Johnson Raps Race Violence in California

Gov. Brown Offered U. S. Assistance to Restore Order in LA

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (P) — President Johnson denounced today "killings, rioting, and looting" and offered Gov. Edmund G. Brown any possible federal assistance in the Los Angeles situation. Johnson described the events of the past two days in Los Angeles as "tragic and shocking."

He said "we are deeply committed to the fulfillment of every American's constitutional rights," adding: "Right will not be won through violence."

He urged every person in a position of leadership "to make every effort to restore order in Los Angeles."

He described the violence as "contrary to the best traditions of this country."

Johnson, in a statement read to newsmen at the White House press center in Austin, said "equal rights carry equal responsibilities. 'No person has the right to inflict harm on the life or property of others. Every person has the responsibility to uphold law and order. I call upon all Americans to fulfill that responsibility.'"

The President asked Under-Secretary of Commerce Leroy Collins, former head of Commerce Services Office set up under the 1964 civil rights act, and special White House counsel Lee White to meet Brown in New York to discuss the situation.

NIGHT SCENE—A furniture store blazes wildly in the Los Angeles Negro area early today—one of many fires that burned through the area where rioting has raged for three nights. Sirens screeched throughout the night as firemen fought to control the blazes. Some fire engines were attacked by the rioters.

17 Are Killed, Hundreds Hurt, 600 Arrested

Estimate $100 Million Damage From Fires in Strife-Torn Sector

LOS ANGELES (P)—Patrols of National Guardsmen swept lawless mobs from their path today in sweeps through a Negro section wracked by four days rioting. Violence slackened, but peace was not restored.

Additional troops were ordered into the litter-strewn, fire-ravaged streets where 17 persons died in the worst racially-triggered riots of the nation's recent history.

Dawns of another hot day — sixth straight in a Los Angeles heat wave — showed the extent of damage wreaked by the night's rioting: Fire officials estimate $100 million in fire losses. Whole blocks of buildings have been burned to the ground. At one time, 125 major fires burned out of control.

Five hundred stores have been looted. Many were burned. SOME CRITICAL.

More than 300 persons have been injured, some of them critically.

Jails were filled to overflowing. More than 600 persons have been arrested. Police said all rioters were Negroes.

Authorities declared a state of insurrection — short of complete martial law — in the Negro district south of Los Angeles downtown section.

Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty asked President Johnson to declare Los Angeles a disaster area to qualify it for federal aid.

Officers increased the number of California National Guard troops committed to the city to 10,000.

Two battalions of the 49th Armored Division — 4,000 men — were being flown from San Francisco.

Another 700 men from another brigade of the same unit were flown in from Fresno.

The riots started Wednesday when white police sought to arrest a Negro man on a drunk driving charge.

After two days of assaults on whites and stone throwing, the mobs began to run wild through the Negro sector yesterday and last night in an orgy of burning and shooting.

The dead were mostly victims of police riot guns.

One Negro was shot by National Guard riflemen as he sniped at a formation advancing through the riot center. Another was killed when he dove into a National Guard roadblock.

One sheriff's deputy shot by looters; one white man killed, possibly by rioters; 14 Negroes slain. All except the fireman were shot to death. Police said most of the dead were looters who ran when trapped.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California, hurrying home from an interrupted vacation in Greece, told newsmen in Rome: "From here it is awfully hard to direct a war. That's what this is."

"It is mob rule at its worst. I cannot understand it. Relations between different races have always been excellent in California."

Four Months

Navy Extends Duty Time

WASHINGTON (P)—The Navy announced today it is extending the duty of regular Navy and Marine personnel for a period of four months.

The order applies to Navy men whose completion of active service had been scheduled to end Sept. 15 or later and to Marines whose duty would have ended Aug. 20 or later.

This would immediately affect about 32,000 sailors and 12,000 Marines whose enlistments are due to expire in the next four months.

The order by Secretary Paul H. Nitze for extension of duty was sent to all commands last evening. Its existence was confirmed publicly only early today.

It follows by only a few weeks a Navy decision to use Selective Service and take 4,600 men in the October quota, the first time the Navy has used the draft in more than a decade.

Purpose of the extensions is to retain men in service until the draft and voluntary recruiting can begin to expand Navy and Marine Corps strength under the military buildup order issued by President Johnson last month.

That order authorized the Navy to increase its manpower by about 35,000 and the Marines by 30,000.

Income Tax Up to 4 Pct. 'State Need'

MACKINAC ISLAND (P) — Gov. George Romney and a legislative tax negotiation committee agreed yesterday that Michigan needs a personal income tax of up to four per cent. Romney and the 19 legislators from both parties narrowed tax revision suggestions to two alternatives. These two will be refined, then presented to party caucuses for consideration, they said.

The restructuring would net the state $200 million in additional revenue by June 30, 1968.

Whether enough votes can be garnered for adoption of any final proposal is the question for the fall legislative session.

GENERAL PLAN

- Homery would not spell out exact figures of the two alternatives but gave this general framework of plan supported by a "substantial majority" at the two-day discussion:
- Personal income tax at a maximum rate of four per cent to state and local governments.
- Corporate and financial institution income tax at a five per cent maximum rate.
- Revision of the intangible tax.
- Increase of the cigarette tax.
- Conversion of the inheritance tax to an estate tax.
- Relief from the sales tax on food and drugs.
- Relief on property taxes.
- Repeal of the business activities tax.

Pontiac Introducing New Engine for '66

The development of a completely new six-cylinder overhead cam engine for all 1966 Tempest, Tempest Custom and LeMans models was announced today by John Z. DeLoe, a General Motors Corp. vice president and general manager of the division.

DeLoe's official announcement ended months of speculation about rumors that the division was working on a revolutionary new six-cylinder engine for introduction this year or next.

The new engine is a product of intensive research, development and testing.

Unique in both engineering concept and design, the Pontiac overhead cam engine is smooth, has larger output capabilities, increased fuel economy and provides greatly improved ease of servicing.

Most significant in design of this in-line, 230 cubic-inch engine — and the first time it has ever been used in an American passenger car — is the belt drive overhead cam using a rocker arm and an automatic hydraulic lash adjuster.

With single barrel carburetor, the engine has a compression ratio of 9.8:1 and is available with either manual or automatic transmission.

There is also a four-barrel carburetor option available with a compression ratio of 10.5:1.

It will be available with a three-speed manual shift transmission as standard equipment; with a four-speed manual shift or automatic transmission optional.

The new four-barrel carburetor, called the "Quadra-Jet," features small primary venturis used in conjunction with large secondaries which utilize air (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Kathy Is Fighting Big Odds for Life

By JANICE KLOUSER

Little Kathy Leach lies in a Minneapolis hospital fighting against tremendous odds for a tenuous hold on life.

Acceptance . . . Rejection. Between these opposites lies a vast new field of medical science in which the Lake Orion girl has become a key figure.

In a nine-hour operation Tuesday night, Kathy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Leach of 12 Indianside, was given a dead child's healthy liver to take the place of her deteriorated one.

Kathy was born without a bile duct and in April was given two to 12 months to live without the operation.

According to a hospital spokesman, the 2-year-old child is expected to remain in serious condition for two weeks while her body is trying to accept the new liver.

It is the body's acceptance or rejection of a transplanted organ which makes the risks so great in any transplant operation.

Dr. Dawson explained that the difficulty in organ transplant operations is not the technique but the fact that the body rejects foreign tissue.

But he speaks like a man who sees beyond the difficulties to the solution, one who envisions unlimited possibilities in medicine once the answer is found.

HEALTHY LUNGS "Just think of what could be done," he said.

"We could give the healthy lungs, of say an accident victim to a young executive with diseased lungs; or give someone a new heart."

Dr. Dawson is doing his part to make this a reality. For the past three years, he has been doing research into the "whys" of tissue rejection.

"The public in general, and even some doctors, still don't understand that the big hurdle to get around is this rejection."

"Nature abhors a foreign tissue inside the body," he said, "and the secret, mainly that of rejection, has not been mastered."

"One must realize that Medawar (biologist Peter Brian Medawar) got the Nobel Prize only as recently as 1960 for demonstrating that the body's rejection of foreign tissue is an immunological response."

An immunological response is the body's way of developing a defense by creating antibodies (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Scout Camp Lodge Dedication Sunday

Dedication of a new $23,000 Boy Scout Lodge, made possible through a bequest by the late Joe Haas, former Pontiac Press writer, will be tomorrow at 7 p.m. at Camp Agawam.

Ceremonies will include the presentation of an official flag for the lodge by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Officials and members of the Clinton Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America will be present for the dedication, along with a number of scouts.

The new building will be named JO-WIN-E-HAAS-E in memory of Haas and his wife Winifred.

Since there is no flagpole at the lodge, the official flag will be draped on the front of the building during the ceremonies, according to Ted Pearson, vice president and chairman of the camp development committee. The new 30-by-50-foot lodge is designed for a number of uses.

It is equipped with a complete kitchen and liquid gas heat. The hall itself can be converted into a meeting room, dining hall, and sleeping quarters.

A second project, also the result of Haas' generosity, will be an $18,000 addition to the main dining lodge at Camp Agawam to be completed some time in 1966.

The camp is located on Tommy's Lake in Orion Township.

NEW SCOUT LODGE — The Boy Scouts of America, Clinton Valley Council, will dedicate this lodge, made possible through a bequest of Joe Haas, former Pontiac Press writer and civic leader, tomorrow at 7 p.m. The lodge, named JO-WIN-E-HAAS-E in memory of Haas and his wife, Winifred, is in Camp Agawam, Orion Township, on Tommy's Lake.

B52s Hit Cong Areas

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Giant American B52 bombers from the U.S. Strategic Air Command hit Viet Cong positions only 17 miles from North Viet Nam today, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

Vietnamese government troops followed up the raid with one of the largest offensives ever staged by the 1st Army Corps, U.S. spokesmen said.

Military sources said 14 Viet Cong were killed in the initial phase of the operation. They said government casualties were light. There was no immediate report on results of the B52 strike. U.S. military spokesmen declined to say how many bombers took part or how many bombs were dropped. Such information had been reported after the eight previous B52 raids in South Viet Nam.

CLASSIFIED MATERIAL
A briefing officer said a new directive made the number of planes and details of the bombs dropped classified material. He said as far as he knew all the planes returned safely.

Brig. Gen. Frederick Karch said there are now about 7,000 Marines in the Chu Lai area and about 29,000 in areas northward, which include the big Da Nang Air Base and the Hue-Phi Bai region.

Today's arrivals are members of the 1st Battalion, 7th Regiment of the 1st Marine Division. They made the trip from Okinawa.

TARGETS HIT
The eight-engine B52s hit targets in the Ba Long Valley, 90 miles northwest of the Da Nang base, where two Viet Cong battalions have long operated. A Viet Cong battalion consists of 300 to 500 men. Most of the previous B52 raids were against targets in a jungle area known as D Zone about 30 miles north of Saigon.

As air strikes on the valley continued, ground troops moved in.

It was considered likely that the bulk of the Viet Cong force could slip through the jungle trails that weave through the mountainsides. However, military sources said the Viet Cong might decide to put up a fight.

PLANES LOST
A U.S. military spokesman also announced that five U.S. Navy aircraft were lost during an armed reconnaissance flight over North Viet Nam Friday. A U.S. observation plane was lost over South Viet Nam.

Three of the Navy pilots were rescued, a fourth is missing and presumed dead and a fifth is considered missing, the spokesman said.

He said the planes were downed by small arms or conventional aircraft fire.

The U.S. Navy announced in Washington today that it had extended for four months the enlistment of all regular Navy and Marine Corps personnel.

KOREAN WAR
The Navy still has authority carried over from the Korean War to order involuntary extension of active duty. The Army and Air Force would need congressional approval for a similar step.

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet space probe has taken pictures of a previously unseen part of the back of the moon and transmitted them to earth, an official announcement said today. The pictures are to be published next week. They were transmitted with 1,100 lines to the picture, said the announcement distributed by the official news agency Tass. This compared with 600 lines for the American Ranger photos, 200 lines of Mariner 4 Mars photos and 550 lines on American commercial television.

The announcement said the pictures were taken by Zond 3, a space probe launched July 10 into an orbit around the sun. The Russians did not say what its purpose was.

Try to Avert Violence Eases in LA Area

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago area's worst racial outbreak in a dozen years was brought under control early today by more than 150 policemen. Officials arranged quick meetings with Negro business, civic and civil rights leaders in an attempt to prevent further violence.

Policemen engaged in a wild battle with several hundred Negroes in a West Side area for more than seven hours, in the second straight night of violence.

Eighteen policemen and 42 civilians were injured in the latest outbreak, mostly by flying bottles, bricks and stones. At least 150 persons were arrested. Numerous store windows were smashed and merchandise looted.

Fire trucks, responding to false alarms, crisscrossed the area with sirens screaming.

HURRIED BACK
Albert Raby, a leader in the recent civil rights demonstrations in Chicago, hurried back from a meeting in Birmingham, Ala., Friday night to make a personal appeal for an end of rioting.

Raby called off a scheduled demonstration in the South Side neighborhood of Mayor Richard J. Daley so police assigned to the marchers would be free to work in the riot area.

Police said the racial outbreak was the most violent since and racial rioting of 1952 in suburban Cicero when then Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson called out the National Guard.

which neutralize or ward off infection. A new drug called a chemical immuno-suppressant has been used during and after operations to suppress the body's immunological tendency to reject foreign tissue.

SUPPRESS REJECTION
The idea, he noted, is hopefully to suppress rejection so long that perhaps the body will adapt itself to new foreign tissue.

It is hoped that some tissue will "take" long enough so that a small segment remains functioning, or will be rejected after so long a time that the body is left with enough new tissue to survive.

Dr. Dawson said there has been some success with this recently, particularly with lungs and ovaries which reject less vehemently.

"The isolation of tissue transplant antibody, or rejection mechanism, is the next factor for investigation."
"That is the current big goal. The day will probably come," he concluded, "when the mechanism of rejection response will be thoroughly understood."

Violence Eases in LA Area

attributed the rioting to anger at whites, and distrust of them, by Negroes in a section like Watts where the population, through what is called de facto segregation, is 98 per cent Negro.

"BLACK GHETTO"
Only Negroes would venture with any safety into the center of the area called "the black ghetto" during the rioting.

Witnesses said mobs yelled "Here comes whites!" when white motorists appeared. Many were severely beaten.

Firemen were shot at when they sought to extinguish blazes set by arsonists. Police couldn't protect them all.

Two firemen were shot as they battled one of more than 100 major fires set by mobs of looters.

The troops were mobilized yesterday after nearly 1,000 law enforcement officers, overwhelmingly outnumbered by rioters running wild over several square miles, said they couldn't handle the situation.

INCREDIBLE CONFUSION
As guardsmen marched in, the South Side was a scene of incredible confusion: scores of buildings looted and burned, millions of dollars in merchandise stolen or destroyed, gun battles and fist fights between officers and rioters, cars overturned and burned.

The slain deputy, Ronald E. Ludlow, 27, was shot in the stomach as he and a partner tried to drive looters from a blazing store.

He died in the emergency room of St. Francis Hospital in Lynwood.

Identity of the Negro victims was not learned immediately.

REPEATED REQUESTS
The National Guard was called in after repeated requests by Mayor Samuel Yorty and Police Chief William H. Parker, who said their force of nearly 1,000 men could no longer cope with the violence.

By midafternoon yesterday, rioters began overrunning barricades. Looting and fires spread from a few blocks to several square miles.

Gov. Glenn M. Anderson called out the Guard shortly after er flying here from the state capital at Sacramento. He acted in the absence of Gov. Brown. Shotgun-carrying police accompanied the National Guardsmen as they moved into the riot zone.

SHOW OF FORCE
The guards, with helmets and fixed bayonets, were a show of force that many of the rioters seemed to respect.

Those that did not were arrested by police and put in 60-seat buses that served as mobile jails.

Team Teaching Class Set at Baldwin School

BIRMINGHAM — Three authorities on team teaching will help Birmingham educators organize their approach to the new technique.

They will participate in Birmingham's second team teaching training institute, to start Monday at Baldwin Elementary School.

Continuing through Sept. 3, the sessions are aimed at refining the school system's plans and at organizing teachers for the program in their respective schools.

When classes start this fall, 42 Birmingham teachers will be utilizing the team teaching methods in fourth, fifth and sixth grades at Valley Woods and Meadow Lake Elementary schools and kindergarten through sixth grade at the new Evergreen Elementary School.

Team teaching involves tailoring the educational program to meet the specific needs, interests and abilities of students.

SUBJECT AREAS
The youngsters will have the advantage of learning from a number of teachers who concentrate on their respective subject areas.

The approach permits time for independent study for the capable student and additional time necessary for the student who needs more work in an area.

Dr. Robert H. Anderson, known as the "father" of team teaching, will spend four days at the training institute.

Professor of education in Harvard University's graduate school, Anderson was chairman from 1957 to 1964 of the Harvard committee which established the

"In announcing our exclusive overhead cam engine, we feel we are introducing the most outstanding engine development ever to be offered by our division," said DeLoe.

NEGRO REVOLUTION
One man told a newsman, "This is the Negro revolution. We want the world to know."

Said another: "We want to set a fire right here on Broadway rather than go to Viet Nam and fight. We'd rather fight for the Negro here."

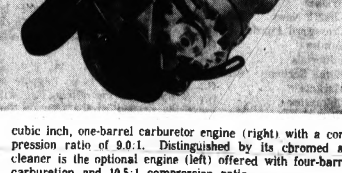

As flames of the 125 major fires, some covering whole city blocks, lighted darkened streets with downed power poles, a force of 200 policemen marched up and down South Broadway.

They had weapons drawn but did not open fire. They were pelted with stones and bottles.

Clusters of Negroes moved away and re-formed on side streets.

DRIVE HOUSING
Tensioning of the belt is achieved through a sliding die cast aluminum accessory drive housing pioneered by Pontiac and containing the fuel pump, oil pump and distributor.

Also attached is the oil filter assembly. The entire timing belt drive mechanism is housed within a die cast cover.

NEW POWER PLANT—These new standard and optional, six-cylinder, overhead camshaft engines were unveiled today by Pontiac Motor Division. Available on all 1966 Tempest, Tempest Custom and LeMans models in the standard 230-

PROGRAM'S START
The program was initiated in Lexington, Mass., Mrs. Ethel Bears, principal of Franklin School there, also will attend the institute.

For the past eight years, she has headed the school which was the first in the country to be used totally for the team teaching methods.

Edwin Ward MacBeth of Columbia University, former principal of another pioneer school in the program, will bring his experience to the institute. MacBeth will analyze the program as it was organized in Greenwich, Conn.

Circuit Judges Ask Pay Raise

ceeded 10 per cent of the 78,098 cases disposed of in the entire state by a total of 96 circuit judges.

Thornburg also cited the long hours the judges work, 8:15 a.m. to 5 p.m. plus some evening and weekend meetings.

Circuit Judge Phillip Pratt stated in June that the present court case load did not require that a special election be called to fill the vacancy created by the death of Judge Stanton G. Dondero.

Pratt said today that his statement in June was based on the extra work which would be created by the loss of one judge compared to the cost of a special election.

CONSERVATIVE ESTIMATE
"We figured a conservative estimate of such an election, including a primary, would be $110,000," Pratt said.

"We may have to delay a few cases 30 or 40 days by the end of the year, but when the two new judges are elected at the regular election in November of 1966 these delays will be picked up immediately," he added.

Presently Oakland County pays its six judges $1,000 per year with the state paying $15,000.

If all or any portion of the requested raise is approved, it would be paid by the county.

RECOMMENDATIONS
Salary recommendations will be ready by Labor Day, according to Curtis H. Hall, chairman of the salaries committee.

These will then be reviewed by the ways and means committee prior to final action on the new budget in October by the board of supervisors.

GOP Plans Polls in 100 Dem Districts

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans, sharpening their weapons for the 1966 congressional campaign, are preparing "in-depth studies" of the home districts of 100 Democrats they would like to defeat.

These will help plan strategy for what many Republicans regard a crucial political battle to start a comeback from the 1964 defeat. That not only denied Republicans the presidency but reduced their numbers in Congress to the lowest level since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

In planning wider use of polls, the Republicans are, in effect, taking a leaf from the book of applied politics used by recent successful Democratic candidates. Both President Johnson and the late President John F. Kennedy used polls extensively.

Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the GOP Congressional Committee, explained in an interview the GOP hopes to find all it can about each of the target districts — "what the basic issues are, what the people are thinking, how a candidate is running."

TWO SURVEYS EACH

He figures this may require two surveys of each district. To learn more about this modern political weapon, the Republicans already have conducted some shakedown cruises.

Wilson said they had had sample polls conducted in five districts. He wouldn't identify the districts but said they were in California, Iowa, New York, South Carolina and in a Midwestern state.

In some cases, Wilson said, the Republicans tried different polling companies on the same district to compare their results, and "we were surprised how close their figures were."

Not all 100 Democratic target districts have been picked because of uncertainties arising from reapportionment in some states, Wilson said. But he hopes to get the operation in high gear by next spring.

LBJ Lauded for Teen Job Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Department economists today credited President Johnson's campaign to provide 600,000 jobs for teen-agers this summer with helping the job market to absorb a record number of young persons last month.

They described the results as "extraordinary."

According to Labor Department figures, an unprecedented 1.1 million young persons between 14 and 19 entered the labor force in July. Despite the wave of young job seekers, employment rose by 1.4 million and the teen-age jobless total fell by 500,000 reducing its rate from 14.1 to 13.3 per cent.

Labor Department officials, headed by Secretary W. Willard Wirtz, earlier this year expressed concern there might be a job crisis this summer because of the huge number of teen-agers that would be looking for jobs.

The department's figures showed about 8.5 million teen-agers at work in July.

ABOVE ESTIMATES

This was roughly 700,000 above estimates made by government officials on the basis of recent trends in population and labor force participation.

"The actual July figures appeared to be considerably beyond gains directly resulting from the sustained expansion in economic activity," the department economists said in a report.

"They undoubtedly also reflected the combined effect of the various governmental and community campaigns to find employment opportunities for young people."

Last spring Johnson appealed to government agencies, local communities and business leaders to do all they could to provide jobs for young persons this summer.

STUDY FIGURES

The Labor Department's employment figures for July were announced earlier this week, but department officials said then they would have to study the statistics further before they could determine how big a role the President's campaign played in the bright teen-age employment picture.

Last month's teen-age unemployment rate was still three times as high as the over-all rate of 4.5 per cent. Officials noted that the jobless percentage for young persons had been reduced somewhat despite the record number of teen-agers entering the labor market.

Among the jobs the teen-agers were able to find, the officials said, were work as baby sitters, domestic servants, doing odd jobs, store clerks, factory hands, clerks and government employees.

Titan Missile Tragedy Appears Inexcusable

One of the most tragic accidents imaginable took place in Searcy, Arkansas, when an underground Titan missile blew up and slaughtered 53 civilian workers.

From this distance, the whole thing looks absolutely inexcusable. Those responsible should be tracked down and hauled before the proper authorities. There will always be mistakes, but mistakes of this magnitude are unforgivable when 53 law-abiding workers are wantonly destroyed by "someone's error."

The inane, puerile announcement of the public information officer was quite in keeping with the tragedy itself. Quoth this "distinguished" individual:

"These things do not supposed to happen. We have many safety features but the fact that it did happen contradicts these safety factors."

This juvenile utterance is in keeping with the kind of management that let the horrible tragedy take place. There should be a thorough and complete investigation with the culprits made to face their deficiencies and then a thorough housecleaning in Searcy, Arkansas.

Indonesia's Problems Mar Independence Day

Indonesian Independence day is Tuesday, Aug. 17, and comes at a time when relations between the United States and the SUKARNO regime are at a low ebb. American aid formerly worth $100 million annually to Indonesia has been suspended, Peace Corps members withdrawn from the nation, and diplomatic relations crippled by a series of antiwestern acts and statements.

Apparently SUKARNO is in agreement with Red China on a wide range of political questions. Red China now picks up the tab for part of the economic aid dropped by the United States. They are also giving SUKARNO moral and perhaps technical support in his drive to develop nuclear capability.

Sukarno stated on July 27: "Nuclear weapons in the hands of the new emerging forces are weapons for the defense of peace and freedom, while on the contrary, nuclear weapons in the hands of the imperialists are weapons for war and oppression."

While Indonesia spends millions on weaponry and stadiums, the plight of 100 million Indonesians scattered over 3,000 islands continues to worsen. Little is being done to right Indonesia's cruel food deficit. SUKARNO himself concedes that his eight-year plan for development has failed.

His misadventures are dictated as much by the need to distract popular attention from internal troubles as by his appetite for a Pacific island empire.

SUKARNO is a sick man and the Communist party is waiting in the wings. In almost every way Indonesia's observance of its 1945 declaration of independence from the Dutch is an unhappy reminder of just how close Indonesia is to becoming part of the Communist world.

Pilots' Hearts Rev Up With Responsibility

It's not so much the danger as the responsibility that makes a man's heart beat faster — if he's a pilot, anyway.

That seems to be the message of electrodes taped to the chests of test pilots and astronauts. NASA physicians long ago encountered fantastic increases in the heartbeat rates of X-15 and Mercury astronauts.

Later, in a series of test flights of a high-performance aircraft with two men aboard, it was found that outwardly calm and confident command pilots registered high heartbeat averages while passenger pilots had much lower ones.

Thus the assumption that it is the responsibility of command and not danger alone that accounts for the high rates.

It is hardly surprising. The possibility of spreading yourself all over the landscape in a research plane or space capsule is one thing. But being put in charge of untempered million dollars' worth of taxpayers' money would accelerate anybody's circulation.

Court to Back Voting Rights?

BY JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analysis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Predicting what the Supreme Court will do is an unhappy pastime but it seems a perfect bet that the court will uphold the constitutionality of the 1965 voting rights law.

The law's purpose is to end the various devices used in the South to keep Negroes, because they're Negroes, from voting. It authorizes the government to do this by moving in on the states. The government has moved fast.

Is this new law constitutional? A court test is being pushed in Louisiana. Another is expected from South Carolina. This means the Supreme Court should get the case quickly for a decision.

The inevitable argument against a law like this, approved by Congress earlier this month, is that it infringes on the rights of states to fix their own voter qualifications and rules.

But the government has pegged the 1965 law directly to the Constitution's 15th Amendment which says the right to vote "shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any state" because of race or color.

It also says Congress "shall have the power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

This is the government's position: Would-be Negro voters have been discriminated against because of their color, thus violating the 15th Amendment, and that therefore, under this amendment, Congress had the right to pass the 1965 law.

The chief target of the act is the voting test which can vary widely from requiring a would-be Negro voter to interpret the Constitution to proving he is of "good moral character." The literacy test is a prime example.

The new law says literacy tests and similar voter qualification devices are automatically suspended in any state or county which used them last November if less than 50 per cent of the voting age residents were registered on that date or voted in the 1964 presidential election.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Brooks Hays, congressman, adviser to presidents, and to educators had the beginnings of his faith in what he has referred to as a quadrangle of house, church, school and courthouse in the little town of Russellville, Ark.

As a young man he was torn between being a minister or a politician. After 16 years in Congress he was defeated because of his stand on civil rights. But this did not deter him from continuing to fight for the cause.

In a recent talk to a college group he was asked, "What is the American dream?" Among the many things he mentioned were equality, freedom, brotherhood and justice. He said, "It is the vision of open doors of opportunity, it is the hope of human dignity made secure." And he concluded, "It is the vision of a citizenry drawn together in mutual confidence, facing common evils and exalting a common faith in God."

Days of All Faiths:

Assumption of the Blessed Virgin

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

All Roman Catholics are required to believe that the body of the Blessed Virgin Mary was taken into Heaven and is now there. Since November 1, 1950, the Roman Church has taught that this belief is necessary for salvation.

The Orthodox churches of the East also generally hold the doctrine, but none of them has said salvation cannot be attained without it. Presumably most of their people do believe it.

The Anglican church (Episcopal in America) says nothing about it one way or the other, but there are many Anglicans who believe it as strongly as anyone else.

Today this dogma, the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary, is celebrated in all these churches, to an extent ranging from full to scattered.

The legend behind the Assumption is that when Mary died, probably in Jerusalem about the year 40, she was duly entombed by the Apostles, who had gathered there for the occasion. St. Thomas, however, did not arrive until a few days later, because he had to come all the way from India. When the group re-opened the tomb in order that Thomas might see the body, they found nothing there at all; only the air was filled with a sweet fragrance.

All this, of course, is the sort of romantic dressing people like to invent about holy persons. It is a natural sort of legend, and it is meant as a tribute to the holy Lady.

But it leaves out something very important: the common humanity of Mary. She was basically a poor Jewish peasant woman. For 30 years, before Jesus began his public ministry, she lived the laborious existence of a carpenter's wife. Her hands were hard with toil, and her bare feet walked in the gritty dust of Nazareth. The body that was assumed was that of an old and gnarled woman, not the sweet flesh of the lovely young maiden we think of when we think of Mary.

Even so, from earliest times Christians have found it impossible to believe that this body that had been and nourished God incarnate could be left to the corruption that is the fate of ordinary mortals.

There is some argument about where Mary died. Some believe it was at Ephesus, but the tradition of the Eastern church is solid for Jerusalem.

Indeed, there is argument about whether or not she died at all. There are those who think she was assumed into heaven while still living. But most authorities hold that she went through the normal process of death first.

To the church the day of a saint's death is considered to be that saint's "heavenly birthday." By tradition, Mary died on Christmas Day. It was obviously impossible to set aside Christmas in honor of Mary and the best solution seemed to be to move her big festival to an entirely different time of the year. August 15 was arbitrarily selected.

By the fifth century many churches were dedicated to Mary and they all held festivals in honor of their patroness. But at first nothing much was said about the manner of her departure from the world. Many simply called the day her heavenly birthday. The Greeks called it, and still do, "The Falling Asleep of Mary." It was some time before the Assumption came to be the main stress of the festival.

There are many days of the Christian year that honor Mary in one way or another: the day of her Conception (December 8) the day of her birth (September 8) and others. But the Feast of the Assumption is her really big day.

Shrewd Youth 'Not Too Bright'

By WASHINGTON STAFF

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Arriving to dedicate one of the Job Corps camps administered by the U.S. Forest Service, Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman was warned that some of the impoverished youths there were "not too bright."

Freeman asked for an example and someone told him.

"After his first month in camp, one boy went into town and bought a wrist watch for $5. He was so proud of it that when he got back to camp he told a friend, 'I wouldn't take $10 for this watch.' The friend said, 'I'll give you $3 for it,' and the boy sold it."

"The boy's not so dumb," retorted Freeman. "Eighty per cent profit's pretty good in any league."

LeRoy Collins, former governor of Florida who now heads the Community Relations Service, graduated from law school in the depression year of 1931.

To save money, he decided to take his bar exam in Arkansas where no fee was required. His only problem, it developed, was the fellow sitting next to him, a justice of the peace with little formal schooling.

Views on Delinquents Being Sent to Viet Nam

To V. L. Bridges and H. Dean who oppose C. L. G.'s idea of sending our pampered teen-age delinquents to Viet Nam, placing these teen-agers in the Army or Marine Infantry would be the best thing that could happen to them. They will learn self-respect, respect for others and discipline. They will emerge as real soldiers and later as respectable citizens.

Delinquents are undisciplined youth with too much time on their hands. It is also true that some older people are setting bad examples for them to follow. But how about the other thousands of teen-agers who do not follow these bad examples and are often called "chicken" by the delinquents? They're in Viet Nam too, so why not put uniforms on the hoodlums and teach them to take orders?

JOHN A. MICALIEF
WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP

In reference to sending juvenile delinquents to Viet Nam, I would remind C. L. G. that our purpose in fighting this war is to halt the spread of communism as fairly and effectively as possible. How competent a job would a group of young undesirables do who were sent to Viet Nam as a punishment, not as a service to their country?

Of what purpose would authoritative preponderance serve to an emotionally disturbed person like a juvenile delinquent? True, a military superior would force adherence to the rules, but this still does not touch the motivating instinct for the delinquent's breaking the law. Thus, when the young adult is inducted into following orders, resentment may build and his adaptation to life after the service may be unsuccessful.

For the success in winning in Viet Nam, as well as helping our young malefactors, let's deal with the problem in a different way.

Right-to-Work Law Discussed by Reader

The repeal of the "right-to-work" law has been urged by labor union leaders on the basis that so-called "free riders" reap undeserved benefits. While this may be true in certain select instances, this is little justification to support Federal legislation reversing the stated majority desires of the particular states involved.

Further, if suggesting such extra special "consideration" to unions on this basis, would it not be similar logic to demand that honest intentioned Negroes who may now be reaping some short-term benefits from the unsolicited support of Communists join the party? Or, because we all benefit from the community efforts of local churches, Masons, Chambers of Commerce, etc., should compulsory rather than voluntary support of these organizations be similarly demanded?

AMOS ANON

Suggests Ways Poverty Program Can Help

There are still many Americans receiving no rights. They are colored and white, unorganized, and only remembered when political groups want their votes. In the little aid they receive they do not have the dignity of a name; they get "Aid to Dependent Children" — not for themselves but for their children. Most of these young women are and would be capable workers but they leave their children too much to leave them to incompetent help when their earnings are deducted from their checks. Those who do work for money alone often end up with delinquent children, as the child loses two parents instead of one.

I have worked with many delinquent boys who have the daring and audacity to take things apart. The world is crying for good mechanics and these boys are "naturals."

Why don't the brains of the Poverty Program provide decent wages for older, competent women in government-inspected child care centers so young mothers could leave their children while they worked or trained for self-supporting futures? The groaning taxpayer could do his part by donating old appliances, TVs, etc., to the eager hands of these neglected kids, under the supervision of a competent mechanic.

Jobless Pay 30 Years Old

WASHINGTON (AP)—Starting with a $15 check to Neills B. Rudd of Madison, Wis., more than $47 billion has been paid out to jobless Americans since the nation's unemployment insurance program was launched 30 years ago today.

Rudd didn't get his check for more than a year after President Franklin D. Roosevelt had signed the depression-born program into law Aug. 14, 1935. It took that long for the states to build up enough funds and iron out technicalities to start paying benefits.

The present unemployment compensation director from Wisconsin, Paul A. Rausenbush, is opposing the proposed new federal legislation on the ground that some of its provisions "would largely destroy state responsibility and state initiative." He said that would be a major tragedy.

EXTENDED COVERAGE

Rausenbush testified Friday before the House Ways and Means Committee. He said Wisconsin upgrades its unemployment compensation program every two years. The proposed extended coverage and increased taxable wage base are acceptable, he said, but not as federal requirements.

Eleven million Americans were out of work in the great depression the year before Congress finally enacted the program, after nearly 10 years of rejecting it. Some European cities long had jobless insurance.

Berne, Switzerland, since 1893 and Ghent, Belgium, since 1901. But it was not until 1911 that Britain set up the first national unemployment insurance system.

The program in the United States was written into the Social Security Act. It was not until 1937 that all states were operating in the joint federal-state program.

Now more than 48 million workers are covered, and 4.5 million others would be brought into the program under the proposed new legislation.

Tribe Diabetes Rate High, May Aid Cure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Government scientists believe the high frequency of diabetes in Arizona Indian tribe may provide a breakthrough in finding the cause of the nation's seventh-ranking killer disease.

During a recent national survey on rheumatoid arthritis, scientists discovered that the Pima Indian tribe on the Gila River reservation at Sacaton, Ariz., had the highest prevalence of diabetes ever reported for a section of the U.S. population.

Blood tests given as part of the survey showed that a third of the Indians had the disease. The tribe has been farming the Arizona desert since the time of Christ.

To Air Zoning in Waterford

Waterford Township Board will act on five rezoning requests—three earmarked for apartment buildings if approved—and establish a public hearing date for the 1966 budget Monday night.

The three apartment buildings would be located at M59 near Hospital, Hatchery at Airport and Dixie Highway near Walton.

Both the Township Planning Commission and Oakland County Coordinating Zoning Committee have recommended approval for the Hatchery-at-Airport project, but have suggested denial of the other two proposals.

The two other rezoning requests are for single-family residential districts in the proposed Woodhull Lake subdivision on Dixie Highway by Eagle Lake and in Cass Highland Subdivision at Elizabeth Lake Road near Tilden.

In other business, the board will consider a request of Pontiac Mall for an amusement park license from Aug. 23 through Sept. 6.

Also, a request of William B. and Dolores I. DeMino for transfer of ownership of a 1965-66 beer and wine licensed business at 2570 Pontiac Lake from Victor DeMino Sr. will be acted on.

Moral Strength Isn't Judged by Handshake, Firm or Not

DEAR ABBY: Our minister greets his congregation at the door with the timpest handshake you could ever imagine. In fact, he just sticks out his hand and lets other people shake it.

It's like grabbing hold of a dishrag. I once heard that a firm hand-shake means strength of character, friendliness and honesty.

And a weak handshake means weakness of character, unfriendliness and dishonesty. Is there anything to this?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: No! Don't pass snap judgments on the strength of a handshake. Generalizations are dangerous.

The man with the firmest grip could have more up his sleeve than a strong arm.

But I agree, it is disappointing to get a wishy-washy handshake when one expects a firmer one.

DEAR MISS ABBY: If you discriminate against me because I am dirty, I can make myself clean.

If you discriminate against me because I am bad, I can be better.

If you discriminate against me because I am ignorant, I can learn.

If you discriminate against me because of my color, you discriminate against me because of the way God Himself made me and that is something over which I have no control.

Thank you. I am 12 years old. Just sign this—

FUNNY BONE

Anyone who has heard of the "funny bone" is no laughing matter. What he probably does not realize is that the "funny bone" is not a bone, but a nerve, and a bone is a hard, solid structure, while a nerve is a soft, flexible structure. The "funny bone" is the ulnar nerve, which runs along the inner side of the elbow. It is relatively unprotected, and a slight blow directly to it can cause great pain. The so-called "funny bone" is also known as the "crazy bone" because an injury there supposedly made the person go crazy with pain.

Demonstrators Stage March

2 Fires Fan Tension in Massachusetts City

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Fourteen demonstrators staged a protest march in front of police headquarters today, promising renewed protests over simmering charges of police brutality.

Two fires in a Negro neighborhood during the night fanned racial tensions in this manufacturing city of 180,000 population.

Henry Twigg, leaders of the early morning pickets, said, "We don't want this to turn into another Los Angeles." He referred to rioting in Negro areas of that city.

Twigg, a member of the Springfield chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, added:

"We are sure those who set the stores on fire were not Negroes. We are strictly nonviolent."

OWNED BY WHITES?

Police said devices similar to Molotov cocktails were thrown into a large trading stamp redemption center and a grocery store in the Winchester Square section.

Both businesses are believed to be owned by white people, police said.

Kerosene-soaked rags stuffed in a bottle and ignited with a railroad fuse was responsible for the fire in Howard's Market, police said. They quoted a witness as saying a Negro teenager threw it.

The store had only minor damage. The Prudential Stamp Co. building sustained heavy damage.

RAINFALL

Police said rain that fell during the fires prevented a crowd from gathering.

Earlier, 23 demonstrators were dragged from the steps of the city hall after Police Chief John F. Lyons warned them could demonstrate on municipal property only during office hours.

Most were arrested on breach of peace charges. But four — all under 21 — were charged with being drunk. Bail was set at $200 in some cases and $500 in others. All but three were held during the night.

The protests began in July after police dispersed a crowd that had gathered before a Springfield night spot and arrested 18 persons, 17 of them Negroes.

3 Area Teachers Due to Attend GM Conference

They are Harold R. Henderson Jr. of Bloomfield Hills High School, Alfred L. Pavlish of Waterford Township High School and David H. Siple of Pontiac Central High School.

The three will join 46 other teachers from 10 states to visit central staff groups at GM Technical Center (research laboratories, engineering staff, manufacturing development and styling staff), the proving grounds at Milford, General Motors Institute, Flint, and the General Motors Training Center, Warren.

They also will meet with corporation executives to discuss educational training, scholarship, personnel, public relations, and other GM programs dealing with education.

Speakers for the group are slated.

30 Years Ago: a Crash in the Alaskan Wilds

(EDITOR'S NOTE: It was 30 years ago tomorrow that America's great cowboy humorist Will Rogers and round-the-world flier Wiley Post crashed to their deaths in Alaska. Following are the recollections of Frank J. Daugherty, United Press correspondent at lonely Point Barrow who sent out the news. Daugherty is now principal of a Seventh-Day Adventist Navajo Indian mission school in Arizona.)

By FRANK J. DAUGHTERTY
Written for United Press International

HOLBROOK, Ariz. — It was around 10 o'clock in the evening Aug. 15, 1935 when the Eskimo runner came into my office at the U.S. Department of Interior reindeer station at Point Barrow, Alaska.

His name was Claire Okpoeka. He stood there shouting at and gesturing in a downward motion.

He was telling me an airplane had crashed as it tried to take off from a river near the Eskimo's village.

I got some men together as quickly as possible. One of them was Staff Sgt. Stanley Morgan of the Army Signal Corps. We obtained two motorboats and raced to the scene.

There, 15 miles south of Point Barrow, we found the downed seaplane in frozen hummocks lining the edge of the river. It was the big monoplane in which the famed cowboy humorist Will Rogers and pioneer distance flier Wiley Post were taking a leisurely trip around the world.

BOTH WERE DEAD

Both were dead.

The plane's right wing was broken and its engine pushed back into the cabin. It had ground-looped onto its back.

Post's body was pinned by the engine. Rogers was thrown out of the craft.

We knew the exact time of the crash because Post's watch was stopped at 8:19 p.m. But Roger's watch — he called it his dollar watch — was still running.

NOT MUCH FIRE

There wasn't much fire. Some gasoline spilled on the water but burned only a few moments.

My crew and some of the Eskimos from the little Arctic village brought the bodies to shore in a whaling boat. One of the natives fell beneath the rollers as we were beaching the heavy boat and was badly crushed.

We were working in about two feet of water. The ground was as low as the water and frozen — it's called the tundra — and covered in places with moss.

SHOCK DELAYED

I knew Rogers and Post were coming to the area. They had taken off from Fairbanks on a 16-day journey around the world. Rogers had said he wanted to meet the so-called "King of the Arctic" — Charlie Brower, who runs a store at Point Barrow — and to lasso a reindeer.

I would have met Will Rogers and, as United Press correspondent, hoped to interview him. But engine trouble forced the plane to land at the isolated Eskimo village and Rogers never made it to Point Barrow.

Instead, I sent out the shocking news of his death to the United Press bureau at Seattle. The Signal Corps radio was jammed with queries and requests for details. One insistent query was for the cause of the crash. No one knows.

I have heard descriptions of the crash, with various reasons given, but all were purely fiction.

FRAMED NUMBER

In my office here at the Indian mission school hangs a framed number and a Lockheed insignia. These two pieces were on the tail section.

Charlie Brower saved these before burning the rest of the plane. The instruments were from Post's famed "Win a Sale Mae," said they have been returned to the round-the-world plane which is now in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

Thirty years are long enough for us to forget, but living here on U.S. Highway 66, which is the Will Rogers Memorial Highway, is a constant reminder of the tragedy that took the lives of two world famous men.

Huron-Airway in Finals

Huron-Airway, the defending city men's baseball champion, became the first finalist in this year's playoffs with an 8-1 romp past Cranbrook last night at Jaycee Park.

Seven unearned runs in the top of the first inning and a fine pitching effort by Bob Bogert made it easy for the winners who took the series, 2-0.

Bogert, who had won only one game all year for H-A, outpitched Cranbrook's Dick Mosher who had only lost once in six decisions.

Don Sackett, last year's most valuable player in the Class A loop, finished the game for Bogert by pitching the last two innings. He, also, only has one win; both H-A hurlers suffered physical ailments that curtailed their playing time during the season.

FREE PASSES

Walks put Mosher in trouble, but two costly errors opened the flood gates after two outs in the first. Before the inning ended, H-A rapped out four hits — including a two-run single by Bogert, and received four walks (three of which scored).

After the horrendous first half inning, the two teams settled down to a 1-1 standstill, typical of the preceding three tournament games.

Huron-Airway will now play the winner of tomorrow night's 8 o'clock final playoff between Pontiac Business Institute and the R. T. Clippers.

The final series will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday and go the best-of-three, with all games slated for nine innings.

Unusual Ace Marks
First Visit to PCC

Elkhart, Ind., businessman Merrill Foster Thursday had a unique, pleasant experience on his first visit to Pontiac Country Club: he fired an ace.

It wasn't an ordinary one, if there are such holes-in-one. His 165-yard five-wood drive on the 17th hole hit the pin on the fly, climbed up the pole and then plunked back down into the cup.

Detroiters Martin Karlin and Maurice Jacobs accompanied Foster. It was the first ace on the 17th hole at Pontiac CC this year. No score was reported for the round.

Twin-Double Under Study

LANSING (AP)—Some legal aspects of the twin-double—a four-race betting combination that has paid off in hundreds of thousands of dollars at the Detroit Race Course—will come under study in Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's office next week.

Kelley said Friday he has asked State Racing Commissioner Berry Beaman and DRC President Dale Shaffer to a meeting Tuesday afternoon "to discuss the law enforcement aspects of the twin-double operation."

Pitches Perfect Game

KIRKLAND, Wash. (AP)—Hawall's William Vasek pitched a perfect game Friday to lead his team to a 6-0 win over Billings, Mont., in the Northwest regional Little League baseball tournament.

Give Awards to Top Boys

The Pontiac Boys' Club conducted its intra-club baseball program yesterday with the annual awards celebration.

The Indians (13- to 15-year-old boys), the Reds (11-13) and the Blues (8-11) were honored as team champions.

The boys recognized for their outstanding playing ability and sportsmanship included Larry Owens, Charles Taylor, Barry Burch, Chuck Claus, Al Barry Buck and Ross Menzer. Nearly 300 persons attended the festival.

Softball Tourney Monday

The Michigan Softball Association's District Six Class C tournament between Pontiac's Town & Country and Waterford Township's Bob & Larry's Bar will begin at 8 p.m. Monday on the Beaudette Park diamond.

The playoff will be a double-elimination affair with the second game Tuesday night and the third one (if necessary) Wednesday night, all on the city field.

This is the only district play scheduled for Pontiac. There are "B" and "D" districts slated for the Drayton Plains park, and two regionals (Classes A and C) will be in Pontiac. Last night at Drayton Plains, Howe's Lanes stayed alive in

Dales Add Max Stokes

HILLSDALE (AP)—Max Stokes, former Hillsdale College football star, has been hired by the Dales as backfield coach for the coming season. Stokes, 23, replaces Al Dorow who went to Michigan State as an assistant coach. Stokes was a halfback when he led the Dales in rushing, pass receiving and scoring in the 1963 season.

PONY RIDES AT ST. PERPETUA CHURCH—Dr. David C. Packard of 1315 Nancywood, Waterford Township, leads Babe, the pony belonging to Victor Forbes of 281 Airport, Waterford Township, on the grounds of St. Perpetua Catholic Church, 131 Airport. Pony "Texas Lady" follows her mother as Marvin Forber, Victor's brother (left), and Charles Gauthier of 8956 Sandy Ridge Dr., White Lake Township ride bareback. Children may ride Babe at the festival Sunday afternoon. Texas Lady is just two months old.

1st Annual Fair at St. Perpetua

Candy, fish ponds, a bear throw, hoopla and ball games will be a part of the first annual festival of St. Perpetua Catholic Church tomorrow.

The festive fair on the church grounds will follow the 11:30 morning Mass. Other Masses will be at 8 and 10 a.m. Rev. Bernard J. Zaglaniczny said there will be plenty of room for free parking on the 11-acre property.

Tables with gaily decorated umbrellas and chairs will be available for those arriving for lunch. A huge tent will be there for shade and any rainfall.

Patrick Daly, general chairman, announces ponies will be available for youngsters to ride.

Mrs. Joan Fleck, chairman of the women's groups, will be assisted with the food by Mrs. Dorrell Gauthier.

Glenn Skiba is chairman of tickets; and Ronald Wilie, door prizes.

LEAD ACTIVITIES

Taking charge of booths and other activities will be Ted Gibson, Carl Anderson, James Dear, James Brown, William Dean, John Fabian, Charles Uhmay, and Charles Merithew. Others will be Mrs. Gerald Rogers, Mrs. Ted Gibson and Evelyn Grant.

Mrs. Howard W. Wendt has dressed some 30 dolls during her long recovery from a recent illness for the St. Perpetua Church fair. The dolls range in size from two feet in height to eight inches.

One doll all dressed in white satin represents a bride. Another in pale green is the maid of honor. Others in blue are the bridesmaids.

No patterns were used. Mrs. Wendt just used her imagination in creating the beautiful costumes and clothing for dolls including baby dolls. Capes, coats and bonnets are all a part of the wardrobes.

The St. Perpetua Church opened with Masses in Pierce Junior High School, Waterford Township July 1964.

Ground was broken in mid summer and the church building and rectory started. The church was dedicated Dec. 19, 1964 by the Most Rev. John F. Dearden, archbishop of Detroit.

Plans are being made for a Christian Workers' Conference Sept. 17-19 with Dr. Warren Filkin of Northern Baptist Theological Seminary, the leader.

Going to Mission Field

Following in the footsteps of 17 similar groups, a cadre of 32 young men and women will leave the United States early this fall to begin three years of special-term missionary service overseas for the Methodist Church.

The "32" as the group is called, will serve in a variety of ways on missionary frontiers in 13 countries of Africa, Asia, and North and South America. This year's group of 32 brings to 85 the number of persons who have served in the overseas special-term missionary program since it was begun in 1948.

As has been the case with other groups of 32s, the 1965 group will do various types of work within the mission of the church.

Among the vocational specialties represented by the young missionaries are nursing, social work, pastoral work, teaching, Christian education, youth work, library science and agricultural work.

In addition to the six special-term missionaries from the U.S., each team will have a number of young Latin American workers.

In the 1964 special-term program, there was a similar emphasis on the Congo, and 16 young men are now working there as a mobile mission task force.

Dr. Fred Brown, widely respected Chattanooga, Tenn., evangelist, leads the ministry, with the able Bible teaching of Dr. Jerome DeJong, Grand Rapids pastor. This pulpit team appears again this year by popular request.

Frank Garlock, song leader and trombone artist from Bob Jones University heads the musical program, supported by Ken Louis of Zealand, and the Children's Bible Hour.

Missions represented during the week are the Scripture Memory Mountain Mission and Missionary Internship.

Mrs. Harold Hoppe of Battle Creek, is the children's worker.

The conference week commences with the sacred concert today at 7:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited to all services.

Thomas Simpson will be heard in a duet.

A teen-age quartet composed of Linda Schnitz, Jeanne Shafer, Jim Webb and Dennis Mott, also will present vocal selections.

Elders presiding will be R. G. Crites and Dale Harvey.

Natural Fieldstone Transforms Problem Corner Into Tiered Rock Garden

Taking A Garden Break, Adeline Butch Relaxes Under Patio Umbrella

background for LIVING

Garden Tiers Tame Corner Hill

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, Pontiac Press

A problem site didn't daunt Adeline Butch when she selected her new home on Warwick Drive, Bloomfield Township. With foresight, she envisioned a focal point of beauty out of the steep hill that occupied one corner of the back yard.

"And believe me, I know how that rock garden got there," she chuckled. "My brother, mother and I built it all by ourselves, hauling wheelbarrow after wheelbarrow load of stones."

Climbing roses are planted on the top tier, reached by a curved rock walk.

Petunias, sedum and ground creepers add color to the remaining tiers.

BOARD FENCE

The whole back yard is framed by a white board fence.

To enjoy the fruits of their labor, the Butches have a block patio, shaded by tall trees and an olive-green yard umbrella, opening off the ground floor recreation room.

Tuberous begonias brighten the front landscaping and the black wrought iron ladle mounted on the front entrance wall.

Both the den and living room afford picture windows overlooking the back yard.

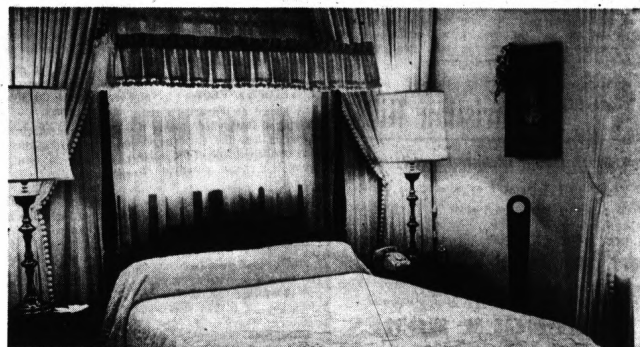

Separated by a white brick peninsula fireplace, the two rooms feature identical color settings, off-white walls with an olive-green cast, antique saffron draperies of the same shade and beige carpeting.

The muted brick coloring of Constitution Hall, an oil painting over the living room sofa, is emphasized by the sofa's tweed fabric.

Grouped about a two-tiered lamp table are a maple wing back occasional chair and a maple country cousin ladder-back with a rush seat.

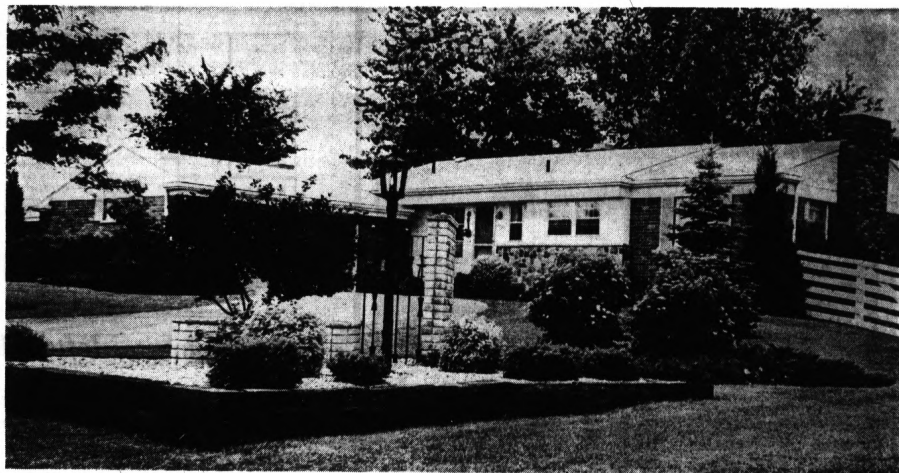

Wooden flour scoop sconces with white candles decorate the wall which leads into the bedroom hall.

Stop Skimming With Waxed Paper

Store leftover paint in screw-top jars, such as instant coffee or peanut butter jars. Fill to the brim to exclude all air. Place a piece of waxed paper, larger than the top, over the jar and screw on the lid over the paper.

Air causes paint to skim over. By sealing out the air, the paint will remain fresh and ready for use.

Kitchens Are High on Remodeling List

The one room in most homes that's most likely in need of improvement is the kitchen, whether the need be for modern appliances or for additional countertop working space.

You can gain color for the kitchen as well as trouble-free working space by surfacing the counters with ceramic tile. Real tile is both heatproof and a scratchproof.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT—The envelope roof on the bedroom wing at the left side of this three-bedroom, one-story house gives it a pleasing, quaint appearance; inside, modern floor planning provides an excellent traffic arrangement.

Envelope Roof Tops Modern One-Story

An envelope roof gets its name because it encloses an entire structure.

It sometimes is seen on summer cottages.

Because the roof extends all the way down the sides, a large part of the dwelling is virtually maintenance-free.

Architect Rudolph A. Matern has used an envelope roof in the latest House of the Week, but only over the forward projection of the bedroom wing and rear porch.

The result is a delightfully picturesque look to a one-story house with a modest 1460 square feet of living space.

ENVELOPE EFFECT

A glance at the artist's rendering of Design H-96 makes it apparent how the envelope effect on the left side of the house gives it a special charm of its own.

Passersby could hardly have anything but compliments for the exterior appearance of this residence.

The over-all aura is enhanced by the use of wood cedar shingles for all the roofing surfaces, including the enveloped section.

The specified shingles are especially treated against fire. However, asphalt shingles may be used if desired or if local ordinances do not permit the use of wood for roofing.

A first-impression of bigness is created on the interior by the in-line design of the foyer and living room.

The open length totals over 27 feet, with the view topped off by a 10' wide bow window.

FIREPLACE

The fireplace in the living room utilizes the same chimney as the barbecue on the rear porch, which can be reached from the outside, the living room, the dining room, the service area and the two-car garage.

Privacy of the porch is assured by its recessed location, set between the living room and the garage.

Spaciousness is also evident in the family room-kitchen combination, with 20' of unpartitioned space.

Every modern appliance is included to make the housewife's chores easier.

And the old-fashioned larder in the adjoining area will delight the lady of the house as much as anything else.

There was a period when food storage sections went out of style.

They made a comeback when women's housing conferences in various parts of the country showed a demand for convenient places for storing provisions.

The mud room, with a laundry, lavatory and rear entrance, makes housekeeping easier.

BEDROOM WING

The bedroom wing, appealing on the outside, is practical on the inside.

It seems to be isolated from the rest of the house. Privacy is assured and sound control is excellent.

The three bedrooms have a sound buffer of baths, closets and hall space.

In a one-story house, this is a design problem not always solved.

The master bedroom has an interesting angled wall which forms one of the two and one-half baths in the home.

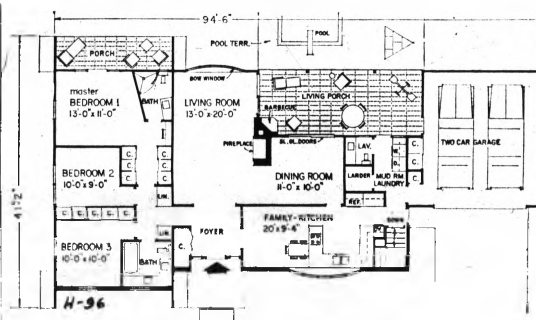

Rear access to a second porch provides a fine tete-a-tete area for mom and dad.

For those who wish a pool, architect Matern suggests that it be located in back of the main rear porch.

This would permit those using the pool to utilize the entrance to the mud room for cleaning up before going into any of the other rooms.

H-96 STATISTICS

Design H-96 has a living room, dining room, family room-kitchen, three bedrooms, two and one-half baths, mud room, laundry, larder, two rear porches and a two-car garage. Total habitable area, excluding the garage and porches, is 1460 square feet. Overall dimensions are 94' 6" by 41' 2". A rear pool is optional. A full wall of closets and baths provides a sound buffer between the bedroom wing and the rest of the house.

FLOOR PLANS—Center hall entrance—and wide expanse across the foyer and living room; dining room and living room; and family room and kitchen—give a large-home look to a house with a modest 1460 square feet of living space.

New Booklet Informative

You wouldn't think of putting a new television set behind a sofa or a potted rubber plant any more than you would want to install a heating boiler in the middle of a utility or recreation room. It is simply not good planning.

Similarly, you don't want an awkwardly arranged bathroom — the tub under a drafty window, the water closet of most prominence when looking through the doorway, an overly spacious lavatory for a small room or one compact model when space-saving is not necessary, the door opening out, etc.

To help you better plan the bathroom in new home or for remodeling, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau offers a booklet titled, "Modern Bathroom Plans." It contains 34 scale drawings of model bathrooms and gives step-by-step explanations of why different families in different homes should give careful consideration to what plan is best for each individual situation.

The booklet is available for 15 cents from the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60601.

Convenience in use is the primary consideration, says the Bureau, but it is desirable to centrally locate plumbing outlets for the most economical installations.

In a two-story house, for instance, it is wise to locate bathrooms located above and adjacent to the kitchen sink for piping economy.

Bathrooms and powder rooms planned back-to-back can be installed by a plumbing contractor for much less than for completely separate rooms.

The booklet offered shows the pitfalls of poor bathroom planning, and clearly illustrates how to most efficiently plan for function and beauty.

Choose Paint for the Job

Whether you're planning to paint wood, cinder block, stucco, brick or prime a metal gutter, choosing the right paint for the job is important.

The paint industry produces a variety of coatings for specific surfaces. Which paint do you need?

Contact your local reputable paint dealer or painting contractor to be sure you select the right product for the surface to be painted.

Six U. S. Industries Shipped Export Bulk

A United States Census Bureau report reveals that six major industries shipped 72 percent of the total $18.2 billion in manufactured exports in 1963. The leaders were machinery, except electrical; transportation equipment, chemicals, food and kindred products, electrical machinery, and primary metals.

Modern sinks come in many lustrous enamel shades, making it easy to plan an attractive, color-coordinated kitchen.

CHINA AND GIFT CENTER—To better serve its clientele, Wiggs Colony Shop of 4080 Telegraph, Bloomfield Hills, is expanding. The separate addition, a china and gift center, will add 5,500 sq. ft. of floor space. Arranged in individual departments will be a wide selection of china, linens, gourmet items, silver, brass and copper, as well as a bridal registry for customer convenience. Accessories and china will be moved from the original building, creating more space to display Wiggs' country-furniture collection of maple, pine and cherry. The expansion program should be completed before Christmas, according to George Richman, owner. The Bloomfield Hills branch was opened in November 1962. Located at 24 W. Huron, the main store was purchased by Richman in 1948.

Building Materials Update Industry

Space-age technology is developing new building materials that promise to revolutionize many aspects of home construction and interior decorating, according to word from the building material manufacturing industry.

Many of the new ideas apply equally to high-rise apartments and commercial buildings as well as to single-family homes.

The array of products, some designed for glamorous interiors and many to cut costs, speed construction, improve noise control and prevent flame spread, already is being prepared for unveiling at the annual National Association of Home Builders convention in Chicago starting December 6.

The nation's home builders and many architects, designers, decorators and realtors from all parts of the nation regularly attend the annual event.

One of the major exhibitors, Georgia-Pacific Corp., has already introduced the curtain slightly to reveal such new ideas as these:

Several innovations in factory finished hardwood plywood wall paneling are in the "chateau" style that gained popularity this year with its wide, stained random grooves.

These will include a "wildly exotic" gumwood, a new and very light-toned glacier oak, and golden elm with knots up to the size of a half dollar.

There is even a new inlaid panel combining complementary colorations of continental elm with a 16-inch-plank effect.

There will be some price changes, too. Panels with imported Amazon maple faces and complementary inlaid colorations will be sharply reduced in price because of improved manufacturing technology.

In the drywall field, G-P's Bestwall Gypsum division will unveil several new ideas in vinyl clad drywall panels in a wide choice of wearproof designs, colors and even woodgrains.

From the mechanical side, improved drywall joint and texture systems are said to save on-site construction time and create harder, tougher wall surfaces.

Improved noise control and firestop systems, utilizing gypsumboard reinforced with glass fibers, also are in the offing, it was indicated.

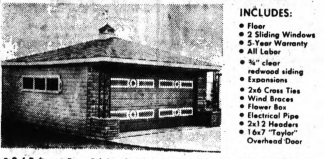

EXTERIORS
 For the exterior of homes and other buildings, one of the new ideas in plywood is self-aligning lap siding up to 16-feet long in stead of plywood's normal 8-foot length.

It has a no-joint face of smooth resin-fiber to prevent checking and paint blistering and some versions will come with a factory-applied baked prime coat.

Other wood sidings will include more than 500 plywood and lumber choices of surface treatments, sizes and thicknesses, colored or plain overlays, different wood species and even a saw-textured cedar plywood that has real battens already applied at the factory.

Single Control Faucets Available for Bathrooms

Here's good news for home-makers who wouldn't be without single control faucets... or for those who would like to enjoy their convenience!

Now you can choose between two attractive designs for your bath or powder room lavatory. The popular dial models or the brand new single handle units.

The introduction of this "lever-lav" series also means another step has been taken by Moen to provide home-makers with matching decor for their homes since the new units feature the same one-handle design as the very popular 722 kitchen sink model.

You'll find it's a modern design, too, that complements any setting. And, it's a design with a wonderful function... the convenience of one-handle operation.

You can turn it on or off, change temperature or volume, with a flick of a finger... or even your wrist when hands are soapy!

MODERN LIVING
 Faucets in your home help make it a truly modern home, geared to today's modern living. Just raising and lowering the handle provides the precise flow you want.

Turning this same handle gives you hot, cold, or any water temperature in between. There's no fiddling or adjusting separate handles... you save hundreds of gallons of water every year!

The "lever-lav" and all Moen faucets operate on a unique cartridge principle that's fully factory guaranteed. The patented cartridge is interchangeable for all current units and now features an exclusive adjustment key so every owner can be assured of long life and top convenience from his faucet.

These modern water appliances, from the originators of the single handle faucet, are available right now in this area at G. A. Thompson & Sons, 2065 Highland, Waterford Township and Robert L. Coe, 1740 Welch, Commerce Township.

Conditioner Expels Heat

The air conditioner is actually a heat transfer device. It takes heat from the room and discharges it outside.

The principal is similar to the ice in an old time ice box which absorbed heat from inside the box while the melt-water carried the heat away.

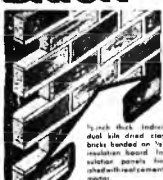

The air conditioner removes heat by chemical and mechanical means.

Maintenance Tips

Handy tips for home maintenance are included in the booklet "Plumbing Care and Repair," available for 15 cents from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60601.

Tourists Decry Russian Bathrooms

Much has been said recently about the peak of luxury the American bathroom has reached in our society — approaching the pinnacle of the glorious baths of ancient Rome.

Yet, in one of the largest cities in the world, many people still live in log-cabin-like structures with outdoor privies, modern bathrooms in new apartment buildings are shared by three or four families, and two of the best hotels have hopelessly inconvenient bathroom accommodations!

These are facts that Crane Co. learned while investigating how the other half of the world bathes.

This "other half," in fact, live in Russia, and Crane's curiosity was piqued by John Steinbeck's "A Russian Journal," in which he describes a Russian hotel bathroom:

"Our bathroom, and we were the glory of Moscow for having a private one, had certain peculiarities. The entrance was difficult, for one could not open the door simply and go in, because the door was interfered with by the bathtub. One stepped inside, crouched back in the corner beside the washstand, closed the door, and then one was free to move about."

OLD BATHTUB

"It was an old bathtub, probably prerévolutionary, and its enamel had been worn off on the bottom, leaving a surface a little like sandpaper. Capa (Robert Capa, the photographer who accompanied Steinbeck), who is a delicate creature, found that he began to bleed after a bath, and he took to wearing shorts in the tub."

"Whereas all the taps leaked — the toilet, the basin, the bathtub faucets — all the drains were completely water-tight. Consequently, if you filled the basin, the water stayed there, and when you pulled the plug out of the bathtub drain, it had no effect at all in allowing the water to escape."

Crane recently became interested in finding out how Russians bathe today and what progress has been made in the last 16 years.

Crane spoke with an American couple who recently returned from Moscow where the husband was a newspaper correspondent for four years.

'PRIVILEGED'

"We were privileged people to have our own bathroom considering that three Russian families, often with two and three children each, usually live together in a three-room apartment and all share one bathroom. It is impossible for one person to use the bathroom long enough to take a bath."

"Consequently, and because of an extreme space shortage, the bathroom is used as a pantry-type room. The bathtub is used for storing vegetables and coal, and each family has one shelf for canned goods and staples."

"Bathing is done at the state bath houses, and the average Muscovite takes a bath about once a month."

The couple lived in a 12-story

new apartment building which they moved into in 1960. They described their bathroom as small and very badly finished. All the pipes were exposed, running along the walls, and, on the floor next to the tub and where the pipes came into the room, the openings were just broken jagged holes. The tile never matched and there was loose sand on the floor where the tile didn't reach.

At least 10 days of the month, the water, which ran very slowly, was a dirty brown color.

All the miniature-size fixtures were badly made, taps and mechanisms broke easily, and d washers had to be replaced at least every three weeks. It was necessary to write to the Russian government for everything — even a new washer for the taps. This relatively simple job was tantamount to an act of Congress — an act of the central committee.

'Perfect Butler' Launches Business

A company offering temporary services for the home to "help" starved American families is being organized by an actor who for 30 years has typified the perfect butler — Arthur Treacher.

He announced today the formation of "Call Arthur Treacher Service System," with headquarters in Union, N.J.

Maid, butlers, housekeepers, handymen, plumbers, painters, window washers, and all other kinds of workers performing individual services will be offered first by the new firm. Rates — for an hour to eight hours of work — will be nominal.

Later, the company will make available groups of workers or specialists using more sophisticated equipment for home services of a more complicated nature — for instance, catering, grounds maintenance, pest control — and will offer the rental of home utensils such as silverware and linens as well.

Employees of Call Arthur Treacher Service System will be carefully selected and thoroughly trained for general and skilled tasks, and transported to and from their assignments, Treacher said.

He added that they also will be fully insured, for their own and the employer's protection, as well as bonded.

"Thousands of families now using help in and around the home either ignore or are unaware of the serious risks they run by employing people they know little about," Treacher said.

"They are endangered by thefts and possible suits that may arise from even slight on-premise injuries."

The movie actor, currently featured nightly on the "Merv Griffin" television show, explained that the new corporation plans to attract more people into the home service field by raising the prestige of the work; offering attractive pay rates and normal hours, and providing workers with more of the benefits generally associated with business and industry.

The organization will be operated throughout the country by franchise holders.

At Union, Treacher reported, a school has been set up to train franchise owners in all details of management, with particular emphasis on employee selection and training.

Franchises will be sold at different prices to be determined by the population and potential volume in the areas covered. National and local advertising will be used to support the services.

Treacher explained how the new business came into being. "Playing the type of butler everyone seemed to like," he said.

"I was constantly asked by friends, over the years, where they might find the kind of service I depicted in my movie roles. This need for dignified, reliable home assistants has been on my mind for sometime, and now I have the time to do something positive about it."

He said the shortage of service workers of all kinds is severe and would grow much worse in the next five years.

"We estimate there are over 10,000,000 homes in the country in which temporary services are needed and wanted," he said. "But there is only enough help to fill the needs of half of them."

Prefab House, Built in 1938, as Experiment

A house that never served as a home since it was built in 1938 will soon be dismantled. The two-story home is a pioneering prefabricated structure built by the U.S. Forest Products Laboratory adjacent to the research center's property here.

Plywood covers were glued to a lumber framework, a revolutionary process 27 years ago.

The concept has been widely adopted by the prefabricated home industry for assembly line production of paneled house parts.

Laboratory staff members have used the house as an office for much of its existence. The house, described as in excellent condition, will be dismantled to make room for a $4 million addition to the laboratory.

Glass Losing Favor as Lamp Base

Wood, metal and ceramic continue as the most popular material for lamp bases, the Lamp & Shade Institute of America reports.

It says the use of glass is decreasing.

LBJ Is Mixing Work, Pleasure

Acts on Appointments and Water Legislation

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson continues today to mix ranch-country relaxation with work on executive chores, like pending appointments and water legislation, that followed him here from Washington.

Before taking the wheel of his speedboat on Lake Lyndon B. Johnson Friday, the President approved a request to Congress for $131,000 for planning and construction of reservoirs to store water in the drought-plagued Northeast.

He also directed that the International Red Cross be notified that the United States will abide by humanitarian principles in treating prisoners taken in the Viet Nam fighting.

He dispatched a letter to President Chung Hee Park of Korea hailing plans to send a division of Korean troops for combat service in Viet Nam. Johnson said the people of the United States "welcome this further demonstration of the devotion of the people of Korea to the spirit of liberty and independence."

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

The schedule for today included going over dispatches forwarded from Washington and studying data on various projects being considered for federal jobs.

Trips around the ranch and possibly another visit to the lake also were planned.

While the President took a fast spin at the wheel of his high-powered speed boat Friday night, his cabin cruiser, loaded with guests, also cruised the lake.

TRYING TO GET A HEAD—Kenneth Shaw (with hair) is really not a head hunter. He makes heads turn, when he wheels along the mall of a Hollywood, Fla., shopping center with a cart filled with bare-headed ladies. Reason is his dad owns a wig shop and Kenneth is making a delivery of models for new wigs.

TV Tribute Is Slated for Laurel and Hardy

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Too often the achievements of movie greats received no official recognition. But on Nov. 23 Hollywood will give a tip of the derby to those classic clowns, Laurel and Hardy.

The pair will be memorialized in a special television show over CBS. It is now being put together, and the emcee, quite naturally, is Dick Van Dyke. The reason is that there is no more avid devotee of the Laurel and Hardy cult.

Van Dyke discussed his long-time addiction as he finished his job for Walt Disney in "Lt. Robin Crusoe, USN." He reports immediately thereafter for the fifth and last season of "The Dick Van Dyke Show."

"The whole thing started at Stan Laurel's funeral, where I delivered the eulogy," Van Dyke related. "Gene Lester, the photographer, suggested it would be a good idea to have a tribute to the team on television, with proceeds to go to the Motion Picture Relief Fund. Well, the word got around, and we started getting calls from agencies and networks who were wild for the idea."

FILM STARS

Among the stars lined up for the show: Rock Hudson, Phil Silvers, Lucille Ball, Buster Keaton.

Dick's own affection for Laurel and Hardy stems back to his childhood. With his long-chinned face, he was able to perform a respectable imitation of Stan Laurel. Dick never did it professionally until he had his own television show. Then he performed a sketch with Henry Cavlin playing the rotund Hardy. By this time Dick had become friends with Laurel.

"I called him as soon as the show went off the air," Dick recalled. "Stan said, 'You did the best imitation of me I've ever seen.' Then he gave me 25 minutes of notes and criticisms. 'One thing that he told me was that he wore cuffs on his shirts, but instead of cufflinks he tied them with string. He took the heels off his shoes; that made him look smaller than Babe and gave him that funny walk of his.'"

FLAT BRIM

"And the hat, most derbies curl up at the brims. I did everything I could to get a flat brim like Stan's — even had the brim pressed out. But it still didn't look right, and Stan said so. 'I would have loaned you mine,' he said. 'That just killed me.'"

Dick kept in touch with Laurel with visits and phone calls up until the comic's death in February. There has been talk of Dick's starring in a film biography of Laurel and Hardy, but he's against it.

"Stan always said a film wasn't possible because there was no story in their two lives," said Dick. "I would never do a Laurel and Hardy feature for the reason that Stan didn't want it."

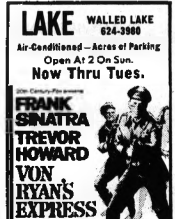

Disabled Veteran Gets VA Liaison Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — A disabled Marine combat veteran has been named special assistant to the Veterans Administration.

Freeman to Get Report on State

Word Awaited on Drought Aid

EAST LANSING (AP) — Federal officials in Michigan expect word from Washington next week on what measures may be taken to help farmers in mid-Michigan where drought burned up about half the corn crop.

A federal consultant, Stuart Simpson, completed the two-day tour of Michigan's drought area Friday. He returned to Washington to report to U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman.

The list of counties asking to approve emergency drought programs may climb from the present 22. The State Disaster Committee is scheduled to meet next Tuesday to consider seven additional applications.

'WILL BE INFORMED'

Simpson passed through 12 drought counties. He described conditions as "very bad." The drought has hit primarily corn, hay, pasture and beans, he noted.

Simpson promised that Freeman "will be fully informed of existing conditions in Michigan drought counties."

Frank Light, chairman of the State Disaster Committee, and Nyle Katz, state director of the Farmers Home Administration, accompanied Simpson.

Katz said about 20 counties have asked for FHA emergency loans for feed and production purposes.

Outside the central core of parched counties — Montcalm, Gratiot, Bay, Saginaw, Midland and Isabella — conditions were not quite as bad, said Light, "but they certainly were a long way from good."

OTHER REQUESTS

The group passed through parts of Ingham, Shiawassee, Genesee, Saginaw, Gratiot, Montcalm, Mecosta, Isabella, Calhoun, Arenac, Bay and Lapeer counties.

Other counties which have requested relief are Clinton, Ionia, Livingston, Menominee, Midland, Oakland, Alcona, Alpena, Iosco, Montmorency and Ogemaw.

Lapeer's application has not

Squad Car Is Taken

From in Front of Station

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Nashville Police Department was missing a squad car for about an hour Friday.

The car was stolen from outside the police station, where it had been parked with the motor running while the officers stepped inside. It was found abandoned a short time later.

A Junior Editors Quiz About DRESSAGE

QUESTION: Why is "dressage" connected with Lippizaner horses?

ANSWER: Back in 1565, a courier was sent by Maximilian II of Austria to Spain to secure the fine horses for the emperor's riding stables in Vienna.

The idea was to establish a riding school to teach horsemanship to knights and nobles. A group of the famous horses of Castile and Andalusia were brought north, and so the Spanish Riding School of Vienna came into being.

Later, Arabian and other fine stallions were imported. From the best of all these, a magnificent new breed came into being: the Lippizaner, the name coming from Equile Lippizano, a town where these horses were first bred.

Although bred to be white, the darker colors of their ancestors show when the colts are born, these being always black (A).

Dressage is the art, developed in the Spanish Riding School, of displaying the beauty of a fine horse and his gaits without resorting to various tricks.

In (B) youthful members of the school, still in existence, show how their stallions keep perfect step.

The "Courbette" (C) can only be done by the finest horses; they jump without bringing the forelegs down. Almost lost, dressage is being revived, not only in Europe but in this country as well.

Sterren Case 'Speculation' Hampering Probe--Kelley

LANSING (AP) — A smoke screen of public speculation, charges, denials, delay and a general aura of mystery surrounding the aftermath of the Sterren Assembly Club gambling conspiracy case are hampering his investigations, says Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

Kelley is working with Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson to get to the bottom of charges by former legislative stenographer Margaret Allen, Miss Allen, who spied for State Police in the case, said six officials "at the state level" had intimidated her after they learned about the double life she had been leading.

"There has been too much public speculation in this case," Kelley said. "It may hamper the investigation or any prosecution that might follow or the clearing of any names that have been clouded."

As a result of Miss Allen's undercover activities, 20 convictions on gambling conspiracy charges were handed down in Manistee County circuit court last Tuesday.

'RESPECTED JUDGE'

James Finn of the Oakland County prosecutor's staff said near the end of the trial that two legislators and a state official who is now "a highly respected judge" were among those who brought pressure on Miss Allen.

A number of persons who fit these descriptions denied any involvement. Meanwhile, Miss Allen said she never had mentioned a judge or specified that the state officials allegedly involved were legislators.

Kelley has been unsuccessful in arranging a definite meeting with Miss Allen who has indicated she intends to accept an invitation to meet Gov. George Romney.

Romney wrote her a letter praising her role in the case. He termed the reported intimidation "reprehensible" and asked to meet at her convenience. The governor's office had not received any formal acceptance from Miss Allen as late as Friday evening.

EARLIEST TIME

Kelley said he planned to meet her at the earliest possible opportunity—possibly early in the week—"because her allegations are at the core of this case."

"We have got to get her statement under oath," he added. "This is essential to a prompt and successful conclusion to the investigation."

Kelley has met once with Bronson and has been in steady telephone contact since midweek.

He praised Miss Allen, Bronson and State Police for "a victory of this magnitude" in the gambling case. "She contributed greatly to this cause," he said. "Bronson won a stunning victory in his first term in office, and the State Police turned in a virtuoso performance."

Former Japan Premier Dies

Disclose Ailing Ikeda

Had Incurable Cancer

TOKYO (AP) — Former Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda was suffering from incurable cancer when he died yesterday, it was disclosed today.

Ikeda, 65, died in Tokyo International Hospital. The immediate cause of death was pneumonia and weakening of the heart.

Ikeda, who served as premier from 1960 to 1964, had entered the hospital for treatment of a throat tumor described as "a precancerous nature." The tumor was removed in an operation last week.

Later sources close to the deceased former prime minister admitted that doctors and leaders of the ruling Liberal Democratic party knew since last October that Ikeda was suffering from incurable cancer.

The sources said the nature of Ikeda's illness was kept secret and withheld even from the dying man to keep him from giving up the battle to recover.

Masayoshi Ohira, Ikeda's former foreign minister, and Shigesaburo Maeo, former Liberal Democratic secretary general, said party leaders specifically requested doctors not to state publicly that Ikeda had cancer.

Ikeda generally was credited with leading Japan to postwar struggle to regain its position as a world power. He came to power in July 1960, soon after leaving rioting former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to cancel a visit to Japan.

3 Leaders Quit Papandreou

Could Bring Solution to Grave Greek Crisis

ATHENS (AP) — Three leaders of George Papandreou's Center Union party announced today a decision to desert him in Parliament. This could bring a solution to the grave Greek crisis.

The three are former Deputy Premier Stephanos Stephanopoulos, former Interior Minister Elias Tsirimokos and Savas Papapoulos, a leader of one Center Union faction.

Together they claim the backing of 32 to 40 of the 145 Center Union deputies who had been loyal to Papandreou up to now.

Stephanopoulos, Tsirimokos and Papapoulos met and issued a brief statement that they would go to the Parliament separately Monday to "deposit a formal statement dissociating ourselves" from Papandreou.

Their decision to act formally in Parliament was evidence that they intended to break party discipline.

BELIEVED LIKELY

It also is believed likely that one of the three — probably Stephanopoulos — will agree to try to form a government.

The split means that Papandreou's opponents had the possibility, for the first time since the crisis opened 30 days ago, to muster a majority behind a compromise premier.

Twenty-five Center Union deputies split from Papandreou at the start, so possibly 57 to 65 Center Union deputies are now against him.

TURNED DOWN

King Constantine — who fled Papandreou July 15 — asked Stephanopoulos to try to form a government last Sunday. The following day Stephanopoulos turned down the mandate when the Center Union caucus voted to continue to back Papandreou.

Earlier, Papandreou charged royal palace circles were making unfair attempts to break up his party. He said he is not seeking to threaten the crown or create a popular front with pro-Communists.

Church Ousts Cleric for Aiding Addicts

Could Bring Solution to Grave Greek Crisis

NEW YORK (AP) — An Episcopal priest whose mission is to aid young narcotics addicts was evicted from the church rectory Friday night by the congregation he had served for 12 years. Nevertheless, said the Rev. W. L. Damian Pithchally, "we're going on with our work."

The priest's work with addicts in the past four years had alienated his congregation at St. George's Protestant Episcopal church, Astoria, Queens, until he was forced to resign June 1. He had agreed to remain until a successor arrived.

Two weeks ago he planned to move the nighttime clinic from the rectory into a store two blocks away. A storm of protest followed.

NEIGHBORS PICKET

Neighbors picketed the clinic-to-be, and 500 persons signed petitions of protest. The store clinic was abandoned before it opened. "A monument to public apathy," said a sign in the window.

Then Friday, leaders of the church delivered an ultimatum: Leave the rectory by 8 o'clock.

He moved his family into the home of Rabbi Richard I. Schacht, an associate in the clinic. "We're out in left field temporarily, but we're going to try to pick up our bruised egos and go on with it," said the Rev. Mr. Pithchally. "We'll be back in

State Dems Girding for Possible Defense Against Mounting Right-Wing Pressures

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Democrats are laying the groundwork for a possible defense against "increasing pressure from right-wing elements," says Democratic State Chairman Zoltan Ferency.

Top level party members are studying extremist activities to determine whether a subcommittee of the state central committee is needed to counteract their activities and public pronouncements.

There is evidence, Ferency said, that right-wing groups are gearing up for increasing political activity in Michigan.

"Of course, we are just as concerned with extremism from the left," Ferency said in answer to questions, "and our study will include an evaluation of extremism on both ends of the scale."

After an evaluation of the size, finances, personnel and tactics of extremism in Michigan, a report will be given the Democratic policy committee, "which Ferency said Democrats hope the committee will be able to make a recommendation to the full state central committee next month.

The subcommittee, if established, would "expose and promote answers to their false ideas," Ferency said.

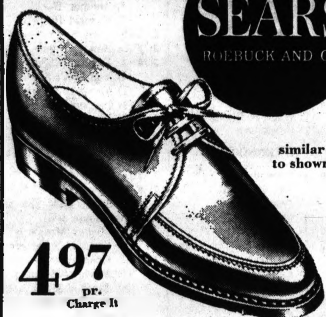

"We do not want to get into a witch hunt or name calling," he added, "and we would protect the constitutional right of anyone to be a political extremist—to speak out as he felt compelled to—as long as he did not run afoul of the law."

The Democratic party, Ferency said, does not want to destroy these groups or limit their rights to free speech and assembly, but would hope to show how some patterns of extremism could subvert constitutional guarantees of others.

was the winner in the aged cow and production record classes. This was the second grand champion for Brenda, a veteran of seven years in the Milford 4-H Club. The five-day fair closes this evening with contests for horse club members.

Pontiac Introducing New Engine for '66

The development of a completely new six-cylinder overhead cam engine for all 1966 Tempest, Tempest Custom and LeMans models was announced today by John Z. DeLorean, a General Motors Corp. vice president and general manager of the division.

DeLorean's official announcement ended months of speculation about rumors that the division was working on a revolutionary new six-cylinder engine for introduction this year or next.

The new engine is a product of intensive research, development and testing. Unique in both engineering concept and design, the Pontiac overhead cam engine is smoother, has larger output capabilities, increased fuel economy and provides greatly improved ease of servicing.

Most significant in design of this in-line, 230 cubic-inch engine—and the first time it has ever been used in an American passenger car—is the belt driven overhead cam using a rocker arm and an automatic hydraulic lash adjuster.

TIMING BELT

The new engine utilizes a fiber-glass-reinforced rubber timing belt in lieu of the conventional chain to drive the camshaft—another Pontiac innovation.

With single barrel carburetor, the engine has a compression ratio of 9.0:1 and is available with either manual or automatic transmission.

There is also a four-barrel carburetor option available with a compression ratio of 10.5:1.

It will be available with a three-speed manual shift transmission as standard equipment; with a four-speed manual shift or automatic transmission optional.

The new four-barrel carbure-

Kathy Is Fighting Big Odds for Life

By JANICE KLOUSER

Little Kathy Leach lies in a Minneapolis hospital fighting against tremendous odds for a tenuous hold on life.

Acceptance . . . Rejection. Between these opposites lies a vast new field of medical science in which the Lake Orion girl has become a key figure.

In a nine-hour operation Tuesday night, Kathy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Leach of 12 Indianside, was given a dead child's healthy liver to take the place of her deteriorated one.

Kathy was born without a bile duct and in April was given two to 12 months to live without the operation.

According to a hospital spokesman, the 2-year-old child is expected to remain in serious condition for two weeks while her body is trying to accept the new liver.

It is the body's acceptance or rejection of a transplanted organ which makes the risks so great in any transplant operation according to Dr. Donald Dawson, director of research at Pontiac General Hospital and director of medicine and surgery at Pontiac State Hospital.

Dr. Dawson explained that the difficulty in organ transplant operations is not the technique but the fact that the body rejects foreign tissue.

But he speaks like a man who sees beyond the difficulties to the solution, one who envisions unlimited possibilities in medicine once the answer is found.

HEALTHY LUNGS

"Just think of what could be done," he said.

"We could give the healthy lungs of a stay an accident victim to a young executive with diseased lungs; or give someone a new heart."

Dr. Dawson is doing his part to make this a reality. For the past three years, he has been doing research into the "whys" of tissue rejection.

"The public in general, and even some doctors, still don't understand that the big hurdle to get around is this rejection. Nature abhors a foreign tissue inside the body," he said, "and the secret, mainly that of rejection, has not been mastered."

"One must realize that Medawar (biologist Peter Brian Medawar) got the Nobel Prize only as recently as 1960 for demonstrating that the body's rejection of foreign tissue is an immunological response."

An immunological response is the body's way of developing a defense by creating antibodies

Los Angeles Violence Eases

Income Tax Need for State Cited

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP)—Gov. George Romney and a legislative tax negotiation committee agreed yesterday that Michigan needs a personal income tax of up to four per cent. Romney and the 19 legislators from both parties narrowed tax revision suggestions to two alternatives. These two will be refined, then presented to party caucuses for consideration, they said.

The restructuring would net the state $200 million in additional revenue by June 30, 1968.

Whether enough votes can be garnered for adoption of any final proposal is the question for the final legislative session.

Romney says it would take a "political miracle" to get tax reform this year. There is opposition from some key legislators to tax action.

GENERAL PLAN

Romney would not spell out exact figures of the two alternatives but gave this general framework of plan supported by a "substantial majority" at the two-day discussion.

- Personal income tax at a maximum rate of four per cent to state and local governments.
- Corporate and financial institution income tax at a five per cent maximum rate.
- Revision of the intangible tax.
- Increase of the cigarette tax.
- Conversion of the inheritance tax to an estate tax.
- Relief from the sales tax on food and drugs.
- Relief on property taxes.
- Repeat of the business activities tax.

New and increased taxes would yield about $500 million. The three areas of relief would save taxpayers about $200 million, leaving the net gain to government of $300 million.

Romney said the changes "would not reduce the total taxes paid by business."

Six alternatives, five including an income tax, had been presented to the bipartisan gathering. But Romney said the 1960 law alternatives had not evolved from any one earlier plan.

Dismissed from major consideration was a sales tax on services. One change from the earlier alternatives was retention of the intangibles tax, a levy upon such assets as bank deposits and dividends.

NIGHT SCENE—A furniture store blazes wildly in the Los Angeles Negro area early today—one of many fires that burned through the area where rioting has raged for three nights. Sirens screeched throughout the night as firemen fought to control the blazes. Some fire engines were attacked by the rioters.

Circuit Judges Ask Pay Raise 4 Months for Enlistees

Case Load Ratio Tops in Nation—Thorburn

Citing their heavy work load, Oakland County Circuit Court judges yesterday asked for a salary increase from $25,000 to $30,000.

Speaking to the salaries committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, Presiding Judge James S. Thorburn said that the county bench disposes of more cases per judge than any other in the state or nation.

Thorburn acted as spokesman for his colleagues in the appeal to the committee which currently is hearing salary requests from all county departments.

When hearings are completed next Friday, the County Board of Auditors and salaries committee will make recommendations for the total county pay structure in the 1966 budget.

Thorburn said the county bench disposed of 1,251 cases per judge in 1964 for a total of 8,507 for seven judges.

EXCEEDED PERCENTAGE

He pointed out that this exceeded 10 per cent of the 70,000 cases disposed of in the entire state by a total of 96 circuit court judges.

Thorburn also cited the long hours the judges work, 8:15 a.m. to 5 p.m., plus some evening and weekend meetings.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy moved today to bolster its ranks for the war in Viet Nam by ordering an extension for four months in enlistments of all regular Navy and Marine Corps personnel.

The extensions were ordered in a telegram sent last night by Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze to all major Navy and Marine Corps commands.

The Pentagon confirmed the order early today after news of it began to leak out at some of the commands that had been notified.

The extension follows by less than a month the Navy's decision to draft men for the first time in nearly 10 years.

Navy enlistments have been lagging, and an appeal by Nitze for voluntary extension of tours drew a disappointing response.

The extension order affects neither reservists on active duty nor those who already have volunteered to extend their enlistments. It goes into effect Aug. 29 for Marine Corps enlistees and Sept. 15 for Navy enlistments.

NOT KNOWN

The number of men affected was not known immediately.

The Navy's personnel needs stem from several causes.

For one, a general buildup triggered by the Viet Nam conflict is bringing more ships into the service. More men are needed for such support craft as amphibious ships and to fill out ship crews which are currently under strength.

Fire Damage at $100 Million After 4 Days

Arrest 600 in Worst Racially Triggered Riot in Recent Times

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Patrols of National Guardsmen swept lawless mobs from their path today in sweeps through a Negro section wracked by four days rioting. Violence slackened, but peace was not restored.

Additional troops were ordered into the litter-strewn, fire-ravaged streets where 17 persons died in the worst racially-triggered riots of the nation's recent history.

Dawn of another hot day—sixth straight in a Los Angeles heat wave—showed the extent of damage wreaked by the night's rioting.

Fire officials estimate $100 million in fire losses. Whole blocks of buildings have been burned to the ground. At one time, 125 major fires burned out of control.

Five hundred stores have been looted. Many were burned.

SOME CRITICAL

More than 300 persons have been injured, some of them critically.

Jails were filled to overflowing. More than 600 persons have been arrested.

Police said all rioters were Negroes.

Authorities declared a state of insurrection—short of complete martial law—in the Negro district south of Los Angeles downtown section.

BEGAN WEDNESDAY

The riots started Wednesday when white police sought to arrest a Negro man on a drunk driving charge.

After two days of assaults on whites and stone throwing, the mobs began to run wild through the Negro sector yesterday and last night in a orgy of burning and shooting.

The dead were mostly victims of police riot guns.

One Negro was shot by National Guard riflemen as he sniped at a formation advancing through the riot center. Another was killed when he drove into a National Guard roadblock.

BREAKDOWN OF DEAD

The breakdown of dead: One fireman killed by a falling wall; one sheriff's deputy shot by looters; one white man killed, possibly by rioters; 13 Negroes slain. All except the fireman were shot to death. Police said most of the dead were looters who ran when trapped.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California, burying home from an interrupted vacation in Greece, told newsmen in Rome: "From here it is awfully hard to direct a war. That's what this is."

"It is mob rule at its worst. I cannot understand it. Relations between different races have always been excellent in California."

A psychiatrist in Los Angeles attributed the rioting to anger at whites, and distrust of them, by Negroes in a section like Watts where the population, through what is called de facto segregation, is 98 per cent Negro.

"BLACK GHETTO"

Only Negroes would venture with any safety into the center of the area, called "the black ghetto" during the rioting.

Witnesses said mobs yelled (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Russia Photographs New Part of Moon

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet space probe has taken pictures of a previously unseen part of the back of the moon and transmitted them to earth, an official announcement said today.

The pictures are to be published next week.

They were transmitted with 1,100 lines to the picture, said the announcement distributed by the official news agency Tass. This compared with 600 lines for the American Ranger photos, 200 lines of Mariner 4 Mars photos and 550 lines on the American commercial television.

The announcement said the pictures were taken by Zond 3, a space probe launched July 18 into an orbit around the sun. The Russians did not say then what its purpose was.

Scout Camp Lodge Dedication Sunday

Dedication of a new $23,000 Boy Scout Lodge, made possible through a bequest by the late Joe Haas, former Pontiac

Press writer, will be tomorrow at 7 p.m. at Camp Agawam. Ceremonies will include the presentation of an official flag for the lodge by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Officials, and members of the Clinton Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America will be present for the dedication, along with a number of scouts.

NEW SCOUT LODGE — The Boy Scouts of America, Clinton Valley Council, will dedicate this lodge, made possible through a bequest of Joe Haas, former Pontiac Press writer and civic leader, tomorrow at 7 p.m. The lodge, named JO-WIN-E-HAAS-E in memory of Haas and his wife, Winifred, is in Camp Agawam, Orion Township, on Tommy's Lake.

The new building will be named JO-WIN-E-HAAS-E in memory of Haas and his wife Winifred.

Since there is no flagpole at the lodge, the official flag will be draped on the front of the building during the ceremonies, according to Ted Pearson, vice president and chairman of the camp development committee.

The new 30-by-50-foot lodge is designed for a number of uses.

It is equipped with a complete kitchen and liquid gas heat. The hall itself can be converted into a meeting room, dining hall, and sleeping quarters.

A second project, also the result of Haas' generosity, will be an $18,000 addition to the main dining lodge at Camp Agawam to be completed some time in 1966.

The camp is located on Tommy's Lake in Orion Township.

B52s Hit Cong Areas

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Giant American B52 bombers from the U.S. Strategic Air Command hit Viet Cong positions only 17 miles from North Viet Nam today, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

Vietnamese government troops followed up the raid with one of the largest offensives ever staged by the 1st Army Corps, U.S. spokesmen said.

Military sources said 14 Viet Cong were killed in the initial phase of the operation. They said government casualties were light.

There was no immediate report on results of the B52 strike. U.S. military spokesmen declined to say how many bombs took part or how many bombs were dropped. Such information had been reported after the eight previous B52 raids in South Viet Nam.

CLASSIFIED MATERIAL

A briefing officer said a new directive made the number of planes and details of the bombs dropped classified material. He said as far as he knew all the planes returned safely.

Brig. Gen. Frederick Karch said there are now about 7,000 Marines in the Chu Lai area and about 29,000 in areas northward, which include the big Da Nang Air Base and the Hue-Phi Bai region.

Today's arrivals are members of the 1st Battalion, 7th Regiment of the 1st Marine Division. They made the trip from Okinawa.

TARGETS HIT

The eight-engine B52s hit targets in the Ba Long Valley, 90 miles northwest of the Da Nang base, where two Viet Cong battalions have long operated. A Viet Cong battalion consists of 300 to 500 men.

Most of the previous B52 raids were against targets in a jungle area known as D Zone about 30 miles north of Saigon.

As air strikes on the valley continued, ground troops moved in.

It was considered likely that the bulk of the Viet Cong force could slip through the jungle trails that weave through the mountainsides. However, military sources said the Viet Cong might decide to put up a fight.

PLANES LOST

A U.S. military spokesman also announced that five U.S. Navy aircraft were lost during an armed reconnaissance flight over North Viet Nam Friday. A U.S. observation plane was lost over South Viet Nam.

Three of the Navy pilots were rescued, a fourth is missing and presumed dead and a fifth is considered missing, the spokesman said.

He said the planes were downed by small arms or conventional antiaircraft fire.

The U.S. Navy announced in Washington today that it had extended for four months the enlistment of all regular Navy and Marine Corps personnel.

KOREAN WAR

The Navy still has authority carried over from the Korean War to order involuntary extension of active duty.

The Army and Air Force would need congressional approval for a similar step.

Doctors 'First' After Gemini 5

To Isolate Spacemen for 11-Day Debriefing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The doctors came first, so astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. will be kept in seclusion for 11 days after they complete their historic eight-day Gemini 5 flight.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Friday that even the men's families would not be permitted to visit them while they undergo an 11-day debriefing period at Cape Kennedy and the Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston.

Air Force Lt. Col. Cooper and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Conrad are scheduled to begin their space voyage Thursday.

When they return, NASA said, interviews, parades and medal presentations to the White House will not follow immediately.

WEEK-LONG CELEBRATION

Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II capped a week-long celebration of their 98 hours in space last June with a trip to the International Air Show in Paris accompanied by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

After that week, McDivitt and White went back to Houston for more tests.

Doctors couldn't tell if some reactions were the results of the flight or the activity after it, a NASA spokesman said.

"They had been through a flight and one of the main objectives of it was to make medical observations. The United States wanted to note how they withstood the 98-hour trip physically and psychologically.

"All this activity within a week of the flight tended to invalidate some of the results."

NASA initially announced Friday that the results of the two previous Gemini flights demonstrated the need to keep the astronauts in seclusion for an unbroken period of medical tests and pilot reporting.

ANSWERING FIRE — U.S. paratroopers send a burst of automatic weapons fire into the Vietnamese section of Plei Ho Dong yesterday after someone shot at them. Troops who entered the village found only Montagnard tribesmen and no Viet Cong.

Arrest 100, Violence Eases in LA Area

"Here comes whitey!" when white motorists appeared. Many were severely beaten.

Firemen were shot at when they sought to extinguish blazes set by arsonists. Police couldn't protect them all.

Two firemen were shot as they battled one of more than 100 major fires set by mobs of looters.

The troops were mobilized yesterday after nearly 1,000 law enforcement officers, overwhelmingly outnumbered by rioters running wild over several square miles, said they couldn't handle the situation.

INCREDIBLE CONFUSION

As guardsmen marched in, the South Side was a scene of incredible confusion: scores of buildings looted and burned, millions of dollars in merchandise stolen or destroyed, gun battles and fist fights between officers and rioters, cars overturned and burned.

The slain deputy, Ronald E. Lodwig, 27, was shot in the stomach as he and a partner tried to drive looters from a blazing store.

He died in the emergency room of St. Francis Hospital in Lynwood.

Identity of the Negro victims was not learned immediately.

REPEATED REQUESTS

The National Guard was called in after repeated requests by Mayor Samuel Yorty and Police Chief William H. Parker, who said their force of nearly 1,000 men could no longer cope with the violence.

By mid-afternoon yesterday, rioters began overrunning barricades. Looting and fires spread from a few blocks to several square miles.

rested by police and put in 60-seat buses that served as mobile jails.

Lt. Gen. Roderick Hill, in charge of the Guard, told newsmen: "The operation is going very well."

He said each trooper was given ammunition as he moved forward into a troubled area but had orders to fire "only if fired upon."

LINED UP

Moving in on a hot spot on South Central Avenue, the troops lined up with sheriff's officers behind them.

A patrol car loudspeaker warned: "All people will leave the street immediately. All people will go to their homes."

The Negroes moved on down the street ahead of the marching troops. Few stopped long to watch.

Through the wild night mobs of Negroes swept through streets, firing guns stolen from looted stores, starting fires by hurling bottles filled with gasoline, men, women and children chanting "burn, burn burn" and "Nigger, kill."

NEGRO REVOLUTION

One man told a newsmen, "This is the Negro revolution. We want the world to know."

Said another: "We want to set a fire right here on Broadway rather than go to Viet Nam and fight. We'd rather fight for the Negro here."

As flames of the 125 major fires, some covering whole city blocks, lighted darkened streets with downed power poles, a force of 200 policemen marched up and down South Broadway.

They had weapons drawn but did not open fire. They were pelted with stones and bottles.

MOVED AWAY

Clusters of Negroes moved away and re-formed on side streets.

Leonardo Watts, a Negro reporter in the area for the Associated Press, gave this description of looting:

"They break into liquor stores, taking the whiskey, and then set them on fire."

"A strange group of people follows the gangs that move up and down the streets. Some are youngsters, but a lot are adults."

Those that did not were arrested by police and put in 60-seat buses that served as mobile jails.

Team Teaching Class Set at Baldwin School

BIRMINGHAM — Three authorities on team teaching will help Birmingham educators organize their approach to the new technique.

They will participate in Birmingham's second team teaching training institute, to start Monday at Baldwin Elementary School.

Continuing through Sept. 3, the sessions are aimed at refining the school system's plans and at organizing teachers for the program in their respective schools.

When classes start this fall, 42 Birmingham teachers will be utilizing the team teaching methods in fourth, fifth and sixth grades at Valley Woods and Meadow Lake Elementary schools and kindergarten through sixth grade at the new Evergreen Elementary School.

Edwin Ward MacBeth of Columbia University, former principal of another pioneer school in the program, will be his experience to the institute.

MacBeth will analyze the program as it was organized in Greenwich, Conn.

Team teaching involves tailoring the educational program to meet the specific needs, interests and abilities of students.

SUBJECT AREAS

The youngsters will have the advantage of learning from a number of teachers who concentrate on their respective subject areas.

The approach permits time for independent study for the capable student and additional time necessary for the student who needs more work in an area.

Dr. Robert H. Anderson, known as the "father" of team teaching, will spend four days at the training institute.

Professor of education in Harvard University's graduate school, Anderson was chairman from 1957 to 1964 of the Harvard committee which established the first team teaching projects in the United States.

PROGRAM'S START

The program was initiated in Lexington, Mass., Mrs. Ethel Bears, principal of Franklin School there, also will attend the institute.

For the past eight years, she has headed the school which was the first in the country to be used totally for the team teaching methods.

Circuit Judges Ask Pay Raise

Pratt said today that his statement in June was based on the extra work which would be created by the loss of one judge compared to the cost of a special election.

CONSERVATIVE ESTIMATE

"We figured a conservative estimate of such an election, including a primary, would be $110,000," Pratt said.

"We may have to delay a few cases 30 or 40 days by the end of the year, but when the two new judges are elected at the regular election in November of 1966 these delays will be picked up immediately," he added.

Presently Oakland County pays its six judges $11,000 per year with the state paying $15,000.

If all or any portion of the requested raise is approved, it would be paid by the county.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Salary recommendations will be ready by Labor Day, according to Curtis H. Hall, chairman of the salaries committee.

These will then be reviewed by the ways and means committee prior to final action on the new budget in October by the board of supervisors.

Divorce Suit Filed by Actor's Wife of Two Months

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television actor Vincent Edwards, 36, was charged with willful neglect and mental cruelty in a divorce suit filed by his wife of two months, actress Kathy Kersh.

Miss Kersh, 23, also disclosed Friday she is pregnant and without funds to maintain herself.

She asked $3,500 a month support and an additional $1,500 a month after the child is born, plus $75,000 to buy a home.

Her complaint said the couple separated Aug. 6.

Atlantic Sailor Still Unsighted After Gale

FALMOUTH, England (AP) — A two-day storm off the Cornish coast roared out to sea today but the calm Atlantic still hid the whereabouts of the American sailor who challenged the sea alone in a tiny boat.

Another day went by without any sign of Robert Manry, 48, Cleveland Plain Dealer newspaperman. He left Falmouth, Mass., June 1 in an attempt to sail 3,200 miles to Falmouth, England.

He was last seen last Monday about 287 miles short of his goal. Since then a savage gale raged up from the southeast and Manry must have been battling 20-foot swells and winds of 30 to 40 knots. He probably was blown northward toward Ireland and thus outside shipping lanes.

Lloyds shipping service reported that Manry's boat was seen in a new alert to all ships for any news of the lone sailor.

KEPT GROUND

Without any fix more recent than 120 hours ago, the Royal Air Force kept its Shackleton patrol planes grounded for the weekend. An officer explained that fog, cloud cover would make observation futile in any case today.

The RAF intends to send up a patrol Monday morning with the specific task of trying to find Tinkerbell on its radar.

Saturday's weather over the area where it could be was rainy but calm. The southeastern storm was replaced by a shift to a mild westerly wind that is exactly what he needs to head for the Lizard, the western promontory of England and, in fact, his last lap on the journey.

There also has been word from Manry's wife, Virginia, who went out two days ago with her husband's newspaper's officials in an attempt to find him.

The Plain Dealer trawler sailed off the Scilly Isles and in one contact with the mainland reported no luck at all. The message said someone aboard was violently ill but the suffers was not identified, nor did the skipper indicate further sailing plans.

Stern Case 'Speculation' Hampering Probe--Kelley

No Ceremony on V-J Day Anniversary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty years ago today, Japan surrendered. World War II was over. There was a wild celebration in the nation's capital, and all across the United States.

There was no celebration here today, no formal observance of any kind. Once again the nation was uncomfortably eying a war in Asia — this time in South Viet Nam.

Another step in building forces for the Viet Nam conflict — a four-month extension of Marine Corps and Navy enlistments — was announced early today. Draft calls have been beefed up for the months ahead.

At 7 p.m., Eastern War Time Aug. 14, 1945, then President Harry S. Truman announced the end of World War II.

President Johnson, a Texas congressman 20 years ago, is spending the weekend at his ranch near Johnson City, Tex. There has been no announcement of any observance there for V-J Day, either today or tomorrow.

Thomas Jones, 17, of 522 S. Saginaw has demanded exemption from his arraignment in Pontiac Municipal Court on charges of resisting a police officer.

Root was treated for cuts and bruises at Pontiac General Hospital.

Examination for Thomas Jones is slated for Wednesday morning. No bond was set.

Wreck Injures Two Teens

Two White Lake Township persons were hospitalized yesterday afternoon following an auto accident at Telegraph and Elizabeth Lake Road, according to Pontiac police.

The Thompson vehicle collided with a car driven by Ella Mae Robertson, 34, of 542 Whittemore.

Homemade Rocket Blows Up, Killing Boy

MELBOURNE, Fla. (AP) — A 14-year-old boy was killed Friday when a homemade rocket made of a 4½-foot piece of aluminum tubing stuffed with match heads exploded, driving a piece of tubing into his chest.

He was Robert K. Prescott, Palm Bay, a community south of here.

'Model' Franksters Don't Amuse Officials

CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va. (UPI) — City officials and Chesapeake & Ohio railroad executives were unamused yesterday by a sign pranksters painted on the side of a C&O bridge in the heart of the city.

The sign said "Lionel."

land County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson to get to the bottom of charges by former legislative stenographer Margaret Allen, Miss Allen, who typed for State Police in the case, said six officials "at the state level" had intimidated her after they learned about the double life she had been leading.

"There has been too much public speculation in this case," Kelley said. "It may hamper the investigation or any prosecution that might follow—the clearing of any names that have been clouded."

As a result of Miss Allen's undercover activities, 20 convictions on gambling conspiracy charges were handed down in Manatee County circuit court last Tuesday.

'RESPECTED JUDGE'

James Finn of the Oakland County prosecutor's staff said near the end of the trial that two legislators and a state official "a highly respected judge" were among those who brought pressure on Miss Allen.

A number of persons who fit these descriptions denied any involvement. Meanwhile, Miss Allen said she never had mentioned a judge or specified that the state officials involved were legislators.

Kelley has been unsuccessful in arranging a definite meeting time with Miss Allen who has indicated she intends to accept an invitation to meet Gov. George Romney.

Romney wrote her a letter praising her role in the case. He termed the reported intimidation "repugnant" and asked to meet at her convenience. The governor's office has not received any formal acceptance from Miss Allen as late as Friday evening.

EARLIEST TIME

Kelley said he planned to meet her "at the earliest possible opportunity"—possibly early in the week—"because her allegations are at the core of this case."

"We have got to get her statement under oath," he added. "This is essential to a prompt and successful conclusion to the investigation."

Kelley has met once with Bronson and has been in steady telephone contact since mid-week.

Key praised Miss Allen, Bronson and State Police for "victory of this magnitude" in the gambling case.

"She contributed greatly to this cause," he said. "Bronson won a stunning victory in his fight in the office of the State Police turned in a virtuoso performance."

Former Japan Premier Dies

Disclose Ailing Ikeda Had Incurable Cancer

TOKYO (UPI) — Former Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda was suffering from incurable cancer when he died yesterday, it was disclosed today.

Ikeda, 65, died in Tokyo International Hospital. The immediate cause of death was pneumonia and weakening of the heart.

Ikeda, who served as premier from 1960 to 1964, had entered the hospital for treatment of a throat tumor described as "malignant but of a precancerous nature."

The tumor was removed in an operation last week.

Later sources close to the deceased former prime minister admitted that doctors and leaders of the ruling Liberal Democratic party knew since October that Ikeda was suffering from incurable cancer.

The sources said the nature of his illness was kept secret and withheld even from the dying man to keep him from giving up the battle to recover.

Masayoshi Ohira, Ikeda's former foreign minister, and Shigeru Muro, former Liberal Democratic secretary general, said party leaders specifically requested doctors not to state publicly that Ikeda had cancer.

Ikeda generally was credited with leading Japan's postwar struggle to regain its position as a world power. He came to power in July 1960, soon after leftist rioting forced President Dwight D. Eisenhower to cancel a visit to Japan.

Expect Russian Gold for Wheat

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union is expected to set up to $700 million worth of gold to the West shortly to pay for her foreign purchases of wheat this season.

Soviet authorities recently contracted to buy more than seven million tons of wheat from Canada, Argentina and France.

The last time Russia sold gold to the West was in May 1964.

3 Leaders Quit Papandreou

Could Bring Solution to Grave Greek Crisis

ATHENS (AP) — Three leaders of George Papandreou's Center Union party announced today a decision to desert him in Parliament. This could bring a solution to the grave Greek political crisis.

The three are former Deputy Premier Stephanos Stephanopoulos, former Interior Minister Elias Tsirimokos and Savas Papapoulos, a leader of one Center Union faction.

Together they claim the backing of 25 to 40 of the 145 Center Union deputies who had been loyal to Papandreou up to now.

Stephanopoulos, Tsirimokos and Papapoulos met and issued a brief statement that they would go to the Parliament secretary Monday to "deposit a formal statement dissociating ourselves" from Papandreou.

Their decision to act formally in Parliament was viewed by political sources as evidence that they intended to break party discipline.

BELIEVED LIKELY

It also is believed likely that one of the three — probably Stephanopoulos — will now agree to try to form a government.

The split means that Papandreou's opponents had the possibility, for the first time since the crisis opened 30 days ago, to muster a majority behind a compromise premier.

Twenty-five Center Union deputies split from Papandreou at the start, so possibly 57 to 65 Center Union deputies are now against him.

These could form a majority in the 306-member parliament with the 99 deputies of the National Radical Union (ENR) party.

TURNED DOWN

King Constantine — who fired Papandreou July 15 — asked Stephanopoulos to try to form a government last Sunday. The following day Stephanopoulos turned down the mandate when the Center Union caucus voted to continue to back Papandreou.

Earlier, Papandreou charged royal palace circles were making unfair attempts to break up his party. He said he is not seeking to threaten the crown or create a popular front with pro-Communists.

Surviving are his wife Rose, at home; a son Richard W. Sullivan of Pontiac; and one grandson.

Church Ousts Cleric for Aiding Addicts

NEW YORK (AP) — An Episcopal priest whose mission is to aid young narcotics addicts was evicted from the church rectory Friday night by the congregation. He had served for 12 years.

Nevertheless, said the Rev. W. L. D. Mian Pitcaithly, "we're going on with our work."

The priest's work with addicts in the past four years had alienated his congregation at St. George's Protestant Episcopal Church, Astoria, Queens, said on which to build. The Rev. Mr. Pitcaithly said.

With the blessing of his bishop, the Rev. Mr. Pitcaithly will devote all of his time to working with addicts. Social workers do volunteer work in the clinic.

The young addicts — most are between 16 and 25 — are required to appear nightly at the clinic with their parents. "They need an authority — a foundation on which to build," the Rev. Mr. Pitcaithly said.

DISTURBED FAMILY

That's why we work with the parents, said the Rev. Mr. Pitcaithly, then send him back into the same disturbed family.

"We give these young people — and their parents — hope."

He is frustrated and disturbed by the public attitude, but he has no angry words for his former congregation.

"They just didn't understand," he said.
