Runaway Bloomfield Boy Dies in Gun Battle

Fairgrounds Becomes Empire for 4-H'ers

An 18-acre plot, lighted up by a shining midway and echoing from the whistling pipes of an organ, became an empire last night.

More than 2,000 youngsters, uniformed in faded bluejeans and brandishing cones of pink and lavender cotton candy, became subjects.

Larry Middleton, 17, and 18-year-old Janet Long were chosen King and Queen of the Oakland County 4-H Club Fair.

They will reign over a kingdom that looks like a giant mobile for the revolving rides of the carnival and the bright colored balloons bobbing on the ends of long sticks.

The Fair opened last night at the Fairgrounds at M24 and Walton boulevard. Exhibits, shows and contests are scheduled each day and night through Saturday.

The king and queen were chosen last night on the basis of personal appearance, over-all club record, club and community activities and an extemporaneous speech.

Larry, of 2610 Stoney Creek, Oakland Township, has been a member of the East Orion 4-H Club for 10 years and has 52 projects to his credit. This year he has entered in beef, dairy, crops and junior leadership competitions.

The King is a state conservation demonstration winner and has been awarded many trips as delegate to youth activity conclaves. He is a senior at Lake Orion Community High School where he is a member of the Hi-Y, varsity football team, and president of the ski club.

Janet, of 3988 Sleeth Rd., Commerce Township, is a member of the Milford 4-H Club with 67 projects to her credit. She has a Holstein cow entered in the livestock competition and also is entered in junior leadership.

Janet has attended judging school, is a junior lay leader of the Methodist Church and is vice president of the Youth Fellowship. She plans to attend Michigan State University Oakland in the fall.

Members of the Queen's court were Lucy Seibert, 18, of 1123 Doris Rd., Pontiac Township, and Gloria Sanders, 18, of 1625 W. Hamlin Rd., Avon Township.

In the King's court were Ross Waite, 16, of the East Orion 4-H Club, and Ralph Hoxie, 16, of the Bloomfield 4-H Club.

COUNT 'EM? — Judges lost count, but unanimously agreed that 10-year-old Jill Sorensen is the 1959 Freckle Champ of the Oakland County 4-H Club Fair. Jill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sorensen of Clawson. She was picked first out of 29 other freckle-faced youngsters in The Pontiac Press sponsored contest on the opening night of the Fair. As winner, Jill will receive a $50 bond.

Start Integration on Quiet Note at Little Rock

3 Negro Girls Go Into Previously All-White School Without Trouble

There was no demonstration from some 20 spectators, watching from residential lawns across the street.

The girls arrived in a private automobile. They got out of the car in the street in front of the school. They walked calmly together into the building.

The Negroes, Elsie Robinson, 16, Estella Thompson, 16, and Effie Jones, 17, entered Hall at 9:26 a.m. (CST).

Their entrance restored token integration to a public school system which was without high schools last year. Hall and the other three high schools were closed last fall in the racial dispute.

The auto carrying the Negro girls came from the west. Most of the 100 newsmen at the scene did not notice its arrival because they were at the east end of the building.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Police clubbed segregationists today in a short, violent battle over integration of Little Rock's public high schools.

The violence came after a rally on the Capitol lawn where only a few minutes before Gov. Orval E. Faubus had told some 1,000 segregationists to avoid trouble.

The car had no police escort. Police Chief Gene Smith had said the Negroes would have to come to school like everyone else.

NO EXCHANGE

Three white boy students were tationed on the porch at Hall High, distributing orientation material. The boys handed copies to the Negro girls and the girls went on in. They exchanged no words.

The streets around the school were barricaded. Fifty patrolmen were on the scene to keep order.

Hall High, located in an upper-income residential district, was the first of two once-white high schools scheduled to open on an integrated basis today. The other is Central High, due to open at 1 p.m. (CST).

Senate Confirms Robert D. Murphy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today confirmed President Eisenhower's nomination of Robert D. Murphy to be undersecretary of state for political affairs.

The promotion of Murphy, veteran diplomatic trouble shooter, was approved along with that of Livingston T. Merchant to succeed him as deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs.

Other nominations confirmed by the Senate included:

News Flashes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today sustained President Eisenhower's veto of the $1,375,000,000 housing bill. The victory kept unblemished Eisenhower's record of never having had a bill passed over his veto.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The secrecy rule in the Senate Rackets Committee's investigation of the United Auto Workers Union was so strictly enforced today that no one told the day's major witness to show up. The slip-up in calling Richard T. Gosser of Toledo, the Union's senior vice president, delayed start of this second day of closed door hearings for nearly an hour.

Locking Horns on Tax Today

Williams Cries 'Phony' to Arguments Against Corporation Levy

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams locked horns over taxes today with an unidentified "few" Michigan business leaders, accusing them of a "scare campaign" and a "shabby piece of bad faith."

He called their main argument "phony" and questioned whether a Dow Chemical Co. executive was engaging in "doubletalk." He said their purpose was merely to avoid taxes, and that it will fail.

The governor let loose yesterday after the Detroit News prominently displayed opinions on the legislative tax deadlock solicited from leading manufacturers, bankers and business executives generally.

The Legislature, after a six-day lay-off was to wrestle again today over whether, and how, business should be taxed to round out a new revenue program based on a use (sales) tax increase.

Executives of the National Bank of Detroit, Bohn Aluminum & Brass Corp., the J. L. Hudson Co. department store, Brower Furniture Co., Dow Chemical and Defoe Shipbuilding Co. all opposed the governor's stand.

'AT DISADVANTAGE'

With others, they argued that their firms already are at a competitive disadvantage with out-of-state rivals, and that added taxes on business would worsen Michigan's "business climate," retard industrial expansion and ultimately depress employment.

'He Was Only a Kid,' the Sad Officer Said

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Three shots. Then an eery silence, except for the drone of a motorboat on Union Lake.

Then, as officers stood nearby, frozen with revolvers ready, the silence was broken, "Get an ambulance," came a loud cry from inside the West Bloomfield swamp.

Seconds after the cry State Police Trooper John D. MacDougall, a four-year veteran of force assigned to the Pontiac Post, emerged white as a sheet and near exhaustion from the head-high swamp full of cattails.

"I've killed him," MacDougall, an Army veteran, mumbled.

"I told him to drop it or it's going to be either you or me. He (Martin) said, 'You're dead now,' and pointed the gun at me. I fired three times. I had no choice," a shaken and perspiring MacDougall related.

As fellow officers tried to console the 26-year-old Detroit bachelor, telling him he had to fire under the circumstances, MacDougall looked up. "Yes, I know, but he was only a kid."

Meanwhile, crowds of the curious had started to form along the road behind some cottages on the north shore of Union Lake. They had huddled outside their homes earlier as Martin, described as an "incorrigible runaway" from the Oakland County Children's Center, tried to shoot it out with some 25 officers.

Martin was only 1½ miles from his parents' home on Green Lake when he was cornered in a daring triangle by MacDougall, fellow Pontiac Trooper Stanley W. Doubleday and Raymond A. Bills, Oakland County sheriff's deputy.

"I thought he had Mac," Bills said afterwards.

"We had to yell at each other so we didn't shoot one another," Bills said.

"I could hear him clicking his gun, during re-loading," Doubleday said. "He fired about six times at us, each time I could hear the weeds being cut by the shots."

MacDougall, who participated in a similar gun battle near Flint several years ago, when two troopers were killed, picked up the story:

"He was crouched down in the willows. Then he'd pop up and shoot and drop down again. After his last shot he fired at Doubleday, Doubleday motioned for me to come around and move straight in."

"I could hardly see him. Then suddenly I was in front of him about 30 feet away. He had his gun pointed at me and I had mine pointed at him. I pleaded with him to drop it. He wouldn't. I fired and then heard him moan," MacDougall continued.

He got little relief when a deputy approached telling him Martin was still alive, with one of the trooper's

Mentally Ill Youths Need Better Care

"The death of Robert Martin should focus public attention upon the need for care and treatment of youths who are mentally ill. It seems apparent that his actions were the result of accelerated psychosis."

"Large for his age, combative, incorrigible, and emotionally confused, he needed the following services, none of which the state of Michigan affords adequately.

"1. Diagnosis and treatment at an early age through a psychiatric guidance clinic. The state's guidance clinics have long waiting lists.

"2. Education in the schools for emotionally-disturbed youths. Michigan has no such school program.

"3. Psychiatric treatment by authorization. Seventy-five per cent of Michigan's youths who are mentally ill go in want.

Trooper Shoots Young Fugitive in Area Swamp

Youth Fires Volley of Bullets as He Escapes From County Home

By DICK SAUNDERS

A West Bloomfield Township boy who "never wanted to conform to the rules" was killed in a wild gun battle Tuesday night with police officers from seven Pontiac area departments.

He died on the way to Pontiac General Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival by Oakland County Deputy Coroner Dr. Isaac Prevette.

Yesterday shortly after 5 p.m. he drove into the parking lot at the Oakland County Youth Home, 7350 Cooley Lake Rd., Waterford Township, where he had been confined for several weeks this summer.

Authorities at the home said Martin parked the car, later discovered stolen from its owner in Algonac, and walked to a cyclone fence where he began talking to some boys he knew.

"When the boys finally realized Martin was AWOL," explained Truman Felkner, a counselor who had worked with Martin, "they started through a gate to get him and bring him inside."

Martin ran to the car but it stalled, according to Felkner. "So he started up a hill loading a gun as he ran."

The seven or eight boys said they were just starting up the hill when Martin reached the top and turned. He told them, "Leave me alone," and fired two shots directly at the group, Felkner said.

Two of the youths standing about three feet apart said they heard the bullets "whiz past" between them and strike the driveway behind.

Terrified, the boys scattered and ran back to the home, which adjoins the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, as Martin disappeared over the hillcrest into a wooded area.

Felkner called the Oakland

View Development Plans

Downtown Pontiac business leaders had before them today a long-range, two-phase program leading to the revitalization of the central business district.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston and other city officials presented the program yesterday to officers of the Downtown Development Group and the Downtown Merchants Assn.

Rowston said that the city's suggestions for improvements to the retail area may be the subject of a public meeting in a few weeks.

Rowston said the city developed the program and is offering it to businessmen for their support.

The city is contemplating a downtown shopper's mall. It is asking businessmen to help finance redevelopment studies and recommends formation of two corporate bodies to spur improvements.

One corporation would be a steering committee of downtown businssmen. The other would be a development corporation whose main job would be to attract new business, especially to the blighted S. Saginaw street area to be razed under the urban renewal project.

★ ★ ★

The program was outlined by Rowston, City Manager Walter K. Willman and Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager, to A. C. Girard, president of Community National Bank; Frank S. Lyndall, manager of Sears Roebuck & Co. store; Leonard T. Lewis, president of Lewis Furniture Corp., and

Gasoline Tax Hike Compromise Near

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — House tax writers reported today they were close to agreement on a compromise highway-financing plan calling for a temporary penny-a-gallon hike in federal gasoline taxes.

★ ★ ★

This was reported as the House Ways & Means Committee discussed the proposed compromise behind closed doors with Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson.

President Eisenhower has advocated a one and a half cent increase to keep the program on a pay-as-you-go-basis.

UF Aims for $647,698, Only Slightly Over 1958

A goal of $647,698 has been set for the 1959 Pontiac Area United Fund campaign, Leonard T. Lewis, president of the campaign, announced today.

In presenting the figure to the Board for approval, Lewis pointed out that the increase in the budget recommendation and, hence, the campaign goal, reflects the true and clear-cut basic needs of the 52 health, recreational and family care agencies, and simultaneously presents a real challenge to the people of the Pontiac area.

"Rising costs and the replacement of personnel in UF agencies have dictated the increased goal," said Karl Bradley, executive director of the Fund. He added that no new programs have been provided for by the campaign.

Little Rock Begins Integration Quietly

School opened this morning without incident.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus continued his criticism of local officials but warned against the use of violence.

Segregationists planned a rally on the state capitol lawn for 10 a.m. (CST) — a half hour after the three Negro girls were scheduled to enter Hall High.

Only one Negro boy was expected to attend Central among the hundreds of whites. A total of 3,021 students has been registered and assigned at the city's four high schools.

Only half-day classes are scheduled this week, with a regular full-time schedule to begin Monday. The school board said it scheduled the half-day classes because all city high schools had been closed for a year, under order of Gov. Faubus.

School board officials said they would deal "firmly, fairly and effectively" with any students causing trouble in the schools.

Faubus took to television Tuesday night to accuse the school board and the police chief of becoming puppets of the federal government.

★ ★ ★

Faubus also tried to discourage the segregationist rally on the capitol lawn by saying he would not be there. But segregationists insisted on going ahead with the meeting.

'BATTLE NOT OVER'

Faubus warned that the integration battle was not over. He called the school board members traitors and told them:

"Your troubles are only beginning."

Even as Faubus spoke, the state president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People reported her house had been fired upon from a speeding car.

Mrs. L. C. Bates said several shots were fired and a white neighbor, K. R. Honey, reported one bullet crashed into his living room where it missed his nine-year-old daughter, Janet, by less than a foot.

Twice Faubus has stopped school integration in Little Rock. The first time was in the fall of 1957. Then he called out National Guardsmen to temporarily turn back nine Negroes from Central High School. Last fall he closed the schools with a state law which since has been declared unconstitutional.

Faubus said he felt there was "more bitterness" now than in 1957 and that he took to television chiefly to discourage possible disorder.

Runaway Youth Slain by Policeman

County Sheriff's Department. The call came in at 5:20 p.m.

Deputies rushed six cars to the scene. Two state police cars also sped to the youth home. Within moments all departments in the area were alerted to be on the lookout for the six-foot, 180-pound youth.

In the next two hours, uniformed men and plainclothes detectives from Waterford, West Bloomfield and White Lake townships, Keego Harbor and Orchard Lake swarmed into the area.

For awhile all was quiet. Officers armed with revolvers, pistols, carbines, and shotguns combed the land to either side of Cooley Lake road on foot and in cars, hoping Martin wouldn't attempt to use the remaining bullets in his stolen .38, 5-shot caliber revolver.

Waterford Township Patrolman Ronald D. Freeman and State Conservation Officer Marvin Hartwig, working together, were the first to see him.

"We were patrolling along Cooley Lake road when we spotted him in front of the Burmeister Northern Lumber Company (at 7940 Cooley Lake), about three-quarters of a mile from the youth home about 6:30," said Freeman.

His partner explained, "We didn't know his face. What tipped us off was the bulge under his shirt. We could tell he had a gun stuck under his belt."

The officers pulled over and started walking toward Martin.

"He immediately realized we were police, although neither of us was in uniform, and took off toward Locklin street," Freeman said.

The men gave chase down the dirt road, between houses, through yards and back to the street.

"Martin turned and shot at us and we could see him reloading as he ran. We knew he wasn't afraid to fire at anyone and that he had a good supply of ammunition," Freeman said.

"Several times we lost him as he'd run between houses," Hartwig recalled later, "but then he'd pop up back on the street about three or four houses down."

The area was thickly populated, even though it was spotted with dense woods and several marshy stretches of land.

Hundreds of curious residents stood on porches and gathered in yards seemingly unaware of the danger.

"We returned his fire twice," Freeman related, "but had to shoot low for fear of hitting a bystander."

People throughout the area, not knowing what was happening, were attracted by the swarm of police cars.

The chase carried Freeman and Hartwig to the north shore of Union Lake where Martin changed course and sprinted east along a beach.

"I saw a sheriff's patrol boat and hailed it down," Freeman explained. "He (Martin) took a couple of shots at us on the beach.

"I figured if I could get in the boat I could follow his movements easier."

They followed Martin's movements for a short way up shore, staying about 50 yards out and shouting to the youth to stop running and throw his gun down.

"We were sitting ducks," said Harcourt. "Nothing for cover, no trees to jump behind. I don't know how he missed us."

Instead of running, the officers turned and sped toward shore directly into Martin's fire. He stopped shooting and ran back between houses and across Marylestone road into a swamp area about one-half mile square.

Other law enforcers had followed the piercing sound of gunshots and were close at hand.

More than 30 policemen converged on the marshy plot of land to the east of Marylestone. Harried officers screamed at crowds to disperse.

He remained there, a clear target, directing police movements throughout the frenzied attempt to convince Martin to surrender.

The dense undergrowth stood six feet high in several inches of mud.

Officers dashed into it with no hesitation. One man hurriedly crossed himself as he entered the brush. Shots rang out for about 20 minutes.

Police and deputies could be heard shouting directions to each other. They couldn't see more than three or four feet to any side, but slowly the net tightened.

A volley of shots would be followed by the sound of bullets zipping through the tall grass. Police, newspaper reporters and other officials crouched behind cars.

Pender shouted, "Move to the left" or "move toward me a little," all the time motioning with his arms. Even from his high vantage point he could see little more than heads and shoulders in the tall forest of grass.

Officers called to Martin, pleading with him to stop. The youth responded only with more shots. His searchers could hear him reloading his revolver.

Finally, nearing the end, the deputies and troopers were close enough to talk with Martin. He kept darting between them in the tall grass.

When Martin finally stopped to reload, Trooper MacDougall kneeled in a small clearing of several feet. Deputy Raymond Bills stood to one side, Trooper Stanley Doubleday to the other.

Then there were three shots and it was over.

The courious crowds swarmed back. An elderly lady who had remained nearby in her yard stood with tears in her eyes. "The poor lad," she said. "What could have gotten into him?"

The time was exactly 7:25. It would have been dark in less than a half-hour.

The boy was one of four children.

His troubles with the law began last Dec. 5 when West Bloomfield Township Police signed a complaint against him for assault and battery.

He was found guilty of attacking a West Bloomfield Township High School classmate with brass knuckles. On Jan. 6, Oakland County Probate Court Judge Arthur E. Moore placed Martin on probation for an unlimited length of time.

Last May 26 he was ordered by the judge to be confined to the children's center for violation of probation. "He was truant from school and showed a definite behavior problem," the judge said.

On June 18, according to James W. Hunt, Juvenile Court administrator, "the staff approved transfer to the youth home since he showed signs of being ready for our open-type program."

On July 27 Martin was transferred back to the children's center. Sunday evening he "just slipped away" while playing baseball, Hunt explained.

Developed by Stierer and James Bates, head of the city's planning department, the redevelopment program would tie in with plans for urban renewal and the proposed downtown loop highway.

The loop highway was the main feature of the Barton Transportation Study, which the Downtown Development Group helped finance.

The program is subdivided into two phases — (1) development of a definite plan capable of adoption by the City Plan Commission and (2) a plan for active promotion and support.

A key to a successful plan, the city stressed, would be agreement on financing of improvements. It is expected that businessmen would be asked to share in the financing.

Stierer and Bates broke down the first phase into these steps:

1. Initial studies by the city's planning staff and planning consultants concerning land use, economic potential, parking requirements, street system, pedestrian shopping mall, bus terminal facilities and other aspects of the downtown community.

Further studies of the anticipated relationship between downtown redevelopment and the proposed civic center, urban renewal project and loop highway.

Development of a coordinated plan based on these studies, the cost to be paid by private capital.

2. After approval by the Plan Commission, preparation of a scale model showing proposed improvements, the model also to be financed by private capital.

Phase two of the program should begin with the creation of an incorporated committee to carry out the plan, guiding and directing its various stages, the city officials recommended. The committee would be responsible for these important jobs:

1. Preparation of a brochure and other descriptive material for wide distribution locally and elsewhere.

2. Promotion to encourage renovation and remodeling of existing downtown structures.

3. Formation of special committees to push off-street parking, street improvements, the shoppers' mall, beautification and landscaping, and new merchandising techniques.

4. Considered a key point is the establishment of a downtown development corporation to work on redevelopment of land made available on S. Saginaw and adjacent to Saginaw by the urban renewal project.

Such a corporation could itself purchase land for resale to new retailers or encourage desirable new businesses to establish new stores on S. Saginaw, the city officials said.

Military Tours Up to Him—Ike

Anxious for Red Boss to See Modest Homes of Americans

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower said today that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is being invited to see some military installations during his visit to the United States if he wishes.

The Soviet leader will be given a wide range of choice on the kind of installations open to him, the President told a news conference. If he does not want to see any establishments, that's okay too.

Discussing the Khrushchev visit beginning in mid-September, Eisenhower said he intends to tell the Soviet leader that U.S. bases abroad are purely defensive and threaten no one.

He also plans, Eisenhower said, to ask why Khrushchev does not permit progress in improvement of East-West relations which Eisenhower considers necessary for a summit conference.

Eisenhower said he is most anxious for Khrushchev to see the fine, small, modest homes in which Americans live, including those in such specific places as the Levittown housing development and the community around the Fairless steel plant in Pennsylvania.

Eisenhower said he would like to take Khrushchev on a flying trip around Washington, D.C., in his "chopper"—his helicopter —so Khrushchev could see the fine homes which have developed in the areas around Washington.

Khrushchev should also go into the great farming regions of this country and see farms that are run by individual free men, Eisenhower said. He added that he would like the Soviet Premier also to go into the little town where he was born—Denison, Tex.—and hear from the people there how Eisenhower worked in the early years of his life.

In response to a series of questions about the Khrushchev visit here next month and his visit to the U.S.S.R. later, Eisenhower also said:

1. He hopes his talks with Khrushchev will produce a better atmosphere between the Soviet Union and the Western powers. But he does not intend to engage in negotiation or act as a spokesman for the West.

He also hopes that Khrushchev will get better information about the United States and that he will get better information about the Soviet Union on his trip there.

2. Eisenhower does not plan to accompany Khrushchev on his tour around the United States. They may visit Gettysburg or nearby Camp David, Md., together but so far that is only a possibility.

3. His decision to invite Khrushchev to the United States and to go to the Soviet Union is not by any means a reversal of the policies of the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

He often talked with Dulles about such visits, and as long ago as the last month of 1958 they began to feel that their diplomacy should be reinforced by something new in this respect.

4. On his trip to the U.S.S.R. Eisenhower would like to see people and find out what they are like. He said that as a state visitor he will be surrounded by great crowds all the time and will not be able to see many sights such as buildings, but he will have a chance to get acquainted with people and that is his main interest.

This was the first time the President ever has held a full-scale news conference outside Washington. The setting was in a gymnasium at the Hotel Gettysburg. The gym was converted into a press room at the time Eisenhower was here recuperating from his 1955 heart attack.

On other subjects, the President had this to say:

POLITICS — Eisenhower decried anything that might have the appearance of establishing a political dynasty in the United States as the worst thing that could happen to a political party. That was in response to a question as to whether he would consider his younger brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of the Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, excellent material for the Republican vice presidential nomination.

STEEL — Eisenhower said he has not changed in the slightest his attitude that the federal government should not intervene in the steel strike, four weeks old today. He said he has noted some suggestions in print that the strike would have to be settled before Khrushchev's visit to the United States next month. He said we want Khrushchev to see this as a freedom-loving place, to see that people are free to strike.

Budget recommendations are then passed on to the Budget committee. This committee also hears the requests of the Michigan United Fund agencies, the American Red Cross and the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

After further review and recommendation, the budget figures are passed on to the UF Administrative Committee and then, finally, to the UF Board of Trustees for passage and adoption of the campaign goal.

Williams Pushing for Business Tax

the National Bank of Detroit, said "any tax which puts added burdens on industry will discourage new concerns from coming into the state."

"Such a tax therefore would further diminish job opportunities," he said.

Williams replied that the "phony 'business climate'" contention was exploded after it was raised successfully against his corporation profits tax proposal in 1957, and made these other points:

1. A whole series of tax reform proposals to the present Legislature has been opposed by the same industry spokesmen.

2. A "cross section" of the state's leadership has endorsed a corporation profits tax, voted July 24 in the House 77 to 16.

3. Corporate profits are the highest in history.

He declined to tell newsmen exactly what business executives he had in mind.

But, as an example of "insincerity," the governor singled out a statement yesterday by Tyrone Gillespie, assistant to the president of Dow Chemical.

"Definitely any further taxes on business would diminish the possibility of its further expansion in Michigan," Gillespie said.

Williams said that last December Gillespie, as a member of the Citizens Tax Advisory Committee, signed a minority report urging a two per cent flat rate tax on personal and corporate incomes.

The Day in Birmingham

Expectant Mother's Car Struck by Hit-Run Driver

BIRMINGHAM — A young expectant mother was in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, for observation today after her car was struck at 11:55 last night by a hit-and-run driver on Woodward avenue near Big Beaver road in Bloomfield Township.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Thomas J. Tracy, 22, of 3776 Percy King St., Waterford, was moving from the highway onto the shoulder following a flat tire when her car was struck in the rear by one allegedly driven by Gerald T. Janisewski, 25, of 2813 Hartline, Pontiac.

Janisewski did not stop, police said.

A witness, Larry Hoffstetter, of 875 Pine Hill Dr., Birmingham, who was driving behind the two cars, identified the hit-run vehicle to Bloomfield Township police who picked up Janisewski a short time later at his home.

★ ★ ★

When apprehended, Janisewski said he did not remember the incident, according to Sgt. Al LaPlant of Bloomfield Township Police Dept.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Tracy was not seriously injured. Her condition was reported as "satisfactory" this morning.

Janisewski was being held in Oakland County Jail for investigation of the accident. He was to be arraigned this morning before Bloomfield Township Justice of the Peace Elmer C. Dieterle.

★ ★ ★

Hoffstetter was expected to sign a warrant charging Janisewski with leaving the scene of a personal injury accident, according to Sgt. LaPlant.

Cricket Goes Toady

INSTOW, England (UPI) — The north Devon-Free Forester cricket match had to be delayed yesterday when thousands of toads took over the field. The toads arrived after a heavy rain, and the cricket match was resumed only after they hopped away. Some of them even broke all customs of British courtesy by hopping uninvited into the bar near the cricket pitch (field).

"Because we think it is necessary to know the architecture of other countries, we are engaged in a month-long tour of modern architecture in the United States," said Juan Moutero, professor and translator for the group.

The tour is under the auspices of the International Educational Exchange Service, Educational Travel and Training Branch, U.S. Department of State.

Taking up the entire month of August, their itinerary includes Boston, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Washington, D.C., and New York City, as well as the Detroit area.

To Be Used for Loans

MSUO Gets $20,000

The United States Office of Education has alloted Michigan State University Oakland $20,000 for loans to students for the school year starting in September, Chancellor D. B. Varner announced today.

The award, which had not been expected for the fall term, should make it possible for students to attend MSUO this fall who otherwise would not have been able to, Varner said.

The Education Act sets a maximum loan of $1,000 per student a year, but since costs of attending MSUO will average about $500 or less, the maximum loan at MSUO will be proportionately smaller.

Eligibility for loans will be determined by the student's financial needs and availability of funds. A student will have to maintain his scholastic standing in order to remain eligible for this assistance, explained Varner.

The loans may be used for legitimate educational purposes, such as tuition, books and other relevant expenses.

★ ★ ★

Because there may be considerable demand, MSUO officials urge that any students who will need loan assistance write immediately notifying Roy Alexander, director of student affairs.

Prompt action is requested, Alexander said, to permit action on the applications before classes begin Sept. 21.

The Education Act requires that a student sign a promissory note, and that parents or guardians co-sign those made by minors.

These loans, it was pointed out, offer an educational bargain to students who plan to go into teaching. The law provides that up to 50 per cent of the total amount borrowed in college may be forgiven, at the rate of 10 per cent a year, for persons who serve as full time public school teachers.

Repayment is to be made over a 10-year period, starting a year after the student leaves school. Interest, at the rate of 3 per cent a year, also begins a year after leaving school.

"These loan funds," Varner declared, "will supplement the generosity of organizations, business firms and individuals in Oakland and Macomb counties who have thus far provided more than 50 scholarships.

"Together, these two new sources of aid will help the nation's newest university, which we intend to make one of the very best, open the door to college opportunity to more boys and girls."

Larry is a member of the East Orion 4-H Club. Janet belongs to the Milford organization. The King and Queen will preside over events through Saturday at the Fairgrounds at M24 and Walton boulevard. Both were chosen for their excellence in personal appearance, over-all club record, club and community activities and an extemporaneous speech.

Waterford Announces Assessments Penalty

Waterford Township residents who have failed to pay their sewer or blacktopping assessments, due Jan. 1 and July 1, will be penalized an additional 6 per cent after Sept. 1, said Township Treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olson.

Last year payments that were delinquent Jan. 1 had a 6 per cent penalty attached. People failing to make payment by the Sept. 1 deadline will be required to pay 12 per cent penalty, Mrs. Olson said.

Speed Brings Warning for 1970

Rail Carriers Dumping Red-Ink Train Service

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's railroads are dropping unprofitible passenger trains as fast as they can.

An Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) survey showed today that the railroads have discontinued 41 passenger trains since an administrative short cut was approved by Congress one year ago.

In addition, the lines have started proceedings to eliminate 60 more interstate passenger runs and 40 intrastate trains.

The ICC also gave railroads permission to abandon 4,664 miles of track from 1954 to the start of this year.

The trend appeared to bear out a warning by ICC examiner Howard Hosmer that intercity passenger train service would be dead by 1970 if railroads continued their current practices.

Under the act, a railroad must give a 30-day notice of plans to abandon passenger trains. The ICC then has 20 days to block the proposal by suspending the discontinuance for four months pending an investigation.

FREE TO PETITION

Previously, proposals to abandon passenger train service were handled by less sympathetic state regulatory commissions. Now, if a state commission fails to act or denies a discontinuance, the railroad is free to petition the ICC.

The Senate Commerce Committee recently concluded hearings on two amendments to the Transportation Act which would tighten up the procedure for halting passenger service. The proposals were made by Sens. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) and Harrison A. Williams Jr. (D-NJ).

The amendments would require the commission to investigate and hold public hearings on each discontinuance application, eliminate the time limits and place the burden of proof on the carriers.

Railway labor spokesmen contend the present discontinuance process is leading to the "wholesale slaughter" of passenger train service in this country.

The railroads say the amendments would "turn the clock back" and force on the lines "endless delays in wiping out unprofitable or unneeded passenger trains."

In notices of discontinuances, the railroads have cited deficits of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

In a report on train deficits, the ICC said last May that the financial loss of the railroads is "real . . . large and appears to be growing . . . it endangers the present and future welfare of the railroad industry."

Air Force Starts Tests on 16½-Ton Airplane

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force is starting tests to see if a 16½-ton vertical takeoff airplane will fly.

The X18, the nation's largest experimental vertiplane, was transported here from Moffett Air Force Base after completing 90 per cent of its ground tests.

NEW YORK (AP)—Acid fumes felled 65 people in Brooklyn Tuesday and more than 1,000 others were evacuated from homes and businesses nearby. Twelve persons were hospitalized.

★ ★ ★

City Fire Marshal Martin Scott said a truck was delivering 300 gallons of nitric acid to an electric equipment manufacturer. The truck driver was directed to the wrong pipe, and started pumping the acid into a basement tank that already contained a quantity of hydrochloric acid.

★ ★ ★

The resulting reaction ate away part of the flange of the pumping pipe and spread fumes through a two-block area. Firemen finally managed to empty the acid into a basement drain, flushing it down with water and neutralizing agents.

Hart's Negro Secretary Charges Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senator's Negro secretary says the beauty shop in the old Senate office building has refused to do her hair.

Annie C. Ball, secretary of Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich), said she was told Tuesday there was no operator trained to work on her hair.

"Anyone qualified to shampoo and pincurl hair could do it," Mrs. Ball said. On a previous occasion, she received a manicure at the shop.

New Yorker, 20, Held in Murder

Drives Truck Into Two Cyclists to Scare 'Em; One Is Dead

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—The 20-year-old son of a Wall Street broker has been indicted on a first degree murder charge for killing a boy bicyclist with a small truck while trying to scare him. Conviction could mean death in the electric chair for Jonathan Mclain Young of Bedford Village, N. Y., a son of John Young. The youth was indicted Tuesday under a rarely-used section of the New York Penal Code.

Young told police he was driving his pickup truck July 1 when he saw two boys on bicycles ahead of him. He said he headed his truck at them "just to scare them and not to hurt them, but I misjudged the distance."

★ ★ ★

The two boys were on a camping trip. They were 13-year-old Richard Sullivan and 15-year-old Michael Dill, both of Mount Vernon, N. Y. Dill suffered a brain concussion and has recovered. Young Sullivan died on the way to a hospital. The accident took place on Route 22 in Bedford Village, a New York City suburb.

Dist. Atty. Joseph F. Gagliardi of Westchester County said Young did not stop but drove on after the accident. Later he returned to the scene and questioned officers.

Still later in the day he walked into the Bedford Village police station and questioned officers there about the accident. When they questioned him he admitted he was the truck driver.

Omar Bradley Scoffs Cutbacks in Defense

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Omar Bradley says he doesn't expect the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks to produce a cutback in U.S. spending for defense.

"There will have to be a great deal of action for peace, to add to the talks, before the U.S. can think of lowering its guard," the retired Army general said Tuesday in an interview.

★ ★ ★

Bradley, now chairman of the board of Bulova Corp., said he does not think the current stock market break has anything to do with possible cutbacks in defense contracts.

★ ★ ★

"If such cutbacks occur," he said, "the American economy is capable of taking up the slack by producing for a higher standard of living."

Road to Be Opened Early

LANSING (AP) — A 1.6-mile section of reconstructed U.S. road in Midland was to be opened to traffic Thursday, two months ahead of the scheduled completion date, Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie reports. The section runs from Ellsworth street north to U.S. 10.

All-Out French Effort Grinding Away at Arab Mountain Positions in Algeria

ALGIERS (UPI) — A full-scale French offensive was grinding away at Arab guerrilla positions in central Algeria today.

There was no prospect that the task of Operation Binoculars would be a quick or easy one. Gen. Maurice Challe, French supreme commander in Algeria, has warned from the outset that it is a long-range project.

The operation is being conducted in the Grand Kabyllias, a rugged mountain area some 60 miles east of Algiers which has been a rebel stronghold almost from the very beginning of the rebellion in late 1954.

The rebel troops, estimated at some 5,000 at the beginning of the campaign nearly three weeks ago, are well dispersed and are skillful veterans at the art of avoiding a pitched battle with French forces.

Last week's toll of rebels killed or captured in Operation Binoculars was 269, bringing to 736 the total number of rebels knocked out of action since July 22.

If the French can clean the rebels out of the Kabyllias, they will have scored a crucial blow against the Moslem nationalists, who use the mountain area as a major base of operations. They will also have demonstrated to the United Nations that they have the situation in Algeria under control. The U.N. General Assembly is scheduled to debate the Algerian situation this fall.

In addition, they will have demonstrated to the rebels and to peaceful Algerians alike that France does not intend to give up this North African territory.

Total casualty figures for the 4½-year war are kept secret by French military leaders, but the best sources available estimate that about 100,000 rebels and about 10,000 French soldiers have died.

The war has proved a staggering drain on France's national economy as well as on its pool of young manpower. Just this past weekend, new regulations were announced to cut down the number of students granted exemption from the draft, because of manpower needs in Algeria.

The rebellion began about Nov. 1, 1954, when armed bands seized control of large areas of the Aures Mountains, the scene of bloody uprisings through the past century.

A rebel "committee of unity and action" announced over Cairo radio that it would fight for total Algerian independence from France.

In addition to military and guerilla operations, the rebel forces organized a campaign of terror which claimed hundreds of lives throughout Algeria and reached into France itself.

100 in Michigan Chorale to Perform at U. of M.

The Michigan Chorale, 100 teenage singers now on a European tour, will present a concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 13, in Hill Auditorium at the University of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

The concert will be under the auspices of the University Musical Society in cooperation with the Michigan Council of Churches, sponsor of the Michigan Chorale in the Youth for Understanding Teen-Age Exchange Program.

Conducted by Lester McCoy of the Musical Society, the Chorale left for Europe June 24. A 10-day stay in Northern Ireland was followed by another period in England.

Concerts were held subsequently in Stolberg, Germany and in Paris—where they performed at the American Cathedral—and in Amsterdam.

INTERPRET UNDERSTANDING

Now, at mid-tour, they continue interpreting world understanding through music by giving concerts throughout Germany, then on to Helsinki, Finland, from where they will return to the United States about Sept. 1.

Forty Southeastern Michigan communities are represented in the Chorale.

Included from Oakland County are Joel Beam of Milford; Glen Eric May, Douglas Mead, Stephen Novic, Fred Rohrbach, Pamela Peltz, Ken Rutledge and Lois Simpson, all of Royal Oak; and, James Casey, Nancy Grey, Paul Koerner and Marilyn Unger, all of Oxford.

Others are Greg Forsythe, Nancy Katke, Patricia McLean, and Maxine Winn, all of Ferndale; Susanne Parssinen and Judith Schnell, both of Pleasant Ridge; and Carol Domke, Jo Anne McAleer, Sandra Niemi and Shawnee Smith of Southfield.

Also in the group are Sharon McKinney and Martha Thibideau, both of Walled Lake.

Tickets for next month's concert in Ann Arbor are now available at the offices of the University Musical Society in Burton Tower, Ann Arbor. On concert day, they will be sold at the box office in Hill Auditorium one hour before the concert.

The Sept. 13 performance will be the group's only post-tour concert.

Cadillac

The Facts said "Yes" to His Heart!

When did the dream first find its way into his heart? We doubt that he could tell you himself. He only knows that there has been a Cadillac in his hopes and in his plans for a good share of his life.

So imagine his delight when he finally got the facts about Cadillac—and found they said "yes" to his heart!

How pleased and encouraged he must have been to learn of Cadillac's modest purchase price. For a Cadillac not only costs no more than many models of other makes—but actually less in view of the many important automotive features included in its basic price.

How convinced he must have been by the story of Cadillac's operating economy. For the car stretches a gallon of gasoline over an amazing number of miles—and its superb quality assures the maximum in dependability.

And how assuring it must have been to find that just as a Cadillac is unrivaled in its original value—so it has no peer in resale value.

Little wonder—in light of these extraordinary facts—that he decided this was the year to take possession of the "car of cars".

So if you have a Cadillac in your heart, we suggest you let your dealer explain how easily there could be a Cadillac in your life!

Khrushchev's Visit Not First Gamble for U.S.

We're gambling when we allow NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV the chance to visit the United States. More politely we might say, taking a chance. What's wrong with a gamble once in a while? For generations we have been a nation willing to take chances.

★ ★ ★

Certainly two way talks are better than war. It's true our allies are no more anxious than we are to see the two great powers of the West and East sitting down to a limited "Summit" in Washington or Moscow. But if there is a slight chance of persuading Russian leaders that their propaganda is not all that it's cracked up to be the chance is well worth the effort.

When Khrushchev visits us he will view a strong nation. Its people are not unhappy or on the brink of revolt due to unemployment, integration and other issues. He will see us first hand and the issues can not be clouded.

KHRUSHCHEV is shrewd and we are gambling that he will be impressed with what he sees with his own eyes. He will see a country with rich distribution of consumer goods and people not living under iron clad domination. His travels should prove that we are extremely happy in our democracy. If the trip is at all effective he should return with the impression that we haven't the slightest intention to knuckle under Red domination.

Khrushchev will gain strength with his own people by participating in a face to face meeting with President Eisenhower. This is important since the Kremlin power contest never ceases.

If out of these meetings KHRUSHCHEV can be just partially convinced to work toward world peace, then the gamble shall have paid off.

★ ★ ★

We should remember, however, that it is a gamble.

Vice President's Job of Great Importance Now

Even with RICHARD NIXON basking in the limelight, participants at the recent Governors' Conference exhibited a high degree of contempt for the office of Vice President.

Before even being offered the job, at least four well known governors have thumbed it down. The four answering "no" were Brown of California, Stratton of Illinois, Meyner of New Jersey, and Rockefeller of New York.

Whether this reluctance is real, only time can tell. Quite obviously, several are shooting for the top spot. In view of this it would seem rather silly to surrender this early.

★ ★ ★

In the final analysis, the job of vice president and the importance or lack of same depends on the will of the president. The example of NIXON is not always true to form. In years past, when the chief executive officer did not have the confidence and respect of his vice president, the role might well resemble that of a spare tire as JOHN NANCE GARNER once phrased it.

★ ★ ★

Today, the job has taken on much more importance than ever before and perhaps this springboard of giving the vice president regular duties to offset the rigorous work of the president will continue.

We hope so. Under our complex government operations it is entirely too much for any one man to handle the office of president without utilizing the help from an able vice president.

New British Elections May Come in October

Prime Minister MACMILLAN is expected to call a general election in Britain before the end of this year.

His Conservative (Tory) government took over in May, 1955, and could remain in power until May, 1960. However, the Prime Minister can call for an election any time before then and also could lose office in the interim by a "no confidence" vote in the House of Commons.

Recent polls show that there has been a swing in sentiment away from the Socialist Labor party toward the Conservative Government. Once again it will be a two party fight, the Liberals and other splinter parties not having sufficient support to affect the outcome.

In 1945 Labor won a landslide victory and held power until 1951 when nosed out by the Tories who increased their lead in the 1955 election. The popular vote was 13,312,000 Conservative to 12,405,000 for the Socialists.

★ ★ ★

The difference being very slight the Prime Minister may take advantage of the present favorable climate. By law the British have only three weeks in which to campaign actively for a general election which is likely to be in October.

The Man About Town

Revise the Plan

In Exchange of City and Village Top Officials

are seeking a change in the annual one-day swap of mayors and village presidents. If it is not forthcoming, they will not cooperate in the plan.

They feel that the purpose of the idea is defeated if the exchange is not between municipalities of a somewhat similar population. This would give them an opportunity to compare notes on meeting their problems, which usually are of a somewhat identical nature.

These men are giving ample notice to those in charge of arranging the next event, so the hodge podge and succotash system of the past can be eliminated. Our neighboring city of Lapeer refused to cooperate in the plan after they saw the schedule arranged for the last exchange.

"It Isn't Cloudy — That's Kennedy Raising a Lot of Dust"

David Lawrence Asks:

Will Congress Let Hoffa Fool It?

WASHINGTON—Are the American people really aware of the disgraceful conduct of certain labor-union leaders and of the menace which they present today to this country?

Will the public be fooled by the claim that corrective legislation is not needed because there are only a few gangsters and by the propaganda cry that "legitimate" unionism might be harmed by new laws?

LAWRENCE

The answers to these questions deal with a phase of human rights that is more important than any other problem now before Congress.

For if public opinion falters after the sensational disclosures by the Senate Investigating Committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, Democrat, of Arkansas, then a period of labor anarchy and underworld tyranny may be expected to develop in the coming years.

President Eisenhower has appealed to the nation to back him as he asks that members of Congress, irrespective of party, be told by the people that the country wants strong legislation to correct abuses.

The type of thing which, unfortunately, the labor unions themselves have been unable to remedy is fully explained by the report of the McClellan committee. In commenting on the affairs of the Teamsters Union—the largest in the country—the committee report says in part:

"The power of the Teamsters Union president is so extraordinary that the committee finds the fact this power is now lodged in the hands of a man such as Hoffa tragic for the Teamsters Union and dangerous for the country at large. . . .

"In fact, the 1958 hearings produced testimony of an even more sordid nature than that of the previous year.

"Ignominy was piled on ignominy as the testimony wove through stories of violence, financial manipulations, callous repression of democratic rights and racketeer control.

"This is an ugly situation. The continuing attitude of Hoffa and other Teamster leaders that they are above the law can only serve to intensify the apprehensions of decent union members and decent people throughout the country. . . .

★ ★ ★

"Time and time again the committee has found Hoffa to be faithless to the members of his own Union. He has betrayed these members so frequently that it has become abundantly clear that Hoffa's chief interest is his own advancement and that of his friends and cronies—a great number of whom are racketeers. . . .

★ ★ ★

"In addition, Hoffa has used union funds for his own benefit and that of his friends.

"Hoffa has consistently supported the interests of racketeer friends over those of his own members.

"Hoffa and his chief aides have consistently repressed democratic rights within the Union.

"Hoffa has connived with and maneuvered Union insurance to racketeer friends, bringing these friends gigantic profits. While the cost of insurance has risen, the benefits to the members of his Union were drastically reduced.

ABUSED HIS TRUST

"In the history of this country it would be hard to find a labor leader who has so shamelessly abused his members or his trust.

"The committee is convinced that if Hoffa remains unchecked, he will successfully destroy the decent labor movement in the United States. Further than that, because of the tremendous economic power of the Teamsters, it will place the underworld in a position to dominate American economic life in a period when the vitality of the American economy is necessary to this country's preservation in an era of world crisis. This Hoffa cannot be allowed to do."

What have the decent labor-union leaders done about all this? They have, of course, criticized Hoffa and have deplored what he has done.

But they are not willing to back the kind of legislation President Eisenhower says is really needed to prevent Hoffa and his ilk from continuing to exploit the rank and file of American workingmen.

No group likes restrictive legislation. Big business doesn't like anti-monopoly laws, and big unionism doesn't like regulation.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Theories of 'Resistance' Just So Many Words

At the Pan-American Exposition, some time ago, one of the midway features was an Eskimo village. In the course of the summer many Eskimos, who had come straight from the Arctic to live in the village, succumbed to pneumonia.

DR. BRADY

Now there's one for the wiseacres—doctors or laymen who pretend to know something about "resistance" or lack of it.

In their native environment the Eskimos were seldom if ever subject to crowding—living in close proximity or contact with many other persons. Therefore there was little or no mutual exchange of nose and throat bacteria, particularly the W. K. Pneumococcus, various strains of which produce so many respiratory infections.

In that fatal summer the inmates of the Eskimo village were constantly exposed to crowding and the moisture droplet spray of coughing, sneezing and conversation, especially conversation, for at that time the poor Eskimos had no more knowledge of conversation spray than most Americans have today.

If the Eskimo Village incident were reversed, and a hundred or more Americans went to live in an Arctic village for six months and a few dozen of them came down with pneumonia, the wiseacres would explain it at the drop of a hat—the victims just had no "resistance."

★ ★ ★

But you had better smile when you tell me anything about "resistance"—otherwise, I'll call you names, the least objectionable of which is ninnyhammer. There is no such state as "resistance," if the term applies to insusceptibility to respiratory infections. There is only immunity, and immunity is specific, not general. If one is immunized against say, diphtheria or typhoid fever, one's immunity protects against diphtheria or typhoid regardless of exposure to foul weather, overwork, hunger, fatigue or chilling and dampness.

To suggest that "lowered resistance" accounts for a serious illness is hindsight. No one can tell in advance of serious illness that a person is susceptible—except by positive Schick test, mahogany red spot at point of injection, appearing in about 48 hours and fading gradually after the fourth day. This shows that the person is susceptible to diphtheria.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

One Who Found Out

'Wake Up or Be Too Late'

In 1903 Lenin and 16 men formed the original Communist nucleus and were determined that they would conquer Russia and ultimately, the world.

After Russian defeat by the Japanese in 1904 Lenin started a revolution but lost, thus fleeing to Switzerland. Germany helped him to run to Russia in 1918. We should know what happened . . .

One of our Lenins started the same way in 1937 in Flint and now not only controls millions of UAW slaves, but also the U.S. Senate and the State of Michigan—with one of his stooges—Williams—Better wake up before it's too late.

No Soft Pedal for Ike; He Stands on Own Feet

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of 1959's surprises is the way President Eisenhower has asserted himself. He used to press the soft-pedal hard.

Critics complained — some still do—that he didn't do enough leading. But in 1959 he has become increasingly aggressive, particularly on home problems.

★ ★ ★

In foreign affairs he is still pretty defensive. His actions now, as in the past, are mostly reactions to Soviet actions.

There are several explanations for his 1959 performance:

1. He has to rely more on himself. Some key men he brought into government with him, and depended on most, are gone. Notably: Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who died in May, and Sherman Adams, who quit last September.

LEAD OR BE LED

2. It's either lead or be led. The Democrats, in overwhelming control of Congress, would run with the ball if he didn't speak out.

3. Time is running out for making good on his early promises, such as budget-balancing and less spending. He has just a little over 17 months left in office.

4. Since the Soviets are pushing, he has to push back. His invitation to Premier Nikita Khrushchev to come here was an effort to avoid or delay a showdown on Berlin.

Dulles, given free rein by Eisenhower, overshadowed the President in foreign affairs. Yet, by his enormous work, he took a heavy burden of detail off Eisenhower. That's changed now.

Eisenhower doesn't have the same close relationship with Dulles' successor, Christian A. Herter, who has been out of the country, negotiating on Berlin, most of the time since taking office last spring.

IS HIS OWN MAN

Which means: Eisenhower in foreign affairs has had to be much more his own front man. Adams' title — assistant to the President—was a catch - all. He acted like a combination chief of staff, executive vice president, buffer, filter, firefighter and plantation manager for Eisenhower.

He saved the President endless time, chores, problems and decisions in running the government. His successor, Wilton B. Persons, retired major general, seems to have only a shadow of Adams' importance in easing things for Eisenhower.

The result: Eisenhower has been forced into fighting harder—and personally—for what he does and doesn't want.

Eisenhower, like any President winding up his last term, was expected to show a waning influence in his last two White House years after the 1958 elections gave the Democrats a huge control in Congress. It hasn't turned out that way.

Time was when Eisenhower pulled back from a fight with Congress, seemed to think it improper for a President to put the heat on House or Senate. Now, all year, he has been in a running battle with the Democrats.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

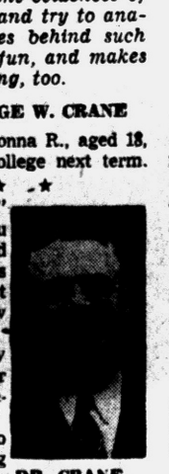

'Show-off' Good Youth Group Topic

Donna has a dandy topic for discussion at her church Young People's Meeting. You can easily get your group to volunteer additional signs of show-off behavior. Then discuss some of the most frequent evidences of grandstanding and try to analyze the motives behind such show-offs. It's fun, and makes a helpful meeting, too.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

★ ★ ★

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," she began, "you have mentioned that many boys become delinquent in order to 'show off.'

"You say they feel inferior or are afraid of being called 'sissy.'

"Well, I am to lead the Young People's Meeting at our Baptist Church next Sunday night on this topic, so would you list some of the signs of a person who is trying to cover up an inferiority complex?"

SHOW-OFF SIGNS

A person who deliberately exceeds legal auto speed limits, especially to hear his female escort exclaim "Oh," is likely to be a show-off.

★ ★ ★

A fellow who loads beer or whisky in his car before he heads out on a date is also in the same class of chickenhearted males who must dope up to increase their supposed courage.

Actually, liquor NEVER produces bravery! It just anesthetizes the brain till the victim no longer recognizes the danger. Then he ignorantly "walks in where angels fear to tread."

Men who chronically use profanity are also afflicted with an inferiority complex, either physical or social, which makes them try to shock their public into awed admiration.

In fact, this chronic tendency to violate laws, either legal or religious, is often a sign of a deep-seated inferiority complex that demands awed admiration.

GRANDSTANDERS

Millions of inferior folks have an abnormal yearning to be admired. So they lose perspective and become grandstanders. They try to "hog" the limelight.

★ ★ ★

That's why they don't enjoy team games, for they are so selfish they cannot pass the ball to a team mate and let him score.

Juvenile delinquents are excessive grandstanders. They are seldom found on athletic teams or in the high school band or glee club.

No, they boast about being the "lone wolf," and they think that is a mark of distinction.

Actually, it indicates they are so egotistical and selfish they refuse to cooperate in team play!

The show-off also likes to barge in, uninvited, to social parties.

He also brags excessively and concocts tall stories wherein he tries to gain more limelight.

He boasts of how many drinks he can take before he gets tight. Or of how fast he drives or of how many girls he has or how many places he has visited.

★ ★ ★

All young people crave to be sophisticated and thus want to visit many places and do many things.

But the show-off simply carries this normal yearning to such an extreme that he is soon labeled as an "odd ball" in a social group.

They also try to ritz their classmates with the latest and most bizarre costumes.

In fact, dress designers know that female "odd balls" are duck soup for any idiotic new style if the grandstander can only get it first.

Women usually drink liquor to try to prove they are sophisticated, collegiate and worldly wise, so this is just another female sign of would-be show-offs.

75 More Adopt Plan Every Year

City Manager Form of Government Grows

CHICAGO (UPI) — Think you'd like to run a city, but politics isn't your game? You might try to become a city manager.

More than 1,600 cities and counties in the United States have the manager - council form of government, under which a non-political employe is hired to manage the community's government.

Dallas, Texas, Hartford, Conn., and Des Moines, Ia., are among the larger cities run in this fashion.

According to the International City Managers' Assn. headquartered in Chicago, additional communities are adopting the plan at the rate of 75 a year. And only four per cent of those that have tried it have later voted it out, according to the association.

The setup of the council-manager form of government is like that of a corporation. the voters choose a city council, which acts as a board of directors and sets policy. The council then hires a city manager to serve as chief administrator.

Supporters of the manager-council system maintain that a mayor generally gets the job because of his vote-getting ability with the administrative talents a secondary factor, while the city manager is an expert hired strictly for his ability as administrator and his knowledge of government.

The idea of an appointed executive was originally developed by the National Short Ballot Organization, then headed by Woodrow Wilson, and was first adopted in 1912 by Sumter, S. C. Wilson's organization sought to make government more responsible by cutting the number of elective offices.

The program was approved in 1915 by the National Municipal League, the oldest civic reform organization in the United States, and the Short Ballot Organization later merged with the League to present a united front in support of the plan.

The council - manager plan often is promoted in cities by such groups as the local League of Women Voters and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and the National Municipal League takes pride in what it calls "the hostility of old-line bosses" to the City Manager plan. The manager is expected to steer clear of local politics, and the league believes the city council which appoints him also should be nonpartisan.

"National party labels in a local election are silly since there is no parallel between municipal and national issues," the League says. "The question before the voters is not the fate of China but, say, the future of the sewer system."

City managers have no security. Proposals to give them protection of contract appointments have been rejected overwhelmingly by the managers themselves when the question has been submitted to a vote at annual conferences of the City Managers' Assn.

According to the men who make a living at it, a city manager needs the tact of a diplomat, the thoroughness of an efficiency expert and the patience of Job.

Many have prepared themselves specifically for such posts, but there are exceptions, one of the most notable being Elgin Crull, city manager of Dallas, the largest city in the country operating under this form of government.

Crull covered city hall for 10 years as a reporter for the old Dallas Dispatch-Journal. He grew so interested in municipal government that in 1939 he quit the newspaper business and became an assistant to the man who was city manager at that time. In 1952, he was promoted to the top spot, a job he still enjoys because "it is never boring."

Carleton F. Sharpe, city manager of Hartford, Conn., since 1947, does have a background of specific training for the job, including a masters degree in citizenship and public affairs and a succession of governmental jobs.

The most gratifying thing about his field, Sharpe said, is that "you can actually see the results of your work — if," he added thoughtfully, "you are lucky."

Eighty per cent of the managers appointed in recent years have been recruited from outside the cities they serve, usually moving from a smaller to a larger community, and the National Municipal League says that is a good idea.

"An experienced outsider with a fresh viewpoint, directed by a council that knows local conditions, can do a better job than a local man hampered by local ties," the League said. "The administrative problems of all cities are similar. It's an advantage to have an outsider who has already proved his ability."

Elder Gunter had such a background. He moved from Newton, Kan., to Junction, Kan., and then University City, Mo., before accepting his present job as city manager of Des Moines, about a year ago. Like most men in the field, he enjoys the work.

"You never know what will happen next," he said. "There's something different every day in meeting different problems and types of people."

★ ★ ★

He agreed with other managers that the ability to get along with people, and to persuade them to work together, is an important part of the job.

★ ★ ★

A. E. Fuller, manager for Fulton County, Ga. (Atlanta), pointed out another notable qualification, the ability and willingness to "carry out policies of elected representatives whether he likes it or not."

Managers, according to the City Managers Assn., are paid an average of $6,340 a year in towns with populations under 5,000, up to an average of $22,348 in cities of more than 250,000, and a top of $35,000.

No-Accident Driver Slams Slow Pokes

DETROIT (AP) — From his vantage point behind the wheel of a Greyhound bus, Cecil C. Burge of Galesburg sees all kinds of crazy drivers on the highway.

And after 15 years of accident-free driving, the 50-year-old Burge has concluded that the slow driver is the greatest hazard on the road.

"I'd rather have the speeder to contend with than the slow driver," Burge said. "The speeder is usually watching what he is doing."

Burge is a driver for the Central Greyhound Lines and is currently on the Detroit-Kalamazoo run. He was given a jeweled ring at the company's regional office here recently in a ceremony marking his safe driving record.

Burge has some other ideas on highway safety:

"You have to be on your toes every minute. You have to watch both sides and behind.

"All drivers should be forced to take driver instruction. They should be taught that black top roads are like icy highways when wet. They should learn to drive slow in fog, on ice and when it is raining."

As for the slow driver — the guy who drives 20 to 25 miles an hour on a two-lane highway — Burge observes:

"He'll have traffic snarled up for several miles. Then someone tries to pass. That's when the accidents happen.

Peronistas End Strike Protesting Riot Brutality

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A one-day strike by 62 unions led by followers of ex-Dictator Juan D. Peron ended at midnight. Thirty-two Democratic unions and 19 pro-Communist groups had refused to join in.

The strike affected textile factories, meat packing houses, food plants and metal industries, but all seemed normal otherwise.

Peronistas called the strike to protest what they called police brutality in quelling a riot by striking sugar workers in Tucuman last week. One striker was killed in that skirmish and 15 police and 3 strikers were injured.

Chrysler Had 2,000 Suggestions

Valiant Picked From List

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. said today it selected Valiant as the name for its new small car from an original list of more than 2,000 suggestions.

A national survey of auto owners picked Valiant from among the final five on the last. The others were Revere, Chelsea, Columbia and Liberty.

Chrysler said the survey questions included: Which of the five seems like a car name? What does each name "say?" What price class does each name suggest? And which of the five would cause someone to say he'd rather be known as the owner of?

Chrysler previously denied an early report that it had selected Falcon for its small car name only to be beaten by Ford by 20 minutes in registering it with the Automobile Manufacturers Assn.

Included in the original list of 2,000 names were all possible combinations of five or six letters in the alphabet as selected by an electronic brain.

Ford's small car will be called the Falcon, General Motors picked Corvair for its small Chevrolet.

PONTIAC AREA
telephone lines

by RAY STORM, District Manager

Did you know that since the end of World War II, local calling areas for Michigan Bell customers have increased on an average from 85 square miles to 309 square miles? The local calling area for Pontiac telephone users during the same period increased from 148 square miles to 490 square miles.

Just as the population in Pontiac has grown, so has the number of telephones, jumping from 31,500 in 1947 to 53,800 in 1958. And we talk a lot more, too. Local calls on the average have increased from 191,462 per day in 1951 to 304,985 in 1958. This means that the average telephone user makes around 6 calls every day.

HUNTING FOR THAT SPECIAL ITEM? Here's a shopping tip that will help you find your quarry and save you mileage and frayed nerves, too. Let the Yellow Pages be your guide. This handy telephone directory can help you find just who has what you want—in the right size and color and at the right price—before you even leave your house. The Yellow Pages steer you in the right direction. So keep them handy and consult them often.

THE 1960 WINTER OLYMPICS don't open until February but telephone men have been on the job at Squaw Valley, Calif., since July of last year. More than 1,200 telephones will be in service there to accommodate some 35,000 visitors a day. There's also the complex job of providing communications for press and TV coverage. Whether it's a special event like the Olympics, your everyday service or our defense needs, the telephone company works constantly to bring you the best in modern communications.

Proposes Bar to Illegal Vote

Hart Asks Commission to Conduct Elections if Negro Rights Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) today proposed a federal commission to conduct congressional elections when Negroes are likely to be denied voting rights.

Under his bill, the commission would determine whether the right to vote was likely to be denied.

In a prepared Senate speech, Hart said "the evidence of continued denial of voting rights in various sections of the country disgraces us both in the eyes of our own citizens and in those of the rest of the world."

"The time has now come for the Congress to face its responsibility and exercise its authority to regulate the election of its own members," he added.

Hart said because his measure was a wholly new approach he did not intend to press for immediate Senate action on it, "urgent as it may seem."

"It is my hope," he said, "that it will receive the kind of study and discussion that will lead us to the best possible solution of an old, but not forgotten, problem."

The commission he proposed would have three members appointed by the President with approval of the Senate. It would be an arm of Congress.

Jewelers Dubious

'Grows' Gems He Can't Sell

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Carroll Chatham is an amiable and remarkable scientist — but a great many people wish he'd never been born.

He is a man whose right pocket is bulging with emeralds, and his left pocket stuffed with rubies — yet he claims his earnings are similar to those of a good brick-layer.

Chatham honestly believes he has done more for the precious jewel business than any other man in the world — but multitudes of jewelers would like to see him out of business.

The reason for all these seeming discrepancies is that the scientist is the one man in the world who can "grow" emeralds and rubies in a laboratory.

They are such dead ringers for the mined variety that only the highest powered microscope, or a severe heat test, can reveal the difference; and these tests point up that Chatham's home-grown stones, if not identical to the natural precious stones, have, if anything, some better qualities. (Heat a "real" emerald and it will crack or explode, while Chatham's comes out unscathed.)

"Naturally," he explained, "many jewelers are scared of what my emeralds and rubies might do to the market for naturals. But it's ridiculous. Has the cultured pearl wrecked the price of real pearls? People who have enough money for real pearls — or real emeralds — will continue to buy the real thing."

Meantime, he pointed out impatiently, he devoted 28 years and more than $100,000 to discovering his secret for "cultured" crystals and he's not going to be discouraged by "that old business of, it can't be any good if man made it. Can't man give nature a helping hand?"

Chatham's story, something of a heartbreaking success yarn, began when he was 15, experimenting with chemicals in his father's basement. He read in a high school chemistry text a paragraph that nobody had ever succeeded in making synthetic emeralds.

"That's what I'll do," he told himself. "I figured the job for about three weeks."

Through high school, through California Institute of Technology, through more years as a research chemist for a food processing firm, through the birth and growth of two children — Chatham worked every free moment. Finally, in 1935, he managed to concoct his first emerald. Then he spent three years trying to duplicate it.

The problems had only begun. Now, to figure out what to do with his creation. "My wife will never forget the year 1940 when we went to New York to try to sell them. We were kicked out of every store on Fifth Avenue. They even called the cops and said, 'This guy's got hot emeralds.' Nobody would believe I had grown them myself!"

Only the Harvard Museum, and the Smithsonian Institute. They believed. Chatham's home-made emeralds were accepted and displayed in their gem collections without question.

And now, yesterday, at the national retail jewelers' convention Chatham introduced his newest creation, the culture Chatham ruby. At the time of this interview, he didn't know what the reaction to this latest bombshell would be — but he shuddered, with a grin, in anticipation.

The rubies, like the emeralds, probably will sell at approximately one-fifth the price of the equivalent size and quality "natural" stone. Each crystal takes a year to "grow." And no one, besides Chatham and his wife knows the secret of how it's done.

To save himself more heartaches and headaches from the jewelers who fight the idea of putting an emerald or ruby within the price range of the middle-class customer, Chatham would sell his secret for three-million dollars.

But, although big corporations would like to have it, they are not willing to put out cash . . . "You just don't buy secrets," Chatham explained. "Businesses don't work that way."

Kelvinator to Put Up $2 Million Warehouse

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Kelvinator Division of American Motors Corp. today announced plans to construct a two million dollar warehouse starting next month in suburban southwest Grand Rapids.

George Beld, works manager, described it a further step by the firm to improve its competitive position in the appliance industry by increasing warehousing and shipping efficiency and reducing costs. The new building, near U.S. 131, will afford 330,000 square feet of space and will feature inside truck and rail facilities.

Airman Can't Wear His Dad's Pants in This Job

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI)—Vermont's Adj. Gen. Francis Billado was inspecting his troops when he came upon one airman whose pants did not match.

The airman had been unable to find his own trousers and had put on his father's — who was none other than the adjutant general himself. The youth drew extra duty for his infraction.

But Dick Is Ready to Battle

Nixon Very Sure Rockefeller Will Run

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is convinced that, come what may, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller intends to battle him for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

The New York governor has indicated he will make a decision by November. If private polls then show Nixon trailing leading Democrats in popularity and Rockefeller feels his reputed appeal to independent voters would make him a stronger GOP nominee, he will take the plunge.

Nixon's reaction to all this, it can be said on the best authority, is that anyone can get any kind of result he desires from private polls. He thinks Rockefeller wants to run and will find that the polls support such a course.

But Nixon never really believed he could get the nomination without a fight, and since Rockefeller's election as governor he has regarded a battle between them as almost inevitable.

For this reason, Rockefeller's recent demonstration of near-eagerness for the contest has come as no surprise to the Nixon camp. Nor does it alter plans for the vice president to attend almost exclusively to his governmental duties until November.

If Rockefeller comes out in the open then—or makes an earlier announcement after huddles with strategists impatient to get him into national circulation—the Nixon plans could change accordingly.

TO GO WITH NIKITA?

At this point the vice president has no thought that President Eisenhower might designate him to accompany Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on the latter's scheduled tour of the country.

While such a tour assignment might enhance Nixon's political stature in the international field, it is not expected to materialize.

★ ★ ★

Instead, Nixon will stay in the background when Khrushchev comes to Washington, limiting his contacts to official affairs to which he would have been invited even if he had not conferred at length and jousted with the Soviet leader.

★ ★ ★

For all of his six and half hour discussion with Khrushchev at the among the U.S. advisers if Eisenhower takes the Soviet premier to the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md.

TRIP AID TO NIXON

Nixon, who does not share Rockefeller's obvious reliance on the polls, appears to be convinced he will do all right in the public opinion canvasses for some time to come as a result of his Soviet trip.

Consequently he is planning no obvious campaigning efforts in the next two months or more. He now is scheduling a September visit to New England for a couple of what his staff calls "civic type" of speeches.

Psychologists Protest Army Experiments

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI) — Two psychologists have protested against army experiments in which trainees are told they are threatened with death, it was learned today.

Michael Argyle, visiting Oxford University professor, said the tests were so brutal as to be unethical.

The protests were filed with the American Psychological Association by Argyle and Jerome Frank, an associate at the Stanford Institute for Advanced Studies in the Behavioral Sciences.

Argyle said the protests would be considered next month by the Association's committee on ethics.

Dr. Howard H. McFann, research director of the army leadership human research unit here, denied that the experiments were unethical. He said their purpose was to determine how people react under stress.

This knowledge may enable the army to weed out men who would be ineffective in combat situations and to learn how to train its men more efficiently.

Summer Candy Is Wholesome

Nothing pleases homemakers more during the summer months than recipes for sweet confections that are satisfying and wholesome and yet quick and easy to make.

That is why so many women consider Honey Fruit Chews an ideal warm-weather treat to prepare and keep on hand for their families. These chewy balls, made with dried figs, raisins, honey and nourishing whole bran cereal, require no cooking at all and can be prepared in a matter of minutes.

Make these chews today so you'll have them ready when your family asks for sweets.

Honey Fruit Chews

1 cup dried figs
1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup whole bran cereal
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ cup honey

Put figs and raisins through food chopper. Crush bran into medium fine crumbs. Mix ¾ of the bran, salt and honey with figs and raisins. Form into balls about 1 inch in diameter. Roll in remaining bran. Dust with powdered sugar.

Put Different Stuffing in Summer Turkey

Turkish Stuffing

¼ cup butter or margarine
⅓ cup finely diced celery
1 tablespoon instant onion
1½ cups (one half of an 8-ounce package) herb-seasoned bread stuffing
½ cup boiling water
¼ cup currants or chopped raisins
¼ cup pine nuts

Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet over low heat; add celery and onion; cook several minutes. Stir in stuffing, then boiling water, currants and pine nuts. Use for stuffing body and neck cavaties of a 3-pound ready-to-cook weight broiler-fryer.

Roast in oven or spit-roast in rotisserie. Makes 4 servings. This stuffing is the dry type.

Instead of Mayonnaise

Dieters will be interested to note a tablespoon of sour cream contains about 29 calories . . . the same amount of mayonnaise contains about 92 calories. Summer vegetables and greens take well to seasoned sour cream—with a bit of lemon juice added for "stepped" up flavor.

Hot Weather Dessert Takes Short Cut

Pineapple Pudding

1 package (11½ ounces) apple pudding mix (with crumbly topping)
1 cup boiling water
2 cups diced fresh pineapple
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup heavy cream
½ teaspoon vanilla extract

Turn apples from envelope in pudding mix package into a 1½-quart baking dish; add boiling water; allow to stand for 10 minutes. Meanwhile sprinkle pineapple with sugar and at the end of the 10 minutes arrange pineapple over apples.

Sprinkle crumbly topping over fruit; dot with butter. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 35 to 40 minutes. Serve warm with whipped cream flavored with vanilla.

Pudding is quite sweet so it is not necessary to sweeten cream. Makes 8 servings.

An Ethiopian dollar (or thaler), which used to be par with the United States dollar now brings only .40 cents.

Chocolate Bars Best When Fresh

Chocolate Bars

1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup nutmeats

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs and sugar until thick and pale colored. Meanwhile melt chocolate and butter over hot water; cool slightly. Beat melted chocolate and butter into egg mixture; stir in flour until blended. Fold in nutmeats.

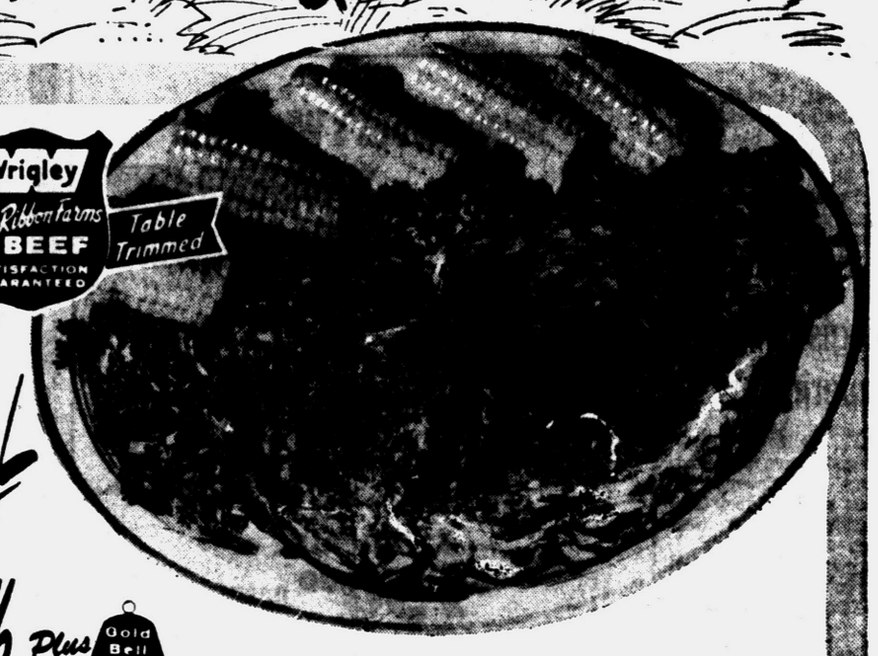

Bake in a buttered baking pan (6 by 8 by 2 inches) in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 35 minutes. Cool in pan set on wire rack. Cut into bars; remove with spatula. These bars taste best shortly after being baked.

The Turkish railroad system needs about 600,000 ties a year. Turkish forests supply about half, and the balance is purchased abroad.

Chocolate Cake Takes to Lemon Chip Topping

Maybe the proximity of the newly arrived lemon chips to their chocolate chip counterparts on the grocery shelves inspired the use of this luscious lemon topping and filling on a rich, dark chocolate cake. Certainly it makes a feast for the eyes as well as the palate.

Each package of the new lemon chips contains six full ounces. They're used in much the same way as chocolate and caramel chips, for sauces, frostings and cookies.

There are recipes for each of these uses on the package, but try this special topping on your favorite chocolate layer cake to introduce new lemon chips to your friends and family.

Lemon Chip Topping

1 cup (6 oz.) lemon chips
½ cup butter
Dash of salt
1¾ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 egg, beaten
3 tablespoons milk

Melt lemon chips in a saucepan over low heat. Cool. Cream butter. Add melted chips, salt, and sugar. Blend. Then beat at highest speed of electric mixer until light and fluffy — about 1 minute. Blend in beaten egg and milk and beat again at highest speed of electric mixer until frosting is creamy and thick enough to spread — about 2 minutes. Spread on cake and chill. Makes about 2-1/3 cups.

Potato Salad Has French Flair

French Potato Salad

1½ pounds new potatoes
¼ cup olive oil
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
¼ cup minced parsley
¼ cup finely chopped scallions (some green tops included)
Salt
Freshly-grated or coarse black pepper

Cook potatoes in their skins in salted boiling water; peel and slice into thin rounds. Beat olive oil and vinegar with a fork; add hot sliced potatoes, parsley and scallion. Mix in gently salt and pepper to taste. Chill before serving. Makes 6 servings.

New Cinnamon Toast

Searching for a new way to serve toast at a brunch or luncheon? Try Chocolate Cinnamon Toast for the gourmet touch. Mix together ½ cup cocoa, 5 tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and 6 tablespoons sugar. Spread it on hot, crisp toast.

Milk-Glazed Crust

Luscious homemade fruit pies are a natural accompaniment to summertime. To make them even more enticing brush the top pastry with undiluted evaporated milk, then sprinkle lightly with granulated sugar. Your pie will emerge from the oven glistening prettily with a light shiny glaze.

Veal Kidneys Delicious With Sauterne Sauce

Skillet Kidneys

2 veal kidneys (1 to 1¼ pounds)
2 tablespoons peanut oil
1¼ cups (1 large) thin onion strips
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
4 tablespoons sauterne

Remove outer membranes from kidneys; split in half; with small sharp knife cut out white veins and fat. Wash in cold water and drain; slice into ½-inch pieces.

Heat oil in 10-inch skillet; add onion and brown lightly. Add kidneys, salt and a dash of pepper; cook and stir over moderately low heat for a few minutes.

Delay Willman Parking Meter Authority

City commissioners balked temporarily last night at giving City Manager Walter K. Willman authority over new parking meters in the city's two parking districts.

"A change this big has got to be given a lot of study," said Commissioner Floyd P. Miles.

It was decided that the change needed at least "three or four weeks" of study.

Commissioners introduced the change in its regular commission meeting, then discussed it briefly during an informal get-together in Willman's office. As proposed, the change was amenable to adoption next week.

Parking meters are at present controlled by the Commission, which must approve any change through ordinance amendment.

They said it would be simpler if Willman had administrative authority to make changes.

★ ★ ★

The city's two parking meter districts are in the downtown business section and at Pontiac General Hospital.

In other business, Willman was authorized to negotiate to buy the lot at 62 Carr St. in order to extend Linda Vista avenue through to Carr next year.

The city manager was also told to pick a $900 option for eight lots on the north side of the sprouting city park on Osmun street between Sanford and Going streets. The additional land would be added to the park area, said Willman.

A hearing was scheduled for Aug. 25 on assessment rolls covering the proposed $313,000 storm-sewer drain in Sallee Woods subdivision in northwest Pontiac. The project is scheduled for next year's construction program.

Next Tuesday there will be a hearing on the assessment roll covering a water main on Palmer drive north of Mt. Clemens street.

No objections were raised at hearings on assessment rolls covering four sidewalk projects and one street improvement. Included were sidewalks on the south side of E. Pike street, Paddock to Mariva; east side of Stirling avenue, Baltimore to Mt. Clemens west side of Stirling, Madison to Mt. Clemens and the west side of Tasmania avenue, Michigan to Lois. The street project involves grading and graveling of Carlisle avenue, Columbia to Ann Arbor, and installation of curbs and gutters.

An ordinance was introduced to separate Pontiac General Hospital employes from the unemployment compensation plan adopted by the city last December. The hospital wants to administer its plan separately from the city.

Several new projects were referred to the Engineering Department for study.

One, requested by Commissioner Milton R. Henry, is a proposal for improved alley facilities south of Orchard Lake avenue between S. Saginaw street and the Grand Trunk Railroad. Eighty-seven per cent of the affected merchants asked for improvements, he said.

Declared a public necessity was replacement of the sidewalk on the north side of W. Walton boulevard, New York to Stanley. Although a neighborhood petition for the sidewalk was signed by only 23 per cent of the affected property owners, Commissioner Miles said replacement was necessary because the existing sidewalk was too low, frequently covered by mud, water and ice.

Placed on the public improvement program was a sanitary sewer on Richmond avenue, Walton boulevard to Brooklyn. Fifty-five per cent of the affected residents petitioned for it.

Two liquor license transfers were approved. Faustin J. Dobski and Marian Natkaniec won permission to transfer lCass C licenses at 568-570 S. Sanford St. from Kenneth and Dorothy Kerbyson, and transfer of the SDM license at 94 Oakland Ave. from Louis Fedonis to Jordan Tenjeras was approved.

House Committee OKs Bond Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee today approved a watered down proposal to allow the Eisenhower administration to pay higher interest rates on government bonds.

However, key members said they did not believe that the controversial legislation would reach the House floor before Congress adjourns for the year. One said the proposal is virtually dead.

The committee vote behind closed doors was reported to have been 15 to 10. All 10 Republicans were understood to have supported the proposal. Democrats split 5 for the plan and 10 against.

Treat Boy for Burns From Boiling Water

Harold Boone Jr., 11, of 719 Alberta St., Pontiac Township, was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital yesterday for burns suffered when he dropped boiling water on himself.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said the boy was boiling a pan full of water on the kitchen stove and spilled it over his left side and stomach when attempting to take it off a burner.

The youngster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Boone Sr., were not at home at the time, deputies said. A sister, Ellen, 12, was with him and informed neighbors of the accident.

4-Cent Stamp Raises Bill of Postal Group

The amount of mail they carry is about the same. But general manager L. E. Ernst told the annual convention Tuesday that the group's own annual postage bill has increased $425 since higher postal rates became effective.

Steel Talks Bog in Legal Work

Negotiators Spend Time on Contract Language as Strike Goes On

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel strike negotiations are "mostly a lawyers' job" in their current phase, says the nation's top mediator.

That's the appraisal given to newsmen by Joseph F. Finnegan, Director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, as the nationwide strike of half a million workers went into its fifth week.

Finnegan is sitting in on contract talks between representatives of the industry and the United Steelworkers Union of America. The talks continue today.

Finnegan said Tuesday that no attempt has yet been made to grapple with money issues. The negotiators are still considering contract language, he said.

Commenting on Union President David J. McDonald's absence from the negotiations Monday and Tuesday, Finnegan said:

McDonald stepped out of the negotiations temporarily after last Friday's session, and is now touring strike centers. He complained that the industry's negotiators were not of high enough rank. R. Conrad Cooper, top industry negotiator and executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp., replied that his team had full authority to deal with the union in behalf of the nation's 12 largest steel companies.

★ ★ ★

Finnegan told newsmen he had received no suggestion from the Eisenhower administration that there should be increased efforts to settle the strike before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrives in the United States next month.

To Help Koreans Go to Communist Section

GENEVA (AP) — The International Red Cross announced today it will help Japan repatriate Koreans who want to go to the Communist sector of their homeland.

The Red Cross also said it will help repatriate those who want to return to South Korea, which has bitterly opposed repatriation to North Korea. South Korea has made no firm offer to repatriate Koreans in Japan or give them jobs.

There are about 600,000 Koreans in Japan, most of them unskilled and destitute. North Korea has offered employment to all who move to the Communist territory. Japanese security officials estimate about 40,000 may take up the offer.

Princeton Lists Course in Journalism 1st Time

PRINCETON, N. J. (UPI) — Princeton University will offer a course in journalism and public relations for the first time during the coming year.

Douglass Cater, 36, Washington correspondent for The Reporter magazine will be the first holder of a newly-established chair of journalism and public relations. However, no permanent appointment was announced.

Soviet Farmer, 'An Old Friend,' Invites Ike

MOSCOW (AP) — President Eisenhower got an invitation Tuesday from a man who said that he — just like the President — has come up in the world since they last met.

Trizno wrote in the Literary Gazette that Eisenhower visited the farm in 1945 and "we have both risen in the ranks since then — Eisenhower from general to President and I from chief zoological technician to state farm manager."

The Literary Gazette also published a picture of Trizno and Eisenhower walking through the farm's dairy barn. Trizno said the farm had changed greatly since Eisenhower's visit.

"Lesnye Polyani is inviting you, Mr. President, our old acquaintance, to be our guest," Trizno wrote. "Come see how we live. There will be no reason for complaint about our hospitality."

Editors Urge 'People to People' Reporting

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Editors called today for "people to people" news reporting to help spread mutual understanding around the world.

Telling the problems and hopes of foreign peoples will do more, they said, than "government to government" reporting emphasizing only policy decisions of major powers.

The need for such reporting was outlined to The Associated Press Managing Editors Assn. here by a committee headed by Robert C. Notson of the Portland Oregonian, which studied foreign news developments in the past year.

This committee is acutely aware that we live in a shriveling world, and an integrated one," Notson's report said. It added that today's newspaper readers "want to know what other people are thinking. They want to know what kind of persons are dealing with us."

Their Power Still Not What They'd Like

Reds Seek Latin Lever in Cuba

(EDITOR'S NOTE: AP Foreign News Analyst William L. Ryan, who was in Cuba when Fidel Castro's rebels punctured Fulgencio Batista's regime last New Year's Day, has just returned from a survey of how the Castro revolution is developing today. In this first of a series of three articles he reports on the status of the Communists in Cuba today.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba's Communists have tried—and failed—to set up what they likely would consider an ideal situation for themselves in present circumstances. Banking on unwitting help from the United States, they now await a fresh opportunity.

To the Communists' delight, there has been a basic misconception of what they are up to in Cuba, and this tends to deflect U.S. attention from their immediate aims.

The Communists know—if many in the United States do not—that they are not strong enough to turn the island of Cuba into a Red satellite.

What they seek is a base for Red operations in the Caribbean and Latin America with complete freedom of action and communications. Cuba thus would be extremely valuable as a lever for creating turmoil all over the area.

The Communists tipped their hands July 17 when Fidel Castro resigned as premier in a maneuver to demonstrate his popularity with the masses.

Within two hours the Communists broadcast an appeal for a "government of national unity," meaning they wanted cabinet representation. They would have settled for one or two ministries and considered the situation ideal at this stage. Castro held them off.

Participation in the government would nail down present Red advantages. The Communists have been highly successful, for example, in penetrating the army, and have the comfort of knowing its high command has many dedicated American - haters. Among the most dedicated of these is the commander - in - chief, Maj. Raul Castro, thin-lipped, fanatical 39-year-old brother of the premier.

The Communists have penetrated the ranks of labor organizations. They are organized, disciplined and dangerous.

A "national unity" government would put the Communists in a good position to provoke angry and ill-considered responses from the United States. These provide Latin American Reds with what they need most: whipping boys as typical examples of "yankee imperialism" trying to dictate to weaker countries.

There are few here who would accuse Castro himself of being Communist. What seems to be happening is that clashes involving North Americans tend to push the regime into the position of standing somewhere between being not antagonistic and being downright sympathetic to the Communist bloc.

The party plays expertly on inferiority complexes of weaker peoples to provoke the defiant attitude of the neglected child kicking its rich uncle in the shins. New revolutions need outside enemies, and "yankee imperialism" fills the bill.

From the moment he took over, Castro found himself pushed more and more into a defensive posture by criticism from the United States. Only recently has he given any indication he realizes the dangerous position into which the Cuban revolution is being maneuvered.

The following story is vouched for by a reliable source: Castro had been debating with advisers about Cuba's sugar crop and how to move it in the world market in the face of slumped price and demand. Somebody informed him how the United States protects Cuba from price fluctuations by buying a sugar quota above the world market. The United States is buying about 3 million long tons of Cuba's current 5.8 million-top crop above the world price. Castro seemed stunned.

"Why," shouted Castro, "didn't somebody tell me about this before?"

Inexperience and amateurishness on the part of members of the regime help strengthen the Communists. Numerically they are not as strong today as they were in the early days of Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship, when they got their first real foothold.

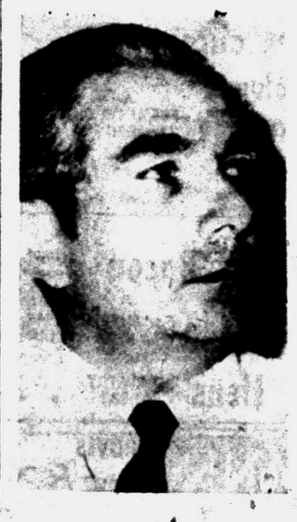

At present the card - carrying Communists probably total about 12,000. Of these only a small number can be considered hard core, working for the interests of Moscow as transmitted by Juan Marinello, party president. Recently he was a glorified guest on a Communist bloc tour.

The Communists seek diligently to create and maintain in Cuba a climate basically hostile to the United States. They may succeed if uninformed and impatient elements in the United States goad Castro's followers into more violent anti-U.S. postures.

The best weapons the United States could use with regard to Cuba are tact, patience and intelligent appraisal of the situation, to prevent what once was a hopeful-looking revolution from taking on an indelible Red color.

LEADS CUBAN REDs — Juan Marinello is the chief of the Communist party in Cuba. His group has recently failed to gain representatation in the revolutionary government.

Adlai Stops on Riviera; Wants No Nomination

NICE, France (AP) — Adlai Stevenson arrived Tuesday for a week's vacation on the Riviera.

Stevenson said he would go to London Aug. 20. He has been making an extended tour of the Mediterranean, with stops in Turkey, Greece and Rome.

When asked about his favorite for the Democratic presidential nomination, Stevenson replied "I have no opinion on this," and repeated that he was not seeking a third nomination.

No Big Job... She's Not Strong

Princess Turns to Work

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI) — My royal source sipped from a long, cool glass filled with liquid and mint on the elegant Italian Terrace of the Les Ambassadeurs club, then chuckled:

"Yes, you could have knocked them all down with a feather at Buckingham Palace when the word came from the apartments of Princess Margaret at Clarence House, a block or so away.

"The princess was actually asking for more work in the way of public dutes. Absolutely unheard of for her, you know—and I think very significant as a pointer to a more serious future. After all she will be 29 soon (Aug. 21) and like the girl in the poem she is:

"Standing with reluctant feet
"Where the brook and river meet."

The Royal Circular, which details the doings of the royal family, confirmed that Margaret recently began for almost the first time to try to take her full share of the burdens which are the destiny of her family.

The week of May 25 and the week of June 29 she even performed a public engagement every day.

★ ★ ★

Not that the pretty little princess has been shirking—although she comes alive at night and would rather spend the mornings in lazy reading of glossy magazines and leisurely dealing with correspondence.

★ ★ ★

She is still nervous about public engagements, sometimes amounting to nausea. She is not physically strong, and the strain of prolonged public duties might be too much for her.

NO BIG JOB

Her more robust sister, Queen Elizabeth, has had a series of minor ailments lately, most of them traceable to the tension of her position.

Incidentally, the paragraph above explains why there is no truth to the occasional rumors that the princess is being considered for a major political job, such as a governor-generalship. She simply has neither the physique nor the temperament.

The princess has never been urged to undertake more work than she felt she could handle. But since the final break with Group Captain Peter Townsend last year she has gladly accepted all the jobs for which she is suited. For one thing, she is anxious to take some of the strain from the shoulders of her beloved sister.

For another, with spinsterhood her probable fate, she is taking the first steps towards the busy and useful life which is supposed to replace marriage and a family—unless she falls in love, as everyone hopes she will, even at this late date.

★ ★ ★

"It's given her a new lease on life," said my source, "and this is a good thing. When she was unoccupied she had too much time to sit around and mope."

HAS CLOSE FRIENDS

For a girl whose temperament can be difficult, Margaret makes some remarkably good friends. She was very close to strapping Judy Montagu, 34, a wealthy, brilliant woman who now lives in Rome but still comes in to see her royal friend.

Miss Cavendish, who also towers over the tiny princess, was raised with her, speaks her mind to her and is one of the influences which have led Margaret to curtail some of her late night activities in favor of her royal responsibilities.

There are other reasons why such night clubs as the Milroy, where a table was once kept empty in case she might appear, see her less often these early mornings.

The melancholy fact is that the gay group of youngsters known the world over as "The Margaret Set" are now mostly staid marrier people with enlarging familes. If the younger society crowd has any leader, it is 22-year-old Princess Alexandra of Kent, cousin of Margaret (who considers the newcomers pretty "dull").

The married members of the old Margaret set generally live in the country, as well, and can't stay out too late because they have to get back home. This isn't much help to the princess who likes to dance most of the night between sips of champagne or whisky and water, and bubbling conversation.

Now that Buckingham Palace knows the princess is anxious to work she will undertake many more duties at home and abroad. She will repersent the Queen at Nigeria's independence celebrations in 1960. But she is not likely to go to the United States.

"I don't think," said my source, "that they feel an American visit will produce the kind of publicity they want. She's a most attractive girl, a glamorous figure, and 8hey chat for hours on the telein places where they do not know the full Townsend story. If she were mobbed by well-wishers, which is possible, it would hardly be the sort of thing one hopes for on these trips."

Margaret's relations with the queen are excellent and she is lonely when her sister is away. They chat for hours on the telephone.

Margaret has no intention of turning Catholic. One of her boy friends is the Rev. Simon Phipps, a rising Church of England clergyman. He is her spiritual adviser.

Through her talks with him she has developed a great interest in high church ritual. This apparently is misinterpreted either honestly or by wishful thinkers.

QUITE WEALTHY

The princess is a moderately wealthy girl in her own right. She receives 6,000 pounds sterling ($16,800) a year from the state. She was a beneficiary under the will of her grandmother, Queen Mary, and received 20,000 pounds (then worth nearly $100,000) in the will of a friend of her family's in 1943.

She has a fine collection of diamonds and other jewelry, part of it family heirlooms. The late diamond mine owner, Dr. John Williamson, gave her a brooch worth 30,000 pounds ($84,000) in 1957 and the Canadian government gave her an $11,000 mink coat in 1958.

The princess likes to read about herself in the newspapers — so much so that courtiers sometimes wonder whether it might have influenced her actions during the Townsend crisis, when almost everything, by accident or design, flamed the public curiosity ever higher and multiplied the headlines accordingly.

Margaret's birthday will be spent at Balmoral. There will be a quiet family lunch and gifts from everybody including Prince Charles and Princess Anne. There is almost certain to be a small bunch of flowers containing a sprig of rosemary. Townsend always sends this, as an old friend if nothing else.

Whooping Cough Case Breaks City Record

Pontiac's two-week record of no communicable diseases was broken last week by one case of whooping cough, according to Oakland County Health Director Dr. John D. Monroe. In the corresponding week last year there were five measles cases in the city.

The county reported a sharp reduction in diseases over the previous week with only one case of measles and one case of whooping cough compared to a total of 33 disease reports two weeks ago including 26 cases of measles.

Following is a comparative list of the communicable diseases reported to the county and city health departments last week:

Seven-Year-Old Outknits Women at County Fair

Dennis Weiler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weiler of Truckee, took up knitting last winter when Sierra snows drove him indoors.

Everyone but Dennis' grandmother, Mrs. L. W. Payne of Roseville, was surprised when the boy carried off a blue ribbon and a third-place white one. Grandmother had entered his handiwork, three sweaters and caps.

He's only a second-grader, so she reads the knitting instructions to him.

Thieves Swipe Car; Owners Were Policemen

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP)—It was only a routine building check, so police officers H. K. Downey and J. W. Brock didn't worry when they left their patrol car. But when they returned it was gone. Fifteen minutes later the embarrassed officers found the car parked in front of a nearby cafe.

Knoxville Schools 'Study' Integration

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Knoxville City School Board voted Monday night not to integrate the public schools this fall.

The action was a rejection of an individual appeal by a Negro pastor, the Rev. Nathaniel Linsey, asking that all schools be opened to Negroes with the fall term.

After hearing his appeal, the board adopted a motion that "the board publicly announces it does not intend to integrate the schools at this time, but will continue to study the problem."

Hal Boyle Urges:

Let's Show Khrushchev True Americana

NEW YORK (AP)—Have you played America's newest game? It's called What-I-Would-Show-Nikita.

Every adult American seems to have his own ideas about what we ought to show Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev during his history making visit next month.

Some would brusquely show him the door. Some would sweep the dirt under the rug and let him see only the parlor—first counting the silver, of coure.

But, perhaps surprisingly, a majority of letter writers to the newspapers on this topic favor showing the Soviet leader the great American house from top to bottom — not only the spotless kitchen and living room, but also the debris in the attic and the leaky corner in the basement.

BOYLE

They want him to see us with our best foot forward, true, but they also have a ruggedly honest wish that he see the bad about us as well as the good—the defects we know we have and have not yet corrected.

Behind this attitude lies a wholesome and sturdy desire to prove to Khrushchev—or any one else who comes along—that, above all, Americans aren't hypocrites.

It can be assumed he will see the Manhattan skyline, the Statue of Liberty, the Empire State building, and the nation's capital.

He also probably will see huge factories, vast farms and crowded oilfields.

What could you show him that would give him a real feeling about America?

The New York Stock Exchange.

A Sunday drive through any neat suburban town anywhere in America, just as the churches are letting out.

A New England town meeting, to show him that in America democracy and government spring from the individual.

An integrated public school in New York. The public school is the place where, above all, the melting pot melds all races and creeds into Americans.

Any strike-bound town, such as Homestead, Pa., to show him that labor in America is not a total prisoner of either capital or government.

A major department store during a big sale.

A Sunday afternoon dinner in any home he chose to call on, to see what kind of table the average American wife sets for her family. Or papa sets—if it's a backyard cookout.

A visit to Harlem and the Bowery, or the slums and skid-row sections of any big American city —and the dents being made in them by new housing developments.

The Gridiron banquet in the nation's capital, when top U. S. officials sit and watch themselves being satirized in sharp but good-natured ridicule. Is that done anywhere but America?

Go through the United Nations on a guided tour with tourists from all over the country—to find how greatly a hope for peace is part of the American dream.

If Khrushchev does these things, he may or may not like us any better — but he'll understand Americans as they really are. And he'll surely feel the trip was worthwhile.

English Paper Comments on Toledo Malls

The article on the malls was carried in a Croydon, England, newspaper in a column called "This Is America."

Toledo has converted two blocks each of Adams street and Madison avenue into attractive malls to see if this will lure retail business downtown from the outlying shopping centers. After a 45-day test, the city will appraise the results and decide whether to make permanent malls.

Mail Slightly Overdue

Snake Makes Pilot Come Down Quick

Airport mechanics — wearing gloves — dismantled the panel and gingerly lifted out an 18-inch snake, later identified as an Anaconda.

Seren figures it crawled aboard when the plane was in Mexico.

He'll Miss His Pooch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mary Lieblich, 49, was awarded custody of the family dachshund at a pre-divorce hearing Monday. But her salesman husband, Ernest, 45, was granted visitation rights.

A recent survey by the American Music Conference indicated that 450,000 Americans now play the harmonica.

Sec. Hare Urges Hike in Detective Standards

LANSING (UPI) — Secretary of State James M. Hare has called for a tightening of licensing qualifications for "private eyes."

Hare, who announced yesterday there are 107 private detective agencies in Michigan, said there was need for a law that would spell out experience and education requirements.

Would Rewrite Immigration

Sen. Clifford P. Case Wants Alien Fiances to Come to U.S. Quickly

WASHINGTON (AP)—It should be as easy for any American to marry an alien as it is for a Rockefeller, Sen. Cifford P. Case (R-NJ) says.

"We all rejoice at the good fortune of young Steven Rockefeller, who met Miss Anne Marie Rasmussen of Norway while she was in this country," Case told the Senate.

"Subsequently he went to Norway and won the lady's hand.

"But for many another young American less blessed with financial resources, there may be many months or years of weary waiting for the girl of his dreams to reach her turn on the quota list."

Case recommended changing the immigration laws so that the alien fiance of an American citizen would be allowed to enter the United States, regardless of the quota system.

Mailboxes on Buses Could Speed Delivery

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Postmaster Otto K. Olesen has come up with a novel idea:

Mail boxes on buses.

He made the proposal Tuesday to the Metropolitan Transit Authority. The MTA referred it to its executive director, C. M. Gilliss.

Olesen said that on some lines the delivery of mail could be speeded six hours within the city.

Sixty per cent of all apparel in the United States is made of cotton.

Blasts Miriani, Michigan at Negro Medical Parley

DETROIT (AP) — A prominent opponent of Negro segregation claims the absence of Detroit Mayor Louis C. Miriani from a Negro medical convention here is "proof that Jim Crow is not limited to the South."

★ ★ ★

"You didn't escape it when you came to Michigan," Thurgood Marshall told the National Medical Assn. Tuesday. Marshall, a Negro, is chief legal counsel of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People. "Your mayor was not only not here," Marshall said, "but there was no explanation why he was not here. There must be some good reason. The National Medical Assn. is important enough for him to make the reason for his absence clear."

★ ★ ★

The association claims a membership of some 5,000 doctors, 1,500 of whom were at the convention.

Miriani said later he didn't know he was scheduled to welcome the group. "I know nothing about it," he said. "There was nothing on my schedule about it. Mr. Marshall ought to check his facts before he makes these statements."

★ ★ ★

Marshall also was critical of treatment of the Negro professional man in Southern states.

"The Negro professional man in the South has thought he could escape Jim Crow but, as long as separate professional societies are needed, the Negro professional man has not escaped," Marshall said.

Rule Crowley Death Liquor-Pill Accident

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Joseph P. Crowley's death was accidental, the result of a combination of liquor and sedatives, a coroner says.

★ ★ ★

Crowley, a businessman and former Yale football star, was recently acquitted of manslaughter charges by a Tokyo court in the death of his brother-in-law and business associate, T. A. D. Jones Jr. 45. Crowley died Sunday, his 50th birthday, when he was alone at home. His wife and three children were at their summer home in nearby Madison.

★ ★ ★

County Coroner James J. Corrigan said Tuesday examination showed Crowley had taken about seven sleeping pills, and he estimated from the amount of alcohol in the blood that Crowley might have taken eight or 10 drinks.

State Department Official Blasts Citizens Abroad

ORONO, Maine (UPI) — Robert H. Thayer, the State Department's cultural exchange chief, said Tuesday that many of the 1,600,000 Americans now living overseas are not good ambassadors for the United States.

Thayer urged that the U.S. education system be geared toward "the world outlook" to correct the shortcoming.

He told a University of Maine audience that of the thousands of students who study or tour abroad, only about one third are even reasonably well prepared for contacts with European people and fewer yet for visiting Asia or the Near East.

"Hundreds of thousands of Americans," Thayer said, "are literally barging their way into contact with foreign cultures every day and are finding the going very rough."

State Temperance Man Leaves for Oklahoma

LANSING (AP)—Rev. Ross J. McLennan, executive director of the Michigan Temperance Foundation, will leave Sept. 1 for a similar position in Oklahoma.

Rev. McLennan, a Methodist minister, has held the Michigan post since January 1955 after resigning as vice president of Taylor University, Upland, Ind.

A successor has not yet been named.

The Olde Towne of St. George, original capital of Bermuda, which was founded in 1609, is believed to be the oldest continuous English-speaking settlement in the Western Hemisphere.

Will Aid Education of Deaf

Sign Language Can Be Written

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A new alphabet has been created to help the education of children who live in a world of silence.

The project is a translation into printed symbols of the hand and finger signals used by deaf persons to communicate.

It's expected to pay big dividends in helping deaf children learn how to read and write English. Mastering such skills is especially hard for persons who can't hear.

The translation, which took two years to complete, is the work of Dr. William C. Stokoe of Washington, D. C.'s Gallaudet College. Gallaudet is the only college for deaf students in the United States. It's also the country's principal research center for finding better ways to teach these unfortunate youngsters.

"Up to now, the dominant opinion has been that sign language was not a language at all. We have discovered, however, that it is a language in every respect."

He explains that like spoken languages, the system of signals contains definite parts of speech. Also like other languages, these parts of speech must be arranged in a certain order to make a sentence. The rules of order, however, often differ from English requirements.

Thus, Dr. Stokoe's symbols give the deaf a visual comparison of their sign language with printed English. It's believed this comparison will enable them to learn more quickly how to read and write correct English.

DR. WILLIAM C. STOKOE, shown here demonstrating sign language for "Do you remember?", "Yes, I tried," and "Please turn off the lights," has translated the signs into symbols, thus developing a written language for the deaf.

The symbols — letters, numbers, punctuation and proofreaders' marks — are also expected to be extremely useful in teaching instructors the sign language.

This project is expected to show how growing up in these schools affects them psychologically.

Gallaudet officials are also making an occupation survey to determine which jobs are the most suitable for deaf people.

They want to find out how a hearing handicap affects job efficiency and business and social relations. Such information will be highly important to counselors and rehabilitation experts.

Officials of the American Hearing Society, a nation-wide non-profit organization concerned with helping the hard-of-hearing, estimate that 15 million Americans are afflicted. At least four million of them are children.

Many AHS chapters provide special classes to help afflicted persons learn how to make full use of their remaining hearing ability. Some chapters provide lip reading courses and fit people with hearing aids. Local chapters that do not offer these services provide information on where they may be obtained.

Doctors explain that a hearing loss can result from a severe illness or accident. It's also believed that many persons inherit hearing afflictions. Often babies whose mothers catch German measles during pregnancy, are born with a hearing deficiency.

AHS officials advise seeing a doctor at the first sign of hearing trouble. They explain that sometimes a seemingly minor affliction can lead to deafness.

Have your hearing tested with an audiometer at regular intervals.

Keep ears clean without using match sticks, paper matches, metal objects or harsh materials.

Effects Can Mushroom Fast

Steel Strike Toll Starting

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The month-old steel strike is beginning to take its toll in the stock market.

The deadlocked labor dispute is one of the uncertainties that tripped up the bull market. It ranks only second to the popularly credited upsetting factor: The chance of a thaw in the cold war.

Both are feeding the urge to cash in paper profits after the long price rise in stocks, or what market pundits like to call a technical correction — meaning that price levels look shaky.

The steel strike itself has yet to hurt the over-all economy. Its effects are felt in communities where steel mills are closed. Allied industries, coal and railroads, are slowed. The hurt shows up in lower retail sales. In time it may show up in defaults or delayed payments on time purchases.

The strike shows signs of spreading throughout the metal industries, with copper mines closing and aluminum plants facing labor troubles.

If the steel strike lasts past Labor Day—as many in Wall Street now believe it may—the effects on other industries may mushroom fast.

SEPTEMBER CRITICAL

Many firms have built up steel inventories to last for some time, but some companies haven't been able to, and shutdowns will be part of the day's news in September.

What seems to worry the stock market most is that the chance of an eraly settlement of the steel strike seems dim. Both sides in the dispute have taken firm stands and show little indication of yielding.

Most market analysts are on record as believing that the current business boom won't be halted if the steel strike ends in September. After that, they aren't so sure. And the stock market, always sensitive to uncertainties, has reflected that fear.

Death Count in Icy Alps Now at 148

Barely 10 weeks after the annual rush to climb Europe's most challenging mountains got under way, an Associated Press survey of five countries showed at least 148 climbers killed.

The toll promised to exceed the 385 killed in the blackest mountain climbing season ever recorded, in 1957.

So far this year at least 51 climbers have died in mountaineering accidents in the Australian Alps, 33 in Italy, 27 in Switzerland, 15 in Germany, and 22 in France.

FRIED PIKE FILLETS — Deep fat frying of fish done the right way makes it delightful. When done correctly, it's crispy outside and flaky inside. Use any white-meated fillets.

Deep Fat Frying Has Own Rules

Summer outings bring lots of good things, among them the tantalizing smell and delightful taste of fried fish — crispy outside, flaky inside—no matter whether you catch the fish yourself or buy them at a fish dealer's or supermarket.

* * *

Although frymg is one of the most popular methods of fish cookery, many people don't know how to deep-fat fry fish properly, with the result that the fish is often overcooked, fried unevenly, too greasy, or broken up. To advise American housewives how to fry fish in deep fat, the National Fisheries Institute tells us how an expert—the chief cook in a northern Wisconsin resort—cooks pike. (With this recipe, any white-meated fillets may be used, of course.)

Fried Pike Fillets

Sprinkle 1 pound pike fillets with salt and pepper. Add I tablespoon paprika to 1 cup seasoned bread crumbs. (Seasoned bread crumbs are available in many fish markets. If unacailable, prepare your own with 1 cup fine dry bread crubs, ½ teaspoon garlic power, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ⅛ teaspoon powdered thyme.)

Dip fish in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat (365 degrees on deep-fat thermometer) until golden brown, about 3 to 4 minutes. Drain and serve immediately. Makes 3 servings.

Back in the 1880's the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railway in Arkansas tried to encourage travelers with the enticement that "there will be no charges for dogs and guns."

Watermelon Goes Well With Other Fruit

We are now deep into the lush watermelon season. It extends from May through September. During the summer months Georgia, the Carolinas, Florida and states further north supply the east while California, Arizona and Oregon supply the western market. Watermelon is 92.1 per cent water with calorie count of 58 per pound. So eat all you like.

Combined with other fresh fruits, it makes ideal summer salads and cups.

Fresh Watermelon and Raspberry Sherbet

Soften 1 envelope unflavored gelatin in ¼ cup cold water. Place over hot water (not boiling) to melt. Set aside to use later. Put through a sieve, 3 cups diced fresh watermelon and 1 cup fresh raspberries. Stir in melted gelatin, 1 cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice.

Turn into an ice cube tray and freeze until almost firm, stirring once. Turn into the large bowl of the electric mixer. Add I unbeaten egg white. Beat at high speed until the mixture is light and fluffy. Return to freezing tray and freeze until firm, stirring once. Makes 1 quart.

Molded Watermelon Fresh Fruit Salad

Soften 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin in ½ cup cold water. Place over hot water (not boiling) to melt. Blend with 2½ cups fresh watermelon juice, ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons fresh lime or lemon juice and 1/8 teaspoon salt. Chill until the mixture begins to thicken.

* * *

Fold in ½ cup each, fresh blueberries, sliced fresh strawberries and sliced fresh peaches. Turn into a 5-cup mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm and ready to serve. Turn out onto a serving plate. Garnish with salad greens and serve with mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.

Note: To make watermelon juice, force diced watermelon through a sieve.

Fresh Raspberry Watermelon Cup

Wash 1½ cups fresh raspberries and force through a sieve. Add ½ cup sugar and mix well. Pour over 4 cups chilled diced watermelon or watermelon balls. Spoon into dessert dishes and garnish each with fresh mint. Makes 6-8 servings.

Freighter Goes Aground

BAY CITY (AP)—The freighter, John A. Kling, carrying 11,145 tons of sand for the Robert Gage Coal Co., went aground three times Friday in the Saginaw River. The 538-foot vessel was able to free herself each time.

Minneapolis has been famous for its flour mills for 70 years.

Interclub Swim Championships at Forest Lake

Between 125 and 150 young swimmers from a half dozen district country clubs, will compete in the annual Interclub Swimming Championships, Saturday and Sunday at the Forest Lake Country Club's pool.

Both boys and girls, between the ages of eight and 16, will participate, under direction of Forest Lake's swimming chairman, Sterling Gordon.

Here's What's Current in Wedding Gown and Tux

This gown of silk-faced peau de soie is proper for formal weddings. The bell shaped skirt and bodice are reembroidered with Alencon lace and seed pearls.

This bride has selected a gown of silk taffeta accented with appliques of reembroidered Alencon lace. The skirt features draped panniers caught in a back pouf. The bridesmaid is wearing a taffeta dress with draped shoulder straps.

June Not Only Month Popular for Marriages

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

The marriage license bureau in Pontiac reported 455 marriage licenses were issued to Oakland County residents in the month of June. Despite this staggering figure for the traditional wedding month — don't let it fool you.

June is no longer the only month of many weddings. For instance Christmas season is time for brides and September and August are becoming increasingly popular months for nuptial exchanges. This department wrote more than 20 wedding stories for the first two Saturdays of August. And these were only for Pontiac residents.

If you are among the future bride set and have picked a date in one of the coming months, here are a few wedding fashion ideas. And we haven't forgotten the bridegrooms either.

Fete Area Girl at an Outdoor Bridal Shower

Judy Wilkins, bride-elect of Robert James Slais was honored at an outdoor bridal shower Sunday afternoon at the home of her fiance's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Slais of Orchard Lake. Miss Wilkins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Wilkins also of Orchard Lake. Cohostesses were Mrs. Ruby West and Mrs. Lawrence Giesey.

Guests were Mrs. Wilkins, Mrs. Howard Knowles, Mrs. George West, Mrs. Hugh Ruggles, Mrs. Robert Shaw, Mrs. Omar Davidson, Mrs. C. B. Meyer and Mrs. Jack Riker.

Others were Mrs. Dennis Singleton, Mrs. James Bays, Mrs. G. H. Clear, Mrs. Richard Dolby, Mrs. Rosewell Haskell, Mrs. Joseph Nephew, Mrs. James Welles, Sylvia Pian and Kaye Wilkins of Detroit and Polly Lou White of Ottawa Lake.

All Saints Scene of Wedding

Nancy Ann Newman and Kjell Per Danielson were married Saturday morning at All Saints Church. The Rev. C. George Widdifield officiated at the ceremony before immediate family members.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ray. G. Newman of Riviera street and Herbert Danielson of Maceday Lake road and the late Mrs. Danielson.

Following a breakfast at Devon Gables, the couple left for a honeymoon through northern Michigan. They will live in Ann Arbor where the bride is attending University of Michigan School of Nursing.

Horton-Horsley Vows Spoken

Mrs. George Horsley of Marquette street announces the recent marriage of her daughter, Sandra Elizabeth to Donald Horton. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Horton of Owosso.

The couple is living in Owosso. Both attend Ferris Institute. The bridegroom is a June graduate.

Fancy Hose Glamorizes

The leggy look that came with short skirts has led to a new concept in hosiery—checked, tweed, twill and lace stockings. They are made to flatter legs, giving them texture and form, says the designer.

The checked type is for casual wear, the shadow twill is in deep tones for dressy occasions and lightened browns for town. Tweed comes in salt-and-pepper and iridescent blonde colors. The lace stockings are designed of stretch nylon for evening.

Be Frank About Odd Mealtime

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Occasionally, my husband has to work on a Sunday, and when he does, we have our dinner when he comes home which is about four-thirty. Last Sunday (which happened to be my husband's Sunday to work) some friends of ours from a neighboring town drove over to see us after their dinner and stayed the afternoon. When my husband came home, I didn't know what to do about getting dinner since there wasn't enough to ask them to stay and it didn't seem right to leave them sitting in the living room alone while we had our dinner, so we just sat and talked and as a result we didn't have anything to eat until late that evening. Will you please tell me how I could tactfully have handled this situation?

★ ★ ★

Answer: I think you should have taken the situation naturally and frankly and said, "John and I have dinner at a very strange hour when he has to work and I must go and get it ready now. I'm sorry that I can't ask you to join us but it happens that we have very little in the house today. I can gladly offer you a cup of coffee and I'm sorry that this is the best I can do." There's nothing rude about this and I think they would be greatly disturbed should they find out that you and your husband went hungry on their account.

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter's husband has just been transferred to the West Coast and she is going out there to live. Some of our friends and acquaintances have given her letters to their friends on the Coast. Exactly what does she do with these letters?

Answer: She mails the letters when she arrives on the Coast and the people who receive them are expected to go to see her and show her some hospitality, or at least what courtesies they can.

Dear Mrs. Post: When a box of candy is sent to a bereaved family, should it be gift wrapped, or just wrapped in plain paper?

Answer: Plain paper is in better taste.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it in good taste in a large city for a man to wear black and white or brown and white shoes during the summer months in a business office? There has been a good bit of controversy about this and I would appreciate your opinion on the matter. (Chicago)

Answer: They are not in good taste in a business office.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-1, entitled, "Announcing the Engagement," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E.P., care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Shower Honors Pontiac Bride-Elect of Sept. 12

Beryl Stevens, bride-elect of Coda M. Edwards of Ferndale, was honored at a shower Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Leon Tatro of Fourth avenue. Mrs. Wilbert Verpooten assisted Mrs. Tatro, her mother.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stevens of Fourth avenue, Miss Stevens will marry Mr. Edwards, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ceaphus Edwards of Ferndale, Sept. 12.

Guests were Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Jack Bilkey, Mrs. Clarence Edwards, Mrs. Howard Bratt, Mrs. Jess Williams, Mrs. Robert Saunders, Mrs. Louis Teabeau and Mrs. Ed McDonald.

Others were Mrs. Edward Vine, Mrs. M. A. Harbert, Patricia Harbert, Mrs. Gene Kuhn, Mary Kuhn, Jean Hunt, Roberta Hunt, Mrs. LaVerne Cox, Mrs. H. W. Reeve and Miss Stevens' aunt, Mrs. Clint Liber of Canton, Ohio.

Mrs. Liber will attend as matron of honor for the wedding. Bridesmaids will be Mary Kuhn and Mrs. Verpooten.

Hints for the Bride on Special Day

Every bride hopes to look her loveliest on her wedding day. And she will if she remembers to strive for a soft, natural beauty.

She'll want, too, to capture the charm of her wedding in her bridal photographs. And here, particularly, is where relaxed, natural loveliness plays a most important role.

There are many do's and don'ts involved in being photographed, and knowing what they are can make the difference between a beautiful wedding picture and what looks like a comic valentine.

★ ★ ★

Don't experiment with an exotic new hair style for your wedding day. You want to reflect your own personality, not the hairdresser's. Nix on new permanents, too. They may look rigid.

Last-minute primping before you face the camera will take care of any stray wisps.

Foundation cream and a LIGHT dusting of powder will cover small imperfections and photograph naturally. If applied heavily, make-up will emphasize wrinkles and blemishes.

If you are very young, some photographers recommend that you don't use any make-up base or powder at all. To get the effect of dewiness in a photograph, try using a light film of petroleum jelly. It imparts a glow and makes facial planes more apparent. Forget about rouge—it shows up black in photos.

EXOTIC EYES

Pale lashes and brows should be darkened with mascara and pencil. If you want to make your eyes look more luxuriously fringed, draw a thin pencil line at the base of the lashes from the corners of outer edges.

If your brows are naturally dark, just use a thin coating of petroleum jelly instead of eyebrow pencil. Go easy on eyeshadow, too. It photographs dark, and you may look tired in your pictures.

Be particularly careful about your lipstick. Use a soft shade and outline your mouth clearly. for any unevenness of line will be picked up and magnified by the camera. Blot your lips to give them a mat finish. Then just before your picture is taken, moisten them slightly and they'll have the necessary gleam.

Last, but important, relax. The best and most natural looking photographs are taken when there is no sign of tension.

Look as naturally lovely as you should as a bride, follow these simple rules, and your photos will be delightful memories of your wedding day.

Fathers Have Job for Wedding, Too

Bridegroom's father is the lucky man. He dances the third dance with his daughter-in-law; otherwise, he carries on as a guest.

'Right Hand' Man

Best man at wedding acts as the bridegroom's right hand. He sets up details for the bachelor dinner and helps bridegroom dress for wedding. He also keeps the ring until it is needed, and sends thank-you telegram to the bride's parents in bridegroom's name.

White silk organza is the fabric used for this wedding gown that features a scooped portrait neckline and brief "shell" sleeves.

Women's Section

His Attire Is Important, Too

Here's What Bridegrooms Wear

NEW YORK (NEA) — It doesn't take a brilliant physicist to figure out that for every bride there's a bridegroom. But somehow the bridegrooms get lost in the nuptial shuffle, buried under a heap of bridal bouquets, Chantilly lace and satin gowns.

But the bridegroom is always there, standing quietly by. And, if there's one in the audience, he'd better learn a few facts about weddings.

What he wears is governed by three factors, according to an authority who specializes in this kind of thing. These factors are where the wedding is held, what time of day and what the bride is wearing.

To commence with the gory (but glorious) details:

WHERE: If the wedding is held in a church, it demands formal attire. If it's in a home, the formality is optional. If you run away to some justice of the peace, formal wear is frowned on.

WHEN: Six p.m. is the witching hour — any wedding before six is a daytime affair, and daytime formal wear is applicable. After six, you switch to evening attire. Another "when" factor is the season. In the summer in most sections of the country, you can wear a white jacket. Of course, in the warmer climates (Florida, California, etc.) a white jacket is proper the year around.

BRIDE DECIDES

Let us suppose she's wearing an ultra-formal creation, with a long train and all that finery.

If it's a daytime affair (before six p.m., remember?) then the groom should wear the height of masculine formal attire — the cut-away. An oxford gray coat with gray double-breasted waistcoat, striped trousers, silk ascot tie with wing collar shirt (or a four-in-hand tie with a turned down collar, as an option), black shoes, gray suede gloves, silk top hat — that's the outfit.

At a very formal nighttime wedding, the bridegroom must white-tie it. The tailcoat is the thing, with matching trousers. A white pique shirt, wing collar, white bow tie, white waistcoat, white gloves, silk top hat and black shoes comprise the nighttime formal outfit known to most of us as "tails."

Take a bride who isn't too formal — semiformal, they call it. Here the bridegroom wears an oxford gray jacket variously known as a "stroller", or a "walking coat" instead of the cutaway, but the same striped trousers. With this, he should have a fold collar, gray striped tie, black shoes and either a Homburg or derby. The tie can be either ascot or four-in-hand.

Incidentally, at all these weddings, the bridegroom, best man and father of the bride should be dressed identically. You can tell them apart by what they wear in their buttonholes — the bridegroom usually wears a sprig of lily of the valley in his, with carnations for the other men.

And if that doesn't work, look at their faces. The one with the worried look is the bridegroom.

Chief Ushers Are Busy Men Today

Chief usher supervises the other ushers' seating of families, and guests at the ceremony and escorts mothers of the bridal couple to their respective seats.

He also assigns various duties to ushers. Ushers greet and seat guests, walk in procession, escort unattached bridesmaids to reception.

Fish are unafraid of underwater divers who are equipped with underwater lungs and headpieces. If the diver remains motionless, bass and sunfish will stop and peer through the glass face mask.

Dear Abby Says:

Lonesome Widower Rushing Deal

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a man who buries his wife on Monday and asks you for a date the following Saturday?

I accepted—out of sympathy—and he acted like a sailor who was just off the boat. His wife was a good friend of mine and I know she was sick for a long time, but I don't think there was any excuse for the hurry this man was in to make up for lost time.

ABBY

I told him I didn't think I should go out with him in public again because people might talk. So he's been parking himself here every night telling me how lonesome he is. I think he is rushing things too much. How can I slow him up without discouraging him completely?

WIDOW WOMAN

DEAR WIDOW: A man who shows so little respect for the memory of his departed wife doesn't deserve much consideration. Tell him plainly that you refuse to be alone with him until the customary mourning period has passed. If you're wise, you'll put this man "on ice" for a year. He could use some cooling off.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Has the world gone insane? This afternoon I saw a young woman nursing her baby on a bus! I was so ashamed for the other people on the bus that I stood in front of her and made a "curtain" with my coat! She sneered at me as though I were out of my head. Are women nursing their babies in public these days, or was this one a little off?

MORTIFIED

DEAR SHOCKED: Mothers usually nurse their babies in private—or they should. But occasionally a non-conformist will come along and disregard everything and everyone except her baby and his feeding schedule. In which case—those present simply turn their attention elsewhere.

DEAR ABBY: I am so shook I don't know what to do. I've been going with this guy for about a year. I am 18 and he is 19. To make a long story short, I thought we had to get married so we told our parents, and we have plans to be married a week from this Sunday.

But we don't have to get married. Should I tell him or be quiet about it and let things go on as planned?

I love him very much and am afraid he wouldn't marry me unless he thought he had to.

IN A MESS

DEAR IN: Tell the boy (and your parents) there is no reason to rush the wedding. If you feel that the boy wouldn't marry you unless he thought he "had to," turn him loose. A trapped man makes a poor husband. Now, young lady, thank your lucky stars that your lesson was not as expensive as it might have been. Elevate your morals, and resolve never to get yourself into a situation like this one again.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you will think I am crazy when you read this letter, but here goes: I have heard that if you think about a person real, real hard they will get the message and start thinking about you, too. I have tried it and when I called this certain party on the telephone, he said he was busy doing something and was surprised to hear from me. How come?

ERNA

DEAR ERNA: You are referring to something very few people know anything about. (Extrasensory perception and mental telepathy.) Don't waste your time concentrating on someone in the hope that he will "get the message." Write a letter instead.

Draped to add a dash of color to the new "man-tailored" look is this silk square in vibrant geometric patterns. It's draped around the neck and into the belt.

Happy or Unhappy It's Your Decision

By RUTH MILLETT

"I have learned a little trick," said the leading actress in a TV play. "Every morning you have a chance to decide whether today you will be happy or unhappy. So each morning when I wake up I say to myself, 'Today I am going to be happy.'"

That's a neat trick — and one very few persons in real life have ever caught on to.

Instead of waking up to a new day we are determined to find some happiness in, most of us wake up to the nagging feeling that today we have to get more accomplished than we can possibly do easily or with any kind of pleasure.

Usually these hectic days we face week after week and month after month are actually of our own choosing. We could quit planning too much for one day. We could say "no" occasionally instead of giving so many grudging "yeses." We could put a little thought in figuring out ways of making our routine jobs easier and cutting out unnecessary work that we pile up for ourselves.

But instead we get in the habit of taking on more than we should and letting work pile up ahead of us so that we rarely accomplish all that we intend to in any one day.

Another mistake we make is in not planning for every day something that we can look forward to with happy anticipation—whether that small thing is seeing an old friend, brousing in a library, working in a garden, beginning a new book, or whatever.

For it takes more than easing the demands upon us to make us face a new day happily. It takes the positive action of planning something we can look forward to—so that no day is just another hectic day of doing things we should but nothing we really want to do.

As the actress said, we do choose each morning whether or not we will be happy or unhappy.

The number of immigrants added to Canada's population in 1958 was only about 50,000, compared with more than 200,000 the year before.

HAIR and HATS

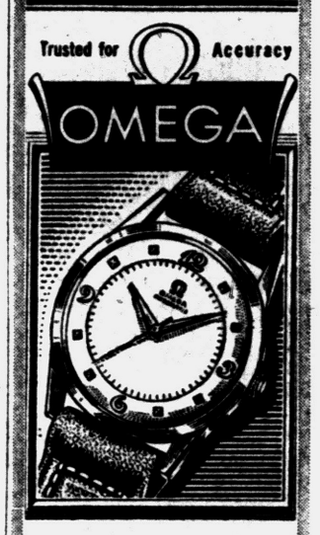

Hat and hair will unite this fall. The newest trend is toward hair that is smooth on top, slightly longer with gently curled up edges. This styling offers an excellent foil for large brimmed and profile draped hats. Wisps of hair will show at top and sides.

High crowns also play an important role in the hat-hair marriage. Although they will cover a good portion of the hair, their height affords enough room to accommodate high-piled hair. In every respect . . . both hats and hair are to be feminine.

'But They Listened'

Tots Disrupt Concert

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — Imagine being invited to a concert and walking into a room full of shouting, exuberant youngsters, aged 3 to 6.

As the children's voices intermingle with the strains of Tschaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite," the orchestra conductor solemnly leads a congo line.

Somebody flipped?

Nope, it's a Tiny Tots concert.

To facilitate the movement of its youthful guests, the orchestra seated itself in the middle of the room.

TOTS TAKE OVER

And for a full hour, while the musicians played, the 130-odd small fry had the run of the room. They jumped, tussled, yelled and marched. They explored those shiny-looking instruments and added their own interpretation of how they should be played.

But they listened, too.

And this, according to Hegyi, was the primary purpose of the whole thing.

AN EXPERIMENT

"It was an attempt to generate interest in music at an early age when some people think it's not possible," he said.

"We're just trying to break down barriers. No one is too young for music. If it becomes part of their lives, it will remain so from 2 to 102.

"We were very relaxed. We weren't in tune and it didn't matter."

Good Health Gives Good Complexions

Good health habits may not be the gang's way but for bright eyes, hair and skin and a lot of pep, take care of yourself. Complexion problems plague most teen-agers.

Many irritate the situation by ignoring daily use of soap and water. They also stuff themselves with gooey desserts and not enough fresh fruits and vegetables.

Migration added slightly more than 250,000 persons to the population of the United States in 1958, several thousand less than in 1957.

Unselfish Person Apt to Be Self Centered

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Sporty is 17, good-looking, and the apple of his mother's eye. He drives her to the beauty parlor and promises to pick her up at 4:45.

At 4:30 as she's reading a magazine under the drier, he telephones. He says, "Hi. All beautiful now? Look, is it O. K. if I don't pick you up? I'm over at the Caldwells' playing tennis. I can't leave before we've finished the set. Besides, they want me to stay to supper. You don't mind, do you?"

It's a Saturday afternoon. The bus home will be hot, crowded and uncomfortable. It will get her home too late to roast the lamb and shell the peas. Her permanent is on its last legs and she'd planned to leave her hair-set's pin curls uncombed until tomorrow morning.

But she doesn't say, "Of course I mind. Why did you promise to pick me up if you planned to play tennis? No sir, I'll expect you to keep your word." What she says is, "All right, dear. Have a good time."

But the beautiful warming sense of virtue she expects to feel after this act of unselfishness doesn't come. Returning to the drier, she suddenly feels too tired to finish the magazine story. As she pays the cashier, she becomes aware that she's developed a headache.

Though she is proud of regarding herself as unimportant, her body isn't. It's begun to punish her for her "unselfishness."

Psychoanalyst Erich Fromm describes the "unselfish" person as one "who wants nothing for himself; who lives only for others and is proud that he doesn't consider himself important."

Then he adds, "Behind the facade of his 'unselfishness' is hidden a subtle and intense self-centeredness."

Sometimes if the headaches and other physical symptoms that so often follow our acts of "unselfishness" become painful enough, we are willing to explore the truth in Dr. Fromm's words.

We may be able to see that by treating ourselves as unimportant, we are in fact claiming a very superior importance. By pretending that we are more interested in Sporty's convenience than in our own, we are telling him we are a better person than he is. We are saying, "See, though you don't care about my convenience, I care awfully about yours."

Let your child join in the fun of making a Jack and the beanstalk measuring stick. Use a sheet of plain plastic to be attached to the wall with masking tape or make the beanstalk directly on the wall. The stem is a strip of plastic tape and the beans are cut from yellow tape. Double-faced tape fastens a cloth measuring tape down the center.

Janet L. Deem was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Patricia Marie Oaks, the bridegroom's sister and Mrs. Charles Musson of Howell. They were dressed in nylon chiffon dresses with draped bodices. Don't Be Timid; Others Enjoy Your Perfume

The notion that a tiny dab of perfume is "ladylike" is a carryover from the Victorian era. It's an extension of the attitude that once said that rouging was "fast" or that no nice woman colored her lips.

In 1959, we make a dashing use of make-up. In the big cities, false eyelashes, eye-shadow and eye-liner are worn in the daytime. Perfume is worn all day long.

But since the primary purpose of perfume is to give pleasure to yourself and others, don't be timid about applying it. The woman who can drift through a room leaving a trail of carnation scent didn't get that way by putting a dab behind one ear.

Fun and Exercise

Get Yourself a Bike Again

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is surprising that more folks do not ride bicycles. Of course in many countries this is the main form of transportation.

So many men and women give up this pleasant physical exercise from childhood on. This is such a shame for swimming and bicyling are two exercises you can take down the years with you because of their mildness.

The habit of riding a bicycle has many advantages. In the first place it is fun and gets you outdoors. You can cover more territory when riding a bike than when walking. Consistent mild exercise has been recommended for health as well as for figure control.

Overweight is often due largely to physical inactivity. This factor may play almost as important a role as overeating. Exercise helps burn up the calories our food provides. It is possible to eat more and still lose weight, or remain at the same weight when you exercise regularly.

Then, too, bike riding is possible the year round, with the exception of a small percentage of particularly bad weather each year. It firms the legs. Also the correct riding position calls for a flat abdomen. It stimulates deep breathing.

Riding your bicycle to a fairly nearby market can make shopping fun since it combines business with pleasure. It is also an easy way to lug the vegetables home.

TOO SEDENTARY

The life of most women is sedentary. We ride everywhere and walk as seldom as we possibly can. For this reason any small changes in our way of life which increase our exercise quotient become extremely valuable.

Most women rode a bicycle when they were children. When you learn to ride or swim in early years you never forget how. You can pick either up again at middle age with great profit and enjoyment.

Bike Clubs have been formed in many parts of the country. These groups enjoy one day tours to nearby points of interest, overnight and vacation jaunts and family outings. Perhaps you might like to organize a bike club in your community. This, like swimming, is one form of exercise which all generations can enjoy together.

Check Baby Gift

When you're shopping for a baby's gift, make sure it's washable. Mother will thank you doubly if whatever you send can be kept clean with soap or detergent suds. And baby will thank you, too — with good health and good spirits.

Gifts for Legs Please Teens

You can't go wrong this season with gifts of leg flattery — tights in solid colors or novelty patterns, heavy knit stockings for street wear, or the ever popular knee highs.

If it's a teen gift, remind the wearer that these eye-catchers need faithful soap or detergent sudsing after each wearing to keep them "in shape."

Gladioli, Palms Bank Altar as Pair Weds in Romeo

MRS. ROGER L. DEHN

ROMEO — The altar of First Congregational Church here was banked with white gladioli and palms for the afternoon wedding Saturday of Barbara Ann Taylor and Roger Lester Dehn. The Rev. Peter Vos performed the nuptials.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Taylor Sr., of 67497 S. Van Dyke, Romeo. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lester Dehn of Kalamazoo.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Carol Jean Taylor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Dale Cunningham, of Martinsburg, W. Va., another sister of the bride, Mary Bachman of Birmingham and Janet Dehn of Kalamazoo, sister of the bridegroom.

Assisting his brother as best man was Glen Dehn of Kalamazoo. Seating the guests were Roy T. Taylor Jr. of Rochester, and David Zileinski and David Percy, both of Kalamazoo.

The wedding reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. After the newlyweds return from their northern honeymoon trip, they will reside in South Haven.

SHARON LU GRAVES

City Police Reserves Seek Backing From Community

The Pontiac Police Reserve has decided to turn to the community for support in its battle with George D. Eastman, Public Safety Director.

★ ★ ★

The schools, chambers of commerce, PTA's, Boy Scouts, labor and civil defense groups and other civic organizations that have used reservists' services in the past are the object of the latest phase of the four-month-old battle.

It is the reservists' hope that pressure from the community will result in their going back to work at the Police Department — wearing new uniforms.

"There are two things we want," said Winford E. Bottom, president of the Pontiac Police Reserve Assn.

"First we want to find out if we really are needed in the community. If we are, we want to go back to work wearing the same uniform as the regular police officers."

Bottom's statement came after reserve members met last night to hold a frank discussion of their significance in Pontiac.

"We want to know whether the many organizations that have written letters of appreciation and commendation to us in the past are really sincere," Bottom asserted.

He said the organization's decision was that "we're inactive now and we're going to stay inactive until we find out if people really need us."

"We've been working out well for five or six years. Now, all of a sudden, we are informed that we're not workable or needed," Graham said.

Members unanimously backed the motion to "ask these people if they are sincere when the write us of our importance to the community."

"Let's face it," Graham explained, "if we've been kidding ourselves and aren't workable or useful, then we might as well forget our demands and fold up."

The three major differences of opinion between Eastman and the reserve concerned the carrying of guns, return to regular scheduled parol, and uniforms.

Both the first two problems have been resolved. "When the police got their new uniforms, we were still using the old ones," said Bottom.

"We still are, but we deem it necessary that we have the same uniforms as regular policemen do now. Without them, we cannot be of as much help to patrolmen since we don't command the same respect in the eyes of citizens," he added.

★ ★ ★

Eastman has proposed that reserves continue working with their present uniforms until the end of the year. He has informed the association he will then make a decision.

"We want to settle it now," said Bottom. "We are willing to buy our own uniforms from reserve funds, at no cost to the city."

"If it takes Mr. Eastman five or six months to make a decision over such a simple matter as this, we wonder how long the big ones will take," the president said.

CAVALCADE OF HORSES — These young riders took part in the Cavalcade of Horses last night at the Oakland County 4-H Club Fair now in full swing on the fairgrounds on M24 at Walton boulevard. The fair opened last night and will continue through Saturday.

2 City Officers Found Guilty

Get Extra Work for Collision While Trailing Speeder Last Week

A five-man Board of Inquiry and Recommendation composed of police officers yesterday found Patrolmen Richard Navarre and John Bridgewater guilty of negligence in the use of departmental vehicles.

Bridgewater was ordered to work an additional six days, Navarre three days.

Navarre said he was trailing a speeder south on Perry street when he stopped for a red light at Howard street. Bridgewater was behind Navarre. Unable to stop, his vehicle hit the rear of Navarre's car.

"Neither officer was paying enough attention to the other," Public Safety Director George D. Eastman said today.

The sentences on both men were the first formal disciplinary measures in the department since Eastman arrived in Pontiac in October of 1958.

She's 110, Straight Republican

County GOL Loves GOP

The Grand Old Lady of Oakland County — Mrs. Eliza Beaumont Taylor — has a fond place in her heart for the Grand Old Party.

And county Republicans are so fond of Mrs. Taylor's record of voting straight GOP for as many years as she has been able to that the Highland Women's Republican Club has just made her an honorary member.

Mrs. Taylor, who will be 110 in December, regretfully says, "It's too late to do anything now," for the party.

PRAISE FOR IKE

For President Eisenhower Mrs. Taylor has nothing but praise. She cherishes a birthday card from the President, complete with the Presidential Seal, which she received on her 109th birthday.

Of his coming visit to the Soviet Union, Mrs. Taylor said: "Maybe he'll make peace and maybe he won't. I don't think he wants war, and he's kept us out of it."

Although her failing eyesight prevents her from enjoying it thoroughly, the county and probably the state's oldest resident proudly displays an autographed picture of her congressman, William S. Broomfield, chatting with President Eisenhower.

Why is she a staunch Republican and not Democrat? "As near as I can understand it," she replied, "I think they are in the right as I look at it." Besides, she said her father and three brothers were members of the GOP, too.

In between her unbelievably vivid recollections of the Civil War and Lincoln's assassination, Mrs. Taylor said she'd "left it for the younger folk" to predict presidential candidates for next year.

Her grandniece who cares for her, Mrs. Olive Clark, says she won't be able to watch in on the conventions on television because of her eyesight.

"I hope they can pick the best man they can find," she said, however.

House-Senate Group OK Public Works Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House-Senate conferees have approved a billion dollar-plus appropriations bill providing funds for public works construction programs in the fiscal year that started July 1.

Despite the Eisenhower administration's "no new starts" edict, the conference committee voted yesterday to provide money to begin work on nearly 90 new projects.

However, the conferees eliminated money which had been recommended by either the House or Senate for several projects.

As approved by the conferees, the final bill included about $900,000,000 in construction money for the Corps of Engineers and about $135,000,000 for the Bureau of Reclamation.

Ike's Brother Leaves for Visit to Mexico

★ ★ ★

Although he is making the trip as President Eisenhower's personal representative with the rank of special ambassador, the President's brother said he will engage in no negotiations during the trip.

★ ★ ★

He told United Press International that he will discuss U.S.-Mexican problems with Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos and members of his cabinet. These include cotton, lead and zinc production, fishing and border matters.

Prisoner Aids Gisondi; Now in Solitary Cell

MARQUETTE (UPI)—Officials at Marquette State Prison said yesterday that convicted murderer Mike Gisondi was aided in his July 31 escape by another prisoner.

Warden Raymond Buchkoe identified the convict who aided Gisondi only as Carlo. He said Carlo had been placed in solitary confinement.

To Buy Snakes for Detroit Zoo

James Z. Holden Says Reptiles Popular, Offers Fund of $400,000

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit has been given $400,000 to build a reptile house at the city's zoo.

The donor was James S. Holden, 84, financier and real estate operator whose contributions to the zoo now top more than a million dollars. In a letter to Mayor Louis Miriani, Holden said:

"Experience has shown that a reptile museum is second in interest only to the interest shown by the public in apes and monkeys."

The museum will be located between Island Lake and the Rackham Fountain.

Construction is expected to start in the fall and the museum is expected to be ready for the public by next July. It will house king cobras, constricting pythons, boa constricters, alligators, crocodiles and giant lizards. Admission will be free.

Frank G. McInnis, director of the zoo, said the Detrit Zoological Society will spend $5,000 for specimens.

Local Health Officials Decry Apathy Over Polio

Polio epidemics in cities scattered across the United States, and more than a 50 per cent increase in polio cases in Oakland County have spurred local health officials into action against the possibility of a large polio outbreak in the county.

In Oakland County to date six polio cases have been reported, compared with two in the corresponding period last year. One boy, Howard Beckman, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warner Beckman of 8552 Clarridge Rd., Springfield Township, died of polio Monday night.

According to the county health department, four of the six stricken this year never had shots. Two are paralyzed and one is dead.

For all appearances polio was crushed with the Salk vaccine, yet this complacency is just what health officials across the country are trying to combat.

"Thousands of persons in Oakland County are inviting disaster," warned the Rev. G. Burton Hodgson, chairman of the Oakland County Chapter of the National Foundation, "if they continue to neglect vaccination against polio."

In 1952, polio cut a swath across the county killing 20 and striking 316 others. According to National Foundation records, the disease took its highest toll that year.

In 1957, a slack year by earlier standards, the Salk Vaccine was distributed widely, but still there were two deaths and 25 other cases.

The toll seems to be rising again, according to the National Foundation . . . due to ignorance and neglect.

The Rev. Hodgson referred to the situation in Des Moines, Iowa, where, he said, a polio epidemic is now raging in full force. "Here's a city," he added, "where large numbers of people never got their Salk shots because they thought it was too much trouble. Now look at the trouble they're in. The toll of persons stricken in Des Moines is mounting rapidly, and there already have been some deaths reported."

He reported other polio outbreak points in Oklahoma City, Kansas City, Dallas, Fort Worth, Nashville and New Orleans.

"When you consider," Hodgson said, "that polio has struck recently in these widely scattered areas, is there any reason why this county should feel safe? We might be next, and if we are, the responsibility will lie with those people in our community who have not been innoculated."

Over $9 Million to Go for School, Municipal Works

More than nine million dollars in municipal and school borrowings were approved by the State Municipal Finance Commission yesterday with Wayne County and the Clarkston Community School District in Oakland County accounting for nearly half the total.

The Clarkston district got the go-ahead to issue one and a half million dollars in general obligation bonds to build a new high school and other school facilities.

Other school bonds approved included $410,000 for the Mayville Community School, Tuscola and Lapeer counties. A total of $98,000 in bonds also was approved to build and equip a library and cultural building in Huntington Woods.

Approval was given by the commission for bonds totaling $493,000 for street improvements, water mains and sewers in Southfield, and $42,000 for street paving in Farmington.

Hazel Park Police Hold Jewel Robbery Suspects

HAZEL PARK — Police here are holding two Hazel Park men for questioning by Detroit police in the robbery of the Bond Jewelry Store at 28 Witheral St., Detroit, early this morning.

Martin Nihelcich, 29, of 313 E. Granet St., and Robert Shelton, 22, of 1028 E. Ottis St., were arrested in their car at Goulson and John R streets by Sgt. William Ryan of the Hazel Park Police. They were unarmed.

Ryan said they apparently panicked when they saw him as they were driving out of an alley at Goulson street. They ran into a telegraph pole. Jewelry of unestimated value was found in the car and on their persons.

A rear window and an overhead glass door had been smashed. Shelton suffered a cut on the hand.

'Great Imposter' Does It Again at Boys' School

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Ferdinand DeMara Jr., widely-known "great imposter," did a "pretty good job" in his latest role, Franciscan Brother Norbert, superintendent of Mt. Alverno School for Boys, chuckled today.

DeMara, 36, one-time impersonator of a Canadian navy surgeon, monk and prison warden, passed himself off as a doctor of education here for two weeks.

Brother Norbert said DeMara impressed him with "quite a list of references and presented himself as Dr. James Lore."

"He was a good observer, who imitated what he saw and got along well," Brother Norbert said.

His duties included supervising boys in the playground and at meals. Mt. Alberno is a residence for about 100 problem boys.

Brother Norbert said he became suspicious when he recalled a book review of "the great imposter" in a magazine. "It had his picture, you couldn't mistake him."

The brother said when DeMara was confronted with his identity, "he seemed peaceable — even friendly. We shook hands as a matter of fact."

Brother Norbert said he did not call police.

Waives Exam on Breaking, Entering Charge

A Birmingham youth has pleaded guilty to a charge of driving with defective headlights and waived examination on a breaking and entering charge before Waterford Township Justice Donald E. Adams.

Stephen D. Konop, 17, of 4680 Pickering St., appeared Tuesday before Adams on both counts. Adams bound him over to Oakland County Circuit Court for arraignment Aug. 17 on the break-in charge.

He was returned to the Oakland County Jail after failing to furnish a $2,000 bond set by Adams. Konop was sentenced to pay a $5 fine or serve three days in jail on the lesser charge.

Konop was stopped on U. S. 10 near Cass Ave. in Pontiac by Pontiac State Troopers Alfred Biland and Stanley Doubleday Friday morning when the troopers noticed he had only one headlight.

They found loot from three township stores in his car. Konop admitted breaking into the establishments earlier that morning, said troopers.

Midland-Ross Plant Sold; to Be Closed

DETROIT, (AP)—Chicago interests have purchansed the Midland-Ross Corp. plant on Detroit's East Side. The property includes the 610,000 square foot factory and 36 acres of land.

The company, formerly Midland Steel Products Co., laid off 500 employes July 24 and announced the plant would be closed Sept. 1.

The property was purchased by W. E. Davis of Arlington Heights, Ill., a Chicago suburb, and the Acme Equipment Co. Inc., headed by Myron M. Segal of Chicago.

The new owners plan to liquidate production equipment in the plant and subdivide the property for lease to smaller manufacturing and warehouse concerns.

No purchase price was announced. The buildings and property are assessed by the city at $3,150,000.

Midland Steel, which merged with Midland Ross in 1957 was a major steel fabricator for 54 years. It went out of business when Chrysler Corp., its chief customer, decided to make its own auto frames.

Area Man in Hospital After Car Overturns

James R. Cox, 36, of 28186 Sutherland St. was in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital with chest and arm injuries, said sheriff's deputies.

Cutting Horse Bout Slated at State Fair

Brand new to the Michigan State Fair this Fall will be the National Open Cutting Horse Contest to be held at the grandstand in the evenings of Sept. 4 and 5.

★ ★ ★

This announcement was made by Donald L. Swanson, State Fair general manager, who said that hundreds of entries are expected from all parts of the country, particularly from Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Texas where interest in the event runs high.

The contest, approved by both the Michigan and National Cutting Horse Assn., is open to any breed of horse, according to Eldon C. McLachlan, director of Agricultural exhibits.

Each horse will have two "go-rounds" to cut the steer out of a herd of approximately 20.

★ ★ ★

Eliminations will be held on the opening day of the State Fair, Sept. 4, with ten horses selected for the finals.

Explosion Rocks Golfing Clubhouse

DETROIT (AP) — A mysterious explosion rocked a suburban Southgate driving range clubhouse early today, blowing out parts of two walls and caving in part of the roof. No one was injured.

The unfinished structure, owned by Downriver Golf Inc., was scheduled to open in about two weeks. It is located midway between Southgate and Allen Park.

★ ★ ★

One policeman said the explosion might have been caused by nitroglycerin. A witness reported seeing a man approach the building and stay about five minutes. The blast came 10 minutes later. No motive was known.

Omelet's Main Concern

Fabian's Groans Issue From Growing Stomach

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Maybe a six-egg omelet, with assorted ingredients, will help explain Fabulous Fabian to you today.

The omelet was growing bigger by the second. Fabian was ad libbing the ingredients between yawns from a breakfast table at 11:30 of a Sunday morning in a ritzy Bel Air motel kitchen.

"How about that leftover crab meat?" Fabian suggested.

"Good idea," said his manager, Bob Marcucci of the Philadelphia Marcuccis. Bob tossed in the leftover crab meat. Since the crab meat had followed chopped salami and grated cheese — and Fabian still had the look of a French chef just warming up — I couldn't help wondering about critical blasts (not shared by Fabian's teen-age fans, of course) that this new rock 'n' roller is "tuneless" and "unintelligible."

★ ★ ★

Maybe the new Fabian "noise" teen agers are digging has more than musical accompaniment. Maybe rock 'n' roller Fabian, who is only 16, is unintelligible because of growing-boy stomach rumbling.

"Any onions?" said Fabian who was wearing only swimming trunks which revealed a husky, hairy physique.

Marcucci started chopping an onion.

It had been a tough two weeks for "The Tiger," Marcucci said as he chopped. An eastern vocal coach had taught Fabian to rock 'n' roll when Marcucci spotted him "as a combination Elvis Presley and Ricky Nelson." Now Hollywood coaches had been teaching Fabian how to act for his movie debut.

He sings, gets tipsy on his first slugs of corn likker and turns out to be a man." That's how Marcucci puts it, anyway.

His manager does most of the talking for Fabian, I gather, because when Fabian isn't singing or sleeping, he's eating. So, Scott Hall, movie dialog coach, and Director Don Siegel had kept Fabian working on his lines eight hours a day for two weeks before the film started.

Marcucci tossed the chopped onions into the omelet and said: "They've given him confidence. They say there's nothing to worry about. Fabian has natural poise."

"How about some chopped ham?" Fabian said. In a sort of subliminal way, I thought.

"Ham we've got," said Marcucci, reaching into the refrigerator.

While Marcucci chopped ham to add to Fabian's six-egg, left-over crabmeat, chopped-onion, chopped-salami, grated-cheese, and I-didn't-know-what-next omelet, I tossed the "The Tiger" some easy questions.

What did he think of himself on that big, big screen in the studio's makeup and wardrobe tests?

"They wouldn't let me see 'em," Fabian said.

"They want to keep him natural," Marcucci explained.

"How about the make-up bit—the hair?" I asked Fabian.

"He hasn't had a haircut since July 13," Marcucci explained. "July 13, 1958," I thought.

What about dating Hollywood cuties?

"I met Joan Collins on the lot," Fabian said.

"He's just a kid, with no big dreams about living it up in Hollywood," Marcucci said.

Fabian must have recognized the cue.

"Don't we have any liverwurst?" he asked.

There was no liverwurst, so Marcucci piled the six-egg, leftover crab meat, chopped-onion, chopped-salami, grated-cheese, chopped-ham, no-liverwurst omelet on Fabian's plate and before I could say "Hound Dog Man" it was gone.

Then Fabian almost suppressed a burp, saying "Excuse me, sir." That Fabian burp, I'll swear, sounded just like one of those words in the lyrics of "Tiger."

'Bama Passes Education Law

Will Allow Any School to Establish Its Own Independent District

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Alabama, strengthening her legal barriers between separate white and Negro schools, has a new law to help ward off integration.

The so-called second line of defense against integration, signed into law by Gov. John Patterson Monday, is aimed at enabling white schools to sidestep any orders to admit Negro children.

Under the new law, a school could pull out of city, county and state school systems and form its own independent district.

Each district would have its own board and superintendent, and still would run on state money.

The idea of the one-school district law is the hope that such a school could close—if necessary to prevent integration — without other schools in the state facing the same shutdown.

★ ★ ★

It grew out of a recent federal court ruling in Virginia that all schools in the same system must close if one shuts its doors to keep out Negroes.

Tigers Start 'Mess Up Sox' Campaign

Manager Dykes Sees Detroit Spoiler in AL

Bunning Takes Series Opener From Chicago With 8-1 Verdict

DETROIT (UPI) — "We could really mess things up for them," said Tiger Manager Jimmy Dykes in reference to the pennant ambitions of the Chicago White Sox.

Dykes had good reason to figure that his team could become the determining factor in the AL race.

He had just seen his Tigers whip the White Sox, 8-1, last night on some fine pitching by Jim Bunning and the extra-base punch of Al Kaline and Coot Veal.

"We still have 11 more games to play against the White Sox," Dykes pointed out. Last night's victory gave the Tigers a 5-6 season record with the Sox. Percentage-wise, it is bettered only by Kansas City's 8-8 mark against the league leaders.

Today the Tiger manager picked Paul Foytack (10-10) to start against rookie Barry Latman (5-4) in the second contest of a three-game series.

Dykes is only hoping that Foytack will be as successful as Bunning, who last night had a two-hitter until the seventh when a double by Earl Battey and singles by Jim McAnany and Sam Esposito spoiled his shutout bid.

Bunning scattered eight hits, walked only one and struck out eight to achieve his tenth victory against 10 losses this season. Kaline unloaded a three-run homer in the first inning to stake the Tigers to a lead which they never relinquished.

★ ★ ★

Veal cracked his first Major League home run in the fourth with the bases empty. Veal's drive caused starter Billy Pierce to be removed for a pinch hitter in the top of the fifth.

Detroit jumped on Pierce for four runs in the first with Kaline's 20th homer highlighting the rally, which also included a double by Eddie Yost, a single by Harvey Kuenn and a walk.

The Tigers picked up their final three runs in the fifth off Ray Moore. Yost opened the inning with his 101st walk of the year followed by Frank Bolling's single. Kaline was intentionally walked after Kuenn's infield grounder advanced the runners.

Yost scored on an infield out and Charley Maxwell then lined a two-run single to center.

Beat Boston as Indians Lose

Yankees Make It 6 Straight

By The Associated Press

Are the New York Yankees finally making a pennant push or is it merely a salary drive?

Whatever it is, the defending champions are playing their best ball of the season. Yesterday's 8-5 victory over Boston was their sixth straight, best winning streak of the year.

New York moved to within 10 games of the Chicago White Sox who were beaten 8-1 by Detroit while Kansas City was defeating Cleveland's second place Indians 7-3. Baltimore and Washington were not scheduled.

★ ★ ★

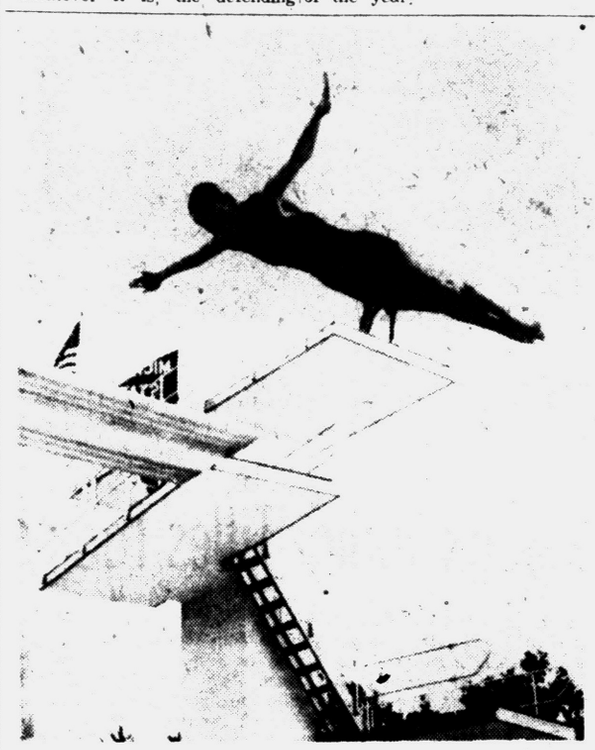

A six-run fifth inning was the clincher for the Yankees yesterday. Two-run doubles by Tony Kubek and Hector Lopez, a couple of Boston errors and a wildpitch featured the wild innig that gave Duke Maas his 11th triumph and Jerry Casale his eighth defeat.

★ ★ ★

Bud Daley became the first Athletic pitcher to win 13 games in the team's five year history in Kansas City. The left-hander permitted nine hits including homers to Minnie Minoso and Rocky Colavito in the sixth when the Indians scored all their runs. It was Colavito's 34th of the year, placing him one behind league-leader Harmon Killebrew of Washington. A five-run spree against Jim Grant in the first made it easy for Daley.

★ ★ ★

Steelers Show Punch in Defeating Browns

By United Press International

The Pittsburgh Steelers, packing a goal-line pinch, are set to renew the 1958 surge that made them the hottest team in the National Football League at the tailend of the season.

Pittsburgh opened its exhibition swing Tuesday night by scoring four touchdowns inside the 10-yard line, two with less than two minutes remaining, to defeat the Cleveland Browns, 34-20.

The Steelers, undefeated in their final seven games last season, broke the game apart when halfback Ray Mathews cut over from right guard from the eight-yard line to put Pittsburgh in front, 27-20. With six seconds to go, linebacker Vic Lasse intercepted Jim Ninowski's pass and ran to the one, where rookie halfback Jim Smith scored.

Jim Krutko, former West Virginia star, went over from the two in the first period to open the scoring. Cleveland tied it at 7-7 on Jimmy Brown's 74-yard run and went ahead, 10-7, on a 37-yard field goal by Lou Groza.

Bobby Layne culminated a 75-yard march with a touchdown sneak from the one-yard line to make it 14-14 at the half, but Brown sent Cleveland ahead again with a seven-yard plunge in the third period. Tom Miner found the range with a 23-yard field goal to tie the game and put Pittsburgh ahead 20-17 with one from that 14 at the start of the final period.

Groza retaliated with a 21-yard boot which set the stage for Mathews' game winning score and coach Buddy Parker's first victory over Cleveland as a Steeler coach.

The game was the first of five exhibitions to be played this week. The Baltimore Colts meet the college all-stars Friday night while three Saturday night clashes find the New York Giants playing the Philadelphia Eagles at Hershey, Pa., the Detroit Lions meeting the Chicago Cardinals at Norman, Okla., and the Green Bay Packers playing the Chicago Bears at Milwaukee.

The Giants made their first player cuts as they released rookies Harry Jefferson, Illinois, Ben Dempsey, Alabama, Vic Prinzi, Florida State, Thurlow Cooper, Maine and Bob Ripley, Norwich. The team will pick up several newcomers following the all-star game.

Chuck Howley of West Virginia, the Chicago Bears' No. one draft choice last year, may be sidelined for the season with a knee injury. The 228-pound linebacker, injured Monday, will undergo corrective surgery Thursday for a torn ligament.

MILESTONE HITS — Coot Veal, light hitting shortstop of the Tigers, and Al Kaline each reached a milestone in their Major League careers last night as Detroit defeated the White Sox, 8-1. Veal hit his first big league homer and Kaline got his 1,000th hit with a 7th inning single. He also hit a three-run homer in the first inning.

Moore 3-1 Pick Over Durelle Tonight

Montreal Fight Expected to Be Another Brawl

Determined Yvon Says Bout Will Be Shorter Than 1st One

MONTREAL (AP) — Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore and challenger Yvon Durelle of Canada clash tonight at the Forum in a return title bout scheduled for 15 rounds that probably won't go more than 10.

"It won't go as long as the first one," said Durelle, the Canadian and British Empire champion. "He goes down or I go down. And I won't be hard to find. I'm coming right after him. If I get him on the floor first again, I'm going to give it all I've got. This time it's do or die."

The 29-year-old fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., realizes he blew the opportunity of a lifetime in his losing fight with Moore last Dec. 10. Yvon had the old gladiator down three times in the first round and once in the fifth before he was stowed away in the 11th round himself.

"I stayed back in the second round when I should have stormed after him," said Yvon. "That gave the smart old guy a chance to recover. I only hope I can get my good old right hand on his chin early again."

★ ★ ★

"He won't if I can help it," said the 42-year-old champion from San Diego. "I got hit by a sucker punch (a right hand lead to the jaw in the first round) and it's not going to happen again. He's tough and strong and I know what I have to face."

The odds favor Moore at 3-1. That's the same price as for their thrilling, eight-knockdown first fight.

On the basis of that contest, Durelle's hopes appear to rest again on catching Archie cold. One punch—like in the Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson heavyweight title upset—could determine the issue. Yvon has to land that big right.

Moore can do everything Yvon can do and lots more. And he showed in the first bout that he had the better chin and stronger heart. Of course at the ripe old age of 42 plus, Archie can come apart at the seams any moment.

But Archie doesn't think or talk that way. He's looking forward to a crack at either Sugar Ray Robinson or Johansson, the heavyweight king.

Moore is getting a $175,000 guarantee for his eighth defense of the 175-pound crown he won from Joey Maxim nearly seven years ago. Durelle will receive $15,000 plus $5,000 for extra expenses in this twice-postponed scrap.

★ ★ ★

The bout will be telecast over the ABC network in the United States, starting at 9 p.m. (EST). It will not be telecast in Canada. The $100,000 TV fee will pay the fat part of Moore's guarantee.

Promoter Eddie Quinn hoped that a last day sale will lure 15,000 fans and $250,000 through the turnstiles. More realistic figures probably would be 12,000 and $160,000.

Former heavyweight champion Jack Sharkey will referee again despite Durelle's desire for another official. Yvon and manager Chris Shaban preferred New York referees Harry Kessler and Ruby Goldstein.

The scoring here, however, is handled by three judges, using the five point must system. The winner of each round gets 5 points.

Sintz Qualifies in 220-Yard Freestyle

Birmingham Swimmer on Pan-Am Team

EAST LANSING — Pete Sintz, former Birmingham High School swimmer, took third place in the 220 yard freestyle event and thereby qualified as a member of the U.S. team which will compete in the Pan-Am games in Chicago later this month.

Winner of the event was Dick Blick of North Central College, Ill. in a time of 2:07.2. Dennis Rounsavelle of Los Angeles was second and Sintz, swimming for the Indianapolis Athletic Club was third.

Chris Von Saltza wearing the colors of the Santa Clara, Calif., Swim Club, swept her freestyle specialties and became a triple champion. She set new American records in the 110, 220 and the 440-yard distances and was the only repeat winner of the meet.

The leggy, 5-foot-8 youngster, a student at Los Gatos high school, devotes more than four hours daily to pool workouts. She only has one complaint about the rigorous routine. The chlorine in the water turns her short-cropped blonde hair to a greenish tint.

Chris again trimmed the former American record of 5:08.5 and the old American citizen's record of 5:08.7 by winning the 440 in 4:59.4. She previously had bettered the two times in her preliminary.

Ken Nakasone, Indianapolis, Ind., won the men's 220-yard breaststroke final in 2:45.6. This also will be an American record for the new event.

Swim statisticians figured an even 150 existing records were bettered in the four days of tryouts. These included three world marks. The rest were American and American citizen's records.

The men's team will train in the Michigan State University pool and the women's team at Indianapolis prior to the swimming section Aug. 31—Sept. 7 in the Pan American games at Chicago.

Joy Fair Sweeps Events at M-59 Track Tuesday

He won the dash for the four fastest qualifiers, the heat race for the fastest qualifying group, the ten-lap pursuit race, and then sprinting into the lead on the ninth lap of the twenty-five lap main event to carry home top honors in the evening's feature race. Fair's time over the 25 lap distance was 6.01:94.

A total of 37 cars competed in the nine-event program which saw several flips and wrecks, one of which caused Jack Murphy of Pontiac to receive ten stitches in a badly cut forehead.

Twenty-four cars started in the fifteen lap semi-main event which was stopped twice because of track-blocking crashes and was finally declared a race at the end of the twelfth lap when once again the field piled up in the first turn.

Main Event finishers behind Fair were Johnny Logan of Charlotte (who also posted fastest one-lap time in qualification trials), Joe Doyle of Pontiac, Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Jay Moran of Findlay, Ohio, Jack Harvey from Pontiac, Johnny Wallace of Madison Heights, Bill Hasselle of Troy, Bill Denninger of Durand, and Caveness rounding out the first ten.

Sixteen cars started in the main event, fourteen finished. The largest crowd of the season, something over 1,500, witnessed the weekly modified hardtop program.

A 4-run 6th brought the Pirates from behind and highlighted a 5-3 triumph over the Jets to even their best two-of-three series in Class A. Seven of the runs were unearned runs as 10 errors were committed.

Darkness halted the Griff's Grill-Talbott Lumber "B" contest at 6-6 with Griff's trying to clinch the series.

The Grillers blew three different leads but then fought back for a run in the 8th to avoid bowing. Talbott started its half of the inning with a walk before play was halted.

A series with league champion Knights of Columbus comes next for the Class A survivor. The "B" victor will be eligible for state competition Labor Day weekend.

Stars Planning Plenty of Passing Friday

CHICAGO (AP)—Get ready, set and throw. That's the pattern the College All-Stars will employ against the Baltimore Colts Friday night in Soldier Field.

If it is successful, the collegians could upset the champions of the National Football League. But the oddsmakers, who don't put much stock in strategy, call Baltimore a two-to-three touchdown favorite.

Only one thing is certain. The All-Stars will not gain yardage by trying to run through the pro line.

Last year, the Stars defeated Detroit, 35-19. Yet, they netted an unbelievable three yards rushing. But their passing, with Jim Ninowski throwing and Bobby Mitchell on the receiving end, clicked and that was the story.

Head Coach Otto Graham who masterminded the victory over the Lions has not as yet announced who he'll start at quarterback. He has some dandies from which to choose.

In a scrimmage last week, the Stars defeated the Chicago Bears, 7-6. Grosscup engineered the touchdown drive and topped it off with a 33-yard pass to Buddy Dial of Rice. Lee kept the 99-yard march alive with several key completions.

But aside from defense, Baltimore has speed, size and power plus the wonderful passing of Johnny Uitas. The Colts could become one of the greatest pro teams ever assembled.

But don't sell the All-Stars short. They have looked good in workouts. They have great spirit and desire. Most of the players are headed for the pro ranks and are eager to make a good showing.

How good are the All-Stars? That's something that will not be known until after the kickoff. Last year the heavily favored Lions took charge in the first quarter and marched 80 yards for a quick touchdown.

★ ★ ★

It appeared as if the Lions would turn the game into a rout. But the All-Stars turned mean. Guys like Lou Michaels of Kentucky, Charley Krueger of Texas A&M, Ray Nitschke of Illinois, Alex Karras of Iowa and Bill Jobko of Ohio State took charge in the line and thet Stars scored 20 points in the second quarter.

★ ★ ★

Once again, the Stars have good size and fine over-all speed. They not only have name players but no less than a dozen members of the squad were top selections in the pro draft.

The stars can beat the pros as attested by their eight victories in 25 games, two of which ended in ties. But it takes a lot of doing and a lot of guts.

One for Each Year

75 Holes on Birthday

Dr. R. C. Spangler declared after the nine-hour, 364-stroke marathon, "I feel fine. I don't feel especially tired at all."

It was the 10th year in a row that Spangler, a retired West Virginia University biology professor, has celebrated his birthday in this way. He used only two clubs today, an iron with an adjustable head and a No. 2 wood.

★ ★ ★

His biggest obstacle at the Morgantown Golf and Country Club was a member of the fair sex. It was ladies day and she refused to let him play through. Undaunted, he skipped the hole and made it up later.

Waterford Shutout Turns Into Forfeit

A three-hit shutout by Dale Badder of Sno-Bol was wasted last night when it was learned after the 1-0 victory over Drayton Drug that the winners had used an ineligible player. A forfeit was declared.

Dobski's Bar won the other contest 10-6 over Lakeland Pharmacy featuring a five-run 6th. Ken Morrow had three hits, three rbis and scored three times and George Imhoff stroked two hits for three rbis to lead the way.

Reds Lose Shortstop

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds have lost the services of shortstop Roy McMillan for the rest of the season because of a fractured left collarbone suffered during the nightcap of last night's twi-night twin bill with the Milwaukee Braves. He sustained the injury during the third inning when he collided with Bill Bruton as the Milwaukee outfielder was out attempting to steal second.

$436,200 More Spent at Sale of 54 Horses

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—The annual Saratoga yearling sales go into their third session tonight and the feature probably will be the appearance of the first offspring of Nashua.

The yearling is a colt and could bring in more money than last night's top price of $40,000, which was paid by C T. Cherrey of Boswell, Va., for a colt by Ambiorix.

All told, 54 head were sold last night for a total of $436,200. The average was $8,077.

Detroit's all-time all-star right wing, Howe ranks second only to Montreal's Maurice Richard in career scoring. Howe has tallied 418 goals in 13 years in the NHL while Richard has 525 in 17 seasons.

Two City Teams Seek Junior Titles Today

Two Pontiac area teams were still in the running as the District No. 2 junior baseball playoffs moved into the final round today.

Pontiac Boys Club stole the show Tuesday by winning a doubleheader to reach the Class E championship game. Lytell-Colegrove would have to accomplish the same feat to take "D" honors.

The Boys Clubbers dumped Warren 5-2 and then blanked Roseville 3-0 in a battle of one-hitters. They met Saginaw today. Waterford and East Detroit were both 11-3 victims of Saginaw Tuesday totaling 26 hits. Waterford got its only two safeties in the same frame for its runs.

PBC trailed Warren 2-0 and was hitless until the 5th before it got going to first tie and then go ahead. Pete Vasquez fired the shutout and got his team's only hit when all the runs were scored in the 2nd.

Northside Kiwanis won its "F" opener yesterday 11-1 over Center Line backing a one-hitter by Dennis Acker with 11 bingles but bowed to Warren 6-4. Les Smith homered, Dan Hayes and Jim Kimmel had three hits apiece in the victory. Steve Daniels got two of four hits in the setback.

Warren and Saginaw tangled today. Saginaw whitewashed East Detroit 3-0 Tuesday after the latter had nipped Roseville, 5-4.

Lytell - Colegrove went against Warren. A victory for the locals will send them into the title contest with the Roseville - St. Clair Shores winner.

Add Golf Tourney to Indianapolis 500

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Formal annoucement was made Tuesday that Indianapolis will hold a $50,000 open golf tournament as part of festivities connected with the 500-mile auto race next May.

The announcement said the Festival Open likely will be played May 26-29 on the Speedway Golf Course, nine holes of which are inside the Indianapolis Motor Speedway track.

Giardello Rally Beats Vejar

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Favored Joey Giardello; outhustled most of the way by Chico Vejar, rallied in the closing rounds Tuesday night for a split decision in their 10-round middleweight bout at Midway Stadium. Giardello weighed 161¼ Vejar 160¼.

While Giardello landed enough solid punches to convince Referee Billy McCabe and Judge Dick Delaney, the big majority of the crowd thought shifty little Chico won the decision. The decision was heavily booed.

Church Title on Line

The Pontiac Church League softball playoffs are down to the title game which will match unbeaten First Baptist and St. John's Thursday at 6 p.m. at Jaycee No. 2 park. St. John's overcame a 4-0 deficit to nip Trinity Baptist 7-6 Tuesday featuring Bill Olson's big single.

Reds Keeping Champs Down

By The Associated Press

If Milwaukee doesn't win the pennant this year, blame it on the Cincinnati Reds, the team that was most responsible for the Braves capturing the flag in 1957 and 1958.

The Braves whipped the Reds 18 out of 22 in 1957 and won the championship by eight games. Last year, Milwaukee took 17 out of 22 from the Reds and again won by eight games.

It's a little different this year. Including last night's split of a doubleheader, the Braves have been able to win only six of the 14 games played with the Reds. Hence they're in third place today, 3½ games behind the league-leading San Francisco Giants.

The Braves had to come from behind to win the second game 7-3 after Cincinnati had won the opener 4-3. The Giants needed 10 innings to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4, and widened their lead to three games over second place Los Angeles, beaten 5-4 by the Chicago Cubs in 10 innings.

Philadelphia dropped Pittsburgh into a fourth place tie with the Cubs by defeating the Pirates 6-4.

After beating Warren Spahn for the fourth time the Reds almost duplicated the feat against Lew Burdette, another old time Cincinnati tormentor, in the second game. They led 3-1 but Joe Adcock slammed his second homer of the day and Billy Bruton followed with another four-bagger to give Burdette his 16th triumph, and first of the season over the Reds. They had beaten him three times.

Home runs by Gus Bell and Frank Robinson accounted for Spahn's 11th defeat in the opener. Spahn, who holds lifetime 52 decisions over the Reds, had whipped them 14 out of 15 in the three years prior to 1959. Burdette beat them nine out of 11 during that time.

Willie Kirkland drove in four runs to account for all but one of the Giants' runs as they swept the two-game series making it 13 out of 16 for the season from the Cards. Kirkland smashed a three-run homer, his 19th, in the first inning, and drove in the winning run with a single in the 10th. Lindy McDaniel was the victim.

Willie Mays opened the 10th with a double, went to third on a wild pitch, and scored on Kirkland's blow.

Johnny Antonelli lost his bid for victory No. 17 when the Cards scored two in the ninth to tie the score. Stu Miller, in relief, picked up his second victory in two nights.

Tenth inning home runs by Alvin Dark and Tony Taylor offset a run scored by Los Angeles in the top of the inning and gave relief pitcher Bill Henry his seventh triumph. Ernie Banks drove in Chicago's first three runs with his 33rd home run and a single.

Five Top Pros Out of Motor City Open

Faculty Representative Position Is Criticised

CHICAGO (AP)—A former Big Ten faculty representative, now a small college president, has recommended elimination of the conference faculty representative to take "hocus pocus" from college athletics.

The conference faculty representative was termed an unnecessary "middle man" by Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan College, Marquette, Mich., and former Michigan State University faculty representative.

"The position of conference representative is a tradition in itself, dating back as far as 1870. But to me the logical person to help the school president discharge his obligations to the athletic program is his athletic director.

"Why place a buffer between himself and the head of his athletic department? In matters of physics, the president confers with the head of the physics department, not with a faculty representative for science."

Harden, Michigan State faculty representative in 1953-55, when the Spartan school was rising to prominence as a new Big Ten member, said a president-athletic director relationship would eliminate "much of the hocus pocus too often associated with Intercollegiate athletics."

★ ★ ★

Harden said faculty representatives, while expert in educational fields, many times inadvertently sell their schools "down the river" because of inexperience in a field where the stakes are high, which is as much as a million dollars annually at some schools.

Endurance Swim at Grand Rapids

The national AAU long distance swimming meet, sponsored by the Grand Rapids YMCA, has drawn 35 candidates competing in separate events for men and women.

The events, starting in the afternoon, include a 3-mile swim for women and a men's 4-mile swim. A specially constructed course features a 440-yard straightaway. Women's events call for six tours of the course. Men are required to swim eight laps.

Final Practice Session Today at Meadowbrook

Thirty-five of the 40 leading pro golfers were on hand at nearby Meadowbrook Country Club for practice sessions with drivers, irons and putters.

Winninger has dropped from the tour to take a new job at Dallas, Texas.

January has decided he needs a rest from the tensions of the play-for-pay circuit.

Littler informed tournament officials yesterday that an attack of hay fever forced him to withdraw.

A field of 155 is expected to tee off in the tournament which ends Sunday.

A total of 88 were listed for qualifying rounds yesterday over the 6,731-yard layout at Northville. Par is 35-36—71.

However, when 14 failed to appear officials decided to permit the remaining 74 to play in the tournament.

In yesterday's practice which was supposed to be the qualifying round, Jon Gustin, a touring Philadelphia pro fired a 32-33—65.

He had six birdies as he hit all the greens in regulation.

Mike Andonian of Pontiac had a 72 and Bob Zimmerman of Jackson had a 70. Both are amateurs.

Jon Gustin, Gladwyne, Pa.	32-33—65
J. C. Goosie, Knoxville	34-34—68
Gay Brewer, Crystal, Fla.	34-35—69

Aerial Receiving Corps in Good Shape

Lions' Pass Catching Deep

Unless the injury jinx hits the receiving corps, the Detroit Lions would appear to be in an enviable position in this department for the 1959 season.

However, Coach George Wilson and his staff felt the same way about a year ago at this time but at season's end it was another story.

Before the '58 pre-season campaign was over, Steve Junker and Jerry Reichow had been sidelined by knee operations and later veteran Jim Doran went to the sidelines with a leg injury.

Fortunately for the Lions, Jim Gibbons, in his rookie season after being obtained from the Cleveland Browns, turned in a brilliant rookie year, catching 25 passes for 367 yards and two touchdowns. This effort surpassed the first year record of Steve Junker in '57 when the Xavier star caught 22 passes during the regular season but enjoyed such great success in the playoff activity as the Lions won the World Championship.

On the threshold of the '59 campaign, Wilson has assembled a talented crew of receivers that certainly must rank with the best in the NFL. Look at the list:

Gibbons, back for his sophomore year, looks to be stronger and more confident than a year ago when he did such a steady job for the team.

Doran, though temporarily sidelined with a shoulder injury, still must be regarded as one of the game's top receivers as his record of 118 catches in the past four years would attest.

Hopalong Cassady, one of college football's most fabled runners, has grabbed 25 and 23 aerials in each of the past two campaigns and his open field ball-carrying makes him an "all the way" threat on each catch.

Dave Middleton, the Lions speedy medical student, who led the team with 29 receptions for 506 yards last year despite the fact that he missed all of training camp.

Add to this list rookie Dan Chamberlain of Sacramento State, a most promising newcomer, and second year receivers like Perry Richards and Tom Rychlec, both competent workmen, and the end and flanker spots for the '59 Lions appear potent.

If Wilson can keep all hands healthy, it would appear that NFL defenders will have problems containing the Lions aerial game.

Birmingham vs. Illinois in Ruth Opener Thursday

Birmingham's high-riding Pioneers swing back into action tomorrow at 12 noon meeting Harvey, the Illinois champs, in the opener of the Ohio Valley regional tournament at Ypsilanti.

Anderson, Ind., vs Tiffin, Ohio at 2 and Eau Claire, Wis., vs the host Ypsi Americans at 4 completing the slate.

A Birmingham win would move the Michigan champions into the Friday semifinals against Kentucky at 2. The other two victors play that day at 4. Finals are set for Saturday at 2:30 p.m. with the winner eligible for the world series in California later this month.

Yank Golfers Drill for Wightman Cup

"We have a lot of time to make up if we are to be in top shape by Saturday," said co-captain Janet Hopps shortly after the team arrived in nearby Sewickly, Pa., yesterday.

The U.S. team challenges England's best women tennis players Saturday and Sunday for the Wightman Cup, a trophy it lost last summer.

IL Hurler Loses No-Hitter

Buttercup 'D' Champion

The International League playoffs take over the softball spotlight tonight with Buttercup Drive-In crowned Class D champion.

IL games in each bracket are on tap at North Side Park. Sport Shop can clinch upper bracket honors in a 7 p.m. clash with Langdon's. Rogers Electric plays Pontiac Police in a lower bracket tussle at 8:30. The latter winner will meet Griff's Grill Thursday for that title.

Buttercup had to work plenty hard for its honors going 10 innings to down Autos of Europe, 7-5. A two-run homer by Paul Davis iced the verdict.

The Police team, especially pitcher Harry Kunkel, lost a heartbreaker last night. He flipped a no-hitter yet was beaten as his mates made four costly errors. Griff's won it, 4-2.

Langdon's slammed State Hospital 11-3 and Rogers came from far back to trip Pontiac Retailers 9-7 in the other tilts.

A 5-run 6th broke up a 2-2 tie for Langdon's. Art Brown got three of the Hospital's four hits—one a home run.

The Retailers were breezing with a 7-0 lead when Rogers tallied four in the 4th and five in the 5th to go ahead to stay. Walks were the key factor in the comeback.

New Yorker Scores Early Canadian Upset

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

Patient's Complaint: "My pitch shots won't hold!"

Diagnosis: Rolling hands shut the clubface.

TREATMENT: The ability to lob a high pitch shot to the green and have it stop quickly is a valuable asset to any golfer. It isn't too hard to do, either, provided you don't let your hands start rolling over just as the clubhead of your pitching iron meets the ball.

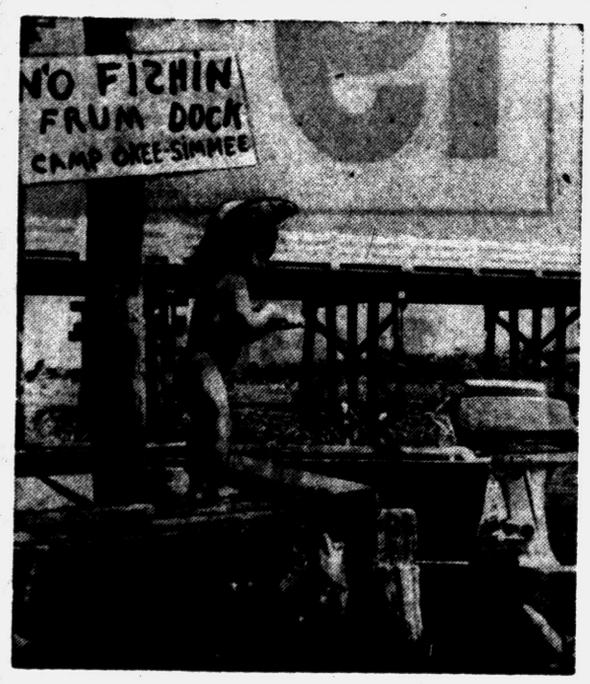

This rolling action of the hands shuts the clubface to the iron, cutting down on both loft and underspin.

The way to avoid having the hands roll over is to finish the shot with the right palm up and the left palm facing the ground. This insures that the clubface will be open or square when you hit through the ball.

Test it and you'll see what I mean.

Remember that this technique is advised only for those short shots where you need extra height and a quick stop after the ball hits.

BARELY FISHING — Little Bruce Ebbetts of Miami, Fla., is thoroughly comfortable and at two years of age has a perfect out if the camp owner complains. He can't read sign.

A Tyro at Six Months Becomes State Champ

By The Press Outdoor Editor

That's the story in a nutshell, of the fantastic effort that last weekend produced the Michigan women's shotgun title for a pretty little marksman from Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The shotgun was no strange weapon for Mrs. Jenny (Spencer) Oesch, who had gone afield several years with her husband in quest of pheasants and ducks. But she had never, up to the time she and Spencer visited the Williams place at Davison looking for reloading equipment, fired over a skeet, or trap field. Dale Williams stirred their interest in the related shotgun sports and they wound up joining his classes and shooting in the winter league.

BECOMES CHAMP IN SHOOTOFF

The 28-year-old, blonde is only 5-3, but she can swing a rifle as well as a shotgun, but still has to down her deer in several trips. "She does better with the shotgun" says her biggest booster — her husband, who has become a stout advocate of the type of shooting that comprises the big state all-around championsips. Jenny won her first title in a shootoff.

SWINGING IT!

"I think it's one of the finest ways for husbands and wives to enjoy the shooting sport together," he commented as he told how he and Jenny got started. They were so keen about the shooting that they captured the league's husband-wife honors. He feels the bird field, in particular, offers a great challenge for the shotgunner.

PERSISTENT ANGLER GETS HIS FISH

Eight-year-old Henry Frasier, who will attend the second grade at the Hawthorne school this coming fall, is an ardent fisherman. He's the kind of angler who isn't going to be stumped by any obstacles in bringing home the finny prizes.

The other day, Henry, with a little friend, was checking things over from a dock at Scott lake, near where he lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Frasier, 3220 McCormick. They saw a fish in the water. It moved off, but Henry followed along the shore line, and finally, after going from one dock to another, dropped a nice fat nightcrawler on his line (he almost always has a pole with him when he is around the lake), in front of the 17½-inch smallmouth bass. The bass grabbed the tempting morsel and soon was hauled ashore. Henry and his prize are shown in the accompanying picture.

HENRY'S PRIZE

Sherry Mapley, 1215 Coshocton, Pontiac, was another fisherman who landed a nice bass during the last several days, in which angling activity in the area has not been so good.

Mapley was casting on Cass Lake when a 22-inch, a four-pound smallmouth snatched his glowing plug. It was landed after a brief, but exciting scrap. The fish was

FISH DERBY STILL UNDER WAY

Area anglers are reminded again that the summer-long Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby is still wide open for entries. The contest, a three-way affair, does not close until Labor Day, Sept. 7. There are $50 bonds waiting for the three biggest fish — northern pike, black bass and bluegill.

Derby is open to any full-time Oakland county resident.

RUNNERUP — Mrs. Vi Vanderwater of Waterford, for some years a top Oakland county skeet shooter was the runnerup for the state feminine shotgun title last weekend. She was edged in a shootoff by Pontiac's Jenny Oesch.

Woodcock and Grouse Seasons Open on Oct. 1

LANSING—Michigan's woodcock hunting seasons will again open with ruffed grouse seasons throughout the state this year.

★ ★ ★

Woodcocks will be fair game from Oct. 1 - Nov. 9 in the upper and northern, Lower Peninsulas and Oct. 20 - Nov. 9 in the southern Lower Peninsula. Daily bag and possession limits will be four and eight, respectively.

★ ★ ★

The season on rails and gallinules will be shortened by 20 days because of drought conditions which threaten their populations. It will begin with the regular waterfowl season. Regulations covering this season will be set around mid-August.

State Men on Fishing Vacation

Alaska Waters Offer Thrills for Anglers

By HOWARD SHELLEY

BROOKS RIVER, Alaska — For a week our party of 19 Michigan fishermen has been experiencing a fantastic brand of fishing that can be found only in Alaska.

Following an over-night flight to Anchorage, then 275 miles southwest on the Alaska Peninsula, all members of the party were thrilled by catching not one, but several of the five or six species of fish —barely 19 hours after leaving Detroit's airport.

To the confirmed trouter, a swift stretch of white water is the so-called magic spot to wet one's line.

Brooks River Falls is the place! The amazing jumping sockeye salmon, and the near-at-hand rainbows and grayling were prime objectives of every fisherman.

Seven and eight pound salmon, three and four pound rainbows, and 15 to 18 inch graylings were common. In the flies-only part of the river, excellent catches were made.

Mrs. Shelley, familiar with the whims of Michigan and Ontario fish, latched on to her first sockeye salmon with a feather-light spinning outfit, using a six pound nylon line. Following a 20 minute tug-of-war, she landed a nine-pound, 29-incher.

In this land of the "Midnight Sun," many fishermen work at their favorite sport 15 to 17 hours each day. Until their arms are weary, they cast their "irresistable" lures for the "whoppers" that frequently come fast and furiously.

Within a few days we'll return to Anchorage, then 113 miles north via the Alaska Railroad to Talkeetna, for our long-awaited visit with the Michigan homesteaders—the '59ers!

$2½ Million for Park Jobs

LANSING — Pending its passage through legislative channels, a $2,500,000 parks improvement program will be launched during the 1959-60 fiscal year by the Conservation Department.

★ ★ ★

Approved by the Senate last week, the program now awaits House action. It also hinges on Governor Williams' decision over the parks permit bill which passed the Legislature recently.

The program would be financed from bond issues which, in turn, would be retired from annual and daily parks permit fees.

Campground and sanitary improvements headline the proposed program's list of projects.

Among the major improvements set up is $130,000 for Dodge Park No. 4.

Quail Population Drops Almost Half

LANSING — Southern Michigan's quail breeding population dropped approximately 49 per cent during the past year, according to an estimate based on the Conservation Department's quail "whistling" survey.

★ ★ ★

Quail losses were reported heaviest in the northern part of the 26-county area censused in July.

DEER LAKE MYSTERY — When Jack McKay, 4405 Cheeseman, and Barry Tuttle, 101 Eileen Dr., brought the streamlined craft (above) to the surface of Deer Lake a week ago, they set off one of the most intriguing discussions regarding the identity, the story behind the sinking of the boat. It also stirred the possibility there is another one-time pleasure craft still somewhere on the bottom of the Oakland County lake. The opinion of most observers is that the craft had been beneath the water for better than 30 years. McKay is at left, Tuttle next. The county water division deputies are Sgt. Holcomb and at right, deputy Don Kratt.

Divers Bring Up Old Speedboat

3 Boat Mysteries Now

Recovery of an old, well-preserved boat from 30 feet of water in Deer Lake has stirred some interesting discussion among old residents of the Clarkston area. It appears the identity of the boat, salvaged by Jack MacKay and Barry Tuttle, experienced scuba divers, has been determined.

The boys were disappointed, however, because they were looking for a craft said to have been designed about 1924-25 by Gar Wood for a lake resident named Noble. The boat is believed to have disappeared in a storm. It has been mentioned as a "one of a kind" design by the world-renowned speedboat builder.

If anyone has information bearing on these boats, their former owners, and what happened to them—particularly is information as to Mrs. Oliver Curwood's present address), this page would appreciate such information.

A third "mystery" has to do with a reputedly handsome pleasure boat, owned and used during the summer vacations by the noted outdoors novelist, James Oliver Curwood. Curwood was a frequent guest at Caribou Inn, often spent long periods in the wooded areas about Clarkston working presumably on his many books.

Now, with two more boats to look for, Jack and Barry Saturday will begin a tight survey of the lake's bottom in the northeast portion, in hopes of discovering clues to the sunken craft.

The slim craft they salvaged, is sheathed in cypress, in a good state of preservation. It carried a heavy, probably one-time 4-speed truck motor and had a four-blade 14-inch prop. There was still fuel in the tank, and the plugs in the motor head were still in good shape.

The story about this boat, as MacKay has been told, is that it was owned by two sons of Ed Miller, whose farm is now the Ford Tractor farm. The boat was so fast, the story goes, that Miller feared something might happen to the boys (who are said to still reside in the area), so he cut it loose one night and let it sink. It had been leaky because of heavy pounding by the big motor. That was in 1927 and the craft was 15 years old then, so the story goes.

Engineers Say Dredging Will Not Harm Beach

Conservation Department officials have been assured by Col. Peter C. Hyzer, U.S. Corps of Engineers, that materials dredged from the Raisin River channel in Lake Erie will not wash over into the beach area of Sterling State Park as earlier feared.

Dredgings are being hydraulically pumped south of the channel outside the lake's current which flows northerly toward the park's beach, according to the Detroit district engineer.

Colonel Hyzer also stated that spoils will be dredged from the "old" River Raisin Channel and redeposited on a marshy 200-acre tract owned by the Monroe Port Commission. This will restore the channel connecting the Raisin River with Lake Erie to its original condition.

Top Guns Enter Chief Pontiac Skeet Tourney

Ninth Annual Affair at OCSC Saturday and Sunday

Most of the state's top skeet experts, just back from the big nationals at Lynn Haven, Va., will converge on Oakland County Sportsman's club fields, Saturday and Sunday, for the ninth annual Chief Pontiac tourney.

One of the top skeet competitions in the Midwest, the two-day event will have a field of about 80 experts at the exacting business of knocking down fast-flying clay birds.

The field, says chairman Bob Thiefels, just back from the high-scoring nationals, will include the always tough competitors, "The Brown Boys" from Birmingham, led by 14-year-old Eddie who won several national (world) titles at Lynn Haven, Brother Bud is the defending junior champ, and Bill, Jr., is also to be reckoned with.

Ken Sedlecky and Ains Borsum of Baldwin, Chet Crites and Howard Confer from Detroit, along with Thiefels, are other top threats. Confer was the 1958 high-over-all king, and Mrs. Jean Shields, wife of the MSSA prexy, Marion Shields, will defend her women's crown. Detroit Gun club is defending team champion.

Saturday's round will cover the small gauges, including the .410, the 28 and 20 gauges, while the heavier guns, the 16 and 12-gauges will be fired Sunday.

Lights were being installed today on the fields, and should be ready Friday, OCSC prexy Harry Barnes said today. They will permit night shooting as well as provide light for any shootoffs late in either day.

CHAMPION — Petite Mrs. Genevieve (Mrs. Spencer) Oesch began shooting skeet and trap targets only six months ago. But that didn't stop the pretty Pontiac marksman from taking down the women's state shotgun crown last weekend, in her very first tourney competition. She won in a shootoff over another Pontiac area shooter, with a 11-8 mark. The "kick" of her gun put the "burn" marks on her right cheek, above.

You're the Skipper

By JOHN BOHANNAN

Syndicated Boating Writer

Unobstructed vision in all directions is of top importance in boating, not only to avoid collision with other craft, but to be on the alert for partially submerged floating objects, fish nets, buoys and other hazards.

The skipper should form the habit of letting his eyes sweep the horizon in all directions, especially in crowded harbors.

Under power, you are required to give the right of way to any boats in your danger angle, which is from dead ahead to two points abaft the starboard beam, to boats which you are overtaking, and to sailboats.

The smart helmsman will keep an eye on all other craft whether he has the right of way or not. There are many new boatmen these days who don't know the rules, and remember that large commercial vessels must maintain their courses for practical reasons because of lack of maneuverability, narrow channels and deep draft.

When you have a ski tow, assign another crewman to keep watch on the skier so you can give your attention to handling the boat.

Questions and Answers

I have an old pair of binoculars. They do a pretty good job in the bright sunlight, but at dusk and at night they are not so good. Can they be taken apart and cleaned or repaired in some way so that they will be more efficient?

Better get a new pair of binoculars with coated lenses to admit more light. For marine use, a wide field and medium power seems to be the best combination.

I had a bad collision while beating on a starboard tack during a race. Although I had the right of way, I would have gone about had I known the other boat was on a converging course, but I couldn't see through the mainsail. Any suggestions for the future?

Your crewman, who should be lying low along the weather rail, can see to leeward and should warn you of an impending collision so you can warn the other skipper or bear off if necessary. Some skippers sailing craft with low booms have installed plastic windows in their mainsails.

WATCH ASTERN — With a ski-tow, it's important to have someone aft to keep an eye on the skier so the skipper can devote his entire time to handling the boat.

Michigan Model Top Gun in Camp Perry Matches

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—For the first time in 40 years a military man won the National small bore rifle championship of the United States Tuesday. Marine Walter Kamila, 22, of West Los Angeles, Calif. won the title over a field of 650 with a score of 6,383 out of a possible 6,400.

Army 1st Lt. Presley Kendell of Myers, Ky., Serfe M. Federoff of Denville, N.J., and Ed Ingleright of Buchanan, Mich. finished with 6,382.

Waterfowl Season Faces Heavy Slash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Fish and Wild Life Service today was reported likely to recommend a reduction of about one-third for the 1959-60 duck hunting season in the Atlantic, Mississippi and Central Flyways. Little or no change was expected in the Pacific Flyway.

Officials of the service are drafting proposed migratory waterfowl hunting regulations to be presented next week to Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton for his action. Last week the officials met with the Water Fowl Advisory Committee to discuss the situation created by drought in the major duck producing areas.

They reported surveys of the breeding grounds indicated marked reductions in the fall flights of ducks in the Mississippi and Central Flyways and moderate decreases in the Pacific and Atlantic Flyways.

Pan-Am Torch Traveling Across Oklahoma Today

COLBERT, Okla. (AP) — The Pan-American Games torch, on a long march from Mexico City to Chicago, started the trek across Oklahoma today.

★ ★ ★

Texas scouts turned the torch over to Oklahomans in brief ceremonies near here yesterday. Sooner scouts took it several miles north to Caddo, then stopped for the night.

Speedy Justice for Illegal Fishermen

THERMOPOLIS, Wyo. (AP)—Fish Warden Jack Reaves got speedy justice when he arrested four men for fishing in a restricted area of the Wind River canyon.

One of the men identified himself as F. L. Welch, justice of peace at Shoshoni, Wyo., and called court into session on the river bank. Welch fined the four, including himself, $10 each and then suspended the fine on promise of good behavior.

Federal Funds Help Fire Control Work

LANSING — The Conservation Department's fire control program has been advanced five-ten years through federal consignments of excess equipment during the last year and a half.

Milton M. Bergman, head of the department's fire control section, estimates that approximately $2,000,000 in federal excess equipment has been added to the state's fire-fighting forces free of cost since 1958.

Reports Fine Fishing in Marshall Islands

A Pontiac naval photographer, Richard Hirneisen of Drayton Plains, writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Hirneisen that fishing is good in the Pacific Marshall Islands.

Dick is stationed there at present and says he gets a lot of exciting sport taking sand shark and red snappers from the shore line. He sent along a picture, which, unfortunately was not suitable for reproduction, showing a half dozen shark of from 3 to 4 feet in length, landed during an afternoon's sport.

Trying to Quiet Latin Uproar

U.S. in Middle at Caribbean Confab

By ARNOLD DIBBLE

TOKYO (UPI)—The Philippines is the only country in Asia built in the American image. Today many, if not most, Filipinos are hurt, baffled and angry over attacks at the hands of the Americans who brought them into the modern world.

The most popular parlor game among the many Americans who travel in Asia is attacking graft, corruption and indolence in the Philippines. Prominent experts deplore the sad state of these lush islands and magazines and newspapers find themselves denounced for their statements and dispatches on the Philippines.

The press is so free that many newspapermen themselves think some of the stories in the newspapers (always the opposition newspaper, of course) go too far. Politicians' private lives, for example, make for some lurid reading.

Freedom of speech is so unbridled that political campaigns in the Philippines make a good, old fashioned American name - calling contest appear like an Elk's Club testimonial night.

With these freedoms, also go freedom to graft. And grafters there appear to be a-plenty in the Philippines. (A recent visitor to Tokyo showed a letter from a customs official who was brazen enough to spell out exactly what he wanted to clear some goods through the pier. Another complaint frequently heard is that everyone is getting graft now — whereas it used to be that you paid the "head man" and that was that.)

POINT TO U.S.

But the Filipinos also point to the unprecedented corruption that swept the United States during the prohibition era — corruption that hasn't been entirely wiped out from police forces to this day. And then there was the Teapot Dome scandal.

During the past 18 months, Asia has seen Pakistan, Burma, Thailand and Indonesia take steps toward totalitarianism or authoritarianism. South Viet Nam, the Republic of China, and Korea — all supported by the U.S. — have "strongman" governments.

In that time, there has been scarcely a whisper of any such thing in the Philippines although earlier this year there were reports of a military plot against President Carlos Garcia. The "plot" came to nothing.

The Philippines—indeed most of the counties of Asia — has had little time to prepare for the tough problems of Democratic government. That perhaps is why you see so little of it.

Discovered by the explorer Magellan in 1521, the approximately 7,100 islands were governed by the Spanish until they were ceded to the United States following the treaty of Paris in 1898. Now a republic of approximately 25,000,000 persons of many religious and racial backgrounds, the Philippines was granted independence on July 4, 1946.

NATIONALISM HURTS

The Philippines is rare in Asia in that it has plenty of land for its population—in fact, it has been estimated that it could accommodate at least twice its population with no trouble. The land is rich in natural resources, but intense nationalism has prevented development. At least 60 per cent of any owned by native-born Filipinos.

As one American put it: "The Filipinos nationalized their resources before they ever got them out of the ground."

The Filipinos were America's staunchest ally during World War II; and despite the fact they don't think they have gotten a fair shake of foreign aid (a debatable point), they probably are today. Certainly you hear no anti-nuclear talk in the Philippines; President Garcia has welcomed the latest weapons into his country.

What particularly bothers Americans is, of course, that their "baby" is a little less than perfect. But when you take over-all stock of the progeny of colonialism in Asia, the American "baby" perhaps doesn't come off too badly.

ST. IGNACE (AP) — Have you ever thought you'd like to walk across the straits of Mackinac bridge?

The five-mile stroll, which includes races in several classes, will be open to all with sturdy legs and no fear of heights at a $1 admission fee. Everyone who crosses the long span in less than one hour will receive a prize. Trophies will be given winners.

A qualifying non-stop walk will be 4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 6, the day before the main event. The official walk gets underway at 7:30 a.m. Monday, Sept. 7, from the St. Ignace side of the bridge.

Soybean Prices Off 3-5 Cents

CHICAGO (AP)—A bearish government report on production greased the skids for soybean futures prices today and they slipped fast in early dealings on the Board of Trade.

Prices of all contracts were down well over three cents a bushel and some were off almost five cents on opening transactions. Stop loss selling was unusually heavy but a few interests which had liquidated yesterday in expectation of a bearish figure were buying at the lower levels.

The grains eased, too. However, the setbacks there generally were in small fractions since the government report apparently contained no particular surprises on them.

After about an hour the grains had become steady to firm with wheat 1/8 to 1/2 cent a bushel higher, September $1.90¼; corn ¼ higher to 1/8 lower, September $1.19⅞; oats 1/8 higher to 1/8 lower, September new type contract 68⅛; rye ½ to 1¾ higher, September $1.33½; soybeans 3½ to 3⅞ lower, September $2.12½.

Pontiac Man Quick on Draw, but Not Enough

Parks was taken by ambulance to Pontiac General Hospital for treatment. He was reported in satisfactory condition today.

The first match was introduced in 1828. In order to light it, one had to risk glass splinters and acid burns.

Action Being Taken Against Labor Violations

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The justice department says "vigorous action" is being taken against labor racketeering violations by the Teamsters Union.

The department reported yesterday that it had won convictions against 31 Teamsters since 1954 and had indictments pending against 14 others.

Assistant Attorney General Malcolm R. Wilkey, in charge of the criminal division, discussed the labor racketeering drive in response to an inquiry from Rep. Olin E. Teague (D-Tex).

Stock Rebound Fizzles Out

NEW YORK (AP) — A spurt to the upside fizzled quickly and the stock market settled into irregularity early today.

It looked as if traders were taking profits on yesterday's sharp recovery from the drastic shakeout of Monday.

Gains and losses of fractions to a point or so peppered the list of key stocks. No group asserted any real leadership.

The market seemed to be feeling its way in a consolidation phase as predicted by a number of market analysts.

Litton Industries held a gain of more than 2 while Texas Instruments washed out all but a fraction of an initial gain of more than a point. Zenith and Philco were fractionally higher. Motorola and Raytheon were down fractionally.

Secrecy Upheld by McClellan

Kennedy Sides With Reuther in Demanding Open Probe Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said today there is nothing abnormal in his committee's refusal to admit the press and public to its current investigation of the United Auto Workers Union.

He said a public inquiry will be ordered if the preliminary hearings indicate to the committee that one is justified.

★ ★ ★

McClellan gave that appraisal as the committee summoned Richard T. Gosser, the union's international vice president, for questioning behind closed doors. Gosser's lawyers fired fresh demands that the hearing be in public.

★ ★ ★

Walter Reuther, UAW president, has denounced the closed session as a smear tactic. He accused the committee's four Republican members of engineering it, alleging that they planned to leak biased accounts of the testimony in an effort to discredit his union.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R - Ariz) said the closed session was McClellan's decision.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) a likely aspirant for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination and a committee member, sided with Reuther on the secrecy issue.

"In justice to the people involved, and to the committee itself, it should be public," Kennedy told newsmen.

The committee withheld any official announcement of what happened at the hearings Tuesday. Members, from both political parties, said privately that two of the day's three witnesses had invoked the Fifth Amendment.

★ ★ ★

They said Peter Zvara, fired as an international representative of the UAW last spring, refused to answer questions about his alleged financial dealings with a New York management consulting firm, and so did Ernest Love, who resigned recently from a similar post. Both are from Toledo, Ohio.

Restaurateur Agrees to Face Arson Charge

DETROIT (AP) — Antony Sacca, 40, co-owner of a swank northwest Detroit eating spot, agreed through his attorney to surrender to police today on an arson charge in a $65,000 fire at the restaurant last July 17.

Sacca was accused in a warrant yesterday of setting the fire at the Sacca Restaurant and Lounge to collect insurance money. The property was insured for $437,000.

Sacca's three partners were not implicated. They are his brother, Joseph, Samuel J. Versaci and Samuel C. Cerrito.

Sunday School Promotions Go Wild at Times

But dropping leaflets from airplanes is going too far. At least that's how Commissioner William W. Donaldson feels.

City Manager Walter K. Willman was asked to put "reasonable limitations" on promotion plans outlined by Emmanual Baptist Church, 645 S. Telegraph Rd., to kick off an eight-week Sunday School attendance drive Sept. 20.

The church asked city permission to stage a wild west parade on downtown Saginaw street Sept. 19. It wanted to drop leaflets the day before the parade.

The church has a 2,200 Sunday School enrollment now and plans to compete in its attendance drive with a church in Dallas, Tex. The wild west theme is based on this competition, said Eugene Goff, Sunday school superintendent.

Eight-Year-Old Hurt in Freak Accident

An 8-year-old Pontiac Township boy suffered a bullet wound in a freak accident behind his home Tuesday, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Leslie P. Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Nichols, of 200 Lake Angelus Rd., found a .22 caliber bullet in or near his yard and was playing with it when the shell exploded.

The boy's father told deputies his son was holding the shell on a rock and hitting it with a stone. He was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for a chest cut inflicted by the flying shell casing.

WAITS FOR STATEHOOD — Rep.-Elect Daniel Inouye of Hawaii, right, sits on the Capitol steps yesterday with William (Fishbait) Miller, House doorkeeper. Inouye, 34-year-old Democrat, arrived Sunday. He is the first representative of Japanese descent. Inouye plans to stay in Washington until Hawaii formally is admitted to statehood, probably later this month. Then he can take his place in Congress.

Santiago Police Break Up March on U.S. Embassy

From Our News Wires

SANTIAGO, Chile — One of the heaviest concentrations of police ever seen in Santiago broke up a Communist-led "March on the U.S. embassy" here last night.

A crowd of about 2,500 persons, who had been attending a Red-organized meeting on the eve of the opening of the Western Hemisphere foreign ministers' conference here started down Merced street toward the embassy when the meeting broke up.

Scores of police, on the alert for trouble, quickly headed off the crowd and turned in onto the nearby Mapocho River bridge. There was no major outbreak of violence, and no casualties were reported.

Police on foot and on horseback had been posted to guard the embassy, where U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter will live for the five-day duration of the conference. Motorized troops were held in reserve nearby to deal with serious disorders.

The Red-organized meeting called in competition with the conference to demonstrate leftist support for the governments of Cuba and Venezuela, was interrupted repeatedly by cheers for Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and jeers for the foreign ministers' meeting.

The United States is expected to warn Latin American leaders today that continued unrest in the Caribbean area plays into the hands of the Reds and weakens the Western Hemisphere politically and economically.

At an organization meeting last night, the foreign ministers chose German Vergara of Chile to serve as President of the conference and set Aug. 17 as its tentative closing date.

Pravda charged today the United States hopes to use the American foreign ministers meeting in Santiago, Chile, as a trojan horse to undermine the "struggle for liberation in Nicarauga, the Dominican Republic and in other Caribbean countries."

The newspaper said the Organization of American States never called a conference to discuss the "murder of 20,000 men, women and children" by ex-Cuban dictator Fulgencio Batista.

President Jorge Alessandri of Chile urged the 21 American republics today to seek peaceful settlements of their disputes and try to strengthen the inter-American system. A drive toward enforcement of human rights also was taking shape.

In a speech prepared for the opening of the conference, Alessandri said it is imperative that peace, freedom and law prevail throughout the Western Hemisphere. U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was to reply later on behalf of the foreign ministers.

The conference was called to discuss tensions in the Caribbean.

Cross in Fraser Plans for Long Union Struggle

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — The United Auto Workers' strike at the Cross Co. plant in nearby Fraser entered its ninth day today with the Union and the company apparently mapping plans for a long struggle.

Presidents of UAW locals on Detroit's East Side conferred yesterday on strategy at UAW International Headquarters in Detroit.

Regional director George Merrelli said Local 155, which is attempting to negotiate a contract at the automation machinery plant, obtained a promise of moral and financial support from other locals in the region.

The Union charges that the company has refused to negotiate on a new contract despite an election last fall which resulted in the National Labor Relations Board certifying the UAW as bargaining agent for some 200 production workers.

The company is appealing the NLRB decision in the U.S. Court of Appeals at Cincinnati, Ohio. Ralph E. Cross, president of the company, says he is convinced that more than half the workers did not want UAW representation.

After a picket line outbreak a week ago in which two deputy sheriffs and three pickets were injured, the Union agreed in Macomb County Circuit Court to limit pickets to 20 at the plant entrance.

Other Union members, however, have gathered across the street from the entrance as observers. With binoculars and a telescope, they've been attempting to check the company's claim that the plant is operating at 35 per cent of normal production.

In incidents yesterday, one picket was knocked down by a car attempting to pass through the gates and the company charged an attempt was made to sabotage the plant.

The company says it is operating on a partial basis with 50 production workers who are working, sleeping and eating in the plant and with 200 engineers and supervisory employes who are permitted to pass through the picket line. The company says the production workers sticking to their jobs are regular Cross Co. employes.

Laotians Want No Foreign Aid

Situation Quiet Today but Demands Grow for U.N. to Assist United Press International

Demands grew today for United Nations intervention in the Asian kingdom of Laos but a Laotian government spokesman said no foreign aid was necessary because the nation is strong enough to crush the Communist-led rebels.

The Communists were reported to have massed 4,000 well-armed rebels in the mountains near Samneua, 120 miles southeast of Hanoi, in preparation for an allout attack on the Laotian armed forces but reports from the area said that the situation was quiet today.

Fighting has been reported around Samneua since July and the U. S. State Department charged yesterday the Communists were deliberately instigating the fighting to "keep tensions alive in Southeast Asia." A formal statement hinted that the plan might be Moscow-directed.

The State Department noted that two members of the North Viet Nam Central Committee visited Deputy Soviet Premier Anastas Mikoyan in Moscow on Aug. 7 and said it was not clear whether the Reds were trying to keep tensions alive only in Asia or whether this was "part of a broader Communist design."

The State Department described as absurd Communist charges that the United States was attempting "to turn Laos into a U.S. military base in preparation for a war against the democratic republic of (Communist) Viet Nam."

The kingdom of Laos is a former French protectorate in what then was called French Indochina. It became independent in 1954 after the Communist victory at Dienbienphu crushed French military power and led to division of Viet Nam into the Communist North and the Free South.

8-Mile Sewer Fight in Court

Circuit Judge Issues Restraining Order to Block Drain Project

A group of Southfield residents, who said the project threatens "wholesale" loss of their homes if built, today carried their long fight against the $4,760,000 Eight Mile road storm drain to Oakland County Circuit Court.

★ ★ ★

The Eight Mile Road Storm Drain Special Assessment District Taxpayers' Assn., along with 35 property owners in the district, filed a lawsuit and were granted a temporary restraining order blocking the sewer.

Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty ordered Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry and three other defendants to show cause Sept. 9 why an injunction stopping the sewer shouldn't be issued.

★ ★ ★

They said the "tremendous" costs to them "bear no relationship whatsoever to (the) amount" of benefits. It will serve Oak Park also.

Today's suit was filed as Barry awaits word from the Municipal Finance Commission whether the county can issue bonds to build the sewer.

Ohio Man Helps Smash Cuban Plot Against Fidel

HAVANA (UPI)—An American-born revolutionary helped smash a gigantic plot against Fidel Castro by pretending to join the conspiracy and then trapping its leaders at a secret midnight meeting, it was reported today.

Informed sources said Maj. William Morgan of Ohio, a commandante of the Cuban Rural Police, worked as an undercover agent with Army Commandante Eloy Quitierrez Menoyo.

They played along with the conspirators and passed the information to Castro.

Castro was reported directing a continuing mopup operation in which more than 2,000 persons have been arrested, at least 1,000 of them soldiers.

REPORT FALSE

Castro had been expected to make one of his famous television speeches on the conspiracy last night but it was canceled without explanation.

Reliable but unofficial sources said he was too busy with the roundup of the conspirators.

One report had it that he had been shot and wounded but a foreign ministry spokesman said this was "completely false." The spokesman said he personally had seen the premier in downtown Havana last night.

Two American newsmen and a Cuban civilian were arrested yesterday when they tried to interview Morgan at his home but they were expected to be released shortly. No charges were preferred.

They are Jean Secon, a part-time employe of United Press International, Cuban Guillermo Tuzzio and free-lance cameraman Alexander Rorke. The U. S. Embassy contacted Cuban authorities about the Americans and was informed they probably would be released today.

Havana newspapers said the anti-Castro plot mushroomed among Cubans who opposed his agrarian reform program and was supported by arms and more than $50,000 from the Dominican Republic.

Informed sources said the Dominican government which has granted asylum to ousted Cuban dictator Fulgencio Batista, sent a boat with about 25 heavy machine guns and other automatic weapons to the insurgents.

(In Ciudad Trujillo, the Dominican chief of military intelligence said reports that his government was involved in the conspiracy were "ridiculous.")

Dems Say Tough Labor Bill Could Kill Chance of New Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Democrats pushed today the argument that House passage of a labor control bill backed by President Eisenhower might kill chances of any labor legislation this session.

They sought to support that argument by producing a letter from Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate probers. The letter to Rep. Lee Metcalf (D-Mont) repeated the argument already voiced by Kennedy's brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy (D-Mass), author of a Senate-passed bill on the subject.

While the House argued the respective merits of three differing bills on the subject, backers of each worked to line up support in advance of the voting, expected to start Thursday. A tight vote was forecast.

With political prestige and power at stake, the usual buzz of conversation and commotion on the floor was absent during Tuesday's debate. A tense quiet prevailed most of the time.

Member after member appealed for adoption of measures to check the "atrocious abuse of union power," avoid "a moral compromise" or "get Jimmy Hoffa"—Teamsters President James R. Hoffa, a target of the Senate investigation.

But the methods advocated to accomplish these frequently voiced ends differed according to bills being supported by the speakers.

Kennedy wrote Metcalf the Democratic - backed Labor Committee bill would "carry out all the recommendations" of the Senate group headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark). McClellan himself has urged stronger legislation.

Kennedy said either the Senate-passed anti-racketeering or the House bill supported by Democratic leaders would meet the requirements for effective legislation against labor-management abuses.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, he said passage of the Eisenhower-backed bill sponsored by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich) could provoke a Senate-House deadlock that would result in no bill being passed.

The Senate last April passed a bill somewhat more stringent in its controls than the House Democratic bill, but not as far reaching as the Landrum-Griffin measure.

Backers of the Landrum-Griffin bill were counting on holding 135 of the 153 Republicans and possibly 80 Southern and Midwestern Democrats.

Both sides were of the opinion that 213 or 215 House votes would win. A majority of the 435 House members is 218, but vacancies and absentees are expected to reduce total voting strength somewhat.

Belts Can Save 5,000 Lives

Safety Expert Claims Highway Toll Could Be Cut Down

DETROIT (UPI) — A safety research expert estimated yesterday that 5,000 lives could be saved every year on the nation's highways if all automobiles were equipped with safety belts — and they were used.

Myron I. Macht, administrator of the field program of automotive crash injury research at Cornell University said deaths could be cut by one-eighth in highway accidents by use of safety belts. "For some reason, we just seem to shrug off our 40,000 traffic deaths annually," he said at the opening session of the National Medical Assn. convention.

Moreover, Macht predicted by 1966 annual fatalities on the highways would reach 54,000, based on an estimated 17 per cent increase in population, a 25 per cent increase in drivers and a 34 per cent increase in automobiles on the road, and miles driven.

However, Macht said some progress had been made in slowing down the rate of increase in traffic deaths and injuries, partly by better engineering of automobiles, partly by intensified driver education, and speeded-up accident prevention program and law enforcement.

Survivor of Civil War Still on Critical List

★ ★ ★

The nation's oldest veteran, who served as a forage master with Hood's Texas Brigade in the Confederate Army, was fed through an eye-dropper Tuesday night. Earlier, his daughter, Willie Mae Bowles, said the old soldier "refuses to eat, refuses to speak, refuses to do anything."

★ ★ ★

"It's up to the Lord now," Mrs. Bowles said. "I just don't see how he's going to make it now." She has cared for her father since he moved here from his Franklin, Tex., farm three years ago.

Mother Rejects Salk Shots; Six Tots Get Polio

UXBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Four children whose mother refused free Salk vaccine for them although every other child in town was inoculated have become this community's first polio cases.

★ ★ ★

Health officials disclosed yesterday that the disease which struck four youngsters of Mrs. Marie Plante Majeau, 27, last week had been diagnosed as nonparalytic polio.

Daniel J. Shea, chairman of the local health board, said the women's six children were the only ones of more than 3,000 children in the community not to receive the vaccine.

★ ★ ★

"We have urged her on numerous occasions during the past four years to have the children inoculated," Shea said. The shots were free for pre-school children and pregnant mothers, he added or to anyone who could not pay $1.50 a shot.

Submarine Is a Ship, Not a Boat, You Swabs

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — A submarine is a ship and not a boat and furthermore it is a first line ship o fthe Navy, says Rear Adm. Frederick B. Warder, Commander Submarine Force, Atlantic.

He has requested officers and crew to refer to them as submarines or ships, reviving the old Navy adage: It's a boat if it can be carried by a ship.

Early submarines were small craft originally called torpedo boats, which could be hoisted to docks or aboard ships, and were a far cry from today's submarines.

A general of the army wears five silver stars and the nation's coat of arms. A general wears four silver stars; a lieutenant general three stars, major general two stars and brigadier general one star.

OUR IRONS ON THE FIRE
Mark YOUR BRAND It's Better Than Walking!

'48 DE SOTO — Help us out on this one — Bootlegger's car — We've cleaned the old bottles out. $125, more or less.

'49 MERCURY — Fell off the truck while being delivered, but in good shape nevertheless. Bring $125 and we'll argue about the tax.

'49 CHRYSLER — Owned by an old lady who was a poor driver, but kept the old shaker clean. Has O.D. Ridiculous at just $145.

'50 CHEVROLET — A good runner for the guy who has another good looking car to drive in public. Jack tagged this at $95, but we think he's nuts.

'51 CHEVROLET — Jack likes to think he can pull $145 for this "Bomb", but we won't guarantee it past the curb.

'52 BUICK — One owner—Low mileage (Barney Oldfield—125,000 mi.) has a spare wheel, complete with tire. At $195 we'll put air in the other four.

'53 FORD — It's a nice color, the radio works, and the heater is guaranteed for the balance of the summer. In odd figures, $342.

'54 MERCURY — Due to a shake-up, they don't make 'em like this any more. Bring $495 and beat the scrap collector to this one.

'54 PLYMOUTH — We'll sell this one "as is" — Is that enough warning? $195 will do the thing and Jack Cole will be able to breathe easier.

'55 DODGE — V-8, 4-door, R&H. Automatic transmission. So nice we would like to keep it, but Jack needs $695, for a blackmail payment so it will have to go.

THESE ARE THE "OLDER ONES" WE HAVE IN STOCK. WE ALSO HAVE A BUNCH OF NEVER USED CARS WITH VALUES SO HIGH & PRICES SO LOW WE ARE AFRAID YOU'LL THINK WE'RE KIDDING." YOUR MONEY TALKS THE LANGUAGE WE LOVE TO HEAR. SO BRING YOUR TITLE, WIFE AND A GIRL FOR US.

TV News and Reviews

Pilot Films Breathe Briefly on CBS Adventure Series

By WILLIAM EWALD

★ ★ ★

The pilot film is a sort of sample, a swatch of a proposed series peddled around by its makers in hopes of landing a TV slot or sponsor, preferably both.

EWALD

Much of the time these hopes die aborning — some pilot films, like one made by Orson Welles a couple of seasons back, are too imaginative for TV; most are too horrendous for even TV to consider.

Last spring, for example, platoons of pilots were marched around sugarplum-land equipped with all manner of toothsome titles.

Some them: The Ivy Leaguer, Skagway, Shotgun Slade, Kitty Hawk, Claudia, Theodora, Confessions of Willie, My Name is Savage, Caballero, Johnny Eager, Johnny Staccato, Johnny Midnight and Johnny Ringo. Only a few of these will be seen on TV this fall.

This is all a kind of roundabout way of getting into last night and the debut of a new CBS-TV series, Adventure Showcase.

The series will only last four weeks, but during that time it will give viewers a chance to look at some genuine non-reruns, a quartet of pilots that failed to get off the ground.

The first of these was piped on board last night and it was quite obvious why it didn't make it: It was wretched.

Its innards centered around a gentleman improbably named Brock Callahan who had once dabbled in football and then moved on to higher pursuits like private detecting.

The episode was a stupefying slab of tedium, one of those things in which a bewildering array of people gallop in and out of the plot, pummeling each other at odd moments and mouthing that bizarre jargon that is heard only within the barbarous precincts of private eye adventures.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Our Leader, Elvis, after he's sprung from the Army on March 24, will receive a reported $100,000 plus $25,000 expenses for singing three songs on the special ABC-TV Elvis Presley Show next spring.

Properties set for the NBC-TV Rexall specials next season include "Jenny Kissed Me" on Jan. 17 and "Holy Matrimony" on March 13 . . . Dinah Shore and Perry Como will trade NBC-TV guest shots next season . . . CBS-TV's The Last Word ticks off its 100th telecast Sept. 27.

Mickey Rooney's nine-year-old son, Teddy, and Teddy's mother, Martha Vickers, will star in a new situation comedy, "The Baby Sitters," which Music Corp. of America will back—there's a possibility that Alan Young will star as the father in the show.

ABC-TV's Pat Boone has set up a new subsidiary of his Cooga Mooga Enterprises to handle his records—it'll be called Agoom Agooc which is Cooga Mooga spelled sdrawkcab, oops, backwards . . .

Hollywood Headlines:

New Book Title Right in 'Yes, Mr. DeMille'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Hit sex hard! Keep the stuff down to earth. Your job is to please me. Nothing else on earth matters."

These were Cecil B. De Mille's instructions to his crews of writers. They may help to explain De Mille to a Hollywood that is still puzzling over his strange genius six months after his death.

THOMAS

The words are contained in a fascinating new biography. "Yes, Mr. DeMille," by Phil Koury, for seven years the great man's publicity chief and now a Kansas City attorney. It will probably remain the most honest and the most interesting of the books to be written about the showman. Here are some things you can learn:

★ ★ ★

De Mille strove mightily to get Vic Mature to fight a real lion in "Samson and Delilah." He argued that the lion had been trained as a cub and was fed on milk. Mature commented: "I was raised on milk, too, but I eat meat now."

★ ★ ★

The director even got co-star Hedy Lamarr to parade the aging beast past Mature's dressing room. The actor's only comment: "You're so beautiful, Hedy, I can see how any lion would follow you around." But he held his ground and fought a stuffed animal.

The director's outbursts on the set were legendary. Seeing two assistant directors chatting idly one day, he intoned into the microphone before the huge cast and crew: "I'm running a set costing $50,000 a day, and you gentlemen seem to have found time to play at marbles. If you are not quite up to this whole thing, may I suggest that you find yourself another picture, perhaps one with a kindergarten hour."

De Mille seemed immune to the small infirmities that plague most humans. He had but one small filling in his teeth. He never suffered routine viruses, explaining: "No bug is brave enough or mean enough to live in me".

He hated the "big city critics" who said his epics were full of hokum. Said he: "Well, what is hokum? It is pure and simple emotion. Christ making the blind girl see, I suppose, is hokum. They say my pictures are spectacles. Was the Crucifixion a spectacle? That had a lot of people. Was Guadalcanal a spectacle?...."

Fight Disease on Formosa

Typhoid, Dysentary Are Reported in Taichung in Wake of Flood

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Medical teams worked around the clock today to prevent epidemics in the wake of Formosa's worst floods of the century. Forty cases of typhoid and dysentery were reported at Taichung, in central Formosa.

With 248,184 homeless on the Nationalist Chinese island, sanitation was a major problem. More than 185,000 acres of land were flooded, and nearly 41,000 homes destroyed or damaged.

Officials said the latest count of the known dead after the disastrous weekend was 645, with 519 persons still missing.

Knock on Door Takes Him Off 'Wanted' List

They arrested James Francis Jenkins, 38, an accused bank robber who had chopped his way out of a cell in a Philadelphia jail last April 30 with a screwdriver.

Jenkins had been awaiting trial on bank robbery charges. He was indicted for taking part in the $17,730 holdup of a Broomall, Pa., bank on March 4.

★ ★ ★

The FBI agents who made the arrest would not reveal how they were led to Jenkins. But tips from several citizens in Buffalo played a major role, Assistant Special Agent Karl Brouse said. He would not elaborate.

Actress Charges Hubby Made Her Nervous, Sick

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Corinne Calvet, suing actor Jeffrey Stone for divorce, charges that he treated her so cruelly she became nervous and sick.

Miss Calvet, 32, and Stone, 34, were married in 1955. She divorced actor John Bromfield in 1954. Stone formerly was married to actress Barbara Lawrence.

Defeats Lottery Proposal

BOSTON (AP) — A proposal to establish a state lottery — proponents contended it would be preferable to new taxes — has again gone down to defeat. The House defeated the measure Tuesday.

Marilyn Is 'On Time' —Only 15 Minutes Late

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — 'Twas my Beautiful Wife's never-mind-which birthday — and I had warned Marilyn Monroe's press representative, "I won't wait on her today if she's late — I'll walk out."

WILSON

So I fidgeted and squirmed — and suddenly there was Marilyn, and I was gasping, "But you're only 15 minutes late!"

"Twenty!" shrilled Marilyn, trotting in to look at a clock. "It's very gallant of you to say 15."

"How did you ever make it?" I asked.

"I decided it was either my hair, or being on time for you and your wife," said Marilyn. "I finally decided that Rosemary was more important than my hair being right."

Thus she established a record for punctuality — for her.

Marilyn visited the 4 Seasons Restaurant, then "Two for the Seesaw," then back to the Four Seasons again. Thanks to her cooperation, we managed to pull a complete surprise, meanwhile, on our B.W. down at Luchow's, which is fine for surprises because that band music is often so booming you could shoot somebody down there and never be noticed.

Ike Cuts Down on Social Affairs

Exchange of Visits With Khrushchev, Western Parley Forces Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has canceled its formal social affairs for the 1959-60 season because of a heavy international schedule this fall and winter for President Eisenhower.

The President previously had cut down on the state dinners and White House receptions. Last year there were only five state dinners.

But there still will be official White House entertainment for foreign dignitaries making state visits.

Mary Jane McCaffree, Mrs. Eisenhower's secretary who announced the cancellations, said these would provide an opportunity to include diplomats and others among the guests.

The official entertainments, long at the top of Washington's social events, customarily included six state dinners and five receptions.

Michigan Liquor Sales Dip Below '58 Total

LANSING (AP)—Case sales of liquor of Michigan in July dipped 1½ per cent below the same month in 1958, the state liquor control commission reports.

Michigan Leads With Highways

Tops Any Other State for New Roads in June; 2nd in Dollar Volume

LANSING (AP) — Michigan placed more highways under construction in June than any state in the nation, Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie reports.

The U.S. Bureau of Public Roads credited the state with placing 28½ million dollars in highway projects under construction covering some 257 miles. New York and Texas were tied for second with $25,100,000.

The bureau also ranked Michigan second in dollar volume of expressways placed under contract in June on the interstate highway system. The figure was $13,400,000 and covered 27 miles of roads. New York led the states with $13,700,000 on nine miles of expressways.

Judge Clears Everly Brother of Racing Charge

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A drag-racing charge against singer Phil Everly and another youth was dismissed Tuesday by a judge who then tried to fine them for speeding.

He dismissed the whole case when it turned out the drag-racing statute—a stiff, new one passed this year—does not provide for lesser offenses.

Both defendants said it was all a mistake, anyway.

Everly, 20, said "I didn't know what was going on until I saw the officer wave us to the side."

"I wasn't drag-racing," said Herbert Keatherley, 19. "I just wanted to see if that really was Phil Everly." "Happens all the time," Everly said.

Flint Auto Dealer Buys Control of Mausoleum

SAGINAW (AP) — A Flint auto dealer, Peter Gavriloff, has purchased controlling interest in the Hopewood Memorial Mausoleum west of Saginaw.

The 7,000-place crypt is worth an estimated $2,000,000. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Gavriloff will act as president of the company operating the mausoleum and his wife will be vice president. Russell E. Bowners, Flint attorney, will be secretary.

U.S. May Have ICBM Soon

Third Atlas Success in Four Months Shores Air Force Hopes

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Three successful Atlas test flights have buoyed U.S. hopes for an operational intercontinental ballistic missile by Sept. 1.

Air Force officials were jubilant after the reportedly perfect 5,000-mile flight Tuesday of one of the weapons. It was the third Atlas success in four weeks.

The original plan was to turn the Atlas over to troops by last July 1. A string of five consecutive failures between February and June delayed this, and a new target date of Sept. 1 was set.

Reliable sources reported that one or two more good shots probably would make the Atlas ready for combat use. Once the missile is operational, U.S. troops will begin training-firing it from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The Atlas has a key role in the U.S. space program.

Sometime next month, a model of the capsule that wil. carry the first American into space will be launched by an Atlas. The purpose is to test the capsule's ability to withstand the tremendous heat encountered on re-entry through the earth's atmosphere.

The Atlas also will serve as booster for several powerful space vehicles.

Crop Output Nears Last Year's High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said Tuesday total crop production prospects edged upward during July to within 3 per cent of last year's outstanding record.

The department said total feed grain tonnage seems likely to nearly equal last year's record. Corn prospects were down slightly from July 1 but there was an improvement in some other feed grains.

Large soybean and sorghum grain crops now seem likely. Yield prospects were said to be favorable on a smaller acreage than last year.

In many cases, this year's production will add to surpluses accumulated from past crops.

Weather Pattern Changes Little Throughout U.S.

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather pattern showed only minor changes today, with fairly mild temperatures and showers in many areas.

It was warm in most of the eastern half of the country and a little cool from the western Dakotas through the Rockies to the Pacific Coast.

A cool front moved eastward across the northern plains bringing relief from Tuesday's hot weather. Temperatures of 100 degrees and higher dropped into the 70s. The day's high was 106 at Mobridge, S.D., but the cool air lowered readings to 70 early this morning.

Sentence Three Negroes to Death in Rape Case

LA GRANGE, Ga. (AP)—Three Negro men have been sentenced to die in the electric chair for the multiple rape of two young white women during a night of terror near this west Georgia city.

An all-male jury, including one Negro, convicted the Negroes Tuesday night after deliberating nearly five hours.

The jury did not recommend mercy and Superior Court Judge Samuel J. Boykin sentenced the three to be electrocuted at Reidsville State Prison Oct. 2.

The verdict was read in a tense courtroom closely guarded by State Patrolmen and Georgia Bureau of Investigation agents. The first three rows were cleared and spectators warned against any outbursts.

The three young defendants, George Alford Jr., 18, of Dayton, Ohio; Clifford Johnson, 22, and Brannon Epps, 24, both of La Grange, accepted the sentence with the same stoical expressions they had maintained throughout the two-day trial.

They had nothing to say when the judge offered them an opportunity to speak before passing sentence. He ordered them held in a safe place until they were taken to the state prison.

All three Negroes were charged with raping a 20-year-old married woman during the early morning hours of Aug. 1. Epps and Alford also were charged with raping the woman's 18-year-old cousin.

Georgia law prohibits publication of their names.

Lipford asked the death penalty so girls "would have the right to walk the streets of La Grange without being brutally ravished and raped."

He charged that the Negroes raped the women after taking them first from their white escorts and later from three Negroes who tried to help them.

Boy to Plead Guilty in Destruction of Art

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—An 18-year-old library page boy will plead guilty Friday to charges of setting a $30,000 fire in an art museum and scrawling swastikas on Jewish synagogues, authorities say.

Solicitor General John Land denied reports that the youth, Richard V. Smith Jr., might be turned over to mental authorities. Land described the studious youth, who likes to read Nazi philosophy, as "very intelligent but misguided."

Land said Smith would be allowed to enter guilty pleas to charges of second and third-degree arson, which carry prison terms of 1-10 and 1-3 years respectively; and two counts of malicious mischief.
