

Monday, January 12, 2009

OUAA Family Festival joins February Homecoming Festivities!

Featuring special attractions and entertainment that will appeal to young and old alike, this winter homecoming weekend will be a hit with the entire family. Begin your day at 11:30 a.m. on Saturday, February 7 at the OUAA Family Festival located inside the Campus Recreation Center in the three-court gyms on the lower level. Test your "rock star" skills on the interactive Rock Band and Guitar Hero video games, defy gravity in the inflatable Bouncehouse, race about the obstacle course, or challenge your family to nine holes of putt-putt golf! Admission is free and open to everyone.

Tailgating will begin at 1 p.m. in heated tents outside the Recreation Center featuring a variety of free tailgating treats. Then, cheer on the Golden Grizzlies basketball teams at 3:30 p.m. (women) and again at 6 p.m. (men) as they face conference opponent Centenary College. The first 200 fans at the women's game will receive free admission to both games. For more information on ticket prices, visit OU Athletics at www.ougrizzlies.com.

For more information, call the OUAA event hotline at 248-364-6140, or visit the 2009 OU Homecoming website at www.oakland.edu/comehome for a complete list of homecoming activities on Friday and Saturday.

SUMMARY

The annual OUAA Family Festival has moved from its regularly-scheduled October time slot to join the winter homecoming festivities slated for the first weekend of February 2009.

Created by Heather Mattiello (heather.mattiello@caretech.com) on Monday, January 12, 2009

Modified by CareTech Administrator (webservices@caretechsolutions.com) on Wednesday, July 22, 2009

Article Start Date: Monday, January 12, 2009