GMC Truck Gets Largest Single Fleet Order

Express Agency Purchases 1,000 Delivery Trucks

Trend to Automatic Drive Cited by Head of Local Division

Largest single order for trucks in its history has been received by GMC Truck & Coach Div. here. The division will build 1,000 trucks equipped with hydraulic drive for Railway Express Agency. The order is to be completed by early next year.

Railway Express revealed in New York today that the huge order is part of 3,000 pickup and delivery trucks being purchased at a cost of nine and a half million dollars. In addition to the big share of work for GMC Truck, five other automotive plants have part of the work.

Cost of the 1,000 trucks to be built here was not revealed, but GMC Truck will build a third of the vehicles.

The order is proof that the era of automatic transmissions for trucks has arrived. Philip J. Monaghan, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the GMC Truck & Coach Division, said today.

Although sales percentages of GMC trucks with hydraulic drive have been increasing steadily over the past year, the Express agency purchase of such equipment not only comprises the largest truck fleet order in trucking history but places a confident stamp of approval in a sweeping manner on hydraulic for the economical operation of a great transportation agency, Monaghan said.

The transmission for the 1,000 trucks is the GMC 4-speed truck hydraulic, introduced to the trucking industry almost two years ago. Since then, GMC has offered an 8-speed hydraulic for medium duty trucks and a twin hydraulic for heavy duty units to round out the first and only complete line of hydraulic trucks.

"This truck is ideally suited for city delivery work," Monaghan said. "The automatic transmission assures a more economical and efficient operation, by eliminating any need for slow and wearisome gear shifting."

Railway Express Agency said truck chassis equipment also will be supplied by the Fargo Motor Division (Dodge) of Chrysler Corp.; Ford Motor Co.; and International Harvester Co.

Truck bodies to complete the unit are being built by Gerstner Co., Wooster, Ohio; York-Iloover Body Corp., York, Pa.; and Metropolitan Body Corp., International Harvester Co. subsidiary, Bridgeport, Conn.

Former Pontiac Girl Wins Honors on Concert Stage

A former Pontiac girl who rose in eight years from typist to Metropolitan Opera singer will hold a top spot on a nationwide radio broadcast Monday evening.

She is Lucy Armaganian, known as Lucine Amara in her concert work, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Armaganian. She will be on the Telephone Hour at 9 p. m. Monday, heard in this area over radio station WWJ.

Lucy attended Wilson and Lincoln Junior High Schools here and started her musical education with violin lessons with Bertha Marie Roth.

Miss Roth recalls that the young pupil liked to sing as she played, but her voice did not attract special attention at that time.

With her parents who moved to San Francisco in 1937, there she played violin in a civic orchestra and sang in choral groups where her voice attracted a vocal teacher, Mrs. Stella Eisner-Eyn. She was 18 when she had her first vocal lessons.

At 19 she sang in the San Francisco Opera chorus. From then on she worked at commercial job mornings, studied voice the remainder of the time.

Shortly after her debut recital, Miss Amara won an eight-week scholarship to the Music Academy of the West at Santa Barbara. In 1948 she won the national Atwater Kent Award over a field of 1,500 contestants. This award included a cash prize of $2,000 and a concert (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

President Sees 'Inaction' Unless GOP Is Winner

Warns Party Workers Against Split Between Executive-Congress

LOS ANGELES (UP)—President Eisenhower says he wants a Republican victory in the coming congressional elections to save the government from "deterioration, stagnation and inaction."

Speaking before 18,000 party workers in the Hollywood Bowl last night, Eisenhower said a Democratic Congress and a Republican White House would result in an "endless round of political maneuverings."

He urged the GOP campaigners to "go to work" to guarantee the administration a friendly Congress.

The chief executive was scheduled to speak briefly today before the American Federation of Labor convention—an admittedly hostile audience. The AFL has denounced the administration for "many crimes of omission and commission."

Eisenhower denounced anti-administration "peddlers" of "false fears" and predicted the Republicans will "ride forward over their gloom-filled talk and their cynical doubt."

In a fighting mood, the President sought to whip up enthusiasm for the Republican cause among the party faithful.

"We are determined to fulfill every commitment that we have made to the American people," he said.

"For a political party to be held clearly accountable to the people for its political philosophy to guide the course of our government, it is essential that the party and the executive branch by the other, politics in Washington has a field day."

The conduct of government tends, under these conditions, to deteriorate into an endless round of political maneuverings, of stagnation and inaction—of half measures or no measures at all."

In his strongest appeal to date in the stepped-up party effort to elect a friendly Congress, the President called for a rekindling of the GOP campaign enthusiasm of 1952.

"I am convinced that the great majority of Americans think that we have done a good job," he said. "But the very confidence that they now have in our government has understandably diminished their constant and active participation in its affairs."

"It is our task to reactivate that participation. It is our task again to organize this great majority actively in our cause."

Leonard Blasts Gov. Williams' Road Program

STURGIS (U)—Donald S. Leonard, Republican nominee for governor, has accused Gov. G. Menen Williams of failing to solve the state's highway problems.

Leonard, in campaign speeches in St. Joseph County yesterday, said Williams promised "to take Michigan out of the mud in 1948."

"But in 1949 he balked at recommendations of the Good Roads Federation, in 1950 he refused to submit that program to a special legislative session and in 1951 he vetoed the good roads program," Leonard said.

Leonard charged Williams changed his stand only because this was an election year.

"In this election year, the governor suddenly has changed his tune to become the champion of good roads and advocate a proposed $500,000,000 bond issue for highway construction."

Leonard called for a "well-ordered" road program that "best meets traffic needs."

"I don't want people to vote for a pig-in-a-poke indebtedness that could be made a political grab bag."

Dem Achievements Cited by Governor

IRON RIVER (U)—The Republicans are ignoring "evidences of progress all around you" when they charge there is a stalemate in Lansing, Gov. Williams said.

In a speech yesterday, the governor said that "the Republican candidate must have looked the other way when he crossed the Straits of Mackinac the other day. Or maybe he would call the rising piers and foundations of the world's largest bridge evidence of a stalemate at the Straits."

"The past few years," the governor said, "since we have had Democrats in Lansing to work for your interests, have been years of unparalleled progress. The evidences of progress are all around you—even my opponent could see them if he wanted to look."

Meanwhile the executive office at Lansing issued a statement in which the governor said somebody is trying to use Mayor Albert E. Cobo in the Republican campaign.

The mayor repeated an error made by Donald S. Leonard, the Republican candidate for governor, when Leonard "falsely accused me of opposing the Detroit expressway program," Williams said.

The governor said he was only concerned about the constitutionality of issuing bonds for the expressways without a vote of the people.

Wallet Lost for 2 Years

NORTH PROVIDENCE, R.I. (U)—Romeo Johnson lost a wallet containing $39 while working on a water main project two years ago. Working on a sewer project on the same street yesterday he saw a fellow worker uncover the wallet 15 feet from where he lost it. The money was all there, too.

Detroit Probers Bring Out Story of 'Windfalls'

Saul Silberman Called to Stand, Also Former Bank Employee

DETROIT (U)—The Senate Banking Committee ordered a former $2,600-a-year Federal Housing Administration employee in Baltimore back to the witness stand today in its inquiry into FHA loan operations.

A third Maryland housing project was the subject of inquiry.

Saul Silberman, of Baltimore, conceded in testimony yesterday that on two of three projects FHA guaranteed loans totaled $772,000 more than his costs, if salaries he and a partner paid themselves and profits on land they sold themselves were deleted.

If land profits and salaries were figured in, which he insisted they should be, Silberman conceded on questioning by Chairman Capehart (R-Ind.) he got "more than $400,000" in excess of what he spent.

The committee labeled the excess "windfall profits," but Silberman argued it was wrong in not crediting $120,000 spent after completion of one project in converting 50 apartments into 100.

He said the cost of bringing utilities to the site and land improvement costs should be included, too.

Silberman testified he worked for FHIA in 1936-37 at the $2,600-a-year rate. Committee counsel William Simon said Silberman now was one of the owners of the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League and of Randall Race Track outside Cleveland and Tropical Park Race Course in Miami.

Silberman was questioned closely about association with Clyde Powell, former FHA deputy commissioner in charge of rental property loans. Capehart said Powell twice had invoked the Fifth Amendment in appearances before the committee.

Silberman, who said he quit FHA to enter the building business, testified that he never had gambled with Powell, paid any gambling debts for Powell or bought any part-mutual betting tickets for him at race tracks.

The apartment projects on which Silberman conceded loans exceeded costs were identified in testimony as Uplands Apartments and Uplands Apartments B. He was listed on committee records as the builder of Uplands Apartments, Fairfax Gardens Apartments and Meade Heights, all Maryland rental housing projects.

As today's hearings opened U. S. marshals had orders to arrest Mrs. Ruth Stokes, of Detroit. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

30 Dead as Jet Fuel Tank Explodes at German Depot

BITBURG, Germany (U)—At least 30 persons were listed as dead today and five more believed missing in the explosion of a 120,000-gallon tank of American jet fuel. Investigators said they had ruled out sabotage.

There were no American casualties in the blast here in the French zone yesterday, near the Luxembourg border.

The colony of big tanks, at the end of a NATO pipeline from France, stores six million gallons of fuel for U. S. Air Force jet interceptors and fighter bombers stationed at Bitburg.

The known dead included 22 Germans and 8 Frenchmen. Another 18 persons were injured seriously.

Military property damage in the disaster was estimated unofficially at more than two million dollars. To keep the blaze away from other tanks, the 1,000 franc fire, German and American fire fighters pumped 300,000 gallons of fuel from nearby tanks into the Nims and Sauer rivers.

The blast occurred during a fire fighting demonstration watched by French officials and German employees at the fuel depot. German federal police, joining French security agents in an investigation, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Former 4-H Agent Describes Conditions in Mexico

"Agricultural methods in the Mexican village of Tepoztlan had one unchanged for centuries. We introduced the miracle of the post-hole digger."

This was the condition of the Mexican village when Robert L. Lewis went there in 1948 as an agricultural advisor for the International Y. M. C. A.

In a talk before the local rotary club here yesterday Lewis described his experiences while improving conditions there.

Previous to his Mexican assignment, Lewis was district leader of 4-H clubs for Oakland and Macomb counties, and county supervisor for the Farm Security Admin.

"Tepoztlan is a two hour drive from Mexico City. It's a place that had not seen a wheel before 1937," he said.

"The Mexicans are not a lazy people, as most Americans believe," Lewis stated. "In fact, they have no chance to be lazy... they have to struggle to survive."

was the forerunner of the present work of agricultural programs. The Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. of Mexico saw the need for a school, hospital and improved living standards. Land was bought by the Y. and space established for boys to learn improved methods of farming.

Lewis moved into the village with his family after three months study of the language in Mexico City.

"Still it took three more months in the village before we began to be understood," he explained.

In an effort to learn what the villagers were interested in, Lewis asked several of them what they would like to see done. Instead of shedding light on their desires "the citizens spent an hour telling us what they didn't like," he laughed.

"So we began going into the village and doing things without telling them about it," he continued.

"Soon the improvements were noticed and the villagers began coming to us to learn how they could do the same for themselves. This was what we wanted," Lewis explained.

"The people should learn by doing things for themselves. We merely try to show them improvements through demonstration projects, then we let them try it."

"Our contribution has in the broadest sense been in the establishment of a program," he said.

A demonstration adobe home was built. The school was set up with windows to illustrate their advantages. Now the villagers have whitewashed three-room homes with windows and concrete floors.

Demonstrations were held with hybrid corn and fertilizer. A check-board field was planted with different amounts of fertilizer and various breeds of corn in each section.

When the villagers saw corn eight feet tall in one plot, and at heights ranging down to little over a foot in others, they asked why. Thus they learned to improve their (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

League Program Points Up Sewage, Water Problems

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM—The seriousness of the situation regarding Oakland County's water supply and sewage pollution problems were reiterated this week at a program at the Community House sponsored by the county council of the League of Women Voters.

Ledyard Blakeman, chairman of the Metropolitan Regional Planning Commission, outlined the overall problem and possible solutions to an adequate water supply.

Several acute sewage situations existing not only in the county but throughout the state, were pointed out by Donald Pierce, chief of the sewage and sewage treatment division of the Michigan Health Department.

He showed what had been done or was being started—as is the case in Birmingham—to alleviate such conditions.

Birmingham City Manager Donald C. Egbert again explained the proposed $2,740,000 Evergreen Interceptor sewer, which would permit Birmingham and surrounding municipalities to abate pollution of the upper Rouge Valley, as ordered by the Michigan Water Resources Commission. Sewage would flow through the interceptor into the Detroit system for treatment.

Only holdout in the project which the County Board of Supervisors approved this week, is the City of Lathrup Village. Egbert said yesterday that the Lathrup City Council took no affirmative action at a Wednesday meeting.

The council agreed in principle, Egbert pointed out, but still questions Lathrup's share of the costs or the number of connection units.

"In computing the proportionate share of costs, one unit per vacant lot was designated," he continued. "But past experience shows that homes are not built that way. Some homes are constructed on one and a half lots and there are always some lots that remain vacant forever."

"The number of estimated units is materially in excess of the number they'll have, but this would also hold true in Southfield Township or Birmingham," said Egbert. In concluding Egbert said, "Because any delay will only mean additional costs, the district may have to go ahead without Lathrup, but their own engineer has advised them it is foolish to consider any other method."

Considerable discussion over use of the city's Shain Park took place this week when the City Commission met with Edwin Gage and Richard Freund, West Maple property owners who feel that their share in a special assessment for a proposed off-street parking lot does not conform with benefits they would receive.

The parking lot would be in the block bounded by Pierce, Merrill, Woodward and Brown. Sharing equally in the assessment district would be the city and benefiting property owners.

Lawmakers felt the commission should have the advice of the city attorney and the advantage of comments from others included in the district before determining the benefits. They did feel the men had some justification in their claim, however.

Regarding Shain Park, City Manager Donald C. Egbert said yesterday, "The commission is firm in being against a plan to use the park as a parking lot. They feel that citizens in general would not approve, and they as individuals, are of the same opinion."

An important consideration, he added, is that "Birmingham has to retain its character and charm if it is to maintain its values as a residential community."

An open house for the church school of the First Baptist Church will begin at 7:30 tonight. All parents, children and friends are invited to attend.

A goal of $186,338 has been set for the annual United Foundation Torch Drive campaign in this area, it was announced yesterday by John K. Stevenson, chairman of the Birmingham-Bloomfield-Franklin drive.

The over-all goal of $13,250,000 was arrived at by the Metropolitan Board of the U.F.

Stevenson said this is the largest single cooperative effort in the community's history. The quota compares with last year's $152,715, with increases due partly to continued rise in area population and greater demands upon the 150 health and welfare agencies within the U.F.

The greatest increase is due to the inclusion of the Red Cross, in the Torch Drive for the first time.

Fall confirmation classes will begin tomorrow at St. James Episcopal Church, with ages 9 to 11 meeting at 10 a.m. Youngsters aged 12 to 16 will meet at 11 a.m. Adult classes start at 8 p.m. next Tuesday.

Autumn visitors to the gardens of Cranbrook House will find hundreds of flowers in bloom, many forlorn plantings and shrubs at their peak, and 40 acres of landscaped park just donning fall colors.

The gardens are open Saturdays from 2 to 5:30 and Sundays from 2 to 6:30 p.m. They are operated by the scholarship committees of Kingswood and Cranbrook Schools. A nominal admission fee is charged to benefit outstanding students needing scholarship assistance.

Members of Pembroke Manor subdivision association will again dance to the music of Bobby Dickerson at a bonnie starting at 8:30 tonight at Bonnie Brook Country Club. Telegraph at 8 Mile roads.

Launching its fall program on Monday is the YMCA, which is already taking registrations for the YMCA play club which will meet Wednesday afternoons and Saturday mornings.

Membership in the Y is a prerequisite for the group, which will make trips, hike, hear sports lectures, participate in sports activities and do craft work.

The Indian Guides, Gray-Y, Jr. Hi-Y and Hi-Y will also get underway next week.

There was little idea of what health measures were. Pit toilets were introduced only after three years of effort.

Now there is a health program and nursery school. A trained nurse is part of the program and has delivered 1500 babies, losing only one, and has handled 15,000 clinic cases in the last five years.

The nursery school takes care of the younger children. They are charged one egg for each two days of attendance. Mr. Lewis explained, "It makes them feel a part of it," he added.

A playground and camp were built near the village as part of the parent-sponsored youth program. It was dedicated last year on the village-meeting ground and playing field.

The camp, Lewis reports, is now the only organized camp in Mexico and in great demand.

According to Lewis, the idea behind the building of the camp was to get people to come into the area to see the improvement wrought under the advancement program.

Since it attracts a great number of people, from Mexico City, word of the progress of the community gets back to government officials.

"The government has taken notice," Lewis said.

Lewis is on a leave of absence for further study at Cornell University.

He stated that his four years here were a real help in preparing for his work in Mexico.

Lewis graduated from Mississippi State College of Agriculture and holds a masters degree from George Williams College in Chicago.

She failed to appear yesterday. Chairman Capehart said she had been served a subpoena and was in contempt.

Mrs. Stokes was named by one witness as the person who arranged a $1,200 home improvement loan which her husband used to "pay me off" for a divorce.

The witness was Mildred Redmond, of Detroit, who said Mrs. Stokes charged her $200 she got out of the loan for arranging it.

Mrs. Stokes and a Jack Chi of Detroit were among 12 missing of 30 witnesses when the hearings got under way. Capehart threatened all with contempt, but ordered one arrest only after Chi appeared belatedly and said it would be on hand today.

William Ray Shepherd, a former employee of the Industrial National Bank of Detroit, testified that he had accepted $1,000 from Chi for approving $30 home improvement loans "of doubtful character." He said he resigned from the bank last July 15.

Mrs. Cedar Point Thompson, a Detroit formerly employed by the Michigan Corporations and Security Commission, said Mrs. Stokes called her and suggested she could get a $1,500 home improvement loan through an FHA application and use it for a down payment on a home.

Mrs. Thompson said she signed the application, saying the loan was to be used for a parking lot and a stairs to a second floor apartment in the new home, which she didn't then own.

Mrs. Thompson said she paid Mrs. Stokes $500 cash when Mrs. Stokes threatened to tell the Corporations and Securities Commission she had got "a phony" FHA loan. The state agency has since suspended Mrs. Thompson.

Albert R. Barbeau, chief of the FHA home improvement loan department of Industrial National Bank, drew criticism from Sen. Capehart.

Barbeau said all loan applications were checked, but Capehart expressed doubt that government-guaranteed paper got as close scrutiny as that on which the bank chanced its own money.

"You can't blame everybody else and not the banks to some extent," Capehart said. You, in effect, were trustees for the United States government."

A series of witnesses testified they had been gyped on loans and work arranged by home improvement firms, most of which subcontracted the work to others.

Some said they were promised but never got commissions which would cover costs for letting promoters use jobs on their property as "models" for other sales.

At least one witness said he never signed the FHA loan contract or completion certificate and didn't get what he bargained for, but had been held responsible for a $750 loan.

$100,000 Taken in Bank Holdup

Pair Force Employees to Open Doors to Vault in New York Suburb

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y.—Two holdup men forced employees to open the vault of a bank today and escaped with approximately $100,000.

They tied up the manager and three tellers of the Fulton Ave. drive-in branch of the County Trust Co. shortly before the bank was scheduled to open at 8 a.m.

Branch manager Edmund Tichenor managed to roll over to a floor button and sound an alarm to police headquarters after the robbers fled with the money, intended for payrolls.

Police and FBI men launched a widespread search.

It was the first bank robbery in the history of Mount Vernon, a New York suburb adjacent to the Bronx.

The two men were waiting outside the rear door of the bank when Tichenor arrived at 7:30 a.m. "Do you know Fran Warren, the singer?" one of them remarked. Tichenor said he did not.

"Well, it doesn't make any difference," said one, pulling a gun. "Get inside."

They followed Tichenor into the bank and forced him to turn the combination on the vault. However, there are two combinations on the vault, with Tichenor knowing only one.

The robbers bound him up and waited for Mrs. Jean Beebe, a teller, who knows the second combination.

When she walked in at 7:40 a.m., they forced her to complete the unlocking of the vault.

But a time device on the vault does not permit it to open until about 15 minutes after the unlocking, so the robbers had to wait.

In the meantime two other tellers arrived and were bound up. They are William Strasser and George Kastin, both of the Bronx.

The robbers, after binding the four, forced the men to lie on the floor and Mrs. Beebe on a couch. They told them they would not be hurt if they kept quiet.

When the vault doors swung open the men stuffed the money into used machine covers, which they added as bags.

Japanese Bitterly Mourn Victim of H-Bomb Tests

TOKYO—Japan plunged into almost hysterical mourning today over the death last night of a 40-year-old fisherman who has become the nation's symbol of hatred and fear of atomic weapons.

News papers and radio broadcasts were virtually turned over to news of Aikichi Kuboyama's death. Much of the comment was anti-American, but not violently so.

A U.S.-educated Japanese newspaper editor said only the death of an Emperor could have commanded similar attention in the nation's press.

Kuboyama was one of 23 fishermen accidentally dined by radioactive ash in U.S. H-bomb tests at Bikini March 1.

Japanese doctors said he died of jaundice resulting from radiation sickness and Japanese physicians who performed an autopsy fixed radiation sickness as the fundamental cause of death.

Attorney Backs New Court Site

Fred J. Harmer Takes Issue With Patterson on Present Location

Frederick J. Harmer, Lake Orion attorney, in a statement to the Press, takes exception of views expressed recently by Attorney C. K. Patterson relative to the site for the proposed new courthouse.

Harmer agrees that a new courthouse is urgently needed, but strongly objects to building again on the present site. His statement to the Press follows:

"I take exception to the courthouse views of C. K. Patterson recently published in your paper.

"The courthouse proposition is a matter of public concern of all the citizens of Oakland County, not just a few, including the lawyers.

"His views on transportation, in my opinion are a horse and buggy approach or analysis of present every day American living, without giving any consideration for the reasonable, visible Oakland County future.

"His views are based on the fact that there is no private land immediately adjacent for commercial development is, in my opinion, one of the best reasons for the site. This should be a place for the transaction of important public business, not a trading center.

"As to the title of the present site, he suggests that the fee is questionable. This has no real bearing upon the issue, but able counsel presented the matter of reverter.

"The highest judicial authority has spoken and the legal problem resolved: That an attempted assignment of a right of reverter before breach extinguished the right." (Oakland Co. vs. Mack.)

This has been settled Michigan law for 20 years. Does Mr. Patterson suggest that which is the law is not the law?

"The only point of agreement I have with Mr. Patterson is that the project is definitely needed, but in any event, building on the present site would be the height of folly.

"In arriving at my conclusion, I have tried to approach it without bias. I believe it is important and desirable to state that I have no interests in any of the lands, nor do I represent any such interested clients.

"Mr. Patterson is entitled to his opinion, whatever it might be, the same as any citizen, but his views are not the views of the lawyers of Oakland County. If these views are desirable, appropriate methods are available."

Bank Robbery Suspect Posed at Michigan Boy

An Associated Press story from Jersey City, N. J., Tuesday saying a boy arrested there in connection with a Philadelphia bank robbery was Jerry Roberts, of Grand Rapids, was incorrect. Youth Is Eighth Polio Victim

Thomas W. Hill Dies in St. Joseph Hospital 2 Days After Illness

Oakland County's 1954 infantile paralysis death toll mounted to eight yesterday with the death of 14-year-old Thomas W. Hill of 2316 Fairport, Drayton Woods, in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

The youth was stricken with bulbar polio the same day as a neighbor, Mrs. Harold Doremus, 30, of 2290 Highfield Dr. died of the same form of the disease in St. Joseph Hospital.

The youth often had been a baby-sitter for the Doremus child, Steven, but had not been in the Doremus home for three weeks, according to reports.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hill, Tom was a ninth grade student at Waterford High School.

In addition to his parents he is survived by a sister, JoAnn B., a brother, William J.; his grandparents, Mrs. Norma A. Maurer of Orlando, Fla., and Mrs. Erva Hill of Munising, and his great-grandmother, Mrs. Christine Taber of Pontiac.

Rosary will be recited at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Voorhees-Siple Funeral Home, with funeral service set for 10 a.m. Monday at Our Lady of the Lakes Church.

30 Die in Explosion of Jet Fuel Tank

said the "possibility of sabotage" would be explored thoroughly. French Army engineers and German police ringed the burned out tank today.

It was the second worst explosion in West Germany since the war. A blast in July 1948, at the I.G. Farben Chemical works in Ludwigshafen killed 207 persons.

Bitburg municipal officials said as part of the fire fighting demonstration, gasoline was poured on top of the tank's concrete roof and ignited. The fire fighting apparatus was supposed to put out the fast blaze almost instantly, but instead the tank underneath exploded.

The officials speculated that the test fire had ignited fumes in the exhaust pipes of the tank.

The Bitburg officials said the demonstration was being staged by an international company engaged in NATO air base work, including the installation of fire extinguishing equipment. The tank farm is operated by a company of French soldiers under NATO auspices.

The explosion sent a column of black smoke nearly two miles into the air. Flames shot up 1,000 feet. The flames were brought under control three hours after the explosion but black smoke still drifted over the disaster area today.

The blackened, mangled bodies of the victims—many of them impossible to identify—were laid out in the Bitburg Athletic Hall, Mass. funerals were arranged for Monday.

Bank Robbery Suspect Posed at Michigan Boy

An Associated Press story from Jersey City, N. J., Tuesday saying a boy arrested there in connection with a Philadelphia bank robbery was Jerry Roberts, of Grand Rapids, was incorrect. Police later discovered the boy arrested was not the Michigan boy, but was posing as him, carrying identification papers belonging to Jerry which either had stolen or found. Jerry's father is Famous Roberts of 90 Oakland, Pontiac. Later police investigation shows that the younger Roberts has not been out of Michigan and was in no way connected with the crime.

Prison Officials Mull Wreckage

Missouri Concentrates on Rehabilitation After Convict Riot

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UP)—Missouri prison officials today concentrated on rehabilitation problems growing out of the convict riot that virtually wiped out the state penitentiary industries.

They also sought ringleaders in the 15-hour rebellion.

When the revolt finally ended early yesterday, four convicts were dead, 30 others and three guards were injured. Damage to the penitentiary was estimated at three to five million dollars.

Three of the injured prisoners remained in critical condition.

Thomas E. Whittecot, director of corrections, said he planned to make a thorough investigation before taking any disciplinary action.

He said he felt the ringleaders comprised a small group in the maximum security section where the rioting started.

Some prisoners claimed it resulted from pent-up resentment over food. Other prisoners and officials said they believed the riot was without purpose — instigated by unstable convicts and carried out by men who were victims of mass hysteria.

Whittecot said the immediate concern of penal authorities was:

1. To get the penitentiary back to a near normal operating basis.

2. To attempt to solve the problem of carrying on until the next state legislative session can do something about reconstructing the wrecked buildings.

Prison authorities are expected to ask the governor to advance emergency funds to aid in rehabilitation.

State troopers and National Guardsmen remained on duty although the prisoners, back in their cells, were quiet.

Worker's Coffee Break Brings Out the Law

PITTSBURGH (UP)—City police on the alert in the midst of a 10-month, violence-marred department store strike surrounded a downtown building Thursday night after a man crawled in through a basement window.

A search turned up a plumber who said he had gone out for coffee and sneaked back through the window so his boss wouldn't catch him.

SAIGON, Indochina (UP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem late today tossed out his old Cabinet and formed a new one of 32 members amid rumblings of a bloody weekend may be in prospect.

Plans Approved for High School

Lyon Township Board Will Accept Bids Oct. 6 for Building Contract

SOUTH LYON—Final plans for a high school unit have been approved by the board of education of the Lyon Township school district.

The high school building will be adjacent to the present 15-room elementary unit on the 27-acre school property. Bids from building contractors will be taken and opened at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 6, in the elementary school office of Supt. Frank Bartlett.

Completed plans call for eight general class rooms, administrative offices, library facilities, complete accommodations for all vocational departments, including commercial, agricultural, home making, science, shop and farm shop, cafeteria, and a multi-purpose room with shower and locker rooms for boys and girls.

Special music rooms for rehearsals and practice and an 800-seat capacity gymnasium are included. It is expected that the building will be available for use for the opening of school in September 1955.

The bonds of $540,000 to cover the cost of the building and a one-room addition to New Hudson School were sold this summer.

As soon as the building contract is awarded, construction will be started on the high school unit. The addition at the New Hudson School is under construction.

The Lyon Township school system currently has a record enrollment of 1208 students, an increase of 127 over last year's enrollment.
