County Board Buys Land, OKs Vote, Eyes Boat Law

Purchase of 6.7 acres of state-owned land on Telegraph was authorized today by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors at the State Tax Commission appraisal price of $83,750.

The board also authorized an election next November for a third probate judge and referred a proposed boating control ordinance back to their legislative committee for further study.

The state property, located south of the County Service Center, will be used for future expansion of county facilities and as a buffer area to protect the entrance to the Service Center.

The parcel contains about 600 feet of frontage on the east side of Telegraph and is next to the existing county property.

The sale had been approved by the state legislature.

LAND SECTION

The property is on a section of land west of Pontiac State Hospital.

The third judge was requested by the two present judges, Donald Adams and Norman R. Barnard, because of the increasing population of the county.

County Clerk-Register of Deeds John A. Murphy was directed to take the necessary steps to place the proposal on the ballot in the general election.

Nearly 100 citizens attended a public hearing in conjunction with the board meeting on the proposed boating control ordinance, recommended by the state boating control committee.

IS OPPOSED

Some 15 persons spoke at the hearing and all opposed the ordinance which regulates the speed of motorboats and sets time limitations for water skiing.

A general objection to the ordinance was that it restricts lake front owners from using lake facilities as they wish.

Another objection is that sufficient boating controls already have been enacted but are not being fully enforced.

Christian Powell, the justice of the peace in Westfield Township, said the ordinance is aimed at appeasing one group of fishermen.

"It is not in the best interest of the general public and may be unconstitutional," said Powell.

Winter on Way; Overcast Skies to Greet Arrival

Winter will arrive under gray skies at 8:41 p.m. today, the shortest day of the year.

The sun will reach its winter solstice at that moment, marking the official beginning of winter. From that point on, the sun will start climbing higher and the days will be marked by more daylight hours.

Skies will be partly overcast for tonight through Thursday but temperatures will become slightly warmer, the low near 20 to 25 tonight.

Highs will aim for a more moderate 34 to 40 tomorrow. The weatherman predicts partly cloudy and mild for Thursday.

Snow falling in the Pontiac area yesterday measured about one-half inch.

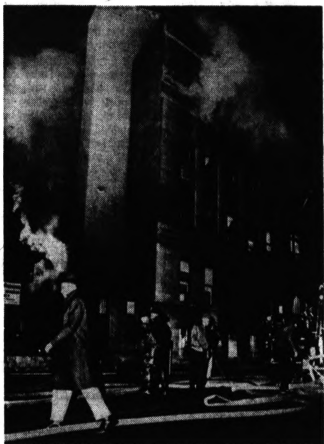

This morning's variable winds at 6 to 12 miles will continue through the night.

Twenty-one was the recording at 8 a.m. today. The mercury had reached 36 by 2 p.m.

Morgenthau said the Army unwittingly shipped the illicit drug into this country in a home freezer among Conder's household goods. He said the conspirators arranged to import the drug and sell it.

Federal officers estimated that Conder, the father of two, would have received about $19,000 for his role as courier in the smuggling operation.

FATAL BLAZE — Flames pour from the side and light the interior of the four-story Jewish community center in Yonkers, N.Y., last night in a fire which took the lives of nine children and three adults.

Vital Red Plant Bombed Again

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. planes attacking Communist North Viet Nam's industrial heart today bombed the vital Uong Bi power plant 14 miles from Haiphong for the second time.

The raids over the north were costly — five planes shot down and five crewmen feared killed.

A U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane was shot down over Uong Bi yesterday with the loss of two crewmen while photographing the huge thermal plant which supplies much of the power for the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

A C130 transport was lost in South Viet Nam today for a two-day total of seven planes and seven fliers.

Today's aircraft losses were the worst since April 4—Black Sunday—when the Communists shot down seven U.S. planes. The lost planes were believed downed by conventional anti-aircraft guns.

The Uong Bi plant supplies much of the electrical power used by Haiphong and the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi some 55 miles to the west.

ESCALATION

The coal-burning plant was attacked and heavily damaged last Friday in a major escalation of the war.

All of the planes were believed to have been hit by conventional anti-aircraft fire, although Soviet-supplied surface-to-air SAM missiles also were hurled at the attackers.

During one of the raids, Communist Mig fighters also appeared in the skies but their pilots raced away toward Communist China when the American planes closed in on them.

However, it was while returning from the chase that two of the U.S. planes were brought down.

Jewish Center in Yonkers Hit by Flash Fire

9 Children, 3 Adults
Are Victims; Cause of Tragedy Unknown

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—A music classroom, gay with holiday song, became a death trap for nine children and three adults last night as a sudden flash of fire struck a Jewish community center in this New York suburb.

The children ranged in age from 7 to 11 and included three sets of brothers and sisters.

Firemen said the victims apparently fell dead from smoke and fumes.

At least nine persons were injured, but only two were still reported hospitalized today.

One of the adult victims was Lucille Sacks, who had come to pick up her daughter, Sandra, after her music lessons.

DIED LATER

Witnesses told police that Mrs. Sacks brought her child to safety but died after she reentered the building, apparently trying to save her neighbors' children.

"Whenever they find Mrs. Sacks, they'll find my children," said Mrs. Isaku Konashima, a neighbor and close friend of Mrs. Sacks in a nearby cooperative apartment house known as Sunset Green.

Later, police said the bodies of Mrs. Sacks, Richard Konashima, 10, and his sister Kimiko, 7, were found huddled together in the classroom on the top floor of the four-story brick structure.

From the lobby, they removed a menorah, the candelabrum symbolic of Chanukah, the Jewish festival of lights.

It was the third night of Chanukah when the fire broke out in the building which serves both Jewish and non-Jewish citizens as a social and cultural center.

Fire Chief Andrew Gerlach said he started in an auditorium on the second floor.

NO IDEA

"We haven't any idea what caused it," he said. "We are investigating."

Nuns from St. Joseph's Hospital across the street joined firemen in rescue efforts.

"They came right over here and even attempted to go up in the building while it was burning," Gerlach related.

Hugh Sinnott, 27, a passerby, led more than 20 children from the first two floors.

Sinnott, a sanitation worker and a part-time private security guard, said: "I tried to work my way up to the third floor and I got about halfway up and I

HONORING SALES MANAGER—John D. DeLorean (right), general manager of Pontiac Motor Division, presents a plaque to E. R. Pettengill for "having served faithfully and to the best of his ability" at Pontiac Motor for four decades. Pettengill, the sales manager, received the honor at a special staff meeting at the division's headquarters on Oakland Avenue.

Sales Chief Recalls 40 Years of Pontiacs

Forty years ago today, billing department clerk E. R. Pettengill reported to the third floor of the Pontiac Motor Division Administration Building for his first day on a new job.

This morning General Sales Manager Pettengill sat down behind his desk on the first floor of the Administration Building and began directing the new car sales of Pontiacs and Tempests which are currently selling at the rate of more than 3,000 every working day.

The trip "down" from the third floor to the first has left him with many rich memories of the early days of the automobile industry and a keen awareness of the changes that have taken place since.

"There was a lot of excitement around here when I started because the Pontiac was just a month away from being introduced and when it got rolling we knew we had gone into big business," he recalled.

The official date of employment on Pettengill's personnel folder is Dec. 21, 1925, but he actually started earlier by working part-time during the summers, beginning in 1920, for Pontiac's predecessor, the Oakland Motor Car Co.

"In the early days there was not much choice of options," he noted. "You could order either five or six wheels and then pretty soon we offered two different upholstery."

Pettengill took over Pontiac's top sales job on Feb. 1, 1965.

A native of Michigan, Pettengill was born in Port Huron and attended Pontiac Junior College and the Michigan College of Mines. He is married and has two children.

"After 40 years I would say the biggest change has been the development of cooperation between our own departments, such as engineering and sales. We work a lot closer together now than we did in the past," he said.

"Of course, that is also true with our dealers. We have a better understanding between ourselves than ever before."

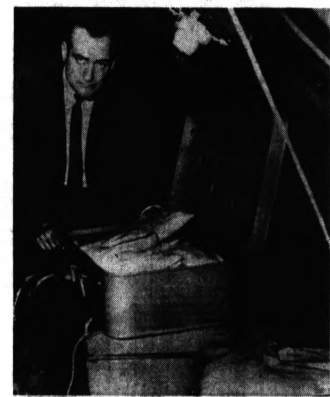

"In my opinion those are the two most important factors which have put Pontiac where it is today."

This was necessary since the college had moved into the new quarters before the hearing was held. The suit against Bee was started by two of the eight who filed against the college, James W. Gell and Raymond Ashare.

In their most recent action, the residents are asking that the court delay the purchase of the site by the college, and enjoin the college from using it for offices.

They claim that the use of the facilities by the college will change the residential character of the neighborhood and reduce property values.

James Howlett, attorney for the residents, said that no immediate relief was sought in the suit because he is waiting to see how the situation develops when the city enters the case.

HEROIN CACHE — H. M. Baker, Columbus, Ga., police detective in narcotics investigation, holds a half-kilogram plastic bag of heroin — part of 86 kilograms (209 pounds) of heroin seized in Columbus yesterday.

Agents in Georgia Raid Net Record Heroin Cache

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Federal agents yesterday nabbed what they described as "the largest single seizure of heroin ever made in the United States" and then quickly rounded up seven persons on charges of conspiring to import the narcotic.

The agents confiscated the record 209-pound cache of uncut heroin at the trailer court home of Chief Warrant Officer Herman Conder, 35, a 15-year Army man.

He was charged with smuggling the narcotic into this country when he was transferred to nearby Ft. Benning from Orleans, France.

Federal men then arrested Frankie Dio, a Miami, Fla. nightclub operator, and five allies. Commissioner Henry L. Giordano of the U.S. Narcotics Bureau in Washington said the arrests "were all tied together."

MARKET VALUE

In New York, U. S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said four French nationals and a Brazilian were arrested in connection with the shipment, which he said was worth $10 million on the underworld market.

However, Giordano put a $15.5 million value on the uncut heroin which is cut, usually with milk sugar, eight to ten times until an addict pays $5 for a bag containing only one to two grains of heroin.

Morgenthau said the Army unwittingly shipped the illicit drug into this country in a home freezer among Conder's household goods. He said the conspirators arranged to import the drug and sell it.

Federal officers estimated that Conder, the father of two, would have received about $19,000 for his role as courier in the smuggling operation.

Coordinator Urged for Coroner System

Hiring an administrator to coordinate the function of Oakland County's coroner system was advocated yesterday by local authorities.

The recommendation resulted from a meeting called jointly by State Sen. Sander M. Levin, D-Berkeley, and Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Purpose of the meeting was to determine ways to strengthen the present coroner system in view of alleged weaknesses that came to light last month in connection with the deaths of three persons at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

As proposed at the meeting attended by several county officials, an administrator would be hired as soon as possible to work under County Health Director Dr. Bernard D. Berman.

Duties of the new aide would be full time administration of Hearing to Air Complaints on Airport Firm

The Michigan Public Service Commission yesterday announced a Jan. 21 public hearing into complaints against Airport Service Lines, Inc., of Pontiac.

Numerous complaints have been filed against the firm, which operates a limousine service at Detroit Metropolitan and Willow Run airports, according to W. L. King, director of the Transport Division of MPSC.

King said complaints have been received on improper licensing of the firm's vehicles, poor vehicle maintenance and lack of adequate safety equipment in some.

Several warnings have been issued during 1965 to the firm by his office, King said.

The hearing could result in revocation or suspension of the limousine company's license to do business, according to King. Airport Service Lines, Inc., operates some 16 vehicles, the MPSC official said.

Deputy Commander Named in Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Jean E. Engler, now head of the U.S. Supply and Maintenance Command in Washington, has been named deputy commander of U.S. Army forces in Viet Nam.

In announcing Gen. Engler's appointment by President Johnson Monday, the White House said it did not indicate any new military buildup in Viet Nam.

Bond Set for 2 in Area Holdup

A preliminary examination in Federal District Court, Detroit, for two Pontiac men charged with robbing a Bloomfield Township bank is scheduled for Jan. 22.

The pair, Rentz Nicholson Jr., 31, of 175 Victoria and Darnell Colbert, 28, of 460 Nevada, pleaded innocent to the charges at their arraignment yesterday before Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman.

Bond was set at $20,000 for Nicholson and $5,000 for Colbert. They were remanded to the Wayne County Jail when they failed to post the bonds.

They are accused of robbing the Pontiac State Bank branch at 570 W. Long Lake last Friday afternoon.

Nicholson was captured by police four minutes after the robbery. In his car they found $21,258, the amount taken in the robbery.

Colbert was taken into custody later as an accomplice.

Traffic Toll Down

EAST LANSING (UPI) — State Police provisional traffic figures showed today that 2,001 persons have lost their lives on Michigan's streets and highways so far this year, compared with 2,031 for the same period in 1964.

Yule Hopes Vanish in Stolen Purse

A 52-year-old Pontiac woman was thrown to the ground last night by two young purse snatchers who ran off with $77 in rent money and Christmas savings.

Mrs. Bethel LaCroix, of 67 Norton, who said she was currently receiving welfare relief from the county, told Pontiac police she was assaulted by the youths near her home about 7:30 p.m.

Also taken was an estimated $25 worth of medicine and her house keys.

"It's just the fact I don't have anything," she said. "My rent money—everything—gone."

"I had planned so much for my daughter coming home for Christmas... now it won't be anything."

Latin Walkout Seems Fading

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The threat of a general strike to force out Dominican military leaders appeared fading today, as workers began drifting back to their jobs.

Labor leaders Monday night urged workers to return to work. President Hector Garcia-Godoy completes an investigation of the battle of Santiago Sunday between the army and rebels.

The labor leaders had promised Garcia-Godoy they would abide, by his request, not to launch a general strike in support of the rebels until a special commission completes an investigation of the Santiago fighting.

Banks and many private firms that were closed Monday reopened.

NEARLY NORMAL

San Antonio Vivoni, administrator of the state-owned Sugar Corp., said sugar milling activity was nearly normal.

The sugar workers originally had staged a walkout of all of the corporation's mills protesting a government cut in year-end bonuses, but were involved in the dispute over the fighting in Santiago.

Snipers fired at U.S. and Brazilian troops of the Inter-American Peace Force Monday, but a U.S. spokesman said no American soldiers were hit.

The Brazilian and U.S. troops were reinforced in the heart of the city Sunday after the battle in Santiago, 120 miles away.

The peace force dispersed some of the hands of youths trying to stir up demonstrations in the business district Monday, and the reinforcements were later withdrawn, leaving one U.S. and one Brazilian company in the downtown section.

AIMED AT MILITARY

Wilson Plans Soviet Visit

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson announced today he will visit the Soviet Union from Feb. 21 to 24.

Wilson made the announcement during a two-day debate on foreign affairs in the House of Commons.

He said he has been corresponding with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin since last spring and that he has accepted an invitation to Moscow to discuss some "vital urgent questions."

Stated just northeast of modern Cairo, it is now called Matarieh, and is dotted with shrines marking the passage of Joseph and his family.

NO WORK

As a woodworker, Joseph had trouble finding work, since in that almost treeless, rainless land, firm wood is scarce. Besides that particular handicap, there were everywhere more workers than work — the numberless fellahen.

But it is said he eventually got employment for a time building coffins for a burying ground at Deir El Muharrak.

According to stories circulated in that ancient land for nearly 2,000 years, the family moved about a great deal, to various towns, living sometimes alone, sometimes with others, in hovels and mansions, once with a kindly widow, once with a wealthy benefactor named Eleazar.

The scene about them was the once powerful kingdom of the pharaohs, which by then had become a vassal province of Rome, following Cleopatra's loss of her throne and suicide about 27 years earlier on Antony's defeat at Actium.

REMAINED EGYPTIAN

But the atmosphere remained Egyptian—the animal idols, the elaborate processions for "sacred bulls," the incantations, clattering chariots, magicians, oracles, the corps of perfumed temple women.

But it also was a time of intellectual richness at Alexandria, the Roman-built coastal city, where the great Jewish philosopher, Philo, was developing his teachings about the "Logos"—the divine intermediary among men, revealing God.

That concept ultimately would be applied to the then ignored unknown child-in-exile, Jesus. Writes St. John: "And the word (Logos) became flesh and dwelt among us."

In those environs, Jesus grew active, his wilyly less gaining strength and balance. An ancient Coptic tale offers this description of him and his mother:

WALKS WITH MOTHER

"She used to take hold of his hand and lead him among the towns, saying, 'My sweet son, walk a little ways. He stopped from time to time, hanging on the skirts of Mary, his mother. He would lift up his eyes to her face, and she would catch him up to herself and lift him up in her arms, and walk along with him.'

Other ancient stories picture him fishing in an oasis, laughing at some quarrelling sparrows, his mother walking through the city marketplace, the family sailing the Nile in a tall-masted boat, a falcon.

The traditions give basically plausible background. Some of them suggest that Joseph, a widower with four sons and two daughters before he and Mary, had a younger son and daughter with him, whom Mary cared for along with Jesus.

Accounts vary on how long the family stayed there, a year, three years, five years, but there are scenes of summer and winter, of tranquility and dark-

Area Changes in FAA Plan

Municipal and Allen Improvements Listed

Proposed improvements at two area airports were included in a $126-million, five-year plan to update air travel facilities, issued yesterday by the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA).

Listed under Michigan's projected $30-million allocation were a new runway, taxiways and maintenance building at Pontiac Municipal Airport and new runways, taxiways and access roads at the county-owned Allen Airport in Orion and Pontiac Townships.

The plan also called for a helipad in Southfield.

Inclusion of a project in the long-range plan is merely a preliminary step. Each job still depends on congressional approval of federal funds and the appropriation of local matching funds by local governmental units.

The FAA plan calls for construction of 887 new airport landing facilities and improvements at 3,219 existing airports across the country.

782 AIRPORTS

Included in the five-year plan were 782 airports, 124 heliports and one seaplane base. An FAA statement said the facilities would be needed because of increasing air travel.

James Popp of Lansing, chief FAA airport district officer for Michigan, said the plan included 100 projects in the state, mostly at general aviation airports used for private airplanes only.

Included were new airports at Alma and Millington and a new private plane airport in the Detroit area.

Popp said Detroit's Willow Run Airport might be converted from commercial to private flights or Grosse Ile airport might be switched to private plane use.

Record for Car Theft Indicated in November

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael J. Murphy, president of the National Automobile Theft Bureau, says preliminary estimates indicate a record of 48,114 cars were stolen in November.

Murphy, former New York City police commissioner, blamed the record thefts on the usual seasonal increase, plus the tendency of shoppers during the holiday rush to forget their keys or fail to lock their cars.

Commission Dampens Auto Mart Proposal

BIRMINGHAM — A proposed auto mart for south Woodward was dampened by City Commissioners last night in agreeing that the area of study by a planning firm should be more comprehensive and not limited to commercial development.

In expressing their ideas, the commissioners directed the city manager to prepare an outline of what they want from the consultants if they are hired to conduct the survey.

The suggestions made by commissioners will be reviewed by the administration and correlated into one proposal and returned to the commission next Monday.

The Detroit firm of Crane and Gorvic Associates, Inc., submitted a proposal to the commission last night, but members felt that it was aimed to a great extent at the future development of an automotive mart.

The area that would be considered in the planning study is generally bounded by Daines, Hunter, Lincoln, Floyd and Purdy.

AUTO CENTER

Automobile dealers presented a plan to commissioners last April for the possible creation of an automobile shopping center where most of the auto dealers are now located.

The consulting firm has estimated the study of the area would cost between $6,000 and $9,000.

Commissioner Carl Ingraham said that possibly before the city takes action to hire a consultant, it may be best to explore the auto mart proposal with faith.

The community center building, erected 27 years ago, is near the Yonkers branches. The children had arrived there after school at 3:30 p.m. They were taking classes in Hebrew, gym, swimming and music.

The shrouded bodies of the victims were laid out at a nursing home of St. Joseph's, awaiting positive identification. A Requiem Mass was to be said today in the hospital chapel for all the victims, whatever their faith.

POLICE CHIEF WILLIAM F. POLSON said he believed the fire was the worst in the history of the community. Yonkers, with a population of 200,000 is just north of New York.

Violation Jails Klan's Wilkins

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., a young Ku Klux Klansman charged with conspiracy in the murder of civil rights worker Viola Gregg Liuzzo, goes to jail on a federal charge, a report Jan. 4 to serve a year's sentence on a firearms violation conviction.

Wilkins, 22, was ordered to begin serving the sentence Monday after he was found guilty in U.S. District Court of violation probation provisions.

Wilkins pleaded guilty to the firearms charge in violation of a federal grand jury in Birmingham Aug. 26, 1964, charging him with illegal possession of a sawed-off shotgun.

U.S. Dist. Judge Clarence W. Allgood suspended a one-year prison sentence and placed Wilkins on probation.

Allgood ruled Monday that Wilkins had broken the probation on four counts; his conviction earlier this month in federal court in Montgomery on federal conspiracy charges, a report that he left his federal court district March 21 to travel to Montgomery; a report he left the district June 6 for a trip to Atlanta; and a report he went to North Carolina May 15.

Wilkins and two other Klansmen, Eugene Thomas and William O. Eaton, were convicted Dec. 3 on charges of conspiring to violate the constitutional rights of civil rights demonstrators in the Selma area last month.

Yule Story Told in Unique Way

By PAT McCARTY
WOLVERINE LAKE — Toward Phillips has a way with a story — the Christmas story. He tells it with lights, a figure rine tableau and the help of Perry Como.

Beside the Phillips' Christmas tree is a miniature landscape depicting the Holy Family in Bethlehem, at the inn and in the manger.

There are other figures — animals, the Wise Men, the Three Kings and, yes, Santa Claus. The living room is in darkness as the story begins.

A tape recording of "The First Christmas" by Perry Como begins.

Building Inspector Out; Four Reinstated

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Building inspector John Drury was dismissed from his township job last night as four other suspended township building inspectors were reinstated.

The action was taken after a 3 1/2-hour hearing in which the charges against the men were aired by the four township trustees.

Drury was discharged on charges of gross misconduct and dereliction of duty.

Reinstated as of yesterday with the loss of one week's pay were George Crook, Arthur Maki, Gerald Banfield and Raymond Melvin.

The men were suspended by Supervisor Curtis H. Hall Dec. 13 for being "absent without leave" Dec. 9 and 10.

REPORTED MEETING — They reportedly met in the parking lot of the Township Hall and left together in the morning of Dec. 9.

The move halted negotiations between township officials and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, which represented the five men and four other township employees.

The four who were reinstated last night pleaded guilty to the absent-without-leave charge and also were found guilty of insubordination in failing to sign a time book.

The charges against Drury stem from alleged delays in his plumbing inspections.

ORDINANCE RULE

Township ordinances provide that the work be inspected within two days of a request. If not inspected and denied, the work is considered approved.

"Drury was letting a large percentage of these go two to five weeks," Trustee Earl Opperthauer said. "This could well result in defective installations of plumbing."

The trustee said there were 58 inspection requests which had been delayed 13 days or longer.

As the singer tells of Mary and Joseph approaching Bethlehem, Phillips flips the first switch and we see Mary being borne on a donkey led by Joseph.

To the strains of "Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem," the village lights up.

And so the story goes until the whole tableau is in light.

There are stars in the background over tiny mountains and the Star of Bethlehem blinks on and off. Even the Christmas tree provides blue starlight.

GIFTS LIGHT UP

As the kings present their gold, frankincense and myrrh, each gift lights up individually.

There are 286 pieces in Phillips' display. He's been collecting them for 15 years, receiving many as gifts from friends fascinated by his project.

Phillips, manager of the Northland Coney Island, spends about four or five hours a night for a week setting up the tableau in the living room of his home at 1132 Lakeview.

Seventeen switches are involved, controlling some 25 lights.

During the seven-minute presentation there are about 60 changes in the lighting.

BEGAN PROJECT

Phillips started the project before his marriage, when he was living with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phillips, 2605 Benstein.

A convert to Catholicism, Phillips tried to devise a way of demonstrating his faith.

He saw the little village first and then the manger.

"I thought, 'What a wonderful way to bring Christ into the home at Christmas,'" he said.

HEARD RECORD

"Then I heard the Perry Como record and got some ideas. It took me about two years to work on them."

The display was blessed by a former pastor of St. William Catholic Church in Walled Lake, of which Phillips is a member.

Phillips annually tells the Christmas story to family, friends and members of church groups who visit his home.

One year, 150 persons visited his parents' home during the Christmas season to see the presentation.

"I have cousins who come from Mason every year. They say they never get tired of it," he said.

Phillips noted he has had no problem enforcing a hands-off rule with children.

"Children are awed by it," he said. "It's really something to watch the expression on their faces as I'm telling the story."

Remedial Reading Plan OK'd

ROCHESTER — The board of education last night approved a remedial reading program which will be set up with funds allocated to the district under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The plans must be approved by the State Board of Education before the district will receive $39,802 in federal funds.

Asst. Schools Supt. Douglas Lund said that if the program is approved, four reading specialists will be hired to set up a diagnostic reading clinic and work with children in small group instruction.

He said administrators agreed there was a need for such a program and it should be given attention with the funds that are being made available.

Novi Council Vote Split on Cityhood Election Date

NOVI — A Village Council split, last night delayed the setting of a date for a special election on incorporating Novi as a city.

The decision will be held in abeyance until the return of Village President Joseph Crupi, whose vote will break the tie.

Crupi, who now is on vacation, is expected to be back in time for the council's Jan. 17 meeting.

Discussing the matter last night, councilmen Dean Lenheiser and Philip Anderson said they were in favor of holding a special election on incorporation.

Councilmen Donald Young and Ray Harrison said they preferred to include the proposal on the regular March 8 village ballot.

4 Homes in Novi Get Detroit Water

NOVI — Four homes on Buckingham Court today were to be the first in Novi to receive Detroit water.

The houses, built as model homes, did not have wells to serve them.

Village Manager Harold Ackley said Detroit water would be supplied to the Willowbrook subdivisions between Christmas and New Year.

A 1 1/2-mile pipeline, costing $110,000, is being completed to bring the water to the eastern portion of the village.

Other are Abiding Presence Lutheran, St. John's Lutheran, Church of the Nazarene, Church of God, Kiwanis Club and First Baptist.

FARMINGTON — The board of education last night appointed a Detroit teacher principal of Gill Elementary School.

Frank Kasun was named to succeed Paul Rankin, who resigned earlier this year because of ill health.

Kasun is an industrial arts and remedial reading teacher at Vital School in Detroit.

He earned his bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University in 1951. The holder of a master's degree from the University of Michigan, Kasun is doing advanced work at Wayne State University.

He is a member of the Detroit, Michigan and National Education associations and the Detroit and National Industrial Education associations.

He is expected to begin his new job here at the beginning of the second semester late in January.

Plans for New School Asked

To help ease the strain on overcrowded elementary classrooms, the Avondale Board of Education is asking its architects to draw up plans for a new elementary school with the understanding that they will be paid when a bond issue or millage proposal is approved.

A citizens committee has been working for the past year on the future needs of the district and is scheduled to make its final report at the Jan. 17 board meeting.

Acting Schools Supt. Charles Johnson said the board will have its decision regarding a bond issue or millage vote on this report.

He said projected figures show that by 1980, there will be 7,000 pupils in Avondale Schools. Right now, he said, if each elementary classroom were to contain only 25 pupils, 17 new elementary classrooms would be needed.

As it is, there are about 33 pupils in each room. Johnson said that within the past six weeks, 26 elementary pupils have entered the schools, which adds up to a new classroom.

Johnson explained that by Jan. 27, Feb. 3, 10, 17, 24 and March 3, three two-hour sessions will be held at Stone on Jan. 18, 25 and Feb. 1.

Dates for sessions at Auburn Heights Elementary School have not been determined.

ACTING OFFICE

The board also appointed William Saville, principal of Auburn Heights Elementary School, to serve as acting business manager.

Former business manager Arnold Ojala retired last June. Saville will divide his time between business manager and principal.

Strains of the Frug Said Reassuring to Ego

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A Columbia University faculty member suggests that man's loss of a sense of separateness might have led to the development of such dances as the frug.

In the frug, Gerald Sykes theorized, the emphasis is not on sex, which implies participation with someone else, but on the ego.

You do the frug by yourself, perhaps as a defiant gesture of independence in an increasingly homogenized world, said Sykes, head of Columbia's liberal arts program.

He was one of a number of the world's top philosophers and scholars at a symposium on the technological society at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions Monday.

BASIS OF UNREST

To further the point, the Rev. Myron Bloy, Protestant Episcopal chaplain of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, contended that

Elevator Traps Woman's Leg

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An elderly woman's leg was caught in the door of an automatic elevator as she entered it Monday and she was carried, screaming with pain, up 12 floors.

Her husband was trapped outside the elevator when it closed and ran up a nearby stairs following his wife's fading screams.

When firemen freed the woman, Ida Herman, 66, she was taken to Graduate Hospital where her condition was later reported as satisfactory.

Her husband, Morris Herman, 72, said they had gone to Central Medical Building to see a physician.

When one of two self-service elevators came down to the lobby Mrs. Herman preceded her husband into it. Before he could enter, and while her leg was still partly out, the door closed and the elevator started for the top floor, Herman said.

reaction against the increase of technology and mechanization is a likely basis for student unrest on U.S. campuses.

He said such unrest could be an outgrowth of students' insistence upon more personal involvement in areas where they still exert individual influence.

Philosophy Prof. Nathan Rotenstreich of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, disputed Bloy's view, saying he felt many students "acted out of a desire for instantaneous significance."

Sykes took sharp exception to Rotenstreich, saying that "youth is upset because it is not getting much of a world. They feel themselves being speeded up by technology, losing the time they need for a good education."

VALUES ON EARTH

The symposium speakers concluded mankind's intellectual accomplishments have reached the moon, but mankind's values remain earthbound.

The failure of society to create values to match man's intellectual giant steps in science, several speakers suggested, dates from the last 100 years or so, since man has learned to provide for his needs and then devote time to fulfilling his wants.

Hazan Ozbekhan, director of planning for Systems Development Corp., in Santa Monica, Calif., suggested that society's difficulty in its search for values in the modern world — specifically in the United States — is rooted in the American Puritan heritage.

Puritan ethics provided a framework of values appropriate to man's needs at that time, Ozbekhan said. But since then, mushrooming technology has been able to provide luxury, and society has been unable to evolve a values system by which to judge and measure those luxuries.

LACK OF SENSE

The lack of a sense of value has thus created a growing fear that technology is engaged in a purposeless onrush toward nothing in particular, he said.

Contributing to that fear, according to Marshall McLuhan, president of the Communications Institute of the University of Toronto, is the tendency toward decentralization and detribalization by society by vastly superior communications systems of today.

Society is becoming less and

Bank Robbers Nabbed by Cooperative Effort

Excellent cooperation and effort by area law enforcement officers and alert citizens were evidenced Friday in the holdup of the branch bank in Bloomfield Township.

This is the comment of PAUL H. STODDARD, special agent in charge of the Detroit Office Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The first bouquet goes to the three alert tellers of the bank, who promptly furnished police with an accurate description of the bandit, his car, and even his license plate number.

The suspect didn't get more than a mile or two before officers of two different police departments spotted him, and effected his arrest.

The police were further aided by additional information which came from citizens in the bank area who observed and reported activities at the time of the robbery.

Such willingness to step up and face their responsibilities is in marked contrast to a number of situations in other sections of the country in which witnesses have turned their backs on crimes, or left helpless victims to suffer.

This effort is indicative of a wholesome, healthy attitude which will make a better local community, state and nation, as well as to assist in the betterment of law enforcement.

Complete cooperation of officers from Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Township, Pontiac and the Oakland County Sheriff's department was shown throughout the search and investigation.

Only last week a fugitive from a similar robbery in Flint was apprehended at a local roadblock, with the cooperation of area departments including the state police.

The Pontiac area is fortunate that we have top-notch police departments, and citizens who rise to the occasion.

Woes Sometimes Trail Scientific Progress

Junk yards, pollution, urban blight are some of the consequences of the impact of science on society. But they were not inevitable consequences, says one scientist.

"Stupid misuse of science has gravely impaired the grace of life," asserts Dr. POLYKARP KUSCH of Columbia University, winner of the 1955 Nobel Prize in physics.

"People in general are horribly acclimated to a technology — and science-dominated world. People now say, 'God will provide.'"

Science won't, however. It always raises as many problems as it solves.

He cites the internal combustion engine as one technological advance that has not been an unmixed blessing. It solved the problem of transportation for masses of people but led to the abandonment of the cities for the suburbs.

If mankind is to have a life worth living in the future, says Kusch, it must learn to manage the fruits of science better than it has in the past.

Filing Federal Forms Busy Bosses Bugaboo

With a March 31 deadline, some 60,000 firms will be required to fill out a new two-page statistical government form breaking down separately men and women employees into five ethnic groups and together classifying them into nine occupational categories.

The form originates with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission which administers a section of the Civil Rights Act barring discrimination against women in hiring standards as well as against Negroes and other minorities.

Affected by the new employee regulations are businesses employing more than 100 workers, Government contractors and firms in the Plans for Progress program. This is an equal-employment opportunity program to which employers who have become members voluntarily agree.

As the schedule of returns for which business is accountable to the government steadily proliferates, many a harassed employer may well conclude that his business has become, as the saying is, more or less a matter of form.

De Gaulle Didn't Stabilize France

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — When Charles de Gaulle became president of France seven years ago, it was in bad shape.

Rightists and French military leaders in rebellion against the government. It was a crisis but France, with one government after another toppling since the war, badly needed some kind of political stability.

Its multiplicity of political parties made any permanent government impossible.

The French called de Gaulle to power. He fuzed his answers, telling the French take him on face value.

But it was only a personal stability, built around him. When he was re-elected to another seven-year term Sunday, there was nothing to show he had prepared France for stability on his own, now or seven years from now.

It has been a one-man show, and he admitted as much recently when he said: "Naturally, the day will come sooner or later when de Gaulle is gone. What will happen then?" He is 75 now.

He had previously revealed what he thought the answer was. Asking the people to give him a second term, he said the choice was between him and catastrophe.

LACKED MAJORITY

He had seemed like a sure winner but, in the first test Dec. 5 against five opponents, he got only 44 per cent of the vote and had to go into a runoff against Francois Mitterrand, 49.

This time, de Gaulle won with 55 per cent of the vote.

Mitterrand himself is an aloof if not arrogant man and had the endorsement of an odd collection of Frenchmen: Communists, Socialists, and extreme right-wingers.

Confronted with that, the French apparently thought de Gaulle was a safer bet.

PREDICT MISERY

Now that he has been restored to power — after a few human and home campaign appearances on television — he can be expected to be old and haughty self, and that can mean misery for the United States and Britain.

It will not be surprising if, before his second seven years are up, he wrecks the Western nations' NATO alliance through his insistence everything must be played his way or not at all.

He has small stomach for politics. But it is possible he will outlive his usefulness before his term ends. Nations, while appreciating their heroes, do get impatient with them.

De Gaulle has always been difficult: for the French army before the war, for the Allies during it, after it, and ever since. At the war's end, Churchill said: "I am sure that in the long run no understanding will be reached with Gen. de Gaulle."

Two For The Show

David Lawrence Says:

Interest Rate Hike Upset Plan

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's professed annoyance over the Federal Reserve Board's increase of interest rates by half a percent late point and his complaint that the board should have waited until the federal budget was disclosed in January now begin to be understandable.

For the President may have believed that the restraints on borrowing which the board's action was designed to impose could be achieved by announcing next month a plan to increase tax rates.

But, unfortunately, Congress doesn't act quickly on tax legislation, and there would have been a scramble by businessmen for loans at existing interest rates during the three or four months usually consumed in arguing about a tax measure in both houses.

It is an open secret that the administration is contemplating a tax increase and is worried only about how to apply it — whether to make everybody bear it or to impose the heaviest burden on high-bracket incomes and on corporation profits.

All sorts of proposals are being mentioned in official circles — for example, a 10 per cent increase in the total tax of an individual at present.

This would be the same as increasing the rates from 14 to 15 1/2 per cent in the lower brackets and would move up the top bracket from 70 to 77 per cent — halfway back to where the rates were before the two Democratic administrations since 1961 began making their promises of tax reductions.

All this would be expected to bring in tax receipts. And if necessary to obtain more revision, it is reported that some of the excise taxes on autos and telephones might be frozen, and the promised decreases would then be postponed for awhile.

The sad truth is that, even if the foregoing plan now being discussed were to raise $5.5 billion, it probably wouldn't be enough to wipe out the deficit, which is calculated to run between $7 billion and $8 billion in the present fiscal year.

The blame for the large deficit forthcoming is being put on the escalation of the war effort in Viet Nam, but even before this enlargement of the government's expenses began a few months ago, the federal deficit was around $5 billion.

LAST REDUCTIONS

What it means is that tax reductions of the last two years as a method of stimulating business are not bringing in the money to wipe out deficits.

No plan of tax reduction can by itself expand business receipts and yield enough receipts in taxes. There has to be, coincidentally, a curb on federal spending, but this hasn't materialized.

The administration has kept its extravagant spending plans going on the theory that this would be politically advantageous.

Since the spending spree hasn't balanced the budget, there has to be some explanation given the people. The financial problem is, to be sure, in part due to the Viet Nam war, but last year's defense spending actually declined while appropriations for the Great Society increased.

Bob Considine Says:

Cong's Yule Truce Offer Tough to Accept, Reject

NEW YORK — Commenting on the Viet Cong offer to knock off the slaughter in Viet Nam for 12 hours, from Christmas Eve into Christmas Day, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said, "That's a matter for the local Vietnamese and the United States authorities out there to consider."

It was another way of stating the most determined of our policies toward that part of the world: We won't enter into any kind of dialogue with the Viet Cong.

We talk readily enough to their principal suppliers. We see a lot of and are quite cordial with Russians. We meet now and then in Warsaw with Red Chinese. We reach out negotiation offers to Hanoi. But we draw a line where the Viet Cong are concerned.

Our own policy toward them is to kill enough of them to collapse their rebellion against the Saigon government and/or to discourage Hanoi, Peking and Moscow from sending them further supplies.

UNSPEAKABLE

So, in respect to the 12-hour truce commemorating the birth of the Prince of Peace, we haven't said yes and we haven't said no.

To say either would be to speak to what our policy rules is the unspeakable. Either yes or no would be a recognition of an entity, a constituted authority.

Warning flags have been raised that this Viet Cong truce offer might be a snare, a way to lure us into a euphoria admirably suited for surprise attacks. Perhaps that is its purpose.

But chances seem good that the offer is genuine in that they have nothing to lose by observing it, and our side has nothing to gain by rejecting it.

If we accept, with or without the formality of an open agreement, we give the VC's a 12-hour breathing spell, enable them to pull some of their people out of precarious positions, save their ammunition and booty traps for another day.

If we send the B52s and the napalm during those 12 hours, we can only further alienate the already sensitive affections of our friends in all Christianity.

It's a rough one. But it is a situation that offers us a good opportunity to say to the enemy, as Sen. Robert Kennedy has suggested (with little or no support from Washington), "Fine. We'll abide by the 12-hour truce. But when that is over, let's continue it indefinitely."

To stop a war on Christmas Eve and start shooting again exactly 12 hours later — on the dot — would be as sorry a desecration of the Nativity as modern history holds.

In Washington:

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some Republican leaders are privately acknowledging that the four 1965 meetings of the Republican Coordinating Committee have been empty charades having little to do with the party's need for a new route back to national power.

Raised from the ashes of the 1964 defeat at the polls, the committee reflected the conviction of many GOP leaders that broader-based efforts were required to develop an aggressive party stance which could attract a winning number of voters.

There is now more than a little cynicism within the party itself that the net product of this endeavor is pallid. The committee's topical utterances (on Viet Nam, for instance) and its task force reports have stirred no excitement.

Meantime, dominated largely by the state attitudes of the GOP congressional wing, the committee conferees appear to have neglected lively discussion of the party's real problems — of how to attract the millions of new young voters pouring into the election market, how to get reestablished in the great cities and fight effectively on the suburban battlefield where most of the country's population increase is occurring.

Nevertheless, some party officials are indeed attending to

Our City officials just received a good salary increase. It has been well-known that the government officials we elect spend a great deal of elected terms getting ready for the next election. If we all write our officials, especially before election time, they might get on the ball for what we want done.

Suggests Grand Trunk Try New Fare Plan

The Grand Trunk plans to discontinue overnight coach and sleeping car service between Detroit/Pontiac and Chicago at the end of this month. According to Interstate Commerce Commission figures the service has lost $72,189 on expenses of $251,688 in 1965.

In autumn of 1963 the railway introduced throughout Canada a radically new fare plan, calculated to offer greater savings on days when travel is lightest. It appears to have met with great success: In an appeal to the railway management to continue the Detroit-Chicago service and conduct an experiment with these same new "Red, White and Blue" fares it was pointed out that more than double the expenses could be earned with capacity loads in just the one coach and sleeper presently operated. Between Detroit or Pontiac and Chicago the railway presently charges $12.85 for a one-way coach ticket; for a slightly greater distance between Toronto and Montreal fares are $7.50, $9 or $10.40 (U.S. funds), depending on whether it's a "Red," "White," or "Blue" day.

Does the Grand Trunk intend to wait until it runs no more passenger trains between the two largest centers before offering similar fares in the United States?

Objects to Recent Articles on Viet Nam

Contrary to the usual news coverage so excellently reported in The Pontiac Press, I find no excuse for recent articles in relation to Viet Nam. Items bordering on pacifist propaganda are of no help to anyone other than the enemy by creating fear in our population. The reports of the sadistic weapons used by the Viet Cong, and the tragic maiming of the innocent citizens of South Viet Nam, can accomplish no worthwhile purpose. Such things are the hazards of any war, but contrast these unfortunate cases with the over-all terrorism and unimaginable tortures exerted upon people wherever communism reigns. I'm disgusted.

GOP Reviews Party Weaknesses

these problems, even as the GOP's big artillery makes popgun noises.

This fall, Republican leaders in the seven-county Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area formed a GOP advisory council for the study of problems common to the region. Speaking on these matters, the Minnesota group said:

"Their effect on our political scene can be tremendous, and they should be thoroughly studied."

Dr. John Borchert of the University of Minnesota told the coalescing Republican leaders:

"The most important thing the political party can accomplish is to establish the right frame of mind so that we think of ourselves as citizens of a functioning metropolis."

The clear objective of the new Minneapolis-St. Paul party council is to help bring together the elected officials of the area from all levels of government — for a concerted attack on housing, job recruitment, water and other area-wide facilities, transportation, zoning.

The Minnesota development is not the ground-breaker. Last February, state GOP chairman Craig Truax of Pennsylvania brought together Republican leaders from 10 counties in his state, New Jersey and Delaware, to consider a "metropolitan" council for the sprawling Philadelphia area.

Divergent Pennsylvania-New Jersey approaches to the 1965 elections hampered this undertaking this year, but Truax now insists the council will come into being sometime after mid-1966.

Truax foresees the day when dozens of such metro-councils will be formed and will carry immense weight with the national party as the recognized voice of the vote-rich urban centers.

As if in warning to the Republicans that they may not have this new idea to themselves, Democrats in metropolitan Washington recently have been talking the same game.

For the moment, however, the initiative in this field lies with the Republicans — with Truax, Minnesota state chairman George Thies, and Connecticut chairman Seale Pinney, who has led the way to a party reorganization that he believes will give his state's big cities a heavier voice in GOP deliberations.

Republican party "coordinators" might have done well, between statements on Viet Nam, to have given this significant effort a healthy boost. It has the earmarks of a real investment in the future.

She Recalls Her Son's Space Role

CASSPOLIS (AP) — When the Gemini capsules rendezvoused successfully last week, Mrs. Iven Kincheloe wasn't surprised. Her son, one of the nation's space pioneers, wouldn't have been surprised either.

"I see these marvelous things happening and I remember how my son used to predict them," Mrs. Kincheloe said. "He said we'd do this and much more. People used to laugh, sometimes, but he knew."

Her son, Capt. Iven Kincheloe, soared to the fringes of space in the 1950s as a test pilot in experimental rockets X2 through X15. He died in a crash in 1958.

"Sometimes I think he must be up there somewhere, looking down on it all and being very proud," Mrs. Kincheloe said.

SUCCESSFUL LANDING

Watching the successful splash-down of Gemini 7, she smiled.

"As I watch these wonderful boys fly into space my heart is with them, not on what might have been. So many of them were friends of my son that they are very close to me."

"I watch every launching and I'm not relaxed until they are down. I guess it will always be that way."

Kincheloe, a jet ace in the Korean War, held aeronautical and mechanical engineering degrees from Purdue. His widow, Dorothy, and her two children live in Burbank, Calif.

McNAMARA'S PLAN

The children, Mrs. Kincheloe recalls, were more upset than she at plans by Defense Secretary Robert McNamara to close the Air Force base in Michigan named for her son.

"We know his place in the history of flight doesn't depend on a signboard at an airfield," the pilot's mother said.

"Our two grandchildren, Iven Kincheloe III—he's nine—and his sister, Jeannine, 7, felt badly when they heard about it. They wanted to know who this McNamara fellow is who's closing the base named for their daddy."

Kincheloe "always wanted to fly to the moon," his mother recalls. "He died too soon. But the men who do make the flight, and they will, are men who will remember that our son opened the door."

It's Rotten to Lose That Rotten Smell

ELSINORE, Calif. (AP) — The rotten egg odor of hydrogen sulfide gas is so highly prized hereabouts that townsmen, having lost it, are spending money to get it back.

The odor comes from mineral water used for health baths.

Last year the city installed a system that enables central area property owners to bring the water to their property at their own expense. Some 55 have done so, including hotels and motels.

But the water, stored in a reservoir, lost the hydrogen sulfide to the open air. The minerals remained but the smell was gone.

HARD TO BELIEVE

Motels had a hard time convincing tourists that the water in their bath tubs really was mineral water.

Solution: the Elsinore Civic Improvement League is installing a closed pressure system to prevent that rotten egg odor from prematurely escaping.

Sadness Won't Halt Chinese Blind Choir

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A choir of 18 blind young Chinese, in tears because of a comrade's death in traffic and almost without funds, is going to continue its world concert tour.

It will be "sort of a memorial" for the automobile victim, said a minister who is escorting them.

Money is the biggest current problem of the Hong Kong blind chorus, a group of orphans and refugees who had only $400 to day.

The choir's first bad news Monday after flying here from Los Angeles was that a scheduled evening concert was canceled and they were out $180 in plane fare.

LEARN OF DEATH

Then the singers learned that fellow chorister John Chan, 22, had died of injuries suffered Friday when he was struck by a car as the group emerged from a performance at Chinese-American church in Los Angeles.

The choir leader, Steven Shao, 47, who also was injured, remained in critical condition.

"They were all in tears when they heard about Chan," said the Rev. Moses Yu, of the Chinese for Christ Church, a Protestant group which helps Chinese students in the United States. "They were shuddering in their minds, but they're determined to go on — to do the rest of their concerts as a sort of memorial."

TAUGHT TO SING

Shao organized the youngsters, gathering them from the alleys, orphanages and refugee camps of China. He taught them to sing and to play both Western and Chinese musical instruments.

A $20,000 contribution from the San Francisco Chinese community has just managed to keep them in the black.

Next week they plan to return to Los Angeles for Chan's funeral and, hopefully, more concerts.

'Peace Feelers' May Be Trick to Erode U.S. Policy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Ap Special Correspondent

Recent Vietnamese Communist propaganda suggests the possibility that "peace feelers" are part of a psychological campaign to erode American and world public support of U.S. policy, in preparation for an upsurge of political warfare in South Viet Nam.

The Viet Cong's Liberation Radio couples a "we can't lose" propaganda campaign in South Viet Nam with highly exaggerated descriptions of various protest demonstrations around the world, and particularly in the United States.

In America, these broadcasts say, protests have risen to unprecedented intensity and have become "the most violent struggle in U.S. history," which has left the Johnson administration "extremely embarrassed and fearful."

Hints from North Viet Nam thus may have little to do with any real intention to negotiate on terms acceptable to the United States. Rather these "feelers" may be intended to add to the Johnson administration's troubles by placing it in the position of rejecting peace overtures.

WAR OF POLITICS

This hypothesis becomes credible against the background of recent Viet Cong propaganda. This indicates Communist agents now can be expected to mount strong efforts to bring the war to the cities of South Viet Nam by means of political attack.

This would have a double purpose: first, to attack the Viet Cong's enemy from the rear and to make the U.S. presence politically untenable, and second, to persuade public opinion in America and elsewhere that the anti-Communist war effort has little South Vietnamese support.

Americans in Saigon often have expressed the opinion that a clear military decision is unlikely but that the war might be lost politically. The Communists indicate that they aim to step up their political efforts and coordinate them with military activities.

'Peace Talk Hope Must Be Pursued'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said today the United States must pursue diligently any Viet Nam peace feelers — no matter how tenuous they may appear.

"The alternative to negotiations may be a long war, costly in lives and national resources," Aiken said in an interview. He is the senior Republican in the Senate and a member of the Foreign Relations Committee.

While the Vermont senator was emphasizing the need to pursue peace feelers, a leading House Republican, Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, praised the Johnson administration for stepping up bombing in Viet Nam and urged greater use of U.S. seapower in the Viet Nam war.

"They've decided to escalate the war on the ground," he said in an interview. "We think greater consideration should be given to a Kennedy-type quarantine, which we think will bring about the national goal of unconditional discussions with the North Vietnamese."

FAVORS BLOCKADE

The Wisconsin congressman referred to the type of tight naval blockade President John F. Kennedy set up around Cuba during the missile crisis of 1962. Other Republican leaders have spoken in favor of such a technique in Viet Nam.

Laird said President Johnson has clearly set a goal of unconditional discussions.

"The question is how best to bring about this goal," Laird said. "Couldn't you do it and cut casualties by means of a Kennedy-type quarantine? Ninety per cent of their war materiel is coming in by sea."

Increasing ground power would be moving into the area where the Viet Cong is strongest, Laird said. "Why not operate in areas where we have superiority? We believe a Kennedy-type quarantine would bring a settlement much faster than sending in 150,000 more troops."

AIR, SEA POWER

"We question whether the war should be further escalated on the ground without adequate protection to the ground forces through use of our superiority in the air and at sea."

Aiken expressed disappointment that a conditional peace offer by North Viet Nam — later repudiated by Hanoi — had been made public by the State Department.

ganda says the time is near in Viet Nam's territory with 10 million of the 14 million population. It concedes the Saigon government's control of the larger cities, so its emphasis there is on political attack.

In Saigon and other cities say broadcast instructions, the movement is to reach a higher level now, concentrating in exploiting every evidence of public discontent. The broadcasts call for agitation for strikes on wages, cost of living, housing and other issues, and a movement "particularly to oppose conscription of every means possible, such as holding discussions among youths and high school and collective students."

The Viet Cong has many agents in South Viet Nam cities. These now presumably are under orders to join with and encourage every discontented element. They have been told to try to persuade civil servants, for example, to "refuse to collaborate" with the Saigon regime or the Americans, and to move in on the Buddhists with the objective of exploiting whatever grievances that powerful religious element might have.

100,000 DESERT

Exploiting the conscription issue would not be difficult. The Saigon regime already has trouble with it. Over the past two years there have been about 100,000 desertions from the ranks of the new recruits, although desertion in Viet Nam cannot be viewed in the same light as desertion in a Western sense. In many cases the recruits just wander off to visit their families. Some struggle back and are forgiven. The Liberation Front, however, now is advising young men who don't want to go to war to arm themselves and shoot it out with those who try to draft them.

All in all, a picture of Communist strategy emerges aimed at making things hot for the Saigon regime and the Americans in Viet Nam while at the same time attempting to create fear, confusion and discord in the United States.

Wilson Battled on Rhodesia

Opposition to Policy Mounts in Parliament

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson was confronted today with growing opposition in Parliament to the Labor government's Rhodesian policy.

A major protest was expected after Wilson reports on his meetings last week with President Johnson.

The first order of business when Parliament convenes this afternoon is the prime minister's report on his Washington trip, and speech to the United Nations and his brief meeting Sunday with Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson.

At the same time, a vote by the Conservative opposition concerning Rhodesia could come tonight or early tomorrow when the House of Commons takes up a procedural matter.

The Conservatives, led by Edward Heath, let it be known last night they were unhappy about reports Wilson planned to begin a naval blockade to enforce the oil embargo imposed on the breakaway Rhodesian government.

The House was asked to declare that it "categorically rejects the use of a blockade or force in any other form" to solve the crisis resulting from the African colony's November unilateral declaration of independence.

Wilson last night turned down an opposition proposal to scrap all but the Rhodesian debate on today's agenda. If a vote does come about, it would herald the long-expected break in bipartisan policy concerning the secession of Rhodesia.

Canada, France and Italy yesterday joined the United States in supporting the oil embargo against Rhodesia. Wilson told Parliament the United States and Canada also offered assistance in airlifting oil supplies to Zambia.

Oil shipments to Zambia, northern neighbor of Rhodesia, were cut off by the Salisbury government after the oil sanctions were announced by Wilson. Britain then was forced to begin its airlift to the land-locked country.

The Conservatives in Parliament support the oil embargo itself but are opposed to any military means being used to enforce it. Wilson has denied the reports that a naval blockade was in the works.

Cemetery Auction Closes on 3 Bids

DETROIT (AP)—Auction bidding on Brookdale Memorial Park's cemetery in Livonia closed Monday. Three bids, ranging from $400,000 to $475,000, had been received.

Circuit Judge Joseph Rashid, whose court holds a receivership on the cemetery, indicated he would decide on one of the three bids within the week.

A boy's body was exhumed Monday. It was found in the right casket but the wrong grave. The exhumation was one of several asked in court petitions. The cemetery has been under investigation for reported burial errors.

McNamara Plans New Approach on Budget

Ax Slated to Fall on Military Construction Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's slash of nearly half this year's military construction program forebodes a new defense budget shorn of anything which cannot be justified by military necessity and the Viet Nam war.

McNamara signaled this Monday in saying that indefinite postponement of $630 million in construction of homes for service families, barracks and other like facilities is "symptomatic" of his approach to the new defense budget now being put together.

The Pentagon planned to announce today the list of deferred projects in 42 states, the District of Columbia and 18 overseas locations.

It also may announce another list of high-priority projects, totaling $885 million, which will go ahead in 36 states, the District, and 16 overseas sites.

NIKE SYSTEM

Among the programs which may be put off because of the war-caused budget pinch are a start in production in the Nike X antimissile system and a proposed new atomic-powered aircraft carrier for the Navy.

Top officials believe there is no urgency to get under way in either of these projects. The Nike X could cost as much as $20 billion ultimately and the Navy carrier would come to several hundred million dollars in one lump sum.

Final budget decisions have not yet been made but there has been speculation that the new defense money request may top this year's $49 billion by as much as $10 billion.

At an unannounced news conference, McNamara declared that his department is eliminating or deferring everything that can possibly be sidetracked "without eating into the muscle" of U.S. armed might.

McNamara said that, in addition, to family housing and barracks, the projects involved such facilities as additions to hospitals, bachelor officer quarters and modernization of training schools.

Wiped out were all 8,500 units of new housing for families of servicemen planned for this year. This accounted for $160-million of the $630 million being deferred.

The armed services have argued that improved family housing was one of the major steps needed to encourage trained and professional servicemen to remain on active duty rather than seeking better-paying jobs in civilian life.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

By LUCRECE BEALE
Synopsis: Mr. D and the boy disguise themselves as Santa and the Princess. The Voodoo man attempts to cast a spell over them.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

"Marshmallows!" whispered the Voodoo man. He pointed at Santa and the Princess. "I order you to turn into marshmallows!" Santa and the Princess sat there and didn't turn into anything. Of course they were really Mr. D and the little boy, and the Voodoo man's charms couldn't work on them.

The Voodoo man muttered some more words to himself. He pulled his cloak over his head and walked three times around the throne. Then he shouted in a very loud voice,

'Marshmallows! Marshmallows!'

Mr. D and the boy sat there. The Voodoo man lost his temper. He jumped up and down and screamed "Marshmallows! Marshmallows! Marshmallows!" Nothing happened at all.

Mr. D began to feel very brave. "You see, you can not harm the Princess and me. Your magic has gone."

SECRET POWER
"It can't be! I have a secret power! No one can cast such a spell as I!"

Mr. D shrugged. "Very well. Cast your spell over us."

The Voodoo man drew a line on the floor with chalk. "Let the Princess cross that line and she will turn into a fish."

The boy got up from the throne and, holding his train very carefully, stepped across the line.

CAN'T SWIM
"I can swim," he said. "But I'm still no fish."

The Voodoo man stared at him in dismay. He searched through his pockets and drew out a little sack of red powder.

"When this powder touches you, you will fall into a sleep and never awake!"

He came close to Mr. D and blew the powder directly into his face. Mr. D coughed and blinked his eyes. He never went to sleep at all.

USED UP TRICKS
The Voodoo man had used up all his tricks. Nothing had worked. He hung his head and groaned. "I don't understand it. I don't understand it."

"It's very simple. My power is greater than yours," said the little boy. He felt very strong and brave. He climbed back on the Princess's throne.

"Where is my wand?" he said to Mr. D.

"What wand?" stammered Mr. D in astonishment.

"My wand I give orders with," "Oh that!" Mr. D looked about hurriedly.

FINDS COAT HANGER
The only thing he could find was a coat hanger. He handed it to the boy.

"Now," said the boy to Mr. D. "Is there anything you want or any little spell you want to cast over him?"

"Why, no," said Mr. D thoughtfully. "Only I think we might command him to admit that our power is greater than his."

Virginia Aided After Fire

Yes, There's Still a Santa

OLD CHATHAM, N.Y. — The Virginia whose childhood question about Santa Claus inspired a famous editorial 68 years ago is especially aware of the Christmas spirit this year.

Two months ago Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas, 76, fled the burning home she shared with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Temple, and her family.

They were sheltered first by neighbors, then by relatives. Finally, a couple offered the rental of a handsomely restored old farmhouse.

As an 8-year-old, Virginia O'Hanlon wrote to the New York Sun, asking for the truth about Santa Claus.

In an editorial, Frances P. Church replied: "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist."

"We have really experienced the spirit of that editorial," said Mrs. Douglas. "We know that love and generosity exists."

Grandma's Yule Party Tale Puts Spotlight on Grandpa

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It was Christmas Eve in the suburbs. "Tell us a story, Gramps," asked one of the little tots.

"Now, I told you one last night," said Gramps. "Get your grand-mother to tell you one."

"Okay," said one of the tots. "Grandma, you tell us a story."

"Well, all right," said Grandma. "Would you like to hear an old-fashioned Christmas story?"

"Oh, yes. Goody goody!" "Well, I'll tell you how they used to celebrate at the office in the old days before your grandfather retired," said Grandma.

"The men gathered around the office Christmas tree and sang carols. Then they sang old war songs, and started drinking out of bottles. "After that, somebody hunted up a bit of mitseltote, and then all the office wolves began chasing all the pretty girls around the room."

"The men gathered around the office Christmas tree and sang carols. Then they sang old war songs, and started drinking out of bottles. "After that, somebody hunted up a bit of mitseltote, and then all the office wolves began chasing all the pretty girls around the room."

"The committee was headed by Dr. Myron Wegman, dean of the University of Michigan School of Public Health. It is issued reports and recommendations of health manpower needs and home care. They were released by Romney at his news conference.

"These reports will receive serious and thorough consideration in the preparation of my 1966-67 budget and state-of-the-state programs," Romney said.

NEED FOR PERSONNEL
The manpower report stressed the need for additional, properly prepared personnel at all levels. But it made no specific recommendations "because the supply of physicians and the need for more medical school facilities are now under active study by several governmental and educational groups," Romney said.

Its home care recommendations included:
—Making home care part of the program of every local health department and area planning agency;
—Including home services in health insurance policies;

—The providing of funds from private agencies and the legislature to get home care programs started in most communities; —Short and long-term training programs to carry out such programs.

"How did wolves get invited to the party, Grandma?" asked one of the tots.

"Oh, all the offices had had it on the floor and were trying to choke it. Remember?" they replied. Grandma, looking at Grandpa, Grandpa cleared his throat and looked down, said Grandpa lamely, the other way.

"By quitting time," continued Grandma, "nobody wanted to leave. Some men were leaning out the window whistling at more girls on the street below. Others were telling the boss to go fly a kite. And still others were leaping from desk to desk like goats."

"Didn't they ever fall and hurt themselves?" inquired one of the tots.

ON CRUTCHES
"Well, your Grandpa fell one year and didn't get off his crutches until Easter."

"That's not true!" broke in Grandpa. "I marched in the St. Pat's Day parade that year."

"In any case," resumed Grandma, "many of the men didn't get home until after San-ta Claus had come and gone. I can't remember one year when you were speaker at a Mount Pleasant didn't arrive until 3 a.m., and Chamber of Commerce banquet then you attacked our Christ-Jan. 25.

Abby Rides to the Hounds Watch Out for the High Ones

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: May I have your consent to name my lovely thoroughbred filly "Dear Abby"? I plan to show her as a conformation hunter. Sincerely,

AN ABBY FAN
DEAR FAN: Be my guest. I have had children, dogs, cats, birds, skunks, turtles and even a queen bee named after me, so why not a filly? I warn you, I am pushing 48, so don't expect too much of me on the jumps.

DEAR ABBY: We live at the air crossroads of the world, and hardly a week passes without a call from someone who's at the airport with "regards" from a mutual friend or a relative.

These travelers have anywhere from a few hours to an entire evening to kill. This means we must drive out to the airport and entertain them. If it's around dinner time (and it usually is) I either have to ask them to my home for dinner, a courtesy I am not always prepared to extend on a moment's notice, or we must take them out.

We aren't poor, but we don't enjoy winning and dining the cousins, uncles and grandmothers of some casual acquaintances.

Groups Hold Gala Events for Holiday

Christmas gifts and cookie recipes will be exchanged when the Pontiac Suburban Extension Group meets tonight. Mrs. Roland H. Zilka of Edgely Drive will be hostess for the 8 p.m. gathering.

Members of the American Red Cross Volunteers held their annual Christmas meeting and party at the Pontiac General Hospital. Each brought gifts and wrappings for the pediatric department. Mrs. Harry Winkley was the unit chairman.

The Disabled American Veterans chapter No. 101 and its auxiliary held its annual Christmas party Sunday in the First Federal Savings of Oakland Building. A community sing took place and seasonal selections by the "Norsemen."

ance we haven't seen in years and may never see again. Some guests DO offer to pick up the check, but how are we to know if we can better afford to treat them than they us?

Just what is our obligation to these people?

INTERNATIONAL HOSTS
DEAR HOSTS: It depends entirely on the circumstances. If the caller bears regards from a dear friend or relative, and you WANT to entertain him, then entertain him as best you can in the time allowed.

But you have no obligation to "wine and dine" the short-tail relatives of every casual acquaintance who dials your number. Tell them you regret that you are unable to see them on such short notice. And don't feel guilty.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old senior girl with a question. I have always heard that no girl is so popular that she can refuse a boy when he asks her to dance.

There is this boy at school who has asked me out, but I have never accepted because I don't care for him, but whenever he sees me at a dance he always asks me to dance. Abby, I am not stuck-up, but I can't stand this boy. I hate to hurt his feelings, but I can't seem to get rid of him.

How can I get out of dancing with him? If I say I have a sore foot or something and he sees me dancing with somebody else later, he'll know I lied. Help!

CAN'T STAND HIM

Mary Rebecca Johnson of Gilbert Lake, daughter of the William Johnsons of Steubenville, Ohio, and Adolph H. Magnus Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph H. Magnus of Brookside Drive, were wed Saturday in Steubenville.

MRS. ADOLPH H. MAGNUS JR.

DEAR CAN'T: Sorry, honey, but one of the penalties of popularity is attention from those who like you more than you like them. What's one dance more or less? You can't turn anyone down without getting the reputation of being a snob.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ELLEN
AT THE BANK: If all your dreams don't come true, take comfort in the fact that neither do your nightmares.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WILLIE
OUT WEST: Be careful with whom you "kill time" — or you'll be doing some. The girl is under age, and the "entertainment" is out of bounds.

Problems? Write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

She Remembers Kids in Korea

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Mrs. Laura M. Gradick knits a sweater a week for children she's never seen. For over 10 years she's been sending packages of clothing to children in Korea.

All her hand-knit sweaters are fashioned to button at the neck rather than down the front because "I've never seen a child who would keep a sweater buttoned up the front, and the chest ought to be protected in the cold weather."

Mr. and Mrs. Jewel B. Moore of East Tennyson Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter Linda Lee to Larry Lee Hart, son of Mrs. Frances Hart of Royal Oak. Miss Moore is a freshman at Wayne State University.

Love Prompting These Presents

Everyone bemoans the commercialization of Christmas, but one area family — quietly and quaintly — is doing something about it.

At the Thomas W. Bergman household on Binghamton Drive, Auburn Heights, an estimated $3 will be spent for the holiday.

For the past five years the Bergman family has chosen to avoid the frequently harried, rather than happy holidays by shunning the shopping and "creating" gifts for one another.

Arriving at their cherry colonial home, we found six-year-old Cathy and Mark, 4, in the kitchen preparing vegetables for a huge kettle of beef stew which they planned to freeze in plastic containers for gift-giving.

"They've done everything themselves," said Mrs. Bergman.

Although not professionally trained for craft work, Mrs. Bergman has had years of experience in Sunday School.

"I try to attend all of the workshops and seminars concerning children offered in this area," she said.

CHILDREN LOVE TO CREATE

"I think many parents have forgotten the child's thrill of creating. So often we just hand them toys with a 'Go play now. Don't bother Mommy, and don't mess up the house.' We really owe our children the privilege of making a mess."

Nut shells, old jewelry, macaroni, dress and upholstery trim also are salted away. "We save anything we think possibly can be used. If a thing seems worthless, we save it anyway and think about it for a while."

"In this troubled age, people do seem to be thinking more about preserving the right spirit of Christmas," reflected Mrs. Bergman. "I think we need to concentrate on teaching children to love and to give."

"You may not want to quote me on this," she concluded, "but we don't even stress Santa Claus. If he were the Saint Nick of yesteryear with candies and mittens, it would be grand; but when he can please only by bringing toys that cost $39.95, that's pretty sad."

"We're just trying to make Christmas a time to stress love."

"No peeking now!" pleads six-year-old Cathy hiding her Christmas gift, a detergent bottle scouring pad holder, from her teasing mother Mrs. Thomas W. Bergman. The Bergmans live on Binghamton Drive. Cathy's four-year-old brother Mark was a little too energetic to pose for Press photographer Phil Webb.

Polly's Pointers A Christmas Table

DEAR POLLY — Christmas is upon us and mine is an idea for saving good things when having a large party. Cover the table with white paper and then cover with red or green nylon net.

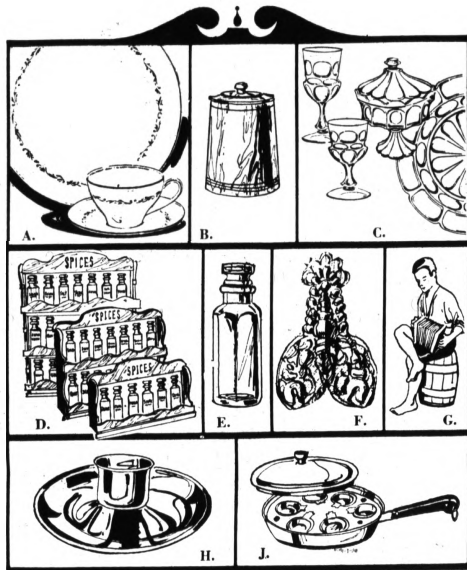

If I use red net for the cloth, I make pompons of green net to decorate the cloth or to make a centerpiece. —MRS. H. K. GIRLS — A white sheet could also be used under the colored nylon net. Such a cloth can be made so easily and decorated as simply or as extravagantly as one desires.

Little bunches of artificial holly caught here and there would add a festive look. What did we do before the day of nylon net? —POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Mom can enjoy Christmas more with a bit of cooperation from the family when it comes time to unwrap the gifts. She can have a little extra gift, appropriate for any age or sex, that would be offered as a surprise gift for the one who is nearest about folding the pretty paper and ribbons that can be reconditioned and re-used. This saves on the cost of next year's wrappings. —MRS. A. J. M.

DEAR POLLY — When you are checking your Christmas tree lights do not throw away those that have lost their good looks because the colored paint has started to chip off. We scrape off the remaining paint and find they make wonderful night lights. —MRS. M. J. O.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for other registered nurses. Instead of sewing, gluing or otherwise trying to keep the black band on my cap I staple it in place. This is clean, easy to remove and easy to put on. —M. A. S.

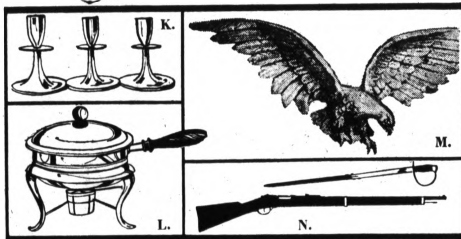

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Egres of Ross Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Jean Spencer, to Pot. Wayne John Jidov, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jidov of South Telegraph Road. Her fiancé is stationed at Fort Knox, Ky.

Make Pillow for Special Friend Gift

For a special friend, give a Christmas gift — a present with a personal touch.

According to the National Cotton Council, an ideal choice is a colorful appliqued pillow, decorated with motifs that represent your friend's favorite hobby or special likes.

For the decorative designs, use cotton iron-on tape. It's available in a wide variety of colors in corduroy, denim, twill, broadcloth, or cotton knit.

To make toss pillows, cut two 12-inch squares from solid-colored cotton. Stitch together on three sides. Decorate with iron-on designs and then stuff with cotton batting. Sew open end of pillow together.

For a friend who is a gardening enthusiast, decorate a green toss pillow with a red cotton iron-on flower set in a yellow fabric flower pot. Add a yellow trowel or watering can.

If your friend likes cats, make a toss pillow embellished with appealing kittens. Copy kitten patterns from pictures and cut them from black iron-on tape. Iron tape on pillow fabric and sew on green buttons for eyes, narrow white rickrack for whiskers.

Why Grow Old?

by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Often very valuable beauty hints come to me through letters from readers. So many women are annoyed by brittle, grooved, or split nails! This is very likely to be a problem if a woman does household chores.

The habit of wearing rubber gloves with cotton lining while doing such work is helpful. It is also beneficial to massage an oil or cream into the nails and the skin surrounding them.

A SUGGESTION
One reader sent me this suggestion to share with you

It's Easy to Mix Batch of Play Clay

It's those last-minute Christmas gifts that get you . . . particularly gifts for a child, since it means battling the bedlam of toy stores.

If you happen to be a gift or two shy, you or your teenage daughter can step into your nice quiet kitchen and in less time than it takes to get to a store and back cook up a batch of "play clay."

Modeling is a favorite past-time of most youngsters, and this particular clay is guaranteed to be mother-approved, since the two ingredients are baking soda and cornstarch . . . both foods . . . which means it's safe in the smallest hands.

Since both products are also recommended bath additives for sensitive skin, it's also gentle to small hands.

DIRECTIONS

To make the clay, mix well together in a saucepan 2 cups baking soda and 1 cup corn starch. Add 1 1/4 cups water combined with a few drops of food coloring or tempera paint.

Mix and cook to boiling, stirring constantly until mixture reaches a dough-like consistency (about 4 minutes).

Transfer clay to a plate, cover with a damp towel and store in refrigerator to cool for about half an hour.

Knead a little, as you would dough, and pack in a ploidim bag closing bag securely to keep it airtight.

Even space-age children enjoy making decorations for the Christmas tree. Susan and Sally King, nine-year-old twins, have completed a trayful of play clay ornaments. They used sequins and rickrack for trim. The girls are the daughters of the Bruce Kings of Silverside Drive.

Dress Up Holiday Tables

To dress up serving tables at holiday parties, the National Cotton Council offers these decorating tips.

CHECK DIET
There have been some evidence that diet plays a part, but it is not very convincing. However, if the measures I have mentioned do not remedy the condition you would be wise to talk this over with your doctor.

This same reader gave me another idea to pass along to you. For many years she has used anhydrous lanolin to keep her skin soft. As you probably know, lanolin is an important ingredient in creams. However, anhydrous lanolin is lanolin from which all the water has been removed. You can get it at any drug store.

This type lanolin is very heavy. My reader mixes it with regular cream and finds that it is wonderful for the epidermis.

a wide variety of eye-catching patterns, ranging from a smart black and white zebra stripe to a red and gold paisley design.

She Wasn't Lying

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — An 85-year-old woman who was drawn for jury duty in the U. S. District Court here asked that she be excused to care for her elderly mother. Court officials were somewhat taken back but excused her when they found she had a 103-year-old mother.

More than one million people have ridden to the summit of Pike's Peak on the world-famous cog train.

This Bride Takes Vows in Brocade

The Samuel Robert Bearden (Ruth Ann Willson) left for a honeymoon in Canada after their vows and reception Monday in the First Baptist Church.

Their parents are the William F. Willsons of Second Avenue and the Robert H. Beardens of Alice Street.

With her gown of white satin brocade styled along modified Empire lines with Kabuki sleeves, the bride wore a petal headpiece and silk illusion veil. She carried white orchids and Stephanotis while repeating vows to Rev. Robert Shelton.

With maid of honor, Betty Jean Willson, were the bridesmaids Judith Ann Brien, Carol Dudley and Linda McElrath. Pamela Breininger was junior attendant.

Keith Bearden stood as best man. Robert Willson, Edwin Chappell, James Richard, James Miller and John Willson were ushers and Danny Willson, ring-bearer.

Tunic Apron Easily Sewn for Holiday

If you sew, your problems are easily solved. For all the women on your Christmas list, make smart-looking tunic tie aprons . . . newest look in kitchen cover-ups.

Sizes are no problem, because tunic aprons are straight-cut garments that slip over the head and are joined together only at shoulder seams. Waist ties secure aprons at sides.

You can cut a basic pattern from brown paper, making the apron with a scoop neck, and as long or short as you like.

To personalize each style, the National Cotton Council suggests you vary trims and fabrics. Use cotton ticking for one apron, and decorate it with colorful flowers cut from cotton iron-on tape. Sew on bias tape strips for waist ties.

For another apron, choose a bright red cotton calico. Edge neckline and skirt hem with black cotton ball fringe.

If you don't have enough of the same fabric for one apron, cut the back from a solid-color cotton and the front from a coordinated print.

The Son-In-Law Should Pay Fair Rental

Consultant in Money Management

"Advise all mothers, Mary Feeley, not to allow their children to live with them after marriage."

The Chicago woman who writes this goes on to say:

"I was sure my daughter and her husband I would get along. But it just doesn't work out. It is my home, in my name, but I find now I have no privileges. Even my furniture is being ruined by their six children. And they pay only $10 a week rent. The husband thinks this small amount is too much."

"What can I do now?" Mrs. B. H.

The first thing you can do, Mrs. H., is to tell your son-in-law that along with everything else in life, his rent has gone up. I doubt if he will threaten to move out. Not with those six children. But you can't expect all the breaks — the best you can hope for is a little more money.

You don't mention what your son-in-law's income is. But any wage earner can expect to pay at least one week's salary for shelter. This is generally considered a fair percentage, and he probably couldn't find other lodgings for this small a price.

Members of a family often get the idea that money is a dirty word and nobody wants to be the first to bring it up. But stop being a sissy. Discussing a sensible money arrangement — and sticking with it — is one of the best ways in the world to promote harmony in the household.

I don't suggest that you try to plan a new financial arrangement with your daughter. Talk right straight to the boss. He sounds rather like a bully to me, and this type doesn't usually give you much trouble once you take a firm stand.

I'm certainly not going to advise all mothers not to allow their children to live with then after marriage. But I do urge them to let the young people pay their own way. Self respect is a very healthy thing, and nobody can have it if he leans too heavily on anybody else.

Dear Miss Feeley: I am a widow with a monthly pension from the government. Here's my question: I have quite a large savings account and someone has advised me to use this money to buy a paid-up life insurance policy and collect the dividends from it.

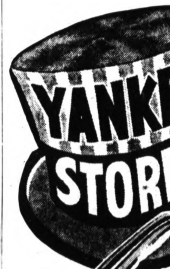

I understand such funds would not be taxable when income tax comes around — whereas a tax must be paid on the interest on my savings account. What is your opinion on this? P. L. Wantaug, N.Y.

Dear P.L.: If you buy paid-up life insurance, the only tax would be on the interest on the dividends if they are allowed to accumulate. However, if you collect these dividends each year, and don't give them a chance to earn any interest, then you would not have to pay a tax.

But give some thought to this, P.L. There's nothing like ready cash in the bank in case of emergency. I think you'd be smart to leave some part of that savings account right where it is, whatever else you decide to do.

Also keep in mind that while you pay a tax on the interest your money earns in the bank, it's only a portion of those earnings. You're still ahead.

Red Convicted in Harlem Riots

Guilty of Urging Fall of N.Y. Government

NEW YORK (AP) — William Epton, an admitted Communist convicted of urging Harlem rioters in 1964 to smash the government of New York, faces a maximum 12-year sentence for criminal anarchy.

Epton, leader of the Peking-leaving Harlem Progressive Labor Movement, will be sentenced Jan. 27 and must remain in jail until then. He also faces fines up to $5,000.

State Supreme Court Justice Arthur Markewich revoked Epton's $10,000 bail after the verdict was returned Monday, saying the jury had classified him as "a dangerous man."

The jury of three men and nine women deliberated for five hours before finding Epton, a Negro, guilty under a law last invoked in 1911 and passed 10 years earlier after the assassination of President William McKinley in Buffalo.

BITTER RIOTS
Epton was arrested Aug. 5, 1964, in the aftermath of the bitter Harlem riots, when he organized a demonstration in defiance of a police ban.

Epton was charged with conspiring to riot, advocating the overthrow of the New York state government and conspiring to overthrow the government.

The indictment against Epton, an electrical worker and a veteran of the Korean war, accused him of urging Negroes to "smash this state completely and totally and set up a new state of our own choosing."

Epton admitted Communist beliefs during the trial, but denied he tried to extend them by force. He said he was condemning police brutality.

Epton is married and has two children. Two of the women on the jury that found him guilty were Negroes.

Tree Planting Report Due for City Commission

A report on the city's tree planting program tops the 11-item agenda for tonight's City Commission meeting.

The tree planting report will be presented by the Department of Parks and Recreation.

In other business, the commission will consider a request from Paul Spadafora to drop his tavern license at 856 Oakland and transfer a Class C license there.

The Class C, permitting liquor-by-the-glass, has been acquired from escrow.

Contract documents for the revised R20 plan also will be up for final commission approval.

Youth Is Serious After Area Mishap

A 19-year-old Cass City youth is listed in serious condition at Pontiac General Hospital after a two-car accident yesterday in Oxford Township.

Ronald R. Randall suffered internal injuries when his car ran into the rear of a truck driven by Hilbert F. Nagel, 51, of Detroit.

A witness told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies Randall's car had passed him at a speed of about 80 miles an hour just before the accident on Lapeer Road near Ray.

Suit Charges Negro Voters Lost Homes

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The nation's first voter intimidation suit filed under the 1965 Voting Rights Act accuses a Louisiana registrar and seven landowners of forcing Negro sharecroppers from their life-long homes.

Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack P. Gremillion said he will not defend the registrar, Fletcher Harvey, named in the federal court suit Monday.

"I'm not responsible for the predicament that he is in," said Gremillion. "He caused it of his own accord."

When told of his state's legal attitude, Harvey replied, "I don't want to know what he says."

TENANT FARMERS

Harvey, six landowners and one farming company were charged with forcing from their homes Negro tenant farmers who registered to vote.

U.S. District Judge E. Gordon

West has scheduled a hearing on the matter in Baton Rouge on Thursday.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the case was the first voter intimidation suit under the 1965 Voting Rights Act. His department seeks a court order to ban interference with Negroes seeking to vote in the parish.

Named defendants, in addition to Harvey, were Edward I. Daniel, Jordan Truitt, John Spillman, R. Harry Daniel Sr., R. Harry Daniel Jr., B. Harrison Barrow and Daniel & Truitt, Inc., a farming firm.

NO COMMENT

The defendants refused to comment or were unavailable for questions.

Earlier Monday, Katzenbach designated four more Mississippi counties — Carroll, Newton, Simpson and Warren — for federal examiners, bringing to 36 the total so designated under the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

Katzenbach said registrars would go to the four Mississippi counties immediately after the first of the year because local registrars have continued to use literacy as a voting qualification.

He said local registrars have accepted Negro registration in large numbers in some cases, but he added, "While such a level of compliance with the act represents substantial progress, compliance must mean compliance with all the provisions of the act, including the ban on any literacy requirements."

BRIEF FILED

The state of South Carolina filed a brief with the U.S. Supreme Court explaining in detail its contention that the Voting Rights Act is unconstitutional. The brief questioned constitutionality of those sections of the act falling into these two general categories:

1. "Those which prejudice, without any judicial hearing, the conduct of selected states and automatically suspend their valid laws and legislative capacities."

2. "Those which make criminal conduct that is unrelated to race or any form of state action."

Briefs as friends of the court also were filed by Louisiana, Georgia, Mississippi, Virginia and Alabama, contending the voting rights legislation exceeds congressional authority.

Another friend of the court brief filed by Illinois supported constitutionality of the act.

Alabama filed a separate motion asking that it be permitted to intervene directly in the case to present arguments on points on which its interests differ from those of South Carolina.

Atty. Gen. Arthur K. Bolton of Georgia, in supporting the original South Carolina brief, said the proposition that only states can prescribe voting qualifications had been backed up by a long series of Supreme Court decisions in the last 100 years.

In Louisiana, the complaints said Negroes who registered in West Feliciana Parish have been subjected to a variety of economic penalties — usually the termination of long-standing sharecropping agreements — since October.

None of the 2,700 eligible Negroes was registered to vote in the parish by the end of 1963 and nearly all of its 1,400 eligible whites were registered, the Justice Department said.

3 European Train Wrecks Leave 52 Dead, 109 Hurt

LISBON, Portugal (UPI)—Portuguese and Spanish authorities began an investigation today of three train crashes with 52 deaths and 109 injured in 60 hours that claimed 52 lives and injured 109 others.

Thirteen of the injured had been traveling aboard a special train taking them home from an earlier accident.

Most of the dead and injured in the two-train collision in Portugal yesterday and another in Spain last Saturday were Portuguese. No Americans were reported among the victims.

In the first Portuguese accident last night a commuter special outward bound from Lisbon slammed head-on into a freight train at Sintra 20 miles west of the capital, killing 20 persons and injuring 17.

An hour later, two other trains collided near Praia da Ribeira. Injuring 13 survivors of an earlier wreck Saturday night a disaster but nothing happened. The freight's engineer lost a leg and was trapped for hours in the wreckage before being freed by rescue teams who used blow torches to release him and others.

Daiz said he signalled to his engineer to stop when he realized that they were heading for a disaster but nothing happened. The freight's engineer lost a leg and was trapped for hours in the wreckage before being freed by rescue teams who used blow torches to release him and others.

The 13 survivors were aboard a special train taking them home from the Spanish wreck. They had been joining over their good luck in surviving the earlier accident when their train hit by another locomotive.

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—A judge has overruled the prosecution's motion for a new penalty trial for a convicted murderer whose phony tears may have swayed the jury.

Jack Whitmore, 19, cried profusely as his attorney implored the jury to spare Whitmore's life.

Whitmore was convicted of the July 8 sniper killing of Russell Nelson at a picnic grounds.

Whitmore's half-brother, Jack Sweet, testified Whitmore killed Nelson and shot his wife so he could steal their car. Mrs. Nelson lost an eye but survived.

But the jury could not agree on the punishment: death or life imprisonment. It deadlocked, 6-6.

The jury last week invoked the lesser serious penalty.

MADE HIMSELF CRY

The prosecutor asked for a second penalty trial, contending that Whitmore cried because he sniffed a doctored handkerchief, but Superior Court Judge E. Perry Churchill denied the motion.

The judge said he will formally pronounce life sentence on Dec. 30 at which time he will receive a presentence probation report on Whitmore.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Edwin M. Osborne told the judge: "After the jury had gone, Whitmore turned off the tears, smiled, supplied, displayed a handkerchief soaked in medication, and said, 'When I rub my eyes it makes me cry'."

Whitmore's attorney, E. E. Clabaugh, told newsmen he had given his client a handkerchief soaked in mentholatum.

Said Clabaugh: "It was a possible way to save the kid's life. I don't think he deserved the gas chamber; he felt remorse. But physically and mentally he was incapable of showing emotion. He can't cry."

CAB Seeks to Boost Chances of Surviving Air Crash

By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) is about to propose major steps to improve the chances of surviving an air crash and the techniques of finding the causes of accidents.

Some of the CAB's suggestions, to be submitted to the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) stem from two recent crashes of Boeing 727 jets at Cincinnati and Salt Lake City.

But they go far beyond the scope of these two accidents and will involve all jets, not just the three-engine 727.

Three specific recommendations already have gone to the FAA. They include:

- Early research into the materials used in airliner cabins, specifically plastic linings and soundproofing padding, to determine whether they give off toxic fumes while burning and whether a fire affecting both the plastic and insulating material destroys their individual flame-resistant qualities.

- Separately, they resist fire. The CAB is concerned that there may be a combustion combination that is deadlier than any one supposed.

- A thorough government-industry look at way to better educate passengers on how to operate emergency window exits. The CAB is thinking about using a "mockup" of such exits to be demonstrated before each take-off.

There is evidence that in past crashes, passengers have panicked instead of pulling them in. Possible relocation of the belly fuel lines in the 727, whose three engines are rear-mounted.

In the United Air Lines crash at Salt Lake City Nov. 11, in which 42 died, it is known that the collapsing main gear in a hard landing 300 feet short of the runway ruptured a fuel line leading to the center engine and caused a fire. The impact, measured by a flight recorder, was nearly nine times greater than normal.

But the CAB's eventual recommendations to FAA will go into other air safety areas. These will urge:

- Research into ways to prevent, control or reduce fire inside cabins, possibly through some kind of sprinkler system. All present antifire devices and techniques are aimed at fighting flames from the outside.

The CAB and the entire industry were stunned by the loss of life in the Salt Lake City crash, an accident in which the fuselage stayed almost intact and where virtually 100 per cent survival would have been possible except for a fire that spread while the plane still was sliding on its belly for 3,000 feet.

- Possible development of better emergency exits, mainly the windows. There is a feeling on the part of air safety experts in the CAB and in the industry itself that these exits may be too small, and that more may be needed.

One suggestion the CAB may propose is research into the possibility of using an entire section of fuselage as an escape "hatch" instead of just a single window area.

This might involve structural problems, yet many new "convertible" or "quickchange" jets are being built with big forward cargo doors for fast conversion to freight flights.

More sophisticated flight recorders.

The recorders on all present U.S. jets depict speed, altitude, direction, altitude and gust loads. The CAB desperately wants data on engine performance, adding at least 20 so-called "parameters" or data sources to what current recorders provide.

As one top CAB crash investigator puts it: "The day of walking up to wreckage and figuring out what happened from the shape of the crushed metal is over."

"We need new sources of information or accident investigation will be a futile waste of time. Jets are just too complicated to solve their accidents with present means."

NOT SHAKEN
The spate of 727 accidents—a United Air Lines plane at Cincinnati last July, an American Air Line plane at Cincinnati Nov. 9, and the Salt Lake City tragedy two days later—has not shaken the CAB's faith in this new jet.

CAB officials publicly say the latter two are "still under investigation." Privately, they are convinced that pilot error or pilot technique were at fault in both cases.

The flight recorders from both the American and United planes showed a rate of descent during the final approach stages of at least 2,000 feet per minute. Normal rate would be between 500 and 800 feet per minute.

The swift descents made it impossible for the pilots to apply considerable power as they leveled off to reduce the sink rate. There is evidence that at Cincinnati as well as Salt Lake City, power was applied too late.

ISSUED BULLETIN
Significantly, one major airline issued a bulletin to all jet crews only six days after the Salt Lake City accident.

It warned them to avoid a high sink rate during final approach. It reminded that on all jets, and the 727 in particular, power must be utilized to prevent an uncontrollable sink at low altitude.

All jets have a sink rate higher than propeller-driven planes, because of their greater weight and swept-back wings. The 727 is even more critical, for it has "high - lift" devices — huge rear flaps and forward wing slats — that provide the ability to make landings on short runways.

But the partner of high - lift characteristics is high drag, and the compensating factor for high drag is more power.

NO MYSTERY
Similar reminders are in the works for all airline crews. Thus, there is a feeling that no mystery haunts the Cincinnati and Salt Lake City crashes — and that corrective action is in progress.

But there is definite concern that so many persons died in two accidents where impair injuries were few, and where fire and smoke was the killer.

Ironically, only four persons lost their lives in what was potentially a far worse accident—the collision of an Eastern Air Lines Constellation and a TWA 707 45 miles north of New York Dec. 4.

The Constellation's captain crash-landed literally on the side of a hill. Investigators express disbelief that only four persons died. But they also point out that impact with the hill caused the fuselage to break open. Passengers walked out of the torn areas with comparative ease.

This offered stark comparison with the Salt Lake City crash, where the fuselage stayed intact. The difference was the fire, fed by a relatively small amount of spilled fuel. One report says the kerosene that caught fire in the ruptured line involved less than 30 gallons.

'Hair-Raising' Lawsuit Inmate Sues for Wig

VENTURA, Calif. (UPI) Richard Tracy, serving a 50-day sentence for a traffic violation, has petitioned Superior Court for a wig, claiming a jail barber cut his hair short.

Tracy maintained in yesterday's petition that the haircut was deliberate and in retaliation for his writing a series of ha- men," a readily accepted "idea" from coupons petitions from the Ventura County jail.

Tests Support Behavior Idea

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — The old saw that man will behave as others expect him to behave received some laboratory support in tests reported here.

More than 600 executives recently took the roles of factory workers to determine how foremen win approval for changes in the work schedule.

The executives were divided into four-man groups, playing the roles of factory workers asked to give up an hourly rotation system in the interests of better production.

Two of the men in each group were fast and rotating jobs. One was slow and therefore better with a permanent task. The fourth was the group leader or foreman. Disagreement was built into the discussion.

As it worked out, the attitude of the group leader toward his men fixed the outcome of the decision, reports psychologist Dr. Norman R. F. Maier of the University of Michigan, in the Journal of Applied Behavioral Science.

If the leader saw his men as problem employees, they did in fact resist the change, and a poor decision plus hard feelings resulted. However, if the leader perceived his men as "idea men," a readily accepted "idea" from coupons petitions from the Ventura County jail.

Weary U.N. Near Assembly Windup

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. delegates pushed wearily to close the lid tonight on a General Assembly that has plowed through two years of accumulated business and broken a few precedents.

Assembly President Amintore Fanfani was expected to give the grueling session to a close late tonight or in the early morning hours, depending on the volume of windup oratory.

It will mean the end of an assembly that had to take time out from current business to clean up financial and house-keeping items untouched during last year's session paralyzed by the voting deadlock over peace-keeping finances.

In the past three months, the delegates also were host to such figures as Pope Paul VI, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, Austrian Chancellor Josef Klaus and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

WORK SCHEDULE

Cutting in on the work schedule of key delegates were Security Council debates on the strife in Cyprus, the independence declaration of Rhodesia's white minority government, the India-Pakistan conflict and the situation in Portugal's African territories.

The Assembly session saw Red China's boosters make the strongest showing yet in their 15-year struggle to capture the Chinese seat for Peking.

It also saw the big Asian-African group maneuver itself into plain-ly disturbed at the move. They predicted it might be ap-plied successfully to such ques-tions as the seating of China and even disarmament.

Brushing aside U.S. objec-tions, the Asian-Africans Mon-day night rammed through the 117-nation assembly a proposal which, in effect, junked the long-standing rule that important issues require a two-thirds ma-jority for approval.

SIMPLE MAJORITY

Despite warnings from U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg that a dangerous precedent would be set, the assembly decided that a resolution before it calling for elimination of colo-nialism required only a simple majority for approval.

Western diplomats were ter Wilson as he addressed the assembly. * * *

The United States set a few precedents of its own. In its first U.N. boycott, the U.S. dele-gation walked out on Cuban For-eign Minister Raul Roa as he was assailing U.S. foreign poli-cy in the general debate.

The United States also in-dulged in a new practice of vot-ing for disarmament proposals it had roundly criticized or made plain it would ignore.

The U.S. delegation approved a resolution calling for an end to all nuclear weapon tests after making clear it intended to keep on setting off underground blasts until the Soviet Union stops them.

Prince Charles is the winner of the Duke of Edinburgh's award, established by his father, Prince Philip.

The 17-year-old crown prince won the award after a year-long test, said Headmaster Robert Chew, of Gordonstown (Scotland) School. The award is not competitive, but is based on performance. The duke was once a pupil at the school, famed for its emphasis on developing self-reliance through physical training.

In February, Prince Charles will leave for Australia to attend Geelong School.

Rejects Screen Career, Sticks With Union

The movie scene would have featured an irascible, witty and wise old Irishman — with Michael Quill, head of the Transport Workers Union, in the role.

But Quill said last night he had turned down the offer from producer Harold Hecht to play the title role in "Finian's Rainbow."

"Even if the offer is on the level," said Quill in his Irish brogue, "I'm going to stick with the TWU."

Hit by Truck, Two Boys Die

PLYMOUTH UPS — The three little sons of Dr. Karl Van Newkirk were late as they hurried to Plymouth Junior High School West's annual Christmas play last night.

The three, Jeffrey, 11, Gregory, 9, and Bradley, 7, dodged through a parking lot and then ran across a street leading to the school.

A small truck driven by Herman E. Collins, 21, Southgate, was coming down the street, however, and all three of the boys were hit.

Jeffrey was dead at the scene and Bradley died three hours later at a Detroit hospital. Gregory was unhurt.

Police said Collins was blameless.

Waterford Rejects Land-Fill Purchase

The Waterford Township Board last night unanimously rejected an offer to purchase a 12-acre land-fill site from Bate-man Realty for $21,000.

The decision concurred with a previous recommendation by the Township Planning Commission to decline the proposal.

The planners called the location inadequate for land-fill purposes and inconsistent with a refuse control study conducted previously by the commission.

The site is located at the end of Marlinton near the Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks.

RECOGNIZE AGENT

In other business, Waterford Township Professional Fire Fighters, Local 1335, was recognized as the sole collective bargaining agent for negotiations with the Township Board.

The action was in compliance with a new Michigan law, entitling public employees the privilege of collective bargaining.

A WTPFF spokesman stated that all of the township's professional firemen are members of the group as indicated in a petition circulated among them.

The board approved specifications for an estimated $15,600 in new equipment for the water department and authorized Clerk Elmer Fangbner to advertise for bids.

ADD EQUIPMENT

To be financed by the water department's operating maintenance fund, the equipment consists of a half-ton pickup truck, a half-ton panel truck, a one-ton special body truck, a tractor-loader backhoe and a tandem axle trailer.

Deadline for receiving bids on the equipment is Jan. 17.

Also last night, the board opened bids on seven 1966-model vehicles for the building and police departments and on gasoline for the township fleet during 1966-67.

The apparent low bidder for the three building department automobiles and four police department vehicles was John McAuliffe Ford Inc. with net bids of $4,774 and $6,393, respectively.

Trade-in allowances were deducted on each of the seven bids received.

BIDS VARY

Bids ranged up to $6,496 for the building department cars and $9,993 for the four police department vehicles.

All bids were referred to the township's transportation committee for further study.

The Sinclair Oil Co. turned in the apparent low bid for the two-year gasoline contract, offering regular gasoline for 13 cents a gallon and premium for 15 cents. Four bids were opened.

The bids were referred to Fangbner for analysis and a subsequent report next Monday night.

677 COMPLAINTS

A police department monthly report presented to board members indicated there were 677 complaints in November.

Arrests totaled 74, 31 adults and 43 juveniles.

Crime breakdown consisted of 91 larcenies, 35 breaking and enterings, 110 malicious destruction of property cases and six stolen automobiles.

Township Justices Kenneth Hempstead and Patrick Daly issued 147 traffic tickets, 139 to adults and eight to juveniles.

Project Mohole—2

Raft Stability a Must

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Late in 1963, scientists will begin digging, in the floor of the Pacific Ocean, the deepest hole man has ever dug. This is the second of three dispatches on Project Mohole.)

By JOHN HALL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—In 1968, a huge 21,500-ton raft, riding high in the water on two pontoonlike hulls, will propel itself into Hawaiian waters and stop at a point 125 miles northeast of Honolulu.

Without the aid of an anchor, it must hover over the same spot for three years while scientists attempt to drill a hole six miles deep into the crust of the earth.

Keeping the steel island in place despite the buffeting of the gale-force winds and 30-foot waves which often sweep through that part of the Pacific Ocean, is one of the technological miracles that must be achieved to assure the success of a controversial scientific experiment known as Project Mohole.

It will take nearly eight miles of drill pipe and casing to reach the ocean floor and penetrate it to the scientists' goal—the mysterious "mantle" of the earth.

Any movement of the raft outside a 500-foot circle could snap the drill string or tie it in knots. And the deeper the drill bites, the more sensitive the thin string of pipe will become to surface movements.

ON COLUMNS
To keep the platform from sloshing up and down in the water and smashing the sensitive diamond bit on hard rock in the bottom of the hole, engineers designed the platform so it would sit about 50 feet above the waves on columns attached to pontoons. The pontoons will be flooded and submerged during drilling.

More difficult is the problem of keeping the platform from drifting away.

Six right-angle propellers will be located just below each of the stabilizing columns. A computer can order any one of the propellers to increase or decrease thrust.

Two underwater sonar systems will feed data to the computer on deep ocean movements. A surface radar system will describe wind speeds and surface ocean movements. The computer will translate this information into orders for the stabilizing propellers.

NEARLY DONE
Working drawings for the raft are nearing completion at the National Steel and Shipbuilding Co. of San Diego, Calif. The shipyard expects to start moulding steel in January.

Will it work?

Engineers are confident the platform will be stable enough. They are more concerned about trouble that may develop in the drilling process.

No one is certain what kind of rock will have to be penetrated in the mantle and in the deep crust.

TURBOCORDER
A reliable turbocorer has been developed to supplant the conventional rotary method, in which the entire drill string had to turn. With the turbocorer, salt water or drilling mud is pumped down the hole for power and only the bit turns. This saves wear and tear on the drill string.

In addition, a retractable drill bit is being explored. Since the bit has to be larger in diameter than the inside of the drill string, the entire length of pipe normally would have to be brought to the surface to replace the bit.

Moors Killings Trial Ordered

HYDE, England (UPI)—A man and woman in their 20s yesterday were ordered to stand trial on charges of murdering a youth and two children whose bodies were uncovered in a massive police search of the desolate pennine moors.

Clerk Ian Brady, 27, and his girlfriend, typist Myra Hindley, 23, both pleaded "not guilty to all three charges." Their trial is to open in Cardiff, Wales, on Jan. 11.

Brady is charged with murdering 17-year-old Edward Evans, whose body was found in Miss Hindley's house, and the two children on the moors, 10-year-old Lesley Ann Downey, and 12-year-old John Kilbride.

Miss Hindley is charged with murdering Evans and Lesley, and with being an accessory to the murder of the Kilbride boy.

The preliminary hearing at Hyde Magistrates Court in the Pennine Moors area heard nearly 50 prosecution witnesses.

3 Miles of Copper Wire Stolen off Phone Poles

PARSONS, Kan. (AP)—Thieves stole three miles of copper wire from the Katy Railroad Monday—right off telephone poles along the right-of-way.

The theft, a mile north of Parsons, was discovered when engine crews complained that signals transmitted by wire were not functioning.

If some means can be found to collapse the bit, it could be brought to the surface inside the pipe—saving hundreds of hours of drilling time.

Additional time will be saved by development of an automatic pipe racker, able to spit out 125 feet of pipe per minute into a rack when the drill string has to be withdrawn for repairs or replacement.

KNOTTY PROBLEM
Another knotty problem will be getting the drill back into the tiny hole once it has been withdrawn.

Only part of the casing connecting the platform to the sea floor can be left in place. Much of the casing must be brought to the surface with the pipe. Otherwise it would be battered to pieces by the ocean's surface movements and waves.

Finding this casing, about 13 inches in diameter, is a little like a roto-rooter trying to locate a drain pipe in a flooded basement.

A mohole subcontractor solved the problem by designing, a sonar to be placed on the end of the drill pipe to sniff the area and tell scientists where the end of the drill string is relative to the hole.

A hydraulic jet protruding from the end of the pipe will be used for power in case the pipe starts swinging back and forth like a pendulum.

TO USE TV
Underwater television also will be used to guide the pipe into the cavity.

What happens if a joint in the drill breaks? How do you get the pipe below the break out of the hole so it can be reconnected?

In the first place, engineers are able to calculate mathematically the cumulative effect of fatigue on any joint of pipe without seeing it. Joints will be pulled out of the hole and replaced before they wear out.

In the event the calculations go haywire, "We'll have to go fishing," says mohole director Gordon Lill. A wire line with a hook device must be lowered down the hole to locate the pipe—a difficult operation to say the least.

LOT OF TROUBLE

From all this, it is easy to see the Mohole Project is a lot of trouble. But there does not appear to be any other way to reach the earth's mantle. Drilling on land is not feasible because the crust of the continents is several times thicker than it is on the ocean floor.

Is it worth the effort?
The scientific community is broadly agreed that man must find out what is inside the earth before he can begin to understand the universe.

Nonetheless, the attempt to drill the mantle has stirred a bitter feud among scientists and politicians over the expense, methods and purpose of the project.

Will the college problem change our speed?

It will slow us down, if we let it.

College enrollments are rising by several hundred thousand every year—and that's the problem.

Higher education needs funds to help finance the facilities, equipment and teachers to educate all these potential leaders.

This is where it hurts. Progress calls for leadership. Leaders are needed, in great abundance, to make wise use of our resources, manpower and human skills.

If the supply of leaders doesn't keep pace, can we expect to maintain our high level in jobs, opportunities and living standards?

This is everybody's concern—and everybody can help. Give to the college of your choice.

2 Cuban Ship Officers Defect

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — The captain and chief engineer of the Cuban government ship Uvero have been given political asylum by the U.S. Embassy, a reliable Foreign Ministry source said today.

The Uvero is unloading a cargo of sugar. Since the ship put into Colombo several days ago, the captain and chief engineer have been "touring Ceylon's hill country," ship sources said.

The ship was expected to sail for home today under the command of the first mate.

to jail for seven days for refusing to disclose a source of information.

Parker had refused in the magistrate's court to disclose who had provided him with statements of the Chamber of Commerce and the Association of Rhodesian Industries last January outlining the economic effects of a unilateral declaration of independence by the Rhodesian government.

The statements have since been published.

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri said Monday night he hopes his meeting with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan will "pave the way for better relations on an abiding basis between our two countries."

Shastri, speaking at a state banquet, said he was going to Tashkent next month with "a sincere desire to promote friendly relations with Pakistan despite our recent bitter experience."

LONDON (AP) — A spokesman for Britain's Royal Mint said today it cannot make enough money because the government lacks money.

Operating at full capacity turning out coins, the mint needs to expand its plant, but plans to build a $2.8-million addition to the mint on Tower Hill have been shelved.

A spokesman explained: "The plan has had to be postponed indefinitely because of the country's economic difficulties."

SENTENCED — Miss Mary Ray French, 19, was sentenced to prison for four to five years yesterday for her part in the murder of Alleen Rowe, 15, Tucson, Ariz. Miss Rowe's body has not been found.

Bonn: Want No N-Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — West Germany has publicly stated it seeks no nuclear weapons of its own, and wants at this time only a bigger say in their possible European use.

A West German spokesman announced the position Monday after Chancellor Ludwig Erhard conferred with President Johnson. The two leaders wind up two days of talks today.

Said State Secretary Karl Guenther von Hase: "Germany, the chancellor stressed, is not interested in national ownership, but asks for closer consultation and for continued termination and for continued consultation."

Johnson and Erhard met in closed session with only interpreters present, and their spokesmen gave few details of the conversation.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson once called his nation's "so-called independent, so-called deterrent" — the expensive-to-maintain submarines.

TALK OF COOPERATION

The Erhard-Johnson meeting also triggered talk of cooperation in other areas. These were made publicly at a state dinner. Both came from Johnson in his formal toast.

He proposed that the two nations join in "exploration of space," perhaps "a probe to the sun, and another, a probe to Jupiter."

Johnson said this was an "ambitious plan to permit us to do together what we cannot do so well alone."

The President also announced he will send a mission headed by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall to West Germany next month. Its goal will be to study the German anti-pollution program which, Johnson said, is one of the most effective in the world.

REUNIFICATION

In his toast, Johnson also said "the reunification of Germany in peace and freedom is a major goal," and he related U.S. support in Viet Nam to Europe.

"If it is not good in Viet Nam, who can trust it in the heart of Europe?" he asked, then answered: "But America's word is good in Viet Nam, as it is good in Berlin."

The President said the United States will push on every door for peace in Viet Nam, "but it takes two to talk and it takes two, as well, to stop the fighting."

U.S. Sees Possibility of G.I., N. Viet Prisoner Exchange

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials have raised the possibility of an exchange of American prisoners of war for North Vietnamese soldiers held captive by the Saigon regime.

But they cautioned that there was no definite word that Americans captured by Communist forces in Viet Nam would be released.

The officials said yesterday the United States was clearly interested in arranging the release of Americans now in Communist hands.

Twenty members of the U.S. armed forces have been listed as "missing, presumed detained by hostile forces" in the Viet Nam war. They include four U.S. airmen being held in North Viet Nam, and two Air Force men and 14 Army men believed to be captives in South Viet Nam.

The State Department said it welcomed an announcement by South Viet Nam of plans to release a number of North Vietnamese prisoners and give them the choice of returning to the North or remaining in the South.

HAILS PROMISE

The U.S. government also hailed a promise by the Saigon regime to give the International Red Cross a list of its prisoners and allow the Red Cross to visit them and inspect conditions under which they are held.

The United States now turns any prisoners it takes in Viet Nam fighting over to South Viet Nam units for detention.

U.S. officials said the Saigon announcement was welcomed because it assured humanitarian treatment under the Geneva Convention for prisoners and also raises hope for release of Americans.

The International Red Cross has been in contact with North Viet Nam but U.S. sources said there was no information available on the possibility of a prisoner exchange.

Soviets, Hanoi Approve Pact

No Details of Accord Disclosed by Reds

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union signed agreements with Communist North Viet Nam today calling for undisclosed additional technical assistance and credits to the Hanoi government as well as an exchange of commodities between the two countries.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Soviet Deputy Premier Vladimir Novikov and North Vietnamese Deputy Premier Le Thanh Ngai participated in the ceremony at the Kremlin, but it gave no details of the agreements.

The Soviet Defense Ministry newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda-Red Star — published a front-page editorial stating: "Soldiers of the people's army of Viet Nam shoot down hundreds of American airplanes with the fire of Soviet-made anti-aircraft guns, and the sky of the Democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam is protected by rockets and fighters made by the Soviet people."

There was no elaboration. U.S. officials have said the Russian surface-to-air missiles — SAM — have had only a 5 percent kill ratio in 160 shots against U.S. planes.

The military paper also called for unity of support for North Viet Nam in the Communist camp, an apparent follow-up to Soviet complaints about Red China's refusal to cooperate with Moscow on such aid.

Red-Haired Bandit Robs Store of $125

A red-haired bandit armed with a sawed-off shotgun held up a Pontiac Township market last night and escaped with $125.

William Holdsworth, owner of Holdsworth's Market at 2653 Auburn, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies a young man came into the store about 8:30 p.m. and bought some beer and bread.

Then, Holdsworth said, the bandit pulled the gun from his coat and ordered Holdsworth to lie on the floor behind the counter or "I'll blow off your head."

The gunman — described as white, about 5-foot-6, weighing 200 pounds — then emptied the cash register and took Holdsworth's wallet, containing only personal papers.

Holdsworth said the man fled out the front door and into a waiting car, which the victim said was a 1958 or '59 Ford.

Sheriff's detectives are investigating the case.

Avon Man Arraigned in Shooting

A 44-year-old Avon Township man — charged with felonious assault in a shooting incident — demanded examination at his arraignment yesterday.

Preliminary examination of King E. Jaynes, 2004 Grant, was set by Avon Township Justice Luther C. Green for Dec. 28.

Jaynes allegedly hit 16-year-old William Love in the shoulder with a single shot from a .20-caliber rifle as Love and four other youths ran away from Jaynes' home Saturday night.

Love was hospitalized with the wound and is reported in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General.

Jaynes told Oakland County Sheriff's detective Everett Fredericks he had chased Love and the four others after they entered his home against the wishes of his son and wife.

Fredericks said the men apparently wanted to see Jaynes' daughter.

PUSH WAY IN

Jaynes said he was awakened by an alarm cry for help from his wife after the youths allegedly pushed their way past his son into the house.

Clad in pajamas, Jaynes grabbed the weapon and ordered the fleeing youths to halt.

He said when they refused, he fired at their car. Two shots were apparently fired, one of which hit Love.

Board Hears of Problem of Swamp Called Polluted

A 7,500-square-foot swamp, termed polluted and unsafe by residents of Drayton Woods Subdivision, was brought to the attention of Waterford Township board members last night.

A spokesman from the subdivision stated that residents have been unable to make headway with county officials in their efforts to alleviate the situation.

FOUR-WAY SHOT — An Air Force Titan 3C rocket flies steadily away this morning from Cape Kennedy, Fla., carrying four satellites to be put into orbit. Three of the satellites are expected to pave the way for a worldwide communications network, and one is meant for ham radio operators.

4-in-1 Rocket Is Orbiting

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A mighty Air Force Titan 3 rocket thundered into the sky today carrying four satellites.

Shortly after 3 p.m., the engine toward an intended lofty orbit, 21,000 miles above the equator, change the direction 26 degrees and circularize the orbit about 21,000 miles above the Galapagos Islands, west of Ecuador.

Then the satellites were to be kicked into separate orbits along the equatorial line.

PERFORMS WELL

The Air Force reported the rocket performed well in early phases of the flight.

Sitting on the nose of the rocket's central core were the four satellites — including a home-made suitcase-sized spacecraft built by ham radio enthusiasts for only $200. It will send out a signal "ch" as it circles the earth.

PLANNED MOVES

From liftoff until the four satellites were scheduled to spring into orbit six hours later, the Titan 3 was to change course three times. The entire mission involved more than 150 events.

The rocket's 15-foot upper stage propelled itself in to a parking orbit about 104 miles above New Guinea. An hour later it restarted its engines and zipped outward toward a spot high above Ecuador.

Along with the amateur radio satellite called Oscar 4 were two satellites designed to test electronic systems and other devices which might be used in future network of military communications payloads.

The fourth satellite carried instruments, most of which were to study the sun. Called OV2-3, the spacecraft was to measure magnetic activity of the sun and around the earth, cosmic rays and other natural radiation phenomena.

The Titan 3 is being developed to launch manned military space ships, probably about 1968.

Avon Man Held in Illegal Entry of Auto Store

Two Oakland County sheriff's deputies last night apprehended a suspected thief in an Avon Township auto supply store after noticing a broken window during a routine check.

Nolan was arrested by deputies Gregory R. Putnam and Keith L. Lester with the assistance of Rochester police at the A & A Auto Supply Co. at 3700 Auburn.

Putnam said Nolan held up a tire iron in his hand when deputies entered the store, but that he offered no resistance when during a routine check.

Held in the Oakland County Jail for investigation of breaking and entering is James R. Nolan, 22, of 3262 Rockhaven, Avon Township.

Letters Warm Disease-Stricken Woman

NEW YORK (AP) — Stephanie Smith goes home for Christmas today, "utterly flabbergasted" at the outpouring of goodwill letters touched off by news stories of her seven-year battle against death.

"I'm getting out of the hospital in time for the holidays," said the pretty 22-year-old blonde, "just as I knew I would."

"But I never counted on this — the greatest Christmas present in all the world."

Hundreds of strangers at home and abroad wrote the victim of a rare blood disease at the Hospital of the Rockefeller University here. American servicemen wrote from overseas stations.

WARM FEELING

"It gives you a funny feeling, a real warm feeling," Miss Smith said in her hospital room Monday night.

"You somehow get to thinking that people today are just too taken up with themselves to worry about anyone else, much less care about a total stranger. Then along come all these beautiful letters and you see just how wrong you were."

"People do care."

Stricken at 15, Miss Smith has been in and out of hospitals 26 times, received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church six times and was on the critical list "at least a dozen other times."

The blood disease, lupus erythematosus, once was considered progressively fatal but now is controllable with proper medicines.

"OWE IT TO MOTHER"

"Any courage and determination I have I owe to my mother and I'm going to be home with her and dad for the Christmas holidays," Miss Smith told The Associated Press 12 days ago.

"You can count on that."

About half the letters came from victims of the disease or relatives of victims.

"So many of them said they never knew of anyone else suffering with the disease," Miss Smith said. "And they said it gave them added hope and encouragement to know that they are not alone — to know that there are others who have the disease but are fighting it all down the line."

"This morning I woke up feeling very sorry for myself," wrote Bob Hacker, serving in West Germany with Company D of the Army's 9th Engineer Battalion.

FELT BLUE

"I had been thinking about home and Christmas and feeling blue because I couldn't be home with my family for the holiday season."

"I proceeded to read an article written about you and after I had finished, I felt very stupid and foolish. I thought to myself how very lucky I was to have my health and be able to do my part for my country."

"I would like to express my sincere admiration and respect for your determination and courage."

Women who have suffered with the disease for as many as 10 years wrote Miss Smith telling of their early discouragement and the limitations it still puts on their daily lives.

STUBBORN

Miss Smith had summed up her success against the disease: "I guess I'm just too stubborn to die."

"Dear Stephanie: Pray for me. I am stubborn too," wrote Dolores Touzet, of New Orleans, La., on a Christmas card.

One Illinois man who said he was 74, sent a Christmas card and a dollar bill. He said it was all he could afford.

"Last year I learned I had multiple sclerosis, an incurable disease," wrote Stella Garand, of Garden City, Kan. "Your outlook has given me more encouragement than ever, and I am determined to fight this."

OTHERS SUFFER

Mrs. Arthur Slawski of Baltimore, Md., wrote that she too suffers with the disease.

"But I have fooled them and so have you," she wrote. "I will keep praying for you and please say a prayer for me."

From Oklahoma came a card and letter from Sgt. John Fico, of the U.S. Air Force.

SERGEANT DOES JOB

"People like you really make me feel there is a need for my job and my doing it to the best of my ability," Fico said.

Miss Smith, sufficiently recovered from her latest siege which began during the summer, will spend the holidays in her family's Manhattan apartment with her mother, father and a sister, Antonia, 25.

Supply Route Bombing Follows Plan

NEWSOM
The Ho Chi Minh trail—so called after Communist North Viet Nam's president—is the infiltration route running through south-eastern Laos by which the Communists siphon men and supplies from North Viet Nam to the Viet Cong in the south.

It has been estimated that improved all-weather roads have made it possible for the Communists to move as many as 4,500 men and 2,500 tons of supplies per month into South Viet Nam.

Since the 1962 agreement which reestablished the neutrality of Laos, the Ho Chi Minh trail has become a source of frustration to U. S. military men in South Viet Nam.

The presumed neutrality of Laos made it a political hot potato because for American troops to move in to block the trail would be to invite Red Chinese intervention.

Militarily it proved equally impossible to solve.

Use of the B52s for saturation bombing against roads and way stations is a new approach.

The route, actually a series of trails, moves through some of the most unfriendly territory in Asia.

Triple-tiered jungle, whose top-most tier never reaches the ground, provides dense cover preventing aerial observation.

ALREADY REPLACED

Defoliation attempts have been unsuccessful because, by the time one tier is destroyed, another already has replaced it.

Scorpions inhabit the ground and drop from the trees. In the jungle are huge pythons and cobras.

A man alone may hack his way through less than 15 or 20 yards in a day.

For a time, U. S. Special Forces and the South Vietnamese attempted to maintain harassing action against the trail from isolated camps and blockhouses which proved easy prey for the jungle-wise Viet Cong.

VETERANS TAKE OVER

Last summer most of the isolated camps were abandoned and tough Nung tribesmen under Australian veterans of the Malaysia jungle fighting took over the harassing task.

Now the B52s are being given their turn at it.

An experiment in South Viet Nam last April proved that even massed fighter bombers are ineffective at saturation bombing. But each of the big B52s can carry more than fifty 700-pound bombs and at a height of 20 to 30 thousand feet can lay down a precise bomb pattern.

The decision to inject the B52s into the war in Viet Nam last June was reached in Washington, and it may be assumed that the decision to extend their activities to Laos also was reached in Washington, probably at the White House level.

Dispatces from Vietiane, administrative capital of Laos, say that the government there has agreed to the stepped-up bombing.

But the Laotians would oppose entry of U. S. ground forces which, they say, would complete the shambles of Laotian neutrality.

Broomfield Views Viet

By Esther Van Wagoner Tuffy
WASHINGTON—The United States strategy, both military and economic, is "on the right course," according to William Broomfield, R-18th District, just back from a House Foreign Affairs Committee trip in the Far East.

The Michigan Republican ranking minority member on the Far East subcommittee making the five-week fact-seeking tour, took on a personal objective "to encourage more participation by other countries in the Viet Nam area."

He found the leaders "receptive" and he expects more troops from the Philippines, immediately, now that the election is over. This assurance came from newly elected President Ferdinand Marcos.

The eight congressmen, headed by Clement Zablocki, D-Wis., talked with the officials who make diplomatic, military and economic policies in some 35 countries, and almost without exception they found "respect for America's Viet Nam policy as necessary to avoid aggression into many of their own countries."

After conferences with U. S. Ambassador in Viet Nam Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. William Westmoreland, the congressman became convinced "that the present course is the proper one based on the judgment that it will avoid opening the war on a larger scale."

CORNER TURNED

The group were told that although "a corner had been turned and the result made the Vietnamese soldier even more effective yet it might be necessary to add more troops."

The general saw "no early solution nor did he see an endless conflict."

Broomfield said his bipartisan group, which had no difficulty seeing national leaders, agreed that the United States is respected and recognized as the most powerful country in the world.

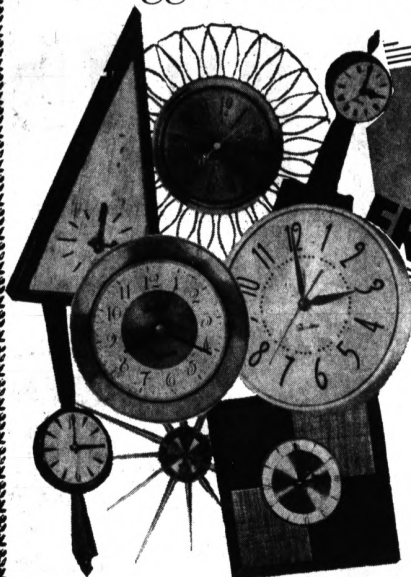

Also realized are the consequences if we lose in Viet Nam to their own security and independence from Communist aggression.

The talks, Broomfield believes, will lead to more Asian participation.

BAKED ALASKA—Children at a holiday party will be enchanted with "baked ice cream." Made with a chocolate cookie base, these miniature desserts are appealing to see and delicious to eat. Those little Santa Claus favors in the picture are made from frozen juice cans.

Freeze Baked Alaskas Until Party

If you're planning a party for children during the holidays, you will want to have something special for refreshments.

Since ice cream is a universal favorite, plan to serve it in a different form — as Baked Alaska. Each child gets his own individual little Igloo-shaped dessert.

MINIATURE BAKED ALASKA
 1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
 36 chocolate wafers
 1 quart vanilla ice cream
 6 egg whites
 3/4 cup sugar
 6 cherries, green
 6 cherries, red

Spread peanut butter on 24 chocolate wafers. Layer in stacks of 2 using remaining wafers as tops. Place on a wooden board or an aluminum foil lined baking sheet. Center small scoop of ice cream on each stack of wafers; freeze.

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add sugar and continue beating until stiff and glossy. Remove ice cream stacks from freezer one at a time and completely frost each with meringue.

Top with a cherry. Replace each Alaska in freezer after it has been frosted.

Bake Alaskas on board or bak-

Yeast Bread
 Contains Cup of Cheese

This cheese bread is delicious for sandwiches or toast.

Cheese Bread
 1/2 cup milk
 1 tablespoon sugar
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 cup warm (105 degrees) water
 1 envelope active dry yeast
 2 1/2 cups unsifted regular flour
 1 cup grated (medium fine) sharp cheddar cheese

In a small saucepan, scald milk; remove from heat; stir in sugar and salt; cool to lukewarm.

In a medium mixing bowl, dissolve yeast in water; add lukewarm milk mixture. Add 1 1/2 cups of the flour; with a spoon, beat until smooth. Stir in cheese and remaining 1/4 cups flour; dough should be easy to handle.

Turn out on prepared pastry cloth. Knead 5 to 8 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning over; cover; let rise in draft-free room (80 to 82 degrees) place until double — about 1 hour. Punch down.

Shape into a loaf; place in greased oven-proof glass loaf pan (8 by 4 by 2 1/2 inches). Let rise as before. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven for 35 minutes. Turn out and cool on wire rack.

Fruit Mixture Is Fine Tasting

Take canned apple slices with their sprightly apple zest. Take cranberries with their dry tart tang. Combine and simmer in a light wine flavored syrup. Chill.

What you get is this rosy winter fruit dessert... most refreshing, most welcome. Pert slivers of lemon peel contribute further verve. Chopped nuts add a nice conserve touch. The only touch of richness permitted is the hard sauce.

You might serve this winter fruit dessert after a hearty roast or steak dinner. You might offer it for "coffee-and-dessert" occasions. Or as a buffet supper dessert. In fact, any time you want a light, chilled, deliciously refreshing fruit dessert, this could well be the one. It's simple to make, too... another cheery fact in its favor.

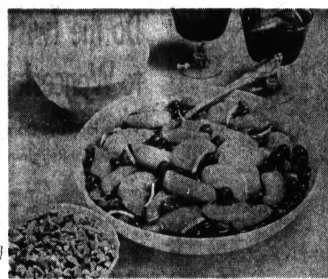

Cranberry-Apple Bowl
 1 pound (4 cups) fresh cranberries
 1 1/2 cups water
 1/4 cup sherry
 3 cups sugar
 2 cups canned apple slices
 1 tablespoon lemon peel slivers
 Hard Sauce

Pick over cranberries, removing all soft or discolored berries and stems; rinse. In a saucepan, combine water, sherry and sugar; bring to a boil and cook 5 minutes. Add berries and cook several minutes, or until berries are popped.

Reduce heat to very low, then add apple slices. Simmer for 5 minutes, or until slices are tender but still whole. To avoid breaking fruit, do not stir vigorously at any time during cooking. Chill.

To serve: Sprinkle with lemon peel slivers and chopped nuts and serve as cold dessert with hard sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Ever team canned kidney beans with canned tomatoes for a vegetable dish? Season as you like — with minced onion, brown sugar or chili powder.

CRANBERRY-APPLE BOWL — This refreshing dessert is just bursting with fruit tang. It's a chilled Cranberry-Apple Bowl with hard sauce. Chopped nuts are added for garnish.

Mediterranean Herb Can Put Exciting Flavor into Foods

Marjoram is a popular herb to 3 cups bread cubes is a good flavor to practically any and all dishes of the menu except sweets and desserts. A native to the Mediterranean region, it is commercially imported from France, Peru and Chili. The leaves are dried and available whole or ground.

In some countries marjoram is held as the symbol of honor and happiness. In the days of old, it was grown on graves to insure happiness to departed souls. Because it is so aromatic, it was used extensively in medieval times to strew on floors and streets to sweeten the atmosphere.

Marjoram was thought to have great medicinal powers and was used by some as a charm to ward off witches. The term "sweet marjoram" comes from the belief that it prevented milk from souring.

Marjoram should be used with a light hand in cooking, especially at first, and then increased to your own taste. It has a sweet, yet pungent flavor that borders on bitterness.

Seasoning poultry and meat stuffings is a favorite use of marjoram. One-fourth teaspoon four shrimp for each serving.

When you are arranging solved. Remove from heat; refrigerate stirring occasionally, until consistency of unbeaten reheat. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Sweets Without Sugar Can Be a Gift That's Appreciated

The sweetest gift of all for that egg white. Add nuts, blending special person who must restrict well. The intake of sugar is an array of "sweet tooth" appears. Refrigerate. Make them and add your own artistic touch in wrapping and packaging.

It's Hard to Tell of Dead

By TOM TIEDE
AN KHE, Viet Nam (NEA)—Fifteen fallen men. Boys and older, husbands and sons. Nearly 10 per cent of Alpha Company wiped out.
Capt. Ray Nadal looked over the final total. And then he wept.

He knew each of them, to be sure, for he is close to his command. He ate with them and slept with them, borrowed their razors or lent them his.

The belongings of 15 fallen friends must be gathered. The boots, the pictures, the unopened mail. The presents each had purchased as Christmas gifts. The clothing, the personal effects.

The reports must be filled out, of course.

'DAMN REPORTS'

Damn the reports.

And the records brought to date.

Damn the records.

The letters to the families must come first, certainly. But where do the words come from?

BEGINS WRITING

Ray Nadal pinched his eyes and began to write.

There was the 25-year-old sergeant from Columbus, Ga. He had a wife and three kids. The letter must be frank but thoughtful.

He had volunteered to take the radio during the battle. He knew that a radio carrier was a priority target for enemy fire. He knew it wasn't his responsibility. But he strapped on the fatal set anyway. He was that kind of guy.

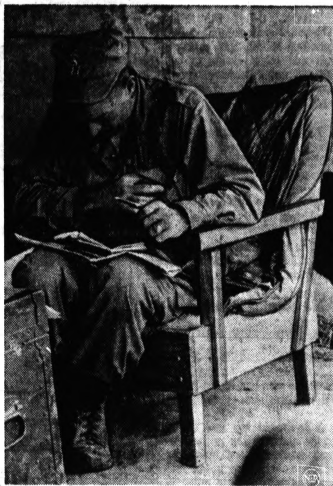

Each of the 15 was that kind of guy.

The Pfc. from the weapons platoon, for example. He was shot during a rush and left in the field of fire when the wave was forced back to cover.

He laid there for hours, dying.

"I'm coming to get ya, kid," a buddy promised.
"Don't come out here," the boy yelled back.

'The Letters Must Come First'

"I'm coming, I said."
"It's no use, they'll just get you, too."

"We'll be O. K."

"No, I'm finished. Please don't come out here."

And the rifle platoon non-open and dragging back wounded companions. They warned him not to go the last time. But he said he'd make it.

He didn't.

YOUNG VICTIMS

Neither did the teen-ager who only had two weeks to go in the Army. Neither did the boy who was wounded, stranded, and then murdered by a close range enemy pistol. Neither did all the rest.

Fifteen of them. All with families. All dead now.

"It is with deepest regret," the captain continued to write, "but I felt you would like full

com. He exposed himself repeatedly by rushing into the information . . . concerning the circumstances . . . surrounding the death of your . . . in combat action."

What good are words anyway?

A wife wants only her husband and a parent his son.

Capt. Ray Nadal folded the piece of stationery and filled it into an envelope. A 29-year-old career officer from Stillwater, Okla., he is endowed, by command, with extraordinary responsibilities over a company of soldiers he loves and admires.

Fifteen of his men had fallen and now one envelope was sealed.

Only 14 more letters to go.

Dolphin Lives Dangerously

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A dolphin named George is learning to live dangerously. His roommate is a killer whale.

The whale, a 2,300-pound female named Shamu, was flown here from Seattle Monday and placed in a six salt-water pool at an oceanarium. Shamu was captured in Puget Sound.

Keepers, fearing their prize whale might get lonely, assigned George to share Shamu's quarters. Life is likely to be interesting for amiable and agile George, but keepers at the oceanarium said he isn't in real danger.

Credit Union Robbed

DETROIT (AP)—Two bandits robbed the Holbrook Avenue Federal Credit Union of $3,400 Monday. Police said they were holding a man for questioning in connection with the case.

BLENDED SCOTCH WHISKY, 80 PROOF, IMPORTED IN ORIGINAL CASES BY McMASTER IMPORT CO., DETROIT, MICH.

A $7.00 Scotch for only $4.97?

What's the gimmick?

Here it is:

One fine day the McMaster's people discovered that, simply by importing their Scotch whisky in barrels instead of bottles, they paid a lower tax—and saved their customers money.

Big tax savings, that's the reason McMaster's comes to America only in barrels.

You'd expect to pay $7.00 for an imported Scotch with the flavor and mellowness of McMaster's. But we save on taxes and other costs—so you pay only $4.97 a fifth, only $2.50 a tenth (tax included).

Now available in a new ½-gallon size for just $12.95. Sorry, they won't let us sell it by the barrel.

A $6.50 Canadian for only $4.80?

Sure. McMaster's gives you the same big tax savings on its fine imported Canadian whisky, too. (Tax included.) Also available in ½ gallons at only $11.95.

More Shopping Money

Christmas Buying Up

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Where is all that money coming from for all that Christmas shopping?

People are crowding the stores and buying higher priced items and spending more than ever before.

A lot of it may be going to the bank. But this year people have more money in their pockets and bank accounts than ever before.

And they are parting with it, some because their own personal finances are better, some because they believe the war in Vietnam will set off a boom like the Korean War did, some because they think goods are going to be higher priced in the future and better be bought now.

Ford has scheduled three days of work this week and four next week. GM and Chrysler plan to work four days each of the two weeks.

American Motors, as announced earlier, will work three days this week and suspend operations until Jan. 17.

Much of the buying of high-priced goods in the stores today may be traced to the big gains this year in cash dividend payments on stocks. Merchants say sales of luxury goods often follow the ups and downs of the dividend rates.

This year dividends are running 10 percent above a year ago, for a total so far of $15.6 billion. This month is seeing a record of extras or year-end payments. They are expected to push the total well above $16 billion.

TO REFLECT GUESSES
Store buying is likely to reflect guesses on how families will fare next year as well as how they are making out currently.

Many signs point to a further place airport administration in the hands of county road commissions in counties of over one million population.

The resolution will be referred to the legislative committee of the board of supervisors.

By ROGER E. SPEAR
Q "I am 70 years old. On the advice of a friend, I put $14,000 into American Motors at $15 a share. It has gone down to $10. Would you advise me to sell and put the money in a stock?" I

A It is a true but distressing fact that buying stock on the advice of a friend very rarely works out. American Motors is down in price because the company's share of the automobile market has been declining steadily and was down sharply in November. Dividend payments have stopped and there appears little likelihood that they will be soon reestablished. Although the company is well managed and now has a line of standard cars, the public still associates it with the compact car, which has been disappearing in popularity.

If you need income, I believe you should take your loss and put the proceeds of sale into equal dollar amounts of Liberty Bond, U.S. Savings Bonds, or U.S. Government securities, all of which yield five percent.

Q "I'm new to the market and have bought shares of General Electric. Would you please tell me just what makes my stock go up or down every day?" G.A.

A Basically, stocks move according to supply and demand. Shares are offered by people who want to get rid of them, and they are bought by people who want to own them. Demand is created by those who want to own shares, and the joining of the two forces creates a market which is constantly changing.

Copyright, 1965

advance in the general economy. Many of these indicators are too esoteric for most families to pay much attention to. But there are some down-to-earth ones.

Factory workers take cheer because the backlog of factory orders for durable goods has risen to $61.3 billion. Most industry groups reported moderate increases in November. For many workers that statistic can be translated into steady jobs for some weeks or months to come.

Those in the construction trades also have good news as the healthiest in a long time.

And the fairly sluggish housing construction business is having a year-end pickup. Housing starts in November ran 1.1 million units, a 10 percent increase over October.

Home builders had the gain as the healthiest in a long time.

During Rendezvous

Navy Is Cheered From Space

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — A small, white lettered sign suddenly showed up in the righthand window of the Gemini 6 capsule at the most climactic moment in the history of space travel.

The sign read: "Beat Army."

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) released yesterday a spectacular picture that established Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford as the Navy football team's first orbital cheering section.

The photograph was taken from Gemini 7 while the two capsules were in a history-making rendezvous 185 miles above earth last Wednesday.

Stafford and Schirra are graduates of the U.S. Academy at Annapolis and they were getting in a poke at astronaut Frank Borman, a graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Borman, of course, was outnumbered. His copilot, James Lovell, also is a Navy man.

Borman could take it in good humor, though. Army, despite an underdog role, fought the Midshipmen to a 7-7 tie this year.

The photograph was just one of a series of spectacular pictures from the "Spirit of 76" mission, in which the capsules edge to within three feet of one another, according to Borman's estimate.

Space Champs Near End of Debriefings

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Frank Borman and James Lovell, the Gemini 7 astronauts who proved that man can spend 14 days in space, today tackled their last day of debriefings before flying back to Houston for a reunion with their families.

The marathon pilots began a day-long session recalling for scientists every detail of the experiments they performed during their record space voyage and rendezvous with Gemini 6.

Officials said Borman and

Lovell may also get more medical examinations from doctors keeping close watch on the astronauts' physical condition after two weeks of exposure to the rigors of space.

The length of time it takes for space voyagers to readapt to life on earth is a key factor in man's long-range future in space.

Astronauts' heart and pulse rates usually drop during prolonged space flight but in the past have returned to normal, ical tests and debriefings. They spent most of yesterday discussing the details of their landing Saturday and of the performance of their spacecraft.

CHIEF PHYSICIAN

Dr. Charles Berry, chief astronaut physician, said, after Borman and Lovell landed last Saturday, that if their medical results were similar to those of previous Gemini pilots, then man could probably remain in space for a month or six weeks with the same effects.

Borman and Lovell were flown to the Cape Sunday for the first of the long string of medical tests and debriefings. They spent most of yesterday discussing the details of their landing Saturday and of the performance of their spacecraft.

Chairman Selected

NEW YORK (UPI) — AAU President Clifford H. Buck announced Monday the appointment of Kilmer Lodge as chairman of the AAU's Track and Field Committee. Kilmer is the founder of the M. San Antonio relays.

Duke's Bubas Is Prototype

'Gray Flannel Coach'

DURHAM, N. C. (NEA)—Elston Howard of the New York Yankees calls Whitey Ford the chairman of the board. Undoubtedly, Elston hasn't met Vic Bubas.

Compared to the Duke University basketball coach, Ford is a management trainee. Vic Bubas is 38. He wears three-button suits, tweed sports jackets and striped ties.

His offices in Duke's Indoor Stadium resemble any executive's suite on Park Ave.

The paneling is brown, the furniture modern, the green carpet stretches wall-to-wall.

His voice is soft, but matter-of-fact. At first the words come slowly. Then when the ideas are clear to those listening, the tempo increases.

Sitting behind a desk, you think of him as the rising young executive at U. S. Steel or IBM. So does Bubas.

NEW ERA

"This," he says, "is the era of the Gray Flannel Coach."

Vic Bubas has been coaching at Duke for seven years. Going into the 1965-66 season he had a record of 132-35. His last five teams have finished among the nation's top 10.

This season, Duke just may be No. 1 although the Blue Devils play the nation's toughest schedule.

Already Duke owns two victories over defending national champion UCLA, but has lost to interference rival South Carolina.

Tonight the Blue Devils play Michigan in Detroit.

"The balance in the Atlantic Coast Conference this year is fantastic," Bubas said.

Should the Blue Devils finish on top, and then win the National Collegiate Championship at College Park, Md. in March, it will be the net result of the nation's most precise intercollegiate basketball program.

Vic Bubas' system is built on organization.

"It starts at the top," says assistant coach Chuck Daly, "and includes everyone down to the student managers."

The main ingredients are recruiting, scouting and fundamental basketball.

"I don't know of a genius coach in the United States," Bubas said. "Results come through hard work. Everyone connected with the basketball program at Duke has always been willing to work."

The rest of the country knows and respects this. Just check the head coaches at Connecticut and West Virginia.

MOVED UP

They're Fred Shabel and Bucky Waters, respectively, and both have been Bubas assistants.

There is no way for Bubas to hide his pleasure with their success because it is a tremendous reflection of the system he has built at Duke.

"Those are schools," he said, "with long traditions in basketball. And they want to continue. I'm sure they will, too."

"I was an assistant myself (to Everett Case at North Carolina State). I knew they had ambitions and I tried to help them realize their goals. When people know this, they'll work harder for you."

Waters, during his six years as Bubas' assistant, built a reputation as one of the nation's most successful recruiters.

UCLA's John Wooden was among the unfortunate when the chase for Mike Lewis, (Duke's center from Missoula, Mont.) started two years ago.

"We were very interested in Mike," Wooden said. "But every time we would call him, Bucky Waters would answer the phone."

Expects to Play Packers However

Jim Brown Prefers Baltimore

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Brown prefers Baltimore's weather and seating capacity to Green Bay's but insists the Cleveland Browns don't care whether they play the Colts or Packers in the Jan. 2 NFL Little game.

"From the weather standpoint and stadium capacity I prefer Baltimore," said the Cleveland fullback who was here Monday to accept another award.

"But we'll probably be up there in Green Bay. A frozen ground takes away individual skills. A runner always hopes for the best weather. But I don't care. It's one game and you shoot the works.

"If we play Baltimore without Johnny Unitas the Colts will have nothing to lose. If we win, people will say 'You wouldn't have beaten them with Unitas.' If we lose, they'll say a crippled team beat us."

"I hope they are strong as possible. As far as I am concerned it would be all right to let them use Ed Brown but that is up to the owners. After all, we beat them last year with Unitas and everybody. We can do it again if we play our game."

Brown conceded that it would be a bit difficult preparing for a game without knowing the opponent until Sunday after the Packers-Colt playoff for the Eastern title in Green Bay. Cleveland has clinched the Eastern Conference title.

"It doesn't make so much difference to the offense," he said. "But the defense might have some problems, knowing how to prepare."

"It only takes one week to get ready. I don't think the extra week will have much to do with it."

Brown didn't have much to say about the fight with Joe

Robb at St. Louis Sunday that resulted in both players being thrown out of the game.

He hit me across the face and I retaliated," said Brown. "The referee was real quick because Robb and I had shook hands already."

WHOLE SEASON
Asked if he thought the expulsion cost him the scoring title in his touchdown race with rookie Gale Sayers of Chicago, Brown shook his head.

"Those things blend into a whole season," he said. "You might lose one by having the play called back and he might lose one the same way. I would have liked to have played the whole game."

Brown wound up with 21 touchdowns to 22 by Sayers, who also received a special rookie award from a manufacturer.

Colts Lose Two More Quarterbacks

BALTIMORE (AP)—Tom Matte, "He'll have to learn what to do in case I get hurt."

Boyd, like Matte, was a quarterback in college — Boyd at Oklahoma and Matte at Ohio State. Boyd, a defensive halfback, has never played the position in the NFL and Matte, a running back, was the game's leading ground gainer with 99 yards rushing.

WARMED BENCH
Brown, acquired on waivers from Pittsburgh last week, tossed one touchdown pass against the Rams while Haffner warmed the bench after being activated from the Colts' taxi squad.

Since they were not on the Baltimore roster for the final two regular season games, Brown and Haffner were not eligible for the playoff.

Colts' President Carroll Rosenbloom tried unsuccessfully to have the league rule waived.

There was no indication who opposed Baltimore's request, but Matte said he would have objected, too, if he had been voting for either Cleveland or Green Bay.

"I didn't think the request would go through," he said. "I guess they would rather play against somebody like me."

With another week of practice to sharpen his timing and accuracy, Matte figures to pass more than the two aerials he tried last Saturday.

Shula probably will call the plays from the sidelines, and if Matte gets in a jam he can look at the crib note on his wrist.

"If I'm grasping for something to do, I can take a peek," Matte said. "Even if the Packers see the list, won't help them. They already know our plays . . . but they still have to guess which one is coming next."

HONORING SALES MANAGER—John Z. DeLorenz (right), general manager of Pontiac Motor Division, presents a plaque to E. R. Pettengill for "having served faithfully and to the best of his ability" at Pontiac Motor for four decades. Pettengill, the sales manager, received the honor at a special staff meeting at the division's headquarters on Oakland Avenue.

Sales Chief Recalls 40 Years of Pontiacs

Forty years ago today, billing department clerk E. R. Pettengill reported to the third floor of the Pontiac Motor Division Administration Building for his first day on a new job.

This morning General Sales Manager Pettengill sat down behind his desk on the first floor of the Administration Building and began directing the new car sales of Pontiacs and Tempests which are currently selling at the rate of more than 3,000 every working day.

The trip "down" from the third floor to the first has left him with many rich memories of the early days of the automobile industry and a keen awareness of the changes that have taken place since.

"There was a lot of excitement around here when I started because the Pontiac was just a month away from being introduced and when it got rolling we knew we had gone into big business," he recalled.

The official date of employment on Pettengill's personnel folder is Dec. 21, 1925, but he actually started earlier by working part-time during the summers, beginning in 1920, for Pontiac's predecessor, the Oakland Motor Car Co.

FEW OPTIONS
"In the early days there was not much choice of options," he noted. "You could order either five or six wheels and then pretty soon we offered two different upholstery."

Pettengill took over Pontiac's top sales job on Feb. 1, 1965.

A native of Michigan, Pettengill was born in Port Huron and attended Pontiac Junior College and the Michigan College of Mines. He is married and has two children.

Georgia Raid Nets Record Heroin Cache

Federal Agents Nab Army Veteran; Six Others Are Arrested

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Federal agents yesterday nabbed what they described as "the largest single seizure of heroin ever made in the United States" and then quickly rounded up seven persons on charges of conspiring to import the narcotic.

The agents confiscated the record 200-pound cache of uncut heroin at the trailer court home of Chief Warrant Officer Herman Conder, 35, a 15-year Army man.

He was charged with smuggling the narcotic into this country when he was transferred to nearby Ft. Benning from Orleans, France.

Federal men then arrested Frankie Dio, a Miami, Fla. nightclub operator, and five aliens. Commissioner Henry L. Giordano of the U. S. Narcotics Bureau in Washington said the arrests "were all tied together."

MARKET VALUE

In New York, U. S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said four French nationals and a Brazilian were arrested in connection with the shipment, which he said was worth $100 million on the underworld market.

However, Giordano put a $18.5 million value on the uncut heroin which is cut, usually with milk sugar, eight to ten times until an addict pays $5 for a bag containing only one to two grains of heroin.

Morgenthau said the Army unwittingly shipped the illicit drug into this country in a home freezer among Conder's household goods. He said the conspirators arranged to import the drug and sell it.

The suit was filed by eight couples living in the Hyup Acres Subdivision, Opdyke and Hickory Grove, where the new college facility is located.

The college administration moved into the new quarters on a nine-acre site Dec. 12.

In addition to the nearby residents, the move was opposed by Bloomfield Hills City Commissioners.

On their instructions, City Attorney David Pence has written college officials warning them that unless they vacate the premises by Christmas he will begin legal action.

ZONING LAW
The city contends that the college is violating the zoning ordinance by using the property for offices.

Though in a residential area, the city commission years ago allowed the former owner, George A. Bee, to use the property for offices for his engineering firm.

A hearing on a suit against Bee to enjoin him from selling the property to the college was adjourned yesterday for at least 10 days by Circuit Judge James S. Thornburn to allow the complainants to amend their information.

This was necessary since the college had moved into the new quarters before the hearing was held. The suit against Bee was started by two of the eight who filed against the college, James W. Gell and Raymond Ashare.

In their most recent action, the residents are asking that the court delay the purchase of the site by the college, and enjoin the college from using it for offices.

They claim that the use of the facilities by the college will change the residential character of the neighborhood and reduce property values.

James Howlett, attorney for the residents, said that no immediate relief was sought in the suit because he is waiting to see how the situation develops when the city enters the case.

Vital Red Plant Bombed Again

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. planes attacking Communist North Viet Nam's industrial heart today bombed the vital Uong Bi power plant 14 miles from Haiphong for the second time.

The raids over the north were costly — five planes shot down and five crewmen feared killed.

A U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane was shot down over Uong Bi yesterday with the loss of two crewmen while photographing the huge thermal plant which supplies much of the power for the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

A C130 transport was lost in South Viet Nam today for a two-day total of seven planes and seven fliers.

Today's aircraft losses were the worst since April 4-Black Sunday — when the Communists shot down seven U.S. planes. The lost planes were believed downed by conventional anti-aircraft guns.

The Uong Bi plant supplies much of the electrical power used by Haiphong and the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi some 55 miles to the west.

ESCALATION

The coal-burning plant was attacked and heavily damaged last Friday in a major escalation of the war.

All of the planes were believed to have been hit by conventional anti-aircraft fire, although Soviet-supplied surface-to-air SAM missiles also were hurled at the attackers.

During one of the raids, Communist Mig-fighters also appeared in the skies but their pilots raced away toward Communist China when the American planes closed in on them.

However, it was while returning from the chase that two of the U.S. planes were brought down.

DISCLOSURE

In Washington, it was disclosed that the U.S. command in Viet Nam had been authorized to allow troops operating near the Cambodian and Laotian borders to return fire from Communist across the ill-defined frontiers.

Although U.S. military officials have repeatedly contended the Communists use Cambodia as a sanctuary to launch attacks on South Viet Nam, the State Department and the Pentagon have refused to say whether American forces had been given broader latitude in fights along the borders.

Yanks Rescue Cong Captives

Ambush Saves Three, but Reds Kill One

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantrymen rescued two American construction men and a Vietnamese driver from Viet Cong kidnappers early today when the Communist unit stumbled into a GI ambush.

A fourth captive, a Dutchman, was killed by the Viet Cong before they fled into a forest alongside a road near Di An, 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

The four construction men were seized by the Viet Cong yesterday afternoon near a rock quarry where they worked for a major military contractor. They had gone to the quarry without a military escort.

A platoon of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division surprised the Communists as they marched the captives with hands tied behind their backs in the dark. When the Americans opened fire, the captives dropped into a ditch but Otto Shulton, 58, a Dutch citizen living in South Burnaby, B.C., Canada, was slain by his Viet Cong guard.

Those rescued were Edwin D. Jones, 48, of El Centro, Calif.; Henry Hudson, 52, of Menlo Park, Calif.; and Hudson's Vietnamese chauffeur, Van Xung. All are employed by R.M.K. International, a combine of five U.S. firms that does most of the big American military construction work in South Viet Nam.

WELL TREATED

Both Jones, the quarry superintendent, and Hudson, a construction executive, said the Viet Cong treated them well and even gave them beer on a last march apparently toward Zone D, the Communist jungle redoubt.

About midnight, the group was suddenly fired on when it entered the plantation commanded by Lt. George Steinberg, 24, of Milwaukee, Wis. Steinberg said he and his men opened up when they spotted about 25 Viet Cong.

A Viet Cong jumped on top of Jones in the ditch in an effort to escape the machine gun fire. When the Americans directed

Coordinator Urged for Coroner System

Hiring an administrator to coordinate the function of Oakland County's coroner system was advocated yesterday by local authorities.

The recommendation resulted from a meeting called jointly by State Sen. Sander M. Levin, D-Berkley, and Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Purpose of the meeting was to determine ways to strengthen the present coroner system in view of alleged weaknesses that came to light last month in connection with the deaths of three persons at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

As proposed at the meeting attended by several county officials, an administrator would be hired as soon as possible to work under County Health Director Dr. Bernard D. Berman.

Duties of the new aide would be full time administration of the coroner system, working with area police departments and as liaison with the prosecutor's office in cases of unusual deaths.

Another outgrowth of the meeting was an agreement that legislation is needed to clarify the authority of county coroners and prosecutors to order autopsies.

Levin said that he would introduce such legislation early next year.

"The main problem in Oakland County now is lack of concentrated management of the coroner system," Levin said. "We can't expect a busy

Blaze Sweeps Jewish Center in NY Suburb

2 of 9 Injured Still Hospitalized; Cause of Tragedy Unknown

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — A music classroom, gay with holiday song, became a death trap for nine children and three adults last night as a sudden flash of fire struck a Jewish community center in this New York suburb.

The children ranged in age from 7 to 11 and included three sets of brothers and sisters.

Firemen said the victims apparently fell dead from smoke and fumes.

At least nine persons were injured, but only two were still reported hospitalized today.

One of the adult victims, was Lucille Sacks, who had come to pick up her daughter, Sandra, after her music lessons.

DIED LATER

Witnesses told police that Mrs. Sacks brought her child to safety but died after she reentered the building, apparently trying to save her neighbors' children.

"Whenever they find Mrs. Sacks, they'll find my children," said Mrs. Isaacs Konoshima, a neighbor and close friend of Mrs. Sacks in a nearby cooperative apartment house known as Sunset Green.

Later, police said the bodies of Mrs. Sacks, Richard Konoshima, 10, and his sister Kimiko, 7, were found huddled together in the classroom on the top floor of the four-story brick structure.

From the lobby, they removed

Skies will be partly overcast for tonight through Thursday but temperatures will become slightly warmer, the low near 20 to 25 tonight.

Highs will aim for a more moderate 34 to 40 tomorrow. The weatherman predicts partly cloudy and mild for Thursday.

Snow falling in the Pontiac area yesterday measured about one-half inch.

Jesus' Early Years Insecure

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The angel of the Lord told them to take the child into Egypt and they remained there until Herod died. What happened to him there? AP Religion Writer George Cornell tells what may have happened to Him in the second in a series of five articles on the hidden years of Jesus.)

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
For the wanderer, the future of existence becomes blurred. Nothing is fixed, nothing steady. There are no comforting landmarks, no regular reminders, no settled line of reference. Without a familiar place, no step is sure.

As refugees from mass slaughter, a displaced Jewish family of old walked that vast, its impressions like those of all homeless people in search of sanctuary — the dim, alien landscape, always shifting, a sort of revolving haze, remote and monotonous, yet constantly in motion.

"Foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the son of man has nowhere to lay his head."

This was the chancy, insecure environment in which Jesus entered, and experienced, the world — starting as a ragged toddler in the arms of a nomadic family in flight from despotism and carnage.

The months, probably more than a year, in Egypt make up a nebulous interlude, a veiled segment of his upbringing. It was a restless, groping or deal, its impressions like those of all homeless people in search of sanctuary — the dim, alien landscape, always shifting, a sort of revolving haze, remote and monotonous, yet constantly in motion.

That is the kind of indistinct, unstable trail left by the fugitive family of Jesus in North Africa, continually moving from one uncertain spot to another, with strangers all about, and no roof or ground to call their own.

Although scripture tells hardly anything about that episode, other accounts going far back into antiquity indicate some of its features.

Over the road they followed, it is about 250 miles from Beth-

Family Gets Big Gift: Son's New Kidney

George J. Johnson Jr., of 2088 Orpington, Troy, got a big Christmas present yesterday: a new kidney.

"The happiest Christmas present our family has ever had," was his father's reaction following the four-hour kidney transplant at University Medical Center in Ann Arbor.

Doctors were keeping a close watch on the 15-year-old youth today.

Officials said the boy entered the center last July suffering from an irreversible kidney failure. Since that time his life

Two Oakland University staff members have received professional recognition in their respective fields.

Three articles dealing with library innovations, written by Floyd Cammack, OU librarian, were published in library and language journals.

Walter L. Wilson, professor of biology, has been selected to present a paper at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science to be held in Berkeley, on the University of California campus, Dec. 28 to 31.

The OU biologist will report on current research being conducted with Clifford V. Harding, OU professor and biology chairman, under a $30,000 grant from the Atomic Energy Commission for study of "Cellular Proliferation and Regeneration Following Tissue Damage."

One of the construction workers shouted: "Don't fire. There are Americans here."

"Who are you kidding?" Steinberg replied, recalling past attempts by English-speaking Viet Cong to lure U.S. troops into traps.

The construction workers persisted in their pleas. The GIs eventually satisfied themselves after the Americans gave details about life in the United States.

Yonkers Fire Is Fatal to 12

a menorah, the candelabrum symbolic of Chanukah, the Jewish festival of lights.

It was the third night of Chanukah when the fire broke out in the building which serves both Jewish and non-Jewish citizens as a social and cultural center.

Fire Chief Andrew Gerlach said it started in an auditorium on the second floor.

The auditorium was being renovated and workmen had left about an hour before the fire broke out.

NO IDEA

"We haven't any idea what caused it," he said. "We are investigating."

News from St. Joseph's Hospital across the street joined firemen in rescue efforts.

3:30 p.m. They were taking and even attempted to go in the building while it was burning, Gerlach related.

Hugh Sinnott, 27, a passerby, led more than 20 children from the first two floors.

TOO MUCH SMOKE

Sinnott, a sanitation worker and a part-time private security guard, said: "I tried to work my way to the third floor and I got about halfway up and I couldn't go any farther because of the smoke," he said. "By that time, I was crawling on my hands and knees."

Many of the trapped children huddled on the top floor ledges in 30-degree weather and waited for firemen to rescue them.

Ray Cohen, at work in an auto shop down the street, said they appeared calm.

"Some of them came out of a window and walked four feet along a ledge to where the aerial ladder was," he said.

POLICE FIRE

Police Chief William F. Polson said he believed the fire was the worst in the history of the community. Yonkers, with a population of 200,000, is just north of New York.

The community center building, erected 27 years ago, is near the Yonkers business center. The children had arrived there after school at 3:30 p.m. They were taking classes in Hebrew, gym, swimming and music.

The shrouded bodies of the victims were laid out at a nursing home of Josephine awaiting positive identification.

A Requiem Mass was to be said today in the hospital chapel for all the victims, whatever their faith.

The music classes at the center were conducted by teachers from the Bronx Home School.

Latin Walkout Seems Fading

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The threat of a general strike to force out Dominican military leaders appeared fading today as workers began drifting back to their jobs.

Labor leaders Monday night urged workers to return while President Hector Garcia-Godoy completes an investigation of the battle of Santiago Sunday between the army and rebels.

The labor leaders had promised Garcia-Godoy they would abide by his request not to launch a general strike in support of the rebels until a special commission completes an investigation of the Santiago fighting.

Banks and many private firms that were closed Monday reopened.

NEARLY NORMAL

Jan Santoni Viveni, administrator of the state-owned Sugar Corp., said sugar-milling activity was nearly normal.

The sugar workers originally had staged a walkout of all 11 of the corporation's mills protesting a government cut in year-end bonuses, but were involved in the dispute over the fighting in Santiago.

Snipers fired at U.S. and Brazilian troops of the Inter-American Peace Force Monday, but a U.S. spokesman said no American soldiers were hit.

The Brazilian and U.S. troops were reinforced in the heart of the city Sunday after the battle in Santiago, 120 miles away. The peace force dispersed some of the bands of youths trying to stir up demonstrations in the business district Monday, and the reinforcements were later withdrawn, leaving one U.S. and one Brazilian soldier in the downtown section.

AIMED AT MILITARY

The strike appeared aimed at forcing out military chiefs blamed by labor leaders for the bloody outbreak in Santiago Sunday.

Estimates of the dead in the clash in the country's second largest city ranged from 9 to 13. One of the victims was Col. Juan Maria Lopez Fernandez, former chief of staff of the rebel forces.

There were conflicting reports on how the battle at Santiago's Hotel Matamoras began.

Armed forces Secretary Francisco J. Rivera Camarero said the rebels opened fire on army patrols in the vicinity of the hotel. Rebel officers contended the army opened up on the hotel "without provocation."

The rebels had gone to Santiago to attend memorial services for one of their men killed during the April revolution.

A 52-year-old Pontiac woman was thrown to the ground last night by two young purse snatchers who ran off with $77 in rent money and Christmas savings.

Mrs. Bethel LaCroix of 67 Norton, who said she is currently receiving welfare relief from the county, told Pontiac police she was assaulted by the youths near her home about 7:30 p.m.

Also taken was an estimated $25 worth of medicine and her house keys.

"It's just the fact I don't have anything now," she said. "My rent money—everything—gone."

"I had planned so much for my daughter coming home for Christmas... now it won't be anything."

Nicholson was captured by police four minutes after the robbery. In his car they found $21,258, the amount taken in the robbery.

Colbert was taken into custody later as an accomplice.

Stated just northeast of modern Cairo, it is now called Matariyah, and is dotted with shrines marking the passage of Joseph and his family.

As a woodworker, Joseph had trouble finding work, since in that ancient time, rainless land and firm wood is scarce. Besides that particular handicap, there were everywhere more workers than work — the numberless fellahen.

health director to adequately administer a coroner system," he added, referring to Dr. Bertram's dual capacity as health director and coroner.

SEVERAL CONFERS

Others attending the closed session were Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the County Board of Auditors; Dr. Richard Olsen, pathologist at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital; David Levinson, chairman of the county's ways and means committee; Cyril Miller, chairman of the county health committee; Robert Allen, corporation counsel; Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson and Dr. Bertram.

Levin, who with Hamlin issued a statement following the meeting, said the session was closed so that participants would not be in a position of discussing the coroner problem.

Another objective resulting from the meeting will be to establish a state authority on coroner matters with services of a professional staff available to counties.

Still another goal outlined in the session was establishment of a training program for deputy coroners and police.

ON FEE BASIS

Presently the county uses 40 physicians as deputy coroners on a fee basis.

Among the duties of the new administrative unit will be to recommend after a period of time whether the present case-to-case basis of coroner activity should be retained or whether a coroner's staff should be considered.

The new administrator also will suggest a course of action on morgue facilities.

Presently the county uses area hospitals without contracts.

Alternatives are a county morgue, a specific contract with hospitals or a contract with Wayne County morgue.

Action on hiring the administrative aide is expected Monday at a joint meeting of the county's ways and means and salaries committees.

The salary range probably would be from $12,000 to $14,000, Hamlin said.

Deputy Commander Named in Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Jean E. Engler, now head of the U.S. Supply and Maintenance Command in Washington, has been named deputy commander of U.S. Army forces in Viet Nam.

In announcing Gen. Engler's appointment by President Johnson Monday, the White House said it did not indicate any new military buildup in Viet Nam.

Birmingham Area News Commission Dampens Auto Mart Proposal

BIRMINGHAM — A proposed auto mart for south Woodward was dampened by City Commissioners last night in agreeing that the area of study by a planning firm should be more comprehensive and not limited to commercial development.

In expressing their ideas, the commissioners directed the city manager to prepare an outline of what they want from the consultants if they are hired to conduct the survey.

The suggestions made by commissioners will be reviewed by the administration and correlated into one proposal and returned to the commission next Monday.

The Detroit firm of Crane and Corvick Associates, Inc., submitted a proposal to the commission last night, but members felt that it was aimed to a great extent at the future development of an automotive mart.

The area that would be considered in the planning study is generally bounded by Daines, Hunter, Lincoln, Floyd and Purdy.

They left behind a note on a piece of cardboard which said: "We owe you."

Record for Car Theft Indicated in November

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael J. Murphy, president of the National Automobile Theft Bureau, says preliminary estimates indicate a record of 48,114 cars were stolen in November.

Murphy, former New York City police commissioner, blamed the record thefts on the usual seasonal increase, plus the tendency of shoppers during the holidays to rush to forget their keys or fail to lock their cars.

EAST LANSING (AP) — State Police provisional traffic figures showed today that 2,601 persons have lost their lives on Michigan's streets and highways so far this year, compared with 2,631 for the same period in 1964.

REMAINED EGYPTIAN

But the atmosphere remained Egyptian—the animal idols, the elaborate processions for "sacred bulls," the incantations, clattering chariots, magicians, oracles, the corps of perfumed temple women.

But it also was a time of intellectual richness at Alexandria, the Roman-built coastal city, where the great Jewish philosopher, Philo, was developing his theories about the "Logos"—the divine interplay among men, revealing God.

That concept ultimately would be applied to the then ignored unknown child-in-exile, Jesus. Writes St. John: "and the Word (Logos) became flesh and dwelt among us."

In those environs, Jesus grew active, his wobbly legs gaining strength and balance. An ancient Coptic tale offers this description of him and his mother: WALKS WITH MOTHER

"She used to take hold of his hand and lead him along the roads, saying, 'my sweet son, walk a little ways.' He stopped from time to time, hanging on the skirts of Mary, his mother. He would lift up his eyes to her face, and she would catch him up to herself and lift him up in her arms, and walk along with him."

Other ancient stories picture him fishing in an oasis, laughing at some quarrelling sparrows, his mother walking through the city marketplace, the family sliding the Nile in a tall-masted boat, a falukha. The traditions give basically plausible background. Some of them suggest that Joseph, a widower with four sons and two daughters before he wed Mary, had a younger son and daughter with him, whom Mary cared for along with Jesus.

Accounts vary on how long the family stayed there, a year, three years, five years, but there are scenes of summer and winter, of tranquility and dark-

Bank Robbers Nabbed by Cooperative Effort

Excellent cooperation and effort by area law enforcement officers and alert citizens were evidenced Friday in the holdup of the branch bank in Bloomfield Township.

This is the comment of PAUL H. STONDAK, special agent in charge of the Detroit Office Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The first bouquet goes to the three alert tellers of the bank, who promptly furnished police with an accurate description of the bandit, his car, and even his license plate number.

The suspect didn't get more than a mile or two before officers of two different police departments spotted him, and effected his arrest.

The police were further aided by additional information which came from citizens in the bank area who observed and reported activities at the time of the robbery.

Such willingness to step up and face their responsibilities is in marked contrast to a number of situations in other sections of the country in which witnesses have turned their backs on crimes, or left helpless victims to suffer.

This effort is indicative of a wholesome, healthy attitude which will make a better local community, state and nation, as well as to assist in the betterment of law enforcement.

Complete cooperation of officers from Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Township, Pontiac and the Oakland County Sheriff's department was shown throughout the search and investigation.

Only last week a fugitive from a similar robbery in Flint was apprehended at a local roadblock, with the cooperation of area departments including the state police.

The Pontiac area is fortunate that we have top-notch police departments, and citizens who rise to the occasion.

Woes Sometimes Trail Scientific Progress

Junk yards, pollution, urban blight are some of the consequences of the impact of science on society. But they were not inevitable consequences, says one scientist.

"Stupid misuse of science has gravely impaired the grace of life," asserts Dr. POLYKARP KUSCH of Columbia University, winner of the 1955 Nobel Prize in physics.

"People in general are horribly acclimated to a technology — and science-dominated world. People now say, 'God will provide.'"

Science won't, however. It always raises as many problems as it solves. He cites the internal combustion engine as one technological advance that has not been an unmitigated blessing. It solved the problem of transportation for masses of people but led to the abandonment of the cities for the suburbs.

If mankind is to have a life worth living in the future, says Kusch, it must learn to manage the fruits of science better than it has in the past.

Filing Federal Forms Busy Bosses Bugaboo

With a March 31 deadline, some 60,000 firms will be required to fill out a new two-page statistical government form breaking down separately men and women employees into five ethnic groups and together classifying them into nine occupational categories.

The form originates with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission which administers a section of the Civil Rights Act barring discrimination against women in hiring standards as well as against Negroes and other minorities.

Affected by the new employee regulations are businesses employing more than 100 workers, Government contractors and firms in the Plans for Progress program. This is an equal-employment opportunity program to which employers who have become members voluntarily agree.

As the schedule of returns for which business is accountable to the government steadily proliferates, many a harassed employer may well conclude that his business has become, as the saying is, more or less a matter of form.

De-Gaulle Didn't Stabilize France

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — When Charles de Gaulle became president of France seven years ago, it was in bad shape.

Rightists and French military leaders in Algeria were in rebellion against the government.

It was a crisis but France, with one government after another toppling since the war, badly needed some kind of political stability.

His multiplicity of political parties made any permanent government impossible.

The French called de Gaulle to power. His programs? He fudged his answers, letting the French take him on face value.

HAD STABILITY
Could he give France stability. He could and did for seven years.

But it was only a personal stability, built around him. When he was re-elected to another seven-year term Sunday, there was nothing to show he had prepared France for stability on his own, now or seven years from now.

It has been a one-man show, and he admitted as much recently when he said: "Naturally, the day will come sooner or later when de Gaulle is gone. What will happen then?" He is 75 now.

He had previously revealed what he thought the answer was. Asking the people to give him a second term, he said the choice was between him and catastrophe.

LACKED MAJORITY
He had seemed like a sure winner but, in the first test Dec. 5 against five opponents, he got only 44 per cent of the vote and had to go into a runoff against Francois Mitterrand.

This time, de Gaulle won with 55 per cent of the vote.

Mitterrand himself is an aloof if not arrogant man and had the endorsement of an old collection of Frenchmen: Communists, Socialists, and extreme right-wingers.

Confronted with that, the French apparently thought de Gaulle was a safer bet.

PREDICT MISERY
Now that he has been restored to power — after a few human and homey campaign appearances on television — he can be expected to be his old haughty self, and that can mean misery for the United States and Britain.

It will not be surprising if, before his second seven years are up, he wrecks — the Western nations' NATO alliance through his insistence everything must be played his way or not at all.

He has small stomach for politics. But it is possible he will outlive his usefulness before his term ends. Nations, while appreciating their heroes, do get impatient with them.

De Gaulle has always been difficult: for the French army before the war, for the Allies during it, after it, and ever since. At the war's end, Churchill said: "I am sure that in the long run no understanding will be reached with Gen. de Gaulle."

David Lawrence Says:

Interest Rate Hike Upset Plan

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's professed annoyance over the Federal Reserve Board's increase of interest rates by half a percentage point and his complaint that the board should have waited until the federal budget was disclosed in January now begin to be understandable.

For the President may have believed that the restraints on borrowing which the board's action was designed to impose could be achieved by announcing next month a plan to increase tax rates.

But, unfortunately, Congress doesn't act quickly on tax legislation, and there would have been a scramble by businessmen for loans at existing interest rates during the three or four months usually consumed in arguing about a tax measure in both houses.

It is an open secret that the administration is contemplating a tax increase and is worried only about how to apply it — whether to make everybody bear it or to impose the heaviest burden on high-bracket incomes and on corporation profits.

All sorts of proposals are being mentioned in official circles — for example, a 10 per cent increase in the total tax of an individual at present.

This would be the same as increasing the rates from 14 to 15.4 per cent in the lower brackets and would move up the top bracket from 70 to 77 per cent mark — halfway back to where the rates were before the two Democratic administrations since 1961 began making their promises of tax reductions.

All this would be expected to bring in about $4.5 billion in tax receipts. And if necessary to obtain more revenue, it is reported that some of the excise taxes on autos and telephones might be frozen, and the promised decreases would then be postponed for awhile.

The sad truth is that, even if the foregoing plan now being discussed were to raise $5 billion, it probably wouldn't be enough to wipe out the deficit, which is calculated to run between $7 billion and $8 billion in the present fiscal year.

The blame for the large deficit forthcoming is being put on the escalation of the war effort in Viet Nam, but even before this enlargement of the government's expenses began a few months ago, the federal deficit was around $5 billion.

LOST REDUCTIONS
What it means is that tax reductions of the last two years as a method of stimulating business are not bringing in the money to wipe out deficits.

No plan of tax reduction can by itself expand business receipts and yield enough revenue to pay taxes. There has to be, coincidentally, a curb on federal spending, but this hasn't materialized.

The administration has kept its extravagant spending plans going on the theory that there would be politically advantageous.

Since the spending spree hasn't balanced the budget, there has to be some explanation given the people. The financial problem is, to be sure, in part due to the Viet Nam war, but last year's defense spending actually declined while appropriations for the Great Society increased.

Bob Considine Says:

Cong's Yule Truce Offer Tough to Accept, Reject

NEW YORK — Commenting on the Viet Cong offer to knock off the slaughter in Viet Nam for 12 hours, from Christmas Eve into Christmas Day, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said, "That's a matter for the local Vietnamese and the United States authorities out there to consider and to determine whether they do anything or not in respect to it."

It was another way of stating the most determined of our policies toward that part of the world: "We won't enter into any kind of dialogue with the Viet Cong."

We talk readily enough to their principal suppliers. We see a lot of and are quite cordial with Russians. We meet now and then in Warsaw with Red Chinese. We reach out negotiation offers to Hanoi. But we draw a line where the Viet Cong are concerned.

Our own policy toward them is to kill enough of them to collapse their rebellion against the Saigon government and/or to discourage Hanoi, Peking and Moscow from sending them further supplies.

UNPEAKABLE
So, in respect to the 12-hour truce commemorating the birth of the Prince of Peace, we haven't said yes and we haven't said no.

To say either would be to speak to what our policy rules is the unpeakable. Either yes or no would be a recognition of an entity, a constituted authority.

Warning flags have been raised that this Viet Cong truce offer might be a snare, a way to lull us into a euphoria admirably suited for surprise attacks. Perhaps that is its purpose.

But chances seem good that the offer is genuine in that they have nothing to lose by observing it, and our side has nothing to gain by rejecting it.

If we accept, with or without the formality of an open agreement, we give the VC's a 12-hour breathing spell, enable them to pull some of their people out of precarious positions, save their ammunition and booty traps for another day.

If we send the B52s and the napalm during those 12 hours, we can only further alienate the already sensitive affections of our friends in all Christianity.

Does the Grand Trunk intend to wait until it runs no more passenger trains between the two largest centers before offering similar fares in the United States?

Objects to Recent Articles on Viet Nam

Contrary to the usual news coverage so excellently reported in The Pontiac Press, I find no excuse for recent articles in relation to Viet Nam. Items bordering on pacifist propaganda of no help to anyone other than the enemy by creating fear in our population. The reports of the sadistic weapons used by the Viet Cong, and the tragic mutilation of the innocent citizens of South Viet Nam, can accomplish no worthwhile purpose. Such things are the hazards of any war, but contrast these unfortunate cases with the over-all terrorism and unimaginable tortures exerted upon people everywhere communism reigns. I'm disgusted.

GOP Reviews Party Weaknesses

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some Republican leaders are privately acknowledging that the four 1965 meetings of the Republican Coordinating Committee have been empty charades having little to do with the party's need for a new route back to national power.

Raised from the ashes of the 1964 defeat at the polls, the committee reflected the conviction of many GOP leaders that broader-based efforts were required to develop an aggressive party strategy which could attract a winning number of voters.

There is now more than a little opinion within the party itself that the net product of this endeavor is pallid. The committee's typical utterances (on Viet Nam, for instance) and its task force reports have stirred no excitement.

Meantime, dominated largely by the state attitudes of the GOP congressional wing, the committee conferees appear to have neglected lively discussion of the party's real problems—how to attract the millions of new young voters pouring into the election market, how to get reestablished in the great cities and fight effectively on the suburban battleground where most of the country's population increase is occurring.

Nevertheless, some party officials are indeed attending to

Suggests Grand Trunk Try New Fare Plan

The Grand Trunk plans to discontinue overnight coach and sleeper car service between Detroit/Pontiac and Chicago at the end of this month. According to Interstate Commerce Commission figures the service has lost $72,189 on expenses of $251,668 in 1963.

In autumn of 1963 the railway introduced throughout Canada a radically new fare plan, calculated to offer greatest savings on days when travel is lightest. It appears to have met with great success. In an appeal to the railway management to continue the Detroit-Chicago service and conduct an experiment with these same new "Red, White and Blue" fares it was pointed out that more than double the expenses could be earned with capacity loads in just the one coach and sleeper presently operated. Between Detroit or Pontiac and Chicago the railway presently charges $12.50 for a one-way coach ticket; for a slightly greater distance between Toronto and Montreal fares are $7.50, $9 or $10.40 (U.S. funds), depending on whether it's a "Red," "White," or "Blue" day.

Does the Grand Trunk intend to wait until it runs no more passenger trains between the two largest centers before offering similar fares in the United States?

Says Everyone Deserves the Same Chance

I agree wholeheartedly with Mildred Jones on the letter by Marcella and Frank Nance. Some of the very nicest people I know are Negroes. People like this could be from the South but more probably were born and raised in Michigan. Everyone, no matter what the race, deserves a chance to prove that he is just as good as everyone else.

Objects to Recent Articles on Viet Nam

Contrary to the usual news coverage so excellently reported in The Pontiac Press, I find no excuse for recent articles in relation to Viet Nam. Items bordering on pacifist propaganda of no help to anyone other than the enemy by creating fear in our population. The reports of the sadistic weapons used by the Viet Cong, and the tragic mutilation of the innocent citizens of South Viet Nam, can accomplish no worthwhile purpose. Such things are the hazards of any war, but contrast these unfortunate cases with the over-all terrorism and unimaginable tortures exerted upon people everywhere communism reigns. I'm disgusted.

'Christians Are Excited by Recent Events'

The born-again Christian world is beginning to feel a little excited with the sky being lit up like it was recently, with earth tremors in the Midwestern states, California's two bad floods in the last year, earthquakes and other disasters. It would pay a thinking person to read Luke 21:25-28 in the Bible.

GOP Reviews Party Weaknesses

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some Republican leaders are privately acknowledging that the four 1965 meetings of the Republican Coordinating Committee have been empty charades having little to do with the party's need for a new route back to national power.

Raised from the ashes of the 1964 defeat at the polls, the committee reflected the conviction of many GOP leaders that broader-based efforts were required to develop an aggressive party strategy which could attract a winning number of voters.

There is now more than a little opinion within the party itself that the net product of this endeavor is pallid. The committee's typical utterances (on Viet Nam, for instance) and its task force reports have stirred no excitement.

Meantime, dominated largely by the state attitudes of the GOP congressional wing, the committee conferees appear to have neglected lively discussion of the party's real problems—how to attract the millions of new young voters pouring into the election market, how to get reestablished in the great cities and fight effectively on the suburban battleground where most of the country's population increase is occurring.

Nevertheless, some party officials are indeed attending to these problems, even as the GOP's big artillery makes powerful noises.

This fall, Republican leaders in the seven-state Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area formed a GOP advisory council for the study of problems common to the region. Speaking on these matters, the Minnesota group said:

"Their effect on our political scene can be tremendous, and they should be thoroughly studied."

Dr. John Borchert of the University of Minnesota told the coalescing Republican leaders:

"The most important thing the political party can accomplish is to establish the right frame of mind so that we think of ourselves as citizens of a functioning metropolis."

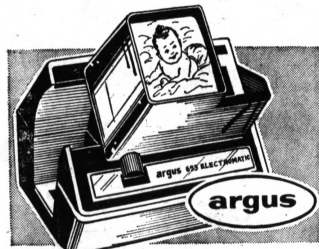

The clear objective of the new Minneapolis-St. Paul party council is to help bring together the elected officials of the area from all levels of government—for a concerted attack on housing, job recruitment, water and other area-wide facilities, transportation, zoning.

The Minnesota development is not the ground-breaker. Last February, state GOP chairman Craig Truax of Pennsylvania brought together Pennsylvania leaders from 10 counties in his state, New Jersey and Delaware, to consider a "metropolitan" council for the sprawling Philadelphia area.

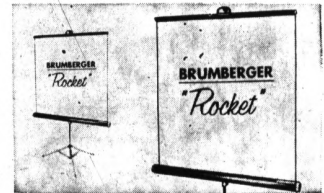

Divergent Pennsylvania-New Jersey approaches to the 1965 elections hampered this under-

Project Mohole—2

Raft Stability a Must

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Late in 1963, scientists will begin digging, in the floor of the Pacific Ocean, the deepest hole man has ever dug. This is the second of three dispatches on Project Mohole.)

By JOHN HALL

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In 1968, a huge 21,500-ton raft, riding high in the water on two pontoonlike hulls, will propel itself into Hawaiian waters and stop at a point 125 miles northeast of Honolulu.

Without the aid of an anchor, it must hover over the same spot for three years while scientists attempt to drill a hole six miles deep into the crust of the earth.

Keeping the steel island in place despite the buffeting of the gale-force winds and 30-foot waves which often sweep through that part of the Pacific Ocean, is one of the technological miracles that must be achieved to assure the success of a controversial scientific experiment known as Project Mohole.

It will take nearly eight miles of drill pipe and casing to reach the ocean floor and penetrate it to the scientists' goal—the mysterious "mantle" of the earth.

Any movement of the raft outside a 500-foot circle could snap the drill string or tie it in knots. And the deeper the drill bites, the more sensitive the thin string of pipe will become to surface movements.

ON COLUMNS

To keep the platform from sloshing up and down in the water and smashing the sensitive diamond bit on hard rock in the bottom of the hole, engineers designed the platform so it would sit about 50 feet above the waves on columns attached to pontoons. The pontoons will be flooded and submerged during drilling.

More difficult is the problem of keeping the platform from drifting away. Six right-angle propellers will be located just below each of the stabilizing columns. A computer can order any one of the propellers to increase or decrease thrust.

NEARLY DONE

Working drawings for the raft are nearing completion at the National Steel and Shipbuilding Co. of San Diego, Calif. The shipyard expects to start moulding steel in January.

Will it work?

Engineers are confident the platform will be stable enough. They are more concerned about trouble that may develop in the drilling process.

No one is certain what kind of rock will have to be penetrated in the mantle and in the deep crust.

Mohole's engineers have designed a diamond bit that can run 129 hours in tough basaltic rock without replacement.

TURBOCORDER

A reliable turbocorer has been developed to supplant the conventional rotary method, in which the entire drill string had to turn. With the turbocorer, salt water or drilling mud is pumped down the hole for power and only the bit turns. This saves wear and tear on the drill string.

In addition, a retractable drill bit is being explored. Since the bit has to be larger in diameter than the inside of the drill string, the entire length of pipe normally would have to be brought to the surface to replace the bit.

If some means can be found to collapse the bit, it could be brought to the surface inside the pipe — saving hundreds of hours of drilling time.

Additional time will be saved by development of an automatic pipe rackler able to spit out 125 feet of pipe per minute into a rack when the drill string has to be withdrawn for repairs or replacement.

KNOTTY PROBLEM

Another knotty problem will be getting the drill back into the tiny hole once it has been withdrawn.

Only part of the casing connecting the platform to the sea floor can be left in place. Much of the casing must be brought to the surface with the pipe. Otherwise it would be battered to pieces by the ocean's surface movements and waves.

Finding this casing, about 13 inches in diameter, is a little like a roto-rooter trying to locate a drain pipe in a flooded basement.

A Mohole subcontractor solved the problem by designing a sonar to be placed on the end of the drill pipe to sniff the area and tell scientists where the end of the drill string is relative to the hole.

A hydraulic jet protruding from the end of the pipe will be used for power in case the pipe starts swinging back and forth like a pendulum.

TO USE TV

Underwater television also will be used to guide the pipe into the cavity.

What happens if a joint in the drill breaks? How do you get the pipe below the break out of the hole so it can be reconnected?

In the first place, engineers are able to calculate mathematically the cumulative effect of fatigue on any joint of pipe without seeing it. Joints will be pulled out of the hole and replaced before they wear out.

IN THE EVENT

In the event the calculations go haywire, "We'll have to go fishing," says Mohole director Gordon Lill. A wire line with a hook device must be lowered down the hole to locate the pipe — a difficult operation to say the least.

LOT OF TROUBLE

From all this, it is easy to see the Mohole Project is a lot of trouble. But there does not appear to be any other way to reach the earth's mantle. Drilling on land is not feasible because the crust of the continents is several times thicker than it is on the ocean floor.

Is it worth the effort?

The scientific community is broadly agreed that man must find out what is inside the earth before he can begin to understand the universe.

Nonetheless, the attempt to drill the mantle has stirred a bitter feud among scientists and politicians over the expense, methods and purpose of the project.

Moors Killings Trial Ordered

HYDE, England (UPI) — A man and woman in their 20s yesterday were ordered to stand trial on charges of murdering a youth and two children whose bodies were uncovered in a massive police search of the desolate pennine moors.

Clerk Ian Brady, 27, and his girlfriend, typist Myra Hindley, 23, both pleaded "not guilty to all three charges." Their trial is to open in Cardiff, Wales, on Jan. 11.

Brady is charged with murdering 17-year-old Edward Evans, whose body was found in Miss Hindley's house, and the two children on the moors, 10-year-old Lesley Ann Downey, and 12-year-old John Kilbride.

Miss Hindley is charged with murdering Evans and Lesley, and with being an accessory to the murder of the Kilbride boy.

3 Miles of Copper Wire Stolen off Phone Poles

PARSONS, Kan. (AP)—Thieves stole three miles of copper wire from the Katy Railroad Monday — right off telephone poles along the right-of-way.

The theft, a mile north of Parsons, was discovered when engine crews complained that signals transmitted by wire were not functioning.

Will the college problem change our speed?

It will slow us down, if we let it.

College enrollments are rising by several hundred thousand every year—and that's the problem.

Higher education needs funds to help finance the facilities, equipment and teachers to educate all these potential leaders.

This is where it hurts. Progress calls for leadership. Leaders are needed, in great abundance, to make wise use of our resources, manpower and human skills.

If the supply of leaders doesn't keep pace, can we expect to maintain our high level in jobs, opportunities and living standards?

This is everybody's concern—and everybody can help. Give to the college of your choice.
