2nd Renewal Plan Gets Federal OK

Robert Moore Re-Elected Head of County Auditors

Robert Y. Moore retained his long-standing job as chairman of the Oakland County Board of Auditors today.

The board of supervisors reapointed him by a vote of 55 to 16.

His only challenge for the one-year position came from Robert E. Lilly, 43-year-old secretary of the board of auditors since 1950.

In other action during one of the longest board of supervisors meetings in memory, members voted former Pontiac Supervisor Maurice J. Croston to the social welfare board, replacing Thomas J. Leonard, and dropped a veteran member Mrs. Sarah Garrett of Commerce Township from the canvassing board.

Leonard didn't seek reappointment to the welfare board. Instead he will devote his full time to being director of the medical care facility.

Mrs. Garrett, on the canvassing board since 1962, was replaced by Mrs. Paul Gorman of Pontiac.

Replacing Mrs. Ruth Conterline of Royal Oak, who had resigned because her husband transferred from the county, was Mrs. William Dison of Royal Oak.

Former Democratic County Chairman Carlos G. Richardson was renominated to the canvassing board, without opposition, as the third member.

Before the supervisors took up to county positions, they re-elected "by a vote of 68 to 8—to make the three county road commissions strictly policy-making members on a dollar-a-year basis."

They now administer the policies they want, which stirred Huntington Woods Supervisor Fred L. Yockey to seek a change.

Afterward Robert O. Felt, on the Board of County Road Commissioners for the past 12 years, was handed another six-year term beginning next Jan. 1. Supervisors also boosted his pay from $6,000 to $10,000, starting with his new term.

Leading off the long list of appointments to county positions was the three-year re-appointment of Moore to the three-member board of auditors.

Elmer Kephart, Bloomfield Hills supervisor, nominated Moore, who has been on the board since 1950 and chairman since 1958. There were no other nominations. Moore received 61 votes in the paper ballot election.

Then came the one-year term—recently established by the board of supervisors instead of the usual three years—as chairman of the board which is responsible for preparing county budgets and allocating county funds.

Royal Oak Supervisor John B. Osgood, who worked with Lilly on the August vote of the county electorate on the proposals to raise tax funds for the new court house, nominated Lilly as "very capable and very qualified."

Press Presents Profiles of the Top Candidates of the estimated net cost, of which $79,616 is available immediately for planning.

Hot words are flying from both sides as the presidential campaign races through its final days.

2. Held up final approval until the plans are okayed.

Although planning may take about a year, planners have said the project should be ready to go in time to "tie in" with the city's first urban renewal project, which is getting started this week.

ANOTHER BIG STEP

Congratulating city officials, Broomfield said the project would be "another important step forward for Pontiac, creating more jobs, more business and more prosperity."

The project is only the fourth of its kind approved in Michigan under a new federal provision allowing up to 20 per cent of the national urban renewal budget to be spent on commercial redevelopment.

Happy to hear the news, Robert A. Silver, assistant city manager and urban renewal coordinator, held off official comment until details of the federal approval arrive at City Hall in a few days.

Estimating gross cost of land purchase, clearance and other items at $2,775,000, the city had requested federal aid in the amount of $1,120,000, figuring the city itself would have to pay about $550,000 to carry out the project.

"Apparently something has been set from the project, but we won't know what until we get the details," Silver said.

Over-all boundaries as proposed by the city in June formed a 20-acre triangle bounded by Saginaw, Pike and the Grand Trunk Railroad, plus a small extension between Pike and Lawrence, east of Cases.

All this territory was once proposed as part of the first, $62-million renewal project, but was rejected by the federal government because of its commercial character.

Determined to confine the fight to aid downtown, city planners and the City Commission tried a new tactic, submitting the area as qualified for aid under the new 20 per cent provision.

The city's thought is to extend over the 8-acre area the land clearance program already approved in the first project along the west side of Saginaw between Pike and Patterson.

THE SITE WOULD BE SOLD

The site would then be sold to private developers.

Eye Waterford in Sewage Suit

Pontiac Will Attempt to Bring Township into State Legal Action

The city will try to put Waterford Township on the spot in the state action for pollution control in Pontiac.

City Attorney William A. Ewart told the City Commission last night that he has already opened the door for bringing Waterford Township into the suit brought against Pontiac by the Water Resources Commission to force sale of construction bonds for a $3-million addition to the city's sewage treatment plant.

Ewart said he has charged in the suit that "other sources" are contributing to Clinton River pollution as well as Pontiac.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston said the attorney should try any legal maneuver that would see the township held responsible for sludge in the stream at the Clinton upstream from Pontiac.

The city has on file a report by health officials, stating that septic flows in township drains are polluting the Clinton and Crystal Lake on Pontiac's west side. The report pointed out that the septic conditions contributed significantly to pollution in the stream at the treatment plant or east of Pontiac, where the Water Resources Commission interest has centered.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry, in whose district Crystal Lake is located, led the move to turn the spotlight on the township whenever the suit comes to trial in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Turns Day to Night With Confetti

NY Welcomes Nixon, Ike

NEW YORK (U-P)—Streamers flew from windows, confetti was tossed on the crowd and big whistles blasted in Manhattan today as President Eisenhower joined the campaign of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Spectators, packed behind police lines, cheered and some women blew kisses as the President and Nixon arrived at Herald Square for a rally. It looked like a dust storm of falling paper as they arrived, sitting on the back of a convertible car.

At one point the confetti and tape were so thick it looked as if twilight had arrived early.

Many spectators carried signs saying "Welcome to our country's first team."

Eisenhower, Nixon and Lodge arrived in Manhattan by helicopter after appearances in the suburbs and then drove to a rally.

The appearance of the President and the GOP candidates for president and vice president in the suburban spots, plus later gatherings in Manhattan, was obviously in an effort to garner as many stray votes as possible to offset the great Democratic weight in New York City.

Eisenhower told a throng gathered in the sunny but windy out-look area of Roosevelt Field that Nixon and Lodge offer the nation "the finest type of leadership to-day that is available to the nation."

The President and the man who hopes to become his successor met at the field after helicopter flights.

Eisenhower flew there from the White House.

Opening a one-day campaign which will take them to a series of New York City rallies and a parade to Herald Square, Eisenhower gave Nixon and Lodge a ringing endorsement in the White House.

While Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, already has stated the United States would fight for Guantanamo, officials felt a statement from the highest U.S. authority would eliminate any doubt whatsoever.

The top U.S. naval commander at Guantanamo said today defense forces now at the base should be able to repel any attack until reinforcements can be sent.

Rear Adm. Allen Smith, commander of the Caribbean's 13th Naval District, told visiting newsmen, "The situation is tense because we are in a position of waiting for someone else to do something."

The admiral emphasized the United States is not pursuing any aggressive action against Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime.

In Havana, Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos, in a sharp reply to Eisenhower, implied Tuesday night that the U.S. issue on the naval base can be negotiated by the Cuban people without United States consent.

Eisenhower had said the U.S. lease could be terminated or changed only by mutual agreement of the United States and Cuba.

TO JUSTIFY AGGRESSION

Dorticos, in a speech to presidential palace employees, said Eisenhower's statement was designed "to justify armed aggression against our country."

And supported the claims of Cuba's revolutionary regime that Washington is planning a faked invasion at Guantanamo as a pretext for military action.

U.S. officials said the Eisenhower declaration should serve as a new warning to Castro not to tamper with the base, but they believed Castro already was fully aware that it would be defended.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and other top presidential aides are convinced that Castro does not intend to try to wrest the base from the United States.

They are somewhat perplexed as to the reason for his shrill warnings against an American "invasion" of Cuba.

But top officials believe Castro is trying to divert attention from his Soviet-supported military buildup which appears designed to support "liberation" invasions against Cuba's Caribbean neighbors.

Diplomatic officials declined to speculate on possible political motives connected with the Eisenhower declaration.

Top Naval Commander There Calls Strength Temporarily Adequate

From Our News Wire

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's stern declaration that the United States will hold its Guantanamo Naval Base, at all costs was described today as primarily a move to reassure the American people.

High officials said the President's statement largely was aimed at clearing up any election eve confusion in this country about the U.S. position on the $70-million base in Cuba.

While Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, already has stated the United States would fight for Guantanamo, officials felt a statement from the highest U.S. authority would eliminate any doubt whatsoever.

ROBERT Y. MOORE

Jack Cuts Out Michigan Stop

But Plans to Visit 16 Other States; Pledges Aid for Teachers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy today pledged that next year a Democratic congress and president "will enact a bill to raise teacher salaries."

The presidential candidate also said:

"One of the first items on the Democratic agenda in 1961 is the passage of an adequate bill for school construction."

He outlined these promises and others in the education field in a talk prepared for a "key to victory" breakfast before heading south to San Diego and then north to San Jose and San Francisco.

Kennedy's campaign explodes into a frenzied climax this week. After his San Francisco appearance, he will fly to Phoenix, Ariz. Between now and election night, he'll touch 16 states.

A stop at Detroit on Friday had to be dropped because it just couldn't be fitted into the tight schedule.

A new and mocking tone toward Vice President Richard M. Nixon again entered Kennedy's tone Tuesday, a kaleidoscope day that brought him here from the East Coast for a mammoth downtown motorcade at noon.

The reception was hot, and so was one of the escorting police motorcycles. It burst into roaring flames and set after the carpet of ticker tape in the street. No one was hurt.

As he did the day before, Kennedy taunted Nixon for bringing President Eisenhower into the campaign in the double days before the election next Tuesday.

At a rally at the Douglas Aircraft plant in Long Beach, Kennedy said, "Yesterday I understood Mr. Nixon spent two hours and a half in the White House asking the President to go with him to Pittsburgh and Cleveland."

"Mr. Eisenhower is not a candidate. Mr. Nixon is. And if he can't stand up to the American people, if he won't come and meet me in a 10th debate, how is he going to stand up to Mr. Khrushchev?"

of Cuba, to the peace and security of its people or to the independence of any of the American countries."

"Because of its importance to the defense of the entire hemisphere, particularly in the light of the intimate relations which now exist between the present government of Cuba and the Soviet Union, it is essential that our position in Guantanamo be clearly understood," he said.

Eisenhower said this country does not wish to withdraw its forces from Guantanamo, and its rights "are based on international agreements with Cuba and include the exercise by the United States of complete jurisdiction and control over the area."

"Our government has no intention of agreeing to the modification or abrogation of these agreements and will take whatever steps may be appropriate to defend them," he declared.

Adm. Smith disclosed that nine fields were planted along the fence of the 45-square-mile Guantanamo reservation several weeks ago.

"The mine fields are labeled plainly," he said. "Dr. Castro has stepped up his tempo and we have taken steps accordingly. We have made our defense a little bit tighter."

MARINES INCLUDED

Defending forces include a few hundred Marines, Marine and Navy fighter planes stationed there, for training purposes, destroyers usually anchored in the bay or nearby waters, plus various other elements of the several thousand military men on the base.

"We are hoping they will not bother us but we are ready if they do," said the admiral. "We would like to hold out at least for a 72-hour period."

This should be time enough for more Marine ground forces, jet fighter outfits and ships from the United States and nearby Caribbean areas to arrive.

Pontiac City Affairs

See Hope in Annett Zoning Bid Debate

City commissioners last night continued the "spot zoning" debate with no results but expressed hope that "something can be worked out" between prominent resident Bruce J. Annett and the Pontiac Planning Commission, which three times has turned down a rezoning bid by him. Annett again last night asked the commission to overrule the planning board's stand as "unreasonable."

In a move toward compromise, Annett was asked to seek building inspectors' tentative approval of building plans that planners say are too big for the 130-foot depth of the lot Annett wants to sell the northwest corner of Orchard Lake Avenue and Palmer Street for a laundromat.

Although no architect's plan is ready, Annett said he would advise the prospective purchaser to submit "a sketch" indicating how a building, parking lot and alley could fit on the short lot.

Planners turned down Annett's bid for rezoning from residential to commercial on grounds that the rest of the neighborhood, from Orchard Lake north and from Palmer west, is residential.

They doubted that the laundromat operators could fit parking and an alley on the lot and said the alley should be 70 feet back of Annett's lot line, anyway.

A strong point in Annett's favor, said Commissioner William H. Taylor, is that the majority of adjacent property owners and householders have no objection to the rezoning.

But Taylor, who represents the area, was against overruling the Planning Commission. There were other suggestions that the planning board be overruled, that the board be asked to consider the idea a fourth time, that Annett try to include the 70 feet north of his property in the rezoning bid.

Commissioners also continued public discussion during hearings on two proposals to curb and guide parking on the north side of Woodward Street and the west side of Jesse Street.

Hearing on the Cameron Avenue assessment roll was adjourned one week because of a dispute over the number of residents who favor the improvement and the number who oppose it.

Heard on the rolls for the sidewalks was adjourned two weeks to work out a compromise between opposing groups on the degree to which the grade of the present sidewalk would be changed.

An assessment roll was ordered covering costs for a water main on Ypsilanti Avenue from Baldwin to the subdivision line after only one objection was raised at a hearing on plans.

Nov. 15 has been scheduled as the date for a hearing on the roll covering the proposed water main on Kinross Road, Stanley to Carline.

Commissioners plan to adopt an amendment next week, rezoning from residential to manufacturing two lots on the east side of Woodward Avenue at the southern city limits for a new building for GMC Employees Federal Credit Union.

There were no objections last night at hearings on this zoning proposal and another changing from residential to commercial the two lots at the southeast corner of West Huron Street and Johnson Avenue for a medical office building.

City Officials Will Dedicate Library Monday

City officials will open the new $500,000 Pontiac Public Library at ribbon-cutting ceremonies at 4 p.m. Monday.

The sale of the scissors will officially end the year-long construction program, although it is doubtful that the building will be completely furnished for a couple of weeks yet, according to Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager.

All the 30,000 books have been moved from the old Main Library into the new Civic Center edifice at East Eike and Park streets, said Phyllis Pope, city librarian.

Doors will probably be opened to the public unofficially late this week.

More White Pupils Attend Detroit Schools

DETROIT (UPI) — A protest of the integration of three Detroit elementary schools continued Tuesday, but absenteeism among white students dropped slightly.

Children were kept home by members of the Northwest Parents Association to protest the transfer of Negro students from two overcrowded schools to the three predominantly white schools. The more than 300 Negro students were transported by bus.

The sentence was imposed by Judge Joseph R. Jackson in U.S. District Court. Jackson denied Guterman's motion to withdraw a plea of no contest he entered last May.

Guterman already is serving a sentence of 4 years and 11 months in the Atlanta Penitentiary on a conviction in New York of conspiring to withhold financial records from the government.

Income Tax Directive Halts Deduction Ruling

BIRMINGHAM — The United States Treasury Department has officially ruled that assessments levied by property owners to the city in creating parking improvements cannot be deducted as business expenses from income taxes.

The Birmingham City Commission received notice of the ruling in a report from City Attorney James L. Howell.

The directive is contrary to a letter of determination issued by the District Director of Internal Revenue in Detroit several years ago.

However, the ruling goes on to state that any part of the assessment properly allocated to maintenance of interest charges is deductible.

The ruling can be changed only by legislation, court ruling or an official action of the Treasury Department, the report pointed out.

Birmingham payments were made deductible three years ago by the district director after similar relief was asked and obtained in Birmingham, N. D.

The Treasury Department has now reversed the ruling made by the two district directors and has made it binding upon all district directors and internal revenue agents.

It has not been determined whether the ruling will be made retroactive, a city spokesman said today.

Dr. Audrey K. Wilder, president of the Michigan Division of the American Association of University Women, will be the guest speaker at the annual luncheon of the Birmingham branch of AAUW.

The topic of discussion at the Friday meeting of the Senior Men's Club at the Community House will be "Can I Survive?"

Toledo Crash Pilot's Ability Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The pilot of a plane which crashed near Toledo, Ohio, with 22 deaths last weekend was using a pilot rating that had been ordered revoked but was still valid pending appeal, officials reported.

The Federal Aviation Administration Tuesday had issued an order last July 15 revoking the airline pilot rating of Donald L. J. Chester, the pilot who was killed with 21 others in the Arctic-Pacific Airlines plane crash.

Charges on which the FAA based its action against Chester included flying more than the legal limit on hours, failure to maintain proper records, and listing as copilot on two flights a man who was not aboard the plane. FAA said it made a finding that Chester had demonstrated a lack of care, responsibility and judgment required of an airline pilot.

"We are hoping they will not bother us but we are ready if they do," said the admiral. "We would like to hold out at least for a 72-hour period."

This should be time enough for more Marine ground forces, jet fighter outfits and ships from the United States and nearby Caribbean areas to arrive.

Snow Flurries, Rain Sprinkle Wide Sections

By The Associated Press

Snow flurries and showers sprinkled widely scattered parts of the country today.

Mount Washington, N. H., in the White Mountains reported two inches of snow. Rain and showers accompanying a cold front in other parts of New England diminished. Snowfall elsewhere was slight.

Snow flurries also fell over southern Wyoming and in Minnesota.

Scattered light rain or showers continued in the Ohio Valley and the upper Great Lakes region.

After Lily's nomination, Keppert, Moore's opponent for the chairmanship, "He's had a little experience in that field, too," Keppert said.

There were no other nominations. Ballots were counted and Moore received his overwhelming vote of confidence over his younger challenger.

Moore, who has tangled in the past with some supervisors over monetary policies and preparation of budgets, had indicated that he would be his last term. Moore's pay will be boosted to $13,000 starting next January.

The Republican rally in New York's Coliseum tonight will be telecast on Detroit Channel 4 from 8:30 to 9 p.m. Parties tonight include President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon, and Lodge.

On seven points, Eisenhower said Nixon and Lodge stand above their Democratic opponents.

The President said he compares the two political teams on these points: Character, moral courage, capacity, readiness to undertake disagreeable tasks, experience, ability to make decisions, and devotion and dedication to the United States.

Former Holland Mayor Henry Geerlings Dies

HOLLAND (U.P.) — Former religious and civic leader and long-time Holland Mayor Henry Geerlings died Tuesday night at Holland Hospital.

He was 92. Geerlings was the father of State Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings, R-Holland.

The elder Geerlings was ordained a minister of the Reformed Church of America upon graduation from Hope College in 1888. He served only one year as a minister but served 25 years as editor of "The Leader," Reformed Church paper.

3,500 Strike at Budd Co.

DETROIT (U.P.) — Some 3,500 workers struck at Budd Co. Tuesday to protest the disciplining of a union steward. A spokesman for the United Auto Workers said the walkout was unauthorized and the striking members of Local 308 would return to work today.

Bagwell Will Stump in Pontiac on Friday

Republican gubernatorial candidate Paul D. Bagwell will spend four hours in Pontiac Friday morning during his last visit to Oakland County before Tuesday's election.

He'll start the day early along with other state Republican candidates, stationing themselves outside factory gates to meet the throngs of General Motors plants to meet workers going in for the 6:18 a.m. shift.

Bagwell will be at the Pontiac Motor Division gates.

About two hours greeting factory workers, Bagwell and party will move downtown and camp outside the courthouse about 8:15 a.m. He's expected to leave the county two hours later.

With Bagwell will be Clarence A. Reid, candidate for lieutenant governor; David R. Calhoun, candidate for treasurer and the only county resident on the state ticket; William E. Kreger, secretary of state candidate; Wendell A. Miles, candidate for attorney general; and John V. Clements, candidate for auditor general.

County office candidates also will join the party.

The trip here is part of the 11th hour drive before the election, which is taking the candidates to 15 cities in 11 counties. It started Monday.

Bagwell's entourage will arrive Thursday night in Pontiac. He'll stay overnight at the Walden Hotel.

They are traveling the last day before the election in a "Crusade Crusier," a 24-foot self-propelled trailer complete with sleeping accommodations and kitchen. Helping dress up the campaign is the "Oakland Girls" in red and white outfits.

Many mothers find it hard to vote because they are tied down by children at home, but this problem has been solved in West Bloomfield Township.

The West Bloomfield High School Future Homemakers of America will conduct a free baby sitting service Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Members will be stationed at Roosevelt School and the township hall to take care of children while their parents vote.

The Department of Commerce estimates that there will be 114 million motor vehicles on the highways by 1976. There are some 70 million registered now.

GM Latest Concern to Follow Trend

U.S. Industry Rushes to Spend Overseas

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The rush of U.S. industry to spend overseas is dramatized by General Motors' announcement it is sharply increasing its overseas capital spending.

GM cites a growing market abroad for its products—and apparently feels it can best assure this market by building and expanding its plants on the scene.

The general trend in foreign investment outlays is noted by the Department of Commerce. It says U.S. manufacturers this year are spending $1.3 billion for foreign plants and equipment. This is as much as the record of $1.3 billion in 1957, and $100 million more than was spent in either 1958 or 1959.

The motor industry has been one of the leaders in the movement. But the oil industry probably ranks first. The petroleum department of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York puts assets abroad at $16 billion, out of a total industry overseas investment of $42.6 billion. This is in addition to the $54.7 billion of the industry's fixed assets in the United States. Total investment in the non-Communist world expanded 2.8 times between 1949 and 1959.

American rubber companies also have spent large sums abroad. The Department of Commerce says that last year 27 percent of their plant and equipment spending was overseas. Electrical manufacturing and chemical companies each spent 15 percent of their budgets abroad.

And for these overseas outlays, apparently is only slightly dampened by recurring political crises, one of the latest being Cuba's seizure of American plants and investments.

GOLD LOSS FACTOR

Private U.S. investment abroad also has been cited as one of the reasons that for three years more American dollars have been going overseas than have been coming back as payment for exports or as return on investments. Added to the costs of imports, foreign aid and foreign travel, this has been a factor in a marked loss in the U.S. supply of gold.

This was recently dramatized by a rise in the price of gold on the free market well above the legal U.S. price of $35 an ounce.

Only about a fourth of the investments abroad comes out of the States, the Commerce Department says. The firms get at least half of their requirements out of retained earnings of their overseas plants and from depreciation and depletion charges. And in 1959 foreign creditors and investors supplied almost $1 billion.

Thus the parent companies and others in the United States supplied $1.2 billion out of the total $4.8 billion spent abroad.

HEALTHY MARKET

It is in this already healthy investment market that General Motors announces it is stepping up its own spending.

In the next two years this will come to $500 million, compared with an annual average since 1954 of about $80 million spent overseas.

Its total overseas assets at the end of 1959 were $1.35 billion, compared with $350 million at the end of 1949.

abroad because it foresees a great increase in the use of motor products there, coming many years after the motorization of the United States.

GM defines its expansion policy as one of serving overseas customers through "operations established as an integral part of the overseas economies in which they are located."

Liège, Belgium, became a center of firearms manufacture in the 15th Century.

Nightclub Ventriloquist Exposes Trade Tricks

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—There is no such thing as "throwing your voice," says nightclub ventriloquist Peter Rich.

"It's 90 per cent acting and 10 per cent ventriloquism," he adds. "I just talk without moving my lips and attract people's attention to my dummy."

Rich said anyone can learn the trick by practicing 10 minutes a day.

Wall Street Chatter

Firm Says Gold Flurries Herald No Devaluation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Arthur Wiesenberger & Co. holds the opinion that the recent flurries in the London gold market do not forecast an early devaluation of the dollar, nor do they suggest any changes in recent investment policies.

They do reflect, however, a degree of foreign concern over the position of the dollar but Wiesenberger says it is usual in times like the present for uncertainty to multiply and be magnified.

The firm believes that after dismal third quarter earnings reports are digested and the election uncertainties removed, the way could be paved for some sort of year-end rally.

Gerson of Wall Street recommends buying Simplicity Pattern, Interstate Department Stores, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco, U.S. Borax & Chemical for the long pull, Kansas City Southern Railway, Columbia Gas and Northern Natural Gas.

The Dow Theory Trader notes that the market has been discounting events six months ahead. He believes that the worst is past because the market is in a solid condition.

Although a few minor dips may develop in the next several weeks, he says, the broad outlook is toward more inflation and for a much higher, swiftly advancing, market well into 1961. Becht & Co. reports that North American Aviation has completed a short consolidation phase and appears to be poised for a short term run up from these levels.

L. O. Hopper of W. E. Hutton & Co. continues to advise avoiding the electronics and most other high price-earnings ratio stocks. He suspects that some of the rallies (like most of the dips) have seen their bear market lows.

Waterford Offers Second Course in Baton Twirling

Because of a great demand for enrollment in the Waterford Township Community Center's baton twirling class, organization for a new class is under way.

This was announced by CAI director Robert Bauer who said, "More than 60 youngsters from 8 to 16 years of age have been enrolled in the first class, which has proven one of the most successful projects of the CCAI."

The course is under the supervision of Jackie Rae Voorheis of Pontiac. A fee of 50 cents per hour is charged. The class meets from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays.

Applications for the new baton class which is to be held from 7 to 8 p.m. Fridays are now being taken at the Community Center. Further information may be obtained by calling the Center.

Meals, Events in Waterford 3 PTAs Plan Programs

Three Waterford Township Parent-Teacher Associations have announced their programs for this week.

The Monteth School has combined its fair, entitled "Carnival Time," with a pancake supper to be held from 3 to 7 p.m. Saturday, according to cochairmen Mrs. Robert Thatcher and Mrs. Arch Barriebaugh.

The fair will feature wagon rides, movies, a bake sale, silly hats, identification bracelets, a pick-any-pocket lady, silhouettes and a parrot post, along with a spoon room, country store, treasure chest and game room.

The PTA executive board will sponsor a kangaroo court and an auction sale which will be held three or four times at half-hour intervals.

The pancake supper will begin at 4 p.m. with all the sausage, pancakes and refreshments you can eat, with a fee of 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children.

The Strathgarn School PTA will feature an open house at 7 p.m. Thursday along with the annual Book Fair. Books for children and adults will be sold and may be ordered.

At 8 p.m. parents will meet in the children's room and teachers will present the programming at grade levels.

Guest speaker James Poret, principal of the Lambert School, will present a talk, "The Number Aid Program" at a general assembly meeting after the parent-teacher session.

3-Ounce Can Sardines Counts 180 Calories

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Nutrition Foundation reports that a three-ounce can of sardines is equal in protein to that provided in the same weight of meat.

At the same time, sardines contain generous quantities of both calcium and vitamin A. For weight watchers, sardines have the advantage of containing only 60 calories per ounce, the foundation said.

Sandburg Compares

Campaigns So Alike
in Years 1860, 1960By BOB THOMAS
AP Metro-TV Writer

THOMAS

He observes that as the Republic nears the close of another presidential campaign, there are parallels for both camps with the 1860 race. For Sen. John F. Kennedy: "The debates with Stephen Douglas have made Lincoln a national figure. They were printed in full in the Chicago and New York papers, as well as in political journals. Most political observers agree that Kennedy's performance in the great debates surges his campaign, diminishing the 'immaturity' issue."

For Vice President Richard M. Nixon: "Lincoln drove Douglas to make stands that split the Democratic party. Lincoln drew less than half of the combined vote but won because the South would not go for Douglas." Today's Republicans are looking to the South to bolster Nixon's chances.

Such matters are straws in the political whirlwind, but the 1860 and 1960 campaigns offer striking coincidences. Most notable is the recurrence of the debates. The Lincoln-Douglas encounter was in a senatorial race in 1858. Lincoln lost, but his biographer suggests that debates actually won him the presidency.

"Lincoln did little campaigning 700 miles away, during three in 1860," Sandburg said. "The debates had been printed in book form, and he let the book speak for him."

Sandburg was speaking in the studio office where he is consulting on filming of "The Greatest Story Ever Told." The natural question was: How does he compare the two series of debates? He replied with a poet's scorn: "I would like to have heard one sentence in the televised debates that was well-constructed and elevating."

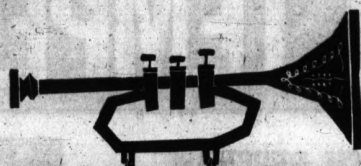

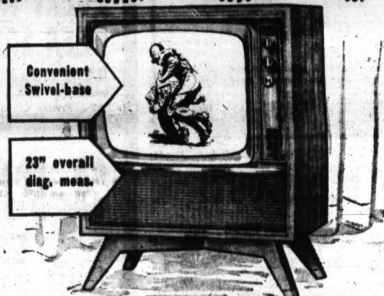

But he added that Lincoln and Douglas had the advantage of two burning issues: The right of states to secede and slavery; while Nixon and Kennedy must swim in the muddy waters of Quemoy, Matsu and Cuba. Sandburg didn't agree with those who assert the 1960 opponents wouldn't appeal to TV viewers.

"They would have been terrific on TV," said the sharp-minded 82-year-old. "Douglas was called the Little Giant and he was an impressive man, broad-shouldered, deep-chested, with a huge, commanding head and a deep bass voice."

"Lincoln had a treble voice. As near as we can judge, it sounded like Will Rogers. He was a great, towering figure and when he got tired he would reach his finger to heaven and speak with passion. The voices of both men could reach the fringes of the crowd, even to the 25,000 who heard them at Knox College."

Stretched Out Schooling

BOONE, N.C. (AP)—Mrs. Catherine Smith Long traveled a long way to get her bachelor's degree. She estimates she drove 38,000 miles while commuting between Appalachian State Teachers College here and her home in Valdese, during three summer sessions.

Let's all go native

There was a time when practically any import was sure-fire with the sophisticated set. French furniture, English manners, Scotch whiskey . . . if it came from abroad, it had to be good. But today a new pride in things native is being evidenced by the rise in popularity of Kentucky bourbon in the cities.

City folk are learning to choose their whiskey not on the basis of an import stamp—but on how good it tastes. And for a long time now, Kentucky, U.S.A. has produced the tastiest whiskey in the world . . . bourbon!

People out West and down South have long known this. "Bourbon and branch" (branch—a grass roots word for cool, running water) has always been the natural thing for a thirsty man to order. And now, our town is going native! Good old-fashioned taste appeal has made this earliest of American favorites the latest thing to order.

Leading the trend is the greatest name in bourbon—Old Crow. Old Crow comes highly recommended to the present generation of Americans. It won the unstinting praise of men like DANIEL WEBSTER and ANDREW JACKSON. Today, it is the favorite bourbon of the nation. Tonight, won't you get back to fundamentals in your drinking? Railroad
Stays Busy
Despite Size

BOYNE CITY (UP) — Although it has a run of only 7.2 miles, the Boyne City Railroad Co. keeps busy.

The line, running between Boyne City and Boyne Falls in Charlevoix County, is the shortest operating railroad in the state. The 25-year-old railroad handles a yearly traffic volume of 26,000 to 28,000 tons.

Each Monday, Wednesday and Friday the railroad makes a freight run round trip to interchange freight cars and package freight with the Pennsylvania Railroad at Boyne Falls.

A diesel-electric locomotive purchased by the railroad 11 years ago provides the line's pulling power. But the railroad keeps ready for emergencies one steam locomotive, built in 1920.

The railroad is what remains of the Boyne City, Gaylord and Alpena Railroad, which was known as the "White Road."

In the last 20 years, the level of the Cuspien Sea has dropped eight feet.

PET DOCTOR
By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. Our Cocker Spaniel has colitis. What is this disease and how long does it last? — M. Graham, Tarrytown, N.Y.

A. Colitis is a disturbance in the part of the large intestine called the "colon." The walls of the colon thicken, become inflamed, and can cause great discomfort and pain. The dog will usually show signs of constipation, and this is followed by diarrhea that may be blood stained.

Q. Colitis may be suspected when intermittent attacks of diarrhea don't respond to orthodox treatment, but it is often necessary to rely on X-ray or cultures for accurate diagnosis. I'm afraid treatment of canine colitis is often a long, drawn out, disappointing procedure.

Diet is the most important factor, and there is a special food available through veterinarians that will give the animal relief.

Wash Coffee Grinder to Avoid Rancid Taste

NEW YORK (UPI) — That relic of another era — the home coffee grinder — is back in style again, but not as a planter or lamp. It's being used to grind coffee.

If you own one, remember that it should be scrubbed out with hot soap or detergent suds and rinsed before re-filling with coffee beans. Coffee oils grow rancid rapidly and can spoil the fresh taste of just-ground coffee.

An average American worker is idle 10 days each year because of illness.

Plan Old Folks Town
Near Arkansas City

BERRYVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The older folks will have their own town near here if a group of planners have their way.

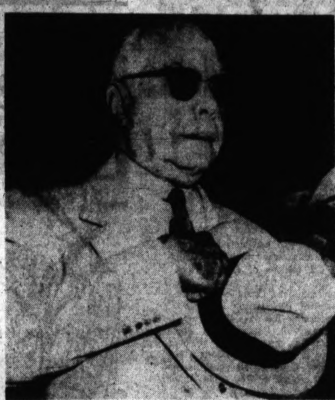

An organization has been set up to build an interdenominational Christian retirement settlement.

Individual houses and apartments would be priced at $7,500 to $14,600.

Aside for GM
at World's Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Corp. said Tuesday a seven-acre site has been reserved for a big exhibit at the 1964-65 world's fair in New York.

Frederic G. Donner, GM chairman, said details haven't been worked out but that the exhibit will project into the future the fair's theme, "Man's Achievements in an Expanding Universe."

"We hope to show some of the dramatic possibilities for transportation and living that technological progress can bring to reality not too many years hence," he said.

Donner said generally the company's plans are ambitious and that its exhibit will rival the "Futurama" GM put on at the 1939-40 fair.

Waterford Parish Hall
Site for Supper Tonight

There will be a public pancake supper from 5 to 7 tonight at Our Lady of the Lakes parish hall in Waterford Township sponsored by St. Elizabeth and St. Teresa guilds of the church.

"All the pancakes and sausage you can eat" will be served by the women. Cochairmen are Mrs. Albert Exell and Mrs. William Townsend.

Seeks Effective Rules for Great Lakes Pilots

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—The Commerce Department says it will organize a Great Lakes pilots administration to establish an effective system of regulating pilots on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River.

Under the plan, the secretary of commerce will appoint an administrator to supervise the system.

The administrator will work under the undersecretary for commerce for transportation.

Magazine Says U. S.
Catholics Confused by Their Actions

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Catholic magazine America said in an editorial Tuesday that American Catholics have been "profoundly confused and bewildered — not to say embarrassed — by the action of the bishops of Puerto Rico." The Jesuit-edited weekly review said mainland Catholics "are in a state of considerable ignorance" concerning the "peculiar circumstances" in Puerto Rico which prompted the Catholic bishops there to issue pastoral letters forbidding Catholics to vote for the party headed by Gov. Luis Munoz Marin.

It added that the situation in Puerto Rico "must indeed be grave" because "in a healthy democracy, such a step as that taken by the Puerto Rican bishops can only be viewed as a profound disruption of normal political processes."

The magazine said that no mainland Catholic "should presume to pass definitive judgment on actions taken by responsible church leaders in distant regions under circumstances difficult to evaluate." But it said American Catholics "can and must decide whether such a course can be regarded as a model of what is proper for their own country."

Ex-State Lawmaker Fined on Tax Count

DETROIT (AP)—A former state representative and Shiawassee County prosecutor, 64-year-old Victor O. Braun of Okemos, was fined $10,000 and placed on two years probation Tuesday for evading federal income taxes.

Braun, an attorney, pleaded guilty to one count of a three-count indictment before U.S. District Judge Fred W. Kaess.

He admitted he understated his 1956 income by $10,000, reporting $17,000 when he should have reported $27,000.

The other counts accused him of also understating his 1954 and 1955 incomes, but he told Judge Kaess he already had paid the government $63,000 in evaded taxes, penalties and interest.

Brazil is the only South American country to produce and export raw silk on a commercial basis.

Beauty Runs in Family; Daughter Copies Mom

GREENWOOD, S.C. (U.S. Press) — South Carolina's 1960, Sandra Browning of Greenwood, got her start toward the state title with her selection as Miss Greenwood. Her mother, Mrs. Cecil O. Browning, won the Miss Greenwood beauty contest in 1958.

Nationalization Crimps Fidel's Cuban Economy

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A responsible and to a degree an official rundown on the overall economic situation now prevailing in Fidel Castro's Cuba makes these points:

— Castro's nationalization of Cuban industry has created several difficult problems for the Cuban economy, such as:

1 — The government-controlled administration of nationalized industries has imposed a program of leveling of salaries in which the skilled employees are reduced to or near the level of the unskilled. The resulting displeasure of the skilled technicians has tended to weaken their support of Castro and to cause them to escape Cuba if they are able to do so.

2 — Most of Cuba's industry is being equipped with U.S. machinery and is operated with U.S. manufacturing techniques. Therefore, the U.S. embargo against export of replacement and spare parts to Cuba is likely to apply a heavy brake to the Cuban economy.

3 — Sugar is the basic of Cuba's agricultural economy. It has cost Cuba in the past about four cents to produce a pound of sugar. The current world market price is approximately 2.25 cents a pound. Cuba received in its barter deal with Russia only 2.90 cents a pound. Until a policy change this year, the United States bought a great quantity of Cuban sugar at a subsidized price ranging from two to three cents above the world market price.

Cuba now is producing sugar at a loss, unless the difference between production costs and prices is made up by two advantages of the nationalization program:

First, the nationalized sugar operations need not pay taxes and, second, they need not pay interest on any debts incurred by private management.

Castro has cut the wages of sugar workers in an effort to make the industry profitable. These workers also are affected by a detectable food shortage, even of such staples as rice and beans.

— There is a U.S. dollar shortage in Cuba, created by withdrawal of the U.S. sugar subsidy and by the shift of U.S. tourists away from Cuba. Castro's public relations spending to recoup the tourist business has been a failure by choice of the U.S. citizens at whom the effort was directed.

Castro bid to make Cuba a vacation land for U.S. Negroes. The Negroes did not bite.

Lush Havana hotels do their business now largely with persons visiting Cuba at the expense of Castro's government.

The famous Hotel Nacional recently was the scene of what appeared to be a banquet convention. The conventioners were members of the International work brigade, a Young Communist outfit.

The Catholic Church in Cuba has taken a recent, but strong stand against Castro's Communist con-mitments. The church itself, however, is in a weak position. Approximately 500 of 700 priests in Cuba are foreigners. Castro could obtain dismissal of the foreign clergy.

"This," the report stated, "would be a death blow to the Church. Castro has indicated that he would like to establish a national clergy, and there are some priests who can be counted on to carry the banner for him in this respect."

Oh, My Aching Back! No More Silver to Rub

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new method of tarnish-proofing sterling silver keeps the silver free from tarnish indefinitely. During the tarnish-proofing, a layer of material is deposited on the silver. It will not peel and chip with age and it does not change the appearance of the silver, said Walter Hoving, chairman of Tiffany and Co., the firm that developed the process.

An average scrapped automobile yields 1,500 pounds of iron and steel, 20 pounds of aluminum, and 60 pounds of brass, copper and other metals.

LINCOLN, Ill. (U.S. Press) — People were to the edge of tears, out of reach having a good cry until Fire Chief

Hopefuls in Both Parties Peeked at Job Long Ago

By United Press International

Richard Milhous Nixon already has set a record for in-job training for the presidency of the United States. Almost from the day in the 1942 campaign when President Eisenhower proclaimed Nixon "my boy," the grocer's son from Whittier, Calif., has been studying for the presidency.

By the reckoning of Eisenhower and the Republican party, Nixon studied well. Now 47 years old, he came to Chicago with Eisenhower's backing and the vote of the National Republican Convention already assured.

It had taken Nixon just 14 years from the day he answered a California newspaper advertisement for a GOP congressional candidate in 1946 until he was declared leader of the Republican party.

Along the way were hard battles, triumphs, and a few close scrapes. A tough political fighter, Nixon built up a hard core of bitterness among many Democrats. The same zest for political combat, plus unwavering energy in the Republican cause, earned him devoted support in his own party.

Eisenhower gave Nixon the chance to bring more importance and prestige to the vice presidency than the office had ever known. Nixon took the opportunity and capitalized on it.

He traveled 160,000 miles in 54 foreign nations as the President's personal representative. He three times became "acting president" when Eisenhower was stricken with serious illness. He braved Communist-led mobs in Peru and Venezuela and he traded tough talk with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in a model kitchen in Moscow.

FIGHTS HARD

Through the years as Eisenhower's deputy, Nixon fought hard and effectively for administration policies. But when he prepared to take over the Eisenhower mantle, Nixon showed he had a mind of his own.

With New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, he demanded a liberalized national party platform and made the convention swallow it.

Like all presidential candidates, Nixon stands alone today. In two other dramatic moments of his life, he also stood alone. Once was when Nixon, a young congressman, refused to believe that a man named Alger Hiss was telling the truth. Nixon kept hammering away at the charges that Hiss had been a Communist spy while serving in high government posts. Hiss went to jail for perjury and Nixon's reputation was made.

The reputation was almost destroyed in 1952, after Eisenhower had handpicked Nixon, then a senator, to be his running mate. Newspapers charged that California businessman had contributed to a private fund of $18,235 for Nixon when he served in the Senate. Eisenhower let Nixon fight that charge on his own.

Nixon died in one of the most dramatic appearances in the history of television — the "Checkers speech" in which he defended the fund as for political purposes only but said he would never give up another political gift, his children's dog Checkers.

HE'S MY BOY

It was after the Checkers speech that Eisenhower proclaimed Nixon "my boy." But Nixon already had made many more in his long California campaigns against Rep. Jerry Voorhis for the House in 1946 and against Helen Gahagan Douglas for the Senate in 1950. He won few foes when he campaigned for Republican congressional candidates in 1954.

Nixon charged that the Democrats had sheltered a "left-wing communist conspiracy." Democrats fought back with the epithet "Tricky Dick."

LOST BY 4,000

Charles Evans Hughes lost the State of California and the presidency by just 4,000 votes in 1912.

By United Press International

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts did not capture the Democratic presidential nomination by flashing his engaging smile, pulling political tricks and spending a lot of money.

He did it by combining political daring, his own personality, and ample finances into the most effective political organization since the heyday of Franklin D. Roosevelt and James A. Farley.

With the aid of John M. Bailey, Connecticut state chairman, and Connecticut Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff, he managed to fashion a political powerhouse. Nothing commands respect in political circles more than power.

Kennedy had disadvantages when he started out. He was a Catholic, and no Catholic ever has been elected president. He was 43, an age far below that of the average presidential candidate.

His sole government experience, outside of his military service, has been in Congress. A governorship is considered a far more likely stepping stone to the White House than is the Senate.

He overcame these disadvantages by taking on his rivals on three fronts. — In the open primary where he demonstrated his voter appeal, on TV programs where he projected his personality, and in the smoke-filled rooms where "Old Pro" Bailey could speak with authority.

USED 'PRESSURE'

The thoroughness and efficiency of his overall operation impressed state leaders, although some grumbled about what they called "Kennedy pressure."

But practical politicians know there is no point in backing a loser no matter how much you may like him.

The big mistake of the backers of Johnson, Symington and Stevenson appears to have been their failure to recognize the effectiveness of the Kennedy organization.

All too late, they realized that this soft-spoken, Harvard-educated, smiling young man was a worthy successor to the political jungle of Boston a half a century ago.

The Kennedy drive should have come as no surprise to his rivals. The signs have been evident since 1956, when Kennedy narrowly lost the vice presidential nomination to Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

The cigar-smoking, half-baked Bailey was his contact with the "old pros," the knowledgeable king-makers, inasmuch as he is one of them, they listened when he spoke.

Bailey is as well known among state leaders and political writers as was Jim Farley at the peak of the new deal. When "Old Pro" David Lawrence of Pennsylvania arrived in Los Angeles, who rode into Los Angeles with him from the airport? John Bailey.

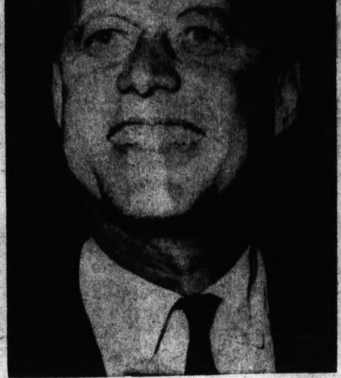

Ribicoff was Kennedy's contact with the governors who held such influence over delegates to the present governors' conference at Glacier National Park. Ribicoff and A. Bailey worked quietly behind the scenes for their candidate.

Then too, it was apparent that Democratic leaders believed that only a new personality could win them the White House for the first time since 1948. They wanted none of the old hooligans from Roosevelt or Truman regimes.

As was demonstrated at the convention, they believe that man is one Jack Kennedy, the young man from Massachusetts.

Nominee Kennedy is a composite picture of an intensely ambitious and competitive family. His father, Joseph P. Kennedy, has wanted the top spot for his son for many years. When the nominee was only a child, his father arbitrarily entered him in swimming meets and sailing contests and told him to get in there and win.

State law provides that after the Nov. 8 popular vote is compiled and winners certified by the Board of State Canvassers, the governor must certify the names of the presidential electors of the winning party to the secretary of state in Washington.

JOHN F. KENNEDY

Johnson Says: I Will; Thus Balances Ticket

By United Press International

The process by which Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson became the Democratic vice presidential nominee to run with Sen. John F. Kennedy is known as balancing the ticket.

It is by balancing the ticket that politicians become strange bedfellows. The political facts of this Democratic National Convention included these:

—The Southern states were sorely affronted by the party platform.

—Organized labor, Negro spokesmen and the Democratic left wing pronounced the platform a good one.

—Some Negroes called it the best ever.

—A platform which conforms to the political ideas of Negroes, organized labor and the Democratic left wing can have little appeal to white Southern Democrats.

—Kennedy's nomination for president, equally with the platform, was satisfactory to organized labor and the Democratic left wing although there was raised some question whether Kennedy could win the Northern Negroes.

Kennedy's choice of Johnson as a running mate is, first, a recognition of an uncommonly able man. It also:

—Seeks to soothe the troubled South, to head the electoral votes of several aggrieved Southern states for the 1960 Democratic ticket.

—Seeks to reassure the more conservative voters nationwide that they would have a voice in a Kennedy administration in opposition to the voice of the left wing Americans for Democratic Action (ADA). That voice would be Johnson's.

Johnson long was a card-carrying New Dealer. He slipped to vote for the Taft-Hartley Act and to help pass it over Harry S. Truman's veto.

The Democratic left wing, notably ADA, opposes Johnson for his labor record, for his opposition to extreme legislation in behalf of civil rights, for his sympathetic interest in the oil and gas industries of his native Texas and, in general, for the legislative record of the U.S. Senate under his Democratic leadership.

The Democrats had planned to make in this campaign a big thing of the issue of consumer versus the oil and gas industries. They killed that issue when Johnson said to Kennedy, "I will!"

They almost made an all-out, unqualified bid for the votes of Northern Negroes, especially in their platform. But if Kennedy is weak among the Northern Negroes, Johnson is weaker. Much weaker.

Republican politicians are not notably smart. They might be smart enough, however, to kidnap the Northern Negroes from the Democratic fold by the simple device of warning them that "Johnson will get you if you don't watch out."

Campaign scheduling has kept Johnson in the political areas of the country most of the time.

He has been a familiar campaign figure in the Southwest and West, but the East, Midwest and New England states have seen little, if anything of the Texas senator.

At the same time he vies as Kennedy's running mate, Johnson is also a candidate for re-election to the Senate.

Thus, the Democrats may not win the White House, but Johnson would still have a chance of re-election to the nation's capital.

The Prohibition party has been running a candidate for president since 1890 when Neal Dow of Maine collected his grand old vote. Within 15 years it had become its total to 364,000, its high water mark.

27 Governors to Be Elected

Democrats Now Hold 15 of Them, GOP 12; Michigan Important

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twenty-seven states elect governors Tuesday coincident with the national presidential and congressional elections.

Democrats now hold 15 of the 27 governorships at stake, and the Republicans 12.

During the recent upsurge of Democratic strength in state and congressional elections, the Democrats reached a peak of 35 governorships in the 48 states to 15 for the GOP.

In the past year, however, Republicans regained the governorships of Maine and Nebraska where GOP lieutenant governors succeeded Democrats who died.

IN MICHIGAN

Governors hold potent seats of political power, particularly in the heavily populated states. Only Illinois and Michigan hold gubernatorial elections this year among the big states which are major political battlegrounds.

In Illinois, Gov. William G. Stratton, a Republican, is a candidate for an unprecedented third term of four years.

In Michigan, Democratic Gov. George Williams is bowing out after six two-year terms with hopes of moving into the national political scene if Sen. John F. Kennedy wins the presidency for the Democrats.

Twelve incumbent governors — eight Democrats and four Republicans — are seeking re-election this year.

Another incumbent Republican, Gov. John Reed of Maine, is a candidate in a special election for the remaining two years of the four-year term to which the late Gov. Clinton Clifton was elected.

The incumbents on the ballot this year include Gov. Orval Faubus, Arkansas Democrat, who broke precedent by winning a third two-year term in 1958 and is now unopposed for a fourth.

In Minnesota, Democratic Gov. Orville L. Freeman also is a candidate for a fourth two-year term.

Lodge Bolsters GOP Despite Rights Stand

By Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Henry Cabot Lodge's strong "foreign affairs" stamp still marks him a prime asset to Vice President Nixon's ticket despite differences between the two men on a civil rights issue.

Until the fall New Englander called for a Negro in the Cabinet, his warmly received campaigning stirred nothing but astonished pleasure in the Nixon camp.

Today Nixon and his strategists are unhappy at this turn, especially since Lodge repeated his call after the vice president disavowed the idea.

The two had just conferred on this and other matters, though close strategic coordination between them had not earlier been rated necessary.

Nixon's concern is with rising Southern disapproval of Lodge's suggestion.

Yet most observers feel that in those Southern and border states where the Republicans have a chance to break through, this development will not prove decisive.

PROVIDES A LIFT

The enduring fact about Lodge's role in the presidential battle is that he appears to be giving his ticket the lift he put there to accomplish.

On the political platform he makes a quick sale. His mere presence fixes his identity in the voter's mind.

Millions recognize him as the man who coolly outpointed the Communists in the U.N. over the past eight years.

Yet time has shown that he offers his party even more than his established authority in foreign affairs.

His petrican, courtly manner draws friendly smiles from most who see him. He captivates many women, though some observers feel that among these he has a break-over point of 35 years. Below that age they mostly belong to Sen. John F. Kennedy.

As a campaigner the former U.N. ambassador is an odd mixture. His sudden, sunny smile brings wrinkles around his eyes and nose.

But the face can turn frosty when he talks of an adversary. His delivery sometimes is shifty, but still he tries such honey touches as these:

"I've been sitting out here listening to the Mineral Springs High School band and your Dixieland group. I want to congratulate them. I must say it's a great way to get yourself in the mood for a speech."

Then he blazes out his campaign message with force and conviction.

"The Communists want to take over the world. The United States will see that they don't. To do so, we must not only strong militarily but must help strong militarily to emerge from poverty and distress, must practice what we preach in human rights, must put upon our country the mark of a superior civilization to draw others to the cause of freedom."

To achieve these ends we need an experienced captain on the bridge. We have such a man in Richard Nixon, a man of tremendous energy, rich, unparalleled experience, a tough, penetrating intellect. And he is deeply imbued with our country's ideals."

All this underscores the big Nixon claims: Superior experience in handling Khrushchev and world issues.

But, in addition to the question of a Negro in the cabinet, Lodge has diverged from the vice president in another less noticed way.

From the outset the vice president has held heavy stress on his success in the so-called kitchen debate with Khrushchev.

Lodge acknowledges the value of debate in showing Communism lies before the world. But he goes beyond:

106 Districts on the Fence

GOP Sees No Chance on Senate Seats, Hopes to Regain House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic and Republican strategists are now eyeing 106 so-called marginal districts which could determine control of the House of Representatives in Tuesday's election.

Such a district is one in which the winning candidate polled less than 55 per cent of the vote in the last election. These congressmen are considered the easiest to beat for re-election the next time around.

Republican leaders concede they have no chance to recapture the Senate where the Democrats now hold a 66-34 seat margin. But they talk optimistically of regaining the House, even though the odds are against them.

Republicans now hold 61 of the 106 marginal House seats and the Democrats 45. With all 437 House seats to be filled this year, the present party line-up is 280 Democrats and 151 Republicans. There are six vacancies.

The Republicans need a net gain of 65 seats to come up with the 239 needed to control the House. Thus, the GOP must look beyond the 61 marginal districts. One of their major targets is the 47 seats which the Democrats took away from the GOP in 1958.

Control of the House usually has gone in the past to the party winning the White House.

But this did not hold true in the last election when President Eisenhower was returned to office while the Democrats and 151 Republicans walked off with both houses of Congress.

Many of the 106 marginal House seats this year are in states which have held heavy, state-wide, major presidential battles around.

New York has 10, California and Illinois five each, and Michigan and New Jersey four each.

Old-Fashioned Red Tape Actually Elects President

LANING ON — Not until more than a month after you mark your ballot for Sen. John F. Kennedy or Vice President Richard M. Nixon will one of them — technically at least — be elected president of the United States.

Your ballot will be cast for the 20 presidential electors of their party in Michigan.

The electors of the successful party will meet in Lansing Dec. 19 and cast their ballots. They are bound by tradition to vote for their party's candidate.

The effect is to throw the entire vote of a state behind the party that gained the popular majority.

Electors must sign, certify and seal the results of their balloting and send them to the president of the U. S. Senate.

Under the federal Constitution, the certificates must be opened and counted in the presence of national Senate and House members.

At that point, technically, the President of the United States is elected.

SAME ROUTINE

We've been going through the same routine every four years since 1787, and there has been increasing talk in Congress of abolishing it.

The system is a throwback to a provision written into the federal Constitution when the founding fathers chose to provide for the election of the president and vice president by an electoral college — a unit with no other function.

The college system has gunned up the works a few times. It allowed one man to be elected president without a majority of the popular vote.

Another time it set the stage for such confusion over who was elected that an electoral college commission had to be appointed to make the decision.

In the election of 1889 Grover Cleveland beat Benjamin Harrison by 55,683 popular votes — yet lost the election. Harrison carried 233 electoral votes to Cleveland's 168. By carrying a few large states on slim margins.

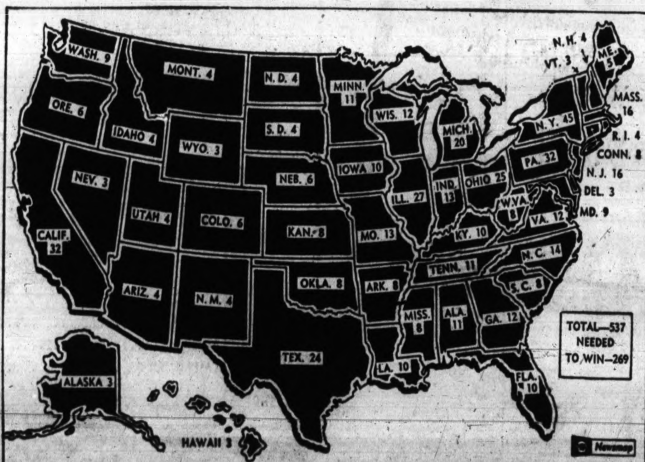

The 22 electoral votes of Florida, Louisiana, South Carolina and Oregon were disputed in the election of 1876, although Rutherford B. Hayes, the Republican candidate, did Samuel J. Tilden comfortably in popular votes.

Congress in special session set up what became known as the Electoral College Commission, made up of eight Republicans and seven Democrats. They gave the disputed vote to Hayes. He won 185-184.

Michigan has laws implementing the federal Constitution's provisions.

They provide for the way electors are chosen and detail the formalities they must go through in meeting, casting their ballots and transmitting the results to Washington.

State law provides that after the Nov. 8 popular vote is compiled and winners certified by the Board of State Canvassers, the governor must certify the names of the presidential electors of the winning party to the secretary of state in Washington.

Some Signs Point to Dem Win—GOP Determined

Jack Challenges Dick in Own Back Yard

"The vote is 11 to 200,000," says the president, and his great states have shown to the world that they are not afraid of California. There is an Associated Press story on the ground that California, which has a electoral vote, has the same number of electoral votes as the rest of the country combined. It is a fact that California has 40 electoral votes, while the rest of the country has 160.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy is seriously challenging Richard M. Nixon where it may hurt the most — right here in the vice president's home state.

Some signs—disputed by Republicans—indicate Kennedy may take California. There's a strong feeling that it's going to be close. The polls haven't been much help. They have turned up enough of the undecided among 7½ million registered voters to swing the result for either man.

No doubt that's why the candidates themselves reserved California for the important last days of the campaign.

Kennedy is here now in his second round of appearances. Nixon, who made two earlier visits, plans to devote this weekend to his native state.

The latest professional poll — this among 3,018 voters in 16 of the 38 counties—favored Nixon 49.3 to 43.3 per cent, with 6.2 per cent on the fence.

BOOKIES FAVOR JACK
But Las Vegas bookmakers list Kennedy as a 7-5 favorite in California.

Democrats feel the scene was set in 1958 when Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a Catholic, led a Democratic landslide that captured every state office but one.

This year the party staged a successful registration drive that gained 619,000 voters since the primary and boosted its 3-2 registration lead over the Republicans to 1.4 million. The GOP picked up 406,000 in the same period.

Democratic leaders say they're concerned only over the "silent vote"—those people who are quiet about it but intend to mark their ballot against a Catholic president.

"If it weren't for the religious issue, there would be no doubt of the outcome," says Roger Kent, Democratic state chairman, who nevertheless predicts Kennedy will carry California by a comfortable margin.

BROWN OPTIMISTIC
Gov. Brown, a self-styled optimist, predicts the Democratic ticket will coast in by one million or so.

V. John Kreshel, Republican state chairman, says he isn't worried by registration showing the GOP badly outnumbered. That's since 1956.

GOP IS OF 22 TIMES
In the last 22 presidential elections, California has voted Republican 13 times, Democratic 8 and Ball Moore Republican once. The state has landed on the winning side of every presidential race since 1916.

Democrats confidently claim Northern California. Republicans don't challenge this too hard. Bradley predicts Kennedy will capture the state's north, including San Francisco and Alameda counties by 50,000.

Both camps insist they'll take Los Angeles County, home of a good 40 per cent of California's vote, although a political veteran remarked, "I don't know if anyone really knows the answer in Los Angeles."

The eight counties which make up Southern California command fully 60 per cent of the state total. This year, for the first time, Democrats lead in registration in the entire area. In the state as a whole, only three counties are predominantly Republican in registration.

DEBATES HURT NIXON
Both sides agree on one point: The television debates helped Kennedy, hurt Nixon.

On the other hand, Republicans contend the Democrats have lessened Kennedy's chances by infighting squabbling that first broke out at the Democratic National Convention.

The Democrats, however, appear to have patched up their differences pretty well.

For instance, Sen. Clair Engle of California, who backed Brown's preference for Kennedy and supported Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, is now active as vice chairman of the Kennedy-Johnson campaign.

Delegates who held out for Adlai E. Stevenson at Los Angeles swung into line after the former Illinois governor vigorously took the stump for Kennedy in California.

Despite the prevailing opinion, there are some people who discount a close outcome. They think it will be decisive one way or the other. It's true enough that in six of the eight elections of the past 22 years, the margin of victory has been 475,000 or more.

New York News Sees Kennedy Win

NEW YORK (AP) — A nationwide survey conducted by the New York Daily News predicts Sen. John F. Kennedy will win the presidency with 396 electoral votes in 30 states.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon got 20 states with 141 electoral votes in the survey, conducted by the newspaper's political analyst, Ted Lewis, the paper said today. The News has editorially endorsed Nixon.

He Has Four Built-In Problems

Cards Stacked Against Dick from Start

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, confronted with polls indicating victory for Sen. John F. Kennedy, says he is still optimistic. But from the start he has been handicapped.

1. He has been handcuffed by the conflicts within his own party.
2. His very position put him on the defensive.
3. There are more Democrats than Republicans.
4. The recent tide has been Democratic.

Nixon commented earlier this year on a newspaper editor's appraisal of his dilemma with his own Republicans.

"You put your finger on a real problem when you indicated must be liberal enough to rid myself of the undeserved charge that I represent the Old Guard, yet conservative enough to present contrast to the Democratic nominee," Nixon said.

ON A TIGHTROPE

He can't sound too conservative without chancing the loss of the liberal Republicans who could swing to Kennedy.

He can't be too liberal without perhaps losing the ultra-conservative Republican right wing.

The right-wingers could hardly turn to Kennedy if they developed a distaste for Nixon — but they could stay home Election Day.

Nixon can't afford to lose either

Sometimes It Doesn't, Scientists Find

Seek to Learn How the Egg Bounces

By ROBERT MUSEL.
LONDON (UPI) — An experimenter threw an egg over a house to test the old wives' tale that it would not break if it landed on grass.

The egg bounced intact after clearing the 30-foot house by a good 10 feet.

But when he retrieved the egg it slipped from his fingers and broke on the same strip of lawn though this time it fell only three feet six inches.

The experimenter hastened to ask the readers of the New Scientist whether they could explain this phenomenon.

Ever since then scientists all over the kingdom have been heating eggs into the air in research which one of them called "eggs-erise."

In the interests of science I took half a dozen eggs out to a plot of grass near my apartment today to test some of the theories already advanced to explain the surprising hardiness of fresh eggs.

One of these is that in ancient times the ancestors of the hen laid their eggs in flight and those that landed on their small ends survived the fall.

I wound up and threw one egg about 50 feet into the air. It landed on its small end and did not break although I had mentally decided this was only a hard way of scrambling eggs.

It was my only success of the day, however. Two other eggs smashed so completely on im-

Rocket Test Site Survey Okayed

British Say U.S. Can Study Value of Bahama Areas for Sub Use

LONDON (P)—Britain has approved a United States request for permission to survey two 30-mile stretches of water in the Bahamas wanted as test ranges for antisubmarine rockets.

The British Foreign Office said if these areas appear suitable as ranges London and Washington will negotiate an agreement allowing the U.S. Navy to test-fire its new ASROC (Antisubmarine Rocket) there.

ASROC, fired from surface vessels, has a range of up to 10 miles. When it nears a target, the rocket plunges underwater to search it out.

The two stretches of water in which the U.S. Navy is interested are known as the tongue of the ocean and Emma Sound — south and southeast of Nassau.

750 Forest Fires Hit Canada in September

OTTAWA (UPI)—A total of 101,300 acres of Canadian forest was damaged or destroyed by 750 forest fires in September, according to the Northern Affairs Department.

During the past 20 years, the average number of forest fires for the month in Canada, exclusive of the northern territories, has been 428, it said.

Since last spring 1,190,400 acres of forests have suffered from a total of 7,564 forest fires. The department said the average area burned per fire was 135 acres this year compared to 195 in 1959.

$4,995 Piper Plane

'Colt' Latest Compact

WEST END, Grand Bahama Island (P)—Now the airplane industry is getting into the compact field.

The Piper Colt, new two-passenger sports and training plane priced at $4,995, was unveiled here Monday at an international meeting of Piper Aircraft Corp. distributors.

President William T. Piper said the Colt grew out of the public's enthusiasm for compact automobiles.

"The Colt is $2,500 less than other two-passenger sports planes and represents the first time in recent years that a major aircraft manufacturer has cracked the $5,000 price barrier," Piper said.

Powered by a Lycoming 160 horsepower engine, the Colt has a cruising speed of 115 miles an hour and will get 18 to 19 miles to a gallon of gas, Piper said.

It is a high-wing braced monoplane with a welded steel truss fuselage and aluminum wing structure. Standard equipment includes electric starter and generator and dual controls.

Dies After 5-Year Coma

One 'Victory Party' to Be Flop

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON, (UPI) — On election night, the Democrats plan to have a "victory party" in the Mayflower Hotel. The Republicans plan to have a "victory party" in the Sheraton-Park Hotel.

One of these celebrations will, of course, turn into a wake before the evening is over. Either way, it will be a sad sight for me.

I will be sad because there won't be any presidential campaign headquarters for me to visit. For an inveterate candidate-

Summerfield Shows Off Speed Mail Delivery

WASHINGTON (U) — The Post Office Department Tuesday launched speed mail, an electronic process by which it can deliver first class mail across the country in a matter of seconds.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield discussed and demonstrated the facsimile system at a news conference in the Washington Post Office today, and called the innovation "another major landmark in the development of our American postal system."

It is, he said, a step in the department's program to provide next-day delivery of first class mail from any person in the country to any other person in the country.

Summerfield emphasized that, while speed mail involves electronic reproduction of a letter through thousands of miles away, complete sanctity of the mail is provided for because no one but the machines has a chance to read the letters.

The original, he said, is automatically destroyed after the facsimile has been sent, while the facsimile is automatically sealed at the receiving end.

Initial machines operated today between Washington, Chicago and Battle Creek, Mich.

With speed mail, a letter writer uses a special one-page combination letter and envelope similar to the V-mail used during World War II.

Once written, a speed mail letter watcher like myself, this is tantamount to a catastrophe.

The election will leave me feeling like a fisherman who has lost all the trout streams suddenly dried up.

It was, therefore, with heavy heart that I set out this week to pay my final prelection calls at the offices of the Democratic and Republican national committees, which have been the nerve centers of the campaign.

I kept remembering those glorious pre-convention days last spring when the town abounded with presidential hopefuls and there was a campaign headquarters on virtually every corner.

My first stop was at the Democratic committee because I happened to have been in that neighborhood. And when I say "neighborhood," I am using the term loosely.

Since the campaign began, the committee has become so far-flung that nobody can see it all at once, even with the naked eye. It now occupies parts of eight buildings, one of which is bound to be nearby regardless of what neighborhood you're in.

The Democratic Digest staff and the correspondence section are located at 1106 Connecticut Ave. The mimeograph, record, and speech-writing departments are at 1737 L St. The advisory council and the speaker's bureau have suites at 1028 Connecticut and the advertising and women's bureaus are at 1801 K St.

370 PAID WORKERS

The farm, business and vice presidential divisions are at 15th and K; the registration and citizens branches are at 261 Constitution Ave., and absentee voting is handled at 921 17th St.

I learned all of this in the main office at 3001 Connecticut, which is where I caught up with Sam Brightman, the committee's publicity director, who was looking rather harassed.

After advising me to grab an empty chair "before someone starts typing in it," Brightman said the committee, whose normal staff numbers 75 to 80, now had 370 paid workers, plus uncounted legions of volunteers.

Even so, it was short-handed.

The Republican committee operates like an advertising agency," Brightman said. "We operate like a small town newspaper on the day of the big fire."

In another week, regardless of who wins, the fire will be out and everybody will have a place to sit down again, Brightman said some of the pressures generated by the campaign already had begun easing off.

But the committee has taken steps to guard against any premature letdown. As I was leaving, I noticed that a large precautionary sign had been posted by the elevator door.

"Only eight more days," it said. "Beware of Deweyitis."

BEV'S ANGRY — Beverly Aadland, 18, the girl some people call the last love of the late actor Errol Flynn, sips a cup of coffee Monday night before opening in a suburban Pittsburgh, Pa., night club. Miss Aadland says she hopes to make her own reputation "and as a singer." She said she does not want Flynn's name "brought up all the time," adding: "Why can't people let Errol rest in peace?"

Philadelphia Bulletin Endorses Dick Nixon

PHILADELPHIA (U) — The Philadelphia Bulletin Tuesday endorsed Vice President Richard M. Nixon for president.

The Bulletin, largest afternoon newspaper in the country, said that on the campaign's major issues the vice president, a Republican, "offers more rational programs and displays deeper understanding of the means to further them."

The bulletin supported President Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956. Locally, it has backed Mayor Richardson Dilworth, a Democrat.

HOT PARADE — Los Angeles may have planned a warm welcome for Democratic presidential Sen. John F. Kennedy, Tuesday, but this police motorcycle overdid things a bit. At first it was believed that confetti on the bike's hot exhaust pipe had set it afire. But later a motorcycle watcher was looked on suspicion of arson after police said they saw him throw a lighted match at the "cycle" after it stalled. Five fire engines put out the blaze.

Women Demand Their Morning Beer Break

LONDON (AP) — The daily strike for the mid-morning beer break is gaining recruits and drinking time.

The strike started Monday when 26 women at a factory that makes beer shampoo staged a one-hour walkout. Tuesday they were joined by eight girls of the office force.

Carrying signs declaring, "We want our beer break," they marched to the Lord Palmerston public house an hour before lunch-time and stayed two hours, drinking and singing to keep up their spirits.

Eric Lincoln, the firm's manager, had discovered that the women at their tea break were helping themselves to beer used in the shampoo. He decided they should stick to tea.

Better Water Those Thirsty Evergreens

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — Evergreens

are not as thirsty as deciduous trees, but they need good soaking in late fall to avoid winter freeze, tree expert Martin L. Davey Jr. warns.

The evergreens continue to give out moisture throughout the year through their foliage, Davey said. A mulch of peat moss, wood chips or oak leaves is useful after watering to avoid both evaporation and freezing.

George Washington was the most laconic of presidents. His second inaugural address contained only 135 words. The average is about 2,300.

Focus on Health

Strange Chemical Induces Headaches.

By The Associated Press

A curious headache chemical, safety-first medicine cabinet, and familiar hydrogen peroxide figure in this week's Focus on Health.

HEADACHE AGENT

A medical team tells of finding a strange chemical involved in migraine-type headaches. This chemical, named neurokinin, apparently increases susceptibility to pain.

Neurokinin apparently is released when nerve cells are excited, and it has powerful ability to dilate blood vessels, say Dr. Harold G. Wolff and associates of New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center in the Archives of Neurology. Neurokinin apparently is formed in human tissues by a special enzyme, the researchers find.

FLU VACCINE

With winter and flu threats approaching, experts are urging flu shots especially for anyone with heart or blood vessel diseases.

Medical evidence over the last three years has confirmed that risks from influenza are greater for patients with heart or lung ailments than for other persons, say Dr. A. Carlton Ernste, president of the American Heart Assn., and Dr. James Watt, director of the National Heart Institute.

SAFE MEDICINE CABINET

A medicine cabinet which will open only when two particular buttons are pushed simultaneously has been developed by Dr. A. L. Chapman of the U.S. Public Health Service.

The idea is to make it impossible for children to open the cabinet and accidentally swallow dangerous drugs. The cabinet, now being considered for manufacture, has five buttons, but opens only when the second and fourth buttons are pressed, and these buttons are spaced too far apart for a child's hand to span. Drug poisoning killed more than 400 children in 1958, comments Scope Weekly.

Hydrogen peroxide, an old medical standby, seems destined for revival as a germ killer in ointment form, say Drs. Herbert M. Cole and Emanuel Plouffe of Temple University.

The ointment cleanses wounds, and also appears effective against some of the most resistant strains of staphylococci, which are responsible for many serious infections.

TAKING THOSE SHOTS

Let a child see himself being injected with a medical needle, if he wants to look, advises Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, New York State Commissioner of Health.

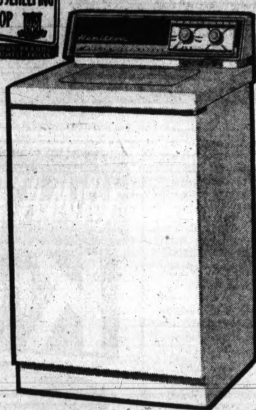

If a child is told not to look, you implant the idea that a needle is something to fear, and an injection is too terrifying to be seen. Don't tell a child not to cry; tears are often his best friend at such moments. Above all, tell the truth. You'll lose face if you tell a child a needle will not hurt when obviously it will.

Order Speed-Up on Police Reserve

Charges last night that the city was "short-handed" on police officers during the Oakland Theater fire led the City Commission toward an order speeding up reorganization of a police reserve.

Police Chief Joseph Koren's office was ordered, through Robert A. Silver, assistant city manager, to issue a progress report by Monday, detailing whatever steps have been taken to activate the 70-member reserve under an administrative order issued a year ago with City Commission approval.

Claiming that negotiations between police and reactivists had "bogged down indefinitely," Commissioners Winford E. Bottom and Robert A. Landry, lamented the fact that reactivists weren't available to relieve regular officers in emergency traffic jobs at last Wednesday night's $415,000 fire.

Find Hamilton Guilty in Hermiz Slaying

DETROIT (U) — For the second time in less than five years, Maurice Hamilton was found guilty Tuesday night of first degree murder in the 1956 stabbing of Ajiz Hermiz.

A Recorder's Court jury deliberated nearly 11 hours before returning the verdict which makes life in prison mandatory for the 34-year-old visitor from Baghdad, Iraq. Recorder's Judge Frank G. Schenckman set no date for sentencing.

Hamilton and the slain man's wife, Victoria Hermiz, were co-defendants in the first murder trial in 1956. Hamilton was found guilty of first degree murder and sentenced to life. Mrs. Hermiz was found innocent by reason of insanity and spent 17 months in the Jervis State Hospital for the criminally insane.

State Police Involved in Towing Problems

NORWICH, Conn. (AP) — State Police spotted a 1959 car being towed on West Haines Street and made two arrests.

One man was charged with towing an unregistered motor vehicle. Another, who was steering the old vehicle which bore no license plates, was charged with operating an unregistered car.

ATTACKS PRESIDENT IKE — Former President Harry S. Truman, an electric light in the background giving a halo effect, spoke Tuesday night in support of Sen. John F. Kennedy at the City College of New York in Manhattan. The spy ex-President said the GOP slogans forget the "lowest economic growth" and "take issue with the administration trying to 'hide' a prestige report. He is in the Republican suburbs today working for Kennedy.

Local Truck Driver Hurt in Fatal Crash

A Pontiac truck driver was injured yesterday in a Detroit accident in which his helper was killed.

Ollie R. Biggs, 53, 118 W. Lawrence St., was being treated for injuries at Receiving Hospital in Detroit after his truck collided with a car at Huribut and Goethe. His helper, John Ostafin, 57, of Detroit, was dead on arrival at the hospital. Also injured in the crash was Mrs. Pauline Weber, 47, of Detroit, the driver of the car.

Utah has 19 national forests and two national parks.

Masked Bandit Snatches Purse Containing $300

A masked bandit snatched the purse of a Pontiac woman Tuesday morning as she was returning home from her drive-in restaurant.

Hazel Monnett, 194 S. East Blvd., told Pontiac police the purse contained a billfold with $300.

She described the thief as in his late 30s, 5-foot tall, and of this build. He covered his face with a white handkerchief.

The victim told police she owned the Buttercup Drive-In, 510 Oakland Ave.

The purse was recovered later at the rear of 283 S. Marshall St., but the billfold and money had been removed.

Only about one two-billionth part of the energy radiated by the sun actually ever reaches the earth.

Lodge Senate Hearing Set for Tomorrow

Sen. L. Harvey Lodge's special state facilities for emotionally disturbed children will hold its third hearing tomorrow in the Supervisors Room of the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St.

The morning will be devoted to an explanation and slides of Oakland County's special education program which is aimed at providing special care and education for these children at an early school age.

Some 23 other counties have followed Oakland's example and adopted the program.

In the afternoon session testimony will be presented by six of the top psychiatrists in the field of emotionally disturbed and mentally ill children, said Sen. Lodge, R-Oakland County.

Included will be Dr. Walter H. Cheesut, medical superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital.

Two-fifths of the area of the United States, comprising most of 13 states, is drained by the Mississippi river system.

Blame Weather for Road Deaths

State Safety Group Cites Drizzle, Pockets of Fog in Analysis

LANSING — The weather, a combination of fog, drizzle and rain, has been assigned a major share of the blame for the 33 highway fatalities in Michigan over the past weekend.

A post-mortem analysis of the toll, most for any comparable period so far this year, occupied the State Safety Commission here Tuesday.

A delayed death report added one more to the former figure of 32 deaths over the 48-hour period.

James M. Hare, commission chairman, said a check showed two-thirds of the state had dangerous driving weather over the weekend. Sudden pockets of fog were reported on many highways.

Hare suggested more intensified reporting of unfavorable driving conditions by all news media, especially radio, as one way to help cut bad-weather accidents.

A check of the drivers involved in the accidents, Hare said, showed many of them had good driving records. Several showed no convictions at all and some had only minor moving violations.

Only one was found with a distinctly bad driving record, he said. "Most of them would be considered good drivers," said Hare. "This leads to the conclusion that more emphasis must be placed in education."

"It goes to prove that even if a man has never had an accident before, he can still be killed on the highway," said State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs. Childs said the last three months of the year traditionally have the worst death record. More hours of darkness, less favorable weather and the excitement of the holiday season all are contributing factors, he said.

Childs said he would urge a step-up of enforcement during the two danger months ahead.

Parties Reveal Biggest Donors

Seven Rockefeller on GOP List, Symington Gives Dems $2,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic and Republican national committees each have listed about 250 individual contributors who gave $1,000 or more from Sept. 1 to the last week in October.

Contributors to the Republican National Committee included seven members of the Rockefeller family, who gave a total of $19,000. New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Laurence and David Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller III, Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr. and Mrs. Alta Rockefeller Prentice each gave $5,000. John Rockefeller Prentice contributed $1,000.

Various members of the Rockefeller family also gave a total of $28,000 to the GOP senatorial and congressional committees.

Henry J. Taylor, U. S. Ambassador to Switzerland, contributed $2,000 to the Republican National Committee. Ogden R. Reid, U. S. Ambassador to Israel, gave $1,000. Adlai E. Stevenson, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, contributed $3,000 to the GOP senatorial campaign committee. The Democratic-controlled Senate refused to confirm Strauss for secretary of commerce last year.

Contributions to the Democratic National Committee since Sept. 1 included $2,000 from Sen. Stuart Symington, Missouri, and $1,000 from former Gov. Averell Harriman.

According to Bagwell Chart

'State Automotive Job Loss 140,000'

Other states have gained at least 125,000 automotive jobs in the last 10 years at Michigan's expense, according to Paul D. Bagwell, Republican candidate for governor.

The chart illustrates the loss of jobs by Michigan to Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin, Bagwell said.

Based on figures supplied by the Michigan Employment Security Commission and by the U.S. Department of Labor, the chart shows that Michigan has lost about 140,000 "motor vehicle and equipment" manufacturing jobs, while "other states" have gained about 125,000 in this major employment field.

This has been one of the chief themes of Bagwell's attacks on the Democratic nominee.

"Michigan automobile companies have in the last five years built huge plants in Northfield, Cleveland, Toledo, and Lima, Ohio, in Kokomo, Ind., and in other cities in neighboring states."

Cincinnati, Ohio—rather than Dr. Jonas Salk's strain of dead virus—had been used.

Soviet Union Writes Off Loan to North Koreans

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union Tuesday canceled a $190 million debt owed by North Korea and deferred repayment of another $35 million loan. The announcement followed news of a substantial loan to North Korea by Communist China. The money had been loaned to North Korea for reconstruction.

Domestic Bird Has Something to Crow About

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Joe the Crow rules the roost in the Ralph Aelle home.

He talks, whistles and barks when the neighbor's dog barks at him. When he wants attention, he calls "Ralph," for his 15-year-old owner or "Mom."

The only time such behavior doesn't draw raves is in the pre-dawn hours.

In the two years Ralph has had the 3-year-old bird, he has found Joe pretty smart.

"He will hide anything he can get his beak on," Ralph says. Joe never learned to fly, so most of the time he stays outside in the yard, uncaged.

Ralph says Joe knew a few words when he got him, but the Congressional and Senatorial committees picked up the rest of his vocabulary without any special coaching.

Pay $2.5 Million for Campaign

Dems Are in Red, GOP Still Ahead in Election Spending Spree

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic and Republican national committees have spent more than $2.5 million each so far this year to push their candidates. The Democratic committee reported it was in the red.

The GOP committee reported to the house clerk Tuesday that it collected $7,725,380 and spent $2,384,734 from Jan. 1 to Oct. 27.

The Democratic National Committee reported contributions totaling $2,862,489 and expenditure of $2,863,688 up to Oct. 24.

All told, the Republicans' three major fund raising groups—the National Committee, the Senatorial Campaign Committee and the Congressional Campaign Committee—received $5,555,822 and spent $4,690,015 from January to late October.

The Congressional Committee collected $1,980,738 and spent $1,674,696. The Senatorial Committee received $548,504 and spent $430,312.

No comparable reports were available yet for the Democratic Congressional and Senatorial committees.

The Democratic National Committee has run ahead of its Republican counterpart in both contributions and spending since Sept. 1, when the presidential campaigns got under way. During this period the Democrats collected $1,410,865 and spent $1,529,584. The GOP took in $1,119,384 and spent $929,306.

Check Those Checks; May Be Bad, Says FBI

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the holiday season approaching, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover cautioned merchants Tuesday to be on the lookout for bad checks.

Hoover said such persons already are bilking businessmen of about $600 million a year.

Auto Dealer Features Real Old Model Coach

CLEVELAND (UPI) — An auto dealer who "traded high" is looking for a team of horses.

Anthony LaRiche acquired an authentic, full-sized stagecoach as a trade-in on a new station wagon. While the trade-in is strictly an "older model," LaRiche isn't worried about selling it. He installed the six-passenger coach in his showroom as a promotion.

Cuba, Friends Lose on Charge

U.N. Ballot Is 45-29 to Delay Complaint Airing on U.S. 'Invasion' Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Cuba and her Communist supporters lost their fight Tuesday night for an immediate U.N. Assembly airing of charges the United States plans an invasion of Cuban soil. But the vote was closer than many expected.

The 99-nation assembly voted 45-29 against the Cuban-Soviet attempt to upset the steering committee's recommendation that the Cuban complaint be sent first to the assembly political committee. Eighteen nations abstained.

The assembly then voted 53-11 with 27 abstentions to follow the steering committee's recommendation.

The balloting came after two days of bitter attacks by Cuba and the entire Soviet bloc, who accused the United States of aggression, subversion, invasion plans and all-around sinister intent.

U.S. Ambassador James A. Wadsworth said he would reply in full when the political committee debates the complaint. He termed the charges "monstrous distortions and downright falsehoods."

Cuba's bid for an assembly debate got expected support from the Soviet bloc and Yugoslavia. But to the surprise of many, 18 Asian and African nations rallied behind the demand. They were India, Indonesia, Iraq, Yemen, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Republic, Libya, Nepal, Ceylon, Burma, Cambodia, Ethiopia, Ghana, Guinea, Nepal, Morocco, Mali and Afghanistan.

OLDER THAN HER PARTY—Nettie Minick (right), 109 years old, marks her absentee ballot in her home at Harlan, Ind., as Ethel Netting, a notary public, and Glen H. Lake witness her vote. Mrs. Minick is three years older than the Republican party for which she also says she voted. She says she has not missed casting a ballot since 1920, when the 19th Amendment gave women the right to vote.

James Herlihy Back in Detroit Visiting Parents

DETROIT (U)—James Leo Herlihy, novelist and playwright, has returned to Detroit—the place where he wrote his first play at the age of nine.

Herlihy, in town to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Herlihy, said he punched out his first plays on a typewriter. He said these early plays were Christmas pageants and were acted out in the elementary schools he attended here.

Herlihy, 52, is the author of "Blue Dragon," a successful stage play which also drew good box office receipts as a movie, and the novel, "Man, Fall Down," which Herlihy said he has sold to Hollywood for $150,000.

"I write about people who are trying," Herlihy said. "They want to be good guys. But there are walls around them. I believe everyone is trapped in a desperate situation. Everyone has profound problems. Most of us are driven to our cruel acts."

The Office of Vital Statistics expects about 3,000 polo cases in the United States during 1960—less than any previous year. In the four years before the Salk vaccine was discovered polo cases averaged nearly 30,000 a year.

Capacity Detroit Crowd Hears Israeli Orchestra

DETROIT (U)—A capacity audience of 4,600, paying $30 a seat, crowded the Masonic Temple Auditorium Tuesday night to hear the unique Israel Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra.

The concert was sponsored by the Israel Cultural Foundation in observance of the 28th Annual Balfour Concert.

The orchestra, unique in that it is made up entirely of Israeli citizens, many of them refugees from Nazi Germany, was conducted by Josef-Krips, musical director of the Buffalo Symphony Orchestra.

To Spend More on Chem Arms

U.S. to Spur Research in Lethal, Nonlethal Exotic Weapons

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department will more than double its expenditures on weapons for chemical and biological warfare over the next several years, Army sources reported today.

The stepped-up program will involve both lethal and nonlethal weapons which can be delivered by a variety of means ranging from grenades to fast-flying aircraft.

In the nonlethal category are chemical weapons that could temporarily immobilize enemy troops or populations in enemy cities without permanent damage.

They could be used to break up riots and attacks and to screen the advance of U.S. and Allied troops. They are many times more effective than such riot control materials as tear gas.

Army sources said they expected the budget going to Congress in January to boost research and development outlays for chemical and biological warfare to $78 million compared with $70 million this year. They said the annual spending rate should reach $200 million in another seven years.

These sources also reported that another effort to get the Nike-Zeus antimissile missile into production is likely to be made during the next month.

A committee of Army, Defense and White House advisers is taking a new look at progress made in developing the equipment, which the Army believes can provide sufficient defense against intercontinental ballistic missiles.

City Will Pay $15,000 Claim

Part-Time Instructor for Recreation Dept. Died in Spring; Son Collects

The city has agreed to pay $15,000 compensation to the 7-year-old son of a part-time volleyball instructor, fatally injured while teaching a parks and recreation department class this spring.

One of the highest women's compensation claims ever collected from the city, the money will go in weekly payments of $33 for nine years to Gary Roberts, son of George Roberts, 3543 Aquaria Drive, Drayton Plains.

The father died April 11 in Pontiac General Hospital, 25 days after a tendon in his left ankle was severed in a fall during an adult recreation class at Alcott School.

On evidence that death resulted from medical complications because of the injury, a referee for the State Workmen's Compensation Department recommended at a pretrial hearing that the city settle the claim at standard rates. City Attorney William A. Ewart told the City Commission last night.

ADVISE LOWER SETTLEMENT
Commissioners agreed with Ewart's proposal that the claim be acknowledged in full at a final hearing Nov. 11.

They advised the attorney to try for a lump sum settlement of less than $15,000 later on.

Roberts was a physical education instructor at Bagley, Emerson and Alcott Schools.

The claim is not covered by insurance, Ewart said, since the city insures only Department of Public Works and sanitation workers for workmen's compensation. "By avoiding the cost of insurance and settling claims out of our own pocket we're saving money in the long run and are still saving it despite the size of this claim," said Ewart.

Automation to Free Man to Live Richer, Fuller Life

GROTON, Conn. (NEA) — Nuclear submarines, our floating first line of defense being built here, may soon be run almost entirely by automation.

In New York City, a completely automated subway train (not a human hand anywhere) was just demonstrated. Others may follow shortly.

From Washington comes word that the Post Office Department is operating broad scale pilot programs to test automation for mail handling.

The battle of man vs. machines is over, the experts say. Man never stood a chance. Discussion of the matter is academic only, because:

Automation, still in its infancy, can already think things out more clearly than man. The human brain, recent experiments show, scans its memory at a fast 10 cycles per second — but then often needs a psychiatrist of some sort to reach a decision.

Studies under way at Connecticut College for Women and the University of California are reportedly aimed at unlocking the secret of human decision-making so that man can better adapt to the world of automation.

Automation can learn a skill a whole lot faster than man can learn it. If a man learns an error in the process, there is some doubt that he can ever unlearn it. But not so with a machine.

To bring the problem to a close, automation is ahead of man in physiology as well.

According to a spokesman at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics, the equipment that may replace men aboard nuclear submarines will need no food, oxygen, sleep, comic books or bunk. Besides, one machine stands all watches at its station.

Where does this leave man? Slave to a machine, critics of automation say. Or worse — out of a job.

NONSENSE!

Nonsense, the automation builders reply. Automation actually frees men from being machines.

In the words of Edwin Snelley, president of robot-building Robodyn, a division of U.S. Industries:

"What is the virtue in man's doing the same, tedious, repetitive job on an assembly line where he merely puts together two small parts of a much larger product?"

"The real wonder of man is his versatility. The human brain has 10 billion neurons. Do you know how much space a computer that size would require. How much cooling, how much energy?"

So, the first reassurance is: it's just not economically feasible to build a man.

And as for being replaced by a machine, the experts say, don't think of it as unemployment. It's actually a gift of leisure time — an opportunity to enjoy literature and music.

Robodyne is now working on two new types of automation equipment. One teaches folks how to do the same, tedious, repetitive read. The other, how to play the piano.

12 Detroit Students Get Writing Awards

DENVER (UPI) — Twenty-four of the annual Scholastic Writing Awards have been given to students of Denver schools, the largest number awarded to youngsters in any city.

New York City students received 23 awards, those in Detroit and Cleveland tied with 12 awards each, and Ogden, Utah, placed fifth, with 9 awards.

Top winner was Sherry Granov, 17, of Denver, with first honors for short story and informal essay and second honors for formal essay.

The contest, in its 36th year, is conducted by Scholastic Magazines and sponsored by the Shearman & Sterling Co.

20-Year-Old Earns His Master's Degree

CHICAGO (AP) — Education comes easy for Mitchell J. Sveig, who at 20, has received a master's degree from the University of Chicago.

He took a scholarship test in 1941 when he was a high school sophomore. He was a winner but the test was open only to those who had finished two years of high school.

The university withheld the award until he had completed the requirement. He entered the university in February, 1953, and received his bachelor's degree in June, 1959.

Now he begins his doctorate work in October.

Buttons, Buttons, He's Got the Buttons

BLOOMFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Herbert C. Walton says there is nothing more typically American than election campaign buttons.

He chronicles American history with his collection of more than 6,000 campaign badges and buttons. Catch words from just about every known political party dating back to the days of Ulysses S. Grant and slogans proclaiming "We Want Beer" and "Repeal Income Tax" appear in his collection.

He Didn't Know It's What's Up Front That Counts

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — W. C. Moore, an assistant district attorney, couldn't have been more embarrassed during a recent prosecution of a man on drunk driving charges.

Moore made a big point out of the arresting officer's testimony that the defendant was so intoxicated he was unable to tell him what he was doing.

Nostalgic Contests Recall Era of Sleam

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The Darke County Steam Threshers Assn., Inc., gets together each year to hold contests in sawing, threshing and baling for the big steam engines used a half-century ago.

Clawson to Vote on Revitalizing Downtown

2 Bonding Plans on Dec. 19 Ballot

One Loan for Land and New Civic Buildings; 2nd for Library

CLAWSON — City councilmen here have voted to place two bonding proposals before local voters in a special election Dec. 19, as the first step in a proposed revitalization of this community's downtown area.

One bonding proposal would authorize the city to take out a $200,000 loan to buy land and construct a new city hall, fire and police station and council chambers.

The second proposal asks citizens to approve a $125,000 bond issue for construction of an enlarged library building to replace the present one, the pioneer home of the Blair family located at Main Street and Fisher Court.

The combined estimated cost of the two bonds would require a $15.50 per year tax increase on homes assessed at $2,000. Several groups, including private advisory companies and citizens' groups, have spent several months studying the community's present and future needs, according to Mayor Duncan Gillis, who reached the final decision was reached for a number of reasons.

"The major consideration, of course, is the fact that our present city hall and police and fire departments, as well as the present library, have just outgrown their present sites. If our purpose was only to update these facilities, the proposed investment would be well worthwhile."

"But there is even more to our problem — and solution — than the need for these public facilities," Gillis said.

The mayor said the major question Clawson faces if whether the business district and 14-Mile Road area would be allowed to disintegrate to a point where the city has no taxable income from that area.

Gillis told councilmen before they voted to place the bonding proposals on the ballot, that it was hoped that a new city hall and library would set the stage for a redevelopment program at the site. The main concern was to place Clawson on an economic par with other progressive communities.

The city hall, now located on 14-Mile Road, just west of Main Street, would be relocated to the east side of Main Street between Madison and Jefferson Streets.

TO BETTER DOWNTOWN — "Anyone who has seen our present city facilities would not question the need for new facilities," said Leonard Hendricks, city manager.

"If we can keep the city hall downtown, instead of moving it to the present site, we take two positive actions: we help upgrade our downtown area; and we can continue to utilize our volunteers for department work which is named by the city."

"This second advantage would save us an estimated $60,000 a year alone, if we could avoid hiring full-time fire fighting forces," Hendricks declared.

The city manager explained that expanding population has put increased demands on school and city services, and that the home owners find himself paying an ever increasing share of the tax bill. He said that the proposed redevelopment program would establish a better balanced tax base for Clawson.

"This first step," Mayor Gillis stated, "represents a vast improvement over the present downtown conditions."

"I believe I speak for the entire council when I say that this is one of the most important local decisions Clawson residents have ever been called upon to make."

The mayor concluded by asking for voter approval of the bonding proposals at the polls Dec. 19.

Smart School PTA Readies Visitation Night

WALLED LAKE — The Clifford H. Smart Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association will hold a visitation night at the school tomorrow.

The meeting will allow parents to become acquainted with teachers and to discuss their children's progress.

To eliminate waiting and assure an opportunity of a private conference with each teacher, parents are asked to contact the school office and make an appointment.

Each appointment will be for 15 minutes between 7:30 and 9:15 p.m.

Refreshments will be served.

LEVELED BY FIRE — This large barn filled with hay and straw on the Elmer Jacob farm, just west of Armada, was destroyed by fire yesterday as gale winds fanned the flames. Three fire departments, from Romeo, Armada and Richmond, fought the blaze, and succeeded in saving a barn nearby and other outbuildings. Some 25 head of cattle were rescued from the burning structure, the ruins of which were still smoldering this morning. Damage is expected to exceed $50,000.

Big Barn Burns Near Armada

Wind Fans Flames; State Police Estimate Damage at $50,000

ARMADA — Flames, fanned by high winds, yesterday destroyed a 36-by-100-foot cattle and storage barn on Elmer Jacob's farm here, despite efforts of three fire departments to save it.

Cause of the fire is still undetermined, and damage is estimated at over $50,000, according to Romeo State Police.

The blaze was discovered by a 36-by-100-foot cattle and storage barn on Elmer Jacob's farm here, despite efforts of three fire departments to save it.

Jacob and two neighboring farmers who were passing by, George and Robert Toles, rescued 25 head of cattle from the blazing building.

Approximately 25 tons of hay, 25 tons of straw, milking equipment, and some silage in five attached silos also were lost in the conflagration. The hay and straw feedings of the barn were still smoldering this morning.

Called to the scene to help the Armada fire fighters were the Romeo and Richmond fire departments. They poured thousands of gallons of water onto the flames while crowds of spectators flocked to watch.

The fire started about 3:30 p.m., and an Armada fire truck stuck to the scene.

Mother Makes Bride's Gown Couple Wed in Lake Orion

LAKE ORION — Ruby E. King became the bride of Gerald J. Metheny in a candlelight ceremony Saturday at Lake Orion Church of God. The Rev. Alfred Lowe performed the double ring ritual.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee King of 949 Fairledge St. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kilo Metheny of Inkster.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of Alencon lace fashioned with a Sabrina neckline. It was made by her mother, who has made all of the gowns for her daughters' weddings, a tradition in the King family.

The bride's fingertip veil was fastened to a tiara, and she carried a bouquet of roses and chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Wallace Runyan was her sister's matron of honor. Sandra Runyan, niece of the bride, was a bridesmaid.

Serving as best man was Dean Westphol. Ushers were Harold King, brother of the bride, and Ralph Johnson, uncle of the bridegroom.

Cludy and Ivan Robbins Jr., niece and nephew of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer, respectively.

A reception was held in the bride's home following the nuptials. After a honeymoon trip to the South, the newlyweds will reside in Dearborn.

CLARKSTON — An Explorer scout program will start at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the First Methodist Church in an effort to recruit boys from 14 to 18 years of age.

Four areas of programming include service projects, social activities, job exploration and outdoor activities, according to Peter Dorman, temporary chairman.

Any boys or men interested in the organization of an Explorer troop in Clarkston can attend the meeting, Dorman said.

Auto Strikes Bridge; Utica Youth Hurt

AVON TOWNSHIP — A 16-year-old Utica youth was reported in satisfactory condition following an accident early today in which his car was completely demolished when it crashed into a bridge.

Injured in the crash was Richard T. Hawkins of 4184 Pinecrest St., Utica. He is in Avon Center Hospital. Nurses at the hospital here did not reveal the extent of his injuries.

Hawkins told Macomb County deputies that he lost control of his car while traveling westbound on 18½-Mile Road near Hillview Road in Sterling Township.

Hawkins said he hit some loose dirt on the road, skidded and crashed into the bridge, according to sheriff's deputies. The youth was ticketed for not having his car under control.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy will launch a "civic victory" telephone drive on election eve he hopes will muster room into a million chain-reaction calls urging voters to vote Democratic.

Kennedy will kickoff the campaign at 6 p.m. (Pontiac time) Monday by placing a call to someone in the country, identifying himself and then dialing long-distance numbers to vote Democratic on election day.

Other party workers will follow suit, urging the persons called by telephone at least five other voters with a request to vote Democratic.

Assault Charge Trial Nov. 11

WALLED LAKE Youth Is Charged in Beating of 16-Year-Old Boy

Charged with assault and battery in the beating of a 16-year-old Wallied Lake boy Saturday night, Arthur Parren, 18, of 2662 Brisbane St., Wallied Lake, will stand trial Nov. 11 in Commerce Township Justice Court.

Parren was one of four youths identified by the victim, Garth Hazard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hazard, 2179 Woodlawn St., as his assailants.

The Hazard boy was found lying unconscious on the sidewalk by the proprietor of the Oakley Park Market on Oakley Park Road, Commerce Township.

When he regained consciousness he told sheriff's deputies he was in a phone booth outside the market when accosted. One of the assailants pulled a knife and demanded his money, he said.

BLATEN WITH BOTTLES — Angered because he had only a nickel in his pocket, the four youths beat him with beer bottles, leaving him on the sidewalk unconscious, the boy said. He was not seriously injured.

The suspects were apprehended in Wallied Lake later that evening on a description given by the victim. He later identified them as his assailants.

The other youths, all 16, are being held by juvenile authorities for a hearing later this month in Juvenile Court.

They are Karl Schreuninger of 2231 Darnell St., Commerce Township; Thomas McMartin, 7890 Bywater St., Orchard Lake; Dewey Foster, 282 Glen Rise Drive, Milford Township.

Parren pleaded not guilty at his arraignment Monday before Commerce Township Justice of the Peace John C. Weick and was released on $200 bond pending trial.

Commerce OES in Supper Meeting

Commerce Township—Sixty members of Commerce Chapter 201, Order of the Eastern Star, attended a supper meeting last night at Commerce Masonic Temple.

It was the chapter's first meeting of the new season. Presiding over the meeting were worthy matron and patron Mrs. Florence DeFelix and Max Francis.

It was announced that next Monday at 7:30 p.m. the chapter has been invited to a school of instruction at the Wallied Lake OES chapter 508, Worthy Grand Matron Mrs. James Shaw will be in charge.

On Nov. 10 the Commerce chapter will sponsor a card party at the Masonic Temple at noon. Reservations can be made by contacting Mrs. Gil Thron of 1305 Birchton Drive, Commerce.

America's annual residential heating bill is believed to be one billion dollars more than necessary because of the lack of adequate insulation.

School Head Raps Insurance Criticism

A form letter being sent to property owners in the Huron Valley School District questioning the insurance program set up by the board of education was criticized today by Supt. Harold O. Hansen.

The protesting letter claims that a "closed group" of insurance agents is preventing open bidding on insurance coverage in the school district.

The letter was written by Walter A. Reynolds, an insurance agent with offices in Highland.

"There is nothing wrong or incorrect in our method of operation," Hansen said in explaining the insurance arrangement used by the school system. "Many other school districts follow the same procedure."

ACTS AS LIASON MAN — The system, he pointed out, takes advantage of the services of an agent of record. In this case, Robert Compton of Keego Harbor, who deals with a group of insurance agents individually in placing policies for the school district.

"He acts as a liason man between the school and each agent," Hansen said.

"With this arrangement the school board, which appointed the agent of record, does not have to use valuable time in contacting every insurance agent."

Compton was named agent of record Dec. 4, 1958, for five years, with authority to place policies with area agents.

According to Compton, there is a voluntary association made up of local insurance agents, however, not controlled by the school board.

"And insurance bids are open to free competition," Compton said.

"It's just a matter of the school board taking bids from local brokers wherever possible."

A school board does not have to accept the lowest bid if it feels the business would benefit a local person. It could work the same way on building contracts.

COULDN'T MEET BIDS — Hansen said he didn't think the school board could meet the seven making up the organization since just recently school bus insurance went outside the group because it couldn't meet the bids of a mutual firm last August.

Compton said Reynolds had been invited to join the association. Reynolds has refused, he said.

In his letter, Reynolds said he has turned down an offer to participate in the program because he felt it was "morally wrong, if not illegal."

Compton rebuked Reynolds for making his claims.

"The Michigan State Department of Insurance," he said, "has no objection to the school board's method of obtaining insurance."

SLATE 3 RETREATS in Oxford Twp. for November

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — Three retreats are scheduled at St. Mary's Retreat House during November. It was announced today.

The retreats to be held are for nuns, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, married women, Nov. 11-13, and for teachers, Nov. 18-20.

Reservations are now being accepted from groups or individuals. A $2 deposit must be made with each reservation.

Reservations or information can be obtained by contacting St. Mary's Retreat House, 725 W. Drahter Road.

It was the chapter's first meeting of the new season. Presiding over the meeting were worthy matron and patron Mrs. Florence DeFelix and Max Francis.

It was announced that next Monday at 7:30 p.m. the chapter has been invited to a school of instruction at the Wallied Lake OES chapter 508, Worthy Grand Matron Mrs. James Shaw will be in charge.

Decide to Meet With Township

Lake Orion Council to Talk Over Dump and Park Problems

LAKE ORION — The Village Council last night decided to meet with Orion Township officials on problems concerning the use of the township dump and the village park.

The dump is restricted for exclusive use by residents of the township while a similar situation exists at the park, which is open only to citizens living within Lake Orion.

The Lake Orion council invited township board members to attend its next meeting Nov. 14 at the village hall to discuss the park.

Meanwhile, a committee of councilmen will meet with township officials to investigate the possibility of the village buying into the dump, according to Council President Irvine J. Unger.

The village now has no place to dispose of its trash and garbage, which presently is picked up by a private contractor.

The contractor has an agreement with the township, allowing him to use the dump, Unger said. But the village wants to have facilities available if another firm is hired when the present contractor's contract expires Dec. 31.

Appointed to the sanitation committee were Councilmen Dr. Richard McNeil, Thomas Arthur, David Erdanson and Carroll Kirkpatrick.

Controversy over use of the village park developed in August when Lake Orion officials began enforcing a 1956 law which excluded outsiders from the recreational facility.

The action followed a swimming accident in which a Pontiac boy was seriously injured there.

Orion Township parents, whose children suddenly were not allowed to use the lake located in the park, presented petitions, complaining about the matter to the township board.

Film Studio Eyes County Prize Pony

Captain Trotter, the $36,200 Shetland pony that makes its home on the Burton farm near Dryden, may become a movie star.

Patricia Burton, owner of Michigan's most expensive pony, said the Warner Brothers studio has asked her if her prize sorrel could appear in one of its films.

Miss Burton now is on her way to California with the pony where she will keep it for the winter.

The studio also asked permission to use the ranch, she has leased as the locale for the movie, she said. The ranch, Los Establos del Retiro, owned by a writer, Ernest Gann.

THE TWIN SHALL MEET — Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, left, revealed Monday that he will visit Pope John XXIII next month on his way home from a tour of the Middie East. It will be the first meeting of Anglican and Roman Catholic leaders since the Church of England split from Rome over 400 years ago.

Matchless Idea Boosts United Fund in Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A local department store helped the United Fund drive by offering to give away shoes to contributors.

Eight thousand shoes were stacked on tables—all good shoes, but not one of them had a mate. Only 400 were left after one-legged persons and those with foot ailments swarmed around the tables for two days making selections.

One woman, who picked out eight right shoes said she had been buying shoes by the pairs for years although she could use only right ones. As her contribution, she dumped eight unused left shoes into the pile.

Ohio County Gets Credit for Good Health Form

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Public Health Reports, published by the Public Health Service, takes note of a program of the Logan County, Ohio, Health Department.

The department gives each new mother a form for maintaining her record. When completed, the form serves to establish the child's immunization status as well as supplying proof of age for school entrance.

Rhode Island has a population density of 90 or more persons per square mile, the only state to have this ratio in every one of its counties.

MSU Students, Faculty Take Aim at Blood Mark

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Michigan State University students and faculty have donated 600 pints of blood so far in a week-long drive to beat the record of the inmates of Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

The 6,000 prison inmates challenged the more than 20,000 MSU students and faculty members to beat the record they set in what they called Operation Leaky arm.

The university is out for 2,011 pints of blood.

Swainson Scours Dems' Bastions

EN ROUTE WITH SWAINSON — L. Gov. John B. Swainson is swinging into the final, most feverish days of his campaign for governor by scouring for more votes in bastions of Democratic strength.

His strategy is simple: There is more to be gained by boosting the Democratic vote two or three per cent in heavily populated Wayne County areas than by laboring through outstate Republican strongholds where towns are farther apart.

The 35-year-old candidate picked the choicest Democratic plum north of the Mason-Dixon line for a grueling 10-hour day of campaigning in the 1st Congressional District.

It began in the chill November dawn with handshakes for workers at the Dodge Main Plant in Hamtramck and wound up with a

Britain Battles Sub-Base Anger

Seeks to Avoid Outcry Against Basing of U.S. A-Vessels in Scotland

LONDON (AP)—The British government launched a public relations campaign today in an effort to avert an outcry against the basing of U.S. nuclear missile submarines in Scotland.

As the first voices of protest were raised, the government invited leading officials of 12 towns and counties in the Clyde area to a meeting at Greenock Thursday to discuss the base, agreement.

The invitations were sent out by John MacLay, secretary of state for Scotland.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told the House of Commons Tuesday that Holy Loch, the Clyde yachting center 30 miles from Glasgow, would become a Polaris submarine base next February.

A submarine tender, and eventually a floating dock, along with 1,500 U.S. navy personnel will be stationed there to service submarines that can fire the 1,200-to-1,500-mile range Polaris missile from under water.

RISK RECOGNIZED

Macmillan recognized the risk of objections.

"But on reflection," he said, "I hope the House will feel that this new arrangement does not add to the risks to which we are inevitably exposed in this nuclear age."

Moscow radio warned that the Polaris base would be the target for "an inevitable retaliatory blow" if used for aggression.

Labor members of Commons at once attacked the arrangement, saying the people of Scotland would resent exposure to destruction. The Glasgow District Trades Council invited representatives from the Vale of Leven and Dumfries trades councils to its monthly meeting tonight to hear expressions of alarm.

Waterford Sees Record Turnout

Expect Some 19,500 Voters to Cast Ballots in Nov. 8 Election

A record turnout of 19,500 voters is expected in Waterford Township at the Nov. 8 election due to the large number of registrations being processed in Township Clerk James E. Seeterin's office.

During the processing operation he said it was discovered that there are many who have not voted since 1956, and officials are concerned as to whether all the registered voters will know where their precincts are located.

Two years ago it was necessary to re-establish precincts from 12 to 18 due to increased population growth. At that time 17,500 letters were sent to all registered voters informing them of their precinct locations.

However, since that time residents may have mislaid their registration cards and possibly will go to the wrong precinct, Seeterin said.

"As we are expecting large lines at the voting places, we want every voter to know where his precinct is so he will not have to stand in line at two different precincts," he stated.

Seeterin has asked any voter not familiar with the location of his precinct to call the township clerk's office election day.

"If you are in line at the wrong precinct after 8 p.m. Nov. 8 you will not be allowed to vote," he said.

Camp Fire Girls Reach Milestone

High Honor and Golden Jubilee

A stamp issue honoring the Camp Fire Girls Golden Jubilee will go on sale today. Showing the handsome commemorative block to local council members is Postmaster William W. Donaldson of West Lawrence Street. Camp fire girl Sharon Hughes (left) of Michigan Avenue and Blue Bird Linda Chastain of Whittemore Street will give the stamp a special spot in their collections.

Ike Gets Camp Fire Girl Award

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Monday received an award from the nation's Camp Fire Girls for outstanding service in behalf of young people.

The organization's Webster award was presented by National President Dean Elsie Melville of Boston University.

The award's name was coined from the Camp Fire Girls motto: "Wish, Health and Love." It is made to adults for outstanding contribution to the advancement of youth on a national or international level.

The citation to Eisenhower was for his efforts "to preserve a world in which our children may grow up in peace and happiness."

Dean Melville was accompanied to the White House by Janice Houseman, 15, of Falls Church, Va.

From Janice the President received a copy of the Camp Fire Girls conservation guide. The President gave her a silver dollar, a pen inscribed with his initials and a tiny model of an elephant, a symbol of the Republican party.

Janice reported that Eisenhower remarked he would make "a Republican of me if I weren't one already."

Receiving an award from the Camp Fire Girls is President Eisenhower. Janice Houseman (at right) of Falls Church, Va., makes the presentation at the White House while Elsie Melville, president of the Camp Fire Girls and dean of women at Boston University, looks on.

Young Actor Has Drive, Heart

PCH Grad Devoted to Theater

By MARGARET BROWN

Remember the name Don Bumgardner. That familiar phrase "I knew him when..." one day will may apply to this young professional actor from Pontiac.

Don, whose love of the theater and intensity of purpose is matched by talent, depth and — best of all — heart, is well known to many area folk who remember him as one of Pontiac Central High School's outstanding drama enthusiasts several years ago.

Currently associated with Detroit's only professional resident theater, Vanguard Playhouse, Don was introduced to the world of the theater under the guidance of the late Mary Parrish, beloved PCH drama coach who was, he says, "my guiding light. She taught me the foundations of the theater. Her attitude was that of a professional director, not a teacher."

In 1951 — as a sophomore in high school — Don distinguished himself by monumental hard work as chairman of the propaganda committee for the PCH Playcrafters' production "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Impressed fellow students were aware of the outlet that here was one who was "all out" for the production, regardless of his own role in the show.

DON BUMGARDNER

Birth Statistics

NEW YORK (UPI) — About two years after her marriage the average wife presents her husband with a more-than-average son or daughter, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

If they have a second child, he, or she makes an appearance, on the average, about 2.5 years after the first," institute figures show. "And if there is a third child, it arrives three years later."

Club to See Trip Films

"Let's Fly to Europe" is the program theme for Thursday's meeting of the Waterford branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

Members will meet at 1 p.m. in the Winkelman Drive home of Mrs. William K. Baer. Mrs. William L. Miller, a club member, will show movies taken on her recent trip.

A shower benefiting the club's hospital therapy program will follow the films.

Mrs. Gerald Lewis, chairman of the horticultural therapy committee, has asked that members bring instant coffee, cookie, or muffin mixes or a monetary contribution to aid the project.

Patients are currently making scrap books and planning for spring. Donations will defray expenses for social hours in connection with meetings.

Mrs. C. W. Oliver and Mrs. Wales Goodwin will assist Mrs. Baer with arrangements.

Parents Tell of Wedding

BIRMINGHAM — Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Hector Paterson of Westwood Drive announce the marriage of their daughter Susan Talman Paterson to Phillip Lawrence Maloney, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Maloney of Mid-dieton, Ohio.

The wedding took place Oct. 22 in Tucson, Ariz.

Use Astringent 5 Times a Day for Rough Skin

(NEA) — Large pores and blackheads can make any skin, however fine, look something less than beautiful. And women who live in large cities, where dirt whips through the air, find that blackheads form only too easily.

But something can be done about them, aside from squeezing them. This won't really solve the problem and it may do permanent injury to your skin. It's far safer and more satisfactory to dry up blackheads and reduce the size of pores, at the same time.

You can never tell on this program, of course, but, it's an easy one to follow. It takes only seconds.

characterization? "How one interprets a character, of course, depends on the role itself. One studies the entire script and with the director decides what the person is like using the criteria: what he says about himself — what other people say about him — and what the character does in the framework of the show."

Interested in all the arts, "from an appreciative standpoint," he prefers the theater to TV or movie acting, although he considers the latter two mediums exciting. "The warmest place in my heart is for the theater, however. Besides the opportunity for continuity of a characterization, there is great communication between audience and actor which cannot be captured in any other medium."

Modeling for slide films and magazines as well as appearing in commercial films for Detroit companies are also on Don's full daily schedule. He hopes soon to be doing a TV commercial, possibly nationwide.

Emphasizing his wish not to appear stereotyped, Don says he would like one day to "take a stab" at Hamlet, qualifying his remark by adding, "when I mature fully. Naturally, if stardom comes his way, Don won't say no, but his theatrical aspirations are not directed at becoming a "big star." He is devoted to his art and willing to go wherever there is work."

In a few words to any youthful would-be actors or actresses, Don warns, "Acting is a field that can present many problems, and unless one's drive is really strong, it sometimes can result in an unhappy life." A really determined Thespian, however, should strive for a liberal college education. "... learning not theater — but life," says Don. "Study in a professional school should come after obtaining one's degree."

Don may be seen through this week in the Scandinavian tragedy "The Father" at Vanguard Playhouse which is developing professional theater as a vital part of the Detroit area's cultural life.

Sisterhood Observes Annual Tea

The Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel observed its annual membership tea Tuesday at the synagogue.

New members introduced were Mrs. Barney Yagoda, Mrs. Jack Kirsch, Mrs. Philip Zachar, Mrs. Mabel Becker, Mrs. Allen Sosin and Mrs. Stuart Allen.

The day's program, a skit, was planned and directed by Mrs. Morris Kamper and Mrs. George Surwitz, membership chairman. Participants were Mrs. Ben Smith, Mrs. David Utley, Mrs. Edward Blumeno, Mrs. Leon Sirlin and Mrs. Irving Koper.

Others were Mrs. Meyer Simon, Mrs. Jack Gumbard, Mrs. Marvin Finkelstein and Mrs. Alvin Jacobson.

Mother Needs an Hour Each Day to Herself

(NEA) — The housewife and mother who rarely has a vacation and almost never has time to think of herself often gets bogged down in fatigue. Frequently, she goes through her day light-headed from weariness and with her nerves frayed. When this happens, it's time to call a halt.

You, as well as your family, need consideration. The only way to get it is to carve it out of the day's schedule. Reserve an hour for yourself each afternoon and no matter what the tasks ahead, get some rest during that hour.

Lie down. If you're so tired that you can't sleep, put your feet up on a pillow, make your mind blank and close your eyes. Surprisingly, you'll rest.

Women Do NOT Dance Together

By EMILY POST

Good Taste Today

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I moved to our present home a year ago and have made many new friends. We are all married and all around the same age — mid-40s. On occasion we go out in small groups to dinner.

Many of the places we go to, have dancing. Some of the husbands don't dance, and the women have a habit of dancing together, which is an entirely new experience to me. I have been asked to dance with some of them but I have tried to find some excuse for not doing so as I do not think it proper for two women to dance together.

I have seen some of the younger generation do this but at our ages it seems very much out of place. Will you please tell me if such a practice is proper, and if not, how can I bring this up without causing hurt feelings.

Answer: I agree with you about two grown women dancing together, and suggest that you continue making excuses for not doing so. Sooner or later your friends will take the hint and stop asking you to dance.

Dear Mrs. Post: My niece who used to live in this city came home recently to visit her parents. This niece has many relatives living here whom she has not seen for a long time.

I would like to know if it was up to her to go over and see them while she was here or whether it was up to them, after they heard of her presence in the city, to call on her?

Answer: It was their place to go to see her or else invite her to come to their houses, either to a meal or at another definitely specified time.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to write thank-you notes for wedding presents on the typewriter or must they be written by hand?

Answer: To typewrite letters, especially long ones, to friends is entirely proper, but thank-you notes should be written by hand.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it customary and expected that a wedding attendant give a party in honor of the bride?

Answer: It is definitely not an obligation, but it is customary when one of the attendants of the bride is easily able to do so.

A matron of honor who is in the habit of entertaining, or a bridesmaid whose parents can allow her to give a party when she wants to, naturally would choose to give one at this time. But the only obligation of any bride's attendant is to provide her own clothes and to give the bride a wedding present.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary to give a reason when not accepting a friend's invitation to dinner? In other words, is it impolite just to say one can't but not why?

Answer: Merely saying you're sorry but you can't is not impolite to an acquaintance. To add briefly why you can't would be expected by an intimate friend.

It's a wonderful feeling . . .

There's nothing like a crisp fall day to give a new bounce to your step, a new lift to your spirits . . . especially if you're looking your well-groomed best! Let us put your whole wardrobe in tune with the bright new season. Our expert dry cleaning will work wonders.

Joy Paige Malone Weds Indiana Man

Wedding vows of Joy Paige Malone and Luther L. Clyburn Jr. of Evansville, Ind., were exchanged Saturday evening in the presence of 600 guests in Emmanuel Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of the pastor, Dr. Tom Malone, and Mrs. Malone of Dover Road. The Senior Luther L. Clyburn of Evansville are parents of the bridegroom.

Assisting Dr. Malone who performed his daughter's nuptial ceremony were Dr. Lawrence Butcher, Dr. Kenneth Fredricks and the Rev. William Fitzwater.

The bride gown of white Chantilly lace over tulle featured an overskirt of bordered Chantilly lace with three tiers of finely pleated nylon tulle which swept into a chapel train. Iridescent sequins accented the lace pattern along the scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves.

A crown of crystals caught the fingertip veiling of silk illusion. The full cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis was centered with a white orchid.

Attendants in shrimp organza over tulle, styled with fitted bodices and triple-tiered skirts, wore matching organza headpieces with nose veils. They held semicirculars of shrimp pink carnations.

Patricia London was maid of honor; with bridesmaids Mrs. Philip Ruschewicz of Wayne and Evelyn Chapel. The bridegroom's sisters Mary and Martha Clyburn were flower girls.

David Sanders of Evansville served as best man. Comprising the usher list were Tom Malone II and Steven Clyburn. Clifford

French, Dennis Catlin, William Dinoff and Fred Keen.

For the ceremony and church reception, Mrs. Malone chose sandwood lace over tulle, with purple accessories. Mrs. Clyburn appeared in powder blue lace over tulle. Both mothers wore purple orchids.

Jacquyn Harned, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest register at the reception.

Both attended Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C., and Mrs. Clyburn is currently enrolled at Midwestern Baptist Seminary.

Niblick Club Lunches at Elks Temple

New officers are Mrs. Kenneth Spryng, president; Mrs. Mack Goodwin, vice president; Mrs. Velmor Lewis, secretary; and Mrs. Clarence Nephler, treasurer.

Committee chairmen appointed were Mrs. Ray Kingsbury, social; Mrs. Robert Kingsbury, golf; Mrs. Arthur Compton, telephone; Mrs. Aaron Fox, flower; and Mrs. Fred Sytz, publicity.

An afternoon of cards followed the business meeting.

IT'S UP TO YOU

Take advantage of all the beauty bonus of the age you live in. All you really need is the same, sensible courage to act. It all you need is confidence in your looks... go out and buy it! It is as simple as this.

If you have bulges, exercise and eat less.
If your hair is drab and colorless, brush it well and add a color rinse to your shampoo. If you have never used eye make-up... try it.

No use making a big mystery out of beauty and self-improvement. Just make up your mind that this year you are really going to act!

Preserve That Line

You Wearing Right Size?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Many women want to know how to tell what the correct bra size is for them. The best procedure is to go to the corset department in a store where the salesladies (or at least one of them) have been trained in the art of fitting brassieres. Most stores have highly trained people.

However, if this advice is not available to you and you must have with the fitting, here are a few rules to remember. Measure around your torso just underneath the bust. Add 5 inches to this measurement. The result will be your proper size. For instance if you measure 25 inches around, you should wear a size 30.

HOW TO MEASURE

As you know bra sizes are even-

30, 32, 34 and so on. What if you measure 26 inches around? Five added to that gives you size 31. In such an instance you will need the next size larger or a size 32. An alternative is to wear a size 30 but insert some extra elastic at the back fastening.

You will have to decide which is better for you. This will depend on the size of your frame and your bust. If you have a large frame and a small bust, wear the next smaller size and add the elastic.

CUPS LABELED

As you know cups are labeled with A B C and D. A is for small, B for medium, C for large and D for extra large. The breasts should fill the cups but not crowd them.

In the latter instance the bust will be flattened and the tissues broken down. If the cup is too large for the bust, proper support is not provided. A brassiere should support.

Most brassieres now have separation between the cups. This should coincide with the distance between your breasts.

The fit of your brassiere is extremely important if you wish to preserve your bustline!

Attend Mass to Celebrate Anniversary

Dr. and Mrs. Leroy C. Johnson of Illinois Avenue celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday morning by attending Mass at St. Benedict Catholic Church.

The couple was married Oct. 28, 1935, in St. Michael's Catholic Church by the late Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly. Their attendants were Mrs. Johnson's brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Klinkhamer.

The Johnsons have four children, Mary Ann, a junior at Mercy College, Detroit; Carol Sue, student nurse at the McAuley School of Practical Nursing; Richard L. and Thomas M., both at home.

The immediate family and several relatives gathered Saturday evening to celebrate the occasion.

Dem Supporters Boost Fulkerson

Democratic supporters of George J. Fulkerson, candidate for Oakland County prosecutor, attended a benefit midnight supper Saturday at the Maplewood Club, Birmingham.

Guest entertainers were members of the Key Knights Barbershop Quartet, Richard Blanchard, Charles Sherwood, George J. Caverly and Michael Fyre, with Mrs. Caverly, Mrs. Blanchard, Mrs. Sherwood and Sandra Carter.

Clean Towel Daily

The benefits of a daily bath may be lost if your towel and washcloth are not as clean as your bathed body. With modern home laundry equipment, it's no trouble to have a clean towel and washcloth every day.

HERE'S NEW, SCIENTIFIC NON-LAXATIVE RELIEF

If you're fed up with using laxatives, you'll welcome this entirely new non-laxative treatment for dry constipation discovered by two doctors, and tried at a Michigan hospital for many years.

A Fecal Softener. HYDREX Tablets contain "DGL," a "softening agent." It breaks down hard, dry stools by permeating them with the moisture they should normally have. It does not artificially stimulate the bowel muscles by harsh irritation. It acts only on the contents of the bowel itself.

Doesn't Force Elimination. HYDREX Tablets don't force bowel movements—they allow normal peristalsis and elimination through simple, non-laxative, "moistening" action. Fecal matter absorbs moisture, and holds it until normal evacuation takes place.

Not Habit Forming. HYDREX Tablets will not cause graying, thinning, loose wavy stools. They contain no salts. They will not rob your body of vitamins—won't interfere with digestion. And they're not habit forming.

Try this new, harmless way to regularly. 30 HYDREX Tablets, $1.35.

No Book Is Needed for Social Climbing

By RUTH MILLETT
One of the questions answered in a new book, "The Private World of High Society," according to the publicity, is:
"If you move to a new city, what's the quickest way to get to know society?"

No woman who has ever watched newcomers with social ambitions scramble to get in the swim "right away" needs to read a book to find the answer to that question.

The routine, almost invariably goes something like this: First the couple joins the church that includes in its membership the greatest number of social leaders. Never mind whether that church happens to be the one they were brought up in or not. A real social climber can discard a church membership as easily as a circle of "surrounding" friends.

Next, the husband (for social climbers usually are a pair, despite the husband's pretense that he is dragged along by his wife) pulls whatever strings he can to have his name put up for membership in the best country club or town club the town or city has to offer.

Then the wife carefully looks over the list of charity organizations to find out where she will best be repaid by correct contacts for devoting her time to good works.

She has to be cautious about this because if she isn't she may find herself working in a group that doesn't have any social prestige and all her do-gooding will do her no good socially.

Of course, the couple will choose a neighborhood where their children will go to the right school—and make the right friends.

And they will be very cautious about the friends they make—being only coolly polite to those who can't help boost their social standing and being utterly charming and flattering to those who are a few steps above them in the social ladder.

And they work on the theory that it always pays to be particularly attentive to the older women of the community who are socially well entrenched and who can "sponsor" a young couple if they are so inclined. Nope, reading the book isn't necessary. The routine is well known to anyone who has watched closely even one couple determined to belong to the "right" social group, or die trying.

Raisin Bread Is Batter Type

Raisin bread is not new, but whole wheat raisin bread is. Raisins add a real taste surprise to the nutlike flavor of whole wheat bread, making a flavor combination that should not be missed. Their sweetness, paired with the whole wheat's heartiness, make a bread that's superb for sandwiches, excellent for eating just as is, and terrific for toasting!

The recipe below is for a batter bread, which means that the cook will have an easy time of it. No kneading, no shaping, and just one rising.

Raisin Whole Wheat Bread

1 cup hot water
2 tablespoons honey or molasses
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons margarine or butter
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
1 cup warm, not hot, water
1 cup unbleached whole wheat flour
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup dark, seedless raisins

In a large bowl, combine 1-cup hot water with honey, salt, and margarine; cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle or crumble yeast into 1/2 cup warm water in small bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm water for compressed yeast), stir until dissolved. Add to lukewarm water mixture. Add flour and raisins; stir until well blended, about 2 minutes.

Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, about 40 minutes, or until more than doubled in bulk. Stir down. Beat vigorously about 1/2 minute. Turn into greased 8x4x2-inch pan. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 45 to 50 minutes, or until brown. Remove from pan to wire rack; brush top with soft margarine or butter; cool. Makes 1 loaf.

Flank Steak Takes Cues From Orient

Savory skillet dish.

Flank Steak Pins

1 pound flank steak
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
2 tablespoons extra or peanut oil
1/2 cup (3 ounces) water chestnuts
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons soy sauce

Have steak partly frozen; cut across grain with knife held rather flat into 2 by 1/8-inch pieces. Mix together on a plate the 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 tablespoons soy sauce, sugar, salt, and monosodium glutamate; coat meat with mixture.

Heat oil in heavy hot 10-inch iron skillet until sizzling. Add marinated meat and cook rapidly, turning to brown on both sides. Drain mushrooms and water chestnuts; add enough water to their liquid to make 1 cup.

Gradually stir into 1 tablespoon cornstarch until smooth; add 1 teaspoon soy sauce. Add to dripping in skillet; cook and stir constantly until thickened. Stir in mushrooms and sliced water chestnuts; top with meat; heat. Makes 4 servings.

Chopped Watercress Fine in Spread

What can I serve that's "different"? This question invariably comes up when you're planning a Saturday night party, a bridge-club luncheon or the like. One easy and always successful answer is a really tasty spread over crispy saltine crackers.

Here's a brand new one to add to your list, "Deviled Ham and Watercress Spread." It's a tangy blend of canned deviled ham, chopped watercress, mushrooms, mayonnaise and Tabasco sauce. Couldn't be simpler to fix, yet it makes an interesting a canape as caviar. Serve it for family lunches and snacks, too. This easy way:

"Deviled Ham and Watercress Spread"

1/2 finely chopped watercress
1/2 cup sliced mushrooms
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup Tabasco sauce
Saltine crackers

Blend together all ingredients. Serve as a tangy spread for crispy crackers. Makes 1 1/2 cups. Keeps well in the refrigerator for several days.

Cook Tiny Meat Balls in Applesauce

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pork, kumquat and apple balls make almost a meal in themselves. Combine 1 pound of ground pork with 1 1/2 cups of drained sauerkraut, chopped, 1/2 cup of applesauce from a 1-pound can, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon of oregano and salt to taste. Shape into 2-inch balls.

Brown meatballs and 1 clove of garlic, chopped, in 2 tablespoons of melted butter or margarine until browned on all sides. Add remaining applesauce. Cover and cook over low heat 1 hour. Serves 4.

Special Nails Will Hold Laundry Room Shelf

Save a little cooked chicken breast and cut into match-stick size strips; add to chicken broth with cooked green peas and dried carrots. Nice as a first course for a company dinner.

Butterscotch Rolls Grand for Breakfast

Breakfast becomes a festive occasion when homemade buns or coffee cake are on the menu. This basic recipe for a sweet yeast dough, made up as traditional Butterscotch Rolls or adapted to provide buns or nutted rolls, makes a bread that is tender and delicious. Try all the variations and pick a favorite to make often. Or, alternate among them and keep the family singing the cook's praises and versatility.

For continental flavor, mix up a pan of the easily prepared Streusel Kuchen, the popular German crumb cake. Or go British with butter and jam to enjoy a nice biscuit for tea or breakfast.

Butterscotch Rolls

- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 package active dry yeast
- 1 cup warm water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup soft shortening
- 1/2 cup warm milk
- 3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup chopped raisins or walnuts

Mix sugar and yeast in large bowl. Add warm water and stir mixture until dissolved. Add salt, egg, shortening and warm milk. Blend. Add flour, half at a time, rising in warm, place until bulk Roll out dough into an 8x12" piece 1/4" thick. Brush with melted shortening. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Sprinkle with half of raisins and nuts. Roll up and secure edge by moistening slightly and pressing together. Repeat with second half.

BUTTERSCOTCH GLAZE:

Blend 1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar and 10 tablespoons soft butter. Spread in 2 greased 8" square pans. Slice rolls in 1 1/4" slices and arrange 1 dozen in each pan. Cover loosely and allow to rise 1 hour in warm place or until light. Brush with melted shortening. Bake in hot oven 400 degrees F. 25 minutes or until done. Turn rolls out, immediately on cooling rack. Yield: 24 rolls.

Bun Variation

Place 1 1/2 tablespoons of Butterscotch Glaze and a nut, if desired, in each greased muffin cup. Put roll in each cup and allow to rise about 15 minutes or until done. Turn out immediately on cooling rack.

Nut Roll Variation

Prepare Butterscotch Rolls but omit raisins and Butterscotch Glaze. Bake in two greased 9" round upside-down cake pans in hot oven 400 degrees F. about 20 minutes. Turn out on cooling rack. When cool, combine 1 cup each of firmly packed light brown and old fashioned dark brown sugars, 1/2 cup water, 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cook to 235-245 degrees F. or hard ball stage. Add 2 tablespoons butter. Cool very slightly. Pour over rolls. Garnish with nuts if desired.

Quick Streusel Kuchen

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1/2 cup all-purpose oil
- 1/2 cup milk

Streusel Topping

1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar

1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup chopped nuts, optional
Sift sugar, flour, baking powder and salt together. Combine beaten eggs, oil and milk. Stir liquid ingredients into dry ingredients quickly. Turn batter into a greased 9" square cake pan. Topping: Combine brown sugar, flour and cinnamon. Blend butter or margarine into mixture. Add nuts if desired. Spoon topping over batter. Bake in hot oven 400 degrees F. 25-30 minutes. Yield: nine 3" squares.

Scones

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon double-acting baking powder
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup raisins or nuts

der and salt. Cut shortening into dry ingredients with pastry blender or 2 table knives. Combine eggs and cream; add to dry mixture, stirring quickly until a soft but non-sticky dough is formed. Handling lightly, roll or pat dough 1/4" thick.
Cut diamond-shaped scones with floured knife or cutter. Place on lightly greased cookie sheets and brush tops with beaten egg or melted shortening. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake in very hot oven 400 degrees F. 12-15 minutes. Yield: 15 diamond-shaped scones.
For a quick, attractive centerpiece for an unexpected party, wash a large cauliflower and decorate it with hot cocktail frankfurts on toothpicks.

Ever Make a Salad With Leftover Pork?
NEW YORK (UPI) — Leftover pork roasts is the basis for a main-dish salad. Toss together lightly 1 cup each of shredded raw cabbage, shredded raw carrots, diced celery and shredded cheese, 1/4 cup each of diced green pepper, chopped fresh parsley and sliced onion, 2 cups of shredded cold cooked pork, 1/2 cup of mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon each of salt, cabbage mustard and 1/4 teaspoon of ground black pepper. Serve on a bed of lettuce garnished with radish roses. Serves 6 to 8.
Your small fry will probably think it's great fun to eat beef stew if it is served with small shell-shaped macaroni.

Supply of Chicken Due to Increase Soon

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor

When I was at the Food Editors' Conference last month, I heard a representative of the chicken industry say that we would be having about 20 per cent more chicken in the coming months. That means the price will continue to be reasonable and you will serve it often. So you'll want some new recipes.

Chicken is an excellent choice if you are on a diet. It is low in fat and low in calories (now, if you don't eat the skin which has most of the fat calories in it). Squeeze lemon juice over the fowl and broil, basting with the juice that collects in the bottom of the pan. You can bake chicken the same way. It's really good.

We had a delicious chicken dish at one of our dinners. The recipe calls for chicken breasts, but I tried it a week or so ago with cut-up fryers. I couldn't find any fryers when I shopped so I used thighs and liked the results. In place of the brown sauce I used a can of beef gravy.

Breast of Chicken Tarragon

1½ tablespoons instant minced onion
1½ tablespoons tarragon or thyme
1 glass dry white wine
1 cup brown sauce
1 tablespoon butter
6 chicken breasts or 1 broiler-fryer

Coat chicken with seasoned flour. Sauté in butter until browned, about 10 minutes. Pour sauce over chicken and bake in 350-degree oven about 1 hour, or until tender. Baste several times during baking period with sauce drippings.

Sauce
Cook onion, herbs and white wine in saucepan until reduced to ½ of the original quantity. Add brown sauce and butter.

Although leftover chicken is really no problem, it is always nice to have new suggestions about using it. The following recipe combines chicken and vegetables. You may use frozen green beans.

Oriental Chicken With Beans

½ lb. green beans
2 tablespoons fat
1½ tablespoons finely sliced onion
1 cup sliced celery
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
Dash pepper

2-cup. Can sliced broiled mushrooms
2 cups coarsely cubed cooked chicken
1 cup chicken broth
2½ cups cornstarch
1 cup cold water

Cut beans diagonally in 1-inch lengths. Melt fat in large frying pan. Add onion and celery and cook 2 minutes over moderate heat. Sprinkle in salt, ginger and pepper. Add cut beans, contents of can of mushrooms, chicken and chicken broth. Cover tightly and bring to boil. Cook until beans are barely tender, about 15 minutes.

Blend together the cornstarch, water and Kitchen Bouquet. Add to the chicken and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and boils. Serve immediately over hot rice and crisp fried noodles. Makes 4 servings.

Raspberry Yams

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baked raspberry yams go well with poultry, ham or fresh pork. Arrange 6 medium-sized yams, cooked, peeled and sliced, in a shallow baking dish. Top with one 10-ounce package of frozen red raspberries, partially thawed. Sprinkle with 1½ tablespoons of brown sugar. Bake 15 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Serves 6 to 8.

Add Fish Flakes to Souffle Base

Fine flavor combination.

Fish Souffle with Mushroom Sauce
1½ tablespoons butter
1½ tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 egg (beaten)
1 cup finely cooked fish
1½ cups finely chopped vegetables
1½ tablespoons minced parsley
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
Pinch of

Make a white sauce of the butter, flour and milk in a 1-quart saucepan. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored; stir in hot white sauce; return to saucepan; cook and stir over low heat a few minutes. Remove from heat; stir in fish, cooked vegetables, parsley, lemon juice, salt and dash of pepper.

With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff enough to hold straight peaks; fold into sauce mixture. Turn into a greased 1½-quart casserole (about 8 by 3 inches with straight sides).

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 30 to 35 minutes, until puffed and golden brown. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Mushroom Sauce

Drain a 5-ounce can of sliced mushrooms; add enough milk to the liquid to make 1 cup. Make a white sauce with 1½ tablespoons each butter and flour and the milk mixture, adding 1 tablespoon dry onion-soup mix (just as it comes from package). Add drained mushrooms, salt and pepper to taste; reheat.

Texans Love Colorado

TRINIDAD, Colo. (UPI)—Folks were a bit puzzled over a bumper sticker on a car which passed through Trinidad. The sticker read: "Colorful Colorado... where Texans live."

Apple Chutney Goes With Meat

Apples are in season again and it's time to begin thinking about all the wonderful things you can do with this versatile fruit. Apple sauce, apple pie, apple butter, apple cider, and cider vinegar are just a few of the things that are made from apples.

A delicious item to add to the apple product list is apple chutney. This peppery condiment is excellent with meat dishes, especially pork. Try this tasty recipe for apple chutney. You will want to keep it on hand for frequent serving.

Apple Chutney

4 medium-sized ripe tomatoes
2 cups apples, slightly green
2 cups onions, finely sliced
1½ pounds brown sugar
¼ cup coarse salt

1 ounce white mustard seed
1 ounce minced apple
Wash tomatoes and apples. Skin and quarter tomatoes. Core and cut apples into chunks. Peel and mince onions. Chop raisins. Combine all ingredients and cook slowly for 3 hours. Pack quickly in hot, sterilized jars to within ½-inch from top. Seal each jar at once. Serve as relish with meat. Yield: 3 pints.

Gloze Ham and Yams With Spice and Sugar

NEW YORK (UPI) — Here's a spicy main dish — ham and yams with almond glaze. Arrange 1 ham steak, ¾-inch thick, and 4 medium yams, cooked and peeled, in a shallow baking dish. Combine 3 tablespoons of melted butter or margarine with ¼ cup of firmly-packed brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon each of nutmeg and cinnamon and 1½ cup of ground almonds and spread over ham and yams. Bake 45 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Serves 4.

Chiefs Topple Bay City Again?

PCH, Top-Rated Wolves Collide Thursday Night

Bay City Was No. 1 Year Ago When Chiefs Pulled 12-7 Upset

By BILL CORNWELL

Since Elmer Engel became head football coach at Bay City Central High School in 1956, the Wolves have seldom been defeated on the gridiron.

In his first year at the Bay City helm, a rebuilding year for Engel, the Wolves posted a 14 record. They have not had a losing campaign since.

Now in his 11th year at Bay City, Engel boasts a phenomenal coaching record of 76 wins against only 13 losses. The Wolves, including a perfect 7-0 mark this season.

One of those setbacks came last season at Pontiac's Winter Stadium when the Wolves, sporting another spotless 7-0 mark and rated Michigan's No. 1 Class A team, were upset by Pontiac Central, 12-7, in a third-quarter battle.

With the exception of the final and biggest test, history is repeating itself Thursday night.

The location is different and the outcome is still in doubt, but Pontiac Central and Bay City collide under otherwise identical circumstances Thursday night at Bay City Stadium at 8 o'clock in a Saginaw Valley Conference struggle.

Once again the Wolves are carrying a flawless 7-0 mark. Once again they are ranked the state's No. 1 Class A team in both the Associated Press and United Press International prep polls. Once again the Chiefs are underdogs.

Now, obviously, the question arises: Can the Chiefs tumble Bay City from the unbeaten ranks for the second straight year? Coach Paul Dellera's PCH griders will make an all-out effort to do it, that of that can be sure, and if they play as well against the Wolves as they did against Flint Northern here Oct. 21, Engel's boys will have a busy evening.

It is an old fact that, despite his amazing record at Bay City, Engel has yet to post a perfect season.

The closest thing to an unblemished record for Engel and his Wolfpack was in 1958 when they compiled an 8-1 mark and shared the Saginaw Valley crown with Flint Central. Four other times the Wolves have compiled 8-1 records.

The Chiefs are expecting some aerial fireworks tomorrow night and well they might because the Wolves have been extremely effective via the overhead route this fall.

Engel has two of the state's finest passing quarterbacks in Bob Crumpton and Bob Schaffer, and Crumpton has carried the Wolves' strong running threat on rollouts.

Crumpton has completed 56 passes in 49 attempts for 422 yards and six touchdowns. Schaffer, his understudy, boasts 14 completions in 22 attempts for 223 yards and another six touchdowns.

Put the two together and you have a completion average of better than 60 per cent. In addition, Crumpton has carried the Wolves' strong running threat on rollouts.

ANN ARBOR — Fritz Crisler, Michigan athletic director, says that college football has become stereotyped and lacks variety.

Crisler, life member of the NCAA football rules committee, told the Michigan chapter of the Football Writers' Association Tuesday that the rules committee is partially to blame.

"Everything is practically the same these days," Crisler explained. "Everyone is using practically the same offense, the same defense, the same plays, the same everything."

"The rules committee has been restrictive in its legislation, and thus more or less ruled out resourcefulness and inventiveness on the part of the coach. I hope to see the day when football again will take advantage of the inventive mind of the coach."

Crisler said there is much sentiment all over the country against college coaches' calling most of the plays for their football teams.

"If a coach is going to send every play by messenger, then I'd rather see the coach get right out there in the huddle with his team."

Under the new "wild card" substitution rule that permits a coach to send in as many as 11 players as messengers to take the place of the bench to the quarterback.

Crisler said this practice "is taking the game away from the boys." He said the rules committee probably would discuss the matter at its January meeting.

Another likely topic of discussion at the January meeting, Crisler said, is what he termed "more vicious play."

"There is more piling on than ever before," he said, "and our teams at Michigan are just as much victims as any other. I'm not criticizing the officials, but we must have tighter enforcement. Unless we have stricter enforcement, it's just a waste of time."

Fetzer May Contact About Tigers

DETROIT — An impatient, John E. Fetzer may not be able to wait the three weeks Casey Stengel says it would take him to decide whether he wants to manage the Detroit Tigers.

Fetzer, the club's president and principal owner, made a surprise trip to the West Coast and visited for several hours with Stengel yesterday.

Fetzer offered Stengel a multi-year contract to become the eighth manager of the Tigers in 1961, but the 78-year-old Stengel, fired last month after a dozen seasons as manager of the New York Yankees, said he wanted to think it over. Stengel said he had several offers in baseball but would make no decision for about three weeks because he wanted to "rest and take it easy."

The Tigers have been without a manager since early last month when Joe Gordon stunned them with a surprise resignation. A few days later, Fetzer acquired majority control of the sixth place team.

Fetzer, who has had assistant to the president Rick Ferrell screening candidates for several weeks, said he decided to take a personal hand in the matter "because we want to get this thing settled and get on with the business of building a better baseball team."

"I wanted to visit personally with Stengel to get the feel of the man," said Fetzer. "I wanted to discuss things generally with him, and he was courteous and gracious enough to spend some time with me. I am a newcomer to this baseball business and I bowed to his wisdom."

"Naturally, we indicated an interest in him. I believe he is the type of man who would be good for Detroit, particularly the younger players. He certainly is a young 78 and I am tremendously impressed with his approach to the problems of the game and the players, particularly the young ones because we have some young players coming up."

"I was very impressed also with his knowledge and background and he expressed a great personal interest in what we are attempting to do in Detroit."

But Fetzer added in a telephone interview from Los Angeles, that Stengel did not express a real interest in managing the Tigers. Fetzer said:

"He has a bushel basketful of offers on his desk. He is tired and he wants to rest. He doesn't know what he wants to do right now. First, he wants to let the dust settle a bit."

Fetzer said he had no plans to meet again with Stengel, but indicated he might discuss the Tiger job with Bill Rigley, who also resides on the West Coast.

"I have no plans to talk with Rigley," said Fetzer, "but it might turn out that I don't like the idea of having to wait three weeks. I wouldn't mind it if I knew we could get Stengel."

"I don't want to rush the matter, but we must start moving. If we wait too long, we might miss getting someone else who might fit into our plans."

Fetzer, a Kalamazoo radio executive, said he probably will return home by the end of the week.

NEW YORK (P)—Just another reminder the late Bob Zuppke once explained a football as a prolate spheroid filled with crazy bounces. There were 16 real crazy bounces along with the 39 correct bounces last week for a 709 average. (Season's figures: 520 right, 81 wrong, .755 average.)

This week's pick: Iowa over Minnesota: Iowa, with its speed, is the irresistible force. Minnesota, with its power, is the immovable object. What happens when these collide. But on the football field the speed usually wins.

Missouri over Colorado: Mel West and his playmates guide the Tigers to a Big Eight Conference Championship.

Ohio State over Indiana: A mere romp for the Buckeyes. Mississippi over Chattanooga: How did this ever get in here? Southern California over Washington: It might be different if Bob Scholten were able to play for the Huskies.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech: But the Volunteers will have their hands full with Stan Gann.

Syracuse over Army: The Cadets have been playing in an entirely different league. Rice over Arkansas: Everyone gets beat at least once in the Southwest Conference. The Owls still have an unblemished record.

By The Associated Press

Almost any football lineman, today or yesterday, will tell you it's fun to play on defense. There's a feeling of satisfaction in getting your hands on opposing runners and bringing them to earth with hard tackles.

Mike Ditka, Fritz Crisler and end, is no different. He had a wonderful time last Saturday in gunning up the Syracuse offense and the Panthers ended a 104-up streak for the Orange.

His feats brought him honor, today as he was named Lineman of the Week by the Associated Press.

A basketball managers' meeting for Class D City League teams has been set by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department for Thursday night at 7 o'clock in the Conference Room of the Health Department at City Hall.

The purpose of this meeting is to get an indication of the possible number of teams likely to enter the "D" league for the 1961-62 season. Persons who reach their 19th birthday before May 1, 1961, are not eligible for "D" activity.

Managers or representatives of teams wishing to enter the Class D division are urged to attend this meeting.

Another likely topic of discussion at the January meeting, Crisler said, is what he termed "more vicious play."

"There is more piling on than ever before," he said, "and our teams at Michigan are just as much victims as any other. I'm not criticizing the officials, but we must have tighter enforcement. Unless we have stricter enforcement, it's just a waste of time."

"You can pull a surprise play once, but never twice," Crisler said. "Someone gets the film, and he'll run it a hundred times until he figures out what you're doing. There is not enough variety in the game today. I'm an old timer and perhaps I'm living too much in the past, but I miss the old sleeper plays, the talking plays, the quick linings. And I liked it when you had to start a play from perhaps a yard from an out of bounds marker."

COMPARE PRICE AND PROTECTION AND YOU'LL BUY NEW DU PONT Telar NEVER DRAIN ANTI-FREEZE
Complete protection costs less than 2 tanks of gas
To protect most cars requires only $7 to $9 worth of "Telar" and as little as $3 to $5 for compact cars. Because it goes in for keeps, not just for one year, it costs less in the long run.
Du Pont "Telar" never needs draining as long as your car's cooling system is okay. Since "Telar" is added in the usual manner to regular water, you buy only the amount of protection needed. Any make-up occasionally required to replace normal loss is slight. Once "Telar" is installed, you save the bother and expense of draining old anti-freeze and buying a complete refill each year.
"Telar" Never Drain Anti-Freeze and Summer Coolant has exclusive Color Check to let you safely leave it in year after year—in old cars as well as new. See your servicing dealer now.

Battle of 'Elliot's' at 'M' Saturday MSU Is Happy in Hoosierland

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Michigan State, unofficial defending football champion of Indiana, can keep the title by defeating Purdue Saturday at Ross-Ade Stadium, an up-and-down local.

Purdue's 14-12 defeat last Saturday by Illinois was the Boilermakers' first loss at home in 13 games. It came about when bulky Bill Brown of Illinois blocked a conversion attempt by Bernie Allen, an almost automatic kicker, and the Boilermakers tried unsuccessfully to run for two points after their second TD.

Michigan State was the scourge of Hoosierland last fall, beating Notre Dame 19-0, Indiana 14-6 and Purdue 15-0. Purdue was defeated only one other time. This year the Spartans have kicked Notre Dame 21-0 and Indiana 35-6.

If Michigan State follows the pattern and blanks Purdue, it will be the first time the Boilermakers have scored less than two touchdowns this season. Their 23-1 over-all record has resulted largely from a sometimes porous pass defense rather than lack of offensive strength.

Illinois ran over its two touchdowns but set up both by passing. Purdue simply couldn't match the Iowa's speed in a 21-14 defeat the previous week but its other defeat this year, 24-13 at Wisconsin, resulted when it let Ron Miller pass for 203 yards.

Purdue is dangerous when it has the ball, as its 23-points-a-game average shows.

Allen, six-foot senior quarterback from East Liverpool, Ohio, has scored four touchdowns, kicked two field goals and 13 extra points, and passed for three touchdowns. He has completed 37 of 62 passes for an even 40 yards.

Marty Guttman, quarterback of the alternate unit, has thrown only 24 passes but two of his nine completions were for touchdowns.

Jim Tiller, senior halfback from Fremont, Ohio, is only 5 feet 7 but a fleet runner and excellent pass catcher. He has scored six touchdowns and has a rushing average over three yards. He has caught 15 passes for 130 yards.

Purdue is uncommonly well off at fullback, generally one of its strong positions. Senior Willie Jones has been knocked off about five yards a carry and has scored three touchdowns. Tom Yakubowski, 214-pound sophomore from Adena, Ohio, has been averaging over three yards and has made two touchdowns.

Famed Football Brothers Meet at Alma Mater

Both Former U. of M. Stars Now Opposing Grid Coaches

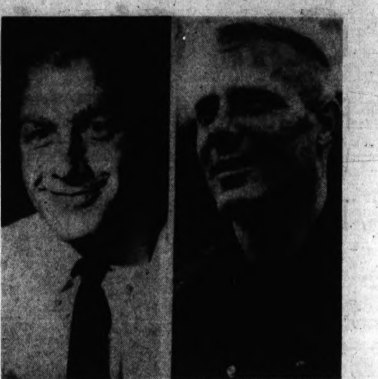

ANN ARBOR (AP)—By long and circuitous paths, the Elliott brothers have moved toward a dramatic football meeting.

A decade ago, following distinguished athletic careers at Michigan, Bump and Pete Elliott embarked on coaching careers in the footsteps of their father, the late Dr. J. Norman Elliott.

Ever since, they seemingly have been jockeying for the positions in which they find themselves on Saturday — commanding the opposing teams of Michigan and Illinois.

It is fitting that it should take place in Ann Arbor, where for both there are memories of grid-iron glory.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The balancing sheet of football action lists more riches for Iowa, but it will take more than a certified public accountant to beat Minnesota Saturday.

Ancient Horse Wins 1st Jump

NEW YORK (AP)—An ancient equine greybeard won the first United States at the National Horse Show opened an eight-day run in Madison Square Garden Tuesday.

But a few hours later, Ireland—which has been absent from the National for the past two years—won the second international test before a crowd of 8,000 during the evening session.

All told, 14 international jumps are on the schedule. The U. S., which came through handsomely in the Harrisburg and Washington shows the past two weeks, ruled the favorite to carry off the majority of the honors.

Trail Guide, 21 years old, captured the West Point Challenge Trophy during the matinee. Matter of fact, three of the first four horses were from the U. S. stable.

Frank Chaput was in the saddle and he whipped Trail Guide around the eight-obstacle course without a touch in 23.4 seconds. Nautical, ridden by Hugh Wiley of Towson, Md., was second with a clocking of 35 flat, followed by Loch Garman, piloted by Lt. John Daly of Ireland. His time was 36.1. High Noon, with George Morris of New Canaan, Conn., handling the reins, was fourth with a 36.6 clocking.

Daly and Loch Garman came back later and captured the Democrat Memorial Challenge Trophy and this time the U. S. riders were shut out.

Named Richmond Pilot
RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Cal Ermer, former minor league manager of the year who has piloted the Columbus, Ohio, Jets for the last two seasons, Tuesday was named to manage Richmond's International League baseball team next summer.

The appointment of Ermer, 36, to succeed Steve Souchock as skipper of the New York Yankee's Class AAA farm here was announced by Richmond General Manager Jack White.

Titans After 6-Game Streak

From Our Wire Service

Not since 1928, when the University of Detroit ran up a string of 20 straight victories, have the Titans put together six straight victories in a single season.

But Detroit can accomplish this Friday night by defeating Marquette in Titan Stadium in the "Beer Barrel" game.

The Detroit-Marquette rivalry, equals the Villanova series, and is the oldest on the Titan schedule. It is 28 years old.

Back in the mid-twenties when U. of D. was one of the powers of the Midwest, the Titans started their winning streak in the middle of the 1927 season just after losing 6-0 to Army and 20-0 to Notre Dame.

The next game they blasted Michigan State 24-7 and then went on to win the next 19 before Marquette forced the Titans to a 2-6 tie in 1929.

After that they kept winning by whipping West Virginia, Michigan State and Georgetown.

This year after the opening loss to Iowa State, U. of D. has pulled up five straight and is favored to make it six against Marquette.

Sophomore quarterback Jerry Gross who hit on 15 of 22 passes against Quincio last week—is again the U. of D. hope.

Gross, the all-state sensation from Bay City Central, was brilliant in his running and passing, since taking over from Bob Lusky, who was hurt, couple weeks ago with a leg injury.

The Marquette game features

the battle for the Black Beer Barrel, a souvenir of the famous "malt" city of Wisconsin.

Game time Friday night is 8:15 p.m.

Top Price Is Paid for 2 Race Horses

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Top prices of $80,000 and $41,000 were paid Tuesday for the standardbred racers, King's Meadow and Duke of Decatur, in the second day of the 22nd annual standardbred horse sale here.

In all, 22 horses changed owners at a total of $317,700, by far the highest second day business in the history of the auction. Last year's second day sales amounted to $462,350. The opening day Monday had been below expectations.

Canadians Adrian and Gerard Milon of Montreal paid the top price for King's Meadow, a two-minute performer consigned by S. A. Camp of Shafter, Calif. The brothers also paid the second top price for the Duke of Decatur, another major stakes winner on the trotting circuit this year. It was consigned by Meadowland Farms, Washington, Pa.

Coaches Seem to Like Wild Card Playing

KNOXVILLE (AP)—College football's wild card substitution rule apparently has received the overwhelming approval of coaches and fans alike, the chairman of the Rules Committee said today.

Gen. Robert E. Neyland, University of Tennessee athletic director and head of the NCAA Football Rules Committee, said he had heard nothing but praise for the rule.

"Everybody I've talked to, both fans and coaches, say they like the wild card rule," Neyland declared. "I definitely saw speeded up the college game, and I think has made it more interesting."

The rule allows a coach to send in one player during plays without taking a time out or a penalty.

Pompey Disqualified

LONDON (AP)—Yolande Pompey of Trinidad was disqualified for hitting low in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round light-heavyweight bout against London's Gerry McNally Tuesday night.

Surgery Stops Play for USC's McKeever

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mike McKeever's college football days are over and only time will tell if he plays later as a professional. The big University of Southern California guard successfully underwent an emergency operation Tuesday night for removal of two blood clots on the right side of the brain.

The operation followed a diagnosis by a team of medical experts who discovered fresh blood in a spinal tap of the 20-year-old, 225-pound athlete, who was a third team choice in last year's Associated Press All-America selections.

Dr. Thomas Cline, USC team physician, said the surgeons believe the first clot may have been caused by an injury McKeever sustained in the Ohio State game Oct. 1. Since then his health has deteriorated. He complained of headaches after the Ohio State game, played only one-half of the game against Georgia, Oct. 8, and a week later, against California, suited up did not play.

Last week he played 40 minutes against Stanford and was accidentally kicked in the head. He had been unable to hold any food until he was taken to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital Tuesday.

Surgeons said the operation took about two hours and that McKeever, when informed, surgery was necessary, expressed a wish to get it started at once.

With him in the hospital were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McKeever, his fiancée, Miss Judy Primrose, his brother, William, and his twin brother, Martin, who was the Associated Press All-America selection last year as an end. Mike and Martin plan a double wedding Dec. 3, Martin marrying Suzie Blackman. Doctors said Mike probably can be sent home in about a week.

Hundreds of telegrams of good wishes flooded the hospital after Jim Corgiat changes Mind About Leaving EAST LANSING (UPI)—Michigan State authorities said yesterday that Jim Corgiat, letterman end on the verge of dropping out of school, has solved his differences and will remain at the university.

Corgiat, apparently discouraged over a preseason leg injury which has sidelined him throughout the campaign, notified the dean of students Monday that he was withdrawing from school.

But yesterday the university's athletic department announced that Spartan coach Duffy Daugherty had talked with Corgiat Monday night and persuaded him to change his mind.

The news was released that McKeever was to undergo surgery. "We think of you as a great opponent," said a telegram of good wishes from the Spartans of the South, a UCLA group, UCLA end coach Bob Bergdahl said. "All UCLA and the UCLA team wish you a speedy and complete recovery. The Bears are pulling for you," wired Herb Werner of California.

McKeever complained in 1958 of headaches and physicians said it is possible he may have had a clot at that time which was dissipated. He suffered from sinusitis several times this year, and despite his great desire to play he was forced by sheer exhaustion to the sidelines.

Considered prime prospects for professional football in the December drafts, the McKeever twins have said they would insist on playing for the same team, and under no conditions would they play against each other.

Newton Still Leads

Scoring Race Nears End

By CHUCK ABRAHAM
Jack Newton still holds the Oakland County scoring lead going into the final two big weekends of play but he may need a big final game against Holly Friday to win the crown.

He now has 80 points to 72 for Dion Caza of Troy, who also ends his prep career Friday. Two others may be bigger threats than Caza.

Birmingham Seahawks star Steve Jacobson jumped from 8th to 3rd place with a 24-point night and now has 67 with two contests to play: Dick McCauley, the Pontiac Central dandy, has 54 with three still remaining.

John Seymour of Royal Oak Shrine is 4th in scoring with 61 and has completed regular season play. He plays in the Soup Bowl Saturday. No. 5 is Jim McDonald of Avondale at 58. He has two games to go.

Bob Ennis rung up 16 in Holly's last game to hop from 10th to 6th place with 57.

Bill Waters of Royal Oak Donjon, who got 24 Friday, closed ranks of Orchard Lake St. Mary. Madison's Dennis Hepp, Paul Mullen of St. James, Dan Reel of unbeatons Lampshire and Ron Sides of Royal Oak St. Mary all are new on the list this week.

Mike McKeever, one of Southern California's football player twins, underwent brain surgery last night for a blood clot. The operation was termed satisfactory, but his future in football is still a question.

Juries all fall. Dennis Hepp got 18 in a game; Reel 13, the others 12 each.

Other big recent scorers who did not make the top 25 were Dick Rankin of Southfield 18, his teammate Fred Penness 15 and Dale Perry of Lake Orion 19. Rankin had been blanked previously.

Pat Owens of Capac regained the area point leadership with two touchdowns in defeat while Earl Peeples and his L'Anse Creuse mates were being blanked by Rochester.

Owens has 81 now to Peeples' 72. Roger Lomerson had 16 in a game to hold 3rd with 69. Randy Marx of Brighton had 19. Gerald Blake of Armada 18 and Anchor Bay ace John Funk 16 in single outings.

Italian Is Named Fighter of Month

NEW YORK (AP) — Italy's Giulio Rinaldi today was named "Fighter of the Month" by Ring Magazine for his upset decision over light heavyweight champion Archie Moore in their non-title bout in Rome last Saturday night.

In addition to the honor, the handsome 25-year-old Italian champion was boosted from fifth to second among the contenders in the 175-pound division in Ring's latest monthly rankings.

Scotland's Chic Calderwood was promoted to No. 1 contender because of the inactivity of Philadelphia's Harold Johnson, who was demoted from first to third. Germany's Erich Schoepner also was lowered for idleness — from third to fourth.

Falcons Take on Northern in Big Game

PNH Won Close Game Last Season 26-20; Waterford Plays

Revenge will be the goal of the Rochester Falcons when they take on Pontiac Northern Friday night in Winder Stadium.

Last season, Rochester sent a good club against the Huskies and came out on the short end of a 26-20 score. The Falcons were on the one-foot line when the game ended.

Friday's contest should be just as exciting. Although Rochester has the better record, 5-2, PNH has played a tougher schedule. The Huskies are 5-4-1.

There has been one common opponent. PNH downed Farmington 25-13. Two weeks later Rochester dumped hapless Farmington 27-7.

The PNH line will be faced with the difficult task of containing Rochester's Dan Lickert. The big fullback has scored 33 points this season. The big scorer for the Falcons is halfback Bob Morris with 43 points. Dan Bird is another top runner.

The Huskies have a speedy backfield in Chris Payne, Bill Young and Dave Mozarski. The line could be stronger.

PNH and Waterford tied for third place in the Inter-Lakes League. Rochester finished third in the Tri-County.

In Friday's action, Waterford travels to unbeaten Dearborn Fordson for an afternoon contest. Berwick will be at Roseville, Southfield entertains Livonia Bentley and Walled Lake plays at Plymouth.

Russ Crane, assistant football coach at West Virginia University, was staff beachmaster for the Navy in landings at two Jima and Luzon during World War II.

French Boxer Asks Pender Be Suspended

BOSTON (AP) — Middleweight Marcel Pigu of France has asked the Massachusetts Boxing Commission to suspend Paul Pender, until the one-time Brookline, Mass., fireman fulfills a fight contract with the Frenchman.

Commissioner Tommy Rawson said Tuesday the commission will consider the petition and reach a final decision prior to Pigu's Saturday 10-round TV date with Ralph (Tiger) Jones of New York.

Pigu originally was scheduled for the TV bout with Pender, but the claimant to one version of the middleweight crown went to bed on doctor's orders, suffering from a virus attack. Pender, recognized as the middleweight champion in Massachusetts and much of Europe, was not available for comment.

Jones, who will be making his second television appearance Saturday, was hastily signed as a replacement.

Pigu originally was scheduled for the TV bout with Pender, but the claimant to one version of the middleweight crown went to bed on doctor's orders, suffering from a virus attack. Pender, recognized as the middleweight champion in Massachusetts and much of Europe, was not available for comment.

Heavy Ringnecks Entered in Press Contest

Teenager Holds Lead With Bird Over 4 Pounds

Shot Near Clarkson on Sunday; 'Longest' Entry Unchanged

Two big ringnecks had succeeded in evading hunters and the pitfalls of nature until last weekend. Then they met their match.

Lee Jarrett of 1523 Middle Rd., Highland, dropped a 4-pound, 3-ounce rooster in a swamp near Clyde. His two beagles chased the bird out of some cattails.

Sunday afternoon, Carl Wentz of 3300 Pine Knob Rd., Clarkson, flushed a big ringneck out of some heavy cover next to a corn field. His bird weighed 4-pounds, 5-ounces, the heaviest entered in The Pontiac Press Pheasant Derby.

The former leader was Delbert Hawkins of Holly with a 3-pound, 15-ounce entry.

Don Nissen of Witom continues to lead the longest pheasant class with a 39 1/4-inch ringneck. Six entries have measured 39 inches.

Carl, a 17-year-old student at Clarkson High School, was hunting alone and without a dog. It was his fourth ringneck this season.

The pheasant season closes next Wednesday. The deadline for bringing entries to The Press for weighing and measuring is 11:30 a.m. on Nov. 12.

Pheasant hunters from Oakland County through the Thumb are having about the same luck as last year, according to conservation department figures. Field checks show an average of 12.9 ringnecks taken for every 100 hours hunted.

Waterfowl are getting more attention as the peak of the migration reaches Michigan. Heavy concentrations of ducks and geese are reported on Saginaw Bay and the St. Clair flats. About 8,000 geese are at the Swan Creek station near Allegan.

Squirrel hunting continues to improve as more leaves fall. The season on busy trails ends Nov. 10.

Bowmen have until Saturday to get their deer. The kill this year has been estimated at 1,800. This is slightly lower than 1959. The shotgun and rifle season on deer opens Nov. 15.

Hunters who applied for "any deer" permits should begin receiving the good or bad news today. The conservation department mailed the permits yesterday.

Pontiac hunters who will be going to camps in Alcona County meet at noon Monday. Final preparations were made for the annual trek.

NEW LEADER — Carl Wentz, 17 years old, of Clarkson holds the 4-pound, 3-ounce ringneck he shot Sunday near his home. This pheasant is the heaviest entered in The Pontiac Press Derby.

Women Wanting to Hunt Must Convince Husbands

LANSING (UPI)—Deer hunters generally accept the principle that where there are deer there are also bucks.

And in the world of the outdoors it is also becoming an accepted fact that where there are men hunting, there are also women.

Statistics are not kept on the proportion of hunting licenses issued to women, but a recent change by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) would indicate an increase of females in the field.

The MUCC official publication, Michigan Out-Of-Doors, recently instituted a column for women hunters, written by one of them.

Dore H. Case said she agreed to write for the female hunter because she noted most articles previously written for them covered one subject—how to cook the game your husband brings home.

Recipes for cooking game admittedly are necessary for women whose husbands are hunting enthusiasts, but for those who want to join in the sport the recipes and the husbands are often little help.

First you have to catch the deer, but conservation laws might be little problem if "how-to" books for hunters were written so women could easily understand them, or if husbands were willing teachers.

But to some women, who spend a good part of their time with their children, terms like muskrat, beaver, magazine, butt, sight and barrel bring to mind entirely different things than they refer to in the "how-to" pamphlets.

And to some husbands, the chore of taking his wife hunting with him for anything other than to cook meals and keep the camp clean is a far worse than cleaning out the garage on his day off.

Miss Case, 27-year-old native of the Grosse Pointe area, proposes to change this in her column, "Sisters Afield."

Far from a "how-to" instruction, the column was designed primarily for women who have at least a casual knowledge of the do's and don'ts of hunting, but she said she would include tips for beginners periodically.

Miss Case, assistant editor of an Oakland County newspaper (Rochester News), admits there is also some need for occasional recipes during the hunting season.

Her first one probably won't be a number of faithful readers. It covered how to get your husband to take you out to dinner.

Pheasants Running More Than Before

Michigan hunters may be giving the scientific theory of "natural selection" a boost.

A University of Michigan specialist in natural resources believes the ringnecked pheasant is developing more into a ground running bird than a flying species.

Karl F. Lagler said no studies have been made to verify the theory, but conservation leads him to think it is accurate.

The "natural selection" theory states that animal and plant species change or evolve over the years in such a way that their characteristics fit them better for the environment in which they live. Lagler said man may have accelerated the evolution of ground running pheasants by shooting mostly flying birds.

"While I have no real statistics to back up this impression, had we started 20 years ago in an attempt to encourage ground runners, we might have done mostly what we do—shoot the roosters that flush," Lagler said.

Plenty of Honkers at Miner Sanctuary

KINGSVILLE, Ont.—Geese are beginning to pour into the Jack Miner Sanctuary near here.

About 10,000 geese have arrived and another 5,000 to 10,000 are expected. The best time to see the geese is from 3 to 4 p.m. No visitors are admitted Sundays. The geese—Canada, blue and snow—will remain until about Nov. 20. Many ducks can be seen at the sanctuary, too.

Vandalism Hits Three Area Target Ranges

By DON VOGEL

With deer hunting season fast approaching, the number of shooters using Oakland County's three public target ranges is increasing. And so is the vandalism.

A recent rash of vandalism at the ranges in Pontiac Lake, Bald Mountain and Proud Lake recreation areas has conservation department officials including parks division chief Arthur C. Elmer, wondering if they did the right thing in setting up these facilities.

"Trash barrels riddled with bullet holes and shot up signs, tables, benches and gun rests are certainly not signs of hunter appreciation," Elmer said. "This vandalism not only hurts sportsman-like hunters in the Oakland County area but also hits the pocketbook of Mr. and Mrs. Michigan taxpayer."

The department made a special effort to give hunters these places where they could tune up for their fall hunting. Knowing that public lands for shooting practice were particularly hard to come by in Oakland County, the department spent considerable time and money to set up the three ranges.

The ranges are well-developed, featuring some 60 firing positions, gun rests and slots, wood and wire target backstops, handtrap areas, parking lots and picnic facilities.

The shooter must supply his own ammunition and trap shooting equipment, including clay birds. Targets are available at each recreation area headquarters building.

The destruction of equipment at the ranges, mostly by shooting, has continued to increase, the managers of the recreation areas involved point out.

Paul Wigg, manager at Pontiac Lake where the shooting facilities have been open for several years, said that "most of the vandalism here takes place during the week when the ranges are no supervised. There is supervision on weekends when a heavy number of shooters use the range."

He reported trash cans shot up and some song birds killed. Wigg said that only "about 5 per cent" of the shooters are causing the trouble. Pontiac Lake seemed to have less vandalism than the other two areas.

Bald Mountain's Bill Rathbun also puts the blame on a small group of shooters.

"We have had some misuse of the facilities," said Rathbun. "I don't know what can be done. Only 1 or 2 per cent are doing the damage. But a small group of hoodlums can also cause something to be closed."

Target and trap position posts, outdoor rest rooms and signs are being shot up. Two new metal signs erected in the parking lot were blasted by bird shot and left almost unrecognizable. The range is supervised only on Sunday.

While the minority is causing the trouble at Pontiac Lake and Bald Mountain, the opposite is true at Proud Lake near Milford.

"They are tearing the place apart and have been doing it all year," said Al Masini. "The majority of the shooters are guilty, particularly those using 22s. I will say this much, the shotgun boys are all right."

Like Bald Mountain's range, the one at Proud Lake is completing its first full year. Most of the shooters are from Wayne County, Masini said. The majority of people using the other ranges are from Oakland County.

"We fought eight years to get this range, now I'm beginning to wonder if it was worth all the effort," said the manager.

He reported that signs in the range area have been replaced eight times; nearly $1,500 damages done to a railroad running near the range; a bullet, deliberate or stray, fired into a caboose; bottles being shot in the parking lot; one complete set of 12 firing benches destroyed by shooters firing at them; the replacement benches badly damaged; and trash cans ruined.

The range is supervised on Sunday. The three managers said little vandalism took place when the ranges are supervised. But a shortage of money and limited manpower makes this impossible, they pointed out.

"This is one of those times when sportsmen in the area can show their colors by seeing to it that these ranges are not abused," said Elmer.

Gun Safety Programs Are Proving Success

LANSING (UPI)—Gun safety programs, taught by volunteers, are going over big with Michigan's teenage hunters.

In the two months since the state conservation department launched the program, the more than 150 conservation officers around the state have recruited and trained more than 700 adult instructors.

They include school teachers, law enforcement men, 4-H leaders, members of sportsmen's clubs and civic clubs and a variety of others experienced in hunting and the handling of guns.

They, in turn, have given four-hour courses to between 15,000 and 20,000 novice hunters.

"If this kind of enthusiasm continues, we expect that 150,000 or 200,000 youngsters under 17 will

Banks is Certified WASHINGTON, D.C.—Olen O. Banks of 24 Michigan Ave., Pontiac, has been certified as an instructor for the Hunter Safety Course sponsored by the National Rifle Association of America. It was announced here today.

The new instructor will conduct the four-hour course in gun operation, safe gun-handling, techniques of shooting in the field and the safety responsibilities of all hunters.

Increase in Fishing Licenses on Agenda

LANSING (UPI)—An increase from $2 to $3 for resident fishing licenses and trout stamps will be considered by the state conservation commission.

The proposed increase was among recommendations for a 1961 legislative program presented to its staff. They will be considered by the commission at its Nov. 2-10 meeting.

The staff also recommended a requirement for a Great Lakes fishing license for the first time.

It was explained revenues for law enforcement and fish and game management are expected to fall $1 million below the desired levels. It was estimated the hiked cost of fishing licenses would bring in $317,000.

A state code restricting the hours for water skiers was recommended. This would be aimed at eliminating a patchwork of local ordinances. Water-skiing hours of from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on even dated days, weekends and holidays were suggested.

If adopted by the legislature, the hours would be subject to approval by county boards of supervisors. Other proposals included:

Revision of the submerged lands act to further protect rights of the state.

Legislation governing the filling and dredging of lakes and waters to protect public rights to lakes and streams.

Outfitting of large "water type" traps that could harm livestock or humans.

A requirement that all guns in cars be enclosed in a case or carried in the trunk. Banning the possession of any firearm or bow in a car while an artificial light is being used to spot game — this aimed at deer shining.

Opening of the bass season on June 1 instead of the third Saturday in June.

Elimination of any creel limits on perch taken by hook and line. Removal of the prohibition against treble hooks for fishing. Licensing of water well drillers with reports required on wells drilled to protect water supplies.

Pontiac Dog Places First in 2 Trials

The Prairie Breeze, a female pointer owned by Dave Grubb of 40 Court Dr., Pontiac, has been very successful in field trials the last two weeks.

Competing in the puppy class, the 15-month-old pointer placed first at Warren, Ohio, and first at Hamilton, Ohio.

Prairie Breeze, handled by Grubb, got the judges' nod at Hamilton over 15 other dogs. Some of the best amateur handlers in the Midwest entered.

The Unchained Melody, a 14-month-old female setter, placed third Sunday at Waukegan, Ind.

Nevadans in Detroit to Pick Up Industry

DETROIT (AP) — A group of Nevadans, headed by Gov. Grant Sawyer, was to arrive in Detroit today on an industry-seeking expedition.

Sawyer said the group was part of "a campaign designed to interest expanding industries of the country in the advantages Nevada has to offer."

He said these advantages would be discussed Thursday at a meeting with more than 350 Detroit area businessmen.

He'll Have His Day ... Er, Days in Court

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Woodrow Ashworth, 46, angered at being brought into court for trial on his 114 parking tickets, demanded a separate hearing on each one.

Judge Joseph Harris agreed and scheduled one trial per week with the last set for April 1963.

"He'll have many busy days in court," Harris said serenely.

A MESSAGE FROM AFAR — Students from Stanford University's branch campus in Florence, Italy, dressed as tourists, climbed the Leaning Tower of Pisa on Oct. 22 to hang an 80-foot banner from the tower top. They wanted to tell the world in six-foot letters of Stanford's hopes in the forthcoming annual football game with the University of California. Guards on duty at the tower took a dim view of the maneuver until they found it had nothing to do with the Italian elections on Nov. 6. This picture was mailed to Stanford University in Stanford, Calif.

Lose Holdings Graciously—

Castro Ticklish Issue for Cautious Britons

LONDON (UPI) — Britain, between Cuba and the United States may drive Castro further into the Communist trade net — tension between the United States and Cuba with concern.

There has been no official comment on the crisis, but the British appear anxious not to become embroiled.

When the operating funds of some British insurance companies working in Cuba through local agencies were frozen couple of weeks ago, the foreign office here took pains to point out that there was no reason to believe the move was deliberately anti-British.

Negotiations were opened to get the cash (about $1 million) freed, and officials here expressed confidence they would be successful.

The authoritative Times of London has also given a clue to the British attitude. It said in an editorial last week "There are still a great many countries which do not view the Castro regime with the same alarm as does the United States."

The Times expressed sympathy for the United States position, and understanding of its decision to sever trade ties, but doubted if this would have the desired effect of forcing Castro from power.

It warned "the economic break-

October Road Death Toll Worst in 2 Years

EAST LANSING (AP) — October's record of 161 traffic fatalities was the worst in two years, the state police announced Tuesday.

The month was climaxed by the last weekend's record of 32 deaths — one of the worst in history.

Police say delayed deaths may push the total well above the 165 killed in November 1958 or the 169 killed in September 1956.

Thirty-six more people were killed this October than in October 1959, and the 10-month toll of 1,266 is 8.4 per cent higher than the same period last year.

Ninety-eight more have been killed so far this year than in 1959.

U.S. and Russia Get Along Fine — Seal Hunting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and the Soviet Union are getting along fine when it comes to seal hunting despite their other international differences.

Fisheries and wildlife officials in the State Department declined to suggest that they are setting an example for their diplomatic colleagues concerned with nuclear square' in honoring the North Pacific seal harvest treaty with the United States, Japan and Great Britain.

In addition, a spokesman said, Russia and the United States have successfully completed an exchange of scientific observers who inspected each other's seal herds.

Aimed at Better Medical Care

Hold Clinic Day at St. Joseph's

The fifth annual Clinic Day is being conducted today at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital.

Several hundred doctors will hear four major speakers today and this evening.

St. Joseph's was the first to initiate the idea of a major event for doctors each year, five years ago.

The day is cosponsored by the Oakland County Medical Society, although this will be the last year that the county society will take an active part in its presentation.

The entire concept of Clinic Day at St. Joseph is based on experience, knowledge and improved patient care.

shared," explains Dr. Harry Arnkoff, chief of staff at St. Joseph's.

"We invite men of proven skill and broad experience. We receive the benefit of their experience and ideas are exchanged, stimulating intellect and gaining knowledge."

IMPROVES PATIENT CARE

The knowledge gained, said Dr. Arnkoff, has the power "to effect results in improved total patient care and in the guidance of good conduct."

The afternoon program will take place in the Nurses' Home Auditorium at the hospital.

Highlight of the day will be the dinner at 7:30 p.m. at the Pine Lake Country Club with some 260 doctors and their wives expected to attend.

Topics will span medical advances from an exhibition of historical surgical instruments to the major address, "Modern Radiotherapy of Cancer."

Featured evening speaker will be Dr. L. Henry Garland, clinical professor of radiology at Stanford University.

Dr. Garland is also visiting radiologist at San Francisco Hospital and chairman of the committee on cancer diagnosis and therapy of the National Research Council.

Afternoon speakers will include Dr. C. Roger Sullivan of the Mayo Clinic, who will speak on "Problems Related to the Diagnosis and Treatment of Arthritis."

Dr. Arnold R. Axelrod, assistant professor of clinical medicine at Wayne State University college of medicine, will speak on "Spencer's Hematologists' Merry-go-round."

Final afternoon speaker will be Dr. Richard J. Bing, professor and chairman of the department of medicine at Wayne State University.

He will speak on "Some Unresolved Topics in Cardiology."

The afternoon segment begins at 2:15 and is scheduled to end at 4:45.

The evening program will begin at 6:30 with Dr. Garland's address set for 8:30.

Republicans Go Airborne in N.Y.

Ike Almost Injured in Midst of Nixon-Lodge Assault on Voters

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (UPI) — President Eisenhower had a close call today during the first helicopter stop of his campaign swing through the New York metropolitan area.

His foot slipped as he was climbing the steps to the speaker's platform at the Field Shopping Center. The President regained his balance by grabbing the handrail just in time.

Eisenhower went briskly ahead with the climb.

A flock of helicopters whisked the Republican party from stop to stop, soaring over urban areas with a dramatic roar.

"Isn't that a thrilling sight," yelled one TV announcer as the whirlpools swarmed down at one point. "Look at that!"

The President and the Republican candidates traveled in separate helicopters during their aerial political blitz of New York City.

Separate helicopters were explained by previous practice where the vice-president and president traveled together. Lodge followed the example of the incumbents.

Two Highway Projects Announced for Spring

LANSING — Two highway projects to be awarded next spring have been announced by the State Highway Department. One is a new business connection to Fenton from U.S. 21, the other a widening and resurfacing of M-53 from Imlay City north to M-50.

The department said formal hearings will be held if interested citizens make requests in writing.

SPEEDY MAIL — Alas, poor airmail, we knew it well. But the device, shown with Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield could make current forms of mail as obsolete as the pony express. Summerfield pushed a button Tuesday in Washington to inaugurate speed mail. The process can deliver first-class mail across the country in a matter of seconds.

GM's 'Motorama' Triggers Campaign

NEW YORK — General Motors opened the throttle today in a new hard-sell campaign of the kind that helped the corporation climb to a worldwide pinnacle among manufacturing concerns.

GM spread out the cream of her 1961 wares — including 38 gleaming automobiles — in a lavish Manhattan setting geared to attract 300,000 visitors in the next seven days.

Frederic G. Donner, board chairman, hailed the firm's seventh "Motorama" as a fitting

Harry Truman Won't Let Sleeping Dog Lie

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said today acceptance of a $205,000 loan from the Hughes Tool Co. by the brother of Vice President Richard M. Nixon was "a customary Nixon procedure."

The vice president "will have to get a bigger dog to use," Truman said when asked about the loan to Donald Nixon while on a morning stroll. Both Donald Nixon and the vice president have said the vice president was not involved.

Truman's reference to the dog apparently went back to the 1952 campaign when Nixon, replying to charges that he had accepted gifts while in Congress, said the only gift he had accepted was his dog, "Checkers."

GOP Concedes to Kennedy (on Sex Appeal)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign director has conceded an edge to Sen. John F. Kennedy in sex appeal.

In a television interview Robert Finch, director of the Nixon-Lodge campaign, said in answer to a question about the "personality factor":

"We'll certainly concede the edge to Sen. Kennedy in sex appeal. But I tend to think that the American people have enough basic maturity, enough honest sophistication to know that the next president—the leader of the whole free world—isn't going to stand up to Khrushchev on the basis of his glandular appeal."

Oxford Man Is Found Dead of Gun Wound

A 48-year-old Oxford man was found dead at his home yesterday with a 16-gauge shotgun lying beside his body.

Dead was Sidney F. Sowter, of 21 Lincoln St., a truck driver for the Mather Trucking firm of Farmington, Sowter, who was separated from his wife, lived alone. He was the father of two children.

Says Dick's Caught With Planks Down

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Democratic vice-presidential hopeful, said today that Vice President Richard M. Nixon "finds himself with his planks down and his issues nonexistent."

The Texas senator said the Republican candidate's "search for an issue" was "one of the more amusing aspects" of the closing days of the campaign.

Homemaking 'Deedrudgerizing' Course Offered

Homemakers can learn how to take the drudgery out of housework today and Friday at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital.

Registration is still open for the "Heart of the Home" work-simplification classes to be given today and Friday from 1:30 to 4:30 at the hospital.

The classes are free and open to anyone. They are financed by the Michigan Heart Association, a Pontiac Area United Fund Agency.

Lodge Is a Hit at Brooklyn Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — A rousing, roaring, old-fashioned political rally in Brooklyn Tuesday night gave Henry Cabot Lodge one of the greatest ovations of his current New York campaign.

He told an overflow crowd of 4,000 cheering partisans that the best way to keep America out of war would be to elect Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Debates, Khrushchev, Castro Aid Awakening

Election Arousing Apathetic Americans

By HAL BOTLE
NEW YORK (AP) — It began with a yawn, and is winding up with a yawn. In just one week the 1960 presidential race will be over, and Pat Nixon or Jackie Kennedy will be sworn in as the first woman to sit down to the serious problem of what to do about the White House draperies.

In just seven more days every body will know for sure who has been elected, and the many-faceted political battle that preceded it will be part of American folklore.

A lot of people feel they know the answer right now, but they really don't.

Politics measure some things about people to a limited degree, but they are, after all, more accurate than measurement and prediction. They aren't the people themselves. It is their unpredictability that make both politics and people interesting.

POLLS NOT INDICATIVE
All the straw votes show is which way the hot air blows," observed O. Henry.

The only votes that really count are those in the nation's ballot boxes next Tuesday.

One of the great mysteries of the 1960 campaign is whatever happened to all the people who found it boring. Somehow they seem to have disappeared.

At the beginning of the race, an English newspaperman remarked: "I can't get interested in a controversy between two American mediocrities."

In a way this reflected part of the national mood, a feeling of lethargy that seemed to affect both Democrats and Republicans after the nominating conventions. A common saying then was that "if you took the best qualities of each candidate and put them together you'd still need something more to make a president."

HE WOULD BE CINC
It also seemed to be pretty well agreed on all sides that if Dwight D. Eisenhower were eligible to run again he could beat a Nixon-Kennedy ticket early in the morning, and still arrive at the 19th hole in time for lunch.

Somewhat, however, that early atmosphere of wisecracking apathy and political indifference vanished.

Two factors probably influenced the change:

1. The performance of Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba at the United Nations awoke a lot of complacent Americans to the potential perils of a future they had been taking for granted.

2. The series of four televised debates between John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon furthered their

DEBATES POPULAR
Some said they found these intellectual clashes between the rival candidates flat, dull and uninspiring, but millions of other people obviously didn't.

These face-to-face and mind-to-mind television confrontations brought to the campaign the dramatic excitement it had lacked before. They brought the heat of the campaign into the national living room.

They made it a personal duel between two men.

Massive crowds now turn out to greet each candidate, and the electorate is wide-awake to the vital need of expressing its will in a dubious time. It knows thoroughly the men, the issues, the dangers ahead.

Right now only one election prediction is really safe: In seven more days it'll all be history, and then we can find out how and why the people made up their minds.

Final Campaign Talks Often Fling Untruths

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Charles F. Taft, chairman of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, warned voters Tuesday not to be taken in by last-minute campaign attacks.

"In every election, charges that cannot be documented are saved until the last minute," Taft said in an address prepared for a meeting of the United Church Women and the St. Louis Council of Churches.

Taft said some last-minute charges may be legitimate, but those that are not are released "with the cynical knowledge that the facts probably won't catch up with them until after the votes are counted."

He urged voters to regard any new accusation just before election day with honest skepticism and if it's "exciting and strange, make sure it's also real and true."

Hate groups in the campaign, Taft said, have been found to consist almost entirely of fanatics and profit-seeking hatemongers.

With rare exceptions they are not in any organized religious groups and their number is infinitesimal among Protestants, Taft added.

"Out of 63 million Protestants and their responsible leaders," he said, "only a fraction have joined in the campaign against any Catholic in the White House."

Taft said that in the Hoover-Smith campaign in 1928 nearly all the literature that dealt with religion was defensible, but that much of the material in the present campaign is on a much higher level.

Alfred E. Smith, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate in 1928, was a Roman Catholic. Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate in the present campaign, also is a Catholic.

U.S. Speeds Up Nuclear Rocket

It Hastens Development of Interplanetary Kiwi by Skipping Step

WASHINGTON # — The government moved Tuesday to speed up development of a nuclear-powered interplanetary rocket by skipping one preliminary step.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Atomic Energy Commission, working together on Project Rover, canceled plans for a preliminary design study for the nuclear rocket engine. They will ask manufacturers for actual research and development proposals instead.

Officials of the AEC have said it would be possible to use a nuclear rocket engine by 1965 to carry bigger payloads in interplanetary and lunar missions.

The nuclear engine would be used on top of a conventionally powered launching vehicle.

The two agencies' announcement indicated that results with experiments on three nuclear reactors have been so successful that the speed-up is possible.

The invitations for proposals probably will be in the hands of manufacturers within a month, and they will have about three months to prepare their proposals.

The announcement said the last experiment in the series of three, Kiwi-A-3, was successfully ground-tested Oct. 19 by its designer, the Los Alamos scientific laboratory, at AEC's Nevada test site. This reactor used high pressure hydrogen gas for its propellant.

Traverse Area Firm Betting on $2-Bill Wages

TRAVERSE CITY # — Parsons Corp. plans to pay its 300 employees with $2 bills Thursday to show the distribution and penetration of industrial wages in the Grand Traverse region.

The firm is a leader in production of helicopter rotor blades.

"Two-dollar bills will be used," says President John Parsons, "because they are distinct enough to be almost immediately recognized by businessmen throughout the region as coming from one week's pay by an industrial concern."

Second Renewal Plan OK'd

Pontiac urban renewal planners hit the bullseye a second time today as Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, announced the federal government has earmarked nearly $1.1 million for the key phase of downtown redevelopment.

But Plans to Visit 16 Other States; Pledges Aid for Teachers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy today pledged that next year a Democratic congress and president "will enact a bill to raise teacher salaries."

The presidential candidate also said: "One of the first items on the Democratic agenda in 1961 is the passage of an adequate bill for school construction."

He outlined these promises and others in the education field in a talk prepared for a "key to victory" breakfast, before heading south to San Diego and then north to San Jose and San Francisco.

Kennedy's campaign exploded into a frenzied climax this week. After his San Francisco appearance, he will fly to Phoenix, Ariz. Between now and election night, he'll touch 16 states.

A stop at Detroit on Friday had to be dropped because it just couldn't be fitted into the tight schedule.

A vice and mocking note toward Vice President Richard M. Nixon again entered Kennedy's tone Tuesday, a kaleidoscope day that brought him here from the East Coast for a mammoth downtown motorcade at noon.

The reception was hot, and so was one of the escorting police motorcycles. It burst into flames and set afire the carpet of ticker tape in the street. No one was hurt.

As he did the day before, Kennedy taunted Nixon for bringing President Eisenhower into the campaign in the closing days before the election next Tuesday.

At a rally at the Douglas Aircraft plant in Long Beach, Kennedy said, "Yesterday I understood Mr. Nixon spent two hours and a half in the White House asking the President to go with him to Pittsburgh and Cleveland."

"Eisenhower is not a candidate, Mr. Nixon is. And if he can't stand up to the American people, if he won't come and meet me in a fifth debate, how is he going to stand up to Mr. Khrushchev?"

Out to Bring Waterford in Sewage Suit

The city will try to put Waterford Township on the spot in the state action for pollution control in Pontiac.

City Attorney William A. Ewart told the City Commission last night that he has already opened the door for bringing Waterford Township into the suit brought against Pontiac by the Water Resources Commission to force sale of construction bonds for a $3-million addition to the city's sewage treatment plant.

Ewart said he has charged in the suit that "other sources" are contributing to Clinton River pollution as well as Pontiac.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston said the attorney should try any legal maneuver that would see the township held responsible for abatement of pollution in the Clinton upstream from Pontiac.

The city has on file a report by health officials, stating that septic flows in township drains are polluting the Clinton and Crystal Lake on Pontiac's west side. The report doubted that the septic conditions contributed significantly to pollution in the stream at the treatment plant or east of Pontiac, where the Water Resources Commission interest has centered.

Glows Under a 'Halo'

ATTACKS PRESIDENT EKE — Former President Harry S. Truman, an electric light in the background giving a halo effect, spoke Tuesday night in support of Sen. John F. Kennedy at the City College of New York in Manhattan. The spy ex-President said the GOP slogans forget the "lowest economic growth" and he also takes issue with the administration trying to "hide" a prestige report. He is in the Republican suburbs today working for Kennedy.

Big Giveaway Event Will Greet Tempest

A new Tempest and $4,000 worth of merchandise will be given away by the Downtown Merchants Assn. (DMA) in a four-day sales event welcoming the appearance of Pontiac Motor Division's small car.

Most big downtown stores will be open until 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday to give shoppers an added chance at the prizes, which will be awarded when the event ends at 2 p.m. Monday.

The prizes will be distributed in front of the courthouse at Huron and Saginaw streets, where the Tempest will go on display tomorrow, the same day that it will make its appearance nationally in dealer showrooms.

"Downtown Tempest Days will be our welcome to this automotive event that promises to mean so much for Pontiac," said Clifford Groves, DMA president.

The prizes will be distributed in front of the courthouse at Huron and Saginaw streets, where the Tempest will go on display tomorrow, the same day that it will make its appearance nationally in dealer showrooms.

Cooling Clouds Seem to Enjoy Our Company

The weather will continue mostly cloudy and cool in the Pontiac area tonight and tomorrow.

The low will be near 34 tonight. Thursday's high is expected to reach 50.

Temperatures the next five days will average slightly below the normal high of 53 and normal low of 37.

Precipitation will total less than a half-inch in showers Friday night and Saturday.

1. Approved, in principal, Pontiac's second urban renewal project, one that is strictly commercial in nature.

2. Reserved $1,088,376 in federal funds to cover two-thirds of the estimated net cost, of which $70,010 is available immediately for planning.

3. Hold up final approval until the plans are okayed.

Although planning may take about a year, planners have said the project should be ready to go in time to "tie in" with the city's first urban renewal project, which is getting started this week.

ANOTHER BIG STEP
Congratulating city officials, Broomfield said the project would be "another important step forward for Pontiac, creating more jobs, more business and more prosperity."

The project is only the fourth of its kind approved in Michigan under a new federal provision allowing up to 20 per cent of the national urban renewal budget to be spent on commercial redevelopment.

"Happy to hear the news, Robert A. Stiver, assistant city manager and urban renewal coordinator, held off official comment until details of the federal approval arrive at City Hall in a few days.

Estimating gross cost of land purchase, clearance and other items at $2,775,000, the city had requested federal aid in the amount of $1,120,000, figuring the city itself would have to pay about $560,000 to carry out the project.

"Apparently something has been cut from the project, but we won't know what until we get the details," Stiver said.

Overall boundaries as proposed by the city in June formed a 20-acre triangle bounded by Saginaw Pike and the Grand Trunk Railroad, plus a small extension between Pike and Lawrence, east of Cass.

This territory was once proposed as part of the first, $6.2 million renewal project, but was rejected by the federal government because of its commercial character.

Determined to continue the fight to aid downtown, city planners and the City Commission tried a new tactic, submitting the area as qualified for aid under the new 20 per cent provision.

THE SITE WOULD BE SOLD
The site would then be sold to private developers.

Target: New York's 45 Votes

"LET'S GO GET 'EM, BOY" — President Eisenhower greets Vice President Richard M. Nixon at Roosevelt Field Shopping Center in Garden City, N.Y., as he arrives to join the GOP ticket in an all-out push for New York's prime 45 electoral votes. Vice-presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge and Pat Nixon look on.

Ike Hails Leadership of Nixon-Lodge Ticket

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower said today that Vice President Richard M. Nixon and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, offer the nation "the finest type of leadership that is available today."

Opening a side-by-side campaign which will take them to a series of New York City rallies and a parade to Herald Square, Eisenhower gave Nixon and Lodge a ringing endorsement in their battle against the Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy, and his running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

The Republican rally in New York's Coliseum tonight will be telecast on Detroit Channel 2 from 8:30 to 9 p.m. Particulars include President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon, and Lodge.

On seven points, Eisenhower said Nixon and Lodge stand out above their Democratic opponents.

The President said he compares the two political teams on these points: Character, moral courage, capacity, readiness to undertake disagreeable tasks, experience, ability to make decisions, and devotion and dedication to the United States.

Standing bareheaded in bright morning sunshine, the President expressed his concern over the issues involved in the presidential election.

Eisenhower, wearing a brown business suit, wore no topcoat despite the stiff breeze that was blowing.

The President said he wanted to give his full endorsement to the Nixon-Lodge ticket.

With emphasis in his voice, Eisenhower said solemnly and slowly: "Richard Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge offer to America the finest type of leadership today that is available to the nation."

The President went on to say that the two nominees "can do better than anyone else toward keeping the peace and toward lifting from the backs of mankind the burden of armament."

Then in a thrust at Kennedy the President added: "No glittering promises, no glib oratory will give you this kind of leadership."

Eisenhower said that "for eight years I've worked with Nixon and Lodge, and they've shown the utmost enthusiasm — never a complaint or excuse — no matter how difficult the task they've done it effectively."

There was a tremendous cheer after that remark.

Swainson's opponent, Paul D. Bagwell, issued a statement at Muskegon Tuesday that called the Democratic candidate's position on Michigan taxes "irresponsible to the point of foolishness."

'We'll Hold On to Guantanamo at All Costs'

Top Naval Commander There Says Defense Temporarily Adequate

From Our News Wire
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's stern declaration that the United States will hold its Guantanamo Naval Base at all costs was described today as primarily a move to reassure the American people.

High officials said the President's statement largely was aimed at clearing up any election eve confusion in this country about the U.S. position on the $70-million base in Cuba.

While Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, already has stated the United States would fight for Guantanamo, officials felt a statement from the highest U.S. authority would eliminate any doubt whatsoever.

The top U.S. naval commander at Guantanamo said today defense forces now at the base should be able to repel any attack until reinforcements can be sent.

Rear Adm. Allen Smith, commander of the Caribbean's 10th Naval District, told visiting newsmen: "The situation is tense because we are in a position of waiting for someone else to do something."

The admiral emphasized the United States is not making any aggressive acts against Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime.

In Havana, Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos, in a sharp reply to Eisenhower, implied Tuesday night the U.S. base on the naval base can be abrogated by the Cuban people without United States consent.

Eisenhower had said the U.S. base could be terminated or changed only by mutual agreement of the United States and Cuba.

TO JUSTIFY AGGRESSION
Dorticos, in a speech to presidential palace employees, said Eisenhower's statement was designed "to justify armed aggression against our country" and supported the claims of Cuba's revolutionary regime that Washington is planning a failed incident at Guantanamo as a pretext for military action.

U.S. officials said the Eisenhower declaration should serve as a new warning to Castro not to tamper with the base, but they believed Castro already was fully aware that it would be defended.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and other top presidential aides are convinced that Castro does not intend to try to wrest the base from the United States.

They are somewhat perplexed as to the reason for his shrill warnings against an American "invasion" of Cuba.

But top officials believe Castro is trying to divert attention from his Soviet-supplied military buildup which appears designed to support "liberation" invasions against Cuba's Caribbean neighbors.

Diplomatic officials declined to speculate on possible political motives connected with the Eisenhower declaration.

The President declared Tuesday the huge U.S. base poses "no threat whatever to the sovereignty" of the Republic of Cuba.

3 PTAs Plan Programs

Three Waterford Township Parent-Teacher Associations have announced their programs for this week.

The Monteith school has combined its fair, entitled "Carnival Time," with a pancake supper to be held from 3 to 7 p.m. Saturday, according to cochaimen Mrs. Robert Thatcher and Mrs. Arch Bartlebaugh.

The fair will feature wagon rides, movies, a bake sale, silly hats, identification bracelets, a pick-my-pocket lady, silhouettes and a parcel post, along with a spook room, country store, treasure chest and game room.

The PTA executive board will sponsor a kangaroo court and an auction sale which will be held three or four times at half-hour intervals.

The pancake supper will begin at 4 p.m. with all the sausages, pancakes, and refreshments you can eat, with a fee of 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children.

The Stringham School PTA will feature an open house at 7 p.m. Thursday along with the annual Book Fair. Books for children and adults will be sold and may be ordered.

At 8 p.m. parents will meet in the children's room and teachers will present the programming at grade levels.

Guest speaker James Poteet, principal of the Lambert School, will present a talk, "The Number Aid Program," at a general assembly meeting after the parent-teach-

Counts 180 Calories

NEW YORK (UPI) —The Nutrition Foundation reports that a three-ounce can of sardines is equal in protein to that provided in the same weight of meat.

At the same time, sardines contain generous quantities of both calcium and vitamin A. For weight watchers, sardines have the advantage of containing only 60 calories per can, the foundation salad.

Local Truck Driver Hurt in Fatal Crash

A Pontiac truck driver was injured yesterday in a Detroit accident in which his helper was killed.

Ollie R. Biggs, 33, 118 W. Lawrence St., was being treated for injuries at Receiving Hospital in Detroit after his truck collided with a car at Huribut and Coit.

His helper, John Ostafin, 57, of Detroit, was dead on arrival at the hospital. Also injured in the crash was Mrs. Pauline Weber, 47, of Detroit, the driver of the car.

State Police Involved in Towing Problems

NORWICH, Conn. (AP) — State Police spotted a 1959 car being towed on West Thames Street and made two arrests.

Vaccine for Distemper Is Now on the Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Distemper, greatest disease killer of dogs, may have found its match.

A new vaccine immunizing dogs against distemper now is on the market. The canine vaccine also contains modified live virus of infectious hepatitis, giving the puppy protection against both diseases with one injection.

State Chamber VP Predicts New Taxes

ALBION (AP) — It's time Michigan residents and businessmen stopped kidding themselves about having no new taxes, says Harry R. Hall, executive vice president of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

Hall, addressing the Albion Chamber of Commerce, urged support of the sales tax proposal on the Nov. 8 ballot.

"Failure to pass the proposal will mean the legislature has no choice but to continue some nuisance taxes, impose some new ones, and enact an income tax," the chamber executive said.

Find Hamilton Guilty in Hermiz Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — For the second time in less than five years, Maurice Hamilton was found guilty Tuesday night of first degree murder in the 1956 stabbing of Aziz Hermiz.

A Recorder's Court jury deliberated nearly 11 hours before returning the verdict which makes life in prison mandatory for the 34-year-old visitor from Baghdad, Iraq. Recorder's Judge Frank G. Schenckman set no date for sentencing.

Hamilton and the slain man's wife, Victoria Hermiz, were co-defendants in the first murder trial in 1956. Hamilton was found guilty of first degree murder and sentenced to life. Mrs. Hermiz was found innocent by reason of insanity and spent 17 months in the Ionia State Hospital for the criminally insane.

The State of North Dakota came into the Union with complete impartiality. Voting for president for the first time in 1892, it gave one electoral vote apiece to the Republican, Democratic and People's parties.

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — John James Allen, 73, a founder of the United States Organization, known to millions of servicemen as the USO — died Tuesday.

He helped found the USO in 1940 while serving as assistant chief of chaplains of the U.S. Army from 1946 to 1957. He was chief of staff of the world organization of the Salvation Army in London.

Woman Driver Offers Excuse for Her Ticket
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A big truck was stopped in the street blocking traffic, so Mrs. Mary C. Tipton stopped her car to call police.

When she returned, her attorney told Police Court Judge Thomas J. Ready, her car had a ticket on it. She was in a loading zone. The judge dismissed the charge.

Anxiety Causes Pain but Hypnosis Will Help
FORT WORTH (UPI) — Pain is about 90 per cent anxiety, says Dr. Oscar Morphis, a radiologist. The X-ray specialist said that since pain comes largely from emotional stress, hypnosis can be helpful in relieving it. He said hypnosis makes the patient more relaxed and confident — before, during and after X-ray treatment.

Finds Easier Way to Bag Pheasants

Rather than go home with an empty bag, a larcenous pheasant hunter got his birds the easy way Monday night in Holly Township.

Mrs. William Fayerweather of 2101 Triumphant Road told sheriff's had raided her pheasant pen the night before. She didn't know yet how many birds were missing. She recalled hearing the dogs bark during the middle of the night but didn't fully awaken, she said.

Joy Paige Malone Weds Indiana Man

Wedding vows of Joy Paige Malone and Luther L. Clyburn Jr. of Evansville, Ind., were exchanged Saturday evening in the presence of 600 guests in Emmanuel Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of the pastor, Dr. Tom Malone, and Mrs. Malone of Dover Road. The son of Luther L. Clyburns of Evansville are parents of the bridegroom.

Assisting Dr. Malone who performed his daughter's nuptial ceremony were Dr. Lawrence Butcher, Dr. Kenneth Fredricks and the Rev. William Fitzwater.

The bridal gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta featured an overskirt of bordered Chantilly lace, with three tiers of finely pleated nylon tulle which swept into a chapel train. Iridescent sequins accented the lace pattern along the scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves.

A crown of crystals caught the fingertip veiling of silk illusion. The full cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis was centered with a white orchid.

Attendants in shrimp organza over taffeta, styled with fitted bodices and triple-tiered skirts were matching organza headpieces with nose veils. They held semicascades of shrimp pink carnations.

Patricia London was maid of

honor with bridesmaids Mrs. Philip Ruschewicz of Wayne and Evelyn Chapel. The bridegroom's sisters Mary and Martha Clyburn were flower girls.

David Sanders of Evansville served as best man, comprising the usher list were Tom Malone II and Steven Clyburn, Clifford

French, Dennis Catlin, William Dinoff and Fred Keen.

For the ceremony and church reception, Mrs. Malone chose sandalwood lace over taffeta, with purple accessories. Mrs. Clyburn appeared in powder blue lace over taffeta. Both mothers wore purple orchids.

Jacquelyn Harmed, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest register at the reception.

Both attended Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C., and Mr. Clyburn is currently enrolled at Midwestern Baptist Seminary.

Niblick Club Lunches at Elks Temple

New officers are Mrs. Kenneth Sprung, president; Mrs. Mack Goodwin, vice president; Mrs. Velmor Lewis, secretary; and Mrs. Clarence Nephier, treasurer.

Committee chairmen appointed were Mrs. Ray Kingsbury, social; Mrs. Robert Kingsbury, golf; Mrs. Arthur Compton, telephone; Mrs. Aaron Fox, flower; and Mrs. Fred Sytz, publicity.

An afternoon of cards followed the business meeting.

COMPARE PRICE AND PROTECTION AND YOU'LL BUY NEW DU PONT Teler NEVER DRAIN ANTI-FREEZE

Complete protection costs less than 2 tanks of gas

To protect most cars requires only $7 to $9 worth of "Teler" and as little as $3 to $5 for compact cars. Because it goes in for keeps, not just for one year, it costs less in the long run.

Du Pont "Teler" never needs draining as long as your car's cooling system is okay. Since "Teler" is added in the usual manner to regular water, you buy only the amount of protection needed. Any make-up occasionally required to replace normal loss is slight. Once "Teler" is installed, you save the bother and expense of draining old anti-freeze and buying a complete refill each year.

"Teler" Never Drain Anti-Freeze and Summer Coolant has exclusive Color Check to let you safely leave it in year after year—in old cars as well as new. See your servicing dealer now.

Battle of 'Elliotts' at 'M' Saturday

MSU Is Happy in Hoosierland

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Michigan State, unofficial defending football champion of Indiana, can keep the title by defeating Purdue Saturday at Ross-Ade Stadium, an up-and-downing local.

Purdue's 14-12 defeat last Saturday by Illinois was the Boilermakers' first loss at home in 13 games. It came about when a Bill Brown of Illinois blocked a conversion attempt by Bernie Allen, an almost automatic kicker, and the Boilermakers tried unsuccessfully to run for two points after their second TD.

Michigan State was the scorer of Hoosierland last fall, beating Notre Dame 19-0, Indiana 14-0 and Purdue 15-0. Purdue was defeated only one other time. This year the Spartans have liked Notre Dame 21-0 and Indiana 25-0.

If Michigan State follows the pattern and blanks Purdue, it will be the first time the Boilermakers have scored less than two touchdowns this season. Their 2-31 overall record has resulted largely from a sometimes porous pass defense rather than lack of offensive strength.

Illinois ran over its two touchdowns but set up both by passing. Purdue simply couldn't match Iowa's speed in a 21-14 defeat the previous week but its other defeat this year, 24-13 at Wisconsin, resulted when it let Ron Miller pass for 203 yards.

Purdue is dangerous when it has the ball, as its 23-points-a-game average shows.

Allen, six-foot senior quarterback from East Liverpool, Ohio, has scored four touchdowns, kicked two field goals and 13 extra points, and passed for three touchdowns. He has completed 37 of 41 passes for an even 400 yards.

Maurice Guttman, quarterback of the alternate unit, has thrown only 24 passes but two of his nine completions went for touchdowns.

Jim Tiller, senior halfback from Fremont, Ohio, is only 5 feet 7 but a fleet runner and excellent pass catcher. He has scored six touchdowns and has a rushing average over three yards. He has caught 15 passes for 180 yards.

Purdue is uncommonly well off at fullback, generally one of its strong positions. Senior Willie Jones has been knocked off about five yards a carry and has scored three touchdowns. Tom Yakubowski, 214-pound sophomore from Adena, Ohio, has been averaging over three yards and has made two touchdowns.

Famed Football Brothers Meet at Alma Mater

Both Former U. of M. Stars Now Opposing Grid Coaches

ANN ARBOR (AP)—By long and circuitous paths, the Elliot brothers have moved toward a dramatic football meeting.

A decade ago, following distinguished athletic careers at Michigan, Bump and Pete Elliot embarked on coaching careers in the footsteps of their father, the late Dr. J. Norman Elliot.

Ever since, they seemingly have been jockeying for the positions in which they find themselves on Saturday — commanding the opposing teams of Michigan and Illinois.

It is fitting that it should take place in Ann Arbor, where for both there are memories of gridiron glory.

It is fitting that some 60,000 fans and a regional television audience should be watching at the second time in football history and the first time in the Big Ten, two brothers meet as opposing head coaches.

It is fitting that their mother, a woman who has lived with football much of her life, should be present.

Although the Elliot boys won their fame in Michigan, their roots are deep in the state of Illinois.

Their father was coach at Illinois Wesleyan in Bloomington for several years, later served as a coach at Northwestern.

Bump, now 35, was a halfback on Michigan's 1947 national championship team. Pete, now 34, was his teammate and the next year quarterbacked the team that repeated as national champion. Together they earned 16 athletic letters.

Both served under Wolverine alumnus Kip Taylor at Oregon State and then parted. Pete went to Oklahoma, then to Nebraska, then to California, where in 1958, he coached a Pacific Coast champion.

Bump was with ex-Wolverine Forest Evashevski at Iowa, returned to his alma mater four years ago and was elevated to head coach last year. Pete left California last year.

COACHING BROTHERS — Pete (left) and Bump Elliot, brothers who won football playing fame at the University of Michigan, will be on opposite sides of the field Saturday when U. of M. meets Illinois at Ann Arbor. Pete is head coach of the Illini and Bump is coaching the Wolverines.

On Football Sheet

Iowa, Minnesota Equal

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The balance sheet of football assets lists more riches for Iowa, but it will take more than a certified public accountant to beat Minnesota Saturday.

The teams meet at Memorial Stadium Saturday before a packed house of some 64,000 who will watch the blue chip struggle of them all in this ancient football rivalry.

Iowa is defending its No. 1 national ranking, Minnesota, No. 3, is trying to take it away. Iowa, 4-0 in the Big Ten, would clinch at least a piece of its third crown.

Iowa has a record of five straight wins in the Hawkeyes will offer:

1. Blistering backfield speed represented by Joe Williams, Sammie Harris, Wilburn Hollis, et al.
2. The momentum of a team that has triumphed against a tough Big Ten schedule than Minnesota has played.
3. A powerfully versatile back in Hollis who could wreck Gopher defenses set up to stop the half-back speedsters.
4. A record of five straight victories over Minnesota, two of them in title-deciding games.
5. A line which may not quite match Minnesota's but which will be the strongest Minnesota has faced so far.
6. A reputation for winning the big ones and the demonstrated shrewdness of coach Forest Evashevski.

Minnesota can counter with:

1. A splendid line that combines size with mobility and drive. Minnesota's No. 1 line has allowed only one touchdown in six games.
2. A fierce rush against the passer that could upset Hollis' option patterns.
3. A record of nearly errorless football against an Iowa record of occasional miscues that could be damaging in a game like this.
4. An unspectacular but reasonably steady offense which makes maximum use of size both up front and in the backfield. Sandy Stephens, Bill Munsey, Rog Hagberg, Jim Rogers and Judge Dickson all are capable Big Ten backs.
5. The all-consuming incentive of atonement for Minnesota flops of the past and the vision of Minnesota's return to the football throne after all these years.
6. They nearly balance. It depends on who keeps the books.

Ancient Horse Wins 1st Jump

But Ireland Takes 2nd Event at International Horse Show

NEW YORK (AP)—An ancient equine greyhound won the first international jump for the United States as the National Horse Show opened an eight-day run in Madison Square Garden Tuesday.

But a few hours later, Ireland won the second international event before a crowd of 8,000 during the evening session.

All told, 14 international jumps are on the schedule. The U. S., which came through handsomely in the Harrisburg and Washington shows the past two weeks, rules the favorite to carry off the majority of the honors.

Trail Guide, 21 years old, captured the West Point Challenge Trophy during the matinee. Father of fact, three of the first four horses were from the U. S. stable.

Frank Chapot was in the saddle and he whipped Trail Guide around the eight-obstacle course without a touch in 33.4 seconds. Nautical, ridden by Hugh Wiley of Towson, Md., was second with a clocking of 35 flat, followed by each Gatten, piloted by L. John Daly of Ireland. His time was 36.4. High Noon, with George Morris of New Canaan, Conn., handling the reins, was fourth with a 36.6 clocking.

Daly and Loch Garmen came back later and captured the Democratic Memorial Challenge Trophy and this time the U. S. riders were shut out.

Titans After 6-Game Streak

From Our Wire Service

Not since 1928, when the University of Detroit ran up a string of 20 straight victories, have the Titans put together six straight victories in a single season.

But Detroit can accomplish this Friday night by defeating Marquette in Titan Stadium in the "Beer Barrel" game.

The Detroit-Marquette rivalry, equals the Villanova series, and is the oldest on the Titan schedule. It is 28 years old.

Back in the mid-twenties when U. of D. was one of the powers of the Midwest, the Titans started their winning streak in the middle of the 1927 season just after losing 6-0 to Army and 20-0 to Notre Dame.

The next game they blasted Michigan State 24-7 and then went on to win the next 19 before Marquette forced the Titans to a 6-6 tie in 1929.

After that they kept winning by whipping West Virginia, Michigan State and Georgetown.

This year after the opening loss to Iowa State, U. of D. has rolled up five straight and is favored to make it six against Marquette.

Sophomore quarterback Jerry Gross who hit on 15 of 22 passes against Quantico last week is again the U. of D. hope.

Gross, the all-state sensation from Bay City Central, was brilliant in his running and passing, since taking over from Bob Lusky who was lost couple weeks ago with a leg injury.

The Marquette game features the battle for the Black Beer Barrel, a souvenir of the famous "mull" city of Wisconsin.

Game time Friday night is 8:15 p.m.

Top Price Is Paid for 2 Race Horses

prices of $60,000 and $41,000 were paid Tuesday for the standardbred racers, King's Meadow and Duke of Decatur, in the second day of the 22nd annual standard-bred horse sale here.

In all, 225 horses changed owners at a total of $817,700, by far the highest second day business in the history of the auction. Last year's second day sales amounted to $462,350. The opening day Monday had been below expectations.

Canadians Adrian and Gerard Miron of Montreal paid the top price for King's Meadow, a two-minute performer consigned by S. A. Camp of Shafter, Calif. The brothers also paid the second top price for the Duke of Decatur, another major stakes winner on the trotting circuit this year. It was consigned by Meadowland Farms, Washington, Pa.

Pompey Disqualified

LONDON (AP)—Yolande Pompey of Trinidad was disqualified for hitting low in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round light-heavyweight bout against London's Gerry McNally Tuesday night.

Coaches Seem to Like Wild Card Playing

KNOXVILLE (AP)—College football's wild card substitution rule apparently has received the overwhelming approval of coaches and fans alike, the chairman of the Rules Committee said today.

Gen. Robert R. Neyland, University of Tennessee athletic director and head of the NCAA Football Rules Committee, said he had heard nothing but praise for the rule.

"Everybody I've talked to, both fans and coaches, say they like the wild card rule," Neyland declared. "It definitely has speeded up the college game, and I think has made it more interesting."

The rule allows a coach to send in one player between plays without taking a time out or a penalty.

Kuenn Becomes First Indian to Sign Pact

CLEVELAND (AP)—The first Cleveland Indian player to sign for the 1961 season also is one of the club's highest salaried ones—right fielder Harvey Kuenn.

General Manager Frank Lane said he came to terms with Kuenn at a pension committee meeting in the signing today. Lane did not disclose terms but referred to the outfielder's pay as among the highest in the American League.

Nevadans in Detroit to Pick Up Industry

DETROIT (AP) — A group of Nevadans, headed by Gov. Grant Sawyer, was to arrive in Detroit today on an industry-seeking expedition.

Sawyer said the group was part of "a campaign designed to interest expanding industries in the country in the advantages Nevada has to offer."

He said these advantages would include:

- "He'll have his Day . . . Er, Days in Court"
- HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Woodrow Ashworth, 46, angered at being brought into court for trial on his 114 parking tickets, demanded a separate hearing on each one.
- Judge Joseph Harris agreed and scheduled one trial per week with the last set for April 1963.
- "He'll have many busy days in court," Harris said severely.

A MESSAGE FROM AFAR — Students from Stanford University's branch campus in Florence, Italy, dressed as tourists, climbed the Leaning Tower of Pisa on Oct. 22 to hang an 80-foot banner from the tower top. They wanted to tell the world in six-foot letters of Stanford's hopes in the forthcoming annual football game with the University of California. Guards on duty at the tower took a dim view of the maneuver until they found it had nothing to do with the Italian elections on Nov. 6. This picture was mailed to Stanford University in Stanford, Calif.

Castro Ticklish Issue for Cautious Britons

LONDON (UPI) — Britain, between Cuba and the United States, has been the growing tension between the United States and Cuba with concern.

There has been no official comment on the crisis, but the British appear anxious not to become embroiled.

When the operating funds of some British insurance companies working in Cuba through local agencies were frozen a couple of weeks ago, the foreign office here took pains to point out that there was no reason to believe the move was deliberately anti-British.

Negotiations were opened to get the cash about $1 million freed, and officials here expressed confidence they would be successful.

The authoritative Times of London has also given a clue to the British attitude. It said in an editorial last week "There are still a great many countries which do not view the Castro regime with the same alarm as does the United States."

The Times expressed sympathy for the United States position, and understanding of the decision to sever trade ties, but doubted if this would have the desired effect of forcing Castro from power.

It warned "the economic break

October Road Death Toll Worst in 2 Years

EAST LANSING (AP) — October's record of 161 traffic fatalities was the worst in two years, the state police announced Tuesday.

The month was climaxed by the last weekend's record of 32 deaths — one of the worst in history.

Police say delayed deaths may push the total well above the 165 killed in November 1958 or the 169 killed in September 1956.

Thirty-six more people were killed this October than in October 1959, and the 10-month toll of 1,266 is 8.4 per cent higher than the same period last year.

Ninety-eight more have been killed so far this year than in 1959.

U.S. and Russia Get Along Fine — Seal Hunting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and the Soviet Union are getting along fine when it comes to seal hunting despite their other international differences.

The fisheries and wildlife office of the State Department said today Russia is "playing fair and square" in honoring the North Pacific ban inspection and other cific seal harvest treaty with the United States, Japan and Great Britain.

In addition, a spokesman said, Russia and the United States have successfully completed an exchange of scientific observers who inspected each other's seal herds.

Fisheries and wildlife officials in the State Department declined to suggest that they are setting feelings just fine. Both plan to vote at their diplomatic next Tuesday. They were married 81 years ago.

MOUNTAIN PARK, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. W. A. Fullington was 100 Tuesday. There was no party because she has been ill, but her husband, 105 last July, said he to suggest that they are setting feelings just fine. Both plan to vote at their diplomatic next Tuesday. They were married 81 years ago.

URBAN ECONOMICS—A family of four living in Chicago or Seattle must spend about 5 per cent more than a similar family in Washington, D. C., to have the same level of living. On the other hand, living costs are 10 per cent lower in Houston than in the nation's capital. As Newburgh shows, prices for goods, rents and services are sometimes more and sometimes less than total cost of living. The totals are based on a typical city worker's family budget and include such things as taxes and insurance. Data from National Industrial Conference Board.

Two Highway Projects Announced for Spring

Papers Quote Prestige Survey

NY Times, Washington Post Print Reports Labeled Secret

NEW YORK (AP)—Two newspapers today quoted from a secret government summary which is said to report that United States prestige in the world has been slipping in comparison with that of the Soviet Union.

Both papers identified the document as the one, dated Aug. 28, which first was disclosed by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The New York Times said the survey of world opinion showed "a decline in United States standing relative to the Soviet Union" and found the decline in prestige was "a continuing and accelerating trend."

The Times said it had obtained "pertinent parts of the report, which is labeled 'secret.'"

The Washington Post said the summary "supports other reports that U.S. prestige has been going down while the Soviet Union's has been going up."

The Post said it obtained a copy of the summary, which Fulbright and Sen. John F. Kennedy have been seeking for weeks.

The summary, said to have been prepared by the U.S. Information Agency, has become an issue in the presidential campaign.

Kennedy contends U.S. prestige has been slipping. Vice President Richard M. Nixon contends American prestige abroad has never been higher.

The Times has endorsed Kennedy for president. The Post has not made an endorsement.

Trade Schools Booklet Lists Approved Ones

LANSING (AP)—The attorney general's office and State Department of Public Instruction have issued a booklet listing all the private trade and business schools licensed or approved by the state.

The two state departments said the booklet was aimed at helping local chambers of commerce and Better Business Bureaus to act against so-called "diploma mills" and educational frauds.

SPEEDY MAIL—Alas, poor airmail, we know it well. But the device shown with Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield could someday make current forms of mail as obsolete as the pony express. Summerfield pushed a button Tuesday in Washington to inaugurate speed mail. The process can deliver first-class mail across the country in a matter of seconds.

Bagwell Berates Swainson on Taxes

EN ROUTE WITH BAGWELL—Paul D. Bagwell campaigned across Lower Michigan today with high hopes of scoring a victory in the governor's race and a low opinion of his opponent's position on Michigan taxes.

The Republican nominee began another long day of rounding up votes with a pre-dawn handshaking session at the Fisher Body factory gate in Grand Rapids.

He scheduled stops at Plainfield, Kalamazoo, Jackson, Ann Arbor and Detroit.

Accusing his rival of taking orders from leaders, Bagwell said Swainson should be able to make up his own mind.

"He should be able to take stands and show the courage of his convictions," Bagwell asserted. "Today, he shows all the political courage of Casper Milquetoast."

The 47-year-old former Michigan State University speech professor spent most of Tuesday pumping the hands of small groups of people in generally Democratic Muskegon and near-by Whitehall and Montague, home of 1961's Miss America, Nancy Anne Fleming.

Despite a persistent chilly rain, he toured drug stores, restaurants, an aluminum foundry and a post-office, asking clerks, managers and customers to vote for him.

Most said yes.

Most indicated they would. During the day he was accompanied by two members of his state ticket, John V. Clements of Bangor, running for auditor general, and David E. Culbertson, mayor of Huntington Woods, nominee for treasurer.

Truman's reference to the dog apparently went back to the 1952 campaign when Nixon, replying to charges that he had accepted gifts while in Congress, said the only gift he had accepted was his dog, "Checkers."

GOP Concedes to Kennedy (on Sex Appeal)

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign director has conceded an edge to Sen. John F. Kennedy—in sex appeal.

In a television interview Robert Finch, director of the Nixon-Lodge campaign, said in answer to a question about the "personality factor."

"We'll certainly concede the edge to Sen. Kennedy in sex appeal. But I tend to think that the American people have enough basic maturity, enough honest sophistication to know that the most president—the leader of the whole free world—isn't going to stand up to Khrushchev on the basis of his glangular appeal."

Says Dick's Caught With Planks Down

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Democratic vice-presidential hopeful, said today that Vice President Richard M. Nixon "finds himself with his planks down and his issues nonexistent."

The Texas senator said the Republican candidate's "search for an issue" was "one of the more amusing aspects" of the closing days of the campaign.

Homemaking 'Dedrudgerizing' Course Offered

Homemakers can learn how to take the drudgery out of housework today and Friday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Registration is still open for the "Heart of the Home" work-simplification classes to be given today and Friday from 1:30 to 4:30 at the hospital.

The classes are free and open to anyone. They are financed by the Michigan Heart Association, a Pontiac Area United Fund Agency.
