

House Will Vote on Tax-Reform Bill Today

ONE COLOR

LANSING (AP) — Republicans planned to put their state income tax bill to a vote in the House today despite an apparent lack of needed Democratic support.

"I think it's time we put it upon the board and see where everybody is," said Speaker Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe.

"I just can't see what they hope to accomplish," said House Democratic leader William Ryan of Detroit.

The crucial question, apparently, was how many Democratic votes the Republican leaders have gained by making concessions in their original package of fiscal bills.

Waldron said he was hoping for 10 Democratic votes. "I don't see how some of these suburban people could vote against it," he said.

HAD PROMISED 10

"They'll be lucky to get three or four," said Ryan, who had promised the Republicans 10 votes for a package which met Democrats' objections to the original GOP plan.

The parties have 54 seats each in the House. It takes 55 votes to pass a bill. Because a number of Republicans—perhaps as many as 10 or 12—are not expected to vote for the tax bill, substantial Democratic help would be needed to pass it.

The package contained these major features:

A 2½ per cent personal income tax with a $1,000 exemption. Income taxes of 6 per cent on corporations and 7 per cent on financial institutions, coupled with repeal of the business activities tax.

Repeal of cities' power to levy a ½ per cent tax on nonresidents, replacing the lost revenue with a state rebate of money collected under the personal income tax.

A cut in the intangibles tax and a three-cent increase in the per-pack cigarette tax.

Property tax relief worth $90 million under a formula still to be designed.

Protestants Set Up Agency to Aid in Unification Effort

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Representatives of 10 major Protestant denominations, planning to unite, set up an unusual intermediary agency today to get them working together even before their formal unification.

A special commission was approved for liaison between denominational officials to "encourage and correlate" joint work in various fields at local, regional and national levels.

The action, aimed at stimulating and increasing practical unity as a prelude to actual unification, came shortly after the church delegates gave a clear go-ahead for designing the plan of union.

The decision last night swept away uncertainties voiced during the previous three days over whether to proceed at once to work on an organizational blueprint.

The 10 denominations involved have about 25.5 million members, more than one-third of all American Protestants.

They include: Episcopalians, Methodists, Evangelical United Brethren, Disciples, Southern Presbyterians, United Presbyterians, and members of the United Church of Christ, and three predominantly Negro bodies of Methodists.

"This really puts us down the road," said the Rev. David G. Colwell of Washington, D. C., chairman of the Consultation on Church Union.

TIME UNCERTAIN

"It means let's get this plan of union drafted as fast as we can do it."

Just how long it will take was uncertain, however.

Drafting committees were authorized by unanimous vote to begin work immediately and to report results a year hence. But expectations were that it would take longer to finish the job.

diately and to report results a year hence. But expectations were that it would take longer to finish the job.

The denominational representatives also registered a "sense of urgency" in the resolution setting up the machinery for structure mapping as recommended by a committee headed by the Rev. Elmer Arndt of Webster Groves, Mo.

Cooler and Cloudy Is Tonight's Outlook

The weatherman is having a hard time raising temperatures in the Pontiac area.

Cloudy and cool with scattered showers, forecast for today, will bring temperatures down to 32-38 tonight. Skies will continue overcast.

LBJ Proposes Bill to Prevent Railroad Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed new legislation today to avert a nationwide railroad strike by pressing for a voluntary wage settlement within 90 days, but imposing a two-year solution by law if necessary.

"I urge these railroads and unions to finish this job themselves," Johnson said in asking Congress for the third time to forbid a strike while a new White House board presses for an agreement.

Johnson's proposal would apply only to the current labor dispute involving six railroad shop unions, but the President said:

"We continue and renew our search for a just and general solution to emergency strike or lockout problems in our country."

Johnson would name a five-man board under his rail legislation to spend the first 30 days in intensive mediation toward a voluntary agreement, the next 30 days in hearings and the final 30 days in more mediation.

PREVIOUS PANELS

If there is no agreement after the 90 days, the White House board's recommendations — embracing and modifying the proposals of two previous presidential panels — would become binding for two years, retroactive to last January 1.

The railroads and unions could continue to negotiate for a different settlement, but a strike by the unions or a lockout by the railroads would be prohibited by law until Dec. 31, 1968.

"It represents the slightest possible intrusion upon the process of collective bargaining," Johnson said.

W. Willard Wirtz, secretary of labor, insisted repeatedly in answer to questions at a White House briefing the provision for a binding solution if necessary would not amount to compulsory arbitration.

WITHIN 60 DAYS

Wirtz said he believed the proposal will produce a settlement within the first 60 days.

The 90-day period would start running as soon as Congress acts, Wirtz said, even if the legislation is passed during the present 47-day congressional strike ban that went into effect Wednesday.

Chief railroad negotiator J. E. Wolfe said Johnson's proposal will not prevent a similar railroad labor crisis in the future and federal labor law should be amended to deal with all such disputes.

"However, we will not oppose the President's proposal in this case," Wolfe said.

Westmoreland Likely to Get at Least 1 More Division

WASHINGTON (AP) — General William C. Westmoreland stands a good chance of getting at least one more Army division to strengthen his forces in Vietnam, government sources said today.

And he could gain two more divisions, depending on the course of the war in the weeks ahead.

Each additional division and its supporting elements would swell Westmoreland's force by 25,000 to 30,000 men.

Present plans calling for a buildup to about 470,000 U.S. servicemen in Vietnam by year's end were completed last fall. The U.S. force in Vietnam was last reported officially at 440,000.

Since last fall, the Communists have intensified their operations threatening the northernmost provinces of South Vietnam, and have built North Vietnamese regular army elements in the buffer zone area to about four divisions.

VIEWS CONTRAST

There is a marked contrast between the way the Communist buildup is viewed by State Department officials on the one hand and by those at the Defense Department on the other.

State Department officials warned late last week that a major North Vietnamese assault across the border may be imminent.

The Defense Department officials, while concerned about the Red buildup, say they anticipate no such invasion.

Acceleration of the threat would accelerate Pentagon consideration of any further reinforcements for Westmoreland.

President Johnson took a low key approach yesterday to questions about further troop commitments.

Rusk Sees Viet Dividend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the U.S. stand in Vietnam is paying dividends in terms of what he called "a new vitality and confidence" in free nations of East Asia.

Two City Clergymen Back Unity Move

The apparent green light from a national conference to eventually unite 10 major Protestant denominations received support today from two local churchmen — a Methodist and an Episcopalian.

The Rev. C. George Widdfield, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, said: "The Consultation on Church Union has obviously been working hard to bring about unification of Christendom — at least Protestantism."

"We can only hope and pray that their labor will be productive. In the last half of the 20th century the world cannot afford either morally, socially or economically the luxury of a divided church.

"All of us must strive for honest and realistic solutions to our differences, so that the church can speak with a strong, prophetic voice in these troubled days."

Dr. Milton H. Bank, minister of Central Methodist Church, said "I firmly believe denominationalism has about had its day."

"This proposed merger is an honest attempt to answer the question people are continually asking today — 'Why don't the churches get together?'"

Local Man Tied to Car Thefts

By MEL NEWMAN

Pontiac police said today they have arrested a former city used-car dealer they believe to be the head of a car theft ring involving up to $50,000 worth of stolen automobiles.

Taken into custody at his home this morning was Oscar M. Stabley, 50, of 34 Collingwood. He was charged on the arrest warrant with the theft of a car from Matthews-Hargreaves Chevrolet, 631 Oakland, in November of last year.

Stabley, who most recently rented lots for his Oscar's Motor Sales company at 128 Oakland and 448 S. Saginaw, is accused of leading an operation which allegedly entailed stealing vehicles in the Pontiac area and selling them at auctions in Detroit, Flint and several Indiana cities, including Indianapolis.

The procedure, according to Pontiac Detective William Davis, involved buying a wrecked car at a very low price, stealing a matching make and model, switching the cars' serial numbers, then selling the stolen car.

Police said they presume the stolen vehicles were first stored in a lot while the matching junk cars' titles were applied to them and put in another person's name.

TITLES REASSIGNED

The titles were then reassigned from that name to Oscar's Motor Sales and subsequently sold, police said.

Davis said nine late model automobiles valued at roughly $14,000 have thus far been traced to the alleged ring. He estimated as many as 20 to 25 more cars may be linked to the operation.

Police said they first suspected an organized theft ring last fall when an unusually high number of cars were reported stolen from Pontiac dealerships and not found.

Mines and booby traps are most common in closely populated areas. Because of this, Marines face a disproportionate share because most of their everyday patrols go through populated areas of the coastal zone of the 1st Corps military sector, the northernmost provinces of South Vietnam.

★ ★ ★ In 1966, which closed with a corps strength of 60,000, the Marines reported casualties of 1,369 dead and 10,242 wounded. About 24 per cent of the total — 203 dead and 2,174 wounded — was attributed to booby traps.

★ ★ ★ Most casualties were in the 1st Marine Division which operates almost exclusively in the coastal area, compared with the 3rd Marine Division, which spends much time seeking the North Vietnamese troops in the unpopulated mountains just below the demilitarized zone.

★ ★ ★ U.S. Army booby trap casualties were approximately 16 per cent, reflecting extended operations in such open areas as the central highlands and War Zone C.

★ ★ ★ Occasionally, a lone guerrilla is left behind to detonate a claymore mine but the enemy is seldom around when a Marine trips a booby trap.

★ ★ ★ Although no figures exist, experts say few booby trap casualties have resulted from a Marine's desire for a souvenir. An occasional enemy flag fluttering from a pole may be connected to a grenade.

★ ★ ★ To meet the booby trap problem, the Marines have a three-day training school. In Da Nang, one instructor, Sgt. Robert J. Wuorenma, Seattle, Wash., tells his students: "The real test is in the field. If you get home safe and sound, with all your limbs, only then will you know you passed the course."

Junior Editors Quiz on CITIES

QUESTION: Why is Philadelphia called the City of Brotherly Love?

ANSWER: To answer, we must go back to William Penn, founder of Pennsylvania. This remarkable man was born to wealthy parents in England, and became a Quaker when 22 years old.

He was imprisoned several times because of his faith and dreamed of a country where a man could worship in his own way. After his father died, Penn asked the English king to grant him an area in the New World to settle a debt owned by the crown to his father.

In 1681, a charter to a large tract was given him. This was named Pennsylvania. Penn came to America, made an honorable treaty with the Indians and established his colony on principles of freedom and justice.

He named the main city of Penn's colony Philadelphia, from a Greek word meaning brotherly love. As a result, we often connect these two English words with the city.

Later history, too, linked Philadelphia with the idea of brotherhood. Here, the Declaration of Independence was written and signed. Here, from Independence Hall, the Liberty Bell called citizens to hear the Declaration read.

Here Benjamin Franklin lived and worked—one of the group of brilliant men who helped to found a new nation on the conception of brotherly love.

OU Dormitory Monument to Patron

EURIPIDES wrote: "When good men die, their goodness does not perish."

There could be no finer exemplification of that ancient truism than the posthumous munificence of the late ORMOND E. HUNT by which Oakland University becomes the recipient of a debt-free $825,000 dormitory.

Before his death last January Mr. Hunt, executive vice president of General Motors Corporation prior to his retirement in 1949, purchased OU dormitory bonds in that amount to finance the first of the university's six dormitories.

The six-story Hill House, designed to house 200 coeds, was opened in 1964.

During his lifetime, the benefactor drew the interest on the bonds, but in his will bequeathed them to Michigan State University board of trustees, the governing body of OU.

With the legacy now formalized, Hill House will stand as an enduring tribute to the memory of one who embodied the virtues of kindness, modesty and generosity.

The goodness of Mr. Hunt will not perish.

'Goodwill' a Helping Hand to the Handicapped

Goodwill Industries will receive well-deserved recognition during Goodwill Week to be observed May 7-13.

Without special help, handicapped people are often relegated to isolated lives confined to homes or institutions without opportunity, without work, dependent on families or taxpayers.

An important answer to this problem has been found in vocational rehabilitation workshops, where handicapped people can be helped through counseling, evaluation, training, jobs and placement help. The 175 Goodwill Industries programs comprise the largest group of such workshops in the Nation.

Boston was the birthplace, in 1902, of the Goodwill concept of self-help for the handicapped. The Pontiac store on East Pike was established 10 years ago.

The purpose of Goodwill Week is to bring public attention to the handicapped and in areas where rehabilitation workshops operate to encourage support through donation of materials or money which make the operations possible.

In these days when answers to so many of our social problems are being sought in multibillion Federal welfare programs, it is tremendously encouraging to see the spirit of voluntary independence still strongly at work in the land.

Goodwill Industries deserves the thanks, the respect, the cooperation and the support of every one of us.

Vote Threatens India's 'Congress' Party

The Congress Party of India, which suffered heavy reverses in February's legislative elections, may be in for another battering.

This could happen Saturday, when an electoral college composed of all members of Parliament and of the various state legislative assemblies votes for a president and a vice president. Election of the two principal non-Congress candidates is quite possible.

Under a parliamentary form of government, the prime minister is supposed to be the repository of power, with the chief of state more or less a figurehead.

But India's constitution is vague on the powers of the president. Legal authorities assert that he could, without consulting the prime minister, dissolve Parliament, summon party leaders to form a new government, and suspend state governments. The Indian president also is commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

The election is essentially a two-man race. The Congress Party candidate is ZAKIR HUSAIN, the incumbent vice president. The seven opposition parties, ranging from extreme right to extreme left, have rallied behind K. SUBBA RAO, chief justice of the Indian Supreme Court.

All signs point to a close election. For the first time since independence, a majority of Indians live under state governments not controlled by the Congress Party. Even if Husain should win, a closely fought contest would tarnish the Indian tradition that the presidency best remain above partisan politics.

Dirksen Is President's Friend in Need

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The 71-year-old senator with the unkempt hair and a doomsday voice that makes Dr. Martin Luther King sound like a jolly comedian wanted to be an actor and went into politics. He has done very well at both.

He doesn't just make fun. He draws pictures, like the time he went after the anti-poverty program of his friend and former social companion, President Johnson.

The senator, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate's Republican leader, said he had heard 700 young men wanted to be trained under the antipoverty program to operate a diaper service.

"That's really getting to the bottom of things," he said. "I'm tempted to say it's time for a change."

He went on Red Skelton's CBS television show to plug his best-selling record album, "Gallant Men," and got into a prearranged argument with Skelton on why a chicken crossed the road.

Dirksen insisted on knowing whether it was a free enterprise chicken or a government-supported chicken.

He has banged and pecked and sometimes ruined a Johnson program — as he did the administration's civil rights bill in 1966 — but he has given Johnson 100 per cent support on the war in Vietnam, or practically 100 per cent.

Twice, he left a sick bed in the Walter Reed Army Hospital to fight for Johnson.

He did it last March, when his support was crucial, to back the President just before the final vote on the consular treaty which Johnson wanted. The Senate approved.

DID IT AGAIN

He did it again this week when, not fully recovered from pneumonia, he barged into a meeting of the Senate's Republican Policy Committee, which seemed ready to tee off on Johnson's conduct of the war.

When he got through, most of the Republican senators meekly agreed on giving the President "wholehearted support."

Dirksen has attacked war protesters and ridiculed the draft-card burners as a bunch of publicity seekers.

Last year he led a successful combination of Republicans and Southern Democrats in killing a proposal both Johnson and organized labor wanted. It would have stopped states from barring the union shop.

TRIED BUT FAILED

He tried but failed to get the Senate to approve a constitutional amendment which, if ever adopted, would have undone the Supreme Court's ban on certain prayers in public schools.

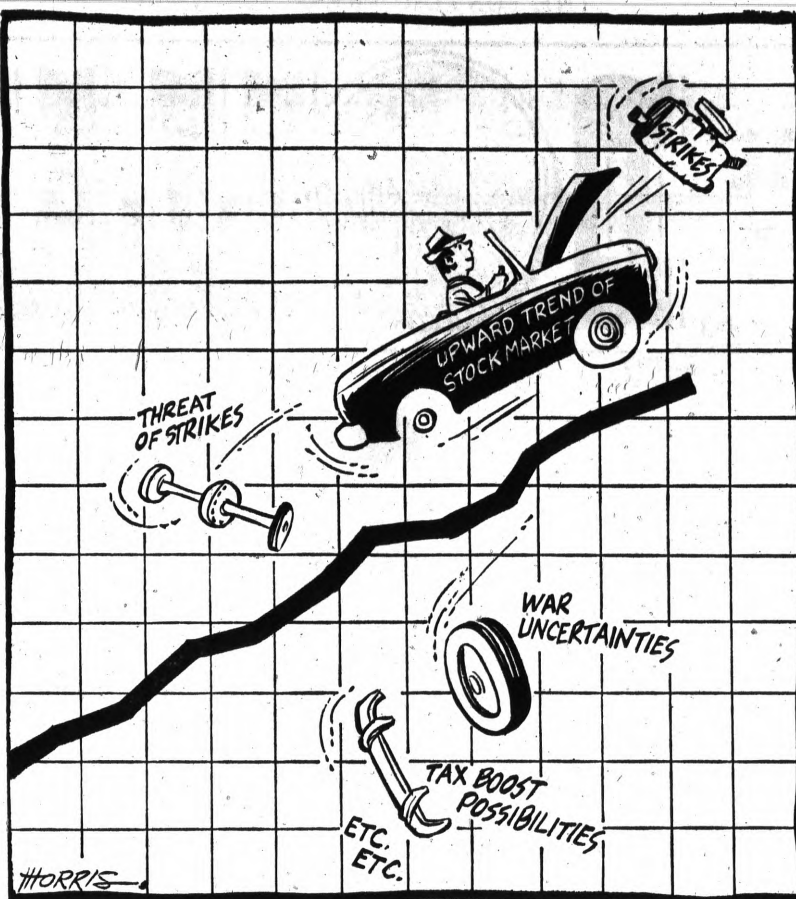

But every time there has been an international crisis Dirksen has been on hand to announce you can't let a president down when there is a war on.

Last year he even tangled with the Republican leader of the House, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, who charged there had been "shocking mismanagement" of some aspects of the war. "Who are the shockers?" Dirksen asked.

IN THERE PITCHING

And this year when Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., a frequent thorn to Johnson, proposed suspension of the bombing in Vietnam, Dirksen was in there pitching for Johnson, who wouldn't suspend the bombing.

Johnson couldn't have a better helper, at least on the war.

Okay, You Explain It!

David Lawrence Says:

N-War Outlook May Be Salutory

WASHINGTON — The chief military officers of the United States now predict that, if a major war breaks out in Europe, it will be fought with nuclear weapons and that this country will immediately become involved and subject to nuclear attack.

This bleak prophecy could have a salutary effect. It could bring the Soviet Union and other nations of the world to the conference table to agree on an effective means of checkmating the use of nuclear power.

The American people read yesterday morning an announcement that the United States will withdraw 35,000 troops from Europe. This means an obvious weakening of the American ground forces on that continent.

But, on the same day, a subcommittee of the committee on appropriations of the House of Representatives released a censored transcript of testimony given on March 6 by Gen. Earl Wheeler.

It quotes the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff as challenging the recommendation of Secretary of Defense McNamara against appropriating funds for the deployment of the Nike-X antiballistic-missile system. This is the type of defense which the Soviets now are building up.

NO LARGE ARMY

The peoples of Europe are face to face, therefore, with the fact — at last officially confirmed — that there is no realistic plan to defend Western Europe by a large army of ground troops or against Soviet missiles.

Instead, the 7,000 nuclear warheads stacked up in Europe will be utilized by a relatively small force for a limited defense and, if necessary, to damage the territory of an aggressor. This in turn could mean a Soviet strike against the American continent. A major war with maximum nuclear power would then become inevitable.

While airlifts by jet planes could put a large number of American troops back into Europe in a short time, dependence is going to be placed in the interim on a small force of ground troops.

The new developments mean that the United States will have to spend many more billions of dollars in order to make it possible for a sub-

HUGE EXPENDITURES

To preserve the nuclear balance, of course, means huge expenditures, both for the Soviet Union and the United States.

The facts now coming out emphasize that the most acute issue before the world is the necessity for an agreement limiting nuclear power hereafter and assuring some effective system of mutual inspection so that agreements will not be violated.

Round-the-World Flight Is Perfect for Insomniacs

NEW YORK — If you don't like to fly at night, TWA will have just the flight for your proposed round-the-world trip — once the company gets the equipment and route privileges. (Details! Details!)

You'll board its supersonic concord at Kennedy International, New York, at 11 a.m., and arrive in Honolulu at 11:01 a.m., Honolulu time. Then on to Tokyo and a landing about 10:45 a.m. Tokyo time! Crazy?

It will be 3:53 p.m. by the time you set down in Cairo. There will be just time to swat a fly, pick the fly out of your martini, reboard the jet and fly to New York.

Estimated time of arrival in New York: 6 p.m. Total daylight flight of 21,886 miles, some of it ahead of the advancing sun.

Good flight for insomniacs. And in-depth commentators.

Expo 67 sounds like a happy place to be these days. But one suspects no visitor to it is happier or more awed than Rosalie Kirkness, who has spent all of her 13 years on a Cree Indian reservation at God's Lake, Manitoba.

She is there as the guest of American Iron and Steel Institute, New York. She wrote the organization a letter not long ago asking for information on the steel industry, to help her prepare a school display.

The girl's description of the flinty life on the reservation, where 800 Cree live and generally survive the rigors of northern Canadian winters, appealed so much to the institute it decided to give her a trip to the fair.

School dropouts as well as stay-ins can purchase great gobs of information for small prices from a kindly old gentleman named Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government printing Office, Washington, D.C.

For 25 cents, for example, you cats may acquire the Department of Commerce's latest booklet in its dull-sounding but information-filled series titled "Do You Know Your Economic ABC's?" The 48-page booklet, sixth in the series, is called "Science & Technology for Mankind's progress." Have a swatch:

"Television, jet airplanes in passenger use, and digital computers, which contributed nothing to our gross national product in 1946, today contribute $13 billion per year to the Gross National Product and up to 1 million jobs in the United States alone."

An exclusive mimeograph from acting Secretary of Commerce Alexander B. Trowbridge Swears . . . "It contains a list of 16 inventions of the Chinese, dating from seven to 19 centuries ago, which were not put in use in the rest of the world until approximately the last century!"

The Chinese are working on a dandy little new one, an H-bomb, but are not expected to harbor it from the West for the next seven to 19 centuries.

'Let's Direct Energies Toward Crime Control'

I, too, am more concerned about some of the humans running loose than I am about the dogs. People are so worried about stricter dog ordinances and keeping dogs chained that they forget the many services for humanity dogs perform, such as guide dogs for the blind, police work, etc. Most vicious dogs are made that way by being kept chained and being teased and tormented by children.

If these anti-dog people would direct their energy toward obtaining stricter control and punishment for sex perverts and the like, tragedies such as the one in Westland would be less likely to occur and the outdoors would be safer for our children, regardless of whether the dogs are tied.

I would rather my two pre-school girls be lost in the woods with a strange dog than a strange man.

Area Resident Discusses Water Problem

Many residents in the water assessment district in West Bloomfield Township do not want Detroit water. Our township board will not recognize these objections because they were not filed at the formal hearing on April 5. We received notice of this hearing on March 25. At the meeting we were given only estimated costs and expected to make up our minds then and there.

By what right does our township board contract for Detroit water without consulting its citizens? We in Sylvan Manor are still paying a sewer assessment and might conceivably have wanted to pay that off before taking on more obligations.

Could Experts Correct This Safety Hazard?

Recently I was going into the Pontiac Motor parking lot as a car left the lot going south toward old Kennett at 50-60 miles per hour and still picking up speed when it ran the red light by the old union hall. This isn't an isolated case. Night shift workers use this road for a drag strip each morning about 6.

It would be interesting to know what Mr. Nader would suggest to correct this hazard and the nut that operates the wheel.

'Too Many Children Allowed to Run Loose'

In answer to "Sick and Tired of Dogs," we also live in Walled Lake and agree there are too many dogs permitted to run loose. But it is just as true that there are far too many children permitted to run loose. Our own pet was abused right in our fenced yard. So, along with more rigid enforcement of dog laws, let's also impose penalties on parents who permit children to run as they please wherever they please.

'American Women Need to Improve Image'

My neighbor's niece, a hostess at Expo 67 in Montreal wrote: "You can spot a woman two blocks away. She's usually in slacks and sloppy shoes, or worse." She's right. Look next time you go shopping. Seldom do you see a skirt or neat dress-up outfit.

I'm going to heed these observations and hope other American women try to recapture their fading femininity with the swirl of a skirt rather than the swish of slacks.

Let's try to strengthen the American image and prove we are the warm, wonderful and sensible women we'd like others to think we are.

French Group Fights for Birth Curbs

PARIS (AP) — The number of illegal abortions in France is estimated to equal the number of live births. Advocates of legislation now pending believe they can change this record, and help prevent the death of perhaps 850 women every year.

They are trying to get Parliament to repeal a 1920 law which forbids publicizing contraceptive methods and devices. This was enacted to boost population after World War I.

The repeal measure is on the new National Assembly's agenda, with significant Gaullist backing. Its promoter, Gaullist Deputy Lucien Neuwirth of St. Etienne, is openly confident the bill will win approval within a few weeks.

This is a legislative offshoot of a birth control campaign started in 1956 by gynecologist, Dr. Marie-Andree Lagroua Weill-Halle. She was one of the founders of the Mouvement Français Pour le Planning Familial — MFPF — and was largely inspired by the effort of Margaret Sanger whom she met in the United States in 1947.

PRIVATE MEMBERSHIP
To overcome restrictions of the 1920 law, the MFPF operates on a private membership basis.

"Membership cost is nominal and each year public participation has increased, although less than 10 per cent of our members are from the working class," said Dr. Weill-Halle. "Today, we have more than 200,000 members with 177 centers throughout France. Four centers serve about 35,000 members in Paris."

The centers' personnel only advise members on contraceptive methods and devices. Prescribing of pills or devices is done by the members' doctors.

"Introduction of the pill in France has gone a long way toward changing the public's traditional conservative attitude on birth control," Dr. Weill-Halle observes.

PSYCHOLOGY, EVOLUTION

"Medically speaking, there is pro and con, but for most women in France it is a question of psychology and evolution."

The MFPF's legal adviser is a tall, dynamic Frenchwoman, Anne-Marie Dourlen-Rollier, a lawyer, who with Dr. Weill-Halle started the organization.

In addition to her legal practice — she specializes in divorces — she has published two books on abortions in France. Last year she organized a round-table conference on abortions, the first time the subject was given official and professional recognition in France.

"It is impossible to assess accurately the number of illegal abortions that occur, but from studies made by myself and by the National Institute of Demographic Studies, the estimate ranges from 350,000 to a million a year," she says. "We go by an average of about 850,000, or roughly the equivalent of the annual birth rate in France."

DIAPHRAGM FORBIDDEN

Essentially, the 1920 law forbids only the publicizing of contraceptive methods and devices — not their manufacture and sale so long as they can contribute toward preserving public health. Dourlen-Rollier says the diaphragm cannot be said to perform any function beyond preventing conception, and as such its manufacture and sale are forbidden.

"However, for years women have obtained prescriptions for diaphragms that have been sold to them from sources in England and the United States," she adds.

"Since no legal actions have resulted so far, it is evident that past and present governments have given tacit sanction to this situation."

The prime objective of the campaign and the Neuwirth bill is not to curb population growth in France per se, but in the words of Dourlen-Rollier, "to encourage planning by individual families to conform to their economic capacities and eliminate recourse to illegal abortion. It is hoped, thereby, to reduce individual hardship and tragedy."

France is a predominantly Catholic country.

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — A disposable diaper marketed under the name of "Pampers" and manufactured in Cheboygan by the Charmin Paper Co. is "Product of the Year" for Region Four of northeastern lower Michigan. The disposable diaper enters competition for Michigan Product of the Year which will be announced during Michigan Week May 21-27.

More Women in Cong Units

Manpower Needs Force Recruitment

SAIGON (AP) — Manpower needs are forcing the Communists to put more women into their guerrilla and main-force units.

U.S. troops who have opposed women in isolated clashes give them credit for being good fighters.

In some areas, most notably the Mekong Delta, the Vietcong are recruiting and impressing 14-year-old boys into their service. U.S. sources say captured Vietcong have run all the way down to 12 years old.

These sources say that, as a consequence, the Vietcong are recruiting up to 25 per cent of their replacements from women, creating a women's army corps that is fairly formidable. The exact size is unknown.

USED AS SENTRIES

Although some of their tasks involve little risk — such as cooking and clerical duties — increasing numbers are being used as sentries, couriers through government-held areas and intelligence agents.

There have been reports of shoot-outs between Vietnamese government forces and small, all-women Vietcong forces.

A U.S. source says American GIs have yet to run into such confrontation with an all-woman unit. However, pistol-packing Vietcong women have stood with Communist troops and fought against advancing American units. In some cases they fought very well.

These Vietcong women soldiers have been given tough military training that American servicewomen do not get.

REPAIR JOBS

Much of the pick and shovel work is done by the women who must fortify and repair base camps while the men are out patrolling or fighting.

Sometimes women are among the special units that clean up the battlefield. Often this means running under fire to grab weapons or help drag bodies of wounded or dead soldiers back to the lines.

Sullen-faced women seen by American and government GIs in villages abandoned by men often are Vietcong women. They carefully count the number of allied troops, note how they move and observe their tactics if possible. The information could prove valuable in a later Communist ambush try.

Love, generally, is not for the woman soldier. Under Communist doctrine, love is something for another time and place and the Communist women and men troops are ordered to consider themselves as brothers and sisters.

in Plot CaseATHENS (AP) — An investigating magistrate began questioning Andreas Papandreou today about his connection with the Aspidia treason case but the initial session lasted only 20 minutes.The magistrate, Socrates So-cratides, said Papandreou's
"identification data was taken and his defense lawyer formally appointed."The questioning was then adjourned at Papandreou's request until next Wednesday, when "the substantial stage of questioning begins," Socratides said.Papandreou, 49, is considered the No. 1 enemy of the new military regime and the conservative officers who lead it. He is accused of being the guiding spirit in the secret Aspidia (Shield) organization of leftist army officers which has been charged with plotting to overthrow the Greek monarchy, take Greece out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and set up a neutralist Socialist state.15 OFFICERS CONVICTEDFifteen officers have been convicted of treason in connection with the case and sentenced to prison terms, but until the military coup April 21 Papandreou could not be questioned or prosecuted because he was a member of Parliament.He and his father, former Premier George Papandreou, 79, were arrested in the coup.
The leaders of the coup claimed
ist supporters had planned outbreaks of violence to coincide with the start of the Papan-dreou's campaign for the May parliamentary election.Andreas, a former naturalized American citizen who returned home when his father's political fortunes improved, was interviewed by the magistrate at the hotel 15 miles outside Athens where he has been held since his arrest.Normally he would have been brought to the court building in central Athens, but the regime feared his appearance in the city would touch off demonstrations by his supporters.Bid by Wallace lace.Goldwater said yester-

pearance here, Wallace will run as a Presidential candidate and "pick up a surprising number of votes" . . . enough "to possibly keep any Republican candidate from defeating Johnson."The former Arizona senator also said if California Gov. Ronald Reagan "decides he wants to run, he will be the Republican nominee in 1968," but that "best qualified" candidate would be Richard Nixon.Judges Void Alabama's
School LawMONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)
— Three federal judges have told the state of Alabama that its enactment of antiguidelines legislation was a case of "taking the law into its own hands."The judges invalidated the law, passed last year by the Alabama Legislature at the urging of former Gov. George C.
Wallace. The court said Wednesday the law violates Article 10 of the U.S. Constitution which says acts of Congress are the "supreme law of the land."Alabama's law sought to an-null agreements local school boards had made to comply with school desegregation guidelines of the U.S. Health, Education and Welfare Department. It ruled the guidelines illegal and barred any future compliance agreements.

Many Critical County Road Projects Await Funds

By DICK SAUNDERS

"We're aware of the need, but we don't have the money to do the job."

This has become a stock answer for R. A. Trebilcock, director of programming for the Michigan State Highway Department in Lansing.

He has a flock of highway projects he can apply it to.

Trebilcock estimates there is a critical need for some $44 million in highway projects in Oakland County alone, which can't even be scheduled until after mid-1972 due to lack of funds.

Take M59 west of Williams Lake Road for example. It should be rebuilt all the way to

SLATED FOR WIDENING

This is the primary traffic artery to and from Oakland-Pontiac Airport. It has been widened east of the airport and is slated for widening from Airport Road to Williams Lake Road in 1969.

What kind of rebuilding is needed west of Williams Lake Road?

"In all probability we're talking about a relocated multilane, divided highway; not just widening," said Trebilcock.

"Right now we estimate it would cost roughly $13 million alone."

Under the highway department's comprehensive highway sufficiency rating system, there are now 1,257 pavement miles of primary highways in Michigan which are in critical need of improvement but are not in the regular construction program through June 30, 1972, for lack of funds.

'NO QUESTION'

The M59 project is part of this. "There's no question it should be done, just as the rest of the 1,257 miles should be done," Trebilcock explained.

Another unprogrammed need involving M59 is a grade separation at the Grand Trunk Western Railroad crossing on West Huron just west of West Side Track.

This is currently a subject of much controversy in Pontiac. State Highway Department officials have long recognized the need for "some sort of a bridge" at the crossing, but have no funds to do the job before mid-1972.

SEPARATION NEEDED

"We can't say for certain whether the railroad should go over or under the roadway until further studies are made, but there's no question a separation is needed there," Trebilcock commented.

Highway department officials aren't so concerned with trains tying up crossings for more than the five-minute limit.

They see larger traffic jams resulting from normal rail traffic clashing with increasingly heavy volumes of traffic on West Huron and West Wide Track.

The cost of a grade separation is currently estimated at $400,000, and that's probably low, according to highway engineers.

MAJOR PROJECTS

The grade separation and rebuilding M59 west of the airport are two of 11 major projects in Oakland County which are needed but not programmed for lack of funds.

The other nine are as follows:

- Construction of the proposed M275 freeway from the I-96 to I-696 interchange in Farmington Township northerly to the extended Northwestern Highway in Commerce Township. Estimated cost is $8.6 million.

- Construction of M275 freeway from M59 in White Lake Township northerly to I-75 in Independence Township at estimated cost of $8 million. (The section of M275 from Northwest to M59 is programmed for 1971).

- Improve West Huron in downtown Pontiac between East and West Wide Track. Estimated cost is $600,000. Projected traffic volume indicates need for widening or possibly making West Huron a one-way thoroughfare.

DIVIDED HIGHWAY

- Complete reconstruction of Telegraph Road to an eight-lane divided highway from 12 Mile Road in Southfield northerly to Square Lake Road in Bloomfield Township, omitting the West Maple and West Long Lake intersections which are already programmed for reconstruction. Estimated cost is $5.6 million.

- The same type or reconstruction on Telegraph from Square Lake Road northerly to Orchard Lake Road; estimated cost $1.7 million

- Widen a small portion of M59 between Elizabeth Lake and Cass Lake roads in Waterford Township. Estimated cost is $450,000 due to poor soil conditions in that area.

- Widen or reconstruct as divided highway Rochester Road from I-75 in Troy northerly to about a half mile south of Rochester, omitting the portion from South Boulevard to the M59 freeway which is already programmed. This is to handle increased traffic volume already created by I-75 and more expected to be generated by completion of M59 freeway. Estimated cost is $2.7 million.

CENTER TURN LANE

- Widen an eight-mile stretch of US-10 (Telegraph and Dixie Highway) from Elizabeth Lake Road (at Telegraph) to M15 (at Dixie). Widening would allow for center turn lane. Estimated cost is $2.5 million.

- Widen a 1.5-mile stretch

Grand Ole Opry to Appear in Pontiac

The nationally acclaimed Grand Ole Opry will stage two performances May 28 at Saginaw; Grinnell Brothers, Pontiac Central High School, 27 S. Saginaw and at Pontiac Mall; Lakeland Record Shop, 4516 Dixie, Waterford Township; and Pete's Lunch, 207 Orchard Lake.

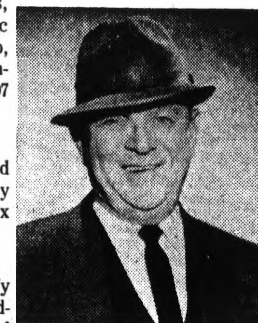

Sponsored by local coin organizations, the shows will be at 2 and 7 p.m.

Stars slated to appear with the group May 28 are Minnie Pearl, Kitty Wells, Johnny Wright and the Tennessee Mountain Boys, Bill Phillips, Ruby and Bobby Wright and the Duke of Paducah.

Tickets are $2 for general admission and $2.50 for reserved seats.

They also can be acquired by mailing a check or money to Grand Ole Opry, P.O. Box 901, Pontiac, Mich.

Persons should specify whether they want general admission or reserve tickets and whether they want to attend

TESTING — Pontiac Motor Division has built the test track (upper left) to test drive every car built at the home assembly plant just as soon as it comes off the assembly line. Pontiac initiated the test as an extra measure to assure that its cars are rattle and squeak free. Every car must pass the ride over potholes, railroad ties and a ripple torsion twist before it leaves the plant for shipment to a dealer's showroom. After the car has passed the test an inspector places a "T" sticker on the window (lower right) signifying it is noise free. The other "T" sticker is placed on at the assembly line after an inspection there.

New Pontiacs Get Tough Road Testing

To insure greater customer satisfaction, Pontiac Motor Division test drives every car immediately after it comes off the assembly line and before it is shipped.

Within minutes after a new Pontiac or Tempest is built, it goes directly to a special road test track located behind Pontiac's home assembly plant.

The test track is marked by potholes, staggered railroad ties, a ripple torsion twist section and side banks.

Seven inspectors drive the new cars down the track listening for abnormal noises. The results of this test are then recorded on each car's inspection card.

If any irregularities are found they are corrected before the car is shipped. In addition, this information is fed back to the assembly line to insure that following cars are correctly assembled.

MUST PASS

Every car built at Pontiac must and does pass this road test before it leaves the plant for shipment to a dealer's showroom.

Started with the first car of the 1966 model run, the track is an extra test initiated by Pontiac to assure that their cars are rattle and squeak free as built.

A similar track has been built at the Lordstown, Ohio, plant where Pontiac's new sports car, the Firebird, is assembled. Every new Firebird must pass the same test before delivery to dealers.

The factory road test is an addition to Pontiac's 117 other final assembly inspection operations, and it is designed as a true obstacle course.

ROUGH RIDE

The car is first bounced by large potholes on both the right and left side and then is bumped by staggered railroad ties running parallel with the car. Another set of ties set across the track the full width of the tires provide a ripple effect.

Finally the car receives a torsion test provided by a raised banked section that duplicates a rolling maneuver.

After the car has made its track run the inspector marks the inspection card. If a noise has been detected, the location of it is noted and the car is set aside for corrections.

Corrections are a joint operation between Pontiac and the neighboring Fisher Body plant. Pontiac is primarily responsible for the chassis and Fisher for the body.

As a result of this road testing a number of engineering revisions have been made to all of the Pontiac cars wherever assembled.

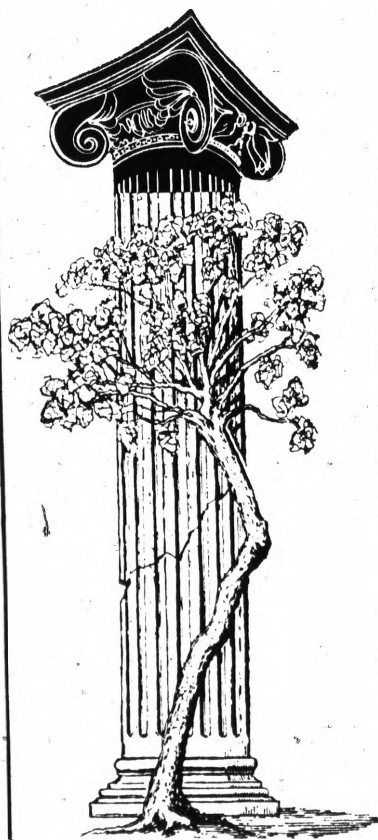

After the corrections are made, the car must go through the test once more as a final check.

Once it has been found noise free the inspector places a sticker on the vent window. The sticker is a large black "T" and it indicates Track.

THE PONTIAC CREATIVE ARTS CENTER

PcAc

The Pontiac Jaycees are attempting to raise $25,000 to enable the Pontiac Creative Arts Center to complete the renovation of the old City Library which has been leased for the sum of $1 per year from the City of Pontiac.

The Center will benefit all of the residents of the City of Pontiac and North Oakland County and will be used for classes, workshops, members' shows, open shows, invited artists, salesrooms for members, traveling exhibits from museums and other organizations and, in addition, will have rooms available for meetings of the various clubs and creative hobby organizations in the area.

The Pontiac Creative Arts Center can only come about through contributions by the citizens of greater Oakland County. All contributions are tax deductible and should be sent to the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce at 33 W. Huron St. in Pontiac with checks made payable to the Pontiac Creative Arts Center.

A Polite Refusal Isn't Rude; No Need to Feel Disturbed

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am a woman executive. After having worked all day and talked with many people in conferences and meetings, I like to have dinner in a nice place — alone. Well-meaning strangers ask me to join them; lonely people want to join me! How can I let them know, without being rude, that I want to eat alone?

ABBY

NOT LONELY
DEAR NOT: If you were to smile pleasantly and say, "I am not lonely. I am dining alone out of preference, but I thank you for your kindness," you would offend no one and you'd keep your valued privacy. It's not what you say, it's the way you say it.

DEAR ABBY: Should a teenage girl accept a blind date with a fellow who calls her up and says he has "seen her somewhere," but she doesn't know anything about him? How about when someone she knows calls and asks her to accept a date with a third party? He could be real neat, but he could also be real icky. Is there some rule a girl could go by?

TEEN-AGER
DEAR TEEN-AGER: If a boy calls and says he has "seen" you, unless you can check him out with a mutual friend, skip him. If someone you know calls, wanting to arrange a blind date, consider the go-between. If he's a solid citizen, say yes. (It's only a date, not a year's contract.) Don't put him through the third degree asking, "How tall is he, and what color eyes does he have?" Chances are the guy is standing right by the phone listening to every word you say, and you'll make points for being a good sport.

DEAR ABBY: Jim and I have been married less than a year. Another young couple moved in near us and we liked them at first, but once I got to know the fellow (I'll call him John), my feelings changed. He's the type who never stays at home. Of course it was none of my business, except when he started coming over here and getting Jim to go with him. I finally found out where they went when the two of them took off. They would steal, just for the fun of it. Or rather John would do the actual stealing and my husband would "help" him. Jim never stole a thing before he met John. I told my husband if he got caught he would be as guilty as John, but he doesn't believe me. I also told him I hated John, but he said John is his friend, not mine. I worry all the time, Abby, but there is nothing I can do. Can you advise me?

WORRIED SICK
DEAR WORRIED: Tell your husband to choose between his friendship with John or his marriage to you. And if he chooses John, consider yourself lucky to be rid of a bad deal before there were children to consider.
CONFIDENTIAL TO "TROUBLED" in ANAHEIM: Any man who would "slug" a parking attendant for putting a dent in his fender is in deep trouble. It will take a lot more to straighten HIM out than the fender. Suggest a "mind" mechanic. If he refuses, forget him, before he puts a dent in YOUR jaw.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Rep. Griffiths Testifies:

Sex Segregation in Job Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Martha Griffiths, a champion of equal rights for women, criticized the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission Wednesday for what she said was its failure to set strong guidelines to end sex discrimination by employers.

"I hope you will begin to enforce the law as it was written," said Mrs. Griffiths. "The congress meant for women to come out of this equal."

FAILURES

The Michigan Democrat said the commission's failure to issue opinions in three areas has perpetuated discrimination against women.

She said the areas are: State laws regulating women's employment, sex-segregated job advertising and sex differences in employee pension and retirement plans.

Mrs. Griffiths was one of the last of a long line of witnesses to testify during the final day of a two-day public hearing on regulations concerning the three areas.

The commission took the testimony under advisement.

She said the so-called state protective laws limiting the hours or regulating the conditions of employment of women "frequently serve, not to protect women, but to limit their opportunities for holding or being in this respect failed to perform its statutory duty," said Mrs. Griffiths, a leader in the battle to include sex discrimination in the civil rights measure three years ago.

SEX DISCRIMINATION

Mrs. Griffiths said the commission has acknowledged that many of the state laws discriminate against women's job opportunities but "has refused to express a judgment as to whether, in view of such discrimination, the state law must give way to the requirement of equality" contained in the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

"I believe the commission has

"The commission is not performing its duty merely by shifting it to the courts, and to the individual women who seek to improve their employment opportunities."

Rep. Griffiths said the commission also has been remiss in not prohibiting sex-labeled columns in help wanted ads in newspapers.

'HELP WANTEDS'

"The sex segregation of employment advertisements cannot be justified by the suggestion that they merely promote the convenience of the job seeker," she said. "Such sex segregation promotes only the tradition that jobs listed for men are not intended for women, and vice versa."

"The job seeker's interest and convenience will be promoted much greater by grouping the ads according to job category so that he or she can try to find the kind of job he or she wants, rather than according to a sex label which automatically discourages persons of the other sex from reading the job ads under the label."

An open house Sunday in the Commerce Methodist Church from 2 to 5 p.m. will honor Mr. and Mrs. James L. Gardner of Sleath Road, Commerce Township, on their 50th wedding anniversary. Hosting the event for their parents, wed in New Jersey on May 8, 1917, are Mrs. Andrew Knudsen of Orinda, Calif., and Mrs. William A. Woods of Armonk, N.Y. The Gardners have six grandchildren. He is former supervisor of Commerce Township and chairman of the County Board of Supervisors and past president of State Association of Supervisors.

A stirring spoon that doubles as a precise cooking thermometer, and is dishwasher- and dishpan-safe, is a useful newcomer to the home kitchen.

A solid or slotted bowl of shining metal comes attached to a plastic handle which remains cool at any temperature, and a revolving dial at the tip of the handle is readable without removing the spoon from the pan during use.

Soap Is on Par With Medicine for Vietnamese

"I had no hesitancy in listing soaps as being as important as vitamins or medications... when asked to draw up a list of the dozen and a half most basic drug items... to distribute to isolated towns and villages in Vietnam."

May Plans Include Variety of Activities

Cranbrook is planning a busy month of May beginning with an outdoor open house that includes 40 acres of formal and casual gardens, and the surroundings of the George G. Booth home.

Hours are 2 to 5 p.m., Tuesday, through Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sat. and Sun. There is an admission.

May 13 and 14 have been set aside for the Degree Shows by candidates for Bachelor's and Master's degrees from Cranbrook Academy of Art. This will be open to the public for the first time.

The "Annual Student Summer Show," featuring work of students in all departments of the Art Academy will open May 27 and continue through mid-September.

Galleries will be closed May 9 through 12 and May 16 through 26.

The traditional Student Pottery Sale will begin May 12 and continue through May 21 in the Crafts Court.

A percentage of the profits are applied to student-sponsored scholarships. Hours are 9 a.m. to dusk.

Added Risk for Women in Political Acts

LONDON (AP) — Five women arrested for storming the Greek Embassy complained Wednesday that police confiscated their contraceptive pills.

"The pills were taken away while we were held for two days behind bars," said Heather Russell, 27. "This could ruin our lives."

The women said the pills had to be taken every day for 28 days. Missing two days could bring the risk of pregnancy, they said.

"We kept telling the police about the risk but they wouldn't listen," said Jenny James, a 25-year-old student.

'IT'S SOP'

The complaint was directed to Home Secretary Roy Jenkins. A spokesman for his office said: "It is standard procedure to take pills of any kind from prisoners."

The women are to appear in court Saturday with 37 others accused of invading the Greek Embassy last Friday in a demonstration against the military coup in Greece.

Harness Those Slipping Straps

To keep the straps on children's garments, such as overalls or jumper dresses from slipping off the shoulders, cut a slit in one strap where the two straps cross.

Use buttonhole stitch and buttonhole around the edge of the slit. Then thread the other strap through the slit before fastening.

Case No. C-514

Let Children Have Pet

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE C-514: Donna B., aged 9, is the only child who wanted her mother to let her adopt a puppy.

"Dr. Crane," Donna's mother began, "if I must take a live pet into our city home, wouldn't a kitten be less troublesome?"

"For puppies bark loud and DR. CRANE are more destructive to furniture, aren't they?"

KITTENS VS. PUPPIES
Kittens, it is true, are less rowdy comrades.

But by this very fact, they don't encourage your child to do as much running and romping.

And all healthy youngsters require a vast amount of leg action in games, hikes, picnic trips, etc., to vent their excess energy.

Puppies often gnaw the wooden legs of furniture but kittens will also sharpen claws on the pillows or upholstery.

Even so, both kittens and puppies make excellent pals for kiddies.

And doubly so for youngsters who are shuttled back and forth between feuding or divorced parents!

Alas, there are about 13 million children right here in America who are either half-orphans or 100 per cent orphans.

Many of the half-orphans are the innocent victims of divorce or war casualties in Vietnam, etc.

Such boys and girls doubly need the extra love and visible affection which they derive from having a kitten or puppy.

If you consent to letting your child have a pet, be sure you exact a promise that the child will feed the pet and be its caretaker.

In this manner, the pet will teach your youngster to be responsible.

Pets can then extrovert children and thus cultivate more sympathy.

Go out of your way, if you ever see any thoughtless pain inflicted on such pets, to stimulate "empathy."

Ask your child to imagine that he were the puppy or kitten.

"Then how would you feel if some big giant were to hurt you, as by kicking you?"

As you thus teach your child to project himself via imagination into the puppy's position, you promote empathy.

Nero and Hitler and Mussolini apparently never had a puppy or never were taught empathy!

Since empathy is a product of specific teaching, then puppies and kittens exert a wholesome educational and moral influence on kiddies.

In selecting a puppy, says J. C. Pfaffenberger, Director of Research for the Guide Dogs of the Blind, select a puppy about 8 weeks old.

And choose one that's eager to please!

Roll a rubber ball across the floor and see if you can soon persuade him to return it to your hand, which is a good test of his desire to please.

Premature Child Dies in Glasgow

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — A daughter born prematurely to the American-born Duchess of Argyll died in Glasgow's Royal Maternity Hospital today.

The baby weighed 2 pounds, 12 ounces and had been seriously ill in an incubator since birth last Saturday.

The duchess, the former Matilda Mortimer of the United States, is the 63-year-old duke's fourth wife.

Both the duchess, 41, and the duke have children by former marriages.

"For a dog," says Mr. Pfaffenberger, "is one of the few creatures, besides man, that will work for an intangible reward—praise!"

He also urges a rich psychological environment for a puppy!

Let him ride in your car; take him shopping; give him a chance to experience new sights and novel experiences!

Animal trainers can offer superb advice to all parents and teachers.

You will find very few "delinquents" among the dogs reared by animal trainers!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20¢ to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

When boiling shrimp, add fresh celery leaves to the water to enhance shrimp flavor and counteract the odor.

Donald M. Spoffords Repeat Vows

Gowned in a bouffant style dress trimmed in Alencon lace and featuring a Redingote and Watteau train, Mary Margaret Oltesvig was wed.

For vows exchanged with Donald Monroe Spofford the bride chose a bouffant illusion veil secured by a cluster of flowers.

She carried a Bible Cascade arrangement of white carnations and ivy centered by a lavender orchid.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Oltesvig of Highland and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Spofford of Medford, Mass.

Sherry Case was maid of honor with Susan Boynton as bridesmaid. Richard Spofford was his brother's best man, Groomsman was Thomas Miller. Ushers were the bride's brother, Daniel, and Roger LaMothe.

A reception in the church parlors followed the afternoon ceremony in United Missionary Church.

Studies Show Dorm Is Best for Bachelors

RUSTON, La. (AP) Dormitory life apparently is conducive to good scholarship. Dean of Men E. S. Foster of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute is convinced.

A recent study of all single men attending the school showed that those living in the campus residence halls had the highest average of any group of single men, a finding which has shown up repeatedly in former checks.

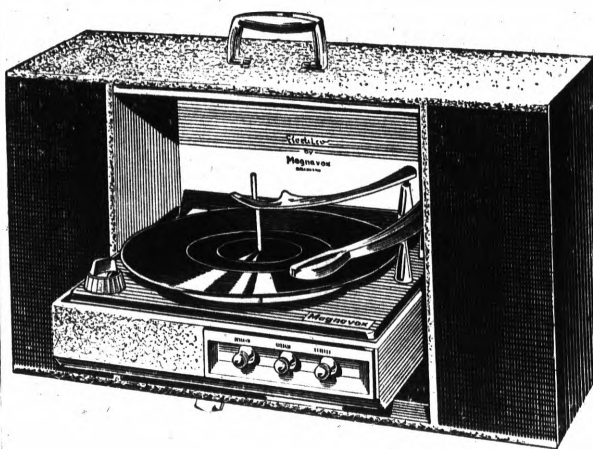

This group averaged 2.243 out of a possible 4.000 points. Other statistics were: men students living at home in Ruston, 2.189; fraternity house students, 2.100; drive-in students, 2.084, and students renting rooms in Ruston, 2.032. However, married men students outscored all others with an average of 2.410.

Press Women Preparing Annual Benefit Book Fair

The accent's on art, "Print, Pop and Op," at the annual Book Fair, sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, national professional society for women in communications.

More than 5,000 books, new and old paperback and hard cover, first editions and rare, will be on sale at the Detroit Press Club, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. May 16.

Original cartoons by such leading cartoonists as Virgil Partch's "VIP," Schulz' "Peanuts," Bill Keane's "The Family Circus," Chester Goulds "Dick Tracy," the George Smiths' "The Smith Family," F. Mac's "Brother Juniper," and Frank O'Neal's "Short Ribs," will be auctioned off during luncheon and dinner hours.

Assuming the roles of auctioneers will be several television and radio personalities. Rare books will also be sold from the auctioneer's platform.

General chairmen, Dorothy Cloudman Oldham and Marie Margaret Winthrop report that the "Pop" portion of the fair will be blow-ups of original cartoons which have been matted and framed.

These one-of-a-kind prints will especially interest collectors and cartoon buffs.

Julie Candler, Birmingham author and Theta Sigma Phi member, will be present to autograph her just-published paperback book, "Woman At The Wheel."

Proceeds of the fair are earmarked for the Lucy Corbett Scholarship Fund to assist deserving young women journalists in completing their education.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here are a few tidbits of news, gleaned from here and there, which are important to all of us.

In a fairly recent issue of the "Journal of American Medical Association" Dr. Ray H. Rosenman and associates reported the findings from long term studies of 3,000 men between the ages of 39 to 59 years. These studies were concerned with coronary heart disease.

The report included a quick review of those habits and characteristics which make one more prone to heart disease than the average. Here they are:

- Those suffering from diabetes or high blood pressure.
- Those who smoke cigarettes excessively.
- Those who eat much food high in cholesterol and animal fats.
- Those who do not get enough exercise.
- Those with family histories of coronary heart disease.
- Those with high blood lipid levels.
- Those preoccupied with the urgency of time or success.

We can do something about most of the items on that list. Folks cannot do anything about inheritance or the number of years they have lived. However, diabetes and hypertension are being controlled with medication. Reading between the lines, overweight is mentioned.

If you eat a diet high in fat and exercise very little, it adds up to too many pounds.

You will notice that the psychological and personality factors are given their due. Strain and stress will get you if you don't watch out. Take it easier, even if you do the same amount of work. Learn to work in a relaxed mood.

Then there is another interesting report. A study of 55,000 men, who are enrolled in the Health Insurance Plan of Greater New York, indicates that smokers who are physically inactive are three times more apt to have a heart attack than those who smoke and are moderately active.

May Bride Is Honored at 3 Parties

Bride-elect Candace Jane Windeler was honored at three parties last week. On Thursday evening, Mrs. Stephen Kruchko and her daughter, Georgeanna of Denby were hostesses at a shower. Included in the guest list were former school friends Mrs. Clarence Herr and Mrs. Arnold Ruhlig of Almont.

Mrs. Howard Seiss and Mrs. Philip Rowston were cohostesses with Mrs. Norman Cheal at a luncheon in her Barchester Drive home. Guests from Detroit were: Mrs. Donald G. McDonald, Mrs. Lester McDonald, Mrs. H. N. Lester and Mrs. Eber Ward Lester, Jr.

Mrs. Robert K. Vietor of Franklin was hostess at a luncheon Saturday.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund L. Windeler of Hatchery Road will exchange wedding vows May 20 with Walter J. Woessner, Jr. of Philadelphia, Pa.

'Basin Bathing' Fast and Easy

"Basin bathing" can be easy, quick, and thorough if you soap yourself section by section — then rinse with a damp towel and wipe with a dry towel as you go along.

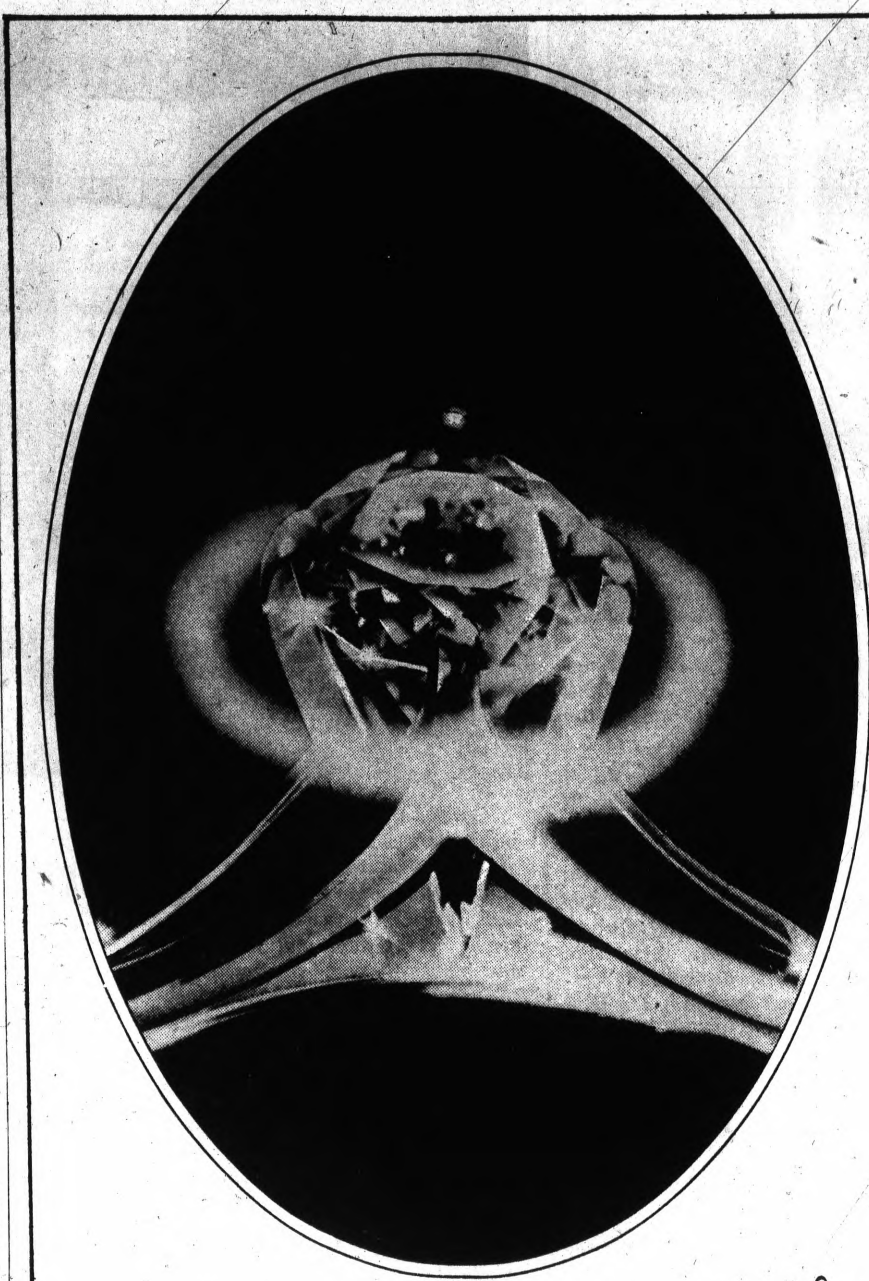

Start with the face, neck, and arms; then do torso, legs, and feet. A sponge will hold more lather than a washcloth for this type of bathing.

Vows Planned

July 8th vows are being planned for Barbara Ann James and James Richard Webb of Sheridan Street. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. James of Cameron Street and the Kenneth Webbs of Campbell, Mo. The bride-elect is a graduate of Pontiac Business Institute.

Attend Luncheon

Mrs. Robert Schmidt and Mrs. Lynn Ott attended the Windsor Founders Day luncheon Sunday in Windsor, Canada. They are members of Xi Gamma Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

This classic Italian curio cabinet is among a new wave of furniture designed to especially display cherished mementoes. From the Sanford Furniture Co.'s Accent Collection, the cabinet has a clear-view center panel of glass, that serves as a door, embellished with side panels inlaid with brass grillwork. Soft interior lighting helps to lend mellowed elegance to any collection. The tall, slim cabinet is designed from amber-tone prima vera wood with acacia burl veneers. Glass shelves are adjustable, and there is a roomy compartment in the two door base. Line available locally.

Spool and thread motif adorns doors of this tall curio case by Keller Williams Furniture Co. of Oklahoma City. A modern counterpart of the grandfather clock, the case stands 74 1/2-inches high, 25 1/2-inches wide and 12 1/2-inches deep. Designer Larry Williams offset the curio case's strong vertical dimensions with a rounded cabinet top whose arc is repeated in the door design.

Much of the architecture in second homes is modern and much of the furniture is in the same feeling. Comfortable, durable, practical furniture such as the shiny black leather-vinyl platform sofa, and glove-soft vinyl covered chair and ottoman shown here, are popular choices. Additional storage space in this vacation home was achieved by simple, adjustable wall shelves behind sliding panels. The panels are fabric covered and form a colorful wall when closed. (Draperies could be used instead of panels.) Lights are built in overhead. Furniture by Directional Industries, Inc., available locally.

Three dimensional concept... expands the viewing area of this new Italian vitrine designed to cater to collectors. Three panels of glass, framed in fruitwood, supply clear side and front views of treasured objects. There's also a built-in surprise in the Sanford Furniture Co.'s new Accent Collection curio cabinet. Both side panels are really doors for ease of entry. Interior lighting, adjustable glass shelves, and two storage doors in the base, all are aimed to please collectors. The cabinet is designed of pecan wood, with a distressed fruitwood base. Line available locally.

To Show Off Collections

About the only collector without status these days is the tax collector.

The collecting bug is biting American after American every hour. Individual family collections are growing faster than the national debt.

The collecting craze has brought curio cabinets back into vogue and manufacturers are rushing them through production lines.

Where once penny-wise Americans saved string, foil or newspapers to use someday, 1967 collecto-mania is devoted to little treasures which antedate the times, according to Sanford Furniture Company designer, M. A. Deibler.

It's no longer enough to have merely a single collection of Toby mugs, or 19th century shaving mugs. Today's prestige collector concentrates on the more the merrier, juggling as many as 10 different collections at once.

Almost any object that is smaller than a bread box now qualifies as a collector's item. The chief attraction hinges on personal appeal, coupled with scarcity, and no actual utility — present, or future.

At the same time, there's a definite mini-mode to collecting, just as there is in fashion and in furniture and that's lucky since home space is shrinking.

With mini-collections multiplying like credit cards on the home front, curio cabinets are being handed the first major emphasis in tastefully-furnished living rooms in three decades.

Most are designed from fine cabinet woods and glass, with neo-classic architectural lines. They do much more than serve as an artistic backdrop for a collection.

The beautiful woods and the carving and brass detailing lend a mellowing touch of traditional elegance to contemporary interiors.

Many have been modeled after museum pieces, chiefly 17th and 18th century court antiques. But they have been translated into space-conscious dimensions suited to today's small rooms.

They are tall and slim enough to ease between windows, at doorways and in corners.

And something new has been added: the new curio cabinets have interior assets a countless would have traded for a villa back in the 18th century.

Special lighting has been built in to cast a soft, flattering glow on prized objects. Shelves are adjustable so that different shapes and sizes are no problem.

Best of all, curio cabinets create the right impression — that a collection is worth collecting. And that's dear to any collector's heart.

Fiberglas Care

Play it safe. Launder glass fiber items separately. Always rinse the wash basin or run a rinse cycle through the automatic washer to remove any particles left from glass fiber before laundering other fabrics.

Attend Windsor Banquet

Seven members of Phi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority attended the Canadian Founder's Day banquet in Windsor Sunday.

Honored guests were Walter W. Ross, the sorority's founder and Paul Martin, Canada's minister of Foreign Affairs.

Hostess at the Tuesday evening of Phi chapter was Mrs. Robert Leahy of Owego Drive.

Mrs. Albert Padar presented a program on "People" and Mrs. Thomas Drohn presented a discussion on "Travel".

Nurses Are Learning to Help Aged Rehabilitate Themselves

Student Nellie Cole practices transferring student-patient Ava Howard into a wheelchair. Observing closely is nurse aide Miss Ann Barnes.

By JUNE ELERT
Mrs. Helen Beske is a public health nurse, employed by Oakland County. It is her job to inspect the facilities and keep tabs on the operating procedures of 46 licensed nursing homes in the county, plus 5 licensed homes for the aged.

About six months ago, Mrs. Beske had an idea. She thought employees of nursing homes should learn to help patients to help themselves.

It seemed apparent that the old and the ill, when left to their own devices, often lack the necessary drive to maintain their range of physical capability.

A recently completed six-session course in restorative nursing techniques blossomed from Mrs. Beske's idea. Its purpose was to provide training to a nucleus of nursing and old-age home employees.

They learned efficient methods of patient care designed to obtain maximum response from the patient in response from the patient in re-learning and using whatever physical capability he might have.

The premise is that it increases the patient's self-respect and feeling of worth as an individual if he can do some things for himself.

When an elderly ill person enters a nursing home, he may find it easier to accept a bedpan than to continue the effort to maintain this level of physical independence.

Over-solicitous relatives contribute to this retrogression by well-meaning, but mistaken insistence that "Grandpa" or "Grandma" must have everything done for them.

AT LOURDES

The course, held at Lourdes Nursing Home on Watkins Lake Road, was conducted by Betty Evans, Assistant Director of Nursing, Rehabilitation Institute, Inc., Detroit.

Prior to the opening of the sessions, two one-day seminars were held for employees and operators of nursing homes to acquaint them with the proposed course and interest them in its objectives.

Students were drawn from 17 institutions in the County. About 50 per cent of the enrollees were nurses' aides. The rest were LPN's and RN's.

Diplomas were issued to 37 of the original 43 registrants. No diploma was given if more than one session was missed.

It is hoped that these women will return to their places of employment and teach the learned techniques to other staff members.

With the assistance of Helen Millen of the Kenny-Michigan Rehabilitation Foundation, Miss Evans took the students through a rigorous regimen.

This included instruction in the use of wheelchairs, bowel and bladder retraining, bed positioning, transferring techniques, use of walkers, canes and crutches and prevention of bedsores.

The final session concentrated on the approach to family contacts to obtain maximum cooperation of patients' relatives.

Some of the students paid the $10 fee themselves; others were subsidized by their employers.

A handbook on rehabilitative nursing techniques was issued to each of the institutions which had an employee registered.

Mrs. Beske, Mrs. Doris Schuchter and Mrs. Thelma Hunter, a Bureau of Social Services patient care evaluator, took an active part in the sessions, demonstrating techniques and supervising group practice sessions.

Bride Wins Case of Lost Boyfriend

YORK, England (UPI)—An attractive 30-year-old brunette returned from her honeymoon and went to court Tuesday to sue a former boyfriend for allegedly jilting her.

Judge Dermot McKee, calling the case "a unique piece of litigation," ruled in favor of Mrs. Nelson Smith. He awarded her $126.

Mrs. Smith said the old boyfriend, Christopher Burns, 30, left her in 1964 just four days before they were to be married.

The judge told Mrs. Smith, who appeared in court with her husband, that she was lucky to be rid of Burns.

No Bake Cookies Contain All Sorts of Goodies

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Got any teen-agers around your house who just love cookies? Mrs. Ronald H. Smith of Metamora thinks she has the perfect recipe for them. You don't even have to bake these cookies.

NO BAKE COOKIES
By Mrs. Ronald H. Smith
2 cups white sugar
4 tablespoons cocoa
½ cup whole milk (condensed milk may be used for a richer flavor)
½ cup butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon vanilla
Mix sugar and cocoa in a sauce pan until thoroughly blended. Add milk, butter or margarine and salt. Bring to a rolling boil. Add the following ingredients:

1 cup flake coconut
3 cups quick oatmeal
1 cup chopped nuts
Mix thoroughly and drop by teaspoonfuls on waxed paper. Let cool thoroughly. Variations: Omit the nuts in the mixture and top each cookie with a nut half. These may be stored for several days — if you can keep them hidden that long.

MRS. O. L. HOPPER II

A simple but faithfully followed facial ritual will help to keep dry skin softer and more youthful looking.

Double Ring Ceremony for the Ottis Hoppers

The couple exchanged vows in a double ring ceremony in St. Paul's Methodist Church, Rochester.

Lynda Toussaint was maid of honor at the rite in which her sister wore an ivory peau de soie gown by Bianchi.

CIRCLET

A bouffant veil of imported French silk illusion was secured by a double circlet of matching lace and self-made roses.

She carried a bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids and Stephanotis.

Bridesmaids were Roxanne Toussaint, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Richard Perkins of Warren and Patricia Daniels.

Richard Perkins was best man. Ushers were Bruce Sargent of Ann Arbor, Paul Jones and Lynn Hopper, brother of the bridegroom.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Allison H. Toussaint of Bloomer Road, Avon Township, and Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Hopper of Tipsico Trail, Rose Township.

A reception in the church parlors followed the evening rite.

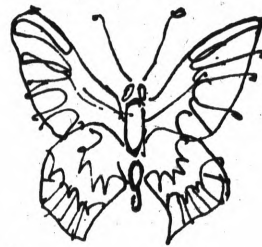

The couple will reside in Plymouth following a wedding trip to Montreal.

This dress, originally shown in Rome was made in a brilliant turquoise worsted to emphasize its unusual and flattering lines.

The yoke curves up gently above the bosom and then makes dip in back. The shaping is gained by placing one dart in the middle of the front. Square armholes show off a feminine curve of arm and shoulder. The back is fastened with two buttons, perhaps jeweled ones, and a zipper lower down.

Make it in cottons, linen, wool, and velvet for dinner parties. Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit. See chart for size best for you.

Best Advice Is to Earn Good Reputation

Consultant in Money
Management

Mrs. A.B., in Arlington Heights, Ill., wants to start a custom dressmaking and alteration service. It seems to me, Mrs. B., that this is a much needed service in many communities around the country.

Many retail stores these days offer no alteration service, and have no expert fitter. So the customer who buys a moderately priced garment must either fit it herself, or trust to luck that she can find somebody to do it for her. Often she doesn't know of anybody who will do such alterations for her. Mrs. B. writes:

"In order to help our family through a difficult period financially, I have decided to do some custom dressmaking and alterations. I have sewn all my life and sew constantly for my teen-age daughters and myself.

"My problem is, what to charge for alterations, making a dress, formal, suit, etc. Approximately what should I earn per hour? (I am a fast worker.)"

I can give you some figures, Mrs. B., that you might use as a guide.

In a metropolitan area, approximate costs for alterations can run like this: hems from $1.50 to $2 for a dress or $3 to $4 for a coat; $1.50 to $3 for a suit hem; and $5 to $6 for a pleated skirt.

These may seem low prices. But remember you've got to build a business, and what you're offering mainly, to start, is convenience. You have to prove competence. An experienced dressmaker may charge considerably more — up to $7 for a hem alone, depending on the garment.

But if you want to build up a reputation, take the advice of a successful dressmaker I talked to: "You can't start with the approach of how much one should charge on an hourly basis." Sometimes you'll not be able to charge what the alteration would cost. But by good work and service, you can work into a profitable trade in your community.

It would help to run an inexpensive ad in your local newspaper; have cards printed if you can afford it, and circulate them among Women's Clubs, Home Bureaus of your state, your Chamber of Commerce; high school graduates; any prospective brides you happen to know about.

Dear Miss Feeley:

Years ago a young man helped a friend of mine when he was sick and out of work. This friend is now 86 years old, and is worried over repaying his debt.

He tells me that he made this young man the beneficiary of a life insurance policy because of what he had done. Now he wonders if anybody else will be able to claim this money at his death? I am writing this for him as he cannot see too well.

K.H., Lemon Grove, Calif.
Dear K.H.,

If the young man is named the beneficiary of the policy, and it's so stated in writing, and the policy has not been changed over the years, then your friend can rest easy, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

However, in such cases it is sometimes difficult to locate the beneficiary after many years. It would be a good idea to give the insurance company this young man's current address — if we can still call him a young man by now.

Insurance companies go to time, trouble and expense to locate people who are entitled to money, but it won't do any harm to help them out with information as to his recent whereabouts.

Former residents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bryce will be honored on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary with an open house May 7 in the Inlay City Methodist Church from 3 to 5 p.m. The couple was married May 9, 1917, in Pontiac and lived in this city until 1947. They have resided in Inlay City since 1961. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Schillman will host the affair.

Food Bag Can Be a Hearty Help

Plastic food bags are hearty kitchen helpers, and many can be re-used after a thorough washing with soap or detergent suds. To dry them

David Hamilton Will Wed Art Student in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Helle Melchior, 20, the granddaughter of operatic tenor Lauritz Melchior, plans to marry actor George Hamilton's brother David, 26, friends say.

They said the ceremony will take place May 13 at the Danish church in Los Angeles, followed by a reception in Melchior's house in Beverly Hills. Miss Melchior, daughter of Mrs. Birte Melchior of Copenhagen, is an interior design student at Woodbury College.

Hamilton, son of Anne Hamilton Spaulding of Beverly Hills, is a graduate of the University of Florida and works for an advertising agency.

University's Newest Idea —Sophomore Year in Asia

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — The University of the Pacific plans to fly the entire sophomore class of its new Callison College each year to an Asian campus for a year in residence in an emerging nation.

"Education for global responsibility," university officials call it.

Next September, Callison will be the third "cluster college" added to the university. Founded in 1851, the University of the Pacific was the first institution of higher education chartered in California. It enjoys a reputation today for ranking with the foremost in fresh ideas for education.

Take Raymond College, which opened in 1962 to inaugurate President Robert E. Burns' university plan for coping with soaring enrollment by clustering self-contained, smaller colleges around the mother school.

INTENSIVE CURRICULUM

The Raymond student obtains a liberal arts education in three years instead of four. But the years are longer — 10 months — and the prescribed curriculum more intensive. The student takes three courses during each of three terms each year, thus going nine instead of the conventional eight semesters. And class sessions are 60 minutes long instead of 50.

He studies mathematics and a foreign language, a sequence of physics, chemistry and biology, social sciences, and a humanities sequence including world literature, philosophy, fine arts and religion.

He gets loads of personal attention — tutoring sessions limited to three or four students, classes and seminars limited to 12 — and lots of hard work, but no grades. All he knows is that he passes or fails. Grades are supplied to the dean of students, however, in case they are required for graduate study or transfer.

The student, if he gets through, graduates with a bachelor of arts degree, ready to go into graduate school or the world just three years after finishing high school.

SPANISH-SPEAKING SCHOOL

Elbert Covell College, second in the cluster, opened in September 1963 with an entirely different slant. It is thought to be the first Spanish-speaking college in the United States, and offers a four-year liberal arts program leading to a bachelor of arts degree in inter-American studies.

Half of the students come from Latin America, with all 20 nations represented. They and their U.S. counterparts share dormitories, cafeteria, social center, and classes. Sharing within a small group is the hallmark of the cluster college.

BILINGUAL STUDENTS

Elbert Covell College trains students from both North America and Latin America to become bilingual professionally and socially in English and Spanish.

After graduation, students from Latin America return home to sometimes radically elevated careers. Homero Andrade, a Lodi, Calif., farmer for several years before entering the college as a junior, graduated last June and has become minister of agriculture in his native Ecuador, to cite a star example.

Callison College will extend the "live together" idea to the non-Western world by sending its sophomore classes abroad. Members of the Callison faculty will supervise the students, but nationals of the host nation will do most of the teaching.

Taking advantage of charter flights and expected lower living costs overseas, the student will have to pay for the year abroad only about the normal cost of a year's residence on the Stockton campus, say college officials.

GLOBE CIRCLED

The traveling student will return to Stockton — probably after completing a circle of the globe, says Dr. Burns — for his junior and senior years.

"We hope the graduates will then help build bridges of understanding between East and West," says Callison's provost, Dr. Larry A. Jackson.

"We believe that the Callison curriculum can free a man for meaningful living in his time."

Three more cluster colleges are on the way, Dr. Burns says.

ACADEMICALLY SOUND

"The idea, patterned somewhat after Oxford University, seems academically sound," says Dr. Burns, adding that it already has been adopted by a number of other universities and is being studied by many more faced with expansion woes.

All full-time university undergraduate women and lower division men students live and eat on campus. The cluster college quadrangles also accommodate childless faculty members who want to live in residence.

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Some weeks ago my column dealt with the Girl Scouts and how photography is involved as one of the skills encouraged in their training program.

I recalled how I had given a six-week course of instruction in photography 10 years ago to 14 Girl Scouts so that they could earn their photography badges.

Since then, I have been asked by some readers whether the course could be outlined again and whether it would be useful today.

The fundamentals of photography have not changed although cameras today are used with electric eye automation. Perhaps some experienced photographers, advanced amateurs or camera club members could find the outline helpful in planning and giving a basic photo course to a local scout group or any school, church or civic group of teen-age club members.

At the time, the basement of our home was the classroom, the photo studio and the darkroom.

Materials and equipment needed were planned in advance.

We planned two-hour sessions for six consecutive Saturday mornings, rain or shine. Each Girl Scout was to bring her own camera every time. Here's how it went:

FIRST WEEK. General Theory: Examination of a simple camera and basic explanation of how it works. The role of a film negative and an outline of different types of films.

THE ROLE OF THE CAMERA LENS and why it should be clean . . . and how to clean it with lens tissue, not with a finger, a towel or a used handkerchief.

SECOND WEEK. Taking Pictures: Explanation of setting focus for distance, shutter speed for time and lens diaphragm for aperture.

THIRD WEEK. Developing Negatives: How to load a roll film tank in the dark was done by sacrificing a roll in the light.

FOURTH WEEK. Printing Negatives: By contact and by enlargement. Here the girls made contact prints of their own negatives.

FIFTH WEEK. Filing: Importance of finding a place for negatives and prints for future reference and enjoyment of pictures made.

SIXTH WEEK. Review: Summary of major points.

Then the written reports were read one by one and the girls' photos were passed around for examination and comments.

I recall with pride that we had 100 per cent attendance for all sessions indicating above average interest and that all the girls earned their photography badges.

While it doesn't look like I incubated any Margaret Bourke-Whites or Constance Bannisters, there was ample reward for me in personal satisfaction and knowing that a group of youngsters had come to know photography a little bit better.

Poor Grooming, Grades Linked

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

A survey of high school principals in some 100 American cities reveals a strong opinion that there is a relationship between far-out attire and poor grooming on the one hand, and social and academic failure on the other.

It is difficult to determine which came first, the fad or the failure. Regardless, there is too much opinion relating the two for it to be overlooked.

In several legal appeals to higher authorities beyond the principal, it has been held that a student cannot be suspended just for wearing long hair or some other fad. This is purely a legal opinion.

Parents must, along with their children, recognize the effect upon social and academic success.

There was an apparent unanimity among survey respondents that there is a correlation between grooming and the way young men perform socially and scholastically.

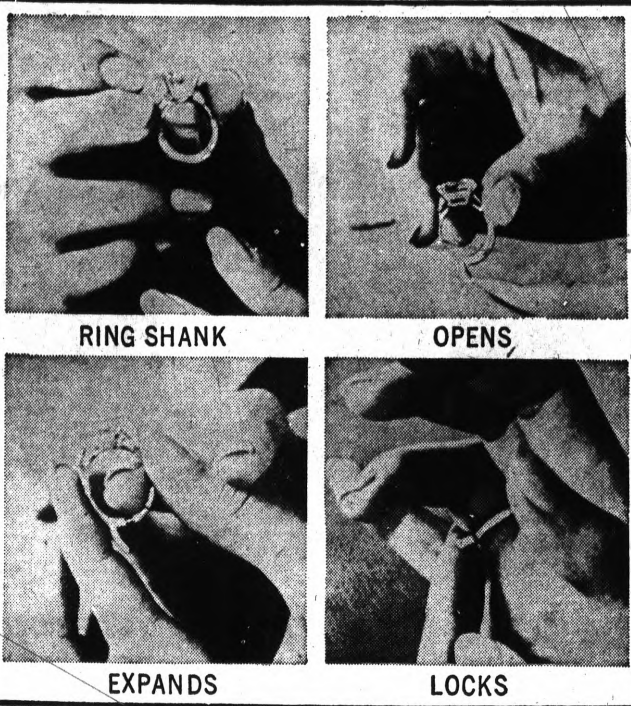

It was thought that some school officials believed one way and some another, and the survey was designed to give expression to two viewpoints.

Although this was merely a survey and not a scientific study, the results would argue very clearly that there is really just one point of view.

It is nearly 100 per cent — ill-groomed boys, those who go to extremes in faddish attire, just don't perform well.

Getting the Time Is Difficult in Township Near Ohio

TEMPERANCE (AP) — It's hard to get the time of day around nearby Bedford Township. It's not that the citizens are unfriendly — they're just confused.

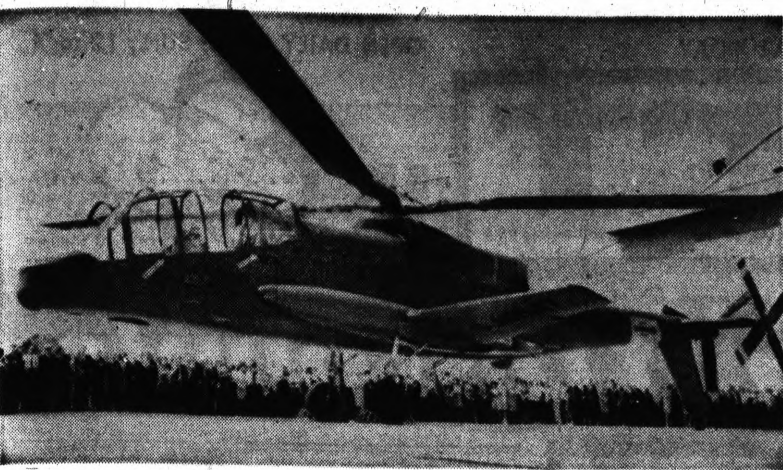

A lot of residents in this Southern Michigan community have strong ties with nearby Toledo, Ohio.

Michigan is on Eastern Standard Time. Toledo, and all of Businessmen and citizens decided to put their clocks on DST.

A new township board and the Bedford school board voted to adhere to EST but move their schedules up an hour to conform to DST.

A Bedford insurance agency bears a big sign saying it is on DST. But a supermarket says the hours are the same as always in Michigan, EST, and lists them daily for shoppers.

NEW HELICOPTER — A new U.S. Army helicopter that takes off straight up and flies forward at 250 miles an hour, twice as fast as any copter now in Vietnam, was displayed for the first time at the Lockheed Aircraft plant in Van Nuys, Calif., yesterday. The AH56A "Cheyenne" has a 27-foot fixed wing and turbojet pusher propeller on the tail. It is designed to provide fire support and to escort troop-carrying helicopters.

Yank Caught in Wrong Draft

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Tony Ricci, a naturalized U.S. citizen, received his draft notice recently—from the Italian army.

"I was bewildered," the 20-year-old student at John Carroll University said Wednesday. According to the report date, he was a draft dodger.

"Naturally, I was concerned about that," he said. "I mean, it's against the law to dodge the draft and all that."

Ricci came to the United States in 1954 with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ovidio Ricci, from San Pietro, near Campobasso.

That's where the draft notice was delivered a few weeks ago by police. It was forwarded by an aunt and ended up at the Italian consulate in Cleveland.

However, Tony still has to serve in the U.S. Army.

BIG MISTAKE—Tony Ricci, born in Italy but a naturalized United States citizen, received his draft notice recently — from the Italian army. It was all a mistake because Italian authorities apparently didn't know he had become an American citizen.

Use Cottage Cheese in Cooked Dishes

Pontiac Press Food Editor

When the former city editor of The Pontiac Press was in the hospital last fall recovering from a heart attack, he discovered that he liked cottage cheese.

All his life he had avoided eating it until the day it appeared on his lunch tray and hunger drove him to trying it.

His experience could probably be duplicated many times. People think they don't like cottage cheese.

Perhaps some of the recipes on this page will help change their minds.

Long ago, women made cottage cheese at home with the milk remaining after the cream had been skimmed off.

For people on a diet, cottage cheese is available uncreamed. Authorities differ on how much difference in calorie count there is between the creamed and uncreamed; it may be as little as 25 calories per half cup, or as much as 45 calories.

All the recipes below use the creamed style cheese.

POTATO CLOUDS

2 cups (4 servings) prepared instant mashed potatoes
1 cup cottage cheese
½ cup dairy sour cream
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
Salt and pepper
1 teaspoon minced parsley
½ teaspoon garlic salt

MARKET BASKET

3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Prepare instant mashed potatoes as directed on package, omitting milk and butter. Add remaining ingredients except egg whites. Fold in beaten egg whites; pour into eight 6-ounce custard cups.

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes. Yield: 8 servings.
Note: Potatoes may be baked in a 2-quart casserole for one hour.

A main dish fortified with cottage cheese is this Hot Dog-Potato Scallop. It's a half-hour dish which should please the hurried homemaker.

HOT DOG-POTATO SCALLOP
1 pound wieners, sliced diagonally

Drop Cookies Are Sure Favorites

Lemon Drops are sure to become a favorite with your family.

Cream ½ cup shortening with 1 cup light brown sugar until light and fluffy. Add 2 eggs and 1 teaspoon vanilla extract. Sift together 2 cups sifted enriched flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda and ½ teaspoon salt. Add alternately to creamed mixture with ¼ cup lemon juice.

Mix well, then drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Sprinkle with Lemon Sugar, made by combining ¼ cup sugar with 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind.

Bake in a preheated 375 degree oven, 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 5 dozen.

½ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon pure vegetable oil
2 (8-oz.) cans tomato sauce
½ teaspoon oregano
4 medium potatoes, pared, thinly sliced and boiled until almost tender
1 pint cottage cheese
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
Lightly brown wieners and onion in oil. Stir in tomato sauce and oregano.

In a 2-quart casserole, layer half the sliced, cooked potatoes, half the wiener mixture and half the cottage cheese; repeat layers. Sprinkle Parmesan over top.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

If regular cheeses are not on your diet, you can have a tasty tomato-cheese sauce made with cottage cheese. This will keep in the refrigerator.

BASIC TOMATO-COTTAGE CHEESE SAUCE

1 (1-pound, 1-ounce) can Italian peeled tomatoes, or canned tomatoes
1 (6-ounce) can tomato paste, PLUS 3 cans water
1 teaspoon instant minced onion
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon oregano
1-pound large or small curd creamed cottage cheese

In a medium-size saucepan blend well tomatoes, tomato paste, water, and seasonings. Place saucepan over medium-low heat; cover and simmer 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Gradually blend in cottage cheese; cook an additional 5 minutes; remove from heat. Cool, then refrigerate in a tightly closed container until needed. Makes six cups.

Encourage the youngsters to eat cottage cheese by serving it in an amusing salad. Remember that cottage cheese contributes valuable protein to the diet.

RAGGEDY ANN SALAD

4 peach halves
Shredded lettuce
4 apricot halves
1 cup shredded carrots
Raisins or maraschino cherries
8 dates, pitted
16 celery sticks
Spread shredded lettuce on four luncheon-sized plates. Place

a tablespoon of cottage cheese in center of each bed. Turn peach half, cut side down, on cheese.

Place apricot half at top for head with shredded carrot for hair. Make face and buttons with raisins or cherries. Legs and arms are celery sticks with dates for feet. Serve with small sandwiches or crackers. Makes 4 servings.

Add Shrimp to Spaghetti

Just a few minutes are needed to make enough spaghetti with shrimp sauce for 12 servings.

Cook 1½ pounds of spaghetti as label directs; drain. Add this sauce: Combine in a large saucepan 9 (8-ounce) cans of tomato sauce, 1½ cups of bottled chili sauce and 1 table-

POTATO CLOUDS

Scallops Baked at 500 Degrees Nicely Browned

BREADED SEA SCALLOPS

1 pound sea scallops
2 tablespoons flour
1 large egg, slightly beaten
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
¼ teaspoon each salt and paprika
¼ cup butter
Quarter scallops and dry thoroughly on paper toweling. Coat with flour. Dip scallop pieces in the egg, then in bread crumbs mixed with salt and paprika.

Melt butter in a very shallow pan that will hold scallops in one layer, in an extremely hot (500 degrees) oven. Place scallops in pan, turning to coat with butter.

Bake on low rack of the extremely hot oven for 2 minutes; continue baking on high rack for another 2 minutes or until cooked through.

Coating will be lightly browned but not so crisp as when scallops are deep-fried. Makes 4 servings.

Ever mix pork sausage with ground beef for burgers? Just make sure you cook these meat patties thoroughly.

Syrup Used for Sauce

Bake a Cherry Pudding

An old-fashioned pudding is made without eggs.

SWEET CHERRY PUDDING

1 cup unsifted regular flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup plus 1 tablespoon sugar
¾ cup milk

1 can (1 pound) pitted dark sweet cherries, drained with syrup reserved for sauce.

On wax paper, stir together the flour, baking powder, salt and ¼ teaspoon of the cinnamon. In a medium mixing bowl, cream butter and ½ cup sugar.

Gently beat in the dry ingredients in several additions, and alternately with milk, just until smooth. Pour into a buttered 1 quart round glass casserole (6½ by 2½ inches); top with cherries.

Mix the remaining 1 tablespoon sugar and remaining ¼ teaspoon cinnamon; sprinkle over pudding.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 50 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in center comes out without batter clinging to it.

Serve warm with Cherry Sauce and heavy cream.

Cherry Sauce

In a small saucepan, stir together 1 tablespoon each sugar and cornstarch and dash each of salt and cinnamon. Gently stir in syrup reserved from cherries used in pudding, keeping smooth.

Cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened, clear and boiling.

Rusks Hold Mushrooms

Locate a big aluminum tray or cookie sheet. Leave in oven turned down to warm.

• In hot and in heavy skillet saute one pound chicken livers until brown and crusty, but not dry. Keep hot on cookie sheet in oven.

• Saute 1½ pounds sliced mushrooms in butter until golden on edges. Drain on soft paper towels. Place, unstacked, on cookie sheet in oven.

• Cut 2 red onions into thin slices and separate into circles. Sprinkle chicken livers, mushroom slices and onion circles lightly with salt and freshly ground black pepper.

• Keep stack of rusks hot in oven.

TO SERVE: Let guests bring warmed plates and fill 'em up. A Holland rusk topped with chicken livers, next add 3 or 4 circles of onion and generously top with luscious mushroom slices.

Replace skillet on high heat and scrape up all crunchy particles, then add 1 tablespoon frozen chives and dash in ½ cup dry white wine, adding a little at a time, stirring a few minutes. Spoon over servings.

What to go with this feast? How about a grilled hot peach half on each plate and why not fill your most elegant silver or crystal bowl with crushed ice and poke into it wedges of finocchio, celery, carrot sticks, cucumber — and all such harmless crisp additions?

Note: If canned mushrooms are used, drain off liquid before sauteing.

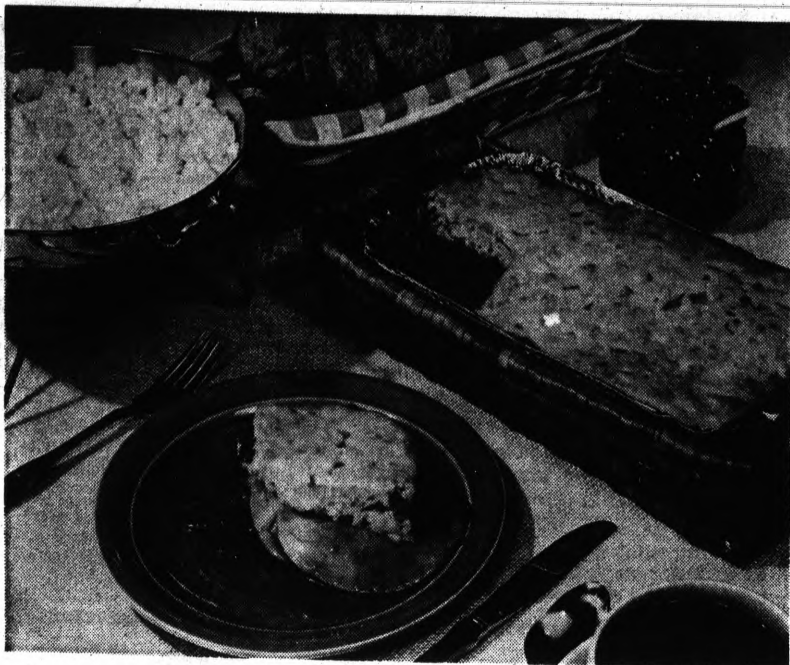

MUSHROOMS FOR SUPPER — Sauteed mushrooms and browned chicken livers go with raw onion slices to top hot rusks. Top the stacks with a white wine sauce. May be made for four or 40.

TURKEY TOP HAT — Turkey Top Hat is an elegant brunch or supper dish made with frozen sliced turkey topped with an onion and pimiento seasoned crust.

Pancake Mix Pastry Tops Turkey

Top hats are usually considered something special and that's true of this recipe. But don't reserve Turkey Top Hat for special occasions. It's so good you will want to serve it for your next brunch and frequently ever after.

Turkey Top Hat is made of delicious sliced turkey in giblet gravy and covered with a colorful crust flavored with chopped green onions and pimiento. It's a gay spring topper, for sure.

Turkey for brunch? Surely! This is the kind that is sliced and frozen in giblet gravy.

Simply heat the two-pound package in a hot oven for 25 minutes and then pour the seasoned pancake batter on top and forget about it for another 25 minutes.

When the guests arrive, you will have had time to scramble eggs, prepare fruit, make coffee and mix muffins. What could be simpler or easier?

Turkey used to be the special party food that was planned weeks ahead. That was a long time ago. Now, frozen sliced turkey is about the quickest as well as the tastiest meat that is in the freezer.

Turkey Top Hat

1 package (2 pounds) Giblet Gravy and Sliced Turkey
1 cup pancake mix
3 tablespoons chopped green onion
1 jar (2 ounces) pimiento, drained and chopped
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
Heat turkey slices according to package directions for 25 minutes. Meanwhile, using the 1 cup pancake mix, prepare according to package directions. Add onion, pimiento and poultry seasoning. Remove slices from oven.

Pour pancake batter evenly on top. Return to oven. Bake 20-25 minutes longer or until top is lightly browned. Yield: 4 or more servings.

3 large egg yolks
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 oz. (2 squares) semisweet baking chocolate, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla
Lady fingers or strips of sponge cake

Scald milk in a 2-quart saucepan. Combine egg yolks, sugar, flour and salt. Add to milk. Stir and cook over low heat or hot water (not boiling) until the mixture coats a metal spoon.

Remove custard from heat and stir in melted chocolate and pure vanilla extract. Chill.

Serve in sherbet glasses, each lined with 3 lady fingers or 3 strips of sponge cake. Yield: 4 servings.

Vanilla Coconut Soft Custard

¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 large eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup shredded moist coconut

Mix sugar with salt in a saucepan or in the top part of a double boiler. Blend in eggs. Stir in ¼-cup cold milk, heat the remaining milk and add to the mixture.

Cook over low heat or over hot water until the custard coats a metal spoon, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add pure vanilla extract and coconut. Cool.

Serve as dessert in sherbet glasses, topped with cream, if desired. Or, serve over fruits in season such as sliced bananas, stewed apples, stewed or baked pears or sliced oranges. Garnish with whipped cream.

Yield: Approximately 2½ cups.

English Chocolate Pudding

1½ cups milk

Soft Margarine Easy to Mix

When you make Nut Muffins, you will be amazed at how easy it is to beat the soft-type margarine with the egg; also makes coating the muffin pans a snap. Combine it with honey for an accompanying spread.

Nut Muffins

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup finely chopped nuts
1 egg
¼ cup soft-type margarine containing safflower oil
1 cup milk

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into mixing bowl. Stir in nuts. Beat together egg and soft-type margarine; add milk and mix well.

Make well in dry ingredients; add milk mixture and stir just until dry ingredients are moistened (batter will be lumpy). Spoon into 12 muffin pans that have been coated with soft-type margarine (pans should be ¾ full).

Bake in 425 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes, until muffins are lightly browned and pull away from pan. Serve muffins hot with Honey Spread. Yield: 12 muffins.

Honey Spread: Blend together ¼ cup soft-type margarine and ¼ cup honey. Yield: ¾ cup.

Coat Ice Cream Balls With Crumbs

Suppose dad calls at the last minute and announces he is bringing the boss or an old school pal home to dinner. You had planned a pretty good dinner and there will be enough for the guest, but you want to give it a festive touch; say a glamorous dessert.

What do you do? It's easy! Go to the freezer and take out the wheat germ-ice cream dessert balls you rolled up yesterday, or last week or a month ago.

The ice cream balls have been coated with wheat germ, with its bonus of vitamins and minerals, vanilla wafer crumbs and finely chopped pecans, and the coating flavored just right with sugar, cinnamon and a touch of nutmeg.

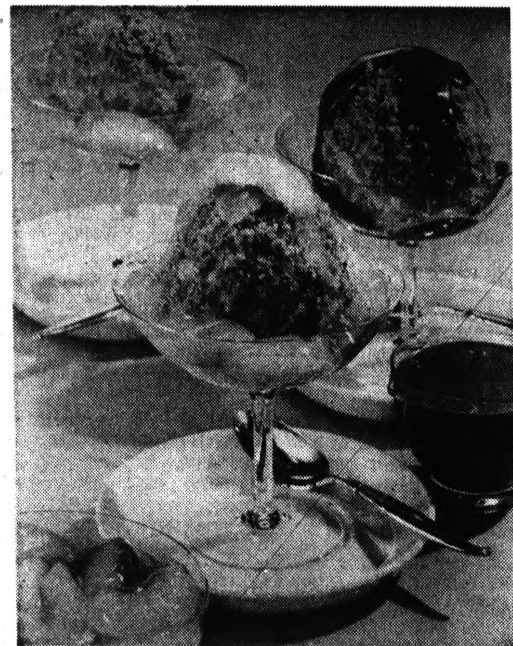

Top them with chocolate sauce or peaches (fresh or frozen). You'll be real proud as everyone spoons the serving dishes clean — they're that good.

Wheat Germ Ice Cream Dessert Balls
½ cup wheat germ
½ cup fine vanilla wafer crumbs
¼ cup finely chopped pecans
3 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
2 pints vanilla ice cream
1 cup chocolate sauce or 2 cups sweetened, sliced

peaches (fresh or frozen)
Combine wheat germ, crumbs, pecans, sugar, spices and melted butter, mixing well. Chill wheat germ mixture until ready to use. Separate with fork before using.

Shape ice cream into 6 or 8 balls with hands. Roll in wheat germ mixture until ice cream is completely covered. Freeze until firm and ready to serve.

Serve with chocolate sauce or peaches. Yield: 6-8 servings.

COATED WITH WHEAT GERM — Balls of vanilla ice cream are completely covered with a mixture of wheat germ, vanilla wafer crumbs and nuts. Frozen solid, they appear as dessert with a smooth chocolate sauce or fruit topping. They store well in the freezer.

Chocolate Always Rates High Praise

Here's a quickly made filling and frosting for cake—with fine flavor.

CHOCOLATE

FILLING AND FROSTING
½ cup butter, slightly soft
½ cup confectioners sugar
1 egg yolk
½ cup (½ of a six-ounce package) semi-sweet chocolate pieces, melted
1 teaspoon instant coffee dissolved in ½ cup boiling water

In small mixer bowl, thoroughly beat together the butter, sugar and egg yolk, then melted chocolate — mixture will be thick. Gradually beat in coffee — mixture will thin. Allow to stand for a few minutes to stiffen slightly, then use as filling and frosting for two 9-inch cake layers.

Meat Blending

A pastry blender is just the thing to use for blending ingredients for Spanish rice, meat loaf, or any casserole dish, and especially those using hamburger with other ingredients.

BLUEBERRY CURRY BISCUITS — Blueberries out of a can are subtly seasoned with curry to make beautiful biscuits. You'll find this a fabulous flavor contrast. Wonderful for late evening refreshments.

Fill Curried Biscuits With Canned Blueberries

Introduce curry to blueberries and the conversation will pick up right away. A mysterious Indian spice going around with a straightforward American favorite? Indeed, yes. And a good match it is!

They meet in a very everyday biscuit mix, transforming it into something quite special.

The Blueberry Curry Biscuits are zesty, yet strangely delicate in flavor. Neither too sweet nor too sharp, very different from any blueberry biscuit ever yet made.

They can be made up ready for baking and chilled in the refrigerator until needed to put spark into a coffee break, an after the movies post-mortem, a bridge party finale.

Served hot with assorted cheese wedges and slices they make a Sunday brunch even more beautiful.

Blueberry Curry Biscuits
3 cups biscuit mix
1½ teaspoons curry powder
½ cup soft butter or margarine
½ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
1 cup milk
1 can (14 oz.) blueberries, drained Combine biscuit mix and toast mixture, brown in a skillet, and arrange on plates in crisscross fashion.

Top the toast logs with creamed ham, made by combining diced cooked ham with a thick white sauce.

Rye Toast Is Brunch Treat

Romany rye french toast logs with creamed ham is just the dish to spark a bright Sunday into 3 equal sections. Dip them in a seasoned, egg-milk French toast mixture, brown in a skillet, and arrange on plates in crisscross fashion.

Bacon Sauce Gives Spinach Vigor

DUTCH-STYLE SPINACH
1 bag (10-oz.) trimmed fresh spinach
8 slices of bacon
¼ cup red wine vinegar
¼ teaspoon each salt and garlic powder
¼ teaspoon pepper

Wash spinach, drain and cook lightly in the water clinging to its leaves; drain if necessary. In a 10-inch skillet, cook the bacon until crisp; remove and crumble.

Leave ¼ cup bacon fat in the skillet and add the remaining ingredients heat; mix in spinach and reheat if necessary. Top with bacon. Makes 4 servings.

Hot Rolls Always Welcome

Whenever we serve these rolls, they get an enthusiastic welcome!

Wholewheat Rolls

1 package active dry yeast
1½ cups warm water
1½ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon each sugar and soft shortening
1 cup stoneground wholewheat flour

2½ cups (about) unsifted regular white flour
White cornmeal

Dissolve yeast in warm water; stir in salt, sugar, shortening and the wholewheat flour; work in white flour with spoon and hands. Knead on lightly floured board for 10 minutes.

Place in greased bowl; turn to grease top; cover. Let rise in warm place until doubled—about 40 minutes. Punch down; cover; let rise again until doubled—about 30 minutes.

Punch down; turn out. Divide in half; form each half into a 12-inch long roll. Cut each roll into 6 equal pieces. Roll each piece so it is about 4 inches long.

Place well apart on 2 large greased cookie sheets that have been sprinkled with a little cornmeal; cover. Let rise until doubled—about 40 minutes.

Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until lightly browned and crusty—about 25 to 35 minutes. Makes 12 rolls.

2 Questioned on Checks Lost in $620,000 Holdup

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — Police said today they still were trying to learn by questioning how two Miamians arrested here obtained travelers checks listed among loot from a $620,000 pier holdup in New York.

Ralph Almonte, 45, and Gilda Melina, 19, were captured by detectives Wednesday in the parking lot of a supermarket after a cashier found the check numbers on a list circulated around the world.

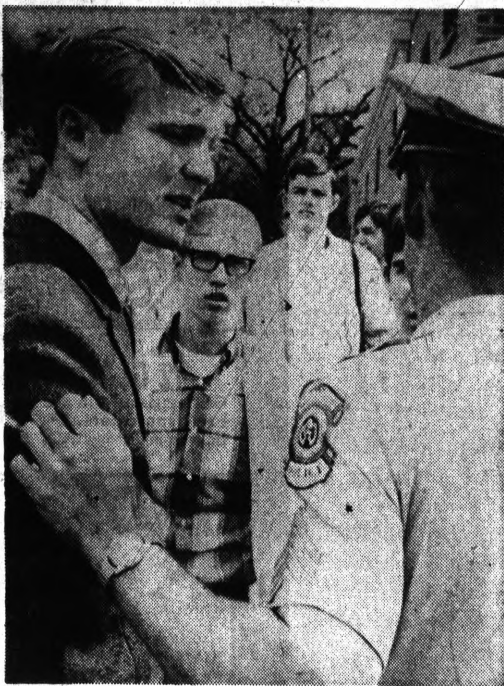

The couple, who gave different addresses, were held under $20,000 each federal bond on an FBI complaint of interstate transportation of stolen property.

U.S. Commissioner Edward P. Swan said he would hold a hearing for them Friday.

Both also were charged by police with forging checks. Almonte—who police said tried to escape first with a gun and then with money—also was charged and held without bond on state charges of assault, possession of stolen property and bribery.

Neither the FBI nor detectives would say how many stolen travelers checks were recovered. It was reported the FBI had a search warrant for Almonte's home in the Coral Gables suburb of Miami.

In a pre-dawn raid on a Hudson River pier April 13 four bandits subdued four armed guards and escaped with a shipment of $620,000 in American Express travelers checks bound for Frankfurt, Germany.

Red China Beefs Defenses, Issues Alert

HONG KONG (UPI) — Communist China has beefed up its air defenses along the North Vietnamese border and put them on full alert, diplomatic sources said today.

They said the alert was ordered because of the intensified American air strikes against North Vietnam and alleged intrusions over South China by U.S. warplanes.

The air intrusion charges have been denied by the Defense Department in Washington.

"No matter whether these claims are propaganda or not, they are significant," one experienced China analyst based here said.

Informed sources said the strengthening of the air defense network has been under way for some time, but the alert has just recently been ordered.

FACILITIES EXPANDED

The buildup includes the expansion of surface-to-air (SAM) missile facilities and an increase in the number of high-performance jet interceptors stationed along the border.

The aircraft are improved and modified versions of the Soviet MIG21. The Delta-wing MIG21 is the most sophisticated plane used by the Communists in North Vietnam.

China analysts said the buildup appeared to be "entirely defensive."

State Bureau Being Audited

Follows Resignation, Charges by Director

LANSING (AP) — The state auditor general confirmed Wednesday that his office is making an audit of the Legislative Service Bureau.

The bureau came under scrutiny last week when Director Donald J. Hoenshell resigned and charged that a small group of senators were trying to turn the bureau into "a political arm of the Republican party."

The audit is not connected with that political clash, said Auditor General Albert Lee. He said the audit began in early April and is expected to be completed within two weeks.

"This is just a routine audit," Lee said. "The bureau has been operating for about two years now and never has been audited. We figured it was about time to do it."

INFORMAL REQUEST

Lee added that members of the Senate Appropriations Committee, which includes five Republicans and three Democrats, had made "an informal request" for the audit.

"They didn't write a letter formally asking for an audit," he said.

"There was nothing we had any doubts about, but they thought there might be something we could do to help the bureau in implementing procedural operations."

Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, said last week that he was concerned because the bureau in the past two years "has taken on some functions which were never intended for it."

SOARING COSTS

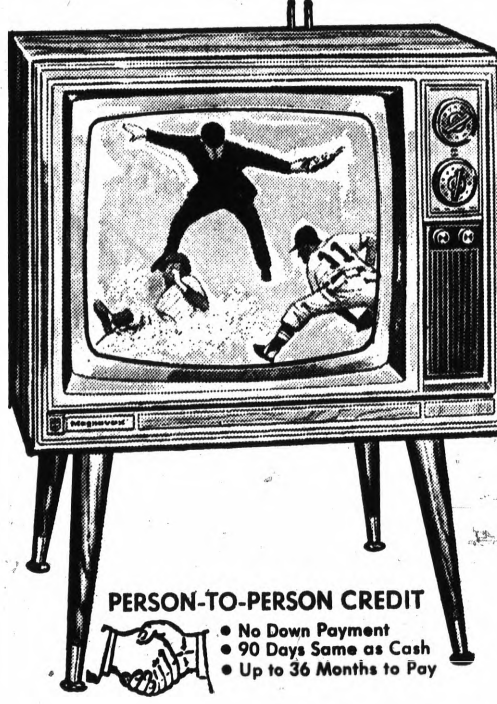

Lockwood cited soaring costs of operating the bureau and said this was "largely because of expanded operations in the field of public relations."

Lockwood is the chairman of the Legislative Council which directs the bureau's activities.

He said the majority of the council members felt the bureau's operations were too expensive. "So we are eliminating some of the functions and returning it nearer to its original concept," Lockwood said.

Discredited Major's Kin in 'Last Stand'

NEW YORK (AP) — A chance meeting in a Manhattan bar has led Charles Reno to ask the Army to replay the battle of the Little Big Horn and clear the name of a cashiered ancestor who fought there with Col. George A. Custer in the famous "last stand."

Reno appeared before the Army Board for the Correction of Military Records in Washington Wednesday to request that it restore full rank and honors to his great-granduncle, Maj. Marcus A. Reno.

Though cleared by a court of inquiry of any blame for the massacre of Custer's forces, the major was cashiered four years after the battle as a drunkard and brawler. The board was told this stemmed mainly from a political and military controversy following the massacre.

CHANCE MEETING

Last fall he had a chance meeting with George Walton, a retired Army colonel from Wrightsville, N.C., who had studied the major's case for five years and was convinced he had been unjustly treated.

Reno learned his ancestor had a small coterie of advocates but that a plea to clear his name had to be made by a relative.

He applied to the five-man civilian panel and it ordered a record prepared by the Army. Walton told the board that Reno became an unpopular figure as a result of a "big lie" which unfairly accused Reno of cowardice in failing to come to Custer's aid.

As a result, the board was told, when Reno was later court-martialed on charges of brawling and drunkenness.

The board probably will make a recommendation to the secretary of the Army on whether to restore the major's rank and permit the American Legion in Montana to move his body from an unmarked Washington grave to the Custer National Cemetery at the battlefield.

Some 10 per cent of the gasoline in an auto tank does not combust but goes into the air. This would amount to seven billion gallons lost to the air in the United States annually.

SEEKS TO CLEAR 'BLACK SHEEP' — Charles Reno (right) of New York asked the Army Board for the Correction of Military Records in Washington yesterday to restore full rank and honors to his great-granduncle, Maj. Marcus A. Reno, who was cashiered four years after the battle of the Little Big Horn as a drunkard and a brawler.

April U.S.-MIG Encounters Up Sharply

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The sharp step-up in U.S. bombing raids over the Hanoi-Haiphong area last month brought a vastly increased deployment of Communist MIG jets, according to the Pentagon.

Defense Department spokesmen reported yesterday that American planes encountered twice as many Red jets over North Vietnam in April as in any other single month of the war.

According to their figures, 113 of the Soviet-built fighters were encountered over North Vietnam during the month. The previous record for one month was 54 in December 1966. Encounters in March numbered only 20.

An encounter means planes were at close range. The figures do not include mere sightings of MIGs.

Clearing weather in the northern part of North Vietnam in mid-April permitted the United States to increase substantially its raids over the Hanoi-Haiphong area, which the MIGs defend.

27 ENGAGEMENTS

The 113 encounters took place in 27 engagements with MIGs, according to the Pentagon's list. Engagement means a fight involving one or more U.S. planes and one or more MIGs at a single time and place.

U.S. aircraft encountered no MIGs at all from April 1 through April 18. From April 19 through April 23, there were nine engagements and 39 encounters. During this period U.S. planes were attacking power plants at Haiphong and a steel plant and a surface-to-air missile site near Hanoi.

Intense Cong Attacks on Pacification Teams Imperil Program

SAIGON (AP) — Intensified Vietcong attacks are seriously battering the South Vietnamese government's latest pacification program, raising the specter of another failure in Saigon's efforts to win over the countryside.

In the first four months of this year 309 Communist attacks on pacification teams killed 218 government workers and wounded 299. Another 51 are missing and presumed captured, and several hundred of the government troops deployed to protect the pacification teams have been killed.

In all of 1966 there were only 25 attacks against a pacification program, now generally regarded to have been overambitious and ineffectual.

The scaled-down, more aggressive program launched this year appeared to be catching on. Captured Communist documents made clear that Revolutionary Development teams, as the pacification forces are now known, were No. 1 targets.

American sources say it is too early to talk of a crisis in the program, but they report concern over the situation. Some U.S. officials fear that continued high casualties to team members could destroy the esprit de corps that has been built up and ultimately wreck the program.

All pacification programs during the past eight years failed, primarily due to poor planning and military reverses. Should the latest plan fail with some 440,000 American troops in the country, the effect in Vietnam and on Washington could be serious.

The worst deterioration is in the two northernmost provinces where American Marines and government troops have not been able to prevent pacification teams from being overrun or forced to flee for their lives. Many cadresmen, as the team members are known, have deserted, including 50 from the Hue region alone.

A month ago Maj. Gen. Nguyen Duc Thang, the revolutionary development minister, warned that Vietcong documents showed the Communists were prepared to do their utmost to crush what they considered a vital threat. Thang said success or failure of the pacification effort might be decided by June.

One source says nearly 1,000 Communist troops died during the attacks on the teams or military forces protecting them. Thang has about 20,000 pacification workers spread through 50 areas. Their main protection comes from 60 government battalions. The 60 battalions are not enough, and some are less than enthusiastic about the constant patrolling needed to shield teams from Communist bands.

March has been the worst casualty month for the teams. They lost 101 killed, 111 wounded and 19 captured in 126 attacks. But April was far worse as far as faith in the program's outcome was concerned, at least in the northern region.

A Communist offensive against the provincial capital at Quang Tri put the city mostly under Communist control for several hours. Some 250 Vietcong prisoners were released. Pacification teams hid in nearby villages.

There was no significant reaction by government troops for a week, and U.S. Marines were spread so thin they had no troops to spare. Panic spread through Quang Tri and around Hue, which the Communists said would be next.

About a division of U.S. Army troops were moved into the southern part of the area, allowing the Marines to shift north to meet the worsening threat. But pacification teams in the Hue area were still hit.

Farmington Area Future May Hinge on Township

By JANICE KLOUSER

FARMINGTON — The Farmington area: one large, consolidated city or four separate governmental units?

The answer to that may come up within the next few months and it could very well hinge on Farmington Township.

For several months a committee of area residents has been studying the possible consolidation of the city and township of Farmington and the villages of Wood Creek Farms and Quakertown into one large city.

The study has reached the point now, according to Dr. John Richardson, chairman of the Future Farmington Area Study Committee, where it must be passed on to professionals who have both the knowledge and the time to do a thorough job.

Whether it is or not, though, may be largely up to the township.

CONTRIBUTIONS ASKED

At a recent meeting, the committee asked each of the four governmental units involved to contribute to the cost of the study to be carried on by the Institute for Community Development and Services at Michigan State University.

The study would cost about $3,500, according to Dr. Richardson, and each governmental unit would pay on the basis of its assessed valuation.

"Representatives of three of the communities seemed to be in favor of it," said Dr. Richardson, "but the township people seemed to feel it would cloud their incorporation issue.

If they don't go along with us it could shoot the whole thing.

"It's not the money, because we could raise enough, but there's not much point in continuing without the township."

STUMBLING BLOCK

The township's proposed incorporation as a home rule city could be the stumbling block although township spokesmen want to wait until the board discusses the matter before making any comments.

"We have to look at two things here," said Clerk Floyd A. Cairns. "The last time there was an incorporation vote, an injunction was taken out against us to stop us from spending public funds, and we want to check the legality of contributing this money."

"There is also the matter of our incorporation vote."

Township residents will vote Oct. 23 on incorporation as a home rule city.

CONSOLIDATION

"Consolidation could still take place even if the township became a city," said Richardson, "but it would be more involved and township people might not want to turn around and go through this after voting on incorporation."

He said the general feeling of those attending the latest meeting was that consolidation would be the best thing for the communities but how to go about it would be the main problem.

The MSU study committee, he said, will not be making any recommendations, it will merely point out the alternatives open to the communities.

Dr. Richardson said the committee will study trends in population, land use, taxes and services rendered by present governments and what could be expected under a combined government.

Each community will give its decision on contributing to the MSU study in about two weeks.

Shelby Twp. to Vote on Fire, Police Tax in Aug. 7 Election

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A vote requesting an additional 1.5 mills for the fire department and 2.5 mills for operation of the police department will take place Aug. 7 at a special election.

The Township Board has voted to place the questions on the ballot at that time. Term of the millage increase requested is 10 years.

Trustee Quits School Board

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Clarenceville Board of Education Trustee Herbert P. Kagen has resigned from the board to accept a position with a West Virginia college.

A trustee for five years, he said that "from a professional point of view" it would be impossible to reject the offer of a position with the West Virginia State College.

A new member will be elected at the June 12 election to fill the remaining three years of Dr. Kagen's term.

Persons wishing to run for the board must file petitions at the board office, 28830 W. Eight Mile, before 4 p.m. May 13.

The petitions are available at the board office and may be picked up any day between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

The fire department now operates on a voted 2.5 mills, while operation of the police department has come from the township's general fund.

Also received this week by Supervisor Kirby Holmes was a request from the police department for recognition of Metropolitan Council No. 23 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees as sole bargaining agent.

The township fire department already has union representation.

In other business the township board adopted an anti-blight ordinance which provides for fines of $100 plus 90 days in jail for people convicted of keeping junk cars on private property.

Vacant Cottage in Orion Is Struck Twice by Blaze

ORION TOWNSHIP — Firemen twice fought a blaze last night credited with causing $7,000 damage to a summer cottage at 1101 Clute.

The cottage, vacant at the time, is owned by R. W. Thomas of Detroit. He had been there earlier in the day working on a remodeling project, officials said.

Orion Township firemen, given an assist by the Oxford Township Fire Department, attributed the cause of the fire to defective wiring.

A neighbor reported smoke and flames first at 12:16 a.m. Firemen stayed an hour extinguishing a blaze in a center partition.

Called again at 4:27 a.m., the departments this time found flames shooting through the roof of the structure.

Firemen reported considerable damage to new exterior siding and smoke damage to the interior of the cottage.

The Central Valley Project, a system of dams and canals to store and distribute water from California reservoirs, provides enough water to irrigate 3,757,000 acres of central California farmland.

Work by the teens has been given the support of adults who have formed a nonprofit corporation called Rochester Community House, Inc.

Purpose of the adult effort is the construction of a permanent community house in the city, of which the teen club would be a part.

TEEN DANCES

Another teen dance sponsored by West and Central Junior High Schools and students from St. John's Lutheran and St. Andrews Catholic schools has been set for May 12 in the senior high school cafeteria.

A senior high school student dance is planned for May 13. Proceeds from both activities will benefit the center.

Suit Against Lake Orion Is Dismissed

LAKE ORION — Another obstacle to the construction of a sewage disposal system here has been removed with dismissal of the restraining order brought by the Lake Orion Homeowners Association against the village.

Village Attorney Robert Parenti reported in a letter to President Wallace C. Crane that the suit had been dismissed "without prejudice," precluding the need for a trial which had been set for yesterday.

He said that because of the nature of its dismissal that it could be reopened again by the Homeowners, "but because of the circumstances in this case that seems highly unlikely."

The suit which originated on the part of Homeowners as an attempt to get more federal aid before starting construction on an estimated $1.8-million sewage system "will be reopened if federal aid isn't forthcoming after the start of the new fiscal year July 1," according to Mrs. Juanita Robinson, Homeowners spokesman.

A recent letter from Housing and Urban Development authorities in Chicago stated that the Lake Orion request for additional money to finance the project had been placed in suspension pending dismissal of the lawsuit.

The village is under citation by the State Water Resources Commission for contribution to the pollution of Paint Creek. It has been given until Dec. 1 to arrange financing on the project and until Sept. 1, 1969, for completion of the program.

Troy School Impasse

TROY — The school board and its appointed committee ended up in an impasse last night over a proposed 8-mill ballot proposal for June 12, but voters may still vote on an added tax.

The five-hour meeting was the 12th hour of debate in which the board and administration attempted to have the committee alter its negative findings.

The administration claims it is faced with paying off a $278,000 deficit from last year and a similar minus mark in the coming one.

However, the citizens' committee appointed by the board challenges the figures, denies the millage vote is necessary and calls for cutting the budget.

Peter A. Taucher, chairman of the committee said today, "They still haven't shown us why the budget has to go up 40 per cent while the student population only rises 5 per cent."

Taucher said his committee was still willing to meet and discuss modifications of the 8-mill request.

Taucher's committee was criticized at previous hearings as being the findings of only three persons — the three-man finance study group headed by Harold Janes, an accountant. This trip is part of a larger committee headed by Taucher which studied enrollment and the ninth grade situation.

However, a finance member, Barbara Pett, withdrew her endorsement last night leaving Janes, Robert Toles and Taucher fighting the millage proposal.

Alex Tunstall, president of the school board, said today the administration plans to go ahead and seek a millage vote with or without the citizens' committee endorsement.

"Without the millage our program will be cut to shreds," he said. However more studies are to be made and it is possible a lower figure than 8 mills will be sought, Tunstall indicated.

... and Little Glory

Citizen Study: Toil, Trouble

By L. GARY THORNE
Assistant City Editor—Suburban

Dr. Rex Smith, Troy school chief, can be forgiven if lately he's developed a thin skin to citizen criticism, although such barbs are an occupational hazard.

Within the last week Dr. Smith and the Troy School Board have locked verbal horns with a board-appointed citizens' committee over whether that district needs the 8-mill tax increase proposed for June 12 consideration by voters.

The advisory group, selected to weigh the merits of the millage, has responded in the negative, although committee spokesmen Peter A. Taucher reportedly admitted participation in the financial study was slight among Troy residents.

A fresh committee took a second look at the district's dollar dilemma at a meeting last night. However, there still is no agreement.

LITTLE GLORY

Citizens' committees reap little glory and often the unpaid toil means long hours and unfamiliar headaches. The reward for such service comes from within.

Although nearly all governmental units have discovered the political potency of citizens' committees, school boards appear to make the most use of such groups.

Ogre or rubber stamp?

It often depends on the chairman of the committee. Certainly there has to be the force-feeding of facts to such groups. Not too infrequently, however, citizens offer a valuable view by looking inside from the outside.

GET WORKED UP

Of course, citizens rightly or wrongly sometimes get too worked up with their task. This reportedly was the allegation hurled at a school study committee in Romeo.

The Romeo group was to study building needs, but found itself flayed for investigating the curriculum.

When it comes to millage propositions, the undisputed object of an advisory group of citizens is to garner support for the pending vote. The premise being, of course, that the cause is just.

Excluding the obvious political intent of millage campaigns, citizens serve in other areas, providing sort of a collective pulse of the community that school boards and other governmental units find appropriate to check periodically.

In any event, the instruction of the public in the mundane matters of government produce an enlightenment and amazement that nearly always is beneficial in the end.

Piggy Banks Boosting Rochester Teen Center

ROCHESTER — A flock of gaily colored piggy banks made by Rochester secondary school students have invaded downtown business places—their stated mission to help raise money for a permanent teen center.

They will be prominently displayed during city-proclaimed Teen Week in Rochester beginning Sunday.

Their entry into the money-raising drive complements efforts by Junior high school students who raised $75 at a dance and $10 from a paper drive.

Work by the teens has been given the support of adults who have formed a nonprofit corporation called Rochester Community House, Inc.

Purpose of the adult effort is the construction of a permanent community house in the city, of which the teen club would be a part.

TEEN DANCES

Another teen dance sponsored by West and Central Junior High Schools and students from St. John's Lutheran and St. Andrews Catholic schools has been set for May 12 in the senior high school cafeteria.

A senior high school student dance is planned for May 13. Proceeds from both activities will benefit the center.

'House Fiddles,' Senate Burns

LANSING (AP)—Bills to regulate nursing and automobile exhausts and make veterans' trust fund money available to Vietnam veterans passed in the House Wednesday and went to the Senate.

But with 200 measures still awaiting action, House leaders again asked an angry Senate for more time to work on them.

The House asked senators last week for a two-week extension of the deadline for passage of most bills in the house of origin, and the Senate reluctantly agreed to push the deadline ahead eight days — to Saturday.

Senate leaders, claiming the House has been moving too slowly, have not been sympathetic to House requests for deadline extensions.

DEADLINE
A resolution passed by the House Wednesday would move the house-of-origin deadline—which does not affect taxation, appropriation or court reorganization bills — to May 12.

The nursing bill, sponsored by Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, is largely a codification of existing law.

It would create a state board of nursing, composed of six nurses and six other members, all appointed by the governor. The board would license nurses annually and establish minimum standards for nursing education programs.

Another House bill, sponsored by Rep. Phil Pittenger, R-Lansing, would add Vietnam veterans to the list of former soldiers covered by the state's Veterans Trust Fund Act.

VETERAN LOAN

Included in the act is a loan program for veterans or dependents taking educational courses.

Passed 92-0 was a measure sponsored by Rep. William Copeland, D-Wyandotte, which would bring motor vehicles under the Air Pollution Control Act passed by the Legislature in 1965.

The State Department of Public Health said the bill is needed if Michigan is to meet with new federal antipollution standards. Compliance is required, the department said, if the state is to continue receiving two-for-one federal matching funds for air pollution control.

Also passed Wednesday was a bill sponsored by Rep. Robert Mahoney, D-Detroit, who is blind. The bill would require the state to issue on request identification cards certifying that the holder is legally blind.

Other measures given House approval would exempt amateur theater, band and orchestra corporations from state supervision and require school districts offering psychological services to make them available on an equal basis to pupils of non-public schools.

Detroit Police Probe Posters

DETROIT (AP) — Police are looking into the appearance of printed posters appearing in several Detroit Negro neighborhoods.

The posters read: "Unite or Perish," and "Join the Black Guard."

The "Black Guard" poster shows a picture of a black arm, with broken shackles on its wrist and a machine gun in its hand.

Police said they don't know what the Black Guard is.

Board Asks to Stop Drafting

SPENCER, Ind. (AP) — Calling for "impartial and uniform administration" of the nation's draft laws, the Owen County Selective Service Board requested permission Wednesday to curtail drafting the county's youths.

In a letter to Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national Selective Service director, the board said it "is greatly perturbed by the continued lack of uniformity in the administration and enforcement of induction policies."

The request was signed by all five members of the board and by its appeal agent, Charles Edwards, a Spencer attorney.

The letter said, "This board is unwilling to continue to draft boys for service who are not financially able to fight induction and are not financially able to use the courts and other agencies to defer induction, as certain so-called ministers or athletic and entertainment figures are now doing."

WOULDN'T ELABORATE

Most board members refused to elaborate on the letter, commenting that they believe it spoke for itself.

Only board member Walter Maguschar of Seymour volunteered a statement.

"There is no indication whatever when we will get a reply—perhaps Thursday, perhaps next week," he said.

"I don't know what the future of the request will be at all," he said. "We couldn't change procedures until we get permission and still operate as a board with in the scope of the Selective Service system."

Strike-Lockout Is Spreading

45,000 Truck Drivers Idle in Chicago Area

CHICAGO (AP) — A strike-lockout that has idled 45,000 truck drivers in the Chicago area was reported spreading today.

Several attempts to bring about a meeting of union and trucking company representatives failed Wednesday as fears arose that more industries may be affected by the dispute.

The Chicago Association of Commerce estimated the strike-lockout, now in its 11th day, would idle more than 200,000 workers by the end of the week and a million by the end of next week unless a settlement is reached.

The truck transportation stoppage already has resulted in layoffs of thousands of plant workers, material and parts shortages and production cutbacks.

MORE PICKETS

Pickets appeared Wednesday at several more firms, and a union spokesman warned, "This action could start a widespread shutdown of trucking operations in the Midwest and nationally."

More than 1,000 trucking companies have been affected by the strike and retaliatory lockout by employers.

The Teamsters Union and the Independent Chicago Truck Drivers Union have asked for a 90-cent hourly package in benefits spread over three years.

The trucking operators have offered a 70-cent package, the same settlement agreed to tentatively by national representatives of the Teamsters Union locals and long-haul truckers.

A bargaining session set for Wednesday by federal mediators was canceled when Ed Fennner, executive director of the Chicago Truck Drivers Union, refused to attend.

'Grows' Inch, Still Flunks Fireman Test

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tony Muguria, 29, for years wanted to be a fireman but he was a half-inch too short to meet the fire department's 5-foot-7 height requirement.

Then he discovered, he said, "When you awake after a night's sleep you can be anything up to an inch taller. You have these cushion-like things between your vertebrae which expand during the night and settle back to normal after you walk around for a while."

So Tony arranged to take the physical examination early in the morning and a friend literally carried him to the test. He took only 20 steps before arching his back beneath the measuring tape.

He passed. BUT...

Then he took the written test, and flunked by one point. "My heart fell to the floor," Tony said Wednesday.

A mechanical exercise horse, a judge says, is not deductible as a medical expense, but a traveling wife is deductible as a business expense.

Movie maker Roy Disney, president of Walt Disney Studios, filed suit for refund of $4,245 in federal taxes because of income he was not allowed to deduct.

U.S. Dist. Judge Thurmond Clarke ruled yesterday in Los Angeles that Edna Disney served to "enhance the firm's image abroad" when she accompanied her husband on a round-the-world jaunt and two trips to Europe.

But Disney's exercise horse, he ruled, was not a legitimate medical expense.

Stalin's Daughter Stays Away From Public

Svetlana Alliluyeva has issued a blanket "regret" to numerous requests for interviews and public appearances.

In a statement issued through her public relations firm in New York yesterday, the daughter of Joseph Stalin said she "appreciates the many cordial invitations."

However, she is working on the translation of her autobiography and "finds herself unable to accept them," the statement said.

New York's Mayor Changing His Tune

Mayor John V. Lindsay apparently likes to walk down the sidewalks of New York humming "Manhattan."

The old tune that began "East Side, West Side," will no longer serve as the city's unofficial theme song, a city band official said yesterday.

He said Lindsay told him to play "Manhattan" instead of "The Sidewalks of New York" because he wanted a "more modern song and not one reminiscent of Jimmy Walker and Mayor Wagner."

Opera Singer 'Proves Point' on Viet Trip

Metropolitan Opera tenor Richard Tucker wanted to go to Vietnam to entertain troops but he said the USO told him, "American servicemen prefer pop singers."

Tucker decided to go on his own. He came home yesterday claiming, "I have proved my point that American soldiers love classical music as much as show girls."

Tucker said he sang operatic arias, Neapolitan songs and Broadway show tunes to about 6,000 servicemen. "They were very enthusiastic and demanded many encores," he said.

"Our fighting men are the pride of the American people. They are an educated group of boys who love classical music as much as show girls."

Supreme Court Justice Unnoticed

It was an oath-taking ceremony for the New Jersey bar and in the audience U.S. Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan Jr., nearly went unnoticed.

The jurist was present to see his son, William III, sworn in yesterday in Trenton and officials did not notice him until the ceremony was over.

The younger Brennan is planning to open his own office in Newark after practicing with a Wall Street firm for five years.

Justice Clark Suggests Code on Trial Coverage

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UPI) — Tom C. Clark, associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, suggested last night an "accommodation," such as a code or agreement between the press and judiciary, in resolving the debate over a fair trial versus a free press.

But Clark, speaking at a symposium on fair trial-free press, said he thought the issue had been magnified out of proportion, especially since the courts will make sure accused persons are granted a free trial.

"I think the courts can take care of themselves," he said.

Clark said trial judges can do a variety of things to insure a fair trial.

He mentioned locking up the jury overnight, keeping secret the names and addresses of jurors so "every crackpot" can't bother them, and cautioning everyone connected with the case to make sure the trial is fair.

'IT'S REQUIRED'

"My position on fair trial and free press is, first of all, that the Constitution requires a fair trial," he said.

He pointed out that the U. S. Constitution does not say that television cameras, teletypes or typewriters could be brought into the courtroom. Nor does it say that newsmen can run upstairs to broadcast

The associate justice said he did not wish to infer that a free press had not been a "boon" to the country.

"They have pondered a great service," he said of the press.

NOT ANTICIPATED

Clark said there have not been threats made in court decisions that the press will be held in contempt for trial reporting "and I don't anticipate there will be any in the near future."

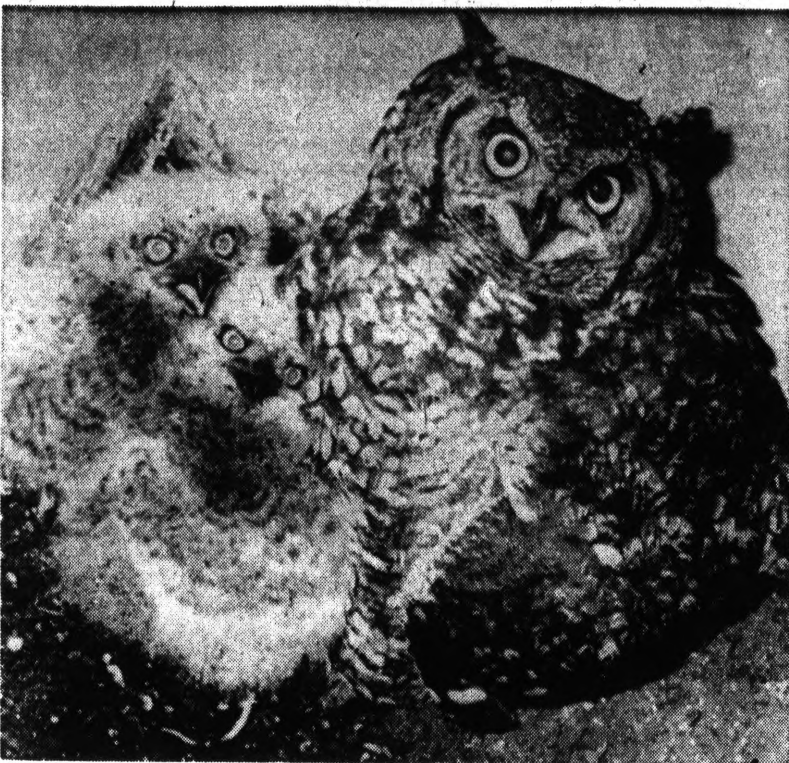

In reply to a question about whether the Sheppard case had been used as a precedent reaching far beyond its intended boundaries, Clark said the American Bar Association's Reardon report on fair trial-free press might have gone beyond the Sheppard case.

Rocket Valve May Delay Lunar Orbiter

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Racing against a countdown clock, technicians today tested a troublesome rocket valve which could upset plans to send America's Lunar Orbiter 4 on a moon-mapping mission today.

Project officials said the valve, located in the fuel system of Lunar Orbiter's Agena rocket, has not been flight-qualified since a similar valve caused an Agena to misfire during a launch last month. That failure sent a $9-million combination weather and communications satellite into the wrong orbit.

Tests on new modifications to the valve hopefully will be completed in time for the launch, officials said.

Perched atop its Atlas-Agena booster, Lunar Orbiter 4 was to blast off at 6:25 p.m. to photograph more than 95 per cent of the moon and produce what project officials predict will be the best scientific map yet of the lunar terrain.

EGG-SHAPED ORBIT

Unlike previous Orbiters, which flashed as low as 25 miles over the moon's surface to obtain detail photos of potential astronaut landing sites, Lunar Orbiter 4 was to swing into a lofty egg-shaped orbit which will bring it no closer than 1,650 miles above the moon.

At that altitude, however, its cameras will be able to capture 98 per cent of the moon's front side and 93 per cent of its hidden back side, officials said. Objects as small as 200 feet across-10 times more detail than is possible with earth-based telescopes — will be captured by Lunar Orbiter 4's cameras during its two weeks of picture taking, they predicted.

Lunar Orbiters 1, 2 and 3 photographed 49 per cent of the moon's hidden back side and produced detailed close-ups of potential astronaut landing sites on the moon's face. Their low-altitude orbits on the front side permitted only a small percentage of the total front surface to be filmed, however.

Gang of Vandals Strikes Again in Buffalo Section

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A gang of 200 young persons roamed through a section of Buffalo Wednesday night, breaking windows and looting a pawn shop.

The persons, ranging in age from 16 to 20, carried off television sets, musical instruments and other items in the second consecutive night of looting, police said. Some of the merchandise was recovered.

Two persons were arrested and charged with malicious mischief, burglary and grand larceny.

Deputy Police Commissioner Francis P. Gaughan said an investigation was launched to determine if professional agitators were behind the outbreaks.

Five youths were arrested Tuesday night after gangs of youths smashed windows of six stores and stole merchandise.

LBj, Romney to Address Officials' Confab in Detroit

When county officials from across the nation convene in Detroit July 30-Aug. 2, chances are that both candidates in the November 1968 presidential election will be there to greet them.

President Lyndon Johnson, who is expected to seek reelection, will attend the 32nd annual National Association of Counties (NACo) Conference.

Coming with him to the Cobo Hall function will be his wife, Lady Bird.

Gov. Romney, considered by many as the most likely candidate to win the GOP nomination and oppose Johnson in the election, is slated to speak at the conference.

Also invited is dark horse GOP candidate Gov. Ronald Reagan of California. To date he has neither accepted nor rejected the invitation, according to Bernard F. Hillenbrand, executive director of NACo.

Romney and Detroit's Mayor Jerome Cavanagh are scheduled to give welcoming addresses in the early stage of the conference.

Johnson is slated to speak at the banquet on the final day.

Among the other conference speakers will be former Texas governor, Allan Shivers who is in line for the presidency of the National Chamber of Commerce.

Some 3,500 NACo members of the 18,000 county officers and officials who belong to the organization, are expected to convene in Detroit.

Detroit was host to the conference once before, in 1959. Last year it was held in New Orleans and attracted 3,200 persons.

Besides the national figures, several industrial and labor leaders such as Henry Ford II and Walter Reuther have been invited to the conference.

Beautification Hearings End

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The fate of Lady Bird Johnson's pet program to beautify highways rested today with the House Public Roads subcommittee, whose chairman wound up a month of hearings by tagging it "a can of worms."

"Changes evidently will have to be made," declared Rep. John C. Kluczynski, D-Ill., as the largely critical hearings drew to a close yesterday.

"I believe that we enacted a can of worms and I'm going to try to untangle it," Kluczynski said. He helped enact the program for control of roadside billboards and junk yards under White House pressure in 1965.

The Illinois Democrat was expected to call the subcommittee into executive session in a week or so to start considering ways of pruning the program.

The Administration must have Congressional authorization to finance the program after July 1. Administration proposals call for spending $485 million in the next two years for bill board removal, junk yard removal or screening, and highway landscaping.

King Joins Louisville Housing Law Push

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King has joined the Derby-time push for an open-occupancy housing law here, declaring that "the ghetto of Louisville is nothing but a paved Southern plantation."

"Does Louisville have the right to have a Kentucky Derby?" he asked.

In a speech Wednesday, King told 500 followers that there is an "invisible wall" in Louisville and other American cities which segregates Negroes in the "ghettos of race, poverty, and human misery."

After the speech at a Baptist church, about 200 persons walked without incident to the city police station, about two miles and two hours away, where they sang freedom songs and dispersed.

'ABSOLUTE SUPPORT'

King said he flew here to "study the situation and give advice."

He pledged his "absolute support" and that of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which he heads, to the cause of passing a city ordinance which would outlaw discrimination in the sale or rental of housing.

King's specific role in the promised demonstrations and possible disruptions of the Kentucky Derby was not defined. "We'll have more to say on this later," he said.

UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT

Several hours before King's arrival the Board of Aldermen attempted, apparently unsuccessfully, to ease the situation by asserting that the local Human Relations Commission is empowered to deal with housing complaints, and to go to Circuit Court to press for enforcement of its orders.

But the Rev. A.D. Williams King, brother of Martin Luther King and head of the committee on open housing, said the interpretation was "rejected" because it "does not offer the answer. We want broader enforcement powers."

Besser Office Union Strikes

ALPENA (AP) — About 90 office employees of Besser Co., maker of cement block manufacturing machinery, went on strike Wednesday amid a deadlock in negotiations of their first contract.

The workers joined Local 472, United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers International last September. Negotiations on the first pact started in March.

Bank of England Interest Rate Is Cut to 5½ Pct.

LONDON (AP) — The Bank of England's interest rate was cut today to 5½ per cent to bring it into line with falling interest rates in other countries.

It was the third cut in the rate this year. In January, the rate was cut from 7 to 6½ per cent and in March to 6 per cent.

The new cut had been generally expected since the annual government budget in April outlined continuance of the austerity program.

Castro Guerrillas Peril Stability of Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Fidel Castro's followers are trying to make good his threat of new Vietnams in Latin America by means of a pocket-sized guerrilla war in potentially rich and economically rocky Colombia.

By itself, this movement would mean little politically. It is made up of two groups, divided at the moment, operating in separate areas of the country. In all, the guerrillas may total fewer than 500 armed men.

The danger is that it will further complicate Colombia's economic problems — already grave — and lead to a chaotic political situation. Guerrillas are operating in areas dangerously close to the vital roads and railways upon which the economy depends.

which has caused unemployment to rise sharply in both urban and rural areas. Colombians see a danger that this will drive segments of the peasantry into the arms of the guerrillas.

COMBINATION

Responsible Colombians say the remedy must be a combination of action by the military plus determined efforts on the economic front to increase employment and raise confidence in the government of President Carlos Lleras Restrepo.

These sources see the situation as increasingly grave in the heartland areas of Tolima and Huila provinces, where peasant support for the guerrillas is reported. This guerrilla band is made up of the Revolutionary Armed Forces of Colombia — FARC, headed by Manuel Marulanda, a member of the Colombia Communist party Central Committee who goes by the name of "Tiro-Fijo" — Sure Shot. It has probably, at the most, armed men — 400 — and has leaned in the direction of a sort of cautious Castroism.

Another group of what might be called "ultra-Castroists," thirsting for immediate and countrywide revolutionary war, is called the National Liberation Army ELN. It is headed by Fabi Vasquez, a young Castroite fire-eater who probably has no more than 80 men under him.

Small as these forces are, they are a constant harassment for the government. They are hidden in virtually impenetrable hills of rain forests, much in the style of the Vietcong in South Vietnam. They are themselves by what they can buy, steal or capture. Money comes to them through agents, possibly from Cuba.

INADEQUATELY EQUIPPED

Colombian officials say they are inadequately equipped to fight the guerrillas effectively. Among other things, they want more mobility for their armed forces. This means helicopters.

The United States has given top priority to Vietnam with regard to helicopters, but it is understood that some troop transport choppers are due soon in Colombia under a U.S. military aid grant. The United States is also helping train the Colombian armed forces in anti-guerrilla tactics.

Except for the tense economic situation in Colombia, competent sources say, the guerrillas would not present too much of a worry. The government is popularly elected, and the current president is politically stronger today than he was when he took office last August. While some peasants now are helping the guerrillas, it is far from mass support.

The government has jailed all the Communist leaders it could find, and is ruling now under a modified form of martial law which the administration describes as "martial legality."

KIDNAPED CUB REUNITED—A little 5-week-old lioness (center) was reunited with her two brothers following her kidnapping from Chicago's Lincoln Park Zoo nursery early yesterday. An anonymous phone caller told zoo officials the cub could be found about eight miles from the zoo. She was found unharmed in a cardboard box. Richard Reichert, an employee at the zoo, presides over the reunion.

First Lunar Flight May Not Try to Land

DALLAS (UPI) — The first Americans to the moon might fly around it without stopping, leaving the actual moon landing to a later flight, Dr. Wernher Von Braun said yesterday.

The German-born rocket expert told a news conference it is too early in the U.S. space program to tell whether the first moon flight will include a lunar landing.

Von Braun, in Dallas for the American Astronautical Society Conference on Commercial Utilization of Space, said space agency officials might decide on the around-the-moon option for the first flight if they felt everything except the lunar landing craft was ready for the mission.

"If that is the situation, it may well be that it is safe to fly around the moon, but not attempt a landing," Von Braun said. "It may very well be that by the time we are ready to go to the moon, the lunar module will be ready to land."

Von Braun said America stands a good chance of reaching the moon by 1970 if there are no more major setbacks, such as the Apollo 1 fire.

Long Eyes Plan to Save Campaign-Fund Concept

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long said today he may propose a completely new type of plan in an effort to save the concept of public financing of presidential campaigns.

But Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., leader in the six-week battle to wipe Long's campaign financing law off the books, spurned talk of a compromise.

Gore said he would accept none of "various face-saving propositions" he said his colleagues have suggested to end the bitter stalemate.

"I stand on the Tuesday vote," said Gore, referring to the 52-46 count by which the Senate turned back Long's bid to erase an earlier vote to repeal the election subsidy law.

Long, D-La., has vowed to continue the prolonged floor fight indefinitely.

He said he is now considering offering a variation of the law. It would allow a taxpayer to notify the Treasury he wanted used as a contribution to a presidential candidate.

The Treasury would issue the taxpayer a voucher which he could turn over to the candidate of his choice. The candidate then could cash it for $1 at the Treasury.

Long said any candidate would have to get two million votes to qualify for the aid.

WOULD MEET OBJECTION

The proposal would meet one objection voiced by many persons to the present law—that each taxpayer who authorized $1 for presidential campaign funds would be contributing 50 cents to the candidate he opposes as well as 50 cents to the one he supports.

Under the present law, enacted last year, the major parties would split the money allotted by taxpayers for the 1968 and subsequent presidential campaigns.

It has been estimated the law could raise as much as $30 million each for the Republican and Democratic parties next year.

Pro Players Paid Well, but Yet Biggest Grippers

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK — A recent survey showed the average major league baseball player's salary is $23,000 a year.

Despite that, there's still a lot of grumbling among them.

They beef about the season being too long, the weather being too cold and the owners being too tight with money.

My personal feeling is that these poor underprivileged players have a good thing and don't know it.

That doesn't mean all club owners necessarily are candidates for sainthood, but the players certainly have little room to kick.

DREAM JOB

What would your first impression be if you saw an ad in the paper like this:

"Help wanted. Pleasant outdoor work. Only 3-4 hours a day, 7 months a year. Many fringe benefits, including excellent pension plan. Average salary $23,000 a year. Up to $125,000.

You first impression would be that someone is pulling your leg, right? You'd figure it was a joke of some kind.

But it isn't. Yet some players complain.

"The average salary is fine and all that, but there are a lot of us who aren't making it," says one veteran who's making more. "I'm talking about the first year players, most of whom are making the $7,000 minimum."

QUICK JUMP UP

Okay, let's talk about some of those first year players.

Richie Allen was one in 1964. The 25-year-old Philadelphia slugger was getting the minimum then. Now only three years later he's making $90,000, that's escalating it up there pretty good.

Granted, Allen is an unusually talented performer. But so were Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth and Joe DiMaggio and their

Ballplayers like to tell you times are different today. Maybe so, but some things never change. Ballplayers only like to think they do. They like to think that when it rains, they're the only ones who get wet.

A few days back, a certain manager took one of his players aside and asked him what was wrong.

"I've got a lotta things on my mind," answered the player.

"YOU'VE got a lotta things on your mind," the manager yelled. "How many things do you think I've got on mine?"

VERY CONTRADICTIONARY

Ballplayers hand you a laugh sometimes. They're so contradictory in the things they say and the things they do.

They insist they're in perfect physical shape and then spend all their time on the rubbing table.

They shop around all over town for a bargain and then lose twice the amount they saved playing cards. They holler for more money from the owners and then holler some more when he tries to make the money to pay them.

Steve Hamilton, the Yankees' relief pitcher and player representative, happens to be a longtime friend with whom I don't care to argue but one of his recent statements really doubled me up.

It seems it was kind of cold in Minnesota Tuesday night. It also seems the Yanks played the Twins and lost.

40 DEGREE LIMIT

"I'm going to the next player meeting and ask for a rule that says no game should begin if it's colder than, let's say, 40 degrees," Hamilton was quoted.

"There were games called off all over the country tonight, but not this guy Twins' owner Calvin Griffith. All he's doing is chasing the almighty buck."

Whoa, Steve old boy. Back up a minute.

Griffith has one of the highest payrolls in the American League. As player rep, you're one of those in favor of raising the salaries, correct? You agree the only way the owners can pay the money is by taking it in at the gate.

Twins, Angels Rally to Win

Lady Luck Deserts 2 Hurlers

By the Associated Press
Mr. Lonborg, say hello to Mr. Talbot.

Boston's Jim Lonborg and New York's Fred Talbot both staked claims to charter membership in the hard-luck pitchers club Wednesday night.

Both nursed slim leads all game long and both were victims of ninth-inning misfortune. Lonborg, in fact, was working on a no-hitter for six innings and then a one-hitter until California caught up with him in the ninth and won 2-1.

Talbot, for his part, went into the ninth with a two-run lead over Minnesota, but an error by outfielder Tom Tresh opened the gates and the Twins pulled off a 4-3 triumph.

OWN DOING

Lonborg's undoing was more of his own making than Talbot's. After giving up a seventh-inning single to Jim Fregosi, the 24-year-old Boston right-hander stopped the Angels until the ninth when, with one out, Fregosi got the second hit off him.

Talbot's undoing was, if anything, even more heart-rending through in the end, he didn't have to take the defeat. Mickey Mantle's 499th career home-run had helped stake him to the 3-1 lead he carried into the ninth inning.

Zoilo Versalles singled and Harmon Killebrew walked and Hal Reniff came in to pitch. Bob Allison walked and was forced at second by Andy Kosco with Versalles scoring on the play. Then Russ Nixon popped out and Tresh's turn at disaster appeared.

Ron Clark hit a pop into short left and Tresh, charging in, missed the ball, allowing Killebrew to score the tying run.

"I just couldn't catch up to it," said Tresh. "It came down funny and when I grabbed for it I just missed it."

Rich Reese drove in the winning run with a single to right, driving in Allison and pinning the defeat on Reniff.

Elsewhere in the American League, Cleveland beat Baltimore 5-1. Washington took Kansas City 6-1 and Chicago edged Detroit 2-1.

ROCKY HOMERS

Sonny Siebert drove in three runs with a homer and double and held the Orioles to seven hits. Rocky Colavito added his first homer of the season for the Indians.

Highland Lakes 6-1 Net Loser

Concordia Lutheran College smashed Highland Lakes campus of Oakland Community College, 6-1, in tennis Wednesday.

The visitors swept the four singles matches in straight sets and did the same in two of the three doubles events. Only Jim Adams of Southfield and Walled Lake's Gary Pachal, Highland Lakes' No. 2 doubles team, prevented a whitewashing.

They defeated their opponents, 6-4, 6-3. The Highlanders are 1-3 for the spring and will entertain Flint Junior College Tuesday at the Oakland University courts.

Tom Meschery Inks Long Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Meschery, who had been drafted by Seattle from San Francisco in the National Basketball Association's expansion draft Monday, has agreed to a multi-year contract, the Seattle club said Wednesday.

There had been reports from San Francisco that the 28-year-old six-year NBA veteran planned to retire from basketball and join the Peace Corps.

But Lonborg came apart at the seams, uncorked a wild pitch and Johnstone tripped across the plate with the winning run.

One Record Falls as Rochester Wins

Rochester set one record and tied another yesterday in posting a 7 1/2 to 4 1/2 track victory over Avondale.

The winners' Laurey Kesel sped over the low hurdles in 20.5 seconds to erase the old mark of 20.65, and speedster Bob Woodruff tied the school record in the 100-yard dash with a 10.2 clocking.

The win raised Rochester's record for the season to 4-1.

Atlanta Posts 4-0 Verdict

Braves Relish Home Cooking

By the Associated Press

Billy Hitchcock's Atlanta baseball team is putting up a brave front at home. If the Braves can do as well on the road, it could take them all the way to the World Series.

Atlanta blanked the Chicago Cubs 4-0 behind Dick Kelley's three-hitter Wednesday night for its 10th victory against only two setbacks in Atlanta Stadium. The Braves' record in opponents' ball parks is only 1-5.

The triumph moved Atlanta to within only two games of Cincinnati, the National League leader. The Braves and St. Louis are tied for second.

FOUR SHUTOUTS

Kelley's shutout was one of four pitched in the NL. Ray Washburn had a two-hitter as St. Louis downed Cincinnati 2-0. Juan Marichal of San Francisco scattered four hits in an 8-0 triumph over the New York Mets and Chris Short yielded five hits as Philadelphia edged Houston, 1-0.

There would have been five whitewashings, too, except that the Los Angeles Dodgers blew a 5-0 ninth inning lead achieved behind Don Sutton, and finally were beaten by Pittsburgh 6-5 in 15 innings.

A two-run single by Mike Shannon backed Washburn's excellent performance. Shannon punched a drive to right after a single by Roger Maris, a double by Orlando Cepeda and a walk to Tim McCarver had filled the bases in the fourth.

TWO SINGLES

The only hits Washburn gave up were a two-out single by Pete Rose in the fourth inning and a two-out single by Chico Ruiz in the next frame.

Jim Ray Hart, Willie Mays and Hal Lanier were San Francisco's batting stars. Hart hammered a three-run homer while Mays contributed a two-run triple and Lanier a two-run double. It was Marichal's 18th career victory over the Mets without a loss.

Johnny Callison homered in the fourth inning for the only

Junior Baseball Pilots' Meeting Set for Monday

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's initial managers' meetings for junior baseball will be 7 and 8 p.m. Monday in the Health Department conference room at City Hall.

The Widgets and Class F team representatives will meet at 7 o'clock and the Class D and E officials at 8 p.m. The department requests all teams desiring to play junior baseball to have a representative at the meeting.

The Saturday baseball clinic series for prospective players will commence May 27 at Kelly Field (Bagley and Brush), and the Jaycee Park diamonds (Joslyn and Walton).

The clinics will run 9-11:30 a.m. under supervisors Ron Beyer and Louis Seay. All boys 7-18 years old are eligible.

The perfect summer suit

Cocoona

Tailored with care by Varsity-Town

Who could ask for anything more in a summer suit than Cocoona® by Varsity-Town? It's a sleek and lush fabric that outsilks silk in appearance. Yet it's a hard-working, wrinkle-fighting fabric because it's a blend of Dacron polyester and fine worsted. Varsity-Town tailors it with skill and imagination—then adds hand-neglected edges as an extra, elegant touch.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Fourteen teams made up of 84 entries, including some of the country's foremost college golfers, will tee off in the second annual Northern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament over the University of Michigan course Friday and Saturday.

The field will be made up of all Big Ten teams as well as the Florida and Miami (Fla.) university squads plus Notre Dame and a representative of the Mid-American Conference.

The 72-hole stroke play will consist of 36 holes each day.

Ohio State will defend the team title it won last year at Bloomington, Ind. John Schroder, Michigan senior, who tied with graduated Alex Antonio the Buckeyes, will return to defend his share of the title.

The meet also will serve as a preview of the Big Ten championships to be played over the same course, May 19-20.

State Beauties Will Tour Nation

LANSING (AP)—Three Michigan queens will tour the nation under sponsorship of the State Department of Agriculture during Michigan Week.

The queens are Mary Anderson of Ludington, the apple queen; Alice Erskine, of Hemlock, the bean queen, and Mary Nolan, of Muskegon, the cherry queen.

East's double showed high cards and defense against at least one minor. East was ready to operate against clubs and hoped that his partner might be able to operate against diamonds.

South could see danger signals flashing all over and decided that maybe his heart suit was good enough so that he would escape a double there. Hence, his three heart call.

It would have been difficult for most East-West pairs to find a double of three hearts but this West wasn't an ordinary player. He knew that his partner must hold clubs and other big cards and that some of them had to be in hearts. West doubled and North and South had no escape.

There wasn't much to the defense. West opened the king of diamonds. South ducked in.

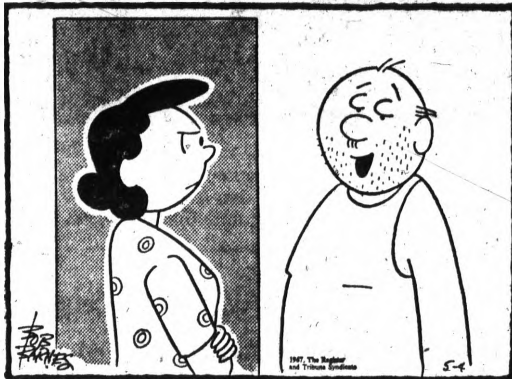

♦CARD Sense♦

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
Pass 2♦ 1♥ Dble
2♥ Pass Pass 2♠
Pass 3♣ Pass 2♣
You, South, hold:
♠A J 10 6 5 ♥2 ♦K 4 3 ♣A Q 8 6

What do you do now?
A—Pass. Your partner has already shown a poor hand. He is merely showing distaste for spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of passing over your double, West bids two hearts. North and East pass. What do you do now?

There are a lot of new bids floating around today. Most are valuable when used properly, but like many playthings they can be very dangerous when used improperly.

North's two no-trump call was the unusual no-trump.

This gadget has achieved considerable popularity in expert circles but it can prove very dangerous to its user.

The unusual no-trump shows a minor two-suiter hand. North certainly did hold a fair hand with 11 cards in the minor suits but North was vulnerable and his opponents were not. This time he would have been better

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

For Friday

"The wise man controls his destiny. Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Avoid wishful thinking where possessions are concerned. Evaluate position. Be aware of budget, costs. You may be tempted to spend more than is wise. In a word...DON'T!

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Very good now for planning projects. Enjoy luxury of privacy. Attending theater is favored later. One who shares your special interests, quiet dinner could climax a fruitful day.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Day to welcome those who want to confide in you. Obtain hints from TAURUS message. Avoid getting too appreciative. Joy, better to seek quietly rather than flash and noise.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Emphasis on fulfillment of aspirations. You may be called upon to get special program underway. Avoid complaints. Dig in—do your best. The payoff will be more than adequate.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Part of chart associated with journeys is activated. You receive news which affects future activity. Utilize intuitive intellect—follow through on hunch. Heed "inner voice."

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): You may find yourself handling other people's money. Could take form of investment advising. Be amiable. Avoid stubborn attitude. Keynote cooperation...then day glows.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): You find how to remove obstacles to success. Lessons learned are valuable. Public relations highlighted. Those who opposed you now are willing to listen. Congratulations!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Tendency exists for you to be restless concerning basic chores, employment. Examine reasons, motives. Be sure you are not taking gossip too seriously...don't be upset by rumor.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Emphasis on courtesy, personal feelings, emotions. Much friction evaporates. Make this a day of harmony. Extend hand of friendship. It will be well received.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Stick to practical course. You are aware of duty. Don't permit anyone to talk you out of it. Great opportunity for adding to home comfort—if you adhere to principles.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Reunion with neighbor or relative indicated. Show your best side. In any journey, observe speed, traffic regulations. You come in contact with one in authority.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20):

Your sense of security is accentuated. Gains, losses should be studied. Be truthful with yourself. Means obtain answers from within. Don't heed words of rumor-monger.

IF FRIDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY... you are vital, possess rich sex appeal, can analyze various points of view. You are fascinated with current events and would make a fine journalist.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for ARIES, TAURUS. Special word to SCORPIO: Do your own investigating. One close to you could mangle the facts. (Copyright 1967, General Features Corp.)

Arraignment Delay in Fatal Stabbing

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Municipal Judge Louis Simhauser has delayed the arraignment of Mrs. Anna Marie Rumpelt, 90, accused in the fatal stabbing of her son-in-law Monday. He said the delay will allow her to get an attorney.

Simhauser said he read the second-degree murder charge to Mrs. Rumpelt Tuesday night at Kent Oaks Hospital where she is held. Nuns from St. Ann's Home acted as translators for the woman who speaks no English. Mrs. Rumpelt came to this country from Germany in 1961.

The body of John G. Guerin, 70, was found Monday at his home in Walker. Police said he had been stabbed four times with a butcher knife.

Police Pay Eyed

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—New contract proposals from the Fraternal Order of Police were under study today by City Manager Henry Nabers who said they appear to be $75,000 less than demands previously made. The FOP represents city police and had demanded a 20 per cent increase in pay and other benefits.

Market Advances Vigorously

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced vigorously in very heavy trading early Thursday afternoon. Volume soared to 4.02 million shares in the first hour, the fourth highest total for the period in New York Stock Exchange history. The ticker tape fell three minutes behind in reporting floor transactions. The pace tapered off in the second hour. The biggest block of stock ever traded on the Exchange crossed the tape as 585,600 shares of Sperry Rand changed hands. At a price of $30.75 the transaction totalled $18 million. Buyer and seller were not identified. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials crossed the psychologically important 900 level. It has done this on previous occasions during the current recovery drive but has yet to close above 900 this year.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had gained 1.2 to 327.9 with industrials up .3, rails up .4 and utilities up .2. Du Pont again climbed 5 points and helped push the average. Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Mead Johnson gained more than 2 points. Up more than a point were Valley Metalurgical, GC Computer and Data Processing. Technical lost more than a point.

Pratt Charges 3 Men Again

Allegedly Failed to Answer Subpoenas

Three south Oakland County men have again been charged with contempt of court by Oakland County one-man grand juror, Circuit Judge Philip Pratt — this time for allegedly failing to answer subpoenas.

The new charges were leveled against two former Madison Heights councilmen, Roman Nowicki and Ross Skinner, and a Madison Heights druggist, Emil Pavlovics.

The three had been charged with contempt earlier for refusing to answer questions when they appeared before Pratt, but the charges were dismissed by the Michigan Court of Appeals on the grounds that the order which broadened the scope of the investigation was not specific.

A contempt charge also was dismissed at that time against Democratic State Rep. Bill S. Huffman.

Hearings have been scheduled for next week for the three to show cause why they did not respond to the order from Pratt to testify on Tuesday.

COURT APPEARANCES

Nowicki is to appear Monday at 1:30 p.m. before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams; Skinner at 1:30 p.m. Monday before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem; and Pavlovics at 9 a.m. Tuesday before Circuit Judge Robert L. Templin.

Last week, as a result of the Michigan Court of Appeals dismissal order, Pratt amended his petition to outline the various crimes he was investigating.

Pavlovics this week filed a suit in federal district court challenging the constitutionality of the Michigan one-man grand jury law, and asking $250,000 in damages from Pratt, State Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, and two special prosecutors, Jerome K. Barry and Charles J. Porter.

The grand jury was originally initiated in August by Kelley to investigate alleged wrong doings at the Hazel Park Race Track.

Planning Unit Picks County Man as Chief

George N. Skrubbs, Oakland County Planning Commission director, yesterday was elected chairman of the newly established Michigan Board of Registration for Professional Community Planners.

The election was held in Lansing at the organizational meeting of the five-member board.

Elected vice chairman was Robert Hotaling, associate professor of urban planning at Michigan State University.

The board, whose function will be to prepare examinations that will pave the way to formal state licensing of professional planners, was established two months ago. Members were appointed by Gov. Romney.

Troy Crash Victim Is Hospitalized

A woman injured in a one-car crash on Maple near I-75 in Troy yesterday remains in "guarded" condition today in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, according to a hospital spokesman.

June O. Sheppard, 39, of 2815 Berkshire, Troy, was found by police in a culvert in her smashed car and taken to the Royal Oak hospital.

She suffered head injuries and was still unconscious this morning, police said.

School Plans Homecoming

A homecoming has been planned for a Waterford Township elementary school which will be phased out after the current year.

The event at Lambert School, 3576 Cass-Elizabeth, will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. next Thursday.

A program will be presented at 8 p.m.

Next year, Lambert pupils will be enrolled at Burt and Haviland schools.

BIG GUN LETS LOOSE — Army Cpl. Richard Balko of Dearborn tries to shut out the sound of a 175mm projectile being blasted toward enemy positions at the demilitarized

OCC and OU Summer Sessions Begin

More than 2,500 students are attending Oakland Community College and Oakland University summer sessions which got underway this week.

OCC started classes yesterday at the Highland Lakes and Auburn Hills campuses with a total enrollment of 1,528. It is an increase of 340 over last May's total with late registrations still coming in.

At Oakland University, 1,008 students were registered for the first day of the spring semester on Monday. The total is 60 more than last spring's figure.

OCC's Highland Lakes campus in Waterford Township has 890 students registered and Auburn Hills campus in Pontiac Township, 638, both increases over last May. Over 4,000 students attended OCC last fall.

Approximately half of OCC's fall and spring load of courses is being offered during two seven-week summer sessions. By enrolling in both half sessions, a student may complete credits equal to a complete session.

SESSION DATES

The first session runs to June 23. June 1 is the last day to apply for the second session. Classes begin June 27 and end Aug. 18.

Oakland University's spring semester closes Aug. 9. About one-third of the normal number of classes are being offered.

Oakland is on the three-semester (trimester) plan in which students may attend classes for three-15-week semesters a year. More than 3,100 attended classes last September.

Milford Man Hurt in Crash

A Milford man is in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital following a two-car accident yesterday in West Bloomfield Township.

John Burrow, 42, of 10299 Elizabeth Lake was a passenger in a car driven by Donald E. Dupont, 31, of 10250 Elizabeth Lake, which collided with a Walled Lake man's auto at 14 Mile Road and Haggerty about 5 p.m., according to Oakland deputies.

Officers said Dupont was traveling north on Haggerty when a car driven by James L. Hobbs of 3062 Fisher pulled onto the road and the two vehicles collided.

Hobbs was ticketed for failing to yield the right of way, deputies said.

Area Retirees Are Invited to Program

Area retirees are invited to a program aimed strictly at them Saturday morning at Cobo Hall, former State Rep. Robert J. Slingerland of Lake Orion announced today.

The program is being held in conjunction with the Jefferson-Jackson weekend sponsored by Michigan Democrats, according to Slingerland, chairman of the retirees' meeting.

The annual event will get underway tomorrow with a 7:30 p.m. dinner at Cobo Hall and an address by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York.

Topics to be discussed at the retirees' program, beginning at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, are property relief; Medicare and Medicaid; housing and other legislative proposals; proposed Social Security benefits; and education and job training for retirees.

Registration for the program will start at 10 a.m.

Troy High Program Called a Success

An experimental program at Troy High School where students have about 45 per cent free time at school has so far been effective, the Pontiac Citizens' Study Committee of Equality of Educational Opportunity was told last night.

The PSDSCEE meeting was highlighted with four panel discussions.

In Waterford Talk

Educator Cites Pressures

Educators face three major pressures today in their efforts to provide children with the best education, Dr. Irving Sigel told 850 teachers and administrators last night at a conference at Waterford Township's Mason Junior High School.

Director of research at the Merrill Palmer Institute in Detroit, Sigel was the main speaker at the eighth annual conference of the Michigan Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, Region A.

One of the pressures listed by Sigel comes from big business. He posed the question, how do you select the right materials for the curriculum and students when there are so many producers of educational materials?

Another pressure, according to Sigel, is how does an educator develop curriculum that really prepares children for today's world, in view of the ever-increasing amount of human knowledge?

The third pressure cited was how do schools help children prepare for social changes and problems.

OUT OF FOCUS

Sigel's address was on the conference theme, "The Child In and Out of Focus."

The teachers and administrators from Oakland and Wayne counties were led in 28 small group discussions by about 70 resource persons from throughout southeastern Michigan yesterday afternoon.

DR. IRVING SIGEL

Some of the foremost issues in education were explored by the groups.

Problems discussed included, sex education, preschool education, elementary school counseling, reorganization of secondary schools, nongraded elementary schools, linguistics, creativity, reading placement, reading problems, social studies and mathematics.

ELISE AHLECK, Secretary, Board of Education of the School District of the City of Pontiac, May 4, 5 and 6, 1967.

RESOLUTION NO. 8
At a regular meeting of the Pontiac Township Board of Trustees held on the 13th day of February, A.D. 1967.

PRESENT: Terry, Block, Mallahan, Arnett, Drake, Smith, Richardson
Quorum present.

MOVED by Smith, seconded by Richardson.

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Pontiac Township Board, under the powers granted by Act 248 of the Public Acts of the State of Michigan for 1959, as amended, hereby creates a Pontiac Township Planning Commission as follows:

1. MEMBERSHIP: The Commission shall consist of nine (9) members, who shall be appointed by the Supervisor with the approval of the Township Board.

2. QUALIFICATIONS: All members must be qualified to represent the residents of the Township. They shall represent major interests that exist in the Township, such as agriculture, recreation, education, health, commerce, industry, commerce, transportation and industry. One (1) member of the Township Board shall be a member of the Planning Commission.

3. TERM OF OFFICE: The term of each member shall be for three (3) years, except that of the members first appointed, three (3) shall serve for one (1) year, three (3) for two (2) years and three (3) for three (3) years. Vacancies shall be filled for the remainder of the term.

4. COMPENSATION: Members of the Planning Commission shall be paid for their services at the rate of $15.00 per meeting and may be further compensated for travel and expenses incurred in the performance of their duties, including attendance at conferences and meetings.

5. ORGANIZATION: The Planning Commission shall elect a chairman, vice chairman and secretary from its members, who shall serve for terms of one (1) year. It may also elect such other officers or committees as it may deem advisable. It may also appoint advisory committees outside of its membership.

6. MEETINGS: The Planning Commission shall hold at least four (4) regular meetings each year and such special meetings as may be called by the Planning Commission. The Planning Commission shall adopt rules for the transaction of business and shall keep a public record of its resolutions, transactions, financial statements and reports. It shall also make an annual written report to the Township Board covering its planning activities.

7. TRANSFER OF POWERS: All powers, duties and responsibilities provided by Michigan Public Act 218 of 1945, as amended, for zoning boards created thereunder, are hereby transferred to said Township Planning Commission, to become effective upon completion by the Township Zoning Board of the transfer of its powers and obligations with regard to amendments and supplements to the Township Zoning Ordinance. The Planning Commission shall have the understanding, however, that such postponement of transfer shall in no event exceed a period of one (1) year nor be less than a period of six (6) months following the publication of this Resolution.

8. ORDINANCES: Notwithstanding the foregoing transfer, the Pontiac Township Zoning Ordinance presently in effect in the Township shall remain in full force and effect until otherwise amended, altered or changed by the Township Zoning Board or the Township Planning Commission created hereunder.

9. DUTIES AND POWERS: The Planning Commission shall make and adopt a basic plan as a guide for the development of the unincorporated portion of the Township as outlined in Act 248 of the Public Acts of the State of Michigan, amended, being MSA 259.03 (104) and 259.03 (107). Such basic plan may be adopted in whole or in part, as provided by said Act.

10. AMENDMENTS: This Resolution may be amended or repealed at any time by a majority vote of the entire membership of the Pontiac Township Planning Commission. The Planning Commission shall take effect sixty (60) days following publication of a notice of the same in a newspaper having general circulation in the Township.

11. PUBLICATION: The Township Clerk shall within ten (10) days of the passage of this Resolution, transmit a copy of the same to the Secretary of State for the State of Michigan and to the Oakland County Planning Commission as notice of the action hereby taken.

AYES: Smith, Block, Mallahan, Richardson, Terry, Drake, NAYS: None.

Greta Block, Clerk of the Township of Pontiac, County of Oakland and State of Michigan, hereby certifies that within Resolution was duly adopted by the Pontiac Township Board at a regular meeting of said Board at which a quorum was present, held on February 13th, 1967.

Greta V. Block, Township Clerk, May 4, 1967.

Rusk Isn't Optimistic About Truce

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk sees little prospect the proposed Buddha's birthday cease-fire in Vietnam will lead to peace talks.

He also acknowledged Wednesday night that the Vietnam conflict causes "a serious problem of tensions" between the Soviet Union and the United States but says efforts to improve East-West relations should continue.

Rusk talked about Vietnam and other issues in an hour-long interview over National Education Television.

The Saigon government has proposed a 24-hour cease-fire on Buddha's birthday, May 23, and a meeting with North Vietnamese representatives about extending it. The Vietcong have called for a 48-hour cease-fire over this period.

Rusk said no response has come from Hanoi, but he clearly was not optimistic about getting one.

He noted North Vietnam has been demanding a permanent, unconditional halt to U.S. bombing of the north as the price for negotiating and "they don't seem to think very much of a temporary arrangement."

The allies, he said, regard an extended pause without reciprocal action by Hanoi as giving the Communists an opportunity to "get everything set for a fresh lunge" after the truce.

He said that during the four-day lunar New Year cease-fire in February the North Vietnamese "rushed pell mell to the south with thousands of tons of supplies" but "they didn't have a diplomat at the starting gate."

3 Yank Students Ousted by Spain

MADRID (UPI) — Spain today expelled three American college girls for taking part in anti-Vietnam war actions that included burning U.S. flags. The coeds left quietly but defiantly.

"I would do it again if this is what it takes to make people realize the importance of liberty," said Karen Winn of Walnut Creek, Calif., just before two plainclothesmen ushered the girls aboard a midnight train for France.

Works for Women's Rights to Wear Pants in Posh Bars

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Beautiful Anita Louise, campaigner to force fancy restaurants to admit women wearing pants, who recently won a verdict in Beverly Hills in the Polo Lounge, has a new nickname, courtesy of Jacqueline Susann . . . "The Great Epantipator."

Secret Stuff: A big TV star slaps his new toupee on so carelessly, one day it's on his nose, next day on his ear. (Hair today, ear tomorrow.)

When LBJ unexpectedly dropped in on the White House Correspondents' dinner, imperturbable Victor Borge, the M.C., graciously presented the President, and then, when LBJ had finished, smoothly resumed with, "As I was saying . . . Peter Lawford whacked off 30 pounds on a no-booze diet and looks handsome."

Overheard at Kippy's: NBC brass saw Leslie Uggams in "Hallelujah, Baby!" and want her for a TV series, maybe the female Bill Cosby? . . . Gordon MacRae phoned, thanked us for handling the story of Ralph Houk flattening him. A very gracious gesture. (Wonder why Houk hasn't phoned.)

Judy Garland sobbing on the phone to me from Hollywood ("They fired me . . . why could they be so cruel to my children and me? . . . damn them, it stinks!") was one of the saddest experiences I've had as a reporter. Judy is at the end of her financial rope now. We were all moved.

Stan Garfinkel, celebrating his wife Eva's birthday at the Unicorn, said he was going to urge Maurice Uchitel of El Morocco to bring her back by letting her sing there every night at any hour she feels like it. Brilliant thought.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Johnny Weissmuller, kidding Gordon MacRae about his scrap with Ralph Houk, sent him a note at the Waldorf: "Me Tarzan. You want to fight?" . . . Natalie Wood's fiancé, director Richard Gregson, got his divorce. Tentative wedding date: in July.

Flash: "Baby Jane" Holzer wants to drop the Baby and become a serious actress . . . At Arthur: Composer Richard Adler with pretty Maria Noel . . . Frankie Randall shortened his European stay so he could sing the anthem at "Clifton, N.J. Day" the other day at Yankee Stadium. But he got stuck in midtown traffic and arrived too late . . . Jason Robards, on his next L.A. trip, will pick up the track medal he won at Hollywood High but never got because he joined the Navy.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A teacher scolded a pupil: "If you don't learn to write, nobody'll be able to read your picket sign!" REMEMBERED QUOTE: "We learn very little by listening to what we have to say."

EARL'S PEARLS: "Vacation" is a system whereby people who are merely tired become exhausted.—Arnold Glasow.

The latest in women's fashions is dresses made of newspaper. Can you imagine a man arrested as a masquer just because he wanted to read the fine print? That's earl, brother.

Next of Kin Can Visit Sick Soldier Overseas

By JERRY T. BAULCH Associated Press Newsfeatures

WASHINGTON—It isn't done often, but the military services sometimes rush next of kin overseas to the bedside of a sick or wounded serviceman if his doctor feels this would help his recovery.

The government provides free transportation outside the United States and arranges quarters at the serviceman's overseas base.

The next of kin pays for any travel in the United States, and there is a small charge for food at the overseas base.

The system isn't used frequently because evacuation of the sick and wounded these days to the United States is so speedy.

USED MOST BY ARMY

Of the services, the Army, with the biggest manpower, uses the system most often—72 times in the latest year reported.

Most of the Army flights were to Germany and to Puerto Rico. Flights are not made to Vietnam because of the complications involved in a combat zone and because the seriously wounded are evacuated quickly.

Once in a while the system is used when the next of kin is ill overseas and the serviceman is stationed in the United States.

The patient's doctor is the one who makes the decision to get the system working for any individual. Neither the patient nor the next of kin makes application.

THINGS MOVE FAST

When such a request by a doctor is approved, things move fast. The wife, father or mother is notified of the facts of the case and asked if he, or she, desires to make the trip.

In some cases where the next of kin have lacked funds to travel to the U.S. port, local community agencies have helped out.

The nearest military base helps get the next of kin to the U.S. port and arranges for him to be met there. Advice is given on the type of clothing that should be taken on the trip, or if inoculations are needed.

The State Department arranges to issue a passport, sweeping aside the usual red tape.

MET AT PORT

Overseas, the next of kin is met at the port and transported immediately to the hospital. Whenever possible, quarters for him in the hospital are provided.

The length of stay depends on the patient's condition. Most often it is less than 30 days.

In some cases, the patient has improved sufficiently to be evacuated to the United States and the next of kin rides the evacuation flight all the way to the hospital in the United States.
