Those Strong Pep-Up Pills Get Doctors Hepped Up

NEW YORK (INS) — The American Medical Association charges that powerful pep-up pills to create "super athletes" are being used by pros and amateurs, and that the rash of four-minute miles may be the result of the "shocking" use of the stimulant drugs.

AMA COMPLAINS

The AMA complained yesterday that the pills are being administered by college, professional and even high school coaches and the medical society branded the use of the drugs—amphetamines—as "shocking" and a "vicious practice." Amphetamine is the chemical name for drugs sold commercially as benzedrine and dexedrine.

Dr. Herbert Berger, a drug addiction authority from New York, claimed that the historic shattering of the four-minute mile by England's Roger Bannister was "connected with the use of powerful stimulants."

DISPUTE CLAIM

But Don Bowden, 20-year-old University of California Junior who last Saturday became the first American to race a mile under four minutes (3:58.7), disputed Dr. Berger's claim. Bowden said:

"As far as I'm concerned, it's a completely ridiculous assertion. I never have taken any thing, even tranquilizers. I know many of the four-minute miles—John Landy, Ron Delany, Derek Hobson and Merv Lincoln—and it's below their integrity to even suggest any type of artificial help."

Dr. Berger, chairman of the New York State Medical Society's committee on narcotics and alcohol addiction, said the drugs were used mostly in boxing, secondly in football and other sports and thirdly in high schools.

DANGEROUS DRUG

"Amphetamine is by far the most dangerous drug existing today and may cause serious physical damage," Dr. Berger said. "When it stimulates a high-pitched person it can produce a violent, rapacious and criminal behavior."

"When I was a college boy a four-minute mile was as unlikely as flying to the moon," Dr. Berger declared. "I talked to an Australian runner who broke the barrier and he told me he did not know how to do it until Bannister showed him."

Bowden insisted, however, that "Bannister's tips were on running, not on how to dope. I'm sure that's the case. Bannister himself ran the first four-minute mile not because he was a medical man but because he reached a physical and mental peak."

OFFICIALS DENY

Athletic officials throughout the country immediately denied that the drugs are or ever were given to athletes.

Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Union, called the AMA charges "a lot of hokum" and said that in his 50-year association with amateur athletics, he had never heard of any athletes using such stimulants.

The Big Ten Conference, labeled by many the most powerful in the country, called the AMA charges "ridiculous and certainly unfounded," and Jesse Mortensen, coach of the University of Southern California's Coast Conference championship track team, called them "absurd."

James Farley of the New York State Athletic Commission emphatically denied that boxers violate the rules which forbid the use of drugs before a fight.

City Policemen Aren't Against Outside Probe

Answer Plan to Have Ex-Enforcement Head Check Straley Rule

The proposed probe by former Michigan State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard into the records and activities of the Pontiac Police Department, suggested in a Pontiac Press editorial Tuesday, became more than a suggestion today.

Detective Herbert C. Cooley, president of Pontiac Police Officer's Assn., who has been leading demands for an investigation of the department under the six-year rule of Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, said he had talked with more than 40 officers who showed no disfavor to the proposed investigations by Leonard.

Cooley added that Leonard is experienced in police administration and should be a qualified investigator into complaints which the association intends to charge against Straley in hopes of ousting him.

In response to a proposed investigation of his administrative capabilities and records, Straley said today:

"I still claim Cooley is not running the Division of Police or Pontiac. He is still a plain ordinary detective."

He said he did not think the Leonard-headed investigation would be necessary since "the whole thing" was a local problem and will "properly be disposed of."

'PROBE NOT NEEDED'

If the city commission and manager order the investigation, Straley said he would "appreciate it" although he did not think it was necessary.

"We (the department) have been getting along OK except for a few rabble-rousers who want to use the newspapers as an office instead of keeping their interest in the citizens of Pontiac," Straley added.

Meanwhile, Prosecutor Frederick C. Zeln said he will interview members of the vice squad (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Orders Placed for Ore Giants

Two Carriers Will Be 729 Feet Long, Largest on Great Lakes

DETROIT (AP) — Two giant ore carriers, the largest ever to sail the Great Lakes, are on order in Detroit.

The Great Lakes Engineering Works announced yesterday it has received an order from Bethlehem Steel Corp. to build a 729-foot freighter. The firm is also building a similar-sized carrier for Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. Largest freighter on the lakes currently is the 716-foot Cliffs Victory, launched several years ago.

Both new vessels will have 75-foot beams and 30-foot drafts. Charles Haskell, Works president said, The Bethlehem carrier, to be built for the Pickards Mather & Co. Fleet, will have an oil-fired turbine developing 8,000 shaft horsepower, he added.

Haskell said the longer, deep-draft vessels are being built for the day when the Great Lakes connecting channels project is completed. That will enable them to carry more cargo at less cost, he said.

The 729-foot length is a maximum because of limitations at the Soo Locks.

Great Lakes Engineering also is building a 689-footer for the Interlake Steamship Co., Haskell said, adding:

"We feel this new upsurge in shipbuilding, induced by the deeper drafts of the St. Lawrence Seaway and the inter-connecting channels, will go far toward regaining for Detroit its traditional leadership in shipbuilding."

Ike Spends 2 Days on Carrier 'Saratoga'

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower joins the Navy today for a two-day tour of duty aboard the spanking new supercarrier Saratoga.

The 60,000-ton flattop, pride of the fleet, will show off its jet fighters and atomic bombers for the Commander-in-Chief and top brass in exercises off the Florida coast today and tomorrow.

Eisenhower, flying down from Washington, was to board the Saratoga at Mayport, Fla., near Jacksonville. He was taking along Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Atomic Energy Chairman Lewis Strauss, Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates, Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, and several other aides.

Also in the party was Maj. John Eisenhower, the President's son, who is serving as a White House aide for a few weeks in between Army assignments.

Pontiac Sailor Critically Hurt

Seattle Auto Accident Kills One, Injures Four; All Shipmates

A 23-year-old Pontiac sailor was reported in critical condition today following an automobile crash in Seattle which claimed the life of another sailor and injured three others.

Pipefitter L.C. John R. Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Cooper, of 122 Glenwood Ave., was tentatively identified as the driver of the car which, police said, was traveling 100 m.p.h. when it crashed into a steel pole in the downtown section.

Killed in the wreckage was Patrick T. Cahill of St. Peter, Minn., a Navy fireman.

The five occupants of the car were crew members of the hydrographic ship, Requisite.

According to a sister, Cooper was just beginning his seventh year in the Navy after re-enlisting last year. He is a graduate of St. Michael's High School.

His parents were vacationing in Indianapolis when they were informed of the accident. They are returning to Pontiac today.

Police reported the engine of the car was thrown 90 feet. The hood, front fenders and radiator traveled another 20 feet, while the battery was hurled through the window of a dance studio.

State Will Try to Recover Part of Missing Fund

Couple's Share of Hotel, Cocktail Lounge May Yield Sizable Sum

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Anna Thorpe, 43, accused embezzler of the St. Clair Shores secretary of state's branch office, and her husband, Floyd, 38, may begin their return trip today to face Michigan justice.

The couple, who fled 15 months ago with nearly $80,000 in license plate fees, was reported ready to waive extradition and return from Corpus Christi.

Macomb County Prosecutor Cecil A. Byers and State Police Detective Harold Ernest left Detroit yesterday and were expected to begin arrangements today for the Thorpes' return.

At Lansing, Mich., the state and a bonding company that paid out $50,000 in the Thorpe case have agreed that the state should have first crack at any missing sums recovered.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said the American Surety Co. and representatives of his office reached agreement on the point at conferences yesterday.

The maximum loss to the state contemplated before Anne V. Thorpe and her husband, Floyd, turned up Tuesday at Corpus Christi, Tex., was $19,464.

HOPED TO RECOVER

With the seizure of the fugitive pair, hopes grew that some of the $80,000 in public funds that disappeared with Mrs. Thorpe could be recovered.

The difference between what the surety company paid out on its blanket bond covering Department of State employees and what the state apparently stood to lose was accounted for by sale of the Thorpe home in St. Clair shores.

The state also has tied up Mrs. Thorpe's personal bank account, amounting to $3,334, but has not yet collected the money. If this sum actually comes into state possession, the potential loss would be reduced accordingly.

Joseph A. Sullivan, deputy attorney general, said that while there had been no opportunity yet to assay the legal problems carefully, it appeared some monies might be gotten from the state out of the Thorpe interest in a hotel at Mazatlan, Mexico.

"How Thorpe invested the money, and how feasible it will be to recover—we're not certain at this point," Sullivan said.

Sullivan said it appeared that a smaller sum might be recovered (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

City Merchants Plan Fun-in-Sun Shopping

There will be "Fun in the Sun" throughout downtown Pontiac starting Friday when merchants go all out to prove warm weather shopping can be a pleasure—and profitable too.

Salespeople will don casual summer wear Friday and Saturday and the public is invited to adopt the same comfortable clothing while shopping.

To make the occasion of even more value, many of the merchants are featuring "Fun in the Sun" specials on a wide range of items as featured in today's Pontiac Press.

On Friday, free bus rides to downtown Pontiac will be offered between 9 and 10:30 a.m. The two-day affair is a project of the Downtown Pontiac Assn., arranged through its promotion committee.

Veterans and Newcomers Bid for School Board Seats

A pair of veterans and a pair of newcomers to the school scene will contest Monday for two seats on the Pontiac School Board.

The top two candidates will be elected to the seven-man board at a period when it is about to spend some $3.5 million on new school construction, including a new senior high school.

During their four-year terms, the new members will face decisions involved with approval of operational budgets of more than $30 million plus construction projects which will run over $7 million.

Undoubtedly, their biggest problem will be how to find the money needed for additional classrooms and personnel in the face of climbing enrollments.

ENROLLMENT RISING

School board projections show next fall's enrollment of about 19,000 steadily rising over a four year period to some 23,000.

The board will be meeting with such groups as the county education board, state equalization board, the taxpayers, bargaining committees for teachers, secretaries and maintenance personnel.

They'll be trying to decide on the best curriculum possible while wading into the deep seas of land purchases and building construction.

The contenders are Louis H.

Schimmel, 20-year school board veteran and current board president; Robert B. Oliver, 16-year member; William H. Anderson, 44, of 919 Spence St., is a partner in the Columbia Non-Ferrous Foundry and Machine Co. of Pontiac, and is making his first bid for public office.

He attended Pontiac High School and is active in Masonic affairs.

He is worshipful master of Pontiac Lodge 21 of the Masons, a member of the White Shrine and Order of the Eastern Star. Anderson is a past monarch of the Iraq Grotto and past president of the Michigan and Western Ontario Grotto Assn.

He is married and has two daughters, one attending Madison Junior High and the other married.

Ludy, 29, of 2299 N. Opdyke Rd., Pontiac Township, is in the production control department of National Twist Drill Co., Rochester, where he is an expeditor.

He has served for the past two and a half years on his township's zoning board and has two children (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Lawyer Offers to Defend Teamsters to Picket Soldier in Japanese Trial to End Trusteeship

WASHINGTON (AP) — A suit seeking to block the trial of William S. Girard in Japanese courts was filed today in U.S. District Court here.

The habeas corpus action here was filed in the name of the soldier's brother, Louis Girard.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The volunteer American lawyer for Specialist 3.C. William Girard may face the first shot today in a legal battle to prevent the soldier's trial in a Japanese court on charges of killing a Japanese woman.

Earl J. Carroll, 53-year-old former Air Force major, said in New York yesterday that Girard's family had accepted his offer to help defend the 21-year-old soldier from Ottawa, Ill. Carroll said he would serve without fee and would pay his own expenses.

In Japan, the Army said Girard had selected Ituro Hayashi as his chief lawyer and had asked Maj. Stanley F. Levin, Hollywood, Calif., to serve as his personal legal adviser.

Carroll, now head of a Manhattan investment firm, said he planned to file a writ of habeas corpus in U.S. District Court here asking that Army authorities be ordered to return Girard to Washington for a court hearing. Carroll said he would contend Girard's constitutional rights have been violated.

Protests have been stirred in Congress and elsewhere by the decision to hand over Girard to the Japanese for trial. One investigation is under way in the Senate, and another is pending in the House.

Girard faces Japanese charges of "inflicting bodily injury causing death" to Mrs. Naka Sakai. She was shot Jan. 30 while scavenging for scrap metal on a U.S. Army firing range. Death was caused by an empty cartridge fired from a grenade launcher.

Japan has demanded that its courts try Girard, contending he acted beyond the bounds of his duty. The U.S. Government accepted. It said that Girard was not authorized to fire the cartridge case, although he had orders to guard some equipment on the range. Girard has denied any intention to hit anyone.

Sen. Allott (R-Colo.) said he has learned that orders to surrender Girard to Japan for trial originated at a "lower level" echelon. He added he thinks he knows the identity of "the man who did it." He declined to give the name.

At his news conference yesterday, President Eisenhower said it is his duty to see that "fair justice" is done in the Girard case.

The United States has status-of-forces treaties or agreements with Japan and other nations where it maintains military units. These treaties — which have aroused controversy in Congress in the past — permit trial of U.S. servicemen in civil courts of those countries "for offenses committed off duty."

Rep. Bow (R-Ohio) said today support from fellow congressmen for his move to do away with disputed treaty provisions has grown "much stronger."

Bow is slated to testify before the House Foreign Affairs Committee next Thursday.

Rep. Fulton (R-Pa.), a Foreign Affairs Committee member, sided with arguments that have been presented by the administration.

"It's a burden on the GI, he's abroad without his consent," Fulton acknowledged in a separate interview. But he said the only alternative is to withdraw U.S. troops abroad altogether, because in peacetime American forces can be stationed abroad only with the consent of the foreign country concerned and that country's sovereignty has to be recognized.

Rep. Boyle (D-Ill.), who said yesterday he may go to Japan to try to contact Japanese officials in Girard's behalf, indicated today he is not likely to make the trip.

Boyle said he had checked with Rep. Mason (R-Ill.), who represents Girard's home district, and said it appears that "the die is cast" by the administration decision Tuesday.

He has been president of the school board and served as director of War Housing for the Pontiac-Film area during World War II. Oliver is married and has two children.

Schimmel, 58, of 509 W. Iroquois, is a bond expert who has held various governmental and advisory posts.

He has served as a labor dispute mediator for the state, as a personal representative for Gov. Kim Sigler, as director of the Michigan Municipal Advisory Council, director of finance for the State Highway Dept., chairman of the governor's tax study committee, a member of the Oakland County Allocations Board and as chairman of the Interim Committee of school administrators and board members which is seeking a re-evaluation of the entire problem of school finances at the state level.

Schimmel is married and has three children. One daughter is a school teacher and the youngest, a son, is a student at Michigan State University.

Travel Agencies Jammed

BRITISH EAGER TO SEE U.S.

LONDON (INS) — British travel agencies were jammed today with would-be tourists anxious to see if the Empire State Building and Greenwich Village are all the movies crack them up to be.

The government's announcement Tuesday that, henceforth, Britons visiting the United States and Canada could take $280 with them, caused a run on British travel agencies.

London newspapers printed lists of inexpensive places to see in America. Reporters who had served a tour in New York advised potential travelers to avoid nightclubs but to spend time at Coney Island and in drug stores.

For the first time in 10 years newspapers carried American travel advertisements. Many agencies were considering easy payment plans.

A survey of tourist agents indicated that most inquiries were thinking about a tour which would take them to New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

A rebirth of a 3½-year fight to unseat James R. Hoffa and his self-appointed officers from Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 posts will be touched off next Tuesday when members picket the local's hall at 1410 E. Telegraph Rd.

Members are out for the end of Hoffa's trusteeship over the 3,500-member local, and "an honest and democratic election."

The picketing is another step in the long struggle by the rebelling members to loosen Hoffa's grip on the union. It began in October of 1953 when Teamsters President Dave Beck ordered the trusteeship.

A group, called the Rank-and-File Committee of Local 614, is 2,500 strong, according to a spokesman.

He explained the purpose of the committee and picketing was to "bring to the attention of the AFL-CIO Joint Council and to the public in general our plight, and to force the issue, if necessary, to a point where we will be granted a supervised and honest election of officers."

WANT 4 REINSTATED

The group also seeks the reinstatement of four members who,

it is claimed, have been "discriminated against by past and present officials" of the local.

It is this same group which is seeking an investigation of Local 614's affairs by Sen. McClellan's Senate labor racketeers probes.

The probe of the Pontiac local is still "under consideration," Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said last month.

Another demand of the insurgent unionists is that officers be elected from within the rank-and-file strength. They charge that the seven present officers and numerous business agents were "brought in by Hoffa from Detroit."

HOFFA STEPPED IN

Hoffa stepped into the local picture after two of its officers in 1953 were convicted on conspiracy charges.

The rebellious members claim there is no reason for Hoffa's trusteeship to remain.

"The officers say that, because we are after an honest election, there's discussion in the local," the spokesman commented.

The Teamsters' international constitution calls for a trusteeship when there is internal strife in a local.

The committee said it is taking matters in its own hands now because "we were ignored by the international in 1953 and have continued to be ignored since."

'SUSPECT FOUL PLAY'

Although they declined to place any specific charges against present officers, members said they "suspect foul play." They refused to elaborate.

They asked: "If this is the cleanest run local in the state, why can't we have an honest election?"

Earlier this year, Leann Harrison, acting president of Local 614, said it was the "cleanest run local, and that there was nothing to hide."

CHARGED FUND MISUSE

When similar removal proceedings failed several years ago, the anti-Hoffa faction filed suit charging misuse of one million dollars in members' dues. The suit was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. Many stormy meetings have been conducted since 1953, aimed at getting local elections and to strip Hoffa of his power.

The fiery Teamsters boss, rumored to be Beck's successor, faces trial June 18 on charges of attempting to secure records of the McClellan Committee by bribery.

Tonight, the President was to be shown the always delicate operation of carrier landings in the dark. Friday, the task group will shift to defensive maneuvers, with more demonstrations by guided missiles and other weapons that would be used against attacking ships or planes.

The Saratoga, scheduled to join the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean later this year, carries a crew of some 3,000 and about 100 planes. It is a sister ship of the Forrestal, first of the class, but is a few feet longer, making her the Navy's biggest flat-top.

It was the second tour of sea duty this year for the President, who spent six days aboard the cruiser Canberra on a slow cruise to the Bermuda Conference in March.

The show being put on for him by the Saratoga is part of "Lantflex," the first Atlantic Fleet exercise of 1957.

News Flash

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A University of Michigan freshman was in University Hospital here today with injuries suffered when he fell last night from a classroom building. Hospital authorities said Harvey G. Lapides, 18, of Detroit, was in "reasonably fair condition" after breaking both arms and receiving head cuts in the fall. Police Lt. Krasny said a 20-foot piece of window sash was hanging from a fourth story window of Haven Hall. It was attached at one end to a radiator inside. The other end was dangling free. Lapides apparently was trapped inside the building and used the cord to aid his escape.

out of the investment by the Thorpes in a Corpus Christi cocktail lounge.

"Our plan is simply to recover as much as we can on the theory that it was state funds which were involved," Sullivan said.

$35,000 IN HOTEL DEAL

He said it was his understanding that the hotel interest amounted to around $35,000, notwithstanding a figure almost double that sum mentioned by Thorpe in interviews in Texas.

Only a few thousand dollars were involved in the cocktail lounge deal.

The Thorpes were caught while consummating the cocktail lounge purchase. The FBI arrested them on federal flight warrants.

The couple waived extradition and Michigan authorities have gone to pick them up. Mrs. Thorpe faces a state embezzlement charge; her husband is accused of aiding and abetting the embezzlement.

KICKBACK CHARGE

The Thorpes repeated yesterday a charge that they took the money because kickbacks to Democratic politicians in Michigan put them $2,000 in debt to the state. "All political appointees were required to kick back 10 per cent of their gross salary," Thorpe was quoted as saying.

Thorpe said yesterday they were told the kickback would be expected when his wife took office. "Somebody comes around and asks you for it and you pay or lose your job," he said.

Mrs. Thorpe said the kickback system was general in Michigan. "Everybody pays, Democrats and Republicans both," she said. "I don't think it is dirty politics. Somebody has to support the party. I think it is just too steep."

The Thorpes had made the same charge in a letter postmarked, Edwardsville, Ill., shortly after their disappearance.

The charge led to an investigation of the secretary of state's office by the Republican-dominated State Legislature. Hare, a Democrat, emphatically denied such contributions were demanded or solicited and was absolved. He was re-elected by a wide margin last November.

During the legislative probe, Hare told lawmakers neither he nor any of his staff had ever asked for or received political contributions from Mrs. Thorpe. He admitted that some of the 220 branch managers contributed to the party, but "certainly were not compelled to do so."

The secretary of state branch offices in Michigan are filled on a political patronage system.

BOO — This could be a creature from outer space sporting a big grin, but it isn't. The girl in pleated skirt is merely getting a 10-cent close-up of passing ships and the Statue of Liberty from one of the powerful binoculars in New York's Battery Park.

Keep a Record of Child's Shots

Denver Doctors Warn Parents to Keep Track of Inoculations

DENVER (INS) — Doctors warn parents to keep a record of their children's protective shots and boosters. To help out, the Colorado State Medical Society gives the following list:

Polio: Two shots and a booster should be given all children from one year or older. How many boosters are necessary is not known as yet, but practice is to have them annually.

Triple shot—diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus: first shot at between one and two months, second at two to three months and a third between the third and fourth month. Boosters are necessary at 16 to 18 months and at two to three year intervals thereafter if a doctor recommends.

Tetanus "wound booster": Often recommended by doctors after severe injuries. If the child has not had a tetanus shot in eight to 10 years, the wound booster may not suffice and an anti-toxin injection may be required.

SMALL POX

Smallpox vaccination: Original shot during first year, normally during fifth or sixth month. Repeat when child starts school and every five years thereafter.

BCG vaccine against tuberculosis: Only on recommendation of doctor in cases of extra exposure to tuberculosis.

Typhoid and paratyphoid: Normally not given except on doctor's suggestion.

Infectious hepatitis: Injections of gamma globulin may be taken after exposure and repeated at six week intervals if exposure continues.

Measles: Gamma globulin may be prescribed by physician in epidemics or cases of extreme exposure.

Anti-rabies serum: Animal and dog bites should be taken to the doctor to decide whether serum should be given. Shots are given within 24 hours of the bite and repeated in 14 day intervals.

German measles (rubella): An expectant mother should receive serum injection if exposed to German measles to protect the unborn child from injury.

233 Missionaries Sent

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Nine Lutheran bodies and two church-related agencies in North America sent 233 missionaries to mission fields in 17 countries during 1956.

Dr. Andrew S. Burgess, professor of missions at Luther Theological Seminary here, who compiled the statistics, said the total number of Lutheran missionaries from America now serving abroad totals 1,623.

Plagued Day And Night with Bladder Discomfort?

Such a common thing as urine eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritation—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills have three outstanding advantages—act in three ways for your speedy return to comfort. 1—They have an easing soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action that the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 18 miles of kidney tubes, get the same healthy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for new, larger, economy size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today.

Bee in Your Car May Buzz You to Death

A bee in your car may turn out to be a fly in the ointment that spoils your Sunday afternoon pleasure drive — and wrecks your life.

Swattin' Sam, a driver who's annoyed by the buzzing bee inside his auto, may cause a traffic accident by batting away at it.

THAT'S THE WORD

That's the word from the National Safety Council, which says Sam and others like him often are victims of little distractions — which cause big traffic accidents.

You're probably read about Rapid Robert, who doesn't take time to shave in the morning. So he mows his beard with a plug-in electric shaver in the modern manner as he speeds down the highway, saving time and losing his life.

Hungry Hilda actually was observed maneuvering her car through a curve onto a bustling expressway using only her elbows to steer as she used her hands to eat ice cream from a paper cup.

CRAZY PEOPLE

Crazy people? Sure! You wouldn't do that? Maybe not. But how about the dropped cigarette ashes? While you brush frantically, your car travels 73 feet a second at a moderate 50 mph.

The kids start a squabble in the back seat. Do you turn around to break it up?

How about reaching for something in the glove compartment? Ever do it, taking your eyes off the road?

HERE, GIMME

Have you ever said this to the little woman? "Here, gimme that map. A woman can't tell north from south." And while your eyes follow Route 52 to the next turn, you shear off a mailbox that says Rural Route 2 and end up in a ditch.

So don't say you aren't subject to distractions. Maybe you don't shave in a moving car, but there are lots of other ways to get a close shave. For instance.

Friendly Frank, the horn honker's delight, always turns to see what buddy blew his noisemaker at him. The din of a crash is the next sound he hears.

WIGGLES PINKLES

Wavin' Wilda hates to be called a snob. Even in busy city traffic she finds time to wiggle her pinkies at Mrs. Jones. "That darn ole car stopped RIGHT in front of me!" she wails to the judge.

Everybody's familiar with Romantic Ray and Lovin' Lil. They're the bill and cooers who just can't keep their lips apart and their eyes on the road. A clutch, a kiss — and a collision!

The thirsty kid, too, is one who's distracted. He's balancing a soft-drink bottle between his legs.

Doesn't want to ruin those new trousers by hitting the brakes. So drink bottle between his legs. And then there's the star-gazer.

"Look at them great big stars up there," he purrs to his favorite gal. They both see stars, but not the celestial variety.

In the same category is the scenery-scanner. He's the motorist who "slows down" to 60 mph to gawk at the colors on the Painted Desert. ... and then is in a room painted all white.

All comical characters? The council points out they have one thing in common — they're all distracted.

And they're all potential accident causers.

Your ole back at any drug store it not pleased. Easy-to-apply

NINETEEN

100 Ships to Parade in Huge Naval Show

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NORFOLK, Va. (NEA) — The antics of sailors with shore leave and in a holiday mood are not exactly new to citizens of this naval base town.

But mild concern is growing over the partying which threatens to develop when 70,000 foreign and U.S. sailors, 1,000 celebrating diplomats, 25,000 tourists and Defense Secretary Charles Wilson arrive for what promises to be the greatest international naval review in history.

It'll be the first event of its kind held here, or anywhere else in U.S. waters, in 50 years. And natives who recall the show 50 years ago, featuring the presence of President Teddy Roosevelt, aren't sure they've had sufficient time to recover. It was a real whing-ding then, they claim.

This big sea extravaganza, June 8-18, is a major event in the celebration of the 350th anniversary of the founding of the first American colony at Jamestown, Va. Sometime later, probably in October, the celebration is expected to attract a visit by the Queen of England.

MORE THAN 100

More than 100 U.S. and foreign ships from the fleets of at least 17 countries will steam into this huge U.S. Navy base for the show. The biggest ship afloat, the new aircraft carrier Saratoga, sister ship of the Forrestal, is expected to be the prime attraction. The guided missile cruiser Canberra will lead the review. Every other type naval vessel, down to PT boat size, will participate.

It should set an all-time high for colorful sea-going pageantry.

The formal review is scheduled for the afternoon of June 12, weather permitting. The ships will anchor in a double line out at sea a few miles and Charles Wilson will do the official reviewing by sailing between the two lines. Guns will be fired. Sailors will salute. Flags will be unfurled. And whistles will roar.

President Eisenhower was asked to be the chief reviewer but he couldn't make it.

MOST TIED UP

The 10 days will find most of the ships tied up at piers and docks in the Norfolk harbor and open for public inspection. During this time most of the crews will be given shore leave and that's why the natives are bracing themselves.

To ease the strain on the city's colorful taverns, although experienced in catering to sailors, they've cooked up a raft of special events including symphony concerts and ballets.

There will also be a major league baseball game, a boxing show, a county fair, a swimming meet, a circus and an ice show. If that schedule does not satisfy the recreation needs of the visiting foreign sailors they can have free trips to nearby Colonial Williamsburg and Jamestown Island.

The U.S. State Department got into the act by deciding just what nations would be asked to par-

REVIEW LEADER: The guided missile cruiser Canberra will lead the naval parade through Hampton Roads.

THE BIG ONE: Largest ship (and top attraction) will be the carrier Saratoga, sister ship of Forrestal (above).

icipate. The official statement says:

"Only those nations should be included which might have some reason for celebrating the Jamestown founding. The list was therefore limited to the Americas, those European nations which participated in the exploration and settlement of this country, and those countries which are members of NATO."

That's why Russia was not invited. Russian representatives, however, will be among the big crowd of diplomats coming from Washington to watch the review and take part in a large round of parties.

Official host for the whole shebang is Adm. Jerauld Wright, boss of the U.S. Atlantic and NATO fleets. Adm. Wright enjoys an international reputation as an excellent host so all guests are guaranteed a swell time.

Searching for Difference in Food Radioactivity

NEW YORK (U-P) — Scientists will examine canned food left in the Antarctic by the Scott expedition in 1910 to determine if it is less radioactive than present-day food. The Atomic Energy Commission will try to find out whether "background radiation"—which all food has from natural sources—has increased during the past 12 years of atomic explosions.

Shell Injures Collector

TOKYO (U-P) — A Japanese scrap metal collector Hiroshi Katsumata, 22, was injured today when a bazooka shell exploded as he picked up shells during target practice at the U. S. Marine firing range at Gotemba, about 60 miles south of Tokyo.

Poles Expected to Wind Up Deal

Aid Delegation to Get Half of $95 Million Now, Rest at Later Date

WASHINGTON (U-P) — Poland's aid delegation was expected today to settle its $95-million-dollar U. S. deal half now and half later rather than wait around to get it all at once.

A joint U. S. - Polish announcement to that effect may be forthcoming today.

It would wind up four months of negotiations topped off at the end by an unexpected congressional delay.

The Poles arrived in Washington last February. They came in response to public statements by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles that the United States would help any nation in its first days of economic distress after breaking away from iron-fisted domination from Moscow.

The $95-million-dollar figure was settled upon after long and exhaustive talks at the State Department.

A little more than half of this will come from available funds, including a 30-million-dollar loan from the President's special fund. The rest will come from a congressionally authorized fund to finance sales of U. S. farm surplus.

The Poles are anxious to get the aid flowing, particularly the 34 million dollars worth of cotton they want. For that reason they were expected to sign a partial agreement.

Besides the 34 million in U. S. cotton, the Poles were expected to get, in approximate figures, 32 million dollars in wheat, 10 million in fats and oils, 4 million in coal mining gear, 2 million in soy beans and 13 million in costs of transporting these items.

Jaycees to Help Elderly Widow Clean Her Home

SAGINAW (U-P) — Living alone in her small frame home here sometimes is pretty rough on Mrs. Gertrude Wood.

She's an 81-year-old widow who lives alone, supported only by a pension.

But still, the sun sometimes shines for Mrs. Wood. Saturday will be one of those bright days—if it doesn't rain.

The Saginaw Junior Chamber of Commerce has selected her house for a top-to-bottom cleanup as part of a city-wide campaign.

Early Saturday morning, volunteer workers will arrive to clean Mrs. Wood's yard. Painters will daub the outside of the house with a new coat supplied free by a local manufacturer. Others will mend her fences. By nightfall, Mrs. Wood's small frame house will be a showplace.

Open Expensive Dam

TOKYO (U-P) — An electric push button today opened the gates of Ogochi Dam which took 19 years, 60 million dollars and 82 lives to complete. The 447-foot high dam, capable of supplying water to 1,220,000 persons daily, is the upper reaches of the Tamagawa River in the outskirts of Tokyo.

At Waterford High School

Five Sisters to Appear in Recital

Five sisters from one family in Waterford Township will be among the three hundred youngsters under 16 years of age to appear in the fifth annual ballet recital at 8 p.m. Friday at the high school.

The Dawson girls, Barbara 4, Kathryn 5, Christine 8, Delores 10, and Margaret 11, are all pretty little girls with deep dimples in their cheeks.

Two more sisters at home, Diane, 2, and tiny Mary, only 3-weeks old, will eventually make up the family line of ballerinas according to their parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dawson, of 2147 Ferndale Ave.

Their two sons, Charles, 14, and Jimmy, 12, plan on being in the audience when the curtain goes up Friday night.

Sponsored by the Waterford Township Recreation Department, the recital climaxes 32 weeks of instructional classes under the direction of Carol Wolfe.

A trip to Mother Nature's Realm will be portrayed in colorful dance and songs.

Students dressed in gay costumes will perform, and an orchestra accompanying the show will help create atmosphere for visits to the land of "Let's Pretend."

Children will represent blue skies, pink clouds, sunset, stars, night shadows, storm clouds, tornadoes the Rainbow Lady, and in the Finale.

During the second half of the show the advanced groups will enact the story of the "Twelve Dancing Princesses."

More than 1,500 people are expected to attend the affair, according to Mrs. Wolfe. The public has been invited to attend, and tickets may be obtained at the door.

FAMILY AFFAIR — Five sisters from the Waterford Township Dawson family, will be featured in a ballet recital at 8 p. m. Friday at the high school. The "ballerinas" include, Margaret 11, Delores 10, Christine 8, Kathryn 5, and Barbara 4. Baby girls at home are Diane 2, and Mary 3-weeks who will probably be in the lineup next year, according to Carol Wolfe, director.

Frenchman Tries to Form Cabinet

PARIS (U-P) — Another prospective French premier, Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, began consultations today with other parliamentary leaders today about his chances of forming a new government.

Bourges-Maunoury, 42-year-old Radical Socialist and defense minister in Socialist Premier Guy Mollet's outgoing government, took on the task after Pierre Pflimlin failed to rally sufficient support among France's diverse political parties.

The new candidate's first step was to confer with Mollet in a bid for Socialist cooperation. As a member of Mollet's coalition, Bourges-Maunoury probably can count on Socialist backing. But if he adopts Mollet's plan to increase taxes—most pressing need of the near bankrupt French government—he also may run afoul of the conservatives.

Young Prowler Stabs Housewife in Scuffle

DETROIT (U-P) — Mrs. Celia English was beaten and stabbed three times last night in a scuffle with a teenage prowler at her east side home.

"I heard a noise and saw a boy about 16 trying to force his way into the children's bedroom," Mrs. English said. "I screamed and grabbed him, then he stabbed me."

She suffered knife wounds in the back and arm and a bruised eye. Her children, Dennis, 4, and Kathy, 3, slept through the scuffle. Her husband, Robert, was at work.

Williams Lashes at 'Lies' About High State Taxes

DETROIT (U-P) — Gov. Williams said yesterday that the charge that high taxes are driving business out of Michigan "has all the advantages of the big lie over complex and difficult truth."

In a talk prepared for a Rotary Club luncheon, he said:

"A company may be making fur parkas for the Eskimo trade, but if it moves to Alaska to be nearer its market, somebody is sure to claim that it was driven away by Michigan taxes."

Williams said "mass libel" about the state's business climate was the result of a "deliberate and cunning campaign" that has "no real factual basis."

IMMENSE DAMAGE

"This campaign has done our state immense and probable irreparable damage," he said, adding:

"Nobody can say how many business firms canceled planned moves to Michigan, or dropped plans to expand in Michigan."

The governor reviewed figures compiled by the economic development department, which he said showed that Michigan had gained a net of 12,525 jobs in plant shifts during the last five years and about 140,000 more as the result of expanded facilities of companies already operating in the state.

However, Williams said that for a combination of reasons, including a very high local tax on in-

Asks U.S. Try to Cut A-Testing

Senator Wants to Limit Future Nuclear Blasts to Certain Amount

WASHINGTON (U-P) — Sen. Anderson (D-NM) suggested today the United States make a definite proposition to limit nuclear bomb tests to the equivalent of 10 million tons of TNT a year.

Anderson, vice chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, told newsmen the limit should be based on the amount of radioactive material hurled into the atmosphere by bomb blasts—not on the size of the bombs themselves.

He said he proposed an equivalent of 10 megatons because it represents a middle ground among suggestions a special atomic energy subcommittee has heard for a bomb-testing level to minimize radiation damage to present and future generations.

Anderson said the 10-megaton limit might be apportioned among the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain—the only nations which so far have developed nuclear weapons. He said there is no inspection problem since monitoring devices enable detection of testing activity from afar.

Calypso Songs, Marriage Denied by Elvis Presley

HOLLYWOOD (U-P) — Elvis Presley, sitting on a couch with his current best girl, declared flatly that "marriage and calypso are the farthest things from my mind."

The statement on marriage came entirely unsolicited when a reporter asked him yesterday if he planned to make a calypso record now that the Caribbean rhythms are making an inroad on the rock 'n' roll craze. (He doesn't).

A few weeks ago a Mexico City City newspaper reported that Presley planned to wed actress Yvonne Lime in Acapulco.

"Man, the night that report came out I was out with Anne," he nudged pretty Anne Neyland, onetime Miss Texas. "What did we do that night, honey?"

She reminded him that they had gone to a local moviehouse.

"Man, that's right. And you should have seen the faces drop on the people when they saw me in a movie with another girl than the one I was supposed to marry in Mexico. Where do those crazy reports come from?"

He and the young actress sat in his dressing room along with a half-dozen friends with whom he went to high school in Memphis. It was lunchtime and Elvis ate what must have been known as an Elvis Presley special sandwich. The concoction consisted of French fried potatoes, tomato and burnt bacon between two big slices of bread. A bottle of pop washed it down.

"Man," he said, "when I get married, it'll be no secret. I'll get married in my home town of Memphis and the whole town'll be there."

Elvis' deal at MGM is currently the talk of the industry. He's getting $250,000 plus 50 per cent of the profits for making "Jailhouse Rock."

Two Men Return $2,350 in Envelope

EVANSTON, Ill. (U-P) — A school district truck driver got a pleasant surprise yesterday just a few minutes after he reported the loss of an envelope containing $2,350 in school funds.

The money had been deposited in the State Bank and Trust Co. Sigward Hanson, the truck driver, was told when he telephoned the school district office to report the loss.

Hanson learned about the loss of the envelope as he was parking his truck in front of the bank. An unidentified woman told him an envelope had come sailing out of the truck. Hanson, who had several envelopes containing school funds on the dashboard, winced.

He reported the loss to police. They he called the school office and was told the money had been deposited by two men. The money laden envelope, addressed to the bank, had been found by James J. O'Conner and Albert Patterson, Chicago, who delivered it to the bank and went on their way.

Sao Paulo: Fast Growing South American Chicago

By JULIUS GOLDEN

SAO PAULO, Brazil (U-P) — The New World's new melting pot—Sao Paulo—today is Brazil's cradle of industrialization.

Paulistas, the proud and diverse people who inhabit this city, call it "the fastest growing city in the world; the Chicago of South America."

The city is dramatic evidence that a community, left far behind by the industrial revolution of the last century, can overcome the handicap in a rush toward the future.

Paulistas, referring to the state as well as the city, say "Sao Paulo is a locomotive pulling 20 empty cars (the other Brazilian states)."

Built over rolling hills and shallow valleys, Sao Paulo is a melting pot of three million. On its wide modern boulevards walk Germans, Japanese, Italians, Hungarians and even descendants of proud Confederates who left the United States after the Civil War.

And the immigrants keep coming. Some bring money, others technical know-how. Still others come with empty pockets and big dreams. But all add to Sao Paulo's dynamic personality.

In this nation of vast lands and untapped resources, Sao Paulo has a niche of its own. It has taken long strides ahead of the rest of Brazil.

From its soaring skyscrapers, its modern factories, come more than half of the country's textile products, chemicals and medicines. It produces 80 per cent of all Brazilian electrical materials, 78 per cent of manufactured rubber goods and 86 per cent of the machinery and finished metal.

Sao Paulo's industrial growth far outshadows its population increase, which in itself is amazing. This city has grown by one million in six years and last year became Brazil's most populous city.

Industrial growth in Sao Paulo, best shown by the increase in value of basic industries, borders on the fantastic. The value of metallurgical industries has grown from less than one million dollars in 1940 to eight million in 1950 to 18 million in 1955.

The automotive industry was valued at two million dollars in 1950 and five million in 1955. The value of the chemical industry grew from eight million dollars in 1950 to 21 million in 1955.

There is an estimated one billion dollars invested in and around Sao Paulo by U.S. companies.

General Motors has announced a 10 million dollar expansion plan here. Ford Motor Co. is expected to follow suit.

In the chemical field, money has been invested by W. R. Grace and Co., Celanese, Union Carbide and others. Union Carbide invested five million in a plastics plant. Borden Chemical is making formaldehyde and other chemicals in a four million dollar plant.

Although U. S. investments make up about 60 per cent of the total foreign investments in Sao Paulo, other nations are moving in rapidly. Germany has invested 72 million dollars in Brazil since 1952—more than any other nation—and 85 per cent of this money is in Sao Paulo.

The heavy immigration to Sao Paulo has solved one major problem of industrialization that the rest of Brazil faces. In Sao Paulo there is no lack of technicians for the factories.

"We have our own technical schools now," said one industrialist. "Actually, Sao Paulo needs agricultural experts for the fields. But for the factories, we're training our own."

SKYSCRAPER CROWD Sao Paulo's metropolitan heart, graceful testimony to the city's fantastic boom.

County Kiwanis Boosting Sale of Michigan Apples

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—Kiwanians as their agricultural project of 1957. A kick-off meeting to formulate plans for an intensive campaign will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, at the West Bloomfield Township Hall on Orchard Lake road. John C. Finlayson, chairman of the West Bloomfield Kiwanis Club Agricultural Committee, has invited leading apple growers, retailers and representatives from local newspapers and radio stations. A special guest will be Holland Patterson, manager's secretary of the Michigan State Apple Commission.

Kiwanis Clubs of Rochester, Pontiac, Royal Oak, Farmington, Oak Park, Ferndale, Southfield, Berkley, Birmingham, Holly and Fenton will be represented.

Retailers invited to the meeting include representatives of the Wrigley's, National Kroger, Atlantic & Pacific and Food Fair grocery chains. The Greater Detroit Food Dealers' Assn. and the Michigan Food Retailers Assn. will also send representatives.

To add zest to the campaign, Kiwanians will stage an apple pie baking contest in October. Winners from the 15 clubs participating in the project will meet in Pontiac to determine the champion of Oakland County.

Josephine Sawyer, Consumers Marketing Information Officer for Oakland County, will play a large part in the promotion of the contest. She is employed by the Michigan State University Agricultural Extension Service.

Library Reports on Book Loans

Walled Lake Service Signs 6-Month Lease; Needs Books for Youth

WALLED LAKE — The first report issued by the Walled Lake Community Library reveals that almost 3,400 books were loaned during its first 10 months of operation.

A total of 2,616 books were passed out to holders of library cards from the library shelves. Another 800 special requests for books not in the library were filled.

Information released by Mrs. Helen Foss, recording secretary of the Library Planning Board, disclosed that the library has been experiencing a steady growth. The growth has been taking place in the number of patrons and in the number of books available.

The board has signed a six-month lease to remain in its same quarters on the second floor of the Ramsey Building in downtown Walled Lake, next door to the city offices.

The library is still operating from funds received through donations and the sale of library cards.

A proposal that the library be tax supported by property owners in the city was defeated by a small margin at the April 1 spring election.

Board members say the current need is for books for children of all ages. The library was opened last Aug. 4.

Catholic Ceremony Read

ROCHESTER — Helen Dorothy Dzuris became the bride of Stanley Gajda in a June 1 ceremony at St. Andrew's Catholic Church here. The Rev. Fr. Edward G. Baumgartner performed the 10 a.m. ceremony before 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Peter Dzuris of 507 East Third St.

Wearing a gown of eyelet and embroidered organza over tulle, the bride's fingertip veil was secured by sequins and pearls. She carried a prayer book with a white orchid.

Mrs. Fran Anderson, sister of the bride was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Catherine Dzuris, sister of the bride, Delores Dzuris, niece of the bride, and Mrs. Hugo Tuenser.

Chester Morgan, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man and ushers were Charles Williams, Frank Falletieh and Stanley Anderson.

A reception was held at Auburn Heights Community Hall. After a Florida honeymoon the couple will reside at 507 E. Third St., Rochester.

Layer Tomato Slices, Crackers

Fresh tomatoes, always a summertime favorite on American tables, are tastier than ever in a delicious new version called "Crispy Scalloped Tomato Slices." Baked triple-decker style between layers of minced onion and crispy saltine cracker crumbs, the scalloped slices will add an appetizing "plus" to luncheon and dinner menus. Here's the easy way to prepare them:

Crispy Scalloped Tomato Slices
6 medium-sized tomatoes (about two pounds)
2 cups coarsely-crumbled saltine crackers
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons melted butter
1/2 cup minced onion
2 tablespoons water
Chopped parsley (optional)
Heat oven to 425 degrees F. (moderately hot oven). Slice tomatoes into 1/2-inch slices. Combine crumbs, salt, pepper and 2 tablespoons of melted butter. Sprinkle one third of crumb mixture over bottom of a greased 8-inch by 8-inch by 2-inch baking pan.

Arrange half of tomato slices over crumbs. Sprinkle with half of minced onion. Sprinkle with another third of crumbs. Repeat. Drizzle remaining melted butter, and water, over top of last crumb layer.

Cover; bake at 425 degrees F. for 15 minutes. Uncover, and continue to bake until tomato slices are tender (about 15 more minutes). Makes 8 servings. Sprinkle, if desired, with chopped parsley.

Stuff Bologna Slice With Spicy Salmi

Bologna, the bland-flavored sausage that's high on the cold cut popularity list, makes an ideal "wrap" for a stuffing of chopped salami and minced onion.

Serve the combination as the main dish of luncheon or supper and accompany it with broiled bananas and a crisp vegetable salad, if you like.

Sausage Rolls
1/2 cup diced salami
1 small onion, finely chopped
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
8 slices bologna
2 tablespoons fat
Combine salami, onion, and mustard. Spoon into centers of sliced bologna. Roll each filled bologna slice and fasten with cocktail picks. Cook bologna rolls in hot fat until browned. Serve immediately. Four servings.

Vinegar Institute Seeks Unusual Uses of Product

Have you ever wondered how many different uses there are for that bottle of vinegar on your kitchen shelf? Well, so has the Vinegar Institute, a national trade association of vinegar manufacturers.

The Vinegar Institute is conducting a study to find out just how many different uses there are for this most versatile of all manufactured food products.

You can help in this project. You probably have a favorite recipe that is flavored with vinegar. Perhaps you have discovered an effective non-food use for vinegar, such as in cleaning.

Whatever interesting uses you make of vinegar, the Vinegar Institute would like to hear about them. While this is a research project and not a contest, no prizes are being offered, you are invited to write a letter telling about your pet uses of vinegar and send it to the Vinegar Institute, 27 East Monroe, Chicago 3, Illinois.

AN ANCIENT FOOD

Vinegar, which means "sour wine," probably is one of the oldest foods ever manufactured. It originally was made from grapes, and possibly was discovered when wine or grape juice standing in a vessel turned sour.

Today most vinegar is made from apples (cider vinegar) and from grains. But some vinegars are also made from grapes, oranges, bananas, dates, raisins, pears, apricots, peaches, pineapples and from sugar, honey and molasses.

Vinegar has an interesting history. It is reported that the Egyptians used vinegar in their mortar.

PRICELESS DRINK

Cleopatra had another use for vinegar in ancient Egypt. She bet Mark Antony that she could devour a fortune in a single meal. To prove her point, she dissolved a priceless pearl in a cup of vinegar and then drank the expensive liquid.

From the Bible we learn that Ruth was given a cooling drink of vinegar while working in a barley field at high noon. It was believed in those days that vinegar would help avoid sunstroke. Some people today consider vinegar in cold water a refreshing drink. Others believe this beverage is a good diet aid.

Hippocrates, the "Father of Medicine," used vinegar for its strange healing powers. During the Middle treat and prevent bubonic plague.

Hannibal is said to have used Ages vinegar was administered to vinegars and fire to explode impassable rocks in the Alps so that his army might pass through. Louis XIII of France is reported to have used vinegar to cool his canons.

In early England, the sense of taste was restored by scraping the tongue and washing it with a mixture of vinegar, water and honey. In the south today, some people treat fever by binding the wrists with compresses of onions soaked in vinegar. Tennessee mountaineers say painting the body with vinegar will stop rheumatism.

Today, we use vinegar chiefly in salad dressings; to tenderize and flavor meats, seafood and fowl; to add piquancy to vegetables, casseroles, sauces and relishes; and for pickling and preserving.

Vinegar is also used to remove stains; to rinse clothes; to relieve the pain of sunburn, itching from insect bites, the discomfort of chapped hands; and in vaporizers to chase head colds.

What interesting uses do you make of vinegar? The Vinegar Institute would like to hear about them.

Use Kippers to Add Zest to Bland Food

Moist, lightly smoked kippers from the cold Norwegian fjords add zest to egg dishes, put kick into scalloped potatoes and put appetite interest into many usually bland recipes.

These Norway kippers are inexpensive—about 12 cents each.

Scalloped Potatoes 'n' Kippers

3 1/2-cup cans Norway kippers
3 cups sliced potatoes
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup minced onion
4 tablespoons flour
2 1/2 cups milk, scalded
Salt and pepper to taste
Paprika
Butter, 1 1/2 or 2-quart casserole.

Arrange in alternate layers thinly sliced potatoes and Norway kippers. On each layer sprinkle a tablespoon of flour, minced onion, salt and pepper.
Repeat procedure until all ingredients but the milk have been used. Pour over scalded milk to cover. Sprinkle with little paprika. Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for about 1 hour, or until potatoes are browned and tender. Serve hot. Serves 6.

Serve Shrimp in Grapefruit

Breaded shrimp in hot savory grapefruit will please the family on hot summer nights. Team with a new vegetable, asparagus or new little potatoes, add a brown-and-serve type bread which you can do in the oven while the grapefruit heats, and you have a tempting main-meal dish.

Breaded Shrimp in Hot Savory Grapefruit

1 10-ounce package individually frozen breaded shrimp
1 large grapefruit
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon salad oil
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon horseradish
1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons minced celery
2 tablespoons minced onion, preferably green onion and top
1 tablespoon minced parsley
Halve grapefruit, remove core and loosen sections. Mix half of pulp and juice from each with seasonings. Pile mixture back into grapefruit halves. Set in shallow pan and heat in 400 degrees oven 10 minutes.

Deep-fry whole breaded fantal shrimp in package directions. Drain on paper towel.

Arrange shrimp in grapefruit halves with tails over edge (extra may be placed around base). Spoon some of sauce in shells over shrimp. After shrimp have all been dunked in sauce and eaten, be sure everybody eats remaining sauce—it's delicious by itself, too!

NOTE: When grapefruit available are small, use a whole grapefruit for each serving. Cut a top off stem end, not more than a fourth of the whole. Makes 2 servings.

Salad Greens Must Be Dried Before Using

Brightly colored spring salads will sharpen appetites. Yellow green leaf lettuce, bright dark green spinach, jade green watercress and red-veined beet leaf make a colorful combination for just pennies per serving says the MSU Marketing Information Agent Mrs. Josephine Lawler.

One secret of salad success is dry salad greens. After washing, pat them dry. Dry salad greens will not dilute the dressing during the tossing, and the salad will come to the table looking crisp and inviting.

Fold sour cream into hashed brown potatoes just as you are ready to serve them. The result will be a new flavor treat.

Serve Fresh Asparagus With Shrimp Sauce

The wide variety of fresh vegetables in the markets during the spring and summer offer many interesting combinations for the homemaker to serve with companion sauces.

Asparagus is one of the vegetables that makes a pleasing partner for cream sauces with many variations. Cheese, pimiento, eggs, seafood—each one alone or in combination blends with the delicious flavor of this, and many other green vegetables.

For lunch or dinner, when a buffet or family style service has been planned, a combination of fresh asparagus on toast topped with a shrimp and hard-cooked egg sauce will be eye-appealing and add an interesting blend of flavors to the menu. As an accompaniment serve tomatoes cut in half and broiled with a topping of shredded American cheese.

Crabmeat or lobster or a combination of both may be substituted for the shrimp in the cream sauce. You will want to make this dish often for your family and friends.

Asparagus Spears With Shrimp Sauce

2 small bunches fresh asparagus*
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
Dash each of pepper, Tabasco sauce, and paprika
2 cups milk

Proper Meat Care Is Safety Measure

Don't let a balmy breeze wafting through your open window invite you outdoors from the dinner table before you've taken care of the food left from the meal. It's just such a balmy breeze, warmed by a hot sun perhaps, that causes disastrous effects on foods left standing at room temperatures.

Meat, for example, left from a meal should be cooled, covered, and promptly refrigerated. To conserve space, the bones may be removed from the meat before it is stored.

The same rule applies when meats are cooked for future use. The cooked meats should be quickly cooled, uncovered, then covered, and stored in the refrigerator. Cooling may be hastened by setting the pan of meat in cold water. Occasional stirring of broth or gravy of stews or soups prepared for future service will increase the rate of cooling, too.

1 1/2 cups cooked, snelled, and deveined shrimp
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
6 slices buttered toast
Pimiento
Break tender part of each asparagus spear from woody base. Remove scales, if sandy. Wash thoroughly. Cook covered in salted boiling water until tender; drain.
Melt butter in saucepan over low heat and blend in flour and seasonings. Add milk slowly stirring constantly until sauce is smooth and thickened. Fold shrimp and eggs into sauce carefully. Allow shrimp to heat through.

Place hot buttered toast slices on serving dish. Cover slices with well-drained asparagus spears. Top with shrimp sauce or pour sauce in separate dish to be served with asparagus. Garnish with pimiento and sprigs of parsley. Makes 6 servings.

Variations: Substitute 1/2 cup each of flaked canned lobster and crabmeat for the shrimp and eggs called for in above recipe.

*About 2 pounds. If desired, 2 packages of frozen, asparagus spears may be substituted. Cook until tender as directed on package.

SHRIMP SAUCE ENHANCES — Shrimp or lobster cream sauce will add new flavor appeal to fresh asparagus spears for a main dish at luncheon or for dinner. For an added accompaniment broil half tomatoes with a topping of shredded American cheese.

Physical Education Expert Points to Russia

Urges Gymnastics for U.S. Children

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—America's children, reared on television, the family car and the school bus, are showing up badly in physical fitness tests, a physical education expert reported today.

Bonnie Prudden, White Plains, N. Y., newly appointed to the President's Citizen Advisory Committee on Youth Fitness, said there is "a level to which we can't go without getting into danger, both physically and emotionally."

The Russians are spending billions for physical education—not sports, but gymnastics, "and they're not doing this for fun. They need a strong nation because they have plans for it," said Miss Prudden.

She urged America "to take a leaf out of their books and get to work on our own youngsters."

Miss Prudden, a trim, dark-haired 43-year-old, who looks more like a college girl though she is the mother of two teenagers, operates an institute for physical fitness in White Plains.

She came here to address the General Federation of Women's Clubs and urged the women to get busy to trim themselves and their families.

She said in an interview American children need more gym work and running games that build endurance, but less ball playing.

Schools aren't handling the problem, she said. Ninety per cent of the elementary schools have no gym at all and other schools are emphasizing recreation rather than physical education.

There is too much stress on baseball, volleyball and basketball, she said.

"Take the ball away and you have no program," she said, pointing out that gym apparatus has virtually disappeared from the schools.

Children need at least an hour a day in actual physical training or sports that build endurance, she said.

Miss Prudden said she has conducted muscle fitness tests among 4,800 U. S. children and more than 3,000 Europeans and found 59 per cent of the youngsters here failed, compared with 8 per cent in the European group.

In the past 10 years, she explained, there has been a change in attitude toward sports, a tendency to play indoors and watch television rather than participate in outdoor sports.

Miss Prudden thinks compulsory physical education is needed in the schools to overcome the bad habits that have grown up in the past 10 years.

Bath Towel Made Especially for Pooch

Bath towels especially designed for well groomed dogs are quite the latest thing.

They are big terry cloth towels, printed with various types of breeds so you can select one to match Fido—encouraging him to enjoy a good sudsing. And "his" towel, of course, is as easy to launder as the family towels.

MARY ANN JASKOLSKI

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Jaskolski of Commerce road announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ann, to Gerald E. Wagoner. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon L. Giroux of Lincoln avenue. The couple plans an October wedding.

Men to Don Specs With Monograms

Masculine Glasses Also Break Out in Rash of Color

CHICAGO (INS)—The monogrammed shirt, tie and handkerchief have a new teammate in a man's wardrobe—eyeglasses.

The initials are plainly visible to boot, either etched or attached at the temples.

Not only that, but the monogrammed frames come in colors that are a departure from the dull black or brown hues most men wear. They come in shiny, anodized aluminum finishes in blue, brown, gold and silver.

Al Martin, spokesman for the National Optical Fair which begins June 7 in Chicago, explained: "Most men need to be more fashion-conscious when it comes to eye frames."

"They'll go to a great deal of trouble to match their ties and socks but ignore their glasses."

Martin contends that a brown pair of frames should never be worn with a blue suit. He said that "the frames of the glasses should be keyed to suits just like socks and ties."

In his opinion, the well-dressed man should select eye frames that provide the same sort of color accent as other accessories.

The gold and silver frames are strictly for evening, he stressed, and should be matched to a man's cuff links and other jewelry. In other words silver with silver, gold with gold—never mixed.

UF Leader Hits Health Agencies

Raps National Groups for Refusing to Join Fund Federations

DAYTON (U) — A leader of the United Community Funds and Councils of America last night criticized national health organizations that refuse to participate in United fund-raising appeals.

Irving A. Duffy of Detroit, group vice president of Ford Motor Co. and chairman of the UCFCA's United Fund Advisory Committee, spoke to some 400 Community Chest and United Fund Leaders from throughout the United States and Canada.

The group opened a two-day meeting yesterday.

Duffy specifically referred to the American Cancer Society in mentioning organizations that do not participate in cooperative fund-raising appeals.

"If these national agencies are successful in putting into effect a policy which forces the withdrawal of all local chapters from United Funds and Community Chests, then the entire American charitable and health program will have suffered a severe setback," Duffy said.

WOULD START BACKFIRE

"We earnestly seek your help in starting a backfire to combat tactics of the national health agencies which threaten the very principles on which united giving is founded. The time for such action on the grass roots level was never better."

Duffy denied what he said were claims of national health organizations that they raise more money through independent campaigns, that they must carry on their educational programs in conjunction with separate fund-raising, and that federation does not permit the giver freedom of choice.

Another speaker, John A. Greene of Cleveland, president of Ohio Bell Telephone Co., said inspired leadership is the key to success of any Community Chest or United Fund drive.

Union Boss Says He's Righting Wrong

SAN FRANCISCO (U) — Frank Brewster, president of the Western Conference of Teamsters, said last night that "every penny has been paid or will be paid in full" of the union funds he borrowed.

Brewster in a letter to a meeting of the San Francisco Bay area Joint Council of Teamsters recommended a program to eliminate union practices he called "poor" and "questionable."

He "humbly admitted" that a senate committee investigating labor rackets had "brought to my attention several shortcomings regarding the financial management of the conference."

The meeting heard a resolution calling for Brewster's ouster but tabled it without a vote.

Brewster wrote of his use of union funds that all would be paid back, that the loans were secured by mortgages and "carried substantial interest" and that he did not know how much he owed.

Youth Jumps From Campus to Legislative Circles

LANSING (U) — Last May, Russell Strange was 21 years old and a senior at Central Michigan College in Mt. Pleasant.

Life centered around coke dates, student activities and cramming for final examinations.

Today, a year later, he's winding up the first half of a two-year term as Michigan's youngest lawmaker and one of the youngest, if not the youngest, ever to sit in the Legislature.

A Republican representing Clare and Isabella counties, his chief concerns now deal with such weighty matters as taxes, school aid and multi-million dollar appropriations for dozens of state agencies.

BIG JUMP

The jump from campus to state capitol was a big one, but Strange appears to have taken it in stride.

House Speaker George M. Van Pelt, his nominal "boss" as the top elective Republican in state government, praised him as "a very capable young legislator who has shown a talent much in excess of his age and experience."

More than one colleague, all of them at least seven years older, has remarked on his earnest efforts and quick grasp of legislative functions.

And far from sitting on the sidelines to watch more experienced lawmakers at work, Strange has marked himself as one of the more active first termers in the House.

Most important of several bills he introduced would have altered the organization of political parties at the county level, giving elected precinct delegates to county conventions a voice for the first time in election of county officers.

Democrats and Republicans both endorsed the move at their state conventions this year, but legislators killed the bill, mostly on the ground that it would disrupt existing county organizations.

Though his interest in politics has been budding since high school days in Mt. Pleasant, Strange had little idea that his ambition to enter public office would bear fruit quite so soon. Now he has hopes of making state government, in one form or another, a lifetime career.

Son of a Mt. Pleasant physician, he is the first of his family to try a hand at politics. When he announced to his parents and two brothers a year ago last March that he was going to run for the legislative seat being vacated by Rep. Hugh Johnston, all were a bit skeptical of his chances.

But with $300 saved up from a summertime job and $350 in campaign contributions from his dad and others, he entered the primary and squeaked by with a 28-vote margin over his nearest rival after a recount of the ballots.

BY 6,000 VOTES

Running against Democrat Robert Sawyer (his political science professor at Central Michigan), he piled up a 6,000-vote plurality in the general election.

Though listed as a "tree farmer" by virtue of his headquarters at the family farm and orchard near Clare, Strange lives off of his $4,000 salary as a legislator, which is bolstered by a $1,000 allowance for expenses.

"Being a bachelor, it doesn't cost me much to live," he said. "I manage to get along pretty well on what I make as a legislator."

After five months in the House, Strange can offer quite a few observations on politics in Michigan. Among them:

It pays to advertise. "Report from Lansing," a weekly column he writes for six weekly newspapers and one daily, has made his name widely known in his district.

British Plan to Renovate 'The Thing' in London

LONDON — A mural which has astonished and amused thousands at London Airport and is known to the staff as "The Thing" is to be renovated at estimated cost of $450. The painting—a mass of ovals and triangles in yellow, black and gray—is 18 feet square.

"Nobody knows what it means," an official said, "but the decision to spend money on the odd work of art is causing laughs." "The Thing" originally was lent to the airport—permanently.

When it arrived workers mistook it for a piece of packing case and laid it aside. Then it was hung upside down. Finally it was found that the mural had to be hung curved instead of flat.

Install State Officers

Blue Star Mothers of America, Inc., concluding their convention at Grand Rapids yesterday, installed Mrs. Arthur Christensen of Flint as state president and Mrs. Hugh McIntyre of Farmington as treasurer.
