Urban Renewal Key Approved

Commission Passes Top Document After Legal Fight

Legal doubts cleared up, the City Commission last night approved the most important document in Pontiac's plans for an urban renewal project.

Overlaid by a unanimous vote was the development and relocation plan that already had been approved by the public at an open hearing and by the Planning Commission.

Approval by the city of this portion of the plan will be the main consideration for federal officials when they get set to stamp final federal approval on Pontiac's application for funds in June, said Robert A. Stever, assistant city manager and coordinator of the urban renewal program.

The program is to begin this summer.

It will involve land clearance in blighted areas of the southern business district, plus blight control in the residential neighborhood east of downtown and south of City Hall.

Expansion of the civic center and clearance for a big portion of the proposed downtown loop highway are also involved.

Expect Colbert to Propose Chrysler Juggling at Top

BY JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT — Chrysler Corp. and other top auto industry officials believe Chrysler President L. L. Colbert will try to consolidate his control of the company by recommending a realignment of top executives.

About 300 Chrysler officials and other auto company leaders gathered at the Detroit Golf Club last night to honor Chrysler Vice President James C. Zeder, who will retire Saturday.

But most of the casual conversation at the dinner centered around reports that Colbert would be named board chairman and William C. Newberg, executive vice president, would be named president at the Chrysler board meeting tomorrow in New York.

The matter was mentioned twice during formal ceremonies last night.

INTRODUCTION HINTS
The master of ceremonies introduced Colbert as "a lawyer who wanted something more and got it but now, according to reports, is about to get a new job."

Chrysler Vice President Paul C. Ackerman said Zeder would be remembered even if current officers of the company were changed, "although I hope Mr. Colbert will be around for a good many years yet."

Colbert, himself, refused to say anything about the report. "I have made no statement," he said.

But most of the other officials, although proclaiming no intimate knowledge, said they felt Colbert would move to insure that he would be "around for a good many years yet."

als Tuesday in the Pennsylvania and Massachusetts primaries.

Nixon, who has no announced rival for the Republican nomination, relied on impressive totals that buried the hopes of those who wanted to see outbursts of sentiment for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Nixon exceeded President Eisenhower's popular vote of eight years ago in the Pennsylvania primary and was within reach of Ike's presidential preference count of 1956.

With returns incomplete, Nixon's total of 901,296 from 8,623 of the state's 9,013 precincts slipped past Eisenhower's 1952 figure of 853,785.

Four years ago the President amassed 551,322.

Of the two primaries, the one in Pennsylvania had the most significance.

In fact, one Boston election official, because of the light turnout, called the Massachusetts primary a waste of money.

KENNEDY LEADS
Democratic write-ins were tabulated for Kennedy, Adlai E. Stevenson and Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.), Stuart Symington (Mo.) and Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.).

Returns from 8,274 precincts of 9,013 showed Kennedy, 161,822; Stevenson, 24,635; Humphrey, 11,894; Symington, 5,490; and Johnson, 2,347.

Nixon's impressive vote-getting without even campaigning, in the state virtually shattered the hopes of die-hard backers of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Rockefeller, although insisting he is not a candidate, made two appearances in the state last week. He received but 8,474 write-ins. Nixon's name was on the ballot, the only formal entry from either party.

Kennedy's victory was not binding on the state's 11 delegate-votes at the Democratic National Convention in July.

Nixon's victory, however, apparently assured him of Pennsylvania's 70 votes at the Republican convention.

GOP HOLDING
In two special elections for unexpired terms in Congress, Republicans retained the seats.

State Sen. Douglas Elliott trounced Democrat Robert Meyers, a newspaper executive, with a vote of 42,156 to 20,099 from 312 of the district's 315 precincts.

Herman T. Schneebeli, GOP businessman in his first political fight, edged out Dean Fisher, an attorney in the other traditionally Republican central Pennsylvania rural area, Schneebeli had 41,135 to Fisher's 40,893 in returns from 373 of the district's 377 precincts.

In Massachusetts, Kennedy's home state, all votes were written. Returns from 1,600 of the state's 1,619 precincts gave him 90,692 votes.

Again Stevenson was a distant second, this time with 4,355 votes.

Nixon had 50,143 votes, with Rockefeller far behind with 3,697 votes.

In cross-over voting, 3,697 Republicans wrote in the name of Kennedy, and 681 Democrats wrote in the name of Nixon.

Ike Blames Age for Rhee's Ruin

Tells Nikita to Avoid Torpedoing Summit by Menacing on Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, in a wide-ranging news conference, today warned Nikita Khrushchev against ultimatums, and pictured ousted President Syngman Rhee of Korea as a great patriot who lapsed into mistakes in his old age.

In effect, Eisenhower cautioned Russian Premier Khrushchev that threats about Berlin could wreck the May summit conference in Paris before it gets started.

The President said he will never go to any conference under the threat of an ultimatum.

This was his reply to Khrushchev's recent declaration that the Western Allies will forfeit rights of access to divided Berlin if Russia signs a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

Eisenhower expressed confidence, however, that Khrushchev won't press things too far.

On Korea, Eisenhower said at pains to say the United States had no part in inciting anti-Rhee riots which led to the resignation of the 65-year-old Republic of Korea President.

As for his own role, Eisenhower said the only thing he did was to tell Rhee that apparently there had been irregularities in the Korean elections, and that the situation (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Foreign Minister Gets Caretaker Job Till Election

Cites Mismanagement, Waste on Aid Setup From U.S.

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—South Korea's acting president, installed after civil rebellion toppled Syngman Rhee, pledged himself today to political reforms. He even aimed his new broom at what he called "waste and mismanagement" in the U.S.-Korean-aid program.

Huh Chung, named foreign minister by Rhee as the regime started to buckle under revolutionary anger, took over the powers of the presidency early today.

Huh and his Cabinet, which thus far has only two other members, will serve as a caretaker regime until a new president and vice president are elected. The Constitution requires this to be done within three months.

Huh, 64, an independent politician and former premier, called a news conference soon after Rhee, fulfilling a promise made Tuesday, resigned the presidency.

He outlined this nation's most important problems to be dealt with after healing the wounds inflicted by more than a week of bloody civil uprisings. High on his list were the questions of relations with the United States and Japan.

"I plan to establish proper measures to improve these relations as soon as possible and make particular effort to carry them out," Huh said.

"Frankly, I think there is need to improve understanding between the United States and Korea and bring about closer cooperation. There are certain areas in relations between the nations where things should have been handled more properly."

The unsatisfactory areas, Huh said, are economic and military aid.

Under the Rhee administration, Huh added, "I think there was waste and mismanagement."

RESIGNED IN PROTEST
The incumbent vice president, John M. Chang, a member of the Democratic opposition, resigned in protest last week.

The vice president-elect, Lee "Ki-pung," was in hiding to escape the wrath of demonstrators who claimed his election March 19 was rigged. A U.S. Army spokesman denied a report Lee had taken refuge at the U.S. base at Inchon.

Huh told his news conference he hoped President Eisenhower would go ahead with his plan to visit Seoul in June on the American Chief Executive's way home (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Sunny Seventy to Stop Off Here for Short Visit

Spring sunshine is predicted for the Pontiac area Thursday with temperatures warming up to a high of 70.

Tonight will be partly cloudy and cool with a low of 40 degrees, the weatherman says.

Temperatures will average about two degrees below the normal high of 62 and normal low of 45 for a few days after Thursday and Friday when temperatures are expected to reach 65-70.

Only minor day-to-day changes are expected over the weekend.

Precipitation for the period will total about 1/4 to 1/2 inch in showers Friday and Saturday and again about Monday.

Oakland's Largest Oak

THE YOUNG AND OLD — Several centuries of living are borne gracefully by the huge oak tree that juts into Rush road in northeastern Oakland Township. Can these young people be thinking of the acorn of long ago from which this magnificent tree has since grown over 100 feet tall? More likely their thoughts are of the new spring as "hope springs eternal." It's an oft-repeated story for the tree, believed to be the oldest living oak in Oakland County. The trunk measures 213 inches in girth 4 1/2 feet from the ground. The attached plaque describes the tree as one of the oldest swamp oaks in Michigan. Posing for the picture are 17-year-old Rochester High School seniors Carolyn Dando and Bill Mason.

Would Bar Municipal Lot Expansion

Sue City Over Parking

Officials of Pontiac Parking Co. today brought suit to block further expansion of the municipal parking system that threatens to ruin their business.

They claimed that the city has been illegally using general funds to expand the municipal parking system and asked for a court order restraining the practice.

The suit was filed by Pontiac attorney Dean G. Beier in behalf of two management officials of the Division and General manager of the private parking company, Joseph Chivrac and Donald Ernst.

Behind the suit—but not named as one of the plaintiffs — was

Stolorow is manager of Pontiac Outdoor Parking Co.

In the suit, it was alleged that the city in the past several years has violated many times the financial suit approved for the parking system by voters in the referendum election of March 5, 1956.

In the ordinance adopted then it was specified that the whole system—construction, operation, maintenance and acquisition of land—must be paid out of meter revenues, it was maintained.

But, the suit continued, the city has purchased several properties for parking with general fund moneys that came out of the capital improvement fund.

Property on West Lawrence street, Pine street and now Wayne street has been so acquired, it was stated.

The Lawrence street lot is in operation and there are plans to install meters on the strip acquired last month between Pine and Wayne streets.

If metered, this strip would offer public parking between two privately-operated lots.

Attacking the municipal parking program from a slightly different angle, the suit charged that the old city hall site at Mill and Pike streets has been illegally converted to parking purposes and that there are imminent plans to do likewise with the Perry street parcel where the old police headquarters stood until its recent razing.

These lands were purchased originally with general funds and should not be used for parking, the suit contended, until the general fund is paid back through accumulated meter revenues.

The suit also questioned the propriety of the Auburn avenue lot, where parking has been installed on state-owned property through a lease arrangement.

It is possible, the suit contends, that conversion of city-owned properties to the parking system will tie them into the restrictions of the parking lot authority, preventing their sale or use for other purposes until 1970.

The suit further contended that the city has violated its ordinance provision by charging maintenance and operational costs for the lots, at least partially, to city budgets and for other departments.

For instance, Beier said in explaining the suit, snow removal costs are probably charged to the Department of Public Works and coin collection is the province of the Police Department.

The suit asks Circuit Court to force the city to open up its financial records for the lots and to give a full accounting of disbursements and receipts.

"It is manifest," said Beier, "that the city can't actually operate, maintain and expand its (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Sales Jump 10 Per Cent for Pontiac

Pontiac retail car sales jumped better than 10 per cent for the first 20 days of April this year over last, it was announced today.

S. E. Knudsen, general manager of the Division and GM vice president, said a total of 27,927 cars were delivered to dealers during the first two-thirds of this month.

"This represents a 10.3 per cent increase over the same period last year when the figure was 25,307," he said.

Sales for the second 10 days of April were 14,950, making it the highest for any mid-month period since September 1955, according to Knudsen.

Ward's Automotive Reports today announced, also, that 236,555 new car sales industry-wide represented a 14.5 per cent increase for the April 1-20 period over the first 10 days of the month.

149 Minors Hurt on Job in State

Injury Toll Up 20 Pct. in 1958 Over Previous Year in Michigan

LANSING (AP)—A total of 149 compensable injuries among working minors under 18 years of age were reported to the Workmen's Compensation Department in 1959—a 20 per cent increase from 1958.

In its annual report, the State Labor Department said the injuries included three fatalities and four permanent disabilities.

At the same time, the department noted that juvenile employment rose from 42,072 in 1958 to 48,004 last year.

The department reported the volume of unpaid wage claims rose from 1958 and said "the adoption of minimum wage legislation in Michigan to reduce the volume." In light of this, the department recommended a minimum state wage of $1.25 per hour.

Another recommendation called for a maximum eight-hour day and 40-hour week for working women compared with the current maximum of a 10-hour day and a 54-hour week which was enacted in 1920.

The department also asked that it be given a larger safety inspection staff, estimating that only about 10 per cent of Michigan industrial establishments received regular inspections last year as required by law.

Charge Bootlegger, Pair in Sheriff Death

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A king-pin bootlegger and two hired gunmen today faced charges in what the district attorney called "one of the most brutal and blood-curdling murders committed against mankind."

Dist. Atty. Vernon Broom of Columbia, told newsmen Tuesday that Hillary Thornhill, 45, a Marion County moonshiner, had plotted, Sheriff J. V. Polk's ambush. The 50-year-old Marion County sheriff was assassinated Friday night after liquor raids.

"The plan was to get rid of the sheriff, and they would set up a tremendous bootleg operation in Marion County," Broom said.

by an explosion among Korea's university and high school students, who believed he was cheating them of democracy.

Crusty, wrinkled 84-year-old Rhee firmly believed that he alone could defend South Korea from the dangers of communism to the north.

On March 15, barely six weeks after the cries of his opposition in the Democratic Party, Rhee was still the great liberator and hero to millions of Koreans. He could have been elected president for a fourth four-year term in a free and honest election.

But Rhee took no chances. After his Democratic Party opponent died a month before the vote, he refused to postpone the election so another Democrat could be nominated.

Rhee's Liberal Party concentrated on a vice presidential victory for Lee Ki-pung, Rhee's chosen successor.

The election results announced by the government gave Rhee the biggest vote of his career, nearly 90 per cent of the ballots. Lee swamped Vice President John M. Chung of the Democratic Party, who four years ago soundly trounced Lee.

On election night charges of widespread ballot stuffing, trickery and strong-arm tactics sparked rioting in Masan. Fourteen persons were killed.

A 16-year-old country boy named Kim Chong-il disappeared in the rioting. Three weeks later, when his body was pulled from Masan harbor with a huge tear gas shell protruding from his eye, another riot of street revolt broke out.

The rioting spread to Seoul and other cities and grew to near-revolt proportions. Before it ended, at least 145 persons were dead and more than 900 wounded.

Under pressure from the United States to end the police repression and restore democratic rule, Rhee dismissed his Liberal Party Cabinet and promised to take up a nonpartisan role for himself.

These half-measures failed to appease a new generation of Koreans educated in the ideals of democracy.

Rhee finally announced he would resign and hold new elections if that was what the people wanted. He sent his resignation to the National Assembly today.

Hail and Winds Still Battering Most of Texas

By The Associated Press
More stormy weather hampered Texas today in the wake of damaging hail and wind storms. Wet weather hit many Western sections of the country and in scattered areas in the South and East.

sections Tuesday, causing millions of dollars property damage.
Hail stones nearly as big as baseballs pounded San Angelo, a city of 70,000. Insurance adjusters estimated damage to homes and cars at 2 1/2 to 3 million dollars. The most severe weather was across wide areas from west Texas to the lower Rio Grande Valley.
Showers and rain dampened areas in the lower Great Lakes region, the eastern Ohio Valley, parts of Tennessee and Alabama and along the California coast.

Letts Removes Self From Anti-Hoffa Suit

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts today disqualified himself to hear a suit seeking the ouster of James R. Hoffa as president of the Teamsters Union.

Judge Letts decided to stand aside because of a sworn statement filed by Hoffa accusing him of bias and prejudice.
The judge said he did so "with no thought or intention of admitting the truth of the affidavit or any part thereof."

Letts sent the case to Chief Judge David A. Pine, for assignment to another judge.

Letts said that under federal rules of procedure, his only function was to decide the legal sufficiency of Hoffa's affidavit. He added he felt the proceedings should be assigned to another judge.

The ouster proceeding against Hoffa is a civil action, involving no criminal charges. When court convened, a half-dozen moves by Hoffa to block or delay the case were pending.

Hoffa's removal is sought by court-appointed monitors who allege he misused $500,000 of union funds in promoting personal business projects, including a Florida real estate development as a retirement village for union members. Hoffa has denied any wrongdoing.

Hoffa had asked Judge Letts to disqualify himself from the case on grounds of bias, to delay it pending decisions in other tangled court proceedings, or to cancel the trial altogether. Hoffa contends the only way he can be removed is by the union that elected him.

Behind the court snarl is a 24-year litigation that arose from charges that Hoffa rigged his own election as Teamsters president in the fall of 1957 when Dave Beck Sr., center of widespread Teamsters corruption charges, stepped out of the union helm.

The rigging charges were compromised on a basis that let Hoffa take over as Beck's successor but with a three-man board of monitors named by Judge Letts to supervise a Teamsters reform drive.

The monitors have charged Hoffa with trying to block the cleanup. He vigorously denies it.

Morton in Michigan to Help GOP Funds

DETROIT (UPI)—Republican National Chairman Thurston B. Morton said yesterday the GOP has a "tremendous opportunity to elect a Republican governor and a Republican senator" this year.

Morton spoke at a news conference. He came here on a fund raising campaign for the National GOP.

Morton declined to take any sides in any primary contest between liberal and conservatives in Michigan.

He said Michigan Republicans could and should "decide for themselves which candidates they want."

Continue Bargaining in GM Plant Strike

DETROIT (AP)—Efforts to settle a strike at General Motors Corp. Fleetwood plant which has idled 7,800 workers failed yesterday. But the bargainers said they would continue meeting.

Some 4,300 United Auto Workers struck the Fleetwood plant Monday. The action halted production of Cadillac cars and idled 1,300 workers at a Cadillac plant which depends on Fleetwood for its supply of car bodies.

The union called the strike to protest what it called unaffiliated grievances over work rates.

Wall, Here's a Reason

LONDON (UPI)—An official testifying at a government hearing on rebuilding 100-year-old Dartmoor Prison said one of the jail's walls is crumbling so badly that a sign was posted on it reading: "Please don't lean on the wall."

Seek Rail Wage Hikes

CHICAGO (UPI)—Eleven non-operating unions today began presenting testimony before an emergency fact-finding board to support their demands for a 25-cent-an-hour pay hike and other benefits from the nation's railroads.

There are 19 countries or dependencies in the Near East.

It is estimated more than 50,000/year because of divorce or, 44 American homes are broken each section.

Students Still Fight ROTC Plan at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—Agitation continues at Michigan State University against a decision by the Board of Trustees to continue compulsory military training (ROTC). The Michigan State News, student newspaper, published an editorial challenging the decision. "We hope the Board of Trustees are not so naive they believe their decision of Thursday regarding the ROTC issue will end the controversy," the editorial said.

The trustees had directed the faculty and administration to make a full study of academic standards and course content in ROTC and submit a report in May.

The student newspaper editorial continued: "The basic question seems to be whether the Board is a supreme ruling body that cannot be challenged." The state constitution provides for no other governing authority for the university.

Trustee C. Allen Harlan of Detroit came in for editorial attention for his remark: "We've raised the most spoiled generation ever."

Some 15,000 newspaper salesmen and marketing men in the United States are available to local retailers to assist them in making their newspaper advertising pay off. Retailers appreciate this service—that is why they regularly advertise in their local newspapers.

Williams Appoints New Legal Adviser

LANSING (AP)—Robert A. Derengowski, an assistant attorney general since 1949, is the new legal adviser to Gov. Williams.

Williams announced the appointment of Derengowski yesterday to succeed Alfred B. Flitt, who has resigned effective April 30. Flitt is moving to Washington to accept a post with a Senate Judiciary subcommittee.

The governor's legal aide receives $17,038 a year.

Derengowski, 43, has been chief counsel for the State Public Service Commission for five years. Last July, he also was appointed chief counsel for the State Highway Department.

A native of Grand Rapids, Derengowski spent his boyhood in Manistee and graduated from high school there. He received his law degree from the University of Notre Dame.

Senators' Odds Better in Run for Presidency

Now that so many U. S. Senators are actively campaigning for the Presidency, it is interesting to see how seldom trod that particular road to the White House has been in the past. WARREN G. HARDING was the only U. S. Senator ever directly elected to the Presidency.

For that reason the governor's mansions, particularly in such populous states as New York, have generally been considered more likely "launching pads." But for the historians there is the interesting example of James A. Garfield.

In November, 1880, GARFIELD, then a Representative in Congress from Ohio, was elected as the nation's 20th President. But in January, 1880, he had been elected by the Ohio State Legislature to the U. S. Senate for the term to begin March 4, 1881. In those days Senators were chosen by legislature instead of by the voters.

GARFIELD of course declined the Senatorship.

In a reverse twist, JOHN C. CALHOUN in 1832 gave up the Vice Presidency under ANDREW JACKSON to take the seat in the Senate to which he had been elected earlier by South Carolina legislature.

Lyndon Johnson could run for both the Presidency this fall and reelection to his Senate seat. This would be possible under the so-called Garner law in Texas.

JOHN NANCE GARNER ran in 1932 for both the Vice Presidency and a 15th term in the House. He won both and elected to resign from the House to become Vice President.

The odds in this upcoming election definitely put Senators in a more strategic position than in some years past.

Dover to Calais Tunnel May Yet Be a Reality

Ever since the time of NAPOLEON III the idea of building a tunnel between Britain and France has been in the news intermittently.

Today the question of crossing the English Channel by tunnel or bridge is again the subject of popular interest. A Dover to Calais channel tunnel (called "Chunnel" by the British) first planned by a French engineer more than 100 years ago, is backed by British-French and recently joined American financial interests.

After two years of underwater testing a combined group of engineers and economists reported early this year the feasibility of a tunnel through the chalk strata between England and France. The 36 mile twin railroad tunnel would cost around $300 million and take three years to build.

Recently rival plans have been submitted by a British-French-American combine. These envisage a 21 mile bridge to carry five lanes of automobile, train, motorcycle and bicycle traffic. A pedestrian walk might have to be added if the current craze for long distance hikes continues. The bridge would cost $560 million and be five years in building. It would be vulnerable to enemy attack.

Tunneling actually began in 1880 but was stopped by fears of invasion. Field Marshal Montgomery now warns that a tunnel would "end the inviolability of our island against the footsteps of an invader." He ignores the new weapons of warfare. To thwart invaders by land there are devices to flood the tunnel at either end.

It is rather ironic that this project has been delayed until the era of space travel is upon us. But the only argument against the tunnel as the London Times sees it is the ending of the debate "thus depriving posterity of an intellectual exercise from which successive generations have derived a great deal of good clean fun."

It is easy to understand why so few Americans learn a foreign language. After they succeed in the most difficult task of learning English, after a fashion, most of them are too tired to study another language.

CANDIDATES usually begin their political campaigns on a high level, but few of them are able to stand the altitude for an appreciable length of time.

"ONLY a lunatic would start a war now," says an eminent scientist. Yes, of course. This has always been true.

What're We Worrying About?

David Lawrence Says:

Showmanship Hides World Strife

WASHINGTON — Showmanship seems to have replaced realism. The emphasis now is on spectacular visits by leaders—both the elected and the self-appointed. "Parades and fanfare, addresses and the august atmosphere of legislative assemblies, banquets and ceremonies, high-sounding communiques and statements written in unctuous phrases—all these are considered by a busy, if not bewildered, populace as signifying a trend toward peace and well-being.

Wildly thinking and the art of make-believe have always obscured the unpleasant facts of life, particularly on the international scene.

For when has the world been more disturbed in time of so-called "peace" than it is today? From almost every part of the globe come the dispatches telling of human violence.

In our own country, just a few years ago, Gov. Faubus of Arkansas was being crucified because he called out the militia to prevent the bloodshed he feared at Little Rock, and the cry was for obedience to the "law of the land." Yet today in Bloem, Miss., there is bloodshed, as Negroes and whites take the law into their own hands.

Instead of nationwide evidence of indignation, there is a wave of sympathy and encouragement for these so-called "nonviolent" demonstrators. The foreign offices of France and Britain, however, have thus far refrained from issuing any statements "deploring" the events at Bloem.

In many countries, as the "big men" are welcomed on visits of "friendship" and "good will," there is underneath a feeling of insecurity.

In France, where Gen. de Gaulle has assumed virtually dictatorial powers, 200,000 Frenchmen "demonstrated" a few days ago demanding a special meeting of Parliament.

In French Algeria, there is revolution and disorder, and Tunisia, supporting the rebels, masses troops on its borders to meet alleged French army violations of its territory. The French president is nevertheless acclaimed in America as a symbol of peace and progress.

VIOLENCE ROUNDUP
In Italy, mobs instigated by Communists seek to grab power in certain cities and towns.

In Venezuela, open revolt is threatened, as the government bans public meetings after street rioting in two of the country's largest cities.

In Cuba, a dictator is ruining his country's economy while his Communist-aided regime conducts a violent anti-American campaign.

"Preaching is like hog-calling—it doesn't get much attention unless you have something to offer besides the yelling."

In the Middle East, there is friction and an uneasy peace. In India, there is apprehension over the aggressive behavior of the Red Chinese.

In Africa, there is turbulence as the white man, outnumbered, strives to maintain economic as well as political power lest untamed and inexperienced natives take over and alienate foreign capital and retard economic development.

In South Africa, the crisis as between white and black has produced a sensation throughout the world, which knows little of the intricacies and complexities of the problem but applies pressure just the same to drive the white man from political power in the huge continent of smoldering warfare.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Calcium Not Only Steadies, It Will Also Tranquelize

"Speaking of calcium as 'nature's analgesic,' you said 'one with a calcium deficiency is considerably more sensitive to ache or pain than one who gets from diet or otherwise an adequate supply of calcium and vitamin D—adequate to fulfill the body's constant requirements and maintain a calcium level on which the body can draw in any emergency without depleting the stores in the bones.'"

"I imagine many other readers of that interesting and instructive article wished, as I did, that you told in some detail what sort of emergency you had in mind. I don't quite understand... (E.I.T.)"

Oh, any emergency that may confine you to bed or chair or room for several weeks. A broken leg, coronary thrombosis or typhoid fever, for instance.

If one is totally or partially disabled or for any reason does not get a reasonable amount of general exercise every day—a brisk walk is the best general exercise—one inevitably suffers a steady loss of calcium from the bones (the body's storehouse).

This loss of calcium from the bones explains why a slight misadventure, disability, the invalid or convalescent is peevish and irritable. Calcium is not only nature's analgesic, but nature's tranquilizer as well.

In the healthy person in good nutritional condition, calcium steadies the nerves, or as the physiologist says, it regulates excitability of nerve centers. I find that even people who have experienced the most remarkable relief from chronic aches, pains and disabilities are generally eager to drop the Ca, I and B regimen and get back on the diet that gave them rheumatic troubles.

The poor people who are frightened by the warnings of Tom, Dick and Harry about the imaginary dire consequences of "too much calcium" or "too much iodine" or "too much vitamin B."

These bughouses are conjured up by publicity hungry "scientists" who emerge from the obscurity of their laboratories from time to time to warn the public about the danger of "calcium deposits" if one drinks more than a glass or two of milk a day.

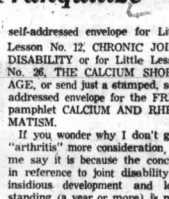

They never tell you how much calcium is necessary or how much is "too much." Nor do they explain how babies and young children thrive on a quart or more milk a day.

For more detailed information send me 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for Little Lesson No. 12, CHRONIC JOINT DISABILITY, or for Little Lesson No. 28, THE CALCIUM SHORTAGE, or send just a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the FREE pamphlet CALCIUM AND RHEUMATISM.

If you wonder why I don't give "arthritis" more consideration, let me say it is because the concept in reference to joint disability of insidious development and long standing (a year or more) is misleading.

Signed letters not more than one page for word problems, personal health and hygiene, not disease, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. (Copyright 1959)

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Truth Is Most Painful to the Guilty

Carl brings up a point I'm sure many of you have also experienced. What is wrong with the women (and some men) who grow frothy in rage at my discussing common marriage problems. And why do they pick on me, yet say nothing about the lewd sex cases, rape and assault, described in detail on Page One? You be the jury.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE E - 46: Carl D., aged 34, is an insurance salesman.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I occasionally hear women damn you for telling people the facts by which to keep their marriages happy."

"They will indignantly berate you if you threaten to write to the editor to have him cancel your column."

"Why do these wives berate you, yet accept for more salacious cases on Page One THE CRANE of the very same newspaper. Indeed, almost every week, if not every day, we find some instance of rape or vicious sexual assault headlined on the front page."

"You readers have heard the old adage about the 'shoe that pinches.'"

"When I mention that so-called 'good' wives are usually 50 per cent to blame for a broken home, often because of their 'sins of omission' the shoe fits."

Voice of the People

W. S. Downes Answers Editorial on School Taxes

Your Friday editorial was rather unkind to Pontiac Township people. It's like the story of the old people who decided their home to their son with the understanding he take care of them until they died, then the son and daughter-in-law tried to put them out so the old folks need for their home back.

Pontiac Township didn't ask you to extend City Limits. The City asked Pontiac Township. We gave up wealth north of Mount, including Fisher Body and Pontiac Motor, only after the City school district got special legislature in Lansing to take over our schools. That's the only reason we gave you this wealth of taxation.

We're part of the school district and intend to belong to it. Do you wish to give us back our house and we'll go alone like the old folks? I don't think you do.

We have a right to air our views of the school district and are sure you don't wish to deny us this right. I also want to correct you in the respect that the City of Pontiac has nothing to do with the schools.

School districts are State agencies controlled by the State under plenary power of the legislature where the State retains control of the school system to be administered by the State under State laws by local State agencies independent of local government, as stated by Justice Crane as late as April 13, 1960.

So you're sticking your neck out by even remotely threatening anyone as to how to vote on school matters, as mentioned in the editorial, by implying you will terminate their schools if people don't vote the way you and the school board wish them to.

'Drive Carefully, Especially Now'

Now that warm, sunny weather is here again, children will be out in their yards and sometimes running in the streets. Motorists must be especially careful from now on during the summer, because no matter how often their parents tell them they must stay out of the road, there are times when they forget and rush heedlessly in front of cars. Less speed and extra alertness can avert many accidents that happen this way.

Asks Ban on Trucks on Washed-Out Road

Because of fair weather last week our road was passable. The recent rain had made it all but impassable, because the road commission didn't grade the pot holes last week when the road was dry. The grader came on one day, but the blade was so high it only brushed the surface. Two cars and a truck bogged down in front of our house today.

"Why can't we have 'no trucks' signs as we do in Lansing and Southfield? I realize milk trucks may be necessary, but today one dump truck after another came through for loads of black dirt. That ruined what little was left of our road. I see nothing necessary to sustain life in a load of black dirt."

I don't pretend to be an authority on caring for gravel roads, but I'd certainly put up a "No trucks allowed" sign when there's little or no bottom left to the road.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

The people of the land have practiced robbery and committed extortion; they have oppressed the poor and needy and have tortured from the sorrowful without redress.—Ezekiel 22:29.

Good order is the foundation of all good things.—Edmund Burke.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Carl brings up a point I'm sure many of you have also experienced. What is wrong with the women (and some men) who grow frothy in rage at my discussing common marriage problems. And why do they pick on me, yet say nothing about the lewd sex cases, rape and assault, described in detail on Page One? You be the jury.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE E - 46: Carl D., aged 34, is an insurance salesman.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I occasionally hear women damn you for telling people the facts by which to keep their marriages happy."

"They will indignantly berate you if you threaten to write to the editor to have him cancel your column."

"Why do these wives berate you, yet accept for more salacious cases on Page One THE CRANE of the very same newspaper. Indeed, almost every week, if not every day, we find some instance of rape or vicious sexual assault headlined on the front page."

You readers have heard the old adage about the "shoe that pinches."

When I mention that so-called "good" wives are usually 50 per cent to blame for a broken home, often because of their "sins of omission" the shoe fits.

But they don't like to admit their own guilt!

Whenever a person is shown up as guilty and can't possibly get out from under the charges against him, the first reaction is to pass the buck.

Adam told that thousands of years ago, when God challenged him, he gibed, said, "My wife gave the forbidden fruit to me and I did eat."

In psychology, we call this "projection." You try to blame the more you ask people to write to the editor to cancel Dr. Crane's column, the more guilty you generally are!

By this loud attack, you hope to divert attention from the pinching shoe! It is really a variation of the old red herring technique.

LOGIC VS. EMOTION
Carl is quite right in saying the rape cases on Page One are far more salacious than anything I print, for I use discretion and I print euphemisms, such as "erotic calumnies" to avoid terms that might ruffle the feelings of mid-Victorian readers.

As a physician and psychologist, a happily married man with five children and active in YMCA, Boy Scouts and other youth projects, I certainly am qualified to handle marriage problems discreetly and helpfully.

And progressive editors know that the newspaper should certainly help stop delinquency and divorce by revealing scientific facts to 80 per cent of people who never get a chance to enter college.

So it is certainly not logical to denounce this educational column because I occasionally deal with sex problems, and then ignore the risqué cases of assault or cross sexual misbehavior headlined on the front page.

A consistent thinker would denounce Page One rape stories if he also wished to denounce this educational column.

An emotional person, of the buck-passing kind, is usually the guilty party who denounces this column but doesn't write a word of protest about lewd cases on Page One.

If high school students were all given a brief course on logic and debate strategy, they'd soon learn to sift the emotional ranters from the sincere thinkers.

Literally thousands of clergymen scribble this column and use the scientific Rating Scales and booklets in their family counseling, so anybody who gets frothy about my supposed violation of good taste on sex cases is likely to be a member of the "Pinched Nose" society.

Send for the booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit) and see why the clergy eagerly use my counseling.

Industries Contribute to Aid Fund

'Foundations' Works for Small Colleges

LANSING (AP) — "Give Once for All," the slogan which has helped put over hundreds of community fund drives across the country, is working just as well for 15 private four-year colleges in Michigan.

This year, some 700 businesses and industries in 10 states are expected to donate $50,000 to the non-profit Michigan Colleges Foundations, Inc.

The sum will be distributed among the 15 member colleges, all small and independent, all founded by religious denominations.

In size, they range from little Marygrove College, a Roman Catholic College for women in Detroit, to Calvin College in Grand Rapids, established by the Christian Reformed Church. Its enrollment is 2,650.

On May 5, the foundation will observe its 10th birthday with a banquet in Detroit honoring some of the men who helped the organization through its struggling infancy.

Gov. Williams has signed a proclamation setting aside the day to commemorate the foundation's work.

It was founded to give financial help to private institutions which, unlike the nine state-run colleges and universities, can't rely on state taxes for support.

"It's not really a charitable enterprise," said Lawrence B. Avison, the executive director. "A good deal of leadership in business education for women in Detroit, to Calvin College in Grand Rapids, established by the Christian Reformed Church. Its enrollment is 2,650."

Others which joined later were Kalamazoo College, Baptist-affiliated; Albion, founded by the Methodists; Olivet, a Congregational school, and Calvin, and Marygrove. Mercy College, Detroit; Nazareth College, Kalamazoo; Aquinas College, Grand Rapids; Madonna College, Livonia and Siena Heights, Adrian, all Roman Catholic.

Together, they enroll 15,000 students, support facilities totaling $60 million and facilities worth about 20 million dollars.

In 10 years, the foundation has collected about 2½ million dollars from 7,000 contributors.

"Our immediate goal is to raise one million dollars a year," said Avison. "That would be about 10 per cent of the total operating budget for educational purposes."

For some of the member colleges, he said, money donated through the foundation "is the difference between operating in the red or the black."

Sixty per cent of the total donations is distributed equally among all the schools. The rest is divided according to enrollment.

From Michigan and Indiana, the two states where the "Give Once for All" college foundation movement began, the idea has spread to 482 colleges in 47 states.

LEADVILLE, Colo. (AP) — Tom Starr, Leadville street supervisor, found a car almost buried in a snow drift and summoned a wrecker to pull it out.

As the car was raised on chains, up popped two heads. The couple was more than slightly disturbed because Starr had disturbed their sleep.

Mostly, it's intended for faculty salaries, the most critical area for most of the colleges," Avison said.

QUEEN WITH PAWN — Movie actress Stella Stevens shows a picture of her 5-year-old son Andy who has become a pawn in a far-flung custody battle. Monday the boy's father shipped into Los Angeles and took back the son who was legally his by order of a Tennessee court. Last July his mother, who plays the role of a voluptuous Apollonia Von Climax in the film "L.I. Abner," took him from Memphis where he was living with his father. The couple has been divorced four years. Miss Stevens now says she will go to court to obtain custody and won't try to take the boy away again by force.

Belgian Capital Holds Key Spot

Brussels in Six-Nation Union and Is Liked by American Firms

WASHINGTON — As a lively trade center in its own right, Brussels is looking forward to vastly expanded opportunities under Europe's new regional projects for doing business.

Provisional headquarters for the two-year-old European Economic Community, the Belgian capital holds a key spot in a six-nation union made up of Belgium, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, France, Italy and West Germany. Together, these countries offer a "common market" to serve more than 165,000,000 potential customers.

To tap this huge purchasing power, a number of American businessmen have lately visited Brussels in search of promising sites for the manufacture of such diverse products as outdoor motors and knitting machinery. Some 300 American firms are now reported operating in Belgium. With them have come adjuncts of modern business methods: advertisers, technicians and lawyers.

Commerce is no novelty to Brussels. For centuries, says the National Geographic Society, the Belgian city has been an economic crossroads of Europe.

To perennial tourists, Brussels presents curious and often confusing contrasts. Its architecture is both modern and medieval. Its people are studious and gay by turn, dynamic in action — and exceptionally well fed in appearance.

Meeting in Brussels are the two distinct elements of Belgium's population — the French-speaking Walloons from the south and the Flemish-speaking people from the north. Both languages are official — a reminder of the dual Latin and German cultures that have molded the national character.

Brussels' chief showplace — the Grand Place in the heart of the old town — is one of Europe's most impressive public squares. Floodlit at dusk, flanked by the soaring spire of the Gothic Town Hall, it looks more like a theatrical backdrop for medieval pageants than the business district it is.

Actually, the great square's elaborately gilded facades and turrets belong to the 17th century, when guildhalls of prosperous butchers, bakers, and candlestick makers crowded out earlier mansions and inns.

Shoeshine Boy Put On Polished Performance

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Getting a shoeshine turned into a big problem for a Tucson businessman. A 13-year-old shoeshine boy kept missing the man's shoe and applying polish to a sock.

Finally, the customer offered the boy 10 cents to stop. The boy became belligerent, tore a sliding screen door from its hinges and threatened to throw rocks through the customer's window.

Boeing to Build Space Gliders

Named Dyna Soar With $29.7 Million 1st Cash for Test Vehicle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force today ordered the Boeing Airplane Co. to go ahead with design of a space ship.

The space ship will be called Dyna Soar and will be a winged glider under orbit by a Titan Intercontinental Ballistic Missile.

The Seattle, Wash. firm was named contractor for the manned space project last Nov. 9.

Under today's decision, the Air Force released $29,700,000 for "design and ground testing necessary to build a boost-glide aerospace test vehicle."

An additional $58,000,000 for the program is included in the Air Force's new budget now before Congress.

Sens. Warren Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson, Washington state Democrats, have said the program envisions expenditure of $80,000,000 by June 30, 1963.

The Dyna Soar program is a sharp contrast with the Mercury program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In Project Mercury, a man will be boosted into space by an Atlas missile but will ride in a wingless capsule or satellite. The Dyna Soar glider more resembles an aircraft and will provide its pilot with means of control on his re-entry into the atmosphere.

It is designed to enable him to make a conventional landing at an air base.

The Mercury pilot will return to earth with his capsule dangling on a parachute.

Under the program announced today, it was learned that Boeing will build 11 of the space gliders — three for ground test, four for unmanned flight and four for pilot flight.

Coast-to-Coast Auction for Art New TV Wrinkle

NEW YORK (UPI) — Approximately 4,000 persons will gather simultaneously tonight in a Chicago club, a Los Angeles museum, a Dallas theater and a New York auction gallery to bid on $750,000 worth of modern art by means of closed circuit television in black and white.

The nation's first coast-to-coast auction will be at the plush Parke-Bernet Galleries on Madison Avenue for the benefit of the Museum of Modern Art's $5-million-dollar expansion fund drive.

Forty-nine paintings and sculptures donated by patrons of the museum and artists will be offered to the highest bidder in the four-city audience.

Company Introduces Antismog Device

NEW YORK (U)—Union Carbide Corp. has developed a new system for removing poisonous and smog-producing elements from automobile exhausts, the chemical company said today.

Preliminary tests, the company reported, indicate the system meets the requirements "laid down recently by the California Department of Health when it ruled state motorists must eventually install antismog devices."

The system's "simplicity and compactness indicate that no major modification will be necessary in mounting the unit in the automobile," Union Carbide said.

The company added, however, that additional tests must be made to establish the system's long-run reliability before it is marketed.

A number of other companies also are working on exhaust purifiers in hopes of cashing in on the new California law.

Call Crackdown on Park Littering

Waterford Man Pays $35 for Tossing Debris at Pontiac Lake

There's a place for everything — rubbish and garbage included — and it's not in state parks or along highways.

The Oakland County prosecutor's office and state conservation officers are cooperating in an intensified crackdown on litterbugs, declared Richard P. Condit, assistant prosecutor.

Feeling the whip of the increased enforcement of littering laws yesterday was William Brown of 3904 Florine St., Waterford Township.

He paid $35 in fines and costs.

after he pleaded guilty before Township Justice Patrick K. Daly for tossing debris on Pontiac Lake Recreation Area property.

"It's bad enough," Condit said, "when motorists throw the remains of their picnic lunches in the parks and roadways, but when they deliberately dump accumulated garbage and trash in those areas, then it is time for court action."

Brown told Paul Wiggs, conservation officer, that muddy roads prevented him from taking his refuse to township dumps.

Grant Co. to Keep Lunch Counters Idle

NEW YORK (U) — The W. T. Grant Co., which responded to lunch counter sit-downs by closing counters in its 180 Southern stores, says the counters are going to stay closed until local customs change.

The question of opening the counters to Negro customers was raised at a stockholders meeting yesterday by James Peck, owner of a single Grant share, and a member of the Congress of Racial Equality.

He said the present practice can lead only to creating ill will among Negro customers.

He further noted that lunch counters were opened to Negroes in Grant's Baltimore stores six years ago after he had made a similar request.

After Emotional Day in New York City

De Gaulle Off to San Francisco

NEW YORK (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle, basking in the warmth of this city's magnificent welcome, has halted the establishment of a new France in the community of nations.

The man who pledged himself to restore grandeur to his faltering homeland told compatriots and Americans gathered in his honor Tuesday night:

"A new France — which is the true France of always — has made her appearance on the world scene. She has again made order in her own home and she has resumed the performance of her traditional international responsibilities."

De Gaulle's appearance at the Waldorf-Astoria dinner capped a day of emotional and heartfelt reunion with New York, which welcomed him back after an absence of 15 years.

GOES TO FRISCO

He left by plane this morning for San Francisco to continue his American tour.

In a toast to the man who rallied France in her darkest moment of defeat in World War II, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller raised his glass before 2,000 guests at the dinner.

"At a somber moment in his-

and heavier with the years, came back to New York.

An estimated million persons lined the canyon of lower Broadway to hail the austere old warrior with applause and cries of "Vive De Gaulle" and "Hiya, Charlie!" Tuesday.

After the parade he bolted his police escort when the car caravan arrived at Times Square, and marched in all his 6-foot-4 dignity to spectators massed behind police barricades.

"Good luck to all of you," he said in English as he embraced some with a wide sweep of his arms. "Lots of luck to all Americans."

De Gaulle last came here in 1945 as premier of his nation's first provisional postwar government.

Grosse Pointe Gets Subpoena in Probe

LANSING (AP) — One more subpoena has been served and there still are five to go in the state probe of the Grosse Pointe area point system for screening prospective house-buyers.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams said a subpoena was served yesterday on Carl A. Berndt of Grosse Pointe Park. It was the 29th of the 34 subpoenas authorized by Commissioner Lawrence Gubow of the State Corporations and Securities Commission.

Those served will be called to testify at a Detroit hearing on the point system May 2.

Adams has called the system of grading home candidates by race, religion and nationality "morally corrupt."

New Orleans normally is the world's chief banana port.

Alaskan Tests May Augur Excavation With A-Blasts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nuclear tests in a remote coastal area of Alaska could lead to atomic-created harbors and even a new Panama canal, says Dr. John Wolfe, Atomic Energy Commission scientist.

He made the prediction at a news conference on "Project Charlot."

Four nuclear devices equal to 200,000 tons of TNT would carve a key-shaped harbor near Point Hope on the Chukchi Sea—about 120 miles north of the Arctic Circle, Wolfe said Tuesday.

The devices—the largest equal to 200,000 tons of TNT—would be buried 400 to 700 feet deep.

The planned result of the simultaneous explosions would be a harbor 900 yards long, 200 to 300 yards

About 17 million families in the United States own dogs as pets. In 1960, it is estimated that the canned dog food market alone will be a 247-million-dollar business. Processors of canned dog foods use the advertising columns of the Daily Newspaper to reach the housewives who buy 85 per cent of all canned dog food.

Big Test Looms for Housing Bill

GOP, Southern Dems Hoping to Discourage Final Vote Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A billion-dollar housing bill backed by Democrats faced a major House test today against the combined opposition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

The coalition was making a determined effort to kill the bill quickly in an initial test on the question of whether the House will consider it. Their chances on the first test appeared doubtful.

A final vote was tentatively scheduled for Thursday.

If the bill isn't sharply watered down before then, its chances of becoming law appeared dim.

"It will never become law in its present form," said Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, predicting a veto that could be sustained.

The pending bill goes considerably further than President Eisenhower recommended in his budget message last January.

It would create a billion-dollar federal mortgage fund which Democrats say is needed to stimulate home construction. The fund would be handled by the Federal National Mortgage Assn.

The money would be used to purchase at face value government-backed home mortgages insured or guaranteed by the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration.

The idea is to make new cash available in the lending market for new home construction.

Prepare Clinic on Orthopedics

Will Give Consultation for Children Unchecked in Last 18 Months

An "Orthopedic Field Clinic" will be sponsored at Mark Twain School May 29 by the Michigan Crippled Children's Commission in cooperation with the Oakland County Health Department and the Pontiac Public Schools.

Purpose of the clinic is to provide orthopedic consultation and evaluation for children not seen by an orthopedic or medical doctor in the past 18 months. Free X-rays will be provided if recommended.

Any child known to have dysfunction of the muscles, bones or joints can attend, according to William G. Wright, director of special education. The age limit is from birth to 21 years.

The clinic will serve 50 to 60 children in one day. Attendance is by appointment only.

TO GIVE EVALUATION

"The clinic will provide an evaluation of youth who are potential referrals for vocational rehabilitation assistance," said Wright. "It also will assist in the location and physical evaluation of children who are prospective candidates for the orthopedic teaching program and will help the special education department's planning for future needs."

Trenton Oil Output Best Since Discovery

ALBION — March production of oil from the three Trenton fields in southern Michigan has been announced as having reached over 494,000 barrels. The figure is the largest since the discovery of abundant oil in the three-county strip running from Albion southeast to US-112, east of Jonesville.

Scipio Field in Hillsdale County zoomed to 274,007 barrels from 75 wells in March as compared with 183,694 barrels in February and 222,967 barrels in January.

The Albion field, Calhoun County, produced 130,700 barrels in March from 48 wells, up from 109,250 barrels in February and 96,396 barrels in January.

Palmski Field, Jackson County, provided the balance of production from 28 wells. There are now 151 wells in three fields.

Flemming Plan Coolly Received

Some Groups Favor
His Proposals for Aged,
Others Don't, He Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare, told the White House Tuesday that his plan for subsidizing medical insurance for the aged has drawn a "mixed reception."

Flemming reported on his proposal at a meeting with President Eisenhower and Republican congressional leaders. He said some of the national organizations with whom he discussed his plan last week opposed it and some favored it.

Flemming told newsmen afterward that he has not yet made any recommendations to the administration on the issue but will do so soon, possibly by the end of the week.

House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck (Ind.) said after the White House meeting that an effort was being made "to come up with something that will be helpful and reasonable."

The alternative plan which Flemming has devised would provide for federal-state subsidies to enable aged persons with low incomes to buy medical insurance from private companies at below-cost rates.

TOPPER MAKES HISTORY — A team of doctors, headed by a Dallas, Tex., eye specialist, prepares "Topper," a one-month-old giraffe, for surgery to remove a "floating cataract" from his eye. The young giraffe, born with the cataract, was in danger of losing the sight of his eye when the decision was made for the operation. Zoo officials can find no record of an operation of this kind ever having been performed on an animal. The operation took place at the giraffe house at the Dallas zoo.

It's Independence Day in Togoland Matriarchy

LOME, Togoland (AP) — Togoland, reputedly dominated more strongly by women than any other country in Africa is celebrating its independence today.

Premier Sylvanus Olympio, 37, father of five children, depends mostly on the support of the West African country's women to stay in office. Not only do the women vote for him, almost to a woman, but they try to influence their menfolk to do so.

Togoland, an area slightly smaller than West Virginia, is sandwiched between Ghana on the west and Dahomey on the east. Lying on the southern coast of Africa's bulge, it has been administered by France as a United Nations trust territory. Its population is 1,200,000.

HAS FRENCH SUPPORT

Despite early arguments with the French, who deprived him of his civil rights for several years, Olympio has had French support since he won the 1958 election. His supporters took 38 of the seats in the 46-member Legislature.

There has been no sign in this city of 70,000 of any ill will between the small French community and the bulk of the African population.

Olympio's major problem in foreign relations is more likely to be Ghana. The two countries have people from the same tribes, and the same major cash crops—coffee and cocoa.

Politicians in Ghana have been talking recently of an armed attack to reclaim Togoland. Part of Ghana. The two countries have land before independence. Olympio calls the threats "highly imaginary."

Williams Signs Bill for 8-County College

LANSING (AP) — A bill authorizing establishment of a public college to serve an eight-county area surrounding Grand Rapids was signed Tuesday by Gov. Williams.

His signature bests the May 4 deadline for action on the bill.

Williams also has the responsibility of appointing members of the proposed college's board of control but must wait until the bill becomes effective.

It is expected to take effect 90 days after adjournment of the legislature.

The bill provides for a college charter to be granted by the state after the proposed college board acquires a site and at least one million dollars in private financing.

The proposed school would serve the counties of Kent, Ottawa, Muskegon, Barry, Ionia, Montcalm, Newaygo and Allegan.

Square D President Quits in Disagreement

DETROIT (UPI) — Gordon Patterson resigned Tuesday as president of the Square D Co. "because of disagreement over the policies to be followed in management of the company."

Patterson, president of the electrical products firm since 1955, resigned following the company's annual meeting. He will remain a director.

Lawrence G. Macchietti, executive vice president, was named president to succeed Patterson.

The firm reported first quarter earnings of $2,817,112 or 53 cents a share, compared with $1,426,905 or 27 cents a share in the same period last year.

That 'Little Old Man' Isn't Worth One Cent

DES MOINES (AP) — A new snuff had just failed. A new resident in one Des Moines neighborhood called Mrs. Charles Betts on the telephone to say, "The little old man who cleared your drive just shoveled mine, too, and I don't know what to pay him."

O'Dwyer to Return to New York City

NEW YORK (UPI)—William O'Dwyer, whose name is practically synonymous with New York City, is once again going to make the city his home after an exile of about 10 years.

This was revealed today by the former mayor's brother, Attorney Paul O'Dwyer.

According to the lawyer, "My 2,200 gallons of jet fuel every hour.

brother is going to set up permanent residence here, but will, of course, make fairly frequent trips to Mexico City, where he has extensive business interests."

O'Dwyer gave up his New York City address in 1950, when he resigned as mayor after being elected twice to the post, and became U.S. Ambassador to Mexico.

Battle Creek to Expand With Ralston Dog Food

BATTLE CREEK (U)—Expansion of its Battle Creek operations to include facilities for manufacture of a dog food product was announced Tuesday by Ralston Purina Co.

The firm, headquartered at St. Louis, Mo., currently employs about 200 persons in the manufacture of breakfast foods at Battle Creek.

Plant manager Neal N. Nelson said the Battle Creek warehouse and manufacturing spaces will be expanded to accommodate the new production which will require an extra 75 to 80 workers.

Battle Creek was selected over several other sites in contention, according to the announcement from company headquarters.

The Evangelical Lutheran Church has a baptized membership of 1,133,586. It gained 34,445 members during 1959, an increase of 3.07 per cent over 1958.

County Guidance Service Ready to Help

Aid Unhappy Children

Discipline doesn't seem to be the answer and the parents are in a quandary — Mary Jane has developed a habit of lying.

Bill gets into fights frequently. Harold steals. Susan has temper tantrums.

Jill won't leave the house because she is obsessed with the fear of being bitten by an insect.

These are some of the outward manifestations of deep-rooted problems that parents can't cope with by themselves.

A helping hand is extended by the Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic.

Dr. Clyde B. Simon, chief psychiatrist of children's services at Detroit's Lafayette Clinic will speak on "Drugs Alone Are Not Enough" at the Clinic Board's annual Mental Health Week program 8 p.m. today at Seaholm High School in Birmingham.

Personality and habit problems treated by the clinic include nervousness, daydreaming, unpopular ity with other children, fears, bed-wetting, over-aggressiveness, excessive shyness, running away, truancy and poor adjustment to school.

"In short," says Madeleine Hall, the clinic's director, "we try to help the chronically unhappy child."

More than 800 children in Oakland County received some sort of help from us during 1959. At the end of the year, 250 were actively receiving help and almost that many were waiting for service.

SERVES COUNTY

Operating under the sponsorship of the State Department of Mental Health, the Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic serves all of the county with three branch offices in Pontiac, Birmingham and Royal Oak.

"We offer diagnostic, treatment and consultation services for children (from birth to 18 years, or any high school student) who show emotional and personality problems," Miss Hall says.

"Staff members include psychiatrists, psychiatric social workers and clinical psychologists who have had special training in working with the problems of children."

At the time of the first appointment, according to the director, a staff member interviews one or both parents to get details as to the nature of the problem.

PIN-WORMS
MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, loss of sleep and a tormenting itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... a ugly parasite that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P.W. tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating encases the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredients go right to work—killing Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. Get genuine Jayne's P.W. Vermifuge... small, sugar-in-taste tablets... especially safe for children and infants. Perfected by Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for 100 years.

'Would Delay School Dropouts'Allow Work at 17: Moore

Laws against child labor should exempt 17-year-olds to take off the streets part of the 40 per cent of those who quit high school before graduation, Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore suggested today.

At a meeting of the state's police and court officials in Dearborn, the Oakland County jurist continued his attempts to sell work education programs for those students who drop out of school.

The pilot program is already under way at Camp Oakland here.

The judge suggested that Camp Dearborn be adopted for this purpose. He also urged that people in other parts of the state produce at least two similar programs.

Most of the youths who leave school are usually between the ages of 16 and 17 years and cannot seek full-time employment until they become 18, Judge Moore pointed out. The usual result is an idle juvenile delinquent, he added.

'MUST BE GRADUAL'

"This condition of the reduction of work age must be gradual so that the labor market will not be suddenly flooded with 17-year-old employable youngsters," the judge said.

"If reliability, good work habits and maturity are emphasized as the criteria whereby one may be employed at the age of 17, this will again have a salutatory effect on the entire 'dropout' problem," he said.

"This will encourage all youngsters to stay in school at least until they are 17 years of age."

"Thus, many will probably con-

Williams Opposes License Return Ease

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams said Tuesday he had reluctantly permitted a bill simplifying the method for a motorist to recover a suspended or revoked operator license to become law without his signature.

He said it posed a potential threat to the state's traffic safety program.

"This bill permits a driver whose license has been suspended or revoked to go to circuit court and, on the basis of his story alone, secure the return of his license for as long as the judge thinks proper," Williams said.

"It makes no requirement that the motorist actually appeal the secretary of state's action. It does not allow for the development of any consistent safety policy or public awareness of safety rules."

Williams said he had asked Secretary of State James M. Hare to keep records on results of the bill and make a report to the Legislature and the next governor.

Principals Plan Talks at MSUO

Students will get their chance to tell the principals how to run things tomorrow at Michigan State University-Oakland.

This will be accomplished at the Principal-Student Conference Thursday afternoon and evening.

About 50 high school principals, most of them from Oakland and Macomb counties, will begin conferences at 1:30 with freshmen.

The educators are looking for ideas on how to better prepare high school seniors for their freshman year at the university.

Each principal will talk with graduates of his school to attempt to learn what parts of the high school curriculum were of most value to the student in his freshman year at MSUO.

Consumer Education Class Set Thursday

"Borrowing Money and Installment Buying" will be the topic of the third in a series of public consumer education classes at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Pontiac Community Services Building, 132 Franklin Blvd.

To speak on the subject is Albert W. Marble, managing director of the Michigan Credit Union League.

The classes are sponsored by the Community Services Committee of the Oakland County AFL-CIO, in cooperation with the Pontiac Area United Fund, Inc.

Deep South Fried Pies Please Ladies

Blueberry Fried Pies may suggest to many a delightful new dessert. But, in the South—where Fried Pies originated—they're as familiar as corn bread and black-eyed peas. These individual, berry-laden pastry crescents are quickly fried on each side until they're a golden brown.

This springtime luncheon is sure to be a hit with the ladies. Serve the Blueberry Fried Pies plain or fancy—sprinkle them with confectioner's sugar or top each with a scoop of vanilla ice cream. When cool, Fried Pies make good finger foods—perfect for picnic or lunch-box packing.

Sift together flour and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle with water, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together. Turn out on floured board or pastry cloth and press dough together. Cover or wrap in waxed paper.

Prepare Blueberry Filling. Combine flour, sugar and salt in saucepan. Add orange juice, blueberries and syrup. Cook over medium heat until mixture is thickened, stirring occasionally. Cool.

Divide pastry into halves. Roll dough out to ¼-inch thickness and cut into rounds 4½ or 5 inches in diameter. Spoon about 2½ table-

Ice Cream Gets Crunchy Bits

The role of cereals in pairing off with dairy foods to mutual advantage is well illustrated by the combination of cereal and milk. In fact, it has been estimated that cereals account for about 15 per cent of the fluid milk per capita consumption.

Presweetened cereals, youngsters find, make a fun topping for ice cream. Carry that idea one step further by combining the cereal in a buttery caramel crunch mixture that can be folded into softened ice cream. The result is Crunchy Ice Cream, a novel and satisfying dessert.

Crunchy Ice Cream
 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
 2 tablespoons brown sugar, firmly packed
 1½ cups wheat flaked flakes
 ½ cup chopped nuts
 1 quart vanilla ice cream
 Melt butter in medium-sized saucepan over low heat; blend in sugar. Cook until mixture bubbles, stirring constantly. Add cereal and nuts, stirring lightly over low heat, until heated through. Spread in thin layer on baking sheet. Cool and crumble.

Fold crunchy mixture into slightly softened ice cream. Place in freezer compartment of refrigerator until hardened. Yield: 6 - 8 servings.

Bake Bread for After-School Treat

Here's an easy nutritious loaf of bread.

Quick Whole Wheat Bread
 1 cup flour
 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
 ½ teaspoon salt
 ½ cup sugar
 1 cup stone-ground whole wheat flour
 1 cup cold water
 1 cup cold butter or margarine
 1 cup milk
 Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Stir in the whole wheat flour and the nuts. Add milk; stir to mix thoroughly. Turn into buttered small loaf pan (7½ by 3½ by 2 inches); allow to stand 5 minutes. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 20 minutes; spread top with butter; continue baking 15 minutes — cake tester inserted in center should come out without any particles adhering but it may be a bit sticky.

Turn out on wire rack; turn right side up; cool. Loaf will have slight cracks at sides; it may be cut about ¼-inch thick when cool, thinner if tightly covered and stored overnight.

Can't Be Overwhipped
 Non-fat dry milk takes longer to whip than egg whites or cream; it can't be over-whipped. However, it should be used within one hour after whipping.

Full Main Course Found in Shrimp Fried Rice

Here's a golden opportunity to try your hand at preparing a famous Chinese dish, Shrimp Fried Rice.

While the Chinese would use a bowl-shaped utensil called a wok to prepare fried rice, the fried rice recipe here has been Americanized, making it simple to prepare in our stylish and colorful American frypans. In fact, if your frypan is pretty enough to come to the table, crown it with its gold-like cover and present it to guests, steaming with good Shrimp Fried Rice.

1/2 cup corn oil
2 cups uncooked rice
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
2 1/2 cups chicken stock
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup finely shredded Chinese cabbage or lettuce

Combine shrimp, salt and soy sauce and let stand 10 to 15 minutes to blend flavors. Heat corn oil in a large skillet over medium heat or in an electric skillet set at 350 degrees.

Add rice and fry, stirring frequently, until lightly and evenly browned. Add green pepper, onion and celery and saute about one minute or until vegetables are slightly softened. Add marinated shrimp and chicken stock.

Cover pan, reduce heat to simmer or low and cook 15 to 25 minutes (time varies with type of rice used). Cooking should continue until rice is tender, grains are separated and all the liquid is absorbed. To complete drying, remove the cover the last few minutes of cooking.

Push rice to side and add eggs. Cook until semisolid, then mix into rice mixture. Stir in cabbage and lettuce and serve immediately. Makes 8 to 10 servings. Note: Dissolve 3 chicken bouillon cubes in 2 1/2 cups water to make stock.

When a recipe directs you to "baste" a food, just spoon the liquid or fat over the food as it cooks.

Freezing Tips to Save Time

Baking for the freezer benefits your family two ways — you can serve home-baked breads at a moment's notice and also make excellent use of your baking time.

Setting aside a morning or day for baking, just as Grandmother did, results in a well-stocked freezer — providing your family doesn't sample too much. It's easy to find willing helpers, too, because it's so much fun to work with dough.

To prepare breads, rolls and coffee cakes for freezing, prepare and bake as usual. Cool to room temperature. If bread or rolls are to be frosted, plan to do so later, just before serving. Wrap in moisture-vapor-proof paper and seal; then freeze.

Yeast breads may be kept frozen up to six months; coffee cakes for four months; and yeast rolls for two to six months.

To prepare frozen bread for serving, thaw at room temperature or remove from wrappings and heat in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes.

Rolls and coffee cakes should be reheated in aluminum foil at the same temperature. Rolls will be hot in 20 minutes and coffee cakes in 30 to 40 minutes.

Biscuit Rolls Hold Salmon for Luncheon

Tasty Salmon Rounds topped with a velvety smooth sauce of creamed peas offer interest and variety to Lenten menu-planning. Your family is sure to vote unanimously for this flavorful Lenten dish.

Combine 1 cup drained flaked salmon, an 8 ounce can, 1/4 cup enriched bread crumbs, 1/4 cup chopped celery, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon chopped onion and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Stir in 1 beaten egg. Set aside while preparing biscuit dough.

Sift together 1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and 1/4 teaspoon salt.

Cut or rub in 1/4 cup shortening until mixture is crumbly. Add 1/2 to two-thirds cup milk — enough to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead gently 30 seconds. Roll out into a 9-inch square. Spread salmon mixture evenly over dough. Roll up like jelly roll, sealing edge securely. Cut into 1-inch slices.

Place cut - side down in lightly greased 8-inch square pan or 8 inch round baking dish. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Serve hot with creamed peas. Makes 4 servings.

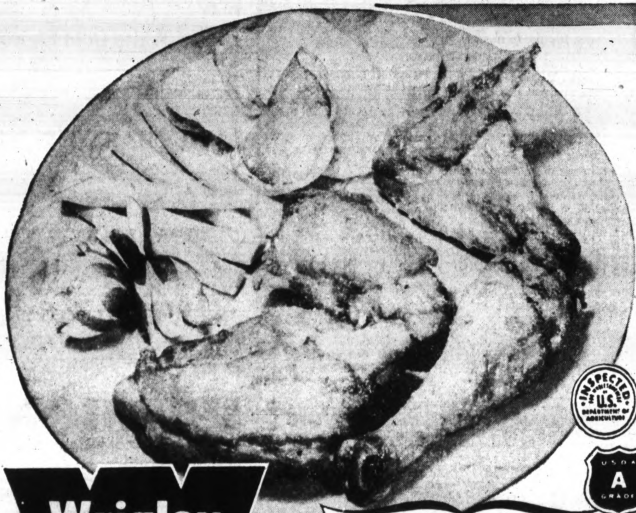

Tasty morsel for a party tidbit tray: Mix canned apple sauce with cream cheese. Form into tiny balls and roll in ground peanuts. Spear each ball on a toothpick.

Williams Inks Score of Bills

One Sets Up Machinery for Nomination, Election of Con-Con Delegates

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams cleared his desk of a shutter of bills before setting out today on a week-long swing of speech-making around the country.

Williams worked late yesterday signing more than a score of bills into law. Included was one to provide for partisan nomination and election of delegates to a constitutional convention.

If a convention is approved, the next Legislature will be required only to set the dates for nomination and election of delegates.

The current Legislature failed to put the constitutional convention question on the ballot by resolution. But, the League of Women Voters and the State Junior Chamber of Commerce are trying to collect enough signatures to make it a ballot issue by petition.

The governor also signed bills to: Permit banks to purchase stock of corporations operating exclusively for bank services; Increase service charges on small loans; permit investments in leasehold interests; permit loans up to 75 per cent on real estate; increase from nine to 18 months the time limit on construction loans; and permit stock options for bank employees.

Reduce from three to two the number of demerit points for conviction of exceeding the speed limit by 10 miles or less per hour.

Permit the purchase of pedestrian overpasses by school districts on title retaining contracts. Create one additional traffic court judgeship in Detroit, subject to referendum.

State Sen. Geerlings to Run for Re-Election

HOLLAND, Mich. (UPI) — Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland) said he would run again to put an end to speculation he was stepping down after nine years.

He indicated he might not run again about midway in the long legislative session of 1959. Geerlings, chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee, cited a constituent's comment that he should run again to see if he had represented his area satisfactorily in announcing his decision.

Dem Hopeful Wants $1.25 Wage Floor

Symington in Michigan, Lashes GOP

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) said today the Eisenhower administration is using "a weary old argument" in contending a $1.25 an hour minimum wage would increase unemployment.

The Democratic presidential aspirant said he strongly supports an increase to $1.25 and hopes "that Congress will not be influenced by this scare campaign against it."

Symington's prepared speech was for a Democratic luncheon club here.

In Washington Tuesday Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said he would recommend that President Eisenhower veto any bill boosting the present $1 minimum wage to more than $1.15.

A Senate Labor subcommittee has recommended that the floor be made $1.25 for most workers covered by the act. The full committee has not acted.

Symington said "I am in favor of increasing the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour. The present minimum of $1 an hour amounts to an annual income of only $2,000. This may have been enough in 1940. It is not enough in 1960."

"The fact is that a more reasonable minimum creates jobs by raising purchasing power. The economic history of this country gives factual support to that conclusion."

In Midland Tuesday night, Symington said Americans "are not getting the security they're paying for."

"We are spending 40 to 50 billion dollars a year to become a second-rate power," the Missouri

PRESIDENTIAL PAIR? — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) right, was greeted warmly Tuesday by Gov. G. Mennen Williams when he came to Lansing to seek support for his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination. Symington said the Democratic governor, who has his eye on the vice presidential nomination, would "make a fine running mate."

Democrat declared in opening a two-day swing through Michigan.

"Symington, a former Air Force secretary, accused the administration of wasting 10 billion dollars a year in defense spending. He placed the blame partly on the sad and sorry business of disunity in the Pentagon."

Serious New Quakes Add 15 Deaths in Lar

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Panic-stricken residents fled again from the battered city of Lar Tuesday to escape new quakes which toppled weakened buildings and added 15 more dead to the estimated toll of 300.

Persons caught in the latest quakes described them as heavy. They said the center of the city 50 miles south of Tehran was in ruins as a result of Sunday's two shattering quakes and the series of shocks that have followed.

More than half of Lar's residents are living in emergency tent communities outside the city. Otherwise Tuesday's casualty toll would have been far higher, they said.

Citizens buried 300 victims of Sunday's disaster, and rescue teams continued to probe through the rubble for more dead and injured. Officials estimate there are about 200 bodies still beneath the wreckage.

One of the first eyewitness accounts was brought back to Tehran by Lt. Austin O'Brien of Belmont, Mass., assistant U.S. naval attaché, who flew medicine and supplies to Lar.

O'Brien said only about 6,000 of Lar's normal population of 14,000 remained in the stricken city. Sunday's quake cut a 1,500-foot swath through the busy market area, he said, causing heavy damage and many of the casualties.

A special French stethoscope type machine was to arrive today to help rescuers determine if anyone is still alive beneath the piles of debris.

Every available type of transport was used to get the seriously injured to hospitals. Sixty taxicabs maneuvered over a mountain road to reach Shiraz and other cities.

Upjohn and Pfizer Deny Diabetes Drug Too Costly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The manufacturer of a new anti-diabetic drug taken by mouth testified today the profit on a month's supply of the medicine was 15 cents in 1959.

John E. McKee, president of Charles Pfizer & Co. of Brooklyn, New York, told Senate investigators this figure cut to about a half cent of profit per tablet, and he considered it modest. He said $4.50 was the average monthly cost to a patient.

McKee's testimony was prepared for the second day of hearings by the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee on pricing and other practices by manufacturers of oral anti-diabetic drugs.

It is part of the subcommittee's wide-scale investigation to determine whether big pharmaceutical houses engage in monopolistic practices and over charge the public for medicines.

The Pfizer anti-diabetic drug is chlorpropamide, sold under the trade name of Diabinese.

Dr. E. Gifford Upjohn, president of the Upjohn Co. of Kalamazoo, Mich., a competing firm, Tuesday sternly rejected allegations by the subcommittee's chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) that his company charges too much for its oral anti-diabetic drug tolbutamide, sold under the trade name Orinase.

Upjohn also denied the company is involved in any improper monopolistic dealing.

Upjohn said the average cost to the patient for the drug is 12 1/2 cents a dose or 37 1/2 cents a day, which he said is about the same as for insulin, taken by injection, and not much more than a pack of cigarettes.

The Wechs report now they are a two-car family.

Oakland County Kentucky Vets to Motor Protest

Members of the Oakland County Chapter of the Out-of-State Kentucky Veterans Organization will take part in a motorcade Saturday to Frankfort, Ky., to protest limitations in a vets' bonus law enacted by the Kentucky State Legislature earlier this year.

According to Harold E. Riser of 341 Whittemore St., a group spokesman, those planning to participate will meet Friday at 9 p.m. at Telegraph road and U.S. 23, three miles north of Flat Rock.

There are more than 200 Kentucky vets in the Pontiac area, he said. Many are making the trip from Michigan and surrounding states, according to Riser.

The march on the Capitol is in protest of a new law limiting payment of a bonus to Kentucky veterans still living in their home state.

Pasture soils are believed generally poorer because they are too acid for the best growth of pasture legumes or the better pasture grasses, but may improve in time.

Attorney Doesn't Buy Story of Kissing Cop

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The city attorney's office ordered actress Greta Thyssen arraigned today on a peace disturbance charge despite her claim that a policeman tried to kiss her when he gave her a traffic ticket.

Her lawyer sought to have the complaint withdrawn for lack of evidence. But after a two-hour hearing Tuesday chief deputy City Attorney Edward L. Davenport refused.

Davenport said there wasn't sufficient evidence that the police officer got out of line.

Miss Thyssen was cited April 19 for ignoring a stop sign. She said she shoved officer Gerald Jackson away "when he bent over me in my car and said 'Why aren't you nice?' and I thought he was going to kiss me."

Jackson said the actress used profanity and hit him. He handed out the ticket and took her to jail.

Won't Seek Re-Election

SAGINAW (UPI) — State Rep. Robert S. Gilbert (R-Saginaw) will not seek re-election to his third term in the House this fall. Gilbert said he wanted to devote more time to his law practice and hoped to see more of his family.

Combined length of the Mississippi-Missouri river system is 3,388 miles.

South Central League Honors Senior Players

South Central Conference held all-conference banquet Tuesday at Frankenkum, honoring the senior athletes in the high schools of the conference.

Doc Fordell, publicity director of the Detroit Tigers, was the main speaker.

Trophies were given to Inlay City for winning the football honors, Ortonville for basketball, to Millington for track last spring, and Inlay City for last spring's baseball.

Sportsmanship trophy for the year was given to North Branch. Some 100 attended, according to Coach Conrad of North Branch.

Casseroles Come to Rescue of Cooks Who Garden

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Calling all gardeners . . . get off your knees and gather 'round. We're trying to give you some extra time in your beloved gardens.

Many women we know prefer gardening to cooking. Others get so fascinated with their first attempts at growing things that they have little time for preparing meals.

We've always preferred cooking. But this year, now that we're wearing the hat labeled "garden editor," even we are spending time outside pulling weeds.

However, the family still demands a good dinner. Casseroles are the answer. So we'll take off our garden editor hat and put on the one marked, "food editor." Here goes.

Ham and scalloped potatoes are a favorite twoome. This version of the dish is a little different. You might even use the instant sliced potatoes to cut down on your preparation time.

Ham and Potato Casserole

1 cup melted butter
1 medium onion, chopped, fine
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
4 cups cubed or sliced cooked potatoes
(or 3 medium-sized potatoes)

Water Chestnuts Go With Crisp Beans

A Chinese flavoring touch makes green beans delightfully different.

Mini's Green Beans

1 pound snap beans
1 cup boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon light brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon soy sauce
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup chestnuts cut in strips near the size of the beans
Choose young narrow beans; cut away ends; scrub in cold water. Cut in about 1-inch lengths with slanted ends. Cook rapidly in medium-sized saucepan with water and salt until barely tender — about 7 minutes; cover but lift cover a few times to help keep beans green.
Drain off any liquid by holding cover over pan. Push beans to side of pan; add sugar, soy sauce and butter; stir mixture over low heat to blend; mix with beans. Add water—chestnuts and reheat. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Note: If beans are wide, cut in half lengthwise before slicing into short pieces.

Baked Fruit

Try this delicious fruit dish for dessert or for a delicious accompaniment for meat: Cut a dozen stewed dried figs in quarters and mix in a baking dish with about four sliced bananas, a quarter cup of sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and about a cup of flaked coconut. Bake at 400 degrees about 15 minutes.

Spring Lamb has Place in Your Favorite Dishes

It's spring! Time for main-dish salads . . . for luncheon and supper parties. That leftover leg of lamb from Sunday's dinner is perfect as the main ingredient for a Chef's salad.

Another tasty dish is Fried Rib Lamb Chops . . . dipped in an egg mixture and coated with crumbs for a new flavor treat. Serve it when you want a quick-cooked dinner.

Lamb Chef's Salad

1 medium-sized green pepper, sliced
1 medium-sized red onion, sliced

1 cup grated carrot
1 cup salad or olive oil
1 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper
Combine lamb, lettuce, celery, cheese, tomatoes, green pepper, onion and carrot; toss lightly. Chill. Combine remaining ingredients; mix well. Pour dressing over lamb mixture. Toss lightly, but thoroughly. Serves 4.

2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1/4 cup finely chopped onion

Foliar Feeding Is Fast and Sure
Lawn, roses, trees, shrubs and other garden plants need extra feeding this Spring.
The severe winter, with heavy snow and below-normal temperatures, has left most plants in poor condition to start their normal Spring growth. Soil has been waterlogged . . . many of the nutrients have been washed away by surface run-off or have leached down into the subsoil.
These conditions are now widespread at the very time when plants need an abundance of food if they are to achieve normal, vigorous growth. When trees and plants first leaf out, growing new foliage, fruits, and flowers, a constant supply of food is essential for best results.

One of the most effective methods of applying the necessary food to plants is by foliar feeding. Science has proven that plants will absorb soluble nutrients, not only through the leaves but also through blossoms, branches, stems, as well as the roots.

A fine mist spray of high-quality liquid plant food, applied every week to ten days, will give the plants the help they need to overcome the ravages of winter.

Baked Apples Filled With Orange Cream

Apples just right for baking are heaped on the fruit counters these days. Look for the handsome bit Rones, the useful, always fine Staymans, the Winesaps. All are superb baking apples. All make a dessert the family and guests welcome at the end of luncheon or dinner, or as the perfect ending for a Sunday brunch.

Here's a new way to bake apples, with good color and exceptional flavor.

Baked Apples Grenada
Select 4 large baking apples. Core, being careful not to cut through blossom end. Pare about

Artichoke Hearts

Next time you plan to serve frozen individual beef, chicken, or turkey pies for dinner, you might like this vegetable relish as an accompaniment: Cook a 10-ounce package of artichoke hearts according to label directions; drain, cool, and place in shallow dish. Combine 1/2 cup bottled French dressing and 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper; pour over artichokes. Chill. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

Ever use Chinese cabbage? It is also called celery cabbage and is from 10 to 16 inches long. The leaves are packed closely, but are feathery at the top.

Loss of Common Touch Troubling Methodists

DENVER (U)—Methodists convened here today, worried lest they lose their common touch.

The occasion is the opening of their quadrennial general conference, supreme governing body of the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

It faced some keen tensions. Specifically, the church's racial policies posed a major issue.

But generally, as the 800 voting delegates and an estimated 5,000 visitors assembled, the broader question was whether the church is developing class lines, apart from the humble and ordinary masses.

The Rev. Dr. Walter O. Mueller, dean of Boston University's School of Theology, has put the concern this way:

"Because of its middle-class character as well as its racial ineptness, Methodism is losing proportionately among the working class."

This is an unusual problem for a church that originated as a movement to bring religion to the poor and to laborers.

However, it has been pointed out repeatedly lately by Methodist leaders and publications.

Many in the church, the journal said, feel "the necessity for reformation."

A survey has shown that the average present-day Methodist is middle-class, white, in the professional bracket, with income exceeding $5,229 annually, higher than half the wage-earners in the country.

The 10-million-member denomination also has become a financially imposing, multimillion-dollar institution with 40,000 churches dotting the nation, many of them great, impressive structures.

Oakland Water Seat on Detroit Ballot

The Detroit Common Council took final steps yesterday for a citywide charter amendment vote Aug. 2 to make Oakland County a member of the Board of Water Commissioners.

Approved was a vote in the primary election on enlarging the Commission from four to seven members, allowing for Oakland, Macomb and a third county to seat members.

It's part of a plan of Detroit to sell water to these counties.

An Oakland County committee is working on a tentative agreement now for the purchase of the water to supplement lowering ground supplies.

Automobile industry of the United States consumes about 19 million tons of steel per year, or about 23 per cent of the total supply produced annually.

"JOE SMITH" — Terry Carpenter, Nebraska delegate who created "Joe Smith" at the 1956 GOP Convention, plans to nominate Nelson Rockefeller for president in Chicago July 25. State Senator Carpenter is also running for Nebraska governor.

Probers Are Unconvinced by Dick Clark's Figures

WASHINGTON (U)—House payola investigators summoned three statistical specialists today to report their own interpretation of an analytical study of Dick Clark's TV disc jockey show.

The study, made for Clark by a New York statistical firm, reported that Clark could have had a personal financial interest in 27 per cent of the songs played on his matinee music show.

By implication, it showed he had no personal interest in 73 per cent of the songs he used.

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) promptly challenged the survey results, calling them misleading and incomplete.

"We have asked these three ex-

"take into account that he or his companies have paid payola to numerous disc jockeys throughout the country."

Noonan replied that payola was considered but that it was impossible to gauge it with any accuracy.

To this, Lishman inquired how Clark's influence could be measured. "If you don't know the extent of payola he has paid?"

Noonan said Clark is "probably the single most influential person in the industry in determining the popularity of a record."

Ferency Resigns Post; to Run for Wayne Job

LANSING (U)—Zolton A. Ferency, expected to be a Democratic candidate for Wayne County prosecutor, has resigned as director of the State Workmen's Compensation Department.

He was named to the $13,500 a year post by Williams on July 20, 1958. He also is chairman of the State Industrial Safety Commission and the Workmen's Compensation Study Commission.

The Thomas Batemans of St. Jude court were among area couples at Tuesday evening's gala "April in Paris" party at Kingsley Inn. The camera caught them admiring model Harriett Fuller in a Trigere original, an elegant pink, aqua and navy formal gown. Parisian decor transformed the inn, giving the illusion of an evening in Paris.

Before artist Messikian's Toulouse-Lautrec flavored mural in the foyer, the James Brineys of East Iroquois road pause to admire model Jeanne Verbanic wearing a three piece black Egyptian cotton suit from the Pauline Trigere summer collection. The geometric print of the blouse adds crispness to the total effect—an antidote for summer's wilted feeling.

Gang May Not Be Crummy: Abby

Don't Argue With Daughter

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: What can be done with a daughter who picks the worst people she can find to be her friends?

We have always gone by the old saying: "As the twig is bent, the tree will grow." But it hasn't worked with us.

My husband and I have sacrificed so that our daughter could dress well and go with the best crowd. She is 18 now and goes with the crummiest bunch in town. Where have we failed?

HER PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: Many parents with the best of intentions are overly critical of their children's friends. Then, out of spite (or a feeling of "loyalty" to the friend), the child deliberately strengthens the friendship. Sometimes when the "twig is bent" too far it breaks.

DEAR ABBY: Whenever my husband and I are with other couples, he turns on the charm and gets all the attention he can from other women. I know him. He does this just to make me jealous.

Do you think I should play up to other men and teach him a lesson?

ELEANOR
DEAR ELEANOR: Before you consider "teaching lessons," you'd better get yourself a teacher's certificate. Be your sweet self and let your husband have a good time. He is probably making a bid for the ego message he so desperately needs.

DEAR ABBY: I am an eligible bachelor. I own my own home, don't gamble or drink and have money in the bank. A neighbor of mine is a young widow with three little boys. I asked her if she would go out to supper with me and she said she would, if she could take all her kids. Naturally I objected. (She could have left them with a neighbor.)

How can a man court a woman when she's got her kids with her?

Did I make a mistake in refusing to take her kids? I am still interested in her but don't want to be taken for a fool. Should I ask her again and take her kids if she'll go?

LONESOME LOU
DEAR LOU: This woman is obviously interested in a man

only if he is interested in her children. You struck out there. If you want to "court" her, ask her again and include the boys. If she likes you, she'll see you alone (in time). The way to a young widow's heart is usually through the hearts of her children.

DEAR ABBY: To the girl who is afraid to put her hair up at night because she doesn't want her husband to see her: My hair is also straight and baby fine and I have to put it up every night. I don't know about her husband, but my husband sleeps with his eyes closed. I put it up after he has gone to sleep and comb it out in the morning - before he gets up.

NO BIG DEAL

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Nancy Maloney Marries

Easter lilies banded the altar of St. Benedict Church for Saturday vows of Nancy Elizabeth Maloney and Pfc. George John Jimkoski, pledged to the Rev. Richard W. Thomas.

Daughter of the Irving D. Maloney of Chippewa road, the bride appeared in bouffant white silk tulle accented by tiers of lace applique ending in a chapel sweep.

French lace, re-embroidered with sequins and pearls, outlined the scalloped neckline. Attached to a pearl pillow was the finger veil of French silk illusion.

Mounted on the bridal miasal was a cascade of white chrysanthemums, poms, and orchids, with streamers of ivy and valley lilies.

Turquoise silk organza with Dior skirt bows fashioned gowns for honor maid Judy Jimkoski, of Port Austin, sister of the bridegroom; Judy Nichols of Pontiac and Niceta DeConick of Orchard Lake. Their circle veils with rhinestone motifs were held by floral clips. Yellow chrysanthemums and carnations were carried in wicker baskets. The bride's niece, Julia Rizzuto, junior attendant, wore yellow tulle nylon sheer with lace trim. She carried a basket of aqua-tinted carnations and white chrysanthemums.

Robert Jimkoski stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Jimkoski of Port Austin.

Seating the guests were Coleman DeConick of Orchard Lake and Earl Marx of Detroit. James Jimkoski was ring-bearer.

After a Niagara Falls honeymoon, the couple will reside at West Point, N.Y., where the bridegroom is stationed at the U.S. Military Academy.

Bride of Ensign Dirks

Patricia Ann Kelly of Ogemaw road, teen-age program director at Pontiac YWCA, became the bride of Ensign Chauncey L. Dirks of Scotch Grove, Iowa, Saturday evening.

Some 200 guests witnessed the ceremony at St. John Lutheran Church in Rochester. The Rev.

MRS. CHAUNCEY L. DIRKS

Walter C. Gerken officiated before an altar banked with white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kelly of Southgate, Calif., formerly of Lake Orion, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. H. Martin Dirks of Scotch Grove.

Of white tulle, rosepoint lace and tulle, the bride's gown was fashioned with a scalloped neck line, long tapered sleeves and a chapel train. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts of the bridegroom, and a tulle Juliet cap surrounded by pearl orange blossoms. Her fingertip veil was of silk illusion, and she held a cascade arrangement of white roses centered by a white orchid.

Honor maid Gail Greenless of Lake Orion, the bride's cousin, wore a white tulle dress with bell-shaped skirt with a band of red tulle outlining the bodice. Her shoes were red, and she carried a cascade of red and white variegated carnations.

The costume worn by bridesmaid Irene Ingles of Bloomfield Hills, recently from London, England, matched the honor maid's attire.

A white organza frock with ruffled sleeves and a red tulle sash was worn by flower girl Vanessa Schille of Rochester. She carried a white basket of red carnations.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother Max Dirks of Scotch Grove. Ushering were Arnold Schille of Rochester and Martin Marshall of Oxford.

After the church reception relatives of the couple gathered at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Russell Greenless of Lake Orion. The bride's Beta Sigma Phi Sorority sisters served at the church. Another reception was held Monday in Scotch Grove.

The new Mrs. Dirks changed to a turquoise sheath and jacket with white accessories to begin a trip to Coronado, Calif., where the couple will reside.

The new Mrs. Dirks, a graduate of General Motors Institute of Technology, is stationed at North Island Naval Air Station in San Diego, Calif.

The bride formerly taught at St. John Lutheran School.

Election May 9

Rochester to Decide High School Caliber

ROCHESTER — Voters in the Rochester Community School District will decide whether to continue maintenance of a high caliber of education on the high school level when they vote on the proposed $3,000,000 bond issue May 9, the Board of Education announced today.

Officials say aim is at a quality high school education—one that will open the doors of the best colleges to Rochester graduates and one that will prepare them to take their proper place in business and industry, they said today.

Included in the bond package — beside a new junior high school, rehabilitation of the present junior high, a new elementary school and several elementary school additions — is a high school expansion program.

Sixteen classrooms will be added to the unit which was opened in 1958 for an 800-student capacity. Next fall, 917 in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades will enroll in the high school.

STEADY 3 PCT. RISE

Conservative projection figures used for utility expansion in the area show that a steady increase of 3 percent in the student body per year applies to the high school as well as other levels of the school program.

"The Board of Education and administration have earmarked an additional science laboratory, a foreign language laboratory and an enlargement of the library as part of the proposed high school expansion," said School Supt. Donald C. Baldwin.

The art department will also be expanded, he explained.

Stepped up emphasis on the academics already finds that special interest areas have been instituted in the high school. An honors course for students showing aptitude for and interest in writing and advanced literature is under way.

Mathematics, has undergone some modernized reshaping and three years of French is now available.

With enough demand, four years of German will be a regular offering in the high school. Science has had the addition of a physiology course to its unit.

MORE COUNSELING

"We are doing more counseling with students and we hope to do more in the future," said Baldwin.

"Individual work with students at all grade levels is tremendously important to a good education program."

Along with the 16 classroom additions is a proposal to do further site development, add an additional boiler (space already provided in the existing boiler structure) and develop tennis courts.

Both the gymnasium (built in 1957) and the cafeteria were designed for a student body of 1,500 and will be adequate for a number of years, Baldwin said.

Catholic Women Pick Officers at Spring Session

The Detroit Archdiocesan League of Catholic Women elected officers at its annual spring meeting yesterday in the parish hall of Our Lady of Refuge Church, Orchard Lake.

Others elected were Mrs. Harold P. Smith of Ann Arbor, first vice president; Mrs. Perry Crawford of Rochester, second vice president; Mrs. Charles N. Reichling of Grosse Pointe, recording secretary; Mrs. Edward Carls of Port Huron, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Leonard Roach of Wyandotte, treasurer.

Following elections, luncheon was served by St. Jude's Guild of the Rosary Altar Society.

Rochester Queen to Be Chosen May 25 in High School Gym

ROCHESTER — The "Miss Rochester Independence Day Queen" contest will be held at 8 p.m. May 25 in the high school gymnasium. Mrs. W. V. Sawyer, contest chairman, announced today.

Entrants must be single, between 17 and 21 years of age and live in the Rochester Community School District.

The contest will be conducted by the "Miss America Pageant." The girls will be judged not only on poise, personality, grace and charm, but on their performance in a talent show during the competition.

According to Mrs. Sawyer, contestants may sing, dance, play a musical instrument, give a dramatic reading or recite a poem. Each will be judged on her own ability.

Five judges now are being chosen to select the queen and her two attendants to reign over the second annual Kwanzaa "4th of July" celebration on Independence Day.

The judging will be divided into three categories: bathing suit, talent show and formal attire.

A nominal fee will be charged for admission to cover cost of the queen's gifts and to pay contest expenses, Mrs. Sawyer said. She is being assisted by last year's chairman, Mr. Oscar J. Sorenson Jr.

Seymour Lake Church Plans Banquet Friday

Seymour Lake Methodist Church WSCS will sponsor a Father-Son Daughters banquet Friday in the church parson. A turkey dinner will be served at 7 p.m.

The Metamora Kitchen Band will provide entertainment. Reservations are being accepted by Mrs. John Cook, 16 Orion Rd., Clarkston.

Pontiac City Affairs

Newcomers Put on Key Boards

Two members of the new City Commission were elected last night to serve two-year terms as ex-officio members on two important boards.

Commissioner Wesley J. Wood was named by fellow commissioners to serve as City Commission representative on the planning commission.

William H. Taylor Jr. was appointed in the same capacity as a trustee on the retirement board.

Former Commissioner William Davidson had held the same commission post and former Commissioner Floyd P. Miles served on the retirement board.

AIRPORT FIRM REACTS
Aerodynamics Inc., became the first company at Pontiac Municipal Airport to take advantage of the city's decision to get out of the gasoline and oil business there.

Commissioners approved a one-year license for the company to sell gas and oil under a formula adopted at City Hall last week.

For every gallon of aviation gas the company sells, the city will get a 3-cent cut and for every quart of oil, 5 cents.

Homer D. Henson, airport manager, has said that three other companies at the airport are interested in selling their own gas and oil.

If they sign up, he has predicted, the airport should clear about $5,000 on sales this year, or the same as it made last year.

Increased sales because of ever-increasing business at the airport are the key to the formula, he said.

ASK NEW HOUSE BIDS
Two bids for purchase of a city-owned home and lot at Osmon and Stanford streets were rejected and the city clerk was asked to seek new ones.

The bids were submitted by Franklin D. Elkins, 342 Osmon St., $31,000, and by Albert A. Hardebeck, owner of a market at 340 Osmon, instigated the bidding procedure by asking the city to sell the land to him.

Because Mayor Philip E. Rowan has an outside commitment Tuesday — the commission's usual meeting day — next week's meeting has been rescheduled for Monday evening.

Cost estimates were accepted for four proposed projects involving new curbs, gutters, grading, graveling and drainage.

Hearings were scheduled for Monday.

Included are Fourth avenue, Joslyn to Hugwood; Second avenue, Taylor to Lansing; and a new driveway, from the south line of Assessor's Plot 159 to Argyle.

"THAT'S HOW IT WORKS" — Two fourth graders at Auburn Heights School examine a take-apart, unbreakable model of an eye. They are Sondra Vineyard, 10, and Mark Johnson, 9. The health committee of the Avondale PTAs donated two sets each of models of the eye, ear and heart to the schools. They were purchased with proceeds from polio clinics and may be taken from school to school as classes need them for study. The models are recommended by the Oakland County Health Department.

Among 36 Honored in State

Area Student Merit Scholar

WALLED LAKE — Jerome T. Walsh, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Walsh, 3085 Terry St., is among 36 Michigan high school students awarded National Merit Scholarships, it was announced today.

Funds for the awards are provided by 119 different companies, foundations and other groups, and by the National Merit Scholarship Corp., which conducts the annual competition.

Nearly one-third of the nation's high school senior enrollment entered the competition which began a year ago with qualifying tests in 14,500 high schools.

Walsh, who attends the Sacred Heart Seminary High School in Detroit, will graduate in June. He will use the scholarship to continue his education for the priesthood at Sacred Heart.

An honor student during all four years at the school, Walsh is the student director of the high school chorus group.

Two other students from Oakland County also have been named winners of the awards.

They are Phyllis G. Swayze of 4120 Auburn Dr., Royal Oak, who attends the Royal Oak Kimball High School, and David S. Foran, 33145 Kingston St., Huntington Woods, who attends Berkley High School.

Some 1,000 Merit scholars were named today from throughout the country. Approximately 80 seniors will receive funds based on their individual needs, while 170 receive and heart to the schools. They were purchased with proceeds from polio clinics and may be taken from school to school as classes need them for study. The models are recommended by the Oakland County Health Department.

University Presbyterian on Adams

Church Unit Under Way

AVON TOWNSHIP — Architects have been hired to work on the first unit of the new University Presbyterian Church to be built on an 18-acre site across Adams road from Michigan State University.

It will cost between $100,000 and $150,000, church officials announced today.

One of the nation's outstanding church architects, Harold E. Wagner, AIA, of Philadelphia, Pa., will design the initial unit, which will be the main chapel.

Members of the Birmingham architectural firm, Linn Smith Associates, Inc., will make the working drawings and direct construction of the new church building.

This firm currently is working on plans for the new Junior High school in Rochester and the remodeling of the old junior high there.

The first campaign for funds for the new church noted $55,000, according to the Rev. Robert F. Hermanson, church pastor. A second fund drive is slated for fall.

According to present plans, the second unit after the chapel is finished will be for Christian Education to be followed by a multi-purpose room and ultimately a sanctuary.

Rev. Hermanson said that the home across from the university which was converted to church use pending construction of the new building "always will be used for church purposes."

Until the Sunday School classroom wing is added to the first

The students are participating in the "School of the Woods" until Friday. They left Sunday.

The conservation program is operated by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, a five-county park agency serving Oakland, Macomb, Livingston, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

The Lake Orion students at the camp are under the supervision of their mathematics teacher, William Fredo, and William Milliron, special education director at the school.

Early plantings of winter wheat were also in good condition, but late plantings were less promising.

Pastures, with a good moisture supply now in the soil, were expected to show rapid growth as the spring advances.

Fruit trees bud and blossom development was five to 10 days behind normal in most sections. One exception occurred in parts of Berrien County, where unusually high temperatures brought sweet cherries, plums and early peaches into bloom ahead of time.

Apples were in the green-tipped stage in southern counties. In the north, buds were mostly in the swelling stage.

Import Quota Removal Increases U.S. Market
WASHINGTON (AP) — Removal of some "import quotas" has increased the potential American market in Western Europe by a half million dollars since 1958, the State Department says. In a report to the Senate International and Foreign Commerce Committee Tuesday, the department said Italy and Austria were lagging behind the other countries in removing restrictions.

JUDY ANN HARRISON
An August wedding is planned by Judy Ann Harrison and John Garner. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Harrison, 714 Sashabaw Rd., Brandon Township. Her fiancé's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Allen Garner of East Glass Road, Orionville.

JANUS JOYCE
Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Joyce of 82 First St., Oxford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean to Vincent Welch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Welch, 140 South St., Leonard. A June 18 wedding is planned.

Troy School Board Lets Bids, Slates Tax Vote

TROY — The Troy Board of Education last night awarded contracts for school construction and set the date of the annual school election, June 13, for a vote on proposed removal of an eight-mill operational tax levy for five more years.

The awarding of contracts is nearly a month behind schedule due to the city's sewer plight which was resolved two weeks ago by a school plan to haul away sewage at three schools to allow the expansion program to continue.

The general contract for the new elementary school was awarded to Bundy Construction Co., Pontiac, whose low bid was $279,000. Named general contractor for the Morse and Poppleton school additions was the Donald J. Nelson Co., Birmingham, with the low bid of $205,173.

The Standish Electric Co., Detroit, was given the electrical contract for the new elementary school and the Morse and Poppleton school additions. The firm's low bid was $60,884.

All of these bids were opened by the Board March 29. The bids on mechanical work had to be resubmitted last night because of the changes made in the sewer program for the schools.

Low bidder on the new elementary school for the mechanical work was Joseph P. Kropf, Inc., Detroit, with a bid of $89,575. Zeni and McGuire Plumbing and Heating Co., Detroit, was awarded the contract for work on the Morse and Poppleton school additions and the alterations at Niles School. The bid was $38,732.

The renewal of the eight-mill tax levy for operation will cover the period from 1961 and 1962. If approved, it would be a continuation of the levy now in effect for two years ending next year.

Final approval also was given last night on plans for the full-time school addition, which was included in the $2,300,000 bond issue passed by the school district electorate last October.

The building repairs and additions to the high school will be made to house 600 more students, including the ninth grade from the junior high school, according to School Supt. Rex Smith.

Among the changes to be made are increases in the size of the cafeteria, restrooms, showers and locker rooms, new band rooms, two drafting rooms, auto shop and a driver education room.

Seventeen classrooms will be built onto the north end of the building, a new library is planned and two rooms will be added to the commercial department.

Also proposed is that the present high school office be remodeled to house the counseling office.

Work on the projects for which contracts have been awarded is scheduled to get under way in about two weeks, Smith said.

Holly's New Police Chief Heads Staff of 1—Himself

Farmington Man Faces Charges in March 17 Traffic Mishap

HOLLY — A member of the police force here was named chief last night, but without a department to head when the only other full-time policeman resigned.

Named chief to succeed James Parker who resigned two weeks ago, was Paul Gatzett, 38. Substituting his resignation at last night's council meeting was Patrolman Robert McQueen.

Gatzett, with 3 years on the police department, was appointed on a three-month trial basis by Village President Aram Krikorian.

The Council gave Gatzett the authority to hire new men to the department. Two more police officers will be needed to bring the department up to its former size.

Gatzett lives at 1011 Marion Dr. with his wife, Gladys, and their two children, Sandra, 7, and Ricci, 3.

McQueen was the fourth village employee to resign in the last 30 days.

In late March Village Manager Norman E. Tuford resigned under pressure, followed by Village Attorney Donald Bremer and Police Chief Parker.

Village officials last night learned that they would have to dip into the village savings account to meet current operating expenses and return money to an escrow fund.

Krikorian said that the village would have to remove at least $20,000 in savings bonds from a $27,000 account.

"Nearly $12,000 of the money is to be placed in the escrow fund to pay for the March 17 accident, saying he hit something the night of the accident "but didn't know what."

Farmington Man Faces Charges in March 17 Traffic Mishap

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — A preliminary examination began yesterday here for a 68-year-old Farmington man, charged with negligent homicide in the hit-and-run death of a pedestrian March 17.

The examination is before Justice of the Peace James P. Lawson.

On the request of an assistant prosecutor, the examination of John Bedson of 2393 Springbrook Rd., was adjourned until 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Bedson is charged by Farmington Township police with fatally injuring William LaForge, 68, of 21055 Inkster Rd. while he was walking along Inkster road near Eight Mile road.

Bedson voluntarily turned himself over to police after reading a newspaper account of the accident, saying he hit something the night of the accident "but didn't know what."

NUTRITIONAL CONSULTANT

Better Eyesight

"Cheer up": After all, it may not be encouraging any which is affecting your eyesight. And don't be too hasty in blaming your glasses. It may simply be that for a long while you haven't been getting your full daily vitamin quota. Nutrition scientists tell us that vision is a function involving a body-chemical found in the eye called the "visual purple." The visual purple is something like a photographic developer. As it is used, it becomes weakened. Normally, the body constantly "re-charges" the visual purple, keeping it up to "full strength." But when we fail to get the proper amount of vitamin A, this constant restoration cannot take place, and our eyesight becomes impaired. At night, while driving, or crossing a busy street on foot, bright lights blind us, momentarily, and we may become dangerously confused. We may have difficulty in finding our way in a darkened street; our vision in dim light is below par. We suffer "night blindness."

Vitamin B-2 (riboflavin) is another vitamin which plays a vital role in vision because it helps to rid the eye of carbon dioxide. Carotene, a by-product of all body muscular activity — including the activity of the eyes. This is carried out in another way — by the blood vessels. But the cornea of a normal eye is without blood vessels. The eyes are cleared of carbon dioxide in another way — by a chemical process depending upon vitamin B-2. And when we are deficient in B-2 this normal chemical process cannot take place. Scores of tiny blood vessels grow into the cornea so that, in this abnormal way, the gas can be disposed of. The eyes become "bloodshot" and irritated. They are affected severely; they are abnormally sensitive to bright light, and there is a stinging sensation beneath the lids. Tablets containing sufficient amounts of vitamin A, or vitamin B-2 will correct these deficiency conditions. However, it is difficult, if not impossible, for the average person to tell which of these two vitamins may be lacking. Recently a new product has been developed which makes it unnecessary for the layman to guess which of the two vitamins may be missing in his diet. This new product contains both vitamin A and B-2 in amounts large enough to correct the deficiency, and the resulting eye condition. When you are affected by a lack of either vitamin A or vitamin B-2, they are warning us that the entire body is fast becoming depleted of these essential nutrients and that still more serious troubles may soon develop in other parts of the body as well. So, when such warnings — in time. Ask for Aretex Tablets.

Color Slides of Paintings Sell Originals by Mail

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Now you can shop for original paintings in your own home.

Or, without moving from your easy chair, you can look at the works of American artists for pure pleasure, with no intention of buying.

Until recently, art has been presented and sold only through galleries. Most galleries are in large cities and the market has been restricted further because a painting may be shown in only one gallery at a time.

But a new organization of painters—America's Artists in Particular, with headquarters in Phoenix—is using a modern merchandising method which makes it possible for a painting to be seen anywhere at any time.

ON LOAN BASIS

Artists in Particular offers color slides of its members' works to the general public on a loan basis. A study of the slides or projections of the slides, along with accompanying descriptive material and price lists, gives a prospective buyer almost the advantage of seeing the originals in a gallery.

An original, when selected, may be purchased by mail.

On a screen—or even a flat wall—projections of the slides look amazingly like original paintings and may be enlarged for even more detailed study.

Slides also may be studied through a viewer without the necessity of a projector.

A collection of 25 to 50 slides may be ordered for one dollar, to cover handling and mailing expense. Member artists seek to make money from the sale of originals, not from the slide collections, which must be returned.

The operation of Artists in Particular is applauded by artists, collectors and gallery owners alike.

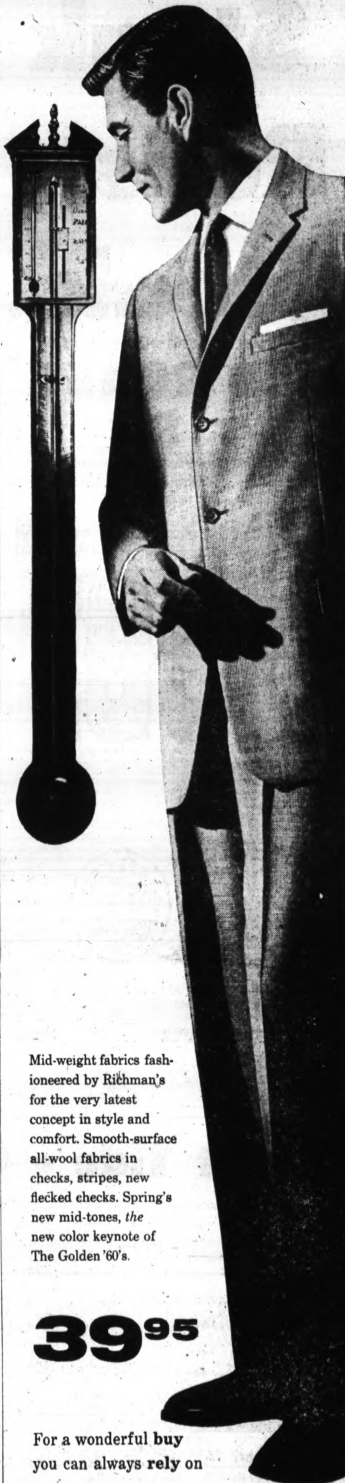

"I am excited about this new opportunity to show my work in all regions of America," says Mark Coomer.

Although I am now represented by some fine regional galleries, I believe this plan will not only aid the galleries in their aims, but also many fine artists by having their work appreciated in more homes and offices."

Clinton Hill, a nationally respected painter of moderns, describes the mail order method as a "means by which people can become more easily exposed to art and learn by familiarization."

earned television fame (and money) as an art collector and historian, said Artists in Particular represents "a completely new and original idea—art to be lived rather than looked at. At long last, art is being brought into many more homes across America."

Once Sentenced Ruth, Now Banishes Criminals

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI)—A Federal judge recently celebrated his 37th year in the legal profession still remembering the day he struck out Babe Ruth with the bases full.

It was in 1920 during an exhibition game at Scottsbluff, Neb., John C. Pickett recalled and he was pitching for the Chicago White Sox.

Pickett, now 62, worked briefly for the Sox during an interruption in his law school education. But, before long, he decided he couldn't make it in the major leagues and that lawyers earned more money than pitchers in the minors.

What got him into professional baseball was a one-bitter he pitched against the University of Southern California while he was in the second year of law school there.

The White Sox promptly offered Pickett a contract and he made several relief appearances for them. But this gave him a chance to look at such pitchers as Washington's Walter Johnson and he decided he didn't have the "stuff" to stick with Chicago.

Pickett returned to his law school studies at Nebraska and played summer ball for a Laramie, Wyo., team.

After one summer with Laramie, he was offered a pitching contract with the Cheyenne Indians, a semi-pro club. The Cheyenne team also said it would help him to set up his law practice here.

"Judge W. C. Mentzer of Cheyenne came to Lincoln and offered me a job as his partner," he said. "This, not the pitching assignment, attracted me."

Judge Pickett says the White Sox offered him a spot with Baltimore in the International League or with any American Association team following his stint with Chicago. But, he explained, "at that time, minor league pitchers were making about $3,500 a year and figured I could make more following the law profession."

He had several other bids, including one from the Washington Senators, while he was pitching for Cheyenne.

"On a visit to Washington about 10 years ago," Pickett said, "Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney and I went to see the Washington club. During the game, the Senator introduced me to the late Clark Griffith, owner of the team.

"I told Griffith that he offered me a contract a few years ago. He asked me for what, and when I said pitching, he said, 'We could use, you now. You should have signed.'"

Pickett said he met many "fine men" during his pitching career, including former St. Louis Cardinal manager Ed Dyer and Al Lopez, now manager of the White Sox.

"I roomed with Dyer during my playing days in Laramie, and I can't even remember when I first met Lopez."

The judge said he isn't particularly proud of his career with the White Sox, but that "after 40 years, even if you were a utility man, you're entitled to call yourself a star."

Coffins May Be Space Answer

Made of Lead or Gold, They Could Be OK for Radiation Belt

WASHINGTON (U)—Lead coffins for spacemen—or even gold ones—might be the answer to a recently discovered radiation superhazard, a University of Minnesota scientist said Tuesday.

He said spacemen might hide in coffin-like chambers until the worst of the radiation passed his spaceship.

Associate physics Prof. Paul Kellogg offered the suggestion in presenting new evidence of dangers inherent in showers of nuclear particles that stream from the sun periodically at speeds up to about 180 million miles an hour. These particles come close to earth above the North and South Poles.

Until discovery of these rays a few months ago, scientists had theorized that the areas above the earth's poles might offer escape hatches for spacemen to avoid the Van Allen radiation belts which ring the planet except for openings above the poles.

But Kellogg indicated to reporters at the annual meeting of the American Physical Society that recent findings suggest the escape hatches can be plugged periodically—and unpredictably—by proton storms from the sun.

He said high altitude balloons, lifted up to 20 miles by Minnesota scientists, detected four such storms in the past year—one in May and three in July—and that in each case, the normal intensity of cosmic rays was increased 1,000-fold.

Lansing Mayor, Council Will Receive Pay Hikes

LANSING (UPI)—Pay hikes for Lansing's mayor and the 10 city councilmen were revealed at the council's session although one member said he didn't like the idea.

The 1960-61 Lansing operating budget would total $3,235,074 according to estimates. The salary of the mayor would go from the present $13,000 to $16,500 and that of a councilman from $3,600 to $4,000.

There are an estimated 29,900 supermarkets in the U. S. which do 68 per cent of all the retail grocery business. Eighty-four per cent of these supermarkets use newspapers regularly for their advertising.

TAKING OVER — A high-ranking nun in full regalia descends steps at the Monastery of Saint Meletios, taken over by nuns after being run by monks for 10 centuries.

Greek Monks Vanishing; Nuns Given Monasteries

ATHENS (AP) — Male monasteries in Greece are gradually being taken over by nuns because there are not enough monks to keep them going.

If the trend continues, it won't be long before Orthodox monasteries throughout Greece are exclusively populated by nuns.

Monks will probably be confined to the women's theocracy of Mount Athos — last male stronghold of the monastic way of life — which itself has seen its population dwindle alarmingly during the first half of this century.

"Monasticism is fast dying out among men," an archbishop said. "It can't resist the lure of the 20th Century."

But even among women, the appeal of the contemplative life is limited. A nun's community seldom exceeds 20 in monasteries that formerly housed hundreds each.

Most of the monasteries date back to Byzantine times and some are veritable gems of the architecture of that period.

"Typical is the Monastery of Saint Meletios, the latest male monastery to be turned over to nuns."

Located some 25 miles from Athens, it dates back to the 10th Century and is a fine example of Byzantine architecture. Some fairly well-preserved fresco paintings adorn the walls of its central church.

It was named after its most celebrated abbot, Meletios, friend and counsellor of Byzantine Emperor Alexios Comnenos.

Throughout its history, Saint Meletios monastery was run by monks. But a few years ago, the last of its male occupants died of old age. Faced with the danger of seeing it fall into decay, the Holy Synod decided to put it in charge of a nun's community.

In the monastery which in the days of Meletios sheltered as many as 700 monks, there now thrives a busy community of 17 nuns.

Aside from the prayers that take up a good deal of their time, the nuns are each assigned duties suited to their abilities.

Clams Can Read? What Dya Know!

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — A sign on the paved parking area of Silver Strand State Park, which is between San Diego bay and the ocean, reads: "Seagulls — Breaking clamshells on pavement is prohibited."

Iran, once Persia, has artificial underground canals to carry water for as much as 20 miles for irrigation purposes.

It was put up on order of a district superintendent at parks. The seagulls had been dropping clams on the pavement to break the shells, so they could eat the meat.

Dr. Zakrzewski Finds a Home in United States

MONROE TOWNSHIP, N. J. (AP) — Dr. John S. Zakrzewski, former Olympic swimmer and member of the Polish underground, feels he was born again when he came to the United States five years ago. Of his earlier life, he recalls serving with the Polish underground against the Germans, being wounded and sent to a prison of war camp, liberation — and returning to the underground to fight communism.

U.S. Moon Shot on 2-Year Goal

Pack Will Carry TV Cameras, Instruments; Hope Landing Soft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within two years the United States plans to hit the moon with a 500-pound space package—something the Soviets accomplished last year. The American moon shot, as now projected, will have these differences:

1. The package that smashes on the moon's surface will have television cameras grinding away until the last instant, which should produce extreme closeup views of the moon.
2. The rocket also will carry a 300-pound piggyback package of instruments that will break loose and make a softer landing on the moon. These instruments, it is hoped, will survive the landing and radio back important information about the earth's only natural satellite.

Soviet scientists last Sept. 13 made a bullseye on the moon with Lunik II, an 860-pound spacecraft. This vehicle had no cameras, and was destroyed by the impact.

Then on Oct. 6 the Soviets photographed the hidden backside of the moon with Lunik III, which sent the pictures back to earth and later went into orbit around the sun. That vehicle weighed 614 pounds.

The U.S. moon plan, announced Tuesday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration,

INTO THE INNARDS—Getting to the bottom of the problem, an unidentified lady motorist climbs right under the hood of her stalled car in a downtown Hartford, Conn., parking lot. Even after this, it was no go. She and her woman companion finally did get the car started. They had the parking lot attendant—male of course—fix a loose wire on the starter.

back up favorably with the Soviet's.

Together the packages would weigh about 800 pounds. If the soft instrument landing works, it could be the first time man has sent a machine to the moon that would continue to function after landing.

U.S. Production of Cars, Trucks Past 180 Million

Music Professor Dies

HANOVER, N.H. (UPI) — Maurice F. Longhurst, 72, professor of music at Dartmouth College for 33 years, died Sunday at Palm Beach, Fla. Funeral service will be tomorrow in Gladway, Pa. Longhurst retired in 1954.

DETROIT (AP) — The Automotive News Almanac said car and truck production in the United States has passed 180 million vehicles, of which more than 70 million still are in use.

The Almanac is an annual publication of the trade paper Automotive News. It estimates wholesale value of the 147,948,000 cars and 32,777,000 trucks at more than 200 billion dollars.

Among other facts and figures in the publication is a note that in the United States, taxes of all kinds on auto vehicles totaled $9,328,000,000 in 1959 compared with $8,566,814,000 in 1958.

New Prexy for Suomi

HANCOCK (UPI) — The Rev. Ralph J. Jalakanen, pastor of Bethany Lutheran Church in Ashland, Ohio, will take over June 1 as president of Suomi College here. Jalakanen is a native of the 147,948,000 cars and 32,777,000 Michigan's copper country.

Works in Studio on World's Biggest Toy

Disneyland Too Crowded for Originator

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It seems that everybody can enjoy Disneyland except Nikita Khrushchev and Walt Disney.

This was uncovered in my annual survey of the new wonders that await vacationers at the Anaheim palace. Although Disney has created the world's biggest toy—costing $32,700,000—he doesn't get to play with it as much as he'd like.

"Too many people," he said, "are in the park at any one time. I like to see the place films. The advances in mechanizing animals will be felt in other parts of the park."

"We've come a long way in making our animals move," Disney said. "Now we have ways of recording impulses on tape and running the tape to move the animals electronically. I want to make over the jungle area. I found a place where I can have a tiger walk menacingly along the bank as the boats go by."

Disney said at the start of Disneyland that it would never be finished. His future plans bear that out. Next year he plans to add a Wizard of Oz section full of 200 dancing figures and a mountain of trees shaped like animals. If he gets the money, he'll also build a Liberty Street dedicated to the nation's beginnings and an old New Orleans section.

Animals will be felt in other parts of the park.

U.S. Launches 1st Hunter-Killer A-Sub

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — The Tullibee, the first of a new class of atomic powered hunter-killer submarines, was launched today.

The sonar-packed Tullibee is designed to seek out and destroy enemy submarines. The seventh prototype submarine to be launched in the General Dynamics Corp.'s Electric Boat Division shipyard in Groton, the Tullibee is described as a major development in the Navy's antisubmarine warfare program.

Her nose is lined with sonar tracking hydrophones and transducers. She has angled torpedo tubes located amidships in lieu of the traditional bow tubes. The 273 foot long Tullibee displaces 2,600 tons and carries a crew of six officers and 59 men.

Cards Tag Jones, Knock Giants Out of Lead

By The Associated Press

The St. Louis Cardinals have at last caught up with old pal Sam Jones, flattening the big right-hander for the first time in six decisions when he tried to dust them off for real.

Sad Sam, retaliating after teammate Jim Davenport had been plunked by the Cards' Larry Jackson, fired his first pitch behind Joe Cunningham. But after umpire Shag Crawford served a lecture on disters, Cunningham singled and the Cards were off on a four-run first inning for a 4-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants Tuesday night.

That tripped the Giants out of the lead for the National League and their beat them with a three-hitter in the season opener two weeks ago, was rapped for six hits and lasted just two-thirds of an inning. He had been 5-4 against the Red Birds since they traded him to the Giants a year ago.

Bill White, who came to the Cards in that swap, started the victory with a four-hitter. Milwaukee defeated Cincinnati 4-3 in 11 innings on Del Crandall's home run and a four-hitter by Warren Spahn, who won his first.

Waterford High School baseball and golf teams scored victories yesterday by defeating Pontiac Northern and St. Fred respectively.

The Skipper baseball team nipped the Huskies, 6-5, after breaking a 2-2 tie with a 4-run 3rd inning, sending sophomore Tom Zink to the showers.

Jim Paschke helped his own cause with a triple in the third inning when two errors and two singles helped account for the four runs.

Dick Lamphere who relieved Zink, struck out eight Skippers the rest of the way. Northern got three runs in the 7th but left the bases loaded, after Thompson walked Kimball walked, Hurtle tripped, Norton singled, See walked and Mocarski singled.

Fair Conditions, Mostly, Await Trout Fishermen

By The Press Outdoor Editor

Good fishing conditions, mostly, will obtain for Michigan's army of eager trout fishermen, who take to the streams and lakes of the Water Wonderland on Saturday. That's the day the state trout season gets under way for a summer-long stand.

However, northern trout waters may be high and colored, if additional rains are experienced. Streams are still cold, making the bait (good old garden hackles) fishermen the favorites to get the big ones. No fly hatcheries have been reported, so far, and the devotees of the "simon pure" creed may have to wait for a time before really getting into action.

PLANTINGS ABOUT COMPLETED

State (and Drayton Plains Hatchery) men have about completed their annual rainbow, brookie and German brown trout plants. Some 245,000 fish will be put out in streams and an additional 105,000 in trout lakes. More than 14,000 will find their way into Pontiac area waters, providing good sport for the thousands of metropolitan area troutermen expected to invade this section on opening weekend.

If figures of other years are followed this season, just about one in every three trout caught from the 36,350 miles of state streams, will be a Michigan hatchery product. Lake plantings provide bonus fishing since few southern lakes lack conditions for natural reproduction.

The state has more than 500 fishing sites for anglers, many of which in this area where trout may be taken.

Fishing regulations are unchanged. Anglers must get their $2 trout stamp along with their $2 regular fishing license. License may be obtained from most any fishing goods store.

PRAIRIE BREEZE BLOWS ALONG

Prairie Breeze, a 10-month-old field trial dog, really thrives on competition, from what her owner and handler, Dave Grubb, tells this commentator.

Early in the season Breeze won down at Monroe, in a derby test. Last weekend she won the amateur puppy stake and was 3rd in the amateur derby at the Battle Creek, Pontiac and Sisseton club trial. This weekend she will return to Monroe (Raisin River Valley) for another try at the same event in which she was a winner a month ago.

Dave's fine young dog received three trophies, and Grubb added a 4th with a win for Walter Laker Dick Wilson in the open puppy match. Dave handled Wilson's Storm Package, a female.

The Breeze marked her wins by wide, fast ranging, and was even better in her last run with temperatures in the mid-fifties.

SPRING BRINGS OUT THE LIZARDS

When "spring busts out all over" it does just that, with the birds and the bees, the leaves and the flowers — the young things of every kind. It also brings out other and not-so-well-liked things such as snakes and lizards.

Bert Williams, 6539 Coolidge Rd., near South Blvd., tells this column about his discovery, in the yard of his home, an "alligator-like creature" and wondered what it was.

His description of the reptilian lizard, grayish with yellow spot and big-eyed round head, fits that of the harmless common, but little seen sand or stone lizard. Seldom shows in daylight.

A paradise for the game-bird hunter, and from reports also a spot where the "meat hunter" is happy, is the storied Coto Donana, in Spain. On a major stopover flyway from Europe to Africa, the region abounds in mallards, geese, quail, grouse and pigeon.

Like the old days when flying pigeons darkened the sky in Oakland County, and the market-hunter was a busy fellow, is the reputed one-day (in 1906) kill of 273 birds by ONE British gunman. On another day a single hunter killed 52 geese in a few hours, and more recently, a Spanish caretaker downed 72 teal for a duck-fest at dinner. One shot was fired! That's Coto Donana.

Contemplating a trip into Ontario? Drop a line to Bill Campbell, Box 345, London, Ont. (include a $1 bill) for the new Ontario Sportsman's Guide. It's a complete index of everything you need to know about outdoors Ontario.

MUSHROOMING TIME AGAIN

Now is the time when mushroom hunters take to the fields in search of the delectable morsels, the best liked and most-sought-after of which are the morrels. But be sure you know your mushrooms. The more is a cone-shaped growth, and like the puffballs, sulphur smell fungus, and shagmosses, is called a "foolproof" for the lover of mushrooms.

One of the interesting, and worthwhile, Junior Audubon clubs in the country is a group of blind children at Minnesota school for the sightless. The youngsters explore nature with their ears and fingertips, make their notes in braille.

Hunting Deaths Fall, Injuries Mount

LANSING — Michigan's hunting accident toll improved in one direction and slipped in another last year as 16 persons were killed and 270 wounded during the deer and small game seasons.

Last year's fatality figure is one above that of 1956, lowest recorded since 1929. The 1959 hunting injury total, on the other hand, is the highest recorded.

With an estimated 637,080 hunters afield during the small game seasons, eight persons were killed and 219 wounded. Averages were one fatality and one wounding per 79,635 and 2,909 licenses, respectively.

The 1958 figure showed one fatality and one wounding per 77,589 and 3,455 licenses. Based on "known age" causes of fatalities and injuries, Department statistics estimate hunters 11-17 years old, representing 15 per cent of all small game licenses, were responsible for 26 per cent of the accidents. Those in the 18-20 age bracket, comprising 31 per cent of the small game hunters, caused 43 per cent of the accidents. Persons 31 and older, making up the remaining 54 per cent, caused 31 per cent of the accidents.

Accidents claimed eight lives and wounded 80 persons during Michigan's firearms deer season.

TROUT FOR SPORT — Conservation Department fisheries workers are busy on lakes and streams setting the stage for Michigan's April 30 trout opener.

Hoping to repeat this fisherman's luck, thousands of anglers will turn their fancy toward rainbows, browns, brookies and lake trout this spring. The Department plans to complete 25 per cent of its stream trout plantings, totaling around 1,000,000 for the year, before the season opens. Normally, these plantings add about one-third to the catch of wild fish from the state's streams. Approximately 600,000 hatchery trout will be restocked in about 350 lakes during the year.

Picture That Prize Catch

Half of Fun in Fishing Found in Using Camera

By JERRY CHIAPPETTA

ALL OUTDOORS (UPI) — When you catch that prize trout this weekend, don't be caught missing half the fun of fishing. Take a camera along.

Outdoor photography is fun and when you go afield without one of the inexpensive, easy-to-use cameras on the market today you are short-changing yourself.

You're also cheating those less fortunate souls who can't get outdoors or have never discovered magic of fishing.

Fishing from shore or from a boat might be okay for the shutter bug, but how about the guy who wades the trout stream?

For him, we suggest a lightweight 35mm camera on a short strap so that it rests high on his chest, out of the way and as far from the water as possible.

A short strap will also prevent the camera from flopping about when you reach down to net that prize trout you hope to catch opening day.

Of course, nothing will help the guy (like this writer) who went for an impromptu dip in the Maple river near Pellston last year with an expensive Nikon 35 mm. That is, nothing short of a waterproof case! If you are sure of your stream bottom, take the camera with you.

You'll find there are some breath-taking scenes along Michigan's 36,000 miles of streams. Photograph them. Show them to those un-American characters who reward their energies in less rewarding ways.

Match will be fired at 200 and 300 yards. The events include 10 shots standing, slow fire, at 200 yards; 10 shots sitting, from standing, rapid fire, at 200 yards; 10 shots prone, slow fire, at 300 yards; 10 shots prone, from standing, rapid fire, at 300 yards. Three sighting shots will be permitted at each range.

Rifles may be any NRA match or service piece with iron sights. Twelve awards will be made with gold medals for winners.

OSCS' Fred May is range officer. Other coming events at OSCS in coming weeks include: May 8 — 8-man bronze trophy match with Mini-Lakers (small bore rifle); May 14-15 — Junior sectional match and Michigan State Junior Outdoor Championships (small bore); May 15 — 5-man big-bore trout (4-man trials for 10 to represent OSCS); May 15-16 — 12-man Lake Erie Club outdoor, small-bore matches.

Marshall (The Martyr) Charter, Oakland County's 1960 chief king fish, was host, and the fish were prepared by the Ladies Auxiliary headed by Mrs. Emil Deaton, committee chairman.

In 96 of all accidents, including six fatalities, the victim was without, making up the remaining 54 per cent, caused 31 per cent of the accidents.

State to Check on Recreation

LANSING (UPI) — No one doubts that Michigan has many recreational facilities, not only for Michigan residents but for people of many other states who come here.

However, a question that is being asked at high levels these days is — how good are these facilities and how will they be 30 or 40 years from now? How well will they provide for the expanding population?

Gov. G. Mennen Williams has appointed a committee of more than 40 people who work in areas of recreation and have special knowledge of recreational problems and potential.

In appointing the committee, which will come up in November with an overall appraisal of Michigan's facilities from music halls to hunting, Williams said:

"For many years with a little effort, it has been possible for Michiganders to find a place to shoot a few holes of golf, to knock a few high flies to the boys, to pitch a few horse shoes, to take off from the office and catch the Tigers and the Yankees or bowl a few lines with the girls once or twice a week."

"Recreation has become essential to the conservation of our human resources," he said.

Quick Okay Sought for New Fish Rules

LANSING — Commercial fishermen appearing before the Conservation Commission last week made an urgent appeal for quick adoption of their proposed liberal changes in regulations.

They told the commission, which was given power to regulate Michigan's commercial fishing industry March 19, that the changes were necessary to save their businesses and put them on better competing terms with operators from other Great Lakes states.

Keynoting their appeal was a request for permission to use the otter trawl, a new type of fishing gear.

Her Secret Admirer Leaves No Clues

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A University of Arizona coed told police a secret admirer used a novel way to ask for a date.

She parked her car at a restaurant, went in for a bite to eat, and when she returned found a $130 pair of custom-made roller skates missing.

Under the windshield wiper was this note: "I took your skates. You can pick them up tonight, you know where. All my love, Guess Who? Come formal."

But, the coed told officers, she had no idea who the secret admirer may be.

Bank Depositors Pull Out Cash

California Police Keep Crowd in Order When U.S. Closes Firm

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—In a scene reminiscent of depression-days bank runs, nearly 1,000 depositors jammed the sidewalk Monday in front of a savings and loan firm seized by the government.

Twenty-five policemen kept order as depositors filed into the Long Beach Federal Savings & Loan Assn. to withdraw their money.

Federal officials watched as officers of the firm wrote checks to the customers. There was no panic.

Coal Newell, vice president of the Los Angeles Federal Home Loan Bank, said the run was expected. He said all legitimate demands for money were being paid, and said depositors should have no concern about their funds, which are insured up to $10,000 for each account.

The Federal Home Loan Board ordered seizure of the association at close of business last Friday, citing bad management, delinquent loans and an "emergency situation" which demanded protection for depositors.

The association has savings accounts of about $6 million dollars, with more than 90,000 depositors.

Police Chief Urged for Music Industry

WASHINGTON (AP)—A suggestion that the music industry launch a self-policing program under an individual of national stature — functioning in the manner of the baseball commissioner — was advanced today at a congressional investigation of payola.

It came from Paul Ackerman, music editor of Billboard, a trade publication of the radio and record industry.

Ackerman called for "introduction of the level of morality of a business which has, all too often, a buccaneering aspect."

"He testified the record industry should support a law making payola and 'subversion of the airways' a criminal offense. The industry, he said, also must demonstrate 'its willingness to end flagrant abuses.'"

Nothing Like Bourbon for a Sick Dogaholic

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—An aircraft company executive told his wife to give their sick dog a jigger of whiskey when she couldn't reach the veterinarian. The vet called her later, and she told him the dog was better and she didn't need him.

"What kind of whiskey did you use?" the vet asked. "Oh, we drink scotch," the wife said. "But we keep a bottle of bourbon for the dog."

Hoffa May Assist Worthy Solons

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
— JIMMY HOFFA may become a congressional hero yet—but not quite as he planned.

The bad boy of organized labor, whose Teamsters' Union was ejected by the AFL-CIO, recently ordered the voters to purge 56 House members who are up for reelection this fall.

Americans dislike being pushed around, particularly by one so prominent when Congress has charged with misuse of union funds, bribery, shake-downs, collusion and a few other unsavory practices.

The result is the formation of a "Committee to Re-elect Hoffa Threatened Congressmen," and all goes as planned. Hoffa's opposition may prove to be a disguise blessing that will give these worthy gentlemen their first landslide victory.

MUCH MONEY RETURNED

Response thus far has been so encouraging that—although it's breaking their hearts—the committee is spending a lot of time stuffing hundreds of checks into envelopes and mailing them back to the senders.

The committee wants money all right—a cool million dollars to cope with the three million that Hoffa is raising to defeat the legislators—but unfortunately some of the donors are small corporations.

Under the Hatch Act, corporations are forbidden to contribute to political campaigns, and the very fact that so many of them are discovering this fact of life for the first time proves that the anti-Hoffa movement is lowering purer strings that have never before been untied.

The targets of Hoffa's ire are congressmen of both parties who voted in favor of the Landrum-Griffin Bill to curb malpractices in labor unions. (Included is Rep. William S. Broomfield, Oakland County Republican.)

HOFFA VERY CAREFUL

Like most guys who talk big, the Teamsters' president was afraid to take on all 229 of them, so he singled out only those who won their seats by less than a five per cent margin. If these legislators should bite the political dust this year, Hoffa can play the big shot role of kingmaker and breaker.

That's why the committee was formed. To put a world little character named Hoffa in his proper place.

The organization is the brainchild of Rep. William H. Ayres of Ohio, the only Republican ever re-elected in his district, whom Hoffa has marked for extinction.

One of the most effective men in Congress, Ayres was operating his own small business in Akron after the war, when he volunteered to help re-elect the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Taft, who was not noted for his humor, told the youthful veteran that the best way he could help him would be to run for Congress.

WONDERFUL TIME

"That district is not going Republican anyway," he told Ayres, "so you won't get elected, but you could aid me by being on the ticket."

The three Ayres moppets had a wonderful time that fall of 1950, Bill dressed them in identical T-shirts lettered "Bill Ayres Is My Daddy," and took them to every labor picnic in his district. He's been in Congress ever since.

After Hoffa pointed a starchy finger at the 54 House members to be purged, Ayres decided to tangle. He figured that if the courts and Congress have failed to depose him from his union throne, the best way to do it might be to "laugh him out of office."

Enlisting the enthusiastic support of retired businessmen, and of congressmen who don't want to be Hoffa-retired, he organized the committee that is now soliciting funds to re-elect those who have earned Hoffa's wrath.

"We can't match Hoffa's slush fund," Ayres concedes, "but if we can elect all of these Republicans and Democrats who are marked for purge, think how his own union members will laugh at him." Democracy moves in mysterious ways, it's wonders to perform.

'Bit Overdone,' Says Solon of $182,000 for Meg's Marriage

LONDON (UPI)—Labor members of Parliament have forced into the open the view that the government is "overdoing things a bit" by spending more than $182,000 for the wedding and honeymoon of Princess Margaret.

This is 11 times as much as was spent in 1947 when Princess Elizabeth was married to the Duke of Edinburgh although she was at the time heiress presumptive to the throne and Margaret is marrying a commoner in "a private family occasion."

"Is not the disparity between the amounts rather odd?" asked one socialist.

By tradition, the House of Commons never discusses the royal family personally and the oblique attack by a group of left-wing laborites was strictly in formal.

In fact, Marcus Lipton who kicked off the criticisms, even preceded with "loyal congratulations" his demand to know why so much was being spent on Margaret.

He asked Minister of Works John Hope to give him the comparative costs for the actual weddings of Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret. Hope said that decorations this time were about $70,000 while in 1947 they totaled $16,000.

"Is not the disparity between the amounts rather odd?" Lipton asked. "Won't you agree that 25,000 pounds sterling on decorations and 40,000 sterling on the cruise of the Britannia that the government is overdoing things a bit and causing a certain amount of divided opinion and, in some quarters, critical comment?"

Hope said it was an unfair comparison as "things were different in those days immediately after the war." There were a number of "hear-hears" from the government side.

Wife and Her 'Cousin' Had Close Relationship

DETROIT (UPI)—Noble J. Hauck won an annulment of his marriage Monday when he testified that the man he thought was his wife's "cousin Frank" was actually her husband.

Hauck said that shortly after he married his wife Rose in January 1957, her "cousin Frank" moved in with them. He later learned that the "cousin," Frank J. Brennan, was married to his wife.

Stocks Move Up at Slow Pace

NEW YORK (U)—The stock market continued a general recovery early this afternoon in moderately active trading.

Gains of fractions to a point or so among key stocks outnumbered losses.

The market was higher from the start in a continuation of late yesterday's rally. As the session wore on, a scattering of stocks posted gains and registered small losses.

Big Three automakers remained narrowly edged. The trend was higher among coppers, chemicals, aircraft, electronics, oils, railroads, building materials and electrical equipment.

Wall Street still rode on the encouraging news of higher auto sales in mid-April and signs that steel demand is stabilizing after a sharp decline.

A few wide moves were made among volatile stocks. No particular leadership was shown by any group in the advance.

U.S. Steel was off fractionally from the start in the wake of late yesterday's report of higher first quarter earnings but expectations of a drop in second quarter results.

Most other leading stocks showed plus signs, with Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Republic, canceled an early gain and took a small net loss.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler made small gains. American Motors erased an early gain on a big opening bid and ended.

Union Carbide (ex dividend) was a point higher as it announced a new antiknock system for cars traded at 12 1/2, up 1/4, then showed about a point gain.

Federal Judge Slaps $4,000 on Each for Ford Price Fixing

By C. Owens, Inc. and Harold Turner, Inc., Ford dealers of Pontiac and Birmingham, respectively, were slapped with average $4,000 fine each for conspiring to fix prices.

The Tulsa Ford, Inc., of Broken Bay, was fined $2,000.

Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman levied a total of $8,000 in fines against the 22 Ford dealers and their Metropolitan Ford Dealers Assn., yesterday after they were indicted by a Federal Grand Jury on two conspiracy counts.

On Feb. 15 they changed their plea of innocent to "no contest," which their attorneys acknowledged as a plea of guilty.

The second count was for conspiring to establish a minimum profit of not less than $225 for each new car.

The association was fined $5,000 for both counts.

The dealers were charged specifically with conspiring to violate laws from 1936 to 1959. They could have been fined $100,000 each, but Freeman said he believed the fine of $5,000 was "tend to discourage this sort of thing for the future."

They appeared yesterday before Troy Justice of the Peace Charles H. Loney on a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime. Unable to furnish $5,000 bond, they were remanded back to jail.

According to Troy police, the two men were seen by a neighbor going under the gate of the rear of the store about 12:15 a.m. yesterday. Officers found that a screen had been ripped off and a window broken when they arrived.

They said they were the point of entry into the building. They did not gain entry to the building.

Nothing had been taken.

May Wheat Future Leaps to Price Peak

CHICAGO (U)—The May wheat future leaped off to its highest price of the season today during the first few minutes of dealings on the Board of Trade.

The rumormongers of a heavy volume of short covering but dealers said it also included some export mill buying. The only export business reported overnight, however, was for 200,000 bushels of hard wheat to the United Kingdom.

Rye, as it often does when wheat moves broadly, advanced marginally in spots but the market otherwise held generally to a steady range.

Epilepsy League to Cut Drug Costs

New Service Will Ask $1 Membership Fee, Sell Under Retail

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Epilepsy League will offer at cost drugs which control the seizures of epileptics.

Howard R. Koven, an attorney and newly elected board chairman of the National Epilepsy League, said the plan represented an entirely new service concept in national voluntary health agency assistance.

Under the league plan, Koven said, a central pharmacy will be created in the organization's headquarters here to fill the prescriptions of epileptics. The approximately 1,500,000 Americans who suffer from the malady will become eligible for service by paying $1 a year as a membership service fee.

Noting that the average cost of drugs purchased by an epileptic ranges between $15 to $125, Koven said that through the "inherent advantages of volume buying" the league hopes to bring the newer, more effective and costlier medicines within the reach of all epileptics.

Maurice A. Melford, the group's national director, said it will take 1,500 memberships to put the plan into operation. He said it would be launched by making needed drugs available to members at an initial reduction of 25 per cent from regular retail prices.

Nervous Thief Departs After Revealing Fright

ST. LOUIS (UP)—"I was nervous as you are," said the masked bandit on the business end of the revolver.

The holdup victim, Clarence Spinks, told police the robber was obviously telling the truth.

Spinks was ordered to put his cash in a paper bag and then was herded along with three customers into the rear of his confectionery.

The nervous thief departed with $125—probably in search of a tranquilizer.

Arthur G. Rasch to Quit Top Civil Service Post

LANSING (AP)—Arthur G. Wilson, first state personnel director, "Mr. Civil Service" to his thousands of state workers, will retire the end of this week.

Rasch, 63, is the second person to hold the post of state personnel director—since constitutional civil service was approved by the voters in 1941.

Rasch, tall and soft-spoken, made enemies in the Legislature for his insistence on the constitutional right of civil service to protect state employees—and particularly to set their salaries.

He made friends among state workers for fitting human problems to the rigid rules of civil service.

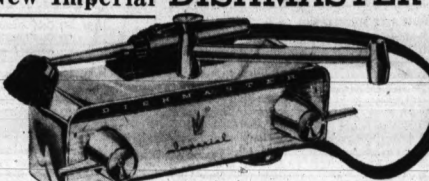

"Rasch will never break a rule," observed one state official, "but he knows when to bend one a little when the objective of the rule can be achieved."

A native of Grand Rapids, Rasch operated an automobile sales agency before entering government service.

He became deputy to Thomas H.

THE YOUNG AND OLD — Several centuries of living are borne gracefully by the huge oak tree that juts into Rush road in northeastern Oakland Township. Can these young people be thinking of the acorn of long ago from which this magnificent tree has since grown over 100 feet tall? More likely their thoughts are of the new spring as "hope springs eternal." It's an oft-repeated story for the tree, believed to be the oldest living oak in Oakland County. The trunk measures 213 feet in girth 4 1/2 feet from the ground. The attached plaque describes the tree as one of the oldest swamp oaks of Michigan. Posting for the picture are 17-year-old Rochester High School seniors Carolyn Dando and Bill Mason.

Primaries Build Up Nixon, Bury Rocky

Kennedy Outstrips All His Dem Rivals

By The Associated Press
Primary results indicated the presidential hopes today of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Kennedy, who has several hard-earned rivals for the Democratic nomination, outpolled them all with overwhelming write-in totals Tuesday in the Pennsylvania and Massachusetts primaries.

Nixon, who has no announced rival for the Republican nomination, rolled up impressive totals that buried the hopes of those who wanted to see outbursts of sentiment for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Nixon exceeded President Eisenhower's popular vote of eight years ago in the Pennsylvania primary and was within reach of Ike's presidential preference count of 1956.

PENNSY IMPORTANT
With returns incomplete, Nixon's total of 864,836 from 8,229 of the state's 9,012 precincts slipped past Eisenhower's 1952 figure of 863,785. Four years ago the President amassed 851,352.

Of the two primaries, the one in Pennsylvania had the most significance.

In fact, one Boston election official, because of the light turnout, called the Massachusetts primary a waste of money.

Kennedy's write-in total, slightly more than 1,000 precincts still to report, was more than 70 per cent of all the votes cast for Democrats.

KENNEDY LEADS Democratic write-ins were tabulated for Kennedy, Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.), Stuart Symington (Mo.) and Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.).

Returns from 7,900 precincts of 6,013 showed Kennedy, 131,162; Stevenson, 22,555; Humphrey, 10,500; Symington, 5,256; and Johnson, 2,192.

Nixon's impressive vote getting without even campaigning in the state virtually shattered the hopes of the hard-backers of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Rockefeller, although insisting he is not a candidate, made two appearances in the state last week. He received but 9,535 write-ins. Nixon's name was on the ballot, the only formal entry from either party.

Kennedy's victory was not binding on the state's 81 delegate-votes at the Democratic National Convention in July.

Nixon's victory, however, apparently assured him of Pennsylvania's 70 votes at the Republican convention.

GOP HOLDING
In two special elections for unexpired terms in Congress, Republicans retained the seats.

State Sen. Douglas Elliott still to report, was more than 70

has violated many times the financial setup approved for the jockeying system by voters in the referendum election of March 5, 1956.

In the ordinance adopted then, it was specified that the whole system—construction, operation, maintenance and acquisition of land—must be paid out of meter revenues, it was maintained.

But, the suit continued, the city has purchased several properties for parking with general fund monies that came out of the capital improvement fund.

Property on West Lawrence street, Pine street and now Wayne

ers, a newspaper executive, with a vote of 42,156 to 25,029 from 312 of the district's 330 precincts.

Herman T. Schneebeli, GOP businessman in his first political fight, edged out Dean Fisher, an attorney in the other traditionally Republican central Pennsylvania rural area. Schneebeli had 41,155 to Fisher's 40,683 in returns from 373 of the district's 377 precincts.

In Massachusetts, Kennedy's home state, all votes were write-ins. Returns from 1,497 of the state's 1,619 precincts gave him 12,464 votes.

Again Stevenson was a distant second, this time with 3,610 votes. Nixon had 43,747 votes, with Rockefeller far behind with 3,458 votes.

In cross-over voting, 2,537 Republicans wrote in the name of Kennedy, and 638 Democrats wrote in the name of Nixon.

Commission OKs Key Renewal Item

Legal doubts cleared up, the City Commission last night approved the most important downtown plan that already had been approved by the public at an open hearing and by the Planning Commission.

Approval by the city of this portion of the plan will be the main consideration for federal officials when they get set to stamp final-federal approval on Pontiac's application for funds in June, said Robert A. Stiller, assistant city manager and coordinator of the urban renewal program.

The program is to begin this summer.

It will involve land clearance in slighted areas of the southern business district, plus blight control in the residential neighborhood east of downtown and south of City Hall.

Expansion of the civic center and clearance for a big portion of the proposed downtown loop highway are also involved.

Korea's Rhee Topples

Ike Puts Blame on Old Age for Rhee's Downfall

Cautions Nikita That Berlin Threats Could Torpedo Summit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, in a wide-ranging news conference, today warned Nikita Khrushchev against ultimatums, and pictured ousted President Syngman Rhee of Korea as a great patriot who lapsed into mistakes in his old age.

In effect, Eisenhower cautioned Russian Premier Khrushchev that threats about Berlin could wreck the May summit conference in Paris before it gets started. The President said he will never go to any conference under the threat of an ultimatum.

This was his reply to Khrushchev's recent declaration that the Western Allies will forfeit rights of access to divided Berlin if Russia signs a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

Eisenhower expressed confidence, however, that Khrushchev won't press things too far.

On Korea, Eisenhower was at pains to say the United States had no part in inciting the anti-Rhee riots which led to the resignation of the 83-year-old Republic of Korea President.

As for his own role, Eisenhower said the only thing he did was to tell Rhee that apparently there had been irregularities in the Korean elections—and that the anti-Rhee riots which led to the resignation of the 83-year-old Republic of Korea President.

Planning Large Medical Center
3-Story Office Building Considered for Pontiac General Area

Plans for a big professional office center in the Pontiac General Hospital area were disclosed today by Paul A. Kern, Jr., Pontiac realtor.

A three-story center with office space for 25 or more physicians and dentists is planned for the southeast corner of West Huron and Johnson streets, directly east of the hospital, said Kern, manager of Paul A. Kern, Inc.

He said present estimates place the cost at $150,000 to $200,000.

The center being contemplated would house on its main floor such service facilities for the public and the practitioners as an x-ray studio, a pharmacy and a laboratory.

Kern expressed a desire to include "a really first class restaurant" on the first floor, too.

Kern emphasized that present plans are not complete and subject to change.

But he acknowledged that practitioners are being signed up for office space "at a good rate."

WELCOMES IDEA
Harold B. Butler, hospital administrator, welcomed the idea of a professional office center as a boon for the hospital.

Kern said that his company wanted to acquire property around the center to set it off "as a place of beauty" and to provide parking for upwards of 200 cars.

The City Commission was asked last night to rebuke from residential to commercial the three lots which Kern wants — two on West Huron and one on South Johnson. The request was sent to the Planning Commission for study.

Letts Removes Self From Anti-Hoffa Suit

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts today disqualifies himself to hear a suit seeking the ouster of James R. Hoffa as president of the Teamsters Union.

Judge Letts decided to stand aside because of a sworn statement filed by Hoffa accusing him of bias and prejudice.

The judge said he did so "with no thought or intention of admitting the truth or the affidavit or any part thereof."

Letts sent the case to Chief Judge David A. Pine, for assignment to another judge.

Letts said that under federal rules of procedure, his only function was to decide the legal sufficiency of Hoffa's affidavit. He added he felt the proceedings should be assigned to another judge.

The ouster proceeding against Hoffa is a civil action, involving no criminal charges. When court convened, a half-dozen moves by Hoffa to block or delay the case were pending.

Hoffa's removal is sought by court-appointed monitors, who allege he misused $200,000 of union funds in promoting personal business projects, including a Florida real estate development as a retirement village for union members. Hoffa has denied any wrongdoing.

Hoffa had asked Judge Letts to disqualify himself from the case on grounds of bias, to delay it pending decisions in other tangled court proceedings, or to cancel the trial altogether. Hoffa contends the only way he can be removed is by the union that elected him.

LONG RACKED
Behind the court snarl is a 2½-year litigation that arose from charges that Hoffa rigged his own election as Teamsters president in the fall of 1957 when Dave Beck, Sen. center of widespread Teamsters corruption charges, stepped out of the union helm.

The rigging charges were compromised on a basis that Letts take over as Beck's successor but with a three-man board of monitors named by Judge Letts to supervise a Teamsters reform drive.

The monitors have charged Hoffa with trying to block the cleanup. He vigorously denies it.

Expect Colbert to Propose Executive Realignment

Chrysler Power Shuffle Looms

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT — Chrysler Corp. and other top auto industry officials believe Chrysler President L. L. Colbert will try to consolidate his other auto company leaders gathered at the Detroit Golf Club last night to honor Chrysler Vice President James C. Zeder, who will retire Saturday.

But most of the casual conversation at the dinner centered around reports that Colbert would co-opted Zeder as chairman and William C. Newberg, executive vice president, would be named president at the Chrysler board meeting tomorrow in New York.

The matter was mentioned during formal ceremonies last night.

INTRODUCTION HINTS
The master of ceremonies introduced Colbert as "a lawyer, who wanted something more and got it but now, according to reports, is about to get a new job."

Chrysler Vice President Paul C. Ackerman said Zeder would be remembered even if current officers of the company were changed, "although I hope Mr. Colbert will be around for a good many years yet."

Colbert, himself, refused to say anything about the report. "I have made no statement," he said.

But most of the other officials, although precluding no intimate knowledge, said they felt Colbert would move to insure that he would be "around for a good many years yet."

They said Colbert "probably would ask to be named board chairman and chief executive officer."

A precedent for this move was establishing by Colbert's predecessor K. T. Keller, who held the two posts when Colbert was named president.

Sales Jump 10 Per Cent for Pontiac

Pontiac retail car sales jumped better than 10 per cent for the first 20 days of April this year over last, it was announced today. S. E. Knudsen, general manager of the Division and GM vice president, said a total of 27,927 cars were delivered to dealers during the first two-thirds of this month.

"This represents a 10.3 per cent increase over the same period last year when the figure was 25,307," he said.

Sales for the second 10 days of April were 14,920, making it the highest for any mid-month period since September 1955, according to Knudsen.

Ward's Automotive Reports today announced, also, that 206,606 new car sales industry-wide represented a 14.5 per cent increase for the April 11-20 period over the first 10 days of the month.

"This is the industry's best second 10-day period for any month since December 1955," the report said.

Ward's said General Motors took a 4.4 per cent of the market, Ford 21.5 per cent and Chrysler 16.1 per cent.

The statistical agency said compact cars sparked the surge and accounted for a record 27 per cent of the market.

Sue to Bar Expansion of City Parking Lots

Officials of Pontiac Parking Co. today brought suit to block further expansion of the Municipal parking system that threatens to ruin their business.

They claimed that the city has been illegally using general fund tax money to expand the municipal system and asked for a court order restraining the practice.

The suit was filed by Pontiac attorney Dean G. Beler in behalf of two management officials of the vast private parking company, Joseph Chirpoc and Donald Ernst.

Behind the suit—but not named as one of the plaintiffs—was Sam Stolorow, parking czar who led the bitter but unsuccessful fight to defeat the municipal parking system at the polls four years ago.

Stolorow is president of Pontiac Parking Co.

In the suit, it was alleged that the city in the past several years

Would Delay School Dropouts

Also Work at 17, Moore

Laws against child labor should exempt 17-year-olds as take off the streets part of the 40 per cent of those who quit high school before graduation, Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore suggested today.

At a meeting of the state's police and court officials in Dearborn, the Oakland County jurist continued his attempts to sell work education programs for those students who drop out of school.

The pilot program is already under way at Camp Oakland here.

The judge suggested that Camp Dearborn be adopted for this purpose. He also urged that people in other parts of the state produce at least two similar programs.

Williams Opposes License Return Ease

LANSING (P) — Gov. Williams said Tuesday he had reluctantly permitted a bill simplifying the method for a motorist to recover a suspended or revoked operator license to become law without his signature.

He said it posed a potential threat to the state's traffic safety program.

"This bill permits a driver whose license has been suspended or revoked to go to a circuit court and, on the basis of his story alone, secure the return of his license for as long as the judge thinks proper," Williams said.

"It makes no requirement that the motorist actually appeal the secretary of state's action. It does not allow for the development of any consistent safety policy or public awareness of safety rules."

Williams said he had asked Secretary of State James C. Hare to keep records on results of the bill and make a report to the Legislature and the next governor.

Would Bar Parking Lot Expansions

street has been so acquired, it was stated.

The suit further contended that the city has violated its ordinance provision by charging maintenance and operational costs for the lots, at least partially, to funds budgeted for other departments.

For instance, Beier said in explaining the suit, "non-revenue" costs are probably charged to the Department of Public Works and coin collection is the province of the Police Department.

The suit asks Circuit Court to force the city to open up its financial records for the lots and to give a full accounting of disbursements and receipts.

"It is manifest," said Beier, "that the city can't actually operate, maintain and expand its parking system through the revenues collected through the nickel-an-hour rate."

He said that, in effect, the city has been subsidizing its parking system through tax moneys, although the system theoretically is to be supported only through meter revenues.

Beier acknowledged that the municipal suits spelled financial defeat ultimately, to the private parking lot system.

"We have to face this reality," he said. "But at the same time it is not right for City Hall to foot the people into believing that these lots are paying for themselves at the nickel rate."

"Money that could be going for such improvements as sewers, sidewalks, parking lots, etc., are spent on the parking lot system that the people voted to set up strictly on a revenue basis."

Will Charge 'Politics' to Henry-Landry Suit

By PETE LOCHBLER

The brand of "politics" today is to be hurled against the court action brought by City Commissioners Miller R. Henry and Robert A. Landry to block enactment of the trial board amendment opening the door for Police Chief Herbert W. Straley's dismissal.

The Pontiac Press learned that City Attorney William A. Ewart, in answer to the circuit court suit, was prepared to claim it was motivated by "capricious and political" aims.

Ewart was to file the answer this afternoon in behalf of the four other members of the 1959-1960 City Commission who have been named as defendants — Mayor Philip E. Rowland, John A. Dugan, Wesley J. Wood and former Commissioner Floyd F. Miles.

Ewart said he would defend the legality of the trial board amendment and charge that Henry and Landry had no legal reason to question, save to protect Straley.

"They have failed to specify any grounds, legal or factual, for voiding the amendment," he stated.

Pointing confidently to the fact that the amendment was approved, as written, by the attorney general, expert on municipal law, Ewart said he was prepared to ask for dismissal of the suit during an opening hearing in circuit court tomorrow afternoon.

Both amendments approved by voters April 18 are under fire and both have been held up from final certification through a temporary injunction issued last Thursday by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

One of the amendments eliminates the Department of Public Safety and puts the fire and police chiefs directly under the city manager.

But the amendment that has drawn the spotlight is the one that re-creates the Police Trial Board with several minor changes, including the removal of Straley from the board's protection.

If this amendment is finally enacted, City Manager Walter K. Willman would have powers to deny or dismiss Straley "when- ever, in his opinion, such action may be necessary."

Henry and Landry claimed the amendment accomplished more than one change and, hence, was illegally written under a 1959 provision in the state's Home Rule Act.

They claimed that the voters are not presented with clear-cut, distinctive choices on the ballot.

The trial board amendment was adopted by a vote of 4,006 to 4,023.

Anticipating a sharp attack in grouped together within the limitations of the Home Rule Act.

Besides affecting the chief, he noted, the amendment takes away from the trial board responsibility for rules and regulations concerning performance of duty and provides for a five-day "cooling-off" period in complaints brought by citizens against officers.

But these changes were minor, Ewart insisted.

"Even the police chief change is minor when considered from the broad point of view," he said.

The importance of the change is magnified because of all our past evils, and the personalities involved."

The home rule provision that seems to figure in the dispute reads as follows:

The Day in Birmingham

Supt. Ireland Will Quit at End of School Year

BIRMINGHAM — School Supt. Dwight B. Ireland confirmed his pending resignation last night at a special meeting of the School Board.

Head of the Birmingham school system 18 years, Ireland said he would leave his post at the end of the school year.

Ireland, 60, had submitted his resignation to the Board early this month for immediate action but the Board refused to accept it and asked him to reconsider.

At that time he said he would stay and make a final decision after the Easter holidays. He returned Monday from a 10 day vacation in Florida.

Ireland has completed only one year of a five-year contract with the Board.

Ireland has denied that his resignation had anything to do with the defeat of a school millage increase put before the voters last month.

However, the newest members of the School Board and Ireland have "locked horns" more than once over recent curriculum policies.

which led to this should be corrected.

Eisenhower said he deplores the resort to violence in Korea— violence which brought the Rhee administration to collapse.

Eisenhower had kind words for Rhee. He spoke of the 85-year-old Korean leader as a great man, a crusader, a patriot and the father of his country.

SOME MISTAKES

But as Rhee has grown older, the President said, some mistakes have been made.

Eisenhower said the most personally difficult in the crisis was to send word to Rhee that trouble could result from the election irregularities, and that these irregularities and their consequences should be stopped.

As for his announced intention to visit Korea next June, Eisenhower had been at the time to go ahead with the visit.

At his first news conference in a month, Eisenhower dealt also with these other matters:

SUMMIT — Eisenhower discounted any idea that Khrushchev was making a serious threat. But if the Kremlin leader did mean it seriously, the President went on, he wanted to make it perfectly clear that he never would attend the summit conference in Paris next month under the threat of any ultimatum.

The President said he thinks it is neither feasible nor possible to settle the differences over Berlin at the summit meeting. He hoped some progress in that direction can be made.

He also stated that he hopes the conference generally will lead to better international understanding and relaxation of tension.

NIXON — Eisenhower said he expects it will not be necessary for Vice President Richard M. Nixon to take over for him and represent the United States at part of the summit meeting.

The White House "announced yesterday that Nixon will represent the President at the conference if domestic problems make it necessary for Eisenhower to leave the country before the meeting ends."

Explaining that decision, Eisenhower noted that Congress will be in session during the summit session, starting May 16.

There will be important bills before Congress, Eisenhower went on, and some could require his attention in Washington. He mentioned specifically the possibility that he might want to veto some measures.

Some legislation, he remarked, requires the deepest study and daily personal consultation with his aides.

For those reasons, he said, it might be necessary for him to return to Washington.

Colbert's footsteps, has been called the Chrysler "chief executive" since he was named executive vice president two years ago.

There would be no need to replace Newberg, they pointed out, because Chrysler did not have an "executive vice president before Newberg was named to that post."

Colbert became president of Chrysler Nov. 3, 1959, when Keller became board chairman and executive officer. The chairman post has been vacant since Keller retired in April 1956.

He joined Chrysler in 1933 as a member of the operations committee. He became vice president of the Dodge Division in 1935 and was named president of the division in December 1945.

The 54-year-old Colbert started his long association with Newberg, 49, while he was general manager of the Dodge Division plant which turned out engines for B29 Superfortresses during World War II.

CHIEF ENGINEER

Newberg was chief engineer at the plant.

Newberg, who started with Chrysler as a test driver and mechanic in 1934, was named vice president of the Dodge Division in 1936 and succeeded Colbert as president of that division the following year when Colbert took over as company president.

LEAVES COURT — Beverly Hills widow Mrs. Nelle Lassiter, charged with plotting her husband's murder, walks out of Oakland County Probate Court yesterday. She testified her husband's estate of $106,456 was missing probably around $100,000.

Handle the Little Things, Big Ones Don't Happen

EL CAJON, Calif. (P) — Everybody noticed how well behaved and happy the eight adopted children of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Salesbury appeared as they witnessed the adoption in court of a ninth, Danny, 7 months.

Said Salesbury, 33, a lather in explanation: "We keep up on the small things in discipline and the big things never happen."

Butters had poured gas and fuel oil throughout his 6-room frame home, the garage and chicken coop, a small shed and another chicken coop as big as his home and to the rear of it.

He set fire to his home and a pickup truck in the garage and then raced back to the house where he slashed his throat.

Gingelville and Orion Township firemen kept the fire from spreading. Damage was limited mainly to the front of Butters' home.

He was carrying a loaded 22 caliber pistol and deputies found three more guns inside with a considerable amount of ammunition," said Deputy Perry Epp.

Butters was living there alone. His wife was staying with relatives in Pontiac Township.

Then, said smoke coming from the garage and I ran home to call the police," Hawkins said.

Consumer Education Class Set Thursday

"Borrowing Money and Installment Buying" will be the topic of the third in a series of public consumer education classes at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Pontiac Community Services Building, 132 Franklin Blvd.

To speak on the subject is Albert W. Marble, managing director of the Michigan Credit Union League.

The classes are sponsored by the Community Services Committee of the Oakland County AFL-CIO, in cooperation with the Pontiac Area United Fund, Inc.

Ingelville Man in Poor Condition

An elderly Ingelville man was in poor condition today at Pontiac General Hospital after setting fire to his gasoline-soaked home and garage and then slashing his own throat Tuesday afternoon.

"My home will no longer be a hotel for my relatives," was the reason given by Edgar Butters, 77, for his wild spree.

Shortly before 4 p.m., Edgar M. Hawkins, 32, of 4069 Huston St., saw smoke pouring from the Butters home at 4983 Huston.

As Hawkins ran up to the house, Butters came out and said, "Everything's under control. I've walked toward a garage and chicken coop about 25 yards away. Hawkins told sheriff's deputies.

"Then," said smoke coming from the garage and I ran home to call the police," Hawkins said.

nations where things should have been handled more properly."

The unsatisfactory areas, Huh said, are economic and military aid.

Under the Rhee administration, Huh added, "I think there was waste and mismanagement."

RESIGNED IN PROTEST

The incumbent vice president, John M. Chang, a member of the Democratic opposition, resigned in protest last week.

The vice president-elect, Lee Ki-ping, was in hiding to escape the wrath of demonstrators who claimed his elected March 15 was rigged. A U.S. Army spokesman denied a report Lee had taken refuge at the U.S. base at Inchon.

Huh told his news conference he hoped President Eisenhower would go ahead with his plan to visit Seoul in June on the American Chief Executive's way home from Moscow. He also announced he would accept the resignation of South Korea's ambassador to the United States, Yoo Chan-yeung, and that of the ambassador to Japan, Yoo Tai-ha.

Rhee's resignation was delivered to the National Assembly an hour after it had adjourned for the day. The Assembly said Thursday it accepted at least the resignation because it offered at that moment.

Williams to Promote Action on Con-Con

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams said since Democratic Party chieftains left members free to decide the question of a constitutional convention for themselves, he was "going out and promote it."

The Democratic State Central Committee Sunday voted to take no official position on con-con.

Williams, who has signed petitions to get the question on the ballot, said the action indicated there "wasn't time to organize the whole party into a single position."

"This gives those who want to go ahead and work for con-con the opportunity to do so," Williams said.

Gets $425,000 in Plane Crash Suit

LOS ANGELES (U) — The widow of a Ford Motor Co. attorney killed in a 1956 collision of two airplanes over the Grand Canyon has been given a $425,000 damage judgment.

The judgment, which compares to a previous challenged judgment of $147,360, was awarded yesterday to Mrs. Grace Kehl, widow of Donald E. Kehl.

Kehl was one of 128 persons who lost their lives in the collision of a United Airlines plane and a TWA plane over the canyon June 30, 1956. Many suits have been filed against the two airplane companies.

Mrs. Kehl received the lesser judgment last year. However, she asked that it be set aside as insufficient. A second federal court trial followed.

Testimony was given that Kehl earned about $55,000 a year as assistant general counsel of the Ford company and had other income that placed him in the $100,000 a year class.

Young Republicans Seek State Weight

JACKSON (U) — Michigan young Republicans will lay the ground work here this weekend for a bid to swing some weight in state and national conventions.

About 700 delegates are expected to attend the young GOP's three-day convention opening Friday.

Leo A. Hoegh, former governor of Iowa and now chairman of the civil and defense mobilization board, will be the keynote speaker Saturday.

"The young Republicans will play an important part in the coming election campaign because our party must win support from those in the younger age groups," said Robert L. Holard of Detroit, state chairman.

Detroit Dem in Race for Lieutenant Governor

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — William J. Coughlin of Detroit, an announced Democratic candidate for nomination for lieutenant governor in the Aug. 2 primary, is taking a campaign swing through western Michigan.

Coughlin, an assistant Wayne County prosecutor, said the trip is aimed at meeting "Democratic friends and to drum up some support." Coughlin is a former state chairman of the Young Democratic Clubs of Michigan.

It is estimated more than 50,000 year because of divorce or de-American homes are broken each year.

Truman Document Bubbles

'Republicans Beat Selves in '48'

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Republican "damned fools" licked themselves on "Turnip Day" in 1948. Stalin was "a blooming liar. I liked him a lot."

So said Harry S. Truman. In print, in a unique volume published today by Columbia University, is a stonographic transcript of three informal speeches and five breezy question and answer sessions the former President had with Columbia students a year ago this week.

Here, in sharp, colloquial language, is Truman's spurt, serious course on American history, government and politics for young American citizens.

It reads, in fact, like a morning walk.

For instance:

When did he know he had the Republicans "on the run" in 1948? "You know, on the night in Philadelphia when I accepted the nomination, they had gotten out a platform that was a bummer; couldn't have been better for the Democrats."

"That night, on the platform, I told them, that on the 30th day of July, Turnip Day, I was going to call a special session of Congress and let them decide whether they wanted to do what they brought out in their platform. The damned fools didn't pass one measure. If they had, I would have been licked."

On Stalin:

"President Roosevelt thought the same as I. The only thing was that we found Stalin such a blooming liar. I liked him a lot."

Stalin was a very gracious host, and at the table, he would grasp what was going on as quickly as anybody I ever came in contact with; but he was always talking through his hat.

On Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Franco:

"I never had any use for Franco. That's all that needs to be said. I never gave him any house. He wouldn't let a Baptist be buried in daylight. That's the truth. He had to be buried at night in plowed ground."

On integration:

"It can be done everywhere if it's approached by people of common sense and good will... but in the long run, it has to be done; if we're going to be the leaders of the world, the free world, and all the rest of the world eventually, we've got to perform at home just as we expect the people abroad to perform."

"For your information, I'm told that there are about 2,300,000 people in the world and about 800 or 900 million of them are white and the rest of them brown, red, and yellow. They have just as much right to the bill of rights as a man with a white skin, and that's what I'm for."

On the beginnings of his political career:

"We went into the men's furnishings business, I furnished the money, he furnished the brains. We had a most successful time for about two years; then old man Mellon became secretary of the Treasury."

"He ran after the farmers and put the little boys out of business, and we went broke on that situation, and in the meantime, I had become a member of a group that was very much interested in the political situation."

And today:

"It's up to you now to take charge. Old stuffs like me are through."

Gargoyles Have Watery History

Originally Intended as Rain Spouts; Now Are Only Decorative

WASHINGTON—Medieval stone-cutters let their imaginations run wild when they carved gargoyles, the fanciful creatures that adorn Gothic architecture.

Winged dogs with beaked noses, grotesque birds, feathered reptiles and other strange beasts balefully peer down from European churches and palaces.

These wondrous animals have a prosaic function. They are rain spouts. The figures project several feet from the wall to prevent falling water from eroding stonework, the National Geographic Society says.

GARGOYLE DESIGNS INVITED
The golden age of gargoyles has passed, but modern designers recently were challenged to create new spouts. When Washington Cathedral ran out of ideas for gargoyles, the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of the Cathedral, invited the public to submit designs.

The Episcopal Cathedral, a partially completed Gothic church in the Nation's capital, needs 30 more gargoyles. Specifications call for any whimsical creature: the imagination may prompt. A touch of humor is in the best tradition, Dean Sayre noted.

The tradition started when Greeks and Romans used heads of griffins, chimera and other mythological creatures to conduct water from roofs.

In the Middle Ages, gargoyles were symbolic as well as practical. They were intended to remind passersby of the ever-present threat of the devil and represent the evil passions driven out of men by religion.

All medieval buildings of any pretension were adorned. Stone gargoyles embellished churches and palaces, but lead objects were considered adequate for lesser structures.

Not all gargoyles are figures of beasts. On one English cathedral, two human figures project; one holds open the other's mouth, from which water flows.

The word gargoyle comes from the Latin gurgulio, gullet, and the Old French gargonille, throat. Strictly speaking, the word should apply only to figures used as water spouts.

However, the bizarre beasts that clutter the roofs and towers of such Gothic edifices as Notre Dame de Paris often are called gargoyles.

Gargoyles perch on some modern buildings. Probably the highest-placed gargoyles in the world ornament the 29th, 48th, and 51st stories of the Woolworth Building in New York City.

Loss of Common Touch Troubling Methodists

DENVER (AP)—Methodists convened here today worried lest they lose their common touch.

The occasion is the opening of their quadrennial general conference, supreme governing body of the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

It faced some keen tensions. Specifically, the church's racial policies posed a major issue.

But generally, as the 800 voting delegates and an estimated 3,000 visitors assembled, the broader question was whether the church is developing class lines, apart from the humble and ordinary masses.

The Rev. Dr. Walter G. Muehlen, dean of Boston University's School of Theology, here put the concern this way:

"Because of its middle-class character as well as its racial tightness, Methodism is losing proportionately among the working class."

This is an unusual problem for a church that originated as a movement to bring religion to the poor and to laborers.

However, it has been pointed up repeatedly lately by Methodist leaders and publications.

Many in the church, the journal said, feel "the necessity for reformation."

A survey has shown that the average present-day Methodist is middle-class, white, in the professional bracket, with income exceeding $3,500 annually, higher than half the wage-earners in the country.

The 10-million-member denomination also has become a financially imposing, multimillion-dollar institution with 40,000 churches dotting the nation, many of them great, impressive structures.

Oakland Water Seat on Detroit Ballot

The Detroit Common Council took final steps yesterday for a citywide charter amendment vote Aug. 2 to make Oakland County a member of the Board of Water Commissioners.

Approved was a vote in the primary election on enlarging the Commission from four to seven members, allowing for Oakland, Macomb and a third county to seat members.

It's part of a plan of Detroit to sell water to these counties.

An Oakland County committee is working on a tentative agreement now for the purchase of the water to supplement lowering ground supplies.

Automobile industry of the United States consumes about 19 million tons of steel per year, or about 23 per cent of the total supply produced annually.

"JOE SMITH" — Terry Carpenter, Nebraska delegate who created "Joe Smith" at the 1956 GOP Convention, plans to nominate Nelson Rockefeller for president in Chicago July 23. State Senator Carpenter is also running for Nebraska governor.

Probers Are Unconvinced by Dick Clark's Figures

WASHINGTON (AP)—House payola investigators summoned three statistical specialists today to report their own interpretation of an analytical study of Dick Clark's TV disc jockey show.

The study, made for Clark by New York statistical firm, reported that Clark could have had a personal financial interest in 27 per cent of the songs played on his matinee music show.

By implication, it showed he had no personal interest in 73 per cent of the songs he used.

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) promptly challenged the survey results, calling them misleading and incomplete.

"We have asked these three ex-

take into account that he or his companies have paid payola to numerous disc jockeys throughout the country."

Noonan replied that payola was considered but that it was impossible to gauge it with any accuracy.

To this, Lishman inquired how Clark's influence could be measured "if you don't know the extent of payola he has paid?"

Noonan said Clark is "probably the single most influential person in the industry in determining the popularity of a record."

Ferency Resigns Post; to Run for Wayne Job

LANSING (AP)—Zoltan A. Ferency, expected to be a Democratic candidate for Wayne County prosecutor, has resigned as director of the State Workmen's Compensation Department.

He was named to the $13,500 a year post by Williams on July 30, 1958. He also is chairman of the State Industrial Safety Commission and the Workmen's Compensation Study Commission.

The marriage rate continues to boom. This means increased interest in home buying and home furnishings. Manufacturers of housing equipment and supplies know new buyers read newspapers. That's why they urged their national advertising in newspapers to an estimated $29,700,000 in 1959.

Nancy Maloney Marries

Easter lilies, banked the altar, of St. Benedict Church for Saturday vows of Nancy Elizabeth Maloney and Pte. George John Jimkoski, pledged to the Rev. Richard W. Thomas.

Daughter of the Irving D. Maloneys of Chippewa road, the bride appeared in beautiful white silk taffeta, accented by a train of lace and purple ending in a chapel sweep.

French lace, re-embroidered with sequins and pearls, outlined the scalloped neckline. Attached to a pearl pillow was the finger veil of French silk illusion.

Mounted on the bridal miscal was a cascade of white chrysanthemums, pompons and orchids, with streamers of ivy and Valley lilies.

Turquoise silk organza with Dior skirt bows fashioned gowns for honor maid Judy Jimkoski, of Port Austin, sister of the bridegroom; Judy Nichols of Pontiac and Niceta DeConick of Orchard Lake. Their circle veils with rhinestone motifs were held by floral clips. Yellow chrysanthemums and carnations were carried in wicker baskets. The bride's niece, Julia Ruzan, junior attendant, wore yellow tufted nylon sheer with lace trim. She carried a basket of aqua-tinted carnations and white chrysanthemums.

Robert Jimkoski stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Jimkoski of Port Austin.

Seating the guests were Coleman DeConick of Orchard Lake and Earl Marx of Detroit. James Jimkoski was ring-bearer.

After a Niagara Falls honeymoon, the couple will reside at West Point, N.Y., where the bridegroom is stationed at the U.S. Military Academy.

The Great Lakes have an estimated 35,000 square miles of deep water.

Patricia Kallton, headmistress, spoke on behalf of the faculty. John Popplestone has been director of studies since the school was established.

The program opened with the 16-girl Glee Club singing under the direction of Lyle Engstrom. The Rev. William C. Norvell gave the invocation.

Soloists were Carol Haneline, Carol Blodgett and Martha Booth. Chris Arfauigli spoke for the student body. Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. James B. Blodgett, Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Groups Set Religious Recruiting

A student recruitment program for young people through the Greater Detroit chapters of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League and Valparaiso University Guild, including the Pontiac area, is slated May 1 in Detroit.

One session will be at 2 p.m. in Detroit Lutheran High School West and again at 5:30 p.m. in Detroit Lutheran High School East.

The program is designed to interest youth in full time church service to meet demands for more pastors, teachers, social workers, deaconesses and full time lay workers.

After opening devotions, the Drama Club of Lutheran High School East will present a skit depicting the dilemma of choosing a career.

Representatives will be present from Concordia Theological Seminary at Springfield, Ill.; Lutheran Deaconess Hall, Valparaiso, Ind.; Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Ill.; Concordia College Institute, Bronxville, N.Y.; Concordia College, Milwaukee, Wis.; and Valparaiso University, Valparaiso, Ind.

Student aid and available scholarships will be discussed. Committee members from this area are Mrs. Arthur Kaplowitz, Mrs. H. Vere Hodges and Mrs. Richard C. Stuckmeyer of Grace Lutheran Church.

The Rev. A. Karl Boehmke of Lutheran Church of the Shepherd-King is a pastoral advisor.

Patricia Kelly Becomes Bride of Ensign Dirks

Patricia Ann Kelly of Ogema road, teen-age program director at Pontiac, YWCA, became the bride of Ensign Chauncey L. Dirks of Scotch Grove Iowa, Saturday evening.

Some 200 guests witnessed the ceremony at St. John Lutheran Church in Rochester. The Rev.

MRS. CHAUNCEY L. DIRKS

Walter C. Gerken officiated before an altar banked with white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kelly of Southgate, Calif., formerly of Lake Orion, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. H. Martin Dirks of Scotch Grove.

Of white taffeta, rosepoint lace and tulle, the bride's gown was fashioned with a scalloped neckline, long tapered sleeves and a chapel train. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts of the bridegroom, and a taffeta Juliet cap surrounded by pearl orange blossoms. Her fingertip veil was of silk illusion, and she held a cascade arrangement of white roses centered by a white orchid.

Honor maid Gail Greenleaf of Lake Orion, the bride's cousin, wore a white taffeta dress with bell-shaped skirt and a band of red taffeta outlining the bodice. Her shoes were red, and she carried a cascade of red and white variegated carnations.

A white orchid frill with full red sleeves and a red taffeta sash was worn by flower girl Vanessa Schille of Rochester. She carried a white basket of red carnations.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother Max Dirks of Scotch Grove. Ushering were Arnold Schille of Rochester and Martin Marshall of Oxford.

After the church reception relatives of the couple gathered at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Russell Greenleaf of Lake Orion. The bride's Beta Sigma Phi Sorority sisters served at the church. Another reception was held Monday in Scotch Grove.

The new Mrs. Dirks changed to a turquoise sheath and jacket with white accessories to begin a trip to Coronado, Calif., where the couple will reside.

The bridegroom, a graduate of General Motors Institute of Technology, is stationed at North Island Naval Air Station in San Diego, Calif.

The bride formerly taught at St. John Lutheran School.

The very newest in color for summer 1960 is bright white. Accent a white costume with bold black polka dot accessories. In jewelry... it's white again as a favorite... with lighter colors to punctuate your summer costumes as a close second choice.

New on the market for a fragrant summer are the mist colognes that come in your own favorite perfume scent.

Experiment with the new shorter skirts and find just the right length to flatter your legs.
