Loop Highway's Backers Receive Bright News

BY PETE LOCHBILER

Good news for proponents of a loop highway circling downtown Pontiac was received here last night. A State Highway Dept. official said the proposed route was "definitely eligible" for designation as a trunkline highway replacing U.S. 10 (Saginaw street).

Howard C. Bacon of the Highway Dept.'s Office of Planning, said that with trunkline designation, the artery could be financed 50 per cent through federal funds, with additional help from the state.

Without federal and state help, the city would be faced with the task of financing the improvement alone. Its cost is estimated at $2,500,000 or more.

Bacon, an urban and area planning coordinator, also believed the Highway Dept. could begin engineering plans for the road by next year, if all goes well.

How soon the road could become a reality, he said, is dependent on several factors, including the appropriation of available federal and state funds in Lansing.

The highway planner was one of four speakers addressing a group of businessmen on recent developments concerning the $17,500 Barton Highway Transportation Study, which the group financed to better Pontiac roads.

Released last month, the traffic study makes recommendations for arterial roads, trunkline redesignations to help finance them, and a loop system to relieve traffic downtown and make the area more attractive commercially.

Running east and west of Saginaw street from School street on the north to Ontario street on the south, the loop was given number one priority by the study.

"I'm authorized by the Office of Planning," Bacon said, "to announce that the Barton plans in general would meet with our approval."

DEFINITELY ELIGIBLE

"The loop idea and certain other arterial routes are part of that system that will very definitely be eligible for trunkline redesignation."

Bacon declined to specify the other arterial routes he referred to.

His announcement was received enthusiastically by the group, formerly known as the Downtown Pontiac Assn. and now named the Downtown Development Group.

Also speaking were City Manager Walter K. Willman; David S. Geer, the city's planning consultant; and Michael A. Powells, project engineer for George W. Barton & Associates, an Evanston, Ill. firm.

Cautioning that the road plans might be "several years" away from reality, Willman pointed out that it is feasible for the city to raise its share of the money for the road.

He said up to $5,000,000 is available through 30-year bonding on anticipated gas and weight tax revenues.

60 PCT. THROUGH TRAFFIC

The City Manager estimated the city might have to pay up to 12 1/2 per cent on the road, or about $300,000, but Bacon thought this figure might be larger.

Powells stressed traffic studies that show approximately 60 per cent of downtown traffic is through traffic. He said that by 1975 the number of vehicles in the downtown area would be doubled.

"Pontiac needs a loop system to route through traffic around downtown," he said. "It also needs cross-town routes further out to keep other traffic away from downtown and arterial routes to bring downtown traffic to the loop system."

Claim $750,000 Goldfine Gift Checks Unused

Probers Unable to Get Details, as Merchant Admits Yule Presents

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bernard Goldfine acknowledged today making what he called Christmas present payments to numerous White House and Congressional employees.

But he denied a suggestion that may explain the mysterious disposition of three quarters of a million dollars.

The Boston industrialist refused to give House investigators his records on the $750,000 of checks drawn on funds of his enterprises but never cashed.

Robert W. Lishman, counsel to the committee said this evidence had turned up in the files of the Pilgrim Trust Co., Boston, previously obtained by the subcommittee.

Goldfine contended the matter of the checks was not relevant to the committee's investigation of his relations with Sherman Adams, top aide to President Eisenhower, and the treatment of Goldfine businesses by federal regulatory agencies.

Goldfine said his Christmas present payments to White House and congressional employees were of the $25 variety.

"At Christmas time these are all checks that we send to some poor workers," he said.

Lishman exploded the payments bomb soon after Goldfine had taken the witness chair for his second day of testimony.

It was after yesterday's House hearing that Goldfine's lawyer acknowledged that the industrialist's gifts to Adams had been deducted as business expenses for income tax purposes.

Under the circumstances, such gifts would be deductible only if the giver expected to get something of value in return.

Then Goldfine himself put out an explanation through an array of lawyers.

Ambassador to Speak on Moscow TV, Radio

MOSCOW (UPI)—United States Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson opens a new chapter in Soviet-American relations tonight by making an Independence Day address in Russian on Moscow radio and television.

Other Western ambassadors appeared on TV on the eve of their national holidays. But this is the first time a United States envoy has been invited to make a Fourth of July oration here.

The last time an American ambassador spoke on Moscow radio was in 1933, when William C. Bullitt opened the U.S. embassy in Soviet-American diplomacy.

Balks at Questioning

WON'T TALK — Vito Genovese, big shot New York mobster, invokes the Fifth Amendment under questioning by Senate investigators inquiring into operations of the Mafia crime syndicate. Geovese, described by Chairman John McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Committee as "one of the top gangsters in the country," refused even to tell his business or occupation. He declined to answer more than 100 questions.

Trucking, Garment Industry New Targets for Probers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators, balked by a series of Fifth Amendment pleas, took a new tack today in their probe of alleged mobster infiltration of businesses and labor union.

The Senate Rackets Investigating Committee turned its attention to alleged trucking rackets in East St. Louis, Ill., and charges that gangsters have muscled their way into the garment industry in New York and Pennsylvania.

A Detroit businessman who denied charges he was connected with the Mafia said today he plans to testify before the Senate Rackets Committee next month.

Rafael Quasarno was named as the leader of the Mafia in Detroit by a witness before the committee this week.

But Quasarno, 47-year-old owner of a barber supply company and a merchandise house, said the charge was not true. "All I know about the Mafia is what I read in the papers," he said. "I've done nothing wrong," he added.

Called to testify were: James Plumeri, a convicted New York labor extortionist.

Russell Bufalino, described by the committee as a gangster operating in Pennsylvania's garment industry. The government is trying to deport Bufalino.

Frank (Buster) Wortman, reputed head of the remnants of the old Shelton gang in East St. Louis.

Robert F. Kennedy, the committee counsel, said he also expects testimony from Thomas (Three Finger Brown) Luchese, an alleged New York hoodlum, and Abe Chait, whom Kennedy termed a major power in the New York garment industry and an associate of gangsters.

ONLY ONE NAMED

Bufalino is the only one of the day's scheduled witnesses named as having attended an alleged crime convention last fall in Apalachin, N. Y.

Since the hearings began last Monday, five witnesses have refused, on grounds of possible self-incrimination, to answer questions about the Mafia, secret criminal society, or about an alleged American crime syndicate the committee says poses a serious danger.

Big time New York mobster Vito Genovese, yesterday's main witness, refused to tell the committee whether he had treasonable dealings in World War II with Benito Mussolini, then dictator of Italy.

Genovese, a grim-faced, squat man in a tailored suit, pleaded that an answer to this, and some 200 other questions, might incriminate him.

Genovese heard himself pictured as a millionaire "king of the rackets," a power in the Mafia, and a cheat on his federal income taxes.

4 Americans, Canadian Flown to Naval Base

Rebel Leader Scores Action of His Brother in Taking Captives

HAVANA (UPI)—The rebel radio ordered the release today of all 50 Americans and Canadians held in their "impregnable" mountain stronghold.

Four Americans and one Canadian already had been freed last night and flown to the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo.

Fidel Castro, leader of the rebellion against President Fulgencio Batista, broadcast an order to his brother, Raul, directing that the remaining 45 persons be turned over to U.S. naval authorities at Guantanamo.

Fidel said he had been in direct contact with U.S. naval authorities and that he was making the broadcast to avoid being held responsible should any harm befall the captives before they could be returned.

The rebel broadcast said the Americans had no responsibility for the political situation in Cuba and he denounced their capture by Raul as a violation of individual liberties for which he said the rebels had been fighting.

Many persons had thought Raul Castro captured the North Americans in protest against alleged American aid to the Cuban government forces.

FLOWN IN COPTER

Four kidnapped Americans and a Canadian were flown to the naval base by helicopter last night. They described the rebel mountain stronghold as "impregnable" and one of them called Raul Castro "a swell guy."

They were captured with 43 other Americans — 30 of them servicemen — and two Canadians when the rebels mounted a series of strikes during the past week against U.S. installations in Oriente Province, the rebel stronghold in eastern Cuba.

The helicopter flights were to resume at dawn today and it was understood all the kidnap victims would be taken to Guantanamo by nightfall. The men who returned said the others were in good shape.

U.S. Consul Park Weillam came back aboard the helicopter on the second of its two trips last night after negotiating directly with Raul. Edward Cannon of Cornwall, Ont., the freed Canadian, called Raul a "swell guy."

ANGRY REACTIONS
There was no immediate explanation on how Weillam had secured the release of the hostages. The kidnappers had provoked angry reactions in the United States, including congressional demands that (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Wilson Accepts Civil Rights Job

Ex-Defense Secretary
Chairman of Advisory Committee in State

EAST LANSING (AP)—Charles E. Wilson is changing his tactics to fit his newest job.

The blunt-spoken and dynamic former boss of General Motors and former secretary of defense plans a low pressure approach to the problems of civil rights.

Wilson was the unanimous choice of other members yesterday to be chairman of the Michigan Advisory Committee on Civil Rights.

The committee will seek to find the problem areas in civil rights in Michigan and report back with recommendations to the President's Civil Rights Commission headed by Dr. John A. Hannah, Michigan State University president.

"We have no authority to order anybody to do anything," Wilson said, "but we hope to make some progress on a low pressure approach."

Wilson tried to insist at first that someone else take the chairmanship but finally gave way to what amounted to a draft movement. "A lot of old friends and new ones talked me into it," he said. Fred Manley, director of the Mott Foundation, Flint, was named vice chairman and secretary.

First working meeting of the group will be held early in September, he said.

Wilson, who has a solid background of experience in the nation's capital, said the civil rights problem could not be solved from Washington.

"The hope of the whole thing is enlightened public opinion," he said. "Men of good will must get together to solve the problems of their own communities. We must take the thing state by state."

Discrimination in voting no longer exists in Michigan, he said. But segregation in housing and unequal opportunities in employment and, to some degree, in education, still exist, he said.

More Funds Sought for Mental Hospitals

The first goal of a new emergency committee, seeking correction of Michigan's inadequate mental care facilities, is additional money besides what has already been appropriated.

The committee, suggested by Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, will consist of 12 Michigan probate judges, who have the responsibility for committing persons to mental institutions.

The "interim financing" which has been asked for would go toward hospitalizing some 200 children presently on mental hospital waiting lists.

Judge Moore had recommended that the Michigan Probate Judges Assn. which met this week in Gaylord, establish such a committee to seek means to improve mental health facilities, especially those for children.

Signal Knocked Out, Traffic Tied Up

Lightning knocked out a traffic signal at Orchard Lake and Maple roads, backing traffic up for three miles on Northwestern Highway.

The traffic jam lasted for two hours, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. State troopers directed traffic until the light was repaired.

Motorists attempting to turn off Northwestern into Orchard Lake, in West Bloomfield Township, were stymied, causing the backlog of cars.

Rebels Set Off Blast in Tripoli

Explosion Rocks Hotel
Housing Headquarters of U.N. Observers

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Rebels dynamited a three-story apartment house near U. N. headquarters in Tripoli today shortly before U. N. observers left by jeep for their first tour of the Syrian-Lebanese frontier.

The terrific force of the blast shook the Hotel Hakim, headquarters of the observer teams, 300 yards away, sent dust pouring through the open windows and awakened the U. N. officials.

The apartment building was reduced to a heap of rubble. It burst into flames later and thick clouds of smoke rolled over the city.

Immediately after the explosion one of the sharpest gun battles the city has seen in the last 48 hours broke out in the Nimke area of the city around the U. N. headquarters. Fighting swirled through the tiny, cobblestoned back alleys on all sides of the hotel for more than two hours.

UPI Photographer Robert Egby said the clash of small arms fire and automatic weapons echoed without letup during the period and was punctuated by shell fire and the thuds of exploding grenades.

Comparative quiet returned after the battle and a few brave vegetable and fruit merchants spread out their wares on the sidewalks.

Graham to Pay Full Rent Rate at Home Crusade

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham will pay full rate ($80 a day) when he uses the city-owned Coliseum for his hometown crusade here next fall.

Recently a windstorm took off almost half of the thin aluminum sheeting covering the Coliseum roof.

"Of course you have to charge him something," wrote the lady, "but not so much. You better think it over. The Lord may blow it away next time."

Amidst Hollywood, Parisian Whoopla

Swank Las Vegas Hotel Opens Doors

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The top investment in this land of cactus and craters—a seven-million-dollar tourist attraction called the Hotel Stardust opened last night with a Hollywood and Parisian whoopla.

Searchlights and stars like Bob Hope, Ethel Merman, Marie McDonald and Polly Bergen hailed the opening of the Strip's newest luxury hotel.

It was one of the dream of Tony Corneo Stralla, who operated gambling ships off the California coast in the 1930s until beached by the then Atty. Gen. Earl Warren.

Stralla died at a crap table here three years ago while trying for 10 the hard way. His mammoth development wasted until 2,900 investors were corralled to put up the finishing money. The hotel's 1,065 rooms far exceed the capacity of other hotels on the town's strip.

For an opener, the Stardust imported the celebrated Lido show from Paris. Never in Las Vegas history were so many showgirls covered by so little. Also adding to the spice were the clothed but talented Bluebell girls from England.

The Stardust show offered just about everything from a swimming pool below the stage to an ice rink above it—and barebusted belles descending from overhead.

"This is the end," exclaimed the well-traveled Hope. Most of the first nighters agreed.

Thousands Stranded on Trains, Elevators

Transformer Burns

KEARNY, N. J. (AP)—A 25-ton transformer exploded into flames here yesterday, leaving parts of metropolitan North Jersey without electric power for up to an hour and a half.

The fire cut off power to 400,000 customers and caused widespread delays in train service.

A spokesman for the Public Service Electric & Gas Co. said the fire at an outdoor switching station near the Hackensack River destroyed the transformer but damage was limited to equipment there. There were no injuries.

The power went off at 3:47 p.m.

At that instant, trains stopped, stranding thousands of New York and New Jersey commuters. Delays ranged from a minute to an hour.

Some people were caught between floors in elevators.

Traffic lights went out. Police directed rush hour traffic by hand.

Air-conditioners and electric fans stopped as the mercury soared to 96 on the hottest day of the year in New Jersey.

Movie houses closed their doors.

Almost all major industrial plants in the area were forced to shut down.

Employees were also sent home from many businesses unable to function without the use of electrical typewriters, cash registers, adding machines and other electrical equipment.

House lights, refrigerators, electric ranges, radios, phonographs, television sets stopped working.

Police and newspaper switchboards were flooded with calls. At one time it took 10 minutes to get a dial tone in Jersey City.

Recently a windstorm took off almost half of the thin aluminum sheeting covering the Coliseum roof.

"Of course you have to charge him something," wrote the lady, "but not so much. You better think it over. The Lord may blow it away next time."

TOKYO (UPI)—The Yomiuri News in drought-stricken Tokyo printed a report of a new typhoon today under the headline, "Hurrah! A Typhoon."

U.S. Marines be sent in if necessary to free the rebel captives.

The first five men released were among the 12 engineers captured by Raul Castro's men in a raid on the U.S.-owned Moa Bay construction project last Thursday. The raiders were reported to have been led personally by Raul.

The navy helicopter made two round trips, flying from the naval base to a pre-designated cleared site in the rebel-held jungles. The two trips took four hours, indicating the rebel prison camp was in the Sierra Maestra not more than 30 miles from the Guantanamo base.

Brought on the first flight were Cannon and Henry Salmonson, of Portland, Ore., employees of the Stebbins Engineering and Manufacturing Co. of Watertown, N. J., and W. Koster of Akron, Ohio, an employee of the Maurice Knight Co.

The two men brought to freedom with Wollam on the second flight were Anthony A. Chamberlain, of Coral Gables, Fla., an employee of the Frederick Snare Corp. of New York, and Howard A. Roach, of Watertown, N. Y., an employee of the Stebbins Co. The firms are engaged in work at the Freeport sulphur project on Moa Bay.

All said they had been treated well during their captivity. "We were fed as well as Castro could possibly feed us with the supplies he has," Roach said. Asked about the condition of the

Argentine Has Lead in Britain

Leopoldo Ruiz Moves
2 Strokes Ahead of
Pete Thomson

ST. ANNE'S-ON-SEA, England. (AP)—Leopoldo Ruiz, 31-year-old Argentine Open champion, shot a sensational 65 today in the second round of the British Open golf championship, equalling the all-time record for the tournament and taking the lead with a 36-hole total of 136.

Ruiz moved out two strokes ahead of three-time champion Pete Thomson of Australia and Dave Thomas of Wales.

Thomson, winner of the qualifying medal and leader on the first day with a 66, slumped to a one-over-par 72 today for a 138 total. Thomas put a fine 68 on top of yesterday's 70.

Ruiz' round of 30-35-65 equalled the championship 18-hole record set by England's Henry Cotton in 1934. The 6-foot-1 Argentine took a bogey six at the seventh hole but had four birdies on the front nine and an eagle three on the comparatively easy third hole. He holed chip shots at the third and eighth. He had two birdies and one bogey coming back, hitting a bunker at the 17th.

Only 50 golfers will qualify for the final 36 holes of play after today, with 149 strokes expected to be the cutoff point.

work," Goldfine said, so he left it up to his accountants to handle the more than $2,000 worth of hotel bills the subcommittee says he paid for Adams over a four-year period.

If the revenue men decide it is wrong to count these as business costs, he said, then they can seek more taxes which Goldfine will pay.

As for a $2,400 oriental rug, Goldfine said he persuaded Adams to let him buy it for Goldfine's own showroom floor and then lend it to Adams.

Adams' testimony was that Goldfine let him use the rug on the understanding that it was a loan.

Revenue service officials said an item loaned by a business cannot be claimed as tax deductible. They indicated a review of Goldfine's tax returns is under way.

Lishman gave Goldfine a list of 37 people he said had gotten payments. Then the committee attorney brought in the matter of the three quarters of a million dollars of outstanding checks against funds of Goldfine businesses.

Lishman suggested they may have gone to federal employees "who may have been too bashful to get them cashed."

Goldfine, 67, a textile magnate, said only a small portion of that money went for what he called the Christmas payments.

The first name mentioned on the list of those getting payments from Goldfine was that of Eugene T. Kinnally, administrative assistant to Rep. McCormack (Mass.) the House Democratic leader.

Goldfine said his largest gift had gone to Kinnally and that he had known Kinnally for years.

Kinnally told a reporter the only gift he ever received from Goldfine was a box of fruit and food last Christmas.

"I have never received one red cent from Goldfine or from anybody else as gifts," Kinnally said. Goldfine did not immediately identify any one on the list publicly except Kinnally.

But he protested that only a small portion of the checks represented payments to federal officials. He declined to produce records on the full amount as Lishman sought.

of the loop system and believed it would be feasible to close many of the streets in the downtown area eventually.

The study recommends that eventually only two major east-west routes remain open to through traffic: Huron-Mt. Clemons and Orchard-Lake-Auburn. It also says the jobs should be taken out of both routes.

With many of the downtown streets closed, Geer envisioned a kind of shoppers' paradise in the downtown area, with such features as malls, statuary, flowers, trees, and benches to make the area attractive.

"FANCIFUL" IDEA
Admitting that the idea was "fanciful," Geer maintained it would provide "the icing to the cake." He said such features had helped sales soar in other cities that have adopted them.

Bacon said that after the road plans are approved locally by the Planning Commission and City Commission, they must then be approved by the highway department and the Bureau of Public Roads before engineering would begin.

Daniel R. Veazey, plan commission chairman, said his group already has begun study of the loop plan and may have recommendations ready for the City Commission "within a month."

Willman said he believed that commissioners, who also attended last night's meeting, would give the plan their stamp of approval.

Before the plans go to Lansing, public hearings would be held.

MY 3-1448

The Recession Has Hit the Teens, Too

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert
Youth Research Co.

The current business recession is causing the kids in blue jeans to do a little belt tightening. For some of them, used to liberal allowances and well paying after school jobs, it's a new and most unwelcome experience.

"My allowance has been cut. I can't find a summer job anywhere and I may have to change my plans about beginning college in the fall. Things are rough, all right," moaned 17-year-old Jo Ann Purkey of Belington, W. Va.

She was not alone at the fiscal wailing wall. In a nationwide survey we learned that 84 per cent of the teenagers are feeling the recession pinch in one way or other.

"Last year," said a 17-year-old Far Rockaway boy, "I turned down a job as life guard in favor of a better paying one where my father works. This year, I'd be glad to pick up papers on the beach, only all those jobs are taken already by men out of work."

SPENDING PLANS NIPPED
The recession, it appears from the survey comments, has junked many a plan for going to camp or spending the summer at the beach, and many teenagers are dipping into their savings accounts to finance college wardrobes or other "luxuries" once regarded as necessities.

Even baby sitting isn't what it used to be.
"I used to buy all my clothes with the money I earned from baby sitting," commented 15-year-old Babe Bracken of Ilion, N.Y., "but people don't go out much anymore. They can't afford it, so I don't work."

Some of the examples cited were of a far more serious nature: father unemployed or on a reduced work week; furniture, automobiles and other credit purchases reclaimed by the finance company; mortgage troubles; drastic cutbacks in family spending that extend even into menu planning, and a host of other monetary difficulties.

But for all their tales of woe, the majority of the teenagers queried were optimistic about the future. Seven out of 10 (71 per cent) were convinced that the recession was temporary and only 6 per cent regarded it as a step toward another major war.

EFFECTS FAIRLY MILD

And while most claimed that the recession had cramped their spending style, few professed to be greatly affected. Only 2 per cent said that their allowances had been cut and 44 per cent were working at various part-time jobs. Of those with jobs, 97 per cent said they had the job before the recession began and only 9 per cent experienced any pay cuts or reduction in working hours since then.

The main blow of the recession, as far as young people are concerned, seems to have been delivered at the once lucrative summer job market, which many used to finance their education, buy a car or boat, or put away some savings toward Christmas presents. Some 13 per cent said the recession had altered their education plans.

In most cases, except for its effect on college plans, the shortage of summer jobs and part-time work had little effect on the overall family budget. Only 12 per cent of the working teenagers said they made any contributions to the expenses of their home. The rest, presumably, could call their paychecks their own and any layoffs were more a personal than a family tragedy.

"No work. No money. Simple as that," commented 17-year-old Evelyn Girard of Hartford, Conn. Nancy Rankin of Cincinnati also took a philosophical attitude toward her inability to find a summer job: "I'll have less money to spend on foolishness."

WANT GOVERNMENT ACTION

Although optimistic about the future, most teenagers are not content to sit around waiting for the rainbow to appear on the financial horizon. Eighty-five per cent of them feel that somebody ought to do something about the recession and, to their mind, that somebody is the government.

These teen-aged economists offered a variety of solutions. Cut taxes, cried 49 per cent. More public works, insisted 45 per cent. Decrease an immediate price-wage freeze, suggested 81 per cent.

In addition, a large majority of the teenagers making suggestions felt that labor and management should join forces to hold the line of prices and wages. Some 79 per cent said it would be "unfair" for labor to demand wage increases at this time.

Here are some typical comments supporting the various solutions advanced:

"Cut the tax and you'll kill the depression." Monroe Malin, 17, Dallas.

"Lowering taxes would help more than any other single step." Norman Claire, 17, Chicago.

"Increased public works projects on federal, state and local level. This would provide many jobs and accomplish some valuable things at the same time."

Will Mold Figure

Supplement Diet With Exercise

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The part exercise plays in reducing is becoming more and more clarified. We always have known that one cannot shed overweight by exercise alone because it is impossible to exercise enough. Calories must also be counted.

However, there may be other factors. I myself often have noticed that I gain when I am at home and sit at a typewriter a lot of each day. I lose without effort when I am on a trip and dash about from one interview to another. There is no doubt that I eat much more rich food when on these trips than I do when at home.

An interesting experiment was tried at New York Hospital. Pedometers were attached to the upper thighs of 15 overweight women, patients at the general medical clinic. Pedometers also were attached to an equal number of women who were the correct weight and also similar in age and occupation.

It was found that the overweight women walked a little more than 14 miles a week, while the normal women walked more than 24 miles a week. This probably presents a vicious circle—less activity leads to more weight and more weight leads to less physical activity.

The habit of some exercise each day, a walk of a mile or so, will make a difference in the long run. Also stretching and bending exercises will slim you in inches as you lose pounds through diet. There is a great difference in appearance between the woman who loses through calorie counting alone and through a combination of diet and exercise.

Add to your daily exercise quota mony performed by the Rev. Theodore Allebach.

many small ways just as you cut down on calories in many ways. Walk to a nearby store instead of ride. Walk part of the way to and from work, or take mat exercises or dance to records. Just a little additional exercise will add up to a much lovelier figure and to better health.

Diamond Dust

By CHUCK ABRAH

Many of the area's outstanding high school baseball players are keeping on the go this summer playing in baseball and softball leagues.

Probably the top example of the value prep players have been to one team this fall can be found in looking over the lineup of the Spencer Floor Covering team in Waterford's National League of softball.

All but one starter on that contingent was on the Waterford High squad last spring. Spencer has lost only once in loop play led by such familiar athletes as Chuck Kirken and John Herrington.

Rain Shortens Diamond Slate

Rain and wet grounds cut heavily into Wednesday's city adult diamond activity, wiping out two baseball games and a pair of softball contests. Two softball battles at Beaudette Park were the only games played.

In a regularly scheduled City League American division softball game, Roger Reynolds pitched a dazzling four-hit shut-out as Birmingham defeated Stadium Inn, 2-0. Norm Jennings and Jake Mazur combined for a six-hit shutout as Shaw's Jewellers whipped the Elks, 5-0, in an exhibition contest.

Class A baseball at Wisner Field and Class B baseball at Jaycee Park were rained out yesterday while wet grounds caused postponement of the two-game softball schedule at North Side Park.

Drayton Drug of the Waterford League and Stadium Inn will clash Friday at Oakland Park at 5:30 p.m. in an exhibition softball game as part of the city's Fourth of July celebration.

Milford pitching ace Terry Hoy is hurling for Griff's Grill in the rugged Class A men's baseball league which has Birmingham grads Dick Cloonan, Tom and Ed Estes as teammates on the Jets.

The Parks brothers, Leroy and John, are favoring in a city softball league. Jerry Williams, Dave Jones and Shan Griffith of Pontiac Central are teammates on the Pontiac Boys' Club nine in the Parks and Recreation Class D league.

Oxford's entry in the same loop includes such Wildcat vets as Fred Liestman, Jim McCallum, Jeff Brady and Jerry Hight. Lake Orion tossers Nick Neira, Jeff Snarey, Jim Recknagel and Dean Callison are key men on that town's "D" entry while Jerry Wilmont and John Parks of Clarkston perform for Don Nichol.

Bob Robaja was a topnotch starter for Pontiac Central and he is still banging the ball for Pontiac Boys' Club in Class F play.

Others on city loop teams are: Dan Kimmel (PCH), Don Nichol; John Dixon (Bloomfield Hills), Birmingham; Jim Scheibner (Milford), and Al Dubois (West Bloomfield) West Bloomfield Boys' Club; Dave Walsh and Andy Billeston (Cranbrook), Cranbrook; Ernie Savas (Waterford), Miracle Mile; John Studt, Tony Hiller and Wendy Meyer (Waterford), Lytle & Colgrove; all in Class D ball.

SKIPPING AROUND—Filar and Scott staged quite a mound duel last Sunday before both faltered. Each pitched one-hit shutout ball for 7 innings. . . Tel Huron entry in city Class F league has a shortstop named Rizzuto. First name is Rick.

Friday will be National Baseball Polio Day throughout the nation with all county baseball leagues expected to contribute in a combined effort for the benefit of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Last year over $60,000 was raised in the U.S. . . Local youngster called Press Sports Department to learn Al Kaline's number so he could have same one on team he is joining.

Automobile racing for dare-devils of all ages will hold the Fourth of July spotlight on two area tracks Friday afternoon.

Modified hardtop cars roll at Pontiac Speedway tomorrow when the big boys take their holiday fling around the banked quarter-mile asphalt oval on M59. Time trials begin at 12:30 p.m. with the 1st race at 2 o'clock. The Speedway held its 1958 season opener last Sunday.

Wolverine Quarter-Midget auto races for boys and girls from 4 to 15 years old are scheduled tomorrow and Sunday at the new Miracle Mile track starting at 2 p.m. There will be 10 events on each program, climaxed by a 20-lap feature race around the one-tenth of a mile track. Admission is free.

Track Group Organized

By H. GUY MOATS

Some 40-45 collegians, former college athletes, prep and ex-high school stars and a number of others interested in continuing track and field activities during the summer, have banded themselves into an organization, unique in this area.

The Suburban Track club, with headquarters at Redford Union High, is sanctioned by the Michigan AAU. It is the only other such group in Michigan besides the Detroit Track club, organized in January of this year, Mike Bowerman of Redford Union is president.

There is a possibility that Kermit Ambrose, Birmingham's fine track coach, would form a similar group for this section, says Bob Parker, Thurston coach and "veep" of the Suburban club. Maples have around a score of athletes now in the club, including state vault champion Bill Alcorn, vaulter Tom Siegel and 220 man Bob Kulow.

Kulow and Farmington's state champion hurdler Warren Cawley on the 220-yard legs, with George Tatu, MSU freshman 880 runner, and Dick Jaros, Thurston quarter miler, will run July 4, in a sprint medley event at Toronto, Ont. Ambrose will accompany the quartet.

Information regarding memberships or other questions may be addressed to secretary-treasurer Fred McGlone at Livonia Bentley High School, or to Parker at Thurston High, 26255 Schoolcraft, Detroit 39.

Proposing New Defense Steps?

Khrushchev Surprises U.S. With New Letter to Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Khrushchev is reported to have proposed some new steps Russia and Western countries might take to prevent surprise bombing attacks against each other.

The Soviet leader is understood to have mentioned them in an unexpected letter he sent to President Eisenhower late yesterday afternoon.

The State Department, after translating the 4½ page document, rushed a copy to Eisenhower last night.

Some U.S. officials were reported to regard Khrushchev's suggestions as more promising than the formerly unacceptable proposals he has set forth thus far for inspection of each other's territory. While refusing to divulge details, some officials said Khrushchev's ideas, if sincere, could eventually open the door to limited East-West cooperation to guard against sudden attack.

A State Department spokesman afterward told newsmen tersely that the Khrushchev proposals dealt with measures to prevent surprise attack.

Martha Raye, Her 'Bodyguard' Sail for Europe

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedienne Martha Raye sailed for Europe last night, accompanied by a party including a former Westport, Conn., policeman.

Traveling with the actress aboard the Queen Mary were her daughter, Melody, 14; her business manager and former husband, Nick Condos, and his wife; and Robert O'Shea, described as Miss Raye's bodyguard.

O'Shea's wife sued Miss Raye in 1956 for alienation of affections. The actress paid Mrs. O'Shea about $20,000 in settlement of the suit.

Asked if she and O'Shea were romantically attached, Miss Raye shrugged and replied, "Yes and no."

Hoover to Represent Ike at World's Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover left by plane yesterday for Brussels, where he will represent President Eisenhower at the World's Fair.

Hoover, 83, took off in Eisenhower's personal plane, the Columbine III. Accompanying him were Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy and his wife; Col. Joseph Binns of the Air Force Reserve, acting as Hoover's military aide, and Mrs. Binns.

The ex-president will deliver an address at the fair tomorrow.

Alimony Hike Denied Vanderbilt's Ex-Wife

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Patricia Vanderbilt has lost a court action to compel her former husband, Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., to increase her weekly alimony from $250 to $500.

However, State Supreme Court Justice Julius J. Gans, in rejecting the petition, ruled that Vanderbilt must pay all her medical expenses.

Mrs. Vanderbilt testified three years ago that in 1951 Vanderbilt threw her in a bathtub with such force that she suffered injuries requiring her to wear an orthopedic brace. He divorced her in Nevada in 1953.

Affidavits from physicians and dentists, the court said, indicated that treatments would amount to about $10,000.

Mama, Papa, Baby Bear Visit Florida Woman

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Three bears came knocking at a home in suburban Marietta last night.

A woman who said she'd heard a commotion outside her house for three nights turned on a porch light and saw a big bear.

Duval County Patrolmen H. B. Seymour and L. B. Williams found the tracks of a big bear, a medium size bear and a small bear. They tracked the trio to a nearby swamp.

"This will bear watching," said Seymour.

Michigan joined the Union Jan. 26, 1837. The star was added by law on July 4, 1837. No specific star is identified with any specific state, however.

NO LONGER SHOCKING — Mike Wallace, TV's most incisive interviewer, is now centering his discussions around ideas rather than personalities. Wallace says he has moved away from the personal interview because he felt that his motives were being misunderstood. His new show is on 10 p.m. Sundays on ABC-TV.

Allen Decides Levant Is Worth the Trouble

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I just broke up with my wife," Oscar Levant announced a few minutes after acting as Steve Allen's "pest star."

"Really," insisted Oscar. "She phoned from Beverly Hills to say I was excellent. I told her, 'You've got to say I was better than that.'"

Oscar won't be forgotten by the Allen cast, some of whom claim Levant is the new synonym for trouble and that they'd rather lose an Oscar than win this one. Oscar brought his own $100-a-day doctor who got him an ambulance to ride to the Los Angeles airport.

"We had to rewrite the script 42 times," one Allen aide told me. "He sent out for 25 sandwiches and didn't eat one."

"That's untrue. Late half of one," chuckled Oscar. "I don't like sandwiches."

He wouldn't allow anybody within 10 feet during rehearsals. He said he was talking to Judy Holiday and didn't want to be interrupted.

"Nobody bothers me," he added. "Once in a hospital elevator, a nurse said, 'Do you remember me?' I said, 'Fortunately, I'm suffering from amnesia.'"

Levant impressed Steve sufficiently that he'll be invited back. He had one line that should never die. He said, "Zsa Zsa Gabor has discovered the secret of perpetual middle age."

Mickey Rooney's expected to accept a cut in his guaranteed $10,000-a-week salary to enable the new Cafe de Paris to stay alive. "Fresh money" paid off all salaries and even allowed a headwaiter's wife to get back some rings she'd hooked to help buy rolls and meat. Bob Hope, appearing with Dorothy Lamour, for free, to help the club survive, said, "I really came here to pick up a CARE package for Bernard Goldfine."

Lou Walters, seriously stricken when the club to "re-organize," is reported able to play gin rummy in Miami.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

The Old Rumanian's Jack Silverman plans to complain to AGVA about the Cafe de Paris' "unfair competition" (getting headlines acts at low prices) . . . Actress Inger Stevens is taking a slow freighter back to her native Sweden . . . Elvis Presley's record company uses his army marksmanship medal in its ads . . . TV quiz expert Hank Bloomgarden (of "21") wrote a book on diseases, called "Before We Sleep."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Description of a bore: "He reminds me of a toothache I once had." . . . That's earl, brother.

Dislikes Label of TV Bad Boy

His Interviews Center Around the Nature of American Society

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — A somewhat changed Mike Wallace is presenting a meaty, satisfying television program these Sunday evenings which examines the nature of American society in relation to its institutions.

Wallace, still the most incisive interviewer on network television, is a trifle weary of his largely undesired reputation of being Peck's Bad Boy in a medium which largely favors a Little Lord Fauntleroy approach.

In his new program (ABC-TV, Sundays, 10 p.m.) sponsored by the Fund for the Republic, Wallace has interviewed theologian Reinhold Niebuhr, industrialist Cyrus S. Eaton, Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Next Sunday his guest will be Charles Percy, president of the Bell & Howell Co., who will discuss the problems facing American capitalism and free enterprise.

The discussions are of ideas rather than personalities.

"I've moved away from the personal interview," says Wallace, "because I feel that my motives were being misunderstood. People got the idea that I was out to shock. Once I had that reputation, people seemed to be disappointed unless there was some blood-letting in an interview."

"Nightbeat," the New York local interview program on which Wallace first gained attention before he moved to a network, "was basically not much more than a thought-provoking program," he said.

"Occasionally somebody said something surprising—and people pounced on it as shocking."

Although he says he enjoys his new series more, Wallace says that his relationship with his old sponsor was "extraordinary in this business. They let us do what we wanted to and never complained."

Of that year of personal interview Wallace regrets only one or two. "I don't feel that I was too rough. The people with whom I talked are still my friends. Everyone came on of his own free will, you know."

Wallace's contract with ABC-TV runs until May 1, 1959. His current series is scheduled for 13 weeks — with all serious-minded television viewers hoping that it will be extended.

Toledo Names Sea Lion Cyril Honorary Citizen

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Cyril, the fugitive sea lion being returned to the London, Ont., zoo Sunday, will remain an honorary citizen of Toledo.

City Council voted unanimously to give him that honor. Before going back to his original owners, the slippery mammal will be given a glass key to this glassmaking center. A similar key will go to the director of Storybook Gardens in London.

The sea lion escaped from London Zoo June 17, swimming through several bodies of water before capture off Sandusky Bay in western Lake Erie last Friday. The Toledo zoo claimed possession, later yielded.

Actor Sued by Wife

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Ernest Borgnine's wife is suing him for separate maintenance. She says he told her he doesn't want to live with her any more. Her suit asks custody of their daughter, Nancy Allison, 6, and a fair share of community property.
