Celebrations Are Replaced by Mourning

Crazed Gunman Ends Happy Party Plans of Troopers' Families

FLINT (AP) — Two young wives made funeral plans today for their slain husbands—a tragic end to what was to have been a week of celebration and happy anniversaries for both families.

State Trooper George E. Lappi, 28, was shot to death yesterday on the day following his eighth wedding anniversary. His wife is expecting another child soon.

Minutes later his partner, Trooper Bert A. Pozza, 27, was gunned down. He died on his wife's birthday.

The two young troopers, who had planned a joint celebration with their families last night, were slain by the deadly accurate rifle fire of apparently crazed Harry G. Richards, 63, retired Flint postal clerk.

Another state trooper, Cpl. Robert Vesey, was wounded in the ankle during a 45-minute seige before the incoherent Richards was driven from his home by bullets and tear gas fired by 75 policemen who had surrounded the house 15 miles northeast of Flint.

Richards is still "under restraint" at Hurley Hospital here. A spokesman at the State Police headquarters here said he "seems to be half in this world and half out of it."

Genesee County Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke said he will confer with State Police today before seeking a murder warrant against Richards.

Richards lived in the two-story frame home with his wife, Eulalia, 63; his son, Leon, 25, and a 17-year-old girl, Alnete Barrett. Mrs.

Area Police Rush Help

State Police Headquarters in Detroit dispatched three cars and six troopers to Flint from the Oakland County area. Two cars answered the distress call from the Pontiac Post and one from the Romeo Post. Both posts reported that their cars arrived after Richards was apprehended, however.

SHOOTING SCENE — Police and passersby cluster in the yard of Harry G. Richards after he was captured following a gun battle with state troopers near Flint yesterday. Richards, who shot and killed the two troopers at the left, was subdued in a fight with 40 officers who used gunfire and tear gas. A third trooper was shot in the ankle.

Dag Orders Out First U.N. Unit for Port Said

British Also Announce Blocked Canal to Bring Gas Rationing Dec. 17

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

LONDON — Britain announced plans today to demobilize troops called up for the conflict with Egypt over the Suez Canal Zone.

The announcement in the House of Commons followed shortly after U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold said he had ordered the first U.N. international police unit to Port Said with the full consent of the British and French whose troops invaded the canal city.

The British fuel ministry also announced that rationing of gasoline and oil will begin in Britain Dec. 17, as a result of the blocked Suez Canal Zone and disrupted supplies of petroleum from the Middle East.

(At U. N. headquarters in New York Hammarskjold announced the first troops, comprised of 190 Norwegian officers and men, would proceed into Port Said at 11 p.m. (EST) today.)

The secretary general, who returned yesterday from a trouble-shooting trip to Egypt, planned to submit two reports to the Assembly today.

A U. N. spokesman said one centered on the operation to clear the canal, in which Hammarskjold agreed the U. N. would help, and the other on the U. N. police force.

Almont School Says No

Locked-Out Student Still Can't Get In

Robert Phernetton, 16-year-old Romeo High School student whose locks have him locked out of high school, has been turned down in his effort to gain admission to a different Romeo-area high school.

Donald McAlvey, superintendent of schools in nearby Almont, said today that Mrs. Alice Phernetton of Washington applied for admission for both her sons, but it was denied. He said the Almont school board had decided to back the policy set by the Romeo board.

Phernetton was expelled when his long "Elvis Presley" type haircut met with the disapproval of Romeo High school authorities.

But his 14-year-old brother, Donald, complied with the "clip or get" ruling of the school, and was readmitted along with several other youths ousted briefly for the haircut fad.

Legal efforts of Mrs. Phernetton to force the school to readmit her son failed, when Macomb County Circuit Judge Alton H. Noe upheld the school principal's right to enforce such restrictions, aimed at teaching proper behavior and reducing delinquency.

Dock Workers Continue Strike

Union and Management Told to 'Quit Fiddling' by U.S. Mediator

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal mediator has scolded union and management negotiators with a warning to "stop fiddling around" and settle the 'East-Gulf coast dock strike.

But the paralyzing walkout by 60,000 dock workers moved into its fifth day today with no sign of settlement. From 150 to 200 ships remained idle at deserted piers from Maine to Texas.

Negotiators for the International Longshoremen's Assn. and the New York Shipping Assn. resume contract talks today.

After a fruitless session yesterday, Robert H. Moore, federal mediator, said he had told both sides they "might as well stop fiddling around."

He said he informed the negotiators he didn't think there would be any immediate government intervention to stop the strike under the Taft-Hartley law.

The White House also appealed to both sides to settle their differences.

Meanwhile, on the West Coast Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union started polling its members to determine their stand on the East-Gulf coast strike. Results are to be announced tomorrow.

The union has refused to handle ships coming from or going to strikebound ports on the East and Gulf coasts but it announced it would start working them again today, pending outcome of the referendum.

The union said it had worked military and perishable cargoes without interruption.

The new policy was effective at 8 a.m., with the end of a 24-hour walkout called to discuss the strike. About 16,000 Longshoremen joined the layoff yesterday and waterfront activity on the Pacific Coast dropped to about 25 per cent of normal.

The nation's railroads ordered a halt to rail shipment of almost all export freight to all strikebound ports. The order was aimed at blocking a massive tieup of freight cars at ports.

The strike was already costing the nation's economy millions of dollars a day.

Vacation Plans Put Off

LONDON (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich postponed his vacation today "because of the world situation."

Cobo Goes West

DETROIT (INS) — Mayor and Mrs. Albert E. Cobo left Detroit today for a three-week vacation at their ranch in Tucson, Ariz.

Hungarian Refugees Wing Toward U.S.

VIENNA (INS) — Forty-one Hungarian victims of Soviet tyranny boarded a chartered Flying Tiger Airliner early today and headed for new lives in the United States.

This vanguard of 5,000 refugees invited to live in freedom by President Eisenhower was scheduled to arrive at McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey tomorrow morning.

Another 50 Hungarians were to leave Salzburg today in a chartered airliner for the New Jersey Air Base.

In the group that departed from Vienna were several children, including a young nephew of former Premier Imre Nagy and a nephew of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty.

Majority Voted Rail Yard as Best for City — Dugan

City Commissioner John A. Dugan, issued the following statement Monday to The Pontiac Press:

"After six months of study and deliberation, the City Commission, by a 4-3 vote at their last meeting, reluctantly agreed that the site chosen by the Grand Trunk for the railroad support yard was the most feasible of the five possible sites available.

"For this reason I feel compelled to make the following comments in order to keep the record straight:

"During the entire time the City Commissioners were studying the problem, they were unanimous in their sympathies for the area affected, and constantly sought to come up with another location which would both adequately serve industry and affect as few people as possible. Four other sites were studied and an outstanding consulting railroad engineer from Kentucky was employed by the city to provide factual and technical data which we hoped would support our choice of an alternate site.

"Our hopes were dashed when the Blackman report was received, but we still pursued one possibility, which eventually was discarded due to its exorbitant cost to the city and its questionable value in providing the necessary service to industry.

"As a last resort, two meetings were scheduled with Mr. Jack Munnings, a former Pontiac City Commissioner with an outstanding record of over forty years of railroad experience in the operational field. He is now retired from the railroad and living in Royal Oak. His testimony also disproved the logic of any of the alternate plans.

"Armed with the facts gleaned from months of study, and advice from various groups and individuals affected, the City Commission met and resolved the problem. I thoroughly deplore the sordid insinuations made against any Com-

Take a Rest, Eden Ordered

Briton Suffers 'Strain'; Hint at More Changes as Butler Steps In

LONDON (AP) — A. A. Butler, No. 2 man in the British government, presided over a Cabinet meeting today in place of ailing Prime Minister Eden. Eden's doctors have ordered him to rest because of "severe overstrain."

The mere fact that Eden was ordered to take it easy at a time when Britain faced some of the hardest questions to come out of the prolonged Middle East crisis led to speculation—without any official foundation—that his time as prime minister is nearing an end.

Eden has been under heavy fire ever since his decision to join with France in invading Egypt two weeks ago. The opposition Labor party has vigorously called for his resignation.

There have been some minor defections in his own Conservative party. Despite the fact that Eden has won half a dozen crucial confidence votes in Parliament, there have been persistent reports that deep cracks exist in the Conservative ranks.

* * *

The news of Eden's illness came too late for comment by newspapers which have opposed him at home. But in Paris, the afternoon newspaper France Soir concluded that Eden was suffering a diplomatic illness—often the first step in the removal of a political leader.

Any successful attempt to oust Eden would be likely to come from within his own party. Traditionally, this would take the form of back room conversations among party bigwigs to impress the prime minister with the reasons for retirement — followed by the announcement that he had decided to take a rest.

Confined With Cold

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill is confined to his home today with a "slight cold."

Cruelty Case Continues

Girl, 7, Tells of Burning

A 10 woman-four man jury this morning heard seven-year-old Sherry Wilkinson describe how her mother "held my hand over the gas burner in the kitchen because she didn't want me downstairs."

Sherry's parents, William Wyatt, 29, and his wife, Ada, 33, are charged with cruelty to the child. Sherry is Mrs. Wyatt's daughter by a previous marriage.

Doctors have said Sherry's right hand, severely burned and reportedly untreated for two months, may be partially restored to use after several years of treatments.

Assistant Prosecutor Walter T. Denison led Sherry through the jury box this morning. Several jurors covered their eyes at sight of the deformed hand.

TELLS OF BURNS

Under questioning by Denison, Sherry said her mother also burned her left hand, her buttocks and legs, cut her upper lip with a butcher knife and knocked out two front teeth.

* * *

Sherry testified she often was kept tied to her bed "because mother didn't want the neighbors to know I was upstairs."

In a green dress and yellow sweater, Sherry spoke quietly and gazed at the floor throughout her testimony. She said Wyatt told her "they weren't going to spend a dime on my hand."

The Wyatts sat unflinching through Sherry's testimony, watching her on the witness stand.

The case is scheduled to continue this afternoon. Henry will continue to cross-examine Sherry Denison and Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor are expected to call doctors to testify on Sherry's injuries.

Sherry and her 11 brothers and sisters have been kept in Oakland County Children's Home since Aug. 23, when they were discovered alone in their Keego Harbor house.

Defense attorney Milton R. Henry brought out apparent contradictions in the girl's statement during the beginning of his cross examination. A statement given by Sherry Aug. 30 at Pontiac General Hospital had mentioned her sisters Diane and Darlene were in the kitchen at the time when her hand was burned, but today in court she testified they were not there.

When questioned about seeing her mother since this case began, the girl said she had seen both her parents last week and that she had hugged and kissed her mother.

But she said "no" to Henry's questions about telling her mother that she was afraid to go to court, and had been told she would be beaten unless she said certain things in court.

Bank Declares Dividend

Directors of the Pontiac State Bank last night declared a cash dividend of 75 cents a share on common stock, President Milo J. Cross said this morning.

The dividend is payable Dec. 15 to shareholders of record Nov. 30, 1956.

Ration Gas at Istanbul

ISTANBUL (AP)—City authorities ordered gasoline rationing today to guard against a possible shortage as a result of the closing of the Suez Canal. Private cars will be allowed 1½ to 2 gallons a day but none on Sunday.

Cloudy With Rain, Very Little Change

Cloudy with rain tonight and tomorrow is the U.S. Weather Bureau's prediction for Pontiac and vicinity.

Tonight's low will be 40 - 44 with little change marking tomorrow's high of 40 - 44.

More snow is expected tomorrow in the Upper Peninsula and the northern part of the Lower Peninsula.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 38. At 2 p.m. the mercury read 44 degrees.

Suez Blockage May Up Price of Fuel in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Suez Canal blockage may bring higher gasoline and fuel oil prices, officials acknowledged today while repeating that it will not necessitate rationing in the United States.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands—(AP) The Dutch government today banned most motorized traffic on Sunday to avert a gasoline shortage because of the Middle East crisis.

Ambassador to Italy. Sixty-four years of age, he was foreign aid director in Italy from 1948 to 1950. Mrs. Luce resigned yesterday.

Bailiff Admits Killing Farmer

Wayne County Official Claims That the Victim Threatened Hunters

WHITE CLOUD (AP)—James King, 48, was arraigned in Justice of Peace Court today on a charge of murder in the "deer hunting" slaying Friday of a Newaygo County farmer. He demanded a hearing and it was set for 10 a. m. Dec. 3.

Justice of the Peace Wells Branch ordered the Wayne County Common Pleas Court bailiff held without bond. King has been a bailiff for 16 years.

King was accused of murder in the shooting of George Lloyd Krise, 34. Krise was shot five times in the chest. State Police said he apparently was slain by deer hunters whom he had ordered to leave his property.

Krise's body was found on his farm near White Cloud, Mich. late last Friday. King was traced through a paper addressed to his wife, which was laying near the body.

King told police he and three other hunters were lost in the woods when they drove up to Krise.

The court aide said he shot Krise three times after the farmer used obscene language in ordering the hunters off his property and "threatened them with a shotgun."

12-Town Drain Battle Shaping

5 Communities to Fight Troy-Southfield Action in Dec. 4 Court Suit

In a Circuit Court session yesterday, Judge H. Russel Holland permitted five South Oakland County communities to intervene in the pending court action against the Twelve Town Drain Board.

Troy, bringing the action with Southfield Township in an effort to leave the 14-community drain project, objected to the intervention.

Judge Holland's ruling sets the stage for a major court hearing Dec. 4 on the $38,500,000 project with Troy and Southfield on one side and the Drain Board, Royal Oak, Ferndale, Oak Park, Huntington Woods and Berkley as defendants.

Troy attorney Jack W. Hutson argued the intervening communities already were represented by the Drain Board, represented by County Corporation Counsel Harry W. Merritt.

Ends Restricted Living in Italy

6 P.M. Curfew Ceases for 'Lucky' Luciano After Two Years

NAPLES (INS) — Charles "Lucky" Luciano was summoned to Naples police headquarters today and went in fearing "the worst"—but came out a completely free man.

Lucky said he suspected he had been called in by the police in connection with the arrest of his former Lieutenant Ralph Liguori in Rome two weeks ago on white slave charges.

But all police wanted to tell the one-time kingpin of American crime was that he had "behaved wonderfully" during his two years of restricted residence.

That means Luciano no longer will have to observe a daily 6 p.m. curfew and may do anything (legal, of course) and go anywhere in Italy from now on.

Police officials had curbed his movements because he was "socially dangerous . . . gambled large sums at the race track . . . involved in illicit money remittances from the United States."

Lucky claims the charges were pressed against him by the Italian police at the instigation of the U.S. Narcotics Department and its Mediterranean agent, Charles Siragusa.

Now that he officially is a good citizen, Luciano said he hoped the American narcotics agents would be "convinced I'm not and never will be fool enough to be involved in narcotics trafficking . . . I'm a legitimate businessman now (medical equipment) and that is all I want to be but now I will visit Rome occasionally."

The Day in Birmingham

No Rezoning Is Verdict for Medical Clinic Plans

BIRMINGHAM — Plans for a doctor's clinic on land on Pierce Street near 14 Mile road seemed doomed last night when six commissioners voted against rezoning.

Though some nearby residents pointed to need of a clinic in the area and already busy traffic with the school on Pierce, commissioners sided with other residents protesting rezoning from terrace.

Zoning of the lots, 97 through 100 of Indian Village subdivision, has been under study many months.

Approval of the special assessment district for municipal parking lot No. 4, at the corner of Forest and Brownell streets, caught Ferd Pew, local realtor for the third time in an area being assessed for a new parking lot.

"How much longer is this going on?" he queried commissioners.

His was the only objection however to the lot's district, and to the district for an alley from Forest to Woodward.

Crossing the green of Springdale Park is all right for North Evergreen interceptor plans, commissioners agreed.

They foresee only that the fifth and eighth fairways will be golfing problems for the short time that installation of the underground piping is under way.

Free-wheeling down Willits was ensured last night, with parking revisions suggested by the chief of police and endorsed by the commission.

Parking lot entrances for Jacobson's and Wabeek lots will be off Willits, so parking will be prohibited from Chester to Woodward on that street.

But parking spaces will go back onto Bates street with the closing of the Wabeek lot entrance there.

To free the Willits route around the business district, the Chester street parking from Chester to Willits was removed, as well as the parking on Maple from Southfield to Chester.

More city service for neighboring Troy industries and homes won approval last night.

Commissioners agreed to allow the B-W Controller Corp. to tap into sewers, but if annexation of the land is not done soon, the firm will be liable for about $2,000 in charges beyond the regular city rate.

Also approved was connection for the Patrick Meyrick land, providing he foot part of the bill for enlarging sewer mains.

The Kuhlman Company request was turned back to the planning board for further study at its meeting tomorrow night.

* * *

Dividing for group meetings tonight, the WSCS of the First Methodist Church has slated gatherings at the homes of Mrs. John Wilson (Group A), Mrs. Paul VanderBroek (B), and Mrs. Harold Day (D) and at Fellowship Hall of the church (C).

* * *

Thanksgiving plans for many local churchgoers include the Union Service at the First Congregational Church at 9 a.m. Thursday. The Rev. MacKay Taylor of Northminster Presbyterian Church will preach with the home church's choir singing.

Prepare to Bury 2 Slain Flint Troopers

BECAME ENRAGED

She said her husband became enraged during an argument over "a mere nothing." One account said he was angered because his wife tried to talk him out of going deer hunting. Another report said the argument began over money Richards thought his wife had taken from his pants pocket.

Richards' right arm is partly paralyzed and his speech has become increasingly retarded from a series of recent strokes. Police said he has been in declining mental health.

The wives of Lappi and Pozza were rushed to Hurley Hospital by State Police but their husbands were dead before they arrived. Both have two small children.

Pozza was the son of an Iron Mountain policeman. Lappi was from Beacon, also in the Upper Peninsula.

"George and Bert sat here this morning and made plans for tonight," Mrs. Pozza sobbed at her home.

PLANNED TO CELEBRATE

"This was my birthday and yesterday was their anniversary," she explained. "We were all going out together. But now . . ."

Trooper Stewart Luckey was dispatched to answer Mrs. Richards' distress call. He peered through a kitchen window and saw Richards crouched inside with a deer rifle pointed at the back door.

Luckey called for reinforcements. Lappi and Pozza drove up followed by Troopers Vesey and Norman Jones.

As Lappi threw a stone at the front side window of the house to attract Richards' attention, he was struck in the chest by a shot from a downstairs window.

Pozza ran around the house to cover the back door and Richards shot him from a second floor window. The high-powered bullet entered the shoulder and came out Pozza's side.

LIFE EBBED

Vesey managed to pull the fallen Pozza behind a patrol car. But the desperately wounded trooper steadily grew weaker as he lay pinned behind the automobile for precious minutes. He died soon after arriving at Hurley Hospital.

Vesey, although wounded slightly by a ricocheting bullet, reached his patrol car and radioed for aid. Officers from the Flint and Bridgeport State Police Post responded along with men from the Genesee County Sheriff's and the Flint Police department.

Pozza joined the Flint post in 1950. Lappi became a member in 1954.

The widows will get pensions of about $2,600 a year plus $10 a month for each of their two children. Mrs. Lappi now has David, 6, and Michael, 3. Mrs. Pozza is left with Joanne Marie, 3, and Mary Beth, who will be a year old next week.

In addition, each will receive approximately $6,000 in cash under the State Police Voluntary Benefit Plan. Each participating member of the plan, to which nearly all State Police belong, contribute $5 on the death of another member.

The widows also will receive up to $500 each for burial expenses.

Pozza and Lappi were the sixth and seventh state troopers to be slain in the line of duty since 1921.

Deer Gets Revenge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — On the first day of Ohio's small game season, a deer "ran over" an unidentified, elderly hunter in a public hunting area north of Delaware, causing the man some injuries.

Three Children Burned to Death

Five Persons Survive as Blast Rocks House in Kentucky

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Three children were killed early today in an explosion and fire in their two-room frame home near here. Five other persons, including the parents of the children, were burned seriously.

At St. Elizabeth Hospital in Covington, the survivors were listed as Charles Graziana, 28; his wife, Della Mae, 25; a son, about a year old; Graziana's brother, Jerry, 15; and the 50-year-old mother of Charles and Jerry Graziana.

W. L. McBeeb, a member of the volunteer fire department, said the explosion and fire apparently started when Mrs. Graziana used kerosene to start a fire in a coal stove.

Famous Yule Pageant Renewed at Cass City

CASS CITY, Mich. (AP) — This small community 80 miles north of Detroit is building its own "Bethlehem" for the renewal of a Christmas pageant which has won it renown as the "Christmas town of Michigan."

By today volunteers had completed most of the groundwork on a replica of Bethlehem for the scenes of the Dec. 16 Pageant of the Nativity. The set is on a hillside overlooking this Tuscola County village. Some 250 of the townspeople are ready to re-enact the roles that brought national attention to the pageant two years ago.

The show was not staged last year, but is being revived by the Cass City Pageant Assn. because of many requests.

Santa Promises to Show Up for Annual Holiday Parade

A letter postmarked the North Pole and received today by the Pontiac Retail Merchants Assn. brought the promise from Santa Claus that Pontiac area kids can expect to see their friend at the Dec. 1 "Christmas-On-Wheels" parade.

"I wouldn't miss that wonderful spectacle for anything in the world," St. Nick said in his letter.

The usual jovial Santa filed one request with the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce: "Please see what you can do to keep it from raining like last year."

The thousands of hearty souls that braved chilly rains last year know well what Santa is speaking of.

Although they can't do much about the weather, this year's parade marshal, Capt. A. J. Largent of the National Guard, and Gerard A. Poehlman, executive director of the parade, indicated another great parade is in store this year.

"We have received entries for 29 floats to date and expect one more," Poehlman said.

The area churches are busy preparing their colorful religious theme floats while school kids are staying after school eagerly shaping their Toyland theme floats.

And a parade wouldn't be the same without bands, so six high school units have indicated they will be in line for the march through downtown Pontiac.

They are: Pontiac High, Lake Orion, Avondale, Walled Lake, Oxford, and the All-City Junior High band composed of 250 musicians.

Then there will be the 40 "Dancing Majorettes," the Detroit Edison calliope, troops of Boy Scouts, and the usual clowns.

The parade is sponsored by the Retail Merchants Assn. of the Chamber. It is expected to step off sharply at 9:30 and march down Saginaw and Oakland to disband at Sanderson.

Groups to View Gift of Portrait to Adrian Cotter

BIRMINGHAM — A portrait painted by Robert Herzberg, local artist, of Adrian Cotter, Berkley restaurateur, will be presented to Cotter at a dinner in his honor tomorrow night at his inn.

Herzberg, whose portraits include one of Rep. George Dondero in Royal Oak City Hall and of Judge Glenn Gillespie in the courthouse in Pontiac, did the lifesize painting with sittings over a period of several months.

Presenting the artwork, a gift of anonymous friends, will be Arthur Bull of Birmingham.

Attending will be the Exchange Club of Berkley, the Club Managers Assn., another group which holds occasional reunions at the inn and Congressman-elect William Broomfield.

Britain to Withdraw Troops From Suez

Israel has indicated it will try to hang on to the Gaza Strip and so far has not moved to withdraw from Egypt's Sinai Peninsula.

BACKED BY SOVIET

Egypt stood firm on its demand — backed by the Soviet Union — that the U. N. troops must take up positions along the 1949 Egyptian-Israeli armistice line after a speedy withdrawal of British, French and Israeli forces.

* * *

Dispatches from Cairo said Egypt was becoming increasingly restive over the delay in the demanded withdrawal.

The commander of the U.N. police force, Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns, flew back to the Middle East after a series of talks here with military representatives of some of the nations contributing troops to the force.

More than 600 troops of the U.N. force already were in the canal zone, standing by in barracks behind the Egyptian lines.

The first contingent of Indian soldiers took off from the staging area near Naples at dawn. They were Asia's first contribution to the police force.

British and French officers protested an outburst of shooting from the Egyptian lines Sunday and an hour of wild firing yesterday. They said their troops suffered no casualties and did not shoot back.

Snowstorms Hit Midwest States; Close Highways

CHICAGO (INS) — A blinding snowstorm and cold weather covered the western half of the country today.

The storm closed highways and schools in many Colorado sections and stockmen watched their cattle and sheep with mounting anxiety when temperatures dropped to below freezing.

Snow fell early today from northwest New Mexico through Colorado and southeast Wyoming and eastward through northwest Kansas, southern South Dakota, Nebraska and into Iowa.

From Colorado through western Nebraska and southeastern Wyoming snow had accumulated from four to 12 inches with the greatest depth in northeast Colorado and southwest Nebraska.

The snowfall diminished rapidly eastward with only traces on the ground in eastern Nebraska and Iowa.

Today's forecast is for snow advancing northeastward and falling from the Texas Panhandle and northeast New Mexico northward through Nebraska and into southeast portions of South Dakota and Minnesota and into northern Wisconsin.

Ahead of the cold air, a southerly wind brought a warming trend eastward to near the Atlantic Coast. It also brought some showers and thunderstorms.

Fellowships Granted to Aid Medical Cause

WASHINGTON (AP)—The award of 44 five-year fellowships designed to increase manpower for research in the basic medical sciences was announced yesterday by the Public Health Service.

The awards are the first in a new federal program which will cost about $500,000 the first year.

Each recipient will get a salary not to exceed $10,000 yearly, plus up to $2,000 to defray part of the expenses of his research.

The awards included one to Donald R. Bennett, Pharmacology, University of Michigan.

Rail Yard Approved by Majority—Dugan

missioner that his decision was unduly influenced by anything other than his unbiased judgment and the facts involved.

"I believe it very unfair the following insinuations printed in the Nov. 14 issue of The Pontiac Press be made. 'Dugan, whose vote was considered to have carried the issue, turned about-face from his previous stand.' In the first place, I had never made any permanent decision, or did I state so. I was studying the question of whether a better location could be found, as the rest of the Commissioners were doing also.

"We found this could not be done and I felt the support yard a necessity, to the city at large. I felt it my duty to vote as I did. I also would like to state, I, by no means made the deciding vote, as three other Commissioners voted as I did."

JOHN A. DUGAN,
Commissioner, District 5

"I did not mean to imply that industry has done nothing for Pontiac when I asked 'What has industry done in Pontiac to make us think it is willing to get out and help us?'" Rep. Leslie H. Hudson told the Press. "I know industry has done a lot for Pontiac but in view of the figures Mayor Donaldson mentioned, I don't feel it has done as much in Pontiac as it has in other cities."

More Workers Back on Job in Revolt-Riven Hungary

VIENNA (AP) — More Hungarian workers returned to their jobs today, Radio Budapest said. But the revolt against Russian subjection which exploded four weeks ago still lived.

Nep Szabadsag, official newspaper of Premier Janos Kadar's government, recognized the popular demand for independence. It expressed the hope the Soviet Union would "respect the oft-expressed wish of the Hungarian people to live independently and according to its own will."

* * *

Radio Budapest said that four textile works had started production. Several others were idle because of the lack of power or chemicals.

In the Dorog mines, northwest of Budapest, 1,000 miners went into the pits today compared with 600 the previous day, the station said. In the Salgotarjan mines 2,370 workers were reported mining coal. Yesterday 1,540 tons of sorely needed coal were mined compared with 10,000 tons daily in normal times, it was reported.

Radio Budapest said 10 streetcar lines were running. It predicted that all main lines would be running within two or three days.

An earlier broadcast said that attempts to restore streetcar traffic on one line yesterday was met with threats and attacks on employes.

India and two other Asian neutrals—Ceylon and Indonesia—have unexpectedly backed U. N. moves to make an on-the-spot check in Hungary.

ALLOW RELIEF SUPPLIES

The three nations, which had kept aloof from the Hungarian dispute, put in a resolution calling on Hungary's Communist government to grant Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's request to let in U. N. observers.

Hungary's puppet regime has refused to admit U. N. political observers but has said it would allow relief supplies with U. N. representatives to enter Hungary.

* * *

Chief U. S. Delgate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said the United States had information that Russia has deported 16,000 persons in boxcars from Budapest alone.

"It is inevitable," Lodge declared, "that many of the men . . . will die from cold and exposure — just as the unfortunate victims of the Nazi concentration camps died."

To Ask Annexation Court Test

The validity of a second petition from Oakland County, that Pontiac join with Waterford Township in redoing a questionable 1954 annexation proceeding, will rest with the courts if Pontiac City Attorney William A. Ewart receives City Commission approval tonight.

Ewart ruled last Tuesday that the petition might not comply with the recently-amended State Home Rule Act.

He has asked that a "friendly suit" be filed with Circuit Court for a determination of the re-annexation proceedings and the statute under which it has been filed.

Having a spot on the weekly 11-point agenda, after being deferred Oct. 9, is a proposed city ordinance prohibiting the Sunday sale of new and used auto parts. It is slated for possible adoption tonight.

* * *

Commissioners will also hear the introduction of a new ordinance establishing street and sidewalk grades in the city.

HEARING ON REZONING

A public hearing is on tap on the proposal to rezone 40 lots in the Franklin boulevard area to new "personal service district" zoning classifications.

* * *

Hearings also are scheduled on the special assessment roll to finance storm drains in the Dixieland Subdivision, and the curb, gutter, grading, graveling and related work on Orlando avenue from Monticello to Oakland.

A new agreement has been drawn up by the city attorney for street and alley locations in accordance with plans for the new Post Office slated for West Huron street.

A third ordinance will receive commission attention on a rezoning move to Commercial 2 of two lots in the Homestead Park No. 1 subdivision.

Other items on the agenda include a claim from a citizen for alleged damages to a basement reportedly caused by a city sewer. A communication from James Madison Junior High PTA expressing appreciation for installation of a traffic light at the school, is slated to be heard.

Young Girl Treated After Freak Mishap

Six-year-old Linda Joyce Fournier, 461 Valencia Dr., was treated and released from St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital yesterday after she ran into a car, according to Pontiac police, on Linda Vista drive at Valencia drive.

Driver of the car, Francisco Alvarado, 27, of Holly, was not held. Linda suffered only bruised lips.

Say Red Rocket Sites Set Up Near Formosa

TAIPEI (AP)—The Defense Ministry said today it had intelligence reports that the Chinese Communists had built rocket-launching sites on the Fukien coast, 100 miles west of Formosa.

The ministry refused to give the number of launching sites supposed to have been built or their exact location. It also said nothing to indicate launching platforms had been set up or guided missiles moved to the area.

Near — Middle — Far East?

Authorities Differ on Grouping of Nations Comprising Orient

WASHINGTON — The three Easts — Near, Middle, and Far — where are they? What does each include?

Because they serve to break the vast Orient into handy sections, the three designations are much used. Because they lack any broad official status, however, they remain vague and their boundaries are moved around by both writers and travelers.

News gathering services, such as the Associated Press, are describing current events in Egypt and the Suez Canal zone as being in the "Middle East." According to some authorities, however, these areas are more properly known as the "Near East."

The National Geographic Society, dealing in terms of logical geographical divisions, currently divides the three Easts as follows:

NEAR EAST: Turkey, Cyprus, Syria, Lebanon, Israel, Jordan, Egypt, Iraq, Iran, and the countries of the Arabian Peninsula.

MIDDLE EAST: India, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Nepal, Bhutan, Sikkim, and Ceylon.

FAR EAST: China, Mongolian Republic, Korea, Japan, the Philippines, Indochina, Thailand, (Siam), Burma, Malaya, and Indonesia.

NEAR EAST RANGE IS WIDE

The society's list of Near East countries corresponds closely to the State Department's grouping as represented by its Office of Near Eastern Affairs and Office of Greek, Turkish, and Iranian Affairs. Grece and the Sudan, within the scope of these two offices, are not part of the Society's Near East grouping.

In British usage, the Balkan States of southeastern Europe often have been tabbed as part of the Near East, but American practice is to align them geographically with the West.

By common consent, authorities on the Orient keep south of Russia in defining Middle East and Near East. With this and the State Department's official Far East in mind, National Geographic Society cartographers have defined their geographically logical Middle East.

MIDDLE EAST NEW

The Department of State has a Bureau of Near Eastern, South Asian, and African Affairs. It thus avoids the term Middle East, and any precise definition of what comprises the Near East. Within this Bureau, however, the Office of South Asian Affairs deals only with the countries that compose the Society's Middle East, above.

* * *

Prior to World War II, "Middle East" quite commonly described the region of the Indian subcontinent, although the designation was often made to reach westward to embrace Iran and the Arabian Peninsula.

Newest of the three Easts, Middle East started as a generalization to describe the reaches of Southern Asia between Near East and Far East.

* * *

World War II, however, greatly complicated the meaning of this term by bringing to the forefront the spreading British Middle East Command. The Command's military province expanded westward until it reached from Iran to Libya, inclusive. War communiques from as far west as Bengasi and Tripoli were labeled Middle East, even by American newspapers.

FAR EAST OLD

The term Far East dates almost from Columbus' time. At first, it described the coasts and islands east of Singapore visited by venturesome navigators who reached the Pacific by rounding Africa's southern tip and crossing the Indian Ocean.

ANTI-RED REVOLT IN VIET-NAM — "Many" Communist soldiers have been killed in an uprising north of Vinh ("X" on Newsmap) in Communist-dominated North Viet Nam, according to reports reaching Saigon, South Viet Nam's capital. The revolt, characterized by Western observers as the first Asian repercussion of freedom uprisings in Communist-dominated eastern Europe, occurred on the eve of a visit to Hanoi by Communist China's premier, Chou En-lai. Vinh is in the heartland of an area heavily populated by Anti-Communist Roman Catholics and is known as a revolutionary district.

Japanese Gent Devotes His Time to Feathered Pals

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's pigeon man quit his job today. From now on he will devote full time to the 400 birds he has befriended.

Kiyoshi Tachibana, 58-year-old employe of a credit investigating agency, has spent his noon hours feeding pigeons in the Imperial Plaza ever since he first noticed 40 emaciated birds there three years ago.

The pigeons coo and flock around whenever he appears. Their numbers increase steadily.

Tachibana's hobby attracted nationwide attention. In newspapers and magazines, on radio and television, to everyone he became "The Pigeon Man." Contributions of money and birdseed came from all over Japan.

But his employers decided he was paying too much attention to the birds, not enough to his job. "Feed the pigeons on somebody else's time," his department chief warned.

"I have never used company time or expenses," Tachibana indignantly replied and quit.

"I never thought he would do it," the boss said ruefully. "He really is a fine old man."

Tachibana seemed not too greatly concerned. He was at the plaza as usual, in the midst of a swirling, cooing swarm of his feathered friends.

To Hold Meeting for County Farmers

The annual public meeting on "Barnyard Economics" will be held the afternoon of Dec. 6 in the 4-H Fairgrounds Building in Pontiac, Lyle Abel, county agricultural agent, said today.

Up for discussion will be the soil bank program, the outlook for farmers for 1957, and changes in the social security law which affect farmers, Abel said.

Speaker for the afternoon session which is open to county farmers will be Charles L. Beer, associated with the Agricultural Economics department of Michigan State University.

Cruising Yacht Spots Signal

Fishermen Live 47 Days Marooned on Desolate Isle

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, Virgin Islands (AP)—Three fishermen, including a man from Georgia, have been rescued after being marooned for 47 days on an uninhabited island where they were tortured by hunger and thirst and pounded by a hurricane.

The three, Allan D. Brathwaite, 28, from Augusta, Ga., now a resident of Grenada in the British West Indies, and Bradford Cobler, 23, and Israel Marks, 30, both of Grenada, were saved on Nov. 13 by a treasure-hunting yacht captained by D. H. Henry, retired U. S. Air Force colonel.

* * *

The three left Grenada on the 16-foot sloop Jehovah on Sept. 27 for a fishing expedition to Aves (Bird) Island, 100 miles from the nearest land. The Jehovah left them on the island and went on to St. Lucia, intending to pick them up in a couple of days.

The Jehovah was caught in a storm, however, and went adrift. The three fishermen were left marooned. The last 10 days they were without food and had only one drum of polluted water.

They were pounded by the 100-mile-per-hour Hurricane Greta on Nov. 4. The men used a tarpaulin to catch some rainwater and as protection against the scorching sun.

They hung automobile tires on a flagpole hoping to attract attention. One ship passed by without seeing their signal, but on Nov. 13 the treasure-hunting yacht Windson approached and Col. Henry sighted the frantically waving fishermen through binoculars.

* * *

Despite their ordeal the men were found to be in fairly good condition after a medical checkup, although Brathwaite had suffered an attack of scurvy. They are now aboard the Windson here waiting to return to Grenada.

Fire-Fighting Group Composed of Nuns

Nuns in helmets, fireproof capes and gas masks over their religious habits are prepared to battle flames in Ursburg, Germany, according to the German Tourist Information Office.

Eighty nuns have organized their own fire brigade for the protection of their convent and the patients housed there. Since 1932, they have maintained one of the most modern fire-fighting groups in the area.

The sisters can don their apparel, attach pipelines and extend ladders in four minutes and twenty seconds.

Uranium deposits will be exploited at Santander and Norte de Santander, Colombia.

Train lighting dynamos, imported for the last 100 years, will be made soon in India.

Herbert Hoover —'No Regrets'

Tells of His Stand During World War II at Boys' Club Dinner

CHICAGO (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover says he has "no regrets" for a stand he took in 1941 opposing United States involvement in World War II.

* * *

Hoover spoke last night at a dinner in connection with the dedication of a new boys' club for Gen. Robert E. Wood, retired chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and president of the Chicago Boys Clubs.

* * *

Hoover, now 82, recalled 40 years of friendship with Wood, 77, since they worked together on food problems in World War I.

* * *

"We came out of that experience with a profound and justifiable distaste of war and all its aftermaths," he said. "When World War II began to loom up, both of us simultaneously and without any previous collaboration opposed every step of America being involved in that war."

* * *

The former President said Wood gave "warm approval" to his speech of June 29, 1941, saying that Britain was "now safe from German invasion due to Hitler's diversion to his attack upon Russia."

* * *

"I said the gargantuan jest of all history would be if we should give aid to Stalin in the war," Hoover said. "I said the result would be to spread communism over the world.

* * *

"I urged that we stand aside while these two monsters exhausted each other; that if we stood aside the time would come when we could, by our strength, bring lasting peace to the world.

* * *

"That was our gospel, and we have no regrets. I know the general, like myself, has slept better for having made the fight against it."

Some 1,000 Chicagoans sponsoring 1,000 boys for membership in the Chicago Boys Club attended the $50-a-plate dinner.

Don't Bank on Brakes —or Brake on Banks

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Gene Dills, 38, of Ashland, took a nap in his car at the top of a hill leading to the bank of the Ohio River.

The next thing he knew, he was swimming. The emergency brake apparently slipped and the car rolled 100 feet down the bank into about 15 feet of water.

Dills climbed out an open window and swam to shore.

To Tear Million Tons of Rock Loose

Large Nonatomic Blast Today at Great Salt Lake

LAKESIDE, Utah (AP)—The nation's third largest explosion — atomic devices excepted — is designed to tear one million tons of rock loose from a cliff on the shores of the Great Salt Lake today.

Teams of scientists from Stanford, the University of California, Utah State Agricultural College and the University of Utah were at the scene with complex instruments to record the exact instant 600,000 pounds of explosive were set off. They hope to get it down to the last one-thousandth of a second.

* * *

"By knowing the exact time, location and magnitude of the explosion," said Dr. Dan Tocher of the University of California, "we may be able to learn a little more about the thickness of the earth's crust."

Dr. Tocher said he would give better than even odds the blast would be detected by instruments on the West Coast, 700 miles away. He said seismographs, devices which record movement of earth, would be certain to pick up the explosion in Utah and Nevada.

The Southern Pacific railroad planned the blast to get rock for its 49-million-dollar causeway across the Great Salt Lake. The causeway will replace a 12-mile-long wooden trestle.

Only two nonatomic blasts set off in the United States have been larger. Both were detonated during TVA construction of the South Holston Dam at Bristol, Tenn.

Geologists now believe the crust of the earth runs down about 18½ miles. They reached that conclusion by tracing waves from past explosions. They seek confirmation from this explosion.

South America's Andes mountains have a length of about 4,500 miles and are longer than any other mountain range extending in a continuous single elevation in the world.

County Dairymen Will Hear Satire at Area Banquet

Oakland County dairymen will hold their annual banquet at 7:30 Dec. 12 in the Masonic Hall at Commerce, Lyle Abel, Oakland County agricultural agent, announced today.

On the agenda for the evening's program, which is expected to attract 200 county dairymen, will be the presentation of The Pontiac Press trophy to the outstanding dairyman of the county for 1956.

Speaker for the evening will be Jim Hays, nationally known speaker formerly with the Michigan State University extension department. He will give his "Cardboard Cow" address, which is a satire on cattle judging, Abel said.

Actor Borgnine Wins First Round in Suit

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Ernest Borgnine, who won an Academy Award for his role of "Marty" on the screen, claims his studio bosses harassed him by offering him a "walk on" role in a new film.

Borgnine won a restraining order in Superior Court yesterday against Hecht-Lancaster Productions. He had asked that they be forced to suspend "any harassing action pending trial" of his suit to break their contract.

Borgnine claimed he received only $35,000 for two loan-out roles, while Hecht-Lancaster got $150,000, and said the part they offered him in "Sweet Swell of Success" was a small one.

YMCA to Send Fifty on Detroit Bus Trip

A Detroit trip is in store for 50 YMCA youngsters, age 9 to 14, during Thanksgiving vacation from school, YMCA youth director Morrie Tubergeon announced.

He said there still are a few reservation which can be made for the bus trip, which leaves the "Y's" community center, 131 Mt. Clemens St. at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Movies and a visit for swimming at the Highland Park YMCA are scheduled, Tubergeon said. Youngsters will return Friday night.

Gun Mishap Kills 5-Year-Old Boy

AURORA, Colo. (AP)—The accidental discharge of a pistol in the hands of his 7-year-old sister killed William Gary Gibson, 5, police chief Spencer Garrett reported.

Garrett said the boy took the weapon from under a pillow on his father's bed and the girl, Carolynn Elaine, was trying to replace it when the revolver fired. The bullet passed through the boy's head.

The boy's father, Sgt. Arlen T. Gibson, was on duty at Lowry Air Force Base and his mother was visiting a neighbor, Garrett said.

You Pay Less For Benefits Like These Because Of The Millions In Taxes Trucks Pay!

TRUCKS ARE VITAL to every industry in Michigan — even the railroads — and no service or commodity which affects your day-to-day living could reach you without trucks.

That is the basic way in which trucks serve you. But they benefit you in other important ways, too.

For example — latest available figures show that Michigan's trucks pay over $50,000,000 annually in State registration fees and gasoline taxes alone, plus several millions more in mileage taxes and special taxes levied on the larger vehicles. In addition, of course, trucks pay all the other taxes charged against any business enterprise in Michigan — real estate property taxes, personal property taxes, business activities taxes, sales taxes, intangibles taxes, franchise taxes.

All these millions in taxes the trucks pay go to support the general welfare, to help pay for modern roads, hospitals, schools and colleges, parks and playgrounds, police and fire protection.

And because of these millions of dollars in taxes trucks pay, you pay less for these benefits.

TRUCKS ARE YOUR FRIENDS—SERVING YOU NIGHT AND DAY!

French Accused in Egypt Invasion

LONDON (AP) — The Manchester Guardian asserted today that "French aircraft flown by French pilots in French uniform" took part in Israel's invasion of Egypt.

A dispatch from a correspondent who recently went from Tel Aviv to Nicosia to escape Israeli censorship said the French airmen "played an important, possibly even a decisive" part in the Israeli drive through the Sinai Desert.

* * *

The correspondent, James Morris, added:

"The Israeli censorship has stifled this startling fact, and Gen. Moshe Dayan, the Israeli chief of staff, flatly denied it when questioned at a recent press conference.

* * *

"There is, however, no doubt at all that French fighter pilots took part in the battle, and it is suggested that the accuracy of their napalm bombing was one of the most important factors in the rout of the Egyptian army."

Morris said he had interviewed one French flier in uniform who "talked to me very freely about his part in the campaign."

A French Defense Ministry spokesman in Paris "most emphatically" denied the Guardian's report.

Chess-Checker King to Show Off Ability

Although going unbeaten in five hour exhibition sponsored by The Pontiac Press last year, Banks was held to draws by three checkers and two chess players. More than 100 persons attended the contest.

Chess and checkers enthusiasts will once again have a chance at the old master when Newell W. Banks stages his exhibition at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the Pontiac City Library.

Banks, world's champion at mixed chees and checkers for 25 years, says "there are some exceptionally good players in Pontiac."

A 69-year-old Detroiter, Banks holds all world's speed records at blindfold and simultaneous checkers, and has set endurance recordse at blindfold checkers that have never been equaled.

* * *

Banks wil ltake on all comers at once, and at the same time conduct three games of blindfold checkers against the three top players. It is reported that he loses only about game in 2,000 of checkers and possible four in 100 at chess, in simultaneous play exhibitions.

Tying the champion at checkers last year were Robert E. Dunham, 69, and Delos A. Dunham, 38, both of 272 Cottage St., and Dwight Fisher, 59, of 800 N. Leroy St., Fenton.

* * *

Dennis Gibson, 17, of 137 Osceola Dr., and Kassily Ekziabin, 64, of 1250 Parkway Dr., got a tie in the chess section. Gibson beat Banks in a similar exhibition at the Fair Grounds in Detroit.

Officials of the Pontiac Chess and Checkers Club, sponsoring the event, encourage participants to bring along their favorite chessmen or checkerboards. Admission is free of charge.

Furious Female Fails to Foil Furnace Felons

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Nancy Robinson had a cold house, because of some slick thieves.

A few days ago Miss Robinson had a new furnace installed. Yesterday two men came, said they were from the furnace dealer and would have to remove the furnace—the wrong model had been installed.

"They looked like furnace men and seemed to know their business," Miss Robinson told police. She said she became dubious when the men didn't return with a substitute model. Her worst fears had been confirmed by her dealer who said he'd installed the right furnace in the first place.

Recommend Repeal of 15-Mill Tax Limit

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams' special study commission on education finance has received a recommendation for repeal of the 15-mill tax limitation, part of Michigan's basic property tax law.

The restriction was written into the State Constitution by amendment to protect property from excessively heavy taxation in depression times.

Its removal was recommended by the commission's subcommittee on school district reorganization.

"Repeal of the amendment is the only practical solution to the serious problem of differential allocated tax rates adversely affecting school districts containing other municipal units, wholly or in part," said a report by the subcommittee.

The 15-mill limitation now may be exceeded, but only by affirmative vote in a referendum. School districts, as budgets have risen in recent years, have found themselves crowding against it in growing numbers.

The entire commission has taken no stand on the question. It probably will reach a decision when it meets soon to decide on a recommended level of state aid to local districts.

Billy Eckstine Must Pay $750 Month Support

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Singer Billy Eckstine must pay $750 a month support for two children born to Carolle Drake, former Atlanta disc jockey and model with whom he admitted living as man and wife for three years.

Eckstine acknowledged in court yesterday that he was the father of her two infant sons, but he did not promise to take the suggestion of Superior Judge Elmer D. Doyle, who said: "You ought to get married for the benefit of the children."

Miss Drake said the singer promised to marry her after his wife's divorce became final last May.

But Half Truth Better Than None?

Keeping Khrushchev Lit Might Bring Half Truths

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are drunks and drunks, as everyone knows.

Noisy. Weepy. Affectionate. Quarrelsome. Just run down the list of your acquaintances. Or look in the mirror, if necessary..

Then there is Nikita S. Khrushchev.

It is no secret that the boss of Russia's Communist party is a handy man with a vodka bottle, though he will settle for champagne or even those effete Western martinis.

* * *

He has made an oaf of himself in public more than once.

But he outdid himself last weekend. In two consecutive sentences he revealed much about himself, his confederates and the ruling class of the Soviet Union.

"Red-faced and gesticulating," in the words of an Associated Press story that passed through Red censorship, Khrushchev told a cocktail party audience:

"If you don't like us, don't accept our invitations and don't invite us to come and see you.

"Whether you like it or not, history is on our side. We will bury you."

* * *

Let's take that up point by point.

1. Anybody with an ounce of sense knows that, in this world, you have to get along with people you don't like. Those diplomatic get-togethers aren't just an excuse to get loaded. They're part of the machinery of international relations — a sort of global safety valve. If Khrushchev doesn't know that it's time somebody told him.

2. The "history is on our side" dodge is pure Marx and is at or near the heart of everything the Russians do. That is a main source of Soviet strength. Westerners plan and hope and indeed pray that everything will somehow work out all right. The Russians — the Communists, that is — feel in their bones that their system will dominate the world. And this is true whether a Khrushchev, a Stalin, a Lenin or the Russian equivalent of Joe Smith is running the Kremlin.

* * *

There's another Khrushchev remark that may need some pointing up:

"The situation is favorable for us. If God existed, we would thank Him for this."

In other words, in the Russian boss class, God does not exist.

Their claim to friendship toward religion fools some people in this country. You can find people who will tell you: "Why, freedom of worship is guaranteed in their constitution."

So it is — in words.

* * *

The fact is, of course, that atheism is at the root of the Communist philosophy and that the new rulers of Russia have actively discouraged religious practices except when — as in World War II — they had to call on the church to help maintain the morale of the people.

Doubtless it would be good for Khrushchev's liver if he gave up vodka sessions.

Still, there's an old Latin proverb about "Veritas in vino," which you can loosely translate as "A man will tell the truth when he has half a skinful."

Maybe it would be worthwhile for the Western people to take up a collection to keep Khrushchev half lit.

Remove Tot's Right Eye in Effort to Halt Cancer

BOSTON (AP) — Little Carol Ann Molinaro has lost her right eye to the surgeon's scalpel in an effort to check the spread of cancer to her brain.

The 3½-year-old girl's cancerous right eye was removed yesterday in what doctors at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary called a successful operation. They said there is no indication of a similar growth in the left eye.

Ahead for Carol Ann lies lengthy pathological tests of the optic nerve to determine whether the disease has been contained.

Gross National Product at $413.8 Billion Rate

The U.S. Department of Commerce has just released official figures showing that the Gross National Product during the third quarter of 1956 reached an annual rate of $413.8 billion.

Gross National Product (GNP) is the economists' term for the value of all goods and services at current market prices. This compares with an annual rate of $403.4 billion for the first quarter and $408.3 for the second quarter. These figures indicate an average of $408.5 billion for the three quarters.

Unofficial estimates indicate, however, that the average will be far higher than this. One of the most authoritative has set it at $414 billion and there is nothing to suggest that such an estimate is unduly optimistic.

For example, the third quarter covered the five week period of the nationwide steel strike. Despite the almost complete shutdown, the increase in the rate of production in this basic industry over the second quarter was $5.5 billion.

★ ★ ★

Twenty years ago the GNP level was $82.7 billion. Since then it has been climbing steadily. While economists are unwilling to forecast the time when the GNP will reach a rate of $500 billion, present figures indicate we are well on our way.

USIA's New Chief

President Eisenhower has made an excellent choice in appointing the able Arthur Larson to succeed Theodore C. Streibert, resigned director of the United States Information Agency.

Larson, a Rhodes Scholar who has been serving as Undersecretary of Labor, takes to his important new post a rich intellectual background. In addition, he is especially well equipped by broad practical administrative and political experience.

Outside Washington he is perhaps best known as the author of the recent book, "A Republican Looks at His Party." In that work, which has been called a clear exposition of Eisenhower Republicanism, he reveals his understanding of what America is accomplishing.

In the opinion of Capital observers and as a leading consultant in the Administration, Mr. Larson is well qualified to develop an improved understanding of this country abroad.

It was his knowledge of workmen's compensation law and social security that first brought him to Washington's attention.

★ ★ ★

Now 46 years old, the new USIA chief is considered to be one of the rising younger talents in Washington. His appointment augurs well for a consolidation and further expansion of USIA gains made during Mr. Streibler's regime.

Puerto Rico's Landslide

While the Eisenhower Administration was riding to victory on the crest of a tremendous tide of votes, our Puerto Rican neighbors also were holding an election.

Like ours it resulted in a landslide, in favor of the popular and capable Governor, Luis Munoz Marin. When vote counting was completed, the Governor emerged with a two to one victory over his two rivals.

★ ★ ★

The principal issue was the relationship of Puerto Rico to the United States. Gov. Munoz Marin campaigned to retain the present political framework of Puerto Rico's commonwealth relationship.

One of his rivals advocated admission of Puerto Rico as a State. The other wanted complete independence. The landslide not only expressed the Islanders' confidence in the Governor, but their satisfaction with Puerto Rico's relationship with the United States.

★ ★ ★

It also stood out as an endorsement of the Governor's program known as "Operation Bootstrap" aimed at expanding Puerto Rico's economy. Under that program since 1946 the island has acquired 400 new manufacturing plants and hopes to have 905 by 1963.

The Islanders' decision at the polls, besides being a strong endorsement of Gov. Munoz Marin, was a ballot for free government through the will and consent of a free electorate.

Christmas Trees

Home Grown Variety Now Figure in Local Market

Potato: A common vegetable, a large part of which goes to waist.

More home grown Christmas trees will be harvested in the Pontiac area this year than ever before. Most of them are grown from seedlings planted little more than ten years ago. It is conservatively estimated that Oakland County will produce at least one-quarter of the 150,000 Christmas trees its residents will buy.

Tree experts tell me, that the home grown trees usually are of a higher quality than those which come from outside. They are fresher and more symmetrical, and retain their shape much better than those which have been packed into bundles and hauled on trucks.

Your tree will look better, and will not "moult" its leaves if you stand it in water. And if you'll dump some calcium chloride in the water, it will go a long ways toward making the tree fireproof.

David Lawrence Says:

West Gained in Middle East Fracas

WASHINGTON—There are several pluses and minuses emerging out of the Middle East crisis. The world situation is, on the whole, farther away from a general conflict than it has been. Oddly enough, this is due to the sudden ending of what might be called the "peace-at-any-price" era of the last few years. Back of it all are these main points.

1. Great Britain and France have made it clear through their official utterances that a showdown by military force as against Nasser, Egypt's dictator, has removed a greater danger—the prospect of a global war brought on by the Soviets. The Moscow regime now has been revealed as plotting to get a military as well as a political foothold in the Middle East in order to gain control of certain Arab governments and their valuable oil properties.

* * *

2. The Soviet Union now has been notified by the United States in no uncertain terms that "massive retaliation" is still America's policy whenever its interests are attacked by the Soviet forces.

After General Gruenther's speech in Paris a few days ago, the Soviet Union, it may be assumed, has no illusions now as to what "massive retaliation" means.

3. "Renunciation of the use of force" still continues as an American objective. This is not a contradiction. For the renouncing of force means primarily negotiation and "the settlement of disputes by peaceful means" as proclaimed in the United Nations charter itself.

4. For the last two years or more the world has been told that nuclear weapons make a general war "impossible." Spread of this sentiment has involuntarily encouraged aggressors. Now it is apparent that if the provocation arises, general war will be risked and positively will be fought.

NASSER FOUND LIMITS

5. The doctrine of preventative war was given a dramatic try-out in the Egypt-Israel conflict. The Soviet arms build-up of Egypt brought its natural sequel—military reprisal. The original aggressor—Nasser—has been told through the use of force that there are limits to the patience of Great Britain and France as well as Israel whose borders in the last several years have been repeatedly violated by raiding troops from Egypt.

Likewise, the Arab states have discovered that their own oil revenues will be cut if Nasser continues to refuse any reasonable settlement of the Suez Canal issue.

The disadvantages in the situation, on the other hand, are also to be noted. The failure of the United Nations to take proper action when Moscow first began sending arms into Egypt to stir up trouble there, and the ineffectiveness of the U.N. when Nasser refused to let Israel's ships go through the Suez Canal, constitute the real tragedy of the age.

It was because the U.N. did not act that the British and French decided to act on their own. "Peace-at-any-price" sentiment inside America and in other countries had to be reversed, and the U.N. had to be jolted to realize that compromises with aggressors can only lead to war.

HITS PACIFISM

The change in climate is noticeable. Even so arch a liberal as the prominent Christian churchman, Reinhold Niebuhr, in a letter to an eastern newspaper last Sunday deplored a "too rigid pacificism" in the United States.

The air has been cleared in many other ways, too. The people of Hungary, for instance, have exposed the duplicity of the Kremlin's alleged concern for the independence of small countries. It has been revealed to all the world that there is no use trusting the word of the ruthless leaders of communism.

So all in all, there are advantages in what has happened in recent weeks, despite all the breast-beating about the "tragedy" involved in the difference of viewpoint between the western allies. For by the resoluteness inside the western governments, a general war has been made more remote.

"I'm a penny short; so I left a little."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Deficiency of B Vitamins Can Cause Beri Beri

An Ohio reader tells of a sad discovery she made this past summer. She has always enjoyed working in the garden, her flower garden, not the potato patch, I imagine.

The Ohio lady said she used to have "a good deal of trouble going up and down stairs with her right knee."

But she has been supplementing her diet with a good daily ration of calcium and vitamin D—the vitamin is necessary to assure utilization of calcium—for nearly a year, and she says it sure has helped her.

Now this Ohio reader has made another sad discovery. When she gets down to work in her flowers she is unable to get up without using her hands to push. Worse still, she remembers that I wrote something about such weakness once, and she vaguely recalls mention of some vitamin to correct such weakness.

WHAT TO DO?

So if I will kindly tell her what vitamin she lacks and how much to take and how often and for how long she should continue to take it and where she can get it and . . .

No, I'm exaggerating. Many correspondents state their chief complaint and ask what vitamin they lack. This lady merely asks whether I have a copy of the article to which she refers or whether I can give her the date it was printed—she can look it up in back files of the paper.

I'm sorry I have no copies of these pieces, and no printed matter on the subject. I did describe here not many months ago one of the earliest signs of Yankee beri beri.

Mind, I say "one" of the signs. You can't diagnose beri beri on one sign. It is this: If the individual squats on his heels the position is painful and he may be unable to rise without using his hands.

COMMON IN ORIENT

Full fledged, disabling, sometimes fatal beri beri is common (endemic) in the Orient—Japan, Southern China, Southern India, Malay Peninsula, the Philippines, and East Indies.

* * *

In this country the condition is widely prevalent but only rarely diagnosed because it is usually mild and the victims may not come under medical observation at all; or if they do, it is for some incidental or accidental trouble not associated with nutritional deficiency.

Beri beri is a nutritional deficiency disease, due to inadequate daily intake of vitamin B1 (thiamin) and the other components of the B complex.

What the Ohio lady, and millions of other victims of Yankee beri beri need is not just a vitamin but revision of everyday diet. They should build their own regular diet on the pattern of the basic health diet—the corrective, protective, regeneration, rejuvenation, reduction diet outlined on page 42 and 43 of "The Seven Keys to Vite," for which send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

At the same time ask for the pamphlet, "Wheat To Eat." The pamphlet, free is request is accompanied with stamped, self-addressed envelope, tells how to restore the staff of life to its rightful place in the everyday diet.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Mere Letter Won't Prove That Bulganin's Sincere'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Are we, as a nation of supposedly intelligent people, going to be fooled by Mr. Bulganin's letter to this country and sit complacently thinking he is sincere?

Mr. Bulganin is well aware that Mr. Eisenhower is ready at all times to discuss negotiations leading to the discontinuance of H-bomb tests; yet he chooses to intrude in our elections to cause as much dissension as possible.

If he wants to prove his sincere desire for peace, let him release the brain-washed prisoners that he continues to hold because they dare uphold their beliefs in religion, free speech and freedom in general. Also release those countries that are enslaved by the Soviets, where men walk in fear like so many animals, their souls not their own.

Then, and only then, will he prove to the world that he means peace. Meanwhile, let America stay strong and be on guard yet ever ready to talk peace and go all the way for it.

Cost of Divorces Told by 'Sucker'

There is on the average 240 divorce suits started every month in Oakland County alone. On Monday, Oct. 5, one lawyer alone had 22 divorce petitions. It took him about an hour in Circuit Court to dispose of them.

At $150 apiece, that is $3,300 for one day's work. That is not all of the cost. If there is a cross bill filed, that's another $150 or $3,300 for the same cases, a total of $6,600.

No telling what the cost is to the county for upkeep of some of the families to which alimony isn't paid. Each month 240 cases at $300 each is $73,000. Boy, what a bunch of suckers we are.

Hal Boyle Says:

Truth Becomes Elusive in This Debunking World

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a pavement Plato:

One of the dubious rewards of growing older is that you find much of what you learned when young is no longer regarded as true.

The myths you believed in during childhood are exploded one by one.

That is hard enough to face. But even harder to face is the realization that today the making and unmaking of myths has speeded up tremendously.

A thing that is accepted as fact in the morning is rejected as fallacy by nightfall. Today's wonder drug is tomorrow's blunder.

* * *

"True or false?" This is no longer a game. It is a terrible problem in living. As the scientist learns more and more about less and less, the average man learns less and less about more and more in our new age of enlightened superstitution.

GONE TOMORROW

Old beliefs are toppled daily and new beliefs set up in their place are immediately challenged. The slogan of truth seems to be,

"Here today, gone tomorrow."

* * *

A few recent examples will show the conflict any guy now has trying to make up his own mind about anything:

Educators denounce rock 'n' roll music as harmful influence on the young — but an Iowa therapist says it has a beneficial influence on mental patients, even as sung by Elvis Presley.

Since 1805 every Briton has been proudly sure that Admiral Nelson messaged his fleet at Trafalgar "England expects every man will do his duty."

* * *

But a 76-year-old British signalman now says Nelson wouldn't have wasted time sending such a message, and even if he'd tried to, it wouldn't have been seen.

For generations doctors have advised patients suffering from the common cold "to drink plenty of fluids." Now a Mississippi doctor says he gets better results by dehydrating them.

They have come up with new tranquilizers that are supposed to relax you. But—on the other hand, in your case—they may depress you or even make you violent.

Atomic fallout as yet is no real peril to mankind, say some distinguished scientists. But some others, equally distinguished, say we can't be sure.

Once we were told on good authority that Washington never told a lie, that Nero fiddled while Rome burned, that Sir Walter Raleigh spread his fine cloak in the mud for Good Queen Bess to step on. Now we are told these are just historical fictions.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Lets Reader Say Who's Crackpot

There are two groups of psychologists. One is composed of theorists or "braintrusters" who can't apply what they teach. The others are really Applied Psychologists who can actually put psychology to work in the home or factory.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-326: Professor D. is a member of a university psychology department.

"What kind of crackpot psychology is Dr. Crane using?" he began a recent letter to the publishers of my college textbook.

* * *

"Dr. Crane seems to think faculty salaries can be raised by encouraging larger enrollments per teacher.

"At our university we are trying to reduce the ratio; not increase it.

"We are not trying to popularize psychology nor capitalize on the semi-neurotic interest of laymen in psychology.

"You may save yourself the mailing costs and a great deal of bad publicity if you will take my name off the mailing list for future advertising of Dr. Crane's textbook."

WHO'S A CRACKPOT?

Pro. D. is entitled to his opinion. He may be a young man who has enjoyed a cloistered educational background and is thus out of contact with reality. Many teaching psychologists can't practice what they preach.

Although he refers to you newspaper readers as semi-neurotic laymen, I'm quite willing to let you be the jury as to who is the crackpot in this problem.

* * *

Typical faculty salaries nowadays are $5,000 per year. Even the bountiful Ford Foundation gift raised such salaries only $200 per year as an average, so in those Ford favored schools, the professor's income is now $5,200.

But it can easily be jumped to $8,000 annually, and also leave 400 per cent as much money for college overhead, by stepping up the student-teacher ratio from the present 12:1 to a 24:1 figure.

At present, leading city high schools, such as Chicago's, have 24 students per teacher. And these are fully accredited schools. The teachers do a splendid job and don't complain at that 24:1 ratio.

College professors could easily handle a 24:1 ratio and would be happy to do so, if they were paid 60 per cent more in salary per year.

Notice the financial aspects of this new plan. At the present 12:1 student-teacher ratio, and with a normal tuition rate of $500 per year, each professor attracts a total of but $6,000 to the college.

* * *

His own salary takes $5,000 out of that sum, leaving only $1,000 for the college overhead.

But raising the ratio to 24:1, he would attract $12,000 (24x$500). If his salary were thus boosted 60 per cent to $8,000 annually, he would still leave $4,000 for college overhead.

This plan is sound. And it doesn't delay indefinitely the time when faculty salaries can be boosted!

No longer need we fritter away time vainly hoping that some philanthropist or Uncle Sam will come to the aid of our colleges.

Instead, we can use such simple "horse sense" and solve our own campus salary problems, as we really should.

* * *

When I presented this plan last April to the annual meeting of College Presidents of the North Central Association, they were enthusiastic.

"Dr. Crane, about the only objection we can see to it, might come from our Accreditation Board," they added. "What's your idea on that point?"

"Well, our Chicago high schools are fully accredited yet they have a 24:1 ratio," I replied, "so why can't college professors do as good a job of teachihng as the high school faculty?

"Besides, I used to have 150 students in my Northwesteern University classes and I never grumbled. And many applied psychologists on our facilities today average far more than the 24:1 ratio."

So what do you readers think! Who is the crackpot?

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for Dr. Crane's psychological charts and pamphlets.

Kiddies' Book Will Be Boon to Adults

Understandable Dictionary Appears at Last

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Noah Webster, the dictionary dopester, was a very erudite (see "cognizant") man.

* * *

In fact, he was so cognizant (see "acroamatic") that we frequently don't know what he's talking about.

As we were once forced to admit, while leafing through one of the 25-pound Webster stand-model dictionaries, "Some of these definitions are so amphibolous as to lack perspicuity, and what we need is an expositor."

In other words: "We don't get it. Know an interpreter?"

* * *

Today, however, 173 years after Noah became defunct, his followers in the vocabulary business have come out with a new "Webster's Elementary Dictionary," which makes everything—well, almost everything—quite clear.

* * *

This is the first word book ever written for kiddies, and it's recommended "specifically for children in the fourth through seventh grades."

WE'LL USE IT

But they can't discourage us. From here on, when we write columns the "elementary" is what we use; its low-falootin' language we can understand.

* * *

Where else can you find a thoroughly intelligible definition for "atom bomb" that won't send your mind skittering back to those horrid high school days when Chemistry One was as bewildering as the attitude of the boy next door?

It wearies us just to read an advanced Webster edition on the subject of atoms and bombs, and we come out of it headachy and neuro-nuclearcotic.

In elementary, it is elemental: "Atom bomb—a bomb whose great power is due to the sudden release of the energy in the central portion of an atom." Surely this is enough to worry about.

* * *

The new book, 576 pages of simplicity in large print, as contrasted to 3,350 pages in the average modest-sized adult dictionary, was put out by the Merriam Brothers who bought the rights to Webster's old dictionary after his death and have been carrying on the business ever since.

NOAH'S INSPIRATION

The Merriam boys claim that their kiddies' lexicon dates directly back to Noah's first project, called the "Blue-Back Speller."

Seems that as a young school teacher, he found the textbooks of the time, written by Englishmen, were too foreign for his young American students.

So in 1783 he brought out the simple "B-B Speller," his first attempt at clarifying the meanings of words for the great, confused American public.

Fortified financially from the sale of 70 million of these useful books, Webster went highbrow and technical and wrote his full-fledged dictionary.

Now, more than a century and a half later, comes the first heart-felt project to enlighten youth with easy-to-remember definitions for easy-to-use words.

Feeling that life is complex (difficult) enough without getting swamped (overwhelmed, caused to capsize) in a clutter of unnecessary words—we find the elemental dictionary, for our purposes, is just fine (small, thin, delicate and excellent!).

Income Tax Forms Available Dec. 3rd

Advance copies of federal income tax forms for the preparation of 1956 returns will be available Dec. 3 to accountants, attorneys, and other professional personnel at the Pontiac office of the Internal Revenue Service, 53½ W. Huron St.

Lyle Russel, supervisor of the branch, said individual taxpayers will receive their forms and instruction booklets through the mail on the same schedule as last year, during late December or early January.

Taxpayers will find the booklet simplified further with a line-by-line series of explanations keyed to the arrangement of the form and its sequence of entries.

Fire Spreading in California

Fruit Groves Ruined as Flames Scurry Across 4,000 Acres

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Treacherous winds pushed a spreading brush fire through the foothills of the San Bernardino flames dangerously close to citrus groves and ranch houses.

* * *

Five homes scattered through the brush have been reported destroyed by the fire in its erratic course over 4,000 acres of hilly terrain. Four fire fighters have been burned, one critically.

On one of its flanks, the fire is only half a mile from the black scar left in the mountains by the devastating Lake Arrowhead fire of last September.

* * *

The fire started yesterday near the community of Highland and was turned almost instantly into a rampaging blaze by the fierne winds that scoured southern California all day. A gust of 100 m.p.h. was clocked on a mountain top, and winds up to 65 m.p.h. kicked up blinding sand and dust storms along desert roads.

No communities are believed to be endangered by the flames, but extensive damage has been reported from heat and smoke in the lush orange groves terraced along the lower edge of the foothills.

Norstad Named New NATO Boss

Gruenther Leaves Post to Air Force General Who Takes Reins Today

PARIS (UP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther handed over the supreme command of the 15-nation Atlantic Pact forces in Europe today to U.S. Air Force Gen. Lauris Norstad.

The new commander said he took over the post "with a firm belief that NATO is, if anything, more important than ever before."

* * *

"The Soviets have again, and perhaps more wantonly and brutally than ever before, demonstrated that they understand only force," Norstad said. "It is clear that our peaceful aims can be achieved only by maintaining our strength."

Troops representing all the NATO nations — except Iceland, which has no armed forces — paraded without arms as the command changed hands at Supreme Allied Headquarters near Paris.

* * *

Granted a wish, Gruenther said, some people might want to double NATO's military strength, some might want to strengthen it in the political field, and some "might wish that Khrushchev would abstain for a while from going to those cocktail parties in the Kremlin."

For his part, he added, he wished the 450 million people of the NATO countries should have an abiding faith in their alliance.

Court Refuses to Speed Ruling

Bus Segregation Ban Will Reach Alabama Next Month

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP) — The refusal of Justice Black yesterday in Washington to speed up a U.S. Supreme Court decision to end segregation on Montgomery buses brought "no real disappointment" to leaders of the Negro bus boycott here.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. said, "We were optimistic enough to hope for the best, but realistic enough to know it was possible the court would deny the request, and we knew that that was the greater possibility."

King is president of the Montgomery Improvement Assn., coordinating body for the boycott that began Dec. 5. Out of it grew a federal suit on which the Supreme Court ruled a week ago that city and state bus segregation laws are unconstitutional.

The decision will be formally relayed to U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. of Montgomery about Dec. 12, a Supreme Court official said yesterday after Black refused a Negro request to shorten the normal delay. A permanent injunction against city bus segregation here will go into effect when the decision arrives.

Until then, "the protest will continue," King said. "We don't intend to return to segregated buses."

* * *

Boycotters voted a week ago to end their protest when the decision goes into effect. Meanwhile, they are walking to work and sharing rides with friends since a state court ban issued last week stopped their car pool transportation.

Thieves Mail Checks, Keep Their Promise

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—A promise is a promise — even among thieves.

When two gunmen held up supermarket owner Ross Cobbs as he left with the day's receipts of about $400, Cobbs asked if he could at least keep the checks.

The men refused, but promised to mail them to him.

Yesterday Cobbs was called to a rural home and the owner gave him the checks. He had found them in his mailbox.

Age Limit for Taxis

Two Freighters Collide in River

ST. LAURENT, Que. (UP) — One ocean freighter was aground on the St. Lawrence River shore here today after a midstream collision with another cargo vessel. The second freighter was towed to Quebec with a heavily damaged bow. No injuries were reported.

The 2,963-ton German freighter Wolfgang Russ was run aground by her crew after the collision with the Cunard cargo ship Asia. The impact punched a gaping hole in the German ship's starboard side just forward of the bridge.

The collision occurred last night about two miles from this village on the south shore of the Island of Orleans, 10 miles east of Quebec.

Two tugs towed the 8,723-ton Cunard freighter to Quebec.

The German vessel was steered aground about a mile downstream from the collision point.

If millionairs were reminded that the city needed such benefactions, said Councilman Harold Henry, "there might be a considerable response."

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING

by KELLEY ROOS

CHAPTER 22

Leone wasn't at the reception desk and I couldn't wait for her. I had a dance lesson to give and I didn't want to run the risk of having my pupil complain about my inattention to him. I hurried through the reception room and down the corridor to Studio K.

I opened the door, stepped inside . . . and it was all I could do to keep from turning around and heading for the hills. The pupil waiting for his lesson was Wendell Kipp.

He was as surprised as I. But, while my surprise turned into a stampede of confusion, his blossomed into a kind of insidious joy. His smile was a drool, his velvet eyes dripped delight.

"Well," he said. "Well, well and well."

"Well, yes!" I said. "Imagine! What a small world! No, it can't be that small . . . you can't be the man I met at the Feather Club last night . . ."

"Oh, but yes . . ."

"No, as a matter of fact, I wasn't in the Feather Club last night." I shut up. I realized that my poise was still down, still out.

Kipp was walking toward me. He put his insistent hands on my shoulders. I tried to step away, but he held me.

"Baby, what goes? Last night your name was Gloria. Today . . . here it's Hester Frost, I'm told. What goes?"

"Goes?"

"Last night you just happen to be in a bar where the Waltzer turns up. When I recognized him, you just happened to disappear. This morning you just happen to have Anita's job. What gives?"

* * *

"For that matter," I said, "what gives with you? Last night you said you took your lessons on Wednesday . . . just before the Waltzer. What are you doing here now?"

"I take three lessons a week, baby," he said. "This is one of my regular times."

"Oh," I said. "Listen, Mr. Kipp . . ."

"Last night you called me Wendell. Last night you were real friendly. How come you picked me up?"

"I picked you up?"

"You had a reason for it, didn't you?"

"Listen . . ."

"No, on second thought, don't tell me now. I think it would be more pleasant if you explained it to me over cocktails this evening."

"Sorry, I'm busy."

"Not that busy . . . because I might tip off Mr. Bell about you. Or I might get very conscientious and go to the police."

"You wouldn't do that, you . . ."

* * *

"Oh, So it matters. So we will have cocktails tonight. At five? At the Wellington? That's on Washington Square."

"No, I can't . . ."

"At five at the Wellington. We'll have fun. Maybe if we have enough fun I won't even make you explain. Now . . . teach me to dance, baby."

"Don't be silly. And it must be a big disappointment to you . . . finding me here, instead of some baby you could line up for yourself with this phoney learn-to-dance business."

"O, not at all! Don't be modest. I really like you, baby."

"Oh, for . . ."

But I didn't complete my derogatory sentance. A face was pressed up against the square of glass in my studio door. Detective Hankins was looking over the scene of the crime and I was standing in full sight of him. I instantly became a dancing teacher. I stepped in Wendell Kipp's arms and fox-trotted him around until he was between me and the door.

* * *

The door didn't open; the face at the window moved away.

"You're shaking," Kipp said. "You're all unstrung."

"That's typical of me," I said.

"Look," he said, "we'll skip this lesson. Why don't you take the day off? Rest up for our date tonight, get some beauty sleep. Not that you need it."

I walked out on the great lover. I fled to the ladies' locker room where I would be safe from all males, including members of the Homicide Bureau.

I wanted to think things over. I went to a settee and tried to relax and be logical over a cigarette.

Steve and I did seem to be getting someplace. A little more time and we just might prove that Steve hadn't killed Anita Farrell by proving who did. But we needed time. Kipp mustn't deprive us of that with his threat. Somehow, he had to be put off.

But there was most of a day before that crisis arrived, and I mustn't waste that day. There was Leone for me to see, and Jack Walston and . . .

* * *

"Hello!"

Hooray Rose plopped down on the settee beside me. The ex-show girl, ex-model was looking a bit exhausted this morning, but on her even exhaustion looked good.

"Hello, Hooray," I said. "How are you?"

"How would you be?"

"What?"

"Never go out with a fellow from Altoona, Pa., who is in the trucking business. Brother! I finally had to punch him in the stomach. Ever try that? It's good. But you have to be careful not to hit him in the belt buckle. That can hurt you more than it hurts him. Well, now, let's see . . ."

She spilled a batch of money, mostly silver, on her lap.

"I've got to count this money," she said.

"Want some help?"

"No, I'm no good at counting sheep and things like that, but I can count money. This is a collection I took up for Jack and Dottie, Jack Walston and Dottie Harris. They're teachers here."

"What's happening about Jack and Dottie?"

"Tomorrow's their last day. They're getting married. We're going to have a little party tomorrow night. You know, cake and champagne."

"Oh. Well, I'd like to contribute."

"I wasn't going to ask you, Hester, on account of you're new here, but if you insist . . . seventy-five cents."

I gave her three quarters.

* * *

"Thanks, Hester. Say, what is it about trucks? When I was a kid I was that way about a boy and he got into truck driving. Brother! I had to break it off. I didn't want to grow up black and blue. There's something about trucks."

"I guess so. Why are Jack and Dottie quitting? Does Jack have another job?"

"Not what you'd call a job. He's going to open a kind of country night club up in Connecticut somewhere. You know, they'll have dining and dancing and a bar and a floor show. Jack and Dottie will do their act. They got a cute act."

"Has Dottie always been Jack's partner?"

"Oh, sure."

"I thought I heard something about Anita Farrell being Jack's partner for a while."

"You must've heard wrong."

"How long has Jack been teaching here?"

"About a year."

"And he never left to take a dancing engagement anywhere? With Anita?"

"Uh-uh. Where'd you get that information?"

"From an unreliable source, I guess."

"You can say that again. Jack's just been teaching here steady all the time. Say, speaking of Anita, it wouldn't surprise me if the Waltzer is a truck driver."

"Why does everybody think Anita's murder was a sex crime?"

"Are you kidding? Where've you been all your life? Nine times out of ten it's sex."

"Nine times out of ten what is sex?"

"Nine times out of ten everything is sex! My God, Hester, thing is sex! My God, Hester, haven't you noticed? Now, I've got to count this money."

"I won't keep you any longer. And listen, Hooray, before you date another fellow you ask to see his driver's license."

"You're not kidding! Brother!"

I went out to the reception room. Leone was tied up with some people. I scouted around, peeking through the small windows of the individual studios. Dottie's was empty; apparently she didn't check in on Fridays until later in the day. I found Jack Walston instructing a group of a dozen women in the basic steps of the rhumba. He didn't seem to be enjoying his work.

When I got back to the reception room, Leone was alone at her desk. I went to her.

Leone is on the spot tomorrow as Chapter 23 of "The Blonde Died Dancing" continues in this newspaper.

During his absence, the Governor said, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart will be assigned responsibility for development of next year's legislative program.

"He is going to take a greater part in helping steer our legislative program during the coming session," Williams said.

TORONTO (AP) — The Mid-Canada radar warning line will be in full use by January, one of its builders said today.

Alexander G. Lester of Montreal, general manager of the Bell Telephone Co. special contract department, told the Canadian Club that the target date for operational service is Jan. 1. He said some sections would be completed before that date.

Experts Evaluate Post-High School Education Needs

WASHINGTON (INS)—A presidential committee has warned that the nation's educational needs beyond the high school will skyrocket in the next 14 years and that a sound program for solving the problem must be developed soon.

The committee declared that among the questions that must be settled is the role the federal government will play in financing the additional educational facilities.

Likewise, it said, decisions must be reached as to the part that state and local governments, private philanthropy, employers, parents and the individuals who will receive the education must take in this task.

* * *

The group, appointed by President Eisenhower last March, is composed of 36 nationally-known persons in business, educational and other fields. It submitted to the President an interim report in which it outlined six conclusions concerning the problem of post-high school education.

These were:

1. The nation's ideals and the "increasing complexity" of modern civilization require that each individual develop his talents to the fullest degree. This includes post-high school training for a "much higher percentage" of youth than receive such training now.

2. Largely due to the high postwar birth rate, the number of persons demanding college education will double or triple by 1970. Existing facilities and teacher numbers will be completely inadequate. Adult training programs will double by 1970.

3. To meet the problem, there must be greater flexibility in post-high school education. Experimentation will be necessary, involving such methods as educational television. A rigid four-year college training cannot be the sole standard. The next logical step is more community and junior colleges.

4. Steps must be taken to reverse the present trend in which large numbers of teachers are leaving their profession for better-paying jobs. Teacher pay must be raised.

5. The federal government in recent years has spent more than a billion dollars a year on education beyond the high school. Yet it has "no clear and explicit policy" on this problem. Such a policy "should be formulated, after full study and informed debate."

6. Additional financial support must be provided "if the additional millions in the population" are to receive post-high school educations. Although incomes are expected to rise, "many more individuals may have to be aided in meeting the costs. A state-by-state analysis of needs should be hastened.

* * *

Devereux C. Josephs, board chairman of the New York Life Insurance Co., and chairman of the group, told a new conference that tax-supported institutions would have to bear the heaviest share of the future load.

He said the committee will submit specific recommendations later on financing and other problems, and that there likely will be "some differences of opinion" among committee members.

In Eastern Europe

Rebellion Rears a Healthy Head

By ARTHUR R. PASTORE JR.

PARIS (INS)—Political unrest is spreading throughout several countries of Russia's satellite empire, reliable reports reaching Paris said today.

Refugee and independent French sources said the recent bloodbath of Hungary's short-lived bid for freedom and the bitter Polish Poznan riots are manifestations of a general ripple of rebellion in the countries of Eastern Europe.

Serious trouble may possibly break out next in Romania, according to reports from the free news service of Central and Eastern Europe which claims to have a reliable network of resident correspondents behind the Iron Curtain.

* * *

The Romanian resistance movement has existed for quite some time now, in spite of attempts by authorities to stamp out all opposition, this source said.

Reports already have reached the west of demonstrations by students and workers against the pro-Russian Romanian red regime. The disturbances apparently have centered in Transylvania where there is a large Hungarian minority.

Other indications of political unrest in Romania are the growth of an anarchist-syndicalist movement in the mine fields of Petrosani. This workers' movement, of course, is illegal. In some Romanian factories workers even have waved the black flag of anarchy.

Anarchist propaganda is said to have been distributed in large quantities at the Stalin Metal Works at Stalino in eastern Transylvania.

Throughout the satellite states, for some months even before the Hungarian uprising and the Polish outbreak, acts of sabotage were reported. In Hungary, a big explosion at the Matyas Rakoski arms plant at Csepel, near Budapest, was hushed up as a natural earthquake, but rumors persist it was an important act of sabotage. In Poland, in early spring, an alleged vast network of sabotage in the western part of the country was claimed to have been destroyed. Some 2,000 arrests were made.

ANTI-REDS STRONG

Government leaders tried to blame these resistance activities on operations of terrorist groups from Germany. Later Polish authorities admitted that the sabotage against state cooperatives was carried out by a well organized and extremely strong clandestine anti-Communist movement.

* * *

While refugees do not envision immediate trouble in Czechoslovakia, they say there are strong indications of opposition to the regime. Recently industrial workers staged organized protest meetings in Prague and Pilsen factories, showing signs of dissatisfaction with working conditions and a hint of insurrection on the part of workers. However, no recent underground activity has been reported in this eastern European country.

Governor Proclaims Thanksgiving Day

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams has issued a formal proclamation designating Thursday as Thanksgiving Day in Michigan. The proclamation said in part:

"Over the years all of us have had much to be thankful for. And we recognize that every individual has serious personal problems to overcome at times; that our social and economic problems are not fully met; and that the world is filled with tension and strife.

"Yet Americans are blessed with the highest standard of living in all the world's history, and we are a people vigorously determined to defend our nation and the precious freedom that goes with it."

Mayor Cobo Leaving for Arizona Vacation

DETROIT (AP)—Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit, defeated in his Republican campaign for Governor leaves today for a three-week vacation on his ranch near Tucson, Ariz.

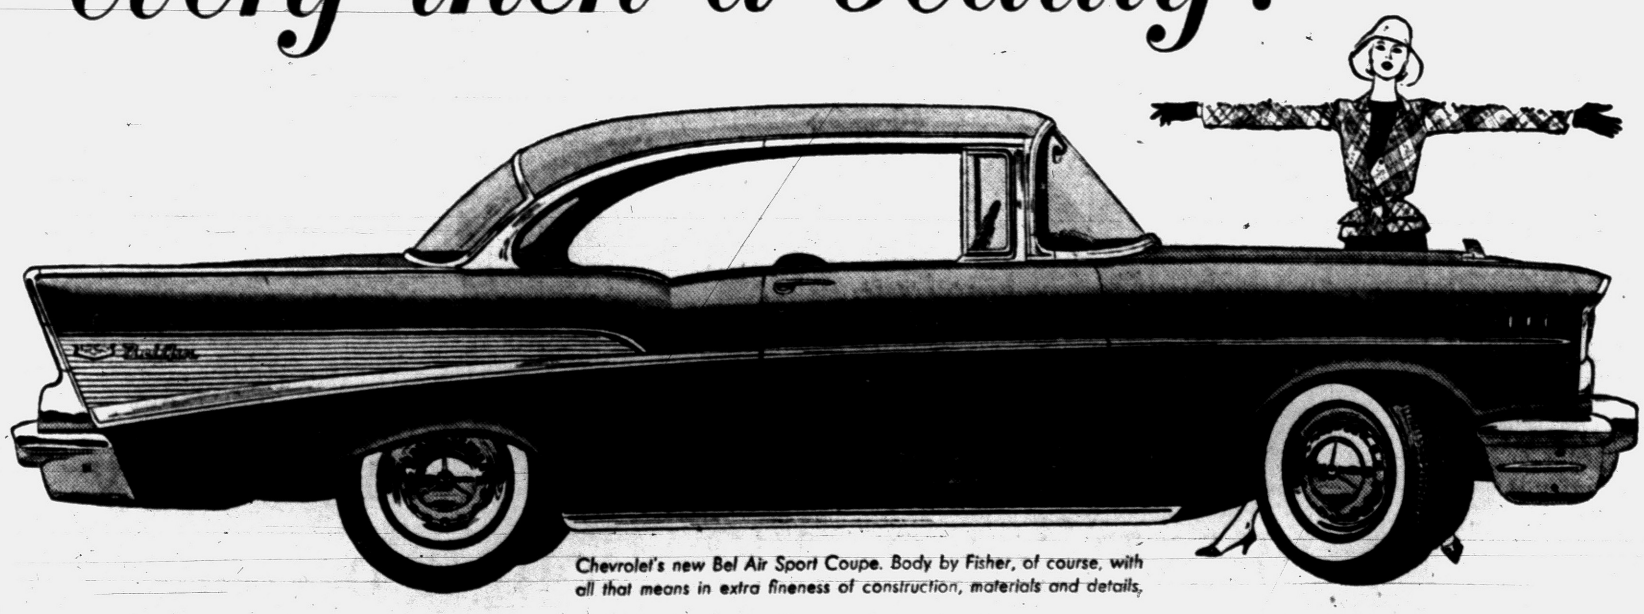

Cobo is expected to return next month to begin a fight to get natural gas supplies to 18 Upper Peninsula communities.

During his unsuccessful gubernatorial bid, Cobo promised to appear before the Federal Power Commission in Washington to present the Upper Peninsula case.

Ancient Trees: Bristlecone Pine

Live Forty Centuries in Southwest States at Amazing Altitudes

WASHINGTON—Bristlecone pine, a scrubby hermit of the timberline, joins the plant kingdom roster of earth's oldest known living things.

* * *

Three California specimens have lived 40 centuries, having grown old before King Solomon ruled Israel. The gaunt, nearly barkless trees were dated by Dr. Edmund Schulmen, of the University of Arizona Laboratory of Tree-Ring Research. The United States Forest Service located this important discovery in the White Mountains of Inyo National Forest.

The find puts the bristlecone pine (Pinus aristate) among nature's true wonders. Yet the gnarled conifer keeps to such harsh, stormy peaks that it is seldom seen by lowlanders. The tree takes its place belatedly among other beloved plant Methuselahs — giant sequoia, Cypress, olive, yew, and chestnut.

LIVES HIGH

Unlike the titans of the forest, the bristlecone pine is a "wind timber," one of the tough species that flourish at the utmost frontier of trees. The tree's normal range is an elevation of 8,000 to 11,500 feet in the mountains of eastern California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, northern Arizona, and northern New Mexico.

* * *

At extreme heights a bristlecone pine may grow no higher than a man in 900 years. Some remain twisted shrubs. Others, at lower elevations, may stretch 35 to 40 feet. Most stay within an average of 15 to 30 feet, with a short stocky trunk a foot to 30 inches in diameter. A few attain stem diameters of 8 feet or more. A season's growth of stout, dark-shining needles may cling to the twigs for 15 years.

The first specimen of bristlecone pine was collected in 1853 by a naturalist trekking through Colorado with a Pacific railway survey. He picked one coneless branch, probably meaning to get a better sample later.

Though an Indian attack cost this collector his life some weeks later, his pine branch eventually made its way to eastern hervariums.

Violation of Submerged Lands Act?

Suit Is Filed by Attorney General Against Newly Opened Flotel at Tawas

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh has filed suit to force the owners of the floating hotel, the SS Western States, to remove the vessel from its moorage at Tawas City.

Kavanagh asked the Ingham County Circuit Court for an injunction preventing the owners from continuing to occupy the moorage site.

The bill of complaint said the boat was permanently fixed to the municipal pier and thus violated an 1899 law under which submerged lands are to be held as a public hunting and fishing trust.

The 326-foot vessel, one of the most famous of the old Great Lakes passenger fleet, was purchased by the Western States Hotel Convention and converted into a floating hotel at a cost of more than $100,000.

Opened only a week ago, the "flotel" is scheduled to have from 160 to 175 rooms ready for occupancy by Spring.

Named as defendants in the suit were the Western States Hotel Corp. and the city of Tawas City, which rented the firm dock space on a five-year lease.

"If we don't win this case, you can make up your mind that we will have a line of boats converted into hotels all along the Great Lakes shore," said Nicholas V. Olds, assistant attorney general.

Olds said he understood that the corporation had purchased, or will buy, several other ships for similar conversion.

"This ship is not used for navigation," he said. "It is a permanent fixture and is occupying part of the Great Lakes submerged lands."

The complaint said the vessel is 326 feet long and 90 feet wide and occupies about three quarters of an acre of Lake Huron.

Attached to the complaint was a June, 1955 letter to Charles Bieber, former owner in which state officials warned that the ship might be in violation of the Submerged Lands Act.

* * *

Since the letter was written, Olds said, the ship has been sold to the Western States Hotel Corp., owned by Robert L. Rosen of Detroit.

Olds said he did not know whether the former owner had told Rosen of the possible law violation, nor whether Rosen would have any claim against the former owner.

The complaint was drawn up on request of Gerald E. Eddy, director of the state conservation department.

Did Telvi Know Riesel's Identity?

Witness Says Hoodlum Called Victim by Name Before Acid Attack

NEW YORK (AP)—The petite girl friend of slain hoodlum Abe Telvi says he told her he called Victor Riesel by name as he flung the acid that blinded the labor columnist.

The testimony by Mrs. Olga De La Cruz flatly contradicted statements by an earlier witness that Telvi had no idea who his victim was until he read about it in the newspapers.

* * *

Mrs. De La Cruz, 20-year-old divorced mother of two and expecting a third child, testified yesterday at the federal court trial of three alleged conspirators in the Riesel assault.

The columnist was blinded April 5 shortly after he left a Broadway restaurant. The attack allegedly was designed to scare him out of testifying at a grand jury probe of labor racketeering.

* * *

Mrs. De La Cruz said Telvi came to her apartment the night of the Riesel attack with acid burns on his face. He stayed there for 10 days to two weeks.

She said Telvi's brother brought medicine and a sunlamp in hope of healing or hiding the acid scars. Telvi had splashed some of the acid on himself during the attack.

* * *

The hoodlum was found shot to death on the lower East Side July 28, presumably partly because the acid scars made him living evidence of the attack.

Authorities also have said that a motive for the murder was a demand by Telvi for a higher fee for the acid job when he learned Riesels' identity.

New Highways Open

LANSING (AP)—A six-mile stretch of new roadway on U.S. 131 near Three Rivers and a 10-mile stretch of new M40 near Decatur will be opened to traffic Wednesday, the State Highway Department said today.

Holland's tourist revenue last year climbed to $54,380,000, a new high.

Tells When Baby Cries

DALLAS (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wood are totally deaf, but they aren't worried a bit about hearing their baby cry. Workers at Texas Instruments, Inc., where Wood is a technician, pitched in and made an electronic gadget which flashes a light when the baby cries.

29 Persons Killed as Airplane Crashes

CALI, Colombia (AP) — Twenty-nine persons have been killed in the crash of a Colombian airliner in the mountains west of Cali.

The Aerolinas del Pacifico liner, en route to the Pacific coast, burst into flames after the crash yesterday.

* * *

U.S. Navy Seabees Land on South Pole, Will Set Up Camp for Scientific Study

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—Americans colonized the South Pole today.

Eight Navy Seabees and 11 sled dogs are the first residents of the bleak, snow-topped plateau at the bottom of the world, where the temperature is 58 degrees below zero.

The party landed just after midnight in two ski-equipped C47 Dakotas. Their safe arrival was reported by radio to this U.S. air base 800 miles away on the coast of Antarctica.

The Navy men will set up a camp for American scientists who will spend the black antarctic winter at the pole. Their observations will be part of the U. S. contribution to the worldwide study of the earth and its atmosphere during the International Geophysical Year.

* * *

First task of the Seabees, commanded by Lt. Richard A. Bowers a young Navy engineer from Harrisburg, Pa., was to set up survival shelters. Later they are to be joined by 16 more men who will help construct the polar base and Dr. Paul Siple of Washington, D.C. who will head the scientific expedition spending the winter.

The men who landed today will be the first in all history to live at the pole.

A party headed by Rear Adm. George Dufek, commander of the Navy's Operation Deepfreeze, made the first airplane landing at the pole three weeks ago. That group spent an hour on the rough, windblown shore making observations.

No other man had set foot there since the ill-fated Scott expedition 44 years ago. All five members of the Scott party died on the return trip.

Lt. Cmdr. Conrad S. (Gus) Shinn of Spray, N.C., who made the first landing at the pole, and Lt. Cmdr. Roy E. Curtis of Keene Valley, N.Y., piloted the two twin-engine planes today.

Men Will Brighten Beach

Featuring an inspiring collection of old coin patterns, this Indonesian print is available in the men's sport shirt and ladies' tailored dress. The shirt is a hand-screened cotton and can be worn either in or out. Featuring single-needle construction throughout, the Indonesian pattern is designed by Don Loper.

An Indonesian flower effect is brought out in this cotton sport shirt showing special attention to the print and coverage. The shirt is also highlighted by short cuff sleeves.

A "Medallion" shirt is combined with three-quarter length "Deck Pants" to give a new beach comber combo for spring. The shirt is of top sailcloth and features an eight-inch placket front and three-quarter sleeves. The pockets are set in the hem of the shirt, and its longer length allows it to be worn in or out.

A distinct Spanish touch is seen in this Peruvian inspired sport outfit by Hollywood Clothes. The Conquistador coat is tailored of imported pure silk herringbone weave. Featuring the "Rim of the Pacific" short length, the coat has flaps outside the pockets, two-button front and narrow lapels. The "Pampas" slack has narrow trouser legs, self belt, slanted side pockets and no hip pockets.

Highlights of pirate history inspired "The Buccaneer" by Barney Beller. Made of a Mayo cloth the shirt, though elegant, is completely washable. The striking shoulder insert is rimmed with ocean pearl buttons embodied in gold.

California elegance in all its splendor is represented in this host suit by Louis Roth. The coat is a subtle blend of rich gold colorings, and is highlighted by slanted wide welt pockets. The new trim cut slacks are of navy blue. The host suit is hand made of all silk.

The beach boy pant and boat neck shirt will please all of the womenfolk next spring. A new ankle length is shown on the beach boy pant. It has an in-cuffed slack and a set-on waist band. The leisure shirt features a horizontal jersey stripe with a set-in boat neck. The gals are matched in White Stag's duo blouse and shorts for spring.

Papa to Vie With Mama in Elaborate Sports Garb

Prints, Knits Are Important in Shirts; Swimwear Features Many Lengths

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

Men will be just as elaborately dressed at the beach this year as women, according to Men's Apparel Guild of California.

The coordinates that mama wears will also be a part of papa's wardrobe. The cabana outfits will match milady's and are done in silk, polished cotton and cotton knits.

Sport shirts show a greater prominence of prints, including silk screened prints, and the knits which were used repeatedly in women's fashions also are important in shirts for men. These cotton knits insure washability and greater wearability.

All lengths from brief knits to trim-cut boxers and fly fronts, from knee-length trunks to mid-calf-length and above-ankle-length beach trousers, characterize swimwear this season.

Actually the very brief swimsuit worn low on the hipline seemed to be the favorite of designers—not that they're very flattering.

Louis Roth, one of the best-known manufacturers of men's clothing, does a host suit in a subtle blend of rich gold. Made of pure silk, this is California's idea of what to wear when entertaining at home.

Casual suits have the sheer elegance of silk blends, but California didn't show its really dressy suits which we have seen in past seasons.

Inspiration for the spring styles came from North America, South America, Indonesia, the Pacific islands and the Far East.

One sport shirt has an Indonesian flower effect in the cotton print, while another outfit has a definite Spanish touch. A conquistador coat tops "Pampas" slacks for this effect.

Interviewer's Duties Aren't Easy

BY ANNE HEYWOOD

Being interviewed—for a job, a volunteer activity or even a part in the community amateur theater—is a nerve-wracking experience for most people.

It's particularly difficult for the older housewife who is, for the first time, trying to enter the business field, and for the youngster just out of school.

My mail is full of inquiries about how to act and complaints about the manners of interviewers in companies and in employment agencies.

"They're so brusque," one woman writes. "They don't care what you want, they just want to get rid of you."

* * *

"Why do they have such red tape? asks another. "Why can't they tell you whether or not they have the kind of job you want? Why do you have to fill out enormous applications?

DOWNRIGHT SILLY

"Why do they insist on resumes?" asks a writer. "I've had no business experience. I have nothing to put into a resume. It's downright silly."

* * *

The first thing you'll have to bear in mind is this: The average employment agency interviewer or corporation personnel interviewer sees hundreds and hundreds of people a week—has to.

In the morning, he comes in to find a dozen early birds waiting for him. All day long they come in, until he feels as though he hasn't the privacy of a goldfish.

Many of them are not very happy, and therefore not very pleasant. Some of them are mad at the world because they are unemployed. They naturally take this out on the interviewer.

* * *

Many of them refuse to fill out the application blank correctly. They act as though it were a personal insult dreamed up by the nasty interviewer instead of company policy, which it is simply his job to obey.

RATHER BRUSQUE

If, after four hours or so of this, the interviewer is a little brusque with you when you try to explain, in detail, the subtleties of the exact kind of job you're dreaming of, who can blame him? You would be as bad, possibly worse.

* * *

In short, when you are being interviewed for a job, face the fact that the interviewer is not a father confessor, psychiatrist or vocational counsellor. He hasn't time to hear you out. He has specific openings to fill, and his boss is pressuring him to fill them.

If he is not particularly charming to you, don't draw the conclusion that you are undesirable, nor that he is a real stinker.

Face the fact, instead, that after interviewing maybe 40 people that selfsame day, his stock of charm has run out. So would yours.

* * *

If you approach interviews this way, with real sympathy and understanding, you will make a tremendous effect on the interviewer. You may well be hired even if you lack "similar experience."

After interviewing dozens of talkative, complaining, critical or prima donna types, he will be absolutely enchanted by the person who has some understanding of what he, the interviewer, is up against.

A Teenage 'Must'

Look at Those Fingernails

The fingernail-biters aren't the only teenagers who have difficulty keeping their nails pretty.

The first problem is that of cleanliness, so often the case with teenagers just emerging from the tomboy stage.

Really dirty fingernails can't be scratched clean with a file. The scratches made on the surface of the nail so injure it that it will collect dirt twice as easily in the future.

Dirty nails, and hands, need to be scrubbed with a stout brush and lots of soap. A grainy bar soap (heavy duty) may be necessary after gardening, painting or work in clay. Soaking the hands a while in water and soap will make the task easier.

KEEP EVEN

The next problem is nail length. It's generally conceded that talons are unattractive on teenagers. But even if a girl disagrees, she ought to be careful about keeping her long nails the same length, neatly filed, and without split sides or hangnails.

* * *

Polish, if a teenager wears it, can be another offense.

If a young woman hasn't time to repair and repolish her nails as often as it is called for, she ought to give up polish.

If her work or school duties cause the polish to chip or peel the next day and she is rushed every evening, she should give up the "beauty aid" that is no longer an aid, but a detriment.

* * *

Clean, short nails in good health, may never make a girl a model, but they will certainly be more appreciated by her companions than long, dirty nails with peeling polish.

Be Very Careful of Carelessness

Slightly soiled fabric gloves, a suit with a button or two missing, a run in a stocking—these things give the impression of carelessness.

You may know that the buttons came off at the last minute, that you couldn't find your clean gloves and that that snag finally just happened to pop a run. Your public doesn't know these were "small accidents"; it sees only the results.

Each season, it's a good idea to check hemlines all over again. Somehow, they have a way of getting uneven just while they hang on hangers.

Sorority Tours State Hospital

Mrs. Ben Sweeney presided at the Thursday evening meeting of Alpha Alpha Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority, held in the auditorium of Pontiac State Hospital.

Dr. James McHugh took members on a tour of the children's ward of the hospital preceding the meeting.

CAROLE JEANNE FORTIN

The engagement of their daughter, Carole Jeanne, to William Terry Jr. is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fortin of LaSalle avenue. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Terry of Preston avenue. The couple plans a Dec. 29 wedding.

Floral Gift OK for Man in Hospital

Room Looks Bare, Friendless Without Blossoms

By EMILY POST

"A business acquaintance was recently hospitalized and I suggested the office send him flowers with our wishes for his speedy recovery. Someone said it was not proper to send a man flowers and the idea was dropped. This amazed me and I'd appreciate your comments."

Answer: Illness is the one occasion when flowers—especially a plant—may very properly be sent to a man. A hospital room without a flower in it looks very friendless.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I fully realize that when a young woman is to be married it is her choice to pick the church, usually the one of which she is a member. This being true, the minister of that church is expected to perform the ceremony.

"The question is if the young man whom she is marrying happens to be a trustee of another church and quite active in that church's work, is it not right that the young man's minister be asked to take some small part in the ceremony?"

Answer: Yes, very definitely he should be asked to assist the clergyman of the bride's church.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We have just received a bill from our family doctor for services rendered. In writing out a check to him there has been some disagreement as to how his name should appear on it.

"My husband says it should be made out to John Doe. I think it should be made out to Dr. John Doe or John Doe, M. D. will you please give us the correct form?"

Answer: You can use either John Doe or John Doe, M. D.

Girl Scouts Launch Calendar Sales

The 1957 Girl Scout calendars are on sale throughout the area served by the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council, according to Mrs. Wayne Miller, general chairman of the sales.

* * *

Colorful pictures of Girl Scouts engaged in seasonal activities decorate these cheerful calendars. Ample spaces at each date make them especially welcome in the office and the home as reminders of engagements and appointments.

Assisting Mrs. Miller are captains from each of the five districts of the council, Mrs. Fred Bisballe, Mrs. Edgar Ketchum, Mrs. Lawrence Myers, Mrs. Howard Fletcher and Mrs. Clifford Neville.

Proceeds from the sale go directly to the treasury of the individual Girl Scout troop, helping the girls to continue the tradition that Girl Scouts pay their own way.

* * *

Service project supplies such as yarn and cloth to make dolls for hospitalized children, candies and flowers for tray favors, and raw materials for badge work are purchased in this way.

On Monday, Girl Scouts began to canvass their own neighborhoods and to approach friends and neighbors to sell these calendars.

By Nov. 30, closing date of the sale, the girls and their leaders expect to sell 15,000 calendars.

Bleaches Hasten Freckle Fading

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here are a few first aids to help you with some of your problems.

* * *

1. Freckles. If your skin reacts to the sun with freckles, there is nothing you can do to avoid them entirely except stay out of the sun and you will not wish to do that. You can apply one of the screening creams and take your exercise outdoors early in the morning or late in the afternoon when the sun's rays are not so direct.

Once you get freckles you will just have to give them time to fade. You may be able to speed the process along by using a cream and cucumber juice bleach. Cucumber is mildly bleaching.

You can also try lemon juice. Many women find undiluted lemon juice too strong and therefore irritating to their skin. If this applies to you, you must dilute it.

* * *

Sometimes freckles are really a defect in good looks, that is if the freckling is extreme. These can be removed today with sandpaper surgery.

FLUSHING OF FACE

2. Many women have trouble with flushing of the face, or the enlargement of the little capillaries in the nose and cheeks. Nobody seems to know just what causes this but the general advice given to such women is much the same year after year.

It has been found that vitamin C has a beneficial effect on the blood vessels, and folks who have trouble with flushing of the face should drink more orange juice.

They are advised to avoid foods which are too hot or too highly seasoned. Some dermatologists tell their patients to leave off tea, coffee and alcoholic beverages.

It has been found that vitamin C has a beneficial effect on the blood vessels and folks who have this difficulty should drink more orange juice and might ask their physicians about taking synthetic vitamin C.

These little red capillaries can be removed with an electric needle but it takes a highly-skilled and experienced skin specialist to do the job.

There are some people for whom vitamin C is specific in the case of bruising. I have one friend who always has bruises when she does not take her vitamin C daily. When she does, she never has one.

WARTS OR MOLES

3. Do not attempt to remove warts or moles yourself. Have your family physician or a skin specialist do it for you. Some moles are dangerous because of their tendency to become malignant. Do not irritate them, but get the opinion of an expert concerning them.

* * *

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 48 "Clear the Way for Beauty," send a stampeed, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Fat Daughter Needs Help in Losing Excess Weight

Mother Should Encourage Girl to Diet Until She Reaches Normal Size

By RUTH MILLETT

It is a grave injustice to a child for parents to let him turn into a "fatty."

Fortunately the writer of this letter recognizes that and wants to do something about it.

She asks, "How can I help my 12-year-old daughter, who is overweight, attain a normal figure so that she can wear clothes suitable for her age?

"This year she started junior high school and for the first time is interested in how she looks. In fact, she has developed an inferiority complex about her size."

The thing to do, of course, is to take your daughter to a doctor and let him give her a physical checkup and prescribe a diet for her.

Then see that she gets all the encouragement she needs for sticking to it.

If you let the matter go, she will continue to gain. And as she grows fatter she will feel more and more left out. Then she'll eat more and more to compensate for her loneliness. It's a vicious circle, so the sooner you break it, the better.

* * *

You are right in being worried enough to want to do something about your daughter's problem.

A young girl who is overweight, who can't wear the kind of clothes other girls wear, and is overlooked by the boys her age, has a hard time.

A planned regimen and encouragement from her family will help her realize the importance of sticking with a diet until she "looks like the other girls."

It is a crime to let a child set herself apart by a wall of fat.

To Promote Dairy Foods in Thailand

American Woman Will Introduce Our Milk Products

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Encouraging the young and old of Thailand to eat ice cream and drink chocolate milk seems an easy enough assignment to Dorothy McCann, a representative of this country's dairy industry. She is heading for Bangkok for an 18-month stay.

* * *

This, however, is only a part of a long-range project to increase Thai's milk supply and improve the diet of the people while helping create a new foreign market for United States dairy products, especially those used in the milk-recombining process.

Recombined milk is made of nonfat dry milk, butterfat and purified water. It contains all of the ingredients and is comparable to fresh whole milk.

Mrs. McCann, new executive director for the dairy project, is working as industry cooperator with the Department of Agriculture's Foreign Agricultural Service.

* * *

Thailand, with American assistance, has built a milk-recombining plant which will turn out thousands of gallons of milk and ice cream daily as well as whole milk.

Part of Mrs. McCann's job is to show the Thais how to take advantage of these products. To launch the project, the dairies and the United States Department of Commerce will have a dairy exhibit at Bangkok's Constitution Fair in December.

TO GIVE SAMPLES

Samples of milk and ice cream will be passed out to all visitors. The labels will read: "From the People of America to the People of Thailand."

* * *

"The main source of Thai milk has been from the water buffalo," Mrs. McCann, a native Chicagoan, told me.

"These give a rich milk, often in greater quantity than the cow, but without facilities for transportation from the fertile valleys to the heavily populated cities, little of it reaches the urban market. Seasonal pasture failures result also in temporary shortages."

Mrs. McCann says she has no qualms about the popularity of the milk products to be promoted in the international field.

"There's little difference between the children of Thai and those clustered around the ice cream truck on America's Main street corners," she says. "They all love milk and they all love ice cream and chocolate milk."

Glamor Aids for Little Girls

Face Washing Can Be Fun

How often have you heard, "Mommy, please let me try your lipstick?"

Starched petticoats and frilly party dresses make little girls aware that they are pretty. And, of course, on occasion they all want to be grown-up. But, unfortunately, this desire to be dainty is usually spasmodic and quickly forgotten in energetic play.

It's true, though, that sweet 16 rolls around sooner than we expect, and sound training in cleanliness, skin health, hand care and grooming habits is a gift every parent can give her child—and one that will bear fruit for a lifetime.

Little girls don't appreciate being told "Go wash your face!" But cleanliness can be made attractive when it's enticingly combined with "grownup" glamor aids. Making young ladies out of romping children is a lot simpler these days than it once was, for there is available a brand new line of delicate pink and gold packaged grooming aids. These will tempt every little girl into making herself clean and pretty.

Delightful, pink, heart - shaped soap and a bathtub filled with foaming bubbles will discourage bath-time groans.

A hand-care kit, containing a lightly scented hand lotion and clear nail polish can be brought out when mother gives herself a manicure. And without being aware of it, the habit of caring for her hands and nails will be formed in the family's youngest glamor girl.

It's fun to let your little girl dress for dinner. As an added grown-up touch there is a flesh colored lipstick and a gentle fragrance that its makers say is innocent enough for the youngest belle, yet sparklingly feminine.

* * *

Try helping your child to be conscious of good grooming. If you make it fun for her instead of a chore, you will both be gratified with the results.

Dudes Split to Fit Two Categories

Working and Resort Ranches Provide 9 Months of Sunshine

PHOENIX, Ariz. (INS) — The kind of ranch you choose for a Western vacation this fall depends on how lazy you want to be.

There are dude ranches and dude ranches in Arizona and Southern California but they fall into two main categories.

* * *

One is the working ranch, which usually spreads over several thousand acres of grassland. Owners of such a ranch take on a few vacationers but most of the income is provided by raising and selling herds of registered cattle.

The other kind is the resort ranch, where the chief source of income is the vacationer and cowboys, cattle and other western fixtures are only part of the show.

At the working ranch, the "due" gets up early, eats breakfast and by sunrise is out on a horse exploring abandoned gold mines in the mountains or prehistoric Indian ruins in the desert.

The dude can follow the regular ranch routine and set out with the ranch hands to do the chores —caring for a string or saddle horses; riding herd and branding calves.

The resort ranch is for the person who wants to "rough it in luxury"—he can sleep until noon and even have breakfast in bed. The suntan he gets is acquired at a swimming pool and there are nightclubs for evening entertainment.

Generally, the resort ranch is near Phoenix or in southern California while the working ranch is in more remote areas of the southwest.

Most dude ranches remain open for a nine months season, from September through May although some are open the entire year.

THANKSGIVING PRAYER — In prayerful attitude these modern day Pilgrims and Indians prepare to enjoy their Thanksgiving feast. The children from McCarroll School are left to right: Michael Peabody; Maureen Daugherty, Kevin Helms, Gayle Holtz and Linda Schmidt. Their feast consists of vegetable soup they have prepared themselves.

WORK TO BE DONE — In order to properly observe the Thanksgiving they have learned so much about, these McCarroll School kindergartners are preparing their feast of vegetable soup and cranberry sauce. Here working vigorously getting vegetables ready to pop into the soup are left to right: Dennis Graham, Claudia Everett, Diane Barefoot and Thomas Pardee.

They Learn What Thanksgiving Means

Tykes Reap Real Holiday Harvest

By JANICE HAYHOW

Forty-six McCarroll School kindergartners are a little richer in feeling and perhaps a little wiser about the real meaning of Thanksgiving this year than some of their contemporaries.

They've been learning just what Thanksgiving really means ever since they started school in September.

* * *

Their teacher, Mrs. Everett Peterson, has taken the youngsters through sessions of learning to appreciate the bounty of harvesttime and the magnificent fall beauty that brought about the original thankfulness of the Pilgrims.

She has brought the more spiritual meaning of Thanksgiving to the kindergarten classroom and now the youngsters are eagerly preparing a feast of sorts to observe their own Thanksgiving.

They've studied general historical sketches of the Pilgrims and Indians whose first observance of Thanksgiving was the beginning of our national holiday.

LEARN SONGS, DANCES

They've learned numerous songs, dances and dramatizations about the apple pie, pumpkins, turkeys and the veritable wonders a day like Thanksgiving has in store.

* * *

In September the youngsters counted the simple beauties of harvest-time. In October they began to think of things to thank God for.

A highlight of the October days was the preparation of cranberry sauce in their classroom to put aside for the class Thanksgiving feast coming up.

Anti-climax to the feast came last week when the morning and afternoon sessions of the kindergarten joined forces and took a bus to the Farmer's Market to choose the ingredients for their special Thanksgiving vegetable soup that they would prepare themselves.

The shopping list was pretty easy for the young shoppers to read. Large pictures of the vegetables they sought made up the list.

* * *

The little shoppers perused the stands, and despite rather long delays at the flower counter, made their purchases swifty and headed back to school.

Cleaning, peeling and chopping the vegetables was saved for another day. Everyone had a turn at each job so that all shared in the preparation.

Now the day has come. The young kindergartners will observe their very special and very own Thanksgiving tomorrow. The menu will consist of a most carefully prepared cranberry sauce and a most vigorously stirred vegetable soup.

To make the day even more significant, the children will be garbed as their ancestors. They will be Pilgrims and Indians.

This is the first of many educational experiences these youngsters will encounter in the school years ahead of them, but the feeling of beauty and reverence they have as they eat their very own vegetable soup will be remembered as a highly momentous occasion in their lives.

* * *

Reds in Hungary 'Lesser Evil'

India Hits Suez Invasion

NEW DELHI (AP) — The official view in India is that Britain, France, Israel and Soviet Russia all have been misbehaving in recent weeks.

But denunciations of the invasion of Egypt have been much more bitter than the stand on Russian force in Hungary.

Prime Minister Nehru and members of his government cling to this distinction:

* * *

The British, French and Israeli military actions — they say — are "aggression," defined by Webster as unprovoked attack.

Use of Soviet forces to quell the movement for freedom in Hungary, according to the Indian officials, is "intervention," which Webster defines as interference of a state in the internal affairs of another.

* * *

Despite the verbal distinction, Nehru and his government have condemned both the aggression in Egypt and the intervention in Hungary. They have asked for withdrawal of foreign troops in both places.

However, the tone of their statements clearly indicates they think aggression in Egypt is much the worse of the two.

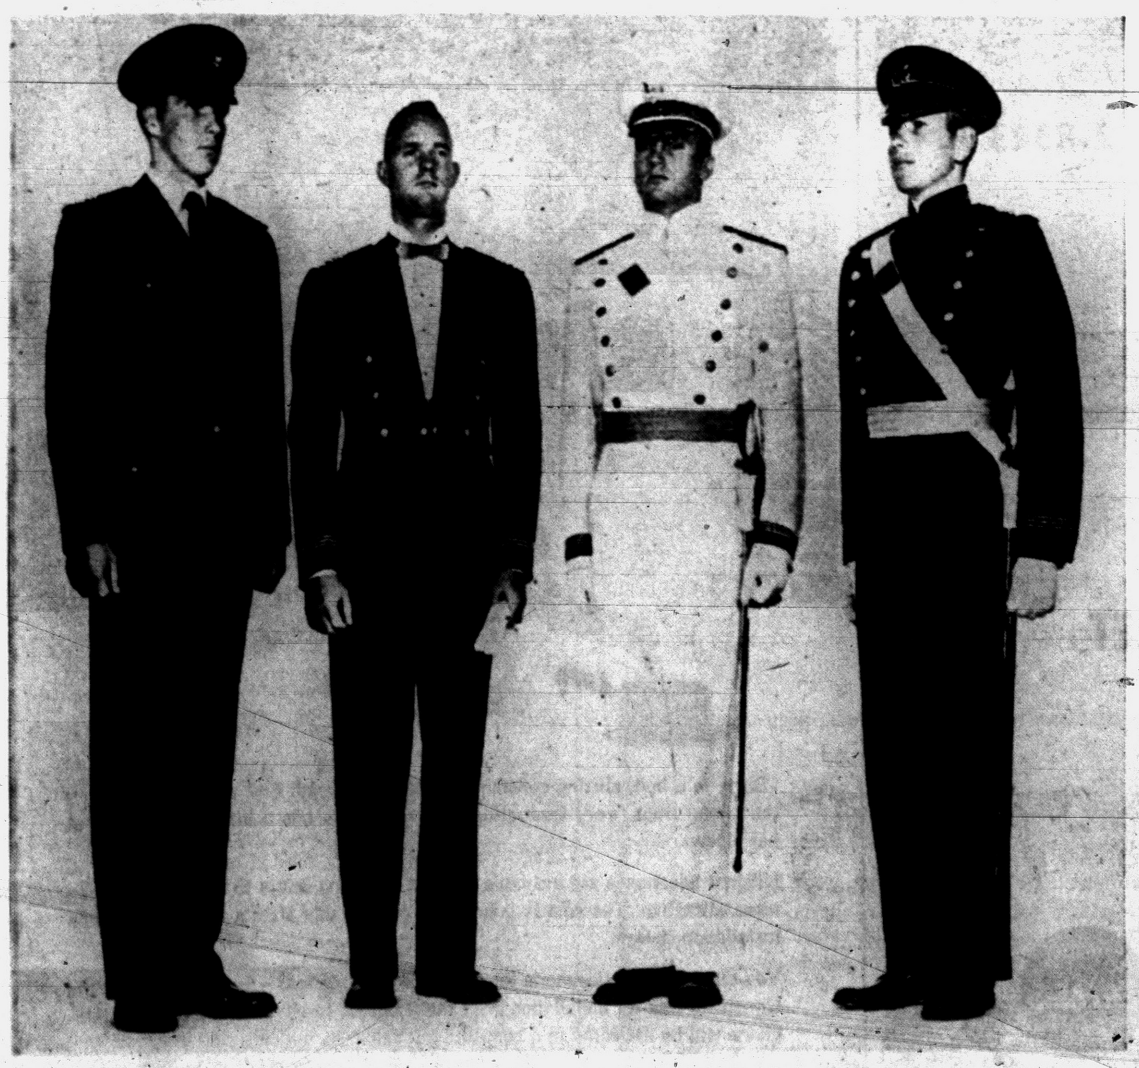

That many Indians have this impression is displayed in two ways:

1. There is much more public and press interest — and concern — about the Middle East.

2. Many Indians, especially socialists, have sharply criticized Nehru for showing less concern about Hungary than he shows in Egypt.

* * *

Confused Indian Communists appear to have welcomed Nehru's stand on Hungary as a way out of their dilemma. A week ago, their organ New Age, criticized Moscow. This week it gave with approval Moscow's views on Hungary — and quoted Nehru to support Moscow.

Building Permits May Set Record

Hospital Addition Cost Would Push Total Value Past 1955 Figure

The value of building permits issued in Pontiac so far this year indicates the city might pass the 1955 total of $12,674,646, according to Carl F. Alt, city building inspector.

With the months of November and December yet to be recorded, the 10-month total is $9,920,867.

Alt sais a $3.5 million permit for the construction of the Pontiac General Hospital addition would push the total above last year's figure.

This total was four million shrt of the record to date of $16,328,697 set in 1951. Of this figure, $9 million was for the Pontiac Motor Division plant expansion, Alt said.

Germans Permit New Committees in Factories

BERLIN (AP)—In a move to help pacify its restless labor force, Communist East Germany announced today it will permit the country's factories to begin setting up workers' committees. But their function will be most advisory and Communist union officials must approve their membership.

Patterned after similar groups in Yugoslavia, the committees are to be elected by the workers and will have power to make suggestions on such things as work quotas and payment of bonuses.

Their suggestions will be subject to overruling if they run contrary to decisions of the Industrial Ministry. Nor will they have the right to elect their own plant managers—as the Yugoslavs do.

The decree providing for the establishment of the committees announced in the Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland. It represents East Germany's biggest concession so far to a labor force that has grown more restless since the anti-Moscow upheavals in Hungary and Poland.

Young Wife Killed in Drive-In Theater

HARLAN, Ky. (AP) — The fatal shooting Saturday of a young Wayne, Mich. woman by her husband at a drive-in movie was apparently accidental, County Atty. (Prosecutor) Caywood Smith said yesterday.

* * *

Mrs. Peggy Bower, 19, an expectant mother, was struck by a bullet from an automatic pistol. Her husband, Charles Bower, 22, said he was attempting to unload the pistol when it fired.

* * *

They were sitting in the back seat of a car at the outdoor theater. Another couple in the front seat corroborated Bower's story, Caywood said.

* * *

The Bowers recently came to Harlan County from Michigan. He is employed by a drilling contractor at nearby Lynch. No charges had been filed against him.

DOLL FURNITURE IN PILGRIM STYLE — 2

The Cradle

Because the Mayflower was such a small ship the 102 pilgrims on board could bring no furniture with them when they came to America. Two babies were born during the two month voyage from England, so cradles must have been among the first pieces of furniture they made.

The cradle shown here is of the type the early settlers used. Many of these were handed down for generations, and some are still in existence. With your crayons color it a rich brown, like walnut wood.

Paste the page down on heavy brown construction paper and cut out the parts carefully. Fold up the sides with the brown lining inside. The small picture shows you how the finished cradle should look.

Dotted lines show where cradle parts are folded. Paste the white strips at the sides of the head and foot inside the body of the cradle so the letters match. You can stuff a little envelope with cotton for a mattress and another for a pillow, and make a quilt of colored paper or cloth.

Fold yesterday's doll at the waist and put her in the cradle.

Report Poles Demonstrate Against Pact With Russia

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A Polish newspaper says demonstrations and riots erupted in Poland while Poland's Communist party chief was in Moscow negotiating on future Polish-Soviet relations.

The newspaper Express Wieszorne received here today said disorders occurred Sunday at Bromberg. It said students and young workers set fire to the city's radio station and then fought off police and fire brigades.

* * *

This account of trouble contrasted with dispatches from Warsaw which said the Polish Communist chief, Wladyslaw Gomulka, was greeted by cheering crowds on his journey from Moscow back to Warsaw.

* * *

Political observers here said, however, there was no doubt that riots broke out after the announcement that the new agreement between Gomulka and the Kremlin leadership did not include provisions for the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Poland.

The independent Vienna newspaper Neuer Kurier reported "tension and disturbances" throughout Poland due to what it termed Gomulka's "taking the Moscow line."

Another Polish paper, the Glos Olsztynski, told of an anti-Soviet demonstration by students at Olsztyn (Allenstein), in former German East Prussia.

Gomulka, who was restored to the Central Committee of the Polish United Workers (Communist) party last month in a Polish move toward an independent form of communism, returned to Warsaw last night. He told cheering crowds in the Polish capital, "All those things which stood between the friendship of Poland and the Soviet Union have been settled."

"The difference between actions and words, which in the past often made our relations difficult, have been liquidated," he declared.

He asked his countrymen to build good neighborly relations with the Soviets.

* * *

The Moscow communique on the talks said the Polish chieftain and the Kremlin leaders agreed that Soviet troops must remain in Poland, but the Poles were given veto power over Russian troop movements within their country. Western observers in Moscow and Communist officials in Warsaw got the idea that Gomulka got everything he asked for, and maybe more, in his meetings with the Soviet leaders.

Gomulka told his Warsaw welcomers the Russians had agreed to write off Polish debts totaling more than two billion rubles (500 million dollars at the official rate).

Poland also will get loans of 1,400,000 tons of grain and a 700-million-ruble cash credit. Official circles in Warsaw said Gomulka had only expected a million tons of grain and 400 million rubles.

* * *

One of the biggest economic windfalls, according to responsible Warsaw sources, is found in a paragraph of the official Moscow declaration on the talks stating:

* * *

"An agreement was reached on regulation of financial clearances referring to railroad shipments, noncommercial payments and other matters."

These sources said under this clause Poland will get a lump sum equivalent to 400 million dollars to cover back payment for Soviet use of Polish railways and similar payments will be made for future use. This includes both movements and the Soviet Union's regular trade with East Germany and Western Europe, moved across Poland.

* * *

Poland also is to receive payment for food and accommodations supplied Soviet troops stationed in the country under Warsaw Pact terms.

Chamber Proposes Liability Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce proposes that the federal government underwrite liability policies for commercial atomic plants.

Indemnity would be only for claims "in excess of the amount covered by private insurance" and "should only be available for amounts in excess of amounts of insurance required by the Atomic Energy Commission based on its evaluation of the hazards involved."

The chamber's policy was adopted by its Board of Directors meeting here yesterday. The chamber said such indemnification is "vital to rapid and successful development of peaceful uses of the atom."

Totten Rehired at Romeo

Unanimous Vote Revokes Firing

Council Passes Rulings on Pick-Up of Rubbish Commercially

ROMEO — Councilman William Totten was reinstated as police commission chairman last night by Village President Ray Mellen, after a unanimous vote by the council supporting Totten.

Mellen had fired Totten from his appointive office by letter last week.

Councilmen censured the village president for failure to consult them before taking the ouster action. Mellen defended himself by saying "It was nothing personal," but merely a matter of "failure to cooperate on Totten's part."

The village president agreed, should a similar situation arise again, to consult the council in executive session before taking action.

Totten himself said in the future he would "go through channels" in carrying out duties of his office.

A 1918 ordinance governing collection of trash, garbage, etc., in the village was repealed last night by the council. A new one forbidding residents and merchants to leave debris on streets and alleys except on days designated for collection was adopted.

The council passed an act to regulate and license commercial rubbish pickup within the village limits.

Next week was proclaimed Muscular Dystrophy Week, with Nov. 29 set as the date for a door-to-door canvas by members of the local volunteer fire department.

Council authorization was given for the purchase of a new police car from Ray Dembowski at a cost of $787 with trade-in.

An agreement was reached with James Comella, specifying he would assume cost of installation of water and sewer lines and sidewalks in the one-acre Camella-Perkins subdivision on Ewell street by the village engineers.

His plat showing lots for five houses and a 50-foot-wide court was approved by a 4 to 1 vote.

There were no petitions against the rezoning, and only six people present, were in opposition.

Industry Landscapes to Preserve Picture

Rochester Famous for Fine Farms

Editor's Note—This article, one in a series on Rochester, tells of some of its farms and factories.

Huge farms once dotted the hills surrounding Rochester. Some of these have been sold for subdividing, industrial and other developments. Among these were the William A. Fisher and the Edward Fisher farms.

Still largely intact are the Alfred G. Wilsons' Meadowbrook Farms, where a considerable variety of fine livestock has been raised; the Sarah VanHoosen Jones farm, with its Holstein Friesian cattle; the Howard L. McGregor farm with its Aberdeen Angus cattle, and the Parke, Davis and Ferry Morse farms.

No story of Rochester's farms would be complet without mentioning Sarah VanHoosen Jones and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson. Both of these women won widespread recognition in agriculture and other fields in a day when women's entrance into farming and business circles was decidedly new.

Meadowbrook Farms, home of the Alfred G. Wilsons, at one time included some 1,400 acres. It had herds of pure-bred Guernsey and Hereforod cattle, hogs, sheep and poultry, substantial prchards, grain fields and meadows.

Then there were the horses, in which the youngest daughter, Frances, took an especial interest. There were saddle horses and hackney ponies which she rode and drove at shows all over the United States, winning countless blue ribbons and awards.

Although Frances, now Mrs. Frederick L. VanLennep, has transferred most of her horses to Castleton Farms, in Kentucky, where she and her husband make their home, Mrs. Wilson continues to enter her hackney ponies and her fine Belgian horses in shows. Her present herd of Belgians includes the outstanding six horse hitch in American show circles.

Mrs. Wilson's business ability and her knowledge of farming early own her statewide recognition. She served for several terms as a member of the Michigan State Board of Agriculture, governing body of Michigan State University.

There is slightly less farming activity at Meadowbrook today. A few hundred acres have been sold but it still is one of the big farms of the area, well maintained and directed now largely by Mr. Wilson. It still produces substantial quantities of grain, fruit, poultry and dairy products, in addition to livestock.

Sarah VanHoosen Jones' latest contribution to her community and state was the recent announcement that she is giving 300 acres of her farm to Michigan State University for educational purposes upon her death.

This is wholly in keeping with her lifelong interest in education. Like Mrs. Wilson, she served over a considerable period of years as a member of the MSU governing board.

Miss Jones is an expert farmer. Holding three college degrees, she organized her Stoney Creek farm on strictly business lines. She has raised and bred cattle, grown poultry and feed crops and operated her farm store, known as "The Black and White Cow."

Her Holsteins have won many prizes, as has she. She has been named Master Farmer by Michigan State.

But despite these and other large farms which remain around Rochester, the subdividers are steadily crowding in. Each year they take over more of the farms near the village's borders.

SUBDIVISIONS

Some of the subdivisions are big, with room enough for a thousand homes each. They extend out all the way into Oakland Township and western Macomb County. They include Christian Hills, Rochester Knolls, Rochester Heights, Judson Park, Brentwood Heights, to name but a few.

And while the subdividers are pushing back the farms, modern factories are replacing the water driven mills of an earlier day.

Instead of its "ship canal," Rochester is known today as the home of Leader Dogs for the Blind, Parke, Davis Pharmaceutical Farms, Ferry-Morse Seed Farm and a variety of growing industries.

The spot where rapid flowing Paint Creek joins the Clinton River no longer is visited by Indians in war paint. Bloomer State Park now encloses this picturesque spot, and each summer thousands of people find relaxation there and relief from the heat of nearby Detroit.

National Twist Drill & Tool Co., Rochester's biggest industry, was founded in Detroit in 1903. It grew rapidly from the very start. By the time of World War I it was manufacturing a broad line of metal cutting tools.

In 1929 the company purchased Winter Brothers Company of Wrentham, Mass., makers of taps and dies. In the late thirties more space was needed, and the Rochester property was acquired. Building operations began in 1940.

Tomorrow—More Rochester industries.

UNEF CHIEF — Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the United Nations Emergency Force (name given to the United Nations police units in the Suez area), is pictured on his arrival in New York from Rome. Burns, in New York for consultations with U. N. leaders, said he was "deeply gratified" at the rapid development of the emergency force from an idea to actual units in the field.

Party Members Get Long Letter

American Communists Receive 2,500 Words Concerning Hungary

NEW YORK (AP) — The national committee of the American Communist party says "we do not seek to justify the use of Soviet troops in Hungary's internal crisis on Nov. 4."

A letter to party members from the committee adds, however: "Neither do we join in the condemnation of this action. Were there no alternatives? Was it a grim necessity? There are no ready answers and we are in no position to give final judgment on the Soviet action."

• • •

The committee's 2,500-word letter to members was made public here last night.

In a long discussion of events in Hungary, the letter said:

"The Oct. 24 decision of the Geroe government to call upon Soviet troops stationed in Hungary to put down the initial popular demonstrations inflamed the situation to a grave crisis.

"This was a tragic error for which the Soviet Union must also take responsibility. It is disclosed the failure of a policy which was not based securely upon the national needs and sentiments of the working class and popular masses in Hungary.

• • •

"The great prestige that the Soviet Union had won amongst the Hungarian working class by its role in liberating the country from the Nazis and the hated Horthy regime was thereby seriously damaged . . ."

Bob Considine Says:

Bible-Times Prose Sounds Hollywoodish

NEW YORK (INS) — "How beautiful the look of her face. How fine is the hair of her head, how fair indeed are her eyes and how pleasing her nose and all the radiance of her face. And her hands how perfect. How fair her palms and how long and fine all the fingers of her hands. Her legs how beautiful . . . and with all her beauty there is much widsom in her."

Hollywood?

Nope. It has just been translated from a Dead Sea scroll 20 centuries old. The beautiful one was Sarah, the enamored was Abraham.

In substance, the desperate and bloody fighting in Hungary was over the Holy Crown of St. Stephen.

Had the liberty fighters been organized, and had they been successful, the crown—symbol of lawful authority over Hungarians for almost a thousand years—would have been brought out of hiding and figuratively or literally placed in the head of the leader of the rebellion against the Reds.

GIVEN BY POPE

Pope Sylvester II, first Christian king of that country, just 955 years ago. Byzantine Emperor Michael VII Ducas added new jewels and enamel work to the crown, as a gift, somewhere between 1071 and 1078.

Wars, revolutions, internecine rivalries and royal family dissensions have swirled around the crown. Some of these profoundly interested in its sanctity and safety.

In the period of comparative peace between 1880 and the outbreak of World War I the crown was kept in the royal palace at Budapest.

Its off-center cross on top, believed bent when it was buried in a trench during Louis Kossuth's uprising for independence and self-government in 1848, became as familiar as Mona Lisa's uncertain smile.

The last monarch to wear it was Charles IV, crowned emperor-king of Austria-Hungary in Budapest Dec. 30, 1916. Less than two years later he and his Zita were in exile and Hungary was ruled by Regent Horthy.

Horthy possessed it and ruled in its name. When the Nazis rolled in they swept up the crown as their principal loot, only to yield it in turn to the victorious Americans.

Its present whereabouts remain a spokesman of the National Hungarian Council told us. There was a rumor that we were holding it at Ft. Knox; another that it is in Weisbaden, or Augsburg, or Nuremburg.

The State Department says it is in the hands of a "friendly, sovereign nation," and that it will be returned—with all its symbolism—whenever Hungary regains its sovereign freedom.

Women Break Eggs on Profiteer's Head

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — A peasant woman moved into the big free market near Budapest's Moscow Square today, offering eggs at 10 forints — about 90 cents —each, instead of the usual 2.6 forints.

Housewives, infuriated that there should be an attempt at profiteering in the present situation, pounced on her and broke all the eggs on her head.

Archbishop Holds Parents Responsible

BOSTON (INS) — Archbishop Richard J. Cushing believes parents should be held responsible for the crimes of their children.

He told the seventh annual communion breakfast of Massachusetts state employes:

"Parents should be held morally, legally and financially responsible for the crimes of their children. The prevalence of crime is the direct result of improper training of children by their parents."

The prelate said crime costs $467 annually for each family in the United States.

Advise Citizens to Water Trees and Evergreens

An extra small amount of rain this fall prompted Wayne Seifert, assistant county agent, to advise homeowners to water their trees well before the winter sets in.

"The rainfall this fall was 4½ inches below normal," Seifert said, "and a severe winter is predicted. Wise homeowners will water their trees, especially their evergreens to prevent the roots from the killing cold," he added.

If you will just take a cotton-picking minute to analyze all these statements on intent to de-emphasize or not to de-emphasize football, the key lies not in any pious speech-making.

The answer is listed in the number of athletic scholarships, open or covert.

Moose Krause of Notre Dame skirted all around the subject of athletic scholarships in his Monday Quarterback Club speech.

When Frank Leahy was coach, athletic scholarships totaled approximately 66.

This was the normal or going rate at that time in the Big Ten.

★ ★ ★

When Leahy saw his scholarships cut to a little more than a dozen, and scholastic requirments boosted to a point where they exceeded the normal Big Ten level and approached the rather idealistic heights of Lou Little's at Columbia, Frank reached for his hat and bid everyone a courtous adieu.

Now there are intriguing ways of distributing free board and tuition in return for services on the football field. A resourceful school may open its books to eager-beaver investigators of the Pacific Coast Conference, the Big Seven, the Big Ten or any of the little or baby conferences sprinkled on the map.

The books will look clean. There are no lists of excess free riders. The answer here is the number of wealthy patrons who personally foot the bills. Offhand this is a laudable thing, to send a poor muscular specimen, usually a "nephew," through four years of college at approximately $2,500 a year.

The college continues to import competent football players. There are, ostensibly, no athletic scholarships. There is no "alumni slush fund," as such, but the players are there on campus. And the coaching payroll, expenses for slow motion scouting films, and physical plant equipment is astronomical. There is no law—you will please note—restricting these last items.

PETROLEUM GEOLOGY FAVORITE AT OU

And don't think there isn't a plug value here either. Many of these patrons are hard-headed businessmen who insists their charges carry on to a degree.

Employment is found for pet football heroes in sales departments of their corporations. One of the most popular courses at Oklahoma U. is the course in Petroleum geology.

When a boy comes out of O. U. with his football letters and his degree he goes into the oil fields at a highly respectable annual salary.

Norm Armitage Entrusted With U.S. Flag Again

MELBOURNE (AP) — America's Star Spangled Banner will be entrusted to old and experienced hands in the opening day parade of the Olympic Games Thursday.

Norman Armitage, veteran fencing champion from Clemson, S.C., who carried the flag in the 1952 ceremony at Helsinki, again will lead the parade.

He has been a member of six Olympic teams, dating to 1928. He is 10 times national sabre champion.

Sooners Crash Back Into Top Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the second time this season, Oklahoma's angry Sooners have climbed back to the top of the national football rankings with one terrific display of power after spending a week in second place.

* * *

Earlier in the season, Michigan State took over the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters for one week. Oklahoma cut loose with a crushing 40-0 victory over Notre Dame and regained the lead. Last week the writers and broadcasters gave Tennessee a bare two-point edge over the Sooners. The result was a 67-14 rout of hapless Missouri.

* * *

The size of that score apparently was enough to remind the experts of Oklahoma's strength, for they put the Sooners back in front today with a 132 point margin over Tennessee's Volunteers. It wasn't because anything happened to the Vols, either. They came through last Saturday with their eighth straight victory — 27-7 over defensively strong Mississippi.

* * *

The balloting of 198 writers and broadcasters gave Oklahoma 111 first place votes and 1,794 points while Tennessee drew 69 firsts and 1,662 points. The point scoring was on the basis of ten for each first place vote, nine for second, etc., down to one for tenth.

* * *

Iowa, knocking off Ohio State 6-0 in its big game and clinching the Rose Bowl invitation, moved into third place in another keen battle of ballots as the whole top ten lineup shifted around. Iowa drew 1,287 points, Texas A&M 1,271 and Georgia Tech 1,223.

* * *

Iowa was ranked seventh a week ago, the Texas Aggies fifth and Georgia Tech fourth.

Michigan State, rated third last week, barely held 10th place after a 14-13 loss to Minnesota, which moved up from the second ten into seventh place. Miami of Florida advanced from eighth to sixth after knocking Clemson out of the unbeaten ranks and Syracuse moved up from ninth to eighth on its rout of Colgate. Michigan also went up a notch to ninth while State dropped out of the top bracket.

* * *

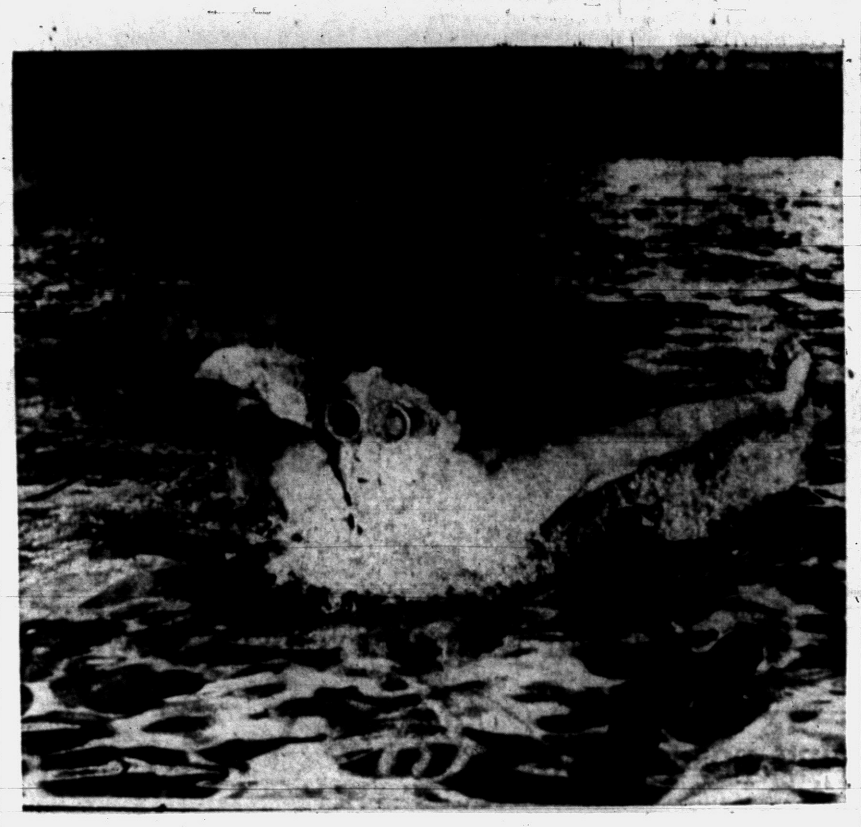

Rose Bowl bound Oregon State again barely missed a first ten rating.

* * *

Two more weeks of action are left for both Oklahoma and Tennessee before the final ratings are determined. Iowa winds up Saturday against Notre Dame. Only Syracuse of the first ten has finished its season

Strong Array of Football Talent Confronts Maples

By BILL CORNWELL

The Birmingham Maples will be forced to contend with a formidable array of football talent Thursday at Birmingham when they meet Royal Oak in the 43rd renewal of their traditional rivalry.

Royal Oak, boasting two hard-running halfbacks and a fast, aggressive line, has been installed as the favorite for what will probably be the final game in the ancient Thanksgiving Day series.

Coach Jim Manilla, one of Oakland County's shrewdest football tacticians, reports that his Royal Oak squad is physically as sound as it has been at any time this year. Injured center Bill Knotts will be the only Acorn gridder out of action.

Birmingham's greatest task will be the thwarting of a strong Acorn ground attack built around a trio of fast-stepping backs and quarterback Gary Pitcher, a clever field general.

Leading Royal Oak's band of runners are two elusive halfbacks, John Sekeres and Jerry Snider.

Sekeres is the team's leading scorer with seven touchdowns. He has averaged 4.8 yards per carry this season. Snider, who has accounted for five touchdowns, is averaging 6.8 yards per try.

Frank Sturgell adds another constant touchdown threat to the Acorn backfield and Pitcher provides the aerial fireworks with end Hewitt Hornbeck his favorite target.

Spearheading the forward wall are Lee Burnett, Don Rossoll and Bob Walsh.

Burnett, at 5-8 and only 140 pounds, is the smallest tackle in Class A football. But Burnett has a way of getting into the opposition's backfield with amazing speed and he did so repeatedly when the Acorns dumped Pontiac, 19-0.

Rossoll is a hard-charging tackle of great skill and Walsh is one of the best linebackers in the area.

Record Scores Are Turned In at Huron Bowl

Record scores were bowled in the Huron House League recently when the 300 Lounge team defeated Osmun's in a position round match for 1st place at the Huron Bowl.

The 300 Lounge squad rolled games of 1124 - 1032 - 1041—3197. Osmun's keglers totaled 1036-1062 - 1022—3120.

Outstanding individual scores were turned in by Don Martell of the Lounge team (686), Les Rothbarth of Osmun's (681), and Joe Puertas of Lounge (678).

Eighteen 200 games were bowled and seven 600 series were posted.

Ceresino Joins Soo

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — Ray Ceresino, much-traveled former National Hockey League player with Toronto Maple Leafs, yesterday was signed by the Sault (Mich.) Indians of the Northern Ontario Hockey Assn.'s Senior A southern group.

The 27-year-old left winger from Port Arthur was with the Leafs briefly in the 1948-49 season. He played professionally for Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Providence in the American League, Montreal Royals in the Quebec League, Seattle in the Pacific Coast League, and last season was with Victoria in the Western League.

'Y' Swimmers Open Sessions

The Pontiac YMCA swimming teams open practice sessions for the coming season Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 p.m. when all candidates report to new coach Arthur Mann.

* * *

The local "Y" will compete with teams throughout this area in both Prep and Junior classes. Meets have already been carded with tank teams at Saginaw, Bay City, Highland Park and Owosso.

* * *

Last year's Prep contingent, a unit for boys 12 and under, finished the season as state co-champions with Highland Park North. The Junior swimmers are 13 and 14 years old.

Practice workouts will be held each Monday and Wednesday afternoon at the "Y" pool in preparation for the inter-city meets. Mann will coach both teams.

* * *

Three-I President Hal Totten said the league would operate with six or possibly eight clubs.

Eyes NCAA Crown

Kennedy Paces Spartan IC4A Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Scottish-born Henry Kennedy is looking ahead to the NCAA cross-country championships next Monday at East Lansing, Mich., after leading his Michigan State teammates to a clean sweep of varsity titles in the IC4A competition.

Kennedy, covering the five-mile course at Van Cortlandt Park in record time, ran away with the individual championship yesterday.

* * *

It was Michigan State's ninth team title since the IC4A originated its cross-country event in 1908 and the second straight year Kennedy, 24, had taken individual honors.

The NCAA represents one title the junior has missed. He finished second a year ago.

He clocked 24:01.8 yesterday, well under the old IC4A mark of 24:30.2 set by Charley Capozolli of Georgetown in 1952.

* * *

He was 200 yards in front of runner-up Lewis Stieglitz of Connecticut when he hit the tape. Vince Timon of Pittsburgh's defending team champions was third and Selwyn Jones of Michigan Statewas fourth. All were under Capozolli's old record.

* * *

In addition to Kennedy and Jones, the Spartans had three others in the first 15 to wind up with the low winning score of 34 points. St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, in second place, had 148 points. Penn State was third, Notre Dame fourth and Syracuse fifth. Pitt, hampered by loss of Arnie Sowell to the U.S. Olympic team in Melbourne, finished eighth with 230 points.

Fastest Man in 1 Race

MELBOURNE (AP) — Leamon King, 20, a tall, nice-looking lad, has a wide, good natured smile in answer to the most baffling problem bothering the American track and field coaching staff.

The California sprinter is conceded by just about everyone in the Olympic village to be the fastest man in the world — perhaps the fastest runner of all time.

* * *

But he's not running in the Olympic Games except as an inside leg on the U. S. 400-meter relay team. That's because he placed fourth in the American 100-meter tryouts and came here as the fourth man on the relay squad.

Yet the last five times out, Lemon has run away from the three American sprinters on the 100-meter team — Bobby Morrow, Ira Murchison and Thane Baker.

Leamon has equalled the world 100-meter mark of 10.1 and the 100-yard record of 9.3 several times recently.

Head Coach James Kelly said simply: "King is the fastest man in the world. I don't know how fast he can run. Maybe he can do 10 flat for 100-meters."

But Kelly explains that once the team was selected nothing could be done.

Redskins' Marshall Voices Satisfaction

WASHINGTON (AP)—Someone reminded George Preston Marshall that Ralph Felton, now on the Washington Redskins' injured reserve list, would be ineligible for championship game.

This chatter about a title engagement brought guffaws from the chief sachem of the Redskins.

"Here we have five games to play and he's talking about that," Marshall said. "I'm perfectly delighted with things as they stand now."

The following dates were allotted for downstate tracks:

Fairmount Park — July 20-Oct. 12 — no Monday's except Labor Day; Cahokia Downs — April 27-July 19.

Phillies Trade Ennis for Repulski, Morgan

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — Del Ennis, the home run king of the original "Whiz Kids," was traded by the Phillies today to the St. Louis Cardinals for slugging Rip Repulski and infielder Bobby Morgan.

Ennis, an 11-year veteran who spent his entire career with the Phillies, holds the team's home run record for righthanders with a total of 259, and his season mark of 31 round trippers set in the pennant year of 1950 stood until teammate Stan Lopata bashed 32 this year.

Wings Production Line Tightens Race in NHL

MONTREAL (AP) — A 21-point performance by Detroit's mass production line of Gordie Howe, Ted Lindsay and Norm Ullman last week has caused a general tightening of the National Hockey League's scoring race.

Lindsay, the scrappy little veteran who usually spends as much time in the penalty box as on the ice, scored six points on three goals and three assists to pull into a tie with Jean Beliveau of Montreal for first place with 22 points.

* * *

Ted has 10 goals and 12 assists while Beliveau, scoring five points during the week, has accumulated his total on eight goals and 14 assists.

Howe, the Red Wings' big gun in the seven-day period with four goals and four assists according to statistics released today, shot up from fifth place to third with 21 points. Maurice (The Rocket) Richard of Montreal is next with 17 followed by Ullman with 16. Ullman contributed two goals and five assists last week.

* * *

The ailing Montreal goalie, Jacques Plante, remains the leader in fewest goals permitted with a 1.50 average for the 10 games he has been able to play. Terry Sawchuk of the suprising Boston Bruins has the next best mark, 2.23 for 17 games.

Javelin Champ Twists Ankle at Melbourne

MELBOURNE (AP) — Cy Young of the United States, 1952 Olympic javelin champion, favored a slightly twisted ankle today after getting off a good throw of 261 feet 3 inches.

* * *

Other Americans not in perfect shape included Max Truex, 5,000 meter man who has a bad back, Jim Lea, 400-meter runner with a bad achilles tendon, Ira Murchison, 100-meter sprinter with a slight cold, Josh Culbreath, 400-meters hurdles, with a cold.

Black Labrador Named Winner

Massie's Sassy Boots Champion of National Retriever Trials

WELDON SPRING, Mo. (AP) — Massie's Sassy Boots, the nation's top point winner among duck and pheasant retrievers in competition the past three years, is the new National Retriever Trials champion.

* * *

The black Labrador owned by William T. Cline of Chicago made no significant mistakes in four days of rugged land and water tests.

* * *

His trainer the past three years, Roy J. Gonia of McKenna, Wash., said yesterday the 8½-year-old male is "a terrific water dog who had a burning desire to hunt."

Six survivors of a starting field of 45 dogs entered the 10th and final test at nearby Busch Memorial Wildlife area some 30 miles northwest of St. Louis.

They sought out freshly shot birds placed on the opposite side of a lake 175 yards wide. Massie's Sassy Boots looked back for a signal only once.

IOC Rebuffs Prexy Brundage

MELBOURNE (AP) — The International Olympic Committee on the eve of the opening of the 1956 games rebuffed its president, Avery Brundage, and voted down his proposal to include in the oath a promise by athletes that they intend to remain amateurs.

* * *

The action at the secret meeting in Melbourne Town Hall was disclosed by committee members who declined use of their names. It affirmed a previous decision of the executive committee. Brundage, a champion of amateurism in its purest form frowns on athletes who capitalize on their Olympic fame by turning professional.

Workmen are still toiling frantically to get the Melbourne Cricket Grounds in shape for the opening ceremonies Thursday. Painting remains to be done and much debris must be cleaned out.

* * *

The best piece of news from the viewpoint of spectators and athletes alike was a weather bureau forecast that Thursday would be warm and sunny. Up to now it has been cold and rainy.

* * *

The controversy over the Olympic oath has been boiling all year. For a time it appeared many American athletes might refuse to participate because they could not sign the pledge with a clear conscience. As originally promulgated the oath required athletes to state "on my honor I am an amateur and I intend to remain an amateur."

* * *

In other action the committee censured the seven nations that withdrew from these games for political reasons.

For the first time in Olympic history a public effort was made to discourage the keeping of national point totals. On the great signboard on which the names of winners will be flashed is this notice: "Classification of points on a national basis is not recommended."

Despite this there is a public demand for tabulating unofficial points and interest is sharp in the sports battle of the two great athletic powers, the United States and Russia. At the 1952 games in Helsinki, America won by a narrow margin.

The United States is expected to dominate men's track and field, win the basketball championship, and score well in swimming, weightlifting, boxing, and rowing. Russia should win its first gold medal or two in men's track, clean up in women's track, dominate gymnastics, and show well in weightlifting, wrestling, rowing, shooting, and some of the lesser known events.

First of a Series

Boros vs. Oliver on TV

PHOENIX, Ariz. — With five movie cameras poised to record every swing, Julius Boros, former U. S. Open champ, tees off today against Ed (Porky) Oliver in the first of a series of golf matches for television.

* * *

For gallery fans who like to study their favorites at leisure, the 14 matches should be a bonanza. Each 18 holes is expected to take from 8 to 10 hours as the camera crews get in place for the best angles.

The matches will run through Dec. 6, first at Phoenix and then at Tucson. The winner of each match gets $2,000 and goes on to the next opponent. The loser receives $1,000 and is eliminated.

After the Oliver-Boros match, these golfers come up in the links-lens marathon:

Mike Souchak, Fred Hawkins, Ed Furgol, Cary Middlecoff, Jackie Burke Jr., Dutch Harrison, Jimmy Demaret, Arnold Palmer, Lloyd Mangrum, Gene Sarazen, Gene Littler and Sammy Snead.

Many-Loser Kansas State in Spartan Cleanup Spot

EAST LANSING (AP)—Kansas State, a team that has shown a spirit of improvement in its last two games after a slow start, will appear in the cleanup spot on the Michigan State football schedule here Saturday.

The Kansans started off by losing six of their 1st seven, including a 66-0 creaming by Oklahoma. The one early victory was by a 10-7 margin over Nebraska.

Marquette, which has dropped all 10 games this season, lost to Kansas State 41-14 two weeks ago. Last week, Kansas State whipped Iowa State 32-6 for a 3-6 record going into the finale with the Spartans.

* * *

Michigan State will try to ease some of the smart from its 14-13 edging by Minnesota by winding up with a 7-2 season record. The only other MSU defeat was a 20-13 upset by Illinois.

5 Teams Indicate Entry in 'Y' Loop

Ten men representing five teams attended the Intramural Basketball League meeting last night at the YMCA. The teams represented were Seaman's, YMCA, GM Tech, Rochester and IRZ.

There is still room for one more team in this league. The deadline date for team registration is Dec. 1 and league play will start in the 'Y' gymnasium on Dec. 3.

Information may be obtained by calling 'Y' physical director Art Mann at the YMCA, FE 5-6116.

'M' Has Plenty Incentive

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Incentive isn't lacking for Michigan's Wolverines in their season's finale wtih Ohio State, on Saturday.

Michigan bears an everlasting grudge against the Buckeyes—for a welter of reasons.

The latest is the product of a weird twist of fate as Michigan, in a rare moment, was rooting for Ohio State to beat Iowa. But the Buckeyes didn't and that, combined with Michigan State's loss to Minnesota, nipped the Wolverines' bowl chances.

They aim to repay the Bucks for such a grevious mistake.

Then too, Ohio State defeated Michigan the past two seasons and each tilt had the Rose Bowl trip as its prize.

There's also a feeling at Ann Arbor that Michigan was judged wrongly for its part in last year's clash that developed into a brawl. Charges were hurled back and forth between here and Columbus with the Buckeyes claiming Michigan players were guilty of slugging. And the Wolverines issuing denials.

Michigan will seek to vent its revenge upon an Ohio State team that still can share the Big Ten championship with Iowa. But the Wolverines' task will be difficult, according to Matt Patanelli, who scouted Ohio in its last three games.

Cards Sign Pitcher

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Righthanded reliefer Larry Jackson, 25, who won two games and saved 13 others in 51 appearances for the St. Louis Cardinals last season, is the fourth member of the club to sign for 1957, Frank Lane, general manager, said last night. Jackson's contract was received in the mail from his home at Boise, Idaho.

U.S. Squad Favored

MELBOURNE (AP) — There is a rampaging bull marker on American stock in the Olympic Games.

The Yanks, once considered dead in minor events, now are favored to win most of the gold medals in major sports and to take enough of the winnings in the little events to top the Russians in unofficial points.

* * *

Even the Russians admit that Americans are certain to win between 12 and 15 gold medals in men's track and field. Russia could win one or two but hardly any more. Britain has good chances for two and Japan and Norway one each.

* * *

In women's track and field, the Russians should take up to four. Australia should dominate the sprints and Britain or Romania will fight it out in the high jump.

Swimming, probably the second most important Olympic sport, is expected to be dominated by the Australians, Japanese and Americans, both men and women. Russia does not rate the slightest tumble.

* * *

Hungary, torn by revolution, is not considered much of a contender for swimming honors although the team is the best in Europe.

* * *

The basketball title should go to America again. Russia and Uruguay are contenders although the Soviet team has not shown up as well as expected. Ball handling is poor and the Russians lack team speed.

A four-cornered fight is building up in boxing. The Poles, Americans, South Africans and Argentines appear to be the leading boxers. Russia's punchers, like their basketball players, have not shown up as well as expected.

The Americans rate tops in the eight-oar crew with heavy competition from Czechoslovakia and France's army eight. Russia's crew was off form throughout the summer season. Americans also have strong chances in the fours without coxswain and pairs with and without.

Russia appears best in the scull and double scull by wide margins with Germany and Finland contenders.

* * *

In weightlifting it should again be Russia and the United States with the others on the sidelines. America is best in the heavier divisions and Russia with the small men.

Not too much is known about the shooting — marksmanship — abilities of various nationals but America and Russia again are known to be unusually strong.

In catch-as-catch-can wrestling it should be the Turks and Russians. In Greco-Roman wrestling the Russians, Italians and Argentines figure high.

* * *

India again should win the field hockey championship. Russia, with a state subsidized team which usually defeats pro teams, should take the soccer championship after a long, hard tournament.

Yugoslavia and Russia are leaders in water polo. Usually Hungary also is good but the Hungarians are question marks because of the trouble at home.

* * *

Italy and France look best among the cyclists and fencers with the Hungarians again the unknowns of fencing.

There does not appear to be anyone close to the overall strength of the Russians in the elaborate modern penthalon event which calls for proficiency in swimming, running, riding, fencing and shooting. Hungary normally is second best with the Finns, Americans and Swedes also rating high.

In Helsinki in 1952, the Russians piled up a mountain of points in gymnastics and almost overtook the Americans in the unofficial scoring system of awarding 10 points for a victory, 5 for second and then on down 4-3-2-1 for other finishers.

Since then American gymnasts have been working harder than usual and the word around Olympic headquarters is the Russians won't have it all their own way this time.

New Rule for Batting Title

Total Trips to Plate Replaces Official Times at Bat

CHICAGO (AP) — Total appearances at the plate instead of official times at bat in the future will determine baseball batting championships.

* * *

A new rule under which a batting title will be determined on total appearances was adopted yesterday by baseball's playing rules committee.

The rule supercedes the old regulation requiring 400 official times at bat to qualify for a batting championship.

* * *

Had the new rule been in effect two years ago, Ted Williams of Boston, not Bob Avila of Cleveland, would have won the American League title.

Dupre on Bench

BALTIMORE (AP) — L. G. Dupre, Baltimore Colts' halfback, will miss next Sunday's game against the Los Angeles Rams here because of a sprained ankle suffered in the game with the Detroit Lions.

Copeman 3rd in Lifting Contest

Weightlifting ace Marvin "Bud" Copeman, of the Pontiac YMCA team, finished third in the 165 pound class of the Southeastern Michigan Weightlifting contest held Saturday night at the Northeastern YMCA in Detroit.

* * *

He ranked only five points behind runner-up Chuck Patterson, of the host Northeastern team, by posting an impressive 555 total score. The event was won by Michigan State's Ed Duda with a 640 total. Thirty lifters took part in the 165-pound division.

* * *

The Pontiac club will be host to the Junior Mr. Michigan Physique contest and the Junior Michigan A.A.U. Weightlifting contest to be held here Jan. 18. Bill McHattie will be chairman for the local events.

Wyoming Ace Named to West's All-Stars

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Officials of the East-West Shrine football game in San Francisco have invited tailback Jim Crawford of Wyoming's undefeated, untied team to play with the West all-stars.

Crawford will play in the San Francisco game if Wyoming does not receive a post-season bowl bid.

Hart Candidate for Rookie Tag

NEW YORK (AP) — Garnett (Sugar) Hart, 21, isn't quite a new Sugar Ray Robinson at this stage of his career but the Philadelphia welterweight is a strong candidate for "rookie of the year" honors.

Even his latest victim, Hector Constance of Trinidad, had to admit "he's a good boy" after he was stopped for the first time in his 44-bout career last night at St. Nicholas Arena. However, Constance and his handlers, said Referee Ray Miller was more responsible for the technical knockout in 1:49 of the 10th than Hart.

ACC's Orange Bowl Entry Left to League to Decide

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — The Orange Bowl committee has flipped to the Atlantic Coast Conference the hot potato of which ACC team will play in the bowl on New Year's Day. But the conference says it will keep a tight hold on the potato until the season ends Dec. 1.

* * *

Van C. Kussrow, chairman of the Orange Bowl committee, announced at Miami, Fla., last night the committee's "feeling right now is to let the ACC decide." He added his group probably would waive making its customary nomination.

* * *

Meanwhile C. P. Erickson of the University of North Carolina, chairman of the ACC bowl committee, said the selection of a team had not been discussed and "no action will be taken until the season is completed" Dec. 1.

Front-runners in the ACC are Clemson, which plays its final conference game with Virginia Saturday and closes the season Dec. 1 with Furman; Duke, which closes out with North Carolina this week, and South Carolina, which play its final game Thanksgiving Day with Wake Forest.

Colorado has already been selected to represent the Big Seven Conference in the bowl.

Effigy Works in Reverse for TCU Football Coach

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — For coaches who may be looking fearfully for effigies: It isn't always so bad.

One may have won a football game and put a team back on the trial to its fondest dream.

At least Joe Williams, captain of Texas Christian University's team, says when somebody hung an effigy to the coach, Abe Martin, "It made us angry. We knew it wasn't his fault because we lost those games. It may have had something to do with our beating Texas Saturday."

Texas Christian had come from the depths of despair to smash Texas 46-0.

This was the TCU team that was one of the heaviest favorites in Southwest Conference history when the season started.

It lost to Texas A&M 7-6. The Horned Frogs were beaten 14-0 by Miami, barely managed to edge Baylor, then were humiliated 21-7 by Texas Tech, an outfit that had lost to A&M 40-7 and to Baylor 27-0.

It was the night of Tech game the effigy was strung up near the campus.

Now Texas Christian is on the trail to the Cotton Bowl. If it beats Rice Saturday and Southern Methodist loses to Baylor it will be in the Jan. 1 game. If SMU should beat Baylor then TCU would have to defeat Southern Methodist to get into the bowl.

Martin had a wisecrack to relieve the tension. "The effigy didn't even look like me," he said. "I'm much more handsome than that."

Humez Beats Tiger Jones

PARIS (AP) — France's middleweight hope, Charles Humez, breathing and bleeding hard after beating American Ralph (Tiger) Jones last night, looked into the future and claimed he saw a championship crown.

* * *

The rangy Frenchman, loosely listed as 29 in hometown record books, said in his dressing room:

"First, I want to fight Pat McAteer — the British Empire titleholder — either in London or here. Then I want another trip to New York to fight Sugar Robinson for the title — if he still has it after fighting Gene Fullmer".

* * *

Humez allowed as how he would handle McAteer in January and have plenty of free time after that for any arrangements Robinson might care to make.

Before January, Humez has got to heal a nasty cut over his left eye and a gash in his mouth that made the 10-round decision over Jones a technicolor production. Jones added to the color with a cut over his own left eye.

Deer Hunting Pace Moving Up

LANSING (AP)—The deer season got off to a fairly slow start in Michigan, at least compared with last year, but its pace is quickening, the state conservation department said today.

Highway department figures on deer and bear brought across the Mackinac Straits by hunters from the Lower Peninsula seemed to back up the department's appraisal.

Game workers, on the basis of random checks on hunting activity, reported that lower hunting pressure and bad weather during the opening two days of the season tended to hold down the kill.

However, improvement in weather conditions over the weekend brightened prsopects.

The highway department said that 1,236 deer were checked through the Straits up to midnight Sunday, compared with 1,450 in the corresponding period a year ago.

Figures on bear were reversed —22 this year as against 14 in the first few days of hunting in 1955.

In some areas, hunter luck was ahead of a year ago.

At the Rifle River area near Rose City, hunters bagged 35 bucks through Sunday, compared with 24 a year ago. Thus far, the Rifle River kill has exceeded the total season kill at the area for 1948, 1951 and 1952.

Through Sunday night, conservation department field workers checked some 1,350 anterless deer taken by special permit holders in area 2—a seven county territory centering around Baldwin—where a concurrent special season is in effect to take 3,000 antlerless deer.

Five hunters have been accidentally shot to death in Michigan since the deer season opened last Thursday.

A Newaygo County farmer, Lloyd Krise, was fatally wounded on his property last Friday in what State Police said was a deliberate slaying resulting from his attempt to drive a party of deer hunters from his land.

State Police Lt. Howard Whaley said James King, veteran bailiff in the Wayne County Common Pleas court, told him he shot Krise because the farmer pointed a shotgun at him and used abusive language. King refused to make a formal statement. He was held in the Newaygo County jail.

The Mining Gazette at Houghton complained that one landowner near there has locked a gate leading to a favorite hunting ground.

The newspaper said the landowner permitted entrance to hunters willing to purchase a key for $4.

Plan Campaign to Let You Know Education Value

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A two - year national advertising campaign costing 12 million dollars will begin next spring to educate people on the value of education, it was announced here last night.

Dr. Wilson M. Compton, president of the Council for Financial Aid to Education, Inc., New York, told the annual Presbyterian College Public Relations Conference about the plan.

He said a national advertising agency and the Advertising Council of America will hande the campaign through newspapers, magazines, radio and television.

The aim, Dr. Compton said, is to show the need for money "to raise and maintain the quality of education and not the physical plant."

Soon to Double-Deck Washington Bridge

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—The New Jersey Legislature — after two years of delay—has given the green light to the Port of New York Authority's plan to double-deck the George Washington bridge.

The Senate and Assembly suspended their rules last night to approve the authorization. The bill now goes to Gov. Robert B. Meyner.

The bill is identical to one approved by the New York State Legislature in 1954.

Oldsters Need State Finances

2-Day Public Hearing Supplies Michigan With Suggestions

LANSING (AP) — State government should loosen its purse strings to help Michigan's older citizens in their twilight years, a legislative citizens committee was told today.

In the first session of a two-day public hearing, the Legislative Advisory Council on problems of the aged heard seven witnesses testify oldsters need state aid in the field of housing and employment.

Witnesses came up with different solutions for the housing problem, but the most frequently mentioned was some sort of state-subsidized program.

One of Gov. Williams' campaign planks was a network of state-subsidized housing units in which oldsters can stay in their home neighborhoods.

Such a program is now under way in Massachusetts.

Prof. Myles Boylan of the Michigan State University Department of Architecture said there is no one answer to the housing problem because there are several groups of aged — the widows and widowers, the well-off, the poor and the sick.

He said the solution for some might be houses or duplexes built by private builders. For others, the state might have to help construct apartment buildings.

Boylan mentioned MSU's housing for married students as an example of what the state might do for some aged.

These units were built at a cost of $8,000 per family and rent for $60 to $70 a month, he said.

On the subject of employment, John B. Schlotter, United Mine Workers official, said the state could set up a register of persons over 65 who are willing to work.

Such a register would help employers find the job best suited for any individual over 65, he said.

While the state has a problem in caring for the aged now, it will certainly have a bigger one within the next few years, the committee was told.

Since 1936, the national population has increased 30 per cent, but there has been an 81 per cent increase in the 65-plus group, said C. A. Mattson of Flint, District Manager of the Social Security Administration.

Gas Station Robbers Sentenced to Jackson

The two reportedly escaped with $150 taken at gunpoint from attendatnt Harold Wearth.

Reds Say British Spy Defected to Them

BERLIN — East Germany's ruling Communists claimed today one of Great Britain's chief "spies" in Berlin has deserted to them.

The official East German news agency ADN identified the man as Harald Trautmann and said he brought "secret documents" on his activities.

A British spokesman labeled the Communist claims "ridiculous" and added, "We never heard of him."

ADN claimed that Trautmann's documents and statements proved Great Britain is not only spying on East Germany and other Soviet satellite countries, but also on Egyptians in Berlin.

Hollywood Headlines

David Niven Well Aware He's a Lucky Character

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ask any reporter who is the most delightful person to interview in Hollywood and the chances are he'll answer David Niven.

* * *

Year in and year out, Niven comes up with bright and amusing dialogue. This contrasts with some stars who always appear morose and distant.

How does Niven manage to remain gay and cheerful? I put the question to him. His reply:

"I guess it's the constant realization of what a lucky character I really am. I get paid very nicely for the kind of work I love. I get free trips all over the world. And I work with some of the nicest people I know—not just fellow actors, but the movie crews as well.

* * *

"This sort of realization doesn't come overnight. Before the war, I could have been a real worrier.

"But 6½ years in the war changed all that. When you're sitting in a trench with mortar shells flying all around you, some things seem pretty small. You realize how lucky you are just to get out of there alive."

* * *

If Niven seems even jollier than usual these days, it's not without reason. His career is bigger than ever. He's the lead in "Around the World in 80 Days," a great new hit. He just returned from abroad, where he made "The Little Hut" with Ava Gardner and Stewart Granger. And now he's with Dan Dailey and Ginger Rogers in "Oh Men, Oh Women."

City Resident Admits Nighttime Breakin

Reuther Accuses Russians of Murder

DETROIT (AP) — President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers has charged the Russians with shooting Hungarian coal miners in a deliberate campaign to erase opposition to Communism.

* * *

Reuther wired Henry Cabot Lodge Jr, Chief U. S. Delegate to the United Nations, urging the U.N. to protest the "brutality and inhumanity of the Soviet butchers."

Reuther said he had received reports that miners in the Tatabanya coal mining area of Hungary had been gunned down in what he called a "deadly campaign to murder not only inidividuals, but also kill a political and social and moral point of view."

* * *

Reuther said the U. N. should send observers to Hungary to help guard against such atrocities.

File Lawsuit Hitting Courthouse Plans

A suit charging the Board of Supervisors padded county budgets illegally to build their proposed new courthouse was filed today in Oakland County Circuit Court by the newly-formed Oakland County Taxpayers' League.

The suit seeks to block further county action on the new building, now in the final plan stage, and asks a court ruling ordering the county to return allegedly illegally gathered money from the building fund to the county general fund for legal uses.

Philip J. Henry of Holly, president of the league, said today the league was organized last Thursday at a noon session in the Waldron Hotel.

Henry said the league now has 82 members, who do not pay dues but may make contributions to its work. He said he expects the contributions to pay attorneys' fees in the court action.

The suit seeks to compel the county to reveal sources of its building funds in court.

Grains Erase Dip at Outset

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains rebounded after an early dip on the Board of Trade today. Dealings became active in all cereals following yesterday's slow trade.

At the outset there was some carryover selling from the previous session, when the market had closed with a distinctly weak tone. But this selling was not heavy and was easily absorbed.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ½ lower to ¼ higher, December $2.39, corn ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, December $1.37⅛, oats ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, December 78, rye unchanged to ½ higher, December $1.48¼, soybeans ¼ lower to ¾ higher, November $2.51¼, and lard 15 to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher, December $14.25.

Steels Make Up Early Losses

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels recouped small opening losses to go over on the upside as the stock market improved in moderately active early trading today.

Gains for the most part were fractions to 2 points with some issues going ahead as much as three points. Losses generally were held to fractions.

The surge for steel stocks stemmed, brokers said, from the tightening foreign situation and its resultant need for shipping and defense requirements.

Lukens Steel, an acrobatic performer in recent days, shot ahead 3 points. Also higher were Bethlehem by 2, U.S. Steel by ⅜, Republic by ¼ and Youngstown Sheet and Tube by ¼.

Motors firmed after a soft opening as a reflection of what traders said was a lower production rate than expected in the last quarter.

General Motors and Ford eased small fractions but Chrysler posted a gain of ⅜ wiping out a loss at the opening.

Rails moved to the upside in small gains. Higher were Southern Railway, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio. Fractionally lower were Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Pacific and Pennsylvania Railway.

Oils were mixed with Gulf ahead 1⅛. Slightly lower were Sinclair, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Texas and Royal Dutch.

Coppers were active and slightly higher. Fractional gains were posted by Anaconda, Kennecott and International Nickel. Alcoa slipped 1¼ while Phelps Dodge edged a fraction lower.

Sears Roebuck gave up ⅛ at 30⅜ on a block of 21,740 shares.

Aircrafts were narrowly mixed. Boeing went ahead a fraction while Douglas dipped slightly.

On Monday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed down $1.70 at $176.20.

Parents Warned About Diphtheria

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit Health Commissioner Dr. Joseph G. Molner, declaring diphtheria totals are four times the 1955 level, warned parents today against complacency on immunization.

The city has had 78 cases and four deaths this year as compared with 16 cases and one death last year.

Dr. Molner said:

"Although we still do not regard this as an epidemic, the situation is threatening. The current outbreakf of cases is so far confined to areas within the city where protection rates are lowest.

"However, the disease could spill over into other neighborhoods where the immunity of the children has not been adequately maintained."

The Health Commission also said that now is the time for first polio shots.

He said everyone from one to 30 should be protected by Salk vaccine before the polio season begins next year.

Crash Kills Father

PORT HURON (UP) — Russell E. Sperry, 50, of Port Huron, died Monday of injuries suffered in a two-car crash on U.S. 25 bypass near Port Huron Sunday night. Sperry's 8-year-old son, Eugene, was reported in poor condition and four others were injured less seriously.

John Tyler who became the 10th President, began the practice of law at the age of 19 and was elected to the Virginia state legislature when he was only 21 years old.

Public Attitude Varies Greatly

Fans Accept or Reject Racy Acts on Basis of Star's Personality

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Probably no element of the television industry is so roundly cursed, yet so poorly understood, by viewers as censorship.

* * *

The prevailing impression seems to be that the networks employ corps of blue-nosed, black-suited men who skulk behind doors waiting for something more mature than "The Mickey Mouse Club" to poke its head through so they can cleaver it into innocuousness.

Actually the censors are guided in their scissoring not by any mania for turning the nation into a group of puritanical adolescents nor by the outcries of the inevitable moral uplift leagues, but by three relatively simple considerations:

The accepted standards of good taste.

The reactions of the viewers themselves.

The sponsors' wishes.

* * *

The first is the toughest to deal with because it varies with the times and with the whims of the public and because what may be bad taste from one person in one situation, may be acceptable from another in another situation.

REPUTATION FACTOR

Groucho Marx, Bob Hope or Red Skelton, for example, can escape criticism for remarks which might bring a flood of protests to a comedian who had not established himself as a dealer in barbed or suggestive quips.

* * *

Elvis Presley's writhings on a Milton Berle show caused a storm of disapproval, but when he did very much the same thing on an Ed Sullivan show, the public was much less aroused, apparently because he had established his character, and it had been accepted.

Dinah Shore singing "Whatever Lola Wants Lola Gets" drew complaints from viewers, not because there was anything wrong with the song or because her interpretation was in any way off color, but simply because it was out of character for the sweet Miss Shore.

Sunday audiences are much more prone to register complaints about real or imaginary suggestiveness in shows than are weekday audiences, and the networks strive always to time "adult" shows so that they will come on after the children have gone, protesting, to their beds.

If a given word, situation or gesture actually belongs in a show, it is usually considered acceptable by the censors. But if it is offered solely for its sensationalism or shock value, it is unacceptable.

MORE TICKLISH

Although many apparently consider censorship and sex synonymous, the truth its that questions of race and minority groups offer the censors much more ticklish problems.

* * *

The one thing that cannot be controlled absolutely, of course, is the slip of the tongue, or something else, before the cameras. As long as actors are human, errors will crop up.

One of the most celebrated was Lloyd Bridges' burst of profanity in a tensely dramatic scene. Another was the well-known comedian who left a strategic zipper disastrously unzippered.

"But I think the public is becoming much more broadminded," says Bob Wood of NBC. "The audience seems to go along with the view, for example, that strong language can be acceptable, if there is a good reason for it.

* * *

"The question is the same as it is in all phases of our work—is it necessary?"

Recipients of Radar Include Willow Run

DETROIT (UP)—Willow Run Airport near Detroit and 22 other airfields throughout the nation are scheduled to receive long-range radar facilities under a nine million dollar contract awarded by the civil aeronautics administration to the Raytheon Manufacturing Co., Waltham, Mass.

The radar units can track jet planes 200 miles away up to an altitude of 70,000 feet. Deliveries are to begin next summer.

1,600 Miles to Discover Singer—and Hospitality

By EARL WILSON

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico—We flew down here 1,600 miles to discover an Argentinian singer named Anamorena. We could have discovered her in New York a few months ago about a mile from our apartment.

★ ★ ★

But through her we discovered Puerto Rico's hospitality. Fact is, we have a slight case of Puerto Rican hospitality this minute.

Bouncing off one of Captain Eddie Rickenbacker's big birds, which has zipped us down here in 5 hours 45 minutes, we were rushed to a government-operated bar, where free hospitality in daiquiri glasses was forced down our esophagi while we waited for our bags.

Tickets entitling us to more free hospitality served in cocoanuts were handed to us when we wafted into the Caribe-Hilton.

"Meet Senor Rodriguez," somebody said. Rodriguez is like Jones up home. Keeping up with the Rodriguezes can be gruelling.

"Puerto Ricans never do anything fast," el senor said. Dinner was around 10 or 11. Before dinner there was two hours of hospitality.

Then came shapely Anamorena, brunette and snapping-eyed.

"Everybody saze to me, 'Kitt, which part Brewkleen you from?'" she told the audience.

"I no from Brewkleen. I could speak much batter English, but my manager won't let me. No oxcent, no job!"

She's great. She'd sung recently in New York, in Dallas and Houston—and she has a husband, Ray Le Nobel, a Chicago furrier.

"Is he rich, I hope?" I asked innocently.

"No," she answered, "but he has lots of furs."

★ ★ ★

Puerto Rico's making a big bid for tourists and I'm an enthusiast already. Actress Martha Sleeper, who dropped in a few years ago, decided to stay. Puerto Rico has rock 'n' roll, pronounced "rockuhraw." El Senor Rodriguez gave a party and when we asked if we could bring 12 more people along he said, Sure, we'll just put a little more water in the soup." You have to enjoy people like that.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Jerry Lewis, making a deal to do George Jessel's life story, said, "I'll play your life but I'll be darned if I'll lead it!"

The Duke of Windsor is a backer of Walter Slezak's show, "First Gentleman," about King George IV . . . Leonard Hall's being urged to run for Governor against Harriman in '58; he'd rather be Postmaster General.

Ex-vaudevillian Henry Dunn (of Cross & Dunn) is a polio victim . . . The premiere of the Eddie Fisher-Debbie Reynolds film wil lbe held at Grossinger's Dec. 3 . . . H'wood duo: Francot Tone and Susan Hayward . . . French authoress Francoise Sagan long-distanced her boy friend in Paris for 20 minutes.

EARL'S PEARLS . . .

Hard to believe, but once you could enter a lunch room and for a quarter get two hamburgers, coffee and a pretty decent overcoat. —H. C. Diefenbach, Dayton.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: It's Sammy Kaye's definition of a B'way lush: "You've heard of Alcoholics Anonymous? He's alcoholic AND anonymous."

Bill Hayes heard of a very superstitious boxer—won't fight unless he has his favorite lucky horseshoe in his glove . . . That's earl, brother.

To Learn Responsibility

Youth Exiled to Farm

DETROIT (UP)—The 16-year-old son of a Grosse Pointe manufacturer, described as a "spoiled overgrown boy," has been exiled to a farm in hope the serene country life will curb his liking for dangerous pranks.

Juvenile Court Judge Nathan J. Kaufman yesterday ordered that the youngster live on the farm near Grayling until "you acquire a sense of responsibility."

His name was withheld by the court.

Listed as "the terror" of his fashionable neighborhood, the boy was brought before Judge Kaufman for throwing ether in the eyes of Francis LaGrossa, 16. He said he did it as a "joke."

An eye specialist treated La Grossa for several days but his sight suffered no permanent damage. LaGrossa's parents said they had forgiven their son's tormentor and asked Judge Kaufman not to punish him severely.

"I admire your forgiving spirit," the judge said, "but I must think of society, too."

The judge agreed to let the boy go to the farm owned by a friend of his father's.

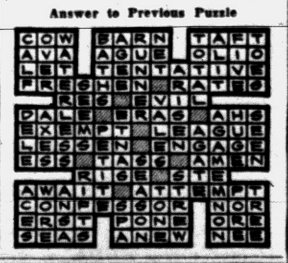

"You are a spoiled overgrown boy who thinks that no matter what you do no one will get hurt," Judge Kaufman told the boy. "Maybe the discipline of farm life will help you acquire a sense of responsibility."

Gets Probation Term for Store Breakin

Arthur Henry, 34, of 76½ Hess St., who pleaded guilty Nov. 13 to the breakin Oct. 13 of a Pontiac rocery store, was sentenced yesterday to two years' probation and payment of $100 court costs by Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

Henry reportedly took several bottles of whiskey from the store.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

MSU Coeds' Ailment Remains Unexplained

EAST LANSING (INS) — East Lansing Medical authorities today were still unable to explain the illness that hospitalized 31 Michigan State University coeds last weekend.

All but two of the girls were released from the hospital yesterday. However, two later were readmitted for further treatment.

The illness forced college authorities to postpone the sorority rushing season until the weekend of Dec. 1.

The coeds were admitted to the hospital Friday night after complaining of nausea and stomach pains.

Prof's Contempt Case May Be Ended Today

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UP) — The federal court trial of a Michigan educator charged with alleged contempt of Congress was expected to conclude today before Judge W. Wallace Kent.

The defense for Horace Chandler Davis, former University of Michigan mathematics instructor charged with a 26-count indictment, sought dismissal of the indictment. Judge Kent twice has denied a similar request.

Davis was indicted by a federal grand jury after he refused to answer 26 questions put to him by a subcommittee of the house un-American activities committee which met May 10, 1954, in Lansing.

The criminal trial, held without jury, opened yesterday.

It was recessed late in the day after defense attorney Philip A. Wittenberg of New York moved the court dismiss the indictment. Judge Kent postponed hearing Wittenberg's motion until today.

Swiss Standstill Pays Tribute to Fighters

GENEVA (UP)—Swiss stood at noon today in three minutes' silent homage to the freedom fighters of Hungary.

Throughout the country, traffic came to a standstill and pedestrians stood silently. Postoffices and other public offices closed. Radio stations interrupted their programs.

* * *

The demonstration originated with a committee of Roman Catholic and Protestant churchmen. Churches of all denominations throughout the country rang their bells for five minutes to launch the silent period.

* * *

A few drivers in Geneva and Zurich tried to ignore the standstill but did not get far. The roads were completely jammed.

The demonstration generally was ignored in the Palace of Nations. European headquarters of the United Nations. But Sir Guildhaume Myrddin-Evans of Britain, chairman of the International Labor Organization governing body, announced he would adjourn the group's meeting to permit those wishing to do so to observe the silence. Soviet Delegate Amasasp Arutiunian protested angrily, describing the adjournment as a "provocation." The Briton ignored him.

Delay Sentencing

The sentencing of Stephen L. Secora, 319 Orchard Lake Ave., who pleaded guilty to obstructing a city sidewalk with dirt, was put over today until Dec. 4 by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

Detroit Studying Port Expansion

$55 Million Program Would Ready Facilities for Seaway Opening

DETROIT (UP)—Plans for a 55 million dollar expansion program that would quadruple Detroit's port facilities are under consideration by the Port of Detroit Commission.

Carlis J. Stettin, director of the Port commission, told city and county officials yesterday the proposed facilities would provide space to handle 15 ships at a time.

Present privately-woned docks can handle only five ships, he said, and will be entirely inadequate to handle the rush of shipping expected with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway in 1949.

He proposed 5,600 feet of dock on Detroit's east side waterfront between the Belle Isle Bridge and Joseph Campau, and another 1,270 feet on the west side between Grand Boulevard and Clark.

Although built with public money, the port director said, the facilities would be leased to private operators once constructed.

To Develop Markets for Nuclear Systems

BALTIMORE (UP)—The Glenn L. Martin Co. has formed a subsidiary company to explore and develop world markets for nuclear-powered electrical generating systems.

The new company, entirely owned by the aircraft company, is called Martin International. George B. Shaw, vice president in charge of procurement for the parent firm, was named president of the subsidiary.

The company announced that preliminary discussions have been held with both private and government sources in the Dominican Republic, Cuba and Brazil.

Air-India International, leading airline, will buy three Boeing jet aircraft.

FLYING PLATFORM—A plaster pilot rides a model of the U. S. Army's latest "Flying Platform" aircraft. Similar in appearance to the original, unveiled last year, the new version has three engines instead of one. This gives added safety to the pilot, who controls the craft by leaning in the appropriate direction.

Willys jeeps soon will be assembled and distributed in Bogota, Colombia.

Push Research in Frigid Zones

Canada Studies Ways to Live and Work in Extreme Cold

OTTAWA (AP)—Development and defense of Canada's frigid North is being worked out by a group of Canadian scientists tackling problems created by subzero temperatures.

Their work ranges from the development of civilian and military equipment able to operate in arctic and subarctic regions to the design of buildings and clothing necessary to enable men to live and work in extremely low temperatures.

* * *

Most of the research is centered in three divisions here of the National Research Council—mechanical engineering, biology and building research. Experiments already have solved many problems.

One recent development is a special oil which can be used to lubricate machinery at temperatures as low as 65 degrees below zero.

The biology division is conducting an extensive research program to find a method to permit commercial production of frozen concentrated milk to be marketed like frozen soups.

This division has also discovered why some frozen turkeys and other fowl are so tough. Extensive tests show that the meat of fowl will be tender only if the bird is not frozen until it has been dead 24 hours.

The mechanical engineering division operates two cold rooms in which the temperature can be dropped to 70 degrees below zero. Work now is in progress on methods to enable ground radar installations in the arctic to shed ice. Experiments are also being made on de-icing equipment for aircraft and helicopters and to prevent jet engines from accumulating ice.

Land vehicles are being tested to see how they act under arctic conditions. This includes the development of new brake fluids, greases and fuel systems.

Railing Kits Offered

WASHINGTON, Iowa — An iron hand-railing kit in do-it-yourself form is now being made by a Washington firm. The rails are prepackaged in lengths of 3 feet, 3½ feet, and 4 feet. Installation requires only bolting together and painting. The installation is said to cost 40 to 50 per cent less than a custom job.

Home Electrician Calls Hi-Fi . . . High Finance

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — Ken Slater can let his hi-fi set blast away now at its ear-shattering best. He's got the house shored up with concrete to withstand the vibration.

Slater, who lives at nearby Hulbert, has been adding to and improving his high fidelity radio-phonograph over a period of months.

He recently installed an eight-foot speaker between the basement floor joists and cut a hole in the living room floor so the bass notes could come up unhindered.

When he turned it on—boom! boom!—floors throughout the house began to vibrate. Dishes clattered in the cupboards and pictures fell off the walls.

I could use two 30-watt amplifiers entire house had to be shored up," Slater said. "I had concrete pillars installed beneath the floor joists so it could take the strain.

"But it worked out fine—I found I could use two 30-watte amplifiers and a separate pre-amplifier to service the system and a variable audio-crossover

"Come to think of it, hi-fi might as well mean high finance by the time I get through."

Deer Hunters Rush to Catch Late Fish

NEWBERRY (AP) — Deer hunters are rushing to buy fishing licenses.

The rush got under way in the Upper Peninsula after a big late season run of perch was reported at the mouth of the Tahquamenon River.

At the same time, rainbow trout were reported plentiful in the Two Hearted River in northern Luce County. This is one of the trout streams now open to fishing.

City Gets Teachers' Program

Michigan State University opens its seventh resident center for student teachers in Pontiac beginning with winter term the first week in January.

To open the program in Pontiac, 26 student teachers from MSU will come to the city for 11 weeks to get their final teaching practice before they become full-fledged teachers in a school system.

Heading the program locally is Dr. Ted Ward of Oneida road, who is associated with the Michigan State Department of Education and works with the local Board of Education.

He works with the board in setting up the center, finding housing for the students, arranging cooperative teachers from the schools to aid the novices and choosing the schools where the students will teach.

* * *

Four elementary and four secondary schools in Pontiac will be recipients of the first batch of student teachers.

To inaugurate their session in Pontiac, the 26 will come to Pontiac for an Introduction Day Dec. 3. They will meet local school administrators at 10 a.m. at Madison Junior High School, and then principals of the schools where they will be stationed will take them back to the schools to get acquainted.

"The program is planned to benefit both the students who will learn teaching in an actual community situation," Dr. Ward said, "and the local school system which will be able to judge the quality of a teacher with an eye toward future employment.

"We are very pleased with the cooperation and enthusiasm of the local teachers. Over one-third of the teachers have volunteered in a cooperating capacity to aid and supervise the practice teachers," Dr. Ward continued.

The students will spend four of every five-day weeks assigned to the cooperating teacher in the classroom assisting the teacher and taking charge of certain activities and courses.

The fifth day of the week, Friday, will be spent with the other student teachers in a job seminar. The group will meet with Dr. Ward and various consultants from the county, city and campus.

STUDY WORK PROGRAM

During the 11 weeks they are here, the 26 will also do community study work to become acquainted with the community thus obtaining a better perspective of its school system," Dr. Ward added.

"Michigan State University pioneered this resident center movement," Dr. Ward explained, "believing it an improvement over the scattering of small groups to various cities in the state. This puts them out in approximate groups of 25 to a center per term and gives a chance for these teacher education graduates to have better experience in a working teacher situation.

"The situation is not at all unlike the first teaching situation the new teachers will run across," he said.

Other resident centers in the state are located in Grand Rapids, Battle Creek, St. Joseph-Benton Harbor, Niles-Dowagiac-Buchanan, and Birmingham.

The King David Hotel in Jerusalem, Israel, reports that it is adding a bar, grill, barber and beauty shop.
