Medicare Put in New Wrappings

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy put his battered plans for health care of the elderly into new wrappings today—part of a $10-billion, five-year plan aimed to better life, income and housing for senior Americans.

But it was bound to be old hat to Congress.

Besides the expected, and once-defeated, proposals for hospital insurance for the aged through Social Security, the President asked again for tax benefits for the elderly, part of his tax message last month.

The hospital insurance plan is expected to cost $5.6 billion for the first four years, the tax benefits $3.9 billion for the first five years.

Thus, in this special message on problems of the aging—the first ever by an American president—the two biggest money items and all but a fraction of the total money package are quite familiar.

But, in addition, the President called for:

More money for low interest loans to build rental housing for elderly persons of moderate income.

New emphasis on building group residences for the elderly where central dining and housekeeping services are available, some nursing care can be provided, but privacy is preserved.

JOBS FOR RETIREES
More jobs for those past prime time age who want to work—including a directive to federal agencies to evaluate applicants and employees on the basis of ability, not age.

In all, the President recommended 36 ways to better the lot of senior citizens. But the heart of the program was hospital insurance. Concurrent with the President's message, a new administration bill was to be introduced in Congress.

It was basically the same as a bill sponsored by Congress last year. And it did nothing to bend to previous objections of the American Medical Association to any plan financed solely by Social Security.

Last year's administration bill, almost a twin to this year's—died in the hands of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Respiratory diseases, including the dangerous Asian flu strain, were at epidemic heights in parts of New York, Michigan and the South.

The Sandusky Community School near Port Huron, Mich., closed down for the rest of the week because a third of the students were sick at home or in hospitals.

At Albany, N.Y., the state health department reported 30 cases of flu-like illness at the Cuyaga County Infirmary and home.

The flu bug continued its march across Michigan and physicians feared it might grow worse. Cases of Asian flu have been reported in Lansing, Detroit, Ann Arbor and other cities.

Charles P. Anderson, Detroit health commissioner, said about

How Do We Catch Flu? Page B-10

90,000 Detroiters have some kind of respiratory disease. He said school absenteeism is 50 per cent above normal.

Anderson said some 15,000 are ill with the disease and probably another 15,000 have had it in the past few days and are recovering.

Virginia health authorities reported 3,000 new cases yesterday, bringing the total to about 7,000 for the week. Sources said this probably is a small percentage of those actually stricken, since many cases are not reported.

SAID DECLINING
Dr. James B. Kenley, a health officer, said physicians in most areas of the state seem to feel the epidemic is on a decline.

In Louisville and Trigg County, Ky., the outbreak appears to be abating, but Boyd County (Ashland) reported 3,000 patients in the past two weeks. Schools were closed in Glasgow, Bowling Green and Knox County.

Hundreds of deaths have been reported since the first outbreak of respiratory disease began to occur about three weeks ago.

There were 1,288 new cases reported yesterday in Alabama, and Dr. W. H. Y. Smith, the state health officer, said the state is in the midst of an influenza epidemic.

County Struck by Asian Flu; Absences Up

An Oakland County Health Department official today said "We have received enough reports of absenteeism this week to know that the Asian flu is with us."

Dr. Bernard Berman, deputy director, explained that "although there are many kinds of upper respiratory infections, those reported indicate Asian flu."

"When reports come in waves, as they now are in Oakland County, we know it's flu. We've had high absenteeism reported in some offices and schools."

Dr. Berman said the first wave of reports came from South Oakland County but that now "the reports are widespread."

Troy Chief David Gratopp Inspects Mrs. Mordue's Car

Charged in Shooting of Wife, Man in Car

A 32-year-old Troy businessman was charged today with assault with intent to commit murder after police said he critically wounded his wife and the man he found her with early this morning.

Howard W. Mordue was to appear before Troy Justice of the Peace Charles H. Losey this afternoon.

Police said he admitted emptying his revolver into his wife Barbara and 26-year-old Nelson Hartman of 105 Cutting Blvd., Troy, when he found them together in a parked car.

Mordue fired his .25-caliber revolver six times at his wife Barbara and 26-year-old Nelson Hartman of 105 Cutting Blvd., Troy, according to police.

Five of the bullets reached targets.

Both victims are in critical condition at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak. Mrs. Mordue was hit in the back. Hartman suffered wounds in the face, left arm, abdomen and leg.

The shooting took place in the parking lot of the Thunderbird Lanes Bowling Alley, 400 W. Main Road, Troy, shortly after 2 a.m.

Mordue called Troy police on his car telephone after the shooting and waited for them to arrive.

In addition to the pistol Mordue had fired, police found a 45-caliber revolver and additional shells in the glove compartment of his car.

In a statement made today to Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor Robert L. Templin Jr., Mordue said he was informed where his wife was by a private detective he had hired to follow her.

Mordue stated that "family relations had been poor lately," according to Templin.

MIG Aircraft Fire On U.S. Fishing Boat

Soviet Union Confirms Withdrawal of Troops by Middle of March

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy ordered the armed forces today "to take all necessary action" to prevent a recurrence of yesterday's rocket attack by Cuba-based MIG planes on an American shrimp boat.

Kennedy's action was announced by the White House, which attributed the attack in the Florida Straits to "Cuban aircraft."

There was guarded speculation of a possible link between this incident and the disappearance of a U.S. tanker Feb. 2.

In a second announcement, the White House said that the Soviet Union has told this government that several thousand Soviet military personnel will be withdrawn from Cuba by the middle of March.

It said the Soviet personnel being withdrawn had to do with guarding the kinds of weapons which already have been removed from Cuba, as well as some military specialists who have been training Cuban military cadres.

The United States government considers this action by the Soviet government a useful step in reduction of international tensions," the White House statement said.

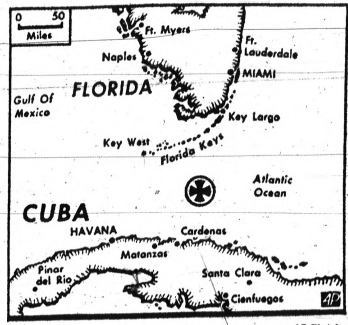

As for the shrimp boat incident, Press Secretary Pierre Salinger read newsmen a statement reporting that "a strong protest" against the firing of MIG rockets at the shrimp boat Ala has been sent to Havana via the Swiss government.

'EXPECT EXPLANATION'
"The United States government will expect a full explanation from Cuba," the statement said.

Swiss channels were used to forward the note because the United States does not maintain diplomatic relations with Cuba.

The key sentence in the White House statement read:

De Gaulle Pushes for 'Real' Europe

Editor's Note: France's attitude toward Britain and the United States has raised many questions about Charles de Gaulle and his aims. The Associated Press asked a French editor to explain some of the thinking behind de Gaulle's actions. The writer is foreign editor of the Paris newspaper France-Soir.

By MAURICE DELAURE

By The Associated Press

PARIS — President Charles de Gaulle cannot be reproached for lacking continuity in his thinking. Tactical necessities may oblige him to zig or zag. But his final aim is clear, and long since a matter of record.

This aim is to make of a united Europe "a Europe that is really European." It must be its own master, and, first of all, control its own defense.

It must be a united Europe that is distinct, but allied to the United States. Europe and the United States would be equal in status and power.

The Atlantic Alliance remains indispensable as long as the Soviet menace exists. But this united and independent Europe would act as a magnetic attraction for the Russian people.

It would prod the Russian regime to change and become more human. Chinese pressure would aid this metamorphosis, which would be slow but already is under way, and would permit establishment of a "European understanding from the Atlantic to the Urals."

The political outline of Europe is a weak point in this vision of the future. How would this united Europe be governed?

De Gaulle evades the question with sarcasm against "supranationality" or a "stateless Europe."

He thinks that for the present it is necessary—and sufficient—to bring into being a common desire for an organized cooperation among governments, through regular and frequent consultation from chiefs of state on down.

Better yet, as a practical start on this program, it is necessary—and sufficient—to organize cooperation between France and Germany. The rest will follow.

For almost 15 years, de Gaulle has never stopped preaching in favor of this "practical arrangement between Gauls and Germans."

$4-Million Plan for Resort Told

Await ARA Loan OK in Springfield Twp.

Plans to build a $4.2-million year-round resort near I-75 in Springfield Township were revealed today by the Michigan Economic Development Department in Lansing.

The plans are subject to federal approval of a $2.6-million ARA loan.

An application for the loan has been filed by Royal Oak realtor Edwin Gage for the new Four Seasons Lodge Corp. Gage is president of the corporation.

The site would contain a 162-room motel, swimming pool, two golf courses, driving range, trap and skeet shooting range, ice skating rink, tennis courts and cabanas, according to Gage.

He said the site was chosen because it is easily accessible from Detroit, Flint, Lansing and surrounding suburbs.

The corporation's plans are based on a projected 40 per cent increase in population from Bay City to Toledo by 1980, Gage added.

He envisions the area as part of a super urban region that will (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Bill Would Permit Area College District

LANSING — Legislation to enable Oakland County to proceed with plans for a community college district was introduced in the Senate yesterday by Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County.

The bill would permit the county to go ahead with arrangements for a countywide election on establishment of a junior college system without including the Clarencville School District.

The county's hopes of starting a community college were stalled last year by a state attorney general's opinion that such a district could neither include nor exclude the Clarencville School District. Clarencville lies mostly in Wayne County but partly in Oakland County.

It could not be excluded under existing law because it was in the county and could not be included because it already is part of the Northwest Wayne County Community College District.

A voter-approved one-mill special tax is required to operate a community college district. Clarencville already pays the tax of $1 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

The county's plans were developed by a citizens' study committee.

Roberts' bill provides that a community college district be operated by the existing County Board of Education. But amendments requiring a separate board are expected to be introduced.

The ARA application carries the endorsement of the state development department and has been forwarded to Washington for federal approval.

Besides the possible ARA loan, the Davisburg Industrial Development Corp. has pledged a loan of $429,010 toward construction of the lodge, which would provide an estimated 363 new jobs in the area.

A spokesman for the department in Lansing said the lodge corporation also has announced plans to borrow an additional $1 million through regular mortgage channels.

This would leave the corporation's investment at $214,506, the amount it has paid for the 290-acre site at I-75 and Holly Road.

He said that his wife and he had tried to get out of the car when he drove up and that they were standing very close when he shot.

The businessman talked of financial difficulties to Templin which he said stemmed from a recent "safari" taken by his wife. He is owner of the eight-story Medical Arts Building in Highland Park.

The Mordues have two children, Skippy, 10, and Marc, 6. They reside at 4016 Chestnut Hill Drive, Troy.

Capital Reporters Get Gate From Kennedy's Reception

WASHINGTON (U)—Newsmen were told yesterday they no longer may mingle or talk with guests at official receptions given by President and Mrs. Kennedy.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger outlined changes in the setup which has been followed for the two years of the Kennedy administration. In such a case, Salinger said, the reporters would have to leave after the news coverage policy but did not go into details about what led to the decision.

Reporters covering such receptions hereafter may only watch the guests arrive and the Kennedys pose for pictures, and watch guests on the receiving line if there is any.

But the Kennedys have made it a point to eliminate the formal reception line. In such a case, Salinger said, the reporters would have to leave after the guests arrive.

Settle Lawsuit in Todd's Death

NEW YORK (UPI)—Elizabeth Taylor's $5-million negligence suit in connection with the airplane death of her late husband, film producer Michael Todd, was settled yesterday for $10,000 in federal court.

The major portion of the settlement will go to the Todd's 5-year-old daughter who is adopted by Eddie Fisher, when he married Miss Taylor.

Defendants in the case were Ayer Lease Plan, Inc., Trade-Ayer, Inc., and the Michael Todd Co., Inc. Miss Taylor charged them with negligence in Todd's death.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan signed the settlement order yesterday after both sides agreed. After attorney fees of $12,000 are deducted, Miss Taylor's daughter, Elizabeth Frances (Liza) Fisher, receives the balance of $27,025.55, which can be spent only under the supervision of the court.

Trade Ayer was the owner of the plane in which Todd died. Ayer Lease Plan, Inc., rented the plane and the Michael Todd Co., Inc., was the renter.

Flee to West Over Snow

COBURG, Germany (U)—Heavy snowfall and drifts 5-feet high helped two married couples and a child to flee from Communist East Germany to the West, police reported yesterday.

The snow buried the barbed wire along the Iron Curtain and made the Communist mine fields useless.

The escapees managed to drag several heavy trunks with their belongings over the border to Western Germany.

The new policy will apply to coverage of a diplomatic reception for some 300 members of the Washington Embassy set on Thursday. Salinger said a pool of representative reporters would be selected by the White House for the limited coverage.

Asked how big a pool it would be, Salinger said "We haven't figured that out yet."

In effect, Salinger said, the White House is returning to what he said was the procedure followed under the Eisenhower administration. But, reporters who covered the social scene during that period protested that the Eisenhower permitted reports to mingle, talk to guests and fully cover the receptions.

But Salinger said "This is going to be the policy," and "I think this will be the policy for all White House is returning to what he said was the procedure followed under the Eisenhower administration. Utica OKs Sewer Plant Bid

of 12 Figures

Move Forced by State Health Department

UTICA — The City Council here has accepted a bid of $326,877 from the Mercer-Dawley Construction Co. to build the new sewage disposal plant demanded by the State Health Department.

The Dearborn company submitted the lowest of 12 bids received by the council.

Plans call for the treatment facility to be built on a five-acre plot between Davis and Greeley streets and the Clinton River.

Action was initiated on the project last March, after the State Health Department indicated that steps would be taken to force construction of the disposal plant if the city did not cooperate.

Preliminary planning by city engineers Hubbard, Roth and Clark, Inc., of Birmingham estimates the cost of the plant at about $343,000.

The difference between the amount bid and the estimated cost will be needed for engineering costs and contingencies, according to City Atty. George Roberts.

The facility will be financed by a $171,600 federal grant, received in November, and $158,000 in bonds. The remaining cost will be paid from money on hand.

Construction of the treatment plant must be substantially completed in November because of a stipulation in the federal grant.

Utica had been cited by the State Health Department as the only city along the Clinton River which has not yet taken steps to correct inadequate sewage treatment facilities.

Actual construction is scheduled to begin on March 1.

2 Troy Youths Held for Trial in Burglary of Store

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Two Troy youths taken into police custody after their smash into a store wall on Orchard Lake Road last week have been bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court on charges of breaking and entering.

The pair, William D. Haslett, 280 E. Long Lake Road, and Wendell D. Johnson, 62 Soper St., both 20, were examined by Justice of the Peace Elmer C. Dietler on charges arising from the break-in of Wilkins' Beverage Store in Orchard Lake.

Arraignment is scheduled for Feb. 25 at 1:30 p.m.

Writes Original Play

Collaborates With the Bard

UTICA—When he was 17 years old, Bob Liggett had his first bout with the Bard.

The Bard won. The Bard, of course, being William Shakespeare.

This first high school appearance in a Shakespearean play — Hamlet — led Liggett to an acting career which encompassed much stage work in Cleveland and Detroit.

It also featured radio acting on the "Lone Ranger," the "Green Hornet," "Challenge of the KKK" and other programs in the Motor City.

NEVER AGAIN But, despite his acting ventures, Liggett and Shakespeare never shared the stage again. The talented area thespian still clinging to the actor's dream of playing the actor's role—Hamlet.

However, his career took a turn and he became an advertising and audio-visual writer and now, some 20 odd years later, Liggett has written a comedy in collaboration with the Bard of Avon.

It is "Shape of a Camel" which takes its title from a line in Hamlet. The original vehicle has been chosen by the Utica Community Players for presentation in the high school auditorium March 1 and 2 at 8:15 p.m. The plot relates the amusing ex-

NEWS OF THE AREA

Warns of Flood Damage in Area

FARMINGTON — local residents are concerned about a report published by the Army Corps of Engineers, warning of flood damage in the Upper River Rouge valley.

The report warns residents to expect extensive property damage after severe storms.

Man-made changes in the contour of the area, such as filling in low areas to avoid flooding, will only serve to create further flood hazards for neighboring residents, the report said.

In the long run, this would result in higher property damage, the study indicated.

Detailing the flood history in the Farmington area, the study found that the worst storm occurred in April 1947.

However, the area is not in sight. Even worse storms can be expected, it predicted.

TO AID OFFICIALS Public information officer Joseph Avesian of the Detroit District of the Army Engineers said, "The Leleprechaun," a two-act play to be presented at the Troy Corners Homeowners Association's third annual dinner, 6:30 p. m. Saturday at the Johnson Niles School, Troy.

Mrs. Vivian Sawle, well-known educator and storyteller, will entertain the children, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Tickets for the program are available at Rochester elementary school libraries. Mrs. Paul Zolliker is ticket chairman.

Disgruntled Candidate Gives Up

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — The tie vote in the Republican board of review primary election contest has been officially resolved.

Dee Ferguson, the incumbent, withdrew, but he is not happy about it.

"I've been trying to talk down taxes for five years, but it hasn't done much good," Ferguson said.

Special Airing of Pay Hike Set

to Study Teachers' Bid

CLARKSTON — A salary increase schedule proposed by Clarkston Community Schools' teachers will undergo further scrutiny at a special meeting of the school board next week.

First submitted for board consideration last month, the proposal asks a boost of $200, from $4,600 to $4,800 for starting teachers with bachelor's degrees.

Also sought is an increase of $216, from $4,800 to $5,016, to beginning teachers with master's degrees.

The proposed schedule, which spans an 11-year period, specifies annual increments in all teacher categories until peak rates have been reached.

Top pay for a teacher with a bachelor's degree, as proposed, is $7,454, an increase of $321 over the present limitation. Holder of a master's degree could reach a maximum annual salary of $7,790 which is $335 over the present maximum.

Teachers with special degrees would earn from $5,242 to $8,140 over the 11-year period, and holders of doctor's degrees would begin at $5,378 and attain a top salary of $8,506.

No action on the proposed schedule will be taken at the special meeting, according to Floyd Vincent, assistant to the superintendent of schools.

If board members decide upon a course of action at their special session, the proposal will receive formal consideration at the next regular board meeting March 11, Vincent added.

City Manager John Dinan said the report "gives us technical data to substantiate our position or regulations within the river valley."

"It will be used as a guide for future planning of properties," he added.

He noted that because of the report, the State Highway Commission has agreed to increase the size of culverts along the Grand River expressway and at Orchard Lake Road and 196.

However, he added, there are no plans to change the ordinance that covers this problem.

Ex-Davison Bank Cashier Is Mute at Arraignment

BAY CITY — George Greenlee, 50, cashier of the former Davison State Bank, stood mute yesterday when he was arraigned in U.S. District Court here on two grand jury indictments charging violation of federal banking laws.

Judge Stephen Roth authorized a bench warrant for Mrs. Joan Phelps, 32, former assistant cashier of the bank who is charged in one of the indictments. She is believed to be in Atlanta, Ga.

Greenlee is charged jointly with Mrs. Phelps on a 15-count indictment and alone on a 28-count indictment. Roth set bond on the joint indictment at $10,000 and at $15,000 for the other indictment.

Roth entered pleas of not guilty for Greenlee, but set no trial date. The grand jury returned its indictments earlier yesterday.

Robert Loucks, an assistant U.S. district attorney, told Roth the money involved in Greenlee's deals amounted to about $702,000, but could go higher.

Greenlee and Mrs. Phelps resigned from the Davison bank — now part of the Genesee-Merchants Bank of Flint — last Aug. 11, after shortages were uncovered by bank officials.

Greenlee later went into involuntary bankruptcy. Greenlee also was executive vice president of the bank when he resigned and went to Southampton, Ont.

He returned voluntarily and was taken into federal court here on five counts alleging fraudulent application for a federal loan.

Take Action to Cut Road Accidents

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Officials here are taking action to reduce the number of traffic accidents on township roads.

Everett Gillow, a township trustee, has been appointed by Supervisor Edward Cheyz to make a highway accident study.

Currently Gillow is working with local police to determine the most frequent locations of accidents within the township.

Cheyz reported that, upon Gillow's request, street lights have already been installed at M59 and Elizabeth Lake Road and M59 and Bogie Lake Road.

Cheyz termed these intersections "the most hazardous on this particular highway."

He added he hoped "the results of this study will enable us to make our township a safer one in which to live."

Utica Primary Is Needed to Settle Council Race

UTICA — In addition to the three incumbent councilmen, four residents of the recently annexed Shelby Township have filed petitions for council vacancies, thus necessitating a March 4 primary.

Incumbent trustees Omar K. Hellerich, Herbert B. Rhodes and William Kraft Jr. have filed petitions for re-election to their four-year posts.

Challenging them will be William C. Klein, 8921 Hahn St.; Harold W. Parslow, 45814 Custer St.; Charles W. Stone, 45280 Klingkammer St.; and Earl Swartz, 4035 Custer St.

Mayor Fred H. Beck is opposed for a second two-year term, as is Treasurer Mrs. Leona Morrison, Assessor Earl Sippert, Justice of the Peace Richard C. Stavoe and Constables Carl Albrecht and Frank Coluzzi.

The six men nominated in the primary will stage a run-off in the April 1 election to fill the three vacant council slots.

Both balloting are non-partisan.

A bond proposition requesting $95,000 to finance the proposed new city hall will also appear on the ballot.

Why All the Mystery About Cuban Situation?

What's going on in Cuba?
Why all the mystery?
An unofficial announcement seemed to "leak" the important information that "several thousand Russian troops will be sent back home in the next three weeks." The statement is clothed in uncertain status. What prompted the Russian decision? From all the American people can learn, the verdict was the Soviets' own.

Is this true?
Was there a secret deal?
Did we start it?
Why is the Administration shadowboxing with 180 million Americans who pay all the bills and who are entitled to know what's going on? This is OUR country. Or does it belong to the Kennedy clan to do with as papa and the boys see fit? Let's clear up these "mysteries."

For some time, people leaving Cuba have reported an increasing swell of uneasiness and restlessness on the part of the Cubans. They're weary and disheartened at Castro's lack of food, lack of jobs, lack of progress and vainglorious boasting. Poverty and frustration are the theme song. There's no other tune.

The future is dark and dismal.
Dating back to the Bay of Pigs, the whole Cuban fiasco has been bungled with the single exception of the direct order to remove the gun emplacements. We won new stature in the eyes of the world for that, but we've been dissipating it steadily ever since. The sum total of the whole Cuban picture now casts little honor or credit on the Administration.

It's high time we're told what's being done with our money, our property and our international influence. As Sen. Barry Goldwater said: "What's a few thousand troops back to Russia when many more thousands remain?" If this is just a start, and the balance is going soon, why doesn't the Government say so? If this is all, we're entitled to know that Russia might still dominate a hostile point 90 miles from our shores in spite of the Administration's brave and clear-cut announcements in October.

Years ago, Eugene O'Neill wrote what became a Broadway show titled "The Iceman Cometh." It was one of those marathon plays for the audience—you arrived early and stayed late.

Which is pretty analogous to the winter and ice we're having this year. (Editor's note: Seems to me you sort of reached for that one.)

Anyhow, from Mrs. Henry Helzer of Waterford, comes this icy idyl:
He raced around, got what he needed.
His wife's faint gasps All went unheeded.
He had a goal, and the time was right—
He knew he'd get his prey tonight!
His heart beat fast, His eyes did glisten.
He took his risk and went 'em fishin'.

The fracas, heated when the contract of Supt. of Schools LeRoy R. Warr was not renewed. Board members allege he attempted to submit inaccurate figures to secure additional funds for the schools. Warr has denied the charges.

We feel many of the residents in the area have forgotten the original cause of the ill feeling, and are continuing the fight on an emotional basis.

Apparently, the matter is not at an end and won't be for some time. Board members who survived the recall move say the school district stands to receive too much financial aid, and they don't want the overpayment.

It's a pleasure to learn someone is protesting too much aid, instead of not enough. But only the schools and the children will lose if this battle continues much longer.

The Man About Town

She's Rare Type Matriarch of Journalism Writes, Makes the News

BY HOWARD HELDENBRAND
A call, filled with warmth and human interest, comes from

Mrs. Adele Allen of 79 Lincoln regarding her Pleasant Valley (near St. Louis, Mich.) relative Mrs. Clara Moyer

This energetic lady celebrated her 100th birthday earlier in the month. As recently as 1959 she wrote a column for an Alma newspaper, and was considered the oldest working newspaperwoman in the United States.

In 1855, the sprightly scribe had a letter from President Eisenhower in recognition of her unbelievable journalistic career.

The lady's mother, incidentally, was Julia Howland, a sister of Ephraim Howland, long ago Pontiac real estate operator who built the Howland Theater—later renamed the Rialto, the site of which is now a municipal parking lot. He also played a big part in obtaining the state fair for the one year it was held in Pontiac at century's turn on the site of the Webster School.

Back to our centenarian, the column's special 21-gun salute to her and all best wishes for many more enjoyable and rewarding years.

It's Nice To Have Friends

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Too Fearful of Offending Reds

WASHINGTON — Are Nikita Khrushchev's feelings and his possible annoyance over criticism from this country more important than an insistence on the basic principles of America's foreign policy?

This question is asked because Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, has just made a curious comment bearing on that point. He told a luncheon meeting of the Chicago council on foreign relations that he "would not be surprised" if the Soviet premier took his troops out of Cuba "unless we make it too embarrassing for him to back down again."

What is so "embarrassing" about asking a ruler to fulfill his promises to maintain peace and to remove a military force that constitutes a threat to peace? Isn't it more "embarrassing" for President Kennedy to be confronted with criticism by members of both parties in Congress because the Soviet premier has dodged the issue and still seems disinclined to take all his troops out of Cuba?

A kind of pussyfoot atmosphere emerges in Washington from time to time. There is manifest worry about the sensitivity of an adversary instead of about the dangers of his policies. Every now and then high-level announcements are delayed or certain declarations by the Department of State are withheld for fear of offending the Soviet side.

This is a strange course to pursue, and in the long run the firmness of the American position itself can be misconstrued. Sometimes this course has been erroneously called a "soft" policy or an "appeasement."

In the present instance, it is simply a case of bad judgment in international dealings and is largely due to the inexperience of the administration.

Some of the experts on Soviet psychology, inside and outside the administration, are reported to have argued that President Kennedy ought not to make Mr. Khrushchev mad or to embarrass him in his domestic situation or in his relations with China.

This problem was raised in a question that was asked President Kennedy on Dec. 17 in a television interview with a panel of reporters.

PROTECT K? Their inquiry was whether Mr. Kennedy agreed with the Russian experts who felt that he should "protect Mr. Khrushchev" because the present Soviet premier might prove to be better than any successor. The President answered:

"No, I don't think it is our duty to protect Mr. Khrushchev. This argument that he has a successor would be worse. I don't know what his successor would be like. What I think is our duty is to try to protect our vital interests, protect the security of the free world, and have Mr. Khrushchev understand our intentions clearly enough so that he can proceed about his business in a way which does not threaten our security, and does not bring a war."

This is a well-phrased statement of American policy, but it can be misunderstood when accompanied by a let-down in the demands that the United States has made upon the Soviets in reference to the Cuban problem.

The truth is that all the concern expressed here about offending the Russians through public statements demanding that the Soviets cease their military threats in Cuba and elsewhere is needless.

Bob Considine Says:

George Had His Moments; Parson Weems Blurs 'em

NEW YORK—George Washington has never appealed to the biographer or folk singer as strongly as Abraham Lincoln.

Perhaps it is because his image got itself all blurred up by a self-styled parson and censor named Weems before George was cold in his grave.

So says an interesting pamphlet of the American Creed Series (published in Forest Hills, N. Y.) and that could be true.

George was a Boy Who Made Good, despite the fact that he was born of a comparatively well-to-do family. He was one of his comfortably wealthy father's second family of children, and, as such, received only a fraction of the education afforded his older half-brothers.

The eldest of these, Lawrence, helped to raise him when the father died when George was 11.

Lawrence was his hero. He went with him to Barbados (George's only trip abroad) in 1751 when the half-brother thought a season on that island might cure his tuberculosis.

It was a disastrous trip. George contracted smallpox there, which marked him the rest of his days, and Lawrence died of TB shortly after his return to Virginia. His last will and testament took good care of his kid half-brother.

Washington was a mediocre soldier for His Majesty. He fell in love with Sally Fairfax, married daughter-in-law of his prime patron, Baron Fairfax.

There were too many complications. He then made a more temperate marriage, that with the rich young widow Martha Dandridge Custis, who brought her children and what amounted to a dowry of $100,000 to Mt. Vernon.

He was outraged by the setbacks he suffered in his second term, turned down a third term not so much because he was opposed to it but because he wanted to do with the thankless task.

He died, if anything, an unhappy conservative, bewildered by the liberal forces that swirled around him, notably those fanned by his critic Thomas Jefferson. But he lives. Years ago Rupert

These don't constitute any "embarrassment" to the Kremlin, because it always operates in secrecy.

The Russian press is permitted to print little, if anything, that President Kennedy or the head of any other outside government might say in criticism of Soviet policy. For all practical purposes, there is no immediate way of offending or "embarrassing" Mr. Khrushchev in a negotiation.

Difficult to Reform Political Setup

BY PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON (NEA)—James MacGregor Burns of Williams College spent a few days in Washington recently, doing a little missing work on his plan for reforming everything he says is wrong with American politics. He didn't make progress.

The Burns program, set forth in his new book, "The Deadlock of Democracy," has the revealing subtitle "Four Party Politics in America."

Dr. Burns is not the discoverer of this phenomenon—not the first to complain about it. His first 300 pages give the history of how this system developed. The last 75 tell what he thinks should be done about it today.

Instead of throwing up his hands in despair and saying that nothing can be done to prevent any one of the four minorities in Congress from thwarting the will of a majority and stalemating major White House proposals, Burns presents a program by which he says President Kennedy might change the system.

This would involve a root-and-branch reorganizing and strengthening of the Presidential Democratic party, as distinguished from the Congressional Democratic party. It would have the national party establish its own congressional district organizations, financed, directed and staffed by national headquarters. State and local party organizations would still be used but only as branches of the national party.

The purpose of this, according to Burns, would be to have Kennedy re-elected in 1964 by such

Voice of the People:

'Can't Something Be Done to Rid City of Pigeons?'

Must live in absolute filth because of those pigeons?
Since their private sanctuary, the courthouse, has been taken down, a large flock descended upon the Presbyterian Church and the filth around that corner is a menace to health.

Inhabitants of the Riker Building, are victims, also. The back of that building is a manure pile and the previous little piggies have taken over a square in front on Huron Street for their foul purposes.

Doesn't the commission owe anything to the health of the citizens, as well as the appearance of the place? How do you get relief? Can the city fathers refuse to clean up when it's clearly their duty? What stops them from facing situations like this?

Pretty Indignant

Says Pedestrians 'Economic Security Often Sleepwalkers in U.S. Threatened'

People crossing streets are sleepwalkers. Some careless, motor drivers are irresponsible, but they constitute only a small percentage.

Mrs. L. S.

'Too Many Changes in Telephone Setup'

I have lived in Troy for six years and have had two different telephone exchanges (Federal and Ulysses) in four years. With each one a little less service was available. Now a third exchange (879) with even greater reduction in service, is being forced upon me. Why?

It is not right for one individual or any pressure groups to impose their values on others without a fair and equitable judgment to all parties concerned.

I am only one person and I have but one vote, but cannot my rights be protected?

Would it not be just as equitable to provide for service to Pontiac, the only large city with all its stores and services in the immediate area, for those who need it? The Ulysses exchange will continue, but outside the city limits. Is it because we live in Troy and, therefore, should not be entitled to this service?

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Thursday, Feb. 21, the 52nd day of 1963 with 313 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase.
The morning star is Venus.
The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:
In 1848, John Quincy Adams collapsed on the floor of the House of Representatives. He died two days later.

In 1888, President Andrew Johnson ordered Secretary of War Edwin Stanton to vacate his office.

In 1885, the Washington Monument was dedicated after 37 years of construction.

In 1912, former President Theodore Roosevelt revealed he was again a candidate for the presidency, declaring: "My hat is in the ring!"

In 1936, President Franklin D. Roosevelt won re-election to a second term.

There is nothing wrong with Burns having an idealistic program. That is one of the things professors are for. But from the standpoint of practical politics, it is difficult to see that many or any of the changes he suggests are going to be accepted by congressional, state and local political leaders. These leaders are still firmly in the saddle and show no inclination to budge.

Congressional progressives of both parties this year are making desperate efforts to change some of their worst and most obsolete rules and practices. The going is tough.

If Congress can agree as a first step to the establishment of a commission just to study the question of its reorganization, that will be as much as you can expect this year.

If such a commission could get Congressmen to make a few basic recommendations, like insisting on the germaneness of debate, curbing the seniority system, staffing of congressional committees, curbing of congressional junketing and payroll padding, raising the ethical standards for congressmen, and defining what constitutes a conflict of interest to end its abuses—that would be about all you could expect for 1964.

Whatver this last means is not explained, but it seems to imply that the press, radio, television, movies, theaters, and maybe even phonograph records or tapes should do more of an educational or propaganda job for whatever party may control the White House.

A lot of this new platform may sound something like the present administration's news manage-

Exhibits Set for Muster Day

Weapons and equipment will be on public display tomorrow at the Pontiac National Guard Armory in observance of Muster Day, the anniversary of the formation of the citizen-soldier group.

The open house of Company E, 2nd Battle Group, 125th Infantry will be held at the armory, 57 Water St., from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. National Guard films also will be shown.

Muster Day has its origin in colonial America when the men of the community were mustered on the village green once a year for roll call and inspection of arms.

The loosely formed militia gave way to the organized militia and later the National Guard.

In conjunction with Muster Day, the local Guard unit is taking part in a nationwide recruiting campaign to maintain the strength of the Army National Guard at 400,000 and the Air National Guard at 72,000.

Cavities in Pupils' Teeth Linked to Dentist Gap

LONDON (UPI)—The borough of West Ham has no pull when it comes to getting dentists to care for its school children.

Chief Dental Officer Percy Chandler, in explaining yesterday why grade schoolers have an estimated 10,000 cavities, said: "The borough is not a residential area. It does not attract dentists."

U. of M. Head Sees Threat at Grad Level

WASHINGTON (U)—Although colleges and universities must brace themselves for a tidal wave of freshmen in the next few years, serious problems on the graduate level soon may reach a crest, says Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan.

Hatcher told a Washington-area group of U. of M. alumni yesterday that most educational bills before Congress are directed "toward the broad spread of education."

"I agree wholeheartedly that these needs are urgent and should be met," he said. "I lament, however, that equal attention is not being given to keep the leadership universities well in the forefront in their important role."

"Institutions like the University of Michigan need help and they need it immediately," he added.

The U. of M., with some 10,415 students beyond the baccalaureate, is being faced with problems just as great as those at the freshmen level, he said.

Two Survivors Flee in 6-Below Weather

KALKASKA (U)—Four members of a family of six perished today when a fire destroyed their roadside restaurant and home on U.S. 131 south of here.

Two teen-age daughters escaped the blaze, running a block in their bare feet and night clothes in 6-below-zero weather to give the alarm.

The fire swept a combination restaurant and filling station operated by Cecil Birmingham and his wife Ovina.

The parents died with two other children, Donald and Valerie, when all were trapped in the basement living quarters.

Their home and place of business, known as the River-view Inn, was at a corner of U.S. 31 and Supply Road in the small town of South Boardman eight miles south of here.

Kalkaska County Sheriff Earl Woodman and state police said the cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

The two surviving daughters, Marilyn, 18, and Paulette, 16, were taken to Kalkaska Memorial Hospital.

They were injured in breaking windows to escape, the sheriff's office said.

Marilyn suffered hand lacerations. Paulette lacerations and shock.

The sisters ran to a home where they telephoned the alarm. The burning ruins prevented immediate removal of the bodies of the four dead.

Roving Rep. Powell Criticizes Critic as Racially Biased

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell has accused Sen. John J. Williams of racial bias. But Williams says how government money is spent—not race—is the issue in his attack on the Negro congressmen.

Powell accused Williams, R-Del., at a news-conference Wednesday of following "the Hitler concept" in purchasing property that the New York Democrat said is under a restriction limiting resale to "Aryans." Asked if he felt there was a racial motive to Williams' criticism, Powell declared emphatically, "yes."

The senator swung back at Powell Wednesday night. "I never have and never will refer to any man's race, religion or nationality in discussing a case on the Senate floor or off it," Williams told a newsman.

"I do intend to see that anyone, whether a member of Congress or not, gives a proper accounting of how government money is spent," he said. "We're going to keep right on the issue and will not be diverted."

'CONSISTENT VOTE'

In his session with newsmen, Powell said Williams has voted consistently against civil rights. He also distributed an excerpt from a property deed to a house Powell said Williams bought in 1962 in Rehoboth Beach, Del.

According to the excerpt, the deed contained a restriction asked. "Very definitely," Powell replied.

Reached Wednesday night at his home, Williams said he bought the property in 1962, still lives there and has no intention of leaving.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell

The battle began Feb. 5 when Williams charged in a Senate speech that the government was "shoveling out" money for activities sponsored or promoted by Powell. He also accused Powell of income tax delinquency and criticized him for using State Department funds for a European trip last summer, with two women staff members.

Powell, who was in Puerto Rico when Williams leveled his blast, fired back Wednesday before a battery of newsmen. He said a Williams charge that the Housing and Home Finance Administration had lent Powell or groups associated with him $10.8 million for three housing projects was incorrect.

The HHFA deals in mortgage insurance, not in loans, Powell said, and the transactions Williams referred to were handled by a foundation he started in honor of his father. He said he got out of the foundation a year ago.

'PAID PROMPTLY'

"I have always paid my taxes promptly," said Powell. The years in question, he said, are the subject of pending court action and it cannot be determined what, if anything, he owes until the court decides.

As for last summer's trip—according to Williams a "European vacation for Mr. Powell and two lady friends where he attended all the night spots of the European capitals"—Powell said the women with him were staff members of his House Education Committee. Powell said he used State Department counterpart funds as do other members of Congress.

"The night I was in a nightclub in Paris, Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., was in the same nightclub at the same time with 10 guests," Powell said. "And he used counterpart funds to pay for them all." Kefauver is not expected back from a trip to Florida until later today and was unavailable for immediate comment.

Williams had also criticized Powell for having his wife on his payroll. Powell replied that more than 100 members of the House "that we know about" have relatives on the payroll on the Senate side.

Referring to both the controversy over counterpart funds and relatives on the payroll, Powell said "I will always do just what every other congressman has done, is doing and will do."

Predictions of Another 7-Million Auto Sales Year Growing

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer
DETROIT—Finding no real reason to knock success, the rest of the auto companies gradually are coming to accept the brash prediction of General Motors that more than seven million cars will be sold in the United States again this year.

Latest to fall in line is arch rival Ford, whose own economists originally insisted sales would drop off at least 5 to 10 per cent.

There have been years, and not too long ago, when such loud cries of prosperity by the automakers in the dead of winter would have justifiably roused suspicion.

But, as one sales analyst put it recently, cars sold so fast in January and early February that the figures look a little frightening.

Projected over a 12-month span, the numbers add up to sales of well over seven million and sometimes closer to eight million.

And the General Motors sales performance has been so phenomenal it has caused some wits to observe that the industry will sell at least seven million cars this year even if General Motors has to sell all of them.

In the first 10 days of February the five car divisions of GM accounted for a record 59.4 per cent of all sales. GM's previous best was 57.5 per cent in the similar period a year ago.

The percentage is so large it caused some of the General Motors vice presidents to wince and brought a general round of disclaims as to its importance.

Ed Cole, vice president in charge of all of GM's car and truck divisions, said he's not willing to accept the 59 per cent as an indicator of what the corporation will do.

But he is one of the leading prophets of the seven million car year for the industry.

K. E. Staley, distribution vice president, said last weekend that without doubt the 7.4 million annual sales rates now in effect will decrease.

He declined to be pinned down on just how much. "Just let me say that two excellent years back-to-back are an absolute certainty."

of the 10-day period figures.

"The fact remains, however, that General Motors sold more cars (3.7 million) and took a larger part of the market (55 per cent) in 1962 than ever before and that both figures are up so far this year."

Donner put it this way: "Last fall I think there was something in the air that you could almost feel about the way people were looking at their car purchasing desires, and it was for that reason that those of us in General Motors thought that we faced a continuation of a high level of demand. We have not been wrong so far."

Fearful Moral Black Eye, U.N. Censure

Fulbright Raised Objections to Bay of Pigs Invasion

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, raised objections to a U.S.-backed invasion of Cuba in a memorandum to President Kennedy in March 1961 shortly before the Bay of Pigs disaster.

The communication was published for the first time in a book out today, "Fulbright of Arkansas." It is a collection of the senator's papers and speeches edited by Karl E. Meyer, editorial writer for the Washington Post.

Fulbright's argument was that the United States would get such a moral black eye, and set off such public reaction south of the Rio Grande, that the result would be a net loss for this country even if Fidel Castro's Communist regime were successfully erased as a base for subversive organization and money.

"For the United States to overthrow Castro behind a facade of Cuban exiles would merely add fuel to the appeal of Castroism," Fulbright wrote. "Such an action would be denounced from the Rio Grande to Patagonia as an example of imperialism. We would undoubtedly also confront a serious situation in the United Nations."

Fulbright's preference was for an effort to isolate and isolate Castro from the rest of Latin America.

IN COMPETITION
Expanding on that point, he wrote Kennedy: "Whether we like it or not, we are in truth engaged in a kind of competitive coexistence with Castro to see whose system can produce reform and progress more quickly.

"To look at the other side of the proposition, it would be a fatal confession of lack of faith in ourselves and our values if we decreed that Castro must go because he might succeed," Fulbright added.

Fulbright expressed doubt, however, that the Cuban revolutionary front, slated to take over once Castro was overthrown, was led by men equal to the task they would inherit. A major weakness, he contended, was the absence of such left-of-center leaders as Puerto Rico's Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela, or former President Alberto Lleras Camargo of Colombia.

The social and political fabric of Latin America "must be strengthened very materially before vigorous action can be expected" from the Organization of American States in the Cuban situation, Fulbright wrote. But he said such a development was possible "provided that the Soviet Union uses Cuba only as a political and not a military base."

Fulbright explained that by "military" he meant missiles and nuclear weapons—not small conventional arms.

At the time Kennedy publicly disclosed the presence of Soviet aggressive armaments in Cuba last October, Fulbright is reported to have been an advocate of invasion rather than the more restrained blockade supported by the administration.

Seek 5 German Shepherds

EAST LANSING (U)—State police announce they are seeking five more German Shepherd dogs to expand their coverage of the state.

The department now has five dogs, stationed with their handlers at East Lansing, Ionia, Jackson, Houghton Lake and Marquette. If the five new dogs can be acquired, they will be stationed at other strategic posts throughout the state, the locations not yet definite.

Last year, police reported, the five teams of trooper-handlers and dogs were called in 270 cases. They were successful in 25 cases in which 39 persons were found.

Mammoth U.S. Defense Spending May Be Leveling Off

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The peak in defense spending appears in sight.

But there are unknowns and uncertainties that could prevent any substantial downturn or even a leveling off in the years ahead.

Several key administration officials, including Budget Director Kenneth Gordon, have been speaking optimistically of late. Pentagon authorities agree there is a basis for such optimism.

President Kennedy's proposed budget for the coming bookkeeping year contemplates record peacetime military spending of about $31 billion—more than half the total federal budget.

This is about $8 billion higher than the last military spending proposals submitted to Congress by President Dwight D. Eisenhower before he left the White House two years ago.

Much of the heavy increase grew from the Kennedy administration's urgent push to (1) build up the country's conventional land, sea and air forces and (2) speed construction of Polaris missile firing submarines and emplacement of quick-firing Minuteman intercontinental missiles in protected bases underground.

A good bit of this already has been done. And the new budget contains money to pay for the balance of such expensive programs as a 41-boat Polaris fleet and a force of new jet tanker planes to give B-52 bombers greater range and endurance.

MORE FIGHTERS

The number of U.S. fighting men has been boosted by nearly 200,000 above the Eisenhower administration strength, to a new total of nearly 2.7 million.

The Pentagon has taken long strides toward re-equipping the forces with the latest and most potent in artillery, tanks, battle field missiles, jet fighter planes, helicopters and armored troop carriers.

A dangerous deficiency in high-speed jet transports to fly troops to danger spots overseas is well on its way to being overcome.

A declining bomber force will mean lower operating costs, but there is talk of new manned bombers tailored to the missile age. Authorities say that changes of such a potentially high cost

Set Construction Bids on 10 Freeway Projects

LANSING (P)—The State Highway Department will open bids March 13 on 10 construction projects totaling nearly $10 million.

They include more than 10 miles of freeway, including 5.7 miles of the Grand Rapids east-west freeway, the last 3.3 miles of the Muskegon-Montague freeway and 1.2 miles of I-94 in Macomb County.

program right now are less than 50-50.

But the Defense Department has embarked on a $2-billion program to buy Phantom jet fighters for the Air Force and Navy over the next five years. And beyond that, it is just getting started on development of a standard fighter to replace the Phantom. Ultimately, this advanced plane, now called the TFX, could cost $5 billion or $6 billion.

One of the main uncertainties lies in the field of defense against long range missiles.

The Nike X, an improved concept growing out of the still developing Nike Zeus missile killer, is regarded as holding great promise.

At this point, however, defense authorities are not sure it will pan out. If a decision is made to go into production, it could cost $10 billion.

The Pentagon also is exploring the possibility of developing a wholly new missile with a range of about 2,000 miles. It would be mounted on barges or trucks and likely would be deployed in Europe and the Far East.

This, too, has not been crystallized. But a decision to go ahead could mean a $2 billion price tag.

The new budget provides $3.3 billion for buying new arms equipment for the Army. This is a peak for Army modernization and is likely to taper off in the future.

However, the Army is experimenting with entirely new concepts of air mobility which, if proved out, could give the Army a huge new air fleet. And this would become high. So far, as one official put it, the Army has "just put its toe in the water."

The Navy is anxious to replace its aging ships and is dissatisfied with the amount of money it has been allocated for this purpose.

The issue may come to a head next year over the question of a new aircraft carrier which would cost at least $300 million.

There are a number of built-in costs which have led to regular and substantial increases in the budget.

retirement for the 3.7 million uniformed and civilian people under the Defense Department and in the armed forces.

The payroll now comes to about $20 billion annually and rises with each year because of automatic pay steps and a growing number of those going into retirement.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has embarked on a cost-saving drive, which he predicts will yield economies of $3 billion a year.

Among other things, he is trying to get defense contractors to cut down on the "gold plating"—the excessive refinements that go to boost the price but add little to the utility.

All plans and projections, of course, would be knocked into a cocked hat in the event the United States found itself in a war emergency or mobilization for a less-than-war crisis.

Expect Medicare Plan to Add to Dreariness

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON—President Kennedy's medical care program, due to go to Congress today, won't relieve the general dreariness which has settled over Washington like an umbrella.

It will be just one more program wrapped up by Kennedy.

Marlow and handed to Congress with the chance dim, indeed, for anything coming of it.

That's about par for the course so far in 1963.

January and February this year have been the two dustiest opening months of any year in a long time, even though Kennedy's Democrats outnumber the Republicans as they did in 1962 and 1961 and for years before that.

At least the President can claim credit for prophecy when, despite the size of his party's margin, he said last Dec. 17 all his controversial proposals would be "closely contested."

Nothing better illustrates the stalemate in the Capital and the Capitol than what's happening in the Senate. It has done practically nothing and shows no signs of doing anything any time soon.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield Wednesday complained bitterly to his fellow-senators for "demeaning ourselves" by wasting six weeks squabbling instead of legislating.

He said it's about time the Senate got down to the "people's business."

The early weeks were consumed in a fruitless fight between the outnumbered liberals of both parties and the Southern Democrats, with the former trying to change the rules to make it easier to shut off a Southern filibuster.

Mansfield will have to be a very powerful medicine man to get his Senate braves on the legislative path.

Kennedy has so far sent two major programs to Congress, one a gigantic combination calling for tax cuts and tax reforms, all in one package, and the other proposing federal aid to education practically clear across the board.

At first Kennedy said a tax program was needed to stimulate consumer buying and business investment. Then, as if having second thoughts, he said it was also needed to prevent a recession.

COMPLICATED
This program, as was expected, has been hit from all directions by special interest groups. The whole business became more complicated, and therefore looked more unworkable, by the marriage of cuts and revisions.

A sort of indifference has enveloped Kennedy's huge education program from the start. It's a 24-point aid proposal for the nation's schools from grammar grades up through graduate school and even private colleges and universities.

There's no reason the one going to Congress won't land in the same moist grave, along with the education program, since Kennedy before Congress even came back this year expressed skepticism about both their chances.

While Congress has been blocking traffic, there have been no police sirens from the White House, either.

There's no reason the one going to Congress won't land in the same moist grave, along with the education program, since Kennedy before Congress even came back this year expressed skepticism about both their chances.

mans" which finally took form in the French-German treaty signed last Jan. 22.

For de Gaulle, the Common

Market is only a machine that he found in working order when he returned to power in 1958. He uses it because it has proved effective in welding together the economies of the continental nations.

In this Gaullist Europe, England has no place. Not that de Gaulle has a low opinion of England. He paid high tribute to England's historical accomplishments in his recent news conference—but the tribute was largely overlooked while the headlines went to his arguments against British entry into the Common Market.

In de Gaulle's view, England would challenge France's pre-eminence in the "Europe of states." And, above all, England is really not European. It is, with the Commonwealth, still another world.

MACMILLAN'S CHOICE

No doubt it is a world in the process of breaking up—but Prime Minister Harold Macmillan had the opportunity and the time—in 15 months of negotiation in Brussels—to hitch England to Europe. Instead, in 48 hours in Nassau, he chose another course.

He made his option for America and handed over to Kennedy the most unique contribution that England could have offered to Europe as a dowry—its nuclear force.

This is the Gaullist interpretation of the Nassau agreement, and the explanation of the French veto at Brussels.

A non-American Europe does not signify an anti-American Europe. De Gaulle said Dec. 20, "the Atlantic Alliance is more necessary today than ever" as he bade farewell to Gen. Lauris Norstad. In moments of stress—in Berlin, on Cuba—he has proved himself the firmest of allies.

Khrushchev knows all very well and on Feb. 5 fired off the most violent Russian note that France has ever received, to complain about the French-German cooperation treaty.

But if the Atlantic Alliance is one thing, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is another.

In practice, NATO is under American domination. It cannot be otherwise as long as the defense of Europe depends solely on the American atomic deterrent.

The tasks must be redistributed, not as U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara would like, in supplementing the American atomic monopoly by classical arms from Europe, but in granting Europe all the means for its own defense.

Certainly, this European arsenal would have to be combined with that of the United States.

In return, the United States would be assured of the unconditional support of its European allies in case it was menaced.

In the absence of a European political authority, the nuclear forces in Europe can only be under national control. In the present circumstances in Europe, they can only be French.

Nuclear armament of Germany would carry the risk of setting off a major crisis with Moscow. These are the facts of the hour.

According to de Gaulle's reasoning, these facts should lead the Atlantic Alliance to organize itself on the basis of three big, balanced political ensembles: the United States, Great Britain and its Commonwealth, and Continental Europe.

These three big ensembles would cooperate as equal partners, notably in the nuclear field and would coordinate their action everywhere in the world.

As an atomic power, France would be the natural and de facto delegate of Continental Europe to sit at the council table with Great Britain and the United States.

De Gaulle set forth these conclusions in a memorandum Sept. 24, 1958. As long as his conclusions are not realized, there is little reason to hope that de

Slote Home Ec Week

LANSING (P) — Gov. George Romney has proclaimed March 3-9 as Home Economics Week in Michigan. The governor asked recognition for this "fine and vital profession" which improves levels of family living.

Gaulle will show himself more cooperative in NATO.

This de Gaulle conception is widely accepted by the French people. The president's most outspoken and chauvinistic outbursts flatter the nationalist temper of the people and in the end bring him increased popularity.

As usual, the reaction from de Gaulle's internal political opposition shows its divisions and contradictions.

The Communist party, in the name of peaceful coexistence, has discovered the merits of NATO. The non-Communist left has been converted to supranationalism.

The partisans of a supranational Europe have become the defenders of Great Britain, which has always opposed supranationalism.

In reality, only one argument is likely to profoundly influence French public opinion: how much does it cost?

Success of the Gaullist undertaking calls for an immense financial effort. Most of the French people have not yet realized the extent.

The results of de Gaulle's foreign policy have been more than disappointing.

In Europe, France, which was supposed to be the great shepherd bringing together the nations, has never been so isolated. Only the aged West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who is nearing retirement, has been won over to the ideas of de Gaulle.

But Gen. de Gaulle has never set out to list his supporters and opponents.

To win, he counts not on numbers but on time. The future and historical tides, he believes, will inevitably prove him right.

And, as he wrote in his memoirs, "the future lasts a long time."

France Balks at 'Bossing From U.S.'

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
PARIS (UPI) — The trouble with the United States, many Frenchmen feel, is that it still wants to boss Europe.

That is what President Charles de Gaulle, a man who never stood for a teasing by anyone, is determined to prevent.

"You Americans think it is still 1946 or 1947," says Andre Bouchet, a middle-aged, well-dressed French businessman.

"In the back of your minds you still think a Frenchman or German will do anything for a pack of cigarettes. Things have changed since then and de Gaulle has restored our pride as a nation."

De Gaulle's belief that the United States still is trying to run Europe is at the bottom of most of the present friction between France and the United States, Frenchmen feel.

The liberal newspaper Le Monde said in a recent editorial the real quarrel in the Western camp is not between de Gaulle and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan but between de Gaulle and Kennedy.

The reason, Le Monde said, is that Europeans "want to be considered as allies and not as satellites."

'WESTERN SATELLITES'

There is, in fact, a strong feeling in France — from de Gaulle on down — that the United States does tend to treat France and its other European allies as "satellites."

Pierre le Goff, a businessman from Dinard in Brittany on a visit to Paris, put it this way:

"The United States tries to tell us how to run our affairs, the way the Russians tell their satellites."

United States-French relations since the war probably never have been sourer than just now.

"There seems to be nothing but friction, which ever way you look," said one responsible French official.

The Common Market. France's independent nuclear striking force, the future of the Atlantic alliance, American trade policy and American investments in Europe — all are sore points.

Yet French officials insist that if the chips were down again de Gaulle would side unhesitatingly with the United States.

A member of de Gaulle's government, who cannot be named, said "Remember that in the Cuban crisis de Gaulle was the first to pledge his unequalled support to the United States. De Gaulle still is a firm believer in the Western alliance and you would see him do exactly the same in another crisis."

French officials and press trace much of the trouble to a basic clash of personalities and ideas between de Gaulle and Kennedy.

The satirical Paris weekly Miro last week ran a cartoon depicting Kennedy as a squawking little boy on a beach wrecking a sand castle and bawling angrily. "Boo-hoo-hoo, he smashed up my Atlantic community."

Another cartoon showed Kennedy daubing a "De Gaulle Go Home" slogan on a wall while Macmillan holds the paint can.

In the French view of de Gaulle and Kennedy have been at loggerheads almost from the start. De Gaulle's tough-talking Jan. 14 news conference and his action in torpedoing the Common Market talks — with Britain simply spotlighted the trouble, it is felt here.

Betancourt to Visit U Thant

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela flies to New York today for a meeting with U.N. Secretary General U Thant.

The Venezuelan president prepared to depart from Washington warned by words of personal praise and a pledge of U.S. support to the bill from President Kennedy.

Betancourt's two-day Washington visit was significant for the extravagance of Kennedy's personal endorsement of his efforts to provide a Democratic answer to Cuba's Fidel Castro in Latin America.

The visiting president was scheduled to leave Blair House, official residence for state guests, at 9:35 a.m. He will spend two days in New York, where his program today included a lunch with Thant and a meeting with United Nations correspondents.

TO VISIT OTHERS

Betancourt, president of an officially Roman Catholic nation, also will call on Francis Cardinal Spellman (at 3:30 p.m.) and later (at 4:00 p.m.) will receive the New York University medal from the university's president, Dr. James McGraw Hester.

Tonight Betancourt will be guest of honor at two receptions, one offered by Mayor Robert F. Wagner in Gracie Mansion.

The second will be held by the Pan American Society of the United States, the Venezuelan Chamber of Commerce and the Bolivarian Society — named for the Venezuelan-born liberator of the northern half of South America, Simon Bolivar.

Sources close to Betancourt said he was "very gratified" at the success of his Washington visit. Betancourt said he was "overwhelmed" by the warmth of his reception. He appeared to be more relaxed and at ease than at any time in recent months.

The unusual lengths to which Kennedy went in expressing U.S. admiration of Betancourt and support for his government were certain to aid the Venezuelan chief executive in his campaign to establish democracy in his native nation.

In a joint communique yesterday, Kennedy pledged full U.S. support to Venezuela "in resisting the all-out campaign of the international Communists, aided especially by their Cuban allies, to overthrow the constitutional government of President Betancourt."

In his Washington visit, Betancourt was chiefly interested in winning U.S. support for his program on oil policy. Venezuela is the principal oil supplier to the United States and derives a quarter of its total gross national product from oil.

The communique issued yesterday following the second of the two working meetings between Betancourt and Kennedy indicated the favorable hearing the U.S. had given Betancourt's viewpoints.

Bones of Priest-Martyr Beck in Italian Church

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — Police said yesterday that thieves broke into the church of St. Mary of Health during the night and stole the skull and bones of St. John, a 2nd century priest and martyr.

The relics were found abandoned a short distance and were restored to the church.

Ferde Grofe Writes Another Suite

Composer Continues Work, Despite Stroke

By BOB THOMAS
AP Wire-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD—Composing with one hand is only a minor hazard for Ferde Grofe, hard at work on another of his famous suites despite a stroke that paralyzed his right side.

The 71-year-old composer is on schedule with his New York World Fair suite, commissioned by the fair president, Robert Moses. Losing the use of his right hand has not stopped the flow of music that Grofe has provided in 56 prolific years.

"I am getting more use out of my right hand all the time," he said, moving the fingers slightly in another few months I'll be normal again. Then I'll have to learn to play the piano with two hands all over again. I wonder how I'll be."

Grofe was stricken last September. He had returned from one of his conducting tours and was getting ready to start the World Fair commission.

The composer spent two weeks on his back with his right hand and leg useless. Gradually he began to recover. With the aid of a therapist he has learned to walk up and down stairs. The most crucial test was to see if he could compose again.

"It was very difficult at first," he recalled. "I am right-handed, and learning to write notes with my left hand was difficult. It took me hours to do what used to take minutes. But I am getting better. I am almost through with the first movement of the suite, which is based on the theme of the fair, world peace."

OLD STUFF
The composition of a suite is old stuff to Grofe. In 30 years he has written more suites than he can remember. He rattled off a few:

Broadway at Night, Mississippi, Hollywood, Knute Rockne, Aviation, Wheels (for the Ford Motor Co.), Death Valley (for California's centennial), San Francisco, Niagara, and his most famous, the Grand Canyon.

How did he get started? He credits Paul Whiteman.

Grofe was born in New York City but was brought to Los Angeles at 6 months. He began playing in bands at 15 and says he played piano in cafes and bawdy houses all over the West. He worked for the great Whiteman organization for 12 years, his most notable achievement being orchestration of George Gershwin's revolutionary "Rhapsody in Blue."

"It was Whiteman who convinced me to try some serious composing of my own," he said.

Grofe has been pouring out music ever since. His Santa Monica home has 18 filing cabinets crammed with his work.

"There is enough unused material there for dozens of suites," remarked Grofe.

He said that he might take a year or two off when he finishes the World Fair commission. Then he would go back to composition.

"Why not?" he reasoned. "It's my life."

3 Nurses Walk for 35 Miles to Raise Money

ESCANABA (AP)—Braving zero temperatures, three nurses from Saint Francis Hospital in Escanaba completed a hike of 35 miles from Escanaba to Nima in Upper Michigan.

The nurses — Mrs. Thomas Ellegret, Sally Fritzell and Virginia Tremay — staged the hike to help the Delta County Association for Retarded Children build a new school.

They took collections and pledges along the way. The pledges were called to a radio station in Escanaba. Collections and pledges totaled $2,500.

The Wayne chapter of the American Association of University Professors issued a report saying the school's competitive position has declined since it became a state institution.

"The current rate of decline is leading Wayne to mediocrity," the report said. "Soon it may be just another city school. If that is what the legislature intends for Wayne, then it should be forthright enough to say so."

Sen. Ted Kennedy Turns 31—Quietly

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Kennedy turned 31 today, but he is not celebrating. He is serving his 31st birthday tomorrow in Congress since 1912. row, his first as a senator, de- Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., the Senate's quietest man, claims N.Y., who has been one of President Kennedy's most vocal critics on Cuba policy, criticized Sen. Kennedy's bid to get work for Massachusetts firms from the Grumman Aircraft and Engineering Corp., a New York firm.

Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., subsequently accused the administration of handing Sen. Kennedy a $2.5-million water pollution laboratory for Boston.

Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., implied there was political favoritism when a $50-million space research center was announced for the Boston area.

The young senator has taken the criticism in stride as being part of the political game. He also feels this kind of criticism can do no harm politically in Massachusetts if he is subject to attack because of his attempts to get work for the Bay State.

U.S. to Offer Allies Aid on 'Cheaper' Subs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is planning to tell its European allies it will help them build a nuclear missile force of less costly surface ships such as Polaris submarines.

That word is expected to be carried to Paris headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization by Ambassador Livingston T. Merchant, President Kennedy's special representative to NATO. Merchant leaves tomorrow.

The United States had urged that NATO forces be based on Polaris submarines, the front line of the U.S. strategic force. In the agreement at Nassau, President Kennedy agreed to provide Great Britain with the Polaris missile to be fitted with British-made warheads and based on British-made submarines. British subs and a matching American fleet would be put under the NATO command.

The same deal was offered to French President Charles de Gaulle, who turned it down.

Although worldwide attention was focused on the possibility of NATO's own nuclear submarine fleet, U.S. officials said Tuesday night that surface ships could also play an important role.

The surface ships could be much more quickly constructed in European shipyards than the highly complicated Polaris submarines and would cost a lot less.

The problem of organizing and training crews would also be simpler.

man senators yearn for a national image. He has one — that of "the President's brother" — that he is trying to play down.

Kennedy has told friends that he needs to implant a firm image as a senator from Massachusetts who is trying to learn the ropes and do the most he can for his home state.

He has followed his plan to turn down out-of-state speaking offers but goes out of his way to meet with Massachusetts groups who come here with problems.

Recently, Kennedy held a luncheon for about 80 space and research officials from Massachusetts trying to get space contracts. He also has discussed problems with mayors and community officials on urban renewal project, road proposals and sewer facilities.

Kennedy also feels, however, that he is approached by some home state people asking for help just because he is the President's brother.

One businessman said privately after a meeting with Kennedy, "He shook my hand, said hello, and gave me a look as though I voted the straight Republican ticket—which I did."

But what is overlooked by many observers is that Kennedy needs no publicity to make himself known whereas other fresh-

Rib of FDR Nets Mimic Only Drink

Imitations of President Kennedy by Vaughn Meader and several other recording artists have sold millions of records in the past two years. But imitations of presidents always had it so good.

In 1957, all an imitation of President Roosevelt earned comedian Frank Fontaine was a free drink.

Fontaine, costar of Jackie Gleason's Saturday night TV show, imitated FDR in a Boston night club act. But no records were cut.

One night, recalls Fontaine, FDR's son John told the comedian he enjoyed his rambling dissertations and bought him a drink.

Bill to Aid MDs at Accident Scene

LANSING, Ill. — The State Senate has decided that doctors who stop at the scene of an accident to render aid should not be subject to later suits for malpractice.

By a 29-4 vote, the Senate passed and sent to the House Wednesday a so-called "Good Samaritan" bill which its sponsors said would free physicians from the fear of legal harassment.

The 65-word measure declares: "A physician who in good faith renders emergency care at the scene of an emergency, where a physician-patient relationship did not exist prior to the advent of such emergency, shall not be liable for any civil damages as a result of acts or omissions by the physician in rendering the emergency care, except acts or omissions amounting to gross negligence or willful and wanton misconduct."

In debate, Sen. Charles Blundy, D-Detroit, attacked the bill as phoney, special interest legislation designed to protect insurance companies issuing malpractice policies to doctors.

Proponents of the bill defended its provisions by citing cases where doctors reportedly were the targets of unjustified suits after they treated emergency cases.

Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint,

Minuteman Passes 1,400-Mile Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Minuteman missile has flown a relatively short 1,400 miles in a successful test of its guidance system.

The intercontinental range rocket is capable of reaching more than 5,000 miles, but on Wednesday night's shot it was aimed over the shorter course in order to evaluate guidance performance.

The missile's nose cone landed in an ocean area surrounded by underwater sound detecting devices which record the splash of the cone and determine the landing point with a high degree of accuracy.

In England and Wales, men confined to prisons and detention homes outnumber women by 30 to one.

fold of an Ohio case where a doctor stopped at the scene of an accident and set a man's broken leg with a splint. The motorist ended en route to the hospital.

SUED FOR DAMAGES

Several weeks later, Lane related, the doctor was sued for $40,000 damages on the grounds he had not been engaged by the victim to act as his physician.

The doctor couldn't very well have been authorized by the victim to treat him, said Lane, because the patient was unconscious at the time.

A move by Sen. Garry Brown, R-Schoolcraft, to shut off debate on the question was voted down, and Blundy described the move as "unsportsmanlike, unfair and uncalled for."

In other action, the Senate voted

Romney Told Program Not Constitutional

LANSING, Ill. — A Democratic spokesman claims that a major plank of Gov. George Romney's economic program is unconstitutional.

Rep. Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, termed the proposal "a huge goof" and said it would "discredit the governor's self-assumed role as a constitutional authority."

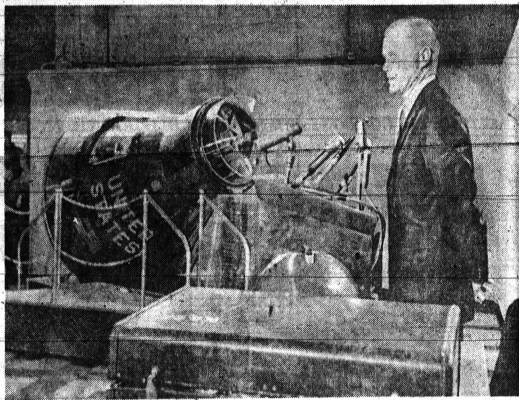

Kowalski said a measure introduced in the House to authorize municipalities to issue bonds to construct and own industrial buildings would involve them in private purposes. He said this violates the constitution and the proposed new constitution.

Kowalski said the proposed new constitution clearly appears to prohibit legislation to finance industrial building through municipal revenue bonding.

"If it violates both the constitution and the con-con proposition, Romney will have discredited himself as an authority," Kowalski said.

Romney commented that this was "an interesting angle."

"I'll look into it," the governor said. "I'm not in a position to answer the point off-hand."

Ohio Deep in Red, but Gov. Rhodes Out to Change All That

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A team of public accountants say Ohio owes $83 million more than it has in the treasury. They add that Ohio has been spending at the rate of $52 million a year in excess of its income.

James A. Rhodes, Ohio's new Republican governor, has reacted to the financial bind by ordering an across-the-board cut to the point where spending equals income.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS

In office since Jan. 14, Rhodes estimated 60,000 state employees. He concedes the personnel slash may not yet be deep enough.

In fact, he has indicated strongly that thousands of additional state employees could lose their jobs under a reorganization bill being drafted in his office for legislative action.

"What we have in mind is reorganization for economy in state government," he said. Some reports circulated that as many as 19,000 state jobs would be stripped of civil service protection, but Rhodes termed the figure inaccurate and said there could be no estimate at this time.

While Rhodes and his finance director, Richard L. Krabach, scan the state's billion-dollar-a-year financial program for spots where more cuts can be made, a theory which he recited often there is resentment from those who have been fired.

There were questions raised by nonpolitical persons who learned that some state employees were rehired after it was discovered their work was essential.

Most of those dismissed thus far were nearing the end of a 120-day probationary period—and some were Republicans.

Rhodes scored heavily in his election campaign with a plan for creating 200,000 new jobs. Now, with the fringes already mounting into the thousands, there's been some comment that the governor will have to up to figure a bit.

WAS STATE AUDITOR

This seems to perturb Rhodes not at all.

He spent the last 10 years as state auditor guarding the taxpayers' dollars. Before that, he spent a dozen years as Columbus city auditor and mayor. He has in last year's gubernatorial campaign: "When you elect a governor, you elect management. What I am doing now in state government is exactly what you would do if you were running a business even that amount less than adequate, but two years ago a Republican legislature refused to let the state's levy further taxes.

Disalle, former Toledo mayor and one-time price administrator under President Harry S. Truman, always said candidly that he was more interested in seeing that state wards got their monthly assistance checks than in seeing that distillers were paid for liquor stores system. As a result, about half of what Ohio owes now is for whisky already sold to the state stores. Rhodes insists his wide-swinging payroll scythe has not interfered with state care in such sensitive areas as mental health.

Democrats are saying that Rhodes new broom is only sweeping out Democrats to make room for Republicans. They term it a return to "jungle politics."

Rhodes, who is 53, says, "All I want to be—and I've ever wanted to be—is a good governor."

Brewers Seek Taxation Relief

Maintain Excise Levy
Causing Layoffs

LANSING (AP)—Spokesmen for Michigan's beer industry pleaded yesterday with the House Taxation Committee for relief from an excise tax they contended has a disastrous effect on breweries.

They cited figures showing that while personal income and liquor sales have both been climbing steadily recently, beer sales have fallen off sharply.

The excise tax, which went into effect on July 1 of last year, is 48 cents on every case of 24 12-ounce bottles or cans, or the equivalent of $6.61 per barrel.

Brewery officials said this amounted to a 430 per cent increase over the previous tax of nine cents per case, or $1.25 per barrel. Tax collections jumped from $3.36 million for the last six months of 1961 to $13.51 million for the comparable period of 1962.

A union spokesman told a closed meeting of the committee of a number of layoffs in Detroit area breweries, with more expected as sales continue to fall off.

The union official, Michael Miller, executive secretary of the Michigan State Council of Brewery Workers, said the layoffs were due to "a favorable competition advantage out-of-state breweries have with their low taxes in their own states over our Michigan breweries."

Miller said the industry surely needs relief from what he termed the disastrous effect the tax is having on Michigan producers.

"We believe the present taxes are unfair and discriminatory," he declared. "We do not ask for any special privileges and we do expect to pay our fair share of increased taxes which are necessary to maintain our state institutions."

Rep. Russell Strange Jr., R-Clare, said the industry appeared to be in need of immediate relief which could not wait until a special session this fall when Gov. George Romney will present his fiscal reform recommendations.

In Assam, India, 6,000,000 inhabitants speak Assamese and 4,000,000 speak Bengali. Others speak a great variety of tribal dialects.

Recession Fear 'Has Reason'

Prof. Sees Economy
Moving Sideways

CHICAGO (AP) — President Kennedy has good reason to be concerned over a possible recession, says Paul W. McCracken, a University of Michigan professor of business conditions.

McCracken, a member of former President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisors, told a U. of M. alumni group yesterday:

"After a flicker of strength in the early weeks of the year, economic activity has settled back into the sideways movement characterizing much of last year."

January employment, production and retail sales were slightly below December, he added. "Moreover, the present cyclical expansion is now in its 24th month—largely approaching the average duration of expansion during the last century."

These do not add up to a recession, but they do warrant concern, McCracken said.

The economy needs a tax reduction—but not the administration's tax package, he said.

Congress should pass "an essentially 'neutral' tax reduction measure that would lower the tax structure about $7 billion this year," he said.

The administration jeopardized the chances for any tax cut by including it "in a queer package of so-called tax 'reforms,'" he said, "failing to see that tax reduction itself is the most important step in tax reform."

The administration's proposed tax changes "are bad economics and probably bad politics," he said.

Postal Machines Are Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP)—A citizens advisory group feels the Post Office Department should consider replacing its sales-window clerks with vending machines.

At the same time, the advisory board told Postmaster General J. Edward Day in a report Wednesday, it endorses the Post Office Department policy of trying to assure that "no full-time career employee need fear becoming unemployed because of the introduction of mechanized equipment."

The board endorsed the department's plan to provide advanced specialized training to employees who will work on new equipment.

Water Bottle Sale's Hot

LONDON (UPI) — The Dunlop Rubber Co. said yesterday its sales of hot water bottles increased by 80 per cent last month the coldest January in Britain in 120 years.

MODEL FOR FIVER — Britain may be having economic woes but her money is due to be better than ever. Phillida Stone, 18-year-old daughter of artist Reynolds Stone, was her dad's model when he designed the new five-pound ($14) bank note to go into circulation today. Miss Stone's graceful proportions replace the matronly Britannia that has symbolized Britain on previous fivers.

Economics to Decide Latin America Leanings

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Dr. Jose Figueres, former president of Costa Rica, said in an interview yesterday that if the Latin American countries can develop economically they will go democratic, otherwise Communist.

He said the next decade will decide. Figueres was in Kalamazoo for a speaking engagement at Western Michigan University.

Ugly American Losing Face Through Efforts of Gl's

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

MADRID (AP)—You might not think swapping postage stamps could help the mission of the U.S. armed forces in Europe.

Nor does keeping English streets free of litter seem to have much to do with frustrating communist westward march. But these things, small as they are, help build good relations between U.S. forces and the Europeans among whom they live.

The Communist propaganda

machine works hard at creating an ugly image of the American serviceman abroad. He is pictured as a warmongering bully, contemptuous of the people around him, bent only on unleashing aggressive nuclear war against the Soviet bloc.

All major American units have "community relations" officers, whose job is to foster friendly contact between servicemen and people in the dozen countries in Europe, North Africa and the Middle East where U.S. bases are located.

The term "community relations" covers spectacular aid in base and receive an tour the time of disaster to such simple projects as exchanging stamps with local philatelists and teaching the Turkish air force band to play American dance music.

RESIDENTS' COMPLAINTS

A local resident who complained of litter thrown from automobiles near the 47th Bombardment Wing at Sculthorpe, England, was pleased with swift American action, which included posting of notices and an antilitter campaign on the base.

In several countries, residents around bases complain of noise from jet engines. The remedy usually is to invite them to tour the of how essential is the work that produces the noise. Then possible engine testing times are adjusted to create the minimum of local disturbance.

HELP THE NEEDED

Capt. W. B. (Bill) Adams, the community relations officer, organizes collections to outfit needy children, among other gestures. When I accompanied Adams and another officer on a tour of villages around the radar site, they were greeted everywhere as old friends. Hospitality was pressed upon us. Dozens of people turned out to shout greetings when the car pulled up in a village square.

station jointly with the Spanish air force have won friends in villages for miles around through their generosity.

HELP THE NEEDED

Capt. W. B. (Bill) Adams, the community relations officer, organizes collections to outfit needy children, among other gestures. When I accompanied Adams and another officer on a tour of villages around the radar site, they were greeted everywhere as old friends. Hospitality was pressed upon us. Dozens of people turned out to shout greetings when the car pulled up in a village square.

Carol Brillan, 15, daughter of a master sergeant, broke 700 years of tradition when she became the first foreigner ever to ride in the colorful costume parade commemorating the feast of St. George in the town of Alcoi.

In Turkey the local mayor wrote a letter of appreciation to President Kennedy after airmen rebuilt, on their own time from material they collected, a tea-house that burned down. Americans presented four church bells to the village of Lama, near Taranto, Italy.

American aid was prompt when disastrous floods hit North Germany and earthquakes hit Iran.

One way of winning friends is to let the public see what goes on at the bases on such occasions as Armed Forces Day. When it was done for the first time in Spain, 500,000 spaniards crowded into the air bases. In West Germany 500,000 came in.

All over Europe, U.S. commanders proudly preserve letters of appreciation from local people for services rendered. They return the compliment by handing out "good neighbor" awards to local officials and individuals.

American good turns are varied. Helicopters, both Army and Air Force, make numerous rescues.

A village needs a football ground and the Army provides a bulldozer to level it.

An ancient bridge collapses; engineers build a new one. Commanders are most pleased with charitable enterprises initiated by the troops themselves. Many orphanages have been taken care of for years by American units.

As units rotate, the "duty" is handed on.

Director of Orchestra in W. Berlin Dies at 48

BASEL, Switzerland (AP)—Ferenc Fricsay, Hungarian-born director of the West Berlin Opera and Radio Symphony Orchestra, died in a hospital yesterday of a liver ailment.

Fricsay, 48, was director of the Budapest State Opera during World War II. He fled to the West after the war.

83-Year-Old Composer of Famous Tango Dies

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Jacob Gade, popular Danish composer who became world-famous because of one tango, died yesterday at his home village of Kig. He was 83.

In 1925 Gade composed "Tango Jalisco." It became a hit and still is played all over the world.

Officials Elected for Watford's CAI Association

Mrs. W. K. Ryan, 5867 Andersonville Road, was elected vice president and Mark Stewart, 2876 Orangecroft Drive, treasurer.

Elected to the five vacancies on the 15-member board were Carlos Richardson, 2326 Carlos Drive; Mrs. Charles Walters, 6020 Southward St.; Arthur Saley, 3408 Carmen St.; Mrs. Patrick Wolfe, 6591 Windate Drive; and Stewart.

'Artery Hardening an Epidemic'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Dr. Paul, chief of arteriosclerosis. It is booming everywhere there is prosperity. Dudley White, famous heart specialist, said Wednesday America is suffering "one of the most serious epidemics of all time"—hardening of the inner lining of the arteries.

The world's largest wildlife sanctuary is the Etosha Pan Conservancy Territory in South-West Africa. It covers 26,000 square miles — the size of Delaware and West Virginia combined. The Medical Assembly that "we have area protects spectacular herds replaced epidemics of infections of antelopes, zebras, and elephants with this terrific epidemic."

TOOK OVER SHIP — Venezuelan authorities have identified these four men as leaders of the nine-member gang which hijacked the freighter Anzoategui last week and forced the crew to sail to Brazil. From left are Wisnar Medina Rojas, 28, second mate of the freighter; Jose Romulo Nino, Juan Herman Montilla and Jose Bernardo Pelaez Alvarez.

Asylum Predicted for Hijackers

BELEM, Brazil (AP)—The hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui and its pro-Communist captors headed for Belem separately today, in Brazilian custody. The ship is on its way back to Venezuela and the hijackers hope for political asylum in Brazil.

A foreign office spokesman predicted asylum will be granted to the nine terrorists who seized the freighter at sea and sailed it to Brazil before surrendering. In Venezuela they would face trial and possible 10 to 15-year prison terms.

"There is no question but that this is a case purely of asylum," Jorge de Sa Almeida, foreign office spokesman, told newsmen. "Such asylum is a deeply embedded traditional right in Latin America."

Venezuelan diplomats reaffirmed their determination to try to extradite the daring opponents of President Romulo Betancourt. The final decision may have to come from Brazil's supreme court.

TAKE CHARGE

Brazilian officials took charge of the freighter and the terrorist band Wednesday at Macapa, a steaming jungle port on the north side of the Amazon Delta, 230 miles northwest of Belem.

The destroyer escort Solimoes drew up to the 3,127-ton Anzoategui and took the hijackers aboard for their trip to the Belem naval base.

Brazil's green and yellow flag was hoisted in token of custody and the Anzoategui headed for Belem, en route back to La Guaira, the port of Caracas.

The freighter left Caracas Feb. 12 for the United States. Shortly after she sailed, stowaway terrorists, led by the ship's second mate, seized the Anzoategui in an effort to discredit Betancourt's anti-Communist government.

Brazilian forces took over the ship off Maraca Tuesday and disarmed the terrorists.

Brazilian officials said they received word that the Anzoategui's skipper, Oscar Pereira, and his 35 crewmen were unharmed and in good health.

Two Venezuelan naval officers were en route to Belem to take possession of the freighter. The ship is owned by the Venezuelan Government Shipping Company.

Auto Firm Offers Fleet Use Seat Belts in March

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Studebaker said yesterday it will include seat belts in all cars ordered for fleet use starting March 1, as well as in all cars for retail sale.

The company's first belt announcement came last week when President Sherwood Egbert told a Chicago news conference seat belts will be made standard throughout the passenger car line. At that time he said a decision on fleet sales was pending.

In both instances, customers may order the belts deleted and will be charged $9 less. Studebaker said it believes most fleets will keep the belts.

Studebaker is the first auto company to make belts standard.

Iraq to Go Anti-Red; Pro-West, Maybe

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Commentary
Assessing the probable direction the new Iraqi government will take, Western diplomats seem to have come up with the following conclusion:

Anti-Communist, but not necessarily pro-West.

It was one of the cases where a revolutionary government has been accorded recognition by the United States before similar recognition by the Soviet Union.

At the very head of the parade was the United Arab Republic of President Nasser.

NEWSOM
In its first few days, the new regime of President Abdul Salam Arit committed itself on a number of important points.

By naming two Kurds to its new cabinet, the regime indicated it hopes for a peaceful settlement of the Kurdish rebellion which has been flaring in the north of Iraq for the last 18 months.

In a friendly exchange with the government of Kuwait, the Arit regime indicated it will not press Iraqi claims to that oil-rich sheikdom.

In 1961, the late Premier Kassem touched off a Mideast crisis when he claimed Kuwait. The British rushed troops to Kuwait, and the Iraqi representative walked out of an Arab League meeting when other Arab states failed to back Kassem's claim.

The new regime has declared for Arab unity, but otherwise has announced it will be nonaligned and has indicated no slavish attitude toward Nasser despite Arit's known admiration for the Egyptian leader.

Internationally, it has declared it will keep all previous agreements.

This included its contracts with the Iraq Petroleum Co., a joint American and European venture which in 1961 paid $266 million in royalties to Iraq. It had been Kassem's hope to nationalize the company.

It also included Iraq's economic agreements with the Soviet Union.

In this connection, it is noteworthy that violence carried out by the new regime's supporters has been almost entirely against the Communists.

However, radio correspondents were ordered to refer to them as "anarchists" rather than Communists.

As he sought to remain in power, Kassem had granted the Communists increasing power in his government and in the schools. Now these are being weeded out.

Massive shipments of Soviet arms had made the Iraqi army a Soviet - equipped force and had brought into the country some 1,500 Soviet military technicians who now may become a problem for the new government.

Relations with the monarchies of Saudi Arabia and Jordan still are to be determined.

It may be assumed that the new government will be anti-Israel.

Detroit Likely to Be Two-Fifths Negro by '70

DETROIT (AP) — Negroes will make up about 44 per cent of Detroit's population by 1970, if present trends continue, according to a report released by the Institute for Regional and Urban Studies of Wayne State University.

The 1960 census gave the city of Detroit's negro population as 29 per cent of a total of 1,670,144 residents.

The report, "The Population Revolution in Detroit," was prepared by Thomas F. Houli and Albert J. Mayer with the assistance of Susan Sheffield.

In addition to making up 44 per cent of Detroit's total population, Negroes will constitute 62 per cent of the city's school population, the report says.

It adds that Detroit will have only 18 per cent of all white metropolitan area residents in the child-bearing ages (15 to 44 years); only 15 per cent of the most productive age group (25-44 years) of whites in the metropolitan area, and will have 91 per cent of the area's aged Negroes (65 and over).

After citing the projected 1970 percentages, the report continues:

"If the projected 1970 racial and age-group distribution for the City of Detroit actually occurs — and it will occur unless there is a significant change, in present trends — the political, economic and general social effects will be massive.

"While residents of the city will be well on the way to a numerical minority status; politicians, to be successful, will increasingly have to consider the needs of the Negro voter; long established economic handicaps for Negro workers will have a profound impact on business and on the tax resources needed to provide even minimal city services.

"The increasing proportion of dependent residents will result in an increasing demand on decreasing revenue sources; school programs, to be effective, will have to concentrate on the needs of pupils whose attitudes and aspirations have been adversely affected by economic deprivation and by various forms of segregation and discrimination.

"Present population trends in the Detroit area . . . clearly demonstrate that the city is, by and large, being abandoned by all except those who suffer from relatively great housing, educational and general economic deprivations.

"As a consequence, the central city will be increasingly unable to support itself, and even less able to continue its much needed support of the suburbs.

"Although many suburbanites are loath to admit it, each suburb has been able to grow and function primarily because there has been a nearby central city with a complete set of urban facilities — large scale industry, highly specialized services such as adequate libraries, centers of communication and transportation, the means and techniques needed to provide proper water and sewage systems for a concentrated population, and the like.

"These are types of services that the typical metropolitan suburb almost never provide, yet must have to exist. . . .

"For those interested in possible solutions to the Detroit problems mentioned, the improving status of Negroes may be regarded as one hopeful sign — but it is doubtful that this improvement is occurring at a rate fast enough to fill the gap left by departing whites.

"Furthermore, it can be assumed that Negroes with increased status will themselves move to the suburbs just as fast as open occupancy housing becomes available.

"The city income tax, applied to nonresidents as well as residents, may be seen as a saving feature — if the tax is not defeated legally and if the completion of more and more suburban shopping centers and office and industrial facilities does not make a hollow mockery of the attempt to tax nonresident workers."

Doctor Tells What Happens

Editor's Note: Once again, countless thousands of Americans are enduring the miseries of a major flu outbreak. A major medical authority gives the facts on how people catch flu and what happens afterwards.

CHICAGO (AP) — Somebody sneezes in your direction and sprays you with maybe 50 million flu viruses, what happens?

Unless you've had flu shots, the odds are overwhelming that you'll get the flu and be miserable, an eminent medical authority said today.

But you won't start getting sick for four or five days after the virus invasion. What happens in between?

"There is a constant spread of the virus through the body," said Dr. W. W. Bauer, director emeritus of the American Medical Association's department of health education. "Most times there is nothing to stop it."

"The invasion occurs through the nose and throat generally," Bauer said in an interview. "You don't have to get in the way of a sneeze or a cough. The virus can be carried through the air from somebody who may be talking in your direction.

FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE

"The first line of defense is the mucus membranes in the nose, if that's where the invasion occurred. These are living cells that do their best to fight off attack. But they're simply too weak against one of the influenza viruses.

"After the virus passes through the membranes the only thing that can stop them are antibodies in the blood. If there are none, or if they're not strong enough, influenza symptoms begin to occur.

"Now in the case of the common cold the virus attacks the nose and throat but in influenza the attack is general. The nervous system is attacked. That's why victims develop the attitude of not caring whether school keeps or not."

Influenza as we know it has been with us at least 280 years, according to historians. The virus, according to Bauer, can be seen only electronically. One scientist estimated they are so small 25 million could be placed on the head of a pin. Vaccines have been developed and the AMA encourages their use.

"Once you're invaded by a flu virus," Bauer said, "there isn't anything you can do but get sick. There is no specific — no cure."

"But we can do something about pneumonia, which follows influenza. That's what killed thousands of persons in the 1918-19 epidemic — pneumonia caused by germs already in the body which got a chance to spread after the influenza invasion.

"Nobody is inherently immune from influenza," Bauer said. "A weak, sickly looking person can withstand an invasion as well as a conditioned athlete."

Electronics May Help With Foreign Affairs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department is going to try to get background help on foreign affairs questions by push button.

Given a go-ahead by Secretary Dean Rusk after a visit to a Pentagon computer center last summer, the department's electronic answering system is slated to swing into operation on an experimental basis during the fiscal year that begins July 1.

So reports the latest State Department newsletter, a publication distributed to U.S. diplomats.

Successful demonstrations by the new information storing and retrieving machine, the newsletter said, points toward creation of "a system of mechanized support for researchers, desk officer, policy planners and decision makers who daily depend on substantive information and who frequently need it in a hurry."

Here's how the system is supposed to work:

Researchers comb through the department's voluminous stacks of political, military, economic, geographic, biographic and what-not information and decide what is important enough to be stored on the computer's memory tape. Then the information is indexed, or coded, to be given as an answer.

A simple question such as "what are the expressed views of Mr. X on subject Y?" produces a simple answer.

But questions asked too broadly can cause trouble, the newsletter warns. That's because the electronic selector, trying to cover all the angles on a fuzzy query, will tend to throw in a pile of only distantly related information.

Probe Reports on Officials

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Macomb County Prosecutor George N. Parris said last night that his office is investigating complaints involving the possibility of irregularities in suburban Roseville.

Parris said none of the complaints involving Roseville officials have specific information of any wrongdoing. But he said "Due to the severity of the complaints it was necessary to institute a full-scale investigation."

Two assistant prosecutors and state police were reported looking into possible irregularities in the sale of surplus city property, property rezoning, building inspection practices, liquor licensing and expense account records.

Parris said, "We cannot say at this time that we will uncover any crimes." But he added, "We are letting the chips fall where they may."

Hiker Gets Halfway to D.C.

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP) — A 75-year-old man hiked into Bedford last night, almost halfway through his planned 300-mile march to Washington.

Alvin F. (Mote) Bergman of Leetsdale, Pa., an inveterate walker claiming a lifetime total of some 325,000 miles, has covered about 130 miles since he started out Monday from Ambridge, Pa.

He planned to reach Greencastle, Md., today.

MOURNS SWEETHEART—Paulette Lewis, 15, is near collapse at yesterday's funeral of David Brimley, her 17-year-old sweetheart who was killed while saving her from a speeding car in Santa Monica, Calif. Assisting the girl is Paul Willis, funeral director.West Reported Split Over Talks on Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The West—the view that Soviet overtures for arm allies are reported split on a fresh start should not be pursuing a new round of exploratory talks with the Soviet Union on Berlin. While the United States takes France remains opposed to another session with the Soviets. Britain and West Germany, the sources said, are supporting the U.S. position.

STALLED SINCE SPRING

Talks between the United States and the Soviet Union on the divided German city have been stalled since last spring. Earlier this month, the Soviets proposed a new attempt be made to try to find a solution to the Berlin problem. The United States immediately consulted with its three allies.

The consultations are still going on in Washington with Llewellyn Thompson, the State Department's ambassador at large, presiding.

At these discussions, the French continue to stand apart from the other allies, insisting there is no need for further talks. Beyond the need to coordinate positions, informants said, a number of detailed questions have to be clarified, including who should talk to the Soviets and where, and what approach should be made.

SAME FORMAT LIKELY

If and when the talks resume, the format will be likely the same as before: bilateral informal exchange of views between a high ranking American and Soviet, with the United States filling in its allies after every stage.

Prevent Varicosities

Don't Strain Leg Veins

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
If you have varicose veins, the first thing to do is to see your doctor and then follow his advice. He may advise elastic stockings. If so, your foot and leg will be measured every 2 inches. He may suggest injections or even surgery. Most varicose veins can be controlled if treatment is begun soon enough.

If you don't have varicose veins, here are some everyday precautions and first aid you can use to prevent them:

Remember that standing or sitting for long periods of time places a great strain on the veins. Therefore, physicians recommend the following:

Whenever you are going to be sitting for a long time, get up every half-hour and walk about. Do this at home or when on a plane or train. If you are on a long auto trip, stop periodically and walk around and stretch your legs.

Break long stretches of standing with short rest periods when you sit or lie with your feet up.

Exercise is helpful since it stirs up circulation. Many doctors feel that the bicycle riding exercise is an especially beneficial one. For this you lie on your back. Raise your legs and rotate them as though you were riding a bicycle.

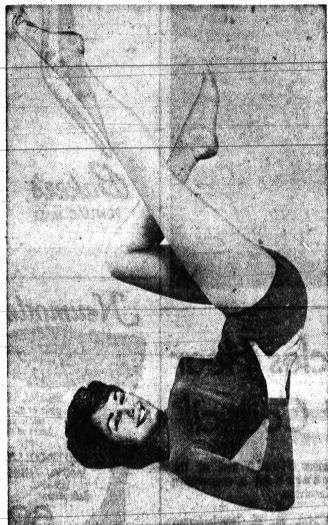

Walking is also good because the movement involved gives the blood a boost upward. Swimming or walking in deep water are two of the best antidotes for varicosity. (The pressure of the water helps.)

Sleep with your feet higher than the level of your heart. Before doing this consult your doctor. If your arteries are not in good condition this may not be wise.

Do not wear round garters. When working in the kitchen, sit on a high stool with your feet resting on a rung, whenever possible. Do not wear elastic girdles continuously. This is especially bad when you are going to be seated for a long time.

Don't cross your legs at the knees. If your family has a tendency toward varicose veins, tell your doctor about it if you become pregnant.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Superfluous Hair and Varicose Veins," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 53 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Exercises are helpful in preventing varicose veins since they stir up circulation. The bicycle riding exercise is an especially beneficial one.

Forgiveness Requires Time, Understanding

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My ex-husband's mother has started writing me letters about how old she's getting and how she wants to see my 8-year-old boy — "my only grandchild" she calls him.

This is the woman who broke up my marriage and told me that was what she intended. Now that her own son has become a hopeless alcoholic, I suppose she wants to go to work on mine.

I know that I sound un-Christian but she is a terrible woman...

ANSWER: But YOU don't have to see her.

If you were sure of your own right to reject all personal contact with her, I think you would be able to let your child meet her — and allow him to evolve his own wish to see or not to see her again.

So let's see if we can clarify your right to avoid her. "And lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil" is a quotation from a prayer with which we are both familiar.

Can you see that the temptation which is testing you is the obligation to show a good will toward a woman for whom you do not feel it?

It is trying to lead you beyond your moral strength. Once you see this, you can reject it. You can refuse the obligation to rush yourself over your struggle with resentment.

At the same time we can both hope the struggle will ultimately result in that "forgiveness" of enemies which Jesus commanded. You will lose the need to pretend to forgiveness before it has been achieved and so be delivered from evil — the evil of self-falsification.

It is honesty in you which is resisting personal contact with your ex-mother-in-law and I strongly urge you to support it.

If you can accept your unrelenting feelings for her, you'll have no trouble allowing your child to experience whatever he wants to feel for her.

And you will find yourself quite capable of organizing a meeting for them in which you make no appearance yourself.

If I may say so, the idea that we must immediately offer our left cheek to the enemy who has slapped our right one is bound to produce the kind of panic you feel.

We all need time to pass before we can bless our enemies. The view that we must forgive them at once results only in a hate of our own falseness that makes "love" of our enemies a sterile and meaningless farce.

PTAs in Action

The Drayton Plains School PTA will sponsor a potluck supper today at 6 p.m. followed by a brief business meeting at 8 p.m.

A Founders Day program is slated for later in the evening featuring the presentation of a history of the PTA by Mrs. Clayton Ross and entertainment by the Waterford Boys' Choir.

Following a 7:30 p.m. business meeting today, Mary Ann Jetter, coordinator of the Waterford Schools materials center, will speak to Beaumont School PTA members at the center on the various materials and equipment used by pupils in the schools.

A card party and hat style show will highlight activities at tonight's meeting of the Carl Sandburg School PTA slated for 7:30.

Dr. Edgar Johnston, director of research for Waterford Township Schools, will speak on school dropouts at tonight's meeting of the Waterford-Center School PTA scheduled for 8.

An estimated 1.7 million children are attending school in obsolete and unsatisfactory facilities, the U. S. Office of Education reveals.

Why is a beatnik beat? A beatnik, to the majority of teenagers, is someone who is attempting to be different.

The rest feel beatniks are lazy and irresponsible; they live the way they do because they aren't accepted by society; they're withdrawing from the world, and are depressed because they can't find a reason for living.

A small percentage think beatniks have had childhoods and result from a poor home life and indifferent parents.

Only a few say beatniks are searching for true beliefs and are the modern versions of ascetics.

"Many beatniks sincerely believe they are right," says Bill Buchholz, 17, of Highland Park, Ill. "But many do it just to be different and many are phonies."

The majority go along with Christopher Blair, 14, of Milwaukee, who says "They're just trying to be different to gain attention."

However, many teenagers do feel beatniks have justification. "There are things in society against which people should protest," declares Vivien Clair, 17, of Highland Park, Ill.

Mary Lou Kaufman, 17, of Tampa, Fla., says "I believe everyone is justified in living his life the way he wants to if he doesn't harm others."

And Suzanne Waltz, 17, of Bloomington, Ind., says "I feel many of the beatnik values are true, but the average fake beatnik makes me sick."

Some 24 per cent of the girls and 38 per cent of the boys claim to know members of the beat movement.

Whatever the worries that adults may have about young people, they shouldn't worry too much about them going beatnik.

To most of the thousand teenagers we talked to recently, beatniks are just a bunch of phonies.

Even though a fifth of them said they had actually considered adopting the "beat" life, only 2 per cent of the girls and 11 per cent of the boys thought they'd ever do so.

Most of them think their own lives will be what they make of them, whereas beatniks do nothing constructive.

Anyway, they say, there's no future in it because beats are on the way out.

"I haven't given up on the world," comments Richard Freeman, 16, of South Euclid, O.

And Bruce Waters, 16, of Ft. Smith, Ark., says "I can't stand beats."

Dog Gets Bath From Dick McDonald

Physical and psychological examinations rivaling that of an astronaut are a must for each animal accepted at the Leader Dogs for the Blind School.

Upon arriving at the training school near Rochester a dog is in quarantine for 10 days, bathed, checked medically and given all the veterinary care necessary. Then the training begins.

All leader dogs must be friendly, healthy, willing to lead out and accept responsibility; accustomed to people and be fairly good looking. They must have a sound nervous system.

Less than 30 per cent of all dogs offered have all the inherent qualities necessary to graduate as leader dogs.

Four months of intensive training follows the dog's acceptance. The last four weeks are with its blind companion.

When the team completes its schooling, the original owner of the dog receives a picture of the new master and the dog and a letter of information. If a dog fails its training, it is placed in a home or returned to its original owner.

Only dogs between the ages of 1 and 2 years are accepted. The breeds most commonly used as leader dogs are German shepherds, Labradors, Golden and Chesapeake Bay retrievers.

Educators to Meet Officials

Seek Disturbed Child Program

Public Dedication Set at Pontiac General

Pontiac General Hospital will open to area residents its latest addition Sunday afternoon at a public dedication of the hospital's new radiodiagnosis department.

The ceremony is scheduled for 4 p.m. with Dr. John J. Marra, medical director, and Dr. Z. F. Endress, radiologist, sharing speaking honors.

The new unit was financed largely through a $20,000 donation last year from the Gregor Kohn Foundation.

The highly technical equipment alone cost more than $17,000.

The unit will be used mostly in diagnostic work.

"It is especially valuable in diagnosing borderline thyroid and liver diseases," Dr. Marra said.

The equipment can also readily pinpoint types of anemia which are otherwise difficult to identify. Radiostopes also can be used very effectively in locating brain tumors.

For example, a borderline anemia or vitamin deficiency which normally would take many days and repeated tests to detect, can be detected rapidly by injecting certain harmless radioactive drugs into the blood stream.

LOCATE IN STREAM

The new unit contains radiodiagnosis scanners and counters which locate and measure the radioactive drugs in the patient's bloodstream.

Measured reactions of the drugs often clearly diagnose the ailment so treatment can begin at once.

The radiodiagnosis department is located on the basement level rooms formerly occupied by the X-ray department.

A specially constructed room nearby is used for storage of radioactive materials in lead containers.

The department will be supervised by Dr. Endress.

Work began on the unit last spring.

Won't Let Africans Go

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Three Nigerian students reported today that Communist Bulgarian authorities are preventing a mass exodus of some 300 embittered African students by refusing to give them money to leave the country.

Emotionally disturbed children need a special school program that is not now available in the public school system.

That's the premise of Juvenile Division officials of the Oakland County Probate Court as they search for a way to provide such a program for court wards.

Educators will be asked for their suggestions at a March 1 meeting with court officials in the county courthouse.

Officials from the County Board of Education, school superintendents from throughout the county and a school board representative from each of the county's 30 school districts have been invited to the meeting.

Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore, who was a county probate judge for 24 years before moving up to the Circuit Court last week, will be on hand to explain his children's village plan as a start toward a solution.

Probate Judges Donald E. Adams and Norman R. Barnard also will discuss making provisions for a special school program for the emotionally disturbed in the proposed children's village.

Now in the planning stage, the school dropouts has been sent to the educators along with the meeting invitations.

The report's findings indicate the weekend workshop approach may have value in preventing some dropouts.

Judge Moore said he will ask the educators to support his $3-million children's village plan.

The County Board of Supervisors has applied for a $23,000 federal grant to pay half the cost of the first three cottages.

Construction of the three cottages on the proposed site behind the state police post on Telegraph Road would solve the immediate overcrowding problem at the Children's Center, court officials say.

Source of funds for the rest of the project is uncertain.

TO DISCUSS WARDS

Educators and court officials at the March 1 meeting also will discuss the handling by local school district of Juvenile Court wards who remain home on probation and attend local schools.

Court officials will ask how they might support local school efforts to help potential dropouts and the emotionally disturbed.

Most youngsters who appear in Juvenile Court are school dropouts, Judge Moore said.

A report on a six-week pilot project of weekend workshops at Camp Oakland for teen-agers who were considered potential school dropouts has been sent to the educators along with the meeting invitations.

Customer's Rhyme Has Good Reason

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Tucson jeweler Fred Fisher sent a statement to a customer whose account was paid up to date. He included this couplet:

"Nary a penny, sou, or farthing due.
The coffee's hot and we miss you."

A few days later the statement was returned with this message:

"Your message of glad tidings was received today.
Its contents were noted and filed away.
For save I must each penny, farthing and sou,
For August is a-coming when the baby is due."

Hit Tax Board Move

The Oakland County AFL-CIO Council yesterday protested "the replacement of a labor representative on the Tax Board of Review" by Pontiac's City Commission last week.

Commissioners appointed three new members to the board, replacing two members and filling a vacancy.

One of those replaced was Gordon Rice, active in UAW Local 653, AFL-CIO, at Pontiac Motor Division, and president of the Chief Pontiac Federal Credit Union.

There is no UAW member among the new appointees.

However, one of the new members, Rudolph J. Nosek, 56, a plumber, is a member of Plumbers Local 98, AFL-CIO, in Detroit.

"This protest is being made," reads the council resolution, "because over the years the Tax Board of Review has had a person representing the worker, and now this commission has seen fit to deny labor of a representative."

Adams, a former employee of the gas station, waived examination at his arraignment and was bound over to Circuit Court by Waterford Township Justice of the Peace John E. McGrath.

Privacy's the Problem at President's Virginia House

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON — Backstairs at the White House:

The latest gleanings from Middleburg, Va., indicate that like many couples building a new house, President Kennedy and his wife are not without construction problems.

They are building a home of their own on Rattlesnake Mountain, about five miles from Middleburg, and the house should be ready for occupancy some time in the spring.

April 1 is a target date, but much work will remain to be done after that such as completion of a big barn and the expected installation of a swimming pool.

One problem of the Kennedys is how to have a picture-window view on the west side of the house, and still not leave the structure so open that the motorcade public from a highway several hundred yards away can sneak a peek with binoculars.

A large bay window will be built in that side of the house. But if screening trees are planted for the sake of privacy, it will cut the first family's view of the Blue Ridge Mountains.

One answer might be to plant a fairly high hedge beside a fence that borders the public highway. However, the hedge must not be too high lest it interfere with the view.

The highway, leading southward from the village of Atoka, even now is a source of trouble or annoyance to the Secret Service. Any car that stops in the vicinity of the Kennedy house is investigated quickly.

This seems like super-security, but what the federal protectors seem most concerned about is picture-taking.

SUBZERO WATCH
The Secret Service agents, who even during zero weather have lived beside the house in a canvas tent, say Mrs. Kennedy would prefer that her house not be photographed — by anyone.

Thus the agents are particularly allergic to any car bearing passengers with what would appear to be long-range lens cameras.

The federal men seem to have no objection to a passer-by taking a look at the house through field glasses, provided motor traffic on the narrow paved road is not impeded.

Even with the longest lenses, however, the house does not present any great pictorial opportunity. The outer structure is completed except for the addition of some field stone and installation of some windows.

The White House can issue statements to the contrary until the house falls in several generations from now, but Virginians who should know swear the place will cost a lot closer to $100,000 than the $50,000 originally announced by Press Secretary Pierre Salinger.

People of the Virginia hunt country are a bit mystified as to why there should be such a point made by the White House about the cost being lower than it actually will turn out to be.

Some of the neighboring estates have barns that cost more than the new Kennedy place and many local residents think it would be quite befitting a president to have one of the best houses around.

One unusual note: The floors will be concrete with radiant heating, and covering by carpeting. This should be a rather interesting innovation for that part of the country.

1962 Accidental Deaths 96,500, Up 5 Per Cent

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council has tallied up the nation's death and economic toll from accidents in 1962 and found: Killed—96,500, a 5 per cent increase over 1961 and the highest toll since 1948 when the toll was 98,001.

Disabling injuries—9.7 million, of which 369,000 resulted in some degree of permanent impairment.

Economic cost to the nation—$15.3 billion, a 5 per cent increase over 1961.

Accidents were exceeded as a cause of death only by heart disease, cancer and stroke.

Council statisticians said an accidental death occurred at the rate of one every 5½ minutes during the year.

Traffic accidents, as in other years, was the No. 1 killer with a total of 41,000, an increase of 8 per cent from 38,091 in 1961.

Deaths from accidents in the home rose 4 per cent from 27,000 to 28,000.

Deaths from public accidents not involving motor vehicles were up 3 per cent from 16,500 to 17,000.

Deaths from accidents on the job rose 1 per cent from 13,500 to 13,700.

(The death classifications total more than the overall figure of 96,500 because some deaths fall into more than one category.)

Aside from motor vehicle accidents, falls were the single largest cause of accidental death accounting for 19,000, a 5 per cent increase of 1961.

The preliminary estimate of economic costs of accidents is based on wages lost, medical expenses, overhead costs of insurance, property damage in fires and the indirect costs of work accidents.

Singer Como Wants Lighter TV Schedule

NEW YORK (AP)—Perry Como, after 15 years of weekly broadcasting, probably will star in only six or eight programs next season.

Como has notified his sponsor (Kraft) that he wants to cut down, and negotiations are in progress to arrange some sort of a new, lighter schedule on NBC for the popular singer.

Como has been saying that a weekly television show is too confining.

"But I'm not moving out, I'm moving over," he says.

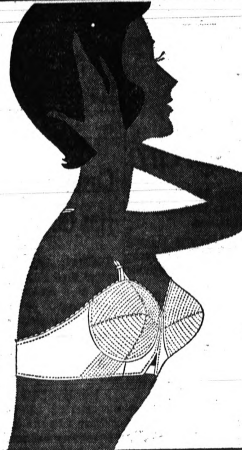

The program has suffered from declining ratings this past season against a comedy hit, "Beverly Hillsbillies."

U.S. to Withdraw Planes From India

NEW DELHI (AP) — Informed sources yesterday said the United States plans a spring withdrawal of the air transport squadron it lent India last November during the border war with China.

No exact date has been set, these sources said, and the subject is being discussed by the Indian and U.S. governments.

Among alternatives to the 13 Hercules high-altitude planes which have been supplying Indian positions in the Ladakh area is building of an all-weather road with American aid. The present road is closed six months a year by snow.

Traces Act to Extreme Rage in Boy

CHICAGO (UPI)—One of the world's leading child psychologists today ascribed the slayings of five members of a Green Bay, Wis., family to "murderous rage."

Bruno Bettelheim, 59, Vienna-born psychoanalyst who has been a member of the University of Chicago faculty for 19 years, said mass slayings, such as that committed by Harry (Butch) Hebard, 16, at Green Bay, are the result of "extreme" emotional disturbance accompanied by "an absence of inner control."

Only two weeks ago, brilliant Douglas Godfrey, 15, confessed to the sniper-slaying of his mother and ended two terror-filled weeks for the residents of fashionable Bloomfield Township, a suburb of Detroit, Mich. "We argued all the time," he said. "She was too strict."

"These crimes are always the crimes of a deranged mind, although the criminal may be legally sane," Bettelheim told United Press International.

He said such emotional disturbance is detectable and a "slow process of education and therapy" can build the inner controls necessary to contain it.

"I would be amazed if this boy (Harry) had not been recognized as disturbed by some of his teachers or others who knew him," Bettelheim said.

Most such slayings and many suicides could be prevented through careful psychiatric screening in the schools, he said. "It would be costly, but how costly are human lives?" Bettelheim asked.

However, while psychologists can recognize the person "likely to have murderous rage we cannot say that he will act upon it. We would probably have to treat 100 youngsters to get one or two potential murderers," Bettelheim said.

Mental Test for Teen Killer?

Shows Little Remorse for Slaying of Family

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—A psychiatric test may be ordered today for teen-aged Harry Hebard, who killed the father he idolized, his stepmother and her three children because he felt he had been "left out."

Dist. Atty. Robert Warren said Brown County Judge James Byers could order the examination at the request of attorney Robert Parins, who was appointed to defend the dark-haired, sometimes moody youth.

Warren said he might ask for a mental test if Parins didn't at the arraignment today.

The youth, 16, a product of a broken home, showed remorse only for the death of his father, daredevil "stuntman" Jack Hebard, 37, during Harry's appearance in court yesterday. He showed no signs of sorrow at the slayings of his stepmother or her three children.

"The motive for the pistol and rifle slayings was obviously a stated statement the youth gave to Warren detailing the killings. The district attorney declined to release it in full."

"I can tell you this," said Warren. "There was no single specific motive as such. The boy said he had felt left out of the family circle. He showed remorse for killing his father, but none for the others."

I DON'T CARE
In an interview with a Chicago American reporter in court yesterday, young Hebard said, "I guess I expect to go to reform school until I am 18. After that I don't know what'll happen. I don't care any more."

His words were mumbled. As he spoke, he hung his head and clasped his hands in his lap. He held back tears. Authorities said that during his confession he had said:

"I never felt I was included in the family circle."

U. S. to Loan U.A.R.

Funds for Power Station

CAIRO (UPI)—The United States and the United Arab Republic yesterday signed an agreement for a U.S. loan of $30.6 million for construction of an electric power station in Cairo. Construction will be undertaken by the Westinghouse Co. The loan will be repayable in 40 years at 7.5 per cent interest.

MSU Prof Plots Course for Manned Flight to Mars

EAST LANSING (AP)—When man takes off for Mars he won't go in a straight line, as on an expressway.

He'll loop around the earth and describe a goose neck curve toward Mars, then loop around our sister planet.

A Michigan State University professor of engineering has taken two years to make a "map" of the projected journey. It is contained in five volumes.

Faculty members call the professor "Ziggy"—his full name is Dr. Marie Zigmund von Krzywoblocki.

The Austrian-born engineering professor and mathematics expert was commissioned five years ago by the Army to plot a trajectory between the earth and Mars. With the help of many other experts and graduate assistants he worked more than two years to complete the calculations.

His formula can be used when a manned flight to Mars is launched.

The space pilot will not travel between two fixed points as he would on earth because both his starting and destination points will be orbiting around the sun.

He will probably launch from a space platform orbiting around the earth and land in a detachable capsule.

"First he will construct a platform in space that will orbit around the earth," Dr. Krzywoblocki said. It will be used as a workshop to assemble the space vehicle that will fly to Mars, probably just carrying a few men.

"When the vehicle nears Mars," he said, "One man no doubt will remain in the space ship. The other two will land on Mars in a detachable capsule."

The calculations were complicated by the various forces in space—the gravitational force of the sun and the planets, the magnetic fields that surround each planet, the force of sunlight pressure and of space dust.

The possibility of collision with meteors and the effect of sun flares and other complicating factors.

Eventually, Dr. Krzywoblocki believes, men will make long trips to other solar systems, traveling at the speed of light. The grand children of those who started may land on the new worlds.

He also believes there may be hundreds or thousands or millions of planets in other solar systems with human beings on them.

"The question is," he said, "whether their bodies are constructed in the same way."

He Was Driven to Say It

BONN, Germany (UPI)—Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov returned to his post here yesterday after a vacation of nearly two months in the Soviet Union.

Boy Can't Run From Murder

Teen Admits Shooting of Guard in Market

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"He always ran away. He always ran away."

Tearing her hair in grief, Mary McBride, 46, told newsmen how her 14-year-old son, Francis, ran from problems he couldn't face.

Police said Francis was confronted Wednesday with a problem he couldn't run away from—a murder charge.

In a long distance phone call from Memphis, Tenn., Francis admitted fatally shooting supermarket guard Harley L. Bowen, 45, last Jan. 26 during a Los Angeles burglary attempt, police said.

Memphis authorities said they found the boy, his blond hair dyed black, covering under a stolen car on the Mississippi waterfront. Detectives said he signed a statement detailing a string of thefts—and then the murder.

The McBrides were divorced.

GOT INTO TROUBLE

Francis got into scrapes, his mother said. She reported him to police and he shunted from one juvenile detention home to another.

Francis finally wound up at the Nellis School for Boys, a reformatory, in nearby Whittier, for burglarizing the same market at which the guard was later shot.

"He was home from Nellis on a Sunday, Jan. 13 it was to visit, and he was talking about getting to come home in June," Mrs. McBride said. "He wanted to fix his bicycle and get a garden started."

Then, she said, he learned his father was in jail for failing to provide for his family, and his mother had lost her job as a drugstore clerk.

"He knew they'd never let him come back to that kind of home," Mrs. McBride said. "He never went back to school. He started running again."

Then, police said, came the market shooting.

Holdup Victim Charges Dog as Accomplice

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—James E. Underwood says he was a victim of a man-dog holdup team.

Underwood, 47, a laborer, told police:

"As he strolled near the police station Wednesday, a car pulled up. A tall, blond youth got out with a large white dog. The man asked him for a match. When Underwood produced it, the stranger ordered his dog to 'watch him!'"

While the dog reared back and barked, the youth, who was armed with a handgun, snatched Underwood's wallet, which contained $89.

Underwood said he was too shocked to take the license number when the pair drove away.

Found Guilty of Kidnaping

A former inmate of Ionia State Hospital was found guilty on a kidnaping charge in Oakland County Circuit Court Tuesday.

James G. Styes, 34, was convicted by a jury of kidnaping a 19-year-old Farwell mother of two and her 14-year-old brother after escaping from the hospital in August 1961.

The jury deliberated only 45 minutes after a four-day trial. Styes also had been charged with raping the woman in West Bloomfield Township, but the charge was dismissed at the opening of his trial.

Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem set March 5 for sentencing. Styes was returned to Oakland County Jail on $10,000 bond.

John T. Auld, 44, who accompanied Styes, pleaded guilty to a kidnap charge in the case and is serving a 12½ to 25-year term.

Germans Smoking More

WIESBADEN, Germany (UPI)—West Germans spent $2.05 billion on tobacco last year, a 6 percent increase over 1961, the Federal Statistical Office said yesterday.

AF Tangles With Artist Over Painting

WASHINGTON (AP)—In something of a tangle, the Air Force said today British artist David Shepherd can take back his painting from a U.S. base in Britain any time he's ready.

Furthermore, the Air Force said it has no intention of paying for the painting, or offering Shepherd a free ride to India or anywhere else.

The flare-up revolves around a painting, Shepherd, 30, loaned to the Air Force several years ago for display at an Air Force base at Mildenhall. It shows a jet airliner over New York City.

Earlier this week, Shepherd said in London the Pentagon must "fly me to India—or give me back my painting."

He was willing to sell the painting to the Defense Department for $700, Shepherd said.

He accused the Pentagon of "trying to soft-soap me" by saying he was the first British artist whose work was selected for a new Air Force collection.

In a brusque comment, the Air Force said "the artist has been free to remove the painting any time he chose to do so."

Loading Started on Ransom Boat

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Longshoremen start loading 2,600 tons of medicine and food for the banana boat Priamos tonight for shipment to Cuba as ransom for released prisoners.

The Red Cross said the cargo valued at $1.5 million will complete the first half of the $53 million worth of goods promised Fidel Castro for the 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners already returned.

The standard fruit and steamship's Priamos will sail Saturday on the 30-hour voyage to Havana, steamship officials said.

'Propaganda Red Specialty'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Russia is outtalking the United States in shortwave radio propaganda—and doing a better job of it, says a University of Minnesota professor.

William S. Howell, associate chairman of the Minnesota department of speech and theater arts, told a group of University of Michigan students yesterday:

"Communist ideology is being projected very aggressively and skillfully on short-wave radio, while our points of view get relatively small effort and little emphasis."

Detroit Hotels Make Convention Pledges

DETROIT (AP)—Mayor Jerome Cavanagh said yesterday 53 Detroit area hotels and motels already have pledged 6,539 rooms in the city's bid for the 1964 national political conventions.

He said 192 hotels and motels are still to be heard from.

Pledges so far received include promises of donations of $1.50 per room per night toward a cash contribution Detroit would have to make to land the Democratic and Republican conventions.

Onassis Offers Rainier His Shares in Casino

LONDON (UPI)—Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis has offered his controlling interest in the gambling casino at Monte Carlo to Prince Rainier of Monaco, the Daily Express said today.

The newspaper said Onassis offered Rainier his 540,000 shares of Casino stock for $25 each, a total of $13.5 million. There was no official confirmation.

AFL-CIO Lays Vote Drive Plans

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL-CIO is laying careful plans at winter union meetings to make organized labor an even more potent political force on the state and national scene.

Federal chiefs decided Wednesday to expand to a permanent, year-around basis previously sporadic campaigns to get the maximum number of union members and adult members of the family to qualify to vote and to go to the polls.

VOTING OVERSEASERS

They also decided to establish voting overseers in each of the 60,000 local unions comprising labor organizations affiliated with the AFL-CIO. Their responsibility will be to marshal the greatest possible labor turnout in 1964 and beyond.

"We're now in this thing permanently," a spokesman said after an administrative meeting of the Committee on Political Education, the AFL-CIO political action organization.

Union leaders acknowledged they can't successfully tell workers how to vote, but said they are confident the vast majority generally will vote for candidates and issues favored by the union.

SUCCESSFUL DRIVES

AFL-CIO drives before the 1960 and 1962 elections to get workers registered and voting were so successful, union leaders said, they are starting now to get ready for the 1964 presidential race and for state and national elections in later years.

8-Year-Old Miss No Delinquent on Tax Returns

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—An 8-year-old Chattanooga, Tenn., girl wrote the Internal Revenue Service here offering her life savings of $17.39 after being notified she owed income taxes for 1960.

"I am 8 years old and I am not married and don't work," the girl wrote. She gave her bank account number and added:

"This is the only money I have except a nickel for the ice cream man."

The Internal Revenue Service said a form notice was sent the child by mistake and that the error is being corrected by letter. The agency said rules prohibit releasing the 8-year-old's name.

Curb on Poll Tax Ratified in Lansing

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Legislature has ratified a proposed amendment to the United States Constitution which stipulates that the right to vote shall not be denied for failure to pay a poll tax.

Designed to protect Negro voting rights in Southern states, the amendment passed the Senate 80-0 and previously had been approved in the House without a dissenting vote.

Health Units Out to Fight Smoking

LANSING (UPI)—A statewide campaign to wipe out cigarette smoking was launched here yesterday by major agencies involved in health education.

Representatives of the Michigan State Medical Society, three voluntary health organizations and two state agencies agreed to coordinate activities in the campaign. They met at the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association (MTRDA) office.

The group will seek to intensify educational programs on the effects of smoking for fifth and sixth graders and those at the high school level, said J. Irvin Nichols, MTRDA executive director.

Emphasis will be put on the younger people because it is easier to prevent cigarette smoking from starting than it is to cure it once the habit has taken hold, he said.

Dr. Henry J. Vandenberg Jr., of Detroit, chairman of the cancer control committee of the Michigan State Medical Society, contended that the relationship between cigarette smoking and such diseases as asthma, emphysema and lung cancer was clearly established.

"We have been dishonest with ourselves in calling smoking a habit," Vandenberg said. "We should call it an addiction. The addictive nature comes from absorption into the system of the nicotine contained in tobacco through the lungs."

With Tears in His Eyes; Do I Have to Smile?

CLINTON, Ky. (AP)—A youngster who had injured his arm in a fall was brought into the office of Dr. V. A. Jackson.

Beats Girls, Then Buries Them Alive

TOOELE, Utah (AP)—Two Salt Lake City girls were battered with a hammer and buried alive under desert brush Wednesday. Officers said a 19-year-old part-time dishwasher had admitted the crime.

The girls, Carol Annette Clayton and Drinda Jane Atnes, both 18, were rescued after a companion, Tony Robertson, 19, ran and walked 14 miles to the nearest telephone and got help. The girls were hospitalized and both were in critical condition.

Sheriff Faye Gillette said Rex Hintze of Salt Lake City admitted beating the girls after his car became stuck on a muddy road near the Great Salt Lake and the girls started walking toward home. He was booked on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

"He didn't seem to know why he did it," the sheriff said. The just said he was mad at them for leaving."

Robertson, a friend of Hintze's, said he was in the car and didn't know about the beatings "until he (Hintze) asked me to help him hide the bodies."

RAN AWAY

Robertson, also of Salt Lake City, said he thought the girls were dead. He said he edged away from Hintze, saying he wanted to see if anybody was watching, then started running.

Sheriff Gillette said Hintze told him he covered both girls with brush, and when one started kicking, "he said he put some rocks and a big piece of iron on her."

The sheriff said Hintze believed the girls would not live. "If the girls do live, they'll owe their lives to that boy who ran 14 miles for help," Gillette said. A waitress in a cafe on U.S. Highway 40 said Robertson stumbled in exhausted and scared, saying, "There's two dead girls back there."

Actor Sued for Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Jim Hutton, who played Jane Fonda's husband in the film "Period of Adjustment," is being sued for divorce.

His wife Maryline brought the action in Superior Court Wednesday, charging cruelty. She and Hutton, 26, married in 1958 and separated last Dec. 3. They have two children. Hutton's attorney said they have signed a property agreement.

$100,000 Damage Due to Fire in State Plant

EATON RAPIDS (AP)—A fire swept one of the two plants of the Eaton Machine and Fabricating Co. in Eaton Rapids yesterday causing damage estimated at $100,000.

The owner, Clair Loudenslager, suffered smoke inhalation when he entered the flaming structure. Firemen said the blaze may have started from a work er's acetylene torch.

Twelve scientists and 18 crewmen set out from here Wednesday on a nine-month around-the-world expedition being conducted by Columbia University's Lamont Observatory in Palisades, N. J. The Vema will join 40 other vessels from 20 nations in an exploratory effort. In the Indian Ocean, the scientists hope to make discoveries to help solve the problem of Southeast Asian people often plagued by famine.

Aluminum foil is used to protect young fruit and ornamental trees from damage by rodents.

Gripe From Afar Jolts President, Aides

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—It looked at first like another one of those crackpot letters from some shivering taxpayer who was blaming the unprecedented cold weather on our nuclear testing program.

"Dear Mr. Kennedy," it began. "Although I have never heretofore been one to complain to a foreign boy, believing 'each unto his own orbit,' I must draw to your attention what you are doing to our weather."

"My wife (as you would call her) cannot get her washing dry any longer, because some satellite you have hung in the sky keeps the backyard eternally in the shade."

"Would you be kind enough to shift it a few thousand miles east or west, so it would shade our neighbors' yard instead? They have an automatic solar washer and would not mind so much. Yours for a better space age, Hans Mercury."

HER NAME IS TIPPY —and SHE IS LOST! Brown, brindle Terrier, white chest, white paws, unclipped ears, bobbed tail, 14 years old. Wandered from home, 315 Tilden St., Pioneer-Highland, Pontiac.

TUESDAY MORNING Information about Tippy would be most gratefully received. Please call FE 2-1055

Presidential Secretary Evelyn Lincoln started to pitch the letter into the box marked for an X18 form reply, when the envelope caught her eye. It bore no postage stamp. At that moment 5-year-old Caroline strolled into the room, and her eyes brightened as she saw the paper in Mrs. Lincoln's hand.

"Oh, you got the pretty letter," she said, between licks on her lollipop. "I found it in my sandbox out back, and mummy said I'd better give it to you. I guess the mailman dropped it."

DON'T TELL KEATING!

The ordinarily calm Mrs. Lincoln let out a shriek and ran to the President's office. Interrupting a top-level, enlarged session of the National Security Council, she stammered that a letter had come from outer space. The President studied it intently, and then passed it around the conference table.

CIA Director John McConne, peering at it through a magnifying glass, said it did not seem to be particularly subversive.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, acutely aware of his responsibility as head of the National Space Council, urged that no one say anything about it to GOP Sen. Kenneth Keating, until they were absolutely sure it had nothing to do with Cuba.

By that time the letter had reached S.P. administrator James E. Webb, who took one look at it and shouted: "Hurrah! We've found the Syncrom!"

With trembling fingers, Webb turned the envelope over and over, trying to find a return address.

"If we could just find out which planet this came from," he finally bellowed, "we'd know where the Syncrom went into synchronous orbit. Casting a stationary shadow—by jove!"

This was the first time Webb had smiled since NASA lost radio contact with its revolutionary communications satellite, which was supposed to or-

CLUE TO LIFE — This network of tiny wires is a model of the shape and make-up of a protein molecule. Discovery of the dimensions of this molecule means that the mystery of the function of protein has almost been solved, says Dr. H. C. Watson, a British scientist. Dr. Watson showed the mock-up at the annual meeting of the Biophysical Society in New York this week.

'Huge Interlude'—29 Years

ATLANTA (AP) — A copy of Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude" has been returned to the Atlanta Public Library after an interlude of more than 29 years.

The book was checked out Dec. 7, 1933. Library officials figured overdue fines of about $250 were due. The borrower didn't return the book. It was found recently in a purchased house and mailed to the library.

bit at the same speed as the earth, thus hovering in one spot overhead.

"Since everyone was anxious to help him find it, Defense Secretary Robert McNamara asked Evelyn: 'Can't we ask the messenger who brought the letter?'" At the stricken look on her face, he exclaimed: "Don't tell me there's a flying saucer on the White House lawn!"

CUTE LITTLE DART

The White House secretary mutely opened the door and motioned to Caroline. The little moppet rode into the room on her tricycle, and JFK found himself muttering: "How many times have I told you not to ride that thing that Republican Representative Bill Ayres gave you?"

Webb, kneeling at her feet, said beseechingly, "Nice Caroline. Tell Uncle Jimmy where you found the letter."

Seven shaken men finally coaxed the information that the letter had not been exactly lying loose in the sandbox. It had been rolled in the cutest little plastic dart, and something was whirling on one end. Caroline's kindergarten mates were trying their skate keys on it, to see if they could wind it up to fly.

Recovering the "toy" from the fearful children, by promising to let them boo the next state visitor on the White House lawn, the greatest minds of the nation gathered to study the gadget.

The rest of the story will someday find its way into the history books. The President scrawled a note asking how Mr. Mercury could write English, and where he lived.

No sooner had he rolled it into the dart and snapped the clasp than it sailed out through the fireplace.

A few days later, Secret Service men found the following vice men found the fowling reply caught in the blade of the President's helicopter: "We broke your code, which required no particular vigar. I live on Mercury, naturally. Now, will you kindly move your satellite? You Earth people are simply ruining our weather."

Pope to Audience: Prepare for Lent

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII, at the biggest general audience he has granted since his illness last year, Wednesday appealed to Roman Catholics to prepare for the forthcoming Lenten days of spiritual retreat.

Lent, a pre-Easter period of prayer and fasting, starts Feb. 27. The 61-year-old Roman Catholic ruler told 5,000 persons in the Hall of Benedictions that rest and diversion were prizes for hard work, but that life must not be spent only in amusement.

'Only Merger Will Aid EAL'

Airline Faces Financial 'Chaos,' CAB Told

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Eastern Air Lines told the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) yesterday that it faces financial chaos if its proposed merger with American Airlines is not approved.

At the final round of oral arguments before the CAB on the merger of the nation's second and fourth largest airlines, Eastern lawyers said consolidation with American was "the only logical solution to the grave problems" Eastern faces.

The attorneys told the CAB the airline had lost more than $55 million in the past 37 months and is "without hope."

American's attorneys denied that the size of the merged line would stifle competition and wreck smaller airlines. They contended that most of the smaller carriers are making more money than the so-called "big four."

American also denied that the merger would violate antitrust laws. It said they do not apply to a regulated industry like the airlines.

On the opposition side yesterday, lawyers for six smaller airlines told the CAB that approval of the merger could lead to nationalization of the air carrier industry.

FREED BY FIDEL—Robert Morton Geddes, 31, a British citizen whose American wife and daughter live in Eugene, Ore., arrives in Mexico City this week after his release from a Cuban prison. A former businessman in Mexico and Cuba, Geddes was sentenced to 30 years in prison as a subversive in 1961.

State Chick Hatcheries Produce 1.17 Million

LANSING (AP) — The Federal State Crop Reporting Service says commercial hatcheries in Michigan produced 1.17 million chicks during January.

The service said this was 70,000 more than in the same month last year, but 7 per cent below the five-year January average.

One third of the electric bill is for lights, and the other two-thirds is for electrical appliances, a recent survey shows.

Editor Tests Inspectors at Post Office

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Thirty-five envelopes bearing the word "pornography" in large block letters on the outside were mailed recently in the Albany area. Eleven were delivered, the Albany Times-Union reported yesterday.

As an experiment, Hal Kallenburg, assistant chief editor of the Times-Union, mailed the envelopes to three employees of the newspaper's editorial department.

Although it is illegal to send pornography through the mail, Kallenburg reasoned that the word "pornography" itself is not pornographic.

He said 17 letters were seized by postal inspectors. The addressees were called to the post office and were asked to open the envelopes in the presence of the inspectors. The envelopes held blank paper.

The seven envelopes not accounted for presumably are in the dead-letter office.

Britain Is Losing Top Research Men

LONDON (AP) — A top-level group of British scientists said in a report published Wednesday night that emigration — especially to the United States — is draining Britain of its best scientific brains and hampering research.

The group said the United States is drawing off nearly 50 per cent of the highly qualified personnel who annually leave Britain for more money and better living.

The report, based on a 10-year survey, said 1,539 holders of British Ph.D. degrees emigrated in the decade 1952-61.

Old Men Rule Europe, Yet Young Ideas Flourish

Adenauer and De Gaulle

By TOM A. CULLEN
LONDON (NEA) — While never before younger in its outlook and ideas, Europe today is ruled by men who have one foot in the grave.

This is the great paradox of politics on this side of the Atlantic and it is a major factor in the mounting troubles over membership of the Common market and the role of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Gerontocracy, it is called in some circles, the "rule of ancient men." In order of their seniority they are:

Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, 87; Portugal's Premier Antonio Salazar, 73; France's President Charles de Gaulle, 72; Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Franco, 74; and Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, 69.

All are past the age when they might be expected to lay down the burdens of office. Their durability is perhaps explained when one considers their possible successors.

The gerontocrats appear like giants alongside the pygmies who may replace them.

"Nothing grows in the shade of a tall tree," is a French proverb whose validity is proven by a comparison between de Gaulle and the two premiers who have served him. Michel Debre and George Pompidou.

In 1963, de Gaulle casts a longer shadow over Europe than ever before.

Domestically, he has dealt his enemies, the old-line politicians, a mortal blow by securing the first absolute parliamentary majority in the history of the French Republic.

HAITI CLOSE-UP — This map points out the narrow 50-mile passage that separates the Communist-dominated Cuba from Haiti. Observers are expecting political turmoil in Haiti this spring which could lead to U.S. action to prevent a Castro-like regime from taking over.

believe that he favors Prince Carlos, the grandson of Spain's last Bourbon king.

But when Franco goes the political chaos may be so great as to sweep all — Falangists, monarchists, Catholic traditionalists — with it.

In 1962 representative democracy took a bad beating in Europe, in the eyes of many observers. It remains to be seen whether this trend continues.

Can France, for example evolve a two party system similar to the ones which work in the United States and Britain?

A return to the multiparty system is out of the question, but by wiping out the old parties of the extreme right and many of those near the center, de Gaulle also created the classic conditions for the formation of a "popular front" between Socialists and Communists to oppose the Gaullists.

In Germany the arrest of the publisher and four top executives of the news magazine "Der Spiegel" was widely regarded as a black eye for democracy.

It caused some observers to draw comparisons with Hitler's regime.

In Italy, Amintore Fanfani's Christian Democrats have been living cheek by jowl in uneasy coalition with the left-wing Socialists.

This strange deal has now come apart at the seams. Forthcoming elections may clarify the political situation.

Meanwhile, the Italian Communist Party is the largest side of the Iron Curtain.

BRITISH SITUATION

Only in Britain does representative democracy appear firmly in command.

But here, the democratic process may well lead to a victory in the Labor party. And the Laborites have taken a party stand against entry into EEC.

This may give the electorate a clear party division on the question, but most realistic observers feel Britain really has no choice as to entry.

Either this nation of 53 million people is allowed to play a new power role inside a united Europe, or she will stagnate in economic backwaters outside Europe.

In the latter case, her voice in international affairs might carry no more weight than that of Switzerland or Sweden.

For the rest of Europe the decision is just as important. Rejection of Britain would mark the emergence of a closed, restrictive Europe with an anti-British, protectionist outlook.

What of Western Europe's ability to defend herself? Here again the 1963 picture is one of disarray.

Neither France nor Britain has fulfilled its NATO commitments. The British Army of the Rhine is under strength.

De Gaulle has refused to return to NATO the two divisions that he withdrew for use in the Algerian war. He will not allow the U.S. to store nuclear weapons on French soil.

More ominous still, there is no agreement between the United States and its European allies as to relevant political policies and military strategy for the defense of Europe.

European leaders appear to have drawn the wrong lessons from the Cuban crisis. Above all, they have failed to realize that operational control of nuclear weapons cannot be shared.

A British defense expert explained it thus to me: "There are now only two nuclear heavyweights in the ring, the United States and Soviet Russia. But the politicians act as though it were one of those phony three-a-side fights that you see on television."

The Nassau decision to substitute Polaris subs for the Skybolt missile was greeted by catcalls here in Britain.

America was immediately accused of selling her Atlantic partner down the river.

De Gaulle is going ahead with his plans to give France an independent nuclear deterrent, although the cost will be astronomical.

FRENCH REVOLUTION

This year marks the decisive stage in de Gaulle's program to revolutionize France's defenses.

At some time during the next 12 months, the French Air Force will begin to take delivery of the 50 Mirage IV supersonic bombers, each equipped with two atom bombs.

The bombs may be of relatively low yield, but the yield is sufficient to boost French egos. With America's European allies pulling each in a different direction, President Kennedy's decision to exert strong leadership even at the cost of America being less well loved is welcomed in responsible quarters here.

Answering charges of "arrogance" that have been leveled against President Kennedy, The Times of London pictures him as a leader who is "looking ahead to a genuine partnership with a united Europe sharing burdens and responsibilities."

It looks, and is, an unequal partnership at present because the distribution of power is unequal," the Times editorial continues.

"The United States is only just beginning to shed its role as sole banker and defender of the western world."

"The West has also just reached an awkward phase in which national policies and national defense systems are becoming out-of-date while common policies are still out of reach."

It may take a new—and young—generation of leaders to bring those common policies into reach and reality.

Whatever Prune Whip You Like Must Be Here

The following note came in with the recipe. Many readers may be as happy to see the first recipe for Old Fashioned Prune Whip as your food editor was.

To the Editor:

Over the past several years we have introduced any number of new and exciting prune dishes, ranging from relishes, salads and entrees through elaborate party desserts. Happily for us, editors have passed these along to their readers and readers have tried them, enjoyed them — and are frank in telling us so. Although new recipes are popular, there are certain old favorites, for which we receive a steady stream of requests and queries.

People who love your prune dishes but do you have a good prune whip? Prune whip... simple, homey and old fashioned... is a favorite that apparently refuses to budge from top place regardless of new dishes coming along. So our answer is... yes, we have a recipe for a good prune whip. In fact, we have five. And here they are for all lovers of prune whip:

The simplest of them all—OLD FASHIONED PRUNE WHIP—the kind that mother used to make.

1 pound—prunes, plumped* and pitted
4 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 to 1/2 cup sugar
Juice and grated rind 1/2 small lemon
1/2 cup chopped walnuts or pecans (optional)

Finely chop prunes, or mince in blender. Beat egg whites with salt until foamy; add sugar about 2 tablespoons at a time while continuing to beat. When meringue stands in firm moist peaks, fold in prunes, lemon juice and rind, and nuts if used. Heap in sherberts and chill to serve. Makes 6 servings.

*Easy way to plump prunes is to soak them overnight in cold water—one quart water to one pound prunes.

Chilled... Rich... Delectable

CREAMY PRUNE WHIP
1 pound prunes
1 quart water
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/4 cup confectioners sugar
1 cup heavy cream

Cover prunes with water; soak overnight. Finely chop prunes, or put through coarse sieve to make 1 1/2 cups prune pulp. Add lemon rind. Stir sugar in cream and let stand in refrigerator about 15 minutes; then whip until stiff. Fold prunes into whipped cream and spoon into sherberts. Chill and serve very cold. Makes 4-5 servings.

A top-range froth of a whip
PRUNE WHIP WITH CUSTARD SAUCE

3 egg whites
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup finely chopped plumped prunes
Custard Sauce
Place in top of double boiler egg whites, sugar, lemon rind, lemon juice, water and salt. Cook over boiling water, beating constantly with rotary beater until light and fluffy and until mixture stands up in soft peaks (about 4-7 minutes). Remove from heat; fold in prunes.

Serve with custard sauce or

Apples, Cabbage
Cook Together

This combination of vegetable and fruit tastes especially good with pork.

Skillet Cabbage and Apples
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 quart thinly shredded cabbage (firmly packed)
2 to 4 tablespoons light brown sugar
2 tablespoons water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon white pepper
2 McIntosh apples (unpared, cored, each cut into 16 wedges)

Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet; add cabbage; sprinkle with brown sugar, lemon juice, water, salt and pepper. Arrange apples over top.

Cover and cook gently until cabbage wilts—about 5 minutes or so. Mix carefully and cook uncovered until apples are transparent. Increase heat if necessary to evaporate liquid. Makes 4 servings.

whipped cream. Makes 6-8 servings.

Custard Sauce
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 egg yolks
1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt; gradually add milk. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Beat egg yolks; add hot milk mixture. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and coats spoon. Cool. Add vanilla and almond extracts. Makes 6-8 servings.

Serve this one warm straight from the oven.

BAKED PRUNE-APPLE WHIP
1 cup plumped finely chopped prunes
1 cup canned apple sauce
2 tablespoons grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Dash salt
1/4 teaspoon mace
4 egg whites

1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 cup sugar

Combine prunes, apple sauce, lemon rind and juice, salt and mace. Beat egg whites until foamy; add cream of tartar and beat until stiff. Gradually add sugar, beating constantly until stiff. Fold in fruit mixture. Pour into 2 quart greased casserole.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees, 20 to 30 minutes, or until set. If desired, serve warm or cold, with custard sauce.

A toasted meringue tops this or in blender. Measure 1/2 cup of prune pulp. Add sugar and cinnamon. Chill. Whip chilled milk until stiff and will hold a peak. Add lemon juice and whip to blend. Lightly and thoroughly fold into prune pulp. Turn into a 6"x9"x2" or an 8" round baking dish. Spread evenly.

PRUNE MERINGUE WHIP
1/2 pound prunes, plumped and pitted
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup evaporated milk, chilled
1/2 cup egg whites
1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/4 cup sugar

Put prunes through coarse sieve over prune whip being careful to seal edges.

Brown quickly under broiler. Makes 6 servings.

Sweet and Spicy Desserts Are Made With Cereals

Sugar and spice are but two familiar ingredients of the most tempting desserts. Combined with an artful selection from pantry and refrigerator, the possibilities are endless.

One of them is Choco-Banana Bars, unusual brownies that need no accompaniment to be a superbly sufficient dessert. These rich, subtly cinnamon-spiced cookies complement chocolate with the flavor and moistness of bananas and nutlike whole bran cereal. A velvety chocolate frosting gives the bars a final touch of elegance.

Less spectacular but equally welcome on a dessert menu are Raisin Spice Drops. Made with a blend of spices, brown sugar and buttermilk, the cookies employ wheat flakes to give an old-time crunchiness. Tuck a supply of these cookies into family lunch boxes, and keep some on hand in the cookie jar for after-school snackers.

Use some of the handsome, plaid bathhouse rhubarb for Rhubarb Sour Cream Crunch. Serve in squares, this baked dessert combines a spicy corn flake crust with a tart and creamy filling.

Choco-Banana Bars
1 cup (6-oz. pkg.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 cup sifted flour

1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
3/4 cup soft butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup mashed fully ripe bananas (3 medium)
1 egg
1/4 cup milk
1 cup whole bran cereal
1 cup chopped nuts

Melt chocolate over hot but not boiling water; cool. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and cinnamon. Combine butter, sugar, bananas, egg, milk, whole bran cereal and chocolate; beat until well-blended. Add sifted dry ingredients and nuts; beat until well-combined.

Spread mixture in greased and floured 13x9-inch pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 25 minutes. Cool. Frost with Chocolate Velvet Frosting. Cut into bars 2x1 1/2 inches. Yield: 32 bars, 2x1 1/2 inches.

Chocolate Velvet Frosting
1 cup (6-oz. pkg.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar

1/4 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
Melt chocolate with shortening over hot but not boiling water. Remove from heat. Stir in sugar, milk, salt and vanilla; beat until smooth. Spread over cooled Choco-Banana Bars.

Raisin Spice Drops
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1 cup soft butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs
1/4 cup buttermilk or sour milk
2 cups whole wheat flakes
1/2 cup seedless raisins

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Blend butter and sugar; add eggs and beat well. Stir in buttermilk. Add sifted dry ingredients together with whole wheat flakes and raisins; mix well. Drop by tablespoons onto ungreased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 11 minutes.

Rhubarb-Sour Cream Crunch
4 cups corn flakes or 1 cup packaged corn flake crumbs
1 cup sifted flour
1/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed

1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
1 egg
1 cup sour cream
1 1/4 cups granulated sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
3 cups cut rhubarb

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine corn flake crumbs, flour, brown sugar, cinnamon and butter; mix well. Press half of crumb mixture to 9x9-inch pan, reserving remaining crumb mixture for topping. Beat egg slightly; combine with sour cream. Mix together sugar, cornstarch and cinnamon. Stir into sour cream mixture together with rhubarb. Spread over crumb crust. Sprinkle with remaining crumb mixture. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) about 1 hour or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Serve warm or cool. Cut into squares. Yield: 9 servings.

Food News Is Good; Meat Prices Are Down

Larger supplies and slightly lower prices sum up meat prospects for the weeks ahead says the Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Marketings of grain fattened cattle are expected to be 4 to 6 per cent above a year ago during late February and March.

At the same time, pork supplies will be increasing as heavy market movement of 1962 fall crop pigs gets under way. Broiler supplies will be somewhat larger than last year during this period. This should add up to slightly lower average prices on meats and poultry. . . plus store specials on some beef and pork cuts each week.

During the past week farmers marketed heavier supplies of beef and pork, and wholesale prices lowered. Chicago prices for Choice grade steers were as much as $5 per hundred less than last November, and live pork prices were the lowest in 2 1/2 years. Shoppers will find most stores giving special emphasis this week to rib steaks and roasts of beef, beef chuck, pork shoulder roast, ham and spareribs.

Rain and cold weather have hindered shipping of fresh produce from winter production areas, but shoppers will hardly notice. The supply of some fresh vegetables is increasing.

Many states are shipping carrots and prices are lower. The supplies of green beans, summer squash, sweet potatoes, radishes, green onions and broccoli are improving. Plenty of head lettuce is arriving for winter salad-making.

FROM CARIBBEAN
Some crops of tender vegetables are just finishing, and others are just beginning. This transition period is temporary, but for a short time there will be lighter supplies of green peppers, cucumbers and tomatoes. Did you know that most of the cucumbers now being sold arrived from the Bahamas and Haiti, and some of the green peppers were grown in Mexico?

Remaining supplies of canned vegetables are larger than a year ago. Supplies of canned sweet corn, tomato juice, most tomato products, tomatoes, green snap beans, peas, and pumpkin and squash are larger than a year ago. Watch for these to supplement the family's fresh vegetable needs.

Why not check citrus fruits before you buy? Select fruits heavy for their size. This is the best guide to the amount of juice inside the skin. Some fruit is light weight and puffy as a result of the December Florida freeze. Lighter production is the reason why California navel oranges have increased in price.

CA APPLES
Controlled atmosphere apples are of good quality, crisp, and crunchy. However, once a storage room is opened, the apples must be kept cool to hold their flavor and crispness. Buy apples in amounts to be used quickly, and store in the refrigerator until ready to use.

Need other fruits for this week's shopping list? Then review prices and quality of bananas, and pears with Michigan's apples and red tart cherries. These are all of comparable price, and each can be used in many ways. Now that shipping has been resumed, banana supplies are getting back to normal, and prices are about the same as a year ago.

Baking a Cake Is Easiest Done Right

If your kitchen counter space is limited and you like to bake, get in the habit of measuring and sifting dry ingredients as the first step in your baking. Then you can put away the containers holding the dry ingredients and have free counter space for the rest of the procedure.

It's a good idea to line the bottom of cake pans with waxed paper; this way you'll have no trouble in removing the cake. If there's no waxed paper in the house, use brown paper.

Always put a cake in the center of the oven, and it's usually best to let it bake without any other food in the oven.

If a cake has a sugary crust, there may be too much sugar or leavening in the recipe, or both; or the batter may have been improperly mixed.

Ham Stuffing

Stuffed cabbage rolls are most often made with a ground beef and rice filling. But they may also be stuffed with a ground cooked ham and bread crumbs mixture; if you use this combination moisten it with a little white sauce and season with onion and parsley.

Tacos Made by Modern Method

If you want something decidedly different in the way of a sandwich, try Tacos. These delicious Mexican sandwiches consist of corn tortillas folded around a chili filling.

Although they are deep fried down Mexico way, that isn't really necessary with this new method of making them. Instead, you butter the tortillas on both sides, wrap them in quilted cooking foil and steam-bake them in the oven. When you add the chili afterward, the hot tortillas cool enough to become crisp and crunchy around the edges.

These Tacos can be made in a jiffy since the corn tortillas come in a package and the chili comes in a can. Simply heat the canned chili with beef — with or without beans, as you wish — in a saucepan. Then spoon the chili onto a buttered hot tortilla and sprinkle with Cheddar cheese and shredded lettuce.

Quickly fold the tortilla and serve. If you crumple the quilted foil around the base of each Taco, it will hold its folded shape and you may then serve it in the foil holder.

Quick Mexican Tacos
1 package (1 doz.) corn tortillas
6 tablespoons butter (about)
1 (1 lb.) can chili with beef
2 cups (1/2 lb.) Cheddar cheese, shredded

Finely shredded lettuce
Quilted cooking foil

Cut 12 sheets of quilted cooking foil, each about 8x14 inches. Spread tortillas lightly on both sides with soft butter. Place each one on a sheet of quilted foil, close foil tightly around tortilla. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 15 minutes.

Meantime, turn chili into saucepan and heat thoroughly. Then open each tortilla packet and spoon chili into center. Sprinkle each taco with cheese and lettuce. Fold in half to close loosely. Form the quilted foil into a holder as directed above. Serve immediately. Makes 12 tacos.

QUICK MEXICAN TACOS — Tacos are quick and easy to make this new way. Instead of deep fat-frying them, the tortillas are buttered, wrapped in quilted cooking foil and steam-baked in the oven. Then the hot chili, shredded cheese and lettuce added.

Plan Cherry Dishes to Honor George

Airy Dessert a Pretty Pink

Sour, juicy, bright red cherries are an all-time favorite for pies, tarts, sauces, cakes, and preserving of canning for future use. The tart, tangy taste of cherry cobbler, fritters, sauce, salads, bread, even soup, can perk up any mid-winter meal.

At breakfast time, cherries can brighten a bowl of cereal or a plate of pancakes or waffles. Cherry sauce makes a tasty change on ham, pork, turkey, or chicken, too. Or top off a plain dessert with this bright fruit.

Cherry Marlow

Drain red tart cherries, reserving liquid. Measure out 3 cups cherries and set aside.

Heat 2 cups cherry juice (if necessary, add enough water to measure 2 cups), bring to a boil. Add 1½ pounds marshmallows, cover pan tightly, remove from heat, and allow marshmallows to soften about 5 minutes. Remove cover and stir until marshmallows are completely melted.

Place pan into larger ice-filled vessel and beat mixture until it thickens. Add cherries and stir well. Whip 2 cups whipping cream and fold into cherry mixture. Sprinkle 1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs over bottom of oblong pan, add cherry mixture and top with another cup of crumbs. Chill about 4 hours. Serve in squares.

Apple Waffles Are Different and Delicious

These waffles have fine flavor; if any are leftover they may be reheated in a toaster.

Apple-Nut Waffles

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
3 eggs (separated)
1½ cups milk
5 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted)
1½ cups pared and finely diced yellow delicious apples
½ cup finely chopped walnuts
Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Beat egg yolks until pale yellow; add milk and slightly cooled butter and beat to combine. Add egg yolk mixture to sifted dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Mix in apple and walnuts.

With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff enough to hold straight peaks; fold into batter. Spoon onto hot waffle iron and bake until golden brown. Serve hot with butter and maple syrup.

There's nothing like using a cherry recipe to celebrate Washington's birthday. Here are several choice ones to try this year.

CHERRY-NUT BREAD (Low-Calorie)

2 cups biscuit mix
2½ cups maraschino cherries, drained and chopped
¼ cup chopped walnuts
1½ cups skim milk
2 tablespoons Sucaryl solution
1 egg, well beaten
In large bowl, combine biscuit mix, cherries and nuts. Combine remaining ingredients; add to dry ingredients all at once, beating well. Pour into 2 nut bread pans. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 to 50 minutes. Makes 24 slices. Each slice contains 65 CALORIES; 2 grams protein; 2.5 grams fat; 9.5 grams sugar, each slice would contain 97 carbohydrate. Plain Cake Becomes Washington Pie

When is a cake not a cake? When it's a pie. And what a pie, to be sure. Here's a Boston Cream Pie that deserves to be warm more often on your table. It is a versatile dessert. With slight changes it becomes Martha Washington Pie.

Boston Cream Pie is a delicate cake, with a cream custard filling and topped with soft glossy frosting. You can dust with confectioners' sugar through a fancy paper doily to produce an intricate pattern, rather than the chocolate frosting.

To make the Washington pie, layers are often split, filled with jelly and a sprinkling of confectioners' sugar on top.

This famous dessert dates back to Civil War days when Washington, D. C. housewives could not get hard for pies. They made plain cakes, split the layers and filled them with jelly from their cellars. Ever since, the dessert has been called "Washington Pie."

Yellow Layer Cake (For Boston Cream or Washington Pies)

½ cup shortening
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs
2¼ cups cake flour
3½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs and cream well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add vanilla to milk. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately to creamed mixture with milk. Beat until smooth.

Pour into 2 greased and floured 8-inch layer cake pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes or until done. Let cool for about 10 minutes on racks before removing from pans. Cool thoroughly.

Custard Filling

¼ cup sugar
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter
2 eggs, or 4 egg yolks, well beaten

Combine sugar, flour and salt in top of double boiler. Add milk slowly to make a smooth mixture. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add a little of the hot mixture to the eggs, then add eggs to mixture in double boiler and cook for an additional minute or two, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add vanilla. Cool before spreading between layers.

Shiny Chocolate Frosting

1 square chocolate
2 teaspoons butter or margarine

Chocolate Used for Crust

Don't tempt those who are watching calories with Lime Fruit Fluff for it is an irresistible dessert.

Dissolve a 3 oz. package of lime flavored gelatin and ½ cup sugar in 1½ cups hot canned pineapple juice; chill until partially thickened. Fold in a 1 lb. can of drained fruit cocktail and 1 cup heavy cream, whipped.

Carefully spoon fruit mixture over ½ cup chocolate cookie crumbs spread in a 9-inch square cake pan. Sprinkle with additional crumbs; chill until firm. Serve cut into squares.

Almonds Add Crunchiness to Rich Pudding

An Italian named Frangipani, who lived in Paris during the reign of Louis XIII, is credited with originating what came to be known as Frangipane. Cream, herewith adapted to 1963 American tastes in "Crunchy Frangipane Pudding."

Toasted slivered almonds provide the pleasant crunch in this rich pudding that deserves a position of honor on your list of favorite desserts.

Crunchy Frangipane Pudding

¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons cornstarch
2 cups scalded milk
3 eggs
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons macaroon crumbs
¼ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon almond extract
¼ cup toasted slivered almonds

Blend sugar, salt and cornstarch thoroughly. Stir into hot milk, place over boiling water and cook 20 minutes, stirring frequently. Beat eggs well; combine with a little hot mixture, then add to pudding and continue cooking and stirring 3 to 4 minutes longer.

Remove from heat and blend in butter, crumbs and flavorings. Cool, stirring occasionally. Just before serving, stir in part of almonds and sprinkle remainder over top.

Makes 6 servings.

Dark Cherries Enhance a Cobbler

Honor your "king of hearts" on Valentine's Day with a perfectly marvelous cobbler made from canned pitted dark sweet cherries.

Already pitted, these dark little gems are mighty handy to have on the cupboard shelf for use in salads, meat glazes and sauces. And in the dessert category nothing pleases a man more than a healthy portion of cherry cobbler topped with light tender biscuits.

If cream is desired, pass a pitcher of light cream, or top each serving with a small scoop of vanilla ice cream. But whichever way you choose, serve the cobbler warm.

Deep Dish Cherry Cobbler

½ cup firmly-packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cans (1 pound each) pitted dark sweet cherries
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup coarsely chopped nuts
1 cup milk
3 cups prepared biscuit mix
1 tablespoon granulated sugar

In saucepan, mix together brown sugar, tapioca and salt. Drain syrup from cherries into saucepan. Stir and cook over medium heat until mixture thickens and comes to full boil. Stir in cherries, lemon peel, lemon juice and nuts. Bring to boil again.

Turn into 10x10x2-inch baking dish. Add milk and at once to biscuit mix; stir until well mixed. Drop biscuit mixture over cherries, starting at edges and going ward center. Sprinkle with granulated sugar. Bake in 400 degree oven 20 minutes or until browned. Serve with light cream or dairy sour cream, as desired. Makes 6 servings.

Colorful Dip

Prepare frozen breaded shrimp according to package directions. To prepare Coral Dip, combine 1 cup mayonnaise, 1-3 cup chili sauce, 2 tablespoons vinegar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon onion salt and 2 tablespoons sour cream. Serve dip in dunking bowl along with hot or cold french-fried shrimp. Makes 1½ cups sauce.

Soup for a Party

Combine a can each of frozen condensed oyster stew and cream of shrimp soup with 1½ cup cans water and 2 teaspoons Marsala or other sweet dessert wine.

ODDMENT CLEARANCE

at 1/2 off original prices!

The oddments, the broken sizes, the ones-and-twos-of-a-kind, the slow sellers of 1962 that showed up in our inventory . . . now at our Pontiac Mall store for this dramatic clearance. They're all dependable H-H-S quality; most are famous brands. But out they must go, and we've cut prices in half to insure that they do. Better hurry, though—for quantities are limited, and the sale lasts just three days.

Steam Brews for Detroit Olympic 'Pot'

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Rochester high school, a class A school without a swimming pool, has a one-man swimming team.

Today the school has to shuffle its athletic annals, credit eight points to its first-swimming "team," and then mark its won-lost ledger with an 0-1 record for the 1963 season.

Before the week is up the Rochester swimming season may end with an 0-2 record.

The one-man team who will be competing for Rochester for two years more is sophomore, Hugh Wilder, whose blue bathing suit can be spotted easily among the red trunks at all Pontiac Northern meets.

Wilder, who received his early swim training in the warm Mediterranean waters near Beirut, Lebanon eight years ago, when his father was the head librarian at American University there, has worked out daily with the PNH team.

He is probably the first opposing "team" who gets solid vocal support from Northern fans when swimming in the Huskie pool.

BIGGEST BOOSTER
One of the most unhappy persons over the circumstances involving Wilder is actually Hugh's biggest booster, PNH coach Ed Dauw.

Dauw knows that if Hugh had been swimming backstroke for the Huskies this year, he would be unbeaten in the event in 12 dual meets.

It would also mean that PNH would own two victories over Pontiac Central this year instead of one. Wilder swam the event in exhibition in 1:03 which was 3.4 seconds better than the winner, Mike Jenkins of PCH, and the 53-52 loss would have been reversed.

Last night, the schedule called for a dual meet between PNH and Fitzgerald. Instead it was rescheduled as a double-dual with Rochester as the other opponent for Northern.

This was done to allow Wilder to officially compete and attempt to qualify him for the state meet, March 15-16 in East Lansing. The needed qualifying time for the backstroke is 1:02.4.

Wilder won the event in 1:01.7. He also took second in the 50 yard freestyle and this earned him eight points as the Rochester representative. The final score officially must be recorded as PNH 97, Rochester 8.

Now, Hugh must hit the qualifying time once more and he hopes to try it again in another pre-arranged double dual meet when PNH visits Warren Lincoln next Monday, or a few days later at Royal Oak Kimball.

3 YEARS IN AREA

Wilder moved to Rochester three years ago from near Columbus, Ohio, where his dad was assistant librarian at Ohio State after returning from Beirut. Today the elder Wilder is librarian at Oakland University.

After moving to the area, Hugh and older brother Jay had to confine their swimming to the Pontiac YMCA and with the Pontiac Swim Club.

Having received some tutoring from Ford Konno, when the former Olympic star was swimming at Ohio State, Hugh made up his mind then that swimming was his sport.

But his decision, although correct, has been frustrating. "I just itch to get into every meet when Northern swims," he said. "What will hurt more is knowing that he has a 2-year itch ahead of him since there are no pool facilities available at Rochester, ester."

Next week will tell whether he will be able to compete in the state meet at East Lansing.

The odds are he will do it, and Rochester fans will get a chance to go to the MSU pool and cheer on their "one-man swimming team." You can be sure Northern fans will.

Piston Playoff Hopes Hampered by Celtics

By The Associated Press

If the Detroit Pistons don't make the National Basketball Association playoffs this season they can point the finger at the Boston Celtics.

The champion Celtics beat the Pistons Wednesday night for the seventh straight time, this time 117-113.

The defeat was particularly hard to take for the Pistons. Playing on their home court they blew an 18-point lead and saw their edge over San Francisco in the battle for the third and last playoff spot in the Western Division reduced to a thin .004.

NATS WIN

Syracuse whipped Cincinnati 128-100 in the other NBA game scheduled Wednesday and just about sewed up a second-place finish in the Eastern Division. Cincinnati, Syracuse's closest pursuer, is four games back with 14 games to play.

Opening a road trip that sees them play tonight at San Francisco and at Los Angeles Friday and Sunday, the Celtics have behind a 18-point deficit to take an 89-88 lead early in the last quarter.

Detroit went ahead again at 92-89, but finally lost the lead for good on Frank Ramsey's free throw with 2 minutes, 49 seconds left. John Havlicek sparked the comeback with 12 points in the third quarter and finished as Boston's high scorer with 24. Bailey Howell had 25 for Detroit.

Cincinnati, playing at Syracuse, cleaned close until the Nets widened a 49-44 advantage with nine straight points near the end of the first half. The Royals, losing their second straight, didn't threaten again as Larry Costello

DETROIT (UPI)—The Olympic pot boiled vigorously today as Michigan's efforts to keep Detroit as the site for the 1968 Olympic games built up a full head of steam.

Frederick C. Matthaei Sr., who has been touting Detroit as an Olympic site for the past 20 years, returned from a Bahamas vacation yesterday and met in a secret session with Detroit leaders to hash out details for the games.

L. William Seidman, special fiscal aide to Gov. George Romney, came to Detroit today to meet with local officials to workout financial plans for the games.

Romney yesterday told 10 Republican lawmakers at a Lansing breakfast that Michigan "had to have the legislature's support to get the games. It is going to take the right program and bipartisan support to get action. Only the legislature can make a commitment to finance an Olympic stadium success."

STADIUM COST

The stadium, which would be built on the state fairgrounds in Detroit, would cost from $22-$25 million.

Matthaei spent two hours in a closed-door meeting at the city-county building yesterday. He said the reason the meetings were secret was that persons were being discussed. All future meetings, he said, would be public.

After the meeting with the Detroit Olympic Committee, Matthaei said 15 committees had been set up and chairmen and co-chairmen picked from 304 members appointed by Mayor Jerome Cavanaugh.

The committees were aimed at answering every problem that could arise in locating the games here, ranging from finance to immigration.

The names of the committees and chairmen and co-chairmen will be announced Monday, Matthaei said, when the entire groups meet in the city-county building auditorium.

Seidman said in Lansing yesterday that the object of today's meeting was to develop a specific plan to raise the estimated $25 million officials believe will be needed to stage the games.

Detroit, although having once been designated by the U. S. Olympic committee as the United States' choice for the 1968 games, is in danger of losing its right to make a bid to the International Olympic committee in October.

Heavy pressure by Los Angeles and California officials has caused the U.S. Olympic committee to reopen consideration.

Seidman said Romney is anxious for Detroit to win the role of host because of the games' value "in money it would actually bring in and also because of the publicity it would bring the state."

Seidman said Michigan also wants to disprove Los Angeles' inuendo that Michigan is "broke and can't finance the games."

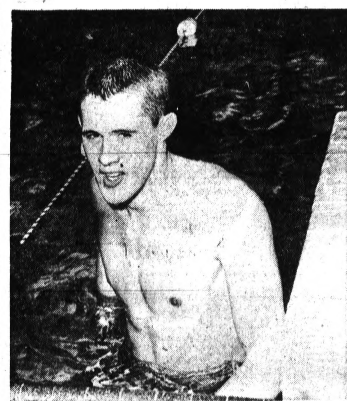

Romney indicated a meeting would be scheduled at a later date with members of both parties in the legislature to work out a plan for financing efforts to improve the state fairgrounds.

BACKSTROKER—Hugh Wilder of Rochester, swimming against Pontiac Northern and Fitzgerald last night, made the qualifying time for the state school meet by winning the backstroke in 1:01.7. Wilder has to compete in a dual meet to be eligible and since Rochester has no official swimming team he tried his qualifying against Pontiac Northern.

ONE MAN TEAM—Rochester took eight points in a swimming meet against Pontiac Northern last night even though the school does not have a pool or a swimming team. Hugh Wilder is Rochester's "team" and he won the backstroke in 1:01.7 and placed second in the 50 yard freestyle. (See Press Box column).

Fitzgerald Wins, 63-42

PNH Tankers Lose and Look Ahead

This may be the time for Pontiac Northern to be looking ahead to the 1963-64 swimming season, a pool record of 254.95 points.

The Huskies ended their home season last night on a losing note in a North Suburban Swim League meet, 63-42 to Fitzgerald.

PNH actually won one and lost one last night. The meet was rescheduled as a double-dual and Huskies were on record as having beaten Rochester, 97-8.

Hugh Wilder, attempting to qualify for the state meet, represented Rochester and won the backstroke and took second in the 50 yard freestyle to account for the eight points.

Against Fitzgerald, the Huskies were not as fortunate. The Spartans, 12-3 for the season, had too much depth.

Fitzgerald won the first eight events before Skip Ervin took the 400 freestyle, followed by Carl Cascaddan's win in the breaststroke and the freestyle relay teams' triumph in 1:42.3.

Fitzgerald's classy diver, Mike Reynolds, a reject from the basketball team who now appears to be the top contender for the

2nd 'Fixer' Sentenced

NEW YORK (AP)—Another figure in the college basketball scandal of two years ago has been sentenced to prison.

Joseph Green, a 37-year-old New Yorker, was sentenced Wednesday to 6 to 7 years by State Supreme Court Justice Joseph A. Sarafite. Green had pleaded guilty to two counts of bribery involving payment of $2,000 to Fred Portney, a Columbia University player, to share points in two games during the 1960-61 season.

Justice Sarafite sentenced Green to 3 to 3½ years on each count and ordered them to be served consecutively. Jack Molinaro, 30, described as a "master fixer," was sentenced to 15 to 15½ years on Feb. 11. He has appealed.

At Gainesville, Fla., it was announced that Aaron Wagnan, 29, another New Yorker, would start

Reeves Leads in Waterford

Class B Cagers Hold Slight Lead in Race

Reeves Service took a half-gale lead in the Waterford Township recreation basketball Class B league last night but could lose it tonight.

The service squad pinned a 56-40 defeat on Drayton Inn, eliminating the defending champions from the race. Tim's Barber Shop swamped winless Woodcum Drilling, 82-47.

Reeves grabbed the lead in the second quarter.

Drayton's Bill York led all scorers with 19.

Tim's had 21-point performances from Jim Kennedy and Bob Smith, and an 18-point effort by Tim Oliver. Don Taylor tallied 17 for Woodcum.

Tonight at Crarry Junior High School, O'Neil Realty can tie Reeves by defeating Don Nicholich at 7:15. Lakeland Pharmacy will have its last chance to stay alive in the Class A race when it meets Spencer Floors at 8:30.

Indoor Mile Mark to Go

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Tom O'Hara of Chicago Loyola will be favored to crack the indoor dirt track mile mark in the 37th Central Collegiate Conference indoor track championships Saturday.

O'Hara was timed in 3 minutes, 39.2 seconds in finishing second to Jim Beatty in the recent Fox River Mile indoors at the New York A.C. meet.

Donaldson, Norvell to Swim Against 'M'

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
Two of Pontiac Central's most outstanding swimming products, Bruce Norvell and Ben Donaldson, make their first collegiate appearance before the "home folks" Saturday afternoon when the NCAA champion Ohio State visits Michigan.

Both sophomores at OSU, Donaldson has been swimming in long distance freestyle events and the butterfly, while Norvell has been competing in the breaststroke.

In an earlier meet this season, against Minnesota, Norvell pulled a surprise by upsetting 1962 NCAA champion in the breaststroke Virgil Luken. His time was 2:21.4.

The Buckeyes lost the meet however, 56-49, even though Donaldson was also a winner in the 500 freestyle in 5:18.2.

The power in Big Ten swimming is Indiana, but the Gophers have been the big surprise. After defeating Ohio State, the Gophers then defeated Michigan, 54-51.

NCAA CHAMPS
Since Indiana was not eligible for NCAA competition because of football probation restrictions imposed on the Hoosiers, it left the way clear for the Buckeyes to walk off with the NCAA title in 1962.

In defeating Michigan State last week, 63-42, Ohio State won nine events, including Norvell's breaststroke victory over former Birmingham University swimmer Bill Driver in 2:20.0.

Lee Driver, brother of Bill, is a member of the Spartan freshman swimming team, and it was he who bettered Norvell's state breaststroke mark in the 1952 state meet.

Donaldson was ill but still took third against MSU in the 200 free against the Wolverines Saturday night.

The meet should be close with OSU a clear cut choice in the diving with Lou Vitucci and Juan Botella although the Wolverines have diving strength with Peter Lantz, Jim Cassiday of Hull, Englund, and Ed Boothman, former all-state, all-county star from Royal Oak Kimball.

Another local swimmer competing in the meet will be Jeff Longstrech, who could go against Donaldson in the butterfly, although it is probable that he will swim in the individual medley.

A good race may develop in the 100 freestyle between Michigan's Frank Berry and OSU's Jim Plain.

Michigan stands 3-2 in dual meets, having lost to Minnesota and Indiana, while Ohio State is 5-1. The meet in the Wolverines' pool will start at 3:00 p.m.

Judo Classes Offered for 10 Weeks at 'Y'

Men's Judo classes will begin tonight at the Pontiac YMCA and registrations will be accepted until the Feb. 28th class session.

A basic and advanced course is offered. The basic course will start at 7:00 p.m. and the advanced class at 8:45 p.m. Address details can be obtained by calling the YMCA, FE 5-6116.

NHL President Shelves Young for 3 Games

Red Wings Call Up LaFreniere to Sub for Left Wing

DETROIT (UPI)—Detroit Red Wing "bad boy" Howie Young, suspended from the next three games by National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell, will be replaced temporarily by another penalty-prone defenseman.

Detroit manager-coach Sid Abel said yesterday he will call Roger LaFreniere up from Pittsburgh to fill in for Young.

The 29-year-old LaFreniere has picked up 99 penalty minutes in 49 games this season—fourth highest in the American Hockey League.

He will replace Young in the Red Wing lineup here tonight against the league-leading Chicago Black Hawks. LaFreniere also will skate against the Hawks and the New York Rangers in weekend games.

Young may get a chance to play again next Tuesday, Abel said, depending on his "reform" and LaFreniere's performance.

FINED ALSO
Campbell suspended Young for his antics last Sunday night, when he picked up 27 minutes of penalties against the Montreal Canadiens and was fined $100 and tossed out of the game.

The penalties gave Young a total of 210 minutes to set a new NHL season record.

Abel called the three-day suspension "a very severe penalty."

But Campbell said, "there is no possible excuse for Young's actions. The penalties were imposed for obvious reasons."

Young attempted to get at the referee in an apparent effort to attack him. This type of conduct cannot and will not be tolerated."

Campbell said he decided to suspend Young because "any additional fine in the case would be futile."

Young escaped censure from Abel for pulling the second on-ice act of the season Tuesday, when he failed to show up for practice. Earlier this season, he missed several practice sessions when he failed to return here after a weekend game at Chicago.

Abel maintained that NFL referee Frank Udvari, who called the record-setting penalties against Young, was "out to get" the Detroit defenseman all season.

The Red Wings also returned coach Ed Joyal yesterday to Pittsburgh. He joined Detroit last month and played 12 games, scoring one goal and six assists.

Assault Made on Daytona 500 Records

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—If sheer speed is going to win Sunday's $100,000 Daytona 500 stock car race, young John Rutherford must be given a good chance of taking home the $23,000 top money.

Rutherford, leading a fantastic assault on all of Daytona International Speedway's track records, still must prove himself as a driver in one of racing's toughest fields. But for one day, at least, he holds the track qualifying record of 165.183 miles per hour.

The 24-year-old Texas bachelor, who has yet to run in late model competition on a paved track, set the mark in his 1963 Chevrolet Wednesday at the start of a day that saw the 2.5-mile high banked tri-oval take its worst scorching since it was opened in 1959.

FOUR MARKS

Four drivers, all of them veterans of the late model and modified circuits, shattered the track's qualifying record for modified (older models with new, high-powered engines) cars.

Winding up with the best mark among these was Bobby Johns of Miami, whose 194.283 m.p.h. in a 1967 Chevrolet broke the old record of 155.911 set last year by Frank Secrist of Oildale, Calif.

The modifieds will run in a 250-mile here Saturday, with prize money totaling $23,000 at stake.

Rutherford, whose previous experience has been limited to sprint cars and modified and sportsman cars in Texas, turned one lap at 165.228 m.p.h. and on the second lap of the 5-mile run was in with a 165.137.

The old qualifying mark of 163.418 was set here last week by Robert (Junior) Johnson of Ronda, N.C., who, like Rutherford, drives a Chevrolet.

Johnson rolled his Chevy onto the track and was clocked at 166.082 on one lap.

But even that effort fell a bit short of one turned in by Rutherford on Monday, when he was clocked at 166.112.

Rutherford says he will drive at Indianapolis this year in a car driven last year by Roger McCluskey.

FRIDAY FIELD

Rutherford's mark puts him into Friday's field for two 100-mile races that will determine starting positions for Sunday's 500-mile.

Glenn (Fireball) Roberts of Daytona and Fred Lorenzen of Charlotte, N.C., already have won the pole positions for that race.

Roger Ward, the 1962 Indianapolis winner, was among drivers qualifying for the 100-milers Wednesday. Driving the same

UPS AND DOWNS—Forbes Kennedy of the Boston Bruins sails over Camille Henry of the New York Rangers after Henry's shot was blocked in their game last night in New York.

Partly visible behind them is Boston goalie Ed Johnston who deflected the puck. The game ended in a 3-3 tie.

Leafs Back in NHL Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Toronto Maple Leafs, triggered by a pair of veteran performers, have regained second place in the National Hockey League and are right back in the thick of the race.

The Leafs edged Montreal 2-1 Wednesday night and dropped the Canadiens into third place. Toronto is one point ahead of Montreal and trails the league-leading Chicago Black Hawks by three points.

In the only other game of the night, the Boston Bruins and the New York Rangers, battling for fifth place, played a 3-3 tie. Bob Pulford, returning to his old center position, and Johnny Bower, taking over the goal-tending job from Don Simmons, were instrumental in the Leafs' key victory. Pulford scored both Toronto goals and Bower, who made 36 saves, was beaten just once by Dickie Moore.

Rookie Bob Leiter's goal late in the third period enabled the Bruins to gain their tie with the Rangers. Wayne Hicks and Tommy Williams were the other Boston scorers while Camille Henry, Vic Hadfield and Andy Bathgate scored for New York.

Murray Oliver of the Bruins picked up one assist, giving him 59 points and tying him with linemate Johnny Bucyk for the league's individual scoring lead.

Race Track Owner Dies
TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Frank Vessels Sr., owner of the world's largest quarterhorse race track, died at a Tulsa hotel Wednesday, apparently of a heart attack.

Vessels, 64, was chairman of the board of Los Alamitos Race Course near Long Beach, Calif., and owner of the world's largest quarterhorse ranch, also at Los Alamitos.

Titans Upset NIT-Bound 5

DETROIT (AP)—Sophomore forward Terry Page tossed in a pair of free throws in the final minute to give the University of Detroit an upset 55-54 decision over NIT-bound Canisius College last night.

Canisius, which built up a 10-point lead in the early stages of the game, saw it dwindle to a 32-29 margin at halftime.

Detroit, with John Watson showing the way, outscored the visitors 18-5 in the first 12 minutes of the second half to take a commanding 49-37 lead.

Unruly Spectators? French Eliminate 'Em

PARIS (AP)—Officials of the French Basketball Federation have found a foolproof method of controlling spectators at basketball games. They eliminated 'em.

When Charleville beat Bagnolet 74-73 recently, the players, and officials were booed and threatened by an unruly crowd. As a result, the federation ordered Charleville, the home team, to play its next four games in private.

Midland Brings Poor Record, Good Team to PCH Friday

Kettering Gets Last League Chance

Kettering could very well make out better than Custer did at the Little Bighorn when they lost their last game in the Tri-County basketball race Friday night. The Captains will have to come

The Captains and Bulldogs will be trying to keep one eye peeled toward Laper where Rochester will be trying to keep the Panthers from clinching a first place finish.

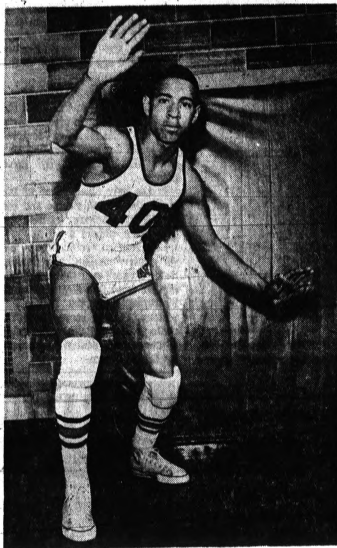

A Laper (5-1) victory would assure the Panthers of at least a share of the crown. If this happens, and Romeo (3-3) dumps Kettering (4-2), Laper will be outright champ.

Imley City (4-1) ends its South Central play at home against Oxford (2-2) needing a win to clinch a tie for the championship. North Branch plays at winless Millington.

OXFORD'S KEY ROLE
This is a "must" game for the Spartans. They have to win or there is a good chance North Branch will make off with the crown. North Branch (3-1) is expected to hand Millington its 29th straight loss.

If Oxford can beat Imley and then upset North Branch at home next week, a losing season would be turned into a happy one. It would mean the three teams would tie for the championship.

CHIEF DRIVER — Considered the best driver on the team and one of the better defensive players in the county, Pontiac Central's Gerald Henry has been instrumental in the eight-game winning streak by the Chiefs. Henry had 17 points at Midland when PCH started its streak early in January and Friday night the Chiefs have a home rematch with the Chemics.

Southwest Quintet Wins Rec Game to Clinch Tie

Southwest Community Club, the clubmen with an 88-80 double overtime win over Colonial Lumber, the B League's last place team.

Jo-Jo's remained unbeaten in the Class D loop by winning 79-47, over Victor Point; and The Spartans took a 58-47 win from New Hope.

Jerry Williams' 29 points paced SWCC to its win while Jerome Scherer had 18 for the losers.

Westside's Mike Williams sank a field goal at the buzzer to send its game with Colonial into the second overtime. In all, he had 36 points in the contest while Bill Dunsmuir had 34 for Colonial.

In the Class D games, Cliff Armstrong's 25 markers led Jo-Jo's to its victory; while John Blocher hit 27 in the Spartans' win.

Tonight the only games are a Class C twinnish at Madison JHS, Columbia Avenue Baptist will play Town & Country at 7 p.m. and the Pontiac Police team will tangle with Local 594 at 8:30.

Central Squad Will Play Club With 2-9 Mark

Chiefs Began Streak on Chemics' Court; Foe Seldom Swamped

Pontiac Central coach Art Van Ryzin is not one to take an opponent lightly, particularly when it has a losing record.

He was casting out words of warning yesterday as he discussed Midland, the Chiefs' Friday night Saginaw Valley Conference foe.

However, the PCH squad must have a warm spot for the Chemics since it was on their court almost six weeks ago that the Chiefs began a drive which has carried them to second place in the SVC, eight straight wins and a ninth place ranking in the state's weekly AP Class A poll.

That night, Pontiac brought home a 59-45 victory. The Chemics have only one victory since then and are burdened with a 2-9 league mark.

YOUNG TEAM
"They are a young ball club," Van Ryzin warns. "They play ball control and do not beat themselves too often."

This is borne out in statistics that show Midland has only scored over 60 points once this season, but still managed to come within ten points of beating Saginaw Arthur Hill, seven points of Flint Central, and six and five points of Flint Northern.

It defeated Bay City Handy and BC Central, but lost a one-point return decision to Handy. The Chemics have only been outclassed once in their last seven starts.

Van Ryzin has other worries with the apparent loss of sharp shooting backliner Mel DeWalt for Friday's game. DeWalt has been ill with the flu and the PCH coach is not expecting to use him against Midland.

This means 6-4 Lester Hardman will probably start at a guard slot with 6-3 McKinley Jones moving into the center position again. Gerald Henry, whose 17 markers paced all scorers in the first Chiefs-Midland clash, will team with team captain Ray Sain at forwards.

The other guard will be the fast improving Jesse Hodge. Van Ryzin also indicated that reserve Bill Morgan is ready for increased duty in the backcourt Friday night.

Where Will AAU Meet Be?

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The question is, will the Amateur Athletic Union national track and field meet be held in St. Louis or won't it? And if it isn't, where will it be held? And if it is, who is going to pay for it?

A visit Wednesday by J. B. Haralson, chairman of the track committee for the National AAU, did not clear up the matter, although Haralson did say he would recommend this city as the site. Haralson came to St. Louis to inspect Public Schools Stadium and Francis Field at Washington University. They are the only two possible sites for the meet, which is scheduled for June 21-22.

Junior Editors Quiz on SEA GULLS

QUESTION: Do sea gulls make a nest?

ANSWER: Most of us have seen sea gulls, yet very few of us will ever see a sea gull's nest. This is not because gulls do not build nests, but because they choose inaccessible places for nests, where few enemies can come to rob them of their eggs.

Most gulls love water, being very fond of a fish diet. They like to build in cracks on the rocky faces of cliffs fronting the sea. We illustrate a section of such a cliff in the St. Lawrence River country where Kittiwake sea gulls are shown nesting in company with another sea bird, Brunnich's Murre.

Nests are made of seaweed. Why don't the eggs roll off? Their pointed shape helps, for if the egg does roll, the shape makes it roll in a circle.

There are many such favorite nesting places, where sea birds by the thousands return each year in the breeding season. Such a spot in the west is Isla Raza, an island belonging to Mexico and lying in the Gulf of California.

Not all gulls, however, nest by the sea. California and Ring-billed Gulls, for example, like to nest in colonies along inland lakes; the Laughing Gull (lower picture) prefers marshes.

FOR YOU TO DO: For more on gulls' nesting habits, check the National Geographic Magazine of February 1961, which tells about Isla Raza and June 1948, for the articles "Sea Bird Cities Off Audubon's Labrador."

Get More Requests for Service to Aged

The Family Service of Oakland County reports that applications for service to the aged showed a threefold increase in 1962 over any previous year.

Health was a chief factor in most of the applications, executive director of the agency, Robert J. James noted.

Some 15 per cent of the applicants reported problems with either their children or their marriage, James said. A large number of those, he continued, stemmed from difficulties arising in homes where three generations are living together.

An "Advisory Committee on Services to the Aging" was set up to determine how the agency's interest can be more clearly developed within the community.

It required 12 years to build the Brooklyn bridge.

Area Resident Says He Shot Wife, Man, 26

2 in Critical Condition; Husband Expected to Be Charged

By ROGER SHRIGLEY
A Troy mother and a 26-year-old man are in critical condition today with bullet wounds police said were inflicted by the woman's husband.

Howard W. Mordue, 32, is expected to be charged today with assault with intent to commit murder.

Police said he admitted emptying his revolver into the couple when he found them together in a parked car early this morning.

Mordue fired his 25-caliber revolver six times at his wife Barbara and 26-year-old Nelson Hartman of 105 Cutting Blvd., Troy, according to police.

Five of the bullets reached targets.

Both victims are in critical condition at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak. Mrs. Mordue was hit in the back. Hartman suffered wounds in the left arm, abdomen and leg.

The shooting took place in the parking lot of the Thunderbird Lanes Bowling Alley, 409 W. Maple Road, Troy, shortly after 1 a.m.

Mordue called Troy police on his car telephone after the shooting and waited for them to arrive.

Police found a 45-caliber revolver and additional shells in the glove compartment of his car.

In a statement made today to Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor Robert L. Templin Jr., Mordue said he was informed where his wife was by a private detective he had hired to follow her.

Mordue stated that "family relations had been poor lately," according to Templin.

The prosecutor said Mordue talked with only vague recollection of the actual shooting and said "I shot her . . . Hagman tried to say something . . . I know I shot him in the leg."

Mordue told Templin he had not seen Hartman before.

He said that his wife and Hartman got out of the car when he drove up and that they were standing very close when he shot.

The businessman talked of financial difficulties to Templin which he said stemmed from a

Await ARA Loan OK in Springfield Twp.

Plans to build a $4.2-million year-round resort near I-75 in Springfield Township were revealed today by the Michigan Economic Development Department in Lansing.

The plans are subject to federal approval of a $3.6-million Area Redevelopment Administration (ARA) loan.

An application for the loan has been filed by Royal Oak realtor Edwin Gage for the new Four Seasons Lodge Corp. Gage is president of the corporation.

The site would contain a 162-room motel, swimming pool, two golf courses, driving range, trap and skeet shooting range, ice skating rink, tennis courts and cabanas, according to Gage.

He said the site was chosen because it is easily accessible from Detroit, Flint, Lansing and surrounding suburbs.

The corporation's plans are based on a projected 40 per cent increase in population from Bay City to Toledo by 1980, Gage added.

He envisions the area as part of a super urban region that will extend around the lakes as far as Buffalo, N. Y.

The ARA application carries the endorsement of the state development department and has been forwarded to Washington for federal approval.

Besides the possible ARA loan, the Davisburg Industrial Development Corp. has pledged a loan of $425,000 toward construction of the lodge, which would provide an estimated 263 new jobs in the area.

A spokesman for the department in Lansing said the lodge corporation also has announced plans to borrow an additional $1 million through regular mortgage channels.

This would leave the corporation's investment at $214,500, the amount it has paid for the 290-acre site at I-75 and Holly Road.

Government Offices Closed Tomorrow

City and county offices and banks will be closed tomorrow in observance of Washington's birthday. The driver's license bureau in the Oakland County Sheriff's Department also will be closed.

Police Station, West vault building, it will be necessary for anyone having property and claims to be in the station before 10 a.m. later than March 1, S. Saginaw St.

2 Cuban MIGs Fire at U.S. Shrimp Boat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two MIG fighter planes based in Cuba made rocket firing passes Wednesday on a U.S. shrimp boat in the Florida Straits, the Defense Department announced today.

It said the shrimp boat was not hit and that its two-man crew suffered no injuries. The department said U.S. jet intercepter planes took off when unidentified targets appeared on the Key West radar station screen.

The U.S. planes reported that two MIG fighters made rocket firing passes at the shrimp boat, the Ala.

A Pentagon spokesman said the U.S. planes saw the rocket firings as they were screaming out across the straits to check on the unidentified targets, which turned out to be the MIGs.

The passes apparently occurred as the MIGs were headed back toward Cuba. A spokesman said he was unable to say whether the MIGs had been frightened off by the approaching U.S. planes.

The department said the incident occurred in international waters 60 nautical miles north of the Cuban mainland and 78 nautical miles east-southeast of Key West.

"The MIG fighters left the area about 7 a.m. today in westbound flight," the department said.

De Gaulle's Aim Clear

'Europe Must Be Own Ruler'

(Editor's Note: France's attitude toward Britain and the United States has raised many questions about Charles de Gaulle and his aims. The Associated Press asked a French editor to explain some of the thinking behind de Gaulle's actions. The writer is foreign editor of the Paris newspaper France-Soir.)

By MAURICE DELARUE

By The Associated Press

PARIS — President Charles de Gaulle cannot be reproached for lacking continuity in his thinking. Tactical necessities may oblige him to zig or zag. But his final aim is clear, and long since a matter of record.

This aim is to make of a united Europe "a Europe that is really European." It must be its own master, and, first of all, control its own defense. It must be a united Europe that

President Puts Medicare in Fresh Package

$10-Billion Program Tackles Tax Benefits, Housing, Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy put his battered plans for health care of the elderly into new wrappings today—part of a $10-billion, five-year plan aimed to better life, income and housing for senior Americans.

But it was bound to be old hat to Congress.

Besides the expected, and once-defeated, proposals for hospital insurance for the aged through Social Security, the President asked again for tax benefits for the elderly, part of his tax message last month.

The hospital insurance plan is expected to cost $5.8 billion for the first four years, the tax benefits $3.9 billion for the first five years.

Thus, in this special message on problems of the aging—the first ever by an American president—the two biggest money items and all but a fraction of the total money package are quite familiar.

But, in addition, the President called for:

More money for low interest loans to build rental housing for elderly persons of moderate income.

New emphasis on building group residences for the elderly where central dining and housekeeping services are available, some nursing care can be provided, but privacy is preserved.

JOBS FOR RETIREES

More jobs for those past retirement age who want to work—including a directive to federal agencies to evaluate applicants and employees on the basis of ability, not age.

In all, the President recommended 36 ways to better the lot of senior citizens. But the heart of the program was hospital insurance. Concurrent with the President's message, a new administration bill was to be introduced in Congress.

It was basically the same as a bill styled by Congress last year. And it did nothing to bend previous objectives of the American Medical Association to any plan financed solely by Social Security.

Chamber's Gavel Goes to Hathaway

The event was the chamber's 53rd annual dinner meeting. Dr. F. Milton Hathaway took over the reins from last year's president, Carl D. Rogers.

Featured speaker for the evening was Clement D. Johnston of Roanoke, Va., chairman of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce's Conference of National Organizations.

Max Adams, chamber manager, acted as toastmaster in the absence of Robert Emerick, Pontiac Motor Division public relations director, who was sidelined by flu.

GETS GIFT
Harry Woodman, a past president, presented Rogers with a portable television set on behalf of the chamber.

Rogers then handed the gavel over to the newly elected president, Dr. Hathaway.

"We've selected a man we know can lead the team down the road to a new, dynamic Pontiac," Rogers commented.

In his message, Johnston stressed the importance of individual initiative as the heart and driving force of American life and progress.

He praised the planning of city and chamber officials for future redevelopment and urged the chamber to support "effective programs of political participation and education."

Johnston also warned that the nation is becoming too dependent on government, giving rise to bureaucracies.

USUALLY COSTLY
"Gaining freedom from want and fear usually costs us our freedom of individual action," he said. "There are always uncertainties in a dynamic community."

He referred to the European Common Market as "a going concern, regardless of political ramifications."

"We have some big league competition to meet . . . this is no time to talk of feather-bedding, 35-hour weeks, or general wage hikes without corresponding increases in productivity."

Mayor Robert A. Landry also spoke briefly, promising that both commercial and residential redevelopment would be seen here before the end of 1963.

Invocation was offered by Rabbi Israel Goodman, of B'nai Israel. Rev. Thompson L. Marcero, of St. Vincent DePaul Church, pronounced benediction.

Highlight of the evening's entertainment was the Washington Junior High School Boys' Glee Club, directed by Gilbert Jackson.

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES
The latest outbreak of influenza and other respiratory ailments struck deep into the midwest today and residents of the West Coast were warned to be ready for a siege of the flu soon.

The surge of Asian flu and related illnesses hit epidemic proportions in the Southeast and New York.

The flu bug is biting in Michigan and doctors feared it might continue to spread.

Softie cases of Asian flu, which has cut a swath westward across the nation, have been in Lansing, Detroit and Ann Arbor. Persons throughout the state have reported upper respiratory ailments.

Charles P. Anderson, Detroit health commissioner, said about 20,000 Detroiters have some kind of respiratory disease. He said school absenteeism is 50 per cent above normal.

Anderson said some 15,000 are ill with the disease and probably another 15,000 have had it in the past few days and are recovering.

Virginia health authorities reported 3,000 new cases yesterday, bringing the total to about 7,000 for the week. Sources said this probably is a small percentage of those actually stricken, since many cases are not reported.

SAYD DECLINING
Dr. James B. Kenley, a health officer, said physicians in most areas of the state seem to feel the epidemic is on a decline.

In Louisville and Trigg County, Ky., the outbreak appears to be abating, but Boyd County (Ashland) reported 3,000 patients in the past two weeks. Schools were closed in Glasgow, Bowling Green and Knox County.

Hundreds of deaths have been reported since the first outbreak of respiratory disease began to occur about three weeks ago.

There were 1,288 new cases reported yesterday in Alabama, and Dr. W. H. Y. Smith, the state health officer, said the state is in the midst of an influenza epidemic.

County Struck by Asian Flu; Absences Up

An Oakland County Health Department official today said "We have received enough reports of absenteeism this week to know that the Asian flu is with us."

Dr. Bernard Berman, deputy director, explained that "although there are many kinds of upper respiratory infections, those reported indicate Asian flu."

"When reports come in waves, as they now are in Oakland County, we know it's flu. We've had high absenteeism reported in some offices and schools."

Dr. Berman said the first wave of reports came from South Oakland County but that now "the reports are widespread."

Pontiac School District officials have urged parents to keep children home who show any signs of developing an upper respiratory cold or infection.

Bill Would Permit Area College District

LANSING — Legislation to enable Oakland County to proceed with plans for a community college district was introduced in the Senate yesterday by Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County.

The bill would permit the county to go ahead with arrangements for a countywide election on establishment of a junior college system without including the Clarenceville School District.

The county's hopes of starting a community college were stalled last year by a state attorney general's opinion that such a district could neither include nor exclude the Clarenceville School District. Clarenceville lies mostly in Wayne County but partly in Oakland County.

It could not be excluded under existing law because it was in the county and could not be included because it already is part of the Northwest Wayne County Community College District.

A voter-approved one-mill special tax is required to operate a community college district. Clarenceville already pays the tax of $1 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

The county's plans were developed by a citizens' study committee. Roberts' bill provides that a community college district be organized by the existing County Board of Education. But amendments requiring a separate board are expected to be introduced.

Heads East, South Icy Cold Whips Into Midwest

By The Associated Press
A vast mass of icy air, powered by brisk northerly winds, stung the nation's midsection today and headed into eastern and southern states.

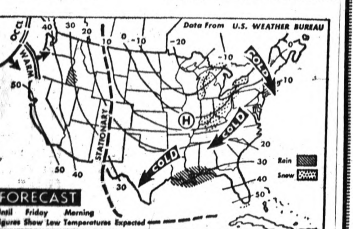

Subzero cold spread from Montana across the north central region into Ohio. Temperatures plunged to nearly 30 degrees below zero in northern Minnesota. Subzero readings were reported in Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan, Illinois and Ohio.

Gale winds and snow squalls in sections of New York state closed highways, stranded residents and caused minor traffic accidents. The heaviest snowfall was six inches in western New York, which was lashed by wind gusts up to 51 m.p.h. off Lake Mendota's high of 67.

N-Test Ban by April Crucial--Humphrey

GENEVA (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said today he would fight to reach a nuclear test ban agreement with the Soviet Union by April to put all disarmament measures "beyond the reach of mankind in our time."

Humphrey told a news conference he believes the Russians are sincere in their desire for a test ban treaty. But he said they still expect the United States to abandon its insistence on foolproof control arrangements.

The conference is under no deadline to complete its work by April or any other time.

Humphrey, an observer at the Geneva negotiations for the U.S. Senate, said time is running out after more than four years of negotiations for a test ban. He said he is convinced that unless an agreement is in the final stages of preparation by April, "agreement will not come."

The senator said the American demand for eight to 10 on-site inspections per year on Soviet soil is negotiable if the total inspection arrangements provide a foolproof guarantee against treaty violations.

He said the Soviet offer of two or three such inspections per year is totally unacceptable to the United States. The Senate, he added, would never ratify any treaty based on such a low figure.

"I leave Geneva with a feeling that there is a reasonable possibility for an agreement," Humphrey said. "But if agreement on a test ban is not reached at this particular session, it is very doubtful that there will be successful negotiation of any disarmament measures with the Soviet Union."

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the President has no formal appointments logged during his Palm Beach stay and that the main purpose of the trip is for Kennedy to see his father.

He said the Kennedys plan to return to Washington Sunday night.

To View Debris of Lost Vessel

Owners to Inspect Comb Sea for Victims

From Our News Wires
KEY WEST, Fla. — Owners of the missing freighter Marine Sulphur Queen planned an inspection of debris today while Coast Guard ships searched south of Key West for traces and survivors of the ship that vanished after sailing Feb. 2 with 39 men aboard.

An unidentified flare and flashman lettered "Sulphur Queen" stimulated the search. The Coast Guard had no assurance that the light had anything to do with the 323-foot vessel.

One possible explanation — that the flare was fired by the crew of a missing light plane — was eliminated when the plane was located on the ground at Miami Beach about 100 miles from the flight from Miami to Great Inagua, Bahamas.

A Coast Guard spokesman in Miami said a representative of the Sulphur Queen owners, Marine Transport Lines, Inc., would examine debris brought ashore by a cutter.

CALED SEA WITCH
In Beaumont, Tex., tearful families of the men of the Marine Sulphur Queen heard testimony yesterday that the missing ship was a sea witch plagued by fires and dangerous fumes.

The Coast Guard hearing into the disappearance of the 534-foot World War II-vintage tanker and its crew of 39 was recessed for two hours with the announcement that the debris had been found.

Mrs. James V. Fanning, Beaumont, wife of the skipper, broke into tears when she heard the announcement in the hearing room. Two other women helped her outside.

Sliding Mud Ready to Gulp Italian Villages

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—A dreaching night-long rain heightened the hazard today to a score of villages slowly being swallowed by huge avalanches of mud in a semicircle south and east of Naples.

Heavy rains over the past five days came as a backlash to Europe's worst winter of the century.

The downpour touched off landslides of mud which blocked highways, overran train lines, cut off electric power and left hundreds homeless.

The new onslaught caused 11 more deaths and raised Italy's winter weather toll to 167.

Among the hardest hit were the villages of Nerano, Termini and Capo d'Arco at the tip of the archipelago's Sorrento Peninsula jutting out toward the Isle of Capri on the south of the Bay of Naples.

Complete evacuation of Nerano started at dawn as a vast mudslide advanced 15 yards an hour down a hillside and began toppling the village's outlying homes.

BIRMINGHAM — Two area youths have been selected as nominees for West Point and Annapolis, Congressman William S. Brockman (R-Oakland County) announced today.

In addition, six county youths were picked to undergo further tests to fill one position at the Air Force Academy.

Charles V. Gardiner Jr., 18, son of Commander and Mrs. Gardiner, 607 Hawthorne Road, was chosen as principal candidate for an appointment to the Naval Academy.

He was graduated from Washington-Lee High School in Arlington, Va., while his father, a Naval Academy graduate, was stationed in Washington, D. C.

Selected as principal candidate for West Point is Robert A. Haefner, 1441 Cedar Bend Drive, Bloomfield Hills.

He was graduated from Bloomfield Hills High School in 1960, and is presently serving in the Army.

Competing for the one Air Force Academy position will be Joseph N. Amalfitano, 18, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Amalfitano.

Frozen Sturgis Ripped by Fire
STURGIS (AP)—A stubborn blaze, fought in subzero cold by firemen who became virtually immobilized in ice, swept three downtown buildings today.

Fire Chief John Pecke, overcome by smoke, was hospitalized and numerous others among the 75 to 100 men at the scene were treated for injuries or smoke inhalation.

Firemen of half a dozen communities, including Howe, Ind., had to battle the blaze for almost seven hours before bringing it under control about 6 a.m.

The blaze, Sturgis' worst in years, raced through buildings on West Chicago, the city's main street.

WATER FROZE
With the mercury at 5 below zero, water froze as it was poured onto the burning buildings. Helicopters and clouds of firemen became ice-caked.

No estimate of loss was available. The Howe Fire Department sped equipment six miles to its southern Michigan neighbor city to aid Sturgis firemen and others of surrounding communities. The National Guard also helped.

The blaze broke out about 11 o'clock last night. During the battle, firemen were exposed to thick smoke. Some were given oxygen at the scene.

Chief Pecke was treated at Memorial Hospital. His condition was reported satisfactory.

The damaged properties including the Sportsman's Sporting Goods Store, Bucknell Hardware, Ted Douglas Clothiers and a Knights of Pythias Lodge.

Capital Reporters Get Gate From Kennedys' Receptions

WASHINGTON (U)—News men were told yesterday they no longer may mingle or talk with guests at official receptions given by President and Mrs. Kennedy.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger outlined changes in the setup which has been followed for the two years of the Kennedy administration. He said they were made after an examination of the news coverage policy but did not go into details about what led to the decision.

The new policy will apply to coverage of a diplomatic reception for some 300 members of the Washington Embassy set on Thursday. Salinger said a pool of representative reporters would be selected by the White House for the limited coverage.

Asked how big a pool it would be, Salinger said "We haven't figured that out yet."

But Salinger said "this is going to be the policy," and "I think this will be the policy for all White House is returning to what receptions."

Settle Lawsuit in Todd's Death

NEW YORK (UPI)—Elizabeth Taylor's $5-million negligence suit in connection with the airplane death of her late husband, film producer Michael Todd, was settled yesterday for $10,000 in federal court.

The major portion of the settlement will go to the Todd's 5-year-old daughter who was adopted by Eddie Fisher when he married Miss Taylor.

Defendants in the case were Ayer Lease Plan, Inc., Trade-Ayer, Inc., and the Michael Todd Co., Inc. Miss Taylor charged them with negligence in Todd's death.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan signed the settlement order yesterday after both sides agreed. After attorney fees of $12,907.45 are deducted, Liza Taylor's daughter, Elizabeth Frances (Liza) Fisher, receives the balance of $7,092.55, which can be spent only under the supervision of the court.

Trade Ayer was the owner of the plane in which Todd died, Ayer Lease Plan, Inc., rented the plane and the Michael Todd Co., Inc., was the renter.

Flee to West Over Snow

COBURG, Germany (U)—Heavy snowfall and drifts 5-feet high helped two married couples and a child flee from Communist East Germany to the West, police reported yesterday.

The snow buried the barbed wire along the Iron Curtain and made the Communist mine fields useless.

Father of 9 Gets Degree

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert R. Fontaine, 34, father of nine who works over a 12½-year period, receives a degree in electrical engineering the day after tonight from George Washington University. He is the first of nine children to attend night classes. "It's really no problem," Fontaine said. "You merely study in the daytime on weekends after work. I am sending them all out to play, or after 9 o'clock at night when they are in bed."

Boy Can't Run From Murder

Teen Admits Shooting of Guard in Market

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"He always ran away. He always ran away." Tearing her hair in grief, Mary McBride, 46, told newsmen how her 14-year-old son, Francis, ran from problems he couldn't face.

Police said Francis was confronted Wednesday with a problem he couldn't run away from—a murder charge. "In a long distance phone call from Memphis, Tenn., Francis admitted fatally shooting supermarket guard Harley L. Bowen, 45, last Jan. 26 during a Los Angeles burglary attempt," police said.

Memphis authorities said they found the boy, his blond hair dyed black, cowering under a stolen car on the Mississippi waterfront. Detectives said he signed a statement detailing a string of thefts—and then the murder.

The McBrides were divorced. GOT INTO TROUBLE

Francis got into scrapes, his mother said. She reported him to police and he shunted from one juvenile detention home to another.

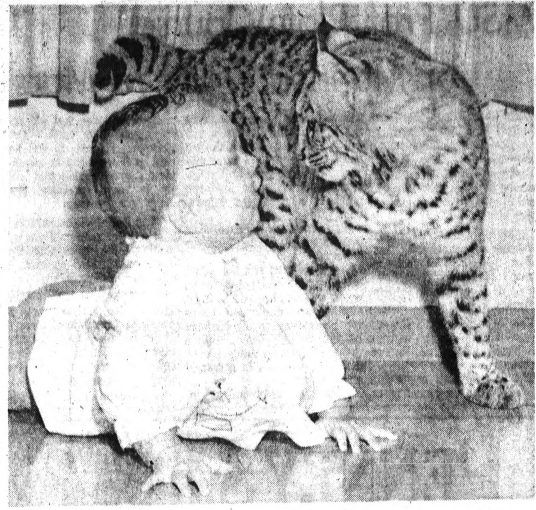

Francis finally wound up at the Nellis School for Boys, a reformatory, in nearby Whittier, for burglarizing the same market at which the guard was later shot.

"He was home from Nellis on a Sunday, Jan. 13 it was to visit, and he was talking about getting to come home in June," Mrs. McBride said. "He wanted to fix his bicycle and get a garden started."

Then, she said, he learned his father was in jail for failing to provide for his family, and his mother had lost her job as a drugstore clerk.

"He knew they'd never let him come back to that kind of home," Mrs. McBride said. "He never went back to school. He started running again."

Then, police said, came the market shooting.

Loading Started on Ransom Boat

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Longshoremen start loading 2,000 tons of medicine and food for the banana boat Primas tonight for shipment to Cuba as ransom for released prisoners.

The Red Cross said the cargo valued at $1.5 million will complete the first half of the $53 million worth of goods promised Fidel Castro for the 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners already returned.

The standard fruit and steamships' Primas will sail Saturday on the 30-hour voyage to Havana, steamship officials said.

'Propaganda Red Specialty'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Russia is outtalking the United States in shortwave radio propaganda—and doing a better job of it, says a University of Minnesota professor.

William S. Howell, associate chairman of the Minnesota department of speech and theater arts, told a group of University of Michigan students yesterday: "Communist ideology is being projected very aggressively and skillfully on short-wave radio, while our points of view get relatively small effort and little emphasis."

Holdup Victim Charges Dog as Accomplice

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—James E. Underwood says he was a victim of a man-dog holdup teeth.

Underwood, 47, a laborer, told police: "As he strolled near the police station Wednesday, a car pulled up. A tall, blond youth got out with a large white dog. The man asked him for a match. When Underwood produced it, the stranger ordered his dog to 'watch him.'"

While the dog reared back and barked, the man calmly unbuckled Underwood's wallet, which contained $89.

Underwood said he was too shocked to take the license number when the pair drove away.

Found Guilty of Kidnaping

A former inmate of Ionia State Hospital was found guilty on a kidnaping charge in Oakland County Circuit Court Tuesday.

James G. Styes, 34, was convicted by a jury of kidnaping a 19-year-old Farwell mother of two and her 14-year-old brother after escaping from the hospital in August 1961.

The jury deliberated only 45 minutes after a four-day trial. Styes also had been charged with raping the woman in West Bloomfield Township, but the charge was dismissed at the opening of his trial.

Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem set March 5 for sentencing. Styes was returned to Oakland County Jail on $10,000 bond.

AF Tangles With Artist Over Painting

WASHINGTON (AP)—In some thing of a huff, the Air Force said today British artist David Shepherd can take back his painting from a U.S. base in Britain any time he's ready.

Furthermore, the Air Force said it has no intention of paying for the painting, or offering Shepherd a free ride to India or anywhere else.

The flare-up revolves around a painting Shepherd, 30, loaned to the Air Force several years ago for display at an Air Force base at Mildenhall. It shows a jet airliner over New York City.

Earlier this week, Shepherd said in London the Pentagon must fly me to India—or give me back my painting.

Leafs Back in NHL Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto Maple Leafs, triggered by a pair of veteran performers, have regained second place in the National Hockey League and are right back in the thick of the race.

The Leafs edged Montreal 2-1 Wednesday night and dropped the Canadiens into third place. Toronto is one point ahead of Montreal and trails the league-leading Chicago Black Hawks by three points.

In the only other game of the night, the Boston Bruins and the New York Rangers, battling for fifth place, played a 3-3 tie.

Bob Pulford, returning to his old center position, and Johnny Bower, taking over the goal-tending job from Don Simmons, were instrumental in the Leafs' key victory. Pulford scored both Toronto goals and Bower, who made 36 saves, was beaten just once by Dickie Moore.

Rookie Bob Leiter's goal late in the third period enabled the Bruins to gain their tie with the Rangers. Wayne Hicks and Tommy Williams were the other Boston scorers while Camille Henry, Vic Hadfield and Andy Bathgate scored for New York.

Murray Oliver of the Bruins picked up one assist, giving him 59 points and tying him with linemate Johnny Bucyk for the league's individual scoring lead.

Titans Upset NIT-Bound 5

DETROIT (AP)—Sophomore forward Terry Page tossed in a pair of free throws in the final minute to give the University of Detroit an upset 55-54 decision over NIT-bound Canisius College last night.

Canisius, which built up a 10-point lead in the early stages of the game, saw it dwindle to a 32-29 margin at halftime.

Detroit, with John Watson showing the way, outscored the visitors 18-5 in the first 12 minutes of the second half to take a commanding 49-37 lead.

Unruly Spectators? French Eliminate 'Em

PARIS (AP)—Officials of the French Basketball Federation have found a foolproof method of controlling spectators at basketball games. They eliminated 'em.

When Charleville beat Bagnot 74-72 recently, the players, and officials were booed and threatened by an unruly crowd. As a result, the federation ordered Charleville, the home team, to play its next four games in private.

MARKETS

The following are top prices covering sales of locally grown produce by growers and sold by them in wholesale package lots. Quotations are furnished by the Detroit Bureau of Markets, as of Wednesday.

Many Key Stocks Unchanged

Market Shows Lower Trend

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed a slightly lower trend in dull preholiday trading early today.

Many key stocks were unchanged. Small losses outnumbered fractional gains.

The market will be closed tomorrow for Washington's Birthday, giving Wall Street a long, three-day weekend. Sharp losses for the past two sessions were ascribed in part to preholiday trading by traders as a preweekend precaution. The feeling in the street was that many traders may have finished these operations.

Except for a fractional loss by U.S. Steel, most major steelmakers were unchanged.

Ford and Chrysler lost a bit while American Motors was slightly and General Motors was unchanged.

United Aircraft was down about a point. Curtiss-Wright, yesterday's most active gainer, was down a fraction. Other aerospace issues showed scant change.

IBM dropped a couple of points. Fractional gains were made by American Telephone, Union Carbide, Air Reduction, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Texaco.

Small losses were taken by Southern Pacific, Public Service Electric & Gas, International Telephone, International Nickel, Deere & Co., and Westinghouse Electric.

U.S. Smelting, which fell 1 1/2 to 70 1/2, yesterday as second most active stock, was delayed in opening.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were narrowly mixed. Gainers included Aerojet-General, Barnes Engineering, and Tech-

Wagner Aide Still Meeting

Trying to End 76-Day Newspaper Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Theodore W. Kheel, Mayor Robert F. Wagner's chief adviser in efforts to end the 76-day newspaper blackout, continues meeting with subcommittees of publishers and representatives of nonstriking unions today.

The Photoengravers Union, one of the nine unions whose members have been added by the printers' strike against four of the city's nine major newspapers, was first on today's agenda.

Subcommittees of the publishers and of five craft unions met with Kheel for five hours Wednesday.

Kheel said the sessions deal with the working out of the printers' strike against four of the city's nine major newspapers, was first on today's agenda.

Kheel described the talks as information sessions, rather than negotiations.

OUT OF CITY

Wagner, who has been seeking to end the newspaper blackout for almost a month, was out of the city Wednesday.

He is expected to be back in the city on Friday.

Members of the AFL-CIO Friday on contract terms tentatively accepted by the union's negotiators.

Four unions in addition to the Guild are on strike against the Cleveland newspapers. They are the printers, machinists and mailers, all AFL-CIO unions, and the Independent Teamsters Union.

Wages remain an issue in all the strikes except that by the Guild.

POPULAR AT SHOW — Pontiac Motor Division's newest experimental car, the X400, is one of the biggest crowd attractions at the current Chicago Automobile Show. The sleek and stylish yellow convertible has been labeled "The Yellow Bird" by show goers. Powered by a supercharged V8 engine, the X400 is equipped with four side-draft carburetors.

Union Stockpiling Constriction Grips

The Oakland County AFL-CIO Council has been stockpiling its ammunition for an assault on the proposed new state constitution.

"Be your income in the hands of thousands, or a Social Security Pension, the same percent of tax would apply," the council noted. "This is surely not the type of tax revision the AFL-CIO subscribed to when it favored the calling of the constitutional convention."

The council feared that, because of this change, "patronage and politics will once again reign on the State Administrative Board."

The Oakland County COPE found other faults with the proposed constitution. One piece of literature lists 31 specific grievances.

However, the council is willing to admit some improvements have been made over the old constitution. Their position lies in the fact that the people cannot select favorable provisions and discard the rest.

Council President Fred Haggard said the AFL-CIO fight against the proposed constitution will be carried to the people.

He said that council representatives would be working within the unions; passing out literature to make their position known; speaking before every available audience; and, as a final step, working outside the polls to make sure that no voter is unfamiliar with the council's position on election day.

The council also expressed opposition to the means of selecting state officers.

Members questioned the legality of the council's position, pointing to the wording of the federal constitution.

The council also expressed opposition to the means of selecting state officers.

That council theorized that, under the proposed document, in a county with enough area factors, with but two people living within its boundaries, could become a state senator with the other persons vote.

"Surely this is not in line with the Democratic principles spelled out in the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution," they protested in a statement.

Net sales for the six-month period totaled $4,609,460 compared with $4,140,955 a year ago.

Net earnings were $208,368 compared with $182,822 the corresponding six months last year.

There is no assurance that the two cents of the sales tax previously earmarked for school operation will be used for this purpose, they said.

There is no assurance, they continued, that money previously earmarked to the highway department, will be put to that use.

Both areas will be left to "the whim of the malapportioned legislature," they said.

The board also will discuss the June election in which vacancies on the board will be decided.

Common Mart
Prexy to Talk
With Kennedy

BRUSSELS (UPI) - Walter Hallstein, president of the European Common Market, will confer with President Kennedy next month on the situation created by France's veto of British, informed sources said today.

The sources said Hallstein would go to Washington "around March 4" for talks with Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Christian Herter, the President's special representative for overseas trade.

The West German statesman is going to the United States ostensibly to deliver a lecture at Columbia University on the prospects of the Common Market. He will leave Brussels March 2.

The Washington talks also will deal with the pending round of tariff talks between the United States and European countries as authorized by the U.S. Trade Expansion Act.

The talks will be aimed at mutual tariff concessions on certain goods. Herter visited Brussels last month for preliminary talks with Common Market officials.

Actress Portraying Sophie
Can't Get Plump Enough

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK-I sneaked a peek at the gal who's play Sophie Tucker on the Broadway stage-Libi Staiger-and I didn't think she'd overateen enough yet. She wasn't plump enough yet.

"I've eaten like a horse... I've gone from 130 to 150," she said the forthcoming start of the stage show, "Sophie." She was in black tights, rehearsing at the Broadway Theater - and she looked merely... well-rounded... shapely... cushy... alluring.

"I've been eating whipped cream... chocolate cake... I eat all the time... I winced. "I can wear some padding to make me look 170."

"Why aren't you fatter?" I asked the Harrisburg, Ill., actress whom Sophie Tucker herself picked for the show which breaks in at Columbus Feb. 28.

"You see, I have a lot of dancing to do, and I eat mashed potatoes and gravy and chocolates-but I dance it off. I have to rush right out to Lindy's and eat strawberry cheesecake after work."

"Anyway," she said, "we show Sophie Tucker between the ages of 17 to 32. She wasn't so... well-built then."

Steve Allen, who wrote the music for the show, thinks she's plump enough and Libi's husband, Joeme Eskow, a director, agrees. Sophie Tucker, when she looks at Libi in a few days, may think she's TOO fat-or Sophie won't be very feminine.

"Well, so long," growled Libi starting off toward Lindy's. "Go to consume some more calories. Ugh!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Benay Veneta-recently divorced from actor Fred Clark-is visiting her new beau and possibly next husband, Maxwell Klein, a money-man, in Phoenix... Some of the rich Greeks are giving up lush apartments in N.Y. anticipating a crackdown by their government on luxury living abroad... George Jessel-off to Washington to lunch with Vice President Johnson-said "but I suppose some columnist will write that I'm going there to marry an 11-year-old girl" (He still feels hurt about those ancient pages about his ex-wife Lois Andrews-things like "I carried my wife's books home from school yesterday." In many years of knowing Georgie well, I agree with him that he has a legitimate squawk)... When Joe E. Brown received the Interfaith Award at the Waldorf, he gave credit to the fact he prayed to God to prevent him from hating. "And I know of no person in the world whom I have ever hated," he said.

EARL'S PEARLS: Sign on a truck: "This truck has been in eight accidents and never lost any." Remembered Quote: "A classic is something that everybody wants to have read and nobody wants to read." (Mark Twain)... That's earl, brother.

Inhabitants of Wallis and Futuna Islands gained full rights as French citizens when they acquired the status of French Overseas Territories in 1959.

WATERLOO, N.Y. (U-P) - Dancing was Debbie Maruccelli's greatest joy. But it will be a long time before Debbie dances again.

The pretty, 7-year-old youngster, who had been taking dancing lessons for four years, wept a little when her parents told her that her legs are gone. Then she dropped off to sleep.

Debbie lost much of her right leg Feb. 13 in the collision of a school bus and a tractor-trailer in this central New York village. Doctors' efforts to save the leg failed, and it was amputated below the knee Monday.

The bright-eyed child learned the truth Tuesday when her father placed her in a wheelchair. She complained that her pajama bottoms were too tight.

At breakfast at the Olympic hotel, he noticed the extremely fine flavor of the whole wheat bread and biscuit, and on inquiry found that the hotel was using its own mill, grinding its own whole wheat flour fresh every morning.

That's the secret. If you are interested in main taining your own or your family's good nutrition, you had better get one or two of my little lessons before I turn up missing. To begin with, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for Pamphlet No. 36, "Wheat to Eat."

While waiting for this little lesson to arrive - I'm notoriously tardy and have always four or five thousand letters waiting for replies - after all, I do have to gambol on the bowling green two or three afternoons a week, it's my only recreation - while waiting for an answer, scout around and see if you can find a little old coffee mill in the attic.

BRINGS SATISFACTION You will get a good deal of satisfaction from buying coffee in the bean and grinding it fresh every morning - that is, if you have no objections against the use of a cup or two of coffee at breakfast.

I have said many times that when the aroma of coffee permeates the premises one may well infer that what's left in the pot will be disappointing. Let just short of boiling is required for the proper brewing of coffee.

This dissolves the emphyreumatic or aromatic oil or essence yet leaves the tannin in the coffee grounds. The oil or essence is what you smell when coffee's hot. If you'd rather breathe it than drink it, go ahead and boil it.

Many followers who have Little Lesson No. 8, "What to Eat and Why," (35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) tell me they never knew how good coffee tastes until they began making it in the way calculated to extract the aroma and leave the bitter tannin (tannic acid) in the grounds.

If you are preparing tea or coffee for use as a moist dressing for burns, by all means boil it thoroughly and so make it as "Is part of my leg gone?" she asked. Later that day, Orazio and Sylvia Maruccelli told their only daughter both legs are gone.

"What am I going to do... how will I walk?" she asked. Orazio, 35, an unemployed factory worker, said Debbie was told that she will be taken to Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester and fitted with artificial limbs.

"She took it good. She was happy about it," he said. Debbie was reported in good spirits. Many gifts, including more than a dozen dolls and stuffed animals, helped to brighten her life.

One of her most prized toys is a stuffed elephant sent by Ralph Worden, 32, driver of the school bus. Worden also was hospitalized in the crash. Maruccelli said he was laid off about six months ago and considered ending Debbie's dancing lessons. "But her teacher said that whatever you do, don't let her stop. So we kept her going."

He said he has been offered employment at a plant in Auburn and will know by the end of the week whether he has the job. The Maruccellis have three other children, all boys.

astounding as possible. But if you are brewing it to serve as a beverage, watch the pot and snatch it off the fire before it begins to boil.

Boiling temperature not only drives off the aroma into the atmosphere but extracts the tannin from the coffee grounds. A temperature a little lower than boiling leaves the aroma in the pot and tannin in the grounds.

Freshly ground coffee is always better than coffee that has been ground and stored for weeks. Start the brewing with cold water, and let the coffee stand in the cold water for an hour or so or even overnight, before heating.

This keeps a residue of the aromatic or emphyreumatic oil in the coffee, just as cold water is a better solvent of peppermint, wintergreen or other aromatic oil.

LONDON (AP) - The British government said yesterday that it will continue developing a secret nuclear weapon to be carried by Britain's H-bombers.

The weapon, details of which have not been announced, is expected to help fill the gap left by the junking of the American bomber-borne Skybolt missile until Britain has a Polaris-equipped submarine fleet. It will supplement the British Blue Steel bomb which can be carried by the Royal Air Force jet bombers.

The government made its disclosure in a white paper reporting that Britain will spend $5.23 billion for defense in the next fiscal year. Nuclear deterrent was high on the cost list.

The secret British weapon originally was intended for tactical use by fighter planes flying close to the ground to avoid discovery by enemy radar. The white paper said experts had decided it could be adapted specially and cheaply to give a strategic nuclear punch to the high-flying jet bombers.

"Notwithstanding the cancellation of Skybolt," the white paper said, "the responsibility for providing British strategic nuclear power will rest upon bomber command for some years to come."

Moms will recall famous movies of the past when he parades tonight with his 15 lavishly decorated floats. Starting time will be 6:15 p.m.

Happy but orderly crowds jammed St. Charles Avenue, Canal Street and the French Quarter again last night to greet the Babylon parade.

King Sargon showed off 17 floats depicting Hans Christian Andersen's fairy tales and he lighted up each one with electric lamps operated by generators hidden under paper mache.

Junior Editors Quiz on SEA GULLS

QUESTION: Do sea gulls make a nest?

ANSWER: Most of us have seen sea gulls, yet very few of us will ever see a sea gull's nest. This is not because gulls do not built nests, but because they choose inaccessible places for nests, where few enemies can come to rob them of their eggs.

Most gulls love water, being very fond of a fish diet. They like to build in cracks on the rocky faces of cliffs fronting the sea. We illustrate a section of such a cliff in the St. Lawrence River country where Kittiwake sea gulls are shown nesting in company with another sea bird, Brunnich's Murre.

Nests are made of seaweed. Why don't the eggs roll off? Their pointed shape helps, for if the egg does roll, the shape makes it roll in a circle.

There are many such favorite nesting places, where sea birds by the thousands return each year in the breeding season. Such a spot in the west is Isla Raza, an island belonging to Mexico and lying in the Gulf of California.

Not all gulls, however, nest by the sea. California and Ring-billed Gulls, for example, like to nest in colonies along inland lakes; the Laughing Gull (lower picture) prefers marshes.

FOR YOU TO DO: For more on gulls' nesting habits, check the National Geographic Magazine of February 1951, which tells about Isla Raza and June 1948, for the articles "Sea Bird Cities Off Audubon's Labrador."

Get More Requests for Service to Aged

The Family Service of Oakland County reports that applications for service to the aged showed a threefold increase in 1962 over any previous year.

Health was a chief factor in most of the applications, executive director of the agency, Robert J. James noted.

Some 15 per cent of the applicants reported problems with either their children or their marriage, James said. A large number of those, he continued, stemmed from difficulties arising in homes where three generations are living together.

An "Advisory Committee on Services to the Aging" was set up to determine how the agency's interest can be more clearly developed within the community.

It required 12 years to build the Brooklyn bridge.
