Fire Station Bids Are High

New Building $43,000 Above Estimated Cost

Willman Will Present Lowest Offers to City Commission Tonight

Construction bids on the new West Side fire station reached $128,000 when opened yesterday. This is approximately $43,000 over an estimated construction cost of $85,000 established by architect Leo J. Heenan.

George Heenan, acting for his father, was instructed by City Manager W. K. Willman to tabulate low bids for submission to City Commission tonight.

The low bids among 16 submitted were: architectural trades, $104,950, Solomon Construction Co; mechanical trades, $18,585, Sylvan Plumbing and Heating; and electrical trades, $5,200, Pauls Electric.

The three high bids on the project amounted to $154,451.

A representative of the Sylvan firm was refused permission to check his submitted bid by City Clerk Ada R. Evans and Heenan.

He indicated it "might be out of line." It was $4,665 off the next highest bid of F. J. Temple Co. of $23,250.

The building, to be located at the southwest corner of West Huron Street and Genesee Avenue, was designed by Heenan.

He also designed the City Hall and the Public Safety Building, now under construction.

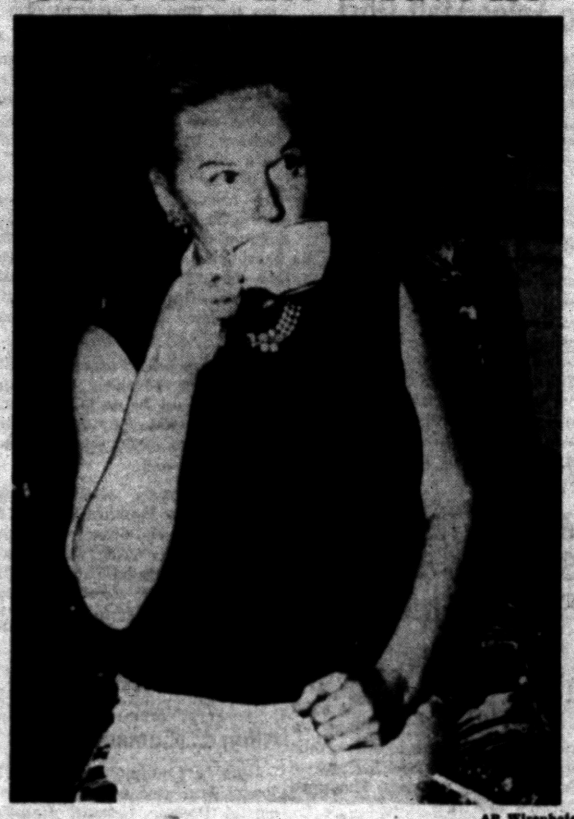

Bumbershoots Out! Showers Are Coming

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts scattered showers and thundershowers for the Pontiac area tonight. The low will be 62 to 66 degrees.

Partly cloudy with occasional showers or thundershowers is the forecast for tomorrow. The high will be 76 to 80 degrees.

The lowest temperature reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 62 degrees. The thermometer registered 66 degrees at 2 p.m.

TELLS OF LATEST FLAREUP — Mrs. Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller tells newsmen of the latest flareup between her and her husband, millionaire Winthrop Rockefeller, from whom she obtained a $5,000,000 divorce settlement several years ago. She claims that she was held prisoner at his farm 60 miles north of Little Rock, Ark. Mrs. Rockefeller was arrested for disturbing the peace.

Bobo Rockefeller Arrested After Rhubarb Over Son

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A famous domestic battle flared in a new setting yesterday, disturbing the peace of Winthrop Rockefeller's pastoral palace atop Petit Jean Mountain.

There was a brief scuffle; then a stalemate for several hours.

When the dust cleared, Mrs. Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller, her attorney and two friends were arrested by Sheriff Marlin Hawkins of the nearby town of Morrilton amid a welter of conflicting claims.

In an interview at a Little Rock hotel, the blonde ex-wife of the oil millionaire claimed she was "held prisoner" for seven hours at the farm and was bodily thrown 10 feet to the ground by a Rockefeller employe.

She said she had gone from New York City to Winrock Farm after receiving a telephone call from her 8-year-old son Winnie's nurse, who had taken the boy for a regular visit to his father under a court agreement when the Rockefellers were divorced in 1954.

'FORCIBLY REMOVED'

Bobo said the nurse told her that she was "forcibly removed" from Winrock Farm after she took the boy there Saturday.

Bobo responded by making up a traveling party of her attorney, young Morton Bass, another law-

Stassen Ready for Punishment by GOP Leaders

Pundits See Vacation as Start of Separation From Ike's Team

WASHINGTON (INS) — Harold E. Stassen said today he expects and is ready to be punished by GOP leaders for his "Dump Nixon" campaign.

The White House disarmament adviser flatly asserted: "My message to my party headquarters organization leaders in all humility is simply this: Punish me if you wish."

Stassen made the statement in an address delivered at a National Press Club luncheon this noon. He has been given a four-week leave from his White House duties by President Eisenhower.

He said he holds "no ill will" toward Vice President Richard M. Nixon or toward Republicans with whom he has collided in his effort to have Nixon dropped from this year's GOP ticket.

Stassen suggested Republican leaders conduct polls in precincts of "the type that swings in the balance in a campaign" to see whether Nixon or Massachusetts Gov. Christian A. Herter would be a better vice presidential candidate.

He said this would be a "simple" way for GOP leaders and convention delegates to learn "the facts of American public opinion."

Stassen said any doubtful leaders should go to a precinct of the type he described "and then personally join the precinct captain in a canvass of 100 voters."

He declared: "This can be done in one afternoon and evening before the convention. Ask the voters their view of President Eisenhower's record and policies, then ask their view on the vice presidential nomination, then ask if the vice presidential nomination will affect their votes on the president."

Pro-Nixon Republicans predict Stassen's four-week vacation from the White House will prove to be a "trial separation" leading to his departure from the Eisenhower administration.

Village Attends Martha's Funeral

ORION MOURNS MARTHA — Lines of Lake Orion residents formed in front of St. Joseph Church this morning before the 10 a. m. rites for three-year-old Martha Little, victim of a sex slayer Friday night. Stores in the village closed for the morning as hundreds attended the service. Confessed killer Howard W. Moore said "guilty" at his arraignment on a first degree murder charge in justice court.

Village Weeps, Closes Stores for Funeral

Priest Sings Mass of the Angels for Martha as Slayer Is Arraigned

Streets were deserted as stores closed at 10 a.m. All business ceased.

Funeral service had begun for the tragic victim of a savage sex-slaying Friday night.

St. Joseph Catholic Church was filled with wet-eyed mourners, sharing the grief of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Little and their five remaining children.

Meanwhile, in Independence Township Hall in Clarkston, her confessed killer murmured only one word at his arraignment: "Guilty."

Howard W. Moore, 23, who had moved next door to the Little home 13 days ago, turned, blinking his eyes, to be led back handcuffed to Oakland County Jail.

He was charged with first degree murder. The warrant was signed by Justice William H. Stamp, who conducted the arraignment.

EXAMINATION SET

An examination was requested by Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem and was scheduled for August 10.

* * *

In Lake Orion, the music of the "Mass of the Angels" floated through the church doors. The flag on the village green was at half-mast.

Drug stores, groceries, gas stations, dime stores, the big super markets closed as part of the spontaneous memorial.

There were signs on store doors, announcing business as usual after 1 p.m. By then Martha would be buried in East Lawn Cemetery.

RAIN FALLS

Cards of sympathy were pouring in to the Little's home. Hundreds of dollars were piling up in the Martha Little Memorial Fund, sponsored by the Lion's Club.

* * *

It has been missing since Moore was arrested, shirtless, Friday night. Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons and his detective, Don Francis, along with State Police Det. Charles Leaf found the shirt on the shoulder of M24, about one-quarter mile from the Buckhorn Barbecue.

Moore had been seen there in his car after the slaying. He was wearing the bloody shirt and had a

Fellow Prisoners Threaten Sex Killer; Post Suicide Guard; Arraignment Today

By CHUCK ABAIR

Howard Wayne Moore, confessed killer of three-year-old Martha Little, went into his fourth day of captivity at the Oakland County Jail today with a first degree murder charge hanging over his head and taunts of other prisoners ringing in his ears.

* * *

The unpopular new inmate of the second floor north cellblock was taken to Clarkston this morning for arraignment on the murder charge, before Independence Township Justice William Stamp.

He made the trip with anything but best wishes from the other five occupants of the north cellblock or anyone else in the jail.

"They all have learned what he did through the grapevine, and the consensus around the jail is that they would like to see him dead," a Sheriff's deputy reported. Another said: "The boys in the bigger blocks would like to have Moore transferred up with them so they could take care of him. They'd kill him."

COMMON IN JAILS

Deputies explained that prisoners' hatred is common in penal institutions. Sex killers of children and drug addicts are always considered the worst, they say.

Other inmates in Moore's block were constantly after him Saturday and Sunday, but have now taken the opposite tone and are ignoring him, turnkey Jess Whitlock said yesterday.

"Moore finally told the boys what he was in (jailed) for Sunday, after refusing to before. They kept asking him how the Little girl got into his car but he kept saying he can't remember," Whitlock said.

* * *

A jail trusty has been living in the same cell with Moore, a bridegroom of five weeks, to prevent possible suicide attempts.

The trusty reported Moore had a hard time sleeping after he confessed the murder Saturday. "He was up and around about eight times and five times lit cigarettes and then threw them away after one puff," the trusty told officers.

"Moore asked me what I was doing in there with him, and I told him I was watching to be sure he goes to trial," the killer's cellmate revealed.

SLEEPING BETTER

Moore's jitters apparently have eased up considerably. He slept soundly and was eating well Monday and today. "We had to yell at

Burma Border Crossed by Reds

Report Troops Advance Across Wild Frontier in Small Bands

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Several hundred armed Chinese Communist troops today were reported to have crossed Burma's wild and mountainous northeast frontier along a 500-mile arc and advanced up to 60 miles into Burmese territory.

* * *

Reports from the border area said the Reds crossed in small bands and occupied positions in a wide arc between Putao — Ft. Hertz—at the northern tip of the country, and Kunlong Ferry, on the Salween River south of the wartime Burma Road to China.

The government was expected to lodge a strong protest with Peiping, with which it maintains friendly relations.

The Executive Committee of Ba Swe's party, the anti-Fascist People's Freedom League, was told there is a "threat to Burma's security."

COMMANDERS' FAULT

The latest crossings, however, appeared to be in considerably greater strength than previous incursions. They also followed reports from Burmese officials in the area that Chinese army units along the border have been reinforced with regular troops in recent months.

Because of the increased Communist activity across the frontier, Burmese army troops now are being sent to the area to replace or bolster the thinly strung border police.

Red China's embassy in Rangoon had no comment on the invasion report.

One report from the area quoted ited Chinese solders as saying they were searching for "machitsay," a plant believed to be a powerful antidote against snakebite and opium or alcohol poisoning.

Neutral Burma has acted in a friendly, but not intimate, manner toward its big Communist neighbor.

Weather Digging Into Resort Owners' Purses

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's multi-million dollar tourist industry is lagging behind last year's 600 million dollar record, state officials said today.

"Things could definitely be better. The weather is against us and we're being hurt," said Robert Furlong, executive secretary of the State Tourist Council.

Resort operators say there's plenty of tourist movement but people are not staying long in any one place.

"They try out one resort, get discouraged by the weather in a couple of days and move on," Furlong says. "Some of them go home and some just drive around the state."

Cold weather during the first part of the summer has hurt the sale of swim suits, fishing equipment and other tourist supplies, Furlong said.

"The long range forecast is for warmer weather during August, I understand, and that would certainly help," he said.

Furlong said the slump was general throughout the state and that no areas were especially hard hit.

Detroit Tigers Sale Accorded Formal OK

DETROIT (AP) —The stockholder-trustees of the Detroit Baseball Co. today formally approved the sale of the Detroit Tigers to a syndicate headed by Fred Knorr and John Fetzer, Michigan radio and television executives.

The unanimous approval was one of the last formalities in the transfer of the club from a trust set up by Walter O. Briggs. The new owners will take over Oct. 1.

Swamp Marches Were Common, McKeon Testifies

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon testified today that as a Marine recruit he was marched into marshes by his drill instructor "on several occasions."

The tall, ramrod straight McKeon testified in his own defense on charges of involuntary manslaughter and oppression of recruits as a result of his marching a recruit platoon into Ribbon Creek at the cost of six lives.

Testifying in a slight but steady voice, he told of his recent training days in 1948 on this same base.

Finally, defense attorney Emile Zola Berman asked him:

"During the course of your boot training here was your platoon ever marched into the swamps, marshes, boondocks and water adjacent to the base?"

"Yes, sir, on several occasions," McKeon replied.

TELLS WHERE

McKeon was asked by Berman on what occasion he was marched as a recruit into the water and where.

"In the Elliot's Beach area and a couple of times behind the barracks at the rifle range," he replied.

Berman then asked whether anything unusual occurred during those marches.

"Yes, sir," said McKeon. "The drill instructor used to blow a blast on a squad leader's whistle and this would indicate an air raid and we all had to hit the deck."

"In the mud and water?" Berman inquired.

"Yes, sir," said McKeon.

During the brief morning recess in the court-martial, the defense announced it had called the Marine commandant, Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, as a witness for McKeon.

The announcement came after a short, closed-door huddle between Berman and the government's prosecutor, Maj. Charles B. Sevier of Jacksonville, Ill.

Previously, Gen. Pate had figured in the case with the disclosure of his May 1 statement concerning the "commandant's policy governing training of recruits."

In that statement Pate said he had been shocked by previous training practices in the Marine Corps and announced, in substance, a real shakeup in training methods.

Part of McKeon's defense is that when he led 74 recruits into the tide-swept waters of Ribbon Creek last April 8, where six drowned, he was only following accepted training methods.

Just before the announcement, McKeon's psychiatric record was put into evidence to show he was "unusually stable and well - integrated."

'Oh, How We Danced!'

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—After 17 years of marriage, Mrs. Nellie Frances Davidson says her husband wanted to take her dancing five and six nights a week.

Mrs. Davidson said she would accompany her husband, Bryan, 59, "two or three nights a week. Then I'd get tired—and he'd get mad."

Dulles to London for Suez Crisis

Ike Decides to Send Aide After Lengthy Talk at White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is sending Secretary of State Dulles to London to confer with Britain and France about Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal.

The White House announced this today shortly after the President and Dulles had discussed Egypt's nationalization of the waterway.

The United States already is represented at the London talks by Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy.

Dulles spent an hour and a half —an unusually long time—with the President.

The secretary emerged tight-lipped from a side door of the White House. He brushed off a flurry of questions from waiting reporters.

Dulles confirmed that the Suez crisis was the subject of his talk with Eisenhower.

But asked how serious he thought the canal question was, Dulles only said:

Petition Blocks Sewer Project

Complaint Asks Order to Bar New Company From Getting Contract

A petition to stop Southfield Township from granting a franchise to the Southfield Evergreen Corp. to build the "Little Evergreen" sewer was filed in Circuit Court this morning.

* * *

It was filed by Arthur Gillespie of Pontiac and Pliny Marsh. It was signed by Myron Greenfield, whom they represent.

The complaint contends the corporation was not in existence when the township board voted to franchise the authority, and the township has no right to grant such a franchise.

An Aug. 3 hearing has been set.

Township Supervisor Eugene Swem said shortly after the petition was filed, "They may be able to sustain their complaint on a technicality, but as far as having any real reason to stop it, I don't think they have a fair stand."

"We have been trying to build the sewer for three years and the corporation was formed to build, not to operate, it. It would then be turned over to the township," he added.

The sewer would cost about $1,112,000 according to estimates.

Lois Jones, 18, of Lake Orion said Moore claimed he had been in a fight. Miss Jones told Ziem she remarked, "I hope they find the little girl," (Martha, whose disappearance had caused a wide search).

Moore then removed the shirt, saying quickly, "I've got to go," and drove off, she said. He was arrested shortly afterwards.

* * *

DESCRIBES MARRIAGE

"I don't know why he did it, I just can't imagine how it happened," said Irene, 20, a bride of five weeks.

"We were very happy," she told Ziem and reporters. "I knew he had been in trouble before—stealing cars—but he promised to stay out of trouble. I wanted to help him."

* * *

Dry-eyed all the time and still in a state of shock, Mrs. Moore told of the marriage against her parents' objections.

"They gave in finally, and asked us to marry in church. But we went to Angola, Ind. and were married in a civil ceremony."

Moore reportedly said this morning that he plans to plead guilty at his trial. During the trip to the arraignment he was calm and showed none of his former belligerence.

* * *

A search continued in the lovers lane where the girl's body was found. The murder weapon, a heavy instrument used to change tires, has not yet been recovered.

Moore admitted beating the girl repeatedly on the head, then throwing the weapon out of the car.

Tabulation of Bids for New Fire Station to Confront City Commission Tonight

Tabulation of bids for the new city fire station, which went over the $128,000 mark when opened yesterday, will confront the City Commission tonight.

* * *

The city had placed an $85,000 estimated construction cost on the modern structure to be located at the southwest corner of West Huron Street and Genesee Avenue.

The majority of the 22-item agenda is packed with 12 confirmations of public improvement projects in the city.

Only five of the seven commissioners will be present tonight as Mayor William W. Donaldson and Commissioner Floyd P. Miles have been excused.

The commission is expected to take action on a request from the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees for the purchase of a home at 42 S. Johnson St. to be used for storage during construction of the hospital addition.

* * *

City Attorney William A. Ewart is slated to report on a land contract to Fred H. Teetzel for the purchase of city-owned lot 64 in the Homestead Park No. 1 Subdivision. A bid of $5,200 for the lot at Eastway Drive and Auburn Avenue was accepted by the commission July 17.

A resolution rescinding condemnation proceedings against Lewis C. Jarrendt for a lot at 127 W. Lawrence St. is expected to be passed by the commission.

On June 18, the city attorney was instructed to begin court action for the lot needed for the $600,000 municipal parking project. Later, Jarrendt granted an option for $25,000 for the lot to the city.

Engineer estimates will be aired by the city clerk on the following curb, gutter, grade, gravel, and related work projects in the city:

On Clinton River Drive from the easterly line of Robert Herndon's Pontiac Apartment Subdivision to the westerly line of lot 69 of the subdivision.

On Herndon and Balmer Avenues from Orchard Lake to Clinton River Drive.

Cost for a 40-foot lot for all three projects will be $160.

Up for possible approval before the commission is a sewer builder's license for Gordon Sel-Way, Inc.

Alvin Hill, former member of the City Plan Commission, has submitted a resolution of appreciation to be aired at tonight's session.

'I Know What Michigan Wants,' Cobo Campaigns

Speaking at a meeting of the Oakland County Cobo-for-governor committee last night in Birmingham, Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo told an audience of 125 he has discovered what the people of Michigan want.

He said they want four-lane divided highways, improved feeder and secondary roads, wider recreation areas with free access to fishing and natural gas for heating.

Cobo said "cooperation" is the most important part of his concept of government, and pledged to introduce the idea in Lansing if he is elected Governor.

Oklahoma Woman Restoring Mansion

ALVA, Okla. (UP) — An Alva, Okla., woman is working on one of the strangest house-remodeling projects to be found.

Mrs. Frank Munson, who operates a large chicken hatchery business, is restoring an old 15-room plantation house near St. Francisville, La.

She now is in her third year of a five-year plan for restoring the old mansion.

She says the main house is believed to have been built in 1837, and she is probably the only Oklahoman to own a pre-Civil War house.

Trilck Faces Bribe Count in 'Conspiracy' at Ecorse

DETROIT (INS)—Russell Trilck, accused of paying protection money to Ecorse city officials, was arrested at his Lincoln Park home early this morning by state police.

Trilck was named by a former Ecorse police commissioner as the underworld czar arranging a "fix" for gamblers. He was locked up at Detroit Northwest police station and held for investigation of a conspiracy to bribe public officials.

The arrest of Trilck, 49, followed a move by Wayne County and state officials to petition for a grand jury investigation of operations in both Ecorse and in Taylor Township.

* * *

County Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien and State Attorney General Thomas Kavanagh were to meet with Circuit Judge Chester P. O'Hara to formally request a probe after a former Ecorse police commissioner confessed to wide-spread graft and corruption.

DETROIT INCLUDED

Kavanagh said yesterday the petition will be broadened to include everything and anything in Wayne County.

When asked if that also would mean the city of Detroit, Kavanagh said, "Detroit is in Wayne County."

There had previously been a petition before the circuit judges to call a one-man grand jury investigation over alleged irregularities in Taylor Township.

VOISINE DENIES

The confessed police official, William H. Montry, yesterday admitted being paid protection money from downriver gamblers and named other Ecorse officials as co-conspirators in fraud, graft and dereliction of public duty.

Montry said direct responsibility for the corrupt conditions could be laid to Mayor William W. Voisine who immediately denied all charges.

Referring to Montry's published confession, in which letters were substituted for actual names, Voisine said:

* * *

him to wake him up this morning," said deputy Paul Carpenter.

The men in the small cellblock are allowed to leave their cells and walk in front of them when they want to, but Moore has yet to take advantage of the opportunity. His only trips out of the cell have been for questioning sessions by Sheriff Frank Irons, detectives, and prosecuting officials.

Moore has made no outbursts or requests for anything since his confinement except for one occasion when he asked if we had "any of his money." Whitlock commented "He probably wanted it to buy cigarettes from a car that goes around daily. Nothing seems to bother him much. He just sits and stares at the floor or straight ahead," the turnkey added.

* * *

Moore is no newcomer to the jail. This is his fifth arrest in Oakland County. He was lodged in the Wayne Street building for the first time in 1952 on a drunk driving charge. Later arrests were for breaking into a car, reckless driving, drunk driving and transporting a stolen car out of the state. The latter offense brought him a 14-month sentence at Milan.

He is a native of Toledo, and came to Pontiac to live with his parents at a very young age. Moore was placed in an orphanage when his father died but cannot recall where it was or how long he stayed there.

Moore said he and his 20-year-old wife, Irene, had been friends as youngsters and started going steady three months before they were married in Indiana June 19.

Moore, an Army veteran of 2½ years in the Korean War had lived in various parts of the county with his mother and friends before he and his bride moved into the small home behind the Littles on Lake Orion's Lake Street.

He had been well liked by neighbors there during the first week of residence and entertained the children by playing his guitar.

Warships Ready to Move on Suez

Close U.S. Pier in Italy, All Leaves Canceled; Britain Primed to Sail

From Our Wire Services

Naval action by the United States and Britain appeared possible today as the Suez Canal situation was fast growing to a boil.

* * *

In Naples there was solid reason to believe the U.S. Sixth Fleet is secretly on the alert. Shore leaves have been canceled, the dock area has been cordoned off with heavy rope and a double guard has been posted.

British warship crews on leave in England were recalled to duty. An Admiralty spokesman conceded, "Certain naval moves are being ordered."

Meanwhile, British, French and American diplomats were working hard to build up steam behind the idea of an international control body to guarantee free movement of ships through the canal.

WHAT ABOUT RUSSIA?

One major problem was whether Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser would go along with the proposal. Another was what part the Russians would demand in any control group.

1. Dag Hammarskjold got set for possible requests for U.N. intervention in the dispute by naming his top troubleshooter to tour the Middle East. He is Andrew W. Cordier who will leave New York Sunday on a four-week trip covering the Arab countries Israel, Turkey and the newest U.N. members.

2. Nasser revoked a law permitting ship owners to make toll payments in London and Paris for trips through the canal. A new regulation demands tolls be paid only in Egypt.

This action explained the crucial question of payments which has remained in the background since Egypt seized the canal last Thursday.

Steel, Labor Plodding Through Contracts

NEW YORK (UP)—The long and complicated job of drawing up nearly two-score work contracts in the steel industry continued today as 650,000 striking employes were poised to return to work.

Some company union spokesmen said yesterday they hoped that all the separate contracts between steel companies and the United Steelworkers could be completed by Thursday.

Killing of Does, Fawns Held Good for Herds

LOS ANGELES — Game laws should be revised to permit five to 10 times the present kill, says Dr. A. Starler Leopold, associate professor of zoology at the University of California.

"Herds," he says, speaking of deer, "could easily stand a 40 per cent kill and actually benefit from it. This would necessitate shooting does and fawns as well as bucks."

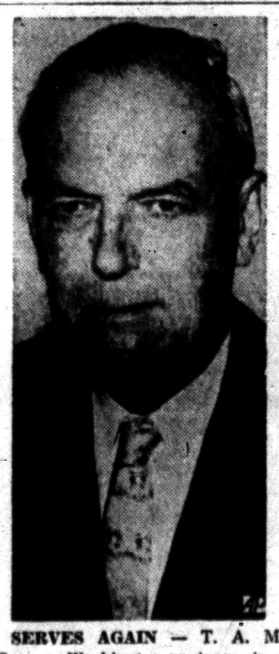

Bullfight Skill Tested —With Free Bulls, Too

LISBON, Portugal — American tourists are enjoying a novel department in the "do-it-yourself" line at the Festa Brava bull ring in Lisbon, where amateur matadors may pit their skill in bullfights against small bulls weighing about 300 pounds.

The ring, 50 feet in diamater, is available free to all comers. The bulls that "perform" there wear leather coverings on their horns.

MSU's Big Squeeze

EAST LANSING (UP) — Michigan State University's applied mechanics department has installed a testing machine which can squeeze or pull on building materials or structural parts with a force of up to 25 tons.

SERVES AGAIN — T. A. M. Craven, Washington engineer, is a member of Federal Communications Commission for second time. He previously served from 1937 to 1944.

Arthur J. Dubuc Stricken as He Sells Home Land

BIRMINGHAM — Arthur J. Dubuc, proprietor of Dubuc Sales and Service, was stricken fatally at a city commission meeting last night.

He had gone there with his attorney to negotiate sale of his home property, 443 Hamilton, as part of the site of the proposed Municipal Parking Lot HH.

He died en route to St. Joseph Hospital. Cause of death was believed to be a heart condition, but the coroner's report was incomplete at presstime.

Mr. Dubuc had left the commission meeting, along with his attorney. The commission agreed to the raise of $1,000 from the price set by the city of $22,560 for the land. His was the final piece of land to be secured of the five in the parking area.

A resident of Birmingham since 1946, he was born in Montreal, Quebec in 1898 and came to this country in 1924. He belonged to Holy Name church.

Surviving are his widow, Marie, a sister, Mrs. Eddie White, of Flint, two brothers, John of Flint and Antoine of Chicago.

Club Elects Staff at Seymour Lake

SEYMOUR LAKE—The Seymour Lake Extension Club's new officers are Mrs. George Scott, chairman; Mrs. Elmer Taylor, vice chairman; Mrs. Winifred Porritt, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Ralph Markus and Mrs. Douglas Gordon, community chairmen.

Postman Tries Third Time, Finds Right Man

FARMINGTON, N. M. (UP) — The letter was addressed to "The Shepherd School, Farmington, N. M." The postmaster tried Gene Shepherd, a faculty member at the high school. No. Then he tried Mrs. Gene Shepherd, who has a dancing school. No.

Then he had a thought and sure enough, it was meant for the Navajo Methodist Mission which runs a school in the summer for Indian shepherds and children who can't attend during the regular term.

Open Drive to Raise Funds for Funeral of Slain Girl

A drive to raise funds to cover the funeral expenses and erect a tombstone for three-year-old Martha Little, the Friday night victim of a sex killer, was under way today in Lake Orion as the child was buried in Eastlawn Cemetery.

Known as the Martha Little Memorial Fund, the project is being sponsored by the Lake Orion Lions Club in an effort to keep the girl's memory alive and to aid her family.

The Lions are planning to cover as much of the funeral expenses as possible with funds from their club treasury.

All money received over the expenses will be used for purchase of a tombstone in memory of the slain girl, a club spokesman said.

WANT NEW HOME FUND

Lions Club officials have strong hopes that the donations expected for this project will enable the organization to set aside a fund to purchase a new home for the Little family.

"If we fall short of that mark, all the money received above the tombstone expense will be turned over to the Littles for their welfare," the spokesman reported.

Area residents may contribute by mailing donations to the Martha Little Memorial Fund, Lake Orion, Mich.

Pay Your Taxes? Deadline Is Today

Five p.m. today is the deadline for all unpaid 1956 city and school taxes to be paid at the City Treasurer's office without penalty.

Beginning tomorrow, a one per cent collection fee will be added to all delinquent bills and an additional one per cent will be added the first day of each month through February 1957.

On that date, the unpaid bills are turned over to the Oakland County Treasurer's office for collection.

The Day in Birmingham

Commission Asks Gare to Act as 'City Manager'

BIRMINGHAM — This city, readying for a two-weeks lapse between services of new and departing city managers, named L. R. Gare, director of public works as acting manager at the commission meeting.

Commissioners also stalled any decision on attorney's fees and services pending new manager Harold Schone's arrival about Aug. 15. City Manager D. C. Egbert, concluding his services, asked arrangements for his continuing as Birmingham's representative on the North Evergreen Authority board.

Egbert and City Attorney Forbes Hascall, whose service has been in excess of 400 hours a year, recommended the city have not less than 800 hours of attorney-service.

Bids for property at East Lincoln and Commerce and at Hunter and Webster Intersections were accepted and then tabled until next Monday by commissioners last night.

For the Lincoln property, the city rejected the $29,100 bid of Marie N. Primo and accepted the amount of another bidder. Zoning hearing on the East Lincoln property is next Monday, and the letters objecting to use of the site for industry were held for that session.

The proposed "Forget-Me-Not" sale of the Disabled American Veterans may be on either Sept. 14 or 15, within city limits, but not on both days, the commissioners decided.

Final property purchase was completed for Parking Lot HH at Hunter and Hamilton when the Dubuc property price was agreed upon. It was raised $1,000, as the owner requested, from the (appraisal plus 20 per cent) price of $22,560. Selling of homes and transfer of deeds is needed before construction would begin.

Approval of a new subdivision, the Mill Race Park Plat, was voted. The low-level land requires fill but will be lakeside property for a small number of homes.

Extensive discussion of proposed asphalting of the parkway on the east side of Eton Road brought no decision.

The North Evergreen authority has asked that the price of $4,250 an acre for seven acres which engineers have advised will be needed for the expanded sewage treatment plant. Commissioners agreed tentatively last night to that price, and then tabled their motion. They would like confirmation that they could re-buy the land if it ever reverts to dis-use.

An Oct. 8 hearing was set for the Kassabian and Frankel zoning requests and the Lambert Property Zoning was held over until Attorney Harry Wise can talk again to planning commission officials.

Bloomfield Studies Evergreen Progress

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—Commissioners of this city are meeting in special session this afternoon to hear their representative to the North Evergreen Sewage Disposal Authority John W. Blanchard, and City Manager D. C. Egbert explain the authority's progress to date.

The Authority met this morning in Birmingham to further plans for the drain which will reduce pollution in the Rouge River.

Other communities involved, Birmingham, Troy, and Bloomfield Township, have heard more details during regular meetings, but this city's commission meets only once a month.

Rockefeller Rhubarb Ends With Arrest

yer — Erin Danzig, and Bass' mother, Mrs. Maurice Bass.

Gene Smith, a Rockefeller employe, and "several big men" met Bobo and her party at the gate to Winrock Farm, she said. They were allowed inside although one of the men informed Bobo that adequate notice of her arrival had not been given. The court agreement calls for her notifying Rockefeller at least 24 hours ahead of a projected visit.

Mrs. Rockefeller said she was not allowed to see her former husband. While waiting, she said, "I saw the present Mrs. Rockefeller peering out of windows and looking from behind curtains."

TELLS OF FIGHT

Bobo said she saw her son swimming in a pool, called to him and then took him to her car. She said her son suffers from bronchitis and was coughing after leaving the swimming pool.

"Smith and two other men came over to the car," she said. She said Smith grabbed the car keys while she tried to push him away.

"He held my hands but my nails were still free," she said.

"Then Smith pulled me out, picked me up and threw me about 10 feet," she related. "I landed on the hard gravel road."

After that, Bobo said, she stayed in the vicinity of the car with the boy for several hours while "two men watched me all the time." She did not identify them.

She claimed she was not allowed to make any outgoing calls, even to a New York hospital to inquire about Danzig's ailing mother.

* * *

Towards evening, Bobo said, the sheriff arrived with some officers and ordered Bobo and her party to go with them to the Morrilton police station for "disturbing the peace."

Dunaway told a different story.

He said that when Bobo put the boy in the car and attempted to leave, the keys were taken out of the car by a Rockefeller employe.

* * *

"She — Bobo — started a fight and was using loud and abusive language," Dunaway said. "She and her lawyer were informed that all they had to do to get their keys back was to let Winnie out of the car to return to his room where he was supposed to be resting."

* * *

Dunaway said "we made it plain" to Bobo and her lawyers that "she was not only free to leave but that her departure would be welcome."

Bullet Dumps 'Grandpa' for Raiding Beehives

OJAI, Calif. (UP)—Grandpa got the hives so they shot him.

But don't call police. Grandpa was the nickname George Biggers gave the huge black bear that had been raiding his beehives the past three years.

Grandpa, too smart for the many traps Biggers had set, loved to gulp both the honey and bees. Yesterday, Biggers and his son, Ronnie, 19, finally spotted Grandpa at close range and shot him.

Kentucky Opens First Toll Xway

Chandler to Cut Tape on 'Road to Nowhere' Stretching 40 Miles

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's first superhighway, once labeled by Gov. A. B. Chandler as "the road which starts nowhere and goes nowhere," officially opens today.

The 40-mile road links Louisville to Elizabethtown and cost $38,500,000.

Chandler opposed it but will be on hand for dedication of the road, started under his predecessor, former Gov. Lawrence Wetherby.

The turnpike was a bitter issue between the two in the 1955 Democratic gubernatorial primary when Wetherby supported Bert T. Combs over Chandler for the nomination.

Motorists will pay about 1⅛ cents a mile to use the road. Trucks will pay according to the number of axles. Tolls will be used to retire the bonded indebtedness on the road over a 20-year period.

GOP Convention? Landon Going Fishing Instead

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Alfred M. Landon, the Republican presidential candidate of 20 years ago, says he believes he will find more of interest in the Democratic National Convention than that of his own party.

* * *

As a result, Landon will be on a fishing trip in Colorado. He does not even plan to listen to the GOP convention on radio or watch it on television.

"It's going to be too cut and dried," is his simple explanation.

"I think the Republicans probably will win in November," Landon said here yesterday and added, "but there is always a question about anything in which the American voter is concerned."

Landon says he has little doubt that anyone other than Richard Nixon will be nominated as the GOP vice presidential candidate.

* * *

Landon did cite two things he feels could alter Republican chances. One is a general weakening of the economic picture of the country. The other is a serious reversal for America in foreign affairs.

Races in Derby, Dies Next Day

Youthful Determination Keeps Him in Soap Box Until the End

GARY, Ind. (AP)—Doug Hoback, 13-year-old Valparaiso, Ind., boy who wrecked his coaster Saturday in a valiant effort to win the Soap Box Derby here, died yesterday of cancer of the lung.

It was disclosed after the boy's death that he had subsisted on liquids for 10 days.

Doctors said there was no chance to save his life after he became ill last Christmas but he wanted to try to qualify for the national Soap Box Derby at Akron, Ohio, although he was so weak he had to be lifted in and out of his racer.

The boy won the Class A elimination in Valparaiso last July 4 in spite of his growing weakness.

His brown racer veered into the sidelines during a warmup run in Gary Saturday. He and a spectator, Dennis Johnson, 14, were treated for injuries and Doug returned to watch from a wheelchair as Larry Ahlgrim, 14, of Gary, won the final heat.

Doug took a turn for the worse yesterday and died in Porter Memorial Hospital at Valparaiso.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Hoback, and two sisters, Candace, 7, and Sharon, 10.

Henry Fonda—a Shy Guy Explains Appeal

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Much can be argued — and frequently is — about the strange, hypnotic power shy men hold over women.

* * *

Some say the shy man arouses the maternal instinct. Others say a shy man's attraction lies in his ability to be amiably bossed.

The lazy ones drop this psychology nonsense and merely point to the facts. "Shyness is pure sex appeal," they say. "Just take Henry Fonda, for instance —"

For 20 years, women of America have wished they could.

We went to see Fonda, a member of the wide-eyed, dangle-armed, oh-shucks school of acting, to learn the secret of eternal shyness. After all, he has managed at the age of 51 to remain in the affections of hordes of women for two decades and should know.

BORN THAT WAY

"There's no technique to it," he said, blushing skillfully, "I really am shy. I can find myself in a group of strangers and I can't open up. I feel like I'm wearing a mask that I can't take off.

"Probably a psychiatrist could tell you what the answer is, but I can't. Maybe you're just born that way: not self-conscious, but shy."

Henry (his less-shy friends call him "Hank") pointed out that, like a few of his dramatic confreres, the acting business is one medium that draws him out of himself and gives him confidence.

* * *

"You're somebody else, and you've got all the confidence in the world," he says. "That's why I'm never nervous opening nights. Most actors get opening night nerves, and they say 'You're the most neurotic guy in the world, not having nerves'."

But then, most actors are confident off-stage.

Fonda was born in Grand Island, Neb., and has never quite gotten over the snail-paced way of talking. The euphonious drawl is something women have been attracted to all his life, no doubt, but the first to recognize his potential was Marlon Brando's mother, who was director of a little theater in Omaha.

Henry was 20 then, and a journalism student. Mrs. Brando asked him to play a juvenile hero in a play she was presenting and he "was in before I knew enough to say don't do this to me."

He has been making movies, plays and money ever since.

PREFERS THEATER

Fonda, graying becomingly but almost unlined of face, prefers Broadway to movies — partly because "Mr. Roberts" and "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" were his greatest artistic achievements, and mainly because he doesn't have to sit back and look at himself.

"It's painful, seeing yourself perform," he says wistfully, displaying the lovable ol' shyness again.

"I must have made 60 or more pictures, but I don't think I've seen more than 10 or 15 of them. I learned early in the business that I cringed at the sight of me," he said.

True to tradition, he has not yet seen his latest starring spectacle, "War and Peace." He considers this fortunate because:

"I can now say to you that it's one of the greatest parts I've ever had to play . . . if I'd seen it, I'm sure I would have to tell you that I was lousy."

The Blonde Cried MURDER

By Brett Halliday

XXVIII

Gerdon's face indicated polite disbelief that any guest of the Roney Plaza could possibly be mixed up in anything as sordid as being a murderer or the victim of one.

* * *

There was a light tap on his door and a pretty, plump girl dressed in a maid's uniform entered hesitantly. She looked quickly from Shayne to Gerdon, and then moved to stand in front of the desk.

Gerdon glanced at a notation he had made and said, "This gentleman would like to ask you a few questions about 1210, Irma."

"That's Mr. Barnes and Miss Mary," she said questioningly, turning to Shayne. "Real nice, both of them."

"I'm glad to hear that, Irma," Shayne reassured her. "I wish you'd describe them to me the best you can."

"Miss Mary is pretty. A little thing. Young-like. About 20, I guess. She's got real blonde hair and—and, well, she's real nice. A lady. Always says thank you. And tips me when she wants something extra. I do hope nothing's wrong."

Shayne said gravely. "I hope so too. Now, about her brother. Does he—have a scarred face?"

ABOUT HOW TALL?

"Oh, no." Irma looked shocked by the question. "Real nice-looking he is. Some older than Miss Mary."

"You're sure about the scar?"

"Of course I'm sure. I've seen him plenty, being in and out like I am."

Shayne sighed. "About how tall? What weight?"

"Just medium, I'd say. Shorter than you by inches. I don't know how much men weigh. But he isn't fat — nor thin either. Just medium-like."

Shayne didn't show his disappointment. He said, "I know you're a smart girl, Irma, and you girls are trained to notice all sorts of things about your guests. Now think hard and see if you can remember anything in particular about the Barnes. Anything you overheard or noticed."

ENTERTAIN MUCH?

"Well, I'd say they had plenty of money and were used to nice things. Their clothes and all. And they acted like they were having a good time. Miss Mary in particular, she loved swimming and went in twice most every day. Mr. Barnes went out more than she did."

"Did they entertain much?"

"No, they didn't for a fact. Miss Mary, she'd stay in mostly in the evenings. Have her dinner served up there a lot, and then she'd read."

"While her brother was out?" Shayne supplied.

"Well, yes. He likes a good time, all right. But that's why folks come to Miami on vacation, isn't it?"

* * *

Shayne agreed it was, and after a few more questions he dismissed her with thanks. He shook his head wryly at Gerdon when she went out.

UP IN SMOKE

"There went a beautiful theory up in thin smoke. I'm beginning to think maybe it is Barnes who was murdered. The vague description fits him all right. We may have to ask her to come over to the morgue to look at him."

"Anything you want," Gerdon said. There was another knock at the door and a thin boy came in and stood stiffly at attention.

Yes, he took care of 1210 until midnight, and knew both the occupants by sight—the girl much better than her brother because she was mostly in and wanting service while he was on duty.

As he was leaving, a girl came in the office with two sheets of paper that had typing on them.

STUDIED THE LIST

Gerdon studied them in frowning silence for a time. They were day-to-day notations of outgoing calls from 1210, kept by the hotel for billing purposes, and they disclosed little of real interest to Shayne except the recurrence of calls to a certain number in Miami which he recognized at once as the Hibiscus Hotel.

Shane studied the list as Gerdon passed it to him, found the first listing of the Hibiscus number almost a week after they arrived. Then it appeared irregularly every day or so afterward. The last time that number had been called was 4:30 p.m. of that day.

And that was all Shayne was able to get from the Roney Plaza about Charles and Mary Barnes.

11:35 P.M.

Chief Gentry was seated at his desk listening intently to the telephone when Shayne burst into his office in long strides.

There was a smugly satisfied look on Gentry's florid face when he finally put the phone down.

"That was New York," he told Shayne. "They checked the Barnes address and found it's a penthouse apartment. Charles Barnes lives there with his younger sister, Mary. They closed the place a couple of weeks ago and took off for a vacation in Miami."

"Just fine."

"And the forwarding address they left for mail is the Roney Plaza Hotel on the Beach?"

He reached for the phone, but Shayne stopped him with a gesture. "I just came from the Roney. Charles Barnes has no scar. His description fits the dead man to a T."

County Becomes Buggy, but for a Good Cause

CADIZ, Ky. (UP) — Trigg County has gone slightly buggy, but no one's worried.

County agent Keith S. Venable said 10,000 ladybugs were shipped here in gallon jugs from Dobbins, Calif. Venable said the bugs would be used to combat plant lice on tobacco.

UAW Members Free to Select Dues Use

DETROIT (UP)—Members of the United Auto Workers can now give to "non - partisan organizations" that part of their dues money formerly earmarked by the union for political education.

UAW President Walter Reuther said yesterday the move by the union's international executive board "should end once and for all the campaign of distortion and confusion about the UAW citizenship funds."

Under the union's constitution, five cents of each member's monthly dues goes into a local union citizenship fund and another five cents into the citizenship fund maintained by the international union.

Critics have charged union members are forced to contribute to political campaigns through their compulsory citizenship funds contributions.

Reuther said the criticism is part of "an over-all anti-union program" in which "the enemies of labor are issuing a barrage of half-truths and misrepresentations about the UAW's citizenship activities."

He said it was "continuing effort to outlaw effective worker participation in the democratic processes of our nation."

Much of Ike's Program OK'd by 84th Congress

Whatever one may think of the 84th Congress, it was a hard working body.

When the lawmakers closed the books on its second session, they had passed more than 3,200 bills, many of major importance. Thanks to President Eisenhower's success and skill in getting along with the Democratic majority, the Administration compiled a splendid record of legislative accomplishment.

At the same time Democrats have every right to claim credit for a fine spirit of co-operation. According to Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, Congress gave the President three-quarters of what he wanted.

One of the greatest achievements of the 84th Congress is the $33 billion highway construction bill. In 13 years, with state co-operation, this Administration backed measure will give us an urgently needed national network of super highways.

★ ★ ★

Among other important measures written into law in the second session were President Eisenhower's soil bank and public housing bills, the latter will provide 35,000 new units in each of the next two years. Although the President didn't get all the foreign aid he asked, the lawmakers did approve a total of $3.7 billion or $1.2 billion less than his original request of $4.9 billion.

★ ★ ★

The fact that President Eisenhower failed to win approval for some of his proposals in no way hurts his legislative record. The civil rights, postal rate increase and immigration liberalization bills were among those which fell by the wayside.

These setbacks, however, are far overshadowed by the Administration's achievement of balancing the budget for the first time in five years and finishing the fiscal year with a surplus of $1.75 billion.

★ ★ ★

On the basis of the record Republicans have every reason to look ahead to their convention and the campaign with high hopes and confidence of victory.

Steel Strike Settled

For the Nation as a whole as well as 650,000 strikers directly concerned, the most reassuring development of the weekend was settlement of the steel walkout.

In the agreement ending the month long strike there is good news for workers, industry and the country. The strikers gain wage and fringe benefits equalling 45.6 cents an hour over a three year period, of which 28.7 cents is in wages.

The industry has won its first three year no-strike contract without a provision for interim wage negotiations. But it has agreed to an escalator clause insuring further pay boosts if the cost of living index rises by specific amounts.

For the general public there is both good and bad news in the settlement. It was good news, for example, that accord came before any serious threat to the national economy had developed. It also was heartening to learn that Secretary of Labor Mitchell had played a vital part in bringing the union and industry officials back to the bargaining table.

Because steel is so basic, the bad news will come when the cost of the strike becomes known in higher steel prices and resulting inflationary pressures.

Britain's New Envoy

The United States has been fortunate in the type of ambassadors chosen to represent Britain in Washington.

This is especially so not only in the case of the retiring Ambassador, Sir Roger Makins, but his designated successor, Sir Harold Caccia, Deputy Undersecretary of State. Like his predecessors, Sir Roger has made many warm friends here, and with his American born wife, has traveled widely in this country.

★ ★ ★

The regret felt in Washington over his recall to assume an important Treasury post in London is tempered by the knowledge that his successor is Sir Harold Caccia. An old friend of President Eisenhower, the new ambassador is a veteran of 27 years in Britain's diplomatic service.

★ ★ ★

He was on General Eisenhower's staff at Supreme Allied Headquarters in France during World War II. Ike met Caccia again during last year's Big Four Conference at Geneva which he attended as an aide to Prime Minister Eden. Now only 51, the new ambassador is a long time advocate of European unity.

International Blackmail at Suez

WASHINGTON—Again, as in the 1930's, the free nations are menaced by an unscrupulous aggressor—and again the question before the whole world is whether softness, appeasement and timidity will once more bring worse consequences.

For Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal isn't an isolated episode. It is part of the "Cold War."

On what Britain and America and France do now depends the respect in which they will be held by Khrushchev and Tito and Nehru and Chou En-Lai.

Just as the League of Nations faltered when Mussolini, prompted by Hitler, seized Ethopia, so today the United Nations is unable to make its military potential felt because it faltered in Korea and Indochina.

SOVIETS DIRECT MOVE

Only the firmness and resoluteness of the major powers of the West, acting in unison to repel unlawful seizure of their property, can today assure the retention by the West of the strategic gateway from the Mediterranean to the Indian Ocean.

It's a military move which Nasser has made—instigated by the Soviet dictators.

There are the usual protestations of innocence by the men in Moscow, and there is the customary call for "negotiations," amid righteous comments from Communist sources that war must be prevented.

But it all adds up to the simple fact that Nasser himself has confessed that Russia—and not just Czechoslovakia—supplied him with arms to threaten Israel and to stir up Arab hostility to the West.

* * *

Nasser even boasts that he today has the support of Yugoslavia's Tito, India's Nehru and the Red China gangsters. Nasser, in defiance of the resolution of the U.N. against an aggressor government in China, nevertheless granted recognition to that government.

Egypt is the only member of the U.N. to recognize Red China since the outbreak of the Korean War. Peking is now applauding seizure of the canal.

TO BLUFF THE WEST

It's all a part of the effort to bluff the West. Undoubtedly, the rise of Communistic influence and intrigue in Cairo is back of the Egyptian dictator's bold move to line up the whole Arab world against the West.

Ironically, just a few days ago Nasser was echoing the cry of Nehru and of some of those misguided folks inside America who insist that American taxpayers' money must be given "without strings attached."

But now it is Nasser who imposes the strings and insists on conditions. He wants the undisputed right to operate the Suez Canal, and he blandly disregards the British ownership of a substantial part of the Canal Company.

What it amounts to is international blackmail.

Nasser has demanded a large part of the $1.2 billion needed to build the Aswan Dam and, when refused, threatens British and French property owners with confiscation and the American military position in the Middle East with trouble.

He menaces the whole transportation of oil products from the Near East to Europe.

Certainly no government in the West can ever trust Nasser again. No agreement with him on the Aswan Dam or anything else would ever be regarded as worth the paper it is written on.

The key to the future is in one word used by Prime Minister Eden. He said Britain could entrust the future of the Suez Canal only to an "unfettered" nation.

This means that he regards Egypt as a "fettered" nation today. It is "fettered" by a dictator's power over the Egyptian people, whose balloting Nasser controls as Hitler did in Germany.

Egypt is "fettered" also by the Communist influuence to which Nasser has been beholden right along.

INTERNATIONAL DAY DREAMS

The talk emanating from Moscow about "internationalizing" the Canal is a mere euphemism. Naturally, Soviet Russia wants a veto in what shall be done in the Canal area. It's of military importance to her.

But the only control that would be safe for the West would be under an international plan that keeps the Canal in private hands—that is, the stockholders in free countries and, of course, with Egyptian participation.

There isn't any objection to the continued management of the Suez by an Egyptian company, as has been the case for many years. The trouble isn't in the problem of ownership but in the kind of government that rules in Cairo.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Fingernails Also Reflect State of Health, Nutrition

There's no doubt that a young skin or complexion may be improved by external application of soap or solvent or that an old skin may be beautified and improved by external applications of a non-drying skin oil, freshly made cold cream, or well diluted lanolin.

Not only the skin and complexion, and the hair, reflect or indicate the individual's health, but the nails, too, indicate the state of health and nutrition.

The professor of dermatology conducted the class on a ward walk, inspecting patients' hands. Now and then he would say: "This patient had a serious illness or injury about ten weeks ago," and we were all astonished to find the professor's deduction confirmed in the patient's history or by the patient himself nodding "That's right — I had pleurisy." The professor explained that it takes three to four months to grow a nail, and any acute illness or injury that confines a person to bed interrupts or retards the growth, in consequence of which a transverse line or groove or slight depression remains in the nail. If this transverse depression is about the middle of the nail the illness or injury was probably two months ago.

Elementary, my dear Watson.

We know now what nobody knew in the professor's time, although I imagine the professor suspected it, namely, that every growing child, young or mature adult, and especially every elderly person must get every day at least as much calcium (lime) as is contained in 1½ pints, three full glasses of milk; and if one does not get this minimum daily requirement of calcium, the manifestations of nutritional deficiency inevitably occur, although these manifestations are commonly ascribed to other causes than calcium deficiency. We know that the body's calcium reserve is rapidly depleted when a person is confined to bed or unable to get a reasonable amount of daily exercise.

Modern chemical analyses show that the body, the bones, the joints, the muscles, the nerves, the heart, the skin, arteries, the glands, the teeth, the gums, the eyes, the nails, every cell, tissue, organ in the body of a vigorous, healthy, functionally efficient individual contains a full quota of calcium, and if this calcium level falls below the normal the individual inevitably feels, looks and is older, weaker, or more feeble than he or she should be.

I tell you the simplest way to supplement your regular diet with a suitable daily ration of calcium, phosphorus, iodin, vitamin D, thiamin, and riboflavin.

From years of clinical observation and the reports received from many followers, I'm satisfied that these three minerals and three vitamins are precisely what most Americans need to regain or maintain vite, to keep young folks from growing prematurely old, to keep skin, complexion, hair and nails well nourished.

Please remember this is nutrition, not medicine.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of Psychologist

Gives Facts About Pregnancy

Biblical Hannah was probably in the same boat with Elaine. But Elaine had her first baby just 11 months after this interview, for modern medical science helps produce the results that were listed as occasional miracles in ancient days. Scrapbook this case record for future reference and send for the booklet on "Pregnancy."

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case S-326: Elaine B., aged 24, has been married for three years.

"Dr. Crane, I am very unhappy because I have never been able to have a baby," she began.

"My husband and I have taken various medical tests and have been pronounced perfectly healthy and normal.

"Despite that fact, I never become pregnant. But my older sister said several women in her PTA had overcome their sterlitiy by some of the advice they saw in your column several years ago.

"Would you please repeat it for my benefit and that of many other wives like me?"

PREGNANCY FACTS

In the last 25 years, we physicians and psychologists have learned several new facts about human conception.

* * *

First of all, it apparently takes place about 15 days before a wife's next menstrual cycle starts, regardless of whether she is on a 21-day or a 25-day or a 35-day cycle.

"But I fluctuate somewhat," Elaine protested. "Some times my cycle is 24 days long and occasionally it may run as much as 31 days, so how do I know when my next period will start?"

Elaine can only estimate, which is why we urge wives in her situation to keep a precise record for the past year or more.

Then they can observe their variation and also estimate what is their most likely cycle.

Her shortest cycle is thus 24 days and the longest is 31 days but nine have been either 27-day or 28-day cycles.

"RHYTHM THEORY"

The so-called "rhythm theory" is based on such data. To employ this theory, a wife must compute from the onset of her last monthly period.

In Elaine's case, that was six days ago. If she is on a 28-day cycle this month, then her most likely time to conceive will be 7 days from now, for the 13th day from the last onset will be the 15th from the next.

If you married couples will sit down with pencil and paper and solve a few of these problems, you will find they are not as difficult as they sound.

Just find out what is the wife's most typical cycle. Then count back 15 days and that should be the ovulation (pregnancy) day.

For example, if she is on a 35-day cycle, then 35-15 leaves 20. This means that the 20th day from the start of her last period will likely be her time to become pregnant.

Allow a few days leeway on each side of this ovulation day. And employ an alkaline douche just before marital relations. Use a teaspoon of baking soda per quart of warm water.

MEDICAL PROGRESS

Modern medical experiments suggest that pregnancy may occur only during a very brief period in the entire month. It may not be over 6 to 24 hours in duration.

* * *

Thus many healthy couples may miss this brief ovulation time just by chance alone. That may have explained the sterlitiy of Sarah in the Bible, as well as Hannah, too.

Literally hundreds of wives like Elaine have found they could conceive by following the scientific advice given above. However, it would obviously not permit them to produce offspring if organic disease prevented conception.

For further advice, send for my booklet "Facts About Pregnancy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Many doctors give these to patients, too, to save themselves the time required for such explanations.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Tiger Boss Pulled Dirty Trick in Bids'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

In reference to the Tigers, in all my life I never saw such a dirty deal pulled on good businessmen such as Bill Veeck and others as the one by Spike Briggs.

First, he asked for bids when only one could get the club even if he had to bid on it forty times.

Second, the man that got the Tigers had to promise Spike a job. (He showed his true self when he lambasted his top help at long distance. That was enough for loyal fans. If I were Spike Briggs, I would be ashamed to face the loyal fans.

Third, to the new owners, get men in your organization that have to work to eat, not men that want to joy ride and play at someone elses' expense.

NEW YORK (AP)—In a troubled time in which Nasser holds the Suez Canal and the New York Giants are in last place, let us pause and honor one symbol that stands unchanged.

It is the hot dog, the hungry man's best friend.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce named July as National Hot Dog Month, and it would be a doggoned shame if we let August dawn without paying melodious meed to America's favorite delicacy.

The hot dog is, narrowly speaking, no more an American invention than the motor car or ice cream. But, like them, it has become recognized now everywhere—except possibly in Russia—as peculiarly typical of our culture.

* * *

The ancestor of the hot dog is the sausage, and the sausage is older than recorded history.

It was undoubtedly broiled by the Greek troops besieging ancient Troy, because blind Homer in the 9th Century B.C. wrote:

"As when a man nears a great glowing fire turns to and fro a sausage, full of fat and blood, anxious to have it quickly roast, so to and fro Odysseus tossed, and pondered how to lay hands upon the shameless suitors."

* * *

There are almost as many kinds of sausages as there are nationalities. But the modern hot dog, according to culinary scholars, springs from the frankfurter, developed by a forgotten genius in the 16th Century in Frankfurt, Germany.

It is also generally accepted that the frankfurt first won popularity in America at Coney Island, where it was introduced by Charles Feltman, a German immigrant, in 1871.

He put out an all-beef product. Other Coney Island hawkers, quick to try to cash in on his success, began peddling adulterated franks that seemed to have in them everything from chicken feathers to ground up mattress stuffing. Reform elements set up a hue and cry.

* * *

Quick to seize on this new political issue, Boss Tweed slapped a $200 license fee on the vendors, and Police Captain Elias Clayton was given the task of "finding out what breed of dog went into the making of frankfurters."

This slighting reference to the possible canine content of frankfurters tickled Coney Island tourists, who promptly began calling them "hot dogs." The name has stuck ever since.

Some historians contend, however, the hot dog sandwich as we know it today didn't come along until the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in St. Louis in 1904. A concessionaire who loaned customers white gloves to eat the hot moist frankfurters found many of the gloves weren't being returned. So he started wrapping buns around the hot dogs as finger protectors.

* * *

Who first wedded mustard to the hot dog? Alas, so far as I can find, he is as nameless as the first guy who joined ham and eggs.

But here are a few more important facts and milestones in the career of the hot dog:

* * *

In 1937 the skinless frankfurter came into vogue. That year 136 million pounds of hot dogs were produced in America. Last year Americans ate an average of 16.16 hot dogs a person during the peak season between Memorial Day and Labor Day.

Americans this year will consume a billion pounds of hot dogs.

AEC Boss Opens Traveling A-Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss has dedicated the atomic Energy Commission's first traveling atoms-for-peace exhibit.

The exhibit, featuring a 16-foot animated model of a plant for converting atomic energy into electric power, was set up in the Smithsonian Institution. Two more like it will be shown across the country.

Panel presentations, working models and push-button displays are used to demonstrate the present and future roles of the atom.

Asks for $1, Gets $10, but Still Loses $30

DENVER (AP)—Reginald E. Bayley, 54, told police he got a better deal than expected when he asked for a dollar back from two men who robbed him.

One of them tossed him a $10 bill, he explained, adding that the pair made off with $30.

Nuclear-Powered Ship Will Cost $42.5 Million

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (INS) — President Eisenhower has signed legislation authorizing the government to build its first nuclear-powered merchant ship at a cost of about 42 and a half million dollars.

* * *

The measure provides the vessel must be capable of carrying out shipping service on the central trade routes of the world. House supporters of the plan also stated that a wholly new type reactor will be developed for the ship. This would rule out the use of atomic reactors already available.

Congress appopriated 24 and a half million dollars to the Atomic Energy Commission for development of the reactor and for flue, and 18 million dollars to the Maritime Commission for design and construction of the hull and the training of new personnel.

Eisenhower asked Congress last year to give him authority to convert a regular merchant ship into a kind of floating showboat, that would be nuclear powered and would be sent around the world on a propaganda voyage.

Although Republicans fought for passage of the administration's legislation in 1955, they were unable to push it through.

House Merchant Marine Committee Chairman Herbert Bonner (D-NJ) introduced the concept of the wholly new nuclear merchant vessel last year as an alternative to the President's plan. But, the Bonner proposal, like that offered by Eisenhower, failed to win Congressional approval.

* * *

The bill signed by Eisenhower today, however, included essentially the same proposal made by Bonner last year, but was minus the President's nuclear showboat.

900 Extra Police to Guard Democrats

CHICAGO (AP)—Some 900 policemen will be detailed to the Democratic National Convention, which opens here Aug. 13, as a security measure and to handle traffic.

Police commissioner Timothy O'Connor said yesterday about 350 policemen will be assigned to the convention area in the vicinity of the International Ampitheater at 42nd and South Halsted St. Extra details will be assigned to Loop hotels housing convention visitors, with the largest force to be at the Hilton, the Loop convention headquarters. The department has about 8,000 policemen.

Surgeons Empty Trash Barrel —Human Type

Inside they found: 1 piece of wire, 13 razor blades, 1 fountain pen, 1 toothbrush, 1 pencil, 1 pair of chopsticks, 1 bone from an umbrella, 21 nails and 41 other items of hardware — all, it appeared, swallowed during the past six months.

Kawakami explained:

"I was told at a festival they would give me a big prize if I ate hardware."

Italian Skipper Spotted Other Ship on Radar; Victim Asks $200,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Nine congressmen will go to a Brooklyn drydock tomorrow to inspect the Swedish ship damaged in the collision that sank the Italian luxury liner Andrea Doria.

• • •

The congressmen, members of the House Merchant Marine Committee, will look over the liner Stockholm as the first step in a probe of safety at sea.

The two sleek modern ships collided in dense fog south of Nantucket Island, Mass., last Wednesday night. The 30,000-ton Doria plunged to the bottom of the Atlantic the next day. The 12,600-ton Stockholm struggled back to port here with a smashed bow.

In other developments yesterday:

1. The Italian Line said the Doria radar-tracked the oncoming Stockholm before the fatal crash. Capt. Piero Calamai said he himself watched the Swedish vessel approach on the radar screen. The line declined to say more about what happened on the Doria's bridge.

• • •

2. The Italian Line listed two known dead, 18 presumed dead and 29 unaccounted for among the Doria's 1,706 passengers and crew. Rescue vessels saved the rest. The line hopes many of the unaccounted for are safe and only failed to register in the confusion at the various piers where survivors debarked.

Two Stockholm crewmen died in the crash and three others are missing and presumed dead. The known or presumed dead total for both ships is 25.

3. Miss Nancy Leo, 33, a Miami, Fla., elevator operator, filed a $200,000 damage suit in federal court — $100,000 against the Swedish-American Line and $100,000 against the Italian Line.

Body Washed Ashore May Be Producer's

SIMCOE, Ont. (AP)—A body believed to be that of New York theatrical producer Gordon Pollock has washed up on the north shore of Lake Erie, at Long Point Beach.

Provincial police said the body was found Sunday and they were awaiting the arrival of Pollock's mother, Mrs. Anna Pollock, from New York City to identify it.

• • •

The 28-year-old producer and his wife Norma disappeared April 15 while flying their small private plane from Detroit to New York. A suitcase of clothing, identified as Pollock's, washed ashore east of Erie, Pa., on the south shore of the lake, on April 24, and on May 8 another suitcase containing personal papers of the producer was found on the beach further to the east.

Bob Considine Says:

Stassen's Future Can Boom or Boomerang

NEW YORK (INS)—Harold Stassen came as close to being president as any man of our time who didn't make it.

He was the primary champ of 1948, ("he is sweeping the plains like a prairie fire" a supporter enthused). Nothing seemed capable of stopping him from gaining the GOP nomination. He had youth, labor was interested in him, he had been at Adm. Halsey's side in the Pacific and had been a successful and popular governor of a great state at a tender age.

Just as Sen. Kefauver, while riding high, was beaten in the California primary by Adlai Stevenson, and apparently permanently deflated, Stassen got knocked out eight years ago, when he seemed to be a mile ahead on points.

Stassen's waterloo was the Oregon primary of 1948. He missed by a whisker—Tom Dewey's. If he had got past that one, and added the win to the others, he could have had the convention nod for the asking. It is in the "iffy" realm, as FDR used to chide, but many are of the opinion that Stassen was the one Republican in 1948 who could have beaten President Truman.

IKE A DEMOCRAT

If they are right, he would have been the party's candidate for renomination in 1952. For all we know, this would have deterred Gen. Eisenhower from running, or put him in the race as a Democrat, where Mr. Truman wanted him years before.

Dewey waited to be coaxed in 1948. Alarmed at the way Stassen had taken the ball and run with it, Paul Lockwood, Jim Hagerty and a few others not only put the then governor of New York into the thick of the Oregon primary but—in Lockwood's case—went there and set up a most professional program. Lockwood and a few others personally talked to 50,000 voters in person or on the phone in the days leading up to the primary.

The big event was the debate. By contrast to that capon clash between Stevenson and Kefauver of recent date, this was a clash between hairy-chested Goliaths. Dewey was smarter. Knowing that Stassen was understandably confident in view of his past successes, Dewey laid down the rules.

• • •

It would not be held on an auditorium stage, this debate. (He knew that Stassen might win there simply because he stood a foot taller.) There would be no audience at the radio studio, Dewey decreed, thus guarding against "demonstration." He must have his choice of the affirmative or negative in the debate, which was over whether the Communist Party should be outlawed. Dewey chose the liberal side.

A night or two before the radio debate, Dewey lost his voice. It was an authentic and severe case of laryngitis. But Lockwood, Hagerty and others were certain that if they asked for a postponement it would have been interpreted as a desire on Dewey's part to avoid the clash with the front-runner.

An effort was made to fly a throat doctor to Oregon from New York, but bad weather grounded him. In desperation, Lockwood hired a man there—and he worked a miracle on Dewey's voice box. Dewey won . . . going away.

NEVER GAVE UP

Stassen, though beaten, did not give up. He offered himself to Eisenhower as a running mate early in 1952, before Ike decided to run. Then he visited Eisenhower at SHAPE before making up his mind whether he himself would run. When Eisenhower needed a few more votes to win the nomination at Chicago four years ago, after the first ballot, and the heads of a couple dozen delegations were frantically waving their banners beseeching Joe Martin to call of them to change their votes from Bob Taft to their favorite son, Joe chose Stassen's group without hesitation.

And Stassen has been a big figure in the administration ever since. His "Dump Nixon" move of recent days makes no sense when it is presumed that Stassen did it on his own. It will continue to make no sense until the President either directly or indirectly Harold is a fool or still a valued member of the team. So far, the President has said nothing.

Security for You

Legal Marriage Required to Qualify for Any Benefit

By RAY HENRY
AP Writer

It took a night of prayer to bring the pretty young widow to the Atlanta Social Security office. From what she was told there, she felt her prayers had been answered.

Her problem was whether she had been legally married to her husband. He had died a few days before leaving her with three small children.

She knew, she told the Social Security office manager, that if she wasn't legally married she couldn't collect Social Security payments. If she couldn't collect the payments, she didn't know what she and the children would live on.

Here's why she was worried:

One Saturday she and her boy friend decided to get married. They drove to the Opelika, Ala., courthouse, but found it closed. They couldn't get a license.

It was snowing, so they went to a hotel, registered as man and wife and started their honeymoon. After they got back home Monday morning, they announced their marriage and set up housekeeping.

They always intended to get married, but the birth of three children interrupted. Now nothing could be done.

"I've been praying all night," she told the office manager, "and the answer to my prayer is clear that I should come to you."

She was told her worries were needless. In Georgia, common-law marriages are valid. She and the children are now drawing monthly social Security payments.

But, the Social Security people don't answer all questions about legal marriage so easily. And, the number of times the question arises is growing as more wives and widows apply for Social Security benefits and must show proof of marriage.

Many are discovering that their martial knot was never legally tied, and because of it, they're not eligible for Social Security payments. Others are discovering for the first time, that a legal marriage is required to draw the payments.

Because the question of a legal marrage is complicated no simple answer can be given. About the only generality that can be made is: If a marriage is recognized in the state where the Social Security application is filed or where the wage-earner dies, it will be recognized for the payment of benefits.

But, state laws vary as to what is recognized as a legal marriage. For example, today only 19 states recognize common-law marriages. So if the young widow in Atlanta had been living with her husband in a state which didn't recognize common-law marriages, she might not be collecting Social Security benefits.

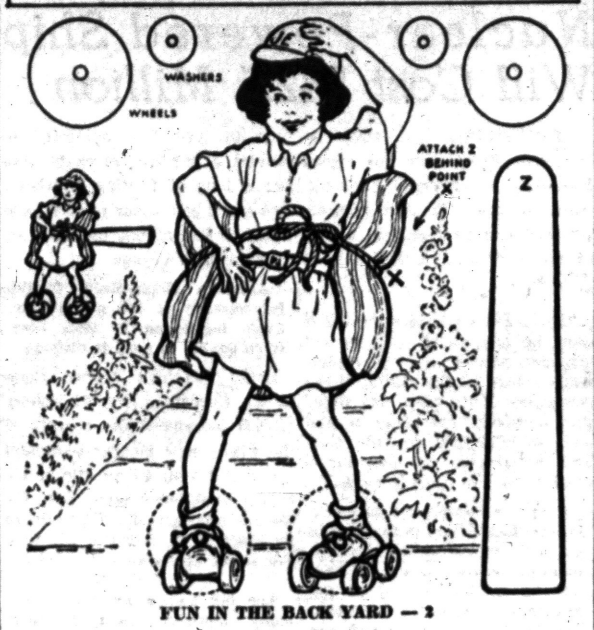

These complications point up the simple fact that if you're in doubt as to whether your marriage is legal in your state, you should find out. If it isn't, you should do something about it or Social Security benefits may be denied you or your family.

Your local Social Security office will be glad to give you help with the problem. Or, a good lawyer can give you a steer in the right direction.

You may write Ray Henry in care of this newspaper about your Social Security or retirement problem. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin.

FUN IN THE BACK YARD — 2

Skating

Judy is learning to skate on the driveway in the back yard with her new roller skates. She has had one sit-down fall and has tied a big pillow to her back for protection.

She also keeps near the grass so that if she does fall she can dive sideways off the hard cement.

Use your crayons to color this picture and then stick it down on cardboard. Cut out all the parts carefully. Place one of the small circles directly behind Judy's right foot, and a larger circle behind that. Fasten the three pieces together with a brass fastener or a bent pin. The little circle will act as a washer to make the larger one turn more easily. Do the same with the left foot.

Attach the long handle behind the pillow, as shown in the small diagram. Then you can roll Judy along, and help her learn how to skate.

When you think she is safe, you can cut away the pillow.

(This idea was contributed by Darlene Zito, Northvale, N. J. Send in your ideas care of this newspaper, and Junior Editors will pay $10 for each used. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Use Sledge Hammers; No Cry of Pain

Balky Convicts Shatter Their Legs

BUDFORD, Ga. (AP) — Thirty-six prisoners broke their own legs with 10-pound sledge hammers yesterday in protest against working conditions at Rock Quarry State Prison, the "Little Alcatraz" of the Georgia penal system.

* * *

Jack Forrester, state director of corrections, said a prison doctor told him 29 white and seven Negro inmates shattered bones in their legs during an afternoon rest period at a rock quarry where they were working half a mile from the prison.

He said the men placed their legs on rocks and "started whacking away" with the sledge hammers normally used to crush rock at the 34-acre quarry. There were no cries of pain, he said.

Guards watching the 189 prisoners in the fenced-in quarry were taking a rest at the time and said they did not notice what had happened until they ordered the men back to work.

Warden Hubert Smith said the injured men told him after the incident that they felt their wheelbarrows were too heavily loaded and the sun was too hot. Temperatures were reported in the low 90s at the time.

Rock Quarry prison was built in 1949. Forrester said it was used to house incorrigible prisoners and that men hard to handle were sent there from other prisons in the state.

Smith said that prisoners work from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. with half-hour breaks in the morning and afternoon, and a two-hour lunch break at noon.

* * *

The injured men were taken to the prison compound in buses and later yesterday were transferred to the Georgia State Prison Hospital at Reidsville about 200 miles away.

Forrester said all the men involved will be given misconduct reports with self-mutilation charges against them. This will go on their records.

Most OK 12-Town Cost Shares

Board Expects Aug. 9 Action

Several Towns Question Their Estimated Shares of Drainage Costs

By DOROTHY JEAN ZACK

Most municipalities have approved the Twelve Town drain allocations methods, and officials are looking toward an estimate and then the setting of allocations at an Aug. 9 meeting.

A. J. Berst, expediter for the office of the Oakland County Drain Commissioner, today said that many communities in the project have taken the allocation statements released at the July 12 meeting a little too literally.

He pointed out that the formula by which the cost estimates will be divided among the Twelve Town communities was what communities were to consider.

The drain board had hoped that community understanding of the cost divisions would speed the process when the firms planning the drain project finally provide cost estimates.

But instead, the communities have taken issue with the examples given them of the cost.

Troy Township's disagreement that their allocation would be too high is most definite among the community opinions.

Last night Birmingham voted tentative approval of the formula and then commissioners took a pause and tabled their motion. Their engineer, L. R. Gare, had described to them in detail how the costs of previously constructed drains would influence the total figures.

In Madison Heights, this previously-installed drain cost was of prime importance. Councilmen questioned the estimate the drain board placed on the Red Run drain.

That new city has slated a special meeting for Aug. 6 to discuss the city's part in the Twelve Town project.

Tentative approval was voted first by Oak Park of all the towns involved. Its assessment was estimated at about $3,915,535.

Ferndale and Clawson have voted tentative approval, with $2,748,906 and $1,727,465 as their shares, respectively.

Berkley commissioners have indictated that the estimate for them would be acceptable but that if it is changed in the final figure, they may retract their approval.

Royal Oak has tentatively approved its apportionment of $9,827,183 as its share of the estimated 30 million dollars total cost.

But as Berst points out, the 30 million dollar figure may change. It may be 31 or 29 million, he says, or any figure thereabouts.

MEET ON AUG. 9

The August 9 meeting will probably see complete plans in from all three companies according to Berst.

"One firm has promised plans by Aug. 2, another has theirs in, and one has assured us that it will have theirs in several days in advance of the Aug. 9 meeting," Berst told the Press.

"If all are on hand at that time, the board will take action," he predicted. "The estimate of cost will be considered, and if approved, will be divided according to the allocation system."

"Then," he continued, "the board will set a hearing for 20 days thereafter for communities to approve or disapprove their allocations."

"We believe that around the 15th of October all of the procedure such as taking bids and selling bonds, will be taken care of so that contracts can be let. Then, work will be started immediately," he says.

Nursing Home Burns, 12 Die

Only One Escapes From Flames; Most Victims Were in Bed

PUXICO, Mo. (AP) — Fire swept quickly through the Reagan Nursing Home late last night and trapped 12 of the 13 residents, most of them in or beside their beds.

Nine of those who perished were 72 to 91. All were from Puxico or nearby towns. One was bedfast.

Only Mrs. Sherry Frederick, an elderly patient, escaped. Two men scrambled up to the roof of the front porch, broke out a window of her second-floor room and pulled her to safety.

• • •

The body of Mrs. Bertha Reagan, 55, who overhauled the old three-story building and opened her nursing home 21 months ago, was found in the first-floor kitchen. She apparently was trying to get out the back door but it was locked.

• • •

All the others were on the second. One of them, Lois Rodgers, 30, entered as a patient only yesterday.

Everyone in the house apparently was asleep when the fire broke out.

• • •

John Ryan, chief of the fire department at nearby Poplar Bluff, Mo., said he and Sgt. Jack Pritchard of the Missouri Highway patrol found a hole burned in the ceiling above a sofa on the first-floor. They theorized a smoldering cigarette had fallen on the sofa.

• • •

The flames were out of control when volunteer firemen got the alarm.

"The whole interior was on fire and flames seemed to be shooting clear to the third floor when I got there," said Jack Harty, a carpenter who was among the first on the scene.

Reunion Ages Range Between 87, 1 Year

MARLETTE — Around 60 relatives and friends of the late William and Arthur Dundas met for their annual reunion at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hager, Sunday.

Mrs. Arthur Dundas, 87, was the eldest guest present and Nancy Dundas, four-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Hugh Dundas Jr. of Oak Park, was the youngest.

Residents of Port Austin, Bad Axe, Croswell, Lexington, Huntington Woods, Oak Park, Ypsilanti, Brown City, Grosse Ile and Marlette attended.

Likely Spot Sought by State for Wild Turkeys

LANSING (AP)—The state conservation department is looking for likely spots to release a new batch of young wild turkeys, which it hopes can be re-established in Michigan.

The turkeys to be released were matched from 400 eggs obtained in Pennsylvania. They will be turned loose when they are 14 weeks old.

The department said the birds will be released in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula. Wild turkeys like hardwood forests where oak trees are in abundance.

Wild turkeys were once abundant in Michigan, but disappeared about 50 years ago in the face of heavy hunting.

The department earlier released turkeys in Allegan, Newaygo and Lake Counties.

Family Plans Formed at Fair

State Event to Feature Early Specials 3 Days for Young and Old

The Michigan State Fair, Aug. 31 through Sept. 9, is setting aside Sept. 4 thru 6 as Family Days. Programs are being especially arranged for the interest and convenience of family groups—the young and old.

For example, Buffalo Bill Jr. and the Texas All-State Rodeo will perform at 7 p.m., an hour and a half earlier than usual so that youngsters can see the show and parents can still get them home at at reasonable hour.

There'll be something special for Children's Day that Tuesday —reduced rides in the Midway, for example and a family program for Governor's Day on Wednesday.

Some of the things planned for Old Timers' Day on Thursday are a square dance exhibition, demonstrations of crafts and hobbies suited for older people, various contests including the baldest man, the oldest person, the longest wed couple.

Arrangements have been made to make the Cunningham tractor train and the John Ivory Pony Coach available during certain hours to transport visitors around the grounds.

There'll even be a special fashion show of costumes dating from Lincoln's time conducted by Goodwill Industries of Detroit.

Last Seen at Bad Axe

Are Flying Saucers Back? Folks Are Seeing 'Objects'

BAD AXE (AP)—A Michigan radio announcer said he saw an unidentified luminous object streak over Port Austin last night and then disappear out over Lake Huron.

William Gravlin, an announcer with radio station WLEW in Bad Axe, described the object as "a solid streak of orange fire." He said it was moving "plenty fast."

• • •

Gravlin said Huron County Deputy Sheriff Fred Cubernuss also witnessed the phenomenon.

The two were riding on M53 between Bad Axe and Port Austin in the Thumb area when Gravlin spotted the light shortly before midnight. It was traveling in a northeasterly direction, he said, and had the general outline of "a large comet."

"But it wasn't like any comet I've ever seen before," he added.

NOT ON RADAR

Gravlin said the luminous object was visible for about 10 or 15 seconds. Then it disappeared. He estimated its altitude at 500 feet.

Gravlin said he checked with the Air Force radar observation post at Port Austin but Air Force officials told him they had spotted nothing unusual on their scopes.

• • •

Last Saturday tourists and at least two policemen said they saw a red-flecked "brilliant white light" circle near the earth over the eastern limits of Cadillac.

Again yesterday an airplane spotter at a ground observation post and a state trooper said they saw a fast-moving red-and-blue-hued object about 12 feet in diameter burning a trail over the Saginaw area.

Dumas, Texas Buries Victims of Explosion

DUMAS, Texas (INS)—The small city of Dumas—population 10,000—was in deep mourning today as they buried 10 of its 19 citizens who perished in yesterday's searing explosion.

• • •

The nine other victims will be buried tomorrow.

All business places were closed from 2 to 5:30 p.m., as grief gripped the community following the greatest disaster ever to hit the Texas panhandle.

Radio station KDDD eliminated all of its regular programs and from 2 until 7:30 o'clock broadcast only to hymns of faith and hope, accompanied by somber organ music.

The pall of grief enveloping Dumas was almost matched by clouds of smoke still rising slowly from an isolated tank which was burning out under the tired eyes of a crew of weary fire fighters at the Shamrock Oil and Gas Company's McKee plant.

• • •

28 IN HOSPITAL

This is about eight miles from the city and the scene of the devastating series of explosions and fires which claimed the lives of the 19 men from Dumas yesterday.

Thirty-five others were injured —with 28 still held at Memorial Hospital. All were said to have passed the critical stage.

"When will Daddy be home!"

The half-stifled sobs of the mothers were the only response as they watched the closed caskets of their husbands being lowered gently into their graves.

• • •

Most of the victims were burned so badly that coffins were not opened.

Meanwhile, the Junior Chamber of Commerce began plans to collect a fund for relief of the families of the dead who might need help. A tentative goal of $100,000 was set.

SLIDE TO A SPLASH — At Oakwood Manor Subdivision, the youngsters of the 43 families Sunday tried out their two new water-slides. While the children slid into the waters of Silver Lake, their parents prepared a planned-potluck picnic to mark their first annual gathering. The four-year-old subdivision, for which frontage is a two-acre shore plot, was scene recently of a fair. Given entirely by the children, it financed the slides. Shown are, left to right, Jean Covey, 11, Lynda Guenther, 9, and Jim Hunt, 11.

Water Cushions Cherries

New Idea Saves Fruit From Handling Damage

Despite their distance from Great Lakes port cities, tons of cherries are water-borne from many west Michigan orchards to processing points.

The idea grew about two years ago in Michigan State University experiments. Horticultural experts assembled tank trucks, partly filled with water, and loaded them with cherries at the orchards.

They found amazing results.

The cherries arrived at processing points fresh and in excellent condition. The water had cushioned much of the traditional bumping and jolting which marked fruit transported by truck in orchard-loaded lugs.

Processers claim the innovation results in better quality fruit and a superior pack. Growers claim they suffer less dockage with less bruised and damaged fruit.

This season found a Cesnovia Township enterprise, operated by brothers Vernon, Kenneth and Rodney Bull, with a modified version of the tank truck idea.

They obtained three tanks, measuring 4x4x4, and distributed them throughout their orchards. Pickers empty fruit-laden pails into the tanks, which are filled with 150 gallons of water.

New Principal Re-Sets Schedules

Milford High Plans Half Days

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Milford Correspondent

MILFORD—As students continue to enjoy the summer vacation, Milford high school's new principal, Gerald Rasmussen, is hard at work setting up a new fall schedule for half-day sessions.

"Two purposes are involved in making 'extended day' sessions," Rasmussen says. "One is to take care of the crowded situation until the new high school is completed and the other is to maintain Milford High School's Assn., accreditation."

Classes will begin at 7:30 to 12:17 for the juniors and seniors, then the ninth and tenth grades begin at 12:30 through to 5:17. All study hall periods will be eliminated.

Every high school student in the Huron Valley area will receive his fall schedule through the mail this week. From then on, pupils may come into office for interviews and may make any change in program that is possible.

Rasmussen signed a contract with the Board of Education the first of July as principal of Milford High School. He comes from Morrice, (Mich.) where he was superintendent of schools. Before that he was a teacher at Lake Odessa and served two and a half years in the U.S. Navy.

Erwin Johnson served as principal of the high school eight years. He is now assistant superintendent of the Huron Valley school system.

As to his summer work in the high school, Rasmussen said that Erwin Johnson started an idea that is being inaugurated into the curriculum this year. From the time a student enters the ninth grade, teachers will cooperate in directing them toward positions best suited to each individual.

GUIDE LIFE PLANS

"These pre-registration and interviews being held this summer will be a guide for teen-agers in the selection of their future life-plans," Rasmussen said.

Ike Is Bluffing, Harriman Says

Foreign Affairs See No Agonizing Reappraisel in Europe

POLAND SPRING, Maine (UP) — New York's Gov. Averell Harriman accuses secretary of State Dulles and the Eisenhower administration of "bluffing" in international affairs.

Harriman, who flies to Boston today to continue delving for New England delegate support of his Democratic presidential nomination candidacy, told newsmen last night:

* * *

"Remember the 'agonizing reappraisal in Europe that Dulles talked about when EDC — European Defense Community — was being considered?

"EDC didn't pass, but there was no reappraisal. That's just an example of this administration's bluffing and you can't bluff in international affairs."

He also said that Dulles was "too chvalier" to Egyptian President Nasser in the Aswan Dam negotiations.

* * *

The New Yorker also said he wouldn't make President Eisenhower's health a campaign issue, adding that the President did so himself, however, "when he discussed it on television."

He turned aside a question on how many delegates he has lined up, saying: "I'm not in the numbers racket."

Harriman's news conference preceded a dinner meeting with 16 of Maine's 24 delegates and 9 of 18 alternates to the Chicago convention next month.

* * *

Afterwards, nobody would say how they feel Harriman stands in Maine. But privately some delegates said they believe he is "gaining strength" among people who had been for Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Maine will have 14 votes at Chicago, with four delegates having a full vote, the rest half votes.

Needed: Highway Miracle to Avert Record Death Toll

CHICAGO (UP) — The National Safety Council said today it will take "almost a miracle" to head off a record high national traffic toll in 1956.

* * *

Ned H. Dearborn, council president, made the prediction on the basis of statistics showing that 18,120 persons have been killed in traffic accidents in the first six months of this year.

It set a new all-time high for the period, overshadowing the previous mark of 17,320 for the first half of 1937. The traffic death toll for the first six months of 1956 represented a 10 per cent increase over a similar period last year.

The June traffic toll was 3,400, the largest number for a June month in history and 14 per cent higher than June a year ago. The previous June mark of 3,119 was set in 1952.

* * *

Dearborn said at the present rate the record traffic toll of 39,969, set in 1941, will be exceeded by some 2,000.

"It will take almost a miracle to head off a record high toll," Dearborn said.

"But this miracle can happen if the American public is sufficiently shocked by what is going on to stop doing the things that are causing these accidents.

* * *

Of 47 states reporting traffic figures for the six-month period, 34 showed increases, 11 decreases and two no change. Rhode Island led with a 40 per cent decrease followed by New Hampshire 34 per cent; Minnesota 17; Connecticut 14; South Dakota 13, and Nevada 12.

For the six-month period, in cities with more than 200,000 population, Dallas, Tex., led the way with a 57 per cent decrease in traffic fatlities. Minneapolis and Rochester, N.Y., followed with 50 per cent decreases. St. Paul, Minn., had a 38 per cent slowdown.

* * *

During the six-month period, 188 cities reported no traffic deaths. The three leaders, in order of size, were Reading, Pa., 109,300; Utica, N.Y., 101,000, and Pawtucket, R.I., 81,400.

More Salk Vaccine Joins in Polio Fight

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Public Health Service has announced release of 3,733,902 doses of Salk polio vaccine.

* * *

The agency said also eight states and territories in the last week had turned back 739,503 doses previously allotted them and this has been reallocated other areas.

Those releasing the vaccine were Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, Virginia, Ohio, Tennessee, the Canal Zone and American Samoa.

* * *

Maryland, which turned back some vaccine earlier, was allotted a replacement of 30,600 shots in addition to its regular share.

Today's release increased to 6,871,824 doses the amount cleared in July. A record 17,172,396 shots were released during June.

* * *

All except 108 doses which were licensed for export will go to the states and territories under the voluntary program. The states and territories have been allotted 71,614,161 of the 85,930,284 doses released since the vaccine was licensed April 12, 1955.

Wheat Surpluses Bring Ice Rinks to Canada Areas

REGINA, Sask. (UP) — The world surplus of wheat is bringing ice rink buildings to about 50 towns on the Canadian prairies—largely at taxpayer's expense.

Nearly all the rinks, designed for skating and the game of curling, are now filled to the rafters with wheat. Eventually skaters and curlers will take over.

* * *

Without the wheat congestion, the rinks probably would never have been built. The communities involved simply couldn't afford them.

Southey is a town of 450 persons about 35 miles north of Regina. The rink venture there was explained by Fred McIlmoyl, secretary of the Southey Community Grain Storage Cooperative.

The co-op was formed last fall, following a meeting of about 12 farmers and town merchants. It borrowed $46,000.

* * *

"We sold shares for $20 cash or $1 and $19 worth of labor and our main object was to get the labor donated," McIlmoyl said.

The Saskatchewan wheat pool has guaranteed the co-op 18 months' storage at $1,000 a month and likely will continue the contract beyond that time. The rink shareholders are hoping the pool can keep the wheat in storage long enough to pay for the project. Meanwhile, the youngsters will be skating on frozen sloughs.

Rise Continues in Polio Rate

Vaccination Campaign Not Stopping Increase in Chicago Area

CHICAGO (UP) — Chicago's polio rate, highest in the nation, continues to rise despite an all-out vaccination drive.

* * *

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the city's Board of Health, announced yesterday that 63 new polio cases had been reported over the weekend.

That brings Chicago's total for this year to 422, compared to 391 cases reported in all of 1955.

Deaths from the disease reached 11, only two under the total in 1955.

Bundesen stressed that the Chicago "outbreak" has not reached epidemic proportions. The number of cases must reach 35 per 100,000 population to be classed as epidemic, he said. The 422 cases to date represent about 11.2 per 100,000.

NO SALK BENEFIT

Bundesen declined to say whether the epidemic incidence has been reached in the west side area where 215 of the cases have been reported.

He said, however, the number of cases among children of five years and younger was 248, or 67 cases per 100,000 of that age group—nearly double the epidemic level. This group, said Bundesen, had virtually no benefit of Salk vaccine shots.

* * *

In the group where inoculation has been concentrated—that between 6 and 14 years—the rate of infection this year has been 18.5 per 100,000.

Muscles make up 44.1 per cent of the weight of the average human body, while the brain accounts for 1.9 per cent of the weight.

Guild Festival Gay Affair

The ponies were kept busy at the annual festival sponsored by Lake Angelus Guild and St. Mary Guild of St. Mary in the Hills Episcopal Church Saturday evening. Helping load the wagons were (left) Mrs. W. Edgar Beatty of Oxford and Mrs. Clayton Leach of Lake Angelus Shores. The affair was held on the grounds at the church beginning at 4:30 p.m.

A ham dinner was served Saturday evening by St. Mary Guild of the church during the festival held on the church grounds. Photographed just as they began serving were (left to right) Mrs. Sydney Smith, Mrs. Russell Lepp, Mrs. Lawrence Giddings, general chairman; Mrs. George Albert, president of the St. Mary Guild; Mrs. Carl LeForge and Mrs. H. W. Robinson, all of Lake Orion.

Balmain Emphasizes Fragility

Narrows Chest Line to Give Romantically Consumptive Look

PARIS (INS)—Paris designer Pierre Balmain doesn't care how long a woman wears her skirts—just so she looks romantically consumptive.

The Balmain look is nostalgic and romantic and gives heavy emphasis to the styles worn during the first 15 years of this century. The romantic touch in his collection is based on feminine details—not hemline height.

Two Paris designers, Dior and Heim, have included some dresses in their collections with shirts only eight inches off the ground, but Balmain has not followed suit.

These "sleeved capes" are cut from soft wool and blanket plaid fabrics for daytime, and appear in satin and velvet worn draped over super-slim midriffs for evening.

Necklines on stiffly embroidered short cocktail and dinner dresses are high and ladylike in front but glamorous and low in square back decolletes. These date dresses are at their best in black velvet with steel and jet beads.

The 1910 styles for evening include a slim, draped "electric pink" chiffon gown and equally ankle-lengthed round edged mink coat.

Whoops! Didn't miss that time! Target for the Socco game at the festival Saturday evening was Don Oatman of Birmingham. Youngsters gathered from all over the county for the annual affair.

Sensible Foot Care

Sensible foot care is particularly important at the seashore or in the country, where the feet pick up dust and sand—and need lots of warm sudsy scrubbing to keep them clean and healthy.

Teenagers' Skirts Shorter

PARIS (INS)—In autumn teenaged mademoiselle in Paris will wear their skirt hems 16 inches off the floor.

They will shorten their skirts on advice of Marie Jeanne Hurst, Paris designer for "Virginie," the exclusive couture shop for teenagers.

"The new Parisian dance dresses for autumn and winter," Madame Hurst said, "will be very full, sophisticated and just long enough to cover the knee-caps."

The new junior daytime dresses, of which some will be very slim-styled, will be worn 14½ to 15 inches off the ground.

"We have shortened the skirts as a part of the new Paris autumn look," Madame Hurst said. "We have finished with the empire style and a raised skirt hem is a part of the new ladylike look for French girls between 10 and 20."

Madame Hurst also wants young girls to wear more dresses and less separates, even for school and play. Sweaters and slacks are perfect for country and weekend wear, she said.

City Dweller Also Plagued With Self-Invited Guests

'Country Cousin,' in for Week or Day, Expects Entertainment, 'Hotel' Service

By RUTH MILLETT

Not long ago I wrote a column on behalf of "country cousins" who all summer long find themselves sleeping and feeding visitors "from town" — among them some who invite themselves for a week and others who just "drop in" in time for Sunday dinner.

Now it seems that the "city cousins" want it known that they, too, have a problem.

They claim they are forever putting up country cousins, who use their houses and apartments as hotels.

They come to the city to shop, to visit the dentist, to stay while a relative is in a hospital. Do they make reservations at a hotel?

Not on your life. They write cousin Sue and her husband or cousin Sam and his wife and say, "I thought I'd stay with you for a few days."

ENTERTAINING COSTLY

While they are in the city they expect to be entertained, and showing "country cousins" all the sights can be both wearying, expensive and time consuming.

* * *

Furthermore, all too often they bite the hand that feeds and entertains them. They say, "How do you stand the noise?" They complain about the traffic and deplore the crowds.

And when they are ready to go home after their "city cousins" have knocked themselves out to take them around to see the sights they say, "Well, it's been nice visiting you — but I sure would hate to have to live here."

The moral to this second article would seem to be that whether they live in the city or the country, folks aren't quite as hospitable as they pretend to be.

* * *

So whether it's a "city cousin" or a "country cousin" you'd like to visit—you had better wait until you are urged to come.

Self - invited guests apparently aren't welcome in the city or the country.

For Success — Pick Job You Like

By ANNE HEYWOOD

The trouble with moderation is, it makes people of both extremes take an intense dislike to you.

For a long time now, I've been saying that creative work which interests you, a hobby which you really love and pursue diligently, will end up bringing you an income. I've seen it happen hundreds of times, and I believe it implicitly.

"Why must you be so commercial? Why can't people engage in arts and crafts for the love of being creative? Why must they always end up making money at it? Art is a pleaseure for its own sake."

WANTS MONEY

On the other hand, this letter came from a lady in New Jersey:

"It's all very well to love your work and express yourself and all that, but my problem—and that of many of my friends—is to make money. Let's have a little less stress on creative expression and some concrete pointers on how to make money."

My experience has been that if you engage in a thing from real love of it, it's bound to make money for you.

The reason is that it develops your abilities and contributes to your growth and your effectiveness.

WORK NATURALLY

Moreover, if you love it, you work hard at it, without even feeling that it's work.

On the other hand, if you enter a thing just for money, without real interest, it does not contribute to your development, you do not work hard at it and you do not succeed.

* * *

Mrs. J., a friend of mine, illustrates this point.

Mrs. J. needed a home project which would make money, a good deal of money. She didn't have time, as she told me, to worry about what she liked.

After surveying her neighborhood and community, she found that what it really needed was a catering service. She could cook all right, but it didn't really excite her. However, since that's where the money was, that's what she'd do.

As a result, she lost everything, because she simply couldn't work as hard at it as she would have at something she loved.

USED TALENT

Mrs. T., on the other hand, is an example of the right way to make money.

Mrs. T. loves to sew and is fascinated with the history of costumes. She bgan dressing dolls according to historical periods, just for the fun of it.

Little by little, people began wanting to buy them, shopkeepers wanted to rent them for window dispalys for holidays and a gift shop wanted to stock them.

* * *

And yet Mrs. T. loves doing it so much that she would do it for love, if not for money.

In short, success requires hard work. It is impossible, except for a real saint, to work hard enough unless you love what you're doing!

That's why the first step toward a money-making project is to decide what you really like to do.

Want Party for Adopted Daughter

Affair Is Definitely Good Taste, Elated Parents Are Told

BY EMILY POST

A wife writes: "My husband and I adopted a little girl about a year ago. The final papers will be coming through very soon making her our very own daughter. We are so happy about this that we would like to give a party for friends and relatives to celebrate the occasion.

"Would such a party be in order, and if so, will you please tell me how the invitations should be worded."

Answer: A party certainly could be in order — in fact sounds very happy. Some such wording as this could be used: "At last Mary is ours! Will you come in to afternoon tea to celebrate with us."

Dear Mrs. Post: "Will you please tell me the correct way to refuse wine at the dinner table? I have been told that the glass should be turned upside down indicating that I do not drink, and in this way no wine will be poured into the glass. I would like to know whether this is considered correct table manners."

Answer: It would be very bad manners to turn your glass upside down. You should be alert and say, "No thank you!" before your glass is filled.

Dear Mrs. Post: "My mother and I are preparing to address wedding invitations and there is some controversy as to how we should address the inside envelopes.

"Many of the invitations will go to friends and family of the bridegroom whom we have nevr met. Are the inside envelopes that go to our personal friends and family also addressed the same way?"

Answer: The inside envelopes of invitations going to members of the bridegroom's family would be addressed, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, etc. Those going to your family may, if you prefer, be written "Uncle John and Aunt Mary," "Cousin Susie," etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton C. Probert were married Saturday morning at Our Lady of the Lakes Church. The bride, the former Sandra L. Coopes, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubyn W. Coopes of Whitfield court. He is the son of the Milton E. Proberts of Cass Lake road.

MR. and MRS. MILTON PROBERT

Sandra Coopes Becomes Bride of Milton Probert

Before an altar decorated with white gladioli, Fugi chrysanthemums and fern, Sandra L. Coopes became the bride of Milton C. Probert Saturday morning at Our Lady of the Lakes Church.

The Rev. Frederick J. Delaney was the celebrant at the 11 a.m. Nuptial Mass, in the presence of 185 guests.

Sandra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubyn W. Coopes of Whitfield Court and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton E. Probert of Cass Lake Rd.

TIARA HOLDS VEIL

A tiara headpiece trimmed with seed pearls and sequins secured her fingertip veil of illusion. Her flowers were white carnations and lilies-of-the-valley centered with pink roses.

Marilyn Shell was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Patricia Quinton and Judy Walker.

They wore waltz-length gowns of chiffon trimmed in matching satin in orchid and pink respectively. Each wore a Juliet cap in a matching color and carried Colonial bouquets of shasta daisies.

* * *

For her duties as flower girl, Dawn Marie Eddy, niece of the bride, wore and orchid nylon frock and carried a nosegay of pink and white flowers.

Serving as best man was Philip Smith of Holly. Seating the guests were Glenn Cabell Ronald Holland and Albert and Norman Probert, brothers of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Coopes greeted her guests at the reception held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlors. She wore a dress of gray silk organza over pink taffeta, with pink accessories and a pink Fugi chrysanthemum corsage.

* * *

Mrs. Probert chose a dusty rose lace over satin dress with white accessories for her son's wedding. Her corsage was of white carnations and pink rosebuds.

For traveling, the bride changed to a gray and white sheath dress with matching duster. Her corsage was of Mamie Eisenhower carnations.

Following a honeymoon trip in northern Michigan the couple will reside in Drayton Plains.

Bridal Attendants Are Revealed by Helen Coffer

Belts Move to 2nd Rib Position

NEW YORK (INS)—You can get that 1912 look for the price of a belt instead of a costume next fall, just by counting your ribs.

One of the big motifs of the 1912 look is the high belt, placed at second rib level, and generally swooping down in back. This is different from the high-waisted empire look that circles horizontally just under the bust.

You need either a specially designed belt or new belt slots on your current clothes. The special belts go up in front, down in back— and they are worn best on loose dresses.

A regular wide belt can do the trick, too, if you set the slots that hold the belt up at second rib level instead of at your waist.

* * *

It's wise to do this only on easy-fitting suits or on dresses that do not have a normal waistline seam, otherwise the belt above the waist seam just looks misplaced and untidy.

Second rib level, by the way, is about midway between waist and bust. Find yours by poking at your rib case and then counting one-two from the bottom up.

Woman, 45, Trims Form, Gets Job

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I think you will be interested in the following letter from a reader.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman:

"I am one of the many women who joined your Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon last January. I am 45 years old, and a year and a half ago, I was suddenly faced with the necessity of making my own living. I won't go into details.

"Before my marriage I was personal secretary to an important business executive. Fortunately I had enough money to take some courses in order to recover my former skill in typing and shorthand.

Any mature woman who seeks a position should certainly give herself the break of looking fit, of being the correct weight, of good grooming.

AGE HANDICAP

"Of course I realized that my age was against me, things being as they are. However, I really did not feel daunted. I have excellent health and know that I am well qualified. I had no luck!

"I haven't told you yet that I was 30 pounds overweight last January. That is when I decided to join Marathon. I lost 20 pounds in eight weeks and then lost the last 10 more slowly.

"I do not know whether or not it is a coincidence or whether the loss in poundage turned the trick, but I have just accepted a position of responsibility. I do not receive a large salary to start with but I know I can do the job well and that there is a real chance for advancement. What do you think about all of this?"

WONDERFUL

I think it is wonderful. Perhaps you would have gotten the job anyway but I am sure that you gave the impression of being more youthful and in better health without that 30 pounds.

• • •

Also remember that everyone conscious today of the health hazards of overweight. You not only looked younger but you probably were considered a better risk because you were not overweight.

Of course, the age limits in the classified advertisements are unintelligent and ridiculous. This is changing, but slowly. Any mature woman who seeks a position should certainly give herself the break of looking fit, of being the correct weight, of good grooming. Overweight makes one look a lot older at the age of 45 than it does at the age of 20.

If any of you readers failed to join Marathon in January and would now like to begin getting ready for fall styles, you may want the routine this reader used. If so send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope your your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Foods taken from the refrigerator and immediately put under the flame to broil will take a little more cooking time than usual.

Gov. Meyner Rush-Dating Stevenson's Pretty Cousin

NEW YORK (INS) — New Jersey's Governor Robert Meyner, the bachelor Democrat who used to date Margaret Truman, has switched to Stevenson. Not Adlai, however.

Miss Stevenson admitted today that she and Meyner have been dating steadily since May.

The 48-year-old 6-foot governor, who says he is not committed politically to Adlai Stevenson, refused to comment on any romantic commitments.

• • •

NO OTHER DATES

The tall, blue-eyed brunette, who admits she "leans toward Democrats, in boy friends," said she hasn't dated anybody but Meyner since they met.

• • •

"We've been friends," she explained, "since we met at a mock Democratic convention at Oberlin College. He was keynoter."

Miss Stevenson's father is president of the Ohio School, and Meyner was the family's house guest during the "convention."

"We've dated about 20 times," Adlai's pretty cousin added. "When he comes to New York we go out for dinner, only he's too busy to get into town much.

• • •

DODGES QUESTION

Is she in love with the governor? Miss Stevenson dodged that question like a politician.

"We've enjoy each other's company," she said.

Is the governor in love with her? "We don't act as if we were enemies," she giggled.

Miss Stevenson said she and the curly-haired, handsome governor like to play tennis and go swimming together. But she wouldn't say if he kisses her goodnight.

"I can't answer that question. It's personal," she replied, adding: "We're friends. That's the only statement I can make at this time."

• • •

The governor, considered one of America's most eligible bachelors, said even less. Aides at the statehouse in Trenton said he was too busy to answer the phone.

GOP Has 7 Seeking Nomination

This is the sixth of eight articles on Oakland County candidates for local, state and national offices in the August 7 primary election. Previous articles have reviewed Democratic and Republican candidates for county offices and the county's six State Legislative posts, and the Democratic slate running for nomination as State Senator from the county.

An overflow crowd of seven candidates are competing for the Republican nomination as State Senator from Oakland County, Michigan's 12th Senatorial district.

The seat will be vacated after this year by Sen. William S. Broomfield, who is seeking Republican nomination as Congressman from Oakland County, the state's 18th congressional district.

Only two of the candidates, Clarence A. Reid Jr. of Southfield Township and Mayor William R. Judy of Berkley, live in the heavily-populated southern end of the county.

Farm Discontent Hits Red China

Discipline Too Severe, Peiping Daily Reports; Work Slowest Ever

HONG KONG (AP)— Labor discipline on Red China's collective farms is just a little tough and there is serious discontent among the members, the Peiping People's Daily reports.

This is the official paper of the Chinese Communist party. It said punishment for trivial infractions on the farms has cut productive efficiency.

"Work in agricultural cooperatives is falling behind more than ever," it said. "It is obvious that cooperatives will soon be reuined if members are continuously punished with these regulations."

The troublesome regulations include:

"One who does not report that his work is delayed must turn out 30 per cent more than his original quota of work.

"Workers who quarrel on the job will be punished.

"One who is absent from a meeting will be punished.

"One who does not express his opinion openly and talks in secret will be punished, and if the violator is a — Communist — party member, a member of the Youth Corps, a team leader, or a section chief, he will be doubly punished."

Baby Connie Born Aboard a Big 'Connie'

HONOLULU (AP)—Connie Patricia Anne Worsley is one day old today and named after an airplane in which she was born at 10,000 feet over the Pacific.

* * *

Her mother, Mrs. Harold R. Worsley, was en route to join her husband, an Army staff sergeant in Tachikawa, Japan, when she gave birth to 5-pound Connie aboard a Military Air Transport Service plane 400 miles out of Honolulu.

* * *

Mrs. Worsley, who lived in Concord, Conn., named the baby Patricia Anne. Then she added Connie for the plane, a Constellation.

Mother and daughter are doing well in Tripler Army Hospital here.

Salvation Army Center to Aid 27,500 Yearly

The new Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center here will be prepared to handle some 27,500 needy men a year when it begins operation in October, Brig. Byam G. Youngman, manager of the Detroit Service Center, said.

Salvation Army officials announced last week the purchase of the two-story Whitfield, Walter & Dawson wholesale grocery warehouse at 118 W. Lawrence St. for $180,000.

Youngman said the purpose of the center will be to provide spiritual direction, wholesome recreation, counseling and guidance, health and welfare to the men that enter the center.

He will head the new center, the 120th in the country, until officers and a staff of five can be appointed. There will be from 10 to 15 employes in addition to the staff of Army workers.

STORE ON LAWRENCE

A store will be built on Lawrence Street in the building in which the refinished products will be resold with the income directed toward the complete operation of the center.

* * *

All centers are self-supporting from the work done on furniture, clothing, and other items collected by Salvation Army trucks.

In addition to the shop, the intake department and offices will be located on the first floor, Youngman said.

The second floor will house a complete factory with furniture, radio, upholstering, electrical appliance, carpentry shops along with the paper baling and sorting machinery.

TO HOUSE 75 MEN

A modern living quarters for 75 men will be available with the addition of a $100,000 third floor. Work on this addition will begin immediately after sketches are approved, Youngman said.

* * *

The third floor will contain the recreational facilities of the rehabilitation center. There will be a games room, television and motion picture room, and snack bar for the men.

"Our job is to cut down past injurious leisure time activities and fill in with other leisure time pursuits that are profitable," the official related.

There will be a chapel for services one night a week and on Sunday. Other evening programs will be set up in an effort to solve the many problems of the men.

The Salvation Army works in cooperation with Alcoholics Anonymous, for 90 per cent of the men are expected to be "traditioned by alcohol," Youngman said.

CLOSE! — The newscamera catches a moment of high drama in the bullring at Tijuana, Mexico. A vicious lunge by the bull just missed Pat McCormick, 26-year-old lady bullfighter from Texas, the bull's horn hooking into her jacket. Pat was knocked down, but arose uninjured, killed the bull and then assisted another girl matador, Betty Ford, in her fight.

Free World's Uranium Should Last Till 2056, Atom Czars Claim

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Atomic Energy Commission's 20th semi-annual report says hydrogen-type power furnaces fueled from sea water and providing unlimited energy will be entirely safe.

* * *

Concerning "clean" H-bombs—those with a reduced amount of radioactive fallout—the report conceded that even with the new devices there was considerable difficulty in confining dangerous radioactivity to the 500,000-square-mile Eniwetok Proving Ground during the 1956 test explosions.

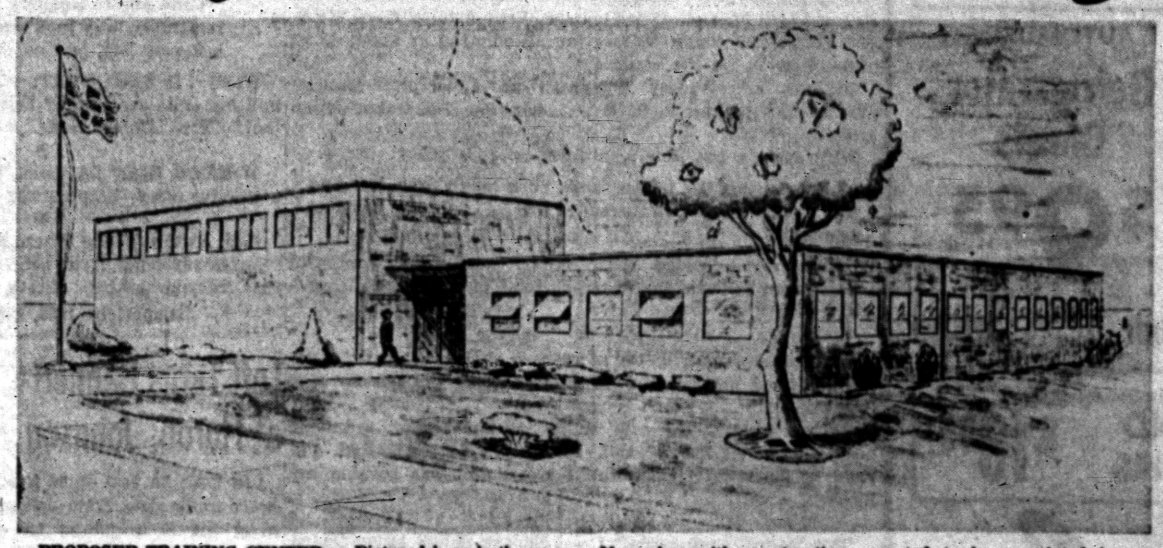

The report pictured rapid strides being made toward privately financed nuclear power in the United States but contained an unprecedented note that "Commissioner Thomas E. Murray does not subscribe to this section of the report."

"DISAGREES WITH FACTS"

Since the section contained no opinions and purported to be merely a review of the facts, Murray's dissent presumably meant that he could not agree the facts had been properly presented. The AEC is composed of five members and headed by Lewis L. Strauss.

Progress in President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace program, including agreement with Russia and other nations on setting up an international Atomic Energy Agency, was described as the "most important" of the developments during the six-month period.

Army Reserve Building Slated

PROPOSED TRAINING CENTER — Pictured here is the new U. S. Army Reserve Training Center to be built next year on Orchard Lake Avenue across from Beaudette Park. The building, equipped to train 400 men, will be of modern school-type construction. Estimated cost is $350,000. Bids are expected to be taken in November with construction expected to be completed in one year. The structure will be used primarily for classroom training of reservists in the Pontiac area. The City Commission approved a 50-year lease on the site in February.

$350,000 Tag Put on Center

Orchard Lake Avenue to Be Site of Structure; Work Bids Sought

Plans for the new $350,000 school-type U. S. Army Reserve Training Center to be built on Orchard Lake avenue have been revealed by Major E. W. Grotelueschen, army reserve adivser in Pontiac.

An official of the Corps of Engineers in Detroit said it was "contemplated" to advertise for construction bids in November with contracts expected to be awarded in December. Approximately one year is required for completion.

On May 2 the Pontiac City Commission approved a 50-year lease for a five-acre plot on Orchard Lake avenue opposite Beaudette Park. The site, a former city sanitary fill, is bounded on the north by the Michigan Air Line Railroad, west by Orchard Lake avenue, south by Argyle avenue, and on the east by the Clinton River.

ONE-STORY BUILDING

Major Grotelueschen said the structure will be a one-story brick building similar to modern school buildings in the city. It will front on Orchard Lake avenue.

The building will be used primarily for classroom instruction for 14 reserve units totaling approximately 800 men. It is planned for instruction three nights a week, the adviser said.

It will contain five classrooms, a vehicle storage building and an assembly room for drill instruction and ceremonies. The latter room will have a balcony designed for visiting officials to view ceremonies.

Offices will be provided for instructors, members of the reserve staff and unit commanders.

The edifice is designed for 400 men. There will be locker and shower facilities, a library and day room (recreation room) for both officers and enlisted men.

Other facilities include a snack bar, a first aid room and arms room to store all weapons.

The building will contain 30,842 square feet. Sections of the five-acre plot are planned for outdoor drill fields during the summer, the major said.

Reserve activities in the area have been carried on at 37 W. Lawrence St.

Area People Learn First Aid

They Will Be Ready to Alleviate Pain

Thirty-three Pontiac area residents have taken on a job for the summer that will give them experience in helping in hospital wards and emergency rooms.

* * *

Purpose of such experience is to train these people to help in hospitals in case of disaster.

Members of the First Aid Instructors' Club of the Oakland County Chapter, American Red Cross, spend six hours a week sharpening skills and learning the way around Pontiac General Hospital.

Miss Paul called a meeting June 6 and presented the idea. The course began June 11.

ROLE OF FIRST AID

"Club members, already giving precious leisure hours to training others and manning the chapter's Holiday Highway Patrol, did not hesitate," says Ralph S. Forman, club president and chairman of first aid.

Forman explains the true role of first aid in disaster is to be on the spot in a stricken area, but that potential service need not be wasted. "Victims must go to hospitals . . . we're going with them," he said.

In explaining the course, which ends Aug. 23, Miss Paul emphasized "volunteers are not playing doctor and nurse. Volunteers will perform duties to free professional hands for their special skills," she said.

LEARN VITAL SKILLS

By the end of the course in August, volunteers will have been trained to work in care stations and assist in "sorting" areas. Special training is being given also in ward and emergency work.

Volunteers learn how to use a respirator and resuscitator; to operate improvised equipment; to take temperatures and pulse; and, bed care techniques.

The training is being given by Mrs. Phyllis Hazen, supervisor of non-professional personnel. Mrs. Helen Beske, director of nursing service worked with Forman in planning training program and policies.

Dr. John S. Lambie, director of medical services for Oakland County Civil Defense, says, "When an enemy comes, there must be an emergency hospital set-up. Red Cross is an excellent dress rehearsal for enemy-borne disaster."

Pontiac residents now in training include James A. Bolin, John Furling, Glenn D. Smith, Leon Bumgardner, Ralph S. Forman, Mrs. Katherine Lobb, Homer Young, David Warrilow, Mrs. Orrin Brown Jr., Albert W. Nichols and Mrs. Geraldine Roberts.

Grabbing Suez May Cost Nasser His Job in Egypt

ROME (AP)—Gamal Abdel Nasser's nationalization of the Suez Canal may well bring about his fall from power before many months.

That is the opinion of Middle East experts who have been in on-the-spot contact with Egyptian developments over a period of years.

Anti-Western elements in the Arab world outside Egypt—and particularly the Arab refugees who lost their Palestinian homes when Israel was created — enthusiastically support Nasser.

Each new Nasser action against the West wins their cheers. But Nasser never has been able to win over his own people because of internal problems which receive little attention abroad.

Even before Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal and Britain retaliated by freezing Egypt's 364-million-dollar sterling balance, the Egyptian economic situation was bleak.

The highly publicized Nasser revolution failed to produce economic reforms which would have raised the abysmal living standard of the Egyptian peasant. Financial restrictions and red tape choked Egyptian commerce.

Marines Use Own Language

Sukoshi, Salt, Takusan? Gung-Ho Boots Talking

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—U.S. Marines have a language of their own which generally is intelligible only to another Marine. In their 181 years of history they have borrowed words from the U.S. Navy, the Philippines, China, Japan, Haiti, Korea, Nicarauga and, occasionally, English.

* * *

Boondocks — This is a corruption of the old word "bonduc" used by the Moro tribe in the Philippines to indicate any area "away from the main reservation." It still has that meaning for Marines.

Hard charger — A Marine invention meaning an eager-beaver, "gung ho" Marine. Gung ho — from the Chinese meaning "fight together, all for one, one for all."

* * *

Skylarking — From the Navy. In the old days when midshipmen were in fine fettle they would play a game similar to tag in the rigging: hence, kids in the sky on a lark.

Passageway — From the Navy, meaning a corridor.

* * *

Overhead — From the Navy, meaning the ceiling.

"Old salt"—or "salty dog"—A crusty, long-time Marine who has been around. This means he has been at sea so much his emblems have become salt corroded.

* * *

Boot—Origin unknown, but probably comes from the British Royal Navy. In the days of sail, British Marine recruits were issued clothing and sent aboard ship for instruction. As they came aboard they had their new boots slung around their necks by the laces; hence, "boot' to mean recruit.

Swabbie — A sailor. Generally decks are hosed down now, but once a large part of a young sailor's life was spent on the business end of a swab, or mop.

Street Dance Highlights City Political Meeting

Pontiac's Republican Women's Civic Club and members of the party in southwest Pontiac join Thursday in sponsoring a candidates rally at 328 Wessen St.

Candidates present will speak on their qualifications for office, after which two hours of street dancing and free refreshments are promised. The affair is open to the public.

Career Girls in Downtown Jobs Keep Stores Alive

Downtown stores concerned about the flight to the suburbs have a powerful "secret weapon" in their own backyard—the thousands of career girls concentrated in office buildings who are earning the highest wages in history and are ready to buy finery, frills and furbelows at the onset of a 15-minute "coffee break."

* * *

But according to a survey just conducted by a nationwide marketing research organization, this potential is rarely being cultivated adequately by the downtown stores.

A quick perusal of the figures is all that's needed to show that "Heaven protects the store which supplies a charge account to the working girl!" Conversely, stores which do not supply the career girls with charge accounts have only themselves to blame if business is not up to snuff, the researchers said.

The analysis showed that working girls with charge accounts made better than three times as many purchases (3.5 to be precise) in the department and specialty stores surrounding their offices as their co-workers who paid cash.

And the three stores situated right in the heart of the office building sector were favored with credit over cash ratios of 4.5 to 1, 6.4 to 1, and 10 to 1.

But not enough stores are even doing this. The study reveals that 34 per cent of the working girls interviewed did not have any charge account and another 22 per cent possessed only one. The research firm feels that this 56 per cent represents plenty of good business potential lying in wait for the store or stores supplying them with charge accounts.

Restaurant Burglarized; Cigarettes, Pies Taken

Oakland County detectives are investigating the breakin of an Oxford Township restaurant today after a routine check by Sheriff Department deputies discovered a window screen had been broken out of a rear door early this morning.

Maw's Kitchen, 1076 S. Lapeer Rd., was looted of an undetermined amount of money, cigarettes and pastries, according to detectives. The money was taken from a cigarette machine and the cash register.

Haste Makes Congress Feel a Little Awkward

WASHINGTON (INS)—Congressmen are begging President Eisenhower to veto a bill they passed too rapidly in last week's adjournment rush.

In the race to quit, Congress set the date for the opening of the 85th Congress at Jan. 7. Now they discover that that day is the legal date for counting the electoral ballots of the November election.

They don't believe Congress can be organized fast enough to meet the 1 p.m. deadline for the ballot counting.

The simplest way out appeared to be having President Eisenhower veto the bill setting Jan. 7 as the opening session. The date for convening Congress would then revert to Jan. 3.

Comrade, You Say So— but, Seeing Is Believing

WASHINGTON (INS) — If you believe Soviet claims, the Russians will make astronomical strides in agriculture within the next few years.

Russian Minister of Agriculture Vladimir Matskevich makes the boasts in the new English-language Soviet magazine, USSR. He says that by the end of Russia's sixth five-year plan—in 1960—the Soviets will produce close to 2,500,000 new tractors a year, 183,000,000 tons of grain, and double the present output of meat, milk, eggs and wool.

U. S. specialists on Soviet agriculture believe the figures are completely out of line in view of past Soviet goals and accomplishments.

Matskevich, a deputy premier, notes that "in the Soviet Union there is no private ownership of land; it all belongs to the state." But, he adds, "only a small part of it is cultivated by state farms; the rest has been turned over for free and perpetual use to those who till it."

Post Office to Close

CADILLAC (AP) — The Post Office at Jennings in Missaukee County is scheduled to close today after 58 years of service. Mrs. Lewis Brown, postmistress since 1945, said Jennings' population has dwindled from 1,800 in lumber boom days to about 100—mostly summer residents.

A variety of transparent sea shell commonly is used in the Philippines as a substitute for window glass.

Ava Says She, Frankie Were Finished for Years

By EARL WILSON

LONDON—"I signed the bloody thing this morning," Ava Gardner said—nodding her head toward a brown envelope containing a property settlement with Frank Sinatra—"and I couldn't care less!"

★ ★ ★

"Then it's all definitely, finally, positively over with no chance of reconciliation?" this visitor asked.

Ava gave me a look that was both scolding and scalding.

"Oh, Earl," she chided, "it's been over for years!"

"Is there any kind of property division with Frankie?" I asked.

"Ha!" she snorted. "You know I don't want anything. But let's don't go into THAT!"

★ ★ ★

And so I didn't. We were sitting in a trailer—the British call them "caravans"—out at Elistree studios, where the ex-barefoot gal from the Carolinas has a dressing room while shooting "The Little Hut." She was in front of a mirror, her hair in curlers.

AVA G.

Besides Marilyn, there's Rita, Ingrid, Esther Williams, and Deborah Kerr . . . while Anita Ekberg and Joan Crawford are due here, June Allyson's in Munich, Marlene Dietrich's in Monte Carlo and Linda Christian's "somewhere in Europe" with Edmund Purdom.

Jack Benny's filming TV in Venice, while Gary Cooper, Cary Grant, Yul Brynner, Stuart Granger, Robert Mitchum, Tyrone Power, Lloyd Noland, Jack Lemmon, Fred Astaire, Gene Kelly, Mel Ferrer and Victor Mature are all emoting or about to be either here or on the continent.

Oh yes, and Audrey Hepburn's about to play Maurice Chevalier's daughter in Paris . . . and Zsa Zsa Gabor's been around.

Why such a big American invasion this year?

"It's not just the frozen funds," one movie executive told me. "I think it's Hollywood's way of fighting back at television.

"Hollywood's decided that Europe has some wonderful scenery that can't be duplicated on some of its tired old pasteboard sets."

★ ★ ★

Ava was a wonderful bit of scenery sitting there with the young Italian actor trying not to talk about the bustup with Frankie.

"Is this a bit?" she said, indicating the Italian grammar book Chiari held in his hand. "He's teaching me Italian. I'm tired of learning Spanish—all I was doing was ruining my English.

★ ★ ★

"But Madrid's my home. I was on the phone today trying to get a filter put in my swimming pool there."

"When will you pick up your divorce from Frank?"

"I think I'm going back in January. My 6-weeks residence I served in Nevada two years ago won't hold and I'll have to go through it again or get a divorce somewhere else. It'll be two years this November since I came over."

"Do you miss anything?"

★ ★ ★

"The food! I'd give anything to go to Chasen's or to the Beachcomber."

Suddenly she asked: "How's my boy Stevenson doing?"

Then I remembered—and wondered if she did—how, just four years ago, she and Frankie reconciled, after one of their biggest battles, at a Stevenson rally in Los Angeles. It was a Page One story.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . .

Is Aly Khan all set to marry again? He's divorcing Rita Hayworth in Switzerland shortly, because her Nevada decree isn't recognized in France (even though she married Dick Haymes later) . . . Jerry Lewis cheered that new hit show (Edye Gorme and Gene Baylos) at the Copa. Jerry and Dean Martin were arm-in-arm at the Copa before Dean took off for LA.

★ ★ ★

Jackie Gleason's been ordered to undergo a minor operation . . . Joey Adams wishes everybody wouldn't slap him on the arm wishing him luck entertaining troops abroad: just been vaccinated . . . Marie McDonald must stay in bed till her baby comes in September.

★ ★ ★

Jackie Loughery's first date in town was with ex-husband Guy Mitchell . . . George Jessel, back from Europe, says his Joan Tyler fling is kaput . . . With everybody giving out titles, Diane Lind was named Raisin Queen at Brown's Hotel.

★ ★ ★

NBC told one of its top summer replacement shows to get better stars . . . The Braves' Joe Adcock dined at Toots Shor's with the two detectives bodyguarding him . . . Joey Bishop gets the Paramount stage spot with Frank Sinatra Aug. 15 . . . Elvis Presley objected to a writer calling him "another James Dean."

★ ★ ★

Julie Wilson wants to do a dramatic B'way show, minus music . . . Tom Neal, who once battled with Franchot Tone, is hosting at a west coast restaurant . . . Ex-fatman Jack E. Leonard is helping 300-pounder Noro Morales shelve the flab . . . Mexican actress Sarita Montiel will marry after finishing "Run of the Arrow."

★ ★ ★

Earl's Pearls . . .

Gino Monte wonders if he's getting old—he can remember 'way back when window sills had flower boxes on 'em, instead of air conditioners.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Anyone who says that women's bathing suits are skimpy this year is certainly stating a bare fact."—Fred Chiaventone.

★ ★ ★

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Taffy Tuttle's boss made her an attractive offer—he promised her a bonus if she'd quit.

★ ★ ★

Gag writer Woody Allen hushed a heckler with the line, "You're suffering from poor coordination; your mouth is too fast for your brain." That's earl, brother.

Left Turns Banned at Huron, Johnson

Left turns for east bound Huron street traffic onto North Johnson street will be prohibited for at least a month according to Pontiac City Traffic Engineer Theodore M. Vanderstempel.

* * *

British Divert Ships En Route to Malta Berth

VALLETTA, Malta (AP)—A British naval spokesman reports two British warships en route from the east to this central Mediterranean naval base have been diverted to Cyprus.

They are the cruiser Jamaica, suddenly recalled from a goodwill visit to Alexandria, Egypt, upon President Nasser's move to nationalize the Suez Canal, and the minelayer, Manxman, which sailed from Haifa, Israel.

* * *

The spokesman reported both are now in the waters of Cyprus, the island base of British Middle East headquarters. Cyprus lies 250 miles north of Port Said, the Mediterranean entrance to the canal. In London, the admiralty declined to comment.

Vice Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander of the U.S. 6th Fleet, sailed aboard the cruiser Salem after a three-day visit in Malta He had informal talks here with Adm. Sir Guy Grantham, the British commander in chief of Allied Mediterranean forces.

'Less Than One Club,' Lowest Bridge Bid Yet

NEW YORK (AP)—What may be the lowest bid in bridge history—"less than one club"—was made yesterday in the national summer tournament of the American Contract Bridge League.

A dealer dropped his cards to the floor and said "oops." The next player thought he had heard "pass," and bid one club.

The dealer protested an out-of-turn bid.

The referee ruled: "Players must not make misleading remarks. 'Oops' will be treated as a bid of less than one club."

Ex-Western Star Returns Playing Supporting Roles

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"After you've been a star, it's a tough thing just to do parts in pictures."

This was Tim McCoy talking of his return to film acting after a 14-year absence. The famed cowboy actor, who never played anything but a starring role in films until recently, commented that his own feelings had nothing to do with it.

* * *

"Heavens, I don't mind playing supporting roles," he said. "The thing that worries me is how it will affect other people.

"Except for a tight little group of pioneers, I consider most of today's movie makers newcomers. I fear that when they consider me for a part they'll say, Tim McCoy? Why, I remember him as a kid. He must be 70 years old and confined to a wheel chair.' Or they might think I will ham up the picture because I come from the old days in pictures."

* * *

I can testify that Tim is no invalid. He presented a sharp figure when he arrived for lunch in his gabardine suit, boots and broad-brimmed white hat. I was astounded when he confessed he was 65. His face has the skin of a boy. He attributed his youthful appearance to a life of exercise and outdoor living.

"As for hamming it up," he added, "I always underplayed in pictures."

* * *

Tim returned to films to play a general who makes peace with the Indians in "Run of the Arrow." (He doesn't count his guest appearance in "Around the World in 80 Days.")

Tim appeared for many years in MGM films, then had his own series at Universal, Columbia and Monogram. Although over-age, he got back in the Army on his reserve commission in 1942. He served in Europe as a full colonel, acting as liaison between air and ground commands.

* * *

"After the war, I decided not to come back to pictures," he said. "I had other activities, and the program Western was just about dead." He credits singing cowboys with helping to kill it—"They'd whip out a guitar instead of a gun."

* * *

Despite his Western background, he felt the urge to buy an old Eastern house and settled in one built in 1738 in Bucks County, Pa. He left it for the lure of television. He won a TV Academy Emmy for his local show in which he tells youngsters of his vast knowledge of Indian lore. Now he plans to augment that career with movie work.

Egyptians Man Suez Territory With Best Army

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—Twenty thousand Egyptian National Guardsmen who once fought to oust the British from the Seuz Canal zone are now occupying camps in the zone built by the British Army.

* * *

They are believed to represent the total national guard strength in the zone's three main cities of Port Said, Ismailia and Suez.

Their callup — described by Egyptian officials as a precautionary measure— began Saturday when army sound trucks toured the area and ordered all national guardsmen to report to their camps. The zone was declared a military area after President Nasser announced nationalization of the Suez Canal.

The guard was originally formed as loosely disciplined commando units to harass British troops after Egypt abrogated its treaty with Britain in 1951.

* * *

After the anti-Farouk coup of 1952 brought a military regime to power the guards were placed under tighter military control. As Nasser tried to reform and improve the army he also gave the national guards better equipment and training.

Shipping through the canal continued normal.

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

When the final results of the leading women's amateur golf tournaments in the state were posted you could always find Sally Sharp's name just behind the winner.

For two years it was the same old story. The 19-year-old Birmingham girl found herself playing second fiddle in Michigan women's golf circles.

"It was just like being the bridesmaid and never the bride," she said.

"Every time I got to the finals of a tournament I wished so hard it would be the day my game would be at its best. But something would go off, either my driving or putting," she added.

★ ★ ★

Last weekend Sally finally got her wish. She won the plum of women's golf competition—the Women's State Amateur Championship.

Sally always considered her driving game as her strongest point, but in the state meet she said it was her short game which held together for a change.

"The greens were very small and shooting outside of 100 yards it was very difficult to get on," she said.

★ ★ ★

This was the trouble, she said, in her second round match which she won but with a medal score of 95, which was the poorest in her young competitive career.

"I was lucky to win that day 1-up, but I figured I got that bad day out of my system, and I actually felt I would do well the next day," she said.

She did. She defeated Mrs. Donald Weiss 1-up in 20 holes in the quarter-finals, then easily eliminated Mrs. E. O. Reynolds 4 and 3 in the semifinals before taking the title with a 1-up win over Mrs. Dorrie Scripsema.

★ ★ ★

One thing for which Sally was happy, was the absence of Wiffi Smith from the tournament.

Miss Smith, who was the defending state champion, was the reason last year for Sally's bridesmaid role. The two would meet in the finals of the big tournaments and Wiffi always managed to come out on top.

"In a way I'm sorry Wiffi was out of the tournament," she said, "because she is a great golfer and I strive for my best game when I play against her."

There are no pro ambitions in Sally's future. "I definitely have no intention of turning pro, now or any time in the far future," she said.

"I don't think I would be happy leading the life of constant travel, and besides now my studies are primary and I'd rather play golf for the pleasure, rather than to depend on the game for my living," she added.

A sophomore-to-be at Michigan State University, Sally has now taken active membership with Forest Lake Country Club. She was previously associated with Pine Lake Country Club.

"Forest Lake is a more challenging course for me," she explained, "and during the women's tournaments there, it really gave me a rough time and something to shoot for."

"The best score I ever shot came two days before the state tourney," she said, "and that was the 74 at Forest Lake."

"Knowing how tough the course had been for me, this really gave me some encouragement for the state meet," she concluded.

Trucks Beats Bosox, Lary Tries It, Too

DETROIT (AP)—Frank Lary, who has failed to win in four previous outings against Boston, will try for his 10th win tonight against the Red Sox.

His opponent will be Bob Porterfield, one of the Boston club's major disappointments. Porterfield, picked up from the Washington Senators in one of the biggest deals of the off-season, has won only three games and has lost eight times.

Virgil Trucks won his 3rd game against the Sox yesterday, spinning a neat three-hitter in a 4-1 Detroit Tiger victory.

Three hits apiece by catcher Frank House and bonus outfielder Jimmy Small helped the Tigers to the first victory over Frank Sullivan since May 16, 1954. The Boston righthander lost his first two decisions to the Tigers, then racked up 11 victories before his string ended yesterday.

Tigers overcame a 1-0 lead that resulted from Mickey Vernon's 11th homer of the year and routed Sullivan with 10 hits in less than five innings. Reliefers Tommy Hurd and Leo Kiely subdued the Bengals on one run the rest of the way.

Vernon, who had slammed a homer and was struck by a pitch in his first two appearances, was the "test" for Trucks in the 5th inning.

Trucks had given up two walks in the second and two more in the fourth in addition to hitting Vernon. The Bosox loaded the bases in the fifth on a pair of walks sandwiched around Billy Klaus' infield single.

"If he didn't get Vernon out this time," said bullpen coach Jack Tighe, "he was coming out of there."

But Trucks got Vernon on a pop foul to Ray Boone at 3rd base and forced Jackie Jensen to tap into a double play that went from shortstop Harvey Kuenn to 2nd baseman Frank Bolling to 1st baseman Earl Torgeson.

It was smooth sailing most of the way after that. Trucks retired the Red Sox in order in the 6th, 7th and 8th innings. In the 9th, he walked leadoff man Jim Piersall but got catcher Pete Daley to ground into a double play.

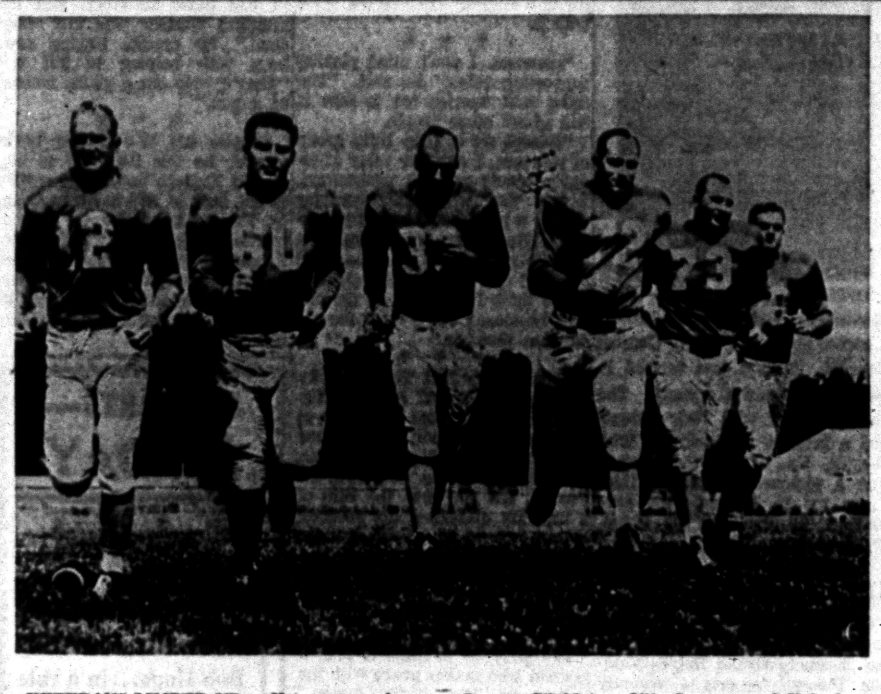

A single by Don Buddin and Trucks' 8th walk put two runners on, but the big righthander got .300 hitter Billy Goodman to pop out to end the game.

Fowler, Oliver Play 3-3 Draw

Darkness Stops Battle in City League Action at Wisner Field

The Class A City Baseball League recorded its 1st tie game of the 1956 season last night at Wisner Field.

Fowler's Fine Foods and Oliver Buick battled to a 3-3 deadlock in a contest called after eight innings because of darkness. The starting pitchers, Lynn Wright of Fowler's and Oliver's Ken Campbell, were still around at the finish.

Both hurlers gave up eight hits and Fowler's committed four errors compared to five miscues by the Buick team in the evenly-played tussle. Each team scored two times in the 1st inning. Fowler's took the lead with a tally in the 4th, but the Buick club chased one runner home in the bottom of the 7th to force the issue into overtime.

Jim Bowers delivered a two-run single for Fowler's in the 1st and Oliver's retaliated in the same stanza with a pair of runs on Daryl McGlashen's single, Ernie Zubalik's double, and a single by Walt Honchell.

Fowler's gained a one-run advantage in the 4th on a single by Harold Ambrose, a fielder's choice, and catcher Glen Funck's single. McGlashen's 2nd safety and Honchell's double gave Oliver the tying run in the 7th. Darkness intervened after a scoreless 8th stanza.

Walled Lake Market, Pontiac Select-a-Drink and Richard's Tavern were easy winners in men's National League softball games Monday night. In the only American division contest, Elks No. 810 blanked Sam Benson, 3-0.

Walled Lake assaulted four pitchers for a total of 10 hits during its 5-2 conquest of Louie's Tavern in the opener at Beaudette Park. Cal Bidwell twirled a six-hitter for the winners.

Pontiac Select-a-Drink collected 10 hits for a runaway 11-5 decision over Drive-In Cleaners. Ted Wharry slammed a home run for the losers.

Lion Veterans to Drill Today

YPSILANTI (AP) — Twenty veterans excused from workouts while rookies were put through their paces the past week are scheduled to report today to the Detroit Lions' training camp.

Most of them have already signed contracts but two or three have yet to agree to terms for another season of professional football with the Lions.

Quarterback Bobby Layne, spearhead of the Lions attack, huddled privately with general manager Nick Kerbawy yesterday and emerged smiling despite an unusual contract provision which one source said could conceivably have bound him to the Lions for another year for $1 or even less.

Pitchers Cool Williams Off

In eight games against Kansas City, Chicago and Detroit, the big slugger has connected for only 6 hits in 25 official times at bat, dropping his average to .356.

Williams has driven in only four runs, two with a game-winning homer in Kansas City last Thursday. He has been to bat three times with the bases loaded, but has been an easy out on each occasion.

Ortiz Beats Sale

NEW YORK (AP)—Unbeaten Carlos Ortiz has a string of 16 victories to his credit today but it may be sometime before this flashy New York lightweight gets a chance to try for No. 17.

Second Fight Card Set

The second fund-raising fight program for the Nephrosis Foundation has been scheduled to take place Saturday night August 11th at Wisner stadium.

Allen, who lost his 5-year-old twin son to the disease, is making an all out effort to aid the National Nephrosis Foundation in its research.

Thursday, August 9th, Allen has been invited to speak to members of Michigan Legislature on the disease and the needs for fighting it.

In June, the first fight program for the Nephrosis benefit drew over 300 spectators to Waterford High School gym.

Several return matches have been arranged for the card. The feature is a heavyweight bout between 200-pound Ken Carte of Pontiac and Sam Jones of Flint who weighs 225 pounds. Carte was kayoed in the second round last time.

The fighters have been using Roy Berrett's gym to train for the bouts. Tickets are on sale at numerous place in the Pontiac area and will be available at the gate.

Mickey, Joe Near Homer Mark Against Single Club

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees and Joe Adcock of the Milwaukee Braves are within reach of the major league record for home runs by one player against a single club in one season.

★ ★ ★

Lou Gehrig of the Yankees bolted 14 against the Cleveland Indians in 1936 for the major league mark. The National League record is 13, by Hank Sauer, then with the Chicago Cubs, against Pittsburgh in 1954.

★ ★ ★

Mantle, who tops the majors with 34 for the season, hit his eighth and ninth of the year against Cleveland last night in a 13-6 victory. The Yankees have seven games remaining with the Tribe.

Adcock walloped his ninth off Brooklyn pitching in last night's 8-6 Milwaukee victory. It was his 23rd of the season. The Braves have seven games remaining with the Dodgers.

Mantle Game Ahead of Babe's Pace

The young New York Yankee center fielder is one game ahead of the Babe's pace, connecting for his 33rd and 34th home runs last night in a 13-6 victory over the Cleveland Indians. It was the Yankees' 97th game of the season.

The pair, including Mantle's first grand-slammer of the season, hoisted him from a two-game deficity against Ruth's pace.

Mantle now has seven home runs for July. The Babe hit nine in July and nine in August before his booming, 17-homer September windup.

Seixas to Face Mexicans

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States has called on the experienced internationalist, Vic Seixas, for the American Zone finals of the Davis Cup competition against Mexico this weekend.

★ ★ ★

The matches will be played at the Westchester Country Club, Rye, N.Y., with two singles scheduled for Friday, the doubles Saturday and the final two singles matches Sunday.

Seixas, veteran Davis Cupper, was occupied in winning the Pennsylvania State championship last week while Hamilton Richardson, Rhodes scholar from Westfield, N.J., led the Americans to a 4-1 victory over Canada at Victoria, B.C.

Richardson also was named yesterday to oppose the Mexicans and probably will draw one singles assignments along with Seixas.

★ ★ ★

Sammy Giammalva, a promising youngster from Houston, Tex., and Barry MacKay, University of Michigan student from Dayton, Ohio, complete the team. They may team in the doubles and perhaps see action in Sunday's singles if the United States has sewed up the series by that time.

Zellhart Pitches No-Hitter in Class D Baseball League

Class F
N. S. Kiwanis 8, Boys Club Two 2.

Mahan Realty 20, Earl's Market 13.

Zellhart struck out 12 batters, including the 1st five he faced, and walked three as the Pontiac Police team rolled to its 5th straight victory in the four-team Class D loop with a lopsided 14-0 verdict over Waterford.

While Zellhart was busy mowing down the opposition, teammate Bud Hayward was enjoying a field day at the plate. The slugging shortstop clouted home runs on successive appearances in the 4th and 5th innings with a runner aboard each time. He also singled to drive in another tally for the unbeaten Policemen.

Gingellville defeated the Auburn Heights Boys Club, 7-2, behind the five-hit pitching of Nick Niera, and the Oxford Wildcats forfeited to the Clarkston Merchants in Class E action.

Dave McClintock tossed a three-inning no-hitter as Don Nicholie shellacked the Clarkston Wolves, 22-1; Bob Newman hurled two-hit ball in Osmun's 6-1 decision over Arnold Drugs; Mike Glynn homered during Matthews-Hargreaves' 13-6 trouncing of GMC; and the North Side Kiwanis chalked up an 8-2 victory over Boys Club No. 2 in Class F play.

Aaron Bothers Dodgers

Yanks Regain 10 Game Lead

By THE ASSICIATED PRESS

Righthanders Roger Craig and Ed Roebuck and southpaw Ken Lehman got nowhere against Henry, batting .417 against Brooklyn and leading the National League at .342, last night. He smacked three hits in five trips, driving in four runs, including the clincher with his 16th homer, as the first-place Braves socked the Dodgers 8-6 in the opener of a crucial (for Brooklyn) four-game set at Ebbets Field.

In the only other NL action, Philadelphia jumped past Pittsburgh into fifth place by beating the Chicago Cubs 5-4 and 4-2 in a twi-night twinbill.

In the American, Mickey Mantle socked his 33rd and 43th home runs, one his first grand-slammer of the year, and drove in six runs as the New York Yankees again claimed a 10-game lead with a 13-6 decision over runner-up Cleveland.

Mantle, who has smacked nine homers against the Tribe to near the major league mark of 14 against one club (by Yankee Lou Gehrig against the Indians in 1936), got his third off Bob Lemon with his bases-loaded job as New York scored seven runs, all unearned, in the second. Whitey Ford struck out 10 to win his 14th with Mantle getting his other homer—going one game ahead of Babe Ruth's record 60 pace—off reliefer Bob Feller.

Nieman's bust-up homer, his 10th, was off reliefer Tom Gorman. Oriole starter Ray Moore homered with a man on for a 3-1 lead, but gave way as the A's rallied. Mike Fornieles won it in relief.

State Solons Look Over PCC

Plan 3-Day Session to Study Problems of College Sports

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The muddled Pacific Coast Conference athletic problems will be the subject of a three-day hearing next September of the State Assembly Judiciary Committee.

* * *

Committee Chairman H. Allen Smith, Glendale Republican, yesterday set Sept. 5-8 for the hearings and announced the employment of Richard F. D. Hayden, former Los Angeles deputy city attorney, to handle the investigation so as to "properly conduct and prepare for the hearing."

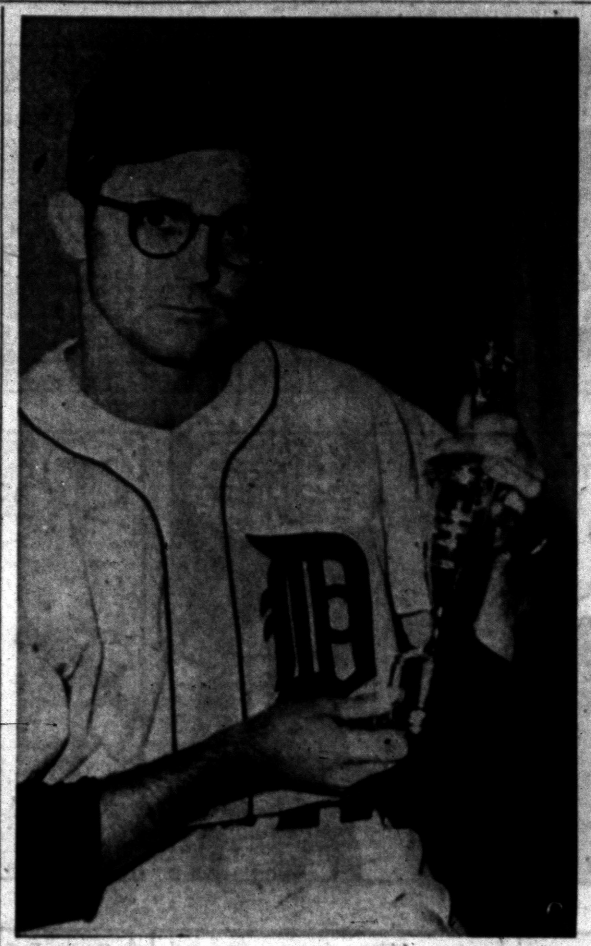

* * *

Smith said the committee wants to know if any laws are being broken, if any new legislation is needed to plug loopholes in existing laws, if state universities would be liable to civl suits as a result of the action taken by the PCC, and if the University of California is contributing to the delinquency of minors in paying athletes.

* * *

Smith said the committee is looking into the question whether the PCC legally can collect the heavy fines imposed on the so called guilty schools.

The Dodgers hit nine and the Yankees eight home runs in the seven-game world series of 1955.

AWARD TO TORGY — Earl Torgeson, Detroit Tigers first baseman, has accepted an award for being voted the American League's best base runner for the 1955 season. Torgeson's steal of home against the New York Yankees in 10th inning, June 17, 1955, was listed as season's baserunning highlight.

Settle Sugar Bowl Status

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Sugar Bowl Basketball Committee meets today to decide what to do about its 1956 tournament.

Paul DeBlanc, president of the Mid-Winter Sports Assn., said last night the committee had several suggestions to consider.

* * *

* * *

Three teams have withdrawn from the tournament because of a new Louisiana law that bars Negroes from competing against whites and provides segregated seating at sports events. The law goes into effect Oct. 15.

* * *

Notre Dame, St. Louis and Dayton said they could not play under the circumstances. Kentucky, the fourth tournament team, has agreed to stay in the Dec. 28-29 tourney.

Doctoring Your Golf Game

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Rough too tough.

DIAGNOSIS: Hit down on ball

TREATMENT: Recovering from heavy rough requires three things: (1) Moving the stance forward so that the ball is positioned well back toward the right foot, coming up directly with the left arm so that the ball will be hit with a descending blow, and (2) judgement in the choice of clubs.

The upright swing will come promptly with practice, but using the right club takes study and convincing. First you've got to overcome the pressing urge for distance and think instead of shooting for position when you still have a full shot to go. Don't try a wooden club unless the rough is fuzzy thin and the lie is right. Get out with a lofted iron, possibly from the No. 3 down to the No. 9, or even the wedge, depending on how matted the grass is. You'll save strokes that way. Figure on getting your approach close enough for a single putt.

Most important, hit through the ball as I am doing in the action sketch. Let the clubhead swing reachingly out after the ball. Another thing: Open the club face just a bit, always, in coming out of rough, and you'll get the full cutting power of the sole.

Grip firmly with the left hand, up and down and through the ball. And, even more than on the ordinary shot, pull down full strength with the left arm. The weight throughout inclines toward the left leg. No head movement; no body shift on the backswing. Body balance is a must.

Hayes Submits List of 'Loans'

Confidential Disclosure Made to Big 10 by OSU Grid Coach

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes has agreed to give Big Ten commissioner Tug Wilson a list of university players who received "loans" from the coach, it was disclosed today.

Hayes said he has complied with the commissioner's request but only after Wilson agreed to two conditions.

1. That the list would be strictly confidential.

2. That no player would be punished.

Wilson placed Ohio State on probation April 26, stating that Hayes gave financial assistance to his players in the form of loans and that certain irregularities existed in the players' job program.

The list reportedly was given to Wilson last week when the commissioner visited here prior to going to Lexington, Ky., for the NCAA committee on infractions hearing.

* * *

Hayes originally had refused to submit the list. Wilson, in announcing the probation, said the university "will cooperate in obtaining a candid disclosure from Mr. Hayes of any assistance to Ohio State University athletes to which he has been a party outside the limits and channels of aid permissible under conference rules."

Hayes said he gave the information only because of Wilson's promise and "because I wanted to cooperate with Tug and to make it possible for him to complete his study of Ohio State."

OCSC to Stage Rush Paint Job for Clubhouse

Weather permitting, plans call for the entire OCSC clubhouse at Waterford to receive a fresh coat of log spar in less than an hour and a half Wednesday evening.

Dr. P. B. Jones and Frank Ketchum, co-chairman of this special project have arranged for 35 or 40 club members — supplying their own brushes and ladders—to commence the job at 6 o'clock sharp. In order to beat last year's painting record the job will have to be completed in less than one hour and 20 minutes.

With the annual OCSC family picnic scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 5, the group wants to have the clubhouse painting job completed. Following the hurry-up job a lunch will be served.

CHICAGO (AP)—Some 300 men pros, gunning for 60 qualifying spots in the All-American Golf Tournament at Tam O'Shanter, tee off today to round out a field of 150 which will begin play Thursday.

* * *

All four tournaments, men and women's pro and amateur, will start Thursday. There will be no women's pro qualifying round.

Woodgie Reich, a 19-year-old freshman from Stanford, shot a three-under-par 69 yesterday to lead 25 qualifiers in the men's amateur division. Reich went out with a par 36 over the 6,915-yard Tam course and came in with a blistering 33.

Reich birdied the 10th and 11th holes and then eagled the 515-yard 15th. Martin Stanovich, formerly of San Francisco and now a Tam member, was second to Reich with a 34-36—70 and Al Barkow of Chicago, the only other player to break par, had a 34-37—71.

In all, 185 amateurs were entered in the qualifying round.

Child Crime in New York Spirals Over '55 Figure

NEW YORK (INS)—New York City Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy has reported that juvenile delinquency was up 41.3 per cent in the first half of 1956 over the same period last year.

* * *

The report noted that, "of the juvenile arrests, 2,687 were in the grade of major crimes as compared to 2,006 in 1955.

Some of the increase in police contact with youthful offenders may be traceable to the doubling of the city's youth squad, the commissioner said. But he pointed out that the rise in the juvenile rate "is not a continuing rise but a real jump."

"NOT SURPRISING"

Nor was he satisfied with the areas of crime prevention in which the report indicated progress had been made.

"We must emphasize," he said, "that the small gains we have made will be only temporary unless continued and unceasing effort is made to hold the line."

Police to Tote Shotguns

MUSKEGON (AP) — Police Chief Fred E. Castenholz has announced that short-barreled shotguns soon will be added to equipment carried by Muskegon Police cruisers. The cars already carry radio transmitters and receivers, blankets, a life ring, first aid kit and shovel.

Kingpin Charges Gambling in Ecorse

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit News states it has information that graft and gambling in downriver Ecorse was organized along big business lines.

The News said the charges were made by a man who said he was one of the key figures in the alleged conspiracy. The newspaper did not identify him.

Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanaugh and State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs said recently investigations in the community failed to disclose sufficient data to justify warrants.

Gov. Williams and Kavanaugh said, however, they believed a grand jury should look into the matter.

Prices Steady on Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Price changes were relatively small as grains mostly held steady on the Board of Trade today.

All cereals except corn were higher at the start. Soybeans then cropped under the previous close. As trading progressed soybeans again worked higher while corn shaved its early losses.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅝ to ⅞ higher, September $2.17⅞; corn unchanged to ¼ lower, September $1.48; oats ⅛ to ⅛ higher, September 74; rye 1 to 1¼ higher, September $1.40¼; soybeans ½ lower to ½ higher, September $2.41; lard two to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, September $11.25.

Posture Causes Aches in Back

Medical Study Traces Pains to the Bad Habits of Most Americans

CHICAGO (INS) — If, "Oh, My aching back," is one of your most used phrases, orthopedic physicians say you have no one to blame by yourself—at least most of the time.

A report by the medical department of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. traced most back troubles, even the disabling ones, to things people do themselves. Only a minority are the result of outside causes.

The company's bulletin listed "poor posture" starting at childhood as the number one cause of back trouble—while standing, sitting, sleeping, working, lifting and driving.

* * *

"The posture habits of most Americans are pretty terrible. If right posture habits were drilled into all school children it would save an enormous amount of misery and disability in later life, for most back troubles occur in men and women over 40."

Pointing out that the human spine is a pretty weak piece of engineering, the report listed suggestions to avoid future miseries. These include:

Sleep on your side, with knees bent, or on your back, with a small pillow under the knees. Orthopedist recommend a firm mattress laid on a board or a solid box spring.

* * *

While driving, make sure your car seat doesn't tend to "jackknife" you and that your seat isn't so low you have to stretch to see the road properly and to operate the pedals.

Tax Probes Increase by 77 Per Cent in '55

Steel, Aircraft Stocks Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — Oils, steels, and aircrafts were heavily traded as the stock market advanced early today.

Pivotal stocks rose from fractions to around a point generally but some outside gainers stepped ahead two or three points. There was a scattering of small losers.

The oils recovered after two sessions of a sharp retreat on anxiety over the Suez Canal situation. As the circumstances there showed little change the oils rebounded, following the lead of the London Stock Market earlier today.

Gulf Oil, which had suffered greatly because of its huge holdings in Kuwait, ran up a three-point gain. Royal Dutch rose around a point. Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Texas Co. advanced fractions. Sunray, on successive trades of 3,500, 2,500 and 1,400 shares was up at 30.

HWAN FOR THE MONEY — The payroll for Korean workers employed by the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing in Pohang-Dong is stacked neatly by Marine Sgt. C. W. Gibson, of Ottawa, Ill. That's 18 million hwan on the platform — worth about $36,000 in U. S. currency. The Wing is moving from Pohang-Dong to Iwakuni, Japan, and this payroll is the Koreans' last.

Civil Servants Have Tough Life

British State Workers Air Complaints at First Annual Conference

LONDON (INS) — The British civil servant's stiff upper lip is beginning to quiver under the lash of undeserved scorn.

* * *

The long, bitter years of suffering in silence ended when British government employes gathered at Folketone for their annual conference this year. Whatever the newspapers may say or the public may think, they declared, a civil servant's life was no bed of roses.

A majority of the delegates said they were tired of the popular public view that government employes spent most of their time brewing and drinking tea. Their jobs were as tough as anyone's, and their working conditions could be downright rugged.

They cited the case of H. P. Gray, a driving license examiner who had to locate his office in the front parlor of a Mrs. Jones and battle a large aspidistra daily. An aspidistra is an aggressive house plant of the lily-of-the-valley family and is known as Aspidistra Lurida.

"I have to peer through the jungle of this aspidistra to try to get a glimpse of my candidate before we go out on driving trials," said Mr. Gray. This was bad, but worse was to come.

* * *

"The climax," continued Mr. Gray, "acme when I returned after a few days absence to find a lodger had died and he was lying resplendent in his coffin beside my table."

The effect of this on the number of applications for driver's licenses was not disclosed.

New Iron Ore Fields Discovered in Colombia

BOGOTA—New deposits of high-quality iron ore have been found close to Colombia's big Paz del Rio steel plant. First estimates place the ore deposits at some 75,000,000 tons, and they are said to lie close to the surface.

The ore field was discovered by accident from the air in the course of a survey for a Government archaeological expedition.

Mexican Port to Repair Gulf Harbor Facilities

TAMPICO, Mexico — Some $2,500,000 will be spent this year by the city of Tampico for new marine construction and repair of present Gulf harbor facilities.

Hurricanes Gladys, Janet, and Hilda and subsequent floods in this region paralyzed the city's harbor program last year. It is estimated that it will take a full year to restore facilities.

Traffic Marker Sign Language Proves Valuable

FRANKFURT — New traffic signs appearing on streets and highways in West Germany indicate that sign language is the most common denominator for travelers in unfamiliar territory.

Typical symbols on the markers are:

A cow in a triangle at a cattle crossing; the figures of two children indicate an area where children play along the road; a man shoveling a pile of sand, construction work; and a telephone with numerals beneath it that tell how far it is to the nearest call station.

Canada UAW, Ford OK Contract Terms

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — A new two-year contract, termed satisfactory by both sides, has been settled by the United Automobile Workers and the Ford Motor Company of Canada, it was announced last night.

Included in the settlement were wage increases, cost-of-living allowance, pension, vacation and apprenticeship plan benefits, an additional paid holiday and separate seniority for Oakville, Ont. skilled tradesmen.

It was the first time since 1949 that there has not been a work stoppage during contract negotiations.

About 9,000 hourly-paid employes in Windsor's Local 200, Oakville's Local 707 and the Toronto suburb of Etobicoke's Local 584 are covered by the agreement.

* * *

The contract terms are subject to approval of the UAW's national Ford council and ratificaton by the workers involved.

The awards raise to more than $14,000,000 the sums allocated by the association and its affiliates for scientific research in the field of heart and blood-vessel diseases since the organization became a national voluntary health agency in 1948.

Paid to Sip Tea

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — John F. Halloran likes a good cup of tea and gets paid for drinking it. As a tea taster he tastes anywhere from 100 to 300 cups a working day. That doesn't include his breakfast tea or 11 a.m. "tea break."

Uganda Beasts Claim 43 Adults in '55

Welcome Mat Out for U. S. Lion Hunters

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP)—The hut shook as a heavy body landed on the roof. A terrified mother heard the thatch being ripped to pieces. A lion seized her and leaped with her through the hole he had made. In the morning her half-devoured body was found within 200 yards of the hut.

* * *

The raiding of a hut was an isolated instance. Most of their victims have been herdsmen who roam with their cattle over the rolling grasslands.

At night the cattle are her

Mayflower Abuilding for Ocean Voyage

BOSTON (INS) — The Englishman who originated the idea of a second ship Mayflower landed in America by air today.

"I am simply bowled over," he said.

Warwick Charlton of London, former British newspaperman, whose idea for a second coming of the Pilgrims mushroomed into a half million dollar project arrived at Logan International Airport.

Charlton came in style aboard the latest type of transatlantic airliner but next spring he will be among a small group of Englishmen who will span the Atlantic under the same tedious hardships which the original Pilgrims encountered in 1620.

Charlton was met by Henry Hornblowers II, president of the Mayflower project located at Plymouth, Mass. They conferred over arrangements for the arrival, reception and ultimate berthing of the new Mayflower at Plymouth Plantation, two miles south of Plymouth. There she will be berthed for all time.

REPLICA BEING BUILT

"The primary purpose of the new Mayflower," Charlton said, "is to create a symbol of the unity and goodwill between the United States and Britain."

Charlton conceived his idea of a second Mayflower ten years ago. Today the exact replica of the Pilgrim father's ship is fast nearing completion at Upham's shipyard, Brixham, Devon, entirely with British funds, of British lumber and British hand labor.

The new Mayflower will be launched on September 22 and will sail for the United States from Plymouth, England, on April 2, 1957.

"We plan for the Mayflower to arrive at Plymouth, Massachusetts on May 30, 1957," said Charlton.

$350,000 COST

The first Mayflower, which was an old vessel when she sailed, carried 102 men, women and children passengers, who jammed every inch of her decks and interior. The new Mayflower will carry only ten to fourteen passengers.

Officials estimate that the new Mayflower will cost approximately $350,000. This will not include the cost of two thousand, five hundred square yards of the finest Scotch flax made into sail cloth.

CARRIES RADIO

British industry also presented to the Mayflower project a modern radio and a marine generator to supply power for the radio. This will be the only modern scientific instrument aboard because it is required by the British Board of Trade and insurance regulations.

The captain of the new Mayflower, the Australian Alan Villiers, who now lives in Oxford, England, will use seventeenth Century instruments for navigating the modern Mayflower. These include exact copies of the cross-staff, the grand-daddy of the sextant, and a compass.

NOT ON YOUR LIFE

"She is a brand new ship, constructed under the direction of American architect, William A. Baker, of Hingham, Mass. Her blueprints were correct to one sixteenth of an inch—and don't forget all the wood, all the planking, all the ribs—every piece which went into her was hand-made.

* * *

"And the builder of the new Mayflower is Stuart Upham, and he has assembled a wonderful group of British shipbuilders."

Charlton conferred in Boston with Hornblower and a group of American experts on the ultimate berthing of the Mayflower at Plymouth.

* * *

They estimated it will cost nearly $1 million for the landscaping, parking facilities and other essentials to handle many thousands of visitors from all parts of the United States and Canada who will make Plymouth, Mass., an even greater shrine for the replica of the goodship Mayflower from which the Pilgrim fathers stepped ashore on Plymouth Rock back in the old days.

BACK-YARD SPEEDWAY — Neighborhood youngsters have made a "hotrod" speedway in the back yard of the Carl Goertzen house in Hutchinson, Kan. The cars, soapbox variety, are two-man-powered — a driver and a pusher. It was Mrs. Goertzen's idea, persuading her son, Wayne, 15, that this was an easy way "to get rid of all the back-yard stickers." Race winners split a dime prize, furnished by her.

Brooks 'Cousins' for Buhl, Adcock of Braves Outfit

* * *

Adcock, a .300 hitter, is batting .455 against Brooklyn with home runs in eight consecutive games against the Dodgers after last night's 8-6 victory at Ebbets Field. Buhl owns a 6-0 record vs. Brooklyn with six straight victories and a fancy 14-4 season record.

"Anybody can hit in that ball park here," said Adcock, Milwaukee's powerful first baseman. "The ball travels good; the fences are nothing. You know if you get good wood on it, it'll bounce off a fence or go into the seats."

* * *

Adcock drilled a 3-0 pitch by Roger Craig, never before beaten at Ebbets Field, into a deep sector of the upper stands in left center field in the fifth with Hank Aaron on base. It was his ninth homer off Dodger pitching, leaving him only four short of the National League record for homers off one club. Hank Sauer, then with Chicago, hit 13 against Pittsburgh in 1954.

* * *

"I was more or less on my own," said Adcock about the 3-0 pitch. "He (Manager Fred Haney) told me I could hit it if it looked good to me. It was inside so I swung. I hit 3-0 in Philadelphia last Friday too for a home run."

Before Adcock hit the homer, his 23rd of the season, he doubled off the iron pile in front of the seats in center in the second inning. His 4 at bats made his season record 15 hits in 33 trips against Brooklyn with 9 homers and 18 runs batted in.

AP Arranges New Setup for Olympic Games

NEW YORK (AP)—The Associated Press is joining with six other world wire services to gather all of the basic results of the Melbourne Olympic Games.

This will mean that the writing staff at the Games, headed by Ted Smits, AP General Sports Editor, will be able to concentrate on descriptive, features, interviews and the story behind the Olympic drama.

Joining with The Associated Press in the results pool are The Agence France Press, The Australian Associated Press, The International News Service, Reuters, Tass, and the United Press Assns.

This is the first time such a pool has ever been set up on a major news event. The games are Nov. 22-Dec. 8.

Gonzales crushed Rex Hartwig of Australia, 6-0, 6-2, in one of last night's featured matches and in the other, Australian Sedgman overpowered Pancho Segura, 6-4, 6-2.

Hostel Official Flies to See Disaster Site

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS)—An official of the Youth Hostels of America is due in Portland today to conduct an investigation into a mountain-climbing accident which cost the life of one teen-age girl and injured eighteen other persons.

The survivors were under treatment for assorted injuries ranging from shock to leg and skull fractures.

The group of nineteen teenagers fell an estimated 400 feet down a snow-covered slope of Mount Hood late Sunday. They landed in a tangled mass at the bottom of a crevasse.

* * *

Volunteer mountain-climbers, under the direction of the U. S. Forest Service, brought the injured out in stretchers to Timberline Lodge and most of them were flown to Portland hospitals.

Driver Runs Off Road, Hospitalized; Rider Hurt

Jay V. Rathlea, 16, of 9143 Cripple Creek Rd., suffered a fractured nose and injuries to the face and right leg. His passenger, David L. Spruth, 15, of Oxbow Lake, was treated and released at the hospital for a head injury.

Woman Check Passer on 3-Years Probation

Shirley L. Wiltfang, 32, of Drayton Plains, was given three years probation after pleading guilty to an uttering and publishing charge Monday. She paid $100 court costs.

Arraignment was before Waterford Township Justice Willis D. Lefurgy. She was arrested July 11 by Waterford Police after passing a worthless check in that township.

State of Michigan Business Brings Democratic Blast

LANSING (AP) — Democrats returned to the attack today in the controversy over whether high state taxes are chasing business out of Michigan.

Neil Staebler, Democratic state chairman, said Republican assertions that they are "is a good example of the shoddy propaganda the GOP hopes to sell the voters this year."

"The Republican leadership in Lansing says high state taxes are driving business out of Michigan and tries to blame Gov. Williams for this alleged situation.

"The principal tax on business is the business receipts tax, which was steamrollered through the Legislature by Republicans after being written in the Olds Hotel by lobbyists for General Motors and Ford."

Staebler said the people know that state tax programs are written by the Legislature.

DISTORTED IMPRESSION

"If high state taxes were running business out of Michigan, then the Republican Party ought to be ashamed of itself," he said.

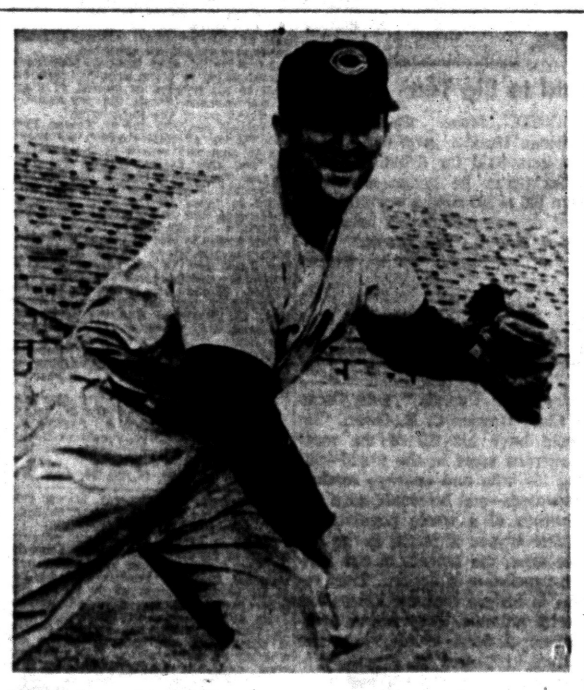

The Democratic chief scoffed at the "distorted impression produced by a Senate committee's hearings last week to the effect that the state was losing ground in business and industry.

This theme was developed by spokesmen for the Michigan Manufacturers Association who appeared before the Senate group.

He answered with figures from the Economic Development Commission showing that "almost 240 million dollars of new plants or expansions were planned in Michigan for the first six months of 1956."

"John Feikens, whose party's bread is well buttered with contributions from that source, promptly chimed in with a published press statement accusing Gov. Williams of being anti-business," Staebler said, referring to the Republican State Central Committee chairman.

"Feikens knows this charge is phony, but when the Michigan Manufacturers Association lays down the line for the party he has to go along. His fat campaign treasury would dry up if he didn't."

New York Cuts Workers' Hours

Reduction to 40 Hours Almost Statewide; Pay Stays the Same

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Most of the 34,000 New York state employes who had been assigned to 40-hour-plus jobs have been placed on shorter work weeks, Gov. Averell Harriman reported today.

* * *

The governor said in a statement that the work-week reduction authorized by the 1956 legislature has been virtually completed and "much more rapidly" than had been expected.

The new legislation provides for a four-hour cut in the work week of 30,210 employes who were on 48-hour weeks and of 3,856 working 44 hours a week. Most of the workers are employed in state institutions.

None of them loses any pay through the move.

Harriman reported that, as of June 20, a total of 25,939 employes have been cut from 48 to 44 hours and all but 26 of those working 44 hours have been reduced to 40 hours.

* * *

He said there also are 1,355 vacant jobs in the 48-hour category that, when filled, will be placed on a 44-hour basis. That leaves only 2,916 still working more than 44 hours a week.

The state has about 80,000 employes.

State police said Brown and Truman Hinter, also of Dayton, were man Hinter, also of Dayton, were in a rowboat when Browhn shifted his weight causing the boat to overturn. Both men were thrown into the water.

Brown went under immediately, but Hinter clung to the overturned craft until rescued. The body was not recovered.

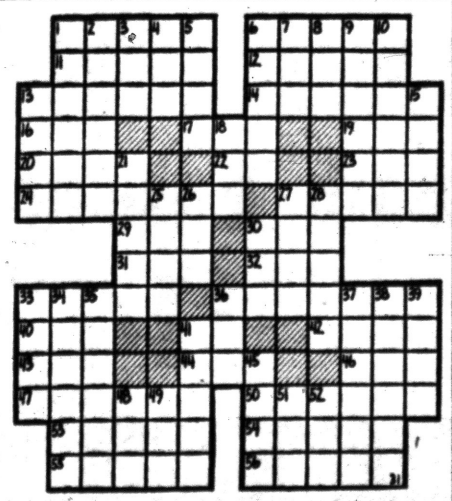

Actor's Lament to Luck: Wallet Come Back to Me

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—British actor David Conway says he had been warned against trusting people, but look what happened to him—

He lost his wallet containing $27. It was returned to him.

He lost it again. This time it contained $41. The conductor of a bus discovered it, and returned it to him.

Conway said yesterday he has decided not to push his luck. The next time would be the third.

Morning Shows Bow to Tragedy

On-the-Spot Interviews, Newsmen Give Boost to TV Journalism

By JACK O'BRIAN

The Andrea Doria ship tragedy handed TV its most dramatic scenes of the season. Some of the dockside interviews were heart-tugging and the mountain of camera coverage and on-the-spot interviews was very good television journalism. . . .

Many of the TV reporters did well, but Walter Cronkite sticks out like an efficient thumb as a very good newsman who keeps his head, voice and perception in situations where others get panicky. . . . Doug Edwards also kept just the proper workmanlike, restrained perspective, and we thought Will Rogers Jr. in the early morning asked the properly pertinent questions with just the right tone of concern and poise. . . .

CBS-TV's "Morinng Show" tossed out its whole planned light entertainment and devoted its full time to the ship tragedy. . . .

"Today," with Jack Lescoulie in Garroway's place, gave a large percentage of its program to the sea crash but still managed to keep in an awful lot of pap, including Jayne Mansfield and Lescoulie duded out in low comedy Shakespearean costumes in a scene from Shaw's "Caesar & Cleopatra." . . .

Having yearned to do "Tea & Sympathy" on the strawhat stage, Jayne Meadows proceeded to edit the curtain scene. No "Blouse Bit" for Jayne. . . Walter Winchell yesterday was informed two extra months had been added to his previous NBC-TV schedule of 26 weeks starting Oct. 12. . . .

"Climax" had a sinister oriental mood better than its plot or acting, except, surprisingly, Debra Paget's. . . . We don't care a fig if Martin & Lewis separate but we'd really worry if Harry & Burt did. . . .

Saddest story in months is the fortune made by a promoter who bought thousands of ancient unworkable small-picture TV sets, shipped them to a Latin-American country and sold them to poor families who placed them proudly as signs of false influence in their living rooms—without electricity to power them. . . .

Looks like Ralph Storey will succeed Sonny Fox on the 64G Challenge. Storey's a California emcee. . . . NBC thinks it has the answer to "Lucy" next season. "Impact," an adventure series, gets the Monday at 9 slot where "Medic" is breathing its last. . . .

The CBS-TV special sea crash coverage last night sank "Quiz Kids" in its channel. . . .The clergyman's soberingly dramatic punchline when asked his single standout reaction to the frightening crash: "God was watching."

The "Sindlinger" report on what People Are Talking About in TV notes that while Perry Como is off the air—he is still being talked about this week by over 3,000,000 persons. . . . The Sindlinger system, on ear to the pulse of U.S. conversations, lists TV shows in the the order of which shows cause the most talk—not which have the most viewers. . . They are not ratings, Sindlinger points out. . . . They are actually advance indications of the direction a rating might take, the survey states.

Steve Allen topped the small-talk list . . . $64,000 Question second . . . the Lawrence Welk show, gathering rising ratings and amazingly warm and enthusiastic word of mouth momentum, was 3rd . . . Ed Sullivan was talked about by some 16,246,000 persons.

Phil Silvers' "Sgt. Bilko" series, 5th . . . Edger Bergen's "Do You Trust Your Wife" 6th, then Groucho Marx, $64,000 Challenge, the Bob Cummings Show and "Medic."

We have no notion if this above is a precise statistic instrument indicating TV things to come, but it certainly smacks fine for Allen's chances in the bitterly competitive NBC-CBS battle to win ratings this fall . . . and certainly a warm and easily explainable conclusion in the case of Perry Como, television's finest human being.

More Charges Face Illinois Ex-Auditor

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Additional indictments will be sought against the three principles in the Orville E. Hodge financial scandal as the Sangamon County Grand Jury reconvenes today.

State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon previously announced his plan to seek additional charges against Hodge, resigned state auditor; his chief administrative aide, Edward A. Epping, and Edward A. Hintz, former president of Chicago's Southmoor Bank and Trust Co.

All three are under indictment by a U.S. grand jury in Chicago for conspiracy in misapplying $872,000 in federally insured bank funds. Hodge also is under indictment by the Springfield jury for embezzlement, forgery and confidence game.

Now to Find the Officer!

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Motorists won't be able to tell police officers they don't have any change for parking meters. Officers are being supplied with nickels to make change for drivers who need it.

Aluminum Strike Set for Midnight

Negotiators Still Trying to Keep Alcoa, Reynolds From Shutdowns

NEW YORK (AP)—Union and industry negotiators try again today to avert a strike at midnight tonight in plants that turn out 75 per cent of the nation's aluminum.

* * *

In Pittsburgh, the giant Aluminum Co. of America—Alcoa—said yesterday it was making preliminary preparations for an orderly shutdown of its mills.

The talks involve two companies Alcoa and the Reynolds Metals Co. and two unions, the United Steelworkers of America and the Aluminum Workers International Union.

* * *

Alcoa said in Pittsburgh that it had offered both unions a three-year, no-strike contract patterned after the settlement in the steel industry.

But the aluminum workers' union reportedly was unwilling to sign up for three years. The union's present contract has another year to run and is now open for wage discussions only.

The steelworkers group said it has presented to the aluminum company "substantially the same" demands as those made on the steel industry.

* * *

Aluminum workers in refining operations presently receive $2.30 an hour. Those in rolling, drawing and alloy work receive $2.21 hourly.

Nearly 40 per cent of the life insurance in force with more than 1,000 insurance companies in the nation is group or term insurance. This compares with 25 per cent in 1944.

Texas Seals Slipped Into Michigan Senate

LANSING (AP) — Those prideful Texans have done it again—they've slipped not one, but two emblems of the Lone Star state right over the heads of Michigan senators.

How come there are two Texas seals?

"There's a very simple explanation," says Fred Chase, Senate secretary.

"The seal of another state was broken. We had difficulty replacing it, so we took the Texas seal from a similar collection in the House when those panels were replaced with another set."

State Searching for New Doctor for Beaver Island

LANSING (AP) — The search for a new doctor on isolated Beaver Island in Lake Michigan has so far been unproductive, state officials said today.

"We've had a few nibbles, but nothing definite. I expect to have something to report at the end of the week," said Dr. J. K. Aitland, acting state health commissioner.

The State Health Department is trying to find a man to replace Dr. Harry F. Vail, who will quit his Beaver Island pracice Sept. 1 to return to the mainland.

Many of the 300 islanders say they may be forced to leave if the island does not find a replacement for Dr. Vail.

'Cenozoic Art' in French Cave —Vintage 1946

PARIS (AP) — The speleologists and the archaeologists of France are in a tizzy over some drawings in a cave, and the Paris papers are poking delighted fun at them all.

* * *

Speleology is the scientific study of caves. Archaeology is the scientific study of the material remains of past human life — the older the better.

A fortnight ago three archaeologists of excellent reputation announced with great gravity the discovery of drawings on the wall of a cave near Perigueux, in southwestern France. They said the pictures were made at least 20,000 years ago by cavemen.

* * *

There were paintings of mammoths and other prehistoric animals, including big two-horned rhinoceroses. "A great discovery," the Poitiers conference of archaeologists was told.

Then the speleologists put in a word.

William Martin, former president of the Speleo Club of Perigueux, said he spent three years exploring that particular cave 8 to 10 years ago — and that there were no paintings on the walls then.

* * *

Some drawings, Martin asserted, were made by a small boy who tagged along behind his party of explorers a decade ago. He used a carbide lamp as a crayon.

* * *

Some people may have visited the cave "without noticing paintings or engravings," they said, "or they may have seen them without recognizing their value, either from ignorance or incompetence, or even from negligence."

U. S. Keeps an 'Open Mind'

Egypt Plans to Improve Suez Canal

WASHINGTON (INS)— Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Hussein asserted today that Egypt, as a result of consultations with American oil and transport companies, expects to broaden and deepen the newly expropriated Suez Canal to accommodate super tankers.

* * *

Hussein charged in an exclusive interview that the British-controlled Suez Canal Company had been "deliberately allowing the canal to deteriorate" because the property would have legally reverted to Egypt in 12 more years.

"American companies had been urging us to deepen and broaden the canal, because it was outmoded for today's super oil tankers," he said, "but the company selfishly refused to improve it since it would soon lose control. We will now double, and eventually quadruple its facilities."

Hussein insisted Egypt has no intention of increasing ship tolls, or of interfering with international use of the crucial waterway in war and peace.

KEEP OPEN MIND

He also stressed his country will "pay in full" for the canal stock, 44 per cent of which is owned by British investors. He said Britain itself set the pattern on nationalization by taking over its own mines, banks and other industries, and that Egypt has "simply nationalized a company on Egyptian soil by legal means."

Hussein expressed "quiet jubilation" at the current decision of our government not to send Secretary of State Dulles to the emergency London conference on the expropriation. He said Egypt feels this means that the U. S. is trying to keep an open mind and avoid commitment on a positive position at this time.

Hussein blamed Khedive Ismail, "irresponsible grandfather" of deposed King Farouk, for Egypt's current troubles regarding the canal. He said the canal was built with Egyptian slave labor, 120,000 of whom died during its construction, and that the French construction firm paid nothing for the labor.

VALUE JUMPS 20 TIMES

After 10 years, he said, when it was decided that laborers must be paid, the French company forced Egypt to pay a penalty of 89,000,000 francs. To do so, he continued, Ismail sold the Egyptian shares to the British, receiving less than 100,000,000 francs.

Hussein said the value of the stock has doubled 20 times since then, and that Egypt will compensate investors at the current market value.

The ambassador said the gross yearly income from the canal has been averaging $100,000,000, half of which is profit. He said Egypt expects to use some of these proceeds to enlarge the canal, so that its future yield will be much greater. It also hopes to earn enough to help construct the high Aswan Dam which Britain and the U. S. now decline to finance.

* * *

"It is a lie that we will do anything to endanger international navigation through the Suez Canal," Hussein declared. "It will be open to all countries, and we have asked every worker—15 per cent of whom are foreigners—to stay on their jobs. After all, Egypt is only interested in making money from the canal, in order to improve our economy."

Greyhound Jumps Turn Into Gas Station, 6 Hurt

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Six persons were injured, none seriously, when a Kansas City-to-Chicago Greyhound bus veered off US 54-36 today on the outskirts of Springfield.

The bus careened off a curve, clipping off three service station gasoline pumps and smashing into a sign before coming to a halt back on the highway.

Lou Chambers, the driver, told state police he "lost control" of the big, single-deck vehicle. The front end of the bus was damaged extensively, state police said. Chambers was not injured. About 30 passengers were aboard the bus.

State Nearing Dull Primary

Leonard vs. Cobo Fight Looms as Only Race of Interest

LANSING (AP) — A drab Michigan primary election campaign is in its final full week with both Republican and Democratic leaders fretting over lack of voter interest.

* * *

In many areas, there was little to stir the electors, although lively challenges to incumbent congressmen and hot local contests pepped up the proceedings hre and there.

The only statewide contest pits Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit, choice of most organization leaders, against Donald S. Leonard, a former State Police commissioner, for the Republican governor nomination.

Gov. Williams, bidding for a fifth term, has a clear field in the Democratic primary, as do lone candidates in each party for the No. 2 state ticket spot—Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart on the Democratic side and Republican Clarence A. Reid.

LIGHT VOTE EXPECTED

State and Detroit election officials, partly because of a lack of spirited contests, foresee a light vote. In the Detroit area little more than one-third of registered voters are expected to go to the polls Aug. 7.

Ballots cast over the state appear unlikely to come close to the 893,000 total recorded two years ago.

Besides the paucity of important contests, election officials attribute the ho-hum attitude of voters to the fact that the national political conventions follow, rather than precede the primary this year, and to large numbers of persons gathering.

Southside Planners Elect First Officers

The newly organized Southside Community Betterment Assn. elected officers Sunday.

Mrs. William Grant is president; Earl Reed and Benjamin Highgate, vice presidents; Mrs. Verna Mae Hodge, recording secretary; Mrs. William Montgomery, corresponding secretary; Bernard Thomas, treasurer; Deloyd Brown, parliamentarian, and Henry Adams, chaplain.

A member, Milton Henry, said the group will strive to improve the neighborhood in a number of ways. Well-kept homes and social activities are part of the association's aims, he said.

About 38 families, Henry said, were represented Sunday at the Grant home, 295 Dellwood Ave., where the election was held.

'Trusty' Recaptured

IONIA (AP) — Donald Edman, 24-year-old trusty who escaped Sunday night from the Michigan State Reformatory, was captured last night in a corn field two miles from the prison. He had crawled from the window of a trusty dormitory outside the prison walls. Edman was sentenced last October to serve from 2 to 15 years for breaking and entering at Muskegon.

London in Terror as Gang War Erupts; Parliament, Papers Clamor for Cleanup

LONDON (AP)—The gangs are at war in London and violence stalks the streets in crepe-soled shoes.

* * *

* * *

Headlines tell of this underworld war: "Slashers Strike Again . . . ," "New Soho War: Billy Hill 'Boy' Slashed", "Another Soho Razor Slashing," "Police Hurt in Soho Battle."

* * *

Laborite Anthony Greenwood charged: "Not only are they all linked together by slashings with razors, but linked together by the persons who crop up again and again in these cases."

However, Lloyd-George told Parliament:

* * *

Each incident spreads a net of fear. The London News Chronicle has put it this way:

"The greatest enemy of the criminal investigation department is not so much violence in itself as the fear that drives witnesses to silence, perjury and flight."

There are four major gangs feuding for all-over control. So far, they have worked their own rackets among bookmakers on race courses, prostitutes and cafe, restaurant and club owners.

Scotland Yard undercover agents — members of the "Ghost Squad" — have dropped from sight and are working their way into the underworld. They aim to learn all they can about the rackets and the gangs so they can be broken up.

Senator Asks Protest Over Suez's Seizure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) called today for a U.S. protest against Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal to the World Court and to the U.N. General Assembly.

* * *

Describing the seizure as "clearly illegal," Mansfield said the situation is "pregnant with danger to world peace." Mansfield is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

In a separate interview, Chairman Richards (D-SC) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said his group will investigate the Suez crisis in September as part of its study of the foreign aid program.

Richards, too, said the Mediterranean crisis is a "great danger" to peace. He said, however, "there is no doubt as to Egyptian President Nasser's right to nationalize the canal, subject to treaty obligations."

"But any effort on his part to impede traffic or trade on the canal, in view of its importance, could bring very serious repercussions," Richards declared.

NAACP to Appeal $100,000 Penalty

MONTGOMERY, Ala., (AP) — Ten hours after the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People became subject to a $100,000 fine in a state circuit court, its attorneys planned today to ask the Alabama Supreme Court to stay the fine.

The request was scheduled to be made at a hearing today following the midnight deadline for surrendering the NAACP's Alabama records. The organization refused to give up its Alabama membership list.

Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones turned down a request yesterday to settle for some other NAACP records he had ordered handed over and not to let an earlier fine of $10,000 go up automatically to $100,000. The NAACP is now subject to the larger fine, on which a formal judgment must still be entered.

145 Millionaires Paid Taxes in '53

WASHINGTON (AP)—One hundred and forty-five Americans earned a million dollars each, or more, in 1953.

The Internal Revenue Service, reporting this last night, said there were 148 individuals in that category in 1952. The postwar record is 219, set in 1950.
