Monkeys Alive and Well After Flight Into Space

Rep. Law's Tax Plan Faces House Battle

LANSING (AP)—A new 140-million dollar income tax plan carrying Gov. Williams' seal of approval set the stage today for a wide open floor fight in the House.

It calls for taxes on personal, corporation and banking income, all to ride "piggy back" on federal income tax liability.

The nine-bill package emerged from the Republican-dominated House Taxation Committee yesterday afternoon on a 9-2 vote. It was the first income tax proposal to clear a legislative committee this year.

Williams called it "a pretty fair deal for everyone" and House Democrats hurried to endorse it.

Republicans conceded it might get past the House without much trouble, possibly next week, but, they predicted rough treatment in the Senate, where the GOP majority is standing firm for a use (sales) tax boost.

The new tax package, based on a bill introduced by Rep. Arthur Law (D-Pontiac), would raise about 270 million dollars in new taxes but cancel out about 130 million dollars in present business taxes.

Starting July 1, individual tax payers would pay the state seven per cent of their federal income tax liability. Corporations would pay 12 per cent and banks and other financial institutions 14 per cent.

As offsets, the business activities tax, paid by 100,000 corporations and unincorporated businesses, would be repealed. The intangibles tax, affecting 66,000 individuals and 15,000 businesses, also would be removed. Corporation franchise fees would be cut from 52 to seven million dollars.

Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), Tax Committee chairman, and a backer of an income tax plan, estimated these liabilities on personal income.

$4,000 income — single person $44; couple $34; couple and 2 children $17.

$8,000 — single person $108; couple $87; couple with two children $68.

$10,000 — single person $147; couple $115; couple and two children $96.

★ ★ ★

In practice, corporations would pay far less than 12 per cent on profits or income. After allowing

Explosions Rip Butane Plant

Town in California Is Completely Cut Off by Blaze; 2 Men Injured

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—A roaring fire, preceded by five explosions, swept the Honolulu Oil Co. butane gas plant at McKittrick today.

★ ★ ★

Smoke from the blazing plant was visible in Bakersfield, 40 miles to the east.

Two men were injured. They were taken to a hospital in Taft. Their condition was reported good.

Cause of the blaze was unknown.

CONTAINED WITHIN

The series of explosions started at 7:15 a.m., three hours later firemen appeared to have the blaze contained within the plant, where the flames still roared out of control.

All telephone communications into McKittrick were disrupted. Telephone lines are reported down. All roads into the area are blocked.

The first series of explosions erupted into a blaze which enveloped the plant's butane loading dock and the east cooling tower. Several large bufane storage tanks were reported to have also exploded.

★ ★ ★

The fire was said to be advancing toward other storage tanks.

Company headquarters in San Francisco said normally only about three men are at work at the plant at one time.

The plant treats natural gas and liquified petroleum products before they are sold for public use.

Storage tanks at the plant, a company spokesman said, range in size from about 200 gallons to a couple of thousand gallons. He said the plant does not approach the size of the normal gasoline refinery.

Gromyko Stared Ahead

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, an atheist like most dedicated Communists, sat with head unbowed and stared straight ahead as the Lord's Prayer was recited at John Foster Dulles' funeral. Gromyko made no obeisances to religion during the simple rites at Washington's National Cathedral.

County to Make Last-Ditch Fight on Tax Freeze

'Obligated' to Protest Policy of Hold-the-Line Pending New Plan

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

An 11th hour protest against a "freeze" on new taxes will be made tomorrow by Oakland County as the Tax Allocation Board moves one day closer to setting 1959 rates for the county, schools and townships.

All indications point to a hold-the-line policy on 1958 rates, with the exception of slight decreases for Waterford and Southfield townships.

The freeze was suggested last week by board member William J. Emerson, county schools superintendent, who said the county and schools must begin to look beyond the "overworked" 15-mill property tax limitation for relief of money shortages.

Oakland County is spearheading a "share and share alike" plan whereby counties would retain 30 per cent of any new state taxes adopted, as an alternate.

School officials throughout the county are in favor of keeping last year's tax rates, hoping more money will be made available soon from the tax sharing proposal, a top school official said.

★ ★ ★

Under it, counties would receive one-third of the suggested 30 per cent, while schools in the county would receive two-thirds.

"We would much rather get the same rates of last year than get sliced smaller again," explained Merrill O. Bates, president of the Oakland County School Board Members Assn., from Bloomfield Hills.

No protests against maintaining the same tax rates as last year were aired before the tax board this morning. Those school officials who appeared urged a freeze.

It's the job of the six-member tax board each year to divide the 15 mills—set by the Legislature in 1932—among the county, schools and townships. Each year the task becomes increasingly difficult because of growing communities.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, said someone would appear before the Board tomorrow morning to fight getting 5.6 of the 15 mills. The county is asking for 6.47 in order to raise $11,796,018 in taxes of a proposed 1960 budget of $13,997,018.

Ironically, it's Hamlin's six-county Supervisors Inter-County

Memorial Day Picnic May Be Forced Indoors

Pontiac area residents may have to picnic on the porches Memorial Day. Warm and humid with scattered afternoon or nighttime thundershowers are forecast for Saturday.

Temperatures are expected to remain near normal in the low 70s throughout the day and to drop to the low 50s at night, the Weather Bureau reported.

Partly cloudy and a low of 62 is tonight's forecast.

Friday will be somewhat warmer with the high reaching near 84 degrees and a chance of thundershowers in the late afternoon or evening.

The temperature dipped from a high of 86 degrees at 2 p.m. Wednesday to 57 at 5:30 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. At 2 p.m. the thermometer reading was 82.

Teamsters Eye Gas Attendants

Negotiate Merger With Service Station Workers Union

Joseph C. Cory, president of Michigan Gas Attendants Union, today announced negotiations are in progress to affiliate his 17,000-member organization with the Michigan Conference of Teamsters.

Cory said he agreed to negotiations after a series of jurisdictional conflicts between the two unions.

Cory, a Milford resident, said that terms of the affiliation may be agreed on by union heads as early as Sunday, when Teamsters President James R. Hoffa is scheduled to make an appearance in the negotiations.

Cory said that affiliation would mean "greater cooperation" between the two unions, which lately have battled over control of gas station attendants in Pontiac and elsewhere.

He said that affiliation would differ from a merger of the gas attendants' union into the much larger Teamsters organization in that the smaller union would remain autonomous with its own officers and charter, but subject to Teamster rules and regulations.

Rules and regulations, plus a per capita tax on the gas attendants, may be settled Sunday, said Cory.

Earlier this month, employes of Clark Oil Co. in Pontiac voted at an election conducted by the National Labor Relations Board to have the gas attendants' union as their bargaining agent rather than Teamster Local 614, which sought their membership.

Cory said his union represented 800 gas stations in Michigan, most of them belonging to smaller chain companies.

MONKEY ABLE—Monkey Able, an American-born Rhesus, was one of two monkeys carried in the nose cone of the Jupiter Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile launched today by the Army at the Atlantic Missile Range, Cape Canaveral, Fla. The missile included bio-medical experiments in support of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's space program.

Pair Recovered From Journey in Jupiter Cone

Survival Means Giant Stride in Program to Send Men Aloft

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Two monkeys returned alive today from a space ride in the nose cone of an Army missile.

The Army announced that both monkeys were recovered alive from compartments in the nose cone of a Jupiter missile fired from Cape Canaveral.

The rocket had climbed to an altitude of 300 miles and flown at speeds up to 10,000 miles per hour.

The little female monkeys, named Able and Baker, are the first living creatures known to have ridden into space and come back alive.

The feat represents a major breakthrough in the U. S. effort to put a man into orbital flight.

Scientists said instruments attached to the monkeys showed they suffered little ill effect from the stresses of blast-off and the weird experience of weightlessness.

★ ★ ★

Only the bare announcement that the monkeys survived was contained in the initial report received by the Army from a Navy ship which recovered the nose cone. This was near the island of Antigua 92 minutes after the Jupiter was fired.

Technicians explained that the delay was the result of the need to undo a mechanical maze in opening the passenger compartment.

It had been known previously,

To Throw Full Force into Traffic

Police Bracing for Holiday

The coming "short" holiday weekend may bring a sharp rise in fatalities on Michigan's highways.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs said he feared too many drivers would try to do "too much in too few hours" with Memorial Day falling on Saturday.

It is estimated that about two million cars will be on Michigan highways. The figure is below normal for a holiday weekend.

Industry in general will work through Friday. A number of firms are giving employes either Friday or Monday off, but even those will probably be forced to stay close to home because their children will be in school Friday.

Michigan's high for Memorial Day holiday was 58 traffic deaths in 1941. The low was four in 1950. Last year, when Memorial Day fell on Friday, only 13 deaths were recorded.

★ ★ ★

The National Safety Council said traffic accidents over the weekend may cause 260 deaths and 10,000 disabling injuries.

Childs canceled all pass days for his officers. The National Guard will have 129 men working with State Police and 96 helping sheriffs' departments.

"Our men and those of other area departments will be going all-out to prevent traffic accidents this weekend," said Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons today.

★ ★ ★

State Police and sheriff's deputies will have every available man on the highway from Friday through Monday.

Both the Pontiac and Redford State Police posts will be aided by National Guardsmen.

A Form Letter Awaits Howls About Monkeys

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—If you complain to the Air Force about sending those monkeys into space today you probably will get back a form letter.

★ ★ ★

There is usually a flood of mail after such space experiments as today's from persons who argue that it's cruel to send live creatures, even mice, on such ventures.

But the people who have been given the job of preparing for the safe journey of man into space go right ahead despite the complaints.

They say privately there is a simple reason for the animal experiments—"if we didn't fire animals, we'd have to fire humans. We're trying to make it safe for man to go up there."

★ ★ ★

A special form letter has been prepared for those gentle-hearted folks who think that monkeys belong only in the jungle or the zoo.

Detroit Newspapers Hike Prices 1 Cent

DETROIT (UPI) — Spokesmen for the three major Detroit daily newspapers said today the price of the daily papers will be hiked from seven to eight cents beginning Monday, June 1.

Sunday editions will remain at 20 cents per copy.

Detroit Free Press Business Manager Henry Weilder said daily and Sunday home delivered papers will cost 65 cents per week, five cents more than the present package price.

Weidler said increased labor and production costs make the hike necessary. Spokesmen for the Times and News gave similar reasons for the price increase.

Kathie Faces Life Alone but Buck Wants to Marry Her

I

Kathie Ebberts awakened suddenly without knowing why. Her room was dark except for the smoke-gray square, spattered with half a dozen stars, that was her window.

The old house creaked and seemed to sigh, and from the barnyard came the muted sounds of waking stock—old Bessie lowing softly to her calf, the restless nicker of one of the horses, a tentative cock crow. Then the sound that had wakened her was repeated. "Kathie!" said the low voice just outside her door.

'IT'S YOUR UNCLE'

Instantly she jumped out of bed and snatched up her cotton housecoat. When she opened her door, light streamed in from the hall. Against it the figure of Mrs. Jensen was a bulky shadow.

"It's your uncle, Kathie," she said, her voice barely more than a whisper. "He wants to see you."

★ ★ ★

Since his illness, Uncle Job had been occupying a bed in the "back parlor" of the old-fashioned California farmhouse. As Kathie followed the older woman down the stairs, she ran smoothing palms over her hair, pulled back and braided for the night into two swinging black ropes.

The stairs grew progressively darker as they left the globe burning in the hall behind them. On the lower floor there was no light except the bluish night light from the sickroom.

"I telephoned Doc Hency," the neighbor threw back over her shoulder. "He's coming."

'IS HE WORSE?'

Kathie was conscious of her accelerated heartbeat. "Is he much worse?" she asked anxiously.

"Your uncle's pretty old," Mrs. Jensen said vaguely.

Uncle Job—Kathie's great-uncle, really—would be 70 his next birthday. Anything could happen. And Uncle Job, harsh and intolerant though he had often been, was all the family Kathie knew.

★ ★ ★

She followed Mrs. Jensen into the sickroom—and every other thought was banished from her mind. For Uncle Job looked bad. In the bluish dusk of the sickroom, his harsh countenance looked frighteningly cadaverous and his eyes seemed unnaturally bright.

He was raised high against his pillows and his breathing was unpleasantly loud.

"Kathie . . ." he said hoarsely. She knelt beside the bed and stretched her hands across the faded quilt toward him. "I've been a sorry parent, Kathie," he rasped. "I've been too old to understand a young one like you."

Tears clogged her throat. "You've been good in your way, Uncle Job."

He ignored that. "I've not much to leave you, girl. The farm—rented. Stock won't bring much." It was like him to be thinking of such practical things now. Kathie's hands tightened on the quilt.

"There's my strongbox—in the closet—all yours." He fumbled among the bedclothes. "The key," he said, and Kathie took it from his trembling old fingers.

In a louder voice, he said, "You hear that, Mrs. Jensen? All Kathie's."

"Yes, Mr. Hammer. I heard."

"It's not much, girl." He closed his eyes. The weary shadows on his bony face had deepened.

"You just rest now, Mr. Hammer," Mrs. Jensen said soothingly. "The doc's on his way."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Jensen gave Kathie a look and they tiptoed from the room. The older woman led the way to the kitchen, where she turned on a light and lit a burner of the kerosene range, then filled the coffee pot with water.

Kathie sank into a chair. "I don't know what I would have done without you, Mrs. Jensen. You're so good to leave your family and help us like this."

★ ★ ★

"My family does all right without me. I couldn't see you work like a boy at the chores and tend a sick man all night, too."

"Buck's been helping with the chores," Kathie reminded her, and in spite of her sagging spirits, some warmth crept into her voice.

The older woman looked at her keenly. "You two aiming to get married now?"

Color rose under Kathie's creamy skin. "I don't know."

"Might as well. You'll be all alone, won't you, if—?" Her head made an eloquent gesture toward the sickroom.

The girl nodded, her face clouding. "Uncle Job isn't really my family. He married Auntie Eva Field, my great-aunt," Kathie said. "I don't know much about his family." Her eyes darkened. "He never was one to talk much, you know."

"I know," Mrs. Jensen said, in that same dry tone. Job Hammer had been a curiosity to his neighbors then, and a curiosity he had remained. It was disappointing to learn that his great-niece knew no more about him than anyone else.

The fragrant aroma of perking coffee bubbled up from the stove.

'HERE COMES BUCK'

"Here comes Buck to help you with the chores — and you not even dressed!"

"Oh!" Kathie cried, her hands going involuntarily to her hair.

"Give him some coffee, will you, Mrs. Jensen? I'll be right down!" She ran swiftly up the stairs to her room.

When she returned a few minutes later, dressed in jeans and a plaid shirt, her face was freshly scrubbed and her braids, gleaming now like black satin, were wound coronet fashion around her head.

As she entered the kitchen, a stockily built young man rose from a chair at the kitchen table.

"Hello, Buck."

Buck Landers was handsome in a heavy-featured way, his face with a slightly sullen air. But his eyes were bright with appreciation on Kathie's face.

"I came early because I saw your light," he said. "Figured you might need me."

Kathie smiled her gratitude.

Neither spoke for a few minutes. Finally he said, "When are we going to get married, Kathie?"

Sadness Marks Dulles' Burial

Vernor Stock Ordered Sold

Controlling Interest in Ginger Ale Co. Will Go to Two Brokerages

Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore today ordered sale of controlling interest in Vernors Ginger Ale, Inc. to two brokerages, which intend to put the stock on the open market for the first time in the 98-year history of the family-controlled company.

Sale price was $2,350,000 for 945 shares of common stock representing 63 per cent of the company's stock.

Purchasers were Baker, Simonds & Co., Inc. of Detroit and William Mericka Co., of Cleveland.

The sale ended six year's probation of the will of the late James Vernor, founder of the company.

Judge Moore turned down a $2,350,000 offer for the stock from Vernor's daughter-in-law, Mrs. James Vernor Jr. and another offer of $2,500,000 from a Canadian syndicate which sought control of the Detroit company.

Judge Moore said that only the underwriters met the requirements of a stipulation, entered into the probation by Oakland County Circuit Court, that the purchaser of the stock be approved by the company's board of directors.

Principal heirs to the estate are Vernor's wife, daughter-in-law, and the two minor children of his son, the late James Vernor Jr. The children are James Vernor III, 19, and Grayce Shannon Vernor, 17.

County Will Protest Tax-Freeze Proposal

Committee, along with the school boards of Michigan's southeastern counties, that are pushing for the tax sharing proposal. Hamlin is also chairman of the SICC.

Hamlin, who said the county looks to approval of the new tax plan, as well as a return to a 50-50 state-county split in welfare costs, said further the county in the meantime was "obligated" to protect the freeze until "such other measures become realities."

Hamlin and a Detroit school official have scheduled a meeting next Wednesday in Lansing with Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland), chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee, and with Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), chairman of the House Taxation Committee, to explain the tax sharing suggestion.

In a brief session of the tax board this morning, supervisors of Independence, Farmington and Novi appeared to oppose the freeze on rates.

As it stands now, townships will not participate in the tax sharing proposal. However, backers of it say that a larger share of the 15 mills would be made available to townships should counties and schools share in state taxes.

"We just won't be able to live," declared Curtis H. Hall, new Farmington Township supervisor. Hall's township was allocated .86 of the 15 mills last year.

Water Works Employes Help Duckling Into World

By MAX E. SIMON

Donald may have been an ugly duckling in his mother's eyes, but he's a beauty to employes at the City Water Works.

Donald had problems Tuesday.

His mother hatched seven eggs in her nest on the banks of the Clinton River and grew impatient waiting for Donald to come out of his egg.

With her brood of seven, she swam down the river, leaving the unhatched egg to fend for itself as best it could.

★ ★ ★

Luckily for Donald, his plight was known by Water Works employes.

★ ★ ★

They had watched the female mallard duck build her nest toward the end of April, and had been observing her through field glasses.

Tuesday they noticed that the nest was abandoned.

A Water Works engineer, Raymond McCoy, 25, of Royal Oak, checked the nest and found the unhatched egg.

He carried the egg back to his office and helped Donald break out of it to see the light of day.

★ ★ ★

That first day the odds on Donald surviving weren't very good. Most of the time the weak and frightened duckling slept, kept warm and comfortable by his new-found friends.

Yesterday, however, the duckling was feasting on mush and bugs who were so unfortunate as to venture close to Donald's human guardians.

Peeping and waddling around the office, Donald is now one of the gang to the Water Works crew.

Even if his mother has left him, Donald has a life as good as any duckling could dream of. "Why Donald — or Donna — won't go to sleep unless someone's hand is covering him," said Eva Sadler, a Water Works clerk.

Donald's home is a cardboard box with part of the original nest inside.

He'll "peep" loudly until someone picks him up and holds him in the palm of his hand.

One of his favorite office hangouts is a galvanized washtub in which Water Works employes have placed reeds and bricks so that Donald won't become too homesick for the outdoors.

He glides through the washtub water to his heart's content.

Water Works employes plan to keep the duckling for a few weeks before turning it loose. Right now the tiny duckling would be easy prey for Clinton River turtles.

★ ★ ★

All this is beyond Donald's reasoning maybe.

But one thing is obvious; he knows he has his friends.

2 U.S. Space Monkeys Found Alive

through radio signals from the nose cone, that the monkeys were alive and well one minute before their landing in the water.

But for the last minute signals failed, an occurrence not at all unusual as a space rocket drops below the horizon.

IMPORTANT CHECK FAILS

"Both animals are alive and perfect with no injuries," the Army announced 6½ hours after the launching.

One important scientific check failed because of telemetry difficulties.

"Able Baker perfect. No injuries or other difficulties," it said.

The message was addressed to Brig. Gen. John A. Barclay, commanding general of the Army Ordnance Missile Command who helped conduct today's Jupiter shot.

RELAYS MESSAGES

Barclay said the recovery ship had to relay its messages to a nearby destroyer which in turn passed the message to San Juan, Puerto Rico. From San Juan the message was cabled to Cape Canaveral.

Able had been trained in response tests to push a telegraph key at the flash of a red light in her capsule.

The light was set to blink once each second during the flight. Medical scientists said Able became very proficient in training at responding.

★ ★ ★

The scientists especially wanted to know how she responded in the period of weightlessness. That would be important in relation to what might be expected of men released from the gravitational pull of the earth.

Instruments did record and relay information on heartbeat and breathing rate.

The rescue operation was carried out by the fleet tug Kiowa, on watch in the target area with two destroyer escorts, the Snowden and the Brough. The nose cone was reported to have come down within 10 miles of the recovery ship in the selected area 30 to 60 miles north of Antigua Island.

Project directors said poor radio communications with the Kiowa contributed to the delay in word that the monkeys had survived.

The word of the monkeys' condition came in a cable from Maj. Gerald Champlin, a medical officer stationed on the recovery ship.

The monkeys were hurled aloft at the tip of an Army Jupiter rocket at 2:35 a.m. The nose cone was recovered from the water near Antigua Island at 4:08 a.m. by a Navy ship. Their 10,000-mile-an-hour journey into space took 15 minutes.

The report of little ill effects from the experience was given by Dr. Aston Gabriel, director of research at the Naval School of Medicine at Pensacola, Fla.

He said Able, a 7-pound rhesus monkey, showed only a little variation from normal in heartbeat and respiration. Able was chosen for the test because she was a primate of high enough order to provide data applicable to man.

Baker, a 1-pound squirrel monkey, showed only a slight increase in heartbeat.

The recovery equipment included a large colored balloon, covered chemicals for marking the water, signal lights and a radio transmitter to help the waiting ships "home in" on the floating cone.

Shark repellen was released to protect Navy "frogmen" who dove into the ocean to secure lines for lifting the cone suspended beneath the balloon.

The space travelers were not alone in the huge nose cone as they started the 10,000-mile-an-hour flight.

Several small samples of animal and vegetable matter were aboard to provide a further reaction to radiation and weightlessness.

Included in the radiation study were specimens of yeast, corn, mustard seed, fruit fly larvae and human blood.

ASTRONAUT TIE-IN

The eggs and sperm of several sea urchins were included in the experiment to evaluate the effects of acceleration, deceleration, radiation and weightlessness on the egg fertilization process. A similar test was conducted with a mold spore.

★ ★ ★

The monkey flight was vitally important to the seven men picked to be the first U.S. space travelers. Within two years, one of these is expected to follow the path into space pioneered today by Able and Baker.

The monkeys were expected to be in a free, or weightless, state for about 9 minutes during the 15-minute flight. It was during this period that scientists hoped to learn much about the weightless problem, expected to be a major headache for future spacemen.

The 60-foot missile rose straight up on a tail of fire for some 80 seconds, then curved high in the darkened sky and headed southeast down the Atlantic missile range.

★ ★ ★

The missile was visible in the slightly overcast sky for approximately three minutes before it vanished.

★ ★ ★

The Soviets' famous space dog, Laika, died in 1957 while in orbit around the earth in Sputnik II.

Able and Baker rode in cozy cabins, strapped in separate sealed capsules. The animal and vegetable materials also were in individual compartments.

The capsule instruments and monkey Baker had a combined weight of about 29 pounds. The chambers of both animals were insulated with fiberglas and foil for protection against rapid temperature changes.

Baker wore a plastic helmet over a chamois cap. She and her helmet were strapped to a rubber bed.

★ ★ ★

Thermometers were inserted under her armpits to register body temperatures. A microphone was in a foam-rubber pad on her chest to detect heartbeats. Another instrument recorded her breathing.

FACE DOWN

Other devices checked blood pressure, pulse rate, and temperature and pressure in the chamber.

Both monkeys were strapped face down in their cylinders at the start of the flight, with their knees drawn up. This position provides the best resistance to gravity strains at the moment of launching. On re-entry, they would be face up as a result of the change in the nose cone's position.

★ ★ ★

The rhesus is a small, short-tailed yellow monkey of India. The squirrel monkey is a tiny, active, tree-hunting gentle creature with a long bushy tail. Its name is derived from its similarity to the squirrel in size and color. Both monkeys were raised in the United States.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Army bugler sent the sad notes of "taps" out over the wooded hills of Arlington National Cemetery.

A slight woman, her mournful face covered by a filmy black veil that rippled in the light breeze, held out her arms. A clergyman stepped forward and gently handed her an American flag folded in a trim triangle.

The flag came from the casket of John Foster Dulles. The woman who received it yesterday was his wife who had ranged the world with the fallen secretary of state as he bustled from country to country in quest of peace.

President Eisenhower, as somber as his friends had ever seen him, moved to her side, placed his hand on her shoulder and whispered what comfort he could.

Mrs. Eisenhower followed her husband and put both arms around Janet Dulles, kissing her left cheek.

The Eisenhowes slipped quickly through the crowd. Mrs. Dulles could have received condolences for an hour from the notables of the world, from Chief Justice Earl Warren to Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, from Russia's Andrei Gromyko to West Germany's aged Konrad Adenauer.

But the widow wanted no more of public mourning. She walked with her sons and daughter to the family limousine and quickly departed.

With the family gone, the burial experts of Arlington Cemetery went about their business efficiently. At 4:27 Mrs. Dulles left, at 4:31 the casket was lowered into the grave. A heavy bronze lid for the outer coffin cover was brought in on a crane and lowered in place.

A dump truck backed up to the grave and cascaded a shower of red dirt on the coffin. It was not yet 5 o'clock. A cemetery official walked to the head of the grave and stuck a small printed marker into the soft earth. On it was the legend: "Lot 31, John Foster Dulles, May 27, 1959."

Thus ended the mortal record of John Foster Dulles who went to the grave a fallen hero of his battle for peace. It was a curious day in many ways. Standing 30 feet from the grave, apart from the foreign ministers of the West, was one of Dulles' chief adversaries of the cold war, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko of Russia.

Yesterday was the day when Gromyko's boss, Nikita Khrushchev, had originally planned to throw the world into turmoil by pushing the allies out of West Berlin. The deadline was put aside, due in part to the negotiations Dulles conducted before his death.

If any emotion flickered through Gromyko's mind, he kept it masked.

Gromyko Told to Get Rolling

Ike Calmly Stresses No Top Meeting Unless Progress at Geneva

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko "a measure of progress" must be made at the present Geneva East-West talks if Russia wants a summit meeting.

Eisenhower so expressed himself during a 30-minute White House meeting with Gromyko and the American, British and French foreign ministers.

Gromyko, without commenting on Eisenhower's call for progress, described the session as "a very pleasant and useful conversation."

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd described Gromyko's comment as "a tripartite declaration," thus saying in light humor that this was also their comment.

In a formal statement read to newsmen by his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower expressed hope that the Geneva meeting "would lead to a better approach to the solution of the problems that confront us in Europe."

Hagerty said Eisenhower stressed the need for peaceful solutions to the problems of Germany's future and other issues now being debated.

Although he talked to all four foreign ministers, Eisenhower clearly was beaming his remarks at Gromyko.

He was in effect reaffirming his determination to reject a meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev unless the Soviets demonstrate good faith at Geneva by offering reasonable concessions to match the West's proposals.

The Day in Birmingham

City Has Funds to Build Baldwin Library Addition

BIRMINGHAM—A final study of Birmingham's 1959-60 budget by City Commissioners has changed the outlook for the Baldwin Public Library addition, according to Mayor Harry Denyes.

In a letter to Charles Cass, library building committee chairman, Denyes yesterday announced city financing of proposed expansion of the library is possible without a bond issue as previously believed.

The mayor revealed that a big share of the problem was solved when the Birmingham Department of Public Works reported street damage this past winter fell far under that estimated earlier.

He added that the commission's deferment of other improvements makes further funds available.

When the library expansion was proposed a year ago, $75,000 was earmarked from capital improvement funds for the project. Later, architect's plans revised the estimate to twice that amount, creating the possibility of a bond issue.

Denyes has pointed out that in addition to fees and interest charges saved, much time will be pared from the project. He said it would have taken about three months to process bond applications.

Final architectural plans are expected to be approved soon, opening the way for construction bids.

The Birmingham YMCA, according to Olin Manchester, executive secretary, is beginning to organize a softball league, because of the interest shown by several churches in the city.

Scheduled to begin the second week of June, the league will allow high school boys as well as men to take part in the sport.

If a minimum of four teams are registered by next Friday, Manchester said, a double round-robin schedule could be arranged, with play to end the latter part of July.

Persons wishing to organize teams are asked to contact Manchester at the YMCA office for detailed information.

The Supper Club of the Congregational Church will hold its annual picnic at 6:45 p.m. June 5 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clair DuVall, 15920 Lauderdale Rd. This will be the last meeting of the season for the group.

Reservations can be made with Mrs. Frank Hilton, 1310 Shipman Blvd., or at the church office.

ANDREW G. ERICSON

Service for Andrew G. Ericson, 75, of 3404 N. Adams Rd. will be at 11 a.m. Friday from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will follow in Roseland Park Cemetery, Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

He died at his home yesterday after a brief illness.

Mr. Ericson, a retired construction superintendent, was a member of Gary Lodge 667 F&AM, Gary Chapter 139 Royal Arch Masons, Gary Council 103 R&SM, Gary Commandery 57 Knight Templar, Scottish Rite Bodies, Moslem Temple of Detroit and the Noontide Club of Detroit Commandery.

He is survived by a son, Marshall F. of Birmingham, two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The family suggests memorial tributes be made to the Michigan Heart Assn.

Man, 22, Dies as Car Crashes on Franklin

Vernon L. Lindsey, 22, of St. Clair Shores, was killed instantly early today in Southfield Township when his car left the road and crashed into two telephone poles and a tree.

The accident took place on Franklin road just south of 13 Mile Road at 2:30 a.m. Redford Post State Police reported.

Police said Lindsey, traveling north on Franklin road, was unable to negotiate a sharp curve. There were indications of excessive speed, troopers said.

New Tax Program Goes to House Floor

for federal deductions, those with profits of less than $25,000 would actually pay 2½ per cent; those earning more than $25,000 would pay three per cent. Banks would get similar rates.

★ ★ ★

Williams, who has proposed a graduated income and corporation profits package, said the new proposal would be easy to administer and make it easy for taxpayers to compute their tax bills.

★ ★ ★

Even more important, he said, are the repealers on business taxes.

"I am sure many thousands of small business men and professional people will be happy," he said. The proposal also should answer objections that the governor's plan exempted many low income groups from any new taxes, Williams said.

At adjournment time today, the Legislature planned to knock off for the weekend in recognition of Memorial Day, which falls on Saturday. Usually, lawmakers quit until 8 p.m. Monday after a brief meeting Friday morning.

Two Junior High Boys Burn Student in 'Prank'

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—A 15-year-old junior high school student squirted lighter fluid on a younger boy as a third struck a match to the fuel.

Hospitalized Wednesday with second and third-degree burns on his back was Bennie Spencer, 14, a student monitor who was directing students in the crowded corridor.

Principal T.B. Parnell called the act "a prank that backfired" on the last day of school at Reagan Junior High School. The two boys were questioned by juvenile department officers but their names were not released.

In some parts of Alaska rainfall is very light. But, on the southeast coast, Alaskans joke that they measure rain not by feet, but fathoms.

Labor Curb Bill in Sad Shape

Senate-Passed Proposal Gets Heavy Opposition at House Hearings

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The labor control bill, given a big sendoff by the Senate, is in sad shape now.

In the Senate on April 25 it got about the fattest endorsement any measure could hope for, short of a unanimous vote. The vote was 90-1.

★ ★ ★

Since both houses have to vote for a measure before it can become law, the Senate-passed bill went over to the House for action. There the Labor Committee held, and is still holding, hearings.

A massacre began.

1. President Eisenhower and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell wanted the Senate bill tightened up.

★ ★ ★

2. Big labor and big business both came out against it: Labor because it says the bill is too tough, business because it thinks the bill isn't tough enough.

3. The 30 members of the House committee are reportedly split every which way on the kind of bill they think is needed.

★ ★ ★

So if some kind of labor control bill ever gets out of the committee for House action—chances are it won't—it's pretty certain any bill passed by the House will be different from the one the Senate blessed.

★ ★ ★

That would require House and Senate to get together and compromise on a single bill, since no bill can become law unless both houses agree on every detail.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower and Mitchell want the House to include provisions left out by the Senate: to deal with blackmail picketing and secondary boycotts.

★ ★ ★

The AFL-CIO called the Senate bill a mess and a monstrosity. Its president, George Meany, said his organization would support legislation it considered appropriate for helping unions curb corruption.

But he said amendments written into the labor bill in the Senate would hurt union activity and hinder instead of encouraging democratic union procedures. The huge AFL-CIO promised a battle to get the Senate bill changed in the House.

★ ★ ★

Never at a loss for a word, particularly if he can make it sound like thunder, 79-year-old John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, called somberly upon the members of the House committee:

"Play fairly, ye givers of the law."

And he tossed in this thought: That labor control proposals in Congress would "fasten a cast iron chasity belt around the waists" of American labor and reduce workers to second-class citizens. He summed up:

★ ★ ★

"Damn the chains and those who advocate them."

Real Berlin Crisis in '61

So Say Allied Officials Who Feel Nikita Waits for Western Elections

GENEVA (AP) — Some Western officials believe the real Berlin crisis will come in 1961, not this year or the next.

★ ★ ★

They believe the Soviets will accept some stopgap agreement at the Big Four foreign ministers' conference that will continue the uneasy Allied occupation of West Berlin.

★ ★ ★

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in their view, hopes that national elections in Britain, the United States and West Germany will bring in new administrations that will weaken or shatter the united Allied front on German issues.

Should Socialist governments replace the present Conservative administrations in Britain this year or next and in West Germany in 1961, far-reaching changes would most likely result in the foreign policies of those two nations.

★ ★ ★

A Democratic administration in Washington in 1961 probably would change U.S. foreign policy little, but it might change it some.

The opinion of these officials is that Khrushchev will not risk an armed clash over Berlin at this time.

Khrushchev's November ultimatum to the Big Three to get out of West Berlin in six months is considered by these officials as primarily a probing action to test the unity of the Allies.

They stress that the Soviet leader, confronted with a phalanx of Allied determination to remain in the divided city, scrapped his deadline. In return, he got the virtual promise of the summit meeting he apparently wants so badly.

A new phase of Soviet probing for allied weakness on Berlin is taking place in the Geneva conference, these officials say. But here also Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko has collided with stony Allied determination not to retreat from the Communist-surrounded city.

Younger Waterford Pupils Offered Instrument Music

For the first time, Waterford Township fifth and sixth grade pupils will have an opportunity to learn how to play musical instruments in preparation for participation in instrumental activities when they reach the upper grades.

★ ★ ★

This was announced by Waterford High School band director Donald Perrin who said the combined music staffs of all schools are behind the move to "begin instrumental music teaching in the fifth grade."

★ ★ ★

Classes will meet each Tuesday afternoon from 4:15 to 5:15 at John Pierce Junior High School. Transportation must be provided by parents.

Three secondary instrumental music teachers in the school system will be the instructors.

★ ★ ★

There will be no charge for the instruction, as teachers are donating their time and talent to the project.

Parents will be given the opportunity to meet with the teachers to select an instrument.

The program will go into effect in September. However, those who wish to enroll in the summer program may do so, Perrin said.

Liz Plays Host to Husband No. 2 at Dinner Party

ENGLEFIELD GREEN, England, (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor, honeymooning here with husband No. 4, played hostess Wednesday night to husband No. 2.

★ ★ ★

Actor Michael Wilding and his wife Susan were dinner guests at the tightly guarded 15-room mansion where Miss Taylor and Eddie Fisher are quietly spending the third week of their marriage.

★ ★ ★

While police patrolled the barbed wire barricades, Wilding played on the lawns with his two children by Miss Taylor—Michael Jr., 6, and Christopher, 4. Also on hand was 21-month-old Elizabeth Todd, product of the actress' third marriage, to the late Mike Todd.

Hits Top Indonesians for Shunning Funeral

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—The Times of Indonesia today deplored thefactthat Russia will be better represented than Indonesia at John Foster Dulles' funeral.

The Times said that while Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was flying from Geneva to Washington for the occasion, Indrio made no move to make the funeral from Buenos Aires where he and President Sukarnoare visiting.

"To make it worse, our ambassador to the United States, Mr. Mukarto Notowidigo, also is with the presidential entourage with the net result being that Indonesia will the fact that Russia will be better donesian Foreign Minister Subanhe and President Sukarno are visnot be adequately represented at Arlington," the newspaper said.

"What a pity."

$1 Plane Fare Boost Advised

CAB OKs Plan to Aid Major Airlines Finance Expense of Jets

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board examiner has recommended that trunk - line plane passengers pay an extra $1 for their tickets.

If the recommendation is approved by the full board, the fare increases would be used to help the nation's 12 long-haul airlines pay for new jet age equipment.

★ ★ ★

CAB Examiner Ralph L. Wiser made his recommendation Wednesday after one of the longest hearings in the board's history, starting in May 1956.

The proposed increase was described as temporary, but Wiser's long decision gave no prospective date for ending it.

Wiser said the boost, along with some small but unspecified rate increases, would allow the airlines to realize fair earnings.

★ ★ ★

The surcharge would represent an over-all 12 per cent average hike on the level of domestic fares before Feb. 10, 1958, when the airlines got temporary increases. Wiser recommended these temporary increases be continued past their July 31 expiration date, along with an earlier $1 surcharge permitted before 1958.

Airlines affected are America, Braniff, Capital, Continental, Delta, National, Northeast, Northwest and Western.

Guatemala is about the same area as Ohio.

Mom, Daughter to Open Law Firm Partnership

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I'd been reading mystery stories ever so long. So I thought, 'instead of spending my time with those every night, I'll go to law school.'"

That's how Mrs. Janie Hixon Cortright, housewife, mother and former schoolteacher, became a lawyer. But that's only half the story.

★ ★ ★

Her daughter, D. Dian Hixon, 26, former beauty queen of Santa Monica City College, began reading her mother's law textbooks and decided: "They were absolutely fascinating. I wanted to know more about the law."

Result next June 10, the day she is admitted to the bar, Dian will join her mother in the practice of law.

So far as they've been able to learn, there's no other "mother - daughter attorney combination anywhere in the country, they said in announcing their partnership today.

★ ★ ★

The mother — wife of a Hollywood high school teacher, Clarence Courtright, and herself a former schoolteacher in her native Independence, Kan.—says she has read every one of Erle Stanley Gardner's novels starring the famed fictional lawyer, Perry Mason.

She took up law as a hobby, found the bar exam easy and says she loves legal practice.

Her daughter by a former marriage, "Dee Dee" is a blue-eyed blonde, 5 feet 5½ and 120 pounds. The first initial D. stands for a name Dee Dee has never used and won't reveal.

In Santa Monica City College, where she won the beauty title six years ago, she scored 100 per cent in logic on an aptitude test and was advised to take up law.

Instead she went to San Jose, Calif., State College and studied art.

★ ★ ★

Interested in law by her mother's textbooks, she studied nights at Southwestern University. Days she worked as a mathematician at Northrop Aircraft Corp.

She graduated after five years of night school and was one of two women who passed the spring bar exams.

Broomfield's Latest Bill Could Save Billions

Our own Congressman, WILLIAM S. BROOMFIELD, has drawn a measure in Washington that could save this country billions. He proposes to stop all subsidy payments to farmers.

The cost has passed 30 billion.

YOU'VE footed the bill, Mr. Tax Payer.

★ ★ ★

Just consider some very depressing figures. Right now the Federal Government has enough of the following commodities stored away in warehouses to give the amounts indicated TO EVERY FAMILY IN THE UNITED STATES:

24 bushels of corn
19 bushels of wheat
Nearly 3 lbs. of butter

There are countless others but this gives you an idea of what you have been paying for beyond actual needs. In addition, we are paying the farmers billions NOT to raise further amounts. As Congressman Broomfield said on the floor of the House: "Farmers don't grow for the market any more. They grow for warehouses and Government subsidies."

★ ★ ★

The Daily PRESS farmer expert, JOE HAAS, says the farmers he knows in Oakland County wouldn't object to free and open competition just like other businesses.

Wouldn't it be nice if The PRESS could print ten extra pages of advertising every day and store it away in warehouses with the Government paying for it? Then in addition to this, the Federal Government would pay us regularly for additional advertising that we did not try to sell.

How farcical can this become?

The Press is happy to see our own Congressman keenly on the trail of saving money for the tax payers. He does not subscribe to the theory of spend, spend and spend.

Broomfield says we have taken 20 million acres of wheat OUT OF PRODUCTION and yet we raised more last year than ever. If the farmers are not paid for the wheat they stuff in the warehouses, the amount raised will strike a balance with requirements, and prices to the consumer will come down. The law of supply and demand regulates all prices, unless they're tampered with artificially by your Uncle Samuel.

★ ★ ★

This bill's chances are slim.

The free spending Socialist Democrats control both Houses and they reject things that cut down Federal expenditures.

Watch and see.

Postal Savings System No Longer of Value

Our postal savings system is doomed!

It should be.

★ ★ ★

It started nearly half a century ago because banking facilities were not nearly as plentiful as they are today and because many of our large army of immigrants at that time wanted to deposit money "with the government"; but it has outlived its usefulness.

★ ★ ★

In 1947, deposits reached their highest peak—3.4 billion dollars. Since then they have declined steadily and today they stand at just over the one billion mark. Two-thirds of the totals have vanished.

The division should end.

It serves no purpose.

Another saving to the taxpayer would be the discontinuance of the Postal Saving jobs.

★ ★ ★

Depositors are paid two per cent and they can do better than that all over the country. They are actually sacrificing income when they patronize postal savings. The Post Office Department says the thing is washed up and has asked Congress to toss it out. A bill to that end has been drawn but the backers are kittenish and hesitant.

We ask "Why?"

Let's abandon the whole thing.

"AFTER 40, women's minds become broader," says a psychologist. And the tendency toward broadening isn't confined altogether to mental characteristics, either.

Offspring

David Lawrence Says:

Nikita Plans to Annex All Satellites

GENEVA — News has emerged from reliable sources here that Premier Khrushchev has a plan to bring about the virtual annexation by the Soviet Union of all the "captive" states, including East Germany. They would become part of a super-supreme Soviet in Moscow.

LAWRENCE

This means that German reunification has never been and is not now a Soviet objective and that, for all practical purposes, the proposed "peace treaty" with the East German government is a camouflaged formula by which it is intended that the various countries in eastern Europe shall retain their "independence" but under a federated super-government managed by the Communist autocracy in the Kremlin.

There is already a consolidation on the economic side directed from Moscow, but now it is planned to go further on the political side. This may be Khrushchev's answer to the European Common Market and to similar moves that look to a United States of Europe in the orbit of Western influence.

The Soviet plan was first hinted at in a recent speech by Khrushchev in Leipzig, but now it has been confirmed in information coming out of the other countries under Soviet domination. One point stressed by the Soviet premier takes on added significance. It is that there is, as he said the other day, no need for a definition of frontiers as between the smaller states of eastern Europe. If all these countries are to be subservient to a common master in Moscow, why should they worry about borders?

The new plan has certain military aspects. Thus, the Soviet army was not too happy with its mission in Hungary when it was ordered to crush the uprising there three years ago. Under the new setup, there would be an exchange of troops for police purposes. Small numbers of troops would be sent from one area to another in mixed forces as police units, thereby overcoming any nationalistic difficulties.

Also this would facilitate sending in Soviet troops to any point in case of the threat of an uprising or as a military demonstration against the West.

The idea is that, with no frontiers and with representation in a super-supreme Soviet, "autonomy" would remain, but it would be a kind of "integrated" arrangement. There will be denial by the Soviets always that this amounts to annexation. They will point to the existence of local governments. The hand-picked parliaments would continue as an outer semblance of so-called independence. But the scheme could easily amount to a permanent abolition of actual sovereignty as in Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

Stalin originated the plan, but Khrushchev is reported to be ready to put it into effect.

The maneuver to get started on the annexation plan is probably the real reason the Soviet government stirred up the crisis over West Berlin. It doesn't matter very much to Moscow if the Western Allies are granted a sop in the form of an "interim solution" for West Berlin. For this would keep things as they are and give the Soviets an excuse to deal with East Germany as a separate entity.

★ ★ ★

Its membership in the new super-supreme Soviet would presumably be "voluntary" in the Communist sense. Many people in the West who have been deliberately scared by the ultimatum demanding Allied withdrawal from West Berlin will probably hail almost any disposition of this particular issue and will be tempted to forego any further pressure for German reunification. But the Soviet strategy will be exposed to have been a move in one direction to cover up an aggression in another direction.

The Country Parson

"Being right most of the time isn't enough — we can drive 10,000 miles without error and then make one and never drive again."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Let's Get Down to Root of Tonsillectomy Craze

I doubt that any recognized medical authority can explain why an operator should attempt to "get every bit of tonsil" except in case of malignancy (cancer) of the tonsil.

Notwithstanding the pretenses of the ever-ready operators, everyday observation and studies recorded in medical literature show that in many, if not most, instances portions of tonsil remain in the throat after tonsillectomy. In view of this fact, I ask why impose on the child with the hazardous major operation of tonsillectomy, in place of tonsillotomy?

DR. BRADY

Tonsillotomy is safe as extraction of a tooth. It requires no more anesthesia than does extraction of a tooth. It is instantaneous. It was formerly the standard procedure for the treatment of (1) mouth breathing, (2) impairment of hearing, (3) frequently recurring sore throat (tonsillitis) and "colds," (4) interference with swallowing —due to enlargement or hypertrophy of the tonsils.

The effects of tonsillotomy were as good as the effects of tonsillectomy—and this minor operation rarely if ever proved fatal. Tonsillotomy removes the obstructing portion of tonsil—in a jiffy—and that's all the circumstances warrant.

BECAME A FAD

The trick specialists introduced tonsillectomy in the first decade of the 20th Century and, thanks to the timidity of the general profession, developed it into a veritable craze. They were resourceful at explaining the frequent deaths —"cardia arrest," "aspiration," "shock," "ether pneumonia," "atelectasis," "embolism," etc. These sad accidents were of course unforeseeable—implied a fault of the patient's.

The scandal of tonsillectomy (I've been punished plenty for my part in exposing it) canpot be charged entirely to the trick specialists. Failure of general practitioners to inveigh against such frenzied surgery contributed a good deal to it.

The reports I receive from readers make me well aware that this atrocity is still being perpetrated on defenseless children in some parts of the country.

In some instances frequent tonsillitis and sore throat may be due to a focus of infection in the lymphoid tissue (tonsil or adenoid) and removal of tonsils and adenoids will fulfill the hope of patient and physician. But such cases are exceptional. As a rule the enlarged tonsils and/or adenoids of children harbor no infection.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

'Just Exactly What Have Our Billions Brought Us?'

Will someone please write to the Voice of the People and tell me what this nation has gotten back for all the billions we've spread around the world trying to finance everyone's business but our own? What have we gotten in return? If I understood I could feel better about it.

Very Curious

'Country's Finally Taking Right Action'

The country is beginning to send the juvenile criminals to prison where they belong. Fortunately for all of us. Oakland County judges are adopting the same practice and I am afraid this is the only defense we have against these lawbreakers.

They used to think it was smart and it probably gave them standing with the other fringe members of society but sitting behind the prison bars for a while will give them a chance to cool off and think it over. And if they are the moron group that can't think, we're better off to have them out of circulation.

'Eternal Search Must Continue'

Maybe the bombs cause strange weather and maybe they don't, but one thing is certain. God gave man a mind and a heart full of curiosity and I'm sure He intended it to be used.

★ ★ ★

Civilization grows just as a child, probing and stumbling and progressing and failing, all through trial and error. We can't stop the search for knowledge because we might make a mistake, any more than we can protect a child from all dangers. The world will never be perfect, but it can never be better unless there are people willing to risk failure in their search through the unknown.

★ ★ ★

We don't know for sure that bombs upset the weather, but we do know that each time one goes off, we dissolve another particle from the haze of the unknown.

'Old Time Method Might Work Now'

With the rising rate of dope addiction in this country, I wonder if we shouldn't revert to some of the preventive measures that worked for me when I was a child.

★ ★ ★

It seems there were many, many articles telling the horrors of drug addiction, all described in terrifying detail. I know psychologists say that sort of reading does more harm than good in impressionable young children, but I can tell you it certainly made a lasting impression on me.

★ ★ ★

Maybe the lurid details weren't good for my young mind, but they did a lot less harm than a smart aleck experiment with dope would have done.

Glad I Read Them

If the letter is not critical of individuals or individual concerns or of a controversial nature the writer's name will be withheld upon request.

'Other Countries Are Just Jealous'

The main reason the U. S. didn't get the Olympic games is because the other nations are all jealous because we have so much over here that they haven't got and probably won't get.

Our system is the greatest there is and it provides practically everyone with luxuries only a few can afford in other countries. And so they hate us for it and the theme "yanks go home" is real and exists everywhere. It is the penalty we pay for great success.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

You Can Improve Child's Grades

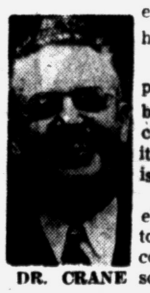
Tina's problem confronts many children. So be sure you employ the "flash card" method described below and send for the booklet by which you can bring your child back up to average in school marks. Mrs. Crane and I used flash cards on two of our children to plug up weak spots in their education in early grade school.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-446: Tina Z., aged 11, is a shy little girl.

"Dr. Crane," her mother asked anxiously, "Tina doesn't make very good marks in school.

"Her father scolds her and I would do more of it myself, except it makes her cry.



DR. CRANE

"Do you suppose she isn't as bright as other children? Could it be that her I. Q. is below normal?

"If not, what else could we do to help her become a bright scholar?"

WHY SCHOOL FAILURES?

Some pupils fail because they are low in intelligence (I. Q.) and thus cannot keep up with their brighter classmates.

★ ★ ★

But not all children with low marks are low in I. Q. Sometimes a very bright child may fail, either because of emotional friction between himself and the teacher.

Or he may need eye glasses or a hearing aid, though his parents haven't detected that fact as yet.

Sometimes, too, a child's parents move around several times during his early school years. He is thus jerked out of one classroom just as the teacher is starting drill on the multiplication tables.

By the time he has re-entered a school in a different city, that class may have finished with those same multiplication tables. So he misses out at both ends of the line.

★ ★ ★

Thereafter, he may always have a weak spot in his educational armor, and be poor at mathematics.

So I tested Tina on the famous Binet Intelligence Test. But to get valid results, it is necessary to make sure the child has normal vision, normal hearing, and normal physical health.

After a check-up, I found Tina O.K. on all those points.

The next crucial problem is for the pupils to react in a friendly, cooperative manner with the doctor who gives the I. Q. test.

So I chatted in pleasant fashion with Tina and showed her some magical tricks that I learned many years ago to help me establish better rapport (contact) with child patients.

★ ★ ★

Then we casually shifted into the Binet Test. Tina rated normal, with an I. Q. of about 105, so her failure to read was thus not due to dullness of mind.

INFERIORITY FEARS

As we got better acquainted, I asked her why she rated low in her reading. She said in the 3rd grade her teacher scared her and had been cross and critical.

That had given Tina a complex, so she felt tense whenever she was asked to read aloud. And because she began to get low grades in reading, she developed a dislike for that subject.

Actually, we generally enjoy the subjects in which we excel and shun those in which we do poorly.

★ ★ ★

So I showed Tina and her mother how to prepare flash cards and do some intensive drill on a few hundred nouns, verbs and adjectives.

Take strips of white cardboard about 2x12 inches. Print a word on each. Then hold up two, briefly outlining the differences. Then shuffle and let the child try to identify each one. Add a third and do likewise.

Then include a fourth and fifth, etc. For fuller advice, send for my booklet "How to Raise Your Child's School Marks," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

★ ★ ★

It applies to arithmetic as well as reading and grammar and can bring a child like Tina back up to average in a few weeks!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Security for You

Vets Changes Unlikely

By RAY HENRY

Big changes in the veterans pension program don't seem likely this year.

★ ★ ★

The Eisenhower administration wants some made and gave Congress its suggestions recently. But, at least two veterans organizations — the American Legion and the Veterans of World War I—flatly rejected the proposals.

Legion Commander Preston J. Moore said they only present "a diversion which makes it even more difficult for us to win the modest increases which we have been requesting."

The Legion's main objection is to changes which would give smaller pensions to many veterans in the future than they could receive if present pension laws are continued and which set up tougher eligibility requirements.

★ ★ ★

Here's what the Eisenhower proposals would do:

1. Raise about half the pensions now paid by a few dollars a month.

2. Substitute for the present flat pension rates a graduated rate.

Pensions payments now are $66.15 a month for a veteran under 65; $78.75 a month for a veteran 65 or over or who has been drawing a pension for 10 years; $135.45 a month for a veteran so disabled that he needs the constant aid and attendance of another person.

A graduated scale of pensions would be substituted for this with the amount a veteran could receive based on his other income and how many dependents he has.

★ ★ ★

For the veteran not needing the aid and attendance of another person, the range in pension payments would be from $10 to $100 a month.

3. Set up a new system of income limits which would apply to other income a veteran might have besides his pension.

Now, a veteran is only eligible for a pension if his yearly income is $1,400 or less and he has no dependents or $2,700 or less and he has dependents.

In counting the income toward these limits, certain types of income are disregarded.

For example: A wife's income is never counted. Neither is any payment—such as insurance—which is paid by the VA.

★ ★ ★

Under the Eisenhower proposals, the income limits would be raised slightly. But, all a veteran's income except the pension itself and charitable donations would be counted toward the limits. So would his wife's income.

4. Consider a veteran's net worth in deciding whether he should receive a pension. His net worth would be calculated by adding together his real and personal property, his bank account, stocks and bonds, etc. The present pension law has no such provision.

Second Close Call as Raul Is Returning

HAVANA (AP)—Jaunty as ever, Maj. Raul Castro called it "just another scare" when a Catalina flying boat bringing him back to Havana from one air wreck made a belly landing Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The 28-year-old commander of Cuba's armed forces was unharmed in two close calls — the first when a light plane carrying him and three aides was forced down in a wild swamp Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Raul, brother of Prime Minister Fidel Castro, showed concern only over mosquito bites he got spending the night in the swamp. He had gone out to search for a lost helicopter — which brother Fidel found. The men in it also were not hurt.

U. of M. to Honor Marian Anderson at Graduation

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Marian Anderson, noted American Negro contralto, will receive an honorary degree of Doctor of music at the University of Michigan's 115th commencement June 13.

Miss Anderson, the University's first woman commencement speaker, will be one of six persons getting an honorary degree.

★ ★ ★

The others are Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, U. S. Chief of Naval Operations; George R. Havens, professor of French at Ohio State University; Basil O'Connor, New York lawyer and president of the National Foundation; Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, and William W. Whitehouse, president of Albion College.

Curious, Then Discontent Will People Space

WASHINGTON (AP) — Will the discontents of the world who want to get away from it all be among the first frontiersmen on the moon and other planets when travel to them becomes practical?

They will, says Robert P. Haviland, a satellite engineer of the General Electric Co.

He told the national missile industry conference today "there is a pattern in the development of frontiers that seem to imply a general pattern." And he predicted the space frontier will resemble other frontiers regarding the kinds of people it will attract.

"There are "five succeeding waves" of people that move into a new area, Haviland said, and listed them as follows:

★ ★ ★

THE CURIOUS — "The people who want to know what's there."

THE DISCONTENTED — People who "are not looking for anything in particular; they just want to get away from where they have been."

THE EXPLOITERS — People who "are trying to make a good thing out of something discovered on the frontier."

"The timber barons and the gold hunters are typical of this group," Haviland said.

★ ★ ★

THE SEARCHERS — People who are trying to improve their lot, including "the settlers, the farmers, the ones who consolidate the frontier and convert it from a wild place into a respectable territory."

★ ★ ★

The "average" people who "come trickling in, and there is no longer a frontier."

Michigan Airman Killed as Jet Falls in Germany

FREMONT (AP) — The Air Force has notified Mrs. John Fiestamal that her son, 1st Lt. Carl Fiestamal, 27, was killed Tuesday when his jet plane crashed on a training flight near Landstahl, Germany.

In addition to his mother, Fiestamal is survived by his widow, Jo Beth, and two children.

Detroit Sandbar Worry to Navy

DETROIT (AP)—A sandbar in the depths of the Detroit River has the Navy worried.

way of Navy plans to open four wa yof Navy plans to open four destroyers and a submarine to the public in July when the ships enter the Great Lakes for a cruise.

The sandbar lies south of the Bob-Lo docks in Detroit's civic center, an area in which the Navy hopes to dock the ships for public inspection.

The bar's highest point is 19 feet below the river's surface. The largest of the destroyers, the W.A. Lee, needs 21 feet of water the other three 20 feet.

Capt. R. M. Hayes, project officer of the Naval Reserve and Marine Corps Training Center here, said facilities to ferry the public to the ships were not available if it became necessary to anchor farther out in the river.

The ships will make two visits to Detroit in July.

Town Forgives Runaway

Return of Native Hailed

SILVER LAKE, Minn. (AP)—Earl Zrust, whose yearning to get away from it all set off a nation-wide search, is back home and ready to get back in business.

"I started 12 years ago with nothing, and I guess I'm going to have to start from scratch again," he said.

Zrust, 30, disappeared with his wife and five children last December and was missing until three weeks ago when he was located working as a bricklayer in Reno, Nev.

He said he hopes to start several masonry projects next week in the area, but won't get back into the home-building business he left abruptly five months ago.

Since his return to his hometown, Zrust has been busy with his attorney trying to straighten out the financial tangle that resulted from his unannounced departure.

"While his disappearance caused a lot of anxiety and some inconvenience, it didn't really hurt anyone," said Joe Geylen, feed mill operator and mayor of this town of 600.

"Some of the folks here are a little hesitant to break the ice with Earl, but after they start talking with him, he's just the same as always," Geylen said.

The four houses Zrust had under construction when he left were completed by a local lumberyard. One of them was being built for Geylen.

★ ★ ★

Zrust hasn't mingled much with his old friends since his return, but his family apparently has picked up most of the loose ends. They were in church last Sunday and were at a school picnic a few days after they got home.

★ ★ ★

Zrust said he left because the pressure of the construction business was "making me nervous," He said working for someone else, as he did in Reno, had its advantages. "But you don't have the freedom you do when you're working for yourself. Now I'm getting anxious to ge back to work."

U. S. Highway Urged From UP to Pacific

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash) has introduced a bill to designate as part of the interstate highway system a highway approximately 2,300 miles long from Michigan to Everett, Wash.

It would begin at some point on the interstate system in the eastern part of Michigan's northern peninsula and extend through Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana and Idaho to Everett.

He proposed also designation as part of the national system a route extending from the end of the system on Highway 10 in Seattle to the Pacific Ocean.

GOP Woman Leader Blasts 'Slipping Soapy'

LANSING (UPI)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams "continues to trigger class warfare and hatred" between business and labor, the assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee claimed today.

"Needless to say, this performance has put Soapy on the skids," Mrs. Clare B. Williams said in remarks prepared for delivery at a meeting of GOP women leaders. "His prestige on the national scene is dropping like a leaky balloon."

She blamed "slipping Soapy" for Michigan's cash crisis.

Today's Coal Story: Fading Sales, Turmoil, Strikes

By JULES LOH
AP Newsfeature

In the year 1808 a man named George Shoemaker of Pottsville, Pa., hauled nine wagonloads of coal to Philadelphia.

He sold two loads. The other seven he had to give away.

In the next century and a half the pendulum of coal prosperity made its arc, and in this generation began its downward swing.

And the problem of George Shoemaker 150 years ago is today the prolonged and bitter dispute in Eastern Kentucky.

There simply is a shrinking demand for coal.

Ten years ago truck mine operators in Eastern Kentucky got $4.50 per ton for their coal. The United Mine Workers' contract called for a daily wage of $15.60 for the men who mined it.

Today the average price per ton is $3.50, and the UMW contract asks a daily wage of $24.25.

★ ★ ★

Refusal of mine operators to sign the contract has led to bloodshed, death, thousands of dollars property damage, and sores of the type that don't heal readily —the type inflicted when brother turns against brother, father against son.

Many feel the short life of coal's prosperity is the fault of the industry itself — through failure to exploit the market to its fullest.

George Shoemaker of Pottsville had only one selling point: This black stuff burns; it will heat a house.

Modern technology found that coal and its derivatives could be used to make everything from baking powder to phonograph records; from aspirin to cyanide; from perfume to laughing gas; from linoleum to nylon hose; moth balls to DDT.

"There is still money to be made in coal," said F. F. Schulte, for whom coal has provided a livelihood for 58 of his 70 years.

Schulte ran away from his home in Calumet, Mich., when he was 12, and followed the bituminous seams from Iowa to Whitesburg Ky., where he is now retired.

There are few jobs Schulte has not done in the coal mines.

★ ★ ★

"A good coal miner is worth his hire," Schulte said.

"That's why neither side is completely right or completely wrong in this strike!"

"I have seen good mines ruined because the operator did not invest enough of the profits in it," he said. "I know, because I have operated a truck mine.

"The price of coal is not as good as it used to be, sure. But it is still high enough for a man to make a good profit and pay good wages—if he operates his mine right.

"He can't take everything out and put nothing back.

★ ★ ★

"A miner making $10 a day for loading about 10 ton (coal people never say tons) is not going to take the time to clean the coal properly.

"He shoots it with too much powder and gets too much ash, and the operator gets a low price for the coal."

A moderate sized truck mine will produce about 100 tons per day.

EXPENSE BREAKDOWN

Out of each ton, the operator's chief expense, other than labor, are the average of 60 cents he pays the trucker to haul the coal to the loading ramp, and the 40 cents he pays the UMW toward its welfare fund—this instead of providing hospitalization and retirement benefits of his own.

Naturally there are other costs to operating a mine.

Most of the operators lease their mines, so there is a 25 cent royalty on each ton for the owner; and there are tool depreciation expenses, explosives, timber and other costs.

Schulte's point is there should be enough for a higher wage than the approximately $10 a day now being paid.

"Probably the union's demand is too steep," he said.

"John L. Lewis has done a lot for the coal miner. It was terrible here before John came. But it could be that he's asking too much."

★ ★ ★

The solution to the two-month old crisis is obscure. If no solution is found, however, the result is obvious.

Because in Eastern Kentucky there are only two basic sources of income:

Coal — and government relief checks.

Great Lakes Captain, 110-Years-Old, Is Dead

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Captain Wellington B. Sphears, who told reporters six weeks ago he wanted to live to be 120, died in Riverview Hospital yesterday. His 110th birthday was April 7.

A veteran of the Great Lakes, he was born in Gloucester, Mass., in 1849. He spent 80 years as a seafaring man, sailor, diver, shipmaster and proud and skillful mariner. He made his home in Canada since 1911. In 1905 he operated a marine salvage operation at Bay City, Mich.

King Refutes Raps at Father

Ex-Belgian Monarch Moves From Home of Son Baudouin

OMAHA (AP) — King Baudouin of Belgium denied yesterday his father, ex-King Leopold, was an "unofficial minister."

★ ★ ★

"That isn't so," the 28-year-old King said when asked to comment on the reports.

Of his father's decision to leave the royal residence in Brussels, Baudouin said: "I trust my father." He added "I don't know very much about it," as he prepared to take off in a jet tanker to continue his tour of the country.

King Leopold's announced plan to move followed widespread criticism of alleged influence by Leopold on his bachelor son's decisions.

PRAISED BY PRESS

Yesterday Premier Gaston Eyskens announced that Leopold, who abdicated in 1951, had indicated a desire to move with his wife and three children from the royal residence at Laeken.

The decision was praised today by the Belgian press.

The young monarch answered the questions of newsmen before leaving Offutt Air Force Base aboard a KC135 jet tanker this morning. He was bound for Whiteman Air Force Base, Sedalia, Mo., and later in the day New York City.

He is nearing the end of a 20-day tour of the country.

★ ★ ★

The young King greeted the news men with a broad smile, but newsmen with a broad smile, but when asked about his father. On one occasion, he had to be asked to repeat his answer. He discussed other questions in a rather firm voice.

Gen. Thomas S. Power, chief of the Strategic Air Command, was at the controls of the jet tanker when it took off on its 35-minute flight to Whiteman AFB.

Tot Suffocates in Bed

MANTON (AP) — Three-month-old Jo Ellen Davis suffocated Tuesday in a bed at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Kibbe, in rural Manton. The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Davis of Lake City.

Boy's 10-Month Spree Ends

International Playboy Son Turned In by Beaten Mom

ELIZABETH, N. J. (AP) — A probation report told the story of a 17-year-old youth who quit high school to lead the life of an international playboy.

After 10 months on a $100-a-day spree, the boy was turned in to authorities by his mother, the report said. The mother's $13,000 savings had been spent as well as $15,000 loaned the boy by his uncle to pay gambling debts.

A probation officer told Union County Juvenile Court Judge Richard R. O'Connor yesterday the boy left Union High School in 1958. He took a job as a runner for a Wall Street brokerage firm at $50 a week.

The boy played the horses, and bet on baseball and football. He borrowed money from his widowed mother and visited Havana and Las Vegas and traveled for a time, the report said, with a 27-year-old showgirl.

★ ★ ★

When his mother refused him more money to meet gamblers' threats, the probation report said, he beat her.

Finally his mother turned the youth over to authorities as an incorrigible.

He had been on probation for driving without a license.

★ ★ ★

O'Connor sent the youth to county detention quarters while probation efforts are made to have him admitted to a rehabilitation center.

The family's name was not disclosed.

Broadway Stars Sing Bravely On as Curtain Burns

NEW YORK (AP) — "When I spotted the flames, I nudged Andy. Neither of us moved. I just kept on singing louder and louder to drown out the noise backstage."

Speaking was Dolores Gray, blonde leading lady of the Broadway musical "Destry Rides Again."

★ ★ ★

Dolores, as a dance hall hostess, was warbling to Andy Griffith, who plays the shy sheriff, when a backdrop curtain caught fire Wednesday at the matinee performance. About 1,500 persons packed the house.

Flames curled up the curtain for about 20 feet. Smoke began billowing about the Imperial Theater.

Loud noises came from backstage as fire extinguishers were rushed into action. A few persons in front rows got up to leave.

Miss Gray, who had been softly singing "Anyone Would Love You," belted out an encore.

Practically all the theatregoers remained in their seats.

Out front came Leonard Patrick, the stage manager. "There is a little fire," he said. "There is no danger. We'll resume the show in a few minutes if you'll just go outside and wait for us."

★ ★ ★

The audience trooped out to the lobby as though it was routine intermission (it was only the end of the first act).

When they returned to their seats, they patiently watched mopping-up operations. Backstage crews had the fire out before firemen arrived.

When Griffith came on to do his next number, he got an ovation.

But it didn't hold a candle to the one Miss Gray got when she came on next.

UP AND AWAY — It was that extra lift that made all the difference in this near accident aboard the aircraft carrier USS Ranger. With the tail hook torn off by braking wires during a landing on the carrier, Lt. Cmdr. Charles Deasy "hit the burner" of his FSU-1 Crusader just as he ran out of flight deck runway. The afterburner of the jet, which provides an emergency thrust of power, enabled the aircraft to regain altitude, after it had dropped from flight deck height to near wave-top level.

Stolen Purses Carried Necessities for Coeds

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—Two University of Illinois coeds called at the police station to report thefts of their purses.

It proved too much for Sgt. Al Konradt who listed compacts, lipsticks, small change, identification cards, glass cleaners, etc.

★ ★ ★

To fill out the list on the police blotter, he added:

"And various other necessities of a woman's fancy."

The Milky Way Galaxy—earth's home in space — is round and flat with outward-spiraling pinwheel arms. In it are perhaps 5,000 million stars, including all those visible in the sky, and great clouds of dust and gas.

Keep the Fan Running

Milk Dollars Will Grow When Bossy's Happy

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If you are kind to your cow she will give you more milk.

★ ★ ★

That's what U.S. Department of Agriculture and Missouri scientists have discovered.

★ ★ ★

Researchers found that a good electric fan blowing a comfortable nine-mile-an-hour breeze along a hot cow's back can give her milk output a real boost.

When the temperature's 95 degrees in the shade and it's humid, a Holstein cow will give a quarter to a third more milk with that fan blowing.

★ ★ ★

Or suppose, again, that the temperature is 95 degrees outside. The research men note they can lure Holsteins into giving one and a half times as much milk if they air condition the barn down to 75 degrees.

CAN'T STAND IT

Some cows just can't stand hot and humid weather. As the temperature goes up they give less milk.

Even after the heat wave is over it may take them some time to come back up to full output. Actually, cows generally are happiest between 40 and 75 degrees.

There are some cows that don't like it cold. Researchers have just learned they can have happier and healthier cows in winter if they heat the drinking water just a shade.

That lures the cows into drinking more. Being healthier, they presumably will give more milk.

And the researchers find it's a good idea to warm up Jersey cows in winter to just a shade above freezing. If the weather's a cool 10 degrees, the warming will jump milk output by a quarter.

Hogs apparently respond just as quickly to kindly treatment. The research men have just reported that if a hog is kept between 60 and 70 degrees he'll gain weight more quickly.

SAVES OVERHEAD

That saves the farmer overhead, makes him more profit. Of course, this is a poor return for the hog. He gets carved up earlier.

And out in the Midwest, they've taken to warming up the beehives a little in winter. The bees, of course, are needed for pollinating the crops to insure a bigger harvest.

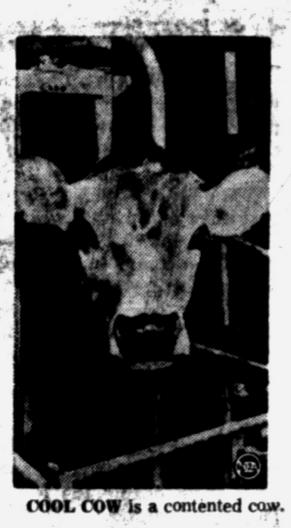
Here though, the aim is not to make the bees happier. It's to keep them from freezing to death on cold winter days.

★ ★ ★

So far, the Agriculture researchers haven't translated these results in terms of how much less work a farmer turns out when he's trying to work on a hot summer day—or when he's out in the cold in winter.

★ ★ ★

But there is evidence that people do produce more if they're kept at just the right temperature. Some students of history claim to have found that all great past civilizations rose where the climate—at the time — was between 70 and 80 degrees.



COOL COW is a contented cow.

63 to Graduate at South Lyon

Baccalaureate Rite Set at High School Sunday, Commencement June 4

Sixty-three seniors at South Lyon High School are scheduled to graduate this year. Baccalaureate services will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday, and commencement exercises at 8 p.m. next Thursday, in the high school gymnasium.

★ ★ ★

The speaker, Richard O. Darling of the Public Relations Department at General Motors Corp., will be introduced by Frank Bartlett, superintendent of Lyon Township schools. His topic will be "On Beyond Zebra."

The invocation will be offered by the Rev. Ferriss S. Woodruff and benediction by the Rev. Faze Larudee.

The high school band will play a special selection as well as for the processional and recessional. Under the direction of Frank Kochalko, the high school chorus will sing a medley of tunes.

★ ★ ★

Rev. Mr. Larudee will deliver a sermon titled, "The Measure of Man."

Pontiac Twp. Board Takes Hurried Action

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — At a comparatively brief but stormy session last night, the Pontiac Township Board passed a resolution approving the servicing of a sewage disposal system for Michigan State University Oakland by Oakland County.

This was the same resolution believed passed Jan. 12, although no official records could be found to substantiate the previous action.

Last night's special meeting was called primarily to take care of this matter so the Oakland County Dept. of Public Works could proceed on the project according to schedule.

The Township Board voted, however, to add a rider to the resolution. It provides that after developers of the sewage project have been reimbursed the system be returned to the township for ownership and control.

Supervisor Leroy Davis said Avon Township would necessarily have to vote on the rider, too. Avon Township officials approved a similar resolution early in January.

The remaining four items on the agenda drew considerable controversial comment from members of the Board and also from some 40 township residents present.

★ ★ ★

A climax was reached seconds before adjournment when Township Attorney Donald E. Adams of Waterford Township tendered his resignation.

In a specially-prepared statement, Adams said the "pressure of business" makes it "impossible" for him to continue as Pontiac Township attorney.

He said he had checked the hours spent on township business and "in fairness to myself and my other clients" he could not continue to serve.

TAKES NO ACTION

The Board took no action last night on the resignation which was to become effective immediately.

The question of rehiring Irene Bates as part-time clerical help was bandied back and forth and finally tabled until the next regular full board meeting.

Board member Donald R. Schell was absent from last night's meeting because he was in the hospital. His absence served as a political football with one person in the audience and one Board member charging that the Board was "pulling a fast one" by scheduling the special meeting to bring up the matter of extra clerical help and others without him.

★ ★ ★

Davis denied the charge saying that he had checked with Schell and was told to go ahead with the meeting.

The two fire dispatchers, Mrs. Carl Schingeck and Mrs. Charles Thompson, were granted pay raises from $1,850 to $2,500 annually for one year. The vote was 4 to 2.

In other action Roy Maxwell, owner of Heights Supply on Lapeer road, was elected to membership on the Zoning Board. He will fill the unexpired term of Lester F. Axford, who resigned recently.

CONSTANT MARGIN

Most of the motions, except the one concerning the MSUO sewage system, if not tabled were passed by 4 to 2 votes.

The fifth item on the agenda was mileage allowance for Davis. He dismissed this summarily by saying, "I want no mileage." The meeting then was adjourned.

Oxford to Have School Election

June 13 Is Deadline for Filing Nominating Petitions

OXFORD—The deadline for filing nominating petitions for the two positions open this year on the Board of Education of the Oxford Area Community Schools is 4 p.m. June 13, the board secretary announced today.

★ ★ ★

The two members whose terms expire June 30 are Trustee Hiram Terry and Treasurer Mrs. Gerda Houck.

Prospective candidates for the two posts may obtain petitions from the office of the Superintendent of Schools, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on any school day.

The petitions must be signed by at least 50 registered voters in the district and must be turned in to the board secretary by the June 13 deadline.

★ ★ ★

The annual school election will be held on July 13 with the final date for registration set for July 3. Voters will cast their ballots in their respective townships, the same as they did in the special election May 4.

Disgust With Subsidies Blamed

Farm Bills Get Bottled Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—A revolt among potent House Democrats against mounting farm subsidy costs threatened today to delay indefinitely House action on pending new agricultural legislation.

The uprising developed in the House Rules Committee, which has the power—frequently exercised—to block House consideration of virtually any piece of important legislation.

Caught in the threatened blockade were two major farm bills approved by the House Agriculture Committee and ready for House action.

One would increase the government price support level for small livestock feed grains such as oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums. The other, regarded as a key farm measure, would attempt to stem the costly and mounting wheat surplus by raising price supports in return for reduced plantings.

The Rules Committee's attitude appeared to make certain continuance of a wheat program under the present law for another year. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson is required to announce marketing quotas and acreage allotments for the 1960 wheat crop not later than Monday.

★ ★ ★

There remained a possibility that if Congress were to change the law within 10 more days, the changes could be made to affect next year's crop. But the Agriculture Department would need all the time beyond that to prepare for a July 23 referendum among the farmers.

★ ★ ★

Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture Committee said that despite the delay he would push for House action on his committee's bill. He expressed hope a House vote can be set for next Thursday.

But Rules Committee action has been put off at least until next week.

★ ★ ★

Reports that farm legislation is in trouble in the House were confirmed by Reps. Richard Bolling (D-Mo) and Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. (D-Mass) both Rules Committee members.

★ ★ ★

Sources close to Rules Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va) said he also was dissatisfied with present farm proposals.

U. S. Farm Land Value Continues Record Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The value of American farm land continues to rise.

★ ★ ★

The Agriculture Department reported the value was up 3 per cent during the four-month period ending March 1. It reached a point 8 per cent above March 1, 1958.

★ ★ ★

That constitutes another new record.

The increase, which has been under way for five years, carried land values to the new highs in all states except South Dakota. Department officials expect the climb in farm land values to continue through the six months ending next September.

Recent increases, the department said, were due partly to an upswing in farm income last year, and partly to recovery from the 1958 business recession.

The gains are part of a trend that began after the depression of the early 1930s. The climb has been broken only twice since then—in 1949, and in 1952-53.

HELEN JOYCE CHANDLER

July 18 wedding plans for Helen Joyce Chandler and Ronald R. Olszak are announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Chandler of 2771 Hillendale Dr., Avon Township. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. an Mrs. Sigmund Olszak of 16410 27 Mile Rd., Washington.

Charts Help Farmer Figure What to Invest in Machines

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Economists at Purdue University and Michigan State University have come up with charts to guide farmers on the soundness of investing in work-saving equipment.

The Purdue chart lets the farmer decide how much his time is worth and then determines how large an investment is practical for the farmer, based on the number of minutes new machinery will save in labor each day.

If a farmer figures his time is worth 75 cents an hour, he can economically invest $1,750 in a machine that will save him 60 minutes of work a day; $1,450 in a machine that will save him 50 minutes a day; $1,050 in a machine that will save him 40 minutes a day, and $250 in a machine that will save him only 10 minutes a day.

For a farmer who figures his labor is worth $2 an hour, an investment of $4,800 is considered sound for a 60-minute time saving.

A 50-minute time saving is worth an investment of $4,000 for a $2-an-hour farmer, a 40-minute time saving is worth an investment of $3,200 and a 10-minute time saving is worth an investment of $800.

The Purdue chart also lists recommended investments for farmers who rate their time to be worth $1 an hour and $1.50 an hour.

Michigan State's chart is set up differently but the end result is the same.

The MSU economists list various time-saving devices, average cost and maintenance of such devices, average number of hours used per year, and then computes the per hour cost of the devices.

If a farmer believes his time to be worth more thain the per hour cost of the time-savers, they represent a sound investment.

★ ★ ★

Defective Flue Starts Fire in Avon Home

AVON TOWNSHIP — Fire believed to have been caused by a defective flue from the incinerator caused an undetermined amount of damage last night to the kitchen of the James Wilmot home at 70 West Hamlin Rd. here.

★ ★ ★

The Rochester Fire Dept. fought the blaze for about two hours before bringing it under control. In addition to extensive damage to the kitchen, the rest of the house was filled with smoke.

the garage. Fire Chief George Ross said the fire started in the section of wall between the garage and kitchen.

Reduce Spiritual Gap, Dalai Lama Urges

TOKYO (AP)—The Dalai Lama of Tibet has called on the world's religious leaders to "struggle forward, hand in hand," toward lasting peace by narrowing the gap between spiritual and material civilizations.

★ ★ ★

The fugitive, 23-year-old ruler of Tibet was interviewed in Mussoorie, India, by three correspondents of the Tokyo newspaper Asahi. The Dalai Lama said that two world wars had failed to bring peace "because spiritual civilization had failed to keep pace with material civilization."

PATRICIA LEE MERCER

A July 11 altar date has been decided upon by Patricia Lee Mercer and Charles R. Walter Jr. Their engagement was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Mercer of 267 Wellsboro St., Walled Lake. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Walter Sr. of Evanston, Ill.

Fourth Graders Perform

Sixty-Four Auburn Pupils Portray Alaska

AUBURN HEIGHTS — The admission this year of Alaska as the 49th state in the Union provided the theme yesterday for a special program presented by the 64 children in the fourth grade at Elmwood School here.

Teachers of the two fourth grade sections, Mrs. Erma Waun and Mrs. Mary Sadler, said the youngsters put a lot of time and effort both in planning the program and rehearsing for its presentation before members of their families.

The teachers said the children almost hit a snag when they tried to find a copy of Alaska's state song. They tried to obtain it at stores in Rochester and Pontiac and even checked at several public libraries.

Then, the pupils decided to appeal to State Rep. William F. Broomfield for assistance. They drafted a letter to him, telling of their plight and in a short time, they received a copy of the desired piece of music.

THANKS CHILDREN

A telegram from Broomfield was read during yesterday's program. In it the congressman thanked the children for their invitation to attend the program which he was unable to do but he sent his greetings and best wishes nonetheless.

Among other special features of the program were the presentation of little-known facts about the 49th state, an Eskimo hunting song, a dance of the Aleuts and descriptions of special events and wildlife in Alaska.

Narrators were Linda Bye and Donovan Pugh and flag bearers, Bobby Thorpe and Peter Solwold. All the other children took part in the singing, and several took turns handling narrative portions of the program.

GIVE PROGRAM ON ALASKA — Fourth grade pupils at Elmwood School in Auburn Heights yesterday presented a program on "Alaska, the 49th State" for their families. It was complete even to the state song, dances and stories about special events and the history of the new state. Featured in the program were, from left to right standing, Bobby Thorpe, Karen Joiner and Peter Solwold. Seated is Glen Hadfield, who portrayed an Alaskan medicine man.

Swedes Use Heat for Better Pork

WASHINGTON (AP) — Swedish slaughter houses are using a heat-treatment process to improve the quality of pork carcasses.

★ ★ ★

In reporting this, the Foreign Agricultural Service said the process appears to be effective in killing some bacteria that cause meat degeneration.

★ ★ ★

Automatic equipment places the carcasses in a hot-air oven for 15 seconds at 650 degrees centigrade. It then transfers them to a singeing flame for another 4 seconds, and finally washes them in a special solution.

Methodist Guild Meeting Tonight at Four Towns

FOUR TOWNS — The Elizabeth Russel Guild of Four Towns Methodist Church will conduct its regular business meeting at 8 p.m. today in the church. A discussion period will follow.

★ ★ ★

Newly-elected officers are Mrs. William Hurtuboise, president; Mrs. Stanley McClellan, vice president; Mrs. Harry Garretson, treasurer; Mrs. Daniel Simpson, recording secretary; and Mrs. Carl Munn, corresponding secretary.

★ ★ ★

Tonight's hostesses will be Mrs. Paul Kumley, Mrs. Rex Bennett, Mrs. Harold Knisley and Mrs. J. S. Looney.

Summer Session at Walled Lake

Will Offer Driver Training

WALLED LAKE — Applications are available at Walled Lake Senior High school for driving training classes to be conducted this summer.

★ ★ ★

Two classes will be offered from June 22 to July 10 and from July 20 to Aug. 7, inclusive. Classes will meet from 8 to 10 a.m. daily.

Each pupil must complete thirty hours of classroom instruction, six hours behind the wheel and twelve hours of observation in a driver training car.

In addition to class sessions, nine two-hour sessions in the car for each member of each class will be scheduled during June or July.

Perfect attendance as well as a passing mark in the course will be required for a certificate.

According to Don Smith, chairman of the Driver Education Department in the Walled Lake school system, there should be some vacancies in the classes which may be filled by students who live in the district but attend school elsewhere where driver training is not offered.

They must be 16 years of age or older in order to enroll.

★ ★ ★

Further information may be obtained by calling the Walled Lake Senior High School office between the hours of 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Burial Ground Assn. to Meet at Farmington

FARMINGTON — The North Farmington Burial Ground Assn. has scheduled its annual meeting for 2 p.m. Tuesday at the cemetery.

New offices will be elected at this time. Persons interested in joining the association are urged to attend, said Leota Schlusler, secretary.

Bob Considine Says:

Dulles' Funeral Brought Remarkable Truce

WASHINGTON — The funeral of John Foster Dulles was the most remarkable I've ever covered. It brought about what amounted to a 24-hour truce in all known wars—the cold war, the political wars, and even the religious war between believer and non-believer.

Gromyko, symbol of Russian intransigence, sat in common mourning with the three Western foreign ministers whose wills he had bucked only a few days before at Geneva.

Democrat and Republican, fresh from the battle of Capitol Hill, rubbed shoulders in mutual respect. Dulles' daughter who is an ordained Presbyterian minister sat through the service in an Episcopal cathedral next to the Dulles son who is a Jesuit priest—and all not far from the atheistic Soviet ambassador, Mikhail Menshikov.

Mrs. Dulles selected the burial site at Arlington. It rests near the Spanish-American war memorial, hard by the grave of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood. It is on a pleasant, peaceful rise beneath a yellowwood tree. The birds in the tree sang through much of the service. Visit it sometime.

Wilbur Clark, the Las Vegas gambler, wrote a piece for a current national magazine, with the aid of Jimmy Breslin, in which he urged a national lottery. His mail has been heavy, and it is running 98 per cent in favor.

Clark said yesterday on the way through New York that a lottery could raise $10 billion a year, wipe out the national debt in time, reduce taxes, "and not harm a soul."

He added, "if we can stage a lottery involving human beings, at the time of the draft, we can certainly stage one which will make a certain portion of the people rich."

People . . . places . . . and Von Wiegand.

The Overseas Press Club of America presents its gold life membership card tonight to 85-year-old Karl von Wiegand, dean emeritus of U. S. foreign correspondents. Von Wiegand won't make the trip to New York from his villa near the pyramids and Sphinx. He's too busy.

The card will be accepted for him by his young tennis-playing associate, H. V. Kaltenborn, four years Von Wiegand's junior.

Von Wiegand is a fascinating old gentleman, German-born, U. S. citizen since he was one, and one of the last of the American reporters with the courtly manners usually described as Old World.

His newspaper life got under way with a telegraph key in Arizona 59 years ago. It has touched many lands since then. He was a star reporter for William Randolph Hearst's San Francisco Examiner at the time of The Fire, Western division manager of the AP, chief of the Berlin office of the United Press as far back as 1911, covered World War I for the New York World, and since 1917 has been Chief Foreign Correspondent for the Hearst newspapers.

Octogenarian Von Wiegand has total recall, and sometimes he startles his juniors. Hal Boyle and I paid him a visit a few years ago at Villa Akhnaton, and in the course of his reminiscences he remarked, modestly, "Willie said to me, 'My dear Wiegand, you must tell Papa that we have lost the war. Everytime I attempt to tell him, he gets furious at me.'"

Boyle and I looked blankly at the wall for a moment and one of us finally asked, "Willie who?" Von Wiegand was surprised, but polite.

"Crown Prince Willie," he said, as if he was discussing someone as contemporary as, say, Willie Mays. "Willie was a good soldier. He knew Germany would lose that war and he knew it as early as the end of 1914. That's when he asked me to go to his father, the Kaiser."

Von Wiegand's exclusive interview with spade-bearded Adm. Von Tirpitz, in which the German naval hero announced unrestricted submarine warfare on allied (and American) shipping, played a strong role in our entrance into that war. His 1944 dispatches warning that the Soviet Union would 'emerge as an enemy of the Allies who were aiding it against Hitler made him the butt of left wing attacks which have persisted to this day.

He couldn't be less bothered. He's got his Sunday piece to sweat out.

Opinion Perils Ore Plant Bill

Attorney General Hits House Action to Boost Low-Grade Setups

LANSING (AP)—A House-approved tax bill aimed at encouraging growth of low-grade iron ore plants was threatened today by an attorney general's opinion that it violated the constitutional requirement for uniform taxation.

It was designed chiefly to prevent possible double taxation of taconite plants when ore is processed in one tax district and stockpiled in another.

The bill also would provide that the current 2 per cent tax on plant production was "in lieu of all other ad valorem (value) taxes" on the ore and mining properties.

Property valuation for tax purposes would be set at not less than the salvage value of the plant and equipment not more than 2 per cent of the value of the annual average production in gross tons.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams said it would be unconstitutional to "use a different system of classifying property for general ad valorem taxes than is generally applied — namely assessment of property at true cash value."

The opinion was sought by Rep. Gilbert L. Wales (D-Stambaugh) who fought the bill in the House. It is now in the Senate Taxation Committee.

Tunisia Not Excited by Slight Invasion

ALGIERS (AP) — The Tunisian government took a calm view today toward a French army report its troops had chased Algerian rebels a mile inside Tunisia.

★ ★ ★

A French army communique on Wednesday said a unit on Tuesday exercised the "right of pursuit" in invading Tunisia, killing 32 Algerian nationalists against loss of 6 soldiers. There was no mention of any Tunisians being involved.

★ ★ ★

The army later asked newsmen to eliminate the references to right of pursuit and Tunisian territory but did not explain.

The Tunisian government and Algerian rebels operating in Tunisia said they knew nothing of the brief invasion.

Rise 4th Straight Month

Highway Deaths Soaring

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic deaths on the nation's highways jumped in April for the fourth-straight month. This reverses the downward trend in traffic fatalities recorded in 1957 and 1958.

★ ★ ★

The National Safety Council said today the toll for the first four months this year was 10,680—a gain of 4 per cent from the 10,270 deaths in the same 1958 period.

The increase in April deaths was 1 per cent—2,610 fatalities this year against 2,580 in 1958.

★ ★ ★

The council estimated that highway accidents also brought disabling injuries to 400,000 persons in the four-month period.

Howard Pyle, council president, called for drastic steps to reverse the upward trend of fatalities.

"Two things can bring it down again in a hurry—better driving and better enforcement," he said. We'll really need them during the heavy vacation travel which begins this weekend."

Two Youths Die in Truck Crash

Four Others Are Hurt in Nankin Twp. While Returning From Fair

DETROIT (AP) — Two youths were killed and four injured, one critically, in the smashup of their pickup truck on their way home from a carnival about midnight last night.

★ ★ ★

The truck ran out of control in suburban Nankin Township and struck a mailbox, three trees and a telephone pole. All six occupants were thrown out.

George Thomas Clos, 17, of Nankin Township, and Roger Norwood, 17, of Grosse Ile, were dead on arrival at Wayne County General Hospital.

Victor L. Norwood, 15, a cousin of Roger, was injured critically.

Russell Shaffer, 22, of Grosse Ile, who was driving, told the Wayne County Road Patrol he had passed another car and had turned back in his lane when he lost control. He said he was driving about 45 miles an hour.

Shaffer was held at the hospital as a police prisoner for investigation of negligent homicide. The road patrol said he had been drinking.

★ ★ ★

Also injured and hospitalized were Gerald Hale, 19, of Wayne, an George W. Greenwood, 22, of Garden City.

★ ★ ★

Shaffer said he and Hale had met the other four at the carnival and were giving them a ride home.

Deeper Harbor Created

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — The Cheboygan harbor has been deepened to 21 feet. It took two years of dredging the 7,000-foot Cheboygan River channel to complete the job. The work was part of the federal river and harbor improvement project. It included cleaning out the river bottom and deepening the turning basin to 21 feet. The basin, where the Coast Guard icebreaker Mackinaw docks, was only 15½ feet deep before the work began.

A Baron and an Earl Make Headlines for Old Scotland

WIGTOWN, Scotland (AP) — A 37-year-old farm laborer, James Adams, is being tried in the sheriff court here on a charge of abducting the infant granddaughter of an American-born baronet, Sir Adrian Dunbar, 65.

The formal charge in such cases in Scotland is "baby stealing."

Dunbar came here from Upper Fairmount, Md., five years ago to claim the baronetcy which he inherited, and take charge of a 2,000-acre ancestral estate.

His granddaughter, who was snatched from her buggy last January when she was 3 months old, is Mary Naomi Dunbar. She is the daughter of Sir Adrian's son Roland and his wife Janet. The child was found, unharmed, under a pile of rugs in an old coach house of the estate after a 90-minute search.

★ ★ ★

Adams pleaded innocent. Police connected him with the crime through study of fibers of the old, red rugs.

Detective Sgt. William Breckenridge of the Glasgow police force told of questioning Adams, who lives near the Dunbar estate, and said he found on his jacket a few threads similar to the material of which the rugs were made. He also testified that other fibers on Adams' jacket resembled the soft material of the child's clothing.

★ ★ ★

Another officer testified that Adams stoutly denied taking the girl, repeating, "I never touched her, never saw her."

Mrs. Dunbar, the child's mother, explained on the witness stand that she lives in a lodge 200 yards from the estate's old mansion house. She placed the baby in a buggy at the door of the lodge and worked in her kitchen for half an hour. On returning she found the baby gone.

She raised an alarm. Police set up road blocks. The baby was found by her father in the rubble heaped in an unused old building.

The originator of asepsis—the sterilization of instruments and other precautions for the constant exclusion of bacteria—was a French surgeon, Octave Terrillion (1844-95). His methods of performing operations in a sterile field used many of the principles discovered by Pasteur and Lister.

LONDON (AP) — A $28-a-week messenger who became an earl was back at his old job today still an earl — and still a message-toter.

"I'm really frustrated," said the 40-year-old Earl of Breadalbane (pronounced bred-awl-ben). "Probably I expected too much too soon."

The Scottish estate to which he succeeded on his father's death 16 days ago once included 365,000 acres, two castles and a mansion with 100 rooms.

"I journeyed to Scotland last week," said the new earl, "to see my father's solicitors (lawyers). They told me it will take some time to assess what I will inherit."

So, learning this, he returned to his job as a government messenger in London.

★ ★ ★

"For the last seven years the present earl has labored at assorted jobs which included bartending and playing the bagpipes in vaudeville.

Estranged from his father for 16 years, he has lived in an apartment costing $11.20 a week. He has ridden a bicycle to work.

He has called himself John Campbell. He could have called himself Lord Glenorchy.

He is a graduate of Eton and had a distinguished record in World War II, being mentioned in dispatches.

Asked by reporters how he was being treated back on his old job, he replied:

★ ★ ★

"A colleague said, 'Sorry you've had trouble. Glad to see you back.'

"When I appeared in the office canteen," said the earl, "the manager greeted me with, 'Good morning, My Lord.'

"Otherwise — we're carrying on as before." His family motto — "Follow me."

Hospital Strike Spread Delayed

City Official Continues Effort to End Dispute in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A threatened spread of the hospital strike in the city has been deferred.

A strike of nonprofessional workers against seven private profitmaking hospitals was held off as City Labor Commissioner Harold A. Felix continued efforts to settle the dispute.

A strike of nonprofessional workers against six private nonprofit hospitals is three weeks old. The hospitals have continued to operate with volunteer and substitute help.

The threat against the profitmaking hospitals was made by Local 144 of the Hotel and Allied Service Employes Union, engaged in organizing the nonprofessional employes. This type of hospital comes under the provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The strike against the nonprofit hospitals is being conducted by Local 1199 of the Retail Drug Employes Union, which seeks recognition as collective bargaining agent. This type of hospital is exempt from federal and state labor laws.

★ ★ ★

Two officials of the striking union are under sentence to 15 days in jail for violating a State Supreme Court injunction against the strike at one of the hospitals—Brooklyn Jewish. Lawyers for the union and the hospital agreed to delay the actual jailing until Friday.

★ ★ ★

Counsel for the union planned to appeal the jail sentences imposed on Leon J. Davis, president of the local; and George Goodman, business agent of the locals.

Russian's Kin Seek Asylum

Wife, Child Ask Help as Reds Spirit Envoy Out of Britain

LONDON (AP) — The British government today pondered the plea of a Soviet naval attache's wife for asylum for herself and small daughter to escape Soviet security men who rushed her husband back to Moscow under guard.

Mrs. Nina Dmitriev, 25, and her 5-year-old daughter Lena hid out with White Russian friends in London under the protection of Scotland Yard until her request is decided.

★ ★ ★

British officials said the plea was being considered on its merits.

Mrs. Dmitriev showed up at the Foreign Office Wednesday and agreed to meet with Soviet embassy agents who had been trying to track her down for four days. At the interview — in the presence of British officials — the embassy men failed to talk her into going with them.

★ ★ ★

Soviet security men rushed her husband, Capt. Aleksander Dmitriev, 38, out of London on a jet airliner bound for Moscow.

Just before Dmitriev, an assistant Soviet naval attache, boarded the plane British Home Office officials asked him whether he wanted to stay in Britain. "I wish to leave for Moscow," he replied.

The Soviet embassy refused to discuss the case.

★ ★ ★

Dmitriev, who speaks good English, knows Britain well. He worked in the Soviet embassy in London for a time shortly after World War II and only recently returned as assistant naval attache.

On Saturday he went with two other embassy officials to Hawkhurst, a country estate the embassy maintains in Kent.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Dmitriev, who knows scarcely any English, told neighbors she and their daughter were joining the captain on Sunday. Instead she went into hiding.

When she failed to show up at Hawkhurst, Soviet embassy officials searched the Dmitriev apartment and finally reported her missing to British police. The British traced her and arranged for her to come to the Foreign Office.

Births to Young, Unwed Girls Rising in U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pregnancy among unmarried adolescent girls is increasing, possibly influenced by teenagers' tolerance toward sexual activity, a government social worker said today.

Katherina Brownell Oettinger, chief of the U.S. Children's Bureau, said this trend is likely to continue, giving welfare groups a rapidly growing problem.

★ ★ ★

Addressing the National Conference on Social Welfare, Mrs. Oettinger said illegitimate births have been rising steadily for two decades.

The rate of motherhood per 1,000 unmarried women tripled between 1940 and 1956.

Mrs. Oettinger quoted Office of Vital Statistics figures showing 77,000 children were born to unwed teenage mothers in 1956 and 81,000 in 1957. The projected estimate for 1962 is 110,000 to 120,000.

★ ★ ★

There has been an accompanying increase in veneral disease among teen-agers, Mrs. Oettinger said.

A report on 50 unmarried fathers who accepted counseling and social therapy at a foundling hospital was made by Sister Ann of St. Elizabeth's Infant Hospital, San Francisco.

Three of four American families own an automobile.

Thunderstorms, Tornadoes Hit Middle of Nation

By The Associated Press

More severe thunderstorms, with tornadic winds in some areas, hit the middle part of the country during the night, following the weather pattern during most of the month of May.

Today's weather map indicated showers across wide areas of the country. Out of the predicted wet belt were the far northeast and the southern half of the country from the Rockies westward to the Pacific coast.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday night tornadic winds, hail and rain were reported in areas in northern, western and central Texas.

Heavy rains in northeast Kansas and northern Missouri caused flooding in some areas. A tornado alert was sounded in southeast Missouri. Strong winds also whipped areas in South Dakota and Nebraska.

★ ★ ★

Earlier Wednesday a tornado struck the area of Gillette, Wyo., smashing farm buildings, a hangar and four airplanes. No injuries were reported.

Warm and humid air covered most of the eastern half of the country but it was cool in the northern areas from the Great Lakes region westward into the Pacific coast.

Canadian City Won't Give Up

Center of Government for Arctic Area Moves but Aklavik Hangs On WASHINGTON — Aklavik, Canada's largest settlement north of the Arctic Circle, is reluctant to become a ghost town.

About five years ago, the Ca- build a new administrative center in the Mackenzie Delta region, 35 miles east of Aklavik. The transfer was necessary because river erosion and the thawing of the permafrost base threatened the city's foundations and limited its future expansion.

The new Aklavik, now officially named Inuvik, is gradually taking form, says the National Geographic Society. Already it has a $5 million airport, new roads, and the nucleus of housing developments for a city expected to have 5,000 inhabitants.

The original Aklavik, however, is not necessarily doomed after the big move gets under way near the end of 1959. At present many Eskimos and Indians plan to stay on near their fishing grounds. An April estimate put the population at 800, with another 600 expected during the usual summer influx.

★ ★ ★

Aklavik is not an old town. It was founded about 1912 on the south bank of the channel, and later moved to the north side. According to one tale, the town got its start by accident when a pioneer trader ran aground at the present site and damaged his boat.

While camping to make repairs, he unloaded his supplies, which included a barrel of whisky. By the time the whisky was gone, the story concludes, a small colony had collected.

Aklavik grew to be the most important trade, church-mission, and educational center of the west Canadian Arctic. An occasional meeting place for the Northwest Territories Council, it became a post of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and a seachurchs, boarding schools, govrnmnt buildings, and hospitals sprang up.

North Amrican defense stations, especially those of the sweeping radar chain that forms the Distant Early Warning (DEW) Line, now reach close to Aklavik.

The encroachment of civilization is fast changing the lives of the Mackenzie Delta Eskimos, who are considered the most highly developed of Canada's northern aborigines. They have learned to trade their furs at Aklavik for imported dresses, canned goods, nylon stockings, phonographs, and radios.

Ship Ablaze at Sea; 1 Dead, 29 Rescued

PINAR DEL RIO, Cuba (AP)—A Cuban navy launch rescued the captain and 28 crewmen of a Greek freighter on fire and grounded Wednesday night off the northwest coast of Cuba.

The ship's carpenter was the only fatality reported. He was killed in a boiler explosion which started the fire.

★ ★ ★

The ship, the 7,214-ton Aghios Spyridon, was grounded on a reef off Puerto Esperanza, 32 miles northeast of this capital of Pinar Del Rio province in western Cuba.

The fire was reported burning out of control. The U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Ariadne from Key West was due at the scene this morning.

★ ★ ★

The Navy launch brought the rescued men to Puerto Esperanza, but it was not known in Pinar Del Rio if any were injured.

The ship was en route from Tokyo to Havana to load sugar.

Tax receipts of all federal, state and local governments in the U.S. are estimated by the Tax Foundation at 109 billion dollars in fiscal year 1958, up 941 million over fiscal 1957.

Teenagers Went Nights to Win Diplomas

NEW YORK (AP) — The white card, embossed with a gold coat-of-arms, announced the date of graduation exercises for a high school in Virginia.

Inside, a smaller card bore the name, James D. Ream Jr.

Well, June is at hand. June is the month when, all over America, the high school band plays "Pomp and Circumstance," or some other march, and the seniors step up for diplomas.

These cards, however, the big one and the smaller one, represent something unusual, something special . . .

On a chilly night last December, I crossed the bridge into South Norfolk, Va., and found the Oscar F. Smith High School. Lights burned in the classrooms, the study halls, the auditorium, the library. The grounds outside were quiet and the halls deserted.

★ ★ ★

It was a little after 8 p.m.

Isn't that the hour when teenagers are supposed to be munching popcorn in the movies? Or hot-rodding around town looking for a traffic accident to get hurt in?

There was an air of purpose about this school.

It was a night high school. The students all came from nearby Norfolk, where the regular schools had been closed in the dispute over federal courts orders to integrate. In South Norfolk, authorities offered their facilities—at night—for all who wanted to use them.

Nearly 800 boys and girls did.

They had started at four in the afternoon, taken a half-hour break at 5:45, and gone back to work. The final bell would ring at 9 o'clock.

★ ★ ★

No truant officer compelled them to be in school. They were there because they were determined to get a diploma.

E. E. Brickell, the principal—whose own hours at that time were from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.—said attendance was running better than 95 per cent. Disciplinary problems? Practically none. Grades? Above average.

I asked if I could talk with some of the students.

He called in a pretty, serious-faced girl, Adelia Watson, and a tall, lean, clean-cut boy, Jim Ream. Both were seniors, both 17. Both hoped to go to college. Adelia Watson said she wanted to study interior decorating. Jim Ream grinned, said he expected to be an engineer, and would like to study engineering at the U.S. Naval Academy, if he could get the appointment.

Was it much of an adjustment to go to school at night? In effect, turning the days inside-out?

"Not too bad," said Jim Ream. "It's better in some ways. You can do your homework in the morning this way, while you're fresh."

Adelia Watson said she found it easier to study in the daytime, too.

★ ★ ★

Yes, they missed the sports, the social life, the extracurricular activities that go to making the high school years some of the best in an American kid's life.

"But I guess nothing is too much to pay for an education," said Jim Ream. "It's worth it."

"What about your social life? Doesn't this cut in on your dating?"

★ ★ ★

Adelia Watson shook her head. "My parents don't let me do any dating on school nights, anyway," she said. Jim Ream said he had been too busy, what with one thing and another.

When Jim Ream's card came the other day, announcing graduation day, I thought of him and Adelia Watson and hundreds of bright-looking, intent boys and girls in the class rooms that night.

So here's a salute to you, Jim Ream, and to you, Adelia Watson, and all your friends in the class of 1959. You're getting a special diploma in a few weeks.

★ ★ ★

And all of you are mighty special, too, in my book.

Schools Losing Out on Federal Funds

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan schools have been unable to take advantage of more than $2,300,000 available in federal funds this school year because state matching funds have not been provided, state school chief Lynn M. Bartlett said.

Bartlett said enabling legislation was in committees of both the Senate and House.

"Local school districts would match the federal funds on a dollar-for-dollar basis," Bartlett said. "In addition, the Legislature has been asked to provide funds on a matched basis for the cost of administering the various titles of the act."

Heparin is used by surgeons to prevent blood clots after operations, according to current medical procedure.

OTHER LOW-PRICED CARS WOULDN'T BE LOW PRICED IF THEY HAD WHAT CHEVY HAS!

Model for model the leading low-priced three are pretty close together on cost. But—when you start figuring what you get for your money—Chevy parts company from the other two in a hurry. Look over the list of Chevrolet exclusives below, then make a conservative estimate of how much they're worth to you. We'll leave it to your own arithmetic. How long would the other two be in the low-price field if they gave you what Chevy does?

CHEVROLET

SAFETY PLATE GLASS IN EVERY WINDOW

This extra's a real eye-saver. Chevy's the only low-priced car that gives you Safety Plate Glass—not just Safety Glass—all around.

$_____

OVERHEAD CURVING WINDSHIELD

And here's a neck-saver, especially for looking at overhead traffic lights. Chevy's got greatest overall visibility area in its field, too.

$_____

CRANK-OPERATED VENTIPANES

Ever try to open a ventipane without this little convenience? Then you know what fingernail-savers those cranks can be.

$_____

HYDRAULIC VALVE LIFTERS

You won't find another low-priced car that gives you this oil-hushed assurance of smooth, quiet performance on all standard engines.

LINED LUGGAGE COMPARTMENT

Chevy gives you this luggage-saver on all models. But you'll find it only on a few of the most expensive competitive models.

$_____

UNMISTAKABLY MODERN DESIGN

We'll leave it to your own good taste to decide what this is worth (plus the extra allowance it'll draw at trade-in time).

$_____

BIGGEST BRAKES IN THE FIELD

Chevy's new brakes are built for up to two-thirds longer life. There's more lining area than on many heavier, higher priced cars.

$_____

FULL COIL SUSPENSION

Take a trial ride before you put a price tag on this. No other leading low-priced car cushions you with coil springs at all four wheels.

$_____

GREATER ROOMINESS

More seating room than any other low-priced car. And more front seat head room than any other low- or medium-priced sedan.

$_____

HIGHER RESALE VALUE

Consistently highest of the leading low-priced three. Right now '57 Chevies are averaging up to $128 more in the used car market.*

$_____

TOTAL $_____

Soroptimist Club Aids 3 Groups

Mrs. Harold James, right, Soroptimist and volunteer worker at the Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic, accepted a check on behalf of Madeleine Half, director, at the clinic. Dorothy Roe, director of recreational therapy at Pontiac State Hospital, also was given a check for a bus fund for patients. Presenting the checks is Mrs. Leon Glynn, Soroptimist member.

Members of the Soroptimist International Club of Pontiac are "busy people," one member was overheard to comment when the club met Wednesday evening at Hotel Waldron for a Presentation Dinner.

The service organization, comprised of business women or women holding executive positions, climaxed a year of fund raising by presenting checks to Camp Oakland Inc., Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic, and Pontiac State Hospital.

PROGRAM OUTLINED

William J. Matus, director of the 6-year-old Camp Oakland at Oxford, received a check from Taimee Surola, outgoing president of the club, and gave a brief outline of the program at the camp for underprivileged children.

Originally a summer camp, the site is now a permanent home for youngsters at Boys Ranch. Facilities for girls will be available at the soon-to-be-completed Girls Ranch. The staff also conducts a "work education" program for 16 boys which has been in operation for three years.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Matus called the camp, a juvenile court service operated under Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, a " . . . tribute to Oakland County." The entire program was set up through contributions of county service clubs and interested firms.

★ ★ ★

The donation to Pontiac State Hospital was accepted by Dorothy D. Roe, the institution's director of recreational therapy, who responded, "We're thankful for the check, but we're more thankful for you." Mrs. Leon Glynn made the presentation.

LAUDS VOLUNTEERS

Madeleine Half, director of the Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic, expressed special thanks for the volunteer worker in accepting a check from Mrs. Harold James, a Soroptimist who devotes her spare hours to the clinic.

★ ★ ★

The Soroptimists (the title is a contraction of two Greek words meaning, "The Best for Women") also contribute to the Christmas on the High Seas program and make additional smaller donations throughout the year.

New officers, who will be installed in late June, are Mrs. Richard Paschke, president; Mrs. K. R. Wright, vice president; Mrs. Roy Maxwell, treasurer; Alice Kimball, recording secretary; Mrs. Leon Glynn, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Karl Schultz, convention delegate.

Pontiac Press Photos

Soroptimist International Club of Pontiac observed a Presentation Dinner at Hotel Waldron Wednesday evening. Taimee Surola, outgoing president of the club, presented a check to William J. Matus, director of Camp Oakland, Inc. at the affair. The Soroptimists presented three checks at last evening's gathering.

Couple Trades Vows at Our Lady of the Lakes

Natalie Sposato and Jack Davidson were married Saturday at Our Lady of the Lakes Church.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kaye of Waterford and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lamberton of Clarkston.

A colonial style gown of chantilly lace and tulle with a high neckline was worn by the bride. Her fingertip veil was held by a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Julie Hickman of Waterford. Bridesmaids were Mary Anne Mendola of Detroit and Mrs. James Sposato of Waterford.

★ ★ ★

They were dressed in lavender, blue and pink lace dresses, respectively, with matching bouquets of carnations and daisies.

Kathy Kay, flower girl, wore a yellow nylon dress with a white lace overskirt and carried yellow daisies and lilies of the valley in a yellow and white basket. She is the bride's sister.

James Sposato, of Waterford, the bride's brother, was best man. Ushers were Arthur Lawson of Drayton Plains and Edward Jenks of Pontiac. Marty Lawson was ring bearer.

★ ★ ★

A reception for 300 guests was held at CAI building, Waterford. The couple is honeymooning in Northern Michigan.

Mrs. Kaye wore a dress of gray lace over pink taffeta and a pink rose bud corsage. Mrs. Lamberton wore a navy blue dress with a corsage of pink and white rosebuds.

Pointed Toe Woes?

If you find you've trouble in wearing pointed-toe shoes with comfort, here's a trick to try: Buy them a width wider than you usually do. These shoes are made on such a narrow last that you can probably take a wider width with ease.

Voters League to Hear Educational Candidates

Candidates for the two posts on the Pontiac Board of Education will appear at a meeting Monday sponsored by the League of Women Voters. It will begin at 7:45 p. m. at Pontiac Central High School.

Candidates are Monroe M. Osmun and the Rev. J. Allen Parker, incumbents; and Mrs. Darrell T. Jones, Roy MacAfee, Dr. Leonard Klausmeyer and Thomas Horwitz.

Each candidate has been sent a questionnaire covering qualifications, board policy, school finance and other timely questions pertinent to school board affairs.

They will each have 10 minutes to speak. At the close, questions may be asked from the floor.

The Pontiac LWV conducts this meeting annually as a public service so that voters may meet the candidates and hear their qualifications and ideas.

Letters have been sent to all PTA presidents, several schools, teacher organizations, and civic clubs in the city publicizing the event. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Size Up Charms

When you collect charms for a bracelet, make sure that they are in proportion to the size of the bracelet. A delicate bracelet calls for tiny charms. A larger one can take the medium size.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kurkowski and Edward Donald, all former Pontiac residents now living in Albuquerque, N. M. will be Memorial Day weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hill of Morrison, Colo.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rouse of Salmer street spent the past two weeks in Phoenix, Ariz. and Las Vegas. They will fly home Friday morning.

★ ★ ★

Harry Foreny returned Wednesday to his home in Santa Ana, Calif., after visiting his daughter, Mrs. Claude Shoup of West Huron street.

Mrs. Shoup honored her father with a tea held at her home Sunday. Assisting at the tea were her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shoup of Lake Orion. Thirty guests were present.

All Gifts Go to Home of the Bride

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My fiance's aunt insists that the bridegroom's relatives should send their gifts to him, and that the bride's relatives should send their gifts to her. I believe that this is incorrect and have always thought that all the gifts were sent to the bride. I would greatly appreciate it if you will settle this argument as it is causing a lot of hard feelings."

Answer: Never before have I heard of the presents being sent to the groom instead of the bride. They are always sent to the bride—even those sent on his account by his friends and family.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When my husband and I were married a year ago we had very little money to furnish our apartment. Very good friends of ours gave us two end tables which they no longer needed. My husband has been offered a position in a distant city and rather than pay to have our furniture shipped there (the cost is considerable), we thought we would sell most of our things and buy new ones later.

"The question has come up as to what to do with the money received from the sale of the end tables. Should this be offered to our friends, or may we keep it?"

Answer: I think you should explain to your friends what you intend to do and ask them if they want the tables back. If they say they don't want them, then you are free to sell them and the money that they bring at the sale is yours to keep.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it impolite to refuse to be a Godparent when asked to fill this position?"

Answer: Your refusal will be chilling to the enthusiasm of the young parents, but it will not be impolite and probably better than undertaking the responsibilities of a Godparent with mental reservations.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a gift card has a matching envelope, is anything written on the envelope, or is it left blank?

Answer: The name of the person to whom the gift is sent is written on the envelope unless the gift is being taken by hand. In which case the envelope would be left blank.

What Young People Think:

Movies Better Than Ever—With Snacks

By EUGENE GILBERT

"Take it from the teenagers: Movies are beter than ever—particularly if it's a romantic comedy and you have a candy bar or a fistful of popcorn to nibble on.

At least that's what the majority of the young folks, probably the most frequent movie-goers of all, told us in our latest survey of teenage thinking across the country.

Three out of five of the young folks said they regard the current cinema output as better than ever before. Their reasons ranged from technical advances to the fact "they have B.B. (Brigitte Bardot)," as one young man put it. He chose to remain anonymous.

Just about all those questioned said that a snack while watching a picture increases their enjoyment.

In spite of their enthusiasm for the current films, the young people seem to be letting die the tradition of sitting through a picure twice or even three times.

★ ★ ★

Now about this matter of quality—

"The film companies have better equipment which makes the movies more real to life," said Tom Salans, 15, of Salt Lake City.

"The stories have more variety and drama," analyzed Sandra Fuller, 14, of Chicago.

"They just have better everything," was the high praise bestowed by 16-year-old Allan Schneider of Philadelphia.

Some, like Marian Elliott, 16, of Portland, Ore., asserted movies probably would be better if talent kept pace with technological developments.

★ ★ ★

"The new photography techniques haven't improved the acting," said Marian.

Actually, it proved difficult for our politakers to find teenagers who detect deterioration in movie quality. Only four youngsters out of the 403 we surveyed said films are worse than ever.

Barbara Kibe, 17, of Portland, Ore., summed up the thoughts of the minority group.

"Movies are not as wholesome as they were in the past," she said. "They're too suggestive."

★ ★ ★

Romance is the favorite movie subject among the young people and, as can be expected, it's the girls who tip the scales in its favor. Nearly half the girls told us they prefer romance. With the boys, it was less than a quarter.

A good comedy also is a big drawing card for the young crowd. A bit less than one in three—also more girls than boys—said they enjoy going to the movies for a laugh.

The favorite of the boys turned out to be mysteries, a category which finished third on our list. Nearly one out of three of the boys listed the who-dun-it; one in five among the girls.

★ ★ ★

Trailing behind the top three were horror stories, historical works, science-fiction, feature cartoons—a surprise flat last—western stories, the current mainstay of television. Only one in 20 picked the hoss opera as one of their favorites.

Cherry Cream Filling Hides Under Meringue

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Here is a cherry pie recipe unlike any we have ever seen. Cherries are mixed in a cream filling, then briefly baked.

Mrs. Ephraim Hubbell of Highland is today's cook. Her family is grown and she has seven grandchildren. Collecting antiques is one of her hobbies.

CHERRY CREAM PIE
By Mrs. Ephraim Hubbell

2 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup sugar
¼ cup cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup evaporated milk, undiluted
1 cup water
2 egg yolks
2¼ teaspoons vanilla
2 cups tart red cherries
2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar
Baked pie shell

Melt butter and blend in mixture of sugar, cornstarch and salt. Stir in evaporated milk and water. Cook in top of double boiler 20 minutes, stirring frequently.

Remove from heat and stir into slightly beaten egg yolks. Return to heat and cook 2 minutes more. Add vanilla, cool thoroughly, then add drained cherries.

Put mixture into cold baked pie shell and cover with meringue made by beating egg whites with ¼ cup sugar. Bake at 300 degrees 15 minutes or until brown.

Follow These Hints to Chase Troubles

By RUTH MILLETT

If she needs to get her mind off her troubles a woman can usually do a pretty good job of it by—

Rearranging the living room furniture or mentally redecorating as though she could afford to toss everything out and start over.

Going shopping, whether she can buy anything or not. For this purpose window shopping is almost as good as spending money.

Inviting a few friends in, so that she has to get busy slicking up the house and preparing refreshments. The stories she hears will also give her something else to think about besides her own problems.

Doing something helpful for someone who is much worse off than she is. This gives her a nice glow from being useful and makes her ashamed of stewing about her own minor problems.

Making up her mind to do something about her looks, whether it is to go on a diet immediately, get a new hairdo, or fix up her clothes. A woman on a self-improvement binge quickly begins to feel better equipped to meet her problems.

Working in the garden. There's nothing to take one's mind off a nagging problem quite so completely as discovering that the roses need to be sprayed, the ground is just right for planting annuals, or the gardenia bushes are loaded with buds. There's always something to be done or to be admired when a woman goes out to work in her flowers.

Buying a can of paint and a paint brush and going to work to make a blue room pink or a pink room green. A woman dipping into a can of wall paint is just as absorbed as an artist at his easel.

Plaids in Style; Here Are Tips for Home Sewer

This will be the biggest season in fashion history for the shirtwaist dress, and plaid fabrics will be its natural teammate. Local sewing center experts remind the home steamstress that it is easy for her to stitch up a shirtwaist in plaid if she follows this easy method for matching plaids at seamlines:

★ ★ ★

First, working on the right side of the fabric, pin seams together so that plaid lines meet. Then slip baste into place. To do this, press under one seam edge and pin right over the other seam allowance, matching each stripe or plaid.

★ ★ ★

By hand, work needle from wrong side up through folded edge. Needle should go down at edge of fold in single thickness and up through edge of fold. Remove pins and stitch seam, as usual, from the wrong side of fabric.

When outside seams of handbags are worn, cover them with matching grosgrain ribbon.

Don't Fool With Them

Doctor Can Remove Moles

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Our outer skin is subject to many defects. It may be too oily or too dry and it may be heckled by rashes, blackheads, pimples, moles, warts, whiteheads, or cysts. So many women write asking about these complexion problems that I want to answer a few queries today.

Moles. Most of these appear before or soon after birth. However some develop later in life. Most folks have at least one mole and some have many. Since most moles cause no trouble it is best to leave them alone unless they are apt to be irritated because of their location.

A mole may give you trouble because of its location on your body. A mole under a brassiere strap, for instance, may become irritated and deserve the attention of your physician.

A mole under a brassier strap, for instance, or at the belt line or on the soles of the feet could cause you trouble. In this case they should be removed since constant irritation might cause them to become malignant. However, NEVER let anyone but a physician remove a mole.

You should see a physician if a mole changes in size, changes in color, bleeds or scales or seems irritated in any way.

If moles detract from your appearance, they can be safely removed usually without any scarring at all. BUT do not allow anyone but a medical doctor to do so.

Warts. Everyone knows what a wart is. Children have them most often although they can harass adults also. It is thought that warts are caused by a virus. Therefore it is wise to see your physician. Also they seem to spread, possibly for this reason. They appear infectious and if a person handles them or scratches them they will spread.

There are many methods of treating warts. Your physician will know which kind is best but the treatment is simple.

VITILIGO

Vitiligo si a most unattractive skin condition. This consists of white and brown patches, or irregular pigmentation. Sometimes this appears suddenly and then later on fades away. Sometimes it remains.

The cause of this skin disease is indefinite. It often follows extreme exposure to the sun or may be due to contact with certain products. There are cosmetics which will cover this.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Your Outer Coating," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 47. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Brother's Death Not Punishment

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My Sunday School teacher says that God is everywhere. Please put this letter in the paper and maybe he will see it.

Dear God: Why did you let my brother die? When he was hit by the car my mother prayed to you to let him live but you wouldn't. My little brother was only two years old and he couldn't have sinned so bad that you had to punish him that way. Everyone says that you are good and can do anything you want to do. You could have saved my little brother but you let him die. You broke my mother's heart. How can I love you?

PETER

ABBY

DEAR PETER: Your question is one that has troubled religious men for thousands of years. One great thinker wrote a book about it. It is called "JOB" and is part of the Bible. It says that the suffering of innocent people is something we cannot understand. But this much is sure: Death is not a punishment. It is one of life's mysteries. Speak to your minister, Peter. Communicate with God by praying, and He will help you in your search for wisdom and goodness and help make your Mom my happy again.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I was a sailor for eleven years and lived in 24 countries but it took a country gal to show me how dumb I was. I dropped into my hick home town for a vist and before I left town this kid says, "Hold it, Sailor. I'm going to have your baby." So I married her. We waited. The girl didn't lie. She HAD a baby. Two years later! So tell that soldier who thinks he got roped in not to be excited. The stork will arrive. That long-legged buzzard lives at our house. We have nine kids now.

A TAMED WOLF

DEAR ABBY: I want to help a couple of dear friends get married on the q.t. You see the gentleman does not have the appoval of his children. (Their reasons are purely selfish). This couple wants to know if they could make application for a marriage license without having it appear in the local newspaper. The lady is 67 and the gentleman is 73. Sincerly, MUTUAL FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: A clergyman or lawyer could answer this question for you.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Have you any suggestions for getting our son to date a certain girl without telling him to? This girl is charming, has a wonderful personality and would be an ideal match for our son. He seems to prefer the type who is "loads of fun" and on the flirty side. How can we get him to realize that the more steady, perhaps quieter type of girl is more loyal in the long run? He is 18. PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: A sure way to kill any possibility for a romance between the girl and your son is to start giving the girl a big build-up. If you want your son to become interested in her, arrange an "accidental" meeting and let him "discover" her for himself.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO PERPLEXED NURSE: I have news for you. Sometimes you have to bring up the father before you can bring up the children.

Avoid Mannish Dress Trend, Petite Women Are Warned

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK (UPI) — Short women, beware the mannish trend in fall fashions. It's not for you, says Andrew Arkin, a dress manufacturer who specializes in petite sizes.

"We have to soft pedal the mannish tailored types. They overpower the small figure," Arkin said in an interview to preview his fall lines.

* * *

If you're five-feet, four inches tall or under, Arkin explained, avoid these high-style points which will crop up next fall:

—Long, mannish suit jackets.

—Large or horizontal stripes and plaids found in men's wear fabrics.

—High-piles fabrics such as mohair.

—Contrast in fabrics and colors.

—Extreme sleeves and large collars.

"But the petite woman can find a variety of becoming fashions if she doesn't follow Paris," Arkin added.

SEEK SHEATHS

Look for sheaths and sheath coats, seven-eighth coats, velvet shirt-waists, semifull skirts for dressy occasion, easy-fit suits, natural waistlines and short skirts. Hemlines will remain 16½ to 17 inches from the floor, Arkin said.

The tall, handsome bachelor started manufacturing dresses with his father, Leonard, a pioneer in the garment industry. Then he developed his own line for the "neglected" small woman.

"Seventy-two per cent of American women are five-feet, four inches or under," Arkin said. "They are neither juniors nor half-sizes, but women with misses proportions—on a small scale.

* * *

"I got tired of seeing women with scaled-down Marilyn Monroe figures wearing Shirley Temple dresses just because they happened to fit.

"Petite-proportioned dresses do away with the high cost of alterations, a cost which is reflected in both the pocketbook and, more destructively, in the fact that an altered jacket or dress rarely fits as well as the original cutting pattern."

The Arkins are the largest manufacturers of "better dresses"—clothes in the $40 to $100 price range.

HALF MILLION YEARLY

They put out half a million dresses a year, hold fashion shows in stores across the country and manufacture a couture line in addition to the petite.

How do they keep such volume in the better dress class?

"Well, of course, nobody wants to see themselves coming and going. We get around this by making more styles and controling the styles in smaller cities. Then the clothes are not duplicated," Arkin explained.

DONALD J. BARNETT

To graduate from Cranbrook School, Bloomfield Hills June 13, is Donald J. Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Barnett of Cherokee road. During his senior year, Donald received a certificate of merit from National Merit Scholarship corporation and was among top scorers in Michigan Mathematics Prize competition. He plans to enter University of Michigan in the fall where he has been selected to participate in the honors program.

Duplicate Bridge Winners Named

The Pontiac Duplicate Bridge Club met at Elks Temple Monday evening with 19 tables in play.

Winners were Ernest Guy, Mrs. Perry Brunk, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Barron, Dr. Charles Patrick, Richard McCarius, Mrs. Lucille Sweat and Mrs. Joseph McNearney.

Wins Scholarship to Texas College

Jack Parmenter, graduate of St. Joseph Academy, Abilene, Tex., is the recipient of a $1,000 scholarship to McMurry College, Abilene.

He is the son of John H. Parmenter of Sylvan Lake and Mrs. Donald Denton of Abilene.

This dress ensemble features a tunic jacket with a shaul collar and wide open neck. Under the jacket is a short-sleeved sheath dress. The cotton ensemble is crease resistant and wash and wear.

Of the birthstones, only the diamond, ruby, sapphire and emerald are considered precious. The other eight are semiprecious.

'Humane Warfare' Shunned

NEW YORK (AP)—War could become almost bloodless and deathless with chemical and biological weapons, a retired U. S. Army research chief said Wednesday.

But the United States, with its prejudice against these weapons, is overlooking the best hope for making warfare humane, said Brig. Gen. J. H. Rothschild.

Formerly head of Chemical Corps Research and Development Command, he is now on the faculty of the University of Colorado. His views are written in the June issue of Harper's.

"No matter what the tone of its propaganda, we can be sure that the Soviet Union has no scruples over developing chemical and biological weapons and would have none over their use," he said.

U. S. officials who know about these weapons are forbidden to discuss them freely in public because the government is afraid of what its own people, its allies, and others feel about these weapons, he said.

Based largely on World War I propaganda about poison gas, the feeling exists that these weapons are too inhumane to be used.

On the other hand, they are considerably more humane than the atom bomb and just as potent, the general said.

Of the 272,000 casualties suffered by U. S. forces in World War I, some 26.8 per cent resulted from gas warfare, he explained. Only two per cent of these casualties died. Of the nongassed casualties, 25.8 per cent died.

The gassed casualties also had fewer lasting effects. Only seven per cent of the gassed casualties were discharged from the service as disabled. Of the other casualties, 25 per cent were discharged disabled.

Now there are nonlethal weapons, too, the general said, new biological weapons can attack a central food crop like wheat and other food sources. When the enemy surrenders under threat of starvation, food can be brought in from the outside.

★ ★ ★

There are other weapons—gases which can cause temporary paralysis, temporary blindness or loss of balance. There are some that can make enemy troops irrational, naturally hampering their ability to fight.

Fire Item Borrowers Fail to Return Goods

SAUKVILLE, Wis. (AP)—Saukville's volunteer fire department is wondering whether it was such a good idea to play the good neighbor during recent floods here.

The department allowed flood victims to use fire department equipment to battle the water.

Few of the borrowers returned the equipment.

Mystery of Nikita's Albanian Visit Grows as Other Red Bigwigs Arrive

By HAL R. COOPER

LONDON (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev's visit to Albania gained new significance with the announcement that Red China's defense minister also is on his way to the little Adriatic satellite nation.

The Soviet premier, who arrived Monday at Tirana, the Albanian capital, for a 12-day stay, was accompanied by his own defense minister, Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, and was gretted at the airport by the East German premier, Otto Grotewohl.

Western sources were in the dark as to how many other important Communist leaders might be in Albania or planning to appear there.

The announcement of the Red Chinese visit was made by Tirana Radio, which said Defense Minister Peng Teh-huai would arrive there tomorrow for a stay of six days. It said Peng was repaying a visit by the Albanian defense minister to Peiping last year.

★ ★ ★

The Western world has been considerably mystified by the Khrushchev junket to the smallest and most isolated of the Communist nations, at the moment when his original May 27 deadline for a settlement of the Berlin question expired.

No Western reporters have been permitted in Albania since World War II, and the only news of Khrushchev's activities there comes from Communist sources.

Enver Hoxha, the Communist Party boss of Albania, in a speech yesterday declared the Khrushchev visit was nothing more than a demonstration of great friendship for the Albanian people.

But many Western diplomats believed it was designed as a more strenuous warning to neighboring Italy and Greece against permitting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to establish American-supplied missiles and bases on their soil, and this belief already has been borne out in part.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev warned in a speech Tuesday, that missile bases in Italy and Greece would be an invitation to the Soviet Union to match them with similar bases in Albania and Bulgaria.

British diplomats said it was possible Khrushchev's visit is part of a plan to increase the military significance of Albania. Russia may be planning a sizable military aid grant to Albania in the form of Soviet missile bases.

Albania is only 100 miles across the Adriatic from Italy and has a common border with Greece and the independent Communist state of Yugoslavia.

Italy has agreed to NATO plans for American intermediate range missiles, which can carry nuclear warheads, to be established there.

Area Men in Pit Crews of '500' on Saturday

Eight men from the Oakland-Macomb count yarea will be working in the pit section at the Indianapolis "500" May 30th as members of a fire safety crew.

They are: E. C. Klotzburger, vice president and general manager, Fisher Body Division; Ross Luxon, fire chief, Myron L. Leighton, assistant manager of manufacturing, and I. J. Gouin, assistant superintendent of the plating plant, all with the Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors; Ken Goddell, fire chief, and Barney O'Toole, production control, of the GMC Truck & Coach Division; A. M. Petitt, manager of Central Works Engineering, Fisher Body Division; and Andrew Forster, owner of Forster Tool & Supply Co.

The men will join 93 other fire fighters and safety personnel assembled by the Fyr-Fighter Company of Dayton, Ohio, who will receive instructions in race safety, and be assigned to one of the 33 three-man teams manning extinguishers in the pits.

Each time a driver pulls into the pit section for refueling or repairs his safety team takes up positions around the car, ready to use their extinguishers at the first sign of trouble.

★ ★ ★

Final instructions and pit assignments will be given on Friday evening at the Anderson, Ind., Hotel, where the men will be the guests of Fyr-Fighter at dinner. The group will stay at the hotel overnight and leave for the track early Saturday morning.

★ ★ ★

In addition to this manpower, Fyr-Fighter will also provide more than $30,000 in fire protection equipment at no charge to the Speedway, just as it has for every Indianapolis "500" since 1935.

Luxon lives at 681 Third St., Leighton at 1130 Lake Angelus Shores, O'Toole at 108 Oceola Drive, and Forster at 766 Woodward Ave., all in Pontiac. Gouin is a resident of Lake Orion, Goddell of Milford. Klotzburger and Petitt both live in Birmingham.

Chromium-Plated Craft May Take Man to Moon

NEW YORK (AP) — Chromium which withstands 1,000 degree temperatures, may be the metal used in the craft that eventually takes a man to the moon, according to Steelways, publication of American Iron and Steel Institute.

The magazine said the heat resistant metal was produced by mixing chromium with nickel, molybdenum and aluminum. The alloy, the magazine adds, can be produced in volume, desists corrosion and is relatively low in cost.

Total area of Panama is 34,169 square miles, including the Canal zone.

Shoot 'Gator to End Miseries of Battle

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An alligator, 6 feet long, which refused to die of battle wounds, was shot to end his misery, Humane Society officials said today.

It was the first alligator the agency had to put away. Shooting was decided on after suffocation was rejected as too lengthy a process.

★ ★ ★

The society had to get special permission from the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission. Alligators are protected in Florida.

★ ★ ★

This particular surian already was minus a leg, an eye and half his jaw when he lost a claw and suffered a deep head gash in a fight with another alligator Tuesday at a Seminole Indian village where gators are part of a tourist display.

Accused of Doubting Virgin Birth

Presbyterian Theologian Given Vote of Confidence

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—In an emotion-charged session, United Presbyterians today gave a strong vote of confidence to one of their theologians, accused of doubting the virgin birth of Christ.

The test came on the confirmation of the Rev. Dr. Theodore A. Gill as president of San Francisco Theological Seminary. It touched off a high-tension clash at the denomination's general assembly.

"Dr. Gill has not denied the virgin birth," declared the Rev. Dr. Paul Ludwig of Chevy Chase, Md., head of the church's theological education committee. "He has not abrogated his ordination vows."

However, others argued Dr. Gill had refused to give a positive affirmation of the doctrine and demanded that he be called to the floor to explain his views.

★ ★ ★

"I don't believe in the methods of the inquisition," said the Rev. Limbertus Kingman of Logansport, Ind., "but I think we ought to have a clear statement from this man that he is true to the great confessionals of our church."

"Dr. Gill is not on trial," admonished the Rev. Eugene Carson Blake of Philadelphia, the church's executive officer.

All he would have to say, insisted the Rev. Herbert E. Schreiner of Seattle, is six words, "I believe in the virgin birth."

He maintained such an affirmation was essential to "preserve the peace and standards of the church."

"Strong feelings have been aroused on both sides," he added, "feelings that can degenerate into less than Christian love. . . ."

"Certainly a seminary president should not hestiate to say that Jesus was born of the Virgin Mary," Schreiner concluded.

But leading church educators and officials of the seminary rallied to Dr. Gill's support, and he was approved strongly in a decisive oral vote.

The Rev. Thomas Holden of San Francisco, president of the seminary's board of trustees, said all 40 of its members had unanimously supported Dr. Gill's appointment after thorough discussions with him about the charges.

★ ★ ★

"We are assured that he is completely loyal to the standards of the church . . . and believes that Jesus Christ was God incarnate."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Gill, 38, a bespectacled, quick-minded scholar and writer, has served as professor, pastor and editor in the past.

Missing Wife of Red Attache at British Office

LONDON (AP)—A Soviet diplomat's missing wife showed up unexpectedly today at the British Foreign Office. Two officials of the Soviet Embassy interviewed her there.

The woman is Nina Dmitriev, 35, wife of the newly appointed Soviet naval assistant attache.

★ ★ ★

been hunting for Mrs. Dmitriev since last Sunday, when she and her 5-year-old daughter, Lena, disappeared from their London apartment.

★ ★ ★

A Foreign Office spokesman said the Soviet Embassy reported her disappearance to British authorities Monday. Police traced her the following day.

Soviet officials requested an interview and Mrs. Dmitriev agreed.

Wind Puts Bank Draft in Very Safe Deposit

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — A sudden gust of wind deposited a $300 bank draft which Mrs. Lewis A. Denison was carrying. In fact, the draft is so securily deposited that no one has been able to get at it.

★ ★ ★

It was carried into the display sign of a drug store, and authorities say the huge sign would have to be taken apart to get the draft.

Why Fyx Eye, Y'll Do

FORTVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Undaunted by a broken "i" key on his typewriter, editor Herb Curry pounded out his usual column for the weekly Fortville Tribune and concluded: "Maybe next week the eyekey on my typewryter wyll be fyxed."

Mid-May Auto Sales Best in Years

DETROIT (UPI) — Mid-May sales of new cars made their strongest showing for that period in four years, Ward's Automotive Reports said.

Ward's said new car sales in the period May 11-20 averaged 20,689 sales daily, 4.1 per cent above the same period in April, and the highest sales point of the year to date. The record was 39.1 per cent better than the May 11-20 period of 1958 and better than any mid-May period since 1955.

The statistical service said the mid-month performance makes a 500,000 plus sales month for entire May a virtual certainty. It would be the second half-million plus month for the auto industry. April sales totaled 503,900 units.

For the May 11-20 period, a total of 186,201 units were sold with General Motors taking 48.3 per cent of the sales, Ford 29.3; Chrysler 13.9; American Motors 6.2 and Studebaker-Packard, 2.3.

New Jeep Works Hard for Pontiac Post Office

Pontiac's post office is one of 79 in the United States to have a four-wheel drive vehicle known as a forward control jeep FC-170, according to Robert C. Miller, acting postmaster.

★ ★ ★

The jeep, to be used for custodial service, is the newest among the local post office's family of four types of vehicles. The others are the mailster, station wagon and right hand drive truck.

The new type of vehicle will be used for placing and removing mail boxes throughout the area. Snow removal in the patron parking lot, driveways and garage loading docks of the post office also will be done by the jeep.

★ ★ ★

It is equipped with an electro-hydraulic tailgate to raise heavy mail boxes from the ground to the truck bed when these must be taken to maintenance headquarters for repairs and renovation. The bed is 40½ inches high. A snowplow can also be mounted on the front.

★ ★ ★

Top of the cab is white, the center has a reflective red strips, and the bottom, cab bed and stakes are blue

Claims GOP Publicist Is Misleading Papers by Lansing Column

LANSING (AP) — A Democratic spokesman says it appears "a serious question of journalistic ethics is involved" in distribution to weekly newspapers of a political commentary by a paid publicist for GOP state senators.

★ ★ ★

Neil Staebler, Democratic state chairman, complained the column by former Detroit Times newsman Frank Morris was circulated on a misleading basis. The column — "Your Lansing Observer"—carries Morris' by-line.

★ ★ ★

Staebler protested in a letter to E. C. Hayhow, president of the Michigan Press Assn. (MPA) and publisher of the Hillsdale Daily News. Hayhow said he was puzzled that the MPA should be involved

"I'm surprised that Staebler would try to edit the weekly newspapers," Morris said. He resigned last month to take the political job after 33 years as a Capitol newsman.

In his letter, Staebler noted that Morris became well known as a political writer for the Times and added:

★ ★ ★

"Unfortunately, the manner in which the column is being offered tends to create the impression that Mr. Morris is a bona fide newspaper reporter offering unbiased, nonpartisan and objective commentary.

"This, of course, is entirely erroneous.

★ ★ ★

"Mr. Morris is a paid publicist for the Republican senators and, as might be expected, his column openly advocates the Republican viewpoint."

Hayhow said, "I'm a little puzzled . . . The MPA has no control over member papers and doesn't want it."

Morris said he explained what he was doing and why when he first sent out the column which is offered free to weeklies.

"I hope to make it more factual and interesting than Gov. Williams' weekly column," he added.

Ike Nominates Negro Guinea Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated John Howard Morrow, North Carolina Negro educator, to be the first U.S. ambassador to the new African republic of Guinea.

★ ★ ★

Morrow, 49, has been chairman of the Department of Modern Foreign Languages at North Carolina College at Durham, N.C., since 1954.

He is a native of Hackensack, N.J., and a graduate of Rutgers University. He also holds a doctors degree from the University of Pennsylvania. Before going to North Carolina, he was head of the Department of Romance Languages at Talladega (Ala.) College for nine years.

★ ★ ★

He was a member of the President's Committee on Government Security which went out of existence more than a year ago.

Dearborn Club Wins

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — The Garden Club of Dearborn was awarded the top prize at the 28th annual meeting of the Michigan Federated Garden Clubs here Wednesday. Some 300 delegates attended.

About two-thirds of all the people of the world get an average of 2,000 food calories a day which is barely enough to sustain life.

Patrick Dennis, author of the best selling "Auntie Mame" books, said the idea came to him while he was taking a bath. "What I was really thinking about while basking in the soapsuds," he said, "was that I needed money." So "Auntie Mame" solved his problem.

MARVELOUS MOUSSE — Get out your prettiest mold to use for this delicately pink concoction. Quick-frozen strawberries flavor and color this frankly fancy frozen dessert.

Frozen Berries Are Star of Fancy Molded Mousse

A molded mousse makes a marvelous party dessert. It looks so elegant, is smooth and delicate in texture and flavor. What's more it can be made early in the day and stored in the refrigerator until party time. Then you unmold it on your most handsome platter, garnish it prettily and serve it with pardonable pride.

★ ★ ★

The molded mousse pictured today is so easily made when you use quick-frozen strawberries, available all year long, all over the country.

Molded Fruit Mousse

1 package quick-frozen sliced strawberries, thawed
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup whipping cream

Crush thawed fruit thoroughly; add sugar, lemon juice, and salt. Then whip cream and fold into the fruit. Turn into 1-quart mold or freezing tray. Cover with waxed paper. Place in freezer or freezer compartment of refrigerator. Let stand 3½ to 4 hours, or until firm.

To unmold, wipe mold with a cloth, which has been dipped in hot water. Then remove waxed paper. Loosen edges of mousse carefully with a sharp knife. Cover with cold serving platter and turn mold and platter together. Lift off mold. Garnish with mint leaves.

Serve at once or place in freezer or freezing compartment of refrigerator until ready to serve. Makes 6 servings.

You'll Play Tick Tack Toe With Salad

A fun way to fix a pretty and delicious salad.

New Ticktacktoe Salad

2 seedless grapefruit
2 large avocados
Salad greens
2 whole pimientos (drained from can or jar)
18 capers
French dressing or mayonnaise

Pare grapefruit so no white membrane remains; cut sections away from dividing membranes. Cut avocados in half lengthwise; twist halves apart in opposite directions and remove seed; strip off outer covering.

Arrange salad greens on four luncheon plates; mound grapefruit sections in center; place an avocado half, cavity side down, over each mound of grapefruit. Cut each pimiento into eight long narrow strips and eight shorter narrow ones.

Arrange pimientos over avocados so there are two ticktacktoe "boxes" on each half; put two capers in the center of each box. Serve with dressing. Makes four servings.

Bake Your Pancakes

Pancake batter may be poured into a jelly-roll pan and baked in a hot (425 degrees) oven for 15 minutes or so until baked through and lightly browned on top. Cut into squares, remove with a pancake turner and serve hot to a crowd with melted butter and maple syrup.

Green Salads Like Olives

Be showy with the tossed salads you prepare for guest meals. Use a variety of greens and have them crisp and cold. Any of the different kinds of lettuce, endive, romaine and watercress are good.

Pique interest by tossing in an assortment of special tidbits. Sliced eggs, canned artichoke hearts, avocado wedges and stuffed olives provide flavor and color contrast.

For those who enjoy the crunch of almond or nibble of anchovy in a salad—but not too much—home economists recommend the new anchovy and almond stuffed olives now on the market. Mario's, one of the well known Spanish green olive importers, now offers them.

Just drop the whole olives into the greens or slice them once, crosswise, to expose their flavorful centers.

Drizzle on olive oil, making certain each leafy green is coated with oil. Then sprinkle a good wine vinegar over the mixture and season with salt and freshly ground pepper. A bit of oregano, thyme or crushed tarragon goes well in such salads, too.

Pattern for Breakfast Simplifies Your Work

Here's the key to better breakfasts. Plan ahead using this menu pattern; fruit or juice; an egg, if possible; whole grain or restored cereal; enriched or whole grain bread; butter or fortified margarine; and milk. You'll be nutritionwise if you shop with this pattern in mind.

Finally, breakfast should be fun. Each day give a different menu item a bright, new twist. For instance, treat your family to hot, fragrant quick breads and coffee cakes made with enriched flour.

Pretzels Long Time Favorites

The pretzel hasn't changed its shape since it was invented away back in A.D. 610 by an imaginative monk who served as the baker in a European monastery. It is still crisp, crunchy, and delicious. But it is ever new in its uses as a snack, a party piece, and a delightful food for all the family.

Pretzels are a unique food in several ways: they have an unusually low moisture content and can be kept crisp in covered containers for a long time; they are low in calories — 16 to the thin pretzel; as a snack item, they are not greasy to hands, clothes, or furniture. Then there's always that "hands-folded-in-prayer" or Valentine shape that makes it stand out from all other foods. Pretzels are available in most grocery and delicatessen stores.

The traditional pretzel that has held its shape so well for 1,348 years is always in style when served with soups or salads, when eaten by itself or with a tangy dip as a party or TV snack, when enjoyed with milk by children; or when used as a wonderfully appetizing ingredient in various dishes. Pretzel crumb topping for a casserole dish, for instance, gives it a special flavor and texture.

Although the one and original pretzel has not changed, it has a number of attractive sisters and brothers in various shapes and sizes . . . "Dutch" pretzels, cocktail sticks, pretzel rods, pretzel nuggets and so on. They all have the crisp and crunchy texture and salty tang of the pretzel original.

For a buffet or party arrangement, thrust pretzel cocktail sticks into a fat yellow pumpkin, a head of red cabbage, or a melon, and loop regular pretzels over them. Pile plenty of pretzels; carrot or sweet potato sticks and other crisp nibblers around the centerpiece. Serve two or three dips — one of them hot—and see how your guests nibble and enjoy.

Some 'Calorie-Low' Foods Just Aren't

COLUMBUS, O. (UPI) — Fad diets often hail cottage cheese as a girl's best friend. Fact is, it can be a dieting girl's worst enemy.

★ ★ ★

This is not to brand cottage cheese as a natural enemy of your figure. Any doctor will tell you it's a health food, rich in body-building elements and sometimes recommended for its balmy effect on ulcers.

★ ★ ★

But if you're trying to trim 10 pounds, measure your cottage cheese as carefully as you would your waistline.

A cupful is about 260 calories.

Ordinarily a light lunch means a bunch of lettuce leaves and a big blurb of cottage cheese—a sacrifice known as the "blitz method" of trimming seven pounds in seven days.

The family doctor changed that. His calorie chart persuaded us to give up cottage cheese.

Now light lunch is half a grapefruit, a cup of vegetable soup, half a cup of tuna with lemon juice, half a tomato, a stalk of celery, and half a cup of brussels sprouts, cauliflower, or asparagus tips.

That's only about 240 calories, still below the count for a cup of cottage cheese. If you don't like fish, substitute a roast chicken leg or a small portion of round steak.

Either way, it's a well-balanced meal and you sacrifice only bread, which you would have given up anyway under the cottage cheese method.

It's easy to have low-calorie meals at home, where you are in charge. But be on guard after you leave your front door.

Shopping center soda fountains and downtown cafeterias are always diabolical. A popular forty-cent special may have a generous dipper of cottage cheese, two peach halves, three prunes, topped with a cherry and served with crackers.

Looks light. Dainty. Colorful. Inexpensive and inviting.

Be wary. Stop. Look. Count calories. The cheese is about 150, the peach 75, prunes 75. And even if you don't count the cherry, that little package of crackers will add 40. That's 340 calories and you'll still be hungry when you finish.

Reconsider. By-pass the "light" salad, and (counting as you go) order something like this:

A slice of lean roast beef (85), quarter head of lettuce (15), half a cup of green beans or eggplant (25), celery hearts (15), half a cup of carrots, turnips or cabbage (35), hot tea with one sugar (25). That's only 200 calories.

If you feel daring, add a small muffin and a pat of butter and you'll have only 300. If you like, substitute a roast chicken leg or any lean meat or the beef.

★ ★ ★

You will have a colorful, nutritious, inviting meal that will be low enough for a 1,000-calorie diet.

Bomb Couldn't Stop Big Ben

Famed London Clock, Now Century Old, Has Stopped Only 12 Times

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Edmund Hillary can have his Mount Everest. I'll take a climb up to see London's Big Ben any day.

Big Ben has been ticking since May 31, 1859, and when you climb the 336 steps to the big belfry it seems almost like a journey 100 years into the past.

No cook ever watched his soup more carefully than Charles Williams and his son Edmund look after the giant-sized face and innards of the clock that towers over a majestic slice of London scenery.

"The old thing was only two seconds off after a bomb blew off one side of its face during the war," said Charles Williams, who has cared for Big Ben more than 30 years.

Today Williams climbs the narrow stairway to the top dressed in a suit, tie and white shirt. But it doesn't stop him from clambering about the clock's insides to give his son the benefit of his experience.

Unfortunately, few tourists get to see Big Ben closeup. Stone tower is off-limits to the casual traveler.

A visit to the inner chamber of the old clock is a breath-taking trip into another world where each second seems to be stretched out to a minute and each minute to an hour. Above the hubbub of crowded streets, with only the whipping of the wind and the quiet tapping of the second hand, the world below seems a million miles away.

Britons from one end of the island to the other set their watches and alarm clocks by the throbbing of the bell that booms out the quarter-hours. The British Broadcasting Corp. keeps two microphones near the nineton bell and they broadcast the time to millions. BBC just assumes Big Ben is on the dot.

For good reason, too. Big Ben is able to adjust itself automatically. And the clock mechanic can account for the tiniest error simply by laying a half-copper or a penny on the head of the giant pendulum.

In its long history Ben has accidentally stopped only a dozen times. On those occasions, the 14-foot minute hand had been logged by snow, birds or objects left lying about by careless construction workers.

To hear Big Ben ring the time while standing next to the huge bell must be like being in the heavens when thunder rolls. The first note (B-flat) dongs a thunderous sound whose echoes join in a crescendo as each successive note is rung.

After the tolling of the hour is finished, Williams turns to his guest and says, "I think I can claim that I have had the pleasure of showing you a magnificent piece of clockwork."

Treasury Secretary Visits Dad in Texas

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson arrived here Wednesday night aboard a Coast Guard plane.

The Cabinet member, who formerly managed the Waggonner ranch northwest of here at Vernon, Tex., said the visit is his first chance to see his father in some time.

★ ★ ★

The 80-year-old elder Anderson farms in Johnson County, south of here. The secretary said he would spend most of today at the farm. "I also have some government business here," he said.

Anderson's party dropped Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn off at Perrin Air Force Base, near Sherman, Tex., which is in Rayburn's congressional district and near the speaker's home at Bonham. The party left Washington after attending the funeral of former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

★ ★ ★

Anderson will deliver the commencement address Friday at the University of Houston.

Waterford-Clarkston BPW Meets Tonight

Installation of new officers will highlight the 7:30 p.m. meeting tonight of the Waterford-Clarkston Business & Professional Women's Club, at the home of Mrs. Robert Kingsbury in Golfview Estates.

Following the ceremony, the group will have a "buzz-session" evaluating last year's club activities. Members of the Public Affairs Committee will be hostesses for the evening.

Health Dept. to Move

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — The million-dollar Grand Traverse County medical care facility, nearing completion in Traverse City, will be the new home of the Tri-County Health Department which serves Grand Traverse, Leelanau and Benzie counties. Department Administrator Loren Bensley says moving from its present court house office to the new site will be complete by June 2.

Memorial Day at Ft. Devens

Rite Recalls Tale by Poe

FT. DEVENS, Mass. (AP) — On a hilly, grassy cemetery overlooking the Army post, American soldiers and veterans organizations will honor wartime friend and foe alike with impartiality on Memorial Day.

In the cemetery lie 22 Confederate dead, their graves marked "unknown American dead."

And, far from their homeland, about a score of German and Italian World War II soldiers who died here as prisoners of war are buried near the graves of American soldiers.

Strangest of all are the graves of two American soldiers who died nearly a century and a half ago. One was the victim of a duel. The other may have been killed because of the duel.

It was Christmas eve, 1827. A group of officers were playing cards in Boston's old Fort Independence. Suddenly an older officer accused young 2nd Lt. Robert F. Massie, a Virginia artilleryman, of cheating.

The older man challenged Massie to a duel and they met Christmas morning outside the north bastion of the fort.

★ ★ ★

A skilled swordsman, the older man ran Massie through. The young lieutenant died a few hours later.

The name of the older lieutenant has been lost for all time, but the story as told by Author Edgar Allen Poe is that the older lieutenant was detested by fellow officers.

Poe related that the officers on the fort eventually plied the unpopular officer with liquor one night, took him to the fort's lowest dungeon, shackled him and left him to die. The tale never was confirmed.

In 1905, a bricked-up section of the old dungeon was entered and there lay a skeleton in a uinform that resembled that of the era of nearly 100 years earlier.

The skeleton, unidentified, was brought to Ft. Devens for burial. So was the body of Lt. Massie.

Senate Hears MSU Plea for Funds

LANSING (AP)—The University of Michigan was to take its turn today at trying to sell the Senate Appropriations Committee on a sizable budget increase for 1959-60.

Like Michigan State University, which argued its case yesterday, the U. of M. was cut back more than one million dollars by the Legislature for the current fiscal year and has protested the effects.

MSU President John A. Hannah pleaded for a $4,700,000 increase for administration and operations, and smaller sums for other purposes.

Hannah said the extra money—mostly for faculty salary increases and new staff—was needed to overcome damage from the 1958-59 cutback and to handle an expected enrollment increase of about 1,100.

For a time, the discussion turned to reports of faculty unrest. Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield), committee chairman, broached the subject.

Hannah said financial uncertainties played a large part in the reports, which he said were exaggerated.

Of two faculty organizations that have criticized the university administration for not yielding a bigger voice in some campus affairs, Hannah said:

"In order to justify their existence, they must have causes."

The reference was to the MSU Chapter of the American Assn. of University Professors and to Local 1310 of the American Federation of Teachers AFL-CIO.

There have been demands for a bigger say in promotions, pay increases and other affairs apparently regarded by Hannah as the province of administrators. He said faculty groups properly could take a hand in curriculum, teaching and other academic concerns.

Overall, MSU asked for $31,400,000 compared with $28,400,000 approved by Gov. Williams and $25,315,000 received for this year.

Of the total, $590,000 was asked to finance a start for the new MSU campus in Oakland County, where an enrollment of 600 freshmen is expected in September with a teaching faculty of 30.

"We are trying to build an environment where there's something exciting about learning," explained W. B. Varner, chancellor. He said young, imaginative faculty members were being recruited, and that most student applicants had high academic standing.

Hannah said last year's budget cut forced MSU to eliminate 90 positions, halve equipment expenditures and trim service and supply activities. It caused denial of merited pay increases, reduced plant maintenance and deferral of repairs.

Army Trio Held for Bank Theft

$20,000 Taken, Five Locked in a Vault at Advance, Mo.

ADVANCE, Mo. (AP) — Two young men armed with a machine gun and a pistol robbed a bank here of $20,000 Wednesday and left five employes locked in a vault.

Missouri Highway Patrol said three Army privates from Ft. Campbell, Ky., were taken into custody within 12 hours and one of them admitted taking part in the holdup.

★ ★ ★

Lt. E.F. Dampf of the patrol said Robert Lee Hager, 20, was taken into custody at his home at Fornfelt, Mo; James A. Foy, 25, of Trenton, N.J., was arrested near Fornfelt; and Walter S. Nicholson, 23, of Livermore, Calif., was arrested at Cairo, Ill.

Dampf said Hager admitted taking part in the holdup. A machine gun, pistol and $4,400 were found in his home. The officer said Foy had several thousand dollars in his possession when apprehended and Nicholson had about $100.

★ ★ ★

Hager and Foy, wearing raincoats and dark glasses, entered the bank, Dampf said. He said Nicholson was driving one of two getaway cars when arrested.

Bank employes said the two men who robbed them had appeared in town two days ealier, and their presence did not go unnoticed in this town of 733 persons.

Mrs. Claudine Lorch, bank cashier, said the two men entered the bank about 1:30 p.m., and one of them said: "This is a holdup. Everybody against a wall and no one gets hurt."

★ ★ ★

The five startled employes were directed into the bank vault and the pair scooped up all the money available and fled in a stolen car which police found abandoned a few miles away.

The five employes freed themselves in less than two minutes by taking a lock apart with a screwdriver.

Say Governor Given Full List of Lynchers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mississippi Gov. J. P. Coleman reportedly has a complete list from the FBI of the men who lynched Mack Charles Parker, a Negro accused of raping a white woman.

★ ★ ★

Coleman was en route to Washington today to testify on civil rights legislation before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee.

The FBI pulled out of the Poplarville, Miss., lynching case two days ago, saying it had no evidence that federal laws had been violated.

★ ★ ★

Authoritative sources Wednesday said evidence collected by the FBI and turned over to Coleman gave not only the names of the masked lynchers but a description of a meeting the night before in a farmyard on the outskirts of Poplarville at which the lynching reportedly was decided upon.

Coleman has said only that he will give the FBI report to a regular session of the Pearl River County grand jury, which next meets in November.

Will Celebrate Separately

Four Surviving Dionne Quintuplets Are 25 Today

MONTREAL (UPI) — Three housewives and a nurse—all famed from birth—celebrate their 25th birthdays today separately.

The four surviving Dionne quintuplets, estimated to be worth a total of more than one million dollars, planned quiet observances.

Annette, Cecile and Marie are married. Annette has a seven-month-old boy and Cecile is the mother of an eight-month-old boy. Yvonne is a nurse. The fifth quint, Emilie, died in 1954.

The sisters visit with each other occasionally, and telephone each other almost every day.

Germain Allard, Annette's husband and a finance company executive, reported that each of the girls would celebrate separately.

"Annette and I plan to celebrate with some very close friends, and Cecile and her husband, Philippe Langlois, will do the same thing. Yvonne also plans to spend the day with some close friends, and Marie's husband, Florian Houle, plans to take her out somewhere special for dinner," he said.

Allard said the girls probably would drop in on each other during the day. But he said, "There is definitely no big party or anything special planned," and none of their family from Callander, Ontario, was expected to travel here.

"If anyone comes, it will be a surprise to all of us," Allard said.

The quints accumulated a fortune endorsing hundreds of products and through investments handled for them by a trust company. It was reliably estimated on their 21st birthday at about a quarter-million dollars each — and is believed to have grown considerably since then.

Today, however, they no longer capitalize on the fame that made the name Dionne a byword when country doctor Alan DaFoe bought them into the world May 28, 1934. They go out of their way to avoid publicity.

Red Light Saves 50 as Landslide Hits

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A red traffic light saved 50 motorists from possible disaster.

They were stopped on the Pacific coast highway Wednesday, waiting on the signal, when 600 tons of earth and rock crashed down from the 250-foot-high Pacific Palisades. Some of the cars would have been in the slide zone but for the light.

★ ★ ★

The slide covered all lanes of U.S. 101 except a southbound parking lane, with rubble up to eight feet deep.

There have been numerous slides along the cliff.

★ ★ ★

"The public is playing Russian roulette every time it drives under this death trap," an inspector at the scene told newsmen.

Engineers warned another landslide might occur momentarily.

Bomarc Cut by House Group

Nike-Hercules Voted Full Request in Bid to Force Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—Saying it wanted to force top-level settlement of missile rows, the House Appropriations Committee cut $162,700,000 today from a favorite Air Force project—the Bomarc.

★ ★ ★

The Army, a rival in many missile fields, got a plum — extra money to speed development of a missile defense against intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The Bomarc, the Air Force antiaircraft missile, suffered a reduction of more than a third of the sum requested.

The committee voted to give the Army the full 95 million dollars it asked for its competing Nike-Hurcules antiaircraft missile.

The committee report, made public today, said the Bomarc cut was made "in a further effort to focus attention upon the necessity for an early decision on the air defense missile controversy."

"Billions of taxpayers' dollars are involved," the report said. "It is time to re-examine what we are getting for our money."

It noted that the Bomarc, still not fully operational, already has cost $1,900,000,000.

Senate sources had reported that President Eisenhower wants a quick recommendation on which missile or missiles should be kept as antiaircraft weapons. Eisenhower reportedly instructed Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy to back up the decision with solid evidence.

The House committee recommended for the Army some of the extra money to speed production of the Nike-Zeus antimissile missile system which had been denied by the Defense Department.

Cabot Wins Okay as Brazil Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Career diplomat John M. Cabot today won unanimous Senate confirmation as ambassador to Brazil, the post Clare Booth Luce resigned after a row with Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore).

Cabot's nomination was approved by voice vote. He now is ambassador to Colombia.

In a speech in 1923, Calvin Coolidge said: "After order and liberty, economy is one of the highest essentials of a free government."

To Reveal Silver Lake Situation

Readying Pollution Report

A preliminary report on the Pontiac Sanitation Dept's. study of Silver Lake pollution should be ready next week.

★ ★ ★

Charles Cohen, city sanitarian, said he hoped to have a copy of the report in the hands of City Manager Walter K. Willman before Tuesday night's City Commission meeting.

Cohen said the month-long study would produce a lengthy, detailed report which he believed should be followed up this summer.

"I don't think we can make a final report until after testing the lake during the summer months under varying weather conditions," Cohen said.

★ ★ ★

It was expected that the report would indicate, or at least hint at, the main sources of pollution in the communities west of Pontiac—Waterford Township and Sylvan Lake.

★ ★ ★

City Commissioner Milton R. Henry called for the study last month in hopes that it would lead to action freeing Silver Lake of pollution to permit use of the lake as a recreation area.

The city has held up signing a new agreement for treatment of Sylvan Lake sewage until it is decided whether that city is contributing to pollution.

★ ★ ★

Henry has said he would urge the city to go to Circuit Court for an injunction preventing Silver Lake pollution by communities west of Pontiac.

Suggests $38 Billion for Defense of U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a blast at Pentagon rivalries, "confusion and duplication," the House Appropriations Committee today recommended $38,848,339,000 in new funds for the Defense Department.

★ ★ ★

It refused the Navy's request for 260 million dollars to build a new aircraft carrier.

★ ★ ★

It voted to authorize the President to keep bombers in the air around the clock if necessary to prevent their destruction by a sneak attack.

These and other actions were included in a bill the committee sent to the House floor for debate next week.

★ ★ ★

"The nation must always be prepared for the worst," the committee said in a report written by Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex).

Catholic Vets to Carry Flag for Jews in Parade

DETROIT (AP)— Catholic war veterans will carry both their own and the Jewish veterans' flags in Detroit's Memorial Day parade Saturday.

Saturday is the Jewish Sabbath. Michigan's Jewish war veterans, organized in 1894, said their regulations forbid parading on their Sabbath. They'll be absent.

★ ★ ★

Edward Kebalitis, commander of Michigan's Catholic war veterans, contacted John Nemon, commander of the Jewish group.

"Our marchers will be glad to carry the Jewish standard," Kebalitis said. Nemon accepted the offer.

Canadian Ship Said Hunting for Soviet Sub

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP)The Canadian destroyer escort Nootka refueled here and quickly put out to sea early today amid rumors she is hunting a Soviet submarine in the Atlantic.

A Navy spokesman would say only that the ship headed for "her area of operations off the east coast."

★ ★ ★

On Wednesday the Nootka suddenly left an industrial exposition at Saint John, N.B., where she was a special attraction.

The Nootka could have been ordered out to help fuel-short sister ships off Newfoundland check the report of a family who said they saw an undersea craft in Bonavista Bay.

★ ★ ★

Or the Nootka might have been used because it was closer to another reported sighting off southwestern Nova Scotia, in the Bay of Fundy or along the upper coast of Maine.

The Nootka presumably is being assisted by sub-hunting Argus aircraft from the Canadian Air Force base at Greenwood, N.S., 100 miles southwest of Halifax.

Family Keeps Up Milk Deliveries

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — When Henry Schaper acquired the milk route owned by his father, he knew that faithful service makes good customers.

★ ★ ★

So for 18 years, Henry has worked seven days a week without a vacation. And he has no immediate plans for a change.

★ ★ ★

About three years ago, however, Henry became ill and was forced to take two weeks off. But the Schapers carried on.

★ ★ ★

Henry's wife, assisted by a neighbor and their son Charles, now 14, covered the 20 to 30 mile route by truck each day at 5 a.m. until the father could return to work.

Forced Boy to Eat Raw Eggs off Floor

Merciless Father Hunted

Juvenile officers of the Pontiac Police Dept. today were investigating reports of a father who made his son eat raw eggs off the floor of a Pontiac supermarket as a punishment.

The boy was helping his father unload a shopping cart Tuesday night at Kroger's, N. Perry at Joslyn Sts., when the youth dropped two dozen eggs on the floor.

Store employes offered immediately to replace the broken eggs, but the father refused their offer.

Instead, he ordered the son, described as between 8 and 10, to eat the eggs off the floor.

BOY OBEYED

The son obeyed his father and ate three or four of the eggs.

A crowd of shocked patrons in line gathered around the youth, and several protesting men asked the father to step "outside."

The father, described as almost seven feet tall, replied, "It's none of your business what I do with my children."

Employes said the father quickly paid the bill, not including the eggs, and left.

Called into the case yesterday afternoon, police checked with store employes. They have so far been unable to learn the identity of the father.

Teachers Get Schooling to Detect Pupil Diseases

NEW YORK (AP)—Forty-five New York City school teachers are attending classes at the Hospital for Joint Diseases to learn how to detect bone and joint ailments among their pupils.

During the 15-session course, the teachers also learn how to handle handicapped children in their classrooms.

At last count by the Department of Agriculture, the average American was eating 126 pounds of vegetables a year, compared with 100 pounds little more than 20 years ago.

Husbands Would Face Police Before Wives

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Meek husbands are contributing to the rising rate of false crime reports received by police, says Detective Capt. Richard Doyle.

In a typical instance, says Doyle, hubby has lost a good part of his pay check gambling and just does not have the nerve to tell the little woman the truth.

★ ★ ★

"In most cases," he explains, "the man comes into headquarters with his wife. He is worried and nervous. She is indignant and determined. She is the one who demands that police find the criminals who attacked her husband and took all his money."

Frequently the man admits in private questioning that his story was a fake. He pleads with police to keep his secret.

"He'd rather face us than face his wife," says Doyle.

Playwright Clyde Fitch had five plays on Broadway at the same time in 1901. They were "Sappho," "Lover's Lane," "The Climbers," "Barbara Frietchie," and "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines."

Commissioner Dropped

DETROIT (AP) — After 20 years in the post, James V. Bellanca has been dropped as a member of the Detroit Civil Service Commission. Mayor Louis Miriani, in announcing the move, said, "There comes a time when a change is wholesome." Ballanca's successor will be Joseph N. Garbarino, a DSR commissioner.

Hollywood Headlines:

Three Stooges Will Star in First Feature Movie

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Here's evidence of how fantastic show business can be: the Three Stooges are starring in a feature movie.

A year and a half ago, the Stooges were finished, washed up. They had come to the end of a record stand of 24 years at Columbia Pictures making shorts. Their knockabout comedy was considered passe, the market for short subjects had vanished.

★ ★ ★

Then the Columbia subsidiary, Screen Gems, released the first batch of old Stooge comedies to TV. Wham! The Stooges, a show business team for a third of a century, found themselves at the height of their fame.

When they were making shorts, they earned $70,000 from the filming and picked up an equal amount on personal appearances. This year they are already guaranteed a $275,000 gross, and the figure may go much higher.

★ ★ ★

The boys have returned to Columbia, but not to make shorts. They are filming "Have Rocket, Will Travel," their first feature as a starring team. Back in the '30s, they appeared with their old boss Ted Healy in some MGM movies. More recently they have done some quickie musicals.

"But this is the first time we've been starred in a feature," said Moe Howard proudly. "And we're getting 25 per cent of the take."

★ ★ ★

Moe is the leader of the Stooges. He's the one with the black bangs. Larry Fine has the operatic hairdo, and Joe Derita is the fat one who takes most of the knocks. He was preceded in his post by Moe's brothers, Curly and Shemp, both now deceased, and comic Joe Besser.

I found the trio on a stage with a mass of space - travel props. They've got a shooting schedule of 10 days and may go 11. They used to make the two-reelers in as little as two days.

★ ★ ★

"It's fantastic, what has happened to us," Moe mused. "We've got more offers than we can handle."

The Stooges made 218 comedies and profit not a cent from their showings on TV. Not directly, that is. But the results of their newfound popularity are considerable.

New Way to Detect Multiple Myeloma

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A new laboratory method for diagnosing multiple myeloma, a form of cancer related to Leukemia, has been developed at the University of Michigan medical center.

Dr. Reuben L. Kahn, who originated the Kahn test for syphilis, developed the multiple myeloma blood test with Dr. Ronald C. Bishop and Robert Pineiro, a research man.

The medical center said the new test is unusual in that it gives a negative reaction to the presence of disease whereas most blood tests react positively.

The new method tests natural antibodies in globulin, a blood serum protein. Multiple myeloma is marked by abnormal globulin.

Conover Tells About Divorce

Claims He Left Candy After News Leaks Out During Fees Case

NEW YORK (AP)—Harry Conover, model agency operator, says he caused the breakup with his wife, former model Candy Jones.

News of their divorce came out Wednesday during proceedings against Conover's agency. The city has canceled its license.

At first, Conover told newsmen concerning the divorce, "It's news to me." But he added that he had signed "some forms."

★ ★ ★

Later, Conover, 47, was asked who caused the marital split.

"I did. We were married 14 years and separated nine months. In the very nature of our business, 14 years is a lifetime. We must have tired of each other. I just walked out and left her no alternative," he replied.

Miss Jones reportedly received her decree in Mexico.

The story of the divorce emerged during a court hearing on a claim by blonde Lorna Gillam, 17. She charged the agency owes her $2,200 in modeling fees — one of a number of complaints against the agency.

Ira Berman, attorney for Miss Jones in the nonpayment complaint, told Magistrate Walter J. Bayer that a check for $1,338 had been sent to Miss Gillam Tuesday night. Bayer ordered the rest to be paid by June 29. He postponed hearing on other claim cases until Friday.

★ ★ ★

Neither Conover nor Miss Jones were in court.

The lawyer said Miss Jones had a $100,000 investment in the agency and had taken over its operation after Conover left. "Her only crime," Berman added, "was that she was a very loyal wife to her husband, if that is a crime."

Conover estimated that unpaid modeling fees total about $20,000 to $25,000. "The people have a legitimate gripe," he said. "The reason I couldn't pay off is that our clients are rather slow."

UAW Members Ask Union Safeguards

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two members of the United Auto Workers Union have asked Congress for legislation against undemocratic procedures in unions.

Casimer Walas, president of UAW Local 501; and Merton House testified Wednesday before a House Labor subcommittee. They said an administrator had been put in charge of their Buffalo, N.Y., local on March 20.

"I don't dispute the right of the international to seize our local," House said. But, he said, there should be a law to restrict the length of time an international union can keep such control.

Other Woman Is 'Phone-Witness' to Knife Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—The woman shrieked over the phone to the "other" woman: "I hope you're satisfied. I killed him. You'll never see him again."

When police arrived Wednesday, Vincent Perino, 40, lay dead, a kitchen knife in his chest. In his Brooklyn apartment they arrested red-haired Dorothy Chadwick, 24, a beautician. She was charged with homicide.

★ ★ ★

Authorities gave this account:

Blonde Constance Borzi, 23, also a beautician, telephoned Perino. She said she heard Perino and Miss Chadwick arguing bitterly, and that she heard Miss Chadwick accuse him of two-timing her.

Minutes later, Miss Dorzi said, Miss Chadwick screamed the news of the stabbing into the telephone. Perino, before he died at a hospital, would say only: "I slipped on a knife."

Both girls, police said, thought they were engaged to Perino, a convicted hijacker released from prison in 1950.

Much Surgery Said Done by Untrained

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Paul R. Hawley, director of the American College of Surgeons, says it is reliably estimated that one half of the surgical operations in the United States are now performed by "doctors who are untrained, or inadequately trained, to undertake surgery."

He says inadequately trained physicians are doing an increasingly amount of surgery because every insured patient is a paying patient.

Hawley made the statements at a session of the Group Health Institute Wednesday.

He said one of the world's most distinguished surgeons told him that at least half his practice now "consists of attempts to correct the bad results of surgery undertaken in community hospitals by doctors inadequately trained in this field," He did not name the surgeon.

Science Aide to Ike Dr. Killian Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today the resignation of Dr. James R. Killian Jr. as special assistant to the President for science and technology.

Killian will return to the presidency of Massachusetts Institute of Technology from which he was on leave.

★ ★ ★

Dr. George Bogdan Kistiakowsky, professor of chemistry at Harvard University, was chosen by President Eisenhower to succeed Killian. He is a native of Kiev, Russia.

In an exchange of letters made public by the White House, Killian said he wishes to return to MIT by mid-July.

★ ★ ★

He said he was resigning for "compelling personal reasons" about which, he said, the President has had a warm understanding. There was no amplification.

In accepting the resignation Eisenhower told Killian it would be impossible to "overemphasize the vital importance of your work here, both to the future security of the United States and to the strength of our whole system of education."

Quinn Files to Seek Governorship of Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — Gov. William F. Quinn filed nomination papers Wednesday to seek election as Hawaii's first chief executive under statehood.

The 39-year-old Republican was appointed by President Eisenhower.

His Democratic opponent for governor in the July 28 election will be John A. Burns, 50, Delegate to Congress.

Australian Sheep Men Complain of Kangaroos

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — A delegation of sheep farmers complained to the New South Wales government yesterday that an estimated eight million kangaroos — almost equal to Australia's total human population — were overrunning grazing lands there.

A spokesman for the group said pastures had more kangaroos per acre than sheep and urged a scientific study of the kangaroos' breeding habits with a view to tighter control.

Church Okays Birth Control

Presbyterians Maintain That Companionship Is Among God's Blessings

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)— United Presbyterians have joined a succession of other Protestant churches in giving official sanction to birth control.

"The proper use of medically approved contraceptives may contribute to the spiritual, emotional and economic welfare of the family," says a resolution of the denomination's 171st general assembly.

★ ★ ★

The subject has long been a source of keen friction between Protestants and Roman Catholics, who strongly oppose any artificial means of birth control.

In recent years several Protestant bodies, including the Methodist, Congregational Christian, United Lutheran, Augustana Lutheran and Unitarian Churches, have endorsed it.

The 3-million-member Presbyterian church, in the closing session Wednesday of its eight-day assembly, adopted a statement saying Christian marriage involves "both companionship and parenthood." It added:

"The sexual life within this relationship is given by God for the benefit of his children" and is not "an evil which needs to be justified by something else, as for example, by the procreation of children."

★ ★ ★

The church urged repeal of laws banning distribution of birth control information, such as those in Massachusetts and Connecticut.

In other actions on its final day, the assembly:

Urged abolition of capital punishment.

Hit at laws restricting groups promoting racial integration.

Protested federal grants to activities maintaining segregation.

★ ★ ★

Condemned laws either banning or requiring union shop agreements, under which workers must join a union. Eighteen states bar such contracts by so-called "right-to-work" statutes.

Urged steps, including legislation, to prevent segregated housing.

Launched a program to curb alcoholism, and recommended "voluntary abstinence" from liquor.

★ ★ ★

Commended the National Council of Churches for its courage in facing issues by calling the world order study conference in Cleveland last fall, which advocated governmental recognition of Red China.

★ ★ ★

Described the Red China issue itself as having arguments on both sides, but expressed hope that the day soon will come when normal relations with China may be honorably established.

★ ★ ★

Tense conflict arose over confirmation of the Rev. Theodore A. Gill as president of San Francisco Theological Seminary. Despite charges that he questioned Christ's virgin birth, he was overwhelmingly approved.

The 975 delegates decided to meet in Cleveland next year.

13 Injured as Bus Rams Rear of Cattle Truck

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — A New York-bound Greyhound bus hit the rear of a cattle truck on U.S. 20 near here today, sending 13 persons to South Bend hospitals with injuries. The bus driver was the only one reported injured seriously.

★ ★ ★

The bus went down an embankment and turned over. It did not catch fire.

★ ★ ★

Ambulances took the injured to the hospitals. Those hurt only slightly were treated at the scene.

Some animals escaped from the truck and scattered over the countryside.

SPORTS

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

As we told you in this column a week ago, the fact that Detroit would not get the Olympic games should come as no surprise and it certainly wasn't when Tokyo was named as the 1964 site.

The balloting came out just as we noted, with our "friendly" city on the West Coast, Los Angeles, failing to support Detroit.

We tip our hats to Fred Matthaei for a tremendous try.

ABOUT THOSE LETTERS

In regard to the mail directed at the sports department concerning the printing of standings of city leagues, Legion leagues, Little Leagues, etc., our readers would be interested to know several things.

Last year members of our sports department contacted various people connected with these various summer baseball or softball leagues asking that all schedules be given us and indicating that their respective standings would be printed each Thursday.

Cooperation was received from few, but in most cases it was nil. Thus we did print standings which were made available to us and we will do so again if aera leagues have enough interest to provide them.

In regard to stories pertaining to summer leagues, we also initiated last year a column entitled "Diamond Dust" for the purpose of featuring interesting tidbits, highlights and notes on players and teams.

Except for a few leagues which submitted material for use in the "Diamond Dust" column, which was written two and three times weekly, most people responsible for the different teams failed to take advantage of opportunity.

"Diamond Dust" will resume early in June after the prep season is over. Hence we shall see how many parents and leagues are interested in getting their information in print as they say they are.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

If you haven't seen the quarter-mile midget racers drive the track near the Miracle Mile shopping center, it's something you won't want to miss some Sunday afternoon.

Some of the cars the kids drive as beautifully contoured and painted as some of those we saw at Indianapolis a few weeks ago.

The Tigers report that over 500 tickets have been sold through their Pontiac agency at Osmun's men's store, and they are very happy with the setup. Tickets can be ordered in advance for all Tiger home games.

OLDEST CUPPER—Bill Hyndman, who at 43 years of age was the oldest member of the U.S. Walker Cup team this year, was playing impressive golf in the British Amateur Golf Tournament this week. He moved in the quarter-finals today against the youngest player in the tournament, Jack Nicklaus, 19-year-old Ohio State ace.

Harmful Without Prescription

'Pep Pills' Do Assist Athletes, Survey Shows

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Medical Association's two-year survey of the use of "pep pills" in athletics rated a .600 batting average today.

It proves conclusively three things — that the amphetamine derivatives do help performances of tested swimmers and track athletes; that the use of "pep pills" is not as widespread in athletics as suspected and that their use without prescription is harmful.

It did not prove conclusively two things — whether "pep pills" helped produce the recent horde of four-minute milers nor the true percentage of athletic users.

But the sutvey was productive in that tthe U. S. Olympic Committee, the National A. A. U. and the International Amateur Athletic Federation all have banned use of the drugs by American athletes under threat of disqualification.

The only stumbling block in this connection is that ordinarily the user cannot be detected visually. But unprescribed users do face habituation, nausea, anxiety, dizziness and headaches.

Tests conducted at Harvard and at Springfield College proved, however, that swimmers were helped as much as 1.16 per cent; runners 1.5 per cent and weight throwers as much as four per cent. Translated into performance figures, this means that Herb Elliott might under such conditions lower his 3:54.5 world mile record to 3:50.9 and a 63-foot shot putter might add two feet, 6¼ inches.

It is known, the A. M. A. Committee said, that an Australian swimmer who remained unidentified did use "pep pills" in establishing a record but an Australian marathon runner who trained with Elliott denied that either of them ever used the pills.

But, when it comes to breaking records, Dr. Henry K. Beecher of the Harvard University medical school admitted:

"They do make for a whopping lopping."

The A. M. A. Committee sent questionnaires to 900 colleges and 900 high schools to determine whether pep pills were used in athletics. Of 700 answering colleges, only seven admitted their use. Of 815 answering high schools, only eight confessed to using "pep pills."

ONCE THE FASTEST — The first automobile to win the Memorial Day race on the Indianapolis Speedway is still ready to roll in Topeka, Kans. Old No. 10, which established 11 world records, won the inaugural 50 years ago. Designed by David Buick, the venerable racer is now owned by Lowell R. Whitla.

5 Drivers Hope Pneumatic Jacks Will Save Time

Veteran-Packed Field Includes 21 Members of 100-Mile-Club

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — The contenders in Saturday's 500-mile auto race figure it will be such a close contest that it may be won or lost in the pits.

To save a few seconds in the stops for fuel and tires, mechanics have installed pneumatic jacks on five of the cars. One crewman will attach a tank of compressed air to a fitting and the car will hop up on three or four legs.

Cars for which manual jacks will be eliminated are those to be driven by Jim Rathmann, Miami; his brother, Dick, San Gabriel, Calif.; last year's winner Jimmy Bryan, Phoenix, Ariz.; Eddie Sachs, Center Valley, Pa., and Rodger Ward, Los Angeles.

Sachs and Jim Rathmann will start in the first three-car row along with pole winner Johnny Thomson, Boyertown, Pa.

★ ★ ★

The lineup will be almost a club outing. Twenty-one of the 33 starters belong to the Champion 100-Mile-an-Hour Club, restricted to drivers who have completed at least one 500-miler at that speed.

Bryan has gone all the way four times in the Memorial Day classic; Paul, Russo, Jimmy Daywalt, 1936 winner Pat Flaherty, Johnny Boyd and Bob Veith have done it twice.

The club will be chagrined—and veteran speedway observers will be amazed—if one of its members doesn't take the checkered flag Saturday. Thomson, Jim Rathmann, Tony Bettenhausen, Roger Ward and Bryan are regarded as the ones to beat.

The track will be closed until Saturday.

3 U.S. Golf Amateurs Gain Quarter-Finals

SANDWICH, England (AP)—Three U.S. Walker Cup stars—Bill Hyndman III, Jack Nicklaus and Deane Beman—and a surprising young Air Force officer from New England, Lt. Bill Magee, gained the quarter-final round today in the British amateur golf tournament.

The only American casualty of the fifth round was Master Sgt. Harold Ridgley of Roanoke, Va., beaten by a fellow Yank, Hyndman, 2 and 1.

Nicklaus, 19-year-old Ohio State student from Columbus, Ohio, fired the best streak of golf of the tournament in ousting Juan Estrada of Mexico, 5 and 4. Beman, 21, a student at the University of Maryland from Silver Springs, Md., won over John Bentley, a 54-year-old former English champion, 2 and 1.

Magee, a 28-year-old Air Force officer from Newton, Mass., who is stationed in Germany, developed into the surprise of the event by beating Norman Isow of England, 1 up.

★ ★ ★

Nicklaus and Hyndman clash in opening quarter-final match of the afternoon. Magee plays Douglas Sewell, a British Walker Cup player.

★ ★ ★

Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, captain of the American Walker Cup team, made the flat prediction:

"I am sure one of our boys will be shooting for the title Saturday. You can take your pick which one it will be."

Coe, one of the favorites for the title, lost to Murray Lawrence of England by one hole yesterday in the big upset of the tournament.

The 35-year-old Oklahoman found that coaching the Walker Cup team, making speeches and acting as press agent had taken the edge off his game.

★ ★ ★

Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, defeated Noel Fogarty, of Ireland, at the 19th in the fourth round; Hyndman of Philadelphia, defeated Graham Dudley of England 8 and 6; and Beman defeated Sean McDermott of Ireland, 2 up.

Before getting beat, Ridgley defeated British Walker Cup player Michael Bonallack 5 and 3 in the 4th round and Magee defeated British Walker Cup reserve Alan Thirlwell 6 and 5.

The United States started the championship with 23 competitors in a field of 200. Walker Cup stars Coe, Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., and Tommy Aaron of Gainsville, Ga., are among the casualties.

Nicklaus, Hyndman and Magee were all in the top half of the draw. Beman was the only American in the bottom half.

Haddix Finds Defeat Is Rewarding

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Frustrated Harvey Haddix is sampling the fruits of defeat today, and finding that they're not so bitter after all.

★ ★ ★

The little Pittsburgh Piartes' lefthander will be the subject of interviews, endorsements, banquets, and even a National League ceremonial because of the 12 innings of perfect baseball he threw at the Milwaukee Braves Tuesday night.

The historic chore will mean some extra money for him too. How much isn't certain at this time, but one unofficial source said it could boost his income this year by $10,000, maybe more. Television shows doubtless will be after him to tell his story. The razor blade sponsors will probably want him to shave before the cameras.

He was deluged with telegrams yesterday and he probably gave more interviews in a day than he had in his seven years in the majors.

★ ★ ★

"Look at my eyes," said Haddix in the Pirates' dugout before last night's game with Milwaukee. "I didn't get as much sleep today as I usually do."

"You probably were the most photographed and talked about man in the country today," said a reporter.

It wasn't until midday yesterday that the score was finally decreed to be 1-0 by National League President Warren Giles.

★ ★ ★

The whole affair was complicated. Joe Adcock hit the ball over the fence with Henry Aaron and Felix Mantilla on base for what should have been three runs. But the big first baseman passed Aaron, who had stopped running because he thought the ball was inside the park and Mantilla had already scored. Umpire Frank Dascoli gave Adcock a double and scratched one of the runs.

Giles said only the run necessary to win the game will be counted. He said Adcock would be officially credited with a double.

Giles also said the National League is preparing an "appropriate observance" of Haddix' performance. He didn't indicate the nature of the affair, but hinted it will take place at Pittsburgh.

Haddix said among the mound of telegrams he got was one from Pittsburgh's Mayor Thomas J. Gallagher, who said his "pitching skill and personal courage, although exerted in a heartbreaking effort, is an inspiration to all of us who so dearly love our national game.

★ ★ ★

"You have scaled the heights of immortality in your chosen profession, a goal few men attain. All of us in Pittsburgh are thrilled and proud to share in your hour of glory, the lustre of which no loss will ever tarnish."

No Bat Boy — Pearson Just Looks Like It

BALTIMORE (AP) — If spectators at Wednesday night's baseball game between the Washington Senators and the Baltimore Orioles thought Albie Pearson was the bat boy, they had every right.

★ ★ ★

Last year's rookie of the year in the American League was wearing the bat boy's shirt.

★ ★ ★

Pearson was traded to the Orioles by Washington Tuesday night. When he reported to the Oriole clubhouse, there was no uniform to fit him.

★ ★ ★

Pearson, an outfielder, is only 4 and ⅞ inches taller than five feet and weighs 138 pounds. He wears a size 36 baseball shirt.

★ ★ ★

The smallest that Whitey Diskin, the Oriole clubhouse custodian, could find was a 38. It belonged to the bat boy, Danny Shaw.

Jones Faces Nation's Best in 100 Saturday

MODESTO, Calif. — Sprinter Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan will compete in the 100-yard dash at the California Relays Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

Jones, who has been timed in 9.4 seconds, will be running in some of the fastest company of the year. Entries include 9.3 men like Bobby Morrow and Bill Woodhouse of Texas and Ray Norton of San Jose State College.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "I can't seem to avoid tightening up!"

DIAGNOSIS: Knees rigid and locked.

TREATMENT: Any discussion of the proper stance emphasizes the knees flexed, or slightly bent, at the start of the swing. Often forgotten, however, is the strong need for keeping the knees flexed throughout the swing.

Here the illustration shows the knees flexed at the top of the backswing for a medium iron shot. Note that the left knee turns inward to permit a fairly full backswing without raising the left heel off the ground. (For the full backswing needed on a long iron shot or wood shot, the left heel does come off the ground, but only an inch or so.

Another important point well illustrated here is that the right elbow is pointing downward at the top of the backswing. Never let the right elbow get too far out and away from the body.

And please note the head held firmly in place over the ball!

MSU Hoop Aide Named to Lead South Carolina

EAST LANSING (AP)—Robert L. Stevens, assistant basketball coach at Michigan State University, has been named head coach at the University of South Carolina.

The appointment was announced jointly today by Clarence (Biggie) Munn and Rex Enright, MSU and South Carolina athletic directors.

Stevens, a former Spartan basketball player, served as freshman coach for two years and as assistant to Forddy Anderson for three years. A native of Warsaw, Ind., Stevens lettered at MSU from 1947 through 1949.

MSU Distance Stars to Enter IC4A Meet

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State will send its top distance duo of Bob Lake and Forddy Kennedy after more honors this weekend in the IC4A championships at New York City.

★ ★ ★

Lake is scheduled to go in the mile, a race he won last weekend in the Big Ten meet in the record time of 4:08.5. Kennedy is entered in the two mile, which he won in both the Big Ten and in last year's IC4A meet.

Both races are set for Saturday at Downing Memorial Stadium.

A's Not in Playing 'Mood'

Tigers Stymied in Bid to Get Fifth Position

Clear Skies Follow Rain but Athletics Duck Playing

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Let's face it. The Athletics just didn't want to play ball last night.

★ ★ ★

A heavy rain gave the A's the opportunity to duck a game with the Detroit Tigers.

The heavy downpour, however, stopped an hour before game time. When the game was due to start, the skies were clear.

Thus, the Tigers were stymied in their bid to wrest fifth place from the Athletics and make a clean sweep of a three-game series.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers probably marveled at what a difference a month makes.

In April, the last time the Bengals visited here, they waited an hour because of a shower to get a game started. Then the Athletics were beating the Tigers three straight.

Manpower was apparently the main reason the A's didn't want to take the field last night.

Hector Lopez and Ralph Terry, traded to the Yankees this week, have already left for New York. But Jerry Lumpke, Johnny Kucks and Tom Sturdivant, acquired in the trade, haven't arrived.

In addition, Bob Cerv has been sidelined with water on the knee and Roger Maris is in a hospital recovering from appendicitis.

Dick Tomanex was placed on the disabled list yesterday. He's one of three pitchers who have sore arms.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers moved to Chicago for a game tonight against the White Sox. Don Mossi was scheduled to hurl for Detroit against Chicago's Bob Shaw.

WINNING BLAST — Jack Nicklaus, 19, youngest player in the British Amateur golf championship, blasts out of a trap on the 19th hole of his match round against Irishman Noel Fogarty at Sandwich, England, yesterday. The ball stopped inches away from the cup and the Ohio State student holed out in par four to win the extra hole and the match.

'M' Captains Named

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Earl Deardorff of Johnstown, Pa., a half-miler, has been elected captain of Michigan's 1960 track squad.

Bill Roman, a first baseman from Detroit, was named captain of the baseball team.

Bobsledding Voted Out of '60 Olympics

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—The International Olympic Committee Wednesday rejected a move to hold the 1960 Olympic bobsled races at Lake Placid, N.Y.

By 35 to 21, the IOC voted down a Swiss proposal to restore the bobsled competition to the 1960 program. The 1960 Winter Games will be held at Squaw Valley, Calif. But the organizers had begged off an earlier promise to provide a bob run.

So for the first time since 1928, bobsledding will not be on the Olympic program. The International Bobsled Federation then announced it has shifted the 1960 World Bobsled Championships from Lake Placid to Cortina, Italy.

Drives Three Winners

DETROIT (AP) — Mac McQuarrie of Fowlerville drove three winners in three starts at the Hazel Park harness racing track last night.

McQuarrie won with Palairish in the first race, Carrie in the fifth, and Miss Margaret G in the seventh.

Never Miss, owned by D. H. Miller of Niles, won the feature in 2:04 2-5 in a nose finish over Dick Hoffman, paying $4.80.

It's Mrs. Martell Again

With her scorecard showing 11 pars, a birdie and eight one-putt greens, Mrs. Fran Martell won the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association tourney for the 2nd straight week Wednesday at Plum Brook with a three-over-par 79 on rounds of 40-39. Mrs. Lee Hilkene was runnerup with an 81.

Derby Golfers on Firing Line

Former Indianwood Pro Dietz Gets Hole-in-One at Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The $20,000 Kentucky Derby Open begins today on soggy Seneca Golf Club course with a field of 87 top touring professionals and 13 amateurs entered.

Bruce Crampton of Sydney, Australia, grabbed attention by firing a sizzling five under-par 65 in the meet's first annual pro-amateur preliminary tournament yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Bob Goalby had the second best round with a 68.

Turning in 69s were Billy Casper Jr., Jack Fleck, Don Fairfield, Don Bisplinghoff, Dave Ragan, Mike Dietz, Fred Hawkins, Chandler Harper and Bill Collins.

Art Wall Jr., the circuit's leading money - maker with nearly $45,000, was among the open favorites.

Two holes-in-one were made on the second hole yesterday.

Mike Dietz, former Michigan Open champion from Port Paradise, Fla., holed out a four iron shot and amateur Ken Smith Jr. got one with a three iron.

Drayton Wins Go to Spencer and Lakeland

Spencer Floor Covering in the American loop and Lakeland Pharmacy in the National division were Waterford League softball winners last night at Drayton Plains.

Hank Shell and Ron Holland each made two safeties and pitcher Arlo Flesher scattered seven hits as Spencer downed Drayton Drug, 5-3. Lakeland collected 10 hits on its way to a 16-8 conquest of Walls Service with Darrel Donaldson getting two safe blows and three walks and scoring three times.

Tonight's schedule at Drayton Plains: Dobski's Bar vs. Eagles (National), 7 p.m., and Spencer Floor vs. Sno-Bol (American), 8:30 p.m.

West Tops in South

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Jerry West, West Virginia's basketball All American, today was named Southern Conference athlete of the year. The junior star of the Mountaineers' NCAA runnerup team won the SC's top athletic award with a landslide edge over Virginia Tech football end Carroll Dale in balloting by the Southern Conference Sportswriters Assn.

Bowdry Batters Top-Ranked Anthony

CHICAGO (AP)—A 22-year-old slasher from St. Louis, Jesse Bowdry, has vaulted into top contention for venerable Archie Moore's world light heavyweight title.

Bowdry last night took apart the erstwhile No. 1 light heavyweight contender, Tony Anthony, for a unanimous decision in a nationally televised 10-round bout in Chicago Stadium.

In a brutal but one-sided battle, Bowdry gave a tremendous boost to his No. 7 ranking by belting Anthony, a three to one favorite, all over the ring.

"We want the winner of the Moore-Yvon Durelle title fight in Montreal July 15," clamored Bowdry's co-manager, Eddie Yawitz.

Jet Defense Comes Apart

Five Errors Pave Way for 7-4 K. C. Victory in 'A' Baseball

The Jets outhit the Knights of Columbus by an 11-5 margin yesterday in Class A City League baseball action at Wisner Field, but the K. of C. nine won the contest, 7-4.

Pontiac's defending city champs fell apart defensively in the bottom of the 4th inning, committing five infield errors as the Knights sent 11 men to the plate and scored five times on just two hits.

Starting pitcher Jim Jones was the victim of the collapse and had to take the defeat. The Knights tallied two more runs in the 5th off relief hurler Jim Addis to provide a cushion against the Jets' three-run rally in the 6th which brought Dick Vacaro to the rescue of starter and winner Tom McCormick.

★ ★ ★

Ben Robinson, Hurston Avery and Al Hayward clubbed two hits apiece for the Jets while Hal Trott and McCormick each made a pair of safeties for K. C.

New York Nips Boston, Pascual 2-Hits Orioles

Wynn Scalps Injuns Again

By The Associated Press

Surprised the way Cleveland has managed to hold the American League lead? Just imagine where the Indians might be if they could shake loose from Chicago's White Sox, the club they have a tough time beating, and Early Wynn, the guy they can't beat at all.

Half of Cleveland's 14 defeats through the first quarter of the schedule have been from the second place White Sox. And three of those have been nailed by Wynn, who has won seven in a row from the Injuns since they traded him away a year and a half ago.

If the Indians could reverse that 3-7 season record against Chicago, they'd be orbiting 6½ games above the rest of the league. Even a .500 split in the 10 games would have given them a five-game bulge.

Instead, Cleveland's just a game in front after Wynn (7-3) and the White Sox went to work again yesterday for a 5-1 victory over the Indians.

Baltimore, the only other club with an edge (3-2) over Cleveland this year, missed a chance to close in when Washington's Camilo Pascual beat the third place Orioles 6-0 last night with a two-hitter.

Last place New York squeezed past Boston 3-2 in the other AL game. Detroit was rained out at Kansas City.

Wynn, a 39-year-old right-hander, closed in on the top-20 group of all-time winners with his 256th victory, but needed Gerry Staley's relief help for the last two outs. The Indians scored in the first on doubles by Ed Fitz Gerald and Minnie Minoso, but then were blanked the rest of the way on three hits.

Wynn, who gave way after a walk and Fitz Gerald's second double in the ninth, is 21st on the all-time list of winners, four shy of Ted Lyons' 260. Wynn is tops among active pitchers, with Milwaukee's Warren Spahn, who won his 252nd last night, No. 25 in the all-time rankings.

The Yankees were hitless until the fifth, when Andy Carey socked a home run against loser Ike Delock (5-2). Bill Skowron hit a two-run homer in the seventh for the winning margin as Boston broke through Duke Maas's two-hit shutout bid on Pete Runnel's two-run homer in the ninth. Reliever Ryne Duren saved it for Maas (3-2) and the Yanks.

Pascual gained his first two-hitter after holding the Orioles hitless until Gene Woodling and Albie Pearson, a Senator until yesterday, singled in the seventh.

The NFL champion Colts received $4,718 per player for their victory over the Giants.

Hal Newhouser's 29 wins for the 1944 Tigers is an all-time club record.

Save real money as Sunoco fits octane to engine exactly!

Gas stations with only 2 or 3 grades force most premium buyers today into paying for octane their cars can't use.

But Sunoco Custom-Blends your fuel to fit your engine exactly. 6 quality blends... 6 octane strengths...6 different prices! You save up to 4¢ a gallon on premiums!

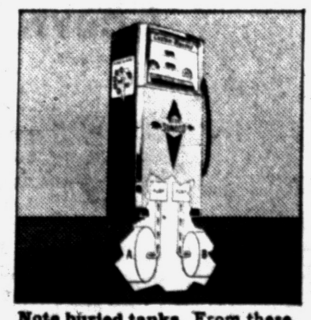
CUSTOM-BLENDED BLUE SUNOCO

Your Sunoco Dealer is the only man who has the fuels needed to fit all today's cars with the exact octane they need!

With 6 blends, you can be sure of getting an exact octane fit—a perfect performance fit. And, you'll never waste your money on octane your car can't use. And, each Sunoco blend will deliver instant acceleration, brisk passing power. You enjoy peak, premium performance with no harmful deposits—no spark plug fouling. That's Sunoco quality!

And, Custom-Blending is so easy! Just start with the blend recommended for your car by your Sunoco dealer. Next tankful, drop down to the next lower blend at the next lower price, and so on, until you find the blend that performs the best, yet costs the least!

Big power at "Regular" Price! Sunoco Custom Blend "200" means big new power for many "regular" users. It's proved higher octane than most "regular" buyers are getting anywhere else! It's higher quality . . . highest value!



Note buried tanks. From these, pump draws (A) premium quality Blue Sunoco "200", and (B) Sunoco Octane Concentrate (specially refined motor fuel). These are precisely blended by the pump to the exact blend number ordered! Approved by various governmental authorities.

Only Sunoco's 6 can fit all cars!

Big Ten Bowl Plans Hinge on Stanford

Tennis Duels in August

NEW YORK (AP) — The interzone Davis Cup tennis match between winners of the European and American tournaments will be played at the Germantown Cricket Club in Philadelphia Aug. 7-9.

★ ★ ★

The announcement was made today by W. Harsort Woods, chairman of the U. S. Davis Cup Committee.

Both the European and American Zones are still being contested. Australia, which has had a virtual monopoly on the trophy since 1950, is challenging in the American zone.

★ ★ ★

The winner of the Philadelphia match must play India, Eastern Zone winner, at the Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hill, Mass., Aug. 14-16. The challenge round is scheduled at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, Aug. 28-30.

The last Davis Cup match played at the Germantown Cricket Club was in 1955 when Australia defeated Italy in the interzone finals.

New Race Club Head

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Duke Nalon of Phoenix, Ariz., retired veteran driver of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and other American tracks, was elected president of the Champion 100-mile-an-Hour Club Wednesday night.

The club is exclusive for drivers who have finished in the annual 500-mile race without relief at over 100 miles an hour. Nalon qualified in 1948.

Switch Possible If Indians Join New Coast Loop

Conference Educators Rate Palo Alto School High Scholastically

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's Big Ten faculty representative said Wednesday the conference might reconsider its termination of the Rose Bowl football contract if Stanford joins the new Assn. of Western Universities.

"It would be remarkable," said Dr. Marcus L. Plant in an interview, "if there were a change. But if Stanford comes in, there could be.

"There was no indication at the recent Western Conference (Big Ten) meeting there would be a change of mind on anyone's part. And in fact, it appeared to the contrary."

Plant said there had been some discussion that the Air Force Academy, although last of the Rocky Mountains at Colorado Springs, might join the new association which is replacing the dissolving Pacific Coast Conference.

Big Ten educators generally have a high regard for Stanford scholastically.

California, Southern California, UCLA and Washington now make up the new sports league.

Last week, for the first time in 13 years, Big Ten representatives by a 5-5 vote refused to renew the Rose Bowl contract with the Pacific Coast Conference. But at the same time, by the same 5-5 vote, the Big Ten refused to strike out of its regulations a section permitting members to participate in post-season games.

This left the door open for possible Rose Bowl participation by individual Big Ten members. A Big Ten committee was named, however, to devise regulations for any participant, including how its share of the gate will be split with other members.

Michigan voted to renew the number of features in the charter of the new Athletic Assn. of Western Universities, particularly a section that incorporates admission standards all must follow.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

Two terrific round of golf, perhaps the best shot anywhere in the Oakland area so far this year were recorded on county links within the last week. One was a nine-hole total at Silver Lake and the other was an 18-hole round at Sylvan Glen.

Pontiac's Jim Hanes, a General Motors employe, fired a six-under-par 31 over the Silver Lake layout while playing in a weekly Elks league and Publinx golfer Veikko Juhola of Clawson required only 65 blows on the Sylvan Glen course.

Hanes missed a three-foot putt on the 9th green which would have enabled him to tie the course record of 30 set by former Silver Lake owner Bill Fleischauer. Jim was playing in a foursome comprised of 1955 city champion Ed Wasik, Jim Greenwood and Mike Kimport.

Jim says his best shot came on the 320-yard 7th hole when he pitched into the cup with a wedge for an Eagle deuce. He also posted an eagle three on the 450-yard 1st hole by canning a six-footer after a drive and No. 7 iron. Hanes birdied three and six and parred the rest. Wasik "dubbed" his way to a 36.

★ ★ ★

Juhola enjoyed his torrid round while playing for the Sylvan Glen team against River Bank in a Publinx League match. He was 35 on the front side and 30 coming home compared to Sylvan's par of 35-35—70. His scorecard on the back nine was dotted with half a dozen threes as Sylvan defeated River Bank, 15-7.

ACES WILD

Hole-in-one shooters are on the loose again. Three have been notched at county courses this week, two at Pontiac Country Club in a four-day span and the other at Silver Lake.

The latest ace was hit at PCC yesterday by Richard Scribner, the owner of Scrib's Bar who lives at 3648 Shaddick Road in Pontiac. Of even greater interest is the fact that Scribner nsed an adjustable club.

With his club set at 7-iron loft, Scribner aced the 135-yard 8th hole. Watching the proceedings were Felix Vitasinsky and Garth Mellick, both from Pontiac. Scribner took 46 strokes for the round.

Pontiac CC's other hole-in-one was scored by Earl Baker, 10156 Orange Lawn, Detroit. Baker sank his 7-iron shot on the 135-yard 2nd hole with his wife Irene and Pontiac's John Dawson looking on. It was Baker's first ace after 26 years of effort.

★ ★ ★

Ray Kasat of Pontiac fired Silver Lake's 3rd hole-in-one of the year by dropping his wedge shot into the cup on the 120-yard 8th hole. Mrs. Jean Looney and Ron Schrubba, both from this city, viewed the ace.

SHORT PUTTS

Mrs. Paul Castleberry won this week's competition in the Women's Silver Lake Golf League with a low net of 34, followed by Mrs. Layton Bury at 36. Mrs. Bury also took low putt honors with 13 while nine golfers tied for 1st place in the blind hole event with fours on No. 8.

Neil Mansfield of Pontiac had just completed nine holes at Pontiac CC the other day when he received an emergency call. Since his wife was expecting any day, Neil figured the time had come and he raced home.

A short time later he returned to play the back side with the information that the call was an "emergency sewer job." Neil, it seems, works for a sewer cleaning company.

★ ★ ★

The interruption really didn't bother him too much, however. It was his birthday and he celebrated by shooting the best nine-hole score of his career—a 38 to go with a 45.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's Lloyd Syron, 1957 Michigan Amateur golf champion, is expected to arrive home tomorrow after a six-month tour of duty with the Army at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Santelle Does It for CIO

2nd No-Hitter in Softball

Pitchers continue to steal most of the thunder in the City Softball League. The second no-hit no-run game of the season was hurled last night at Beaudette Park and two other moundsmen twirled shutouts.

Al Santelle gets credit for the no-hitter in the CIO's 5-0 victory over the Pontiac Merchants. Santelle fanned seven and walked four with no runner advancing past 2nd base.

Lynus Grant outpitched Chuck Long with a nifty four-hitter as the Elks nosed out Deni's & Herk's, 1-0. Grant won his own ball game with a run-scoring double in the 4th inning.

The other shutout was posted by Roh Hoffman of Drive-In Cleaners in a game halted at the end of six innings by the 10-run rule. Ken Titherage belted a two-run homer in the 5th as the Drive-In team trounced Rogers Electric, 10-0. Hoffman gave up five safeties.

★ ★ ★

Sport Shop pounded out 13 hits with five different players getting two apiece for a 9-2 rout of the Pontiac Retailers in yesterday's other game.

Tonight's schedule: At Beaudette—Stadium Inn vs. Lakeside Royals (American), 7 p.m., and Blue Star vs. Moose 182 (National), 8:30 p.m. At Northside—Wright's Upholstery vs. Big Bear (National), 7 p.m. and Langdon's Boat Livery vs. State Hospital (International), 8:30 p.m.

New Yank Hurler Terry Given Rabbit for Luck

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Terry, young right-hander acquired from Kansas City, will have something more than a rabbit's foot going for him when he pitches tonight for the New York Yankees. He'll have a whole rabbit.

★ ★ ★

"The way we're going...you know you're with a tail-end club now...you'll need some luck," Casey Stengel said when Terry reported yesterday and was told he would pitch against Baltimore tonight.

★ ★ ★

The ol' professor, never at a loss for a bit of comedy or drama, stepped over to his locker and pulled out a stuffed white rabbit. He handed it to Terry with the remark: "Maybe this will help."

★ ★ ★

Casey said "Somebody sent it to me. Thought it might do some good."

Lumber Squad 7-6 Winner Over Grill

Talbott Lumber held on for a 7-6 victory over Griff's Grill yesterday in a Class B City League baseball game at Jaycee Park. The winners were outhit, 6 to 3.

The Grill nine staged a three-run uprising in the 6th inning to pull within one run and then left two runners stranded in the 7th. Marv Holler was the winning hurler, although giving way to Bob Pickett in the 7th. Jerry Pointer hurled the route in defeat.

Flanigan Seeks Catholic Honors

Shamrock in 2 Dash Finals Today: Eaglets 6th in Team Points

St. Michael and Orchard Lake St. Mary were hoping for some individual champions today with team honors virtually out of reach as the annual Parochial track meet concluded at University of Detroit.

Bill Flanigan carried the Shamrock colors in the 100 and 220 finals while St. Mary had Walt Rusewicz in the high hurdles and Bill Kroll in the lows.

Flanigan had the best qualifying time in the 220 yesterday with 22.7. He ran the 100 in 10.4.

The Eaglets took four points in Thursday's field events to tie for 6th. St. Mike was among several in the 24-school field that failed to score going into today's action. DeLaSalle heads the pack with 13½ points followed by Holy Redeemer's 10.

Frank Prelewicz gained a tie for 2nd in the pole vault reaching 10 feet, 6 inches to pace OLSM. Larry Sisson by gaining a tie for 5th in the high jump at five feet, 9 inches.

Bill Chmielewski, Redeemer's 6-9 cage ace, broke the high jump record, won the shot put and qualified in both hurdles. His jump of six feet, 1⅝ inches broke a mark set by Dan Dropps of St. Mike in 1956. Angelo Matera of DeLaSalle set a broad jump record reaching 21 feet, 11 inches.

Area Driver Hurt in Harness Race

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Tommy Winn, 56-year-old harness racing driver from Farmington, Mich., suffered a compound fracture of the left collar bone and left leg below the knee Wednesday night when he became involved in a three-horse collision at Yonkers Raceway.

The accident occurred during the third race, when Little Rocky, driven by Joe O'Brien, stepped into the wheel of Be Cheerful, reined by Lester Pullen.

Winn's trotter, Virginia D. Al, ran into Little Rocky, catapulting Winn onto the guard railing and then into the infield.

'Olympic Fever' Grips Excited Tokyo

Already Prices Start Booming for '64 Games

'Olympic Cocktails' Debut Just 1 Day After City Is Chosen

TOKYO (UPI) — The "Olympic fever" gripped Tokyo today. "Olympic fever," let it be noted, resembles spring fever in a more cockeyed and virulent form.

Temperatures began rising Tuesday night when the news was flashed here that the International Olympic Committee had voted in Munich to give Tokyo the 1964 Olympic games.

By Wednesday morning, it was a full sized epidemic.

Though the games are five years away, bars began advertising "Olympic cocktails"—made of five ingredients representing the Olympic rings and as fiery as the Olympic torch.

Excited property owners in the neighborhood of the two major sports complexes scheduled for the games began demanding three times the going price for their land.

In one night, four different parties approached an American newsman whose home is backed up against what would be the main Olympic Stadium in the Meiji Shrine Gardens with terms for the right to build a hotel on his property.

Bus companies began fighting for the concession to ferry athletes and officials between their Olympic Village in Camp Drake and the games sites.

Food caterers were locked in similar struggle for the restaurant rights in the Olympic Village and the stadiums.

Stocks on the Tokyo stock exchange soared to a new record high. Everyone had expected the news but investors acted as if it didn't make any difference.

Shares of the Japan road construction company which could be expected to build most if not all of the five high-speed freeways planned for the Olympics shot up 45 points in one day to 390 yen.

3 Redleg Roundtrippers Send Robin to 4th Defeat

Homers Knock Out Roberts

By The Associated Press

After the opening game this looked like it might be the year Robin Roberts completed his comeback. But now it's already a long, long season for Philadelphia's right-handed veteran.

Roberts was The Associated Press Comeback - of - the - Year choice in the National League last season when he won 17 games for the last place Phillies. When he beat Cincinnati's Don Newcombe 2-1 opening day after a five-inning no-hit duel, there were thoughts of the old Roberts, who had been a 20-game winner for six consecutive seasons before becoming the NL's biggest loser in 1956 and 1957.

Now he's 2-4, clobbered once more by the home run ball as he lost his third in a row last night at Cincinnati 10-4. The club he had held hitless for five innings on opening day chased him within four innings with eight hits, three of them homers, and six runs.

That victory hoisted the Reds into a fifth place tie with the Chicago Cubs, beaten 4-1 at Los Angeles. First place Milwaukee retained a three-game lead by beating Pittsburgh 4-3 after San Francisco's second place Giants peppered St. Louis 9-4 in an afternoon game.

Vada Pinson, Frank Robinson and Ed Bailey hit the homers off Roberts, Robinson added another, his 11th, off reliever Fernando Rodriguez as the Reds collected 14 hits off four Phil pitchers.

Bob Purkey, who had lost three straight, was the winner for a 5-5 record although giving up 10 hits, three by Willie Jones, who drove in three of the Phils' four runs.

★ ★ ★

The Pirates, blanked over 13 innings as Harvey Haddix lost that heart-breaker to the Braves Tuesday night, finally ended their shut out slump at 21 innings with three unearned runs off winner Warren Spahn with two out in the ninth. Those also were Pittsburgh's first runs in 25 innings against Spahn (6-5) since last September 7.

Reliever Don McMahon came on for the final out, fanning Dick Schofield, in Spahn's 252nd victory. Ed Mathews 15th homer gave the Braves a 3-0 lead in the fifth against loser Vern Law (4-2). But they didn't get the clincher until the sixth when Wes Covington and Johnny Logan, who split six of Milwaukee's nine hits, doubled and singled.

★ ★ ★

A pinch-single by Duke Snider, the Dodgers' one-time power guy who is 5-for-10 as a pinch-hitter scored the winner for Los Angeles in a two-run fourth against loser Glen Hobbie (5-4). Don Drysdale (5-4) won it with an 11-strikeout five-hitter, losing a shutout when Ernie Banks hit his 11th home run in the sixth. It was Drysdale's first complete game against the Cubs in almost two years and lifted the Dodgers to third.

★ ★ ★

Orlando Cepeda, Willie Mays and Andre Rodgers homered for the Giants as Johnny Antonelli won his sixth with Al Worthington's two-hit, shutout relief over the last four innings. Stan Musial and Lee Tate homered for the Cards, who now have lost six in a row to Antonelli, three this year. Gary Blaylock (2-2) lost it.

Don, Laverne Carter Win Champs' Titles

NEW YORK (AP) — There are two champions in the Carter family today.

Known as Mr. and Mrs. Bowling, Don and Laverne Carter won the Bowling world's champions tournament at Madison Square Garden last night just minutes apart.

While Don was defeating fellow St. Louisian Ray Bluth, the Masters champion, 8.77 to 7.38 points in the BPA scoring system which allows 10 per cent for a victory, his wife was duplicating over Mary Louise Young of Houston on Mrs. Carter's margin was 3.74 to 3.24 for two games. The men bowled four games.

CHIP AWARD — Walter Beach III, junior from Pontiac, receives the Weidman Memorial Award from Central Michigan College president Charles Anspach. The trophy represents top achievement in football for the 1958 season at the school.

Bob Cousy of the Celts and Dolph Schayes of the Nats have been selected to play in nine of the NBA's All Star games, a record equalled by no other pro league players.

New Solid Fuel Bomarc Makes First Test Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP) — The Air Force's new super Bomarc interceptor missile made its maiden flight Wednesday, trailing a plume of smoke as it sped down the Atlantic missile range.

★ ★ ★

The new Bomarc—model B—made an apparent smooth takeoff as it rose vertically over the cape, then veered down range.

The Air Force said the flight was designed for initial testing of the missile's flight and aerodynamic characteristics as well as the new solid-fuel rocket booster.

At about the same time the Bomarc was launched, the Air Force announced that a Snark guided missile fired 10 hours earlier had been turned around on a scheduled intercontinental range flight and impacted in waters off the cape.

★ ★ ★

No reason was given for the change in plans, but a slight malfunction could have been responsible for the action. This was to be a final tuneup for the Snark before assignment to troops.

NOT TARGET SHOT

The advanced model of the Bomarc was not scheduled to be fired at its full range of more than 400 miles, nor was it aimed at a target. There was no announcement on how the missile performed.

The main difference between the model B and the earlier model A Bomarcs is that the new weapon has a solid propellant rocket. The model A, which has a range of some 250 miles, is propelled by a liquid fuel booster. It has successfully intercepted a variety of speedy targets in more than 50 launchings from the test center.

The two Ramjet engines of the new Bomarc have been reported tested up to 100,000-foot altitude. The missile is considerably faster than the earlier model, which zips through the air at 2½ times the speed of sound. The two missiles look essentially the same externally, with each being about 47 feet long.

HITS MISSILES, TOO

The model B has an improved target seeker which enables it to track down and destroy other air breathing missiles as well as planes.

The regular Bomarc will go through tests at a new launching base on Santa Rosa Island off Florida's Gulf oast before it becomes operational. Fourteen Bomarc bases have been announced for the U.S. and two for Canada.

Charges Dems Pressure FCC

Michigan Congressman Says Influence Probers' Action 'Unwarranted'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The top Republican member of a House influence investigating subcommittee has accused Democrats of bringing "unwarranted pressure" on the Federal Communications Commission.

★ ★ ★

Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich) made the charge yesterday in disclosing that the subcommittee had questioned the right of Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers to file a brief with the FCC in a case involving equal radio-TV time for political candidates.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) told a reporter Bennett was "completely in error.". He said, "All we're trying to do is find out whether the FCC has a regulation that permits the attorney general to intercede in a case like this."

Harris added the subcommittee Republicans took the position that the group's action "was politically inspired." But, he said, "We emphatically disagree" with this.

★ ★ ★

The subcommittee is the one whose investigations of the FCC and other federal regulatory agencies led to the resignations last year of White House Aide Sherman Adams and the FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack.

Bennett charged the Democrats had exerted "outside influence" on the federal regulatory agency—"the very thing the committee was set up to prevent."

By "injecting itself" into the pending case, he said, the committee had interferred with the independent agency's judicial processes.

Prayer Time Set by Ike for Saturday

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower has designated Memorial Day, Saturday, Ma 30, as a day of prayer for permanent peace on earth.

★ ★ ★

In a proclamation, the President said:

"Since we must seek to know, to accept, and to accomplish the will of almighty God, and since we believe it to be His will that peace on earth shall some day prevail, it is fitting that we pray for divine help in building a world in which the families of men may prosper together in justice and in honor."

Eisenhower designated the morning hour beginning in each locality at 11 o'clock as the time to unite in prayer.

"I call upon the newspapers, radio, television and other media of information to assist in this observance," the President said.

"And I urge the people of the United States to join with one another in asking our Creator to bestow His benediction upon our fallen heroes and in beseeching Him to give us the strength with what we have come to think we know—and in the right God gives us to see."

School Girl Dies as Wall Topples

Crushed Under Hail of Bricks, Killed Instantly While Father Watches

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—A heavy brick wall at McReynolds Junior High School crashed to the ground yesterday just as students were entering for classes, killing a 13-year-old girl.

Principal Charles E. Joe said the 10-foot-long, seven-foot-high wall toppled suddenly as students were preparing to enter the building. The girl, Gloria Rivera, 13, was pinned under the wall and killed instantly.

The Rivera girl's father, Joe Rivera Sr., was standing 20 feet away and watched as the wall crashed down on his daughter. Witnesses said Rivera was so paralyzed with fear that he couldn't move to help the girl.

Rivera had just driven his daughter to the school and let her out in the driveway. Another girl talking to Gloria fled to safety as the wall toppled over.

Poe said he had "no idea" what caused the wall to collapse. It was reported that students often played on it.

Dogs More Like People: Even Race Stork 'n Cabs

PASSAIC, N.J. (UP)— Dogs are getting to be more and more like people. Take "Lady," blonde chihuahua, for example.

She was riding in a taxicab with her mistress, Mrs. William Vrabel ofClifton, to a maternity hospital today when she gave birth to a male puppy. Two more male puppies were born to "Lady" at the animal hospital. "Lady" and sons are doing well.

Spineless Males Choose to Sizzle in Heat

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Summer is a-sizzlin' in, and as usual it is the idiotic male who will melt.

With his starched collar clutching the heat to his throat, and his long trousers collecting humidity at his knees, and his long-sleeved shirts adding perspiration to his pulse, the American gentleman will again play the sucker for the sake of conformity.

I sympathize with his condition, but am annually appalled at his spinelessness! Or his fear of individuality. Or his stubbornness.

Or is it merely vanity?

While women gradually raise their hemlines, lower their decollete, shed their girdles and bare their arms in the face of increasing heat and humidity, men continue to talk about injustice and do nothing about it.

Fashion-makers through the years have offered them "outs"—walking shorts to put their knees out in the open, loose cardigan jackets to air-condition their chests, open mesh shoes to alleviate the conformist's hot foot.

MISS CHANCES

Do men accept these first aids for dog days? Naaa. They care about what people think, and the first snigger out of a woman (women will snigger, all right) makes them relegate their walking shorts to the back yard or the basement.

★ ★ ★

Men traditionally razz the ladies for going along with the fashion "dictates" of Paris and New York designers, but women go along with dictums only as long as it pleases their sensitive dispositions: Let a Balenciaga introduce a summer dress with a turtle neck, tight skirt and long sleeves, and watch them boycott.

"American women are fashion conscious like a fox," a Seventh avenue dress man told me. "In the summer, they shed. You can't sell them glamor at the expense of comfort."

What men need, individually, is spunk against sunstroke.

What they need, collectively, is another Beau Brummel.

Brummel has been misrepresented as a dandy. True, he spent nine hours a day in preparation of his toilet, and sent his laundry to France. But actually he is the man responsible for ripping off the powdered wigs, brocade coats, lace collars and satin breeches men wore at the beginning of the 18th Century—and established the blue serge suit.

Unfortunately, Mr. Brummel did not live long enough to strip down to the ideal summer clothes men long for but are too socially insecure to wear.

Ladies, how many "gentlemen" do you know?

Here are the latest requirements for a real gent, as set down by Emily Post in the latest "Code of a Gentleman":

A gentleman does not, and a man who aspires to be one must not, borrow money from a friend.

A well bred man intensely dislikes the mention of money and never speaks of it (out of business hours) if he can avoid it.

A gentleman never discusses his family affairs either in public or with acquaintances, nor does he speak more than casually about his wife.

Nor does a gentleman ever show awareness of the bad behavior of his wife, even though it be scandalous.

A gentleman does not show a letter written by a lady.

A gentleman never boasts about his friends or connections. When a so-called gentleman insists on imparting information that is of interest only to the social register, shun him.

A man of breeding does not slap strangers on the back nor even so much as lay his fingertips on a lady.

. . . That about let out everybody?

Strange Nicknames Crop up

Solve Family Problem

CHICOUTIMI, Quebec (UP) — About a fourth of the 60,000 people in the Saguenay River region have the family name Tremblay. Most of them also bear saints' names — Jean, Joseph, Pierre, Paul, etc.

A strange assortment of nicknames has grown up so the Tremblays can tell each other apart.

Many persons have taken distinguished labels from ancestors, old Roman names, biblical names, and old French-Canadian words that had fallen into disuse.

Smallpox decimated the population of a town two centuries ago. In one Tremblay family the lone small boy who survived became known to his adopted family as "Le Picote" — the pitted one. The name has survived.

The name "Petemben" came from a way of speaking. One Tremblay spoke rapidly, almost incoherently, his words a jumble of sound. He liked to say "vous savez bien"—you know well. To many of his listeners it sounded like "Petemben," and "Petemben" he became.

★ ★ ★

Some of the Roman names in use, both as given and nicknames, include Mathias, Janvier, Gabelus. Military nicknames include Capitaine and Major. Biblical names commonly used are Solomon and Jean-Baptiste.

★ ★ ★

The Tremblays have corrupted a number of standard names. Camille became Cami; Benjamin, Begin; Abroise, Boise; Jacques-Marc, Jacoma; Florent, Fleurine; and Michel, Micho.

★ ★ ★

A Tremblay who operated a ferry across the Gouffre River was tagged Canotte. The name has since evolved to "Canette."

Lloyd Is Bridge Ace in Big 3 Flight Match

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd won an informal Western Big Three bridge game aboard the plane which flew the foreign ministers from Geneva.

Lloyd played with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and U. S. assistant secretaries of state Livingston Merchant and Andrew H. Berding.

★ ★ ★

Berding reported that Lloyd emerged top man after six rubbers.

General Business Pace Quickening

Industry Is Unnerved by Steel Threat

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Further quickening of the business pace is reported today. At the same time industry is getting more nervous as the economy heads toward a slowdown on a steel strike.

The construction picture gets brighter by the day. But buildings, highways and bridges need lots of steel.

Auto sales figures are climbing well above those of last spring. Car makers use lots of steel. (They've been stocking up as much as they can as a hedge against a possible strike in the steel mills.)

Retail trade is running well ahead of last year. But merchants depend on their customers having spending money. A big strike would cut off not only the pay of steel workers but could cause a slowdown in such allied industries as coal and the railroads.

COULD IDLE MANY

A long strike could idle workers in many factories where steel is an indispensible material.

The stalemate in the steel wage talks, therefore, isn't taken lightly by either management or workers in many other fields. Beyond its economic consequences, many in both management and labor look upon the steel talks as a trend-setter in the fight to stave off further general price inflation.

But outside of that the general picture is in happy focus.

Just how bright the construction outlook is can be seen in figures and estimates issued by official and private observers.

F. W. Dodge Corp., construction industry analysts, reports that in April, contracts for future building rose to a record for any month, after seasonal adjustment. For the first four months they are 22 per cent higher than in 1958.

Economists in the Labor and Commerce Departments say the preliminary May figures show a further rise.

ENLARGE HOME PLANS

Confident residential builders are enlarging their plans for construction in coming months, according to the National Assn. of Home Builders. F. W. Dodge says that in April, contracts for building dwelling units were up 44 per cent over the previous year.

Fears that a tightening money market may choke off the home building boom are partially allayed by the U. S. Savings and Loan League.

Its president, Norman Strunk of Chicago, thinks mortgage interest rates will grow gradually firmer this year, but that rising personal incomes will continue to mean a high level of home building, active real estate markets and a good demand for home loans.

★ ★ ★

His members will have more money to lend on such mortgages, Strunk predicts. He reports that in spite of the increase in consumer spending, personal savings continue at a high level.

In the first four months of the year a 9 per cent increase in savings after withdrawals was reported by the associations in tthe league.

Even the laggard in the construction industry — the building of new plants or the enlarging of old ones — is beginning to pick up.

★ ★ ★

The Commerce Department notes that the business recovery has spread far beyond the construction field. National output of goods and services set a record in the first three months of the year. The department predicts it's bettering that mark in the current quarter.

Work to Start Next Year

St. Clair River Will Get New Shipping Channel

DETROIT (UPI) — The U. S. Corps of Engineers states work on a new six-mile shipping channel in the St. Clair River flats is expected to start early next year.

★ ★ ★

The 700-foot wide channel will be cut through island marshland which the Canadian government purchased recently from the Walpole Indians.

It will eliminate the present southeast bend channel between St. Clair River and Lake St. Clair. That channel has an S-curve which is considered both hazardous and time consuming.

★ ★ ★

The U. S. will pay an estimated $8 million to dredge the new straight channel which will accommodate two-way ship traffic.

Under terms of an agreement between the U. S. and Canada, the Canadian government will maintain the channel once it is opened. The entire length of the channel is in Canadian waters.

★ ★ ★

The Corps of Engineers said it plans to advertise for bids this fall for hydraulic dredging of the channel.

★ ★ ★

The project will require moving of approximately 23,000,000 cubic feet of soft clay and sand.

As part of the St. Lawrence Seaway connecting channels, the depth of the new channel will be 27 feet.

Sen. Symington Barnstorming

Starts Six-Day Swing Around California but Denies He's Candidate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), who denies he is a candidate for president although he looks like one, today starts a six-day political tour of California.

★ ★ ★

Arriving from the nation's capital Wednesday, he told airport newsmen he had read a Life magazine article that said Former President Harry S. Truman and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) had decided the best Democratic nominee would be either Symington or Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex).

"I read the article," he said. "But I don't care to comment on it. I'm not a candidate," he added.

★ ★ ★

Both Truman and Rayburn denied they had reached a joint opinion on which man would make the best candidate.

Symington speaks today at a Democratic party gathering in San Francisco and then goes to Sacramento to talk with Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

★ ★ ★

Among the places Symington will visit in California is Vandenberg Air Force Base. Symington, former Air Force secretary, said the United States should worry more about possible Soviet economic warfare than about a missile attack.

★ ★ ★

Symington is to address the Legislature at Sacramento Friday and then return to San Francisco for a commonwealth club luncheon. He leaves for Los Angeles Saturday.

Market Spotty in Slow Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly higher in comparatively slow early trading today.

Key stocks were up from fractions to about a point. Most changes were narrow. A number of stocks were unchanged or slightly lower.

A few issues showed strength. Motorola added another 5 points or so. Celanese, yesterday's most active stock on word of its 1-for-4 stock distribution, was briskly traded and up a fraction. International Business Machines added another 3 points as it continued its recent upsurge.

Highly-volatile Zenith spurted 5 points then clipped about 2 points from the rise. Other electronics, including Raytheon and Radio Corp. rose fractionally.

Bethlehem rose about a point in fairly active trading in a mixed steel group. U.S. Steel dropped a fraction

★ ★ ★

Allied Chemical was up more than a point and Du Pont about a point.

Chrysler edged ahead fractionally while other motor stocks showed little change. Texaco was off a fraction. Other leading oils were about unchanged.

Kennecott, Caterpillar, American Telephone and American Can took small losses.

Many Tariffs End in Britain

17 Categories of U. S. Products Can Enter Country Free

LONDON (AP) — Britain today swept away import controls on a wide range of dollar products. For the first time in 20 years the British are free to "Buy American."

An announcement from the treasury said 17 different categories of American goods now will be free from import control effective June 8.

★ ★ ★

They range from canned foods through radio sets, shoes to ships, and airplane engines.

Additionally, American manufacturers will, for the first time, get a share in the global quotas which the British impose on 14 types of imports ranging from sports goods to watches.

Five other categories of American products remain on import quota but the quotas are increased. They are motor vehicles, dried fruit, fresh citrus, canned pineapples, and some other types of canned fruit.

★ ★ ★

"The effect of these measures will be a further substantial reduction in discrimination in the operation of our import controls against Canada, the United States and the rest of the dollar area," a Board of Trade announcement sid.

Last September, the British dropped all controls on dollar imports of machinery, newsprint and canned salmon. In December they made the pound sterling a convertible currency for foreign holders.

★ ★ ★

The British clearly hope these moves will be a powerful argument for the American administration to relax tariffs or at least to oppose tariff increases.

The states spent nearly 11 billion dollars on their public elementary and secondary schools in the 1956 school year, when the latest computation was made.

Teamsters Seek to Quash Subpoenas

DETROIT (AP)—The Teamsters Union filed suit in U.S. District Court yesterday to quash subpoenas which would force the union to turn its records over to the Senate Labor Rackets Committee.

★ ★ ★

The suit, filed before Judge Arthur F. Lederle, contends that the subpoenas are unconstitutional in that they violate federal laws governing unlawful search and seizure.

★ ★ ★

The Senate committee is seeking records dating from Jan. 1, 1958.

Teamsters attorney George S. Fitzgerald said union business would be brought to a standstill if the records were subpoenaed.

Harvest Delays Steady Wheat

CHICAGO (AP)—Reports of harvest delays and spreading plant disease steadied wheat futures prices today in early dealing on the Board of Trade but other grains and soybeans weakened.

★ ★ ★

Advices from the Southwest said that rains had kept combines out of winter wheat fields now ready for harvest and that plant disease in some parts of Kansas was reported as high as 50 per cent in fields that had been examined during the past few days.

Increased cash corn receipts and reports of more liberal country selling caused more liquidation of that grain. Soybeans also were under selling pressure.

★ ★ ★

Wheat was unchanged to ¼ cent a bushel lower near the end of the first hour, July $1.84⅝; corn ⅝ to ⅞ lower, July $1.24⅝; oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, July 62⅜; rye unchanged to 1 cent lower, July $1.21⅝; soybeans ¼ to ⅝ lower, July $2.27¼.

Political Tone Rankles

GOP Raps Ad Board Note

LANSING (AP) — Words chosen by the Democratic-controlled State Administrative Board to urge quick passage of the veterans trust fund bill roiled Republican senators.

Their reaction yesterday in turn touched off a flurry of Democratic senatorial oratory, with recriminations over the cash crisis-tax stalemate flowing freely on both sides.

An ad board resolution Tuesday releasing State Treasury funds for Michigan State University and the University of Michigan attributed GOP inaction on the trust fund bill to "purely ulterior reasons."

When it was read yesterday by senate secretary Fred I. Chase, Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) demanded that the journal (printed Senate record) show senators took exception to the language.

Sen. Lynn O. Francis of Midland, GOP floor leader, called it "disrespectful," and Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) said it was "childish."

In reply, Sen. Harold M. Ryan of Detroit, Democratic minority leader, accused the Republican majority of "using muscle" in conditioning the bill's passage to Democratic acceptance of a GOP use tax increase as a basis for solving the state's long run revenue problem. He said the GOP was trying to "blackjack" Democrats.

Sen. Charles O. Blondy (D-Detroit) told the Republicans "you have laid the biggest egg in the history of Michigan."

Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Drayton Plains) said the Democratic administrators neglected economy measures ordered by the 1958 Republican legislature else Michigan wouldn't be in such a financial pickle.

★ ★ ★

He said $333,333 a day was being lost to the State Treasury by Democratic stalling on the use tax increase.

Sen. John O. Smeekens (R-Coldwater) chimed in that "there is no financial crisis in Michigan" and it's all a "political hoax."

After 35 minutes of such talk, Republicans pushed through a motion to again postpone action on the trust fund bill until next Wednesday.

The bill would allow immediate sale of trust fund bonds for an estimated 42 million dollars in emergency State Treasury relief.

'Talks Have Got Nowhere'

Steel Union Head Assails 'Bad Faith' Bargaining

WASHINGTON (AP) — David J. McDonald, president of the Steelworkers Union, today accused the steel industry of bad faith bargaining and said contract talks so far have gotten nowhere.

McDonald said his union wants to avoid a July 1 industry strike and added "There is no reason for a strike to take place if reason and moderation prevail in genuine collective bargaining."

Contending that steelmakers want to keep record-setting 1959 profits for themselves without giving industry workers a share, the union chief said:

"Management still clings to the 'trickle down' philosophy where the major share of earnings and dividends repose in the hands of the few while a figurative bone is thrown to the mass of the people."

McDonald released in advance copies of an address prepared for a National Press Club luncheon. The same group last week heard the industry side of the current steel negotiations from Chairman Roger Blough of U.S. Steel Corp. Blough charged the union was seeking to spur a new round of inflation.

"The steel industry's cry of inflation is phony," McDonald said. "The industry is guilty of using a legitimate problem in an illegitimate manner.

"Certainly the steelworker, along with wage and salary earners as a whole, has increased his purchasing power in postwar years. But not at the expense of 'others,' as the industry charges. And not in the fantastic proportions of top management with its stock options."

McDonald said that if steelworkers are denied a pay boost, "the precedent of standing still will be reflected in the pay envelopes of virtually every major group of wage and salary workers in the nation."

The union leader said the initial three weeks of steel contract talks in New York "have gotten nowhere." Little more than four weeks remain before present contracts expire on June 30.

"There has been an absolute refusal by the companies to bargain in good faith." McDonald said. "Industry thus far has merely gone through the motions of collective bargaining."

McDonald said the U.S. Steel Corp. profits the first quarter of this year were so high it could have cut prices $18 a ton and still earned a net profit after taxes equal to an annual rate of return of 6.8 per cent on net worth. He said that ought to be a satisfactory return "on almost any sort of investment short of outright usury."

"Mind you," he said, "since World War II there have been 23 steel price increases against 12 wage gains. For every dollar of wage cost steel has upped its price ante by three dollars per ton."

McDonald said "The mighty steel industry is running like an elephant from a mouse" in its expressed fears about foreign competition. He said "Introducing competition into this non-competitive industry might be a constructive thing." He said American steel for 50 years has been unchallenged in world markets.

Seamless Tube Wants Hike in Stock Shares

Directors of Michigan Seamless Tube Co. of South Lyon proposed an increase in authorized common shares to 1,000,000 shares from 400,000 and a one-for-one stock distribution. Share holders will meet June 15 to vote on the proposals. About 100,000 of the new shares would be offered publicly through underwriters, with the proceeds to go to expansion, an officer said.

The firm plans to increase capacity at its Rosenberg, Texas tube plant. Sales and net profit in the first half ended April 30 were up sharply from the year before.

Sales were more thon $10 million in the six months, against $5.7 million last year, and net climbed to $936,842, or $3.15 a share in the year-ago period.

'Journey to Love' Serial Takes Reader to Hawaii

"Doc Hency's coming," Mrs. Jensen repeated. "There's nothing anyone can do till he gets here. You two go ahead with the chores and I'll have breakfast ready when you come in. Here's your coffee, Kathie. Now you drink it."

Obediently Kathie sipped the hot coffee. A silence fell over them. Presently, without breaking it, Kathie and Buck picked up the clean milk buckets Mrs. Jensen had set out and went out the kitchen door.

As she milked, Kathie could look out the barn door. It had been a square of black velvet when she first sat down, but as her eyes became accustomed to the light, she could make out the sweeping lines of the valley, nestled between rows of rolling hills spattered with dark blobs that were clumps of live oak.

Buck came presently to empty her buckets of milk into the big milk can which would soon wheel down to the gate where it would await the creamery truck.

Kathie went on to milk the little heifer who gave them milk for the house, and Buck fed the pigs and chickens. Then, together, they turned the horses into the upper pasture.

They were above the house now, and the scent of eucalyptus was strong and biting in their nostrils.

"Let's walk up to the grove," Buck suggested.

She looked anxiously back at the house. "I don't know if we should—"

"Later on, there's going to be too many people around for us to talk," he said.

Kathie shivered. "It isn't right to speak as if he'd already died, Buck," she protested.

"It's only right to face the facts," he countered.

Neither of them spoke for a few minutes. They entered the eucalyptus grove and the heady fragrance was all around them. Turning to look back, Kathie saw they had climbed high enough to see the first rays of the sun.

Finally, Buck spoke. "When are we going to get married, Kathie?" he said.

She tried to evade him. "I don't know—"

"How about next Sunday?"

She started violently. "Buck, you can't be serious?"

"I am, though." His heavy-browed face was very serious.

"But Uncle Job—"

"We may as well face it, Kathie. By next Sunday, your uncle will be gone. There isn't much doubt about it, is there?"

Kathie shook her head, her throat feeling miserably thick.

Trapped Convict Gives Self Up

Surrenders to Posse Near Pittsburgh After Killing Sheriff

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An escaped convict, sought in an all-night manhunt for the slaying of a sheriff, stumbled from his hiding place in a wooded section at dawn today and meekly surrendered to police.

Gray - haired 50-year-old John Butler was still wearing the handcuffs with which he was manacled when he broke from a moving police car Wednesday afternoon after the shooting of Sheriff James R. Lauer, 52, of Northumberland County, Pa.

★ ★ ★

Wearing a muddy, white T-shirt and soaking wet blue trousers, Butler stumbled out of a foggy, wooded area just as a posse of about 150 policemen prepared to flush him out.

★ ★ ★

When Butler emerged from his hiding place with his arms held up in surrender, scores of policemen and newspaper photographers and reporters rushed down the hillside and converged on him. He remained silent.

Later, however, when a policeman asked Butler if he knew what he did, the convict replied, "Well, I guess he's dead."

Butler also said he was sorry for what he did, police said. He protested that he had not meant to kill and called the sheriff "a friend of mine."

★ ★ ★

He was taken to a spot where he hid for nearly 14 hours, a heavily wooded area located in a marshy area at the foot of a slope, and later to the Allegheny County jail here.

He didn't have the death weapon with him and police were unable to ascertain what he did with it.

He was captured about 200 yards from where the shooting occurred just north of Pittsburgh.

★ ★ ★

The manhunt was one of the most extensive in the city's history.

Lauer was killed while scuffling with Butler for the sheriff's .38 caliber revolver in the back seat of the police car. The sheriff died of a wound in the abdomen.

Any Flower OK: Our Peat Moss Tops — Sen. Hart

WASHINGTON (AP) — The campaign of Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) to bury the national flower—whatever it may turn out to be—in Michigan peat moss is getting inconclusive results.

Hart entered the controversy over choosing a national floral emblem last week with the suggestion that any flower was okay with him as long as Michigan-produced peat moss contributed to its growth.

He distributed bags of the product to his 97 senatorial colleagues, many of whom champion such floral candidates as the corn tassel, mountain laurel, carnation, marigold and rose.

About 50 thank-you letters have come back, ranging in content from notes of appreciation to a counterclaim for a competing variety of peat moss.

Sale of Nantucket Island Required 2 Beaver Hats

NANTUCKET, Mass. (UPI) — Nantucket Island, 30 miles off the Massachusetts coast, is celebrating its 300th birthday this year.

In 1659, the island was sold by Thomas Mayhew to 11 Massachusetts men eager to leave a life of intolerance. The price was "30 pounds of current money and two beaver hats, one for me and one for my wife."

The number of shares traded on the New York Stock Exchange last year was 747,058,306, largest since 1930, when 810,626,276 shares changed hands.

WE WISH TO THANK ALL THE neighbors and friends in Drayton Plains, Pontiac and Clarkston for the beautiful flowers and for the expression of sympathy in our recent bereavement. The Clyde Munn Family.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear son Donald Gotz, who passed away 3 years ago May 28th, 1956. Till memory fades and life departs.
You live forever in our hearts.
Sadly missed by Mother & Dad, Bob & family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR husband and father, Alfred Roy McMillan, who passed away May 28, 1945.
We mourn for him in silence,
No eyes can see us weep;
But many a silent tear is shed,
While others are asleep.
—Sadly missed by Wife and Children.

LESSON NO. 4

Check the mileage and ask for the record of ownership of the car. Some cars have "been around" in more ways than one. These types are known as taxis, "growl cars," or "has bents." Business cars have a habit of retiring early in life. You won't find any of these burned out beauties when you shop at OLIVER MOTOR SALES.

KING-SIZE PROP — What appears to be a giant four-leaf clover is in reality a 55,000-pound ship propellor being removed from mould after casting at San Francisco.

Actress' Ex-Hubby Needn't Pay Yet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Madge Meredith's ex-husband won't have to pay child support until his daughter returns from Europe and is available for visits.

Dr. Charles Corley testified Wednesday that Miss Meredith took the couple's child, Christina, 4, to Europe in defiance of a court order not to remove her from California. He asked for custody and discontinuance of $35 weekly support payments.

A court commissioner granted discontinuance of the payments pending the child's return. But a hearing on the custody matter was deferred until Miss Meredith is within the court's jurisdiction. A spokesman for Miss Meredith said the actress reportedly is doing a movie in Rome.

She and Corley were married in 1953 and divorced last year.

The actress and three men were convicted in 1947 of the kidnap-assault of her former business manager, Nick Gianaclis, and his bodyguardy. She was sentenced to 5 years to life but was released after two years in prison by then Gov. Earl Warren, who commuted her sentence "in the interest of justice." Miss Meredith steadfastly maintained her innocence.

Dispute Perils Philharmonic's European Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — A dispute between musicians and management threatens the New York Philharmonic's scheduled tour of Western Europe and the Soviet Union this summer.

A committee of orchestra members has advised Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians that stipulations for the tour are unsatisfactory.

The management is to be officially notified by the union next Monday that the orchestra members feel they cannot accept the terms.

The State Department chose th group last February to make the goodwill tour. Many members of the New York Philharmonic—conducted by Leonard Bernstein — complain that the planned tour from Aug. 3 through Oct. 12 has not been properly organized.

They contend they would have to play too many concerts in too short a time—six concerts in six days in Moscow, for instance.

Also, they say, the daily allowance of $14 is not enough to cover adequate living expenses. They are demanding an allowance of $20 a day, a guarantee of first-class accommodations, fewer concerts and less traveling.

TV Girl Snoops on Date Bureaus

Pretty Blonde Poses as Wealthy Widow; See Result Next Week

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Any men who recently had a date in New York with an attractive blonde calling herself Connie E. Longshore, a wealthy Chicago widow, are in for a shock if they'll sit close to their TV sets next Thursday.

Tune, gentlemen, to NBC-TV at 7:30 p.m. EDT and you'll learn the widow Longshore actually is an NBC reporter named Eve Sandeffer who was assigned to help investigate the cheats and suckers who profit and pay among the marriage hucksters.

★ ★ ★

The program, "I Take Thee," examines the fact that sometimes boy meets girl only after both have paid a fee to a marriage broker or dating agency.

Producer Chet Hagan also has turned cameras and reporters on "marriage mill towns"—Las Vegas, Hernando, Miss., Elkton, Md., Durant, Okla.—in a study of "the general proposition of love and marriage as the motivating force of our society."

Miss Sandeffer was prepared elaborately for her role as the not too bereaved widow of well-to-do realtor, Longshore, killed in an auto accident.

★ ★ ★

The first agency at which she registered charged her a $75 fee "for the summer." It sent around only one man — "a professional gigolo type for whom I bought a drink and who docilely went away and hasn't been seen since."

The second agency charged her $150 as " a lifetime fee," meaning presumably that it would send men for the rest of her life until she found the right one to marry her — and her money.

★ ★ ★

She had dates with five men the agency put in touch with her—a European physician, a chemist, architect, unemployed radar technician and schoolteacher.

On all dates Miss Sandeffer was at all times under surveillance of two private detectives. She did not need them.

"The common characteristic of all was that they had some emotional problem," she says. "They were extremely shy and self-centered. All they wanted was a listening post."

★ ★ ★

On the program next Thursday Miss Sandeffer will re-enact her experiences with professional actors. The names and identities of all the men and agencies have been disguised.

The full-hour NBC News special will be narrated by Frank McGee and directed by Robert Priaulx.

This department was misinformed the other day in reporting uncertainty over the future of "Small World" on CBS-TV next season. Actually, 33 shows now are scheduled with Edward R. Murrow conducting 17 of them.

Leukemia is the most common form of cancer among children. It is responsible for nearly half of all cancer deaths among victims under the age of 15.

Ballot Measure Due for Struggle

Move to Limit Voting on School Bond Issues to Property Owners

LANSING (AP) — A close fight appeared likely next week on a proposition permitting only property owners to vote on school bond issues and property tax increases.

It mustered a 69-31 vote in the House yesterday, five short of the two-thirds approval needed to route it to the Senate. Backers salvaged it for another vote and predicted passage.

A two-thirds vote also is needed in the Senate to put the proposition on the November 1960 ballot as an amendment to the constitution.

Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski (D-Detroit), Democratic floor leader, complained it would "take away rights from the people who ought to be voting on school problems."

"Renters pay property taxes indirectly, too, and help pay for school costh through the sales tax, most of which goes to the schools," he said. "It's unfair to penalize them this way."

"Everybody complains of high real estate and personal property taxes, and farmers, for instance, don't have the opportunity to pass property taxes on to renters," said Rep. Allison Green (R-Kingston), GOP floor leader. "We at least ought to give the people the opportunity to vote on this."

Bank Robber Sentenced

DETROIT (AP) — A 33-year-old Detroit father of four, Simon Lee Till, has been sentenced to 10 years in federal prison for an $890 bank holdup. Till was convicted of robbing a branch of the Detroit Bank & Trust Co. last Jan. 29. He was sentenced by U.S. District Judge Ralph Freeman.

Debbie's Getting Back Into Swing of Things

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Debbie Reynolds went out with Bob Neal, her rich, good-looking and very charming Texas-California-and Florida boy friend, and they practically cuddled.

★ ★ ★

"Everybody's going to ask you this — do you plan to get married?" I asked them.

"My plan is just to have some fun," Debbie answered brightly, holding Bob's hand.

"But do you plan to have this fun while married?"

"As you know from my record, I am not too good at foreseeing my future," Debbie smiled.

"Robert," she added, "has been my friend so long, he knows my real name, which is Frances. We had dates at least three years before . . ." The sentence faded off, but she meant "before Eddie Fisher."

WILSON

DEBBIE and BOB

Debbie, who's going in for art-collecting now (the kid is loaded!), told me she bought four Jansens in France. "That's enough paintings for one year" added Debbie — who, in the words of one of her fans, looked like a painting herself.

★ ★ ★

Though the Jack Paar-Jack Douglas deal soon ends, they're almost around to the kidding stage. Told that Paar will invite him to lunch to wish him luck with his own show, Douglas said: "He knows I don't eat lunch!" Douglas will meet with Ted Cott, NTA exec, to discuss his own program. Paar, incidentally, is bringing back Dody Goodman for occasional appearances.

Joey Adams claims his wife Cindy combs her hair so tight she can't shut her mouth . . . Susan Cabot, King Husselin's ex-date, now around with George deWitt, will star in "Seven-Year Itch" with Mel Torme in Dayton, and other summer spots.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Ex-film star Diane Varsi is writing a novel, but it doesn't mention H'wood . . . Pat Wymore is here to see husband Errol Flynn's attorneys . . . Gen. George Marshall told a publisher No—forall time—to a six-figure advance offer for his memoirs . . . France Nuyen of "Suzy Wong" turned down requests for personal interviews . . . Charlie Chaplin's old "Gold Rush" film revival is doing better than some new pictures here—$1,800 a day.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A Broadway actor said he didn't want friends to know he couldn't afford summer clothes — so he wrinkled his winter suits. That's earl, brother.

TV News and Reviews

Hypnosis Drama Is Useful but in a Rather Quiet Way

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hypnosis is, of course, a dangerous weapon in the hands of the unthinking.

Witness, for example, the way the TV networks turn on the flickering lantern each day and mesmerize millions with half hour upon half hour of soothing incantation.

Last night CBS-TV's Armstrong Circle Theater, a drama show of medium aspirations, but reasonably unsoporific habits, turned to the uses of mesmerism—both responsible and irresponsible—in "Prescription: Hypnosis."

It wasn't really much of a gripper and as usual in these things, all the ends were tied up in a neat package. But the play had a few values—some moderately interesting case histories and several useful performances.

★ ★ ★

Among the chief oglers and oglees were Frank Overton, Iola Lynn and a young lady named Ellen Madison who started a bit uncertainly, but caught fire midway through and went on to give a four-square performance.

SHORT SHOTS: Last week Henry Morgan remarked on CBS-TV's I've Got a Secret that nobody ever wrote letters to him, so last night emcee Garry Moore announced that letters had been received from about 500 ladies—10 per cent of which were proposals.

Moore, incidentally, let his teleprompter man read the show's middle commercial last night, a move that resulted in one of the most amusing commercials I've ever seen on TV.

★ ★ ★

NBC-TV's Dave King, in his second show of the season, turned out a slick and fairly briskly paced effort last night. . . . As Wally Cox demonstrated again on his short turn on the NBC-TV Jack Paar Show last night, he is a performer of disarming manner and it's too bad TV can't make more use of a talent like his. . . . Something rather alarming happened to me while I was watching NBC-TV's Wagon Train last night—I caught myself rooting for the Indians.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Hotel de Paree, a western that stars Earl Holliman, is the lead contender to replace Yancy Derringer on CBS-TV next fall. . . . Jimmy Durante has been asked to do several live specials for NBC-TV next season. . . . NBC-TV's Jack Paar will be on four nights a week next season instead of five—on Friday nights, the Paar show will run off kinescopes of old Paar programs.

Await Successors in Little Rock

School Meeting Delayed

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Little Rock School Board—cut in half by recall of three segregationist members — canceled a scheduled meeting today to await selection of successors to the ousted members.

Ted Lamb, one of the moderates retained by voters, announced the cancellation.

★ ★ ★

The Pulaski County Board of Education will pick the three new members. Chairman J. B. Morgan said a meeting would be held in a few days.

Lamb said he, Everett Tucker Jr., and Russell Matson Jr., the other members, would delay calling a meeting while the board is at half-strength.

Lamb, Matson and Tucker — called "integrationists" by Gov. Orval E. Faubus when they ran for the board last December — were retained in a recall election Monday.

★ ★ ★

Ed I. McKinley, Ben Rowland and Robert Laster, the segregationists endorsed by Faubus, were ousted. They dismissed 44 teachers and administrators May 5—some of whom, McKinley said, showed what he called integrationist tendencies.

The firings sparked a drive that led to the recall election.

The three moderates have said they prefer some integration to no schools at all—a situation that exists for Little Rock high school pupils.

★ ★ ★

But in the voters' endorsement of the trio, Faubus said he saw no mandate for reopening the four high schools. He closed them by proclamation in September 1958, to avoid integration. Little Rock voters backed his action 3-1 in an election the same month.

The governor said he did not plan to return control of the high schools to the Wednesday board.

Faubus added that he was not working on any plan to reopen the schools under a compromise calling for token integration.

"There is no such thing as token integration," said Faubus at a news conference. "My position on forced integration and the state's right to manage its own affairs remains unchanged."

The governor was asked if he was willing to step aside and allow the four schools to reopen as integrated schools. He answered that he would do so only if the people voted solely on the question of integration and approved it.

What if the law which allowed him to close the schools was overturned by federal courts? What would he then do?

"That remains to be seen," Faubus said.

Charge Bad Check Link to Big League Baseball

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Dapper William Donald McKeown, 49, accused of passing bad checks to major league baseball players, merchants and hotels throughout the country, will get a preliminary hearing June 3.

The FBI arrested him Wednesday in downtown Los Angeles.

The FBI said McKeown is well known by members of several major league teams but refused to name the baseball players involved.

Two-Thirds Reportedly Don't Give to Charity

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— Two-thirds of America ddoesn't give to charity, a spokesman for the National Foundation said Wednesday. Fund raisers have barely scratched the surface, added Melvin A. Glasser.

The Foundation's executive vice president, speaking to the National Conference on Social Welfare, disputed assertions that fund raising has reached the limit for welfare use. He said such reasoning also ignores the increase in national wealth and the historic trend towards ever increasing contributions.

Advice Given on Delinquency

Home, Church, School Stressed by Committee of Legislature

LANSING (AP)—The importance of home, church and school in combating juvenile delinquency was stressed today in the report of a legislative committee studying the juvenile code.

"These are the prime factors in establishing the moral and social awareness of youth," said the committee. "We need to learn more as to how these can be strengthened."

★ ★ ★

A resolution was offered asking for continuation of the committee to carry the study into the home communities.

No recommendations for changes in the juvenile code were offered. The report said piecemeal changes would merely add to the present "crazyquilt pattern".

"The committee was constantly made aware of the need to reexamine the role of the total community in combating the problem and strengthening the moral and social fiber of our youth," the report said.

"More coordination of services, the awkening of public consciousness and, in general creating a continuous concern for our children seems imperative," the report added.

Started and Finished

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Jack Taylor of the St. Louis Cardinals pitched three consecutive seasons — 1903, 1904 and 1905 — without once being taken out for a relief pitcher.
