McCarthy Again Shuns Efforts to Set Up 4th Party

By The Associated Press

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says he will not become a fourth-party candidate and will not join the effort to organize a fourth-party drive.

McCarthy, who has said he might support such a drive if its programs and leaders were acceptable, reiterated refusal to directly participate with a statement yesterday in Washington.

But the New-Reform Party of Montana ignored the statement and nominated the unsuccessful contender for the Democratic nomination as its presidential candidate.

Marcus G. Raskin, whose New Party hopes to get on the ballot in 25 states, predicted over the weekend that several state groups would put McCarthy's name on the ballot whether he wanted it there or not.

RESPONDS TO SUPPORTERS

McCarthy said he would deny official approval in those states requiring it to put his name on the ballot, but said he would try to "respond" to the wishes of supporters in states that do not require official approval.

He urged his supporters to work instead for the election of senators who agree with his opposition to Vietnam war policy and his stand on domestic priorities.

McCarthy said he has asked that his name be withdrawn in Iowa where he said it "would have little bearing on the outcome of the national election" and might hurt Gov. Harold Hughes' Democratic Senate campaign.

A top supporter of McCarthy's Democratic bid — former Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell — said meanwhile he will now support the party's nominee, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Humphrey formally kicks off his Democratic presidential campaign Monday in Philadelphia. He planned to interrupt strategy sessions at Waverly, Minn., today to return to Washington for a National Security Council meeting.

Humphrey's running mate, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said yesterday Wallace's third-party campaign is a greater threat to the Republicans than the Democrats. Wallace and Nixon, Muskie said, "are competing for the same votes."

Aid Airlift to Biafra Gets Nigeria's OK

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—The Red Cross begins an accelerated airlift of food and medicine into besieged Biafra tomorrow, following an agreement with the government permitting daytime flights for a 10-day period.

Meanwhile, Lagos said its troops were battling for control of two of the rebels' three remaining towns.

The federal Ministry of Information announced the airlift agreement with the International Red Cross Committee yesterday.

The Red Cross and other private groups have been flying emergency supplies to two Biafran airstrips at night, but the amount of food they have been able to deliver is negligible.

U.S. Set to Pledge It Won't Cut Level of Force in Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is willing to pledge, along with its NATO allies, to maintain current troop levels in Europe as one way to meet the new Soviet threat, administration sources say.

The sources say the issuing of such a pledge probably would be done in a joint statement.

They said this was among alternatives before the National Security Council (NSC) at a meeting today called to chart policy toward the Soviet presence in Czechoslovakia, which points like a dagger at the heart of free Europe.

President Johnson called the late afternoon session with his top military, defense and diplomatic aides earlier in the week while winding up a long stay at his ranch in Texas. He returned to Washington today.

The session parallels a similar review now going on in the inner chambers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at Brussels.

HOPES FOR UNITY

Decisions made here will be transmitted to the U.S. contingent at NATO with the hope it will spur unity in any military or diplomatic retrenchment to meet the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia and what some consider threatening gestures toward Romania.

Czechoslovakia now harbors an estimated 200,000 elite Red invasion troops and appears to be causing the most concern.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was described yesterday as accepting the word of Russian Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin that his country does not plan to invade Romania.

Fresh reports of a troop buildup along that nation's borders, however, prompted President Johnson last week to beam straight at Moscow a speech that warned it "not to unleash the dogs of war." And the subject was on the table before the NSC.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Although officials are reluctant to predict what the council will decide, they acknowledged that the United States would be agreeable to issuing a joint statement with its allies pledging no further reductions of forces in Europe.

Regarding American forces in Europe it is now clear that congressional requests for troop reductions can be shelved, the officials said.

Most of the 34,000 men to be redeployed and stationed in the United States, though committed to NATO, under terms of a 1967 agreement, are back in this country, but officials indicated that the Defense Department might announce soon when in 1969 the men would be sent back for maneuvers in West Germany.

Lack of Quorum Puts Off Senate Debate on Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP) — A quorum failed to show up today for a meeting of the Senate Judiciary Committee, preventing any move to win approval of Abe Fortas' nomination to be chief justice.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he was unable to say when he would attempt to have another meeting.

Eastland told newsmen he will vote against reporting the nomination to the Senate and also will vote against confirmation if President Johnson's appointment of Fortas to succeed Earl Warren is brought up in the Senate.

Eastland's opposition was not unexpected, but he previously has refrained from taking a stand publicly.

HART ABSENT

Only five of the Judiciary Committee's 16 members appeared for the meeting. A majority is necessary to make a quorum.

Among the absentees was Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who said yesterday that he would try to get the Fortas nomination out of the committee at today's meeting.

Eastland said Hart had told him he was going to a meeting of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence but would be only about 15 minutes late for the Judiciary Committee session.

After waiting an additional 20 minutes, Eastland abandoned the effort to get a quorum and announced cancellation of the committee meeting.

STAG FILMS

Sen. John L. McClellan, setting the stage for today's resumption of Senate Judiciary Committee debate on the nomination, showed three stag party films yesterday to staff aides of non-committee senators.

The Arkansas Democrat, presumably trying to drum up support for opposition to Fortas outside the committee, called the films "degrading."

Fortas, as an associate justice, voted with the majority that found two of the films not to be pornography. The vote became a major point in opponents' arguments just before Congress broke Aug. 3 for the political conventions.

Less obvious as Congress returns to work is the impact on the controversy of Richard M. Nixon's nomination as Republican presidential candidate.

Nixon was one of the earliest to say Johnson should make no nominations until after the election. There have been predictions that his selection as GOP standard bearer will blunt some support of Fortas from Republican senators now more interested in party unity.

"The three films are degrading. And if they are protected under the free-speech clause of the Constitution, there is no kind of pornography that is unconstitutional," McClellan told a reporter.

This is only one issue raised by opponents. But Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and other supporters of Fortas' nomination have said that it could prove the most troublesome.

Senate Probers Criticize Army for M16 Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate investigating subcommittee today charged the Army with "a most inept performance" in awarding contracts to accelerate production of the M16 rifle.

While it will not attempt to undo decisions already taken, the subcommittee said, "this should be the last time that any defense agency conducts a procurement in such an awkward, unreasonable manner."

The five-member unit of the Senate Armed Services Committee commented in a final report on a long investigation of Army contract awards for a sharp increase in M16 production to meet Vietnam needs.

The contracts were awarded to General Motors Corp. and Harrington & Richardson, without competitive bidding.

LOWER PRICES

The subcommittee said two other companies—Maremont Corp. of Saco, Maine, and Cadillac Gage of Warren, Mich. — were prepared to submit lower prices than those of the winners.

The subcommittee said that General Motors and Harrington & Richardson had each received orders for 240,000 rifles at ceiling prices of $56.3 million and $41.5 million, respectively.

Maremont testified during hearings it was prepared to bid $36.5 million. The report cited testimony to a House subcommittee that Cadillac Gage had set a price of $36.8 million.

GTW Operations Normal as 40 Engineers Return

Grand Trunk Western Railroad operations in Pontiac were back to normal today with the return of 40 engineers to their jobs.

The engineers failed to report to work yesterday in a dispute with the company over the relocation of their wash-up and locker facilities.

A court order calling for a halt to the work stoppage was issued yesterday morning by Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

In issuing a temporary injunction against the members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Local 920, Moore scheduled a hearing for 9 a.m. tomorrow to receive further information on a permanent injunction against the union.

EXPECT TO CLEAR BACKLOG

A spokesman said that the backlog of freight created by the wildcat strike was expected to be cleared up today.

He said that neither commuter service nor passenger trains were interrupted by the work stoppage.

The strike was unauthorized by the union, according to Orville P. Convis, general manager of the union.

The railroad spokesman said that the men agreed to return to work following all-day sessions between the company and the union and that there will be no reprisals or disciplinary measures taken.

Showers May Cap Today's High 80s

Today's sunny skies are expected to become cloudy this afternoon with showers and thundershowers moving in tonight and tomorrow.

Temperatures, in the high 80s today, will turn cooler late tomorrow. Fair and cool is the outlook for Friday. Tonight's low will be 62 to 66.

Southerly morning winds at 10 to 18 miles per hour will continue through the day.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 30, tonight 50, tomorrow 60.

The low prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 63. By 2 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 84.

89 Dead in Crash of Bulgarian Plane

VIENNA, Austria (AP)— An official of the Bulgarian airline Bulair said today an Ilyushin 18 airliner of the company crashed at Burgos, Bulgaria, last night, and 82 passengers and seven crew members were killed.

The official, reached by telephone from Vienna, said he did not know the nationalities of the crash victims. He added an official government announcement would be made later.

Bus Crisis Meeting Called

With the city faced with losing its bus service this month, Pontiac City Commissioners will meet Monday with an official of the Pontiac Transit Corp., in an effort to resolve the looming crisis.

The transportation firm has informed the city that it intends to terminate its service by Sept. 30.

The commission has informally considered several alternative proposals offered by the bus firm for the city to purchase or lease the transit system, but has taken no action.

Under the proposals, the city would hire the Pontiac Transit Corp. to manage the bus system at a fee of 6 per cent of the gross profits.

$100,000 A YEAR

City Manager Joseph A. Warren has told commissioners that the alternative solutions will cost the city an estimated $80,000 to $100,000 annually.

Presently, the city subsidizes the company with an annual $35,000 allocation because of the claim that the bus system operates at a loss in the city.

Meeting with commissioners at the 7:30 p.m. session next week will be Kenneth Totten, regional manager for the American Transit Co. which operates the bus system in Pontiac.

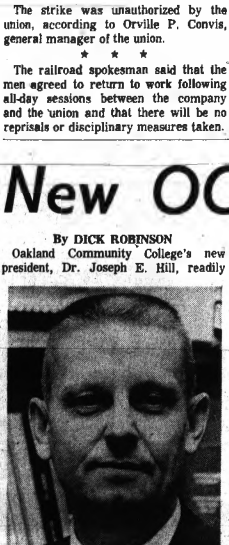
Pontiac Board of Education President Monroe Osmun and Superintendent Dana Whitmer will be invited to the meeting.

City commissioners feel the school board should be interested because of the large number of students who use the bus service.

New OCC Head Has a Problem

By DICK ROBINSON

Oakland Community College's new president, Dr. Joseph E. Hill, readily admits he has a communication problem.



Dr. JOSEPH E. HILL

It's that old problem of a mathematician trying to relate to a lay person without using too much educational or technical jargon.

His conversation is frequently colored with such terms as qualitative symbols, theoretical symbols, inputs, outputs and other jargon of systems analysis — a study of a part as related to the whole.

'NO REPORTER'

"Let's face it. I'd never make a newspaper reporter," he admits.

But to help alleviate this communications gap, he is willing to work at length to explain himself.

ESTIMATES SALARY

Hill, one of some 20 candidates for the job, said he has not signed a contract yet, but he expects his salary will be about $27,000. Tirrell was paid $32,000.

Hill said the one-year contract probably will provide for a free automobile and insurance fringes but not the use of the 10-room presidential home on the administrative office grounds.

That is to be occupied by the Tirrell family until one of the boys finishes high school next June.

'MUST REACH DISADVANTAGED'

He said he hopes to get away from his job as associate dean for graduate studies at Wayne State University most every afternoon this month to work at OCC.

One of the first things he has to say about the college is that it has to reach out to all segments of people in the county.

"We have to reach the disadvantaged people, both black and white, in such areas as Pontiac, Royal Oak Township, Madison Heights and Hazel Park," he explained.

VC Shell City; 4 Aircraft Down

SAIGON (AP) — Vietcong gunners shelled another major South Vietnamese city today, and the U.S. Command reported three American helicopters and a fighter-bomber shot down in the South. But a general lull in sustained fighting continued into a fifth day.

Two of the aircraft, a $2-million Air Force F4 Phantom and an Army helicopter, were downed three miles from the Cambodian border yesterday, but all six crewmen were rescued. The Phantom was supporting allied infantrymen northwest of Tay Ninh, and the helicopter was shot down as it tried to rescue the Phantom's two crewmen. Two other helicopters completed the rescue.

Ground fire brought down another chopper in the central highlands, near An Khe. One crewman was injured and the helicopter was destroyed.

The third helicopter was shot down on a combat assault mission 15 miles southwest of Saigon. Three crewmen were killed and a fourth wounded. This was in the same general area where American infantrymen clashed late Tuesday with an enemy force of unknown size. Fourteen of the enemy and four Americans were killed and 22 Americans were wounded.

833 COPTERS DOWNED

A total of 833 American helicopters now have been downed in combat in South Vietnam during the war, while the Phantom was the 300th fighter-bomber downed in combat in South Vietnam.

Nha Trang, headquarters of the U.S. 1st Field Force 200 miles northeast of Saigon, was the major city shelled by mortars and recoilless rifles early today; a Vietnamese policeman was killed and 21 civilians and 17 allied soldiers were wounded.

The attack continued a pattern of the last few days in which the Vietcong have reverted to long-distance attack with mortars and rockets after suffering heavy losses in two weeks of ground assaults.

Ranger casualties were reported light.

Mansfield Eyes Congress Load

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says Congress has about four weeks to clean up legislation which includes such emotional issues as gun control, foreign aid and President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations.

Mansfield said yesterday on the eve of Congress' return from a month-long recess that by October campaigning will probably lure away congressmen necessary for quorums in the chambers.

Mansfield said Congress could recess and return in November. But he added that another extra session could possibly affect only the Senate, which is confronted by President Johnson's nomination of Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice of the Supreme Court and by the nuclear nonproliferation treaty whose future is clouded by Soviet moves in East Europe.

Nothing major is scheduled for call-up this week in either the House or the Senate.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

Major unfinished business in both branches on which some action is likely includes a $72.7-billion measure for the Defense Department and probably a record low $1.96-billion foreign aid bill, control of interstate sales of shotguns and rifles, aid to education, extension of the basic farm programs, congressional reorganization and possibly some changes in election laws.

Featured is a floor-mounted three-speed manual transmission, a standard 232-cubic-inch displacement, six-cylinder engine or optional 290-cubic-inch, two-barrel V8 engine. New styling includes a bulls-eye motif grille and trim treatment. Extensive use of wood-grain applique is available in the Javelin SST model along with a two-color side rally stripe and mag-style wheels. Area dealers include: Village Rambler, 656 S. Woodward, Birmingham; Hahn Chrysler Plymouth, 6673 Dixie, Independence Township; Rose Rambler Jeep Sales, 8145 Commerce, Commerce Township; Johnson-Russ Motor Sales, 89 M24, Orion Township; and Peterson and Son Rambler, 138 W. Genesee, Lapeer.

Birmingham

Sewer, Water Service Rates Hiked 30 Pct.

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission approved a 30 per cent increase in sewer and water service rates at its meeting last night.

In a letter to the commission, A. P. Blethen, superintendent of the Department of Public Works, said, "Although no monetary loss has been experienced in the installation of sewer and water services since the last change in rates, trench maintenance costs have greatly exceeded funds allocated for this purpose."

"The labor charge-out rate was recently increased," said Blethen, "from $4.90 to $6.40 or 30.6 per cent."

RECOMMENDATION

He recommended the increase in present rates — "both to the total and to the amount allotted for trench maintenance."

The library board will be asked for more specifics. The object will be to determine "more specifically" the desires of the board and to take into account possible remodeling.

"A project this size has to be deferred until budget time," the spokesman explained.

NO INTEREST

In other action, the commission passed a resolution stating that it has no intention of purchasing property at the southeast corner of Maple and Southfield for any public purpose.

It was reportedly felt by the board that the best use would be by private enterprise.

PAUF Division Readies Kickoff of Drive Tuesday

SWIFT

Advance gifts chairman Charles Woodhead has announced five assistants who will help head this year's team.

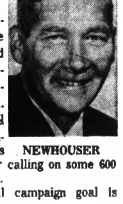
They are Edgar Swift, marketing superintendent of Consumers Power Co.; Carleton G. Patterson Jr. of Thatcher-Patterson, Inc.; Dr. Kenneth Vandenberg; Gene Stanley, president of Gaukler Storage Co.; and Harold Newhouser of Community National Bank.

VANDENBERG

STANLEY

Team goal is $118,324, which is 10 per cent more than the amount raised by the division in 1967.



NEWHOUSER

Some 125 volunteer solicitors are expected to attend the breakfast, sponsored by Community National Bank. Those attending will receive assignments, materials and instructions for calling on some 600 major contributors.

Bank Robbers Elude Police in a Speedboat

NEW YORK (AP) — Using a speedboat called Cheetah, three gunmen eluded a small armada of police boats and aircraft on Long Island Sound yesterday after taking possibly as much as $70,000 from a City Island bank, police said.

The unusual getaway vehicle was found abandoned almost five hours later but police did capture a man they said had helped plan the spectacular robbery.

Police said that two armed men invaded the bank, about 1 p.m., and one forced bank personnel and customers to lie on the floor while the other cleaned from $40,000 to $70,000 from the tellers' drawers.

A spokesman for the Manufacturers' Hanover Trust Co. branch said the men disarmed a guard but a teller, seeing the rifle carried by one robber, activated the alarm system and movie cameras.

AUDIT PENDING

Bank officials put the amount taken at $30,000 pending an audit.

The two men, one wearing a ski mask and the other carrying a bolt-action shotgun, fled from the bank to the waiting outboard motorboat, in a yellow panel truck which was reported stolen last month.

The gunmen transferred to the boat at a nearby mooring. Witnesses reported they saw the boat's name as it churned away from the pier. They incorrectly reported the boat was blue and white, police said.

A police helicopter, nine police launches, a Coast Guard launch and a Coast Guard cutter spent several hours stopping and searching blue and white pleasure boats in the area before the boat's description was corrected. It was red and white.

OWNER SOUGHT

The boat was finally found moored about 200 yards offshore in Weir Creek, a branch of Eastchester Bay, near the Throgs Neck Bridge.

Police said they had discovered the name of the boat's owner and were searching for him. It had been purchased last month in Putnam Valley, N. Y.

The suspect arrested last night was described as an unemployed computer operator named Dennis Geaney, 25, of the Bronx.

Iranian Rulers Fly to Inspect Quake Damage

By the Associated Press

The Shah and Empress of Iran flew to northeast Iran today to inspect the devastation of the weekend earthquakes that killed 11,000 of their people.

Some 1,400 miles to the west of Iran's stricken area, Turkish officials said 15 persons were killed Tuesday and some 200 were injured in an earthquake that jolted towns on the Black Sea east of Istanbul.

Iran's rulers were to visit the hardest-hit villages including Khezri, Mim and Kakhk. In Kakhk alone, some 6,000 persons died.

Relief officials said there had been no reports of epidemics in the shattered towns but that large quantities of disinfectant, vaccine and sterilized water were being taken to the stricken area.

ABANDON RECOVERY EFFORTS

Premier Amir Abass Hoveida said rescuers had abandoned attempts to recover more bodies because of the danger of epidemics. He ordered ruins leveled by bulldozers, burying the unrecovered dead in the rubble.

He said homes in the area would eventually be rebuilt, using steel beams and heavy bricks instead of the traditional mud and wood.

The Iranian Embassy in London appealed for money, tents and blankets to help the estimated 100,000 persons made homeless by the quakes. Oxfam, a British volunteer relief agency, said it was ready to fly in more than a ton of blankets.

The U.S. State Department said Ambassador Armin Meyer in Tehran was authorized to release $25,000 for medical and other aid for quake victims. The U.S. relief agency CARE said it had made several thousand packages of food available for the homeless.

AMERICANS SAFE

Six Peace Corps workers at Marshed, 100 miles south of the area of greatest damage, were reported safe. They were the only Americans known to be in the area.

In Turkey, the Red Crescent (Red Cross) sent some 2,000 tents, foodstuffs, blankets and a field kitchen to the quake area 200 miles east of Istanbul.

McKeithen Drops Support of VP

By the Associated Press

The decision of Gov. John McKeithen of Louisiana to withdraw his support for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has not signaled a general bolt by Democratic leaders in the South.

Those who have opposed Humphrey all along will oppose him still. Those who have backed him in the past are standing firm.

However, the governors of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Georgia either have said outright or have indicated they would not support the vice president.

ALMOST A CERTAINTY

Govs. Lester Maddox of Georgia, Albert Brewer of Alabama and John Bell Williams of Mississippi — though none has said so officially — are almost sure to back independent candidate George C. Wallace.

McKeithen said in Baton Rouge yesterday that he could not in good conscience support Humphrey because of policy differences.

One of the main differences, McKeithen said, was their respective opinions of U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren. McKeithen said Humphrey approved of Warren while he did not.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Showers are forecast for tonight from the Great Lakes through the Ohio and Mississippi valleys to the Gulf coastal states and westward into the southern plains. It will be warmer in the northern and central Rockies and cooler in the central and southern plains.

Correction

Because of an error in supplying The Press with the picture, the picture published was that of Ernest Johnson of 104 Perkins. Johnson wasn't connected with the armed robbery. The Press regrets the error.

Power Failure Hits 1,000 City Homes

About 1,000 Pontiac homes were without power for one hour and 50 minutes last night after two Consumers Power wires burned.

The blackout started at 9:45 p.m. when a truck struck a Michigan Bell guy wire in the GMC Truck Sales lot at Oakland and Montcalm. When the guy wire broke, the Consumers Power poles shook and the 4,800-volt primary conductors touched and burned.

The blacked-out area was generally north of Oakland and Adelaide and west of Baldwin. The Pontiac State Hospital also was affected.

Service was restored about 11:35 p.m.

Another Quits Controversial Addison Planning Unit

By JEAN SAILE

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — This township's controversial planning commission lost another member last night with the resignation of Harvey H. Acheson of 5465½ Hosner.

Acheson, a 10-year member of the previous zoning board, submitted a letter of resignation at the township board meeting, describing his fellow commission members as "in my view having the same opinion as the township board."

He charged it made the planning commission "highly inoperative".

Dr. George Licke of 250 Ridgemont was named to succeed him.

HEATED LETTER

Earlier this summer Richard Young, former chairman of the group, resigned in a heated letter to the board and Robert C. Wilson of Brewer Road was named in his stead.

The commission is currently chairmaned by Dr. Robert C. Small, who last night engaged in several heated exchanges with some of the 20-member audience present for the township board meeting.

He defended the commission's recommendation to institute a flat $100 application fee for all rezoning requests with an additional $5 charge per acre for all land involved after the first acre.

Mrs. Grace Kurschat, township clerk and a member of the planning group, explained that if the application were denied any money over the $100 remaining after expenses would be returned to the applicant.

Small called the fee reasonable in comparison with charges made by other townships. He noted that in the past the township has rezoned at no charge if the matter were handled at a regular meeting. The fee for rezoning at a special meeting previously was $60, he said.

Reports that the township might be called on to pay as high as $20,000 for a land-use plan prompted questioning of a recommendation to hire a planning consultant.

Small and Mrs. Kurschat emphasized that no contract was being offered and that the consultant would work only on an on-call basis. His charge for regular work would be $25 an hour, they said.

The township board voted to retain (without a contract) Joseph Gerak of Birmingham as planning consultant. He reportedly was one of three applicants interviewed by the board.

The plan, as explained by Mrs. Kurschat, is for the commission to do much of the work itself and to avoid costly survey fees for the whole township. Gerak would be called in only to advise.

A suit pending against the township brought by former Supervisor Billy Van Arsdel over a rezoning matter, was pointed out as being an instance where the services of a consultant would be useful.

Spokesmen for the commission emphasized that no land-use study is planned at present but if one develops, Dr. Small noted that the federal government might pay as much as three-quarters of the cost.

The establishment of a deductible tax fund for the commission was approved.

BACKING ASKED

Dr. Oscar Roos of the Lakeville Homeowners Association asked for board backing in an attempt to prevent construction of a State Highway Department roadside park on Lakeville Road.

Dr. Roos said some nine acres on Rt. 150 at Lakeville Lake are being contemplated for such a purpose.

"Most residents figure we've got enough nuisances with boat traffic on the weekends. We're getting up a petition against it," he said.

Harvey Wilds, chairman of the township's Why Have Awful Roads (WHAR) committee, reported on the widening of two intersections along Pond Road. He said the work was done at no cost to the county road commission.

GARBAGE DUMPING

Wilds also asked where residents of the township were to dump garbage since the closing of the Curtis Road dump.

* * *

He was informed that a public dump on Dryden Road a mile east of Metamora would accept township refuse.

Farmington Discusses Relief of Flooding in Subdivision

FARMINGTON — Action at last night's City Council meeting centered on a progress report from City Manager John Dinan on the relief of flooding conditions in the Bel Aire Subdivision.

About 30 residents of the subdivision, located near 10 Mile and Broadview, were on hand along with about 15 residents of the Alta-Loma Subdivision.

Several residents of the Bel Aire Subdivision complained of backed up sanitary sewer systems during recent storms which flooded their basements with up to two feet of water.

They attributed the flooding to inadequate drainage systems.

FOR PAST 13 YEARS?

One or two people complained that unsatisfactory drainage has caused floods in their basements and yards periodically for the past 13 years.

Robert Witt of 31528 Marblehead presented the council with a petition signed by 296 residents of the Bel Aire Subdivision requesting the city take action to alleviate sewers backing up.

Dinan explained the area has separate storm and sewer drainage and that flooding is caused when surface water overflows into the sewer system.

The council called for a comprehensive engineering study to be made of the area to be completed within 60 days. The council will report progress to residents at council meetings.

DITCHING WORK

The city council also voted last night to contact the Oakland County Road Commission regarding the improvement of the ditching on 10 Mile between Tower and Broadview.

In other council action, it was decided to award the bid for constructing curb and gutter on Moore to the Barthel Contracting Co. for $8,250.

Dinan said construction will begin next week. Cost for property owners would be about $3.50 per linear foot.

The council discussed the granting of emergency powers to the mayor during civil disturbances. Councilman Howard W. Thayer suggested calling an emergency council session instead of giving emergency powers to the mayor. The matter was tabled for the second time pending further study.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

Sticking to a packed agenda, the council accepted the resignation of Ralph D. Yoder from the City Beautification Committee.

The council accepted the resignation of City Treasurer Mrs. Kathryn D. Cotter, effective Nov. 17. Mrs. Winona Woods was then approved as the new city treasurer. She will begin serving as deputy treasurer on Sept. 23 and take over duties of city treasurer Nov. 18.

Mrs. Woods is the general manager and former editor of the Farmington Enterprise.

A request from the Veterans of World War I asking permission to sell apple blossoms on Sept. 20 was also approved by the council.

Open Housing Stalled in Shelby

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — The Township Board reviewed a proposed fair-housing ordinance last night and deferred action pending an attorney's opinion.

The ordinance proposed by the Shelby Human Relations Committee, drew some "neutral discussion," according to township Supervisor Kirby Holmes.

The board is expected to take definite action on the ordinance Sept. 17.

"It's hard to tell how the board will act on this," explained Holmes.

VOTE POSSIBLE

If the board first turns it down, we might stick the ordinance on our ballot," he said, even though the Avon Township Board took their ordinance off the ballot.

Avon Township moved to put a similar ordinance on its ballot in July but reversed that decision following "much confusion," according to township officials.

A Detroit District Court ruled in August that the city could not put a fair-housing ordinance on its ballot.

The Shelby Township Board took no other action last night, Holmes said.

CUTTING ACROSS — A gas line snakes its way across Addison Township — one of three utility pipelines reportedly to be built in the area. Its presence caused township board members last night to seek an ordinance to control such installations.

Teachers Reject Pact but Return

Teachers in the Huron Valley School District reported back to their classrooms today even though they overwhelmingly voted down a proposed two-year contract yesterday said Gerald B. Kratz, the district's administrative assistant.

Kratz said the Huron Valley Education Association has elected Mrs. Harold Meagher as its new president.

The board of education approved the contract in July and expected teacher approval yesterday.

Minimum and maximum salaries for the first year of the contract are: B. A., $6,900-$9,821; M. A., $7,762-$11,048; specialist degree, $8,731-$12,428. The maximum for all degrees can be attained after nine years.

Township to Mull Sewer-Water Rates

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The adoption of a rate schedule and operating ordinance for the township sewer and water departments will be considered in the next few weeks.

The Township Board, meeting last night, recognized the need in light of construction of the Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor which is under way at the eastern end of the county.

As proposed at public meetings last winter, the township expects to charge a home owner $350 capital sewer fee, $1,150 lateral benefit fee and $15 inspection costs besides the cost of connecting the sewer from the property line to the home.

Total charge for water connection is estimated at $1,450.

Township Clerk Howard Altman said a joint meeting of the Clarkston village council and the township board with financial and engineering consultants on the sewer program has been tentatively set for next week.

He said the township had received a request from the village to join in the proposed utility program.

The council was reportedly advised by its engineers, Kieft Engineering of Clarkston, to participate with the township for matters of convenience and economy.

Kieft noted that it isn't feasible for the village to have its own sewage disposal plant. He has also recommended that the township's financial consultant be used in the program.

REZONING ACTION

In other business last night the township board rezoned from agriculture to residential 75 acres at the corner of Perry Lake and Cranberry Lake roads.

Some 150 homes are planned for the site according to Halveston, owner and developer.

Cafeteria Workers Reject Pact With Rochester Schools

ROCHESTER — A contract here for 65 school cafeteria employes is going to be negotiated further — much to the surprise of the district's school officials.

For the first time in the districts' history, according to Supt. Douglas Lund, an employe group has failed to ratify a proposed pact.

School board members were told at their meeting last night that the contract was voted down yesterday by a 29-20 count.

Administrators expressed surprise at the vote and could offer no specific reason for the turn down.

REASON FOR MEETING

As a result of the cafeteria workers' vote, the board tabled its ratification of the pact, which had been the reason for last night's special meeting.

Board members did discuss the various methods of instituting a community relations program to better inform the public of school programs.

Estimated cost of the eventual program was put at $8,000 to $10,000.

Runaway's Parents Arraigned in Novi

NOVI — The parents of a 16-year-old boy who ran away from Camp Oakland were arraigned yesterday before a Novi justice of the peace on charges of aiding and abetting a fugitive's escape.

Pleas of innocent were entered for Mr. and Mrs. Roger Ingall after they stood mute before Justice of the Peace Emery Jacques.

Examination was set for Sept. 19, and the Ingalls were released on bond.

Ingall, 33, and his wife, Bessie, 34, turned themselves in to Novi police Saturday after their stepson, Rick A. Nolan, surrendered to Ypsilanti State Police.

A nationwide hunt for the boy and his parents was launched after he escaped from Camp Oakland near Oxford, where he had been sent for nine months after Oakland County authorities lost a bid to try him as an adult.

He was one of five teen-agers charged in the gunpoint kidnap of a Novi policeman July 30.

Imitation Milk's Nutrition 'Much Less Than Real Thing'

EAST LANSING (AP) — Imitation milk — only a tiny part produced by cows — may be cheaper but it's not as nutritious as the real thing, warns a Michigan State University specialist.

The imitation produce currently sold in Michigan contains less than one-tenth the calcium of real milk and only about one-third the protein, says Dr. Portia Morris, associate professor of foods and nutrition.

It is cheaper — about 39 cents a half gallon, compared with about 46 cents for a half gallon of whole milk.

"But you wouldn't be saving if you spent 5-10 cents less per quart but had to buy 10 times as much to get the nutrients you need," Dr. Morris says.

MORE IRON

The imitation product does have more iron than whole milk. "Cows' milk is notoriously low in iron," she says.

And there are other advantages. The imitation product is slightly sweeter tasting than real milk and is "a refreshing beverage," Dr. Morris says. It also is relatively free from some elements in real milk which can cause allergies for some people.

At least one deficiency in imitation milk may one day be cured by research, said Dr. Al Rippen, MSU associate professor of food science.

"With developmental work, a person would make a product that would contain more calcium," he says. "But it probably will take some time. Calcium is less soluble and harder to reconstitute and work with" than the ingredients now found in imitation milk.

The only type of imitation milk now legal in Michigan is made from a chemical formula which includes sodium caseinate, a protein source taken from skim milk.

Holly Teen Faces Marijuana Charge

HOLLY — A 16-year-old youth was arraigned and released on $1,000 bond yesterday on charges of possession of marijuana.

Justice George Deland placed the boy under bond pending a Circuit Court hearing Sept. 13.

The youth was arrested Saturday when Holly police discovered "a bulge in his pocket" after he had been picked up for tampering with a traffic light.

He is the third person to be charged with possession of marijuana in a month, according to Holly police chief Omer Teeples.

"This is quite extensive," said Teeples. "I've talked to 12 kids — mostly teens — who are getting marijuana out of Flint."

Lenore Advises City Teachers

Mrs. George Romney challenged more than 1,000 Pontiac teachers and administrators yesterday to put the development of the minds and hearts of children ahead of their own pleasures.

She echoed the thinking of former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John Gardner, who said people need more than pleasure in life — they have to give of themselves, not receive.

Michigan's first lady, who flew down from Mackinac Island to address the annual meeting, was in Pontiac last spring to challenge students.

"Pontiac is the crucible of what's happening," she said. "You have everything here in considerable doses.

THINK OF CHILDREN

"Your first goal should not be your own pleasure. Think of the mind and hearts of the children."

Knowledge is important to have, but it is more important to know how to use it, she commented.

"I believe we should use all the tools in our command," Mrs. Romney said. "We have to feed the mind and spirit."

She indicated that segregation not only hurts other people, but stops the growth and development of one's self.

REAL CHALLENGE

It's easy to tell what's wrong in education but to alleviate the problem is the real challenge, according to Mrs. Romney.

She stressed the importance of instilling a personal worth and confidence in children through a personal experience.

Mrs. Romney said an emotionally disturbed girl who lived with her for six months was rebellious and rude and would not learn because the girl lost her pride when she was awkwardly told she was illegitimate.

"People want an opportunity to become what they can be," she explained.

Both Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer and Monroe M. Osmun, president of the school board, advised the educators that the school system has responded to social needs through the forthcoming use of new Negro history materials.

They challenged the teachers to pursue individualized instruction.

Man Makes Cast of Big Mushroom Before Eating It

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A replica of the 8½ pound edible puffball mushroom found by Henry C. Wichers on Colorado's Western Slope will be preserved.

Wichers, on the staff of the Denver Museum of Natural History, said he was making a plaster cast of his mushroom before slicing it for eating.

He found the fungus growing on the Uncompahgre Plateau, 40 miles southwest of Grand Junction, while on a museum field trip.

* * *

Wallace Seeks Money, Votes

Aims His TV Appeal at 'Mainstream America'

By BOB M. GASSAWAY

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — George C. Wallace appeared on national television Tuesday night to appeal for money and votes from "mainstream America" for his third party presidential candidacy.

The former Alabama governor purchased half an hour of television time from National Broadcasting Co. to air a program consisting mostly of films of earlier speeches and interviews. Wallace is resting for three or four days at Miami Beach.

In the last few minutes of the broadcast, Wallace appeared in a new film to urge unregistered voters to get on the rolls and vote for him in November. He asked that contributions be sent to him at Montgomery, Ala.

"We will move forward together," Wallace said.

He said "the majority of mainstream Americans" can no longer accept the leadership of the Democratic and Republican parties and their national candidates.

Wallace said at Miami Beach that he is going to "see some folks" to consider, among other things, the selection of his vice presidential running mate.

Wallace said "I think probably we'll announce" his American Independent party's vice presidential choice at a news conference in Washington Sept. 10.

He offered no hint of who he is considering, but promised: "Whoever we find will be somebody who is known."

Joint Production Effort in Japan Denied by GM

NEW YORK (AP) — General Motors Corp. officials Tuesday denied the report of a Japanese economic journal that GM plans to join a Japanese trading company in the production of GM trucks and buses. "Neither General Motors nor any of its overseas operations are negotiating with anyone in connection with the production of GM vehicles in Japan," a company spokesman said.

The report, published in the Ninon Keizai Shimbun (Japan Economic Journal) quoted "trading circles" as saying that an unidentified Japanese trading firm was taking a positive attitude toward a GM proposal for a joint production venture.

The GM spokesman said the company previously had denied similar rumors arising from a change in Japan's policy toward foreign auto makers.

Hopes Bloom for the I-696 Freeway

Progress, like the mills of God, grinds slowly — and nowhere has progress ground more slowly than in the development of a 19-mile east-west freeway across the southern portion of Oakland County.

This vitally-needed artery to span the State's second largest county, both in area and population, has hung in suspense for four years because six municipalities (now cut to three) affected by the 6½-mile intermediate link have for reasons of narrow self-interest thrown up legal road blocks.

A new State law, however, passed last February empowers the Commonwealth to act in the interests of the common good in cases such as this, where the needs of the many are balked by the few.

The statute empowers the governor to appoint a panel of arbitration whose findings would be binding to explore the areas of highway-route contention, and render authoritative decisions resolving them.

Panel hearings are now in progress and, despite legal maneuvers to circumvent its deliberations, the indications are that solution of the I-696 freeway impasse may be in the making.

It is axiomatic that in the expansion of public facilities by an ever-increasing population with continuously rising standards of living, some communities and individuals experience temporary dislocation or inconvenience.

But such has been the history of progress since our Country was founded, with the general welfare taking precedence over restrictive, reactionary viewpoints of a minority.

The Press wholeheartedly supports completion of the essential I-696 freeway link in the State's highway system and urges the municipalities opposing it to heed the inexorable law of progress and be guided by the spirit of cooperation rather than that of obstruction.

A Slippery Customer!

Students Protest Inactive Role in Prexy Choice

Herewith, the statement issued by Stanford University Student Body President Denis Hayes on the announcement that Dr. Kenneth S. Pitzer, president of Rice University, had been named new president of Stanford:

"The appointment . . . without benefit of student participation or even student advice, represents a gross abuse by the Stanford trustees of the legal powers vested in them."

Student Hayes also complains that no sampling of Rice University students' opinions about Pitzer were made.

"In an age where the relationship of a university president to his students is of such critical importance, this kind of investigatory negligence is inexcusable."

It must be noted that Hayes, exercising his office as spokesman for all the thousands of the university's students, knows nothing about the new president and has nothing on or against him. That does not stop him from going on at length expressing in Eng. Lit. term paper language his vague doubts about the man or castigating the Stanford trustees for their temerity and questioning their wisdom.

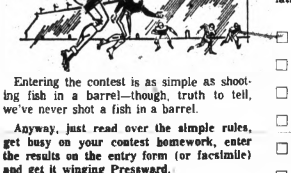
Times have changed, of course, and the relationship of a university president to his students is undeniably of critical importance today. But if this is an example of the so-called "campus revolution," old folks over 30 may perhaps be excused if they wonder if it is an entirely desirable thing.

Football Sweepstakes Bids Sweep In

If early returns are an indication, the 1968 Press Football Contest with its winner's award of $500 U.S. Savings Bond seems headed for a record number of entries.

But in case you harbor doubts about entering the contest because of limited knowledge of pigskin principles, you can dispel same pronto. Although gridiron savvy is not to be frowned upon as a contest ally, many past winners were of the novice class. Indeed, one demure feminine winner—this will kill you—was so unversed that she thought a forward pass was something a lad made at a lass.



Entering the contest is as simple as shooting fish in a barrel—though, truth to tell, we've never shot a fish in a barrel.

Anyway, just read over the simple rules, get busy on your contest homework, enter the results on the entry form (or facsimile) and get it winging Pressward.

No, we don't advise dispatching by carrier pigeon. Pigeons aren't what they once were and—who knows?—you might draw a flighty one who'd think the idea was nothing but a lark. (Editor's note: tck-tck-tck.)

CONTEST RULES

1. Every man, woman and child is eligible to enter contest (except Press employes and close relatives) but are limited to one entry each. All members of families may participate, subject to the same limitation.

2. To enter, you simply check your prediction of the winner of each of the 16 games below (to indicate a tie, leave both boxes blank), sign entry form or facsimile, and dispatch.

3. Entries may be deposited in The Press' Huron Street drop box or mailed. If mailed, they must be enclosed in envelopes (THE POST OFFICE WILL NOT ACCEPT POSTAL CARDS WITH ATTACHED ENTRIES) and addressed to: THE PONTIAC PRESS FOOTBALL CONTEST, P.O. Box 777, Pontiac, Michigan.

4. The contestant who, starting with the first game, correctly predicts without a miss the outcomes of the most games will be awarded a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

5. If in the final stage of contest the few remaining contestants should have predicted the same outcome of a game, this game will be scratched and the contest advanced to the following game.

6. Contest deadline is Friday noon, Sept. 13, and entries must be on hand at The Press by that time. Those arriving later, even though postmarked prior, will not be considered.

7. Judges' decisions on all questions relating to contest will be final.

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Knew of Invasion Buildup

WASHINGTON — The United States government knew of the preparations for the invasion of Czechoslovakia at least 20 days before it happened.

LAWRENCE

A memorandum prepared by the Central Intelligence Agency was distributed throughout the government on Aug. 2 to the effect that military preparations had been completed in a fortnight's time which would be adequate for an intervention in Czechoslovakia if deemed necessary.

Also, on Aug. 20, the day before the invasion occurred, President Johnson had a luncheon with high officials at which Soviet strategy was discussed. Reports of a Soviet Central Committee meeting to be held that same day were available which indicated a decision by the Soviet government to move into Czechoslovakia.

The reports were based on the character of the exercises near the borders of Czechoslovakia which appeared to be a rehearsal for military intervention.

In one sense, the information about the Soviet plans was not particularly difficult to obtain, because when a force of at least 200,000 is mobilized, there are evidences which cannot escape observation by the public.

NOT COMFORTABLE

Austrian officials say that, even if the occupation troops should be gradually withdrawn from Czechoslovakia, the Soviets will still keep large forces along the Austria-Czech border, and this isn't very comfortable.

What the Vienna government would like to see is a clear-cut American statement that the United States will not tolerate any change in the status quo of the neutral zones in Europe.

France also is becoming restless, and has made a strong demand to the Soviets to withdraw promptly their forces from Czechoslovakia. There is a fear expressed in Paris, moreover, that the next country to be invaded will be Romania.

NATO REVISIONS

Meanwhile, officials of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are beginning to revise their defense plans and to call for a new pronouncement of policy by the United States with respect to the retention of troops in Europe.

The Soviet invasion has convinced NATO officials that the United States military forces would have arrived too late if a Soviet attack had been begun against any one of the NATO countries.

Bob Considine Says:

HHH, City of Chicago Facing a Similar Task

CHICAGO—Some convention afterthoughts . . .

Hubert Humphrey and the city of Chicago have a similar task ahead of them. Each has got to explain to the American people that they had nothing to do with the disgraceful sights and sounds surrounding the selection of the Democratic nominee. If they can't, they're going to suffer at the polls and, the pocketbook, respectively.

CONSIDINE

Humphrey is a gentle man. Chicago is a great city. Both were tarred in the past few days by circumstances beyond the control of the candidate, as an individual, and the residents of Chicago, as a whole. Their task now is to restore their previous images. Or else.

Neither struck Sen. McGovern's 17-year-old girl volunteer across her mouth with a nightstick. Neither strung the barbed wire. Neither was in that ghastly "planet of the apes" scene when grotesquely-masked National Guardsmen blocked a car bearing a mother and her two teen-age daughters, stuck guns through the windows, and issued incomprehensible guttural commands through their tear-gas masks.

NOT TO BLAME

Neither cracked a skull. Neither threw that New York delegate out of the hall, or called the taxi and communications strikes, or cut off the air conditioning in some of the big hotels, or dropped the stink bomb into the ventilating system of the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short were blamed for Pearl Harbor. Nobody ever got around to telling them they were probably about to be slugged by the Japanese.

Dallas has never been permitted to forget that it was there that John Fitzgerald Kennedy was murdered (by a non-Dallasite, incidentally).

Nobody we know of takes his convention to Little Rock. Travelers to Washington have had no trouble getting hotel rooms since its Negro hoodlums tried to burn down the town last spring.

'TAIN'T FAIR'

One night several weeks ago there were only 12 patrons in the Paris Hilton—and the City of Light suffered countless millions of dollars in tourism losses this season.

"T'ain't fair, but there it is.

Four years ago, Lyndon Baines Johnson arrived in Atlantic City like a Second Coming. He took charge of everything in the big hall, the order of speeches, the length of same, maybe the incidental music. He pounded the big gavel (almost clouting Liel on her pinkie) and the huge assembly came immediately to order for his speech.

When it was finished he spread his arms like the wings of the F111 and accepted the waves and waves of adulation.

URGED TO STAY AWAY

This time he was urged by his closest advisers and friends to stay as far away from the International Amphitheatre as he could.

"You'll be booed if you show up," one close friend, a Washington columnist he trusts among all others, solemnly assured him.

'Lack of Directions Confuses Sophomores'

How does the faculty of Waterford-Kettering High School expect sophomores to find their way around? No information was given and there was no one to ask directions of during registration. Youth Opposes Our Country's Voting Age

I was fortunate to be born in America. I love this country, but I am handicapped—I am only 18 years old. The government says I must fight and perhaps die. Someone has to fight the country's wars, but why must it choose me? I had no vote to cast in a national election or a state election. This great country says it is unlawful to cast a vote unless you are 21 years old, but will draft me and take my life at the age of 18. I am not against the draft or wars. I am against not being allowed to vote. Have you ever wondered why the young people of America protest?

'Treatment of Demonstrators Terrifying'

As I watched the Democratic Convention on television, I was terrified at the way kids were treated by cops for holding a so-called demonstration. All they were doing was saying "peace, peace." They weren't bothering anybody. Everybody talks about peace but teen-agers are the only ones who try to do something about it, to stop war and have a happy and beautiful place to live.

Letter Discusses Avondale School District

In July the Avondale School District mailed mimeographed letters to parents in the district, stating that the only way it can "live within its income is to reduce teachers on its staff." Now an article in The Pontiac Press says "Avondale approved a $500 raise for teachers" who will teach only three hours a day. I urge all voters to vote down this millage. The caliber of education received by students in this district is very poor. Instead of a sprawling new school, why not upgrade teaching methods and lease the R. Grant Graham Elementary School for office space.

Question and Answer

How many payless paydays did the State of Michigan have because of lack of funds and in what year did they occur?

CURIOUS

REPLY

We assume you're referring to the famous (or infamous) payless paydays in May, 1959. Actually, there was only one payday involved, and it was not "payless" but rather postponed. Information we have indicates about 28,000 employes were affected, but received their money after the State met a $35.5 million school aid payment due the 15th of that month.

Police Restraint

The Wall Street Journal

The forces of law and order erupted into unlawfulness and disorder in the streets of Chicago last Wednesday and we are left to wonder if the incident might have been prevented if the local political leadership had projected more carefully considered attitudes.

When police and demonstrators clash, it is always hard to lay the blame. There is a tendency for propagandists to shout "police brutality," the television footage never shows the whole truth, and many citizens refuse to recognize that some use of force often is necessary to control taunting mobs.

In this case, though, on-the-scene reports leave little doubt that the police bear a good share of the blame. Throughout the week security forces had displayed an undercurrent of ugliness.

When middle-aged women are pushed through plate-glass windows, when newsmen covering demonstrations are repeatedly attacked, when a television reporter is slugged by a policeman with the rank of commander, obviously the police are out of hand.

A confrontation between police and demonstrators is inherently tense. The demonstrators are unquestionably provocative, and the police are human. In fact, they carry into uniform the values and attitudes of their own community, and by and large these are the lower-middle-class, red-blooded values most easily offended by the unwashed demonstrator.

Even so, other police in other cities have managed to react calmly and sensibly to the taunts of demonstrators. While it is not susceptible of final proof, the difference could well stem from the attitudes of the local political leadership.

We have long felt, indeed, that many street disorders are subtly affected by the rhetoric of political leaders. We fear rioters may be encouraged when prominent leaders apologize for them and stress their presumed justification. In this case, the city's political leadership seemed to stress the justification of the police in their resentment against demonstrators and the press that publicizes them.

Even in his speech welcoming delegates to Chicago, Mayor Richard J. Daley railed against draft-card burners and the like. As the disorder in the streets took place, he told the television audience that his police "never" get out of line. No doubt he has often previously expressed similar sentiments.

We wonder if the Mayor has ever stopped to consider that too many such statements might egg on the police. He is saying he agrees with their values, and in this agreement many of the them might find an excuse for taking matters into their own hands. Some policemen might also get the notion they would not be called too closely to task for transgressions expressing attitudes they know their political superiors share.

No one can say for sure if Mayor Daley could have prevented the outbreaks. His expressions were doubtless sincere, and we find much to admire in the values he expresses; it is just that when police and their taunters are about to meet in the streets, public leaders cannot weigh their words too carefully.

Whatever their own emotions, the duty of public officials is to make sure that anything they say is understood by one and all as an emphatic demand for restraint.

Sleepy Australian Town Comes Alive

PORT HEDLAND, Western Australia — Three years ago Port Hedland was dying. It clung high on the tropical coast of Western Australia, a steaming, sleepy little town of 1,200 people, totally unknown, utterly undistinguished.

Today Port Hedland is transformed. 5,000 more people have arrived, the place is a turmoil of construction projects and they tell you proudly here that in a few years' time the town will be exporting more in terms of tonnage than Australia's great city of Sydney.

The transformation is the work of the iron ore of the desolate and remote hills of the outback of the Australian northwest, which until very recently seemed of interest only to the handful of farmers who managed to run sheep over enormous tracts of this arid, scrub-pocked waste.

Admittedly, geologists realized that there was iron ore to be found in the mountains, but the size of their reserves and the quality of the ore were unknown. In any case, there seemed no way of getting the ore to the world industrialists.

Western Australia was profoundly isolated, and no one imagined the funds would become available to reverse this isolation.

This reversal was the work of a handful of stubborn and inspired men, with the help of the insatiable iron ore requirements of the steel manufacturers, particularly in Japan.

They used to keep in touch with the world through the state coastal vessels which called in every week or so from the south, to drop a few tons of supplies and perhaps pick up the faltering manganese and sheep exports. In January this year, and before the main ore projects have been started, ships called to collect 376,000 tons of ore and bring in 38,000 tons of general cargo.

No one can be sure how far the transformation will go; they do not even know whether the new buildings that are going up everywhere — the houses for the construction workers, the installations at the quay and on the railway — will stand up to the next cyclone.

Up on the way to the mountains, a railway is being pushed ahead to meet a March 1969 deadline. More than 70 miles of track were laid. Meanwhile, the town's resources have been expanded at breakneck speed. The school, which had 16 pupils five years ago, had 560 last term. Where the electricity system required six men, now there are 30.

The airport has become one of the busiest in Western Australia, which means, for example, that the mail and communications are much better. Government officials have multiplied in every department.

Business in shops has doubled, trebled. There are a couple of new hotels, yet the old hotels still report business booming, with the sweltering workers consuming 2,000 gallons of draft beer in each of the hotels each week.

Exporting iron ore is essentially a very simple operation. You find your reserves — and in Port Hedland's case, the companies found a couple of mountains, which, in layman terms, were almost solid masses of high-grade iron ore.

You therefore need only crush it and carry the ore away to the 100,000-ton ships which will take it to the customers overseas.

But in northwest Australia, and with finds like Mt. Newman (and, to a smaller extent, Mt. Goldsworthy), you have to open up a whole region, set up towns and mining installations, and above all, build a heavy railway several hundred miles to the coast, and there — at Port Hedland — build the port which will unload the automated mile-long trains onto the ships — and do all this at an economic rate.

The cost of developing the ore deposits of the Mt. Newman mining group will be $240 million to start with. The prize is an annual export achievement of anything from 10 to 30 million tons of iron ore, depending on contracts. At that rate, Port Hedland's fame is secure.

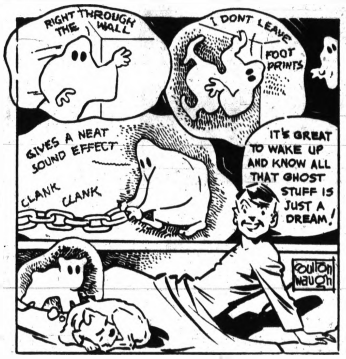
WATCHING REVOLUTION

The "shire president" of Port Hedland — a sort of junior grade mayor — is the town's 54-year-old butcher and garage proprietor, Angus Richardson.

He has held the post for 20 years and is one of the handful of people who have lived in the port all their lives, have waited each year for the cyclone season at high summer and the temperatures up to the 100s and are now watching a revolution.

It's a straggling, dusty, unattractive town, where you see more aborigines than in many parts of Australia, but town planning has now arrived as well, so that there are high prices available for the owners who decide to relinquish their old houses in the newly designed commercial streets.

A Junior Editors Quiz About GHOSTS



QUESTION: Are ghosts real?

ANSWER: The world must have been a spooky place indeed in ancient times before men began to understand the natural causes of things.

The ancients thought there were strange, supernatural spirits or beings everywhere. If you heard rustling sounds at night, your imagination would create some eerie being to account for it.

Today, we would realize it was only a mouse or something equally reasonable.

There are people, even today, especially in certain parts of the world, who still insist there are such things as ghosts, thinking them to be the unhappy spirits of people who have passed on. Believers in this kind of thing claim a ghost can walk through a wall, casts no shadow, leaves no footprints and likes to annoy living beings by making sounds like the clanking of chains.

However, most of us have come to the conclusion that ghosts are not real. We can sleep better at night because of it.

You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.

Future Grim for Wealthy: Only Youth Lies Ahead

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — We shall take as our text for today a quotation attributed to a New York society matron in a magazine article I came across recently.

WEST

"Today," she said, "people who have money use it almost entirely for social power. Looking young and attractive is now practically the whole point of being rich."

The article went on to list some of the expensive cosmetic operations, equipment and drugs that have been developed to thwart the outward manifestations, or ravages, of age.

It said people who can afford these Ponce de Leonish marvels "can go on looking gorgeous, wearing miniskirts and dancing the watusi until they topple into their graves."

LOSES AMBITION

I don't know what appeal that might have for the populace at large, but it rather stifled my ambition to acquire great wealth.

* * *

In the upper economic stratum, apparently, all you have to look forward to in your old age is youth. That strikes me as a rather bleak future.

The thing I look forward to in my old age is senility.

I developed this outlook from observing one of my grandfathers. He died when I was a mere lad but I remember him well, mainly because he spent his old age abolishing fractions.

For instance, my grandfather customarily retired every evening at 7. Then one summer he suddenly started going to bed at one minute past 6.

FASCINATING LOGIC

However, my grandfather resolutely denied that he had changed his bedtime. He explained that once the hour of 6 had passed, the time was no longer 6; ergo, it must be 7 o'clock.

The same reasoning was applied to his age. The day after my grandfather celebrated his 80th birthday, he began giving his age as 81.

I was fascinated by the old man's logic and tried using it myself in school, but the teacher wouldn't let me get away with it.

"Your grandfather is senile," she said when I cited him as my authority for handing in an arithmetic paper on which I arbitrarily converted all of the fractions to whole numbers.

'SENILE POWER'

That was when I started looking forward to senility. If "senile power" enables a person to escape little nuisances, such as fractions, it obviously is more desirable than "social power."

* * *

And if being rich means dancing the watusi to your grave, count me out of the big money. I prefer to dodder.

An estimated 70 per cent of the earth's supply of oxygen is supplied by the process of photosynthesis of oceanic plankton.

Foreign Press Calls Political Conventions 'Huge Insane Asylum'

LONDON (AP) — The impact of political events in Chicago and Miami Beach was often felt just as strongly in the capitals of the world as it was in households of Berlin, Wis., or New London, Conn.

For some foreign observers, the whole process of selecting the next president was drawn into serious question.

"I had the impression of being in an unreal world like a huge insane asylum," wrote Frenchman Michael-Louis Schaeffer from Miami.

* * *

In a letters column for the Paris magazine Express, he said, "Only the insane were congratulating themselves on the progress of their insanity . . . even though a lukewarm Gaullist in the past, in the future I will insert his name in my morning prayers, saying let the good Lord give him long life and in watching over us, let Him take pains to save us from that."

ENGLISH VIEW

From Chicago, London Daily Express correspondent David English wrote: "I believe this could be the last of the old-style American political conventions. And out of the chaos and confusion and bitterness could grow the first of the new."

Another reaction came from the London Sunday Mirror, which wrote: "The best news in the Kremlin when the Russian tanks were rolling into Hungary in 1956 was that Britain was invading Suez.

"The best news heard in the Kremlin while Russian troops were occupying Prague was that white policemen were clubbing white peace demonstrators outside the hall where the man who might be the next U.S. president was being nominated.

* * *

"It is a tragedy that the leaders of the U.S.S.R. should see brute force as the solution to all problems. It is a greater tragedy that there are people in the United States who think likewise."

LINKED TO INVASION

The Sunday Times in London also linked the events in Chicago with the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

"For non-Americans, and many Americans too, last week's events in the stockyards must uncomfortably ruffle their belief that the American way of life is decisively better than the Soviet. In the end we know which side we have to be on. But like Sharpeville and Budapest before them, the name of Chicago, along with that of Prague, will survive as the instantly recognizable symbol of an historic event."

A Japanese correspondent of Sankei Shimbun, Masahiro Kameda, said that "for foreigners, the City of Chicago, under something resembling martial law, looked fantastic."

Alpha State of Mind May Top Tranquilizer-Gobbling

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — If you can learn to control your alpha rhythm, it may be better than taking a tranquilizer.

Alpha rhythm is the name scientists give to a certain type of brain activity which can be measured on an electroencephalograph (EEG), a machine for recording brain waves.

A University of California research psychologist thinks learning how to control one's alpha rhythm may be useful in alleviating forms of anxiety, as well as other mental and physical problems.

MANY-TRAINED

Dr. Joe Kamiya of UC's Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute has already trained more than 100 volunteers to recalpha rhythms, which he calls ognize and control at will their attaining an alpha state.

"Our volunteers are taught to correlate a specific mental state with the alpha rhythm," Kamiya explained. "In order to achieve such control, a person must first know what he feels."

The volunteer sits in a small, darkened room with electrodes attached to his scalp, which in turn lead to a nearby EEG machine.

"Think yourself out of anxiety," a voice suggests over the intercom. To aid the subject in recognizing the alpha state, a tone, varying in loudness according to the intensity of the person's alpha rhythm, is "fed back" from a control room containing the EEG machine.

TRANQUIL FEELING

Most subjects describe the alpha state as feeling "tranquil, pleasant, alert yet relaxed," and a few even experience "ecstacy."

Kamiya said subjects find they attain the alpha state when relaxed and paying casual attention to the tone. If they think of something depressing, or visualize objects or people, the tone turns off and they produce other than alpha waves.

On the basis of his studies since 1958, Kamiya thinks almost everyone can be taught to control alpha waves for a sustained period. Only the extremely anxious have been unable to muster sufficient attention to learn.

Ordinarily, test subjects can be taught to produce the alpha rhythm in two or three sessions. Significant control is usually gained by the fourth session.

MEDITATIVE STATE

Because so many subjects' reports resembled descriptions of Oriental meditative states, Kamiya invited people interested in Zen and Yoga to take part in tests. He found they were able to produce and control alpha waves more quickly than the average subjects.

In another experiment using similar techniques, one of Kamiya's subjects trained himself to reduce his blood preasure. Another reduced an abnormal heartbeat rate from 130 to 85 a minute.

Reports from the Soviet Union tell of experiments in which ulcer patients learned to control acid released in their stomachs to reduce ulcer perforations and promote healing.

"By making the covert internal processes of the brain and body directly observable to the individual, we may at last realize the age-old dictum "Know Thyself," " Kamiya said.

Town Gets Bill for Fire Fight

ST. PETERSBURG BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The city of St. Petersburg Beach has received a $421 food and bar bill from a businessman who says it was run up by firemen, police and city officials during a fire a year ago.

The town's mayor, Richard Ercius, said that the city doesn't plan to pay the bill unless directed by the courts.

The bill came from Jack O'Donnell, owner of Lund's Hotel, who said the food and drinks were consumed during a fire at the Pass-A-Grille Beach Hotel last September.

He said the bill actually came to twice the amount he is asking and itemized it this way: Nine quarts of liquor, $192; 413 hamburgers, $206; 350 hot dogs, $122; 234 draft beers, $81; 203 cans of beer, $71; and 1,000 cups of coffee, $150.

O'Donnell maintained he served more than 150 persons, but the fire department claimed the number of firemen was only 150.

Hippies Stay, Singer Jailed

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — Lou Gottlieb, former singer with the Limelighters, was sentenced to 15 days in jail Tuesday for failing to clear his Morning Star Ranch of hippies.

A Superior Court order had been issued for the clearance following months of complaints by neighbors.

He was sentenced for contempt for court and also fined $1,500.

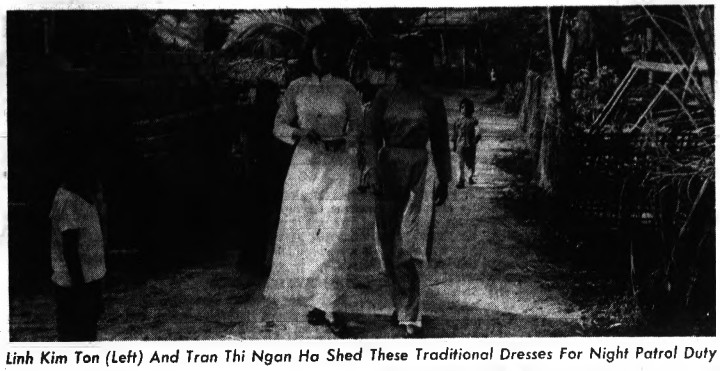
Da Nang's Girls Toting Guns



Linh Kim Ton (Left) And Tran Thi Ngan Ha Shed These Traditional Dresses For Night Patrol Duty

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Vietcong infiltration into Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, is a very real danger—and fear. As a result, 35 young girls have been trained to serve as a village self-defense team, going out on patrols at night after their regular day's work.)

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Miss Tran is a curvy, 100-pound cutie who would much rather carry a rifle than learn to cook. And she does.

Miss Tran also thinks it would be exciting if she ran into some Vietcong around this northern seacoast city. "But maybe they will shoot back." Her laugh tinkles gaily, as if it will never really happen.

But terrorism in the streets and infiltration into this city, South Vietnam's second larger, is an ever-present danger.

She is 20 years old.

VERY SERIOUS

Miss Tran talks very seriously about the value of her military training as she looks over her World War II submachine gun.

Still talking about good training, she tries to cock the awkward weapon. Her delicate muscles aren't quite enough. Trying to maintain poise and conversation, she puts the butt on the ground and leans her 100 pounds on the bolt. She just makes it.

Miss Tran, who has no official military position, leads 35 girls trained as a village self-defense team. All the girls were born in North Vietnam. They came south with their parents as refugees in 1954 when the country was divided.

Many of their parents fought then as they do now—a generation of war.

BEATS COOKING

Why do these frail girls serve as guards? They get some pocket money and some excitement. And it beats working in the hot kitchen at home learning to cook, or washing clothes.

This particular group of girls helps guard just one of the numerous sections, actually a village within a city, that spill in ever widening circles out from Da Nang. They have a counterpart force of 35 men to form a quick reaction force if the area is attacked.

"We go out at night on patrols. It's scary sometimes, but we usually go with some of the boys, so it's not too bad," says Miss Tran. She dimples prettily again and adjusts her black cowboy hat to a more rakish angle.

Miss Tran is a schoolteacher during the day. Other girls in the group range from the unemployed to waitresses to bar girls.

3-MONTHS TRAINING

They have all had five months training, including some live fire practice. "But usually we only get to shoot one bullet each," she pouts.

Both Miss Tran and her close friend Nguyen Thi Lien, a 19-year-old girl born in Hanoi, think soldiering is fine. But both take precautions to carry lipstick and comb. Questions about boy friends, however, are tittered away as both girls say they have more important things to do.

Miss Lien is also not interested in home economic courses offered by the Catholic church that dominates the village square. "When would I use those courses?" she asks. She adds with a frown that there may be another offensive against the city. "We must be ready."

She smiles again and tries to adjust her hat. The rifle balanced on her hip slips off and plops into the deep sand.

AP Photos

ALL IN A NIGHT'S WORK — Da Nang schoolteacher Tran Thi Ngan Ha wears a cowboy hat and camouflage and totes a "grease gun" on her other job — member of a village self-defense team.

Building Improvements Mulled

News of Waterford

The Waterford Township Board last night heard a preliminary report from its financial consultants on future capital improvements on township offices and facilities. Specific attention was devoted to discussion of a fourth fire station in the township.

Don A. Keylon represented Stratton Associates, a firm that handles financial planning for governmental units. Keylon suggested one method of financing future building programs would be to establish a township building authority.

The consultants were hired after acting Fire Chief Russell See requested in May that the board give building priority to a proposed fourth fire station in the township.

When other government agencies also claimed a need for additional space and facilities, the board hired Stratton Associates to determine the best method of financing several building projects and combining them into one long-range program.

NEW OFFICES

Other capital improvements that will be considered include new township offices and additional water and sewer facilities in the township, according to Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

See, who is replacing Chief Lewis Goff while Goff recuperates from a prolonged illness, said the new station is needed in the northwest part of the township, in the area of Williams Lake and Maceday Lake.

"The fire department has reached a crisis in this area," See said. "This year alone, we have had several instances of requested inhalator runs that we could not answer because our men were tied up with other matters."

He urged the matter be put to the voters in the form of a bond issue on the November ballot. "We can't wait for township financial consultants to sit around and talk any longer," he said.

FINANCING IMPOSSIBLE

Most board members agreed that the station probably is needed, but financing might be impossible at this time.

"We hired these consultants so they could outline a feasible program for us, and I think we should wait for their recommendations," Johnson noted.

He urged against See's suggested bond issue, and won the support of the board.

Keylon, meanwhile, said his immediate task was to set up a schedule showing that growth in the township will continue at its present rate so that new building expenditures can be covered without raising the tax base.

REPORT DUE

He said he expected a complete report to be finished in November for the board's approval.

In other action, the board accepted one of three bids received last week for construction of the new Mott High School sanitary sewer.

The bid accepted came from Cadillac Excavating Co. and was about $15,000 more than township engineers had estimated for the project. The contract will call for work totaling $88,810, according to Utilities Manager Kenneth Squiers.

Squiers recommended approval of the bid despite its high cost estimate because he said township engineers had talked to several prospective bidders and decided they would not be able to get a better offer.

The cost of the project will be absorbed by the Waterford School Board in accordance with agreements made earlier between the school board and the township board, Squiers said.

Longer Days for 1st Graders?

First graders in Pontiac schools may have to start getting up a little earlier if a proposal to extend their school day is approved by the board of education tomorrow.

A proposal to add half an hour on to the current five hours of school a day required for first graders is scheduled to be presented to the board by Assist. Supt. William J. Lacy.

He said it is possible first graders would have to begin school 15 minutes earlier and end 15 minutes later than last year's schedule.

The move to extend the school day for first graders is to give them the same amount of school time as second through sixth graders.

Tomorrow's meeting at the school administration building, 350 E. Wide Track, is scheduled to begin at 4:30 p.m. because board members have an evening engagement.

The meeting will be the first in a new schedule of meetings. Trustees will now meet the first and third Thursdays of each month instead of the second and fourth Wednesdays.

Youth Dies in Fall From TV Tower

CADILLAC (AP) — An electrician fell 900 feet to his death Tuesday while working on a television transmission tower in Cadillac.

WWTV officials said the youth, 20-year-old Vernon Milks of Lake Ann, and the cable on which he was working fell across a 14,000-volt power line, knocking the station off the air for nearly an hour.

16 Escape Unhurt

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Sixteen persons, 14 of them children, escaped injury Tuesday when the car in which they were riding plunged off the highway south of Santa Fe. Investigating officers said overloading caused a tire to blow out on U.S. 85. The vehicle did not overturn.

New OCC Head Has Problem

But he feels that these people have to be given a "different kind of opportunity."

'CAN IMPROVE METHOD'

The college's instructional method of program materials where students can learn at their own pace can be improved, according to Hill.

"I have found that some people are just not ready for programmed instruction," he says. They learn by talking things over with their associates or just by listening to others talk."

It's the task of taking the intelligence of a boy who can tear a car engine apart with no trouble and transferring it to words and numbers.

Hill has some notions on how this can be done. He said he believes that courses should be extended for students who take longer to learn.

SAME GOALS EXPECTED

OCC students are permitted to learn at their own rates during the term a course is taken, according to Hill. But when a term is over everyone is expected to have accomplished the same goals.

Why not extend a course which lasts one term to three or six, depending on the student's progress, Hill maintains.

Hill says he has found that as director of WSU's Institute for Educational Sciences that slower learners progress faster in small groups.

When asked why he wanted to become president of OCC, Hill responded this way:

"I'm interested in educational research and development that is particularly applicable to community colleges — that is, where fields of study serve as knowledge (research and development).

"At larger universities, knowledge (research and development) is developed for fields of study."

Hill also said he sought the job because "the community college is the one remaining viable structure in the system of American education.

"Its community service programs lend it a possibility of educational value that cannot be realized in other types of institutions."

Hill joined WSU as men's activities counselor in 1958. He served as assistant dean of the college of education before taking over his present position in 1964.

SERVED AT DIT, LIT

He previously was chairman of the mathematics department and athletic director at Detroit Institute of Technology and taught math at Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Hill earned a bachelor's degree in mathematics from Albion College in 1943, a master's degree in mathematics from WSU in 1948 and a doctorate in education in statistics and research design from WSU in 1957.

He and his wife plan to reside at their Detroit residence. They are the parents of three married children.

Nixon Starts Vote Bid on an Upbeat Tempo

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon fires the opening gun today in his campaign for the presidency and he says he is starting on an "upbeat note."

He added, however, that the outcome of the election can not be predicted now because issues, not the candidates, are predominant in the minds of the voters.

"When people are more concerned about issues than men," Nixon said Tuesday night in an unscheduled news conference, "they make up their minds by what the candidates say about the issues. This is the year when people are wrought up. This is the year when people are unpredictable."

The first campaign swing takes Nixon to Chicago, San Francisco, San Jose, Calif., Houston, Oklahoma City and Pittsburgh. He pointed out that the itinerary covers all four sections of the nation.

NO PARTY SPLIT

"We start definitely on an upbeat note," he said, "not because of what happened at the Democratic convention but at ours. We won the nomination without splitting the party."

He said Chicago was selected as the kickoff point for his campaign weeks before the Democratic convention, during which violent disorders erupted.

Nixon indicated that he might issue a statement on the rioting and the charges that the Chicago police "overreacted" against demonstrators. "I am studying it now," he said.

His Chicago schedule called for a motorcade through the Loop and then at 9 p.m. CDT a question-and-answer session, on live television with a panel and an audience. "If I don't make the statement, we may deal with it during the telecast," he said.

VOTERS UNDECIDED

Speaking generally about the outlook for the campaign, Nixon said there are more undecided voters today than there were in 1960 when he lost a hairline race to John F. Kennedy.

"The issues are more volatile today," Nixon said. "In 1960 there was no war in Vietnam. Disorders in the cities were not a great issue. There was no inflation."

Because of the issues confronting the voters today, he continued, "We can change a lot of people's minds."

Asked about the effect of former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace's candidacy, Nixon said he does not believe "people are going to waste their votes on a third-party candidate." As his campaign and that of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey develops, he said, the support for Wallace will diminish. "I could be wrong," Nixon added.

UP FOR GRABS

In the final weeks of the campaign, he said he plans to concentrate on what he called "the big seven"—New York, California Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Texas. They have a total of 210 electoral college votes.

9 Men Survey Bikini to See if It's Ready for Life

BIKINI ATOLL, Marshall Islands (AP) — Nine men representing the Bikini islanders moved 22 years ago because of U.S. nuclear tests are back on this tiny Pacific atoll surveying prospects of returning to live.

Scientists say radioactive levels—the tests were stopped a decade ago—now are low enough for habitation. The U.S. government plans to redevelop the atoll and move the 300 or so islanders back.

"Most of the trees are gone," said William R. Norwood, high commissioner of the Trust Territory of the Pacific. "But when we look at the quiet sea with its great abundance, when we see the beautiful beach and as we see more of the island, we will more and more understand why people want to return to Bikini."

It's Fun to Accessorize Autumn's Fashions for the Individual Touch

Hand-carved umbrella heads "Put-together" with a handsome question mark necklace ask the big question of the year at the Fall-Winter '68 Accessorama show. The party of one's choice can now be designated with the selection of a Polan Katz nylon umbrella with either a stylized donkey or an elephant head. Which will it be? Pointing up the question, is a handsome question mark necklace designed of mesh chain interbraided with gilded wire by Stanley Hagler.

At first it seems a Venetian blind design, then it takes on the completely abstract effect of pure color and line. There's nothing abstract about the fashion role it will play this season. A 32-inch square by Echo of pure Italian silk twill done in shocking/brown, gray/gold, orange/green, green/fuchsia. May be ordered locally.

For the snappiest handbag shaping of the season—Jaclyn's nifty leather-look flight bag squared off and wearing double top zippers that extend down either side for easy entry into a two-compartment interior. Added plus and added fashion storage space, the flapped outside pocket with gilt luggage lock. Another double plus—its pair of straps, long enough for shoulder swinging. In the season's important brown tones and black, the bag is in Glovetta, the vinyl with the look of real leather.

It's a big year for belts. So handbag designer Jaclyn belts this plump safari bag in leather-look Glovetta with a wide strapping of leather that can slip out of its side loops and double around the wearer's waist for a look of total accessory coordination. A long over-the-top zipper makes for easy entry, while an outside zipper marks an extra compartment for plus equipment carried. In tones of brown, fall's big fashion color, dark green and black. Line available locally.

She Is Getting Away With Plenty

'Respected' Lady Is Common Thief

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We own a small high grade market in one of the better neighborhoods. Our problem is a very stylish lady of about 50 who patronizes us regularly. We've seen her slip small cans of button mushrooms, caviar, smoked oysters, and similar delicacies into her coat pocket.

ABBY

She can well afford to pay for the items she steals. We've considered asking her to do her shopping elsewhere, but we haven't the nerve. She is such a respected lady that we can't follow her out of the store and demand that she empty her pockets like a common thief.

Perhaps if you print this in your column she'll realize she's not getting away with anything. In the meantime, what is your advice?

UNSIGNED

DEAR UNSIGNED: Unless you want to continue to keep this "respected lady" in button mushrooms, caviar, smoked oysters and similar delicacies, I suggest that you follow her out of the store and demand that she empty her pockets like the common thief that she is. And until you do, she is indeed getting away with plenty.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: After nine years of marriage my wife wants twin beds. I can't understand it and neither can our seven kids. Do you think she's getting tired of me? She says she will sleep better in twin beds. Frankly, if she slept any better, she would be dead. Please tell me how to handle this problem. I like to have her next to me.

ST. LOUIS

DEAR ST. LOUIS: The desire for twin beds is no proof that your wife is "getting tired" of you. Seven kids in nine years may mean she's getting just plain "tired."

DEAR ABBY: I've been trying to disregard this problem for some time, but it keeps nagging at me, so please print your answer soon.

Three years ago, a neighbor boy, who was 10 at the time, tried to molest our little four-year-old daughter. Luckily it turned out to be nothing serious. However, other neighbors have told me this boy has since been in the same kind of trouble with other young children.

The boy is 13 now, and he has been hanging around the home of some new neighbors who have a four-year-old boy. I keep wondering if I should tell this little boy's mother about our experience. My husband said NO, I shouldn't get involved.

It worries me, Abby. If something happened to that little four-year-old kid I'd feel responsible. What should I do?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: If the parents of the 13-year-old boy appear to be intelligent, responsible people, tell them to keep their eye on their son for recurring signs of his old trouble. If they don't, tip off the new neighbors. You are already morally involved.

'Barefoot' Opens at Will-O-Way

Will-O-Way Apprentice Theatre opens its 1968 fall season with the comedy, "Barefoot in the Park" by Neil Simon.

The theatrical trade school, located on West Long Lake Road since 1940, is featuring its director, Celia Merrill Turner and her daughter, Robin, as the zany mother and newly married daughter who wanted to live on the moon.

The production will be open to the public Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at 8:40 p.m.

Two college students from the performing arts department of Northwood Institute of Indiana with which Will-O-Way is affiliated will make their Detroit debuts in "Barefoot."

They are Gary Graham, a sophomore from Marion, Ind. who plays the bridegroom of six days and Jon Tanner, a sophomore from Allen Park, who blesses the young couple with their own telephone.

Ernie Savole, of Birmingham, Will-O-Way's academic director, will play the energetic gourmet who prefers rugs to beds; and Mike Leo of Clawson will play the breathless delivery man.

Reservations may be made by calling 644-4418.

Prospective college students wishing to hear more about Northwood Institute's two and four year programs in the performing arts are also welcome to attend.

THE TALL LOVELY CANNAS

The largest of these brilliant flowers grows as high as 10 feet, and even the smaller kinds are between 2½ and 4 feet tall.

Cannas grow very easily and have been widely cultivated as a garden plant in all parts of the United States. They need rich, warm soil and plenty of moisture. The big root must be dug at the end of the flowering season and stored for the winter.

It is so easy to have beautiful flowers in your home or sent to a special friend. Just call us, anytime.

Doll Dishes Are Key to the Past

By BETTY CANARY

My daughters do not play with my doll dishes. Several times during the year the girls do join me in the task of washing and drying the tiny bits of pale green china. They handle the dishes with exquisite care and exclaim over the painted pink roses and finely veined leaves.

The ritual of washing the doll dishes includes a cup or orange-flavored tea when the big job is done. Then the set is carefully replaced on its own small curved shelf.

The girls do not think I am a selfish mother. They possess useful, sturdy play dishes — complete sets with refrigerator-to-oven casseroles and electric coffeepots and toasters. And this modernity is a logical choice for their playtime.

After all, their dolls do not merely sit around with hairnets over their wigs the way mine had to do. And the girls do not have to bathe their dolls with cold cream.

DOLL CARE

They give them soapy showers and need not worry about wrinkled, peeling skin or rusting eyes. Their dolls wear curlers in their hair, walk, talk and one even rides her very own tricycle.

However, I do not think the incongruity of old-fashioned china and modern dolls concerns my daughters. What they really care about is having the antique dishes remain always on the shelf where they belong.

The china set is in a way their link with the past while to me it was only a toy. It meant nothing to me that my grandmother and then my mother had washed and dried the same dishes. But then, as a child I had lived where our family had always lived and I cared nothing for the past.

If your family is like ours — of the big-company, rootless society in America today — I might suggest you dig out that old album or antique doll or the heavy-framed sunset scene you've hung onto all these years and be surprised at how happy your children will be to see it.

INEVITABLE

On the other hand, if you do, then be prepared for some inevitable remarks. They will say, "Tell us how it was when you were a girl, mother — back in THE OLD DAYS."

Or, one might proudly and happily tell a friend, the way my youngest did, "Yes, these were my great-grandmother's dishes and when MY mother dies, they are going to belong to me!"

I didn't mind her saying that. It didn't make me nervous or anything. But I have been a bit jittery over the girl friend's answer. "Boy!" she said. "I'll bet you can hardly WAIT."

WINDEY-RATLIFF

Touring northern Michigan after vows Saturday evening in Columbia Avenue Baptist Church are newlyweds, Pfc. and Mrs. Patrick Henry Windey (nee Isabel M. Ratliff.) Mr. and Mrs. James F. Ratliff Jr. were honor attendants, leading a bridal party of seven. The bride, daughter of the senior James F. Ratliffs of Grinnell Street, chose an organza over taffeta and lace gown with Kaubuki sleeves. Her bouffant veil fell from a lace petal and she carried white roses, carnations and daisy pompons. A reception honoring the bridegroom who will leave for a tour of Vietnam, and his bride was held in Bloomfield Centre Hall, Keego Harbor.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Have you been doing all you could this summer to beat the heat? I think women often fail to realize what a great difference the type of undergarments they wear can make.

After all, we do not wear woolens in hot weather. Why, should we wear the same undergarments in summer? Girdles are especially hot and irritating when the temperature jumps upward.

In the past, if a woman needed lots of figure control, she wore heavily boned girdles made of heavyweight material. Of course, that is no longer necessary since there are gentle-looking, lightweight girdles, which nevertheless, can take control of the situation.

There is great variety among the lightweight streamliners. Investigate the ones planned for summer wear. The style is also important. If you have been wearing the pull-on or pull-up type girdles you may want to change for the warm season.

Trying to pull up a girdle when you are wet with perspiration or mildly damp from a shower or swim is one of life's trying little tests which is not necessary. The kind that zips up or hooks up is much better.

Also, there are summer brassiers made of net or very lightweight lace. Do you know that cotton is much cooler than silk or nylon? Cotton slips are cooler for very warm weather.

The way you wear your hair can help you beat the heat. This can have a definite effect on your summer comfort. Lots of smart women change their hair style with the season. Many women, who wear their hair longer and in more complicated styles during the winter, have their tresses cut short for summer.

Some women let their hair grow longer for summer so that they can sweep it up, away from their ears and neck. They may pile it on top of their heads, or wear it in pony tails for informal occasions or in curls high on the back of their heads.

All of these little tricks will help you pass through the hot season in greater comfort.

The engagement is announced of Maureen Ellen Stafford and Joseph L. Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brownie F. Little of South Winding Drive. The bride elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Stafford of Detroit. Vows are slated for Sept. 12, 1969.

Cost of Having a Baby Continues to Rise

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant
In Money Management

A young friend of mine who had a baby two and a half years ago was trying to help an expectant mother figure out what to worry about in the way of hospital costs this fall. My friend was reeling off the figures she had run into, such as $266 for two-bed accommodations and $258 for four-bed accommodations for a four-day stay. These included board and care, delivery room, lab fees, drugs and dressings. In order to check on these same accommodations in the same eastern metropolitan area hospital as of now, she made a phone call. The answer:

MARY FEELEY

As of Sept. 1, the $266 has jumped to $468, and the $258 of 2½ years ago to $460.

This puts real punch into what the statisticians say: medical costs continue to climb at a rate of about 15 per cent a year. Family planners must start with some sober figures in trying to prepare for the cost of having a baby. It's variously estimated that average per day semi-private hospital cost in larger metropolitan areas is $85, while that in smaller communities is $60. The cost in the U.S. as a whole in 1967, as reported by the American Hospital Association, was $58-$59 a day.

Two years ago, Blue Cross figured that for an average semi-private stay of 4.4 days in an average community hosital, the maternity patient had a $267 bill, not counting doctor's fees. A comparative figure for right now for the same semi-private accommodations is put at $330.

"Price ranges vary so widely in maternity care," says an executive at the Maternity Center Association based in New York City, "that it's very difficult to pin them down from one community to another. They are related to a dozen factors or more."

Especially "or more." Those who compute health costs today use the term "ripple effect." So many ripples circle out from the main splash when you talk about a day's cost in the hospital. Wages of all the people and cost of the equipment concerned in making it possible for you to be there make their claims on the dollar. And those items keep going up.

While health insurance plans can be counted on for some help, you'd better find out early exactly what you can expect in maternity benefits from your particular group plan. The amount of maternity benefits usually provided in an individual family health policy are so small they can't be relied on to ease the situation much.

According to Blue Cross and Blue Shield's standard contracts on a group insurance plan, BC may pay $80 in maternity benefits, and BS 75. Other BC-BS contracts provide for more. In fact, the extra cost to the individual for increased benefits in group plans are only peanuts for every $10 over $150 — provided the boss can be sold on taking on a more generous group contract.

Find out early, too, how maternity costs vary in the facilities available in your particular community. Sometimes it's possible to arrange to budget costs in a clinic connected with a university based hospital, where costs are quoted in a package including pre-natal care, normal blood tests, chest X-ray, board and room, plus care of the new baby. The total expense in this kind of setup would, of course, be considerably less than in other types of hospitals.

OU Course Is Offered for Parents

Parents have a chance to observe and learn more about their pre-school children in action with others through an unusual course offered by the Division of Continuing Education of Oakland University.

The parent observation class is limited to 14 mothers and their three and four-year-old children. The class begins with a meeting of instructors with both parents followed by ten two-hour supervised play sessions which the mother attends.

NOTES, COMMENTS

The mother takes notes on her child or children at these sessions in St. Paul's United Methodist Church, on East Square Lake Road. At the same time, the instructor writes comments on each child which are passed on to the mothers.

Two separate sessions for parents are available. One begins Sept. 23 with the play meetings scheduled for Monday mornings for 10 weeks. The other begins Sept. 24 with the following meetings taking place Tuesday mornings.

Another course, designed for both parents and educators, is an introduction to the Montessori Method and its potential in American education. The class meets for 10 weeks starting Sept. 25.

Aimed at the non-teacher is a brand new course in educational challenges today which ranges from integration to negotiations to public versus private education. In operation for seven weeks, this class starts Sept. 24.

More information on these education courses may be obtained by calling or writing to the Division in Room 263, South Foundation Hall, Oakland University, Rochester, Mich. 48063.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

How can I adjust a one-piece pattern for a larger bust and a short back? I get a bulge of fabric in the back that seems to indicate a need for back darts.

Mrs. M. B.

Dear Mrs. M. B.:

You make a fold across the back of your pattern just above the waistline, the width of the fold would depend on the amount of adjustment needed. At the same time, increase the size of the underarm dart according to the fold you took out of the back. This will give you a much better fit through the bust and eliminate the excess fabric in back.

There is another reason why a dress bulges in back, and this is usually caused from fitting the skirt too tight just below the waist. Most women who put on extra weight need more room than the pattern allows for at this point. I have also found that unless a woman is very thin, she will look better with a small dart at the back of the garment. You must experiment with these changes until you find the ones that will do the most for your figure.

Dear Eunice Farmer,

I love to sew and consider myself quite professional when it comes to the finished product, yet I seem to lack the courage necessary to make anything unusual. As I look through my wardrobe, there isn't one thing in my closet that wouldn't look great on my mother. This isn't exactly the way I want to look at my age.

Mrs. J. W.

Dear Mrs. J. W.:

Your letter reminded me of a friend of mine who was asking my advice about a new pattern she was considering. The bodice was in a contrasting color, and the collar and front edges were bound in the contrasting color of the skirt. She told me she liked the pattern, but thought she would make it all in one color and perhaps add a contrasting collar. She was thinking of the practical part of the garment, which undoubtedly was going to take away the joy and thrill of making her original pattern.

Clothes are a means of expression, and leading authorities agree that they can greatly influence your state of mind and well being. Be free; make something unusual; be courageous, and I'll personally guarantee it will brighten your entire life. In this day and age, we must think young and know that nothing is forever; we must be willing to change our ideas and not form a set pattern.

Today, we don't expect one dress to cover every occasion. This was a necessity during the depression days, and many women are still in the same rut. We have clothes for at-home wear, sports, evening clothes, etc. This is the reason women have run back to the sewing machine again. Please try one project that has a little more daring than you've ever had before and let me know if I'm right!

Miss Conley Takes Vows in Morning

MRS. BRIAN KOSMAL

Mary Elizabeth Conley, daughter of the Edward C. Conleys of Birmingham and Brian Alfred Kosmal, son of Mrs. Alfred Kosmal of Downers Grove, Ill., and the late Mr. Kosmal, repeated Saturday vows in Holy Name Catholic Church, Birmingham.

A luncheon reception in Northwood Inn followed Saturday morning vows in Holy Name Catholic Church, Birmingham for the Brian Alfred Kosmals (nee Mary Elizabeth Conley.)

Her flowers were a colonial nosegay of Sweetheart roses and daisies.

Judy Paski was maid of honor for the daughter of the Edward C. Conleys of Birmingham. Serving as bridesmaids were Nancy McKinnon, Suzanne Peterson and Kathy Kosmal.

The son of Mrs. Alfred Kosmal of Downers Grove, Ill. and the late Mr. Kosmal asked his brother, Richard to be best man. Ushers were Alfred Kosmal, Gary Pfanz and John Conley.

Pontiac Man Wed in South

Hampton Presbyterian Church, Hampton, Va. was the setting for vows Saturday pledged by Kay Mitchell of that city and Pfc. Orval Larry Grimes.

Parents of the couple are the Benjermine Mitchells of Hampton and the Orval Grimeses of East Colgate Street.

Standing as best man for the bridegroom who will leave on a tour of Thailand later this week, was Spec. 4 Ronald Precillo. The newlyweds are honeymooning in Pontiac.

The merchandise selection is as varied as the shoppers themselves. It includes fresh fruits and vegetables, just-out-of-the-oven baked goods, holiday corsages, home-grown flowers and plants, and hand-carved woodcrafts.

NO ADVERTISING

There is no commercial advertising for the market, but people find out about it, usually through the word of satisfied customers.

* * *

"We get many customers from the suburbs," said Wesley Allen, county market master. "And many travelers stop by on their way up north.

* * *

"Our busiest day is Saturday. The aisles are jammed at various times in the morning. "Business has been good every day this summer, however, despite some crops not being as plentiful because of storm damage."

There are 40 farmers who rent market stalls on a year-round basis. Thirty-two stalls on the outside of the main building have not been used yet this year.

* * *

"Small growers come in for a day at a time," said one regular seller. "They take the stalls that are not filled that day."

Church groups and youth organizations also rent the stalls for bake sales and other projects.

Reminiscing over his past three years as market master before he retires this fall, he points to the hours in the market as very memorable ones.

"I've thoroughly enjoyed my job here, and I'm going to miss it this fall. There's a real friendly atmosphere, even in the rivalry among farmers.

The market also is a meeting place for both farmers and customers.

HIS DUTIES

As market master, Allen's duties include keeping the customers and farmers happy, providing market selling supplies, collecting stall rent, and representing the farmers at the Oakland County Board of supervisors.

"This year I had to ask the board if one farmer could sell fish in the market. This had never been done before so we had to take it before the board."

Albert Deuel, who raises fish in ponds on his farm, 17201 Coon Lake, Armada, freezes them immediately after catching them. He then sells them fresh to seafood-hungry customers.

GOOD EXPERIENCE

"It's a good experience for him," says Deuel. "He enjoys it, and the work helps him with his math."

Besides offering fresh garden fruits and vegetables, the market also has a breakfast and lunch stand in the middle of the main building.

Mrs. Thelma Whitlock of Waterford Township is the behind-the-counter manager.

Thus, in all areas of the Oakland County Farmers' Market, there are conscientious and proud people offering fine foodstuff, homemade household items, and still ground-cool flowers to people throughout the Pontiac area.

ANOTHER MARKET DAY —Harold Petrie of Washington unloads his truck for another day in the 14 years he has been coming to the market.

THE GLAD GAME—Trying to select a bunch of gladiolus can become quite a decision. An unidentified customer has just made her purchase, still leaving other shoppers with hundreds from which to choose.

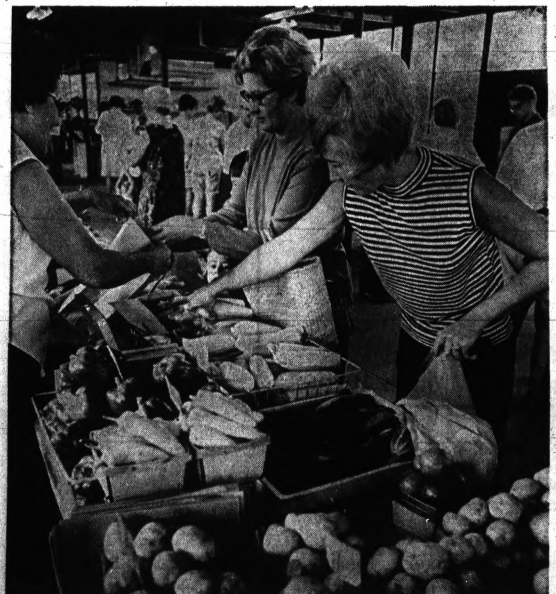
TASTY DISPLAY — Shiny, fresh vegetables are sold in small containers displayed on tables in each farmer's rented stall. Products are washed and cleaned by the farmers before being brought to the market.



"A LITTLE BIT O' THIS"—Two early Saturday morning shoppers get the "pick-of-the-crop" from the market's corn displays. Corn is one of the items usually picked shortly before the farmers come to market for the day.

THIS IS THE PLACE—Wesley Allen will retire this wall after three years of service as Oakland County market master. Allen worked in other county jobs for 11 years before taking his present position.

Pueblo Report by Reds Seen

TOKYO (UPI) — A Japanese Communist leader said today Communist North Korea may announce next week "some progress" in negotiations to free the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo and its 82 crewmen.

Kenji Miyamoto, secretary general of the Japanese Communist party, returned from Pyongyang Tuesday. He did not say specifically what he found out in talks with North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung.

Miyamoto said North Korea was expected to make a statement on the Pueblo on Sept. 9, the 20th anniversary of its independence.

Army Will Try 6 for Refusing Chicago Duty

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—The court-martial of six Ft. Hood soldiers, including two from Detroit, who demonstrated against being sent to Chicago for possible riot control duty during the Democratic National Convention, is pending while their civilian attorneys prepare a defense.

The court-martials originally were scheduled last week.

The six were among 43 soldiers taken into custody Aug. 24. All but one were charged with failure to obey a lawful order of a commissioned officer. The remaining man will be charged later, military officials said.

The 43 were among about 60 Negroes who demonstrated at this central Texas Army installation the night of Aug. 23 and the following morning.

But, 17 of the 60 dispersed when so ordered by Maj. Gen. John K. Boles, 1st Army commander.

When the 43 remaining soldiers failed to make reveille on Aug. 24 and again refused to disperse they were taken to the stockade.

The six soldiers to be tried first, all members of the 17th Engineers Battalion, 2nd Army Division, are Pfc. Reginald Thompson, 21, and Spec. 5 Rudolph Benn, 20, both of Detroit; Pfc. Charles Arline, 24, Jackson, Fla.; Pvt. Steve Suswell, 20, Greenville, S.C.; Pfc. Ronald McCoy, 23, Philadelphia; and Pvt. Ronald Dias, 21, Oakland, Calif.

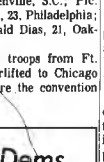
Riot control troops from Ft. Hood were airlifted to Chicago the night before the convention began.

Most of Show Biz Dems Will Support Humphrey

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Eddie Fisher and I were talking the other night of the importance of 11 years.

In 1957 producer Mike Todd and his wife, Liz Taylor, were about the most important couple around, and were frequently in the company of a young United States senator.



WILSON

"This is my friend Humphrey," Mike would say, with a tilt to his cigar. "I may make this bum president of the United States, but he can do it only if I can manage his campaign."

Eddie, who was married to Debbie Reynolds then, and a worshiper of Todd's, said that he became a zealous worker for Humphrey. He couldn't even estimate the number of appearances he'd made for HHH since 1964, when he was merely campaigning to get Johnson's acceptance of him for the veepship.

I mentioned to Eddie that I was at a political breakfast in Chicago during the convention and suddenly found myself on my feet, applauding.

"Hey, who are we applauding?" I thought to ask.

"The Humphrey kids," somebody answered. The family was getting a hand.

It can be forecast that most of the actors for McCarthy or Kennedy will support HHH in the end. Warren Beatty said that he certainly would.

"He's a great man," said Beatty. "I never had anything against him except the Vietnamese situation."

Humphrey, to this observer, is one of the politest men in public life. You should catch him signing autographs. When he's asked, he doesn't use any simple words like "Sure."

"Why, I'd be delighted," he says. "Very happy to. Now, how shall I make this out?"

And if it's a man who asks, he's likely to sneak in a compliment. "Oh, I saw your wife over there who made you ask me," he says. "Why didn't you let her come over? You outmarried yourself, you know."

F111A to Resume Viet Missions

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Air Force chief of staff said today the F111A fighter-bomber, grounded after triple tragedy, is ready to resume combat missions in Vietnam.

"We are now ready to return the F111 to combat in Southeast Asia where it can again perform in the most challenging conflict environment yet encountered," he said.

The remarks by Gen. John P. McConnell supported an earlier declaration from Maj. Gen. Lee V. Gossick, deputy for the F111 program, that the F111, once the TFX, is "ready for combat operations again."

The Defense Department called a halt to F111 missions over Vietnam after three planes crashed, two of which were not recovered.

Air Force investigators said the cause of at least one crash, and perhaps others, was a faulty actuator rod in the tail assembly. The malfunction since has been corrected.

The mishaps added fuel to the lingering controversy over awarding of the multibillion dollar contract to General Dynamics-Fort Worth.

McConnell's comments were prepared for delivery at an acceptance ceremony marking the turnover of the first F111C by the United States to the Australian government.

Australian Defense Minister Allen Fairhall accepted the sleek, swing-wing supersonic warplane on behalf of his government. The Australians have purchased 24.

PRICE TAG

Gossick and Australian F111C project officer S. W. Dallywater disclosed earlier the price tag for the aircraft, complete with spare parts and ground support equipment, would be $300 million.

However, it was announced, the U.S. commitment of 1963 was being met, whereby the "flyaway" cost of each aircraft would be $5.95 million.

And while nobody said so, it appeared likely the squadron of Australian F111s would eventually wing their way into the Southeast Asian conflict.

"It is conceivable," Dallywater said in response to a question at the end of a news conference Tuesday.

GOVERNMENT DECISION'

"This is a government decision," he added. "I could not give you a knowledgeable comment at this time."

McConnell also hinted at the possibility, saying:

"I have no doubt that in the capable hands of our friends and allies in Australia, the F111C will fully meet our expectations for a major contribution to the free world's defense.

"I therefore take great pride in turning over the F111C to the Royal Australian Air Force."

LAVISH PRAISE

It is, he said, "the most modern fighter-attack aircraft in the American arsenal . . . a revolutionary plane . . . It will fly an altitude above 60,000 feet, has a top speed of mach 2.5 and has an unrefueled, transoceanic range."

Mach 2.5 is more than twice the speed of sound.

Brown added: "In testing, it achieved bombing scores at night and in bad weather which would have been excellent for daylight attacks under ideal conditions.

"It performs two to three times as well as our other fighters with respect to range, payload, weapons delivery accuracies and target destruction. And, I can reveal that in Southeast Asia the F111 sustained its earlier excellence."

The Air Force and Australian versions are similar with only the wings and landing gear of the F111C significantly different. The wingspan of the Australian version is seven feet greater, and there is a strengthened landing gear to carry heavier gross weights, bigger tires and brakes.

PUEBLO CREWMEN READ—The North Korean news agency, Korean News Service, made this photo available in Tokyo today. The caption reads: "Pyongyang, August 1968. The U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo was captured by North Korea on Jan. 23, 1968.

Nominating Process Needs Reviewing'

Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-18th District, called today for a complete congressional review of the process by which major political parties nominate presidential candidates.

"Now that both major conventions are over, I think it is clear that the American people are ready for some changes in this antiquated system," Broomfield said.

During the past month, he said, television has exposed the American people as never before to the process by which presidential contenders are picked.

"I have the distinct impression that they were disappointed in what took place both at Miami and Chicago," Broomfield said.

URGES ACTION

He urged that Congress act quickly on a resolution he introduced earlier this year calling for a national presidential primary and abolition of the electoral college.

Broomfield's request came today in a letter to Congressman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee as Congress reconvened after recess for the political conventions.

Broomfield asked that the committee undertake early hearings on his bill as part of a complete review of the nomination process.

He pointed out that expectations that Congress will be in session until at least mid-October and perhaps longer provides adequate time for a thorough review of the subject.

Broomfield said hearings may very well result in other suggestions in improving our nomination and election procedures.

He said he hoped that his resolution would at least provide a vehicle for full debate.

Pontiac Hires Planning Firm

To be sure that the development of City Hall property fits in with the Human Resource Center being planned on an adjacent site, the Pontiac City Commission last night approved the hiring of Urban Design Associates to coordinate the planning.

The Pittsburgh firm already has been retained by the Pontiac Board of Education to design the Human Resource Center.

The center would serve children from four elementary schools. It is to be built on an 18-acre site directly behind the Pontiac School District Offices and City Hall on the east side of Wide Track Drive.

According to Joseph (E.) Neipling, director of public works and services, Urban Design Associates will bring together the services of a traffic engineering consultant, a civil engineer and a landscape architect.

Working together they would provide a coordinated design which would stretch westerly from the Human Resource Center to the sidewalk next to City Hall and the police station, he said.

An expenditure not to exceed $4,500 was approved by the commission to cover the cost of the study.

Area Driver Obliging to Hitchhiker

At least one Waterford Township man will think twice before he picks up a hitchhiker again.

Charles D. Davidson of 4290 Cass Elizabeth told Waterford Township police last night his late-model convertible was stolen about 10:15 p.m. by a man he had just picked up on M59 west of Elizabeth Lake.

Davidson said he offered a ride to the stranger, who was headed toward Pontiac, then stopped at Ritter's Market, 3225 W. Huron, to get some groceries.

When he went into the store, he left the hitchhiker and the keys in the car. When he came out of the store, all three were gone — hitchhiker, keys and car.

NO HEADLIGHTS

A witness told Davidson and police officials he saw the hitchhiker drive the car away without the benefit of headlights. He was headed west on M59.

Davidson valued the car at about $4,200. Police are investigating but have no clues other than a description of the subject and the car.

They are man and wife in the "Petticoat Junction" television series. Now Mike Minor, 27, and Linda Kaye Henning, 23, plan to be married in real life.

The couple — "married" on the program last November— took out a marriage license yesterday at the Los Angeles County Courthouse. The wedding is Saturday at St. David's Episcopal Church in North Hollywood.

British Admiral Launches Macy Sale

The enthusiastic shopper at Macy's department store in New York was Earl Mountbatten, 68, British admiral and cousin of Queen Elizabeth II.

The former supreme commander of allied forces in Southeast Asia led the official opening yesterday of a multimillion-dollar sales promotion of British goods at Macy's.

"Buy British!" he exclaimed as his party, complete with imported bobbies, roamed the store doing just that. As the tour ended, Mountbatten strode toward his limousine, his aide following with a shopping bag of British goodies.

Finder, Not England, Gets Treasure

A jury in Farnham, England, turned a blind eye to a state claim for treasure and held that the gold-and-jewel-studded scabbard of Admiral Lord Nelson's sword should go to the young workman who found it.

The scabbard, encrusted with 633 diamonds and said to be worth more than $12,000, was found at the bottom of the River Wey by Fred Besch, 27-year-old electrical engineer, while skin diving.

Commander Edward May, an expert on Nelson's swords, told a special court he believed the scabbard to be part of the sword which the sultan of Turkey gave Nelson after the battle of the Nile in 1798.

How it got in the River Wey is a mystery.

The jury ruled that the find should not be handed to the crown as state-owned treasure, but to its finder.

"I thing it is too valuable and too dangerous for me to keep. I think I'll sell it," Besch said.

Youth Stands Mute Following Chase

Shipp, 19, of 6023 Gordon, Waterford Township, requested a court-appointed attorney. He was returned to Oakland County Jail with bond set at $10,000.

Shipp eluded about 20 officials from three law enforcement agencies Monday when they tried to catch him in a field near his home to serve warrant. He turned himself in later that day.

Man Hangs Self

Gerald F. Strandell, 50, of 59 Williams hanged himself at his home about 1:30 p.m. yesterday, according to Pontiac police.

Mrs. Ghandi's Search Is Over

Home Choice Spurs Controversy in India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A four-year search for a house for India's prime minister has ended in controversy.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, by a process of elimination, decided to move back into the residence of her father, Jawaharlal Nehru. It is a 40-room mansion on a 70-acre estate once occupied by British commanders-in-chief.

The problem is that the government declared Teen Murti house a memorial to Nehru on the day of his death, May 27, 1964.

An average of 2,000 persons visit it daily.

'SHE'S PRESUMPTUOUS'

When the choice of Teen Murti was made public, opposition politicians criticized Mrs. Gandhi, saying she was presumptuous. One member of Parliament promised he would offer "physical resistance" if the prime minister tried to move in.

Various princely abodes in the capital had been commended to Mrs. Gandhi, among them the palace of the former Nizam of Hyderabad, once reputed to be the world's richest man. For various reasons Mrs. Gandhi vetoed Hyderabad House, as well as two other mansions with feudal pasts.

Security men said the old-time palaces would be hard to protect. Others submitted that the renovation of tall-ceilinged rooms to accommodate air-conditioning would be overly costly.

At one stage, the construction of a new building on the Indian president's estate was proposed but it was decided this was financially out of the question.

SOME COMPANY

Meanwhile Mrs. Gandhi had been joined in her own modest bungalow by her newly married son Rajiv and his Italian wife, Sonia, plus her youngest son, Sanjay.

Despairing of finding any other suitable quarters, the Cabinet —in Mrs. Gandhi's diplomatic absence—decided on Teen Murti House. It was recalled that she had served as a hostess there in her father's day.

Mrs. Grandhi plans the move before the end of this year, possibly on her father's birthday, Nov. 14.

The looming question now is: what will happen to all the Nehru memorabilia gathered there to make up a sort of museum?

Leukemia March Chairman Picked

Mrs. Ruby Wagoner and her daughter, Virginia, of 243 Michigan have been appointed executive and teen chairman, respectively, for the annual ALSAC (Aiding Leukemia Stricken American Children) teen-agers' march.

Area youngsters will march door-to-door for contributions from noon to 3 p.m. on Sept. 15.

All funds will be used to maintain the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Memphis, Tenn., founded by entertainer Danny Thomas.

Auto Leasing Seen as Fast-Growing Trend by Industry Exec

DETROIT (AP) — Sometime within the 1970s half the people sitting behind automobile steering wheels in the United States won't own the car they're driving.

The reason, says Pickett, is the snowballing sales of lease, rental and fleet cars by all the auto makers.

Some others within the industry and even within Pickett's own company suggest his forecast of 50 per cent before 1980 is high, but such sales already account for something like 12 per cent and most industry executives anticipate growth.

GROWING BUSINESS

American Motors now has 141 dealers who lease as well as sell cars. Chrysler reports 291 dealers in its leasing system with 70,000 vehicles under lease and the business growing at the rate of 19 per cent yearly.

General Motors and Ford dealers also are in the leasing business and, of course, fighting with those of other manufacturers for the big volume purchases for company fleets and rent-a-car systems. Ford reported 2,450 leasing dealers.

GM had no figures immediately available on the number of leasing dealers, but likely has more than the others since it has many more dealers to begin with.

Pickett ticked off these advantages to leasing for the motorist:

No capital investment through downpayment; no worry about used-car values at trade-in time; a possible tax write-off for business people; a regular monthly outgo, regardless of repairs, that can be built into a budget; a new car every year or two at most, instead of every three or four or five or six; cheaper insurance if built into the lease instead of purchased individually.

SOME LEASE BACK

Some fleet buyers are leasing company - owned automobiles back to individual employes as an incentive to get and keep them.

Some companies, of course, find it less complicated to lease their fleets, since the whole bit can be written off as a business expense for tax purposes and there's no complicated depreciation figuring and little administration work involved.

One man leasing his car said he paid $95 monthly on a two-year lease of a Plymouth Fury III two-door hardtop, receiving full maintenance by the dealer and both personal liability and property damage insurance coverage.

Had he bought the same car comparably equipped without a down-payment and over a 36-month contract he said it would have cost him $105 a month, and by leasing, he added: "I didn't have to dip into saving for a down payment, I'll have a new car every two years and no worries or extra added expenses."

MIGHT BE HIGHER

Your lease price might run higher. He leases his car from the organization for which he works and which deals in large numbers with a nationwide leasing firm.

A Michigan Pontiac dealer, however, offered to sell a reporter a two-door Catalina for $144 a month on a two-year contract, with the reporter assuming the cost of insurance and license plates, or to lease him the same car for 24 months at $145 monthly and include insurance, plates and maintenance.

Of course, the reporter would have no equity or trade-in interest in the automobile at the end of the lease, and as long as he kept leasing, the monthly charge would go on and on.

The cost of the lease, like the sales price, varies with how far payments are stretched, the size of the cars and the options added on; whether insurance and maintenance are included.

Financing costs are a major item in new car buying. In Michigan, where law limits the interest to no more than six per cent annually on the total transaction, it costs $576 to finance a $3,000 car over 36 months — or $192 a year.

A cash purchase eliminates financing charges, naturally, and a high down payment would reduce them.

Normally leasing dealers figure than an automobile depreciates in value at the rate of two per cent of the wholesale (their price) every month over a 24-month span — or 48 per cent.

Some figure depreciation from the retail (your price) at 2¾ per cent monthly.

Dealers usually have an option of returning leasing cars to the manufacturer or selling them off their own used-car lots.

GOP Primary Results Hold Spotlight

By the Associated Press

Republican primary election contests held the spotlight Tuesday in races for U.S. Senate seats and governorships in Iowa, North Dakota and Nevada.

In Iowa, State Sen. David M. Stanley won a four-way contest for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator and will face Democratic Gov. Harold E. Hughes in the November election.

Hughes, three-term governor of Iowa, was an easy victor in the Democratic primary over a political unknown, Robert L. Nereim.

Tovert Ray, a Des Moines lawyer and former state GOP chairman, swept to victory in the Republican gubernatorial primary, defeating Donald Johnson of West Branch, a former national commander of the American Legion.

Ray will meet Democrat Paul Franzenburg for the chief executive post in November. Franzenburg, the state treasurer, was unopposed in his party's primary.

In North Dakota, the republican organization gubernatorial candidate Ed Doherty, a newspaper publisher, trailed Bismarck automobile dealer Robert P. McCarney in early returns. Democratic incumbent William L. Guy was unopposed in his bid for a fourth term as governor.

The proposed constitutional amendment to lower North Dakota's voting age from 21 to 19 was being defeated with nearly half the precincts reporting.

In Nevada, Rep. Walter S. Baring, bidding for his ninth term as the state's lone congressman, easily won the Democratic House nomination and State Sen. James Slattery captured the Republican congressional bid.

A tight race was being run for the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate, with Lt. Gov. Ed Fike and Dist. Atty. William Raggio of Reno the contestants. Raggio held a slim early lead.

The winner will oppose the unchallenged incumbent, Democrat Alan Bible.

Lansing Reverses Stand on Banning California Grapes

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's capital city got out of the grape boycott affair Tuesday night when the city council voted to rescind an earlier measure which supported the organizing efforts of grape pickers in California.

On a vote of 5-3, the measure which ordered California table grapes kept out of the city-owned open air market and announced the city's support of the grape pickers was stricken from the books.

Councilman Lou Adado and John Anas proposed the measure be taken off the books because it could lead the city to become involved in other labor disputes.

N. Koreans Assault Yanks

SEOUL (AP) — North Korean guards attacked three U.S. Army officers with fists, stones and shovels in the Panmunjom truce village when the officers tried to return a lost North Korean hat, the Army said today.

The Army said none of the American officers was seriously hurt in the incident Monday. It said they fought back briefly before speeding away in their car.

The hat was found by Lt. Col. R. G. Huber of Kansas City, Mo., Capt. Gilbert Valdez of Tempe, Ariz., and Major Ronnie B. Williams of Roanoke, Va., during a patrol in the joint security area, the Army said.

When Huber tried to give the hat to a North Korean guard, the guard swung at him, the Army said, and another 15 or 20 North Koreans who had been repairing a road joined in the attack.

"We doubted that the North Koreans would say 'Thank you,' but we did not expect this violent assault over a simple gesture of returning lost property to its owner," one of the officers said.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS

1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms ... nasty parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist.

Their District Was Dissolved

Court Opens Schools for 500

LANSING (AP) — About 500 youngsters from Wayne County's financially destitute Sumpter school district will have schools to go to Thursday because of an emergency order of the state court of appeals.

The court, in a 2-1 decision, directed Wayne County Circuit Court Judge George T. Martin to rule against the Van Buren school district, which sued the state, hoping to avoid taking the youngsters.

Sumpter, with a low tax base and no high school, was dissolved this year by the State Board of Education and its pupils distributed among four neighboring districts, including Van Buren.

The state board recommended a $935,907 legislative appropriation to help the four districts meet the higher costs of absorbing the approximately 1,000 Sumpter children, but the spending bill died in a House committee.

Van Buren claimed that since it had not received the money, it was not required to take the children. The Appeals Court disagreed as Judge Timothy Quinn and Robert Burns outvoted Judge Donald Holbrook.

A second lawsuit has been started by Airport school district, which also received some of the Sumpter pupils. Monroe County Circuit Court Judge William J. Weipert ruled against Airport, which has appealed.

Humphrey HQ 'Vandalized by Hippie Youths'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's southern California campaign manager says he arrived at the headquarters to find 20 hippies scrawling obscenities on walls and clogging drains.

Lavatories were clogged with leaflets from such groups as the Youth Commission of the Communist party of Southern California, Cerrell said after the incident Tuesday.

"They defaced signs with swastikas, wrote filthy remarks about the vice president on the walls and stood in the halls chanting, 'Ho, Ho, Ho Chi Minh,'" Cerrell said.

6 From State Die in Vietnam

State Traffic Toll Stays Ahead of '67

EAST LASING (AP)—Michigan's 1968 traffic death toll continues to run ahead of last year's total, provisional State Police figures show.

Listed as killed on streets and highways last month are 201 persons — 14 more than in August, 1967, and police say the figure is expected to be increased by delayed death reports.

For the first eight months of 1968, the provisional total stood at 1,446, compared with 1,261 in the same period last year.

Every 24 hours the motorists of the United States pay nearly $23 million in state and Federal gasoline taxes, totaling nearly $8.4 billion a year.

McNamara Gone but Much of Legacy Left at Pentagon

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
(© Military Writer

WASHINGTON — Although the record seven-year rule of Robert S. McNamara as secretary of defense has ended and he has been gone to the World Bank for more than five months, much of his thinking remains behind at the Pentagon.

His successor, Clark M. Clifford, has changed few of the fundamental policies he inherited. Clifford also has kept virtually intact the team of civilian analysts, administrators and aides McNamara assembled in the office of secretary of defense.

Before handing off to Clifford last winter, McNamara claimed a 2,500-1,000 lead over the Soviet Union in nuclear warheads and pledged to maintain superiority. Despite attacks against McNamara's nuclear weapons' policies, particularly by the Republicans, Clifford has affirmed this policy.

* * *

McNamara consistently resisted embarking on a brand-new manned-bomber project, which he estimated would cost the country $10 billion and which he said would be ineffective against sophisticated Russian defenses. The Air Force is still trying to get an advanced strategic airplane, which would be a missile launcher and not a bomber — a plane which would come in at low levels in all weathers and fire a covey of short-range nuclear missiles at ground targets.

NO REVERSAL

But, Clifford has shown no sign yet of reversing McNamara and authorizing such an expensive new manned long-range system.

Other McNamara policies — some rammed through against professional military judgment and congressional protest — are under strong challenge by the Republicans and by Democratic "hawks" in Congress.

One of these has come to be known as "gradualism" in Vietnam.

The GOP's Coordinating Committee, for one, claims this strategy, fathered by McNamara and his civilian "whiz kids," has failed — "it has prolonged and escalated the war."

The tag of "gradualism" has been hung on the carefully controlled application of U.S. armed might, particularly in the bombing of North Vietnam, but also in holding down the U.S. troop commitment in South Vietnam and barring U.S. ground attacks on enemy sanctuaries in Laos and Cambodia.

DARLING OF DOVES

In the closing months of his regime, McNamara seemed to become the darling of the doves. This was an odd turnabout, because he had been the target of demonstrations by college anti-war protesters and at least one Senate critic referred to Vietnam as "McNamara's war."

* * *

The explanation for this appeared to lie in the reports which circulated last fall that President Johnson was listening more to the military chiefs and less to McNamara in the conduct of the war, and a concern by some that his departure would result in a wild escalation.

But surveying the war as a whole, the conclusion is inescapable that it was fought along a pattern cut by McNamara, rather than by the top military brass.

Besides attacking gradualism, the McNamara's critics also have mounted an offensive against his nuclear weapons policies.

GOP CHARGE

A GOP task force, including two Eisenhower administration secretaries of defense, has charged that "the United States has been gradually losing its technological and military preeminence."

McNamara adherents strongly dispute allegations that he brought a standstill in new developments.

They cite, among others, the Poseidon submarine-based missile, multiple warheads for single missiles, the Lance battlefield missile and the manned orbiting laboratory.

But most of the major nuclear weapons advances in the McNamara years really were improvements on systems born in the Eisenhower administration.

What McNamara can properly be credited with was a speed-up in the deployment of the Polaris and Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile, which gave the United States a big edge over Russia.

Now, however, there is evidence that the Russians have been closing the gap in missile launchers, and this worries military men and advocates of strong defense policies on Capitol Hill.

McNamara's defenders argue it's not the number of missile launchers that counts, but the number of warheads that will get through to target.

Last winter, McNamara claimed a 3,500 edge over Russia in nuclear warheads and pledged to maintain superiority.

But even as he proclaimed U.S. superstrength, McNamara tried to convince the Russians of the wisdom of slowing down the nuclear arms race.

MAY VINDICATE

Russia's recent agreement to discuss curbing nuclear weapons may vindicate McNamara's belief that the Soviet Union eventually would realize the atomic arms race is "foolish and futile."

On one important issue that bedeviled McNamara through most of his tenure, he already has seen his position repudiated.

This happened when the Pentagon halted all work on the overweight, high-priced F111B warplane. This action marked the end of a prime McNamara effort to develop a single plane, with some variations, to serve the needs of both the Air Force and the Navy.

Earlies this year, the Senate and the House both had had enough and moved to deny any more millions for the Navy TFX.

BOWS TO CONGRESS

On July 10, Clifford bowed to the apparent will of Congress and permitted the Navy part of of TFX project to die.

McNamara irked members of Congress by his attitude almost from the beginning.

Relatively early in his days as Pentagon chief, in 1963, McNamara assured the Congress that he was assuming much of the decision-making authority because he was trying to establish a "basic management philosophy" which had not prevailed before.

* * *

When congressman said some people on Capitol Hill have concluded that McNamara liked it that way, the secretary assured the congressman: "Give me time, and you will see that change."

NEVER CHANGED

But, in fact, he never did change—he continued to reserve to himself all the important decisions.

Even McNamara's sharpest critics concede that he was a supermanager and that his much publicized budget reforms and enforcement of civilian authority revolutionized the functioning of the enormous defense establishment.

One of McNamara's proudest accomplishments was his cost-reduction program, which he boasted saved more than $14 billion from the time he began it in July 1962.

TRICKERY CLAIMED

McNamara bore down hard on the importance of competitive contracting, the elimination of frills or "gold-plating" and the need to shut down obsolete and surplus bases — regardless of the political consequences.

Critics charged — without being able to prove it — that he indulged in some bookkeeping trickery, and that the savings were largely cost avoidance rather than actual reductions.

There were charges, too, that in his zeal to economize he cut too close to the bone in essential military equipment and weaponry.

The Senate Preparedness Committee hammered at McNamara on this score, contending he was endangering the safety of the United States and its ability to deal with problems other than Vietnam.

McNamara fought back, sometimes grudgingly acknowledging some temporary deficiencies. But the deficiencies were there.

CONTROVERSIES

Over the years, McNamara was embroiled in a whole series of controversies, many of which have faded in memory.

His first rebuff to Congress was delivered in October 1961—less than a year after he took office — when McNamara persuaded President John F. Kennedy not to spend $780 million in extra money to buy additional B52 bombers and to speed development of the 2,000-mile-an-hour B70.

U.S. cancellation of the 1,000-mile range Skybolt missile, designed to prolong the life of the B52, caused a temporary convulsion in U.S.-British relations because it was also supposed to give added years to the British Vulcan bomber.

But McNamara insisted that delays, rising costs, unreliability and advances in other weapons made the Skybolt dispensible. The decision stuck.

WATCHED CAREER

A man who watched McNamara from the very beginning to the very end of his years at the Pentagon said that it was the Vietnam war that finally got to this man of boundless energy and tough will.

"I think that Vietnam wore him down emotionally," this official said. "It rubbed his nerves raw. He showed it. He was a changed man in this respect.

"He was not physically, not mentally, but emotionally, worn out."

Satellites May Ease Air Traffic Jam

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The traffic problem that often causes lengthy takeoff and landing delays at major airports may be eased considerably in the early 1970s by a network of precise navigation and control satellites.

The satellites could lower required separation distances between aircraft, warn high-flying supersonic jets of radiation dangers, guide craft around bad weather, monitor plane systems for possible trouble, and pinpoint ditched planes or ships in distress.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration estimated the system would provide realiability and confidence to air traffic controllers and pilots to permit reduction of the present, widely spaced separation standards of 138 miles laterally, 20 minutes flying time longitudinally and 2,000 feet vertically.

They said that if the separation standards were changed to 103 miles laterally, 15 minutes longitudinally and 1,000 feet vertically that $46.5 million would be saved annually by aircraft operating in the heavily traveled North Atlantic region alone.

COMPUTER SYSTEM

The latitude, longitude and altitude of an aircraft could be computerized rapidly by the satellites and associated ground equipment at air terminals. The system could tell instantly when two planes were on a collision course and warn them via a satellite radio channel.

The system would permit controllers to better plot the location of planes and thus facilitate planning for landings and takeoffs.

A Navy network of navigation satellites has been operating several years, helping submarines with an accuracy of about 600 feet. Last year many of the details of the system were declassified so that commercial shipping could use the satellites.

Now, the Air Force, Navy and NASA are studying next-generation satellites that might provide a position accuracy of about 100 feet. Conventional earth-based navigation techniques are accurate to, within only two to four miles.

PLAN PERFECTED

The Navy orbited its first transit navigation satellite in 1960 and has launched several since in perfecting the system. Last March 1, it launched the first of a new series called Navy Navigation Satellite (NNS).

A total of four navigation satellites now are operating, primarily in support of the Polaris missile submarine program.

RCA's Astro-Electronics Division, which is building 12 NNS satellites under technical direction of the applied physics laboratory of Johns Hopkins University, reports the NNS system will enable commercial vessels to reduce their ocean-crossing time by as much as 10 per cent.

NASA's Electronics Research Center is handling that agency's navigation satellite program, which eventually envisions a network of evenly spaced satellites 22,300 miles above the earth.

A ground station or aircraft could be in touch with as many as six of them simultaneously for extremely accurate positioning. Another advantage is that the satellites would send a steady signal to computers and would require no interrogation by the user.

There may be up to 180 tons of metallic iron, 90 tons of aluminum, and 75 tons of magnesium on each acre of the moon, says a physicist.

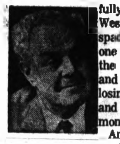
Jacoby on Bridge

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Anyone can make five odd in hearts with today's cards. All he has to do is to draw trumps, finesse successfully against West's queen of spades, discard one diamond on the lone spade and wind up losing one club and one diamond.



JACOBY

Anyone can make five hearts, but a good player will make only four odd. He will see that his game contract is safe provided his opponents can't take a club, a spade and two diamonds, and he will guard against two diamond losers by keeping East out of the lead.

He will start his campaign against East by letting West hold the first trick. Then he will win the club continuation and draw trumps with three leads, making sure he winds up in dummy. His next play will be to lead the jack, 10 or eight of spades from dummy and let it ride.

West will be happy to cash his queen but this won't interfere with South winning game and rubber. On the other hand, if the finesse were taken the other way and East got in the almost-automatic diamond shift it would give the defense four tricks.

The bidding of the hand illustrates the use of a limit raise. North has 11 points in support of hearts, not enough to invite game strongly. In the early days of contract everyone used limit raises.

Then, they disappeared for quite awhile only to start coming back into expert bidding. We rather expect they will get back into ordinary bidding also although they do indicate an unusual trend — a move toward simplicity.

NECTARINE ICE

Red-Gold Nectarines Vary Menu

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

With the supply of peaches a bit on the short and expensive side this year, it's good to know that there is a surplus of nectarines.

We've been happy that this year's nectarines are larger than ever and of excellent flavor. If you haven't bought any of this red gold, smooth skinned fruit, you're missing a delicious eating experience.

For a luncheon with the PTA planning committee or just a bridge foursome, plan to serve fruit salad with nectarine ice.

FRUIT SALAD WITH NECTARINE ICE

Salad greens
3 large fresh nectarines, sliced
2 large oranges, peeled membrane-free and sliced
1 cup strawberries, halved
6 clusters seedless grapes
Nectarine Ice

Line 6 individual trays or plates with salad greens. Arrange the nectarine slices, orange slices and strawberries over the greens; add a cluster of grapes.

* * *

Scoop Nectarine Ice into short-stemmed sherbet glasses or small glass berry dishes and place on trays. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

NECTARINE ICE

3 or 4 large fresh nectarines
1 can (6 ounces) pineapple juice (¾ cup)
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup light cream or half-and-half

Put nectarines in a saucepan of boiling water (off heat) to loosen skins; run cold water over fruit and slip off skins. Cut up enough nectarines to make 3 cups.

Into an electric blender turn the 3 cups cut-up nectarines, pineapple juice, sugar, salt and light cream; whirl until smoothly blended.

Turn into freezer ice-cube tray (about 10 by 4 by 5 inches) minus dividing sections. Freeze until firm about 1½ inches from edge and slushy in center — 1½ to 2 hours. Turn into mixer bowl and beat until light in color and fluffy.

FIRM IT

Return to ice-cube tray and freeze until firm enough to scoop out — about 2 hours. Makes about 1 quart.

NECTARINE HOT DOGWICHES

1 or 2 fresh nectarines
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese
1 egg
2 tablespoons hot mustard
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 teaspoons salt
6 hot dog buns
6 hot dogs

Chop nectarines coarsely to yield 1 cup. Beat cheese with egg, mustard, onion and salt; fold in nectarine.

Split buns and open flat; spread with cheese mixture. Place in shallow pan with hot dogs alongside and broil about 3 minutes until bun filling is puffy and flecked with brown. Serve hot dogs inside buns. Makes 6 servings.

NECTARINE CUSTARD ON A CRUST

3 to 5 fresh nectarines
2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup butter or margarine
2 egg yolks
1 cup dairy sour cream
½ teaspoon orange extract or vanilla

Slice nectarines thinly to yield 3 cups. Sift flour with salt, baking powder and all but 2 tablespoons sugar; cut in butter until crumbly consistency.

Pat evenly into bottom and sides of 9-inch square pan. Bake on lowest shelf in oven at 400 degrees 15 minutes.

Meanwhile, beat egg yolks lightly with sour cream, orange extract and the 2 tablespoons sugar. Arrange nectarines on crust, spoon cream mixture over fruit and bake about 25 minutes longer. Serve warm. Makes 9 servings.

Food for a brunch party should be novel, if possible. "Nectarine Brunch Sausage" is an unusual recipe for sausage patties. It does require some cooking time, but it's easy to prepare and the result is something different that's decidedly delicious.

NECTARINE BRUNCH SAUSAGE

1½ cups tomato juice
1 cup celery, finely chopped
½ cup sliced green onion
1 or 2 fresh nectarines
1 tablespoon flour
2 tablespoons water
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon Parmesan cheese

Form sausage into 8 patties; brown in hot skillet. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons fat. Add tomato juice, celery and onion to pan; cover and simmer 15 minutes. Uncover and simmer 20 minutes longer.

Meanwhile, cut nectarines into slices to measure about 1½ cups. Remove patties from pan; skim off fat. Blend flour with water, stir into mixture in skillet and cook over medium heat, stirring, until it thickens and comes to boil.

Add nectarine patties and sour cream to pan; heat through. Sprinkle with cheese. Serve with toasted buttered English muffins if you wish. Makes 4 to 8 servings.

Cheese Topping

For a steak topping, mix cream cheese and blue cheese until smooth. When the steak comes out of the broiler (or from over the coals), add dollops of the cheese mixture. They'll get creamy soft and taste delectable.

COFFEE GINGER-UPPER — Combine 2 teaspoons freeze-dried coffee with 4 teaspoons sugar in a tall glass. Add 2 tablespoons milk and stir to dissolve sugar. Add part of a 7-oz. bottle of ginger ale; stir. Allow foam to settle; then add 2 small scoops ice cream. Gradually stir in remaining ginger ale. Makes one servings.

Cream Enriches Little Biscuits

Small muffin pans (available with 6 or 12 wells) hold the richest drop biscuits!

MINIATURE DROP BISCUITS

1 cup unsifted regular (not cake) self-rising flour
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup commercial sour cream

In a medium bowl with a pastry blender cut the butter into the flour until particles are invisible. Add sour cream; with fork, stir just until flour mixture holds together — dough will be very stiff.

With a tablespoon and small spatula drop into small muffin pans (2 by 1 inch) filling to top. Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven until browned — 12 to 15 minutes. Serve at once.

Purple Plums Don't Stay Long

Fresh-from-the-oven fragrance of Purple Plum Coffee Cake brings small boys and those grown tall to the breakfast table better than any other awakening. So easy-to-do, with the many packaged mixes to be found on grocers' shelves! There are a variety of coffee cake mixes, muffin mixes, and always the versatile biscuit and hot roll mixes.

With fresh purple prune plums here in our markets from the Pacific Northwest, it is simple enough to sprinkle the cut fruit over a packaged coffee cake batter before adding the streusel topping.

Or fold the bits into a muffin mix batter, sprinkling the tops before baking with granulated sugar and a dash of cinnamon.

Or using a biscuit mix-made dough prepared for Tea Ring, sprinkle cut pieces of the plums over the dough instead of the usual raisins.

Packaged nut bread mixes may have cut plums stirred into the dry mix before the liquid is added, about 1 cup finely-cut fruit.

For coffee cakes, a rounded cup of the cut fruit is enough for the topping. Or the sliced plums may be used, placed in a desired pattern.

CUT IN HALF

To prepare the plums, cut in halves lengthwise following the "crease" in the plum. Since this is a freestone fruit, the seed zips right out with the flick of a paring knive. Then slice each half lengthwise. Or, after slicing in this fashion, cut across twice. This is better than chopping.

Because the fruit does not lose its juice or discolor, it may be prepared ahead and refrigerated until needed.

These unusual purple plums (really Italian prunes) are such good breakfasting thin-sliced and served with a dusting of powdered sugar and pour-on cream. Or you may like them simmered gently in a sugar syrup. These can also double as dessert.

POACHED PURPLE PRUNE PLUMS

1 pound fresh purple plums, whole or halved
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup water
1-inch vanilla bean OR ½ teaspoon vanilla extract dusting of cinnamon

Boil sugar, water, vanilla bean or extract, add cinnamon for 5 minutes. Add the washed plums, whole or cut in halves with seeds removed. Reduce heat.

Poach, which is cooking gently while spooning the syrup over them occasionally, until just tender. Turn once during cooking. Cool to serve. Makes 4 servings.

Try Garlic Accent

Make your own garlic olives. Transfer the contents of a can of ripe olives to a jar with a screw top. Add 3 garlic cloves, cut in half. Store in the refrigerator for a few days, shaking occasionally to distribute the garlic flavor.

Pattern Is Formed Inside Meat Loaf

Here's meat loaf with a surprise in each juicy slice! Tucked inside layers of ground beef are strips of luncheon meat and chunks of pineapple, all topped with lucious canned tomato sauce. Cut the loaf into pretty mosaic-patterned slices.

You'll be proud to serve Luau Loaf, hot to your family or special guests. You can also chill it to serve cold on a buffet table. Leftover slices make enticing hot or cold sandwiches.

Canned tomato sauce adds extra flavor and color to this unusual meat loaf. A full pound of sun-plumped tomatoes are simmered and lightly seasoned to make each can of this extra-rich sauce.

GARNISH

For fun, garnish Luau Loaf with a flourish of kabobs made from green pepper, pineapple chunks and stuffed olives. Serve with coleslaw, green beans with almonds, cornsticks and beverages.

A* * *.

P.S. Looking for something pretty and practical for that neighborhood potluck? This loaf is a good traveler that serves up quick and easy.

LUAU LOAF

2 pounds lean ground beef
⅓ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
2 eggs
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat
1 can (13½ ounces) pineapple chunks, drained

In large bowl combine beef, onion, bread crumbs, eggs, salt, pepper and ½ cup tomato sauce. Cut luncheon meat lengthwise into ½-inch slices; cut slices lengthwise into ½-inch sticks.

Divide beef mixture in thirds; pat ⅓ firmly in bottom of 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Arrange half the luncheon meat sticks lengthwise down beef; scatter half the pineapple chunks among the meat sticks.

Top with a second third of beef mixture; arrange remaining meat sticks and pineapple chunks as before. Finally cover with remaining beef mixture, patting down firmly.

Bake at 350 degrees for 1½ hours; pour off fat. Invert on heated serving platter; pour remaining tomato sauce over top. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

LUAU LOAF — This recipe features pineapple and luncheon meat surprises hidden inside an unusual version of classic meat loaf. A shiny glaze of canned tomato sauce tops off the loaf.

Retired Episcopal Presiding Bishop Dies

BETHEL, Vt. (AP) — The retired presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church of the United States, the Rt. Rev. Arthur C. Lichtenberger, died at his summer home Tuesday. He was 68.

He was an early fighter against racial discrimination, and he believed in stressing the similarities, not the differences, of Christian churches. He was elected 21st presiding bishop on Oct. 11, 1958.

Bishop Lichtenberger served until 1964 when he was forced to resign because of Parkingson's disease, which had affected his speech. Since that time he had been a visiting professor at the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass.

In 1961 he met with Pope John XXIII for the first such meeting between a pope and presiding bishop of the U.S. Protestant Episcopal Church. Bishop Lichtenberger said later, "We did not discuss our differences. That would have been quite beside the point."

RACIAL STAND

"A" class church is not a church," he said. "Only when the church is serving all people, when it appeals to everyone, is it doing what it should. This is true in high school and the kind of church we must be, are becoming, and in many areas already are."

Dissatisfied, he quit college to relaxed and approachable person who became riled on occasion. He was known to murmur his impatient motorist sounded a horn behind him when traffic ahead was blocked.

George Washington died at Mount Vernon, Dec. 14, 1799.

Jan. 8, 1900. His father was a grocer and, for a time, city council president. The future bishop played baseball and football and entered the University of Wisconsin intending to become a lawyer.

work for the Waterloo, Iowa, Telephone Co. He became interested in the ministry through his future father-in-law, the Rev. Martin Tate, a Waterloo Episcopal clergyman.

George Washington died at 10:20 p.m. Dec. 14, 1799.

He was born in Oshkosh, Wis.,

Allegan Switches on Sunday Liquor

ALLEGAN (UPI) — Allegan County supervisors, voting Tuesday for a second time the same day, approved the sale of liquor by the glass on Sundays by a vote of 20-19.

A vote earlier Tuesday ended in a 19-19 tie. But John L. Gurney, of Wayland No. 1 District, challenged the vote when he learned his ballot had been counted as a "no" instead of a yes, and a miscount was ruled.

Oregon was the first state to adopt a motor-fuel tax in 1919.

Surprise Becomes Fearfulness

VALDOSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Late last Friday night, Robert C. Redd of Plymouth, Mich., phoned his father from this small southern Georgia town and said he would bring a surprise when he arrived at his father's St. Petersburgh, Fla., home the next morning.

The surprise was supposed to be a visit by Redd's brother, his wife and 3-year-old son.

The four left Valdosta late Friday in Redd's small plane, a Piper Cherokee, on the last leg of the trip from Plymouth, to St. Petersburg. The trip from Valdosta should have taken between two and three hours.

But the plane hasn't been seen since.

NO FLIGHT PLAN

With Redd, 28, were his brother, Edward, 27, Edward's wife, Shirley, and their son Tommy.

Edward's family was from Westland, a Detroit suburb. Redd, who got his pilot's license last March, hadn't filed a flight plan and thus was not officially missed when he failed to reach his detsination. His parents in-Florida knew there was some bad weather in northern Florida that night and thought he may have waited for that to pass.

No search was made for the airplane until Monday. And that proved fruitless, the Eastern Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center at Robins Air Force Base reported today. Civil Air Patrol planes and spotters, along with ground parties, scoured a 5,000-square mile area in southern Georgia and northern Florida without success.

A&P

It takes an expert to grade beef!

In our great country we're lucky.
Our government trains and employs experts...men who inspect and grade beef at hundreds of locations throughout the nation.
They protect you...and retailers, like us.

Also important are A&P's own beef experts.
Their job is to see to it that A&P Beef measures up to our own "SUPER-RIGHT" quality standards... standards which don't exactly fit our government's grading categories.
For instance, some beef graded U.S. Choice
just doesn't meet our "SUPER-RIGHT" specifications.

No wonder we don't hesitate to guarantee that the "SUPER-RIGHT" Beef you buy will be as flavorful and tender as you think it should be,
or your money back.

So, you don't have to become an expert

Air Time Offer 'Unresponsive'—Daley

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Broadcasting Co. has offered Mayor Richard J. Daley a special one-hour program in response to his request for air time to explain "what really happened" during the Democratic National Convention.

But a spokesman for the mayor said Tuesday night Daley termed the NBC news offer "unresponsive" and said the mayor probably would not attend.

Daley said Tuesday he sent letters to the three major television networks requesting one hour of prime time to counteract "the one-sided portrayal of the controversial events that were telecast" during last week's convention.

Reuven Frank, NBC news president, said in New York he invited Daley to "appear for a discussion of these events with a panel of distinguished reporters and editors on a special one-hour edition of 'Meet the Press,' Friday, Sept. 13."

Reacting to the NBC offer, the mayor's office spokesman quoted Daley as having said, "This is not what I requested. There is no need for a panel of reporters."

Frank said, in extending the offer, that he could not accept Daley's description of NBC telecasts as a "one-sided portrayal."

The other networks, the Columbia Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Co., did not reply immediately to Daley's request.

Daley announced his request during a three-minute news conference Tuesday in which he read a statement and then left immediately, refusing to answer newsmen's questions.

The statement said in part: "... Under all principles of fairness, the background and planning for the purpose of disrupting the city and the national convention, the tactics used by the demonstrators, the biographies of the organizers and leaders, the role of the law enforcement agencies, and the grave implications of these events to the cities of America, which were not portrayed during the convention coverage, should be presented to the American public."

The mayor also said he had named a committee to investigate the violent confrontations between police and young peace demonstrators which resulted in 500 arrests and injuries to many persons, including 24 newsmen and 152 policemen.

An aide to Daley said the committee includes James B. Conlisk Jr., police superintendent; Robert Quinn, fire commissioner; and members of the Chicago Corporation Counsel's office and the Department of Health.

Romney Makes 4 Appointments

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney Tuesday appointed three persons to the State Board of Examiners for Sanitarians for terms expiring Dec. 31, 1969.

Named to the board were Bruce Reynolds of Lake City, Samuel M. Stephenson of Holland and Robert R. Dalton of Lansing.

Romney also appointed Margaret Steffens of Holland to the State Board for Libraries. Mrs. Steffens' term expires June 24, 1973.

Israel Holds Egypt Boats

TEL AVIV (AP) — The Israeli navy is investigating two Egyptian fishing boats which it captured in Israeli territorial waters six days ago, an army spokesman announced today.

He said the two Arab boats entered Israeli waters on Aug. 29 "close to the Sinai area," the Egyptian desert east of the Suez Canal which Israel forces occupied in the 1967 war.

The spokesman said the two boats were escorted to an Israeli port. He refused to say how many Egyptians were captured with the boats.

The army also announced another Israeli-Jordanian duel in the North Beisan Valley, where shooting across the border is an almost daily occurrence.

A spokesman said the Jordanians fired first with light arms just before dawn, and the exchange lasted 50 minutes. Almost immediately after, he continued, the Jordanians opened up again with light arms and mortars in the North Jordan valley, and a 10-minute exchange followed.

No Israeli casualties were reported.

The Two Faces of Comedienne Phyllis Diller

(EDITOR'S NOTE — She stands on stage with an outrageous wig, incredible clothes and a long cigarette holder and makes herself the butt of her best jokes. Her cackling laughter is familiar to millions of television fans and nightclub spectators. But what's Phyllis Diller like off-stage?)

By CYTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Phyllis Diller, ex-Alameda housewife, created Phyllis Diller, the creature who says she brushes her hair with an electric toothbrush. But any similarity other than a wild and rafter-shaking laugh is strictly professional.

The real Phyllis Diller, who had her 50th birthday in July, will make a million dollars this year in nightclubs, films, concerts and television, as well as from records and sales of two slender advice books, both best-sellers.

She, her second husband and four of her five children live in a 30-room mansion in a posh Los Angeles suburb and her favorite of eight family cars is a new Rolls Royce.

On Sept. 15 NBC will unveil her new Sunday night variety hour, "The Beautiful Phyllis Diller Show." While the program is lodged in a late-evening time spot which has been a booby trap for a number of predecessors, Phyllis is sailing in without trepidation — after all, she managed to survive, intact, a real disaster of a situation comedy a couple of seasons ago called "The Pruitts of Southampton."

'PRETTY AWFUL'

"It was all pretty awful, she moaned, "but it did one thing—it gave me a children's audience: they loved it."

Phyllis has gone, in 13 years, from a funny lady clowning at the Alameda, Calif., laundromat for an audience of fellow time-killing housewives, to top-rung stardom. From the outset she chose as her own the area of comedy subjects that she understood best: home and children. And, she turns all the humor and satire upon herself.

She is, if you believe what you hear, the possessor of the "Bad Housekeeping Seal of Disapproval;" her mythical husband is Fang; her mother-in-law is Captain Bligh, and her sister-in-law is Moby Dick. Her dreaded next-door neighbor, the snooty one, is alway Mrs. Clean.

Her own hair is rather thin and those outrageous effects are obtained with the use of wigs. She has a dressmaker whom she calls "Omar of Omaha," who whips up those incredible stage clothes. She does not smoke but uses the long cigarette holder as a prop to punctuate her gags.

BIG BOOSTS

Her very distinctive appearance on stage provides endless gags by others. Bob Hope, whom she adores and who has given her big boosts up the ladder, calls her things like "The Liz Taylor of the Twilight Zone," and added to the bad housekeeping legend by noting that "Her refrigerator door has so many fingerprints on it the FBI uses it to train agents."

Even though the public Phyllis Diller is something she dreamed up, how does the real Phyllis Diller feel about all the "ugly" jokes for which she is the butt?

"That doesn't bother me a bit," said Phyllis, seriously. "That's comedy. I know—and I think that the public really knows — that I'm not a bit like that. The truth is, I'm a very good housekeeper, and with all due immodesty, I'm a great cook."

She talked about the new show, occasionally telling about the tough lean years when, with fierce determination, she was learning her business of comedy.

FOREVER GRATEFUL

"One of my guests on the show is Raymond Burr," she said. "The first booking I got was in San Francisco at the Purple Onion. I was perfectly terrible, nobody laughed and I was miserable. But Raymond dropped in one night and that blessed man came back three nights in a row after that and brought people with him. I'll be grateful forever."

One of her most frightening experiences came a bit later when she had managed to get booked into what she call "A sewer" in Washington.

"Hon-ey! But a real sewer, with girls who were actually supposed to mingle with the guests later. Well, Bob Hope came there with friends, too, and I thought I just can't go on with him there. But I had to, of course, and later he came back and told me I was great and to stick with it."

Hope is her greatest hero but he is closely matched by Jack Jaar, who found her at New York's Blue Angel. From his show in 1957 she took off like a rocket.

Off-stage and off-camera, she is a funny, witty woman, but tends more to anecdotes than one-line gags. She really and truly plays the piano — or harpsichord — and has managed to learn to play one song on a saxophone. The sax and the song will be used as a running gag—like Jack Benny's violin and "Love in Bloom" — on the variety series.

Her oldest child, Peter, is 27 and married. Then come three girls, from 24 to 20, and Perry, the youngest, who at 18 is finishing high school.

Although her routines are studded with dreadful remarks about her offspring—the kindest is: "They're for sale"—she is actually a doting mother who cheers Perry at school basketball games and is likely to brag unabashedly at Pete's ability as a writer.

She still has pleasant words about her first husband—"he always encouraged me to get into show business," she says. She is now married to Warde Donovan, a singer, to whom she dedicated her amusing "Phyllis Diller's Marriage Manual" in the following words: "To My Darling Husband, the Richard Burton of the Geritol Set."

That makes things sort of nice, since Miss Diller has been described as "the Twiggy of the Geritol set."

Russian Ship Stops in U.S. for Repairs

But although the skipper of the 200-foot Yuriy Lisyanskiy didn't ask permission to enter U.S. waters, the Coast Guard said the visit was okay.

Part of the towing gear had broken, and although repairs were made, the Russian skipper wanted to stay in protected waters until a 20-knot wind died down. The icebreaker and barge were anchored about one mile south of Port Orford.

Market Widens Initial Gains

Gains outnumbered losses about 2 to 1 as the market rose for the second straight session following Labor Day. The Dow Jones Industrial Average was up between 3 and 4 points.

Addressograph spurted half a dozen points on a report of a sharp gain in profits.

Reynolds Metals rose about 2 while Union Carbide, Standard Packaging and Kaiser Aluminum gained more than a point.

Among other actively traded stocks, Global Marine rose about 2, while gains of around a point or better were scored by Sunasco, Certain-Teed and Stokely Van Camp.

Xerox and IBM gained a point or so in routine moves.

A rise in construction spending and new factory orders were among the more encouraging news factors.

Glen Alden opened on 10,000 shares, unchanged at 14¾.

Tuesday the Associated Press Average of 60 Stocks rose .8 to 333.9.

Teachers Out in 15 Districts

91,000 Pupils Home; State Mediators Busy

LANSING (AP) — Thousands of pupils stayed home today as teacher disputes prevented schools from opening their doors. In some cases, pupils were celebrating their second additional day of vacation, Lt. Gov. William Milliken said.

A total of 15 school districts involving 91,000 pupils were reported involved in the disputes. Most of the districts were located in populous Wayne County, the governor's office said.

Mediators and factfinders reportedly were working round-the-clock in an effort to bring boards of education and teacher unions close to agreement.

Teachers in another 35 districts reported for work even though contracts had not been signed, the governor's office added. The teachers agreed to work while negotiations were were still in progress.

2 TEACHER GROUPS

Of the 15 districts that failed to open on schedule, 12 involved the Michigan Education Association. In the remaining three districts, the teachers were represented by the Michigan Federation of Teachers (AFL)CIO), the governor's office said.

Settlements in Dearborn No. 7 and Bessemer districts were reported Monday by Milliken, named by Gov. George Romney to seek school-teacher agreements across the state.

Authorities pointed out that the situation across Michigan is improved over last year when 53 districts were struck.

Schools are expected to remain closed for at least two weeks in the Adams Township school district in Houghton County because of the resignation of the superintendent and school board. New elections have to be held before negotiations can resume, authorities said.

PACT UNSIGNED

Many pupils in the Gladwin school district reported for classes Monday but were sent home by the board of education which had failed to sign an agreement with the Gladwin Education Association.

Supt. John Bruce said the GEA rejected a $1,300 minimum pay raise, but declined to reveal present salaries. William Dunham, president of the GEA, called the board's action "shocking."

Bruce added that the three schools in the district would remain closed on a day-by-day basis.

The opening of school in Charlevoix was postponed for a week Monday after teachers requested the delay to give a fact-finder time to review contract proposals.

PAY PLAN SPURNED

Teachers have rejected salary hikes from $748 to $1,390 in 11 steps and raises of $1,057 to $1,553 for a master's degree.

Jackson school teachers Monday approved a new two-year contract giving starting teachers with a bachelor's degree $6,775 annually. The minimum scale will be boosted to $7,300 next year.

Two districts — Inkster and Chippewa Valley — were not scheduled to open until Thursday. But authorities held little hope that contracts would be signed and the doors would open on schedule.

Districts that filed to open Monday included Adams Township, Charlotte, Northville, Oscoda, Riverview, Willow Run, and Heintzen.

NEW YORK — As the impact of recent charges and court cases is absorbed by the financial community, the significance of recent government moves is becoming apparent. They are attempts to protect the small investor.

CUNNIFF

As the number of shareholders increased forfold in 15 years, inequities in what some people on Wall Street like to call people's capitalism have been made to glare.

The emergence of a middle class with money for stocks has thrown the naive in with the sophisticates. And, next to experience and basic intelligence, the difference is primarily one of information.

There is a great disparity in the quality and timing of information available to the public compared with that to which a select group is privy. This has been the situation for so long that it is thoroughly ingrained; it has, in fact, been the basis on which some traders have made their money.

'NO REASON FOR IT'

Now the Securities and Exchange Commission appears to be saying that there is no reason why this old, clublike atmosphere should continue, especially when the welfare of 24 million shareholders is involved.

At least three decisions or charges are establishing the new patterns:

- A ruling in SEC vs. Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. that stated, in essence, that nobody can trade for personal profit with information intended only for corporate use, knowing that the information is not publicly available.

The case was developed after the SEC detected purchases by Texas Gulf officials prior to the announcement of a major ore strike in Ontario.

- Accusations by the SEC that Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, the nation's biggest broker, violated antifraud laws in that it provided information on an earnings decline at Douglas Aircraft to institutional investors while withholding it from smaller investors. Merrill Lynch denies the charges.

- A court decision involving BarChris Construction Corp., a builder and operator of bowling alleys, in which a prospectus failed to include information that might be construed as derogatory.

Individuals claimed they purchased stock in BarChris without realizing it was also an operator of bowling alleys, which you might remember suddenly dropped out of favor a few years back.

This case seems to leave anyone connected with a misleading securities offering personally liable for damages. It includes accountants, officers, directors, underwriters.

There are several other cases in which the withholding of information or the release of misleading information is attacked. A couple of cases, at least, involve suits against accountants for not discovering errors in profit reports.

It is still a bit early to measure the consequences of these decisions. Not all have been very clearly stated, and perhaps they have not been thoroughly tested either. There is even the chance that, with a new administration in Washington, following a different philosophy, the SEC might begin to forget its pursuit.

Until clarification is reached, however, thousands of persons remotely or intimately connected with shares in American industry must walk a tightrope under the most distressing circumstances, for they are quaking inwardly.

The analyst asks now if he must eliminate hunches and tips and concentrate instead on hard, factual information.

DIRECTORS WORRY

The corporate director worries that by serving on a board he might leave himself open to a personal liability suit from a disgruntled stockholder.

The public relations man who casually drops hints to the stock market gossip columnists now wonders if somebody over there in the SEC is watching him.

Auto Club Seeks Halt in Road Toll Forecast

DETROIT (AP) — The Automobile Club of Michigan said Tuesday it would ask state officials to stop predicting the number of traffic deaths before holiday periods and counting them after the periods are over.

"This practice gives the wrong impression that our safety problem is the holiday driver going on a long trip," said Fred Rehm, the Auto Club's general manager.

"It is not. It is the person who stays at home and takes short trips on two-lane roads," he added.

Forty-six people were killed in Michigan over the Labor Day holiday weekend, one of the highest statewide totals in the nation. The figure was two less than the number of people killed during the same period last year, when a record was set.

UNSAFE SPEEDS

Rehm said preliminary analysis by the Auto Club showed 83 per cent of this year's Labor Day weekend fatalities happened on two-lane state and county roads at speeds too fast for road conditions.

Eighty per cent of the fatalities, Rehm said, happened with-
,emhosEoetaoshrd
ties, Rehm said, happened within 25 miles of the driver's home, not on a long holiday trip.

Michigan's sheriffs are generally "woefully understaffed" to patrol these rural two-lane highways, said the head of the Michigan Sheriffs' Association Tuesday.

Ingham County Sheriff Kenneth Preadmore, president of the association, noting the Auto Club study of Labor Day holiday deaths, said, "one of the primary missions of the sheriffs of Michigan is to patrol these so-called 'back roads' where the fatal accident rate is extremely high."

"At the same time," he added, "our last annual report showed that the average sheriff in Michigan is woefully understaffed to perform this vital task."

Preadmore urged the state and county board of supervisors to increase spending "to provide the manpower and equipment to develop an adequate enforcement force."

Rehm said his organization also would call for temporary posting of 50 mile-per-hour speed limits on two-lane roads during the day and 45 m.p.h. limits at night, "with adequate police manpower" to enforce the limits.

A 14 per cent rise in fatalities throughout the state this year and a 40 per cent rise in fatalities in Detroit, he said, are paralleled by a drop in the amount of police manpower available for traffic patrol.

Czech Scientist at Stanford U. Denies Defection

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — A Czechoslovakian scientist denies that he defected to the United States.

Dr. Jan Klein, an authority on transplantation genetics, made the denial Tuesday in a statement issued through Stanford University Medical School's news bureau.

He said he was visiting Stanford as a research associate in the genetics department and that arrangements for his trip had been made seven months ago.

U.S. and Japanese officials said he "obviously" was a defector, but a U.S. Embassy spokesman in Tokyo declined to classify him officially as a defector.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—I'm a widow living on dividends for the most part. I hold 1,272 shares of Utah Construction, a family investment going back for two generations. I admit to some sentimental attachment. I also own 122 shares of Kaiser Cement. I need more income and have been advised to sell all or part of Utah Construction. What do you say? — V. P.

A—I say you have been well advised. You have over $100,000 of capital returning barely 2 per cent in dividends and another $4,000 in Kaiser Cement yielding 3 per cent. I shall not repeat here what I have recently recommended for other readers with your same problem. Though sentiment has no place in the stock market, I appreciate your feelings and suggest that you cut back to 600 Utah Construction. Then consider some of my selections for reinvestment of your capital.

Your company is in a strong earnings uptrend and has increased dividends regularly. But you can more than double the yield on whatever capital you decide to release. Kaiser Cement reports a real turnaround in earnings, and I would hold this one for its comeback potential.

Q—My husband's company is merging, and the profit-sharing plan is to be discontinued. He will have to take his stake, and we both are troubled by the fact that reinvesting this money will raise our income tax liability considerably. So we are thinking about purchasing tax-exempt bonds, as we are already well over the 38 per cent bracket. Could you name a few, and do you approve our plan?—M.S.

A—I certainly do approve this solution to your problem. I suggest for your consideration New Jersey Turnpike Authority Revenue 3¼s of 1985, yielding 3.75 per cent; Illinois Toll Highway Revenue 4¾s of 1998, offering a 4.53 per cent return; New York State Power Authority Revenue 4.20s of 2006, selling to yield 4.51 per cent, and Yuba County (Calif.) Water Agency 4s of 2016 yielding 4.59 per cent. All of these issues are rated A or AA.

Man Shoots 2, Holds Child Hostage

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — A man who shot two persons and then barricaded himself in a basement laundry room with his 22-month-old daughter as hostage was talked into surrendering early today by his family physician.

The child, Sabrina Crider, was unhurt as Winston Mitchell, 27-year-old former convict, walked trembling from the windowless room where he had held police at bay for eight hours with his threat to kill the girl.

The breakthrough came when Dr. Jesse Pone, a 43-year-old internist, heard about the incident on his car radio while driving home from a Massachusetts vacation and raced here to help.

"I've had pretty good rapport with him in the past and thought I could help," said Pone, who arrived about 2 a.m. He said he had treated Mitchell several times over the past five years.

Police said the incident began when Mitchell argued with Mary Ellen Crider, 22, the girl's mother who shared his apartment in the green-shingled ranch home. Both Miss Crider and her brother, James Crider, were shot.

RESPONSIBILITY

Mitchell then retreated to the 10-foot-square basement room where Pone went to talk with him when he arrived.

"I said he had a 2-year-old daughter he loved. Being a black man with a baby, I said he owed it to the child to stay alive and see to its future," said Pone, also a Negro.

"About that time the child awoke and was hungry. We got a glass of milk and a peanut butter and jelly sandwich for Sabrina and then he asked for a cigarette," Pone said.

* * *

"As I handed the food and the cigarette I showed him my black hand so he would know it was me. He said, "I know it's you, doc,'" Pone continued. Police then urged Pone to try and get the gun.

GAVE UP GUN

"I said, 'Now the thing I would like you to do is put the gun in my hand,' and he did, handed it to me and I passed it to the officer," Pone said. "Then he was concerned they would shoot him.

"I reassured him, and when that was done he removed the barricade and he came out very subdued and quite shaken. was trembling," Pone said.

The incident began about 4:30 p.m. Tuesday when, according to Cornelia McManus, 35, the schoolteacher who owns home, Mitchell told Miss Crider he wanted to return to Durham, N.C., to live with his parents.

He asked for one of her suit cases, and she told him he could take it. The teacher said they went to the basement to get the suitcase and "they were only downstairs a few minutes when I heard a noise like a thump two times — she screamed three times."

James Crider, who also lives in the house, ran to the basement. "Then I heard a shot," Miss McManus said. Crider ran up and got into his car and drove off with Mitchell brandishing a pistol at him.

Miss McManus said that at one point Mitchell held the gun to his own head and said, "It won't go off, it won't go off, it won't shoot."

Then Miss McManus and Miss Crider, who had been wounded twice in the hip, ran out of the house. When police returned with James Crider, who had been shot once in the chest, Mitchell had gone to the basement room.

Both shooting victims were reported in satisfactory condition at Meadowbrook Hospital.

Ike's Progressing, so Doctors Stop Daily Bulletins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower's progress recuperating from his seventh heart attack reached the point where doctors have stopped issuing daily bulletins.

For the second straight day doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital said Tuesday, "His progress continues to be favorable."

They added there would be no further word on the 77-year-old general and former president until there is a significant change in his condition.

His latest attack was Aug. 16, the fourth in a series that started April 29.

'Final' Dunes Effort OK'd

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — A "last chance" effort to win congressional approval of a Sleeping Bear Dunes national lake shore in Michigan was approved Tuesday night by the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission.

The commission, composed of Govs. George Romney, Warren P. Knowles of Wisconsin and Harold LeVander of Minnesota, voted to urge approval of the bill by a House committee.

The group will send its resolution to Rep. Wayne N. Aspinwall, D-Colo., in hopes of obtaining action on the lake shore proposal from his House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

Committee members noted the short time left in the current session of Congress.

"It could be the last chance for action on this," said Herbert DeJonge, director of Michigan's Department of Commerce who attended the 4½-hour meeting.

The bill calls for creation of a national lake shore in the dunes area on the edge of Lake Michigan in northwestern Lower Michigan. Development of Sleeping Bear Dunes as a national lake shore was estimated in 1966 to cost $25.3 million.

RETURNS SAFELY — Third baseman Sal Bando of Oakland gets umpire Steve Valentine's decision as he slides back to first base ahead of the tag applied by catcher Bill Freehan of the Detroit Tigers during fourth-inning action of their game in Oakland last night. Swim Trials Close With Record Effort

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — George Haines doesn't think it will be too tough a job coaching the U.S. men's Olympic swimming team, for he says:

A record-shattering performance by UCLA's Mike Burton in the 1,500-meter freestyle, clipping 20 seconds off the world's previous best, wound up five days of Olympic trials Tuesday night.

"We have better depth in practically every event and the swimmers are more mature," said Haines, the Santa Clara Swim Club mentor who heads up the U.S. staff for the Olympics in Mexico City next month.

Burton, 21, a 5-foot-9 inch Bruin senior from Sacramento, Calif., swam the gruelling metric mile in 16 minutes 8.5 seconds.

FASTEST 800

Previous best ever had been the 16:28.1 by Mexico's Guillermo Echevarria last July. En route, Burton swam the fastest 800 meters ever recorded—8:34.3.

John Kinsella, a 16-year-old high school athlete from Hinsdale, Ill., was second to Burton and furnished the only competition and that through only about the first 600 meters.

Kinsella, a strapping 6-2 and 190, finished second in 16:24.4 also bettering the world record. Yale's John Nelson took third at 16:40.8.

An indication of the U.S. strength came when a freestyle quartet of Zach Zorn, Steve Rerych, Ken Walsh and Don Schollander swam to a world record in the 400-meter relay the sixth international mark for the new Belmont Plaza Pool.

They were timed in 3:32.5, one-tenth better than Zorn, Walsh, Don Havens and Greg Charlton had swam at the Student Games in Tokyo last year.

Thirty-eight were named to the swimming and diving squad. A late addition to the diving list was Chuck Knorr of Cincinnati.

TOP QUALIFIERS

The first three in each of the swimming events qualified, plus the fourth man in the 100-meters and seven who earned places on the basis of aggregate points.

Students Offer 'Olympic' Peace

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Members of the Student Strike Committee have said that if the government responds satisfactorily to their pleas they might cooperate in putting on the 1968 Olympic Games.

In a public announcement published by some of this city's newspapers the Strike Committee said:

"Once our problems are solved by the government, students from all university and polytechnic schools will aid the Olympic Organizing Committee actively and without pay."

The students, who have been attacking the Olympic Games, which begin Oct. 12, as part of their campaign to press the government to accept demands ranging from firing of certain police officials to reaffirmation of student autonomy, said they personally do not have anything against the Games.

"We want Mexico to be calm and to fulfill all of its international commitments. However, we also want true democracy and respect for our constitution," the committee said in the announcement.

MAY SWEEP

The students said their collaboration with the Olympic Committee may go as far as helping to sweep the streets daily, clean all the walls and house facades, which they have crudely painted with slogans and anti-government drawings, and act as interpreters and guides.

Two Wings Ailing; Training Camp Set

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings announced today the club will open training camp Sept. 13. in Port Huron and already two key players are sidelined.

Goalie Roy Edwards, 31, is hospitalized with a virus pneumonia in Hamilton, Ont. and will unable to play hockey for about a month. He expects to be released from the hospital in a week or two.

Captain Alex Delvicchio, 36, underwent minor surgery Tuesday for what the club described as a "perenennial minor ailment" and is expected to be ready for the opening of camp.

Injuries Hamper 'M' Grid Practice

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — With six players suffering from a variety of injuries, Coach Bump Elliott put his University of Michigan Wolverines through a series of hitting drills Tuesday.

Among those who suffered injuries in the earlier practice sessions was Ron Johnson, the first string halfback who last year set the all-time single season rushing record for Michigan with 1,006 yards. He was named captain of the Wolverines following last season.

Bengals Pad League Lead

Northrup Sparks Tiger Win

OAKLAND (AP) — Detroit's Jim Northrup probably will be happy to bid the fair city of Oakland farewell when the Tigers finish their yearly business there tonight.

The Athletics certainly will be glad to see him go.

Northrup, who fought his way out of the American League's newest playground earlier this season after being floored with a fastball, had some more ups and downs Tuesday night before stroking the key hit in a 6-3 triumph over the A's.

GAIN GAME

The victory, coupled with Baltimore's 6-1 loss to the New York Yankees, sent the first-place Tigers eight games in front of the fading Orioles in the AL stretch run.

Northrup committed a damaging error in the eighth inning as the Athletics rallied for three runs and a 3-2 edge.

He then sent home the tying and deciding runs with a single in the ninth, sparking a four-run Tiger comeback.

The Detroit right fielder started the night on the downgrade, going hitless in his first three trips to the plate and stranding three base runners in the fifth.

He singled to open the eighth — and was picked off first — but got back safely when John Donaldson's throw hit him in the head.

With the Tigers clinging to a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the eighth, Joe Keough laced a single to right. Allen Lewis raced home with the tying run and Sal Bando scored from first when Northrup booted the ball.

FILL THE BASES

But the Tigers filled the bases again in the ninth and Northrup made amends for his miscue with a two-run single to right. Mickey Stanley scored the third run in the inning on a wild pitch and Northrup tallied the fourth on an infield roller, beating the throw to the plate with a sweeping slide.

Last May 26 at Oakland, Northrup was hit in the head by a Jack Aker pitch, but picked himself up and charged the Athletics' reliever, setting off a free-for-all that emptied both benches.

The victory went to Pat Dobson, 5-5, who relieved Earl Wilson in the eighth after Wilson hit his sixth home run of the year in the inning before.

Doubles by Stanley and Don Wert pushed across Detroit's first run in the third.

The Tigers meet the A's in a makeup game tonight with John Hiller, 6-5, going to the mound for Detroit against Chuck Dobson, 11-12.

Yankees Keep Birds on Skids

BALTIMORE (AP) — For the first time since he became manager of the Baltimore Orioles, Earl Weaver looked downcast discussing the future.

"I've got to figure out something to get us out of this slump," Weaver said after the second-place Orioles had lost a 6-1 decision to the New York Yankees Tuesday night for their sixth loss in eight games.

"Let's see," he said. "We pitch McNally Wednesday, have an off day Thursday, and then come back with Hardin, Phoebus and McNally. If we take all four, maybe we can pick up two games on the Tigers. We still have three games left against Detroit, too."

Fritz Peterson, who had to leave the game after being struck on the right wrist in the top of the ninth, and Dooley Womack allowed Baltimore only five hits. Paul Blair's fifth-inning homer accounted for the run.

NAILED AT HOME — New York Yankee catcher Jake Gibbs applies the tag to Baltimore's Don Buford who tried to score from second on a hit by Frank Robinson in the first inning of their game in Baltimore last night. Outfielder Joe Pepitone fielded Robinson's hit and tossed to Horace Clarke who flipped it to Gibbs in time for the putout.

Sunday Game for Firebirds

While the Pontiac Firebirds were still attempting to fill the gap at quarterback, signal caller Bill Harrington, out with injuries for the past three weeks, engaged in light workouts yesterday.

The Pontiac gridders meet Ypsilanti at 4 p.m. Sunday at Wisner Stadium hoping to get back into the Midwest Football League title chase.

Head coach Tom Tracy indicated he has been talking to several quarterbacks hoping to fill the void which resulted when Bob Pomeroy followed Harrington on the injury list.

After winning 13 straight games, the Firebirds were hit with injuries and have lost to Dayton and Lackawanna, the two current MFL leaders.

The week off has helped mend many of the injuries, according to Tracy.

Pontiac Driver Gains After Track Accident

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Tom Swindell of Pontiac, burned over 20 per cent of his body in a sports car accident at Road America near Elkhart Lake Friday, was reported considerably improved at St. Mary's Hospital Burns Center Tuesday.

The hospital listed Swindell's condition as fair to good. He was injured when his car hit a tree and burst into flames during a practice run for Sunday's Canadian-American challenge cup race.

Light-Hitting Dodgers Unload Against Phils

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers, whose banjo-hitting style of attack often causes their pitching staff to sing the blues, suddenly blasted out a baseball version of the Anvil Chorus that all but tumbled the walls of Connie Mack Stadium.

Banjo hitter is a term that refers to a singles hitter, but the Dodgers were anything but that at Philadelphia Tuesday night.

They pounded out three homers and five doubles to produce eight runs in the final two innings for a 10-9 victory over the Phillies.

Of the Dodgers' other four hits, three were singles and one was Ken Boyer's two-run homer in the sixth.

Elsewhere in the National League, first-place St. Louis topped Cincinnati 5-3 in 11 innings, Pittsburgh edged Houston 3-2, the New York Mets beat Atlanta 4-3 and then lost to the Braves 7-6 in 12 innings and the Chicago Cubs trounced San Francisco 8-3.

LEAD-OFF BLAST

Willie Crawford led off the eighth inning by slamming a Dick Hall pitch off the right field light standard for a homer. Then with one out, Bill Sudakis homered over the right field wall and Boyer hit his second homer, off the upper left field stands.

Jim Lefebvre struck out, but, pinch hitter Len Gabrielson walked and Gary Wagner relieved Hall. Tom Haller greeted Wagner with a double, and Ron Fairly slammed a pinch double that scored Gabrielson and Hall and tied the score 7-7.

Philadelphia took an 8-7 lead in the bottom of the eighth when Gary Sutherland walked with the bases loaded, but the Dodgers came right back with some more cannonading in the ninth.

Crawford greeted John Boozer with a double and scored on Davis' double. After Sudakis struck out and Boyer popped up, Lefebvre walked and Gabrielson doubled home Davis and Lefebvre.

Don Lock homered for the Phillies in the last of the ninth.

St. Louis sent Cincinnati to its sixth straight loss when Curt Flood singled home one run and Roger Maris' sacrifice fly drove in another in the 11th inning.

Johnny Bench's two-out, two-run homer in the Cincinnati ninth sent the game into extra innings.

BEAT ASTROS

Pittsburgh beat Houston when Willie Stargell's 22nd homer snapped a 2-2 tie with two out in the sixth. Houston had tied the game in the previous inning on John Bateman's run-scoring double and Jose Herrera's RBI single.

The Mets won the opener of their doubleheader by scoring a pair of runs on two fielder's choice plays in the seventh inning. New York got its first two runs on J. C. Martin's homer in the second.

In the nightcap, Art Shamsky's eighth-inning homer tied the score at 4-4, but Atlanta gained the victory when Tommie Aaron singled home two runs and Marty Martinez singled in another in the 12th.

New York came back with two in its half of the inning before Cecil Upshaw got the final out.

Ferguson Jenkins won his 17th victory against 12 losses for the Cubs as Randy Hundley drove in three runs with a pair of singles and Ernie Banks hit his 27th home. Willie McCovey belted his 32nd homer with a man on, and Bobby Bonds slammed a solo shot for San Francisco.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Carter

Although quarterbacks are supposed to be the brainiest men on a football team, it's surprising how few of them become head coaches . . . In the National and American Football Leagues this season, only 3 of the 26 head coaches are former pro quarterbacks — New York's Allie Sherman . . . Washington's Otto Graham . . . And, Oakland's Johnny Rauch.

Ever wonder why football stadiums are called stadiums? . . . According to word experts, here's the story . . . In ancient Greece, the word "stadium" was used to identify a certain distance, just as we use the word "mile," for example, to identify 5,280 feet . . . In Greece, the word stadium meant 630 feet . . . In early Olympic games they had races of 630 feet which were, therefore, called stadium races . . . And the track for the stadium race was exactly 630 feet long and so the track itself also was called a stadium . . . Then, eventually, the Greeks would say they were going to the track or to the stadium, to see a race . . . It wasn't long before the word stadium was used — not for 630 feet anymore — but for any place where people went to see a sports event.

Did you know that many small towns once held franchises in the National Football League? . . . For instance, Marion, Ohio was in the NFL in 1922 and 1923 . . . Hammond, Ind., from 1922-26 . . . Kenosha, Wis., in 1924 . . . Orange, N.J., in 1925 . . . And Pottsville, Pa., was in the league from 1925 to 1928.

I bet you didn't know . . . that the big season we don't sell 2nd, 3rd and 4th line cheap tires is that they're too expensive — too little mileage, too little safety factor, too many dissatisfied customers. We'd rather sell quality, time and again, to satisfied customers.

Key Contests Early for Northwestern 11

By JERRY LISKA

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Alex Agase of Northwestern didn't originate the football coaching cliche that "you can't beat the best unless you play the best."

But the affable Agase, starting his fifth Wildcat season, certainly seems to be making a career of stepping into an early season meat-grinder.

By the time the campaign is half finished, Northwestern will have bumped consecutively into Miami of Florida, Southern California, Purdue, Notre Dame and Ohio State.

It was somewhat similar last season, when Northwestern finished 3-7 over-all and 2-5 for eighth in the Big Ten.

PLAY MIAMI

The Sept. 20 season-opening invasion of Miami is only a hot and humid breather compared to the back-to-back tangles with the two top national title contenders, Southern California and Purdue, followed by powerhouse Notre Dame and the Big Ten's ready-for-bear club, Ohio State.

"That's a pretty good hand for openers, all right," grinned Agase, "but other people are talking more about those first five games than I do.

"Our kids, though, have been getting ready mentally and physically for this rugged start since last winter. They respect these tough teams, but by the same token they don't fear them."

HAVE EXPERIENCE

Charging into the fray will be the most experienced Northwestern squad Agase has had since he took over in 1964 when his former boss, Ara Parseghian, shifted to Notre Dame.

A senior-dominated array of 26 lettermen, hubbed around two exceptional backs, Chico Kurzawski and Bob Olson, gives Agase six holdover starters on offense and eight on defense.

That quarterback is a question mark, with only slightly-seasoned Dana Woodring back, doesn't seem to bother Agase. Nor does the fact that Woodring had knee trouble last spring and his backup man, Mike Bryniarski, suffered an ankle fracture in the spring intrasquad game.

"We have a couple of sophomores who could come to the quarterback front," said Agase. "They are Darrell Splithoff, Dave Shelbourne and Dennis Lyons, not necessarily in that order."

Agase has a hard core of players as good as any in the Big Ten, but the only privately endowed school in the conference, his depth again will be traditionally thin.

Kurzawski, one of the most versatile backs in Northwestern history, heads an array of such standout seniors as Don Denny 254, Angelo Loukas 230 and Tom Ziolkowski 225, interior offensive linemen; Jack Rudnay, 240, defensive tackle; and linebackers John Cornell and Ron Mied.

Getting back to the subject of plotting a climb from eighth in the Big Ten against the brutal early season start, Agase asserted:

"I'm the kind of coach who thinks every game is important, conference or non-conference. We gear ourselves for every game we play and don't save ourselves for any game.

"One thing, we'll be able to make a field study of the Heisman Trophy quality of Southern California's O. J. Simpson and Purdue's Leroy Keyes. We look at them back-to-back."

Columbus '9' Keeping Flag Hopes Alive

By United Press International

Although Columbus is 1½ games behind Toledo in the International League pennant race, the Jets are actually one game up in the loss column and Ken Larsen kept their pennant hopes alive Tuesday night.

Larsen 10-6 spun a two-hitter as the Jets topped the Richmond Braves 4-1 to boost their season record to 77-61; Toledo has four more victories, 81, but has lost 62 games. Larsen lost his bid for a shutout when Dave Nicholson clubbed his 31st homer in the second inning. The big righthanded slugger now leads the league in home runs.

In other action Toledo defeated Buffalo 7-2, Syracuse beat Rochester 1-0 and 3-2 in a twi-night doubleheader, and Louisville took a pair from Jacksonville 5-2 and 8-4.

Murphy Rises on Golf Tour

Ex-Amateur Champ in Back-to-Back Wins

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — "I don't miss it at all," Bob Murphy said Tuesday. The winner of two consecutive professional golf tournaments remembered that only 10 days ago he was one of the tour's also-rans who must qualify to play on a week-to-week basis.

His victory at Philadelphia two weekends ago made the rotund former U.S. Amateur champion from Florida one of the professional golf association's exempt players, who need not engage in qualifying rounds through the end of 1969.

His $30,000 victory Labor Day at Montclair, N.J., in the Thunderbird Tournament also made Murphy one of the richest players on the tour this year, with total winnings of $94,745.

Murphy's former companions in misery were forced through another hard day of qualifying Tuesday in the first preliminary to the $100,000 Greater Hartford Open Tournament, which starts here Thursday.

Horse Mart Busy During First Day of Canadian Sale

TORONTO (AP) — Twenty-nine yearlings were sold for a total of $652,800 Tuesday on the opening day of the annual Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society's Sale.

Twenty-one of the yearlings were cosigned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, earning the owner of Windfields Farm $521,300. The sale was to continue today and Thursday with Taylor consigning another 18.

Cragwood Stables of Newark, N.J., made the most expensive purchase—$84,000 for a bay colt by Northern Dancer. Owned by Taylor, Northern Dancer won the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Queen's Plate in 1964.

There was no buyer for a Northern Dancer-Canadiana filly which had a reserve bid of $125,000.

Detroit Cougars Fall to Boston's Beacons

DETROIT (AP) — The Boston Beacons scored a pair of second-half goals to nip the Detroit Cougars 2-1 in a North American Soccer League game Tuesday night before 3,229 fans.

The Detroit goal came after 20 minutes in the first period. Scotland's Johnny Kerr beat Boston goalie Walt Tarnawski from eight yards out.

Boston got its first goal after three minutes of the second period. Ruben Sosa's shot went off a Detroit defender and into the net. Three minutes later, Erik Dyreborg of Denmark scored.

South African Net Pro Surprises Favored Laver

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — This may be the era of long-hairs and youth in tennis but a conservative, 33-year-old Australian with a neat $2 trim is the new favorite to collect the $16,000 first prize in the U.S. Open Championship.

"Now that Rod Laver is out of it, you have to pick Ken Rosewall," said Arthur Ashe, the new U.S. amateur champion, who might have spoken a few words in his own behalf after a straight-set victory over Roy Emerson of Australia.

Laver, winner at Wimbledon, king of the pros for the last three years and No. 1 seed here, was unceremoniously dumped from the competition Tuesday by Cliff Drysdale, a 29-year-old rookie pro from South Africa who hits a backhand the way Mickey Mantle swings a baseball bat.

DOUBLE FAULTS

The score was 4-6, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1, 6-1. Laver's serving collapsed and he delivered 14 double-faults, five in the final set.

In the others, Pancho Gonzales, 40, the onetime king of the courts, faces second-seeded Tony Roche of Australia; Tom Okker, the giant-killer from the Netherlands, opposes Britain's Peter Curtis, and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., faces Nicola Pilic of Yugoslavia, who put out Charlie Pasarell.

Two more women will enter the semifinals. The favored Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., the Wimbledon winner, plays Maryna Godwin of South Africa and Margaret Smith Court of Australia takes on Maria Bueno of Brazil, the girl she whipped last week for the U.S. amateur title. The winners meet for a finalist spot.

A pair of British girls clash in the other semifinal. They are second-seeded Ann Haydon Jones, who beat Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., 10-8, 6-3, and hard-serving Virginia Wade, victor over Judy Tegart of Australia 6-3, 6-2.

The elimination of Laver provided the tournament's big shock Tuesday but two others, Newcombe and Ralson, had narrow escapes.

Newcombe, seeded fourth, was three points from elimination once in a 3 hour, 45 minute match he won from bearded Torben Ulrich of Denmark 4-6, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1, 6-1. Ralston was down to little Joaquin Loyo-Mayo of Mexico in a delayed third round match before winning 9-11, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5, 6-1.

TOURING EIGHT

Drysdale, Newcombe and Ralston all are members of Lamar Hunt's so-called Handsome Eight touring troupe (now numbering nine with the addition of Marty Riessen). So are Pilic and Roche, meaning the Hunt gang has five survivors left in the tournament.

Duffy Happy With Spartans' Workout

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Coach Duffy Daugherty liked the first day of his Spartan's contact drills Tuesday and promised the squad at least another week of the hard-hitting work.

After three days of conditioning work without pads, the 1968 Spartans spent Tuesday morning and afternoon in light contact work — mostly one-on-one.

The Spartans' number one quarterback, Bill Feraco, was put through a series of passing drills in the afternoon.

Feraco, a senior, and sophomore quarterback Gordon Longmire spent the afternoon flinging short passes to split end Al Brenner, flankerbacks Frank Waters and Charley Wedemeyer and tight end Frank Foreman.

Angels Manager Also in Line to Move Up

ANAHEIM (AP) — California Angels' owner Gene Autry has offered Manager Bill Rigney a multi-year contract and a chance to own stock in the American League club, informed sources said today.

Rigney, now wrapping up his 12th year as a major league manager and the senior pilot in the junior circuit, reportedly broke a golf date today to confer with a tax consultant and stock broker about the offer.

The 50-year-old manager has worked under one-year contracts with the Angels since their birth in the league's 1961 expansion. Before that, from 1956 to 1960, he managed the National League Giants both in New York and San Francisco.

Autry also reportedly assured Rigney that he is next-in-line to succeed Fred Haney as the club's general manager. Haney, 70, recently said he has given no thought to retirement.

Doesn't Need Flag

Robert Morse didn't need a flag to score a hole in one at Sylvan Glen yesterday. Morse, of Fenton, used a 5-iron on the 157-yard No. 16 hole for his ace. He shot a 45 for the nine. The pin was missing from the hole.

Holly Golfer Scores

Mike Adams of Holly fired an ace on the No. 1 hole, a 190-yarder, at Davisburg Golf Club over the weekend with a 4-iron. He carded a 35 for the nine.

Vets Feel Gridiron Ax as '68 Season Nears

By the Associated Press

Youth must be served, and none know it better than the batch of pro football veterans who got their walking papers Tuesday.

Among the jobless were Buffalo fullback Wray Carlton, the American Football League club's all-time rushing leader, and Bob Scarpitto of Denver, the AFL's leading punter the past two seasons.

Others who got the pink slip included Washington defensive back Jimmy Burson, a six-year veteran of the National League for whom the Redskins traded during the off-season; offensive guard Bookie Bolin of the New York Giants, another six-year man who played on two Eastern Conference championship teams, and Baltimore defensive back Jimmy Welch, who had survived eight campaigns.

WAS TOP CHOICE

A couple of big-name youngsters also got the ax. Washington asked waivers on fullback Ray McDonald, the team's No. 1 draft choice a year ago. And Boston gave up on quarterback Don Trull, a three-year veteran acquired from Houston in an effort to shore up the Patriots' offense.

That handed the signal-calling job to Mike Taliaferro, obtained from the New York Jets several weeks ago for Babe Parilli, and rookie Tom Sherman, a rookie free agent from Penn State.

McDonald, a 245-pound bruiser from Idaho, was philosophical about his release, although he averaged 4.3 yards in 52 carries last season despite missing six games because of injuries.

"I hope no other NFL team puts in a claim for me," he said. "I want to make the Redskins' squad. I know I can play football, but I need more experience."

If no one claims him, McDonald will play with the Virginia Sailors of the Atlantic Coast League.

Carlton and Scarpitto also said they try to hook on with other clubs. Carlton, 31, joined Buffalo when the AFL was born in 1960 and gained 3,368 yards over the years.

SET RECORD

Scarpitto, who also has played split end on occasion, set an AFL record of 45.8 yards per punt in 1966 and averaged 44.9 last year, including a 73-yarder, longest in AFL history.

With the AFL getting under way this weekend, Boston learned that fullback Jim Nance has only a 50-50 chance of playing in Sunday's opener at Buffalo.

The hard-running Nance sprained an ankle in Monday's exhibition loss to Philadelphia. He led the AFL in rushing in 1966 with a record 1,458 yards and again last season with 1,216.

New Champion on Golf Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Bruce Fleisher, the freshly crowned U.S. Amateur champion from Miami, Fla., was named Tuesday to the four-man American team for the World Amateur team Golf Championships at Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 9-12.

The others named by the U.S. Golf Association are Marvin Giles III, 25, of Lynchburg, Va., who was second by one stroke to the 19-year-old Floridian in the amateur championship; Jack W. Lewis Jr., 21, of Florence, S.C., seventh in the amateur and a Walker Cup player in 1967; and Richard L. Siderowf, 31, of Westport, Conn., the low amateur in the U.S. Open championship.

William C. Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., a former U.S. Amateur champion and Walker Cup captain, was named nonplaying captain.

Champ Chuvalo Wins Easily Over Forte

Chuvalo indicated he had an early ending in mind in the opening minutes of the scheduled 10-round bout. He swarmed all over Forte, had the Miami boxer back stepping, and scored heavily whenever he had Forte pinned to the ropes.

* * *

About a minute into the second round, Chuvalo set Forte up with a hard right to the chin. Forte retreated to a corner. Chuvalo barraged him and set him down for a nine count.

Boston Defeats Twins, 4-1

Red Sox Are Ready to Concede to Tigers

By The Associated Press

Boston Manager Dick Williams Tuesday conceded his club is just battling for a high American League finish — and he came within a whisker of conceding the pennant to Detroit.

"We're not out of it mathematically," said Williams after his third-place Red Sox stopped Minnesota 4-1 in a 5½-inning game halted by rain. "But it will be awfully tough to catch them."

"We had our chances with Detroit and didn't fare too well," he added. "We're just trying to maintain what we've got."

In other American League action, Washington beat Chicago 2-1 and Cleveland thrashed California 7-2.

Reggie Smith and Joe Foy each drove in two runs and Dick Ellsworth pitched his way out of two bases-loaded jams as the defending American League champions blasted their way past Minnesota.

Then Foy singled off the left field fence with the bases loaded in the fifth for another run to finish Jim Merritt, 10-15. Carl Yastrzemski held up at second on Foy's drive and was thrown out at home.

Boston had scored a run in the first on Foy's RBI single.

Minnesota scored in the fourth on Nettles' double, a single by Rick Renick and Jerry Adair's error at shortstop. An infield single by Cesar Tovar loaded the bases after the run scored, but Ellsworth got out of it when Reese grounded back to the mound.

The Yankees caught up with Tom Phoebus, an old nemesis, in handing the Orioles their sixth setback in eight games. Phoebus, who took a 6-0 lifetime record against New York into the game, blanked the Yanks on one infield single until the sixth, when they knocked him out and grabbed a 2-1 lead on a walk and four singles.

BIG TRIPLE

Left-hander Fritz Peterson protected the margin until the ninth, when Roy White's bases-loaded triple and Robinson's second RBI single wrapped it up. Peterson, 9-9, was hit by a pitch in the ninth and Dooley Womack finished up.

Tim Cullen's two-run pinch single in the sixth overcame a 1-0 Chicago lead and Joe Coleman made it stand up with a four-hitter as the Senators climbed within one game of the ninth-place White Sox.

Russ Snyder drove in three runs with a single and his third homer and Lee Maye also homered, leading the Indians past the Angels. Southpaw Sam McDowell, 14-11, needed late relief help from Vicente Romo.

Champ Eying New Lineup on Dragways

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Drag racing is ready to split into separate amateur and professional groups, says three-time national champion Don Garlits.

"Drag racing can go to total professionalism," said the 36-year-old former Detroit resident who moved to Tampa, Fla., to escape "those obnoxious winters."

"Two groups would give the pros more time to run and improve the racing," he said. "I can't run the little stock driver off the track," he said.

"He has as much right to run as me. You've got to let them race or they'll go back to the streets."

Garlits became the first three-time champion on Labor Day when he spun his Dodge powered AA-fuel dragster to a blistering one-quarter-mile speed of 226.7 miles an hour.

It was Garlits' second straight victory at Indianpolis Raceway Park. His first was in 1964.

Commission Action Due Thursday

Streamlined Fish Regulations Proposed

The Conservation Commission Thursday will consider a streamlined package of proposed changes which would simplify the state's fishing regulations for 1969.

The one day meeting will be at Caberfae near Cadillac at 9 a.m.

Some of the revised measures recommended by Conservation Department fisheries men are restrictive, aimed at improving the quality of sport-fishing and providing greater protection for species which need it.

Others are in the liberal vein, designed to allow more angling action when and where rules can be relaxed without hurting fish populations.

Restrictive or liberalized, the proposals generally are being offered for the sake of greater uniformity and to make Michigan's fishing rules easier to understand.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Among the recommended changes are those which would: 1) Eliminate the closed fishing season on trout and salmon in the Great Lakes; 2) Extend the regular inland trout season through September rather than closing it the first Sunday after Labor Day; 3) Lift the closed season on trout in inland lakes other than designated trout lakes.

4) Stretch the special fall season on salmon and steelhead in designated streams to the end of December; 5) Set a uniform season on muskellunge, northern pike, walleyes, and saugers running from May 15 through the end of February, except that the muskellunge season in Lake St. Clair would be from the first Saturday of June through Dec. 15.

Under the heading of creel and possession limits, the Department would like to see adjustments to:

Make catch and keep quotas the same in all waters for trout and salmon (5 singly or combined with an extra limit of 5 brook trout from streams); reduce the limit on muskellunge to 1 daily and in possession in all waters.

Standardize the creel and possession limits on northern pike, walleyes, saugers, and black bass at 5, singly or combined; trim these same limits on white bass to 10.

UNIFORM SIZE

Another proposal calls for setting a uniform 10-inch minimum size limit on trout and salmon in inland waters.

Under one exception, the minimum size limit on brook trout would be left at 7 inches, consistent with the biological fact that this species doesn't grow too large and matures at a smaller size than other trout.

Rounding out the recommendations are measures which would extend the present 10-inch size limit on trout in the Great Lakes to also cover salmon in these waters; establish a 13-inch size limit on saugers; and place a spearing ban on muskellunge and lake trout.

Other matters coming before the commission include proposals to acquire lands in the Pointe Mouillee State Game Area, Monroe County; Bald Mountain Recreation Area, Oakland County; P. J. Hoffmaster State Park, Muskegon County; Ionia Recreation Area, Ionia County; Island Lake Recreation Area, Livingston County; and Petoskey State Park, Emmet county.

Quarantine Set for Hatcheries

A blanket quarantine on all commercial fish-rearing firms in Michigan has been imposed as the latest tightening-up measure to check the possible spread of a deadly fish disease recently discovered at three private trout farms within the state.

Under an emergency order Conservation Director Ralph MacMullan issued to the state's 180 fish-breeding businesses, owners of these operations are barred from moving any trout and salmon stock or eggs in and out of their facilities without having special permits duly issued by the Conservation Department.

The "freeze" remains in effect until Nov. 16 at which time the department will, under a new law, establish a comprehensive set of permanent rules to regulate private fish-rearing operations.

The source of trouble is "whirling disease," a highly fatal infection which was first uncovered at the Roundhouse Trout Farm at Kalamazoo by the Conservation Department. It was quickly traced to Roundhouse's branch hatcheries, the Robinette Trout Ranch at Harrison and the Clearbrook Trout Farm at Augusta.

Three Coho News Centers in Operation

The Department of Conservation has put into operation three new information centers in the Manistee, Frankfort and Platte River areas to keep anglers posted daily on the weather and coho fishing conditions in northern Lake Michigan.

Up-to-the-minute information covering all breaking developments on the lake's coho scene is available for these field outposts between 5 a.m. and 8 p.m. every day of the week from now through Oct. 12.

The centers are equipped with telephones, and the numbers to call for latest information are 352-9286 at Frankfort, 723-5372 at Manistee, and 882-4901 (through the Frankfort exchange) at the Platte River station.

All three come under Area Code 616.

Besides these "hot lines," the reporting stations have 2-way radios which keep them in constant contact with aircraft, boats, and ground units.

Crisis in Conservation

Department Eyes Public Aid

By NORRIS INGELLS
The Lansing State Journal

"Our first responsibility is to the natural resources, not to the public or the Legislature. Hunting and fishing are privileges, not God-given rights."

This is the view of Charles D. Harris, deputy director for resources management of the Michigan Conservation Department. It mirrors the attitude of many scientists, public officials and conservationists.

Raply A. MacMullan, director of the department, believes that public understanding and support must rank high on any list of conservation priorities.

"One of the biggest inhibitors of progress in resource management is the preoccupation of the people with immediate selfish interests — for more game, NOW," he stated.

MacMullan acknowledged that releasing artificially-raised game and planting of fish are basically wasteful programs, when the real answers lie in helping nature naturally propagate more wildlife.

TWO EXCEPTIONS

An exception, he added, is the introduction of new species like the Coho salmon and elk.

"Renewable resources are a product of the land, just like farm crops. Public impatience for more fish and game, right now, is a wasteful dream," MacMullan continued.

"Where possible, we should depend on natural reproduction, but this is a difficult principle for people to pick up," he observed, noting that one sportsman's group has as its slogan: "More Fish and Game, Now!"

MacMullan views the basic role of the conservation department as improving the environment that will help fish and game thrive, as well as protecting the natural resource base of the state.

He said he expects criticism of many of the department's programs. "Controversies over fish and game are pretty much the same all over. They aren't unique to Michigan. History is full of tremendous, boiling controversies over deer and fish management. It isn't uncommon for sincere people to get really wrought up — really mad about such topics," he declared. The conservation director was asked just how potentially harmful public pressure is to the department and the state's natural resources.

"Since taking over as head of the department, I've been very much impressed with the lack of public pressure. People are pretty much aware that we have to preserve our natural resources. They even have to be goaded into taking enough deer, nowdays," he observed.

SOME PRESSURES

But there are pressures that are of concern, in addition to the "Game Now" philosophy.

MacMullan pointed particularly to those who urge the department not to go too fast on water pollution controls, especially as they affect the economics of industry and commerce.

Other interests seek greater use of minerals and timber on public lands. And, there is the continuing conflict among various groups over the use of pesticides.

But MacMullan said he feels that with the public's backing, the department has been, and will be able to resist pressures that lead to improper exploitation of the state's natural resources and public lands.

"As the population increases, we can expect increasing pressures to release public-owned lands for private needs of all kinds," MacMullan predicted. "But the foresight of our predecessors has left us a priceless legacy of public ownership, and it will be up to us to protect it. The end of large-scale purchases for recreational use may be in sight, but we must continue to buy key parcels — Great Lakes shoreline, stream frontage, open spaces on the urban fringes — almost without regard to per-acre cost."

BETTER RELATIONS

There is a general feeling among many conservation officials that the relationship of the department and the Legislature has improved in recent years.

Harry H. Whiteley, chairman of the conservation commission, said that during the past two years, more good conservation laws were passed than at any time during the last half-century.

"The Legislature has become more interested and realized what our problems are. They have a better understanding of our needs — including money," he stated.

Harris also feels that the Legislature "generally has been quite fair with us."

"The appropriations for conservation are not adequate to meet the needs of the people, but any state agency could say this," he observed, adding that the lawmakers are faced with a "big decision" every year on just how the tax dollars will be spent. "I don't envy them," he declared.

Safety Tips Listed

Pond Building Booms

Pond construction is booming in Oakland County. So is the hazard that goes with any body of water.

"It seems that just about anyone with a suitable site wants to have a pond," said Ellis G. (Bill) Humphrey, work unit conservationist with the Soil Conservation office in Pontiac.

"With the development of a body of water, comes the possibility of drowning," Humphrey gives technical advice on proper construction. He listed some tips for making ponds safe.

These include:

- Find out what the community and state laws say about liability in the case of accident or death; locate the pond so that it will not get drainage from farmyards or sewers; have the pond built by a reliable contractor.

REMOVE JUNK

- Remove all trees, stumps and rubbish that might hinder safe swimming or boating and eliminate sudden dropoffs and deep holes near the swimming area.
- Mark the safe swimming areas and provide adequate lifesaving devices such as ring buoys, ropes and planks.

'Know Ducks' Clinic Slated

Identification Primer for Rose Lake Hunts

A pilot training program will be introduced this fall aimed at helping duck hunters to be more selective in their shooting.

The "know your ducks" clinic, a primer for qualifying to hunt the birds at the Rose Lake Wildlife Research Area this season, will be held at the Woldumar Natureway Center at 5539 Lansing, west of Lansing.

It will start at 7:30 p.m., Sept. 9, and run for four more successive Monday evenings through Oct. 7. On that final night, hunters will be tested at Woldumar to see how well they have learned to identify ducks.

Identical exams will also be conducted at the Rose Lake Area near East Lansing on Oct. 5 and 6 at 1 p.m. and on Oct. 9, 18, and 25 at 8 p.m.

Participation in the training phase of the program is optional, but sportsmen must pass one of these tests in order to hunt ducks at the Rose Lake Area during the Oct. 10-Nov. 8 duck season.

* * *

All sportsmen who have hunted ducks in the Rose Lake Area during the last three seasons have been sent invitations by the Conservation Department to attend the five training sessions at Woldumar, each of which will last about 2 hours. Others not contacted are also welcome to join this training course.

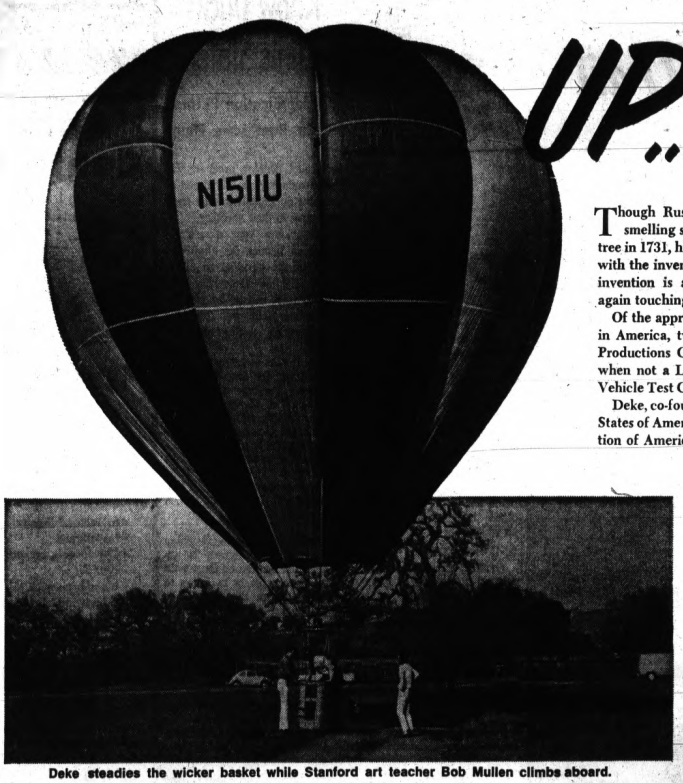
UP... UP and AWAY!



Though Russia claims Furvin Kryakutskoi trapped foul-smelling smoke in a bag and rose to the height of a birch tree in 1731, historians credit Joseph and Etienne Montgolfier with the invention of the hot-air balloon in 1783. Today this invention is almost unchanged, and hot-air ballooning is again touching the imagination of adventuresome people.

Of the approximately 50 registered hot-air balloons owned in America, two belong to the Stateline, Nev., Quicksilver Productions Corp., of which Deke Sonnichsen is president when not a Lockheed Missiles and Space Company Senior Vehicle Test Coordinator who resides in Menlo Park, Calif.

Deke, co-founder of the Sport Balloon Society of the United States of America, which is affiliated with the Balloon Federation of America, last year filed claim for six new world records to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, which formulates records and sanctions all air events and rules throughout the world.

But it is not merely for competition that Deke, wife Joanne and son Kirke, use the two flying machines.

On weekends, neighbors are invited over and the smaller balloon, tied to a lengthy tether line, lifts friends and children above the treetops. At other times, Deke helps train future balloonists at the Daedalus School of Free-Ballooning, the first in the country, at the Menlo Oaks Balloon Field in his city, or at nearby Tracy, Calif. Before and during firing up the balloon, he explains its history and workings, then joins the student to rise skyward.

When speaking before flying clubs, aeronautical groups and schools, Deke discusses the relation between ballooning and the mighty rockets for outer space which Lockheed produces.

In the sport of hot-air ballooning, there are two controllable directions: up and down. The winds create lateral movement and any ascension might end miles from take-off.

For Deke, whose brightly-colored aircraft (representing the orange, red and yellow of the heat spectrum's lower end) have replaced his parachuting efforts (he led the U.S. Parachute Team in 1962, 1963 and 1964 to FAI meets), these moments of free-flight have replaced free-fall. He shares the silent ride above the rolling California country with those who seek to be up, up and away in that magnificent flying machine.

State Decision Doesn't Suit Caseworker

LANSING (UPI) — Joel E. Bryant a Monroe County welfare caseworker, insists the state of Michigan has agreed to pay for his new $78 suit.

The Michigan Administrative Board, the agency that passes on claims against the state, says Bryant is badly mistaken.

It all started last May 15 when Bryant was bitten by a dog while making a house call. His suit was ripped. He submitted a claim to director John Smith of the state Department of Social Services.

BILL PRESENTED

Smith told Bryant to replace the suit and present a bill to the State Committee on Finance and Claims for review. He did just that.

However, the committee recommended the Administrative Board deny the claim, and the board did so at its Tuesday meeting.

Informed of the action, Bryant said there must have been some mistake. He said he still expects to recover his $78.

* * *

The board rejected the claim on the ground that personal items can only be replaced if damaged by "an act of a patient of a ward," and dogs do not fit that category.

'MATTER OF POLICY'

"It's a matter of policy," said board member Russel A. Searle.

Coincidentally, the board passed on a similar case Tuesday involving a welfare worker in the Saginaw County Department of Social Services.

The worker, Lynn Riegle, was nipped by a dog last July 15 and had his trousers ruined. His $7.16 claim was likewise denied. "I got a pair of pants that cost half as much," said Riegle.

Judgeship Recount Set in 4 Counties

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — A recount of paper ballots for a district judgeship will be held Monday in four counties on behalf of Glenn Aylsworth, who lost the primary by 20 votes.

Ormond Danford was the winner of one of two runoff spots in the November election for 13th Judicial District judge. The judgeship is for a new district including Grand Traverse, Leelanau, Antrim and Charlevoix counties.

A recount also will be held in Traverse City on behalf of Joseph Muha. He lost the Republican nomination for supervisor in the 6th District by one vote, 118-117, to Frank Boehm.

Commission Rejects 1 of 5 Rezoning Bids

A proposal to rezone a parcel of property on Eastway for expension by a building supply company was rejected by the Pontiac City Commission last night. Four other zoning changes were approved.

Turned down was a request of the Foster Kilby Supply Co., 837 Auburn, to rezone 61 Eastway from residential to commercial.

* * *

John McGrath, an attorney representing 20 home owners on Eastway, told the commission that residents are concerned that rezoning would lead to other businesses moving further into the residential area.

* * *

"It's bound to have an adverse effect on their property," said McGrath. "Many are nearing retirement age and can't afford to have this occur."

NO OBJECTIONS

In denying the rezoning the commission went against the recommendation of the planning commission.

Seattle Snipers Hit Police Car

SEATTLE (AP) — Two shots hit a police patrol car as it answered a call to investigate a fight in Seattle's predominantly Negro central area early Wednesday.

The two officers in the car, E. L. Gordon and D. E. Severance, were unhurt.

"We got a call about a fight at 34th and Pike," Gordon related. "When we got near the intersection it appeared they opened up on both sides of the street. It sounded like about 25 rounds were fired. We just hit the deck and drove on through."

REINFORCEMENTS RUSHED

Several other squad cars hurried to the scene, and officers on foot searched the older residential area, where shrubs and trees supply considerable cover.

An abandoned gasoline station at 34th and Pike was examined. Officers thought it might have been the place where some of the shots were fired.

Officers found a large-caliber rifle shell, two short 38-caliber shells, an unspent shotgun shell and an empty 30-30-caliber shell box in bushes near the intersection.

Kettering Due New Official

The Waterford Board of Education tomorrow night will name a new assistant principal for Waterford Kettering High School.

The board also will discuss recommendations from Schools Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe relative to minor boundary changes involving the Walled Lake and Huron Valley school districts. Waterford is expected to give up some of its territory to the Huron Valley district and is expected to acquire some new territory formerly handled by Walled Lake, Tatroe said.

The meeting will be at 7:30 at the Board of Education offices, 3101 Walton in Waterford Township.

Clark Retrial Hearing Near

Dr. Ronald E. Clark, convicted of manslaughter in the drug death of his nurse, will ask for a new trial at a hearing tomorrow in Mason in Ingham County.

* * *

Clark's attorney, Philip Rowston, will make the appeal to Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer, who sentenced the Farmington township doctor to 3 to 15 years in prison for causing the death of Mrs. Grace Neil.

* * *

Soviet Writer Derides Reports on Romania

Writing in the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda, Nikolai Gribachov also complained that "some Italian and French comrades" made statements about the invasion which "disturbed and grieved" many people, including the Soviets.

His reference to the two big Western Communist parties was believed to be the first disclosure by a Soviet publication of the Italian and French Communist criticism of the invasion.

Their criticism was widely reported outside the Soviet Union earlier, at a time when the Soviet press sought to create the impression that all Communists supported Moscow's position.

'TURBULENT REPORTS'

Gribachov accused the Western press of "flashing turbulent reports" about Romania and quoted one of them as referring to "a concentration of Soviet troops on the Romanian border."

Ridiculing this, he added: "This is a warning to the Romanian people: 'Lock your doors, prepare a pitchfork—a wolf is coming.'"

But he reminded Romania that it was a member of the Warsaw Pact military alliance and made it clear that any attempt to break away would be unacceptable to Moscow.

The Soviet author directed his article to a Romanian writer he identified as D. Kobria, who had criticized the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

LEARN DIFFERENCE

Gribachov told Kobria, "We will learn . . . to tell the difference between counterrevolution, under the pretense of 'liberalization,' and the true construction of socialism."

The implication was that Romania had failed to notice the "counterrevolution" which Moscow has said was threatening Czechoslovakia.

One article said "many difficulties" must be overcome first, in particular the existence of "anti-Socialist forces", seeking to stir up "unhealthy nationalistic feelings."

A Look at TV

Kuralt Specialty Hailed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK—Television has a way of pigeonholing its performers and commentators.

At CBS News, for instance, there is Eric Severeid, instant international analyst, Harry Reasoner, house humorist, Walter Cronkite, impartial journalist.

To this list must now be added Charles Kuralt, Americana specialist with a special ability to dig up and dramatize good news.

Kuralt many months ago was given a camera crew and a white camper truck and traveled the back roads and byways of the nation seeking out happy events and pleasant people to tell about.

CBS patched together a number of his reports about this segment of the American scene for a half-hour special Tuesday night. It could not have arrived at a better time.

Kuralt and company investigated autumn leaves in Vermont, Greek sponge divers in Tarpon Springs, Fla., country music in Maryland. He found a jaunty college professor who retired to become a janitor at his college and, at 87, reflected that life was still exciting—"good books to read, good fish to catch, pretty women to see, good men to know. . ."

Progress Helps Keep Ike Alive

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower probably could not have suffered a seventh heart attack a few years ago; a second or third one would have killed him.

What has kept him alive so long is progress that has been made with electrical shock treatment, monitoring and drugs that are accessible to heart patients in most modern hospitals.

Lidocaine, the anesthetic being tried experimentally on heart patients and the drug that eliminated Gen. Eisenhower's dangerous heart irregularities for a time even when pacing shocks failed, is an example.

* * *

Dr. Bernard Lown, director of the S. A. Levine Cardiac Unit of Boston's Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and an authority on intensive hospital care, says lidocaine, the drug found most helpful to Gen. Eisenhower, is being used on all patients at the Boston unit who show heart irritability or arrhythmia during heart attacks.

SUCCESSFUL TRIALS

He introduced this drug three years ago for use with such patients after successful trials with animals in the Harvard University laboratory in which he prevented heart arrhythmias.

"Many more lives could be saved if there were more coronary care units," Dr. Lown says. "Many deaths could be prevented in heart victims if proper care is given to monitoring the heart rhythm."

Lidocaine was used by dentists as a local anesthetic for many years before Dr. Lown and his co-workers tried it on animals as a preventive and treatment of arrhythmias, which account for approximately 40 per cent of deaths in heart attacks.

The discovery that this drug is effective in 80 to 85 per cent of the cases in his hospital came only after laborious animal experiments in which the four or five antiarrhythmic drugs being used were tried out systematically. Although the Food and Drug Administration has not licensed lidocaine for heart patients yet, it has been widely used by thousands of doctors throughout the world.

Australia, almost as large as the contiguous United States, holds only slightly more people than metropolitan New York City.

McCarthy Again Shuns Efforts to Set Up 4th Party

By The Associated Press

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says he will not become a fourth-party candidate and will not join the effort to organize a fourth-party drive.

McCarthy, who has said he might support such a drive if its programs and leaders were acceptable, reiterated refusal to directly participate with a statement yesterday in Washington.

But the New Reform Party of Montana ignored the statement and nominated the unsuccessful contender for the Democratic nomination as its presidential candidate.

Marcus G. Raskin, whose New Party hopes to get on the ballot in 25 states, predicted over the weekend that several state groups would put McCarthy's name on the ballot whether he wanted it there or not.

RESPONDS TO SUPPORTERS

McCarthy said he would deny official approval in those states requiring it to put his name on the ballot, but said he would try to "respond" to the wishes of supporters in states that do not require offical approval.

He urged his supporters to work instead for the election of senators who agree with his opposition to Vietnam war policy and his stand on domestic priorities.

McCarthy said he has asked that his name be withdrawn in Iowa where he said it "would have little bearing on the outcome of the national election" and might hurt Gov. Harold Hughes' Democratic Senate campaign.

A top supporter of McCarthy's Democratic bid—former Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell — said meanwhile he will now support the party's nominee, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Humphrey formally kicks off his Democratic presidential campaign Monday in Philadelphia. He planned to interrupt strategy sessions at Waverly, Minn., today to return to Washington for a National Security Council meeting.

Humphrey's running mate, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said yesterday Wallace's third-party campaign is a greater threat to the Republicans than the Democrats. Wallace and Nixon, Muskie said, "are competing for the same votes."

Aid Airlift to Biafra Gets Nigeria's OK

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—The Red Cross begins an accelerated airlift of food and medicine into besieged Biafra tomorrow, following an agreement with the government permitting daytime flights for a 10-day period.

Meanwhile, Lagos said its troops were battling for control of two of the rebels' three remaining towns.

The federal Ministry of Information announced the airlift agreement with the International Red Cross Committee yesterday.

The Red Cross and other private groups have been flying emergency supplies to two Biafran airstrips at night, but the amount of food they have been able to deliver is negligible.

U.S. Set to Pledge It Won't Cut Level of Force in Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is willing to pledge, along with its NATO allies, to maintain current troop levels in Europe as one way to meet the new Soviet threat, administration sources say.

The sources say the issuing of such a pledge probably would be done in a joint statement.

They said this was among alternatives before the National Security Council (NSC) at a meeting today called to chart policy toward the Soviet presence in Czechoslovakia, which points like a dagger at the heart of free Europe.

President Johnson called the late afternoon session with his top military, defense and diplomatic aides earlier in the week while winding up a long stay at his ranch in Texas. He returned to Washington today.

The session parallels a similar review now going on in the inner chambers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at Brussels.

HOPES FOR UNITY

Decisions made here will be transmitted to the U.S. contingent at NATO with the hope it will spur unity in any military or diplomatic retrenchment to meet the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia and what some consider threatening gestures toward Romania.

Czechoslovakia now harbors an estimated 200,000 elite Red invasion troops and appears to be causing the most concern.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was described yesterday as accepting the word of Russian Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin that his country does not plan to invade Romania.

Fresh reports of a troop buildup along that nation's borders, however, prompted President Johnson last week to beam straight at Moscow a speech that warned it "not to unleash the dogs of war." And the subject was on the table before the NSC.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Although officials are reluctant to predict what the council will decide, they acknowledged that the United States would be agreeable to issuing a joint statement with its allies pledging no further reductions of forces in Europe.

Regarding American forces in Europe it is now clear that congressional requests for troop reductions can be shelved, the officials said.

Most of the 34,000 men to be redeployed and stationed in the United States, though committed to NATO, under terms of a 1967 agreement, are back in this country, but officials indicated that the Defense Department might announce soon when in 1969 the men would be sent back for maneuvers in West Germany.

Senate Probers Criticize Army for M16 Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate investigating subcommittee today charged the Army with "a most inept performance" in awarding contracts to accelerate production of the M16 rifle.

While it will not attempt to undo decisions already taken, the subcommittee said, "this should be the last time that any defense agency conducts a procurement in such an awkward, unreasonable manner."

The five-member unit of the Senate Armed Services Committee commented in a final report on a long investigation of Army contract awards for a sharp increase in M16 production to meet Vietnam needs.

The contracts were awarded to General Motors Corp. and Harrington & Richardson, without competitive bidding, bidding.

LOWER PRICES

The subcommittee said two other companies—Maremont Corp. of Saco, Maine, and Cadillac Gage—were prepared to submit lower prices than those of the winners.

The subcommittee said that General Motors and Harrington & Richardson had each received orders for 240,000 rifles at ceiling prices of $56.3 million and $41.5 million, respectively.

Maremont testified during hearings it was prepared to bid $36.5 million. The report cited testimony to a House subcommittee that Cadillac Gage had set a price of $36.8 million.

Showing of Films Sets Stage for Senate Debate on Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court pornography decisions and the uncertain impact of the presidential nominations were key factors today as opponents renewed their assault on the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice.

Sen. John L. McClellan, setting the stage for today's resumption of Senate Judiciary Committee debate on the nomination, showed three stag party films yesterday to staff aides of non-committee senators.

The Arkansas Democrat, presumably trying to drum up support for opposition to Fortas outside the committee, called the films "degrading."

Fortas, as an associate justice, voted with the majority that found two of the films not to be pornography. The vote became a major point in opponents' arguments just before Congress broke Aug. 3 for the political conventions.

McClellan's showing of them yesterday made it clear that the opposition to President Johnson's appointment of Fortas to succeed Earl Warren has not slackened.

Less obvious as Congress returns to work is the impact on the controversy of Richard M. Nixon's nomination as Republican presidential candidate.

Nixon was one of the earliest to say Johnson should make no nominations until after the election. There have been predictions that his selection as GOP standard bearer will blunt some support of Fortas from Republican senators now more interested in party unity.

"The three films are degrading. And if they are protected under the free-speech clause of the Constitution, there is no kind of pornography that is unconstitutional," McClellan told a reporter.

MOST TROUBLESOME

This is only one issue raised by opponents. But Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and other supporters of Fortas' nomination have said that it could prove the most troublesome.

Hart reiterated that he is confident a majority of the 16-member Judiciary Committee will vote to report out Fortas' nomination — if it can be brought to a vote.

A filibuster is threatened not only within the committee but in the Senate, where a group of Republicans led by Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan has vowed to fight any Supreme Court nominations by Johnson before he leaves office.

Because the opponents have the support of Nixon, some Republican senators are wondering if this will force Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to reassess his position.

BUSY CAMPAIGNING

Dirksen, the Senate GOP leader, strongly supported Johnson's nomination of Fortas when it was submitted. Aides have said lately, however, that Dirksen may be too busy with his own reelection campaign to take an active part in the fight.

Kentucky's Thruston B. Morton is another Republican question mark. He was one of the first to join the opposition, then changed his position and said he'd support Fortas. Now, however, he is working almost fulltime with the Nixon campaign as a top adviser.

GTW Operations Normal as 40 Engineers Return

Grand Trunk Western Railroad operations in Pontiac were back to normal today with the return of 40 engineers to their jobs.

The engineers failed to report to work yesterday in a dispute with the company over the relocation of their wash-up and locker facilities.

A court order calling for a halt to the work stoppage was issued yesterday morning by Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

In issuing a temporary injunction against the members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Local 920, Moore scheduled a hearing for 9 a.m. tomorrow to receive further information on a permanent injunction against the union.

EXPECT TO CLEAR BACKLOG

A spokesman said that the backlog of freight created by the wildcat strike was expected to be cleared up today.

He said that neither commuter service nor passenger trains were interrupted by the work stoppage.

The strike was unauthorized by the union, according to Orville P. Convis, general manager of the union.

The railroad spokesman said that the men agreed to return to work following all-day sessions between the company and the union and that there will be no reprisals or disciplinary measures taken.

Southerly morning winds at 10 to 18 miles per hour will continue through the day.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 30, tonight 50, tomorrow 60.

The low prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 63. By 12:30 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 82.

89 Dead in Crash of Bulgarian Plane

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — An official of the Bulgarian airline Bulair said today an Ilyushin 18 airliner of the company crashed at Burgos, Bulgaria, last night, and 82 passengers and seven crew members were killed.

The official, reached by telephone from Vienna, said he did not know the nationalities of the crash victims. He added an official government announcement would be made later.

The official said the cause of the crash was not yet known.

Bus Crisis Meeting Called

With the city faced with losing its bus service this month, Pontiac City Commissioners will meet Monday with an official of the Pontiac Transit Corp., in an effort to resolve the looming crisis.

The transportation firm has informed the city that it intends to terminate its service by Sept. 30.

The commission has informally considered several alternative proposals offered by the bus firm for the city to purchase or lease the transit system, but has taken no action.

Under the proposals, the city would hire the Pontiac Transit Corp. to manage the bus system at a fee of 6 per cent of the gross profits.

$100,000 A YEAR

City Manager Jospeh A. Warren has told commissioners that the alternative solutions will cost the city an estimated $80,000 to $100,000 annually.

Presently, the city subsidizes the company with an annual $35,000 allocation because of the claim that the bus system operates at a loss in the city.

Meeting with commissioners at the 7:30 p.m. session next week will be Kenneth Totten, regional manager for the American Transit Co. which operates the bus system in Pontiac.

Pontiac Board of Education President Monroe Osmun, and Superintendent Dana Whitmer will be invited to the meeting.

City commissioners feel the school board should be interested because of the large number of students who use the bus service.

New OCC Head Has a Problem

By DICK ROBINSON

Oakland Community College's new president, Dr. Joseph E. Hill, readily admits he has a communication problem.

Dr. JOSEPH E. HILL

It's that old problem of a mathematician trying to relate to a lay person without using too much educational or technical jargon.

His conversation is frequently colored with such terms as qualitative symbols, theoretical symbols, inputs, outputs and other jargon of systems analysis — a study of a part as related to the whole.

'NO REPORTER'

"Let's face it. I'd never make a newspaper reporter," he admits.

But to help alleviate this communications gap, he is willing to work at length to explain himself.

ESTMATES SALARY

Hill, one of some 20 candidates for the job, said he has not signed a contract yet, but he expects his salary will be about $27,000. Tirrell was paid $32,000.

Hill said the one-year contract probably will provide for a free automobile and insurance fringes but not the use of the 10-room presidential home on the administrative office grounds.

That is to be occupied by the Tirrell family until one of the boys finishes high school next June.

'MUST REACH DISADVANTAGED'

He said he hopes to get away from his job as associate dean for graduate studies at Wayne State University most every afternoon this month to work at OCC.

One of the first things he has to say about the college is that it has to reach out to all segments of people in the county.

"We have to reach the disadvantaged people, both black and white, in such areas as Pontiac, Royal Oak Township, Madison Heights and Hazel Park," he explained.

VC Shell City; 4 Aircraft Down

SAIGON (AP) — Vietcong gunners shelled another major South Vietnamese city today, and the U.S. Command reported three American helicopters and a fighter-bomber shot down in the South. But a general lull in sustained fighting continued into a fifth day.

Two of the aircraft, a $2-million Air Force F4 Phantom and an Army helicopter, were downed three miles from the Cambodian border yesterday, but all six crewmen were rescued. The Phantom was supporting allied infantrymen northwest of Tay Ninh, and the helicopter was shot down as it tried to rescue the Phantom's two crewmen. Two other helicopters completed the rescue.

Ground fire brought down another chopper in the central highlands, near An Khe. One crewman was injured and the helicopter was destroyed.

The third helicopter was shot down on a combat assault mission 15 miles southwest of Saigon. Three crewmen were killed and a fourth wounded. This was in the same general area where American infantrymen clashed late Tuesday with an enemy force of unknown size. Fourteen of the enemy and four Americans were killed and 22 Americans were wounded.

833 COPTERS DOWNED

A total of 833 American helicopters now have been downed in combat in South Vietnam during the war, while the Phantom was the 360th fighter-bomber downed in combat in South Vietnam.

Nha Trang, headquarters of the U.S. 1st Field Force 200 miles northeast of Saigon, was the major city shelled by mortars and recoilless rifles early today; a Vietnamese policeman was killed and 21 civilians and 17 allied soldiers were wounded.

The attack continued a pattern of the last few days in which the Vietcong have reverted to long-distance attack with mortars and rockets after suffering heavy losses in two weeks of ground assaults.

Ranger casualties were reported light.

Mansfield Eyes Congress Load

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says Congress has about four weeks to clean up legislation which includes such emotional issues as gun control, foreign aid and President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations.

Mansfield said yesterday on the eve of Congress' return from a month-long recess that by October campaigning will probably lure away congressmen necessary for quorums in the chambers.

Mansfield said Congress could recess and return in November. But he added that another extra session could possibly affect only the Senate, which is confronted by President Johnson's nomination of Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice of the Supreme Court and by the nuclear nonproliferation treaty whose future is clouded by Soviet moves in East Europe.

Nothing major is scheduled for call-up this week in either the House or the Senate.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

Major unfinished business in both branches on which some action is likely includes a $72.7-billion measure for the Defense Department and probably a record low $1.96-billion foreign aid bill, control of interstate sales of shotguns and rifles, aid to education, extension of the basic farm programs, congressional reorganization and possibly some changes in election laws.

Birmingham

Sewer, Water Service Rates Hiked 30 Pct.

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission approved a 30 per cent increase in sewer and water service rates at its meeting last night.

In a letter to the commission, A. P. Blethen, superintendent of the Department of Public Works, said, "Although no monetary loss has been experienced in the installation of sewer and water services since the last change in rates, trench maintenance costs have greatly exceeded funds allocated for this purpose."

"The labor charge-out rate was recently increased," said Blethen, "from $4.90 to $6.40 or 30.6 per cent."

RECOMMENDATION

He recommended the increase in present rates — "both to the total and to the amount allotted for trench maintenance."

The commission deferred action on a request for air-conditiong for the Baldwin Public Library.

The library board will be asked for more specifics. The object will be to determine "more specifically" the desires of the board and to take into account possible remodeling.

"A project this size has to be deferred until budget time," the spokesman explained.

NO INTEREST

In other action, the commission passed a resolution stating that it has no intention of purchasing property at the southeast corner of Maple and Southfield for any public purpose.

It was reportedly felt by the board that the best use would be by private enterprise.

Noyes a graduate of Bloomfield Hills High School and Western Michigan University, was a Marine platoon commander with Company "M" when his platoon-sized combat base came under a mortar and ground assault.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Noyes, he began his tour of duty in Vietnam in October.

Iranian Rulers Fly to Inspect Quake Damage

By the Associated Press

The Shah and Empress of Iran flew to northeast Iran today to inspect the devastation of the weekend earthquakes that killed 11,000 of their people.

Some 1,400 miles to the west of Iran's stricken area, Turkish officials said 15 persons were killed Tuesday and some 200 were injured in an earthquake that jolted towns on the Black Sea east of Istanbul.

Iran's rulers were to visit the hardest-hit villages including Khezri, Mim and Kakhk. In Kakhk alone, some 6,000 persons died.

Relief officials said there had been no reports of epidemics in the shattered towns but that large quantities of disinfectant, vaccine and sterilized water were being taken to the stricken area.

ABANDON RECOVERY EFFORTS

Premier Amir Abass Hoveida said rescuers had abandoned attempts to recover more bodies because of the danger of epidemics. He ordered ruins leveled by bulldozers, burying the unrecovered dead in the rubble.

He said homes in the area would eventually be rebuilt, using steel beams and heavy bricks instead of the traditional mud and wood.

The Iranian Embassy in London appealed for money, tents and blankets to help the estimated 100,000 persons made homeless by the quakes. Oxfam, a British volunteer relief agency, said it was ready to fly in more than a ton of blankets.

The U.S. State Department said Ambassador Armin Meyer in Tehran was authorized to release $25,000 for medical and other aid for quake victims. The U.S. relief agency CARE said it had made several thousand packages of food available for the homeless.

AMERICANS SAFE

Six Peace Corps workers at Marshed, 100 miles south of the area of greatest damage, were reported safe. They were the only Americans known to be in the area.

In Turkey, the Red Crescent (Red Cross) sent some 2,900 tents, foodstuffs, blankets and a field kitchen to the quake area 200 miles east of Istanbul.

Bank Robbers Elude Police in a Speedboat

NEW YORK (AP) — Using a speedboat called Cheetah, three gunmen eluded a small armada of police boats and aircraft on Long Island Sound yesterday after taking possibly as much as $70,000 from a City Island bank, police said.

The unusual getaway vehicle was found abandoned almost five hours later but police did capture a man they said had helped plan the spectacular robbery.

Police said that two armed men invaded the bank, about 1 p.m., and one forced bank personnel and customers to lie on the floor while the other cleaned from $40,000 to $70,000 from the tellers' drawers.

A spokesman for the Manufacturers' Hanover Trust Co. branch said the men disarmed a guard but a teller, seeing the rifle carried by one robber, activated the alarm system and movie cameras.

AUDIT PENDING

Bank officials put the amount taken at $30,000 pending an audit.

The two men, one wearing a ski mask and the other carrying a bolt-action shotgun, fled from the bank to the waiting outboard motorboat in a yellow panel truck which was reported stolen last month.

The gunmen transferred to the boat at a nearby mooring. Witnesses reported they saw the boat's name as it churned away from the pier. They incorrectly reported the boat was blue and white, police said.

A police helicopter, nine police launches, a Coast Guard launch and a Coast Guard cutter spent several hours stopping and searching blue and white pleasure boats in the area before the boat's description was corrected. It was red and white.

OWNER SOUGHT

The boat was finally found moored about 200 yards offshore in Weir Creek, a branch of Eastchester Bay, near the Throgs Neck Bridge.

Police said they had discovered the name of the boat's owner and were searching for him. It had been purchased last month in Putnam Valley, N. Y.

The suspect arrested last night was described as an unemployed computer operator named Dennis Geaney, 25, of the Bronx.

Correction

Because of an error in supplying The Press with the picture, the picture published was that of Ernest Johnson of 104 Perkins. Johnson wasn't connected with the armed robbery The Press regrets the error.

McKeithen Drops Support of VP

By the Associated Press

The decision of Gov. John McKeithen of Louisiana to withdraw his support for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has not signaled a general bolt by Democratic leaders in the South.

Those who have opposed Humphrey all along will oppose him still. Those who have backed him in the past are standing firm.

An Associated Press survey of party leaders shows those who appear to be solidly in the Humphrey column are Arkansas, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

However, the governors of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Georgia either have said outright or have indicated they would not support the vice president.

ALMOST A CERTAINTY

Govs. Lester Maddox of Georgia, Albert Brewer of Alabama and John Bell Williams of Mississippi — though none has said so officially — are almost sure to back independent candidate George C. Wallace.

McKeithen said in Baton Rouge yesterday that he could not in good conscience support Humphrey because of policy differences.

One of the main differences, McKeithen said, was their respective opinions of U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren. McKeithen said Humphrey approved of Warren while he did not.

About 1,000 Pontiac homes were without power for one hour and 50 minutes last night after two Consumers Power wires burned.

The blacked-out area was generally north of Oakland and Adelaide and west of Baldwin. The Pontiac State Hospital also was affected.

Service was restored about 11:35 p.m.

Harriman Demands Hanoi Quit

'N. Viets Fight Bulk of War'

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said today that North Vietnamese troops are doing almost all the fighting in South Vietnam and the Vietcong is playing a minor role.

The veteran American diplomat, speaking to newsmen as he went into the 20th session of the Paris peace talks with North Vietnamese envoy Xuan Thuy, demanded that Hanoi quit fighting at once.

And he called on the North Vietnamese once again to say precisely what they will do if American bombing of the North is stopped.

Harriman said:

"The fighting is almost entirely now by North Vietnamese soldiers—very few South Vietnamese Communist soldiers. I will point out that it is inconsistent with the program of the National Liberation Front in the South which is demanding an independent and neutral South Vietnam. Therefore, what they are doing is completely inconsistent with that, and they are breaking the Geneva Conventions" which in 1954 ended the Indochinese war.

There appeared no likelihood that the North Vietnamese would comply with Harriman's demands. Hanoi has consistently refused to acknowledge the presence of North Vietnamese army units in the South although they have asserted the right of all Vietnamese to defend all of Vietnam.

Harriman said he would tell Xuan Thuy the Communist attacks in the past two weeks have failed.

"They have been senseless," he said, and killed many hundreds per day of North Vietnamese soldiers and achieved nothing except misery to the people of South Vietnam.

Teachers Out in 15 Districts

91,000 Pupils Home; State Mediators Busy

LANSING (AP) — Thousands of pupils stayed home today as teacher disputes prevented schools from opening their doors. In some cases, pupils were celebrating their second additional day of vacation, Lt. Gov. William Milliken said.

A total of 15 school districts involving 91,000 pupils were reported involved in the disputes. Most of the districts were located in populous Wayne County, the governor's office said.

Mediators and factfinders reportedly were working round-the-clock in an effort to bring boards of education and teacher unions close to agreement.

Teachers in another 35 districts reported for work even though contracts had not been signed, the governor's office added. The teachers agreed to work while negotiations were were still in progress.

2 TEACHER GROUPS

Of the 15 districts that failed to open on schedule, 12 involved the Michigan Education Association. In the remaining three districts, the teachers were represented by the Michigan Federation of Teachers (AFL)CIO), the governor's office said.

Settlements in Dearborn No. 7 and Bessemer districts were reported Monday by Milliken, named by Gov. George Romney to seek school-teacher agreements across the state.

Authorities pointed out that the situation across Michigan is improved over last year when 53 districts were struck.

Schools are expected to remain closed for at least two weeks in the Adams Township school district in Houghton County because of the resignation of the superintendent and school board. New elections have to be held before negotiations can resume, authorities said.

PACT UNSIGNED

Many pupils in the Gladwin school district reported for classes Monday but were sent home by the board of education which had failed to sign an agreement with the Gladwin Education Association.

Supt. John Bruce said the GEA rejected a $1,300 minimum pay raise, but declined to reveal present salaries. William Dunham, president of the GEA, called the board's action "shocking."

Bruce added that the three schools in the district would remain closed on a day-by-day basis.

The opening of school in Charlevoix was postponed for a week Monday after teachers requested the delay to give a fact-finder time to review contract proposals.

PAY PLAN SPURNED

Teachers have rejected salary hikes from $748 to $1,390 in 11 steps and raises of $1,057 to $1,553 for a master's degree.

Jackson school teachers Monday approved a new two-year contract giving starting teachers with a bachelor's degree $6,775 annually. The minimum scale will be boosted to $7,300 next year.

Two districts — Inkster and Chippewa Valley — were not scheduled to open until Thursday. But authorities held little hope that contracts would be signed and the doors would open on schedule.

Districts that filed to open Monday included Adams Township, Charlotte, Northville, Oscoda, Riverview, Willow Run, and Heintzen.

As SEC Cracks Down

Little Guy's Protected

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — As the impact of recent charges and court cases is absorbed by the financial community, the significance of recent government moves is becoming apparent. They are attempts to protect the small investor.

CUNNIFF

As the number of shareholders increased forfold in 15 years, inequities in what some people on Wall Street like to call people's capitalism have been made to glare.

The emergence of a middle class with money for stocks has thrown the naive in with the sophisticates. And, next to experience and basic intelligence, the difference is primarily one of information.

There is a great disparity in the quality and timing of information available to the public compared with that to which a select group is privy. This has been the situation for so long that it is thoroughly ingrained; it has, in fact, been the basis on which some traders have made their money.

'NO REASON FOR IT'

Now the Securities and Exchange Commission appears to be saying that there is no reason why this old, clublike atmosphere should continue, especially when the welfare of 24 million shareholders is involved.

At least three decisions or charges are establishing the new patterns:

- A ruling in SEC vs. Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. that stated, in essence, that nobody can trade for personal profit with information intended only for corporate use, knowing that the information is not publicly available.

The case was developed after the SEC detected purchases by Texas Gulf officials prior to the announcement of a major ore strike in Ontario.

- Accusations by the SEC that Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, the nation's biggest broker, violated antifraud laws in that it provided information on an earnings decline at Douglas Aircraft to institutional investors while withholding it from smaller investors. Merrill Lynch denies the charges.

- A court decision involving BarChris Construction Corp., a builder and operator of bowling alleys, in which a prospectus failed to include information that might be construed as derogatory.

Individuals claimed they purchased stock in BarChris without realizing it was also an operator of bowling alleys, which you might remember suddenly dropped out of favor a few years back.

This case seems to leave anyone connected with a misleading securities offering personally liable for damages. It includes accountants, officers, directors, underwriters.

There are several other cases in which the withholding of information or the release of misleading information is attacked. A couple of cases, at least, involve suits against accountants for not discovering errors in profit reports.

It is still a bit early to measure the consequences of these decisions. Not all have been very clearly stated, and perhaps they have not been thoroughly tested either. There is even the chance that, with a new administration in Washington, following a different philosophy, the SEC might begin to forget its pursuit.

Until clarification is reached, however, thousands of persons remotely or intimately connected with shares in American industry must walk a tightrope under the most distressing circumstances, for they are quaking inwardly.

The analyst asks now if he must eliminate hunches and tips and concentrate instead on hard, factual information.

DIRECTORS WORRY

The corporate director worries that by serving on a board he might leave himself open to a personal liability suit from a disgruntled stockholder.

The public relations man who casually drops hints to the stock market gossip columnists now wonders if somebody over there in the SEC is watching him.

Auto Club Seeks Halt in Road Toll Forecast

DETROIT (AP) — The Automobile Club of Michigan said Tuesday it would ask state officials to stop predicting the number of traffic deaths before holiday periods and counting them after the periods are over.

"This practice gives the wrong impression that our safety problem is the holiday driver going on a long trip," said Fred Rehm, the Auto Club's general manager.

"It is not. It is the person who stays at home and takes short trips on two-lane roads," he added.

Forty-six people were killed in Michigan over the Labor Day holiday weekend, one of the highest statewide totals in the nation. The figure was two less than the number of people killed during the same period last year, when a record was set.

UNSAFE SPEEDS

Rehm said preliminary analysis by the Auto Club showed 83 per cent of this year's Labor Day weekend fatalities happened on two-lane state and county roads at speeds too fast for road conditions.

Eighty per cent of the fatalities, Rehm said, happened with-
,emhosEoetaoshrd
ties, Rehm said, happened within 25 miles of the driver's home, not on a long holiday trip.

Michigan's sheriffs are generally "woefully understaffed" to patrol these rural two-lane highways, said the head of the Michigan Sheriffs' Association Tuesday.

Ingham County Sheriff Kenneth Preadmore, president of the association, noting the Auto Club study of Labor Day holiday deaths, said, "one of the primary missions of the sheriffs of Michigan is to patrol these so-called 'back roads' where the fatal accident rate is extremely high."

"At the same time," he added, "our last annual report showed that the average sheriff in Michigan is woefully understaffed to perform this vital task."

Preadmore urged the state and county board of supervisors to increase spending "to provide the manpower and equipment to develop an adequate enforcement force."

Rehm said his organization also would call for temporary posting of 50 mile-per-hour speed limits on two-lane roads during the day and 45 m.p.h. limits at night, "with adequate police manpower" to enforce the limits.

A 14 per cent rise in fatalities throughout the state this year and a 40 per cent rise in fatalities in Detroit, he said, are paralleled by a drop in the amount of police manpower available for traffic patrol.

Czech Scientist at Stanford U. Denies Defection

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — A Czechoslovakian scientist denies that he defected to the United States.

Dr. Jan Klein, an authority on transplantation genetics, made the denial Tuesday in a statement issued through Stanford University Medical School's news bureau.

He said he was visiting Stanford as a research associate in the genetics department and that arrangements for his trip had been made seven months ago.

U.S. and Japanese officials said he "obviously" was a defector, but a U.S. Embassy spokesman in Tokyo declined to classify him officially as a defector.

Launch Test Slated Today for Moon Craft

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Apollo 7 astronauts Walter Schirra, Donn Eisele and Walter Cunningham prepared to put their spaceship through a simulated launch test today similar to the one that ended in fiery tragedy 19 months ago.

The first three Apollo astronauts were killed midway through the same type of launch pad exercise Jan. 27, 1967, when fire engulfed their cabin.

There was little likelihood of a similar accident today.

The Apollo 7 hatch will remain open throughout the day-long test with the cabin filled only with air. The Apollo 1 death ship was sealed with a slow-opening door and pressurized with pure oxygen.

PURPOSE FOR TEST

The purpose of the test doday is to demonstrate that the spacecraft, the Saturn 1B rocket on which it rests, and supporting ground equipment, are ready for launch.

The 11-day earth-orbital flight of Apollo 7 is scheduled to start Oct. 11. It will be the initial manned space flight in the project designed to land men on the moon next year.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—I'm a widow living on dividends for the most part. I hold 1,272 shares of Utah Construction, a family investment going back for two generations. I admit to some sentimental attachment. I also own 132 shares of Kaiser Cement. I need more income and have been advised to sell all or part of Utah Construction. What do you say? — V. P.

A—I say you have been well advised. You have over $100,000 of capital returning barely 2 per cent in dividends and another $4,000 in Kaiser Cement yielding 3 per cent. I shall not repeat here what I have recently recommended for other readers with your same problem. Though sentiment has no place in the stock market, I appreciate your feelings and suggest that you cut back to 600 Utah Construction. Then consider some of my selections for reinvestment of your capital.

Your company is in a strong earnings uptrend and has increased dividends regularly. But you can more than double the yield on whatever capital you decide to release. Kaiser Cement reports a real turnaround in earnings, and I would hold this one for its comeback potential.

Q—My husband's company is merging, and the profit-sharing plan is to be discontinued. He will have to take his stake and we both are troubled by the fact that reinvesting this money will raise our income tax liability considerably. So we are thinking about purchasing tax-exempt bonds, as we are already well over the 38 per cent bracket. Could you name a few, and do you approve our plan?—M.S.

A—I certainly do approve this solution to your problem. I suggest for your consideration New Jersey Turnpike Authority Revenue 3¼s of 1985, yielding 3.75 per cent; Illinois Toll Highway Revenue 4¾s of 1998, offering a 4.53 per cent return; New York State Power Authority Revenue 4.20s of 2006, selling to yield 4.51 per cent, and Yuba County (Calif.) Water Agency 4s of 2016 yielding 4.59 per cent. All of these issues are rated A or AA.

State Decision Doesn't Suit Caseworker

LANSING (UPI) — Joel E. Bryant a Monroe County welfare caseworker, insists the state of Michigan has agreed to pay for his new $78 suit.

The Michigan Administrative Board, the agency that passes on claims against the state, says Bryant is badly mistaken.

It all started last May 15 when Bryant was bitten by a dog while making a house call. His suit was ripped. He submitted a claim to director John Smith of the state Department of Social Services.

BILL PRESENTED

Smith told Bryant to replace the suit and present a bill to the State Committee on Finance and Claims for review. He did just that.

However, the committee recommended the Administrative Board deny the claim, and the board did so at its Tuesday meeting.

Informed of the action, Bryant said there must have been some mistake. He said he still expects to recover his $78.

* * *

The board rejected the claim on the ground that personal items can only be replaced if damaged by "an act of a patient of a ward," and dogs do not fit that category.

'MATTER OF POLICY'

"It's a matter of policy," said board member Russel A. Searle.

Coincidentally, the board passed on a similar case Tuesday involving a welfare worker in the Saginaw County Department of Social Services.

* * *

The worker, Lynn Riegle, was nipped by a dog last July 15 and had his trousers ruined. His $7.16 claim was likewise denied. "I got a pair of pants that cost half as much," said Riegle.

Judgeship Recount Set in 4 Counties

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — A recount of paper ballots for a district judgeship will be held Monday in four counties on behalf of Glenn Aylsworth, who lost the primary by 20 votes.

Ormond Danford was the winner of one of two runoff spots in the November election for 13th Judicial District judge. The judgeship is for a new district including Grand Traverse, Leelanau, Antrim and Charlevoix counties.

* * *

A recount also will be held in Traverse City on behalf of Joseph Muha. He lost the Republican nomination for supervisor in the 6th District by one vote, 118-117, to Frank Boehm.

Commission Rejects 1 of 5 Rezoning Bids

A proposal to rezone a parcel of property on Eastway for expansion by a building supply company was rejected by the Pontiac City Commission last night. Four other zoning changes were approved.

Turned down was a request of the Foster Kilby Supply Co., 837 Auburn, to rezone 61 Eastway from residential to commercial.

* * *

John McGrath, an attorney representing 20 home owners on Eastway, told the commission that residents are concerned that rezoning would lead to other businesses moving further into the residential area.

* * *

NO OBJECTIONS

In denying the rezoning the commission went against the recommendation of the planning commission.

Kettering Due New Official

The Waterford Board of Education tomorrow night will name a new assistant principal for Waterford Kettering High School.

The board also will discuss recommendations from Schools Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe relative to minor boundary changes involving the Walled Lake and Huron Valley school districts.

Waterford is expected to give up some of its territory to the Huron Valley district and is expected to acquire some new territory formerly handled by Walled Lake, Tatroe said.

The meeting will be at 7:30 at the Board of Education offices, 3101 Walton in Waterford Township.

Seattle Snipers Hit Police Car

SEATTLE (AP) — Two shots hit a police patrol car as it answered a call to investigate a fight in Seattle's predominantly Negro central area early Wednesday.

The two officers in the car, E. L. Gordon and D. E. Severance, were unhurt.

"We got a call about a fight at 34th and Pike," Gordon related. "When we got near the intersection it appeared they opened up on both sides of the street. It sounded like about 25 rounds were fired. We just hit the deck and drove on through."

* * *

REINFORCEMENTS RUSHED

Several other squad cars hurried to the scene, and officers on foot searched the older residential area, where shrubs and trees supply considerable cover.

An abandoned gasoline station at 34th and Pike was examined. Officers thought it might have been the place where some of the shots were fired.

Officers found a large-caliber rifle shell, two short 38-caliber shells, an unspent shotgun shell and an empty 30-30-caliber shell box in bushes near the intersection.

Clark Retrial Hearing Near

Dr. Ronald E. Clark, convicted of manslaughter in the drug death of his nurse, will ask for a new trial at a hearing tomorrow in Mason in Ingham County.

Clark's attorney, Philip Rowston, will make the appeal to Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer, who sentenced the Farmington township doctor to 3 to 15 years in prison for causing the death of Mrs. Grace Neil.

Soviet Writer Derides Reports on Romania

Writing in the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda, Nikolai Gribachov also complained that "some Italian and French comrades" made statements about the invasion which "disturbed and grieved" many people, including the Soviets.

His reference to the two big Western Communist parties was believed to be the first disclosure by a Soviet publication of the Italian and French Communist criticism of the invasion.

Their criticism was widely reported outside the Soviet Union earlier, at a time when the Soviet press sought to create the impression that all Communists supported Moscow's position.

'TURBULENT REPORTS'

Ridiculing this, he added: "This is a warning to the Romanian people: 'Lock your doors, prepare a pitchfork—a wolf is coming.'"

But he reminded Romania that it was a member of the Warsaw Pact military alliance and made it clear that any attempt to break away would be unacceptable to Moscow.

LEARN DIFFERENCE

Gribachov told Kobria, "We will learn . . . to tell the difference between counterrevolution, under the pretense of 'liberalization,' and the true construction of socialism."

The implication was that Romania had failed to notice the "counterrevolution" which Moscow has said was threatening Czechoslovakia.
