Ike, Macmillan Agree on Summit Formula

Bill Proposes State Income Tax Hitch Ride on Federal Levy

LANSING (AP)—The first state income tax bill of the 1959 legislative session will be introduced next week, a Democratic senator said today.

Sen. Philip Rahoi (D-Iron Mountain) said he will present a proposal for a state levy to ride piggy back on the existing federal income tax.

The rate would be fixed, both for individuals and corporations, at five per cent of each taxpayer's federal tax liability.

Rahoi said the proposal would produce about 275 million dollars in new revenue. It would be coupled with proposals to repeal the existing business activities tax and possibly the state intangibles tax.

Rahoi said the proposal would produce about 275 million dollars in new revenue. It would be coupled with proposals to repeal the existing business activities tax and possibly the state intangibles tax.

The BAT, currently the state's No. 1 general revenue getter, brings in between 55 and 60 millions annually. The state tax on stocks, bonds, bank deposits and other intangible property produces about 25 millions.

Rahoi said the idea was strictly his own and that no other lawmaker was being asked to join in sponsorship.

There was no indication when other income tax plans might appear on the legislative scene, but it was generally assumed none would come in until after the April 6 election.

Sen. Lewis G. Christman (R-Ann Arbor) is waiting to put in a bill for a two cent flat rate levy, with exemptions of $1,400 for a married couple and $600 for each dependent.

Many observers believe the

Sadness, Joy as Holly Wins, Pontiac Loses

There was success for Holly and failure for Pontiac Central yesterday in the semifinals of the Michigan high school basketball tournament at Michigan State's Jenison Fieldhouse in East Lansing.

Holly kept fooling the "experts" by reaching today's championship game in Class B with a 60-47 victory over Sault Ste. Marie. The Broncos face River Rouge this afternoon at 3:30 on the Jenison court for the state Class B crown.

For the first time this season, Pontiac Central lost its poise and bowed to Hamtramck, 53-40, last night in the Class A division.

100 Forest Fires Burn

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Approximately 100 forest fires are burning uncontrolled in the Lake of the Ozarks resort area, the State Forest Service said today.

They're Still Champions in Our Hearts

KNOCKED ON THE GOLDEN DOOR — The Pontiac Central High School basketball team failed in its bid for Class A state championship honors last night at East Lansing, but the Chiefs are still the justifiably proud champions of the Saginaw Valley Conference. They bowed to Hamtramck, 53-40, in Friday's semi-finals in MSU's Jenison Fieldhouse. Here are the Chiefs. Front row (from left): Harrison Munson, George Fed, John Bandy, Bill Hayward, Amos Bailey and Phil Rabaja. Standing (from left): assistant coach Fred Zittel, Charlie Barge who was graduated at mid-year, Fred Staley, Bill Pritchett, Bill Roach, Henry Robertson, Dick McCauley and head coach Art Van Ryzin. Missing from the team picture is Jim Patterson. The Valley champs ended their 1958-59 season with a sparkling 18-2 record, tournament play included.

Proposed Draft Sent to French, German Officials

Call Plan Compromise, but No More Details on Confab Available

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan agreed today on a formula for offering to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev the prospect of a summit conference later this year.

A proposed draft of the summit meeting plan was dispatched immediately to the French and German governments and the other NATO allies for their reaction.

The formula, when fully approved, will be included in a new note to Moscow on negotiations over the Berlin crisis and German problems generally.

The Western powers had already agreed to propose a foreign ministers meeting at Geneva beginning May 11 — and hold out at least the possibility of a followup summit conference.

The Anglo-American agreement was a compromise, diplomatic officials of both nations told newsmen. None of the officials, however, was ready immediately to sketch the outlines in advance of its submission to the Allied governments.

Today's agreement was announced by U. S. and British press officers immediately after it was reached.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, with British spokesman Peter Hope at his elbow, reported to newsmen on the progress of the Eisenhower-Macmillan discussions at Camp David in these words:

"Both Hope and I can say that there is complete agreement between our two governments that we are looking to negotiations as a means of settling controversies in Europe, that we have agreed on the general line on which we think the reply to the Soviet note dealing with the matter of a summit meeting should be formulated.

"We are now communicating our proposals to the French and German governments and to our NATO allies for their consideration."

The agreement was disclosed less than two hours after Eisenhower and Macmillan began the second day of their talks at Camp David, in the nearby Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

The announcement apparently was made so quickly because the U.S. and British delegations wanted to counter news of disagreement over the approach to the Macmillan Sees Secret Pentagon?

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — President Eisenhower may have let British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan take a peek into the highly secret "underground Pentagon" not far from Camp David, Md.

The White House did not say so, but the two Western leaders were in the neighborhood of the emergency military headquarters during a solitary auto ride yesterday afternoon.

The cavernous military establishment is in the bowels of a small mountain not far from Camp David.

The President has visited the headquarters, operated as an adjunct of the Army's Camp Ritchie in Maryland, on a couple of past occasions.

The White House press headquarters here carefully kept their auto ride from reporters until the two principals were safely back in the Camp David compound.

The President and the Prime Minister slipped away for their ride without so much as a Foreign Minister to monitor their words.

With a U. S. Secret Service driver and a small group of accompanying agents, Eisenhower and Macmillan left all of their policy advisers and staff assistants behind and headed into the hills.

City to Earmark Airport Funds

Vote Tuesday Expected to Advance $356,000 Expansion Program

City Commissioners last night favorably heard details of a $356,000 federally aided expansion program at Pontiac Municipal Airport for next year, opening the city up to turbo-prop aircraft and most twin-engine transports.

In a formal vote scheduled for Tuesday, commissioners are expected to promise the Michigan Department of Aeronautics that $89,000 will be earmarked as the city's share in financing.

Under the federal-aid formula, the state would put up $89,000 and the federal government $178,000.

The House Thursday passed a $279 million four-year airport aid program, which exceeded President Eisenhower's recommendations by 97 millions.

It now will go to a Senate-House Conference Committee for adjustment of the differences between the House bill and the $465 million airport program the Senate previously approved.

Meanwhile, airport aid is meeting opposition in the Michigan Legislature, hard-pressed to find a solution to the state financial difficulties.

If approved, the funds would continue the $390,000 development program under way at the airport this year under the accelerated federal aid to airports.

Upcoming improvements and their costs, as listed by Airport Manager Homer Hoskins, are fourfold.

1. A $137,000 apron for parking, loading and unloading aircraft in front of the new terminal building and a taxiway to it that would carry subsidiary traffic from the commercial hangars without interfering with main traffic from the east-west runway.

2. A 1,500 foot concrete extension, 100 feet wide, to the main

Ex-Firearms Instructor Turns Guns on PPOA

By MAX E. SIMON

Patrolman Robert W. Verhine, former Pontiac Police Dept. firearms instructor and range officer, found himself in a familiar place last night—on the firing line.

Verhine was a defense witness for suspended Police Chief Herbert W. Straley before the Civil Service Commission.

ASSIGNED IN 1955

The patrolman told commissioners he was asked by Straley to take his special assignment as weapons instructor in 1955.

"When I took over," he testified, "the average firing score for the department was 189 out of a possible 300 points.

"The men were very, very poor shooters," he said.

Verhine said that by December of 1958 the average had soared to 249.

He was relieved of his duties as weapons instructor in December of 1958 by Public Safety Director George D. Eastman and reassigned to routine patrol duty.

Both the aim of officers and the quality of weapons in the department were raised under Straley, Vehrine testified.

In 1955, he said, only 29 officers were qualified marksmen, although now 110 of 113 are expert shots.

There were only four rifles in the department when he became range officer, the patrolman said.

ANSWERS CRITICISM

Since then, Straley has purchased 12 shotguns, 6 rifles, two machine guns and 2 gas guns, he said.

He had a quick reply to criti-

Flannery Innocent in Death Because of Insanity -- Jury

HILLSDALE (AP) — Patrick J. Flannery, the Hillsdale college student who admitted killing his college roommate, was headed today to the state mental hospital at Ionia.

A Circuit Court jury composed of farmers, housewives and salesmen found Flannery innocent of first degree murder by reason of insanity in the bludgeon slaying last November of Thomas Neitling of Tecumseh. The jury deliberated more than six hours yesterday before returning the verdict.

Circuit Court Judge Charles O. Arch ordered Flannery committed to the institution for life, or until he is proven of sound mind.

Flannery, 19, of Berkley, admitted killing his roommate, and said "Something got into me, it must have been the devil."

Defense counsel Joseph W. Louisell of Detroit argued that the killing was without motive, and that Flannery suffers from a split personality.

Louisell had fought for such a verdict as the jury returned. The prosecution had sought a first degree murder conviction — imposing the state's maximum penalty, life imprisonment, on Flannery.

Dr. John Tracey, a Detroit psychiatrist, testified as a defense witness that Flannery had all the symptoms of the mental ailment.

But another physician, Dr. Clarence Schrier, superintendent of the state mental hospital at Kalamazoo said in rebuttal testimony for the state that Flannery knew the difference between right and wrong

County Offices Ask More Help

Budget Planning Begins as $1½ Million Increase Is Predicted

First of a series of meetings between Oakland County department heads and the Salaries Committee of the Board of Supervisors was held yesterday as the county's proposed 1960 budget began to take form.

Details of the preliminary budget will not be revealed until supervisors receive copies at their annual budget and election of officers meeting April 14.

Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the Board of Auditors, however, did give a brief sneak preview of the 1960 operating budget, saying it would be 1½ million dollars higher than the 1959 budget of $12,285,723.

As in the current budget, a large social welfare load is primarily responsible for the increase, Moore said.

Yesterday Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, representing his court and its branches, and George N. Skrubb, director of the Oakland County Planning Commission, appeared before the committee. Both requested additional department personnel for next year.

Moore said it was "too early to tell" whether the county will be financially able to comply with these and other expected requests from other departments.

Cold Reluctant to Bid Us Farewell

Scat, Winter! Spring Is Here

The last lash of winter is expected to be brief — although long enough to make Sunday chilly.

Yesterday the state basked in Maytime temperatures with the thermometer hitting an official 60 degrees in the Pontiac area, and as high as 58 even in the Upper Peninsula.

REACHED 81 IN 1938

On March 21, 1918, the mercury reached 72 degrees. On March 22, 1938, it hit 81 degrees.

It will become cloudy, windy and colder later in the day. The high today will be between 36-44 degrees, with a low of 15-22 tonight.

The high tomorrow was expected to be between 28-34 degrees.

Spring's coming was in the dead of night while most of the state slumbered. Officially, spring arrived at 3:55 a.m., the time the sun crossed the equator and entered the vernal equinox.

Only at the time of the March and September equinoxes is the earth's axis at right angles to the sun. Then day and night are equal.

If the axis stayed that way, there would be no seasons. But it doesn't.

By June the axis is tilting 23 degrees and 27 minutes toward the sun. In December it tilts at the same angle away from the sun.

So (in the temperate zones) we do have seasons.

Despite equinox reports, evidences of winter still show in many places. Twenty-one inches of snow are on the ground at Traverse City, 34 inches at Pellston and a whooping 45 inches at Grand Marais in the Upper Peninsula.

Temperatures in downtown Pontiac dropped from a high of 43 degrees at midnight to 31 at 8 a.m. The thermometer reading at 1 p.m. was 38.

Ike Flares Up Over Fund Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new flare up in the battle of the budget appeared in prospect today as a result of President Eisenhower's strong denunciation of a House committee's fund cutting.

"Irresponsible action," Eisenhower said Friday after the House Appropriations Committee rejected his request for 225 million dollars in supplementary money for the Development Loan Fund.

In a statement issued from his Camp David, Md., headquarters, Eisenhower said:

"The action today if not reversed will represent a long step backward toward isolating our country and weakening our national security."

Speaking in unusually strong terms, Eisenhower said the loan fund "must have additional funds now." The fund finances loans to underdeveloped areas in connection with the foreign aid program.

The House itself cut more than 60 million dollars from proposed funds to finance the Treasury and Post Office departments during the 1960 fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Without controversy and by voice vote, the House passed and sent to the Senate a money bill appropriating $779,402,000 to the Treasury, $3,847,160,000 to the Post Office and $1,535,000 to the Tax Court.

These sums are $51,920,000 less than the Post Office requested, $8,310,000 less than the Treasury asked but the same amount sought by the Tax Court.

Passage of the bill cleared the way for a House vote and an almost certain floor fight next week on an omnibus appropriation bill which had contained Eisenhower's loan fund request.

The bill now earmarks $2,479,340,494 to finance miscellaneous federal agencies and departments for the remaining three months of the 1959 fiscal year.

Altogether, the Appropriations Committee slashed the omnibus measure by $385,614,032—of which the loan fund rejection was the biggest cut.

At least part of the fund may be restored later when the House considers the 1960 foreign aid appropriation. But this would charge the loan fund money against the new budget which Eisenhower is trying to balance.

The administration had requested the money be included in the current year budget, which is already heavily unbalanced.

Human Values Are as Vital to Business as Economics

By ROSS L. HOLMAN

Writing About Philip Kerrigan, Businessman

Franz Schmidt, engineer, now 60 years old, thanks God and Philip Kerrigan Jr., every day that he is no longer sweeping floors or hustling crates.

Schmidt had come to America with his engineering degrees, impressive experience in German industry, and high hopes, only to find that he had been born too soon.

KERRIGAN

Whenever he applied for a job he was told that anyone over 45 was considered too old. He took any menial job he could find just to stay alive.

Three years ago, he heard that the Kerrigan Iron Works in Nashville, Tenn., welcomed experienced men regardless of age, as long as they were physically and mentally sound. Schmidt now makes more money at the plant than he ever did in his life, and is now being given the opportunity to use his trained talents to the maximum.

Many of the 500 employes at the Kerrigan Iron Works range in age from 45 to 70, and Philip Kerrigan would have no hesitation in hiring a man of 80 if he were physically fit and had the required experience for the job.

"It doesn't make sense to pass up all that competency," says Kerrigan, a churchman who takes his beliefs to work with him. "Besides, they're more settled than the youngsters who figure they can try out several industries before they see which one they like."

A few months ago he hired a 70-year-old engineer who'd been retired from one plant after another. Since he joined Kerrigan, he's shown such unusual fire in his skills that other plants have made him tempting offers. But he won't leave Kerrigan.

"Such men appreciate, more than younger ones, the chance to get a new start in their chosen fields," Kerrigan says. "That's why they give everything they have to make good—and a little more."

Behind this reasoning is the compassionate heart of a devout man who was a blacksmith's helper in 1929 when he started his plant in an old store with two helpers, three shop tools, and a loan of $1,700.

Kerrigan now does a $10,000,000 a year business. He has always held that each person in the plant is as important in the sight of God as the owner.

"Each one here has as much right to consider the plant a guarantee against poverty and want as the owner," he says. "No business is a real success unless it accumulates human values as well as material wealth."

Since he started, human values and a complete indifference to age, race, creed, nationality, or even physical handicap, have determined whom he hires.

For Kerrigan, allowing the unhandicapped part of a man to wither is sinful. When a polio victim in the plant, one among a number of handicapped, came down with TB, Kerrigan not only kept his job open until he was healed, but lent him enough money to tide him over the worst of his illness.

A non-interest loan plan, repayable on easy monthly installments, is maintained for all the plant's employes.

It must be just good business management that has made this company show a profit and volume increase each year since it began, or it may also be because of its accumulation of human values.

Kerrigan or his executives visit the home of any employe who is ill, in financial difficulty or who has any other kind of a problem, and offer assistance. The firm feels that a man's family is at the core of a man's job.

Recently, the personnel manager was dispatched to a camp in the East full of escapees from the Red terror in Hungary. He returned with 24 engineers and draftsmen. Kerrigan made sure they all found suitable homes, and for the penniless he advanced money for food, clothing and furnishings.

None of the 24 knew a word of English. It was arranged, therefore, that two Hungarians already in the plant should act as interpreters on the job and hold English classes for them.

And as soon as they were settled in their homes, Kerrigan introduced each family to a pastor of its own choice.

He says simply: "I operate my life and plant the way I think Christ himself would expect me to run them."

Hatcher Leading Trip to Russia

U. of M. President, Five Other Educators Plan Journey Next Month

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The president of the University of Michigan says he will head a six-man educational delegation to the Soviet Union to study Russia's higher education program.

The trip is being sponsored by the State Department and financed by the Ford Foundation, said Dr. Harlan Hatcher.

Hatcher said yesterday that the group hopes to leave next month but no definite date has been set. They plan to stay in Russia three weeks, he added.

The delegation also includes Dr. Norman P. Auburn, president of the University of Akron (Ohio); D. F. Cyril James, vice chancellor of McGill University at Montreal; William C. Pine, scholarship program director for Ford Motor Co.; and Profs. Horace W. Dewey and Lyle M. Nelson of the University of Michigan.

Besides visiting Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev and other Russian cities, Hatcher said, the group hopes to visit Helsinki, Warsaw and Vienna.

City Will Approve Money for Airport

east-west runway, bringing it up to 5,500 feet in length.

3. Resurfacing of the existing east-west runway and taxiway with 2½-inch thick asphalt, strengthening it for the heavier planes that will begin using it.

4. Seal coating the whole runway and the taxiway to the commercial area for weather protection.

As an additional feature, the city would be credited with $7,500, or one-half of what it paid for easement at the western approach last year.

Hoskins said that the 5,500-foot runway would be able to handle all standard twin-engine aircraft, both passenger and cargo types.

This would be bound to enhance the airport's attractiveness, he said, as a center for regularly scheduled passenger flights, a service which the Civil Aeronautics Authority has under consideration now.

The airport would be able to handle safely such turbo-prop aircraft as the Convair 340 and the Fairchild F27, one of which actually landed at the airport last year.

Standard transports, such as the type used for air cargo by General Motors Corp. divisions and other local industries, could land and take off easily on the 5,500 foot runway, Hoskins said.

Legislator to Propose State Income Tax

Christman pattern, or one closely resembling it, has the best chance of winning final legislative approval.

ESTIMATE COST

State Revenue Department officials have estimated that to administer an income tax representing a clear-cut addition to the present tax structure would cost between 2½ and six million dollars annually.

Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, a Democrat, said today that firing even one-half of the state's 32,000 employes wouldn't erase Michigan's deficit, expected to hit 110 million dollars by June 30.

Swainson sought to illustrate what he called the "myth" that rigid economics offer a way out of the state's financial dilemma.

What is needed, he said, is less vague talk about economy and more "public legislative responsibility."

In a weekly newsletter, the lieutenant governor said there were only two conceivable courses for major economies: cutting the state's 173 million dollar a year payroll or cutting services.

One option, he said, was the state might withdraw all support of higher education and from all safety and defense activities. This, too, would bring things into financial balance.

'LUDICROUS SUGGESTION'

"But this suggestion is ludicrous, to be sure," Swainson said.

In Ann Arbor today, the University of Michigan regents called upon alumni and friends of the university to "help acquaint the people of the state with the gravity of the present financial crisis and the importance of an immediate solution through legislative action."

Payless paydays for university professors and others are threatened, but no employe has missed a paycheck yet.

The Michigan regents, however, sidestepped taking sides between Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams and the Republican-controlled Legislature.

The State Board of Agriculture, governing body of Michigan State University, voted in a partisan 4-1 split yesterday to support Williams' program that includes a graduated personal income tax.

Thus, the regents likely skirted political implications in which the agricultural board may find itself embroiled when appropriations come before the Republican-dominated Legislature.

The Day in Birmingham

Music, Sermons to Mark Palm Sunday Observance

BIRMINGHAM — Special music and sermons will be heard here tomorrow as Birmingham churches observe Palm Sunday. Several have scheduled programs other than the regular worship services.

The Sanctuary Choir of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will present "The Seven Last Words of Christ" at 4:30 p.m.

The preparatory service to receive new members who will formally join the First Presbyterian Church on Maundy Thursday and Good Friday will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow night at the church. Prior to the service, a supper for the 80 young people and their parents will be served.

At the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, 48 children who completed a two-year course of study, will be confirmed at the 11 a.m. service.

The First Baptist Church will inaugurate a new service of providing transportation for members who would otherwise be unable to attend services. Persons desiring this service are asked to call the church office after 9:15 a.m. Sunday mornings.

At St. James Episcopal Church the 120 members of the boys and girls choirs will present the cantata "Stabat Mater" at 4 p.m.

Four persons were injured last night in a two car crash on W. Maple road near the Oakland Hills Country Club.

Police said Burtram Rutledge, 22, of Ferndale, was making a left turn when his auto was struck by a car driven by Thomas E. Nigg, 18, of Walled Lake.

Bloomfield Township police said that because of a sharp rise in the road, neither driver could see the other vehicle.

Susan Davis, 17, of Milford, a passenger in Nigg's car, was reported in satisfactory condition today at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, after receiving head and leg injuries.

The two drivers and David Ballard, 31, of Ferndale, a passenger in Rutledge's car, were treated and then released from the hospital.

University of Michigan alumni in the area are entertaining 40 U. of M. foreign students in their homes here this weekend.

For the first time, students are here from Hungary, Lebanon, Ecuador, Iceland and Guatemala. India, with 10, has the largest representation.

The Jim and Red Service Station at Pierce street and 14 Mile road, was broken into last night and $300 in tools and an undetermined amount of coins from vending machines were reported missing.

Police patrol discovered the entry about 4:30 this morning when they noticed a broken window on the east side of the building.

John J. Babcock

Service for John J. Babcock, 76, of 5750 Euclid Dr., West Bloomfield Township, will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will follow in Acacia Park Cemetery, Southfield.

Mr. Babcock died Thursday in a Royal Oak convalescent home following a long illness. Before retirement in 1952, he had owned and operated a service station in Detroit for 25 years.

Surviving are his wife, Elizabeth; two daughters, Mrs. George F. Sweet of Walled Lake and Mrs. Carl Loewen of Evansville, Ill.; two sons, John J. Jr. of Pontiac and George H. of Frazer; four brothers, 10 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

John A. Reid

The body of John A. Reid, 61, of 311 Woodbridge Rd., Bloomfield Hills, who died Thursday while vacationing at Pompano, Fla., is at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., Birmingham. Funeral arrangements are still pending.

The retired purchasing agent for Ford Motor Co. was a member of the Oakland Hills Country Club and the Detroit Athletic Club.

The U.S.-British difference, which had developed sharply after Macmillan's visit to Moscow a month ago, was well known in advance of the Camp David conference. But it came into the personal discussions of Eisenhower and Macmillan in the course of their seven hours of discussion Friday.

Hagerty repeatedly refused to tell the nature of the agreement reached. He said he could not go beyond his statement.

It was known, however, that Eisenhower had told associates he intended to stand firm on his view that he was prepared to go to a summit conference but it should be justified by developments in the meantime.

Macmillan had come to the United States hoping to persuade him, according to all accounts, to make a firm pledge for a summit meeting this summer.

That was where the profitable morning discussions really began—at a long walnut table in front of a massive stone fireplace in Eisenhower's lodge.

Eisenhower and Macmillan sat down to breakfast around 8:00 a.m. Various advisers joined them and pitched in on the informal talk.

About an hour and a half later the British and American consultants got down to a more formal basis in the sun room of the lodge.

Snow, Cold and Tornadoes Bluster in With Spring

Spring blustered its way into the nation today on the winds of a near-blizzard that swept the midlands and stirred up a flurry of small tornadoes in the western Gulf states.

But the U. S. Weather Bureau promised the vicious storms would calm into gentle breezes and light rains, bringing a welcome reprieve to weather-weary residents of the central states who have suffered through one of the worst winters in decades.

Spring officially arrived at 3:55 a.m. (EST), but winter called the tune up to the last moment by dumping up to 10 inches of snow through Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming and Kansas and dipping temperatures near zero along the Canadian border.

Eighty-mile-an-hour winds lashed the snow into drifts that blocked highways and toppled power lines and sparked a blinding dust storm in a 700-mile wide belt across central Texas.

One tornado struck near Trenton, Tex., 50 miles northeast of Dallas, destroying or damaging five houses and six barns. Another tornado uprooted trees and damaged two houses as it brushed the northeast edge of Marshall, Tex.

The third damaged 22 homes, three badly, at Paxton, a village of about 200 persons 40 miles south of Marshal near the Louisiana line.

Winds up to 86 m.p.h. howled across the Texas Panhandle Friday night piling up snow in three-foot drifts. Blowing snow reduced visibility to zero.

The Texas Highway Department closed all roads in the Texas Panhandle north of the Canadian River because of the drifts. It said the drifts in the Texline area were so big snow plows had difficulty moving them.

Near Vicksburg, Miss., high winds during a thunderstorm snapped a Mississippi River steamboat loose from its moorings and sent its 500 passengers drifting one-quarter of a mile downstream. The huge old sternwheeler finally ran aground on a sandbar.

The weather was blamed for at least nine deaths in two days as two men died of heart attacks fighting the Colorado blizzard, three persons drowned in snow-swollen Iowa rivers and four persons were killed in a bus-car crash during a rainstorm near St. Augustine, Fla.

Winterlike temperatures of 5 to 10 degrees above zero were reported early today from the upper Mississippi Valley into the eastern Dakotas and sub-zero readings chilled Colorado and northwest Kansas.

The Weather Bureau in Chicago forecast a gradual cooling for the Great Lakes region and the Ohio Valley.

Sunny, clear skies, following Friday's springtime 60 to 70 readings, were again on tap for New England.

Outside the storm center, heaviest rain was reported along the Gulf section. Pine Bluff, Ark., was doused by 1.22 inches while Monroe, La. had .85 during a six-hour period. Jackson, Miss. reported .81.

Letter Deluge Planned by City

Pontiac Homeowners to Get Mail Appeal on Sewage Bond Issue

A plan to flood the city with letters was adopted by the City Commission last night to put over the sewage treatment plant bond issue April 6.

Commissioners, meeting informally, decided to send out around 26,000 letters in an effort to reach every Pontiac home with an appeal for approval of the $3,300,000 bond issue at the spring election.

The cost of the effort was undetermined, but $700 for advertising was approved.

Only property owners will be eligible to pass on the bond issue, which has been defeated twice in the past two years.

Commissioners are also scheduling town meetings within their districts, with administrative officials speaking on the need for expanded facilities.

Flannery Is Found Insane in Killing

NOT A WORD

The state attempted to prove that Flannery killed Neitling in a rage because Neitling had needled him and put his clothes into a hall.

Flannery often sat staring at the wall during the trial. His parents came to visit him in his cell two days ago and he sat with the same placid expression never saying a word.

He kept his eyes on a waving tree branch outside the window. The parents finally got up quietly and left.

The youth was described as having a bright future when he was graduated with honors from high school last June. He showed promise as a high school athlete and began playing football at Hillsdale College.

Hillsdale coach Franklin Waters testified that Flannery was one of the most promising young men he had met. Waters said he was an outstanding athlete.

Pancake Type Transmission Developed

Car Makers to Engineer Out Hump

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—The hump through the floor may be engineered out of several 1960 automobiles. In most others it will be substantially reduced.

A new pancake type of automatic transmission and the shifting of much of the transmission mechanism to the rear axle area are designed to eliminate the hump. Power train experts call the latter device a transaxle.

The hump has been rising steadily as the car's overall height has been lowered. Its chief function is to cover the transmission, driveshaft and universal joints. It has made riding uncomfortable for the center-seat passenger in both front and rear compartments.

Because space is needed to accommodate the up and down movement of the car body, the hump has to be somewhat higher than the mechanism beneath it.

A sizable drop in the height of the hump will be achieved with the flattened automatic transmission unit. It may be used with the transaxle. The transaxle concept includes independent rear springing. This will permit the various parts of the transmission to ride up and down with the body.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler have done considerable work on transaxle systems but have disclosed no details.

Installing the transmission mechanism in the rear will take up considerable trunk space. Also posing problems for the transmission engineers has been the development of strong but lighter and thinner controls from the engine to the rear axle area.

The transaxle has been used in some foreign-built cars and was tried briefly by one U. S. maker shortly after World War I. The pancacke type automatic transmission is said to be a completely new unit.

Engineering experts say there is more to the present-day concept of the transaxle than there was 35 years ago. The hump was not much of a problem in the higher vehicles with the greater wheel diameter and road clearance common at that time.

Virtually everything involved in the transaxle system today will be new, including the rear axle assembly as well as the transmission itself. Changes in the brakes also may be a part of the system.

Efforts to reduce the transmission hump have been under way for several years. Some makers avoided even higher humps by using a three-joint shaft, by tilting the engine at the rear and by using the kind of gear that permits the propeller shaft to tie into the lower part of the differential.

One maker gained some reduction of the hump by moving the engine forward a few inches. In some instances this solution was rejected because it involved increasing overall length of the vehicle or extending the wheel base.

Less than a year ago it was being said the transaxle system would not be ready for incorporation in volume-produced cars before the 1961 or 1962 model years. But it has been under test for several months and virtually is certain to appear in one or more makes of cars in 1960.

Some industry analysts have called the transaxle system the nearest thing to a revolutionary engineering advance the automakers are likely to bring out in 1960.

Blames Governor for State's Woes

Williams Culprit, Says GOP

LANSING (AP) — Making a pitch for a protest vote against Democrats April 6, Republican campaign strategists sought today to pin the blame for Michigan's cash emergency exclusively on Gov. Williams.

The party's executive and campaign committees swatted at the governor for absenteeism, refusal to compromise, lack of leadership and playing politics "to the detriment of the state."

And, last night State Chairman Lawrence B. Lindemer "indicted" Williams in a talk to a GOP women's group, accusing the governor of "irresponsibility to the point of dishonesty."

"It may be that Michigan will go bankrupt," he said.

"It may be that Michigan's teachers, hospital personnel and security and safety personnel, among others, will have payless pay days. If such is the case, the blame rests clearly with the governor."

Reds Would Sell Oil in Europe

New Pipeline Network Cited as Part of Plan to Flood Market

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Soviets are getting set with thousands of miles of pipelines to flood the north European market with low-priced crude oil.

Scandinavian sources said today the oil will flow from areas as far away as Baku on the Caspian Sea.

A Finnish trade delegation headed by Trade Minister Ahti Karjalainen which returned to Helsinki from Moscow this week confirmed that the Soviets have completed a huge transcontinental network to link the Caspain and Black seas with the Baltic.

The Finns were offered Soviet oil "at a very favorable price," a spokesman said. The exact price was not disclosed.

Soviet technicians are putting the finishing touches on a modern port for tankers at Klaipeda (prewar Memel), in Lithuania. It is expected to be put into operation for small tankers this spring.

Soviet oil sold to north Europeans in the past has had to come from the Black Sea by tankers on month-long trips via the Mediterranean, Atlantic and English Channel.

Swedish experts take the Soviet bid as a first sign of an all-out sales drive in northern Europe.

Kills Wife, 89, Because Pain 'Just Too Much'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Her suffering was just too much for me to bear. So last night I prayed all night. I asked God what to do."

That, said detective Sgt. John J. McBride, was the explanation 90-year-old George Hope gave Friday after the fatal shooting of his wife, Ada, 89, as she slept in their North Philadelphia home.

McBride said Hope planned to kill himself also. But his .32-calibre pistol fell from his trembling hands and the moment for suicide had passed.

"It's all over," Hope told Mrs. Alda Deshant, a neighbor who heard the shot and rushed into the house to see what had happened.

Hope told police his wife had been in poor health for 10 years.

The Pilgrims introduced the first card game in this country in the Plymouth Colony. It was a game called All Fours similar to the present day card game of Pitch.

Jobs Said More Vital Than Inflation Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats winced. The Republicans were incredulous. Some were downright jolted.

That was a congressional committee's reaction Friday to some unorthodox testimony from Harvard economist Sumner Slicher.

"I don't think there is a single sacred cow you haven't kicked," commented Chairman Paul Douglas (D-Ill) of the Senate-House Economic Committee as Slichter finished talking.

Douglas himself a University of Chicago economist before he went to Congress, nevertheless thanked the Harvard man for giving the committee his ideas.

The committee is beginning an investigation into the problem of how to achieve economic growth without inflation.

Slichter, however, called unemployment a bigger national problem than inflation.

He said with joblessness still at recession levels the government should plan a three-billion-dollar deficit for the next fiscal year to create jobs.

Spring's Finally Here; Let's Start Enjoying It

Spring arrived early this morning. Just take a look around and enjoy some of this balmy outdoors for a change. The last couple of days have been exceptionally nice which just goes to prove that "old man weather" can treat us right when the calendar finally says spring is near at hand.

Also, in looking back, remember it might have been a bit worse. Detroit Weather Bureau records show that actually there have been 11 previous winters which presumably topped our recent violent season.

Apparently it is not in the cards always to have weather made to order. Recent reports show Lakeland, Fla., home of the Tigers, with six straight days of rain.

There's no disputing that spring is here, the calendar says so. So let's get out the hoe or golf clubs and see what the new season has to offer.

'Equal Time' Ruling Branded Ridiculous

Section 315 of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) Act provides that any radio or television station which permits a legally qualified candidate for public office to use its facilities must afford equal opportunities to all other candidates for that office.

The absurdity of this rule is brought to light by the LAR DALY case in Chicago. During the recent mayoralty primary campaign in that city Mayor DALEY, in his official capacity, was shown on television news programs greeting Argentina's President FRONDIZI and opening the March of Dimes drive. Perennial office seeker DALY, this time running for mayor, demanded equal time on news broadcasts.

NBC and CBS refused. Mr. DALY appealed to the FCC which ruled that he was entitled to equal time on a regular news broadcast. NBC gave him five and a half minutes of free time on television but CBS refused on the ground that equal time provision did not apply to regularly scheduled newscasts.

A CBS official explained that if regularly scheduled news programs must turn their microphones and cameras away from any news event which involves a person who happens to be a candidate for office, the free press and the right of the people to be informed have suffered a shattering blow.

Dr. FRANK STANTON, president of CBS, pointed out that during the 1956 presidential campaign the CBS television network devoted 20 per cent of its newscast time to the presidential and vice-presidential candidates of the two major parties. If it had been required to give equal time to all the 24 such candidates of the 12 parties, as this ruling says, it must, there would have been a complete blackout of other news and even the requirement could not have been met.

With national elections coming up in 1960, reversal of the ruling is essential. As things stand now television and radio news programs cannot present either of the major presidential candidates unless prepared to provide equal time to candidates of the Prohibition, Vegetarian, America First, Socialist Labor, Socialist Workers and all other minor parties.

News From Florida

Like Our County Thinks Lakeland Area Best Place to Live

By JOE HAAS

LAKELAND, Fla.—Here is an area that is quite mindful of our own Pontiac in many ways. As its name implies, it is a land of lakes. In their abundance, it resembles Oakland County.

JOE HAAS

But very few of these lakes here have homes on their shores. The residents do not seem to go for the water, except to fish — and that isn't any better than it is on hundreds of lakes in the Pontaic area.

This section is one of the very few in Florida not entirely dependent on the tourist or citrus fruit for its livelihood.

While both are here in abundance, there's a nature-given asset that reminds one of something in the same manner of production that has become Oakland County's second biggest industry.

In Oakland County it is sand and gravel. Here it is phosphate. Both bring millions of dollars each year, but both tear up the landscape.

In the Lakeland immediate vicinity are the richest phosphate deposits in the world. It is dug from the earth in much the same manner as our sand and gravel, and goes into fertilizer that is shipped to every state in the union and to many foreign countries.

If you think we have facsimilies of the Grand Canyon around Oxford, Clarkston, Novi, Holly and other Pontiac suburban points, you should see some of the real gashes in the bowels of the earth around here.

Their total length runs into hundreds of miles, and from them is taken over one thousand carloads of phosphate every day.

Its reduction and refining is done on mills that remind one of our auto plants — except that everything about them and for miles around is covered with dust.

Located in the midst of one of Florida's best citrus growing sections, the phosphate deposits are so valuable that in some places orange and grapefruit groves are being cut down to make way for the mining operations for this fertilizer base—which all over the state goes back into the ground — to boost the production of the fruits, some of which it eliminated.

For many years it has been apparent that these abandoned phosphate canyons would be a serious problem in this area's future.

And now something is being done about it that might be a lesson for Oakland County.

The development of the modern bulldozer and other gigantic earth moving machinery in very recent years makes it possible to fill these mad-made canyons, gullies, ravines and lakes.

They are being filled and the soil leveled off and planted to citrus trees or platted for homes.

The first projects of this kind already are producing fruit or housing people in a manner only possible under building restrictions that have the advantages of being inaugurated from a brand new start.

It is anticipated that within a couple of years the area being reclaimed annually in this manner will equal or exceed that being worked in new phosphate diggings.

From this our own Oakland County can learn a lesson. It already is under operation in a small way with us, but can be extended almost indefinitely.

Our sand and gravel depressions can be restored to a level and platted for homes, or restored to farming, dairying or fruit raising, after the proper application of fertilizer—probably based on Florida phosphate.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

PALM SUNDAY

"And they brought the colt to Jesus, and cast their garments on him; and He sat upon him.

And many spread their garments in the way; and others cut down branches off the trees, and strawed them in the way.

And they that went before, and they that followed, cried saying, Hosanna; Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord . . ." — Mark 11:7-9.

Days of All Faiths

Easter's Early; Passover's Late

DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

There is a somewhat abnormal spread between Easter and the Jewish Passover this year. Ordinarily they come fairly close together, often in the same week as they originally did when the first Easter was on the Sunday of Passover week.

But this year, because of difference between the Christian and Jewish calendars, Easter is quite early and Passover is a little late. In fact, the Jewish midwinter festival of Purim is just coming along now. It falls on Tuesday of this week.

Palm Sunday is the sixth Sunday in Lent and the last Sunday before Easter. It commemorates the Lord's entry into Jerusalem, the seemingly happy occasion when jovial Passover crowds in the city welcomed Him as if they truly believed He was the Messiah. They shouted and cheered His arrival, spreading palm branches in His path. It all looked like a triumphal entry. He knew it was meaningless.

Palm Sunday opens the Christian Church's solemn week-long dramatization of Christ's last days on earth.

From tomorrow until next Sunday throngs will gather in the churches to remember and meditate upon His capture, trial, and crucifixion, knowing, as His disciples at the time could not know, that the week's hopelessness and gloom will change to exaltation next Sunday with the commemoration of His mighty resurrection.

The day has, therefore, acquired certain traditions which, though solemn, are not without their pleasant aspects. Palms are blessed in the churches and distributed to the congregation, to be saved in the home throughout the year. Some are reserved at the church to be burned to provide ashes for next year's Ash Wednesday.

In former times, when transportation facilities were not what they are today, some countries could not get real palms. In Ireland, yew branches served as a substitute.

People took them home and hung them up for luck, both in their houses and in their cattle stalls. Sometimes they planted them along with their potatoes, to insure a good crop. In other countries the palms were used to decorate graves, a happy reminder of the coming general resurrection.

"On Purim the Jew Laughs." Tuesday is the happiest, or at any rate the most hilarious, festival of the Jewish year.

One good way to get at the meaning and importance of Purim would be to answer some of the questions about this holiday recently published in "A Kit to Stimulate Jewish Adult Education," by the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods.

"What does the word Purim mean?" It means "lots." This comes from the ancient story about the wicked Persian Prime Minister Haman, who had tricked the king into giving him permission to kill all Jews. Haman cast lots to determine what would be the best day for the slaughter.

"Where is the story told?" In the Old Testament book of Esther.

"What is Shalach Monos?" It is the exchange of gifts, or more accurately, the "sharing of portions" that is obligatory on all Jews on this day. Even the poorest Jew is required to give two gifts Tuesday.

(It should be added that the reason for the day's joyous character is that Haman's plot was foiled. The Jews were spared and Haman was hanged on the gallows he had prepared for the Jew, Mordecai, whom he hated above all others.)

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

One Mother's Philosophy: Out of Sight, Out of Mind

"I've just returned from a five-day vacation (?) in the hospital. I'm a lazy woman, lazy and ignorant. Having a baby is a great lark. I enjoyed not having to do the dishes — not having to worry about the other children falling out of a tree. I enjoyed the assurance of having competent people always at hand for any emergency. — (A Mother).

DR. BRADY

Answer—When the children are out of sight they're out of mind, eh? You are right—evidently you are ignorant of everything pertaining to maternity and childbirth. Whether you are lazy is your own idea, not mine.

It's a funny thing about this bursitis, I notice—it scarcely hurts until one gets it—(R.G.)

Answer—A sagacious observation. In any case, I believe, although I do not know, that an adequate daily intake of calcium and D moderate pain and hastens recovery.

"Following severe bronchitis a year ago, I developed asthma. Skin tests have not shown I am allergic to anything, but I seem to get asthma from cigarette smoke, and hence I rarely attend social gatherings because there are always smokers."—(Mrs. C.V.H.)

Answer—If there is more or less constant wheezing or difficulty of breathing the condition is more likely emphysema (ballooning of portions of lungs) or bronchiectasis (ballooning of bronchial tubes). In asthma the breathing is difficult and wheezy by spells with intervals of normal breathing. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents for pamphlets Asthma and Relief for Allergy.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

All Occupations Can Be God's Work

Bill's dilemma confronts thousands of fine young people nowadays. If you feel an overpowering urge to help change people's lives via the pulpit, by all means go to seminary. But you can still imitate St. Paul and plant spiritual roses where thistles grew before, just as a hobby. St. Paul did his preaching in his spare time!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I like chemistry," he began, "but my mother always hoped I'd be a clergyman.

DR. CRANE

"And I sometimes wonder if I am doing as much good in a chemistry lab as I might have done working with people, and especially teenagers?

"Do you think I should change my career at this late date and go back to seminary?"

IMITATE ST. PAUL

Many talented young men who have studied for engineering, dentistry or advertising and other professional careers, have gone back to seminary, so Bill's question is not far-fetched.

But laymen can often do almost as much good as an official clergyman by their spare time efforts.

For example, St. Paul was not a priest or minister by profession. No, he earned his living by working as a tent maker.

And he probably put in long hours, perhaps 12 hours per day, at that trade.

Thus, it was only after the quitting whistle blew that he engaged in his hobby of preaching.

Yet St. Paul has left an unsurpassed mark on the history of mankind by what he did in his spare time.

No full fledged clergyman in all the intervening centuries has exceeded St. Paul's good works.

St. Paul was the first man to set up Christian church organizations. And, like a good modern sales manager, he then wrote letters (epistles) to his tiny church groups (Galatians, Ephesians, etc.).

These epistles later became included as part of the New Testament, but when he penned those inspiring sales messages to his small church groups, Paul had no idea he was writing part of the modern Bible.

PART TIME PREACHERS

Did you ever stop to consider that most of the new members who join the church come from Sunday School classes taught by laymen?

These laymen thus are recruiting the new members to keep the churches going in the next generation.

And laymen also serve as Scout leaders, Camp Fire Girl directors, Cub mothers, Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y sponsors.

They are active in the YMCA and CYO. They form the backbone of the PTA, and they staff the men's service clubs, which are really a form of interdenominational men's "home missionary society."

Women generously form the official church missionary societies and devout laymen furnish most of the money for all church expenses.

So don't get the mistaken notion that you cannot be an effective youth worker or religious leader unless you occupy the pulpit.

But the pulpit does offer the most influential profession in America today, so you talented men should consider it seriously.

In every congregation you will find the leaders of business and such professions as law, journalism, engineering, medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, etc.

These men and women gather to receive a re-charging of their spiritual batteries each week, so you clergymen have the topmost profession in this modern age.

The makers of Sputniks and other latest inventions can never remotely approach your ultimate influence.

It is far better to produce a good boy or a good girl than the best Sputnik the world will ever see.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Denies Incompatibilities of Presidency, Catholicism

There's nothing in the oath of allegiance that conflicts with Catholic doctrine, and any Catholic taking it is bound in conscience to uphold it in its entirety. Catholics have always believed in separation of church and state.

That's why Washington's army was predominately Catholic, that's why Catholics helped write it into our Constitution, and that's why Catholics by the million, along with non-Catholic patriots, have died to preserve it.

No Catholic shall be elected to the Presidency in 1960. Our people would sell out to communism first. It's my fond hope that a Catholic shall never be elected President. The Catholic Church would surely be blamed for the betrayal of mankind over the past 25 years, not to mention national bankruptcy and a complete breakdown of our national code of honor.

More Readers Are Griped by Animals

A solution to dogs running loose would be to require anyone with a dog to put up a fence, no matter how small. Chicken wire is cheap.

I live in Waterford and have never seen packs of dogs. To tie a dog is cruel. Even some dog houses aren't the answer. What of the man in Detroit whose dog's house leaked and the dog's body was found starved and incased in ice. He was given a suspended sentence and now he can get another dog. I'm sure he will, as he's a hunter.

Cats should be restrained, too. They eat birds and something under a cat's claws causes tetanus. They keep us awake at night, too. Let's face it, Concerned has his troubles with dogs, and I with cats, and if we don't like it we might just as well jump off this here old world.

Also Concerned

Dog season is here again. I haven't minded a pack of 10 milling around, but now a little boy was bitten. And my boy and another child enjoyed the luxury of riding to school in a taxicab. Owners of these dogs aren't bothered with them. Why aren't they kept at home in a proper place according to the law?

One Letter Brings Another's Dissent

Not Fooled, as he signs himself, is ignorant and disgusting. Any Catholic will tell him there's nothing that would interfere with an American Catholic in the tenets of being true. One of the signers of the Declaration of Independence was a Catholic bishop and many others have died for America. That old red herring is always pulled out to smear Catholics about separation of church and state. Protestants say "for God and country," and so does everyone that believes in God. That goes for Catholics.

'Does That Letter Give Whole Story?'

Mother of Nine condemned the Veterans' Trust Fund for not assisting her. I wonder if maybe before she submitted her last application for help the Trust Fund had already helped her?

She also stated that one person runs the Fund in Pontiac, which isn't so. There's a committee of four which acts on all applications. However, it's true that one person is in charge of the office of Veterans' affairs. What office doesn't have a person in charge?

Reference was also made that connected the Trust Fund with the VA. There's no connection in any way.

OTHER DEDUCTIONS
(Last in Series)

You may include in this space all other allowable deductions for which a separate space has not been provided.

If you suffered a loss of property which was caused by fire, storm, etc., then you can deduct such loss under "Other Deductions."

Educational expenses; such as tuition and books, incurred for maintaining or improving skills for your employment, should be included on "Other Deductions."

However, travel and transportation expenses in connection with education are deductible in arriving at adjusted gross income.

The rules for reporting deductible education expenses and casualty losses are explained on Page 19 of your Form 1040 instruction Booklet.

Other deductions include such expenses as dues to unions or professional societies, safety equipment and tools required for your job, and many others.

If you paid an employment agency for getting you a job, this would also be an allowable "Other Deduction."

Reading your instruction booklet or a call to your Internal Revenue Service office will put you on the right track in preparing your tax return.

Man's Condition Fair After Knifing, Theft

A Pontiac man was in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital today after being stabbed and robbed by two unidentified men early this morning.

John Van Ripper, 31, of 50½ School St., told Pontiac police two men jumped into his car as he stopped at railroad tracks on Maple street.

He said they threatened him with a knife and demanded money. The men, one of them wearing an Army-type field jacket, took a watch and $20 cash, Van Ripper reported.

He explained that he resisted them and in the scuffle one of his assailants stabbed him in the chest. He was able to drive to the hospital.

The assault took place shortly before 4 a.m.

Pontiac Woman Will Preside at PTA Clinic

Mrs. Charles W. Neldrett of 62 Mariva St., president of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, will preside at a one-day clinic Wednesday of PTA officers and leaders.

The meeting, sponsored by the congress and Michigan State University College of Education, will be held at the university.

Mrs. William Wright of 184 Chippewa Rd., program chairman, will be a resource person for the workshop "Planning Elementary PTA Programs."

More than 800 Michigan PTA officers and leaders are expected to attend the clinic which will discuss the kind of teachers wanted for children; ways to finance an adequate school program and the size school districts should be.

Martha Reveals Some 'Hyer' Mathematics

NEW YORK — Martha Hyer is back from her camel-riding tour around the Sphinx and Pyramids now—back in Hollywood saying, "This is my big year . . . the year I make the jump and get my name above the title."

WILSON

Martha's speaking about billing — and it started that Tuesday morning 6,000 miles from here . . . in a hotel lobby in Cairo. We were about to go out to the desert for a tent party. "There's a sandstorm . . . wear something warm," somebody said—and suddenly there was Martha, in a long mink coat, exclaiming: "Did you hear about me?"

"Got one of the nominations for an Oscar for 'Some Came Running'!" she announced. It wasn't a squeal because Martha studied speech at Northwestern—but she was ecstatic.

"What a place to get the news in!" Martha said in the bus ride out to the Pyramids . . . and was still thinking about that when Hugh O'Brian was helping her get on the camel they call "Whisky and Soda."

"I sent my father and mother in Dallas a cable when I heard the news — it cost me $28," she said.

MARTHA

Her father, Julien C. Hyer, who's a municipal judge and a Methodist Sunday School teacher, and her mother will probably attend the Oscar dinner April 6—"I told them in the cable that I felt I owed it all to them for everything that's happened."

It was over the Atlantic on the return that Martha sketched out her future.

"From now on I will ask for at least co-star billing." She was sitting beside me. Van Johnson and Evie, his wife, were in front of us. "And I want to play some more sympathetic parts from now on."

She herself had snared the role of schoolteacher Gwen French in "Some Came Running."

"I liked the book and said I'd give anything to play that part." MGM had tried to get Deborah Kerr and Jean Simmons, who weren't interested in a supporting role.

"They asked me to audition with Frank Sinatra in a very sexy scene in which he takes my hair down. Vincente Minelli (the director) asked me the very first thing 'Is your hair long?'

Frank, she says, "is a real genius as an actor. He's probably the best natural actor living. He does spontaneously what method actors do after a lot of studying and thinking over."

"Sabrena" was her first big picture. She goe her mink coat as a bonus. She's been working her way up since, with never any unkind gossip heard about her. She's 36-24-38 ("probably going on 39 since the Cairo trip") and she learned to be a lady at Fairfax Hall Junior College at Waynesboro, Va., before going to Northwestern and Pasadena Playhouse.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Jackie Kannon explained his wife's luck at the Las Vegas crap tables: "She didn't talk to the dice—she nagged them."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Some women retain their youth by a simple exercise—they just keep pushing 30. . . . That's earl, brother.

Waterford Review Board Sets Up Extra Meeting

The Waterford Township Board of Review has announced that additional meetings will be held at the Township Hall from 9 a.m. to noon Wednesday.

The final meeting had been scheduled for March 18. Board members John Hepler, Byron Cole and Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson felt, however, that the extra meeting could accommodate those who had missed previous meetings.

Indian Scalping Try Thwarted

Attempt to Arrest U.S. Commissioner Unsuccessful

The commissioner, Glenn L. Emmons, sat in his office behind closed doors and refused to come out Friday when 18 costumed Indian leaders arrived with plans of making a citizen's arrest.

The Indians, who had spent three days here complaining of alleged injustices and land seizures, accused Emmons of being "anti-Indian."

They charged that he permitted crimes against North American Indians and said they wanted to arrest him on charges of malfeasance and nonfeasance in office—in other words of misconduct and not doing what he should.

The trip to Emmons' office came a day after their entire visiting group of 100 Indians marched in front of the White House. When they couldn't get to see President Eisenhower to air their complaints they sought help from the law. That didn't work either.

So the Indians, representing the once-powerful Iroquois Confederacy and several Western tribes, hit on the citizen's arrest plan. That's the theory that a citizen who observes a crime has the right to arrest the offender.

Emmons, however, got advance word and was in conference when the Indians arrived. His secretary refused to let them pass.

The Indians' chief spokesman was a retired Army brigadier general, Herbert C. Holdridge of Sherman Oaks, Calif.

In addition to the six nations of the Iroquois Confederacy from New York State and Canada, the Indians said they spoke against injustices and broken treaties on behalf of the Hopis of Arizona, the Utes of Utah, the Piutes of Shoshones of Nevada and Wyoming, the Putawatamies of Michigan and the Miamis of Indiana.

Charge of Furnishing Liquor to Minors Denied

A Waterford Township woman was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Donald Adams yesterday on a charge of furnishing alcoholic beverages to minors.

Mrs. Norma McCoy, 44, of 3611 Hatfield St., Drayton Plains, pleaded not guilty to the charge and was held in lieu a $500 bond.

Her examination was set for 1:30 p.m. next Friday.

Find Bodies in Plymouth Home

Mother, 2 Daughters Dead

PLYMOUTH (AP)—The bodies of a young mother and her two daughters were found last night at their home here.

Police Lieutenant Loren Johnson said Mrs. Geraldine Towne, 31, was found dead—an apparent victim of carbon monoxide poisoning—in the family car parked in the garage. He said the gas tank was empty.

Five-year-old Deborah's body was found in bed; that of Cynthia, 7, in a hallway.

Johnson said there was no sign of a struggle. An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of the children's deaths.

Police said the mother and daughters had been dead about eight hours.

Johnson said police went to the house after receiving a phone call from the father, Howard Towne, who was en route home from a business trip to Chicago. He is a radio technician.

Towne told police he had tried to call home several times before a son, Howard, Jr., 8, finally answered the phone. The boy said his mother was sleeping in the car and his sister was on the floor.

Both father and son were treated for shock at Wayne County General Hospital.

Thirty-four horses started in the race, with Pippykin and Armorial withdrawn shortly before the start.

The only other horse to finish out of the 34 was Tiberetta, who had challenged for the lead much of the way.

To Plant Trees Along Widened Perry Street

Not the big ones that were torn out last year during the widening project, but new ones that should be able to thrive in the narrow, 3½ feet of ground left between street and sidewalk.

The Commission, meeting informally last night, approved City Manager Walter K. Willman's plan to spend $2,290 for 189 new trees to line the now denuded street.

Willman said the Parks & Recreation Department thought certain types of trees could grow in the narrow space — various kinds of maple, flowering crab and hawthorn for instance.

"The trees under consideration are tough, and should grow vertically very rapidly," he said.

Commissioners gave thought to extending a tree-planting policy to any street where existing trees are removed to make way for street improvements. They didn't commit themselves finally, however.

Winds Topple Building

LAKE ANN (AP)—High winds Thursday were blamed for the collapse of a concrete building at the Baptist Youth Camp near here. The camp had just completed a winter session. It is operated by the General Assn. of Regular Baptists.

Panel members at the Seminars on Higher Learning at Michigan State University Oakland included Dr. Lee A. DuBridge, president, California Institute of Technology; Dr. Henry T. Heald, president and director, Ford Foundation; Theodore V. Houser, chairman, Board of Directors, Sears, Roebuck & Co., and Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president, Johns Hopkins University.

NEVER HATE THE MAN

J. L. VOORHEES

An ageless philosopher said: "If you must hate, hate what a man does but not the man."

The person who perpetuates a violent crime is sick, deserves pity not hatred. We bitterly complain about the younger generation but never hate them. Their conduct is little different than the conduct of children a generation ago and those boys and girls are now good, solid citizens. We shake our fist at the automobile driver who does some foolish act, but think a minute, be honest, and nine chances in ten you will recall times when you did equally foolish things—and no one hated you, only what you did. A friend is on the otherside of our political fence; should I hate him? Oh no! I respect his ideas as he respects mine.

M. E. SIPLE

The Birds and Bees!—Abby

Better Tell Beleaguered Boy Just What's Stirring in the Air

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Our 8-year-old son came home from school and told us a girl had kissed him. We asked him how it happened and he said that three of her girl friends held him down while the fourth girl kissed him. Is this the way all 8-year-old girls behave or is there something in the air out here where we live?"

ABBY

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: There is something in the air where everybody lives. Birds and bees! And you'd better start telling your son about them a little ahead of schedule.

"DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a 19-year-old girl who has a pretty face (everybody says so) but is terribly overweight. The most serious problem is that she chases men. A well respected neighbor (married with children) smiled at her and she surmised that he was in love with her and she started calling him up and writing him letters.

"She met another man (57) and cried her eyes out because I wouldn't let her go on a two-week fishing trip with him alone. I am at my wits' end and want to know what can be done with her. She is not crazy so don't tell me to take her to a doctor to have her head read."

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: People who need help with their emotional problems should feel no shame or embarrassment in going to a doctor who specializes in that field. If your daughter had a toothache, you'd take her to a dentist, wouldn't you? Her trouble is definitely emotional and if you want her to be a happy, well-adjusted useful person you will seek the professional help she needs.

"DEAR ABBY: My brother had plans to get married in April. We lost our Dad rather unexpectedly in January. I think my brother should have put off the wedding but they are going ahead and having it in April anyway. Mom feels bad about this but she isn't saying anything because she doesn't want any hard feelings. Mom and I are wearing black now as we are in mourning. I hear you are supposed to wear light-colored clothes to a wedding. We want to look nice at the wedding but we want to show our respect for Daddy. Please tell us what to wear."

MOM AND ME

DEAR MOM: All black at the wedding would be out of place and quite conspicuous. Wear navy blue or dark grey with a touch of white, but don't go in for any gay colors.

"DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old. I have always been large for my age. When I was 13 my parents sent me to stay with my uncle who lives on a farm. I sort of kept house for him. I stayed all summer and he never paid me any money, just my keep and a pair of shoes.

"My Uncle is about as old as my father but he must have thought he was younger or something. He is a bachelor. My parents want me to go back again this summer but I don't want to go. I am afraid of him. I have my reasons. Do you think I should go?"

AFRAID

DEAR AFRAID: Do not go and don't be afraid to tell your parents the "reasons."

Sidewalks Aren't for Parades

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Isn't it bad manners for people to walk three or four abreast on a city street forcing a passerby to walk around them? I have encountered this quite often of late and it infuriates me every time it happens."

Answer: Four abreast is most inconsiderate unless the sidewalk is tremendously wide, and when three walk abreast one of them should drop behind whenever they encounter either one or two passersby and there is not plenty of room for all to pass.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married shortly. The wedding party will consist of two bridesmaids, two ushers, the maid of honor and best man. There has been much discussion as to who sits at the bridal table in addition to the wedding party. I have been told that the parents of the bride and groom are also seated at the bridal table. Is this correct?"

Answer: Usually the bridal table consists only of the members of the bridal party — bride, groom, maid of honor, best man, bridesmaids and ushers. It could, however, be very large and include the parents of both bride and groom.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We have recently moved to this community. About a week ago a neighbor called at our house but I was not at home. She left a note saying that she had been there. A day or so later I went to see her but she was not at home. Should I go to see her again, or is it up to her to make the next move?"

Answer: If you left your visiting card, or a note, when you called, the next move is, strictly speaking, up to her. But because her first call was an act of kindness to you, I advise you to go to see her again.

The new Air Force formal uniform takes a page from the civilian fashion book. The airmen copy the popular civilian mess jacket, midnight blue trousers, cummerbund, bow tie and modern lightweight fabric. The mess jacket is a blend of dacron fiber and rayon. It is wash and wear, requiring little if any pressing.

DAR Members Travel to Detroit for Convention

In honor of the occasion, the Godfrey's family is giving an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 182. Pontiac residents for 33 years, they have one daughter, Mrs. Theodore Mae Kluesner and four sons, Glenn, Truman, Robert Jr., and Donald, eleven grandchildren and four great grandchildren. Mr. Godfrey is retired from Pontiac Motor Div.

New Coats Have Lifted Waistline

NEW YORK — The look of coats this spring is pre-dominantly a high-waisted one. Your new coat will be short (some stop just below the knee) and will have an enormous collar, a flat, neat one or none at all.

The ways in which the modified high waistline is handled are many. Sometimes it's gently indicated by a drawstring. It may have a wide belt run through loops of the fabric. Or it may be simply seaming which artfully places the waistline at the high mark.

This lifted waistline stands away from the figure rather than molding to it. Even belts are handled so that they encircle the waistline without indenting it.

COLLARS VARIED

Collar treatments are so varied that they start with no collar at all and work up to enormous gathered or widely cut and notched collars. In between, they may be cut high, wide and handsome or low, deep and wide.

Some of them take to scarf fillins naturally and others boast their own scarf ties in lieu of a true collar. But almost all necklines have an open look.

Check and bright colors, pale beiges and whites lead off the color list ahead of black and navy. But the black silk coat is back in favor, more elegant than ever. It's done in silk-and-worsted mixtures as well as in silk ottomans.

Discuss Bylaws at Meeting Here

Mrs. Ben Sweeney read and discussed Michigan State Council bylaws at the meeting of Alpha Alpha Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, held Thursday evening at YMCA.

On the social committee were Mrs. Robert Hasse, Mrs. Keith Clauser, Mrs. Rudy Mazza and Mrs. James George.

The state board meeting will be held April 19 at Hotel Hayes, Jackson.

Teachers Honor Mrs. David Walls

The Pontiac Federation of Teachers met Wednesday at Alcott School to honor a member, Mrs. David Walls. Under the pen name of Norah Spencer Walls, she recently has written a book of poems entitled "Looking Back." Mrs. Walls is a teacher at Malkim School.

Pontiac Northern High School music students Carol Carr and Ann Phillips, pupils of Eldon Rosegart, entertained with a B flat clarinet duet, playing a gavotte by Magnani.

Officers Elected by Wilson PTA

Mrs. Gladys Hartsack was named president of Wilson School PTA at its meeting held at the school Thursday evening.

Other officers are Mrs. Melissa Brice, vice president; the Rev. Roy Cummings, father vice president; Jerome Midtgard, teacher vice president; Mrs. Barbar Hoover, secretary; Mrs. Alma McVicar, treasurer.

Glen Husted, principal, showed pictures of Wilson's outdoor education program. Refreshments were served by fifth grade mothers.

Catalina designed this resort outfit. The knitted sleeveless cardigan is made of cotton and is ideal over shorts, pants or dresses.

V-Neck Invites Jewelry

Choker, Bib Adds Color, Interest to Shirtwaist

By DOROTHY ROE

Now that the shirtwaist dress is established as the top fashion hit for spring and summer, 1959, the question is—what kind of jewelry to wear with it?

Fashion changes have kept the jewelry designers in a dither for the last few seasons. They had just turned out millions of three-yard strands of beads to wear with the late and unlamented chemise when along came the Empire style, and everything had to be changed.

Big, ornate brooches and dangling earrings were the prescription for this phase.

ANOTHER SWITCH

Now waistlines are back to normal and the shirt dress is tops, so jewelry does another about-face. As a matter of fact, designers are having a field day dreaming up new ways to change the look of the basic shirtwaist with switches of jewelry.

To dress up a simple shirt dress, nothing is more effective than a jeweled choker necklace of multiple strands, worn close about the throat, with bracelets to match.

Another effective choice is the bib necklace, made of half-a-dozen graduated strands of beads, pearls or fake jewels. The idea is to fill in the V of the open-collar neckline with an effective splash of coordinated color.

PAIR PINS, EARRINGS

New and popular also are big shirtwaist pins and matching earrings. Fasten the pin to the belt. Or add a feminine touch to the shirt collar by wearing pairs of pins on the left collar flap. This is an idea started by college girls and quickly adopted by their big sisters.

Mohair Swim Suit New in Beach Wear

Look what's going to the beach — shaggy swimsuits.

Air Force Unveils Formal Uniform

The Air Force has unveiled its new formal uniform, with a nod in the direction of mufti fashion.

Both the summer and winter versions utilize the stylish waist-length mess jacket which has become exceedingly popular among civilians. For fall and winter wear, the jacket is midnight blue. For spring and summer functions, white.

The dark trousers, the cummerbund and the bow tie are other copies of the civilian style. The only departure is the cap, the epaulets and the braid.

The fabrics are comfortable and practical. The summer dress uniform, like many of the modern formal clothes on the home front, is a wash-and-wear fabric. The jackets are easier to keep white since they require little or no touch-up ironing, and can be washed so easily.

The jackets stay neat in spite of active wear in hot and humid weather and keep their creases longer while remaining resistant to wrinkles.

Mizpah Temple Fetes Officers

Mizpah Temple No. 7 met Thursday evening at Fellowship Hall and entertained grand and past grand officers.

They were Mrs. Caroline Kaufman of Port Huron, grand district deputy from Port Detroit, grand press cor- Huron; Mrs. Fred Pafineau of Detroit, grand press correspondent; Mrs. Milton Miller of Oxford, past grand chief; and Mrs. E. A. Sutherland of Oxford, past grand chief.

Guests also were present from Fanny Tompkins Temple, Oxford Temple and from Port Huron, Ann Arbor, Lake Orion and St. Petersburg, Fla.

WCTU Luncheon, Work Session Held

Anna Gorden WCTU met Thursday morning for a work session at First Baptist Church.

Hostess for the luncheon was Mrs. Winford Sherston and Mrs. Nettie Christie.

Mrs. William Carls and Mrs. Frank Deaver conducted the program and Mrs. William Bradley sang a solo.

Sisterhood Celebrates Birthday

Dames of Malta, Corrine Sisterhood 185, celebrated its 20th anniversary with a banquet Wednesday evening at Malta Temple.

New officers were elected. Mrs. Merle Curless was chosen as Queen Esther and Mrs. Chris Theis as Sister Ruth.

Hostess for the evening was Florence Carter assisted by Mrs. Curless.

New members honored were Mrs. Clarence Vidland, Mrs. William Walls and Mr. Walls.

Charter members attending were Mrs. Betsy Shoults of Birmingham, Mrs. Don Bussard, Mrs. Elmer Beardsley and Mrs. Edith Levely of Pontiac, and Mrs. Albert Clark of Birmingham.

Don't Be 'Corny'!

Disreputable looking tennis shoes may be great for eccentric millionaires (including crooners), but they're rather corny for most people. Toss your canvas, rubber-soled sneakers in with the washing machine load, and you'll be amazed at how fine they'll look.

Disguise Weight

If you carry most of your weight below the waist, wearing light-colored blouses and dark skirts will help give an appearance of better proportions.

Prevent Trouble

Miracle Cleaners Hard on Hands

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Today more women do their own housework than ever before. Few can afford more aid than a cleaning woman once a week provides. This is true because of the high cost of living, high taxes and the high cost of such help.

There has been a definite increase in dermatitis of the hands due to the fact that a woman's hands are under a constant attack from detergents and all sorts of miracle cleaners. These are wonderfully efficient but may play havoc with the feminine hand unless it is protected.

It seems that the housewife would be wise to add rubber gloves to her hand care equipment along with hand lotions.

Not only do the many magic cleansing and polishing agents play their part but the fact that the hands are in water so much of the time is also a factor.

A recent survey conducted by a large rubber company, which has been a leader in the field of hand protection, revealed that such activities as dishwashing, hand laundry, preparation of certain foods, bathing the baby and sterilising its bottles, washing the dog and Junior's neck, keep the average woman's hands wet three hours and 27 minutes each day—or one whole day in every seven.

Most dermatologists emphasize the fact that prevention rather than treatment is preferable. Rough, red hands, if neglected and unprotected, may develop into a serious inflammation of the skin; dermatitis.

Doctor Mathew J. Brunner of Northwestern University, who is a leading dermatologist, recommends sturdy rubber gloves when doing "wet work." Those which have a cotton lining are especially desirable because the cotton absorbs moisture. These gloves should be long enough to cover the wrist so that the water will not seep in. The palms should have a rough texture to provide a good grip.

Our hands require attention just as our faces and figures do. It seems the housewife would be wise to add rubber gloves to her hand care equipment along with hand lotions.

Ensemble Is Leader for Easter

NEW YORK (NEA) — The ensemble will take a proud part in this year's Easter parade. It's the costume that American women love and find wearable long after the big parade is over.

This year, the jacket may be very nearly knuckle-length. Both are shown and both are chic.

They have in common the narrow dress or skirt with which they keep company. And this important look always offers something extra in the way of fabric co-ordination, usually blouse matched to jacket lining.

REPEATS PRINT

Sometimes the print of the dress is picked up and used not only for lining but for a hat, too, to complete the real costume look.

The softly slender skirt and blouse (or dress) which form part of the ensemble are planned to make an impression on their own. When the jacket is removed, the balance of the costume is distinctive.

Though the costume is done in discreet navy, gray and black, it also shows spurts of color this year. Sometimes it's totally red, mated to a dashing print which picks up the red theme and carries it to a handsome conclusion.

While the costume itself is wool, the print which is part of the plan is invariably a luscious pure silk. And this year, polka dots vie with prints for favor.

Crude Cards May Drive Us to the Pen

By RUTH MILLETT

Greeting cards become uglier and more noxious every time you look. Try to find a cheerful "get well" card, a lacy valentine, a happy anniversary message or an appropriate card for any special occasion and you have to wade through dozens.

"Want to lose 10 ugly pounds? Cut off your head" is typical of the new type greeting card. And the so-called "funny" cards have even moved in on the religious holiday greetings.

I wouldn't be at all surprised to find something like this among the Easter greetings: "Easter Greetings, you dumb bunny,"

Who buys such cards, I don't know. But they must sell them to somebody.

What's the matter with us that such cards have a market? Are we so afraid of being thought sentimental or corny that we have to cover up with crude insults that are supposed to be amusing?

One thing is sure. The insults can't get much worse, and once they've reached the absolute limit maybe they'll go out of style.

Or maybe we'll all get so sick of ready-made greetings that we'll go back to expressing our own feelings in our own handwriting.

No printed card, even an appropriately worded one, ever took the place of a note that one person took the trouble to write to another. So if the ugly cards should send us in disgust back to the pen and ink something good will have come out of the ugliness.

Make-Up Should Go on Eyelids

Light up your eyes with beauty by always applying foundation makeup over your eyelids. Many women forget to smooth this important requisite overtheir lids and leave blotchy eyelid skin which does not match the rest of the beautified face.

When applying your makeup foundation to this strategic area, raise the eyebrows so all makeup may be smoothed into the folds. Hold lids in the same position to puff on the smallest amount of powder and brush off all excess with the back of puff.

Then, apply eyeshadow, line your eyes and arch your brows with eyebrow pencil, add mascara to the top and bottom lashes, and see how much more glamorous you will appear.

Use Hangers, Bags for Air Travel

More and more air travelers are carrying their well-tailored tropical-worsted suits aboard planes on hangers or in light garment bags to avoid their getting wrinkled in a suitcase packed solid with other clothes.

The pretty stewardess will gladly hang them up for you for the duration of the trip, and she'll return them to you before you say good-bye. This is just a suggestion to assure you of neatly pressed outfits immediately upon arrival.

Worry More Tiring Than Hard Labor

As strange as it may seem, a woman can be fatigued at the end of a day without doing any physical labor.

This may result from worrying about problems but doing nothing about them. This leads to an emotional waste of energy which few of us can afford.

Even Fido Needs His Own Bed

Every dog deserves a bed of his own, according to the manager of a dog food research kennel. Most dog beds become shabby after a few months use, but because of their original high cost, are relegated to the attic or cellar rather than thrown out. Poor Fido is then bedless and left to snooze on a cold draughty floor. A dog's bed is more than a bed to him . . . it's his sanctuary when he wants to be alone or has been scolded for some misdeed.

When thoughts of spring housecleaning and redecorating begin to take form, it might be fun to make Fido a pretty, inexpensive bed of his own — one that will harmonize and blend with the spring decor of your house or apartment. The research manager suggests making the bed from a cardboard carton. It's so simple that even the children can do it.

The size of the dog, naturally, will determine the size carton you need. Cover the carton with inexpensive wallpaper, or have the children paste their favorite decals on the sides of the carton.

An old pillow, covered with plastic for easy cleaning, will tidily fit into the carton and both the family and Fido will be proud of the result. And when, after months of use, this bed has to be disposed of, it can be done without accumulating another "dust collector." A new one can be quickly made with a fresh decor and without expense.

So bring out the scissors, paste or cut-outs and have fun making a bedroom for Fido.

Queen Bess Had a Fortune, but Life Was Cruel

For the last 20 years of her life, Queen Elizabeth I of England refused to look into a mirror. The queen who had once been tall, elegant and beautiful had lost her teeth and, quite possibly, much of her hair.

She couldn't bear to face the fact of aging in such a cruel way. And she had no true beauty aids. There were crude forms of cosmetics available, of course. They were called "paint" and they looked fine as long as your skin lasted. But since they ate away the skin, this usually wasn't very long.

There was a whitener for teeth which removed the enamel as it whitened. So little was known about hair care that both men and women became bald rather early and everybody wore wigs as a matter of course.

It was a brilliant age of discovery and adventure but it was not one in which aging could be staved off or even made pleasant. The queen owned a fortune in jewels and gowns but she had not one of the wonderful creams and cosmetics available to women today.

Spadea's american designer pattern

The fashion word of the moment is "Normal," backed up by "Natural." Mollie Parnis puts real meaning into both words in this shirtwaist, with spatial handling of a classic collar. In Paris, this space is being generously filled in with beads, and an attractive idea it is.

The waistline, placed right where it belongs, is belted in to show off the figure; the skirt, full and swishy, is particularly interesting since it is made of alternated, inverted and box pleats.

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips Inches	Length From Nape of Neck to Waist
10	34	24	35	16½
12	35	25	36	16¾
14	38½	26½	37½	17
16	38	28	39	17¼
18	40	30	41	17½
20	42	32	43	17¾

Size 12 requires 5¼ yards of 44-inch material for dress and 1⅝ yards of 36-inch material for lining. To order Pattern No. 1348, state size, send $1.00.

For 96-page Pattern Book No. 15, send $1.00 Address SPADEA, Box 535, G.P.O., Dept. P-6, New York 1, N.Y. If paid by check, bank requires 4-cent handling charge.

Chipped Polish Worse Than None

A housewife likes to be neat and attractive just as a businesswoman does. She can set aside a few minutes each day for a simple beauty routine.

This may include a manicure once a week. But one thing to remember about a manicure —it is better to wear no fingernail polish than to go around with chipped polish.

Soap and Water Best for Skin

If your skin tends to pop out in red swelling or blemishes, consider treating it to a mild soaping treatment.

First start with cool water and follow with warm water. Then wind up the cleansing process with a gentle, antiseptic lotion.

Wrap steel wool scouring pads in aluminum foil after using. This prevents rusting or dripping.

Preaching at 9:30 a.m. will be the Rev. Galen E. Hershey, associate pastor. Alice Brown, contralto, will sing "The Palms" by Faure.

Karen Burnworth, who visited the southwest mission fields last summer, will speak and show colored slides to the Pioneer and Junior High groups and later to the Out of High School group.

The Tuxis Society will attend an Institute of Judaism at Temple Beth Jacob Sunday evening.

A class of new members will be welcomed at the Lenten Communion Service Thursday evening. It will include the youth communicant class, membership instruction class and persons received by letters of transfer.

Services Announced

Baptism of infants by the Rev. E. I. Watkins, and public reception of new members will take place during Palm Sunday services at Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church tomorrow. The church's Sunday schedule includes Sunday School at 9:30 a.m., worship services at 10:45 a.m., and evening service at 7 p.m.

Confident Living

Grow Mentally, Physically to Overcome Difficulties

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Not long ago I had lunch with an inspiring friend of mine, the president of Prentice-Hall, Inc., the publishing house which issues my books. His name is John Powers and he has an interesting habit. He draws diagrams to illustrate points he is making. He draws them over all the paper he has with him, then, when he runs out of paper, he is likely to draw diagrams on the tablecloth.

PEALE

On this particular occasion, John drew a diagram for me which pictured a great big mountain, and, beside it, a man. The proportion between the mountain and the man was 25 to 1 in favor of the mountain. Then John said:

"This mountain, which represents a difficult problem, goes down deep into the earth and it goes way out to the right and way out wide to the left. This man is just an average fellow. The question is—How is this little man going to get on the other side of that huge mountain of a difficulty? How would you solve his problem?"

"Well, I'm a so-called expert at solving other people's problems so I didn't hesitate a minute to say, "Oh, that's easy. He just goes around it—makes an end run or by-passes it."

"No," John said, "he can't. It goes too far in that direction."

"Well, then, he just goes round the other way—a left end run."

"He can't," John told me. "It goes out too far on that side as well."

"I thought harder. "He'll crawl over the top of it."

"All right then," I responded, "he'll burrow down underneath."

"It's solid rock all the way down, too deep for a tunnel."

I remembered all the books and columns I'd written about always trying, trying again and said, "OK, then, if he's really a good man, he will just haul off and plow right through it!"

"Ah," John answered, "it's too thick. He can't get through. It would beat him back. So, you see, we've reached an impasse."

THERE'S A WAY

At this point I was stumped and I asked John to tell me how the man could get beyond his mountain of a problem.

"Of course, there's a way," he assured me. "The answer is in that man's brain.

"What he must do is begin to think and begin to pray. When he does these he begins to grow. And he grows and grows until he is so tall in his mind in effect he is taller than the mountain. He becomes bigger than the problem. Then instead of looking up at it in defeat, he looks down upon it in victory."

How right John is. A man's size depends not upon the height of his body but upon the size of his thinking. By right thinking he can make himself bigger than any difficulty.

First, start thinking—really thinking. Most of the time we use only a small portion of our brain power; the rest lies idle. Using your brain to a greater extent releases new power and energy for attacking your problems.

Second, start praying—really praying. Prayer in depth brings a quietness and confidence that stimulates your brain to function at its best. In addition prayer gives access to Divine Guidance. Through it you are given God's answers to your problems.

So a problem-solving formula that gets real results may be stated in three words: THINK AND PRAY. As you learn to use this formula you will grow big enough to overcome any problem.

Annual Lenten Evensong at First Congregational

Choirs of the First Congregational Church will present the annual Lenten Evensong at 5:30 p. m. Sunday under the direction of Charles A. Wilson, organist.

Soloists will be Max Sutton, baritone; Mary Leonard, soprano; and Emma J. Olson, contralto.

The music board of the church has invited members and friends of the parish to the vesper and to the coffee hour in fellowship hall following the service.

The program will open with Wilson playing the Organ Prelude, "Fugue in E Flat" by Bach.

The Chancel Choir will sing "The Law of the Lord" by Lewandowski, "A Lenten Meditation" by Pasquet, "Let Us Adore Thee, O Christ" by Ruffe, and "An Angel Said to Mary" by Makarov.

The Junior and Church of Youth Choir will offer "Savior, Hear Us, We Pray" by Brahms.

The Probationers Choir will be heard in two numbers, "It Is the Joyful Easter Time" by Cornish Carol and "God Is My Helper" by Conant.

Four numbers will be sung by the Choral Union. They include "O Sons and Daughters," "Russian Easter Alleluis," "Beautiful Savior" and "Choral Blessing."

Wilson will also play "The Tumult in the Hall of the Priest" from "Symphonie de la Passion."

An institute for teenagers on "The Festivals and Music of Judaism" will be conducted at 2 p. m. Sunday by members of the Temple Beth Jacob Youth Group.

Members of youth groups of the following area churches will be guests: First Methodist, Bethany Baptist, First Presbyterian, Ascension Lutheran, Marimont Baptist and Orchard Lake Community, Presbyterian.

Young people from the Birmingham Unitarian Church will also be present.

Speaking on the various festivals of the Jewish faith will be Marcey Afree, Nancy Walker, Sam Hartman, Stan Walker, Norman Moore, Marilyn Ketchel, Mike Nosanchuk, Steve Gordon, Laurie Nosanchuk and Donald Barnett.

Soloist will be Sam Hartman, accompanied by Nancy Walker.

Tables depicting the ceremonial objects of the festivals will be displayed. A question and answer period will follow the informal talks.

The institute is sponsored by Temple Beth Jacob as part of the national observance of Brotherhood Week.

Pastor to Receive 38 New Members

A matins service will be held at 9 a. m. at Grace Lutheran Church on Palm Sunday. At 11 a. m. 38 persons will be received into communicant membership by the rite of confirmation.

Included in the youth group will be Carol Bisanz, James Forman Jr., Linda Goodrum, Ruth A. Gopigian, Charles Grimes, Clarice Hurst, Dennis Jones, Helmut Kukowski, Penny Lankey, Elsie Loftness, Lauren Schultz, David Sluka and Lynn Smith.

Another information class will be formed after Easter for those interested in reviewing the teachings of Christian religion or in learning the doctrines of the Lutheran Church with a view of joining.

Three Churches Join in Special Revival Services

The First General Baptist Church and the First Social Brethren Church will join the Mt. Olive Baptist Church in holding revival meetings next week.

Services will be held at 7:30 each evening beginning Sunday with the Rev. Leroy Johnson, the speaker.

Other preachers will be the Rev. Gilbert Adams of Lake Orion, the Rev. Paul Johnson of the First General Baptist Church, the Rev. Lowell Book of Royal Oak, the Rev. Frank England and the Rev. Tommie Caudle, both of Flint, and the Rev. Tommie Guest of First Social Brethren.

The Rev. D. B. Ray, host pastor, will speak at 11 a.m. Sunday and the Rev. Clarence Niley of Flint will be the Sunday evening preacher.

The Rev. Lyal H. Howison, pastor, said the meetings will be open to the public.

Death of Christ to Be Observed

Four Congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses to Meet Monday Night

Jehovah's Witnesses of the four congregations will mark the memorial of Christ's death after 6 p. m. Monday.

According to Austin J. Kizer, presiding minister of the East congregation, March 23 corresponds with Nisan 14 of the Jewish calendar used at the time of Christ's death.

The East and West congregations will meet at Kingdom Hall, 600 E. Pike St., while the North and North Central congregations will assemble at Kingdom Hall, 4400 W. Walton Blvd., Drayton Plains.

Edward C. Thornton will conduct the west unit service at 6:15 p. m. and Carson H. Kizer will be in charge of the east unit at 8 p. m.

W. P. Strong will speak to the north central group at 7 p. m. and to the north unit at 8:30 p.m.

A house to house visitation program has been planned for congregations for next week.

Services Scheduled at Kirk in the Hills

Kirk in the Hills will reschedule its regular Sunday morning worship services in the newly dedicated Gothic Church on West Long Lake road, Bloomfield Hills beginning Palm Sunday.

To facilitate smooth flow of traffic between services, the first service will be conducted at 9:15 a.m.

The second service will be held at 11:30 a.m., 15 minutes later than before. Kirk Sunday school classes will be held concurrently with the new worship hours, according to Dr. Harold C. DeWindt, minister.

Holly Youth to Play Trumpet Solos Sunday

James Campbell of Holly will play two trumpet solos at the 10 a.m. worship service Sunday at Crescent Hills Baptist Church.

"Making Christ King of Our Lives" will be the topic of the Rev. Benjamin A. Bohn's sermon. Kenneth Main will be youth assistant.

Color slides portraying the crucifixion and resurrection of Christ will be shown during the Sunday School hour at 11 a.m.

A special prayer service is being held at 11 a.m. each Wednesday for men of the church who work on afternoon or night shifts. The first meeting was held this week at the parsonage with the pastor leading the Bible study in the Book of Ephesians.

Our Plea for Christ
Our plea for Christ involves a plea FOR THE LORD'S PLAN OF SALVATION. When Jesus gave his Great Commission he commanded that the Gospel be preached, that we believe it, that we repent of our sins, and that we be baptized into the Lord (Matt. 28:19; Mk. 16:16; Lk. 24:47). These things were to be preached by the apostles as the plan of salvation for all men. Upon the preaching of faith, repentance and baptism the Lord has promised to place his blessing until the end of the world. We must not ignore his will and preach "SALVATION BY FAITH ONLY, SALVATION BY GRACE ONLY, SALVATION BY LOVE ONLY or go beyond his will and preach "SALVATION BY OUR OWN WORKS, SALVATION ON B MERIT." One extreme is an unscriptural as the other. In the New Testament we read that when believers asked, "What Must We Do?, they were commanded to repent and be baptized for the remission of their sins (Acts 2:38; Acts 16:66; Acts 22:16). How many preachers give this answer today, few. The honest will agree few, but this was the answer the apostles gave. WHY NOT GIVE THE SAME ANSWER TODAY? Jesus said, He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, Mk.16:16; Peter said, Repent and be baptized — for the remission of sins, Acts 2:38. Believest thou this?

Central Methodist Choir to Present Lenten Cantata

"The Seven Last Words of Christ" by Dubois will be presented by the Senior Choir of Central Methodist Church at 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

Soloists will be Mrs. Morton Jorgenson, soprano; Mrs. George A. Putnam, contralto; Freeman Williams, tenor, and Joseph Davis, baritone. George A. Putnam is choir director and Mrs. W. Henry Sink, organist.

Immediately following the service a tea will be given by the music committee in the church parlor to honor the choir. The congregation is invited.

Dr. Milton H. Bank, pastor, will preach on "The Marks of a Christian" at both the 8:30 and 10:45 morning services Sunday.

At the early worship hour the Youth Choir will sing "All Praise to Thee, Eternal Lord" by Peery and Mrs. Putnam will sing "Open the Gates of the Temple" by Knapp.

Organ selections by Roland Richter at the 8:30 hour will include "Cathedral Prelude and Fugue" by Bach and "Hosanna" by Wachs.

At the 10:45 service, the Senior Choir will present "Behold the Lamb of God" from the Messiah by Handel and "The Palms" by Faurs. Mrs. Sink's organ numbers will be "Festival Prelude" by Woodman and "Marche Triomphale" by Dubois.

This Is 'Refugee Year'

NEW YORK (AP)—This year has been designated "Refugee Year" by the World Council of Churches, in line with a United Nations drive to "close the camps by 1960."

Dr. Edgar H. S. Chandler, head of the Council's Service to Refugees, says that for the first time in history it is possible to see an end to Europe's refugee problem.

But the council, which so far has settled 200,000 refugees, says it will take more than a year to do it even with intensified effort.

20 Candidates to Be Baptized

Miss Elda L. Sutter Is in Charge of Evening Service at Bethany

A class of 20 candidates will be baptized at the 11 a.m. service Sunday in Bethany Baptist Church. "Kingdoms — and the Kingdom" will be the theme of the sermon by Dr. Joseph I. Chapman, at both morning services.

Assisting at the 8:45 a.m. hour will be Mike Rooney. Rosemary Tripp will be youth assistant at 11 a.m.

At the early service Jerry Ryan will play "The Palms" and at the later hour Ralph Bergemann will sing "The Palms." The Senior Choir number will be "Hosanna, Blessed Is He" by Marryott.

At 7 p.m. Sunday the Adult Forum will meet with the pastor who will answer questions on Christian doctrine and the ministry of the church.

A special service will be held at 7:45 p.m. under the direction of Miss Elda L. Sutter, minister of music.

On Tuesday evening Dr. E. Floyd Norton, director of Christian Education for the Michigan Baptist Convention, will meet with the church school teachers and officers and members of the educational board to discuss the church school program to be conducted in April.

2 Festive Services Slated by Lutherans

Members of Christ Lutheran Church, Airport at Williams Lake roads, will celebrate the triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem centuries ago with festive services at 8 and 11 a. m. Sunday.

The Rev. Arvid E. Anderson will preach on "A Shout With a Cause" and each worshipper will receive a palm leaf made into a cross.

The Luther League Choir under direction of Mrs. John Wiley will sing "The Palms" by Faure at the early service. The Senior Choir under the direction of Mrs. Martin Wager will be heard in "Jerusalem" by Parker at the second service.

Providence Baptists to Hear Readings

Paul K. Holt of Detroit, dramatic reader and poet, will present a program at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Providence Missionary Baptist, Church.

"The Creation," "The Crucifixion," and "I Am Somebody" will be given by the reader.

Guest soloist will be Mrs. Buell Fultz. The youth department of the church is sponsoring the evening affair.

Guests at Liberty Baptist

The congregation of Liberty Baptist Church will worship with members of the Bray AME Temple, Rockwell at Bagley streets, at 3:30 p. m. Sunday.

At 7:30 p. m. young people of Liberty Baptist will hold a rally service in Liberty Baptist. The musical program will benefit the organ fund.

A Capella Choir to Sing at Oakland Ave. Church

The Muskingum College a capella choir of New Concord, Ohio, under the direction of Woodrow W. Pickering will sing at the 10 a.m. service tomorrow in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

The 47-voice chorus will include in the program "Kyrie Eleison" by Dietrich, "Creation" by Billings, "Psalm 134" by Fissinger, "Alleluia" by Thompson, "The Omnipotence" by Schubert and "The Story of the Twelve" by Scott.

An associate professor of music in charge of voice instruction, Pickering has studied at Julliard Conservatory of Music in Paris, and the Tanglewood Opera Workshop in the Berkshire Hills.

The Adult Choir will present "The Crucifixion" by Stainer at the annual Palm Sunday service at 7 p.m.

Taking solo parts will be Fred Froede, Mrs. Stephen Hubbell, Mrs. Gerald Shafer, Richard Wilton, Nancy Tanner, Marilyn Bell, Mrs. Richard Wilton, John Allshouse, Russell Crites, Gordon Messer and the Rev. Theodore R. Allebach.

Prayer meeting and Bible Study are scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday. The Child Study group will meet the same evening at 8 p.m.

Organ Recital to Be Presented

Robert Kerns to Sing at Monthly Program in All Saints Church

The third program in the current series of monthly organ recitals at All Saints Episcopal Church will be held at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Phillip Steinhaus, organist-choirmaster who is playing the recital, will be joined by Robert Kerns, baritone.

Kerns, oratorio and opera singer, has been heard in recital throughout the country.

A recipient of the Grinnell Scholarship, he has made several appearances on the Ed Sullivan show. He comes to Pontiac, following a performance of "Joshua" in Constitution Hall, Washington, D. C.

Steinhaus is including a performance of Max Reger's "Variations and Fugue on an Original Theme," which he recorded for Boston Records. This work, because of its extreme difficulty, has been played in recital by only a few organists in the world.

Here is the program:
Chorale in B minor ..... Franck
Five Mystical Songs... Vaughan-Williams
Variations and Fugue on an Original Theme ..... Max Reger

The public has been invited to attend the recital and the reception following the program.

Salvation Army Officer to Speak at Fellowship

Sr. Capt. Magnus A. Michalsen of Saginaw will be the speaker at Oakland Youth Fellowship at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church. He will also play the accordion and sing.

For several years Capt. Michalsen was in charge of the Pontiac Salvation Army unit.

In Saginaw he is supervisor of the Eventide Home for Aged Women, the Salvation Army religious work and Day Nursery.

The Tic Tac Toe Contest will be open to the audience. An attendance award will be given the youth group with the highest average attendance. Bill Myers will be in charge of the song service and direct the singing.

Island Methodists Build New Church

Methodists on the tiny island of Vieques, a few miles off the eastern coast of Puerto Rico, are looking forward to two developments in their church life.

One is the building of a new chapel. The other is the establishment of a model farm to demonstrate modern agricultural methods.

Both projects are intended to provide a fuller economic, social and spiritual life for Vieques. The Methodist Church is the only major Protestant denomination at work there, and Methodist membership is more than 1,500.

For the residents of the little village of Esperanza, the new chapel will provide modern quarters for worship and Christian education in a growing section of town. It will replace an outmoded building in a section of Esperanza from which most of the villagers have moved.

REV. OSCAR STALLINGS

Parkdale Church Has New Pastor

The Rev. Oscar Stallings has arrived in Pontiac with his family to assume his pastoral duties at the Parkdale Church of the Nazarene.

Born in Jonesboro, Ark., he attended the Arkansas State College. For 14 years he was pastor in the Arkansas District.

In 1954 the family moved to Flint where the Rev. Mr. Stallings served the Pierson Church of the Nazarene. The new pastor has four sons, George, Handsel and Dean at home, and a married son in Flint.

Chancel Choir to Present Palm Sunday Music

The Chancel Choir of the Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, will present music from "The Passion of Christ" at the 9 and 11 a.m. worship services Sunday.

Soloists will be Donn Olin, baritone; Shirley Carpenter, soprano; and Clarence Brown and William J. Davis, tenors.

Thirty-six new members will be welcomed into the church by the pastor, the Rev. Edward D. Auchard. His sermon theme will be "Thine Is the Kingdom."

Moderator of the board is Mrs. Ros Reeves and Mrs. W. T. Irons is chairman of the reception committee.

The Orchard Lake church has a membership of 730.

Revival Meeting to Start Sunday

Monday, Friday Nights Labeled as 'Pack the Pew' at Columbia Ave.

Dr. W. W. Phelps, professor of religion at Bellmont College in Nashville, Tenn., will speak at the evangelistic services all next week at the Columbia Avenue Baptist Church. Meetings will begin at 7:30 p.m.

For 17 years Dr. Phelps served pastorates in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas and as chaplain with the U. S. Army in Italy during World War II.

The Rev. M. F. Boyd, pastor, said Monday and Friday nights will be "Pack the Pew Nights." The following people will assist the pastor on those nights, Mrs. Jean Edward, Mrs. Carmel Perkins, Loretta Ratledge, Jim Hays, Buell Tanner and Paul Childers.

According to the pastor, the church is joining seven major Baptist bodies in simultaneous revival crusades around the world.

Pastor Will Preach on 'The Cave' Sunday

The Rev. Philip Somers has chosen "The Cave" as sermon topic for the 11 a. m. service at Marimont Baptist Church tomorrow. "The Fellowship of Evil" will be the subject at 7:30 p. m.

The Junior Choir, directed by Don Wiser, and soloist, Don Tarvestad will provide special music for the evening service.

At the Sunday School Council meeting on March 31, the Sunday School superintendent will speak on "The Responsibility of Parents and Teachers."

The Sunday School goal for Easter Sunday is 675 pupils.

Quaker Official Resigns

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The resignation of Lewis M. Hoskins as executive secretary of the American Friends (Quakers) Service Committee has been announced. Hoskins, who formerly taught at Friends University, the University of Michigan and Pacific College, plans to reenter the field of higher education.

Ike Sends Out His Praise of Sunday School Week

A wire from President Dwight D. Eisenhower in the White House has been received by Milton C. Lightner, national chairman for the forthcoming 15th annual National Sunday School Week observance, extending warm greetings on behalf of this all-faiths event, to take place April 13-19.

The President's message reads as follows:

"It is a privilege to join in the fifteenth annual observance of National Sunday School Week. This week emphasizes the importance of teaching those principles which have long contributed to our country's moral development.

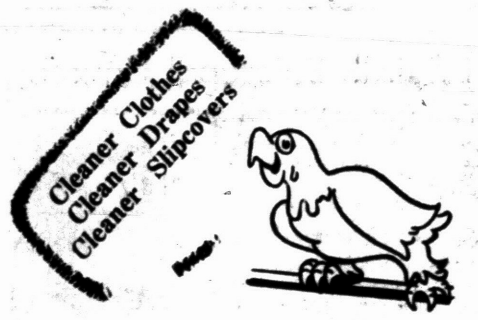

"Sunday Schools, adult courses in religion, and the Hebrew School are a vital source of spiritual strength for our nation's growing generations." Signed: Dwight D. Eisenhower.

National Sunday School Week is dedicated to our American youth; planned to encourage early religious training, as well as to urge weekly attendance at church, synagogue or Sunday School.

Your Dry Cleaner Is No Magician!

When you take your clothes to your Dry Cleaner, don't expect him to work miracles! He is only human, and may occasionally make a mistake, which he will be glad to rectify. But many cases of unsatisfactory dry cleaning are not his fault. Before you expect too much, be sure that—

- The garments are of sufficiently good quality that they can be dry cleaned without shrinking and without colors fading or running.
- That cloth-covered buttons and stiffening materials do not contain substances that will stain.
- That you have not attempted to remove stains with fluids that will injure the fabric, set the stain or cause fading.
- That your Dry Cleaner is a well-established, dependable local businessman.

Your Dry Cleaner will tell you, when he accepts your clothing just what to expect—but he cannot promise to work miracles.

No Real Limp or Twang — and 'Chester' Is Happy

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — About Dennis Weaver, who plays Chester on "Gunsmoke"—

No, he does not have a real limp; he was a track star at the University of Oklahoma.

Yes, he was born in Joplin, Mo., but he doesn't speak with Chester's twang in real life; he has been a Broadway actor and his diction is dandy.

Now that those oft-asked questions are out of the way, we can get down to business. And Weaver's business is good, thank you. He is one TV western actor who is happy with his lot.

" 'Gunsmoke' has been good for me, both in a financial and a career way," he said cheerfully. "I've been able to make some investments; I'm in on a hotel project in Palm Springs and plan to build a bowling alley.

"Besides doing the show, I've been able to make personals at county and state fairs, rodeos, etc. I'm recording a couple of tunes for Fess Parker's new record company. I'm not worried about being typed as Chester. During my vacations from 'Gunsmoke,' I've been able to do entirely different roles on Playhouse 90 and in 'Touch of Evil' with Orson Welles."

He is so pleased with the show that he signed a new deal with the producers. He is set for two more years as Chester.

Weaver's happy feeling toward the show is unusual when you consider his introduction to it. He thought he was going to play Matt Dillon.

"That was the kind of role I had always played," he said. "I was kind of disappointed when they asked me to do Chester instead. But the show seemed to have so much promise that I took it. I figured it was better to be second banana in a hit series than to star in a second-rate Western."

The gimp and the twang were his ideas.

"I did a test for the role and played it pretty straight," he recalled. "They wanted more character. So when I did the second test, I gave it to them!"

Black Friday--March 20, 1959--Hamtramck Beats Pontiac Central in State Basketball Semi-Finals, 53-40

By BILL CORNWELL

EAST LANSING — Pontiac Central picked the Class A semifinals of the Michigan high school basketball tournament to play its worst game of the year.

There's actually nothing more to be said.

The Chiefs shot a dismal 21 per cent from the floor and committed every other offensive sin in the basketball book to fall before high-flying Hamtramck, 53-40, in the Class A semis of the state tourney here Friday night in Michigan State's massive Jenison Fieldhouse.

Hamtramck's unexpectedly easy triumph sent the Cosmos into tonight's championship round against a sizzling Lansing Sexton quintet on the Jenison court at 9 o'clock.

With all due respects to a solid Hamtramck team, yesterday's performance by the Chiefs was without doubt their poorest of the season.

For the first time this year, they appeared tight and tense with little or no resemblance to the well-organized attack that featured their drive to the Saginaw Valley title and a 14-1 record.

The Cosmos led from the very beginning. They held quarterly leads of 12-8, 28-20 and 37-31 and except for a 4-2 deficit in the first two minutes of the game, the Chiefs never came closer than four points.

Hamtramck's margin reached 12 points late in the 2nd period and 13 midway through the 3rd stanza. Even the departure of forward Art Reid with five personal fouls in the 3rd minute of the 4th quarter failed to help the inept Chiefs, who trailed by 17 in the last minute.

Pontiac's offensive futility was almost impossible to imagine. Hamtramck used a loose zone defense against the Chiefs, yet they froze in their tracks and almost refused to drive down the middle and open up their attack.

Outside shooting, a brilliant trademark of this year's PCH squad, was never further from the target than it was here yesterday. The Chiefs sank only 15 of 71 attempts for a feeble 21 per cent and their shooting percentage in the 1st half was even worse—17.

Defensively, the Chiefs were sound most of the time. It was their punchless attack, along with rebounding woes, that spelled their doom.

The fleet-footed Cosmos out-rebounded PCH, 55 to 40, and gobbled up nearly every loose ball on the court. The Chiefs especially were out-jumped on the offensive backboard where a missed shot, which was often, meant loss of possession.

Lanky John Bandy carried the brunt of Pontiac's lack-luster showing on offense with 18 points, also high for the game. Hamtramck was paced by little Major Bridges and Len Guinn with 14 and 13, respectively, and no starter for the Cosmos was lower than six in a well-balanced attack.

Pontiac's 5-foot-6 Phil Rabaja fouled out seven seconds after Reid of the Cosmos made his exit, marking the first time this season that a PCH cager had to depart via personals.

Sexton nearly chased favored Grand Rapids out of the fieldhouse in the 2nd half after the two teams battled to a 30-30 tie at intermission. Sexton out-rebounded Grand Rapids by an amazing 65-17 margin and a pressing defense in the 3rd quarter completely disrupted Central's scoring efforts.

JOY IN HOLLYVILLE — Cheerleaders and players of Holly High School go wild in joy as the Broncos upset high favored Sault Ste. Marie, 60-47, in the state semi-finals at East Lansing last night. Holly faces class B favorite River Rouge in the finals this afternoon.

GLOOM FOR OUR CHIEFS—The faces of these Pontiac Central cheerleaders and score on the board in the background with 30 seconds to play tells the story of Pontiac Central's fate last night in the state cage semi-finals. The score seen is 53-36, but it finished 53-40 for Hamtramck.

MUNSON GOES UP—Harrison Munson (50) of Pontiac Central goes in for a layup under the outstretched arms of Hamtramck's Arthur Reid (35). Bill Hayward (40) of the Chiefs watches and waits for the rebound as the shot failed. Hamtramck defeated PCH, 53-40, and will meet Lansing Sexton in the finals of Michigan High School basketball tournament tonight.

Hamtramck Is Best Team We Met—Van Ryzin

EAST LANSING—The Pontiac Central dressing room was a scene of complete dejection here last night after the Chiefs lost a 53-40 decision to Hamtramck in the Class A semifinals of the state basketball tournament at Jenison Fieldhouse.

Yet there were no complaints from any of the PCH players, who had just hit a high point for 32 minutes of utter futility in the annual prep tourney. They realized all too well that on this particular evening they had played badly and lost to a better team.

"Hamtramck was the best club we faced this season," said Pontiac coach Art Van Ryzin, "and at the same time we played our poorest game. The combination was too much for us."

"We were outplayed, outscrapped, outshot, out-rebounded, out-everything," stated Van Ryzin. "We lost to a better team tonight and there's really nothing more to say."

Van Ryzin's brief summary is fully adequate. Amen.

Royals, Like PCH, Fall in Basketball Tourney

In a low-scoring, poor-shooting contest, the Royals dropped a 29-27 verdict to the Baghdad Temple quintet of Detroit in the championship game of the Class D Inter-Cities basketball tourney at Lasky Recreation Center in Detroit.

Dave Spears scored 11 points to lead the winners while Larry Douglas and Don McConner each made 8 for the Royals. Lakeside led at halftime, 12-11.

Broncos Stun Soo 60-47 Sparked by Morlan's 25

By CHUCK ABAIR

The amazing Broncos of Holly High School had a chance to complete the basketball Cinderella story of recent years today as they tangled with heavily favored River Rouge for the Class B championship before over 10,000 fans at Michigan State's Jenison Fieldhouse.

Being underdogs has become a habit for the courageous charges of LeRoy Decker but they have just ignored the odds and kept right on rolling.

They pulled their 3rd straight upset yesterday afternoon by cutting down Sault Ste. Marie 60-47 coming up with a big last half as has been the case on several occasions all year.

Rouge had it much easier blasting Plainwell 62-34 using its usual fast-breaking attack in impressive fashion.

Win or lose today, the Broncos and their followers will be riding on Cloud 9 for a long time. They are certain of their best ranking in state circles in 36 years. The 1923 team was Class C champion.

Holly teams had not reached the regionals since 1941 and had not even won a single tourney game in 10 seasons. Quite an about-face. And in the likable Decker's 1st year as head man.

It was another good team effort that pulled Holly through Friday but the guy everyone was talking about around the MSU campus was sophomore forward Ron Morlan. He hit 25 big points shooting in the big arena like he had played there all his life.

He dazzled the 6,600 in attendance with a pretty jump shot that had the Soo boys stunned. The slim redhead connected on 7 of 14 floor shots and 11 of 14 free throws.

Paced by 6-6 George McDaniel, who was rebounding and handling the ball well, the victors held a 12-17 1st period edge. But Soo stars Tom Talsma and Jim Ludwig got hot to pace a 19-point 2nd session which gave the northerners a 26-25 halftime edge despite the play of McDaniel and Morlan.

Holly broke up the contest in the 3rd quarter. Morlan's 3rd straight jump tally put the Broncos ahead to stay midway in the session that ended 46-36. Everyone had a hand in the 21-point spree topped by Morlan with 11.

A tight press had the Oakland County lads rattled starting the final eight minutes, but they settled down to keep control of the ball and coast in.

The climax to another chapter of the cinderella story is found in the statistics which show that Holly again won on the foul line. Soo had four more field goals yet lost by 13. The Deckermen canned 26 of 37 charity tosses. They eliminated Romeo in the same manner.

Romeo, Romeo, Thank You, Says Holly Hi Coach

EAST LANSING—Holly can thank Romeo High School for a big assist in its sparkling victory over Sault Ste. Marie last night.

Coach LeRoy Decker of Holly had no opportunity to scout the Soo team, but Romeo coach Bud Brotebeck did have scouting reports.

After Holly defeated Romeo in the quarter-finals, Brotebeck had no use for the scouting notes and he passed them on to Decker.

"That was sure wonderful of him, and they helped," said Decker. Decker, while at Central Michigan, and Brotebeck at Western Michigan played against each other while in college.

The moral—that opponents can be friends.

BALL AHEAD—A loose ball comes bouncing off the boards as Hamtramck's Len Guinn (15) and Pontiac Central's John Bandy (10) make an effort to get possession. Bill Hayward (40) of PCH and John Dobroczynski (33) of Hamtramck get in on the play.

Bengals Defeat Bucs as Rains Finally Leave

Frank Lary Makes 1st Appearance in Spring Training Game

The Detroit Tigers defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday in brilliant 80-degree sunshine at Fort Myers 5-3 and manager Bill Norman had several reasons for wearing a big smile.

Frank Lary, sidelined most of spring training by a bruised foot, opened the game with three innings of good work. The Pirates reached him for two runs and three hits, Paul Foytack pitched shutout ball in the middle three innings and Jim Bunning finished up by allowing the other Pittsburgh run.

The Tigers looked a little like the Tigers of old, however, as they left 13 runners on the bases and needed three unearned runs to win the game. But after five solid days of rain, it is difficult to get the Tigers to complain about anything.

"We got the game played," said Norman. "When we can do that these days, that's the most important thing. We need a lot more work like that."

Gail Harris, Rocky Bridges, Frank Bolling and Al Kaline each got a pair of hits as the Tigers ran their Grapefruit record to 5-4. They were to meet the Milwaukee Braves in Lakeland today with Bill Hoeft and Ray Narleski scheduled to pitch.

Yesterday the Tigers got four runs and eight hits off Bob Friend, who worked five innings, and another run and four hits off George Witt, who finished.

In an effort to make up for work lost because of the record Florida rains, Detroit and Pittsburgh scheduled another game for Tuesday in Lakeland. It previously was an off day for both clubs.

West Virginia in NCAA Finals Today

California Upsets Cincinnati

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—It will be Jerry West against the defense that stopped Oscar Robertson when West Virginia faces California tonight in a battle for the NCAA basketball tournament championship.

The 38 points West racked up to lead West Virginia to a 94-79 victory over Louisville in last night's eastern final won't overawe a rock-solid California crew that held Robertson to five field goals and 19 points for a 64-58 victory over Cincinnati in the western finals.

If the "Big O's" showing was a disappointment to the 18,619 fans who jammed Freedom Hall for the NCAA semi-finals, West's performance was a revelation as he poured cold water on Louisville's dreams.

The kid from Cabin Creek did more than shoot, although he did that exceedingly well, hitting 12 of 21 shots from the floor. He also pulled in 15 rebounds, outbattling a lanky Louisville front line that had outrebounded Michigan State and Kentucky in regional play.

West Virginia coach Fred Schaus summed it up, saying, "The kid brought us through tonight." But he also bragged about his guards, Bucky Bolyard and Bob Smith.

"Our defense wasn't as bad as some people said, was it?" Schaus asked.

He was right. The West Virginia guards completely upset Louisville's set plays, forcing the Cardinals into repeated costly errors. It was four of those miscues in a row late in the first half when Louisville held a 27-26 lead that turned the tide and gave West Virginia a decisive 48-32 halftime margin.

California, first Pacific Coast Conference team to reach the NCAA finals since Stanford won the crown in 1942, beat Cincinnati on defensive strategy, never giving the Bearcats a chance to set up Robertson for effective shots.

Oscar, who led the nation in scoring with a 32.9 per game average this season, could manage only 16 shots from the floor as the Bears kept at least one man and usually two between him and the ball. Senior forward Bob Dalton carried most of the burden on this maneuver, with a lot of help from 6-10 center Darrall Imhoff.

Imhoff, who had been hailed as approaching Bill Russell defensively but no great shakes in scoring, also displayed an effective left-handed hook shot that accounted for 22 points to lead both teams in scoring.

The key moment in the California victory came with the score tied at 54-54 after the Bears had held Cincinnati without a field goal for the first nine minutes of the second half to make up a 33-29 halftime deficit.

California went into a slow-moving weave and waited for more than a minute to work the ball into Imhoff. He spun in one of his southpaw hooks to put the Bears ahead with two minutes left and Cincinnati couldn't catch up.

Several Top Showings Despite Layoff

Hurlers Shine in Sun

United Press International

They're all smiling down in Florida today — the folks who live there just because the sun is shining and the baseball managers because the rain didn't make their pitchers rusty.

The boys got back to work again yesterday after almost a week of inactivity and brilliant pitching performances were the order of the day. It seemed as if the unscheduled time off was just what they needed to recover from the first three weeks of training.

Here's how the pitchers vied with one another to prove they'll be ready when opening-day assignments are handed out three weeks hence:

Hoyt Wilhelm and Ernie Johnson combined in a five-hit performance that enabled the Baltimore Orioles to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-0.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, who dashed off to Havana, Cuba in search of the sun, got a splendid seven-inning performance from Don Drysdale and beat the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2.

Russ Kemmerer and John Romonosky were tapped for only eight hits in the Washington senators' 3-2 decision over the Kansas City Athletics.

And the New York Yankees got fine performances from both Art Ditmar and Johnny Kucks as they beat the Milwaukee Braves, 6-3 and 5-4, in a day-night doubleheader at Miami.

The folks out Arizona-way had the day's "topper," however, when Bob Anderson of the Chicago Cubs become the first Major Leaguer to go nine innings with a four-hit, 3-1 win over the San Francisco Giants. The big rookie, a 17-game winner for Fort Worth, Tex., last season, struck out seven and walked four.

All in all, it was perhaps the most important day of the spring for worrying managers in Florida who feared the recent unseasonable weather would prevent their pitchers from being ready for the opening of the season. The chief losers now appear to be the rookies who lost four or five days' opportunity to impress managers who are now primarily interested in bringing their veterans into shape.

Feud Continues over Plante's Absence

Montreal Coach Tells Adams 'Jump in Lake'

MONTREAL (AP)—Coach Toe Blake said today that goalie Jacques Plante will return to the Montreal nets only when the club doctor approves and that those leading the loud squawks from other clubs "can go take a jump in the lake."

"They're acting like two-bit guys. They've been in hockey long enough to know better," snapped the riled Blake. "Something should be done about it.

"If the doctor says Plante can play tonight against the Boston Bruins, he'll play. If he can play Sunday in New York, even for part of the game, he'll play.

"If people think I want to lay Plante off for three games with the playoffs coming up, they ought to have their heads read. I'm sick and tired of any suggestion that we're not doing our best."

The rumpus started Thursday with the club's announcement that Plante had been ordered by the doctor not to play because of an infection from a boil under his chin. Rookie Claude Pronovost took Plante's spot in the nets against Toronto and the Maple Leafs won 6-3. The nervous Pronovost was yanked after the second period.

Then, in a big-hearted gesture, the club said that in fairness Plante would be kept out of Sunday's game in New York against the Rangers. The regular season ends Sunday, and the Leafs and Detroit Red Wings are trying to dislodge the slipping Rangers from the fourth and last playoff spot.

The move by the Canadiens backfired. General Manager Jack Adams of Detroit protested first to NHL President Clarence Campbell. Campbell reminded the Canadiens that, under league regulations, Plante would have to play when declared medically fit.

In New York, Rangers' General Manager Muzz Patrick said:

NHL President Campbell continued to view the whole affair calmly.

"I am adhering to the rules," he said. "I've told the Canadiens they can't use anybody but Plante if he is medically fit."

"What gets me mad is the suggestion that we are laying down," fumed Blake. "I have never had a club yet that lays down and I won't as long as I'm coaching.

Jail Prisoners Show Honesty to See Cage Game

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—County jail prisoners are fans of the University of Cincinnati basketball team and the fact helped promote a little honesty Friday.

Police, hearing that a club was hidden somewhere in a cell block ordered a shakedown. And they warned there would be no television of the California-Cincinnati NCAA Tournament game Friday night unless the weapon was turned in.

Prisoners on the second floor turned in not one but three clubs.

The inmates on the first floor gave up two more.

And finally, prisoners on the second floor also turned in three hacksaw blades.

The jail TV set was returned to the inmates.

Hockey Action Starts

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Bobcats trounced the Detroit Teamsters 17-1 and St. Paul trimmed the Marquette, Mich., Sentinels 10-4, in last night's opening games of the National Senior-U.S. Hockey Championships.

Hayes Jones Is Beaten in Cleveland Hurdles

Mills passed three men on the final turn with a burst of speed after Culbreath and Pittsburgh's Mel Barnwell got into a bumping session at the first turn.

Mills' time was 1:11.8. Nick Ellis of Morgan State followed Culbreath, and Barnwell was fourth.

Olympic hurdles champion Lee Calhoun of Durham, N. C., won the 50-yard high hurdles and equalled the meet record of 6.1 seconds.

Pontiac's Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan was a shade behind Calhoun, with Willie May, Indiana's Big 10 champ, taking third.

Ira Murchison, the former Western Michigan sprint flash, won the 50-yard dash and also tied the meet record with a clocking of 5.3 seconds. Keith Gardner of Nebraska was second, followed by Paul Winder, the indoor King from Morgan State.

Western Michigan's two-mile relay team set a meet record of 7:44.5 for the college division in the first final event of the night.

Here's how Michigan athletes placed in the KC meet.

50-Year High Hurdles—Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan. Second.

College Two-Mile Relay—Western Michigan (Larry Taylor, Dave Edgerly, John Bork, Dave Wuggazer), first with 7:44.5, new meet record. Old record of 7:48.7 set by same college in 1957.

University Two-Mile Relay—University of Michigan, second with 7:36.3.

High Jump—Dick Cephas of Michigan placed second.

University One-Mile Relay, Section 1—Michigan (Brian Gison, Don Chalfant, Marshall Dickerson, Tony Seth) won, 14 feet, 9¾ inches. Mamon Gibson of Michigan and Capt Jerry Welbourn of the Air Force tied for third place, 14-3.

Pontiac Wins in Boys' Club Tourney Here

Host Pontiac was still in the running today as the state Boys' Club Intermedate Tournament moved into the final sessions here.

Pontiac walloped Ypsilanti 45-24 in last night's opening round feature. The city quintet played Sarver of Detroit today while Guest and Philadelphia of Detroit battled for the other berth in the finals.

Sarver bombed South Oakland 63-7, Guest nipped Bloomer of Detroit 27-24 and Philly romped over Dearborn 67-12, in Friday's other openers.

Champions in both the prep and "open" divisions will be crowned following tonight's finals with the Pontiac Civitan Club sponsoring awards to be presented both groups among the other schools with athletes in contention.

Michigan great Mike Rodriguez and MSU's NCAA champ Ken Maidlow stole the show in the "open" division with easy triumphs. Rodriguez turned in a pin in 37 seconds. Several Canadians also starred.

A total of 92 matches made for an action-packed Friday program — 62 of them in the high school ranks.

Jerry Fields, a 145-pounder, Maurice Lackey, 154, and heavyweight Bruce Hinds of PNH and Central's Jerry Smith are the city grapplers still in contention. Hinds had a 35-second pin. Huskies Bud Beal and Don Davis were beaten yesterday but may get another opportunity to compete if their conquerors keep winning.

Hawks Begin Playoff Chase

By United Press International

Bob Petti and Cliff Hagan, the St. Louis Hawks' one-two scoring punch, swing into playoff action tonight in a bid for a successful defense of the National Basketball Association championship.

The Hawks, walk-away winner in the Western Division race, meet the Minneapolis Lakers and their "rookie of the year" Elgin Baylor in the opener of the best-of-seven western finals.

The Boston Celtics, Eastern Division titleholders, will be after a 2-0 lead tonight in the Eastern finals with the Syracuse Nationals.

St. Louis beat Minneapolis in eight of 12 games and experts believe the Lakers will have little chance of stopping the Hawks from reaching the title round.

Boston routed Syracuse, 132-109, last Wednesday after the insurgent Nationals had staged a clean sweep of their semi-final series with the New York Knickerbockers.

Syracuse may be hindered by a sprained ankle suffered by George Yardley Friday. He will be question mark until game time.

"Come Out of Rain" Move

Majors Invited to Coast

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A "come out of the rain" campaign aimed at Major League baseball clubs training in Florida was launched Friday.

Hoping to lure the clubs to California next year, the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce invited representatives of eight other Southern California chambers to meet here Monday.

George R. Johnson, local chamber president, declared, "The time is ripe for a move en masse now" to attract the rain-plagued Florida teams. Florida training sites had four straight days of rain until a break came Friday.

California has had an unusually dry spring.

Invited to the Monday session were representatives of chambers in San Diego, Avalon on Catalina Island, Palm Springs, Riverside, Pasadena, Santa Monica, Santa Barbara and Bakersfield.

Eastern Teams to Roll Tonight

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ten teams from the eastern half of the country, with averages in the 951 to 975 bracket, will attempt to crash the top 10 standings tonight on the 36th day of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

There were no changes in the top 10 in any division yesterday.

Hybrid Corn Most Popular

Has Spread Across World, Raising Output Everywhere

WASHINGTON—Hybrid corn, a giant grass with a distinguished pedigree, in little more than 35 years has become the most popular variety of the ancient plant.

When the first commercial hybrid corn seeds were put on the market in 1922, only 10 bushels were available. Since then, hybrid corn has spread across the world, increasing corn production wherever it goes, the National Geographic Society says.

The succulent corn-on-the-cob in the grocery store, the large yellow ears that fatten fine beef cattle, and the puffed white popcorn sold at carnivals all are hybrids.

Hybrid corn is obtained by inbreeding selected strains to develop desirable qualities, then crossing the strains. Often two hybrids are interbred to create what is called— in the best sense of the phrase—a double cross.

Hybrid corn can produce on three acres as much as old varieties produced on four, and it is sturdy enough to be picked by machine. As most hybrids produce only one ear per stalk, machine-picking is simplified.

Two runty inbred strains that bring forth five-inch ears will grow handsome large ears when crossed. Hybrids can be adapted to growing seasons and can be made resistant to diseases.

Not surprisingly, 94 per cent of the record 3,800,000,000 bushels of corn harvested in the United States in 1958 was hybrid.

American Indians, who cultivated corn long before Europeans arrived, did not try to develop hybrids. Some tribes, notably the Hopi attached an almost religious significance to keeping strains of corn pure.

Many American farmers accidentally or deliberately crossed corn, but it was not until the early 20th century that scientific crossing of corn began in earnest.

'We're Waiting for LLVLL, Our Pilot to Venus'

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—A weird new wrinkle in travel problems was reported today by Kent County Airport Director John F. Meacham.

He said airport officials last night forced two elderly Grand Rapids women to leave the airport twice after fearing for their safety when it was learned they planned a trip to Venus.

Meacham said the prospective travelers were asked to leave the grounds after they said they were waiting for the arrival of a space ship from Flint.

He said they gave the pilot's name as LLVLL Vear of Flint, who was experiencing a little motor trouble "but will be here any minute."

The women were in a taxi strip when discovered by the airport security officer. Meacham said they told him: "We get a signal every five minutes from outer space."

Essay Contest to Boost Library in Waterford

A new portable typewriter will be given to the Waterford Township resident who writes the best 150-word essay on "Why We Need a Township Library."

To help stimulate interest in the proposed library to be voted on in the April 6 election the typewriter was donated by the Forbes Printing Co. at Drayton Plains. Mrs. Walter Forbes is one of the Waterford Library Committee members.

After Frank Steere's offer to donate 17 scenic acres of his property to the township for a cultural center was accepted by the board in 1957, Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson appointed a 12-member Library Committee to study the possibility of building a library.

Now, after more than a year of studying architectural plans, operational statistics and other community libraries, the committee is heading into the "home stretch" in its efforts to make the library building a reality.

In his offer of the land, Steere specified that the library must must cost not less than $200,000, with an estimated operating budget of about $36,000.

In a detailed report, the committee has recommended proposals which will be on the spring election ballot. All must be approved by Waterford Township voters in order for the project to be undertaken, according to the Rev. Walter Teeuwissen, committee chairman.

The first proposal calls for permission to issue bonds, "not to exceed $300,000, for establishing and construction of a township library."

A second proposal asks that voters approve a tax increase of one-mill to pay off the bond issue.

With Waterford Township's average home assessed at $2,000, approval of all three proposals would mean an annual $6 tax hike, "or the price of one good book for each family for about five years," the Rev. Mr. Teeuwissen said.

He explained that the bond issue would be set up for a 10-year period. However, according to projected figures of the Detroit Planning Commission the township will have a population of more than 100,000 residents by 1970. The present population is 44,000.

"If the population takes the anticipated 50 per cent jump, the bond issue could be paid off in half that time," he explained.

Only two acres of land would be needed for the library and blacktopped parking space according to the committee's report. This would leave approximately 15 acres for a future hospital or other cultural buildings.

PRESERVED BEAUTY

At the present time, the area has been reserved as a bird sanctuary, and the scenic beauty of the hilly land has been zealously preserved by the Steere family.

Many walking paths wind through the woods, and a small pond is located in the center of the park. A huge renovated barn is situated in the northeast corner of the property. This could easily be converted into a "little theater," Steere said.

Speakers from the high school speech classes and committee members are still available for explanatory talks and group discussions on the project, the Rev. Mr. Teeuwissen said.

Those wishing to participate in the Library Essay Contest, have been asked to address their entries: Waterford Township Library Contest, 4500 Dixie Hwy., Drayton Plains. Winners will be announced soon after the April 6 election.

Unearth Buried Ft. Sumter Areas

Parts of Civil War's Famed Bastion Were Covered in Hurricane

The National Park Service plans to restore the parade ground and 12 gun rooms of the pentagonal fortification which stood guard over the main ship channel to the harbor of Charleston, S. C., as late as 1948. The work requires removal of some 18,000 tons of fill, first placed inside the fort in 1894 after a severe hurricane. The parade ground was covered and the gun rooms sealed to prevent further storm damage and sea erosion.

Ft. Sumter's popular fame derives from its status as the first target of the Civil War, the National Geographic Society notes. But the fort's value to military men is in the object lesson it taught, a lesson repeated as recently as the battles of Stalingrad and Cassino.

Smashed nearly flat by Union shells after its capture by the Confederacy, Sumter shattered proved as impregnable as Sumter whole. Ruins and rubble were shown to be as effective defensively as the most elaborate fortifications.

Planned as early as 1827, and named for Thomas Sumter, South Carolina's "Gamecock of the Revolution," the fort was still unfinished when Major Robert Anderson, with two depleted companies of the 1st U. S. Artillery, occupied it secretly on Dec. 20, 1860.

Anderson, with 73 men and a few civilian workmen, had to defend a fort intended for a garrison of 650 men and an armament of 135 guns. Only the bottom and topmost of the fort's three tiers of gun rooms were usable.

Several months later, 60 guns had been mounted, the largest being 15,000-pound shot. Hand grenades were improvised from shells whose primers were fired by ripcords held by the throwers. Cartridge bags, in short supply, were manufactured from soldiers' flannel shirts and woolen socks.

On April 12, 1861, a shell fired by Confederate forces at nearby Ft. Johnson burst directly over Ft. Sumter. Several hours later, Capt. Abner Doubleday, of baseball fame, fired Sumter's first reply.

An April 4 wedding date has been set by Carol Doreen Thompson and Raymond D. Sievers. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mrs. Ray B. Thompson of 3595 Baldwin Rd., Orion Township and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sievers of 2846 Beland St., Keego Harbor.

Move to Bring Scenery Back to Italy's Roads

ROME (UPI)—Italy, whose highways are lined with mazes of signboards, moved today to give the landscape back to the motorist.

Under a proposed new road code, the Public works Ministry will set a minimum distance between signs for each road, and in areas of artistic or natural beauty, the education ministry will have to be consulted. Also, no commercial posters will be allowed less than 820 feet before or 328 feet after a traffic sign.

West Bloomfield Murder Mystery Goes to the Dogs

That is, until Dr. Richard E. Olsen, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital pathologist, was called in.

Charles Van Horn, of 6000 Middle Belt Rd., was digging a "swimming hole" on his property when he uncovered the box, he told Pontiac State Police.

After they substantiated Van Horn's findings, Det. Charles Leaf was called in to handle the investigation. Police didn't know whether Van Horn had uncovered a relic or might possibly have stumbled across what remained of an unsolved murder, they said.

At this point Dr. Olsen went to work. After a brief inspection of the mysterious bones, he brought an abrupt close to the investigation with this report to officers:

"These are the bones of a dog."

Frozen Vegetables Lag

NEW YORK (UPI)—Americans are eating 15 times as much frozen vegetables as they were when the industry began 20 years ago. But despite this rapid increase, we still tables per person annually, as against 85 pounds of fresh vegeeat only 7½ pounds of frozen vegetables and 44 pounds of the canned variety.

Pontiac Press Photos by Tom Geris

SMALL AND FORMAL — This corner room is alive with color. Walls and carpeting are white while the paneling is walnut-stained birch. But the upholstery on the furniture consists of vivid blue, shocking pink and a bright yellow in the fireplace stool. Tables are walnut. The fireplace frame and hearth are white marble. That short white line at the left of the fireplace is a marble shelf under the planter in the spotlighted niche. The fireplace extends through to the family room.

INTERESTING WALLS — The half wall in the foreground is built around the stairway to the lower level. Most of the hall, except for the area right inside the front door, is carpeted in blue and beige tweed. The vestibule is floored in white marble. This stair wall has storage in the end, a planter on top. The wall beyond is the living room wall and is a conversation piece. Alternate closed spaces and open shelves give a feeling of spaciousness to both hallway and living room. Louvered doors at the left close off the latter room completely when desired.

Your Neighbor's House

Bergerons Build on West Valley Road

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

As we approached the house on West Valley road we could smell the smoke of a wood fire. The warmth of a fire on the hearth not only took the chill out of our bones but added to the friendly welcome Mrs. Donald D. Bergeron gave us.

We entered the house through the back door. In the rear the house is two stories high. There are wide expanses of glass and white board and batten panels. One end is fieldstone. The garage is at the other end of the house with a circle drive around the yard at that side.

Blue spatter linoleum covers the floor of the back hall and the anteroom at the top of the stairs. Coat closets and other storage, including a pantry, are built into this area. The ironer is hidden in a cupboard. There is a small gray and white lavatory at the front.

From the door into the family room one can look through the kitchen and on into the dining room. This informal living room has a pegged oak floor and a beamed ceiling. Windows form one wall and a fieldstone fireplace occupies the center of the opposite wall.

The inside walls are paneled in birch, stained walnut. On either side of the fireplace (which opens into the living room on the other side) there is louvered door storage. About chest height there is a marble shelf on which plants are set. Spotlights at the top illuminate these shelves.

PERMANENT CARD TABLE

The Bergerons like to play bridge so a permanent card table is set up in the family room. It is larger than most card tables and has a Formica top. The chairs are modern captain's chairs. Above this table is a traveling pewter lamp.

The kitchen is white, blue and walnut. The floor has a spatter pattern of blue, gray and white. Walls and counter tops are white. All cupboards are stained walnut. The roller shade on the window is white with blue yarn threaded through it.

It is a marvelously convenient kitchen. Mrs. Bergeron has two built-in ovens, a dishwasher and a cupboard that contains a roll-out table for the roaster. In one sliding door cupboard all the appliances are stored. They can be used there with a multiple-unit plug board, but when not in use can be hidden from sight.

Mrs. Bergeron's desk has one drawer deep enough to hold her portable typewriter. Above it is a bulletin board. There is a small pass-through to the dining room.

All exposed wood is walnut-stained birch. The walls are covered with a gold and white paper. A long window makes the stairway a bright place. Folding louvered doors close off both the living room and the family room.

The Bergerons wanted a rather small, formal living room. They wanted it out of the regular flow of traffic. It is placed in the front corner of the house and can be entered only from the front hall.

OPEN WALL

The walls around the white marble fireplace and next to the stairs are paneled in walnut-color birch. The latter wall is open on the upper half, consisting of a group of shelves and small enclosures like shadow boxes. Below are storage cabinets.

Painted walls are white, as are the draperies on the corner windows. The wool carpeting is oyster white. The walnut framed sofa is beige. On the east wall there is a blond spinet piano.

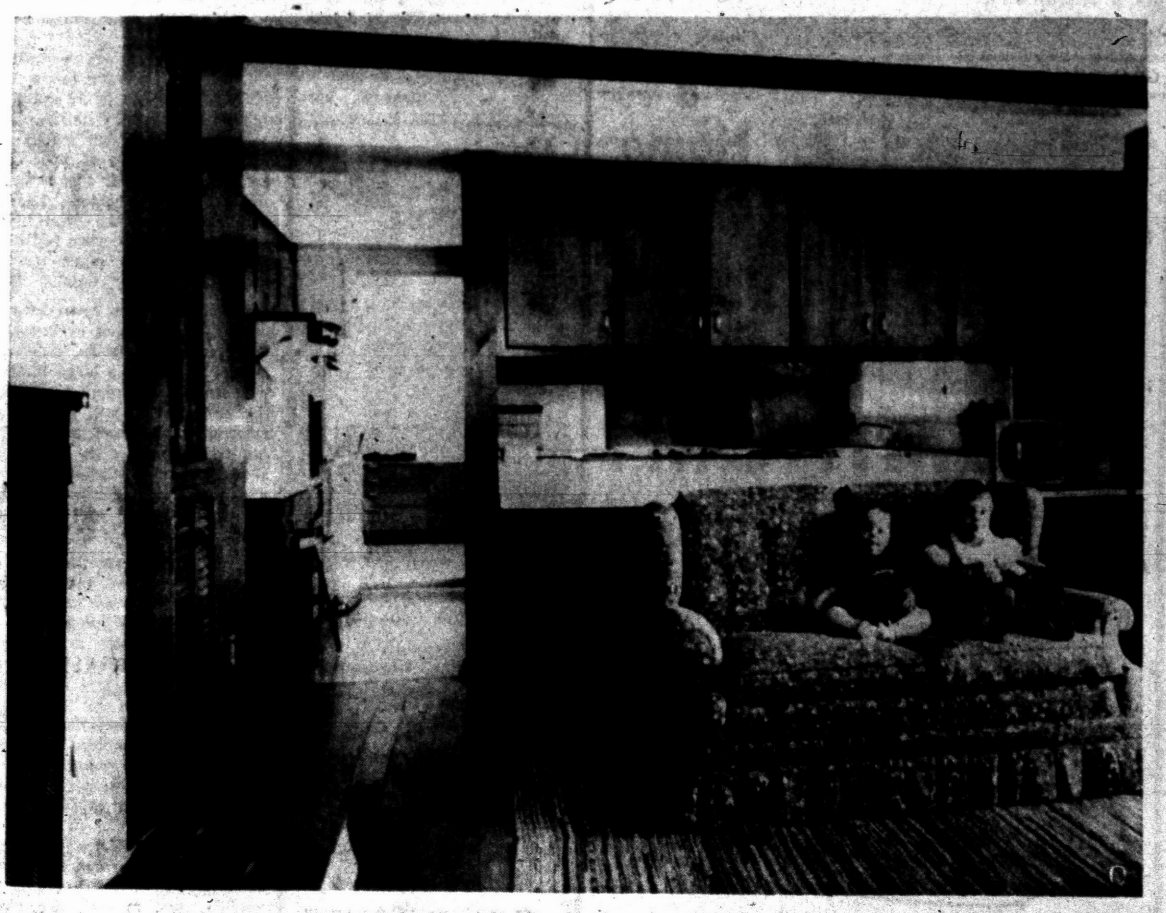

One chair is upholstered in deep blue. A Danish modern chair has shocking pink cushions. The large square stool in front of the fireplace has a cushion covered in plaid that combines blue, yellow and shocking pink. Tables are walnut.

There is an interesting bathroom arrangement on this floor of the house. It is really a trio of rooms. In the first one there is just a double vanity. The middle room has the bathtub, an automatic washer and dryer and storage cabinets. The third room has another vanity and the stool.

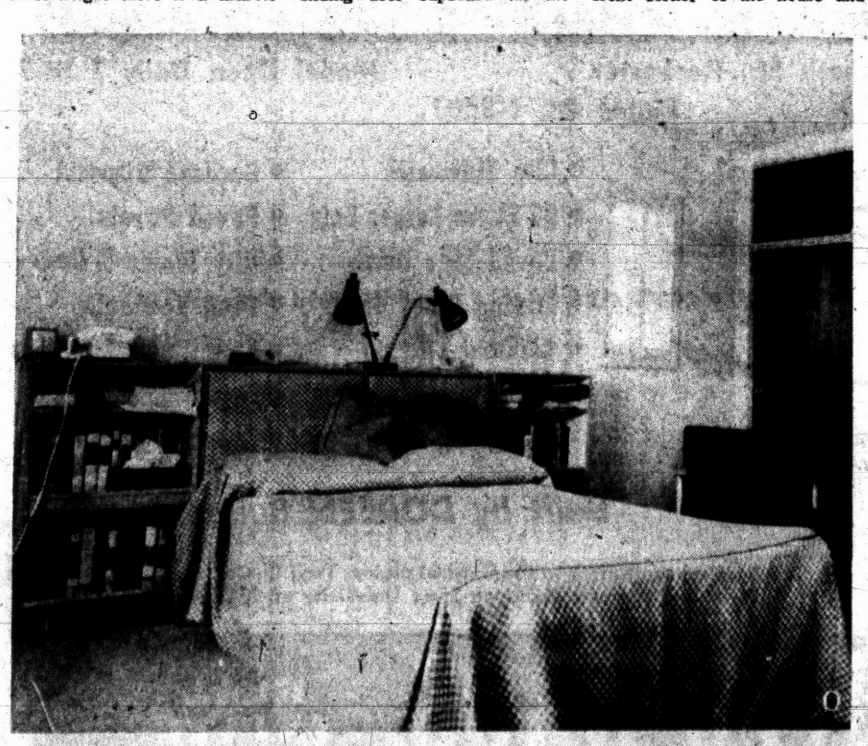

Tiling is white. The wallpaper has a white background with a turquoise and orchid print. In the first room rugs and curtains are orchid. The third room has no window. Its rugs and towels are blue, turquoise and purple.

Jeffrey, aged five, is the oldest child and the only boy. His room is one that will grow with him. There is a full-size desk and plenty of bookcase room all built

FAMILY ROOM — This room was built for informal living. Three small children feel free to romp on the pegged oak floor or to play with their toys on the small blue wingback sofa. Year-old Patricia and her three-year-old sister, Mary Beth, were willing subjects for the photographer. The kitchen can be seen through the open wall behind the sofa. The breakfast bar is a white Formica shelf just below the range counter. All cabinets are walnut-stained birch. Just inside the kitchen door at the left is Mrs. Bergeron's desk. The room beyond is the dining room.

MASTER BEDROOM — This large room is at the front of the house, has four long windows with a wide sill. Walls and carpeting are gold; the furniture is blonde. The bed is placed between bookcases. Swing-out padded headboards are upholstered in the same gray and white check fabric as the bedspread. The chair in the corner is rust color.

IN SOUTH BLOOMFIELD HIGHLANDS — Dr. and Mrs. Donald D. Bergeron and their three children have lived in this home on West Valley for about a year and a half. Their corner lot is 180 feet across front and back, but is 234 feet on one side and 276 on the other. Clifford N. Wright AIA of Detroit was the architect. The house is built of reused brick, white board and batten and fieldstone. It is a bi-level home. This photograph came from the architect's office.

Mary Beth, aged three, and Patricia, just one, share a bedroom. They have pink walls, pink bedspreads and pink flowered curtains. Otherwise, their room resembles their brother's. They have double closets, each with a built-in chest. A prominent piece of furniture in their room is an old fashioned cane seat rocking chair that is just right for rocking babies.

Four long windows with a sill wide enough to sit on let sunlight flood the room. The two big closets have additional storage space above them.

The padded headboard of the bed matches the spread. Both are grey and white check. There is a bookcase on either side of the bed. In one corner is a rust colored chair.

In the adjoining dressing room there is a built-in vanity and a mirror extending almost from floor to ceiling. The gold carpeting is used in this room also. The bathroom for this bedroom is gold color.

On the lower level there is the maid's room and bath, a large open area and Dr. Bergeron's den. The children play down in the open part which has a fireplace and tall windows. There is room here for two additional bedrooms and another bath, should they ever be needed. The den is paneled in pegged birch. This room has its own fireplace and a gun closet.

Clifford Wright of Detroit was the architect for the Bergeron home. John Woods, Inc. was the builder. The Bergerons have lived in their home on West Valley for about a year and a half.

If You Must Paint Walls Do It the Easiest Way

To make painting with a roller easier, line the paint tray with heavy foil or paper. Colors then can be changed quickly.

Use long-handled rollers or extension handles for ceilings and floors. Always start painting with an upward stroke, and if the surface is horizontal, work away from yourself.

Handyman Should Know ABC's of Lumber Terms

If you have just turned home handyman, with all sorts of ambitious projects in view, a fair working knowledge of lumber sizes can be an invaluable aid.

Familiarity with the mechanics will enable you to execute your designs with greater surety. It will also help you get full value for your money.

According to the Southern Pine Association, a retail yard may have several different sources for its lumber, and the items you buy may come from more than one mill. When stocks are standardized with respect to size and quality, you may freely use Texas lumber products interchangeably with those from Alabama and Florida.

The mechanics for standardization have been set up under American Lumber Standards of the U.S. Department of Commerce. American Lumber Standard sizes are calculated to assure an appropriate degree of safety and serviceability in end use.

For each standard lumber item, there is a "nominal" size and a corresponding "dressed" size. The former means size in the "rough;" the latter refers to actual measurements of finished lumber.

Since a differential is allowed for planning in the transition from a rough to finished state, "dressed" sizes are always a shade under their nominal counterparts.

For instance, the ALS, "dressed" size for the famous 2 x 4 is 1 and ⅝ inches by 3 and ⅝ inches. The nomenclature "2 x 4" is taken from the nominal standard. And while a board is popularly defined as lumber of 1" thickness, here again that is a nominal size, with the listed ALS "dressed" standard being twenty-five-thirty-twos."

"Dressed" sizes, of course, are those on which architects and builders base their designs, and they are the yardsticks that you should use in developing your home improvement projects.

The important thing is to be certain that the actual measurements of the material you buy and use conform with the ALS "dressed" standards. Not only should your lumber be full-size and not scant, but the "dressed" size should also be a "dry" lumber size.

Unless the material is properly seasoned and hence "pre-shrunk," it is subject to further shrinkage, and you will get something less than that for which you pay. Instead of being 1⅝ x 9½" at the time you use them, for instance, your floor joists may be much closer to 1½" x 9". Such waste and loss of strength is to be avoided since you do not have full value, and since the loss of size also may threaten the structural integrity of your remodeling project.

Upstairs Room Offers Haven

Is the downstairs bustle getting you down? Upstairs, things may look up.

In these days when practically every downstairs room has a TV, radio or record player as standard equipment, it's pretty hard to find a spot where one can indulge in the gentle pleasures of quiet conversation, reading or just reverie.

If that's your problem, take a look around upstairs. That little-used guest room or spare bedroom could be just the place for an old-fashioned sitting room.

An upstairs sitting room doesn't have to be reserved exclusively for evening relaxation. For example, if your is a large family with limited bathroom facilities, the sitting room will provide a convenient place for those waiting their turn for the morning shower. Some comfortable chairs and a selection of reading matter will make the wait seem so much shorter.

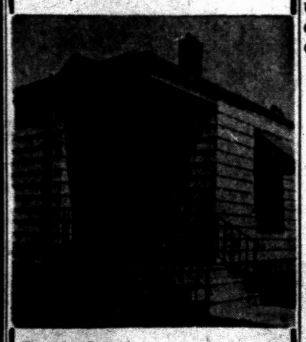

If you crave a morning cup of tea or coffee before your shower, you can satisfy your yen by installing an electric hot plate.

To keep the family in the righ spirits, day and night, make your sitting room light and airy. This can be achieved by plenty of floorlamps and a cheerful surfacing on the walls and floors. Your best bet is colorful ceramic tile. It comes in an ampe variety of colors and designs to suit any decor you may choose.

With the installation of a day bed, your sitting room can serve admirably as a guest room. Its possible uses, in fact, are virtually unlimited.

At 6 per cent, generally the highest interest charged today on home mortgages, interest adds up to $935 per $1,000 for 25 years. This totals $13,090 in interest alone on a $14,000 mortgage.

White Roof Offers Variety of Advantages

A roof of white asphalt shingles gives any house three distinct advantages. These are the modern smart appearance of white, the ability of white to reflect much of the summer sun's heat, and the durability and weather resistance of asphalt shingles surfaced with millions of rock-tough mineral granules.

Ninety per cent of postwar homes have less than 1000 square feet of living area.

WORTH DREAMING FOR — Engineering ingenuity and the artist's eye for beauty combined to produce this striking split-level. The house has three bedrooms and 2½ baths. Living and bedroom levels cover 1,486 square feet.

House of Week Combines Efficiency, Real Beauty

By DAVID L. BOWEN

Great importance is placed these days on utility and floor plan efficiency in a home. But if a design had these virtues and none other, it would be as dreary—even if as practical—as an Army barracks.

Beauty of form, line, color and texture is essential to lasting enjoyment of a home. X-50, today's House of the Week design, has such beauty in an unusual degree.

The architect who did not overlook his function as artist is Rudolph A. Matern. A glance at the drawing of the graceful exterior and close study of the floor diagrams will show how well he succeeded.

FRESH APROACH

Here are some of the departures that make the home exceptional:

1. A single continuous roof covers the entire house (usually a split-level has two separate roof areas).

2. The split is uneven; that is, there are only four steps from the lowest level to the middle level, and eight from the middle level to the bedroom level.

3. The main entrance is on the lowest level (instead of the middle level, as is customary).

The unevenness of the split increases the privacy of the bedroom section, makes possible a lovely balconied stairway leading to the bedroom hall, and permits a glamorous linking of the kitchen and the family room.

Kitchen is completely open to the family room, but four steps higher. Dinette space is provided against the wrought iron railing running along the kitchen balcony.

The combination of the cathedral ceiling and the position of the main entrance on the lowest level brings an uncommon air of spaciousness to the entryway. The ceiling above the lower foyer is nearly two stories high.

A visitor can move from the lower foyer either to the upper foyer or bypass through the family room to the kitchen and terrace in the rear.

From the upper foyer, the entire entertaining area comes into view: the living room with its large windows and sliding glass door leading to the porch, the impressive brick fireplace wall rising to the high ceiling, and the dining room.

PRIVACY WAS GOAL

Because of this natural privacy, he was able to use larger windows than usual in the bedrooms. The master bedroom has a private bath, and the bath serving the other two bedrooms is only steps away from their doorways.

The privacy theme also is apparent on the porch, which is completely open only toward the rear. The house protects it on two sides and a masonry screen shields it on the third side.

An unusual amount of screening is done elsewhere. Vertical louvers at the front corner act like a giant Venitian blind for the living room. The pierced masonry screen at front center shields the living room from observation by a person standing outside the main entrance. These screens permit use of large glass doors for light and ventilation in the living and dining rooms, without the penalty of loss of privacy.

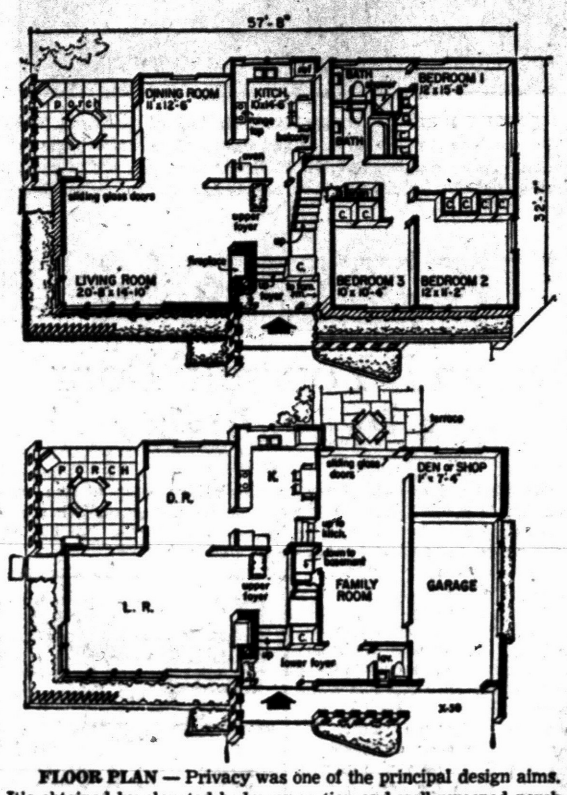

"Exterior appearance of X-50," says Architect Matern, "is a perfect example of how a split-level house can be glamorized and made more interesting than the ranch, 1½-story or two-story house.

"Sweeping roof and horizontal planter tie both levels neatly together. Angled head windows, vertical louvers, planters, masonry walls and combination of brick and vertical boards all add interest and charm to the home."

Living and bedroom levels cover 1,486 square feet. This does not include area of lower foyer, family room, or the small den or shop behind the garage. Over-all width is 57'8" and depth is 32'7". Minimum lot size recommended is 80 by 100 feet.

FLOOR PLAN — Privacy was one of the principal design aims. It's obtained by elevated bedroom section and well-screened porch and living room. Main entrance is on the lowest level and balconied kitchen overlooks the large family room.

Install Soft Lights Inside Cornices

Fluorescent lighting concealed in a well-planned cornice will provide soft overall lighting throughout a room. Cornices can be functional as well as decorative by merely installing standard fluorescent channels, which can be obtained in various colors to provide subdued tones in certain areas of a room.

The problem of keeping cornices attractive can be eliminated by covering them with plastic-finished hardboard paneling, which can be kept clean with a damp wiping.

Predecorated hardboard is available at lumber yards in plain colors, handsome woodgrains and distinctive marble patterns. A cornice may blend in with the background wall or stand out as a decorative accent.

Predecorated hardboard may be mounted to existing cornices with wallboard adhesive. For new cornices, it can be applied to plain hardboard, plywood or a wood framework. The paneling can be cut in straight lines or curves with regular carpentry tools.

The damper should be kept closed in a fireplace when it's not being used. When the damper is open, heat shoots up the chimney and is wasted.

Take Time to Be Tidy

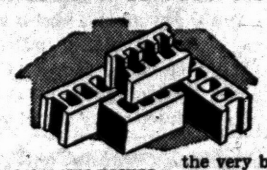

The right precaution at the right time can save you dollars. As soon as a paint job is finished, take time to clean your brushes, spray gun or roller thoroughly. Cleaning is easy then, and very hard after the paint has dried on them.

Cells in Insulation Trap Escaping Air

Air is the best barrier to the escape of heat from a house, but this air must be confined to tiny space so that it will not circulate and carry off heat by convection.

This is why mineral wool is such an efficient insulating material. Millions of fibers, packed to the proper density, trap the air in tiny cells which retard the flow of heat.

How to Provide Easy-to-Clean Walls in Kitchen

The kitchen is often the hardest room in the house to keep clean because steam, grease and spattered food seem to be ever-present.

You can't avoid the job of cleaning a kitchen, but you can make the task far less burdensome if the walls and ceilings are covered with a permanent, easy-to-wipe surface.

Many home owners are turning to prefinished hardboard panels to convert their kitchens into attractive rooms that can be kept spic and span with the whisk of a damp or sudsy cloth.

This type of hardboard is available with a baked plastic finish so smooth that dirt, food and grease can't get a firm grip. It doesn't get dull or streaked after washing, and it stays new-looking for years.

If you want to apply the hardboard panels yourself, you need only ordinary carpentry tools — a rule, saw, sandpaper or plane for beveling edges, plus adhesive.

You can find out how easy it is by consulting the lumber dealer who stock prefinished hardboard in its wide range of colors and designs.

Glare-Free Lighting!

Here's a light panel which the maker — Owens — Corning Fiber-Glass Corp. says will give glare free illumination. The panel measures 24 by 48 inches, has a flat surface and fits into the ceiling. When light passes through the panel to the area below, the light is diffused into a soft, even tone.

UNIQUE DOORS — Design-it-yourself door of ponderosa pine helps welcome guests with color and beauty at this new home in Country Ridge Estates, Rye, N. Y. Below are some of the panel inserts available for this new door, now carried in stock by building material dealers.

Design-It-Yourself Door Permits Individuality

The newest and one of the most intriguing advancements in the home building materials field today is a new stock panel entrance door you can design yourself.

This means that families who are planning to build or remodel a home, as well as architects and builders, can now have the beauty and individuality of a custom-made door at stock door cost and availability.

As the photograph shows, this new entrance door of ponderosa pine has three equal-size panels. However, when the door is manufactured, the panels are not installed. Instead, 12 different styles of insert panels to fit the basic door are made separately. These include five styles of glass panels, four solid inserts of different design, and three styles of simulated louver panels.

These 12 styles of panels make it possible for the family building or remodeling a house to choose from 1,500 different entrance designs by arranging the panels in different combinations.

Even more distinction can be achieved by painting the panels in harmonizing or contrasting colors.

Building material dealers now are stocking the new door along with complete selections of panels. After a family has chosen the combination of insert panels they like for their door, it will be delivered with these panels installed, ready to hang.

A further advantage of the new ponderosa pine door is that the panel inserts can be removed and new ones in different styles obtained from the dealer.

This makes it possible to obtain a new-looking door at the cost only of the new panels if the family wants to change the old design after a few years.

Legal Ruling Points Need for Roof Gutter

A recent ruling by a Philadelphia judge points out the need for a home to have properly installed gutters and downspouts, says the Roof Drainage Manufacturers Institute.

The case involved 450 new small homes. The houses had 30-inch roof overhangs, no roof gutters and downspouts.

"This ought to keep the rain from dripping to close to house," said the builder.

"Not so," countered the judge. There is ample testimony that lack of drainage from roofs has caused damage, pools and stagnant water, ice patches and other conditions which not only are uncomfortable but have affected health."

Additives used in heating oils prevent the rusting of fuel oil storage tanks, both the large bulk storage tanks as well as the smaller tanks in basements and underground. Additives also keep oil burner nozzles clean.

Junk Goods Discouraged

Japan Bidding as Quality Exporter

Bustling, ambitious Japan is trying to make "Made in Japan" a sign of quality instead of a label for 10-cent junk as it was in the 1930s. Here is a comprehensive report on its self-improvement campaign.

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI

TOKYO (AP) — Japan, the junk maker of the 1930s, is now competing in world markets as an exporter of quality goods.

One of the top five exporting nations, Japan needs trade to survive. Her industrialists have decided that quality is the best way to get that trade.

Since the end of World War II and especially since independence in 1952, a number of Japanese goods have made a new name for themselves abroad for their high standards of workmanship and superlative quality.

Outstanding advances have been made in the fields of electrical and optical goods; precision instruments; pharmaceutical and drug products; machine and machine tools; cameras; and steel, in general.

Only recently Japanese automobiles made their appearance in American shows and attracted favorable attention—paricularly the Toyopet, which in Japanese means "luxury pet." A pint-sized car with big car appointments, the Toyopet is powered by a 4-cylinder overhead valve 60 horsepower engine.

There is a lot of low quality merchandise still being produced and exported, but establishment of government design centers and policing by industry leaders themselves is slowly bringing quality.

In addition, a growing domestic demand is forcing Japanese manufacturers to raise their sights.

ELECTRONICS SPUR

The electronics industry furnishes an example of the trend toward improved production for export as well as the domestic market.

In 1957, some 1,500 firms manufactured 555 million dollars worth of electronic equipment of all types. Some 20 million dollars worth was exported, with the United States the largest purchaser.

Production is expected to rise to more than one billion dollars by 1962.

Exports of machinery increased threefold from 1954 to 1957, lifting Japan from 10th to 5th place in the world. Principle items exported were ships, bicycles, sewing machines, electrical and textile machinery, trucks, motorcycles, buses and rolling stock.

Japanese buses, trucks, jeeps, have gone to South America, South-east Asia, the Middle East and Africa.

In shipbuilding, Japan in 1958 for the third consecutive year led the world in tonnage output. The world's largest tanker, a mammoth 100,000-ton vessel, was launched last year from an American-owned Japanese dockyard.

Exports of cameras and radio sets are also sharply rising. A post war outfit called "Sony" came out in 1955 with the first pocket transistor radio. Sony engineers also pioneered in the production of tape recorders.

Manufacture of cheap, inferior goods, the piracy of designs, both foreign and domestic, and the dumping practice for which Japan was notorious before the war, still exists. But now they are frowned upon by the government and condemned by public opinion.

Lack of originality and low quality in Japanese products in the past often was due to the fact that they were made for export only and not for the domestic market.

In the last few years, however, there has been a sharp rise in the demand for more and more creature comforts by the average Japanese, now experiencing a historically high income.

And the demand was for good things. The Japanese industries involved found they could compete only on a quality basis. And in satisfying the home market, industrialists also increased export production.

Deadwood Shop Jewelry Unique

West's Famed Gold Town Makes Trinkets of Special Finish

DEADWOOD, S. D. (UPI) — A small shop on the main street of Deadwood, virtually in the shadow of America's only surviving large gold mine, has become the center for the manufacture of a unique form of jewelry—featuring gold, naturally.

The Black Hills Gold Jewelry business, founded in 1878, now turns out more than 100,000 items a year that are sold throughout the country.

Manager Charles Waters of one jewelry company feels that the unique finish imparted on gold items by his 16 employes — and those of a similar establishment in nearby Rapid City—can never be copied.

"The mass production jewelers in the East are trying it, but they just can't match our 'frosty' effect that gives Black Hills jewelry its characteristic appearance," Waters said.

When the gold rush to the Black Hills broke after the Civil War—it was here the expression "There's gold in them thar hills" originated — Deadwood became a hustling, bustling mining camp.

IN HISTORIC AREA

It was just across the street from the jewelry shop that Jack McCall shot Wild Bill Hickok in the back. Calamity Jane looking on, as Hickok sat with his hand of aces and eights.

The founder of the establishment got the pattern going and passed the secrets of the process on down to the next generation.

The basic design features grape clusters and leaves of red, green and yellow gold. The current line uses these designs in modern form — with the newly-popular "bolo tie" becoming the best seller for men. Most popular item for women remains earrings.

The gold is mined at the Homestake Mine, high on the hill in Deadwood's twin city of Lead.

Because of government regulations, the mine has to sell its gold to the mint in Denver and Waters in turn has to buy it back through a broker.

The natural gold is 24 karat—pure. But for strength and color, it has to be fashioned in alloy form. The alloys are made in an electric furnace right in the shop — with "beans" of silver added to form green gold, copper for red gold and a combination of copper and silver for yellow gold.

The "frosty" effect that is the mark of the Black Hills product is obtained on an engraving machine, whose rapidly moving needle digs into the surface in a precisely controlled manner.

Long-Haired Animals Free of Coat Shackles

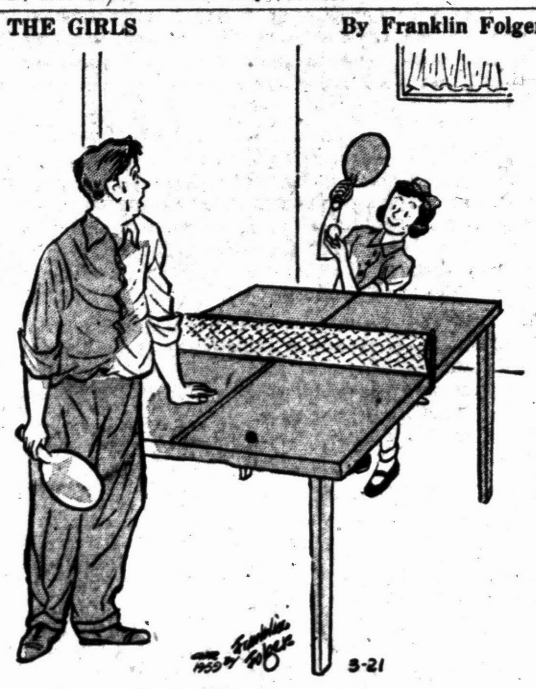

ITHACA, N. Y. (UPI)—Changes in fashion are causing a serious conservation problem in New York State.

Dr. W. J. Hamilton Jr., a zoologist at the state College of Agriculture, pointed out that because long furs are no longer chic, there has been a sharp decline in fur trapping.

He added that the animals thus left free to roam are inflicting heavy damage on timber, railroad rights-of-way, highways and tillable land.

Providence, R.I., received its name from Roger Williams who said the city was founded "in commemoration of God's merciful providence."

Fast Talking Saves Money, Maybe Youth

NEW YORK (AP) — William Berg looked into the muzzle of a small automatic as he kept talking.

"Look," he told the holder of the gun, whose hand was shaking, "there's no reason to get yourself in trouble over money. You look like a nice kid. Kids like you are getting shot and put in prison every day for this kind of stuff."

The would-be holdup man, dark-haired, neatly dressed, about 19, replied: "You go out there and get me $300. I'm depserate for money. This is my first holdup."

"Out there" was an outer office of the Household Finance Co. in Brooklyn. The youth ostensibly had come in to get a loan and was being interviewed by Berg, 31, the assistant manager, in a private interview booth.

Said Berg: "If I do that, they'll set off an alarm. Why don't you walk out of here? Put your gun away and walk out. I'll give you a few minutes and I won't sound an alarm."

"Thanks," replied the youth. "You look like a pretty nice guy. I'd like to take you up on your offer."

"I hope I saved that youngster from getting into a lot of trouble," he said.

Security for You

No, Fund Doesn't Run U.S.

By RAY HENRY

From T. J. of Oakland City: "What happens to the Social Security tax that's paid every year? A friend tells me it's used to pay the cost of running the government if there's any left over after making the Social Security payments."

Your friend is wrong. The tax money goes into two separate government trust funds and is kept separate from all other accounts in the United States Treasury. The money can be spent in only two ways: To make Social Security payments and to pay the cost of running the Social Security system. What's left over after paying these expenses is invested in government securities.

From B.C.H. of Waukegan, Ill.: "I'll be 65 in May and plan to ask for my Social Security then. What sort of material should I take with me when I go to file my application?"

You should take your Social Security number, proof of your age and proof of your recent earnings. If your wife intends to apply at the same time, she should take proof of her age and proof of your marriage.

From T. M. of San Bernardino, Calif.: "Early in 1958, I filed with the Social Security administration an estimate of what my earnings would be for 1958. On the basis of this estimate, four Social Security checks were withheld. Now, I find that I only made a total of $1,158 last year and should have received all my checks. Can I get those four checks which were withheld?"

Yes. You should go to your Social Security office and file an Annual Report of Earnings—if you haven't done this already. The four checks will be mailed to you, since your total earnings for 1958 were less than $1,200 during the year.

In Memoriam 2

IN MEMORY OF ANDREW TEMporali, who passed away three years ago today, March 21st.
His smiling way and pleasant face,
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, We know not when;
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
Sadly missed by wife and family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR husband an father, Troy W. Marcum, who passed away one year ago March 22, 1958. Sadly missed by Marcia, Richard and Michael.

2 County Tots Dead on Arrival

Respiratory Infections Take Baby, Other Tot This Morning

Two area children, one of them a three-week-old baby, were pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital within minutes of each other this morning.

Both victims of respiratory infections, they were Dennis Statler, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Statler, of 2451 Opdyke Rd., Pontiac Township, and Keith B. Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bailey, of 5132 Frankwell St., Independence Township.

According to Oakland County Deputy Coroner Dr. J. F. Naz of Clarkston, this type of infection is becoming increasingly fatal in young children.

"I have handled five such cases involving babies four months old and under so far this year," he said. The post-virus infection acts with alarming rapidity, many times within three hours, Dr. Naz said.

"You've got to be able to hit those before you think of moving ones," he observed.

An outside range had been promised Straley by City Manager Walter K. Willman two years ago so that officers could fire at moving targets, Verhine recalled.

"The chief said Willman was an engineer and had built ranges in the Army. He told me that Willman was going to build an outside range for us.

Straley purchased about 40 new ones and had him recondition the others, he said.

Among other duties, the ex-range officer said, he made ammunition for the department, 45,000 rounds yearly.

He came to grips with the PPOA personally in 1956 when he placed a special officer serving as Straley's administrative aide on the pistol team, he recalled.

'DIDN'T WANT HIM'

"The PPOA president told me he talked to team members and they didn't want him (the special officer) on the team because he wasn't a regular police officer," Verhine stated.

But in talking to the team members himself, Verhine said he found no objection to the officer, Theodore Villella.

Despite a PPOA boycott, team members didn't quit and none ever complained, the firearms instructor said.

Emergency weapons in the police station haven't been cleaned since he was returned to patrol duty, Verhine charged.

"They're in poor condition and haven't been looked after. It would be dangerous to fire them," he claimed.

Verhine said he quit the PPOA in 1958 because of its attacks on Straley.

"I never heard these attacks made at PPOA meetings," he said. "I read about them in the papers the next day."

The PPOA opposition to Straley arose in 1955 and was centered in "five or six men," he said.

"If this clique felt they might meet trouble from a majority of members, they'd call a special meeting and notify only people who agreed with them.

"Their opponents wouldn't know about it until it was too late for them to attend."

ONLY FIVE VOTES

One man was elected PPOA president in 1953 with only five votes, Verhine said.

Under cross-examination by City Attorney William A. Ewart, Verhine admitted the PPOA had fought for many projects furthering the welfare of officers.

One by one, he acknowledged a list of benefits for officers obtained by PPOA action.

"Sure, they did all that," Verhine said, "but they've undone all their good work with the headaches they created in the past three years."

In his opinion, Verhine said, the PPOA ruined its reputation by making false charges against Straley.

One of these charges was that Straley stole money from a flower fund, he said.

He denied the Fraternal Order of Police was organized in opposition to the PPOA. "The FOP has never been for or against Straley, or Eastman," he said.

Two other witnesses at last night's session testified on police records.

Mrs. Eloise Young, civilian records clerk, said Eastman acted too hastily in installing a centralized records system. "More planning was necessary and clerks and officers should have been trained before the move was made," she said.

The changeover will necessitate more clerks and space for the records section, she said.

Mrs. Young said the FBI favors centralizing records.

Lt. Charles Gale of the identification section, said he would like to incorporate parts of the "old and new" records setups.

On FBI recommendations concernnig records systems, Gale said, "If they recommend it, then it's a pretty good thing."

He said that his desk at the station had been broken into and a letter asking the chief's approval for formation of the FOP Pontiac lodge taken out and possibly photostated.

A photostatic copy of the letter was introduced as a city exhibit. Ewart said that the copy was in one of Straley's files. "I don't think the chief did that," Gale countered.

He said he did not qualify as a fingerprint expert in court, but explained it was because "most people plead guilty if they know we have a fingerprint case against them."

Last night's hearing was marked by frequent clashes between Ewart and Smith, with the city attorney charging that testimony about the PPOA was irrelevant to the charges against Straley.

Facing commissioners, Smith declared: "You won't decide this on incompetency and ineffficiency. You'll decide it on the strife in the department and we shall continue to show where the trouble lies."

Commissioners have set meetings Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in the race to reach a decision before April 6 when Pontiac votes on repeal of civil service.

Burglary Probe Efforts Pay Off

Ex-Convict Surrenders After Police Trace 2 Crimes to Him

A seven-month investigation of two burglaries last August paid off Friday night when an ex-convict, Leroy E. French, 49, of 755 E. Mansfield St., surrendered to Pontiac Police and FBI agents.

French was booked at the Oakland County Jail for investigation of breaking and entering in the night time.

He has been charged with breaking into Furtney's Drug Store, 974 Joslyn St., in August and stealing $200 cash plus a large quantity of blank money orders.

Police said French then broke into a Clarkston coal yard office and took a check protector for use in falsifying the money orders.

Since then, according to police, French has been on an "extensive vacation" financed by the bad checks.

He is accused of issuing seven checks of from $85 to $95 each in Hazel Park, Milwaukee, Canada and several other places.

French called the detectives back and said he would meet them in front of the Hotel Roosevelt in an hour. He did.

City DAV Auxiliary Honors Past Chiefs

Two Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary officers were honored Thursday night at the Past Commanders Banquet of Pontiac Chapter 101 at the Bemis-Olsen Amvets Post 570.

Among the guest speakers for the event were Addison Alguire, of the Michigan Trust Fund, and Mrs. Margaret Tyvela, past commander of the DAV state department, who discussed programs at veterans hospitals.

Lodge Calendar

Special meeting, Pontiac Chapter No. 228 O.E.S. Mon. Eve. March 23 honoring life, honorary and charter members. Dinner at 6:30 P.M. 18½ E. Lawrence St.
Edith M. Coons, Secretary

News in Brief

Two poor boxes containing an undetermined amount of money and a set of books were reported stolen from the Sacred Heart Catholic Church, 3360 Adams Rd., Pontiac Township, yesterday, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Paul Bingley, of 931 Argyle St., reported to Pontiac Police Friday that someone stole $25 from his gas station at 1211 N. Perry St.

Good quality used wearing apparel for the entire family on sale at The Salvation Army Red Shield Store, 118 W. Lawrence St., Pontiac. Open daily 9:30 A.M.-5 P.M. Fridays until 8 P.M.

Thirty per cent of the over $10,000,000,000 spent for all advertising last year — or $3,120,000,000 — was invested in daily newspapers.

Officers Deliver Baby in Front of Avon Hospital

Two Rochester patrolmen had the roles of "midwives" this morning, delivering a baby seconds before the mother was to enter the hospital at 5 a.m.

Officers William Woehl and Robert Cannon assisted the woman in the family car in front of the Avon Center Hospital. They had just escorted the auto to the hospital, but were summoned back to assist just as the woman was ready to get out of the car.

Mrs. David (Roberta) Sexton, 20, of 244 First St., and her new 7-pound, 4-ounce baby boy were "doing nicely," the hospital said.

They shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary.

ORDINANCE NO. 33

An Ordinance to amend Ordinance No. 4, the White Lake Township Rural Zoning Ordinance as amended:

The Township Board of the Township of White Lake, County of Oakland, State of Michigan ordains that Township Ordinance No. 4, as amended be amended and supplemented as follows:

Article IV—Health, sanitary, safety and protective measures shall be amended as follows:

Add Section 4.12: Waste, Garbage and Rubbish.

No garbage, sewage, filth, paper refuse or other obnoxious matter shall be kept in open containers or piled on the open ground so as to create a nuisance or provide a breeding place for flies, insects or rodents. Containers for garbage and refuse shall be water-tight, rodent-proof and have tight fitting covers to prevent entrance of insects. No business or industrial use shall permit waste materials, cans, cartons, etc., to be piled or stored on open ground. All waste material must be periodically disposed of at least once each week, provided this shall not apply to accumulation of manure or other materials incident to the normal operation of a farm.

The occupant or occupants of every building where waste accumulates, and/or, the owner, lessee or agent, shall cause to be provided for each building, proper receptacles for said wastes, either stationary or portable, the said receptacle to be kept clean and in place. No occupant, owner, lessee or agent, shall permit the storing or accumulation of rubbish or waste, or permit it to be kept in open yards or lots. It may however, be placed in an accessory building for the period of one week.

Hope to Recover ICBM Warhead

Fire Thor-Able Missile Into Atlantic; Ships, Planes Wait for Cone

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Air Force hurled a futuristic ICBM warhead far out over the Atlantic aboard a fiery Thor-Able rocket today and hoped to recover it intact for the first time in six lanuchings.

The huge two-stage rocket, a modified combination of the intermediate range Thor and Vanguard appeared to perform perfectly during the 2½ minutes it was in sight after a spectacular blastoff.

A fleet of search ships and planes waited in rendezvous off Ascension Island 5,000 miles to the southeast ready to recover the elusive cone after it splashed into the sea.

A bright puff and then a tiny flash of light in rapid succession indicated that the second stage of the 80-foot launching vehicle had ignited.

Up to now the Air Force had failed to retrieve one of the tiny cones that are vital in aiding missile scientists to develop the ultimate nuclear warhead shield for such ICBM's of the future as the Titan and Minuteman.

Pains Suffered by Alcoholics Worst Possible

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah —The president of the National Council on Alcoholism says there are no pains or anxiety comparable to those suffered as a result of alcoholism.

R. Brinkley Smithers said the pains are greater than those of childbirth, battlefield wounds or majory surgery.

"When one realizes," he said, "that the sick alcoholic is suffering from 20 to 30 bona fide physical disabilities in addition to the even more excruciating agonies of anxiety, depression, memory loss and estrangement from both God and his fellow man, this isn't hard to understand."

Smithers said his comments gave consideration to the pains of cancer victims, mental disease patients and heart disease cases.

Ticker Tape Parade Welcomes O'Kelly

NEW YORK (AP) — Ireland's President Sean T. O'Kelly, who missed New York's St. Patrick's Day parade, had a parade of his own Friday.

The 76-year-old President sat in an open car behind a 50-piece band. A crowd estimated at 400,000 cheered as he drove along Broadway in the conventional shower of ticker tape.

Paid by Solon After Quitting

Relative Draws Salary Payments Though She Left Jan. 28

"This is just accumulated leave," Rep. H. Carl Andersen (R-Minn) said Friday in reference to his sister-in-law, Susanna Johnson Andersen, 62.

The 11-term congressman said he intends to keep Mrs. Andersen on the payroll at $690 a month for up to six months as terminal leave.

Also on Andersen's office payroll are his son, Alfred, 20, at $4,044 a year, and a sister, Julia Hoppenstand, at $2,744 a year.

Andersen said his son works about 40 hours a week. Mrs. Hoppenstand, he said, doesn't come to the office because of an injury suffered several years ago but that she does typing and other work in her apartment.

He said his sister-in-law, listed on official rolls as Susanna Johnson, had worked for him for 20 years as his secretary. She worked long hours, including Saturdays, and had not taken all the vacation time entitled her, Andersen said.

Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn accused the Democratic-controlled 86th Congress of riding what he called one of the lushest gravy trains in modern history.

In a memo to Republican leaders, Alcorn said wives, sons, daughters and other relatives of legislators have been put on the public payroll at salaries ranging past $10,000 a year.

15-Month Aid Extension for Jobless Nears Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee will vote Monday on a proposal to extend the federal jobless aid program for 15 months.

At a hearing on the proposal yesterday, Asst. Secretary of Labor Newell Brown called the extension a dole and said the Eisenhower Administration strongly opposes it. He added, however, that the administration supports a House-passed bill extending the program for three months.

Eighteen Democratic Senators have proposed the 15-month extension. The present program expires April 1.

The redesigned penny has been issued, but the search for something it will buy still goes on . . . If you don't think success is a matter of luck, ask someone who has failed . . . It's easier to work than to think of ways to get out of it. —Earl Wilson

Ike's 'Brave Little Girl' Wins Her Fight With Death

Bright-eyed Lili Sargis, 8, heard glad news Friday. She's going home from the Memorial Hospital next Saturday after nearly a year of treatment for serious burns.

"It's almost a miracle," a hospital spokesman said. "She has had an unusual convalescence."

The doctors and nurses speak of Lili's recovery in awed tones. They recall the child's condition when she was rushed into the hospital April 7, 1958.

Eighty-one per cent of her body was seared. And 70 per cent of the burns were listed as third degree, the worst type.

Fighting Reported in Red-Held Tibet

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Fighting is raging in Lhasa, capital of Communist-held Tibet, the Indian Foreign Ministry reported today.

A terse midnight radio report from the Indian representative in "The Roof of the World" said: "Fighting in immediate vicinity of consulate. Situation tense and rising."

This was all that was received here suggesting the possibility that the radio—only free world link with Tibet—may have been cut off.

The whereabouts of the Dalia Lama, who is worshipped by the 1,300,000 Tibetans as their religious and political leader, was not known.

Death Decreed for Mrs. Duncan

Sanity Probe Tuesday Last Hope of Escaping Gas Chamber Edict

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — A sanity hearing next Tuesday holds Elizabeth Duncan's last hope of escaping sentence to the gas chamber for plotting the murder of her daughter-in-law.

A jury, which earlier had convicted her of first-degree murder in offering two men $6,000 to kill Olga Kupczyk Duncan, 30, a Canadian nurse, decreed Friday night that she must pay with her own life.

Prosecution and defense agreed to permit trial Judge Charles Blackstock to rule, without a jury, on Mrs. Duncan's sanity, since her plea of innocent by reason of insanity is still pending. Two court-appointed psychiatrists have testified they consider her legally sane.

If the court also holds the 54-year-old, oft-married Mrs. Duncan to be sane, a date will be set for the sentencing, but the jury's determination for the death penalty is mandatory. She would be confined in the County Jail to await her automatic appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Mrs. Duncan showed little or no emotion at the jury's verdict but, she later told reporters: "I thought it was a rotten deal: I was tried before a biased jury."

Judge Blackstock congratulated the jury of eight women and four men. He said he thought the jurors had been exceedingly careful and conscientious.

GI Newsmen Swap Aging War Memories

Nothing unusual about that in this city of reunions and conventions. Nothing except that the 120 men meeting at the Overseas Press Club were admittedly some of the most unmilitary soldiers who ever wore the uniform—and some of the best newspapermen.

They wrote the story of the war for their fellow GI's, producing "Yank" and "Stars and Stripes" in editions printed against all kinds of odds from Casablanca to Tokyo, from Nome to Nancy. "Yank" was a weekly, "Stars and Stripes" a daily, whenever possible.

Both were written by and for enlisted men.

Privates, corporals, sergeants in World War II, the ex-service editors now fill many places in the top ranks of American journalism and broadcasting. Such people as cartoonist Bill Mauldin and Marion ("See Here, Private") Hargrove are among the better-known names.

"It was the greatest editing experience I've ever had," reminisced Joe McCarthy, a nationally known free-lance magazine writer who was editor in chief of "Yank."

"It was putting out a magazine with no money motive involved, no pressure, no question of pay, nobody putting the knife in somebody's back to get ahead . . . Our aim was to do the job and go home."
