GM Believed Preparing New Offer for UAW

52,000 Workers Now Idle

Wildcat Strikes Make Production Cuts at Ford, General Motors Plants in U.S.

DETROIT (AP)—Wildcat walkouts cut deeply into production today at both the Ford Motor Co., which has settled with the CIO United Auto Workers, and at General Motors Corp., which has not.

The situation changed from hour to hour, but a late count showed more than 52,000 idle at the far-flung plants of the auto industry's two biggest producers at some time during the past few hours.

Ford settled with the UAW Monday on a history - making three-year contract giving Ford's 140,000 employes a modified guaranteed wage plan. General Motors was to resume negotiations today with the UAW and was reported readying a fresh offer.

GM said a midmorning check listed 38,894 idle at 12 plants. Ford said 13,250 were off the job in four plants.

The GM troubles were attributed to a combination of anxiety over getting a new contract and local issues.

Similar local issues and dissatisfaction with the newly reached Ford contract were held responsible for the Ford walkouts.

Ford's giant Rouge plant in suburban Dearborn sputtered along with only a fraction of normal efficiency. Some 8,000 of the regular 25,000 day shift workers either had refused to report for work or had been sent home.

Leading the stoppage there were tool and die workers dissatisfied over the Ford-UAW contract settlement. Skilled workers, with steady employment and making only $2.50 an hour compared with the average $2.10, said they were more interested in wage boosts.

They got 8 to 18-cent increases under the contract in addition to guaranteed annual "improvement" raises of six cents.

The Detroit Times said today that top officials of UAW Ford Local 600 at the Rouge plant have appealed to the company to give the skilled workers an additional five cents an hour.

The Ford walkout spread today from Dearborn to the Mercury assembly plant in nearby Wayne. About 2,300 employes were idle there.

Also idle were nearly 3,000 employes at two Ford installations at Kansas City. Production was resumed at Ford's Buffalo, St. Louis and Monroe, Mich., plants, scenes of earlier walkouts.

The biggest concentration of idle GM workers was in the Cleveland area. About 15,000 of the company's total of 20,000 there were affected.

GM's Chevrolet plant at Parma, Ohio, was closed yesterday. Today the walkouts spread to the Fisher Body Coit Road plant and its station wagon plant at nearby Euclid. The Fisher workers started going back a short time later.

Two Cleveland area Ford plants had hardly returned to production when the GM stoppages hit.

Wildcat strikers at the Fisher plant in Cincinnati were ordered back to work today or face dismissal. That walkout forced the

2 More Firms Get USW Plan

Wage Increase Demand Carried to Bethlehem, Republic Steel Makers

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers Union carried its demands for a sizeable wage increase to two more of the nation's largest basic steel producers today.

Union President David J. McDonald continued in personal charge of negotiations as the USW brought its wage requests before officials of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and the Republic Steel Corp.

Bethlehem and Republic are the nation's second and third largest steel makers respectively.

The demands being made of them are the same as those McDonald presented yesterday in the opening of steel wage talks with U. S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest producer. Sessions with others of the "big six," who employe about two-thirds of the 600,000 basic steel-workers, are slated for tomorrow and Friday.

McDonald hasn't announced the USW demands but observers say they amount to approximately 25 cents an hour more than present average earnings of $2.33 an hour. The negotiations are limited, under a reopening clause in a two-year contract signed last June, to wage rates only. That bars demands for a guaranteed annual wage.

The same observers predict that the final settlement with the robust steel industry will be for about 12½ cents more an hour.

The union will be free to strike June 30 if an agreement is not reached by then.

Area Authorities Join in Search for Detroit Girl

Oakland County authorities and Pontiac Police this morning joined in a search for a "tiny" Girl Scout, who is apparently lost somewhere between Detroit and Pontiac.

According to Detroit Police, who requested Pontiac and Oakland law officers to join in the search, the girl, Dorothy Jean Kaufman, was trying to earn her Girl Scout merit badge by walking from Detroit to Pontiac.

The little 12-year-old scout was last seen late Tuesday by a brother and sister.

The child's mother notified police early yesterday after her daughter had failed to come home last night. Mrs. Kaufman said she called her daughter's school, and officials there reported the seventh-grader had not attended classes all day Tuesday.

The girl is described as "tiny for her age" about 4-feet 10-inches, 80 pounds and has dark brown hair and eyes.

Public Housing Measure Gets Senate Approval

Democrat Bill to Cost Four Times What Ike Asked Originally

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic move toward construction of public housing at a rate almost four times as great as that President Eisenhower recommended topped its first big hurdle yesterday.

As part of an omnibus bill to continue federal housing programs for another year, the Senate voted to authorize 135,000 low-rent public housing units in each of the next four years. Eisenhower had asked authority for 35,000 units for each of the next two years. That is the number authorized this year.

The federal government does not build public housing projects. It guarantees to meet the difference between the low rents charged tenants and the cost of paying off mortgages and upkeep. Actual construction money is raised by bonds issued by local housing authorities.

The 540,000-unit program still has an obstacle-studded path ahead. The GOP fight for the smaller administration figure will undoubtedly be resumed in the House. And the actual funds will be voted in a separate appropriations bill. In the past, the appropriations committees have frequently recommended funds for far fewer units than are authorized.

The Senate housing bill, passed 60-25, provides also for four billion dollars in additional authority for the insurance of private home mortgages by the Federal Housing Administration. The present ceiling of $2,500 on home improvement loans would be raised to $3,000.

Other provisions include:

1. Nearly 1½ billion dollars in FHA insurance authority to launch a military housing program, the units to be owned and operated by the armed services for lease to some 100,000 married servicemen.

2. A new public housing program of 10,000 units a year for elderly persons.

3. A 200-million-dollar direct-loan to ease a shortage of housing for college students. Colleges could borrow if private financing was unavailable.

4. A 25-million-dollar loan insurance program by the Farmers Home Administration and 100 million dollars in new money for direct loans for farm housing.

5. A 50 - million - dollar smoke abatement program.

How Michigan Voted

Union Confident of Getting Pact Before Sunday

Settlement Expected to Include Benefits Given to Ford Workers

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. today was believed readying a fresh offer for the CIO United Auto Workers aimed at reaching a contract settlement before a new Sunday midnight strike deadline.

Nobody at GM would say so but UAW officials said they fully anticipated a new offer.

The union leaders said they never would have granted a five-day contract extension from midnight last night to midnight Sunday unless they felt GM was ready to do business along the lines of the recent Ford Motor Co. agreement including a guaranteed wage plan. GM requested the extension.

With the GM bargaining talks scheduled to resume at midday, both GM and Ford were plagued with a series of scattered wildcat strikes in plants across the nation.

There was little doubt in Detroit that GM faced the alternative on one hand of coming up with a guaranteed wage plan like that at Ford, or some other type of system to provide workers continued income while unemployed, and on the other with a certain strike.

RAISES EXPECTED

Any GM settlement also was expected to include wage increases, pension plan boosts, and holiday and vacation improvements similar to those agreed upon by Ford. The UAW also expected to insist upon a contract running not longer than three years as at Ford.

UAW officials were openly optimistic that they would win a satisfactory GM agreement before the Sunday night strike deadline.

John W. Livingston, UAW vice president in charge of the union's GM Department, said:

"There is every indication at this point in negotiations that, given sufficient time for further bargaining, a peaceful settlement of the contract with General Motors that is just and honorable can be achieved."

There was speculation that GM might come up with a plan providing continued income for unemployed workers varying considerably from that negotiated with Ford.

The Ford plan calls for a 55-million-dollar fund to pay idled workers 60 to 65 per cent of normal income, including state unemployment compensation benefits.

Longshoremen Postpone Strike

Schedule Talks Today on New Contract for Three Unions

DETROIT (AP) — Three AFL longshoremen's unions try again today to reach a settlement with the Great Lakes Dredgemen's Assn. in a contract dispute that could tie up almost all shipping on the lakes.

The three unions were scheduled to strike at 6 a.m. today. But yesterday at a meeting with the U. S. Conciliation and Mediation Service they agreed to another meeting today and moved back the strike deadline until tomorrow morning.

The unions involved are the Tugboat Firemen and Oilers, the Rock and Drillboat Employes and the Dredgemen's Protective Assn. Together, they have 500 to 600 members.

Five longshoremen's unions originally were involved in negotiations with the Great Lakes Dredgemen's Assn. which represents some 60 companies. Two — the Tugmen's Protective Assn. and the Crane and Dredge Engineers — have accepted a package wage offer.

The companies have offered a package valued at 12½ cents an hour, including 9 cents in wages. Union demands have not been specified.

Parolee Questioned in Jeannie Murder

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A 25-year-old parolee was held for questioning today in the slaying of 8-year-old Jeannie Singleton May 23.

Police said they arrested the man yesterday after two teenage girls reported a man was trying to lure little girls into a car near a Kalamazoo school earlier in the day. The older girls identified the man as the one they had seen.

The school is about eight blocks away from the one Jeannie attended. Her body was found last week in a lonely wooded area in Allegan County, about 15 miles north of her home.

Though no records have been broken, the description of city terrain has changed from parched to drenched following the fall of .70 of an inch of rain since the first of the week.

Forecasters say "not much change in temperature" will accompany the showers. Tomorrow's expected high is 70 degrees.

Seeing Eye Dog Fund Provided in Will

A Bloomfield Township woman, who died May 18, has left a $1,000 fund to care for her "dog, cats, birds and other household pets" plus a trust fund to supply financially needy blind persons with leader dogs.

Mrs. Genevieve Skinner, 64, of 3518 Franklin Rd., died following an auto crash.

Her will, filed in Oakland County Probate Court, lists real estate and personal assets totaling $70,000.

The former insurance company representative left small cash sums plus valuable household articles to two great nieces and several friends.

The trust fund for purchasing "dogs for blind persons needing money" is to run for 20 years at the end of which leftover cash will be distributed to charity.

Solons Tackling Problem of Government Pay Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House committee takes up today the question of pay raises for rank-and-file government workers with some signs of new friction with the White House.

A compromise bill to hike the pay of 500,000 postal workers an average of 8 per cent retroactive to March 1 was sent to President Eisenhower yesterday, ending a long tussle in which he vetoed a somewhat larger boost.

The House Post Office and Civil Service Committee goes behind closed doors today to try to agree on the amount of the raise to be given the million-odd classified civil service employes.

The President originally asked for 5 per cent. But since his clash with Congress over postal pay hikes, he has been represented by some interested congressmen as willing to go as high as 7 per cent.

Even before Senate and House completed action on the postal bill, some demands were sounded for no less an increase than that accorded the postmen — a flat 8 per cent.

Other members of Congress, however, contend justice calls for a smaller boost for the civil service workers, since the basic postal increase is 6 per cent. The other portion of the average 8 per cent hike is accounted for by a major reclassification of pay schedules similar to requirements long in effect for civil service workers.

French to Talk With Molotov About Adenauer

PARIS (AP)—The French will have a chance to talk with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov tomorrow about the Russian invitation to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to visit Moscow.

Premier Edgar Faure and Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay are to be hosts at a luncheon to Molotov, who will stop here on his way to the United States to attend the United Nations commemorative session in San Francisco June 20-26.

And in London the British Foreign Office made it clear today Adenauer is barred by agreements with the Western powers from negotiating with Russia either to reunite Germany or to conclude a peace treaty.

Ike Sure That Adenauer Will Remain True to West

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he has the utmost confidence that West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer will stand by the Western world in any dealings with Soviet Russia.

Eisenhower volunteered the remark at his news conference in taking note of Moscow's bid for establishment of diplomatic and trade relations with the newly sovereign republic of Western Germany.

The Kremlin yesterday invited Adenauer to visit Moscow to discuss those matters.

Eisenhower said it is only natural that Russia would extend such an invitation, in view of what the President termed recent developments in Western Europe.

MANPOWER RESERVE—The President spoke out emphatically against adding antisegregation amendments to administration legislation to create a new military manpower reserve program.

Such an amendment was tacked onto the bill in the House and the action caused the measure to be sidetracked a few weeks ago.

Eisenhower said he is hopeful

Britain Pushing to End Walkout

Nation Now in Crisis Due to Short Supply From Rail Strike

LONDON (AP) — Efforts to end Britain's paralyzing railway strike moved into high gear today as the nation's booming industry approached a "crisis weekend" of short supplies.

Sir Brian Robertson, chairman of the British Transport Commission which runs the state-owned railways, agreed to meet leaders of the 67,000 striking locomotive engineers and firemen for the first time since the walkout began 11 days ago.

Other steps aimed at ending the costly strike on the basis of a compromise peace plan framed by the giant Trades Union Congress Executive, the top union authority, advanced rapidly.

Leaders of the TUC, with which nearly all British unions are affiliated, called on Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton to urge government acceptance of the peace formula, which would get wage-talks going while the strike still is on. The government so far has refused to negotiate "under duress."

Afterward, TUC Chairman Charles Geddes told reporters "there appears to be prospect of some progress being made." Sir Walter then hurried off to see Prime Minister Eden.

UM TO DEDICATE ATOM LABORATORY — A new laboratory, to be used exclusively for atomic energy research, will be dedicated on Thursday by the University of Michigan. The Phoenix building, built from gifts and grants, is a memorial to university students, alumni and staff members who died in World War II. The cost of the building is $1,500,000. Another building costing $1,000,000, a gift of the Ford Motor Co., to house a nuclear reactor, is under construction in the rear of the Phoenix laboratory.

Building Permits Halted by City

Buena Vista Subdivision Contractor Told to Improve Streets

The City Commission last night passed a resolution stopping issuance of any more building permits for home construction in Buena Vista Subdivision until the contractor brings streets to city-accepted standards.

Residents of the subdivision living on Strathmore and Fairmont Avenues spoke in favor of the move saying the streets are impassable following rain and the contractor's agreement with them calls for improvement to put them in good year-round shape.

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles (District 4) introduced the resolution stating the contractor had "procrastinated beyond reason."

The resolution cited the "danger to life and property" caused by road conditions sometimes making it impossible for fire trucks, police, medical aid and sanitary services to gain access to the area.

Commissioner John E. Carry (District 6) called for "legislation on the local level" which would prevent a recurrence of the situation.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said the move might bring court action by the contractor but "the health and welfare of the public" should put it on a solid legal basis.

City Police Join Drive for Safety

Pontiac today joins the State Safety Commission and the Michigan State Police in a traffic accident prevention program aptly called "Slow Down and Live," Chief Herbert W. Straley said.

The program, which runs from Memorial Day through Labor Day, is aimed at reducing traffic mishaps during what has been termed as the year's most critical auto accident period. Straley pointed out that "535 persons were killed last year between the two holidays."

"This drive is aimed at driver behavior faults associated with 'in a hurry' complex and 'me first' attitudes on the highways," Straley stated.

Included in these categories are motorists who speed, pass at dangerous spots, steal the right-of-way, and follow too closely. National figures show that these faults were responsible for 90 per cent of highway deaths.

Straley also reminded drivers that schools close early in June and children are in the streets without protection of school safety programs and officials. "The slogans "Watch Out for Kids" and "Slow Down for Kids" should be uppermost in every driver's mind," the chief said.

He urged residents to heed the "Slow Down and Live" slogan not only when driving in the city but when driving in the country. "It is significant," he concluded, "that most of the persons killed on country roadways are those who live in cities."

June's Circuit Court Term Lists 81 Cases

No cases of a more serious nature than robbery armed are scheduled, said Taylor. Judge Frank L. Doty will preside.

Commission Withdraws Weed-Control Proposal

A proposed noxious weed-control ordinance was withdrawn by the City Commission last night. Its provisions instead will be incorporated in a more encompassing ordinance also controlling tree growth and trimming.

The move was recommended by City Manager Walter K. Willman on request of the Parks and Recreation Dept.

By a 6-1 vote, the Commission approved first reading of an amendment to the city peddler's ordinance, providing for controlling rather than outlawing sale of ice cream by street vendors.

Objection was raised by Commissioner Floyd P. Miles (District 4), who said, "We're licensing them to do things we don't want them to do."

ORDINANCE READ

Also given first reading was an ordinance establishing new boundary lines for Precincts 3, 4, and 34. Following passage of the measure, which puts into law a change approved by the voters in April, residents of the areas affected will be notified of the shift, according to City Clerk Ada R. Evans.

In other action, the Commission passed a resolution proposed by Commissioner John E. Carry (District 6) directing preparation of an ordinance rezoning to residential classification the portion of Herrington Hills Subdivision now zoned for manufacturing.

"This will conform with our policy of uniform zoning," Carry explained. The ordinance will be presented to the plan board for approval.

Approved was an exchange of city-owned land in Murphy Park for a slightly larger section adjacent to the park owned by Detroit Edison Co. The Edison land will become part of the park.

PREPARE MEASURES

City Attorney William A. Ewart was directed to prepare ordinances for five zoning shifts to commercial 1 classification. They are:

Lots 39 to 47, 153 to 156 and parts of 150 to 152 of assessor's plat 13; lots 6 and 1 to 8, O. F. Beier Subdivision.

Received and filed were plan commission reports approving ordinances rezoning to commercial 1 lots 1 and 7, assessor's plat 147, lots 63 to 65, assessor's plat 103 and lots 591 to 593, Ferry Farm Addition.

Engineer's estimates were presented and public hearing set for Tuesday night for curb, gutter and drainage work on Blaine street from Oakland to Montcalm, and on Jefferson avenue from Blaine to Summit.

A public hearing also was set for Tuesday for a special assessment roll for curb, gutter and drainage on Carlisle street from Walton to New York.

Public hearings were held and confirmation deferred for curb, gutter and drainage on Fourth avenue from Joslyn to Fuller and on Ypsilanti avenue from Carlisle to Stanley.

Special assessment rolls were confirmed for the following projects:

Also treated for cuts was Mrs. Mary Koch, 52, of Rochester, driver of the other car.

Mrs. Koch told deputies her brakes failed as she approached the intersection and her car collided with the Fitch auto.

Quarry Mishap Electrocutes 2

Upper Peninsula Men Killed by Short Circuit in Big Drill

CEDARVILLE (AP) — Two men were electrocuted last night when a short circuit caused by crossed wires in a big electric drill sent 4,600 volts through their bodies.

The victims were Charles Weston, 40, father of two, and Norman Kosier, about 35, father of four, both of Cedarville in the Upper Peninsula.

The two men were working in the Cedarville quarry of the Michigan Limestone Division of U.S. Steel Corp. when Weston had difficulty with his electric drill and Kosier, an electrician, rewired a motor.

Wires were crossed and when Weston turned on the power from the drill cab, Kosier, standing outside, was electrocuted.

Weston saw Kosier collapse and was killed himself by the charge when he stepped outside the cab to investigate.

A third worker, Sy Hurban of Cedarville, went to their aid but stopped when he "felt a tingling" in the ground and escaped injury.

Ike Sure Adenauer Will Stick With West

the Senate will be able to take the initiative on the bill if the stalemate in the House cannot be broken.

BIG FOUR—Eisenhower said he certainly would not insist on limiting any "at the summit" Big Four meeting to three or four days, as he suggested a few weeks ago. But he said he will want some definite limitation on the duration of any such conference with the premiers of Britain, France and Russia, in advance of the meeting.

He suggested that without such a limitation the Russians might try to capitalize on the meeting for propaganda purposes.

EMPLOYMENT — Eisenhower said the latest figures on employment and unemployment in the United States are a cause for gratification. He said they show that 62,700,000 persons have jobs, that employment is up one million in May as compared with April and that unemployment is down a half-million.

POLIO—Eisenhower again paid tribute to Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare, for her handling of the Salk polio vaccine program.

Some Democrats have criticized her handling of the inoculation campaign.

YUGOSLAVIA — Asked whether the United States plans to reappraise its program of aid to Communist Yugoslavia, in view of the visit by Soviet leaders to Belgrade, Eisenhower replied that this is a world of change and policies are reappraised daily. He went on to say that the United States does not diminish its interest in other countries merely because they are striving to be somewhat neutral.

Waterford Tot Struck by Slow-Moving Auto

Four-year-old Terry Davison, of 5776 Dwight, Waterford Township, was treated for bruises at Pontiac General Hospital last night after he was struck by a car near his home.

Driver of the car, Preston Rice, 101 W. Hopkins St., Pontiac, told Waterford Township Police he was driving slowly looking for a house number when the tot darted into his path.

His master, chemist George Wood, claims the dog can give quick, accurate answers to complicated problems involving square roots and what-have-you. The seven-year-old canine genius gives his answer by patting out the numbers with his paw.

Jet Ace Given Welcome Home

Swea City, Iowa, Opens Arms to Newly Freed AF Captain

SWEA CITY, Iowa (AP)—A day of thanksgiving for the deliverance of double jet ace Capt. Harold Fischer Jr. from a Red Chinese prison was being celebrated today by residents of this tiny north Iowa town.

Officials braced for a crowd expected to swell the town's normal 800 population to more than 5,000 for the official ceremony of welcome in the town park.

A parade through the town and an address by Gov. Leo A. Hoegh precede formal introduction of Fischer to the populace. It's his first visit home since December 1950.

The townspeople were preparing a surprise gift for the captain, who is home after two years in a Red Chinese prison. But it appeared the gift might not have all the glitter originally planned.

They'd hoped to give the captain a new airplane, which Fischer, in his letters from the Chinese prison, had said many times he wanted to own.

The American Legion post here sponsored a drive for funds. But it had only a few days to work after Fischer and three fellow prisoners—Lt. Col. Edwin Heller of Wynnewood, Pa., Lt. Ron Parks of Omaha and Lt. Lyle Cameron of Lincoln, Neb.—were released.

Plans now are to give the captain what has been collected so that he can apply it on the purchase of a plane.

Hills School Keeping Up, Superintendent Reports

BIRMINGHAM—The Bloomfield Hills superintendent of schools said today education progress in Hills' schools "has kept pace" with physical growth.

Eugene L. Johnson said the Bloomfield Hills school district in two years had grown from an enrollment of slightly over 600 to over 1,200 pupils.

Pointing up the educational progress-growth idea, reading tests were given students in grades one through six.

Results in the first three grades showed scores above state and national scores, Johnson said. In grade two the average gain in reading ability as shown on the test was a 12 months' gain in 5 months of school, he said. Test results from the other three grades has not yet been completed.

In his monthly school bulletin, Johnson also listed progress in Bloomfield Hills high school.

Included were: an expanded French program which includes experimental teaching of French to the fourth grades in elementary school; addition of shorthand and advanced business typing in the business education department; and homemaking, speech, dramatics and journalism courses to be offered.

A club program designed to fit hobby and leisure time interests of students will be started under faculty supervision, and the Student Council will be given more responsibility in governing the student body.

Johnson also reminded parents of the Board of Education election June 13 at Vaughn School. There are two board vacancies to be filled.

Manager Charles Mortensen of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce said he was "pleasantly surprised by the nunber of members who showed up for yesterday's breakfast meeting at the Community House. Some 50 members were on hand as the chamber launched its membership drive.

Mortensen said the goal is to recruit 200 additional members. There currently are 225 members in the Birmingham chamber, he said.

Rochester Man Held on Larceny Charge

According to the warrant, sworn to by Community Motors Co., Rochester, Holst had obtained an automobile May 17 under the pretense of wanting to buy.

Justice Luther C. Green, Avon Township, said Holst, without completing the purchase, was allowed to drive the automobile home "for the night." Pontiac police found the car and Holst at Hazel Park last night.

Holst waived a preliminary hearing, and is being held in jail in lieu of $2,000 bond to await arraignment in Circuit Court.

shutdown of the nearby Chevrolet plant.

Several hundred UAW workers went back to their jobs at GM's Fisher plant near Pittsburgh after a brief walkout.

Other walkouts stopped or slowed production in GM plants from New Jersey to Southgate, Calif.

The CIO International Union of Electrical Workers joined in a walkout at a GM plant in New Brunswick, N. J. The IUE is negotiating with the company along with the auto workers. Its leaders say they would join the UAW in any company-wide strike against GM. The IUE represents some 35,000 GM employes.

What Will Happen Under Plan . . .

Ford Still Opposed to Full Pay Guarantee

DETROIT (AP) — Two Ford Motor Co. spokesmen claim Ford is still strongly opposed to a 100 per cent guaranteed annual wage because "it would impose far too great a financial responsibility upon the company."

Carleton W. Pierce, manager of the Industrial Relations Department of Ford, and Richard Johnson of Ford's financial staff, were assigned by the company to answer a series of questions by a panel of editors.

Pierce and Johnson said the contract upon which Ford reached agreement with the CIO United Auto Workers was not a guaranteed annual wage, but a private supplementing of public unemployment compensation.

They said a true annual guaranteed wage would call for 100 per cent wages for each week of the year, whether worked or not. The pact agreed upon by Ford and the UAW calls for 65 per cent of the base take-home pay for four weeks and 60 per cent up to a maximum of 26 weeks.

Some of the questions and answers asked of the Ford panel were:

Q—Critics of the guaranteed annual wage idea have said any strong step in that direction would force large auto manufacturers to "export instability." By this I mean, they would farm out that type of work where there is a high seasonal fluctuation in employment.

A—The likelihood of "exporting instability" and other risks and dangers are inherent in any true guaranteed annual wage plan, which the Ford plan is not.

5 CENT INCREASE

Under the Ford plan, the financial obligation to the company is no more and no less than a five-cent-an-hour wage increase.

Benefit payments tied to the trust funds and have no direct financial impact upon the company.

Q—If I were a Ford worker, I would like to know what is going to happen to me under this plan. From the history of past layoffs, and barring a great change in economic conditions, can I look forward to 26 weeks of benefits?

A—You can't determine any great degree of reliability from the history of past layoffs. The only way you can tell is when it goes into actual operation.

NO GUARANTEE

The answer to that question really depends on how stable our future employment will be. If we have fairly stable employment as we have had in the last few years, the employe can expect pretty good benefits out of this over the long pull.

But there is no absolute guarantee about it.

If there were a recession or depression, the trust fund, because of heavy layoffs, would not be in as good a position to pay long duration benefits. Once the fund is built up, it might well ride through any recession or depression.

To answer your question, there is no such thing as a complete guarantee, which is one reason we say this is not the guaranteed annual (or even semi-annual) wage.

Q—Could you briefly summarize the differences between the Ford plan, as it will appear in the contract, and the guaranteed annual wage demanded by the UAW?

A—There are many fundamental differences.

What we have developed over the years of study is a plan to supplement with private company unemployment benefits, the existing state unemployment compensation benefits, which — by the way — are paid in full by the company.

FORD PAYS

There is a lot of misunderstanding about that. We pay the full load. The cost is borne completely by the employer.

Q—Then the Ford plan is predicated on integration with the various state unemployment compensation systems?

A—Yes. Completely. It is integrated both as to duration and eligibility of the laid-off worker.

Q—When does the plan start operating? When can a Ford worker start drawing his benefits after a layoff?

STATE RULINGS

And further, before the plan becomes effective, rulings must be obtained from state officials that simultaneous payment of fund benefits will not reduce or eliminate state unemployment benefits in states where the company has two-thirds of its employes.

Q—How many states would have to be integrated before the plan could start operating?

A—For all practical purposes, favorable rulings — or legislative changes — would have to be obtained in Michigan, where the company has 56 per cent of its employes, and in Ohio, which has 11 per cent.

Or, a combination of Michigan and any two of the following states — Illinois, Missouri, New York, California and New Jersey — also could bring this about.

Q—Is there a deadline for obtaining these favorable rulings?

A—Yes, if appropriate rulings are not obtained from the home states of two-thirds of the employes before June 1, 1957, the plan will terminate as of that date.

Q—There has been a lot of talk by some management spokesmen on the social, moral and economic dangers of the guaranteed annual wage. What are these dangers and how do you feel that you have been avoiding them?

A—The guaranteed annual wage originally demanded by the union called for 52 weeks' pay at 100 per cent. It is a great danger to a man's incentive to keep working, or when he's laid off, to find another job.

65 PERCENT LIMIT

So it seemed to us that a fundamental question was ho whigh benefits could be and for how long duration without running into this problem.

After long study, we concluded that 65 per cent in the short term, and 60 per cent in the long term was as high as the level could safely go.

West Prepares for Series of Peace Talks

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Western world prepared today for a big series of summer diplomatic conferences to try to safeguard freedom without a war.

That objective was declared by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles yesterday as the U.S. government announced plans for two of the meetings.

The biggest will be the "summit" talks between President Eisenhower and Premiers Nikolai Bulganin of Russia, Sir Anthony Eden of Britain and Edgar Faure of France.

The three Western powers proposed that this meeting begin on July 18 and run for four days at Geneva, Switzerland.

It was also announced that the three Western foreign ministers will meet in New York on Thursday and Friday of next week. They will coordinate strategy for the important "summit" meeting and for their own talks with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in San Francisco the following week.

OTHER MEETINGS

Other conferences in the works or under consideration include:

1. A late June meeting of Western ambassadors with the Yugoslavs. Marshal Tito proposed the meeting, and if the Western powers agree, as it seems they will, try to find out what Tito will do with the military aid he has received from the West if there is trouble in Europe.

The West wants to know particularly how Tito regards his role in the mutual security pact Yugoslavia has with North Atlantic Treaty members Greece and Turkey.

2. The June 13 talks in Washington between West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Eisenhower and Dulles.

3. Possible talks in Washington between Indian Ambassador V. K. Krishna Menon and American leaders on his plans for easing relations between the U.S. and Communist China and ending the Formosa crisis.

Menon has made it clear he wants to talk about his plan, but so far the U.S. government has set up no meeting for him with Eisenhower or Dulles.

PRE-PARLEY TALKS

4. Working group meetings of the Western powers to prepare for talks at the summit. These sessions are expected to start in Washington within a few days.

5. Meetings of foreign ministers and experts that are expected to follow the talks at the summit.

President Eisenhower has said that the summit talks cannot be expected to solve problems but can be useful by giving impetus to the foreign ministers and others in working on problems that are creating friction in the world.

These problems include disarmament, nuclear weapons controls, reunification of Germany, and the Formosa crisis.

From the Communist point of view there are also the problems of a United Nations seat for Red China; ending the economic blockade of the China mainland, and an end to the embargo on shipments of strategic materials from the West to any Communist country.

A Chemist

A chemist is a person who studies the makeup of all the earth's matter, such as air, water and metals. Chemistry is closely related to physics, which deals with the forms and forces of energy. But in these days of atom power the fields often overlap.

The study of chemistry dates back thousands of years. In the Middle Ages chemists often surrounded themselves with mystery, and people regarded them as magicians. Many chemists of this period spent all their time trying to turn iron and other common metals into gold.

Now chemistry is a vital part of our life. Public health departments and the federal government employ chemists to test food, milk and drugs, and to maintain high standards in many products. A chemist who works for a company designing new products generally is known as a chemical engineer or a research chemist.

To become a chemist, you will have to spend many years in study. Work in chemistry demands a great deal of knowledge, talent and patience, but it can be a very rewarding career. Color today's picture, and add it to your collection of future careers.

Wants Gopher Tail Legalized as Bounty

ST. PAUL (UP)—Have you ever smelled the feet of a dead gopher? "They smell terrible, according to state Rep. Leo Madden, who is concerned with the bounty situation.

If you live according to the letter of the law in Minnesota, you must produce the front feet of a pocket gopher to collect a bounty. For a striped or grey gopher, it's necessary to turn over all four feet to the chairman of a town board to collect the bounty.

For decades though, gopher hunters have been winking at the law and collecting bounties by producing only the tail, and Madden thinks it's about time to legalize the long practice. He has introduced a bill to accomplish that.

"Even the tail smells bad enough," he said.

Buggies Dangerous

LIGONIER, Ind. (UP) —Indiana state police report: The right shaft of a buggy being driven by Mrs. Levi Miller broke and the horse ran away. The buggy upset. Mrs. Miller had a dislocated hip and cuts and her son, Danny, 9, had cuts.

Quits as Shoemaker; Ate Too Many Tacks

TAMPA, Fla. (UP) — A man who had been a cobbler for 30 years asked the Florida State Employment Service to help him get started in another occupation.

Most cobblers, he said, hold tacks in their mouths while working, spitting out tacks as needed. Over the years, he had gulped too often when he should have spat. He produced X-rays to show the large collection of tacks in his digestive tract.

How to Handle Your Money: 3

Corporate Bonds Risky for $20,000-a-Year Man

Following is the third installment of a ten-part interview with Benjamin Graham, security analyst and Columbia University professor, who answers questions on the how's and when's of investing your money.

Q—Do you recommend corporate bonds for the man making $20,000?

A—No. I don't see any reason under conditions today, and those we've seen for many years past, why a man should buy corporation bonds.

Q—Why?

A—The yields of the good bonds are only slightly in excess of what he could get on U. S. savings bonds. On the second-grade bonds, the risk element offsets, approximately at least, the additional income. There is, of course, the question of tax-exempt bonds, which is a separate factor; a $20,000-a-year unmarried man might find the tax-exempts interesting, whereas the married man with $20,000 income probably wouldn't.

Q—We've been talking up to now, by implication at least, only about investing money to get income. Is there a stage at which investments become logical for long-term appreciation—that is, where profit can be made by an advance in the market value of a security?

A—Oh, yes. I think in the early part of one's career in business or the professions, if you have considerable interest in financial matters, as many people have, and want to educate yourself as far as you can in finance, there, if you wish to get the full advantage out of your education, the advantage would be in investment for appreciation. The rewards are greater, of course, in appreciation than they are in income, and there's no reason why a person shouldn't aim at those things.

Q—Even at a relatively low income level?

A—He could do that, too, as a matter of fact and get more interest out of life, being a skillful investor for appreciation on a small scale, than he would if he just did it to get a few dollars a year income.

Q—You think the average person is capable of doing this?

A—Well, taking everything into account, I would say "No." I mean, if you took a person at random and gave him the ideal surroundings and education and counsel, and so on, you might turn him into a person capable of doing this. But, under the circumstances in which he lives, he probably would not do a good job.

Q—Who would, then?

A—It would be good for a person who has considerable native intelligence and ability and who has a real interest in financial matters and is willing to devote the amount of time and energy to it.

Q—And who has time for it—the time is important?

A—Well, everybody has enough time for it. It's really the determination that counts. I mean, investing a few thousand dollars is not a full-time job. But it is a job that you can't do casually, by tips, and so forth.

Columnist Pleads for Kinder Words

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Kinsley McWhorter Jr. wrote in his column in the Roanoke World News, that most people are starved for kind words. He said doctors get them less frequently than almost anyone else.

Doctors reacted at once. The Roanoke Academy of Medicine passed a resolution of thanks. The American Medical Assn. reprinted the column and sent it to the secretary of every medical society in America. From Georgia, Arkansas and Pennsylvania came requests for permission to reprint it. Individual doctors wrote to say thank you.

Reacting himself, McWhorter says he is convinced, that kind words get you further than harsh ones — or just being neutral. He asked his readers to try it for a week.

He Just Didn't Know About Income Taxes

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Joel W. Stowe, of Dry Fork, a saw mill operator, was acquitted in federal court here of willfully failing to file a federal income tax return after testifying he didn't know about it.

"It is rather suprising to see a person who is blissfully ignorant of the burden of federal income tax," said Judge Sterling Hutcheson. "This is a case where I think this is true."

Stowe's attorney said his client lived an isolated life and seldom went to town.

TV Zoo Parade Staff Planning Africa Safari

CHICAGO (UP)—Marlin Perkins and the staff of television's "Zoo Parade" program have scheduled a two-month safari to Africa to shoot film for the program.

Perkins and his party hope to get enough sound-track film of fild animals in their native habitat for at least six programs.

The party will consist of Peerkins, director of the Lincoln Park Zoo; Don Meier, "Zoo Parade" producer - director; announcer Jim Huribut and a technical crew. The trip is planned for July and August.

Perkins said the itinerary will include a trip to the Krueger National Park, 200 miles east of Johannesburg; the HluHluWe game reserve, home of the rare white rhino and African buffalo; Snake Park at Port Elizabeth; Addo, near Port Elizabeth, home of a "lost herd" of about 15 elephants, the only ones in that part of Africa.

New Survey Can Tell What Voters Will Do

EAST LANSING (AP)—Dr. Claude Bosworth, of Michigan State College, says he has devised a questionnaire that tells what a citizen thinks of his community — and what he'll buy for it.

"We can help community leaders determine if an industrial development, new school, sewer bond issue or recreation program will be approved by the people," he says.

The method has been reliable in surveys run in several Michigan cities, Bosworth says.

Supplemental Benefits Feature Ford-UAW Pact

Agreement on a three year contract between the Ford Motor Company and the United Auto Workers (CIO) without a strike is economic news of the first magnitude.

Details of that contract make it clear that the company's 140,000 employes have won the biggest single package, amounting to more than 20 cents an hour per employe, in the union's history.

Contrary to UAW hopes, however, the contract DOES NOT INCLUDE a guaranteed annual wage. But it does feature a supplemental unemployment compensation program which pioneers an entirely new field in labor-management relations. Under this plan the company will set up over a three year period a $55,000,000 trust fund with payments by the company of five cents per hour per employe.

From this fund workers will receive 65 per cent of their take home pay, including State unemployment compensation, during the first four weeks of layoffs. These benefits will be reduced to 60 per cent during the next 22 weeks, provided the trust fund is large enough to operate that long. It should be noted that the company's liability for layoffs is specifically limited to $55,000,000 and a period of 26 weeks.

Wisely the company tailored the plan so it should avoid the two main dangers of the guaranteed annual wage. One is that unlimited financial responsibility under a GAW contract could wreck a corporation. The other is that full pay for no work could kill employe incentive and lead to disaster.

Time, of course, will provide the acid test of this contract. Subject to such test this supplemental plan appears to be an historic step forward. The Ford agreement provides added grounds for hope that GM-UAW negotiations, which have been extended through next Sunday, also can be concluded without a costly and paralyzing strike.

Khrushchev at Belgrade

Ever since the liquidation of BERIA the world on the right side of the Iron Curtain has wondered what manner of man is this NIKITA S. KHRUSHCHEV.

It was not until Russia's top trio, Premier BULGANIN, Deputy Premier MIKOYAN and KHRUSHCHEV visited Belgrade that the latter emerged as a living personality. Then as more detailed accounts of that visit make clear, STALIN's successor as head of the Communist Party revealed himself as an over-talkative boor and a bungling tyro at diplomacy.

A clear word picture of the man is furnished by U. S. News & World Report. It is Khrushchev who does most of the talking and steps out in front leaving Premier Bulganin two paces to the rear. Khrushchev is the boss and wants everybody to know it.

Not only did the Russians fail in their hat in hand effort to lure TITO back into the fold, but they impressed Western diplomats as far inferior in ability to the late Dictator STALIN. They agreed, in fact, that the intellectual caliber of BULGANIN and KHRUSHCHEV is lower than they had expected.

At a reception in TITO's palace KHRUSHCHEV's conduct was so lacking in the ordinary courtesies of diplomacy that everyone present must have been embarrassed for him. As one diplomat put it, "KHRUSHCHEV just seems to bubble over with talk. You get the impression that he talks far too much to be really aware of what he is saying."

A final sidelight on KHRUSHCHEV's character came at a caviar and Vodka party at the Soviet Embassy just before the Russians left for home. A believer in "living it up," KHRUSHCHEV did just that so enthusiastically that he had to be helped to his car.

A Safety Step Forward

Our Legislature deserves credit for a long needed improvement in the location of traffic signals.

It has passed and sent to the Governor a bill requiring standardization of traffic control lights and forbidding conflicting advertising signs.

Besides requiring that new stop lights be suspended over the roadway after it becomes operative, the bill also requires that all existing installations must be made to conform by January 1, 1958. Pedestrian control lights are to be at the curb line.

Another section forbids banners and decorations to be hung over streets and highways within 10 feet on either side of a traffic light or signal. The idea of this section is to give motorists the clearest possible view of the traffic signal.

Pontiac is almost completely changed over to the center suspension plan and local and State Police and the Sheriff's Department have endorsed this measure 100 per cent.

Annual Meeting, Luncheon of Society to Be on June 15

Marry: What people do for better or worse—but too few for good.

Local pioneers are to be honored at the annual meeting and luncheon of the Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society. The event takes place at the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church on June 15 at noon, with a social hour preceding. The guest speaker will be

Lieutenant Governor Philip A. Hart,

A new brand of adverse criticism on the building of turnpike highways comes from

Randall Tripp,

formerly of Pontiac. He says that building of the Ohio turnpike near his present home in Hillsdale County has wrecked their other roads. "Their trucking and other heavy hauling," he writes, "in building a highway on which we'll have to pay for its use has destroyed the ones that are free."

If you've ridden the 7:10 morning commuter train from Pontiac to Detroit at any time during the past ten years, the engineer up in the cab was

Lester G. Carpenter

Suggestions, Anyone?

David Lawrence Says:

Talk of Third World War Is Tapering Off in Europe

EN ROUTE FROM EUROPE—Conclusions to be drawn from a two-month survey of Europe—in Britain, France, Germany, Spain, Portugal and Holland—with an opportunity to talk with leaders at the top level and often with spokesmen for the opposition, can be best set forth in categories—military, economic and political—as follows:

1. America is important to Europe in every sense. A recession in the United States would have violent repercussions in every country in Europe. Our continued prosperity is reflected in their prosperity.

It is much more than a question of just imports and exports. The tremendous tourist trade and the expenditures of American tourists abroad are, in dollar volume, many times the revenues that any prospective reductions in tariffs are to yield in the future.

2. Peace is described in various ways but mostly as a hoped-for continuation of the present stalemate—the absence of military action in Europe.

"LITTLE WARS"

Bloodshed in the Far East or in Southeast Asia or the Middle East is recognized as likely to bring "little wars" but no serious disturbance to world trade. Peacemaking "at the summit" is accepted as worth trying but as something too flimsy as yet on which to build up hopes.

3. The talk of atomic war or a third world war is less than it was a year ago. Mostly because there is a widespread acceptance of the theory that war has become so horrible no country will permit it to happen.

Many informed persons, however, have not lost their anxiety, because they remember that wars have started before notwithstanding the possession of the deadliest of weapons by both sides.

4. American military strength is taken for granted as insuring the defense of Europe. To the doctrine of a deterrent force is universally attributed the fact that armies are not fighting in Europe today.

RELY ON A-WEAPONS

American atomic weapons are believed responsible for this sense of security. Despite the fact that Russia has a larger number of troop divisions than the North Atlantic Treaty Organization can mobilize.

5. The Soviet strategy which aims to chase American troops out of Europe by "cold war" maneuvers—such as the detachment of Austria, the neutralization of Yugoslavia and Germany—is not yet clear to the people of Europe, though newspapers everywhere are beginning to reflect some concern, interspersed with frequently expressed beliefs that the Communists are on the defensive in their diplomatic moves on the European chess board.

6. Disarmament is a word often mentioned but one in which few people have any faith. The idea that Soviet Russia will ever consent to international inspection or throw away the atom bombs is considered rather farfetched and fanciful.

7. Many persons in Europe still see America as a nation with impulsive and untried leaders who might precipitate a war in the Far East at any moment. Government leaders everywhere know that's not true, and opportunities have arisen to make it clear to Bulganin in Moscow and Chou En-lai in Peiping that the United States has no desire or intention to enter a war unless attacked.

TO DEFEND FORMOSA

It has been conveyed in convincing terms, on the other hand, that the United States will fight if Formosa is attacked. This clear-cut definition of American policy has done more to prevent a Far Eastern outbreak than any one thing that has happened.

The Congress of the United States, by passing the Formosa resolution by an overwhelming vote of both parties, deserves the credit for this important piece of war prevention.

8. There is a big gulf between America and Europe insofar as understanding American public opinion is concerned. The tendency of some of the correspondents for European newspapers in New York and Washington to report only quotations from "left wing" newspapers in the United States, and portray their views as representative of American thinking, still goes on.

AMERICA BELITTLED

Certain American newspaper writings regularly belittle the American government's position or give erroneous impressions that encourage a belief in Europe that the United States soon will reverse itself, forget the 40,000 American boys killed in Korea and welcome Red Chinese leaders into the United Nations with a kiss on both cheeks for the aggressors.

When important Europeans in influential circles are told that this is not the true state of American opinion today, they seem surprised.

EUROPE PROGRESSING

9. Americans, conversely, are not as well informed about European attitudes as they might be. For the fact is that Europeans are doing some important things in the scientific, educational, industrial and political fields.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Girl Who Allows Pre-Marital Relations Must Accept Inevitable Consequences

Marilyn's moral dilemma can easily be solved by modern teenagers if we give them the full facts. For morality is the logical end result of reasoning. Instead of brandishing religious fiats over youth as psychological clubs, give them the facts and they will also come out with the proper moral precepts.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-351: Marilyn T., aged 17, is the senior high schooler whose boy friend wanted her to grant him unwarranted sexual liberties.

So I asked her what she thought would produce the most happiness for the most people over the longest period of time.

Then I reminded her that she is the middle link in a 3-link chain that involves her parents, herself and her future children.

Her parents dote upon her popularity and school success. They have invested heavily in her upbringing, including $10,000 in actual cash.

Moreover, they have sat up almost all night with her in babyhood when she ran a high fever with a contagious disease.

So they are investors in her, both with money and love and personal attention.

What would her contemplated behavior do to them, if she acceded to her boy friend's demand?

CONSEQUENCES

Suppose she becames pregnant and must quit school before she gets her diploma, as is a common occurrence nowadays among girls who think they know it all.

Wouldn't this social shame be heart-breaking to her loyal and proud parents?

But what would it be to her baby, who would be born out of wedlock and thus have one strike against it in life before it even had a chance?

Furthermore, suppose Marilyn contracts syphilis and gonorrhea? Those are still dire diseases and often cause permanent sterility, even in this advanced stage of modern medicine.

CHARM LOST

Besides, she would thereafter lose woman's greatest charm in the eys of man, which is her spunk or spirit.

The Bible describes a girl as "humbled" when her boy friend has subjected her to immoral relations, and that is more true than most teenage girls realize till it is too late.

Moreover, any boy who is trying to brow beat a girl into submission, is also the type who indulges in liquor to show-off his supposed adulthood.

Anybody who uses alcohol can soon become so loose-tongued that he will broadcast intimate secrets to the entire crowd.

CHURCH MORALISTS

Morality is not something that pertains just to our church leaders or the ancient Biblical prophets.

* * *

It is also unfair to the churches to saddle them with the apparent impression of always placing a veto on young people.

The reason the church leaders of antiquity placed the taboo on promiscuity and premarital sex affairs, was the same reason that any modern teenager will arrive at, if given the plain facts.

For immorality does NOT produce the most good for the most people over the longest period of time.

FACING FACTS

Nowadays we find it is far wiser to let young people face the facts and marshall them in logical fashion, for then they arrive at the same logical conclusions which the church fathers did centuries ago.

But when youth thus derive their own moral laws, they believe the results more fully and don't accuse the churches of being kill-joys.

So send for my booklet "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a stamped, return envelope plus a dime.

It very frankly shows youth the folly of immorality and gives them ample medico-psychological reasons to support the good training given her.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Ex-Teacher Advocates Piping Water From Lake Huron for School Supplies

Letters will be condensed when necessary, name, address and telephone number necessary because of lack of space. Full name of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature

There has been some discussion in your paper regarding the need for better water supply.

I have visited most of the schools in this part of the county and in very few are there really adequate drinking water facilities. This was true when I taught school 30 years ago, and the condition is little improved today.

In many schools there is a mere trickle in the fountains. How many colds and communicable diseases are spread because of this?

Local wells often cannot supply enough water for sewage and drinking purposes. School needs alone are a powerful argument for bringing a pure water supply from Lake Huron.

Agrees 'Get Tough' Policy Overdue in Traffic Cases

I certainly agree with F. L. Jacomino on the subject of a 'get tough' policy. It most certainly is long overdue.

What with our drunk drivers, both men and women, it's a shame. Short-term probation and revocation of license don't seem to help. They continue laughing at the law.

I know instances of those who drive a short distance to drink and then drive all over creation, taking folks' lives in their hands. Why can't they be taken off the road for the good of those who try to live by the law instead of making fun of it?

There just doesn't seem to be either law or justice for some people. A 'get tough' policy is much overdue.

Questions 'Model' City With No Public Restrooms

Pontiac was recently referred to as a model city. This writer would like to know what kind of a model you call it when a city of about 70,000 population does not have a decent rest room for the people when they go downtown or when people come in from other places.

It seems a shame and disgrace when other cities or towns with a fraction of the population have downtown rest rooms. I should like to know what the readers think of such a condition.

Some Solons Take Pride in Small Business Favors

By MERRYLE RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

Lincoln remarked that the Lord must love plain folks because he made so many of them.

Thus in the corporate income tax, small companies are subject to taxation at a lower rate than bigger enterprises.

There is a whole movement toward fostering little business through governmental stimulus.

Now, Sen. Paul Douglas, Illinois Democrat, has introduced a bill (S. 1926) to set a double standard for Federal regulation of natural gas producers.

The Illinois solon would modify the Supreme Court decision of 1954 in the Phillips case, which held that natural gas producers were subject to Federal regulation. There are bills pending wholly to undo the impact of this decision through exempting all producers.

96 PER CENT EXEMPT

But Douglas would exempt only the small producers, and would institute Federal regulation of the big ones. He would draw the line and exempt from Federal regulation those who produce less than two billion cubic feet of natural gas a year.

The senator says that this would exclude 96 per cent of the producers, while it would subject to Federal regulation those who produce 90 per cent of the natural gas sold to interstate pipelines.

In defending his proposed discrimination, Douglas argued:

"I am still firmly convinced of the necessity in the public interest of defeating the legislative drive to exempt the interstate sales of the big, non-transporting producers of natural gas.

"If the little fellows who are being used to run interference for them are exempted, it may therefore serve both the desirable objectives I have mentioned, and to remove the unnecessary aspects of regulation which the big producers have used as a public relations asset for their own legislative drive."

CRITIQUE RECALLED

The Douglas maneuver recalls the critique by Walter Lippmann to the effect that in self-governing countries there is a tendency on the part of government officials to appease voters rather than to make tough, carefully thought out decisions.

Maybe the Douglas school, in abhoring bigness per se, thinks that littleness automatically brings an ethical approach to business and forbearance in pricing products.

Perhaps the Douglas distinction is based more on the view, that the big fellows are price leaders, and set the tone which the little ones follow. But, with this background as a professional economist at the University of Chicago, Douglas is familiar with the significance in price competition of the significant minority, who may comprise the marginal producers.

No one wants to shed crocodile tears for the big and successful operators, but we should all be interested in ground rules that make the American free-choice economic society flourish. Sometimes, in a clamor for popularity, there is a demogogic impulse to put the incentive system in reverse and to give rewards for inefficiency.

Such a manifestation of incentives-in-reverse resembles Communism more than free enterprise. For Marxism purported to want to give to each according to his need whereas each was called upon to contribute in accordance with his ability.

On the other hand, the competitive system undertakes to reward each according to his contribution. This is an incentive system. In its pure form, it provides for no free rides, such as exemption from the income tax of those of small income.

Pyorrhea Patients Helped by High Intake of Calcium

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

What happens in the course of pyorrhea is that the alveolar processes of the jaw bones wastes away. The alveolar process is the part of the jaw bone in which are the tooth sockets.

The wasting (atrophy, degeneration) is not limited to the bone. It involves the lining of the tooth sockets and the gums as well.

The familiar name for this deplorable manifestation of physical degeneration, pyorrhea alveolaris, was given the condition by old timers who had little knowledge of pathology and it is still applied by dentists and physicians who have little knowledge of nutrition.

Pyorrhea means flow of pus, and alveolus means tooth socket.

Flow of pus from one or more tooth sockets and the occasional formation of pus pockets are incidental, and no amount of treatment of such secondary effects can stay progress of the physical degeneration of the jaws.

OFFERS ADVICE

In the first lesson in the Ways of Health, the booklet titled Save Your Teeth, for which send 25c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope — and if you expect a reply without delay, please sign your request — I devote what I'm afraid is too much space to pyorrhea. But I hope two or three suggestions in the booklet may do some good and I'm sure they can do no harm in any case:

1. The patient must get an adequate daily intake of vitamins A, B-complex, C and D.

2. Talbot's solution, if and as approved by your dentist.

3. The care and regular supervision of physican and dentist cooperating.

That third suggestion is pretty important, if I do say so myself. Further I'd advise the pyorrhea patient to have no truck with either of them unless they do consult together and agree upon every phase of treatment.

CALCIUM STRESSED

When I say the pyorrhea patient must be sure to get an adequate daily ration of Vitamin D, which for child or grown - up should be at least 1500 U. S. P. units daily, I assume or anyway I hope the patient is getting enough calcium from food.

For the chief if not the only function of vitamin D is to promote and maintain good assimilation of calcium from food and its utilization in the body.

Any one with pyorrohea, therefore, should include in his everyday diet two or more of the high calcium foods — milk, skim milk, cheese, egg yolk, greens, peanuts and nuts, peas, beans, raw turnip, raw cabbage, raw carrot.

Bear in mind, the vitamins and calcium are not medicine and anyone who thinks I recommend them as treatment or cure for pyorrhea ought to have his head examined. Once this physical degeneration of jaw bone, tooth sockets, teeth and gums has advanced far enough to be called pyorrhea, it's a little late—though not impossible — to retard, arrest and even reverse the process.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Juvenile Court Judge Gets to Know His Customers

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Some of New York City's "delinquents" are such familiar customers in Children's Court that Justice Charles Ramsgate—a gray-haired man of humor and tolerance—meets them with an air of resigned neighborliness.

"Oh, brother," said Justice Ramsgate amiably, as he picked up four battered yellow petitions one morning last week, "here comes Billy again."

Billy, at 14, is like many so-called "juvenile delinquents" of the city; he has a strong case of wanderlust. Since 1946, he has been picked up a dozen times for running away, committing small thefts. He has been put in foster homes and training schools in several states, but has always broken out and got into trouble again.

"Look, Billy," said the judge, smiling a little, "why didn't you stay in Arkansas?" "Because I didn't like it," said Billy, neither nastily nor nicely. He was bored. "Well now, we're going to place you in the New York State Training School, (a detention home) and maybe you won't run away from there."

EYES MEXICO

"That ain't gonna help me," said Billy, still bored.

"What's gonna help you then?" said Judge Ramsgate, leaning over his judicial documents, genuinely hoping for an answer.

"Lemme go to Mexico," said the kid. "That's all."

Ramsgate slumped back, tired. "Sorry," he said. "I order Billy remanded to N. Y. State Training School." As the boy shrugged and walked out of the room, the judge said, almost to himself, "But he may be right. If we could give him a ticket to Mexico, he'd probably straighten out. But they can't have everything they want."

That, of course, sums up much of the youth crime incentive in New York. The kids don't have much, they're dissatisfied, and they're out to get what they don't have in their own ways.

Take Judge Ramsgate's second case of the morning:

Two faultlessly clean boys, 14 and 13, accompanied by immaculate, well-dressed parents. They were picked up, the accompanying officer said, at 3:15 a.m. for loitering in an apartment foyer with a five-pound hammer, a screw driver and a nail punch. When they refused to explain what they were doing at that hour with that equipment, Ramsgate turned to the older boy's father and asked if he had any clue.

ANOTHER MACARTHUR?—Duplicating General Douglas MacArthur's feat as a cadet, Lee D. Olvey of Hinesville, Ga., will graduate from West Point Military Academy as number one man in both military and academic standings. The 21-year-old cadet has chosen armor as his branch of service.

FAMILY FIGHT

"Yes, sir," said the man. "My wife and I had an argument. The kid got disgusted—I don't blame him. He ran away from home in the middle of the night and got this little friend to go with him. They tell me they found the hammer and screw driver and were going to break open some parking meters to get enough money to leave town. That's all there was to it, sir."

The judge stared at the father, who was smiling sheepishly. "All there was to it, eh?" he said slowly. Then—"Parents like you don't deserve fine boys like these. How tough do you think the hide of a teenage child is? Any parents who would hold an argument heated enough to make a boy like this want to leave home is not worthy of the responsibility of rearing children."

Giving the parents a lecture in private, and each of the boys a gentle warning ("every married couple disagrees — don't think it's a sign they don't love each other"), Ramsgate dismissed the case.

The court day proceeded, and Ramsgate went on and on with his job of attempting to play Solomon in the case of boys and girls under 16 who had stolen, slugged, browbeat, bribed and wandered into trouble. When the day, a typical one with about 40 young offenders, was over it shaped up into an insoluble puzzle.

NO EASY PROBLEM

What causes kids in the city to go wrong?

Clumping them all together, and totaling their mental and emotional and physical conflicts, one obvious summation would be—too much yearning for too many things they have too little of.

But good little kids have the same yearning and somehow manage, with the help of God and training and instinct, to survive.

3 Cabinet Officers Sworn In at Bonn

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's three new cabinet members — Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano, Defense Minister Theodor Blank and Hans-Joachim von Merkatz—were sworn into office today.

The ceremony was conducted by Eugen Gerstenmaier, president of the Bundestag (lower house of Parliament). Appointments of the new ministers were announced Monday, when Adenauer gave up his second post as foreign minister to put more drive behind the organization of the new West German defense forces.

Says Atomic Power Won't Cut Into Oil

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Atomic power isn't going to cut into the petroleum business for the next 20 years, says the president of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

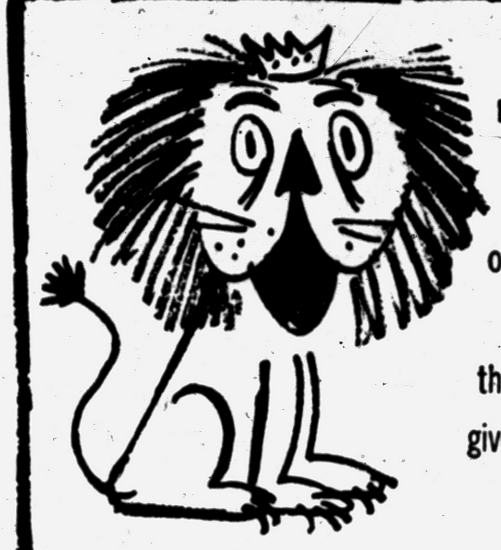

M. J. Rathbone made the prediction last night in an address at Louisiana State University.

Rathbone said one third of new power plants built 20 years from now would use atomic power, but this would be only 1.5 per cent of the total world power needs.

Gone and Forgotten

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Court Clerk Al Fern has this request from an ex-GI in Maryland, who had lost his divorce papers and wanted new copies: "The case was entitled Foster xs. Foster. I do not remember the girl's name."

Police Break Up Workhouse Riot

St. Louis Prisoners Demonstrate Over Ban on Visits by Girls

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police using tear gas broke up a short-lived prisoners' riot at the St. Louis city workhouse late last night after inmates set fire to mattresses, ripped out plumbing and smashed windows.

More than 100 policemen confined the outbreak to one cell block. Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze started with burning mattresses.

Two of three high police officials racing to the scene from the municipal opera were injured in an automobile accident. No one was hurt in the riot.

Warden Harold E. Baynes, appointed to the post last April, said the riot followed distribution of circulars to prisoners announcing that visits would be restricted to "immediate relatives."

"I think the 17, 18, 19 and 20-year-old boys didn't like it because I was cutting off visits from girl friends," he explained.

Injured in the accident en route to the workhouse were Chief of Detectives James Chapman and Police Inspector George Parker. Both were hospitalized. Col. I. A. Long, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, escaped injury and continued to the workhouse.

Shouting, yelling and general tumult erupted in a cell block known as the "Old House." A barrage of flaming mattresses, broken benches and debris at first prevented police from entering the block. But once tear gas was employed, the riot was quickly broken. The whole thing lasted about an hour and 15 minutes.

A total of 250 prisoners were in the block, all but 50 in their cells during the disturbance. The 50 got out of the cells when a guard was trying to return a work detail to their cells.

Park Attendance Up

HOLLAND (AP)—Season's attendance at Holland State Park was reported Tuesday at 289,108 persons. Manager Clare Broad said 248,644 persons had visited the park at the same time last year.

Ex-Husband Charged With Murder of Four

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—A jealous former husband was charged yesterday with the murder of four children who died in a burning house.

Detective Lt. James R. Beach said 33-year-old Amos Wilmer Thomas signed a statement saying he set the fire to get even with his former wife Annie Lee Thomas, two of whose children were killed in the blaze Friday night.

Thomas pleaded innocent at his arraignment, however, and asked for a preliminary hearing. No date was set.

The Capitol at Washington and the Mormon Tabernacle at Salt Lake City have the two famous whispering galleries of the United States.

Blind Man Run Down

DETROIT (AP)—A partly blind man was struck and killed by a car in Detroit Tuesday night. Hillard C. King, 55, of Detroit, the victim, was hit on an outlying street as he walked with his back to traffic, police said. He was carrying a white cane. The car driver was not held.

Singapore Police Cleared in Killing

SINGAPORE (AP)—Coroner K. T. Alexander today cleared Singapore's police department of responsibility for the death of American correspondent Gene D. Symonds. He ruled Symonds was murdered by "a person or persons unknown" in Communist-inspired rioting here last May 12.

Alexander, at the end of the three-day inquest into the death of the 29-year-old United Press correspondent, said he found Symonds died as a result of a fractured skull and laceration of the brain sustained when a mob of 500 attacked him with sticks, stones, bricks and bottles.

"I am satisfied no member of the police force was criminally responsible or concerned with his death," the coroner said.

He added that Symonds was on a "hazardous assignment and went about it in the best traditions of journalism although he knew and was warned of the certain danger of entering the riot area."

State Pays for Church

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—St. Patrick's Church, a Grand Haven landmark for nearly 100 years, has been sold to the State Highway Department for the new U. S. 31 right of way. Spokesmen of the Grand Rapids Catholic Diocese said a cash settlement of $90,000 was made by the state. They said construction of a new church will begin in September or October.

Adenauer, Cabinet Discussing Red Bid for 'Normalization' Meeting in Moscow

BONN, Germany (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer called his Cabinet together today to study the Soviet Union's surprise invitation for him to visit Moscow. The Russians said "normalization of relations" was their aim.

The Chancellor, staunch exponent of his country's rearmament as an ally of the West, declined last night to comment on the Soviet bid. He was known to be personally reluctant to make such a trip because of his past policy of uncompromising anticommunism.

But pressure mounted from political allies and foes alike. Political circles here generally acknowledged it would be difficult for him to refuse.

Eugen Gerstenmaier, president (speaker) of the Parliament's lower house and a member of Adenauer's own Christian Democratic party, came out flatly "in favor of accepting the offer of the Russian government to resume diplomatic relations."

The leader of the opposition Socialist party, Erich Ollenhauer, said Adenauer's reaction to the Soviet invitation would clarify whether "the federal government is really prepared to negotiate with the Soviet government over German unity." The Socialists for a long time have demanded negotiations with the Russians.

It was believed Adenauer would take no firm action on the invitation until after his visit next week to the United States, where he will see President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles. He will lunch with British Prime Minister Eden June 19, on his way home.

In Washington, the State Department had no formal comment on the Russian overture. U.S. officials appeared unenthusiastic about any Adenauer - Kremlin negotiations, but they too conceded German refusal would be difficult.

Most leading Bonn politicians professed not to be surprised at the Russian offer to set up normal diplomatic relations with West Germany. But they were surprised it came so soon, only a month after their country had been given its sovereignty.

Ship Hit by Missile

DETROIT (AP)—The ore carrier George R. Fink docked yesterday with a six-inch hole drilled in its hatch cover by a rocket missile which hit the vessel while it was passing through an Air Force target area. The dummy missile buried itself harmlessly in the ship's iron ore cargo. An Air Force spokesman said the carrier missed warning devices established to keep ships out of the area.

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—The Martinique Hotel came under fire of the AFL hotel employes union today as the latest to be offered a choice of negotiating or facing a picket line.

Dave Herman, special organizer for the union, said he expected the hotel management to reply to a letter which Herman sent outlining the union's demands. It would be the 20th to be picketed in the 56-day strike.

The Robert Richter refused to negotiate yesterday and picket lines were thrown up last night.

Senate Probes Buying Further

Harry Lev Called Back for More Questions on Alleged Bribes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chicago hat maker Harry Lev, who swears he never bribed government procurement officers, was called back today for more questioning by a Senate subcommittee after signing a $5,089.38 "restitution" check as evidence of good faith.

Subcommittee aides said Lev would be asked more about alleged bribes and about his relations with Mrs. Mella Hort, a striking former government worker who supervised some of his contract dealings with the armed services. The 52-year-old Lev, terming these relations "social," yesterday begged the investigators not to press him further on that point.

Specifically, the aides said Lev would be questioned about prior hearsay testimony by Leon M. Levy, a New York business rival of Lev, that Mrs. Hort tried to blackmail Lev for $15,000 to stay silent about some allegedly unusual and profitable aspects of Lev's government contracts. Mrs. Hort has denied the blackmail allegations under oath.

Lev signed the check — to show "I'm no chiseler"—after he was confronted with testimony that he got a 1951 government contract to make 169,646 garrison caps at 21 cents apiece—3 cents more than his final bid.

He swore yesterday he never bribed any government employe to get a contract. He denied he had paid $50,000 or any other sum to Air Force Capt. Raymond Wool, who formerly headed military clothing procurement activities in New York.

Wool, who has denied getting bribes, is confined by the Air Force at Wright - Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, pending further investigation of his story.

HISTORIC HOME DESTROYED — Flames rage through the Grafton Carrier home, North Conway, N. H., minutes after it was hit by a bolt of lightning. Built in 1823 as one of the first homes in that section of the White Mountains it was known as the "Deering Place." Nobody was injured and Carrier freed two Collie dogs trapped inside. Many valuable antiques were lost in the $30,000 fire.

Dean Martin Embarrassed by Feud Tales

Martin is heading to Hawaii for a vacation with his wife. Lewis is in New York to attend the premiere of the team's latest movie. It's purely a temporary parting of the ways, Martin said yesterday. He said he and Lewis will remain together as a team.

Martin said a misunderstanding developed when he refused to go to the movie premiere, to be held in a Catskill Mountain resort where Lewis was once a busboy, because he felt that most of the limelight would be on Lewis.

He didn't know Lewis was going alone until after his departure, Martin said. "I'm not mad," he said. "But naturally I'm upset. All this publicity makes me look like a heel."

Uncle Sam Is Looking for German Shepherds

MINNEAPOLIS (UP) — If you are a German shepard between the ages of 1 and 3, Uncle Sam wants YOU!

The Air Force wants the dogs for sentry duty at installations.

The Air Force will send planes to communities which can round up 10 or more German shepards which meet service qualifications.

The service accepts either male or female dogs with the qualification that females must be spayed at least 120 days before enlistment.

Tariff Cuts Okayed in New Trade Bill Near Passage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional sources said today the United States plans to embark shortly on a new round of tariff cutting under authority given President Eisenhower in a compromise foreign trade bill nearing final passage.

Senate - House confrees agreed on the measure yesterday, breaking a month long deadlock. The final product is considered acceptable to Eisenhower.

The chief new power would authorize the President to cut tariffs up to 5 per cent a year over the next three years or to lower to 50 per cent any duties now above that level. This is the first new grant of tariff-cutting power since 1945.

It also would extend the 21-year-old reciprocal trade agreements law for three years, to June 30, 1958, the longest extension in a decade.

The compromise bill is to come up first in the House early next week, then in the Senate for final legislative action.

Congressional source said the United States is likely to participate in a new international bargaining conference within about six months to make use of the new power to cut tariffs. The reductions would be offered in return for similar concessions from other nations in trade pacts.

Koreans Hit Jap Aid

SEOUL (AP)—Korean war veterans, 200 of them, battled with police an hour today in anti-Japanese demonstrations. The melee took place in front of the Capitol as leaders shouted "Charge" to the veterans who sought to see President Syngman Rhee. They carried banners demanding "Stop U.S. aid to pro-Communist Japan."

21,500 in Paris Attend Graham Crusade So Far

PARIS (AP) — U. S. Evangelist Billy Graham's total attendance in Paris mounted to 21,500 persons last night. His five-night crusade has two more sessions to run.

Spokesman for the Baptist preacher said 1,396 persons had made "decisions for Christ" so far during the revival.

Although the Paris crowds have been much smaller than during his recent seven-week campaign in Britain, Graham has said he is "extremely gratified" by the response.

"All those who refuse to repent after hearing the Gospel will be judged," he told his audience last night. "You, like many Americans, have refused to repent.

"God gives you the command to repent . . . get out of your seats and come quietly and reverently."

Would Let Railways Drop Poor Lines

CHICAGO (UP)—Since the days of railroad monopoly are over, railway management needs more freedom to deal with competition of truck, inland water and air transport, members of the American Railway Engineering Association were told here.

N. R. Crump, vice president of Canadian Pacific Railway, said railways no longer can afford to operate services that do not pay.

Once they were assured of getting whatever traffic the community had to offer and could charge enough for other services to cover losses on poor-paying trains and thin density lines.

"Railways should not be permitted to abandon unprofitable rail services," argued Crump, "and to substitute truck and bus where needed, either to provide local transportation or to protect the interests of the railway as a low-cost carrier dependent upon volume for its economy and efficiency."

Study Ways to Aid Poor U.S. Farmers

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Farm leaders from throughout the nation studied ways today to aid low-income farmers.

The two-day conference was called by the Department of Agriculture to lay a practical framework for a new program aimed at offering low-income farmers more education and opportunity.

Suggested aids include better credit facilities, greater vocational education, development of rural industries and an aggressive farm extension service with special stress on the needs of poor farmers.

Urges Federal Smoking Study

Senator Asks Probe of Tobacco Industry by Agriculture Dept.

WASHINGTON (UP) — A million-dollar tobacco research program aimed partly at helping scientists determine whether there is a connection between smoking and lung cancer has just been proposed in Congress.

Sen. Scott (D-NC) introduced a resolution which would direct the Agriculture Department to carry out a study of all phases of tobacco production, marketing and consumption.

In a statement prepared for delivery in the Senate, Scott discussed difficulties which he said have made tobacco production a "more and more dangerous financial undertaking for the small farmer." Then he pointed to the millions being spent on medical research and added:

"The consumer of tobacco also has been having a hard time of it in the last year or so. There have been a lot of scare headlines and some loose talk about the possibility that smoking causes lung cancer."

There is a good federal and state tobacco research program, Scott said, "but it has been far too small in its scope." He said the federal government gets over a billion and a half dollars a year in tobacco taxes and spends "only a paltry $500,000" on research.

To emphasize the importance of his proposal to the public, Scott cited statistics indicating that Americans over 15 years old use an average of over 13 pounds of tobacco a year—the equivalent of 5,150 cigarettes—and spend 5 billion dollars for it. He said the crop is fifth in importance in farm income, averaging over a billion dollars a year in value.

In his discussion of the need for more research from an agricultural standpoint, Scott said the average crop loss from plant diseases alone over the past 10 years has been nearly one-fourth.

CRIPPLED BUT NOT CRAMPED—Crutches and useless legs don't cramp the dancing style of Jimmy Dempsey of Atlanta, Ga. The 17 year old, shown jitterbugging his way through a fast number with Linda Winslett, 15, is also manager and pitcher for a sandlot baseball team. He was born with soft bones, and his legs have been stunted by about 60 fractures.

Undraped Mayor From New York Is Hit in Britain

LONDON (UP)—New York Mayor Robert Wagner has found that he can get by in Britain even if he doesn't have the ceremonial robes and chains of office the British expect mayors to appear in.

The visiting New York mayor wore white tie and tails last night at a banquet given in his honor in the ancient Guildhall. But London's lord mayor, Sir Seymour Howard, in his official costume outglittered his transatlantic visitor.

"They didn't seem to mind that I just don't have an insignia of office," Wagner said. "I explained that we just haven't got them."

Wagner, whose casual manners have both charmed and surprised Britons, told newsmen that "everyone has been so gracious to my wife and me. People have been wonderful."

Wagner and his wife were received by Queen Mother Elizabeth earlier yesterday. They also attended the opening of Parliament.

Galesburg Woman 100

Should Take Up Crime

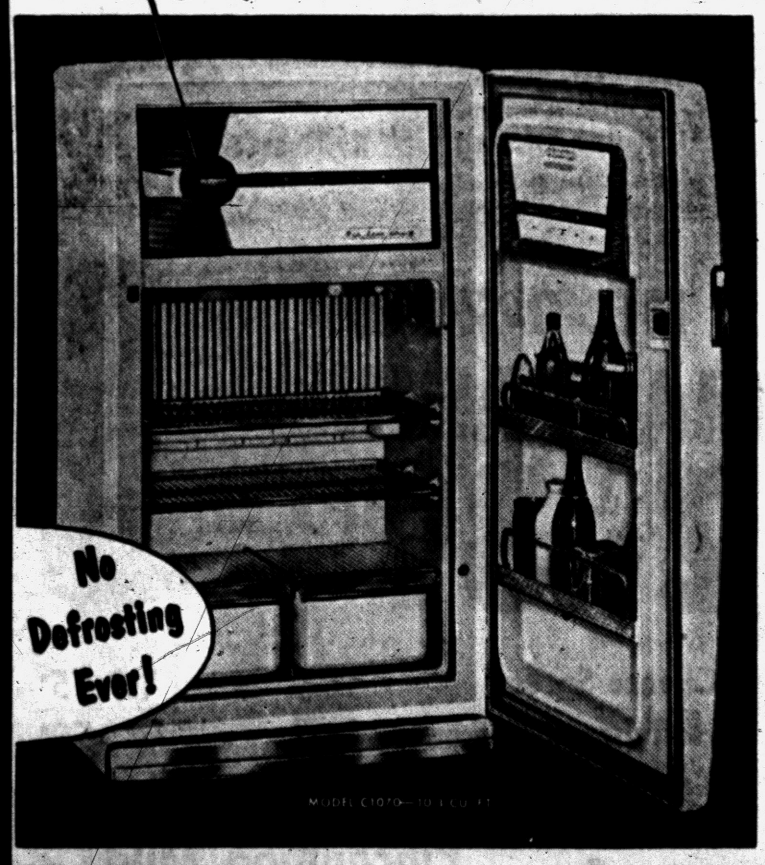

MEAD, Neb. (UP)—Police are glad Virginia Siercks never considered a life of crime. A secretary at the Nebraska Ordinance Plant, she has fingers that defy ordinary fingerprinting methods. She was sent to the Nebraska military district in Omaha where an expert diagnosed the problem. Her finger tips are so fine and sensitive that any silght pressure causes the ink to smear. It took the expert almost two hours, but he finally got a readable copy of Virginia's prints.

Hospital Program Aids Emotionally Disturbed Children

By JUDY CLEMENCE

An exceptional program is directed toward emotionally disturbed children living at Pontiac State Hospital. It is a program geared to their needs and interests.

It is a program designed to give the child a feeling of belonging and a sense of security. This is done through informal talks with the case worker, through occupational and recreational measures and through group projects.

Essential to the program is individual and group therapy with the psychiatrist.

And at Pontiac State Hospital a ward has been changed from a mere living unit into a real home — a place which these youngsters are very proud to call home.

But what about these children? How did they come to Pontiac State Hospital, and what is significant about their treatment?

BORN OUT OF NEED

The Child Pyschiatry Program at the hospital was born out of community needs for residential treatment of these distrubed youngsters. Dr. Ivan A. LaCore, medical superintendent, aware of these needs encouraged the program development.

The significant part of their treatment is that they are given opportunities to grow in their community just the same as youngsters are in other communities. They can "belong" to groups, share in the activity, and they can govern such groups.

But let's go back to February, 1954 when the program began (at that time it was estimated by Michigan Child Guidance centers that there were some 600 youngsters requiring residential treatment.)

In the past the hospital had accepted young people, but this was a rare thing. So, with the coming of these youngsters, it was evident that an entirely different treatment program was needed.

From its inauspicious beginning there has been a steady progression of a program designed to meet the needs of emotionally handicapped young people.

At the onset of the program there was real question in the minds of mental health authorities as to whether a children's program could be developed at a state hospital without prior programming.

Certainly the results speak for themselves.

Dr. James M. McHugh, in charge of the children's program, came to the hospital without knowledge of a possible children's program. His medical background in the specialty of pediatrics, and his manifest interest led to his assignment to the children's program in 1954.

The program began with some seven children and has expanded to more than 30. These emotionally handicapped youngsters were so disturbed that even walks on the grounds seemed impossible.

And in the beginning they did present a major problem to ward and department administration. But from destructive, hostile, withdrawn and non-productive levels of activity, there was a steady progression to comfortably, controlled productive living.

This, Dr. McHugh points out, is not accomplished in a short time. Months and sometimes years of treatment are necessary.

At the onset the children were mixed with adults on adult wards, and participated in therapeutic activities with these patients.

Gradually over the past 16 months a specialized program has developed. Today the children have their own ward which they share with some of the adults.

These youngsters have proved to hospital personnel that they can care for their ward—in fact it is their prized possession.

Through the help of the community, they have hobby material available to them, they enjoy radio and TV, tropical fish, a rumpus room and they even own a parakeet.

From uncontrolled, anti-social behavior in the recreational therapy department where locked doors were necessary, they now have reached the level of group participation in sports. They have full freedom of the grounds and go on weekly trips to points educational and recreational in the community.

These youngsters are now able to mix with crowds and mingle as any youngster might. So much so that they have been participating at special periods at the Pontiac Boys' Club for some eight months.

IMPROVEMENT SEEN

Club Director William V. Coulacos has seen such improvement that he feels their behavior to be on the level of the general membership of the club. He states that from strict group supervision, they now require no supervision.

During the first several months it was impossible to have more than one youngster in the Occupational Therapy department at the same time.

The idea of producing something worth while was viewed by the youngsters with disgust. Through continued therapy, the point has been reached where they are proud of their handicraft in a group situation.

ENTER 4-H PROGRAM

So proud, in fact, that they entered in the Oakland County 4-H Achievement Day Awards program where they received eight blue and two red ribbons.

Finally on May 24 they held their own achievement day presentation.

They carried out a formal business meeting most successfully, and each youngster spoke of his gratitude to Dr. McHugh and Dr. LaCore for helping him through his illness.

They manifested remarkable insight and told of the pride they take in their ward. One boy said it was truly a real home. They were aware that individuals and groups in the community provided many of their activities.

The youngsters also have a 4-H garden project — the second such now is in progress. They entered the Oakland County 4-H Fair with vegetables and flowers, taking nine blue and three red ribbons.

There is a remedial school in progress for the children. A two-fold goal of reawakening the joy of learning, and learning concrete subjects has been successful.

ACCEPT SCHOOL

From a complete rejection of school, these youngsters have accepted and attended school voluntarily.

The first youngster to return to his home after being hospitalized for six months at present is in the top 10 per cent of his class.

Since this first success there have been several other such successes, and for the most part with less than 12 months of treatment.

Though great strides have been taken, the Child Psychiatry Program is far from complete. Much is still necessary in every area.

CREDITS VOLUNTEERS

Dr. McHugh gives a great deal of credit for the successful program to the volunteers who have given of their time and through their contributions.

Although the hospital provides the basic needs, Dr. McHugh points out an intelligent, responsible community had added tremendously to its progress.

Service organizations, men's and women's clubs, church groups and individuals have given intelligently of their support of the program the psychiatrist said.

And as Dr. McHugh further points out, important aspects of any successful program are the volunteer groups working within the structure.

One phase of the program is cooking which is of special interest to the patients. Miss Wyngarden is executive director of the Pontiac Camp Fire Girls and Miss Schrieder is field director.

REMEDIAL SCHOOL VOLUNTEERS — Mrs. William Baldwin, 745 Hupp Cross, Birmingham (left) and Mrs. Richard Jones, 1070 Lincoln Ct. are volunteers in the remedial school for children at Pontiac State Hospital. At the time of admittance to the hospital these youngsters rejected school. They now have reached the point where they accept and attend school voluntarily.

VOLUNTEERS AID PATIENTS — Mrs. William A. Hyland, 30620 Telegraph Rd. (left) and Mrs. Edward E. Wilson (right) 5380 Beach Rd., Birmingham visit the Pontiac State Hospital each week to help youngsters with their garden project. Their second garden is in progress now, and for their efforts last year they were awarded several ribbons at the Oakland 4-H Fair.

Are Big Labor Unions Heading for Day When Success Will Backfire on Them?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Are big labor unions heading for the day when, by their very success in winning benefits for their members, they no longer can get the support of those members in a showdown with a company or industry?

This much can be taken as a truism:

The bigger the stake a worker has in the company which employs him, the bigger his reason for not wanting it to suffer loss or ruin, as it might from a strike.

By a strike is meant such things as a pension, with the size of it based on years of service and earnings; company stock which a worker may own; the medical and hospital bills which a company pays; and so on.

The CIO United Auto Workers has just negotiated an impressive contract with the Ford Motor Co. For a time the company offered to let its employes buy Ford stock. This offer did not become part of the contract. The company may make the offer again.

In time UAW may obtain a contract covering stock ownership and better pensions, guaranted wages and pay scales—which may profoundly affect workers' attitude toward the company and make them more conservative.

Suppose then the UAW made demands for some new benefits which, while nice to have, were far less than those already obtained. Would the workers strike to win them, taking a chance on losing everything, just to back the union?

Unions may face that problem some day. An old question arises: Can any union be effective if it can't back up its demands?

Perhaps in time the role of unions may have to take a form not now discerned. For example: What happens when a company lets union members buy its stock? Is their allegiance then divided between company and union? Or do they, through the union, demand a voice in running the company to protect their investment?

In the future workers almost certainly will tend to be tied far more strongly to companies which guarantee them 52 weeks' pay a year, work or no work, and have good pension plans. Such workers will have abundant reason to stay with one company and in one town or city.

With an assured future, they can make their own long-range plans, such as in home buying and educating their children. It seems reasonable to believe that the more deeply workers' lives get tied into the success of a business, the more conservative they will become.

Algomah Starts Runs

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — The ferry Algomah II will leave Wednesday for its summer run between Mackinaw City and Mackinac Island. The ship has been in winter quarters here since last fall.

Cause of Ionia Riot Bewilders Officials

LANSING (AP) — State corrections officials were at a loss today to explain the cause of Monday's miniature riot at the Ionia State Reformatory.

Following questioning of the four young inmates involved in the disorder, state Corrections Director Gus Harrison said:

"Thus far I can't find any basic cause for the disturbance."

The four seized two storekeepers and held them hostage in a storeroom. They demanded to see Warden Garrett Heyns, who insisted that he would not talk to the trouble-makers until they released the hostages.

The disorder was quelled in about half an hour and the four inmates placed in solitary confinement.

Plan to Probe Prisoners' Release

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said today he will act immediately to investigate the manner in which weekend prisoners are released on bond from Oakland County Jail.

The probe was requested by Pontiac Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan in a letter to Ziem. The judge indicated he feels many prisoners could be set free on bonds supplied by them without necessity of paying a 10 per cent commission to obtain the money from bondsmen.

The judge said he understands some prisoners are released by magistrates following a phone call from bondsmen who suggest the amount of a bond. "Sometimes the amount of the fine is less than the amount a defendant pays a bondsman for his release," Finnegan stated.

The judge said, in his opinion, a magistrate has no authority to order such a release until the person has been arraigned before him, which normally is on the Monday morning after a weekend arrest.

Ziem said he will investigate and then call a meeting with Sheriff Frank W. Irons, Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum, Finnegan and any others deemed necessary.

"We'll meet with a view to insuring a standard system for release in the future which will be equal and fair under the law," he explained.

The prosecutor joined with Finnegan in commending Irons for "his all-out effort to correct any injustices which may have occurred in the past."

"As a matter of law," said Ziem, "when an arrest is made without a warrant the judge or justice has no right to release the prisoner prior to arraignment in court.

"If the arrest is made with a warrant, then the prisoner has a right to be brought before the magistrate issuing the warrant for arraignment and setting of bond."

Finnegan and Ziem both stated they don't suggest a weekend prisoner must always remain in jail until Monday morning.

"I suggest that a release should be handled directly by the arresting or local law enforcement agent who in my opinion is the only legal party who can request the sheriff to release a prisoner," said Finnegan.

"For example, in Pontiac, the Pontiac Police Department. This would eliminate the shadow of a bondsmen over the jail house."

The judge said bonds are often set too high and should "never be more than the usual fine for the offense alleged . . . local residents working in factories are not going to flee the state because of a disorderly charge."

Chinese Reds Throw Artillery at Isles

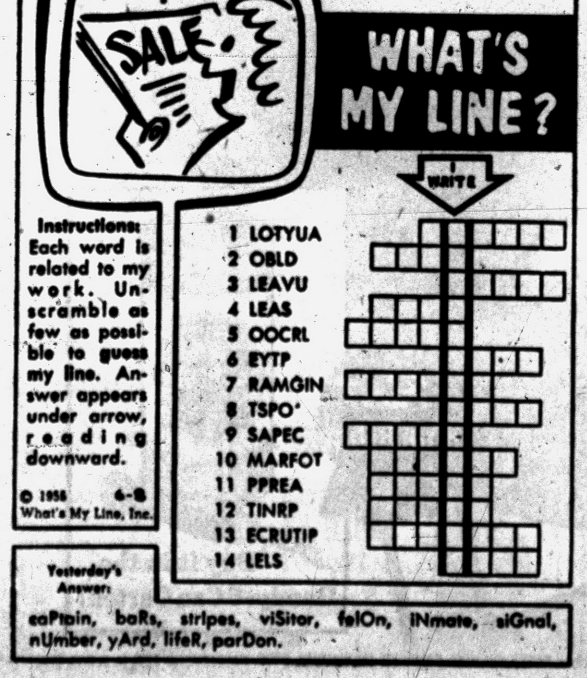

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Minor Communist shelling in the Amoy-Quemoy area took place today 120 miles west of Formosa but caused no casualties, the Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry said.

In the first shelling since Friday, Red guns fired 16 rounds at Ehrtan, an islet 2½ miles south of Communist Amoy.

In all 18 men were trapped in the collapse yesterday. Rescue workers freed eight by midnight but three of these died of injuries. The rescuers reached the other eight early today but only one was still alive.

UM Medical Students Getting Chances to Try Research Projects

ANN ARBOR (AP)—One of the problems for men of medicine has always been that students with the interest and ability to do medical research never got the chance.

But a quiet program at the University of Michigan is giving undergraduate medical students that chance—and it's paying off.

One night recently, eight of these students stood before a medical audience and read their own research papers. They had not yet earned the right to the name doctor, but they were contributing to the encyclopedic knowledge of medicine.

Prof. Burton L. Baker, anatomist at the university, said that today's medical students approach medical school "primarily to learn to become a doctor, not a research man."

And, he said, medical courses are built along these lines at Michigan. The few who find they want to do research in medicine are handicapped.

Prof. Baker said that the medical field "is so crowded with knowledge that students must be taught a little knowledge about a lot of things."

TRAIN DOCTORS

The primary objective of the medical school is to train practicing doctors. If a student wants to go into medical research, he must go beyond that into specialized work on one field.

A lot of medical students don't have time to go into research in their regular studies. To remedy this, the university began a schedule of summer scholarships.

The program has been under way for six years and students have responded with a growing interest. When it first was offered in 1948, few tried it. But now, the candidate list has grown to 20 to 30 a year.

Sponsored by a faculty member in the field they choose, the medical students receive a $500 scholarship for eight to weeks summer work on a problem that interests them.

Nancy F. Thoms of Holland worked last summer on the effects of removing the pituitary gland and how it affects the production of digestive juices by the pancreas.

Gerald Abrahms of Detroit worked on the removal of the pituitary gland and its effects on the production of digestive juices by the stomach.

WORK SIMILAR

Their work was similar. Both concerned themselves with the tiny gland located in the brain that is believed to control the functions of other glands in the body. Their work was done on dogs.

Both of them proved their point. The pituitary gland apparently governs the production of trypsin by the pancreas and pepsin by the stomach. But more important, they had a glimpse into the world of research, where much is believed to be so, but little has been proved.

Charles L. Votaw of Muskegon probed the development of secondary portions of the brain as motor areas. John L. London of Olivet worked on the action of alcohol on the stomach. Gerald J. Gleich of Escanaba worked on "A Study of Nitrogen Metabolism in Regenerating and Repleting Rat Livers."

The students competed for available scholarships. The money financed their research was provided in gifts from medical groups, pharmaceutical houses and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Commuter Too Eager

DENVILLE, N. J. (AP)—Commuter David Kennedy, 33, of Indian Lake, awoke with a start on a Lackawanna Railroad train and saw he had slept through his stop. He rushed to the door as the train was moving out of the station, jumped and struck his head. Taken to a hospital, he was treated for concussion and shock and reported in good condition.

The American Legion was organized at Paris, France, in 1919. It was incorporated by an act of Congress on Sept. 16, 1919.

Moscow Papers Trying to Scalp Ticket Scalpers

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow newspapers are needling the police to do away with the ticker scalper. How this can be done, when there are not enough tickets to go around, is not explained.

Evening Moscow tells how the family Kolosov was held up at Dynamo Stadium in Moscow by a scalper who demanded many times the admission price for a football match. Kolosov's shouts brought a policeman, who collared the ticket speculator with the remark "an old acquaintance."

Then the Kolosovs wanted to go to the Bolshoi Theater, in downtown Moscow near the Kremlin. There they got the same business. A speculator asked a hundred rubles ($25 at the official rate) for two tickets.

Here again, says Evening Moscow, the speculator was a man "well known to the militia (police)."

The Kolosovs turned away from the Bolshoi and tried a movie theater. Again they were confronted with long queues and the whispering speculator who tried to scalp tickets at profit.

Disgusted, the Kolosovs went home.

Expects Delivery of Forrestal in '55

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy expects delivery of the 60,000-ton supercarrier Forrestal late this year—the first of five ships of that class to cost an estimated 973 million dollars.

However, the first of this new class flattop—largest of any Navy vessel—is not expected to join the operating fleet until sometime next spring. A long shakedown period is necessary first.

Present estimated cost of the Forrestal, without her planes, but with armor and armament, is $197,859,000. This, the Navy says, is a substantial saving over the originally estimated cost of 219 millions.

Hold Machinist in Kidnap Try

Man, 63, Admits He Attempted to Abduct Millionaire's Grandson

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Jesse Moore, 63, who was to be married next Sunday and needed money, has been charged with attempted kidnaping.

Detective Capt. William Browne said Moore, a machinist, had admitted trying to kidnap a 6-year-old grandson of a millionaire Portland industrialist.

Moore was taken into custody shortly after an intruder broke into the home of Mrs. Lillian Weinstein early Monday and tried to grab one of her twin sons to hold for $20,000 ransom.

The intruder was driven off by Mrs. Weinstein and her mother, and he fled by diving head-first through a window. But he left behind the ransom note and a gun.

Moore identified the gun as his and said, at first, it had been stolen from him the night before.

But after extensive questioning yesterday he broke down and admitted the attempt, Browne said.

Moore became acquainted with the Weinstein family through Mrs. Grace Clancy, whom he was to marry next Sunday. Mrs. Clancy lives next door to the Weinsteins.

It was Mrs. Clancy who recognized the pistol that the intruder left in the Weinstein home. She recalled she had seen it in Moore's house. She called Moore to tell him of it and he then reported to the police that the gun had been stolen.

Later he identified the gun as his own, Browne said.

Bail for Moore was set at $20,000.

Mrs. Weinstein, a divorcee, is the daughter of S. J. Zidell, head of a machinery and supply company here.

Lack of Exercise Blamed for Your Aches

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Maybe your aches, pains and tensions are due to hypokinetic disease.

That means lack of motion or exercise.

And there's evidence, a medical team said today, that lack of exercise makes you a more likely candidate for heart attacks, for diabetes, backaches, tensions or "nerves," fatness, stiff neck and a few other ailments.

The case for exercise and physical fitness for health and longevity was presented to the American Medical Assn. by Dr. Hans Kraus, Miss Bonnie Pruden Hirschland and Dr. Kurt Hirschhorn of the Institute for Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, New York University.

They cited studies, some of them their own, showing:

Heart attacks are twice as common among London bus drivers, who sit down all day, as among bus conductors, who move about.

Fifty six per cent of several thousand U. S. children couldn't pass six simple muscle tests, as against 8 per cent of European youngsters.

Among 5,000 adults with backaches, 80 per cent had no organic or physical difficulty, but couldn't pass six simple exercise tests for strength and flexibility of key muscles for posture. Given some corrective exercises, their backaches disappeared.

The medical team said the physically inactive person shows signs of aging earlier than the exercisers. The nonexerciser is less well equipped to meet stresses and sudden emergencies.

Underexercising "may well contribute to organic disease by storing emotional tension and producing all the diseases associated with stress," the report declared.

It said some studies find a greater tendency in the physically inactive for ulcer of the duodenum or first part of the intestine, for cancer of the lung, appendicitis, cancer of the prostate gland, diabetes and cirrhosis of the liver.

Diabetics who exercise need less insulin, and have fewer blood vessel complications, Kraus said.

He said "lack of movement plays a more or less important role in varicose veins, thrombophlebitis (clots in veins), hemorrhoids and muscle atrophy."

"To protect the health of the individual, and the safety of the nation, it is imperative to increase physical activity from early childhood through old age. The medical profession should restore physical activity and exercise to its proper place in the treatment and prevention of disease."

Menon, Eden Confer on Formosa Talks

LONDON (AP) — V. K. Krishna Menon conferred with Prime Minister Eden today on prospects of a Formosa settlement between Red China and the West. It was their third meeting in six days.

The Indian diplomat, who recently conducted discussions with Red Chinese leaders in Peiping, flies tonight to North America for a round of meetings with Canadian leaders in Ottawa, and with U. S. leaders, including President Eisenhower, in Washington.

No official word has yet been heard on the nature and scope of Menon's discussions with British government chiefs. It has been reported, however, that he has been trying to enlist British support for a program intended eventually to bring Red China and the United States together in a conference about the future of Formosa and other issues of East-West tension in the Far East.

LA Firm Wants Court Protection From Golf Balls

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A manufacturing company wants Superior Court to protect it from bombardment by golf balls.

The Frito Co. plant adjoins the Manchester golf course and driving range. There's a fence between the properties, but it isn't golfball proof, the company's petition said yesterday.

The fence is in such a state of disrepair that balls pass right through, and, since July 1954, have shattered 13 window panes and a truck windshield, Frito attorneys said.

The firm's 180 employes are so leery of the danger, the suit asserts, that morale is drooping, hurting company business. For this the plant asks $15,000. It also asks the court for an injunction to end the alleged hazard.

Wingless Plane on Trial Friday

Virginia Railroad Man Hopes Craft Will Work on Ground, in Air

EMPORIA, Va. (AP) — Charles Pritchard, a railroader by profession, is set to try out Friday a wingless aircraft he developed because he remembers "once when I had to walk five miles from an airport to town."

A mile-long runway at Emporia airport will be the scene of the test by Pritchard, who says he's worked "to develop something like this for 10 years for air travel and highway travel."

The initial test flight will be tried under the supervision of P. R. Steinman of Richmond, aviation safety agent for the Civil Aeronautics Administration. Government officials also are scheduled to be on hand.

Pritchard, an assistant gang foreman for the Virginian Railroad who also is a licensed pilot with about 600 hours of flying time, explained his aluminum craft has been designed as a combination aircraft-car.

It looks something like a plane —minus the wings. The "rocket air ship"—as Pritchard calls it—is 21 feet long, 98 inches wide and weighs about 800 pounds. He figures the craft can be taxied on roadways.

The body of the plane is made entirely of aluminum. Each side has baffles (or fins) of varying length. From a technical standpoint, Pritchard points out the fins "hold air in the proper channel over the hull of the ship to give the hull its lift."

Pritchard says the craft has some characteristics of airships (lighter than air), airplanes and helicopters. Allerons for changing directions in flight are on the sides of the plane.

Pritchard worked in general production for Goodyear Aircraft in World War II.

If the tests prove successful, Pritchard says he wants to start commercial production — preferably in this area of southern Virginia. He says the cost so far has been about $1,500 — not including the hundreds of hours he's put into its development.

Pritchard has been an employe of the railroad since 1924 except for his wartime work in the aircraft industry.

Signals Work Fine in Unplanned Test

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A new electronic device for turning traffic signals red, automatically, as fire engines approach was demonstrated here.

Fire trucks had repeatedly roared through the intersection of Western and Florence Avenues to show that sirens weren't necessary—because electronic gear automatically halted traffic by changing the signals to red.

Then, before cameramen had a chance to leave, there came the sound of a siren. A real fire had been reported. Trucks and pumpers sped toward the intersection, the traffic lights turned red, and all traffic halted. The fire equipment rolled through as cameras clicked.

Asst. Chief H. N. Johnson of Station 66 and officials of North American Aviation, which developed the electronic device, broke into grins. The first authentic tests of Natecs (North American Traffic Emergency Control System) had been a success.

SINGAPORE (AP) — Leftist-led strikes of some 2,100 factory workers shut down two plants today, including a Firestone Rubber Co. unit. The strikers demanded pay raises and better working conditions.

The walkouts also affected the British - owned Hume Industries factory.

Pontiac Press Photos

Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary members have dubbed their coming dance, "Artistry in Rhythm" and have brought easels and pallettes to the fore to stress the point. Shown with some of their handiwork done in the modern mood are (left to right) Mrs. Don Anderson of Spokane drive, Mrs. James Wilkinson of Gateway drive and Mrs. Frank Oosterhof of Mohawk road. They'll hang the works of art in the ballroom of Hotel Pontiac, in time for the Saturday benefit dance which will get under way at 9:30 Saturday evening.

All alone by the telephone but hoping to get plenty of response at the other end is Mrs. Dale Carney of Mohawk road. She's ringing up her friends to remind them that the Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary will hold a semi-formal dance for the benefit of Camp Oakland on Saturday. A local orchestra will provide dance tunes for the activity, which will begin at 9:30 p.m. at Hotel Pontiac.

'Artistry in Rhythm' Is the Theme

Patrons have been named for the benefit dance to be given Saturday evening by the Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary. The dance, with proceeds slated for Camp Oakland, will begin at 9:30 at Hotel Pontiac.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson, the Robert Howards, Dr. and Mrs. F. Milton Hathaway, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth VandenBerg, the Lynn Allens and Dr. and Mrs. James O. Whitmer.

Blending in with the artistic theme of the dance will be an exhibition of contemporary American paintings, used as decorations throughout the ballroom.

Local PTA Holds Installation, Workshop Tuesday

Mrs. Stewart Schweizer, consultant for the parent-teacher leadership training for the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, performed the rite of installation at the mass installation of PTA officers at a dinner held at Webster School Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Schweizer stressed that the officers thus installed were the fruits of all other past PTA presidents and workers who earnestly strived to accomplish the objects and ideals of PTA.

Installed as officers of Pontiac council for the coming year are Mrs. William Wright, president; Mrs. William Mihalek, first vice-president; Warren Abbott, second vice president; Mrs. Cyril Davis, recording secretary; Mrs. Merlin Sanderson, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. William Anderson, treasurer; Mrs. Francis Oak, historian and Ellsworth Sturdy, auditor, also were installed.

Special guests introduced were Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of Pontiac schools, and Mrs. Whitmer, Philip Wargelin, principal of Lincoln Junior High school, and Mrs. Wargelin, J. Cecil Cox, assistant superintendent of Pontiac schools, and Mrs. Schweizer.

Also introduced were Virginia Baker, recipient of the new PTA Teacher scholarship, as well as Charlene Deeg, winner of the original PTA Teacher Scholarship.

RECEIVE AWARD

Mrs. Paul Gorman received the Distinguished Service Award of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers. Ralph Dawe, president of Webster School, made the presentation.

Several workshops were held. Mrs. Wright conducted a conference on presidents, and the incoming presidents were informed on their duties and responsibilities.

A workshop on program was led by Mrs. Mihalek. Problems that are of general interest to the community and school in particular may be met by discussion groups or panels, it was pointed out.

The group meeting with Mrs. Gorman and George Yansen, principal of Wever Junior High School, discussed secondary schools. Suggestions that were most feasible for meeting the problems of each secondary school were discussed, and it was recommended that these suggestions be put into action.

A workshop on finance was led by Mrs. Donald North. She stressed that PTA is a non-profit organization, and told how PTA funds should be used, giving as an example the PTA Scholarship. Budget planning was discussed.

Lester Stanley, principal of Hawthorne School, led a discussion on father vice-presidents. He outlined the purposes and responsibilities of this group.

An active group would be alert to the problems of the community, and could sparkplug the interest that would iron out these problems as they begin in their immediate neighborhood and school.

Mrs. North made arrangements for this dinner, assisted by Mrs. Leonard Saari and Mrs. Gorman. Girl Scout Troop 54 of Crofoot School helped serve.

By JANET ODELL

Michigan's summer theater season openeed last night accompanied by a chilling rainstorm.

Inside the converted apple barn that houses Will-O-Way Playhouse a small but warmly receptive audience applauded F. Hugh Herbert's comedy, "The Moon Is Blue."

Directed by William W. Merrill, four professional players ably handled the romantic comedy. In a play that demanded a great deal of tete-a-tete conversation, they kept interest up with their excellent facial expressions.

Maggie O'Hara, who plays the only feminine role, is a newcomer to the Detroit area. She is a veteran theater and television actress.

ROMANTIC INTEREST

The romantic lead was adequately handled by Michael Keith who made his Will-O-Way debut in 1954. Like Miss O'Hara, Keith is experienced in both stage and television work. His "tall, dark and handsome" appearance as Donald Gresham made the perfect foil for his leading lady's auburn petiteness.

He's the villain; he's the third side of the triangle; he's charming. David Slater, played by Robert Bryson, is the middle-aged roue who's coping with a wayward daughter.

"Bobbie" is part of the Will-O-Way scene, having acted there since its opening. The audience loved him and showed it by their laughter and their applause.

Only once, during the first part of the third act, did the tempo of the play slip. We suspect the outraged father scene will be handled even more deftly in later performances. The resulting black eye is a masterpiece of makeup.

Michael O'Neill, the father, was played by Marc Williams, another Will-O-Way newcomer.

A refreshingly different kind of curtain call climaxed the play. The 15th season of Will-O-Way Playhouse has begun successfully, if quietly.

"The Moon Is Blue" will be playing through June 19. On June 21 "Time Out for Ginger" will open.

Don't Blow Your Boss's Head Off

By ANNE HEYWOOD

The wise girl makes it a point to make no enemies, if she can help it, and manages somehow to be on friendly terms even with her ex-beaus.

Even if you hate a job and have been unfairly treated, do—please do—resist the temptation to tell that old meanie just exactly what you think of him, when you leave.

"He promised me a raise and never gave it," girls will tell me, "and said the job would lead to something beside typing and shorthand.

"He broke all his promises and had a horrible disposition, so when I resigned, I sure let him have it!"

A TEMPTATION

It is a temptation, there's no doubt about that.

But by all odds, the smartest thing to do is to resist that temptation.

So you hate the job and you've found a better one. Let it go at that.

Resign decently, give enough notice and offer to train your replacement.

Even if the boss behaves horribly, it will do you no good to do likewise.

It isn't only a matter of references. Obviously, if you behave badly you're apt to get a bad reference.

But there's more to it than that.

TRIED FOR TWO YEARS

Elinor is an example. Elinor went to work for an advertising agency when she got out of college; but it was a bad deal.

After two years of really trying to make a go of her secretarial job, she realized that her boss was the type who never would give his secretary a break.

Not that her boss appreciated it—he just growled about her ingratitude—but the personnel office did.

That fact paid off plenty, about five years later.

RECEIVED A CALL

Elinor got married shortly after leaving that job and had two children.

Shortly after her youngest child was born, she had a call from the personnel director of that same advertising agency.

The old boss had left and the new one was trying to find a good temporary typist to help out his secretary with the overflow.

They remembered Elinor and were calling to see if she could come in for six weeks or so.

AN EXCEPTION

Elinor went to see them and explained her setup with two little children.

Because they remembered her so well and liked her conscientious approach, they made an exception in her case.

They let her work for them in her own home, doing the typing there and bringing it in once a week.

It was a dream job for a young mother. It came to Elinor because, years ago, she had resisted the temptation to blow her top when she resigned from a job!

J. J. Susins to Be Hosts at Party

Republican women throughout Oakland County and their friends will be entertained at a benefit garden party Sunday at the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. John J. Susin.

Sponsored by the Royal Oak Republican Women's Club, the party will be held from 2:30 until 5 o'clock.

Proceeds from the affair will be used to promote a town hall series of Republican speakers.

During the afternoon refreshments will be served and there will be dancing on the terrace. Those interested are invited to attend and may purchase tickets at the door.

Patrons and patronesses for the party are Mr. and Mrs. William A. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce J. Annett, Judge Arthur E. Moore and Mrs. Moore; Sen. William Broomfield and Mrs. Broomfield, Judge George A. Hartrick and Mrs. Hartrick, and Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Marshall.

Bandage Curtains Popular in Poland

Wide gauze bandage is the most popular curtain material in Communist-controlled Poland, the Free Europe Press learned from a recently escaped refugee.

Gauze costs approximately $1 a yard on the black market, while other curtain materials cost several times as much.

Colored candles in a candelabra represented each of the offices being filled at installation ceremonies held Tuesday by Sisterhood of Congregation B'Nai Israel. Candles were lighted as each woman took her office. One of those was Mrs. Stanley Elbling of Oxford road (right), a first vice president. In the center is Mrs. Henry Hoschander, wife of Rabbi Hoschander who charged each officer with her duties. Mrs. Milton Kessler, who served on the luncheon committee, is at the left.

Sisterhood Conducts Installation

In a setting of pastel candles, each one indicative of the office to be filled, the new slate was installed by Mrs. Charles Eilender, past president.

The first was lighted for Mrs. Daniel Foxman who, for the second successive year, took over presidential duties. She and the other officers were addressed briefly by Rabbi Henry Hoschander.

Installed as first vice presidents were Mrs. Morris Bletstein and Mrs. Stanley Elbling.

Simmer Down—This Isn't a Federal Case

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've liked him for three months now, and a couple of days ago I found out that he doesn't like me any more.

"I asked his closest friend about it and he said the girls in his room were always asking him if he still liked me and he was sick and tired of it.

"We'll be separated so soon for the whole summer, do you think I should drop him?

"If you don't, how should I get him back?"

Answer: You can run a perfectly good thing into the ground with a lot of yackitty-yacking about it. Which is why I think it's too bad everybody has to get in the act when two people blaze up a bit of a romance.

The girls have talked your boy friend into a frenzy of annoyance about you. They've teased him into announcing that he doesn't like you any more. Just to make them stop talking.

His announcement may be far from the truth. So why change your own attitude toward him? Keep on being friendly and nice just in case there's no basis for those disquieting rumors.

No point in making a big thing of it, or you'll precipitate a break unnecessarily.

"Dear Miss Woodward: My boy friend is very generous to me and he comes down nearly every night, but he never asks me to any of the school dances.

"He has the money, he's not shy or afraid of being teased, and there's no interference at home that I know of.

"My friends wonder if we haven't broken up when I go to the dances without him.

"Do you think I should stay home if he won't go? What do you think of his strange behavior?"

Answer: At first glance, I'd say he doesn't know how to dance, or doesn't like to dance, and doesn't like school parties. He does like to be with you alone, though.

So why not try to find out from him why he doesn't like to go out with you socially?

Then find out how he feels about your going to the dances without him. He's the only one who can clear up the mystery for you, and give you a sense of proportion about the importance of those parties.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I like him so much, but when I do see him I can't think of a thing to say to him.

"I'm busting to invite him to a party but can't get up the courage to ask him.

"It isn't my party, so I can't use a written invitation. I do want him to notice me and like me. So how do I go about it?"

Answer: Your excitement over him has you quivering so fast you can't hold the telephone?

All you have to do is ring his number, tell him there's a party, where and when, and ask him to go with you. It doesn't have to be a big conversation.

And you needn't be nervous about it. You have facts to talk about and a question to ask—so dive in.

Her fingertip veil of French illusion was secured by a seed pearl tiara and she wore a pearl necklace. An orchid was centered in her bouquet of dogwood and carnations.

DESIGNS GOWNS

Each wore gowns fashioned by the bride's mother. The maid of honor's was blue taffeta, ballerina length, with which she carried pink carnations. A yellow dress with blue carnations was the choice of the bridesmaid, and the junior bridesmaid wore pink and carried yellow carnations.

Other cousins, Diana Eldrich and Ronnie and Connie Gough, were also attendants.

Your Stability Can Aid First-Born

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Walter started acting up right after lunch. His mother came downstairs from putting the baby to sleep to find him engaged in an exciting game.

It consisted of running round and round the dining-room table and shouting something that sounded like, "I'm a Woggle-Goggle-Moggle, look out, look out!"

He wouldn't stop. Asked to put on his outdoor clothes, he just ran faster and shouted louder. Finally his mother slapped him, pushed him upstairs and shut him in his room.

He avenged himself on her for this treatment. Later, entering the bathroom, she discovered that he'd torn open her new, birthday box of bath powder and spilled its contents over the mat.

Instantly, into her mind came this thought: "What would Mother do in this situation?"

PANIC MOUNTS

The thought brought mounting panic. For Walter's mother didn't know how her mother would treat a child's retaliatory action. As a little girl, she had never gone in for it.

As a punished little daughter, Walter's mother would never have dared to take such action.

Indeed, she wouldn't have even dared to know that she wanted to take it. Thus, her mother had not been able to give her a demonstration of the proper adult reaction to a child's vengeful action.

So, Walter's action appeared strange and monstrous to her. Helplessly, his mother thought, "Oh, what am I to do with this terrible child?"

That is what happens to us when we have chosen to lean on other people's guidance instead of on knowledge of ourselves.

So, I have to say to Walter's mother that he only appears as a terrible child to her because she's got an investment in forgetting what a terrible child she was.

She shrinks from realizing how often she wanted to attack her mother because she still depends on mother.

ALWAYS A PROBLEM

This is always the problem of the dependent person, regardless of his age. Our revengeful feelings toward some supporting authority must remain hidden lest the authority suspect our disloyalty — and withdraw his support.

Under such circumstances, the self-knowledge essential to parenthood is impossible.

Today, everyone writes about the "whole" child. I'm writing about "whole" parents — people brave enough to recover those lost segments of childhood experience that were gouged from our memories by fear of Mother's disapproval.

When we've got our own wholeness back, we can help Walter find his. We can infuse our demand that he clean up the bathroom with the mercy we know we needed ourselves as a punished child.

A skirt that's meant to have its shirttails worn outside is the new "shirtible" in a modern fish print motif. In smooth cotton broadcloth, it's specially detailed for a sporting summer. Comes in gay summer color combinations, too.

Others were Mrs. Earl Porter, Mrs. Charles Carte, Mrs. George Perkins, Mrs. Mae Long, Mrs. Edward Baker, Mrs. Nellie Long, Mrs. Claude Carter and Mrs. Lyon Reene.

Raw Rice Is Baked With Milk

Mrs. Robie Clack Flavors Pudding With Coconut

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Old fashioned baked rice pudding . . . when did you last have some? Mrs. Robie Clack of Drayton Plains has a good recipe for this favorite dessert. She dresses hers up with coconut.

Years ago, Mrs. Clack said, she had a cookbook that she used in a home economics class. In moving around she had to store her furniture for a while. Mice got into her things and ate up most of the cookbook. Fortunately, this recipe was spared.

Mrs. Clack has four sons, one serving a tour of duty on a submarine. She has always enjoyed catering to the appetites of growing boys. The Clacks have been building their own home for several years. Mrs. Clack is Health chairman for her PTA, also a Sunday School teacher. She loves to garden.

COCONUT RICE PUDDING
By Mrs. Robie Clack

4 cups milk
3 tablespoons uncooked rice
⅓ cup brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
½ cup coconut
½ teaspoon almond extract

Wash rice and put into a flat pudding dish (ovenware) with the sugar, salt, butter and milk. Bake 1½ hours in a 300-325 degree oven. Stir occasionally. Remove from the oven and stir in coconut and flavoring. Bake ½ hour longer. Serve warm. Makes 6-8 servings.

Crocheting is a wonderful skill for summer and spring accessories. A flaring petal-shaped hat and a matching drawstring bag could be a lovely accent for spring tailored wear.

—Keep white gloves in a plastic freezer bag when you are not wearing them. It'll help retain their shape, whiteness and new appearance lots longer. Two pair of gloves will permit one to be laundered after each wearing.

Better Eyesight

"Cheer up"; After all, it may not be encroaching age which is affecting your eyesight. And don't be too hasty in blaming your glasses. It may simply be that for a long while you haven't been getting your full, daily vitamin quota. Nutritional scientists tell us that vision is a function involving a body-chemical found in the eye called the "visual purple." The visual purple is something like a photographic developer. As it is used, it becomes weakened. Normally, vitamin A constantly "re-charges" the visual purple, keeping it up to "full strength." But when we fail to get the proper amount of vitamin A this constant restoration cannot take place, and our eye-sight becomes impaired. At night, while driving, or crossing a busy street on foot, bright lights blind us, momentarily, and we may become dangerously confused; we have difficulty in finding our seats in darkened theatres; our vision in dim light is below par. We suffer "night blindness."

Vitamin B-2 (riboflavin) is another vitamin which plays a vital role in vision because it helps to rid the eyes of carbon dioxide. Carbon dioxide is a by-product of all body muscular activity — including the activity of the eyes. This gas is carried out of the body by the blood vessels. But the cornea of a normal eye is without blood vessels. The eyes are cleared of carbon dioxide in another way — by a chemical process depending upon vitamin B-2. And when we are deficient in B-2 this normal chemical process cannot take place. Scores of tiny blood vessels grow into the cornea so that, in this abnormal way, the gas can be disposed of. The eyes become "bloodshot" and irritated. They itch and water excessively; they are abnormally sensitive to bright light, and there is a sandy sensation beneath the lids.

Tablets containing sufficient amounts of vitamin A, or vitamin B-2 will correct these deficiency conditions. However, it is difficult, if not impossible, for the average person to tell which of these two vitamins may be lacking.

Recently a new product has been developed which makes it unnecessary for the layman to guess which of the two vitamins may be missing in the diet. This new product contains both vitamin A and B-2 in amounts large enough to correct the deficiency, and the resulting eye condition. When eyes are affected by a lack of either vitamin A or vitamin B-2, they are warning us that the entire body is fast becoming depleted of these essential nutrients and that still more serious troubles may soon develop in other parts of the body. It is well to heed such warnings—in time. Ask for Arex Tablets.

Formality Criticized in Name Use

Should've Used His First Name, Says Husband

By EMILY POST

A woman writes me as follows: "The other evening my husband introduced a man he has known for many years to me.

"He calls this man by first name but as he was a stranger to me, I called him Mr. Smith, which I thought perfectly correct.

"My husband criticized me later for being so formal and thinks that I should have called him Jim.

"Does the fact that my husband calls him by his first name give me the right to do so? I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: If he was a very intimate friend of your husband about whom you heard a good deal, it would have been friendly and proper to call him by first name.

But if he was not a particularly close friend and you knew nothing at all about him, I think you were quite right to call him Mr. Smith unless he asked you to call him Jim.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My son was engaged to be married, but unfortunately his fiancee died.

"I would like to know if the girl's mother should return the presents under the circumstances."

Answer: Correctly, they should be returned, but if they give the girl's family any comfort, I think they should be allowed to keep them.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if a girl 14 years old is too young to wear black?

"I saw a very pretty black cotton skirt which I would like to have but my mother refuses to buy it for me, saying that black is in bad taste for a young girl.

"I would very much appreciate your opinion on this matter."

Answer: Your mother is right. You have a great many years ahead of you in which to wear black.

Modern Women Are "Light Headed"

Level-headed ladies today are also light-headed, on appropriate occasions. When they give themselves rod-type permanents, for example, smart women use lightweight plastic spin curlers.

All the curlers necessary for one home wave weigh only three ounces, just a little more than the eye glasses and earrings a woman may wear during the day.

PEDICURE

There is nothing like a pedicure to give you a feeling of luxury. Get in a comfortable position, with both back and foot braced firmly. Remove old polish. File nails with emery board, straight across. Never file or cut into corners. Buff nails with powder or paste Soak foot in warm, soapy water for 5 minutes. Apply oil to cuticle. Never use remover, push cuticle back gently with orangewood stick. Don't use metal pusher. Now scrub toes thoroughly to remove all traces of nail cream and dry carefully. To separate toes for easy application of enamel use a trick of the Revlon salon. Roll a sheet of cleansing tissue diagonally and weave in and out between toes. Apply two coats of polish plus top coat, allowing each coat to dry before applying next one.

Bob Considine Says:

Early America Knew Juvenile Delinquency

NEW YORK (INS) — There were earlier juvenile delinquents.

"More serious was the incident on Thanksgiving Day," Willard M. Wallace wrote in "Traitorous Hero," which is published by Harper. "The custom of the times called for a bonfire that night.

"Deciding to make it a real blaze, Arnold and his gang tipped down to a shipyard, seized a number of barrels, and started to roll them up to the green.

"The irate owner summoned the local constable, who rushed to the scene and prevented the boys from burning their spoil. Arnold was so furious that he stripped off his coat and offered to fight the constable then and there.

"Refusing to tolerate such impudence, the officer collared the angry boy and dragged him home to his mother."

Young Arnold's first name was Benedict.

As for the same problem, circa 1955, a teenage friend of mine named Donald Smith, who lives in Williamsport, Pa., comes up with the week's most interesting suggestion on how to remedy the situation:

"Let the President or the governors declare to the cities which have high juvenile crime ratings that they have six months in which to clean up the situation.

"If the city authorities fail to do the job, the city is placed under martial law—and the state or federal government steps in and mets force with force."

REMARKABLE GROUP

One of the country's more remarkable organizations is based in Charleston, W. Va. It calls itself the "Six Laymen."

The six men—two each from the major religious faiths — formed ranks as a result of their common interest in the heroic death of the four chaplains, who went down with the troopship Dorchester off Greenland in 1942.

The "Six Laymen" never permit their names to be mentioned in the course of their work in the charitable and morale-building fields.

Recently, they gave a fine party for 20 new U.S. citizens who had just been naturalized in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of West Virginia, Judge Ben Moore presiding.

As a result, U.S. citizen Michalina Ptasznick Predika, formerly of Poland; Sotira Antoniou Gregoriou, once of Cyprus, Wladus Iakuconis, late of Lithuania, Majibie Salamie, who once lived in Lebanon, and 16 others from India, France, Italy, Scotland, Switzerland, England, Greece, Spain, Austria and Yugoslavia feel that this is indeed a hospitable land.

It's a practice which should be copied in other places where new citizens are sworn.

GLOBAL INTERESTS

A visit to the Army's artillery and guided missile center, Ft. Sill, Okla., gives a fellow a new understanding of how our interests have expanded globally.

Maj. Gen. Edward Thomas Williams, commander of Sill and one-time artillery officer for Gen. Patton, is teaching artillerymen and missilemen from 14 friendly nations the very newest practices in that field of arms.

A knowledge of the English language is asked of all foreign officers except the South Koreans. The men eat standard U.S. Army chow, are being made familiar with the arresting habits of the "Honest John," the Army's huge un-guided missile, and the "Corporal," its "most intelligent." They see little, however, of the fort's atomic cannons.

Gen. Williams doesn't think the missile will ever take the place of the shell, because, as he puts it, "we can safely lay a wall of exploding shells 50 yards ahead of advancing troops and follow them wherever they go.

"The missiles just aren't that accurate. The improvement in standard artillery fire is such that if there's ever a World War III the safest place to be will be at the front."

Depends on the Fish

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A high school student was telling her teacher about Sidney, her pet fish. The teacher reminded her to use "which," not "who," when referring to fish, even Sidney. The girl replied:

"But Sidney has his own personality."

Trainmen Seek Raise of $2.50

Brotherhood Will Send Notices June 16 to 300 U.S. Railroads

CHICAGO (AP)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen said today it will ask the nation's railroads for a $2.50 daily wage increase for its 215,000 members.

The announcement was made by W. P. Kennedy, president of the brotherhood, following a meeting of the union's wage committee in Chicago.

Kennedy said notices will go out June 16 to the 300 railroads with which the Brotherhood holds contracts.

The demand will be "across-the-board" for all classifications under the union's jurisdiction, Kennedy said. These range from passenger brakemen currently earning $13.45 per day to footboard yardmasters at $19.07.

"The nation is experiencing great over-all prosperity," said Kennedy, "and it's only fair that railroadmen share in it."

Dick Haymes to File for Citizenship Today

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Dick Haymes, recent victor in a suit to escape deportation, says he plans to file for U.S. citizenship today in Reno, Nev. Haymes and his wife, Rita Hayworth maintain legal residence at Lake Tahoe, Nev. Haymes was born in Argentina.

Immigration officials have contended that he had made himself ineligible for citizenship by claiming neutral alien status in gaining World War II draft deferment.

Tardy Sailor Finds a Way to Board Sub

The exercises called for the Raton to submerge to the bottom in order to train submarine rescue operators. She released an oil slick which was spotted by a plane and the submarine rescue ship U.S.S. Chanticleer rushed to the scene.

Contact was made and a submarine diving bell was attached to the Raton's escape hatch. That ended the drill except—

When the hatch was opened, Chief Berry stepped into the sub from the bell and reported for duty.

It's The Hardtop with Four Doors!

Another big reason for Buick's soaring sales is the 4-Door Riviera—the new hit in hardtops that's taking the country by storm. The "Convertible" look, with no center posts—but with separate doors for rear-seat passengers. Shown here in the low-price SPECIAL model—also available in the high-powered CENTURY Series. Both now in volume production to insure prompt deliveries.

ANY airline pilot will tell you that one big reason for the modern plane's greatly increased cruising range aloft is the variable pitch propeller.

To get off the ground, of course, the pilot needs plenty of acceleration, for take-off and climb. So his propellers must "bite" into air at a certain angle for utmost performance.

But once the plane is at cruising altitude, great power acceleration is no longer needed—fuel efficiency is. So the pilot switches the pitch of his propeller blades to high-economy angle—and gets a lot more mileage from the fuel in his tanks.

That's why Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow* is such a sensation across the nation.

For the same aviation principle that brings this two-way magic to the modern plane is now found in the twenty propeller-like blades whirling in oil inside the Dynaflow unit.

Just by pressing the gas pedal way down, you switch the pitch and get instantaneous getaway response or safety-surge acceleration.

Just by easing up on the pedal, you change the pitch to high-economy angle—and get new and better gas mileage in all normal driving and cruising.

It's a spectacular and sensible achievement—this new Dynaflow Drive—a brand-new thrill and a brand-new thriftiness.

And with it goes the might of record-high V8 power—and the level luxury of Buick's all-coil-spring ride—and the spacious roominess of Buick's broad interiors—and the host of other advanced features that add to Buick's brimming value.

Come in and try what is very definitely the performance thrill of the year—and see for yourself why Buick sales are soaring to all-time best-seller highs.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Apache Debutante's Party Really Expensive

Many a Park Avenue father heaves a sigh at the cost of throwing a debutante ball for his daughter.

But he'd break down in tears if he had to foot the bills for introducing her to society on an Apache Indian reservation.

A debutante ball lasts only a single evening under the white man's wan idea of what makes a good party. The Apaches have a more muscular and red - blooded approach.

When an Indian father announces he has a daughter who is ready to set up tepee-keeping, it isn't just a shindig for a few close friends of the family. The whole tribe shows up. And the feasting and celebrating goes on four days and nights. When the Apaches have themselves a ball, they like to bounce some real echoes off the mountain.

The "Coming of Age Ceremony" of an Apache maiden, usually held when she is 12 to 14 years old, in the old days was a time when the nomadic tribes fulfilled their religious as well as social obligations. The rites drew the wandering groups together, gave them an occasion to swap tall tales of the hunt, exchange gossip and renew their ancient beliefs by the mutual performance of rituals.

In the simple past when buffalo were plentiful the warriors in the Indian maiden's family usually found it reasonably easy to provide meat for a four-day feast.

But with the price of beef what it is today the situation has changed. Few Apache fathers now could pick up the tab for a daughter's debut. So the tribe itself throws the party.

Only one girl, Iva Lee Enjady, 14, will go through the social ringer at this year's annual festival, July 1-4.

As of old, she will have her own ceremonial tepee. Her hair will be washed with yucca root suds. She will wear a buckskin dress and two tail feathers from a female eagle, signalizing her entrance into womanhood. If she itches she must use a wooden scratcher, as she mustn't during the entire four days scratch any part of her body with her fingernails.

She also must not look up at the sky or be disobedient in any way, for fear of bringing rain clouds. To assure her of a good appetite through life she will be fed wild fruit marked with a cross of yellow pollen. She will also be anointed with the pollen.

The maiden, whose buckskin dress is adorned with tiny tin bells, will perform ceremonial dances inside her tepee before an audience consisting of her family, close friends, and the more religious - minded members of the tribe.

Each night young braves will perform the traditional "Dance of the Mountain Gods."

During the entire period little Ivy Lee must wear a grave, dignified expression. She must particularly beware of excessive laughter. The Apaches have a theory that too much laughing causes premature wrinkling, a theory that now also seems prevalent among many lady palefaces who never saw a reservation.

In other days at the conclusion of the ceremony the happy father presented attendants and medicine men with four valuable gifts — usually a male horse, a saddle, a fine piece of buckskin, and some tobacco.

The gifts will probably be different now. Many Apaches, once among the hardest-riding of Indian tribes, no longer would know quite what to do with a horse. They prefer to ride herd on their cattle with a jeep or a pick-up truck.

Not Youth, Germs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — For years, residents of the North Side section of Pittsburgh drank water from a park fountain. It was proudly labeled the Steel City's Fountain of Youth. But it has been closed. The state department of health found the water is contaminated.

Mark Pancake Day

GLENN (AP) — This hamlet celebrates Pancake Day every year. It is a memorial to a day in 1937 when a snowstorm caught citizens with sparse food reserves. There was little to eat but pancakes until roads were cleared.

I CAN WALK GOOD AGAIN THANKS TO O-JIB-WA BITTERS

"It sure is wonderful to be able to walk again without stumbling over everything in my way. I had arthritis in my legs and knees so bad that it was terribly painful to raise my feet to walk, and many times it caused me to trip and fall. I had to cross over some railroad tracks on my way to work, and I just couldn't seem to step over them, as I tripped over them every time. It was the same story when I tried to climb stairs, so it's a wonder I didn't break my neck. About two years ago, I read about O-JIB-WA BITTERS, and decided to try it. I didn't know how much good it would do, as I had tried about everything else without success, but was determined to give it a good trial anyway. Well, I am glad to say that O-JIB-WA showed me results in two weeks. The stiffness started to leave, and I could actually walk again without falling over things. My knees sometimes bother me a little yet in the mornings when I first get up, but nothing like they used to. I wish everyone felt as good as I do now. I recommended that all people suffering with rheumatism or arthritis, get the big bottle of O-JIB-WA BITTERS, and give it a fair trial. It's the best medicine I know of."

Douglas Plans Jet Transport

New DC8 Will Cross U.S. in 4½ Hours, Span Atlantic in 6½

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The Douglas Aircraft Co. plans a jet transport designed to cross the United States in 4½ hours and span the Atlantic in 6½ hours.

The jet-powered DC8 will be in the air by December 1957, Donald W. Douglas, president of the company, said yesterday. He said deliveries to airlines should begin in 1959.

Douglas termed it America's first jet transport designed for passenger service. He said it would carry 80 to 125 passengers at top speeds in excess of 550 miles per hour.

The DC8 will be nearly 200 miles an hour faster than the propeller-driven DC7 Seven Seas model.

Douglas is the second American company to enter the jet transport field. Boeing Airplane Co., of Seattle, flew its jet transport, the 707, last July. It was designed as a multipurpose tanker-transport, intended for commercial as well as military use.

Light Winch Proves Aid for Paralytic

Claude C. Ramsey, head of a worldwide winch firm, built the aluminum alloy medical lift for Betty Morris, 21-year-old polio-stricken graduate nurse. Betty's parents wanted a device that would facilitate moving her from her almost completely paralyzed position.

They couldn't afford a $1,500 hydraulic rig. Ramsey built the bantam metal workhorse free for Betty, and said he can market the lift for about $300.

Although it weighs less than five pounds, the lift can hoist 200 times its weight. Operation is as simple as elevating a hospital bed.

Noel Coward Opens Stint in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Noel Coward opened his four-week stint at the Desert Inn last night before a celebrity-studded audience including Judy Garland and Lucius Beebe.

It was the British writer and entertainer's first U.S. night club appearance. He sang his way through two shows for the beginning of what was described as a $40,000-a-week engagement.

Tachen Refugees Get $1 Million in U.S. Aid

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—An American aid check for $1,291,000 today launched a program of community settlement and self-help for the 18,505 persons evacuated from the Tachen Islands in February.

The 5,017 families who chose to come to Chinese Nationalist Formosa rather than stay under Communist occupation of the Tachens will be resettled in houses which they will help build themselves, announced the U.S. Foreign Operations Administration.

Projects include wells, schools, clinics, roads and drainage systems.

Reds Buying Drugs

TOKYO (AP)—The economic newspaper Nihon Kezai said today three Japanese drug firms had contracted to send Red China three million grams of streptomycin.

Have Car Checked Before You Start on Vacation to Avoid Delay on Highway

DETROIT (UP)—Vacation time would be a much more pleasant time for a lot of people if they had their cars checked thoroughly before leaving on long trips, the emergency service manager of the Automobile Club of Michigan said today.

Robert Nisbet, the service manager, pointed out that "the mechanical condition of the family car can mean the difference between a pleasant vacation and a nerve racking one."

Nisbet warned that tires, brakes and the cooling system are the most frequent causes of vacation trip troubles.

"Driving on sun-baked roads at high speeds is tough on the best of tires," he said. "When tires are in poor condition, you're almost inviting a blowout."

CHECK TIRES

He suggested that tires be checked for cuts and bruises before starting on a long trip and those which show signs of wear should be replaced.

Nisbet said motorists should always be properly equipped for a flat. Jacks should be checked and a strong wood block carried as a secure jack base.

Cooling systems should be checked for hose and connection leaks and flushed and cleaned.

"Hot summer driving also means a more rapid water evaporation," he said. "Keep an eye on the engine temperature gauge and check the water level of the radiator frequently."

GOOD BRAKES VITAL

He noted that brakes that are adequate for normal city driving are often dangerous for high-speed travel on unfamiliar roads. Thus, brake linings and the cylinder should be checked with repairs necessary if any of the brake parts are less than perfect.

Nisbet said oil is a frequent source of trouble. Oil filters should be changed if the oil is dirty and checks made along the way to make sure the oil supply in the crankcase hasn't dwindled.

He also advised a pre-vacation general tune-up with emphasis on lubrication, voltage regulator, lights, battery and spark plug condition.

"A short time spent on preventative maintenance before the trip starts can often mean the saving of many hours on the highway," Nisbet said. "Nobody wants to be burdened down with car trouble on a vacation trip and the best place to avoid trouble is at home—before starting the trip."

Favorite With Kids

CLIFTON FORGE, Va. (UP)—Cap'n C. C. Lane, a 50-year Chesapeake & Ohio Railway conductor, has an enviable reputation among the children on the Clifton Forge-Hot Springs line. He makes it a habit to have a supply of lollipops on hand. When a teacher took 32 first graders on a 14-mile train trip, Cap'n Lane had enough to give one to each child. He values a "thank you" note from the children among his greatest trophies.

The original meaning of "carol" was a ring dance, and the carolers danced as they sang.

Beats Official Nominee With Only Writeins

BREEDSVILLE, Mich. (UP) — It didn't hurt Mayor William Frude when the Republican party caucus passed him and nominated somebody else for his job.

Frude ran as a write-in candidate and polled 66 votes to win his 33rd one-year term as mayor of this village (pop. 400). The official candidate, Walter Tomczak, got 40 votes.

Minnesota Needs Cheaper State Flag

ST. PAUL (UP)—Most Minnesotans wouldn't know their state flag if they saw it.

Not many have seen it and probably won't unless the legislature does something to bring it within financial and physical reach. The flag is too expensive to make and too heavy to fly.

The legislature is thinking of setting up an interim commission to come up with a new flag in time for the state's centennial in 1958.

Lawmakers feel that a flag cheaper to reproduce would get school children and the general public better acquainted with their flag.

The flag, adopted by the 1893 legislature, has two layers of thick cloth, one side white, and other blue. A 3x5-foot reproduction costs about $65.

Bantam Rooster Survives Round of Hard Knocks

HILLSBORO, Ore. (UP)—Poppy Red, a tough young bantam rooster, struts happily about the home near here despite enough rough treatment to kill an ox.

According to the accounts, Poppy Red was walking across the highway recently and was struck by a truck. After flopping about he lay still.

A witness, not wanting to see Poppy Red suffer, wrung his neck. Two boys, who were fond of the rooster, hit him with an ax handle. Then they dug a shallow grave and buried the bird.

Two days later, one of the boys, out of curiosity, exhumed the remains. Poppy Red was still alive.

A few hours later, after eating water-soaked bread, Poppy Red gave out with a crow and is now as lively as ever.

Bids are being accepted today through Aug. 7 on buildings with floor space of approximately 1,200 square feet.

Further information on specifications for the building may be obtained from H. W. Loch, postal inspector, 213 Federal Building, Detroit 31. A 5 to 10-year lease will be given on the building which meets the required specifications.

18 Charter Commissioners Named in Two Townships

Despite threatening weather and court litagation which may void the election, Troy residents turned out to give the proposal a large measure of approval. The voting was 2,111 for the incorporation, with 254 opposing the change to city status.

In Southfield the measure of approval was smaller, but still enough to insure the beginning of the incorporation process. Residents there voted 3,176 to 2,130 for the switch.

A small section of Southfield Township, Bingham Farms, voted in incorporate as a village. This was approved, 121 to 10.

Voters in Madison Heights, a new city forming in Royal Oak Township, turned down the proposed city charter, by 82 votes.

The ballot talley showed 1,758 votes against the charter, and only 1,676 for it. Mrs. Virginia M. Solberg, secretary of the charter commission, said today that the charter commission would reconvene, unless petitions against such a move were circulated.

In Commerce Township, the annexation of Oakley Park to Wolverine Lake village was soundly defeated.

Commerce Township voters opposed the move, 284 to 6, and Oakley Park residents followed suit with 171 against it, and only 7 for the change.

Named to the charter commission in Troy were Fred W. Hildebrand, 1,439; Clifton Truesdell, 1,409; George W. Ford, 1,083; Roy L. Duncan, 840; Norman R. Barnard, 831; Frank Costello, 798; Ernest W. Gray, 796; J. Wesley Smith, 755; and Elmer Lowe, 713.

There were 34 candidates for the nine posts.

In Southfield Township, Township Clerk Fannie Adams led the field of 38 candidates for the nine charter posts. She polled 2,747, followed by township treasurer Clara Lane, 2,227; Eugene Swem, 1,653; Hugh G. Allerton Jr., 1,515; Fred Leonhard, 1,342; Emmanuel Christensen, 1,332; Donald Swanson, 1,309; Roy F. Andes, 1,283; and Clarence Durbin, 1,265.

Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland denied an injunction to halt the Troy vote Monday, brought by the Vickers Corp.

Attorneys for the firm which is building a $2,0000,000 plant in the township said the area incorporating does not meet the state requirement of 500 residents per square mile.

Judge Holland denied the injunction, but allowed Vickers' bill of complaint to stand. This apparently leaves the way open for further legal action by the firm.

Down Payment Made by Residents Yesterday in Royal Oak Township

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — The Oakdale Gardens housing project was officially dedicated to its resident-owners at 2 p.m. yesterday.

With the signing of the papers, a check for $109,120.92 as down payment on the $1,443,985 purchase price was turned over to the government.

The government returned to the township $75,655 held to be used immediately for repairs, and to put the project in good shape.

The move has been hailed as one that may change the political complexion of the turbulent George Washington Carver school board.

Prior to this sale, there were only a small number of property owners in the school district. Only property owners are eligible to hold office on the board.

However, with many residents acquiring the status of property owners with the purchase of the project, the field of potential candidates will be thrown open.

Viruses vs. Deadlines

All Children May Not Get Polio Shots This Year, Scheele Reports to Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele confirmed last night that it probably will not be possible to inoculate all children aged 1 through 19 against polio this summer, as originally hoped.

"Making and testing vaccine is a difficult and delicate process," Scheele said in a nationwide radio-television report on the Salk vaccine situation. "You cannot make viruses meet deadlines. You cannot force scientific work to meet dates on a calendar. And it must be kept in mind that the entire process of mapufacturing a batch of vaccine takes about 90 days.

"This is a reason why we can give you no precise estimates of how much vaccine will be available at any given time."

Stressing that the government policy is "safety, not speed, except as the latter is compatible with safety," Scheele told of the studies which led to adoption May 27 of revised manufacturing and testing standards.

He said these standards require some changes in the operating procedures of the six licensed vaccine producers, and continued:

"The manufacturers have assured me that they can and will produce vaccine under these requirements. But I want to make it clear that they will not be able to produce enough vaccine to immunize all children this summer."

Expressing anew his confidence in the safety and effectiveness of the Salk vaccine, Scheele said that "experience indicates, however, that there will be scattered local epidemics, and some may be severe."

Introducing Scheele on the broadcast, Secretary of Welfare Hobby said scientific processes are often hard for the layman to understand, but that people should make the effort "so that we can be intelligent in making decisions about our children."

Says Judges Restore Revoked Licenses

LANSING (AP) — Circuit judges are restoring 80 per cent of the driver's licenses revoked in Michigan for bad driving records, Sec. of State James M. Hare estimated today.

Hare told the State Safety Commission he would appoint a committee this week to study the problem.

Conceding that accurate data was lacking, Hare said that a method must be developed to make certain that all circuit judges have available the compete record of motorists who come before them to seek restoration of their licenses.

Gas Users May Get Refund on Charges

DETROIT (AP) — A three million dollar refund will be divided among Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. customers if a government examiner's ruling stands.

Company officials said today the refund would follow from a finding that the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. overcharged its wholesale customers a total of more than 36 million dollars during a 26-month period ending last April 30.

The examiner's finding must be approved by the Federal Power Commission. Panhandle Eastern supllies gas to Michigan Consolidated.

The commission said it has affirmed another examiner's ruling which denies a Panhandle Eastern request for a reduction of gas deliveries to Michigan Consolidated.

Reds Deny Murder of Two Koreans

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio today contradicted a United Nations Command report which said the Reds shot and killed two South Koreans in the Korean armistice demilitarized zone June 2.

The U.N. Command said formally the two were shot "without warning" on the Allied side of the demilitarization line and said one body had been dragged to the Communist side.

Red China's official radio said the two Korean victims were among "more than 10 agents of the American side" who sneaked into the demilitarized zone with a truck and wounded one Communist civil patrolman.

Then, Peiping said, Red Chinese civil police counterattacked in self-defense and killed "two of the invading agents."

Big Stars for Their Films Jane and Bob Are Hiring

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(While Louella Parsons is on vacation her column will be written by Dorothy Manners)

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Jane Russell and Bob Waterfield weren't kidding when they said they wanted top stars for their independent Russ-Field pictures. They've signed Richard Widmark for "Run for the Sun," a high tension thriller by Robert Wilder.

As Widmark is getting 50 per cent of "Backlash," the movie he's just starting at Universal-International, Bob and Jane must be paying fancy prices, too. With Clark Gable signed for one of their films and now Widmark, they're batting in the big leagues.

TY, SUSAN TEAMED

It's hot for Susan Hayward to be Tyrone Power's co-star in "The Eddy Duchin Story" at Columbia, playing the tragic role of the wife who died. Susan and Ty are old teammates from 20th and the part is a natural for her.

Around MGM where she's currently working in "I'll Cry Tomorrow "there's nothing but praise for the way Susie is cooperating. Previously known as a gal who could blow up a storm now and then, Susan's been nothing but an angel since her recent headlines.

PERC AIDS BETTE

Bette Davis, who wouldn't even put on lipstick unless her pal, Perc Westmore, advised her, gets him to do her up as the mousy librarian who turns spunky in "The Library" at Columbia.

She also promised Perc that she will be mistress of ceremonies at the makeup artists and hair-stylists ball, a big event at the Palladium, in September.

It's about time someone gave talented Pat Crowley another good break. This girl was hot a year ago and was allowed to cool off.

But it's practically set for Pat to be Tony Curtis' leading lady in his next, "Square Jungle," and if she doesn't have the part how come she's in wardrobe every day at U-I having fittings?

The pictures won't start until the end of the month to allow poor Tony, who hasn't had a vacation in months, to spend some "free time" in the dentist's chair.

Hollywood in shorts: A special invitation was sent to Jack Webb and Dorothy to attend Julie London (Webb's) opening tomorrow night at John Walsh's 881 Club. Whatta you bet they don't show?

Predicts Dem Victory in '56

Governor of Tennessee Pledges Support for Party's Candidate

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee predicts a sweeping Democratic victory in 1956 and says "I'm one Democratic governor who is going to support the party's nominees — whoever they are."

He told an estimated 2,340 diners at a $100-a-plate Democratic fund - raising banquet last night that President Eisenhower "prefers government by delegation of authority" and has shown "aloofness to the people."

The 33-year-old Tennessee governor told Chicago and Cook County Democratic organization workers and boosters that all local and regional elections since 1952 point to "a landslide victory on a national level for the Democratic party in 1956; and over anybody."

Another speaker in the spotlight as a possible 1956 candidate was Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic preidential nominee, who has not said whether he will run again.

Stevenson, asked by newsmen before the dinner if he cared to say anything about whether he would seek the presidency next year, replied: "Only this: that when I have anything further to say, I shall issue a written statement."

Stevenson, in a brief address at the dinner, lauded the accomplishments and appointments of Chicago's Democratic mayor, Richard J. Daley, who was elected in April.

Clement has been mentioned by some party leaders as a possible vice presidential candidate next year. However, he made no references as to his availability for the race.

Family Will Spend 3 Days in Shelter

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A man, his wife and two children will live for three days in an underground H-bomb shelter during a civil defense test starting late today.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Christmas, their son Stanley, 13, and daughter Mary Lou, 11, were among 200 families volunteering for the experiment. Christmas is a 36-year-old machinist and World War II Air Force veteran.

The circular shelter has 13 square feet of space, with a ceiling from six to nine feet high. Their only contact with the outside will be an intercommunication system for emergency use.

Balks at Soft Chairs for Fire Inspectors

OMAHA (AP)—When Omaha Fire Commissioner Simon A. Simon got a bill yesterday for $59.50 each for two upholstered chairs for two of his inspectors, his reaction was to explode:

"One inspectir on his feet is worth two inspectors on their seat."

He refused to okay the bill. A few hours later he relented to the extent of saying he'd buy two chairs but 'at about $22 each.'

Navy Seeks 5,000 Reserve Officers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy said today it will accept up to 5,000 qualified reserve officers for limited tours of duty starting July 1. This number is double the quota during the current fiscal year.

The Bureau of Personnel said the duty tours will be for two, three or four years and that the number actually accepted will depend upon individual qualifications and Navy requirements for various kinds of specialists.

Slowpoke Cited as Road Hazard Same as Speeder

BOSTON (AP)—The general manager of the Automobile Legal Assn. says the slowpoke driver is no less a menace on the highways than the speeder or reckless driver.

Philip C. Thibodeau said in a statement last night:

"The driver who travels at a sped much slower than the normal flow of traffic, and who forces cars behind him into taking chances out of pure frustation in order to get by, is the real menace on the roads and should be dealt with as severely as the speeder or reckless driver."

He said he favors a minimum speed in all states.

Hatfield's Homer Helps Garver Beat NY Jinx

So the 29-year-old righthander of the Detroit Tigers did two things about it:

1. He didn't read any newspapers before yesterday's game.

2. Then he went out and beat the Yankees for the 1st time since 1949, taking a 4-3 decision on Fred Hatfield's home run in the 12th inning.

"I didn't read a single newspaper before the game," the serious-minded Garver explained after his strong eight-hitter. "Everytime I'd pitch against the Yankees, the papers were full of jinx, jinx, jinx.

"It didn't bother me, but a guy gets tired of reading the same thing all the time," he added.

"I never look at it as a 'jinx'. Ever since I've been in the league, the Yankees always have had a strong club. And I've yet to play on a 1st-division team.

"I'm not trying to make any excuses, but there's a difference between playing for a team which wins 100 games and one which loses 100."

Before yesterday, Garver's last victory over the Yanks was when he was toiling for the Brownies. Back on Aug. 31, 1949 he beat them, 10-3. He also beat them once in 1948, and now has a lifetime mark of 3-16 against them.

"The reason you don't beat the Yankees is because they've got a good ball club," Garver continued. "I'd say they're the best hitting club in the league—better than Cleveland. They have more truly good batters plus a good bench. They're always tough."

Jinx or no jinx, Garver had to work hard for his victory yesterday. He outlasted four Yankee pitchers and finally won out when Hatfield lined his 4th homer with one away in the 12th. The victim was rookie Tom Sturdivant, who had taken over at the start of the 12th.

"I can't remember when I felt as good as when I saw Hatfield's drive land in the seats," Garver said. "It had been a long, long time. Yes, a long, long time. . . ."

Hatfield said he hit a fast ball.

"In late innings like that, you've got to be looking for a fast ball," he said. "He threw me one—too low—then he threw me another. It was a good pitch, all right, but I got in front of it."

Earlier, Eddie Robinson and Joe Collins had hit homers to send the Yankees off to a 3-0 lead in the 5th inning. Their blasts gave the Yanks 17 homers in their last 7 games, and also made it 16 successive runs which resulted from homers.

But the Tigers had a home run punch of their own. Jim Delsing slammed a two-run homer in the 7th to help tie the score, then Hatfield—hitless in 11 trips to the plate—socked his game-winner.

Braves Showing Life

NEW YORK (AP)—It may be too late, but the corpse is beginning to move.

The "dead" Milwaukee Braves, rated a strong National League pennant contender before the start of the season, have won five of their last six games and today held down third place for the first time since they started to nosedive three weeks ago.

Manager Charley Grimm isn't so jolly these days what with rumors making the rounds that he's on his way out.

"But we're not giving up," he said with a wry smile. "We still have a chance."

Well, then, what has been the trouble with the Braves?

"I can't get a team intact, for one thing," he said. "Injuries have hurt us badly. Now it's Joe Adcock and Andy Pafko. Before it was Bobby Thomson and Eddie Mathews. All year long it's been something."

But Grimm wasn't through yet.

"I can't blame it all on the injuries," he said. "To tell the truth the guys who haven't been injured have been hurting us just as much.

"They weren't hitting and they weren't pitching. Now at least the pitching seems to have squared away."

Judging by last nights 13-4 slaughter of the New York Giants, the hitting may be coming around, too.

Grimm's woes have been many since hostilities began less than two months ago.

Who would have thought catcher Del Crandell would be sputtering along with a .184 batting average at this time? The Braves figured he would be as effective as Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Adcock, a late-season flash last year, has given the league pitchers no cause for worry.

Finally, Bob Buhl and Lew Burdette have been ineffective on the mound. This was not totally unexpected in neutral quarters. In fact, many observers who predicted the Braves wouldn't win the pennant based their reasoning on the potential unsoundness of Buhl and Burdette.

Arcaro, With Nashua, Sets Sights on 6th Belmont Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Arcaro, who has ridden more Kentucky Derby and Preakness winners than any other jockey, will take dead aim on his sixth Belmont Stakes Saturday with Nashua.

The 39-year-old Cincinnati booter needs another victory to tie him with Jimmy McLaughlin, the old timer who won six Belmonts in a period from 1882 to 1888.

Arcaro is tied with Earl Sande among modern day riders of Belmont winners, and the Belair Stud's Nashua is expected to be a heavy odds-on favorite in the 87th running of the 3-year-old classic.

The Belmont Park management is having a time trying to determine just how many colts will face the starter in the mile and one half race, to be televised and broadcast (CBS) 3:30-4 p.m., EST.

At the latest count, it seemed as if three or four might contest the issue with Nashua, who was upset by Swaps in the Kentucky Derby, then broke the Pimlico track record in winning the Preakness May 28.

The probables are headed by Hilton A. (Rabbit) Dabson's Nance's Lad, who handed Boston Doge his first defeat in the Swift Stakes, then copped the Peter Pan Handicap last Saturday.

George P. (Maj.) Odom, trainer of Laudy Lawrence's Jabneh, says he will be a starter with Hedley Woodhouse in the saddle. Jabneh didn't run in the Derby or Preakness.

Arcaro, who sent Nashua through a dazzling mile and a half workout on the Belmont main track Monday morning, doesn't think he'll have much to worry about in the big event Saturday.

Collusion Charged

Probe of Johnson's 'KO' Proves Little

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission has wound up its probe of the Harold Johnson-Julio Mederos fight. And the big question is—now what?

The strange fight with its strange ending last May 6 had serious repercussions in the boxing world of Pennsylvania. Among other results, Governor George M. Leader suspended all state boxing for 90 days.

Mederos was awarded a technical knockout when Johnson collapsed after the second round. Doctors later said Johnson was "drugged" by a barbiturate. The probe never did develop who drugged Johnson, or how the drug was administered.

Johnson, the top ranking light-heavyweight contender, said he didn't know how, or if, he had been drugged. He stuck to his story that an orange given him by a stranger tasted bitter and was probably the cause of his illness.

The commission, charged Johnson, matchmaker Pete Moran and four other persons with participating in a "sham and collusive" contest for failing to report that Johnson was ill before the fight.

Boxing promoter Herman Taylor, angrily defended his reputation in the business. He said he had a "wonderful reputation" as a fight promoter for 51 years and said he never "put on fake fights."

At present, Moran is under arrest charged with lying while testifying at a committee hearing last week. When called to the witness stand yesterday, Moran declined to answer many questions on the ground of possible self-incrimination.

Questioned about his connection with the International Boxing Club, Taylor admitted the IBC was co-promoter with him in many fights.

Taylor said that in the 1952 heavyweight championship bout between Rocky Marciano and Jersey Joe Walcott in Philadelphia he received 30 per cent of the profits, the IBC 70 per cent.

Tony, Basilio Ready for Title Battle Friday

Neither Boxer Having Trouble Making Welter Limit of 147

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—With two days to go for their title fight, welterweight champion Tony DeMarco and challenger Carmen Basilio were well within the 147-pound limit and faced only with the minor problem of keeping their edge.

Both finished their boxing drills Tuesday for the 15-rounder in the War Memorial Auditorium Friday night.

"Tony's ready to go now," said trainer Sammy Fuller, a former welterweight boxer. "He's going to win—and by a knockout."

DeMarco weighed 145, just about what he expects to scale for his first title defense. He hit the beam at 145½ when he stopped Johnny Saxton in 14 rounds April 1 to win the crown.

Basilio has been well within the 147-pound limit for some time. He had difficulty cutting down to the weight when he fought Kid Gavilan for the title on Sept. 18, 1953. The 28-year old ex-Marine from nearby Canastota floored the Cuban, then champion, and lost a disputed 15-round decision.

After finishing his boxing with three rounds against two sparring partners, Tony Percey and Harry Deputy, the local pride and joy scaled 145.

This fight is a promoter's dream. All Norm Rothschild had to worry about was the fighters' health. The young promoter, working in partnership with the International Boxing Club, had a 9,400-crowd, $115,000 sellout shortly after the bout was announced.

There will be a coast-to-coast broadcast and telecast (NBC, 9 p.m., EST) with Syracuse and a 150-mile area blacked out of the TV.

Basilio still held firm as a 17-10 favorite.

Norris Now in Full Charge

Writer Reports No Friction Involved in Gimbel's Departure From MSG Board

By BILL CORUM

NEW YORK (INS)—It will be announced at tomorrow's special meeting of the board of directors of Madison Square Garden, the world's best known show place of sports, that Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick will succeed his long-time friend, Bernard Gimbel, as chairman of the board.

Gimbel, who has been a member of the board for 26 years and its chairman during approximately the last ten years of that period, is resigning because he has decided to cut down his outside interests, of which this is one.

"It couldn't be a more friendly parting," Gimbel told me last night.

"I always have loved sports and boxing, particularly, ever since I boxed in college and have enjoyed my years of association with the members of the Garden board and with Jim Norris.

In this shake-up in the Garden board of directors, which involves the resignation of five other directors in addition to Gimbel—Stanton Griffis, former chairman of the board, William Greve, Walter P. Chrysler, Jr., Sidney J. Weinberg and Jansen Noyes—as a result of a decision made some time ago to reduce the size of the board from 15 members to nine, Norris' "captives." The story of the Garden, succeeding Kilpatrick in that position.

What this means is that the man who owns the store is taking charge of it. The Norris interests have owned upwards of 60 per cent of the Garden stock for several years.

(A published report said the resignations were being offered because the men felt they were Norris's "captives." The story added that "it was understood" also that their action was influenced by Norris's sworn testimony before the New York State Athletic Commission admitting he knew Frankie Carbo, shadowy underworld boxing figure for 20 years.)

I then asked Norris if this change indicated a change in Garden policy in connection with boxing, which might lead to the dissolution of the International Boxing Club.

"Well," replied Norris, "I guess that will depend on the outcome of our anti-trust suit."

But all of this remains secondary to the main point that the stituted only a normal change in resignations from the Garden condirecorates. Be very sure that Bernard Gimbel resigned in no protest again anybody. Nor in the faintest sense because of a break with Norris.

Mary Ann Downey Eyeing East Links Title, Record

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore had her eye on setting a new 54-hole record for competition in the Women's Eastern Golf Assn. championship tournament today as the field of 42 started the second round over the 6,197-yard Farmington Country Club course.

The 29-year-old Miss Downey toured the layout in a drizzling rain yesterday in even par 73 to gain a four-stroke advantage over the rest of the field in the 49-year-old tourney.

"I was mighty lucky out there yesterday," Miss Downey said, "and I'll have to be awfully lucky to win the tournament."

If Miss Downey continues the pace she set yesterday throughout the three-day event, she would break by two strokes the record 221 established last year by Mrs. Mae Murray Jones of Rutland, Vt.

Miss Downey apparently doesn't have to worry about the defending champion. Mrs. Jones, who entered the tournament as a pretty fair bet to repeat, had to be content with a first-round score of 81.

Four strokes behind Miss Downey, a familiar figure in womens' golf tourneys the last several years, were Mrs. N. S. Woolworth of Darien, Conn., and Mrs. Kip Finch of New Canaan, Conn., both with 77's. Mary Pat Janssen of Charlottesville carded a 78 and Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore and Margie Burns of Greensboro, N.C., posted 79's.

Tiger Notes

DETROIT (AP) — A sellout crowd of about 50,000 is expected to jam Briggs Stadium for tonight's game between the Tigers and Yanks.

The Yanks, of course, are the big lure, but the crowd will get the added treat of watching the Tigers duel with Bob Turley, the New York fireball ace.

Turley (8-3) will be opposed by Frank Lary (5-5).

Al Kaline got three hits yesterday to stretch his batting streak to 15 games, one more than his run of 14 earlier in the season. The young Tiger outfielder boosted his batting mark up to .378.

Before the game, the Tigers were still talking about Mickey Mantle's big 440-foot home run on Monday.

"I've only pitched to him twice this year," said youngster Bob Miller. "But he has hit two homers off me.

"And to think, last year I held him 0-for-24."

What do ball players do after the games?

Yesterday, Billy Hoeft set up a basketball game in the Tigers' dressing room. He taped a paper cup to a post and the players took turns trying to dunk a rubber ball for two points.

No Gun? Don't Whistle

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Perry Landrum is a member of that growing group that likes to stir up foxes with a whistle-type device. Only thing, he says, don't do it unless you've got a gun to defend yourself.

Eighteen standout players from the 18th District's 6 entries will compose the league's team, which will be one of 4 Legion districts playing in the Tiger ball park in this program.

Schwarzkoff, Krings in Omaha With Broncos

A pair of former Utica High School baseball stars are members of the Western Michigan College team which is headed for Omaha, Neb., today to compete in the NCAA baseball championships.

Miki Schwarzkoff, a pitcher, and Norbert (Boots) Krings, regular second baseman, helped the Broncos to the Mid-America Conference title and the mid-western NCAA district playoff victory.

Conrad Rated Title Threat

British Amateur King Tries Hand in French Tourney

PARIS (AP)—The French Amateur golf championship got under way today with defending champion Henri de la Maze facing a strong American challenge.

Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex., who won the British Amateur last week is the big threat to De La Maze, who has won his country's title five times in the past.

Also on hand from the United States are Walker Cup Captain Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va.; Don Blispinghoff of Orlando, Fla., and Bruce Cudd of Portland, Ore.

If Conrad, a quiet little lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force, wins the championship, he will be the eighth American to take it back across the Atlantic. He also would be the first player in history to win both the British and French titles the same year.

Twice before, American Walker Cuppers have won it, George Von Elm turned the trick in 1930 and Bobby Knowles in 1951.

Judy Reynolds Defends Spring Lake Crown

SPRING LAKE (AP) — Judy Reynolds of Kalamazoo, Spring Lake women's open golf champion, is expected to defend her crown in the 34th annual tournament June 19-23.

Ted Lemanski, tournament manager, said yesterday the tournament opens with a two-ball foursome practice round. Qualifying rounds begin June 20 and is followed the next day with the 1st round match play.

Lemanski said Miss Reynolds, who at 20 last year was one of the youngest women ever to take the title, probably will meet competition from Michigan, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana. A total of 64 women entered the 1954 tourney.

Pontiac Boy Is Doing OK in Texas Loop

Oertel Among Top 10 Hitters, Boasts .318 Average

Charles (Ducky) Oertel, former athletic star at St. Frederick High School in Pontiac, has moved among the top 10 hitters in the Class AA Texas League.

Oertel, a Baltimore Orioles "farmhand", is playing the outfield for the Missions and in 56 games has collected 64 hits in 201 trips to the plate for a .318 average.

His hits include 8 home runs and he has driven in 28 runs. "Ducky" spent the spring training campaign with the Orioles before being sent out to their number one farm club in the Texas loop.

Meanwhile, Savannah, Ga., of the Class A Sally League has returned the contract of Jim Engleman of Pontiac to Birmingham of the Class AA Southern Association.

EAST LANSING (AP) — Jim Sack of Grand Rapids has been chosen for Michigan State College's "most valuable" award in baseball.

Sack nosed out George Smith of Detroit and Chuck Mathews of Rosebush.

Bob Piwell of Flint was voted by the MSC coaches the most improved varsity player and Dick Idzkowski of East Chicago, Ind., was voted the best pitcher.

Old Model Show Set Tonight at '59' Oval

Old model stocks make their 1st appearance of the auto racing season at the Pontiac Speedway tonight as the track's mid-week series of races begins. Time trials are at 7 p.m. with the 1st race at 8:30.

Joy Fair has been established as the favorite in the 25-lap feature event on the basis of his recent feature win in an old model show at Motor City Speedway. However, he has not yet been able to win this season at the M59 track in his hardtop.

A 9-race program is on tap, with many of the familiar hardtop drivers expected to run in their old model stocks.

Cards Sign Ulrich

CHICAGO (AP)—Chuck Ulrich, 228-pound tackle, has signed his 1955 contract, the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League announced today.

Ulrich, an outstanding player at Illinois in 1951, had an excellent season with the Cardinals in 1954 as a freshman.

Jaycee Tennis Tourney Plans Are Announced

Mineweaser Chairman for Singles Event in 2 Classes, June 18

Plans have been announced for the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce 1955 tennis tournament. Activity in 2 divisions is scheduled for the Oakland Park courts on Saturday morning, June 18.

Co-sponsor with the city Jaycees in the affair is the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department. Chairman of the event from the Jaycee chapter is Dick Mineweaser.

Divisions for play are the Juniors for boys 18-years of age and under, and the Boys group, for players 15 years and under. Entrants must not have reached the prescribed age limit before Jan. 1 of this year.

All play will be singles with trophies going to the winner and runnerup in each division. The 4 top players in each division will receive expense-paid trips to the state Jaycee tournament at Kalamazoo, July 11-13.

Members of the Pontiac and Birmingham High School teams are expected to be among the entries and the coaches of those prep teams have application blanks. Blanks also are available at the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce office, parks and recreation department and from Mineweaser.

Field Workers to Meet in Lansing June 13-15

LANSING (UP)—The conservation department says about 40 field workers from all parts of Michigan will gather here June 13-15 for a conference on hunting regulations.

The department said each representative will summarize conditions in his area and recommendations will then go to the conservation commission for consideration.

Eddy Raps Legislature for Failing to Extend Conservation Commission Control of Deer Herd

LANSING (AP) — State conservation director Gerald E. Eddy said today the legislature "lacked the courage of its convictions" in refusing to extend the conservation commissin's control over the deer herd.

Eddy said the department will continue its fight to control the size of the herd by setting special seasons when the legislature returns next year.

"The situation is no different than when we decided on our legislative program this year," Eddy said.

"There is little doubt in my mind that had the fundamental principles of deer control been more widely understood, the legislature would have again granted discretionary authority to the commission," Eddy declared.

Eddy said failure of the legislature to extend the commission's authority for two more years had "disappointed" him.

"Somehow we failed to convince enough people of the fact that in deer management today we can have our cake and eat it," he said.

"This was not true 15 or 20 years ago when deer range was at its peak. Then, new growth which followed heavy logging and which was protected against widespread fires was lush and in easy reach of the animals. That excellent range of many years ago is now a tall forest, out of reach of hungry deer."

Today's deer herd, far from ruined, has nonetheless a limited range that can support a herd of about 600,000 animals, Eddy said.

The herd has a "natural resilience," he explained, which allows hunters to harvest 20 per cent of the total each year. But under the one-buck law, they take only 10 per cent.

"The herd must be in balance with its range and so starvation maintains that balance," Eddy said.

Eddy called deer herd management a "two-edged tool," involving control of the herd itself and the range.

"We intend to step up our program of range control by cutting timber, burning and using chemical spray," the director added.

The legislature granted the commission authority to set special seasons to control the size of the herd in the low peninsula three years ago. The authority expires this year.

Stan Musial Checks Decline of Cardinals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Those St.Louis Cardinals may be only in fifth place, but with Stan Musial starting to hit again, things may be getting better any day now.

Musial's the gent who owns assorted National League batting titles and St.Louis restaurants. And when The Man is dishing out base hits, the Cards eat high off the hog.

Stan's had his usual slow start so far, but he's perked up when the Cards needed him most. Musial's up to .317 as of today, moving up on a 13-game revival in which he's hit .375.

It was Musial who in early May kept the Cards from sinking into seventh place by getting 3-for-5 against Philadelphia in a 6-5 St. Louis victory. On May 27, the day he started his current upswing, Stan had 2-for-3 as the Cards beat Cincinnati 7-4 and jumped to fifth.

Then on May 29, once again in sixth, the Cards pulled back into fifth by beating the Redlegs 7-2. Musial had just one hit—but it was a three-run homer.

Last night, the Red Birds again were on the verge of slipping into seventh place. And voila! Musial smacked 3-for-5, drove in three runs and scored himself in a 5-4 triumph over the Phils.

That eased the Cardinals into a fifth-place tie with Cincinnati after the Redlegs had been blanked by the first-place Brooklyn Dodgers 4-0.

Brooklyn stayed eight games up as the runnerup Chicago Cubs came from behind with four runs in the sixth to beat Pittsburgh 4-3 while the resurrected Milwaukee Braves knocked New York's Giants out of third 13-4.

In the American, the New York Yankees remained 4½ games out front while losing to Detroit 4-3 in 12 innings. The Chicago White Sox—rained out in their game with Baltimore — slipped into second place .005 percentage points ahead of Cleveland as the Indians lost to Boston 9-5.

The only other AL action went to Washington, with the Senators sweeping a twi-night twinbill at Kansas City 3-2 and 7-3.

Brooklyn missed hitting a home run for the first time in 13 games, but the Redlegs managed just five hits off Johnny Podres, who won his sixth. Frank Kellert had three Dodger hits.

Milwaukee clobbered the slumping Giants with six runs in the second that sent Johnny Antonelli to his seventh defeat. The Braves, who now have won five of six and are above .500 for the first time since May 19, got five more in the ninth as Chet Nichols won No. 5 with help from Warren Spahn.

The Giants, now a half-game back of the Braves, lost shortstop Al Dark for an indefinite period when x-ray revealed a pair of bone chips suffered when he was hit on the left hand by a pitched ball Sunday.

Rookie Herb Score didn't survive the first inning against the Red Sox as Ted Williams hit a two-run double. But after Cleveland tied it at 3-all in their half of the frame to chase Mel Parnell, Boston got four runs in the fourth off loser Art Houtteman to win it for George Susce.

Three runs in the ninth — with Bill Wilson's three-base error letting the lead run score—broke up Alex Kellner's shutout and won for the Senators in the opener at Kansas City. Mickey McDermott gave 13 hits and walked six in the nightcap, but hung on for his fifth victory.

Republican 9 Scrambles to Win Over Dems

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republicans scrambled to a 12-4 victory at Griffith Stadium last night to break a seven-year Democratic winning streak in the Congressional baseball series.

Scramble is a fairly apt word. The Republicans had the benefit of six errors of record and numerous others that didn't go on the official scorecard. Additionally, Rep. Torbert MacDonald of Massachusetts and his successors on the mound for the Democrats gave up nine bases on balls.

Speiser Flattens Miamian in Eighth

Speiser, ex-collegian and two-time NCAA lightheavyweight boxing champion, started cautiously but began to find the range in the 3rd and kept whittling away at Mayfield until he caught him with a right flush on the jaw in the 8th.

It was Speiser's 9th straight win and 15 wins against two losses as a professional.

Cronin Shows With Sox, Stirs Talk of Swaps

Boston Has Displayed Frequent Interest in Bengals' Boone

CLEVELAND (AP)—The surprise appearance of Boston Red Sox General Manager Joe Cronin and outfielder Faye Throneberry in Cleveland to join the team has stirred speculation about possible trades.

Cronin denied there was any deal brewing but it's no secret Boston would do business if the right opportunity came along before the June 15 trading deadline.

Throneberry's return came sooner than most observers had expected. The kid who started the season in left field prior to Ted Williams' return suffered a shoulder separation trying for a diving catch against New York May 7 and has been sidelined since.

As for trades, Cleveland Manager Al Lopez commented:

"I can't say what we need because it doesn't help a club to talk positions. But we'd be happy to talk with Joe (Cronin)."

Cronin said he would stay with the team the rest of the trip which includes a visit to Detroit. Tiger third baseman Ray Boone has been mentioned frequently as the object of possible Sox bartering.

Davey in Pontiac

Chuck Davey, who may be making a professional boxing comeback in the near future was a guest at today's regular weekly meeting of the Pontiac North Kiwanis Club at Puff's Midget Grill.

TUESDAY'S STARS

PITCHING — George Susce, Red Sox, gave us just three hits in 8 1-3 relief innings to beat the Cleveland Indians 9-5.

HITTING — Stan Musial, Cardinals, got 3-for-5, including a two-run double and run-scoring triple to beat Philadelphia 5-4.

7 Yachts Start Saturday in Newport-Sweden Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Two American and five foreign yachts are scheduled to start Saturday on a 3,450 mile race to Marstrand, Sweden — first such transatlantic test since 1935.

That year the race went from Newport to Bergen, Norway.

At stake will be the King of Sweden Cup. Boats will receive time allowances, according to size, under the Cruising Club of America measurement rule.

The other American entry is Richard S. Nye's 54-foot yawl Carina, out of Greenwich, Conn., a new boat which was built in Germany. She has the same name as Nye's smaller yawl which won the 1952 Bermuda race.

The most colorful entry has been forced to back out. Paul C. C. Chow of Keelung, Formosa, entered a 70-foot Chinese junk. A succession of troubles plagued the craft on leaving Formosa earlier this year and she had to be towed into Okinawa.

6 Norris 'Captives' Resign From Garden

Chicago Seeks Match Between Nashua, Swaps

CHICAGO (UP)—The Tribune said today negotiations were under way for a match race between Swaps and Nashua, the No. 1 and 2 runners in the Kentucky Derby.

Gimbel Heads Group Leaving Official Family

New York Paper Says Carbo and TV Caused Boxing Shakeup

NEW YORK (UP)—Chairman Bernard F. Gimbel and five other members of the board of directors of Madison Square Garden have offered their resignations because they are "captives" of boxing promoter Jim Norris, the New York Herald Tribune said today.

The Herald Tribune identified the other board members who tendered their resignations as Walter P. Chrysler Jr., Sydney J. Weinberg, William M. Greve, Jansen Noyes and Stanton Griffis.

"I'd rather not discuss the situation."

A special meeting of the board of directors will be held in the Garden tomorrow to discuss the resignations.

The Herald Tribune said the six members were displeased by the admission from Norris that he knew Frankie Carbo, an underworld figure who is reputed to have a major say in the doings of the fight business. Norris made the admission during hearings conducted by the New York State Athletic Commission.

The members also were said to be annoyed because the Garden has been turned into a "television studio" drawing only small fight crowds and the fact that Norris, as head of the International Boxing Club, promoted the recent Rocky Marciano-Don Cockell heavyweight championship bout in San Francisco.

The Herald Tribune also said it was understood that Norris would replace Gen. Kilpatrick as president of the Garden and the latter would take over as chairman of the board.

Norris' partner, Arthur Wirtz, also is on the board of directors. Together they also own controlling interest of the Chicago Stadium and Detroit Olympia.

Bridge and Seaway Promise to Create Demand on Conservation Resources

LANSING (UP) —The St. Lawrence Seaway and the Straits of Mackinac bridge promise to create a growing demand on conservation resources in Michigan, state conservation department officials predicted this week.

Department workers said the bridge and seaway will increase the need for public conservation areas and will facilitate transportation in these areas.

Conservationists are particularly concerned with how the construction projects are carried out and have requested hearings with the army corps of engineers on dredging operations for the seaway.

Channel work will be carried out by the engineers to provide a minimum depth of 27 feet in the St. Mary's, St. Clair, and Detroit rivers, and the Straits of Mackinac. Deepest spot in some of these connecting links between the Great Lakes is about 14 feet at present.

Actual dredging operations are not expected to have any major affect on fish, waterfowl and furbearers but the dumping of the dredged-up bottom material could present a serious conservation problem.

Conservation officials said the "spoil" which must be disposed of could "seriously damage" waterfowl installations if it is dumped in marshlands such as the Erie marshes. If dumped in deeper areas of the lakes, it can create a pollution problem and endanger fish.

Widening and deepening of channels also will drop lake levels because of more rapid drainage. This could damage waterfront installations and widlife marshes if proper compensating structures are not constructed, conservation workers said.

Nats Solve Kellner, Win Twin Bill From Kaycee

KANSAS CITY (UP) — The Washington Senators finally solving Alex Kellner's southpaw delivery last night, eked out a 3-2 ninth-inning victory over Kansas City in the first game of a doubleheader, and kept right on in the second game with a 7-3 decision over young Art Ceccarelli.

The three runs the Senators scored in the ninth inning of the opener were the first they had scored off Kellner in his last 17 innings. He shut them out in Washington last month, 1-0.

Carlos Paula further humiliated the young lefthander by driving in Mickey Vernon from third base in the fifth while Ceccarelli was trying to give him a base on balls. Paula reached out and hit a wide pitch to Bill Renna in right field and Vernon scored after the catch.

McDermott, although he was erratic, struggled through to his fifth victory of the season and pulled his record up to the .500 mark. He walked six.

The Senators took a lead they never lost when they scored three unearned runs against Art Ceccarelli in the second inning. Umphlett doubled in all of the tallies.

Ed FitzGerald homered in the fifth and the Nats added another run on a walk, Roy Sievers' double and a sacrifice fly. Their final tally was singled home by Runnels in the seventh.

Ezzard Places Future on Line Against Holman

TV Bout, Tonight, in Cincinnati, Is Return Engagement

CINCINNATI (UP)—Whether former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles is to figure any longer as a topflight fighter may be determined tonight when he meets Johnny Holman, Chicago, in a return bout scheduled for 10 rounds.

The contest will be televised nationally (ABC) and will begin at 9 p.m. EST at Music Hall Sports Arena.

Holman scored a technical knockout over Charles in the ninth round at Miami Beach, Fla., April 27. Charles, although down in the first round, had come back and was ahead on points until Holman battered him into helplessness and the bout was stopped.

It was only the fourth time in 15 years of ring battle that the Cincinnati belter had been stopped. Lloyd Marshall scored a KO in 1943; former champion Joe Walcott did it to win the heavyweight title in 1951, and Rocky Marciano did it last year.

Holman has been boxing since 1947, but his record was not too impressive until this year. He was stopped several times, twice by Bob Satterfield.

A terrific puncher, he knocked out the tough Cesar Brion in four rounds this year, and followed it with the victory over Charles. Earlier he won a 10-round decision over Julio Mederos.

Both men have trained hard for tonight's fight and neither expects it to go the distance. Despite his loss to Holman in their first bout, Charles rules a slight favorite to turn the tables.

"I'll be going for the knockout early," Charles said.

Former Golf Pro Faces Sentence

Ralph Yankee Pleads Guilty to Manslaughter in Traffic Death

DETROIT (UP)—A former Detroit golf professional today faces sentence for manslaughter in the automobile death of a pedestrian.

Ralph D. Yankee, former pro at the Country Club of Detroit, pleaded guilty to the charge yesterday. Traffic judge George T. Murphy set sentencing for July 20 and released him under $1,000 bond.

Maximum penalty for manslaughter is 15 years imprisonment.

Yankee said he had made a $17,500 settlement with the wife of Robert J. Hamilton, 28, who was struck and fatally injured last Sept. 29 while crossing a street.

Police investigator Joseph Griffith said Yankee was drunk and speeding when the couple was hit. Yankee resigned as a golf pro after the accident and now is working as an oil salesman.

hickory AND horsehide

by DIZZY TROUT

Broadcasting and telecasting Tiger baseball games is not as simple a task as many fans believe Van Patrick and Ol' Diz are at the ball park long before the game begins.

Starting line-ups must be obtained from home and visiting team managers. Cards have to be compiled on individual batting averages and defensive positions. Note must be made of visiting delegations for later acknowledgement on the air. Voice levels have to be checked before air time.

Moreover, as Ol' Diz shuttles about gathering data, I'm stopped by fans who want to say hello. Not that I mind. I love to chat with the fans, but it does cut into my time, so I try to arrive at the ball park with the players at 10:30 a.m.

Several mornings a week Ol' Diz pitches batting practice to the Tigers, thus sparing a regular pitcher for afternoon duty. I still have a locker in the clubhouse and my old uniform, number 11.

As for the broadcasts, Van and I have separate microphones. When I do the "color" between innings, I take my cue from engineer Howard Stitzel, who's been handling Tigercasts eight years, when we're only on radio, or from producer Ralph Rust when we're also doing television.

Telecasting is considerably more complex than broadcasting. The picture and Van's narration have to be in harmony. We have a TV monitor in our booth, which hangs down from the second deck between home and first, to help us. But producer Rust is kept hopping to select which of three pictures on his big monitor best fits in with Van's description.

Van, who possesses an excellent vocabulary, stumps me once in a while. But I look up the word in my pocket dictionary and remember it. However, I'm still a man of simple words and intend to continue that way as long as I'm broadcasting the Hickory and Horsehide game.

Trout Trip to Ontario's Algoma Region Productive

By JACK PATTERSON

Ontario's Algoma District offers the outdoorsman a true wilderness area less than a day's drive from Pontiac. A country of rocky hills, forests and sparkling lakes, typical of the Laurentian Shield, the district is owned in large part by the Algoma Central & Hudson's Bay Railroad. The company has leased, for sporting purposes, much of the area to private and commercial camp operators.

PATTERSON

In the long Canadian winter Algoma belongs to the moose and wolf, the logger and Indian trapper and, increasingly, to the uranium hunter. In the spring, summer and early fall, however, it is the land of the fisherman, and it is of fishermen we write.

Speckled trout and grey (lake) trout are the big attraction throughout most of the area. By train or float plane the fisherman has a wide choice of places to go. He might be invited into a private camp, as Harold Howlett, Al Girard and Dr. Howard Barker recently were.

Or he could pick a "railroad camp" like the one at mile 90 where Ralph Austin, Mead Myers and Dr. Bruce Hubbard recently caught all the trout, they knew what to do with.

Or he might try a different place every couple weeks like Dr. Milt Hathaway and Dr. S. K. Sands do (or so it seems). He could go east to the Blind River area like Tom Whitfield, Norm Pattison and Glenn Miller, where the trout area mixes with pike and walleye water.

Or, like Dr. Kenneth VandenBerg, he could go north beyond the main trout area and specialize in walleyes and big northerns.

We picked Kwagama lake at mile 114, and flew in along with Al and Phil Hubbard, Dave Edstrom, Louie Cole and Bob Oliver, in a plane so heavily overloaded it used up most of the St. Mary's river for the take-off.

It's mechanical heart kept pumping, though, and in about 50 minutes the pilot set us down on Kwagama as gently as an autumn leaf, and we set about the serious business of a week's fishing.

The fishing was fine. Good enough to be worthwhile and spotty enough to make it interesting and keep us moving from lake to lake. We took lots of fish, and some very nice ones. It fell to the writer to bring to boat and then lose the one really big fish of the trip.

We did some fly fishing but could not interest the big ones, maybe because Edstrom got tired of rowing the boat too soon. The really unbeatable lure was a small Dardevle fished with a spinning rod, a most unsportsmanlike but very efficient and satisfactory method of boating fish.

We made a number of portages, most fairly short, one on the long side, and fished from a variety of craft including the floats from a wrecked seaplane.

It was a trip of many surprises, the 1st of which was discovering that we had an Indian guide with a sense of humor. We all learned things too. Edstrom learned (to the tune of a broken Hardy flyrod) that you don't horse trout. Cole discovered he couldn't walk on water and both Hubbards learned the hard way how to duck to avoid an overhead Coleman lamp. As for us we learned a sure fire way to stop the itching of fly bites. Scratch 'em.

Walleyes Are Puzzle

Aqua-Lung May Aid Fisheries Research

BY MORT NEFF

Fish biologist admit they're playing a great big guessing game much of the time in trying to pry into the private lives of Michigan fish.

It's little wonder that the fish division of our Conservation Department is considering the use of an aqua-lung in an effort to get closer to the subject!

Fish management calls for large expenditures of money in hatchery operations for the rearing and planting of several species of fish, and for constantly expanding lake and stream improvement projects.

Neither one of these activities can be efficiently carried on without a good deal of knowledge of a fish's private life — a subject to which is attached a lot of mystery.

Lake Michigan fishermen—both sportsmen anglers and commercial netters — were gravely concerned over the virtual disappearance of the walleye from the Bay De Noc in the course of the past five years.

"Plant more walleyes!" was the plea to the Conservation Department and to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service who controlled the waters. Meanwhile, from the million pound harvest the net operations dropped to only a little more than 20,000 pounds. Then something happened.

For no obvious reason the walleye had a big spawning year in 1952 and 1953, and by the time May 21st (opening of the walleye season) rolled around in Bay De Noc this year the waters were alive with fish!

If the spawning habits of the walleye pike were better known to man—if biologists could learn what conditions produce a good spawning year — the management of this highly valued food fish would be far simpler. So maybe it's a good idea: "Man the Aqua-Lungs! Let's get the story straight from the fish!"

Canoeists Gird for Paddle Push

More than 150 canoeists are entered in Sunday's 4th annual Paddle Push, nation's biggest canoe race, on the Huron River from Milford to Kensington Metropolitan Park. Starting time is 2 p.m.

A large crowd is anticipated. Vantage points are the Milford bridge, where the race begins, the river banks near General Motors and Dawson roads, and marked parking areas at Kent Lake. Sunday's racing course crosses the lake and ends at the boat-launching area on the southeast shore.

Deadline for entries is today. Interested candidates should contact the Detroit-American Youth Hostels at 4864 Woodward by calling TEmple 1-4800.

Owen J. Cleary, of Ypsilanti, former Michigan secretary of state, will be chief judge. Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director fo the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, is general chairman. Nine trophies will be awarded by the Milford Board of Commerce.

Oakland County Wins Honors at Northville Show

Three Area Exhibitors Each Take Two Tests; Girl Nat'l Qualifier

A record 421 class entries in 25 events took part in the recent annual Northville Junior Horse show at Northville Downs. Program was sponsored by Northville Optimist Club for the benefit of underprivileged children.

There were five double winners during the two-day show, three from Oakland County. Hunter hack and hunter horsemanship classes were won by Jan Schaefer of Birmingham; Ted McManus from Bloomfield Hills won hunter horsemanship and FEI individual jumper divisions.

Kitten James of Birmingham won the 2nd harness race with Mr. Yonkers and qualified for national finals in New York's Madison Square Garden with her victory in the dressage. Other double winners were Cindy Hull from Plymouth and Northville's Janet Porath.

Four other Oakland area entrants were also victorious. Working hunter class went to Mary Casenhifer of Franklin Hills; Palomino division was taken by Farmington's Joyce Brennan; Carol Ann Lambertson from Birmingham captured the western bending race; Patti Bugas of Bloomfield Hills, daughter of Ford Motor Company's John Bugas, triumphed in the senior individual jumper.

Class A Junior Olympic jumping league team competition was won by the Grosse Pointe Rascals, who nosed out Birmingham Outlanders by one point. Class B was won by Toledo. Next team competition will be held at the Bloomfield Hills show June 22-25.

Smallest Muskrat Haul in 20 Years

LANSING (UP) — Michigan's muskrat take last winter was the lowest in at least 20 years, the conservation department reports.

About 13,500 trapper purchased licenses and 310,000 rats were taken the department said. The previous record low was 344,000 rats taken in 1942. The record high was the 1,000,000 taken in 1943.

Russian Woman Athletic Star Is Hardy Soul

MOSCOW (AP) — As an example of the hardihood of Soviet women, a Russian sports newspaper announced that a champion athlete is back in training only five weeks after giving birth to a daughter.

She is Nedezhda Dvalishvilli-Hnikina. She was a member of the Soviet relay team which set a world record Aug. 9, 1953 in the 800 meters at Bucharest.

Finally Something Bigger Than Texas

KING AND QUEEN COURT-HOUSE, Va. (AP) — You expect to hear about big things in Texas, but a Texan can tell you about some big things in Virginia.

The Texan is Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House of Representatives. He came off 2nd best in a battle with a black bass at the King and Queen Rod and Gun Club here. During the battle the fish surfaced and was plainly seen by the speaker and his companion, Rep. Prince Preston of Georgia. You'd expect the fish to be big after successfully battling a Texan —and it was.

Harris Draws, Lane Retains State Title

Buddy Harris, Pontiac welterweight managed by Ray Monett, battled Jessie Coulter of Detroit to a 5-round draw Tuesday night in one of the preliminary bouts on the Motor City Arena boxing card in Detroit.

It was the 3rd professional start for the former Pontiac High football and track star, who gave away 2 pounds to Coulter, who weighed 138. In the feature bout, Kenny Lane retained his state lightweight championship with a unanimous decision over Eli Leggett of Detroit.

Rookie infielder Hector Lopez of the Kansas City Athletics is a native of Colon, Panama. Last season he played for Ottawa in the International League.

1,964 Golfers Participated in Area's 'Golf Day' Test

Oakland County golfers attacked area country clubs in record number last Saturday in quest of medals for beating the champions on annual National Golf Day.

Area golfers, many of them employing club handicaps as their chief weapons, formed only a tiny segment of a nationwide effort to defeat Ed Furgol and Patty Berg. Defending U.S. Open titlist Furgol and Miss Berg fired their 18-hole rounds at the Olympic Club in San Francisco, scene of the approaching National Open.

Out of 37 courses in Oakland County, 29 participated. Although reports are stil lincomplete, 1,964 linksmen recorded scores, a figure already well in excess of last year. The total is expected to easily surpass the 2,000 mark.

Information regarding area scores comes from Fred Beck (Birmingham) of Life Magazine in Detroit.

Men golfers were more successful in beating Furgol, who shot 72, than the women were in besting Miss Berg's 77. On a national level, an estimated 12 per cent succeeded in topping Furgol, but feminine shot-makers had a very low percentage. Oakland County is comparatively equal with a conservative estimate of 200 winners.

National Golf Day proceeds will be split two ways. The American Red Cross will get 40 per cent of the take, with each county chapter's benefit depending on its percentage of participation. The National Golf Fund receives the balance. Saturday's proceeds were an estimated 20 per cent higher than a yea rago.

Indecision Gives Sarni Pop Double

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Catcher Bill Sarni is laughing to himself about the short double he smacked against the Pirates in Busch Stadium.

Sarni popped the ball high in the air above home plate but Pirate catcher Jack Shepard and 1st baseman Dale Long permitted it to land untouched a few feet in front of the plate. Sarni raced to 2nd base and was credited with a double.

Lane Moves Closer to Chance at Title

DETROIT (AP) — Southpaw Kenny Lane of Muskegon was one step closer to a hoped-for title match with lightweight champion Jimmy Carter today following a convincing victory over Eli Leggett of Detroit.

Lane, forcing the action all the way, pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over Leggett last night in the headliner bout at Motor City Arena. Lane weighed 135 and Leggett 134½.

Hits .380 for Tarheels

Tom Zachary Jr. batted .380 for the University of North Carolina baseball team this spring. His father is the former southpaw hurler for the Washington Senators and New York Yankees.

OOPS — The ball gets away from Phillies' 2nd baseman Granny Hamner and his teammate Roy Smalley (background) acts as the retriever when Cards' 3rd baseman Ken Boyer stole 2nd in the 1st inning in Philadelphia last night. Catcher Andy Seminick's throw was low to Hamner and when Boyer slid in, the ball popped out. Cards won, 5-4.

Deal Involves Groth, Courtney and Chakales

Lane Sends Trio to Washington to Get Outfielder

CHICAGO (AP)—General Manager Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox pulled the sort of deal yesterday that many clubs would like to make in acquiring the services of a player previously traded off.

Lane brought outfielder Jim Busby back to the Sox in a deal which sent outfielder Johnny Groth, catcher Clint Courtney and pitcher Bob Chakales to Washington.

Busby played with the Sox in 1950 and 1951 and was traded to Washington early in 1952 for outfielder Sam Mele, no longer with the Sox.

Courtney, also 28, batted .270 for Baltimore last year but is currently hitting .370, while used sparingly. Chakales, 27-year old right-hander, has no record. Last year he won five and lost seven with Baltimore.

Lane doesn't admit he erred in dealing off Busby in 1952 although it certainly would seem so.

"We needed Mele's power then," says Lane "and Busby had not yet learned to hit."

Mele finished the 1952 season with a .259 average and upped it to .274 the following year before Lane shuffled him to Baltimore for Groth and a couple of other players no longer around.

Lane did not feel apologetic. He's not alone in hankering for the return of players traded off. The New York Yankees are still trying to get pitcher Bob Porterfield back from Washington.

Sam Snead's Golf Clinic

out until they have reached the hip-high position. See picture. At this point, you start slowly—slowly — just as you start all golf actions — to pour the wrists into the shot.

And accelerate as you go. Thus the power of the wrists will flow into the swing rhythmically and you can be certain that the full added power of the wrist throw — (and its importance can hardly be exaggerated since all good players hit with the hands) — comes into the shot to deliver their full value at impact.

From that point on your hands follow through straight along the direction line. From there on, the hands pass up and over the left shoulder, but the head should be held immovable and the eyes on the spot where the ball was, until the ball is well away.

Odd Chicago Tavern Caters to Complexes

CHICAGO (UP) — Slim Brundage, a housepainter by trade, runs one of the world's most unusual taverns, an open forum sort of place known as the "College of Complexes."

"We cater to artists, writers, intellectuals and assorted screwballs," Brundage said, "and every now and then we get somebody with the price of a drink."

Brundage still works as a painter.

"I have to," he said, "to support the tavern."

Syracuse Elects Four to Lead 1956 Teams

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Syracuse University elected four captains for three of its 1956 athletic teams. Frank Guelli is the new boxing captain. Tom King will lead the wrestling team. Stew Lindsay and Don Muller will co-captain the lacrosse squad.

Harvey Kuenn, Detroit Tiger shortstop, was a 10-letter man at Milwaukee's Lutheran High School. He was a star in baseball, football and basketball.

Library Will Lend Pets to Youngsters

OAKLAND, Calif. (UP)—A "pet library" is expected to be in full operation within a short time.

Youngsters with an interest in fauna will be able to "check out" many types of animals that they would not normally have access to —monkeys, salamanders, squirrels, white mice, opossums, snakes and de-scented skunks.

The only stipulation for this mammalian lend-lease program is that an adult must accept responsibility for the borrowed animal.

The "library," which will provide instructions for the care and feed of each borrowed creature, will be operated on some degree on a donation basis. Its first inhabitant—a small fox—has already caused great excitement, and civic minded officials hope that this is a sign of future success.

Pick Wrong Targets for Scatter Shooting

MYSTIC, Conn. (AP)—Bullets whistled over the heads of two men when two youths engaged in random target shooting in the woods.

The men, Groton police chief Peter Donahue and fish and game conservation officer Louis M. Bayer collared the youngsters, both under 16, and took them home for a lecture on gun safety.

Blind Girl Teaching Music; Works by Ear

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—When 23-year-old Georgia Griffith graduated last June from Capital University's School of Music, she planned to teach music to the blind—because she herself is blind.

But there were no positions for her in that field. So she began to instruct pupils who see. When beginners ask her how she can tell when their fingers are held incorrectly over the piano keys, she replies:

"It's very easy to tell . . . the notes do not sound as they should; haven't you noticed?"

Tumor Benign, Viewers Learn in TV Surgery

WASHINGTON (UP) — Shortly after 8:55 o'clock last night television watchers learned with relief that the ugly lump in the young woman's left breast was not cancer.

They scooped the young woman herself by a matter of hours and her anxious husband by perhaps 15 or 20 minutes.

The occasion was history's first televised surgical removal of a breast tumor. It also was the first time in history that, even while the surgeon worked, a pathologist in a distant laboratory examined the excised tissue and reported his findings by television and intercom to the operating room.

Surgeon to pathologist more than one - third of a mile away: "How does it look?"

'LOOKS BENIGN'

Pathologist to surgeon: "Looks benign. . .(mild). . .yes, it's benign!"

Had the verdict been "malignant" the surgeon's work would just have begun. He would have had to remove the entire breast.

As it was, his work was quickly over. And a few minutes later the waiting husband—who had not dared to turn on his TV set—was hearing the lovely word "benign."

The show — and for all its realism it was a show—was staged at Walter Reed Army Hospital and the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology (AFIP) in Washington.

It was sponsored and produced by Smith, Kline & French Laboratories of Philadelphia, in cooperation with the American Medical Association, as the last in the spring series of SKF's March of Medicine program.

The stars were the 25-year-old wife of an Army doctor; Maj. Edward S. Bres Jr. of Silver Spring, Md., a Walter Reed surfeon; and Army Capt. Claude W. Delia of the AFIP whose new atom bomb-proof building occupies a hill site more than 2,000 feet from the hospital where last night's surgery took place.

Calumet Will Press Suit Against USW

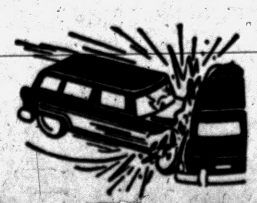

HOUGHTON (AP) — A Calumet & Hecla, Inc., official says the firm intends to proceed with its 3½ million dollar damage suit against the CIO United Steel Workers.

A. S. Kromer, general manager of the company's Calumet Division, said yesterday the firm will press for an early trial of the case.

Federal Judge W. Wallace Kent Monday denied the company an injunction against a strike at its Calumet Division and an injunction to regulate picketing at its five copper mines and smelter.

Labor Peace Now at Ford Clears Way for Stock Sale

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Ford's labor pact should have cleared the way for an early offering of Ford stock to the public.

Terms have been withheld while Ford management was bargaining with labor. Even when Ford offered to let its workers buy Ford stock at half price, it was careful not to say what that price would be.

The union turned down that offer and held out for a supplemental unemployment benefit plan.

The Ford stock offering was held up by the labor bargaining because before a public issuing of stock can be made Ford must furnish the Securities and Exchange Commission with its financial figures. Ford has never made these public and certainly couldn't have been expected to while it was bargaining with its employes over how much it could afford to pay them.

With a three-year labor peace bought by its promise to set up a 5-million-dollar fund out of which to give laid-off workers part of their customary pay, Ford is now in a position to go ahead with sale of its stock to the public.

Actually, the stock to be sold is that held by the Ford Foundation. The nonvoting shares are carried on the foundation's books at $135 each. But Wall Street figures that Ford's assets are just under two billion dollars, and that, therefore, the foundation's shares have an asset value in excess of $500 each.

Since $500 a share stock isn't popular with the general investing public, the expectation is that Ford will split the stock at least 10 for 1, and perhaps more, before making the public offering.

* * *

Union leaders made it plain that they rejected Ford's offer to let employes buy stock at half price primarily because it was put forward as a substitute for unemployment compensation. They say the union would be glad to consider the stock offer as a separate proposition.

Compression Ratios Rising

Efficiency of Engines in 1956 Cars Expected to Be Greater

DETROIT (AP) — Higher compression ratio engines have been designed for several of next year's model automobiles. Along with the development will come still higher horsepower output.

These advances immediately suggest higher quality fuel. That, too, is in prospect. However, stepping up the quality of automobile fuel is an expensive operation. Some sources have said that adding a single octane number near the present top involves a billion dollar investment in added facilities by the petroleum industry.

So the men who make the industry's engines are trying to increase what they call the "mechanical" octane of the power plant. Distinguished from the chemical octane advances contributed by the petroleum refiners, this involves improvements in the engine to facilitate its operation on fuels currently available.

It is achieved chiefly through improved ignition control, valve timing, carburetion, engine-transmission relationship and combustion chamber design. In simple words it is designed to get the most out of every-day auto fuels.

FUEL WASTE

The engineers say there still is tremendous waste in incomplete fuel consumption. At the same time they say combustion — and fuel consumption—is substantially better than it was in prewar days. If you want to argue that your car mileage per gallon is little, if any, better than it was before the war the experts have an answer for that, too.

They say that in modern day traffic there is vastly more stop-and-go driving than ever before and that you get no mileage at all waiting for traffic light changes.

Top compression ratios in this year's models is 9 to 1 in a limited number of cars. There will be several more in the 1956 models. Compression ratio, roughly, is the space in the cylinder at the bottom of the piston stroke in relation to the combustion chamber space at the top of the stroke.

Some industry engineers have predicted some of the more expensive cars soon will have 10 to 1 compression ratios. That undoubtedly is one of the goals of the engine designers, but it does not appear to be in prospect for the 1956 models. A few engines with 9.5 to 1 are more likely.

12.5 TO 1 TRIED

The industry has tested engines with ratios considerably higher than the present top. Charles F. Kettering, famed engineer - scientist, built a couple of engines a few years ago with 12.5 to 1 compression ratios. They required a type of fuel that even today is commercially impracticable to produce.

However, Kettering believed he proved the practicability of higher compression car engines and that they yielded greater mileage per gallon of fuel.

There is a limit, of course, to how high compression ratios can be attempted in gasoline power plants. Somewhere in the 15 or 16 to 1 ratio area the diesel type of combustion is reached. In this field the fuel is detonated by the heat developed rather than by a timed electric spark.

Some sources say next year's cars will include several with 300 horsepower engines. Chrysler recently announced one with that power capacity and Packard currently is building a sports model car called the Caribbean which develops 275 horsepower.

Toledo Plant Will Make Rescue Boats for Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has awarded Ray Greene Co., Toledo, Ohio, a $65,790 contract to build nine 19-foot plastic rescue boats.

They are to be flat bottom, blunt-nose swamp gliders for the rescue of airmen downed in shallow water. Each boat will be powered by an aircraft type engine driving an air propellor mounted at the stern.

Newsman to Be Honored

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Leon B. Buer, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said Washington Correspondent William Pyper (Booth Newspapers) will receive a VFW citation at the state convention June 16 in Traverse City. Buer said Pyper was "very instrumental in helping to make known the VFW battle" for additional Veterans' Administration hospital beds for state veteran neuropsychiatric patients.

Seek to Spread GAW Contracts

UAW Plans Campaign for Guaranteed Wage in Implement Plants

CHICAGO (AP) — The CIO United Auto Workers announced today a guaranteed annual wage will be sought for some 60,000 members in the farm equipment and other industries in Illinois and Indiana.

"The principle was established in the Ford negotiations," Pat Greathouse, regional UAW director in Chicago, said. "Now we want to improve the arithmetic."

Negotiations will open Thursday in Moline with Deere & Co., farm equipment manufacturer, Greathouse said. The company, whose contract will expire Aug. 1, has nine plants and 15,000 workers.

On Aug. 23 the UAW contract covering 50,000 workers in 12 International Harvester Co. plants will expire.

The guaranteed annual wage also will be sought from Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., Springfield; Caterpillar Tractor Co., East Peoria; Studebaker-Packard Corp., South Bend, Ind., and Bendix Products Division of Bendix Aviation Corp., South Bend.

Panhandle to Boost Winter Gas Capacity

WASHINGTON — Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. today notified that it planned to boost its coming winter peak day capacity by approximately 160,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas. This would be in addition to the 100,000,000 cubic feet of peak day capacity added to the pipe line's volume last winter.

Panhandle's gas is delivered in greatest part to utilities and industries in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Missouri. The company's three main parallel transmission lines stretch from the Southwest to Michigan and a subsidiary, Trunkline Gas Co., which draws on gas reserves along the Gulf Coast, feeds into the Panhandle system at Tuscola, Ill.

The four Michigan companies affected are the Consumers Power of Jackson, Citizens Gas Fuel of Adrian, Michigan Gas Utilities of Coldwater and Southeastern Michigan Gas of Port Huron.

Wants to Bring Sponsors Back

New CBS Program Should Draw Others to Old Medium

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Conductor Percy Faith hopes to start a revival—a revival in radio programming.

Faith, who has a new one-hour musical show on CBS with the nation's biggest five-and-dime chain as sponsor, says that if the program clicks he believes a lot of other big sponsors will troop back to radio.

The Canadian-born composer and conductor isn't antitelevision by any means. He simply takes the view that good music is a field in which TV has little if any advantage over radio.

"And this is real old fashioned radio in a big way," he says of his Sunday afternoon show broadcast live—something that's becoming a novelty in these days of recorded network radio.

"Radio has to depend on music," he declares. "That's the one big thing it has to offer, aside from news and sports."

Faith says he feels music has not received very much attention in TV, with a few exceptions, but even so the chances of enriching music with pictures are limited.

Faith says CBS statisticians have informed him 26 million cars with radios are on the highways at 1 p.m. (EDT) when his show goes on the air and if he reaches a pretty good percentage of them he has a large audience right there.

Ever wonder how the networks rank in total business volume? Publisher's Information Bureau estimates that for the first four months of the year it was as follows for the TV chains: CBS 62 million dollars, NBC just under 53 million, ABC a little over 14½ million and Du Mont not quite 2½ million. In radio it was CBS 16 million dollars, NBC nearly 11 million, ABC nearly 9½ million and Mutual 5½ million. Is Eddie Singing Blues Over Debbie Reynolds?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Now in the hot months when several night clubs will be closing, a funny thing happened—a new night club opened.

'Twas La Vie . . . operated by Monte Proser, one time boss of the Copacabana, before that a "pack rat" in Yellowstone, before that a young hobo.

"You must be independently wealthy," somebody said to him recently.

"I'm better'n that," Monte replied. "I'm independently broke."

Eddie Fisher—whom Monte gave a job 9 years ago—was the star, and the news of the sincere applause he got must by now have reached Debbie Reynolds.

★ ★ ★ ★

When Eddie sang "Am I Blue?" and "I'm Walking Behind You" and other such heart-twisters, you wondered if he's joined the Torch Club. Every male singer seems to have to have his heart stepped on lately. (There's a good title for a song right there: "Quit Stepping on My Heart.")

AUDREY

JILL

"I never saw so many pretty women in one spot," remarked Paul Suni of the Hensinki Pan-Am office, who's kind of an authority, having been married four times.

"American women," he implied, "are prettier than Finnish women at night, but in the morning, when they get up, Finnish women are prettier."

He was talking about the difference makeup makes—the Finnish beauties not using any, except a little lipstick.

By American beauties I recken he referred to Audrey Meadows, Jill Corey, Fran Keegan, Baby Shor, Mrs. Doug Watts, Mrs. Paul Winchell and Evelyn Keyes who said she was going to Paris next day. Her escort, Mike Todd, said she wasn't going to Paris then.

"I'm just in New York to chance planes," said Todd. "I'm on my way to Belgrade.

Rome Vincent headed the show in the long, attractive room. The scene was an island and Lou Wills Jr. arrived on it in the midst of a gonna-gonna dance with a golf bag.

"Isn't this the Westchester Country Club?" he inquired.

"Are you crazy!" This is an island in the middle of the ocean," he was informed.

"What a drive!" he shouted, waving the golf club.

LOMA DUKE

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Jack Paar the comic is having his troubles, but Jack Paar the horse just won its second straight race . . . Christian Dior got a $30,000 advance on his memoirs.

Darryl Zanuck's comment on "Seven Year Itch": "Marilyn Monroe will draw them in, then Tom Ewell will kill them" . . . The Hotel Lexington's under new management, but its Hawaiian Room still offers such attractions as Loma Duke.

Producer Gant Gaither signed a $30,000 deal for TV rights to "Seventh Heaven" after its B'way run . . . Winnie Rockefeller took his fiance, Jeanette Edris, to The Patio.

Undermined by Canals

Venetian Palace Rebuilt

VENICE, Italy (AP)—The canals which make Venice famous also ruin the foundations of its antique palaces.

Take the famous 17th century Ca'Angaran, on the Grand Canal. Ca'Angaran means the House of the Angarans. This family gave the republic of Venice money to fill coffers emptied by war in 1655 and was elevated to nobility as a reward.

For years the Angarans have feared their palace would fall down. Centuries of lapping water had eaten into the underpinnings. But the 17th century facade was irreplaceable, and the owners feared foundation repairs would harm the front.

The solution: The facade was taken apart, stone by stone. In all, 1,700 separate pieces were piled in a small square nearby.

Sturdy new foundations were built. Now workmen are reassembling the palace. Soon Venetians passing by in their gondolas will never know it was rebuilt.

It's an expensive process. Few Venetian aristocrats can afford the cost. Dozens of palaces badly need restoration if they are not to collapse eventually.

'Walkin' Bob' Resumes His Pushcart Express

PARIS, Ky. (AP)—"Walkin' Bob" Waugh's Pushcart Express is back in business between Paris and Carlisle. Citizens donated $15.85 to buy Bob a new two-wheeled, rubber-tired pushcart after the old wheelbarrow he'd used for five years collapsed.

Bob often travels the 18 miles between the communities in five hours. He delivers orders of almost anything for invididuals, frequently scattering handbills for merchants as he goes along.

He has been known to turn down rides offered by passing motorists, saying, "No thanks. I'm in a hurry."
