votes in the Senate to do so."

Paris Painting Almost Too Big to Be Believed

PARIS (AP) — Stored in the Louvre is a painting so big you can't see it all.

No one seems to know who painted the canvas or when or how the museum got it. The painting, estimated to be about 75 feet long and 60 feet wide, apparently is a view of Paris.

★ ★ ★

Cultural Minister Andre Malraux mentioned the painting during a speech to the national assembly. Reporters trooped over for a look.

There it was, rolled up like an unused rug in an attic storeroom.

"It's the mystery of the Louvre," said curator Germain Barin. "For years curators have passed it along in their inventories, but no one has seen all of it."

Once in a while a curious art historian unrolls a few yards of the thing.

"There are some very charming figures from the era of the Second Empire (1852-1870)," Barin said.

★ ★ ★

No gallery is big enough to hang it. "And it isn't valuable enough to enlarge one of our rooms for it," Barin said.

Malraux has approved a plan to have it unrolled in the museum courtyard.

"Then we'll photograph it from a helicopter," Barin said.

COLONIAL EXTERIOR — The David H. Gee home in Bloomfield Hills is a ranch home with the Colonial look. Situated diagonally on a corner lot, the buff brick home has white shutters and fieldstone trim. Because of the slope of the land, the basement level has full size windows. The Gee home was designed and built by Charles H. Johnson Builders of Detroit.

Gee Home Has Quiet Elegance

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

This week the David H. Gees' eleventh grandchild arrived. He will find a welcome in the big buff brick home on Peabody, just as his cousins have. The Gees' home was built with the thought that the grandchildren would be frequent visitors.

The ranch type house occupies a corner lot. The front porch and the trim are white. Fieldstone is used for the center section on the front. Soaring trees edge the curving driveway.

While the exterior of the Gee home is Colonial, the interior is contemporary. Charles H. Johnson Builders of Detroit both designed and built the house. Mrs. Gee, herself an artist, took over the planning of the color schemes.

Inside the double front doors there is a large vestibule, floored with slate. The walls are papered in gold and white; this paper extends down the hall leading to the bedrooms.

At the left is the birch paneled library. This room has pegged oak flooring and a beamed ceiling. On one wall there is a fieldstone fireplace. Bookcases, a hi-fi and television are all built-in.

On the floor is a braided linen rug in shades of brown and green. At right angles to one another there is a pair of blue-green tweed sofas. There is a large leather chair in a deep honey tone.

In addition to the regular door that leads to the kitchen, there is a small louvered pass-through in the wall. In front of the latter is a card table permanently set up. Made of walnut, it has chairs to match with rush seats.

Mrs. Gee made the draperies. They are white with aqua and green Victorian houses.

TRI-PART KITCHEN

The kitchen really has three sections to it, but two are combined. There is the usual work area; the eating area is separate; and in an alcove there is an indoor barbecue. This barbecue is on the other side of the louvered pass-through from the library.

The floor has pale beige tile on it. Cabinets are birch and appliances all stainless steel. The range is in the counter that marks off the work area from the breakfast room.

Curtains are green. There is a birch dado below the papered walls. The same aqua and pumpkin flowered paper is used on the ceiling. Counter tops are pumpkin color.

★ ★ ★

Folding louvered doors open into the dining room. The two rooms described above are on the front of the house. Living and dining rooms are at the back.

Everything in these two rooms is gold and white. Walls and carpeting are white. Floor length draperies are gold.

In the dining room there is a white paneled dado. Two corners have built-in cupboards. In the center of the wall between and on the adjoining wall mural wallpaper is used. The design is a gold tree upon a white ground.

CRYSTAL LIGHT

Above the Duncan Phyfe table hangs a crystal and brass chandelier. Made in Czechoslovakia, it has 18 candle-like lights. Chair seats are gold and white striped.

★ ★ ★

In the living room there are three large windows along one side. From the beginning of the third window around to the middle of the other wall there is a long curved sectional gold and white sofa. Behind this there are wall shelves holding figurines.

On the inside wall is a small Italian marble fireplace. Even the hearth is marble. This same marble was used to cut the round top of the coffee table.

★ ★ ★

At right angles to the fireplace is a small gold cotton brocade loveseat. In front of the loveseat there are two pedestal coffee tables about 18 inches square. Lamps and the lounge chairs are both gold and white.

Old-time residents of Pontiac would be interested in the walnut chest of drawers the Gees have in one guest room. It once belonged to Elizabeth Thorpe.

Paper in this room has pink and yellow flowers on it which feel satiny to the touch. The carpeting is pale pink. Mrs. Gee's daughter occupied this room before her marriage.

There's a canopy above the bed, made by hanging green draperies from a white ceiling valance board. The bedspread is white over a green underskirt. Curtains are white embroidered tiers.

In the second guest room the carpeting is tender green. The wallpaper is white with green and yellow flowers and leaf design. Draperies are cream. Furniture is mahogany, except for the little chair upholstered in yellow quilted chintz.

The master bedroom has aqua carpeting, aqua flowered paper and pale aqua curtains. The furniture is walnut with a decoration of brass rings.

TOUCH OF GOLD

These rings are repeated in the headboard of the bed. The quilted spread and plain skirt are aqua. There is a pair of gold ceramic birds on the wall. Lots of closet space and an attached bathroom (aqua, of course) add comfort.

In the basement there is a hobby room, a recreation room complete with kitchen and the usual utility room. In addition, Mrs. Gee has a little office and there is a large bedroom and bath.

Mrs. Gee is a painter. Much of the hobby room is devoted to her finished and unfinished canvases. One long wall has Pegboard on it for hanging pictures. At the end of the room there are turquoise work counters and storage cabinets. Mr. Gee has his work bench at the opposite end.

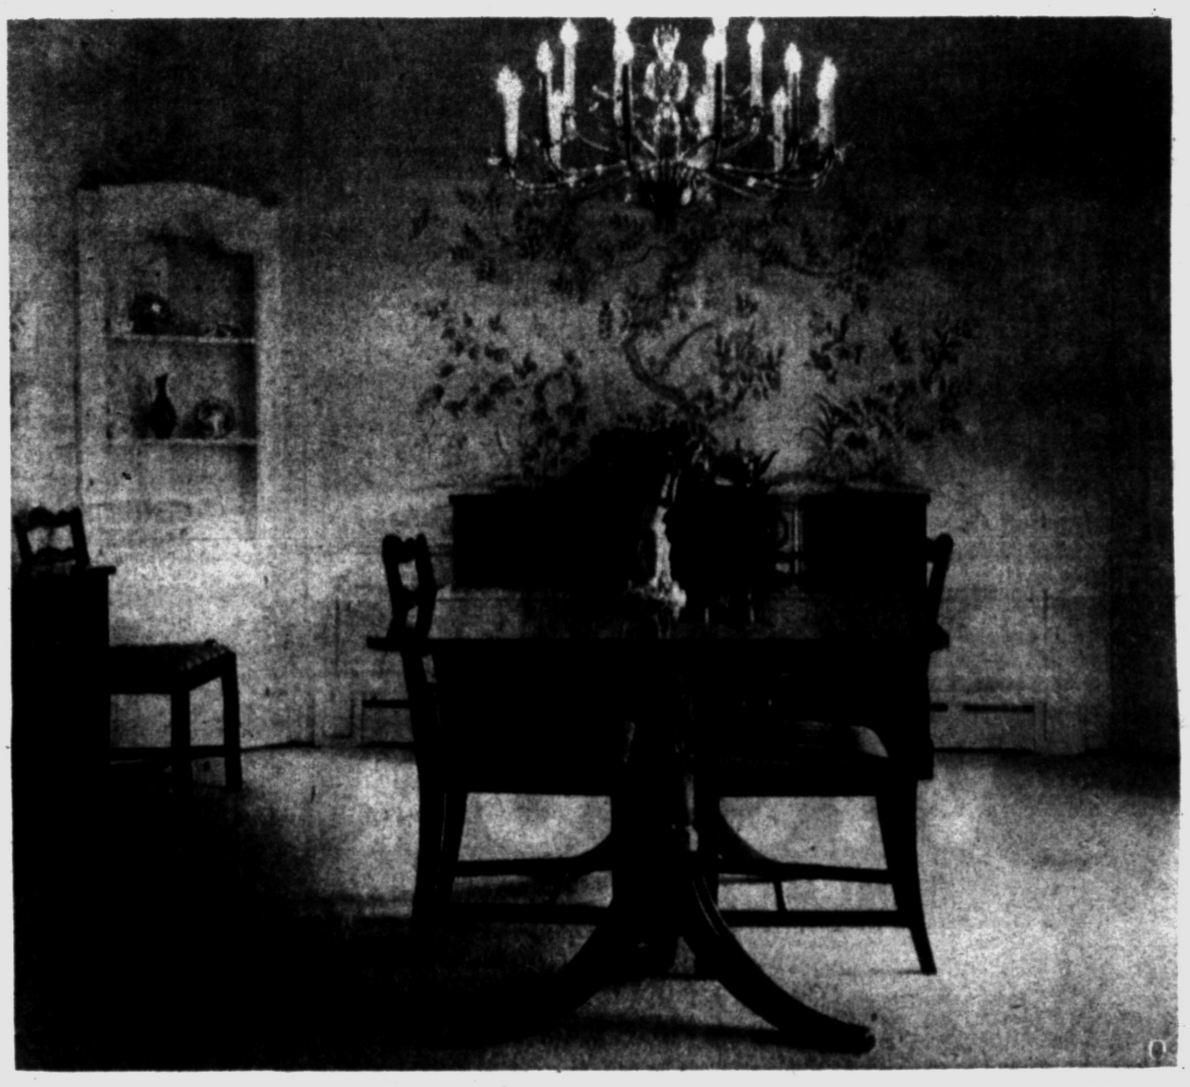

★ ★ ★

The recreation room has a ledgerock fireplace with Mexican ceramics on the mantel and a Mexican rug in front of it. The room itself is paneled in ash.

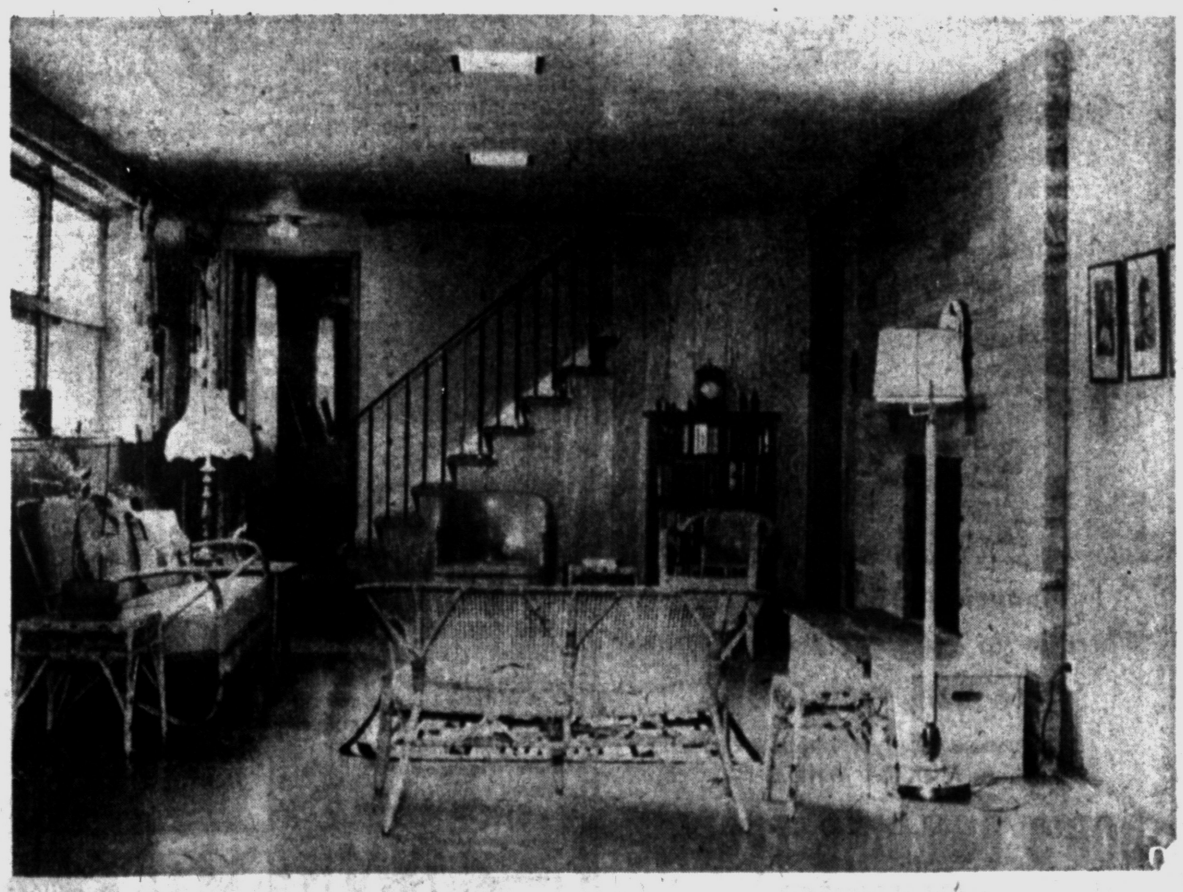

Furniture is bamboo with cane backs and gaily colored cushions. The floor is corktone tile.

This is the room where the grandchildren can romp without fear of breaking precious articles. On holidays the feast table is set down here.

There is an outside entrance on this level. In the back yard there is a large patio, walled on one side with a brick planter.

FORMAL DINING ROOM — Walls and carpeting in the dining room are white like those in the living room. The wall treatment is a little different, with a painted wooden dado to match the twin corner cupboards and mural wallpaper. This latter has a golden tree on it. Chair seats on the Duncan Phyfe chairs are striped in gold and white. The crystal and brass chandelier was fashioned in Czechoslovakia. Its delicate design puts the finishing touch on the room.

RECREATION ROOM — Down on the lower level where the floor is corktone tile, the walls paneled in ash and the furniture sturdy, grandchildren are welcomed frequently. In front of the ledgerock fireplace there's a bright rug the Gees found in Mexico. At the rear is the door to their hobby room. On this level there is a complete kitchen, an office, a large bedroom, bath and utility room.

MARBLE TABLE—Marble like that used for the fireplace was cut to make the round coffee table. Behind it is a long curved sectional sofa covered in gold and white. Floor length draperies are gold. Walls and carpeting are white. Through the picture windows there is a pleasing view of the yard and neighboring homes.

Flat Tarred Roofs

Widespread use of flat roofs on commercial and public buildings is a 19th century development dating from the availability of coal tar pitch in large quantities. When Samuel Barrett, in 1854, founded the roofing company that still bears his name, he was actually paid by a Chicago gas company to take away the coal tar pitch it got as a by-product from the manufacture of goal gas. This vital waterproofing agent was at that time considered a useless waste.

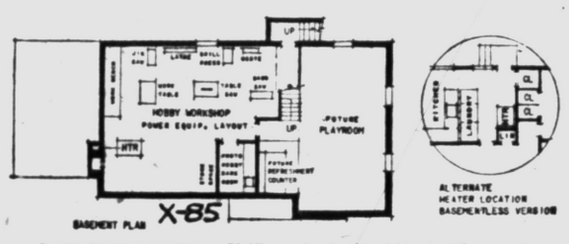

Bright-colored asphalt roof shingles make a house look taller.

TWO-BEDROOM RANCH — Architect Lester Cohen designed this trim home for small families who want space to move around in, but require only two sleeping rooms.

FLOOR PLAN — There's no crowding in the working and entertaining areas of this efficient two-bedroom design.

BASEMENT PLAN — X-85 can be built with or without a basement.

Smaller Family Needs Two-Bedroom House

By DAVID L. BOWEN

As the average number of children in the typical American family edges upward, the three-bedroom home is becoming standard.

This is fine for typical families, but it misses the mark for any family unit smaller than average.

Here's a home designed specifically for the forgotten small family: a husband and wife with no more than two children or an older couple who have married off the last daughter and are now looking for peace, quiet and time to relax.

The home has not been squeezed in an all-out effort to sacrifice everything for price. It has 1,121 square feet of habitable space — which is far from a large house but still bigger than some three-bedroom designs.

X-85 in the House of the Week series was engineered for families looking for a comfortable home, but who simply have no need for more than two sleeping rooms.

"Why pay as much as $4,000 or $5,000 extra for an additional bedroom if two are enough?" asks Architect Lester Cohen. He maintains that home buyers are often forced into the extra expense because only three bedroom designs give them the space in living areas they feel is essential. The rare two-bedroom homes are usually tight little boxes with rooms held strictly to minimum size.

"I have designed this two-bedroom home keeping in mind that a two-bedroom family entertains and spends leisure hours just like a large household —anddemands equal comfort," says Cohen.

The owner can choose either a full basement or the basementless version of X-85. Where the basement is eliminated, the house becomes particularly well suited for older householders with everything on one level. Even with a basement, however, the design is a stepsaver since laundry area is adjacent to the kitchen on the ground floor.

The living room enjoys privacy and freedom from traffic because of the entrance foyer and hall. The floor-to-ceiling bow window looks out on the front walk and affords an attractive first view of the house from the covered front porch.

A fireplace is optional on the far wall of the living room and an arch at the back opens into the dining room. Sliding glass doors lead from dining room to rear terrace, part of which can be used for a screened porch.

The sunny, spacious kitchen will make any woman happy. Utilities are placed on the inside wall in an L-shaped counter, efficiently putting range, wall oven, refrigerator, sink and dishwasher all within easy reach of one another. There's room for a dinette on the outside wall against the three big windows.

SLEEPING AREAS

Each of the two bedrooms is large enough to take twin beds and each has cross ventilation. The master bedroom at the front has corner windows and four sliding-door closets. The second bedroom has two closets.

A bathroom with tub alcove has a vanitory just inside the door, and in the hall outside there is a linen closet. Extra closets are provided in the rear vestibule for gear and rainy weather clothing.

Options for the householder include a screened porch and open terrace behind the house. If a basement is built, there is an excellent opportunity for a complete workshop and darkroom on one side and a large recreation room, with bar, on the other. An unusual feature in the basement is its double stairways, one leading from the center up to the rear vestibule and the other from the shop area directly to the backyard.

EXTERIOR DETAILS

Vertical siding and stone contrast nicely with wood siding for a trim effect. The gable is flush plywood, with dovecote. Including garage, the house is 59' 6" wide by 27' deep.

Baby's Arrival Means Room Shuffling

Having a new baby and adding a new bedroom at the same time is more than most budgets can stand.

Scrutiny of present rooms may disclose a spot where you can improvise a nursery. Not just any room will do, however. The double-duty room demands floor and walls surfaced with a rugged material like ceramic tile.

Specific steps in diversifying use of other rooms during the new arrival crisis might start in the kitchen. It could be converted to include space for keeping records and finishing work brought home from the office. This would free the den for use as a temporary nursery.

A key point to consider when you're ready to add the new room is material for flooring. You will want a floor that is attractive and durable. Ceramic tile is a natural, because it will take the wear and tear of baby care without fading, denting or scuffing.

Ceramic tile is easy to clean and needs no special care such as waxing. It is manufactured in the United States in about 200 shades of the primary colors.

Coyer a dark or shiny study desk top with a light-colored blotter to reduce glare.

Out of Sight Means Nothing to a Bug

You may think you're rid of insects until next year because you no longer see them around, but that can be far from the true situation. Studies made indicate that bugs breed with special success in areas that are out of sight.

Roaches, moths, carpet beetles, spiders, centipedes, silverfish and waterbugs are surreptitious creatures that work quietly and unseen. Spots under heavy chests and cabinets make excellent hideouts for them, particularly when the furniture sits directly on the floor. Other refuges are storage spaces and bookcases that are not flush with the walls.

Sheer weight of furniture is no guarantee against insect invasion, so furniture should be moved periodically and the areas checked carefully. Clean thoroughly and then wet crevices with an ant and roach killer before putting the furniture back in position. The residual insecticide will keep the area free of bugs for a considerable time.

House Painting Projects Can Be Family Affairs

Children are always interested in helping mother or dad around the house whether its helping to rake leaves or paint the fence. There are many ways in which members of a family can gain much pleasure and enjoyment from working together, especially in a joint painting project.

If your family is interested in group painting projects, write to the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, 1500 Rhode Island Avenue, N.W., Washington 5, D.C., for your free copy of LET THEM HAVE A FINGER IN THE COLOR PIE.

Convert Paneled Doors to Modern Flush Type

Conversion of the old doors is cheaper than replacement with new flush doors. Buy enough materials to convert one door. If it is a success you can go on to the others.

All you need is some sort of veneer to go over the old surface. Use ¼-inch plywood, available in just about any kind of wood you might want. A real inexpensive covering is hardboard, suitable if you plan to paint the door.

First step is removing the door. Take all the hardware off next.

REMOVE MOLDING

If the door has any sort of moldings on it, remove them. You will need a perfectly flat surface.

★ ★ ★

Because you will be gluing the veneer on, you will have to prepare the surface of the old door by removing the finish. Glue will not adhere well to paint or varnish.

If the old door has large, recessed panels, add strips of wood about 3 inches wide. They should be thick enough to present a surface flush with the rails and stiles (horizontal and vertical sections) of the door. Screw these on.

Make certain that all raised surfaces are clear of finish and clean, then sand lightly.

If you feel that you can measure and saw accurately, cut the panel to size. If you want to play safe, cut it about ½-inch larger than the door all around, trim it after it's fastened.

GLUING

Apply glue to the raised portions of the old door, press new surface to old. One ince brads every few inches will hold the panel in place, serve as clamps for the glue. Set the nails and cover with plastic wood.

Use weatherproof glue and exterior grade plywood if converting an outside door.

If you are trimming an oversize panel, use a fine-tooth saw.

Sand the edges. If bits of the plywood splintered at the edge, fill the gaps with plastic wood and sand smooth.

For hardboard panels, use screws instead of nails. Countersink the heads.

Replace the hardware, or install new hardware, after finishing the door. Use paint, shellac or varnish.

The latch hole on the side of the door is your guide for drilling holes for new door hardware.

CAREFUL, NOW

The door is now thicker than it was. Because of this you will have to move the door stop. Move it to match the thickness of the panel on the closing side. Remove the stop carefully with a chisel. Close the door and mark the position for the door stop. Then replace.

The hinge leaf on the door frame may have to be moved back by about the same amount if opposite side is paneled. Plug the old holes with plastic wood before remounting.

BAKING CENTER—Designing kitchens with specified work centers is just plain smart. Tailored of creamy champagne west coast hemlock, this baking center is built with everything within fingertip reach. Baking pans and utensils are kept in side cupboard, hung on door and interior rack. Plenty of drawer space and breadboard counter are marks of good design.

Has Look of Wood

The newest plastic has a swirled texture and resembles the grain of wood. It was formed by special techniques in the molding of expandable beads of polystyrene plastic. It can be used in wall coverings, appliances, housewares, thermo-walled ware and decorative packaging, says the developer.

News in Tile Colors

Fruit hues in rubber and solid vinyl tile are a new fashion trend in flooring. Wild plum, peach and canteloupe are some of the mouth watering shades in these new resilient floorings that interior designers are featuring to complement or match walls and furnishings.

When decorating your family room, remember that wall or ceiling-hung lamps are more practical than table lamps. Accidental knocks that send a table lamp crashing to the floor won't worry you with hanging lamps.

Allow Home Trade in New Housing Bill

When Congress recently passed the 1959 housing bill into law, a door was opened for home-seekers who couldn't arrange the terms they needed. Among the provisions of the new law is a special loan arrangement to encourage home buyers to trade in old houses.

This "house-swapping" provides for the homeowner who wants to buy a new house and at the same time pay off the mortgage on the old one, according to an article in the November issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine.

Briefly, this is how it works. A builder would like to sell you a new house (or build you one). You are willing, but must sell your present home first. The new law permits the builder to go to the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) and negotiate a loan, up to FHA maximums, to buy your house.

The builder then rents or sells it, risking little of his own money. Meanwhile, you obtain a loan on the new house you're buying. In effect, says the magazine you will have "swapped" houses with the builder.

Soda Will Help

To clean stove burners, immerse them in a solution of two tablespoons sal soda concentrated to a gallon of hot water. If badly coated with grease, boil in the solution for a few minutes, scrub with a stiff brush, rinse and dry.

Washington Knew Value of Home Maintenance

George Washington was keenly aware of the importance of adequate home maintenance. If he hadn't been, Mt. Vernon would not be in the fine condition it is today. The instructions he gave to his painters in 1787 are still being carried out by the Mt. Vernon Ladies' Association which oversees the maintenance and safeguarding of this plantation.

FOR HUNTERS — Here are gun racks that will display your guns and keep them safe. The three-gun rack has a drawer that, when locked, also locks the guns safely in the rack. The single-gun rack has a padlock device that has to be unlocked to remove the gun. Another fascinating project is the making of lifelike duck decoys. Pattern 404 gives actual-size cutting guides and painting directions. Pattern 405 for the gun racks and 404 for the duck decoys are 35 cents each. These two patterns are included in the Sportsmen's Packet No. 24 which also contains two other full size patterns for a plywood boat and a variety of fishing accessories — all for $1. Ceramic Felt Insulates Oil Furnaces

The jet age is responsible for a new material being used in home oil furnaces.

The material, a ceramic felt, originally was designed to insulate high-speed airplanes from the intense heat developed in jet engines. It is produced by a special process which converts molten refractory substances (mostly alumina and silica) into a mass of ceramic fibers, each many times finer than a human hair.

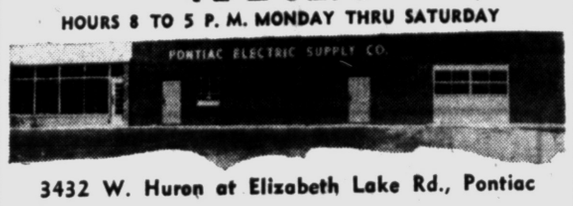

Somewhere along the line, engineers discovered that this light, flexible product had advantageous properties when installed in the fire box of a domestic oil furnace.

Manufactured in blanket form and in various thicknesses, the material is cut to fit, rolled up, pushed through a furnace door and patted against the walls of the fire box until a snug fit is achieved. By serving as a new lining for the old walls, it is said to eliminate the need to replace cracked or worn-out fire bricks.

It is claimed to have several advantages over conventional fire bricks.

Here's The Answer

QUESTION: I read recently in your column about using wood filler on hardwoods. I have an unpainted maple bureau, but a friend of mine says maple should not be filled. Isn't maple a hardwood?

ANSWER: Yes, maple is a hardwood. And your friend is right; it does not require a filler, since it is a very close-grained wood. The notation is this column said only that wood filler is used on some of the open-grained hardwoods, such as oak, and that even then it is a matter of preference. Some people prefer to retain the open-grained appearance of oak and so refrain from using a wood filler on it.

QUESTION: I am planning to build an economical swimming pool. It seems to me that it can be done with gravel concrete blocks. If so, what are the steps to be taken to make it sturdy and waterproof so that it will not crack during the winter?

ANSWER: We had to call on an engineer of a swimming pool corporation to help us with this one. He said that the pool certainly can be built with gravel concrete blocks, but that a wire mesh should be placed between every course of blocks.

The inside surface should be plastered with two coats of waterproof plaster. Twelve-inch blocks are recommended, with a vinyl spray liner placed on top of the plaster for easier maintenance.

QUESTION: Can lacquer be used in a sprayer? Or is it necessary to brush it on?

ANSWER: The best finishing jobs with lacquer are done by spraying. In purchasing lacquer, ask for spraying lacquer or brushing lacquer, depending on how you are using it.

Homeowners Not Aware of Roof Damage

Government and industry studies show that the majority of homeowners are not aware of the many things to watch for as danger signals of impending roof troubles.

Clarence Hausmann of Allied Chemical's Barrett Building Materials Division summarizes: "Homeowners do not deliberately gamble with an old roof, but they aren't aware of the conditions developing 'behind the scenes,' causing invisible leaks, rot and decay.

"Inevitably, these unseen leaks cause expensive and extensive visible damage," says this roofing authority. Hausmann recommends calling in an experienced roofer to inspect a house before it falls prey to damage.

In most instances where a new roof is needed, the contractor wil recommend fire-resistant asphalt shingles. These are available today in many colors, shapes and sizes, and their application is made more economical since they can be installed over the existing roof.

Asphalt shingles are also available in varying weights. The heavier weights are more expensive, but their durability is greater.

Don't Waste It

It's a good idea to put left over linoleum to good use, such as lining closet shelves or drawers. They will be easy to wash with a wet cloth wrung out of soap or detergent suds, then rinsed with clear water.

THIS SPACE RESERVED FOR VICTOR PAINT

Galvanized Steel Can Be Painted

NEW YORK (AP) — Galvanized steel can be painted successfully if certain precautions are taken.

How to achieve satisfactory results is described in a new booklet, "Painting Galvanized Steel," put out by the American Iron and Steel and American Zinc institutes.

There are several good reasons for painting the zinc-coated steel: to extend the period of protection given by the zinc coating, to improve its appearance, and to reflect heat after age has dulled the reflecting quality of the steel.

The booklet gives these suggestions:

1. If possible, wait six months to permit weathering.

2. Brush the surface with a wire brush. Remove any grease or oil films with mineral spirits or detergent and water.

3. Apply a coat of metallic zinc paint or other primer especially designed for galvanized steel.

4. After the primer coat is thoroughly dry, apply a coat of good exterior white paint that is recommended by the primer manufacturer. Some paints are not compatible with certain primers.

If you wish to cool the interior of a galvanized steel building, paint the roof and siding white.

The booklet may be obtained by writing American Iron and Steel Institute, 150 E. 42 St., New York, N.Y.

Get Definite Contract Before Painter Starts

There are a number of things to settle if you have your painting done by a contractor. Specify that he use quality paint as the price difference between good and inferior paint is small. Labor, not paint, is the chief cost factor.

Get a written agreement from him that specifies exactly what is to be done, how it is to be done, the kind of paint to be applied, and how much the job will cost.

You should select your colors before the painter comes. The contractor will bring a book of color chips with him if you ask him to do so. If none of the colors is what you want, his dealer can probably match paint to any color you prefer.

Be sure the colors are definite before the painter begins. Don't give him a little piece of thread or silver of fabric and expect him to get the right idea about color from it. He'll try the paint on a piece of wood for you while he is mixing it, if you like, so that you can be absolutely sure it is the color you want before he begins.

Residential Building Down in September

DETROIT—September contracts for future construction in Michigan totalled $116,519,000, a decrease of 14 per cent compared to September 1958, Marvin J. Brokaw, district manager of F. W. Dodge Corporation reported today.

A breakdown of contracts by the major construction categories in September compared to the corresponding 1958 month, showed: nonresidential at $41,276,000, up 6 per cent; residential at $56,514,000, down 21 per cent; and heavy engineering at $18,729,000, down 25 per cent.

According to Dodge figures, the cumulative total of contracts for the first nine months of 1959 amounted to $1,102,382,000, up 11 per cent compared to the corresponding period of 1958. Cumulative total of contracts in the major construction categories showed: nonresidential at $377,500,000, up 9 per cent; residential at $496,811,000, up 19 per cent; and heavy engineering at $228,071,000, down one per cent compared to the like 1958 period.

ANNUAL JOB — House gutters often choose autumn to go on the fritz. Annual care includes (a) cleaning out leaves and debris, (b) repairing leaks — with asphalt if they're small ones, and (c) installing guards over the downspout entrances.

Too Bad Those Gutters Didn't Leak Earlier!

It's too bad that gutters and downspouts do their job so well for so long with so little care.

A little trouble right from the beginning might shake homeowners out of their lethargy. With no care at all galvanized gutters may last seven years or longer, aluminum and copper gutters two or three times that much. But after that they'll probably need replacing.

Checking gutters should be as much a regular fall chore as taking down the screens. While they take a beating all year long, their worst punishment is during late fall and winter.

But do more than look at them. Know what you're looking for.

Check for accumulated debris, cracks and holes, improper pitch, loose hangers, rust.

A gutter filled with leaves will overflow, causing nearby boards to rot. Eventually the leaves will clog the downspout making the entire gutter system useless. Clean out the leaves and dirt. Place wire guards over outlets. Special ones are available or use quarter-inch mesh.

A pruning saw may be the best tool to prevent trouble from recurring. Remove branches that are overhead and quite close.

It isn't likely that you'll stand outside on a rainy day checking for leaks. On a dry day, pour water in the gutter using a pail or hose, and check for open seams or tiny holes. Watch the flow of water. It should run toward the downspout.

While there may be no leaks now, some could develop in a short time. Check rust spots. Probe them with a screw driver.

Once you've located the holes — or made a few yourself — you're ready to start patching.

Tiny holes can be covered with a coat of asphalt. Larger ones will need a patch plus the asphalt. Use burlap, pieces of fiber glass material, plastic or metal for the patch.

If you choose metal, be certain it's the same material as the gutter. Mixed metals will just complicate your problems by causing further corrosion.

Cut the material large enough to fit a large area around the hole. Coat the spot with asphalt, press the patch into place and give it a second coat.

(If you use glass fiber or other material impregnated with chemicals be certain to follow manufacturer's instructions for using. These generally are sold in kits, often for auto repair use.)

Chances are that a little rust and dirt are all that you'll find. Take along a wire brush to clean out both as you go along. Paint bad spots with a rust preventing paint.

When your patching, painting and repairing are finished, make certain that the hangers aren't loose. Wherever there's a sag remove the hanger, pull it up a little higher and renail.

To finish off the rejuvenation of your gutters you may wish to install plastic gutter guards now in the market.

These devices resemble a cylinder cut in half which fit concave side down into the gutters. Openings at the bottom edges permit water to flow through, yet trap leaves above where they will dry out and blow away.

Simply installed, the guards come in seven-foot lengths and can be cut with scissors.

Repair, Then Paint

If your cement porch has some chips in its surface, use a cement crack filler before painting. It will expand within the space to which it is applied. After the filler is completely dry, rub the area with a piece of sandpaper until smooth. When the deck enamel is applied to the porch, you will achieve an attractive, even finish.

Canada Cup Title to Aussies

Thomson - Nagle Easy Victors; Leonard Top Individual

MELBOURNE (AP) — Australia's Peter Thomson and Ken Nagle won the Canada Cup golf title by ten whopping strokes over the United States today, but Canada's Stan Leonard beat out Thomson in a dramatic extra hole playoff for the individual crown.

The second successive playoff in individual competition became necessary when Thomson and Leonard finished in a 72-hole tie at 275 after Thomson missed a 14-foot birdie putt on the final hole.

On the 424-yard extra hole both had good drives. Leonard left his approach shot just 30 feet from pin. Thomson was wide about 25 feet over small hump. Leonard putted to within six inches for a par 4. Thomson chipped. The ball skimmed nine feet past the cup and his putt curled around cup's lip and stayed out.

Thus history repeated itself in this international competition.

Leonard won the individual crown in 1954 at Montreal, Canada, when Thomson and Nagle won the team crown for Australia.

Thomson 3-putted two holes on the final nine and scored a 71, the first time he went over par during the tournament. Nagle registered a 72 and the Australians wound up with 72-hole combined total of 563.

America's Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff, who dropped out of contention yesterday, climaxed their campaign with a pair of even par 70's to eke out second place from Canada with a 573.

Capitol Holds Top in PTTA Standings

Capitol Barber continues to hold down first place in the Pontiac Table Tennis Association with Newberry Market only one game behind.

The Capitol team defeated L. H. Cole, 5-1 while Newberry was beating Fox Cleaners, 6-0. Howard Heckman continued to go unbeaten for Newberry as he won over Jim Wert, 21-14 and 21-17.

State Golfers Among Leaders in Mobile Open

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Two Michigan golfers, Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills and Ernie Fortner of Sault Ste. Marie, were a stroke off the pace entering today's third round of the Mobile Open golf tournament.

Each had 140s after yesterday's second round. Billy Casper and Jon Gustin shared first place in the $15,000 tournament.

John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., was a stroke behind his fellow Michigan golfers with a 141.

Visiting Swan Leaves

Residents of the Watkins Lake area have been interested observers of the actions of a big, beautifully plumaged white swan that visited the lake this week. The big bird partook of feed scattered along the shore, also was seen to forage among the reedy shoreline, near the Edwin Johnson home, 3977 Lakewood.

But last night, with arrival of a snowfall, the big bird took off, and had not returned this morning.

Traditional Lions-Bears Clash Sunday

Detroit Game 51st Meeting of Bitter Foes

Hot Chicago Contingent Is Five-Point Favorite to Keep Rolling

DETROIT (AP) — If there's such a thing as a traditional game in professional football, it's a meeting between the Detroit Lions and Chicago Bears.

These are two old and bitter foes—not in the sense of a 60-year-old college rivalry — but their games always have been slambang and sometimes brutal affairs.

The Lions meet the Bears at Briggs Stadium tomorrow for the 51st time in a series started only 25 years ago.

It's no secret one team relishes beating the other more than a victory over any other National Football League team.

★ ★ ★

Many memorable incidents have resulted from the Lions' twice-annual games with the rough and tough Bears. Only three years ago the Lions were so enraged by Ed Meadows' tackle of their Bobby Layne it stirred up a lengthy national controversy.

Neither the Lions nor Bears are title contenders this season. But each has improved after slow starts. Chicago has an outside chance of catching San Francisco and Baltimore.

Coach George Halas' Bears have won three consecutive games, the last coming over the surprising San Francisco 49ers. The Lions climbed out of the Western Division basement last Sunday with a triumph over Los Angeles. Detroit has a 2-1-1 record in its last four games.

★ ★ ★

But despite four defeats, the Bears have entered the fourth period in all eight of their games with a good chance to win. The Lions can't make a similar boast about their five defeats.

As always, the Bears have a strong running game. Rick Casares, a long-time tormentor of the Lions, is back on the beam after an early season slump. Casares gained 90 yards in 21 carries in the 14-3 upset over the 49ers.

The Bears have had a knack of finding players from obscure colleges and making them NFL stars. Newest of the crop is Johnny Morris, who stands only 5-feet-9. From Santa Barbara, Morris is fourth in both punt returns and kickoff returns.

★ ★ ★

The Lions will star Earl Morrall at quarterback as a reward for his winning performance last week. But Tobin Rote's knee is better. Rote will be ready to go if Morrall falters.

Chicago is a five-point favorite.

Stott 1959 County Scoring Champion

By CHUCK ABAIR

Powerful Douglas Stott, one of the outstanding athletes in Oxford history, is the 1959 Oakland County individual scoring champion.

His touchdown against Millington in the mud enabled the 6-1, 195-pounder to finish with 113 points in nine games.

The versatile back rung up 18 touchdowns to pace the county in that department and added five extra points.

A 31-point night against North Branch clinched the crown for the big guy Nov. 6 as previous leader Bob Christian of Walled Lake missed his last game due to sickness.

★ ★ ★

Christian wound up tied with Glen Hass of Orchard Lake St. Mary for the runnerup position with 90 points playing one less game.

A nine-game schedule was a big advantage for Stott as most of the contenders played eight.

The loss of a game kept Christian to seven.

Jack Newton of West Bloomfield was a distant 3rd with 68 followed closely by Royal Oak Dondero star Bob LeZotte's 66. Hal Choate of South Lyon totaled 63 and Ferndale's Mike Brown 61.

★ ★ ★

Stott was the only county gridder to score at least one TD in every game. "Chris" also got into the point column every time out but was limited to a PAT on one occasion.

Christian and Choate trailed Stott for single efforts with 25-point performances while others had 24.

A total of 54 Oakland athletes tallied 30 points or more with West Bloomfield and Rochester represented by four boys each. St. Michael, Birmingham and OL St. Mary placed three apiece. Eleven teams had two representatives including the new Pontiac Northern.

Finishing at an even 30 was Pontiac Central All-State candidate Charley Brown despite the fact he played the 1st part of the season at guard and was hindered by a leg injury in his final two starts.

Frank Stagg of Hazel Park came up with all 19 of his team's points in the last game to make the group. Ron Morgan of Clarkston got 14, Bob Porritt, his teammate, Joe McDaniels of Rochester, Birmingham's Steve Jacobson and Jim Laster of Ferndale all tallied 12 in other strong closing showings.

The area title was all-St. Benedict as Dan Donar took top honors with 108 and Ed Everhart had 96.

★ ★ ★

A total of 23 countered 30 or more. St. Ben, Imlay City and Northville each had a trio in the group.

Area's Hunters Asked to Help Check on Bucks

A request has been made by the Conservation Department's district office at Imlay City for the help of area deer hunters in a check on bucks taken during the current season.

Hunters who get a buck are asked to call, collect (RAndolph 4-4485) and a game biologist will visit the place where the deer may be seen. He will determine the age and other factors needed for a study vital to the management of the southern Michigan deer herd. If only the head remains, this is sufficient, officers say.

More area hunters have reported success during the last few days, including the following:

Gerald Noggle, 3052 Welch, Walled Lake, with a 11-pointer at Spalding, in the U.P. He called his wife to report the buck, and was expected home today.

★ ★ ★

William Minier, 2471 S. Duck Lake Rd., Milford, 185-pounder at Onaway. Brother-in-law Tony Zielony of Commerce also got a buck.

Gary Peel, 14 years old, Avondale 9th grader, shot his first buck (first game he ever shot) near Onaway, an 8-pointer. His dad, Walter, 3183 Cherrydale, Auburn Height, also downed a buck.

D'Angelo Paces Title Win for St. Ambrose

DETROIT (AP) — Little St. Ambrose, fired by 150-pound Joe D'Angelo, won the Detroit city high school football championship for the first time last night with a 13-7 upset of Detroit Cooley.

★ ★ ★

The Class C Cavaliers, heavily outweighed, won the 22nd annual Goodfellow game on D'Angelo's 22-yard touchdown run with less than two minutes left. D'Angelo scored St. Ambrose's first touchdown on a four-yard burst in the second quarter.

Pint-Sized QB Is Giant Killer for Hurricanes

MSU Still Has Long Shot Chance to Gain Rose Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Little Fran Curci was a jack the giant killer in leading the Miami Hurricanes to an 18-13 football upset of Michigan State here last night.

Curci, a 5-foot-8, 152-pound quarterback, connected with 13 passes for 129 yards to give the Spartans a 5-4 season's record.

"The little man did a great job again," enthused Miami coach Andy Gustafson said of his brilliant quarterback. "And it was great to beat a Big Ten team that has the build up of Michigan State."

The win gave a big boost to Miami hopes for an Orange or Gator Bowl bid.

Ironically enough, the dispirited Spartans still have a long shot chance to back into the Rose Bowl.

If Wisconsin loses to or ties with Minnesota and Northwestern does the same against Illinois, Michigan State, on a 4-2 conference record, would be the Big Ten representative at Pasadena.

The night game at the Orange Bowl attracted 40,870 fans who were soaked by a rain that poured down during most of the action. Elated Hurricane rooters tried to pull down the goal posts before they were chased away by police.

★ ★ ★

Dean Look provided the passing heroics for Michigan State, connecting with nine of 18 tries for 140 yards. Look kept intact his record of throwing a touchdown pass in every game he has played this season.

The Spartan attack sputtered right from the start. Michigan State won the toss and received. But two penalties for illegal formations shoved the Spartans into a hole and they had to kick out.

Michigan State muffed a scoring chance early in the first quarter when Curci fumbled and Dave Manders recovered on the Miami 33. The Spartans ground down to the 12 but had to settle for a field goal try when Look was dumped back on the 18 trying to pass.

★ ★ ★

Art Brandstatter missed the fourth down boot from the 25 and the Hurricanes took over.

Look fumbled away the ball on the MSU 36 to give Miami its fied goal chance. The Hurricanes went down to the four but the Spartan defense stiffened there and Al Dangel kicked a Miami field goal from the 12.

Miami went 53 yards in 10 plays for the touchdown that gave the Hurricanes a 10-0 lead in the second quarter. Curci hit three passes in the drive and fullback Frank Bouffard, a bruising 200-pounder, busted in from the five to score.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State marched all the way down the field to counter with a touchdown 12 seconds before the half ended. Blanche Martin started the Spartans off with a punt runback from the goal line to the 20.

Look passed to Wayne Fontes for a first down on the Miami 29 and MSU moved in from there to the 25. Look connected again to Gary Ballman on the eight and hit Herb Adderley in the end zone for the touchdown. Look's try to kick the point was wide.

Curci was hitting his receivers again when Miami went 80 yards in 13 plays to score as soon as the Hurricanes got the ball in the third quarter. Curci personally carried in from the two on a quarterback sneak and passed to Jim Vollenweider for the two points.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State roared right back driving from Spartan territory to the Miami 14. But Adderley fumbled and Miami grabbed the ball to stop that threat.

Ballman set up the last Michigan State counter when he intercepted a Curci pass on the MSU 10 and scooted along the sidelines to the Miami 31. Ballman charged in to score from the 10 and Brandstatter kicked the point that made it Miami 18 MSU 13.

Michigan State got the ball on its own 18 with three minutes to go but any comeback hopes were killed when Vollenweider intercepted a Look pass and Miami held on to the ball until the clock ran out.

"Evidently they wanted to win much more than we did," grumbled a disgruntled Duffy Daugherty after the game. "They played 60 minutes of football and we played only about 20, starting late in the third quarter. By that time we were two touchdowns behind."

"The only way to defend against passing like Curci showed us is to rush the passer and either drop him or force quick throw." Daugherty said. "We did this only occasionally."

Michigan State	0	6	0	7—13
Miami	3	7	8	0—18

Miami—Dangel, fg 12.

Miami—Bouffard, 5 run (Dangel kick).

MSU—Adderley, 9 pass from Look (kick failed).

Miami—Curci, 2 run (Vollenweider pass from Curci).

MSU—Ballman, 10 run (Brandstatter kick).

Baylor Out, but Lakers Win, 105-85

Off Night Beats Pistons

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Detroit Pistons were due for an off night, but they never expected it against the Minneapolis Lakers when Elgin Baylor wasn't in the lineup.

The Lakers, with Baylor idled by flu, trampled the Pistons 105-85 last night at Minneapolis. Rookie Rudy Larusso and Larry Foust took up the slack for the ailing National Basketball Assn. scoring star. Larusso scored 24 points, two more than the veteran Foust.

The defeat shattered Detroit's dreams of moving into first place in the Western Division this weekend. The Pistons fell 1½ games behind the division-leading St. Louis Hawks, who edged Philadelphia 118-117 last night.

Minneapolis held the Pistons to their fewest points this season. The Pistons had won four of their last five before running into the ambush.

The Pistons play the Hawks here tonight in the first meeting between the teams this season.

Productive balanced scoring, which Detroit had used to defeat Minneapolis in three of four previous meetings, was lacking last night. The best Piston shotmaker was Chuck Noble, who had only 15 points. Gene Shue had one of his poorest games this season with 14.

Shellie McMillon had 13 before he was ejected in the third quarter for arguing with referee Arnie Heft.

★ ★ ★

The Hawks held Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain to 24 points in their victory over Philadelphia. Bob Pettit won the game with a 15-foot jumpshot 38 seconds before the gun. Pettit had 28 while Paul Aizin poured in 44 points for the losing Warriors.

In the only other NBA game, the injury-riddled Boston Celtics won for the 12th time in 14 games. They downed the Syracuse Nationals 114-101. Bill Russell, playing with an injured ankle, scored 17 of Boston's points and grabbed 26 rebounds.

House Traded by A's

Begin Inter-Loop Trades

By The Associated Press

Major league clubs wasted no time today in taking advantage of the new inter-league trading period that opened today and will last for three weeks.

The Kansas City Athletics of the American League and the Cincinnati Reds of the National were the first clubs to announce a swap during the unprecedented trading period.

The A's traded catcher Frank House to the Reds in exchange for pitcher Tom Acker. Acker was a righthanded relief hurler with the Reds for four years, compiling a 19-13 record. House, who previously played with Detroit, caught 98 games for the A's last season and batted .234.

A survey by the Associated Press last month showed that the club owners and general managers expect trading to be brisk, but that not many "name" players would be involved.

The Boston Red Sox traded first baseman Dick Gernert to the Chicago Cubs for pitcher Dave Hillman and infielder Jim Marshall. Cub manager Charley Grimm said Gernert was sought for his right handed hitting power. He hit .262 in 116 games last year.

Hillman won 8 and lost 11 for the Cubs in 1959 while Marshall, who came to the Cubs from Baltimore late in 1958, hit .252 in 108 games with the National Leaguers.

New Pilgrims Hold Dinner of Thanksgiving

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—Some 300 new pilgrims to America — displaced persons from foreign lands — gathered here today where the first Pilgrims landed in 1620.

The refugees from 20 countries were guests at a day-long program commemorating the first Thanksgiving.

The Massachusetts Council of Churches, sponsors of the event, scheduled an old-fashioned outdoor Thanksgiving service, followed by a dinner featuring barbecued venison and chicken.

Since today also is the anniversary of the signing of the Mayflower Compact, copies of the document were distributed. The compact set up a government by consent based on just and equal laws for all.

Ford to Step Up Falcon Output

Will Switch Production to Free Jersey Plant; Comet Due in Spring

DETROIT (AP)—Ford today disclosed preliminary plans for increasing production of its compact Falcon and for initial production of the new compact Comet.

★ ★ ★

The first step will be to increase Mercury production by 90 per cent at St. Louis and by 40 per cent at Wayne. This will free the Metuchen, N.J., assembly plant for conversion to compact car building.

Falcons now are built at Lorain, Ohio, and Kansas City, Mo. The Metuchen plant should begin building Falcons by mid-February. The Comet will be marketed by Mercury dealers. No introduction date has been announced other than it will be sometime in the spring.

Ward's Automotive Reports said 15,000 Comets are scheduled for production in the first quarter of 1960.

★ ★ ★

Ford said the increased Mercury production will begin as early in December as steel supplies permit. It added that overall Mercury production will climb 15 per cent above current rates which include the Metuchen plant.

Fine 2 County Tavern Owners

Selling to Minor Costs $150; Bad Conduct Other Charge

The owners of two area taverns were fined and another warned at a recent hearing of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

★ ★ ★

Eric Cooper, owner of the Little Brown Jug, 2325 Union Lake Rd., Commerce Township, was fined $150 for selling alcoholic beverages to a minor and allowing a minor to drink on the premises.

A seven-day suspension of Cooper's license was waived due to the mature appearance of the minor. The fine is due and effective Dec. 14.

Edward M. and Edna Kroetsch, owners of the Golden Rule Tavern, 3162 Orchard Lake Rd., Keego Harbor, were charged with improper conduct and allowing intoxicated persons to loiter at their establishment.

★ ★ ★

They were fined $100 for the first charge. The second charge was dismissed due to insufficient evidence. The fine is due and effective Nov. 30.

A letter of warning was issued to Charles Haas, of the Roosevelt Hotel Bar, 125 N. Perry St., who had been charged with selling to an intoxicated person.

Hunter Is Mute About Shooting Ex-Oxford Man

A deer hunter who police said has admitted the accidental fatal shooting of Jack Williams, 62, of Mullet Lake, stood mute yesterday in Cheboygan Justice Court on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

★ ★ ★

Police said Roy Bauers, 52, of Carp Lake, admitted firing the fatal shot Wednesday which struck the former Oxford Township potato grower in the back of the head.

Both were hunting in woods 10 miles west of Cheboygan.

Police quoted Bauers as saying he fired at some moving branches while hunting deer.

He was released on $1,000 bond to await pretrial examination.

Port of Toledo Enjoys Record Seaway Year

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—At least 210 ocean ships will have called at Toledo this year when the ports busiest season in history ends next week.

Toledo marine terminals said the total may reach 224, but emphasized that many ships revise their schedule in order to make a fast exit from the Great Lakes ahead of the ice.

Last year, 156 ocean freighters stopped here. Ten years ago, only 19 oceangoers called at Toledo, and five years ago the total was 79.

Earp's Nephew, Western Legend Himself, Dies

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP)—Virgil Earp, survivor of many an Old West shooting scrap, has died peacefully in his sleep at the age of 80.

Virgil was a nephew of famed Western lawman Wyatt Earp and the only living offspring of Wyatt and his five brothers. Virgil's father was Newton.

Virgil died Friday at the home of a niece, Mrs. Frank McKenzie of Vallejo. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Alice Wright of Kelseyville, Calif.

In 1958 he appeared on television's "The $64,000 Question." He won $32,000 answering questions about the Wild West.

He was asked recently during the uproar over rigged television quizzes whether he had been coached. Earp snorted an indignant "no," and asked, "Who could tell me anything about the West?"

He was a sheriff at 18 and had three notches in his gun—for three men killed—at age 21.

Death Notices

MRS. EDITH J. HALL

Service for Mrs. Edith J. Hall, 87, of 630 E. Beverly Ave., will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Huntoon Funeral Home. Another service will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. Monday in the Karr Funeral Home in Onaway. Burial will be in North Alice cemetery near here.

Police Deny Patrol Lags

Southfield Officials Say Intensive Checks Made After Rape

SOUTHFIELD — Police officials accused by irate neighbors of not patroling the area where a young housewife was beaten and raped Nov. 10, say "it just isn't so."

Acting Chief Milton Sackett said that from one to three unmarked cars have been in the McClung Road area where the attack took place and that the department has checked out at least 100 suspects.

Sackett adds that the two men assigned to the case "have so far spent an average of 16 hours a day tracking down leads and prowling the area."

The young mother was kidnaped and raped the night of Nov. 10 when she went into the backyard of her home to investigate a noise.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

All Pilots Must Know Instrument Flying

WASHINGTON (AP) — By March 16, all pilots — private or commercial — must know how to fly by instruments.

★ ★ ★

The new regulation was announced by the Federal Aviation Agency Friday. The reason: there have been too many fatal accidents lately involving light planes and amateur pilots.

The Aircraft Owners and Pilots Assn., which represents many private pilots, supported the action, which is one step in the FAA program to reduce the number of accidents.

★ ★ ★

Airline pilots, who already must know instrument flying, are not affected by the new regulation.

Will Free Actors

Anxious for Pay-TV

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—TV topics:

Nearly every actor you talk to is strong for pay-TV. Most of them figure that it will be a boon to the acting crowd, bringing renewed prosperity. But Dana Andrews has another reason for his advocacy of tollvision.

★ ★ ★

"It will free actors from the necessity of pitching the product," says he. Andrews argues that sponsors force performers to spiel the commercials with the resultant loss of dignity and standing.

I don't know how forced the actors are (money is an unhidden pursuader). But it is painful to see stars you have admired acting as pitchmen. The nadir was reached on a recent "gig party" show. Gloria Swanson was doing a commerical for a lady's electric shaver.

The commercial itself was in questionable taste, especially when delivered by one of the great stars of screen history. Then she introduced another great star, Ramon Novarro, and used the back of his arm to demonstrate the shaver! It had to be seen to be believed.

★ ★ ★

Almost as jarring is the old practice of having stars like Jim Arness and Jack Webb step out of character at the end of the show to render the plug. I saw a recent show in which John Bromfield did it during the middle commercial. Somehow he lost me when he resumed his role as U.S. marshal.

Minister Sentenced in Bed Blackmail

YANCEYVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A Baptist minister who photographed his nude wife in bed with another minister was convicted of blackmail here Friday.

Superior Court Judge W. H. S. Burgwyn sentenced the Rev. J. T. Swinson, 51, to 24 months in prison for blackmail, conspiracy, assault with a deadly weapon and larceny.

Mrs. Swinson, 38, accused of luring a family friend into her bed so he could be photographed, was convicted of blackmail and conspiracy. A mother of two children, she was sentenced to 19 months, suspended.

TOOLS and TRAINING

How often have you seen a complicated Tool and wondered what its use was?

A television tube tester is such a tool. Your neighborhood TV service man is trained to evaluate the readings he obtains from his instruments.
On the other hand . . . so-called do-it-yourself tube checkers use only the most cheaply obtained instruments in their cabinets and glorify this instrument with flashy lights and decorations. These cheaply made testers are designed to sell tubes and cannot analyze the true condition of your tubes. Besides, no soda clerk or super-market sales person can give you the expert-advice extended to you by the Independent TV Service Dealer. He is a professional. Ask him for advice.

Indonesia Frets at Soviet China

Tension Builds Up Over Trade Ban and Trouble on Border

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China is at odds with another of her former neutral friends.

First, it was India. Now, it is Indonesia.

It's no surprise that Indonesia and Communist China are at each other's throats.

Even the most naive political observers in the Indonesian capital saw the big blow-up in Sino-Indonesian relations coming weeks—even months—ago.

The tension had been building up rapidly since last May when the government, in a move to curb the Chinese economic influence, decided to ban all alien retailers in rural areas. This ban goes into effect at the end of the year.

It will affect an estimated half-million Chinese, all presumably under the direct control of Peiping because Indonesia has no relations with Nationalist China.

The big blow-up finally came this week. The Indonesian foreign ministry charged the Chinese Embassy in Jakarta with urging Chinese to defy the ban. It termed such action "provocative."

Indonesia also hinted broadly at the possibility of uncontrollable anti-Chinese sentiments developing.

Anti-Chinese sentiment in Indonesia, long directed against the Nationalists, began to switch to the Red regime early this year. This sentiment began to find its way into the press and public statements more with the Tibetan situation. It became widespread after Peiping began opposing the ban. It became intense when the Chinese began causing trouble along the Indian border.

America Grants More for Refugee Year

GENEVA (AP)— The United States announced a new million-dollar grant Friday to the U. N. World Refugee Year. This brought its total contribution to $3,200,000.

More than half the new contribution is to go to the relief of refugees who have fled from Red China to Hong Kong, bringing total U.S. expenditure for this purpose to $800,000.

Says Citizens Bewildered

Hare Advocates Agency for Consumer Protection

LANSING (UPI) — The cranberry scare, hunter asphyxiations from defective gas heaters and other similar incidents point up the need for a Michigan Consumer Protection Office, Secy. of State James M. Hare said Friday.

★ ★ ★

"Although a number of state agencies are specifically charged with certain responsibilities for investigating violations of consumers' interest," he said, the average bewildered citizen does not know where to turn for help.

"In Detroit and Grand Rapids a victimized housewife can phone the local Better Business Bureau, but elsewhere in the state there are few organizations to which she can appeal."

Three women legislators this year introduced a bill to set up a consumer protection office, but it died in committee.

Hare noted a consumer council went into operation this year in California, empowered to represent consumer interests in coordinating existing governmental agency, making surveys and publishing information.

★ ★ ★

In view of the state's financial troubles, groups such as the Michigan Credit Union League have indicated they would contribute funds to help get a similar program started in Michigan, Hare said.

A group of consumer-minded citizens from across the state will meet at Michigan State University Dec. 12 to confer on such consumer problems as credit, fraudulent advertising and food and drug protection.

Prices Up in '59 for 111 Dailies

Rise Is Brought About by Increased Costs, Publishers Report

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Newspaper Publishers Assn. reported Thursday that 111 newspapers in this country were forced to increase circulation prices during the first 10 months of this year.

The ANPA said that of the total, 45 increased their single copy street sale prices.

★ ★ ★

The increases were brought about by steadily rising costs of labor, production, employe benefits and other materials and services, the ANPA said.

The newspapers, in announcing price increases to readers, usually explained that they had resisted increases as long as possible and that many improvements had been made to provide better papers, the report said.

During the 10 months, the number of papers making single copy street sales at 7 cents increased from 483 to 502, those being sold at 10 cents increased from 162 to 174, and at 8 cents from five to eight. Those being sold at 5 cents, meantime, dropped from 1,000 to 969, and 6-cent papers decreased from 51 to 48.

Denies Commitment on Panama Zone

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department denied Friday that President Eisenhower's brother had made any statement committing the United States to a particular course of action with respect to the Panama Canal Zone.

★ ★ ★

The reaction came after a report by Panamanian Finance Minister Fernando Eleta that Milton Eisenhower told him the United States would recognize Panamanian sovereignty over the Canal Zone.

Milton Eisenhower made a good-will trip through Central and South America in mid-1958. The State Department said he visited Panama in July 1958.

★ ★ ★

Eleta told the Panama National Assembly Wednesday night that Milton Eisenhower told him in an after-dinner talk Sept. 13, 1958 that the United States would reconize Panamanian sovereignty over the Canal Zone in a statement issued by Nov. 3.

4 Mental Patients Drown in Florida

STARKE, Fla. (UPI) — Four young mental patients who slipped away from a Boy Scout outing drowned in a lake near here early today when the boat in which they were riding capsized.

Two other persons in the small boat were rescued.

The victims were part of a group of 20 patients from the Sun and Training Center (for mentally retarded) at nearby Gainesville who had gone on a scouting trip yesterday to nearby Camp Montgomery.

★ ★ ★

Dr. C. H. Carter, the institution's medical director, identified the dead as Noah Stanley, 15, Charles Griffith, 15, Thomas Elmore, 21, and James Rewis, 31.

Oldest labor union in the U.S. is said to be that of the cigar makers.

West Virginia Turnpike to Help With Free Gas

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — From now on, motorists who run out of gas on the West Virginia Turnpike will get enough free fuel to get them to the nearest service station.

Turnpike Manager W. W. Stahl said Friday state police patroling the turnpike are carrying extra cans of gasoline.

The government reports that 411,000 new businesses were established in the United States during 1958 and 356,000 were closed.

Reflections

J. V. VOORHEES

THANKSGIVING

The life of the Pilgrims was hard, gruelling, with hazards of wind, rain frost, and sudden death; their harvest was insurance against want during winter; their prayer was a fervent, sincere "Thanks" to Him.

We will thank God for a bountiful harvest —the ability to think and act independently, to share in the prosperity of those around us, to give our surplus to those less fortunate, to bring comfort and peace to those next door and across the seas, to enjoy the marvels of ingenious men and the freedom that comes with independence.

M. E. SIPLE

We will thank God that we live under a flag with fifty stars everyone of which represents dignity of its individuals, who live without fear, worship according to their individual concept, cast sectret ballots and abide by the majority's choice.

We thank God that we are part of the United States of America.
