

Ailing Dulles Resigns as Secretary of State

Kidnaped Girl Found Safe

Ike Plans to Select Successor Shortly

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower today announced the resignation of cancer-stricken Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

With moisture in his eyes, Eisenhower personally told newsmen that Dulles is "absolutely incapacitated" to carry on the burden of his office and to determine policy.

Eisenhower said he will announce a successor soon.

He declined to say that the job will go to Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter, who has been serving as acting secretary.

WILL BE CONSULTANT

Eisenhower said he has asked Dulles to continue to serve him as a foreign policy consultant.

A reporter told Eisenhower it had been pretty much taken for granted that Herter would move up to Dulles' post.

Asked whether he had someone other than Herter in mind, Eisenhower said there are "all kinds of considerations" to take into account. He added there are "a number of people with particular talents" who could fill the post.

Police Reserve Attempts to Quit

Complain That Eastman Has 'Shelved' Unit; Meeting Scheduled

Pontiac today was threatened with mass resignation of its 70 member reserve police force.

The latest outburst of trouble within the Police Department came last night when a letter of resignation was offered to the City Commission.

It was signed by John Graham, chief of the Pontiac Police Reserve, and 56 other reserve members.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston persuaded the reservists to hold off quitting for two weeks, while the city attempts to solve their complaints.

Chief gripes centered around George D. Eastman, public safety director for the past seven months. Reserving claimed Eastman has "put them on the shelf" and was turning morale.

They said they received better treatment under former Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, whose battle with Eastman ended with Straley's ouster as chief April 4.

Graham and about 50 other members of the reserve who appeared at last night's meeting indicated a willingness to meet with Eastman and other city officials in an attempt to iron out their problems.

"You've been a part of this city for too long for me to accept your summary resignation," said Rowston.

The mayor said he would ask City Manager Walter K. Willman next week to obtain a statement from Eastman concerning reservists' charges and arrange a negotiating meeting within two weeks. Willman is vacationing in Florida this week.

In a long letter of resignation, Graham referred to "questionable conduct" within the ranks of regular police officers that has been "detrimental to the morale and best interests of the reserve."

He refused to elaborate later, saying he preferred to work out the problems in the meeting with Eastman.

In the letter, Graham referred to "disparaging remarks and innuendo by Eastman personally."

He wouldn't elaborate on this.

'They're Weaving Web of Infamy'

WITNESS AND EQUIPMENT — William Bufalino, Detroit Teamster Union official, is shown with some of his records as he took the witness chair before the Senate Rackets Committee in a statement prior to the hearings. Bufalino said someone had been trying to "weave a web of infamy" about him.

Expect Mercury to Hit Balmly 72 Today Here

The mercury was expected to hit 72 degrees today, the highest temperature of the year. Temperatures will continue high and Saturday in the Pontiac area, then turn cooler over the weekend, the weatherman said.

Today's high will rise again to 70-72. Today's 12-20 mile an hour winds will diminish tonight becoming 14-20 miles tomorrow.

Forty-three was the lowest recording preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The reading at 1 p.m. was 67.

Defiant Teamster Bufalino Denies Probers' Charges

WASHINGTON — The Senate Rackets Committee dug in its heels today for another verbal tug-of-war with William Bufalino, a talkative Detroit teamster.

In three grinding hours yesterday, the committee barely began to cover the ground it planned to go over with Bufalino, the law-school-trained head of Local 985.

For a committee accustomed to hearing witnesses invoke the Fifth Amendment to avoid answering questions, Bufalino provided a stunning change of pace. He responded with torrents of words, although often not directed to what the committee regarded as the point at issue.

Bufalino said someone on the committee—he didn't say who—was attempting to "weave and spin a web of infamy" around him.

He hotly rejected a suggestion by Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) that he take a lie detector test on his denial of involvement in the bombing of a nonunion Dearborn Mich., car washing establishment.

"I had nothing to do with it," Bufalino stormed.

In more testimony, belligerently delivered, Bufalino:

—Defended the character and reputation of alleged underworld figures who were associated with him in a rackets business before he became head of the rackets union.

—Denied he merely fronted for criminal elements behind the business.

—Accused the committee of "branding and stigmatizing" his children by listing him on its chart of the Mafia crime syndicate.

—Contended there was no conflict of interest in his acting as a labor relations consultant while serving as a union official.

COMMITTEE CHARGES

For its part, the committee charged that Bufalino:

—Received almost $14,000 in legal fees and expenses from the union during the bribery and wire-tap trials of Teamster President James R. Hoffa.

—Billed his local for $98 worth of law books, including volumes on divorce and How to Win Law suits.

Teen Located in Woods With Freed Convict

10-Hour Search Ends for Pontiac Blonde Believed Abducted

The Sheriff's Department has identified the man with whom JoAnn Visure was found as Harold E. Martin, 20, of 739 E. Madison Ave., an ex-convict who was released from Ionia State Reformatory just last Tuesday after serving nearly three years for car theft here.

A 10-hour search ended abruptly late this morning when a 17-year-old Pontiac girl, apparently the victim of a violent abduction, was found unharmed in a woods in nearby Bloomfield Township.

An unidentified man was found with her, according to sheriff's detectives, who were bringing the pair to Oakland County Jail.

It was not known whether the girl had been kidnaped or not, although evidence since her disappearance early this morning indicated this.

The girl is JoAnn M. Visure, a pretty blue-eyed blonde, who was expecting to be married this week.

Her discovery ended a statewide search in which the FBI had tentatively joined.

JoAnn is the daughter of Mrs. Ann Visure, a widow with two other children, both adults. She was last seen by her fiancé, Thomas Black, 18, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Black of 759 Young St.

BOTH QUIT SCHOOL

Both teenagers, attended Pontiac Central High School until last fall when they quit.

Although a witness heard the girl's screams when she was abducted, police have no clear-cut account of what actually happened. Apparently, it went like this:

JoAnn was driving her mother's car home from her boyfriend's, about two miles away. As she turned onto Midway from East boulevard, her car was forced to the curb by the other vehicle.

The unknown assailant gained entry to the girl's car and a violent battle ensued.

JoAnn's left shoe came off, the contents of her purse were dumped on the floorboards, a blanket on the front seat of the car was tossed to the floor, the seat cover was ripped and the contents of (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Arctic Mission 'Ice Skate' Gets Under Way

ALPHA TWO, Arctic Ocean (AP)—Ice Skate, a cold weather scientific mission with strong military overtones, was launched Tuesday on this tiny block of ice in the barren arctic.

Two C124 four-engine Globemasters parachuted 22 tons of older boy (Robert) drove out to equipment, food and shelter to a meet JoAnn. I was beginning to worry.

"Then the police came and told me what had happened."

"Now I don't know what to think. Who would want to do a thing like that?"

The 3-mile by 2-mile island is along the arctic route traveled by the nuclear submarine Nautilus and Skate.

Soviets have two similar stations and are landing a third within 100 miles of Alpha Two, successor to Alpha One, an ice island which broke up last November and had to be evacuated.

Maj. Harry M. Brittenham of Houston, Tex., is the Ice Skate project officer.

Alpha Two is 233 miles north of Point Barrow and about 900 miles south of the North Pole.

JOANN VISURE

Girl's Mother Has Her Share of Trouble

By PETE LOCHBILER

Mrs. Ann Visure has seen more than her share of troubles lately, but the abduction of her daughter last night is the worst blow of all.

"I just don't know what could have happened, I don't know what to think," the tearful 55-year-old widow said today.

"It's hard to believe JoAnn would have opened her car door for a stranger. She's not that kind of girl. I hate to think of her being hurt. I just pray that she gets out of this unharmed."

Mrs. Visure held JoAnn's high school picture in her hand this morning at her home, 416 Midway Ave.

"She is such a pretty girl, such a pretty girl," she said, touching the portrait gently.

JoAnn is the youngest of Mrs. Visure's three children, and as a golden-haired tot was always the darling of the family.

When Mrs. Visure's husband, John, died in December of cancer, JoAnn's pending marriage helped soften the blow for her mother.

Visure was in the Materials Department of Pontiac Motor Division and he left enough money so that his widow does not have to work.

The other children are Robert, Ernest, 28.

Mrs. Visure doesn't like to talk about the incident in front of her home last August. That was when JoAnn's long-time boyfriend Thomas Black, attempted suicide because JoAnn wanted to break off with him.

"They were going to be married, that's what's important. They were thinking of having the ceremony performed this week."

EIGHTS TEARS

Thinking suddenly of the violence with which JoAnn apparently was abducted, Mrs. Visure fought to keep back the tears.

"At least there were no blood stains in the car."

"It happened so close to home, only a block away. If I hadn't been busy in the house, I might have heard her screams."

"I called Tom's mother (Mrs. James Black) at about midnight, wondering about JoAnn. Mrs. Black said JoAnn had just left."

"Along about 12:30 I was wondering why JoAnn hadn't gotten home. It's only about two miles away to her boyfriend's."

"I was thinking of having my car driven to her boyfriend's."

"Then the police came and told me what had happened."

"Now I don't know what to think. Who would want to do a thing like that?"

"When I looked out, there was a car parked in front with the motor running and headlights on, but no one anywhere in sight," she explained.

Police identified the auto as belonging to JoAnn's mother. The girl had driven it to her boyfriend's house earlier and was presumed returning home.

"Right away I thought something was out of place and called police," the housewife related.

The car was parked pointing east on Midway, toward the home of the girl police think was driving it. No one ever came back to it and the lights were on and motor running when the officers arrived shortly before 1 a.m.

MRS. ANTHONY PENA

Girl's Screams Wake Neighbor

Mrs. Anthony Pena Telephones City Police Following Commotion

"Suddenly I was awakened by the sound of screams," Mrs. Anthony Pena of 310 Midway Ave., told Pontiac patrolmen early this morning.

Detectives investigating the abduction of attractive 17-year-old JoAnn Visure, who lives near the Pena home, believe Mrs. Pena may be the only witness to the kidnapping.

"My husband was at work. I was asleep when the commotion awakened me," the housewife related.

"All the windows were closed, but I still could hear the screaming of a woman. It seemed almost like a dream at first, but I realized something was wrong and ran to the front window."

Mrs. Pena told officers that as she scrambled out of bed she heard a car driving away.

"It sounded like it was on S. East boulevard." The Penas live in the second house east of S. East boulevard.

"When I looked out, there was a car parked in front with the motor running and headlights on, but no one anywhere in sight," she explained.

Police identified the auto as belonging to JoAnn's mother. The girl had driven it to her boyfriend's house earlier and was presumed returning home.

"Right away I thought something was out of place and called police," the housewife related.

The car was parked pointing east on Midway, toward the home of the girl police think was driving it. No one ever came back to it and the lights were on and motor running when the officers arrived shortly before 1 a.m.

Boy Admits Stabbing Kills Flint Mother of 3

FLINT (AP)—A youth admitted to police today that he beat and stabbed to death a pretty young mother of three who had befriended him.

Genesee County Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke said he would ask the probate court to waive jurisdiction on Gerald Carlson, who will be 15 a week from today.

The mutilated body of Patricia Dixon, 24, was found in a utility room of her home on the outskirts of Flint Tuesday night. She was clad in a nightgown.

O'Rourke said Carlson frequently visited Mrs. Dixon and her husband, Richard, 27, at their home.

Dixon was at work at the Fisher body plant at the time of the slaying. The couple's children — Richard, Jr., 4, Terry, 2, and Pamela, 10 months — were in the house.

Carlson lived next door to the Dixon home just outside the Flint city limits with his father. Ora.

The boy went to the Dixon home to watch television after the set in his own house failed.

O'Rourke said all the boy remembered was that Mrs. Dixon walked by while he was watching television and he battered her with a pipe wrench and then stabbed her with a butcher knife.

"The boy went home and told his father what he had done," O'Rourke said. "The father called an ambulance."

O'Rourke said Gerald, who has a 19-year-old brother, had never been in trouble before. He said the boy seemed remorseful and "remembered what he did."

"He didn't break down when I talked to him. He was lucid and cooperative," O'Rourke said.

O'Rourke said he would investigate the case further before he de-10 months — were in the house, cited whether or not to petition the Juvenile Court to waive jurisdiction and have the boy tried in Circuit Court.

4 Officers Nab Man, Toy Gun

Waitress Still Giving Description on Phone When Arrest Made

A man carrying a toy revolver was nabbed last night by four Pontiac patrolmen while a waitress was still on the phone reporting the robbery to police.

Albert Hemstreet, 38, of 4 S. Saginaw St., was arrested for investigation of armed robbery just minutes after the waitress, Mary Willford, of 2922 Churchill Rd., Auburn Heights, called police that she had been held up.

She said the man walked into the White Tower Restaurant 142 N. Saginaw St., shortly before 10 p.m. with a silk scarf covering his face.

He handed her a note saying it was a stickup, she told police. She turned over $46 from the cash register while he bandished a gun.

While the robbery report was being flashed to all cars, Patrolmen Harold Hayden, Ron Peters, Elmo Burgess and Robert Rood all spotted Hemstreet running from the scene. They grabbed him at the corner of Perry and Huron street while police were still taking further descriptions from the waitress.

Searched by the patrolmen, Hemstreet was found to be carrying a toy pistol and $46.

Mrs. Johnson's estranged husband, Joseph Johnson Jr., 28, of Detroit, was sought for questioning.

GET BICYCLE SAFETY TIPS — Patrolman Carl Kilmer gives Tommy Hillsey (left) of 1082 Argyle St. and Tracy Tison of 1074 Argyle Ave. on how to make sure their bicycles can pass safety requirements for licensing. Police are participating in a city-wide drive to have all bicycles safety-inspected and licensed.

For Every Bike, a License — Goal in Citywide Drive

This is the time of year again when attention usually centered on driver and traffic safety is shifted to the thousands of young bicyclists in Pontiac.

The Pontiac Optimist Luncheon Club, in cooperation with the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee, Pontiac Police Department and the Safety Committee of the Principals Assn., Pontiac Public Schools, is engaging in its annual drive to license all bicycles in the city.

Chairman of the program is John Tison, of 1074 Argyle St., a member of the Optimist Luncheon Club.

This week, application forms are being distributed to all bicycle owners throughout elementary and junior high schools in the city.

Each year the week-long affair takes place as part of a national bicycle safety program, designed to reach riders just taking their bikes out of moth balls after the winter months.

Licensing is the major objective. Police officers are making scheduled appearances at the various schools throughout the week, explaining what the safety factors are and the advantages of having bicycles licensed.

Naturally, the biggest advantage is staying within the law. A city ordinance requires bicycle licensing.

Another big advantage lies in finding stolen bikes. If a bike is licensed, much time is saved in locating it if it is lost or stolen. Positive identification can be made immediately by means of a license plate.

Applications for licenses are given to the children to be taken home to their parents. It is then the duty of each parent to check the bicycle on several listed safety factors, such as brakes, pedals and steering.

If the bike checks out 100 percent, or after repairs are made, the parents sign the application and it is returned to school by the pupils.

Topping off the project will be a parade of decorated and "best

Most Hospital Patients Found Mentally Upset

CHICAGO (UPI)—Hospitals have come to realize that emotional problems are not limited to mental patients, according to Richard T. Viguers, administrator of the New England Center Hospital in Boston.

"All patients coming to the hospital are emotionally disturbed to a greater or lesser extent," he said.

Writing in the current issue of "The Modern Hospital," Viguers said "the average person does not know how to act as a patient, what is expected of him as a patient, or what he should do or not do."

This may cause a sharp emotional reaction creating an "impossible" patient—one who spends most of his time in the hospital complaining and being generally antisocial, even though he may never act this way in his own home, Viguers said.

Threats Made Against Cuban Leader's Life Alarm Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro will arrive tonight for what promises to be a stormy 11-day unofficial visit to the United States.

State Department security agents and Washington police have arranged to give him one of the tightest protective rings ever given a foreign visitor.

Castro, accompanied by a heavy guard of bearded revolutionary protectors, will fly in with a party of about 35 persons in a chartered Cuban government C54 transport.

A number of threats, warning that Castro will never leave the country alive, have alarmed authorities. Demonstrations and picketing are expected during his five-day stay in the capital and a similar visit in New York.

But his visit apparently will be a hit attraction. The National Press Club said the 505 seats for its luncheon next Monday honoring Castro were sold out in less than an hour.

The American Society of Newspaper Editors, at whose invitation Castro arranged the visit, prepared for a capacity crowd for the Friday meeting he will address.

Castro is hoping his visit will improve Cuba's relations with the United States and Canada. He has volunteered to answer questions about some of the points on which his regime has been criticized.

At least two anti-Castro groups are expected to demonstrate against him here. Security agents assigned to guard the Cuban leader also have picked up threats that he will be bombed, hanged, stoned and shot.

Castro will meet with Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter Thursday at a luncheon, and with Vice President Richard M. Nixon Sunday night at Nixon's home. He has no plans for formal talks with top U.S. government officials.

A group calling itself the Anti-Communist Movement of the Americas announced here it would protest his visit by parading 75 pickets with anti-Castro signs in front of the White House two hours before Castro's arrival.

Castro was reported anxious to sell his new government to the American people. He also has made no secret of the fact that he wants American economic aid to bolster Cuba's sagging economy and an increased share in the U.S. sugar market for his country's number one export crop.

He also was expected to ask the United States to agree to return to Cuba former supporters of Batista who have taken up exile in American cities. Castro long has complained that they are conspiring actively to overthrow his government, an accusation denied by American officials.

Castro will leave Washington Monday to speak at Princeton University in New Jersey. He will arrive in New York Tuesday for several television press interviews and speaking engagements before leaving Saturday to speak at Yale University, New Haven, Conn., and Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

He will end his U.S. trip by flying to Montreal to accept a gift from the children of Canada to the children of Cuba.

The revolutionary leader accepted numerous invitations to speak before American, overseas and U.N. press groups despite his frequent attacks on American news agencies and news magazines.

Holly Woman Is Nominated

Former Teacher Vies for Michigan Mother of Year Honor

A former teacher in Holly area schools, Mrs. Everett B. Hathaway, 71, of 415 East Holly St., Holly, has been nominated for Michigan Mother of the Year, it was announced today.

Mrs. Hathaway retired from the teaching profession last year at Davisburg Elementary School. She and her husband have raised three children, none of them their's by birth.

She will vie with 19 other mothers nominated for the honor. The winner will be announced at a luncheon in Detroit's Sheraton Cadillac Hotel, April 30 as part of "Michigan State Mother Week" festivities.

The Michigan Mother of 1959 will compete with mothers similarly honored in the other states for the title of American Mother of the Year in New York City, May 5.

The two children adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway are a brother and sister, Kenneth Hathaway of 1647 Weymouth St., Walled Lake, and Mrs. Floyd Brian of Ypsilanti. The couple also raised Marlon Williams of 303 S. Saginaw St., Holly, as a son.

either, but last week Eastman criticized reserve members because some of them participated in a petition movement to get Straley restored to his position.

Eastman called this participation "unethical."

Reservists confided after the meeting that a small number of regular police officers had given them trouble for many years. They said these officers were active in the Pontiac Police Officers Assn. and anti-Straley in their sympathies.

"We're not pro-Straley or anti-Straley," declared one reservist. "We just want the proper respect for the job we're doing."

Reservists had these complaints, which they said developed since Eastman took over in October:

1. Since the first week in December, they have not been used on night traffic or foot patrol, but have served only as guards at school athletic events or at teenage dances.
2. They have not been allowed to practice pistol shooting at the police range the past four months.
3. There have been no arrangements to give them training under the Police Department's new training program.
4. They have been subject to "disparaging insults" from regular officers.

One incident of the latter variety occurred recently at a teenage dance when regular officers refused to honor a reservist's attempt to arrest some teenage hoodlums. It was charged.

Another reservist at the same dance was accused by regular officers of being drunk, although he hadn't been drinking, the reservists claimed.

Other regular officers have taunted reservists, branding them with such nicknames as "Teenage Commandoes" and "Weekend Warriors," it was charged.

The reservists were organized by Straley in March 1953 and Graham has served as their chief since then.

The reservists serve without pay, each performing regular duties for one eight-hour shift every month and serving in addition at parades, athletic games, dances and special events.

It is estimated they save the city at least $8000 a year by performing platoon pay duties that regular police officers would otherwise have to do.

Reservists also function as the city's chief Civil Defense reserve, and they are trained to take over most Police Department jobs in event of emergency.

Reservists buy their own uniforms, get their training at no cost to the city and serve under the same oath and duty conditions as regulars.

In the six years that reservists have patrolled Pontiac Central High School athletic events, there has never been a major teenage incident, such as occur frequently in other cities, Graham pointed out.

Up to December of last year, reservists had put in about 4,000 man-hours for 1958, at no cost to the city.

Courthouse Plan Gets Nowhere

Moving County Seat, Election on Location Received, Filed

Two long-buried requests that Oakland County's government seat be shifted to Royal Oak and that an election determine the site and financing of a new courthouse got a fast hello and goodbye at yesterday's Board of Supervisors meeting.

Supervisors took both matters "off the table" and received and filed them.

"All we wanted to do was get rid of them," David Levinson, chairman of a special courthouse planning committee, said.

He said the only way the requests could be brought up again would be by action of the Board. "They're dead as far as I'm concerned," Levinson remarked.

In October of 1957, the Oakland County Taxpayers League asked the Board to call a special election at which county voters could authorize spending of contested funds for the new courthouse and at the same time approve a bond issue for the rest of the money needed to complete the building.

Also the League suggested voters decide where the new courthouse should be built — on the present downtown site it favors, or in the County Service Center on Telegraph road the supervisors favor.

The Royal Oak City Commission followed the League in December of 1957, urging a special election to change the county seat from Pontiac to Royal Oak.

Both communications have been tabled and have appeared on supervisors' agendas ever since without action.

The only voice heard following yesterday's action came from Howard K. Kelley, Royal Oak mayor and supervisor. "In the future I'd like the governing bodies concerned given some notice in advance," he said.

The League filed the law suit, which until recently prevented the county from proceeding with constructing the new building. It appears the League has given up seeking other steps to keep the courthouse downtown.

The League's latest try, a letter to each supervisor asking them to "scrutinize very carefully" the building project, wasn't even mentioned at yesterday's meeting.

Meanwhile, the county is prepared to accept construction bids for the new courthouse next Tuesday.

Lodge Defends Lawyers

Two Senate Republicans Clash in Hot Argument

Senate Republicans clashed in a tongue-lashing battle among themselves yesterday.

Debate waged so hot between Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Oakland County) and Sen. Clarence F. Graebner (R-Saginaw) that Democrat Sen. Patrick J. Doyle (Dearborn) intervened, warning his colleagues to stand more on their dignity and "count to 10 before making hot-headed remarks."

The clash erupted when Graebner, an insurance man insinuated that attorneys manipulated "shyster law suits."

"I resent that," said Lodge, an attorney himself, jumping to his feet, "when a man who wants a bill for his own purposes of insurance calls us (lawyers) shysters."

Graebner and six other senators are sponsoring a bill to limit the amount of liability a tavern owner could be held to should an intoxicated customer go out and get injured or killed in an auto accident.

"If he (Graebner) wants to represent a lot of bar owners who serve this liquor and turn these men loose on the streets we should have more protection for widows and orphans," Lodge shot back.

"Who's a shyster? I say they are shysters," Lodge roared.

As the law stands now, a bar owner is held liable if he sells a drink in violation of the law most notably to a patron at the point of intoxication or already drunk, and the drunk is involved in an accident.

Graebner's bill would limit the liability to cases where an unlawful drink sale has directly caused intoxication. It also would require that suit be instituted within one year rather than the present two years.

Graebner called them "shyster law suits" when a lawyer can now go back and get a man who served a bottle of beer 12 hours before the accident and make him a defendant in a law suit.

After Lodge and Graebner cooled down senators went home, postponing discussion of the bill.

Hints for Cleaning Alabaster

To clean decorative alabaster, first sponge the surface with flannel moistened in spirits of turpentine.

Next, wash it with warm soap or detergent suds, and wipe dry. Then polish the surface with a soft dry brush dipped in plaster of Paris.

Don't press metallic cloth without first testing a scrap of the material. Even a moderate iron may discolor or melt the material.

MAKE OVER SAFETY AWARDS Slated at Romeo

ROMEO — Winners in the annual grade school Safety Poster Contest will be announced and will receive their awards at tomorrow night's regular meeting of the Elementary Schools Club of Romeo. The ceremony will take place at 8 p.m. at the Romeo Community Youth and Civic Center.

Presentation of the awards will be made by Inspector Francis E. Davey, of the Detroit Police Department Youth Bureau, and Romeo Police Chief Edgar Welsch.

Over 800 pupils in grades one through six entered this year's competition. They made posters using safety in the school, at home or on the road as their theme.

The children's work, done solely at school, was supervised by Mrs. Roberta Lancy, grade schools art teacher.

Every home room teacher recorded the number of each poster with the pupil's name before turning them over to the judges.

When the judging was completed, room winners were notified and invited to attend the meeting tomorrow night. From this group, grade winners and the two trophy winners will be named.

Highpoint of the program will be reached when Inspector Davey presents the trophies to the two first place winners. The larger cup will be awarded to the senior division champion from grades four through six, and the smaller one to the junior winner from grades one through three.

Contest judges were Mrs. Lester W. Poosch, Mrs. Herbert A. Kiner, Mrs. Harvey B. Rankens, Romeo Police Sgt. Charles Meeker and Romeo State Police Sgt. Henry DeLooff.

Group to Study Oxford's Needs

6-Man Board Okayed; Will Report to Village Council on Problems

OXFORD — At their regular meeting last night, Oxford Village Council members approved a resolution officially establishing a 6-man Citizens Study Group to "examine the needs of the village" and to report its findings to the Council.

Four of the six members had previously been named, and last night the list was completed with the appointments of Dr. Donald C. Davidson and Clifford Vennard.

The other four are Edward J. Bossardet Jr., Gerald Olrich, Stewart Langley and Harry Hall.

The new volunteer group is charged with the responsibility of studying village problems, determining needs and making recommendations to the Council.

The local governing body immediately suggested two major projects for the group to investigate. They are the possible location for a fire station, village offices and police department and the feasibility of changing from village to city government.

The first meeting of the committee will be called by Village Manager Ralph Precious, and then the six members will name their own chairman and formulate their own rules of procedure. They will serve without pay, but will be reimbursed for any necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties.

The terms of office of members of the study group are indefinite and may be terminated at any time by the Council.

As budget talks continue two more items were added for Council consideration. Village employees were polled and were unanimous in their decision to be placed on a retirement plan rather than get pay raises. Requests for pay hikes by the fire chief and his two assistants will also be covered in further budget discussions.

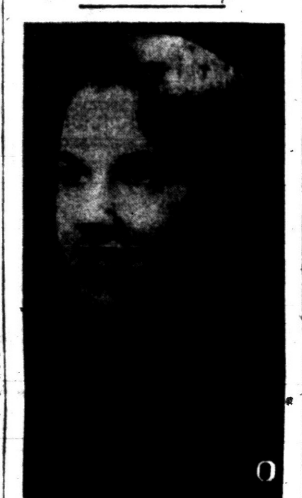

The Council confirmed the reappointments of Fire Chief Al Sage and Assistant Fire Chiefs Clyde Throop and Ralph VanWagoner.

A petition was received by the Council from a number of property owners in the northwest business district of town asking that the alley in that area be dedicated and a sewer line be installed there. A letter will be sent to the petitioners asking them to name two representatives to appear at the next council meeting to discuss the request.

Modern Evolution

WINCHESTER, Va. — Kathy and Lee Wolff here have at least one claim to fame. They have a grandma Wolff and a grandma Bare.

A study of bus routes and possible changes is being made by Langerman and Floyd Vickery who is in charge of school transportation. It also is expected to be completed in time for the May meeting of the school board.

Board Sec. Dwight Wiseman has revealed a report from the State School Board Assn. requesting local support of House Bill 311 which provides $210 gross per student, three and a half mills deductible for each student. The local school board has assured its support of the bill.

In case state aid is not paid, the board has made application to the Michigan Municipal Finance Committee for permission to borrow $300,000 on May 15 in anticipation of the next tax collection.

The money would be used for operating the schools for the balance of this year.

Robbins cited the case of an Ohio man who came to Michigan on a visit, saw the many good maple trees going to waste in Grand Traverse County, bought some land and now has the biggest operation in the state. The man produced more than 4,000 gallons of maple syrup last year, Robbins said.

The total Michigan production, while contributing some to the farmers' pocketbook, totaled only 100,000 gallons last year, or as Robbins says, "about three table-spoons per person in Michigan."

Most syrup is produced in Vermont where it's really a big business.

Robbins said northwest Michigan, around Traverse City, is starting to come alive to the sweet prospects of the syrup business and for the first time, there will be a syrup festival at Charlevoix. That's next weekend.

Another festival, in the heart of the maple syrup country, is Vermontville.

Hints of other beginnings for the business come from around Mio in Oscoda county in northeast Michigan where, a cooperative has been started, Robbins said.

There hasn't been any real progress in sugar making for 20 years, Robbins said.

Plastic tubing used in some areas for running sap right from the tree to the sugar shack has been used for about three years and there have been improvements in the material, he said. But this is no revolutionary change from the old system of carting the sap in buckets or in the overall business.

Man Finds Her Aflame in Car

Also Saves Brother as Fire Breaks Out While Mother in Store

ROYAL OAK — With second and third degree burns over 50 per cent of her body, little Timberly Fox has only a precarious hold on life today.

That the 2½-year-old tot has any chance to live at all is mainly due to the quick action of a Detroit Edison Co. employee, a spokesman at William Beaumont Hospital said this morning.

The father of three children himself, Chris Christenson was making his rounds for the Edison firm yesterday when he saw smoke pouring from the windows of a parked car.

He ran over and pulled 14-month-old Brian Fox from the front seat of the car, brushing the flames from the tot. Then he spotted Brian's sister Timberly aflame on the back seat. He pulled her out as well, wrapping her in his coat to smother the flames.

Local police said the children's mother, Mrs. Ronald Fox, 19, of 307 Marlin St. left the tots in the car in front of the G. and P. Market, 1801 Main St., while she entered the store to cash a check and make a purchase.

She was only in the store about three minutes, according to a clerk, when an unidentified man ran in shouting, "The children have caught fire!"

When police arrived at the scene, Christenson, who lives at 2427 Columbia Rd. in Berkley, had the mother and two children in his car ready to leave for the hospital.

Police transferred the children into their car. Patrolman William E. Skoze said "It was all I could do to hold the girl, she was so badly burned."

Brian was released from William Beaumont Hospital after being treated for minor burns. His sister is still there.

The children's father was at work when the accident occurred. He runs the Ron Fox Golf School in Detroit and during the summer is assistant pro at the Lochmoor Golf Club in Grosse Pointe Woods.

Police theorized the youngsters were playing with matches found on the front seat of the car.

Lakeville Man Hurt; Car Hits Abutment

OXFORD — A Lakeville man was injured last night when the car in which he was riding hit the railroad abutment in the middle of East Burdick street, Oxford Police reported today.

Charles W. Kracker, 28, of 1495 Main St., was taken to Pontiac General Hospital with abrasions of the right knee and a possible back injury. He was reported in satisfactory condition today.

Kracker told Oxford Patrolman Harold Sittes that someone else was driving the car and had disappeared before the officer arrived on the scene. Sittes said he was going to continue his investigation of the accident today.

Farmers Could Realize Up to $300 Per Acre

State Maple Syrup Industry Ripe for Tapping

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Many Michigan farmers are missing a money-making proposition by not tapping a source of money—the maple trees.

Putnam W. Robbins, an associate professor of forestry at Michigan State University says from $150 to $300 gross income could be realized per acre from those maple trees in which sap is running this time of year.

Most of the sugar bushes are concentrated in Eaton County but some areas of the northland are getting in on the act and there are hints that others are realizing there is money in those trees.

Robbins cited the case of an Ohio man who came to Michigan on a visit, saw the many good maple trees going to waste in Grand Traverse County, bought some land and now has the biggest operation in the state. The man produced more than 4,000 gallons of maple syrup last year, Robbins said.

The total Michigan production, while contributing some to the farmers' pocketbook, totaled only 100,000 gallons last year, or as Robbins says, "about three table-spoons per person in Michigan."

Most syrup is produced in Vermont where it's really a big business.

Robbins said northwest Michigan, around Traverse City, is starting to come alive to the sweet prospects of the syrup business and for the first time, there will be a syrup festival at Charlevoix. That's next weekend.

Another festival, in the heart of the maple syrup country, is Vermontville.

Hints of other beginnings for the business come from around Mio in Oscoda county in northeast Michigan where, a cooperative has been started, Robbins said.

There hasn't been any real progress in sugar making for 20 years, Robbins said.

Plastic tubing used in some areas for running sap right from the tree to the sugar shack has been used for about three years and there have been improvements in the material, he said. But this is no revolutionary change from the old system of carting the sap in buckets or in the overall business.

However, Robbins hinted there are big steps in the making. It's been found, he said, that the largest reason for a slowdown in the flow of sap in the tree is bacteria which produce a plugging action. By "inoculating" some test trees, the flow has been stepped up by as much as ten times, he said, which represents a major breakthrough and perhaps the first big change in production.

There is great potential for maple syrup production in the Upper Peninsula, he said, but almost no effort is made to tap the resources. Prospects are bright, however. The business in Michigan, probably started by the Indian, is looking up and if enough people realize the potential, he said, it could mean a lot economically to the farmer.

Rose Bowl Renewal Anticipated

Expect Big Ten to Approve New Contract in May

'Straw Vote' Indicates 6-4 in Favor of Further Play at Pasadena

CHICAGO (AP) — The official Big Ten vote on continuance of the Rose Bowl football pact is expected to stand at 6-4 in the affirmative at the conference's May meeting at Michigan, it was learned Tuesday night.

The Big Ten took a so-called straw vote at its sessions in Madison, Wis., in March and received a 5-4 decision for continuance with Northwestern reportedly abstaining.

It was learned that Northwestern's faculty athletic committee and a 14-man athletic advisory council recently voted in the affirmative.

The action unless conceivably overruled by Northwestern's faculty higher echelon in an unprecedented move, means that potentially the vote is carried 6-4 in favor of continuing the Rose Bowl contract.

The issue has been put before each school's faculty council of similar group for official vote.

Illinois, Ohio State and Minnesota have made public their support of continuance of the series beyond the 1960 game, when the present contract expires.

Michigan has come out in favor of it.

Wisconsin is known to be against it although its vote has not been announced. Purdue, Indiana, Michigan State and Iowa are believed to be behind continuance although their votes also have not been made public. In this bracket Michigan State especially is in the potential category although the school voted "Yes" in the straw vote.

A Rose Bowl contract is receptive to the Tournament of Roses and the Big Four of Western college football—California, Southern California, Washington and UCLA.

The Big Four—known as the Athletic Assn. of Western Universities—will supplant the Pacific Coast Conference when it legally expires at midnight June 30.

The Big Ten contract with the PCC runs only through the 1960 Rose Bowl games.

Armada Swamps Almont for 2nd Track Victory

Armada's power-packed third clads racked up their 2nd victory of the season yesterday on the home field against Almont, 81-16 to 29-16.

Winners took eight firsts, tied two, led by Bob Zarate's 16 and Jerry Blake's 12 points. Frank Hartway had 9 for Almont.

Meets' best time was by Armada's Golden Shore (2:13) for the half-mile run.

New York—Columbia's 1937 football team was the first penalized of the major teams, the Lions getting set back a total of 190 yards on 22 penalties.

Red Sox Management to Meet With NCAAP

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination (MCAD) Tuesday invited Boston Red Sox officials to its next meeting "to answer charges of racial discrimination" brought by three groups against the club.

Invited to the April 21 meeting were club President Tom Yawkey and Executive Vice President Bucky Harris.

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), the Ministerial Alliance, a group of 41 greater Boston ministers, and the American Veterans Committee charged the Sox with bias in shipping Negro infielder Pumpsie Green to the minors last week.

The Red Sox have denied the allegation asserting the team will use capable players "regardless of race, color or creed."

Green, who would have been the first Negro to wear a Red Sox uniform hit .327 in spring training. He got off to a fast start, but cooled off and was erratic in the field. He was returned to Minneapolis, where last season he hit .352.

Green has not commented on the discrimination charges.

The Red Sox, in a letter to the commission Monday officially denied Green had been farmed out because of bias.

"The truth is," the Red Sox

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Don Carter and Tom Hennessey of St. Louis retained their title last night in the National Doubles Match Game Bowling Championships.

Carter and Hennessey piled up 31 Petersen points on a 24-8 record and 13,306 pins to win the top prize of $2,000.

Ray Bluth and Dick Weber, also of St. Louis, finished a weak second with 23 points on an 17-13 record with 13,313 pins. They walked off with $1,500.

Still another St. Louis team of Pat Patterson and Bill Lillard took third place with 22 points on a 19-13 record and 12,050 pins. Patterson and Lillard collected $1,250.

2nd Win for Milford

Milford track squad yesterday racked up its 2nd victory in as many starts with a 78-21 win over Brighton on the home field.

Wingers took 11 firsts, tied two others. Sean Lavan (Brighton) and Dennis Munson both jumped 19-9 in the broad jump. Milford's Tom Manley had a 54-8 for the 440 and freshman Ted Nelson turned a 4:56 mile, with teammate Larry Adams breathing down his neck.

Bill Veresh's 10-6 vault was also a good performance.

Johnny Green, Michigan State's rubber-legged basketball center, was selected as the Big Ten's Most Valuable player in 1939.

Johnny Bratton Back in Hospital

CHICAGO (AP)—Johnny Bratton, former welterweight boxing champion who escaped Friday from a mental hospital because he wanted to visit old haunts, was picked up Tuesday.

Bratton, 31, was standing on a South Side street corner when a policeman recognized him and took him into custody for return to Chicago State Hospital.

Bratton defeated Charley Fusari in 1931 for the NBA welterweight title and lost it to Kid Gavilan later in the year for the world championship. He has been in mental institutions since May 1936.

Historical Canadian Sites 150 Years

Seek to Preserve Old Stone House

By JOHN A. CURRAN
Written for the Canadian Press
SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)
—The Ermatinger House—now called simply the Old Stone House—put Sault Ste. Marie on the map of upper Canada 150 years ago.

Its history is linked with the fur trade of the north country, the capture of Fort Michilmackinac during the war of 1812 and the sacking of the hamlet of Sault Ste. Marie by the Americans as a stroke of revenge a year later.

It was known to Lord Elgin, governor-general of British North America 1847 to 1854, as "the elegant mansion house" and Lord Selkirk as a headquarters stop-off during his expedition to Manitoba's Red River Valley.

Built by the first agent of the powerful old Northwest Company, Charles Oakes Ermatinger, in 1814, the house still is capable of restoration. It is the oldest stone house north of Toronto.

A move is afoot, with the assistance of the Canadian government, to have the city of Sault Ste. Marie acquire the property for preservation. It may be declared a national historic site.

Ermatinger, son of a Swiss merchant who settled in Montreal, came to this settlement in 1808 at the age of 28 to set up a northern base for the company's fur trade. He early determined that he would build himself a house and live in the elegant style of his distinguished family.

Documents gathered in recent years by the Historical Society indicate that Ermatinger moved his family of seven into the house in 1816 and remained there until he returned to Montreal about 1831.

RED SANDSTONE USED
Native red sandstone was obtained from a quarry less than two miles distant, but the huge cedar timbers were reported to have been brought from Montreal.

The place must have taken on the atmosphere of a fortress for its walls are 2½ feet thick in places. At one time it boasted wooden shutters on the small front windows facing the St. Mary's River and the American border.

Located almost in the heart of the city's main business section, the Ermatinger house is expected to cost $50,000 to buy now. Another $65,000 will be needed for restoration and development as a show-place and museum. Lands of the house at one time extended about 20 acres. Now it takes up about four city-sized blocks.

Military, social and business center of the 60-family settlement when it was built, the old stone house down through a century and a half has served as everything from a garrison headquarters to a place of worship. It now is a four-apartment block.

The original six large rooms gave Ermatinger the opportunity to live in the grand style of a community leader. He and his wife, an Ojibway princess, headed the social life of the settlement and it was recorded that an invitation to their annual caribou dinner and dance was a mark of local distinction.

Ermatinger built a grist mill attached to one side of the house and an inn on the other side. He also built a large sawmill on the St. Mary's River a quarter-mile south. The Americans burned the settlement. The wooden-framed grist mill and inn have long since vanished.

At a Sault Ste. Marie military ceremony in 1932 representatives of United States forces crossed the river to return a flag American forces had ripped from a flagpole at the old house more than a century ago. The flag now is displayed at the city hall.

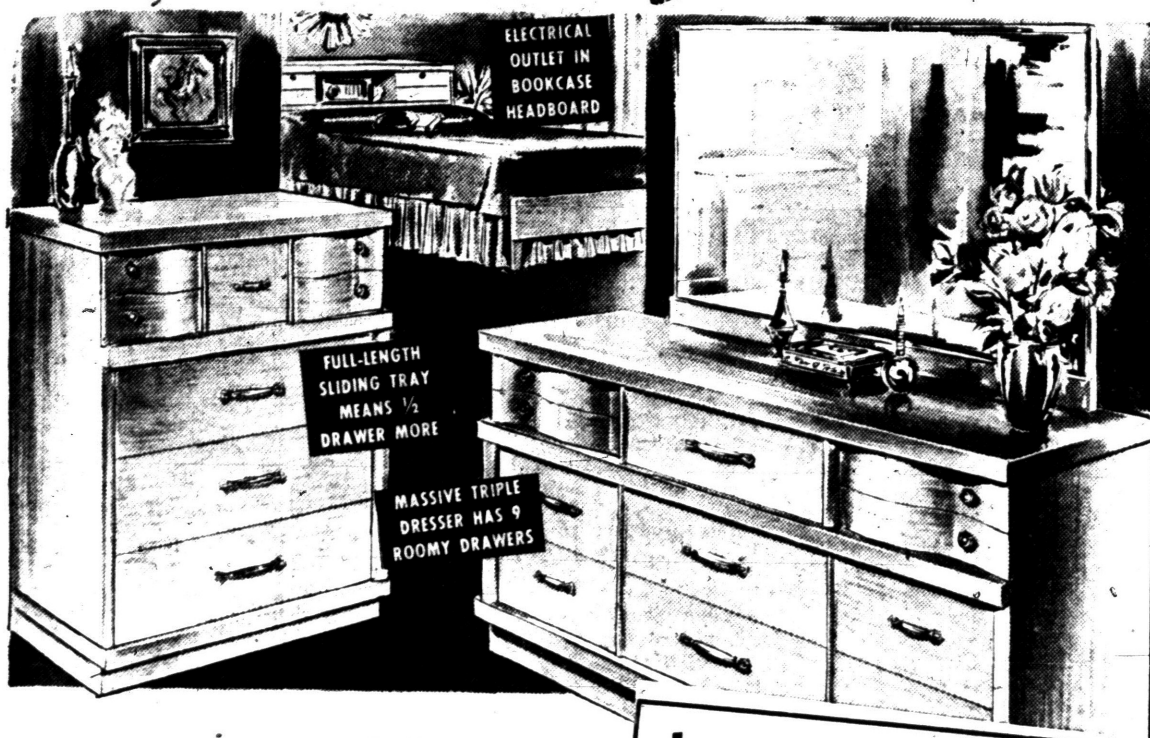

The average density of population ranges from fewer than five people per square mile in Canada, Australia, and many colonial areas to 300 or more in the United Kingdom, Belgium, the Netherlands, Germany, and Japan.
