Report Cardinal Held in Hungary Has Been Freed

But Official Sources Lack Confirmation of Mindszenty's Fate

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Austrian Catholic news service Kathpress quotes informed circles in Budapest as reporting Josef Cardinal Mindszenty has been released from prison in Hungary. But the agency says there is no confirmation of the report.

The Vatican also said it had no confirmation of similar reports.

Kathpress said it received information from well-informed sources in Budapest that the cardinal had been freed one week ago and had gone to his diocese.

Mindszenty was sentenced to life imprisonment by a Red court Feb. 2, 1949. The court convicted him of treason, seeking to overthrow the Communist government in favor of the Hapsburg monarchy and illegal trading in dollars from the United States and the Vatican.

The trial and sentence brought a crescendo of indignation from the Western world. President Truman termed the action "infamous."

The Catholic Press Agency reported on Oct. 8 that Mindszenty's jailers were permitting him to see his aged mother once a month and that his health was poor. The news service said then that the prelate had been confined to a villa near Nagradovo since May and was taken each month to a point near Budapest to see his mother.

At the same time a report circulated in Western Europe that the Hungarian Information Ministry had announced Mindszenty would be released, but the Hungarian legation in Vienna said it knew nothing about this.

The Communists arrested Mindszenty on Dec. 26, 1948, after a long running fight with the cardinal who as an archbishop had been imprisoned by the Nazis for his defiance.

Bulge Anniversary Talk Warns of Reds

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Lt. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, speaking today at ceremonies in observation of the 10th anniversary of the Battle of the Bulge, said militant communism confronts the free world with a "terrible threat."

McAuliffe was guest of honor at ceremonies attended by King Baudouin, Premier Achille Van Acker and other high officials.

The American general's defense of Bastogne proved a turning point in the World War II battle. As commander of the 101st Airborne Division he won fame with his reply of "Nuts" to a German demand for his surrender.

A highlight of the ceremony was the carrying in of the flags of the 48 American states by Belgian soldiers.

Christmas Light Contest Entries Being Accepted

Entries are starting to snowball in the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce annual Christmas lighting display contest, Lawrence Shelton, co-chairman, said today.

"We got off to a slow start, but yesterday we received 20 entries," Shelton said.

For those homeowners planning to enter the competition but not yet registered, Shelton said an official entry blank is not necessary.

"Just write to the Jaycees, in care of the Chamber of Commerce, 34 E. Pike St.," he said. Entries must be filed by Saturday.

Five $25 defense bonds will be awarded, one each for the best display in each of the four sections into which the city has been divided for the contest and one for the top display in the whole city.

Judging will be conducted Tuesday.

U.N. Near End of 1954 Agenda

Still Awaiting Answer From China on Talks Asked by Hammarskjold

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—The U. N. Assembly clears the decks today for tomorrow's wind-up session while still awaiting a Peiping answer to Dag Hammarskjold's bid to discuss U.N. personnel held by Red China.

The political committee debated Tunisia today, last of the sore sports on the agenda, following two other issues which were disposed of yesterday in committee action.

Meanwhile, the U. N. secretary general made plans to fly to Stockholm tomorrow night at 6 o'clock (EST) amid hopes the Peiping regime would invite him to China for face-to-face talks on freeing 11 U. S. fliers imprisoned as spies and other U. N. POWs.

The political committee virtually wrapped up its agenda yesterday by disposing of the Greek issue calling for self-determination for the British-held island of Cyprus in the Eastern Mediterranean.

By a vote of 49 to 0, with 11 abstentions, the committee voted to shelve further consideration of the question.

The special political committee completed its work for the session by blocking an attempt by Russia to have the U. N. condemn the U. S. for defending Formosa against attack by Red China.

American officials said today it is up to Red China to make the next move in any deal to swap Americans held in China for Chinese students held here.

They said this country does not intend to take the initiative even though the State Department indicated yesterday that it might be receptive to a trade.

The hope is that world opinion will prod Peiping into making a formal offer. Diplomats at the United Nations said last night they believe Red China is in fact drafting a price for release of the Americans.

4-Minute Quake Jars Wide Area in Western U.S.

Little Damage Reported From Rolling Tumbler in Nevada, California

RENO (AP)—A rolling earthquake of high intensity shook northern Nevada and California early today but only minor damage was reported.

The quake, described as the heaviest of three that have jarred this area since last July, was felt as far as Elko, Nev., 200 miles east of here, and throughout most of California to the west.

It was timed at 3:07 a.m. in Reno and 3:10 a.m. in San Francisco. A second, minor, tremor was felt here at 3:09.

Fallon, Nev., a small agricultural community approximately 60 miles east of Reno and the center of two recent quakes, was believed to be the center of today's quake.

However, Sheriff George Wilkins said preliminary checks showed only "minor damage with some ceilings cracked and some bricks knocked loose." He said his deputies still were checking the outlying farm areas which took the brunt of other shocks.

Wilkins said today's earthquake was "by far the heaviest of all three." He attributed Fallon's light damage to the fact the "last quake just about knocked everything down that was at all loose."

Parts of Lovelock, Nev., also east of Reno, were blacked out when a section of the city's electric power system failed briefly. However, no other damage was reported. Lovelock police also described today's quake as heavier than previous ones.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co., giant utility serving most of California, said a check of its system indicated the earthquake was felt almost from the Oregon border to deep in Southern California. A PG&E spokesman said, however, there were no reports of damage. The tremor was felt as far south as the Los Angeles area, 500-plus miles away.

Local Radio Fan Gets Quick Tip on Nevada Quake

First report of the Nevada earthquake came to the Press from an amateur radio operator, Russell Watrous, of 2150 Glen Iris Ct., Commerce Township who talked with another amateur in Carson City, Nev., a few minutes after the tremor was felt. The quake was recorded at 6:08 a.m. Pontiac time (3:08 in Nevada).

Watrous, a GM Proving Ground employee who follows radio as a hobby, said his Nevada contact told him he was awakened when dishes began rattling and some furniture toppled over. Watrous' station is W8ML, and he talked with a Carson City amateur using call letters WTZT.

S-D Day Tally Lists 44 Killed

Nation Cuts Accidents Only Slightly; Michigan Records No Deaths

FROM AP & UP DISPATCHES

The nation's motorists cut traffic fatalities by 10 to 15 per cent on S-D Day. Safety experts praised the achievement, even though it fell far below their earlier expectations.

A United Press tabulation during the 24-hour period that ended at midnight showed today that 47 persons were killed in traffic yesterday and 873 were injured in 2,583 accidents.

Returns continued to trickle in early today and it was feared that new fatalities, particularly in the western time zones, might push the toll higher.

Michigan congratulated herself on a record of no traffic deaths on Safe Driving Day.

The 24 hours of Wednesday, Dec. 15, ended at midnight without a Michigan fatality in the President Eisenhower-endorsed national safety effort.

One death today—that of an elderly Detroit woman who was hit by a car early Wednesday—kept the record from being perfect. The death, however, won't be on the Dec. 15 record of the city police accident prevention bureau. It was listed as of today.

The national S-D Day deaths and injuries were well below those on two comparative days.

A special United Press "test" tabulation last Wednesday showed 67 persons killed and an estimated 2,144 injured.

On Wednesday, Dec. 16, 1953—the comparative day last year—60 persons were killed in auto accidents and 1,807 were injured.

A single accident which killed four persons near the tiny New Mexico town of Datil was the nation's worst S-D Day smashup.

Other bad S-D Day records were turned in by Pennsylvania, California, Illinois, Indiana, Mississippi and Florida with three deaths each and by Louisiana, Ohio, Massachusetts, New York, Texas, Virginia and Washington with two each.

President Eisenhower, in proclaiming S-D Day, had pleaded for a perfect day of no deaths, injuries, or even accidents on the highways.

Safety experts doubted if this was possible. Their fears were confirmed when, only 23 minutes after the beginning of S-D Day, Adelbert Jacobs Jr., 37, Waterford, Wis., was killed when his car went off the highway near Milwaukee.

No Highway Deaths Here

County, City Hold Traffic Mishaps Down on S-D Day

Despite slick icy roads throughout the county and hazardous Pontiac streets Wednesday, authorities today said they were satisfied with local auto accident scores during the 24-hour period of Safe Driving Day.

State Police of Pontiac Post, Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. and Pontiac Police said that from all apparent reports of accidents, the number was kept down to a bare minimum of 14. There were no deaths in the county.

Four property damage accidents in Pontiac were directly blamed on the icy streets, according to police. There were no injury accidents in Pontiac, which has been recording an approximate average of two injuries a day so far this year.

In the ten county accidents, only six persons were injured slightly. Authorities said that bad road conditions were to blame for the county's mishaps.

During the similar period in 1953, Pontiac recorded four property damage accidents, one injury accident and two persons hurt. Yesterday, no injuries were reported.

Clyde R. Haskill, chairman of the local S-D Day campaign, and law enforcement officials today said they attribute the county's safe record to the vigorous petition drive here since Dec. 6.

Europe Defense Needs A-Arms

U.S. Will Tell Western Bloc Atomic Weapons Only Solution

PARIS (AP)—The United States feels Western Europeans must rely on atomic weapons if they want to be defended from Communist attack instead of being liberated from an occupation later, a reliable source said today.

The American government is thus putting itself squarely behind defense plans drafted by the military committee of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which came up before NATO foreign, defense and finance ministers here tomorrow.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, French Premier Mendes-France and British Foreign Secretary Eden were to meet on this and other subjects in the French Foreign Ministry this afternoon in advance of the NATO council session.

The informant described the American position as being opposed to any rigid procedure restricting use of atomic weapons, including small tactical arms, on the ground that this would reduce the deterrent value of Allied arms, and to this extent, make aggression more likely.

Pope's X-Rays Indicate Hernia

Pontiff Suffering From Esophagus Ailment; No Ulcer Is Apparent

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Preliminary reports of X-rays taken today of Pope Pius XII showed that he is suffering from a small hernia of the esophagus and resultant gastritis.

Specialists planned a detailed study of the X-ray plates later today but the Pope's personal physician Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi described the hernia as of "small importance" and added that the examination did not show the presence of an ulcer.

Dr. Raffaele Paoletti of Valmaggia, famous surgeon who assisted in the examination, said later that an operation must eventually be performed if the Pope is to be cured of the hernia, but there is "nothing urgent" about the present condition of the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church.

"What we will now do is to try to re-establish his strength. Only then will we study his condition again in view of an operation," Dr. Paoletti said.

"This operation is not necessary immediately. The most important thing for the time being is that the Pope regain his strength through an increase in direct feeding. Now he can swallow very well."

Dr. Paoletti had said last week that the Pope could survive a hernia operation, which he described as a "very minor and local affair." But he said he "would have very little chance" of pulling through major surgery because of his age and weak condition following his grave collapse Dec. 2.

Sam's Lawyer Charges Case Tried by the Press

CLEVELAND (UP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard's defense charged today that police "jumped to the conclusion" he had bludgeoned his wife to death and that he was indicted in a hysteria whipped up by newspapers and broadcasters.

"Trial by newspaper! . . . arrest Sam Sheppard! . . . throw him in jail! . . . third degree!" shouted defense attorney William J. Corrigan to the murder trial jury. "That's what you read and that's what you saw."

Corrigan, the 67-year-old chief of the defense strategy and also one of the state's leading criminal attorneys, said the doctor had been "challenged by the coroner to confess his sins in public."

He was referring to the inquest held last July into Marilyn Sheppard's bludgeon-murder by Coroner Samuel R. Gerber. The inquest was held in the gymnasium-auditorium of a school in suburban Bay Village, the coroner said, because the people "had a right to know."

Corrigan told the five-woman,

Spark From Lamp Sets Off Fire Near Loon Lake on U.S.-10

Four Consumers Power Co. repairmen suffered burns last night when a spark from an electric lamp touched off a fire in a leaking gas line on the Dixie Highway at Loon Lake.

The hour-long blaze severed five major telephone cables above the main.

Service from Detroit and Pontiac to northern Michigan areas was cut off and about 7,500 subscribers in the Clarkston-Drayton Plains area were restricted to local service until this morning.

Toll calls normally routed through Pontiac were channelled through Lansing during the emergency.

Three of the men injured were treated and released with face and hand burns by Pontiac General Hospital attendants.

The fourth, Truman Slaughter, 39, of 5000 Cecilia, Clarkston, was admitted and is reported in good condition with second degree burns on his hands and face.

The injured were: Benjamin Walden, 27, of Drayton Plains; James Koenig, 115 State St.; and Patrick Reilly, 54, of 244 Whittemore St.

State Police said the fire broke out at about 10:30 p.m. in an underground main which had been uncovered for leak repair.

An electric lamp used by crewmen fell into the excavation and a spark from the smashed bulb triggered the blaze. Fire shot 20 feet into the air.

Bell Telephone Co. officials said service to all but a few Drayton Plains homes was restored by 6 a.m. and toll lines cables were spliced by 9:30 today.

Traffic along the busy highway was halted for about an hour while Waterford Township and Pontiac firemen extinguished the blaze.

A Consumers Power spokesman said gas service was not impaired by the leak.

Drayton Plains Man Named to State Post

LANSING (UP)—Billie S. Farnum, 38, Drayton Plains Democrat, was named assistant secretary of state in charge of the Detroit office today by Secretary of State-elect James M. Hare.

Farnum, a field representative for the Democratic state central committee during the 1954 election campaign and political field manager for the late Sen. Blair Moody of Michigan, will assume the $8,500-a-year post Jan. 1.

He will supervise activities of the secretary of state's office in southeastern Michigan and replaces Willard I. Staples, Detroit, assistant to outgoing Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary.

Farnum has been a member of the Michigan State Fair Board since April 1952.

MSC Staff Physician Resigns His Post After Predicting End of World Dec. 21

EAST LANSING (AP)—The predicted end of the world, flying saucers and Martians were discussed along with routine business yesterday by the State Board of Agriculture, governing body of Michigan State College.

Dr. John A. Hannah, MSC president, reported to the board that Dr. Charles A. Laughhead, a staff physician at the college hospital since 1948, was resigning because of his belief the world will end Dec. 21.

The board gave the resignation routine approval and also approved the appointment of George J. Andros as his successor at $10,000 a year.

Then further explanations were asked. "I first heard about this business when a group of students came to me," Dr. Hannah said. "They told me Dr. Laughhead had been holding meetings at his home and preaching the beliefs of some peculiar religious sect."

Dr. Hannah said dean of students Tom King and Dr. C. J. Menzies, heads of the college hospital, investigated and that Dr.

Laughhead admitted holding the meetings and talked freely about his beliefs.

Dr. Hannah said the group believes that the world will end Dec. 21 and that flying saucers from Venus or Mars—the MSC president wasn't sure which—would rescue some select survivors from mountain tops.

"We told Dr. Laughhead that his religious beliefs were his own business but that we couldn't have him upsetting the students. A few of them were taking it seriously," Dr. Hannah said.

Dr. Hannah said a resignation was "agreed upon."

"He was perfectly willing to resign and only seemed concerned about getting his pay immediately for the balance of the month of December," Dr. Hannah said.

"We understand he is disposing of his belongings and preparing to move to some mountain top to await the rescue."

Karl H. McDonel, secretary of the board, contributed the information that he heard the mountain top was "somewhere in the Alleghenies."

Dr. Laughhead's daughter, Charlyn, an 18-year-old freshman at MSC, denied that her father had made any flat prediction the world would end Dec. 21.

"It was nothing that definite or positive," she said. "It was mentioned as a probability, and maybe it just struck people that way."

Her father is not on a mountain top waiting for the end of the world, she said. "He's looking for a job."

miles from the center. San Diego police, another 150 miles away, said that city almost on the Mexican border did not feel any shock.

In Los Angeles chandeliers swayed on the 13th floor. of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. building. Windows rattled in Leimert Park and water sloshed in a swimming pool in west Los Angeles.

Throughout western Nevada, residents reported they were awakened by a heavy rumbling, rolling motion that culminated in a violent jar. Some people said they felt the quake for as long as four minutes.

At Fallon, officials of the Truckee-Carson Irrigation district a canal network that suffered thousands of dollars worth of damage in the July earthquake, said first reports indicated no damage.

Today's quake came just as repairs were nearing completion on huge ruptures and cracks caused by the earlier quakes, in July and August. Many acres of rich farmland were flooded. An emergency disaster allocation of approximately $300,000 in federal funds was made to repair the canal grid.

Court Date Is Set in Birmingham Suit

The lot is planned to hold about 223 cars and cost an estimated $260,000.

The summations will be finished by the end of today's session and Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin will charge the jury tomorrow morning. The jurors are expected to begin deliberations sometime between 10 and 11 a.m. tomorrow.

FORT DEVENS, Mass. (UP) — City officials of Ayer, Mass., asked the Army if it would bring Santa Claus to a children's party in a helicopter. The Army refused on grounds Santa Claus is a civilian and Army regulations provide that only servicemen may be transported in Army helicopters.

Christmas Giving Much More Pleasant With Gay, Carefully-Chosen Wrappings

If Christmas means fun to you, you will wrap your gifts with love and care.

If it's a big headache from Thanksgiving to New Year's, you won't and the spirit you pass on will be as gay as an unemptied ash tray.

When you approach the finish line on your shopping, plan several evenings for wrapping. Get all your equipment spread out on the dining room table or card tables. Let the children have their whack at it and do not let them be discouraged by their messy results.

Manufacturers this year have a whole raft of bright or sophisticated wraps and ribbons for you to pick from.

Tie-Tie has come out with a cutter box that eliminates dealing with little squares of paper that won't enclose big packages. They also have a make-it-yourself bow kit that really makes flat flowers—wonderful for packages to be mailed, since they won't crush.

Elaborate bows are fine if you can manage them, but a simple bow on bright paper, in contrasting ribbon creates a cheery effect with less agony for the five-fingered.

Unusual papers are fun. Children who finger paint will be proud to whip out a few creations that make fine wrapping paper. Hi-Silene is Sylvania's cellophane paper with a silver lining that makes a shiny gift wrap.

Papers with particularly clever designs may be ironed after being removed from gifts received and the patterns cut out and pasted on tissue paper for the kids, for re-use the next year.

Many persons like to wrap all their presents in one paper so that their contributions are easily identifiable. A nicer touch is to try to think up a wrapping for each recipient that's just right, or is connected with the gift inside.

Early U. S. gold pieces were counterfeited in platinum.

Aircraft Employees Make More Money

WASHINGTON (UP)—The average aircraft worker in the United States today earns $953 more per year than he did in July 1950. The month the Korean war began. This is $726 per year above the average for all U.S. manufacturing employees.

Planes, official publication of Aircraft Industries Association, says that the aircraft worker's wage increases granted by the aircraft industry in the past four years account for one-fifth of the industry's estimated $3.54-billion payroll for 1954.

In mid-1950, the average annual earnings for aircraft workers were $3,450, compared with $4,413 today.

Their weekly earnings have jumped $18.32 during this time while the average for all manufacturing industries went up only $11.71.

The article says that employment by the aircraft industry was 265,400, with a monthly payroll of $76.5-million in 1950 and that today there are 803,000 employees and a $295.5-million monthly payroll.

Action Toys Popular

Action in toys is fascinating both for adults and for the youthful recipients. In special model railroads there is one which loads and unloads a car full of cattle. Another discharges and picks up milk cans. There is a foreign made power shovel which winds up to allow the clam-shell scoop to open and close, lift and lower.

Petrified Potato Is Really Rock, Scientists Explain

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UP)—New York state's science service has solved the riddle of the "petrified potato"—there just isn't any such thing.

Actually, the service says, the "petrified potatoes" are small boulders, usually of quartz and rounded by the continual wear of moving water. Their surfaces may be stained by the water until it appears to be a rusty brown color enhancing the resemblance to a potato.

A potato contains too much water for it to become petrified. It would rot long before that time.

In Guatemala it's not difficult to tell the sex of a baby being carried on its mother's back in the market place. The boy babies are carefully covered, head to toe, and protected against the sun. The girl babies are simply stuffed into the mother's carrying basket, probably on the theory that girls don't need protection.

Ancient Greeks Swayed Pastor

U-M Doctor Convinced by Christian Answers to Plato, Aristotle

ANN ARBOR (U)—A University of Michigan professor says Plato and Aristotle can be credited in part for his decision to enter the ministry of the Episcopal Church. Dr. Stanley Dalton Dodge, 57, will be ordained Friday to the Episcopal diaconate, the first order of Episcopal clergymen.

Dr. Dodge, an associate professor of geography, has devoted part of his teaching in the past 10 years to liberal arts, including a study of philosophy.

Deep study rather than emotion played the major role in his decision, Dr. Dodge said, although a shortage of ministers was another factor he considered.

"The need for help in the church was on the practical side," he said. "But I couldn't go into it until I was convinced on the intellectual side as well."

"In the course of my readings, I first saw that the Christian answers to the questions raised by Greek philosophers were the correct ones."

"The Greek propositions lead to despair, where as the Christian's lead to hope."

Dr. Dodge will be ordained in his own church, St. Andrews, by the Rt. Rev. Archie H. Crowley, suffragan bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan.

Dr. Dodge said he intends to stay on the U. of M. faculty and carry on his religious work in the outlying churches.

Spaniards Urged to Drink More Domestic Wines

MADRID (INS)—While Premier Pierre Mendes-France is putting his country on the milk wagon, the Spanish government is trying to make Spaniards drink more and more stronger wine.

Spaniards like their wine and the government isn't worried about national over-stimulation. The program is designed to put the wine industry back on its feet.

In January the government will institute measures intended to lower the price of wine and end the practice of watering wine. The result, it is hoped, will be bigger sales and smaller surpluses.

Out of the estimated 502 million gallons of wines and spirits produced in Spain this year, only 357 million gallons will be drunk here.

That's nearly 13 gallons for each of the 28 million men, women and children in Spain. Another 36 million gallons will be siphoned off by exports. More than ever will be transformed into alcohol this year.

But Spain will still be left with a big surplus. The government is pinning its hopes on luring Spaniards away from intruders such as beer and soft drinks and back to good red, 14-proof Valdepenas and other patriotic vintages.

Largest Bank Built in Texas

Lone Star State Gets New Bragging Material as Gala Opening Nears

DALLAS (INS)—Something new for Texans to brag about—the tallest building west of Chicago and the largest bank building in the U.S.A.—will be dedicated in Dallas Wednesday with more pomp than a Hollywood opening.

The sumptuous, 40-story $25-million aluminum shell Republic Bank Building is a proud tribute and symbol of the Southwest's economy, incorporating in its structure the latest of everything in architectural design, banking equipment and the dreams of executives.

Its mere presence on the Dallas skyline and the rotating beacon 480 feet up which can be seen for 120 miles in all directions cannot be overlooked by the populace in that area.

But many other persons in the Southwest and in the nation also are going to know about the building if the lavish plans for launching it have the desired effect.

Activities started a week ago will culminate in a whirling night for 4,500 banking guests from all over the U. S., Canada and Mexico.

Bank presidents, governors and customers will mingle for cocktails and dinner in a mammoth 8-acre building normally used for exhibiting automobiles during the State Fair.

One hundred bartenders will serve drinks from a 400-foot-long bar. A symphony orchestra will furnish dinner music.

Then guests will stroll on a red carpet under a canopy, two city blocks to the auditorium for a two-hour special show featuring Bob Hope, Mimi Bessell, Ted Weems and numerous other top show people.

For formal dedication of the bank tomorrow city streets will be roped off for four blocks around the structure and an estimated 40,000 persons will be treated to the Bob Hope-Mimi Bessell show.

Such exploitation seems justified, however, when a few of the salient facts about the structure are considered. For instance, the main lobby of the bank is just a few feet short of the size of a football field and two stories tall.

The main door to the safe deposit vault is 2 1/2 feet thick and weighs 40 tons, but is so perfectly balanced a child can close it.

Twenty-three automatic elevators—passenger operated—whisk upward at more than 1,000 feet a minute, and could in a day's time make enough trips to give some 50,000 persons a ride.

Courtesy Unimportant in Work of Policemen

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Superior Court has ruled that a policeman can't do his job well if he spends too much time minding his manners.

A court decision said that "police officers cannot apprehend the enemies of society while carrying 'The Age of Chivalry' in one hand and Emily Post's latest edition in the other."

The ruling was made in upholding the conviction of a man who claimed most of the evidence against him was obtained through wire-taps.

Even Best Doctors Give Placebos to Some People

NEW YORK (INS)—"Placebo" is a word I only recently added to my vocabulary and what it means in ordinary talk is "fake sugar pill."

Doctors might not give you that definition, but the most reputable, scientific, and humane often do give placebos, when it becomes clear the patient won't start feeling better "unless you prescribe something."

The dictionary on my desk first gives the religious meaning of this odd-sounding word, then defines it as "a medicine given merely to please the patient," and then adds that it comes from the Latin to mean, "I shall be pleasing."

Pleasing? It's the most delicious idea I've come across all week, and I'm half-sick with longing to rush straight-out to Hollywood and renew acquaintances with a couple of hypochondriac script writers I used to know out there, just so I could ask them one question point-blank.

"And how many placebos," I'd start innocently, "would you estimate there are among the pink, blue, red and yellow sleeping pills in your technicolor medicine chest?"

Perhaps not so innocently! And perhaps not even Hollywood. Every last one of us knows a few high-pressure business men or writers or advertising folk or merchants right in our own home towns who no longer can get through any week of their lives without swallowing at least one pill or powder to make them sleep.

On second thought, I wonder if I'd really be so all-fired smart as to ask the question—either at home or out in Hollywood.

For the fellow taking the placebo thinks he's getting relief for insomnia thereby and thus manages to get to sleep a little sooner, what possible excuse would there be for me to pull the wool from his eyes?

It's nice harmless wool—and that's the only kind I'm talking about of course—it's probably going to work better than counting sheep.

Many fine doctors have written about the enormous healing powers of our own convictions. One of the great stories in that field concerns an M.D. in France, an expert, who good though he was, could not build up a steady and continuing practice.

Finally he moved to a new neighborhood and let it be known he was an "herb doctor."

His herbs began to sell; his practice began to grow; his bank account began to grow obese. And at last he was reported to the police and to the medical academy as a quack.

The only did he reveal, to those in authority, that he was a graduate doctor, with highest grades and the licence to practice anywhere in France. And also that under the strong herb flavorings of everything he prescribed was a good solid foundation of real drugs. "But please, Messieurs," he pleaded, "Don't betray me to my patients. If my scientific standing became known, their belief in the herb doctor's magic powers would well 'n't be one mite siller than flee, and they would all quit me cold."

I've always cherished this story, and found in it plenty of help for many an everyday crisis in my own family life—especially when my two sons were lots smaller. I'm positive you have too.

What other magic, pray tell me, can explain the old phrase every mother the world over hears when the small fry have their scratches and bruises and nicks and cuts? "Let mother kiss it and make it better."

Pay Refugees 50 Years

NEW DELHI (AP)—Afghan refugees who fled Afghanistan 50 years ago in a dispute with the then Kabul government are still receiving a maintenance allowance fixed by the former British rulers of India. The government says 29 of these refugees still in India receive a total of $1,746 per month from the present New Delhi government.

A dog's jaw can move sideways as well as up and down, but a cat's cannot.

Many Checks, No Cash

AMERICAN FALLS, Idaho (AP)—Wilbur Herman Gardner, 28, was taken before Probate Judge J. W. Collings in American Falls on a forgery charge. He told reporters: "The only difference between Rockefeller and me is that his checks are good and mine aren't. But we both write a lot of them."

From 1903 through 1914, more than 750,000 immigrants came to the United States and more than a million entered in six of those years.

Battle of Tomatoes

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Girth rather than weight decided the tomato growing championship of Hartford, 7th gardens of Mrs. Eva Petipas and Louis Cerosimo each produced tomatoes weighing exactly 2½ pounds, but Mrs. Petipas claimed the title because hers was 18½ inches in circumference to 18 inches for Cerosimo's.

The U.S. Office of Education estimates that between 10 and 12 million dollars worth of building is needed for classrooms in U.S. schools.

Students Vexed: Bike He Won Won't Carry Coeds

COLUMBIA, S.C. (U)—University of South Carolina student Jim Youngblood of Easley, occasionally makes auto trips to Winthrop college, the state college for women at Rock Hill, 80 miles north of here.

On such a recent trip, he casually dropped a lucky number blank in a store sales contest at Rock Hill—and found several days later he'd won a bicycle. If only, he muses, it was a tandem.

Early Music in Latin

Early Christmas music was written and sung in Latin. In the 13th century, St. Francis of Assisi is said to have influenced the rise of the Christmas carol written in the vernacular.

Money Order Takes 10 Years to Arrive

RICHMOND, Va. (U)—A money order for $27.50 has, finally, caught up with Douglas Mullins after almost 10 years.

The order, dated Dec. 7, 1944, was mailed to Mullins at Company 1, 14th Infantry, Ft. Benning, Ga. It arrived here almost 10 years later in a letter to Postmaster B.

P. Lambert from the American consulate in Florence, Italy.

The consulate said it got the money order by mail with no explanation except that it was found in the lining of an old army uniform. Postmaster Lambert forwarded it to Mullins, who now lives at Fort Pierce, Fla., and also notified the sender, Marie Buckles.

Excess Baggage Weighs 1,600 Lbs., Costs $2,897

MIAMI, Fla. (U)—Israel Gaska Szymanska, merchant from Cochabamba, Brazil, checked in here after a visit in the United States encumbered by 1,600 pounds of baggage over and above the minimum allowed each air traveler.

It was believed to be a new world record for excess baggage.

The eight huge double containers cost Szymanska $2,897.50 but he plunked down the money, saw his baggage loaded, and was on his way home in short order.

Tickets as Gifts

A punch-ticket at the local drug store, a roll of tickets to the movies, a gift certificate at the record store are all appreciated gifts to the teenager.

Mail Order Cook Book Heats Up Male Buyer

OKLAHOMA CITY (U)—The publication was advertised as "What all women know—What every man should know." Several men sent for it.

One of them called Clyde N. Kemery of the Better Business Bureau. The volume was a cook book. "He was really bitter about it," Kemery said, "and we agreed the bureau should do something. We will."

Cows' Life Not Bad

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (U)—It's practically breakfast in bed for cows on the Russell Hansen farm. A bovine chuck wagon is hauled out to the pasture, filled with chopped green feed and hauled back to the barnyard where the cattle eat from the rack.

Bing Crosby Thinks Brother Bob Needs Lessons in Scoring Poker

By EDDIE CANTOR.

The dictionary on my desk defines ad lib as follows: "To improvise (lines or action not in the script of a play)." Far be it from me to improvise on Mr. Webster's big seller, but I have listened to guys "ad libbing" where it had nothing to do with play or script.

For instance when Bob Crosby became the father of his fifth, he phoned his famous brother, Bing. "Well, Bing," he bragged, "I finally topped your four boys. June had a girl this morning and that gives me five—a full house."

Bing squelched him with, "Boy, you better look up your rules on poker. Anyone will tell you four of a kind beats a full house."

It was at the famous Hollywood Bowl when, in the midst of a thrilling aria sung by Jan Peerce, a low-flying plane was drowning the celebrated tenor's singing. Jan stopped, looked up at the sky and yelled, "You're too early, Bud. I don't leave 'til twelve, midnight." He enjoyed the laugh that followed as much as all the applause he had received that evening.

One of the funniest ad libs I ever heard came from the perennial night club favorite, Joe E. Lewis. It was at the Chez Paree in Chicago. In the middle of Joe's act a fellow at the front table kept dozing and finally put his head on the table and fell fast asleep. The Lewis zany walked over, looked at him and said, "Look, Mister, I don't mind your going to sleep, but you could at least have said good-night."

This one happened at the Paramount Theater in New York City where I was making a personal appearance. The early morning shows were packed with children, brought by their parents. During one of my softer songs I actually heard a kid in the front row say to his mother, "Look, Ma. He not only looks like an owl, he sings like one."

Bob Hope, in talking about a star who has been in hot water constantly, remarked, "He put his foot in everything except the forecourt of Grauman's Chinese Theater."

BEST PAW FORWARD—It's difficult keeping a good dog down. Born with only three legs, "Hoppy," a four-month-old part beagle, part terrier, manages to stand up for something to eat held by her master, Kenneth Webb Jr., of Montoursville, Pa.

Royal Vet Rushes Serum to Prince Charles' Bunny

WINDSOR, England (INS)—Harvey, Royal rabbit and favorite pet of 5-year-old Prince Charles, is "living the life of Riley," after a narrow escape from an untimely end.

The royal bunny had been leading an ordered existence in his well-appointed rabbit hutch and glass play-pen in the garden belonging to George Hallett, 52-year-old head keeper of Windsor Great Park, when the serenity was rudely disrupted.

An outbreak of myxomatosis, the dreaded rabbit killer disease, was discovered on the royal estate.

The royal veterinary surgeon was hastily informed by park rangers and immediate steps were taken to safeguard the life of the royal rabbit.

Prince Charles, before leaving for his summer vacation, had left some very definite orders about the safety and well-being of his favorite pet during his absence.

No one wanted to be courier of any unfavorable news to the young prince.

In less than an hour after the outbreak had been reported the veterinary surgeon arrived at the cottage with two tubes of vaccine and Harvey was caught and immunized.

Keeper Hallett is maintaining an anxious watch over his charge and Harvey does not appear to mind his diet of specially selected lettuce and succulent cabbage leaves, or having a fresh bed of straw every evening.

Keeper Hallett is preventing all strangers approaching as an extra precaution in case they are carrying the disease. He is confident that Harvey will be safe but he is taking no chances. He said:

"Prince Charles has nothing to worry about now. Harvey is just fine and in the pink."

Bonn Coalition Split Widens

Adenauer's Government at Odds Over Treaty on Saar

BONN, Germany (UP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's coalition government split further today on the Franco-German Saar agreement in a mounting crisis that could delay ratification of the treaties rearming West Germany.

A spokesman for the rightist German Party (DP), smallest in the Adenauer coalition, warned that his group could not accept the Saar settlement until it had been changed through new Franco-German talks asked yesterday by Adenauer.

The moderate rightist Free Democrats (FDP), second largest of the four parties in the ruling coalition, announced last night the Saar settlement is unacceptable to them "in its present form."

The new attack against the Saar agreement signed in Paris Oct. 23 by Adenauer and French Premier Pierre Mendes-France came as the lower house (Bundestag) plunged into the second and last day of full dress debate on the first of three readings of the bills for ratification of the rearmament and Saar agreements.

The dispute over the Saar did not appear to threaten the chances for ultimate ratification of the treaties that will put 500,000 young Germans into uniform on the side of the West.

But a mounting crisis was boiling up over the Saar pact that might result later in a wide open split in the Adenauer cabinet. This could delay final settlement of both.

November FHA Demands Double One Year Ago

WASHINGTON (UP)—The demand for FHA home financing in November more than doubled that for November last year and set a new record for the month, the Federal Housing Administration reported today.

It was the fourth straight month for which a new record was set.

Despite the onset of bad construction weather, FHA said, 52,700 home builders and buyers applied for FHA mortgage insurance—only 5,750 fewer than in October. The number was more than twice the 23,700 applications in November of last year, and well above the previous November record of 46,800 in 1947.

FHA credited the activity to the new housing law which reduced down payments and liberalized purchase terms on both new and used dwellings.

Jazz Trumpeter Succumbs at 70

Oscar 'Papa' Celestin Was New Orleans' Idol in the Twenties

NEW ORLEANS (U) — Famed New Orleans jazz trumpeter and bandleader Oscar (Papa) Celestin died Wednesday several hours before the scheduled presentation of a sculptured head of himself to a city library branch.

Celestin, who was rated among the nation's great jazz musicians, would have been 71 on New Year's Day. He became ill in September.

He was the idol of New Orleans jazz lovers in the 20's then lapsed into relative obscurity. He staged a comeback in recent years.

In May, 1953, Celestin and his New Orleans Dixieland orchestra appeared at a "command performance" sponsored by the White House Correspondent's Assn. annual banquet.

President Eisenhower shook his hand warmly at the event and said, "Mr. Celestin, you are a fine gentleman and a credit to your race and our country."

The music and the President's congratulations were recorded, and the jubilant Negro trumpeter told friends later "the sweetest sounds were not in the music, but the words of the President."

He was born in the bayou country of South Louisiana in 1884.

With his star on the wane, Celestin worked in a defense plant, then as a longshoreman, construction worker, truck driver and chauffeur.

In 1944, he was injured seriously in a hit-and-run accident. His legs were broken and he limped for the rest of his life.

His comeback occurred in 1946 when the National Jazz Foundation pressed him to resume his trumpet playing.

WORK OF LOCAL YOUNG ARTIST—This Yuletide work of art displayed in the second-grade room at LeBaron School was done by David Copeman, 16, sophomore at Pontiac High School and the son of the Walter Copemans, 462 East Tennyson. David, a friend and former pupil of second-grade teacher, Mrs. Louis Bauldoff, drew the Santa scene free-hand on heavy paper, colored it in chalk and then cut it out. The young artist expects to go on to study automobile designing and styling at GM Institute of Technology, Flint, after graduating from high school.

Blind Children 'See' Santa Claus at Special Yule Party

DETROIT (UP) — Santa Claus kept a date in toyland with more than 200 boys and girls last night.

Many of them never had seen Santa before. Many never will see him for the rest of their lives. They are blind. But they tenderly stroked his snow-white beard and laughed when he whispered strange promises in their ears.

Some cried.

More than 60 of the children at the annual toyland party, sponsored by Kern's, were the sons and daughters of blind parents.

For the sightless, toyland was only a world of strange and wonderful sounds, the touch of a cuddly panda bear; the feel of the smooth, straight lines of an electric train.

A lot of free hot dogs, ice cream, pop and some kiddie-land rides were tossed in for good measure.

It was the eighth consecutive year the party has been held.

"My two children can see, but I'm blind," one young mother explained.

"I came to this party last year and had a chance to inspect some of the toys my children wanted by just feeling the toys and trying them out."

The parties were suggested in 1946 by Harry Hunter of Detroit, himself blind and president of the Associated Blind Activities.

He has worked each year with officials to make the party a success. Hunter's wife, Olga, is also blind, but they have two children with good vision.

The Lions Club furnished transportation to last night's affair. Clerks at the store volunteered their services to stay overtime as hosts and hostesses.

Long lines of children waited to "see" Santa. Some were frightened when placed on his lap. Others tenderly stroked his white hair and his red velvet suit. A freckle-faced chap tried to bite Santa's nose, but the jolly old man ducked in time.

Four-year-old Linda Hamm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hamm, approached Santa cautiously in her dark world. Her mother and father, also blind, encouraged her from the sidelines. When Linda climbed from Santa's lap she felt for the waiting arms of her parents, and laughed joyously when she told them of getting a box of candy from the old gentleman.

"Well, did you see Santa Claus?" her father asked innocently.

"Yes, I did," the little girl shouted. "I said I wanted a piano when I saw Santa."

Surrounded by Christmas trees and tinsel and all the greens and reds and yellows of toyland, the little girl looked straight ahead in the darkness.

CROWDED OUT—This scene of two youngsters playing checkers under a ping-pong table was recorded last week at the Pontiac Boys' Club games room. It indicates the club's crowded situation. The boys, Terry Crowell, 9, of 65 Whitfield St., and Floyd Mathews II, (right) 12, of 117 E. Pike

St., sought in vain for a vacant table they could use. Over 250 boys use this room nightly. The club is now experiencing the record membership of 1,485, according to Executive Director William V. Coulosos.

Crowded Conditions at Boys Club Here Cutting Facilities for Interested Youths

Primarily set up to accommodate only 1,200 youngsters, Pontiac Boys' Club today announced a membership of 1,485—the biggest number in the club's 10-year history.

William V. Coulosos, executive director, said despite many recent improvements of the building's facilities over 200 youths have been temporarily denied membership. There is a waiting list of 250 boys who have made application from various sections of the city.

Further pointing up the crowded situation, said Coulosos, is that over 250 boys use the club's games room nightly and over 300 members have been recorded as taking part in gymnasium activities at one time during several evenings in the past two weeks.

"Boys frequently travel from as far as ten miles to attend the club," said Coulosos.

"It isn't unusual to have 35 per cent of the attendance during a weekend from areas three to six miles away from the club," he added.

Coulosos explained that a boy usually doesn't travel that distance unless the activities cater to the youth's interest.

But unique about the club's operation is the philosophy upon which it is based.

The activities are well-planned, each with a definite and previously thought-out purpose. The club, in this way, goes beyond the ordinary interest of the boy and makes certain that the activity also meets the need of the youngster.

For instance, boys are given the opportunity to use their hands in creative work in the hobbies room, and wood shop or the printing room.

The youths' thinking powers and abilities are encouraged through activity in the library and fostered with educational themes which are injected into the various forms of activities.

Complying with this philosophy, advisers are indoctrinated with the aims of the club which also carries moral education in the many functions.

Although the club has added new equipment recently, the revisions so far has proved somewhat successful for the existing record number of members.

"The present problem is partly solved," noted Coulosos, "but it doesn't aid the new problem. More and more boys are applying for application and something will have to be done for them."

When Coulosos took over his present post at Boys' Club in 1952, the organization had slightly over 1,000 youths. Since then the club's membership has included boys from neighboring communities, such as Waterford, Clarkston, Oxford, Birmingham, and even Royal Oak.

Clarkston Girl Helped Reformer in India

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Pat McMahon of 4354 Maybee Rd., Clarkston, is like her description of Vinoba Bhavé, the man with whom she toiled for a year and a half in India in an economic reform movement.

The former University of Michigan student was with him in spirit more than in person. She rarely saw or spoke to the man whom she describes as quiet, and sincere to the point that no one dares be insincere to his face. And yet she walked thousands of miles beside him.

Miss McMahon, 26, helped carry on his work in villages of India, probably in the same quiet and sincere manner in which she tells about the Bhoodan movement in India. She returned to Ann Arbor recently.

After going to India to study the Indian language and its dialects, she learned of Bhavé's land-gift movement, which now is in its third year. "It seemed too immense," she says, "I couldn't understand how any one man could go about collecting land."

Bhavé's movement received international attention soon after it began. His idea of reforming India's economic plight is gathering land from the wealthy and giving it to the poor.

A devoted follower of Mahatma Gandhi, Bhavé walked, and to this day he walks, from village to village persuading land owners to give up property. And he is getting results.

"There is enough land to support all of India," Miss McMahon says. "But it goes to waste in the hands of a few. Bhavé is demonstrating that there is enough land to go around."

There was opposition to Bhavé at first, she says. "But as the idea caught on, landowners felt compelled to donate at least part of their holdings to retain the community's respect."

So far, Bhavé has collected and redistributed approximately 3,000,000 acres of land throughout India.

Several hundred advocates of Bhavé's idea, who cannot escape its spiritual promise, join his band of speakers, Miss McMahon says.

They travel from village to village, usually at the rate of one a day. Word comes to the village beforehand that they are coming.

"Sometimes they are waiting for us eager to contribute their land," Miss McMahon says. "On other occasions, everyone seems to have gone elsewhere on pressing business."

Dems Like Moves by Ike Toward Party Cooperation

Senator Cites Foreign Issues

Democrats Will Support President if Present Attitude Continues

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said today President Eisenhower has only to maintain his present attitude to get more cooperation from the Democratic 84th Congress on foreign and military problems than he received from the Republican 83rd.

Gore, who labeled himself as "one of the severest critics" of some Eisenhower administration domestic policies, said he was impressed with the President's moves toward consultation with Democrats on international and defense matters.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday he believes Democrats will give very real cooperation on national security, foreign aid and international diplomatic programs. He said he expects the maximum of support from Republicans on these and domestic proposals he makes.

Observing that the President appeared to be entirely sincere in his intentions to consult with the Democrats before decisions were made, Gore said:

"If he maintains that attitude, he will get general cooperation from us. As one of the severest critics of some of his domestic policies, I will not hesitate to give my wholehearted support to him on international and military problems."

"In fact, if his attitude remains the same, he will get more backing in those fields from the next Congress than he did from the last because there will be fewer Republicans to oppose his foreign policies."

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he was pleased with Eisenhower's plan to have Cabinet members consult the top Democrats and Republicans on responsible congressional committees before decisions are crystallized on various programs.

Eisenhower gave no indication, however, that such consultation would extend to purely domestic problems, and Democrats, in turn, made it clear that opposition to some of these proposals will be vigorous.

Eisenhower's announcement that he will ask Congress to continue present rates of corporation and excise taxes that otherwise would drop April 1 was met by Gore with a proposal for repeal of the administration-supported cut in dividend taxes voted by the 83rd Congress.

This reduction on stockholders' dividend income taxes costs about 300 million dollars in yearly revenue, whereas the loss on corporation and excise levies would range around three billion dollars a year.

Sinclair Weeks Named Man of Year by NAM

WASHINGTON (INS) — Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks receives the National Assn. of Manufacturers' man of the year award in a ceremony this afternoon.

The presentation is to be made in Weeks' office by Henry G. Riter III, NAM president. Weeks is a former national vice president of the NAM and a member of its board of directors. He resigned both posts on taking his cabinet job.

Just a Family Affair

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UP) — There was a little family reunion in Municipal Court when 20-year-old Wayne Niederhuth was brought in on a speeding charge.

The court clerk who called the case was his mother Mrs. Lucile Niederhuth. The judge who took his plea of guilty was his grandfather John Levan. And it was his Grandpa who assessed the $25 fine, plus $8.50 costs.

Honor Man Who Got Jet Base for Cadillac

CADILLAC (UP) — Floyd J. McCarthy, a prime mover in bringing the new Air Force jet base to Cadillac, was honored last night at a testimonial banquet.

More than 500 persons from the Cadillac area toasted the local manufacturer. They included delegations from Traverse City, Manistee and other cities in the area which had sought to locate the base elsewhere in the northwestern part of the Lower Peninsula.

The eight million dollar base will have a personnel of some 800. It will be located seven miles west of Cadillac.

What Religion Means to Our Family

Spiritual Help of Church Leads to God

By LULA B. OGDEN

Motor trips, weekends at their "shack" at Mid Forest Lodge, their home and garden are hobbies of the Marshall Smith family of 3001 Elizabeth Lake Rd.

However, of the activities that they share as a family, they find going to church together every Sunday the most useful and helpful and the most fun of all.

Although the family joined All-

Saints Episcopal Church in 1951, they say they have enjoyed their associations there so much that they feel they have been there longer.

Smith is chairman of the Society for the Growth of the Church, Marcia past treasurer of Tau Alpha and Dustin is an acolyte. Mrs. Smith is active in Guild 11. She likes to express herself by writing.

The children attend Waterford Township High School.

"Our religion," the family said, "as interpreted to us by our church, helps to make the dark moments of our lives worthwhile and the bright moments brighter."

"It keeps us trying (not always successfully) to keep our ears and eyes, our hearts and our minds open; to be sensitive to the needs of others and to respond to those needs."

"It keeps us striving to attain sainthood as it is described in the words of a little card that came to us through our church."

They go like this: "Why were the saints, saints? Because they were cheerful when it was difficult to be cheerful, patient when it was difficult to be patient, and because they were pushed when they wanted to stand still, and kept silent when they wanted to talk, and were agreeable when they wanted to be disagreeable. That was all. It was quite simple and always will be."

"Now we confess that we aren't getting to be saints very fast, and we most certainly realize that it's an ideal that we'll never be able to achieve all by ourselves."

"But, we believe that the spiritual help that constantly flows to us from our church will, in time, lead us to that perfect trust in God for which we all long," they said.

Five Children Burned to Death in New York

HOOSICK FALLS, N.Y. (UP) — Five children burned to death today when fire destroyed a two-story frame house at Wallomac, about four miles northeast of here.

The fire was believed to have started about 6 a.m. in an oil storage shed near the house.

The children ranged in ages from one to eight years.

Smokey the Bear Alerting Citizens of Fire Hazards

WASHINGTON (INS) — Judging by volume of mail, the most popular figure in the Department of Agriculture is not Secretary Ezra Taft Benson but a furry gentleman by name of Smokey Bear.

Smokey is the symbol of forest fire prevention. Officials who spend full time keeping track of his affairs said today that his current incoming correspondence runs to about 1,000 cards and letters a day. "And of course," they added, "it will pick up again after Christmas."

Incidentally, the Agriculture Department, which is the final authority on such matters, spells the name "Smokey."

Junior forest rangers are helping to make their parents Smokey conscious, as witness this postscript on a letter from Scotty Mason of Modesto, Calif.:

"It is amazing how much more alert children are than grownups. There never is a cigarette thrown from our car any more. We really get told."

Smokey, what with the mountain of mail he receives, can't send personal replies in the ordinary course of things. But he made an exception by sending birthday greetings on Nov. 24 to seven-year-old Ronald Johnson of Long Beach, Calif.

Ronald was born with only one leg. But, fitted with an artificial limb, he has learned to climb trees and fences and even to swim. Said Smokey to young Ronald: "I am delighted to have you on my team."

The real-life Smokey, now a four-year-old giant of a bear, is quartered for life in comfortable surroundings at the National Zoological Park in Washington.

Smokey got into the forest fire prevention fight when, as a scrawny cub, he barely escaped with his life from a roaring woodland inferno in New Mexico.

Today his familiar face shows up in thousands of streetcar and bus cards, in television films and in newspaper and magazine stories and advertisements.

Even the blind have come to know the genial bear.

Joseph's school for the blind at Jersey City, N. J., recently wrote (both in long hand and braille) asking for a visit because "we would like to feel a bear like Smokey."

His wish was satisfied through a delightful toy animal about three feet tall which is manufactured on a commercial basis under special arrangement with the government.

Package Designer Has Women All Figured Out

NEW YORK (NEA) — Walter P. Margulies straightened his blue serge jacket, sighted along his polished fingernails and fired the salvo.

"That little woman—the American shopper—is a statistic," he said. "A number. A fact. We know exactly what she's like."

Walter P. Margulies should know. He employs a staff of 100 who are actively engaged in making "that little statistic" buy one brand—whether a car, tobacco, cereal, bus ticket or soup—instead of another.

They're successful, too. Last year industrial designers Lippincott and Margulies made well over a million dollars. They'll do even better this year, even if the American shopper doesn't like to consider herself a calculated statistic.

Margulies is not an advertising man. He does not write commercials or knock on doors. He does not give away free-mountains-peaks-or-your-money-back.

He simply designs the containers and shells by which shoppers select the items they are going to buy. He does it all very scientifically. He uses all the colors in the rainbow. He uses the planes of perspective. He uses psychology. He also uses statistics.

He has discovered about the American shopper that:

1. If she wears eyeglasses at home it's an even chance that she doesn't have them on when she goes to the store.
2. She doesn't really like supermarkets. She wants to get in and out as quickly as possible.
3. She has an active vocabulary of about 9000 words. And she likes to read the funny paper.

Without too much trouble, these facts are translatable into profit in a king sledge-hammers which Lippincott and Margulies hang on the heads of manufacturers and their vice presidents in charge of advertising.

1. If the housewife isn't wearing eyeglasses when she shops, she can't buy what she can't see. The package, therefore, has to dominate the shelf.

"Take a look at the sales figures for breakfast foods. Then look at the boxes they come in. You might figure a leading brand's box is ugly. But you buy it. It stands out," he said.

2. If America is going to have mass stores (supermarkets) and mass communication (advertising) then America is going to have to sell to mass consumers.

"The words on the box," he said, "don't mean much. The container itself has to be a signal."

3. This country has 150,000 actively advertised brands. But the shopper has an all-around vocabulary of 9000 words. She doesn't know all the brands. Probably never will. But she likes the package, so she is accustomed to color and form signals.

"It's the signal that we have to create," Margulies said. "She's

Champion Retriever Once Haunted Bar

WELDON SPRING, Mo. (AP) — Major VI, black Labrador that spent much of its puppyhood in a Long Island bar and sometimes retrieved empty beer cans, now reigns as the national retriever champion.

The six-year-old male dog, owned by Mrs. Fraser M. Born of Southampton, L. I., N. Y., turned in a flawless performance to out-class five other finalists in land and water tests.

The trial was held at the nearby Busch Memorial Wildlife Area.

Mrs. Born said Major VI was bought by her husband as a Christmas present but first had been purchased by a garage man for $25 after a breeder selected another puppy from the litter.

She said before she owned the dog it spent much of its time in a bar and occasionally retrieved empty beer cans.

Ray Staudinger of Sag Harbor, N. Y., handled the new champion during the three-day trial. Thirty-three dogs were entered.

Driver Charging Battery Arrested at 85 M. P. H.

APEX, N. C. (AP) — Arrested for speeding 85 miles an hour, John L. Pennington, 62, of Pittsboro, R. I., explained that he was charging his automobile battery.

In Recorder's court, Pennington's pocketbook got a charge—$50 fine and costs. He appealed the conviction.

College Doubles Number of Women on Its Faculty

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — California State Polytechnic College, largest agricultural and third largest engineering school in the western states, is doubling its women faculty members.

For several years, Miss Ena Marston, an English instructor, has been the only woman teacher on the 3,000-acre all-male campus.

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — The only home ever owned by Gen. T. J. "Stonewall" Jackson, famous Confederate commander, has been purchased by the Stonewall Jackson Memorial, Inc., and will be opened to the public as a shrine. Jackson was a professor at Virginia Military Institute before the start of the Civil War.

North Carolinian Says Extradition Too Costly

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP) — Solicitor (State's attorney) James M. Mann complained about the high cost of extradition.

He got a bill from Florida in the case of a prisoner returned here from that state. The cost: $5 for the state of Florida and about $19 for the sheriff who handled the case.

When this state does the same for another state, there's no charge.

Even Steal Food From Squirrels to Make a Buck

BREMERTON, Wash. (UP) — There's money in evergreen cones if you know how to steal them from squirrels.

Approximately 100 persons in Kitsap County made fair profits this fall out of the work of squirrels who gathered the cones from fertile fir, hemlock, red cedar and lodge pole pines.

The cones were sold to a seed company that pays $4 to $12 for a 2½-inch bag. The seeds are planted to reforest burned areas.

One cone-picker, R. C. Porsch of Bremerton, said he gathered 10 bags in one day and sold them for $40.

The squirrels do most of the work and stockpile the cones in the ground or a fallen tree. The only problem is to find the squirrels' hideouts.

Some cone-pickers said they "paid" the squirrels for their labor by leaving corn, nuts, or wheat in place of the cones.

Just a Bit Hackneyed

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's police department's methods may be up to date but at least one division name is certainly outdated. The bureau that keeps tabs on Boston's taxi drivers and cabs is known as The Hackney Carriage Bureau and the commander of the bureau has the horse-drawn title of "Inspector of Carriages."

Nurses Get Nursery

HUDSON, N. Y. (AP)—The Columbia Memorial Hospital, faced with a shortage of trained personnel, has provided a nursery for the children of married nurses.

Gridiron Club Razzes Men Who Make News

By EARL WILSON

WASHINGTON — In my rented white tie-and-tails, I went to the famous Gridiron Club dinner the other night. One good gag told by the Washington correspondents at their big roast session involved dress suits.

Labor Leaders John L. Lewis and Dave Beck were asked to stand.

"Notice their white-tie-and-tails," remarked the narrator. "It's nice to see how the other half lives."

Army Secretary Stevens sat next to E. H. Dixon—who sat across from E. A. Yates.

"Sec. Stevens doesn't care whether the next war is fought on land or sea or in the air," commented the narrator, "just as long as it isn't fought on television."

President Eisenhower made a remarkably good speech. Of a certain other speaker, there was this gag going around:

"He laid eggs so fast he had the secretary of agriculture worried."

Naturally Defense Sec'y Charles E. Wilson was satirized, carrying a small toy gun and proclaiming:

"I'm hunting for the guy that said, 'Dog is man's best friend!'"

When Auto Tycoons L. L. Colbert of Chrysler and Harlow H. Curtice of GM took a bow, the narrator said:

"They've not got the chassis as long as the payments."

John L. Lewis sat behind us. His eyebrows haven't started to get bald yet. Fact is, Fort Worth Editor Walter R. Humphrey said Lewis had more hair on his brows than some men have on their heads.

Oysters Waging War on Prying Scientists

GLOUCESTER, Va. (U)—Officials of the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory, probing the private life of the oyster to find ways to enhance its growth and control its enemies are having trouble.

As if they resented this invasion of their privacy oysters are gumming up the research program.

Oil Drilling Tender Offers Home Comforts for Crew

HOUSTON, Tex. (INS)—Drilling for oil in the Gulf of Mexico, off the shores of Texas and Louisiana might be likened in the oil industry to the old gray mare which "ain't what she used to be." The veteran of oil field heyday of yesteryear will agree as he looks at the J. C. Craig, an ultra-modern new drilling tender recently put into use in off-shore petroleum operations.

The craft, the only one of its kind yet completed, has facilities to provide the utmost comfort for all workmen, and is a far step from the rough and tumble conditions of oil prospecting of a generation ago.

The J. C. Craig is the first of television, writing and card tables, a game room and the latest appliances, including an electric washer, dryer, cooking units and a walk-in food freezer.

Safety features include two 25-man lifeboats and a carbon dioxide firefighting system throughout the ship.

The vessel will be used first in an exploratory test in the West Delta area of Louisiana.

Crews will have 12-hour shifts with 12 hours off, and will work two-week tours with one week off.

A sharp weather eye will be maintained all the time. If there are indications of hurricanes sweeping the waters near the location of the tender it will be towed hurriedly to the safest spot available.

EMPTY BOARDS—Members of the Parks and Recreation Dept.'s Chess and Checkers Club contemplate moves as they participate in regular Wednesday night play at the Hotel Waldron. Although as many as 25 players were active on a single night last year, the number has dwindled to an average of 10, club officials say. Membership is open to any Pontiac-area resident, according to R. E.

Dunham, club publicity chairman. There is no charge and all the supplies are furnished by the recreation department. Sessions are held at 7 p. m. each Wednesday at the hotel. Pictured above at the chess board (foreground) are (l) Mrs. Iver Sundheim, of 34 Longfellow, and Ed Garrahan, of 206½ Chandler. Expect 8,000 Children at Event in High School Gymnasium

The largest number of children ever to participate in an Oakland County CIO Council Christmas party is expected at this year's event, set for Saturday in the Pontiac High School gymnasium.

"If the weather is favorable we expect to have 8,000 children," Robert E. Boyer, chairman of the council's entertainment committee, said today.

The Christmas program is for CIO members' children and their families, and is available only through Pontiac-area union locals.

Two amateur acts will be presented in three shows to accommodate the expected turnout. Shows will be presented at 9:30 and 11:30 a. m. and 2 p. m.

Formerly held in the school auditorium, the party will be held in the gym to relieve crowded conditions we had in the past," Boyer said.

Each youngster attending will be presented with a Christmas stocking filled with candy and games.

"The acts are primarily for children, but we would like to have parents accompany the children, if possible," Boyer said. Parents do not need tickets.

Uranium Boom Hits Trapping of Martens

LANSING (UP)—Michigan is going ahead with efforts to introduce the pine marten—a frisky relative of the Russian sable—into the state despite hardships brought on by the atomic age.

State gamekeepers said they had planned to get the small predatory animals from Indian trappers in Canada. But the Indians traded in their traps for Geiger counters when uranium was discovered in the rugged timber country north of Lake Superior.

"Canadian officials have hopes that we can get someone else to trap the animals for us but the Indians who live in that country will be hard to replace," a spokesman said.

The slender-bodied pine marten is a shy but vicious weasel-like deep forest creature who is a close cousin to the glossy sable of Russian timber lands. It has a valuable pelt.

Negro Athlete, Swedish Girl Deny Betrothal

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mal Whitfield and Miss Birgit Johansson are in agreement today—they are not engaged to be married.

The report that they were engaged appeared in a Stockholm newspaper last Sunday. Whitfield, 29, the Negro two-time Olympic games 800-meter champion, was not then available, being in Pakistan on a good will world tour.

But Miss Johansson, 26, a Swedish girl who came here last year and works in a Los Angeles bank, told reporters here Sunday night that "we intended to keep it a secret until he returns, but Mal must have told someone in Europe. We have not set a date but will do so when he gets home."

Whitfield was reached yesterday in Lahore, Pakistan, and he asserted: "I have no commitments to marry Birgit Johansson or anyone else. If that has been reported you can say it is a false report."

Whereupon Miss Johansson, queried again by reporters, said: "I am not engaged to Mal. I have nothing more to say. There must have been a misunderstanding."

Iranian Loses Fight Against Deportation

DETROIT (UP)—U. S. immigration authorities yesterday turned down a petition for political asylum by a former Iranian army officer who has claimed deportation to Iran would mean "certain death."

However, Buick Navidzadeh, 34, the former officer who now is studying law at the University of Michigan, was granted 10 days in which to appeal the decision.

Navidzadeh entered this country last January on a student visa to do post-graduate work at Michigan. The Iranian government cancelled his passport and ordered him back to Iran last October charging he was a Communist sympathizer.

Judo Lesson Costly

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Herbert Miller, 33, reserve policeman, is in Mt. Sinai Hospital with his left leg broken in three places after almost—but not quite—completing his judo lessons at the Florida Police Academy. While practicing strangleholds and counterthrows, his heel caught between two mats, pitching him to one side and snapping his leg in three places.

Bushnell Retirement Ruled Effective Jan. 1

LANSING (UP)—The Republican-controlled Judges' Retirement Board refused yesterday to allow Michigan Supreme Court Justice George E. Bushnell to retire next Jan. 10 instead of Jan. 1 as he originally requested.

Three board members charged "political manipulation" in attempts to have the effective date of Bushnell's retirement set back 10 days.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who already has named Talbot Smith, Ann Arbor attorney, to succeed Bushnell on Jan. 10, countered with a charge that the board's action was "obviously political."

The dispute stems from the fact that if Bushnell retires Jan. 1, his appointed successor must stand election next April 4. If he retires Jan. 10, the appointee would not have to seek election until November of 1956.

Concealed Weapons Board Holds Meeting

The Oakland County Concealed Weapons Board met yesterday to discuss the setup under which gun permits will be issued in 1955, according to Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

"We'll meet again early in January to finish the job and make our report public," he explained. Attending besides Ziem, were Capt. Raymond Moore and Detective Charles Leaf of the State Police. Sheriff-Elect Frank Irons, County Clerk Lynn D. Allen and Robert C. Miller, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Shin and Pride Hurt

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Motorcycle Patrolman Lionel Soriano received a bruised shin when his motorcycle clipped an automobile at a street intersection. Soriano said the fact that it broke his 15-year accident-free record didn't hurt his feelings as much as that it had to happen on Safe Driving Day.

House May Pass New 21-Day Rule

Democrats Plan Curb on Committee Holdups of Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evidently concerned by a threat of a coalition roadblock in the Rules Committee, House Democratic leaders are considering a plan to curb that committee's power in the new Congress.

When Democrats organize the House Jan. 5 they may propose restoration of the 21-day rule which was in effect in 1949-50. This rule, in practice, limited to 21 calendar days the time the Rules Committee could hold up bills approved by regular legislative committees.

At the expiration of the 21-day period, the chairman of the committee that originally approved the bill could call it up for a House vote.

The 21-day rule was repealed in 1951. The Rules Committee now can block legislation almost indefinitely — a power it has exercised freely in past years.

In the new Congress the Rules Committee will be composed of eight Democrats and four Republicans. The Republicans will be Representatives Allen of Illinois, Clarence Brown of Ohio, Ellsworth of Oregon and Latham of New York, the top Republicans on the committee in the present Congress. Only three of the four Democrats now on the committee will be in the new Congress. They are two Southerners — Representatives Howard Smith of Virginia and Colmer of Mississippi — and Rep. Madden of Indiana.

Dirty Maroon Cars Plentiful These Days

CINCINNATI (AP) — After a $2,000 bank robbery in Elmwood Place, police broadcast a description of the getaway car as "a dirty maroon car with green license plates."

A few minutes later Bud Craven, a Golf Manor patrolman, saw a dirty maroon car with green license plates cross an intersection. He pursued and forced it to stop. But the driver was released quickly; he was the chief of police at Lincoln, N.H.

Later, Bernard Farmer, 33, was arrested in Cincinnati and charged with the robbery.

Nehru Has No Reply Yet From Red China

NEW DELHI (AP) — An Indian government spokesman said today Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai has not yet replied to Prime Minister Nehru's communication on the American airmen imprisoned in Red China.

Nehru messaged Chou early this week. Reportedly he suggested the Chinese might find it useful to agree to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's request for a meeting with Chou on the case.

Hope Is Abandoned for 3 Lost in Flood

CHATHAM, England (AP) — Hope was abandoned today for three civilian dockyard workers missing since a roaring wall of water hit the submarine Talent from the Royal Navy drydock here and left her wallowing on a mudbank in the Medway River.

Navy divers search throughout the waterlogged wreck early this morning but found no trace of the missing men.

A naval spokesman said it was believed they were swept away when the drydock's floodgate burst yesterday afternoon, letting in an angry Niagara of water that wrenched the sub from her moorings and backwashed the undersea craft into the river.

Thirty-one workmen were later rescued from atop the hulk. Three were seriously hurt. Fifty had scrambled up the drydock steps to safety as the water roared in.

Veal on Bargain Counter in Nation's Food Markets

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Veal will be on the bargain counter in many of the nation's food stores this weekend. Meat specialists say it's one of the most reasonable meats, whether you buy chops or a roast. Pork loins also will be a popular feature, down several cents, a pound from a week ago in a good number of markets. Some stores will drop pork chop prices moderately. Large numbers of hogs have gone to market in Chicago in recent weeks and the consumer is benefitting.

In many areas, stores will be beating the gun on Christmas by featuring smoked hams and turkeys. One meat expert commented that larger smoked hams—12 pounds and over—are quite reasonable while the smaller 8 to 12 pound sizes are rather high.

Turkeys may cost you more than at Thanksgiving, primarily because you ate so many of the birds then that supplies are smaller. There still will be plenty for everyone, however.

Lamb is considered reasonable by meat men and some stores will offer attractive prices on legs of lamb and chops. Beef prices continue firm, but one large chain plans to feature steaks, prime ribs and chuck roast in a number of its outlets.

Frying chickens, long among the best buys, show signs this week of edging up in price. Poultry raisers have started cutting back on production because prices are so low. The results of this cut back won't show up in higher prices until January, however.

Eggs will be down 2 to 4 cents a dozen in scattered markets this weekend. Butter prices will be much the same as a week ago.

Produce men think you'd be wise to buy any of these items this week: Potatoes, old crop cabbage, western lettuce, Romaine lettuce, winter squash, turnips, beets, carrots, parsnips, escarole and endive.

Good value also is available in peppers, big Boston lettuce, green and yellow squash, eggplant, spinach, sweet potatoes, eastern onions and greens.

Among vegetables described as moderately priced are cauliflower, cucumbers, good quality beans, new crop cabbage and western celery.

Limes and avocados head the list of good buys in fruits. Others are nearby apples, grapefruits and oranges and Emperor grapes.

Tangerines, a popular Christmas item, came down in price at wholesale this week and heavier shipments are expected next week.

Mobility May Help Church, Group Told

DETROIT (AP) — Lutheran leaders say the American habit of moving around could be to the church's advantage.

This is what 100 delegates to the Lutheran Mobility Conference heard here yesterday. They represent eight co-operating church groups of the National Lutheran Council.

The Rev. Dr. E. Epling Reitz, secretary of the United Lutheran Church in America, said pastors should train lay helpers to see to it that newcomers in a community are accepted more readily.

"The negative influences of population mobility may become positive if the churches adjust their ministry to help each Christian disciple to become a Christoper—a Christ bearer," he said.

Mayor Relates Experiences on Puerto Rican Jaunt

Back in town after a two-week swing through Philadelphia, Washington and San Juan, Puerto Rico, Mayor William W. Donaldson has some memorable experiences to recall from his trip.

On his person he has reminders of two of them. One is carried carefully among his most important papers, the other is worn on the lapel of his suitcoat.

The first is a note from Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower thanking him for several miniature Pontiac automobiles he presented to her for the President's grandchildren.

"I know that Susan, Anne and David will be thrilled with these wonderful little cars and they will have great fun playing with them," the First Lady wrote.

He made the presentation during the conference of mayors called by the President.

Even before going to Washington — while attending the American Municipal Assn. convention in Philadelphia with other City Commission members — he was invited to attend the Inter-American Congress of Municipalities in Puerto Rico.

The commissioners gave him the go-ahead and after the Washington conference he flew to San Juan as guest of the Puerto Rican government.

On his lapel he wears the blue-and-gold emblem given the 400 congress participants.

While there, he gave other miniature Pontiacs (furnished him by Pontiac Motor Division) to the hostess of the congress, the Hon. Felisa R. de Gautier, San Juan's woman mayor.

Other autos were given American mayors in Washington and South American mayors and dignitaries in San Juan.

While in Puerto Rico, he looked up Col. Salvador T. Rig, who headed the national championship skeet shooting team, which won its title in Waterford Township last summer.

The colonel took him martin fishing in the blue waters of the Atlantic—and the mayor had one hooked.

"The others saw it and said it was about 12-feet long and weighed about 350 pounds," Donaldson says.

"I got it within 200 yards of the boat after giving it 600 yards of line when it got away."

Donaldson was nearly responsible for blowing up the million-dollar air liner on which he was returning to the United States.

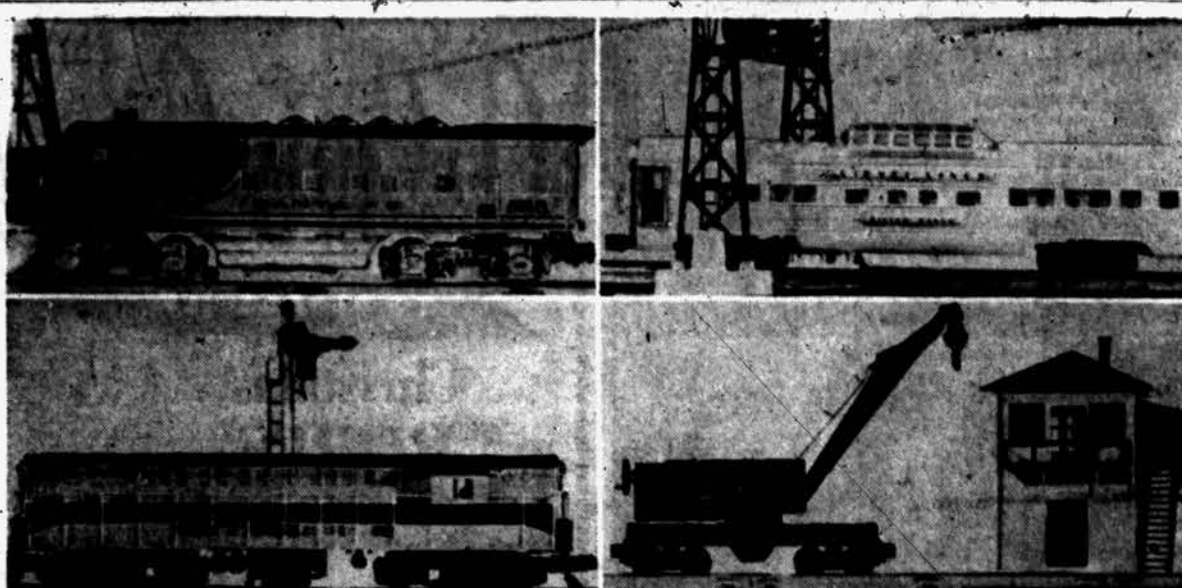

"At about 18,000 feet, about a half-hour out of San Juan, I started smelling lighter fluid fumes," he recalls. "The stewardess came through the plane sniffing. She smelled them too."

"She went up and told the pilot who ordered everyone to extinguish all cigarettes and not to light any matches."

"Then I noticed the odor seemed to be coming from my topcoat and remembered I had shoved a can of fluid in my pocket after forgetting to pack it in my bag."

He hung up the fluid-drenched coat and put the top tightly on the fluid can, wondering how close he had come to causing another "mysterious" airplane explosion.

By the time the Roman Empire reached its zenith, battering rams were enormous weapons. One of the largest of these required 300 oxen to transport and 1500 men to swing it against assaulted walls.

JUST LIKE THE REAL EQUIPMENT—Twin diesels have two motors, built-in horn. They come in choice of Santa Fe, New York Central or Southern Railroad colors. "Silver Range" Vista Dome pullman is just like crack new cross-country trains. Traffic lights on bridge change from red to green automatically. Twin-motor diesel at bottom has headlights at both ends; is blueprint replica of newest model. Heavy duty crane car loads heavy cargo. Watchman in switch tower runs downstairs with lantern.

Junior Trainmen Can Assemble Complete Rail Line

Come Christmas morning, more model electric trains will be high-balling through American living rooms than real trains on actual railroads.

Junior will be the engineer. Pop the conductor, and Mom — well, Mom will be the maintenance crew in charge of worry and cleanup.

The tiny roads will be more realistic than ever before in model world history. You probably heard that last year, too, and maybe the year before. For the trend to miniature realism has been going on since 1900, when Joshua Lionel

Cowan came up with his first top passenger depot, and one new model with automatic talking devices is a triumph of imitation. If you want the train to stop at the station, you press a remote control. When the train arrives, the conductor's train calls, the whistles, hisses, chugs and other sounds of arrival and departure are heard from within the station. When sounds cease, the train resumes its trip automatically.

There also are stations for redcaps who run in and out of a lighted station on tiny baggage cars. Another has two miniature workmen who feed small crates into a boxcar.

The trainman lowers a chute into the boxcar's door, and the crates move one at a time, as fast as you press the button.

Realistic, too, are the water towers. Some have movable spouts which lower over the engine tender. Others have rising bubbles to simulate flowing water, and are painted in green-and-white check-board patterns.

One new operating barrel car has barrels which move up the car to the feet of a tiny trainman, then roll out to a roadside bin—all by remote control.

Hal Boyle Says:

Underestimating Enemy Can Lead Only to Disaster

NEW YORK (AP) — A nation that fails to remember its peace lessons it learns in war runs the risk of sudden oblivion.

This would be a good time for every American soldier and civilian—and every schoolchild, too—to get a tablet and write in it 100 times the following sentence:

"I won't be afraid of the other guy, but I'll never underestimate him either."

A decade ago today the entire free world awoke to the value of this lesson with a shocked dismay. This is the tenth anniversary of the foggy morning when Adolf Hitler sprang a German surprise attack on the Allies by suddenly smashing through their lines in the Ardennes.

Looking back now, the frightening thing about the Battle of the Bulge is that the Germans achieved almost as complete a tactical surprise as the Japanese had three years before in their war-opening bombing of our bases in Hawaii. The bitter lesson of Pearl Harbor — "Never low-rate your enemy" — had been almost forgotten, certainly by the people at home and probably even by some of the top brass.

Final victory seemed so near in Europe. The Nazis, suffering terrible attrition on every battlefield, appeared close to the crumbling point.

Then Hitler's legions struck, and his waves of Panzers crashed through the thin, stretched-out U. S. line as if were an eggshell.

Even our most veteran battlefield troops were dazed by the might of the Nazi attack. And the Belgian people, who have the least reason to underestimate the strength of Germany, were numbed.

A nightmare quality of unreality hung over the entire situation.

"Where did the Germans manage to get all those troops and all those tanks?"

No one knew. After the war it was learned Hitler had secretly been planning the counteroffensive

for months, had drained other battlefronts to flesh it with muscle and steel and cover it with the Luftwaffe's wings.

The thing is, He had been able to do the unexpected. He didn't win the Battle of the Bulge, but he threw a mighty scare into the Allies. He left sad memories in many American homes, and would have left a lot more if the luck of the battlefield had gone more in his favor.

Remember how many people

jerked at Hitler's bombastic promises he would unleash secret new weapons? He did come up with a few—the buzz bomb, the V-2 rocket, the jet plane. And he had more planned.

Remember after the war the jokes about the supposedly mechanically ignorant Russians?

How they could build great planes—except they forgot to build the engines?

But they produced a fine fighter plane in Korea, and came up fast with the atom and hydrogen bomb.

It is never a mark of intelligence to laugh at other fellow's ignorance. He may just be playing possum. Every pound of real common sense is leavened by an ounce of caution.

It's something worth remembering—this lesson that as a people

Hooper Killed in Boat Mishap

Head of Radio Audience Rating Firm Chopped by Propeller

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — C. E. Hooper, nationally known radio executive who founded the Hooper system of rating radio and television programs, was killed yesterday when he fell into the whirling blades of an airplane propeller while duck hunting on Great Salt Lake. He was 56.

He died a few minutes after he was brought to a Salt Lake City hospital, his body almost cut in two by the propeller.

Frank McClatchy, of Salt Lake City, one of two men with Hooper in the boat, said the radio executive jumped out of the craft when it lodged on a sand bar. He attempted to push it loose, slipped and fell into the spinning blades. An air boat has an airplane-like propeller mounted on the rear for use in shallow water.

Hooper was president of C. E. Hooper, Inc., New York City, which specializes in studies of radio audience measurement.

His home was in South Norwalk, Conn. He is survived by his widow and a daughter.

Malayans Go All Out to Advertise Election

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP) — The Federation of Malaya will hold its first elections for the Federal Legislative Council next June and is using everything from armoured cars to airplanes to make sure that everyone eligible is registered.

In far flung sectors where there are no roads, election information officers are walking from village to village. They carry leaflets, posters and pamphlets and whenever they run out, parcels of supplies are dropped by parachute on prearranged targets.

Airplanes also scatter tens of thousands of leaflets in the more densely populated areas.

Armored vans, automobiles and motorcycles visit villages and settlements.

No Buyers for 'Life' but Gets Job Offer

TOKYO (AP) — Sad-faced Satoshi Horita, who good for nearly three days on a downtown Tokyo bridge offering his "life for sale" for about $150, had a prospect today.

He quit his window post after a rubber company executive told him to report for an interview tomorrow about getting a job and an advance to pay his debts.

No Crash Expected This Time

Greater Miami Enjoying New Boom, Without Frenzied Speculation of '20s

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Greater Miami, scene of boom and bust nearly 30 years ago, is booming again at the rate of about a thousand new residents every week—and this time, the experts say, there won't be another debacle.

Unlike the frenzied land speculation of the '20s, this is a builders' boom. They are building and selling new houses by the thousands.

It wasn't like that in the great Florida land rush which ended with a crash in 1926. Then Miami was overrun by get-rich-quick traders. A single piece of real estate might change hands several times in a day, each time at a skyrocketing price. Speculating investments pyramided into paper fortunes in a few weeks, only to vanish when the crash came.

"Miami boom" is something of a misnomer for the prodigious present-day growth. Expansion of the city itself was throttled years ago when satellite suburbs formed their own municipalities. Today there are 22 of them forming a "Greater Miami." The growth is spreading even beyond Dade County into neighboring Broward County, where Fort Lauderdale and other communities are growing just as fast.

Greater Miami's population passed the 700,000 mark this fall and kept on rising. That figure was the estimate of the Florida Power and Light Co., based on careful surveys aimed at insuring adequate electricity for the area. The company's statisticians have advised the firm to plan for one million in 1940.

That's a big jump from the 1,681 inhabitants of Miami in 1900. In neighboring Broward County, Fort Lauderdale has jumped from 2,065 in 1920 to an estimated 57,000 in 1934. Nearby towns have had similarly spectacular gains.

Here is what those increases mean to builders: From 1946 until June 1934, 94,871 one and two-family dwelling units were built in Dade County, along with 34,715 apartment units and 13,095 hotel and motel rooms. Housing for vacationists has kept pace on famed Miami Beach. Since World War II, 59 new hotels have opened. That is more, the beach folk say, than were built in all the rest of the country. Today Miami Beach has 375 hotels with over 28,000 rooms, and more than 20,000 apartment units.

Where are all these people coming from? Roughly, they're coming from the entire eastern half of the United States. New York, Ohio, New Jersey, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Georgia are among the big contributors.

And why are they coming? Dr. Reinhold P. Wolff, director of economic research at the University of Miami, says:

"This great migration to Miami is part of a worldwide movement to take advantage of what we might call 'amenity of climate.' Translated into everyday language, that means a lot of people are seeking warm winters and sunshine."

Yule Cards Continue as Girl, 4, Succumbs

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP) — Christmas cards kept arriving today for a 4½-year-old girl who never will see them.

Susan Hauffer died last night of cancer. Death came little more than 24 hours after Susan was to have been a guest at a Christmas party arranged by her family and friends, who knew she might not live until Christmas. But she was too ill to attend.

Since Susan's plight became generally known less than two weeks ago 6,200 cards have been received from all over America.

HAPPY DAYS AHEAD—Bicycle is long-wished-for gift that often comes at Christmas. Careful selection of suitable size and weight is important. So long as child can manage bike, it is all right to get a large wheel size and put blocks on pedals.

Check on Child's Needs Before Buying a Bicycle

You would not want to ask a child on your gift list what he wanted for Christmas — at least not more than once — for that might spoil the surprise. But chances are good, if you did, that the answer would be "a bike." For the past 40 years, according to surveys, a shiny American bike has ranked at the top of the heap as the Christmas gift preference of children themselves — which should give you a sure-fire hint if you're still not sure what to buy.

For experienced riders over 12, with a thorough knowledge of safety precautions, you might try a snappy new lightweight model equipped with hand brakes and gearshift. These are especially good for youngsters who live in hilly country, where the three-gear shift can be used.

But before you go wheeling it homeward, the Bicycle Information Bureau suggests you remember these points for making your gift bike the right one.

1. Make sure that you have the right size. There are different-sized bikes for different-sized children, and buying a bike too large can lead to a later accident. Tell your dealer the age of the child and he will prescribe the wheel diameter.

2. Make sure that you have the right style. If Junior or Sis is under 12, the ideal bike is a standard balloon-tired model, with coaster brake, rugged frame and built-in lights and horn. This is the safest to ride and most economical to buy.

3. Make sure that you have the right size. There are different-sized bikes for different-sized children, and buying a bike too large can lead to a later accident. Tell your dealer the age of the child and he will prescribe the wheel diameter.

SANTA AND THE MARS KING

By Lucrece Hudgins Beale

Chapter 12

PACKING UP FOR MARS

The Mars King peered at Santa through his glasses.

"Do you mean we really could take spectacles and space suits and toys to Mars?"

"Why not?" smiled Santa. "My reindeer can cover the whole Earth in one night. It should not take them much longer than that to fly to Mars."

"Think of it!" cried the King. "Oh, what a difference these wonderful things will make to the kings and the children of Mars. When will we start?"

"Right now!"

Santa ordered the elves to fill a bag with special spectacles, the kind of spectacles that keep people from straining their eyes in poor light.

He ordered the Brownies to fill a bag with space suits—big ones and small ones to fit both big and little kings.

Finally he ordered the fairies to fill a bag with toys—with books and mouth harps and crayons. With baby dolls and foot balls. Bows and arrows, dump trucks and sand pails and all the other kinds of toys that children all over the world play with.

These bags were very heavy and very big as you can imagine. But Santa's sleigh is a very special sleigh and can hold any number of big bags. And his reindeer are special too and can pull any load—no matter how heavy it may be.

But now Tom had a sudden thought.

"What about the reindeer? Will they fly now?"

"I think so," said Santa. "I will explain to them about the lights and they will understand."

He took the King to the stables where the reindeer stood with drooping heads. Santa told the deer that the whirling lights which had so frightened them were really just kings from Mars like the fat little man beside him.

"We call this king 'Majesty,'" said Santa. "He is our friend and doesn't mean to any harm."

The deer listened. They seemed to understand, but they did not seem very happy. Santa led them out of the stable. He hitched them to the sleigh. Then the workers loaded in the great bags. Tom and Majesty climbed in behind.

Finally Santa climbed in. Over his shoulder he carried still a fourth bag. It was enormous and of the strangest shape!

"What is that?" asked Tom.

"Secret," replied Santa. He winked.

Santa cracked his whip in the air and cried, "Away! Away for Mars!"

A long moment passed. Nothing happened at all. Then, while everyone held his breath and hoped, the reindeer slowly rose into the air. For another long moment they paused above the snow covered Santa Land and then they began to circle into the sky.

But just as Santa was sure everything was going to be all right he spied a light from the East.

"A flying saucer!" cried Tom. Majesty leaned far out of the sleigh.

"Oh, poor king, poor king," he moaned. "If only we could get him down!" he began to call out in his own Mars language. "Have courage, King of Mars! We will find a way to rescue you!"

The light zoomed past humming and twirling and casting off sparks. "Dear me," signed Majesty. "I am sure that was a cousin of mine. I could tell by the way he zig-zagged. He never could walk a straight line. Poor cousin!"

Cousin or not, the flying saucer was coming back and now an awful thing happened. The reindeer were frightened again, turned around and headed straight for home.

Santa cracked his whip. He begged and ordered. It did no good. The reindeer were through. As long as a flying saucer remained in the sky they could never fly again.

Back to the stable they went to hang their heads in their stalls. The King and Tom and Santa sat in the sleigh and stared at Santa's bulging bags and wondered what on earth to do next.

Fight Fire With Fire

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (U. S. — The Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station cheerfully agrees with complaining housewives that the fly population is bigger. It explains that two special varieties, both somewhat larger than the common housefly, have been imported to control the gypsy moth, an insect that defoliates trees.

Australia Capital Needs Revising

Long-View Griffin Plan Criticized for Narrow, Circular Streets

CANBERRA (UP) — Criticism of the geographical layout of Australia's capital city was voiced in the House of Parliament during a debate on Capital Territory budget requirements.

World-famous for its long-range outlook, the master plan for Canberra was designed by the late Burley Griffin, Chicago architect, who won an international competition sponsored by the Australian government.

Featuring adjoining circles within circles, Canberra has a grown up, according to the plan, in three major housing and business areas, with the federal government buildings grouped between them.

Until now the Griffin plan has been treated as "holy writ" and no one has been game to interfere with it. H. B. S. Gullett, member from Melbourne, said, but it was quite incapable of coping with the requirements of a modern city.

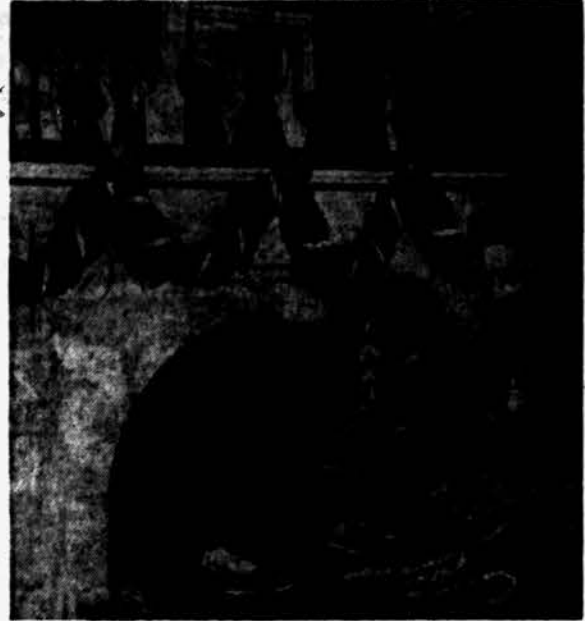

"There should be a few main roads instead of all this running around in circles," Gullett said.

He pointed out that with the population of 40,000 or 50,000 envisaged for Canberra in a few years, it would be impossible to keep traffic flowing through the narrow winding streets. Gullett also attacked the regulations limiting building heights.

"I'd like to see a few tall buildings also," he said. "There is a sad lack of buildings of character and style."

H. A. Leslie, member of Western Australia, criticized Canberra as breeding a race of people "aloof and exclusive from the turmoil outside."

No industries or factories are allowed in Canberra at present, and Leslie maintained that a class of government servants was being built up which was unaware of life outside the national capital.

Canberra, like Washington, D. C. is administered by the nation's federal government. Like the American capital, it was established in a special territory exclusively for the purpose of housing the government. It, too, is growing by leaps and bounds as government services increase, and the Griffin plan is straining at the seams.

Why Does a Gift from Myer's Mean More?

Why does a gift from Myer's mean more? We went straight to Santa for the answer. (He should know... does his Christmas shopping at Myer's).

"Oh, that's an easy one," Santa chuckled. "You see, along about Christmas I'm what you might call... rushed. So I have to choose a gift store that I can believe in: One-stop shopping, you know. No time to wander around from store to crowded store."

But why Myer's, we wanted to know.

"Well," Santa continued in his most merry Christmas voice, "at Myer's I know I'll get the very best... and at very reasonable prices. And I can fill my whole pack from their huge selections of wonderful gifts... so many things you can't get at other stores... in jewelry, luggage..."

Santa paused and laughed his jolly laugh. "But you know how much a gift from Myer's means. Why am I telling you?"

Yes, we do know... but do you? If you're not already one of the many wise Myer's buyers, here are some of the items you can choose from for gifts that are sure to please:

Alcatraz Light Has Longer History Than Penitentiary

ALCATRAZ, Calif. (UP)—Often a stranger peering at awesome Alcatraz through the black night thinks he's seeing a rotating searchlight scanning the bay's swirling currents for the convict who might someday escape from "The Rock."

But the powerful light which has mystified San Francisco visitors and greeted its natives nightly for so long is much older than the federal prison that gives the name Alcatraz its familiar ring—five times older in fact.

One hundred years ago this month the 100,000-candlepower light began guiding mariners. Without interruption, Alcatraz Lighthouse has continued its nocturnal mission ever since.

The light flashes briefly once every five seconds from atop a 214-foot tower. This accounts for the illusion that it is a searchlight illuminating the island and its approaches.

Michael Cassin was Alcatraz Light's first keeper back in 1854. He was also one of the earliest inhabitants of the island, which became an Army fort that same year after remaining unmolested three-quarters of a century after its discovery.

The light had been furnishing bearings in the foggy day for nearly 80 years when the fort became a disciplinary barracks around the turn of the century.

The light was 80 years old when the justice department took over from the Army in 1934 and established on the barren rock the only maximum security penitentiary in the federal penal system.

Today's keeper is Edward H. Schneider, 56, of Oakland, Calif., who has had the job since 1931 and wants to stay on until his retirement. A civil service employee, big, jovial Schneider plays Santa Claus each year for the children of the 40 families that live on the island.

His assistants are two coast guardsmen, James N. Dusan, an engineer, and John H. Wiernt, a seaman. They live with their families in Coast Guard quarters on the island.

36 Voters of 695 Elect Mayor and City Officials

MOUNT PLEASANT, S. C. (UP)—Thirty-six voters out of 695 registered went to the polls in a town election here to re-elect unopposed Mayor Francis F. Coleman to his fifth term, along with six councilmen and the waterworks commissioner.

"I don't know whether you would call this a vote of confidence," Coleman commented, "but at least they made it legal."

Carols on Records

Do you like carols? There are lots of good records of them if you're not much on singing. There's even one of music boxes playing the old traditional songs.

Thief Stocks Larder, Leaves Cash Behind

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UP)—Edwin Kenna, 45, was arrested for walking into an unlocked supermarket, helping himself to two frozen chickens, a loaf of bread, a beef meat pie, a carton of cigarettes and a can of frozen strawberries. Store manager Victor Pozzi who reported the theft said the cash in the till was untouched. Kenna told police it was "all like a dream."

Many Filipinos Leaving Hawaii for Homeland

HONOLULU (UP)—Thousands of Filipino nationals are leaving the Hawaiian Islands to return to their homeland, a survey shows. Emilio D. Bejasa, Philippine consul in Honolulu, said it is his belief that for older Filipinos there are more opportunities in the expanding young republic.

Largest gold-producing mine in the United States is the Homestake mine at Lead, S. D.

U.S. May Sell Food to Soviets

Benson Reveals Surplus Being Eyed for Trade With Communists

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson says the administration is considering direct trade in agricultural surpluses with Russia and its satellites.

At a news conference yesterday, Benson said study would be given both to direct sales of such commodities to Iron Curtain countries and to trade with "third party" nations which might sell to the Soviet Union.

"My feeling is that we should be willing to trade with Iron Curtain countries so long as the trade is in our favor, whether it be better or anything else," Benson said, adding:

"We are considering some sales to countries which may in turn sell to Iron Curtain countries."

In any event, the agriculture secretary said, it was difficult to "police" sales of American goods to nations which might resell to Russia.

Benson also said he was giving "serious consideration" to revising the entire farm parity formula.

Under "rigid" support farm income was pegged by the government at 90 per cent of parity. Now some products get less than 90 per cent—depending on current conditions affecting a particular product.

Says Michiganders Ignorant of History

LANSING (AP) — Michigan residents have an "astounding lack of knowledge" about the history and character of their state.

That's the opinion of Merrill Graham of Concord, sales training expert and service club leader who spoke yesterday at the meeting of an organizing committee to form a Michigan Week council of service clubs.

Graham said less than one-third of the state's residents had ever been north of a line between Bay City and Muskegon. He assailed lack of emphasis on Michigan history in the state's schools, and general ignorance of the state's economic importance.

"There certainly is a lack of the booster spirit in Michigan," Graham said. "We've got something to brag about and we ought to get organized to brag about it."

With the holiday season comes an array of gifts for the home that are bound to enhance its cheerfulness and warmth. This sterling silver candelabra (upper left) is an elegant addition to any table. A roaster oven, for all-purpose cooking, is a welcome kitchen aid. This brand-new automatic coffee maker (upper right) is just the gift for the family that likes frequent coffee-times. To dress up the Christmas dinner table, there's this set of gaily colored glasses and dinnerware with a pretty leaf design (lower left). This mobile dishwasher (lower center) is a space-saver. Another practical gift is this pretty ceramic clock patterned by a famous dinnerware designer (lower right).

For Better Living Throughout Year

Entire Family Enjoys Gifts for Home

During the Christmas season, more than any other time, the family derives tremendous pleasure in being together.

With the holiday spirit of good will and cheer, comes the delightful activities the whole family shares — trimming the Christmas tree, hanging holly wreaths, making egg nog and wrapping presents.

The home itself radiates a certain warmth. And it's at this time that you think of buying gifts to enhance it further.

Since coffee-time is a frequent and happy time for your whole family, there's a brand-new automatic coffee maker you will welcome.

This new coffee maker features, among other things, a no-drip spout and an extra-wide opening for easier and thorough cleaning. It will brew percolator coffee of any strength you want, from very mild to strong, and it can make two cups of coffee in less than four minutes, or nine cups of coffee in less than 15 minutes. It also has a reheat setting which will allow you to reheat the coffee without percolating.

If yours is a family that's famous for home entertaining, you can give your tables a brand-new look with the purchase of a budget-priced, handsomely designed 16-piece starter set.

One designer has introduced a new way of decorating dinnerware. He decorates only the plates, saucers and platters of his set.

These pieces are in solid white; the decorations feature pretty colors: coral, cedar green, chartreuse, curry and black chutney. The cups, bowls and serving pieces are in solid colors.

For even lovelier holiday tables (provided, of course, your budget can take it), there's an elegant candelabra set of sterling silver. The design is traditionally simple, but this candelabra set has gone modern in that it can be adjusted seven different ways to meet all types of modern decor and table settings.

For all-purpose cooking, the household would do well with a roaster oven that keeps meats warm without drying them or overcooking. One firm has a new model with a chrome escutcheon plate, a white plastic control knob with a red translucent center which glows when the roaster-oven is in operation.

It can roast a 14-pound turkey, or a one-dish meal of stew or goulash for as many as 50 persons. You can also bake six individual pies or two eight-inch pies at one time. The roaster-oven comes with accessories that include an infrared broiler grid for broiling, grilling and frying.

If you've wanted to present a dishwasher to your wife for a long time, this Christmas brings with it a mobile model. It will save space, as well as time. It can be wheeled right into a small apartment and rolled around the kitchen like a cart to pick up dirty dishes or store your clean ones.

Even though this mobile dishwasher is compact, it's also roomy enough to hold complete table service for eight, including dishes, glasses and silver. Just 34 inches high, the top, when closed, can be used as a work counter.

As a gift for your kitchen, a clock is practical, too. For all the jobs that must be done with clock-watching, any housewife would enjoy a smartly-designed clock.

Paper Is Perfect for Children's Party

Most women derive a wonderful satisfaction from setting a splendid table. For, no matter how inhibited her housekeeping or decoration is, because of children, she can feel real pride in a table set with the best cloth, gleaming glassware and freshly polished silverware. It is the place, most women let their desire for elegance cut loose.

And this is the way the table should look for a family Christmas dinner or for a small dinner party.

But a woman is only being foolish and opening the gates to frustration if she lays everything out just for a children's party, or a New Year's open house or a buffet. Good sense need not wear a dreary Mother Hubbard, however. For the children's party, paper cloth, plates and cups are sound practice — and if they're gaily decorated, kids like them better, anyway. American Cyanamid's Melodstrength tablecloth can be chucked out when the last tot has gone home, but it doesn't reduce itself to a pulp if something is spilled on it.

Lily Tulip Cups, for hot or cold drinks, come in a fine variety of colors and patterns, with plastic-coated plates to match. Be sure to get out more than one paper napkin per child, for they quickly vanish underfoot.

Paper products for adult entertaining are a help, too, but you may want to buy or borrow thick glass or plastic cups for punch, since paper cups are easily kicked or brushed over.

For buffet entertaining, let the arrangement of casseroles, plates and glasses tell your story. A too-fancy centerpiece will suffer on a buffet table or shelf. Candles, a tiny tree with a heavy base, a favorite bowl or vase will do the trick.

EASY CLEAN UP—The kids' party can get to be messy. Paper is the answer: table cover, cups, plates, napkins. One new paper keeps its strength even after spilled soda and mop-up operation. Reserve of table ware, napery is always used.

Keep in mind that every item you can throw out rather than wash will make the party seem much more enjoyable to you.

About 8 per cent of men and 1 per cent of women are color blind.

Admits Dating Wife of Murdered Man

DENVER — Lee Baines, 37-year-old laborer, told police last night he dated the wife of a man whose body was found in the South Platte River but denied any connection with the slaying.

Detective Chief James Childers said Baines was questioned after Mrs. Joe Chavez, 36, widow of the slain flour mill employee, confirmed she had been seeing Baines secretly the past three months. No charges have been filed.

Chavez, 54, disappeared Dec. 4

His body, the feet trussed with wire, was found in the shallow river here Tuesday. An autopsy showed he died of strangulation.

Texas Bunnies Boasting Demand for Opera Hats

DALLAS — When Good Will Industries here advertised a collapsible opera hat for sale, they admitted today they had little hope of selling it.

Magician L. O. Gunn, a former Californian, bought it, however, with the following statement: "In 27 years as a magician, these Texas rabbits are the first to eat linings out of my hats."

Blind Child Can See Yule Lights After Operation

BALTIMORE — Ten-year-old Jane Irving, of Winter Park, Fla., will be able to see the color and lights of Christmas for the first time in seven years.

She began losing her eyesight seven years ago as a result of a serious infection in infancy. She was almost totally blind, could just about tell night from day, her mother, Mrs. Muriel Irving, said, when the Lions Club of Winter Park financed her trip to Johns Hopkins Hospital here.

Doctors in Hopkins' Wilmer Clinic determined she "had no useful vision in either eye" and decided to perform corneal transplants to try to improve her sight.

That was two months ago. The operations have been completed and Jane is seeing better than she has since she was 3.

She can distinguish the colors of passing automobiles, tell the color of her dresses and even make out the reindeer, sled and Santa Claus on her Christmas cards.

Spins Wrong Auto
HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—When her boy friend jokingly said, "take my car for a spin," a 14-year-old girl who hadn't driven before accepted the offer and wound up against a pole. She sufficed only embarrassment but not as much as her boy friend—he had to confess it wasn't his car.

Santa All Ready for Ailing Child

St. Nick Standing By in Case Tot Weakens Before Yule

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (INS) — Santa Claus is standing by in Birmingham today, ready to visit a fatally ill little girl in case her condition becomes worse before Christmas.

The parents of blonde, playful, 3-year-old Marie Loggins haven't given up hope for her recovery, but they aren't taking any chances. So they asked Santa to prepare her Christmas just in case.

Marie is suffering from a brain tumor. Doctors operated on her last June 17, but they discovered the tumor was malignant and told her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Loggins, that she probably wouldn't live a year.

They also said that she would never walk again. Her father refused to believe them and he worked many weeks with Marie until she finally started walking.

Even this, though, didn't encourage the doctors. They said the case was hopeless. It was just a matter of time.

So Santa brought her a wooden hobby horse she wanted then. She named it Silver and rides it a good part of each day.

Her father, a 28-year-old machinist, told Santa to hold off on the other gifts she wants—a doll, a dollhouse and a tea set—because it looked as though Marie would live until Christmas.

But Santa stored the gifts nearby, just to be sure he can deliver them if Marie suddenly becomes ill again, as doctors say she will. Marie, happily unaware of her fate, rides her hobby horse, plays with her 5-year-old sister, Anne, and chatters with joy about the doll she is going to get for Christmas.

Mrs. Loggins says, "As long as there's a God I won't give up."

She adds: "God can do anything."

Missing Man Found After Week in Woods

LUVERNE, Ala. (AP)—An unemployed Montgomery bookkeeper who apparently wandered for a week without food was in critical condition in a hospital today, suffering from pneumonia, shock and malnutrition.

The bookkeeper, Rauden S. Vann, 37, was found lying face down in dense woods yesterday and has been in a coma since. Sheriff Green Horn said he apparently lost his direction Dec. 8 when he walked away from a car in which he and a companion had parked off Highway 331 to "sober up."

FAMILY GIFT—Spices in nice bottles with hand-lettered labels make a charming gift from one family to another. Bottles can be packed in a basket or sent with a home-made shelf.

Bob Considine Says:

Many Clevelanders Bet on Hung Sheppard Jury

CLEVELAND (INS) — A pal of mine who cleans up around the press room in the Criminal Courts Building, and who shrewdly wears gloves, stuffed a bushel or so of Sheppard murder case stories in his garbage bag and said:

"Well, John, you coming back after Christmas for the new trial?" He thinks I'm John Carradine, and inasmuch as I've already signed his autograph book with John's name it's much too late to explain. Or disillusion.

"After Christmas?" I whimpered, trying to lift an eyebrow into a quizzical arch, like John.

"Sure, stupid," he said. "This present trial is for the birds. Everybody knows it'll be a hung jury. When it happens, do me a favor. Go on television (he seemed not to notice that I suddenly paled) and tell 'em a pal of yours who cleans up around the press room in the Criminal Courts Building told you. Okay?"

Okay. Half an hour later, I got out of a cab in front of the Hotel Cleveland and made my nightly report to handsome Harold Murphy, the Yellow Cab starter. I have been an admirer of Mr. Murphy since the first night I met him which was under somewhat unfavorable conditions. I burst out of the hotel into a blinding snowstorm and noted, with the hard-to-control sneer of a New Yorker, that there wasn't a cab in sight.

"What must you have to get a cab in a town like this?" I thundered, waving a gold-headed cane.

Mr. Murphy, whose uniform gives him the rakish air of Lawrence of Arabia, looked me over coolly for a long time and answered:

"Patience."

Anyway, I started to report to this case only if the jury decides Sam killed his wife in self-defense, and there has been no testimony to that effect. As for the hung jury, Blythin will give them plenty of time to become unhung, and then would dismiss them. And the whole thing would start over again with a new group of faces in the jury box, a new prosecutor but the same old Sam.

Auto Mishaps Down From 1953 Figure

Traffic accidents here up to Dec. 1 are reported lower than for a similar period last year, according to Pontiac Police traffic and accident bureau.

With 89 accidents in November, the present total is 1,178, as compared with 1,241 in the 11-month period in 1953.

Five deaths due to auto accident have occurred so far, compared with seven the previous year. The number of injured persons is also trailing. So far 495 have been reported hurt and 570 were injured by Dec. 1, 1953.

Last month 33 persons were injured in 25 auto accidents, as compared with 77 persons hurt for the same period in 1953. A total of 132 auto accidents occurred in November of the previous year.

Cholmondeley to Chumley

Britain 'Mumbles Down' Words Too Long to Say

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — The name is spelled Cholmondeley, but it's pronounced Chumley.

It's just another one of those inconsistencies about a land which also has a place called Belvoir and pronounced Beaver.

But Cholmondeley is the name of a living person. The name of several of them, in fact. The present head of the family is the fifth Marquess of Cholmondeley, joint hereditary Lord Great Chamberlain of England.

One of his sons is Lord John Cholmondeley, 34, educated at Eton and Cambridge.

"I hope you won't mind a personal question," I asked, "but don't you encounter considerable confusion over a span of years because of the difference in spelling and pronunciation?" "I certainly do," he laughed. "My father does too."

"How did it ever get twisted into Chumley?"

"I don't know exactly, but you know how we speak over here. Tend to run everything together. I suppose it was just too big a mouthful and they mumbled it down."

The marquess was a voluntary air raid warden during the war and one night, during a heavy blitz on London's East End, he showed up down there and offered to help.

"What your name, ducks?" asked a Cockney girl at a registering in place.

"Cholmondeley," and he spelled it out, but it didn't satisfy the startled girl behind the desk. She and others at the first aid stations viewed him with extreme suspicion the rest of the night.

Then there was the stay Lord Cholmondeley did in the West Indies as a lieutenant in the navy during the war.

"That was the worst confusion ever," he explained, "for I was in the telephone book and people kept sending me their dirty shirts. A Chinese down the same street ran a laundry. His name was Chum Lee."

Ford Gives $2,375,000 to Detroit Building Fund

DETROIT (AP)—The Metropolitan Detroit Building Fund was swelled today by a $2,375,000 contribution from the Ford Motor Co.

The contribution was at the rate of $25 for each of Ford's nearly 100,000 workers in the Detroit area.

Leaders of the fund are seeking $16,500,000 to finance the re-equipping and re-housing of 45 health, welfare and recreation agencies.

EXPENSIVE PRESENTS—For the teenager with a small Christmas budget and a big list, here are handsome gifts she can make herself. With Mom's sewing kit, leftover materials and an assortment of trim and buttons, the finished products will rival all other gifts under the Christmas tree. A huge square of flannel green felt becomes a holiday tablecloth (upper left) when trimmed with a decorated Christmas tree motif and sparkling white silk fringe. Any girl who likes casual clothes will love these easy-to-make felt

Yule Gifts of Needlework Sure to Please Teenagers

A small Christmas budget shouldn't present any problems to the teenager with lots of "best" friends. Not if she's clever, and knows the fundamentals of that thrifty art, sewing.

For a girl friend who dotes on slacks, make a pair of "lantern" slacks in no time at all. Cut from felt, they require no finishing.

The "lantern" look is achieved by making slashes one-half inch wide. Three sets of slashes two inches apart will create the lantern effect. For a pretty trim, sew black velvet ribbon half-way around the spaces between the slashes.

Then, for extra sparkle, add two glitter buttons to each band of ribbon.

A handsome "jeweled" vest is an excellent gift for a friend who's hard to please. Use a basic vest pattern and cut the vest from inexpensive gold-sprayed burlap bought in an upholstery fabric store.

Using felt strips of her favorite bright color, finish the armholes and neckline.

Cut out abstract motifs for the vest front from this same piece of felt. After the motifs are sewn on, sprinkle them with fancy rhinestone buttons in gay jewel-like colors.

Then, outline the front closing with tiny gold buttons and oversized gold hooks and eyes.

If you've a friend who practically lives in the kitchen and is noted for her homemade fudge and cookies, you can bet she'd adore a colorful, conversation-piece apron. Like a funny face apron.

Mythical Steamboat Tales Vivid in Inspector's Mind

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (INS.) — Paul Bunyan would have liked a ride on the "Tuscarora" or the "Jim Johnson."

These mythical steamboats, on which nearly all the old "river rats" claimed to have worked, were in keeping with the finest Bunyanesque traditions.

Cecil B. Griffith, chief channel inspector on the Missouri river for the Army Engineers, knows all the tales about the two rival craft. For example, he recalls that the Jim Johnson had to lower its smokestacks to let the sun and moon go by, and the Tuscarora had a roustabout perched between its stacks to part the clouds.

Also, the Jim Johnson had a coal mine in the hull and the deckhands mined the fuel while en route. The boilers were washed every spring — this caused the "June rise."

But the 10,000 deckhands on the Tuscarora required so many "batteries" that six men skated constantly around the huge griddle —

Make it from easy-to-cut felt and a basic apron pattern. You can use up scraps of fabrics for the faces. With a collection of buttons to use as eyes, mouths, ears and noses, you can create everything from clowns to pirates.

A handsome holiday tablecloth of tree-green felt is easy to make and decorate for a friend who loves giving parties.

With a tree and candy cane as the main motifs to decorate the corners, trace a tree shape in one corner of the felt and cut around it, making sure not to cut out the entire shape.

Brush on a little snow made from soap flakes and water and trim the tree, using rhinestone, gold and ball buttons.

Using a piece of red felt, cut out a little tree stand and rubber cement it to the cloth beneath the tree. In the opposite corner, cement a candy cane. Just glue strips of red and white felt to the cloth. In between the stripes, use glittering rhinestone buttons. Trim the edge of the whole tablecloth with sparkling white silk fringe.

After fishing for a living for a while, catching mostly carp and buffalo fish, Griffith went to work for the Engineers in 1928. First he was a roddman on a river survey party, then became chief of the survey party.

He worked on dredges mostly until 1936 and had tours of winter duty at the Fort Peck and Bagnell dams. Then he became channel inspector, rising to his post of chief inspector after a few more years.

A channel inspector rides a freightboat in and out of river towns and through bad places. He is charged with knowing the channel in his territory — usually a 100 to 125-mile stretch of the winding, meandering "Big Muddy."

"You see," Griffith pointed out, "a pilot is supposed to know the channel for his entire trip, but the Missouri's channel changes so quickly this is impossible. Therefore, we inspectors help them out. We travel the river constantly in good weather, noting the reefs and how they move. Then we can predict where the reefs will be in a day or so. It takes a good memory, as you have to spot them by landmarks on the shore."

There are five inspectors for the Missouri and each has his territory to cover.

Griffith can talk interestingly on the history of near-forgotten places that once were thriving river towns.

For example, Doniphan, Kas., which now has only one small house, in 1864 was the largest grain market on the river. Named in honor of Gen. A. W. Doniphan of Mexican War fame, it had a population of 1,000 in 1887 when its rival, Atchison, had less than 200.

Moving of the governments land office to Kickapoo in 1858 started the decline of the town which was built on the site of an old Kanza Indians' village where the young French explorer, De Bourgmonde, established his headquarters while mapping the river in 1724.

Kickapoo, named for the Indian tribe on whose land it was built, was intended as a rival of Leavenworth, oldest town in Kansas, and Atchison, but those towns proved better situated.

Aptitude Test Gives Reporter Jitters; Finds He Could Be a Practical Nurse

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH

I'm turning in my trenchcoat. "How would you like to take an aptitude test?" the city editor asked me one day last week. "The unemployment office gives free tests and they want some publicity."

"Ha, ha, ha," I replied. "What do I need an aptitude test for? I'm apt."

"Aw, it'll make a good story," he insisted, in the manner of city editors. "Go ahead and take it."

(Editor's note: What I really said was, "You're apt, all right—apt to lose your job if you don't.")

Naturally, I succumbed and a few days later went over to the Pontiac office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, where I met Albert Covert, the vocational counselor, and the GATB series.

Known in counseling circles as "Gatby," the series of written and physical examinations is officially titled the General Aptitude Test Battery and was developed by the United States Employment Service.

"Gatby" is made up of 13 tests. They cover nine different aptitudes Covert says have been found to be important in a majority of jobs—including news-writing.

Covert led me into a small room where he administered the tests exactly as if I were among a group of real aptitude seekers.

An hour and a half later I came out, not shaken, not smiling—just worried.

"But you're a college graduate," I kept telling myself. "And besides, nobody fails an aptitude test, it just tells you what you are best suited for."

The next day, Covert handed me my score sheet.

A figure was marked under each of the nine areas covered in the test—general intelligence, verbal aptitude, numerical aptitude, special aptitude, form perception, clerical aptitude, motor (physical) coordination and finger and manual dexterity.

"Now you understand the results of these tests are only one factor in finding suitable employment," Covert said, somewhat hastily, I thought. "Your interests make up a very important part of the picture."

Here is the obvious reason for his haste: the tests show I'm just not cut out for things literary. There were two minimum scores for literary work, based on a cross-section of 4,000 test-takers. Each of the minimums under general intelligence and verbal aptitude was 130. On the first I scored 110, on the second 119.

I've got less form perception than the minimum for a salesman, less finger dexterity than the minimum for a metal machinist, a typist, a draftsman or a dentist.

I don't come up to minimum standards when it comes to special perception (ability to recognize a three-dimensional object when it is just a flat pattern), either.

I couldn't be a tabulating machine operator, a calculating machine serviceman, a combustion engine repairman or an inspector (police or factory)—I'm not sure.

But I do have enough manual dexterity to be a practical nurse.

And I do have the verbal aptitude considered essential for a physician ("Scalpel, Sponge, Nurse.") If numerical aptitude were the sole basis for a job, I could be a metal machinist or a computing and recording worker.

I have enough clerical aptitude to be a veterinarian or a draftsman.

But, seriously, when a person really unsure of his employment desires and aptitudes takes the "Gatby" series, the results are considered along with his interests, which of course, are extremely important.

"We take the individual's aptitude patterns and relate it to the patterns found necessary for a certain job," Covert explains.

Then, the counselors try to determine interests and decide if aptitude and interests match. Each is of equal importance, he emphasizes.

"Gatby" has been administered to 470 Pontiac-area persons so far this year. In addition, the local MESC office has given more than 500 specific aptitude tests and 342 proficiency tests (mostly typing).

The tests are free for the unemployed, the unsatisfied employed and employers who wish to determine special aptitudes for employees they have in mind for promotion.

Sirens Sans Shelters

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The City Council was all set to provide a disaster warning system for civil defense when someone spoke up:

"Where would the people go if they were warned?"

Reminded there are no air raid shelters, city fathers tabled the project for further planning.

Wrong Towel Costly

SUFFOLK, Va. (AP)—Tilton Henry Hobbs told Judge W. W. Jones that he tore up State Trooper P. B. Marlowe's accident investigation book "to wipe my hands."

The ripping occurred when Marlowe, who had arrested Hobbs earlier, left his car for a few minutes. Judge Jones fined Hobbs $50 for using as a towel the record book, which contained reports for two months.

FREED—Canadian Squadron Leader Andrew R. MacKenzie, 34-year-old ace recently released by Red Chin, says there are some American war prisoners being held at his former prison camp. He told American and Canadian officials that these do not include the 13 Americans recently sentenced by the Communists.

MANILA (AP)—Ever since President Ramon Magsaysay has been in office the Philippine people have taken him up on his invitation to come in and talk over their problems.

Filipino Chieftain Limits Visitors After Office Jam

Through his open office door have swarmed more than 250 callers a day. Some days there has been little time for affairs of state.

So now he has a new schedule. No callers before 9 a.m. Senators, representatives and governors, who bring the biggest delegations are limited to the mornings of Monday and Tuesday.

Delegations are limited to eight persons—and each will get just 10 minutes of his time.

Reply Requested

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Governor Thomas B. Stanley received a letter from a man who wanted to be sure he got a reply or his letter back. He listed two street addresses in Roanoke, the Roanoke city jail, the state mental hospital at Staunton, and added:

Prize Cookies Go on Tree

Goodies Saved From Fall Fair

Mrs. Sutton Employs Secret Skills to Make Ornamental Treats

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

There will be some unusual decorations on the Christmas tree at the Ward Suttons' Twin Beach home.

Mrs. Sutton has carefully saved the Christmas cookies with which she won a blue ribbon at the Michigan State Fair in September and intends to hang them on the tree. Daughter Penny says, "Oh, Mother!" ... but her objections are half-hearted.

The cookies are works of art. They've been cut with ordinary cutters that lots of people use. But they have been decorated so carefully and so artistically that we think anyone would hesitate to eat one.

White teddy bears have brown paws and features and real ribbon bows around their necks. Mary's little lamb is white also, with a wreath of flowers around his neck. Santa has a thick fluffy beard of boiled icing. One horse is frosted with chocolate with a lighter mane and tail and a decorated saddle.

Although Mrs. Sutton does not care to divulge exactly how she makes the frosting or puts it on the cookies, she did tell us that she uses several coats, letting each one dry. She uses ordinary watercolor brushes for detail work.

Her would she give us her cookie recipe, which she says was one her mother used. She hopes some day to enter it in a national cooking contest.

She rolls her cookies at least half an inch thick. The cutters then do not go all the way through the dough, but each cookie will be perfect when it is lifted onto the baking sheet.

We asked if the children helped. "Oh, yes," said Penny, "I help wash the dishes and other minor details." But it was evident that she and her brother, Corky, are proud of their mother's attractive cookies.

In addition to the cookies we saw, Mrs. Sutton makes many doll cookies for the neighborhood children—each with a different dress and hairstyle. She also paints her windows to look like the cookies she bakes.

Mrs. Sutton was willing to give us the recipe she uses for her pressed cookies. This will make about 90 1-inch cookies.

PRESSED COOKIES
By Mrs. Ward Sutton

1 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour

1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
Flavoring and food coloring

Cream shortening, add sugar and cream well. Add egg. Sift dry ingredients together and add to creamed mixture. Divide dough into as many parts as you want colors and flavors.

Put through a cookie press onto a cold baking sheet. Bake the colored cookies at 325 degrees and the uncolored ones at 400 degrees, both for 15 minutes. Decorate or ice as desired.

Treat for Small Fry

When small fry come home from school treat them to this snack: Butter brown-and-serve rolls, sprinkle with a mixture of sugar and cinnamon and pop into a hot oven. Good with cold milk!

Leftover Meals Can Be Exciting

The smart homemaker is one who knows how to serve leftovers in many appetizing ways. Tasty meals which stem from leftovers can do much to keep the food budget in line, and are particularly important this time of year when expensive holiday menus are being planned.

For a new twist in using leftover turkey, try Peas and Turkey Supper Sandwiches. Nutritious canned peas are combined with onion, mushrooms and cranberry sauce in a delicious topping for sandwiches made of sliced turkey and cornbread.

Economical canned peas are an excellent vegetable to keep on hand to add flavor, texture and nutrients to many leftover dishes.

Peas & Turkey Supper Sandwiches
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms
1 1/2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
Milk
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1 No. 303 can peas, drained
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1/4 cup dried jellied cranberry sauce
Turkey slices
Sliced cornbread

Melt butter or margarine over medium heat. Add onion and saute until tender. Drain mushrooms and reserve liquid. Add mushrooms to onion and continue cooking five minutes.

Add flour and blend. Add enough milk to mushroom liquid to make 2 cups. Gradually add to onion-mushroom mixture and continue cooking until thickened, stirring constantly.

Add remaining ingredients and heat to serving temperature. Arrange turkey and cornbread sandwich style. Top with peas sauce. About six servings.

Cheese and Crumbs Top Corn Supreme

Here's a variation of scalloped corn — easy and delicious. It's made with fresh-frozen corn — so bright and so tasty.

The corn is combined with eggs and pimiento, topped with a cheese and cracker crumb mixture — then baked until golden. Mmmm, the dish is hearty — the flavor satisfying!

Corn Supreme
1 package frozen corn
2 eggs, beaten
1 pimiento, chopped
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup buttered cracker crumbs
1/4 cup grated sharp cheese

Following directions on the package, cook frozen corn just one to two minutes; drain and cool slightly. Combine with beaten eggs, pimiento and melted butter. Place in oiled 1-quart casserole.

Mix buttered cracker crumbs and cheese; sprinkle over top of corn. Bake. Temperature: 350. Time: 25 to 30 minutes. Amount: Three to four servings.

You'll get a cup of cooked rice for one-fourth to one-third cup raw rice.

Know When to Add Salt for Best Flavor Results

The "when" to salt is just as important as "how much" salt to expert cooks who have learned that proper timing in combining ingredients contributes to the success of so many cooked and baked foods.

Because salt brings out the best in every other flavor, it must be used at the proper time in order to perform its magic of pulling together all other ingredients in a dish into a well-rounded, overall flavor.

When baking bread, rolls, or other products in which yeast is used, the salt should be added to the milk, water or other liquid, and not to the dry ingredients.

The liquid carries the salt evenly throughout the dough.

In cakes, salt is added to the flattest of the ingredients—the eggs. The moisture takes up the grains, gives the eggs character, and spreads the salt evenly through the cake mixture. If the whites are to be beaten alone before folding into the cake, the addition of salt speeds the whipping and makes them fluffier.

Smooth cream soups and cream sauces are a cinch when the salt is mixed with the flour before adding the moisture. The salt prevents the flour from becoming lumpy.

In all other soups and sauces, when long cooking is required to get a rounded flavor, the addition of salt in the beginning is important because salt then has sufficient time to integrate all the other flavors into a proper blend.

Vegetables which are cooked in salted water have a better flavor than those seasoned later. In the water, the salt has a chance to deepen delicate flavors, and to smooth out stronger flavors.

Only salt should be added to mushrooms during the cooking process. The flavor of mushrooms is so delicate that salt alone brings out the inherent flavor and does not cover it up as other stronger seasonings do.

Eggs poached in salted water have a very special flavor that is lost when the salt is added later. Furthermore, the salt in the boiling water keeps the egg together and prevents it from spreading.

Quick Cupcake Icing Features Pineapple

Topping for cupcakes: Try this quick frosting for cupcakes. To 3 tablespoons of soft butter or margarine, add 2½ cups of powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 2 tablespoons syrup from canned pineapple, beating well with spoon or electric mixer after each addition.

Stir in one-quarter cup of drained, crushed pineapple; beat with spoon. (It may be necessary to add a little more powdered sugar, depending on how thoroughly you drained the pineapple.) Spread on cool cake. This amount is sufficient for 12 medium-sized cupcakes or one square cake.

Add a couple of tablespoons of ham drippings to the mixture of brown sugar and mustard with which you glaze a ham.

Long Cooking Needed

If you add apple and onion to a curry sauce, and want them to disintegrate, you will have to cook the sauce for a couple of hours. Choose an apple that does not keep its shape and cut the onion fine when you first put the sauce on to cook.

Keeps food containers wholesome

FRUITCAKE BONBONS—Bonbons made from a fruitcake mix look and taste good. Make them any time you like, frost them just before serving. They will add an interesting touch to any tray of goodies you serve during the holidays.

Dainty Fruitcake Bonbons Brighten Up Snack Trays

Use a prepared fruitcake mix for bonbons. Cecily Brownstone, Associated Press food editor, recommends it highly.

She always uses the one that includes a small vacuum-packed can of diced fruits and peel—pineapple, dates, cherries, citron.

Electric Appliances Ease Entertaining

Plug-in electric appliances will help you enjoy holiday get-togethers when they make cooking easy and let you spend more time visiting with guests.

A waffle baker which can be turned into a grill simply by switching grids is a help—and so is a plug-in automatic teakettle for heating water for instant coffee.

Then, too, there's always the handy pop-up toaster. An electric "cup" which cooks eggs, heats soups and does a dozen other such chores is nice, as is the new electric frying pan.

Other handsome electric appliances which may be used right on the table are a corn popper, deep fat fryer, chafing dish, roaster, and rotisserie-broiler.

orange and lemon peel, raisins and currants—and a bag of dry mix.

To make the bonbons, you add egg and water to the mix, as specified in the package directions, and fill tiny foil or paper cups a generous two-thirds full.

Bake in slow (300 degrees) oven 20 minutes. These directions will give you 125 to 150 tiny fruitcakes. Cover the top of the bonbons with butter frosting just before you serve them.

Bonbon Butter Frosting
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 pound confectioner's sugar
Dash of salt
4 to 5 tablespoons milk or water
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla

Cream butter; stir in sugar gradually, then salt, until blended. Stir in milk a little at a time, adding just enough to give a good consistency for use in cake decorator. Add vanilla.

Put frosting on fruitcake bonbons with rosette or rosebud tip of decorator.

Team With Spaghetti

A tossed green salad is just right to serve with spaghetti. To serve four, use a quart of loosely packed greens and one-fourth to one-third cup French dressing. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Use Condensed Milk for Butterscotch Icing

Quick butterscotch frosting: Empty a 15-ounce can of sweetened condensed milk into the top of a double boiler and add a third of a cup of firmly-packed brown sugar and a couple of tablespoons of butter or margarine. Cook and stir constantly over hot water until thick enough to spread.

Cool and beat well. This will make enough frosting for the top and sides of two 8-inch layer cakes.

Round out your intake of vitamin C with raw cabbage—serve it in salads at lunch or dinner.

Ladle Hot Applesauce Over Griddle Cakes

Here's a wonderful topping for pancakes for Sunday brunch:

Add a good dollop of butter or margarine and a generous amount of sugar and lemon rind to applesauce; let bubble a bit in a saucepan on top of the range, then ladle piping hot over the griddle cakes.

Good Sauce for Shrimp

Good sauce for shrimp: A can of mushroom soup mixed with a half cup of milk and seasoned with grated onion and soy sauce. Serve over rice mixed with green peas.

Try Spiced Hot Cider

Heat apple cider with a small stick of cinnamon, some whole cloves and whole allspice; add brown sugar to taste. Serve piping hot in mugs topped with freshly ground nutmeg. Delicious with crackers and a cheddar cheese spread.

FESTIVE BAKED HAM—Glazed and glistening, a baked ham is a thing of beauty on the Christmas dinner table. When garnished with colorful poinsettia "flowers," it takes on a touch of glamor. Ham is the simplest of holiday meats to prepare and the festive garnish is easy to make too.

Ham Takes Starring Role at Christmas Day Feasts

Ham for Christmas is becoming one of America's favorite meats. For one thing, it's the easiest of meats to prepare for the festive meal. There's no preliminary fixing—nothing to do but figure the cooking time and then put the ham in the oven.

Besides being so easy to prepare, ham lends itself well to festive holiday garnishes—even the color of the ham is Christmassy! The sizes in which ham can be purchased are another reason why it's ideal for a holiday dinner. If your guest list is large, a whole ham is the answer; if it's small, a half ham might be your choice (although leftovers always come in handy).

Baked Ham

Oven Temperature: 325 degrees
Cooking Time: Follow directions on the label of the ham you buy. If none is available, use this time schedule:
Whole ham, cook-before-eating (uncooked) type—18 minutes per pound
Half ham, cook-before-eating (uncooked) type—23 minutes per pound
Whole ham, ready-to-eat (cooked) type—18 minutes per pound
Half ham, ready-to-eat (cooked) type—14 minutes per pound
Bake ham on a rack, fat side up, in an open pan. Forty-five minutes before the end of the cooking time, remove ham from oven, score fat and spread with glaze. Return to oven.

Holiday Garnish

Easy-to-make apricot poinsettia flowers gave the ham a touch of holiday glamor. Slice unpeeled canned apricots to make petals; fasten these on with toothpicks and center with a maraschino cherry. Make stems from thin strips of green pepper. (Be ready for the "Ohs" and "Ahs" of the guests when they see this bedecked beauty!)

Ham Glazes

Brown sugar: This is the basis of the usual ham glaze. Be careful not to moisten the sugar too much—it should be thick and not runny. You can moisten the sugar with a number of different fruit juices or with applesauce, crushed pineapple, cranberry sauce or molasses.
Cranberry sauce: Use the canned jellied type; crush and mix with some brown sugar.
Other glazes: Molasses, apricot jam, honey, jelly.

Crusty glaze: 1 cup brown sugar mixed with one-fourth cup flour and 2 tablespoons juice.

Canned Ham for a Gift
When you want to remember someone handsomely, nothing could make a more appropriate Christmas gift than a canned ham. You can choose these in sizes from 1 1/4 pounds up.

Any friend—male or female—would be grateful for one of these handy, easy-to-serve hams which can be slipped into the refrigerator and brought out for a holiday gathering or saved for a dinner party later in the winter. (Storing the ham in the refrigerator is preferable to freezing it.)

Ham Leftovers Are Gems

Gourmet Favorite: Arrange slices of baked ham on bottom of shallow baking dish or casserole. Place cooked broccoli on top and pour cheese sauce over all. Brown in a 400-degree oven 15 to 20 minutes.

Make a raisin sauce or cherry sauce and in it heat ham slices. Don't forget the hearty split pea

Fix Shrimp Dunk for Club Gathering

Here's a dip "the girls" will enjoy when it's your turn to entertain your club.

Shrimp Dunk

1 cup dried cooked shrimp
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 tablespoon minced onion
Salt (to taste)
Light cream
Mix shrimp, mayonnaise, curry powder, onion and salt; thin with cream to dunking consistency, if necessary. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

Appetizer Suggested

Ever serve apple juice as an appetizer? Make sure it is chilled and accompany it with a ham or cheese spread and crackers.

Use one-half teaspoon salt and one-half to 1 cup water when you are boiling green vegetables for four servings.

Ready To Serve — Just Heat and Eat

Government Hatches Plan to Put More Eggs in Diets

WASHINGTON (INS) — Come January, every patriotic citizen must eat considerably more than one egg a day to keep the surplus away.

This calculation is based on Agriculture Department estimates that production in the first month of the new year will be a record-shattering 5,720,000,000 eggs.

In round numbers, the 162 million men, women and children in the U. S. must consume approximately 35½ eggs each during the month just to keep pace with the nation's hard-working hens.

Leaders of the industry and Agriculture Department officials are well aware of this prospect and have taken steps.

The result is a routin' tootin' promotional campaign by the interested parties and the official designation of January — appropriately enough — as "Egg Month."

In a formal statement, Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, who already has enough surplus commodities to worry about, roundly applauded what his department called the aggressive merchandising drive planned by the industry.

The department's own Agricultural Marketing Service pitched in with a leaflet trumpeting that egg prices to consumers are the lowest in a long, long time.

It added: "A big push on eggs by all segments of the food trade should pay big dividends... with benefits accruing to all concerned — producers, consumers and the food trade."

The pamphlet suggests hopefully that cold weather calls for king-sized breakfasts — juice, two eggs, ham, bacon or sausage, toast and a beverage.

Finally, it recommends omelets for noontime or evening meals and ham and scrambled eggs for a late snack.

Says yet another official leaflet: "They (eggs) are a natural for January breakfasts—providing a hearty, healthy wake-up food to start the day right, to start the new year right."

The promotional clincher, however, is a television film being turned out cooperatively by the Agriculture Department and the Poultry and Egg Board for release in January. Its title: "The Good Egg."

Cook Snap Beans Via Italian Method

Shiny green beans, delicately flavored, point up this menu.
Snap Beans, Italian-Style

1 pound snap beans
¾ cup boiling water
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon wine vinegar
Pepper

Cut ends from beans; scrub in cold water. Slice beans in half lengthwise to make thin strips; then cut in half crosswise.

Add to water and salt; bring to boil; cook rapidly, covered, until tender — crisp — 7 to 10 minutes.

Drain off small amount of water remaining. Return to skillet with oil and vinegar; toss well and reheat; add more salt if necessary and pepper to taste. Makes four servings.

McBride Digs Into History, Finds There's No Place Like Some Homes

Dream House Plans Face Peril Through Others' Troubles

By MARY MARGARET MCBRIDE

The minute people hear about my little dream house, they start to advise and suggest. I'm grateful, of course, but they scare and unsettle me a little, too, making me wonder all over again how on earth anybody ever musters up courage enough to be a householder.

One person says hot air heat is best. The next day someone else plugs for the radiant type that comes out of walls and ceilings. A man who enjoys working around his home discusses water problems in terms of footing tiles, roof flashings and waterproof cellars, seeming to believe that I'll understand what he's talking about.

Everybody tells me stories about unusual homes people have built. I was sent a picture of one corner of a house. Seems the reason it's built that way is so you can run around it faster when the devil starts chasing you — that's the story, anyhow.

They say the farmer who built it back in Civil War times had a definite feeling that some day the devil would try to catch him. So he figured it all out — how much time an enemy he'd save if he made both ends of the house gently rounded. It's a stone, but when you see it from the end the curved wall makes it look something like a ship with a bow above the water line.

Once he'd eliminated corners, the home-builder found the fireplace would have to be curved too, in order to fit into the rounded walls. It's two and one-half stories high, but the end walls are solid stone except for two tiny windows up near the roof — probably so there wouldn't be any extra opening for the devil to get in.

Then there was the man on Cape Cod who made a lot of money and wanted to prove to his neighbors he could afford the grandest mansion on the entire Cape. He had his architect draw plans that borrowed from every style of architecture in Europe, scrambled them together and then threw in a 100-foot art gallery. The result was impressive and expensive, if not beautiful.

At the last minute, though, the poor man got homesick for the old gray-weather-beaten Cape Cod cottage that he'd grown up in and so he told his architect to put the new house up around the old. Then, whenever he needed to, he could escape to wind-worn familiar Homesick House, with vines climbing over the windows, a bare floor scrubbed until the wood is satin-smooth, old pewter and brass around the big stone fireplace.

House owners nearly always personify their homes in whimsical fashion but even practical, unimaginative souls assure me that houses really are very demanding. Any Saturday or Sunday in the suburbs proves this.

The house has its victims constantly fixing up leaky downspouts, mowing the lawn or planting new trees.

But being forewarned, I propose to establish from the very outset that I'm boss of MY house.

Be Sure Before Ruining Friendship

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: The boy I like goes to a different school, but he usually calls me every other night unless he has a game or something else. Later he hasn't called at all. My girl friend saw him the other night at a game and he said he was looking for me. She said he still likes me."

"He carries on with other girls from his school when he is with me, but when we are with just another couple he seems to like me."

me. Should I get my ring back and forget him, or should I just let it go?"

Since you've put your heart in this thing, it's frustrating to feel that the returns are so much less. You crave something substantial, something reliable, something constant. And at the moment you're sure your affection is all in vain.

Your boy friend has picked for himself a girl who isn't a regular and normal part of his every day.

So it's normal that he should be caught up and preoccupied with his own activities first, while you get second place in his thoughts. Seeing you isn't easy—he has to make an effort. Calling you regularly takes time and thought. Beating the old drum takes real initiative.

And some boys are too lazy to make the effort, give the thought, and launch the initiative to make a real thing out of their interest in a girl. Some boys don't want to get that involved. Some boys don't even realize that what satisfies them might fall far short of what the girls in question expect.

Your boy friend may be perfectly content with your relationship as it is right now. He may be perfectly happy in thinking of you as his girl. He may feel he's doing all that's necessary about you. In which case, if you like him, you'd better settle for it, even though you think his attention is scant and skimpy. Watch for real signs of lack of interest on his part before asking for your ring back. That would rob you of all contact with him.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been going with him for a month. He never takes me out any place. I hardly see him in the afternoon, and it's very seldom that he comes over at night. He's always out with the boys. But he says he loves me. What should I do? How can I be sure he really loves me?"

If he really loves you he'd do all the things you say he doesn't do. In other words, you'd be going with him. And from what you say, "going with" that boy is an empty, unrewarding preoccupation. Perhaps it exists only in your own mind. Could that be? Perhaps you started liking him a month ago, and he said he liked you. And from that you assumed that something real and big was under way. It would take more tangible proof than that for me to get whipped up over any boy!

Two Alone Would Risk Criticism

Without Chaperon Motor Trip Could Cause Comment

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me as follows: "A very good friend of mine is driving to the West Coast on business. Before I knew of his going, I made plans to fly to the Coast to visit relatives for several weeks."

We will be going about the same time and he suggested that I cancel my plane reservations and drive with him. I would like to do this very much as it would save me plane fare and not only that but never having been West before it will give me a chance to see more of the country, but neither of us wants to do anything that would taint our good names. Would the laws of propriety sanction our traveling this distance together?"

Without a chaperon, I am sorry to say that you two alone would certainly risk criticism.

Dear Mrs. Post: My best girl friend is going to be married very quietly in the rectory of her church. She has asked me to be her attendant and the bridegroom has asked a married friend of his to be best man.

After the ceremony they are having a dinner at a club for just the four of us. I am engaged and expect to be married within the next few months. My question is, shouldn't my fiancé as well as the wife of the best man have been invited to this dinner?

I think it depends on how well they know the others. If the wife and your fiancé are strangers to the bride and groom, leaving them out would be understandable. If they know them well, then they should certainly be invited.

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it would be proper to give a shower for a friend of mine who ran away and was married a few months ago. No one knew about it until now.

If you like her enough to want to give a shower for her, then certainly give it.

Close Quarters Problem Solved by Picture Group

By ELIZABETH WILLYER

Even when one studio bed must be set deep into the corner of the room, two beds can be styled to look like attractive sofas.

"We hope to turn a small room into a TV room," she writes, "but it must also be used as a guest room. There's enough wall space for two studio beds on adjoining walls only if every inch is used. One bed touching the other. We want to style the beds as sofas. Please tell me if this should be attempted and what is the best way."

The answer is good looking sofa-like covers for the beds first of all. Mrs. F., then bolsters covered to match. The bolsters shorten the bed width for comfortable seating and make the beds look like sofas. Two 10-inch square bolsters, each 36 inches long, will cover the bed lengths against the wall except for the foot of the one bed. A 24-inch long bolster is needed to fill in.

A festive luncheon was held by the DIRT Gardeners of Pontiac at Highland Manor Tuesday afternoon.

Large tables displayed many colorful gift suggestions made by club members and arranged by Mrs. LeRoy Small, program chairman assisted by Mrs. John Hendry, Mrs. Glen H. Arthur, Mrs. Orville Healy and Mrs. Chester O. Sloan.

The religious significance of the season was pointed up by a simple mantle Madonna arrangement by Mrs. Angus McDonald.

The luncheon table centerpiece consisted of a large mass of deep red chrysanthemums encircled by antiqued gold gourds set on greens, with silver branches lighted by large white candles. The centerpiece was arranged by Mrs. Small.

Business of the day was concluded with the setting aside of a sum of money and the filling of two large food baskets to be distributed at Christmastime. Singing of carols closed the meeting.

MARGARET of PROVENCE

Margaret of Provence Leads Life of Turbulence

The first thirteen years of her life were the peaceful, contented, happy and carefree ones of a teenager. Then, out of the clear sky came a bolt of lightning that immediately changed the sky once so blue, to a dark, dreary heavy one that surrounded her for the next sixty-one years.

When girls her age were still playing with their dolls, Blanche of Castile in the King's palace in Paris was weaving a plot that would enmesh her just like a spider enmeshes a fly.

Margaret of Provence was the daughter of the powerful Raymond Berenger, Count of Provence. His aid was being sought by Blanche, the Queen-mother of France.

To bring this about and to win him over to the cause of France, when that country needed all the friends she could gather, Blanche proposed that the beautiful Margaret, then only thirteen, be married to 20 year old Louis IX who later became known in history as Saint Louis.

Of course it was a marriage of convenience. While Margaret might have grown to love her husband, if she had been given half a chance, he was cold to such matters as love and affection.

At the same time his mother, jealous of her own position, placed every obstacle in the way of the young queen. If ever there was a man attached to his mother's apron-strings, Louis IX. was the man.

Margaret herself did not lack courage. This was evidenced almost daily in her squabbles with her mother-in-law over family affairs, over her own particular rights, and over the many intrigues the child-queen knew were aimed at her.

She showed she possessed a considerable amount of courage by accompanying Louis on his crusade to Egypt to fight the Moslems, and she bore herself heroically at Damietta, the city that Louis wrested from the "infidels" in 1249.

Her courage was no less the following year, when Louis was made prisoner at the Battle of Mansura. But her ambitions and strong personal prejudices often led her to actions injurious to the realm.

Her attitude toward Charles of Anjou who had married her sister Beatrice was noticeably hostile, while she showed a marked devotion to Henry III of England who had married her sister Eleanor.

She did not give up her claims until after the death of Charles of Anjou, when her son Philip succeeded in getting her to accept an income from the county of Anjou, in exchange for her rights in Provence. Louis was canonized in 1297.

At Fourth Annual Holiday Concert

Legends of Christmas Told in Song

By DONNA ANDERSON

Waterford Township High School's young "Slippers" display an admirable spirit in everything they do. They proved this point again in their fourth annual Christmas concert Wednesday evening.

A procession, complete with candlelight, paced by the triumphant "Adeste Fidelis" led the 200 voice vocal department to a church chancel setting where they told, in song, the "Legends of Christmas."

It was obvious that the students look with inspiration to the guidance of their director, Helen M. Davis. Singing without direction through the procession, the a cappella choir showed a noticeable burst of power and more exactness of timing when Miss Davis appeared on stage for the closing measures.

Handel's "Messiah" presented a challenge to the choir. A simplified version of some of the Christmas portion was given. The performance was indicative of Miss Davis' theories of teaching and of her approach to developing the potentialities of her students.

Individual attention, Miss Davis believes, will improve the group as a whole. Solo parts, taken by Delores Kline, soprano; Marjorie Neubeck, alto; Jack Peter, tenor and Bob Humphreys, baritone, while not without flaw, proved that these students will tackle difficulties.

They are being introduced, in a tempered way, to the finest that the world of music has to offer.

The remainder of the program was made up of the lighter selections and traditional carols sung by members of the girls' and boys' glee clubs and ensembles.

Soloists for part two, "Legends of the Carols" were Karen Underwood, Marlene Hicks, Terry Walker, Glen Wright, Gail Winter and Jim Fish. Sandra Williams and Sandy Clemence presented the chime effects.

Part three, "Legends of Christmas of America Today" featured the girls' junior ensemble with Carole Tynan, soloist; girls' senior ensemble and combined groups with Jack Peter, soloist.

Choir accompanists are Deanna Mielke and Margaret Studebaker. Glee club accompanists are Sandy Clemence, Judy Eldred, Frieda Griesbach and Sandra Williams.

Myles Watkins' narration from a church pulpit setting lent continuity to the entire concert. Added appreciation of the "Messiah" was made possible by his convincing reading of the scriptures.

Problem Men Like It

Gift Ideas Center Around Leather

Men are a problem—but never more so than around Christmas time.

Ask a man what he'd like or needs and chances are he'll shrug his shoulders and say "anything—but don't spend much money."

There's no easy answer to the problem—but one safe suggestion is to get him something in leather. Hardly a man exists who doesn't go for leather—and leather gifts are practical as well as luxurious.

If husband, brother or grown-up son finds a handsome leather wallet or a pair of the new leather casual shoes under the Yuletide tree, you can be sure of one thing: He won't throw them into the back of his dresser drawer like that gaudy necktie you gave him last year.

Whether it's a pair of fine leather gloves for Father or a new piece of luggage for Uncle Harry, you'll fill the boys with Christmas cheer if you give them something in leather.

And the stores have a dazzling array of gifts for every type of man from a bank president to a retired fireman (and for an active fireman, there are those shiny helmets of leather—but don't expect to find them in every store).

If you want to spend under $10.00, here are just a few of the types of leather gifts you can get for the men in your life: Leather wallets and billfolds in a variety of skins such as cowhide, calfskin, morocco, pigskin and sealskin. Tobacco pouches with matching pipes bound in the same leather. Leisure shoes—leather scuffs in calf, patent or kid leather in bright colors as well as black and brown. Fitted and unfitted toilet cases, tie case, collar box, jewel boxes, cigarette cases, ash trays and cigarette boxes.

If he drives a car, there are a new series of "motorist" gloves on the market in a variety of color and types of leathers, all featuring the safety device of the "grip palms." Also soft, flexible, "motorist" shoes designed especially for men who do a lot of driving. (These are over $10.00.)

Luggage designers have used more ingenuity in this year's product than ever before and if you think he needs any traveling accessories, there's a quantity of new leather luggage to choose from. One hard construction carry-all is made in charcoal in sturdy steerhide.

It features a zipper enclosure on the front of the case which contains a completely fitted dressing kit. This section is accessible without disturbing the contents of the bag.

Sponsors and Guests Make It a Success

Party for Crippled Children Fun for All

Enchanting chimes of Christmas music emanated from a loud-speaker somewhere in the downstairs hall of All Saints Episcopal Church yesterday. Inside was the exciting smell of pine from the majestic tree in the corner, aglow with a multitude of ornaments.

The occasion, a very special one, was the annual Yule party sponsored by Oakland County Society for Crippled Children for a very special group—the handicapped children of the entire county.

One hundred and eighty young guests were invited and they began arriving early, some in the arms of their parents, some in wheelchairs or on crutches, and some entirely under their own locomotion.

Just about everyone was in an expectant, gay party mood. Dressed in their holiday best, lots of the little girls were like dolls, wearing colorful and fluffy dresses and hair ribbons, eyes shining, curls dancing.

For most, handicaps seemed secondary or almost forgotten in this atmosphere of rare delight.

Santa put in an early and brief appearance for the photographer's sake before the program and was greeted with squeals of glee and calls of "Santa, Santa!"

The program began with greetings by Lloyd C. Megee, president of the Society, who expressed gratitude to the many persons and organizations helping to make the party possible.

First to entertain was Mel Snyder, "The Balloon Man," who whipped out dozens of balloons and speedily blew them up, forming them into many animals, toys and novelty hats.

These he gave out as he made them, to numerous children there. In parting, he told the kiddies what a wonderful audience they'd been and promised to leave balloons for all who hadn't already received them.

The youngsters were held spell-bound next by the trick-act marionettes operated by Mrs. James Scribner, of the Birmingham black background.

One of her show's highlights was the clown marionette that mimicked the balloon entertainer by blowing up a balloon of his own. Climax of the puppet presentation was the weird dance of a comical skeleton, done against a background.

Assisting Mrs. Scribner with music, curtains and lights were Mrs. Calvin Deemison of Birmingham and Mr. Scribner.

Preparations for the party were begun back in October. Names of the children invited were obtained from the files of the Society for Crippled Children, as well as Sister Kenny, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the Pontiac, Royal Oak and Berkley Boards of Education, and County and City Health departments.

Gifts for every child were prepared by Birmingham Rotary Ann's, Clarkston Rotary Ann's, Iota Eta Chapter, Pi Omicron National Sorority, Kappa Delta Sorority, Southern Oakland County Alumnae.

After the program, Santa, in the person of Arthur Blakeslee, president of the Birmingham Rotary Club, called out the name of each child, and presents were delivered by "helpers" to the guests.

Santa was particularly loving and jolly on this day and had much praise and many compliments to pass out along with the gifts.

Other donations which helped insure the success of the party were received from Oxford and Clarkston Rotary Clubs, Club "20" and various individuals. Candy, nuts and fruit were donated by Oak Park Kiwanis Club.

The Junior League of Birmingham decorated the hall and members of the Birmingham Rotary Ann's and Birmingham YMCA procured the tree and decorations.

Many volunteers transported the children to and from the party.

Responsible for party arrangements was Mrs. Elizabeth Kirby, executive secretary for the Society for Crippled Children. She was assisted by Mrs. Leon Skelley, special education teacher for the Cerebral Palsy Classes; Mrs. Harold Anscomb, clerk; Mrs. E. F. Lau, speech therapist; Mrs. Robert Long and Mrs. C. F. Speck, physical therapists.

Two Are Elected to Membership

Mrs. E. A. Pritchard and Mrs. Russell Winkler were elected to membership at the Wednesday meeting of Parliamentary Study Club.

The event was the annual Christmas program and was under the direction of Mrs. Fred Mittledorf. Mrs. Lester Oles, Mrs. Edwin Carlson, Mrs. Aden Thornton and Mrs. John McNeely.

Mrs. Robert MacLaren read a poem, "How the Great Guest Came" by Edward Markham. Mrs. E. J. Ziem had charge of the guest book and refreshments were served with Mrs. George Watters presiding at the punch bowl.

Gifts Exchanged, Secret Pals Revealed

The Gamma Chapter of Beta Theta Phi Sorority met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. John Hatherill on Hickory Lane for a Christmas party.

The chapter's holiday project was completed for distribution to a needy family. Old secret pals were revealed, new ones were chosen and gifts were exchanged during the evening. The next meeting will be held Jan. 11 at the St. Joseph street home of Mrs. John Irwin.

Toastmistress Holiday Meeting Conducted

Mrs. P. Eugene Miller was hostess for the evening when Pontiac Toastmistress Club held its annual Christmas meeting at Hotel Waldron.

Mrs. Lester Snell conducted the table topic. The invocation was given by Mrs. Emil Mailahn. One of the highlights of the business meeting was a report of the recent meeting of council four. International Toastmistress Club given by Mrs. W. A. Vernon, Mrs. J. R. Shaffer and Mrs. A. E. Atwood. Speeches for the evening were given by Mrs. Shaffer who told the legend of the Magi; Mrs. Clayton Rule, who gave "The Littlest Angel," and Mrs. Atwood whose speech was entitled, "Thank You, Alice."

Acting as critics for the Tuesday meeting were Lauretta Paul, Mrs. Robert W. Hodge, and Mrs. George McLeod, while the duties of chief evaluator were taken by Shirley Dove. Mrs. Joseph McLeod was grammarian, Helen Turek, time-keeper and Mrs. Ivan Wilcox, tailwister.

Mrs. Richards Entertains Group

Members of Phi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority held their Christmas party Tuesday evening in the Illinois avenue home of Mrs. Clinton Richards.

Assisting Mrs. Richards were Mrs. Robert Shorey, Mrs. Mabel Roat, Mrs. Donald Rosie, and Mrs. C. L. Johnson.

After a short business meeting Mrs. William Long read a Christmas story entitled "No Tears on Christmas." Gifts were exchanged, secret pals for the past year were revealed and new ones drawn.

Gifts will be presented to patients at Oakland County Convalescent home by the group.

Camouflage Gives Film Stars 'Flawless' Beauty

So you think every star in Hollywood is flawlessly beautiful, without a feature that is less than perfect? How wrong you are—but what a tribute to the enlightened and canny science of makeup Hollywood has developed!

It is true that most Hollywood stars are basically beautiful, but nearly every one of them has a defect of features that she has learned to camouflage with cosmetics. The best news about this is that you can do the same.

Let's start with Arlene Dahl. Arlene is that rare thing, a true redhead with a clear, pale, untroubled skin. But her skin is the problem, precisely because it is paler than most.

Arlene never looks ghostly white because she has discovered you can buy a skin stain that adds a pale, rosy glow without drying the skin or making it look "plastered with goo."

Probably Jane Wyman's best known feature is her "button nose," which turns up in the most charming little arc in the world. Jane, however, has found that her nose looks too small unless she darkens the powder she uses on it to an intensity two shades deeper than the powder she uses on the rest of her face.

Much has been written about Joan Crawford's celebrated decision to emphasize rather than conceal her "too large" mouth. She made this decision at a time when the tiny rosebud mouth was fashionable, but today, her generous, beautiful mouth is very much in fashion and the small mouth is the one most women wish to camouflage.

Suzie Hayward has a tiny mouth, and her method of making it up is a lesson to us all. Instead of adding lipstick beyond its natural contours (which always shows if the entire mouth is enlarged by this method), Susan accents the beautiful curves of her mouth.

She emphasizes the curves of her upper lip—the so-called cupid's bow—and dips the curve of her lower lip slightly beyond its actual shape. Because of this insistence on the shape of her mouth, you are unaware of its actual size.

More than one star is plagued with too fine, curly hair. Anyone who has seen a very early picture of Marilyn Monroe will understand that she faced and conquered this all too common problem.

Marilyn discovered the fallacy of the old myth that fine, curly hair should be washed as little as possible. The theory was that fine, curly hair, when absolutely clean, was impossible to manage.

Actually, as Marilyn discovered, fine hair can only be controlled if it is perfectly clean. The problem lies in finding a shampoo that does not dry the hair and make it stiff.

The shampoo that solved Marilyn's problem was a cream preparation which has proved something of a godsend to nearly all the Hollywood stars. In Marilyn's case the lanolin shampoo was of special importance, because it provided the body that her hair needed for a successful test.

The most important point to remember about a beauty defect is that some cosmetic trick will always lessen its prominence. You can find out what the trick is by consulting any beauty expert in town.

In the last decade fire has killed more than 100,000 persons and burned or disfigured many hundreds of thousands more.

Frames Made of Natural Wood

CHICAGO (INS) — Styles in picture frames change to keep up with modern home decor.

Today's picture frames reflect the trend toward casual, informal living.

In other words, they're simpler and finished more unobtrusively to blend with either modern or provincial furniture.

A survey indicates the three most popular finishes are the weather-beaten or driftwood look, the natural wood look or antique patina that lets the grain show.

One of the latest tricks is to wipe a bit of paint onto the wood to pick up a color in the picture it frames.

Prevent Oil Fires

Locate oil cook stoves or heaters a safe distance from curtain or drapes. Otherwise there's danger the fabrics will be blown into contact with open flame or heating surfaces.

Tolerance Taught by Rabbit Tales

A pair of white rabbits are helping children learn the lesson of tolerance.

The rabbits are the cartoon characters in a new easy-to-read picture book. It's called "The Rabbit Brothers" and it tells child readers the story of one white rabbit who liked all kinds of rabbits and another rabbit who didn't.

American Housewives Open Homes European Women Will See Democracy First Hand

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Housewives across the country will soon have a chance to help personally counteract the effect of recent Communist propaganda junkets through Russia and Red China.

Some 80 women from France and Italy are being invited to visit America for two months to see first hand how democracy works.

They will not be conducted on a closely guided, banquet-studded tour so familiar to travelers behind the Iron Curtain.

Instead, the European women are to be informal guests in the homes of their American counterparts. Furthermore all their expenses, from start to finish, will be taken care of by the government.

France and Italy were chosen for this experiment due to the serious threat of communism in both these countries.

Four government agencies are working together on the new program which will cost approximately $132,000 or nearly $3,000 per guest.

But officials are frankly counting on the warmth, charm and hospitality of American housewives to completely win over the European visitors. They figure this will make the investment worth while.

"It's a big order," says Mrs. Alice K. Leopold, assistant to the Secretary of Labor in charge of women's affairs, who is directing this unusual technical exchange.

"The women will see our homes, our churches, our schools, our hospitals. In short, they will see the heart of America, which all too many foreign visitors miss."

Mrs. Leopold and seven other outstanding women leaders have just returned from a two-week survey in France and Italy under the auspices of the Foreign Operations Administration in cooperation with the State Department, the U. S. Information Agency and the Labor Department.

There they met and talked with 200 women, who are active in government, professional, political and social affairs, in order to select those who will visit the U. S.

"We weren't too sure how we were going to be received," says Mrs. Leopold. "But everything went fine when we told them some of the problems women face in the U. S. They were surprised we even had any."

I think we managed to dispel the idea that the American woman is a glamorous creature who just has to press a button in the wall and a meal comes out ready to eat."

Most of the women Mrs. Leopold and her group conferred with will not themselves make the trip but will suggest persons they think ought to be represented.

Children Profit Says TV Head

Youngsters who like to watch television have a champion in George Jennings, Director of Radio and Television for Chicago Public Schools.

Jennings says the interest span of the pre-school age child who watches television has increased greatly. He added:

"In many cases the vocabulary of the youngster who watches television far exceeds that of a playmate who does not have access to television."

Holiday Luncheon Given for Staff

Members and guests of the Square Set Dance Club enjoyed a roast beef dinner Wednesday evening when they gathered at Wever School. The dinner was served under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Reaves, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lightcap, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Carrs and Mrs. Alfred Tolleson.

Following dinner the group danced to holiday music and novelty gifts were exchanged. Calling the sets during the evening were Pete Messemann, Sam Joan, Ralph Price, Jack Price and Melvin Norberg.

The Christmas tree and other decorations were arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Perry Larrison and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Cheyne. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoskins and Mr. and Mrs. Ferris Rossberg were welcomed as honorary members.

Membership Tea Planned by Guild

Plans were made for a membership tea to be held Jan. 11, when members of the Grace Lutheran Altar Guild met Tuesday evening at the church.

Each member will bring one guest to the tea and brief business meeting. The group will tour the church with the Rev. O. G. Schultz, to view the rich symbolism used throughout the building.

Olson Stops Langlois in 11th to Retain Title

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—Screams of anguish echoed from one sector of the French boxing front Thursday but the fact remains that America's Carl (Bobo) Olson still holds a firm grip on the world middleweight championship.

San Francisco's Bobo, 26, always a cruel but seldom a killing puncher, turned back the threat of gallant Pierre Langlois of France Wednesday night, stopping the invader from Normandy on a technical knockout after 58 seconds of the 11th round.

Slated for 15 rounds, the nationally televised attraction was halted by Referee Ray Flores because of the unsightly condition of Pierre's left brow and eyelid.

A noisy crowd of 16,543 who paid a gross of $107,660, which returned a net of $93,369, after state and federal taxes, watched the proceedings in San Francisco's Cow Palace. If the nation's TV audience saw it the same way as those present in person, they must have been satisfied.

Bobo first ripped open the brow in the best round of the fight, the sixth, and gave it an unmerciful lashing in the 10th.

Pierre, his chance of overtaking the punching Bobo fast disappearing, came out for the 11th with the cut temporarily mended by his frantic handlers.

It took Bobo but a few seconds to start the blood pouring again, and that's when Flores stepped in. Dr. Robert Ladd, state athletic commission physician, examined the cut in Pierre's corner. He advised that to let Langlois continue would be to risk serious eye injury.

There were some boos from the gallery, mainly because they hated to see a fight stopped. Ringside writers, with few if any exceptions, realized the grave danger to Pierre.

Not so Langlois' manager, Jean Bretonnet, and his volatile American representative, George Kanter of New York.

Barely in the dressing room, Kanter, who speaks good French, said in plain English:

"The public was cheated."

"Langlois was coasting in the 10th and 11th rounds in order to finish strong."

"The doctors and referees in California are lousy. In New York they are okay."

Langlois, nursing a cut two inches long and 1/4-inch wide, said nothing.

Kanter said Olson butted Pierre in the 10th round.

Informed of this, Olson retorted,

"If anybody butted in the 10th round, it was Langlois when he weaved and shook his head in the corner."

Olson, shuffling, chopping in one round, standing off and slashing away from long range in another, was far in front at the finish.

Flores and Judge Jack Downey had Bobo in front, under California's 11-point per round scoring system, 59-50. Judge Vern Bybee scored it 59-51. The Associated Press card read 59-50-51.

OLSON SCORES—Pierre Langlois of France of their scheduled 15-round title bout at San Francisco last night. Olson won on a technical 'Bobo' Olson scores to the head in the 2nd round knockout in the 11th.

Ref Surprised by Criticism at His Action

Says Duty Was Clear in Asking Doctor to Examine Langlois

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—Referee Ray Flores, criticized by Pierre Langlois' handlers for stopping the Frenchman's fight with middleweight champion Bobo Olson Wednesday night, was surprised.

"If Langlois thinks the doctor made the eyebrow cut bigger, what do you think Olson would have done with an overhand right?" he asked.

"My duty was clear. I called the doctor."

Langlois' left brow was laid wide open — a 2-inch gash, 1/4 inch wide. After 58 seconds of the 11th round, Flores halted the scrap and summoned Dr. Robert Ladd, California State Athletic Commission physician.

The doctor looked and said it would be "very dangerous" for Langlois to continue. The fight thus ended via technical knockout.

He barely touched Langlois in examining the cut, Dr. Ladd said.

Trabert, Seixas Trip Swedes to Give U.S. 2-0 Cup Lead

BRISBANE, Australia (U)—Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas sent the United States into a 2-0 lead over Sweden Thursday in the interzone final for the right to challenge Australia for the coveted Davis Cup — symbol of world tennis supremacy.

Tow-headed Tony, his booming game drawing admiring applause from the packed stands of the Milton Courts, blasted Sven Davidson, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, while Seixas, the American champion, outbattled Lennart Bergelin, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2.

Now Seixas and Trabert need only win the doubles Friday or one of the remaining singles tests on Saturday to take the best-of-five series and move on to the challenge round two weeks hence. Trabert and Seixas are regarded as perhaps the best doubles combination in amateur tennis, so it will come as a distinct surprise if they don't whip the Davidson-Bergelin combination.

It was a dank, miserable day Down Under and the Trabert-Davidson match was postponed for two hours because of a rainstorm.

When it finally did get under way, Trabert donned spikes because some of the rain seeped through the tarpaulin and made the center court anything but ideal.

Although Davidson bowed in straight sets, the match was close on occasion. The Swede actually liked the heavy courts because he was more at home on them. They reminded him of the indoor boards in Sweden where he did most of his playing.

The young outfielder, whose amazing exploits at bat and in the field were prime factors in the Giants' pennant and World Series success, was the overwhelming choice of the 24-man committee, receiving 283 points as compared to 217 for runner-up Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati.

The 23-year-old wonder boy was named on every ballot. He received 16 first-place votes, 2 for second, 3 for third and 1 each for fourth, fifth and seventh. Kluszewski, the Redlegs' slugging first baseman, received 7 first-place votes, 6 for second, 2 for third, 5 for fourth and 1 each for fifth, sixth and eighth.

Pitcher Johnny Antonelli of the Giants finished third in the voting with 154 points; outfielder Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers, fourth, 135; and shortstop Al Dark of the Giants, fifth, with 110. Dark received the other first-place vote.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals was sixth with 97 votes, followed by Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phils with 70. Then came Joe Adcock of the Milwaukee Braves with 60, Pee Wee Reese of Brooklyn, 53, and Gil Hodges, also of the Dodgers, 40.

Playing his first full season in the majors, Mays captured the National League batting championship with .345, led the circuit with 13 triples and also won the slugging title with an impressive .667 percentage. His extra-base output included 33 doubles, 13 triples and 41 homers. He also was up among the leaders with 110 runs batted in.

The lithe, 5-foot-10 1/2 native of Fairfield, Ala., was just as spectacular in the field. His amazing catches and throws had veteran observers comparing him to such former center field standouts as Tris Speaker, Joe DiMaggio, Terry Moore and Max Carey.

His sensational running, back-to-the-plate catch of Vic Wertz's 450-foot drive to deepest center which saved the opening game of the recent World Series, is regarded as one of the greatest ever made in any fall classic.

Willie Voted Most Valuable

NEW YORK (U)—Willie Howard Mays, spectacular center fielder of the world champion New York Giants, was voted today the Most Valuable Player in the National League for 1954 by the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

Merchants' Second Half Flurry Beats Beattie in Recreation Action

Manny's Ringside outlasted Philgas, 42-40, and Waterford Merchants' spilled Beattie Motors, 33-41, in Wednesday night's Waterford Township Recreation basketball league games at Cray Junior High School.

Manny's built up a lead, but had to hold on against the rallying Philgas quietest at the finish. Dick DeWitt looped in 19 points for the Ringsiders, while Dick Hessegrave notched 18 for the losers.

In the nightcap of the twin bill, Waterford Merchants came from a 6-point halftime deficit to pull away in the 3rd period.

Seth Cummings meshed 19 points to take scoring honors, while Gene Kelly and Carl had nine each for Beatties.

Indianapolis Ace Tops AA's Hurlers

CHICAGO (U)—Herb Score, star lefthander for the Indianapolis Indians, topped American Assn. hurlers in 1954 in nearly every department.

Score led in earned runs with a 2.62 average; worked the most complete games, 21; won the most games, 22; had the best won-and-lost percentage, .815; faced the most batters, 869; walked the most batsmen, 140; established a new strikeout record of 330, and worked the most innings, 251.

Penalties Didn't Bother Irish '11'

Notre Dame Lost 87 Yards Per Game, Still Had Good Year

NEW YORK (U)—Notre Dame suffered more from penalties than any other major-college football team this fall, but had a highly successful season nevertheless. Holy Cross benefitted most from opposition fumble, but that didn't help it avoid a losing campaign.

These were among the miscellaneous statistical items released today by the NCAA Service Bureau. Notre Dame was penalized the most, 87 yards a game. At the same time the Irish picked up only 25.5 yards a game from penalties against the opposition.

Meanwhile, Holy Cross tied the all-time major-college record by recovering 32 opponents' fumbles—but won only three out of 10. Holy Cross opponents fumbled 48 times this year and only Southern California was given pure opportunities to grab the ball, 50. The record Holy Cross tied was set last year by Texas Tech.

Harvard and Auburn fumbled the fewest times. Harvard bobbed 14 times in eight games, Auburn 16 times in 10.

Pair of Sophs Show Mettle for Wolverines

Shearon Is Cage Star Despite Size; Schiller Plucky Puckchaser

ANN ARBOR (U)—Basketball is no game for the little fella. Hockey is no game for the sissy. Two Michigan sophomores are busy proving they are neither of these. On the basketball floor, Jimmy Shearon looks very little. But being one of the smallest men on the squad hasn't stopped him.

This 5-foot-11 sophomore is as quick as a chicken. He seems to be a master of court strategy and apparently can see out of his ears.

It's apparent that the next two years hold a lot of promise for Shearon. But another Michigan sophomore, this one a hockey player, is concerned mostly about this season.

He's 185-pound Bob Schiller of Windsor, Ont. Last weekend against Montreal, Schiller hit the ice. A flying skate whipped toward his cheek.

Doctors worked for more than an hour and took 36 stitches to close the wound. Then yesterday, Schiller's hopes to get back into the lineup suffered again, doctors discovered his cheek bone had been cracked. He was operated on yesterday.

Hockey coach Vic Heyliger, who needs Schiller for his second line, and Schiller himself have been convinced that there will be no more hockey—at least until after the Christmas holidays.

Ken Titherage Scores 22 Points to Spark 78-59 Victory

Shaw's Jewelers won their 2nd straight start in the City Basketball League's "A" division last night, drubbing Clarkson 78-59.

Forward Ken Titherage piled up 22 points to spark the Jewelers, who blazed to a 45-25 halftime lead.

In Class B, Davis Machinery edged Boys' Club 55-48 after trailing 15-8 at the end of the 1st quarter. The teams started the final period tied at 30-30 and Davis outscored the BC five 12-0 to win.

Bob Mills led the winners with 16 points, while Bob Brennan had 15 for the losers.

Two Iowa Players Join North's Team

MIAMI, Fla. (U)—Two University of Iowa players, center Warren Lawson and quarterback-end Lewis Matykievicz, were added to the North's roster Thursday for the Shrine College All-Star football game here Christmas night.

Lawson, a 200-pounder, was Iowa's starting center this year. Matykievicz, 190, lettered as a linebacker as a sophomore and as a quarterback in 1953, when he was the team's total offense leader. This past season he moved to end.

Halfback Pat Abbruzzi of Rhode Island State was named to the North squad Wednesday. Four more players are yet to be named. The South's 25-man roster has been filled.

NCAA Official Confident of Solving Problem

Byers Thinks National Football TV Issue Will Be Settled

KANSAS CITY (U)—Walter Byers says he feels the NCAA can work out a suitable college football television plan that will be agreeable to opponents of last season's program.

Byers, executive secretary of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., told a press conference Wednesday that his organization's TV committee had sent a report on football television "conclusions and recommendations" to more than 400 member schools for study.

Some schools in the NCAA — notably those in the Big Ten Conference — opposed last season's "Game of the Week" setup. Under it, only one game each week was telecast and no team was allowed to appear more than once during the year.

The Big Ten has been plugging for television on a regional basis. Byers said although the television issue will come up at the NCAA's annual convention in New York City Jan. 5-7, he expected a more or less placid meeting.

The TV committee's report sent to member schools suggests next year's plan "should continue to emphasize the protective purpose which was inherent in the 1954 plan." Last season's setup was designed to protect its schools from possible loss of revenue through telecasts of games.

He said he considered reports the Big Ten might withdraw from the NCAA over the television issue "overemphasized in press reports."

He added that the conference had "advanced a definite plan which it believes has merit. Other conferences such as the Pacific Coast and Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference, have done the same."

"I'm convinced that a suitable program for the future can be worked out."

Soph Hits 21 Points to Lead Marquette to Victory

ANN ARBOR (U)—Michigan had the misfortune last night of meeting a fired-up basketball team with a red hot sophomore forward, Marquette beat Michigan, 83-78.

It was Michigan's last loss this season against two victories. They could blame it all on the dead-eye corner shooting of Marquette sophomore Gerry Hopfensperger.

Marquette, capitalizing on Hopfensperger's 21 points, on the high for the night, gained its 4th straight victory after bowing in its season opener to Michigan State.

The bespectacled Hopfensperger sank 10 field goals and one free throw for his total, and fouled out before the game was over.

Michigan, on the other hand, looked weak beneath the backboards as Marquette tightened its defenses on the center position. Jim Barron, Michigan guard, led the Wolverines with 18 points, 10 of them coming on free throws. Harvey Williams, 6-foot-8 center, ganged on most of the night, managed to score 17 points.

'Overrated' Missouri Quintet Wallops Arkansas; Top-Ranked LaSalle Hands Lafayette First Loss

The Associated Press

If, as Coach Spargy Stallcup insists, Missouri's Tigers have been rapped among the nation's top college basketball teams prematurely, what's it going to be like when they hit their stride?

Stallcup's "overrated" Missourians cuffed the Big Ten around in four meetings, spilling Iowa, Wisconsin and Indiana after an opening loss to Illinois. And now they've staged a raid on the South-west Conference with Arkansas the 77-58 victim Wednesday night as Stallcup freed his reserves more freely than in previous Missouri successes.

The Tigers just out-ran, out-shot and out-played the Razorbacks with Bob Reiter, a 6-foot-3 center, scoring 25 points. It was 40-24 at the half.

LaSalle, ranked No. 1, gave All-America Tom Gola the reins and trotted home with a 76-60 victory over previously unbeaten Lafayette. Gola scored 25 points—with 15 field goals that missed his own team record by one — while playing the full 40 minutes as the Explorers won their fifth straight without defeat.

No. 2 ranked Kentucky was idle, but third place Illinois and No. 4 North Carolina State moved right along. The Illini, with center George Bonasile scoring 24, whipped Miami of Ohio 97-72 for their fourth success while State made it No. 7 by clubbing South Carolina 91-62.

Dayton, No. 5, had the toughest assignment, and held out for a 71-67 overtime victory over 12th ranked Louisville, considered one of the powers of the South. It was Louisville's first setback in seven starts.

Dayton now is 5-0. Duquesne (No. 9) rebounded from its defeat in the Steel Bowl with a 74-52 victory over College of the Pacific.

Holy Cross, ranked 19th and also once beaten, matched Duquesne's comeback and played its best game of the season while lacing previously unbeaten St. Anselm's, 96-58.

The only surprise of the night saw Purdue finally knock off Notre Dame, No. 20, after having failed to beat the Irish since 1947. The score was 78-58 as Notre Dame lost its second decision.

All the other ranked teams were idle.

Razorbacks and 'Wreck' Promise Hot Bowl Scrap

DALLAS (U)—His team beat one of the Cotton Bowl participants and lost to the other but Coach Woody Woodard of Southern Methodist doesn't think there's enough difference between them to make a choice of the winner on New Year's Day.

"Arkansas and Georgia Tech are almost as evenly matched as you could imagine," said Woodard. "They have two different styles of offense — Arkansas using the sin-

Dancer Wins Crown as Year's Top Horse

BALTIMORE (U)—Native Dancer narrowly won over High Gun in the Turf and Sport Digest's 19th annual poll on the best horse of the year.

The Dancer got 44 votes to 42 for High Gun in results announced Thursday. The magazine said it was the closest race since it started the poll in 1936.

Voting was done by 174 sports writers and broadcasters. They chose Native Dancer also as the best older horse and High Gun best of the 3-year-olds.

Nashua was rated the best 2-year-old colt and High Voltage the best 2-year-old filly.

Football Schedules Would Be Rugged If Big Ten Bolted From NCAA Over TV

EAST LANSING (U)—The Big Ten threat to bolt the NCAA brings up some interesting possibilities.

The Big Ten, most powerful sports conference in the country, is unhappy about NCAA thinking on the television of football games. Western Conference leaders would like more regional television. And the threat has been voiced that the Big Ten will pull out of the NCAA if it doesn't get its way.

Actually, there is little chance that this will happen. The fellows who know collegiate sports politics say this is mostly a threat and that some kind of a compromise will be worked out at the NCAA meetings in January.

But it's a fascinating subject to kick around when you start working on the theme of what would happen if...

The members of the Big Ten most vocal in the threat are talking about a round robin play in football.

Now that would be a blockbuster of a schedule with every Big Ten team taking on every other one in the conference.

Big Ten schedules are made up through 1958. So what would happen to the football contracts already arranged with the non-conference schools?

The NCAA might allow the previously-arranged contracts to be honored. Or it could forbid outside schools from playing with the Big Ten. Then the conference members could reshuffle their schedules to play each other.

The thinking is that if the Big Ten actually did bolt, the Pacific Coast Conference would follow suit. Then the Big Ten could continue in Rose Bowl agreement.

Notre Dame, also loudly unhappy about the present television setup, probably would pull out also.

And if this actually happened the NCAA would be just about wrecked as an effective means of college sports control.

But say the Big Ten had to go it alone with all other schools forbidden to compete with the Western Conference members. In most of the sports there wouldn't be any trouble making up a schedule.

CHARLESTON, S. C. (INS)—John E. Sauer, former assistant coach with the Los Angeles Rams, is the new head football coach at the Citadel.

Sauer, a quarterback for the Army team of 1944-45, succeeded John D. McMillan who was released last season. Sauer had been with the Rams the past two seasons.

Contest Here Is Last Until After Holidays*Chiefs Still Smarting
From PH Defeat; Make
One Lineup ShiftBy BILL MARTIN
Pontiac High's basketball team, smarting from Tuesday's unexpected loss at Port Huron, returns to Saginaw Valley Conference play here Friday against highly-rated Flint Central.

The contest, one of two Valley games listed for the night, will conclude Pontiac's pre-holiday competition. Chiefs won't be back in action until Jan. 14, when Saginaw High comes here.

Friday's other SVC tilt sends Saginaw's high-scoring twice-beaten Trojans to Bay City Central. Flint Northern and Arthur Hill are idle.

Coach Art Van Ryzin sent his charges through a light drill yesterday and scheduled another brief session for this afternoon. Chiefs appeared tired and stale against Port Huron, and Van Ryzin wants them as fresh as possible for Flint Central, which has played only one game to date.

Only change in the PHS lineup will give junior Rod Treals, a 6-footer who played on the jayvees last season, his 1st starting assignment. He will team with John James at forward.

The move is designed to pack more scoring potential in the Chiefs' front line. Senior Marv Caswell and junior Walt King, who have been alternating at the spot opposite James, have accounted for only six points in three games.

Central coach Joe Dowdy will start Chuck Crickmore and Ken Lucas at forwards, Tom Owen or Joe Quarles at center, Ed Nyberg and John Fleser or Chuck Johnson at guards.

Owen stands 6-4½, while Crickmore, Lucas and Quarles are all six feet or taller.

Indians set a school single-game scoring record in winning their sole start, 93-53, over Bay City Handy. Dowdy used 14 men in the one-sided tilt and all contributed to the scoring. Central hit a torrid .515 percentage of its 68 shots.

Joyce-Richter Decision Won't Be Made Public

LOS ANGELES (UP) — National Football League Commissioner Bert Bell says he will not make public his decision in the Don Joyce-Les Richter incident in the Los Angeles-Baltimore game of Dec. 4.

Fourteen stitches were required to close a wound over Richter's right eye which the Ram tackle said was inflicted by Joyce, 255-pound Colt tackle. Joyce was ejected from the game by officials.

Bell notified the Los Angeles Rams today from Philadelphia that the case isn't closed and that there will be no public announcement of the decision.

Carrasquel and Fox Spark Sox to AL's Top Defense

CHICAGO (UP) — The Chicago White Sox boasted the No. 1 double play combination and the best all-round defense in the American League this year.

Official figures disclosed that the White Sox compiled a team fielding average of .982 and that shortstop Chico Carrasquel and second baseman Nelson Fox formed the league's best key-stone combination.

Carrasquel committed only 20 errors in 792 chances for a .975 average while Fox committed only nine errors in 801 chances for a glittering .989 mark.

In addition, the pair shared in 102 double plays—the most of any combination in the circuit.

The Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees shared second place in the defensive rankings, each with a .979 average.

Rounding out an infield of the league's leading defense players were Mickey Vernon of the Senators, who led the first-basemen with a .992 average, and Grady Hatton of the Red Sox, who led the third basemen with .989.

Jim Hegan of the Indians was the leading defensive catcher with a .994 mark in 137 games. Frank House of the Tigers was second with .993 in 107 games.

Jim Delsing of the Tigers committed only one error in 227 chances to compile a .996 mark that topped the outfielders and Mickey Mantle of the Yankees led in throwing with 20 assists.

A total of 26 pitchers did not commit a single error during the season. Virgil Trucks of the White Sox led with 38 chances.

Busy Prep Cagers Play 27 Games Friday

By JACK SAYLOR

Milford's joust with Keego Harbor for first place in the Wayne-Oakland League highlights a heavy 27-game prep basketball schedule in the Oakland County area Friday night.

Pontiac-area courts will be busy as three games will be played in the city, along with contests at Waterford, Keego, Clarkston, Walled Lake, Oxford, Troy and Ortonville.

Milford, which has averaged almost 78 points per game in racking up three straight victories, for the first time will bump into an outfit that can match the Redskins in height.

Keego's only game to date was a 34-30 conference win over Clarencville. Milford's league record also is 1-0. The principal job confronting Sam Minard's Presidents is stopping the scoring forays of Jim Davidson and Tom Gould.

In the Redskins' three wins, Davidson has averaged 27.7 points, and Gould 19.3. Yet Keego cannot overload this pair defensively, because guard Fred Baker, forward Don Perkuchin and reserve forward John Sherwood also are scoring threats.

Rebounding will be a prime factor and Keego should put up a strong battle in this department with John Craig (6-6), Frank Rogers (6-2), Dennis Singleton (6-3) and Bill Nicholson (6-1) available.

Clarkston's hustling Wolves see their first league action Friday after winning two of three non-league starts. Holly (1-1) provides the opposition. Top game in the Oakland-B sends Roseville to Madison. Roseville won its only game, while the Eagles have taken three in a row, including one league encounter.

A full schedule is on tap in the Lake-Lakes. Berkley and Van Dyke both have 1-3 records and the victory by each was in league play. Farmington and Walled Lake hook up on the Vikings' floor in an interesting test.

Farmington has split four games, while the Lakers' only loss in four outings was a 1-point overtime setback at Plymouth Tuesday. Southfield and Waterford both will be trying to end losing streaks in the Skippers' gymnasium.

Waterford has dropped three straight, while Southfield has lost its last two after winning a pair. Poor shooting has plagued the Bluejays with only Bob Evans able to find the hoop.

Evans, a 5-9 southpaw guard, is averaging almost 17 points a game. The Skipper problem is similar with nobody aiding guard Jerry Krukie, who has averaged 15 points in Waterford's three setbacks. However, Waterford is without the services of Bob Jacober, its top scorer last season. His injured wrist has not mended properly.

Birmingham, winner of its only two games, sees its first league competition at Mt. Clemens, and Ortonville enters the Millington in a South Central tilt. County Independents also will be active with Rochester at Lapeer, Romeo at Oxford and Lake Orion at Davison.

Rochester, a loser only once in four games, has discovered good scoring balance in youngsters Dave Peters, Ron LeBarre, and Bill Dean, along with veteran Earl Kitchen.

Oxford, which has dropped two

Two Trojan Backs Injured in Drills

LOS ANGELES — They're playing rough at Southern California's practice field as the Trojans get ready for the Rose Bowl game against Ohio State.

Lindon Crow, star right half-back, suffered an injury to his already injured right knee two days ago and Wednesday Ron Calabria suffered a mild concussion that forced him out of the scrimmage session. The session was devoted to defenses against the Ohio State attack as presented by the Trojan reserves.

Maurice Richard of the Canadians has scored 384 hockey goals in 12 years.

Fordham Drops Football After Bad Year

Modern Day Baseball Player Has Easy Life

CINCINNATI (AP)—Let the ball players of today listen to Matty Schwab, for 50 years groundskeeper for the Cincinnati Redlegs, and maybe they will think that, after all, they are being coddled.

Matty, a master groundskeeper, tells this one about player accommodations in 1895.

"There were no showers. We had a tank full of water for the players to use after they soaked themselves off at the wash basins. The ball players had to buy their own soap and furnish their own towels, too."

Frosh Sets New Mark

Michigan State freshman swimmer Al Coxin set a new freshman record of 1:33.7 in winning the 150-yard individual medley in a meet against the Spartan varsity.

More Than Capacity!

The Detroit Lions average home crowd during the 1954 season was 54,340, which is 1,487 more than Briggs Stadium's seating capacity.

Aides Stick With Paul

Home-Grown Assistants One Reason for Great Success of Cleveland Eleven

CLEVELAND (AP)—Win or lose in the two upcoming games with the Detroit Lions—one non-important and the other all-important—the Cleveland Browns have proved you don't have to go far afield to gather a winning batch of football coaching talent.

The palm as the country's outstanding "family affair" coaching staff must go to Paul E. Brown and his eager aides.

Precision Paul—with a record no mentor has ever matched through the high school, college, service and professional fields—always has had the knack of surrounding himself with able assistants.

Many coaches reach over here for a line mentor, over there for an end tutor, somewhere else for other assistants. But not Brown!

Of the five men on the Browns' staff, four made their first bids for fame in Stark County, Ohio, three right in Massillon.

Brown, in a coaching career stretching from 1930 through last Sunday, has compiled a record of 233 victories, 38 losses and 9 ties. As a pro he's won 103, lost 17 and tied 3 in championship play.

Back in 1932, when he took over the Massillon High School reins at his alma mater after a 2-year 16-1-1 record at Severn Prep, one of his ends was 135-pound Fritz Heisler.

At center was Howard Brinker. On the Canton McKinley coaching staff, Massillon's most revered foe only six miles away, was Paul Bixler.

Heisler and Brinker both went on to Miami U., where Brown had played as a 130-pound quarterback. After graduation both joined Brown on the Massillon coaching staff.

In 1941, when Brown—with a 58-1-1 record in his last six years—took over the Ohio State job, Heisler went along. Brinker moved to Steubenville. Both went into the service. Heisler coming back to join Brown with the professionals.

There you have the heart of the Browns coaching staff—those four old friends and playmates—Brown, Heisler, Brinker and Bixler.

High-Scoring Celtics Are Hitting Over 100 Points

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If the Boston Celtics continue their prolific point-production, the National Basketball Assn. had better start thinking of equipping the courts around the circuit with adding machines.

Officials Selected for Sugar Bowl Game

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Officials for the Navy-Mississippi Sugar Bowl football game were announced today by the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Assn. sponsor of the Jan. 1 classic.

They are Albie Booth (Yale), referee; Jimmy Hitchcock (Auburn), field judge; Charles Wood (Georgia Tech), head linesman; James Henry (Villanova), umpire, and M. J. Bullock (Mississippi), emergency official and clock operator.

Lions' Defensive Back Shutout in Nine Games

Carl Karilivacz, Detroit Lions' defensive halfback, was "shutout" in nine "54 games, but snagged two enemy aerials to help the Lions win their 3rd straight Western Division title by virtue of a 13-13 tie against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Anderson 12th Coach

Forrest (Fordy) Anderson is Michigan State's 12th head coach of basketball since the sport was started on the Spartan campus in 1899.

Browns Lose Adamle

CLEVELAND (AP)—Tony Adamle, Cleveland Browns' substitute linbacker, suffered a "hairline fracture" of the right leg Sunday and will be out for the season.

Adamle, who came out of retirement to bolster the Cleveland defense early this season, was injured while blocking on a kickoff in a game the Browns won from Pittsburgh.

"My cleats caught in the turf just as I was hit," he explained. The fracture was just below his right knee.

Lack of Money for Grid Sport Dictates Move

Financial Returns Too Small to Carry Sport, Official Says

NEW YORK (AP)—For the fifth time in its 71-year history—speckled with great teams and brilliant players—Fordham University has decided to drop football, this time perhaps for good.

On the four other occasions it discontinued the sport various reasons were at hand. This time it's the "continued financial loss" the university has suffered through recent years, with no hope of improvement in the future.

The Rev. Laurence J. McGinley, president of the university, nailed the cause in a letter to alumni which was released with the announcement of the end of football at Fordham yesterday.

"Friends and alumni," he wrote, "like to read about (our football) in the Sunday papers. The trouble simply is that so few want to watch it on Saturday—and the tickets are sold for Saturday."

The end of Fordham football, announced by Jack Coffey, graduate manager of athletics, came after a horrible 1954 season for the Rams. They won only one game and tied one while losing seven. They also lost Coach Ed Danowski, an all-time Fordham great and head coach since 1936, who resigned after the past season.

The decision to drop football was judged essential to the university's best interests. In his letter to alumni, McGinley wrote:

"No part of Fordham is conducted for profit. Fordham has a great task to do in preparing its 10,000 students of today intellectually and spiritually to be citizens of tomorrow. Among intercollegiate sports football has a special place in American tradition as a means of heightening student spirit and increasing alumni solidarity. The unfortunate fact remains that, after 4 years of cooperative endeavors, we have run out of money for football and must balance our books."

Fordham dropped football before in 1894-95, 1910-11, 1919 and the war years of 1943-45. It is the 85th school to give up football since the end of the 1946 season.

Wilson Urges Full Public Support for '56 Olympics

NEW YORK (INS)—Defense Secretary Charles Wilson urged "full public support of the 1956 Olympics" last night for better "international understanding and good will."

In a cable read before the opening night performance of the motion picture, "Country Girl," from which all proceeds will go to the Olympic fund for sending out athletes to the games, Wilson said:

"During the 1956 Olympic to be held in Melbourne, the armed forces will contribute substantially to the American teams participating in these international competitions. Appropriately, the interest of the defense department in the forthcoming games is greater than usual."

Lewicki's Goal Gives Rangers 3-3 Deadlock

Pavelich Gets Pair of Markers for Red Wings in Tie

NEW YORK (AP)—Detroit Red Wings, seeking their 5th straight victory, had to settle for a 3-3 tie with the 5th place New York Rangers last night.

Danny Lewicki fired in the tying goal at 12:10 of the final period after Detroit had led most of the way. On a pass from Bones Raleigh, Lewicki fired from point blank range past goalie Terry Sawchuk.

Dean Prentice gave the Rangers an early lead with a dash from the blue line in the 1st period. Marty Pavelich came back with two goals to put the Wings in front 2-1 before the period was over.

In the 2nd period Wally Hergeheimer lined a bullet shot from 20 feet out to pull the Rangers even again. Alex Delvecchio put Detroit ahead again at 15:41 of the period with the final score off Ranger alle Lorne Worsley.

Wings' lead lasted until Lewicki wiped it out with less than eight minutes to play.

A crowd of 6,281 watched the Madison Square Garden contest.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY BIXTY

CASE—The 8-10 split.
A Cincinnati reader writes: "My ball apparently hooks into the strike pocket solidly, but I keep drawing the 8-10 split. Why?"

The ball lacks finish. Though perhaps not perceptible at the foot line, the ball is "flattening out," as they say. Its hook has been spent. It has lost its spin.

its power. And it is deflected to the right as it hits the 1-3 pocket.

Hence, it bounces off the No. 5 pin, hits the No. 9 full, and misses the No. 8. A ball driven into the pocket, with a hook, sends the No. 5 upward, and it gets the No. 8. With a "flat" ball, the No. 5 pin slides lazily past the No. 8—and there then is that ugly 8-10.

What to do? Stop trying to put too much stuff on the ball, too much hook-spin. As the sketch shows, so that, looking down at the hand, there's a "V" formed by the thumb and index finger.

Germ-Filled Water, Milk to Replace French Alcohol

By MARGARET LATROBE

Premier Mendes-France, according to news reports, upset the French apple cart which normally would have ended up as Calvados, that homemade applejack. Now it's going to be sauce, dumplings or something equally innocuous.

In what could bring on another Bastille Day, the Premier issued his last and final word—no more boozing, messieurs. Mendes-France said that alcoholism was his country's worst enemy, that it was filling insane hospitals, making French industrial workers cock-eyed, and generally playing hob with the national picture. He insisted on strict controls for the consumption of alcoholic beverages in France.

Mendes-France drinks only one beverage at public functions—milk, of all things. This white substance is almost unknown among French adults. Even the kiddies in grammar school tote their little jugs of snots along to school for swishing down their lunch.

Factory workers, strangers to the contraption, known over here as a water cooler, stash away the vino in company coolers.

Now the way I heard it, it was always an American in Paris who was cluttering up the curbs outside Maxim's, after having taken a swig too many of the French national toddy. But ah, zee French—nevaire! They knew how to drink. They never got drunk. Only the poor little rich Americans, who hadn't been raised to drink like gentlemen.

Well, I thought Mendes-France was wrong about EDC, but it looks to me as if he is right about shutting down the snifters. And I admire the man for doing what he believes to be right, in the face of what will become a deluge of criticism.

The French simply never gave the right time of day to a drink of water. For the bath, perhaps.

but not for the goblet. They have spent centuries perfecting the making of champagne but haven't given 30 minutes' time to purifying their water supplies. Of course, you sell more wine if the visitors think the water is contaminated—could be it wouldn't kill a soul, if drank, May-bee.

Anyway, from hence, the French kiddies are going to put away that nonsense of the alphabet—"A" for absinthe, "B" for Burgundy, "C" for champagne. Even Papa is going to think twice before loading the thermos with dry wine. It's going to be that old, gummy, wet water or milk for mes amis. Ain't it a pity!

UNIT BY UNIT—High-fidelity components are something to be bought by unit over several Christmases. Parts shown here are: cabinet, AM-FM tuner, 16-watt amplifier, extended range-speaker and three-speed record changer and turntable.

Purchase Hi-Fi Equipment After Careful Selection

The hi-fi nut will be hard put to it to be gracious if you bring him around just any old needle or just any old speaker.

He has made up his mind what he wants—whether he wants it to sound as if he were perched on the milk or in the back of the hall—and the specifications for the needle he needs read like directions for building an atomic reactor.

For this reason, the rich uncle or independently wealthy wife had better enter advisedly into adding to his hi-fi set.

Find out exactly what he wants—or let him buy it and you pay the bill. If husband and wife are both nutty this way, they will probably get one component as their family gift.

A reasonable collection of parts would read like this: Model 800 cabinet by Cabinet; Hi-fi AM-FM tuner model 750 by Freed-Eismann; Hi-fi 10-watt amplifier model 910 by Freed-Eismann; Hi-fi extended range speaker, the Diffusicon 12 by University; Hi-fi three-speed record changer RC30 Triumph by Garrard.

Mrs. Newton became a great-great-grandmother when a son was born to Mrs. Robert Gallaway of Long Beach, Calif., her great granddaughter.

The eldest of Mrs. Newton's daughters, Mrs. Loyce McAnally of Big Lake, Texas, was married at 15 and herself became a grandmother at 32.

Convict in Japan on Hunger Strike

Honolulu Man Claims He Will Continue Fast Until Death

TOKYO (AP)—Robert F. Buda, of Honolulu, serving a six-year term in a Japanese prison for attempted murder, has been on a hunger strike for a week, prison officials said today.

Buda says he will continue the strike "until my death."

The officials said Buda has refused to eat solid foods since Friday but has been taking liquids. He did not appear to be weakening.

The 47-year-old Honolulu businessman was convicted April 17 of attempted robbery and attempted murder of his partner Andrew Chang, 35, of San Francisco.

He was sentenced to 12 years in prison. A higher court Sept. 29 reduced the sentence to six years and threw out the charge of attempted robbery.

Buda appealed again but the new appeal has not been heard. Buda claims the dismissal of the robbery count eliminates any possible motive he had for the shooting.

Both Buda and Chang told widely conflicting stories in court testimony after the shooting. Chang has since left for Hong Kong, according to immigration authorities.

Appeal Gets Three Stiffer Jail Terms

BOSTON (AP)—An appeal from a lower court sentence for assault on two naval officers proved today to be an unwise move for three young men.

Each was sentenced to six months at the lower court proceedings. They appealed to Superior Court, where Judge Edmund R. Dewing yesterday termed them "cowardly young punks" and handed out the following stiffer sentences:

Vincent Flemmi, 22, a house of correction term of 2½ years; Vincent J. Frisia, 27, 18 months; and Salvatore J. Balliro, 18, an indefinite term in Concord Reformatory.

Naval Reserve Unit Plans Holiday Ball

Pontiac Naval Reserve Surface Division 9-104 will hold its annual Christmas Ball Saturday night for reserve members and their guests at the reserve armory, 469 S. East Blvd.

French Ambassador's Wife Honored by U.S. Newshens

WASHINGTON (INS)—Just about France's best salesman in this country since the days of Lafayette has been given a singular decoration—the "Order of the Typewriter."

It was bestowed on Mme. Henri Bonnet, wife of the retiring French ambassador, at a farewell party given in her honor by the Women's National Press Club.

The "award"—a white ribbon draped about the chic Mme. Bonnet—was never given before and probably will never be made again. It is just a white ribbon—the kind you can buy at any store.

But it was the newswomen's way of saying to another hard working woman, "Well done, friend."

Mme. Bonnet made history in celebrity-acquainted Washington because she wasn't just an ambassador's wife whose world was entertaining and being entertained by other diplomats.

In her 10 years as chateau of the French embassy, she endeavored herself to reporters, for instance, by her accessibility and readiness to answer questions. Maybe she worked in a plug or two for France while giving the answers, but answers she did give.

Mme. Bonnet, who is a Greek by birth and a Frenchwoman by marriage, has traveled through every section of the United States.

She said she has been made to "feel so good" by the letters she has received from strangers expressing regret that she and the ambassador are leaving the country in a couple of weeks.

It may come as a surprise to some who think of their fellow Americans—if not of themselves—as being on the "hard-boiled" side, but Mme. Bonnet said the quality which most impressed her about this country was its "kindness."

In Washington she said she found everyone extending an helping hand but two—"All I had to do was reach out and take them."

In accepting her "award" the goodwill envoy said she didn't think France was merely an ally of the U.S. but "a sister, for your principles are our principles and together we will be able to work so the whole world will be free."

UM Atomic Reactor to Be Started in 1955

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Construction will start early next year on the University of Michigan's million-dollar, million-watt nuclear reactor.

The reactor will be in a windowless, three-story addition to the Phoenix Memorial Laboratory currently being erected on the university's new north campus.

Plans for the reactor went ahead after approval was received from the Atomic Energy Commission yesterday on safety provisions and operating conditions.

The Phoenix Memorial is dedicated to research on the peaceful uses of atomic energy. A grant from the Ford Motor Co. Fund will finance the reactor. The AEC assured the university in June that uranium fuel would be supplied if safety approval was given.

Family Will Have Happy Christmas in Spite of Thief

CHICAGO (AP)—The Benjamin family of Waterford, Mich., will have a merry Christmas despite a nasty thief.

Shirley Benjamin, 12, wrote Chicago police that she and her mother and her little sister had been shopping here with $15 they earned picking tomatoes and berries.

"We only spent $15," the girl wrote, "but it was all we had to make a nice Christmas for the six. While the Benjamins were spending the night with Shirley's aunt on the northwest side, someone broke into their car and stole the hard-earned presents."

Mike Barnes, 78, who described himself as "semi-retired and in show business," heard of the Benjamins' plight.

Recalling some lean Christmases he had spent as an orphan newsboy in New York years ago, Barnes sent the Benjamins a $15 check. "I know how Shirley feels," he told reporters.

Billy Graham to Play Himself in U.S. Movie

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—One of the most publicized conversions ever made by Billy Graham who has inherited Billy Sunday's mantle as today's "hit the sawdust trail" evangelist is Jim Vaux.

You may or may not recall Vaux as the henchman of Mickey Cohen, former underworld czar of Los Angeles. Vaux confessed doing all of Mickey's wire-tapping jobs and with the confession turned to the religious guidance of Graham.

I tell you this background because the Vaux story will be made into a movie starring Don DeFore as Vaux, with Graham in his real life role.

John O'Dea has written the script and Richard Ross directs for Great Commissions Productions.

Had dinner with Olivia De Havilland and Pierre Galante, who leaves for Paris tomorrow. Pierre goes earlier than Olivia because she remains to see British producer Robert Clark about making "The Quest."

We all had dinner at Romanoff's and both Olivia and Pierre say it will be February before they can marry. Olivia has to establish residence in Paris. Then it will take another month for her to arrange to maintain her American citizenship.

"We're going to be married in Ivor Lee Marron, a little town a hundred miles outside of Paris," said Pierre. "The publisher of the Paris Match magazine is the mayor, and according to the French law we have to be married by a mayor, and he's our choice."

"Later we'll have a Catholic ceremony."

One of the nicest Christmas greetings I've received is from Clara Bow. She writes:

"Dearest Louella—alas Lollie, it's been ages since we last saw one another, but in my memories you hold a very warm spot. Do you remember the kid from Brooklyn who turned down the Ritz for a chop suey joint way back in the mid 20s? I think I'd do the same right now. Guess I've always been a little odd in some of my likings. Do have a joyous, wonderful holiday. Give my regards to Harriet. As ever, Clara."

This little note brought back the first time I ever interviewed the kid from Brooklyn, who had just won a fan magazine contest. Her first interview was with me, and she had not yet joined Paramount to become the famous "It" girl. I had reserved a table at the Ritz for our interview (I was splurging, too) but that was not for Clara—she wanted to go have some chop suey at a Chinese restaurant on Broadway.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Ida Lupino, Howard Duff and their little daughter Bridget will spend Christmas together. Although Ida and Howard have had several meetings, she wants to be sure they can work out their life together without the many separations, before she gives her answer.

Bing Crosby and Mona Freeman, who have been seeing each other quietly since she returned from Europe, were a dinner twosome at the Wild Goose restaurant.

Helen Traubel opens the Royal Nevada Hotel in Las Vegas Jan. 27. She'll be paid $300,000 for this and other appearances.

Joe Di Maggio's bought himself an expensive new Cadillac and it's blonde in color. Well, Joe makes no secret that he prefers blondes.

Kathleen O'Malley, daughter of Pat, tells me that she and James Mahony have called off their engagement by mutual consent and the marriage is off. Better for them to find out before than after.

William Powell, looking mighty well, at Romanoff's, said that he came into town to huddle with Leland Hayward and Josh Logan, and to film an additional scene for "Mister Roberts." "They tell me the picture's good," said Bill.

Chief Gets Few Takers on Fair Offer to Speeders

OMAHA (AP)—Chief of Police Harry Green said today he personally stops two or three traffic violators a day.

"They usually react the same way. They tell me they couldn't have been speeding because they were watching the speedometer. Then I offer them a choice—they can either accept the ticket right now or let me clock them a few blocks, and if their speedometer is off, no ticket."

"I get few drivers who ask for the clock," Green said.

Refuses to Salute Flag

EDGEWOOD, Md. (AP)—The Army has charged Pvt. Bruce A. Wallace, 24, of Ridgewood, N.J., a draftee, with refusing to salute the American flag. A court-martial has been recommended by the 2nd Army. In the Army announcement, no reason was given for the refusal.

Suggests Boost in Gasoline Tax

Wayne County Attorney Says New Levy Could Finance Highways

LANSING (AP)—An increase in gasoline taxes may be in store for Michigan residents if recommendations voiced at Gov. Williams' highway conference yesterday are followed.

John C. Jacoby, Wayne County road commission general counsel and legal adviser to the County Road Assn., suggested a bond issue might be financed by a two or two-and-one-half-cent increase in gasoline taxes.

"If the people authorized the legislature to increase the gas tax," he said, "we would not have to wait until 1956 to get a bond issue on the ballot."

Jacoby's proposal was also supported by Glenn C. Richards, president of the Michigan Good Roads Federation, and Murray D. Van Wagoner, former governor and ex-state highway commissioner.

"The people are ready to pay for highways now," Richards said. "I think they will be willing to pay an extra two cents on a gallon of gasoline to get good roads."

Gov. Williams said he would "approach the idea of additional taxes very gingerly."

"I want to see how far we can go without taxation," he said. "The governor had proposed a 500 million dollar bond issue, but several members of the highway group questioned whether that figure would handle the state's highway needs."

Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, said he favored the gasoline tax increase or pledging the full faith and credit of the state as means of financing the proposed bond issue.

Sugar in Gas Tank

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—Sugar was dumped into the gas tank of the Salvation Army's pickup truck here. It will take $250 and precious time to get the truck back into working order so it can continue with Christmas aid to the needy.

There are about 30,000 flowering plants in the United States, says the National Geographic Society.

Apartments Defined

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—An apartment is an apartment only if it has private toilet facilities, says an official ruling here. Otherwise it's a rooming house or a hotel. The opinion was sought by the fire department as a guide to enforcement of the fire laws. The requirements for rooming houses and hotel are more stringent than for apartment houses.

Starting Next Jan. 1Lower Compensation Tax to Benefit Many Employers

More than 2,000 Pontiac-area employers will benefit from a new dual-rate schedule for payments into the state's unemployment compensation fund which goes into effect Jan. 1.

Revision of the financing system of the Michigan Employment Security Commission was made by the State Legislature last spring. The change provides for a lower set of payroll tax rates when the commission's reserve fund is above 7 1/2 per cent of the total taxable payroll in the state, said James H. Dudley, manager of the Pontiac office of the MESCC.

A somewhat higher rate will go into effect if the reserve drops below that figure.

But even the higher rate is lower than the former single rate, Dudley said. The former minimum rate was one per cent.

"The low schedule of rates ranges from .1 per cent to 3.7 per cent," Dudley said. "The higher schedule ranges from 5 to 4 per cent."

Dudley explained an employer's rate is established by balancing the number of jobless claims filed against his account against the amount paid into his account since he has been covered by the state act.

"Upon that basis, his rate is set at the appropriate position according to a table drawn by the legislature," Dudley said.

Max M. Horton, director of the commission, said under the new schedule, the rate may drop to a new low minimum of one tenth of one per cent.

"But under no circumstances," he said, "will any employer's rate be raised from his present rate."

more than one-half of one per cent for 1955 or 1956.

Horton reported that the 7 1/2 per cent ratio, established by the legislature, is currently high enough to assure payment of the low schedule of rates.

"Our ratio, based upon a reserve total of $429,070,339 on June 30, 1954, divided by an annual taxable payroll in the state of $5,367,148,955 equals 7.94 per cent," he said.

Dudley said the new rates would benefit primarily those companies with little employment turnover. Their rate will probably be less than the old one per cent minimum.

Admit Killing Yule Deer

NATICK, Mass. (U-P)—Albert Morand, 25, and his brother Ronald, 17, were held for grand jury action under $10,000 bail today after they admitted shooting arrows into two deer at a Christmas display and then beating them to death with a tire iron, Dist. Judge Edward J. Snow accused the brothers of committing an "inhuman act."

Says Dakotans Being SlightedSen. Langer to Oppose Confirmation of Justice From New York

WASHINGTON (U-P)—Sen. Langer (R-ND) said today he will fight against Senate confirmation of John Marshall Harlan to the Supreme Court to point up his protest that no justice has ever been named from his state and some others.

Langer, who is due to lose his chairmanship of the Senate Judiciary Committee when the Democrats organize the New Congress, quickly added in an interview that he was not "impugning the honesty or integrity" of Harlan, a New York City jurist.

Langer has frequently decried in the past about what he terms slights to North Dakota in the matter of high presidential appointments.

The recent Senate session took no action on President Eisenhower's nomination of Harlan to succeed the late Justice Robert H. Jackson. Several senators said they wanted more time to study his qualifications, but there was no announcement of opposition, and the supposition has been that Harlan will be okayed early next year.

"I am going to vote against confirmation of Mr. Harlan and I am going to vote against any man who hereafter is named to the Cabinet unless that man comes from one of seven states," Langer said.

He listed these as Arizona, Florida, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, North and South Dakota. He said no man from these states has ever been appointed to the Supreme Court or to a Cabinet post.

Last major Indian campaign of the U. S. Army ended Oct. 5, 1877. Chief Joseph of the Nez Perce tribe, surrendered north of Montana's Bearpaw Mountains, after a retreat of 1,600 miles that has few parallels in military history.

Jury Is Still Out in Morse Murder

DETROIT (U-P)—A Circuit Court jury resumed deliberations today in the murder trial of Claude W. Morse, 44-year-old farmer charged with killing his wife.

The jury was locked up for the night after failing to reach a verdict yesterday. It received the case in the afternoon.

Morse is accused of killing his 200-pound wife, Verley, 47, last Aug. 8, carrying her body to Kentucky in the trunk of his car and dumping it into a roadside ditch. The body was found two weeks later near London, Ky.

Morse married Eudena Foster, 15, a cousin of his wife, on Sept. 16. She came to Michigan to live with him at his nearby Canton Township farm, but has returned to Tennessee.

During the trial, Morse did not take the stand. His attorney claimed a purported confession was obtained under duress.

Goodfellows Set for Romeo Drive

Paper Sale Tomorrow, Saturday Will Provide for Needy at Christmas

ROMEO — Members of the Rotary and Lions Clubs and Boy Scout groups will be on the street selling papers Friday and Saturday in the annual Goodfellow Drive here.

The paper sale, which originated 26 years ago by members of the Rotary Club as a community project, collects money from one cent to any amount to provide Christmas baskets for needy in the area.

Rotarian Donald Chubb said that lists of needy families are screened by a committee from both clubs before the Christmas baskets are distributed. The list has been channeled to the committee by school principals in the district.

The Goodfellow fund operates year-round. If a child needs shoes, galoshes or other types of clothing during the year, an investigation is made to see if the boy or girl needs the clothing to continue in school.

The Lions, it was announced this week, have provided lumber for the high school shop classes, and the students have completed their project of making toys for the needy children. The local Lions also purchases the shoes that are distributed by the Goodfellows.

Defense to Rest Soon in Ex-Marine's Trial

DETROIT (UP) — The defense was expected to complete its case today in the murder trial of Denny Craddock, who has admitted slaying the man who fathered his wife's unborn child while he was in Korea with the Marines.

Craddock, 29, testified yesterday about the infidelity which led to the fatal shooting of Ernest Trullard. He said his wife, who is expecting Trullard's child, previously had affairs with a taxicab driver and a 14-year-old boy.

Testifying in his own defense, the ex-Marine said he was so disgusted with his 26-year-old wife when he returned from Korea that he toyed with the idea of trying to marry a girl he met in California to provide a home for his two young daughters.

Two Women Are Injured When Car Hits Tree

Two Pontiac Township women suffered bruises yesterday when their car collided with a tree and then hit a car driven by Mrs. Mary E. Boberg, 38, of 173 Grandview, Lake Orion.

Treated at Pontiac General Hospital were Mrs. Eleanor S. Bailey, 20, and Miss Marjorie Mitchell, 18, both of 3806 Helen Dr. Mrs. Bailey told Oakland County sheriff's deputies that a swaying truck forced her to apply her brakes and she added out of control.

Reinstatement Questionable for Farmington Patrolman

FARMINGTON — Reinstatement of patrolman Robert Cox to the Farmington police force seemed doubtful today in the wake of more developments in his resignation. Cox, who said he turned in his badge rather than perjure himself in a Oakland County Juvenile Court case on the instruction and threat of his chief, Joseph DeVriendt, remains a private citizen.

He was told by Farmington City Manager James O. Tennant Tuesday that any request for reinstatement would have to be through Chief DeVriendt first.

Tennant added that if DeVriendt did not recommend the move, Cox could appeal to him, and finally, to the city council if he wished.

Cox had charged that Chief DeVriendt threatened to punish him for pushing a stalled motorist with to bring his appeal in, but the father of five children failed to arrive.

He added that Cox had been informed to call between 8 and 9 a.m. and arrange to see Tennant if he wanted to appeal DeVriendt's decision.

A special meeting of the city council will be held at 8 p.m. Monday, Tennant added, if Cox wishes to pursue the matter.

Tooley told Oakland County sheriff's deputies that he was unable to avoid Bigelow's north-bound auto which skidded out of control.

ROBERT A. LARSON

Highway Planning Engineer Is Hired

Oakland County's first highway planning engineer is Robert A. Larson, 24, now beginning duties on the staff of the county planning commission.

Recently discharged from the Army, Larson received a civil engineering degree from the University of Michigan in 1952.

A native of Detroit, the engineer is married and has a ten-month-old daughter.

His immediate task will be to analyze the present county road network and integrate his findings with those of the Detroit Metropolitan Area traffic study. From this Larson hopes to work with other county officials in compiling a long-range highway improvement program.

Air Mail Is Urged for Late Packages

Pontiac postal employees still think the lion's share of Christmas mail is yet to come, despite the fact that Acting Postmaster Leslie H. Dean Sr. has frequently asked that all Christmas mail be postmarked before Dec. 15.

Last year, Dean said, the biggest load of yule mail came on Dec. 21, when 273,800 pieces of mail were canceled here.

Dean suggests that late-mailers use air parcel post for gift packages going to other states and air mail for cards with out-of-town addresses.

"There is still time to complete all local deliveries by Christmas, if first-class postage is used," Dean said. "Mail carriers are scheduled to make as many daily trips as are necessary."

Her fingertip veil was held in place by a princess cap of net. Mrs. Richard Beach was her sister's matron of honor. Richard Beach served the bridegroom as best man, and David Lebeck and Dick Reese, both of Detroit, acted as the groomsmen.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. The couple will live in Livonia.

Plans for the new plant are being developed and will be announced later, John Dykstra, vice president and group executive said.

Farm Group Hears Dem Praise Benson Program

NEW YORK (U.S. Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) today said the farm leadership given by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, a Republican, has been courageous and "fundamentally in the right direction."

In a speech prepared for the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau federation, attended by some 3,500 farmers delegates, Holland stated:

"I feel that Mr. Benson has rendered very great service to American agriculture and that his leadership has been fundamentally in the right direction."

"Secretary Benson's approach has been courageous and essentially non-partisan, and I think that Congress has been similarly broad in its reaction."

Road Bond Issue Gets County OK

Will Back $300,000 of $11 Million Project Near Farmington

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved a $300,000 bond issue as the county's share in a planned $11,000,000 Farmington-Brighton expressway.

The bonds will be paid off at $15,000 per year for 20 years from gas and weight taxes returned by the state to the county road commission.

The supervisor's approval was needed before the state could complete negotiations for a $5,000,000 bond issue needed to help finance the 22-mile, four-lane divided highway. Deputy State Highway Commissioner George Foster explained.

Foster added that the balance of the $11,000,000 total cost is expected from federal aid. "It will probably take until next spring to complete the federal aid transaction and sell the bonds," he said.

Designed to relieve increasing traffic congestion on Grand River (US16), the proposed route will begin at the end of the divided pavement east of Farmington, cross Grand River near Halstead road, and go west parallel to Grand River, and slightly north of it.

The expressway would join Grand River at Kensington Metropolitan Park to bridge the Clinton River, and diverge northwest again before ending at a final connection with Grand River at Brighton.

The grade separation at Grand River and Kensington park is one of three which are seen as distinct benefits to Oakland County. The major portion of the county's $300,000 will be spent for these.

The remainder of the county funds will go to extend and relocate Orchard Lake road to join with Grand River.

The other two grade separations are planned just north of New Hudson, and on Orchard Lake road east of Farmington.

Residents Digging Down to Meet Greater Demands

By WILMA GREENWAY

Property owners in townships all over the county took one look at their tax bills this month, yelped in anguish, and promptly started to burn up the wires with protests to township supervisors, treasurers, clerks and, anyone who would place an ear to the phone receiver.

For statements mailed out beginning Dec. 1 from Oakland's 25 townships indicated, for the most part, that levies had reached an all-time high.

Cheap country living appeared to be a thing of the past, with rural levies generally well in excess of the $24.18 per $1,000 of assessed valuation which Pontiac city property owners paid this year as their share of county, city and school costs.

To the wall, "What's caused my taxes to go up?" township officials generally were able to answer honestly. "Not the cost of township government."

Township levies as a rule included only a relatively small amount for operating expenses, or none at all (many townships operating solely on funds received from the redistribution of state sales tax and other state revenues).

But in most instances the big chunk of the taxpayer's dollar will go to pay off bond issues voted this year for new schools and school maintenance and debts acquired in recent years for the same purpose.

Although a few townships had hoped to see the tax situation ease within the next year or two as bond issues for school buildings were paid off, this hope was mitigated by the shadow of state equalization, which looms as the thunderhead on the taxpayer's horizon.

A Supreme Court ruling that state estimates of property valuation must be used in computing next year's taxes means that taxes will go up even if the rate remains the same, since the state's estimate of the value of Oakland County property is considerably higher than the county's estimate.

A spot check on taxes in districts in eight close-to-Pontiac townships shows levies all the way from $23.42 per $1,000 of assessed valuation in the Hickory Grove school district of Bloomfield Township, on up to $44.04 in Troy Township's Avondale School District.

Assessed valuation is based on the township's figure. The tax is based on the equalized figure—that is, the township's rate plus the amount the county says that township must add to bring its property valuation to a par with the valuation in other townships.

Most townships include several school districts, with taxes varying in the different districts. Here's how some of the main districts in eight of the Pontiac area townships billed property owners on each $1,000 of assessed valuation:

Troy Township
Property owners in Troy Township's Consolidated School District, which takes in a huge slice of Troy Township's eight districts, were taxed $30.25—an increase of $11.46 over last year. Of this figure, $12.67 was earmarked for county operating expense; $64.99 for schools; $1.24 for special education; and $1.45 for drains.

Waterford Township
In most of Waterford Township the rate went up $14.94 for a total levy of $65.40 per thousand. Principal boost was from a 5-mill increase in school operating expense (salary increases and maintenance) and another 5-mill increase for new school building to replace a building and site fund of 3 mills charged last year. Both increases were voted at school elections during 1954.

In this township, $8.71 goes to the county, $5 cents is for special education, and $65.64 goes for schools.

Says Waterford Supervisor Lloyd L. Anderson: "I feel we've hit our peak here, and it looks as though the tax situation could ease after next year, with the Supreme Court ruling on state equalization, no one can tell just what will happen to the tax levy."

West Bloomfield Township
Of West Bloomfield's seven districts, the Walled Lake Consolidated section showed an increase of $6.32, or a total of $48.38 per thousand. Largest district, the Rural Agricultural No. 5, which includes the new West Bloomfield High School, has a levy of $45.10, a raise of $6.13 over 1953.

Bloomfield Township
In the Birmingham School District, second largest of five districts in Bloomfield Township, taxes went up to $46.62, an increase of $7.66. Largest district, the Vaughn School area, showed an increase of $12.73 for a total of $42.35. A new high school and another school addition are being paid for in this area.

Independence Township
Clarkston Community School District, which comprises 90 per cent of the township's tax area, raised levies to $44.70 this year, an increase of $14.90 per thousand. Principal increase was an additional $13.70 added to the $22.30 already going for schools.

Avon Township
Here, as in other areas, main increases were for school buildings. Rochester Village tax was $42.72, an increase of $16.31. Rochester area outside the village showed a similar increase, with the total tax at $43.72 including a $1 fire protection levy; and Fire District No. 2 added an additional $1.50 fire levy for a total of $45.22. Three other districts included a portion of Avondale, with a tax of $33.92.

Pontiac Township
This township's two districts showed the Pontiac City School District with a relatively low figure of $33.53, up $5.42 since 1953. The Avondale School District was up $10.36, for a tax levy of $56.57.

Orion Township
The Lake Orion Community School District, which comprises the biggest part of Orion Township, showed a tax levy of $37.27, an increase of $3.80 due mainly to an increase in the county's equalizing factor. A section of the Pontiac City School district showed a rise of $5.64, for a total of $29.63. Rochester District was up to $43.26, an increase of $19.56.

MSC Earmarks $45,000 to Buy Special Stamps

EAST LANSING (U.S. Michigan State College is going in for stamp-buying in a big way in preparation for its 100th anniversary year.

The Post Office Department is issuing a commemorative stamp to mark the centennials of Michigan State and Pennsylvania State University.

The State Board of Agriculture, college governing body, has authorized the purchase of 1,000,000 of the 3-cent stamps—$45,000 worth. The college figures it will be good advertising.

About the only folks who won't be happy about the decision are those in the mailing room. Most of the college mail is automatically stamped by meter machines now. And the decision means the mailers will have to lick all those stamps next year.

Farmington Meet Set on Sewage Project

FARMINGTON—James Tennant, local city manager and chairman of the Southwest Oakland County sewage disposal 5-man study committee, has called a meeting Thursday afternoon at the Municipal Building to discuss the possible establishment of a sewage disposal authority.

Other members of the committee include the following supervisors: Wm. Rooser, Southfield Township; Ernest Blanchard, Farmington Township; Harlan Thatcher, West Bloomfield Township; and Frazer Staman, Novi Township. Ralph Main, Oakland County Drain commissioner and Russell Colson, county sanitation engineer are also expected to be present at the meeting.

Tentative boundaries for the authority must be set up by the committee following surveys of each area.

The authority would have to construct and maintain the sewer line from Farmington to the Grand River and Six Mile road connection to the Detroit System. This system of connection is believed to be less expensive to the taxpayer than the construction and maintenance of a disposal plant.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Ignoring consumer emotions can result in boners that boomerang, a University of Michigan advertising conference was told. Edward H. Weiss of a Chicago agency said one soup mix offered a hosiery premium. It failed because of what he called the psychological equivalent of "feet in the soup—a thoroughly unappetizing connotation."

OUT OUR WAY

Grain Prices Change Slightly

CHICAGO (UP)—Price changes were small in grains on the Board of Trade today with losses slightly outnumbering gains. Dealings were at the usual slow holiday season pace.

Mild hedging pressure and liquidation kept the market under restraint. On the supporting side were such items as movement of cash beans out of Chicago by barge, a lower official estimate for the Australian wheat crop, and the prospect of direct exports to Soviet block nations.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to 1/4 higher, December $2.24 1/2; corn unchanged to 1/4 lower, December $1.50 1/2; oats 1/4 to 1/2 lower, December $1.10 1/2; soybeans unchanged to 1/4 lower, January $2.51 1/2; and land unchanged to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher, December $13.27.

Claudette to Get Another Script

There Is No Switch for Gleason or Berle; Carney Joins Raye

NEW YORK (INS)—Art Carney joins Martha Raye next Tuesday in a sketch about an old vaude team.

Jeannie Carson, the London lassie who made the biggest feminine TV impact this season, will be signed for movies shortly.

Any talk about Gleason moving into Berle's NBC time is ridiculous; Berle has the NBC time slot up, not the sponsor; and CBS has Gleason contracted for years yet.

As for the $3,500,000 figure—the dream of a press agent who remembered the "biggest" TV deal to date mentioned $3,000,000 for Desi and Lucy last year.

Jackie will have to be satisfied with a simple half-million a season, poor lad.

Berle gets $30,000 per show this year, accelerating to $40,000 per program next fall, and he'll probably stay on for a "five" hour, according to NBC's blandishments.

Berle will do a minimum of one show every three weeks next year if he goes on "live," and the alternative was to have been weekly films at 8 p.m.

If he sticks to the every-third-week schedule, Bob Hope will do six Tuesday shows and Martin and Lewis, seven, with Martha Raye possibly moving into her own show elsewhere on NBC-TV.

Whatever happens, says Berle, "I'll be back on NBC Sept. 21, 1935—at my same own time."

NBC officials know nothing officially about Berle's sponsor possibly switching to Gleason, who now is sponsored by several corporate bankrolls.

"But we have six sponsors who want Berle right now," we were informed.

Uncle Miltie is only under contract to NBC until he is 70 years old.

MCA has a Mario Lanza disc jockey series—old film tapes and recordings.

NBC thinks it has solved the mystery of a proper format for Senior Wences, one of the funniest acts in show biz. "Johnny and the Gauchos," the pilot film's called.

Playwrights Michael and Fay Kanin are whipping up another CBS format for the reluctant Claudette Colbert.

Max Factor personally cleared

DEVOTED RESTORATION—This striking wooden crucifix is being restored at Italy's national restoration center in Rome. Dating back to the 13th Century, it was purchased from the Church of St. Francesco in Oristano, Sardinia.

up the puzzle about the girl singer on his TV commercial—she's Norma Zimmer, featured in the past on the Bing Crosby, Caranation, Texaco Shows and the Railroad Hour.

It's one of the best one-minute pitches ever filmed, and certainly one of the most expensive, Max says—$11,000.

Ironie, Mike and Buff splitting, considering their CBS "Mailbag" program has them solving other folks' problems, poor kids.

It's Lucy, Dragnet and Toast at the top of pulse's new poll.

"David Copperfield" will get a two-week TV dramatization by Robert Montgomery starting next Monday.

Ford Theatre's Dec. 23 episode is about a stage star's obsession with baseball, Virginia Field in the Tallulah-like parody.

Perry Como's notion of a Christmas Eve telecast naturally is nice: "The First Christmas" in song and story, closing the program with "The Lord's Prayer."

When Bishop Sheen asked viewers to send dimes for charity, one man in Chicago sent 55 pounds—$1.00.

British Paper Oils Divorce Law Rift

LONDON (INS)—Britain's mass circulation newspaper, the London Daily Mirror, poured fresh fuel today on the controversy over proposed changes in the British divorce laws.

Archbishop of Canterbury Geoffrey Fisher set off the tempest with testimony before a royal commission on marriage and divorce that "a single act of adultery" should not be grounds for divorce.

He said the Church of England would "wholly approve" if the law were changed.

The Mirror, however, launched a poll of its more than four million readers.

The paper reported today that a majority of those who responded were "shocked" by Dr. Fisher's plan. They insisted emphatically that one act of infidelity by either partner in a marriage should be grounds for divorce.

Lesinski Says FBI Quizzed Him on Bribe

DETROIT (INS)—Rep. John Lesinski (D-Mich.) says FBI agents have questioned him about alleged pay-offs to congressmen to influence their votes on a bill to increase the pay of federal employees.

Lesinski told a reporter in Detroit yesterday that two agents questioned him in Washington last August before Congress adjourned.

He said he had not accepted any money and had heard only rumors that other congressmen had been approached with $500 offers.

Lesinski supported a postal pay increase bill passed by Congress but vetoed by President Eisenhower. He is a member of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

"Evidently," he said, "they are fishing for reasons not to give postal employees more money."

Pirate Ship Captured

MANILA (INS)—A pirate ship that preyed on small merchant vessels plying between the Philippines and Borneo has been captured and its captain killed, constabulary headquarters here said today.

The vessel was taken in a gunfight while at anchor.

Cub Scouts, Navy Assisting Santa in Orphans' Yule

OAKLAND, Calif. (INS)—The U.S. Navy today announced a complicated operation, involving Cub Scouts and the mighty naval air transport Mars, to get Christmas gifts to Japanese-American orphans at Aitago, Japan.

Cub Scout Troop 100 in Oakland has been collecting used and outgrown clothing and repairing toys for the orphanage, which houses illegitimate children of U.S. servicemen.

Naval Air Transport Squadron 23, stationed in Japan, has sparked the operation.

Friday night the Cub Scouts will assemble their material and will work with naval personnel in sorting and packing it in Navy crates. It then will be flown in the Mars to Hawaii, and from there by another transport squadron which will turn it over to Squadron 23 in Japan.

Squadron 23 will rush the stuff to the children by Christmas Eve.

Beautician Sees Hair in Pastel Shades Next

CHICAGO (INS)—A Chicago beauty shop operator predicts that pastel colored hair—blue, fuchsia, green, purple and pink—will be in vogue "in a couple of years."

Manager Bill Harwood says his shop has performed 100 of the transformations in the past two months at $75 and up. Among Harwood's customers is night club entertainer, Lonnie Dale, who has green hair.

Harwood added: "It takes many treatments to do the job but it's really worth it. The effects are just beautiful."

Ingham Still is Paying 2-Cent Sparrow Bounty

MASON (INS)—Dead sparrows will still bring two cents each in Ingham County.

The Ingham County Board of Supervisors voted to continue the long-time two cent bounty on the birds at a recent meeting. The bounty is paid only during December, January and February.

Last year, the county paid out $25.90 for 1,295 sparrows.

HOLLY LEAVES YOU CAN MAKE

For hundreds of years holly has been used in Christmas decorations. Even before that, heathen people in Europe hung it in their homes. Although there are many kinds of holly trees or shrubs that grow in many parts of the world, including America, it sometimes is hard to obtain. But making imitation holly leaves is not hard.

1. Fold a piece of green construction paper in half and trace on it the leaf design shown above on the left. The straight line in the design should lie along the folded edge of the paper. While the paper is still folded, cut out the leaf, including the two narrow slits that are slashed in from the folded edge.

2. Unfold the paper and you have a holly leaf. From red paper cut out berries like those shown on the pattern and paste them on the leaf. Make a number of these leaves and curl the tips by running them over the blade of a blunt knife.

3. Now you can make a sprig of holly by tying three leaves in a bunch with a piece of red ribbon. Or you can make garlands and wreaths by pasting the tip of one leaf over the stem of the next until you have a string of them. To make the paste hold, press under heavy books. A red ribbon tie completes the wreath. Then you can hang it on the Christmas tree or in a window.

They Perform by Instinct Parakeets Aren't Smart,

CHICAGO (INS) — Dog may be man's best friend but another pet is taking the inside track with his wife—the gaudy-feathered parakeet.

Regardless of who rules the roost, the final word in many home comes from the bird with the doll baby voice.

This launched Chicago newsman John Justin Smith on a novel investigation. What he learned about parakeets could fill a book—and did.

His findings were published in a paperback volume (by Louis Mariani of Chicago) with a preface by Lincoln Park Zoo Director R. Martin Perkins who confides, "The only pet I have at home is a budgie."

Smith says a parakeet may seem smart but he lives by his instincts, not his wits. He ran up against a woman who claimed her bird could count up to five.

The bird, in climbing a toy ladder, always paused on the fifth rung. Smith says:

"No matter how many extensions were put on the ladder the little guy would climb four rungs hastily and then pause on the fifth."

But Smith credits the feat merely to "his instinct to follow a pattern of behavior... taught to him by forcing him to stop on every fifth rung."

However, this shows — brains or not — what you can get a parakeet to do.

Smith's study provides a close-up of the bird's eating, bathing and personality traits.

The gift of gab is part and parcel of the parakeet. But what if he's dumb?

Smith advises: "Be patient. Occasionally birds are able to repeat words after hearing them only once, but this is rare."

He says the bird tries to copy any sound that impresses him. One, he says, became fascinated by a leaky kitchen faucet and got under his owner's hide with, "Drapp... drapp... drapp."

The wolf whistle may delight some bird owners. But Smith says it's a bad habit for a bird to get into. It may distract him from learning to talk.

Words starting with "P" and "E" are easiest to mimic. That's why the expression "pretty boy" is so popular. Smith urges: "Don't be nasty to your parakeet if he fails to talk. He may be a shirker."

Sex life may become a lost urge for a bird accustomed only to humans. Smith learned this discourages many would-be home breeders. He says:

"If you present your bird with a wife, the chances are extremely small that they will get along well together. They probably will fight—almost as heatedly as people."

"Breeding parakeets is not easy unless you're a parakeet."

The U.S. national debt is about 275 billion dollars.

Army Corporal Boosted to Colonel on Retirement

FT. HUACHUCA, Ariz. (U)—Hugh Stark retired from the Army as a corporal and jumped at once on the retired list to the rank of lieutenant colonel. A veteran of 20 years in the Army, Cpl. (Col.) Stark saw action in the European theater during World War II.

On his discharge after the war he resigned his commission and re-enlisted in the Regular Army.

Soldier's Missing Tie Leads to Stolen Auto

RICHMOND, Va. (U)—Military authorities noted a soldier correctly garbed except that he had no tie.

Investigation showed that the car he left in a garage was stolen. Brought into federal court he received a two-year suspended prison sentence and was directed to report back at his military base.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (U)—School attendance this year is leaving a fresh, clean taste in the mouths of 1,500 children. They are taking part in "Operation

The U. S. Public Health Service thought of the idea.

Finds Animals' Inner Directors

Science Can Explain Some Strange Actions of Migratory Creatures

WASHINGTON — Dogs and cats that somehow find their way home across half a continent . . . migrating birds that fly thousands of miles to the same nesting grounds each year . . . fish that return from the sea to the same streams where they were born . . .

How do such "dumb" animals navigate, oftentimes showing amazing sense of direction?

In many cases, science plainly admits it does not yet know. But in other instances, clues are turning up the inner compass that guide animals of the earth, sea and air in their travels.

The path of the sun plays an important part in direction-finding by some types of animal life, recent research has shown conclusively.

Honeybees, for example, use sun navigation in flying from the hive again on a true beeline. It has to a distant flower patch and back long been known that bees actually "tell" other members of the hive how to find feeding places by doing a complicated waggle dance. Scientists now have proved that this dance shows the correct direction with relation to the sun's position in the sky.

Sun navigation, however, obviously is only one means by which animals know where they're going. Many birds, for instance, migrate by night. Bats not only can avoid obstacles by a natural echo-sounding ability but also seem to have a sense of absolute direction.

Other theories of navigation by the animal world, each supported by strong evidence, point to acute perceptions of the earth's magnetic field and its rotational force. Birds may also follow familiar landmarks, although this cannot explain many remarkable examples of the homing instinct.

Ordinary flies have tiny organs that function like miniature gyroscopes used in aircraft instruments. Eels apparently inherit a direction sense, for although both European and American eels hatch in the same region of the Atlantic Ocean, they migrate in opposite directions when the time comes to swim "home." And certain terns of northern Australia build their mounds only along a north-south compass line.

Hot Suit Handy for Astronomer on Cold Project

MADISON, Wis. (UP) — A University of Wisconsin astronomer thinks he has found a surefire way to keep warm during his star-gazing duties.

Prof. C. M. Huffer, who used to accept shivers on cold nights as part of his job, now keeps snug and comfortable in an electrically-heated flying suit a friend sent him.

The "hot suit" Huffer uses for his nocturnal studies was developed by the U. S. Air Force for pilots.

The suit was sent to him by Emeritus Prof. Joel Stebbins, a former Wisconsin astronomer who has been using a similar suit while doing research at the Lick Observatory, Mt. Hamilton, Calif.

Astronomers are compelled to work in unheated buildings while observing stars because any heat would mix with the cold air outside and set up "turbulent air currents" which destroy the stability of the air around the telescopes. "It's like the wavy atmosphere you see above hot pavements on a summer day," says Huffer, "and we don't want to add difficulties to the visual handicaps already lying between the lens and a millions-of-miles-away object."

With the aid of his flying suit, Huffer now enjoys solid comfort while peering into the heavens from the dome of Wisconsin's Washington observatory on the local campus.

FUR LUXURY — It's a white dyed mink shrug cape.

Milady Dreams of Furs for Glamour, Gaiety, Fun

There are families where buying a fur coat has all the excitement and Christmas gaiety of picking a burial plot.

These individuals trudge out and pick an immense, unbecoming coat and return home with it, the insurance policy tucked in the pocket.

And from then on, it might as well be a security, stuffed away in a vault.

Furs, along with those fantastically expensive perfumes in the one-drop bottles, are strictly for glamor and fun.

Whether she owns a floor-length mink or a tiny collar of rabbit, a woman wears fur because it's becoming, gay and enjoyable.

"Mink is so practical," states Lorelei Lee, but she doesn't really mean she wants a mink because it keeps her warm—she wants it because it's beautiful and when she wears it she feels lavish and gay.

So if you want a gift that has not a hint of being sensible, furs are your dish. But, even though they make women walk as though they owned the Ritz (and they love it) they needn't cost a fortune.

For, say the Associated Fur Manufacturers, a little fur is news again this Christmas. A collar, a tiny jacket, neckties or even the more fabulous stole can be a gift of the year, no matter what the size or price.

And price is news, points out J. George Greenberg, president of the Associated Fur Manufacturers.

Humble little old rabbit, that shedding fur of yore, blossoms out in impossible disguises — charcoal gray, beaver, carmel.

And Squirrel Nutkin wouldn't recognize his brother when the fur men get through with him.

Mr. Greenberg waxes rhapsodic on the subject of color—pink mink, pink beaver and blue ermine. Fox collars bloom on sweaters — but they match incredibly well.

For something a lucky school gal will actually cover her back with, there are the short coats with real shape. Spy-like turned-up collars and flared fronts stay in shape since they're fur over peltion.

Even the tiniest nugget of fur is the splendid gift. There's something about it.

Tax Assistance Needed by Suburban Dwellers

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—High taxes are turning back the tide of city dwellers who want suburban homes, according to D. Rae Boyd, president of the Norristown Chamber of Commerce.

"It appears that people are moving from the city to the suburbs because of high taxes resulting from the cost of constructing facilities for such necessities as schools, and fire headquarters," he said. "There is no doubt that light industries should be invited to help support the things that are necessary for good government in newly developed communities."

Gay Christmas Decorations in Home Accent for Holiday Season

By GAILE DUGAN
NEA Women's Editor
To be, at Christmastime, a guest in a home that seemed to hold more gaiety, more fun, more holiday atmosphere than any other house visited is an experience that's nearly universal.

An important part of this is concerned with the people who occupy the house. The kind of people they are and the way they feel about Christmas. Another important part comes from the time and effort they have expended, lovingly, on making Christmas merry. Chances are excellent that the home you remember so well was bright with holiday trim. Using glue pot, imagination and paper, such trim is simple to create.

Burglars Leave House

MEADOWS OF DAN, Va. (AP)—Arnold Hawks told police about all he had left was his house. Thieves took a refrigerator, a bed room suite, a washing machine, a sewing machine, an electric iron and most of the bedclothing.

Your front door, the threshold of hospitality, is a fine place to start.

For this, three fat red candlesticks, cut from cardboard and covered with gummed crepe paper, make a festive welcome. You can trim them with holly leaves in green and tape them to the door. Window decorations couldn't be easier—or prettier. Duplex crepe paper angels dance in every other window pane. This paper lends itself to pleats that are used for body and wings.

Stars made of lace-paper doilies, are taped in between the angels to create a misty, snowy effect. Use three doilies in two sizes, cut them diagonally and pleat them. Brush the edges with a mixture of laundry bluing and water.

Always Get Their Dog

LEBANON, Ky. (AP)—Marauding dogs are no problem for Charles J. Jarboe's sheep. Jarboe keeps a pack of dogs trained to round up dogs that attack sheep. When he turns his pack loose, it forces the strangers to go to the barn where Jarboe locks them in a pen.

To create a Christmas wall niche, use a tree branch painted white.

Fasten white duplex crepe paper fringed pom-poms to it, simulating pine sprays. Brush the tips with a mixture of laundry bluing and water, then sprinkle with silver glitter. Use modeling clay to fasten the branch securely in a low bowl and cover the clay with miniature Christmas ornaments.

Simple but effective trim for a mantelpiece comes from a garland, five inches wide, made from strips of crepe paper fringed on both sides and gathered with needle and thread through the center. Use rich red satin bows at either side.

Police in Toledo Report Variety of Odd Crimes

Then add three fat red candles at the center and use your own candelabra in addition, if you like.

To make a sugar plum tree as decoration for center of the table, use a cornucopia of cardboard, cover it with red crepe paper and stud it with gumdrops and lump sugar.

Tape it into position on a dowel stick. For a base, use a round box trimmed with fringed crepe paper and filled with Christmas favors, one for each guest.

TOLEDO (UP)—Local probation officers accustomed to serious work report they occasionally investigate crimes that produce a few laughs.

Chief Probation Officer James Henahan said that a restaurant porter recently wanted to become a guitar player. He decided to steal the instrument used by a member of the orchestra playing at the cafe and made elaborate plans to get into the building at night. He got the guitar, handed it outside to two friends, but in closing a door, locked himself in. He was rescued by police, who charged him with larceny.

And there's the case of the "Foliated Pirate of Point Place." Henahan said a drunk stole a rowboat that didn't have any oars. He sobered while drifting in the boat across the Ottawa River to the Michigan bank, thus creating the problem of whether he would be tried in Ohio or Michigan.

A man with a hobby of stealing motors from boats landed in the penitentiary. He was convicted of stealing the same motor three times, each time selling it to a different person and then stealing it again.

Fires Double Birdie

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — On the opening day of the pheasant season, Art Pasnik, engaging in a collegiate golf match, fired a seven-iron tee shot on the Lancaster Country Club's 12th hole. The whizzing ball killed a pheasant that had alighted on the green. Pasnik made it a "double birdie" by sinking his putt for a deuce.

Easy Come, Easy Go

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP) — Mrs. Mary Douglas of nearby Galt, lost a plain gold wedding band more than 60 years ago. A relative found it, but lost it again some years later. Recently, Edward S. Shellenberger, digging in the yard of the family home, turned up his great-aunt's ring again after 50 years.

Science estimates that the sun changes hydrogen into helium at the rate of 564 million tons per second.

Dudes to Pan for Gold

WICKENBURG, Ariz. (UP) — The annual Wickenburg Gold Rush Days, a feature of the winter tourist season in this dude ranch center, will be held Jan. 28-30. Participants pan for real gold. Finders are keepers. Very small amounts can be recovered from sands near the city.

Hibernation provides a more or less comatose state for animals which adopt it, some groups being intensely and continuously in a state of coma, others only feebly and intermittently so.

Avoid Metal Sockets

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP) — University of Illinois rural electrification specialist, Frank Andrew, has told farmers to get rid of those old metal pull-chain sockets because they can be hazardous, especially when the person using it stands on a damp floor. Porcelain, plastic or hard rubber sockets should be used instead.

pletely given over to the women on Saturday. Men are not allowed either to buy or sell.

50-Year Struggle

Men Lost Lives in Violent Birth of Audubon Society

WASHINGTON — The National Audubon Society has a staff member whose sole duty is to answer nature questions. Sample: Why doesn't a bird fall off its perch when it goes to sleep? Answer: Because it slumps down when sleeping, pulling a leg tendon that clamps its toes around the perch.

The queries are not always so reasonable. Some have been addressed to the Auto Bond Society, the Ottoman and even the Atom Bomb Society. But the fact that they come in such numbers is proof of the organization's continuing success in its fight for conservation and the development of nationwide interest in America's wildlife.

In the November 1954, National Geographic Magazine, the Audubon Society's president, John E. Baker, tells the life story of an undertaking that will be 50 years old next January and which has helped bring about a striking change in the everyday citizen's attitude toward the natural world about him.

At a time of abundant wildlife, the famous artist-naturalist John James Audubon (1785-1851) warned of coming scarcity when waste and slaughter would take their toll.

By 1900, the American and mow egrets—killed for their large lacy plumes—were fast dwindling. Herons, roseate spoonbills, gulls and terns were still shot down for feathers to decorate women's hats.

Local Audubon groups in 1900 attempted to halt the destruction. The set up a national committee to raise money for four warblers to protect egret nesting grounds in southern Florida. Three years later came the incorporation of the National Association of Audubon Societies for the Protection of Wild Birds and Animals.

Carrying out the program has been no birdwalk picnic for the Audubon people. The first warden sent to Florida's egret rookeries was murdered in performance of

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

"Forgive me," said Scrooge, "but I see something strange protruding from your robe."

The Spirit threw back his robe to reveal two miserable, frightened children cowering at his feet. Scrooge was appalled at what he saw. "Spirit! Are they yours?" he gasped.

"This boy is ignorance. This girl is Want," said the Spirit. "And they are not mine, but Men's!"

Pet Deer Wears Bell to Warn Off Hunters

LANESVILLE, Va. (UP)—Hunters in King William County who hear a ringing in their ears this fall will know the bell tolls for Bambi.

Bambi is the pet deer of Mr. and Mrs. John Previa, rescued from dogs as a fawn three years ago. He grew up preferring crackers, ice cream and cigars from the Previa's country store to roaming in the woods.

Bambi grew too big for a house pet and began to wander. So with the approach of hunting season, the Previas corralled their pet and hung a bell around his neck. They hope it will protect him from hunters.

Yule Gifts for Hobbyists Are Extra Easy to Find

It's true that there are some exceptions—for instance, a Tommy Manville. But in practically every case, the easiest folk to buy Christmas gifts for are those who have a favorite hobby.

Be they gardeners, knitters or stamp collectors, give them an item which fits their craze and you're sure to rate A-1.

Photography fans, for example, will tell you with obvious pride that theirs is the nation's top hobby.

And a trip to the neighborhood camera store will prove that the manufacturing firms have more than kept pace with its growth.

The suitable gifts you can buy are almost endless in variety. They range in price from a few cents to hundreds of dollars, so whatever your budget you're sure to please.

Accessories such as lens caps are needed by every photographer, but often cost less than a dollar. Something a little more costly is an accurate electrical timer. Then there are wide-angle telephoto lenses, enlargers, books and dozens of others.

The important thing to remember is to check with the photographer's present equipment to see if he already has the item. The same goes when buying for other hobbies.

Does someone on your list crochet or knit? Virtually every city has specialized shops or department store counters which deal with such hobbies exclusively.

A chat with the clerk in charge will turn up scores of suggestions. Ditto for workshop or cooking fans.

It's probable, too, that one of your friends likes gardening. Why not a new set of garden tools, or durable, washable gloves? Or practical dungarees, adorned with a gardening motif?

Then there are those who like model building. Learn which types they prefer (and which ones they've already built) and your shopping dilemma is solved.

Some new kits, among others, reproduce old locomotives, early American autos and various furniture styles. And, of course, the latest in airplanes.

The list of additional pastimes is much too long for mention, but the moral, by now, should be clear. If any names on your Christmas list still are followed by question marks, see if they have a hobby. Then walk down to the hobby

One-Month Job Lasts for 40 Years on Railroad

SALEM, Ore. (UP)—Back in the days of the Model T, William E. Burks had a chance for a permanent job with the Union Pacific Railroad. He turned that down to take a one-month job with the Southern Pacific road because he planned to get back into selling tires.

"For only 30 days" was the understanding when Burks went to work with Southern Pacific. The other day he retired as freight agent here—after 40 years with Southern Pacific.

Burks came to Oregon from Houston, Tex., in 1914 as a Ford salesman. He planned to sell Fords to eastern Oregon ranchers.

"Those ranchers were so wealthy they were buying everything but Fords. I went broke."

Prefer Old Bridge

KENNEWICK, Wash. (UP)—The highway department wishes people weren't such creatures of habit. Traffic counts taken since a new $6,000,000 four-lane bridge across the Columbia River was opened to traffic show 60 per cent of the traffic still uses the old, two-lane span.

Humans Adapt Quickly for Life as Amphibians

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—Naval research reports recently presented here indicate that men are becoming increasingly amphibious. At least that's the implication in a report presented at a meeting of the American Physiological Society.

Greater lung capacity and new breathing patterns were cited as man's new acquisitions. The changes occur when skin divers and spear fishermen swim regularly under water without a breathing apparatus.

According to the report of the U. S. Naval Medical Research Laboratory, the swimmers adapt to the needs of their new environment. The lung capacity increases and the breathing rate is cut.

Scientists found that swimming instructors take in twice as much air as they did before the underwater duty and their breathing rate drops to between seven and 10 breaths a minute. They formerly took between 13 and 15 breaths in the same period.

Train Official Collects Railroad Mementos

EFFNER, Ill. (P)—Railroadiana of all kinds is being collected here by R. H. Egbert, chief engineer of the Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad, who also has charge of the road's new historical museum called the Tee Pee.

Besides the collection of photos of old steam engines, there are such divergent relics of the past as a drive wheel from an old steam engine, an ancient coupler, old caboose lights and a myriad of other items.

Glasses Survive Fall

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (P)—Herman Edwardson, observer in a civilian air patrol plane on a message-dropping training mission, leaped out of the plane to drop a message. The wind whipped off his glasses. The ground crew, 500 feet below, picked them up, unbroken.

Although the United States Trust Territory of Pacific Islands is as wide as the United States, the 2,000 islands have a total land area half the size of Rhode Island, says the National Geographic Society.
