Violent Storms Leave 12 Dead Across U.S.

LBJ Rebuffed by Soviet Union

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev today brushed aside President Johnson's call for better East-West relations, saying U.S. "piratic raids" on North Viet Nam bar any improvement now.

"If the United States wants to develop mutually profitable relations with the Soviet Union—and we would like this in principle—it is necessary to remove the main obstacle," Brezhnev said.

"Stop the piratic raids on a Socialist state, the DRV (Democratic Republic of North Viet Nam), and stop the aggressive war against the Vietnamese people; respect not in words but in deeds the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of the other countries and peoples."

Brezhnev said, however, that prospects looked better for an East-West treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons and declared the Soviet Union would "spare no effort to sign an agreement."

The general secretary of the Soviet Communist party spoke to 6,000 persons at a Kremlin friendship meeting with Poland.

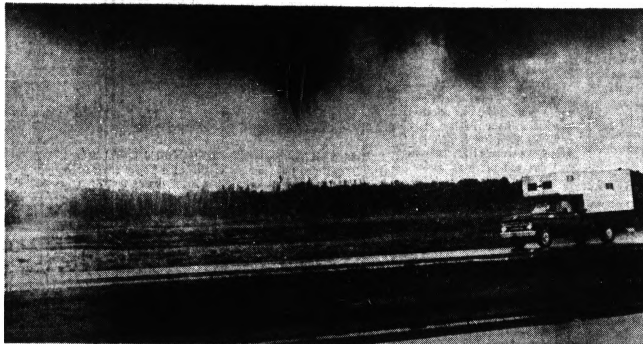

Visiting Polish Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka echoed Brezhnev, saying Johnson's plea for an improved climate in Europe could not be taken seriously until "words are supported by deeds."

In his speech to the National Conference of Editorial Writers in New York Oct. 7, Johnson said: "We want the Soviet Union and the nations of Eastern Europe to know that we and our allies shall go step by step with them as far as they are willing to advance."

While pausing to assail Red China's leaders as renegades, Brezhnev devoted a major portion of his speech to a direct reply to Johnson.

Brezhnev said Johnson presented the situation "in such a way that relations with the Soviet Union and other Socialist (Communist) countries can develop despite" the war in Viet Nam.

This is "strange and misleading," the Soviet leader declared. "We have said not once before but many times that if the United States wants to develop mutual relations it must remove the main impediment," Brezhnev said.

Tornado Is About To Touch Down Near Des Moines, Iowa

Twister Kills 6, Injures Scores in Iowa Town

Snow, Wind, Rain,
Hail Lash Areas From
Rockies to Midwest

By the Associated Press

Killer tornadoes, the first major snowstorm of the season and other forms of violent weather which struck the central part of the nation and western states left a heavy toll of dead and injured today and extensive property damage.

The death toll was at least 12, including six in Belmond, Iowa, which was struck by a tornado yesterday afternoon.

An estimated 150 to 200 persons were injured, about 20 of them critically, in the north-central Iowa community of 2,500.

The blizzard which lashed areas in Colorado and Wyoming before sweeping into areas of Nebraska and Kansas was blamed for six deaths. Two men were missing in Wyoming.

Tornadoes and high winds injured about 40 persons in Missouri and Illinois.

DAMAGING WIND
Strong, damaging winds, heavy rain and hail hammered wide areas in the Plains and from the Midwest to Texas and western Oklahoma.

Near-blizzard conditions and drops in temperature up to 40 degrees were reported in the Central Plains.

The snow appeared to be tapering off as the storm headed into the Upper Mississippi Valley and into the northern Great Lakes region.

Freezing weather or frost was reported from the central and southern Rockies to the adjacent Western Plains.

Soviet Space Feat Set Thursday

MOSCOW (AP) — A large Soviet satellite carrying several men will be launched next Thursday, and leaders of the Eastern bloc will watch, Communist sources reported today.

The leaders will go to Baikunur, the secret Soviet space center in central Asia, for the scheduled launching, they reported.

Some sources said two men would be launched and others said more.

The sources agreed that by the end of this year the Soviet Union would try to put eight men into orbit in the world's largest satellite so far. But it was unclear whether this was to be a separate launching from the one Thursday.

RED CHINA

The Communist leaders are expected to arrive at the beginning of the week to discuss their attitude toward Red China.

They come from Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland and the Soviet Union. Some reports said Romania and Mongolia also might be represented.

Romania has, however, refrained from criticism of the "great cultural revolution" in China which the other Soviet-bloc countries have made. This left it uncertain that Romanian leaders would attend the talks, although they might show up in time to see the space launching.

Newsboys: Carriers of Tradition

By DAVID J. COOK
A loose association of some 1,000 Pontiac area businessmen works a 2- to 3-hour day, reaps a 30 per cent return on investment and doesn't number a college graduate in its ranks.

The group never again enjoys such short hours or high profit rates, but according to Arlo A. McCully, circulation manager of The Pontiac Press, the 1,000 newspaperboys he directs rarely forget the training they receive as carriers.

"They're 'little merchants' in a very real sense," remarked McCully, who this morning gave 145 Press newsboys a send-off on three buses bound for the University of Michigan - Purdue University football game.

The game trip to Ann Arbor was a prize climaxing The Press' observance of National Newspaper Week.

"The competition the boys engage in for prizes — whether for trips or Thanksgiving turkeys — is just part of the overall training we try and give them," McCully said.

PERSONALITY

"Other things we think are quite important include personality development, learning of sound business practices and development of a certain independence."

"One boy in particular was extremely shy when he first took a Pontiac Press route. He had difficulty in getting his feelings across to others, especially adults.

"In less than six months he had developed self-confidence that comes with handling a challenging job alone."

As with bus drivers, policemen, city clerks and any other persons who deal with the public, newspaperboys receive a full gamut of complaints and compliments, according to McCully.

"Naturally, we get a share of complaints in getting out about 70,000 newspapers a day," he said.

"Most frequently, these are from people who didn't get a (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

SAFETY LUNCHEON — Conferring with Gov. Romney are (center) James O. Wright and (right) Delos Hamlin, chairman and vice chairman respectively of a newly formed Oakland County committee on traffic safety. The committee was established yesterday in a two-hour luncheon meeting at an Oakland University. Wright is president of Federal-Mogul Bearing Corp. and Hamlin is chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

County Idea Hailed

Traffic Safety Staff Planned

Gov. Romney yesterday voiced enthusiastic endorsement for a proposal to establish a permanent Oakland County traffic safety association.

Plans for the professionally staffed organization were announced at an Oakland University luncheon for some 150 industrial and business leaders and government officials.

The governor noted Oakland County's traffic safety association would be the first in the state.

He hopes it will be the forerunner in a system of municipal and county organizations coordinated in a state association, Romney said.

The proposed association has the backing of both the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and the Oakland County Road Commission, each of which has pledged a $10,000 contribution and $10,000 in services.

Between $50,000 and $60,000 is to be sought from private industrial sources for the association's first year of operation.

Stanford C. Stoddard, Michigan Bank of Detroit president, has been named chairman of the fund-raising campaign.

The association would serve as a coordinating agency for the traffic safety efforts of community groups, interested citizens and municipal and law enforcement officials.

It would be staffed with a full-time manager and three traffic specialists who would establish a master plan of traffic improvement priorities, coordinate efforts to reduce accidents, foster public support for projects and study accident facts and trends on a countywide basis.

U. of M. Discovers the Average Joe

ANN ARBOR (AP) — You think you're an average guy, eh? Well, the University of Michigan has the goods on you.

A survey of 2,122 persons across the country, the school's Institute of Social Research says, has uncovered the genuine average Joe.

Look at Joe:

- He actually works eight hours a day — disbelievers notwithstanding — and spends another 45 minutes on work breaks.
- He gets to the office in 20 minutes if he drives a car; make it 40 by bus or subway.
- He spends 15 minutes a day fixing things around the house and 10 minutes a day helping his wife in housework (isn't he handy!).
- He spends 60 minutes a day primping, 20 minutes resting, 150 minutes watching television, and 33 minutes pursuing hobbies, and 7.6 hours just plain, old sleeping.
- Religious activities get an average of 10 minutes of his time each day.
- The other three hours are free time.

Rites Held for Two AF Stunt Fliers

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) —

This hour defies explanation, said a minister conducting two Air Force aerobatic fliers killed in a collision.

But a poem distributed at the funeral Friday suggested they flew high and fast to "put out lightning, less food waste is taken home and there is a saving in storage."

The Air Force thus paid final tribute to two Thunderbirds—members of its aerobatic demonstration team.

About 400 persons packed the chapel at nearby Nellis Air Force Base, where the Thunderbirds are based, for the joint Protestant-Roman Catholic ceremony.

The fliers, Capt. Robert H. Morgan, 32, Pendleton, S.C., and Maj. Frank E. Liethen, 36, Appleton, Wis., were killed Wednesday during a practice maneuver near here.

COLLIDE IN LOOP

Two Thunderbird F100 Super Sabre jets collided at the top of a spiral loop over the Nevada desert. They snaked around one another 20 feet apart at 6,000 feet and hit in a shower of metal. One of them caught fire.

Morgan ejected, but his parachute didn't open in time.

Liethen, his passenger, training to take over as leader of the Thunderbirds, died in the explosion as the plane hit the ground. The pilot of the second plane, Capt. Robert D. Beckel, Walla Walla, Wash., nursed his jet back to Nellis.

Why did two men die and the third make it back? "We ask not," said the minister, the Rev. John Smart.

Liethen was Catholic, Morgan, Protestant.

CEREMONIES

There was a reading of the 23rd Psalm, a vocalist sang the Lord's Prayer, a bugler sounded Taps, and six Air Force jets streaked low over the chapel.

The poem, "High Flight," by John Gillespie Magee Jr., was printed on the back of the funeral programs. A Thunderbird spokesman said it is a favorite of the aerobatic team, which has five remaining fliers.

The five were scheduled to put on an air show today at Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls, Tex.

Liethen will be buried Monday at the Ft. Logan National Cemetery in Denver. Morgan will be buried Tuesday at Anderson, S.C.

Dedication Set for State Tracts

IRON MOUNTAIN (UPI) — Gov. Romney will join conservation officials from two states Monday to dedicate a unique recreation area.

The project covers 52,000 acres along the Michigan-Wisconsin border, including 11 lakes with more than 300 miles of shoreline.

The tract is owned by the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co.

The utility will develop the area under supervision of the conservation departments of the two states. It will retain ownership of the tract and pay for the development.

The area will be open to the public, however. Plans call for controlled management of fish and wildlife as well as for the development of trails.

Death Claims Founder of Firm After Long Illness

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — E.O. Bulman, a self-educated man whose talent for tinkering led to the establishment of one of the nation's largest store equipment manufacturing firms, died Friday following a long illness. He was 86.

Bulman was born in southern Michigan and came to Grand Rapids as a youth, working in a furniture factory, grocery store and as a newspaper.

He designed and built a string holder, the success of which caused him to found the E.O. Bulman Manufacturing Co. in 1906.

The firm started by manufacturing clock display equipment and expanded to drug, hardware, stationary and auto store furnishings on a national and international basis.

Say Goodbye to Coast Guard

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said a formal goodbye Friday night to an agency which has been part of the Treasury Department since 1790 but will soon move elsewhere—the U.S. Coast Guard.

The Coast Guard, the Treasury's naval and air arm, will become part of the proposed Department of Transportation under a bill already approved by Congress and now awaiting President Johnson's signature.

In a talk prepared for a lecture series at the U.S. Coast Guard academy, Fowler traced the guard's history from its founding under Alexander Hamilton to its roll in Viet Nam and said:

"It is not hard to understand the profound sense of loss we at Treasury experience when we contemplate the impending transfer of the Coast Guard to another department."

The House bill would create a park covering 10 1/2 miles of shoreline, stretching southwest along Michigan City, Ind., and around the 2,000-acre Indiana Dunes State Park and the Burns Ditch Harbor.

Provision was made in the bill to absorb the state park into the national park with state approval.

ADDED LAND
The House included in its bill 478 acres at the western edge of the lakeshore that was knocked out of the measure earlier by the House Interior Committee.

Much of this additional land is owned by the Inland Steel Co.

Albion Tuition

ALBION (UPI) — A $90 increase in tuition and a "package collection plan" will be instituted by Albion College for the 1967-68 school year, it was announced yesterday by Charles M. Leeds, dean of students.

The comprehensive fee system will replace the present system of collecting several fees.

By 2000 there will be an average of 44 persons per square kilometer, compared to 22 persons in 1960.

Camping Teens Turn to Apple-Knocking

LUPTON Mich. (AP)—Breakfast was a handful of plum-sized apples. So was lunch. So was supper.

That's how it went Friday for 25 Warren Mich. teenagers out to prove—without matches, weapons or processed food—that they can rough it as well as past generations.

The 13 girls and 12 boys have not had a real meal since noon Thursday, when they boarded buses in Detroit, 200 miles south, and headed for the forests near here.

They plan to live off the land—a 320-acre woodlot—for 72 hours. They will break camp Sunday.

Their first day taught them that living off the land can be cold, wet and boring—especially when you're not much of a trapper.

They couldn't flush a porcupine from his hole.

Johnson, Unions 'Victors' in GE Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and 11 labor unions appear to have emerged the victors in a new contract settlement with General Electric Co. that forestalled a strike by 125,000 workers.

"It is a major victory for the Johnson administration," a government source said of the agreement boosting wages and fringe benefits an average of 31 cents an hour over three years.

The sudden settlement Friday after weeks of deadlocked talks averted a nationwide walkout scheduled for 12:01 a.m. Monday against the major defense supplier.

But strikes over local issues and grievances were still a possibility at some of General Electric's 180 plants.

TOUCHY DECISION
The settlement saved Johnson the politically touchy decision on whether to invoke a Taft-Hartley Act injunction that was being drafted by the Justice Department.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, who had threatened to bring the major weight of the U.S. labor movement against the company in the event of a strike, called the settlement "a major accomplishment for collective bargaining."

It also was a victory for Paul Jennings, president of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers which led the 11 negotiating unions.

It was the first major contract fight for Jennings, who replaced James B. Carey as the union's president last year after the Labor Department declared Carey's reelection fraudulent.

RATIFICATION EXPECTED
The conference board of the 80,000-member electrical workers union meets in New York Sunday and is expected to ratify the contract. The other unions will work out local plant issues and in most cases submit the contract to a vote of their members.

Meanwhile, in Pittsburgh the Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike, called the settlement "a tend their contract negotiations on a day-to-day basis until at least Tuesday. The decision came Friday a few hours before the union would have been free to strike at midnight. Westinghouse usually follows the lead of General Electric in contract negotiations.

Union spokesmen said the new General Electric contract includes an average of 28 cents per hour in wage increases over the three years, plus cost-of-living increases up to a maximum of 10.5 cents an hour in two annual steps, improved insurance, pensions, vacations and a ninth paid holiday.

Stolen Bike Is Penalty

DETROIT (AP) — A stolen bike — so what?

To Joe Lukasiewicz — friends call him Joe College — it's worse than tragedy. It's prison.

It means Joe can't pedal up and down his familiar ground, Detroit's East Side, selling newspapers.

It means he's confined to his corner newsstand.

Joe is 44. He has severe cerebral palsy; he can't walk without help; he talks only in grunts.

And this sort of imprisonment isn't new to him.

His first bike was stolen last summer.

For three months Joe suffered through its absence.

SPECIAL FITTINGS

Then a neighbor, Mrs. Irene Bonkowski, contacted the Cerebral Palsy Association. Mrs. Francis Schilling of the association arranged for a new bike for Joe.

It was chrome and red, a special bike, with a seat and pedals and handlebars fitted specially for Joe and small wheels on each side at the back to keep him from toppling over. It cost $74.

It came Tuesday.

It was stolen Wednesday.

"It's awful," said Mrs. Schilling. "It's just awful."

"You never heard anybody cry like he did," Mrs. Bonkowski said. "He just stood on the street corner and cried like a baby. He had waited so long for that bike, and then it was stolen."

A stolen bike — so what?

Ask Joe College.

We Commend Our Young Salesmen

This is Newspaperboys Day, fitting culmination of National Newspaper Week. For it is this splendid army of boys who perform the essential service of delivering the newspaper's product to its readers.

We think that carrying a newspaper route could well be one of the most influential activities in the character-molding period of a youngster's life.

quired in the performance of duty are basic qualities that will pay dividends throughout his life. A multitude of successful Americans have paid tribute to the early training they received as newspaperboys.

During a year's time, The Press' force of some 1,000 carriers delivers nearly 22 million copies of the paper with remarkable accuracy and promptness. And they do it in good weather and bad, despite illness or household demands on their time and energy.

So it is that we render a warm and admiring salute to our newspaperboys on their day of national recognition.

The responsibility, punctuality and business experience ac-

Parents Stymie Peace Corps Enlistments

It's hard enough for a young person to change the world, but when his parents are dead set against it, it's almost impossible.

According to JACK HOOD VAUGHAN, director of the U.S. Peace Corps, "parental distress" has accounted for fully a third of the dropout rate in the corps.

"There's too much momism," he complains, adding that popism is no small factor, either.

Parents typically have one of two fears — that daughter won't be safe in a strange land or that son will miss a chance for a good career if he invests two years in the corps.

Young women volunteers, answers VAUGHAN, report they feel safer overseas than they do on the streets of many American cities. They seem to find relief from the social pressure of having to view every escort as a potential husband. And they "discover what they really are and not what they ought to be like."

As for males, they are being increasingly sought by business, are receiving more financial help for advanced study and often revise their career plans while abroad.

Of the 11,000 volunteers who have returned from service in the five-year history of the corps, 40 per cent have gone back to school for graduate work.

The parents of America "have nothing to lose but their apron strings," says Vaughan, if they would just let their children make up their own minds about the Peace Corps.

Racial Colors Blend in Military Service

Tens of millions of American men have "found a home in the Army" in the past 50 years. Or so the reluctant draftee is usually told by his drill sergeant.

In the past 18 years, millions of American men of darker hue have found not only a home in the Army but a "new sense of dignity and awareness of personal worth."

The conclusion is that of Dr. Charles C. Moskos, University of Michigan sociologist. He adds that this feeling of the Negro soldier should carry over as a responsible contribution toward the attainment of inherent rights for all when he returns to civilian life.

The U.S. Army was ordered desegregated by President TRUMAN in 1948. The program on integration was successfully accomplished long before the current wave of racial unrest in the Nation.

This has robbed Communists of any chance to divide our fighting men along racial lines, says Moskos, who has visited Army units around the world. Today's soldier, "whatever his color . . . fights first and foremost as an American."

Racial tensions still exist, but significantly, they are most frequent the farther removed soldiers are from a military situation—generally off-post or off-duty. They are totally absent in combat, where the only color men see is olive drab.

How to develop this color blindness, teamwork and loyalty in civilian life is the social challenge of the century. One thing can be said, however. Those civil rights spokesmen who attack the drafting of Negroes as humiliating and discriminatory couldn't be more wrong.

Voting Laws Dot U.S. Ballots

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
WASHINGTON (AP) — A question asked often since enactment of the draft law is: If a young man of 18 can be required to fight and maybe die for his country, shouldn't he also be allowed to vote?

Michigan voters give their answer in the Nov. 8 elections, voting on a proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age in that state from 21 to 18.

Only four states now have a minimum voting age below 21. In Georgia and Kentucky it is 18, in Alaska 19 and in Hawaii 20.

The proposed Michigan amendment is one of several hundred questions to go before voters in various states in November, either as constitutional amendments or referenda. Nearly all states have one or more issues on the ballot.

Also in the field of voting laws are questions dealing from the increasingly mobile nature of the United States population.

UNABLE TO VOTE
One result of this shifting about is that on election day, thousands are unable either to vote in the state they left or to meet the residence requirements of the state they have moved into.

Florida will vote on a proposal to amend its one-year residence requirement to allow otherwise qualified persons to vote in national but not in state and local elections. The state reports its population increased by 2,000 persons a week last year.

North Dakota has up for decision a proposal to let new residents vote for president and vice president.

In Washington, one of a number of constitutional amendments to be passed on would permit otherwise qualified citizens to vote for president if they have lived in the state at least 60 days. The residence requirement now is one year.

RESIDENCE REQUIREMENT
Wisconsin has this referendum question: Shall the residence requirement for voting be reduced from one year to six months?

In Texas, a proposed constitutional amendment to be passed on by the electorate would allow members of the Armed Forces to vote in Texas upon satisfying the residence requirements applicable to Texans in general.

This would bring the Texas provision in line with a 1965 Supreme Court ruling that members of the armed services who had become bona fide residents of Texas must be enfranchised. The prior Texas practice limited voting by members of the armed services to those who had entered the service from Texas.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODY ISHMAEL

As a boy, Lt. Kenneth D. Thomas set a seven year attendance record in Sunday school. Last March, when he bailed out of his crippled 105 fighter plane over North Viet Nam he found great spiritual comfort in knowing "I wasn't by myself."

He landed on a narrow ledge of a cliff 500 feet from the top and 100 feet from the bottom. A rescue helicopter made six attempts before dawn to reach him but bad weather and high winds prevented it. Ken spent the night on that ledge surrounded by the enemy. The next morning the helicopter was back. By radio he learned he would have to climb down the cliff and walk out to the end of a box canyon some three or four miles away as the crow flies.

For Ken the walk was more like ten miles, all through mountainous enemy territory. He said, "I prayed quite often in the hills." And after many attempts with the weather still bad the helicopter squeezed into the 125 foot wide canyon and pulled Ken to safety. Ken Thomas had spent 25 hours on the ground in North Viet Nam. At that time it was the longest any pilot had spent in enemy territory and been pulled out. His faith in God and his fellow men meant his survival.

Confident Living:

God's Power to Realize Wishes

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Again and again you hear the phrase "I wish . . ." It is usually poignantly, pathetically said — tacitly admitting that a wish is a will-o-the-wisp and an unrealistic attainment. "I wish . . ." But it is a fact that, as force is the basis of physics, so the realizable wish is the basis of psychology and an intrinsic part of faith. There ought to be, and there is, a procedure by which we can build solid foundations under our wishes so that when a man says, "I wish . . ." he may release the necessary power to make a wish come true.

The Bible says, "Unto Him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us." That is to say, God will give you exceeding abundantly more than you ask, more than you have ever thought. That is extremely generous, isn't it?

But there is a catch. You can obtain your wish only to the degree that the power of God works in you. Life will give you wonderful things if you are in contact with God's power.

How do we analyze wishes? First, check and realize your wish, because it is a subtle truth that sometimes the thing you think you wish is not your wish at all. Instead, there is a basic wish deep in your mind, something you would rather do than anything in this world, something you would rather be than anything else. You must discover by analysis, by thought and prayer what is your real wish, your true heart's desire. The fact is you will never attain your objective unless you are working for that which you really deeply want.

Then your wish must be a proper one. An improper wish can never bring you any good, only harm. Test your wish according to ethical principles; equate it with the will of God and it can bring you magnificent results.

Some years ago a young man, executive vice-president of his firm, came to see me about a business matter. He said it was his wish to build his business to be the greatest in his field. "But I've a great idea in the organization who stands in my way. He has known me since I was a child. My father put him in the firm. But this old gentleman, doesn't treat me with proper respect. He tells everybody I'm just a kid, that I don't know anything, that I should be in the nursery. I've decided to fire him."

"How long has he been with you?"

"About 40 years. He's 62 years old."

"Of course you're planning to give him a nice pension?"

"Why should I? He's always had a big salary. We have no pension plan that covers him. If he hasn't saved, it's his hard luck, not mine."

"You are so determined to fire this man, why do you come to me?"

"I thought you'd tell me it was all right. It would ease my conscience."

I decided to put this problem on a spiritual level, so suggested, "What do you say we pray about it, now? Then you go about your business and I will pray about it between now and tomorrow afternoon. Come back then and we'll check and see how we came out with our prayers."

When we met he immediately said, "It wouldn't be right to fire him. But I will firmly tell him I have to be head of the business, and since he is an old family friend, he and I will work it out together. He's a smart man and knows the business better than I. He might keep me from making bad mistakes. It is curious, but that's what came up in my prayers."

"That is what came in mine too," I answered. "I'm proper wish. I persisted in, might have destroyed him. But he contacted the creative power working in him and made a right decision."

Notable Dropouts Belong to Past

By WASHINGTON STAFF
WASHINGTON (NEA) — More notes from the political trail:

In his bid for a third term, Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York puts a lot of stress on the rising need for education in an age increasingly equally active last autumn for Mayor John Lindsay of New York, who had the Liberal party endorsement.

The worker's young son grew accustomed in 1965 to seeing daddy dash off for the Lindsay campaign. This time he isn't quite with it. He asked his father one morning as he left the house:

"Isn't Lindsay elected yet?"

Lt. Col. Ruth Briggs, the former WAC who is very much an underdog in her race to oust Rhode Island Democratic Sen. Claiborne Pell, passes out a small plastic comb to every voter she meets.

This is a good gimmick, but sometimes it can cause embarrassment.

Recently, the colonel entered a ward at a Veterans' Hospital which contained mostly World War I campaigners. They were all men, and they were all bald.

Col. Briggs passed out her combs anyway, taking a pretty heavy ribbing from the veterans. Eventually, they formed a Mutual Optimist Society.

"I said I was going to lick Pell," explains Col. Briggs,

Speaks in Favor of Vote for 18-Year-Olds

This November, Michigan voters will be confronted with the issue of extending voting rights to citizens having attained the age of 18. I believe this amendment should be approved. There is no better way to stimulate concern for current events than to grant the right to vote.

I agree with Senator Hart when he says that 18-year-olds would make "capable, conscientious voters" and I urge all to vote in favor of this referendum issue.

Hopes for 'No' Vote on Liquor in Oxford

A letter, addressed to a nephew who had been staying with us, urged him to register in order to cast a vote in favor of liquor by the glass. My nephew was not able to receive the letter, because he and two friends lost their lives a few weeks ago in an accident directly attributed to this substance.

It is my hope that residents will not have to experience the "benefits" that come with consumption of this beverage.

Suggests Shopping Mall in Center of City

My wife and I recently visited Riverside, California, which has much the same problems as Pontiac. The City administration of Riverside was at that time in the midst of turning the center of the downtown district into a shopping mall to compete with the suburban shopping centers. This might be the answer for Pontiac.

I have seen Saginaw Street blocked for this purpose in the fall when the new Pontiacs are being presented to the public and I think that a permanent expansion of this idea could benefit Pontiac residents.

Yes. Persons physically unable to read or write are accepted, as are persons who, on Dec. 24, 1952, were over 50 years old and had been living in the U.S. 20 years or more.

President, Big-City Mayors Conferring on Anti-Inflation Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson meets today with mayors of some larger cities to seek their support of his anti-inflation program—the major legislative portion of which now is headed for a House-Senate conference committee.

The White House did not announce in advance the number and the identities of the mayors invited to today's White House meeting, apparently similar in nature to previous sessions Johnson held with governors. In those, he asked the governors to cut state spending as he tries to trim federal expenditures by $3 billion during the fiscal year ending June 30.

The Senate voted 38 to 19 Friday to suspend for 16 months the 7 per cent tax credit on business spending for plant and equipment, and favorable depreciation provisions on construction of industrial, commercial and apartment buildings.

And although Johnson already can refuse to spend money appropriated by Congress, the Senate prodded him a bit Friday when it voted to give him authority to impound 20 per cent of the funds Congress approves this year for domestic programs.

SEVERAL ATTEMPTS
Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, who offered the proposal, has made several attempts to trim domestic programs for which, Johnson has said, Congress has been going over his budget.

Dirksen's measure, in effect, would give the ball back to the President. But it may face tough sledding in a House-Senate conference committee.

In another development Friday, the Federal Reserve Board announced the nation's industrial production last month dropped for the first time in a year.

The board said the output of U.S. mines, mills and factories totaled 158.2 per cent of the 1957-59 average, down one-tenth of a point from August's record level. It was the first drop since September 1965 when the index stood at 143.5 per cent.

VIRTUALLY THE SAME
But the board said the change was so slight that last month's production was virtually the same as August and 10 per cent above the temporarily reduced level of a year earlier.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, meanwhile, warned, "We have no written guarantee of a golden, never-ending prosperity."

Speaking at the New Hampshire AFL-CIO Convention Friday at Manchester, Humphrey said the nation now is in its 68th consecutive month of economic growth and expansion. To continue this "steady course," he said, "we have got to exert discipline—all of us."

Junior Editors Quiz on ATOMIC ENERGY

QUESTION: How can atomic power generate electricity?

ANSWER: Electric power is produced by generators. These are spinning loops of wire rotating between magnets, producing electricity which can be used for lighting and many other purposes.

Some force must spin the generator. That of falling water is often used, working turbines which in turn rotate generators.

The turbines may be turned by the force of steam, which comes from water heated by burning coal or fuel oil, or by atomic energy. Check the top picture.

An atomic chain reaction takes place inside a reactor (1) and produces great amounts of heat. This is used to heat water in boilers (2) from which comes steam to spin the turbine.

The turbine in turn spins the generator and so produces electricity (2). Atomic power plants use much less fuel than other kinds.

The reactor's fuel is uranium, and a tablespoonful of this will produce as much energy as will 750 tons of coal.

In spite of this, the atomic process is so expensive that few atomic power plants are in use in the U.S. at present, though more may be built later on.

Bacteria Worsen Burns

By Science Service

NEW YORK — Evidence continues to mount for intestinal bacteria as causes of shock and death after severe burns. Two common intestinal organisms seemed to cause and not merely to accompany death in studies on laboratory mice by Dr. Kehl Markley of the National Institutes of Health.

Dr. Markley reported to a conference on early treatment of burns that an animal contaminated with any bacteria runs a higher risk of burn shock and mortality than an entirely germ-free animal. Mice contaminated with a particular organism called Escherichia coli — a normal inhabitant of the intestinal tract of man — had a significantly higher death rate than those not exposed.

Burned mice, both conventional and germ-free, were up to 1,000 times more sensitive to E. coli endotoxin — a by-product of the organism — than unburned mice. Dr. Markley found that building tolerance to the endotoxin with a nonlethal injection significantly decreased the mortality risk. Mice injection with the endotoxin after a minimal burn, susceptible to challenge by another organism, Pseudomonas aeruginosa, considered the biggest culprit in post-burn infection.

Success with vaccine and plasma therapy to combat this organism was reported by Dr. Irving Feller of the University of Michigan Medical Center, Ann Arbor.

Nixon Assails Attack by LBJ

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon has accused President Johnson of making a vicious and unwarranted attack on the Republican party that Nixon says endangers bipartisan support of the forthcoming Manila conference.

Nixon said Friday in a statement that Johnson has "gravely jeopardized the bipartisan backing he should have when he goes to Manila" through an "insensitive" attack on Republicans in Wilmington, Del., Wednesday.

Johnson had warned then, Nixon said, that a vote for the GOP could cause the nation "to falter and fall back and fall" in Viet Nam.

Nixon, regarded as a potential Republican presidential nominee in 1968, called the remark "a vicious, unwarranted and partisan assault upon the Republican party that has given President Johnson the support for the war his own party has denied him."

Claims Farnum Avoids Debate

Jack McDonald, Republican candidate for Congress in the 19th District, charged yesterday that his opponent is avoiding a debate through the efforts of President Johnson.

"The President is keeping Congress in session so that his rubber-stamp supporters won't have to slip and duck the issues of the day," said McDonald.

The charge was aimed at Congressman Billie S. Farnum, Democratic U.S. representative who McDonald is challenging in the Nov. 8 general election.

The accusations were leveled during a press conference at the Holiday Inn, Pontiac.

Gov. Romney made an appearance in behalf of McDonald's campaign.

Romney said that McDonald's qualifications would enable him to battle inflation and "an even more serious problem," that of labor domination of the Democratic party.

Teen-Age Girl Struck by Car on City Street

Struck by an automobile yesterday as she attempted to cross a city street near her home, a Pontiac girl is listed in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Debbie Turnbull, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Turnbull of 24 Clarence, was hit about 7:40 a.m. near the intersection of Perry and Clarence streets, according to Pontiac police.

Driver of the car, Mary Coulson, 80 of 90 Marquette, told police she braked her car when another auto pulled in front of her, heard a thump and looked back to see the fallen girl.

The girl told police she was standing on the median when hit by the car.

Four Arrested in Police Raid

Bonds of $25 each were posted by Janet Brown, 21, charged with soliciting; Jean Rooks, 33 charged with being an inmate of the house; and David E. Eagles, 59, charged with loitering at the house.

Both women are of the Wessen address. Eagles lives at 76 Foster. All four face arraignments.

Police Ask Mediation in Pay Effort

The Pontiac Police Officers Association (PPOA) has filed with the Michigan Labor Mediation Board for mediation in their quest for higher pay.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said yesterday that he had received a copy of a telegram sent by the PPOA to the mediation board.

Earlier this week PPOA leaders were directed to obtain a legal opinion on the right of the association to strike against the city.

Sgt. Herbert C. Conley, association president, had said counsel would be sought on the legal consequences of a strike.

Although wage negotiations were carried out last fall and winter, the PPOA did not reach agreement with the city.

However, a $39 annual pay raise was implemented by the city following those bargaining sessions.

Warren said that State Labor Mediator Leonard Bennett indicated he would call a meeting of PPOA and city negotiators at an early date.

MAGIC

Several botanicals perform like magic, one in particular is soybeans; Chinese called it, "Magic Milk". Soybeans were introduced to U.S. farmers in 1894; 1950 we exported 300 million bushels to feed children and adults all over the world. Last year, 1964, 85% of our production went into almost everything we eat.

Without soybeans we couldn't thin water nor prevent a holocaust on a landing strip with Fire Foam; we drive many miles on tires made from fractions of soybeans. This magic botanical gives us Quick Drying Enamel; the ink on this newspaper would not dry fast enough for high speed presses without soybeans. The trick is performed in test tubes and scientific know-how.

Students at OU Hold Bible Study

"There is a huge gap between high school and college, but it's not nearly so vast as the gap between Sunday School and life on the secular campus."

These are the words of an Oakland University student. They could be the words of any one of thousands of students who yearly make the jump from the warm security of the home church and young people's society to the impersonal and often lonely life at the university.

And many are 'lost' in the jump.

Yet many thousands have found this transition to be both a rewarding interlude and a decisive step on the road to spiritual maturity. They are often young people associated with the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, an evangelical student movement, according to Michael Murphy.

Murphy is a senior in English and president emeritus of the Inter-Varsity group.

The fellowship group is composed of students from many different churches, united in relating the Christian Faith to every aspect of campus life.

The objectives of the more than 700 local chapters are:

- To present the relevance of Christ to every student.
- Stimulate Christian discipleship through individual and group Bible study, prayer, discussions, conferences and lectures.

- Help Christian students consider their responsibility for world evangelism.

RECEIVES AWARDS

The Inter-Varsity student magazine, "His," annually receives national antiracism awards. Summer camps focus on training in Christian leadership, Murphy said.

Inter-Varsity traces its spiritual foundations back to Cambridge University in 1877. First spreading throughout Great Britain and Canada, the movement began penetrating the United States in 1939.

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship of the U.S.A. was incorporated in 1940.

In 1947 representatives from all over the world met at Harvard University to organize the International Fellowship of Evangelical Students.

Inter-Varsity at Oakland University is a fully recognized student organization with Dr. Kenneth H. Coffman, assistant professor of psychology, the adviser.

Oakland Christian Fellowship sponsors midnight hall sessions, ice cream socials, prayer meetings, sharing sessions, and hootenany picnics.

Even though the Fellowship sponsors parties, it seeks to maintain a quiet witness to Christ, Murphy said.

One of the means to this end is the student-led group-discussion Bible study.

Joann Gleichauf, a junior studying in Germany this year, tells how God found her through Bible discussion.

"Until I came to Oakland University I more or less took Christianity for granted. I've always been active in the church and was familiar with the Gospel. I was a good moral person, and I felt I could love my neighbor without any help from Christ."

"After I came to Oakland I ran into some thought-provoking questions. It wasn't until July that I finally came face to face with the truth I had sought so long."

"One of the members of Inter-Varsity invited me to a Monday night Bible discussion about the Book of Romans."

"The discussion centered on what happens to a person when he takes on a new nature in Jesus Christ. As the evening progressed I began to sense a joy and assurance within this Christian Fellowship which I did not have within myself."

"Later in the evening I talked to a member of the group who was a Christian. I can't tell you just how it happened, but as we prayed before parting, I asked Jesus to come into my heart. And my life will never be the same again."

Murphy concludes with "A great variety of experiences in ment in winning minds and hearts of students.

"We then go out, like generations before us, to find His-place for us in church and community."

New Dossal Curtain at St. Stephen

A new dossal curtain and funeral pall were dedicated in services at St. Stephen Lutheran Church, Waterford Township by Pastor E. Dale Evanson.

The red damask curtain, hanging the length of the chancel window, forms a backdrop for the hand carved crucifix suspended above it.

The curtain finished at the peak with a cornice covered with the same fabric, was presented to the church as a memorial gift by Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Leibzeit in remembrance of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Kaatz, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leibzeit.

Design of the curtain was by members of the parish Altar Guild and pastor.

Mrs. Lydia Reppuhn, Mrs. John Sauter and Mrs. E. Dale Evanson completed the sewing details following major work by the Ecclesiastical Arts Department of Concordia Publishing House.

The funeral pall was also designed by the Guild. Intended to express the Christian hope in the face of death, the pall was made of gold fabric and trimmed in white, the color of the resurrection; and red, the symbol of redemption.

Others attending are the J. P. Judds, Jr. and Mrs. N. J. Rakas, the George Millers, the Chester A. Cahns, the Charles Brickers, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Diehl Jr. and the Marvin Katkes.

FROM ARTIST
Some friends of the Bloomfield Art Association received this week from Kansas City, Mo. the interesting Thomas Hart Benton catalogue with the artist's own signature.

This is a good reminder that the tremendous collection of Benton's work will remain at the galleries on S. Cranbrook Road until Oct. 23.

Of interest to this community is also that Allen L. Gornick of Bloomfield Hills, who through the years collected 25 of the Benton lithographs, has loaned his collection for exhibition at the galleries at this time. It is a rare opportunity to view such a complete exhibit of a great American artists' work.

lering honored their cousin, Mrs. J. Van Giesen and Mr. Van Giesen at a "at home" party this week. The Van Giesens have recently moved to Birmingham from Syracuse, N.Y. They have many friends here from their college days in Ann Arbor.

Their parents are the James B. Ocanis of East Boulevard South, recently of Bloomfield Hills, and the Jerome J. Fellraths of Dearborn. White peau de soie trimmed with Alencon lace and pearls fashioned the bride's sheath gown and court train. Her veil was of imported illusion and she carried white roses with Stephanotis.

Volunteers Get New Job

NEW YORK (AP)—The good ladies of the community who used to carry baskets, Bibles and cheery words of uplift to prison inmates were considered something of well-intended nuisances — but harmless.

These days they're being taken seriously. No longer are they called do-gooders; they're "volunteers" in local level action programs.

They can bandy sociological mechanisms of the malfactor. Just recently they received the warm approval of a group of experts.

Two sample comments: "Volunteers coming in from the community have far greater impact on the prison inmates than people working there. Perhaps the most important tool in rehabilitation is the impact of one personality on another" —

Plan Banquet on Thursday

The Golden Opportunity Club of Pontiac will hold its first harvest banquet Thursday at the Hayes Jones Community Center on Seneca Street.

Her veil was silk illusion and she carried white carnations with yellow Sweetheart roses.

Don't Ruin Friendship Over This

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Dear Mrs. Post: Several weeks ago a dear friend of mine gave a farewell tea for a neighbor and didn't invite me. I have been deeply offended and a cold feeling is creeping up between us.

Although I hadn't spoken to the neighbor for two years due to a misunderstanding over our children, I felt I deserved the opportunity to accept or refuse to attend the tea.

Perhaps this would have been the occasion to show our neighbor there were no hard feelings and to wish her luck in her new home. Was my friend wrong not to invite me or am I wrong to feel badly about the situation? — Charlotte S.

Dear Charlotte: Don't for heaven's sake, let this situation ruin a friendship. I suppose your friend, knowing you were not on good terms with the neighbor, refrained from inviting you in order to save you embarrassment, not to cause it.

She undoubtedly had no idea that you wished to use the occasion to mend past damages, and sincerely believed you would refuse in any case. Warm up that cold feeling, even if you have to go to your friend with apologies and a full explanation.

"Etiquette Tips for Teenagers" by Elizabeth L. Post, is now available to readers of this paper. This brand-new, 16-page booklet will answer many questions for teens and their parents.

For a copy, send 25 cents in coin to cover booklet and shipping expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Judith Jane Allston, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. Norman Allston of Bloomfield Village, and James Lyon Bonner, son of the James B. Bonners of Beverly Hills were wed today in Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Church, Beverly Hills.

MRS. JAMES LYON BONNER

James Lyon Bonners Honeymoon in Bahamas

Newlyweds Lt. (j.g.) and Mrs. James Lyon Bonner (Judith Jane Allston) will leave for the Bahamas after their reception today in the Birmingham Country Club.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Norman Allston of Bloomfield Village and the James B. Bonners of Beverly Hills are parents of the couple who spoke vows in Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Church. A bridal mantilla of Brussels lace worn by Mrs. David W. Smith complemented her sister's Empire gown and cathedral train of white duchess silk satin. She carried Amazon lilies.

Honor attendants were Mrs. Smith and her sister Mary Rene Allston. Bridesmaids were Susan Allston, Mrs. John G. Bonner, Mrs. Henry R. Healey, Mrs. John L. Kroha, Patricia A. Nolan and Judith M. Sullivan.

With John G. Bonner, his brother's best man, were ushers Dennis L. Adams, Gary W. Bell, Lt. (j.g.) Eugene R. Griffin, Richard F. Goodrich, George Lockwood, David Smith and R. Warne Todd.

The bride was graduated from University of Detroit and her husband, an alumnus of Michigan State University, is a flight instructor with the U.S. Navy at Brunswick, Ga.

Rev. and Mrs. Edward D. Auchard of Orchard Lake announce the engagement of their daughter, Wilma Joanne, to William Mark Senefsky, son of the William Senefskys of Grand Rapids. She attends Western Michigan University. December vows in 1967 are being planned.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

Marilyn Jean Winkley who will become Mrs. Albert Dale Eaglen, Oct. 22, in the First Congregational Church was honored at a recent shower in the home of Mrs. Gary Bass on Judson Court.

Mrs. Douglas Robertson and Mrs. Everett Spence were shower cohostesses in the Harold Boughner home on Bataan Drive, West Bloomfield Township. Lynda Toles of Texas Street, Avon Township, gave a shower in her home.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Maynard Winkley of Edgemoor Drive and the late Mr. Winkley. Her fiancé's parents, the Charles Eaglens of Jordan Road, will host the rehearsal dinner.

Time to Use Common Sense; Your Life Now, Not Mom's

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am 29 and have never had a boy friend. I've had many dates, but I make it clear from the start that I am a good girl and they had better not try any monkey business, and that's the last I see of them.

You'll probably faint when you read this, but every word is true, so here goes: I am considered beautiful in figure and face. I have high moral standards and everyone is always wanting to fix me up with men, but nobody ever does. My mother doesn't allow me to date divorced men, or stay out after midnight.

Also I can't go with a man she doesn't know, which limits my opportunities because mother is 74 and doesn't get around very much. I have a good secretarial job, but if I spend one more evening playing scrabble with my mother I will crack up. Please help me.

DEAR NOT: First you'd better sever that cord which has been running between you and your mother for the past 29 years. And change your pitch. It's all right to be 99.99 per cent pure, but you needn't begin every date with that commercial. Use your own judgment, choose your own friends, and grow up. You're a big girl now.

DEAR ABBY: We are elderly people, retired. We live in a neighborhood where there is a recent widow. I remarked to my husband, "Mrs. — is getting thin. The trouble with living alone is that you don't bother to cook for yourself. I would like to send her some little things I cook when I have extras."

My husband sounded annoyed and answered, "Why do that? She will think we think she can't take care of herself." Believe me, Abby, that idea never crossed my mind. Who is right? BROOKLYN

DEAR BROOKLYN: You are. But one who lives alone misses more than food. He misses companionship. Do something for the widow's spirit as well as her stomach and invite her to join you.

The simplest meal, with company, will be more appreciated than the finest delicacy—alone.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old boy and I think I have a venereal disease. Can you please tell me the name of a good venereologist? I can't sign my name.

NAMELESS
DEAR NAMELESS: Any doctor can help you. Or go to the public health department in your city for immediate medical attention.

Friday Rite Is Performed for Couple

Myra Ann Hickmott of Flint, daughter of the Donald Hickmotts of Noble Road, Addison Township, and Max LaVerne Thomas were married today in the Oxford Free Methodist Church.

Lace applique enhanced the bride's gown and train of white peau satin worn with finger veil and pearl tulle. She carried white roses on a Bible.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Roy Chum and the bridesmaids Carol Hackney and Mrs. Craig Welch, all of Flint, with Mrs. Don Hickmott, Garden City.

Keith Thomas of Roscommoon was his brother's best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thomas of Prudenville.

Seating guests were Randy Brady and Mike Klingler of Flint with John Daniels, Houghton Lake.

After a reception in the Oxford Methodist Educational Building, the couple will leave for a trip to the Smoky Mountain area.

Chiefs Wallop Saginaw With B-B Battering, 41-13

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor
Pontiac Central made 3,000 homecoming fans happy by giving Saginaw the B & B (Ben and Bruce) battering last night, 41-13, at Wisner Stadium.

The Chiefs played the "four yards and a cloud of dust" game from start to finish, pounding the Saginaw line for short yardage and long sustained drives with big Bennie Williams and Bruce Turpin doing the legwork.

With the six PCH backs seeing action, they used up 70 running plays for 351 yards in routing the SVC opponent with touchdowns in every quarter.

Williams went 29 times mostly through the middle. Turpin went 22 times primarily on slants with Hardiman Jones, Larry Lewis and Willie Ramsey covering yardage in every other conceivable direction.

The Chiefs scored quickly, the first coming after a punt and the second after a fumbled punt.

Jones went six yards after a drive of 55 yards in 9 plays for the first tally and Williams went the length of the entire drive, four yards for the second one.

When punter Bill Vestervelt could not get off his punt because of a high snap from center, he was hit on the four and that's where the half was placed.

Saginaw came back on a 76 yard drive in eight plays with Steve Barker going one yard.

After an interception by Larry Frowde, PCH pounced out the yardage of 40 yards in nine plays, but used a 14 yard pass from Lee White to Turpin for the touchdown. It was 20-6 with Mike Prince's points.

On the ensuing kickoff Joe Snead raced to the PCH 25 and in just four plays Saginaw closed the gap to 20-13 with John Willadsen passing to Terry Coffey for a 5 yard TD.

After going 72 yards in 13 plays the half ended with PCH getting a five yard penalty back to their six yard line after two downs on the one.

IN CENTRAL

Starting with the second half kickoff, the Chiefs had the ball for eight minutes going 70 yards in 18 plays to score with Turpin hitting from the one.

After this TD, Saginaw lost all life.

When Trojan QB Willadsen fumbled on his own 25, Lewis needed only one play and he went the distance to make it 24-13 with the punt.

With four minutes left in the game Lewis scored again from four yards after he had picked up eight and 14 yard gains.

The only razzle-dazzle of the night was the homecoming program with the queens, cheerleaders, floats and band, but the Chiefs had no reason to get tricky.

Saginaw even resorted to tight seven and eight man lines but found no way to stop the chunks of yardage as indicated by the

Yankees No Longer Big Detroit Draw

DETROIT (UPI) — For the first time in a decade, the New York Yankees weren't the biggest drawing card at Tiger Stadium.

Figures released Friday showed that the World's Champion Baltimore Orioles drew more people than any other American League team in Tiger Stadium this year.

Baltimore played to a total of 220,974 fans while 163,618 paid to see the Yankees play the Tigers, and 138,110 fans attended Cleveland-Detroit games.

SLANTED MOVE—Bruce Turpin eludes a Saginaw tackler and adds a few more yards to his 22 carries last night when Pontiac Central rolled to a 41-13 victory at Wisner Stadium. Turpin and Bennie Williams pounded the Saginaw line for 200 yards between them.

Maples Triumph, 27-21

Seaholm Wins on 101 Yard Return

Birmingham Seaholm won a thriller, Ferndale had to rally, and Royal Oak Kimball won in a breeze.

That was the Southeast Michigan League story last night.

The Maples, behind 21-30 with ninety minutes left in the game, produced the most exciting play of the evening when Seaholm ace Chris Charlton took a 101 yard field kick and went 101 yards for the touchdown to win, 27-21.

Ferndale had to score 18 points in the final quarter to win 25-14 over Berkeley and Kimball rolled up a 35-0 win over Hazel Park.

It was a see-saw affair between Seaholm and Southfield. The Blue Jays made it 7-0 with Kim Fawcett taking a 16-yard pass from Ted Simmons.

Seaholm did it with Sparky Remitt making one yard, then the Maples went ahead 20-7 in the third quarter on touchdowns by Bill Holmes and Gar Thomas.

Both came on passes from Remitt.

Southfield then went ahead 21-14 in the final stanza with Simmons running 26 yards and Fawcett going 26 yards. Osterman added the points.

Huskies Down Skippers, 19-6

By FLETCHER SPEARS
A couple of ailing halfbacks limped to touchdowns last night and sparked Pontiac Northern's Huskies to a 19-6 triumph over Waterford's Skippers.

The result ended one streak and extended another and it gave the Homecoming crowd of some 3,000 little to cheer about.

The win ended Northern's three-game losing streak while the loss was the fourth straight for the Skippers, their second in Inter-Lakes League play. And the triumph enabled PNH to hang onto the Jimmy Day AMVET Trophy, awarded each year to the winner.

In another I-L game, Farmington turned back a fired-up Livonia Stevenson squad, 21-6.

Halfbacks Dana Cole and Mel Cole, who were doubtful starters for the game against the Skippers, shook off their aches and pains and scored the three touchdowns for PNH.

FIRST SCORE

Cole, one of the best hurdlers in the area, came up with the first touchdown of his career and it was a beauty.

Cole was the deep man on the opening kickoff. The ball bounced away from him on the kick and he circled back to pick it up.

He caught up with the ball at the two-yard line, cut two yards deep in the endzone, swung to the left and ramped down the sideline 18 yards for the touchdown.

The run-stunned the Skippers, but it was well short of a kayo punch.

LEAD SCORE

Cole, a 185-pound junior, who suffered a hip injury last week against Walled Lake, put PNH ahead with a two-yard dive at 1:16 of the second frame after setting up the score with a 65-yard romp off left tackle.

A mental lapse on the kickoff opening the second half put the Skippers in a hole.

PNH's kick sailed to the Skipper 46, but Waterford was slow getting to the ball and the Huskies fell on it.

PNH took advantage of the break to move the 40 yards in 11 plays with Cole bulding his way over from the one-yard line to run the score to 19-6.

Northern coach Dave Smith pulled Cole after the TD run, and a few plays later, Cole left the game after reinjuring his ankle.

TOP RUSHER

For the evening, Cole picked up 147 yards rushing in 14 attempts.

Waterford had the opportunities but couldn't cash in.

There probably will be four at the top after today's Oak Park-Livonia Franklin game. Unless they tie, the winner will gain a share of first.

With only two games remaining in league play, Thurston, Groves and North Farmington share the top spot with 21 touchdowns. Franklin and Oak Park are 1-1 while Glenn (0-3) remains winless in loop competition.

Ted Felker scooped up a blocked field goal attempt and rambled 78 yards to give Groves a 6-0 lead in the second quarter.

After Thurston went ahead on a 18-yard run by Randy Autli and Dan Harris' kick, Groves moved in front for good shortly before intermission on an eighty-yard dash by Greg Wood.

Passer Dooms Viking Eleven In Big Game

By JERE CRAIG
ANN ARBOR—Walled Lake's Vikings and Ann Arbor's Pioneers, both highly ranked, tried to beat each other into the ground with bruising defenses last night but their offenses prevailed.

Actually, one glaring offensive mistake decided the hard-fighting contest that saw both teams come from behind before the host Pioneers eagerly clutched a 27-13 win as approximately 7,000 excited fans watched.

Both teams entered the game unbeaten with the Associated Press rating Ann Arbor fourth and the Vikings fifth in the weekly Class A prep poll.

The host Pioneers quickly established their passing game against a shaky Walled Lake secondary.

Quarterback Mark Carrow passed for first downs of 12 and 40 yards (the latter on a second down and 22 situation) with the second pass play carrying to the visitors' 19.

The Pioneers ran the final yards, Bruce Sharenmet scoring from the six after four minutes of play. The drive covered 72 yards.

RETALIATES

Walled Lake came right back, going 70 yards in 11 plays and discovering lots of running room around the host team's flanks. One Maragos skirted left end for the six-points, but Steve Fogle couldn't match the conversion kick of Ann Arbor's Jim Weid and the Vikings trailed, 7-6.

An exchange of pass interceptions followed an Ann Arbor punt with Dave Baker's Vikings the ball on their own 22 early in the second quarter.

Again going outside on well-executed pichouts and option plays, Walled Lake went 78 yards in 10 plays. A key first down on a roughing-the-punter penalty kept the march going, and Russ Herron raced the final 10 yards with a quick pitch-out.

Fogle's placement made it 15-7 with 6:13 remaining in the first half.

PROSPECT

Ann Arbor wasted little time coming back. Carrow — whose accurate aerials, expert faking and artful dodging harassed the defense and made him a solid All-State prospect — hit big end Tom Wood with 21- and 17-yard first down losses.

With the pignus now on the Vikings' 10, Ann Arbor ran the two plays. From the five, Carrow once dropped back and again found Wood, this time at the goal line. Weid booted the PAT and the Pioneers led, 14-13, with 1:46 left in the half.

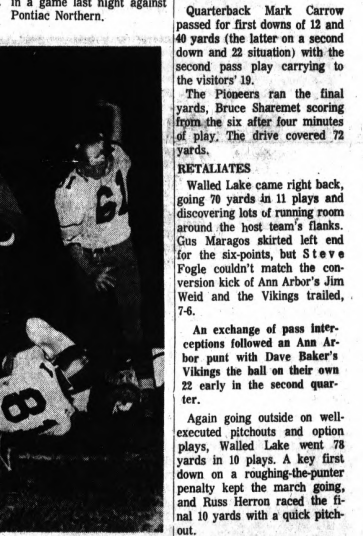

The second half still found both offenses able to move in the third period, although the Pioneers had adjusted to restrict Walled Lake's gains around their right flank.

But Carrow still had his command on target. Each team yielded yardage on defense the first time until backed against the end zone, then stopped the attackers.

IT GOT AWAY — The ball slips out of the grasp of Waterford's Paul Thomas who was trying to haul in a pass from teammate Brad Potter in a game last night against Pontiac Northern.

SPEEDY HUSKIE—Pontiac Northern's Mel Cole has just crossed the 20-yard line en route to a 98-yard kickoff return for a touchdown against Waterford last night. Piled up inside the 20 are Waterford's Steve Romeo (81) and Tom Flood (61). Cole's romp sparked PNH to a 19-6 victory.

Race Still Doubtful

It's anybody's race in the Northwest Suburban League.

Birmingham Groves pulled a slight surprise last night in trimming Detroit Thurston, 19-7, and that result, coupled with North Farmington's 23-14 win over John Glenn, created a three-way tie for the league lead.

There probably will be four at the top after today's Oak Park-Livonia Franklin game. Unless they tie, the winner will gain a share of first.

With only two games remaining in league play, Thurston, Groves and North Farmington share the top spot with 21 touchdowns. Franklin and Oak Park are 1-1 while Glenn (0-3) remains winless in loop competition.

Ted Felker scooped up a blocked field goal attempt and rambled 78 yards to give Groves a 6-0 lead in the second quarter.

After Thurston went ahead on a 18-yard run by Randy Autli and Dan Harris' kick, Groves moved in front for good shortly before intermission on an eighty-yard dash by Greg Wood.

Barons Defeat Clarenceville at Idle Speed

Drop Trojans, 25-7, But Fail to Impress Coach Tunnicliff

Bloomfield Hills, Wayne-Oakland League football machine again was lacking one cylinder Friday afternoon but the knocks were few despite some diminished horsepower.

The Barons, playing in spurts and missing a regular for the third straight week, made Li-von Clarenceville their fifth straight victory, 25-7, to remain atop the W-O race.

The victory margin was the lowest of the season and coach Bill Tunnicliff reflected dissatisfaction with the Hill's effort.

"They were flat out there. You could even tell it before the game. That score could have been over 40."

Regular fullback — linebacker Randy DeArment didn't dress for the game. He had produced six touchdowns during the campaign, plus provided strong defensive play.

But his offensive replacement Steve Palalan, again, gave a strong performance — scoring twice and gaining 100 yards on 20 carries.

TWO SCORES

Flashy halfback Dick Krantz posted the other two Baron six-pointers, both on well executed trap plays off right tackle.

Clarenceville's improved Trojans had an early advantage, driving into Bloomfield Hills' territory the first two times they had the football.

But each time the Barons exerted themselves at the right moment to make the big play and establish control of the contest.

The first time came after Cville ended its run on fourth down at the Barons' 31-yard line. The kick was downed on the Hill's one, but Palalan promptly ran it out to the 18 on the first scrimmage play.

After the home team was forced to punt the Trojans pushed to Hill's 24 only to have Kim Kezlarian, 5-8 defensive halfback, pick off an errant aerial at the 14 and scamper 64 yards to the visitors' 22.

It took two plays to register the opening touchdown. Palalan guided the ball to the 16, then Krantz broke through a line left untouched for the touchdown.

The next time they had the ball, the Barons drove 33 yards in seven plays, plus a 15-yard penalty, with Palalan covering the final three.

THIRD TD

Krantz, who gained 73 yards in 16 rushes, went 20 yards to score the next time Hills had possession. The series began after the host stopped Clarenceville on the Barons' 42. It took eight plays and a 15-yard penalty.

The game's most exciting play and the only Clarenceville touchdown came in the third period when Mike Nye took a punt at his 24, swung to the left and broke down the sideline, for a 75-yard touchdown that saw few Barons near the ball carrier.

SCORES TWICE — Pontiac Northern's Dan Cohn, playing despite a hip injury, scored twice last night as PNH trimmed Waterford, 19-6.

The big halfback picked up 147 yards rushing. He kicked up 18 on this play in the first half.

Sophs Provide Spark in Thumb Victories

Sophomores provided the spark last night as Almont and Anchor Bay chalked up impressive victories in Southern Thumb League action.

Almont turned back Brown City, 22-7, Anchor Bay blanked Dryden, 38-0, and Memphis knocked off Capac, 20-6, in the other game. New Haven plays at Armada this afternoon.

John Bacholczyk, a sophomore who earned the quarterback job at Almont last week when the starter was hurt, showed a lot of poise last week in Almont's 22-7 win over Memphis, and he showed last night that he wasn't a flash in the pan.

The young signal-caller connected on 8 of 11 passes for 196 yards and three touchdowns, giving him five TD passes in two outings.

Brown City struck first last night as Bob Quirk took the opening kickoff and returned it.

Will Martin raced 17 yards after picking up a blocked punt, Mike Smith went over on a 27-yard dash and Mike Goyneau nailed on the other Anchor Bay scores.

The victories gave Anchor Bay and Almont 3-1 records in league play. They would move into a tie for first in New Haven beats Armada (3-0) today.

Black Hawks Defeat Byron, 13-0

Sharp defensive play carried Ortonville's Black Hawks to a 13-0 triumph over Byron last night.

The triumph was the second against three losers for the Black Hawks, marking the first time in four years the team won two games in a season.

The Black Hawks came up with their first score in the second period when Ray Thompson fielded a Byron punt at the Byron 43-yard line and romped in for six points. Gary McDowell ran the defensive back Rick Wray picked off a Byron pass in the fourth and returned it 21 yards for the other score.

The losers gained an edge in the statistical department, but the Black Hawks came up with points in all seven quarters, and added another in the fourth.

The Oaks hit the scoreboard with 48 seconds left in the half when Al Shepherd hauled in a 30-yard pass from quarterback Dave Charlton and raced to the endzone to complete a 70-yard play.

Another Charlton pass set up the second TD. Charlton pitched a 33-yarder to Rod Rider that carried for a first down on Fordson's 21-yard strike, and on the next play, Norm Thompson raced up the middle for the six points. Fred Heidegger kicked the point.

Clarkston 7-0 Winner

Milford and West Bloomfield posted easy triumphs in Wayne-Oakland League action last night, while Clarkston turned back Northville in a mid upset.

Milford's Redskins romped to a 34-0 verdict over Brighton, West Bloomfield ripped Holly, 40-6, and Clarkston came up with a touchdown in the fourth quarter to pin a 7-0 loss on Northville.

The victory for West Bloomfield gave the Lakers a 2-1 mark in league competition and possession of second place, a game back of Bloomfield Hills.

The Lakers had little trouble with Holly. They opened up a 26-0 lead at halftime and coasted the rest of the way.

Paul Pepple tallied on a 28-yard scamper, Mike Williams hauled in a four-yard TD pass and Pat Windy hit paydirt on the Clarkston 30.

Clarkston, a one-touchdown underdog, e-v-e-n-e-d its league mark at 2-2 by nipping Northville (2-2).

The only score of the game came on a 45-yard punt return by Mark Erickson with eight minutes left in the game. Rich Johnson kicked the point.

Captains Trip Oxford, 13-7, in Last Minute

Kettering Ties for 1st Place in Tri-County

Controversial Finish
Marks Game; Romeo
Downs Lapeer

By DON VOGEL
A 15-yard pass from quarterback Dick Miceli to end Joe Raczynski with 1:36 to play gave Waterford Kettering a 13-7 victory over Oxford last night and a tie for first place in the Tri-County League football race. Most of the action was packed into the final three-and-a-half minutes as the Captains marched 89 yards for their winning score and Oxford had a tying touchdown called back by a controversial ruling.

With 40 seconds remaining, quarterback Brian Edgett fired a pass to halfback Mickey Cummings who had stationed himself next to the sideline before the snap and then raced downfield.

The play covered 61 yards and the referee signalled a touchdown. The Oxford homecoming crowd went wild as Coach Miller received the kicking tee for the all important extra point and Coach Jim Larkin of Kettering rushed onto the field to charge Cummings was an illegal "sleeper."

Meanwhile, the head linesman finally got the referee's attention so he could inform him that he had thrown a flag at the start of the play charging a "sleeper" violation.

The TD was nullified, and the penalties against Oxford and Larkin (for rushing onto the field) cancelled each other. Kettering held on to make it's league record 2-0 and it's overall mark 4-1.

"A tie is tied with Kettering, Oxford dropped to third, with a 1-1 league record. The Wildcats are 3-2 for the season. Romeo scored twice in the fourth quarter, first to lead Lapeer, 13-6, for its first league win against two losses.

"What can I tell the boys?" asked Oxford coach Jerry Neidlinger after the game. "To have something like this happen after the way they played just isn't right."

DIFFERENT VIEW

Neidlinger said that Cummings was a legal receiver because he "left the huddle with the other players" and went toward the sideline as a flanker.

Kettering kept Oxford pressed in its own end during the first half, but couldn't score. Three straight dropped Miceli passes by receivers in the open didn't help.

The Captains reached the nine early in the second quarter for their deepest penetration. Miceli's 25-yard field goal try sailed wide.

Oxford fumbled midway in the third period and Kettering took over on the Wildcats 24. After throwing the Captains back to the 29, the Wildcats were penalized 15 yards for roughing. Two plays later Jerry Harkey sped around right end from the 12 for the touchdown.

Scout passed to Vince Griffin for the conversion after his PAT kick was nullified by a penalty.

Oxford wasted no time deadlocking the game. On the second play after the kickoff, Gary Cummings broke loose over right tackle and sped 70 yards. Roger Miller kicked the extra point.

The Wildcats kept the pressure on in the fourth quarter and twice moved inside the Kettering 28 before losing the ball on downs.

After the last Oxford bid, Miceli started the Captains moving to their winning TD. Passing against the wind, he hit Gene Brunner with a 25-yarder and Mike Lynn with a 22-yarder. Then he connected with Raczynski.

TALL TALK — Lew Alcindor, 7-foot, 194-inch basketball star who was shielded from newsmen's questions throughout his high school and freshman college years, is introduced to the press at UCLA yesterday by head coach Johnny Wooden. Alcindor, who is expected to lead the Bruins to the national championship, said he weighs 230 and hopes to add another 15 pounds. He has been working with weights. Wooden, a former All-America at Purdue, stands 5-9.

Golf's Biggest Names Ready to Loot Tourney

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Bill Casper and a couple of other golfers, namely Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, were ready to close in and loot the rich Las Vegas Invitational Golf Tournament treasury of $20,000 today.

This was the top money in the $100,000 purse as the event moved into the final round of Nevada fall golf attraction.

There were several obstacles to be overcome.

One was each other. Another was Miller Barber, who led by one stroke after three rounds.

Barber is a 35-year-old professional who had won but one tournament, the Cajun Open in Louisiana two years ago, during his six years on the PGA circuit.

SEVEN UNDER Barber went into the final round with a 54-hole score of 215. This includes a seven-under par 64 Friday on a day that was ideal—in contrast to Thursday's horrendous Big Wind which sent scores soaring into the 70s, 80s and 90s.

Casper, with a 65, and Nicklaus, with a 68, moved just a stroke back of the affable Miller, and Palmer's 67 put him at 218.

Bob McCallister, 71 for 216, and George Archer, 70 for 218, were in contention. But the big boys hogged the scene.

"I'd like to be leading but it really doesn't make any difference," said Casper, who led from start to finish last year and lost by one stroke the year before.

'End Run' Ups Merger Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed merger of the American and National Football Leagues, seemingly stopped at the 50-yard line, moved to within inches of the goal line today on an end run by a wily legislative veteran, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Dirksen attached an amendment to legalize the merger onto a much-amended bill to suspend the 7 per cent investment credit tax, which the Senate passed by voice vote Friday.

The bill, a "must" on President Johnson's program, now goes back to the House but not to the Judiciary Committee headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., who has held up approval of similar Senate legislation exempting the proposed merger from antitrust laws.

Chances are bright for the football rider amendment because the legislation will go to a conference committee, probably on Monday, with the House conferees coming from the Ways and Means committee.

POPULAR ISSUE

A high-ranking member of Ways and Means is Rep. Hale

Boggs, D-La., the acting House majority leader. Boggs is in a stiff re-election campaign and the football merger is a popular issue in his home city of New Orleans, which hopes for a franchise in the combined league.

Dirksen's tactics Friday will enable the bill to bypass Celler's committee. Acceptance by the House and Senate of the report on the compromise bill is all that is needed for passage.

The bill that would give limited antitrust exemption for the merger and result in a championship game between the National and American leagues next January appeared doomed Thursday.

Cellar had said action on the measure this session was unlikely because Congress hopes to adjourn Oct. 22. Several witnesses still were to be heard by his committee.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle has said he would recommend that the merger be congressional approval.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., floor manager for the tax bill, agreed to accept Dirksen's amendment before the Senate acted.

"Maybe we can get one of those teams for New Orleans," he said.

Rozelle was not available for comment immediately.

But Milt Woodard, AFL commissioner said, "We of the AFL feel that this expansion is very essential to the progress of professional football."

He added "in order to fulfill our program of presenting the super game, as we call it, it was necessary to have some sort of legislative action this term of Congress."

Bolling says he has told Braves President John McHale who discussed a fulltime coaching job with him that "I haven't proved to myself that I'm through as a player."

"Right now I just hope that somebody will give me a chance, some other club I mean," Bolling said. "If they don't, well then, I'll know that the handwriting is on the wall. But it's not there now."

Bolling, who has been with the Braves for the past six seasons, hit 211 in the 1966 season. He has spent 13 years in the major leagues, with the Braves and Detroit Tigers of the American League.

Manpower-Shy Gridders Help Put Ugly on Map

By the Associated Press
People once asked "Where's Ugly?"

Part of the answer was supplied Friday night as the Ugly High Bears annihilated Owendale-Gagetown 88-0 in the most one-sided game in Michigan high school football this year.

"I have only 23 players," said coach Gerald Herp. "I tried to keep the score down by using four different boys at quarterback and five players at halfback. I couldn't do anything about it."

Jim Hund scored four touchdowns, and Ken Micklash and John Zinger two each.

Ugly, ranked fifth in the Associated Press Class C-D poll, led 34-0 at the end of the first quarter while on its way to its 14th straight victory, five this year. Owen-Gage now stands 1-4.

Incidentally, Ugly's in the Michigan thumb area, Huron County.

Buchanan, No. 1 in Class B, nipped River Valley 7-0, and Middleville, top-rated Class C-D team, beat Wayland 32-6.

In other Class B action, second-ranked Dundee was held to a 6-6 tie by Saline. The same two teams played a 6-6 tie last year, the only blemishes in a 32-game unbeaten string for Dundee.

Third-ranked Willow Run knocked off River Rouge 33-14, and Vicksburg upset South Haven, No. 4, 6-0. Ken For was the hero, scoring Vicksburg's lone TD on a quarterback sneak, and then running out of the end zone late in the game to give Vicksburg a safety after Vicksburg halted a long South Haven drive at the three.

Bolling Gets Release, But Wants to Play

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Veteran second baseman Frank Bolling who received his unconditional release from the Atlanta Braves says he is not interested in coaching because "I feel I am definitely not through as a player."

St. Louis-Dallas Contest Takes NFL Spotlight

Bills, Houston 'Must' Triumph

By the Associated Press
Sam DeLuca could breathe a bit easier today, but not his New York Jets teammates, who can put an almost indelible stamp on the Eastern Division title of the American Football League Sunday if they can get by Houston.

A victory by the Jets, the AFL's only unbeaten team at 4-0-1, would all but eliminate the Oilers, who already have lost three times. And should San Diego top three-beaten Buffalo, Sunday the Bills' chances of defending their league title would appear slim indeed.

In the other two AFL games Sunday, Kansas City will try to protect its Western Division first place deadlock with the Chargers when it hosts Oakland and Denver plays at Miami in a struggle between the two last place teams.

DeLuca, an offensive guard, received plenty of praise for the job he did keeping huge defensive tackle Ladd away from New York quarterback Joe Namath in the Jets 52-13 romp over the Oilers last month.

AFTER REVENGE
But the revenge-minded Oilers will try to keep their foot in the door with Ladd starting the afternoon on the bench. Houston coach Walby Lemm has benched Ladd for Scott Appleton, former Texas star and bonus player, after indicating he was not pleased with Ladd's play in recent games.

The tone of the Buffalo-San Diego battle, usually a preview of the AFL championship game, has changed into a battle of survival. A loss for the Bills, seeking to revenge a 27-7 lacing by the Chargers in their opener, would saddle them with four defeats, and a defeat for the Chargers could shove them into the unusual position of runner-up in the West.

Coach Sid Gillman of San Diego is not pleased with his club's play, particularly in last week's 17-16 loss to New York.

"The blocking is not what it should be, the backs are not running quite as hard as they used to, and the defenses are tougher," Gillman says. In an attempt to set things right, Gillman has returned backs Keith Lincoln, Paul Lowe and John Hadl to the starting line-up and replaced tight end Don Norton with Gary Garrison and split-end Jacques MacKinnon with Willie Frazier.

Kansas City, 4-1 like San Diego, is expected to have an easier time protecting its share of the lead against the Raiders, 2-3. The Chiefs will throw backs Mike Garrett and Bert Coan at Oakland along with Len Dawson, the League's leading passer.

Miami tries again for its first victory against the Broncos.

Lions Receive Work Permit for Ypreman

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions received permission from the government Friday and placed a slim Cypriot on their National Football League roster as a possible field-goal kicker. Garo Ypreman, a 22-year-old from Cyprus via London, has been working out with the Lions this week. He impressed coaches with his left-footed, soccer-style boots and was signed to a contract.

Friday the British subject received a federal work permit, and will suit up for the game against the Colts in Baltimore Sunday.

Whether Ypreman will replace Wayne Walker kicking field goals and extra points will be decided just before game time, Lion Coach Harry Gilmer said Friday. Gilmer said he will decide Saturday which player to drop to make room for Ypreman.

Pivotal Test in East Loop

Chicago Bears Host Packers Sunday

By the Associated Press
The St. Louis Cardinals, who insist they're a 60-minute club but keep doing the job in half an hour, should have little time to spare when they tackle super-charged Dallas Sunday in a National Football League showdown.

A capacity crowd of 50,000—largest ever for a pro football game in St. Louis—is expected to watch the Cardinals and Cowboys, only unbeaten NFL teams, meet in a pivotal Eastern Conference test.

St. Louis leads the East with a 5-0 record, with Dallas one-half game back at 4-0. But, while the Cardinals have come from behind four times in the second half, the Cowboys, led by quarterback Don Meredith, have breezed along, rolling up an average of just under 46 points per game.

60-MINUTE MEN
"We're a 60-minute ball club," Larry Wilson, the Cardinals' aggressive defensive back, said before last Sunday's game against New York. Then the Cardinals, behind 13-0 at halftime, staged a furious second half rally for a 24-19 nod over the winless Giants. St. Louis has outscored its opponents 101-16 after intermission.

"Things happen to us in the first half, but we keep coming," said Charlie Winner, St. Louis' first-year coach. "We will have to be consistent to beat the Cowboys. They're the finest football team I've seen in a long time."

Meredith leads the NFL in passing, has thrown for 14 touchdowns and has not been intercepted in his last 12 games. Bob Hayes, his swiftest receiver, has caught seven touchdowns passes, and halfback Dan Reeves is the league's top scorer with eight TDs—five via passes.

Sunday's key game in the Western Conference pits defending champion Green Bay, upset by San Francisco last weekend, against the resurgent Chicago Bears at Chicago. The Packers share the Western lead with the Los Angeles Rams at 4-1. Chicago dropped its first two starts but has rebounded with victories over Minnesota and Baltimore.

ELSEWHERE
Elsewhere, the Rams invade Minnesota, 0-3-1; the Colts, 2-2, entertain Detroit, 2-3; San Francisco, 1-3-1, is at Atlanta, 0-5; Philadelphia, 2-3, at Pittsburgh; 1-3-1, and Washington, 3-2, at New York, 0-4-1.

Detroit may unveil a new kicking specialist, 22-year-old Cypriot Garo Ypreman, against the Colts and Johnny Unitas. Ypreman, a British subject visiting the United States, impressed Lion coaches with his left-footed, soccer-style kicks in tryouts this week and was added to the roster.

U.S. Swimming Coach Has Record Doubts

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The man who coached America's triumphant swimming forces at Tokyo in 1964 says you might as well leave your stop watches and record books at home in the 1968 Olympic Games here.

"I will be the most surprised man in the world if there is a record broken in any event over 100 meters," said Dr. James Counsilman of Indiana University. "Any time a swimmer has more than a minute he begins to tire and his performance falls off."

"A world record at this altitude would mean a phenomenal performance at sea level," said Counsilman's protégé, Charles Hickox of Phoenix, Ariz., is threatening to become the individual standout of the Little Olympics swimming competition. He already has won two gold medals in the 100-meter freestyle and 200-meter medley—and two silvers—second in the 100-meter butterfly and a member of the men's 400-meter relay team.

He went after another batch today. Other gold medals in swimming Friday went to Sue Gosick of Tarzana, Calif., women's springboard diving; Michio

Seeking Bout With Cassius

SAN JUAN (UPI)—Ambitious Jose Torres, who someday would like a shot at Cassius Clay, takes another step toward that goal tonight when he makes the third defense of his light heavyweight title in a fight against Scotland's Chic Calderwood.

The 15-round bout, expected to draw the largest gate ever for a fight in Puerto Rico, is not expected to go the distance.

Torres is favored to knock out Calderwood although he barely was able to outpoint aging Eddie Cotton in a disputed decision at Las Vegas on Aug. 15.

Torres, who eventually hopes to move up into the heavyweight ranks and take on Clay, plans to make a much more impressive showing than he did in his last title defense against Cotton.

Bright Red Carriage Doors Bid Welcome At The Keith Jenkins' Home On Harrow Circle

Oil Painting Of Monk Introduces Shades Of Blue In Black And White Dining Room

A Lovely Colonial Rises From Ashes

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

"The beauty of the site," said Mrs. Keith Jenkins of 205 Harrow Circle, Bloomfield Township, "gave us the courage to rebuild."

The Jenkins purchased the fire-ravaged home of the Charles O'Briens.

With the help of their builder, William J. Holmes of Birmingham, they reclaimed the ruins. In place of the charred and weathered skeleton now stands a graceful colonial.

The home's white brick exterior with black shutters and bright red carriage doors give a hint to the decorator's delight that awaits within.

The black slate of the entrance foyer continues through the formal dining room. The stairs leading to the bedroom level are black-banded white ceramic tiles.

Traditional and French accents highlight the clean-cut contemporary theme throughout the house.

In the dining room, a white area rug adds drama to the setting as it centers the black slate and repeats the white of the room's brick wall.

Blue tones are introduced in Charles Kohl's painting of a monk. Hitchcock chairs in black and white serve the formal dining table.

A shimmering bouquet of honesty in crystal is flanked by tall black candlesticks with white candles.

White again sets the monochromatic background of the nearby sunken living room. Bookshelves on either side of the black marble fireplace house mementoes from around the world.

"I suppose," said Mrs. Jenkins, "you might call it our United Nations wall."

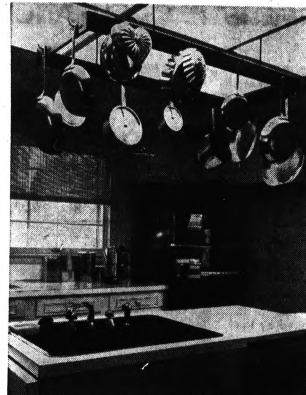

The kitchen-family room, a comfort center at the back of the house overlooking the patio and garden, features black and white plaid in the fabric covering the sectional sofas and on the floor of the work area.

The bright red of the chair and ottoman before the raised hearth and on the sectionals' throw pillows add color spice.

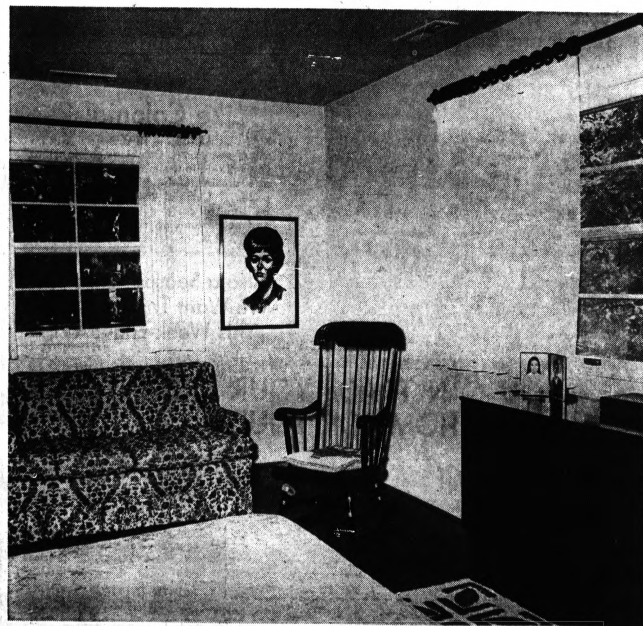

Above the white cabinetry of the kitchen's island sink hang Mrs. Jenkins' collection of French copper cooking utensils.

"They aren't just for looks," said Mrs. Jenkins, a gourmet cook. "I use them at every meal."

The room's refrigerator, stove and dishwasher are in black. Walls, cabinets and counter tops are in glistening white.

Winterize Outdoor Swimming Pool

To many pool owners winterizing their swimming pools has assumed new meaning in recent years.

With water shortages making major news in many locations, and with the increasing cost of water in other, fewer and fewer pool owners can afford to pull the plug and drain their swimming pools.

Reuse of pool water year after year poses no problems. Based on experience with water filtration and purification, a filter company has found that the efficient water filtration systems normally installed with swimming pools, plus use of water purification chemicals, produce water that is purer and cleaner than when it first goes into the pool.

It is interesting to note that distalite pool filtration systems, the type most commonly installed today, are used by many municipalities to purify their drinking water, and by the U.S. Army to purify and remove microorganisms from military water sources in combat areas.

In addition to the advantages in conserving water and the savings in not having to either purchase or pump it out of a private well, retaining water in a pool year-round provides a prime source of water for fighting fires in outlying areas. Some insurance companies recognize this safety factor with lowered insurance premiums.

NOT HARMED

Most types of pool wall are not harmed by freezing of pool water. Fiberglass and plastics are generally flexible enough to allow for the expansion of the water as it freezes.

If a rigid-walled pool such as concrete is to be left filled over the winter and freezing is expected, bulging and cracking of the walls can be prevented by putting several logs, large framed plastic floats, or similar compressible materials to take up the level blow the overflow gutter these devices and prevent freezing.

As an essential part of the winterizing process, pipes and force exerted by the water as it expands upon freezing.

For safety's sake — and to minimize the debris that will find its way into the water — pools should be covered with canvas or plastic strong enough to support the weight of a person who might fall or step onto it.

This cover should remain in place all the time of the pool is not used for skating.

If the pool doubles as a winter skating rink, be sure the cover is in place during warm spells or whenever safe ice is not formed in order to prevent accidents.

All supply valves should be shut off and pipes and equipment completely drained. The pool should be drained just enough so as to lower the water valves should be carefully checked for damage or leakage that needs repairing.

Moving parts should be oiled and all exposed metal given a light coat of grease or oil to protect it from rust or corrosion.

Special attention should be given to the cleaning of filter equipment. Accumulations left to dry and harden during the winter months are hard to remove.

Further filters provide fertile breeding grounds for algae and bacteria if left uncleaned and undrained for any length of time without the equipment in operation.

Diastomate filters, the type used in most modern pools, are cleaned either by shaking or spraying filter elements. Most filter manufacturers give specific cleaning instructions which should be carefully followed.

Sand filters, the other major filter type, must also be carefully cleaned. The filtering medium in a sand and gravel filter should be discarded and the filter thoroughly washed and sterilized if the sand has become caked and lumpy. All filters should be drained completely and allowed to dry before being closed up.

As with other components, moving parts should be oiled and exposed metal given a light coat of oil or grease as a preservative, being careful not to drip oil into water-handling portions.

Main switched to electricaly powered equipment should be turned off and fuses removed to prevent accidental starting or storm damage.

It is also wise to remove bulbs and glass components from any fixtures which might attract the attention of small children, unless evening skating parties are contemplated.

Poolside furniture should be stored indoors — disassembled, if necessary — with repairs scheduled as a winter activity. Unless you want to go off the deep end in replacement costs, better remove diving boards and place them under cover.

Only one step remains: lock the gate (you should fence the pool for maximum safety) until the first ice skating session — or warm weather signals the need for spring maintenance.

Kitchen Sink Modernization

Looking for ways to increase the efficiency of your kitchen sink? Here are five suggestions for your check list.

- Replace your old sink with a two or three-bowl type to multiply its simultaneous uses.
- Have a single handle faucet installed. It will respond to fingertip control. In fact, you can turn it on or off with an elbow when your hands are full.
- Make sure your faucet has an aerator. It will create millions of bubbles in the water that will cause soap to suds up faster and easier. You'll save on water too.
- Get a spray attachment. One with a flexible stainless steel hose was put on the market recently.
- Replace your old drain plug with a "remote control" stopper. All filters should be drained completely and allowed to dry before being closed up.

CHEERY ONE-STORY: Coziness is the principal exterior visual attribute of this pleasant three-bedroom house, but the architect has emphasized open planning on the inside, with a large "farm kitchen" and a long, combined living room arrangement.

Farm Kitchen Adds to Living Comfort

Nothing gave the old New England farmhouse more of an atmosphere of warmth and hospitality than its "Farm Kitchen," large and rustic and comfortable.

Architect Herman H. York has succeeded in placing such a kitchen in a three-bedroom, modest-sized house rather a rambling structure.

True, the kitchen has modern touches, but its exposed beams and general character, including an area large enough for a full-size table, place it firmly into the farm kitchen category.

The kitchen has always been the control center for most family activities.

In this layout, it is especially so.

Note how there is direct access from the kitchen to the front foyer — to the laundry — to the back yard — to the basement — to the living room — to the dining room — and to the bedroom wing.

CONTROL CENTER

In short, when the homemaker is in the kitchen, she can exercise supervision over the entire house. And since the kitchen is 19' long, she can perform her chores without feeling hemmed in.

The dining room and living room flow into each other to create the feeling of spaciousness which so many families prize.

There is an unbroken expanse of 28', permitting easy entertaining of a large number of guests at the same time.

In addition, sliding glass doors leading from the living room to the rear terrace enhance the open effect.

Those families who want a clear definition between the rooms without destroying the vista can use a low, open and not-too-long divider.

G-58 STATISTICS

Design G-58 has a living room, dining room, farm kitchen, laundry room, three bedrooms, two baths, one-car garage, covered front portico, rear terrace, foyer and a generous amount of closets. Habitable area totals 1420 square feet, not including the garage and laundry room. Over-all dimensions are 59' by 35' 4".

A fireplace at the end of the living room provides a desirable note of coziness.

An optional door location is shown in bedroom No. 3. This door would lead from that bedroom to the foyer should the room be used, instead, as a study or den.

A retirement couple conceivably might use such an arrangement, placing a studio couch in the den so that it could be turned into sleeping quarters for a guest.

MAIN BEDROOM

The main bedroom has three separate closets and a sizable private bath with a stall shower.

The other bath is of equal size and has a tub. Bedroom No. 2 has a very large closet and cross-ventilation.

There is a full basement under all of the house except the garage and laundry.

On a plot which slopes down from the road, such a basement can be given extra daylight with large glass areas at the rear and a terrace at the lower level.

A playground and extra bedrooms can be located here.

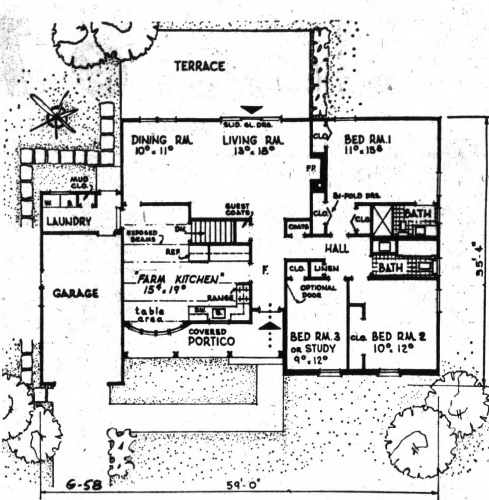

The exterior has been carefully proportioned to scale with the various elements in keeping with the over-all picture.

An example of this is the slenderness of the posts supporting the covered portico, in keeping with the details of a moderate-sized house.

A light-colored ceiling on this portico helps to keep the kitchen gay and cheerful, since the bay window of that room extends into the porch area.

Brick is used for the entire front bedroom wall, harmonizing nicely with the vertical siding in the portico and the wood shingles on the rest of the house.

A nice mixture of the old and the new.

FLOOR PLAN

FLOOR PLANS: Well-defined areas have been skillfully created by the architect, even though the habitable portion of the house totals only 1420 square feet; focal point is the large kitchen at the front; formal living is at the rear; the bedroom wing is at the right.

Hangers Stop Slippery Silk

Hangers designed to keep the heaviest to the silkiest of materials in place come in sets of three.

The hangers are made of styrene which gives them unbreakable structure.

Grated serrated edges keep garments securely in place without wrinkling or stretching out of shape.

Channel siding for house exteriors is sometimes known as board-and-gap or as board-and-reverse-batten.

Spray Paint Book Covers

Here's a handy tip for book owners: To eliminate the need for keeping ragged paper jackets on your books, spray the book cover with a coat of clear enamel.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association suggests that you practice on an old book until you get the hang of it.

Stand the book on end with the covers parallel and protect the pages with a cloth or paper.

per. Be sure to read the instructions on the can before you begin.

Have the can in motion when you push the button, keep it in motion, and release the button before you finish the stroke. This prevents the paint from building up and running.

Several light coats are more effective than one heavy coat. Let dry approximately ten minutes. Presto — a protective transparent covering!

White Ceiling Out of Style

The days of the plain white ceiling may be numbered according to the Insulation Board Institute. There's growing interest in ceilings that are textured or with subtle pattern designs, often in colors.

The ceilings now being offered by manufacturers place stress on both texture and color.

Texture is achieved by the natural fibers of the product itself and accentuated further, on some designs, by embossing to achieve a three-dimensional effect.

Color now being used for insulation board ceilings is largely pastel — blues, greens and beiges, which harmonize well with wall colors and overall interiors.

Insulation board ceilings are manufactured in the popular 12"x12" or 12"x24" tile or in 2'x2' and 2'x4' lay-in panels for suspended ceilings.

In addition to patterns, colors and textures, insulation board ceilings are also available as acoustical products to reduce irritating noise within the room.

The finest western lumber paneling is washable when finished with a clear plastic varnish.

Old Way Is Still Best in Home Building

Houses still are being built the same way as they were a hundred years ago. Why?

A recent housing technology issue of "House & Home" magazine, read widely by home builders and building products people, posed this question.

Its answer is of equal interest to home owners and home buyers.

"We're still building houses in the same old way," says House & Home, "because under today's conditions, there's no better way."

The wealth of new materials and wealth of engineering talent now working to create new building systems have not yet drastically changed home building, the magazine added.

GOOD SYSTEM
"It's time for the engineers and theorists to wake up to what builders have known all along: the time-honored system of a wood frame faced with skins and sitting on a masonry foundation is a very good system indeed."

"This is not to say that the old way can't be improved," the editors opined, "but home builders aren't sticking to the old ways out of sheer obstinacy. They're doing it because the old way offers advantages that no new system has yet come close to equalling."

"The old way of building is still the cheapest way of building. Analyzing the operations of two representative home builders, the magazine showed that exterior wall costs, from inside finish to outside finish, ranged from 40 cents to 80 cents a square foot in a wood frame system. Partition costs varied from 40 cents to 50 cents a square foot.

HARD TO BEAT
"These are hard figures to beat," the magazine stated.

"The old way of building is still the easiest and most flexible way," the magazine continued.

"The basic reason is that the traditional building material—wood—is an extraordinarily versatile material."

"Shaped to standard dimensions in the mill, it can be cut almost as quickly and accurately by a man in the field as by a piece of heavy machinery in a factory."

SIMPLEST METHOD
"It can be fastened by the simplest method ever devised—nailing. It is cheap, relatively light, easy to finish, and if properly cared for, good for several lifetimes."

"These properties give the conventional building system an all-important asset: flexibility. There is virtually no limit to the variety of design that can be easily created with wood framing and skins."

"Last-minute buyer changes, such as resized windows or shifted partitions, can be made on the job without extensive re-engineering."

The magazine's analysis of building systems went on to point out that traditional wood framing meets the demands of most home buyers by permitting individuality in design and floor plans.

WANT INDIVIDUALITY
Buyers, it declared, "no longer want the most space for the least money, as they did 10 years ago. They want individuality—design and plans tailored to their personal wants."

"And the old way of building, with its great flexibility, is the cheapest and easiest way to provide this individuality."

Old Home Takes on New Look

A home is as old as it looks. Millions of owners of older homes are recognizing this fact as the fall modernization season approaches.

Recognizing the desires of these homeowners to give their homes a "new" look on a limited budget, check the following low-cost modernization suggestions:

• Repaint walls and ceilings with bright colors or employ striking patterned wallpaper to give life to drab rooms.

• Have rugs cleaned by a professional cleaning service.

• Add books and bookcases, bright new prints or floral arrangements to enhance wall areas.

• Rearrange furniture to focus attention on a room's most interesting feature—chairs and coffee table, the piano, a favorite arm chair, etc.

All the above can be done for a few hundred dollars and when you're finished you won't recognize the old place.

AWARD WINNER—This airy post-and-beam home, typified by its indoor-outdoor living room conversation corner, has just won the 1966 national design award from one of the nation's major professional building magazines, "Practical Builder." The home was built in Portland, Ore., by Robert Rummer in cooperation with Georgia-Pacific Corp. It uses the latest ideas in materials, including feature walls of real peccan plywood in a new "Chateau" style with wide, dark-stained grooves that give the appearance of hardwood planks. The ceiling is lumber decking.

Launch Patio Plans Now for Next Year's Pleasure

Millions of new-type homes do plan to turn your backyard into what you have always wanted it to be.

If you are among the many heads of such families who have made a solemn resolve to correct the situation by next summer, begin your planning now and have your project well under way before the snow flies.

The first step is to decide where you want your patio, and then measure off a good-size area. It should be adjacent to the house and accessible from lawn or play area.

Next, decide if you are going to cover your patio. Starting now will give you time to write to manufacturers for literature; decide on the type that suits you best, what color scheme and finish you prefer and whether or not you want screens.

Patio covers permit outdoor enjoyment in all kinds of weather, and by replacing screens with glass panels and using a portable heater, the patio can be used from early spring to late fall.

The third step is: Make a plan to turn your backyard into what you have always wanted it to be.

You don't have to be a landscape gardener to do this.

Take the measurements of your yard, draw a sketch to scale and make a rough outline of the main plantings or other features you want.

Take into account the direction of the sun, the shade from trees and buildings, the view from the patio, and so on.

At this point, take your draft to your nurseryman, who can help you decide what evergreens, flowering trees, bulbs and other plants and perennials are best suited to the realization of your ideas.

Your nurseryman will also tell you what should be planted in the fall and what can best be left till spring. When all these details are decided, then get busy with the fall planting before the ground freezes.

And in connection with planting, beware of bargains, dig your holes deep and wide, and water thoroughly and often.

You are now on your way to being a proud owner of a patio.

Wife's Salary Considered

The FHA, in deciding that the income of a working wife shall be considered in granting FHA-insured home loans, has officially recognized what working women and their husbands have long known: The working gal's paycheck does count.

Last year the nation's remodeling business hit the $13-billion mark and, says the Tile Council of America, women purchased 89 per cent of all the remodeling materials sold at retail stores.

The trade association of the nation's ceramic tile manufacturers adds that women alone own 74 per cent of all suburban homes and buy 94 per cent of all new homes. Many of the largest purchases came from working women.

Besides buying clothes and personal accessories, working women spend a large portion of their pay on their homes, says the Tile Council. Most expenditures are for things that make living easier.

These include self-cleaning ovens, remodeled bathrooms and kitchens with easy-care ceramic tile floors and walls, dishwashers, automatic clothes washers and dryers.

The type of purchases she makes indicates that working women are as determined as men always have been to make their homes beautiful, modern and comfortable.

Automation and changes in her social status have allowed the working wife to be an active contributor to purchases for the home.

The FHA's recent decision of working women's income further indicates that the working wife is here to stay. FHA found that the woman who leaves work to have a baby and then returns to her job is the rule rather than the exception.

Decorator Wants 'Esthusma'

Modern furniture is living in a house of glass. It should be living in a house by Glass, according to designer Henry Glass.

At least, says Glass, home furnishings should be designed by someone with "esthusma."

To understand the classic ideas (it's difficult not to play with words after talking to him), a word about this word.

"Esthusma" is a word Glass says he contrived to cover principles of good design. It combines the first letters of the words esthetics, use and materials.

Glass emphasizes he did not formulate it as a principle.

NOT NEW

"This is an old thing," he says. "I just kind of in desperation developed the name since all the other names implying these things have been abused by the trade and have lost their semantical meanings."

"Modern," Glass insists, "now means something mechanical — a fad."

"You must say WHAT KIND of modern you mean—Swedish, Scandinavian, Italian, so on. There are many kinds of modern."

"Contemporary. That's an other word, eh? It has been watered down in the trade so that now it comes to mean some mish-mash between something 'up-to-date and something traditional."

There is today little "modern" furniture in the best sense of the word—the traditional.

"There has always been a 'modern,'" he says. "Modern" is simply the right way of doing things.

"Modern" used to be esthusma. In my humble opinion, it had no connotation of time and age.

CHANGE

"Modern" was the human race when it came out of caves, and even before that." Do esthetic requirements change? If so, why?

"Ethetical requirements go hand-in-hand with our material response to the needs of today and the new technology we have with us."

"An example? Look at television — as an idea."

"Before the idea of television was invented no one would have known what a television set looked like—just like the horse, less carriage, eh?"

"As long as you have changing materials and changing uses for those materials you will have a changing esthetic," Glass says.

"New technological products create new needs and create new esthetic standards."

Many Solutions Available

Combat Either Too Much-Too Little Moisture

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Many houses present factors that are health hazards — dry air, moisture, mildew. Women may be more aware of these adverse conditions than men who usually aren't around the home enough to be bothered by such problems.

Hot air heating systems may irritate nasal passages and throats, dry the skin and even dry out the furniture.

As a matter of fact the first indication of the overly hot house may come from observing that furniture is giving away at the seams.

"If that is happening to the furniture, what is happening to me?" may be the logical question put by the woman of the house.

One way to ease the situation is a little gizmo that may be attached to the furnace to provide humidity.

WATER

Or water placed on floor registers (or in walls below registers that are just below) will provide enough moisture so that the change is noticeable almost at once.

Humidifiers are available for those who'd rather not go to all that trouble.

Another problem, mildew, originates in certain paints used on walls in very hot climates. But this situation arises in beach houses that are closed up in the cold weather.

Some people are allergic to mildew, and once the allergy came is established it is necessary to scrub all the mildew from walls and remove the old paint so the place may be made healthfully comfortable again.

Usually a solution of fungicides is mixed with the paint before it is applied to walls. But some people suffer from contact with fungicides.

There are other means of ridding a house of mildew, and it is always a good idea to check methods with local paint shops who understand local problems.

"Modern" was the human race when it came out of caves, and even before that." Do esthetic requirements change? If so, why?

"Ethetical requirements go hand-in-hand with our material response to the needs of today and the new technology we have with us."

"New technological products create new needs and create new esthetic standards."

Another discomfort to be that is nestled into the bottom of a hill is likely to have a damp basement except when there is a great dry spell.

POOR DRAINAGE

A home that is on a site that has poor drainage or a house

Dampness seems to seep into bones and lots of aches and pains are attributed to it. There are many ways of coping with it, and the costliest methods are said to be worth it, for the ultimate feeling of well-being. But ridding a basement of dampness need not be an expensive project.

The cost depends on many factors — labor and the materials used. It can be a do-it-yourself project, providing one is expert enough to judge the problem.

DRAIN TILES

An effective treatment is to install drain tiles around the basement foundation.

These concrete, clay or fiber drains are selected on the basis of cost since they are all considered good and durable.

And when these tiles are used on the outside the basement exterior is painted also with a cement mixture that acts as a sealer.

New Paste Cleaner Works on Tile-Grout

A new ceramic tile cleaner that comes in paste form, can be used without waste or spilling, and won't discolor porcelain enamel, has been introduced.

The new cleaner is a long-awaited answer for homemakers who love the beauty and durability of ceramic tile, but who don't like the job of keeping the tiles clean and the grout white.

Institutions such as hotels, motels, hospitals, and restaurants which have great expanses of ceramic tiled surfaces for sanitary reasons will also find the new cleaner ideal for housekeeping purposes.

Ceramic tile is widely used on bathroom and shower walls, on floors in bathrooms and kitchens, on kitchen counters and back-splashes, and for swimming pools.

Since these tiles are exposed to water, soap, and liquids of various kinds, they tend to accumulate a hard-to-remove film. Particularly bothersome is white grout or cement between the tiles, which may become darkened with mildew and mold.

FILM DEPOSIT

Routine scrubbing with scouring powders and detergents may be satisfactory for a while. But even these cleaners may leave a discolored film of their own.

The new cleaner removes the film and grout discoloration in one operation. The cleaner paste is applied with a handy sponge that comes with each jar, allowed to remain for several minutes, and then rinsed off. No rubbing is needed.

Being in paste form, the cleaner can be applied easily with no dripping or running down walls.

The paste stays where you put it, allowing the full cleaning action to be concentrated on the soiled tile and grout areas.

And should any of the cleaner fall on a porcelain surface, such as on a bathtub or lavatory bowl, it can easily be wiped up without leaving any discoloration.

The new cleaner will work on both glazed and unglazed ceramic tiles. Glazed tiles are generally used on walls, while unglazed tiles are used mostly on floors.

Unglazed tiles are the most easily soiled, since their porous surface absorbs dirt easily.

Some people settle for damp proofers that may be applied to inside walls, believing this will take care of the entire problem.

In some cases it does, but these compounds are ineffective because they underestimate the problem.

It pays to get professional advice if you aren't sure of your own diagnosis.

If the basement is not heated well or is subject to spotty heating, the remedy may be different.

DAMPNESS

Dampness is often an insidious factor. For example, one may remodel an area of what seemed to be a cozy, warm basement, but the area chosen may be blocked off from available heat.

If the room is used as a sleeping area, one may not notice it until the mattress begins to feel cold and damp.

This condition may exist even in a summer home where a little basement or off-the-garage bedroom is on the north side of the house, perhaps surrounded with foliage, where sun never penetrates the room.

Fortunately, resistance to dampness is higher in summer.

But then comes a wet spell, and one feels the clamminess until the heat can penetrate the area again.

One solution is a heater that may be used during wet spells.

A room that is a mistake in the first place, of course, and all that can be done usually is to alleviate the problem of dampness as it arises.

When Looking for Home Older House May Be Best

An old house can make a fine new home.

Today's new houses are so attractive it's small wonder that very few prospective home buyers give more than a passing thought to a purchase of an older residence.

The fact that a house is not brand new does not mean it is no longer livable. After all, an 'older house' might be anything from a year-old split-level to an 18th century farmhouse.

Condition, not age, should be a major consideration when shopping for an older home.

There is a tendency among some people to judge things solely on the basis of chronology. If this were an accurate means of measurement, raw rookies would hit more home runs than Willie Mays.

This is not to imply that an older house is always a good buy. Far from it. While some older houses may need nothing more than a coat of paint to bring them up to tip-top shape, others may require complete renovations entailing tremendous financial outlays.

Despite differences in ages and conditions, there are certain characteristics common to all older houses.

First of all, 'used' residences are generally situated in older, more settled areas. Thus, the prospective purchaser can observe at first

If space is a factor, you can generally get more of it per dollar in an older house. On the other hand, the upkeep of an older house will probably be more costly.

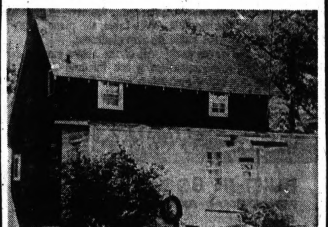

The prospective purchaser should weigh all of the advantages and disadvantages before deciding whether a new house or an older one is better for his particular needs."

Both orders grow out of Powell's failure to pay a $164,000 libel judgment. The arrest order does not apply outside New York or on Sundays within the state.

Born to Mourn Passing of Various Eras

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON — Among the many services that journalists perform is the ending of eras. This is done by mourning the passing of something. Over the years I have been involved in more than my share of these nostalgic rituals, and they have taken a job out of me. Ending eras leaves a person drained emotionally. But I have never shirked. In many cases, it one of us sentimental newspapermen didn't mourn the passing of it, people wouldn't even realize that an era had ended. I couldn't bear that. It is heartless to leave an era just hanging there in the air. Somebody has got to end it. And if nobody volunteers to mourn it, I will.

A year or so ago I was one of the chief mourners at the passing of Burma Shave signs, which ended the era of the verse by the side of the road. * * * A few months ago, I led the mourning over the passing of union suits, which ended the era of one-piece male underwear. HIS OWN IDEA And today, having waited in vain for other mourners to step forward, I have taken it upon myself to mourn the passing of last?

That era ended a few days ago when Fuller announced that it would start hiring women as door-to-door brush salesmen.

It is true the company said that recruitment of "Fullerettes" would be limited and that the Fuller brush man would "remain the mainstay of the business." But does anybody seriously believe that will last?

CAMPUS FUN — Bill Alberger of Portland, Ore., was 21 this week and, for his birthday, pledges to his fraternity at Willamette University tarred him with molasses, sprinkled on feathers and padlocked him to a railing outside the auditorium. Alberger, student body president, is attended to by a locksmith.

Seminar on Viruses Next Week at OU for MDs, Osteopaths

Medical doctors and osteopathic physicians will get together at Oakland University next week for a half-day seminar on viruses.

The Thursday program will feature talks by national and regional experts on viral diseases, which make up more than half of the infectious diseases of modern man.

To be held from 2 to 3:30 p.m. in OU's Science Building, the seminar is presented jointly by the OU Division of Continuing Education, the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine and the Oakland County Health Dept.

Dr. Bernard Berman, M.D., director to the Oakland County Health Dept., said this is the first such seminar to be held in the community.

The normal procedure has been for hospitals to hold clinic days for members of their own staffs, he said.

DISEASE CENTER

Berman will preside at the seminar which has been arranged through the cooperation of the U.S. Public Health Service Communicable Disease Center.

Her Small Car Was Dented by a Flying Bench

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — How do you tell your insurance agent the park bench hit your car?

Annette Nelson, 24, of Salt Lake City, found her small car dented and scratched.

Burglars took two park benches from a sun deck overlooking Miss Nelson's parking place, got away with one, but couldn't hold on to the second one and it hit the car.

Dr. Walter R. Dowdle, M.D., acting chief of the center's virology section, will be one of the principal conference speakers.

The conference is designed for osteopathic physicians and surgeons, public health workers and other physicians in the community.

It has been approved for six postgraduate credit hours by the American College of General Practice Physicians of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery.

WELCOMERS

Conferees will be welcomed by Dr. Stuart F. Harkness, administrative dean of the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine, and Dr. James Powell, chairman of the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital's pediatrics department and president of the Oakland County Osteopathic Association.

Dr. Lowell R. Eklund, dean of OU's continuing education division, will deliver a dinner speech entitled "The Family Physician and Continuing Education."

Further information on the seminar can be obtained from the conference department at OU.

The best time to do your thinking is at trick one. You may want to think more later on but if you plan the whole play right off the bat you will frequently avoid most problems. South analyzed West's lead as from a long suit and probably headed by the king.

His statement came Friday after plainclothes state police at the Montgomery Airport accused two Negro HEW agents of Wallace's order and asked their business in Alabama.

The agents, Richard Fairley and Woodrow Bankhead, declined to answer questions when told they were not under arrest.

The officers made no effort to detain them, and Fairley and Bankhead boarded an airliner for Atlanta en route to Washington.

VISITED COUNTY

Before leaving, they told The Associated Press that they had been in Elmore County since Wednesday.

Wallace's prepared statement said his office had received a complaint from Elmore County School Supt. Ross McQueen "about harassment, intimidation and coercion being used" by the HEW agents.

The governor said state police are continuing an investigation of the complaint, and warned that interference would lead to arrest.

He did not say what charges might be levied, but a source who declined to be named said they might be arrested for trespassing.

NO WARRANTS

The source said the investigators who stopped the two agents Friday were seeking information and had no arrest warrants.

Wallace called the Elmore County incident "just another example of the tactics being used" by HEW under its school desegregation guidelines.

CRIME PREVENTION TOOL—A nationwide communications network is explained at a meeting in Chicago yesterday. The system will allow rapid exchange of information on criminals across state lines and between various agencies. Examining a diagram are: (from left) Marlin Johnson of the Chicago FBI office; James McMahon, assistant director of public safety for Illinois; and John Ascher, Chicago Police.

He never received a visitor or a letter. Today he is a completely free man.

Honeck, 87, who was sentenced to life in prison for killing a schoolteacher, learned Friday that Illinois Gov. Otto Kernan has granted him a pardon.

"Oh, he just beamed. After all these years to know that he's a free man is something," said his niece, Clara Naegelin Orth, 66, with whom he lives. "He was real thrilled."

If he had a niece, why was Honeck so long forgotten?

'HAD TO SEE HIM'
Mrs. Orth assumed he was dead. But in August 1963, she read an Associated Press story about a Menard Penitentiary inmate who hadn't received a letter in 59 years.

"As soon as I saw his picture in the paper I was certain I had to see him," said Mrs. Orth who was born two years after Honeck was imprisoned in 1899.

"He had such a close family resemblance and I couldn't bear the thought of my uncle being all alone and forgotten in his final years," she said.

So she went to Illinois and persuaded the Parole Board to release him to her care. The board concurred and Honeck celebrated Christmas of 1963 in Mrs. Orth's two-bedroom mobile home in San Leandro.

'SWEET MAN'
Honeck's parole officer, M. M. Claybourne, delivered the word about the pardon.

"I knew he would be pardoned," said Mrs. Orth. "He's such a sweet man. Everyone likes him."

"Now he's really free," she said. "He said nothing when the news came. 'He just beamed. He's never in his life voted for a president and if he's eligible to vote, he'll vote in the next presidential election.'"

After studying at Michigan State University, Prentice plans to earn a law degree.

2 Deaths Bring Inoculations

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 2,250 employees, patients and visitors at Brooklyn's Coney Island Hospital were being inoculated against hepatitis today following the death of two nurses who had attended a hepatitis victim, the city Health Department said.

Before their deaths, the nurses displayed jaundice, indicating they may have been suffering from the infectious liver disease.

One of the special-duty nurses died Thursday, the other two weeks ago. Autopsies have not been completed.

The Teen of the Week's schedule is no hindrance to his academic work, for he has accumulated an A- record.

President of the high school and the Student Council, Prentice last year was valedictorian for the council.

He has been on the varsity basketball team for two years.

Prentice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Hill, 268 Branch, is a member of the Student Advisory Board on teen-age fashions for the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

This activity helps him as a salesman at Waite's Department Store.

After studying at Michigan State University, Prentice plans to earn a law degree.

Chicago Adds to Postal Staff

Seek to Cut Backlog of Third-Class Mail

CHICAGO (AP) — Four hundred extra employees will assist the normal staff of 5,000 this weekend to try and clear up a huge backlog of mail at the Chicago Post Office.

William Hartigan, an assistant postmaster general, announced the increase in workers Friday and said: "I think we will be in a better position on Monday."

Hartigan was sent here from Washington 10 days ago to help speed the mail flow. He is returning to Washington to report to Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien.

An estimated nine million pieces of third-class mail remained unsorted Friday after some pressure was eased by diverting most of the overflow to other post offices in the Midwest.

ADVERTISING MAIL
Hartigan has blamed the backlog on an unusually heavy volume of pre-Christmas advertising mail and a "very high rate of absenteeism."

In Washington, E. C. Hallback, president of the United Federation of Postal Clerks, said reports of excessive absenteeism were "absolute nonsense."

He said he visited the Chicago Post Office Wednesday and found "too damn much work there for the people available to work it."

Hallback put partial blame for the snarl on frequent work schedule changes on short notice and excessive dependence on temporary workers and curtailment of overtime pay.

ADDED PROBLEMS
Diversion of some mail from the Chicago Post Office brought some problems to Cleveland and Detroit, while Kansas City and Des Moines were able to handle their extra loads of mail.

Cleveland Postmaster Nelson Sundermeier said his staff and work space were taxed by about 10,000 bags, containing an estimated four million pieces of third-class mail.

DETROIT POST OFFICE in 'Christmas' Jam
DETROIT (AP) — The kind of mail deluge that swamps post offices around Christmas is flooding the Detroit Post Office right now.

Deliveries of second, third- and fourth-class mail are being delayed, said Detroit Postmaster Edward L. Baker.

The volume of incoming magazines, advertising circulars and pamphlets is up more than 10 per cent over last year, he said.

Similar mail going out of the Detroit Post Office is 5 per cent greater in volume than last year.
