

Oakland's Master of Science in Nursing program ranked in national survey

May 31, 2019

SHARE THIS STORY

Study.com has published its 2019 rankings for the best Master of Science in Nursing programs in the country, and Oakland University came in at No. 44.

The website evaluated hundreds of nursing schools for this list, and selected Oakland based on academic and career resources for nursing students, the quality of education, faculty and more. In a brief profile, Study.com highlighted Oakland's adult/gerontology nurse practitioner and family nurse practitioner tracks, along with its forensic nursing program.

OU's Master of Science in Nursing is ranked no. 44 on Study.com's 2019 rankings of the nation's best master's programs in nursing

Over 40 million visitors per month use Study.com to research potential schools, degrees and careers.

Learn more about OU's graduate programs in nursing at oakland.edu/nursing/graduate-programs/.