The Coming of the King

IV—Called the Child Jesus

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

The innkeeper who had told Joseph and Mary that there was no room in his inn watched Joseph turn away and sadly lead off the donkey on which Mary was riding.

As they turned away, he noticed that Mary was soon to have a baby.

He was a tender-hearted man and a kind one. It had made him unhappy to turn them away. He stood and thought for a moment. Then he called after them to say that he was ashamed to offer it, but, if they could find no place else, there was a place in the stable, among the animals, where they could sleep.

THE BIRTH OF JESUS

Mary was really too tired to go farther and Joseph gratefully accepted the offer. And so they led their donkey into the stable and there they made up beds for themselves with the straw and the hay that was there for the cattle.

It was during that night and in a corner of that stable that Mary's baby was born. They wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, in which all infants were protected in those days, and, because there was no other place to put Him down, they laid Him in a manger.

The kindly dumb animals came and peered at the babe who had been born so humbly amongst them. We don't know what they said to each other or, indeed, if they said anything at all.

And then Joseph remembered that, months before, he had had a strange dream. An angel had appeared to him in his sleep and had told him that Mary would have a son. The angel told him then to name that son Jesus.

So, now, he picked up the baby and placed Him in His mother's arms. "We will call the child Jesus," he said.

Gaitskell Takes Election; Heads British Labor Party

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

LONDON — Forty-nine-year-old Hugh Gaitskell's election to the leadership of the British Labor Party may have signaled the beginning of another 20-year reign in the post.

HUGH GAITSKELL

The mild-mannered pro-American Gaitskell succeeds Clement Attlee, who held the leadership from 1935 until his resignation and elevation to the peerage as Earl Attlee last week.

British politicians said today that unless there was a complete change in mood among the Laborite M.P.s, the new leader's position would remain unchallenged for many years to come.

Gaitskell will become Prime Minister in the event of a Labor Party victory in future national elections.

On the "morning after," the big question intriguing political observers was what the future held for the two defeated candidates.

Attlee's long-time deputy leader Herbert Morrison, 67, came in a poor third with only 40 of the 267 ballots cast. He immediately resigned the deputy's post, and there were reports that the bitterly disappointed Morrison might resign from the party.

SURPRISING STRENGTH

The 58-year-old Bevan showed surprising strength in gaining 70 votes to Gaitskell's 157. The vitriolic Welshman might run for the deputy leadership in the post-Christmas balloting.

Observers viewed it as a "considerable achievement" and an indication that there was still considerable support among the Laborites for a definite Left-Wing policy.

The pro-labor mass circulation Daily Mirror hailed the election results as a rebirth of the labor party, and said it could "now look ahead."

The conservative Daily Telegraph predicted today that Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler will be named deputy prime minister next week. The Telegraph said he would be succeeded at the treasury by Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan.

Plan Rewards for Top Soldier at Missile Base

Ask Pvt. Bill Pritchett, member of the Nike guided missile battery located at Auburn Heights, and he'll tell you that it pays to be a good soldier.

Pritchett, member of Battery D of the 516th AAA Missile Battalion, has just been voted the "Soldier of the Month" by the officers of the battalion.

Considered the most improved soldier by his battery commander, Capt. Harold E. Strong, Pritchett's rewards begin tomorrow night.

He will attend the Fire Fighters Benefit Ball, courtesy of the Pontiac USO, and be accompanied by junior hostess Judy Steinhelper. His platoon leader, 2nd Lt. Herbert P. Gray and his date, hostess Sue Houghton, will also be included in the party.

The foursome will drive in style to the dance in a new car supplied by the Pontiac Retail Store.

Posse Hunting Youthful Slayer

Spurned Teenager Kills Parents, Uncle of Girl; Flees in Pennsylvania

VANDERGRIFT, Pa. (AP)—Police searched rugged countryside near here today for a 17-year-old crazed high school junior who shot and killed the parents and uncle of the girl who spurned him.

Slain in their farm home last night 30 miles northeast of Pittsburgh were J. Warren Small, 44, a gas well driller; his wife, Irene, 36; and William A. Small, 49, brother of J. Warren Small.

The girl who police say was the center of the tragedy was shot and seriously wounded. She is 15-year-old Gladys Small.

Police named John Fallone as the slayer. Nearly a score of officers from all sections of western Pennsylvania searched for him. They were warned he may be hard to capture—that he's carrying the .22 caliber automatic rifle with which he cut down members of the Small family.

A night long search through a heavily wooded area rapidly covered by snow failed to turn up "any trace" of Fallone, police said.

More officers were added to the detail at daybreak.

Gladys didn't lose consciousness in her ambulance ride to the hospital. Sobbing, she said:

"I went to a dance with him (Fallone) about a year ago. He got serious and wouldn't let me talk to other boys. He wanted me for himself. My parents finally forbade me to see him. Then he threatened us, said 'I'll get all of you some day.'"

A heavy guard was thrown up about the Fallone home. His father, Ernest, 39, a millworker, cried. And so did Mrs. Fallone. Looking out a window filled with Christmas candles, Mrs. Fallone said over and over:

"He was always such a good boy—such a good boy."

Solons Provide Space to House 1,500 Children

Settle Row Over Beds for Retarded; Will Use Farmington Hospital

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's 40-day legislative row over emergency care for mentally retarded children ended peacefully last night in what Gov. Williams called a "respectable compromise."

After fighting bitterly since Nov. 4, the House and Senate slammed the settlement through unanimously in a short night session. The Legislature then adjourned until Jan. 11.

As a result, Michigan has 1,500 additional beds for the 1,250 children who have been waiting weeks, months and years for admittance to state mental institutions.

The compromise resolved mainly around the use to be made of the Farmington Children's Hospital, a private institution.

The Senate had steadfastly refused to buy or lease it on the grounds it would interfere with a long-range solution of the problem.

A coalition of House Democrats and "Young Turk" Republicans had demanded it be bought or leased because they said it was the only means of providing several hundred "immediate beds."

The compromise lets the state put 110 to 150 children in the hospital on a contract basis, the state providing the staff and the beds and the hospital the food and utilities.

The package deal also includes leasing of the empty Ft. Custer Station Hospital to house 800 children, placing another 100 in boarding homes, another 100 in contract hospitals and 350 in new buildings soon to come into use at the Mount Pleasant and Coldwater State Home and Training Schools.

Also provided is $100,000 to plan a 2,500-bed hospital in southeastern Michigan.

Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield), the man credited by both parties with initiating the compromise, said that the emergency and long-range program now authorized by the Legislature will provide 5,803 new beds by July 1, 1959.

Board Okays State Aid Split

Teachers Will Receive a Maximum of $235 in Distribution

A formula was agreed on last night by the Pontiac Board of Education for distribution of the $160,515 expected in supplemental state aid for employe salaries.

Teachers with no experience will receive $100, with $10 added for each year of experience up to a maximum $230.

Administrators will receive a maximum $250. Secretaries, custodians and maintenance employes will get $100 with lesser amounts for part-time personnel in these categories, depending on how many hours they work each week.

School guards and cafeteria workers will receive a maximum $25.

The distribution will be made in two installments—the first in early January.

"This doesn't affect our salary schedule," said Board Member Robert B. Oliver. "It's just extra money we got this year and it may not be forthcoming next year."

Board President Louis H. Schimmel said the first payment would be processed as soon as possible to reach employes in time to help with Christmas expenses.

Soviet Attacks U.S. Trade Acts

Russians Say America Creates Big Obstacles in International Field

MOSCOW (AP)— The Soviet Union launched a new attack on U.S. trade policies today and said the United States has created large obstacles to international trade.

A special Tass statement released by the Foreign Ministry accused the United States of creating barriers to the development of international trade and thus hindering relations between the Soviet Union and the West.

The statement said during informal talks with Secretary of State Dulles in Geneva, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov emphasized the necessity of expanding contacts between the two countries by re-establishing normal trade. The statement said Dulles made no comment on this important proposal.

It said Molotov emphasized the Russian position called for not only occasional trade deals but the removal of all barriers to trade between the two countries.

The statement cited the 1937 trade agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union and blamed U.S. abrogation of this agreement for the present poor trade relations.

Allen Park Threatens Toll Road Court Suit

DETROIT (AP)—Allen Park, in the path of the proposed Rockwood-to-Saginaw toll road, today threatened court action to block the project.

The village attorney, John Kruse, said a suit probably will be started against the Michigan Turnpike Authority if Allen Park is not furnished detailed plans by Dec. 27 on the routing of the toll road. He said the village may seek an injunction to stop the authority from selling bonds for the project or starting construction.

The Village Council wants to know, said Kruse, what effect the toll road will have on homes, schools and churches.

School Board Buys Home for Additional Office Space

The Pontiac Board of Education last night decided to purchase for $40,000 the former O. J. Beaudette home at 87 Franklin Blvd. to house its psychologist, visiting teachers, hearing therapists, nurses and speech correctionists.

The move is expected to increase the effectiveness of these related services by bringing them together in one building, said Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

After remodeling, expected to cost less than $2,000, the building will include at least 13 large-size offices. The garage, which includes a heated apartment, can also be utilized and the lawn area will provide ample parking space.

"We could never duplicate these facilities in a school or separate building as cheaply as we can buy this house," said Board President Louis H. Schimmel.

The building can be readied for occupancy in a short time, he added.

Walled Lake Mother, Mrs. Mary Claghorn Dies at Scene

A 46-year-old Walled Lake mother of two children, was killed this morning when her car apparently skidded into the path of a truck at 12 Mile and Farmington Road.

According to Cpl. M. J. McFall of the Redford Post of the State Police, Mrs. Mary Claghorn, 46, was pronounced dead at the scene by Farmington Deputy Coroner Dr. Theodore W. Ling.

McFall said that Mrs. Claghorn's car skidded into the wrong lane and was struck by a truck driven by Robert Hoogerhyde of Clawson.

Hoogerhyde is scheduled to make a statement to Assistant Prosecutor Donald A. Brown at the South Oakland Prosecutor's Royal Oak office this morning.

Russia Relents, Withdraws Veto on All but Japan

Italy, Austria, Ireland and Spain Are Among New Members

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—Sixteen countries, including Italy, Austria, Ireland and Spain, were formally welcomed and seated today alongside 60 other member states of the United Nations General Assembly.

The revitalized assembly moved into its last two days of session in a restive mood, visibly strengthened by the fact that Russia had bowed for the first time to the will of the majority in the Security Council and waived the veto against 12 free states.

The others voted into the world organization at yesterday's dramatic sessions of the Security Council and General Assembly were: Ceylon, Nepal, Finland, Libya, Portugal, Laos, Cambodia, Jordan and Communist Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania.

All were present in the domed Assembly hall except Laos, Cambodia, Albania and Bulgaria. Apparently those governments had been caught short by the U. N.'s sudden reversal on the membership problem and had not dispatched their representatives to global headquarters in time.

The morning Assembly session, which was to have resumed voting on the Philippine-Yugoslav race for the Security Council, was given over to welcoming speeches and explanations of votes on the Assembly's historic decision which broke the nine-year membership deadlock.

The election to fill a 1956-57 vacancy on the Security Council will be held tomorrow.

A number of U. N. diplomats deplored Japan's omission from the ranks of the new member states, caused by Russia's vetoing of the Japanese candidacy. Hope was expressed that Japan would take its place in the U. N. at the 1956 Assembly session.

The council will meet late today at the request of U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge,

Police Quiz Suspect in 1928 Club Slaying

A 67-year-old man, who Chicago police say has admitted that he witnessed the 1928 Pontiac slaying of James Blair during a poker game, was held under $10,000 bond today on charges of gambling and carrying a concealed weapon.

Will Marshall, who was arrested during a gambling raid five days ago, will be held pending the arrival of extradition papers from Michigan, according to Judge John R. McSweeney.

Marshall reportedly told Lt. James McMahon of the homicide detail that he was present when Blair was killed by a baseball bat Dec. 6, 1928, although he denied that he was the slayer.

He and five others were nabbed by police while they were playing poker. Judge McSweeney has extended Marshall's hearing to Jan. 4.

Area Roads Become Slick After Cold Snap, Snow

Old Man Winter bit hard into Pontiac and the rest of Southeastern Michigan this morning and coated county and city roads with ice that made driving extremely dangerous.

These hazardous driving conditions cost the life of a 46-year-old Walled Lake mother whose car skidded into the path of a truck at 12 Mile and Farmington road.

No other injury accidents were reported to either Oakland County Sheriff's Department or to the Pontiac Police. Traffic on Telegraph Road this morning was reported stopped, due to a number of large trucks jack-knifing across the highway.

And Old Man Winter doesn't look as though he promises any sign of relief. Weather will remain cloudy, windy and cold with occasional snow flurries today, tonight and tomorrow.

The temperature dropped to a low of 9 at 9 a. m. and a high of from 16 to 20 is forecast for today with low tonight predicted to be from 10 to 14 degrees.

It is not supposed to go higher than from 20 to 24 tomorrow.

The wintry blasts of near blizzard conditions were reported today in eastern portions of the Dakotas and in Minnesota along with icy winds gripping the western portion of Michigan.

Canada is not escaping the torments of winter as one person is reported dead and two others missing and feared dead as a blizzard bit into Alberta and sank deep into Saskatchewan.

The lowest temperature preceeding 8 a. m. was 11. The temperature in downtown Pontiac was 16 at 2 p. m.

Gift Suggestions for Young Shoppers Are Mindful of Slim Budgets for Yule

By JANET ODELL

Boys and girls, this article is for you. As we go through the Pontiac stores we look for gifts you can buy. We know your pennies will stretch only so far.

One store has a pretty goblet (that's a glass with a long stem) filled with rose petals. Mother or grandmother will like to put the flower petals in their dresser drawers, then use the goblet for jelly.

Mother won't forget what she has to buy at the grocery store if she has a little metal indicator that shows what foods she needs. It's small enough to carry in her purse. The store in which we saw the little reminder also had a gift mousetrap that serves as a paper weight. Dad could use that.

If you're looking for an unusual gift for your best girl friend, get her a "My Chum" book. It has a number of plastic pockets in which she can put pictures of all her favorite people.

Your smaller brothers and sisters will like the candy cane baskets filled with Christmas candy. The baskets themselves are made of peppermint stick candy.

Father will like a pair of nylon stretch socks. You don't even have to know his exact size to buy these. You can get them for children also, just as you can get stretchy nylons for women. There are also stretchy gloves to be bought.

One amusing gift we saw is a zipper-upper. Anyone who has gotten a crick in her neck trying to pull up a full-length back zipper will know how valuable this gadget is.

If Mom entertains a lot, she'll like to have a little box of bright colored plastic picks. She'll use these for spearing of cheese, fruit, shrimp or olives for canapes.

You will be able to find any of the above gifts for around a dollar or just a little more. Have fun shopping, kids!

Will Bring Vote on Parking Lots

Opponents of $600,000 City Project to Force Referendum

Sufficient signatures have been obtained and will be submitted to the city to force a referendum vote on the $600,000 municipal parking program, Sam L. Stolorow, representative for anti-parking project group, said today.

"We believe the people of Pontiac will welcome discussion of the issue and will decide whether or not they want to spend vast sums of money for municipal parking," Stolorow said.

He said petitioners will continue to secure names on the petitions up to the deadline of filing for a referendum vote. The deadline is Dec. 28.

In answer to a statement made Tuesday night by Commissioner John A. Dugan that some citizens were being scared into signing circulating petitions, Stolorow said, "We are sorry that Mr. Dugan's statement takes exception to the fact that the program could mean additional taxes."

"This fact of additional taxes will be substantiated and proven beyond doubt," he stated.

"It is common knowledge that seldom if ever when the government handles any problem that it does not cost taxpayers more money."

"Everyone knows there is genuine cause for alarm over constantly increased taxes."

"This is not a scare," Stolorow added, "it is an absolute fact and one look at your last tax statement is convincing proof."

"In Mr. Dugan's statement referring to the special interest group, he might have stated that it has been a very selfish special interest group who want automobile taxpayers and Pontiac taxpayers at large to provide them with downtown parking spaces that a few more progressive merchants, both downtown and in the Pontiac area, are providing free for their customers," Stolorow concluded.

School Board Buys Home for Offices

home-type design is suited to the type of corrective program planned for it, Whitmer pointed out.

"Many youngsters with a physical or emotional problem cannot progress normally in school until they adjust to their handicap," he stated.

"Our people who deal with these problems presently are located in small, inadequate offices scattered throughout the system. Many times two or more specialists have to work with the same child.

"Bringing these services together will increase their effectivenss by their close proximity to each other and by having proper facilities in which to work."

Parents and children with such problems often hesitate at coming to a school or business office where they will be seen by outsiders, but should feel easier when asked to come to a building in a residential area where everyone understands their situation, he explained.

The building is large enough to house special-service personnel for at least ten years, Whitmer added.

Future Building Viewed Through Issue of Permits

BIRMINGHAM—Building in Birmingham in future months will include a small insurance office whose building permit was approved this week; a probable office for three doctors, whose permit is being considered now and Siegel's already-approved $260,000 store.

An insurance office is to be built on the southwest corner of Purdy and Brown according to a permit issued to Jane and Helen Higgins, United Artists Building, Detroit.

Three doctors are expected to have offices on the southeast corner of the same intersection, in a one-story building of modern style. It is being built by Beniecke and Lorenz.

Application was accepted for a neighboring building in the string on North Woodward, many of which are owned by Woodry Walker Co., of Detroit. The Woodry Walker firm has plans to build a 20 by 70 foot structure just south of the Nordstrom Building and Reed Clinic.

Siegel's has taken no action on building, though its permit was issued Oct. 9. Its L-shaped building would wrap around two small units, one of which is being newly occupied by the Southern Import Co. That site is owned by the firm proposing to build for Siegel, Maple Bates, Inc.

Glenn Harris will officiate and burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Gardens. Born in Owen Sound, Ont., he came here in 1936, and worked at carpentry most of his life. 16 Nations Join U.N. as Russia Relents

Jr. to vote on his motion to admit Japan at next year's assembly session.

Russia had given as the pretext for her 76th veto in 10 years that Japan had not yet signed a peace treaty with the Kremlin but said she favored Tokyo's admission at the 1956 assembly.

Actually, Moscow was holding up Japanese entry as a bargaining point for Communist Outer Mongolia's entry.

Nationalist China vetoed the Red satellite in the council balloting Tuesday and the Soviet promptly followed by using the veto on each of 15 proposed free world nations.

Russia reconsidered yesterday, however, and paved the way for last night's approval of 16 new members by agreeing to uphold her pressing for Outer Mongolia's admission if Japan also were upheld.

The action ended the nine-year deadlock on the membership issue. Admitted were:

Italy, Austria, Spain, Portugal, Ireland, Libya, Finland, Ceylon, Nepal, Laos, Cambodia and Jordan and the Red satellites of Albania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania.

CHAMBER JUBILIANT

Thundering applause rolled through the assembly as the emotion-packed chamber gave vent to its jubilation at 10:20 p.m. last night over what key leaders described as "the historic stage" of the U. N.

Lodge stated

"The United States has long favored the admission of all qualified applicants for membership. We are overjoyed that 12 free countries have been elected. They will bring us much in civilization and in wisdom.

"We of the United States have worked hard in collaboration with many others to bring this about."

Full explanation for Russia's sudden surprise reversal in withdrawing its opposition and veto to 12 non-Communist countries on the original "package" list was lacking.

However, top U. N. diplomats were convinced the Kremlin ordered its delegation to yield primarily to counter-act the indignation mounting around the world against what was branded as a "shocking abuse" of the veto power by Russia.

Russia's second veto against Japan's application in two days brought strong repercussions in Tokyo, particularly against Moscow and the Hatoyama government which are conducting peace negotiations.

Although there were regrets over Japan's exclusion, the breaking of the deadlock and Russia's capitulation before the majority will, precipitated an unmistakably jubilant atmosphere.

Speaker after speaker took the rostrum after the final voting and voiced the conviction that tremendous prestige and significance had at long last come to the organization.

There is little doubt that fundamental and far-reaching changes will be brought on under the impact of the 16 new members, especially in the composition of the Security Council and other key bodies.

Installation of a new television transmitter has out-moded most of the aerials in Belfast, Northern Ireland.

Evacuation Plan Studied by Civil Defense Officials

At metings in Oak Park last week, a tentative traffic-control plan was worked out for use in event Detroit must be evacuated under an enemy attack, Oakland County Director of Civil Defense Lewis C. Jarrendt said today.

* * *

State and federal CD officials attended in addition to men from Oakland, Wayne and Macomb Counties and Detroit.

The plan will not be made public until reviewed by Federal Civil Defense Administration personnel, Jarrendt explained.

"Before it can function, we'll have to enroll large numbers of auxiliary police and people to handle communications," he added.

* * *

Once the traffic-control plan is final, details of housing and feeding the evacuees will be studied, Jarrendt stated.

Ford Foundation Sets Record With Huge Gifts

As 1955 bowls along to the close of a record year, the Ford Foundation breaks all marks with the greatest single financial gift in the history of mankind. Five Hundred Million Dollars will be distributed among the colleges and hospitals of the land.

This is breath-taking.

It's tremendous.

Several institutions in this area are remembered in the gigantic philanthropy, chief among them being St. Joseph Mercy Hospital which has been allotted $196,000. "It was definitely an answer to prayer," said Sister Mary William. Her institution is planning a huge campaign to add 200 beds and even before the drive starts, the hearts of the community are gladdened by nearly $200,000. This is the largest single gift in St. Joe's history.

★ ★ ★

The Ford Foundation will receive applause clear around the world for this unprecedented movement. Foundations have existed for many years, but it remains for the Ford group to set an all time record in generosity and good work. The value that accrues to the hospital and educational circles is incalculable.

The Press is especially happy to salute this magnificent gift because of the occasional criticisms that have been leveled of late at the Ford Foundation. Some of the early gifts caused at least a modicum of eyebrow raising but today's answer is overwhelming. It speaks more eloquently than a hundred replies.

Several members of the Foundation are known personally to The Press people and they are men of the highest honor and integrity. They stand for the finest ideals and their general probity is unchallenged. Yet, even to friends, they refused to discuss Ford's plans or intentions. In reply to some more critical questions, they merely smiled gravely and remained silent.

The whole world knows now.

The Foundation has far exceeded anyone's expectations and it distributed the total so widely that hospitals and colleges clear across the land and in all sectors of the United States have benefited.

Coming at the Christmas Season this record-shattering benevolence is especially happily received.

Enforcement Officers Face Difficult Task

No thoughful citizen, remembering the horror of the senseless murder of three Chicago schoolboys October 16, can condemn police for a thorough and aggressive investigation of any likely suspect.

But there is a limit to what a human being can stand who, though innocent, may have difficulty in establishing that fact.

Owen Robert Moser, a 23-year-old Fenton farm hand, was arrested December 3 by a Holly patrolman for a traffic violation. As a suspected deviate, he was questioned about his actions at the times of recent sex crimes. This questioning was perfectly legal. It was the logical thing for the police to do.

But through an unfortunate chain of circumstances, the questioning Moser went through grew into an almost inhuman experience. After more than 30 hours of questioning by the Holly police, he was given a lie detector test and released.

After only a few hours of freedom Cook County officers, apparently not well co-ordinated with Chicago police, ordered him arrested once more. They came to Pontiac, and persuaded Moser to waive extradition and he was taken back to Chicago and held for four full days without charge.

He was questioned again and submitted to more lie detector tests, even after four witnesses had come forward to say they had seen him in Holly on the day of the murders.

The effect of such an ordeal can only be imagined. It is to the credit of Holly Police Chief James Parker that he has told reporters he would try to arrange for further psychiatric treatment for Moser, who underwent such treatment in his youth.

Investigation of crimes must be aggressive, and unfortunately innocent people sometimes suffer as a result of it. Surely it is the responsibility of all police officers to bear that fact in mind and to do everything in their power to protect the innocent at the same time they are doing their best to convict the guilty.

Fireproof Your Tree; Other Items About Yuletide

Courage: What it takes in a woman to get on the scales when somebody is watching.

of the Pontiac Area Day Nursery, to dump a cup of calcium chloride into the water in which you have the tree standing. This is absorbed by the tree and makes it fireproof. We've made the test and find that it does the trick. Our mails are moving fast, according to

Mrs. Fletcher Meldrum

of Keego Harbor who received a Christmas card from her son three days after it was mailed in Korea. If somebody is stealing the light bulbs from your outdoor Christmas tree, follow the example of

Malcolm Hastings

of Drayton Plains. He wired the tree in such a manner that it delivers a knockdown shock to anybody who touches the bulbs. He then watched from the darkness of the house and saw a big fellow flop to the ground, lay prone for a short time and then get up and run away. Be sure to put the live wires above the reach of the small fry. The Scotch terrier in the home of

Mr. and Mrs. Burtram Moody

in Bloomfield Hills received a new doghouse for Christmas, but refused to go into it until it was painted the same color as the old one.

In the spirit of Christmas, only 20 young men under the jurisdiction of the local draft boards will receive their 20-day "greetings" for the first call of the new year. The induction date is Jan. 3.

Minister Praises Article on Vice Squad Activities

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

A few weeks ago, an article appeared in the paper giving an outlined night's work of the Pontiac Police Department. I want to commend this venture and new approach to many of the deplorable conditions going on in our city.

I do believe that it is going to take something of this type to awaken our community to conditions that are living right in our doors.

Being a minister, acquainted with many problems and situations the average person never dreamed exists, it is a striking thing to know dope addicts, illegal gambling houses and the prostitution that are existing right around us, and I think it is time now that we who have kept quiet raise our voices in protest.

Certainly the voice of the press can make a loud noise. May I encourage and request more articles of this type?

'Little Old Lady' Dislikes Remarks by Teenagers

I am a little, old lady who lives out of the city, and I come into town once a week. I have a complaint to make about the teenagers of this city.

I have seen many individuals hurt by the insulting remarks made to and about them by teenagers in groups of two, three and more. (They don't dare if they are alone. It's the old rule of mob psychology, letting the lower brain rule.)

I also have seen individuals go around the block to avoid the verbal persecution of these teenagers, who in many instances aren't any more attractive than the victim, and sometimes less. I think to myself, "Look at those pots, calling the kettle black."

Don't those teenagers realise what havoc they can cause by their ridicule? Can't the teenagers get it through their heads that people are the way they are through heredity, and not the individual's fault?

If this needless persecution could be stopped there would be less suicides, less insane, less prisoners and less taxes.

My granddaughter was kind enough to write this letter for me, for my hand shakes so I cannot write. But I thought it might right a great injustice.

A Little Old Lady

David Lawrence Says:

Federal Income Tax Laws Encourage Individual Philanthropy to Needy Groups

WASHINGTON — It wasn't all Ford money, but at least three-fourths of the $500,000,000 recently announced as donated by the Ford Foundation to hospitals and colleges really would have belonged to Uncle Sam if the estate taxes had been applied.

Instead of letting Congress decide how to spend the $383,000,000 which would have been collected in taxes, the Ford family exercised its legal right to determine how the money should be spent.

The estate-tax rates of the United States government and of the government of the state of Michigan are about 76.9 per cent at present. If the Ford Foundation had not been created, approximately $3,000,000,000—which is the estimated present value of the shares of stock held by the Ford Foundation—would have been subject to taxation. While there would be some slight diminution of the tax due to marital deductions and division of interests among members of the family, the approximate tax on the shares bequeathed to the Ford Foundation would have been about $2,308,400,000.

This means that the Ford family would have had about $691,600,000 remaining out of the $3,000,000,000 after paying the tax collectors. So the late Henry Ford and his son, Edsel, determined that it was much better to give the whole $3,000,000,000 to a charitable foundation.

88 PER CENT OF SHARES

Actually the gift represented 88 per cent of the Ford shares outstanding. The remaining 12 per cent, which wasn't given away, presents a sizable fortune by itself, too.

Any American can do in principle what the Fords did. The federal income-tax laws permit up to 20 per cent to be deducted from gross income of individuals for charitable contributions and, if additional donations are made to churches, tax-exempt schools and hospitals, the total exemption from taxes can go as high as 30 per cent.

Thus, on a $20,000 income, with a donation of $6,000, the individual would, in effect, give $2,600 of his own money, while Uncle Sam would be contributing $3,400 through a reduced tax.

NOW IS THE TIME

This is the time of year when tax-exempt organizations, schools, hospitals and charitable institutions of various kinds are busy explaining to would-be donors how easy it is to give away a small portion of what one would really retain after taxes and how much of the contribution would in fact be paid by Uncle Sam.

Congress, of course, probably wouldn't spend $500,000,000 for the same purposes, for example, that the Ford Foundation designated.

At present there is raging a battle over federal aid to education, with some protagonists insisting that the federal government should build school buildings and provide educational facilities generally to supplement those provided by the several states, and there are other groups which want federal aid confined to welfare or auxiliary services such as transportation, lunches and health benefits.

Meanwhile, the Ford Foundation has cut through the whole problem by deciding what Congress wouldn't be able to decide without a lot of controversy.

No private organization in American history has ever before made such a large bequest as the $500,000,000 announced the other day to be given to 615 colleges and 3,500 hospitals.

But the American citizen who is inclined to donate to private charity has the same right—he can make up his own welfare program. The tax laws are written so as to encourage philanthropy. The Ford Foundation gifts serve to dramatize the whole idea of private giving and, in a sense, it is a challenge to the citizenry to take care of their own institutions without relying on the federal government to do it all.

Slight Dose of Anesthetic Can Support Suggestion

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Lest some child-minded reader show his or her ignorance we should mention here that in natural childbirth the patient can have an anesthetic whenever she wants it—if she wants it.

Generally she doesn't want it, thanks to her education in womanhood and especially her prenatal training.

What has been said about the relation between suggestion and local anesthesia reminds me of a particular instance in my early practice in Penn Yan—there is too, and what's more it is mentioned on any worth while map of New York's finger lakes region.

A senior colleague called me to administer an anesthetic for him. His patient, a primipara, had been in labor for 24 hours.

Since she was making little or no progress he had decided to deliver the baby with forceps.

PATIENT QUIETED

As soon as I gave her the first few whiffs of ether the patient quieted down, ceased tossing about and wailing, listened to my instructions, worked with the contractions—and before the doctor had his instruments sterilized and his gloves on, ready for the operation, the baby was being born normally.

Of course anesthesia to the obstetric stage—enough to take the edge off the pain, but not enough to put the patient to sleep—might have achieved the same result without suggestion.

But I believe that had the doctor used the same technique hours earlier there would have been no need for instrumental interference. But the doctor didn't believe in the use of anesthetics.

Taking the edge off the pain with a little anesthesia enables the doctor to get the patient's attention if not her confidence.

She will follow instructions instead of acting out the "throes" the fishwives have taught her.

But suggestion alone, without any anesthetic, will do as much or more for the woman who bears her baby naturally.

Pain in natural childbirth? Coleen Gray, movie star, who had her first baby in a hospital the "regular way," and her second at home the natural way, exclaimed "Pain, my eye! It's just a few contractions."

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Hal Boyle Says:

Want to Be a Movie Star? Well, Now's Time to Try

NEW YORK (AP)—Anybody want to be a movie star? Well, now is the time to try.

"Fresh talent has more opportunity now than at any time I can remember," remarked film producer Hal B. Wallis.

* * *

"As more and more stars form their own companies and appear in fewer films, the supply of veteran players has diminished. The discovery of new talent has become a problem of real importance to the motion picture industry."

This statement by Wallis, however, is no invitation to every good looking stage-struck girl in Corncob Corners, Neb., to fly out to Hollywood and beat on his office door.

* * *

"You have to have real acting talent—a spark of personality that the camera can catch. Anyone who really wants to get ahead in the movies should first try to get as much experience as possible in little theater work or playing summer stock.

* * *

"The Cinderella legend persists. It is said that many of the top film actresses got their start as elevator operators or soda fountain waitresses. Perhaps so. But I never have found any real talent while riding elevators or sitting at a drug fountain."

Wallis has a reputation in the industry as a star maker, and the record shows he has been one of its most astute judges of new talent. Among stars he introduced to the screen are Shirley Booth, Burt Lancaster, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, Lizabeth Scott, Kirk Douglas, Wendell Corey, Corinne Calvet and Charlton Heston.

"I'm constantly looking for new talent," he said, "but I don't find it standing on street corners or by reading the mail.

"It's a real search. We find potential new stars by going to the theater, by watching television, by interviewing young bit players.

"Sometimes, but very rarely, I sign up a new actor without even having him make a screen test. I saw Burt Lancaster in only one act of a Broadway play and signed him up the next day."

* * *

Although Wallis is somewhat cynical toward the Cinderella legend, his own career has exemplified the familiar Horatio Alger pattern.

* * *

He quit school at 14 and got a job as an office boy to help support his mother and two sisters. He then worked as a traveling salesman selling electrical supplies and moved his mother from Chicago to Southern California in 1921 in hopes the milder climate would improve her health.

After managing a theater and serving as a movie press agent for 6 years, he hit the jackpot with his first picture, "Little Caesar," in 1929.

Now 57, Wallis has turned out between 350 and 400 full length films, a record matched by few men in the industry.

* * *

Anybody who seriously wants to be a movie star can do Wallis a big favor.

"Don't just sit down and write me a letter about it," he said. "First, be sure you have some real ability — then go out and get some real experience."

Then you won't have to look up Wallis. He says he'll be looking for you.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Readers Miss Point of Case, Upbraid Crane Rather Than John Barleycorn

Notice how a minority of newspaper readers missed the boat entirely regarding a previous Case Record. They attacked their editors or me or Tom, the degenerate seducer of college girls, yet never said a word about the evil effect of liquor on demoralizing teenagers, which was the whole point of that Case Record.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Q-322: Tom M., aged 27, is the degenerate young man whom I described earlier this year in Case N-375.

* * *

A number of clergymen and other counsellors of high school and college youth, had urged me to expose the dangerous connection between alcohol and immorality nowadays.

So I used the true case of this Don Juan who explained in precise detail how easy it is for college boys to seduce girls if they can get them to drink.

And Tom cited the case where they had a fraternity party and told the coeds the punch was spiked, though it contained nothing but fruit juice and ginger ale.

Yet 11 of those girls acted half drunk afterwards, because, to quote Tom's sophisticated diagnosis, "women often take liquor as a convenient excuse to cover up their sexual indiscretions."

Well, I presented the true facts, and do you know what happened?

BOOMERANG PSYCHOLOGY

One editor cancelled this column immediately because I had the temerity to tell the truth about such campus parties.

Instead of thanking me, as the clergymen and other youth counsellors had done, for thus exposing the dangerous effect of alcohol in promoting seduction of girls, he upbraided me.

Although Columbia University's college newspaper reprinted the column by request as a warning to its vast student body and although the church folks generally appreciated that terse warning to modern teenagers, other good people missed the point entirely.

* * *

They indicted their newspaper editors for printing that case, when they should have thanked the editors for such an aid to moral progress.

SPECIFIC QUOTES

"How in the world could you publish such an article," a man from Indiana wrote his newspaper.

"We were much shocked to think you printed such an outrageous case.

"Our young people know too much meanness already without your putting such reading before them.

"Hereafter we sincerely hope you will give us a good moral paper which we will not be ashamed to have in our homes."

And here is a similar letter to a Kansas editor:

"That Case Record about Tom is the worst thing I ever saw in print. Tom must be a beast.

"I just boiled for two days before I could even show it to my husband."

And here is a third letter from a housewife in Wisconsin:

"Ever since I read that Case Record about Tom, I have been mad, just plain mad.

"Tom must be a degenerate. A newspaper should never print such a case."

LEARN TO THINK

Many newspaper readers apparently don't understand what they read! For I had mentioned that Tom was a degenerate boaster of his sex conquests.

* * *

But I listed the liquor strategy which he and his kind found so successful in their seduction of teenage girls.

So why didn't you readers jump on John Barleycorn? Why attack your editor or myself who are giving you the true facts?

A good newspaper tries to improve the social order by exposing error and showing specifically what can be done to improve morality.

So why did many of you readers stop with a vicious attack on Tom? Why didn't you profit by the lesson he gave concerning the evil effect of liquor on the morality of the current teenage generation?

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Brass Band Leads to Mass

Philippines Christmas Has Varying Customs

MANILA (AP) — Contrasting customs of the ancient East and Christian West meet at Christmas-time in the Philippines.

* * *

Americans, Spanish, English, Indonesians, Malayans, Indians and Chinese have left their imprint on yuletide celebrations in this young Asian republic. There's a blend of plum pudding and stuffed suckling pigs, pine trees and banana plants, eggnogs and coconut liquor, carolers and predawn dancing, firecrackers and solemn Midnight Mass processions.

ONLY CATHOLIC NATION

The Philippines is the only Roman Catholic country in Asia. It has drawn heavily from the Spanish and Americans in its Christmas festivities. But in remote barrios (villages) throughout the 7,100 islands, strange and sometimes pagan customs still form part of this season's activities.

Christmas food has shifted mainly to the favorite Filipino dishes—chicken and pork heavily seasoned with garlic and rice. These feasts usually include lechon, roast suckling pig. Dessert may be an English plum pudding or an American-type pie.

BANANA TREES

Pine trees from the mountains are trimmed by Western standards in large cities. The banana plant is the official Christmas tree in most villages.

On Negros Island in the South, fruit-bearing banana—plants are cut. One is placed in each corner of the room, and decorated with rice sheaves, coconut clusters and farm products. Visitors can pluck a ripe banana off the tree. Fishermen in Cabangan decorate a tamarined tree with fish.

Christmas Eve processions are common. Young men and women dress as saints in Kawit, Cavite province. Each rides in a cart drawn through the streets. At the end of the line a cart carries a young couple depicting Mary and Joseph. They go from house to house seeking shelter. The procession ends at the church just be' Midnight Mass.

FIRECRACKERS, TOO

The Chinese practice of punctuating celebrations with firecrackers has been adopted too.

Caroling is popular, but has become a nuisance in some communities. They tax caroling groups. Other towns prohibit them.

* * *

The Spanish brought the Misa de Gallo (Mass of the Rooster), said in the early morning hours from tomorrow until Christmas. Brass bands parade through the streets waking the people.

Farm Production Limitation Next Year Will Have to Be Self-Imposed

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—If there is to be any over-all limitation on farm production next year, the Eisenhower administration will leave it to farmers to impose it upon themselves.

* * *

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has now indicated the administration does not intend to propose or to impose restrictions beyond those already required by legislation enacted before World War II. In fact, it wants to go in the opposite direction — toward greater farmer freedom.

PRESS INTERVIEW

The secretary sketched further outlines of new farm program proposals the administration is preparing for presentation to Congress next month. He talked with newsmen at the conclusion of a two-day meeting of the government's 18-member Agricultural Advisory Commission.

* * *

Overproduction and the resulting accumulation of more than seven billion dollars worth of surpluses are accepted on all sides as a major factor in a prolonged decline in farm prices and incomes. These declines have become a major political issue.

* * *

Benson told newsmen that new measures will feature a "soil bank" plan under which payments —totaling 400 million dollars next year—would be made to farmers who take land out of surplus crops and put it to grass and trees.

* * *

But, he declared, this plan will be "absolutely voluntary." Farmers would be free either to take it or to leave it and continue the production of any crops except those under marketing quotas. Those are wheat, cotton, tobacco, peanuts and possibly rice.

* * *

Proposals high on Benson's list would ease present restrictions on corn and on wheat produced for livestock feed. These proposals might well encourage greater, rather than less.

The secretary said that aside from the voluntary soil bank plan, the administration would stress measures to speed up disposal of present farm surpluses and to protect family-type farms.

Disposal measures, he said, would include an increase in grants and donations of surplus food at home and abroad, including the school lunch program and the armed services, as well as an enlarged barter program. But Benson ruled out the use of food stamps to channel surpluses to low-income groups.

Help to the family-type farm would be provided in the form of "liberalized" credit and special treatment under price support programs.

An over-all limit — possibly of $25,000 — would be set for the amount of price support aid that would be extended to a single farm. Such a limitation has been urged by some farm leaders as a means of discouraging a shift to a pattern of corporate-type farming.

Princess Here to Visit Airman

Romanian Royal Lady Saved Life of Downed Flier From Houston

NEW YORK (AP) — A Romanian princess who befriended 110 U.S. airmen captured by the Nazis in World War II today came to America to visit one of them — a Texan.

Princess Catherine Caradja, 62, arriving on the liner Nieuw Amsterdam, said she also is booked for 20 lectures in Canada, and hopes to get lecture bookings in this country.

Now living in Vienna, Princess Catherine said friends in 1952 persuaded her to slip out of Red-ruled Romania and "tell people about us."

Her first destination is Huston, Tex., and a visit with former Air Force Lt. Richard Britt of 8157 Niles St., the first of the captive airmen she helped.

HELPED FLIERS

It was in 1943, she said, during the bombing of the Ploesti oilfields, that the plane on which he was navigator crashed in the garden of her villa.

With help of estate workers, she got the wounded man out, put out the fire on the plane, and took him in her car to a small Romanian hospital and refused to turn him over to German guards.

She said she kept him in the hospital for six weeks, while the lower part of his body, which was severely burned, healed.

Later, she began regular visits to the POW camp at Timisuldejos to give supplies and care to captured airmen. The first thing she said she bought for them—"union suits."

* * *

"That was the first thing they needed," she said. "They were all from Africa and they were freezing."

The princess, a members of the Cantacuzene family, said she had been invited to several of the airmen's homes in this country, including a reunion last year of the former prisoners, but this was the first time she could make the trip.

She'll stay here a few days, and plans to be in Houston Dec. 23.

Engineers End Strike Against Air Lines

CHICAGO (AP)— A seven-week strike of flight engineers against United Air Lines ended last night.

• • •

An airline spokesman said a settlement negotiated in Washington provides that the 252 strikers will be returned to the payroll "on or before Dec. 19 without discrimination or disciplinary action."

United maintained service throughout the strike by using qualified pilots as flight engineers, thus touching off an interunion dispute which resulted in suspension of the Air Line Pilots Assn. from the AFL.

The AFL-CIO Flight Engineers International Assn. struck United Oct. 23 when the company rejected a union demand that flight engineer jobs be limited to men holding airframe and engine maintenance licenses. United ruled that all newly hired engineers must be qualified pilots.

• • •

William Kent, president of the flight engineers, said the agreement gives them increases ranging from $40 a month to new salary level of $815 a month for those DC6 type planes to $105 a month to $962 for those on DC7s.

Recover Stolen Gems

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Police announced last night the recovery of most of the nearly $800,000 worth of jewels stolen from Mrs. Harry Oppenheimer, daughter-in-law of diamond magnate Sir Ernest Oppenheimer. Authorities said 98 per cent of the missing gems were found in a cardboard box in a suite of rooms of a hotel. Two men in the suite were arrested.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman yesterday appointed Robert C. Weaver, a Negro, as state rent administrator. Weaver, 48, of New York City, is believed to be the first member of his race appointed to a New York State post of cabinet rank. He had been deputy state commissioner of housing.

Jaywalkers Ignore Chances for Money

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—The Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Safety Council initiated a campaign to educate pedestrians against the dangers of jaywalking.

Under the project men were sent out as official jaywalkers. Other pedestrians noticing them violating safety rules in crossing streets could receive a cash award by tagging them.

Walter Ladd, manager of the Safety Council, said yesterday the official jaywalkers went virtually unnoticed—too many regular pedestrians doing unofficial jaywalking.

More than 97½ per cent of the atmosphere lies below an altitude of 90,000 feet or approximately 17 miles, the highest level yet attained by man, says the National Geographic Society.

Plea of Not Guilty Entered by Wathen

Accused of being a partner in the holdup of a Pontiac gas station, Lester L. Wathen, 30, of 1055 Vinewood Ave., pleaded not guilty to armed robbery when examined in Municipal Court yesterday.

Judge Cecil McCallum bound Wathen over to Circuit Court, where he will be arraigned Monday. Wathen was returned to jail when he failed to furnish $5,000 bond.

Another man, convicted of the October robbery of Arnold's Gas Station, 4 E. Blvd. N., in court Wednesday accused Wathen of being his partner.

Billy E. White, 23, of 800 Young St., was brought from Jackson State Prison to testify in the case.

Soviets Ease Grasp on Oil in Romania

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union says it has relaxed its hold on Romanian industry further, relinquishing Russia's half interest in the important oil business.

A government announcement said under an agreement signed in Bucharest, Romania, will buy the Soviet-held shares in the oil industry "on favorable terms and by installments over a number of years." The amount to be paid was not disclosed.

The two-nation oil Company Sovrom Petrol was organized in 1945 to prospect, produce and refine Romanian oil. Since that time, the Soviet announcement said, oil production has doubled. Last year's production, primarily from the big Ploesti field, has been estimated by outsiders at 86 million tons.

Canadian Lad Finds Kentucky Santa Claus

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The 9-year-old Canadian boy who believed he could find Santa Claus in Kentucky instead of the North Pole wasn't mistaken.

Edward Christie had tied a note to a Christmas tree destined for shipment to Louisville.

The note was discovered by members of the St. Matthews Kiwanis Club as they unloaded some of the Canadian trees. It read:

"Dear Santa,

"I hope you get our letter. We live in Canada. Out in the country. I am 9 years old. I have a brother Stewart, he is 7 years old and 1 sister Sally she is 4 years old. Would you please bring us a truck and a doll and a train and some games. From Master Edward Christie, Harvey Sta. York Co., N.B., Canada."

After toys were purchased, Kiwanis Cliff Eblen said the children "will have a fine Christmas — more than the boy asked for."

"Training young boys is one of the finest hobbies a man could have," declares John Mahon, leader of a Dublin, Eire, team of Life Boys.

Atomic Scientists' Dream

World of Future to Have a Second 'Sun' in the Orbit

WASHINGTON (INS) — You would be assured of a white Christmas every year if the dream world of atomic scientists ever comes true.

* * *

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D) N.M., chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, pictured the world-that-may-be in a speech last night before the Economic Club of Chicago. Subsequent interviews expanded on the thinking that is being done on the world of the future.

Anderson, borrowing from the poet, said it is conceivable that: "Out among the stars, we will hang our own sun."

He pointed out that Dr. Henry De Wolf Smyth, formerly of the Atomic Energy Commission, contends that there are no materials on earth capable of holding the terrific heat of an artificial sun—which scientists now want to build.

A man-made sun would be controlled by thermonuclear (hydrogen bomb) energy.

But Smyth argues that it may be possible to hang the sun in outer space, some place where the pull between the natural sun and the moon is equal so that it will be kept on its orbit.

Those interviewed said that if this is ever done, then it will be possible to control weather—to assure a blanket of newly fallen snow for Christmas Eve or perfect weather for the Easter parade.

The experts said that "if we hang up an artificial sun, then anything is possible." They pictured the man-made sun being moved to prevent an early frost from ruining an Iowa corn crop—or unseasonable cold from killing Florida grapefruit.

Anderson said it is not too fanciful to expect that the artificial sun would heat and even air-condition cities. The experts spoke of reflectors on earth to catch the energy from this sun and put it to work for home lighting and appliances such as irons, toasters and vacuum cleaners.

For the apparent benefit of skeptics, Anderson pointed out that through atomic-induced mutations, a grass is now being developed that grows only to the height of a well-mowed lawn and never gets any higher.

As one who might rather play golf than mow a lawn, he quipped: "I'm for that."

Posthumous Award Bestowed on Hero Dog

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A posthumous hero's award has been bestowed by the Kent County Humane Society upon a dog which died Dec. 3 in saving his master's family from a fire in their home.

Waldo, a nearly blind 16-year-old hound, died of smoke inhalation and over-exertion. His frantic barking had alerted the Thomas T. Koon family of a fire in their basement and allowed them to escape.

Koon accepted a bronze plaque from the Humane Society in behalf of his dog.

It was the first time the county chapter had so honored an animal. Previous awards were given only to humans who had saved animals from death, the society announced.

Boy Conscious Again

HASTINGS (AP) — Nine-year-old Gene Strimback regained consciousness Tuesday at Pennock Hospital where he had remained in a coma since suffering head injuries last month when struck by a panel truck on M37 near his rural Hastings home. The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Strimback, still is listed in "serious" condition but with "good signs for recovery."

Illinois has 11,404 miles of railroad trackage.

Seven counties in Michigan boast more than 300 lakes.

Gun Thief Sentenced

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Russell Porter, 40, of rural Grand Haven has been ordered to pay $50 costs and placed on two years' probation by Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith on charges of obtaining a gun on false pretenses. Porter pleaded guilty Nov. 26 to larceny of a gun from a hardware store where he had told the proprietor the weapon was needed by State Police.

Yellow Banana Travels Around

Tropical Fruit Is Eaten by All Nations of World Who Demand It

WASHINGTON — The banana, carried centuries ago nearly around the globe, is still the world's most traveled fruit.

Today, 80 per cent of the world's banana exports come from tropical America. South America's Ecuador out-produces all other countries by a wide margin. Last year Ecuador shipped more than a sixth of the record-breaking total 128,524,000 bunches.

Bananas sail today as far south as the Union of South Africa and north all the way to Norway where, from a warehouse in Trondheim, they are delivered to Spitsbergen, 800 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

Nearly half wind up in the United States. As recently as 1876, they arrived just a few bunches at a time. In that year, at the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition, they were sold individually wrapped in tinfoil.

Each bunch is made up of nine or more clusters, called "hands." Hands, in turn, contain 10 to 20 bananas, or "fingers." Most grocers today display the fruit in hands, "palms" toward the customer, "finger tips" up.

By far the most common banana is Musa sapientum—"fruit of the wise men." Nearly all bananas eaten in this country are variety of this species called Gros Michel.

During World War II when bananas of any kind were hard to find, a Houston, Texas, newspaper announced, "Yes, Houston Has Bananas." In the shipyards there the fruit was used by the tons to grease the ways, down which new ships slid into the sea.

About 71 per cent of all U.S. families own one car; 12 per cent own two or more.

New Gift Ideas for the Little Miss

Little girls have big ideas. That's a thought for a doting aunt or granny to keep in mind when Christmas shopping.

• • •

Dolls are still welcome under any little girl's tree but today's youngster has quality taste. She wants a big important looking doll. She'll only be impressed by a life-size monkey, tiger or dalmation in the stuffed animal group —and they're available.

She doesn't want a cook stove that just resembles Mom's; she wants one that will give her service. Ditto iron, ironing board, vacuum cleaner, sewing machine and carpet sweeper.

The vanity of little ladies has been recognized by manufacturers too. So toiletries in small girl scents are available for her "dolling up" sessions. Everything from lip pomade (lightly colored) to hand lotion delightfully packaged can flatter her youthful ego. Comb and brush sets fall into the glamor category too, and these are available at prices to fit every budget. Older girls might be ready for manicure implements.

CLOTHES ARE SMART

Children are fashion-conscious today, so youngsters are impressed by Christmas clothes, unlike youngsters of a decade ago who felt they'd "have gotton them anyway." Slipper socks are fun gifts for home play decorated with Alice in Wonderland figures. Raincoats and hats are so attractive these days the average little girl can't wait for a bad day to wear them. Iceskating outfits are breathtaking.

GLITTERING ROPES from the Christmas tree make dazzling jewelry for the holiday season. Here, Natalie Wood of the movies shows how effective these are.

If a little girl has gone overboard for a sport—swimming, skiing, skating, sledding, boating—then the family's task is easy. Each member of the family could give her part of the outfit so that everything harmonizes.

But don't underestimate today's youngster. You'd be amazed that a 12-year-old could be ecstatic at the gift of a very good dictionary, that a 14-year-old could be enraptured with a book of familiar quotations.

MUSIC WITH WORDS

Books and records are popular too, even with the very young. New youngsters' records include some that are story books with the record disc imprinted on the cover. These include Happy Birthday songs, especially good for parties, as well as familiar nursery rhymes.

Even little girls enjoy books about the ballet or some career they've been dreaming about (although they'll have a new idea next year.) The atomic age too has made many little girls aware of science fiction which they love. These books are selling almost as fast as the popular girls books.

Jewelry is another way to charm little Sis (as well as big Sis.) A wrist watch, charm, ring or bracelet are sure-fire hits. Be sure to have them initialed. Children adore presents that are engraved with their name or initials whether jewelry or a fountain pen and pencil set, fancy socks, hat, blouse.

Mother and Daughter ensembles always make a hit, good for Dad to keep in mind. Popular now is sleepwear in an Oriental theme with matching kimonas and slippers for Mom and Sis. Other ideas in the "matching" category include blouses, playclothes, street dresses.

9-Year-Old's Condition Improves After Month

Nine-year-old James Matheny, unconscious in Pontiac General Hospital most of the time since he was struck by an automobile four weeks ago, today was off the critical list.

Hospital authorities reported his condition as fair.

The son of Mrs. Edna Matheny, 22 McKinley Dr., James was struck when he dashed out into the street to avoid snowballs.

Do Something, Will Ya!

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Inmates of the Cabell County Jail, with all the dignity they could muster, formally registered a complaint with city police: trucks loading in a nearby alley were disturbing their rest.

Odd Wax Works

BERLIN—The second King Ludwig was a friend of Wagner and a builder of fabulous castles. One of his castles on the Herrenchiemsee near Garmisch is still lighted with thousands of candles every Saturday night just as it was in the days of the eccentric King.

Minnesota has 8,287 miles of railroad.

Chicago Lights Giant 'Card' for Christmas

CHICAGO (AP)—A giant Christmas card went on display Tuesday night when the Merchandise Mart's annual greeting was lighted. The "card" is on the face of the Mart, the world's largest commercial building.

The scene depicts the Holy Family and the Star of Bethlehem. Across the top, in illuminated letters two stories high, are the words, "Peace On Earth." The Holy Family figures are 120 feet tall, and one-third the width of the building — 155 feet. The star is 48 feet in diameter and more than 40 feet tall.

Fifty thousand feet of electrical wiring and more than 6,500 25-watt bulbs are used in the display.

Had a Good Time

BRISTOL, Conn. (AP) — Thieves must have had a buffet supper in mind when they looted the Blue Lantern restaurant. They took a 10-pound precooked ham, two loaves of bread and about 30 bottles of whisky.

Woman's Timely Sniff Averts Gas Explosion

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Police found the woman yesterday who got five gallons of white gas at a local service station—instead of the kerosene she had thought she was buying.

But Mrs. Clyde C. Strode said they needn't have worried. She poured the gasoline into the family car's fuel tank as soon as she sniffed it later, at home.

Asst. Fire Chief Al Thompson says it's a good thing she did. He said three tablespoons of the gas, if used to start a coal stove fire, would have exploded with the same force as a stick of dynamite.

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—Chief of Police Sol Willis got a fan letter of a sort. It was a postcard, mailed from Grand Island, Neb., with this unsigned cryptic message: "Drop Dead."

UM Plant Assets Rise $13 Million in Last Year

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The plant assets of the University of Michigan increased almost $13,000,000 to a total of $131,838,037 for the year ended June 30, 1955, the University's financial report showed today.

The report was accepted by the regents at their meeting yesterday.

Regents were told that the replacement value of the university buildings and grounds would now total a quarter of a billion dollars.

Total university expenditures were $61,775,521 with salaries and wages accounting for $40,189,296 of this figure. Salaries for the previous fiscal year were $37,322,151.

Golden eagles often kill adult antelopes, especially when other food is hard to find.

They Work Backward

WASHINGTON—Starlike ascidians belong to a group of sea creatures that suggest evolution in reverse, says the National Geographic Society. They start life as tadpolelike larvae with a cartilaginous "backbone." Maturing, they lose this structure and degenerate into primitive creatures resembling fungi.

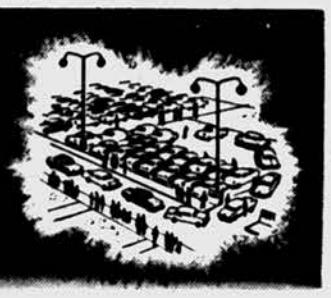

Rubber consumption in the U.S. is 20 pounds per person each year which is far more than the world average of only about one pound per person.

Santa Needs 100 Trucks to Deliver Detroit Gifts

DETROIT (AP) — One of Santa Claus' helpers has put out a call for 100 more trucks to deliver Christmas packages in Detroit.

Postmaster Edward L. Baker says drivers are needed, too.

Any enclosed vehicle from a family station wagon to a two-ton panel truck can be used, Baker said. The Post Office already has 500 trucks under Christmas contract.

About 800 U.S. homes are damaged by fire every day.

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — A 92-year-old grocery store owner is finding out that his vocation is dangerous. Twice within four months, bandits have beaten N. N. Frisby. Kavanagh Named Head of Great Lakes Group

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh has been elected chairman of the new Great Lakes Commission by representatives of participating Midwest states.

Kavanagh said the commission, recently ratified by states joining the Great Lakes compact under the auspices of the Council of State Governments, will consider problems growing out of the St. Lawrence Seaway, regulation and management of fisheries, a study of water uses and rights, establishment of lake levels and the elimination of water pollution.

The commission will meet in Chicago Dec 28 to consider a location for a permanent staff and headquarters.

Can Israel Oppose the Entire Arab World?

Jewish Army Is Best Armed Force in Middle East

A veteran INS correspondent who has just made a tour of the explosive Israeli-Arab border areas presents a picture of the Israeli Army and its fighting potential in the following first of four articles.

By MICHAEL CHINIGO

JERUSALEM (INS)—The Israeli armed forces are the best, by far, in this part of the world today.

* * *

Arab tactics of attrition over the past eight years can be "credited" with the development of a hard-hitting, extremely-mobile military core in a nation trained to fight for its existence.

When the average Israeli's hate manages to subside, he may tell you that his little country's new fighting spirit was born during the days of Hitler and Nazism when the persecution wave all but decimated European Jews.

The Jewish Brigade, made up of escapees from all nations of Europe, was the first sign of things to come.

From it came the fighters of the underground Hagana, which slugged it out with the British Empire in a free-for-all which London does not yet want to forgive—or forget.

U. S. UNDERSTANDS?

Israeli leader liken their battles with the British forces to America's War of Independence. And it is primarily on that basis they feel the U. S. can best understand them.

The Jewish Brigade has been the core of the fast-multiplying forces which, again coming from all lands, have been welded into a formidable defensive instrument.

The Jewish Brigade supplied the first officers and still supplies the key officers of the expanded Israeli Army.

With each advancement in rank, they have received additional training. And around them the Israeli Gic in the various arms have been built.

Failure to convert the armistice into peace, has made it necessary for Israel to keep every valid man—and woman—trained and ready for immediate action.

After the regular period of service, the reservists are called for periodic stints calculated to keep them abreast of changing weapons and battle tactics and in fighting trim.

Israel boasts that it has the fastest mobilization plan in the world. It is no idle boast.

I visited some army camps and saw methods that were a composite of those of several nations. The Israelis had taken the best of each and then had adapted them to the men they had to turn into soldiers.

* * *

The pressure at the frontiers has not only resulted in creation of a large army in record time. It has also speeded the creation of Israel as a nation.

BABEL OF TONGUES

The men who have done it still shake their heads in wonderment.

When they started ten years ago, the "babel" of tongues was deafening. There were men and women from 71 countries, speaking languages reciprocally incomprehensible, lacking the elementary discipline which is part and parcel of a soldier.

Had the Arab nations made peace with Israel at once, there is agreement here that this nation would not have moved so far in the unification of its people.

Ever-present danger of annilation caused men of seemingly insurmountable differences to get together for self-preservation.

The ordinary soldiers feel that they, the Israelis, are more intelligent, more cultured, quicker on the trigger and have more staying power than their possible opponents.

MEET AIRMAN YOELI

Yoeli, 26, was mentioned in the order of the day by the Israeli chief of general staff for having "single-handed shot down two Egyptian jets on Sept. 1, 1955."

This is the story Yoeli told me:

"It was early one Thursday morning when we got the word that four Egyptian Vampires had been seen over Kibutz Carmia . . . and had fired a few machine gun bursts upon the Kibutz.

"Two of us took off immediately, climbed up and headed for the Gaza Strip.

* * *

"As soon as we saw the Vampires, we took up a position of attack. But the Vampires, two of them, fled to the south. The other two stayed on to face us.

"I went after them, and as soon as I was within range I opened fire. I watched the tracer bullets hitting the plane and thought: 'Why in . . . . doesn't the Egyptian pilot bail out?"

"Suddenly I started to shout: 'Jump, idiot, jump, and I'll stop shooting.' I didn't want to hit him—only his plane.

"Well, he did not jump. He continued maneuvering. Then, all of a sudden, it seemed as if he lost control, and the plane went down in a trail of smoke.

"I turned on the other pilot . . . a few bursts finished him off . . . his plane exploded in mid-air."

MANY LIKE HIM

There are many like Yoeli who think that despite the equipment the Egyptians and other Arabs may get from the Soviets and satellites, their over-all combat efficiency will not improve greatly for a long time to come—perhaps never.

But that is not the opinion of Israel's government. It wants to take no chances, because it says it simply cannot afford to take chances.

Detroit Man Waives Bad Check Hearing

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former Detroiter James P. Taylor, 30, ex-convict held on check charges in the aftermath of the kidnap-slaying of a Minnesota bank cashier, waived removal hearing Tuesday. He agreed to be returned to Minnesota on charges of interstate transportation of stolen checks.

Estle Hamilton, chief deputy in the U.S. Marshal's Office at Kansas City, said regulations forbid disclosing when Taylor will be taken to St. Paul, but that it could be assumed to be soon.

* * *

Taylor's bond was set at $25,000.

At Minneapolis warrant issued Monday charges Taylor, alias Herbert F. Johnson, with passing four forged $50 Bank of America checks at the Nicolelet hotel in Minneapolis Nov. 13. That is the day after cashier Kenneth Lindberg of the Northern State Bank, Thief River Falls, Minn., last was seen alive.

His battered body was found Nov. 25 in a farm field near Clear Lake, Minn. Taylor was arrested in Joplin, Mo. last Friday.

An earlier check charge in the same case was filed against Taylor in Detroit. Authorities said the checks were stolen from the Thief River Falls bank.

Parks Dept. Submits Budget to Mayor Cobo

DETROIT (INS) — The Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation yesterday submitted to Mayor Albert E. Cobo a 1956-57 budget of $8,506,865, an increase of $741,533 over this year's figure.

The department asked $1,429,020 for control of Dutch elm disease, a hike of more than $242,000 spent this year. The mayor already has approved this expense.

Meat Glut Is Good News for Housewives' Budgets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You'll find attractive buys in pork, beef, veal and lamb in many of the nation's food stores this weekend.

* * *

Meat prices in general are still heading lower, and judging from the record pileup of supplies, the end is not yet in sight. Last week production of government-inspected meat set an all-time record. All told, 257,000 tons of pork, beef and other meats were processed by the nation's packing plants. Pork accounted for nearly half the record total.

For the coming week-end one of the big food chains has trimmed prices of center cut pork chops in several major cities by amounts ranging from 6 to 19 cents a pound.

Lamb is down anywhere from 2 to 6 cents a pound. While beef prices are resisting the downward pull a little more effectively than pork and lamb. There are bargains aplenty in everything from hamburger and boneless chuck pot roast to fancy Porterhouse steaks.

MEAT GLUT IS ON

While the meat glut is good news to the bargain-conscious housewife, it's a growing problem for the farmer, the packer and the retailer. No less than three meat merchandising campaigns have been scheduled for early 1956 by the National Assn. of Food Chains. Aim is to get people to eat more meat. The major campaign, scheduled for Jan. 26 to Feb. 4, will concern itself with pork. Others will be devoted to cornfed beef and veal calves (Jan. 9 to 18) and ham and lamb (March 22 to 31).

Pork has been selected by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as its food headliner for this week. Department specialists suggest roast pork as the main course for your Christmas dinner. "Roast pork for the main dish fits right into the festive spirit," the USDA says. "Good to look at, and pleasing to eat, a piping hot pork roast does honor to any table."

There's a wide assortment of bargains this week in produce. The Department of Agriculture has singled out potatoes, rutabaga turnips and white turnips, beets, topped carrots, baby parsnips and kale as outstanding vegetable buys. Listed as good buys are new and old cabbage, beans, peppers, corn, egg plant, Pascal celery, and lettuce.

* * *

Apples are still plentiful and reasonably priced, as are oranges, seedless grapefruit and tangerines from Florida and large red emperor grapes from the West Coast. Pineapples from Cuba are featured in some stores; in New York, they're priced at about 23 cents each.

* * *

Add to your list of fruits in plentiful supply right now: winter pears, dates, cranberries.

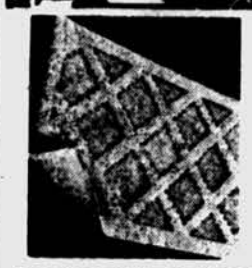

About 2,000,000 red grouse fall to hunters' guns every autumn in Scotland, and the letting of Scottish estates brings in about 250,000 pound sterling a season.

Santa and the Dumdiddy

By Lucrece Hudgins Beale

AP Newsfeatures

SYNOPSIS: The Dumdiddy saves Beanie from the witch by taking the poison pill from his pudding and putting it in the witch's pudding. When the witch tastes the pudding she instantly turns into an old black pot.

Chapter 10

IN TROUBLE AGAIN

Beanie stared in amazement at the old black pot that had fallen from the old woman's chair. He left his raisin pudding untouched and ran to the front door. On the way he stumbled again over the three black pots in the parlor. When he went out the door he stumbled over the black pot sitting there.

The hair stood up on his head. He thought, "If I stayed in that house any longer maybe I'd turn into a black pot."

* * *

He was so frightened he never stopped running until he was well out of the forest and back on the road leading to Far Away Places.

In Beanie's pocket the little Dumdiddy rolled himself into a ball and went to sleep.

As Beanie went on his way he became hungrier and hungrier. Presently he came to a farm house surrounded by a fence.

On the fence was a sign saying: "Keep Out." On the other side of the fence stood a Christmas tree. It was decorated with peppermint sticks and gum drops and cones of chocolate candy and stars made of sugar.

"I am so hungry," thought Beanie. "Surely no one would mind my having something from this Christmas tree. Especially since Christmas is a time for giving."

* * *

He climbed over the fence and ran to the tree. He had just popped a white marshmallow into his mouth when he felt a hand on his shoulder. He was swung around to face a skinny old man with deepset eyes.

"Taking candy from my tree, eh?" said the man. "Well, pay me."

The man spoke in such a shrill, angry voice that the Dumdiddy awoke. He poked his head out of Beanie's pocket just in time to hear Beanie say, "But, sir, I haven't any money."

"Very well," said the old man. "You'll work to pay for it." And he took hold of Beanie's collar and led him into the barn. He pointed to a pile of dirty glass lamps.

"Clean the inside of those lamps," he ordered. "Have the glass nice and shining and all of them done by noon."

Beanie stared at the lamps. There were about 50 of them and the glasses were so dark with smoke that he could not see through them.

"W-what if I don't finish by noon?" he faltered.

"Then I'll beat you," said the man. And he left Beanie alone with the lamps and a pile of old rags.

Beanie picked up the first lamp. He pushed and pushed but he et and sneaked into the corner with the pile of lamps.

He took a rag and climbed right into the nearest lamp. With a few whisks of his cloth he had polished could not get even his hand inside the lamp to polish it. He kept pushing with the cloth until suddenly there was a plop! and the glass shattered in his hands. He tried another and the same thing happened.

* * *

The next lamp he pushed the cloth into inch by inch and turned it and pressed it ever so gently. He finally cleaned it but it had taken a long, long time and there were more than 45 lamps to clean in another hour.

The Dumdiddy thought, "This will never do." So while Beanie was cleaning the next lamp the Dumdiddy climbed out of his pocket clean. Then he climbed into the next lamp.

When Beanie finally finished his second lamp he came to the corner and to his amazement he found all the lamps were clean.

Just about that time the skinny old man came in.

"Look! cried Beanie. "They're all clean!"

It was hard to tell who was the more astonished: Beanie or the old man.

"Now I have paid for touching your tree, I will go," said Beanie.

But the man snatched him by the arm. "This job was too easy for you," he said. You must do another job really to pay me."

(Next: Cleaning the Barn)

"TAKING CANDY FROM MY TREE, EH?" — After Beanie ran away from the witch's house and after he started on the road leading to Far Away Places, he became hungrier and hungrier. Finally he came to a fence with the sign saying: "Keep Out" on it. On the other side stood a Christmas tree decorated with peppermint sticks and gum drops and cones of chocolate candy and stars made of sugar. Beanie thought no one would mind him taking some since Christmas was a time for giving.

Paint Your Lampshades the Right, Easy Way

Many lampshades can be painted to harmonize or contrast, in interesting fashion, with a new color scheme. So that you won't have to touch the shade after it is painted, place it on top of a bowl that will raise it above the table surface on which you are working. Or, if it's feasible, leave it attached to its base.

Painting the outside of the shade will, of course, make it opaque. For this reason, it's often a good idea to paint the undersurface of the shaede with a light-reflecting white.

U.N. Action on Israel Requested by Syria

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Syria expects the Security Council to meet soon on the Damascus government's protest against Israel's attack on Syrian posts in Galilee.

Ahmed Shukairy, chairman of Syria's delegation to the General Assembly who announced the protest at a news conference, indicated his country will ask the council to take stern action against Israel. He did not disclose Syria's strategy but said it would call for "measures which have not been asked before."

The U. N. Charter authorizes the council to recommend a cessation of aggression. That failing, the council may call on U. N. members to serve diplomatic, economic and communications ties with the aggressor nation. Finally, it may call on members for armed force to halt aggression.

The council so far has never voted sanctions against one of the parties in the Arab-Israeli conflict, contenting itself with censuring the nation it considers the guilty party.

Police Boss Cautions About 'Gifts' to His Men

NEW YORK (INS) — Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy has warned businessmen that "Christmas gifts" to policemen are considered bribes.

The commissioner laid down the law to representatives of N. Y. business and industry yesterday, as well as top police commanders.

He claimed: "There is no right on the part of a police officer to ask for or accept a gift. There is no right on the part of a donor to give it."

AEC Gives Contract for Fuel Assemblies

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that it has awarded its first lump sum contract to a private firm for manufacture of reactor fuel elements.

The Babcock and Wilcox Co. of New York will fabricate 325 fuel assemblies for the AEC's materials testing reactor in Idaho at a cost of $279.28 each.

The average haul of bituminous coal is 289 miles.

Folsom Urges Insurors to Broaden Their Benefits

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Folsom today prodded the insurance industry to use its "traditional enterprise" to extending coverage of private health insurance and pension plans.

• • •

"As you in private enterprise meet the needs of the people," Folsom told the Life Insurance Assn. of America in a prepared speech, "then the people will not find it necessary to resort to broad government action."

INCREASE SECURITY

Folsom said he is convinced that voluntary health insurance is a "sound and practical means" of increasing security against medical costs which he said now total more than 10 billion dollars a year.

Only about two billions of this is met through insurance benefits, he said, "but insurance can and should meet much more than 20 per cent."

• • •

Folsom said about two out of three Americans are covered by some kind of health insurance, but that "the great bulk of the people still are unprotected against the crushing costs of severe and prolonged illness."

SPEED IMPROVEMENT

He said the Eisenhower administration believes "some form of reinsurance or other methods of pooling or sharing risks" will speed the extension and improvement of voluntary health insurance protection.

Folsom did not say whether the administration plans to renew past recommendations that the government help get such a reinsurance system started. Those recommendations so far have gone unheeded by Congress.

• • •

He suggested that steps be taken to enable older persons and rural folk to obtain private health insurance at reasonable cost. He said, too, that the degree of protection afforded by private policies should be increased.

• • •

In the pension field, Folsom suggested that employes, employers and the insurance industry cooperate to provide better protection. He said a "shortening of the period of service required for employes to secure pension rights would be desirable."

Bring Lunch Bucket

BARCELONA — When you go to the opera in Barcelona, don't expect to get out early. The curtain at the Liceo Opera House goes up at 10:30 p.m. and it's 1 before it goes down. Late dinners are correspondingly fashionable in Spain's gay city and people don't get around to eating until 9:30.

United States manufacturers are employing about 17,000,000 persons, close to the best level of 1953.

THE BERRYS By Carl Grubert

Portuguese Christmas Has a 'Trick or Treat'

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Christmas in Portugal is heavily accented by tradition with carolers practicing a singing version of "trick or treat."

• • •

If one is generous and gives good wines and cakes and charity, the praise goes like this:

"The masters of this house will see the Christ Child this morn."

But let the occasional scrooge show up, and the singers will chant:

"Bang, bang goes the hammer; these brainless asses have nothing to give us."

CHILD NOVENAS

Families meet for feasting beginning with novenas to the baby Jesus. They eat turkey that was part of a drove herded through the streets by old peasants in long stocking caps, for sale from door to door.

• • •

In the cities, gay booths sell Christmas dainties and decorations. Carols are sung each of the 12 nights by boys and girls who accompany the strains with the ringing of handbells, beating of tin plates and whistling of pipes.

CRIB IS CENTRAL

The center of the Christmas festival is the crib or presepio where the Christ Child is in his manger. Tradition holds sway whether the crib is a humble cardboard box with straw and cheap clay figures or the magnificant sculptured cribs of the old churches.

• • •

On Christmas Eve, the Christ Child rewards the Faithful. While the family is at the cathedral for the Misso do Galo, the baby Jesus by tradition slips into their homes and leaves gifts in little shoes at the foot of the chimney.

PAO DE TRIGO

When the family returns, there is the "consoada" or Christmas feast. Typical dishes include a variety of cakes and seets and "soda de pao de trigo" — a soup made with bread, salted codfish with cabbage, codfish balls and black olives.

• • •

Although the Christmas tree is not indigenous to Portugal, it is becoming popular with holly and mistletoe.

But carols play one of the strongest roles in the traditional 12 days. In many provinces, the words fit the lives of the men who sing them. In the Algarve, fishermen sing:

• • •

"O Christ Child, thou gentle fisher; of thine hair thou makest a net, of thine eyes hooks, that thou mayst fish for souls."

ANN ARBOR (AP) — University of Michigan faculty members are presenting a large exhibit at the American Institute of Chemical Engineers' atomic exposition at Cleveland this week. It includes models of the university's 300-Million electron volt smaster, the Ford nuclear reactor and other atomic research facilities. The faculty will present seven technical paprs.

Bible-Reading Miner Decides to Take $32,000

NEW YORK (INS) — A young West Virginia coal miner is the lucky recipient today of twin prizes — $32,000 from a TV quiz show and congratulatioins from United Mine Workers boss John L. Lewis for using "sound judgment" in not trying to win the top prize of $64,000.

• • •

Stanley Skeens got the money last night on the CBS "64,000 Question" program as a result of his amazing knowledge of the Bible.

But when it came time to stop or go on to the "summit" questions, the 27-year-old miner drawled: "I thought that I might go ahead . . . but I think I'll just take the money and chuck it into a little bank in Danville (his hometown)."

Besides the money prize, Skeens was given a rare edition of the King James version of the Bible donated by a Philadelphia organization, an everyday Bible for his own use, and several other Bibles to give his friends.

• • •

Commenting on Skeens' decision to stop with $32,000, Lewis said: "Stanley Skeens not only demonstrated that he is an extraordinary and most remarkable student of the Bible, but he's a man of sound judgment.

"In my personal opinion, he followed the best course in taking the substantial sum which he had fully earned.

Clever Wrappings Glamorize Gifts

A tiny gift for a youngster may be made to look pretty precious, indeed, if the giver is handy at gift wrappings. Sometimes outer wrappings may captivate young imaginations so that a child will even postpone opening the present for at least a few hours.

* * *

A little handkerchief, tiny pin or small toy can have its value increased immeasurably by a gay intriguing gift wrap. Here are some to delight the heart of any youngster:

Combine a shoe box and square box. Wrap shoe box with green paper. Place the square box on top of the shoe box at one end, fasten together with cellulose tape. Cover this end of the car with a contrasting shade of paper and tape in place. Draw fenders, windows and running boardwith black caryon.

Wheels are cut from black construction paper and held on with the transparent tape. The hood is made of black construction paper and taped to the top of a square box. White paper headlights and a black paper fender are taped to the front of car. A fluffy bow adds a finishing touch.

Cover a square box with yellow paper. Put on a face with criss-crossed strips of green gift wrap tape for eyes, a nose and mouth of red tape.

Use a bow of sasheen ribbon for the hair, letting one loop hang down over the forehead as a curl. For the stick, cover a wax paper roll with a pink or bright red paper and spiral it with green tape.

Cover a box with silver metallic paper. Cut out a mitten shape from felt or colored package. Make an outline of gold flitter on the mitten for added decoration. (Do this by running a thin line of glue on the mitten, then sprinkle with flitter). Tape a ruffle of ribbon to top of mitten. Two gifts may be wrapped this way and tied together on a band of ribbon.

PLAYING CARD KING

This wrapping is ideal for small gifts such as hankies or socks that can be rolled up and inserted into a cardboard tube (use a wax paper roll). Wrap the roll in bright red metallic paper. Cut circles in two ends of small square box so roll will fit through it. Cover square box with white shelf paper, and trim top edge with green giftwrap tape.

Sketch the king's face with ink or crayon (using a playing card as your guide) on all four sides. Push roll through holes in square box and hold in place with cellulose tape.

Cut arms out of red paper and tape beneath the square box. For the stand, just cover two strips of cardboard with green tape and insert them in slits at base of cardboard roll.

Post Office Frowns on 'Deadline' Mailing

An appeal to senders to refrain from mailing cards and packages late so that they will arrive at their destinations on Christmas Eve was made yesterday by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

The cabinet official pointed out that the practice results in an extra burden on postal employes and facilities.

"The majority of citizens realize that the early arrival of a card or gift is always welcomed," he said. "But there are still those who retain the mistaken idea that those arriving on Christmas Eve have a special significance.

"The thought behind the gift or card, not the time of arrival, is the important consideration."

30 Pct. of Road Ready

OTTAWA—About 30 per cent of the 4,480-mile Trans-Canada Highway has been completed to standard, with 1,481 miles graded and 1,075 miles paved. The highway is expected to be completed by the end of 1956 in Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and Prince Edward Island.

At the turn of the century, total motor vehicle production in the United States was 4,192 cars.

FOR SPORTS — Spring training is months away, but father and sons can be patient with games that recall sports. This one's patterned on baseball. But you can find games that follow most sports. Inexpensive, too.

A Lot of Carving

GENEVA — One of the sights to see in Switzerland is at Jungfraujoch where a railway station has been carved out of rock in the heart of a mountain, 11,000 feet above sea level. Next to the station is an ice palace of vaulted illuminated chambers carved out of the blue-green Alpine glacier.

How About That!

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A man arrested for drunkenness turned out to have all his wits about him. As the police wagon sped toward headquarters, officers saidt he man picked the lock on its rear doors, jumped out and fled down an alley.

Want a Kiss? Then, Look Out

Mononucleosis May Get You if You Don't Watch What You're Doing

What's in a kiss?

Back when the summer was young, this didn't worry anyone. But now it's a serious medical question. An Army physician says that it is in the intimacy of the lover's kiss that the strangest disease of adolescence and early adulthood, infectious mononucleosis, is passed back and forth.

The tongue-twister mononucleosis is a strange disease which actually takes few lives but often makes its victims miserably ill with fever, sore throat and swollen glands, and often looks like leukemia or like infectious hepatitis (jaundice).

This ability to "look like other things" is one of the confusing, dangerous things about mononucleosis. With a usual mild beginning, it can hit hard and fast—and sometimes at the throat. Temperature soars, the voice grows hoarse, the neck swells like a balloon, and breathing becomes almost impossible. Physicians — until the hormone ACTH became available—often had to resort to surgery to keep the patient from suffocating until they got mononucleosis calmed down.

Strangest fact about mononucleosis is that no one knows how how it is "caught." Efforts to transmit it from person to person have been unsuccessful—except by pretty implausible methods. In ships at sea, in boarding schools and in other places where epidemics of contagious diseases are notorious, monoucleosis never makes an appearance.

A BAD WINTER?

If this theory is right the mystery of whence comes mononucleosis will be solved; and kissing may be in for a bad winter.

Kissing has been tabooed by medical men before, and weathered it. When doctors first learned about "germs," kissing was put on the list of things dangerous to health. The humorist Mark Twain was only echoing common sentiment when he wrote: "Despite the dangers, let's have more of it," and kissing remained as popular as ever.

So, even if Colonel Hoagland is Energy, will climax this session.

* * *

right, infectious mononucleosis is probably here to stay until someone finds a protection against the virus that causes it. The only alternative, which would be some method of stopping kissing, might be just as effective, but who would buy it?

New Chemical Find Beneficial

Compounds Developed by Atomic Rays to Have Wide Commercial Use

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporter

CLEVELAND (AP)—A new class of chemical compounds which may prove to have wide commercial use—for example, as insecticides and wood preservatives — have been developed with the help of atomic rays, a University of Michigan scientist said today.

• • •

Dr. J. J. Martin said they are a special variety of so-called "chlorinated aromatic hydrocarbons"—produced by making chlorine and certain coal tar derivatives react vigorously in the presence of a radioactive material.

• • •

One such compound, he said, has long been produced commercially with the help of ultraviolet radiation. This particular one is used as an insecticide.

But he said the Michigan research had produced a variety of different compounds of this class and that, moreover, use of a radioactive material instead of ultraviolet light appeared to offer "a more efficient method of chlorinating," because its rays are more penetrating.

• • •

The research, done with radioactive cobalt, opens up possibilities of using waste fission products which result from the operation of nuclear reactors, he said.

• • •

He told reporters about the development in explaining a technical paper on the subject which he read to the Nuclear Science and Engineering Congress (NSE) here.

Martin declared that he and his colleagues have also radioactive cobalt in an attempt to develop a simpler and cheaper method of producing industrially important ammonia from hydrogen and atmospheric nitrogen.

Aussie Butter Output Up

Australian factory production of butter climbed to 422,000,000 pounds in the year that ended July 1, an increase of 72,000,000 pounds over the year before. But factory output of cheese declined some 9,000,000 pounds to a total of 101,000,000 pounds.

Medical Students Rise

Enrollment in the nation's medical schools during the 1954-55 school year totaled 28,393, an increase of 336 over the year before.

FOR ENGINEERS — A unit crane, scaled to a likeness of its earth-moving prototype, makes a dandy toy for the budding engineer. It has ground jacks to give it astonishing lifting power. Clam-shell and cargo hook lift earth and other materials.

The Santa Claus Tradition Lives Throughout World

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Santa Claus, born of many nations, has lived through the centuries to satisfy the needs and desires of children and adults alike.

This is the theory of Frederick Wyatt, University of Michigan psychologist and chief of the university's psychological clinic.

But, Wyatt points out, in America Santa is a far more robust person than he was to most of Europe and the Near East.

Santa in this nation, Wyatt says, "is a specific American thing. He is really a kind of democratic Santa Claus."

The jolly old man exists, Wyatt says, "to celebrate the happy vision of Christmas."

AUSTRIAN SANTA

Actually Wyatt remembers a different sort of Santa in his native Austria, where Santa's arrival precedes Christmas by almost three weeks.

In Austria and throughout Central Europe, there are actually two visitors at Christmas holiday time.

One, Wyatt says, is the good Santa who is willing to praise if there is reason. The other is the accompanying "Black Devil, rattling chains and carrying birch switches to chastise naughty youngsters. He wears a sort of rucksack on his back to carry off the bad children."

In practice, Wyatt says, there is little chastising as the two Christmas spirits go through the village. They characterize the two functions of the parent: To praise or to chastise.

Actually gift-giving comes with the arrival of the Christ child on Christmas morning.

In France, Santa brings gifts a week after Christmas.

"It appears likely," Wyatt says, "that many nationality groups which came to the United States, have contributed something to the Santa Claus of America."

"In America," Wyatt explains, "Santa's stern edge has been dulled. He is a mediator and no longer the old St. Nicholas who came as a moral judge."

PLEASES CHILDREN, ADULTS

He exists essentially for the same reasons other Santas have lived on—for the needs and desires of children and adults alike.

"Children enjoy an occasion in which they are the recipients of gifts," Wyatt says. "This feeling that childhood is a period when the world is generous, is deep-rooted. As we grow up we tend to embellish it. As grown ups we re-experience our own past.

"The adult and child with their needs and desires fit together. The child has his desire for the occasion, the adult his desire to remember."

Wyatt says the Santa Claus in America has picked up most of his characteristics from the poem "The Night Before Christmas" only some 70 or 80 years ago.

His name comes from the Dutch for St. Nicholas, the kindly old churchman who was known for his good deeds in the Near East and became later a patron saint for much of central and northwest Europe.

Sea Cultivates Occult Gardens

Oceans Produce Useful Plant Life in Hidden Underwater Pastures

WASHINGTON — The sea which cradled all life holds in its hidden pastures an untold abundance of vegetation—plants taller than the highest tree and others shaped like pearls and cough drops.

As a producer of vegetation, the seeming wastes of water outstrip the land, the National Geographic Society says. Foremost in sea growths are many varieties of marine algae, including brown seaweeds used in ice cream manufacture.

The seas' tiniest organic life, plankton, took its name from the Greek word for "wandering." The Red Sea derives its name from reddish plankton.

ORGANISMS VERY SMALL

The individual organisms are so small that for years they were regarded merely as a kind of pigment drifting in mile-long bands of orange or smaller patches of red over the seas.

Magnified, plankton appear to be odd decorations belonging in fairyland. Individuals take the shape of snowflakes with glittering shells of glass, miniature crabs and shrimps, or of globules round like pearls but with the brilliance of gems. Some appear as shining lozenges, like cough drops with feathery fins. Others mimic butterflies with filmy wings.

Unable to swim, the plankton crop drifts with the mood of the sea. The organisms are equipped with many different kinds of water wings to prevent sinking to the darkened depths. They usually swarm around coasts and waters where ocean currents meet.

Wipe Your Feet!

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — School crossing guard Walter Knight had an easy solution when rainwater in the gutter blocked his crossing. He pulled his car up to the curb and parked it astraddle the puddle. Then he opened both its rear doors and invited the children to walk—high and dry—right through.

Northernmost Farm

MANNING—This town, in the northern part of Canada's province of Alberta, advertises itself as the "northernmost midwestern farm town in North America." Its first crop of wheat was grown in 1929, says the National Geographic Society. The town is 565 miles north of the United States border.

Bob Considine Says:

Office Revelers Forget Real Spirit of Yule

NEW YORK (INS) — The Passing show . . .

Is there a greater obscenity than the typical office Christmas party?

* * *

I've been to some in recent years that had about as much to do with the meaning of Christmas as a night in a Bombay opium den.

They seem to consist of bad cold food remnants on soggy paper dishes, half - consumed drinks in paper cups which also have been used as ashtrays, and sedate working people who—with a snoot full—are sure it's time either to tell the boss what a louse he is, take a punch at him (which, in prescribed cases is, of course, to be urged) or ask him for a raise.

Christmas parties in the office started out many years ago as an industrial age version of the lord of the estate inviting the humble sharecroppers in for a spot of punch, a handshake and a bit of toy. The genial patron informally welcoming his workers wore a gray business suit, not a powdered wig.

* * *

Now it seems to be something to be planned for weeks in advance. The working people now pick up the tab themselves.

The fifths of dubious panther juice are carefully cached, the food is ordered long in advance to be sure it get stale enough, the festoons (so soon to be out of place!) are hung, and the bacchanal is on.

STENOGS MAULED

All the pretty stenogs who never wanted to be mauled get bussed and pinched under the questionable truce of the mistletoe. The boss smiles until his jaws ache and then begins to look around for an exit.

Some pest with hardly enough brains to eat a banana has him by the lapel, blowing bad wiskey in his face and telling him, the boss, what a lucky stiff he is to have him, the pest, working in the outfit.

It all seems to have precious little to do with the birth of Jesus Christ.

On the Very Rev. James A. Pike's ABC-TV show recently—where the subject was juvenile delinquency — I said it springs from evil and neglect.

Among the roots I listed the decline of the father as an inspirational force and leader of the family, the growing tendency of clergymen in general to be more receptive to a call from the neighborhood banker than to make a call to the fifth floor rear apartment of a family in need of advice and comfort, the replacement of the foot policeman by the aloof patrol car, the practice by some teachers to push kids through their grades with false passing marks, and mothers who take jobs when there is no real need.

Got an interesting letter from an interested TV viewer. It said, "Why don't you get a manicure?"

NOT IMPRESSED

Friend of mine named Tom Subject, an Omaha boy, ordered the first crepes suzettes of his life the other night in a famed old New Orleans restaurant.

They are served there with a flourish. The lights are dimmed, the great blue flames dance, the epicures blow kisses and drool.

Tom chawed his way through the fragrant dessert in reflective silence. "Tastes like pancakes with bad syrup," he said, while head waiters fainted like sunstruck guardsmen.

Burris Jenkins, the great cartoonist whose work soon will be arriving from the Holy Land, sends me the radio listings from a Jordanian paper.

The Egyptian broadcasting service lists such features as Bing Crosby, the Armenian half hour, news in Greek and Italian, and so forth.

Burris suggests that they're missing a bet, particularly on their daytime programming, not to have "Young Dr. Yasmines," or "Ahmed's Other Wives."

Hubby Allowed to Cuss, but Must Limit Drinks

PATERSON, N. J. (INS)—An East Paterson man was informed by a magistrate yesterday that he could swear around the house if he liked, but that he should cut down on his beer-drinking.

John Pohlod, answering his wife's complaints of his time-consuming tavern habits, told the magistrate that her nagging drove him to the bar stools.

About 90 per cent of all the writing jobs in the U.S. are done by pencil.

All but eight of the states in the U.S. have a ban on fireworks sale and use.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR

JUNIOR EDITORS

THE LITTLE DANCING CLASS
Tony Does the Sailor's Hornpipe—4

Sailors have always liked to dance. For centuries they have danced on deck for their own amusement. The sailor's hornpipe is a lively dance of the jig type.

The base of the figure is a stage setting for a school exhibition and shows a pier, with the sea and ships in the distance.

Why not put a lively jog or hornpipe record on your phonograph when you play with the sailor?

Paste this picture on cardboard and color with crayons. Tony's blouse is white, with red and white striped dickey. His trousers are bright blue. The earrings are gold. The pier is brown, the sea blue and the boats red with white sails against a blue sky.

Cut out the parts carefully and attach the separate arms behind the shoulders with a brass fastener or a bent pin.

Then the sailor can put his hat on and off as he dances.

'The True Meaning of Christmas'

Musicale Officially Opens Season

The Christmas season was officially opened Tuesday for Pontiac Tuesday Musicale members with the presentation of "The True Meaning of Christmas," a program of musical readings and chorus selections.

* * *

Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer arranged the program held at Fellowship Hall, Grace Lutheran Church. Guest artist was Alice Finney, dramatic reader, accompanied by Aletha Sanford.

Musical background for Mrs. Finney's readings was composed by Henrietta Bodycombe of Detroit. Mrs. Finney delighted her audience with her dramatic interpretations of Christmas poems.

A versatile artist, she interprets pathos, humor and dramatic intensity with equal ease. Her numbers were aptly chosen and, together with the chorus selections, made a well-integrated program.

A feature of the afternoon was a vocal ensemble composed of daughters of Tuesday Musicale Chorus members.

CHORUS ENTERTAINS

The Tuesday Musicale Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Gaensbauer and accompanied by Mrs. Addison Oakley, sang as one voice with excellent blend and balance.

* * *

The program opened with a poem, "Holiday Setting," followed by the chorus singing "A Musical Christmas Card" by Kunkle. Several other beautiful selections were presented.

"Silver Bells" was the first song sung by the children's chorus, and they completed their part of the program with "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer."

The program was announced by Mrs. Dora Dawson. Decorations were by Mrs. Gaensbauer, Mrs. Arthur Hainz, Mrs. Collis Scott and Mrs. William Gordon.

Those serving on the social committee were Mrs. D. E. Redmond and Mrs. C. A. Allen, co-chairmen, assisted by Mrs. E. T. Cleland, Mrs. Victoria Gaff, Mrs. Glenn Griffin, Mrs. William Schunck, Mrs. Jack Strait and Mrs. A. L. Thomas.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. L. C. Barner and Mrs. F. W. Raetzke. Floral arrangements were by Mrs. G. V. Poole.

Nancy Farmiloe (left) of Cooley Lake road and Sherrill Lyon of West Walton boulevard are taking advantage of their vacation from Michigan State University. With Sherrill's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Everett Lyon, the students left Wednesday for Miami, Fla. From there they will go to the West Indies where they will spend Christmas, and New Year's Day will find them in Jamaica. En route home from Miami they will stop in New Orleans.

Meeting Conducted by Whitney WCTU

Mrs. John McCormick of Thorpe street was hostess to the Dora B. Whitney Unit of the WCTU Tuesday. Mrs. Andrew Stimer conducted the business meeting, followed by a talk given by Mrs. L. G. Rawley, state vice president.

Mrs. Rawley spoke on "The Three P's, Prayer, Public Relations and Persistence." She stated, "All women should work together for total abstinence." A flannelgraph story demonstrated the effects of liquor on the mind.

Mrs. John Little gave the closing prayer, and tea was served by the hostess.

Personal News of Interest

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Coffey of Highland road were pleasantly surprised by a group of friends and relatives recently. The group gathered at the Coffeys' new home for a housewarming and buffet supper.

An interesting feature of the location of their new home is that it is built on a portion of the farm where Mr. Coffey was born.

* * *

Spending an early winter vacation at the Beach Club Hotel at Naples-on-the-Gulf, Fla., are Mr. and Mrs. David Lewis of West Maple road.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marion and children, Jan and Linda, of Loon Lake Shores are vacationing at St. Petersburg, Fla., for three weeks.

Junior League Presents Party for Handicapped

The annual Junior League Christmas party for the handicapped of Oakland County was held Saturday at the Cranbrook Institute of Science.

Following a tour of the Institute of Science, the group enjoyed a program held in the new planetarium.

Among the 40 guests attending were members of the Metropolitan Activities Group. This group of 60 is composed of handicapped people over 18 who meet once a month on Sunday at 4 p. m. in the Birmingham YWCA.

Some of the activities engaged in are ping pong, basketball and shuffle-board. Any handicapped person interested in joining this group may do so by calling Mrs. Carl Littleson.

The guests were transported to and from the party by the new Birmingham Red Cross Motor Corps under the direction of Mrs. J. S. Riccardi.

Coming Events

Pontiac Rebekah Lodge 450 will meet Friday at 6 p.m. for a Christmas dinner and exchange of gifts, followed by a meeting and initiation at 8 o'clock.

The Maple Leaf Club will meet Friday at 12:30 p.m. in the First Congregational Church for a Christmas party.

Pontiac Women's Club will meet Monday at 1 p.m. in the YWCA for a Christmas program and tea.

The Pontiac Coin Club will meet tonight at 7 in the YMCA.

Yule Meeting Held by Dirt Gardeners

Mrs. LeRoy Small served as program chairman for the Christmas meeting of the Dirt Gardeners Club Tuesday at the Adah Shelly Library.

A cooperative luncheon was served following the business meeting. Members working on the luncheon committee were Mrs. Charles Furler, Mrs. Milton McAnally and Mrs. Shirley Stamp.

Mrs. Small introduced Mrs. William E. Bachman, who spoke on Austrian holiday traditions. Mrs. Clare Lancaster told of the beauty of Christmas in the north woods.

Table decorations on the Christmas theme were arranged by Mrs. Glen Arthur, and ideas for Christmas decorations were exchanged by members. The day's meeting was closed with an exchange of gifts and a Christmas workshop.

Use Home Glue

An economy-sized jar of strong glue is one necessary accessory for the home with a baby; he breaks his toys with ease.

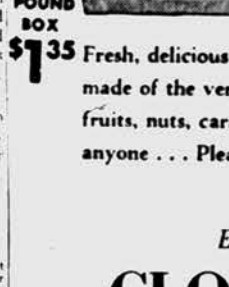

Some hopeless remnants still appeal to him as playthings, but the ones that are supposed to work a certain way should be mended.

Class Skit Could Spoof Basketball Playing

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: Our class has to put on a skit in front of the whole high school. There are 20 of us, 8 boys and 12 girls.

"The skit must last at least 15 minutes, and we can have costumes and scenery. The theme must be about sports.

"We're due to present our work of art when we get back to school after the Christmas holidays. So if we have parts to learn we want to start rehearsing now.

"What we need is a good idea for our skit. We haven't the slightest idea what to do. Have you?"

Answer: How about a burlesqued basketball game between the Battling Blondes and the rival Redheads? And there will be a part for everybody in your class. But be sure the boys are dressed up as girls to star on the two teams.

Rig them up in fancy shorts with splashy big-bowed sashes, pastel-colored sweaters or frilly blouses, football helmets decked out with feathers, flowers or colored pompons, blonde or red mop wigs and high-heeled slippers.

The baskets and posts should be decorated with gay streamers and garlands of flowers. And the ball should be a gaily striped beach ball.

Have each team enter the "arena" chorus-girl fashion, and warm up prettily in front of the audience. High kicks and fancy dance steps plus some very lady-like setting-up exercises.

Then the referee, grotesquely costumed, rings a dainty little bell as a signal to play ball. And they're off! Playing the game in a very sissy "tag, you're it" fashion, teetering on high heels, dribbling the ball very delicately, passing to each other as though the ball were a dozen eggs.

Take time out repeatedly for utter nonsense. The Blondes want a good gossip. (Parts to write and memorize.) Then the Redheads have a fight with the referee over the fact that one of the opposite team isn't a real blonde and should be disqualified. More parts to learn.

Then a hassle because somebody got rough. The referee penalizes her to "no dates for 10 days."

At the half, French maids should rush out with a tea wagon and serve resuscitating refreshments to both teams. More maids should rush out with a dressing table complete with mirror for "repairing the damages."

During the second half, there should be a frightful accident. A turned ankle, with great business of doctor rushing to the aid of victim who is carefully laid on a soft cover, pillow under head.

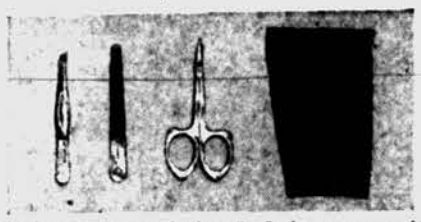

The foot is gently inspected while smelling salts are administered, the patient is fanned, sprayed with perfume and offered a box of candy.

Then the foot is tied up in baby blue ribbons, and with cheers for her bravery and good sportsmanship, the player is helped to her feet to rejoin her team. She's allowed to make the next basket just because she's such a nice girl.

See what kind of skit you can make of this bit of foolishness!

The World Loves a Love Story

Editors Tag Princess Margaret 'Woman of the Year'

By DOROTHY DOE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Proving that all the world loves a love story, Princess Margaret Rose of Britain was named Woman of the Year by the annual vote of women's editors of Associated Press newspapers throughout the country.

* * * *

From the standpoint of news value, there was no doubt that the royal romance of the young princess and the dashing but divorced Group Captain Peter Townsend fired the imagination of the whole world for several weeks this fall, while true love was weighed against royal tradition.

And when duty to church, state and family won over personal happiness, headlines around the world were just as big and black as they were on that other occasion almost a generation ago when Margaret's uncle, King Edward VIII, made a different decision and renounced his throne for "the woman I love."

Voting on women news personalities outstanding in their various fields in 1955, the women's poll named the following:

* * *

Grace Kelly, the young actress from Philadelphia who won filmland's highest award early in the year, was named tops in entertainment for 1955 by vote of AP women's editors.

So great has been her impact on the American public that she has started a whole new trend in the standard of film beauty and has influenced many of this year's fashion collections, all of which stress the fresh young American look. Grace Kelly, a nice girl from a nice family, has made good taste glamorous.

FIRST LADY OF STAGE

Runner-up in the vote for actress of the year was Helen Hayes, often called first lady of the American stage, whose 50th anniversary on Broadway was honored by having a theater named after her.

Almost unanimously, Clare Boothe Luce was voted woman of the year in politics. The charming and controversial U.S. ambassador to Italy returned to her post in Rome after a successful summer visit to Washington.

In the field of public service, 75-year-old Helen Keller was voted the outstanding woman.

Blind and deaf since birth, she took a five-months 40,000-mile trip around the world on behalf of the blind, returned to receive a special citation from President Eisenhower's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped, which read, in part: "For a lifetime of service to humanity and for her example of courage, faith and triumph over physical obstacles."

Also by almost unanimous vote, the incomparable Babe Zaharias again was named woman of the year in sports.

Although this year, for almost the first time in her star-studded career, she won no major tournaments, she was the most talked-of and read-about figure in the feminine world of sports because of her gallant battle against cancer and her best-selling autogiography, "This Life I've Led."

LITERATURE TITLE

Anne Morrow Lindbergh received the title of woman of the year in literature by overwhelming vote for her sensitive and thoughtful book, "Gift from the Sea," written during a vacation on a tropical island, in which she viewed the tensions and complexities of the life of a modern woman at middle age, weaving her personal philosophy around the allegory of a sea shell.

Although she retired to private life in August, Oveta Culp Hobby, former secretary of health, welfare and education, was voted the outstanding woman of 1955 in the field of education.

During her brief term as the only woman member of the Eisenhower Cabinet she guided her department through two of the greatest controversial climaxes in the nation—the issue of racial integration in the schools, and the early confusion over the Salk polio vaccine.

Bernice Fitz-Gibbon, probably America's best-known advertising woman, was voted woman of the year in the field of business, after she resigned her post as advertising manager of one of New York's biggest department stores to open her own firm.

In 1955 nobody but nobody but NOBODY topped Bernice Fitz-Gibbon in headline value in her field.

During the evening Mrs. Walter Teeuwissen of the Drayton Plains United Presbyterian Church gave a Christmas reading, and members enjoyed a gift exchange.

Mrs. Walter Boggs, retiring president of the Naomi Circle, who is leaving for Florida, was presented with a special gift from her circle.

BPW Club Celebrates Yule Season

Members and guests of Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club enjoyed a Christmas party Tuesday evening in the Civic Room of the Federal Savings and Loan Building.

* * *

A revolving Christmas tree with Santa standing along side was the novel setting for the gifts. "Rudolph" was also present adding to the Christmas atmosphere.

For the program Eleanor Lockman and Jane Danton presented travelogues and colored slides of their trips through the Canadian Northwest, the Southern states and California.

A humorous reading was given by Mrs. Albert Leighton and a most fitting climax to the evening's program was the reading of "The Littlest Angel" by Mrs. Fritzi Stoddard, with Rebecca Gould singing "Silent Night" as the background music during the reading.

Christmas gifts were marked with words from a Christmas carol or story and were presented to members who had the words completing the sentence. Mrs. Kay McPherson was in charge of the gift exchange.

Mrs. Norman Dyer and Mrs. Stoddard presided at the silver services at the tea table, which was centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations and holly in a milk glass bowl with matching candelabra.

Hostess for the affair was Miss Danton, chairman, assisted by Miss Lockman, Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. D. R. Wilson, Mrs. Norman Smith, Josephine Seeley and Mrs. Sanford Craft.

Guild Eight Marks Christmas Season

Mrs. Harry Morris opened her home on Gerdon avenue to members of Guild Eight, All Saints Episcopal Church. Nineteen members and guests were present for the Tuesday evening Christmas party at which community singing and games were enjoyed.

Following a gift exchange, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Walter Whisnant.

Psycho-Drama Mends Marriages

By EDWIN DIAMOND
INS Science Writer

The marriage of John and Mary Smith, a handsome, college-educated, middle-income couple with two healthy children, was in a bad way.

They bickered constantly over money matters, relatives, the kind of meals served, the use of the family car, the new hat Mary had bought.

John had been "staying downtown to work" and rolling in at 2 a.m. Not that Mary said she cared—for a year now she had taken over the master bedroom and John was sleeping in the guest room.

Yet the Smiths wanted to save their marriage and build a happy home. They bought the recommended books, consulted with their clergyman and for the last six months each had been receiving individual marriage counseling at the local Family Service Bureau at $5 a visit.

It was a sincere search to the answer for their sexual, personality and budget problems. It was also a fruitless search, in the opinion of some marriage experts.

STRESSES INDIVIDUAL

For experts explain that life is full of particular problems and no hard and fast general rules can cover all of them. To insure ability to meet and solve these problems, many psychologists like Nelson Foote of the Family Study Center in Chicago believe emphasis should be placed on the "person and not the problem."

After all, he explains, "who is in a position to give any one ready-made answers for all the conceivable situations of married life?"

Instead of issuing rules and do's and don't, the Family Study Center is helping adults develop skills in meeting family problems with success and satisfaction.

The general skill is called competency—or the ability to deal surely with various situations in a mature, intelligent way.

To help develop individual competency—and better marriages—Foote's staff employs the technique of "psycho-drama." Here is how psycho-drama works.

A group of young, carefully selected couples meets once a week around a table. General family situations are suggested and individual group members, say John Smith of our fictional example and Sally Brown, are asked to "play the role" of husband and wife in the situation.

MANY SUBJECTS

The range of topics is wide and intimate — budgeting, working mothers, sex problems, extravagance in hats. To these typical discord-producing domestic situations the "actors" in the psycho-drama bring their own backgrounds and experience. It is completely ad lib.

Later, the couples discuss how the problem was handled, retrace the unfolding psycho-drama and try to determine how clashes and unhappiness could have been avoided.

Foote believes these sessions may help participants achieve one of the personal qualities essential for good relations with others. The quality is called "empathy," or the ability to understand and appreciate the other person's point of view.

A quick way to convey empathy is to have husband and wife exchange "roles" in the psycho-drama in order to see how it feels to be in the other person's shoes.

Foote is necessarily tentative about the results of his new technique but other marriage experts declare "treating the person and not the problem" may be the key to aiding families like the Smiths.

The importance of these individual abilities is underlined by Mrs. Laura Smalakis, a marriage counselor and writer.

"A couple is initially drawn together by physical attraction and the bonds of romantic love," she said.

"Then, in the first years of marriage, the children form the focus of attention. Then (it seems so sudden, but it really isn't) both partners find they are in the later middle years of life.

"The sex urge is less insistent, the children have grown up and gone. It is then that the importance of common ideals, interests and ideas is most apparent."

Mrs. Smalakis urges younger couples to begin developing these interests and leisure time activities outside the home now, before it is too late.

Many middle-aged couples frankly report their inability or unwillingness to recognize that their children have grown up and must leave them.

They fear the day when the once-crowded and tumultous house will become a big, rattling, empty, lonesome shell.

Students of marriage report an interesting trend in the connection: Older couples with college age children decide to have another child now that their family is grown up.

Brothers and sisters with as much as 15 and 20 years separating them are no longer a rarity—and can be explained in this context.

Another problem facing older couples is the very urgent one of where to live—should they live alone, in an old people's home or with their now married children?

Sometimes the comments of the couples themselves on the problems of marriage are more enlightening than pages of learned studies.

A representative group of husbands and wives in their middle years was asked by a marriage expert what they would tell young people getting engaged or married today. Here are some of the replies:

"You should know each other well before marriage but unfortunately you can never know a person really well until you are married."

"Don't ever tell your wife what a good cook or housekeeper your mother was."

"Each marriage is different—when I look at some of my wife's friends, I wonder how anybody could have ever married some of them."

"You can't change people. Don't marry a man to reform him."

"If you can't unburden yourself to your spouse, then things are bad. You must be able to talk over problems freely."

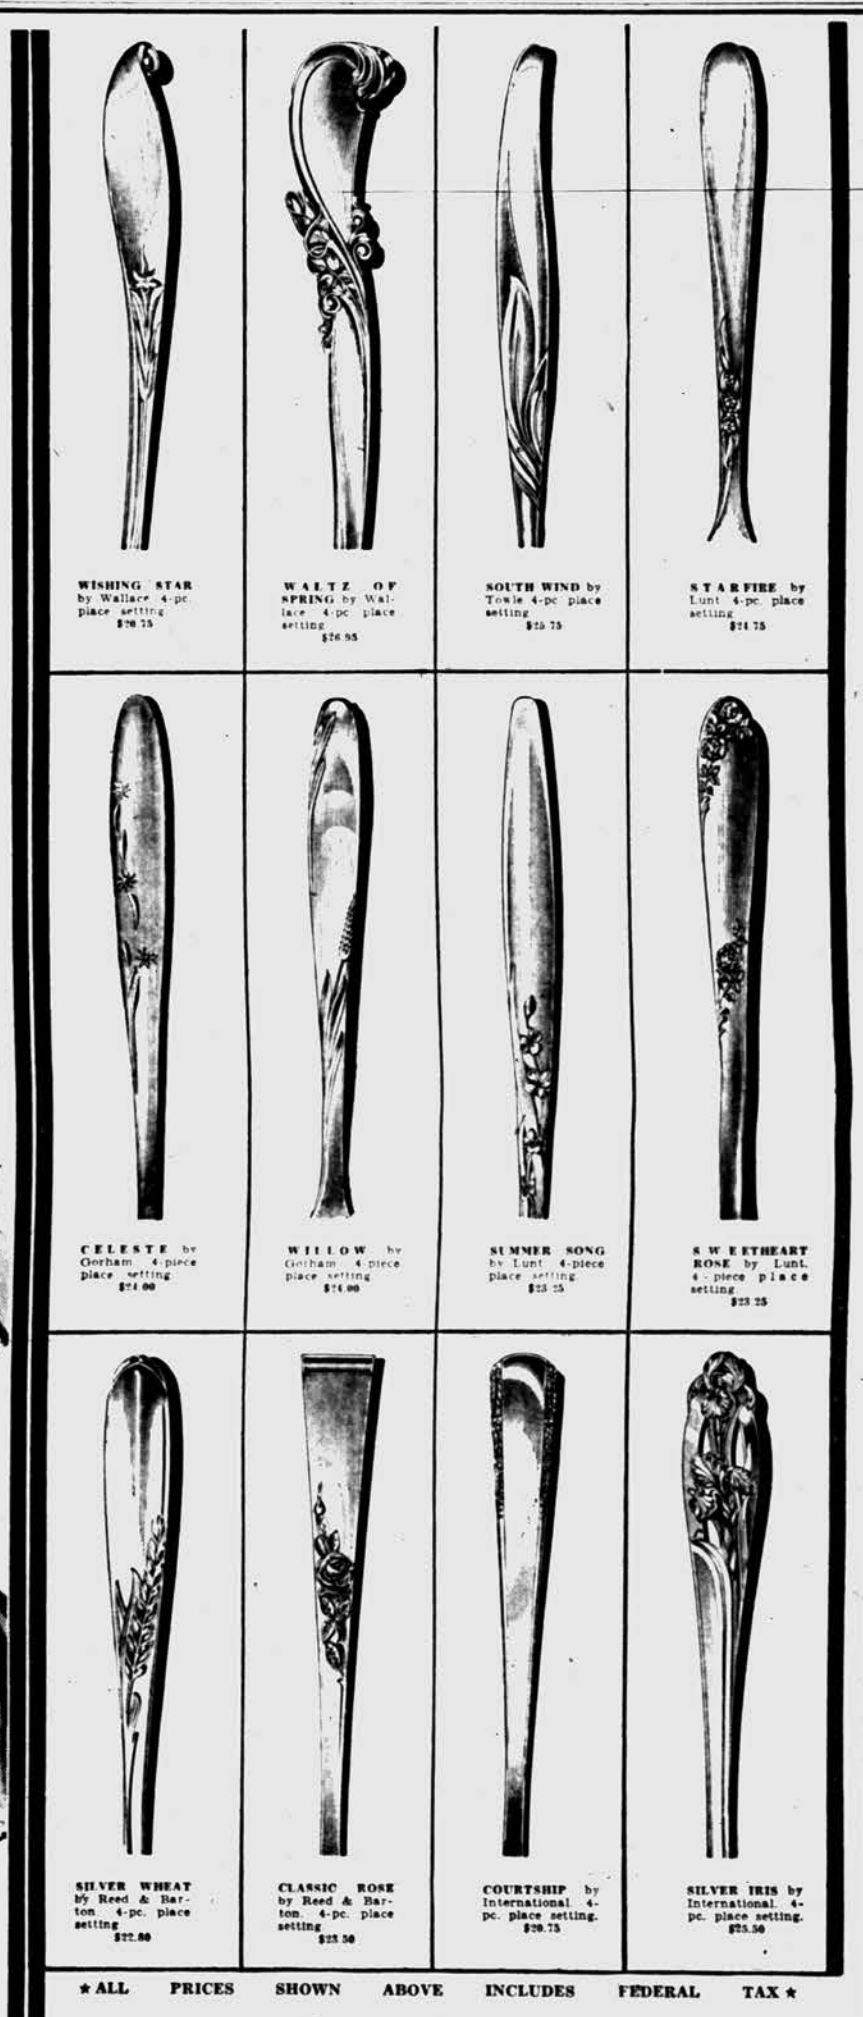

"Don't sleep on an argument. Get it all out before going to sleep."

Tomorrow: The "companion marriage."

Congress May Inspect Foundations

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Foundations are crowding the news columns these days — with both controversial and noncontroversial deeds. And there's a growing tendency in Washington — both in Congress and in the Treasury Department — to take a close look at these tax-free funds.

The nation's largest — the Ford Foundation — has made news of a noncontroversial nature twice of late. It is giving 500 million dollars to private education and to hospitals. This is the largest single act of philanthropy ever announced.

* * *

While the Ford Foundation is the nation's largest tax-free fund, it has lots of company. If you count in churches, farm cooperatives and the like there are more than 100,000 tax-free groups in the country.

32,000 FOUNDATIONS

Some 32,000 of these are in the category of foundation, fund or association — exempted from taxation on the general ground that they serve a public rather than a private purpose. And about 7,000 of these are foundations set up by wealthy men or corporations to handle their philanthropies.

* * *

Most of these are conceded to serve a public purpose. But some congressmen have been charging that some foundations or funds meddle too much in politics to deserve a tax-free status.

Congress is expected to be asked for a law which would open to public inspection the applications for tax exemption filed by foundations. The idea is that the ones solely serving the public interest wouldn't mind — many of them report publicly now.

* * *

But some groups don't disclose how they raise funds or how they spend them, and Washington feels that many of these would give up their tax-free status rather than let the public in on their operations.

Yule Shopping Spree Yields Twin Girls

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A sailor and his wife started on a shopping trip yesterday and wound up the parents of twin baby girls — born unexpectedly near and in a hospital.

The twins were born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Pavia. Pavia is a machinists mate first class aboard the submarine tender Sperry.

He and his wife Virginia were in their car about three blocks from the hospital when she had a little pain.

"The baby wasn't due until January and we thought it was a preliminary," Pavia said. "By the time we reached the front door of the hospital, one baby was born."

Hospital attendants rushed the mother to the delivery room, where doctors attended the birth of the second baby. Mother and twins were reported doing fine.

Very Considerate

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Juvenile Trial Commissioner W. Rodes Clay agreed that matrimony was a good idea for a man who said he plans to marry the mother of his 8-year-old son. The man told Clay he has lived with the woman for 11 years and that the marriage "will be her Christmas present."

Private Snow Plowing Illegal for Township

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh today held an arrangement by which Marquette Township of Marquette County plows out former township roads and private drives through a separate corporation is illegal.

He replied to a question raised by Rep. Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee.)

Jacobetti reported that in October of 1953 officials of the township formed a non-profit corporation which uses township road equipment to plow out the former township roads and private drives. Owners of the drives pay for the service.

The legislator reported that the corporation paid the costs and maintenance for the equipment and turned over to the township any revenues.

Rochester Boy Released Following Treatment

A 10-year-old Rochester boy, struck by an automobile last night, was released after treatment in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Sheriff's Deputies said that Leonard Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Nelson, ran into the side of a moving car. They said the driver, Mrs. Claude Marries, also of Rochester, was not ticketed.

Send Rudolph Over for the Auditorium!

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Christmas decorators around here have trouble remembering it's eight — not nine or seven—reindeer that pull Santa Claus' sleigh.

* * *

According to the old poem, "A Visit From St. Nicholas," they're Dasher, Dancer, Prancer, Vixen, Comet, Cupid, Donner and Blitzen.

There are nine reindeer, however, pulling Santa's sled in front of the Coral Gables City Hall; only seven perform the chore atop the Miami Beach Auditorium.

* * *

Mayor Fred Hartnett of Coral Gables said the ninth reindeer is Rudolph, a red-nosed animal. John Poulos of the Miami Beach Parks Department plans to ask the city government for another reindeer.

Millage Vote Fails

LANSING (AP)—A special millage election at Roseville last June 6 failed to pass because it did not receive a three - fifths majority under a charter provision, Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh held today in an opinion requested by Pros. Atty. Cecil A. Byers of Mt. Clemens.

Seeing Eye Dog, Worried Owner United in Hospital

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Punch, a 20-month-old German shepherd Seeing Eye dog, was admitted to Jefferson Davis Hospital yesterday with the privilege of bedding down in his owner's room.

Hospital officials slashed red tape and a long-standing rule against dogs to reunite Punch and Elbert Spencer, his blind owner.

When Spencer was admitted Monday to the hospital for eye treatment, Punch defied all efforts to calm him or coax him to eat. Tuesday night he had a convulsion.

In arranging for Punch to have hospital privileges, Spencer's physician said, "It's best for both the patient and the dog. Spencer was nervous and upset over the animal and it was becoming difficult to treat him. The dog was becoming ill and it would be criminal to let anything happen to a very intelligent and highly trained animal like him."

Teaching Toys Have Purpose

Modern Playthings Aid Education and Stimulate Child's Interest

This Christmas there's a strong trend to make family game sessions yield dividends of useful knowledge that will ease homework sessions throughout the year. Easy Money is one that imparts the fascination of high finance speculation to the basics of simple arithmetic.

* * *

Go To The Head of the Class provides board game quiz fun at three different levels to cater to the growing number of children the average family is sending simultaneously to grade school.

Current events assignments on the school front have sparked wide sale of news-quiz games like Swayze that's based on international time clocks.

The can't-read-and-write set has gotten special attention from game inventors. This Christmas kindergartners will definitely out-do the kibitzer class when the family gathers for board game competition.

ANNIE OAKLEY

Chuggedy Cug, for example, the first to use a locomotive style turn table, is one of a number of new games slanted at the 4-to-12 age span. Each player runs a train and the winner is the first to route his locomotive to the turn table.

Annie Oakley, also geared to the 4-12 age group, uses a frontier style chase as the basis of competition. Driv-Ur-Self bases competition on manipulating a car over a moving highway according to proper traffic rules.

TV is credited with booming a wide variety of games that reproduce big time sports in miniature parlor versions. Poosh-M-Up Ice Hockey provides realistic puck action for players.

* * *

Slugger, a new baseball game for winter training, gives the parlor batter full control of slugging action. Basket, another new sporting game for the fireside, reproduces realistic basketball action.

Detroit Incorporators Denied Bank Charter

LANSING (AP) — Incorporators of a proposed new Public Bank in Detroit have appealed to the Ingham County Circuit Court to override State Banking Commissioner Maurice Eveland's refusal to issue it a charter.

The incorporators contended that they had met all the requirements of the law. They ask for a writ of mandamus.

Eveland said he would not permit the organizers to file their articles of incorporation and sell stock to the public until he had assurance that deposits in the proposed bank would be insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

So far, this assurance has not been received, Eveland said.

The incorporators include Joseph F. Verhelle, John E. Murphy, Charles H. Mahoney, Edward C. Connor and John W. Babcock, all of Detroit.

Definitions Cut Highway Talk Confusion

If you find the various terms used in highway stories confusing, perhaps the following definitions compiled by the National Highway Users Conference will prove helpful.

Arterial highway — A general term designating a major highway, usually on a continuous or through route.

Authority — A special governmental body created by the state to carry on one or more special activities.

Bypass — An arterial highway for carrying traffic partially or entirely around an urban area or portion thereof. (Also called belt highway.)

Capacity — An expression pertaining to the ability of a roadway to accommodate traffic.

Controlled access highway — A highway especially designed for through traffic to which owners or occupants of abutting land have no direct access.

Expressway — A highway with full or partial control of access and with important crossroads separated in grade from the pavements for through traffic. Expressways are generally divided highways.

Federal-aid — Federal money grants to the states for construction of highways, ordinarily authorized twice each year. Generally, states are required to match these grants.

Freeway — A highway with full control of access and with all crossroads separated in grade from the pavements for through traffic.

Grade separation — A structure used to separate vertically two intersecting roadways, thus permitting traffic on one road to cross traffic on the other without interference.

Interstate system — A national network of the most important highways designed by Congress in the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1944. It connects the principal metropolitan areas, cities and industrial centers.

Right-of-way — A general term denoting land, property, or interest therein, usually in a strip acquired for or devoted to the highway.

State highway — A road under jurisdiction of a state highway department.

Federal automotive excise taxes — General taxes charged by the Federal government upon motor fuel, lubricating oil, motor vehicles, parts and accessories, tires and tubes.

Highway user taxes — Special taxes, such as the gas tax, paid to the state and local governments by motor vehicle operators because of their use of highways and streets which are generally considered contributions toward defraying road costs.

Toll road — A highway for whose use a special toll charge is collected.

Volume — The number of vehicles moving in a specified direction or directions on a given lane or roadway that pass a given point during a specified period of time.

Wilson Will Rescind Civilian Force Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Star says Secretary of Defense Wilson has agreed to rescind the order requiring the Air Force to cut the number of its civilian employes by 18,000.

* * *

Instead of coming out of the present payroll, the story says, the 18,000 cut is to be applied to an expansion program under which the Air Force had planned to add 30,000 civilians in the next six months as it builds up to 137 wings. That leaves the service room to take on 12,000 more civilians than it now has, for a total of about 312,000.

Wilson at a recent news conference said Secretary of the Air Force Quarles had made a pretty good case in objecting to a cut.

The cutback was part of a total reduction of 68,000 civilian employes ordered for the Air Force, Army and Navy.

* * *

The Star says Wilson rejected a Navy request to ease the cut. The Army, the story says, has made no protest.

Japan's population is growing at the rate of about 1,000,000 persons a year.

Shoshoni Indian Battled Desert

Hardy Tribesmen Met Their Match in Wastes of Western America

WASHINGTON — The Great American Desert, killer of legions of hardy men, once found a match for its inhospitable wastes—the Shoshonean Indian.

The area where the Shohoni, or "Diggers," lived lies between the Wasatch Range of Utah and the foothills of the Sierra Nevada.

Early travelers who had seen the dashing Plains and Pueblo tribes were amazed at the impoverished Great Basin Indians. They ate snakes, crickets, lizards, and gophers. Their digging for roots gave them their nickname.

"However, since one's diet is largely a matter of custom, a Shoshoni might be just as annoyed at seeing a white man eat crab or lobster," Dr. Stirling of the National Geographic Society observes.

The Shoshoni's basic food was nuts of the pine trees, or pinon. Also prized were mesquite beans, ground into flour, and the agave or century plant, roasted in stone-lined pits.

The tribesmen were so preoccupied with food that they had little time for dancing and courtship. Most marriages came when families gathered infrequently to sing or gamble.

Like other tribes, the Shoshoni were gradually forced to adopt a way of life as government wards in reservations.

HEADED FOR THE PICKLE WORKS — From quenching the thirst of locomotives to salting down pickles is the story of a number of obsolete railroad water towers along the Union Pacific line in Kansas. They were bought by the Dreher Pickle Company of Denver, as pickle vats. This tank is being torn down at Sylvan Grove, Kan. All were removed to Ft. Collins, Colo., where they were reassembled.

How About a Mink-Trimmed Toothbrush?

Christmas Shoppers Spending Like Crazy

NEW YORK (AP)—Christmas shoppers in Baltimore are buying handbags at $100 each. In Dallas they're splurging on live Mexican burros with carts. Merchants along New York's Fifth Avenue say diamonds and mink are "selling like crazy."

• • •

That's the pattern of Christmas buying this year. An Associated Press survey show pre-Christmas retail trade in two dozen major cities smashing records right and left. People are spending more freely than ever before. And their preference seems to lean toward gadgets, gimmicks, luxury gits and frills, rather than "practical" items.

TOP ALL LEVELS

Confidence that this year's Crhistmas volume will top the record levels of a year ago is evident from San Francisco to New York and Boston to Atlanta.

"We're ahead about 8 per cent," says President Herbert Wilson of Emery, Bird Thayer Co. Kansas City.

• • •

"Business is excellent," declares John P. Murphy, president of Higbee's, Cleveland. M. H. Segner, vice president of Seattle's Bon Marche, describes business as "very, very good—so far, it's 10 per cent or more ahead of last year." A Los Angeles retailer finds shoppers "not just looking, they're buying. And they're buying good merchandise all the way down the line."

HIGH WAGES DO IT

Booming employment and high wages are boosting Christmas trade in many of the nation's great industrial centers. Pittsburgh is "5 to 10 per cent ahead of normal."

J. W. Vanden Bosch, business analyst for the Cleveland, Ohio, Chamber of Commerce, says heavier Christmas sales are expected to ever hear; but then, I never because payrolls in the Greater Cleveland industrial area for the final quarter of 1955 are up about 55 million dollars from a year ago.

Here and there, you'll find shoppers curbing their Christmas spending. A New Orleans department store official notes that "shoppers are a little more cautious this year. . . . Credit is a little tight." And a survey by the Los Angeles Mirror-News shows that families in the $3,000 to $5,000 income bracket are buying less for Christmas than a year ago. Reasons include: new babies, medical bills, payments on new homes, higher property taxes. Higher income shoppers are spending lavishly, however, and many Los Angeles merchants see new records coming up.

FREE SPENDING

Free spending is the rule this year in the Carolinas. An AP shopping survey finds Carolina customers "plentiful, eager and loaded with money or ready credit."

New York's glittering shops are gunning for new records. Macy's says its business is "going according to plan, or about 5 per cent ahead of last year."

MOON QUITCLAIMS

If you're for off-trail gifts, you'll find a wide assortment. Neiman Marcus in Dallas is selling quitclaims to real estate on the moon "for people who have everything on earth." Macy's New York is advertising "things you never knew existed." They include: a fur dust mitt for mother, a commuter's coffee pot (which plugs into the dashboard), a whistle that attracts squirrels, a shaving brush especially designed for men with handlebar mustaches, a hair brush for bald heads.

Black, Starr & Gorham, Fifth Avenue jewelry store, offers a combination whisk broom and shoehorn for $10. Also featured on New York gift counters: mink-trimmed toothbrushes, jeweled fly-swatters, beer can openers trimmed with ermine.

Exchange Club to Raise Funds Hitting Streets

Members of the Pontiac Exchange ClubP will take to the area's street corPners tomorrow nightP between 7 and 9 to raise funds for Christmas baskets through the sale of the "War Cry," official Salvation Army publication.

The baskets will be distributed to deserving families by Salvation Army workers, according to John C. Napley, general chairman of the annual campaign.

Nine teams of Exchange Club members, and several "flying squads," will sell the magazine.

Figs in Michigan?

MANISTEE—A fig tree ordered from Texas by Mrs. Joseph Cook bears fruit outside her home in Manistee. A banana tree grows there too, but Mrs. Cook says, "I really don't expect the banana tree to ever bear; but then, I never thought the fig tree would either."

AC Advisory Group to Coordinate Ties

Organization of a nation-wide Tire, Battery and Accessory Advisory Council to promote closer relationships between dealers and the AC Spark Plug Division of General Motors has been announced by officials of the Flint firm.

Ten TBA management representatives from all sections of the U. S. have been named to the group, according to Joseph A. Anderson, division general manager. The first meeting has been scheduled for March.

Among the council's major purposes will be to determine how AC can help in merchandising spark plugs and oil filters, coordinate AC merchandising programs, and to help AC get the benefit of TBA thinking on advertising and sales promotion ideas.

SYDNEY—New Guinea matrons along the Sepik River sometimes use lime and ashes for make-up, says the National Geographic Society. A man there may carry on his waistband the fur of the flying fox, an adornment permitted only to the successful head-hunter.

High Radio-Pasteurization Processes Effected Through Use of Atomic Energy

CLEVELAND (AP)—A new "penny-a-pound" method of pasteurizing certain foods with atomic energy was proposed yesterday by a team of University of Michigan scientists.

They said preliminary experiments indicate that the technique, capable of employing radioactive by-products from atomic energy plants, "might make possible the sale of such items as roast whole chicken, cooked cleaned shrimp, blanched green peas, and other vegetables packaged in plastic containers and capable of being stored unfrozen for long periods at refrigerator temperatures."

Doctors L.E. Brownell and S.N. Purohit declared the commercial development of such a process "would increase greatly the use of refrigeration both in the commercial handling of food and in the storage of foods in the home."

"If foods could be kept for two or three months or longer by such a process," they told a congress of nuclear scientists and engineers here, "the housewife might use an additional refrigerator solely for storage.

"In this regard, the process would be competing with the use of a deep freezer, but it would be used for food stored for shorter periods. Foods can be stored at 40 degrees more cheaply than at deep freezer temperatures, and the waiting period required for thawing would be eliminated. It is believed that the added convenience to the housewife of such a process and the savings in prevention of food spoilage would justify its use."

They explained that the new technique, called "high radio-pasteurization," differs from techniques that are under study for employing atomic rays to "sterilize" foods.

They said that while atomic "sterilization" kills all the germs that might be present in the food, the very high doses of radiation required produce undesirable changes in most foods, especially in the odor and flavor of meats and dairy products.

Envisioning special plants in which food would be "high radio-pasteurized" with partially-used fuel elements from atomic reactors—fuel awaiting partial "cooling off" of attached fission products before being reprocessed for fuel—the scientists said such fuel elements might be obtained on a rental basis.

"It is believed," they said, "that such a rental charge might be helpful in making nuclear-power reactors more profitable and thereby hasten the day when electric power from nuclear reactors will be able to compete with electric power from fossil fuels."

Sacred Traditions Shroud Family Life in Contemporary Palestine

BETHLEHEM, Jordan (AP)—On a rocky hillside between Jerusalem and Bethlehem two Arabs sit sipping coffee in front of a limestone cave. Inside the cave, a hooded woman holds a new-born babe in her arms while she cooks over an open fire.

* * *

The lives of these people show that Joseph and Mary were not the last Palestinian family to bring a baby into the world in a manger "because there was no room for them in the inn."

The manger of Christ's birthplace almost certainly was inside a cave, not in a barn or stable of the western type. The hills around Bethelehem and Jerusalem are honeycombed with limestone caverns which local shepherds find convenient shelters for their animals.

Sometimes shepherds will build a stone wall over part of the cave entrance, leaving only a small door which can be closed at night to protect the animals. Other caves have naturally small entrances, however, so that the cave is used as nature provided it.

REFUGEES USE THE CAVES

In such a cave the holy family found shelter at the time Christ was born. And in such a cave many Palestine Arab families have found shelter in the last seven years. After the Palestine War of 1948, these people were forced to leave their homes on the Israeli side to become refugees. Within sight of Jerusalem, fourteen refugee families—with their goats and sheep—were found living in a single cave.

Sleeping in the same cave with goats and sheep may sound unhealthful to westerners, but to refugee Palestinians it is simply a matter of life and death. The milk and cheese from their flocks provides a major part of their diet. If the animals are left outside, they may be stolen; the risk is too great to take.

After the long trek from Nazareth in Galilee, the weary Mary and Joseph were turned away from Bethlehem's only inn and found a limestone cavern-stable in which to sleep. The grotto in which Christ was believed to have been born can be visited today beneath the ancient Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem.

CHRIST'S BIRTH PLACE

The floor of the grotto now is covered with tiles, and the entire cave is decorated with altars, icons and lamps. But the sides and ceiling are still of the original unfinished stone. The ceiling is black with soot like all caves in the area in which human beings have lived. This brings to mind a vivid picture of Mary and Joseph huddled among the goats and sheep around a smoky fire just before the birth of Christ.

Under a Greek Orthodox altar on one wide of the cave a silver star in the floor marks the exact spot where Christ is said to have been born. On the other side is a stone platform which undoubtedly once served as a manger.

Inside the manger is a wooden crib, like the one which traditions say the carpenter Joseph built for the infant Jesus.

Although there can be no absolute proof that this cave is the site of Christ's birth, local historians say the site was marked as early as the first century of the Christian era. At a time when few Christians lived in Bethlehem, pagans in the town pointed to the place as the birthplace of Jesus, these historians say.

The Grotto of the Nativity forms one of a series of limestone caves beneath the Church of the Nativity. One of these is supposed to be the place in which the angel appeared to Joseph to tell him to take his family to Egypt to escape the wrath of King Herod. Another connecting grotto is said to have been the mass grave of the babies killed by King Herod when he ordered all boys under two years old to be slain.

Down the slopes of Bethlehem toward the east is the second site where the holy family is said to have stopped. Located among the stone terraces of olive groves overlooking the Plain of Boaz is a stone Franciscan chapel known as the "House of Joseph." Traditions say this chapel stands on the natural stone foundations of the house where the holy family lived after moving out of the Grotto of the Nativity.

The Gospel of Luke refers only to the birth scene in the manger, but Matthew relates that the Wise Men from the east "were come into the house" in Bethlehem to visit the Holy Family. Local traditions say the Holy Family moved into a house between the time of Christ's birth and the family's departure for Egypt.

Over the hill on the south side of Bethlehem is another grotto connected with the infancy of Christ. Known as the "Milk Grotto," this is the place where the holy family is said to have paused briefly during the flight from Bethlehem to Egypt.

The Milk Grotto has been hewn from soft white rock. Although no biblical reference is made to this site, ancient traditions say a few drops of milk dropped from Mary's breast here and turned the rock white. Peasant women, both Moslem and Christian come here to take bits of the rock, grind it into a powder, and drink it mixed with water. The believe this "virgin's milk" has miraculous healing qualities.

The existence of these sites connected with the birth of Jesus has given the little town of Bethlehem an importance it otherwise would never have had. With a population of less than 10,000, Bethlehem lies off the main highways of Palestine. Its only economic significance is to serve as a trading center for Bedouins from the south and east.

* * *

But Joseph's ancestors came from Bethlehem, and he had to travel there from Nazareth to register when the Roman emperor ordered the population to be enfolded. The same thing happens today in the Middle East: when elections are held, most of the people vote in villages of their forefathers, not in the towns where they currently live.

FAMOUS WALK — Path to the House of Joseph on the eastern slopes of Bethlehem. According to tradition, the Holy Family moved to a house in this area soon after Jesus was born.

TYPICAL PALESTINE — This is a street scene today in Bethlehem — a town of about 10,000 and marketing place for Bedouins.

Solon Urges Tax Cut After Shaving Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said today he thinks the national debt should be reduced at least a billion dollars before taxes are cut.

He expressed that personal opinion in an interview in which he forecast "little chance for a tax reduction unless we first balance the budget and then make some reduction in the national debt."

He added his note of caution to those sounded by other House and Senate leaders yesterday against too optimistic hopes of a tax cut in the coming election-year session of Congress. They spoke out after learning at a White House conference that defense spending requests next year will be higher than current levels.

* * *

Knowland conceded there may be heavy pressure on Congress for some tax reductions.

At the most recent count there were 570 television stations in the world, located and operating in 38 countries.

American Plans Own V-8 Plant

First Engine Scheduled for Production Early Next Summer

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. (Nash-Hudson) says it will produce its own V-8 engine.

The move was disclosed yesterday as part of the firm's 1956 planning, but details of the new production plant were not given. However, it was understood that the engine may be ready by early next summer.

American Motors now is using a V-8 built by Studebaker-Packard Corp in some of its larger Hudson and Nash models.

The disclosure that American is tooling for its own engine production led to speculation that it may be planning to install a V-8 in its Rambler series.

The Rambler, which goes on display at dealers today, has been described by George Romney, American's president, as "the key factor in American Motors' approach to the automobile market."

The new Rambler has adequate space under the hood for installation of a V-8 engine. It nows uses an overhead valve, six-cylinder, 120-horsepower engine.

Injured Niles Resident Succumbs in South Bend

SOUTH BEND, Ind (AP)—Oral David Hamilton, 62, of rural Niles, died in a South Bend Hospital yesterday of injuries he received when struck by a car on a South Bend street. The driver of the car, Kasimar Joseph Jedd, 32, of South Bend, was not held.

Hamilton was a Bendix Aviation plant worker at South Bend.

Some tribes of the Pueblo Indians live on land grants in New Mexico that date back to the Spanish crown.

Democratic Headliner

Estes, Adlai Meet Head-On to Win California Primary

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

California's June primary seems likely to produce a head-on contest between Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

* * *

Stevenson listed California yesterday as one of four additional states in which he will seek pre-convention voter support.

A short time later, Kefauver wound up a week's stay in the politically important state by announcing he too will enter the California primary if he decides to run for president.

The Tennessee senator says he'll declare formally tomorrow. Few will be surprised if he tries again as he did in 1952.

* * *

Stevenson added Florida, Pennsylvania and Illinois, as well as California, to the list of states where he plans to run in primaries. Previously he had named only Minnesota.

* * *

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee said he picked these contests so voters could show preference "on a regional basis in the East, Midwest, South and West." He said he would decide about other primaries later.

LAUSCHE DARK HORSE

In Ohio, Gov. Frank Lausche announced he is willing to be his state's "favorite son" candidate at the Democratic convention.

Whether the five-term governor would remain in the secondary role traditionally accorded "favorite son" candidates remained to be seen. Some Democratic leaders outside of Ohio have mentioned him as a possible dark horse winner at the convention.

* * *

On the Republican side, friends of Sen. Knowland of California said in Washington they believe the GOP Senate leader will be an active aspirant for the presidential nomination early next year.

* * *

The Knowland backers professed confidence that President Eisenhower will decide against seeking re-election, and that Eisenhower will make his decision known sometime next month as Knowland has been urging. Knowland himself declined public comment.

Ships Rescue 11 Men After Vessel Sinks

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Eleven men plucked from a lifeboat in a tossing sea after their ship went down 75 miles northeast of Miami were brought to port early today.

The Coast Guard and four commercial vessels rescued the men after the motor vessel Monster, owned by the Thompson Construction Co. of St. Petersburg, and operating out of Miami, sank three miles west of Great Isaac light in the Bahamas last night.

The Coast Guard sent a plane to the scene and the cutter Walnut sped out for the rescue. The plane spotted the lifeboat and dropped flares to guid rescue ships.

Says Hospital Issue Warning for Voters

LANSING (AP)—The Citizens Research Council said today that Michigan's experience with its 5-year-old, 60 million dollar mental hospital bond issue should warn the people against any more loosely-drawn bond issues.

* * *

The council, a private agency interested in governmental reform, said that the 1950 bond issue was supposed to have provided 6,818 beds, but actually produced 4,618.

Thus, the council said, some 2,200 beds were "lost" because of poor decisions, unrealistic estimates and conflicting policies.

The council said the executive policy was "inconsistent, conflicting and contradictory" between the State Budget Office and the State Department of Mental Health.

It added, the final policy decisions were made by the Legislature and that it could not determine whether the Legislature blindly followed the executive branch's recommendations or the executive agencies submitted to the Legislature only what is thought would be approved.

Highway economists estimate that inadequate roads in the U.S. are costing motorists more than $5 billion a year in delays, mishaps and car repairs.

Earl Warren's Life Recounted

Justice's Inspiring Climb to Prominence Is Dotted With Dramatic Crises

NEW YORK — The success of Earl Warren seems to have come easily. Yet behind his hearty handshake and smile is the inspiring story of how an immigrant's son grew up to prove that big dreams still can come true in America.

In fact, the story of Earl Warren and his family, in a recent issue of a popular magazine, is an American epic—the story of how two immigrant families joined together to win struggles and overcome crises.

It is also the story of how a boy of the first generation in this country took such advantage of his opportunities here that he became one of the country's outstanding district attorneys; Governor of California three times in a row; twice a strong presidential possibility; once a candidate for the vice-president; and finally Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

One of the momentous decisions Chief Justice Warren has made since his first days on the bench is to outlaw segregation in American public schools. The court's unanimous decision in this matter is credited to his administrative skill.

It is impossible to think of Earl Warren apart from his wife Nina and his three sons and three daughters. Warren almost always acts first as a family man and second as a public official. He has applied the lessons of his personal life to his public career.

CAUGHT — Police push and pull a man identified as Pasquale Ventura, 48, from a painter's scaffold slung from Buffalo Skyway after getting close to him on a 40-foot perch by offering him a cigarette. The end of a fire ladder appears below them. Ventura was charged with violation of the State Health Law forbidding attempted suicide.

Concert by Pontiac Band to Open Annual Meeting

The Pontiac High School Band will be spotlighted in Detroit tonight when the musicians will present the opening night's concert at the three-day annual convention of the American School Band Directors Association.

The program, under the direction of Dale C. Harris, will be given at 8:15 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium. The Pontiac band will represent the Class A division of Michigan bands. Harris, director of instrumental music for the Pontiac school system, is also president of the ASBDA and one of its founders.

Among the selections the band will play are "Der Freischutz" by Von Weber; "On the Esplanade" by Brown; "Toccata" by Laboda; "Debonair March" by Royal and an excerpt from Tschaikowsky's "Symphony No. 1."

Guest conductor will be Dr. Edwin Franko Goldman, who will direct the band in the playing of his own "Builders of America." Other members will be Herman's "Ballet for Young Americans," "A Study in Steel" by Samskar, Sousa's "Free Lance March" and the third movement from Gillis' symphony No. 1.

Other bands appearing at the convention will be the Wayne University Band, Marshall High School Band representing Class B, and the Fowlerville Band representing Class C.

The ASBDA, organized in 1953, is composed of school band directors from 42 of the 48 states. Purpose of the convention, being held at the Park-Shelton Hotel, Detroit, is to correlate the work of bands in various sections of the country and allow an exchange of ideas between school band leaders. The convention will continue tomorrow and Saturday.

East-West Cold War Endures, Dulles Says

PARIS (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles told the NATO Council of Ministers today the East-West cold war is on again after nearly a year of Soviet policy zig-zagging.

The American secretary, discussing the trends and motives of Russian policy in 1955, declared the new rulers of the Soviet Union have opened dangerous new cold war fronts in the Middle East and South Asia.

He added, however, that the 15-nation Atlantic Alliance had overcome greater dangers in the past by remaining ever vigilant and united.

Dulles spoke at the opening of the first Council meeting since last summer's Big Four summit conference at Geneva and the foreign ministers' subsequent deadlock in the Swiss city.

Also attending the annual year-end meeting of NATO foreign, defense and finance ministers were U. S. Defense Secretary Wilson and Treasury Secretary Humphrey.

LOOKING FOR ME? — A cat pops out of hiding, solving a big problem for these service station attendants in Fresno, Calif. They had been working diligently with grease guns trying to remove a mysterious squeak from an automobile. The squeak turned out to be the cat, hiding behind a hood support. Smiling after the discovery are Donald Ghan, left, and Reno Morandi.

Tug Seeks Freighter Disabled in the Atlantic

NEW YORK (AP)—A rescue tug hoped to meet at sea today the stricken British freighter Lord Church, rolling helplessly in rough seas south of Newfoundland with two injured crewmen aboard.

The tug Foundation Francis left Halifax early yesterday to seek the disabled 6,200-ton freighter in an area about 360 miles south of Cape Race.

Indian Is Not Red Man

WASHINGTON — America's Indians do not have red skins, or even copper-colored, the National Geographic Society says. Fondness for painting themselves with red ocher or red vegetable paints led the American aborigines to be called redskins by early explorers, fur traders and colonists. Actually the Indian's skin is brown, sometimes shading almost to white.

More than $3,200,000 in gold bars reportedly still rest in the wrecked troopship Birkenhead, lost in war time off Danger Point, Gold Coast.

Food Prices Drop to Pre-Korea Level

NEW YORK (AP)—Wholesale food prices as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet index are back where they were when the Korean War started.

Dun & Bradstreet report that its index this week stands at $5.96, the same as on June 20, 1950. Last week the index was at $5.99 and a year ago at $6.71.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of 1 pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Up this week were wheat, corn, rye, oats and barley. Lower were flour, hams, butter, cheese, coffee, cocoa, eggs, steers and hogs.

Heart Attack Claims 54-Year-Old Driver

A Pontiac man was found dead in his car, after he crashed into a stop street warning sign on Sanford St. yesterday afternoon.

But police say that Robert E. Davis, 54, of 279 S. Jessie St., died of a heart attack before the accident occurred.

Davis was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital by Deputy Coroner E. F. Collins, who said death was caused by coronary thrombosis. Police said there was only slight damage to car and sign.

Boy, We're Livin' Today! Animals Tell Horse Pals

DETROIT (AP)—Dogs, cats, horses and a couple of stray opossums celebrated Christmas in a big way yesterday.

It was the yuletide party the Michigan Humane Society stages each year for work horses and unclaimed animals at its Detroit shelter.

More than 100 cats bedecked in ribbons feasted on salmon and other delicacies. Dogs eagerly gulped extra portions of special dog food.

Nearly 20 horses, privately owned animals hired out for work projects around the city, dined on hay, oats, carrots and apples and afterward competed for cash prizes awarded the best looking among them.

Watching over the festivities were directors of the society, who drank tea.

Three Found Guilty on Disorderly Count

Three persons were arrested here this week after police cracked down on immoral activity occuring in a downtown Pontiac store.

Pleading guilty on charges of disorderly conduct were Arthur J. Little, 31, of 3378 Rockhaven St.; James Beale, Detroit, and Howard H. Crawford Jr., also of Detroit.

The three were placed on bond by Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum, who will sentence them Monday.

Police said the arrests came after the store manager requested them to investigate reports of immoral activity in the men's lounge of the store. Additional arrests in the case are expected, police said.

Relief Agencies to Share Surplus, Benson Reveals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson has announced that some surplus wheat, corn, rice and dry beans will be made available immediately to U. S. charitable agencies for foreign relief, and to eligible domestic outlets.

He did not specify what amounts of these foods will be released to what countries. However, one estimate indicated that about 800 million pounds from government stocks will be distributed during 1956.

* * *

Of the welfare and church agencies, 18 are currently distributing food in 67 countries abroad. Benson was surrounded by church and private relief organization representatives as he made the announcement at a ceremony at the Agriculture Department.

The action adds wheat and corn to the commodities being made available to nonprofit school lunch programs and other eligible outlets in this country.

State United Funds Collect $24 Million

EAST LANSING (AP)—Communities raising funds under the Red Feather, Torch and Community Chest banners collected a record $24,583,000 this year, the Michigan United Fund reported today.

At the semi-annual meeting at Michigan State University, more than 400 representatives of communities and welfare agencies were told that in the past eight years United Fund campaigns have expanded from 19 agencies in 25 counties and cities to 72 agencies and 55 counties this year.

Santa Punches His Relief Santa After Bar Visits

NEW YORK (AP)—One of our town's Santa Clauses stretched a 10-minute coffee break into five hours yesterday, was ordered to turn in his suit and then got in a fight.

George Whitestone, 45, was relieved at his 42nd Street and Madison Avenue post by Capt. John Lingerfelt in charge of street corners. Santa's job is to circulate around town giving regular Santas time off for coffee. When Whitestone didn't report back for hours, Santas all over mid-Manhattan went without coffee breaks.

Lingerfelt said Whitestone didn't smell of coffee when he got back, but of booze. Ordered to turn in his suit, Whitestone punched Lingerfelt in the nose. Police finally broke it up.

May End Censorship

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Memphis, famed for its slashing movie censorship, may get out of the censoring business soon. A citizens committee appointed by Mayor-elect Edmund Orgill to study censorship settled down to voting yesterday. Should the city continue its censorship board? The vote was no, 41-4. The recommendation was passed on to Orgill, who takes office Jan. 2.

Bicycle People Outdo Themselves

It's Happiness on Wheels This Year

Scientists claim that man's most useful invention was the wheel. They'll get no argument from children. Especially after this year's flock of wheel toys is unveiled on Christmas morn.

Bicycles—old favorites under the Christmas greenery — have taken on a new look this year.

Most revolutionary development is bike with a built-in, tamper-proof, weather-proof, shock-proof and child-proof radio. The compact radio picks up all stations within a 100 mile radius.

Another switch in standard models is seen in the Convertible bike. Bike looks like a standard girl's model. Then, portable bar is slipped over a retainer at the bike's head. It locks on the seat mast with one plated bolt.

* * *

And presto, a little monkey-wrench magic produces a boy's bike. No muss, no fuss, and no finish-marring clamps. On-again-off-again bar makes bike ideal for family with children of both sexes.

BRONC ON WHEELS

One company, catering to city cowboys, has also manufactured a bronc-on wheels. Their Pony Bike is the next best thing to a live horse which is fairly impractical in a tiny apartment. Multicolored heavyweight cardboard Palomino Pony comes in sizes to fit a 20-inch or 24-inch bike.

PINT SIZED ENGINEER gives neighborhood pals a ride on new "Yardbird." Modeled after amusement park railways, it is powered on the principal of the hand cart. Tracks stretch 10 feet but may be installed in any space over 12 square feet. Rails are eight inches apart. The track may be purchased in extra sections of 20 feet lengths.

Taking the cue from amusement parks, toy manufacturers have built back-yard railroads capable of carrying one or two passengers. The Yardbird, a hand-operated car, comes complete with 40 feet of track.

This unique muscle-builder operates on the principle of the hand-car and will fit into any back yard over 12 feet square. Tracks measure eight inches between rails and can be purchased in extra 20-foot lengths.

* * *

Even the tricycle has had its face lifted. Rudders and rotars attached to the "Rolybird" give it the appearance of a helicopter. Grounded pilots of the preschool age will be doubly safe. Not only does the machine refuse to fly, but a low center of gravity makes it topple-proof.

* * *

Trucking operations are more realistic than ever before. "Marvelous Mike," a bulldozer powered by electric flashlight batteries automatically shifts and backs up when it hits an object.

Area Barbers Plan Four Day Holiday

Barber shops in Pontiac and the area lying in the lake region west of the city will be closed December 27 and 28 as a result of action taken this week by Local 50 of the State Barbers' Association.

The membership similarly approved closing the shops January 3 and 4. Both measures were supported by Interlake Local 40 of the association, made up of barbers in the lakes area.

The closures will go into effect to allow members four-day vacations for the Christmas and New Year's holidays, according to Arthur Blankenburg, Local 50 secretary-treasurer.

The official said that the times were chosen because members felt that they would lease inconvenience customers. Many barbers, he said, were unable to take time off at other times of the year because of a shortage of replacements.

The average soldier's deposit in his Army savings account amounts to $113.

GOP Hasn't Anyone for '56, Wagner Says

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Robert F. Wagner, New York's Democratic mayor, says the Republicans "have no candidate" for the 1956 presidential race "and time is running out for them."

"Everywhere I go," he said last night at a Democratic fund-raising dinner, "the thinking of responsible people is that President Eisenhower will not be a candidate for a second term."

Wagner and Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler both predicted a Democratic victory in 1956 at the $25 and $100-a-plate dinner attended by party leaders and some 900 persons.

Butler declared he "doesn't even give the Republicans a chance in Maine or Vermont in 1956." But he warned, "We will win in 1956 only if we work hard and work together."

Wagner mentioned as a prospect for his party's vice presidential nomination, asserted a "small but powerful" GOP group hopes to decide on a candidate "in a smoke-filled room."

He charged that Republican leaders are attempting to prevent a discussion of possible candidates as long as possible and are delaying a discussion of campaign issues.

Former President Truman wired regrets that he couldn't attend because of a virus attack.

Older Cars Increase

NEW YORK—It is estimated that there are about 23,000,000 passenger automobiles 4 to 9 years old being driven in the United States today compared with 18,600,000 in that age group a year ago.

Heart Victims Get New Hope

Fine Recoveries by Ike and Johnson Give Big Boost to Others

WASHINGTON (AP) — No three men — two of them by being themselves and one by his sensible explanations — have done more than Eisenhower, Johnson and White to create hope for a full life among victims of heart attacks.

* * *

President Eisenhower and Lyndon Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats, are recovering from heart attacks of their own. It was Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, who did the explaining.

* * *

Neither Eisenhower, stricken in September, nor Johnson, who had his attack in July, is out of the woods yet — in the sense they have so fully recovered their doctors can tell them to resume a full life.

Both are awaiting the final medical verdict: Eisenhower in February, Johnson later this month. It may be the doctors will tell Eisenhower he can't run again and Johnson that the job of Senate leader is too much for him.

CREATE FINE EXAMPLE

Even so, both men will go on leading lives just short of all-out. This need be no discouragement to other heart cases since a full life for both those men means a strain and responsibility most people never have to worry about.

If the verdict is against the fullest activity for them, Johnson may have to give up the Senate leadership but will stay in the Senate and Eisenhower will continue to fill his job as president until his term ends in January 1957.

Eisenhower and Johnson, through their prominence, focused the nation's attention on the problem of cardiac cases and how men, unwilling to let it throw them, can get up out of bed and be themselves again, patiently working toward recovery.

This doesn't mean heart cases can or should chase fire engines again, climb mountains or fight a 10-round bout. But those are extremes anyway.

* * *

Because Dr. White was one of Eisenhower's physicians, and because Eisenhower was the first president in history to have a known heart attack, White had a greater opportunity to talk common sense about the heart to more people than any doctor in history.

* * *

He used the opportunity to the utmost to do good. Through an article specially written for The Associated Press for newspaper use and through repeated news conferences he preached this gospel:

Trying to resume your full life is the best treatment. One heart attack doesn't necessarily mean you'll ever have another. Some heart cases live to a ripe old age and die of something else.

Landmark to Be Razed

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A downtown landmark, once an opera house and since 1907 a rescue mission, will be razed to make way for an auto parking ramp. Michael A. Skiff, parking lot and garage operator, Tuesday said he has purchased the Mel Trotter Rescue Mission and plans to begin revamping the property next April 1 for a multi-story parking ramp.

Newcomer Starts Yule Baking

"Yes, we'll be home for Christmas, home in Pontiac." The speaker was a blue-eyed brunette, a newcomer to the city, Mrs. Harry Hahn of Delaware Drive. With her husband and two children, Mrs. Hahn has been a Pontiac resident for just about two months. They moved here from Allentown, Pennsylvania.

Home for Christmas means decorating the house. This pleasant chore Mrs. Hahn has already begun. It means wrapping gifts and hanging stockings on the fireplace.

It means Christmas baking, the kind that wafts its fragrance through the house and causes the family to ask, "Gee, Mom, what smells so good?"

Mrs. Hahn hasn't started baking cookies yet, but she was in the process of making her favorite tea bread when the photographer arrived. Here is her recipe for Banana Tea Bread:

BANANA TEA BREAD
By Mrs. Harry Hahn

2¼ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup mashed ripe banana (2-3 fully ripe bananas)

Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt together. Beat shortening in mixing bowl until creamy. Add sugar gradually and continue beating until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Add flour mixture alternately with banana, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Bake in a greased loaf pan about 1 hour and 10 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Makes 1 loaf.

NEW RESIDENT BAKES — Mrs. Harry Hahn of Delaware drive starts her holiday baking with a loaf of Banana Bread. A newcomer to Pontiac, Mrs. Hahn is caught up in preparations for the holidays in the family's new home. An eleven-year-old daughter and a six-year-old son are looking forward to the results of Mother's baking.

Try Yule Log Dessert

Our prize easy-do holiday dessert, with all the festive air of the season, is The Yule Log, made in a matter of practically seconds. Purchase a jelly roll from your baker or food shop. Cover with powdered sugar as thickly as the snow is falling out-of-doors. Drizzle melted chocolate over the sugar to resemble a birch log.

The Bible says the ark was made of gopher wood, which many translators believe to be cypress.

Serve Tiny Turnovers

Midget turnovers, plumped with nutmeg applesauce, will find enormous favor as guest-nibbles during the holidays. Use canned applesauce and a pastry mix for these. And, if you wish, blend a little grated cheddar cheese into the pastry. But, whatever you do, make plenty. They'll go fast.

New lift for plain rice: Add crisp bacon bits, sauted chopped green onions, and chopped or sliced almonds.

Simmer Beef Liver in Spaghetti Sauce

A quick meat dish!

Liver 'N' Sauce

1 pound beef liver
¼ cup flour seasoned with salt and pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (1¼ cups) spaghetti sauce with meat

Have liver in serving-size pieces, dust with seasoned flour. Brown liver in butter.

Add spaghetti sauce; cover and simmer about 15 minutes or until liver is tender. Stir occasionally. Makes four generous servings.

Drippings from roast beef are wonderful for frying potatoes.

Team Pickles, Cranberries

Here's the perfect salad to serve for informal buffets, late evening snacks or to join the buttered bird on the holiday dinner table.

* * *

Piquant sweet pickles team up with cranberries, traditional food for holiday meals, in this salad that's delightfully flavored and is a feast for the eyes as well as the taste.

* * *

Before the full swing of the busy holiday season gets under way, check your supply of pickles to see that it's adequate . . . you'll find pickles are ideal to give dull dishes a flavor lift as the basis for the relish tray or for canape and hors d'oeuvre recipes.

Pickle Orange and Cranberry Salad

2 3-ounce packages lemon-flavored gelatin
2½ cups hot water
1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
2 cups cranberries
1 medium-sized orange
½ cup chopped sweet mixed pickles
½ cup finely chopped blanched almonds

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Combine gelatin mixture and cheese; beat until blended. Chill until slightly thickened.

Meanwhile, put cranberries and orange through food chopper. Fold cranberry mixture and remaining ingredients into gelatin mixture. Turn into 1½-quart mold and chill until firm.

Unmold and surround with crisp salad greens and garnish with additional orange and pickle slices, if desired. Makes six-eight servings.

Good Breakfast Served to Whittier First Graders

What's in a good breakfast? The boys and girls of Mrs. Yancey's first grade class at the Whittier School were sure to find out when they actually ate a "good breakfast" in their classroom recently. Mrs. Vida L. Walker, the principal, was their special guest.

* * *

The breakfast menu consisted of orange juice, cereal, with a generous serving of milk and a dash of sugar, crisp bacon, scrambled eggs, toast with butter, strawberry jelly and milk.

The delicious food was prepared and served by four competent homeroom mothers—Mrs. Ida M. Miner, Mrs. Ollie D. Whiters, Mrs. Ruby McGhee and Mrs. Elsie Robertson.

The breakfast unit originated during conference period discussions when it was discovered that only a small percentage of the pupils ate a good breakfast before coming to school. Thus was launched the good breakfast study.

The children liked the following three good reasons for eating a good breakfast: (1) To help us to grow healthy and strong; (2) to give us energy while we work and play; (3) to keep us cheerful and happy.

They climaxed their study with a real breakfast in their first grade classroom.

The good-breakfast study has provided many good learning experiences. Its true the children are more energetic, but it's a wholesome and healthy atmosphere.

For Sweet Sandwich

Stewed figs cut into pieces and stirred together with a little strained honey and nuts make an unsual sandwich filling and also a fine filling for a dessert omelet. (Keep your omelet delicate and thin and fold it over this exotic mixture.

Skillet Pound Cake

From the days of oldtime Southern hospitality comes this Skillet Pound Cake, a specialty that appeared on coffee trays. Slices of pound cake were spread with melted butter and browned evenly in a hot skillet.

One way to size up a cauliflower head at your vegetable market is to hold it for a few seconds—the head should seem heavy for its size.

Crisp Cookies Are Candylike

Cookies that are as crunchy as Christmas candy — those are Butterscotch Crisps. Spread the dough like frosting on cookie sheets to bake.

Cut it into squares while it's still hot from the oven — just as a candy-maker cuts his pecan or almond "bark."

Butterscotch Crisps

1 cup shortening (use part butter or margarine)
1 cup light brown sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs, well beaten
2 tablespoons milk
2 cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups (6-ounce package) butterscotch pieces
½ cup chopped nuts

Cream together shortening and butter or margarine. Add sugar and continue creaming until light and fluffy. Blend in vanilla, eggs and milk. Stir in flour and mix until well blended.

Using a spatula, spread one-fourth of dough at a time onto ungreased baking sheet to about one-eighth inch thickness (about 12x15-inch area). Be sure baking sheet cools before reusing.

Sprinkle with nuts before baking or peanut brittle immediately after baking. Bake in moderate oven (350) 10 minutes. While still hot, cut in pieces about 1¾x2 inches.

Place on cooling racks. Makes about 12 dozen cookies.

Chocolate Crisps: Blend in 4 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted, after mixing in flour.

Pork and Potatoes Roasted Together

Roast fresh pork this way!

Roast Fresh Pork With Potatoes

Fresh pork loin roast (about 5 pounds)
Garlic salt
All-purpose seasoning salt
Medium-sized potatoes (peeled and cut in half lengthwise)

Place roast fat side up on a rack in an open pan; rub lightly with garlic salt and seasoning salt. Insert a meat thermometer through the fat side into the center of the roast. (Do not let thermometer tip touch bone.)

Roast in a slow (325 degrees) oven until thermometer registers 185 degrees—about 3 1-3 hours.

About one hour before roast is ready, place potatoes around meat in pan; use two to four potato halves for each person to be served. Baste potatoes with pan drippings a few times.

Allow roast to rest for 15 minutes out of the oven before carving.

Freeze Extra Pimiento

Don't throw away those little left over dabs of pimiento. Just freeze them in any freezer container. Then, when you need a touch of pimiento for a colorful casserole, break off any amount from the frozen pieces and add it to your dish without defrosting. A milk container cut down to one-half cup size makes an ideal pimiento container.

Team Apples, Peanuts

When you bake apples for freezing, says Sara Walls, home economist, try filling the centers with ground salted peanuts. Baste with syrup, flavored with nutmeg, during the baking. When baked, cool completely, and freeze, either in freezer containers or freezer foil. Reheat in a 300-degree oven until tender.

Heat pieces of cooked lobster in butter and use as an omelet filling.

Butterscotch Cookies Ideal at Holiday Time

A timely recipe for the season's baking is this recipe for Holiday Butterscotch Cookies. Light brown sugar adds its own unique flavor and helps keep them moist.

Store in airtight container and the cookies will keep for days—to delight children and guests who drop in this time of year.

Holiday Butterscotch Cookies

¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1 large egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
2 to 3 tablespoons heavy cream or evaporated milk
½ cup chopped glazed cherries
½ cup chopped nut meats

Cream butter or margarine. Add brown sugar gradually, creaming well. Add egg and mix well. Add vanilla and blend. Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Add dry ingredients, chopped cherries and nuts to brown sugar mixture alternately with heavy cream or evaporated milk.

When mixture is firm enough to roll, shape into long roll about 2½ inches diameter. Wrap in waxed paper and place in refrigerator several hours or over night.

Slice one-eighth inch thick with sharp knife. Decorate with additional chopped nuts, cherries, or red candies. Bake on greased cookie sheet in hot oven (400 degrees) 8-10 minutes. Remove immediately to cooling rack. Approximately 40 cookies.

Maple Nut Sauce Sparks Ice Cream

Try this Maple Nut Sauce for a delicious treat over ice cream or pudding.

Maple Nut Sauce

1½ cups (1 15-ounce can) sweetened condensed milk
2 teaspoons maple flavoring
½ cup canned crushed pineapple
1 teaspoon instant coffee
½ cup finely chopped walnuts or pecans

Blend sweetened condensed milk, maple flavoring, crushed pineapple, instant coffee and chopped nuts. Chill well before serving. Serve over ice cream or pudding.

Fireplace Cookery

Using your fireplace for cooking this winter? You'll find it handy to have an old-fashioned wire toaster with long handles on hand. The toaster is wonderfully convenient for holding and turning steaks and chops.

Let Small Fry Help

Small fry want to help with the lunch preparation? Let them cut out rounds of bread with a dough nut cutter, then slather the rounds with soft butter. Now the "bread doughnuts" go into the oven to toast. Delicious served with soup!

Fine Tomato Aspic

You can prepare a fine tomato aspic from a couple of cups of tomato juice and an envelope of unflavored gelatin. Add salt, sugar and pepper to taste and a tablespoon of lemon juice.

Serve Tender Figs

Simmer dried figs in water to cover until they are very tender. Serve the figs with sliced oranges and bananas for a breakfast surprise or as a dessert for lunch or supper.

Sweden's 1955 wheat crop is estimated at 27,000,000 bushels compared with 37,500,000 in 1954.

Lemonade Filling Lends Tang to Sponge Cake Roll

Light and airy sponge cake roll with a tangy filling made from a can of lemonade concentrate! That's a dessert to serve to company.

Follow our directions carefully and you'll not have trouble in preparing it.

Lemonade Roll

¾ cup sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon double-acting baking powder
4 eggs
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Confectioners' sugar
Lemonade filling
Whipped cream or softened cream cheese

Grease bottom of jelly roll pan (15x10x1 inches) with salad (not olive) oil. Line bottom of pan with waxed paper; grease paper with oil.

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt.

Beat eggs in deep bowl (about 1½ quarts) with rotary (electric or fast-action hand) beater until foamy; beat in sugar gradually and rapidly until as thick as heavy cream and a pale yellow color.

LEMONADE CAKE ROLL — For a delicate, tangy dessert, serve this lemon-filled cake. It's made in the manner of a jelly roll and has a bland topping to contrast with the tart filling.

Sift a little of the flour mixture at a time over the beaten eggs, folding it in lightly but well. Turn into prepared pan, spreading so batter is equally deep.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven just until top springs back when touched lightly with finger and cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—13 to 15 minutes. Do not overbake or paper will be hard to remove.

Loosen edges of cake from sides of pan with sharp knife; turn cake over on tea towel that has been spread with confectioners' sugar, easing one corner from pan with spatula. Remove waxed paper at once.

Starting with short side, roll cake gently, with towel in it. Allow to stand rolled in towel to cool. Unroll and spread with Lemonade Filling. Roll up cake again without towel; life towel high with one hand as you roll and guide cake itself with other hand.

Place edge side down on serving plate. Serve with sweetened whipped cream or with cream cheese softened with a little milk or cream.

The filling is a tangy one and it needs the bland topping suggested. Makes eight servings.

Lemonade Filling

1 can (6 ounces) frozen lemonade concentrate Water
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup sugar
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Add enough water to lemonade concentrate to make 1½ cups. Mix cornstarch, flour and sugar thoroughly in heavy 1½ or 2-quart saucepan.

Stir in lemonade-water mixture gradually; beat with a small whisk or fork until smooth after each addition.

Cook and stir constantly over direct moderate heat until mixture comes to a boil; boil one minute. Remove from heat.

Beat a little of the hot mixture into slightly beaten egg yolks; beat back into remaining hot mixture. Return to heat and stirring constantly, bring to a boil; boil one minute.

Remove from heat and stir in butter. Cool. Use as filling for sponge cake roll.

RAVO makes fried foods tasteful and digestible. Won't smoke or scorch at high frying temperatures.

U. S. Savings Stamps

One U. S. Savings Stamp with Each $5 Purchase

Savings Stamps vs. trading stamps . . . sort of an unfair contest with the cards stacked completely in favor of the Savings stamps. Look at the facts . . . with trading stamps you need a complete book or several complete books of one type of stamp to receive merchandise available at bargain prices elsewhere. The revenue you create goes into the pocket of the businessman who owns the stamp company. Unredeemed stamps just increase his great profit.

With Savings stamps, each individual stamp has a cash value. No need to fill any books but if you do, you may convert it into a money EARNING bond. The revenue goes into the treasury of the United States. Here it provides dollars for defense, funds for internal improvements and the million and one things the government needs money for. In the long run this means a safer country, a stronger more stable government, lower taxes and probably a better country in which to live for a good many years.

But our store is just a small part of this . . . we don't want just a few stores to give Savings Stamps. We hope to see EVERY STORE give them with each purchase. Yes, every store here and throughout the country. The revenue this would create would, in our opinion, provide the government with a great source of additional revenue. Now this is a worthwhile goal . . . what do you think? Get your Savings Stamps Free at Spadafore's!

Beat in gradually ½ cup sugar and the vanilla. Beat in gradually ¾ cup milk. Beat in remaining ½ cup sugar. Stir in by hand or at lowest speed with electric mixer, the sifted dry ingredients and remaining ¾ cup milk, by fourths, alternately, blending well after each addition. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Stir quickly into batter. Bake in two oiled or greased 8-inch layer cake pans at 350°F. (moderate oven) about 30 minutes. CLABBER GIRL IS NOW EXCLUSIVELY KNOWN AS THE BAKING POWDER WITH THE BALANCED DOUBLE ACTION

MAGIC FRUIT SURPRISE CAKE—What could be more welcome to stocking stuffers and Christmas tree trimmers than a glass of punch and a slice of this luscious mincemeat cake? It's a good cake, too, for refreshments at any of the holiday parties.

Santa Helpers Welcome Magic Mincemeat Cake

When the stockings are hung and the carols are sung and the children are tucked away safely in bed, then it's time to cut a Magic Fruit Surprise Cake and serve it with coffee or punch to the grown-ups.

Tree trimming and stocking stuffing will keep them busy for another hour or two, so they will welcome a bit of rest and refreshment.

A Magic Fruit Surprise Cake is a sure help to the hostess for impromptu refreshments all through the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

• • •

It is made with mincemeat and chopped nuts, sweetened condensed milk and candied fruit, and has good keeping quality—if there is any left to keep, that is, after family and friends have had their way—as well as delicious flavor and texture.

Magic Fruit Surprise Cake

1 9-ounce condensed mincemeat
½ cup water
1 cup walnut meats, coarsely chopped
2 3-ounce cans (⅔ cup) mixed candied fruit, coarsely chopped
1½ cups (15-ounce can) sweetened condensed milk
1 egg, beaten
¾ cup flour
½ teaspoon baking soda

Break mincemeat into small pieces and put in 2-quart saucepan. Add water. Place over heat and stir until lumps are thoroughly broken. Boil briskly one minute, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat and cool. Add nuts, candied fruit, sweetened condensed milk, and egg; blend well. Stir in flour and baking soda, until just blended.

Pour mixture into 9 x 4 x 3-inch loaf pan which has been greased, waxpaper lined and greased again. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 hour and 30 minutes or until top is golden brown.

Pie Combines Orange, Raisins

This is the season for citrus fruits. Grapefruit, oranges and tangerines are moving in large quantities.

Supplies of seedless grapefruit are quite generous and reasonably priced. However, even lower prices and a superior flavor are sometimes found in the seeded varieties.

The peak season is bringing heavy shipments of tangerines. Although juice oranges are still the best buy, the first shipment of California navel oranges arrived on the counters last week at moderately high prices.

Abundant quantities of top quality bananas are available at unusually low costs. All varieties of Michigan apples provide economical choices for the winter fruit bowl.

Orange Raisin Meringue Pie

¾ cup sugar
2 T. cornstarch
2 T. flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup raisins
2 cups orange juice
2 eggs, separated
Grated rind of one orange
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter
1 baked 9-inch pastry shell

Combine sugar, constarch, flour and orange juice about 20 minutes and gradually stir them into the sugar mixture and cook 15 minutes, stirring constantly until mixture thickens.

Mix together slightly beaten egg yolks, orange rind and lemon juice and add to thickened sugar juice mixture and cook two minutes, stirring constantly. Add butter.

Turn into pastry shell and cool slightly. Cover completely to the edge of the crust with meringue made by gradually beating 6 tablespoons sugar and one-eighth teaspoon cream of tartar into stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees for about 15 minutes.

Yield: One 9-inch pie.

Flavor Pie Filling With Rum Extract

Here's a pie idea for holiday desserts:

½ cup heavy cream
1½ cups milk
½ teaspoon rum extract
1 package instant banana cream pudding
1 baked eight-inch pastry shell

Pour cream and milk into mixing bowl. Add rum extract (there's a taste difference between rum extract and rum flavoring) and banana cream pudding.

Turn immediately into baked pastry shell. Chill until firm, about 30 minutes.

Garnish with a wreath of whipped cream, sprinkled with nutmeg. Makes one pie.

Baby's Bananas Are Strained, Smooth, Sweet

Bananas of just the right degree of ripeness, creamy-smooth and deliciously sweet—that's what baby is assured of when he gets the new baby strained bananas.

• • •

Doctors recommend bananas among baby's first solid foods because they are one of the best of the "protective foods." They contain a well-rounded supply of vitamin A, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin and vitamin C.

They also supply a number of essential minerals, sugars and pectin. A fact often overlooked by mothers, bananas with other fruits help maintain the necessary alkaline-acid balance in the body.

Strained bananas in glass jars are more economical than fresh bananas because, not only do you avoid off-season high prices, but you eliminate waste resulting from bruised or unripe spots in fresh fruit.

• • •

Baby can eat as much banana as he wants. The snap-on lid prevents loss of flavor or discoloration of leftovers when stored in the refrigerator.

Decorate With Cookies

Let your Christmas cookies do double duty. Hang brightly frosted Santa Clauses, angels, stars, wreaths and fanciful animals on your Christmas tree for ornaments. If you have an artistic bent, why not create a "cookie-mobile?" Colorfully decorated Christmas cookies in big, gleaming glass candy jars add a note of hospitality to your living room's holiday dress.

NOEL PUDDING — Children's voices will babble with delight when the light-textured Noel Pudding climaxes their Christmas dinner. This is a new version of a Floating Island Pudding and should please adults who do not care for heavy desserts.

Children Love Noel Pudding

For the young children gathered round the Christmas table, a light-textured dessert is better than a heavy one. We think this recipe, a variation of Floating Island, is just the right answer. Grownups can enjoy it, too.

Noel Pudding

3 tablespoons sugar
1 quart liquefied instant nonfat dry milk
6 egg whites
1½ teaspoons cream of tartar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
6 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
½ teaspoon almond extract

Dissolve 3 tablespoons sugar in liquefied instant nonfat dry milk in large skillet; heat over very low heat, to scalding point. Remove from heat.

Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until foamy. Add 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, beating well after each addition; beat until meringue forms stiff peaks. Shape meringue into balls using a lightly oiled teacup; round the bottom of each.

Loosen with small spatula; set balls gently on hot nonfat dry milk mixture, adding only a few balls at a time. Keep balls apart. Cook over low heat, uncovered without turning, five minutes.

Carefully remove balls with a slotted spatula or spoon; place cooked side down on a tea towel tightly stretched over 13x9x2-inch baking pan. Chill.

Place egg yolks in the top of a 1-quart double boiler. Strain nonfat dry milk mixture; gradually stir into egg yolks. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until mixture is slightly thickened and coats a spoon.

Remove from heat. Add flavoring. Pour into eight custard cups. Chill. When ready to serve, lift balls with a moistened spatula; place on custards.

Decorate each with thinly sliced red and green maraschino cherries to form holly sprig. Serves eight.

Be sure to add a dash of basil to tomato sauce for omelet.

Put International Flavor Into Holiday Bread Baking

By JANET ODELL

Whenever we get what we think is a good idea we like to share it with our readers. We're having so much fun with one this pre-Christmas season that we just have to tell you about it.

Understand, please, that this project isn't particularly original. We have heard of at least one other Oakland county cook who does it.

Christmas, you know, is made up of dozens of traditions. Some are personal family traditions. But many of the things we do during the holidays are heritages from other countries and other times. Christmas baking falls in the latter category.

We always have Christmas coffee cake at our house. Every year we make half a dozen or more rich, fruit-filled coffee cakes, for our consumption and to give as gifts. Usually we use a German recipe for Stollen since that is the kind of coffee cake we had as a child.

This year, however, we are branching out. Every day that we have had at home during the past three weeks we have made some kind of Christmas coffee cake. By now the freezer is bulging with sweet bread.

First we made a Swiss Christmas Bread; next Norwegian Jule Kage. Last week we stored away a Bohemian coffee ring and a Slovenian Christmas Bread. This week Italian Panettone and Greek Holiday bread are on the schedule.

And what do we intend to do with all this bread? We're going to give some as gifts as usual. We're also planning to have Open House during the holidays, a Brunch affair, where we intend to serve all these foreign breads. Won't our guests have fun sampling the different kinds?

We'd like to share several of our Christmas bread recipes with you. Do try them; you and your family will enjoy them.

JULE KAGE

Norwegian Christmas Bread

2 cups scalded milk
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup melted shortening
2 cakes yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
1 tablespoon ground cardamom
1 cup chopped raisins
½ cup chopped citron
½ cup candied cherries
½ cup chopped, blanched almonds
8-9 cups sifted flour

Combine first 4 ingredients. When cool, add the yeast, that has been softened in water. Add 4 cups of the flour. Mix well. Let rise till double in bulk. Punch down and add rest of ingredients, saving a few pieces of citron and cherries for decoration. Let rise again till double in bulk. This will take a long time because of all the fruit.

Punch down, knead again, and put in greased loaf pans. Let rise till double in bulk. Bake in 450-degree oven 10 minutes and in a 350-degree oven 50 minutes more. Brush with melted butter or cream, or frost with confectioner's sugar icing. Makes 3 loaves.

This second recipe is for a rich Stollen. It calls for almond paste which you will find at fancy food stores. If covered well, this bread will keep for a month.

Dresdener Stolle

1 cup scalded milk
3 to 3½ cups sifted flour
1 yeast cake softened in lukewarm water
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ cup butter
4 tablespoons sugar
1 beaten egg
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup candied citron, angelica and cherries
1 cup almond paste
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup sugar
Chopped nuts

Beat together cooled milk, 1 cup of flour, softened yeast and 1 tablespoon sugar. Let rise until it bubbles. Add ¼ cup butter mixed with 4 tablespoons sugar. Add egg, salt and candied fruit. Add rest of flour. Knead well.

Let rise until double. Roll into oval shape. Brush with melted butter. Roll almond paste into same size oval and place on dough. Mix 2 tablespoons butter with ¼ cup sugar, nuts and additional candied fruit. Lay on almond paste and fold like a Parker House roll. Brush with melted butter. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees. Frost if desired. Makes 1 loaf.

Dress up your holiday table with a colorful confection.

* * *

Try edible Christmas tree favors made from a new multi-colored cereal. The bright red, yellow and orange pellets make pretty decorations, and also good snack eating. The tiny corn puffs are fruit-flavored raspberry, lemon and orange.

To make the tiny trees, mix syrup with the cereal and press into greased conical paper drinking cups. Wooden skewers become tree trunks and large gumdrops become the bases to make the trees stand straight and tall.

Or shape the cereal mixture into balls, let cool, wrap in clear cellophane and tie with a fluffy bow.

* * *

Hang the cereal ornaments on your Christmas tree within easy reach of your young holiday callers.

Tree Confections

1 cup sugar
½ cup water
½ cup corn syrup
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
7 cups colored corn puffs

Mix sugar, water, corn syrup, butter in saucepan. Cook to 250 degrees or until few drops form a hard ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from heat and stir in vanilla.

Pour hot syrup in thin stream over cereal in large greased bowl, stirring constantly. Press into greased paper cone drinking cups.

Insert pointed wooden skewers into cone to form trunk of tree.

When cool, gently remove paper cups. Push blunt ends of skewers into large gumdrops so trees will stand upright. Makes about 12 trees.

* * *

For glistening, snowy trees use this tasty marshmallow mixture instead of the syrup.

Snow Trees

36 marshmallows
2 tablespoons butter
⅛ teaspoon salt
4 cups colored corn puffs

Melt marshmallows, butter and salt over hot water and stir until smooth. Pour mixture over cereal in buttered bowl and mix gently. Proceed as in recipe for Tree Confections (above). Makes nine trees.

Christmas Puff Balls

Make corn syrup or marshmallow mixture and pour over cereal in buttered bowl. Grease hands. Press handfuls of cereal mixture into balls. If balls pull apart, reshape occasionally until they harden.

Spicy Prune Bread Leads Double Life

A spicy nut bread can double as a main course accompaniment or a dessert. Add chopped nuts to Prune Bread for a crunchy flavor bonus.

Prune Bread

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
¾ cup finely chopped cooked prunes
½ cup milk
1 cup chopped nuts, if desired

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs, beating well. Fold in prunes. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Add chopped nuts, if desired.

Turn into greased loaf pan, 4½ x 8½ inches. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour and 15 minutes (about). Makes one loaf.

Festive Napkin Rings

Napkin rings can add to Christmas decor. Using your pinking shears cut strips of bright fabric, join the ends with a staple or large cross-stitch in colored wool and the circle is ready to be slipped over the napkin. Pin on a sprig of holly or similar Christmas decoration for further festive effect.

Thaw frozen scallops, grain and bread. Fry in shallow hot fat and serve with crispy cooked bacon and cole slaw for lunch.

RAVO won't absorb odors. Use the same oil over and over — to fry fish, onions, potatoes.

Pickled Franks Do Double Duty

In the flurry of holiday entertaining, it's a wise homemaker who keeps some good, easily-prepared recipes at her fingertips, for both entertaining and family meals.

• • •

Mustard Franks in Pickle Cream Sauce is a delicious dish that you can prepare easily. Sweet pickle relish gives this hearty dish a new and tantalizing flavor.

Serve cranberry molded salads, frankfurter buns and French-fried onion rings which can be bought frozen and simply heated.

Mustard Franks in Pickle Cream Sauce

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 pound frankfurters
1 small onion, chopped
¼ cup wine vinegar
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 cup sour cream
¼ cup sweet pickle relish

Melt butter or margarine over medium heat. Add frankfurters and onion; cook until onion is tender. Combine vinegar, water and mustard; mix well. Pour over frankfurters.

Cover and cook over low heat 10 minutes. Remove frankfurters. Add sour cream and pickle relish to vinegar mixture; mix well.

Return frankfurters to pan. Heat to serving temperature. Makes four servings.

Casserole Blends Pork Chops, Fruit

Here's a pork chop casserole dinner. Pork is a best buy now, so you'll want to use it in a variety of ways.

Pork Chop-Pineapple Casserole

4 pork chops
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 cup Burgundy wine
1 cup of undrained crushed pineapple

Brown floured pork chops that have been seasoned with salt and pepper in the two tablespoons of fat in a heavy skillet. Remove from skillet and place in casserole.

Blend the mustard with brown sugar and cornstarch in a saucepan. Stir in Burgundy and crushed pineapple. Cook sauce, stirring constantly, until mixture boils.

Pour over chops. Cover the casserole and bake at 350 degrees for one hour or until chops are tender. Serves four.

Spanish sherry is known as the "smoker's wine" because, for some reason science cannot explain, it is the only wine that does not lose its flavor for heavy smokers.

MUSTARD FRANKS — This hearty dish is suited to both holiday entertaining and family meals. Serve Mustard Franks in Pickle Cream Sauce with frankfurter buns, French-fried onion rings, molded cranberry salads and sweet mixed pickles.

Cheeses Lend Extra Appeal to Turkey Pie

After-Christmas turkey can be just as good as it was on Dec. 25 when you turn it into a Turkey Pie.

This one has a flaky double crust. In the filling, grated American and Parmesan cheese set off the distinctive turkey flavor.

TURKEY PIE

Pastry
2 cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup lard or shortening
2 tablespoons milk
6 tablespoons water

Filling
1½ cups diced cooked turkey
1 cup sliced celery
1 medium onion, sliced
½ cup shredded sharp American cheese
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
¼ cup butter or margarine

Sift together flour and salt. Cut in lard or shortening until mixture is crumbly. Mix milk and water and add to flour mixture all at once. Mix lightly until dough begins to stick together.

Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and press dough together. Cover and wrap in waxed paper while preparing filling. Divide dough in half. Roll one half to circle about one-eighth - inch thick and fit into 9-inch pie pan. Roll remaining half for top crust.

Arrange turkey, celery, onion and cheese in layers in bottom crust (using one-third of each ingredient for each layer). Sprinkle each layer with salt and pepper. Dot with butter or margarine.

Place top crust over filling. Trim and flute edge. Prick or slash pastry to allow steam to escape. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) until crust is lightly browned (35 to 40 minutes). Serve with mushroom sauce or turkey gravy. Makes four servings.

Kitchen aid: Baking soda is an excellent fire extinguisher.

Americans support 170 symphony orchestras and there are more than 40,000 libraries and 2,500 art museums in the nation.

Bake Sugar Pears in Orange Sauce

Here's a luscious fruit dessert your family will like.

Baked Pears With Orange Sauce

4 large Bosc pears
¼ cup light brown sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
⅓ cup orange juice
¼ cup cooking sherry

Peel pears but leave on stems. Core pears from the blossom end so as to remove seeds and center stem structure.

• • •

Mix brown sugar and grated orange rind; pack a tablespoon of the mixture into each blossom cavity, then stand up pears in 1½ quart round deep casserole.

Mix orange juice and cooking sherry; pour over pears. Cover tightly; bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven, basting a few times until tender—about 40 minutes.

Serve warm. Makes four servings.

No butcher would dare charge prices like these, but he'd have to if he were selling cuts from the grand champion steer of the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago.

The Aberdeen Angus steer, Julius, brought $15 a pound when it was sold at auction to Howard Johnson's restaurants.

Howard Johnson, owner of the nationwide restaurant chain, then paid another $15 a pound to the little sister of the steer's owner. The total price paid by Johnson was $16,125.

The grand champion, Julius, belonged to 16-year-old Nancy Turner, a 4-H Club member from Champaign, Ill. Her sister, Jane, 13, earlier had the winning entry in the carcass contest for steers on the hoof.

The grand champion represents approximately 497 pounds of edible meat and fat, since nearly half the weight of a steer on the hoof is lost in dressing and boning.

Soup Contains Meat, Potatoes

There is nothing so tempting as a steaming bowl of hot soup for lunch on a cold winter day.

* * *

Here is a new idea for soup that combines appetite-appeal and nutrition value in equal parts.

* * *

Men will go for this rich Viennese potato soup, for it's made with meat and potatoes.

Viennese Soup

¼ cup margarine
½ cup chopped onion
1 pound lean ground beef
1 tablespoon paprika
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour
4 cups diced peeled potatoes (6 to 8 potatoes)
2½ quarts water
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, if desired

In large, deep sauce pan melt margarine. Add onion and fry gently until pale yellow. Add ground beef and stir to separate meat.

Cook gently five minutes, stirring several times. Add paprika, salt, and pepper. Cover and cook two minutes. Dust flour over meat, stirring well. Add potatoes and water.

Cover and cook 15 to 20 minutes, or until potatoes can be pierced easily with fork. Add Worcestershire sauce, if desired.

Serve hot. Six servings.

These Dishes Solve Problem of Extra Turkey

If you are having a large turkey for the holidays then you're probably searching diligently for ways to serve the leftovers.

Search no further for here are two dishes — tried and true — the one combines the very last tidbits of the turkey with enriched yeast-raised bread into a very elegant supper dish — the other gives an Italian flavor to large slices of turkey.

Turkey Scallop

2 cups roast turkey, diced
2 cups condensed cream of celery soup
¼ cup diced green pepper
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups toasted small bread cubes
¼ cup crumbled blue cheese
¾ teaspoon salt

Combine turkey, cerlery soup, green pepper, nutmeg and salt in a saucepan. Heat through. Place 2 cups toasted bread cubes in a buttered 2-quart casserole. Cover with the creamed turkey mixture. Sprinkle with the cheese, then the remaining 1 cup bread cubes. Bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) for 40 minutes. Makes six servings.

Turkey Italienne

3 finely minced cloves garlic
1 minced onion
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1¼ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon thyme
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
6 large slices of turkey
½ pound Mozzarella cheese
¼ cup Parmesan cheese
¼ cup fine bread crumbs

Saute garlic and onion in butter until soft. Add tomatoes, salt, thyme and pepper. Simmer 10 minutes. Add tomato sauce and simmer 20 minutes longer. Set turkey slices in a large greased baking dish. Cover with two-thirds tomato mixture.

Arrange slices of cheese on top. Cover with remaining sauce. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese mixed with bread crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) one half hour. Serve on buttered toast. Makes four servings.

Make Cheese Balls

For special holiday salad, add cheese balls: Shape balls from cheese that has been mashed and mixed with salad dressing, then roll in chopped nuts, cookie crumbs, celery or sweet pepper.

HOLIDAY STEAMED PUDDING — This new dessert gets its special rich flavor from the fig bars used in preparing it. Serve it with a mound of cinnamon whipped cream for a real treat. You can make these puddings ahead of time and heat them in aluminum foil.

Fig Bars Are Featured in Steamed Fruit Pudding

A brand-new version of an old-fashioned holiday treat, steamed pudding, is sure to be welcomed by hostesses and guests alike this Yuletide season. Called Holiday Steamed Fruit Pudding, this new dessert gets its special rich flavor from the crunchy square fig bars used with dried fruits and raisins in preparing it.

Made in individual molds and topped with spicy cinnamon whipped cream, it's the perfect finale to any holiday feast. Here's how to make it:

Holiday Steamed Fruit Pudding

1½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ cup brown sugar, packed
2 tablespoons salad oil or melted shortening
½ cup milk
2 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups seedless raisins
1 cup coarsely ground or snipped dried apricots
1 cup coarsely broken nutmeats
2 8-ounce packages fig bars

Sift together flour, baking soda, salt and cinnamon. Blend brown sugar, salad oil, milk, beaten eggs, raisins, apricots and nutmeats. Crumble the fig bars coarsely with fingers, and add to fruit mixture. Stir to blend well.

Add flour mixture, stirring until thoroughly blended. Spoon mixture into eight well-greased 6-ounce custard cups, or (for smaller servings) spoon into 12 4-ounce custard cups, well greased. Securely tie two thicknesses of waxed paper or one thickness of foil over top of each filled cup.

Arrange custard cups on rack inside a large, heavy kettle. (If kettle is too small for all cups, use two kettles and two racks.) Pour enough boiling water around cups in kettle to come halfway up the sides of the cups. Cover kettle; bring water to a oil.

Turn down heat and continue to simmer for 2 hours, or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Remove cups from kettle. Remove covers from cups. Loosen puddings from sides of cups with a knife; invert on to individual serving plates.

Serve warm, topped with cinnamon whipped cream. Makes 8 to 12 individual servings.

* * *

To make the cinnamon whipped cream, blend 1 cup heavy cream, whipped; 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar and one-half teaspoon cinnamon.

Note: When made ahead, reheat puddings before serving by wrapping each in foil and heating in top of double boiler (or in slow oven of 300 to 325 degrees) about 10 minutes.

Include Dip in Lunch

Delicious item for lunchbox toters: A small paper container of canned applesauce blended with cheese spread . . . with an envelope full of crackers or potato chips to dip into it.

Livestock Take Time

Strange as it may seem in this day of mechanization of farm work, the average farm worker spends more of his time today working with livestock than 40 years ago. Back before World War I, livestock took about 30 per cent of the farm work time. Nowadays it's up to 40 per cent. Two reasons: The number of livestock has increased, while cropland acres have been about the same. Mechanization of field cropping has been much greater than in the livestock industry.

Boon to Small Family

A 2-pound boneless smoked pork shoulder butt is a good choice for a small family. Cover the butt with water and simmer a couple of hours. Drain and stick with whole cloves; pat brown sugar over the top and sides. Place in a hot oven to glaze.

Having a buffet-style supper? Serve the first course in the living room so you can put the finishing touches on the main course in the kitchen.

NEW LOOK FOR PORK — Close-trimmed pork cuts are being featured by one big Chicago packing company. Contrast the two pork roasts in the above picture. The one at the left has had the fat trimmed to one-fourth inch. Homemakers will get more lean meat servings per pound from these packer-trimmed cuts. It is hoped by this means to encourage greater consumption of pork. Watch for these lean cuts.

It's Cookie Time Again; Here Are New Recipes

Pontiac Press Home Editor

How could I let a Christmas season go by without publishing some extra-special cookie recipes for you? I'm up to my ears in cookie baking, as usual. And I'm having the same problem as in past years. How can I make the old favorites and still try out all the new recipes I see?

Coffee Almond Cookies

Blend:
1 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons instant coffee
½ teaspoon almond extract
Beat in gradually:
1 cup sugar
Add
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup blanched toasted almonds coarsely chopped

Drop by half-teaspoonfuls on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 10-12 minutes in a 375-degree oven. Makes 7 dozen cookies.

The following recipe is for a quick and easy cookie that looks very festive when it is baked. Decorations are done before baking.

Christmas Sugar Wafers

½ cup (¼ pound) enriched margarine
1½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 egg (separated)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1⅞ cup unsifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon water
1 teaspoon confectioners' sugar
¼ cup chopped nuts
Candied cherries

Cream margarine and 1½ cups confectioners' sugar. Reserve 1 tablespoon egg white; add remaining white and yolk with vanilla to creamed mixture. Add flour and salt and mix until dough can be shaped into a ball with hands. Divide ball in half. Place one half between two pieces of waxed paper (which have been dusted generously with flour) or on a well floured pastry cloth. Roll out in a rectangle about 7½ by 10 inches. Dip cutting edge of knife in flour and cut dough in bars, each 1½ by 2½ inches. Place bars on greased cookie sheet. Mix reserved egg white with water and confectioners' sugar. Brush tops of bars. Decorate with nuts and candied cherries. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 12 to 15 minutes. Repeat, using remaining dough. Makes 10 cookies.

These cookies are gaily polka dotted with bits of crushed peppermint candy. They contain nutritious oatmeal too.

Peppermint Sparkles

2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1¼ cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
1 cup oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)

Beat eggs well using rotary beater. Add sugar and continue beating until thick and lemon colored, about 7 minutes. Stift together dry ingredients (except oats); then combine with oats and stir lightly into egg mixture. Chill batter for 2 or 3 hours. (Refrigerate overnight if desired.)

Shape dough into small balls. Bake on greased cooky sheets in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 20 minutes. Remove from cooky sheets and cool. Frost with confectioners' sugar frosting (see below); sprinkle with crushed peppermint candy. Makes 3 dozen.

Mincemeat Fills Orange Pastry

Golden Orangeade Pastry, a special version of the new flavored pie crust recently developed in the Lever test kitchens, gives a delightful tang of orange to these deliciously spiced, tender Mince Turnovers.

Especially appropriate for home entertaining on New Year's Eve, these flavorful turnovers will be popular at all kinds of informal evening parties and holiday gatherings.

They will also make a wonderful family dessert anytime during the winter season.

Mince Turnovers

1 recipe Orangeade Pastry
1½ cups mincemeat

Divide dough in half, shape into two flat rounds. Roll each round one-eighth inch thick and cut into 5-inch circles. Place 1 heaping tablespoon of mincemeat on each circle.

Fold over one-half of circle to within one-fourth inch of opposite edge. Turn lower edge up over top and seal edges with fork. Prick tops. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees) 12-15 minutes. Makes 10 turnovers.

Orangeade Pastry

½ cup homogenized shortening
2 tablespoons boiling water
2 tablespoons frozen concentrated orange juice thawed to room temperature
1 tablespoon milk
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt

Put shortening in mixing bowl. Add boiling water, thawed concentrated orange juice and milk, and whip with fork until all liquid is absorbed and a thick, smooth mixture is formed.

Sift flour and salt together onto whip and stir quickly into a dough. Pick up and work into a smooth, blended dough.

Makes enough pastry for a 9-inch two-crust pie or nine tart shells or 8-10 turnovers.

Dessert Without Work

You couldn't serve a quicker, no-work dessert, or a more welcome one, on a busy Christmas shopping day than well-chilled canned applesauce, sweetened to taste and circled with cream.

Sprinkle With Brittle

When making refrigerator and rolled cookies for the holidays, keep them crisp by sprinkling with crushed peanut brittle while they're still hot from the oven. The brittle melts slightly, giving a delightful topping.

Canada sold $3,525,000 worth of products to Sweden in the first six months of 1955 compared with $1,305,000 in the comparable period of 1954.

Apple Recipes Designed to Delight Cookie Lovers

As the holidays approach, it's time for all good cookie bakers to shine forth with special eating treats for Christmas guests, as well as for Dad and the youngsters.

* * *

Today's fresh apple-flavored cookies, adapted from traditional old world recipes, will delight all those cookie connoisseurs and will make welcome Yuletide gifts for Junior's favorite teacher and family friends, too.

* * *

You can bake these in advance because the crisp, spicy Winesap apples which give them their delicious flavor also endow the cookies with good keeping qualities.

Layered Apple Meringue Cookies

½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sifted powdered sugar
2 eggs, separated
1¼ cups flour
3 Winesap apples, peeled and thinly sliced
½ cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup ground walnuts or almonds

Cream butter or margarine with powdered sugar and add egg yolks. Stir in flour and blend well. Spread evenly in the bottom of a well greased 9x13 inch pan. Arrange thinly sliced apples over the top.

Beat egg whites until stiff and gradually beat in granulated sugar and cinnamon. Fold in half of the ground nutmeats and spread mixture over apples. Sprinkle meringue with remaining nutmeats.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 40 minutes. Cool slightly and cut into 1x3-inch bars. Makes 2½ dozen.

Christmas Apple Cookie Squares

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon mace
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon all-pice
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nuts
1 Winesap apple, coarsely chopped

Sift flour and measure. Add baking powder, salt and spices and sift again. Cream shortening. Add sugar gradually, beating until light. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well. Add vanilla, chopped nuts and apple. Blend well.

Add dry ingredients gradually, beating until combined. Spread stiff mixture in greased 7x11x2 inch pan.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Cut into squares when cool. If desired, squares may be frosted with confectioner's frosting. Makes about 16-18 bars.

For Flatter Cookies

Want a gently flattened cookie shape instead of a bumpy irregular drop? Measure out tablespoons of the dough on your greased cookie sheet, then flatten them by stamping with the base of an ordinary tumbler completely covered with a damp cloth.

Be careful not to overcook lemon pie fillings . . . the result will be a thin watery pie, rather than a thick, easy-to-cut one.

Curry Adds New Twist to Economical Dried Beef

One of the most popular meals-in-a-can is dried beef. It is an inexpensive meat because it goes so far. Just 1 ounce makes an ample serving for one.

* * *

The meat is made from rounds of lean beef that has been cured, air-dried, smoked, sliced wafer thin and sent on its way to the homemaker.

Dried beef comes in both 2½ and 5-ounce glass jars which may be kept on the pantry shelf. Or you may buy a 4-ounce carton of dried beef at your self-service meat counter. This package must be refrigerated.

Creamed dried beef on toast has long been an American luncheon favorite. A new twist to this old favorite will make those hungry youngsters scramble to the luncheon table.

* * *

For the new twist, season the creamed dried beef with curry powder and serve with steaming white rice.

Dried Beef Curry on Rice

1 5-ounce glass dried beef
5 tablespoons butter or margarine
5 tablespoons flour
2½ cups milk
½ teaspoon curry powder
3 cups cooked rice

Break beef into small pieces and let frizzle gently in the butter or margarine in a frying pan. Blend in flour, add milk and stir over low heat until thickened. Add curry powder and serve over rice. This recipe makes five to six servings.

Recipe Variations:

1. More curry powder may be added for a higher flavor.

2. Add 2 tablespoons chopped onion to the dried beef and fat and cook until onions are clear.

3. Add 1 cup of drained cooked peas to the white sauce after mixture has thickened.

4. Brown rice may be used instead of white rice for a rich, nutty flavor.

Mixed Vegetable Salad

Combine well-drained canned vegetables (peas, green beans, Limas, corn, carrots, etc.); add onion rings and diced pimiento. Toss with tart French dressing; cover; chill at least two hours.

5. If there isn't time to make the white sauce, use a can of mushroom soup instead. After the dried beef is heated in the fat, add a 10-ounce can of mushroom soup which has been diluted with equal parts of milk or water. Heat and serve.

Not so long ago gas-producing oil wells were considered worthless and the valuable gas was burned off as waste.

Cheering Breakfast

A breakfast dish to make you feel cozy and warm and full of cheer on a cold morning is a big bowl of piping hot oatmeal, sprinkled with brown sugar and served with a pour of apple juice-and-heavy cream, mixed half 'n' half.

Add Sesame to Curry

If curried chicken is on the menu, you'll find that toasted sesame seeds are an interesting condiment. They add a nice crunchy texture to the curry sauce.

CRANBERRY PIE — Bands of pale green whipped cream border this fluffy Cranberry Pie for the Christmas table. The filling takes only seconds to make and you can tuck this dessert in the refrigerator to chill the day before Christmas.

Delicate Cranberry Pies Top Off Heavy Yule Meal

Treat your family to a Cranberry Party Pie this Christmas. Here are two festive cranberry fillings for prebaked pie shells or ginger-snap crusts. As easy to make as opening a can of cranberry sauce.

If you're looking for a light dessert to serve with a heavy Christmas dinner, you'll want to try Cranberry Parfait Pie. Add the wreath of pale green whipped cream just before serving.

Cranberry Parfait Pie

1 pound can whole or jellied cranberry sauce
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 package raspberry-flavored gelatin
1 pint vanilla ice cream
¼ cup nut meats, finely chopped
1 baked 9-inch pie shell (cooled)

Crush cranberry sauce and bring to boil in saucepan. Add cinnamon and gelatin, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Add ice cream by spoonfuls stirring until melted. Fold in nuts.

Turn into a cooled pie shell and chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream.

* * *

Here's another festive cranberry filling for a Christmas pie. A ruby red cranberry glaze tops a snowy white almond-flavored filling. It's light as a breeze! You'll be glad you tried this.

Cranberry Regal Pie

1 baked pastry shell (9-inch)
1 pound can whole cranberry sauce
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup water
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
2 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon almond extract
1 cup heavy cream

Cook cranberry sauce and cornstarch until thickened. Cool. Cook sugar and one-third cup water to soft ball stage (238°). Add gelatin softened in one-fourth cup water. Slowly pour this syrup over stiffly beaten egg whites. Add salt, lemon juice and almond extract and continue to beat until cool. Beat cream and combine with egg white mixture.

Pour into pie shell. Chill. Spread cranberry sauce over top and return to refrigerator until serving time.

Cream Scallops and Mushrooms for Lunch Dish

Use this as a tempting luncheon dish.

Creamed Mushrooms and Scallops

1 package (10 ounces) frozen ocean scallops (defrosted)
½ cup water
½ pound mushrooms
Milk
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
6 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Drain scallops well and cut each into quarters. Place in small saucepan with water; bring just to simmering; continue to simmer until scallops are cooked through—this will take only a few minutes. (Do not bring to boiling or boil, or scallops will probably toughen.)

Drain liquid from scallops into measure; add enough milk to make 1¼ cups.

Wipe mushrooms with clean damp cloth; do not wash. Slice thin vertically through caps and stems.

Melt butter in 10-inch skillet; add sliced mushrooms; cook over fairly high heat, tossing with a fork, for several minutes. (The high heat will keep liquid from gathering in skillet.)

Sprinkle mushrooms with flour, stir over low heat until well coated. Add reserved scallop broth and milk, salt and pepper to taste; cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened and bubbly; cook longer to reduce if sauce is thinner than you like.

Stir in drained cooked scallops. Spoon into three individual shallow casseroles—individual heat-resistant glass pie plates about 6 inches across and 1 inch deep are a good size.

Sprinkle with cheese. Broil quickly for a minute or two to brown cheese.

More than half the nation's lamb consumption is in the New York City area.

For Broiled Chicken

Wonderful broiled chicken: Rub the surface of a cut-up broiling chicken with lemon juice. Add 4 teaspoons each of salt and sugar to a quarter cup of melted butter; stir in a teaspoon of paprika and a dash of white pepper. Coat the chicken pieces with the butter mixture. Broil slowly, turning.

Serve Potatoes the Italian Way to Vary Menus

If yours is a family that demands potatoes nearly every meal, probably you are always looking for different ways to serve this staple dish!

Here is a new recipe for preparing the Irish potato Italian style!

Italian Potatoes

6 medium potatoes
2 tablespoons margarine
2 slices diced Canadian-style bacon or ham
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 bouillon cubes
Boiling water

Scrub potatoes well. Pare off a thin strip of skin all around middle of potato. Melt margarine in skillet or saucepan with close-fitting lid.

Add bacon or ham and fry gently five minutes, stirring several times. Add parsley, then potatoes.

Dissolve bouillon cubes in 1 cup boiling water. Pour over potatoes. Add more water, just enough to cover potatoes.

Cover pan tightly and simmer 1½ hours, or until potatoes can be pierced easily with fork.

If desired, potatoes may be baked in covered container in moderately hot oven (400°) 1½ hours.

Serve in vegetable dish with sauce, or serve sauce in separate bowl. Six servings.

(Note: One No. 2 can small potatoes may be used instead of uncooked potatoes. Drain liquid from potatoes, heat and dissolve bouillon cubes in hot liquid. Reduce cooking time to 20 minutes).

Nippy Red Apple Sauce

Blend 1 can (1 pound) applesauce with 2 teaspoons horseradish and few drops red food coloring, if desired. Cover and chill.

Only One Bowl Is Needed for Coffee-Flavored Cake

For an ending as good as the beginning and middle, try One-Bowl Coffee Cake with Coffee Fudge Frosting. It's a brand new recipe, but one that will be popped promptly into your permanent recipe file.

One-Bowl Coffee Cake

2 cups sifted flour
1¾ teaspoons double-action baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups sugar
3 tablespoons instant coffee
1 cup less 2 tablespoons shortening or margarine
1½ cups buttermilk
2 eggs
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Measure and sift together the dry ingredients into a large bowl. Add the margarine or shortening, softened to room temperature, and pour in the buttermilk.

Beat for two minutes. Break in the eggs and beat again for two minutes. Add the vanilla and mix well.

Bake in two 9-inch layer cake pans which have been well greased and floured in a 375 degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes. Turn out on a wire rack to cool, and frost with Coffee Fudge Frosting.

Coffee Fudge Frosting

3 tablespoons instant coffee
1½ cups milk
4 cups sugar
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1¼ teaspoons salt

Add the coffee to the milk and heat slowly until smooth and blended, stirring constantly. Mix in the sugar, salt, and corn syrup, blending until the sugar is dissolved and the mixture boils. Boil, covered for three minutes.

Uncover and boil until a small amount forms a soft ball when dropped into cold water, stirring occasionally. Remove from the heat, add the vanilla and butter, and cool.

When lukewarm, beat until the mixture is creamy. Spread generously on the top and sides of the layers.

Good Luncheon Dish

Add cooked scallops and canned drained sliced mushrooms to a cream sauce; heat but do not boil. Serve over very crisp buttered toast and top with crisply cooked bacon. Add a green vegetable or a salad and you have a fine main course for a company lunch.

Herb Bread Crumbs Are Delicious 'Secret'

You have a secret — it's what makes your bread crumb-topped casseroles different! The answer is the herb bread crumbs you use. Melt one-third cup butter or margarine in a skillet. When hot, add 1 cup dry bread crumbs. Combine one-half teaspoon ground marjoram, one-fourth teaspoon ground thyme and 2 teaspoons finely chopped parsley. Add to crumbs; stir until crumbs are golden brown.

Britain's wheat production during 1955 is estimated at about 86,000,000 bushels, a drop of 17 per cent from the large crop harvested the year before.

Treat Mirrors White Yuletide

From Florida comes this recipe, sent by a woman whose childhood home was up North. This White Christmas Pice gives her nostalgic memories of cold Northern winters. For us in the North it offers a beautiful dessert.

* * *

We think it might be extra good if you made it ahead of time and stored it in the freezer. The texture would be more like ice cream.

White Christmas Pie

1 envelope (1 tablespoon) gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup (about) sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
1 cup mixed candied fruit for fruitcake
Confectioners' sugar
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon almond extract
½ cup whipping cream
1 baked 9-inch Coconut Pastry Shell or regular pastry shell
Colored sugar
Tender-thin flaked coconut

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water to soften. Combine in saucepan 2 tablespoons sugar, the flour and salt. Gradually stir in milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a boil.

Boil one minute; then remove from heat. Stir in softened gelatin. Let cool until partially set.

Meanwhile, roll fruit in confectioners' sugar to coat thoroughly. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until foamy; then gradually add one-half cup sugar, beating until stiff peaks are formed.

When gelatin mixture is partially set, beat with egg beater until smooth. Blend in vanilla and almond extract. Whip cream until thick and fold into mixture. Fold in beaten egg whites and fruit.

Pour into pie shell and chill about two hours. Just before serving garnish with colored sugar and coconut.

Treat for Teenagers

Fun for young folks: Place frankfurters in a folding wire broiler and toast over an open fire. Split frankfurter rolls and spread with soft yellow cheese; serve with the frankfurters and lots of pickles or pickle relish.

Tropical Applesauce

Tropical applesauce: Here's a delicious light frozen dessert that can also double as a topping for fruit salad: Add 1 cup crushed pineapple and 2 tablespoons quart of applesauce and freeze.

WHITE CHRISTMAS PIE — It will be "I'm dreaming of a white Christmas pie," if you whip up this appropriate coconut delight. A delicate gelatin mixture holds bits of chopped candied fruit. The new flaked coconut decorates the top.

4 Eggs Used in Preparing Basic Custard

This basic custard makes a nutritious family dessert.

Four-Egg Baked Custard

4 medium-sized or large eggs
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2¼ cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Grated nutmeg

Beat eggs in mixing bowl enough to combine yolks and whites. Add sugar, salt, milk and vanilla; stir enough to dissolve sugar. Strain into six to eight custard cups (each about 5 ounces). Sprinkle with nutmeg.

Place cups in pan; pour boiling water into pan so water comes to about the level of the custard mixture.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 40 to 50 minutes, or until a silver knife inserted almost at the center comes out clean.

Remove from pan of water at once and place cups in cold water. Cool, then chill.

Custard may be served in cups or unmolded. Nice with a sauce made from canned sweet dark cherries. Makes six to eight servings.

For Lunch in Jiffy

For a quick lunch mix chopped bread and butter pickles with cottage cheese; spread on crisp rye wafers. Serve with soup or a salad.

Serve Rabbits the Dutch Way

If there's a rabbit in the sack—start work on this dish right away for serving later in the week. This recipe is a favorite in the Pennsylvania Dutch country.

* * *

Cut two rabbits in serving pieces. Soak the pieces for a day or two in vinegar and water that has been brought to a boil with a few bay leaves, cloves and onion slices added for flavor. The longer you leave it, the better it gets.

Brown in butter on all sides, add a little of the vinegar sauce and let simmer about an hour.

In the meantime brown some flour, add enough butter to make a smooth paste, and stirring constantly add the rest of the vinegar stock a little at a time.

When smooth and thoroughly mixed, add some sour cream and pour over the rabbit. This makes a delicious gravy.

Serve with sweet and sour red cabbage and the traditional hartoffel Klaes (potato dumplings). If you're not too sure of these, egg noodles will do.

It's a rich dish, so maybe some fresh fruit and cheese would add the right touch to this tasty main course.

Pears and apples are good with camembert or roquefort cheese as well as edam or sharp store cheese.

Murals Delight Residents of Home

By WILMA GREENWAY

Christmas is a time for magic, a time when love rules and almost any wonderful fairy-tale happening can occur.

Even so, youngsters at the Oakland County Children's Home weren't quite prepared for what took place when artist Cornelius H. Geerts appeared like a fairy godfather with a magic brush in place of a wand.

They watched with delight as Geerts' brush began to transform what had been drab brown and yellow walls of the dining room at the home into a colorful fairyland vista.

First, against a new background of sunlight yellow, a snow scene appeared, complete with farmhouse and green pines, with children sledding down white slopes and skating on the blue ice of a pond. On another wall, the new life of spring was revealed with its fresh colors and an orchard in full bloom.

Then came midsummer with the full green of its foliage and fields of ripened wheat, and, in another scene, fall and the harvest with pumpkins piled high and the burnished golds and yellows of that season predominating.

Last and most wonderful of all was the wall facing the tables where the youngest children eat. Here, nursery rhyme characters magically appeared. A demure and smiling humpty-dumpty sits atop a brick wall. Mama and papa bear mount steps to their home while baby bear loiters below. A mouse climbs nimbly up the clock, and a cat fiddles while a ludicrous cow hurdles the moon. And Peter the pumpkin eater leans nonchalantly against the pumpkin shell that holds his errant wife.

To complete the transformation, William O. Moulton Jr., superintendent of the home, had the lower wainscoting painted a pale blue to harmonize with the light yellow background and the colorful murals.

Artist Geerts spent over two weeks completing the murals. He was commissioned to do the work by Robert Serota of 377 Kendry Ave., Bloomfield Township, who employs the artist in his profession of designing homes and commercial centers.

Serota decided to brighten the dining room after his neighbor, Mrs. Verne Freedle, a volunteer librarian at the home, convinced him that familiar scenes and cheerful nursery characters could make small children, brought to the home because of poverty or neglect, feel less strange and frightened in their new surroundings.

Although commissioned to do the artwork, Geerts caught the infection of helping the youngsters. He stayed late nights and came in on his day off to create murals that would enchant the hearts of the children. Himself the father of five, Geerts, 40, was born in Holland. He has been a commercial artist in Detroit for many years.

GIFT FOR THE CHILDREN — Artist Cornelius H. Geerts of Detroit brushes in the finishing touches on a mural at the dining room of the Oakland County Children's Home. As a Christmas gift to the youngsters, home designer Robert Serota of Bloomfield Township commissioned the artist to paint murals on all four walls of one of the dining rooms. Scenes of the four seasons and a fairyland mural of nursery characters are designed to brighten the hearts of the home's 139 youngsters. A second dining room is still unadorned, and the children are hoping some other artists will volunteer to decorate that room too.

Today Olive Freedle, the librarian who never forgets the overall needs of her young charges, took The Pontiac Press reporter to inspect the murals. As she listened to exclamations of admiration at Geerts' creations, the energetic librarian cast a speculative glance at the home's other dining room, whose blank walls contrasted strangely with the fairyland atmosphere of the new murals.

"There must be a lot of warm hearted artists in Pontiac," she mused. And then, with a conspirational air and another pointed glance at plain walls: "You tell them I said, 'Any volunteers?'"

Short Warden Can Face Up to Dachshund

BOYNE CITY (AP) — Charlevoix County believes it has the only dog warden in the country who can see eye to eye with a dachshund.

He is 62-year-old Edward Erber who lives up to his nickname of Shorty by measuring only 4 feet 9 inches tall.

Erber claims he was the shortest man in the American Expeditionary Forces of World War I. The Canadians wanted to recruit him for a bantam battalion of short men.

A frequent target of photographers wanting gag shots at American Legion conventions, Shorty doesn't mind the ribbing—"It's what gave me a bit of fame."

He still takes a lot of kidding in his job as humane officer. When he goes to pick up a stray dog he's used to such witticisms as:

"Are you going to ride it back? Where's your saddle? What do you do when you run into a dog bigger than you are?"

In six months though, Shorty has met only one dog bigger than himself. "Part St. Bernard and part horse, I guess he was," Shorty said. "He could have scalped me without stooping."

Players Will Take Rejected Proposals to Frick

In an Old Attic — Mementoes

By GRANTLAND RICE

There are his glove and bat and ball.
There is his football, with its score.
There is a sweater on the wall,
There are the cleated shoes he wore.
But far off, where they fight and die,
His plane patrols a distant sky.

Here is the room that held his dreams,
A pitcher, where the headlines glow,
A running back on winning teams,
Such dreams as only mothers know.
And somewhere, lost upon the air,
I hear the echo of a prayer.

Proposal for Sunday Sports Winning Out

Vancouver Citizens Vote on Issue After Baseball Transfer

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—A proposal which may eventually lead to Sunday sports in this city had a narrow favorable margin in incomplete tallying of yesterday's vote.

* * *

With 56 of the city's 90 precincts tabulated, the vote for Sunday sports was 22,004 for to 20,518 against.

All-Stars Move Into Finals of Bowling Meet

Detroit Kegler Posts Top Qualifying Score in 36 Games

CHICAGO (AP)—Bowlers in the 15th annual All-Star individual match game championships begin head to-head play today.

The four-day finals open with 16 shooters in each of the two divisions seeking the crowns now worn by Steve Nagy of Detroit, and Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia.

Among the men are three former champions, including Dick Hoover of Akron, Ohio, who tied Tom Hennessey of Detroit for the 36-game qualifying honors. Each had 7,461 pins.

The other former winners are veteran Joe Wilman of Berwyn Ill., who had to qualify like Hoover, finishing seventh with 7,323, and Don Carter of St. Louis, who was seeded into the finals.

A comparative unknown, Robbie Frey, of San Antonio, Tex., won the women's qualifying scoring honors with a 24-game total of 4,595. She edged Dolores Wroblewski, one of three Detroiters in this division, by one pin.

It was a four-player race for women's scoring honors yesterday, especially when Phyllis Notaro of Angola, N.Y., hit a four-game morning round of 876 but then slipped last night for 4,578 enabling Miss Wroblewski, Vicki Vukovich of Milwaukee, and Mrs. Frey to move past her. Miss Notaro took fourth.

* * *

Biggest threat to Miss Wene's crown will be Marion Ladewig, of Grand Rapids, Mich., winner of the crown five straight seasons until dethroned. The Michigan sharpshooter rolled the highest 24-game set ever recorded in All-Star play by totaling 4,883 pins in defeating Miss Wene in the special match by 327 sticks.

MSU Sniffles as Snow Cuts Drills Short

Two Players Placed in Campus Hospital With Colds

EAST LANSING (AP)—The Michigan cold and a couple of colds were bothering the Rose Bowl-bound Michigan State football team today.

An hour-long practice workout yesterday was cut short when snow started to fall.

The practice still counts as one of the 16 allowed before the team meets UCLA in the Rose Bowl Jan. 2. Tuesday's appearance of the squad in Macklin Stadium was not counted since it was staged only as a show for photographers.

Another brief drill was planned by coach Duffy Daugherty for today. The 44-man squad will fly to Pasadena Friday morning.

Meanwhile, All-American quarterback Earl Morrall of Muskegon spent the night in the college hospital.

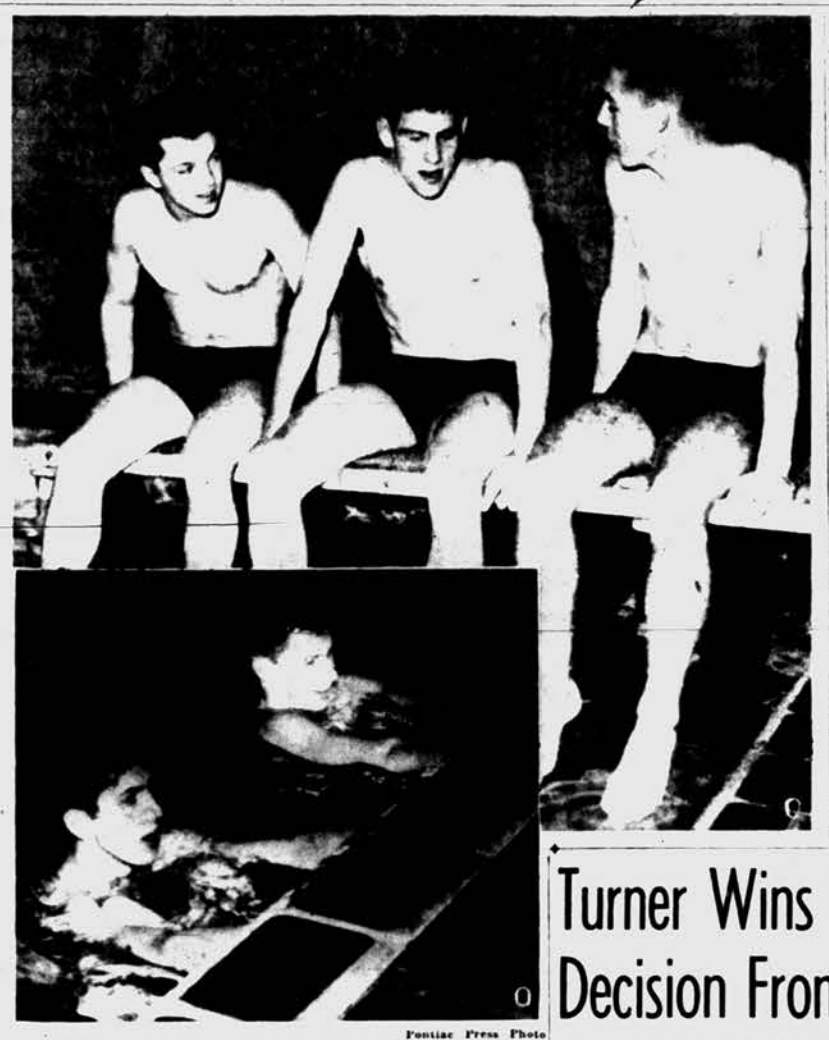

"Nothing serious, just a cold, but a good one," explained team physician Dr. James Feurig. Sophomore fullback Don Gilbert of Dubois, Pa., also had the cold bug and was hospitalized along with Morrall.

The team physician explained he put the two players in the hospital so they could be kept warm and steamed prior to the flight to the coast.

"My main concern is that the colds possibly could lead to some sinus trouble aboard the plane," Dr. Feurig said.

Lansing and East Lansing planned a rousing sendoff for the football Spartans.

There will be a parade through downtown Lansing complete with a color guard, a reviewing stand and four bands prior to the departure, scheduled for 9:30 a.m.

Pontiac Press Photo

OPEN SEASON TODAY — Finally, after a lot of delay, Pontiac High School swimming team gets off to a flying start today in the home pool. Chiefs have had to mark time until repairs were made to the pool, losing several weeks' practice. Now, with the pool back in service, Coach Robert (Des) Boyce's squad takes on an unknown quantity in Ypsilanti Central, at 4 p.m. today. In the pictures (top) are, from left, Dennis Simonson (free-style, junior), Bob Keavy (breast stroke, senior) and Bill Hampton (free style, senior). Below (from left), Ken Bogard (junior, back stroke) and Tom Cross (senior, back stroke).

Lindsay Nicked for Being Top NHL 'Bad Boy'

MONTREAL (AP)—It's costing Detroit Red Wing Capt. Ted Lindsay money to lead the National Hockey League in penalties.

So far, with less than half the hockey season completed, Lindsay already has paid $200 in fines. He leads the league with 98 minutes in penalties.

Each 10-minute misconduct penalty costs a player $25. A game misconduct costs $50 and the tab for a match penalty is $100. And there also is a $25 price for drawing a five-minute major penalty if an opponent is injured by the guilty player's stick.

The most penalized player in the NHL in each of the last three seasons never shelled out more than $50 in fines throughout the 70-game schedule.

East Jackson 5 Wins

JACKSON (AP) — They're calling it a sign of the times at East Jackson High School today.

East Jackson won a basketball game last night, beating Springport, 59-44. It was East Jackson's 1st victory in 21 games.

But two years ago, when East Jackson dropped that 1st game of its 21-string loss, it had an 18-game winning streak going.

Feller, Roberts to Confer With Commissioner

Club Owners Reject Request for Minimum Salary Increase

NEW YORK (AP)—Major league player representatives Bob Feller and Robin Roberts, together with their attorney, J. Norman Lewis, were scheduled to take their case to Commissioner Ford Frick today after refusing to accept the club owners' rejection of their proposals.

* * *

At a meeting of the 16 club representatives in Lewis' office yesterday, the players unanimously decided that they could not go along with the rejection by the owners of "certain proposals" which the players had previously submitted to the magnates. At their annual winter meeting in Chicago last week, the magnates flatly turned down all the players' important proposals.

* * *

The players were particularly incensed over the failure of the owners to permit them to have representation during negotiations for a new contract affecting television of the World Series and All-Star game. The players also deplored the owners' refusal to increase the minimum salary from the current $6,000 to $7,200.

These two proposals will be resubmitted for consideration when the owners convene again next Feb. 4.

Asked what the players might do if they encountered further refusal, Feller and Roberts declined to speculate.

"The indication," said Feller, the Cleveland Indians' veteran righthander, "is that the players might take stern steps if the owners reject them at this time."

Feller did not explain what he meant by "stern steps," but Roberts, the Philadelphia Phillies' great righthander, said:

* * *

"We probably will have a statement to make after the owners' Feb. 4 meeting. Then he added quickly, almost under his breath: We hope we don't have to."

* * *

In a joint statement, the players said: "The cost of living, according to government figures, has increased 44 per cent since 1947. The owners claim there is only a small percentage of players who now receive less than $7,200. If this is so, then the cost of the increase should be negligible."

The players opened their meeting at 2 p.m. and adjourned to meet with the press at 4:30 p.m. Then they went back into session.

Turner Wins Unimpressive Decision From Jack LaBua

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Gil Turner won a fight last night but it looked like the loser. Jackie LaBua, had gained the most from the scrappy outing here.

For one thing, all the information that could be pieced together from assorted handlers indicated that LaBua would meet Gene Fullmer in Madison Square Garden on Jan. 6.

Turner had been slated for that bout with Fullmer. But LaBua's persistent flicking left jab opened a cut over Turner's right eye last night and it looked like the cut might keep Turner out of action for at least a month.

George Katz, Turner's manager, said he would leave the decision up to Gil's personal physician in Philadelphia.

But Katz suggested that Turner would be looking for a chance at welterweight champion Carmen Basilio if Carmen retains the title when he fights Johnny Saxton.

Billy Brown, matchmaker for the International Boxing Club, said present plans were to stage the Basilio-Saxton fight in Chicago on Feb. 1, provided Basilio's injured left hand is ready.

LaBua, a newcomer to the national middleweight scene, had only two fights this year before he tangled with Turner. His lack of fights was obvious, but he showed a durability and fearless counter-punching attack that could well earn him a crack at more top notch middleweights soon.

He stood up well under Turner's familiar windmill slashing with both hands. But the youngster from East Meadow, L.I., was unable to cope with Turner's superior ring experience.

However, it was not the Gil Turner of old. He carried the fight to LaBua but often found himself tricked out of a chance to land his hard right as LaBua spun away while countering with his right. Turner weighted 154½, LaBua, 159.

Turner's eye was opened in the sixth round but he managed to protect it after that, despite LaBua's concentrated jabs at it. Turner also got a mouse over his left eye.

Turner was on the deck in the fifth round but Referee Joe Palmer ruled it a slip.

Palmer scored the fight a draw 4-4-2 and even on points. Judge Ted Shiels had it 5-4-1 and Dick Albino 6-3-1, both in favor of Turner. The Associated Press card favored Turner 6-2-2.

NY Coach Steaming Over Third Straight Defeat

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It may have been just the law of averages catching up with the Rangers but Coach Phil Watson threatened drastic action today after seeing his blue-shirted National Hockey League crew drop a 4-1 decision to the Chicago Black Hawks.

Watson, steaming over the Rangers third straight defeat and the first from Chicago after beating the Hawks five straight, promised some changes unless his charges perk up. The chances for an immediate victory were none too bright since the New Yorkers meet the league-leading Canadiens in Montreal tonight.

The fiery New York coach said he was giving serious thought to calling up one or more minor leaguers. He named Bill McCreary, Jim Bartlett, Camille Henry and Pete Conacher of Buffalo as most likely to be given a chance in the majors. Considered mostly likely to depart from New York are Ron Murphy or Danny Lewicki.

Sealed Bids to Be Opened for Nashua's Sale

NEW YORK (AP) — The fortune of Nashua, one of the greatest horses in American turf history, could well be decided today when sealed bids for the racing stock of the famous Belair Stud are opened.

"We will make a definite announcement around 4 p.m. if at all possible," said John W. Ludewig, one of the executors of the estate of William Woodward Jr. "Then again it might be necessary to consider the bids at some length before we reach a decision."

Ludewig said the executors have the right to refuse any bid.

California Hunters Told to Keep Heads Down for Safety

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Sportsmen hunting in Modoc County during special doe hunting season were advised today to keep their heads down.

Modoc Sheriff's Deputy Gerald Wilson described one sector as only slightly less dangerous than some wartime beachheads.

"The wildest and heaviest shooting I've ever seen," said Wilson.

He reported two men who went into the area to rescue a wounded hunter had to crawl on their stomachs to avoid being hit themselves.

UCLA Speeds Up Workouts

Practice Concentrated on Spartans' Tricky Multiple Offense

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — UCLA's Bruins speeded up their practice pace yesterday in an attempt to master the complicated multiple offense Michigan State will use against them in the Rose Bowl Jan. 2.

The 90-minute drill appeared satisfactory, however, as the Bruins ran well against the multiple offense run by its reserves.

Besides star tailback Ronnie Knox, who is out with a broken ankle, the squad is in good physical condition.

Coach Red Sanders shifted Don Shinnick from right guard to blocking back or quarterback. He will play linebacker on defense and replace Johnny Smith, who was to be a linebacker, but suffered a shoulder separation. Smith watched the scrimmage.

Sam Brown, Gerry McDougall and Shinnick worked heavily on punting drills. The team then divided the rest of the time on offense and defense drills.

No practice was scheduled today, but there will be one workout Friday and a double session Saturday.

Rams Meet St. Rita

By BILL CORNWELL

St. Frederick's Rams seek to keep winning tonight when they tackle Hazel Park St. Rita in a Suburban Catholic League basketball game on St. Frederick's court.

Gene Wright's cagers shoot for their 2nd win in as many starts in their 1st home appearance. St. Fred opened its 1955-56 schedule last week with a 40-37 SCL decision over St. Clement at Center Line.

Dick Doyon meshed 22 points against the Clements, but the game's hero was tall Mike Kopesik, who scored four markers in the last 20 seconds to garner the decision.

Kopesik, a senior who never played basketball until this season, proved his worth in his 1st crack at the sport. Wally Quarles, who relieved the injured Larry Morrow early in the St. Clement encounter, may have won a starting assignment with his impressive play.

Tony Coratti's St. Rita quintet lost its Suburban loop opener last Friday to St. Mary of Royal Oak, 56-31. Only four lettermen returned to the Viking fold this year, headed by center Tom Pranger and forward Jerry Trudeau, and they are not expected to fare too well during the current season.

Two other Suburban Catholic League games are carded Friday night, one of vital importance, as loop activity gains momentum.

Key contest will be played at Orchard Lake where the title-hopeful Eaglets collide with St. Benedict of Highland Park. After dropping their non-league opener to West Bloomfield, Eaglets have chalked up successive triumphs over Ferndale St. James and Detroit St. Stanislaus, the former an SCL victim.

St. Benedict, pre-season favorite for the loop championship, was runner-up last season and boasts the return of its entire 1954-55 squad. The Bens hope to stop the hot scoring pace of Eaglet guard Ted Kopacki in this early-season showdown between two of the loop's strongest teams.

* * *

In tomorrow night's remaining SCL encounter, St. Clement takes on St. Mary's Irish at Royal Oak. Dedending champion St. Michael, victor over non-loop Avondale in its opener, is idle until Jan. 3. St. James is not scheduled tomorrow night.

Maryland Seniors Aim Revenge on Oklahoma

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maryland Football Coach Jim Tatum last night served notice that there are 10 seniors on the Maryland team who have made up their minds to beat Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2.

"We are taking a third-rate team down there (Miami) to play a first-rate team, but we are coming back first rate," Tatum said.

Big Jim tabbed his undefeated Terrapins "third rate" only in reference to their standing in the final Associated Press poll. Oklahoma was voted the national championship in the poll. The seniors he referred to were beaten by Oklahoma in the 1954 Orange Bowl game 7-0.

Looking to next year, Tatum said the 1956 squad has the "greatest" potential despite the loss of 10 seniors. He predicted they would have "no trouble at all" with the teams they are scheduled to oppose.

Tatum acknowledged he has been accused of promoting each coming year's team in the nine seasons he has been at Maryland, but added, "I sincerely mean it."

The unusual aspect of an optimistic football coach stems from Jim's desire to attract spectators to Maryland's rather poorly attended home games.

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla), a guest at last night's banquet in honor of the undefeated football and Lacrosse teams, said he noted that one of the University of Maryland Board of Regents members had been introduced as "the representative of football on the board."

"All of our regents at Oklahoma represent football," Monroney said.

AAU Begins Investigation

NEW YORK (AP)—The amateur athletic union committee to investigate amateurism in sports, including the case of Wes Santee, is already at work, Dan Ferris said today.

Ferris, who is secretary-treasurer of the A.A.U., declined to reveal the names of the committee members. The setting up of the comcent A.A.U. convention in Louisville, and one of its duties will be to inquire into excessive expense account demands of athletes competing in track meets.

Santee, the famous Kansas miler, was suspended Oct. 30 by the Missouri Valley A.A.U. on charges he accepted large expense accounts for track meets in California. He was reinstated Nov. 20 by the Missouri Valley board of governors.

The New York Herald Tribune, in a copyright story, reported that the A.A.U. was "concerned about the possible improper influence of a two-page telegram sent to the Missouri Valley A.A.U. board of governors by U.S. Senator Frank Carlson of Kansas.

Archers Boast Record Harvest in Wisconsin's 21 Years of Bow Hunting

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin, where the modern big game bow hunting was officially inaugurated 21 years ago, is celebrating the sport's coming of age with a record big game harvest.

Back in 1934, the state opened two of its 71 counties for a special deer hunt open to bow and arrow only. The action was taken after considerable doubt, and with some official trepidation.

But all went well. Not only did several dozen archers turn out, but they managed to kill one buck without any casualties among themselves. That part of the record, by the way, still stands. No bow hunter ever has been killed by an arrow in the 21 years, and 20 of the years passed without even a scratch reported.

Now, in the anniversary year, some 30,000 bowmen whose licenses show they come from 18 states have, for the first time, killed more than 1,000 deer. Two special post-season hunts on wildlife management areas continue until Jan. 1. Wisconsin's previous season record was 743, set last year.

During the 21 years, Wisconsin has continued to set the pace in the growing sport, sharing some honors with California and Michigan. All 71 counties now are open for deer hunting during a 55-day season. There are the post-season hunts in special areas and the bow is a legal weapon for other game right along with shotguns and rifles. Metropolitan Milwaukee even has a special bow season—a five-month-long pheasant hunt.

In total numbers of hunters and also for total kill, Michigan has claimed the national lead in recent years. Together, Wisconsin and Michigan license more than 63,000 bow hunters. That's a quarter of the nation's total, but more than half the states now offer special bow hunting privileges, so the percentage may not last long.

Wolverines, Hot Shots Win City League Games

The Wolverines chalked up a comeback win and the Hot Shots breezed to victory in Class D city league basketball games Wednesday night at Lincoln Junior High School.

* * *

In an American League contest, the Wolverines spotted the Lakers a 20-15 halftime advantage, then erupted with 18 points in the 3rd quarter while the opposition was garnering only four to win going away, 50-39.

Charles Moss led the winners' attack with 18 points, followed by Steve Hooper who posted 14. Tom Shaw's 13 points headed a losing Laker effort.

The Hot Shots recorded their 2nd triumph in as many nights, crushing Slaybaugh's 71-30, in a National division tilt. The victors ran up a 34-12 lead at intermission and broke loose for 24 points in the 3rd period to leave Slaybaugh's far behind.

Three Hot Shots entered double figures in the scoring column, Tom Farmer getting 14 points, Bud Hayward 11, and Bob Baker 10. Bob Holmquist paced the losers with 11 markers.

Upper bracket squads return to action tonight with two American loop games slated at Pontiac High's gymnasium. Lakeside Royals clash with Stone Front in the 7 o'clock opener and Shaw's Jewelers battle Stadium Inn at 8:30 p.m.

Purdue Trips Loyola, 69-68 in Lone Big 10 Cage Game

CHICAGO (AP)—Purdue wrapped up its 3rd basketball victory in four starts this season by downing Loyola of Chicago 69-68 last night on Don Thornburg's jump shot in the last 10 seconds.

The lead was exchanged five times in the last six minutes after Loyola had rallied from a 42-35 halftime deficit.

* * *

Loyoila went ahead 68-67 in the final minute on Joe Shirk's jump shot. Then Thornburg rammed in the decisive basket after which another jump attempt by Shirk failed.

Maurice Lorenz scored four baskets and two free throws for the Boilermakers, all in about the last 10 minutes, to keep up his team's rally.

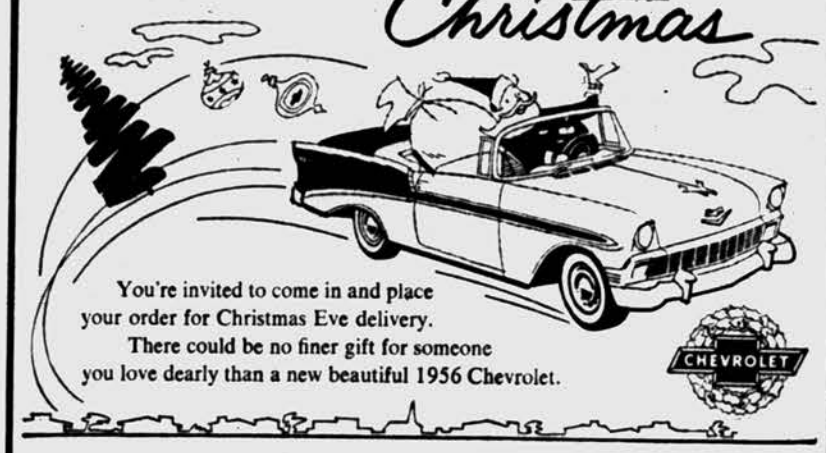

Joe Sexson, Purdue forward, took scoring honors with 24 points while Thornburg added 14. Shirk topped losers with 21. Defeat was Loyola's 3rd in five games.

Big Ten teams are idle until tomorrow night when Notre Dame invades Minnesota.

Gophers have downed DePaul and lost 82-81 to Southern Methodist in their only two starts.

Notre Dame has a 2-3 record, two defeats being administered by Big Ten opponents. Wisconsin tripped the Irish 70-66 and Illinois trounced them 102-93. Notre Dame's only victory over a Big Ten foe was 71-61 against Northwestern.

Prepsters in Hot Scoring Race

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

What does it take to have a winning basketball team? One big factor is to have some balanced scoring and the more successful area cage teams of this young season have found this to be true.

Lapeer, with three straight wins tucked away, has a high powered offensive attack with three players averaging better than 13 points each and another in lower double figures.

High scoring Tom Wilson, a 6 foot junior center, leads coach Burt Jackson's attack with 23.6 per game, followed by Roger Flanigan with 16.3, Tom Elliot with 14.3 and Owen Pope with 11 a game.

Milford and Brighton each have two high scorers to harass the opposition. The Wolves who have lost only a one-point, 32-51 decision to Waterford, have one of area's top pointmakers in Jim Davidson.

Davidson failed to connect from the floor against Waterford getting 10 free throws, but the 6-3 senior forward is still hitting at a 24 point per game clip.

Team mate Fred Baker, with 19.3 a game, is another reason why the Wolves are on top in the Wayne-Oakland League with a 2-0 mark.

Brighton, paced by 14-year-old Brian Watson with 20 per game, won three straight before losing a 41-39 game Tuesday to Clarkston. Herb Snyder, a 6 foot junior forward, has pushed through 15 per game.

Heading the list of the area's top scorers are a pair of "Larrys." Larry Kersten of Almont and Larry Dorow of Imlay City. The two pacemakers put on a scoring show when they faced each other in the season opener which Imlay won 67-63 in overtime.

Kersten scored 31 and Dorow led Imlay with 24. Neither team has lost since their meeting, and another scoring battle should take place January 3 when they meet on the Almont court. Dorow is a 6 foot guard and Kersten a 6-4 forward.

West Bloomfield's Frank Rogers, 6-1 center and guard George Deacon, have given the Lakers high hopes of bettering their 8-9 record of last year.

Rogers has been hitting at a 25.6 clip in the first three games. Deacon is giving Rogers an assist with 12 points a game.

Romeo has fallen in three of four games to date despite Bill Schmidt's 19.2 output average per game.

In the Inter-Lakes conference, Southfield's Bob Evans, leading scorer in the league last year started off with a poor three-points in the opener but has moved his average up to 10[illegible] a game.

Top battle for position in the league is at the center spot which boasts the circuit's three top scorers.

Unbeaten Waterford has 6-1 Chuck Gillis averaging 14.3 a game and Walled Lake has 6-2 Larry Hughes hitting the hoop at 14.6. Farmington has come up with 6-2 junior Bud Jones whose 23 points against Southfield dropped the Jays 53-51 in overtime last week.

Numerous other players from the area, who have played in only one or two games thus far, are expected to crack the select scoring kings before the season gets too far along. Among them are Jim Simer of Madison's Oakland B powerhouse, Dave Sweeney of Oxford, Evans Webb of Royal Oak, Capac's Jim Chernenko, Jerry Paul of Avondale and Lake Orion's Jim Drake.

One of the sharpshooters in the Suburban Catholic League Orchard Lake St. Marys' Ted Kopacki who has had three phenominal shooting nights with a total of 79 points for 26.3 a game.

The Eaglets lone loss in three games was in the opener to West Bloomfield.

Kentucky Coach Finding It Harder to Win These Days

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Coach Adolph Rupp, Kentucky's basketball mentor who's having a tough time winning for a change, should be satisfied with the style of play at Maryland, tonight anyway.

Unless Coach Bud Millikan changes it for his biggest test of the season so far,

Rupp complains that the "game seems to have turned into a shooters' holiday. The other ball clubs have just been throwing the ball up there without depending on any set offensive plan and luckily they have dropped.

"We try to be more definite. The other teams have been depending on circulating around in the region of the basket until somebody decides to shoot. And they have been hitting with amazing accuracy on that individual stuff. It makes you wonder if all the pains of coaching and teaching a system are worth while."

Millikan follows the same thinking as Rupp, having his team move the ball around until somebody can break loose underneath. It is a deliberate style with plenty of emphasis on defense.

As a result, scores of both Kentucky and Maryland have been comparatively low.

Kentucky beat Louisiana State 62-52, lost to Temple 73-61 and held off DePaul 71-69. For the first time in six years, they are out of The Associated Press' top 10, being ranked 12th.

Gora to Depend on Team Balance Against Chiefs

Good team balance is the bulwark Ron Gora, Ypsilanti Central swimming coach, depends on to stop Pontiac High School tankers, today at 4 p.m., in the Chief's opener in the home pool.

Gora, member of the University of Michigan's world championship relay team a few years ago, says he has mostly an "all-sophomore, junior squad, with possibilities."

"We are still in the process of finding out what we have here," Gora explained. "But I think we are going to have a pretty good club."

Gora is bringing 17 squadmen here. His top performers are junior Lee Mikesell, (40-yard freestyle and relay,) Dick Bishop, junior (in the 40,100 freestyle and relay,) Pat McCann, junior (in the backstroke,) and a good sophomore diver, Bill Sorrell. Much of his strength will be in the 50-100 and relay, Ron says.

Ypsilanti has taken part in two meets, and performed creditably in both, at Battle Creek and Ann Arbor.

Along with Tom Cross, Bob Keavy, Denny Simonson, Bill Hampton, and Ken Bogard, Coach Des Boyce has Anton Simson, diver and Jim Cornforth, also a diver, to help out today. His top springboard operator, Rennie Saigeon is gone, and only a few weeks ago, Bill Lamson, good freestyler, went into service.

Big 'Klu' Called Best Defensive First Sacker

NEW YORK (INS)—Ted Kluszewski, the guy whose name reads like the bottom line of an eye chart, re-asserted himself today as the greatest defensive first baseman since Charley Grimm.

Official statistics released today showed that the former Indiana football player led National League first basemen for the fifth straight year with a .995 percentage.

The 31-year-old Cincinnatian, who finished fifth in the batting race with a .314 average, broke Grimm's major league record for consecutive years leading the league's first basemen defensively.

Actually, four others held the mark but Grimm was the last and Kluszewski now is within hailing distance of Charley's record of most years leading the league, nine.

Klu committed only eight errors in 1,482 total chances to nose out St. Louis' Stan Musial by three percentage points.

Big Ted's Cincinnati club was the third best defensive club of the year, with a fielding percentage of .977 behind Philadelphia (.981) and Brooklyn (.978). The Phillies also committed the fewest errors, 110.

New York made the most put outs (4,160), Milwaukee had the most assists (1,780) and the most total chances (6,081) and Pittsburgh made the most double plays (175). There were five triple plays (one each by the Phils, Giants, Cubs, Braves and Pirates), two short of the record set in 1910 and equalled in '29.

Olson Manager Gets Ultimatum

Has 20 Days to File Brief for Proving His Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Herbert Campos, one-time manager of Carl (Bobo) Olson, has been given 20 days in which to file a brief in his $500,000 suit against the former world middleweight champion.

Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman commented yesterday he found "no evidence of any kind of breach of contract" after three days of testimony on both sides. He asked Campos to prove his charges in the brief.

Campos, a Hawaii dairyman, sued both Olson and Sid Flaherty, who managed Bobo to the world title. He contends he deserves a share of the boxer's earnings since Olson came to the mainland.

Several witnesses from Honolulu testified yesterday that Campos made no protest when Olson told the Hawaiian Boxing Commission in June 1951 he planned to go to the mainland to fight because Campos had not arranged enough matches for him (Olson) to make a living.

Kramer, Morrall Get Their INS Awards

DETROIT (INS) — Michigan end Ron Kramer and Michigan State quarterback Earl Morrall today received awards for being named to the 1955 International News Service All-American Team.

• • •

The awards were presented by Michigan and Michigan State's respective athletic directors, Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler and Clarence L. (Biggie) Munn.

NFL Cards Give Coach '56 Pact

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals will retain head coach Ray Richards for 1956 at a salary increase but one of his assistants, Otis Douglas, has resigned.

Walter Wolfner, Cards managing director, said that Douglas, former Arkansas head coach and tackle with the champion Philadelphia Eagles in 1948-49, was quitting to consider a head coaching job with an unidentified Eastern college. Douglas' contract expires Dec. 31.

Another assistant, Tommy Thompson, is unlikely to have his contract renewed when it expires April 30. Richards said only that Thompson, former Eagles quarterback in their title seasons, will remain with the Cards as long as he has a contract.

The Cards had a 4-7-1 National Football League record this season, its best since 1950.

New Baylor Pilot Names Grid Staff

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Baylor's new head football coach, Sam Boyd, yesterday named three members of this years staff to his 1956 staff.

• • •

They are James (Buddy) Parker, who remains as varsity assistant, and Bob Barfield and Charlie Driver, freshman team coaches who will become varsity assistants.

• • •

Boyd said two additional assistant coaches, not now on the staff, will be named soon.

• • •

Boyd recently became head football coach when George Sauer, coach for the past several years, was named athletic director.

Lakeview of the Bi-County League opened the season yesterday by downing Detroit Country Day 67-55. Lakeview will play at Troy Friday night.

Penn Guild May Follow NY Probe

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Boxing Managers' Guild of Pennsylvania may undergo an investigation similar to the recent probe of the New York guild, Alfred M. Klein, state athletic commissioner said yesterday.

Klein said Commission Chairman James Crowley had asked New York Commissioner Julius Helfand for a copy of testimony in the New York investigation. As a result of that probe the New York guild was ordered to disband.

Graham Calls It Quits for 2nd Time

CLEVELAND (INS)—One of the great eras in T-quarter-backing history will come to an end Dec. 26 when Otto Graham hangs up his cleats for the final time after the National League title game.

Despite the fact the 10-year star for the Cleveland Browns is calling it quits—for the second time—there is no reason for rival NFL coaches to feel that the Browns' football dynasty is about to crumble.

Coach Paul Brown has fortified the club well for the day when Otto finally decided he'd had enough of pro football and joined other great T-men like Sammy Baugh and Sid Luckman on the sidelines.

Graham came out of retirement in September when the courts told the Browns they could not have Bobby Freeman, ex-Auburn star, because of an agreement he signed with a Canadian team.

When it became apparent that George Ratterman couldn't go it alone, Brown asked Graham to play one more season. Brown said:

"I knew he would come back if we needed him this year, and he has done a wonderful job for us. He has given us everything this year.

• • •

"I won't impose on Otto to do it again. I know he wants to retire."

Next year, the Browns will start the season with Ratterman and Vito (Babe) Parilli, the former Kentucky passer who played two years with Green Bay before the Packers traded him to the Browns in a deal that sent Bobby Garrett of Stanford to the Wisconsin club.

Parilli has spent the last couple of seasons in service, but will be out in time for the 1956 campaign.

With Ratterman and Parilli sharing the load, the Browns will have two quarterbacks of proven professional ability.

Cleveland also has two other quarterbacks currently employed by Uncle Sam—Jim Root, ex-Miami, O., University star who played with the Chicago Cardinals, and Freeman, who will be the property of the Browns when the Canadian lease on him expires.

So far as Brown knows, the only person planning retirement at the close of the season is Graham. The rest of the players will be back for another season, if Paul will have them.

In 1955, the Browns are without peers defensively in the NFL and have a potent offense, which features the passing of Graham and the running of Ed (Big Mo) Modzelewski and Fred (Curley) Morrison.

Brown, like Al Lopez—his baseball counterpart in Cleveland—is especially partial to good pitching and the long ball.

Pittsburgh Bonus Choice Gets Offer From Toronto

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—Gene Glick, Colorado A&M back and 1956 bonus choice of the professional Pittsburgh Steelers football team, said last night "I have no intention of signing a contract with any team right away."

The 25-year-old star of the Skyline Conference champion Aggies and his wife were leaving by plane for Toronto today to talk over a $12,000 offer to play with the Toronto Argonauts.

The offer came from Harry Sonshine, general manager of the Eastern Canadian League team. He invited Glick and his wife to Toronto on an expenses-paid trip.

Glick told reporters here the Toronto offer was made on a verbal basis and he informed Pittsburgh officials about it.

In Pittsburgh, a Steelers spokesman said:

• • •

"The situation boils down to this—the Toronto team wants to talk to him, he gets a nice trip, and he'll listen to their proposition.

"But Fran Fogarty (Steelers general manager) will talk to him in Denver en route to the draft meeting at Los Angeles next month. He also will be here (Pittsburgh) in February. But whether further talks will be necessary at that time is not known now.

Glick, who was to fly from Denver via Chicago said he expects to return late Saturday or Sunday.

• • •

Glick was an outstanding choice for the All-Skyline Conference team this season. He will play in the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 31 and the Hula Bowl game at Honolulu Jan. 18.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

TOP-SPIN TWIST—Bowling becomes very discouraging, to be sure, when the 8-10 split pops up repeatedly on what looks like a good hit, but is actually "flat." That's the problem of R. M. Keller of State College, Pa., who writes: "I have good control, but I draw too many splits on pocket hits and can't determine why."

It appears the old bugaboo, top-spin, is to blame. Top-spin is what the word imples: The hand is too far on top of the ball at release. Too much wrist turn. As a result the ball merely spins like a top on the way down the alley and, reaching the end of its roll, loses its "stuff" and fades a trifle as it contacts the pins. Thus it is deflected to the right, away from the pocket, and it barely gets to the No. 5 key pin. It's what is called a flat ball.

My suggestion: Stop trying to put too much stuff on the ball. Adopt the straight arm finish shown in the sketch. Reach out, which you'll be able to do consistently by keeping the swing close to the side. Dismiss getting hook with wrist twist. Instead, keep the thumb pointed forward during the downswing, and you'll get the all-important feeling of applying finger-spin at release. At release there should be a little "V" opening between the thumb and index finger.

Cubs Ask 8 Minor League Players to Spring Camp

CHICAGO (AP)—Eight young minor leaguers, ranging in age from 19 to 26, have been invited to train with the Chicago Cubs at their Mesa, Ariz., spring baseball camp which opens Feb. 20.

Five of the rookies are on assignment from Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League, and three from Tulsa of the Texas League. Selected from Los Angeles: Righthanded pitchers Bob Anderson and Dick Drott, outfielder-first baseman Prentice Browne, infielder K. C. Wise and outfielder Eddie Haas.

From Tulsa are outfielders Dave Cunningham and Frank Ernaga and infielder Don Lauters.

Anderson had an 11-5 record last season with Des Moines and Drott 10-8 for Burlington, Iowa. Browne hit .304 and led the Texas League in homers with 33 at Shreveport.

Wise batted .276 for Beaumont and Haas .323 with Des Moines.

Cunningham included 30 homers and 93 RBIs in a .287 average for Des Moines. Ernaga hit .260 and 23 homers for Burlington. Lauters, a shortstop for Macon, Ga., batted .275.

Ex-Chief Athlete Joins PHS Staff

The call of the "home front" has brought husky Ralph Grubb back to the basketball activities at PHS. Ralph, former Chief, is now an assistant to head basketball coach Art Van Ryzin. Grubb, former PHS cager, joins Fred Zittel on the varsity staff.

Grubb is a graduate of Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti. He is a member of the elementary school teaching corps.

Nebraska was defeated last season 6-0 by Hawaii whereas in the 1954 year Nebraska beat Hawaii 50-0.

Designer of Ike's Golf Course Dies

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (AP)—Henry T. Hughes, 89, who designed President Eisenhower's favorite Colorado golf course, died at a hospital here last night.

He mapped the course at Denver's Cherry Hills Country Club, where Eisenhower shot 27 holes last Sept. 23, the day before he was stricken with a heart attack.

Lausche—Democratic Dark Horse?

By JAMES G. CROSSLEY
NEA Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio (NEA)—A tall, broad-shouldered figure, topped with a bush of curly dark hair, is familiar in every town and city in Ohio. It belongs to Frank J. Lausche, the man who's serving an unprecedented fifth term as governor.

* * *

As he strides at a near lope along the street these days, they are looking at him with new interest. For now as a Democratic presidential candidate his name is mentioned increasingly as a possible compromise candidate.

Started by Georgia Sen. Richard B. Russell, this freshet of speculation comes largely from the South. There, the conservative elements of the party hunt unceasingly for a Democratic presidential candidate to walk the middle-of-the-road rather than the lef-hand rut. If they have one it increases their bargaining power, at the very least.

A number of them think Frank Lausche—that's pronounced Low (as in how)-she—could be the man.

GOP FORTRESS

Ohio is a Republican stronghold. Yet in 1952, while Stevenson was losing the state by a half-million votes, Lausche won by 425,052.

What is this appeal to both Democrats and Republicans? Perhaps it's his energy. In a car he absent-mindedly prods the driver like a farmer hustling the haywagon horses when rain's a-coming.

"Let's go, let's go. Why are we stopping here?"

"It's a red light," the driver patiently explains.

MONEY NOT GOAL

Perhaps it's his honesty. Everyone knows he has little interest in money. He'd have difficulty scrapping up the down payment on a house if he went back into law, his friends say.

Everyone knows he's an early riser, like Truman. But his walks are in the afternoon. In the dawn he dictates letters into a machine.

He has his friends worried about his flying. His pilot dashes him over the state in a single-engined National Guard plane. There's a toothbrush sticking from his breast pocket and his shoes are traditionally untied. Only icing conditions will keep him down or get him on the commercial liners.

VEEP POSSIBILITY

He's riding this southern boomlet for President. Pairing him as Stevenson's running mate would be illogical, but he might be in line if Averell Harriman were nominated. New York and Ohio make geographical sense.

With this plateful of goodies before him, what does Lausche say?

"I've been astonished by the wideness of the circulation which has been given over the country to views similar to those expressed by Senator Russell. But I have no ambition of any character whatever for any national office."

There's no point in his potlicking just now. But whatever his decision, it will have to come by Feb. 8, Ohio's filing deadline.

WILL HAVE DELEGATES

There's little doubt that he'll have delegates on the ballot to make him favorite son. To go to the convention as a sure-shot candidate for governor, controlling the state delegation, would give him his strongest national potential, dopesters think.

As an indication as to how he stands with what is left of Ohio's Democratic machine, here's his comment on entering as favorite son, a role he refused in 1954:

"I will not have the Ohio delegation controlled by machine bosses whose sole purpose is spoils and patronage even if I have to be a candidate myself."

THE LONE WOLF

They call him a lone wolf. They charge he isn't a "team player" and that he appoints as many Republicans as Democrats to jobs. Some comment by Democratic precinct workers won't bear repeating.

But based purely on his actions, Lausche appears to be a politician who never got over being a judge. He had a brilliant career on the Cleveland bench.

Son of naturalized Slovenian parents, he was born in Cleveland. At 12 he became breadwinner for the family. His first job was a lamp lighter for the city. For a while he played third base on minor league ball teams.

WAS A JUDGE

He got into politics with an appointment to a municipal judgeship. From popular judge he became Cleveland's mayor. This led to the governorship.

His harassment of the state's gamblers, the endless battle for hospitals, schools and institutions, his struggle to keep taxes down and spend wisely all stem from his early career—both his precarious family life and his experiences with the seamy side learned in the courtroom.

He gave Democratic politicians their biggest shock in 1950. Indicating he might vote for Senator Taft's re-election, he left his own party's Joseph T. Ferguson high and dry.

It is strange that Lausche's early support comes from the South since he's a Catholic, though his wife is a Protestant. It was the South that sent Catholic Al Smith to complete defeat in 1928.

RELIGION NOT OBSTACLE

"In my early campaigns," says "In my early campaigns," s Lausche on this point, "the machine politicians who opposed me used religion as an issue. With each succeeding campaign there was less emphasis until it has practically disappeared."

But it remains the big question mark on the governor's political balance sheet.

If golf is a political asset, Lausche has a bagful. His athletic background shows itself in his game. Just 60 in November, he has almost never been sick. His last examination showed him sound of wind, limb and heart.

He has a larruping drive and shoots in the mid-70's. His golf genius is in studying a green. The judge again, he hems and haws searching the evidence, then steps up and taps the ball in faultlessly.

GOV. FRANK LAUSCHE: "They'll have me looking at the stars."

Pilots' Strike Threat Held for Negotiation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A strike threat by Western Air Lines pilots is being held in abeyance and negotiations with the company will resume today, the company said.

A walkout would involve 267 pilots. At issue is the amount of an annuity demanded by the AFL-CIO Airline Pilots Assn. The pilots voted several weeks ago to authorize a walkout between Dec. 5 and 15. A company spokesman said there would be no strike today and expressed belief the union would give advance notice if a strike hour is set.

An official of another union said that office and reservations workers and luggage loaders are preparing to walk out tomorrow.

Urguayan President in Chicago Hospital

CHICAGO (AP) — President Luis Batlle-Berres of Uruguay was in a hospital today suffering from what was described as "extreme exhaustion."

A spokesman said the visiting 57-year-old president also "apparently has a bleeding ulcer." He added, "The president's general condition is excellent."

Batlle-Berres was taken to Wesley Memorial Hospital last night after he complained of not feeling well at a dinner in his honor at the Chicago Club.

The spokesman said all the president's appointments and visits for at least the next two days have been canceled.

State Tries to Replenish Pine Martens in Woods

LANSING (AP) — Michigan is trying to re-establish the pine marten in northern forests.

Martens were once common in when heavilywooded areas were logged.

$25,000 Blaze Hits Home Being Built

CITY OF SYLVAN LAKE, MICHIGAN
ORDINANCE NO. 50
(Adopted December 8, 1955)

An Ordinance to provide for the issuance and sale of revenue bonds to complete the acquisition of a Water Supply System for the City of Sylvan Lake, Michigan; to provide for the retirement and security of said bonds; and to provide for other matters relative to said system and said bonds.

Whereas, the Council of the City of Sylvan Lake did on May 12, 1954, determine to acquire a water supply system for said city at an estimated cost of $225,000; and pursuant to authorization by the electors, did issue Water Improvement Special Assessment Bonds dated June 1, 1955, in the sum of $100,000, to defray a part of the cost of the water mains in said system and did issue general obligation Water Bonds, dated June 1, 1955, in the sum of $125,000 to defray the remainder of the cost of said system; and

Whereas, the amount of the original estimate of $225,000 is not sufficient to complete the acquisition of said water supply system because of increased costs and the requirement of the State Health Department that the system must include a water storage tank; and

Whereas, it is necessary to raise the additional sum of $50,000 to complete the said water supply system;

Therefore, the City of Sylvan Lake (Oakland County, Michigan) Ordains:

Section 1. Whenever used in this ordinance or in the bonds to be issued hereunder, except when otherwise indicated by the context:

(a) The term "city" shall be construed to mean the said City of Sylvan Lake.

(b) The term "council" shall be construed to mean the Council of said City, the legislative and governing body thereof.

(c) The term "project" shall be construed to mean the water supply system to be completed pursuant to this ordinance.

(d) The term "water supply system" shall be construed to include all plants, works, instrumentalities and properties (as the same shall from time to time exist), used or useful in connection with the obtaining of a water supply, the treatment of water and/or distribution of water, by the city.

(e) The term "system" shall be deemed to refer to the water supply system of the city.

(f) The term "revenues" and "net revenues" shall be construed as defined in Section 3 of Act No. 94, Michigan Public Acts of 1933, as now amended.

Section 2. The Council hereby reaffirms its former determination of the necessity of acquiring a water supply system for the city, said system to consist of 2 supply wells, 2 pump houses equipped with pumps and appurtenances, 1 storage tank, and water mains, fire hydrants and appurtenances all substantially in accordance with maps, plans and specifications prepared by Lewis M. Wrenn, registered professional engineer and heretofore approved by this Council, which maps, plans and specifications are now on file with the City Clerk and are hereby re-approved and re-adopted.

Section 3. The Council does hereby adopt the said engineer's estimate of 30 years and upwards as the period of usefulness of said project and also that said engineer's estimate of $275,000.00 as the cost of said project, including 1 year's capitalized interest upon the bonds herein authorized therefor, both of which estimates are on file with the City Clerk.

Section 4. There are hereby authorized to be issued and sold pursuant to the provision of Act No. 94, Michigan Public Acts of 1933, as amended, revenue bonds in the aggregate principal sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), for the purpose of paying the cost of the completion of said project. Said bonds shall be known as "Water Revenue Bonds;" shall be dated as of February 1, 1956; shall be numbered consecutively in the direct order of their maturities from 1 to 50, both inclusive; shall be coupon bonds in the denomination of $1,000 each; shall be registerable as to principal only, in the manner hereinafter set forth; in the form; shall bear interest at a rate or rates to be hereafter determined not exceeding 4½% per annum, payable on July 1, 1956, and thereafter semi-annually on the first days of January and July in each year, and shall mature on July first in each year as follows: $1,000 in each of the years 1958 thru 1960, $2,000 in each of the years 1961 and 1962, $3,000 in each of the year 1963 thru 1975 and $4,000 in the year 1976. The bonds of said issue maturing in the years 1962 thru 1976, shall be subject to redemption prior to maturity, at the option of the city, in inverse numerical order, on any one or more interest payment dates on and after July 1, 1961 provided, that no bonds less than the entire issue then outstanding shall be called for redemption at any time prior to July 1, 1956. Each bond called to be redeemed shall be redeemed at the par value thereof and accrued interest, plus a premium in accordance with the following schedule, to-wit:

$35 if called to be redeemed on or after July 1, 1961 but prior to July 1, 1966
$20 if called to be redeemed on or after July 1, 1966 but prior to July 1, 1968

Bonds so called for redemption shall not bear interest after the date fixed for redemption, provided funds are on hand with the paying agent to redeem the same.

The principal of said bonds and the interest thereon shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at such bank or trust company as shall be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds, upon presentation and surrender of said bonds and attached coupons as they severally mature.

Section 5. The Mayor and City Clerk of the city shall execute said bonds for and on behalf of the city by respectively signing and countersigning the same and the City Clerk shall affix the seal of the city thereto. The Mayor and City Clerk shall execute the interest coupons to be attached to said bonds by causing to be affixed thereto their facsimile signatures. The Treasurer of the city shall deliver said bonds and attached coupons to the purchaser thereof as hereafter determined by the Council upon receipt of the purchase price therefor.

Section 6. The bonds herein authorized shall be sold in the manner provided in Section 12 of Act No. 94, Michigan Public Acts of 1933, as amended.

Section 7. Said bonds and attached coupons shall not be a general obligation of the city and shall not be an indebtedness of the city within any state constitutional provision or statutory limitation or within any charter limitation. The principal of and interest on said bonds shall be payable solely from the net revenues derived from the operation of the system, including future improvements, enlargements and extensions thereof. To secure the payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds issued hereunder and on any additional bonds of equal standing issued as hereinafter provided, there is hereby created in favor of the holders of said bonds and the interest coupons pertaining thereto, and each of such holders, a first lien (by said Act No. 94, Michigan Public Acts of 1933 as amended, made a statutory lien) upon the net revenues from the said system, including future improvements, enlargements and extensions thereof. The net revenues so pledged shall be and remain subject to said lien until the payment in full of the principal of and interest on said bonds.

Section 8. The holder or holders of any of the bonds or interest coupons herein authorized to be issued, shall have all the rights and remedies given by law and particularly by said Act No. 94, Michigan Public Acts of 1933, as amended, for the collection and enforcement of said bonds and coupons and the security therefor, including the right to have a receiver appointed for the system in event of default on the part of the city in the performance of the terms of the bond contract.

Section 9. The system shall be operated upon the basis of a fiscal year beginning on July first of each year and ending on June thirtieth of the following year.

Section 10. The operation, maintenance and management of the system shall be under the immediate supervision and control of the City Manager or of such officer or board as shall be designated or created by the Council and subject to its control.

Section 11. Except as herein otherwise provided, water to be furnished by the system to each premises shall be metered by a meter installed and controlled by the city. Charges for water service to each premises within the city connected with the water supply system shall be as follows:

(a) A minimum quarterly charge entitling the consumer to use up to 2,000 gallons of water in each quarter, shall be made depending upon the size of meter used, as follows:,

Size	Minimum Quarterly Charge
¾ inch meter	$ 4.00
¾ inch meter	5.50
1 inch meter	7.00
1½ inch meter	12.00
2 inch meter	17.00
3 inch meter	27.00
4 inch meter	52.00

(b) For all water used during any quarterly period in excess of 2,000 gallons, the following charges shall be made for such excess water:

2,000 to 16,000 gallons at $0.34 per 1,000 gallons or fraction thereof

16,000 gallons and over at $0.16 per 1,000 gallons or fraction thereof.

(c) Buildings having more than one tenant supplied through one water service will be charged a minimum rate per each of one-half the minimum rate per each additional apartment, office or other tenant in excess of one.

(d) Except as otherwise provided in this ordinance, rates for special supply or for temporary supply for any purpose shall be fixed by the City Manager.

Charges for water service to premises outside the city shall be fixed by the Council, but shall be not less than those charged to premises within the city.

The city shall pay for all water used by it at the foregoing rates, except that for fire hydrant service, the charge shall be sixty dollars ($60.00) per year for each hydrant in the city. Charges against the city shall be payable in quarterly installments from the current funds of the city or from the proceeds of taxes, which the city, within constitutional limitations, is hereby authorized and required to levy in an amount sufficient for that purpose.

The cost of water service connections from the city water mains to private premises shall not be paid from the proceeds of the bond issue or from the revenues of the system.

Section 12. No free service shall be furnished by the system to the city or to any person, firm or corporation, public or private, or to any public agency or instrumentality. Charges for services furnished by the system shall be billed and collected quarterly or oftener, as shall be determined by the Council. Such charges shall become due at such times, not exceeding 30 days after the reading of the water meter, as shall be established by resolution of the Council, and if such charges are not paid on or before such due date, then a penalty of 10% shall be added thereto plus 1% for each month of delinquency beyond the first month. In the event that the charges for any such services furnished to any premises shall not be paid within 60 days after the due date thereof, then all services furnished by the system to such premises shall be discontinued. Services so discontinued shall not be restored until all sums then due and owing, including penalties, shall be paid, plus a shut-off and turn-on charge of $4.00.

Section 13. Charges for services furnished by the system to any premises shall be a lien thereon, and on May 1st of each year the person or agency charged with the management of said system, shall certify any such charges which have been delinquent six (6) months or more, to the City Assessor who shall enter the same upon the next tax roll against the premises to which such services shall have been rendered, and said charges shall be collected and said lien shall be enforced in the same manner as provided in respect to taxes assessed upon such rolls; provided, that when a tenant is responsible for the payment of any such charge against any premises, and the Council is so notified in writing, with a true copy of the lease of the affected premises (if there be one) attached, then no such charge shall become a lien against such premises from and after the date of such notice. However, in event of the filing of such notice, no further service shall be rendered by the system to such premises until a cash deposit equal to two times the average quarterly charge to such premises shall have been made as security for the payment of charges thereto.

Section 14. The rates hereinbefore established are estimated to be sufficient to provide for the payment of the expenses of administration and operation of the system and such expenses for the maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order to provide for the payment of the interest upon and the principal of all bonds payable therefrom, as and when the same shall become due and payable, and for the creation of a reserve for the payment of principal and interest as required in this ordinance, and to provide for such other expenditures and funds for the system as are required by this ordinance. Rates shall be fixed and revised from time to time by the Council so as to produce the foregoing amounts, and the city covenants and agrees to maintain at all times such rates for services furnished by the system as shall be sufficient to provide for the foregoing.

Section 15. The revenues of the system are hereby pledged for the purpose of the following funds, and as collected shall be set aside into a fund to be known as the "Receiving Fund" of the system, and shall be transferred therefrom periodically into separate and special funds as follows:

1. Operation and Maintenance Fund. Out of the revenues in the Receiving Fund, there shall be first set aside in each quarter (3 months) into a fund to be designated "Operation and Maintenance Fund," a sum sufficient to provide for the payment for the next quarter (3 months) of all current expenses of administration and operation of the system and such current expenses for the maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the system in good repair and working order. The Council shall, prior to the beginning of each fiscal year, adopt a budget covering the foregoing expenses for such year, and such expenses shall not exceed the amount specified in said budget except by a vote of ⅔ of the members of the Council declaring the necessity thereof.

2. Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. Out of the remaining revenues in the Receiving Fund, there shall be next set aside in each quarter into a fund to be designated "Bond and Interest Redemption Fund," a sum proportionately sufficient to provide for the payment of the interest become due on the next maturing principal and interest on each issue of bonds then payable from the revenues of the system; provided, that the amount so set aside for interest on the bonds herein authorized, in each quarter during the first six (6) months of each fiscal year, shall not be less than one-half (½) of the total amount of interest (not capitalized) maturing on the following January first, and in each quarter during the last six (6) months of each fiscal year, shall not be less than one-half (½) of the total amount of interest (not capitalized) maturing on the following July first, and the amount so set aside for principal on the bonds herein authorized, in each quarter during each fiscal year, shall not be less than one-fourth (¼) of the sum of principal maturing on the July first immediately following such fiscal year, and if there shall be any deficiency in the amount previously set aside, then the amount of such deficiency shall be added to the current requirement. In addition thereto, there shall also be set aside in quarterly installments for the purpose of creating a reserve for said Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, for the bonds herein authorized, a sum not less than $500 during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1957, and thereafter $1,000 per year until said reserve shall equal at least $4,500, and if at any time thereafter said reserve shall be less than $4,500 then there shall be set aside in said reserve quarterly a sum sufficient to restore said reserve to $4,500 at the earliest possible time. If any additional bonds of equal standing shall be issued, the authorizing ordinance shall provide for comparable reserve therefor. Moneys in said Bond and Interest Redemption Fund may be used for the redemption of bonds; provided, that except in case of refunding, no bonds less than all the outstanding bonds of said issue shall be called for redemption unless the city shall have on hand in said fund sufficient moneys therefor not otherwise appropriated or pledged, in excess of the amount of interest and principal maturing within the next eighteen (18) months from the redemption date, and for the purpose of determining the amount on hand, moneys in the reserve shall not be considered as appropriated or pledged. In any case where moneys are available for the redemption of bonds, such moneys may be used instead to purchase bonds on the open market at the best price or prices obtainable, but not in excess of the then redemption price. When the principal amount owing upon any bonds shall be reduced to the amount of the reserve therefor, then the principal of such bonds shall be paid from such reserve.

3. Replacement Fund. Out of the remaining revenues in the Receiving Fund, there shall be next set aside in equal quarterly installments in a fund to be designated "Replacement Fund", a sum not less than $500 per year, commencing with the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1958, until such fund shall reach at least $5,000, to build up a reserve for any replacements to the system which may become necessary from time to time. Whenever moneys shall be used from said fund to make such replacements, said fund shall be restored to the sum of $5,000 as soon as possible thereafter.

4. Improvement Fund. Out of the remaining revenues in the Receiving Fund, there may be set aside in any quarter, after meeting the requirements for the foregoing funds for such quarter, in a fund to be designated "Improvement Fund," such sum as the council may deem advisable to be used for improvements, enlargements, extensions and repairs to the system.

5. Surplus Fund. Revenues remaining in said Receiving Fund at the end of any fiscal year after all periodical transfers have been made therefrom as above required, shall be deemed to be surplus and may be left in the Receiving Fund or may be transferred to a fund to be designated "Surplus Fund." Moneys in said Surplus Fund from time to time may be transferred to one or more of the foregoing funds or may be used for any purpose relating to the system; provided, however, that if at any time there shall exist any default in making any periodical transfer to any of the above mentioned funds, then such default shall be rectified so far as possible by the transfer of moneys from said Surplus Fund. If any such default shall exist as to more than one fund at any one time, then such transfers shall be made in the order in which such funds are listed above.

No disbursements shall be made from said Receiving Fund except to the special funds as above provided.

Section 16. In the event that moneys in the Receiving Fund are insufficient to provide for the current requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, any moneys and/or securities in other funds of the system shall be transferred, first, to the Operation and Maintenance Fund, and, second, to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, to the extent of any deficits therein. Any amount so transferred from the Replacement Fund shall be replaced as soon as possible.

Section 17. All moneys in the several funds of the system except those in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, shall be deposited with the Community National Bank of Pontiac, Michigan. All moneys from time to time in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including reserve moneys) shall be kept on hand with the bank or trust company at which the principal and interest on the herein authorized bonds are currently payable. The moneys in the Receiving Fund, in the Operation and Maintenance Fund and in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, shall each be kept in a separate depository account. Moneys in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, over and above those being accumulated for the payment of the next maturing principal and interest, and moneys in any other fund except the Receiving Fund and the Operation and Maintenance Fund, may be invested in United States Government obligations. In the event of any such investment, the securities representing the same shall be kept on deposit with the bank or trust company having the deposit of the fund from which such purchase was made and the income therefrom shall become a part of such fund.

Section 18. The City hereby covenants and agrees with the holder or holders, from time to time of the bonds herein proposed to be issued, that it will punctually perform all duties with reference to the system and said bonds required by the constitution and laws of the State of Michigan and the charter of the city and by this ordinance; that it will construct the project herein provided for in substantial accordance with the maps, plans and specifications hereinbefore referred to, and will have the same in operation on or before the 1st day of July, 1956; that it will not sell, lease, mortgage or in any manner dispose of the system or any substantial part thereof, until all bonds payable from the revenues thereof shall have been paid in full; and that it will not permit any person, firm or corporation to compete with it in the furnishing of water to premises within its corporate limits. Said city further covenants and agrees with the holders of said bonds that it will maintain said system in good condition and operate the same in an efficient manner and at a reasonable cost, so long as any of said bonds are outstanding; that it will maintain insurance on the system for the benefit of the holders of said bonds in an amount which usually would be carried by private companies engaged in a similar type of business; that it will prepare, keep and file such records, statements and accounts as may be required by Act No. 94, Michigan Public Acts of 1933, as now or hereafter amended; that it will promptly file with the original purchasers of said bonds a copy of each annual statement which it is required to file with the Municipal Finance Commission and will also file with such purchasers a copy of the Annual Audit of the system certified to by a Certified Public Accountant within 90 days after the close of each fiscal year; and that it will furnish a copy of the foregoing statement and audit to any bondholder upon payment of the actual cost of such copy. Any such audit shall be in such reasonable detail as will present the full financial condition of the system to the holders of bonds and shall include the auditor's comments on the manner in which the system's management has complied with the provisions of this ordinance in respect to the several funds of the system.

Section 19. While any of the bonds herein authorized to be issued shall be outstanding, no additional bonds payable from the revenues of the system shall be issued which shall have a prior or equal standing therewith, except as hereinafter provided. The city shall have the right to issue additional bonds payable from the net revenues of the system for the purpose of improving, adding to and/or extending the system which bonds when issued shall have equal standing with the bonds herein authorized; provided, that no such additional bonds of equal standing shall be issued unless the average actual or augmented net revenues for the three (3) fiscal years preceding the year in which the actual or augmented net revenues for the then last preceding fiscal year, whichever shall be the lower, shall be equal to at least 150% of the largest amount of principal and interest thereafter maturing in any fiscal year on the bonds then outstanding payable from the revenues of the system and on such additional bonds then being issued. The actual net revenues shall be used in making the foregoing determination unless the city shall raise the water rates at the time of authorizing such additional bonds, in which case the net revenues of the system for each of the last two preceding years shall be augmented to an amount reflecting the effect of such increase had the water billings during such years been at the increased rates. No such additional bonds shall be issued if the city shall then be in default in making any payments to the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. Permission by the Municipal Finance Commission of the State of Michigan (or such other state commission or agency as shall have jurisdiction over the issuance of municipal bonds) to issue such additional bonds shall constitute a conclusive presumption of the existence of conditions permitting the issuance thereof.

Section 20. The bonds and attached coupons herein authorized to be issued, shall be substantially in the following form, to-wit:

Income Taxation Hearings Begin

Retirement and Foreign Receivables to Be Seen by Congressional Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxation of income from abroad and from retirement funds comes up for congressional study today.

* * *

More experts were called in for panel discussions before the tax policy subcommittee of the joint committee on the economic report.

The group tomorrow will finish two weeks of hearings in its quest for general principals of taxation to help assure a stable and growing economy.

Scores of economists and tax experts have testified. All were asked last spring to do research on assigned subjects. Their papers already have been published in a compendium.

JOINT REPORT

The four studying U. S. taxation of income derived from foreign sources issued a joint report:

"United States taxation of foreign source income is cumbersome, formalistic and frequently inequitable."

It also said: "The present system also tends to discourage foreign expansion of direct investing companies by taking income withdrawn from one country for investment in another."

The four said the Treasury has issued no recent statistics on revenues from taxation of foreign source income. However, they said estimates from other sources showed the total tax revenue from such income in 1952 was between 900 million and a billion dollars. They said the total doubtless would be more than one billion in 1955.

* * *

A report on taxation of pensions and retirement funds said certain self-employed and professional persons are at a serious tax disadvantage because they are excluded from social security and cannot under present tax laws be covered by a qualified privately financed retirement fund. They thus miss the preferential tax treatment for money set aside for retirement, the researchers reported.

2 Dionne Quints Meet 2 Others in Hospital

MONTREAL (AP) — Two of the Dionne quintuplets are patients in a suburban Montreal hospital where the other two surviving quints are taking nurses' training. They were all described yesterday as being "in a happy mood."

* * *

Annette, who had been a student in a Nicolet, Que., school, entered the Hospital Notre Dame de l'Esperance in Ville St. Laurent Dec. 3 for an examination. Marie was admitted Nov. 26 for treatment after leaving a Quebec City convent where she had been training as a postulant. Yvonne and Cecile already were training as nurses at the hospital.

The fifth quint, Emilie, died last year.

Hospital authorities refused to discuss the condition of Marie and Annette except to say they are suffering from a nervous condition and need rest and privacy.

One doctor said Marie was tired and a little weak when she entered the hospital but added she is "much better now." He also said Annette needed rest when she was admitted.

* * *

Dr. G. Cousineau, hospital medical director, said: "It is a perfect atmosphere for them, united with their sisters. They are almost in a gay mood."

Marie has twice left the convent at Quebec City. A spokesman for the Dionne family last month said doctors had told Marie her life in the cloistered convent "was too hard for her frail health."

7 Jap Geisha Houses Get Tax Crackdown

TOKYO (AP)—Tokyo's tax office today attached seven of the city's most elegant geisha restaurants for $83,000 in back taxes.

* * *

The attachment suspends their legal titles to buildings and land and — worse yet — cuts off telephone service.

The restaurants — called "ryoriya" in Japanese — are invariably exquisite examples of classical Japanese architecture in the form of a feudal nobleman's pleasure villa.

They are the places where geisha, who live elsewhere, gather at night to sing, dance, pour rice wine and otherwise entertain tired businessmen.

* * *

According to popular belief, tax officials are supposed to have considerable knowledge of this type of establishment. Traditionally, the biggest businessmen take the tax men there to thresh out knotty problems of overassessment.

NOWATA, Okla., Dec. 15 (AP)—Nowata City manager G. F. Hill received a complaint a sow with a suckling pig was wandering loose in the town's outer business section. When city employes caught the sow, there were seven little pigs. "And all 24 hours old too," groaned Hill.

Hollywood Headlines:

Lucy and Andy Are Sure Careers Will Blend Well

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can a big league baseball player and a movie actress adjust their careers for a happy marriage?

Lucy Marlow and Andy Carey are convinced they can.

* * *

Lucy is the shapely, sweet-faced young beauty who scored as the starlet in "A Star Is Born." She is now being groomed for stardom by Columbia and is doing her first musical role opposite Frankie Laine in "He Died Laughing." Andy is a New York Yankee infielder.

"We're certain we can work out our schedules to be together most of the time," said Lucy between takes. "Right now I'm working while Andy is hunting and fishing. We see each other at dinner.

* * *

"In March, Andy will have to go to St.Petersburg for spring training, and I plan to go with him. Then he'll be living in New York until October, and I'll be there too. I'll come out to Hollywood whenever the studio wants me for a picture.

"I probably won't go with him when the team goes on the road. It doesn't seem to be the custom for the wives to go along, since the players are so busy traveling and playing. So when he's traveling, I'll call up Harry Cohn (her boss) and say, 'I'm ready to go to work.' Then he'll say — I hope — 'All right, come on out for the remake of "Camille."' Well, she can dream, can't she?

* * *

Lucy said she and Andy considered all the hazards before entering into their marriage. They met last year when he was visiting the Pasadena Playhouse as guest of Victor Jory, an avid Yankee fan. Andy asked about the pretty girl who was acting in a play with Mrs. Jory, and the actor introduced them. Andy asked if he could write Lucy, and she said yes.

* * *

During the seven months of the baseball season, their romance was carried on largely via letters, phone calls and gifts of coconuts, salt water taffy, etc., from Andy. They were married Oct. 6, two days after the Yankees lost the World Series to Brooklyn.

WASHINGTON—General George Custer's last stand on the Little Bighorn River, June 25, 1876, was made by some 225 troopers of the 7th United States Cavalry against more than 2,500 Sioux and Cheyenne warriors. The Indians attacked from a massed encampment of 12,000 to 15,000 people, the National Geographic Society relates in a new book on the American Indian.

Social Security Study Planned

Long Range Forecast Is Being Sought by Insurance Firms

NEW YORK (AP)—The life insurance industry is planning a broad study of social security in the U. S., with special emphasis on the long-range economic consequences, it has been disclosed.

Ray D. Murphy, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society and president of the Life Insurance Assn. of America, said an exploratory study on the subject is being made by a private research organization on a grant from the Life Insurance Assn.

He told the annual meeting of the Life Insurance Assn. that the preliminary check will be completed early next year, at which time a decision will be made on the projected broad study.

Murphy declared, "whether governmental social security is a good thing or a bad thing, whether it has been developed properly or improperly, we cannot go on adopting substantial increases in benefits under the law every even-numbered year without sooner or later reaching a point where social security becomes clearly harmful to the American people."

Owner Doesn't Care Who Puts Out Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Columbus firemen reported receiving a number of complaints last night after answering a call in neighboring Franklin Township.

"We have our own fire department," an irate feminine caller from the township was quoted as saying. "We're not part of Columbus and we don't need your help."

Acting Fire Chief Samuel Zaayer of Columbus said his men got to the scene before township firemen even pulled out of their station and had the flames doused before township fire fighters arrived.

City firemen answered the alarm he added, because county commissioners recently approved the township's annexation to Columbus.

James A. Reed, in whose apartment the blaze occurred, said he didn't care who put out the fire.

Trucker Speeds Along as Wheels Go It Alone

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — Ray Solomon drove nonchalantly down Sherman Way not realizing a pair of rear wheels from the dual set on his dump truck had gone sightseeing.

The wheels rolled 300 feet, sped across a lawn and crashed into the front room of a house. Mrs. Avedene Dernberger, standing in the kitchen, was not hurt.

A few blocks farther along, three motorists stopped Solomon and told him he had only half as many rear wheels as he thought.

The plush casino-hotel owes him the money for the balance of a four-week contract, the band leader stated in the suit filed yesterday in Superior Court. Spitalny was discharged after only two weeks, the suit stated.

Anti-Smog Law Saves Letters From Burning

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) —A suspected dope addict didn't burn a bag of mail he had just stolen, police said, because it was against the antismog law.

Officers reported recovering the letters yesterday from the back yard incinerator of Peter Joseph Couzzi, 23, who was booked on suspicions of violating narcotic laws.

Police quoted Couzzi as saying he didn't burn the evidence just before he was arrested "because I didn't know what the hours for burning trash were."

Santa Visits Handicapped Youths

They came from as far north as Lapeer and as far south as Ferndale—on crutches, in wheelchairs, carried on the arms of their parents or obliging volunteers.

In their hearts was the spirit of Christmas and on their faces the particular delight children show in the joy of a party—any and every party, but most of all one like this, where Santa is present, where there are balloons and clowns and gaily wrapped gifts.

The place was Stevens Hall in Pontiac and the occasion was the annual Christmas party for the handicapped, sponsored by the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children, yesterday afternoon.

There were supposed to be 185 children, but actually closer to 250 turned up, many of them with their parents.

They sang and their voices rang to the rafters. They laughed and clapped, they whistled and hooted —and when Santa appeared, they let out a cheer that could hardly be equaled at a college football game.

They couldn't dance around and play games as other children do. Instead they sat in chairs that jammed the hall and hooted when the fireman clown looked into their mouths for smoke and squealed when Bozo the second clown came forth with his terrible dragon.

They were wide-eyed when Mel Snyder, the "Balloon Man" whipped out dozens of balloons and began forming them into monstrous balloon hats, toys and novelties, and passing them out.

It took three station wagons and four men to truck in the load of gift packages and candies for the shining-eyed children. Each child received a gift chosen especially for him, and a big sack with a pound of candy, a pound of nuts and a huge Christmas orange. For the unexpected guests, there were gifts too—chosen and labeled to fit the age and sex of the child, so that none would go home disappointed.

Santa, in the person of Arthur Blakeslee of the Birmingham Rotary Club, greeted each child at the door for a personal conference, and later distributed the gifts with the assistance of a corps of 'helpers'. A special greeting to the youngsters was extended by L. C. Megee, president of the society, who also thanked the hundreds of people who had helped bring this extra Christmas cheer to the crippled children.

Behind the gala party was weeks of work on the part of the staff of the crippled children's society, as well as by members of over a score of civic and church groups.

Preparations began in October. Invitations were mailed to children whose names were in the files of the local society, county and city health departments, Sister Kenny and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and local and area school boards.

More than half the children had to be transported from all parts of the county, and volunteer drivers were recruited from area clubs and service organizations. Responsible for the party arrangements was Mrs. Elizabeth Kirkby, executive secretary of the sponsoring society, and the society's staff of teachers, therapists and office workers.

Gifts for the youngsters were donated by Pontiac's Iota Eta Chapter of Pi Omicron, Kappa Delta Sorority of South Oakland Alumnae, Alpha Chi Omega, Club 20 of Pontiac, the IAH group of Sashabaw Presbyterian Church, Ortonville's Mt. Bethel Methodist Church, Y's Men's Club of Birmingham, Berkley Women's Club, Oak Park Kiwanis, and Rotary and Rotary Anns from Birmingham, Clarkston, Ortonville, Oxford, and other communities.

Evergreen garlands which decorated the hall were donated by the House of Evergreens and the mammoth Christmas tree was given by Dick Worthley of Birmingham. The Junior League of Birmingham and Birmingham Rotary Anns decorated the hall and the tree.

It took a lot of work. But it was the children's big day—and those who worked to make it so found out it was their big day too when they saw the joy it brought to the host of excited children.

BIG ORDER FOR SANTA — Connie Lou Eckalbar of Pontiac and Gerald Attfield of Cass Lake ponder the vital question of what they want for Christmas before putting in their order with Santa, at a Christmas party for handicapped children held yesterday in Stevens Hall, Pontiac. Santa, in the person of Arthur Blakeslee of the Birmingham Rotary Club, promised a big Christmas to the wistful youngsters. Over 200 crippled and handicapped youngsters attended the festive party, sponsored by the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children. Clubs and civic groups worked with the society to make the party a big success.

Cotton Farmers Upset Texan Whiskey Runners

WALTERS, Okla. (AP) — Four "badge-toting" farmers in southwestern Oklahoma are throwing a crimp in the state's bootlegging business.

* * *

Cotton County Sheriff Bill Dyer and his three assistants were "just a bunch of cotton farmers" a year ago.

* * *

Now they're fast acquiring a reputation as "experts" at intercepting bootleggers hauling contraband cargoes from Texas to cities in constitutionally dry Oklahoma.

Last May the newly elected sheriff and one of his deputies, David Hooper, were riding along on a county road when two cars sped by them, throwing dust in their faces.

"They looked suspicious," Dyer said. "So we took after them." The two motorists were Lawton bootleggers and the two cars were loaded with more than 30 cases of illegal booze.

CAREER LAUNCHED

That prize haul launched Dyer on a career of catching whisky runners. He and Hooper, along with Undersheriff Alvin Clifton and Deputy Bob Simpson, take turns in keeping a watch on roads extending into Oklahoma from nearby Wichita Falls, Tex., a popular buying place for bootleggers.

* * *

This week Cotton County reaped its first benefits from the sheriff's crusade. Dyer sold 84 cases of confiscated whisky, gin and vodka and 48 cases of wine to a Dallas firm, J. R. Ray Co. The whisky, gin and vodka brought $30 a case, and the wine $2.

* * *

Under state law, money from the sale of confiscated liquor goes to the county school fund. The whisky must be sealed and taken out of the state.

* * *

There's no doubt that Dyer is enjoying his first year as an Oklahoma peace officer.

* * *

"Not a one of us has ever had a day's experience before," he said. "We're just a bunch of cotton farmers. But I don't want them (the bootleggers) to think they can come down here and run over me."

Proposed Axle Truck Levy Will Make State Road Taxes Equitable

LANSING (AP) — A joint legislative highway committee has been told Michigan should adopt the controversial "ton-mile" truck tax now in effect in Ohio or revise its system of weight taxes.

* * *

Richard M. Zettel, University of California economist hired by the joint legislative committee on highway needs, said current truck taxes are not equitable.

If the ton-mile tax or an alternate plan were adopted, he said, the state might afford to cut $1 from the cost of car license plates.

The ton-mile tax, also used in Oregon and New York, is based on the weight of the truck and the number of miles it travels.

Zettel called these factors "basic" to cost of highways.

He said Michigan's present system of taking trucks, based primarily on their weight, is unfair to operators of smaller trucks and favors owners of large, combination type vehicles.

The ton-mile tax has been vigorously opposed by some elements of the trucking industry. A ton-mile tax bill was introduced by Rep. Frederic J. Marshall (R-Allen) in the last session of the Legislature, but defeated in committee.

* * *

Marshall said shortly after the report was made public that he would reintroduce the bill when the Legislature convenes in regular session Jan. 11.

He said he still had to work out a system of rates, but that the tax would apply only to trucks of more than 14,000 pounds.

INCREASES STATE REVENUE

Zettel said a ton-mile tax would give the state an additional five million dollars a year, but that if it were adopted the present Public Service Commission mileage tax should be repealed.

This would leave the state with a net increase of some 3.7 million dollars in highway revenue, which would be used to lower car registration fees or for highway construction.

* * *

If the state does adopt a ton-mile tax, Zettel said, it should be a modified one, exempting private passenger cars. Private cars would continue to pay only current registration fees, with a possible $1 reduction.

Zettel proposed also increasing diesel fuel taxes from six to eight cents a gallon. The present diesel fuel tax of six cents is the same as the gasoline tax.

Increasing the diesel tax would re-establish a differential between the gas and diesel taxes which was in effect from 1951 to this year, he said.

"The purpose of the differential," Zettel explained, "is to require payments from diesel vehicles more nearly equal to the payments on gasoline-powered vehicles, which otherwise are required to pay more because they use more fuel in similar operations."

If the ton-mile tax is not approved, present truck tax inequities could be ironed out by adjusting the current weight tax, Zettel said.

SMALL TRUCK HIT HARD

The economist said non-farm trucks of smaller size are paying too much in taxes now in relation to big semi-trailer trucks.

The weight tax should be cut on smaller trucks, increased on larger trucks and left intact on farm trucks, Zettel said.

Any adjustment in truck weight taxes should be spread over a 3-5 year period to "cushion the impact," he said.

Zettel said he favored the ton-mile tax over the adjustment of weight taxes because any weight taxes are "bound to involve serious inequities."

"Inevitably, high mileage vehicles (most often those operated by for-hire carriers) secure an advantage, while low mileage vehicles pay excessively in terms either of highway use or of their contributions to highway costs," he said.

On the other hand, Zettel added, a ton-mile tax is more expensive to administer and is "irritating to users."

"It will be for the Legislature, of course, to balance the advantages and disadvantages of mileage taxation as against weight taxation," he said.

Zettel also reviewed a report he made earlier on financing a 7.5 billion highway program over the next 20 years.

The program was developed by the Automotive Safety Foundation of Washington, D. C., a non-profit research group.

Zettel said the program could be financed without raising the gas tax in Michigan unless a multi-billion federal road program is defeated.

* * *

If the program fails to pass Congress, he said, the state will have to increase the gas tax a cent a gallon in order to finance the highway improvement program.

Stock Trading Slows in Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—Trading slowed down today as the stock market registered a mild decline.

Prices in the early afternoon ranged from 1 to 3 points lower to 1 to 2 points higher at the extremes.

Trading was at a pace better than 2,000,000 shares, but it didn't come near the 2,670,000 shares traded in yesterday's lower market.

Aircrafts were higher on favorable news of spending by the government for defense and by private industry for transportation.

Higher prices without any particular buoyancy appeared in the movie issues, radio-televisions, mail order issues, and utilities.

Mostly lower were the steels, motors, railroads, and chemicals.

Stocks losing ground included Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Caterpillar Tractor, RCA, Du Pont, American Tobacco, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Texas Co., Eastern Airlines, and U. S. Gypsum.

* * *

Higher were Montgomery Ward, U. S. Rubber, Boeing, Glenn Martin, Republic Aviation, Philco, and Westinghouse Electric.

General Motors, a heavily traded stock in any market, opened a little late today on a block of 8,000 shares off ⅝ at 46½.

The decline in the stock market has been going on for about a week with a lot of irregularity shown in all sections. Tax selling and switching has had a hand in the irregularity.

At noon today the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 30 cents at $178.10. Yesterday it lost $1.30.

Kinsel Drug Store Slated to Occupy Walgreen Site

Plans to establish a drug store in Pontiac's downtown area were disclosed yesterday by officials of the Kinsel Drug Co. The store will be located in the 67 N. Saginaw St. building presently occupied by Walgreen's.

The Detroit area firm will take possession of the site February 1 and is expected to begin operations upon completion of an extensive remodeling program, according to Vice President Arthur R. Hoffman.

G. W. Gallant, manager of the Walgreen store, states that no closing date has yet been selected. The drug firm's 20-year lease on the building will expire Feb. 1. The site is owned by the Buckner Finance Co.

Gallant said that efforts are currently in progress to secure a location in the downtown area. Walgreen's will remove its entire stock and all equipment when it vacates the building.

The Kinsel Co. has been in business for 67 years and has 23 stores in Southeastern Michigan.

Hoffman said that the firm will completely remodel both the interior and exterior of the structure. The Kinsel official expressed the hope that the store would be able to open by March 1.

Grain Prices Move Narrowly

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains held within narrow price limits in routine dealings on the Board of Trade today.

The market failed to make any response to news that government surpluses of wheat and corn would be made available to welfare agencies for shipments to needy people abroad. The reason was that the amount of grain these agencies can handle is relatively insignificant.

Wheat moved ahead fractionally early and then gave up its gains. Soybeans followed the same pattern. Corn never was able to make much forward progress.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, December $2.11¼; corn ½ lower to ⅛ higher, December $1.25⅛; oats ¼ to ¾ lower, December 63⅝; rye ¼ lower to ¼ higher, December $1.15¾; soybeans ¼ lower to ¼ higher, January $2.37, and lard 7 to 8 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Sports Safety Glass

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—Lindsay Root of the State Highway Department was giving an eye test to a man in connection with a safe-driving program. "Did you know you can hardly see with your left eye?" asked Root. "Sure," the man answered. "It's glass."

Weapons Spending Seen as Tax Cut Preventative

NEW YORK (AP) — Push-button warfare comes high. The indicated rise of one billion dollars in spending for defense dims the hope of businessmen today that the heavy load of taxation that business carries will be lightened.

The increasing costliness of today's supercomplex weapons may also cut the chances of the individual taxpayer for much relief soon.

* * *

If you must blame someone, blame the scientists—their ideas grow costlier.

* * *

Business hopes for tax relief had grown out of the business boom itself. Gross earnings are so remarkably good and payrolls so high that the U.S. Treasury stands to take in next spring a billion or two more in tax collections than it had counted on when the budget was drawn up a year ago.

This seemed sure to balance the budget and perhaps leave room for tax relief—most likely at the individual income tax level, and possibly at the corporate income and excise tax level.

That was before the Russians turned their smiles in other directions and returned to calling Uncle Sam and his friends bad names. Defense needs are more apparent now than in the days of the "spirit of Geneva."

* * *

But the real coup de grace to cuts in defense costs was given by the scientists.

* * *

New weapons in this age of atomic warfare and guided missiles come with ever higher price tags.

Businessmen have seen the scientists do the same thing to them.

The days when a firm made one product year after year—maybe generation after generation— are fast fading.

This year's gasoline has a higher octane rating than last. The drugs that grandfather used are overshadowed on the shelves by ones he never heard of. The kitchen you consider a simple necessity would have been unbelievable to great-grandmother.

The cars, appliances and other durable goods you buy today cost more because today's gadgets are more complicated and scientifically advanced than the ones Dad bought in the good old days—ones that you wouldn't buy today even if they were offered at a comparably lower price.

Business Notes

The election of Willcox B. Adsit to a vice presidency in the General Motors Acceptance Corp. was announced today by President Charles G. Stradella. Adsit will be in charge of public relations.

The new vice president has been manager of the New York office of the General Motors department of public relations since 1946. He joined the corporation in 1930 after graduating from Williams College.

The appointment will become effective Jan. 1.

Submits Low Road Bid

The Detroit Concrete Products Co. was low bidder at $165,132 for a contract to resurface 4.2 miles of M59 from Livernois road westerly to 1,500 feet west of the Clinton River, the State Highway Department said today.

Because of soot and dirt in the air, city fogs generally last longer and are more dense than those in open country.

Government to Soften Restrictions on Credit

WASHINGTON (INS)—In a new relaxation of credit restrictions, the government has an estimated one billion dollars available in additional money to spur home mortgage financing in 1956.

The Federal Home Loan Bank board adapted a new policy of "standby credit" designed to soften curbs imposed last year. Under the new policy, the board may loan to each of its member savings and loan associations an amount equal to five per cent of its deposits, provided total advances do not exceed 10 per cent of the accounts.

GM Parts Advertising Draws FTC Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Motors Corp. has been charged by the government with falsely advertising that "genuine Chevrolet" replacement parts are better than parts competitors sell without the "genuine" label.

GM had no immediate comment on the complaint, issued yesterday by the Federal Trade Commission.

FTC said GM buys many Chevrolet parts from other manufacturers, some of whom design the parts themselves and sell to others besides GM.

These parts, said FTC, "are at least equal in all material respects" to those GM sells, but GM advertises the parts it buys as "genuine" with the implication that all others are not as good.

GM has 30 days to file an answer to the FTC complaint. A hearing before an FTC examiner was set for Feb. 14 in Detroit.

100th Program to Be Televised

Vital Statistics Include Few Deaths, Divorces and Marriages

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—A fellow was sitting around the other day with John A. Aaron and Jesse Zousmer, coproducers with Edward R. Murrow of CBS-TV's Person to Person, when he thought up a question: "Where are they now?"

* * *

In a kind of chorus Aaron and Zousmer replied: "They're just about where they were."

This game of "Where are they now?" was occasioned by the fact that Murrow will conduct his 100th Person to Person interview program Friday night. He will look in at the Chicago home of Kim Novak and the New York home of columnist Leonard Lyons.

* * *

Statistics are always deceptive, but maybe you can conclude something about the lives of the famous and near famous in America after Aaron and Zousmer finish running through the 199 names Murrow has interviewed in these past two years. Here's what they say:

More than 95 per cent still live in the same homes. Although two couples have hit rocky marital roads since Person to Person looked in on them, there has been only one divorce—that of Fleur and Gardner Cowles. Only two have died—Walter White, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Imogene Coca's husband Robert Burton.

* * *

There have been quite a few marriages since a visit by Murrow: Eddie Fisher to Debbie Reynolds; Jayne Meadows to Steve Allen . . . Mohammed Ali, Pakistan ambassador to the United States, now has two wives instead of one. Groucho Marx has married again (but has only one wife). So have Supreme Court Justice William O Douglas and Renee Jeanmarie.

* * *

A few generals and the like have retired, but others in arts, politics and the world of entertainment are still running along like Tennyson's brook. In fact, there's an interesting trend toward greater success after you appear on Person to Person. Krishna Menon, Ethel Waters, Lillian Gish, Ernie Kovats are a few of those who have enjoyed upswings in public notice. David Sarnoff, who was merely president of RCA when interviewed, is now chairman of the board. George Meany, who was merely president of the AFL, is now president of the AFL-CIO.

* * *

So it goes. It seems that famous people generally just plug along at the same job while living in the same house with the same wife and get famouser and famouser.

State Wildlife Food Project Gets Okay

LANSING (AP)—An attorney general's opinion authorized the State Conservation Department today to make long - range sharecropping contracts with farmers to provide food on wildlife projects.

The department said it ha sbeen using one-year agreements on a federal - state cooperative wildlife project in the Shiawassee flats in Saginaw County. It asked authority to make five-year contracts to coincide with federal programs.

The department said it plans to develop a major portion of the area for agricultural crop production, allowing the sharecropper to harvest his part of the crop and leave the state's share as wildlife food.

The department said such an arrangement would permit crop rotation to improve soil fertility, justify farmers in adding drainage and other improvements and provide more stable operations.

A traffic death occurs in the U.S. about every 16 minutes around the clock.

Science Instructors Needed in Michigan

KALAMAZOO (AP)—A conference attended by 25 science and mathematics instructors from six Michigan colleges and universities has expressed alarm over classroom and teacher shortage in their fields.

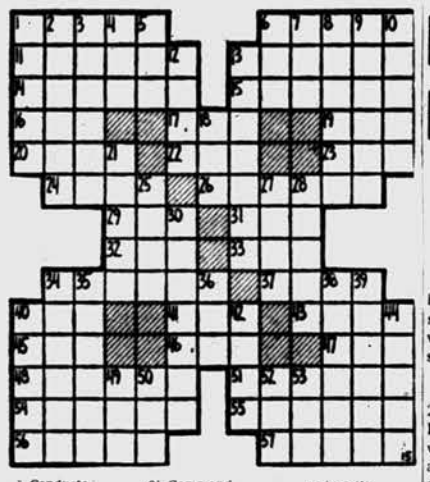

The instructors are from the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Wayne University, Michigan Normal, Central Michigan and Western Michigan.

The conference said yesterday high schools in the United States have dropped physics from their curriculum for lack of instructors. It also said only five college students in Michigan now are doing their college-sponsored practice teaching in the sciences.

The group said the teacher shortage can mostly be blamed on low wages paid as compared to those paid by industry.

Gettysburg to Light Yule Trees Tonight

GETTYSBURG (AP)—The Christmas lights go on tonight in Gettysburg.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower have been invited to attend, and a balcony overlooking Lincoln Square has been set aside for them but they are expected instead to spend a quiet evening at home.

The Eisenhowers have been avoided most social activities and plan to continue doing so for the remainder of the week.

The outlook now is that the President and Mrs. Eisenhower will return to Washington around the middle of next week to spend Christmas at the White House and, it may be, to welcome their fourth grandchild. Their daughter-in-law Barbara is expecting a baby soon after Christmas.

Time Marches On!

WARWICK, R. I. (AP) — Officials of the new veterans Memorial High School have taken official recognition that some high school students smoke. They said an area outside the school has been set aside for student smoking. They added, however, that they don't encourage it.

Gasoline companies distribute 150 million road maps each year.

Special Shows to Be Produced During Holidays

NEW YORK (INS) — Christmas and New Year programming: Tonight, CBS will present a re-showing of last season's excellent "Christmas Carol" film.

Tomorrow the same network will present Emmett Kelly (slated to become a "Super Circus" regular when that show moves East next year) in a one-hour "Christmas With the Greatest Show on Earth;" on Saturday, also on CBS, will come "I Hear America Singing," starring Eddie Fisher.

On Sunday's "Goodyear Playhouse" on NBC, Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn will appear in a play called "Christmas Till Closing" in which they'll revive, for an hour, the wonderful, warm "Liz and Ben Marriott" family of their late, very much lamented "The Marriage" series.

On Christmas Eve, Max Liebman will again present his version of "Babes in Toyland."

On Dec. 27 comes NBC's great "Nightmare in Red;" on Jan. 2, the same network will present the Rose Bowl Parade (plus the Cotton Bowl and Rose Bowl games.)

The Pentagon's cooling system is roughly equivalent to melting 28.6 million tons of ice each 24 hours.

Knotted Twine Garrot Used by Killer; Husband Discovers Tragedy

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Police were hunting today for a car reportedly seen outside the little white home where a young housewife was strangled yesterday.

* * *

The victim was Nancy Parker, 22, wife of City Forester Darrell F. Parker. He found her dead when he returned home for lunch after trimming a Christmas tree in the State Capitol.

It was not immediately determined whether she had been raped.

DARK BLUE CAR

Two workmen told police they saw a dark blue Ford, 1949 or 1950 model, outside the Parker home shortly after Parker left early yesterday. The house is in the city's Antelope Park.

The workmen said they saw no one in the car and did not see it leave.

Parker found his wife's body on a bed. Tightly knotted around her neck was a piece of twine. A rag was stuffed in her mouth. Her hands were bound behind her and she was half clothed.

* * *

In Omaha, 60 miles away, police contined the search for the slayer of another woman, Carolyn Nevins, 20-year-old University of Omaha coed. She was found dead on a campus road last Saturday.

There was nothing to link the two slayings.

Mexico City Takes All Detroit Trolleys

DETROIT (AP) — The last 183 streetcars in Detroit have been sold to Mexico City.

* * *

The Department of Street Railways Commission signed a contract yesterday for the sale of 150 of the vehicles at $4,000 each and 33 at $3,000. The city council's approval is necessary, but considered a formality.

* * *

Buses have replaced streetcars on all but two of Detroit's streets, and those two lines soon will be converted to buses.
