Ground Parties Extend Search for Airliner

Skiers' Report of 'Blast' First Clue to Location of Missing Plane

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Ground search parties prepared today to enter the rugged Mt. Silvertip area about 125 miles east of here to look for a Trans-Canada airliner missing with 62 occupants since Sunday night. Eight of the 59 passengers were Americans.

Search leaders said their "most promising lead" was a report of a "big blast" in the vicinity of 8,550-foot Mt. Silvertip.

The report came from nine persons who were at a ski lodge on the Hope-Princeton highway north of the mountain.

People at the lodge said they heard the blast Sunday night soon after the four-engine North Star, Canadian version of the American DC4, radioed it was returning to Vancouver with an inboard motor disabled.

Air search in the Hope, B. C. area yesterday was fruitless.

The plane had taken off from Vancouver for Calgary and points east about an hour before the pilot, Capt. Allan Clark, 35, Montreal, reported the inboard motor on the left side had failed near Hope and he was turning back to Vancouver, some 100 miles away.

RCAF Squadron Leader G. L. Sheahan, in charge of the search, said it will be necessary to get into the area where the reported "blast" occurred before it snows again and added: "If we don't, we're beat."

The 74-year-old Prime Minister was scheduled to arrive from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he has been vacationing. After golfing with the President he will fly on to his home at Ottawa.

The President has been mixing work and vacation here at the Augusta National Golf Club since Nov. 26. Present indications are he will return to Washington Thursday.

Suspect, 65, a Veteran Swindler 'Friend' Fleeces Woman of $4,800 in Northville

FROM THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A Northville drug store clerk is short $4,800 today, and a warrant has been issued for a 65-year-old woman who police say fleeced her.

Sought for questioning is Miss Yvonne Chauvin, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses from Mrs. Hazel Jennings, who befriended her after Miss Chauvin's arrival in Northville last spring.

State police detective Jack Wooley said Miss Chauvin was last seen in the Detroit area Nov. 28, when she bought two airplane tickets to Cleveland.

Police said Miss Chauvin had been convicted six times since 1934 on bad check or swindling charges. She was released from the Detroit House of Correction last April 23, after serving part of a 6-to-20-year term for writing bad checks.

Wooley said Miss Chauvin won the confidence of Mrs. Jennings by borrowing small sums of money, and repaying them promptly.

Is Elvis Slipping?

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—It can cost more to hate Elvis Presley than to love him here. A downtown stand sells "I hate Elvis" buttons for 15 cents. "I love Elvis" buttons cost only a dime. The vendor says he had to cut the price of the "love" buttons because they weren't selling.

First Refugees Start for U.S. in Big Airlift

Some Weep but More Smile as 200 Depart Their Homeland

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Two hundred fugitives from Communist oppression in Hungary took off today for new lives in the United States at the start of one of history's most spectacular airlifts.

The group was the first of 10,000 refugees to be flown before Christmas to the United States in giant C118 Air Force transports.

There were some tears but many more smiles as the fugitives, many of whom had never before left their homeland, departed across the ocean for a mysterious new land with little idea of what was in store for them.

Four planes took off today, carrying 50 women, 11 children and 109 men. They ranged in age from 6-month-old Johanna Toth to 57-year-old Etel Szabo.

The flight was to take 26 hours to McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey. Flying weather was reported good.

From McGuire the refugees were taken to specially prepared Army barracks at nearby Camp Kilmer. Some hoped relatives, whom they had not seen or heard from in years, would help them find jobs. Others could trust only in a warm-hearted American response.

By the weekend, the schedule calls for 500 refugees to depart daily from the U.S. air base in Munich.

The military transports are operating from West Germany rather than Austria to avoid any Soviet complaint that Austrian neutrality is being violated. Some 125,000 refugees have crossed from Hungary into tiny Austria in little more than six weeks.

All told, 10,000 refugees are to fly to the United States in Operation Safe Haven by Dec. 22. The United States has offered homes to 21,500 refugees. Only about 3,000 have been flown across the Atlantic.

Frigid Winds, Snow Flurries Blow Into Town

A frigid low of 11-15 degrees is predicted for tonight, as a cold wave with snow flurries is scheduled to sweep into the Pontiac area. Tomorrow's high will be 18-22.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Detroit reports that southwestly winds at 18-24 miles an hour today will shift to northwest tonight bringing cold air and high winds.

In the snow-covered Midwest, cold wave conditions also have been indicated for Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Montana and Wyoming.

A mixture of freezing rain and snow has been reported in the storm belt from South Dakota through Upper Michigan.

The lowest temperature recorded in Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 33. At 1 p.m. the mercury registered 42.

Postpone Attempts to Recover Bodies

High winds have forced postponement of attempts to recover the bodies of a 34-year-old Royal Oak man and four others from a private plane that plunged into Lake Erie Saturday during a snow squall.

Salvage workers at Mohawk Bay called off the diving operations near Port Maitland, Ont. when a 20-mile-an-hour wind made the water too rough.

Killed in the crash were Wesley H. Hopp, 320 W. Sunnybrook Dr., Royal Oak, the pilot, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kurtz, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael McFadden, all of Grosse Pointe.

Icy conditions are believed to have caused the engine trouble which Hopp reported shortly before it dropped into the waves enroute from Buffalo to Detroit.

Extends 1 1/3 Billion Credit

60-Nation Monetary Fund Comes to Britain's Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—Great Britain has been extended credits of $1,300,000,000 by the International Monetary Fund to help her ride out a financial storm brought on primarily by the Middle East crisis.

The action was announced last night by the 60-nation fund created in 1947 to help nations caught in such situations to maintain stable currencies.

Of the credit advanced, $561,740,000 is designed to add to Britain's monetary reserves, which have sunk below the two-billion-dollar figure regarded by the London government as a minimum for safe financial dealings.

The additional $738,530,000 was made available upon request of the British government at any time within the next 12 months.

Britain will be charged from 2 to 3½ per cent interest on the credits, depending on when she repays the money advanced.

In anticipation of the action, the U.S. Treasury announced last Friday it would borrow a billion dollars on short-term bills next month.

Some of the U. S. subscription to the monetary fund is in the form of gold, and some is in the form of Treasury notes which bear no interest.

The granting of credit to Britain means that the fund will call on this country to provide dollars to match some of the notes. These dollars will then be placed at "the immediate disposal" of London to meet current bills.

Britain has been hard pressed in the wake of her joint invasion with France of the Suez Canal area in Egypt. In addition to the direct expense of that military venture, she faces for some time greatly increased outlays for oil as a result of the blocking of the canal and a diminished flow of petroleum from Midwestern fields.

London has asked the United States to waive nearly 82 million dollars in interest payments due Dec. 31. The Eisenhower administration has indicated it will pass this decision on to Congress.

The monetary fund advanced is not intended to be used to meet that obligation.

Workers Strike Against Regime of Janos Kadar

Tens of Thousands Off Jobs in Budapest in 48-Hour Protest

BUDAPEST (AP)—Tens of thousands of Hungarian workers today launched a widespread protest strike in defiance of the Russian-imposed government of Premier Janos Kadar.

Transportation in Budapest was badly crippled, but the work stoppage did not appear to be 100 per cent effective.

Some business activity apparently was continuing under the pressure of guns of the Hungarian police and Soviet troops.

But many workers did not report to their factories or sat idle when they reached their posts.

The call to strike was 48 hours beginning last midnight was issued by the Budapest Central Workers' Council to protest the "antipeoples, antiworkers activities" of the government.

It was not immediately known how effective the strike appeal had proved in the provinces, although there were reports that stoppages had started yesterday in some outlying towns.

The government again clamped down with a partial blackout on long distance telephone service outside the country.

The Kadar government replied to the general strike call with new repressive measures, including a decree of martial law, the arrests of some worker leaders and a decree dissolving the Central Workers' Council and its regional bodies.

Refugees crossing into Austria from Hungary said the strike appeared to be spreading over the country despite Kadar's martial law decree and possible Soviet reprisals.

Hungarians who left Budapest by train Monday said workers all along the route reported they had been alerted to the strike appeal.

Austrian railway workers returning from the Hungarian border station of Hegyeshalom reported that work in that town was at a complete standstill. The stationmaster (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Issue Plea for Safe Yule

The Pontiac Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee today issued this annual plea for highway safety during the Christmas season:

As we wish you a happy, healthful, prosperous and LIVE holiday, the Safety Committee desires to refresh your memories with a few grim statistics:

During last year's nationwide holiday toll, drinking was involved in 55 per cent of the mishaps and speed in 85 per cent. The two killers, Throttle and Bottle.

Our Pontiac Police Department records show that in December last year, there were 301 drivers involved in 161 city accidents. Two of our neighbors died; 60 were injured.

Drinking figured in 22 of the serious accidents, speeding in eight.

Again, Throttle and Bottle. We have now passed the "Holiday Barrier." How many of your friends and relatives are going to be crippled or killed by a speeding, intoxicated, semi-conscious driver? Will you be the next victim? Or, will you be the next killer?

11 SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

Municipal Judges Cecil McCallum and Maurice E. Finnegan again have endorsed the policy of cleaning the streets of drunk drivers this Christmas.

Judge McCallum made this suggestion for holiday parties, whether at the office or at home: Enjoy yourself, but if you've had a drink too many, take a cab home. Or ride home with someone sober.

The Safety Committee recommends this rule. Follow it, and keep the most sacred gift of all — Life.

A spokesman for Fisher Body Division in Detroit said representatives of both were in session again today. The bargaining talks began Friday.

Harold A. Grant, president of the Local 596 UAW, said last week if the grievances aren't settled by deadline, workers will strike the plant.

The hospital body will see the addition of four new members from the present seven members prompted by a survey made on the management of the city hospital.

'Must Liberate' Eastern Europe

Dulles at NATO Meet; Says West Must Take Moral Leadership

PARIS—U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today told Atlantic Pact ministers that the West now has its greatest post-war chance to seize moral leadership of the world and help the liberation of Eastern Europe.

The secretary gave this appraisal of recent world events to the foreign, defense and finance ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The discussion, in a closed session, was reported later by NATO officials.

Dulles, according to these sources, pointed to Soviet difficulties in controlling the satellites of Eastern Europe, and agreed with other ministers that Russia's position there now is more difficult than three or four years ago.

This meant, he continued, a great opportunity for NATO to assert its moral leadership. This Eastern European situation made it urgent for NATO countries to expand and bolster their cooperation in political and economic matters.

At the same time senior American and British ministers arranged an unannounced meeting today to survey their global political, economic and defense problems.

Informants made it clear that the ministers will be continuing the process of mending the partnership which had been shaken by the British-French attack on Egypt.

Williams held a news conference there yesterday. He said he thought the good neighbor policy should be strengthened politically and economically.

In response to a question of whether the United States should concentrate on building a strong hemisphere defense and dismiss Europe as a liability in the light of the Suez Canal dispute, he said: "It would be foolish both for the United States and Latin America to neglect relationships with the democratic countries of Europe and elsewhere in the world, which need the effort of all people of goodwill to become stable and peaceful."

Be Careful With Those Potent Mushrooms

By PHYLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK (INS)—I am not a person to look beyond my nose (it being constructed to carry me quite far enough) very often, so when the 1957 "Farmer's Almanac" was delivered to the office I gave it only the briefest of glances.

New Year's Day, '57, was going to be stormy. Inauguration Day, Jan. 20, would be "cold." Lincoln's Birthday would bring "rain" and Good Friday and Memorial Day would be likewise sloppy.

This was plenty to read. Bah. The almanac was tucked away safely for future use between those two invaluable reference books, "Low Calorie Cooking" by Levinson and "Your Insurance, How to Profit by It," Levy.

Then today a curious thing happened. Two women were sitting over luncheon in a wee tearoom and one said to the other, "All right, if psychiatry is too expensive, why don't you try mushrooms?"

"You," said the other woman tensely, "are full of prunes." "I swear to you, Sarah," spoke the oracle in the mouton jacket. "It's right in the 'Farmer's Almanac'—mushrooms are the cure-all."

DIVINE POWERS

There was considerably more talk along this line, with the almanac lady telling how mushrooms contain divine powers to cure mental illnesses and the other lady responding that she was full of mush, in addition to the prunes.

At the end, nothing was resolved except me. I had to return to the shelf where the almanac was slumping unnoticed, with perhaps the greatest money-saving revelation of the neurotic era betwixt its flabby yellow covers.

After searching diligently through the tides, moonrise and plantings indexes, there it was:

Ask Voluntary End to Bus Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell has signaled for "voluntary compliance" as a first step toward ending racial segregation in local transportation.

The attorney general in effect called on transportation companies generally to go along with a Supreme Court decision saying forced separation of white and Negro passengers on intrastate buses and trains violates rights guaranteed by the Constitution.

The 33 U. S. district attorneys from 14 Southern and border states maintaining segregation laws for transportation were called here yesterday to confer with Brownell on ways to secure observance of the Supreme Court's Nov. 13 mandate.

Brownell declined to say what other steps the federal government may take if the call for voluntary compliance does not bring about desegregation.

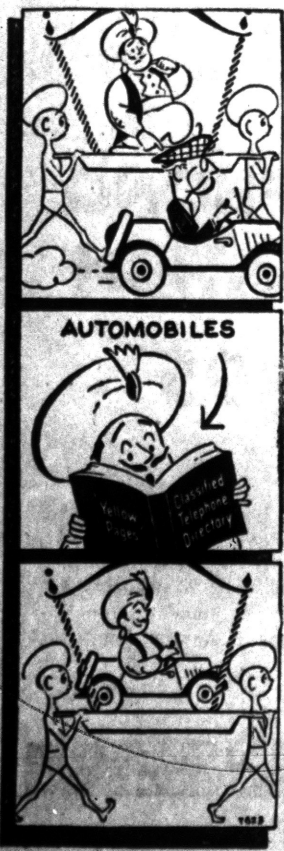

British Ship Boom

LONDON — Britain's shipyards are working at full capacity, with more than two years' work on order. At the start of last October there were 346 ships of more than 2,000,000 gross tons under construction—about one third of the world's shipbuilding.

Well, What'll We Do?

BALTIMORE (AP)—In a drug store on east Baltimore Street here, customers face contrary orders. A literature stand is posted, "Come in and Browse." But there is also a sign in the store that reads, "If You Have Nothing To Do, Don't Do It here."

(Advertisement)

If your trouble is mental—consult a mushroom.

It seems that one among the 3,000 species of mushrooms on earth today is a bulbous, earth-nurtured psychiatric agent which contains lysergic acid. This chemical has been used only recently in exploring the nature of mental disease.

Volunteers who consume it, reports FA, are plunged into a state resembling that of schizophrenia. When they return to normal they can recall their sensations and give valuable descriptions of "the state of mind and of body" they have experienced.

HARD TO DETECT

Unfortunately, the "divine" species is impossible to depict from the non-edible species or from the hoity-toity varieties found around, say, chicken livers en brochette.

There are also several brands of mushroom right in this country which induce hilarity—they're as effective as laughing gas, really.

Obviously there is some danger that if you get hold of one of these plant panaceas, thinking it's a "divine" job, your mental therapy will suffer a frightful setback. As any struggling psychiatrist will tell you, fun is no substitute for "finding" yourself.

The "Farmer's Almanac" points out further that mushrooms have been around for millions of years, lots more than man and his neuroses, and that someday they will inherit the earth: Meek and cunning little devils.

That's because some of the hardest of them contain 700 billion seeds in their innards, ready to reproduce at a go-ahead from family-lovin' old Mother Nature.

This being the case, it's tough to find a "divine" mushroom in the neighborhood supermarket. Sort of like searching for pearls in the oyster stew. It's good to know, however, that help is near at hand for this crazy, mixed-up world.

And in case your husband goes into a trance next time you fix beef stroganoff, don't simply take it as flattery... mark well what he says when the mushrooms have been digested and the truth comes out.

Don't Delay--Begin Project Now!

By ANNE HEYWOOD
Happy people, it seems to me, fall into one of two groups: First, there's the ambitious type that wants to accomplish something and works hard to do it; second, there's the easygoing type that doesn't give a hang about doing great things.

People like this are content to live their lives as they go along.

The unhappy ones are those who want to accomplish things, think about it, mean to do it, but just never get around to it.

They don't enjoy day-to-day living, because ambition is always nudging them in the ribs and they build up awful guilt feelings about what they ought to be doing.

Moreover, they become embittered when they see others really accomplishing something.

NO PEACE OF MIND

In short, they have no peace of mind and no serenity.

The answer for this type—which, it seems to me, outnumbers the other—is to stop thinking, stop planning and get going on some project right away.

Frequently people like this think they haven't time now, they'll begin next month. But the time they put into stewing, remorse and envy is more than enough to get their own project off the ground.

Mrs. K. was like that but, I'm happy to say, at long last seems to be getting out of the woods.

Mrs. K. first wrote me over three years ago, asking for my Housewives' Career Guide. She wanted to do something with her life, but didn't know what and needed help in discovering her major interest.

The guide helped her and she wrote saying that arts and crafts seemed to be her line. She asked for a list of good books on the subject and I sent it to her.

ANOTHER LETTER

A little later, I received another long letter from her. She said she didn't have time to do anything now about it, what with her household duties, but would I please send a list of books on leathercraft.

She had definitely decided this is what interested her most and some day when she had time...

I sent her the list of books on leathercraft.

A year and a half ago, I received a long, gloomy letter giving all the good reasons why she couldn't escape from her prison just yet and asking me to send her a list of books on philosophy. She thought they might help to cheer her up.

This time I didn't send the list. Instead, I wrote her a rather frank, harsh letter.

FAMILIAR PATTERN

I told her that I recognized her pattern all too well. I warned that if she wasn't careful, 50 years from today she'd be sitting in the rocking chair, nursing arthritis and boring her grandchildren about the wonders she would have accomplished if she'd only had a chance. I said she'd better knuckle down and do something with her leathercraft right now—if only for an hour a day—or else!

Recently, I received a charming letter from Mrs. K. With it was a note saying that she had made purses for all her friends for Christmas and that a local shop was interested in stocking them.

Furthermore, she loves making them and finds she has three hours a day to spend on them!

The moral is, don't think about doing things, just do them!

They Just Go Together: 'Chicken and' Mrs. Grey Prefers to Use Buttermilk in Biscuit Recipe

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor
A favorite dinner for the Arthur Grey family of Oxford is chicken and biscuits. Mrs. Grey dips her chicken in milk, then in bread crumbs. Before baking she pours melted butter over the crumbed pieces. One and a half hours in a 325-degree oven is just about right. In Mrs. Grey's opinion the best biscuits are those made with buttermilk. This is her recipe:

BUTTERMILK BISCUITS
By Mrs. Arthur Grey
2 cups sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup buttermilk
Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening. Add buttermilk. Knead on a lightly floured board once or twice. Cut into biscuits. Bake about 12 minutes at 450 degrees.

Mrs. Grey moved to her suburban Oxford home only last summer. She and her daughter take piano lessons together. Mrs. Grey also enjoys sewing.

Phi Kappa Tau Unit Plans Yule Basket

Mrs. Delmar Fields of Winding drive entertained members of Phi Kappa Tau, the new chapter of Pi Omicron National Sorority. Plans were made to donate a Christmas basket to a needy family. It was announced at the recent meeting that the chapter had won a prize from the state board for having the most new members in the area.

JANE ELLEN MCGUIRE

Mrs. James H. McGuire of Golf drive announces the engagement of her daughter, Jane Ellen, to Gerald Riordan Manning. Gerald is the son of Vice Admiral John J. Manning USN (Ret.), and Mrs. Manning of Washington, D.C. A spring wedding is planned.

Marita Mack Becomes Bride of Jack L. Hruska

Baskets of white gladioli and palms decorated the altar of Bethany Baptist Church Saturday for the marriage of Marita Marie Mack and Jack LeRoy Hruska.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith H. Mack of Oakshire drive are parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom V. Hruska of North Cass Lake road are Jack's parents.

For the service, the bride wore a floor-length gown of lace and net over slipper satin with long sleeves tapered to points at the wrists.

Her fingertip veil was held by a tiara trimmed with seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and carnations.

Mrs. Donald Plumb, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. Mrs. Robert Young and Arlene Scheiderick of Detroit also attended the bride.

GOWNED IN BLUE
They were gowned alike in blue crystaletta with fitted bodices and bouffant skirts accented by bustle bows.

Terry Lynn Rose was flower girl wearing a frock of white net over blue taffeta.

Norman Jakeway of Lansing sang the bridal recital.

The reception was held in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony. Mrs. Mack chose slate blue taffeta, with pink accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Hruska wore a two-piece pink knit dress with navy blue accessories.

For traveling the bride changed to a gray dress with black accessories. The newlyweds will make their home at Williams Lake.

But He Came Up the Hard Way

Hope's in the Money Now

(This is the second of four articles on the veteran comic who's conquered vaudeville, the movies, radio and television.)

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(INS Staff Writer)

Comedian Bob Hope's earning capacity is currently around $1,000,000 a year — before taxes. Seven years ago he grossed $100,000 a week for a period of 12 weeks (or at the rate of $5,200,000 a year.)

But 25 years ago, when he was breaking in as a vaudeville comic and song and dance man in and around Cleveland, he considered himself lucky if he and his partner could wangle a booking at $10 or $20 a night.

Today, however, the name Bob Hope is a household word. He has millions of admirers the world over. In his profession he's an acknowledged master of the art. Even Milton Berle can't top him. His gift of timing a gag is legendary.

Nonchalant and relaxed, the versatile Hope is equally at home on the stage, in the movies, on radio, or before the TV cameras.

Hope, now 53 and at the peak of his fame, says in looking back on his career that he's had "action." He jokingly remarked that one day one of his writers, Larry Klein, looked at him and said:

"If you had your life to live all over again you wouldn't have time to do it."

Bob retorted: "It might not have been so much fun."

PLENTY OF TRAVEL

Few performers have traveled as much as Hope, or played before such a wide variety of audiences.

"I've flown so much in the last 15 years that my wife thought I was a pilot for American Airlines," Hope cracked, when I interviewed him the other day.

Bob came up the hard way. He was born in Ectham, England, May 29, 1903, the fifth of Mr. and Mrs. William Hope's seven sons. When he was 4, the family moved to Cleveland, Ohio. Bob has since adopted Cleveland as his hometown.

As a boy, Bob had it a bit rough. His father was a stone mason and his mother, Avis Hope, ran a rooming house to add to the family income.

After graduating from high school, Bob worked as a clerk in a motor company, tried amateur boxing and took a whirl at being a newspaper reporter.

DREAMED OF STAGE

But his ambition was to go on the stage. He was a great admirer of Frank Fay, the vaudeville star. Bob himself had done some singing at local concerts and he used to practice dancing.

His mother took him to see Fay perform one night and said: "Why, he's not half as good as you are, Bob!"

"Good old Mom," Hope sighed. "Why I couldn't carry Fay's suitcase. He was the only actor I know who stayed 16 weeks at the Palace. He was so good with the spoken word. He was superb."

as a monologist, and he sure could sing and dance."

When Hope was 19, he took dancing lessons from an old vaudeville hooper named Johnny Root. Bob became adept in soft shoe, clog, buck and wing and other forms of dancing. He and a tall willowy blonde named Mildred Rosequist worked up a dance act.

Bob and Mildred played a few dates in Cleveland theaters and drew down the munificent sum of seven or eight bucks a performance. That was heady stuff for young Hope who believed he was destined to become "Mr. Marvelous of Vaudeville." He discovered he could be paid for dancing!

ANOTHER PARTNER

But Bob lost Mildred as a partner and picked up another one—Lloyd Durbin, one of his boyhood pals. They wangled a booking at the Bandbox Theater in Cleveland.

There Hope met one-time silent screen star Fatty Arbuckle, who was trying a comeback in a small revue. He spotted Bob and his partner doing a soft-shoe and a comedy Egyptian dance that was all pantomime.

"He introduced us to Fred Hurley and asked him to do something for us," said Hope. "Hurley produced tab shows for the road, and put us in one."

From then on, Hope had regular work. The experience he got traveling the circuit in Fred Hurley's road shows laid the groundwork for his later success on the stage, in the movies, on radio and in TV.

Wayside Gleaners Honor Mrs. Lovell

Wayside Gleaners Society of First Baptist Church met Friday at the church for a birthday luncheon and meeting. Special tribute was paid to Mrs. Mary Lovell, a member of the group for 45 years, who also celebrated her 94th birthday on Friday.

Dr. H. H. Savage delivered the Christmas message and two solos were presented by Mrs. T. N. Slosson. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Nellie Monroe.

Coming Events

Rosette Birthday Club will meet with Mrs. Robert Jockwig, 164 Ogden Rd., Wednesday for a noon cooperative luncheon.

Royal Neighbors of America will hold Christmas party Thursday at Knights of Pythias Hall, Voorhis road, with a 4:30 p.m. cooperative dinner.

White Cross and Missionary meetings of First Baptist Church will be combined Thursday. The White Cross group will meet at 10:30 a.m. with a noon cooperative luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shelton will present the missionary program.

Dorcas Class of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church will meet tonight at 7:30 in the church.

Sunshine Group of Dames of Malta will meet at the temple, 21 Perkins St., Wednesday at noon for a cooperative luncheon and Christmas party with exchange of gifts.

Jennie E. Doyle Post Chiefs Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Howard Loe, 818 N. Perry St., Thursday at 8 p.m. with exchange of Christmas gifts.

Frances Willard WCTU will meet Wednesday at Church of Brethren on N. Roselawn drive for a noon cooperative dinner and a Christmas program with exchange of gifts.

Loyal Philistine Class of First Baptist Church will hold a class meeting, cooperative dinner and Christmas party tonight at 8:30.

Hope said one of the greatest "kicks" he got out of show business was the night his mother caught his act at Keith's 105th Street in Cleveland. He was then a brash 20, with a lot of confidence.

THAT'S MY SON!

"They almost threw my mother out of the theater when she stood up and shouted: 'That's my son!'" Hope laughed.

Mrs. Hope died in 1933 when Hope was starring in a Broadway show, "Roberta." His father died in 1938.

Hope told me the other day that he and Bing Crosby were talking about incomes in show business. Both had made plenty.

"I told Bing that seven or eight years ago I had a good streak," said Hope. "For a period of 12 weeks I was making over $100,000 a week."

"On my radio show I was making $27,500 a week, and from a picture I had done, 'Road to Rio,' I was drawing $125,000 a week. Of course, this was all before taxes."

CORPORATIONS

At present Hope is grossing more than $1,000,000 a year. That includes TV, radio and personal appearances.

He is head of three corporations—the Hope Corporation, for books (he has written several); Hope Records, Inc., for records, and Hope Enterprises for pictures, radio and TV.

He has a "small interest" in the Cleveland-American League baseball club and owns 11 per cent of the Los Angeles Rams football team.

In other words, Hope is doing all right.

Number of Addicts Drops Sharply in U. S.

Middle East Drug Traffic Slackens

Ease Rulings
at Soo Locks
for Next Season

SAULT STE. MARIE (U)—A new easing of security restrictions at the Soo Locks will permit pleasure boats to travel the Canal and Locks next tourist season.

Rep. Victor A. Knox (R-Mich)
said he was informed by Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker that passenger and sightseeing vessels can use the St. Marys Falls Canal and the Locks during daylight hours.

The Locks had been closed to pleasure boats since the outbreak of the Korean War in 1950. Since then the sightseeing cruises had been confined to the Canal on the Canadian side of the Locks.

Easing of the restriction was the second major change in security at the locks in the past year. On April 17 the Upper Park adjacent to the MacArthur Lock was reopened so visitors could watch the locking process during daylight hours.

The lower park at the foot of the MacArthur Lock was opened in daylight hours starting Oct. 2, 1953, and fishing restrictions in the lower river were eased to allow anglers to cross the Ferry Lane in November, 1953. The same month, photographs of the canal area were permitted through the park fence.

die East crisis has had one good effect: it has slowed down the traffic in illicit drugs.

He said that secret reports reaching his desk indicate that the flow has subsided considerably from Syria and Egypt, and that the price of opium has dropped in Lebanon.

Anslinger told this correspondent that much of the credit for the slackened traffic must go to Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser, who has imposed 15-year-to-life sentences for addiction and traffic in narcotics. He said these penalties are actually being enforced and have made a considerable dent in the smuggling of dope across Egypt's borders.

The narcotics commissioner said the American picture is much brighter since the passage in the last congress of a law imposing a minimum five-year sentence for smuggling and selling dope, and the death penalty for extreme cases. He said two men arrested last week in New York are the first offenders liable for the death sentence, since both were caught selling narcotics to minors.

"Despite the slackening of the Middle East traffic," Anslinger declared, "dope is still reaching this country through the Mediterranean, Italy and France, and across the Pacific from Red China through Hong Kong, Bangkok and Dairen."

He revealed, however, that the local narcotics situation is better now than in many decades.

He said the number of addicts has dropped 80 per cent in Ohio within the past six months, thanks to the new federal and state laws, and that he has consequently cut his Ohio staff in half.

The commissioner said he is also
"positively jubilant" about the improved situations in Baltimore, Seattle and Hawaii.

"It would have been difficult to have found any blacker pictures than these three spots six months ago," Anslinger asserted. "They were as black as black."

"Now, thanks to the stringent new federal law, these areas are so nearly cleaned up that I am drastically reducing my staff in all three places."

He said he is transferring the surplus narcotics agents to New York, Chicago and California, where the heaviest traffic in opium and other drugs is now being recorded.

Looking like a man who had just glimpsed the millennium, An-slinger smiled and added: "If this situation continues to improve at the current rate, we'll all be looking for other jobs pretty soon."

Hazel Park to Vote on Bonding

School Funds Sought Twice

Second Balloting Set With Assessment Down by $3,000,000

HAZEL PARK—A special school election will be held here tomorrow when voters will cast ballots on whether to borrow $3,500,000 for school building.

With two proposals on the ballot, voters are being asked to approve both proposals.

First is to allow the school district to tax property owners an extra three dollars for each $1,000 of assessed valuation to hire new teachers and cover other operating expenses.

The second proposal is to allow the school district to borrow $3,500,000 to pay for a new high school building and build additions to the district's eight elementary schools.

The land for the new high school, proposed for the northeast corner of Hughes and Felker Streets, and the elementary school addition, is owned by the school district.

Asst. School Supt. Wilfred D. Webb estimated that if both proposals are approved, the average taxpayer will pay a maximum of about $15 per year more for the next ten years.

All 1,467 high school students are on part-time, staggered sessions. All 146 first graders and all 337 seventh and eighth graders are on half-day schedule.

This is the second time this year residents of Hazel Park school district will be asked to let their schools borrow money.

A school building bond issue of $3,500,000 was turned down by voters in the June election.

Challenges State Fruit Growers

'Best Peaches but Poor Job to Processor,' Says Official

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—A processed food firm which used 20,000,000 pounds of fruit in its operations last year, and expects to double the amount in 1957, has challenged Michigan growers to supply enough quality fruit to meet the demand.

The challenge was issued by Ben F. Batchelor, fruit procurement official of Pet-Ritz Foods at Frankfort—a division of Pet Milk Co.—which produces frozen pies.

Batchelor said the nine-year-old firm has doubled the annual output of its frozen pies each year for the past five years.

Speaking at the recent State Horticultural Society meeting, he criticized Michigan growers for failure to carry through on the good job they do in growing quality fruit.

"Michigan growers grow the best peaches in the world, but they do the poorest job in the world of getting them to the processor," Batchelor said.

He noted one Michigan pack which meets his firm's quality standards for frozen peach pies. Batchelor said the packer worked closely with growers to insure they "spot pick" their trees for ripeness, which guarantees a pack for uniformity of color, texture and firmness of fruit.

Batchelor claimed "spot pick" methods are prevalent in California, from where he procures most of the firm's peaches.

Batchelor said his firm would like to use all Michigan peaches, but cannot.

"Perhaps with proper grower and processor relationships to insure better quality, many more millions of pounds of Michigan fruit would be going into frozen pies," he said.

Berkley Accepts Bid on Bond Money

BERKLEY—The board of education at its regular meeting last night accepted the low bid of Harman, Ripley and Co. of Chicago and will borrow $500,000 from the firm at a little over four per cent interest.

The money is part of a two-million dollar bond issue approved by voters in 1954, and will be used to continue work on the new junior high school in the Oak Park area of the school district.

Slate Blood Bank in White Lake Area

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—A bloodmobile will be at the Oxbow Post of the VFW today from 2 to 5 p.m. to begin the township-wide blood bank sponsored by the VFW post.

Mrs. Mabel Church, chairman, says that any resident of the township may participate, with registration at the bloodmobile.

Ken Marshall and Glen Kalce are co-chairmen.

Calmness Seen in Hazel Park; Hearing Slated

HAZEL PARK—All was calm at the regular meeting of the Hazel Park city council last night.

Joseph Wierbicki, according to city manager Calvin C. Henry said this morning, will appear at a closed hearing of a special appeal board on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in the city hall. Wierbicki was fired by Henry Nov. 27.

Routine planning and rezoning matters were discussed at last night's meeting.

Corn Farmers Voting Today

Benson Critical; Plan for Allotments Wins Humphrey's Backing

About three and a half million farmers in 34 states are eligible to vote on questions that will materially affect the number of acres to be planted and the income likely to come from them, according to an Agriculture Department spokesman.

In Oakland county, about 2,000 are eligible to vote, with the issue being base acreage in the soil bank or an acreage allotment program.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson who has left little doubt he favors the base acreage program, has run into opposition by Senator Humphrey of Minnesota and James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union.

Benson says relatively few corn farmers would be able to comply with the fewer acres of the allotment program.

Humphrey calls the base acreage program a "Benson-baited" proposal, and Patton calls it an "economic time bomb."

Voters in this area are casting ballots at the Oxford Co-op Office (for Oakland, Oxford, Brandon and Independence Townships) the Oakland Township Hall, Goodwin, (for Oakland, Orion, Aven, Troy, and Pontiac Townships); Holly Farm & Garden Store, Holly, for Holly, Rose, Springfield and Gueland townships; Lyon Town Hall, New Hudson (for Novi and Lyon Townships); Highland Township Hall, Highland, for Highland, White Lake, Commerce and Milford Townships; and the West Bloomfield Town Hall, Bloomfield, West Bloomfield, Southfield, Waterford, and Farmington Townships.

State Eyes 42-Foot Width for Bridge at Rochester

ROCHESTER—Plans are under way by the State Highway Department for a 42-foot width pavement across the M-150 bridge in south Rochester, T. M. Vanderstempel told the Rochester Village Council last night.

The planning of a three-lane highway has been changed to four lanes, he assured the council, which had objected to the earlier plan.

He termed his meeting with state officials successful, since they have decided to start the design the highway in the wider width. They also are talking of eliminating the sidewalk on the east side of the bridge, he reported.

Vanderstempel, a traffic engineer, had represented the village in the state highway matter.

The village also voted to ask the highway unit to permit placement of a banner and Christmas decorations across M-150.

The final plat of Rochester Heights Sub. was approved by the council subject to the approval of bonds and agreement with the approval of Village Manager Robert Stone, President Clarence Burr and Village Attorney Roscoe Martin.

The plat is to be signed by Clerk Lillian Easterle following their approval. Mark Abend of the Abend Brothers, Builders presented the plat.

James C. Hill, 120 Griggs Street was appointed by the council following the resignation of Frederick Nash on the Area Planning Commission. Nash is moving from Rochester.

Hill is former member of the council, having filled the vacancy of Paul Hoffmeister to serve from August 8, 1955 to March 1st, 1956.

Councilman Sidney Ennis and Frank Rewold were named by President Burr to confer and negotiate with Avon Township officials concerning the Avon Township Fire Bill. Manager Stone will arrange the meeting date.

The Council passed on the monthly activity report and paid general government bills of $3,345.94. Included in the bills were $700 for engineering on the new parking lot and $821 to the Oakland County Road Commission for traffic light maintenance and installation of flasher signal at Woodward and N.Y. Central R.R.

Water and sewer bills ordered be paid were $335.81. Other bills paid amounted to $3,543.96.

Brandon Bands Concert Dec. 15

Chorus to Participate; Proceeds of Yule Event to Buy Uniforms

ORTONVILLE—The Brandon High School bands and chorus will combine their talents for a Christmas concert Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Brandon auditorium.

Opening the program will be the junior band under the direction of William Berendt. Selections they will render are "Under the Double Eagle" by Wagner, "Little Primrose Overture" by Hazel and "Belle of the Ball" by Hummel.

The high school band, also directed by Berendt, will present a variety of numbers ranging from "Fantasy for Band" by Erickson to the seasonal "Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer" by Johnny Marks.

The chorus, under the direction of James O. Young, will sing a wide range of Christmas music. A brass sextet composed of Everett Smith, John Rexford, Jeanne Brooks, Winston Merrick, David Brooks, and Eddie Starkey will lead the audience in Christmas carols to close out the program.

The band, which started out with 10 members six years ago, now has 50 students participating. Also six years old, the chorus has over 30 members.

Single tickets and family tickets are being sold. The proceeds from the concert will be used toward band uniforms.

Marlette Topography Called Good for Golf

MARLETTE—A golf course for Marlette is favored by several factors, according to Edward Daugherty, who spoke to Lions and Juvamus clubs recently.

A course should not be started, he told the group, unless about $50,000 is immediately available. Favoring a course is a suitable topography, population, and the lack of other courses near by.

Presbyterian Unit to Start Its Services on Sunday

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—Newcomer to the area is the Rev. Samuel Colman Jr., who is organizing a Presbyterian church in the Middlebelt and Maple roads area.

First service for the new congregation is set for Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Eagle School at 14 Mile and Middlebelt roads.

Eye Civic Center, Industry

Predict Clawson of Tomorrow

CLAWSON—A preview of what might prove to be the Clawson of tomorrow will be delivered to citizens here over the weekend in the form of a 44-page booklet entitled "General Development Plan."

The plan outlines what Clawson must do in the coming years to meet the challenge of its anticipated growth.

It is expected that Clawson will increase its present population of 13,000 by 40 per cent and become fully developed within the next ten years.

Clawson covered an area of two and one quarter square miles. Four thousand copies of the booklet will be delivered to Clawson taxpayers by the Guardian Angel Teen Club, said Mayor John Darbee.

Among major projects proposed by the plan is construction of a 47-acre civic center, recreation facilities within walking distance of every citizen at its schools, improved neighborhoods, a centralized commercial area, an industrial center to help bear the city tax load, and improved public utilities.

Construction of the Twelve Town drain now being held up by two participating communities, is the most urgently needed public utility, Mayor Darby says.

Clawson has already agreed to pay its $2,230,000 share of the estimated $38 million cost of the drain.
