General Tells of Stevens' Orders

Says Secretary Asked for Risks to Be Replaced

Monmouth Commander Testifies Against Boss in Memorandum

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Stevens testified today he was apprehensive the Ft. Monmouth, N. J., commander was moving too fast against alleged security risks last October. He said it was "entirely possible" the commander, Maj. Gen. Kirke G. Lawton, had been asked to withdraw some suspensions.

Stevens had been confronted at the McCarthy-Army hearings with a statement by Lawton that Army Counselor John G. Adams telephoned him early in November urging him to "dismiss certain security cases" at the Army radar research center.

In a dramatic development, Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel to the Senate Investigations subcommittee, produced the memorandum, "not two hours old," saying Lawton had dictated it in Jenkins' presence.

The memo was handwritten in ink. Jenkins said Capt. Joseph E. Corr Jr., aide to Lawton, had taken down the general's statement.

Jenkins termed the memo of vital importance to the contention by Sen. McCarthy—denied by Stevens—that Stevens sought to stop the senator's investigation of alleged subversive activities at Monmouth. The special counsel conducted such a hammering cross-examination of Stevens that Joseph N. Welch, special counsel to the secretary, protested Jenkins was going at it as if it were a "murder trial."

Stevens swore that he had no recollection of the purported telephone conversation between Adams and Lawton.

But Stevens said it could be "entirely possible"—that it was "conceivable"—he had told Adams he had better call Gen. Lawton. Stevens said he did recall that last Oct. 31, he had talked to Gen. George I. Back, chief signal officer.

Stock Market Hits New 24-Year High

NEW YORK (U)—The stock market raced ahead today to the highest levels in 24 years.

Leading issues rapidly gained $1 to more than $2 a share, and rising prices were found in all areas of the market.

The stock market broke sharply Wednesday and plunged down, but a strong rally led by the railroads brought it up to a higher close.

Among the best gainers today were General Motors, Chrysler, Boeing, American Telephone, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Bullard Co., Outboard Marine, Pullman, Standard Oil (NJ), and Texas Co.

W. B. Hargreaves and E. C. Matthews Take Over Chevrolet Agency in City

W. B. HARGREAVES

Establishment of a new firm, Matthews-Hargreaves, Inc., to take over the Chevrolet agency in Pontiac, was announced today.

Members of the firm are E. Curtis Matthews and William B. Hargreaves.

They announced that they have leased the four story building on Mill street formerly occupied by the Jack Habel Chevrolet Co., and also the truck and used car display building at 211 S. Saginaw St.

"We will be open for business Saturday," said Matthews. "We will be prepared to handle sales, both new and used cars and trucks, and our service department will be ready to open within a few days."

"The building has been completely renovated and painted," he added. "We plan to add considerable new equipment and to provide."

County Requests More Vaccine

Parents Regain Faith in Anti-Polio Program; Demand Increases

The Oakland County Health Department sent to Lansing for more serum Wednesday as parents agreed to let 1,000 more children help test the new Salk polio vaccine.

"It's a definite upswing," said Dr. John D. Monroe, county health director. "We've sent to the state health department for 75 more boxes of serum — another 1,500 shots."

Shots were given 954 children in 10 county schools Wednesday, bringing Oakland's total number inoculated so far to 2,153.

Dr. J. S. Lambie, deputy health director, said the spectacular boost in parents' confidence came overnight. "Yesterday, we estimated 15,000 children would take part, but today, we've 16,000 signed up."

Dr. Monroe, Dr. Lambie and Dr. Robert J. Mason, president of the county medical society, credited the upswing to "a triumph of common sense."

"People are beginning to realize that the serum is safe," Dr. Lambie said. "They're listening to the state health commissioner, our own county medical society's board of directors and national polio experts—who all say"

Pontiac Woman Vice President Mrs. Charles W. Neldrett Elected by Michigan PTA

By HAZEL A. TRUMBULL
Pontiac Press Staff Writer

SAGINAW—Mrs. Charles W. Neldrett of Pontiac was elected first vice president of the Michigan Parent Teacher Assn. at today's final session of the association's 37th annual convention.

Mrs. Neldrett of 62 Mariva St. has served as director of the association's sixth district and was program chairman for this year's convention.

Her new post puts her in line for the association's presidency, held since 1951 by Mrs. Lola B. King of Pontiac.

Mrs. Fred Keller of Grand Rapids was named president to succeed Mrs. King. Mrs. King has played a key role in the parley here.

Last night she introduced Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, president of Michigan State Normal College, who told the more than 3,000 members that the answer to teachers' pride is "higher pay and greater promise of advancement."

He urged PTA groups to promote higher salaries and encourage more young people to enter the teaching profession.

It is the job of parents, he said, to assess the community's school programs and its administration and to ask themselves if they, too, are all they should be.

"We are going to have to lift our horizons even higher on our school programs," said Dr. Elliott. "I almost shudder to think have if it were left to either the professional people or parents alone."

Financing, he said, would be given adequate consideration after you got parents working on the school program.

Citing vocational education, industrial art training, physical education and health programs as well as camping projects as the direct result of parent promotion, he said these things were now included in regular curriculum be-

U.S. to Initiate Antitrust Probe of Auto Firms

Indiana Senator Says Ford, GM Monopolize Car Sales

NEW YORK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. says the Justice Department is starting a probe of the auto industry for possible antitrust violations because of a "developing pattern of concentration."

Speaking last night before the Economic Club of New York, Brownell said:

"We know well that increasing concentration in an important industry contains dangerous potentialities."

"We do not know what is the explanation of the developing pattern of concentration in the automobile industry. We want to find out whether this pattern is nothing more than the consequence of competitive forces at work, or whether any one or more of the facts which amount to collusion or the suppression of competition has been at work."

Recently the Antitrust Division of the Justice Department disclosed it was looking into four specific phases of the auto field. The phases were not enumerated.

Last month, Rep. Shepard J. Crumpacker Jr., (R-Ind.) introduced a resolution charging that independent car producers suffered from what he termed high pressure competitive practices by Ford and General Motors.

Congress has taken no action on Crumpacker's proposal.

Crumpacker also asked the Federal Trade Commission to investigate whether Ford and GM were trying to monopolize the auto industry and whether their battle for sales leadership had violated any antitrust laws.

General Motors and Ford both denied their companies were engaged in a race for business or were trying to monopolize the market.

So far this year, Ford and GM have accounted for slightly less than 84 per cent of the automotive market. Chrysler has around 12 per cent, while the small independents share the remaining 4 per cent.

Clardy Hearings to Start Monday

Investigators Certain to Question Reluctant Witnesses

DETROIT (U)—Kit Clardy's (R-Mich) investigators today faced a virtual certainty of meeting with objecting witnesses in their Detroit hearing next week.

The group, a subcommittee of the House Un-American Activities Committee, has said it will prove Communist penetration into schools and labor unions. Its Michigan hearings start in Detroit Monday.

Already on the record with a sharp challenge of the subcommittee's authority are two Wayne University faculty members, Dr. Gerald Harrison and Irving Stein.

Stein, 41, an instructor in physics, said Wednesday night he had been summoned to appear before the committee. He said he would oppose the committee.

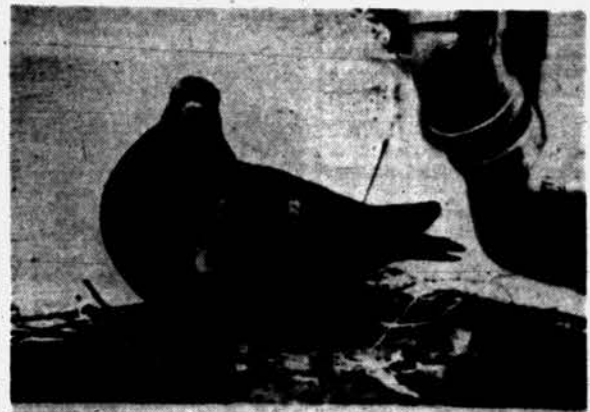

"I shall oppose it because I firmly believe in the letter and spirit of the Constitution and our democratic way of life," he said.

Dr. Harrison, 31, Canadian-born physicist who worked on top-secret Navy wartime research, did not say he would refuse to testify.

However, he said a witness would be "more than foolhardy" if he were to give up the law's "constitutional and legal protection."

Clardy meantime commented on the attitude of certain witnesses.

Bird Backer Asks City Aid

WANTS LOS ANGELES TO SPONSOR BLESSED EVENT—Mother pigeon (top) sits on the egg which Harry Reade asked the city of Los Angeles to sponsor. Reade, writing to the mayor, contends the pigeon laid the egg in his hotel room, forcing him to move and rent a second room, since he is not inclined to "disturb or frustrate an act of God." Since Los Angeles protects birds by law, Reade wants the city to pay for his extra room. Below, Reade watches as father pigeon arrives at open window for checkup.

GM Sales Hit All-Time High

First Quarter Report Shows Cars Sold Sets Record for Firm

General Motors sold more passenger cars in the first quarter of this year than in any other first quarter in its history.

The corporation, despite lower total dollar sales, also made more money in the first three months of 1954 than it did in 1953's booming first quarter.

Net income was 189 million dollars. For the same quarter of 1953 it was 131 million. The net was equal to $2.13 a share of stock this year. Last year it was $1.70.

GM made public its January-March record in an official report to stockholders today. The report was issued by Harlow H. Curtice, president, and Alfred F. Sloan Jr., board chairman.

Curtice and Sloan called the first quarter's business "good."

GM said its passenger car sales for the first quarter of this year were 705,303. For the first quarter last year this was 691,485. Truck and coach sales were off. This year's figure was 117,910 as against last year's 150,975.

The dollar sales volume this year was $2 billion 410 million, covering all products. This was 5 (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

President Won't Comment About M'Carthy Probe

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower refused to get into a discussion of the Army-McCarthy dispute today and whether the current Senate hearings are delaying his legislative program.

But at his news conference, he expressed a certain amount of patience to get his program enacted.

He said he hopes the whole controversy over Pvt. G. David Schine is concluded very quickly and legislative leaders have assured him that the hearings will not delay his program.

State Draft Quotas Continue to Drop

LANSING (U)—Michigan draft board's monthly quotas continued to drop with an announcement today that the June call would be for 737 men.

Col. Arthur A. Holmes, State Selective Service director, reported the call was the lowest of the year and was 143 below the May call of 880.

Holmes said that again the June call was expected to be filled with registrants 20 years or older because of the high rate of volunteering of younger men.

Of the June call, Oakland County will furnish 37 men.

Expect Debate Next Tuesday or Wednesday

St. Lawrence Measure Open for Amendments; Already OK'd in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Rules Committee today sent Senate-approved St. Lawrence Seaway legislation to the House floor for a vote.

The House leadership, without making a formal commitment, indicated it hoped to bring the bill up promptly—perhaps by Tuesday or Wednesday.

The St. Lawrence proposal, before Congress for more than 20 years, is strongly supported by President Eisenhower.

The 12-member Rules Committee in sending the bill to the House directed that it be open to amendment. It set four hours as the limit of debate. Under that procedure, the measure could be disposed of in one day.

At least one amendment will be offered — by Rep. Brownson (R-Ind.) to provide that the United States' estimated 105 million dollar share of the seaway cost be met by sale of revenue bonds to private investors.

The bill as now written would direct sale of the bonds to the Treasury Department. Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich.) of the House Banking Committee approves the present plan and opposes the Brownson amendment as "unwise."

The committee vote was unofficially reported as 7-5.

The bill would authorize the United States to join with Canada in building a 27-foot deep waterway which would make the Great Lakes accessible from the Atlantic to much of the world's shipping.

The existing St. Lawrence system is limited to ships with a draft of 14 feet or less.

The U. S. cost of the construction, estimated at 105 million dollars, would be met through sale of revenue bonds to the Treasury Department. They would be retired, over a 50-year period, through tolls on ships using the waterway.

Light Rain Forecast Here for Tomorrow

A blanket of clouds that insulated the Pontiac area against cooler air drifting down from Canada last night upset the U. S. Weather Bureau's forecast of scattered light frost.

Weather observers said the temperature in Southeastern Michigan stayed in the 40s last night and frost occurred only in the extreme northern part of the Lower Peninsula. Pontiac's low was 46 degrees.

Showers tonight and light rain tomorrow is the weather outlook. The temperature will range from 50 to 54 tonight to 58 to 62 tomorrow.

The mercury rose from 47 degrees at 8 a. m. today to 58 at 2 p. m. in downtown Pontiac. A low of 39 and a high of 50 were recorded here yesterday.

Trellis Mae Lectures at Her Club

Wilbur Solves McCarthy-Army Muddle

By HAL BOYLE

HOMETOWN, U.S.A. (U)—Trellis Mae Peeble, America's average housewife, gnawed her fingernails in despair as she sat at her writing desk scribbling on a sheet of paper.

"Oh, Wilbur, I'm glad you're home!" she exclaimed, as her husband entered.

"Why?" he asked warily. Like most husbands, Wilbur was too practical a man to see any real reason why his wife should be glad to see him.

"Lend your help," said Trellis Mae. "Tomorrow it's my turn to make the weekly current events report to the ladies of the Minerva Literary and Gin Rummy Club. And I'm stumped."

"What's your subject—new trends in girdles?"

"No, it's that McCarthy-Stevens hearing in Washington. I've been watching it on Mrs. Smith's television set next door, and I can't make heads or tails of it. The most interesting thing happened the third day."

"What was that, dear?"

"Mrs. Smith's baby got her first tooth."

Wilbur shook his head and sighed, "well, honey, what do you want to know about the hearing?"

Lifting her pencil to take notes, Trellis Mae asked:

"First, why is Secretary Stevens trying to draft Sen. McCarthy into the Army? That confuses me."

A look of suspicion crept into

Wilbur's face, then wonder, then utter joy. At last he thought he saw a way to get even with Trellis Mae's club ladies, whom he thought a bunch of dizzy, time-wasting dames.

"Why, that's easy," he said, thinking fast. "Secretary Stevens wants to send McCarthy on an Army mission to Africa to organize the Mau Mau there against the Indo-Chinese invaders. But Adm. G. David Schine—he you've heard of him?"

"Of course, silly. Everybody knows him."

"Well, Adm. Schine is fighting against Sen. Stevens for McCarthy's services. He wants the secretary to direct a secret Navy project to build an atom-powered rocket. It'll free the Navy of cars forever—if it works."

"What won't they think of next? How about Ray O'Neil? Is he against Secretary Stevens and Adm. Schine? He doesn't seem to be."

1,665 Birmingham Pupils Will Receive Polio Shots; to Start Today at Pierce

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — Of the 2,465 first through third graders attending schools in the Birmingham school district, parental consent has been given for 1,665 youngsters to receive the three shots prescribed for the Dr. Jonas Salk polio vaccine tests.

Although not originally scheduled until next week, when the administering teams will be at other Birmingham schools, Pierce School children this morning began receiving the shots. Inoculations also get under way today in Bloomfield Hills.

All Birmingham schools but Pierce are slated for the shots next Wednesday and Thursday, the following Wednesday and Thursday and June 9 and 10.

Registrations were being taken until this morning at the Bloomfield Hills schools. As of yesterday 143 of the 243 eligible youngsters had been signed up for the tests.

Supervising the testing here are local Drs. Robert J. Mason and Frederick M. Adams, with about 18 doctors in all expected to make the inoculations.

Dr. Mason repeated yesterday that the Oakland County Medical Assn. has placed a unanimous stamp of approval on the controversial program.

He added that it will be at least a year before results of the testing are released by the University of Michigan medical school.

The polio vaccine trial headquarters in Pontiac reports that volunteer workers are no longer needed in this area.

Commissioner James C. Allen has been delegated by Mayor Charles Renfrew to serve as his substitute at next Wednesday's mayor exchange during "Michigan Week." Allen will travel 35 miles to the town of Emmett, and in turn, Emmett's president, Edsel Dunn, will spend the day with officials here.

Annual meeting of the First Baptist Church, held last night, found the church expanding in all directions. Reports indicated a growth of 16 per cent in church membership in the current church year, and an increase of more than 25 per cent in the educational program.

It was also announced that the 25 per cent increase in the year's budget has been raised in full, along with the purchase of a parsonage on Larchlea drive for the Rev. Emil Kuntz, minister.

A hearing of necessity for the 1954 road-rolling program was called for May 17 by the City Commission this week.

The Sioux, Ottawa and Cheyenne tribes of Indian Guides, under the supervision of the YMCA, are engaged in making jackets and head dresses for use at the tribal meetings.

Boys aged 5-10 and their dads meet twice a month for programs based on Indian rituals, stories, games and projects. Interested fathers are asked to contact the YMCA.

An all-parish dance will start at 9 p. m. tomorrow at Holy Name School auditorium, with an evening of ballroom and

Slip of the Brake Causes Woman to Break Wrist

BIRMINGHAM — Mrs. Richard Morgan, 64, of 6395 Wing Lake Rd. was putting her groceries in the back seat of a friend's car yesterday and suffered a fractured wrist in the process, police reported today.

The driver of the car, Mrs. Jean Spence, 68, of Royal Oak, told police she was alone parked on Woodward in front of the Birmingham National Bank and turned to assist Mrs. Morgan.

Her foot slipped off the brake pedal, she said, throwing the car forward into the side of the building and injuring Mrs. Morgan.

Nursery School Children View Puppet Show

"Little Red Riding Hood" came to life in the form of a puppet show Wednesday for children at the Pontiac Area Day Nursery.

The show was presented by Birmingham Puppeteers of the American Assn. of University Women.

According to Mrs. Leola Jacques, nursery director, the show is one of several activities planned for pre-school children of working mothers.

The nursery, located at 125 Raeburn, is financed in part by Pontiac Area United Fund collections and provides day-long activities for children including hot lunches, games, crafts and outdoor recreation.

Puppeteers who took part in the Wednesday program were Mrs. Michael Remondino and Mrs. Calvin Dennison, both of Birmingham.

maintain that their production merely reflects public demand for their products and deny Crumpacker's assertion the two companies were forcing cars on dealers "through overproduction."

Speaking generally, Brownell said:

"The Department of Justice does not assume that any given number of competitors in an industry is the proper number, or that any question of concentration can be considered without regard to the forces of the market place.

"Where it appears, however, that there may be danger of a serious shrinkage in the number of competitors engaged in a basic industry the department believes that the causes are worth examination.

"For it is the American philosophy that freedom and progress are best served by multiple centers of activity rather than by undue concentrations of power."

In Detroit, there was no immediate comment from automobile firms.

Chose Helen Larkin as District Governor

BIRMINGHAM — Helen Larkin, president of the Birmingham Soroptimist Club, was elected regional governor at the 41st conference of the Midwestern Region of Soroptimist Clubs and the 23rd conference of the Midwestern Region of Venture Clubs, last week in Wisconsin.

The region embraces 46 clubs.

MISS LARKIN Miss Larkin will be installed for a two-year period at the 13th biennial convention of the American Federation of Soroptimist Clubs, to be held June 27 - July 3 at Banff, Alberta, Canada.

The region embraces 46 clubs.

Urging people also to lift their horizons in the area of community colleges, Dr. Elliott said that the junior colleges of the state are practically on "a starvation diet" because of the structure in which they find themselves.

"People who are willing to stand up and be counted for education cannot be timid souls," he challenged and concluded.

"The American schools belong to the people in a very real way and unless teachers work with parents we never will have the kind of schools we should have.

Following Dr. Elliott's address, 500 voices under the direction of Dr. Edith Roach Snyder, principal of Pontiac's Webster School, sang the background for the pageant, "I Believe."

Walter Johnson's Son Killed in Auto Wreck

FAIRLAND, Md. — Robert W. Johnson, 22-year-old son of famed pitcher Walter Johnson, was killed last night when the car in which he was riding left the road near here and rammed a fence.

per cent under last year's 2 billion 547 million.

Expiration of the excess profits tax apparently was reflected in the increased earnings. The tax expired last Jan. 1.

GM's income tax bill for the first quarter this year was 202 million dollars. Last year it was 346 million dollars.

The corporation said it achieved its results in the first quarter despite a 14 per cent drop in its defense business. Its defense work was down to 391 million from the 456 million dollars of last year's first quarter.

GM said it kept production at a high level during the first quarter to "satisfy demand for new cars and to assure sufficient stocks in dealers' hands to meet the requirements of the spring selling season."

The company said customer demand was marked by a "preference for deluxe models and such equipment as power steering and power brakes." It also said preference continues to grow for automatic transmissions.

GM said its total from sales and other income was 2 billion 435 million dollars.

It broke down its disposal of these moneys in this way:

$1,236,000,000 . . . paid to suppliers (50 per cent).
$702,000,000 . . . payrolls, etc. (28 1/2 per cent).
$257,000,000 . . . federal, state and local taxes (10 1/2 per cent).

Turnpike Body Names Engineer

Pennsylvania Official to Take $15,000 Post-With Michigan Authority

LANSING (AP)—Beginning the organization of its permanent staff, the Michigan Turnpike Authority yesterday appointed E. Thomas Baker of Harrisburg, Pa., its chief engineer at $15,000 a year.

Baker, who is presently chief design engineer for the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, will take over his new duties June 1.

In the meantime, he will work with authority members on picking a site for permanent authority offices. The authority wants to rent a minimum of 3,000 square feet of office space in the north or west outskirts of Detroit. The location would be convenient, members said, to the proposed Bay City-Detroit-Toledo and the Detroit-Chicago turnpikes.

Some members said Ann Arbor would be ideal. Baker has served 33 years with the Pennsylvania department, working in design, construction, maintenance and administration. He attended Swarthmore College, worked four years in the engineering department of the Pennsylvania Railroad and served in the 32nd Railway Engineers in World War I.

"I will do my best to give you a good job," he said, "I accept with pride."

Authority members said he was the only candidate for the job who was seriously considered.

Mail Truck Kills Tot

MUSKEGON (UP)—Two-year-old Michael Butler was killed Wednesday when he darted into the path of a mail truck driven by Thomas J. Trenter, 37, police said. It was Muskegon's first traffic death of the year and seventh for Muskegon County.

MOTHER OF YEAR—Mrs. Love McDuffie Tolbert, 65, above, of Columbus, Ga., who "stayed at home" while her five sons were growing to manhood, has been named American "Mother of the Year" by the Golden Rule Foundation.

Veteran Barber Retires; 25-Cent Haircut Vanishes
SMYRNA, N. Y. (AP)—The 25-cent haircut, until yesterday an institution in this central New York village, was only a memory today. Barber John Widger, who offered the bargain price, retired last night after a half century in the business.

Oakland's Future Bright

While most residents know that Oakland County is growing rapidly, it is probable that few realize how great that growth will be in the next two decades.

That is why we urge readers to watch for articles in which this subject will be dealt with in detail. Clues to the changes which may be expected in the fringes of the metropolitan area between now and 1970 were given in the first article of the series.

Besides dealing with recent growth, it quoted GEORGE MATTHEWS of the Detroit Edison Co. on probable developments in the next few years. Basis of his forecast are the facts gathered by the power company for the purpose of keeping its facilities abreast of the demand for electricity.

These indicate that the County's population will grow from the 1950 total of 396,000 to 780,000 by 1970. Other developments expected are increasing industrialization and growth in South Lyon, Milford, Holly, Clarkston and Rochester, and Utica and Romeo in Macomb County.

Already there is a concerted movement of industry from Detroit into Oakland County, including some heavy industry. Large purchases of acreage have followed the railroads and more and more companies are seeking locations with room for future expansion, parking and housing developments.

For those unfamiliar with current statistics on County development, Mr. MATTHEWS' predictions may seem far fetched. But that feeling should disappear with the latest estimates of the County's population.

Last July the Detroit Regional Planning Commission estimated it at 474,700. In December our County Board of Health put it at 490,094. In the light of these figures, Mr. Matthews' forecasts seem conservative.

"Future Unlimited"

For 200 boys and girls of Pontiac, the month ending May 13 is of great importance. The same can be said for some 3,000 others in southeastern Michigan.

As owners and operators of the 187 firms participating in the Junior Achievement movement, they are vitally interested in the outcome of the drive for a $200,000 JA fund. Final reports on the campaign will be read at the May 13 JA banquet to be held in Detroit Masonic Temple.

From the outset of this movement we have been in complete sympathy with its aims and we are proud of its accomplishments. These certainly have justified the name chosen for the annual banquets: "Future Unlimited."

For example, in Pontiac this year these 200 members are operating eight stock companies under the sponsorship of seven local firms and the Rotary Club. In the process the young stockholders are learning the fundamentals of financing, production and marketing, and absorbing sound advice from officials of the sponsoring organizations.

These are Community National Bank, Pontiac Retail Store, Michigan Bell Telephone Co., Standard Oil Co., GMC Truck and Coach, Fisher Body Div., Pontiac Motor Div. and the Rotary Club.

Local businessmen are to be commended for the support they are giving the Junior Achievement movement. We believe their investment of time and money will be more than repaid by this fine group of future business leaders.

Better Radar Protection

As a result of joint decision and effort by the United States and Canada, radar protection of the two countries will be expanded greatly.

The existing radar network now under construction across northern Canada and already in partial operation is to be supplemented by what is known as the McGill Fence. This is an early warning system much farther north and extending 5,000 miles across the top of the Continent.

The name "McGill Fence" is a tribute to the scientists at Montreal's McGill University who have designed, produced and tested the needed equipment. When finished, the Canadians say, the early warning system will provide a complete "fence" across the sea and land approaches to North America from northeast to northwest. Although decision to build the fence was reached only last October, hundreds of possible sites for installation already have been surveyed far beyond the present limits of settlement. Construction work will begin in mid-July.

That date marks the start of the one month long shipping season in the far Arctic. In that period the materials needed for later air lift operations must be brought in by sea.

The importance of this project can't be overemphasized. It is more than ever vital to us and Canada since Russia not only had developed an H-bomb but far longer range air craft.

In view of the fact that the skunk's habitat is widespread over most of the earth, it is strange that nature has never evolved an animal with a built-in gas mask.

Why not be sympathetic, rather than belligerent, towards those who are so unfortunately dumb as to disagree with you?

The Man About Town

Read Parking Signs

Pontiac Police Suggest More Cooperation in Road Signs

Daffynition
 April showers: What a June bride likes.

Pontiac police tell me that many of our people do not believe in signs. The auto parking posts are being repainted, and a "wet paint" sign is placed before each of them. But finger prints show that many wonder if the signs mean what they say.

In company with a great many others, Sam Cohen and Bill Wilmet are quite agreed—the McCarthy-Army row is overplayed, and when all is said and done, nobody will be prosecuted.

In his talk to Pontiac area stockholders of the Consumers Power Co. here Tuesday evening, James H. Campbell said the Edison Light & Power Co. produced the first electric power in Pontiac in 1886. It operated 16 carbon arc street lamps. In 1893 another company, the Pontiac Standard Lighting Co., built a power plant adjacent to the city water works. By 1907 both companies had been bought by the Pontiac Light Co. which later evolved into the Consumers Power Co.

The current issue of that lively little sheet, "News Lines," which you get with your phone bill, quotes the Pontiac Press on a coast-to-coast dialing news story.

Detroit discussion of a possible monorail rapid transit system brings back memories of the suggestion of

Leaders of the April groups inducted into the army Wednesday.

Vernon A. Love and Robert J. Galler, expressed the thanks of the young men for the many gifts they received from Pontiac organizations.

When stung on the hand by a hornet while preaching his sermon Sunday, an Oakland County pastor tells me that he endeavored to ignore the pain until somebody in the congregation arose and interrupted with, "You're going to get stung again, as there's another hornet crawling around your collar."

After speaking on the matter for several years, Mrs. Vincent Mowbray of Pontiac Trill says that when the forsythia blooms are large, we can expect all of that season's flowers to be likewise. And she says they are the largest ever this spring.

Daily Reader Protests Sending Our Boys to Indochina If French Refuse to Do Same

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so wishes, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

Please note the article written by James Marlow which appeared in the Press on the editorial page of April 26. In it he stated that the French refuse to send their draftees to Indochina.

For goodness sake mothers, get busy and really write a letter to Washington and demand action from our representatives. Have not mothers whose boys were so brutally abused in Korea a right to say something?

If the French youth are not drafted and only volunteers sent and then at 21, not 18 years old, as here, are not our boys as much to American mothers as the French?

For U.S. yes, but not elsewhere. That is an invitation to attack here. So, mothers, let us attack in full force our representatives in Washington. Yes, LeRoy Dean's letter was very right.

Daily Reader

Says U.S. Should Break With Russia and China

America is on the verge of being plotted into another Korea by interference in this French Indo-China mess. This we are told is of great importance to our safety and the peace of the world! Senator Jenner of Indiana has the right idea. We should break with Russia and China and keep our boys home where they belong and let the Asians do their own fighting.

South Korea and Nationalist

China are ready and willing. Could we have too many Achesons and Trumans by a different name in Washington yet?

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY
 I made haste, and delayed not to keep thy commandments.—Psalms 119:60.

Obedience insures greatness, whilst disobedience leads to repulse. Whosoever possesseth the qualities of righteousness placeth his head on the threshold of obedience.—Saadi.

Dulles' Masterful Speech Emphasizes Allied Duty to Turn Back Aggressors

By DAVID LAWRENCE

GENEVA — Realism came into its own here at the Geneva Conference when Secretary of State Dulles presented the facts of international life to the assembled delegates in a speech that will live long in the history of free men.

For the story of the aggression in Korea — too often glossed over or forgotten in an age of materialism, as high principles and idealism are sometimes brushed aside — was told in unequivocal phrases by the American secretary of state.

He brought back into the picture the mandate of the United Nations and reminded the world that all nations, including India, had branded North Korea an aggressor and that later the United Nations had by resolution declared Communist China an aggressor, too.

No more pointed lesson to aggressors could have been uttered than in those words of Dulles aimed at those governments which now, in order to get a makeshift peace, would ignore the acts of the aggressors.

"Peace is always easy to achieve — by surrender. Unity is also easy to achieve — by surrender. The hard task, the task that confronts us, is to combine peace and unity with freedom."

Dulles reminded the delegates that the Korean War provided the first example in history of "a collective security organization in actual operation."

He added: "If this conference is disloyal to the United Nations and its decisions, then each of us will bear a share of the responsibility for destroying what protects us all."

It was important here, where so many side issues have crept in, to put into perspective the faithless position of the Communists.

Secretary Dulles minced no words as he accused the Communists of breaking the terms of the armistice agreement by failing to permit a "neutral" truce on Korean questions within three months after the truce was signed because they "desired first to consolidate their position in Korea."

Calling attention to the fact that the North Koreans had just proposed that all foreign forces be withdrawn from Korean territory for six months, Dulles pointed out that the United Nations forces "would have a long way to go" while the Chinese Communist forces "would have only a few miles to go and they could quickly return." He added:

"Once before we had our troops in Korea and withdrew them, as it turned out, prematurely. We do not want that history to repeat itself."

These are things that had to be said. For unhappily in and around conference circles the defeatism that comes from certain allied quarters is most discouraging. Retreat and surrender, both in Korea and Indochina, are offered as the best way out with little thought given to the damage to the whole principle of collective security in Europe as well as in Asia that could ensue.

Unfortunately both Prime Minister Churchill in London and Prime Minister Menzies in Australia might better have left unsaid at this time that they will not enter into any military commitments in Indochina.

Actually, America doesn't want to make any such commitments by itself either. But sooner or later the free governments must assert their readiness to make sacrifices for collective action in Southeast Asia, or else see that area conquered by the Communists.

As for Britain, it is not necessary to make any commitments till the outcome of Geneva is known, but it would be fatal for France to pull out of Indochina now lest the whole French empire begin to crumble.

Certainly a withdrawal from Indochina by a "negotiation" that means surrender can bring a collapse of French power and influ-

Case Records of a Psychologist

Most Diseases, Cravings Won't Harm Unborn Child

Doris says expectant mothers worry about such problems as whether their babies can inherit contagious diseases or be marked by a mother's hunger for out-of-season fruits. So send this Case Record to expectant mothers to relieve their minds of such unnecessary concern.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case K-388: Doris M., aged 27, is the wife of Terry, whom we described yesterday as fearing insanity.

"Dr. Crane, if Terry had really become infected with syphilis," she began, "and if my baby had lived, would it have inherited that disease from Terry?"

"I'm sure many wives worry over that thought so could you please give us the true facts about marking babies and the inheritance of disease?"

No, a syphilitic father cannot procreate syphilitic children through a non-infected mother.

So there is no inheritance of syphilis. However, if the expectant mother should have syphilis, it would be possible for the unborn baby to "catch" this disease from her.

For unborn babies can catch measles, too, from their mothers if the latter happen to have that disease during late pregnancy. "But how can a baby be born with syphilis and yet not inherit it?" you may wonder.

"Well, the human mother carries her unborn baby inside her body. She doesn't incubate it from an outside egg, as a hen does.

So if she happens to contract a contagious disease while the baby is yet unborn, those germs in her body may slip through into the baby's blood stream and infect it. In this case, however, the baby simply "catches" the disease by contact with its mother, just as it might catch a disease after birth from nursing at her breast. If a syphilitic father could procreate a syphilitic child through a non-infected mother, then that would mean the disease came down from the father to child via the route of inheritance.

But such is not true. Oh, some 50 years ago it was believed by American doctors that syphilis was hereditary. But that is now disproved.

Furthermore, about 1903, a physician published a statement that mothers mark their babies by their thoughts or unsatisfied hungers for out-of-season fruits. But that, too, is now outmoded in modern medical science.

You may still have some legitimate worries, such as dread of auto accidents or polio and the like, but you need fret no longer about infecting your babies with venereal disease by inheritance nor of marking them before birth.

A baby has its own distinct set of blood vessels and its own heart. It has its separate blood supply, too, for its mother's blood does not flow through its vessels or vice versa.

But bacteria are so much smaller than red blood corpuscles that they can slip through the membranes separating the baby from the mother and thus invade its body. That's how it catches measles before birth.

For further data about this subject, send for my bulletin, "Facts About Pregnancy," enclosing a stamped, return envelope plus a dime.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
 International News Service

The supreme panel of the nation knocked over the government ukase on give-away programs. The vote was eight to one on the morning line.

Once upon a theme the F.C.C. ruled give-aways as illegal as shooting deer in a park.

That was in 1949 if memory doesn't stutter. The give-aways went shopping for injunctions and stalled off the heat by some fast herring-boning.

For the benefit of those who just tuned in we explain a give-away is a fairy godmother with a warehouse.

In handing down his corrected card of 8-1 Chief Justice Warren said the F.C.C. had bitten off more than it could choose.

The F.C.C. is not qualified to diagnose quizes as deuces wild or spit-in-the-ocean. Any client matching his wits against the mastoid of ceremonies is entitled to half of everything.

Give-aways are not gambling anymore than Cinderella's betting on horses and losing on mice. It's run-of-the-mine competition motivated by prompting from the audience.

The contestant puts up no money, hazards no estates and is not building a house of cards or box-tops.

Nevertheless, the F.C.C. ruled no citizen could hit a jackpot with his wit. He had to do it with his wrist.

That's why the Supreme Cortege's decision will mark a turning point in history and dial.

No power on earth shall regulate the wing-spread of aerials in the give-away season. You are entitled to both ends of the covered bridge, to all the trout in cloudbursts, to manna from the micro-waves, to a week's receipts of the New Jersey turnpike, a night key to Fort Knox and first grab at Gutenberg's up-town barrel.

Most of Our Diets Lack B Complex; This Crime Can Mean Painful Neuritis

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Mrs. A. R. A. reports that for a considerable length of time her husband had a 4 plus urine sugar test (diabetes). 2 per cent or more.

Following the suggestion in Training for Diabetes (for booklet send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) he began supplementing his restricted diet with an optimal daily ration of vitamin B complex.

This seemed to make him feel better. After a few weeks his urine tests showed only light green—with the Clinistix that means only a trace of sugar, probably less than 1/4 per cent.

Then the man went to a physician for an examination. The doctor found a "light tra—" of sugar in the urine, told him not to give it another thought. But the patient blabbered how glad he was that his wife had persuaded him to take those tablets.

Up went the doctor's ears—"What tablets?" The patient explained about the B complex tablets this Dr. Brady advises diabetics or persons gorging their way toward diabetes to use as a daily supplement to the diet.

If shooting had been lawful, says Mrs. A. R. A., her husband might have been shot. The doctor angrily said vitamin tablets have no value and it is senseless to take them, $30, please.

Dr. Elliott P. Joslin, top authority on diabetes, stated in a personal communication, that he had not been convinced that vitamin B (thiamin) has any effect on blood sugar level or insulin requirement.

With the greatest admiration and respect for Dr. Joslin I have the gall to defy Hoyle and trump my partner's ace.

Have I dared to ridicule Dr. Osler's teaching that chronic rheumatism is most common among the poor, particularly washerwomen, daylaborers, and those whose occupation exposes them to cold and damp?

I am more impressed by a statement made by Robert B. Williams, Sc. R., co-author of Vitamin B-1 (Thiamin) And Its Use in Medicine. In nature, said Dr. Williams, thiamin occurs abundantly in egg yolks, lean pork, crude molasses, peas and peanuts, but most abundantly in germs of ripe grain.

Millers discard the germ or heart of the wheat kernel to make white flour, and so, said Dr. Williams, "Man commits a crime against nature when he eats the starch from the seed and throws away the mechanism necessary for the metabolism of that starch."

In any event it can do no harm and may do much good to supplement the diet of a diabetic or a person trying to prevent development of diabetes with a good daily ration of the vitamin B complex.

Even the unrestricted diet of most Americans is deficient in vitamin B complex.

So, if you have been committing a crime against nature all these years it may be that you are paying for it now in one or another nutritional deficiency disease—neuritis, for instance.

Signed letters, not more than one page, 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed, etc. (Copyright 1954)

Shift Telescopes to Avoid Smog

Astronomer Seeking Clearer Air for Study of Heavens

WASHINGTON (UP)—Today's astronomers not only look through telescopes. They also look for better places to put them—away from the industrial haze and smog of the cities.

Many of the world's largest telescopes have been moved to new sites and more moves are contemplated, the National Geographic Society reports.

Recently England's Royal Observatory has been busy moving from its Greenwich-on-Thames location to a 15th century castle in Sussex, 60 miles southeast of London. Urban smoke and haze are the cause. Besides making it more difficult for telescopes to pierce the atmosphere, layers of smoke refect the glare from the street and neon lights.

The U. S. Naval Observatory here hopes to take its 40-inch, nine-ton reflector to Flagstaff, Ariz., where viewing conditions are 16 to 20 times more favorable than in Washington. If Congress appropriates the $225,000 needed for the job, the move can be accomplished in from nine to 18 months.

Newer telescopes are located away from cities as a matter of course. The 200-inch Hale telescope—the world's largest—sits in isolation atop 6,138-foot Palomar Mountain, 92 miles from Pasadena.

Other observatories planning to move or already in new locations are those of the Universities of Pennsylvania and Tennessee as well as one maintained jointly by Yale and Columbia Universities. The joint observatory was shifted from Johannesburg, South Africa, to Mount Stromlo near Canberra, Australia.

The surface of North America is worn down about one foot every 10,000 years by erosion processes, according to geological surveys.

Drives Collect Funds, Books to Service Rural Communities

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—More than one hundred mobile libraries soon will fan out over Kentucky to provide something that hundreds of thousands of rural Kentuckians never have had before—free library service.

The cream of an estimated 750,000 books collected in a statewide "Bookmobile Project" will stock these traveling libraries. The goal had been only a half million books.

Three barn-like buildings here, the main collection center for the book drive that dipped into private libraries in nearly every Kentucky community, are jammed by contributions.

Miss Margaret Willis, head of the circulation department of the Louisville Free Public Library, said the sorting and culling of the volumes will be expedited by trained librarians.

She expressed belief at least half the books collected will be suitable for general library circulation—a net of around 375,000.

The bookmobiles themselves, which cost $3,000 with an original complement of 600 new books, will be purchased from funds obtained in a finance campaign that still is going on.

The goal had been 100 traveling libraries. Funds for 93 already have been obtained in a drive so successful that leaders have said the goal may be raised to 120—one for each Kentucky county.

The great response in book contributions resulted from a "Citizens March for Books." This was a door-to-door canvass in communities throughout the state.

Also highly successful was a free-movie program for children. In more than 300 theaters throughout Kentucky, children who brought two books were admitted to a special program.

Theater operators contributed the use of their movie houses and the films, and the employees their services.

Vermont Sea Captain Create First Doughnut?

MONTPELIER, Vt. (U. S. — Mrs. Isabel Gregory Bailey, 87, claims her father, Capt. Hans Gregory, "invented" the doughnut by accident one stormy night at sea in 1847.

He went into the galley for a snack and picked up a few plain round cakes the cook had made. But he found they weren't cooked through the middle, so he grabbed a basting pin and knocked out the soggy part, making the first doughnut with the hole in the middle.

Serve Tasty Canapes

Company will talk about your canapes—and it will be good talk—if you serve tasty snacks like these: Squares of toast spread with real mayonnaise, to which a little grated onion has been added, and topped with a whole cooked shrimp; crackers spread with a mixture of 2 cups grated American cheese, 2 teaspoons mustard—with horseradish and salt and pepper.

Arrange around a pretty dish of radish roses, carrot curls, celery sticks and olives, embedded on crushed ice.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Excess waste, loss of sleep and energy, backache and dizziness may be due to sluggishness of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When every everyday condition, such as indigestion and constipation, causes this important function to slow down, many follow-up symptoms become noticeable. Minor kidney troubles lead to acid or wrong diet may be getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions trouble you. Try Doan's Kidney Pills. Used occasionally by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's Pills have relieved from these distressing conditions. Write for 16-page booklet and 25-cent Doan's Pills. Bandits Take Gems
Valued at $190,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Two bandits trussed and robbed a jeweler of gems he estimates were worth $190,000 and $1,050 in cash last night, police said.

Joseph Goldblatt reported he was accosted by the men as he entered his 16th-floor offices in a Manhattan building. Other employees had gone home.

One man shoved a gun in his back, the jeweler said, forced him to open his safe, grabbed the cash and then scooped up stones and gold and platinum settings into a pouch. The bandits ignored a handful of gems which slipped through their fingers and scattered about the floor.

The pair tied up Goldblatt with yards of twine and fled. He broke free and telephoned police.

Judge Moved,
to Stay Sentence

CLEVELAND (AP)—Judge Mary Grossman said Guillermo E. Collins was "simply fascinating to listen to and could be an excellent criminal attorney."

But then she sentenced him to nine months in the workhouse and fined him $500 on a narcotics conviction yesterday. Collins, 42, acted as his own lawyer. "Police said he gained a 'fine knowledge of law' by spending many years browsing through jail libraries in Ohio, Illinois, New York and the District of Columbia."

Steer Disrupts Traffic Walking Through Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Motorists took to a sidewalk along Alameda boulevard in the rush hour yesterday as an animal they thought was a bull loped through stop lights and disrupted traffic.

Patrolman Joseph Oliver tried to lasso the animal. But it charged. Oliver retreated; shot the beast. It turned out to be a steer, escaped from a ranch a few miles away.

New C. of C. Head Calls Business Good

WASHINGTON (AP)—Business activity this year will be "good by any standards except possibly 1953," Clem D. Johnston, new president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, predicted today. Johnston, a 57-year-old Roanoke, Va., warehouseman and cattle raiser, was chosen to head the organization representing 1,100,000 businessmen at the close of its 42nd annual meeting last night.

There are signs, he told newsmen, that a reversal of the nine-month business decline "probably has already taken place," even though official statistics may not yet have caught up with it.

About one-quarter of all the radio sets in the U.S. today are powered with battery current.

Best Actress of '53 Too

LONDON (AP)—The British think Audrey Hepburn's type too. British movie fans, holding to a poll held by the magazine Picturegoer, chose 24-year-old Audrey Best Actress of 1953.

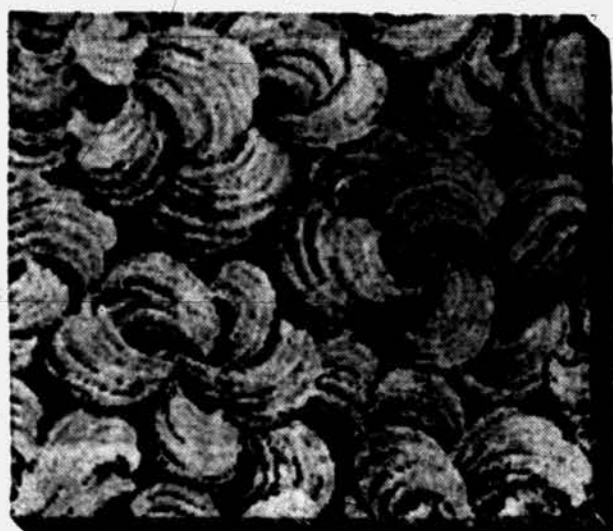

Last month her film performance in Hollywood's "Roman Holiday" won her an Academy Award.

Bob Considine Says:

Schwable Case to Bring Most Important Decision

WASHINGTON (INS) — A decision much more significant than the one which eventually will be made in the McCarthy-Army case was handed down in Washington the other day by a board of Marine generals and an admiral.

In more or less excusing Marine Col. Frank H. Schwable for confessing under torture that he waged germ warfare in Korea, the board recommended that the defense Department rewrite the traditional rules guiding U. S. fighting men.

Conceivably, we might bow out of the old pact, fused long ago at Geneva, in which we agreed with many other nations that all a prisoner of war must divulge is his name, rank and serial number.

The Reds don't play war under those rules, and they would appear to be the only people we'll fight if we fight.

The Reds take a man and break him as they broke Schwable, and in time they can make him do whatever they wish. They would do it again if hostilities broke out, and the presumption is that their evil technique will improve with usage.

Schwable's semi-clearance seems to say to men now in uniform and future generations of American warriors that military courts will not punish them if they become propaganda tools of the enemy under torture.

It is not an easy job that has been given to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's office. The men assigned to it will most certainly entertain the doubts which must have immersed the panel that heard Schwable; troubled doubts that run, "what would I have done under such pain?"

It may be weeks, even months, before the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee makes its recommendations in the McCarthy-Army matter.

Millions more words will spill over the dam, most of them controlled by a trim blonde from Oklahoma, with the astonishing name of Maxine Buffaloide. Mrs. Buffaloide, holds the stop watch on the boys, and sees to it that no map gets more than 10 consecutive minutes at a witness.

Prof. J. Robert Oppenheimer, undergoing a much stranger hearing than that of McCarthy-Stevens and Col. Schwable, told a friend the other day, "There's a story behind my story. If a reporter digs deep enough, he will find that it's a bigger story than my suspension."

MSC Journalism Chief to Be Honored

EAST LANSING (UP) — Albert A. Applegate, retiring head of the Michigan State College Journalism Department, will be honored May 1 at a testimonial dinner in Kellogg Center.

Applegate's retirement July 1 ends 18 years service as a Michigan State College faculty member. He previously headed the Printing and Journalism Department at South Dakota State College.

Applegate received degrees from the University of Illinois and University of Montana and is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and the American Association of Teachers of Journalism.

Carl Saunders, editor of the Jackson Citizen Patriot, will serve as toastmaster for the banquet program being sponsored by the Michigan Press Association, Sigma Delta Chi, and Theta Sigma Chi.

Plastic Planing Removes Scars With Wire Brush

CHICAGO (UP)—A new method of removing scars through the use of a revolving stainless steel wire brush has been developed by a New York doctor.

"The new technique, called 'plastic planing,' is reported to be far superior to sandpapering. The technique makes use of an instrument known as the 'Kurtin Plastic Planer,' which was invented by Dr. Abner Kurtin.

"The machine uses a stainless wire brush, shaped in a disc form similar to a dentist's buffer, which revolves at 12,000 r. p. m. The patient's face is first cooled by a liquid in a plastic bag for about 15 minutes. After the chilling of the skin, the skin is sprayed with a local anesthetic (ethyl chloride). The whole face can be planed in 10 minutes.

Curtin says the operation has been developed to the point where it can be simply and safely done as an office procedure. The "before and after" effects have been demonstrated in a case involving removing wrinkles in an aged woman, a case of freckle removal, case of removal of scarring caused by acne, smallpox, accidents and other rarer types of skin diseases.

Large Family Is Involved in Brewing Famed Beer

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Millions of descendants of a famous Danish family have moved to Los Angeles as a brewing company (Pabst) can produce in a new plant on the West Coast exactly the same beer turned out here for generations. The family is Saccharomyces Cerevisiae, a pure culture yeast imported from Copenhagen in 1887 by Fred Pabst and maintained since then in a carefully guarded pure state. A small container of the yeast has been shipped to a new Los Angeles plant.

Cotton Boll Weevil Finds Good Job in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP)—George F. Heege is the only "cotton farmer" in this area, but boll weevils still managed to find and eat his crop. They must have rushed right up from the South when word got around," Heege said.

But in his case there was no serious financial loss.

Heege, a 53-year-old attorney, owns and works his "plantation" near suburban Valley Park. He planted it in cotton just to see if it would grow in this locality. It did.

"Got better than a bale to the acre last year," Heege said proudly.

He has just one acre.

EASY ON THE EYES—Traffic police in Rome, Italy, will have an easier time getting a motorist's license number if this invention is adopted. Argument Over Cameras in Courtrooms Continues

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Should the newsman now be permitted to use a camera as well as a pencil in reporting news from the courtroom?

Is the general public—in its historic right to know what takes place in the courts—entitled to a photographic as well as a verbal account?

Or does picture taking interfere with the court's dignity and deprive the defendant of a fair trial—a trial free from undue distractions and influence?

These questions are being answered in different ways these days by courts and newspapers. They don't always see eye to eye, and the disagreement is bringing some notable showdowns.

And as this new aspect of court coverage has come to the fore of late, older problems have continued to occupy the press.

It has never ceased to battle with one of the profession's oldest problems—that of obtaining and publishing the fullest account possible of all matters of public business.

There has been a great deal of progress on this front, including passage of laws forcing boards of municipal and state commissions to hold open meetings.

As for courtroom photography, broadcasts and television, the focal point is what is known as Canon 35 of the Code of Judicial Ethics of the American Bar Assn.

Specifically, the canon stated that the taking of photographs in courtrooms, either during court sessions or while the court is in recess, should not be permitted. Broadcasts from the courtroom likewise were opposed.

Two years ago, as a result of the growth of television, it too was included in the ban with radio and photographs.

The bar association itself has no legal connection with the courts of this country, and its canons are in no way binding upon them.

However, it is in general the guiding light for court conduct, since its views are formulated and approved only after long and careful study by leading jurists.

Some judges have gone even further than that barring news photographers from any part of courthouse premises.

In contrast, an Oklahoma City

TV station got permission to make sound films during some trials. Between these two extremes, courts in recent months have defined in various ways what may and may not be done.

Perfect Raindrop Is Difficult to Find

URBANA, Ill. (INS)—The artistically perfect raindrop—pear shaped and beautifully tapered—is more likely to fall from a leaky faucet than the sky.

So report two meteorologists for the Illinois State Water Survey. Douglas M. A. Jones and Lawrence A. Dean, who have photographed and studied the pictures of more than 200,000 drops, said the typical big raindrop is shaped like a fat mushroom, almost flat on the bottom and rounded on top. Smaller drops, they added, are just round balls.

Jones and Dean are classifying raindrops for a scientific purpose at the University of Illinois airport. The Illinois State Water Survey has pioneered in the use of radar to detect, track and study rainfall. To do this best, information about the size of drops, and consequently about how they reflect radar waves, is important.

Gas Station Competition Foreseen by Promoter

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A "terrific race" among competitive service stations for the motorists' dollar is forecast by the sales promotion manager of Continental Oil Co.

J. J. Nesmith told the Arkansas Oil Dealers that no war or panic can so completely destroy a business as can a new and better product in the hands of a competitor. He said many new and better products are in the offing.

The bar association itself has no legal connection with the courts of this country, and its canons are in no way binding upon them.

However, it is in general the guiding light for court conduct, since its views are formulated and approved only after long and careful study by leading jurists.

Some judges have gone even further than that barring news photographers from any part of courthouse premises.

As Per Rule, Smart Reds Know When to Push Peace

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov seems to have launched a new peace offensive.

It is being conducted quietly, and entirely apart from the Far Eastern conference in Geneva.

But undoubtedly Malenkov timed his new campaign to coincide with the Geneva meeting. He conducted a similar peace offensive during the recent foreign ministers conference in Berlin.

The idea apparently is to persuade the Western Allies that Russia really is peace-minded and seeks friendly international cooperation.

It might appeal especially to those allies who are less suspicious than the United States is of the Kremlin's armor-plated peace doves.

Three times within one week Malenkov has made cooperative moves which for years the Kremlin had refused to make.

A week ago today, Russia finally joined the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, which was formed in 1946. The aim of "UNESCO" is to contribute to peace by cooperation in education, science and culture.

On Monday, it was announced Russia will rejoin the International Labor Organization, from which it dropped when it was expelled from the old League of Nations in 1939 for attacking Finland.

The aim of the I.L.O., in which governments, employers and workers are represented, is to improve labor conditions and living standards throughout the world.

And yesterday, Russia agreed to ease living conditions for the seven high Nazi war criminals in the grim Spandau Prison in Berlin. The Western allies had been seeking for several years to relax the very severe regulations under which the former Nazi leaders live.

Nobody outside the Kremlin can know what Malenkov is up to. But there is no sign that, under him, the Soviet government has made up its mind to alter the aims it had when Stalin was alive.

These were to spread Communism rule throughout the world and to split the free countries as a means to that end.

At least, at 52 years of age, Malenkov is one of the second generation of Bolshevik leaders. Only a handful of the first generation, like Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov, remain.

Nobody knows either how much personal power Malenkov has. But if he were not "ruthless," he would not have risen to Soviet leadership, and he had enough power to purge his chief rival, Secret Police Chief Lavrenti P. Beria.

Malenkov attached himself to Stalin early in his career and became his secretary and confidant. If he really has any ideas of his own as regards Russia's relations with the West, they are yet to be disclosed.

Continuing Prosperity Expected

Statistics Back Forecasters

Increasing Population, Longer Life Expectancy Cited as Causes

A steady expansion of the national economy bringing continued peacetime prosperity is indicated by U.S. Department of Commerce statistics, according to John W. Hirlinger, assistant manager of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce.

Every two weeks the nation's population increases by a total equal to Pontiac's population. In addition, people now live longer, while 11,000 babies are born each day.

Of the 57 million married couples living together last year, about 20 million have been married since 1940. Some 51 per cent more families have two children than in 1940, while 50 per cent more have three children and 61 per cent more have four.

This ability to support larger families stems from steady prosperity and higher living standards, Hirlinger pointed out.

Over and above new homes to accommodate the increasing population, many old buildings will have to be replaced shortly.

With 70 per cent more persons under age five than in 1940, the school building program must be maintained at a pace sufficient at least to double educational facilities by 1975.

Cars built since World War II if placed end to end would stretch more miles than the total miles of highway built in the same period.

"Many miles of new highway must be built to handle the automobile population and virtually all major highways will need remodeling in the next few years," Hirlinger said.

Despite the high post-war production rate, a large potential market for auto sales remains, the reports explain. Only 60 per cent of the nation's 54,000,000 consumer units own cars. (A consumer unit is a family, group or individual considered as a possible purchaser.)

"Savings rose from 65 billion dollars in 1940 to 234 billion in 1952," he explained. "Consumer debt was 50 per cent of savings in 1940—only one third of savings in 1952. Ownership of life insurance doubled in the same period."

Nine times as many persons are earning $5,000 per year as did in 1939, while the average middle-income family earns three times as much as in 1941.

Bassett, 55 E. Iroquois, C. P. Eggleston, 304 S. Saginaw St. and Bert Hotchkiss, 263 Chandler Ave. About 50 members from the two clubs are expected to show their coin collections.

Hospital to Show New Buildings

Open House at Pontiac State to Feature Tour of Nurse, Staff Units

Pontiac State Hospital's new nurses' home and staff house will be shown to visitors who ask to see them during the hospital's open house next week.

The hospital hopes thousands of men and women from Oakland and other counties will take advantage of its program, "The Modern Approach to Mental Illness," May 2-5.

Staff members and volunteers will take visitors on tours of the hospital from 1 until 4 p.m. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday and from 9:30 until 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Staff members will show movies on mental illness, join patients to present a comedy, "Do Your Worst" and show how music, recreation and hobbies help patients get well.

The new staff house, which has room for 31 doctors, social workers and other hospital staff members, was finished last summer at a cost of $330,411. It replaces apartments in the old administration building, now being remodeled for patients' use.

The nurses' home, which cost $477,507, was finished last fall. A two-story building, it has room for 50 student nurses. The building made it possible for Pontiac State Hospital to start giving student nurses the mental illness phase of their training. The hospital couldn't have a student nurse program until it had a place for them to live.

"These buildings aren't on the regular tour," Miss Marguerite Parrish, social service director said. "But we'll show them to anyone who asks to see them."

Regular tours visit recreational and occupational therapy wards, the patients' dining room and several other hospital wards and departments.

picked Beaumont for this experience. He was born on a Connecticut farm in 1785. His father fought in the Revolutionary War.

Beaumont died in 1853, after falling on ice steps on a professional call. His patient, Alexis St. Martin, lived with a window in his stomach twenty-five more years.

But Dr. William Beaumont, the pioneer physiologist of the United States and the first American doctor to make an enduring contribution to medical science, lives on today, as the inspiration of the hospital that bears his name, the Beaumont Hospital of Oakland County.

BEAUMONT AND PATIENT—Above is a painting showing Dr. William Beaumont, famed Michigan medical researcher, with his patient, Alexis St. Martin. The painting is on display at the Detroit Historical Society which is honoring Beaumont as citizen of the month. Oakland County's new general hospital at 13-Mile Rd. and Woodward Ave. will bear his name.

New Oakland Hospital Will Be Named for Dr. Beaumont, Pioneer Physiologist

The shotgun exploded—and the holiday crowd shrank back in horror as they watched a man fall with a hole the size of a fist torn out of his body. Alexis St. Martin, a fur company canoe man, was surely dead.

As they sent for the only doctor within 300 miles of that 1822 Mackinac Island trading post, they couldn't realize that the most famous adventure in medical research of Michigan's history had just begun.

The backwoods doctor they called was Dr. William Beaumont, the man for whom Beaumont Hospital at 13-Mile Rd. and Woodward Ave. in South Oakland County has just been named. It was while treating St. Martin that Dr. Beaumont seized an opportunity to discover what men in European medical centers were struggling to learn—how food is digested by the stomach.

Expecting the man to die within twenty minutes, the doctor dressed the wound, and left. When he returned an hour later he was surprised to find his patient alive.

In writing about it later, Dr. Beaumont said, "A lucky and perhaps the only circumstance to which his miraculous survival can be attributed was the protruded portion of the stomach, instead of falling back into its natural position, adhered to the external wound." This meant that the doctor could dress the stomach directly.

If this was lucky for St. Martin, it was certainly as fortunate for Dr. Beaumont, and for the rest of the world. For in attempting to close the stomach opening, without sewing it, which the superstitious Frenchman would not permit, Dr. Beaumont noticed that by lifting a flap of skin which had grown over the wound, he could actually see the interior of the stomach, without causing any pain to the patient.

"When he lies on the opposite side, I can look directly into the cavity of the stomach and almost see the process of digestion. . . . I have frequently suspended flesh, raw and wasted, and other substances into the perforation to ascertain the length of time required to digest each," he records.

Here was the clue. Could it be that the European medical centers were wrong in their theories of digestion? Some said that the food was ground up by the stomach; others that it was "cooked" there; still others—and they experimented on this—that the food underwent some sort of fermentation. The stomach was thought to be a chopper, a cooking pan or a fermenting vat. But Beaumont's observations made him think that digestion was a chemical process. Who was right?

His experiments conducted intermittently over the next ten years bore him out. In 1833 he published a book, "Experiments and Observations on the Gastric Juice and the Physiology of Digestion," which a century later was called by medical authorities, "the most notable and original classic of American medicine."

Shortly after Beaumont's book was published, Alexis left again, never to return. The doctor spent the rest of his days attempting to persuade him.

In spite of these handicaps, Dr. Beaumont made 52 discoveries about the stomach. He took samples of the juice in St. Martin's stomach, placed food in it, and heated it to the temperature of the stomach. He watched the food disappear. Thus he learned the chemical function of gastric juice. He timed digestion of endless foods in a variety of conditions, raw, cooked, chewed and whole.

Even Alexis' dislike of the project served science. Beaumont found that when his subject lost his temper, digestion was measurably slower, showing how the emotions affect digestion.

The house where the famous shooting took place has been restored by the state medical society, and this July it will be dedicated as Beaumont Memorial and presented to the citizens of Michigan. The furniture, fixtures, even the food on the grocery shelves will be as much as possible like those of Beaumont's time. The second floor of the house is to be a medical museum.

Fate chose strangely when she

WHERE MAN DROWNED—An Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy and a Pontiac Policeman are shown above dragging a section of Harris Lake where Vernon Likens, 23, of Commerce Township, went to his death yesterday. Likens, whose body was recovered yesterday afternoon, was working near a bulldozer when a section of the shoreline gave way, carrying him and the dozer into the water. The driver, who leaped to safety, said they were pushing dirt into the lake located near Baldwin avenue and Montclair street. The bulldozer's tracks can be seen in the center foreground.

Urges A - Warfare in Indochina

WASHINGTON (U) — Rep. Sikes (D-Fla.) proposed today that the United States supply the French with atomic bombs for use in Indochina to "get the war won so we won't have to send American boys there."

"We have all kinds and all sizes of A-bombs that have never been tested in conventional warfare," Sikes said in an interview. "Let's see if they work."

He said the Indochinese war, in which French and native troops have been fighting Communist-led forces for more than seven years, "is becoming serious enough so that we had better use every weapon we've got to win it."

Sikes, a member of the House Appropriations subcommittee which handles Army funds, said he opposes sending American forces to Indochina without prior congressional approval but would back maximum material aid to the French.

Rep. Bennett (R-Mich.) prepared for introduction in the House, meanwhile, a resolution aimed at barring the dispatch of American troops to Indochina "without prior approval and consent of Congress."

Such resolutions normally do not have the binding effect of law, but are advisory to the President.

by the House and Senate, would have teeth. Drafted as an amendment to the defense money bill now before the House, it would prohibit use of any funds in the bill to send U. S. troops into combat without congressional approval except to uphold treaty obligations or in self-defense.

It seemed likely to touch off the only heated debate on the $28,600,000,000 armed services budget for the year starting July 1.

Bennett said in a statement he was offering his resolution because "events of the last few weeks make it appear that the pattern of Korea may very well be repeated all over again in the case of Indochina. . . .

"How many Koreans must we have before Congress will reassert its constitutional prerogatives?"

Vice President Nixon has said that in the unlikely event the French withdraw, this country may be obliged to send troops to Indochina.

Coudert said his amendment is intended to support "the President's declaration that he would not intervene in Indochina without congressional approval."

He told the House yesterday he could see no objection to his proposal and said it could not "be construed in any way as reflecting weakness of the United States or undermining our negotiators at Geneva."

Aussie Envoy Talks at Geneva

Says U.N. May Have to Stay in Korea Until It Is United

GENEVA (U)—Richard G. Casey, foreign minister of Australia, told the Geneva conference today that United Nations forces may have to remain in Korea until that divided peninsula has been united under a democratic government.

Casey's declaration to the 13-nation conference preceded a scheduled major policy speech on Korea by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, his first since the parley opened Monday.

Informants said Molotov and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault exchanged heated words at a dinner last night, with the Soviet diplomat expressing surprise that Bidault had injected the truce question into a discussion of what parties should participate in settlement of the Indochinese question.

Bidault replied that he was just as surprised that the Russians had violated confidences by disclosing his request without notifying the French beforehand. Molotov said he did so to counteract what he called tendentious articles in the world press.

The Russians repeated that a truce should be arranged here; the French said it should be done by field commanders in Indochina; neither side would budge and there the matter rests, with no further meetings on schedule.

The Australian diplomat said the dangers of an "over-hasty withdrawal" from Korea "have been all too bitterly demonstrated." He added that "the heavy sacrifices, that this has involved must surely preclude the United Nations from agreeing to withdrawals before United Nations interests and objectives are properly safeguarded."

Ft. Custer Impresses Air Academy Team

BATTLE CREEK (U) — After spending twice its scheduled time here, the Air Academy Selection Commission was out today looking at other places.

The group apparently was impressed upon its visit to Fort Custer Wednesday. It spent 2½ hours inspecting the deactivated fort. It had scheduled 1½ hours for the visit.

From here the commission, flying in an Air Force Constellation, went to Lexington, Ky., to inspect other suggested sites.

The commission is going to select a site for a $125,000,000 Air Academy. Fort Custer is regarded as one of the leading possibilities. The commission said Dayton, Ohio, still is being considered for the school's location.

The commission visited Dayton and Jessamine and Mercer Counties in Kentucky Wednesday. It leaves today for Madison, Ind., and plans to go from there to Trimble County, Ky.

Merrill C. Meigs, of Chicago, vice president of the Hearst Corp. and chairman of the commission, said of the 550 sites originally suggested, more than 400 had been ruled out.

In Washington Sen. Anderson (D-NM) renewed his request to Air Force Secretary Talbott for disclosure of any unpublished criteria being used in the search for the academy site.

Anderson told the Senate Tuesday that Talbott advised the mayor of Clayton, N. M., that no location for the academy will be considered unless it is near a metropolitan area of at least 250,000 population.

Anderson protested that such a ruling would exclude 12 states which do not have a city of 250,000. He said these are New Mexico, Arkansas, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Oklahoma, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho and Kansas.

Claude Wood, administrative assistant to Anderson, said Wednesday Anderson has written a second letter to Talbott inquiring whether any proposed sites for the academy in New Mexico are to be considered and whether the 250,000 population figure, which was not included in published criteria of the site selected commission, is a part of some unpublished criteria.

Wood said Anderson had discussed the subject with senators from other states that might be affected, but had no indication whether they are taking any action.

State Takes Legal Steps to End Water Pollution

LANSING (UP) — Legal steps to force compliance with anti-pollution orders were instituted today by the Water Resources Commission against two Michigan communities.

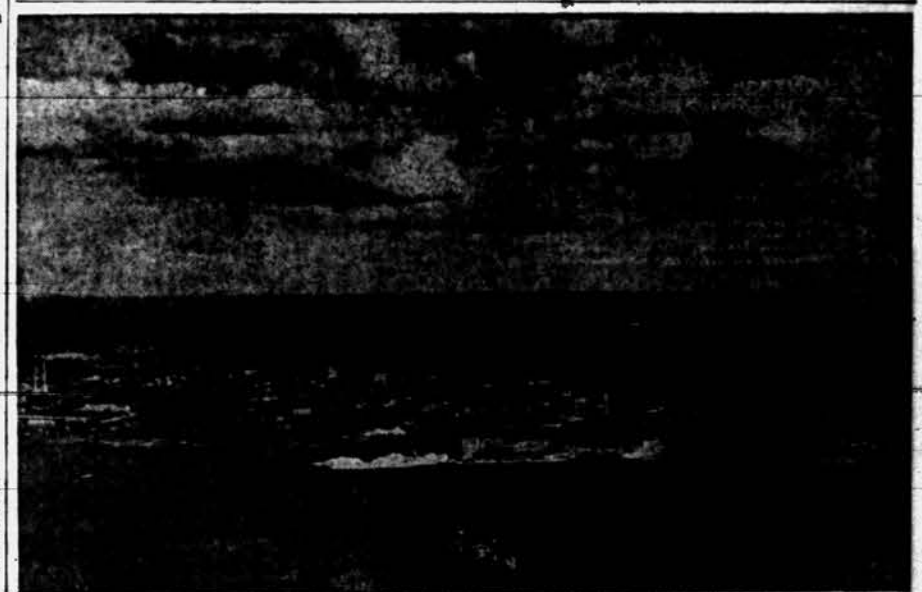

The commission voted Wednesday to ask the Attorney General to start suits against the village of Standish and Benton Township of Berrien County for failure to comply with orders to solve sewage disposal problems.

Milton Adams, commission secretary, said Standish had ignored an order to end stream pollution by Nov. 1, 1953, while Benton Township had not responded to an order to arrange with either Benton Harbor or St. Joseph for sewage treatment.

The commission also found Battle Creek sewage facilities inadequate and issued a preliminary order requiring the municipality to cease pollution by Jan. 1, 1957.

A request by the village of West Branch for an extension of its Jan. 1 deadline for sewage abatement was shelved until the next commission meeting.

Muskegon Shows Municipal Foresight

By DAN McCAULEY
Muskegon Chronicle City Editor

MUSKEGON (AP)—This onetime sawmill town refused to sign a suicide pact with the dying lumber industry in the 1890s and today is the hub of a potential $100,000,000 chemical empire.

Three new chemical plants and nearly 60 new companies point up the tremendous industrial growth of the Muskegon area since the end of World War II—an example of the same municipal foresight.

Muskegon's growth in part is due to the vision of lumber men, who at the turn of the century saw the industry dying and decided to attract new industries rather than commit economic suicide.

Local businessmen today also have taken steps to attract new industries.

At the end of hostilities in Korea most of Muskegon's defense contracts were terminated. The city faced the prospect of reverting to its prewar status as a one-industrial community engaged in supply parts of the automotive trade.

A unique Industrial Survey organization was created by labor and management to expand present plants and bring in new industries. C. D. McNamee, editor of the Muskegon Chronicle, set up the organization.

The Hooker Electrochemical Co. has opened a new plant. DuPont and Union Carbide and Carbon Corp. are building new plants expected to be in operation by late 1955 or early 1956.

Continental Motors Corp., the industrial colossus of Western Michigan, plans a new $7,500,000 jet engine plant here.

The S. D. Warren Co. of Boston is going to spend $18,000,000 developing facilities at Central Paper Co., which it acquired last year. Thompson Products Co. of Cleveland, an automotive supplier, has spent $2,000,000 on a Muskegon County plant.

Perfect Circle Corp. also took over a local foundry and Muskegon is now the home of the big three in the piston ring trade—Perfect Circle, Sealed Power and Muskegon Piston Ring.

More than 55 smaller concerns have located here since the war—a big step in the campaign for diversification of industry.

To furnish power for these and future plants, Consumers Power Co. is building a multimillion dollar addition to its B. C. Cobb power plant here. The plant, built since the war, will represent an investment of some $30,000,000 when completed.

During 1953, Muskegon voted a $7,000,000 school building program now in progress. Muskegon also approved a million dollar off-street parking program, now nearing completion.

Traffic Deaths, Injuries Fall Off

But March Accidents Soar 1,048 Over Same Month in 1953

LANSING (AP)—Traffic deaths and injuries in Michigan during March were below last year although total accidents increased, State Police reported today.

There were 117 persons killed during March, a decrease of 19 from the same month a year ago. Injuries totaled 3,596, a drop of 385 from March of 1953.

Total accidents increased, however. There were 14,874 reported, an increase of 1,048 over the same month a year ago.

Michigan's traffic toll during the first three months of 1954 now includes 362 killed, 11,989 injured and 47,186 accidents.

Deaths showed a 2 per cent decrease during the three-month period, injuries increased 6 per cent and accidents increased 14 per cent.

Estimated motor travel during January and February, the latest figures available, was 2.7 billion miles, an increase of 2 per cent over the 2.6 billion miles for the same period last year.

The death rate of 6.7 fatalities per 100 million miles of travel was down 4 per cent.

Driver Jailed for Not Heeding Judicial Warning

OMAHA (AP)—Last week John Gels Jr. of Lincoln came before County Judge Robert Troyer and was fined $300 and costs on charges of having expired truck license plates and no registration certificate.

At the time the judge said Gels' record showed 31 traffic violations and fines totaling $1,194 since 1941. This week Gels was back before Judge Troyer—this time on a charge of driving 35 miles an hour while returning to Lincoln after his court appearance last week.

The judge sentenced Gels to 10 days and ordered his driver's license suspended for two months.

Missing Colonel Found; Believed Amnesia Victim

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Army colonel missing for eight days was found last night in a motel two miles west of Williamsburg, Va.

The Army had asked for public help in locating Col. John O. Beckner, operations officer of the military district of Washington.

An Army spokesman said last night that Beckner, believed to be seriously ill and suffering from amnesia, was taken to the Ft. Eustis, Va., Army hospital.

He said a woman at the hotel recognized him from a newspaper photograph and notified his wife. Officials said Beckner has an excellent Army record. He is married and has one child.

Lightning Hits Six, Kills Four in South

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP)—Lightning killed a father, his two small sons and a neighbor in a mountain rural section near here yesterday.

The bolt hit a tractor, around which six persons were grouped. The other two escaped serious injury.

Killed were Leroy Edwards, 29; his sons, Leroy Jr., 7, and Larry, 4; and William Robert McJunkins Jr., 20.

Billy Crain, reportedly driver of the tractor, was treated and discharged at a hospital here. Roy Lewis Simmons, 20 was hospitalized.

Murder Trial to Jog Virginia City Memories

VIRGINIA CITY, Mont. (AP)—The first murder trial in 19 years starts tomorrow in historic Virginia City, which figured in the vigilantes' hangings of 22 persons in 26 days in the 1890s.

Trapper Sam Popejoy, 55, will be tried on charges of murdering two brothers Thanksgiving Eve. Killed were the Seyler brothers, James, 37, trapper and Montana State University basketball captain in the 1930s, and William, 29.

Capital punishment in Montana is by hanging.

Of 174 iron mines in the U.S., 68 are in Minnesota, 41 are in Michigan and Wisconsin, 31 in Alabama, and four each are located in a number of scattered states.

Gunman Can't Recall Shooting Six People

SAN DIEGO (U)—A 30-year-old unemployed aircraft worker who said he didn't remember anything "until tear gas hit the house" was held today on suspicion of wounding six persons, two seriously, in a gun battle with police.

Police said Barney A. Dennis held off officers 20 minutes with a shotgun until tear gas forced him out of a duplex apartment. He would not admit the shootings or give a motive, said Homicide Sgt. Paul G. Walk.

Dennis was held in a hospital for observation of a bullet wound in the thigh. His condition was reported good.

Neighbors told police the altercation began when Dennis brought a shotgun to the house and got into an argument with his estranged wife Marion, 24. They said he shot her, then Marshal Elwin L. Bunnell, 32, who heard the quarrel and came to investigate. Both were seriously wounded.

Creators of New Parasol Expect to Earn Fortune

TOKYO (U)—A Japanese couple has blended the old with the new and turned a small fortune.

The man and wife rigged a transparent plastic cover on the traditional Japanese bamboo umbrella frame. They call it a "modernistic, exotic parasol."

It caught on at the recent Osaka Trade Fair and the inventors now have more than a million dollars in orders.

Fluoride Treated Water Fools Citizens' Tasters

ELYRIA, Ohio (U)—Fluorides were to be added to the city water supply last Thursday. In the days that followed, the water department was flooded with complaints about the taste. Due to a delay in testing, however, the fluorides did not actually go into the water until yesterday.

Workers' Wives May Become Strike Breakers

COLUMBIA FALLS, Mont. (U)—Mrs. Ruth Woolsey has a plan which she hopes will end the strike of 1,000 construction workers here. She said she and at least five other wives of workers idled may offer to go to work in place of the men.

The men are idled by a carpenter's strike at the Anaconda Aluminum Co.'s 50-million-dollar plant. Other crafts are honoring picket lines set up by the carpenters. Negotiations between the company and the carpenters are at a standstill.

"We're the ones who lost the pay check," Mrs. Woolsey said. She has asked wives of all idle workers to attend a mass meeting Saturday.

The carpenters are seeking a 15-cent-an-hour pay increase and some undisclosed modifications in their working agreement.

Woman Sits in Tree After Breaking Jail

GRUNDY, Va. (U)—Somebody left a door unlocked yesterday in the women's section of the Buchanan County Jail here and Mrs. Audrey Lester, 23, awaiting trial on a charge of petty theft, took off.

Police located her a short while later—perched in a tree not far from the jail. She finally agreed to come down when her pursuers threatened to climb up after her.

Back she went to jail—to a cell near her husband Sanford, who is awaiting transfer to the state penitentiary to serve a two-year sentence for grand larceny.

Gives History of Salk Serum

Professor of Pediatrics at UM Talks to County Medical Society

Dr. James Wilson, University of Michigan pediatrics professor, told Oakland County Medical Society Wednesday night about the development of the new Salk polio vaccine.

Some 60 members turned out for the society's meeting in the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital nurses' home auditorium.

Dr. Wilson said Dr. Jonas E. Salk of the University of Pittsburgh started work on his vaccine six years ago. A group of scientists, working with money raised by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, had found then that large amounts of polio virus could be grown on pieces of monkey kidneys. Dr. Salk believed a killed virus vaccine could make people immune to polio.

Dr. Wilson said laboratories have proved the new polio vaccine is safe and that it builds up antibodies in the blood. "But you can go only so far in the laboratory," he said, "then you've got to test it in the field."

Dr. Wilson said some people think the test program is being rushed along too fast. But he pointed out if the field tests show the vaccine works—and it is put on the market early in 1955—it could keep 60,000 American people from suffering polio next year. If the vaccine works, this spring's tests alone will leave thousands of American children protected against polio this summer.

Quick Phone Call Saves Bleacher From Baldness

DETROIT (U)—A young suburban St. Clair Shores housewife was bleaching her hair yesterday. She didn't know the city was repairing a water main and had shut the water off to do it.

Mayor Thomas S. Welsh got a frantic phone call. "Turn the water on or my hair will be gone in two hours."

The mayor dispatched Patrolman William Vaughn to the woman's house with a five gallon can of water.

Council for Judaism Opens 10th Conclave

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—The tenth anniversary conference of the American Council for Judaism opens a four-day meeting in Philadelphia tonight with a message of congratulations and hope for its civic and religious objectives sent by President Eisenhower.

The chief executive wrote Lesing J. Rosenwald, president of the council:

"Please extend my warm greetings to everyone attending the tenth annual conference of the American Council for Judaism. It is my hope that your conference will further your commendable objectives in the field of religion and civic responsibilities—objectives that all of us hope will be vigorously advanced by the council for decades to come."

Highlighting the four-day round of meetings, panel discussions and general sessions will be a policy address by Assistant Secretary of State Henry A. Byroade, Saturday night.

GOP Festival to Be Held in Jackson

WASHINGTON (U)—Michigan's city of Jackson—proud in the annals of the Republican Party—will be the site for a GOP "Freedom Festival" July 4-10.

Vice President Nixon, chairman of the GOP Centennial Committee, made the announcement last night.

The week-long festival will commemorate the party's first formal convention held in that city 100 years ago.

An historical pageant depicting the sacrifices of Americans in pioneer and later times in the cause of freedom will highlight the festival.

Soviets Do Big Business With British Exporters

LONDON (INS)—The president of the Russo-British Chamber of Commerce said today that Soviet importers had placed orders for 84 to 112 million dollars in British goods since Jan. 1. Sir Greville Maginness predicted a gigantic expansion of such trade in the future and called on top British businessmen to go to Moscow to arrange more deals.

KALAMAZOO (U)—Borgess Hospital's $1,500,000 fund drive has brought in $812,144.50 in subscriptions to date. The hospital plans an expansion and improvement program. Industry has contributed more than $300,000.

Flint Woman Dead, Sailor Hurt in Crash

GLOBE, Ariz. (U)—An automobile driven by a 22-year-old Michigan sailor plunged 285 feet down a hillside north of here Wednesday, killing his woman passenger. Dead is Mrs. Willie Dillard, 68, of Flint.

Gerald T. Gregg Jr., returning from leave to Point Mugu, Calif., was critically injured. He also lives in Flint.

Sheriff's deputies said the car was owned by Mrs. Glenn Knudsen, of Phoenix, Ariz., who had advertised for a driver and a passenger during a visit to Flint. They said Mrs. Knudsen left the car a short time before it crashed.

Mrs. Knudsen told officers that Gregg twice had driven off desert roads and "began seeing animals and roads that weren't there." She said she got out when he refused to stop driving.

Gerber President Heads Negro College Committee

DETROIT (UP)—Dan C. Gerber, president of Gerber Products Co., of Fremont, was named today as chairman of a committee to campaign for a Negro educational fund in Michigan areas other than Detroit.

His appointment was announced Wednesday night by Walter L. Cislak, Detroit Edison Co. president, who heads this year's state organization of the United Negro College Fund.

The campaign seeks to raise $30,000 to aid 31 privately supported Negro colleges.

TB Sanatorium Alumni Hold July Homecoming

The Patients Benefit Assn., composed of persons who regained their health at Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, plan a homecoming program at the sanatorium July 25, according to the president Mrs. Josephine Overcashier. Those eligible to attend the annual event may get information on present plans from Mrs. Florence Diehm, recording secretary. The organization is designed to aid patients and assist in their rehabilitation.

Safety glass was first used in automobiles in 1908.

Grooming Prices Cut

OSAKA, Japan (U)—You can get clipped in Osaka for a dime. Shave and shampoo free, Osaka barbers in a price war shaved the cost of the combo job from 40 cents.

The site of the White House, comprising about 16 acres, was originally purchased for $1,000.

KENNETH L. BRACKENBURY

Navy Veteran Joins Pontiac Recruiters

A Navy veteran of over nine years, M. L. C. Kenneth Lee Brackenbury, joined the staff of the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station in Pontiac, it was announced this week by Chief Alan D. Simonson, in charge of the recruiting station.

Brackenbury, who comes here from Detroit after a three-month indoctrination course, is a veteran of three years in Korean waters during the war there.

A resident of Port Huron, Brackenbury worked with the Atomic Energy Commission projects in the Pacific Theater after the war. He also served on the USS Albatross, a refrigerated cargo ship in the Pacific area.

Birds Dispossess Roomer, City Gets Rent Bill

LOS ANGELES (U)—A retired telegraph clerk has asked Mayor Norris Poulson to help finance his real-life saga of "The Egg and I."

Harry Reade, 65, wrote the mayor that a pigeon couple has set up housekeeping in his room and produced one egg.

"Since I am not inclined to disturb or frustrate the act of God," he wrote, "I was therefore compelled to relinquish my room and pay again rent for still another room."

With novel legal logic, he contends that since the city protects the birds against shooting, the city actually owns them. Thus since city property has forced him to rent another room, he states, the city should accept the financial responsibility, until after the egg is hatched.

Accompanying the letter was a rent receipt for $35.

Reade told a newsmen yesterday that he left the window of his room open for health reasons and about 10 days ago he noticed a small egg in a corner on the floor.

"Soon the mother and father pigeon came with straw and began to build a nest around it," he said. "The mother bird—she's very nice—has stayed in the room ever since. The father comes in the morning with straw to add to the nest."

Army Says U.S. Has 30 Atomic Cannon Abroad

FRANKFURT, Germany (U)—The U. S. Army disclosed today that it now has 30 of its giant 280mm. atomic cannons in Germany.

The first battalion of between 500 and 600 men and six guns, which fire either atomic or conventional shells, arrived last October. The second arrived last January. The Army confirmed last night that a third—formerly at Ft. Sill, Okla.—had arrived, but would not say when.

Trellis Mae Lectures at Club on McCarthy

"Far from it. He has a third plan. He wants McCarthy to drop with some paratroopers on a Sioux Indian reservation out West—it's crawling with Reds—and avenge the Custer Massacre."

"I should think it's high time we did something about that," said Trellis Mae warmly. "Sen. McCarthy must feel pretty lucky to have three bigshots like that all fighting to get him to come to work for them. But tell me, when will we see the midjet?"

"The midjet?" Wilbur was at sea.

"Yes. Remember the midjet they put on old J.P. Morgan's knee the time he went to Washington to ask the government to please be more careful of its money? Don't they always have a midjet at those Washington hearings?"

"One way or another," said Wilbur, grinning. "They will bring out the midjet when the mystery witness testifies. They always have to bring out a mystery witness at a hearing to solve the mystery. But right now he's being kept incommunicado."

"In where? Oh, never mind—it's a secret. Just one question more. Why do they have all those Klieg lights in the hearing room?"

"The politicians are trying to find a way to make daytime politics as popular as night baseball."

"Well, I'm not much of a baseball fan, but I will say that even in a night ball game it's easier to tell who's got the ball," said Trellis Mae, folding up her notes. "But at least, thanks to you, dear, I know now what the hearing's all about. Men do have clearer heads than women when it comes to politics."

The next night Wilbur came home late and opened the door cautiously. A grimly silent wife met him.

"How did the ladies like your current events talk?" he asked, smirking.

"Oh, they said it was wonderful. The best talk of the year. They asked me to make another talk next week on the same subject—it was so interesting."

"They did?" Wilbur's face fell.

"Then what are you mad about?"

"Well, I don't think a single member heard a single word I said. Two ladies showed up wearing new dresses that were exactly alike... down to the last polka dot. And everybody was watching to see what would happen."

"What did happen?"

"After the meeting both ladies founced up and tried to resign from the club. But we voted to accept only one resignation."

"Which one?"

"Why the one from the lady who never serves us anything but peanut butter sandwiches when the club meets at her home—of course," said Trellis Mae.

Wilbur felt a clanging in his ears. He slumped down in his chair, opened his newspaper. After a moment Trellis Mae said, Wilbur, what's the matter with you? You're reading the newspaper upside down."

"Just trying to confuse myself," said Wilbur. "A man with a clear head can get pretty lonely in this world. I want to see if it isn't more fun to live in a fog."

Man Asks Examination on Bad Check Charge

Benjamin Engel, 28, of 6325 Willow Rd., W. Bloomfield Township, charged with uttering and publishing, demanded examination when he was arraigned yesterday in Pontiac Municipal Court.

Judge Maurice E. Finnegan set May 5 as the examination date after Engel posted $200 bond. Engel is charged with collecting money and then writing a bad check for the funds.

British Ship Carries Automobiles to Detroit

PORT STANLEY, Ont. (AP)—The first overseas freighter to call at this Lake Erie port in 14 years docked here Wednesday.

She was the British motorship Teeswood and she carried a cargo of British-made automobiles. The cars are bound for Detroit, a condition which brought jocular remarks of "coals to Newcastle" from crew members.

Until the latter part of the 19th century, Brazil was the world's most important tobacco producer.

Dessert Bridge Parties Launch Garden Club's Crab Apple Project

Baldwins Conclude Florida Visit

Calbis Home From Seattle

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Calbi of Linden avenue returned home recently after spending two weeks in Seattle, Wash. While out West they visited Mt. Rainier, Tacoma, and the Naval Yard Locks, all in Washington. They were accompanied on the trip by the Bradford Springs and the Seth Coxes, all of Birmingham.

The other members of the party went on to San Francisco after the Calbis took a plane for home.

The Frank Baldwins have returned to their home on Oakwood avenue, Sylvan Lake, after spending four months at Casey Key, Okonim, Fla. On their way home they motored to Washington, D. C., to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Lt. and Mrs. Wallace Riley.

Mrs. Ira A. Woodard of Silver Lake road has returned from St. Petersburg, Fla., where she spent the winter. Before returning home she flew to California for a six-week visit with her son and family, the Lewis J. Woodards of Shafter. She arrived in Pontiac Tuesday after the E. G. Clark, also of Silver Lake road, joined her in Chicago.

Home from a four-week vacation in Florida are the John Baileys of Dresden avenue. They spent time at Delray Beach and visited Coral Gables, Fort Lauderdale, Miami Beach and West Palm Beach as well.

Expected home this weekend is Mrs. Mabel Chircop of Proceed street, who left April 9 for Japan. Mrs. Chircop spent two days in Alaska before traveling to Japan where she visited her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hagedorn, who are stationed there.

On her way home Mrs. Chircop made a stop in Hawaii where she is spending the week.

Recently returned from Washington, D. C., are Mrs. L. L. Dunlap, Mrs. Frank Geris, Mrs. E. V. Howlett and Mrs. E. G. Clark, who attended the national DAR convention there. While in Washington they were guests of the DAR state regent at a reception for Michigan members in Hotel Mayflower.

Firestone Club will gather Friday at the home of Mrs. W. P. Edmondson in Royal Oak.

Mrs. John Hatherhill Hostess to Sorority

A report on the Easter basket project for the Oakland County Children's Home was given by Barbara Russell at the Tuesday meeting of Gamma Chapter of Beta Theta Phi sorority.

Mrs. John Hatherhill was hostess for the meeting in her home on Hickory lane.

Plans were discussed for the annual dance, "Gamma Gambol," to be held in the fall. Information on sending a girl to camp was given by Jane McGuire. Mrs. Robert Meboke of Maddy Lane will hostess the May 11 meeting.

Mrs. Russell Eames of West Pike street, Mrs. David L. Brown of Oneida road, Mrs. N. W. Peterson of Ogema road and Mrs. Roy Wilkinson of East Iroquois road were photographed at the dessert bridge held at the home of Mrs. Frederic L. Ward on West Huron street Wednesday.

Proceeds from the party will enable the Pontiac Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association to purchase flowering crab apple trees for the beautification of Pontiac.

Members' Homes Opened for Fund-Raising Events

Group Will Beautify Pontiac by Planting Flowering Trees In and Around City

Plans to beautify Pontiac were put into action Wednesday when members of the Pontiac Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association held dessert bridge parties in various members' homes.

Proceeds from these parties are to be used to purchase flowering crab apple trees to be planted in and about Pontiac.

Table prizes also were flowering crabs which the winners will plant in a designated spot.

Members who opened their homes for the occasion were Mrs. Frederic Ward, Mrs. John Donaldson, Mrs. Ben Jerome Jr., Mrs. Harold A. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Standish Sibley.

Others were Mrs. William Hartman and Mrs. T. Edward Nelson who combined for a party in the Hartman home on Watkins Lake.

A joint party in the ballroom of the Casa del Rey was hosted by Mrs. Bertil Larson, Mrs. D. R. Wilson, Mrs. C. R. Gately, Mrs. Harry Pearce and Mrs. G. B. Williams.

Mrs. John W. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Chauncey Burke were others who opened their homes for the dessert bridge.

Committee members who made arrangements included Mrs. Russell Galbraith, Mrs. Basil E. Brown, Mrs. Arnold K. Jerome, Mrs. C. K. Patterson, Mrs. Newton Skillman Jr., Mrs. P. V. Wagley and Mrs. Arthur Young.

Also serving on committees were Mrs. Paul Connolly, Mary Heitsch, Mrs. Robert Glenn, Mrs. Robert Dunlay, Mrs. Edmund Rogers, Mrs. John Patterson, Mrs. L. C. Sheffield, Mrs. Harlan Smith, Mrs. Stuart Whitfield, Mrs. Harcourt Patterson, Mrs. Walter K. Willman and Mrs. H. L. VanHaltem.

Mrs. Dora Dawson, Mrs. Robert Igrigg, Mrs. Geiston Poole, Mrs. Albert J. Kimball, Mrs. M. F. Macaulay, Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer, Mrs. Robert Cooper, Mrs. Robert Armstrong, Mrs. George Crane, Mrs. E. I. Kar-kau and Mrs. Hugh Grove were others.

Completing the list were Mrs. W. S. Maybury, Mrs. W. Ross Thompson, Mrs. L. H. Schimmel, Mrs. A. J. Michael, Mrs. Mac T. Whitfield and Mrs. A. W. Selden.

Newcomers Plan Program for May

Plans were made for final activities of the season when Newcomers Club met Wednesday with Mrs. Peter Aldo of Voorheis road.

Saturday is the date for dinner and dancing for club members and their husbands at Elks Temple. The closing dinner will be held May 26.

At the Wednesday meeting tickets were distributed for the benefit card party and style show of the City Federation of Women's Clubs to be held Wednesday in Elks Temple.

Birthday Celebrated by Jane McCarthy

Jane Ellen McCarthy was honored with a party Tuesday in celebration of her sixth birthday. She is the daughter of the Joseph McCarthys of Draper avenue.

Mother's Day Gifts to Be Scout Project

Mother's Day projects will take over the workshop in the Girl Scout activities room Saturday.

From 1 until 3 o'clock, scouts and their leaders will learn leathercraft from Mrs. Vert Kline. The girls may also make personalized aluminum gifts which may be given for Mother's Day or Father's Day. Aluminum work will be taught by Mrs. Lloyd Porter.

DARLENE THAYER

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Thayer of East Tennyson avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Darlene, to Jess Burch, son of the Henry Burches of Glenwood avenue. A Sept. 4 wedding is planned.

Phone Official Gives Address to Soroptimists

"A Continent at Your Fingertips" was the title of a talk by Walter Barnett of Michigan Bell Telephone Company when he spoke to the Pontiac Soroptimist Club members Monday evening. The meeting was held in Hotel Waldron.

The speaker explained the goal of the new long distance dial system and the part the company plays in television. An informal discussion and question period followed the talk.

Reports on the recent Soroptimist regional spring conference in Milwaukee were given by delegates, Mrs. Arnold Hillerman, regional bulletin chairman, Mrs. Karl Schultz and Mrs. Roy Maxwell.

The next monthly party sponsored by the club will be held May 6 at Pontiac State Hospital.

Meeting Conducted by First Philathea

The Rev. Walter Ballagh of Lake Orion was guest speaker for the Tuesday evening meeting of the First Philathea Class of First Baptist Church. Mrs. Margaret Putnam presided at the meeting held in the church classrooms.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Rev. George Kennedy, missionary from Africa, and his three children, Charlene, JoAnn and Billie. Connie Cotcher gave two accordion numbers and Barbour Bowen sang a solo.

Mrs. LeRoy Shafer Hostess to WCTU

Mrs. LeRoy Shafer was hostess in her home on North Shirley avenue Tuesday evening when Pontiac WCTU met for a cooperative luncheon.

Devotions based on Chapter 24 of St. Luke were given by Mrs. William Kricklow. Mrs. Bertha Locke was in charge of the baby dedication. The topic for discussion was "Shall We Teach Moderation?" Mrs. Shafer gave the closing prayer.

Boss Tweed Rules Over Style Scene

Fabric No Longer Just the Familiar Heavy Wool

NEW YORK (INS) It was a canny punster who said: "Tweed will be boss of fashion."

It looks like Boss Tweed will run over 'em all again in 1954. It's good for this spring — but by next fall it may reach its peak of popularity in the United States.

By tweeds, fashion experts no longer mean only the heavy, nubby wool tweeds that are associated with tobacco smells and merrie olde England.

This year, tweeds can be anything from a salt- and -peppery weave of cotton to wool- and -silk combinations that look like the McCoy but are really fabric fakes.

Whatever the tweed-look fabric is composed of, it will be turned out in every kind of costume for every kind of occasion except the gala formal ball and the socialite wedding.

There will be cotton tweeds for little girls to go to school in, silk tweeds for women to drink martinis in, shaggy tweeds for everybody to go cruising in.

And most interesting of all, there will be tweeds glimmering with beads and jewels for evening.

Traveler Honored

Sigra Magnusson, who is leaving next week for Sweden, was honored Wednesday evening at a dinner given by nurses from the Oakland County Infirmary at Villa Inn in Lake Orion.

Mastery of Arts or Crafts Depends Upon Your Zest for Subject Matter

Love of Terriers Makes Sculpture Successful

By ANNE HEYWOOD
At one of the recent dog shows, a prize was given to the owner of the best terrier.
The prize was a charming piece of sculpture, a model of a Skye terrier, and the sculptor was William Frank.
But behind that fact lies a very interesting story.
It all began when Mrs. Frank, a busy woman in her own right, got a Skye terrier. She was crazy about that dog and decided to raise Skye terriers as a hobby. After a while, she was operating a kennel, just as a hobby.

Mr. Frank, just by the nature of things, was pretty much surrounded by Skye terriers, and he began to think they were pretty cute, too.
When the time came for his retirement from business, he decided to take courses in sculpture, to see if he could learn to make models of Skye terriers and catch some of their charm in clay, or marble or other material. He had never done any sculpturing before in his life. He had been an electrical engineer and a businessman.

But he proved very good at the sculpture, surprisingly good, and before long his little Skye terriers had much of the charm of the originals.
Now, Mrs. Frank's kennel is booming and Mr. Frank's sculpture is also flourishing, and the problem of an interesting retirement vocation, which is so difficult for some people, has been a breeze for Mr. Frank.

The point of the story is this: Technique, skill and proficiency in an art or a craft are not things apart. They are intimately tied up with the subject matter, and your zest for it.
Mr. Frank might not have succeeded nearly so well if his models had been of less interest to him.
The person who says vaguely, "I would like to write, or paint, or sculpt, or do photography" is not apt to get very far.
But the person who so loves children, for example, that she is bound and determined to write stories for them will bring her zest to her task and master the technique in a way that seems miraculous.
The question is not so much what you want to do, as it is what ends you wish your skill to serve, and how much of your heart you want to put into it.

Baby's Shampoo Is Safe for Eyes

The old problem of frayed nerves caused by babies wailing protest against shampoo in their eyes has been solved, according to the manufacturer of a new shampoo designed specifically for the younger set.

The new product, says the firm, will not burn or irritate the eyes.
In addition, this shampoo is said to impart an unusually high gloss and to leave the hair soft and manageable.

The energy once expended in trying to manage a protesting child during the shampoo session can now be used to give the baby thorough hair care.

Daily brushing is as important to a baby's hair as to an adult's. In addition to stimulating the circulation so that hair roots are nourished, brushing helps to lubricate dry ends and to whisk off surface dirt and dust.

It's a good idea to massage the scalp before shampooing. Placing fingers and thumbs flat against the scalp, rotate the scalp without moving your fingers.

Frequency of shampoo depends upon the season and the type of hair your baby has. Outdoor play in spring and summer necessitates more frequent shampooing. And oily hair should be washed often.

Life must be worth living. The cost has doubled, and people are still hanging on.

The new suits with fit entirely unforced, wide collar, low buttoning, cut-away over an easy skirt, magic for slimming.

Miss J.—"Leave it to the (LIT-TLE) girls" to drip with bows, ruffles, nursery fashions. For your larger size, the new easy line without throwing out altogether the appeal factor of fitted lines—fitted where your figure is best proportioned.

In addition to the Great lakes, sharing frontiers with the United States, Canada has nine lakes that are more than 100 miles each in length.

Exercises Put Gals in Shape for Sportswear

It won't be long before the nation will begin its annual exodus from the city and town to mountain and seashore. Best check now to be sure you're ready for the change.

Wherever you spend your week-ends and vacation, you'll enjoy them more if you can feel comfortable in the season's abbreviated sportswear.

Since most older women are less active in winter than during the warmer months, there is a tendency to spread through the hips. Waist and stomach, too, usually need some whittling in springtime.

These exercises should help:

1. With arms over your head and clasping the wrists of each hand, pull your ribs up hard. Do this frequently during the day. Any stretching, twisting or turning will help waist-whittling, so stretch a lot after waking up in the morning.

2. Lie on your back with arms at sides. Then raise your arms and touch the floor over your head. Come to a sitting position, keeping arms extended in front of you, and try to touch your left hand. Now slowly lie down with arms overhead. Do this, touching each foot with opposing arm, six times.

3. Lie on back with arms outstretched. Then bend knees and put feet close to body. Roll hips to right until outside of leg and hip touch floor; keep knees bent.

This sub-teener (above) is taking her first ribbons in sudsy water, rubbing a soiled spot in wardrobe care. She is washing her with brush.

Easy to Keep Fresh and Perky

Ribbons Teach Sub-Teen to Be Neat

By ALICIA HART
Ribbons are one of the top fashion fads of the sub-teen crowd this season.
They are seen on hats, hair, blouses, just about anywhere a youngster may think to put one.

The fad has one very definite virtue: It affords a mother an opportunity to train her daughter in wardrobe care.
It is no trouble to point out the difference between a fresh ribbon and a slightly soiled one that has become crumpled with repeated knotting.

And when she sees how easy it is to keep her ribbons looking crisp, any young miss will be interested in assuming this responsibility.

All she need do is whisk her ribbons through lukewarm suds and rinse them a few times in clear water.

Then, after rolling them in a towel to remove excess moisture she can "paste" them against the bathroom tile or over the edge of the bathtub to dry flat.

If added stiffness is desired, pressing will be necessary. She should use a cool iron and press the ribbons on the wrong sides with a press cloth between them. These instructions apply to all and the iron to prevent shine. Ribbons but velvet, which should be taken from the final rinse water and hung on a towel rack to drip-dry.

Blood in the human body comprises one-eighth of the total weight.

PETUNIA!

Heavens to Betsy, NOW what shall I do? The salts inside. But the cork is too!

Too bad, Petunia. You should always push a pin in the side of your cork, so that the cork can't possibly be forced in.

4811 14 1/2-24 1/2 by Anne Adams

If you're not slim—this sun-fashion does wonders for you! Curving halter neck—higher than usual in front—shapes your shoulders smoothly. Note princess lines—slimming to everyone especially short, fuller figures!

Pattern 4811: Half sizes 14 1/2, 16 1/2, 18 1/2, 20 1/2, 22 1/2, 24 1/2. Size 16 1/2 ensemble takes 4 1/2 yards 35-inch; 1 1/2 yards contrast fabric.

This pattern easy to use, simple to sew, is tested for fit. Has complete illustrated instructions.

Founder's Banquet Has Carnival Air

Celebration Staged by Beta Sigma Phi Chapters

It wasn't difficult to entice members and guests to come to the carnival which the chapters of Beta Sigma Phi planned for their Founder's Day banquet Wednesday evening at Hotel Waldron.

Miniature carousels centered each table and each of the 200 attending was given a miniature sack of popcorn as a favor. Colorfully dressed clowns also were used to add gaiety to the scene.

Myrtle Labbitt, radio commentator well-known for her ability to bring her listeners to tears and then turn them to laughter, spoke briefly on her trip to the Scandinavian countries.

Then Mrs. Labbitt presented a Swedish skit in which she played a Swedish maid in the home of the council president, Betty Giddings.

Mrs. Labbitt brought out many "secrets" of the sorority members as she gossiped over the telephone with an unknown friend.

Mrs. Labbitt was introduced by a chapter sponsor Mrs. Theodore Wiersma. Adah Shelly an honorary member, gave the invocation following the opening ritual.

A message from the founder, Walter Ross, was read by Mrs. Ralph Ellsworth, and the Founder's Day Pledge was read by Marilyn Main.

Pat Morris sang three vocal selections.

Chapter sponsors introduced were Miss Shelly, Mrs. Wiersma, Mrs. E. L. Sturdy, Mrs. M. A. Calbi, Mrs. Mabel Roat and Betty Perkins.

The new president of the City Council of Beta Sigma Phi, Lois McIntyre, was also introduced.

The chapters of the sorority are Zeta Lambda, Alpha Omega, Phi Zeta Theta Gamma Psi, Zeta Eta, Xi, and Epsilon Rho.

Bagley Hears Panel

A panel discussion about the primary plan was presented at a recent meeting of Bagley School PTA and another meeting stressed "Good Health Promotes Happiness" with speakers from the Oakland County Tuberculosis Association. A discussion was held on the polio vaccine program.

CARLENE LITTLE

Announcing the engagement of their daughter Carlene to Francis A. Thicks are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Little of North Saginaw street. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Thicks of Lapeer. No date has been set for the wedding.

U-M Alumnae Tour Kingswood

Mariam Goodale, headmistress Kingswood School Cranbrook, conducted members of the University of Michigan Alumnae Club on a tour of the school Tuesday afternoon.

After the tour, Miss Goodale showed pictures of activities and explained the work of the school. Mrs. T. E. Wiersma planned the day's program for the group.

Members who are planning to tour the University of Michigan campus on May 8 are asked to contact Mrs. Robert Tarr before Friday.

Mrs. Donald Brownell, Mrs. Wiersma and Mrs. Tarr will open their homes on Friday for the first in a series of benefit bridge parties planned to raise funds for the groups scholarship project.

PEO Entertained at Mrs. Vantine's

Mrs. E. E. Vantine of Pontiac Lake road opened her home Monday afternoon to members of PEO Sisterhood, Chapter CL. Twelve members and one guest were present.

Mrs. Charles Buck presided at the business meeting. Reports from the state convention held last week in East Lansing at Kellogg Hall were presented by the delegates. Mrs. Buck and Mrs. W. Henry Sink.

In Hanging Mirrors—Do It Right

TOLEDO, Ohio (INS) — With mirrors making a strong bid for the spotlight in the home decor—learn more about the right ways to hang them, homemakers should hang and maintain them for maximum benefit and pleasure through the years.

Like any other do-it-yourself chore, there are wrong and right ways to perform the task, here are some "right" tips for hanging decorative mirrors.

1. If mirror weighs less than 35 pounds, use a double strand of twisted picture wire and suspend it from two wall brackets, placed three to five inches apart to prevent seesawing. Be sure hangers and wires are completely concealed.

2. If mirror weighs more than 35 pounds, suspend it by wire loops from brackets the same distance apart as hangers on mirror. Many of the better polished plate glass mirrors found in retail outlets have special adjustable hangers which eliminate wires, enabling you to "level" the mirror accurately without taking it down from the wall.

3. Hang a square or rectangular mirror parallel to the wall. A shaped mirror may be hung at a slight angle. Suspend all mirrors from picture-type brackets (nail at angle) that are rated to hold twice the mirror's weight (four pounds a square foot).

Blue Star Makes Convention Plans

Plans for the state convention to be held June 6 through 9 in Hotel Detroit were made when Blue Star Mothers Chapter Four met Tuesday in the YMCA.

Mrs. George Leininger is delegate and Mrs. Wilbert Fitzthomas is alternate. Mrs. Harold Leininger was welcomed as a new member. Several donations were made by the group.

Ready to Leave for Bridge Club When Visitors Arrived

By EMILY POST

A reader explains: "My husband's sister and brother-in-law who live in an adjoining town, dropped in to see us the other evening. When they arrived I had my hat on and was just getting ready to leave for my regular bridge club meeting."

"After greeting them, I said that I had to leave and excused myself, and left them to visit with my husband."

"I understand that they left soon afterwards — my sister-in-law in quite a huff at my having walked out on them. She thinks that I owe her an apology. Will you please give your opinion?"

Answer: If the bridge club was counting on you, you couldn't possibly have stayed home. Your sister-in-law certainly should have understood. Furthermore, being left with her brother could hardly have been other than a happy situation.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me how to prevent the guests from leaving the church immediately after the ceremony, before the families do?

I've seen this happen so often at weddings and it has always annoyed me, and now that I am going to be married myself I would like to know what to do to prevent this.

Answer: This can be prevented by running ribbons in front of the pews.

Just before the processional is ready to start, have two ushers run ribbons up the length of the pews and fasten them securely to keep the people from going out into the aisle as you describe, and do not remove them until after the recessional. "Ribbons" can be white tape.

Dear Mrs. Post: Should a girl, when meeting a boy on the street, or while passing in the halls at school, say "Hello" first, or is it the boy's duty to say "Hello" to her?

Answer: According to the rules of etiquette, the girl should speak to the boy first.

But in this present day, standing upon any such formalities would be as absurd as for the younger teenagers to call each other "Miss" or "Mister."

Blues on the green are emphasized this week, National Slacks Week. Both ensembles pictured put emphasis on blue. The walking shorts on the left are made from linen-like rayon in medium blue and are worn with a blue and white checked shirt and navy blue knee socks. The full-length slacks on the right are a cool dacron combination in medium blue. They are worn with an off-white sports coat. These fashions may be purchased locally.

Girl Should Steer Clear of Pal's Home

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: About a month ago I met a boy—he was my first boy friend. I tried to make a big impression and I succeeded. Now I realize, after getting to know him better, that he is dull, a complete bore, and he can't do anything, especially sports."

"He introduced me to a friend of his who is crazy about me, too. But I don't like him, either. The trouble is that they live across the street from my best girl friend."

"I want to break up with them both without having to explain why and still stay friendly with both boys. But how?"

In one long month you've completely explored the personalities and dispositions of both boys and have concluded that you aren't interested. That they bore you is your fault, you know, not theirs. You just don't choose to be amused, that's all.

And since you aren't entertained by their wit and charm, you'd better choose not to hang around your girl friend's house. The easiest way to avoid the whole confusion is to steer clear of seeing those boys.

They apparently don't plow around to your house often—you see them when you're over at your friend's. So insist for a while that she come to your home—without explaining why—even to her. Ask no questions about those two particular boys—pretend they don't even exist.

And busy yourself with making some new boys friends. You tried once to make a big impression and succeeded even better than you hoped. Give it another whirl and see if you come out with a boy friend who will really please you.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been going with Pat for three months now and we've been very close. He has always asked me to everything and vice versa."

"But at a recent party I met a boy whom I like very much. He asked me to a show and I'd really like to go. But I haven't yet said I would because, though Pat and I aren't going steady, I'm afraid it would hurt him."

"I don't really like Pat enough to be just his girl. But I don't want to hurt him. Yet I think I want to break off with him. So what shall I do?"

Though Pat has never said so in so many words, he considers you his steady girl. And until you meet this beautiful stranger at the party, you considered him your best boy friend—only boy friend, in fact. You don't have to agree to go steady—not when you do it without talking about it. So, tempted as you are, you aren't free to accept invitations from other boys.

And close as you have been to Pat, it seems senseless to break things off in the hope that this new boy will turn into a real boy friend. You're nothing to go on to convince you that you'd really be close friends.

Having a date with him amounts really to having a night off. And if that would hurt Pat too deeply it's not worth it. Have some real substance in a new relationship before you call off a tried and true one.

Patched-Up Plaster Apt to Be Rough

Try Cobb Method to Conceal Cracks Inconspicuously

By HUBBARD COBB

Lots of people have gone to work to patch a crack in a plaster wall or ceiling and have ended up with a surface so rough that even when coated with several layers of paint it looks almost as bad as did the crack.

This sort of thing goes under the general heading of "heart-breaking." Next time you have a crack in plaster that needs filling, try this method.

Cut out the crack, cut back the edges of the surrounding plaster and after you have cleaned out the opening and dampened the edges of the opening, apply the patching plaster.

Pack it in nice and tight but don't bring it flush with the surrounding surface — let it come just a fraction of an inch below. When the patching plaster is dry, mix up some spackle and apply this right over the patch with a broad putty knife. Use enough spackle so that it comes just a little above the surrounding plaster. Smooth it off as well as you can.

Allow this to dry and then go after it with some sandpaper. Carefully sand down the surface of the spackle so that it is both smooth and flush with the rest of the wall surface.

Dust the area clean and then apply a prime coat of paint. This should be pretty this.

Apply another coat after this and when it's dry, apply the finish coat. If you have taken care to sand down the spackle carefully you should end up with a patch that is inconspicuous.

Metropolitan Group Welcomes Member

Mrs. Joseph Chappell was welcomed as a new member by the Ladies Auxiliary to Metropolitan Club Spirit Six Tuesday.

The group met in the clubrooms on South Perry street and luncheon was served by Mrs. John Wilson and Mrs. Charles Hazzard. Mrs. John DePauw had charge of games.

The 20th anniversary dinner was announced for May 25 at Old Mill Tavern. Guests for the meeting were Mrs. Glen Huff and Mrs. George Hermyan.

Michigan PTA Elects President

SAGINAW (UP)—Mrs. Fred L. Keeler of Grand Rapids was elected president of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers (PTA) today.

She was nominated without opposition to the PTA presidency last night.

Mrs. Kenneth Otto of Jackson was nominated without opposition to be director of district service. Other nominations included:

Vice president, Mrs. Charles W. Neldrett, Pontiac, and Mrs. Joseph Slezak, Bay City.

Secretary, Mrs. Lynn K. Forks, Kalamazoo, and Mrs. Lytle P. Colvin, Detroit.

Guppy Earrings Shock ASPCA

NEW YORK (UP)—An exclusive Fifth avenue department store delighted the fashion world and appalled the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals recently when it began selling earrings containing guppies.

Informing that putting fish in earrings might be an act of cruelty, the store now sells the earrings minus the guppies and customers head for the nearest pet shop to fill their own dangling aquariums.

WCTU Federation Planning Breakfast

The annual May Breakfast of the Pontiac Federation of WCTU will be held May 4 at Central Methodist Church, with breakfast beginning at 11 a.m.

Mrs. John J. Little, spiritual life director, will have charge of devotions, and Mrs. Victor Lindquist will be soloist.

Mrs. Helen W. Gould, who has spent several years as a missionary in China, will be the guest speaker.

Reservations must be made by Friday.

Further information may be secured by calling Mrs. Ray Fleming on Cottage Street.

Club Dinner-Dance Will Be Saturday

The annual formal dinner-dance sponsored by Oakland Hills Country Club will be held Saturday beginning with cocktails at 8 o'clock.

Dancing for the affair, which opens the club's social season, will begin at 9 p.m. and end at 2 a.m. Strolling musicians will furnish entertainment during the cocktail hour. Charles H. Smith, chairman of entertainment, may be contacted for further information.

Try New Tricks With Baby Food

LUNCHEON FOR TWO—With National Baby Week coming up May 1-8 this year, we present luncheon for mother and baby, using the popular, time-saving canned baby foods. To leftover portions

Leftovers Make Lunch for Mom

Even Dad Will Howl for More if Baby's Food Is Spiced for Adults

Baby is King, at least for the week of May 1-8. Back in 1949 Baby Week and Noise Abatement Week were in collision. No one could decide whether coincidence or collusion was responsible for the overlapping dates.

Noise abaters weren't even admitted to the nurseries, where in keeping with tradition, baby's own week was a howling success. The NAW forces retreated to the seclusion of a separate week.

Your baby will do more smiling than howling when he sees the array of canned baby foods that are available in today's stores. Feed Junior and have your own lunch out of the same cans.

The strained fruits are delicious "as is," or heated and spooned over hot French toast, or served as a sauce over custards and puddings.

Add seasonings to meats for tasty French-toasted sandwiches; fruits combined with beaten egg white or cream for quick dessert whips.

Strained and junior vegetables may be spiced and served as a vegetable or added to soups or gravies. A dash of nutmeg adds the gourmet touch to baby's spinach. Minced onion sparks peas or green beans to welcome adult fare.

Chopped or dried mint combines readily with carrots. Squash teams with nutmeg, ginger, butter and a generous sprinkling of salt and pepper for more good eating.

Use the baby food meats for sandwiches fillings, fillings for stuffed baked potatoes, meat custards, with creamed vegetables, for example. There are many ways to use up the leftovers for mother's lunch—quick, good to eat, nutritious too.

Shy About Making Bread? Then Try Batter Method

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

A few weeks ago we talked about making homemade bread. I hope many of you have tried your hand at it and have found out what fun it is. To you and to those timid souls who shy away from kneading bread we now present the Batter Method.

Batter breads have a higher proportion of liquid to flour than do regular yeast breads. There is no necessity to knead or to shape the doughs. Batters rise only once; either in the mixing bowl or in the baking pan. This saves you time and work.

Batter bread must be beaten for a short time, either with a wooden spoon or with your mixer. If you use the mixer, use it for beating in only half the flour; stir in the rest. This will eliminate having the dough "climb" the beaters.

Batter method dough looks different from regular dough when it has doubled in bulk. The top looks moist and somewhat rough with small bubbles just under the surface. Because they are softer than doughs these batters take on the shape of the baking pan, making them ideal breads to bake in a mold.

Be sure to follow directions exactly. If you do, you will have a delicious hot bread, casserole bread or waffles. Why not try one of these recipes today?

Raisin Casserole Bread
1/2 cup hot water
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup warm water
2 packages dry yeast
1 egg, beaten
3/4 cups sifted enriched flour
1 cup seedling raisins

Mix together the hot water, sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast into the warm water in a bowl. Stir until dissolved.

Stir in cooled mixture. Add egg, flour and raisins. Stir until well blended, about 2 minutes. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, about 50 minutes or until more than doubled in bulk. Stir down. Beat vigorously about 1/2 minute. Turn into greased 1 1/2 quart casserole.

Bake uncovered in hot oven at 400 degrees for about 45 minutes. Do not be alarmed if casserole bread seems to rise to great heights while baking; this is normal. Makes 1 loaf.

Have you ever tried yeast raised waffles? Now's your chance.

Whole Wheat Waffles
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup honey
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
1/2 cup warm water
1 package dry yeast
2 eggs, beaten
3 cups whole wheat flour

Scald the milk, stir in honey, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast into warm water in a bowl. Stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture. Add eggs, and flour. Beat until smooth. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 40 minutes. Stir batter down.

Bake in waffle iron at medium heat until golden brown, about 8 minutes. Makes 5 large waffles.

Meat and Egg Dish for Breakfast, Lunch

Try this easy-to-prepare meat and egg dish for leisurely Sunday brunch or daily luncheon. Right for grown-ups and juniors.

Eggs With Liver and Bacon
2 eggs
1/2 tablespoons evaporated milk
1/2 tablespoons evaporated milk or cream
1 can junior (chopped) liver and bacon
Salt
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Beat eggs. Add milk or cream, chopped liver and bacon and salt. Melt butter or margarine in small frying-pan. Pour mixture into pan and cook over low heat, stirring until consistency is creamy. Serve at once, garnished with red jelly or parsley. Serves 2.

Orange Sponge Cups Prove Taste-Tingling

An easy but taste-tingling dessert is Orange Sponge Cups. It features quick-frozen orange juice concentrate to give it an orchard-fresh orange flavor. Mark this down as a subtle way of getting more precious vitamin C into your family's diet.

Orange Sponge Cups
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup sugar
2 egg yolks, unbeaten
1/2 cup quick-frozen orange juice concentrate 2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
2 egg whites

Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream thoroughly. Add egg yolks and beat well. Add concentrated orange juice, then flour. Add milk gradually, blending well. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry, and fold into orange mixture. Turn into greased custard cups. Place custard cups in pan of hot water and bake in 375 oven, 35 minutes. When done, top will be sponge and bottom will be custard. Chill. Unmold, if desired. Serve plain or with whipped cream. Makes 5 servings.

Combine Savory Soups With Cheese, Crackers

All the kinds of savory hot soup plus cheese and crackers add up to mighty pleasant menu duets. Especially enjoyable is tomato soup and shredded-wheat crackers with sharp Cheddar cheese or smoked cheese.

Mushroom soup takes well to round butter-type crackers spread with blue cheese or cream cheese. Complete the repast with tart fruit like grapefruit or perhaps pears.

Children Will Like Unusual Custard

The children will beg for more when you serve this delicious custard. It is good for them too, as it contains plenty of milk and eggs, both essential to growing children.

Luncheon Custard
1 1/2 cups milk, scalded
3 crumbled, graham crackers
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons sugar
Dash of salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
8 quartered marshmallows

Pour milk over cracker crumbs. Stir in combined eggs, sugar, salt and vanilla. Fold in marshmallows.

Pour into 6 custard cups. Place in shallow pan with 1-inch hot water around cups. Bake in 325 oven, 45 minutes or until a silver knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serves 6.

Try to revive them before discarding wilted vegetables. They may respond nicely to a soaking in cold water.

Chives Enrich Meals

You can enliven meals no end if you have chives growing in a pot on your kitchen window. Chop and add them to baked stuffed or mashed potatoes; sprinkle them into a green salad or over cream of tomato soup; scatter them lavishly over a cube steak that's going into a lunch or supper sandwich.

Meal in Itself: Asparagus Tips

Tender green asparagus tips bring spring to the table. Well-cooked and well-seasoned, asparagus can be a main dish of a meal that is as good as a tonic.

Plain asparagus with melted butter or margarine poured over it is always a noble vegetable to serve with any meat. But for a meal in itself, top this same hot asparagus generously with bread crumbs. Garnish with parsley, margarine. Pile some grated cheese on the crumbs, pass extra cheese, and serve with hot rolls or crisp corn sticks.

Any kind of cheese is good with asparagus, but grated Parmesan or aged cheddar are popular favorites.

Allow a half pound of fresh asparagus for each serving. Cut or break off the ends. Wash well in cold water, removing the little scales to make sure they conceal no sand or soil. Tie the stalks loosely together with twine, if desired.

Set the bundles, stem down, into a deep saucepan containing just enough boiling water to come up an inch or an inch and a half on the stalks. Add a teaspoon of salt. Cover and cook 8 to 10 minutes, depending on the thickness of the stalks. The tops cook in the steam from the boiling water, without over-cooking.

Asparagus de Luxe
2 pounds fresh asparagus or 2 packages frozen asparagus spears
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup melted margarine or butter
1 cup bread crumbs
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Cook cleaned asparagus in boiling water with salt until just tender, 10 to 15 minutes. While asparagus cooks, melt margarine or butter in saucepan. Toss crumbs in pan, stirring lightly with fork to coat them.

When asparagus is done, lift stalks carefully from water. Arrange on hot platter. Spoon browned crumbs over asparagus, and top with grated cheese. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Grated or shredded cheddar cheese or any other favorite kind may be used instead of Parmesan.

Babies Smack Lips Over Foods of Yellow Color

Foods colored yellow were regarded as luxurious eating in Roman times. Not content with getting it naturally, Roman gourmets ordered foods colored with saffron, a costly product even in those days.

Hosts in the lower income brackets had to achieve their color effects at the dinner table by using marigold or false saffron. Modern babies too respond to yellow foods. Today, however, modern agricultural and laboratory science have taken a hand in developing color by encouraging varieties and seeds that produce the wanted golden shades.

Even small babies smack their lips over strained carrots and soon learn to "pass their plates again" for deep golden treats like strained sweet potatoes, squash, peaches, apricots with farina.

Pondering the vitamin-A dividends in these sunny foods, a nutritionist said dreamily: "Imagine a new generation growing up that will know and like squash."

Heat a lemon before squeezing to obtain almost twice the usual amount of juice. This can be done by dropping it in hot water.

ASPARAGUS DE LUXE—Fresh asparagus, always a sign of spring, becomes a meal in itself with a generous topping of bread crumbs and grated cheese. Use butter or margarine in which to brown the crumbs. Garnish with parsley.

Canned Corn Is Plentiful: Give It Glamor Treatment

Canned corn is plentiful this spring—so give this popular vegetable the glamor treatment for family meals. Here are three ways to dress it up: any one of them will taste delicious with hamburgers, baked potatoes and a salad on a night when you want a quick supper.

Note, too, that you can use either whole kernel or cream style corn in these recipes.

Poppy Corn
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium green pepper (sliced in rings)
1/2 pound can yellow or white whole kernel corn
1/2 cup catchup or chili sauce
1/4 teaspoon tabasco sauce

Melt butter; add pepper rings and cook until partly tender. Drain corn; add liquid to pepper and boil rapidly until reduced to 1/4 cup. Add corn, catchup or chili sauce and tabasco; heat to serving temperature. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

If yellow or white cream style corn is used, add corn and remaining ingredients to cooked green pepper, heat.

Nutmeg Buttered Corn
1 1/2-pound can yellow or white whole kernel corn
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
Drain corn; boil liquid rapidly until reduced to 1/4 cup. Add corn, butter and nutmeg; heat to serving temperature. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

If yellow or white cream style corn is used, mix all ingredients; heat.

Chili Corn
4 slices bacon
1 1/2-pound can yellow or white whole kernel corn
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon chili powder

Fry bacon until crisp; crumble and reserve. Pour off drippings. Drain corn; add liquid with onion to skillet. Boil rapidly until liquid is reduced to 1/4 cup. Add corn, butter, chili powder and reserved bacon; heat to serving temperature. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

If yellow or white cream style corn is used, cook onion in 2 tablespoons butter.

Crispy Melba Toast
Made in Slow Oven

You can make your own melba toast, so popular among weight-watchers.

Use bread that's several days old and cut it into very thin slices spread it out on an ungreased baking sheet and put it into a slow oven until it is light brown. Turn the slices over, during the baking, to insure even browning.

New for Breakfast: Cheese Pancakes

Give the family a break! Serve this new morning menu.

Cheese Pancakes With Poached Eggs
2 cups pancake mix
3/4 cup milk
1/4 cup grated American cheese
Poached eggs

Add milk to pancake mix all at once; stir lightly. (Somewhat lumpy batter makes light fluffy pancakes out of a ready-mix.) Stir in grated cheese.

Pour 1/4 cup batter for each pancake onto a hot lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once. Top each stack of 3 pancakes with a poached egg. Makes 14 to 16 pancakes.

Point Up Fruit Flavor

Play up the taste of baked apple by pouring over it apple juice and cream mixed half and half. This blend is good, too, added to sliced bananas.

Lemon-Raisin Bars Have Luscious Icing

Lemon Raisin Bars
3 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup light molasses
2 tablespoons grated lemon rind

3 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup seedless raisins
1/2 cup chopped pecans
Lemon frosting:
Sift together flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice, ginger and cloves.
Cream shortening and sugar; beat in molasses, lemon peel and juice, and egg. Stir in sifted dry ingredients, raisins and nuts.
Spread in greased baking pan (about 15 by 10 by 1 inches), smoothing top carefully. Bake in 375 oven 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool slightly.
Mark into bars about 3 by 2 inches. Spread with Lemon Frosting. Cool completely and cut into squares.

Lemon Frosting
Blend 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar with 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon vanilla and enough milk (about 3 tablespoons) to make thin spreading consistency. Beat in 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind.
For the best-tasting toast, buy day old bread. Works out better than very fresh bread. And it's just as nourishing.

AMERICA'S LARGEST SELLING SUGARS

OLD COUNTRY BORSCH—We all know and love the whole-meal beef and vegetable soup of our own tradition. This continental version makes use of different vegetables and seasonings and is served with sour cream. Serve also with lots of crisp crackers.

Borsch Served Country Style

Borsch (or Borscht) may be applied to a soup, originally of Russia, Poland and Balkan countries, made of beets, water, onions, spareribs, lemon juice, and cream (Polish method).

It is served either hot or cold, although this particular recipe serves the soup hot.

Old Country Borsch

2 1/2 pounds soup meat
Soup bones
1 bunch beets, cleaned and quartered
1 large onion
1 can tomato paste
2 cloves garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
2 to 3 tablespoons salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 quarts water
3 pounds cabbage, quartered

Combine all ingredients, except cabbage, in large pot. Cover and simmer slowly for two hours or until meat is tender. Put cabbage wedges on top and simmer about another hour until cabbage is done.

Serve with sour cream and crisp crackers. Makes about 10 servings. If there's any left, it's just as delicious reheated for another meal.

Tradition Says Pineapple Is Symbol of Friendship

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Pineapples are not native to Hawaii! But they are American. In fact, they are one of the foods that the Americans have given the world.

Columbus discovered pineapple growing in the West Indies on his second voyage.

The Spaniards named this unusual fruit because of its resemblance to a giant pine cone. They made an interesting discovery about the native use of the pineapple. If an Indian had had pineapples or Mrs. ODELL, pineapple tops placed beside the entrance, the Spaniards would be welcomed. This idea of the pineapple symbol of friendship intrigued the romantic-minded ones who carried it home to Spain.

As did many other customs, this one spread to Britain from whence the colonists brought it back to America, to Virginia and New England.

Those of you who know antique furniture are well acquainted with the frequent use of the pineapple in decoration. It has become a conventionalized symbol of hospitality.

As no one knows exactly how or where the pineapple originated in Central or South America, so no one knows how it arrived in Hawaii. Historians do know it was brought into the islands because part of its name in the Hawaiian tongue means, "foreign land". Pineapples took to the soil and climate of Hawaii and soon were flourishing wild. Early settlers shipped them to America during the gold rush days, although they did not withstand the voyage well.

By 1892 a canning factory was in operation, and the spoilage problem was licked. A young Bostonian planted the first commercial plantation in 1901, a plantation that has grown to 25,000 acres today.

Most of the pineapples we buy today come from Hawaii, Cuba, Mexico and Puerto Rico; there are a few grown in Florida. All of this fruit must be picked in the green stage so that it will not spoil before reaching our kitchens.

Those who have eaten pineapple fresh from the field, that is plant-ripened fruit, say we do not know the true deliciousness of this golden fruit.

When buying pineapple, here are a few tips to remember: Size has little to do with flavor. Square shouldered fruits are more economical than long tapering ones.

Color and fragrance determine quality. Heavy weight in proportion to size and leaves that pull out easily are important.

The uses of fresh pineapples are endless. Its flavor combines well with many meats and fish; it can be a breakfast fruit, luncheon salad or dinner dessert.

The only thing it will not do in the fresh or frozen state is to mix with gelatin. It contains an enzyme which destroys gelatin; be sure to heat the fruit or the juice before adding it to gelatin.

One remarkable use to which we never expect to put pineapple is the one developed by several savage tribes. When pineapple has decayed it develops a deadly poison which is used for poisoning arrows.

Bake Vegetables in Tomato Sauce

You'll like this interesting, easy and new way of preparing vegetables.

Mixed Vegetables in Tomato Sauce

1 10-ounce package mixed quick-frozen vegetables
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon dried crushed basil
1/2 teaspoon butter or margarine

Allow vegetables to thaw; place in 1-quart casserole. Add tomato sauce, salt, sugar, basil and pepper to taste; stir well. Dot with butter.

Cover tightly; bake in moderate 350 degree oven 35 to 40 minutes; at end of first 20 minutes stir well. Serve at once. Makes 4 generous servings.

Delectable Rice Dessert Originated in Philippines

This luscious dessert originated in the Philippine Islands. Fresh coconut is used when it is made in those South Pacific Islands and even the coconut milk is used, but most of us will find the "in the box or can" coconut more convenient.

You will surprise everyone when you serve this dessert because it looks terrifically tempting and is even better than it looks. And you will be surprised to find it is so easy to make this special tasting and different South Pacific Dessert.

South Pacific Dessert

1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup milk
1 cup coconut rice
1 cup toasted coconut

To make 3 heaping cups of fluffy, white, perfectly cooked rice:

1. Put 1 cup uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.
2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid nor stir while it is cooking.
3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is now ready to use.

For extra fluffy, tender, separate grains allow the rice to steam for an additional 10 minutes—with heat off, but without removing the lid.

In a skillet or large saucepan, cook together the brown sugar, butter or margarine and milk. Cook, stirring often, until thick, about 30 minutes. Remove 1/2 cup of the mixture.

Add the rice to the rest of the mixture. Mix together thoroughly. Turn rice mixture onto a large platter. Shape into a round cake about 1 1/2 inches thick.

"Ice" the rice cake with the 1/2 cup of brown sugar mixture and sprinkle with the toasted coconut. To toast the coconut, spread it over a pan and place in a 300 degree oven until a golden brown. Cut the cake into wedges and serve as a dessert, immediately or when cooled. This recipe makes six servings.

Try combining mashed potatoes with mashed yellow turnips for a delicious flavor change.

OMELET BE-DEVILED—Deviled ham and tomatoes combine to give a perky taste and added nourishment to a favorite snack dish—eggs, omelet fashion. This dish makes an excellent lunch or supper standby; as a brunch dish it would be a stand-out.

Be-Deville Omelet Is Sure to Bewitch Entire Family

When is an omelet not an omelet? When it's be-deviled!

It's really not a question of witchcraft, though, just a wonderful deviled ham idea for a variation on a popular theme for that odd-hour meal. Always a ready standby for any snack—whether it be an emergency or just a fill-in—are eggs, omelet-fashion.

Now to toast even that favorite, add a can of deviled ham to tomatoes and build your omelet around that combination.

The scintillating deviled ham will add just the right perky taste to the eggs and add even more nourishment to the snack.

More and more women are discovering more and more ways to use deviled ham—always a sandwich spread faithful—to glamorize meals. Plain and economical macaroni, potato, vegetable casseroles can be lifted up from the doldrums of unappetizing fare when you mix in deviled ham.

It's the rare blending of spices in the ham that gives that full-bodied taste and extends the flavors in food.

Deviled Tomato Omelet

3 eggs
1 tablespoon cold water
Salt and pepper to taste
1 tablespoon butter
1 ripe tomato, peeled
1 can (2 1/2 ounces) deviled ham

Lightly beat eggs with tablespoon water and season to taste. Melt butter in small skillet and as soon as it begins to sizzle and smoke, pour in eggs. Stir briskly around pan with fork.

Have ready peeled tomato sliced or chopped in small pieces and mixed with deviled ham. Dot or spread over eggs in pan. Fold over, or roll up, omelet immediately and slide onto hot plate. Makes 2 servings.

Toast Filbert Nuts in Very Slow Oven

Ever feel uncertain about just how to toast filberts when a recipe calls for them in this form? Here's how to do it:

Put the shelled nuts in a shallow pan in a 250 oven and heat them for 15 to 20 minutes. After this you'll find you can loosen the nuts' brown skin by rubbing them briskly.

Frozen Waffles Extra Delicious With Fruit Sauce

Frozen waffles are good eating. They may be used as the piece de resistance for breakfast or an evening snack. They can serve in place of toast or biscuits under creamed ham and eggs.

Frozen waffles may be heated in your toaster until they are hot and crisp. But if you are serving a crowd, use the broiler so you can heat a good many at one time.

To get best results, remove the waffles from the freezer and leave them at room temperature for 10 minutes before placing them in the toaster or under the broiler.

If your toaster is non-automatic, toast the waffles 1 to 1 1/2 minutes on each side. In the broiler, pre-heat to very hot; place waffles on the broiling rack, about two inches from the heat; toast a little over a minute on each side.

This good maple-fruit sauce is delicious on waffles. Prepare the orange sections and drain the pineapple the night before—put them together in a covered container and refrigerate.

In the morning it will take only minutes to finish this delicious topping. We think it would be equally good on ice cream.

Maple Fruit Sauce

1 cup maple-blended syrup
1/2 cup drained canned crushed pineapple
1/2 cup sliced orange sections
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Heat syrup to boiling. Add pineapple, oranges and lemon rind. Makes 1 1/2 cups. Serve warm on heated frozen waffles.

Prunes, Raisins Supply Extra Minerals, Vitamins

Prunes and raisins supply so many needed minerals and vitamins that they should be used in family menus often.

Add them to cereal for breakfast, use them in salads for lunch or supper, and put them into sauces to serve over cakes, puddings or custards.

Core Peppers, Tomatoes With Grapefruit Knife

A curved-blade grapefruit knife may, of course, be used for loosening grapefruit segments from the rind.

You'll also find it handy when you are removing seed pods from green peppers and the stem cores from fresh tomatoes.

CHEESE TOPPED CEREAL SLICES—When you taste these Broiled Cereal Slices with Cheese Topping, you know that you're going to make them often. A few minutes in the broiler and you turn out golden brown and cheese crusted slices of cereal, brimful of whole wheat flavor and nutrients.

Cheese 'n' Cereal Slices Cut High Cost of Eating

If you're looking for an idea to smooth the high-cost-of-eating wrinkles from your brow and put a little life in the budget, lend an ear.

We've an idea that will cut corners on cost without taking any nips at appetite appeal or nourishment. And, as anybody who attempts to practice the virtue of thrift knows, that's a star-spangled accomplishment.

The idea is this: serve Broiled Cereal Slices with Cheese Topping as the main dish for lunch or dinner. You start with cooked instant or regular whole wheat cereal, the kind with extra wheat germ added.

This is the kind of cereal that can replace more expensive meat because, being whole wheat, it provides some of the protein, minerals and vitamins also supplied by meat.

Equally important, it provides good whole-grain flavor that keeps the family coming back for more.

Easy to make? Of course. Just pour the cooked cereal into a shallow baking dish and allow to chill. Then cut into triangles, top with cheese slices cut to fit and pop the baking dish into the broiler.

In just a few minutes, you turn out golden-brown and cheese-crusted slices that make your taste buds tingle just to look at them. And when you taste these cereal slices, you'll know you're going to make them often.

Cereal Slices With Cheese

3 cups milk or water
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup uncooked instant or 1/2 cup uncooked regular whole wheat cereal
6 slices American cheese (3 1/2-inch squares)

Heat milk or water and salt, to boiling in a 5-cup saucepan. Stir in instant or regular whole wheat cereal so slowly boiling does not stop. With the instant cereal, boil and stir 10 seconds, let stand 5 minutes, and then stir. With the

Do You Throw Away Valuable Vitamins?

Homemakers often throw away valuable vitamins with the peelings of food. Fresh carrots need only scrubbing and potatoes may be cooked with "jackets on," points out Lucile Decker, nutritionist at Michigan State College.

You're missing a good bet, too, if you don't realize that foods which can be eaten raw—should be.

Sugar Doughnuts

It's a simple matter to sugar plain doughnuts. Just place them in a paper bag with powdered sugar and shake well.

Roll Frying Chicken in Proportioned Mixture

If you are frying a small chicken and want to mix up some seasoned flour to roll it in before it goes into the skillet, remember these proportions: 1/4 cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Some good cooks also like to add 1/4 teaspoon paprika to the seasoned flour mixture.

A three pound porterhouse steak, about an inch and a half thick, will make three good portions.

Cottage Cheese on Fruit Good Dessert for Dieter

Are you on a low calorie diet? Here's an idea for satisfying that craving for something sweet at the end of a meal without "falling from grace." Spread your 1/4 cup allowance of cottage cheese on slices of raw apple for dessert, combining protein with mineral. It's a good filler-upper, considering that you use up only 120 calories.

Avoid scratching the bottom of your iron; don't press over buttons and snaps.

Pineapple Shell Holds Lobster

For real party elegance serve lobster salad in a hollowed out pineapple shell. This is the best time of the year to serve this fresh fruit, so take advantage of it. Canned rock lobster, of course, is available in any season.

Hilo Lobster Salad

3 1/2 cups canned rock lobster (3 cups)
1 1/2 cups fresh pineapple wedges
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup ground black pepper
Dash ground cayenne pepper
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Lettuce

Place first 3 ingredients in a mixing bowl. Toss lightly. Serve on beds of crisp lettuce. If desired, serve this salad from fresh pineapple shells. Yield: 6 servings.

Guests Will Enjoy Oven-Hof Canapes

NEW YORK (UP) — Hot canapes are welcome additions to winter gatherings. This appetizer, using deviled ham, is one to bring compliments from the guests.

Blend together a 3/4 ounce can deviled ham, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon powdered dry mustard, and 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper.

Combine 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour and 1 teaspoon chili powder. Add 1/4 cup softened butter or margarine and a 3-ounce roll snappy cheddar cheese. Blend into small particles. Add 1 tablespoon water and toss until the mixture is dampened.

Form into a ball and roll into a rectangle about 14 by 5 inches. Spread thinly with deviled ham mixture, to 1/2 inch of edges. Roll up crosswise, as for a jelly roll.

Cut into 1/2 inch slices and bake on a lightly greased baking sheet 15 minutes, or until lightly browned in 425 oven. Yield, about two dozen.

Cut baking time for potatoes in half by letting them stand in boiling water for 15 minutes before you bake them in a hot oven.

HILO LOBSTER SALAD—Generous chunks of fresh pineapple and lobster, mixed with diced celery and a tangy dressing are the ingredients of delicious Hilo Lobster Salad. For party occasions serve it in the pineapple shells. The gelatin molds shown with the lobster salad are made of clear, tart tomato aspic.

Coffee Goes in Pudding; Also Served as Beverage

For all the prettiness and convenience of quick, light puddings, there are times when nothing takes place of a real, old-fashioned dessert. It may be that your main dish is a salad or a cold meat platter and you need a substantial dessert to "stick to the ribs."

It may be that your family sometimes reminds a solid, down-to-earth dessert. It may even be nostalgia. Whatever the cause, there's one old favorite of childhood memory that will always fill the bill — rice pudding.

Here, for just such occasions, is Coffee-Rice Pudding. A true old-timer, it's fixed in an extra special way—subtly flavored with coffee and spices, sprinkled with plump golden raisins, creamy smooth and altogether good! Best rice pudding we ever tasted, in fact.

To accompany this delectable and nutritious dish, there's nothing better than a potful of good hot coffee. That's one old-fashioned favorite that never changes (once, that is, you've learned to make it to perfection). Brew plenty, and serve it hot and strong, along with your Coffee-Rice Pudding.

Coffee-Rice Pudding

1 1/2 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
1 cup strong coffee
1 cup milk
1/2 cup seedless golden raisins
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
Nutmeg

Combine rice, coffee and 1 cup milk in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water until rice is tender and most of liquid absorbed (about 15 minutes). Stir in raisins and butter or margarine. Let stand, stirring occasionally, with a fork until butter is melted.

Meanwhile, combine eggs, sugar, vanilla, salt and remaining 2 cups milk. Mix well and add to mixture. Pour into greased 1 1/2 quart casserole and sprinkle with nutmeg. Set casserole in pan of warm water and bake in moderate oven 40 to 50 minutes or until knife inserted at outer edge of pudding comes out clean. Serve hot or cold, with plain cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Cabbage Holds Color if Cooked 7 Minutes

Fresh, green cabbage is available the year 'round from the bountiful producing areas of California and Arizona. Cooked properly, or eaten raw, it is one of the least expensive, good vegetable sources of Vitamin C.

Cabbage Smoothie

1 small head cabbage—4 cups shredded
1/2 cup evaporated milk
2 teaspoons salt
Pepper
1/2 cup grated cheese

Shred cabbage fine. Place in heavy pan. Add milk, butter and salt. Cover. Cook about 7 minutes or until cabbage is crispy-tender. Top with grated cheese. Replace cover to melt cheese. Do not stir. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Broil Ham With Apple

When you broil a ham slice, five minutes before it is done place canned apple slices in the broiler pan and brush with melted butter or margarine. Serve the ham slice flanked by the sizzling hot apple slices. Very good, indeed.

Served With Roquefort

Crisp slices of red apple, served with Roquefort and cream cheese blended together, make a fine dessert. A little mayonnaise may be added to the cheese, or use sweet or sour cream.

FROZEN TURKEY DINNER—Ideal for that busy day of the week is the new frozen turkey dinner. In a matter of minutes you can serve this complete meal of large slices of tender turkey

Wonderful Turkey Dinner Prepared in Half an Hour

Who would dare to dream of serving sliced roast turkey, dressing, rich turkey gravy, sweet potatoes and green peas with only a half hour to prepare it? For a ready-prepared dinner that is nourishing, tasty and at the same time requires a minimum of time to prepare, this is it.

A large poultry-processing company has recently introduced to the market, a full turkey dinner completely frozen, ready to heat and serve. If you feel leary about buying a "store bought" dinner, you've got a surprise in store for you. Let your "taster" be the judge of these ready-prepared turkey dinners.

Each 12-ounce individual dinner comes in a sectioned aluminum plate. The largest section contains thick slices of white and dark turkey meat. With the meat is a cornbread sage dressing with rich brown turkey gravy.

Another compartment holds tender green peas topped with a pat of creamery butter. The second vegetable in the plate is mashed sweet potatoes, delicately flavored with orange juice. The sweet potatoes too are topped with a thick pat of butter that melts as the dinner heats.

Each dinner is covered with heavy aluminum foil, and goes into a preheated hot oven that way. Bake at 450 degrees 20 to 25 minutes. When a number of dinners are cooked in the oven at one time, increase heating time about 5 minutes.

To keep the dinners completely hot, serve them covered with foil right from the oven. It will be fun for the family to unveil their own at the table.

Each package dinner furnishes a full meal for one person. But if your family always expects a dessert and salad here are two recipes you can prepare while the turkey dinners heat. This pie is luscious and the filling takes no cooking!

Cranberry Conserve Pie
1 baked 9-inch pastry shell
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 orange
1/2 cup fresh cranberries
1/4 cup chopped walnuts
1/4 cup confectioners' sugar
1/4 cup cream, whipped
1/4 cup confectioners' sugar

Carefully wash fruit. Grate orange rind and remove excess white membrane. Cut peeled orange and lemon in sections; remove seeds.

Grind cranberries, orange, and lemon using medium blade of food meat, both light and dark, cornbread dressing with rich giblet gravy and fluffy mashed potatoes and green peas with butter.

Candied Tart Shells Are New, Different

The wonderful thing about cooking with ready-sweetened cereals is that you're way ahead of the game when you start. It's easy to whip up a handsome dessert—like Chocolate Tart Shells—in a matter of minutes.

The recipe is brand-new for the very good reason that the principal ingredient, candy-coated puffed wheat, has been on the market for only a short time. Keep it in mind for that group that dares you to come up with something unprecedented.

Chocolate Tart Shells
1 cup (4 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
2 cups candy-coated puffed wheat cereal
Melt chocolate over hot but not boiling water. Add cereal and mix well. Press mixture into individual tart pans, shaping lightly into shells; set in cool place to harden.
Carefully remove from pans. Fill with a suitable filling such as a chilled pudding or ice cream. Serve at once. Yield: 6 tart shells.

Slice Roast Beef Thin

If you like a boneless lean cut of meat for pot roasting, use sirloin tip. When serving, cut the meat into as thin slices as possible. It will make fine open sandwiches with some of the gravy ladled over.

ROMAN CLEANSER BLEACH

Brazilian Coffee Brings Cheers

Among the Latin-American Republics, one of the favorite sweetmeats is a candy called Dolce de Leite. Sometimes, on the many occasions when "cafezinho" — tiny cups of fragrant black coffee—are being served, a platter of this popular candy takes the place of any other snack.

Let's take inspiration from South of the Border, Amigos! We give you Panocha a Cafe de Brazil—Brazilian Coffee Pinocha — a direct descendant of Dolce de Leite. We adapted the basic recipe to North American tastes. It's smooth, creamy, delicately coffee-flavored and as different as can be.

If you're the adventurous type, we suggest that you go all the way and serve it with black coffee, demi-tasse. But whether served with coffee black or coffee white, the Panocha a Cafe de Bra- zil will bring a "Bravo!" from the hardest-to-please candy fancier.

Panocha a Cafe de Brazil
1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1/2 cup strong coffee
1/2 teaspoon white corn syrup
1/2 teaspoon butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 cup chopped Brazil nuts

Combine sugar, coffee and corn syrup in saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, to 238 degrees, or until a little of the mixture dropped in cold water forms a soft ball. Remove from the heat, drop in butter (do not stir). Cool, without stirring, to 110 degrees, or until the candy is lukewarm. Add vanilla; beat with a spoon or electric beater at medium speed until the mixture loses its gloss, and a small amount dropped from a spoon will hold its shape. Stir in nuts; pour into lightly buttered 8x8x2-inch pan. When cold, cut into squares. Makes about 1 1/3 pounds.

Breakfast Suggestion

Breakfast for a bright spring morning: For a starter, a glass of chilled apple juice; then dry cereal with strawberries served with cream; toast and beverage.

Success Secrets to Give You Better Mashed Potatoes

WASHINGTON (INS)—Meat and potatoes means meat and mashed potatoes to a good many people, according to recent surveys, by the Department of Agriculture.

For those housewives who have trouble making good mashed potatoes, or feel it takes too long, the department has some suggestions: Begin with hot, freshly cooked, peeled potatoes. (Warmed-up, leftover potatoes won't do because they'll be too firm.) Be sure potatoes are not overcooked so that they are broken or "waterlogged" yet are cooked tender all the way through.

Hot tender cooked potatoes can be beaten up fast with an electric beater. Or use a handmasher.

The important point is to work fast and keep the potatoes hot. As you mash or beat, add hot milk gradually—enough to make the potatoes smooth and fluffy. Also add salt, pepper, and butter or margarine. If you have to transfer the potatoes from one container to another, have the containers hot.

Mashed just before serving and served piping hot, they'll be at their best.

Zestful Sauce Flavors Sprouts

Frozen brussels sprouts — a tempting vegetable with a fresh, distinctive flavor — a pleasing accent for your dinner menu. Next time you serve these miniature cabbages, try them with a "different" sauce.

It's a sauce seasoned to tangy goodness with a just right combination of sugar, vinegar and mustard. Thickened with an egg, it's as smooth as can be. And the delicate yellow color is especially pretty with the Brussels sprouts.

The flavor? The sprouts and sauce combination is a perfect team for succulence.

Brussels Sprouts With Zesty Sauce

1 package frozen Brussels sprouts
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon water
1 egg, beaten
1/2 teaspoon butter or margarine, melted
2 tablespoons milk

Cook Brussels sprouts according to directions on package. While vegetable is cooking make sauce by combining salt, mustard, sugar, vinegar, and water with beaten egg.

Add to melted butter or margarine and cook over low heat, stirring until smooth and thickened. Stir in milk until smooth. Serve over cooked, drained Brussels sprouts. Makes 3 servings.

AFTER SCHOOL TREAT—So easy to make envelopes. Set out a basketful of old-fashioned ginger snaps, and there's the solution to the "after school" snack problem.

Pork Chops Simmer in Mushroom Sauce

So simple to cook pork chops this way, and so good!

Pork Chops Piquant
4 rib pork chops (about 1/2-inch thick)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon finely minced onion
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon dried crushed oregano
1/2-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms
1 lemon (very thinly sliced)
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1/2 cup water

Trim most of fat away from around pork chops. Sprinkle salt in 10-inch iron skillet. Place over moderate heat until salt is very hot. Add pork chops and brown quickly—about 2 minutes for each side.

Sprinkle in onion, pepper and oregano. Add mushrooms, including liquid in can. Place lemon slices over chops and cover skillet tightly with aluminum foil.

Lower heat and simmer until chops are cooked through—about 30 minutes. Discard lemon slices. Mix cornstarch with cold water until smooth; add to skillet; stir sauce constantly until thickened. Makes 4 servings.

Don't Use Cold Eggs to Make Sponge Cake

Here's a tip for making sponge cake: Remove the eggs from the refrigerator several hours before you plan to start baking.

If the eggs are room temperature, rather than very cold, they will beat lighter and therefore help make your cake finer.

Animal Proteins Essential to Mental, Physical Health

Our everyday practice of serving eggs on toast, or milk with cereal is more than a matter of good taste. This example of practical nutrition, based on supplementing cereals with animal proteins, has received new supporting evidence from the studies by Dr. William C. Rose and his associates, at the University of Illinois.

This group has succeeded in identifying the human needs for amino acids, the basic units (some twenty in number) that link together to form proteins. While some amino acids can be made in the body, others, called essential amino acids, must be supplied in the food we eat.

Unless each one is provided, the body begins to lose protein within one to two days.

Careful feeding tests have made it clear that, to avoid a

Balky Child Sure to Like Cool, Foamy Milk Shake

If mothers were asked to select one food item synonymous with childhood and growing youngsters, it would, undoubtedly, be milk. Good old Bess, the family cow, has been replaced by the uniformed milkman in nearly every location except those spots that remain rural. But whether milk is brought in by the pailful or arrives in capped bottles, it is still a must in the diet of every child.

One milky way to a child's tummy is through delicious, foamy milk shakes, using a powdered dessert mix packed by a well-known tea company. This mix, available in both vanilla and chocolate flavors, comes in handy envelopes that can be stocked in the cupboard without taking up much space.

These frosty milk shakes are easy to fix: 2 tablespoons of the dessert mix stirred briskly into an 8-ounce glass of milk, and there it is! No egg beaters, no electric mixers necessary. A shaker will do the job as well, but even that is not essential.

Best of all, not only is this an almost guaranteed way to get children to drink more milk, but these frosty milk shakes contain 50 per cent more energy than plain milk, a real boon to busy little systems.

No other food is so rich in calcium as milk, yet nutritionists tell us that calcium is the nutrient most deficient in American diets. Milk is abundant in calcium and protein deficiency, all the essential amino acids must be given at one time. Since animal proteins usually contain all the essential amino acids, they are especially useful in supplementing the vegetable and cereal proteins which may lack one or more.

The research of Dr. Rose and his group, in revealing how quickly the lack of a single essential amino acid is felt, stresses the importance of this basic rule of supplementation.

The effect of omitting an essential amino acid from their diets is described by the subjects, in this case, healthy male graduate students, most of whom were majoring in biochemistry and were, therefore, extremely able reporters of their nutritional fortunes. They soon experienced "profound changes accompanied by a sensation of extreme fatigue and an increase in irritability."

Dr. Rose, aided by grants from The Nutrition Foundation, Inc., began to study human needs for amino acids in 1942. In 1949 he reported that eight essential amino acids must be supplied in human diets.

Further studies were reported this year. Fortunately it is not necessary to calculate the eight amino acids for each meal. The listlessness and fatigue due to a protein deficiency can be avoided easily by serving with cereal and vegetable foods any one of the following: eggs, meat, cheese, poultry, fish, or milk.

We are fortunate in having these foods in abundance, as an adequate supply of good quality protein foods is regarded as the world's number one problem in practical nutrition.

Vary Brownie Recipe With Dates, Almonds

Here's a delicious way to vary chocolate brownies. Omit the walnuts usually called for, and add a third of a cup each of chopped dates and sliced blanched almonds.

If you want to be very festive, you may place whole blanched almonds at intervals on top before baking.

Leftover Corned Beef Delicious in Sandwich

Leftover corned beef makes wonderful hash, of course; but don't forget that it is delicious for sandwich fillings.

Chop it fine and mix it with enough Russian dressing to moisten; for something crisp — and for a change — add finely shredded green cabbage to the sandwich instead of lettuce.

Wrap an avocado in a towel or some paper if you want to speed up its softening.

Marinate Snap Beans for Quick, Tasty Salad

When unexpected company comes, and you want a quick salad to add to your menu, open a can of snap beans and marinate them in French dressing.

Serve the beans on salad greens with some of the dressing in which they were marinated. Strips of canned pimiento make a pretty garnish for this salad.

Three-fourths of the American-Canadian border is water.

the magic ingredient of a Wonderful New Spring Recipe For BAKED HAM "FIFER"

•So new you must try it!
•So delicious everyone will say "more!"
•So easy you can serve it often!

BAKED HAM "FIFER"

To bring out the full, mellow flavor of ham—and give it a subtle tang as well—bake it with beer! First, prepare your ham for baking according to directions given by the packer. Then remove the skin, cut the fat in a crisscross design, sprinkle with brown sugar and pepper and stud with cloves. Also add grated orange peel, if desired. Put ham in roaster, pour contents of a bottle of Pfeiffer's Beer over it and bake uncovered in a slow oven (300° F.) until meat thermometer registers 160° F.; or allow baking time of 25 minutes to the lb. Baste frequently with beer, adding more if necessary. The remaining "pan" liquid may be served as a sauce.

P.S. — Canned, pre-cooked hams are also delicious, drenched in Pfeiffer's Beer before heating.

Your family and friends will love that certain extra something this new "Fifer" recipe gives to baked ham! And they'll admire your cooking masterpiece all the more when you serve sparkling Pfeiffer's Beer to go with it! For smooth, mellow Pfeiffer's always adds extra goodness to good food!

By every known quality standard and test, Pfeiffer's equals or exceeds—yes, actually equals or exceeds—the leading national premium-priced beers. Every brew of Pfeiffer's is carefully checked at 97 different steps in its making—and it must be right 97 times!

Try today's Pfeiffer's. Compare this wonderfully light, refreshing beer with any other brand. Let your own taste decide. There is no finer beer in all the world at any price! PFEIFFER BREWING COMPANY, STROIT AND FLINT, MICHIGAN

Ballerinas Too!—Ballerinas as well as boxers have to be weighed in now, it seems. Alicia Markova weighs in at London's Royal Albert Hall to make sure she's not over 104 pounds. The Liverpool Philharmonic Hall recently refused to let the ballerina dance there on ground that her dancing might affect delicate machinery housed under the stage.

Man, 73, Won't Work

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (U)—Mrs. Ethel Mae Chinnle Carey, 44, filed suit for divorce yesterday against John William Carey on grounds he won't work. He's 73.

Film Producer Divorces

Arthur Rank's Daughter

LOS ANGELES (U)—An uncontested divorce and a half million dollar property settlement have been obtained by Fred M. Packard, Hollywood film producer, from Mrs. Shelagh Mary Packard, daughter of the British film executive, J. Arthur Rank. Packard, 35, testified yesterday that his 31-year-old wife deserted him Oct. 10, 1952, by refusing to return from a visit to England. They were married in 1945 when Packard was a U. S. Army lieutenant stationed in London.

Narcotics Officer Wants Ban on Film

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Joseph M. Bransky, district supervisor of the Federal Narcotics Bureau, has asked that the Pennsylvania Board of Censors ban on the film "She Shoulda Said No" he sustained. Bransky testified yesterday before Judge Edwin O. Lewis during a hearing on an appeal from the ban by the film's producers, Hallmark Productions, Inc. Bransky characterized the film as "insidious propaganda" that would teach juveniles method of using narcotics. He said the movie shows methods of smoking marijuana that are not generally known to the public. Methods for selling narcotics, as shown in the film, should not be made public, he testified.

George White Engaged to Young Movie Actress

HOLLYWOOD (U)—George White, of the once famous "George White's Scandals" on Broadway, is engaged to a young Hollywood actress, Jean Gale, a spokesman for Miss Gale says. No date has been announced for the wedding but the spokesman said the ceremony probably will take place in the autumn. Miss Gale played a minor role in the film "The Egyptian."

Deny Research Grants to Handful of Scientists

WASHINGTON (U)—"Less than 30" scientists have been denied U. S. Public Health Service research grants on subversion or disloyalty grounds since June 1952, a Health-Education Welfare Department spokesman said last night. The spokesman said this was only a handful compared with the total number of grants, which he estimated average 14,000 a year and amounted to about 40 million dollars in the fiscal year ending last June 30.

Janet Leigh Uses Brains With Beauty

By BOB THOMAS
APPLE VALLEY, Calif. (U)—Janet Leigh is just as smart as she is pretty, as you can judge from the way she is handling her career.

The blonde beauty was in this Mojave Desert resort to help Martin and Lewis launch their new film, "Living It Up." I asked her at the Apple Valley Inn for an explanation of why she is leaving MGM, where she earns $2,000 weekly.

"Look," she reasoned, "I'm grateful to the studio for what it has done for me. I want that to be clear. They gave me my start and have every right in the world to cash in on what they have built up.

"But I feel I have served my apprenticeship. I would be happy to stay there and work, if they had pictures for me to do. But they don't. In the past year I have been trying to get my release. Most of the films I have made have been loanouts.

"I finally had talks with Dore Schary and Benny Thau (MGM execs). I asked them if they had anything for me in the coming year, which is how long my contract will last. They admitted they didn't. They said they understood my side and talked to Nick Schenck (MGM top boss). He didn't want to let me go. But when he understood that I would continue doing loanouts, he said okay."

So after she finishes "Rogue Cop" with Robert Taylor and George Raft, she'll be free from her MGM ties for the first time in eight years. That doesn't mean she'll be adrift in the movie seas. She has already lined up some comfortable security.

"It made me very happy that every studio in town offered me a deal when it got around that I would be free," she said. "I decided I would line up some ties that would give me something to hold onto. I didn't feel that I had progressed far enough to go it alone. I'm no Jane Wyman or Joan Crawford.

"So I signed for one picture every five years with Columbia. I also lined up four pictures with Universal-International. Because they make more pictures than any other studio, they wanted to make the deal for a picture every nine months. That was all right with me.

"But with each deal, I made sure what my first picture would be. That was important. If they started me out with a big picture, it stood to reason they would take good care of me. For instance, my first at Columbia will be "My Sister Ellen" with Judy Holiday. Obviously, they aren't going to sluff me off after a picture like that."

28 Hours Amidst Food, but Needs a Can Opener

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (U)—A Tennessee hitchhiker told police last night he spent a hungry 28 hours locked in a truck trailer loaded with canned goods.

The young man, Carl Henley, 24, of Tracy City, Tenn., was released after driver John Dolan, 33, Marysville, Pa., heard his cries while checking the time on the trailer.

Henley, told police he had been drinking and broke into the trailer near Harrisburg, Pa., to get out of the rain. The door locked on him and he was unable to make himself heard until the stop at Fort Wayne.

Swap Comes Wednesday

One-Day Exchange Is Part of Michigan Week Observance

ROCHESTER — Village President Clarence Burr of Rochester will trade places with Clarence J. Materin, mayor of Essexville, next Wednesday as a feature of Michigan Week.

Village councilmen here this week set up committees and mapped final plans for celebrating Michigan Week, May 23, which is designed to help communities all over the state become acquainted.

President Burr will travel to Essexville Wednesday where he will attend a luncheon and dinner, preside over the meeting of Essexville's Council and meet with the Board of Commerce. He will be accompanied by Frank Rebold, past village president.

Mayor Materin and his guests will be greeted here at Taylor and Fifth Sts. by the Rochester High School Band and an escort.

The out-of-town guests will be escorted to the Village Council chambers where Mayor Materin will be formally welcomed to the village by Manager Robert Stone and Council members Paul Hoffmeister, John Dahman and Sidney Ennis.

Fifteen local officials and Mayor Materin will also attend a luncheon meeting. Included will be Council members, Village Clerk Lillian Easterle, Secretary Va May Patton, heads of the village fire and water departments and members of the Avon Township Board.

The key to the village will be presented to Mayor Materin by Councilman Ennis. During the afternoon the visitor will be taken on a tour of Rochester and Avon Township industries.

Materin will preside over the Village Council meeting at 8 p.m. A typical agenda in the affairs of Rochester will confront Council members.

Especially for Michigan Week, Rochester has purchased a new state flag and will fly the banner during next week's festivities.

Diocesan Women's Auxiliary of St. Andrew Episcopal Church meets at All Saints Church, Pontiac, at 11 a.m. tomorrow for a Communion, and luncheon.

Saturday at 9:30 a.m. a confirmation class will be held at St. Andrew Episcopal Church for youths 11 years old and older who are considering confirmation. J. B. Landon will conduct the first class.

MR. AND MRS. S. E. SELMES

CELEBRATE 50TH ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Selmes of 4083 S. Commerce Rd., Milford, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house at their home from 2 to 5 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Selmes have lived in the area all their lives. They were married May 4, 1904 in Pontiac and have one son, Velmore Selmes.

Marie Ruth Asch Is Wed in Candlelight Ceremony

MILFORD—Before an altar decorated with white snapdragons and lilies, Marie Ruth Asch became the bride of James Floyd Goodwill in Presbyterian Church Saturday evening.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Max Asch of 700 W. Maple Rd., while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Martin Goodwill of Rochester.

Wanda Bleach of Detroit was maid of honor and William Grubba of Clarkston was best man.

Attending the bride were Patricia Dyer, JoAnn Haight and Adele Asch, all of Detroit. James Clark of Milford and Richard Goodwill of Rochester served as ushers.

For the candlelight ceremony, the bride chose a ballerina-length gown of white nylon lace. A fitted lace jacket covered the strapless bodice and a pleated bustle was gathered at the back.

A single strand of pearls was the only jewelry worn by the bride. A fingertip veil was held in place by a pearl-studded tiara.

A reception followed in the church parlors.

The newlyweds plan a summer trip. Until then they will reside in Milford.

Street Light Installing Done

Waterford Supervisor Reports Job Finished at 9 Intersections

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Completion of installation of street lights at nine intersections last week was announced today by Lloyd Anderson, Waterford Township supervisor.

Anderson said the installations were the result of a traffic survey made by the police department.

The corners ranked highest in accident rate, according to the survey. They are:

Airport and Hatchery Rds.; Scott Lake and Watkins Lake Rds.; Scott Lake and Elizabeth Lake Rds.; Elizabeth Lake and Cooley Lake Rds.; Walton and Silver Lake Rds.; Scott Lake and Pontiac Lake Rds.; M59 at Pontiac Lake Rd.; Williams Lake and Airport Rds. and Cass-Elizabeth and Cooley Lake Rds.

Anderson said it was hoped the township's accident rate would be cut by the new lights.

Residents File Drain Protest

Avon Township Home Owners Call Drainage Facilities Inadequate

AVON TOWNSHIP — Thirty-five home owners in the southwest portion of the township last night voiced their protests over a lack of adequate drainage facilities in their area at a meeting of the Township Board.

Spokesmen from different streets in a four-mile square section of the township said their basements were frequently under two feet of water and their garages were also "swamped."

They demanded action of the Township Board and the Oakland County Drain Commission in solving the problem.

Township Board members had previously passed a resolution requesting the drain commission to make a survey of drainage problems in the area.

The area is bounded by Livernois, South Boulevard, Adams road and east of Crooks road.

Committee members are Donald Ross, chairman, Wilson Gisse and Leonard Henderson.

Residents also protested heavy traffic on Auburn road last night. Spokesmen cited a near accident on the road Tuesday when a car, passing several other cars, nearly hit a school bus. They also said heavily loaded gravel trucks go too fast on the road during school hours and that traffic laws aren't being enforced.

Supervisor Miller said the sheriff's department would be contacted regarding the traffic problem.

Mother, Daughter Dinner to Be Held

ROCHESTER — With the theme "There is Music in the Air," St. Mother and Daughter Banquet will be held next Thursday.

Mrs. Florence Hall of Royal Oak, folk song singer, will direct the program.

Mrs. Harry Cook is ticket sale chairman. Tickets are also available from each church circle chairman.

Clarkston Youth Gets His AF ROTC Wings

CLARKSTON — A Clarkston youth was one of 34 Air Force ROTC cadets at Hobart College to receive ROTC wings during drills last week. He is Robert S. Rose, son of A. L. Rose of Route No. 1.

The wings indicate that the cadets have met all requirements for entrance to flight training schools.

GRETCHEN ADELE SCRIBNER

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer O. Scribner of 500 Second St., Rochester, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gretchen Adele, to Donald F. Achberger. Donald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Achberger of Middletown, Ohio. He is stationed with the Navy at Pensacola, Fla. No date has been set for the wedding.

Council Fills Board Vacancy

Rochester Man Named to Review Body After Incumbent Resigns

ROCHESTER—Village councilmen here this week appointed Leslie H. Aris of 420 Second St. to a one-year term on the board of review to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Charles Sterns.

In other action, the Council received a communication from the Avon Township Board asking the village to furnish a fire call communication system for the new Avondale Fire Department.

The Council voted to instruct Village Manager Robert Stone and Fire Chief George Ross to negotiate with the Township Board regarding the communication system.

The Council also changed dates for the Women's Relief Corps tag day sale to Friday and Saturday, June 25-26.

Complete Plans for Senior Day

Milford High Students to Take Over 35 Stores to Build Fund

MILFORD — Final plans for "Senior Day" were made yesterday at a meeting of Milford High School students and local businessmen.

Next Wednesday, the students will take over 35 stores. Profits—up to $500—will go into the general senior fund for a seven-day trip to Washington in June.

This will be the first year businesses will be taken over by seniors. Previously, they took over village government for a day.

If the plan proves successful, businessmen have agreed to establish the project as an annual affair.

Although it is primarily a senior project, the freshman, sophomore and junior classes are joining in to help the graduating students.

Expenses for class trip for the 80 seniors are estimated at $3,600 by Lester Howe, class adviser.

Any profit over the $500 (plus $100 expenses) limit will go to the Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the event.

GM Choristers Sing Tonight in Rochester

ROCHESTER—The General Motors Mixed Chorus of 80 voices will be presented tonight at 8:30 in the auditorium of Rochester High School in a program sponsored by Rochester Tuesday Musicale.

Directed by Robert Hines, the chorus will sing "The Lost Chord," "The Night Is Young," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and other numbers.

Also soloist Shirley Harris will also be featured and Arleen-Forrester and Herbert Hupp will be presented in a two-piano selection.

The Tuesday Musicale will hold its annual meeting next Tuesday evening. Past presidents will be hostesses. A program has been arranged consisting of numbers by a chorus directed by Mrs. Stowell Collins and a string quartet directed by Worth Mallory.

Mrs. Tabar Announces Daughter's Engagement

ALMONT — Mrs. Barbara Tabar announces the engagement of her daughter, Barbara Sue, to Robert B. Grant, son of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Grant of Grosse Pointe.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Jerry Dahman and informal talks and Donald C. Baldwin, superintendent of schools.

Senate OK's Treaty to Prop Sugar Prices

WASHINGTON (U)—The Senate ratified yesterday, 60-16, an international sugar agreement which Russia and Communist Czechoslovakia have given notice they intend to join.

United States production and imports are not involved in the agreement made by 22 exporting and 16 importing countries and aimed at keeping world prices between 3.25 and 4.35 cents a pound. Domestic retail prices range around 10 cents.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), urging Senate approval of the treaty, said stability in world prices and supplies is of major importance to Cuba and other nations which supply the bulk of U. S. imports.

Pilgrimage to Fatherland Permanently Delayed

NEW ATHENS, Ill. (U)—For years Joseph Dudeck, 76, and his wife had been planning to make a visit to his native Germany.

Finally, the retired coal miner set the date. On April 28, they decided, they'd start for New York on the first leg of their trip.

Tuesday, just eight hours before they planned to start, Dudeck collapsed and died at his home, apparently of heart disease.

Mother Pleads Guilty to Murder

Two-Day Old Trial Ends as Mrs. Cottrell Admits Beating Daughter

Mrs. Lois Ann Cottrell, 22, ended her two-day trial on a second-degree murder charge Wednesday before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty by entering a plea of guilty.

She had been charged with the murder of her 3-year-old daughter, Lois Ann, in the family home at 823 Etowah St., Royal Oak, Jan. 16.

The child was dead on arrival at Royal Oak General Hospital from the effects of a severe beating which caused head injuries, liver damage and a crushed lung.

Mrs. Cottrell was returned to the Oakland County Jail to await sentence May 17. The mother of three other children, Mrs. Cottrell pleaded guilty through her attorney Lawrence Moloney.

Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor had called 15 witnesses to the stand since the Mrs. Cottrell was claiming temporary insanity.

Health Director Resigns

MIDLAND (UP) — Dr. Emily Haultau, county health director in Midland for the past 10 years, has submitted her resignation to the County Board of Supervisors. She will remain on duty until July.

Jaycee Prayer Petitions En Route to Moscow

TULSA, Okla. (UP)—Thousands of "May Day-Prayer Day" resolutions are en route by plane today to Munich, Germany, where it is hoped they can be forwarded to Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov in Moscow.

The resolutions, protesting that May 1—traditional Red holiday—be set aside by Russians and Americans as a day of prayer for better understanding, are sponsored by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

$50 Reward Offered for Puppy Deserter

The Oakland County Animal Welfare Society today offered to pay $50 for information leading to the conviction of the person who left four puppies on a local dump this morning.

Albert Sundell, the society's humane officer, said he was called to a dump on Franklin road just outside Pontiac's city limits shortly after 6 a. m. Four collie-type pups, he said, had been dumped atop the trash and garbage.

Sundell urged anyone who wants to get rid of puppies to bring them to the county animal shelter at 1200 E. Walton Rd., or call the shelter at FE 2-8262 and have a dog warden pick them up.

Fire Chief to Resign

LOWELL (UP) — David Clark Sr. announced today that he will resign his job as fire chief of this Kent County community effective Saturday.

Service Wives to Tend Graves

American Women Plan to Restore Burial Plots of Tripoli Heroes

TRIPOLI, Libya (UP)—A group of determined American service wives is making sure that five of the nation's earliest heroes, who died 150 years ago "on the shores of Tripoli," aren't forgotten amid a new generation of American fighting men on this historic coast.

The Officers Wives Club of Wheelus Air Force Base is spending time and money to restore and redecorate the five graves in a little cemetery near the harbor. It overlooks the spot where the five Navy and Marine heroes were killed in 1804 in the war against the Barbary pirates.

Few Americans know that five of the men—the only ones whose bodies were recovered—still lie in a little courtyard inside a British diplomatic compound. Three of the bodies are unidentified. The two are those of Lt. Richard Summers, who commanded a bold but ill-fated operation, and Midshipman Henry Wadsworth.

The five died when the captured pirate vessel Intrepid exploded in Tripoli harbor during their attempt to blow up the pirate fleet.

Summers was planning to sail the vessel, loaded with explosives, into the heart of the anchored Barbary fleet, set her afire, and escape with his men in rowboats. But the Intrepid blew up inside the harbor just short of her goal.

The graves of Summers, Wadsworth and the three unknown heroes are decorated annually on Memorial Day by American officials. But the air force wives at Wheelus decided that wasn't enough.

They voted to spend $800 as a start to repair the walls of the old cemetery, build new steps, and erect a new grillwork gate so visitors could enter without having to go through the British building. Later they plan other redecorating steps.

Cedar Springs to Initiate Street Scrubbing Rites

CEDAR SPRINGS (UP) — Citizens of this Kent County community will scrub Cedar Springs' main thoroughfare next Tuesday to get it ready for the annual summer invasion of tourists.

The street-scrubbing event, first started at Holland and still done every year during that city's tulip festival, also will be a part of Cedar Springs' observance of Michigan Week. The main street in Cedar Springs is U.S. 131 which goes right through the center of town.

Midland Pair Observes 69 Years of Marriage

MIDLAND (UP) — Mr. and Mrs. Hiram A. Crane, of Midland, are observing a wedding anniversary today — their 69th.

They were married April 29, 1885 in nearby Freeland and have lived in Midland for the past 46 years. Crane is 91 and his wife is 86.

Joe Laurie Jr., Dies

NEW YORK (INS) — Joe Laurie Jr., noted radio comedian and a former editor of Variety, died early today in a hospital here following a brief illness. Laurie was a member of the panel on the radio show "Can You Top This."

PEN FROM MICHIGAN—A Michigan group poses at White House door with pen set for President Eisenhower—to be used by him when and if he signs the St. Lawrence seaway bill. Pen set is made from timber of Fort Detroit built by British in 1760. In group are, left to right, Foster Winter, chairman, seaway committee, Detroit; Gerald Warren, Detroit board of commerce; Sen. Homer Ferguson, and Wilber Brucker, general counsel, Department of Defense.

4 Youths Driving Hearse East Coast to Alaska

NORWOOD, Mass. (UP)—Four youths are leaving here tomorrow in a 1937 model—1937 model—Alaska.

George Burns, 20, Cornelius Seastrom, 19, Theodore MacCarthy, 19, and Thomas Hillman, 18, have a $400 stake for gasoline and food. They plan to sleep in the hearse en route.

The boys said they hope to get summer jobs as construction workers in Fairbanks.

One-eighth of a ton of coal is needed to make one barrel of gasoline.

Leg of Mutton Gives Tradition to Butcher Shop

BANBURY, England (U)—One day in 1874 a stranger bought a leg of mutton in the South Bar street butcher shop. "Hang it up for me," he said, "until I come back."

He never did come back. The leg of mutton is still hanging there, and that's how traditions are born in Britain.

"It would be like parting with my own leg to get rid of it," was the fond comment recently made by Edwin Walker, present owner of the business. He started in the shop as an apprentice many years ago.

"It hangs well away from the salable meat, of course," says the butcher's wife. "But it isn't at all objectionable and it has never been treated with a preservative."

Diplomat Glad That Sultan Vacated Hotel

PARIS (INS)—A high ranking French diplomat is happy that his government had whisked Mohammed Ben Youssef, deposed Sultan of Morocco, and his wives, children and concubines from the Mediterranean island of Corsica to a far-away exile.

Ambassador Jacques Baeyens' rejoicing has no personal or political motive.

It just happens that Baeyens had reserved rooms at the Napoleon Bonaparte Hotel on De Rousset off Corsica to spend his summer holidays with his family.

The hotel acknowledged his reservations, but said they could not be honored unless Mohammed and his retinue had left by summer.

The ex-Sultan, his two sons, his three legal wives, several daughters and 20 concubines, filled every hotel room.

Army Maternity Record

FORT HOOD, Tex. (INS)—Call it army recruiting propaganda if you wish, but it's easy on the pocketbook. Fort Hood station hospital authorities reported that a record-breaking number of 1,150 babies were born there last year.

According to army regulations, the new dads paid only $1.75 per day for food and medication for their wives and new offspring.

The Grand Army of the Republic reached its greatest size in 1890, with 409,489 members.

Famed Beacon Guards Ships

Once Watched Scottish Coast; Now Lighting Canadian Cape

WASHINGTON—A storied Scottish lighthouse lamp that emigrated to Newfoundland has achieved New World as well as Old World renown.

This beacon is the Inchcape Light, says the National Geographic Society. Once it flashed its warning from the tower of the Inchcape or Bell Rock Lighthouse 12 miles off Scotland's east coast.

Standing amid the shipping lanes off the Firths of Tay and Forth, it marked a hazard immortalized in Robert Southey's ballad, "The Inchcape Rock."

In 1842 the beacon was replaced, and the old light sent to Newfoundland. There on Cape Bonavista it guards the fishing and sealing fleets that skirt the coast of England's oldest colony, now Canada's newest province.

The beacon's New World home is almost as famous as its Scottish one. Cape Bonavista, a rocky finger thrust into the Atlantic north of St. John's between Trinity and Bonavista Bays, is thought by some to have been the first North American land sighted by John Cabot in 1497.

The Inchcape Light's gleaming reflectors were made in Birmingham, England, in 1816. They replaced an earlier light on the Inchcape Rock, where the first lighthouse was begun in 1807 and lighted in 1813.

The rock is a mass of red sandstone, covered by water at high tide and surrounded by shoals. Many ships have been wrecked there.

The tradition underlying Southey's poem tells that a warning bell was cut down by a spiteful pirate to "plague the Abbot of Aberbrothock," who had placed it there. The pirate, Sir Ralph the Rover, received just punishment for his wickedness when his own loot-laden vessel foundered on the rock and even in his dying fear One dreadful sound could the Rover hear— A sound as if, with the Inchcape Bell, The Devil below was ringing his knell.

The rock's fame in engineering annals rivals that in balladry. Its lighthouse, built by Robert Stevenson, grandfather of novelist Robert Louis Stevenson, ranks among the most noted of early wave-swept masonry towers. With work on the foundations possible only at low tides, and with each of its stones carefully dovetailed to interlock with adjoining masonry, the 117-foot light house was a major feat of engineering.

The Inchcape Light's present home is a less striking structure: a square, red and white building. Yet every summer hundreds of motorists travel the new Cabot highway to Cape Bonavista to see the transplanted beacon that faithfully flashes red-white-white every 90 seconds over the Atlantic toward Scotland.

Booklet Proves Brazil Has More Than Its Coffee

NEW YORK (INS) — There's a lot more than coffee in Brazil, and they've finally published a pocket-sized book about it.

The Brazilian Information Handbook, published by Correio Da Manha of Rio de Janeiro, tells almost everything there is to know about South America's largest country, including tourist information, and what a vacationer should see while there.

According to Dr. Paulo Bitencourt, director-president of Correio Da Manha, Brazil has some of the most extravagant scenery in the world, including high mountains, jungles and the unbelievable Amazon River.

For the visitor with a taste for more civilized pleasures, Brazil offers Rio de Janeiro, certainly one of the most beautiful cities in the world.

The handbook also provides information for anyone with an interest in the commercial side of South American life. Details are available here on natural resources, major industries, transportation and banks.

The Brazilian Information Handbook is available at news stands and bookstores and is being distributed to the Chamber of Commerce and businessmen.

Teachers' salaries account for about three-fourths of all public expenditures for education in the U. S., according to latest national reports.

Beavers Adapt to Modern Ways of Engineering

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP) — The Northwest Conference on Road Building, held at the University of Washington recently, heard H. M. Taylor, Okanogan County engineer, say that beavers have been beating human construction engineers at their own game.

Taylor said the beavers at one time cut down full-grown timber for their dams. These beaver projects resulted in flooded roads and were immediately dynamited. But the beavers started all over again.

Now, said Taylor, the beavers are taking advantage of man's attempts in the construction business. The sharp-toothed animals find a culvert built under a road, measure its size with their tails and gnaw down a few saplings for their dam.

"They make a screen in the form of an inverted cone that fits inside the pipe," Taylor said. "It saves them a lot of work."

Taylor said his assistants have planted lighted lanterns and bells in the culverts in hopes of frightening the animals away, but to no avail.

Roosevelt Now Asks Divorce

Wife Sees Political Plot in Change of Separate Maintenance Goal

PASADENA, Calif. (U) — Mrs. James Roosevelt has accused her estranged husband of political scheming in suing her for separate maintenance. She says he sought to avoid the publicity of a divorce because he is running for Congress in the 26th District.

The wife, Romelle, who also seeks separate maintenance, made her latest charges in the domestic controversy yesterday when she answered Roosevelt's petition to amend his complaint.

Roosevelt now wants a divorce instead of separate maintenance, and he wants the court to rule out of evidence a letter, signed by him, admitting infidelities. He has since denied any indiscretions.

Mrs. Roosevelt and her counsel said his "scheme constitutes the ultimate in bad faith."

"Apparently feeling that a divorce action would prove unpalatable to the voters," her statement said, "he seized upon the following plan: he would ask in his complaint that he be permitted to live separate and apart from the defendant; that he would later claim he was forced to ask for a divorce by reason of circumstances beyond his control."

A hearing on the petition to amend Roosevelt's complaint, and on Mrs. Roosevelt's answers, is scheduled for tomorrow. Roosevelt's attorney, Samuel B. Picone, has offered to submit his case on the documents already filed.

Boy, 12, Is Rescued From Huge Sand Bin

BALTIMORE (U) — Thomas Williams, 12, was playing around the work yard of the American Paving Co. yesterday when he either jumped or fell into a huge sand bin beside a railroad siding and was completely buried.

A companion saw him disappear and ran for help. Two company workmen rushed to the bin and started digging furiously. They were soon joined by a fire department engine company and a rescue squad.

After the boy's head was uncovered, firemen supplied the unconscious youth with two bottles of oxygen. He was treated for suffocation and shock at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Clubs Trying to Subdue Hot Rodding Prom Goers

ROYERSFORD, Pa. (U) — Civic clubs are planning an experiment here to keep the youngsters from racing all over the countryside in automobiles after the junior-senior prom at the local high school. The clubs are putting up $300 to provide:

A professional floor show after the prom, from midnight to 1:15 a.m.

An informal dance at the country club from 1:30 a.m. to 3 a.m.

A breakfast at the American Legion home at 3 a.m.

Marines' League to Distribute Money

The Nichols-Conklin Detachment of the Marine Corps League collected $200 April 16 and 17 through sale of Hawaiian-grown orchids, according to Anthony Renne, commandant.

The detachment plans to distribute the money to worthy causes as follows: A $105 check to Camp Oakland to send seven boys to camp this summer; $75 gift to Oakland County Society for Crippled Children, for orthopedic equipment; and $20 to the West Bloomfield Township Boys' Club to purchase an electronic device for electronic courses.

The detachment also plans further donations at Christmas time, and is scheduling another orchid sale for the week before Easter next year, Renne said.

The total area of Canada is 3,690,410 square miles, or about 7.18 per cent of the total land area of the world.

New Faces Expected in Derby's Winner Circle

By ORLO ROBERTSON
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Down here in this horse loving country, where arguments on the outcome of the 80th Kentucky Derby often wage hot and heavy, they are betting there will be new faces in the winner's circle after the 20 or so 3-year olds complete the mile and one-quarter journey late Saturday afternoon.

Not in many years has America's premier horse race been so jammed with owners, trainers and jockeys who never have felt the thrill of walking into Churchill Downs' flower-bordered circle to receive the huge gold cup and see their victorious horse bedecked with a stole of roses.

Eddie Arcaro, who rode in the derby for the first time in 1935 and finished fourth with Nellie Flag, is best acquainted with the almost hallowed ground. Old Banana Nose, born only 100 miles from the scene of some of his greatest triumphs, has won five derbies. He'll be up Saturday on Goyamo, the 7 to 2 second choice from Royce C. Martin's Woodvale Farm.

Three other jockeys—Bill Boland, Steve Brooks and Hank Moreno—have been in the circle once each. Boland was the second apprentice to win the big race when he rode Middleground in 1950. He will ride the Woodley Lane Farm's lanky Red Hannigan, an outsider.

Brooks, winner with Ponder in 1949, is slated to pilot Allied owned by A. J. Crevolin. And Moreno, whose first appearance in the derby was last year when he got Dark Star home a nose in front of Native Dancer, will throw a leg over Sea O Erin. Both Allied and Sea O Erin are running mates for two of the favorites—Determine and Hasty Road, respectively. The owners and trainers nowhere near match the riders in the number of derby winners. Only Mrs. Elizabeth Graham, New York beautyician and owner of the Maine Chance Farm, ever has had a derby champion. She won with Jet Pilot in 1947 and this Saturday will depend on lightly regarded Black Metal.

Many of the other owners and the majority of the trainers never have even had a derby starter. So if one of them sends out the winner, don't be surprised if they look a little strange when they take that long stroll across the track to the winner's circle before over 100,000 fans and others who'll watch the presentation ceremonies on their television sets.

The race, scheduled to start at 4:30 p.m. (EST) will be televised by the Columbia Broadcasting System from 4 to 4:45 p.m. and broadcast by the same company from 4:15 to 4:45.

Oxford, OL Win Tight Meets

Aerial 'Targets' Being Sought by Oosterbaan

Michigan Needs Ends to Catch Baldacci and McDonald Passes

By JOE FALLS
ANN ARBOR (AP) — It is one matter for a football team to have someone throw forward passes, and another for someone to catch them.

For this reason, coach Bennie Oosterbaan is keeping close watch on a group of inexperienced but pleasingly tall ends as spring practice reaches the mid-way point at the University of Michigan.

With quarterbacks Lou Baldacci and Duncan McDonald returning, the Wolverines appear well fixed in the passing department. This pair threw 99 passes last season, completing 39. They should do as well this fall.

But who will be their targets? Gone are Gene Knutson and Bob Topp, the two regular wingmen who picked off 35 passes last fall—or almost half of the Wolverines' total.

The only returning end lettermen are John Veselenak and Gerry Williams. Veselenak caught two passes last season; Williams none.

Oosterbaan, therefore, is looking for fresh end material. There appear to be three standouts—Ron Kramer (6-3) of East Detroit; Charley Brooks (6-1) of Marshall; and Tom Maentz (6-2) of Holland.

Among the freshmen who showed to advantage are Dave Ward of Midland; Mike Higgins of Detroit and Dick Heynen of Grand Rapids.

Meanwhile, the Wolverine baseball team, boasting three 300 hitters, plays at home Friday and Saturday and will be seeking to improve its third place standing in the Big 10. Michigan plays Purdue Friday and Illinois in a doubleheader Saturday.

Southerner Aims for Bigger Game

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dancing master Ralph Dupas, 18-year-old New Orleans high school student, glanced up the lightweight ladder for higher recognition today after speaking to a convincing decision over rough Dennis Pat Brady.

The fleet Dupas, rated No. 5 in the lightweight division and an accomplished artist at hit and run tactics, sped to a unanimous 10-round decision over the rugged New Yorker in a nationally-televised fight, last night. Dupas weighed 137, Brady 138½.

The two judges and the referee were in complete accord in reaching a unanimous decision.

Ratterman Okehs Pact With Cleveland Browns

CLEVELAND, April 20 (AP) — George Ratterman, the Cleveland Browns' No. 2 quarterback, came to terms today with Coach Paul Brown on a contract for the 1954 season.

His salary was not made public. Brown already had reached agreement with his No. 1 man, Otto Graham, and with Bobby Garrett, the Stanford University quarterback picked by the Cleveland pros when they won the bonus choice at the National Football League's draft meeting.

Ratterman, obtained from the Dallas Texans in 1952, has been Graham's understudy for two years.

Babe in Good Shape, Plans Return to Golf

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (INS) — Babe Zaharias, elated over the result of recent physical checkups, plans to resume playing professional golf starting May 13.

Mrs. Zaharias recently was given physical examinations in Beaumont and Galveston, Tex. Physicians told her she was in good condition following an operation a year ago for cancer.

SCORES WINNING RUN—Dick Schofield, pinch-running for St. Louis 3rd baseman Ray Jablonski, slides across the plate with the winning run in the 10th inning of Wednesday night's game with the Brooklyn Dodgers at Busch Stadium. Roy Campanella is receiving the ball too late to make a tag.

as Alex Grammas (4) holds up his hands to signal victory. The umpire is Frank Secory. Schofield, after stealing second, scored on Steve Bilko's single to left. The 6-5 victory put the Cards in 2nd place, ahead of the Dodgers, in the National League race.

9 NFL Games Scheduled

NEW YORK (AP) — If your favorite college athletic director appears to be walking around today with a case of the nervous jitters, as though he suspected he was being followed, there is a reason. The National Football League has just announced its television plans for the coming fall.

It is no secret that college football authorities, including the big-time coaches, have been worrying themselves into a decline for several years that the money boys would yield to avarice and move in on the rich Saturday dates which they, the rah-rah forces, have always felt were theirs exclusively by right of inheritance.

They have tried repeatedly to gain some assurance from the pros that they would at least limit their TV activities to Sunday games, even if they decided to play some of their contests on Saturday. The collegians got nowhere because the pros said they wanted no part of any agreement which might look even vaguely like a conspiracy to some government agency.

Now there appears to be little further doubt that the fears of the professional league hasn't moved in on them completely. It has, at least showed a large foot in the door and hollered boo.

As of next autumn, the pros plan to play nine of their games on Saturday night, and to televise same.

In addition, two league games will be played on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 4 and Dec. 11, and they also will be televised. Most college schedules will have been completed by that time, but it happens that Notre Dame and SMU are waiting until Dec. 4 to have it out in Dallas, and that they will be seen over the regular weekly college hookup.

Colleges Nervously Watch Professional Gridders Muscle in on Saturday Dates

No Quirk Bets on Every Derby Entry Would Net $106

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sports editor Dean Eagle of the Louisville Times has produced figures showing that if you had bet on every horse to run in the Kentucky Derby since mutual windows were established at Churchill Downs in 1903, you would have won $106.38.

"Go ahead and figure it," Eagle invited in his column, the press box. "There have been 640 3-year-olds in the 51 derbies since 1903. Many of them were grouped in the field and others ran as entries. Your total outlay would have been $914. That would have given you a $2 investment in every classy thoroughbred and every ornery critter going to the post.

"You would have cashed winning tickets totaling $1,020.38. "You would have won on 16 Derbies and lost on 35 of them. "A $2 wager on every horse to run in the derby in the last five years—all 74 of them—would have netted $23 profit.

"The movie actress or politician who sometimes gets a ticket on every horse in the race and slyly throws the 11 bad ones away before posing for the photos isn't so dumb. They had Donerail ($184.90), Gallahadion ($72.40), Dark Star ($51.80), Bold Venture ($43), Zev ($40.40), Extremator ($61.20), Stone Street ($49.44) and a host of less potent longshots."

Eagle cautioned that such betting is not advisable for a person who doesn't need the publicity because he might lose his shirt on a slim payoff like Citation's and Count Fleet's. (Both paid $2.80.) "The fact that you could have won $106.38 by betting on every horse is no quirk in mathematics," Eagle added.

The test is a handicap affair, with three flights. Entry list today had totaled 185. Post entries will be accepted if additional places are available, and it is expected the field will reach 200 by time play gets under way.

Second tournament has been scheduled for Bob-O-Link.

At least a half dozen Pontiac area golfers will take part in the event. They include (with starting times): Charles Barker (8:18), Wally Smith (8:54), Joe Kocis (1:06 p. m.), Bob Povlitz (1:12 p. m.), Rube Wideman and Roy Iceberg (1:24 p. m.).

It's Time Out

NEW YORK—There's a young pitcher now with Baltimore, age 23 years, 6-3, weight 218 pounds, who is a lot better than a good many managers seem to think he is.

His name is Robert Lee Turley. In the first place, his name is practically a guarantee of greatness in any line. One answer is that he has been wandering around semi-minor leagues and minor leagues and the war zone of the draft since 1948. He has been with five minor league clubs without much of a chance.

Not every ballplayer gets a fair chance. The Yankees let Jim Greengrass go and he's probably a better outfielder than any man they have. At least he's a better hitter than any Yankee fielder is now.

Branch Rickey let Gus Bell go and he is certainly a better ballplayer than any man on the Pirate club. The Yankees traded Bob Porterfield and Spec Shea and both match up with the best of the Yankee stars.

So it occurs to me that Robert Lee Turley has deserved a better chance than he has drawn so far. The great tragedy of the new season came that night in Baltimore, with 48,000 Oriole fans chirping in chorus, when Turley had Cleveland shut out with only two outs to go in the 9th. He had allowed no hits and struck out 14 when a short home run blew the works wide open.

Hurling a no-hitter well into the 9th inning could happen occasionally. But when accompanied by 14 strikeouts, it proves that one Robert Lee Turley has his share of last stuff, which is still the best stuff there is. You hear a lot about sliders and curve balls, but not about the man who has the best of the games, when employed in his right place.

Chiefs Face Strong 'A' Field in Central Michigan Relays

By BILL MARTIN
Pontiac High's track team, unbeaten in dual competition this season, goes to Mt. Pleasant Saturday for the 14th annual Central Michigan College Relays.

A record entry of 141 teams and more than 2,500 individuals have been entered in the meet. Class B and D schools open the 2-day meet Friday morning. Class A and C teams will compete on Saturday.

Chiefs will face a strong Class A field that includes all five Saginaw Valley Conference rivals—Flint Northern and Central, Saginaw Hill and Arthur Hill and Bay City Central.

Other "A" entries include Waterford, Lapeer, Ann Arbor, Lansing Sexton, Midland, Traverse City, Muskegon, Muskegon Heights and Detroit St. Joseph.

Arthur Hill has won the Class A title for the past two years, edging Northern last year by a 1½ point margin. Pontiac didn't compete last season.

A total of 15 events including seven relays ranging in distance from 440 yards to two miles, are scheduled. Individual events include 100-yard dash, 180-yard low hurdles and 120-yard high, mile, low hurdles, shot put, high jump, broad and pole vault.

Coach Wally Schloerke will take a 28-man squad to the test.

Carolians in Top Spots for N-S Golf Test

Draper, Ahern Ousted in Extra-Hole Play at Pinehurst

By KEN ALTYA
PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — Billy Joe Patton, darling of the recent Masters Golf Tournament, and three other North Carolinians set forth today to see what they could do to keep the North and South Amateur title at home.

Yesterday's two rounds, marked by seven overtime matches, reduced the field to quarterfinal size today with these pairings: Patton vs. Curtis Person, Memphis, Tenn.; William Look, Seaside, N.Y.; William Hyndman IV, Abington, Pa.; Richard Chapman, Pinehurst, vs. Alex Welsh, Rockford, Ill.; Frank Meacham, Roanoke Rapids, N.C., vs. Clinton White, Toms, Duke University freshman from Durham.

Today's winners meet in semifinals tomorrow, with the 36-hole championship match Saturday.

Fallen by the wayside were such threats as last year's champion—Bill Campbell, medalist Ben Goodes and former winners Hobart Mandley and Frank Strafaci.

Patton, playing par golf in a masterful exhibition of scrambling, ousted Campbell 3 and 1 in the morning second round. The Morganton, N.C., wholesale lumberman never trailed in the tense match. In the afternoon he won by the same score from Jennings (Jay) Randolph, a 19-year-old husky from Washington, D.C. The youngster was two up after three holes and Patton had to settle down to a four under par exhibition to handle him.

Person, 43-year-old automobile dealer who just squeezed into the tournament with a qualifying round 79, has had quite a week. In the last round he bumped three-time winner Frank Stranahan and yesterday he won two extra-holes.

After losing an early four-hole lead, he came back to nip Tom Draper, Birmingham, Mich., in 20 holes. In the afternoon he canned a 25-footer on the 19th to upset medalist Goodes.

Lock, a four-handicap player, won the last two holes to edge Rand Albern, Detroit, in 19 holes. Then he surprised with a 3 and 2 trouncing to scratch player Harry Haverstick, Lancaster, Pa.

Cards 'Stealing' Back into Flag Picture

By BEN PHILGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
The St. Louis Cardinals are stealing their way back into the National League pennant picture. Running bases with an abandon no Red Bird team has shown since the last St. Louis flag winner in 1946. Manager Eddie Stanky's club has moved from dead last at the start to within a game of the top.

In 12 games the Cards have swiped 12 bases. They need only half a dozen more to equal their total for the entire 1953 season.

Frankie Frisch, the Fordham Flash, led the club with 28 steals and Pepper Martin virtually stole the world series away from the Philadelphia Athletics with his head first belly slides.

The 1931 Cardinals stole 114 bases the 1946 pennant winners, last National League team to win the world series, stole 58. But look at the totals for some of the lean years—28 in 1947, 24 in 1948, only 17 in 1949, 23 in 1950, 30 in 1951 and 33 in 1952. In every instance these figures placed St. Louis last or next to last in the league in bases stolen.

A steal figured directly in the result of yesterday's Cardinal game when the Red Birds edged Brooklyn 6-5 in 10 innings. Bonus baby Dick Schofield, running for Ray Jablonski who had walked with two out, stole second on pitcher Jim Hughes and rode home on Steve Bilko's single, the second hit of the season for the massive first baseman.

The defeat, Brooklyn's second in a row in St. Louis, dumped the Dodgers into a third place tie. The Cincinnati Redlegs, who replaced the Dodgers at the top on Tuesday, stayed there with an 8-4 verdict over the Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Giants moved into a tie with Brooklyn by nipping Milwaukee 3-1.

Rain and bad weather caused the other five scheduled games to be postponed. Cleveland was frozen out at Boston for the second straight day. Chicago's second meeting with the New York Yankees was washed out. Detroit at Philadelphia, Baltimore at Washington and the Philadelphia Phils at Chicago all were rained out for the second straight day.

'Secrets' May Increase Success of Fishermen

By MORT NEFF

With the opening of a new fishing season the resolve to get out there and "fool more fish this year" is heard everywhere. With that in mind maybe these few "secrets" wormed out of fellow anglers may help increase your catch this coming spring and summer. Let's start off with the often under-rated fisherman. How many of you who follow this tried-and-true system realize the importance of the design of the bobber itself? The commonly seen ball-type bobber is the one to avoid!

It scares the fish because of its size and visibility — and offers the most resistance to the nibbling fish, thus discouraging him. The "pencil" type is by far the best — shaped from balsa wood. Try it and see the difference in your luck!

Panfish anglers rarely carry a net in the boat. They don't need one. But every panfisherman has hooked a big bass or pike and lost him when the line broke in an effort to lift him over the side.

Next time this happens to you play the fish until he's tired. It's a bass bring it alongside, slide your thumb in the mouth and get a good grip on the lower lip. It can be lifted from the water without a struggle. Don't try this on a pike! The teeth are too sharp.

There's a right and wrong way to keep your fish in good condition, especially in a prolonged two or three day trip. Always clean your fish properly.

SAGINAW (UP) — Al Andrews, ex-soldier from Superior, Wis., ruled a slight favorite today to turn back Sammy Masterson of Pittsburgh tonight in a 10-rounder at the Saginaw Auditorium.

The sharp-punching Andrews, who started fighting for pay in 1932, has scored his most impressive triumphs here, including victories over Chuck Davey, Pat Lowrey and Pat Manz.

His victory over Davey catapulted him into the boxing headlines.

Parochial Nines Open Schedules This Afternoon

Mikes Meet St. Rita, Freds Take on Bens at C-J Diamonds

Pontiac's two parochial baseball teams open their 1954 seasons today on adjoining diamonds at the Columbia-Joslyn Field.

St. Michael entertains St. Rita at the north diamond, while St. Frederick takes on St. Benedict at the south diamond. Both games are slated to start at 4 p. m.

Mikes' coach Bob Minewear will start Dave Smith on the mound against the Vikings. Remainder of the lineup will have Bud Schwartz catching, Joe Wilhelm at 1st, Bob Anderson at 2nd, Dan Dropps at shortstop, Ron Sears at 3rd and Joe Schultz, Russ Shindorf and either Bill Hall or Ron Elmy in the outfield.

Chuck Talbot of St. Fred's will go with right-handed sophomore Don Picmann, with Ralph Green behind the plate. Mark Peck will be at 1st, Del Chaves at 2nd, Mike Payette at 3rd, Maurice Yarnold at short and John Clark, James Theeringer and Jesse Ramirez in the outfield.

Bush to Take Over as Nebraska Mentor

TOLEDO, O. (INS) — Veteran Toledo university basketball coach Jerry Bush will take over as head coach mentor at the University of Nebraska June 1.

Bush, who guided Toledo to the Mid-American Conference crown and a berth in the NCAA regional tournament during the past season, announced last night that he had accepted a post at Nebraska at a salary of about $9,000 annually.

My Greatest Shot

By JIMMY DEMARET
When people ask me about the shot of my lifetime, I always look surprised.

It's not an act. I thought every breathing person knew about my shot on the last round of the 1940 Masters Tournament.

I won the Augusta National event—for the first of three times—and did it with a shot on the 15th hole.

Gene Sarazen scored his celebrated double eagle on this same hole, but as I gazed down, my ball was, I thought, in a bad position for any double eagling. The ball was sort of playing it cool, you see—under an inch and a half of pure Georgia water.

It was my third shot on the par 5 hole. Showing complete fearlessness, I removed my red and blue suede shoes, rolled my chamois slacks up to my knees, stepped into two feet of water to make the shot.

I used a wedge—no, it wasn't a ball-point wedge—and hit the ball well. The ball sailed out of the water and came down on the green 15 feet from the hole. I dropped the putt for par.

It gave me a big lift and went a long way to helping me win by a stroke and set a record of 30 for that tough back nine.

Hazel Park Track Opens 1954 Season

DETROIT (UP) — Horse racing makes its 1954 debut in Michigan tonight for its earliest start in history.

The Hazel Park harness raceway, which set records last year, opens a 39-night meeting. Last year Hazel Park averaged 6,000 fans a night and a total average mutuel of $313,000 a night.

Shoulder Injury Puts MSC's Eggleston Out

EAST LANSING (UP) — Ray Eggleston today agreed that he is the "hard luck kid" of the Michigan State football team.

BOSTON, April 29 (UP)—Manager Lou Boudreau of the Boston Red Sox today installed versatile Billy Goodman in left field "until Ted Williams returns" and said bonus baby Billy Consolo will be his second baseman.

Goodman has been at second base since the opening game, when he moved in from left field to replace Consolo.

Since that time, Boudreau has experimented with Hoot Evers, Charley Maxwell and Karl Olson in left field, but none has hit well.

"I haven't been satisfied with anybody but Goodman in left field this season," explained Boudreau. "So until Ted is ready to take over (probably May 20), Goodman will stay out there and Consolo will be the second baseman."

Consolo, a $65,000 bonus player, hit the long ball in spring camp and has improved afield, although he has been riding the bench since opening day.

Boudreau also said he'll use Milt Bolling at shortstop in place of Ted Lepcio, who has been playing that spot regularly. He added:

"Since we haven't played 500 ball, and one of the reasons is that we've missed double play opportunities, I feel we have everything to gain and nothing to lose by trying Bolling and Consolo as a key-stone combination."

Another advantage of this, Boudreau said, is that "It leaves Ted Lepcio, who has proven he can do a good job at third base, available to take over there if George Kell should be in need of a rest."

Frisco Open Draws Stars

184 Pros and Amateurs Tee Off Friday in 54 Hole Tournament

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A field of 184 golfers, pro and amateur, tees off tomorrow in the $10,000 San Francisco open-invitational.

Art Wall Jr., winner of last week's Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas, Nev., heads the stars who include Cary Middlecoff, Ted Kroll, Doug Ford, Porky Oliver, Gene Littler, Dutch Harrison, Bob Toski, Al Bessink, Fred Wampler and Walt Burkemo.

The three-day 54-hole tourney over the tough, 6,826-yard, par 72 Lake Merced course offers $7,000 in prizes, plus $3,000 for pros in the pro-amateur division.

Midcoff drew Cy Peneil, city amateur champion, as his partner.

Wall teams with Grant Spaeth of Stanford, who led the Bay Area in qualifying for the U.S. Open last year.

Kazoo Blanks Knights

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — Kalamazoo college's tennis team opened its defense of the MIAA crown Wednesday with a 7-0 victory over Calvin College. Kalamazoo has won the title 17 straight years.

Against Calvin, Kalamazoo's squad lost only one set in the seven matches.

U. of M. Builds Golf Layout for Duffers

ANN ARBOR (UP)—University of Michigan is building a nine hole golf course to fit the limited talents of the average duffer.

Fritz Crisler, Michigan's athletic director, announced Wednesday that preliminary work has been started on a tempting layout consisting of nine par three holes.

The simplified links will be constructed on a 30-acre plot south west of the university's standard 18-hole course at a cost of from $10,000 to $12,000.

Crisler is one of the designers of the layout. He said he got the idea from observing the popularity and practice values of similar courses in the South.

Motor Inn Loop Kegler Posts 111—Score Oddity

Sam Argyros, rolling with the Gridiron Bar team in the Motor Inn Recreation Class 3 League, had an identical score of 111 in the 7th frame of three successive games recently.

Herb Mallory, one of Pontiac's old-timers in the sport said that in 40 years of bowling it was the first time he had witnessed such an oddity.

WEDNESDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press

PITCHING—Jackie Gollum, Cincinnati Redlegs, allowed only one hit in 6 1/2 innings of relief work as the Reds beat Pittsburgh 4-1.

BATTING—Brian Muskat, St. Louis Cardinals, collected two singles and a double, driving in two runs, as he raised his average to .356 in the St. Louis victory over Brooklyn 4-3 in 10 innings.

Lucky Number Scorecards Out for Oriole Fans

Maryland Official Rules Giving of Free Tickets Is Lottery

BALTIMORE (AP)—Fans attending Baltimore Orioles home games will not be able to glean any more free tickets by having a "lucky number" in their scorecards.

Giles Parker, assistant attorney general of Maryland, said yesterday in an opinion that the sale of programs containing the "lucky numbers" for free game tickets was illegal.

In effect, the thousands of fans attending the Orioles' first five home games participated in a lottery and are subject to a year in jail and a $1,000 fine. It's reasonably safe to assume, however, that no one need worry about prosecution.

Oriole officials and concession operators agreed immediately to cease drawing for numbers, but they said they would finish selling the supply of programs now on hand.

The attorney general's office was asked for an opinion on the matter when defendants facing a lottery charge in Baltimore claimed their weekly drawing in a tavern shuffleboard game was not substantially different from the "lucky number" plan at the ball games.

Ezzard Shoots for Kayos in Exhibition

DENVER (INS)—Promoter Stanton Gould said today that former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles will attempt to knock out two foes he will meet tomorrow night in exhibition boxing bouts at Denver.

Proceeds of the program will go to the Damon Runyon Cancer benefit program.

Charles, who is preparing for a June 27 title bout in New York with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, will meet Jack Nelson of Salt Lake City and Mac Chris of Tooele, Utah, in the exhibition bouts.

Medicine Comes First

Bobby Brown, Leaving Service, Ready to Return to Yankees Until July 1st

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bobby Brown, a one-time $35,000 bonus baby who used a New York Yankee paycheck to put himself through medical school, is back home after 19th months far Eastern duty as an Army doctor and determined to devote full time to his first love—medicine.

But Lt. Brown hopes to put in two months at his old job as a Yankee third baseman before he quits baseball.

"If the Yankees want me until July 1 I am ready," said 29-year-old Bobby. "But let me make something plain. This is merely for two months. On July 1, my residency begins in the San Francisco county hospital. I want to be on the job. But in the meantime, it would be wonderful to be a Yankee again."

Brown said he intended to phone Yankee Manager Casey Stengel to see if they want him on that basis.

Brown arrived yesterday on the Navy transport Gen. D. I. Sultan with his wife, Sara, and their 13-month-old son, Pete. He said he will be discharged from the Army today or tomorrow at nearby Camp Stoneman.

A first lieutenant in the Army medical corps, he described himself as being in top physical shape and predicted he could "play as well as when I left." However, he added:

"Medicine is my chosen field. I can't keep postponing it just because I love baseball."

Brown spent nine months in Korea treating stretcher patients, often under enemy fire—at a 43rd infantry division battalion aid station. That work didn't leave him any time for baseball. "I didn't have the time or the inclination," he said.

"I don't know how long it would take me to get into shape," he added. "Some players take quite a while. Some can do it in a hurry. I've never been away from the game this long before, so I can't say for myself."

Woman Winner, of Derby Trip and Race Horse

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 29 (AP)—A 62-year-old New England grandmother, who will see her first Kentucky Derby this Saturday, is more interested now in seeing the horse she won.

Mrs. Evelyn Foley acquired the thoroughbred after winning first place in a horse-naming contest. She also got a trip to the derby, expense money and $500 extra.

Mrs. Foley will be introduced to Filleguine today at Churchill Downs, with the official presentation being made later in the day by jockey Ted Atkinson and Monte Harris, Wheeling, W. Va. Harris' tobacco firm sponsored the contest.

Filleguine is a 2-year-old filly from Almahurst Farm, Lexington.

Fawn-Carrying Does Killed in Accidents

LANSING (AP)—Two does, each about 10 months old, killed in separate highway accidents in the northern Lower Peninsula, were found to be carrying fawns, the state conservation department reported.

The department said most does in the northern area don't give birth to fawns until their second year of life.

Wildlife workers said the report may be an indication that the special "any deer" seasons in the past few years have increased the fawn production.

Whitey Ford of the Yankees beat the White Sox five times without a loss during the 1953 season.

Several Shifts Expected Among Yank Starters

Carey, McDougald and Coleman Figure in NY Pilot's Plans

BY JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel, upset by dull infield play, is about ready to go into his juggling act. And nobody juggles like Casey, not even Ringling's best.

Andy Carey may go to third base. Gil McDougald may go to second. Jerry Coleman may go to short. Any one, or possibly all, of these shifts can be expected momentarily.

"Carey had a bad leg for about five weeks but he tells me he is ready," said Stengel. "McDougald can play second base and Coleman can play short. Rizzuto played great ball in Philadelphia but he's got two stitches in his hand from a spiking. But then McDougald wasn't so hot against Chicago. I don't know what I'll do yet."

"The infield is our big problem. There's nothing wrong with our pitching. In fact, some of those fellows have been tremendous. Just look up their earned run records and you'll see."

"How about Mickey Mantle?" "I'll play Mantle whenever I feel like he should play. If the other team uses a left-handed pitcher, he'll probably be in there. His knee never has been well since the operation or else he'd have been hitting left-handed on the way north."

"He's going to have to be rested from time to time. That's why I took him out the other day."

Mantle, a switch hitter, simply hasn't been hitting left-handed. In fact, he hasn't been doing much hitting right-handed either, for his average is a scrawny .167.

Stengel has been impressed by the play of Bill Skowron, the rookie first baseman, who plays against left-handed pitching. He is hitting .320.

Stengel was satisfied with Enos Slaughter's debut as a starter. The veteran St. Louis Cardinal castoff had a double off Don Johnson in Tuesday's game with the White Sox.

For the present, the Yanks probably will play Irv Noren in center and Slaughter in right when a righthander works for the enemy. Mantle and Hank Bauer play against the left-handers. But then Bauer has been working in center, too.

'Name' Bowlers Ousted in ABC Masters' Meet

SEATTLE (AP)—There were 48 survivors in the American Bowling Congress Masters Tournament today but among those missing from the original list of 64 were some top-bracket performers who had been expected to make a better showing.

One who went down in a clatter of pins was Rudy Habeter, defending champion from Chicago.

40 Americans in British Test

Stranahan, Sweeney Are on List for Amateur Event, May 24

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, April 29 (AP)—Forty Americans, including former British champions Frank Stranahan and Bob Sweeney, have entered the British Amateur golf championship, the Royal and Ancient golf club has announced.

Total field for the six-day tournament, which opens May 24 at Muirfield, is 303, including defending champion Joe Carr of Ireland. Stranahan, of Toledo, Ohio, won the British title in 1948 and 1950. Sweeney, of Palm Beach, Fla., was the 1937 champion.

Other prominent American entries included Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia, who played on the U. S. Walker Cup team in Britain in 1951; William C. Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., a member of the 1953 U. S. Walker Cup team, and Frank Straffi of Garden City, N. Y.

His downfall came at the hands of Pat Dick Hoover, former Akron, Ohio, bowler who now works for Uncle Sam at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Hoover defeated his older and more experienced opponent, $11,806.

Two other "name" bowlers dropped into the losers' bracket of the double-elimination tournament being run in conjunction with the 51st annual American Bowling Congress championships.

They were Lee Jouglard of Detroit, an ex-champ who lost to Bill Blanks, Seattle, 785-750, and Steve Nagy, Cleveland, downed by Ken Bailer, San Francisco, 733-770.

The Masters meet was shoved slightly in the background by one development in the ABC championships as a new leader was crowned in the all-events standings.

Richards Sees Chisox Ending Yankee Reign

Paul Says AL More Balanced; Horse Bench, Pitching Better

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK (INS)—The Yanks will not win their 6th straight pennant this year. The White Sox are the fair-haired boys who will take it all.

The man doing the tub-thumping is our old friend Paul Richards, manager of the aforesaid White Sox. Of course, you will want to know the reasons for such optimism. Listen to Paul:

"The American League is stronger this year. There are no push-overs for the Yanks to murder. Both Baltimore and Detroit are each at least 20 per cent stronger than last year."

"Incidentally, that's a pretty fine defensive outfield Detroit has with Jim Delsing, Al Kaline and Bill Tuttle. Those boys can get 'em." Everybody has been raving about Bob Turley, the Orioles' big right hander with the blistering speed, so we asked Paul what he thought of the young man.

"Turley's fast all right," Paul replied, "but the best pitcher the Orioles have is Joe Coleman."

Where does he think his own club has improved?

"We'll be stronger against left hand pitching. We have a stronger bench and improved pitching. I'm going to alternate Grady Hatton and Cass Michaels at 3rd base."

That was the weak spot in the Chicago line-up last year. It is apparent that he thinks highly of his pitching staff, including Bill Pierce, Virgil Trucks, Don Johnson, Mike Fornieles, Harry Dorish, Bob Keegan and Jack Harshman.

Weather Delays Open House for Speedway

Inclement weather first of the week has delayed the open house for Andy Barto's Motor City Speedway. The event will now take place May 8-9. It had been planned to have open house this weekend, with racing starting on Sunday. Rain halted laying of the asphalt top, hence the change in plans.

The largest opening day crowd in American League history was the 73,163 who saw the Browns play the Indians at Cleveland Stadium April 20, 1948.

'Pruning' Talk Roils Lane

By JOE REICHER
NEW YORK (U-P)—General Manager Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox objected strongly today to a suggestion by Baltimore's Arthur Ehlert that baseball moguls should give "serious consideration to pruning Chicago, New York and Philadelphia to one team cities."

Lane, who had been engaged in a verbal tiff with Yankee Manager Casey Stengel throughout the winter, turned his sights on Ehlert, and told the Orioles' general manager, in effect, to mind his own business.

"Mr. Ehlert's unqualified statement wherein he views with alarm future baseball operation not only in Chicago but in New York and Philadelphia as well," Lane said, "directs attention toward Mr. Ehlert's previous operations in Philadelphia where efforts were attended by something less than colossal success."

Ehlert, in an interview in the Sporting News, predicted there would be a sweeping change in the alignment of the major leagues in the next five years.

"Successful transfer of the Braves and Orioles will almost certainly result in the cities of Los Angeles, San Francisco, Houston, Toronto, Minneapolis St. Paul, Montreal and Atlanta being given a chance to prove they can support big league ball."

He said he did not believe expansion of the American and National Leagues to 10 teams each would be feasible.

"Before we do that," Ehlert said, "we should make sure we have eight solid teams in each league, each capable of attracting a million customers a year. We don't have that ideal setup now. We have too many weak sisters."

"The best way to strengthen and expand and realign is to cut away the deadwood in the leagues now and replace it with new, fresh enthusiastic cities. I'd start by pruning in Philadelphia, New York and perhaps continue later in Chicago. Each of these cities is struggling to support two or more major league teams."

This brought a caustic reply from the effervescent Mr. Lane.

Olympic Body Should End Horse Event Controversy

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK (U-P)—Sir Frank Beaurepaire, former head of the Australian Olympic committee, said today that the international Olympic committee should settle for good the question of Olympic equestrian events at its meeting in Athens, May 14-16.

Regarding the controversial matter of staging the 1956 horse events in Melbourne, Sir Frank adopted a "what's all the fuss about?" attitude. But the problem is one which will affect other nations and might have far-reaching effects on future Olympics, he added. For that reason, a permanent, effective plan should be adopted now.

Beaurepaire's proposal was that the equestrian events should be divorced from the main body of the Olympic games and made a separate competition like the winter games. Then, to avoid future problems of quarantines and travel, they should be awarded in turn to a group of European and American cities which could hold them to the best advantage.

The controversy, which has been steaming for more than a year, revolves around Australia's animal quarantine laws. These prohibit the importation of horses into Australia until they have undergone a six months quarantine period in England, Ireland or New Zealand.

New York Slaps Ban on Jackson

Thirty-Day Suspension Follows Medical Tests on Heavyweight

NEW YORK, April 29 (U-P)—Hurricane Tommy Jackson, who was defeated by Jimmy Slade Monday night, was suspended for 30 days today by Chairman Bob Christenberry of the New York State Athletic Commission. A medical examination revealed the heavyweight had a swelling in his right upper forearm.

Dr. Mal Stevens, head of the medical advisory board; Dr. Ira McCown, medical director of the commission; and Dr. Samuel Swetnick, the club physician at Eastern Parkway Monday, all examined the boxer. It was on their recommendation that Christenberry took action.

Jackson also was asked about reported statements after the fight that he expected to lose and blamed his mother for bothering him. The boxer apologized to the commission and his mother, who was present, saying he had been wrong in saying such things but lost his head in the disappointment of defeat.

Wake Forest Star Links Test Favorite.

ATHENS, Ga. (U-P)—The Southern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament opens today with the spotlight on Wake Forest's Arnold Palmer because of what he did in final practice.

In rehearsal rounds yesterday, he shot a five-under-par 67. He went out in 32 and came back in 35 for the lowest mark in practice.

John Maddox of Georgia Tech had three strokes more in winning low medal honors in a match between Tech and Florida State University on the Athens country club course yesterday.

State to Study Fish From Three Counties

LANSING (U-P)—Conservation department crews will be netting, marking and returning fish in Big Portage Lake, Jackson county, and Whitmore Lake, Washtenaw and Livingston counties, in the next few weeks.

The department said that the checks of the kind and number of the fish population is part of a study of experimental fishing regulations which have been in effect on the lakes since 1946.

Leahy Signed as Narrator, Host, for TV

HOLLYWOOD (U-P)—Frank Leahy, former Notre Dame football coach, has been signed to act as host and narrator in a half-hour weekly filmed TV dramatic program using sports as a background, the American Broadcasting Co. has announced.

The program will be known as the "Frank Leahy Show" and will encompass American stories concerning the influence high school coaches have had upon the careers of the nation's ranking citizens. Professional actors will portray the characters, with those honored appearing as guests and being interviewed by Leahy.

Production is starting in Hollywood now, ABC said, and initial guests are Otto Graham, great Cleveland Browns quarterback, and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wilson. Wilson is a retired high school coach now living on a farm in Macomb, Ill. Graham played for Wilson at Waukegan, Ill.

HERE ARE THE FACTS About Tire Guarantees

All tires carry the manufacturer's Standard LIFE TIME GUARANTEE which means a guarantee only against "factory defects" in workmanship and material . . . BUT only 1 tire in 100 fails because of "Factory Defects." The rest fail because of ROAD HAZARDS (glass cuts, spike, curb cracks, rim bruises, etc.) SO . . . Ask your dealer point blank, "IS THIS TIRE GUARANTEED IN WRITING BY THE MANUFACTURER AGAINST ALL ROAD HAZARDS?"

Billionaire Firms Hit 68, Insurance Company at Top

By ROBERT G. SMOGAL
NEW YORK (UP) — The list of American companies with assets totaling $1,000,000,000 rose to a new record high of 68 last year, a United Press survey showed today. Their combined valuation of $185,211,466,357 was equal to about two-thirds the total national debt, or nearly $1.100 for each person now living in the nation.

In 1932 these corporate billionaires had assets aggregating $176,183,043,848.

Two business giants joined the "Billion Dollar Club" for the first time in 1933, while one company dropped out.

Membership in the club has more than doubled since the start of World War II, although 1933 showed signs of a leveling off in the tremendous growth of industry. In 1932 six companies joined the list.

Some people still refer to 1929 as the nation's biggest boom year, but in that year only 20 firms had assets of $1,000,000,000 or more. By the time of Pearl Harbor the list had swelled to 32.

The spectacular growth of industry in the past 13 years resulted from a combination of hot and cold wars, huge expansion programs, record consumer expenditures and waves of inflation.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., with its assets sweeping past the $12,000,000,000 mark for the first time, headed the list for the third straight year.

The giant Bell Telephone system, steadily narrowing Metropolitan's lead, was in second place with assets of $11,972,707,009. Prudential Insurance was third with $10,944,480,500.

The two new companies to join this charmed circle in 1933 were Phillips Petroleum Co. and Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co. International Harvester Co., which joined the club in 1932, fell out last year as its assets dipped to $972,529,934.

This was the first time since 1943 that a company was dropped from the club's roster.

Ten of the present group — the Pennsylvania Railroad and nine banks — showed year-to-year decreases in total assets.

The survey showed that 17 of these 68 assets giants also chalked up sales or gross revenues of $1,000,000,000 or more in 1933.

In their respective fields, Metropolitan, Bell, Du Pont, Standard

Oil (New Jersey), Pennsylvania Railroad, Bank of America, General Motors, Sears, Roebuck and General Motors Acceptance Corp. were the largest in the world. GMAC is a subsidiary of General Motors Corp., but it is included in GM's asset total only to the extent of $152,479,287.

The latest list of billionaires included 22 banks with combined assets of $66,422,548,575; 17 industrial concerns with $35,965,476,066; and 15 insurance companies valued at $53,995,343,586.

It also showed six railroads with assets of $11,912,300,468; four public utilities with $16,268,220,539; three credit firms with $5,259,845,307 and one mail order house with assets of $1,538,440,496.

80-Year-Old Finds Model T Just the Thing

LANCASTER, N. Y. (UP) — An 80-year-old man and his Model T are familiar sights in this community.

Joseph V. Suttel has been operating his 1923 Ford for 30 years and says he "just could think about another car."

"Don't see why I should waste money on one of these fancy new cars," he added. "Besides they're dangerous. Go too fast."

Suttel had the speedometer removed years ago but says he has driven his car about 25 to 40 miles a day six days a week since he bought it. He delivers mail for several local concerns.

The only "modern" improvement was the addition of a self-starter several years ago. The car is in excellent condition and receives periodic checkups whether it needs them or not.

He has never had an accident and is convinced the car won't exceed any speed limits.

"Guess me and my car are just alike," he said. "You can't keep either of us down. I've got a lot of work in me yet. So's the old Model T got a lot of miles in her."

American Cancer Society research grants operate in 35 states and the District of Columbia.

There are about 137,000 clergymen in the U.S.

Bond Issue Vote Will Be Studied

Sylvan Lake City Group to Meet With Attorney on Water System

A meeting between bond attorney Claude H. Stevens and the Sylvan Lake City Council will be held May 5 to consider a special election on a bond issue to finance the proposed $225,000 municipal water system.

Two financing plans have been under consideration according to City Manager Ernest Ethier. They are:

1. Issuance of $100,000 of revenue or special assessment general obligation bonds plus $125,000 in general obligation bonds.
2. A $125,000 general obligation bond issue with the balance to be paid at the rate of $100 per lot by property owners.

On May 5, Stevens is expected to present a resolution for council consideration calling for a special election. A three-fifths vote of Sylvan Lake electors would be needed to authorize a bond issue.

Some 200 property owners gave general approval to construction of a city water system at a council meeting March 5. All Sylvan Lake water now comes from private wells.

It's a Stinging Business for Beekeeper of Year

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP)—A Groton, N. Y., beekeeper says he gets stung on the average of 50 times a day, but thinks little of it. Gray-haired Brown Cogshall, who has kept bees for 50 years and is the son of a beekeeper, was chosen beekeeper-of-the-year by the Empire State Honey Producers Association at the annual meeting here.

Cogshall said he keeps about 700 hives. He works barehanded but wears a veil for eye protection. "The last sting hurts the worst each day," he said, "but they don't swell up on me like they used to."

Bachelor Dick Gets Good Spots

Has Been on Studio One and on Post-War Stage in Two Blind Mice

NEW YORK — Richard Kendrick, popular TV star, comes to video with Broadway experience. Kendrick was born in Vermillion, S. D. and was graduated from the University of Michigan. After graduation he headed for Chicago, where he handled small parts at the Goodman Theater and in summer stock.

Next stop was Hollywood, where, after a little extra work in movies, he decided stock was more rewarding. So he worked his way eastward via a series of stock company acting jobs.

Dick's first Broadway part was the juvenile lead in Double Door, followed by a co-starring role with Phyllis Baxter in Claudia. When war came, he found himself in the Quartermaster Corps at Camp Lee, Va.

Following his discharge, he headed back to New York. This time he turned to television, landed roles in such dramatic programs as Studio One.

His only post-war stage appearance was with Jan Sterling and Melvyn Douglas in Two Blind Mice.

Calls Military Law Outmoded

Attorney for Dickenson Claims Brainwashing Poses New Problem

WASHINGTON — Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson's lawyer said today military law is using outmoded methods in dealing with men subjected to Communist brainwashing techniques.

"This is a new thing," Guy Emery told reporters in advance of the start of the ninth day of Dickenson's court-martial. "The law hasn't caught up with it."

Emery was referring to the difference between present-day Communist pressure tactics and the traditional practice of keeping prisoners of war under guard, but unmolested.

Dickenson, 23, from Cracker's Neck, Va., is charged with collaborating with his Communist captors while a prisoner of war in Korea and with informing on his buddies.

Emery said he planned to complete the defense case by tonight. The attorney would not say whether Dickenson would take the stand, but it was considered unlikely that he would testify.

Dickenson was one of 23 men who refused repatriation after the Korean armistice was signed. He and one other later elected to return to U.S. control.

Three psychiatrists testified yesterday in a defense move to prove that Dickenson could not tell the difference between right and wrong when he allegedly took up a pro-Communist line as a POW.

Emery said, "The question of insanity is not involved. It is more one of duress."

The lawyer, a West Point graduate, said the Army's definition of legal insanity and duress is "too rigid, too narrow, to apply to the situation in the world today."

Groom Designs His Bride's Wedding Gown

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Superstition got a slap in the face when William O'Bryan married Helen Demas.

O'Bryan not only saw his bride-to-be in her wedding dress before the ceremony—he designed it.

O'Bryan drew the sketch of the gown in one afternoon. It took the bride's mother, Mrs. Nick Demas, three months to copy it in satin and lace.

Designing dresses is nothing new to O'Bryan. He's been sketching dresses and hats ever since he was big enough to hold a pencil.

When he was 16, O'Bryan entered a dress design contest sponsored by the Memphis Press-Scimitar and won first prize. The next year, O'Bryan placed first again, and was given a scholarship to the Memphis Academy of Arts.

O'Bryan's first job at 18 was designing dresses for a leading manufacturer. He was drafted into the Army just as his sketches were being made into thousands of popularly priced dresses.

O'Bryan has re-enlisted for a new tour of duty, but his bride hopes he'll keep in practice by designing dresses for her.

River Gives Up Body

PORT HURON (UP)—The body of Thomas Muir, 37, of Port Huron, was recovered Wednesday from the Black River. He had been missing since April 15.

CHEESE QUEEN—Dressed in Swiss dress, Rosemarie Mueller, of Sugar Creek, Ohio, presents a loaf of cheese to Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson in his Washington office. Rosemarie is Queen of the Swiss Cheese Festival being held in the center of Ohio's cheese-making area.

Bridge Engineer to Talk

HOUGHTON (UP)—Dr. David B. Steinman, internationally known bridge engineer and scientist, will deliver the commencement address at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology May 23.

Lebanon Leans to West

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UP)—Members of the pro-Western National Front Party said today they believed the Lebanese Chamber of Deputies would approve a defensive military pact with the West if such a treaty was offered.

10 County Men to Be Speakers

To Talk at Planning and Zoning Parley Friday, Saturday in Detroit

Ten Oakland County men will be among speakers at Detroit Regional Planning Commission's fourth annual planning and zoning conference Friday and Saturday.

Hundreds of planners and government men from Macomb, Oakland and Wayne Counties and Washtenaw County's four eastern townships will attend the conference at Detroit Veterans' Memorial Building.

The men will split into small groups to talk over problems like traffic and parking, shopping centers, building and zoning laws, and providing water, sewers and drains in fast-growing areas.

Keynote speaker will be Dennis O'Harrow of Chicago, executive of American Society of Planning Officials. His speech, "Local Planning in a Metropolitan Region," will follow a luncheon Saturday.

T. Ledyard Blakeman, Detroit planning commission director; George R. Thompson, commission chairman, and Paul M. Reid will speak at Friday's morning meeting.

Four area men will serve as chairmen of four of the nine panels of speakers.

discussing building codes is Carl Alt, Fremont building inspector.

Harold K. Schum, Oak Park city manager, will lead a panel discussion on zoning and Harry J. Merritt, Oakland County corporation counsel, a panel on township problems.

Another area man on the panel is George G. Schmid, Southeastern Oakland Authority engineer-manager, member of the "water, sewers and drainage" group.

Robert Beaman, Birmingham planner, and James Hickey, Oak Park planner, are members of a group discussing local planning commission work.

Musician Not Certain of His Wife's Name

BOSTON (UP)—An educational radio station in Symphony Hall was going to use the name of Ruth Russell, violinist, in an announcement. But the announcer didn't know the correct pronunciation.

In private life she is the wife of Richard Burgin, concert master and associate conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. So the announcer decided to ask her husband whether it was "Puss-elt" or "Puss-elt'."

Burgin scratched his head, then said, "You'd better ask her."

Noting the look of astonishment

U.S. Moves to Forestall May Day Riots in Japan

TOKYO (UP)—The U. S. Army, Navy and Air Force today ordered personnel off Tokyo streets Saturday in an apparent effort to avoid any repeat of the Communist-inspired May Day brawls two years ago.

Two years ago, demonstrators chanted, "Go Home Yanks," fought pitched battles with police, burned American automobiles and tossed two American sailors into the Palace moat. There was no large scale violence last year.

Most widely used method of artificial respiration was devised in 1903.

Cross Made Too Heavy by Frugal Honey Bees

RICHFORD, Va. (UP)—The four-foot cross on the roof of All Saints Catholic Church began tilting.

Fearful of an accident, pastor Rev. Charles Marcoux sent two steeplejacks up to find the trouble and make repairs.

They found heavy trouble—150 pounds of it.

Bees had made a home in the hollow base of the cross and had stored 150 pounds of honey.

Pontiac Dental Hygienist Honored at Convention

Mrs. Ruth Toepfer, dental hygienist for Pontiac Public Schools' fluoride treatment program, was given a past president's certificate by Michigan Dental Hygienists' Assn. Tuesday.

Mrs. Toepfer was among 30 past presidents honored at a special breakfast in Detroit during the association's thirty-second annual convention. She served as president in 1952.

The American Red Cross was founded in 1881.

Scouts Attend Program at Adams PTA Meeting

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Cub Scouts from Jayno Adams and Sashabaw schools attended the All Scout program recently held at the Jayno Adams PTA meeting.

At the business meeting, it was voted to purchase a refrigerator for the school cafeteria. Refreshments were served by the executive committee.

Nebraska's capital, Lincoln, was called Lancaster until 1867.

Royal Oak Police Officer to Attend Traffic Course

ROYAL OAK — Lt. Dale Williams of the Royal Oak Police Dept. will be one of 10 representatives of Michigan law enforcement departments to attend a new basic police traffic course at Michigan State College May 3 to 28.

About one-half of the men's and boys' clothing is manufactured in New York.

Ranchers Preserving Coyotes Who Kill Mice

TOPONAS, Colo. — Coyotes are now finding a friend in western ranchers who once shot them on sight. The ranchers are posting "Coyotes Protected" signs says Audubon Magazine.

The change of attitude results from the discovery that coyotes help keep down mice, gophers, moles and rabbits.

The rodents have destroyed as much as one-third of the hay crops and have cut the livestock carrying capacity of the ranges by as much as one-half.
