

Area Becomes a Winter Wonderland

SNOW BLANKETS CITY — Beautiful scenes in residential areas were painted by last night's three inches of snow. But lovely vistas, such as at Williams and W. Huron Sts., above, were soon filled with struggling shovellers, and snow downtown quickly turned to dirty slush.

All-Night Snow Buries Area

At first sight, it was nature's first real appearance this season in one of her most lovely roles. And then the fun began. Three-inches of snow clogged Pontiac streets this morning, caused motorists to wrestle with cars, and sent home-dwellers out to shovel walks.

Snow fell all night over most of the Great Lakes region, and as far east as New York State. It was expected to stop falling in Lower Michigan today.

A least three traffic accidents occurred in the city during last night's snow, but no injuries were reported. In Detroit, however, a woman died when her car skidded out of control.

Downtown Pontiac streets were cleared early today by salt-trucks and graders. City workers are in the process of clearing city streets, the Traffic and Safety Bureau said.

Drivers were urged by police to be especially cautious. The cleared streets are dangerously wet, they said.

Ann Arbor police said that streets early today were lined with parked cars of early arrivals to the football game where the Big Ten title and a trip to the Rose Bowl will be decided.

California Mother Dies Trying to Rescue 6th Child From Home Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A brave mother, awakening to find her home in flames, shepherded four of her six children to safety early today but lost her own life together with her youngest son when she returned for him.

The sixth child jumped safely from a second-story window. Firemen reported that Mrs. Virginia Labor Cormier, 34, five sons and a daughter were trapped on the second floor.

Mrs. Cormier awakened the terrified children, ranging in age from 5 to 15, and started them through the flames and smoke. One, 14-year-old Norbert, leaped. All the rest followed mother.

But when she got outside, 5-year-old David was missing. Mrs. Cormier dashed back into the flaming home.

When firemen brought the fire under control, they found the bodies in an upstairs bathroom. The mother's arms were around the son.

Mrs. Cormier was the wife of advertising executive Ray Cormier Sr., who has offices in several cities in the Southwest. The father was located in Dallas and was reported returning by plane.

The other surviving children are Raymond Jr., 15, Gary, 13, Virginia Lou, 9, and Stephen, 7.

The home was a total loss, firemen said.

'We'll Never Admit Defeat'

Snow Halting Search for Mystery Plane

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A snow storm turned back a searching party trying to reach a spot in rugged, mountainous woodland in south central Pennsylvania where it is believed a plane may have crashed.

The party of some 50 Civil Defense workers temporarily gave up the search as snow reached 3½ inches. Earlier they reported, after reaching the top of a 1,500-foot mountain, that they had heard shouts and seen flames some distance away in a wooded gully.

SEARCH RETURNS
Dale Murphy, Cumberland County Civil Defense coordinator, said the searching party would go back after sunrise and try again to reach the gully.

The search was begun after Murphy said he received reports from about 10 Civil Defense airplane spotters of either hearing or seeing a plane, "probably in trouble," flying about 1,000 feet over the area.

The observers described the plane as a twin-engine or four-engine craft. Checks with various air control agencies failed to turn up any reports of a plane either missing or in trouble.

9 More A-Subs Being Planned

Navy to Ask Congress to Augment Two Now in Fleet

WASHINGTON (AP)—A prediction the Navy soon will ask Congress to authorize construction of nine more atomic powered submarines came today from Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.).

Two such underwater craft—the Nautilus and the Sea Wolf—have been built. Two others are under construction and four more have been authorized.

Jackson, chairman of the Senate House Atomic Energy subcommittee on military applications, said in an interview his forecast was based on something he had learned, plus the "impressive showing" of the Nautilus. Jackson did not go into detail on what he had learned.

Secretary of the Navy Thomas said last week that Congress would be asked to authorize more atomic submarines. He did not, however, say how many would be requested.

Thomas said performance of the Nautilus, first of the atomic submarines, has "been little short of amazing."

Jackson wrote Secretary of Defense Wilson this week urging that provision for an atomic-powered aircraft be included in the next defense budget. He also has been pressing government experts to expedite their studies aimed at developing nuclear-powered aircraft.

The United States now has 111 submarines in active duty, divided about equally between the Atlantic and Pacific fleets.

Van Dyke Soldier Among 27 Dead in Seattle Crash

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit-area soldier was among 27 listed as dead in the crash yesterday of a chartered DC4 on the outskirts of Seattle. Two other Michigan soldiers were injured in the disaster.

Killed was Pfc. Harry Mangano Jr., 19, of suburban Van Dyke. He was en route home from Korea on a 30-day Thanksgiving furlough.

His wife, Catherine, 17, and daughter, Debbie, 11 months, whom he had never seen, lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mangano. Mangano enlisted in the Army late in 1953. He was sent to Korea in June, 1954.

In a letter written Oct. 28 to his wife, Mangano wrote: "I hope to be home by Nov. 15. Don't bring the baby to the airport when you meet me. I'm sure that I will cry like anything and I'd rather not do it in public."

The two Michigan soldiers injured in the crash were Pvt. Rhiner Groendyke, 18, of Saranac and Sgt. Theodore J. Gostinger, 20, of Port Huron. Both were returning from Korea.

Police Contend Teen Vice Story Is 'Exaggerated'

But Prosecutor's Office Goes Ahead With Plans for 'Gang' Probe

Conflicting opinions on the extent of juvenile vice in Southern Oakland County were expressed today as county and state investigation of the charges loomed.

With a meeting of Wayne and Oakland County officials scheduled early next week to probe reports of a juvenile dope ring, Royal Oak Township and Oakdale Gardens police continue to assert that the situation has been "grossly exaggerated."

Oakland County Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor today continued to deny published reports that State Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh had received a request from his office for aid in investigating the charges.

He also denied reports that his office had sent a letter to Kavanagh containing the same request. The only letter, he said, which could have any bearing on the matter was one received from Gov. G. Mennen Williams inviting Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem to a traffic conference in Lansing Tuesday.

At that time, he said, he and Ziem will talk to Kavanagh. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Deer Season Gun Deaths Reach Three for Michigan

Michigan counted its third gunfire death of the five-day-old deer hunting season today as State Police gave up hope of finding six missing hunters alive.

James Dingman, 20, of Marquette, was killed in the Upper Peninsula's Alger County Friday.

State Police said he was shot by his cousin, Marvin F. Webb, 18, also of Marquette, who told them he mistook Dingman for a deer in the heavily wooded area where they had gone hunting together.

A new search of Gratiot Lake in the Keweenaw Peninsula jutting into Lake Superior was planned today for four deer hunters who vanished Wednesday. But police said chances of finding them were "almost nil."

The four set out across the lake from their camp for fertile deer hunting country on the other side. The boat later was found overturned. One of the hunter's hats was found not far away.

They were Daniel Nowack, 29, and Edward Van Popering, 56. Grand Rapids professional golfers; Ted Lemanski, 36, a Spring Lake golf pro, and Leonard Gillette, 50, host at the Homewood, Ill., golf club.

An airplane flew over the lake area yesterday as five boats dragged the 125-foot deep waters. Hope virtually was abandoned, too, for two hunters lost in rugged Upper Peninsula woods. They are Walter Kline of Benton Harbor, last seen an hour after the season opened Tuesday, and Elmer Dahlman, 55, of Plymouth.

Also "presumed dead" were two duck hunters who disappeared in Lake Erie off southeastern Michigan in a howling blizzard Wednesday. Two other duck hunters froze to death when they tried to wade 300 yards to shore through mucky quicksand and became stuck.

Seven deer hunters have died of heart attacks in the woods, one succumbed to monoxide gas while sleeping in his car, and another died from fumes thought to have come from his tent cooking stove.

Man Wrestles Deer
SHEPHERDSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—C. R. Shelton lost an impromptu wrestling match with a four-point buck yesterday. Shelton, 41, was trying to find out why several dogs were barking near his farm when the deer bolted through a patch of tall grass and banged into Shelton. The farmer and the buck wrestled a bit before the buck slipped away and swam across a river.

State Road Deaths Rise Three Accidents Kill 15 Over the Last 24 Hours

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fifteen persons have died in three multiple-death traffic accidents in Michigan over the last 24 hours. And the U. S. Weather Bureau warned travel would be especially hazardous today, with two to four inches of snow slicking highways and cutting visibility. Upstate—a weekend traffic upsurge was anticipated with deer hunters flocking to and from the woods.

Harry Kozar, 45, and Anna Komn, 72, of Lexington, were killed last night in a collision at an M90 intersection two miles west of Lexington in Sanilac County.

Kozar's wife, 44, was seriously hurt. The other driver, Frank Niklas, 18, of Carsonville, escaped injury, although his passenger, Yvonne Elway, 17, of Port Sanilac, was slightly hurt.

Four persons were killed and two injured in a late Friday smashup of an automobile and pickup truck on M46, five miles east of Edmore in Montcalm County. A tire blowout was blamed for this tragedy.

Those killed were en route home from visiting the husband of one of the victims at the Veterans Administration hospital in Saginaw. They were: Forrest Lowe, 58, and his wife, Flora J., also 58, of Muskegon Heights; Ruby Straight, 68, of Fruitport, and Mrs. Nettie Strickland, 48, of Muskegon. Injured were Arthur Strickland Jr., 13-year-old son of Nettie, and James F. Lovay, 27, of Saginaw, the truck driver.

Nine railroad section crewmen Friday when a New York Central passenger train plowed into a truck in which the men were riding to work. The accident happened at a crossing a mile south of Newport in northeast Monroe County, about 20 miles south of Detroit.

Marie Dionne Is in Hospital

MONTREAL (AP)—Marie Dionne, quintuplet who was studying for religious orders at a Quebec convent, has been admitted to hospital here for observation.

It is the second time in 16 months the 21-year-old girl has left the institution where she is studying to be a nun. Her quintuplet sister Emilie died in a Quebec province nursing home in August, 1954.

Marie's family said she left the servants of the Blessed Convent in Quebec City and traveled here with a nurse. She was reported suffering from "loss of appetite."

Notre Dame D'Esperance Hospital, where Marie's sisters Cecile and Yvonne are training as nurses, said she will be kept under observation for a month.

She returned to the convent last September, after leaving it in May, 1954, for ill health. She originally entered the convent in November, 1953.

In North Bay, Oliva Dionne, father of the quintuplets, confirmed Marie has been taken to hospital. "All I know is that she has left the convent," he said. "I understand she hasn't been feeling well."

Convent officials declined to comment on the report. The other surviving quintuplet, Annette, is in Nicolet, Que., studying music.

Treasury Head Predicts Female Vice President

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—There will be a lady vice president and three women members of the Supreme Court by the year 2000, says Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, treasurer of the United States.

She also predicted in a speech yesterday that half of Congress will be female by the turn of the century. Mrs. Priest addressed the ladies auxiliary of the American Institute of Laundering, holding its 68th annual convention here.

A Word to the Wise Is Sufficient Go Ahead...Hurry Up—One Skid Can Kill You

EAST LANSING (AP)—State Police are offering six tips to motorists on how to avoid an encounter with death on some icy highway. The tips were contained in a booklet prepared by the winter driving committee of the National Safety Council. Here they are:

1. Make sure your car is equipped with good tires and, if necessary, good tire chains. Reinforced chains cut stopping distance on ice in half.
2. Keep your windshields and windows clean. You have to see danger to avoid it.
3. Get the feel of the road. Try your brakes when you're not in traffic to test the road surface. You can't stop on a dime, especially on an icy one.
4. Follow other vehicles at a safe distance. It takes three to 12 times as far to stop on snow or ice as it does on normal surface.
5. Pump your brakes in order to stop on snow and ice. Jamming down on your brakes will throw you into a skid, especially if your car is equipped with power brakes.
6. Cut down your speed.

Lt. Shirley G. Curtis of the State Police safety and traffic division said early winter is the most dangerous time of the year for driving.

"In the first few weeks of winter, drivers think they can drive as they have all summer and fall—they aren't prepared for winter driving conditions," he said.

State Police records show accidents rise sharply between four and six in the afternoon, when hordes of motorists hurry home in the early dusk.

Most dangerous of all as far as fatalities go is the period between midnight Saturday and 3 a. m. Sunday.

December, with the throngs of Christmas shoppers, is by far the most dangerous time of year for pedestrians, Lt. Curtis said.

Lt. Curtis offered this advice to motorists caught in a skid: "Turn your wheel the way you are skidding. Then apply your brakes if you must—but gently."

Ike Tells Nation He Will Continue Road to Peace

Dulles Reports Geneva Talkathon 'Didn't Get Anywhere at All'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower says that, despite the East-West stalemate at the Geneva foreign ministers conference, the United States "will never admit defeat" in seeking a "just and durable peace."

The President's view was relayed by Secretary of State Dulles at the end of a sober, 30-minute TV-radio report last night on the Geneva meeting.

Dulles conceded the Western Big Three made no progress in the sessions with the Russians. But this assessment was balanced, in part at least, by the secretary's expression of cautious optimism and by a statement from Eisenhower.

Reading from what he called "verbatim notes" made during a conversation with Eisenhower earlier in the day at Gettysburg, Pa., Dulles quoted the President as saying:

"I know that no setback, no obstacle to progress will ever deter this government and our people from the great effort to establish a just and durable peace."

"Success may be long in coming, but there is no temporal force so capable of helping achieve it as the strength, the might, the spirit of 165 million free Americans. In striving toward this shining goal, this country will never admit defeat."

GENEVA SPIRIT LIVES
Dulles said his three weeks at Geneva "didn't get us anywhere at all."

But he said the "spirit of Geneva," flowing from the summit conference which Eisenhower attended in July, lives on even though the Soviet's summertime smiles turned into frowns this fall.

THE FIVE QUESTIONS
Posing and answering five questions he said "are in the air," Dulles declared he and Eisenhower agree that:

1. The Geneva spirit is not entirely dead because the Russians now shun the "threats and invective" which characterized their pre-summit diplomacy.
2. The risk of open war with Russia is no greater than in July when Eisenhower said the summit conference had made it "less likely."
3. The cold war is back, but it is "peaceful" and devoid of rancor "hostility and animosity."
4. The Eisenhower administration plans no drastic revision of its (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Deny Reports of Hotel Sale

But Owners Continue to Negotiate Purchase With Hospital

Reports that the Hotel Pontiac, 50 N. Perry St., was sold Thursday were denied by Manager Carl Ransom yesterday, although he admitted that the hotel's owners were continuing negotiations with the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Harry Whitlow, hospital administrator, indicated that the two parties may reach agreement next week, provided "one or two obstacles" to the sale can be removed.

Whitlow said that the 27-year-old building would be converted into an osteopathic hospital. The hospital's present site is at 32 Auburn Ave.

David Shubow, managing director of the Hotel Pontiac Corp., was not available for comment. The corporation purchased the 100-room hotel building in 1952.

Admits Robbery of Gas Station

Police Report Suspect Also Confesses 7 Other Crimes in Area

A 23-year-old man, awaiting sentence in Oakland County Circuit Court, has admitted to a string of recent crimes in the Pontiac area.

Pontiac Police said that the confession of Billie E. White, 800 Young St., helps clear up 12 cases on record, eight of them here.

White yesterday pleaded guilty to armed robbery in October of Arnold's Service Station, 4 E. Blvd. N. Circuit Court Judge George B. Hartrick will pass sentence Nov. 23.

White's series of crimes began in September, police said. They said another suspect, a partner in some of the crimes, has not yet been apprehended.

Police said White's confession involves these cases:

Attempted safe-cracking in the UAW-CIO Hall at 90 Mt. Clemens St., Sept. 1; two robberies of a used car lot at 750 W. Montclair St., Sept. 4 and 5.

Robbery of a hardware store at 822 Baldwin Ave., Sept. 7; attempted robbery of the Grand Trunk Railroad Depot, Sept. 7.

Armed robbery of a Dixie Highway gas station in Waterford Township, Sept. 26; and an attempted armed robbery of another township gas station on Telegraph Rd., Nov. 8.

White also confessed to three robberies in October in Alabama, and another attempted armed robbery near Calumet City, Ill., on Nov. 4, police said.

Says Foreign Policy Not Campaign Issue

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) said today he does not expect foreign policy to be a partisan issue in the next presidential election.

"If it is raised, the source will be the same people who have been attacking all of our presidents for two decades," Johnson said in a speech prepared for delivery at Southwest Texas State Teachers College Homecoming day.

"The American people have passed the stage where foreign policy is a 'political' issue," said Johnson.

To pretend a serious disagreement in foreign policy in the months ahead will deceive no one, he said.

Two Stories Cloud Graham Bomb Plant

DENVER (INS)—Conflicting stories have clouded the issue of the guilt or innocence of John Gilbert Graham, accused of planting a time bomb aboard a United Airlines Mailplane.

The young Denver man still denies he placed dynamite in the luggage of his mother, Mrs. Daisie King, despite his signed admission of guilt and a statement by an office manager of an electric supply firm that Graham bought a timing device that could be used in a bomb.

Aircraft Unions Want GAW, Other Benefits

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A guaranteed employment plan, substantial wage increases and a full union shop are objectives in collective bargaining early next year by the CIO-United Auto Workers' Aircraft department.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president, told an executive session yesterday that for the first time all aircraft unions will be bargaining on the same basis and with the same demands. Negotiations will start early in January for new contracts covering some 750,000 workers in the aircraft industry.

Area Murder Suspect to Be Tried In January; 3 Others on Docket

Four major criminal trials are scheduled for January in Oakland County Circuit Court, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said today.

They involve men charged with first degree murder, manslaughter, embezzlement and assault with intent to commit murder.

Ray Goff, 32, of Flint is accused of the fatal shooting last Aug. 22 of a pretty Flint mother of three.

A former Flint factory worker, Goff is charged with pumping four bullets into Mrs. Rita Cummings, 27, after ordering the woman's escort, Dean Worces, 25, also of Flint, from a car near Holly.

Worges, testifying at a justice court examination, identified Goff as the man who, Worges said, followed the couple from Flint to the death scene on M87.

A suicide note, purportedly written by Goff, and statements by friends and relatives led police to believe motive of the shooting was jealousy stemming from an alleged broken romance between Goff and Mrs. Cummings.

Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland is expected to hear all four cases.

The company claims that under a contract between them and Dawson, they bought cars from the plant which were shipped directly to the dealer. When sold, he was to return the wholesale price to CIT.

Dawson sold 17 vehicles between Oct. 27, 1954 and May 18 this year and failed to turn back CIT's share, the firm claims.

The dispute revolved around a

Two Missioners Free of China

Catholic Priests Report Reds Threatened Death for 'Stubbornness'

HONG KONG (INS)—Two American missionaries imprisoned by Red China for nearly four years arrived today in Hong Kong and said their lives had been threatened by Communist jailers.

The released men, both Catholic Passionist fathers, were the Rev. Marcellus White, 47, of Waltham, Mass., and the Rev. Justin Garvey, 40, of Union City, N. J.

They were greeted in Hong Kong by fellow missionaries, American consular officials, American and British Red Cross representatives and Hong Kong police.

Both were pale and thin but otherwise appeared to be in reasonably good health although White wept intermittently during an interview with newsmen.

When asked if the Communists were justified in jailing him, Fr. White replied:

"Now, that's a silly question." Fr. Garvey said his interrogators threatened him with death if he continued to be "stubborn" in jail.

He said he was arrested in Yunnan in 1951 and charged with "cooperating in unlawful activities with Kuomintang (Nationalist Chinese) secret bandits."

He said he was handcuffed and a rope thrown around his neck "so I could be led through the streets like a criminal."

George Awards Set for Old Time Stars

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (INS)—Twenty men and women who helped make the silent screen days great receive tonight the first "George" awards for artistic work of enduring value.

The nostalgia filled ceremonies will be held at the first George Eastman House festival of film arts in Rochester.

Achievements of men and women working in the film industry from 1915 to 1925 were evaluated on the basis of ballots mailed out to 305 players, cameramen and directors of that decade.

Mary Pickford, Lillian Gish, Mae Marsh, Harold Lloyd and Richard Barthelmess are scheduled to appear in person to receive their "George" medals. Also appearing are directors Frank Borzage and Marshall Neilan and cameramen Arthur Edson, Lee Garmes and Hal Rosson.

The new directive orders the armed services to make security investigations of draftees before their induction, instead of afterward as at present. It directs that a man shall be taken into service unless this would be clearly inconsistent with national security.

Such a draftee would have the right to an honorable discharge if his conduct in two years of active duty merits one.

Anyone rejected on the basis of a pre-induction investigation would as Hennings phrased it, "be released to civilian life without any mark or stigma indicating the basis on which he was found unsuitable."

The old rule required that service men judged security risks be given a "general discharge under honorable conditions" or some other less than honorable discharge at the end of their service.

Dulles wound up his report, which Eisenhower helped draft, by quoting the President as personally pledging "no setback, no obstacle" will deter the U. S. search for real peace.

"In striving toward this goal," he quoted Eisenhower as telling him, "this country will never admit defeat."

BLAMES RUSSIANS Dulles blamed the Russians for failure of the foreign ministers to reach agreement on a single one of the issues which had been defined by Eisenhower and the premiers of Russia, Britain and France last July.

Let Problems Solve Themselves

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD
The normal ups and downs of a young romance aren't enough for some people. They have to do something to speed the ups and hasten the downs. They can't sit quietly and let things work themselves out.

And what they do doesn't necessarily make things better. They can fog up the issue, make things so strained that there's no patching things up.

Look what trying to fix things did for this girl. She writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I liked him the first time I met him, and he liked me, too. I brought him home with me and he met my mother and she liked him, too. "But since I'm only 14 I'm not allowed to go out at all. I guess Mother's right about that—I try to see her point. We have no phone so he can't call me but Mother allows him to come up to the house every other week.

"Well, I didn't think he'd like that, so I called him up. He wasn't home and I told him mother that I didn't want him bothering me. That very night he came up and asked me what the idea was. I told him the truth and he said that seeing me every other week was okay with him—better than nothing.

"Since that night I haven't seen him. Whether he's doing what my mother said, or is mad, I really don't know. He lives so far away that I can't go to see him, or meet him on the street and ask him.

"Please tell me how I can find out if he's mad—and how I can see him more often?"

Answer: There's a girl who upset the appreciator by imagining what she thought he thought. And she put her imagination into action by a phone call that just stirred up the muddy waters.

It created a scene at his home when his mother demanded to know what it was all about. Made him so upset he came over right away to get things straight.

And he told her just where he stood. Her mother's rules held with him. Every other week was okay.

So what else is there to do but wait and see what gives? Will he be around two weeks from now or won't he? He has the choice. And there's little she can do about it. After all, she can't go out with him. And unless he's mighty attracted, and likes her home, he's not going to bother too dreadfully much.

It's a delicate situation—but the more she does about it the more tender it becomes. The more likely she is to be wounded.

Cancer Society Official Praises Gold Star Work

Mrs. Philip Francis of the American Cancer Society spoke to the American Gold Star Mothers Chapter Nine Thursday evening.

She stressed the need for cancer dressings and the importance of the work of local clubs in sewing cancer pads for the Cancer Society. Mrs. Francis especially commended members of Chapter Nine for their cooperation.

Mrs. John B. Stockwell of Henry Clay avenue was hostess to the group. Mrs. Zephia DeWitt, Mrs. Fay Tick, Mrs. Duncan McVean and Mrs. Bessie Brown were guests.

Mrs. Jack Inman of Springfield, Mo., formerly of Pontiac, also attended. She is a charter member of the chapter.

and see what happens. And be joyful if anything does! them both? Here's a girl in that predicament. She writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm in love with two boys—and they say they love me. The one I love most knows it, but the trouble is that he picks up and leaves me whenever he wants to.

What can be more delicate than the situation in which a girl finds she loves two different men at the same time. How can she make up her mind? How should she treat

Answer: A girl caught between two infatuations is in a real pickle. Particularly when she knows one of the boys she thinks she loves, and imagines that she knows the other.

This girl has dated one of these boys, has gotten to know him and like him. There's a basis for her affection for him.

The other boy hasn't been anywhere near her. He has just said he'd like to go with her. And the idea has her fascinated.

Wouldn't practically anybody think it too soon for her to make a choice between a boy who loves her and leaves her and a boy she hasn't had a chance to know yet?

Her position with both boys is too delicate and fragile for her to count on either. The less seriously she takes both the better.

White Kid Muff Joins With Bag for Dress Wear
PARIS (INS) — Now is the time for all smart women to wear a muff.

But to be in the latest Paris style, your muff should be original, made of a special material or combined with a bag or stole.

A muff this season need not necessarily be made of fur. Dior, for example, shows a smart afternoon and evening muff made of white kid. It is large, draped and has a cuffed pocket in front.

Raphael has a very dressy accessory piece made of velvet for after-dark wear. It is a long stole ending in a padded velvet muff. Outdoors the stole is worn over the head like a hood with the hands in the muff. Indoors you drape the stole over the shoulders of a cocktail dress and push the muff up on the bare arm.

Fur mutts this winter are either gigantic or shaped in some novelty form. Henry A. La Penne shows a jumbo muff of black lamb. Flat in shape, it is at the same time a handbag with an envelope-cuff fastened by a rhinestone snow-crystal. Patou has designed an odd-looking muff shaped like a super-size cocoon. Made of ermine, it is worn with a matching ermine beret.

One fashionable Parisienne the other day made a "temporary muff" out of her mink stole by rolling it up and fixing the outside with two diamond clips.

Harvey Berin has an uninhibited talent for making clothes that give the wearer assurance of being well dressed. His unobtrusive styling, flattering use of detail and distinctive body lines, all contribute to the success of his designs.

This pattern is a case in point. Cut on a modified princess silhouette, the entire front consists of only two pieces, with figure-molding achieved by lengthened midriff darts.

The V neckline is converted into a heart shape with tacked-on bows that pull it to the sides. In back, the dress is a real conversation piece. Here the full-length gowns open out into three deep pleats that sway prettily when in motion.

Choose peau de soie, satin, brocade, taffeta or faille for an afternoon into evening dress in town.

If you're off for sunny places, consider silk prints, linen, novelty cotton or shantung. This pattern is cut to designer measurements, not standard pattern measurements.

Size 12 requires 7½ yards of 39-inch material for dress and one-fourth yard of 39-inch material for interfacing.

"I just met the second boy a couple of weeks ago. He told my brother that he wanted to go with me, then he went away for some time. And I'm trying to make up my mind which one I like best. Can you help me?"

Answer: A girl caught between two infatuations is in a real pickle. Particularly when she knows one of the boys she thinks she loves, and imagines that she knows the other.

This girl has dated one of these boys, has gotten to know him and like him. There's a basis for her affection for him.

The other boy hasn't been anywhere near her. He has just said he'd like to go with her. And the idea has her fascinated.

Wouldn't practically anybody think it too soon for her to make a choice between a boy who loves her and leaves her and a boy she hasn't had a chance to know yet?

Her position with both boys is too delicate and fragile for her to count on either. The less seriously she takes both the better.

White Kid Muff Joins With Bag for Dress Wear

PARIS (INS) — Now is the time for all smart women to wear a muff.

But to be in the latest Paris style, your muff should be original, made of a special material or combined with a bag or stole.

A muff this season need not necessarily be made of fur. Dior, for example, shows a smart afternoon and evening muff made of white kid. It is large, draped and has a cuffed pocket in front.

Raphael has a very dressy accessory piece made of velvet for after-dark wear. It is a long stole ending in a padded velvet muff. Outdoors the stole is worn over the head like a hood with the hands in the muff. Indoors you drape the stole over the shoulders of a cocktail dress and push the muff up on the bare arm.

Fur mutts this winter are either gigantic or shaped in some novelty form. Henry A. La Penne shows a jumbo muff of black lamb. Flat in shape, it is at the same time a handbag with an envelope-cuff fastened by a rhinestone snow-crystal. Patou has designed an odd-looking muff shaped like a super-size cocoon. Made of ermine, it is worn with a matching ermine beret.

One fashionable Parisienne the other day made a "temporary muff" out of her mink stole by rolling it up and fixing the outside with two diamond clips.

Sally Ann Scupholm and Richard David Kuhn Married in Friday Evening Ceremony

Sally Ann Scupholm was given in marriage by her father to Richard David Kuhn. The couple were married Friday evening by the Rev. Chester A. McPheeters of the Rev. Chester A. McPheeters of Metropolitan Methodist Church of Detroit.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon T. Scupholm of Detroit, and he is the son of Mrs. Charles F. Kuhn of Lake Angioux and the late Dr. Kuhn.

A gown of crystal white parchment was chosen by the bride. Reembroidered Alencon lace, touched with pearls, bordered the deeply curved Florentine neckline of the bodice. Her long sleeves tapered to points at the wrist. Appliques of the pearl lace were repeated in the pointed waistline and in floral sprays on the full skirt which swept into a train.

A princess cap of lace and pearls secured her veil of silk illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Mary Lou Scupholm of Detroit served as her sister's maid of honor. Her other bridal attendants were Mrs. Maynard French, sister of the bride, Mrs. Stuart Jenko of Detroit, Mrs. Joseph Van Lueven of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Preston Orr of North Branch. They were gowned identically in peacock blue dull satin and carried bouquets of rust and orange chrysanthemums.

Nancy Lee Kuhn and Diane Kuhn, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They were dressed in frocks of peacock blue and carried baskets of rose petals.

Paul Kuhn, brother of the bridegroom, was his best man. His other brothers Edward Kuhn of Lake Angioux and George Kuhn of Berkeley served as ushers. Bruce Kresge of Highland Park and Richard Riley of Royal Oak were also ushers. Raymond Frisbie, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

Mrs. Richard Eccles of Detroit sang the bridal recital accompanied by Dr. F. Dudgeon Vernon, also of Detroit.
