

Brave Firemen Save Little Boy's Life

BY DICK SAUNDERS
Seven-year-old Larry Gene Marshall wants to be a minister when he grows up.

He's alive and still able to pursue that dream today because of the heroics of two Pontiac firemen and a little help from God.

12, Donald Thorpe and Fireman William Gleney carried Larry's limp, unconscious body from a second floor bedroom of his blazing, smoke-filled home last night where the boy had been trapped for nearly 15 minutes.

A few minutes more would have been too late.

The fire, started by a defective coal furnace, gutted the basement and much of the main floor, causing an estimated $5,000 damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Marshall at 31 Crawford St.

Firemen agreed it could have been far worse.

ONE OF FIVE
Larry, a second grade pupil at

Bethune School, is one of five children. The children and their mother were all asleep around 11 p.m. when the fire broke out.

Moments later the two-story frame house was filled with smoke. Larry, his sister Alberta, 12, brothers George, 9, and Drew, 8, and Mrs. Marshall were in second floor bedrooms. The youngest, Timothy, 6, was sleeping on a couch downstairs.

Marshall, a Pontiac Motor Division employee, was at work.

The smoke first awakened Timothy and Alberta.

"I saw fire coming from a register and ran to tell the others," Timothy said. "Mama took my hand—I couldn't see."

"The smoke was terrible. You couldn't see a thing upstairs—not even the doorway," Alberta added, tears still rolling down her cheeks.

Mrs. Marshall herded her frightened children downstairs and outside. When they counted heads, Larry was missing.

The frantic mother tried to go back in for him. Two neighbors also tried. They were forced back by the thick, choking smoke.

A passerby, Stephen D. Trineff of 1450 W. Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Township, was on his way home after closing up his grocery store, Diny's Food Market, at 7th and Lull St.

He ran to aid the Marshalls.

"I started yelling, 'Larry, Larry, where are you?' and throwing,"

17 File Petitions for Commission; 4 in District 2

Runoffs to Take Place in March Primary With Election April 16

There will be primary elections for Pontiac City Commission candidates March 5 in three of the city's seven districts.

Three or more candidates have filed nominating petitions in Districts 1, 2 and 4, necessitating a runoff to select the two candidates who will run for commission seats in the April 16 general election.

By the 5 p.m. deadline for filing Tuesday, a total of 17 petitions had been submitted to City Clerk Olga Barkley.

The only incumbent who won't be opposed is District 7 Commissioner Robert A. Landry. The only commissioner not to file for reelection was Mayor Philip E. Rowan in District 5.

That district, however, has the most candidates. Four persons will run for the District 2 nomination in the primary election.

The District 2 candidates are H. Malcolm Kahn, 44, of 305 Pioneer Drive, a local attorney; Curtis E. Patton, 52, of 314 S. Tilden St., a Pontiac insurance agent; Robert T. Flynn, 42, of 124 Oakman Road, also an insurance man; and Charles H. Harmon, 61, of 336 W. Troquais Road, a tax consultant and municipal advisor.

Both Kahn and Flynn ran against Rowan in previous elections but lost, Kahn in 1958 and Flynn in 1960.

In District 4, the need for a primary was established late Tuesday as Howard A. Sittes, 38, of 138 Stanley Ave., filed.

Arms-Talk Door Opened by Kennedy, Macmillan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan turned down today Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal for a March summit conference, but held the door open to a top level meeting on disarmament before June 1.

Immediately after delivery of U.S. and British notes in Moscow Kennedy told a news conference that "of course I would go to the summit" if such action offered any real hope of getting an effective disarmament treaty.

The President, replying to reporters' questions, said his general view is that "We should climb the summit after preparation at a lower level." An 18-nation disarmament meeting is scheduled to start at Geneva March 14; a report to the United Nations is due by June 1.

There was speculation in Moscow that Khrushchev might go to Geneva himself even though Kennedy and Macmillan refused to do so.

The President and prime minister, however, appealed to him to send Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to meet with Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Secretary of State Dean Rusk for the opening round.

Kennedy expressed hope that the release of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers in exchange for Soviet master spy Rudolf Abel means an improvement in Soviet-American relations.

ADDS LITTLE
The news conference added little except emphasis to what Kennedy had said in a formal note to Moscow on the subject of a summit meeting.

In the message he said he is "quite ready to participate personally" when a summit session might help reach an agreement.

But at the outset of negotiations to begin at Geneva March 14—the participation of government chiefs "might set back, rather than advance, the prospects for disarmament," Kennedy told Khrushchev.

Kennedy did suggest that a review of progress by the heads of government might be needed before June 1, the date set by the United Nations for a first report on the arms talk.

While Kennedy did not make it specific, authoritative sources said the language could cover a head-

Cuba in Huff, Walks Out of Southern OAS

Delegate Lechuga Says 'We Were Quitting Even Before Resolution'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cuba walked out of the Organization of American States today, saying it was not interested in remaining in the inter-American system.

The Cuban walkout came moments after the president of the OAS council, Alberto Zuleta Angel of Colombia, had recommended that the Punta del Este resolution ousting Cuba from the system be sent to the council's general committee for urgent study.

The foreign ministers of the 21 member states, meeting last month at Punta del Este, Uruguay, adopted a resolution saying that the Cuban regime is incompatible with the inter-American system and, "This incompatibility excludes the present government of Cuba from participation in the inter-American system."

Soon after today's OAS meeting opened, Cuban Delegate Carlos M. Lechuga walked out. He said the Punta del Este resolution was illegal and that "we are going to retire anyway, we don't want to remain in this organization."

Lechuga told newsmen, "This last phase of the OAS proceedings has been shameful. It is shameful that even yesterday Cuba's chair had been removed. However, some delegates protested and the chair was restored."

OAS sources said Cuba had not been invited to today's session and was not notified that it was taking place.

Lechuga told newsmen that his object in attending today's meeting was "to protest with our presence the illegality of today's proceedings. We consider that they were in violation of the OAS charter."

Lechuga said the council president had no power to interpret the Punta del Este resolution and that he had acted illegally in not opening the question for debate.

ANSWERS NEWSMEN—President Kennedy points toward a questioner at his news conference today in Washington. Kennedy opened his conference with a statement on the case of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers. The President said Powers was cooperating voluntarily with government interviewers and eventually will be free to testify before congressional committees.

Says Congress Must Keep Power

Ford Lashes JFK at Banquet

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.
Congress must never abdicate its constitutional given powers to legislate to the President, U.S. Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., R-Grand Rapids, urged last night in a lashing criticism of the Kennedy administration.

Speaking at the 72nd annual Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club banquet, Rep. Ford, a seven-term congressman, gave his "personal appraisal" of the first 12 months of the Democratic administration.

Some 500 persons at the Pontiac Elks Temple also paid special tribute to attorney George A. Dondero, Lincoln scholar and for 24 years the county's representative in Congress.

The club presented 72-year-old Dondero, of Royal Oak, with a priceless 1839 document signed by Lincoln and a replica of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington.

Ford, who served beside Dondero once, praised him as "a true statesman and outstanding gentleman."

The inscription on the Lincoln statue thanked Dondero "for outstanding service to the people of Oakland County."

Ford, the ranking Republican on a House committee controlling billions of dollars for defense, said "all is not well" as the administration claims regarding the country's military strength and fiscal soundness.

The congressman termed "phony" administration talk of a balanced budget.

"Whether he (the President) holds office for four or eight years there will never be a balanced budget," Ford said.

He said the administration has led the people to believe the increase in expenditures has resulted from defense expenditures, which has increased by $2 billion from the previous administration, while domestic spending has been increased $6.3 billion.

Running through President Kennedy's special messages to Congress, is a trend to concentrate more authority and responsibility in Washington while at the same time depriving the states of their local rights, Ford said.

CALLS REQUEST DANGEROUS
In addition, Ford said: "He wants to gather into the bosom of the White House a greater responsibility which our forefathers decided should rest with the legislative branch of government."

Troops Ordered to Fight Back

Kennedy Says Soldiers in Viet Nam Defending Selves if Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today American soldiers in South Viet Nam have been ordered to fire back if fired on. But he said they are not combat soldiers in the usual sense.

Kennedy, speaking at a news conference, gave this presidential confirmation of reports from lower-level officials that American military men in the Red-penned Southeast Asian country have been told to defend themselves if attacked.

The main purpose of the assignment of a reported 4,000 or more American armed services personnel to South Viet Nam is to help in training and technical assistance against Communist attackers.

Kennedy acknowledged today that what he termed the war in South Viet Nam has increased over the past two years.

WAKES ISSUE
The President took issue, however, with Republican charges that he has failed to inform the American people about the extent of U.S. involvement.

"I think we are being as frank as we can be" within security limits, he said.

He appealed to "party headquarters" of both parties to lay off the issue and let the matter be discussed instead by responsible leaders of the parties.

Well, Kennedy replied with a grin, and something of the language he used about summit conferences, I think that that meets the issue.

Another Storm Likely to Delay Glenn's Whirl
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A new storm in the eastern Atlantic today threatened to force a ninth postponement of the orbital flight of astronaut John H. Glenn, now very tentatively set for Thursday morning.

Glenn, Marine lieutenant colonel, had hoped to get off on his long-delayed trip about the world this morning, but a heavy overcast drifted over the boiling Atlantic forced Project Mercury officials to put it off until 7:30 a.m. Eastern Standard Time, Thursday, at the earliest.

A weather advisory issued shortly before 10 a.m. today by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration made it highly probable that the historic flight would go Thursday.

Rightists Bomb Arab Area of Oran

Troops Fire in Algeria

ALGERIA, Algeria (UPI)—French troops and riot police fired on rioting Algerian mobs trying to invade the European sector of Oran today after 44 dawn bomb attacks by terrorists in the Arab quarters.

The security forces also used concussion and tear gas grenades during the series of clashes in the West Algerian port city, a stronghold of the extremist Secret Army Organization (OAS), which has sworn to keep Algeria French. The bombings were blamed on the OAS.

Police said nine Algerians were killed and eight wounded in the shootings. An Army lieutenant was killed and four soldiers injured.

The casualties brought the day's toll in Oran and Algiers alone to 35 dead and 23 wounded, and the unofficial 1962 toll to 805 dead and 1,520 wounded.

The first of the barrage of plastic bombs was set off 15 minutes before the curfew ended at 6 a.m. Thirteen more exploded almost immediately and all were in the Boulevard Joseph Andre; in the most thickly populated Arab area of Oran.

A half hour later five more exploded in the Arab suburb of Medinet. Thirty minutes later another five shattered apartments in the same district. Still another five blasted the Carreau Moussard on the western side of Oran.

Police sources said a few bombs also were set off by Algerian rebel commandos this morning.

The attacks lasted for more than an hour. At least three Arab homes were destroyed, according to early reports.

Some of the bombs started fires that raged hours later in the densely packed Moslem sections. Thousands of Arabs swept out into the streets, enraged at the bombings.

Red Colonel Crosses Border

East Berlin Commander Evades Ban and Passes Through British Gate

BERLIN (UPI)—Col. Andrei I. Solovyer, Berlin's Soviet commander, evaded an American ban and drove into West Berlin today through a British sector crossing point, West Berlin police reported.

Police said the British had informed West Berlin police in advance that the Russian commander would enter West Berlin at the Invaliden Strasse crossing point that is supposed to be reserved for West Berliners.

He thus evaded a ban on entering West Berlin through the Invaliden Strasse crossing point, which is reserved for American and British citizens.

This crossing point, according to East German rules, is the only one foreigners may enter.

Police said Solovyer entered the British sector at 2:25 p.m. (8:25 a.m. Pontiac time) a few minutes after the British informed they he was on his way.

Earlier West Berlin police reported that Communist police fired on and captured two men trying to flee to West Berlin early this morning.

Airport, Auditorium to Be Decided Friday

Two major issues will be decided when the Oakland County Board of Supervisors meets Friday.

One pertains to the newly proposed $25-million airport and the other to plans for a near-half-million-dollar auditorium near the courthouse.

The supervisors will be asked to authorize the county board of directors to acquire the initial airport in Oran Township and to transfer $25,710 from reserve funds to establish an airport fund.

The money will be used to purchase 40 acres currently held in option and to make additional land acquisitions either through purchase or condemnation, at the need arises.

The recommendations to proceed with the airport plans will be made by the board of supervisors' Aviation Committee, supported by the Ways and Means and Building and Grounds committees.

A special committee will recommend that the board approve final plans for the proposed $494,564 auditorium at the county service center, and authorize the auditorium to take bids for construction.

TO HOUSE SESSIONS
The 37th-annual general session of the board of supervisors and its committees, and to serve as an auxiliary courtroom and meeting place for county functions and political conventions.

Plans for the one-story, hexagonal-shaped building have been prepared by O'Dell, Hewlett & Luckenbach, Birmingham architects.

The cost would include the first floor, construction, furniture and equipment, all totaling an estimated $88,000.

The feasibility of installing a $26,000 electronic voting system in addition to that being studied by the committee.

In describing the proposed auditorium, architects gave four reasons for a building of this type:

1. It is better adapted to the amphitheater requirement; 2. contrast in shape to the tower and wings leads greater visual interest; 3. The low roof permits better vision from windows in adjacent buildings; and 4. studies show this shape compares favorably in cost with the rectangular building.

A corridor and committee room will connect the auditorium to the courthouse administrative wing (now under construction).

Proponents of the auditorium propose that it be paid for from funds raised through the sale of the old courthouse site in downtown Pontiac.

While I applaud your willingness to make the great talents you have acquired in your chosen profession this available, I regret that this decision results in your resignation as general counsel. And I appreciate the generosity of your offer to remain for the time being, as a vice president, director and legal consultant.

The smoke was so thick in the street in front of the house that you couldn't see someone standing a few feet away. Mixed with cold, wet air the smoke forced coughing neighbors back to their homes.

That's what Thorpe and Gleney took over. Armed with lanterns and wearing masks with air tanks strapped to their backs, the two men disappeared through the front door into the billowing white smoke.

Barely able to make their way, with flames roaring through the dining and living rooms to their right, they found the stairs.

City Asks PSC Survey of Railroad Crossings

A resolution is on its way to Lansing today asking the Michigan State Public Service Commission to investigate safety devices at seven railroad crossings in Pontiac.

City commissioners approved the resolution at their Tuesday night meeting.

Prepared by City Attorney William A. Ewart, the document had been requested by commissioners several weeks ago after a series of serious car-train accidents at city crossings.

Warning devices can be ordered for crossings only by the PSC. The city has no authority to demand such devices be installed by the railroad, under state law, but can ask for a PSC survey if it feels a hazard exists.

The resolution calls for surveys of crossings on Franklin Road near S. Saginaw; Baldwin Avenue north of Sheffield; Oakland Avenue southwest of Sanderson; Lake Street south of Houston; Sanderson southwest of Cass; Jackson Street southwest of Saginaw; and West Boulevard west of Oakland.

The survey, if it is made, will not be completed for several months. Three years ago a survey was made of a similar number of crossings at the commission's request.

Drop gates at the W. Huron Street crossing were installed by Grand Truck Western Railroad as a result of that PSC study.

17 Turn in Petitions for Commission Job

DISTRICT 1 PRIMARY
A primary in District 1 was scheduled last week, running on the March 5 ballot will be incumbent Commissioner Milton R. Henry; Robert Brown, 39, of 316 Franklin St., a barber; and Linwood L. Flack Jr., 39, of 382 Dittmar St., a metal finisher at GMC Truck & Coach Division.

Henry will be trying for his third two-year term.

With no need for primary runs elsewhere, the City Commission last night passed a resolution placing candidates names from the other districts on the April 19 ballot.

In District 3, incumbent Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. will be seeking his second term. He will be opposed by Mrs. Rodney H. Milton, 38, of 111 Onida Road.

Mrs. Milton is the first woman to run for election to the commission since 1947.

District 5 incumbent John A. Dugan will be opposed by Loy L. Leiford, 39, of 662 Linda Vista Drive. Dugan is the veteran commission member bidding for his fifth term.

FIRST TIME
Leford, general manager for McCandless Carpets, of Pontiac, is bidding for public office for the first time.

In District 6, incumbent Wesley J. Wood will be bidding for his third term. He will be opposed by Dick M. Kirby, 44, of 91 N. Edith St.

District 7 incumbent Robert A. Leiford will be running for his third straight term on the commission.

Mrs. Milton never before has run for a public office. A native of Pontiac, she attended Webster School, Washington Junior High School and is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School.

She graduated from Pratt University in Brooklyn, N. Y., and attended both Michigan State University and the University of Virginia.

Mrs. Milton is a member of First Congregational Church of Pontiac and active with the church's women and youth group.

Presently employed by Wigs & Old Colony Shop, she has worked in art department at Walde's Department Store and Yellow Cab Co. Last fall she led a drive to get a law passed here making vaccine vaccinations mandatory for dogs.

The Day in Birmingham

Recreation Dept. Sets Annual Ice Show Sunday

BIRMINGHAM — The fifth annual ice show sponsored by the Birmingham Recreation Department will be held Sunday night at the Municipal Skating Rink in Elton Park.

More than 300 young Birmingham skaters will take part in the 7:30 p.m. production that will have the theme "Orion and Near East on Ice."

In addition, over 100 persons have given their time and talent in organizing the musical score, choreography, conducting rehearsals and designing costumes.

The Forestry and Parks Department has made proper and arranged for the lighting of the community project directed by Patricia Ruseman, supervisor of recreation.

TO BE GUEST ARTIST
In keeping with the Oriental theme, some of the acts include "Soyuzna," "Siberian," and the "Berserker."

The best skating artist will be Kay Stevenson Murphy, gold medalist winner, national pair and solo champion. Miss Stevenson, who has appeared with "Hollywood on Ice," will do a solo to the music "Tonight."

Other star attractions include Jack DeLo, men's juvenile champion at Denver, Colo., who will perform to the music "Ragdad," Marjorie Hawk, Elton Park figure skating instructor, will be featured in a number with her daughter Marjorie.

The ice show is sanctioned by the U.S. Ice Skating Association.

Bidding on Downtown Location Ends Without Offer Being Received

No bids were received for the purchase of the downtown Pontiac site of the old Oakland County Courthouse by a 10 a.m. deadline today.

Bidding was closed today at a joint meeting of the ways and means committee and the building and grounds committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

However, Pontiac City Manager Robert A. Stierer indicated the deadline that the city still will be interested in buying the property if only to rid Pontiac of its "pigpen" street.

Stierer said the city would prefer that the existing county buildings on the site be razed before any transaction takes place.

NO SPECIFIC PLAN
The joint committees agreed to recommend to the Board of Supervisors that bids be taken to demolish the vacant buildings, which formerly served as headquarters for the county circuit court and prosecutor's office.

The city has no specific plan for the property at this time, according to Stierer, but he said city commissioners are anxious to level the site because of Pontiac's business district lacks "eye appeal."

For advertising for bids Jan. 4, the city had offered to pay approximately $200,000 for the property.

The city's offer is half what the property had been appraised at, according to county officials.

Linda Darnell Sues for Separate Support

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Linda Darnell sued her husband for separate maintenance Tuesday.

Her counsel said Miss Darnell, 33, and Merle Roy Robertson, 44, separated earlier in the day. The brief complaint said Robertson caused her embarrassment and humiliation by acts of cruelty.

The actress asked for court-ordered property and support. She and Robertson wed March 3, 1957. They have no children.

Stierer said the city would prefer that the existing county buildings on the site be razed before any transaction takes place.

"I don't think the Republican party should be taking in 1962 as candidates for 1964," said Stierer, who is a member of the GOP presidential nomination in 1964. Ford was the state's favorite son for the vice president nomination in 1960.

Kennedy's statements about Powers were volunteered at the beginning of the news conference.

The Soviets freed Powers last Saturday in exchange for U.S. release of Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.

In his opening statement, the President said he knew Powers have been in prison since the release of Abel and of Powers.

He said he is happy Powers is back and that he can add only that Powers is cooperating fully with the government in discussions of important information.

Powers will be free to testify to Congress after the official interrogation and will be made available to the press "at the earliest possible moment," the President announced.

The President was asked what Powers' status would be after the quizzing. Kennedy said Powers would be a free agent, able to carry on any activity he chose.

Powers and his high altitude U-2 reconnaissance plane crashed 1,200 miles inside the U.S.S.R. Powers was seized, tried on espionage charges, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

The association negotiates mechanical contracts for both newspapers. In past disputes the association has insisted that a strike against one member was a strike against all.

Saving Stamps to Build Chapel

NAPANOGH, N.Y. (AP) — Convicts at the state prison here want a place to worship. And they've hit on a novel plan for getting it.

They're collecting stamps. "It's an unusual procedure," said the Rev. Matthew Kilken, Roman Catholic chaplain — at the prison. "But the usual methods of raising funds are not available here."

So the men behind bars, with an averted face to the outside, began gathering trading stamps — to be redeemed in cash or materials for construction of a prison chapel.

It'll be called "St. Jude's Within the Walls." St. Jude is the patron saint of the forlorn.

Through the Knights of Columbus, religious and fraternal organization, a call has gone out to Catholic men across the state to send in stamps, individually or in books, to implement the project.

WONDERFUL OPPORTUNITY "It's a wonderful opportunity," said John Symonds, of New York

City, state deputy of the Knights. "I'm quite confident that we can get sufficient stamps within a few months to defray the expense of this chapel."

There are about 1,100 inmates in the prison here, the Eastern State Correctional Institution. Some are mental defectives, serving indeterminate terms. Many are young men, serving three to five years.

At present, Father Kilken said, services have to be held in the gymnasium, with a portable altar. About 200 to 300 go to Mass each Sunday.

"It's a very makeshift situation," he said. "We're trying to install in these men the values they should have learned before they didn't, and we need an appropriate setting to attract and inspire them."

"With a chapel, set aside for the worship of God and nothing else, the services would make a far more vivid impression in the lives of our men, and have more lasting effects."

Iron Ore Shipping Rate to Stay Same on Lakes

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 1962 rate schedule for transporting iron ore on the Great Lakes will remain at the level it has held since 1957, Great Lakes Freight Bureau, Inc., announced Tuesday. The bureau is an association of eight shipping firms.

Rates are to range from $2 a gross ton from the head of the lakes to all lower lake ports to $1.20 a gross ton for shipments from Ecanaba, Mich., to Chicago.

There are more than 70 known iron-ore industrial uses for su-

Juanita Hall Leaves 'Flower Drum Song'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Actress Juanita Hall has left the cast of "Flower Drum Song" because of illness. The show has been playing here at the Thunderbird Hotel.

Miss Hall joined the original Broadway cast of the musical over three years ago, playing Madame Liang. Her place will be taken by her understudy, Florence Allen, according to her spokesman.

Tahombe-U.N. Military Cooperation Promising

Hopes Running High for Final Settlement in Congo

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Time and again in a year and a half of turbulence and crisis there have been hopeful predictions that now at last peace gradually was being restored to the Congo.

And time and again these hopes have crumbled, washed away in bloodshed, the ambitions of rival leaders and a conflict of interests extending far beyond the borders of the Congo.

The present marks another period of hope.

Chief contributing factor is the new era of good will existing between President Mase Tahombe of secessionist Katanga Province and the United Nations forces he has denounced.

Elizabethville dispatches scarcely concealing the astonishment of their authors report that Tahombe and Gurika Col. S. Maita now are blood-brothers as result of an impromptu ceremony on Indian independence day. They also report that Tahombe now counts U.N. Military Commander Brig. K. A. S. Raj "among my friends."

In contrast, is the background of recent events in which Colonel Maita's Gurika troops used their knives enthusiastically on Katanga dragoons.

The new spirit of cooperation has not ended the Katanga secession, but it has led to the cautious belief that Tahombe is trying to carry out his agreement of last December to rid himself of his foreign troops and to recognize the authority of the central government under an arrangement which still would leave him considerable autonomy.

The case of Tahombe has been curious one.

His secessionist cause roused great sympathy in Belgium, France and Great Britain whose citizens are heavily invested in the Union Miniere du Haut-Katanga, the combine which controls Katanga's great mineral wealth.

As illustrated by his new-found friendship for the Indians, Tahombe's own attitude has vacillated. Outside Elizabethville and under U.N. pressure he has made promises which he later renounced when he returned to the surroundings and influences of his own province.

There, the European influence was profoundly opposed to U.N. intervention and many of Tahombe's white mercenaries' actually were unpaid volunteers.

Drowned Seaman's Body Recovered in Iceland

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—The body of U.S. Seaman Allen Francis Chase, 30, of Michigan City, Ind., was recovered Tuesday.

Chase drowned Feb. 6 when caught up by a huge wave as he was sightseeing on the coast of Stokness Point in Southeast Iceland. Two companions were hit by the wave but escaped.

Area of the East Indies is three times that of Texas.

Katanga dispatches suggest that most of Tahombe's paid mercenaries now have departed, escorted out or just drifted away.

MYSTERIOUS FRENCHMAN

Among them was a mysterious Col. Roger Paulques, a Frenchman said to have been on the wrong side of the Algerian conflict and thus asked out of the French army.

He was said to have played a dual political and military role, which strengthened Tahombe's determination against the United Nations but which at the same time alienated him to the Belgians.

Another item which seems to have contributed to Tahombe's recent docility has been the negotiations between the Union Miniere and the central Congo government of Premier Cyrille Adoula which may reopen the way for shipment of Katanga copper to its old Congo River port of Matadi.

This could open up a new source of revenue to the central government and at the same time ease the Union Miniere's opposition to the Adoula government.

Odds Are on Nehru in Massive Indian Vote

(Editor's Note — India's third general election, largest in the free world, will be spread over a 10-day period beginning Friday. The following dispatch outlines the issues at stake and the mechanics of polling a 210-million member electorate.)

NEW DELHI (UPI) — India begins a massive 10 day of voting on Friday to choose a national parliament and state legislatures in the world's biggest election. Issues range from Communist China to local banditry, but there is general agreement that Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru will score another easy victory.

Election officials estimate that 126 million Indians—60 per cent of the nation's 210 million electorate—will vote from the time the polls open Friday in the hatched but remote regions of West Bengal until they close in the smoggy suburbs of Bombay Feb. 25.

India sets a record for free elections each time it chooses a new parliament. In 1957, 92 million persons voted. In 1952, the first elections as a republic, the figure was 93 million. (In the 1960 presidential elections in the United States 68,838,005 votes were cast.)

Nehru's Congress party is the undisputed favorite to retain control of parliament and all of the 15 state legislatures.

But for one of his top aides, the election is a fight for political life. V. K. Krishna Menon, controversial defense minister and frequent U.N. spokesman, has been criticized at home and abroad for leaning too far left in his neutralism.

His opponent in the North Bombay constituency is Acharya J. B. Kripplani, who charges that Menon "represents Communist China and not India."

Kripplani, a Gandhi follower and two-time election winner in other districts, has made his campaign issue "Gandhism vs. Marxism." Menon, with powerful Congress support, was a 6-to-4 favorite at the close of the campaign, but the 73-year-old Kripplani had strong allies.

Running as an independent, he has the support of all the opposition parties except the Communists. Menon won the seat five years ago against a badly split opposition.

IF MENON WINS...
A resounding victory for Menon would give a boost to India's left-wing Socialists and to the defense minister's personal prestige. On the other hand, would show a repudiation of both.

Nehru has said that although he has no special liking for Menon, he supports the candidacy because he is his top foreign policy aide.

But other Congress party members disagree. More than 150 quit the party to campaign for Menon's opponent.

Bandits have entered the campaign in the central Indian state of Madhya Pradesh. Armed gangs, known as Dacoits, are attempting to get out the vote against the state officials who have cracked down on them the hardest.

Through terror and bribes, they support or oppose candidates from the Communist, Congress or Socialist parties, basing their stand on how much of a threat each poses to the Dacoit population.

Their chief target is the Congress police minister, Narasimha Rao Dutt, whose forces have raided their hideouts in the hills in an attempt to wipe them out.

Their political impartiality is shown by these two terror cases: They kidnaped the brother of a Communist candidate, and they killed six campaigners for a Congress man.

The voting must go on for 10 days because of the sheer numbers involved.

The electorate, less than half of India's 428 million population, consists of all registered Indians, male and female, 21 or over. Literacy is no bar. If a voter cannot read, he just searches his ballot for the symbol of his political party.

It took four months to complete the first election in 1952 and 19 days in 1957.

VOTING STAGGERED
Voting will be staggered in most states, with outlying areas where transportation is scarce voting first and cities last. The voters in rural West Bengal will be the only ones participating Friday. A majority of the states begin next Monday.

No ballots will be counted until the voting ends, and full results will not be known until Feb. 28 or March 1. Election officials hope to have some of the seats—probably New Delhi's parliamentary constituencies—by late evening the day polling finishes.

The number of candidates is staggered—3,979 for the 494 seats in the lower house, and 12,625 for the 2,855 state assembly seats at stake. Both figures are about 25 per cent higher than the 1957 elections.

The party symbol the voters will see most is the two bullocks of Nehru's Congress, which has been in power since independence. It is contesting 465 of the lower house seats, and is unopposed in three. It won 371 seats in 1957.

Next comes the right-wing orthodox Hindu party, with 198 candidates, the conservative Swatantra party with 172, the Praja Socialists with 156, and the Communists with 137.

Although the opposition parties thus cannot post a serious threat to Congress, the size of their vote and their showing in key areas will indicate the nation's feeling toward Nehru and his party.

Next to Menon's, the type most interesting contests are those involving Nehru and a beautiful maharaja.

Nehru will face four rivals in his home constituency of Allahabad. They are: Socialist party leader Dr. Ram Manohar Lohia, who also has the support of the Jaha Sangh and orthodox Hindu parties; independent India Day, a revolutionary who believes Nehru has "ruined the country"; Ram Narayan of a small rinzia splinter group; and Hari Shanker, another independent.

The only serious threat is posed by Lohia, a former Nehru understudy who became one of his most severe critics. But Nehru is expected to win comfortably.

In Rajasthan, a former princely state, the Maharani Gayatri Devi is running on the conservative Swatantra ticket. The wife of the wealthy maharaja of Jaipur, she was chosen one of the world's 12 most beautiful women in 1938.

New in her forties, she is campaigning against a rival candidate, Sharda Devi, a lady candidate from the Congress party. Mrs. Vithya Vilas, a journalist and independent candidate; and a woman from the untouchable caste who works as a sweeper.

The maharaja, who was brought up in luxury, has campaigned throughout her district by bullock cart, camel and on foot.

The showings of the four major opposition parties will indicate which will emerge as the main challenger to the Congress party, which has ruled India since independence. Here are brief sketches of the parties:

PARTY SKETCHES

—Congress was founded in 1885 and has always been a shapeless group with membership ranging from the far left to the far right. While playing the leading role in gaining independence, it developed the national following that has secured its continued success. Its biggest asset and best campaigner remains Nehru.

—The Communist party of India polled nearly 11 million votes in 1957 and won 57 lower house seats, forming the largest single opposition group.

It also won a total of 161 state assembly seats and took control of the legislature in the state of Kerala. But a civil disobedience campaign ousted the Kerala regime, and the Chinese border dispute.

has hurt the Communists badly since then.

—Jaha Sangh or People's Association is a small but growing party in northern India. It has militant rightwing views and involves the Hindu religion for votes. Many of its followers are devout orthodox Hindus who eat no meat and do not drink.

Their election manifesto calls for a constitutional amendment banning cow slaughter. The party won four seats in 1957 with more than 7 million votes.

—The Swatantra party is on the ballot for the first time. It is against Nehru's socialism and in favor of private enterprise and a frank pro-Western foreign policy.

Formed as a conservative alternative to the Congress three years ago, its policies have yet to be tested nationally, but they have never won many votes in Indian politics.

—The Praja (People's) Socialist party is somewhat more socialist than the Congress, but its opposition is directed mainly at Congress' inefficiency and corruption.

It won 19 parliamentary seats in 1957 and 136 state seats. Since then, its influence appears to have declined before the rise in importance of the conservatives. Even its founder, Kripplani, has resigned to contest Menon's seat as an independent.

OK Loan Application for Motel Project

LANSING (U) — The Michigan Economic Development Department has approved an Area Redevelopment Administration (ARA) loan application for Clinton Gables Motel Hotel and Bowling Lanes at Mount Clemens.

The application has been sent to ARA officials in Washington for final action.

The applicants, Frank Dominic and Salvatore Cummano, want a $96,250 federal loan for a $470,000 refurbishing project. They said the project would increase employment at their establishment from 54 to 72 within a year.

Claims Rebels
in Commie Plot

Guatemala's President Issues Charge Against Band Which Hit Coast

GUATEMALA (AP)—President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes says he considers rebels who struck Guatemala's Atlantic banana coast last week are taking part in a Communist plot against his government. The rebels deny it.

In leaflets calling on the armed forces and citizens to revolt, the band accused Ydigoras' government of "corruption, graft and gangsterism." The leaflets said the band has no connection with Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro and it just wants the establishment of a democratic regime.

UPSET ABOUT COFFEE

Ydigoras estimated in an interview the band numbered about 60. He said, however, he is more worried about the price of Guatemalan coffee, which has dropped from $20 to $22 per 100 pounds.

"How can we get sufficient money to build our country when we suffer a loss like that?" he asked.

Guatemalan papers and radio are forbidden to print or broadcast anything about the rebel movement except government communiques.

A curfew is in effect nightly from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m.

Selecting Jury to Try Four for Stealing Statue

MIDLAND (AP)—A Circuit Court jury was being selected Tuesday to hear the case of the embracing baboons.

Four Bay City men are accused with making off with the statue of the embracing baboons from the yard of noted architect Alden Dow on Nov. 25. They were arrested by police who were investigating reports of prowlers in the area.

The four, who are being tried before Circuit Judge Donald E. Holbrook on larceny charges, are Robert McPeaks, 24; Charles McPeaks, a cousin, 24; Robert Parker, 23; and Edwin Wierowski, 21. Police said the statue was in the back seat of the defendants' car.

Dieball Starts Duties in Waterford Area

Robert Dieball, 29, began his duties Wednesday morning as Waterford Township planning director, a new post authorized by the Township Board at its Dec. 19, 1961 regular meeting.

The new planning director has gained experience in his field through associations with the County Planning Office in Camden, New Jersey, and more recently with Geer Associates, Bloomfield Hills planning consultants.

Dieball, who with his wife presently lives in Oak Park, will work closely with the eight-member township planning commission which was authorized in the 1961 spring election and began functioning last June.

Spy Work Digging In Deeper

(Editor's Note—This is the last of three dispatches on the vast espionage struggle which goes on beneath the surface of the Cold War. It reports on America's Central Intelligence Agency.)

By LOUIS GARIBOLDI

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has carried on "intelligence activities" a polite term for espionage — since the days of George Washington.

One of this country's early spies was a school teacher named Nathan Hale who was caught and hung by the British during the Revolutionary War.

For a long time, however, Americans viewed espionage as a distasteful military necessity which should be kept to a minimum or even suspended entirely during peacetime.

This attitude was expressed by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson when he disbanded the "black chamber" of code-cracking experts which the State Department had built up during World War I.

Stimson said it would be unthinkable to break other nations' diplomatic codes during peacetime. "Gentlemen," he explained, "don't read other people's mail."

Pearl Harbor put an end to that kind of thinking.

infancy, few Americans have questioned the need for reading other people's mail, cracking their codes, eavesdropping on their conversations, or doing a host of other "unpleasant" things which enable intelligence agents to keep a sharp watch on any potential attack which might spring a surprise attack.

Another lesson which Americans learned from Pearl Harbor was the importance of having a central clearing house for intelligence, where all the bits and pieces of data filtering in from many sources could be fitted together into a picture and brought to the attention of the highest officials.

Hindsight showed that such an agency might well have foreseen the Pearl Harbor attack from the information that was in U. S. hands, before it occurred.

America's first national spy agency was the Office of Strategic Services (OSS) which functioned during World War II under the leadership of Gen. William B. (Wild Bill) Donovan.

After the war, OSS was disbanded. But in 1946, President Truman set up a "Central Intelligence Group" to coordinate the foreign intelligence activities of all the armed forces and other federal agencies.

CREATED CIA

A year later, the Armed Services Unification Act of 1947 created the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) as a permanent organization, independent of the Defense Department and responsible directly to the President and the National Security Council.

The CIA is a unique government agency, which operates secretly, with few of the restraints that apply to other federal agencies.

Congress, for example, doesn't even know how much of the taxpayer's money it is appropriating for CIA. Its funds—estimated by some congressmen at upwards of $400 million a year—are distributed through the federal budget under various innocuous headings.

The director of the CIA can write checks on the Treasury without telling anyone—even the general accounting office—where the money is going.

He can hire and fire without regard to civil service rules. Even the size of the CIA staff is secret. (Estimates range up to 40,000 persons.)

That the CIA is a vast operation is clear, however, simply from the size of its new headquarters, a $47-million building which sprawls over nine acres in Langley, Va., across the Potomac River from Washington.

Because of its hush-hush nature, the CIA is perpetually surrounded by rumors, speculations and controversy.

It gets credit—and blame—for things it didn't do. Some of its greatest triumphs—and its worst blunders—go unnoticed.

In forming judgments about what the CIA does, and how well it does it, Americans are compelled to rely on such fragmentary scraps of information as occasionally come to light.

It was not until Francis Gary Powers fell into Russian hands, for example, that Americans learned that the CIA had been running high-altitude U2 photo reconnaissance planes over the Soviet Union for four years.

GREATEST TRIUMPH

These flights yielded millions of detailed pictures of Russian installations and—despite the diplomatic flap which ensued from Powers' abortive mission, the U2 operation is regarded by professionals as one of the greatest triumphs in the history of espionage.

Another CIA coup which was brought to light by leaked Russian discovery was a tunnel which CIA agents dug from West Berlin to an underground telephone cable center, which the Soviets had foolishly located just 800 yards on their side of the border.

For almost a year, CIA wiretappers in this tunnel listened in on secret telephone conversations between East German authorities and Moscow. When a squad of Soviet troops finally stumbled onto the tunnel in 1955, even the Russian press admitted it was a bold and audacious project.

In his book, "CIA—the Inside Story," (William Morrow & Co.) Andrew Tully asserts that the CIA has managed to plant agents even in the Kremlin. In fact, he says, it was through Kremlin operatives that the United States obtained a copy of the secret speech which Nikita Khrushchev delivered to the 1956 Communist party congress, denouncing the late Joseph Stalin as a criminal.

Does the CIA intervene in the internal affairs of other countries, fomenting revolutions, and toppling unfriendly governments? Tully and many others are convinced that it does.

Rightly or wrongly, it is generally taken for granted in Washington that the CIA had an important hand in ousting weedy old Premier Mohammed Mossadeq from control of oil-rich Iran and that it helped to overthrow a Communist regime in Guatemala.

It is also credited with, or accused of, clandestine interventions in the turbulent politics of many other trouble spots around the globe, from Turkey to the Congo, and from Algeria to Viet Nam.

One of the biggest blunders charged to the CIA was the disastrous attempt at an invasion of Cuba. The CIA's involvement in this fiasco is a matter of record, attested among other things by President Kennedy's appointment of a special Cabinet-level committee to investigate it.

How successful has the CIA been in its primary task of keeping top U.S. officials informed and forewarned of what's cooking in the world, especially behind the Iron Curtain?

Again, it's impossible to construct a fully accurate scorecard. Washington authorities credit the CIA with having called the turn correctly on the Hungarian uprising of 1956, the British-French-Israeli invasion of Suez, the Chinese Communist-inspired riots which marred Vice President Richard M. Nixon's goodwill visit to Latin America, and Communist China's entry into the Korean War. In some of these cases, CIA warnings were disregarded.

On the other hand, there have been instances in which the U.S. government was taken by surprise by important developments.

One notable case cited by CIA critics was Russia's Sputnik launching of 1957, which showed that the Soviet Union had stolen a big lead in the space race.

The fact is that only a handful of people really know whether the CIA deserves credit or blame. It has resolved all of the episodes listed above.

Congress periodically is seized with a strong desire to appoint a "watchdog committee," to keep an eye on CIA, but its former director, Allen W. Dulles, always managed to head this off.

TAYLOR SERVING

Each of the last three presidents—Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy—have appointed special task forces to look into CIA operations, and make confidential reports. Kennedy now has former Army Chief of Staff Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor serving permanently as a White House spy on the CIA.

Allen W. Dulles, who was the CIA's director for eight years and placed his personal imprimatur strongly on the whole organization, retired last September and has been succeeded by John A. McCone, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. Dulles was a master spy of World War II, widely regarded as the greatest intelligence genius this country has produced.

McCone is an able administrator, whose role will include tightening up CIA's information-gathering activities perhaps curtailing some of its free-wheeling "operational" involvements in foreign affairs, such as the catastrophic Cuban invasion.

Of one thing, however, Americans can be certain: The CIA will continue spying on Russia, wherever and however it can, just as Russia spies on the United States.

The global espionage struggle is the front line of the Cold War and will remain so as long as this is the kind of world in which being caught off guard would be quite literally a fatal mistake for a nation to make.

Taxpayers' Lose, Notch

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — A bowling team named the Taxpayers, one of six teams in the city hall bowling league, wound up the season in — you guessed it — last place.

Sign on a small car: "Watch me jellies . . . The best thing about the — I may do something foolish!" . . . surveys is that they always prove what they set out to prove. When Confederate soldiers sang: When Arkansas was admitted to the Union in 1836, its population of about 55,000 was one-fourth slaves.

Happy birthday, Valentine! Kari Sue Ervin who arrived at the Richard G. Ervin home on Garland Avenue, Sylvan Lake, just 3 years ago today is a real "sweetheart" to her brother Craig, 7, and sister Kelli Ann, 5, who offer a pink frosted heart-shaped cake and gift in celebration of the occasion.

My Dear! Please...

By GAY PAILEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Perhaps on this Valentine's Day, he will remember you with candy. Perhaps with flowers. Or, he may offer some practical hints for home safety.

If the remembrance is the latter, refrain from throwing a rolling pin at him. He is only mixing sentiment with practicality at the suggestion of safety experts.

YOU MAKE ME PROUD
"You make me proud," the message began, "the way you wear your hair and of your dainty clicking heels when we step out together. But it scares the life out of me when I think of what can happen when you wear such shoes around the house..."

"I expect to find you piled up at the foot of the stairs or at the bottom of a ladder. Not only because of your 'spikes,' but because you run up and down stairs carrying bundles of the baby and never think of using the handrail."

The Valentine message continued, "...You look pretty smooth in those pencil skirts. Still, I hope you never have to take a long step quickly or that you forget what you're wearing when you get on or off a bus in a hurry. There won't be any wolf whistles for a gal flat on her face."

"You are very careful about smoking, but when you wear those fancy, big-bowed aprons around the stove I shudder. I love you just as much in a sensible dress."

"Don't let little Judy get too near the portable heater when she is wearing her cotton flannel P.J.s. Clothing can burn."

"Your cooking is the best," the Valentine continued, "but we'll have to find someone else to feed us unless you change a few of those funny little habits of yours. For instance, why do you ignore all the good-looking porchers and use the nearest dish towel or rag to handle a hot pot or remove a dish from the oven? You can get a good burn that way..."

"Old habits are harder to break, but just say my sake won't you please use the cutting board and sharp knife and stroke away from your hand and body? Sometimes it's 'karma' as if you are about to commit hari-kari," said the missive.

The husband's letter went on to compliment wife for neatness—in keeping toys, paper and clothes picked up, for wiping spilled grease, water or food immediately, for keeping junk cleared from attic and closets.

PLEASE, DEAR...
It reminded her to keep the handles of cooking utensils turned away from the front edge of the stove where they could easily be tipped by children, and cautioned her to dry her hands thoroughly before using any electrical equipment.

"Please, dear," it concluded, "don't poke around in the toaster or grill with a fork while either is on. If you should accidentally touch one of the coils... well, you may only have to pick yourself up out of a corner."

"You could wind up with a harp."

Musicale Group Sees Dancers

By MARY LOUISE LINDQUIST

An interesting innovation was introduced to the members of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicale Tuesday afternoon when Dr. Esther M. Pease lectured and a group of her dance students demonstrated the relationship between music and dance. The meeting was held at Fellowship Hall of Grace Lutheran Church.

After being introduced by Mrs. R. M. Todd, Dr. Pease stressed the parallel, "The Twins." Besides being the most ancient of the art forms, they are the only forms to come from man directly.

Music and dance also have the same basic structures: melody, rhythm and harmony, the melody in dance being the same as in music, the "up and down" movements. Of course, rhythm is obvious in both forms, but harmony in dance is the blending of the dancers' moods and positions.

Dr. Pease compared the dance to the members of the orchestra by bringing to the sense of sight the inner feelings of the composer while the orchestra utilizes the sense of hearing.

A talented group of students clearly portrayed to the audience the points of which Dr. Pease spoke. Unrehearsed, they individually expressed: a yawn, a giggle, a sigh and a smile. These "rhythms of self" showed much variety among the dancers.

"Nature movements" were demonstrated by each dancer, imitating the walk of a different animal — always with the grace and rhythms needed to relate these movements to artistic dancing.

As a group, the young women danced examples of the effect of history on dance from the severe movements of the Middle Ages to the more free movement of contemporary times. Among these "group dances" was a dance choreographed by two of the performing dancers, and the closing number was one composed at the National Music Camp at Interlochen called "Jazz Study."

The very talented young women dancing were: Carol Decker, Suzanne White, Suzanne Martin, Mary Ann Bethune, Bernice Drenner, Bonnie Tice, Francine Sobel, Margaret Rose and Jane Schenberg.

Door hostesses for the day were: Mrs. J. C. Covert and Mrs. Floyd Foren, Mrs. Burton M. Mitchell and Mrs. Gladys Morrison were at the tea table.

The social committee consisted of Mrs. W. A. Schunk, chairman, and Mrs. D. F. Redmond, co-chairman, and their committee: Mrs. E. L. Winder, Mrs. K. K. Kreitz, Mrs. N. L. Cheal, Mrs. R. N. Rapoport, Mrs. E. F. Sullivan and Mrs. J. B. Nicolls.

Knitting at Friend's Home Okay

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: Some time ago, I read that it was acceptable for a woman to knit or embroider while sitting among friends. I wanted to take my knitting along with me the other evening when we went to visit friends. My husband protested. He said he did not think it was good manners.

Wherever I go, meetings, planes, trains, social gatherings, etc., I've seen women knitting or embroidering and haven't given it a second thought, since one can be busy with her hands and still be a good listener or talker. Won't you please settle this for me? I don't want to give up my knitting or embroidering, but if it is rude, I will do so.

A: You should not take your knitting to a formal party, but if you can knit or embroider without any apparent effort and it does not prevent you from taking part in your friend's conversation, there is no reason for not doing either when visiting intimate friends.

Q: Will you please settle an argument which arises every time I address an envelope to my aunt. She is a widow and I always address her as Mrs. James Brown. However, the other members of my family insist that this is wrong and that I should address her as Mrs. Mary Brown. To convince them that I am right, I shall have to have your word for it.

A: "Mrs." followed by a woman's Christian name (while permissible in business or a profession) is from a social point of view in very bad taste. Correctly she is Mrs. James Brown.

Q: I am in the hospital recuperating from an operation. Yesterday, a very beautiful bouquet of flowers arrived from two of the girls with whom I work. I, of course, intend to write and thank them but I would like to know if it is necessary to write them each a note or would one note thanking them both, suffice?

A: You should write a note to each of them.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Don't Worry, Says Abby

Maybe He's Dreaming!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Is a person responsible for what he says in his sleep? My husband tells me a few times he has mentioned women's names, but when I say anything to him he says he doesn't remember dreaming about any women.

He says he is for what he says in his sleep. Is he right? I don't believe he is faithful to me because he always comes right home after work, is a good husband and seems crazy about me. Thanks.

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: If your husband behaves well when he is awake, don't worry about what he says in his sleep.

DEAR ABBY: In 1959 I sent a necktie to an elderly uncle for Christmas. I had this tie around the house for some time (still in its original plain white box and tissue), and had forgotten where it came from. It looked like an old man's tie and my husband wouldn't wear it.

Well, for Christmas, 1960, this old uncle sent the tie to my husband saying it was the same tie he had given him for Christmas in 1958.

I guess it must have LOOKED like my uncle because I thoughtlessly sent it back to him for Christmas, 1961!

I know it was a foolish mistake, but we send about 100 gifts every year and I honestly forgot the history of this tie.

We haven't heard from this uncle and I wonder if we shouldn't write and apologize? He must think we're crazy.

THOUGHTLESS
DEAR THOUGHTLESS: I hope you and your uncle have a sense of humor.

If I were you I would send him a box of matches and tell him to burn up the tie to put it out of circulation.

DEAR ABBY: A few boys came over unexpectedly last night. It was about nine o'clock and I had on my flannel pajamas and a woolen bathrobe, so I didn't see anything wrong with appearing before them in what I was wearing.

They only stayed about an hour and we just sat around and talked. After they left my mother gave me the dickens. She said no respectable girl would entertain boys in her nightclothes.

FIFTEEN AND RESPECTABLE
DEAR FIFTEEN: It's not how well covered you were, but what with. A young lady should not receive callers while she's dressed for bed. You should have quickly changed to a skirt and sweater.

How is the world treating you? Unload your problems on Abby, care of The Pontiac Press.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Altar and Rosary Society and General Guild of St. Benedict's Church has elected officers for the coming year, with Mrs. Ralph Spadofore, guild president, and Mrs. John Ogg, the Rosary Society's new president.

Others in the society elected were the first vice president, Mrs. Robert Gallo, second vice president, Mrs. Frederick LeLanghamp; secretary, Mrs. Emil Swietlicki; treasurer, Mrs. Leon Thomas; and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Richard Pfeiffer; secretary, Mrs. William Schroder; treasurer, Mrs. John F. McHugh and corresponding secretary, Mrs. William Edward. Refreshments were served by St. Thomas Unit 8 whose captain is Mrs. Joseph Willette.

Fox, Ross Drive; Mrs. Clyle Hasckill, Woodbine Drive; Mrs. J. C. Barker and Mrs. James E. Anthony, also of Ross Drive.

RUTH ANN FRISCH

A summer wedding is planned by Ruth Ann Frisch of Sergeant Bluffs, Iowa, daughter of the Floyd Frisches of Peacock Avenue, to Douglas B. Wingett, son of Mrs. M. E. Conley of Dakota City, Neb. and the late Marvin Wingett.

KATHLEEN KEYES HUNTER

The Nelson K. Hunters, West Ironquils Road, announce the engagement of their daughter Kathleen Keyes to Carl E. Code Jr., son of the senior Codes, Dexter Road. Kathleen is a student nurse at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. Both attended University of Michigan.

Committee Works on Horse Show

The 45th annual Detroit Horse Show opening at the Bloomfield Hills Open Hunt Club June 28 through July 1 will again attract the nation's outstanding professional and amateur competition to the largest outdoor show in the country for hunters and jumpers.

Initial plans for the enlarged Detroit Horse Show and Hunt Fair have been announced by the Michigan State University Oakland foundation scholarship committee to whom proceeds from the event will go for benefit of the MSU scholarship fund. With the current annual goal set at $60,000, the fund affords deserving area students, who might not otherwise have the advantage of a college education, the opportunity to attend MSU.

Mrs. Addison Oakley, chairman of this committee of Oakland County women, has appointed Mrs. L. L. Colbert and Mrs. A. C. Girard as co-chairmen of the Hunt Fair. Assisting the co-chairmen will be Mrs. S. D. Steiner and Mrs. Harry Swan, in charge of tickets; Mrs. R. A. Featherstone, tea room; Mrs. Edward S. Wellock and Mrs. John K. Bagby, concessions; Mrs. Thomas Eccles, pony rides; and Mrs. Rockwood Bullard Jr., children's activities.

Mrs. C. T. Eeklund will direct flower sales; Mrs. Don E. Ahrens, Mrs. Edward H. Lerchen, Mrs. James Nye and Mrs. George Matthews, decorations; Mrs. Arthur Underwood, trinkets and treasures; and Mrs. George Hueston Jr., Mrs. E. L. Winder and Mrs. Norman Cheal, publicity.

Dance Fete Will Aid Boys Club

Zeta Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority plans a Valentine dance Saturday in the Oakland Avenue AMVETS hall. The dance will provide music for the 8:30 to 1:30 a.m. affair. Dance proceeds will be donated to the Boys Club of Pontiac, Inc., to help repair damages resulting from a recent fire.

Mrs. Douglas Fox and Mrs. James Anthony, co-chairmen, are being assisted by Mrs. Clyle Hasckill, tickets; Mrs. Joseph Galardi, refreshments; Mrs. Byron Barnes, door prizes; Mrs. Richard Templeton, clean up, and Mrs. Karl Dale, publicity.

Prior to the dance the Joseph Galardi of Ross Drive, the Richard Templeton of Edgfield Drive and the Clyle Hasckill of Woodbine Drive will entertain.

PEO Chapter CL Welcomes Guest

Chapter CL, PEO Sisterhood, met Monday afternoon at the home of Edna Satter on West Ironquils Road. Cobettes was Mrs. R. L. Justice.

Mrs. H. W. Chapman, vice president, gave a report on Cotter Junior College, the school in Nevada, Mo. owned by the Sisterhood. She also reported on the educational loan fund. Mrs. M. W. Glasgow, Chapter D, Okla., was a guest. She is the mother of chapter member Mrs. K. L. Smalley.

Younger, Prettier Wife

A Valentine for Hubby

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A lot of women all over the country are giving their husbands a very special valentine this year — younger and prettier wives!

A "new" wife is a valentine that is sentimental and nostalgic, just as hearts and red ribbons and boxes of candy decorated with paper lace are.

I know this to be true because thousands of women joined my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon to see how much they could improve their appearance in that length of time. Many are shooting at a loss of 25 pounds in eight weeks.

The entire eight weeks is not finished yet but enough time has whizzed by for happy results to begin to show.

FAT MELTING

Rolls and pads of fat are melting under the impact of diet and exercise, posture is improving, and seams are being taken in. You also are probably walking and moving about like a woman years younger.

Some of you may already have lost as much weight as you wish to lose, and you may be wondering what to do now. If this is true, or when it is true, do the following:

Add no calories to your daily intake. Watch the scales and see what happens. If you begin to gain, cut back. If not, add another 200 calories at the end of a week.

By watching the scales you can determine how many calories you need each day in order to maintain your ideal weight.

When you add these calories, don't make them all "empty" calories, or those which give you no health value. In other words, do not go back to the old eating habits.

If you do, it will be only a short time until you realize your weight. Give yourself a once-in-a-while treat. Your craving for rich foods probably has disappeared, but don't become careless.

At the first of each year I offer my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon. If you failed to join and would like to do so, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet which gives you all necessary directions.

Address: Josephine Lowman in care of the Pontiac Press.

When you get to the point of trying to maintain your ideal weight, you have to count your calories and watch the scales. Many women on the Marathon are doing this now.

Winter Dance Set by MSU Alumni

The Alumni of Michigan State University will hold the annual winter dance 9 p.m. Friday at Plum Hollow Golf Club.

Bloomfield people planning dinners and cocktail parties preceding the dance include the Clifford Meyers of Oakhill Drive, the Ned Beardsens, of Pembroke Road, the William Munros of Pilgrim Road, the Dorne Dibbles of Eastbourne Drive and the William Bownmans of Worlington Drive. An "after-the-ball-is-over" supper will be held at the James Garity home on Kinross Drive.

A program entitled "Facts and Fun" was presented at the meeting of Fashion Your Figure Club in Adah Shelly Library. Once a year a program of this type is planned to give all members a chance to participate.

The six-week contest award went to Mrs. Charles Ruggles. The Thursday meeting concluded with an old-fashioned box social. Valentines were collected for the children at Pontiac State Hospital.

Next week a spring hat show will be a feature of the program.

Professor Speaks on Latin America

MSUO Division of Continuing Education and Iota Eta Chapter of Phi Omicron National Society presented a lecture by Dr. Samuel Shapiro, assistant professor of history, Thursday evening. Dr. Shapiro's subject was "Latin America in Crisis." The meeting, held at the Oakland Center, is the first of three lectures to be given. Dr. Lowell Eklund, Director of Continuing Education, welcomed the group.

A business meeting preceded the dinner and lecture.

Standish Unit Plans for Parish Dinner

Members of First Congregational Church's Standish Group will serve the March parish dinner. Mrs. Harry Manus of Nelson Street was hostess for the group's desert luncheon Friday, assisted by Mrs. Charles Borst.

After Mrs. Ray Melser's devotion, recordings of favorite hymns of America were played.

SEW SIMPLE By Eunice Farmer

Our Tailor Trix Winner this week is Mrs. C. R. Koester, Kallua, Oahu, Hawaii.

Several thousand women suggested the same use for worn nylon, however Mrs. Koester's was the first one to reach me. Because of the tremendous response to this question, "What to do with old nylon," I later will award another Tailor Trix Pressing Board for a different suggestion.

Here's the suggestion: Worn nylons make excellent stuffing for children's toys as they are washable and need not be removed before laundering. They may also be used, as suitable stuffing for the popular toss pillows as they are soft, yet give body.

COMBINE PATTERNS

"Dear Eunice: Please tell me how to take the 'blouson' out of a pattern and change it to a fitted style."

Mrs. C.N.J.

The easiest way to make a fitted bodice from a blouson pattern is to combine a pattern which is darted at the waist with your other pattern. Be sure to match the shoulders and the center front, then cut the lower part of the bodice from your pattern with the dart.

REVIT ARMHOLE

"Dear Eunice: Kindly tell me how to remove the wrinkle on the back of a garment, just under the collar."

Mrs. A.F.

It is often a little difficult to pinpoint your difficulties without seeing you, but it sounds as though your shoulders are squarer than the pattern. This is a rather common condition and not too difficult to remedy. When cutting your garment, add about 1/4 inch at the outer edge of the shoulder, tapering to the original seam line at the neck edge. This will make the shoulder line less sloping. Now you must also add this 1/4 inch to the underarm of your garment, tapering to nothing at the notch in front and back. Your arm hole now will be the original shape.

TIPS ON PLEATS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer: Would you please tell me how to make the back pleat on a skirt lie flat at the hemline and not turn out when one wears the garment?"

Mrs. H.C.

I would like to give you several tips on this. First, be sure and add the additional width of fabric for the pleat all the way from hem to waistline. If your fabric is very heavy, you cut away one layer of this excess fabric. Your pleat is bound to hang even and you also can avoid machine-stitching the top of the pleat on the right side of your garment.

Second, close the pleat with the basting or longest machine-stitch possible, then press pleat before removing the basting. Again, you will find more accuracy than trying to guess where the pleat should fold.

The last step is to machine-stitch the fold of the pleat together at the hem of your skirt. The stitching should be about 1/4 inch from the fold and will keep the pleat from spreading. This step also can be used to help keep pleats in shape on a pleated skirt.

"Dear Eunice: How do you get rid of the crease line in material caused from the fold? Some just won't press out and you always can see the fold line."

Mrs. A.B.

Dilute white vinegar, a little water and damp SPANGLY on the wrong side of your fabric. This usually will eliminate a crease when pressed. This should be done primarily on woollens. If you still can't erase the crease, you may have to re-fold your fabric and try to cut your garment without using the original fold where it will show.

Please send all your questions and suggestions to Eunice Farmer, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Annual Event Set by Square Dance Club

The Waterford Township Wagon Wheelers Square Dance Club plans its annual March Grac dance from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Friday at the Waterford Community Center. Members and friends will be in costume, but not masqueraded.

This is also a new night for the dance club that previously met on Thursday evenings. Beginning in March, the Wagon Wheelers will dance on the second and fourth Fridays of each month at the Community Center.

At the annual election of officers, the following were elected: Robert Jensenius, president; Claire Campbell, vice president; Ladon Godfrey, treasurer; and Harry Langdon, secretary.

Church Unit Holds Monthly Meeting

Mrs. Galen E. Hershey of West Inglewood Road was hostess Friday when the June Group of the First Presbyterian Church held its February meeting. Mrs. Hershey was assisted at the luncheon by Mrs. Forrest Wood, Mrs. Francis Olmstead and Mrs. Ben C. Scott.

Mrs. Duncan McVeen gave the national mission study on "Concern." The Bible study, "Paul's Letter to the Romans," was presented by Mrs. Ann Detry. Mrs. E. J. Winn and Mrs. Howard Marsh also participated in the program.

Mrs. John Hillier and Mrs. William Vandercok were guests at the meeting.

About two-thirds of South America's people are engaged in agriculture, as compared with about one-fifth in the United States.

Bible study discussion was conducted by Mrs. Carol Mulkey. Mrs. Leslie Tripp will be hostess for the March 9 meeting.

Mary-Martha Group members gathered in the Avondale Street home of chairman Mrs. Howard White whose coldest was Mrs. Melvin Brito. Guests were Mrs. James Stragosa and Mrs. Joe Duffield.

Plans were made for serving the church Women's Association luncheon Feb. 27.

Mrs. Harry H. Pattison led a study of Paul's letters to the Romans, and Mrs. George Stennett led a study of Presbyterian missionaries' varying services throughout the United States.

Faith Group celebrated its annual birthday luncheon at Devon Gables Friday with Mrs. Clarence Senger as chairman. Guests were Mrs. Marquis Saterell and Mrs. H. E. McCulloch.

Mrs. Robert Sigler presented a discussion, "Righteousness Through Redemption," in a Bible study from the epistle to the Romans, and Mrs. Leslie Ellis reported on ecumenical missions in Lebanon.

Mrs. Burton Mitchell reported on the Detroit Presbytery's recent meeting which featured missionaries from Lebanon, Egypt, Venezuela, Japan and Korea.

Mrs. George Snyder, Hazel Potts and Lulu McGregor were hostesses to Flora Shelly Group Friday evening in the church.

Following dinner was a devotional and business meeting in the church's recently decorated room provided in memory of Mrs. Charles Mortuary McDonald by her parents.

Mrs. Mildred Hill led in devotion, and Mrs. Allan Monroe presented a Bible study from the Book of Romans.

Report on missionary activities of the Women's Association in Korea and Liberia was given by Grace Clark.

The next meeting is slated March 9 in the church.

Church Unit Sets a Pancake Supper

The Parent-Teacher League of St. Trinity Lutheran Church is sponsoring a pancake supper from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday in the church.

Bennett-Johnson Vows Pledged in Noon Rites

A handmade white jade pendant, accented with a small, clear, faceted stone, was the centerpiece of the wedding ceremony for Daniel D. Bennett and Susan Johnson, which took place at 12 noon in the St. Benedict Church, Rev. Richard W. Thomas performed the double-ring ceremony.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was fitted to a demi-crown and she carried a heart-shaped bouquet of white feathered carnations, tea roses and stephanotis.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mrs. Hazel Johnson of Lakeview Street, Waterford Township, and the Edwin H. Bennett of Birming Avenue.

Pamela Dennison, wedding mint green taffeta with avocado green velvet front panel, served as flower girl.

On the couple's side were Jack Morris, with Rex Harris and Kenneth Buckley ushering.

For the ceremony and luncheon reception in the church parlors, Mrs. Johnson wore a jacket dress of beige brocade and corsage of gold and brown carnations. The mother of the bride, groom appeared in Wedgwood blue lace. Her flowers were pink carnations.

After a honeymoon at a northern ski resort, the couple will reside on Walton Boulevard.

MRS. DANIEL D. BENNETT

Club Entertained at John Ivory Farm

Hills and Lakes Newsletters Club members were entertained recently at the John F. Ivory farm in Union Lake.

Dinner was followed by films of the Ivory Roman Riders and polo team.

Plans were made for a theater party and dance to be held later in the season. Hostess for the evening was Mrs. Ivory Jr., and she was assisted by Mrs. Russell F. Kulberg.

Auxiliary Sets Date for Show

At a meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Emaley of Woodline Street, Sylvan Village, plans were set for the annual AMVETS bowling tournament to be held in Kalamazoo, March 3 and 4 by Wright-Fourier AMVETS Auxiliary #31.

Preparations for a luncheon and hat show March 21 were also made. Mrs. William Marshall will be in charge of refreshments for the luncheon; Mrs. Elbert Emaley, tickets; Mrs. Edwin Good, publicity and door prizes.

Mrs. Edwin Good was named "Woman of the Year" for outstanding work in the organization during the last year.

Duplicate Club Lists Winners

Ten tables played when Pontiac Bridge Club met at Hotel Windsor Saturday evening.

Winners included—Mr. and Mrs. Ira Benjamin, Dr. and Mrs. Edward F. Collins, Ernest Guy and Earl Waterman, Dr. Carl Boiten and Dr. Charles Paton.

Others were Mrs. Arnold Richards and Mrs. Ernest Guy, the Paul VanRooyels, the Donald Stephenson, Frank Sparks and Charles Stringer.

Group Tours Center

Rudeness Often Covers Up Other Defects

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE

We recently entertained a British writer whose novels are widely admired by a sensitive and intense young woman I know. After some hesitation I invited her to meet him. She accepted, but she did not meet him. The day before our modest little party, she telephoned me and without preamble demanded hotel.

"Why haven't you sent me a formal invitation? You thought I wasn't important enough to bother yourself with sending one, didn't you? Well, I'm not coming to your party. And I think you are the most patronizing and hypocritical person I ever knew!" Then she broke the connection.

She was horribly rude, wasn't she? But I wasn't insulted. I am aware that my young friend's self-confidence has been so cruelly mangled that she is afraid of a party's social strains. She was driven to create a situation between us that would justify her withdrawal from ours.

I knew that her rudeness was saying to me, "I cannot come to the party because I fear saying or doing to the wrong thing."

She is receiving psychiatric treatment for this inability to know and communicate her always acceptable reasons for the unacceptable actions she takes.

Some months ago I heard a father speak these words to his child: "I don't know how to punish you until you tell me why you did it."

The line was contained in a play called "The Climate of Eden" by the late Moss Hart, more widely known as the author of hits like "The Man Who Came to Dinner" and for his superb production of "My Fair Lady."

So struck was I by this line that I asked the playwright to see me and expand upon the line's meaning for this column. But she? But I wasn't insulted.

It is great because its parent asks for true responsibility from his child. It is great because its parent possesses the ability to suspend judgment.

It is greatest because its parent is so at one with his own guilelessness that he can credit the child with an innocence that doesn't deserve punishment.

However, let's not despair that we cannot always manage such wisdom. The parent who spoke that line lived, you'll remember, in the climate of Eden.

It is my hope that I have not misread Moss Hart.

Black-Passage Vows Told in Evening Rites

Tall candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and carnations graced the chancel in Trinity Methodist Church Saturday evening for the vows of Eleanor Yvonne Passage to Spec. 4 Howard Terry Black. Rev. Elmer Snyder officiated.

A reception in the home of Mrs. Floyd Joy of South Windsor Drive, Waterford Township, followed her granddaughters' wedding. Parents of the newlyweds are the Albert R. Joys of Crescent Drive and the Alamo C. Blacks of Indianapolis, Ind.

The bride's gown of white slipper satin featured an Empire waistline and dome-shaped skirt with panels of re-embroidered Alencon lace.

She wore a necklace of cultured pearls and a short bubble veil secured by a crown of seed pearls and aquinas. A white orchid corsage adorned her white lace-covered prayer book.

Pale yellow carnations complemented wall-length aquamarine chiffon over satin for Mrs. Vernon Christensen, matron of honor. Her blush veil fell from a feather headpiece.

Vernon Christensen served as best man and guests were seated by Alvin O'Shaughnessy Jr., Drayton Platts, and Richard Freeman, Auburn Heights.

The couple will honeymoon in Michigan and Indianapolis, leaving Feb. 21 for Germany where the bridegroom is stationed.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Joy selected mint green chiffon and lace over slipper satin with matching rose-shaped hat. Her flowers were pink roses.

MRS. HOWARD T. BLACK

Auxiliary Unit Makes Plans

The Auxiliary of the Jimmy Day Amvets met at the Mark Avenue home of Mrs. Edward Pompeian. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Victor Malden and Mrs. Edgar Sturt.

Plans were completed for the annual style show and card party to be held March 7. It was announced that the national membership drive will end May 15.

Guests were Mrs. Mike Andonian, Mrs. Pat Donaldson, Mrs. Claude Wagner, Mrs. Frank Spraker, Mrs. Louis Mitch and honorary members Mrs. Paul Gorman and Jacklyn Smith.

Evangelical Class Plans for March

February meeting of the Fellowship class of Baldwin Evangelical United Brethren Church, was at the Robert Walkers on Beverly Road.

"Faith" was the theme Mrs. Emerson Kirby chose for the devotion, and committee reports were given by Mrs. William Killen and Mrs. Albert Love.

Several couples presented interesting colored slides, and the March meeting was scheduled at the Joseph Waring residence on Summit Street.

Dance Club Has Valentine Party

The Grand Square Dance Club held their Valentine night dance at Dowdson School Saturday evening. Forty couples danced to the calls of Norman Hill and the music of the Haan Orchestra.

Refreshments were served by the Leon Skelley, Russell Beams and Douglas Squires. Feb. 24 is the date of the next dance.

'Remember When' Sparks Memories

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Remember when — A compact was something a woman carried in her purse to keep the shine off her nose — instead of being a small car.

The briet was something you gave to a lemon peel to garnish a drink — and not a dance!

A strew was a sexy movie star — and not a defense warning signal!

The name "Jackie" brought to mind a pretty TV comedian — and not the beautiful First Lady?

The term for an unshaved, dirty stranger was bum — instead of beak?

The word "space" was more frequently teamed with "closet" than with "outer."

The word association for "jet" was "black" instead of "plane?"

A beehive was a house for bees instead of a hardtop?

Needpoint referred to handwork, rather than to high heels?

The word "swing" made you think of a porch instead of a dance floor?

"Blind" brought to mind a tree, instead of a society?

"Sick" meant physically ill — not sick, sick, sick?

Children speculated about the man in the moon — not who would be the first man ON the moon?

Women frosted cakes instead of their hair?

You heard the word aid, you didn't immediately think of "foreign," but "first!"

Men—some insight on the women. Read Ruth Millett's booklet.

Union Lake Cook Shares Family Pasties Recipe

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor Here we go again with another recipe for Pasties. Every time we publish one, someone else has a different version. Wonder if anyone is making a collection of them?

Mrs. Frank Beauchamp of Union Lake (that's twice we've had Union Lake cooks represented this week) says this about her pasties:

"I have seen several recipes for your column for Pasties but none like the one I have. This came from my husband's mother who passed away years ago and it was one of her favorite recipes, so I would like to share it with other folks."

We love them hot from the oven or cold.

PASTIES

By Mrs. Frank Beauchamp

1 pound lean stewing beef

1 large onion
1 large potato
1 medium rutabaga
1 cup suet, cut in small pieces

Pastry

Dice stewing beef, onion, rutabaga and potatoes. Place in large bowl and add meat.

Use pie crust mix or your own recipe. Roll out dough to size of pie tin. Place meat and vegetable mixture on one side, season with salt and pepper.

Dot with butter or margarine. Sprinkle with 2 teaspoons water. Fold over pastry and seal in form of a turnover. Slash top to let steam escape. Bake at 350 degrees for 1½ hours.

Serve plain or with chili sauce or catsup. The above ingredients will fill 6 pasties.

Goldwater Withdrew Walker Invitation

Sen. Dodd Bows Out of Anti-Red Rally

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., bowed out today from participation in the conservative Young Americans for Freedom anti-Communist rally scheduled for March 1 in New York.

At the same time it was disclosed that Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., was the prime mover in the organization's withdrawal of an invitation to resign Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker to address a meeting billed as a conservative rally for world leaders from communism.

SEN. EXTREMIST
Dodd, who had been designated to receive an award, wrote Donald B. Shaft, head of YAF, that he didn't want to be the only publicly identifiable Democrat in a rather large group of Republicans at the session.

Complaining that at least one well-known political extremist had been invited to participate, Dodd went on to say: I regard the anti-Communist cause as one which, if it is to succeed, must function as a bipartisan movement which is neither dominated nor identified with any political party or any political faction.

Dodd said he had expected to attend a non-partisan meeting for the purpose of honoring a diverse group of Americans for contributions to freedom and anti-communism.

CHARGES PARTISANISM
Instead, he said, the meeting has come to represent in the minds of many a partisan gathering with extremist coloration which seeks to claim some exclusive relationship with the anti-Communist movement.

As a Senate Foreign Relations Committee member, Dodd strongly supported President John F. Kennedy's action to force Katanga back into the Congo.

MARKED FOR AWARD
Tombine had been marked for a special award at the rally but has had trouble trying to get a visa for a visit to the United States.

Awards also had been arranged for former President Herbert Hoover and for Walker. Goldwater and Sen. John G. Tower, R-

Tex., were listed among the speakers.

Goldwater, a member of the YAF advisory board, was reported to have notified the organization he could not appear on the same platform with Walker since the latter had announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor of Texas.

WITHDREW INVITATION
The Arizona senator was said to have contended that any such appearance would make it seem he was endorsing Walker's candidacy. The YAF was reported to have hinted to Walker he ought to withdraw. When the former general didn't, the YAF withdrew his invitation.

Goldwater also was keeping his distance from a new group of New York conservatives flexing their muscles for an attack on GOP Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Javits. Aides said he doesn't even know any of those forming under the leadership of Kierman O'Doherty, Manhattan lawyer, to oppose the governor and senator for re-nomination.

As chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, Goldwater is bound by the rules of the game not to interfere in state primaries.

Sen. Milton E. Young, R-N.D., target for attacks from John Birch Society members, reported a poll in his state showed a conservative trend.

He said in a statement that a similar poll two years ago showed North Dakotans favored federal aid to education by a 5-2 margin.

"This poll indicates this thinking is completely reversed," he said. "While there is still strong sentiment for price supports among farmers, there is more criticism than previously."

Venetian blinds were introduced in this country in 1798. At that time Lord Botetourt became Governor of Williamsburg and had Venetian blinds installed in several rooms of the Governor's Palace, including the State dining room.

Junior High Music Festival Tonight

The eighth annual City Wide Junior High Musical Festival will feature special performing groups from all local junior high schools tonight beginning 7:30 in the Pontiac Central Gymnasium. Highlight of the evening will be an 800 member mixed choir singing ten selections.

Among the selections Madison Junior High's girls glee club will perform under the direction of Arden Sears in "Somewhere a Child Is Singing."

Also participating with other numbers will be the boys glee club from Lincoln Junior High conducted by Robert Staab and a mixed ensemble from Jefferson Junior High directed by Mrs. Ellington Reed.

During the second portion of the program the City Wide Junior High School Orchestra directed by Buton Apple will play Russian Chorale and Overture by Tchaikovsky, among others.

WILL PARTICIPATE
Also participating are the girls' senior ensemble from Eastern Junior High School with June Merrifield conducting and the Washington Junior High School Male Chorus under the direction of Gilbert Jackson, singing several American favorites.

Narration will be by Pontiac Central radio workshop, students directed by Sally Adams. All of the massed numbers in this Festival of Song have been selected for educational emphasis, primarily upon familiarity with music from foreign countries and secondly, for the opportunity to broaden the patriotic ideal of our country.

Members of the Pontiac High School Band will act as ushers with programs being prepared by Theodore Carlson and the Pontiac High School Printing Shop students. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Pontiac Couple Is Wed in Episcopal Ceremony

White hyacinths and a white orchid topped the prayer book held by Patricia Lee Arnold, who pledged vows to James E. Garri Saturday afternoon in All Saints Episcopal Church. Rev. C. George Woodfield performed the ceremony before an altar banked with red roses.

Her gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle de sole was styled with fitted bodice and ruffled tiers cascading to a chapel sweep train. Fingerling veiling of silk illusion was fitted to a crown of seed pearls.

Following the ceremony, the couple received with their parents the Edgar Arnolds of North Tazmania Avenue and the Lennie B. Garries of Amberwood Avenue. Reception hosts were the James W. Garri, sister and brother-in-law of the bride.

Mrs. McCarthy was matron of honor, and Linda Black served as bridesmaid. Their princess line dresses of red satin were worn with matching headpieces and shoes. Their flowers were white carnations.

Barbara Ann Arnold, her aunt's flower girl, appeared in bouffant white tulle.

Brothers of the bride couple comprised the esquire list. Larry Garri was best man. Grooms were seated by Dean Garri, William, Frank and Edgar Arnold.

Yellow tea roses accented a mistletoe worn by Mrs. Arnold who chose beige chiffon for the wedding. The mother of the bridegroom, attired in a navy blue wool suit, wore yellow glanellans.

Swifflit is rich in proverb, including such familiar-sounding saws as "Spill water cannot be gathered up" and "If the cat's away, the mouse will reign."

Barbers Don't Dig Sculptural Styling

By Dick West

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Through the miracle of modern communications, I received a billet-doux from Pierre Jacy, a French hair stylist.

(Translated, this means the mailman brought me a press release from a Paris beauty parlor operator. I'm using delicate language here because of the ethereal nature of the subject.)

"Mr. Jacy" believes that American men don't care enough for their hair," the message said, adding that all of them "seem to have their hair cut the same way."

By contrast, it continued, European men who patronize Jacy's salon receive individual attention according to their particular "physiognomy and hair needs."

'BENEFITS FROM SCULPTURE'

"Having begun life as a sculptor," it explained, "Jacy is conscious of the sculptured lines of people's heads and finds that men benefit even more than women by having their hair cut and styled sculpturally."

Armed with this intelligence, I could hardly wait until the day my miserably shorn hair was cut and styled sculpturally.

"Medium on the sides and a little off the top," asked Figbee, when I had settled myself in his chair.

"No, Herman," I replied. "I want it cut and styled sculpturally."

"You mean you want one of them ducktails?" he said, drawing the cloth around my neck to the exact tightness necessary to close off the windpipe while still admitting hair under the collar.

"I mean that I want you to pay attention to my individual physiognomy and hair needs," I said.

"You must be talking about one of the flat tops," said Figbee.

'NOT ON A WATERMELON'

"Hair don't grow on a watermelon," he observed, reaching for his clippers.

In Jacy's salon, I told Figbee, "miserable, article, journalist and well-known personalities of Paris are treated with the same personal care as women."

"I get a lot of journalists in here, too," Figbee said. "They're lousy tipsters."

Nevertheless, I finally persuaded him to try Jacy's sculptured line technique. It came out medium on the sides with little off the top.

Prison Terms Given

20 Socialistic Koreans

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A revolutionary court today sentenced 20 members of South Korea's banned Socialist parties to prison terms ranging up to 15 years for pro-Communist activity. Two defendants were acquitted.

The Socialists were convicted of helping the North Korean Communists by advocating an exchange of visitors between the two Koreas and of trying to thwart the government's crackdown on Communist activity.

The U. S. Division of Forestry was established in 1880.

NCA Patronage Low for Local Flights in '61

North Central Airlines averaged less than two patrons per flight out of Pontiac Municipal Airport last year, and even fewer passengers on inbound planes, according to annual figures released today.

A total of 886 passengers boarded NCA flights here and 784 passengers arrived on inbound flights. There 671 flights each way, according to J. O. Edwards, station manager.

Early last year the Civil Aeronautics Board set a quota of five passengers per day as the minimum that would be required to keep NCA service here.

On a daily basis, patronage averaged a little better than two per day on outbound flights last year. The minimum prescribed patronage was met or surpassed in only one month, August, when 16 boarded flights here.

The best patronage of 1961 was recorded during June, July and August when there were four flights daily. In the months before and after that there were two flights daily.

Patronage has been steadily declining since September. NCA began air service here in December 1960.

During 1961 there were 292,353 pounds of cargo, exclusive of passengers' baggage, carried on inbound and outbound flights.

A breakdown showing types of cargo and flights is as follows: Air mail, inbound, 48,219 pounds; inbound, 20,080 pounds; Air express, inbound, 62,353 pounds; inbound, 48,022 pounds; Air freight, inbound, 9,833 pounds; inbound, 13,754 pounds.

Rule on Attire for Bowling Has Shortcomings

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Women entering the City Association's first annual bowling tournament were taken aback over a rule on proper attire.

Defining proper clothing the rule said: "nothing above the knee will be permitted."

Tournament officials explained hastily that the rule referred to shorts. They must be at least knee length.

New Atlas Hits Distant Target

Series 'E' Nose Cone Is Still Being Sought After 7,000-Mile Ride

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—An Atlas missile more powerful than the one mounted beneath astronaut John H. Glenn's space capsule hurled its nose cone and a small data capsule about 7,000 miles to a target area in the South Atlantic Tuesday.

The 65-foot Atlas "E" model, capable of firing a nuclear warhead one-third of the way around the world, is scheduled to go on station at Atlas operational bases over the country this year.

The Air Force now is test firing even more advanced Atlas "F" missiles designed for storage in underground launching silos.

A range recovery vessel, the USS Coastal Crusader, stood by in the target area to retrieve the data capsule but had no luck Tuesday night. The vessel planned one "sweep search" today before giving up.

The "E" model of the Atlas develops 289,000 pounds of thrust, about 30,000 pounds more than the earlier "D" models now on station. In the Western United States with nuclear warheads, Glenn's space capsule was mounted on a "D" Atlas.

The Atlas roared off about 4 p.m. from a launching site just a few hundred feet from Complex 14 where Glenn's 93-foot combination of Atlas rocket and Mercury space capsule stood waiting.

It hurled its nose cone more than 600 miles high on the 7,000-mile, half-hour trip across the ocean.

Who Are Our Friends?

U.S. Aids King Saud, Votes Down Salazar

BY RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Diplomacy, like politics, makes strange bedfellows.

Palm Beach and Washington—those two capitals of high society and politics—have been favoring this week over a bearded potentate with four wives and a reputed seventy-seven concubines.

While we lavishly foreign aid on the oil-rich kingdom of Saudi Arabia, King Saud moves with oriental splendor from palace to palace, and from nation to nation, accompanied by a lavish retinue and the maximum number of wives permitted him by his Moslem faith.

In contrast to this knee-bending for an Arab monarch who has financed anti-Western propaganda, we are by our votes in the United Nations jeopardizing the government of a staunch anti-Communist NATO ally.

Portugal has been ruled for thirty years by Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, a benevolent despot who lives in spartan simplicity, more humbly than many American workers.

He presides over a diminishing empire which includes Angola in West Africa, and did encompass Goa on the Malabar coast of the Indian subcontinent until so-called neutralist Jawaharlal Nehru settled by armed aggression last month.

One of the first major actions to confront the Kennedy administration in the U.N. Security Council last year was a resolution seeking self-determination for Angola, which has been Portuguese for four hundred years.

Portugal angrily objected to the "meddling" U.S. but Ambassador Adlai Stevenson voted with Soviet Russia and the two Afro-Asian members in favor of the resolution, which failed to carry because Britain, France and our other allies did not support it.

The resolution was then introduced in the General Assembly, and with the favorable votes of the U.S. and Russia it carried. An even stronger resolution carried again ten days ago, with the U.S. and the Communist bloc voting for it, and our Western allies abstaining.

Former ambassador to Spain John Davis Lodge has said that if Portugal loses Angola, the government of Salazar will fall, and that if Salazar falls, Generalissimo Franco cannot long survive in neighboring Spain.

That may be one reason why the two dictators are reportedly discussing the possibility of integrating their countries into a federation of the Iberian Peninsula for mutual protection.

Both countries are allies of the United States, Portugal as a member of NATO, and Spain through an old-fashioned agreement forged nine years ago.

Americans have traditionally been opposed to dictatorship, and there is no question but that France and Salazar fit this category. So did President Fulbright's Batista in Cuba, who in addition was shockingly corrupt; yet in retrospect his dictatorship seems infinitely preferable to the Communist regime that has set up shop lately miles off our Florida coast.

This correspondent is fighting no battles for Salazar and Franco, but would point out that in our cold war struggle with the Reds, it seems ill-advised to topple strongly anti-Communist friends at the risk of Castro-type take-overs.

It seems fair, also, to question our double standard of morality. Nehru, after seizing Portuguese Goa, Daman and Diu by force, will be favored next month by a "semi-official" visit from Jacqueline Kennedy, wife of the President of the United States.

King Saud, about son of one of his 130 wives, was honored a state dinner at the White House this week.

Although he is the second richest oil producing nation in the world, American taxpayers have given him nearly $47 million in economic aid since the war, and a much larger but secret amount of military aid. With other millions in oil royalties from American companies, he has financed anti-Western campaigns.

India, which is so shocked about Western "colonialism" but so tolerant of Communist satellites, received $286 million from Uncle Sam in fiscal 1961 alone, and the total for the post-war years runs to astronomical billions.

What Do Doctors Do When They Suffer HEADACHE PAIN?

New York, N.Y.—Most doctors live under constant nervous tension, pressure and mental strain. It's not surprising they, too, often suffer from miserable headaches. But now—it can be revealed what doctors, themselves, take to relieve headache pain.

A survey shows many doctors take the fast, pain-relieving ingredients in Anacin®. In fact, three out of four doctors recommend this same type of relief to their patients.

Anacin Tablets are stronger yet safer. They give fast, long-lasting and—more complete relief from tense, nervous headaches than aspirin or aspirin with buffering. You see, more aspirin or buffered aspirin contains only one pain reliever. But Anacin is different. Anacin is like a doctor's prescription. That is, a combination of medically proven ingredients recognized for their effectiveness by the highest medical authorities.

Anacin gives extra medication that not only relieves pain fast, but also its nervous tension, pressure and depression.

After taking Anacin—pain goes in minutes! The sufferer feels great again.

Despite their strength and effectiveness—Anacin Tablets contain no narcotics, do not form a habit or leave one depressed. Anacin may be taken as directed as often as needed without upsetting or irritating the stomach.

See if the extra medication in Anacin doesn't work better for you. Change to Anacin for fast, long-lasting, more complete pain-relief.

UAW Born April 27, 1936

(Editor's Note — Homer Martin led automobile workers through the turbulent sit-down strike against General Motors which resulted in the CIO's first big victory, 25 years ago. In the following dispatch — second of three by a special UPI reporting team — Martin gives his view of the 1937 sit-down strike and its aftermath.)

By ROBERT IRVIN

DETROIT (UPI) — Sit-down strikes, though often violent and marked by bloodshed, were the only way to organize workers in the auto industry, a former union leader said today.

Homer Martin, first president of the United Auto Workers (UAW), rode to national prominence on the wave of General Motors sit-down strike which ended 25 years ago this month.

Martin has long since left the labor movement. In fact, he's now on the other side of the fence, representing the California Association of Employers in the San Joaquin Valley.

But in an interview with United Press International, Martin recalled the troubled days of a quarter-century ago which led to the first union recognition by the world's biggest manufacturer.

"The labor situation in those days was very, very bad," he said. "There was always pressure to increase production. Wages were low—much more than 40 cents an hour."

GM RESISTED.

The infant UAW, organized in South Bend, Ind., April 27, 1936, was not fighting for higher wages as much as it was fighting primarily for recognition—the right to represent employees. Carmakers fought the attempt tooth and nail, Martin said.

"GM resisted us with everything it had. I suppose they must have fired 5,000 or 10,000 people between 1933 and 1937 for union activities—more than many of them in Flint," he said.

The union decided on a course of action based on successful sit-down strikes in France a few months earlier.

"We knew that from a strategy standpoint this was the only possible way a strike could have been won against GM," Martin said. "We deliberately picked GM for the big strike because we felt if we could win this one it would mean complete victory in the auto industry."

Martin was right, to a point. GM after a 62-day strike, finally capitulated on Feb. 11, 1937. By that fall, Chrysler, Packard, Hudson, Briggs and nearly 400 other companies followed GM's lead in recognizing the union.

But it was another four years before victory was complete. It wasn't until June 1941 that Henry Ford agreed to let the UAW represent his workers.

By that time, however, Martin had long departed—being "forced out of the UAW in a bitter factional fight that nearly wrecked the union."

BEST ORATOR

Homer Martin is a former Baptist preacher and was called one of the best orators labor produced in the turbulent '30s. At 34, he became head of the UAW after working only 17 days in a General Motors plant in Kansas City.

Now 60, Martin believes he had "more to do than any man living or dead in organizing the UAW." At the time the union was founded, he said, "I don't think there were many people that thought we could win a strike against GM."

"We did, but there was violence a lot of it. There was tremendous tension throughout the whole state of Michigan. We were convinced the company hired goons and spent millions on labor spies to try and get the strikers evicted from the plants and keep the union from being recognized."

"During the strike the men just sat in the plants. Other men used to go into the plants at night, carrying messages and food from the outside. The men were kept abreast of developments and were very determined to stay and see it through."

"A great many people took part. The strike was immensely popular. So was the union. It's a matter of record that within 90 days of the end of the strike more than 80 percent of the workers voluntarily joined the union. They didn't have to—there was no union shop but that showed how sympathetic they were."

CHANGED ATTITUDE

Now, however, Martin has changed his attitude toward unions in general and the UAW in particular. He believes the UAW "has operated to the detriment of workers, particularly in the last few years."

The "unreasonableness" of union leaders, Martin said, "has forced automation much faster than it should have been forced. It's put a lot of people out of work unnecessarily by putting a premium on wages. Companies are forced to find new ways of replacing manpower and getting more machines."

Martin said he's now working for the California Association of Employers because "I have an opportunity to do something which I feel is very important. I think employers and businessmen are now on the receiving end and something has to be done to protect them."

"The unions have gotten too powerful. They're all monopolies and can tie up whole industries with the order of one man. Big labor leaders today are dictators—they're elected for life and union members don't have any real say about it."

Martin favors an open shop "where to join or not to join would be an individual thing. I don't think unions would disappear and I don't believe it would weaken the unions. But it would certainly put the control of the unions back in the hands of the membership where it belongs."

(Next: Where unions stand today.)

Reports Some Tourists Try to Bag Bigger 'Fish'

MADILL, Okla. (UPI) — Not all tourists who travel to southern Oklahoma's lake resorts have come to fish for bass, according to Marshall County Sheriff Urkle Hargis.

Hargis says that about half of the 50 cases of cattle rustling reported to him last year involved alleged tourists who used camouflage and fishing equipment as cover for nefarious deeds.

THE ROYAL-BUS — Britain's first passenger-carrying air-cushion vehicle is the 78-seat Saunders Roe Hovercraft N2, which is undergoing tests at Cowes on the Isle of Wight. The SHN2, which rides at 80 m.p.h. on a downward blast of air, is the first such craft designed to carry passengers. Four 615-h.p. gas turbines provide the air cushion, while propellers mounted atop the body give it forward thrust.

'Doctor Population' Too Small for Needs

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — American medical schools are falling short by 3,000 doctors a year of training enough physicians and surgeons to meet the nation's normal requirements.

This is the word from Dr. Owen H. Wangersten, past president of the American College of Surgeons, who spoke at the Tennessee Valley Medical Assembly in Chattanooga.

Dr. Wangersten said medical schools now are graduating some 7,000 doctors a year, compared with annual requirements of about 10,000. One thing that might help, he said, would be higher pay for hospital interns and resident doctors.

PLASTIC PIPE — Acceptance by FHA of plastic drainage and vent pipe for inside use in residential housing may save future home buyers about $30 in the average six-room house. Photo illustrates how light it is. Other assets are a slight flexibility and its corrosion and rust resistance.

Child Proves Dialing Direct Distance Easy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Modern direct distance dialing isn't so tricky.

Aubrey McElroy, age 2, reached a New York residence by dialing 10 digits. His mother didn't know about it until she got a bill for $2.25 from the telephone company. The company was amazed but pleased. "A chance in a million," an official said. "It goes to prove what a marvelously simple system it is." The company decided to forget the bill.

OATMEAL PANCAKES — You know how good oatmeal bread is. Well, then, imagine how good oatmeal pancakes would be. They're so simple to make; all you do is add a cup of rolled oats to biscuit mix and follow the recipe. Chopped pecans in warm maple syrup are the perfect topping.

Stir Oats in Mix for Pancakes

What could be nicer than a leisurely morning and . . . breakfast in bed? Though it's usually the man of the house who is on the receiving end of this luxury, a special creation on that breakfast tray may give him on to return the favor tomorrow.

Here's an idea that is sure to make you "queen for a day!" Serve a high stack of tender, golden Oatmeal Pancakes and Pecan Maple Syrup. Easy to make with biscuit mix, the pancakes bake to a soft golden brown with a delicate oatmeal flavor throughout.

And what could be better than pancakes topped with warm maple syrup? . . . Oatmeal Pancakes topped with warm Pecan Maple Syrup. Try these smooth contrasts in flavor . . . you're sure to win a stack of praises!

Oatmeal Pancakes

1 cup Biscuit Mix
1 cup rolled oats
1 egg
1½ cups milk

Mix all ingredients. Beat with rotary beater until well blended. Grease griddle if necessary. Griddle is right temperature for baking when a few drops of water sprinkled on it jump around. Turn pancakes when bubbles appear. Top with warm Pecan Maple Syrup (below). Makes about 3½ 4-inch pancakes.

Pecan Maple Syrup: Heat 1 cup maple syrup with 1 tablespoon butter. Remove from heat and blend in ½ cup chopped pecans.

Yogurt Dressing

Calling all yogurt enthusiasts! Add finely diced celery, green olives and hard-cooked egg along with chili sauce, finely grated onion and salt to yogurt for Thousand Island Dressing to serve over wedges of firm crisp iceberg lettuce.

Cook Them a Bit

When apple slices are being added to a stuffing for duck or chicken, some cooks like to cook the fruit briefly before putting it in the dressing. This pre-cooking ensures that the apple will be tender by the time the bird is cooked.

Try Bavarian Sauerkraut With Apple Pancakes

"Sprechen Sie Deutsch?" Whether you can speak German or have ever been to Germany makes no difference when it comes to preparing a delicious meal of Sauerkraut for your family. Even though Sauerkraut is more often served as a hot dish, it is becoming increasingly popular served chilled as a salad right from the can. It is low in calories too.

For a new angle to a delicious meal, serve Bavarian Sauerkraut with Apple Pancakes. Ya! Ya! . . . 'tis a good dish!

Kraut and Apple Pancakes
1 package pork sausage links
1 can (1 lb.) Bavarian sauerkraut
1 egg, slightly beaten
¼ cup milk
1 tablespoon shortening, melted
1½ cups applesauce
1 cup pancake mix

Brown sausage according to directions on the package; reserve drippings. Add 1 tablespoon drippings to kraut and heat slowly.

To prepare pancakes, warm griddle over low heat. Blend slightly beaten egg, milk, melted shortening and applesauce. Add pancake mix; beat quickly just until large lumps disappear. Bake pancakes until golden brown on both sides. Serve sausage, Bavarian Sauerkraut and pancakes for a delicious treat. Serves 4.

If Bavarian Sauerkraut is not available in your area, use regular sauerkraut and add caraway seed and sugar to your taste.

To Keep Leftover Eggs

The U.S. Department of Agriculture suggests you keep leftover egg yolks in a dish or cup and add just enough water to cover. Put egg whites in a jar or dish and cover tightly. Be sure to keep them cold.

All the Potato Is Good

To conserve the natural goodness of potatoes, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says to pare them thinly and eliminate unnecessary soaking before cooking. Baked potatoes are good, skins tender-skinned eaters.

To Measure Liquids

A measuring cup that has a rim in measuring liquids which space above the 1 cup line should be used in measuring liquids for recipes. Cooks have a tendency to skim in measuring liquids which this type of cup helps to prevent.

Novi School Board Meeting Tonight

To Consider Prayer Policy

By JIM LONG
NOVI—The Novi Board of Education tonight will consider the adoption of a written policy that would ensure the continuation of prayers in its classrooms.

The proposed policy has been prepared by a group of about 30 parents in the school district and is similar to the written policy adopted by the Bloomfield Hills School Board recently.

In Novi's case, however, there has never been a ban on oral prayers as there was in Bloom-adopted following a public hearing attended by some 500 persons opposing the action.

"I'm quite certain the school board will take the proposed policy under consideration," said Superintendent Thomas Culbert, "since it represents the thinking of a large cross-section of parents."

Culbert said he was in favor of the written policy providing that the intention behind the move is a right one.

He explained that his only con-

'ALWAYS ALLOWED'

"Prayers always have been allowed in the school district," Culbert said. "This is a part of our heritage and part of our American way of education."

The question first arose last fall, according to the superintendent, over the celebration of Christmas in the classroom.

"The holiday was celebrated as it always had been and the school board had resigned itself to the fact that everything was all right," Culbert added.

"The board put the matter into the hands of teachers, believing that they were more than capable to intelligently arrange appropriate celebrations for special occasions."

A spokesman for the parent group said that the written policy is intended to give teachers authority to say prayers in classrooms without any admonition.

"The policy that will be proposed tonight would allow teachers to observe Christmas and Easter with suitable decorations, in addition to allowing them to offer nonsectarian prayers," the spokesman added.

"The policy also states that those not wishing to take part in the prayers do not have to participate."

Nearly 600 letters informing parents of the proposed policy have been mailed.

The school board will meet at 8 p.m. in the Orchard Hills Elementary School, 41900 Quince Drive.

REHEARSE PLAY — Avon Players John Long (left), who portrays Tuppy Loman, and Victor Zuk, cast as his father Willy, act out a tense scene from the group's forthcoming production of Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman." Curtain time for the Thursday, Friday and Saturday performance will be 8:30 p.m. in the Rochester Junior High School auditorium.

To Crown Hothouse Rhubarb King at Annual Utica Festival Feb. 24

UTICA — The area grower who rhubarb this winter will be crowned the 1962 Hothouse Rhubarb King at the seventh annual festival here Feb. 24.

He will share the throne with pretty Kathy Flettemier, 17, who won the title of queen in competition Jan. 27.

Kathy, a senior at Utica High School, currently is appearing on radio and television and at public events to publicize the forthcoming festival. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Flettemier, of 5805 Hayes Road, Sterling Township.

The day-long celebration will open at 9 a.m. with the judging of rhubarb, rhubarb dishes and competitions which will be concluded at 11.

SET AT LEGION HALL.

The festival will be held in the American Legion Hall, 40146 Cass Ave., instead of the high school as in years past.

A rhubarb smorgasbord, featuring prize-winning rhubarb desserts, will be served in the basement of the hall from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Business will be wives of growers and local restaurants and Utica High School homecoming students.

Sandwiches and beverages will be available throughout the day. State dignitaries will preside at the official festival opening at 1:30 p.m.

Immediately after the ceremony there will be cooking demonstrations, again featuring rhubarb, by the Consumers Power Co., on the main floor. Free samples will be given to visitors until the demonstrations are over at 4 p.m.

Col. Joe Koss will auction off prize-winning rhubarb on the main floor at about 5 p.m. Forty-five minute tours of area rhubarb hobby hothouses will start at both 8 and 4 p.m.

Registration for the tours will be at the information desk in the legion hall, and the tours will leave from the parking lot on the north side of the building.
The "Rhubarb Hop," a teen-age party with area disc jockey Bob Lark, will be from 4 to 6 p.m.

Search Continues by Skin Divers for Boy's Body

MANISTEE—State police skin divers today resumed an underwater search of the Manistee River where two young brothers apparently drowned in a playmate accident.

The search went on in a light snowfall, contrasted to sleet-carrying winds of 40 miles an hour at the end of operations yesterday.

The body of 4-year-old Boyd Pruyn was recovered yesterday from the river, apparently missing 24 hours after the boy and his brother David, 5, left their Manistee home for an outdoor romp.

Sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pruyn, they were reported missing Monday night.

A state police dog-led officers to an ice shelf extending from shore to open water in the river. Manistee County sheriff's men, city police and volunteers, along with a Coast Guard helicopter had joined in the search before it was called off by darkness.

Sets June Vote on Millage Hike

Increase Would Provide Operational Funds for Walled Lake Schools

WALLED LAKE — A proposed two-mill operational tax increase will be decided by Walled Lake School District voters in the regular June 11 school election.

The additional millage would provide about $140,000 annually for the operation of schools.

The proposal is identical to the one rejected by voters in a special election Jan. 25. At that time it was defeated by a four-to-one margin.

Two bond issues, totaling $2.5 million, for new construction also were defeated.

ON RECOMMENDATION

The school board scheduled the millage proposal for June on the recommendation of the Citizens Committee on School Needs.

The citizens group also has asked the board to consider asking voters for approval of a bond issue for new facilities mentioned in the bill.

The amount of the bond issue has not been determined nor has a date been set for an election.

Supt. Clifford H. Stork said the school board would probably make a decision on whether to hold an election after making another study of building needs.

Offers Zone Change to Troy Phone Users

TROY—The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has offered to change the zone of Utica-listed customers to the Trojan exchange if a joint city-telephone company survey proves that a majority of the UTI patrons want the switch.

A city-conducted survey late last year found that 246 customers of 42 who are listed in the Utica district wanted a change. Presently there is a toll charge from the UTI numbers to other Troy numbers.

James Richards, division commercial manager of the company, presented the offer to the city commission. The firm will provide survey material and assistance and the city will conduct the poll.

Set TB Tests Program

HIGHLAND PARK — Highland Park will conduct a free tuberculosis testing program for all its residents from Feb. 19 to March 30. Mayor Mark E. Storen called attention to the program in a proclamation today.

PTA Council Honors School Administrator

AVON TOWNSHIP — A 25-year-old graduate of Wayne State University in public administration, has held the dual post in Huntington Woods since May 1960.

While attending Wayne he was employed by the Oakland County Tax Equalization Board. This was followed by six months active duty in the Army, where he was a radio technician with an armored division.

WORKED FOR OAK PARK

Following graduation from high school he was employed part-time in Oak Park in the engineering, recreation, forestry and assessing divisions.

Married and the father of a 3-year-old daughter, Weidner and his wife Marie plan to move to Milford as soon as they can sell their Royal Oak home.

No successor to Weidner has been named.

Weidner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Weidner of 120 Wiggins Road, Troy.

Dryden Incumbents Are Nominated Again

DRYDEN—Three registered voters plus the present eight village officers nominated the slate for the village election last night at the annual caucus.

The group nominated the incumbents for re-election. There are 117 registered voters in the village.

Consistent Officer Bradwood, Ralph Hebert and Charles Carless will run in the March 12 general election for two year terms. Ralph Russell will run for a one-year council term.

Nominated to fill one-year terms were Robert White, president; Gladys Harrington, treasurer; Millard G. Grier, secretary; and Weingart, assessor.

Expect to Name New Engineers

SOUTHFIELD Council Head Says City Should Okay Firm Within a Week

SOUTHFIELD—The City Council is expected to approve the appointment of Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc., as city engineers within a week, Council President C. Hugh Doanley announced today.

The city has been without an engineering consultant since Decker-Spaulding and Associates notified the council two weeks ago that they would not renew their contract with the city.

The architectural firm of Fischer and Jarrett is anxious to proceed with the construction of the multimillion dollar center but fields it cannot do so without consulting engineers, representatives told the council.

The architects have explained work in the construction of the multimillion dollar center is of an engineering nature.

Dehany said today that as soon as City Attorney James M. Glinchewich outlines the necessary steps in winding up the city's contract with Decker-Spaulding and Associates he will call a special meeting of the council, possibly Friday, to get approval of the appointment of the new consultants.

Enters Plea of Guilty

GRAND RAPIDS — Joseph B. Cotton, 44, of Lansing pleaded guilty yesterday before U.S. District Judge Raymond W. Starr on an information charging forgery and cashing of a $33 government check March 8, 1961.

Potato and Onion Pie	11/2 pounds small white onions	6 medium (2 pounds) potatoes
1/2 pound (4 medium) carrots	1-inch boiling water in saucepan	1-inch boiling water in pan
1/4 teaspoons salt	1 teaspoon butter or margarine	2 teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon flour	1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper	5 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon salt	1/2 cup finely chopped onion	3 cups cooked shredded cabbage
2/31 teaspoon ground black pepper
11/4 cups milk

3 cups carrot and onion stock
3 cups shredded dried cheddar
3 cups fluffy mashed potatoes
2 onions, leave whole. Peel carrots, quarter and cut into 2-inch cubes. Add to the pot with carrots in a saucepan with the 1/4-cup boiling water and salt.
Cover. Boil 15 minutes, or until carrots are tender. Drain and leave water to use in the cream sauce and put into a hot-dish-baking pan.

Melt butter or margarine in a medium-sized skillet. Stir in milk and the carrot and onion stock. Cook until slightly thick-

Pare and cook potatoes until tender in 1-cup boiling water and 1 teaspoon of the salt. Drain thoroughly. Mash well.

Add the remaining salt, butter and 3 tablespoons of the butter or margarine. Mix well.
Cook 5 minutes. Mash well.
Add in a hot-dish 5-quart casserole.
Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 15 minutes.

Remove from oven. Dot with butter or margarine. Return to oven and broil for 10 minutes longer or until potatoes have lightly browned. Serve very hot.

Spiced Honey Sauce
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 1 cup honey
 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 Heat butter on stovetop. honey

The key to success is that each slice of mush is topped with one tablespoon of honey while it is cooking. The honey mingles with the corn meal making a delightful after-experience. Serve the Corn Meal Mush very hot with extra honey or spiced honey sauce, sliced bacon and a glass of fruit juice.

Enriched Corn Meal Mush

2 cups boiling water
1/2 teaspoons salt
1 cup corn meal
1 cup cold water

Put boiling water and salt in the upper part of a large double boiler. Add 1 cup of corn meal and 1 cup of corn meal. It has been mixed with one cup of cold water. Cook over direct heat 10 to 15 minutes, stirring constantly. Then place over boiling water and continue cooking at a low heat. Stir once in a while.

Put the cooked mixture into a reused loaf pan. When cold, cut

Up-and-Down West Bloomfield 5 'Up' Again

Lakers Conquer Wolves in W-O Contest, 60-57

Orchard Lake Quintet Posts 49-37 Triumph; 2 Games Postponed

Up-and-down West Bloomfield was up again Tuesday night and the result was a 60-57 Wayne-Oakland victory at Clarkson.

Suburban Catholic co-champion Orchard Lake St. Mary tried to win Detroit St. Stanislaus in a 49-37 victory. North Branch whipped Mayville 60-31 and North Farmington took Country Day 66-53 in some of the other area games.

Dangerous driving conditions forced postponement of two games — Holy at Brighton and Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows at Utica St. Lawrence.

Both tilts are re-scheduled for Feb. 20. It may have been a break for the other teams.

West Bloomfield combined some hot shooting with numerous Clarkson mistakes for its 7th success in 11 league outings and 8th with all year.

The Lakers had a sparkling 35-point 1st half. They were ahead 19-17 at the opening quarter and increased the difference to 22 at the half. Clarkson fought back in the last two periods but fell short despite 20 in the final.

Big Dave in a repeat of an earlier conquest with 21 points followed by Dan Grig's 17. Charley Funk rifled the nets for 21 and Ken Applegate added 18 for the Wolves. Clarkson dropped to 5-4 in the W-O and 6-4 for the cage year.

Reserves played considerably for Orchard Lake after the Eagles starters built up a 30-15 advantage at the half. It had been 35-2 at the 1st quarter.

John Rompel plotted a balanced offense with 13. Al Miller chipped in with 12 and Stan Swickard 10 in the team's 10th season victory against two losses.

North Branch led all the way but only 77-58 at halftime on the way to equating its record at 5-4.

Lynn DeGraw and Ray Stuever combined for 42 big points, 22 by DeGraw. Carl Mercer of Mayville scored 27.

Mike Fleming's 21 points was a big reason North Farmington snapped a losing streak at three. The winners were up 53-23 at the half. They now stand 5-4 while Country Day is 6-7. Dick Poole and Mike Parrish hit 12 each for the Days.

Brother Rice played at Cranbrook today. A single game. Three days night will have Grosse Pointe at Royal Oak Dondero.

East Detroit Clinches Share of EML Crown

East Detroit wrapped up at least a share of the Eastern Michigan League championship and Fitzgerald moved within one victory of doing the same in the Oakland A with wins last night.

Two free throws by Dave Maynard won 15 seconds remaining pulled East Detroit through against Royal Oak Kimball, 51-48.

Los Perry topped the Shamrocks with 18. Craig Kirby fired 15 for the Isers. Kimball was in front 30-26 at the half.

Ferndale moved into a tie for 2nd place with Royal Oak by blasting Hazel Park in the other EML contest, 54-27. Bob Michewas was the big gun with 15.

Fitzgerald had 10 different scores in a 79-53 rout of Lake Orion. Duane Dugan headed the pack with 17. Tom Lipford's 11 was the best the Dragons could offer.

The Spartans got off to a 24-4 start and made it 46-13 at the halftime.

Avondale got back in the victory column with a 63-30 triumph at Madison. The Yellowjackets led 21-19 after two quarters and stayed in command the rest of the way.

The rebounding and floor play of Dale Yarger sparked Avon and was a bright spot in a ragged game. He scored 10 trailing Roger Van Comant's 16 and 22 by Bill Rice. Van Comant had a rough time making five baskets. He had a 2-10-24 record in the 1st half.

Bob Barrett canned 13 for the Eagles. Tom Rodgers, who averaged 18.4 in the 1st five games and then was injured in late December, returned to action for the 1st time in a reserve role and contributed five rebounds.

Oak Park squeaked by Clawson 70-68 in the other Oakland A game. Al Ruby pulled the Parkers from behind on a driving layup with 20 seconds to play and added a free throw with 10 left to complete a 26-point night. Teammate Bob Goldenberg had the same total.

Tom McArthur's 19 and 25 for John Miller headed Clawson. The losers trailed by as much as 10 in the 1st half but came back to lead a few times in the 4th quarter.

Utica was another Class A winner. The Chieftains took Warren Lincoln, 44-38. They broke up a 1-2 losing streak.

STRATHROY, Ont. — Hank Bassen, who loves to wander and pass while playing goals for the Detroit Red Wings, turned in a rare reminder's assist last night in a 4-0 exhibition win over the Strathroy Rockets.

Bassen earned his assist on a goal by Gordie Howe. Rookie Larry Jeffrey, Norm Ullman and Parker MacDonald netted the other Detroit tallies against the amateur team from the Senior Ontario Hockey Association.

The Wings return to National Hockey League action at Olympia Stadium tomorrow night against New York, their rival for fourth place.

Jo-Jo's Quintet Buries 'D' Foe, 132-25

If Jo-Jo's hot-shooting cagers aren't careful, they'll receive a reprimand from City Basketball League officials for "pulling up" the score.

Detroit Catholic League officials put coach Mike Guz and his All Saints prep team on probation last week for poor ethics in a 131-26 rout of Hamtramck Immaculate Conception.

Jo-Jo's must be trying to follow in All Saints' footsteps. Some might accuse them of "pulling up" on Tuesday night's Class D massacre at Lincoln Junior High.

All five starters hit double figures as league-leading Jo-Jo's swarmed Lincoln, 132-25, to set a modern-day record.

Jo-Jo's poured 84 points through the hoop in the 2nd half after leaving the floor at intermission with a 49-19 lead. Jim Persinger had 10 points for outcasted Lincoln.

In yesterday's other Class D contest, adding Tuck's Trotters were upset by the Bombers, 66-41. Followed by an N.Y. contest at 8:30 spark the Bombers' comeback victory. Larry Blackburn netted 30.

PCH Matmen Shake Off Ills to Beat Dondero

Aided by some help from inclement boys, Pontiac Central shook off its illness worries long enough to hand visiting Royal Oak Dondero a 26-12 wrestling beating last night.

Walled Lake outplayed Redford Union 40-6 in the other local match.

Gary Kosha came up with a key victory over Christmas tournament winner Tynan St. Clair at 135 lbs. Kosha's fourth dual triumph in 11 tries.

Bill Roach was the only Chief to score a pin. Wayne Lee gained revenge for his only previous loss by taking Dave Yoh, 6-2. Charles "Pete" Beevers upped his dual record to 15-1 while Art Fowlkes bowed for only the second time. Dondero led 6-5 early.

Little Tom Brown sparred Walled Lake with his 21st straight victory. It was one of four Viking pins. Don Wilkison, Pat Harrington and John Graham had the others.

Couch Rick Schneider's team, which will host the Inter-Lake League meet Saturday, is now 6-2-1 in duals.

The next to the last big Thursday schedule comes up tomorrow with Central host to Saginaw Valley for Flint Southwestern. Pontiac Northern will be at Fitzgerald, Waterford concludes home action against Melvindale and Kettering entertains the Cranbrook reserves.

Three Rookies Sign With Lions for '62 Season

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions signed three rookies today to contracts for the 1962 National Football League season.

Signed were Rucker Wickline, the Lions 17th draft choice from Marshall, and Juan Vasquez of New Mexico Western and Allen Smith of Xavier, Ohio. Vasquez and Smith were signed as free agents.

Lion scouts termed Wickline, a 6-4, 215-pounder the best line-backer in the Mid-American Conference, the past two seasons.

The Lions hope to use Smith either at offensive end or defensive halfback; Vasquez will receive a trial at offensive halfback.

Confusion in Junior High Can Be Solved

By LESLIE J. NARON, Ed. D.,
Professor of Education, University of Northern California

If students seem confused after entering junior high school, don't be too quick to blame growth pains. It may be the system!

Too often our junior high schools are so out of touch with junior high schools that they fail to report on the actual performance of individual students.

Dr. Naron often is "pigeon-holed" according to IQ while a great many actually work at either a higher or lower level than their IQ indicates.

Many teachers and administrators have long recognized that something should be done about this.

The town of Issaquah, Wash., for one, is doing something. Issaquah's approach, based on the actual performance of students, has breathed new life into the school and is opening the way for real progress by students.

The performance level of students entering Issaquah Junior High is based on such tests as the Iowa Tests of Educational Development and the California Achievement Tests. Entering students are grouped on the basis of these tests in arithmetic, reading and English. Promotion is based on progress in performance as determined by further tests.

There are five levels in each of the grouped subjects. A student can be in a high group in one, a low group in another, and a middle group in the third, if those are the levels at which he performs satisfactorily in the subject.

By making their performance grouping flexible enough to make progress from one group to another possible through better performance, the Issaquah faculty expected increased improvement from many students, and got it!

Over a two-year period, the number below grade level in reading was reduced from 13 per cent to 5 per cent, in arithmetic from 9 to 6 per cent, and in English from 29 to 7 per cent. At the same time, the number above grade level in reading increased from 23 to 41 per cent, in arithmetic from 17 to 32 per cent, and in English from 20 to 46 per cent.

Again, far too many junior high school administrators and teachers design their academic courses for the lower group. They review everything taught from third grade through sixth grade and spend a year running everyone through it.

For those working at grade level, this is extremely dull. For the minority working above grade level, it is a tragic waste of time. The system used in Issaquah is only one of the many ways of solving these problems. All, however, require something "extra"—more teamwork, more effort and more thought.

It is always easier to continue using a system, even though it doesn't work very well, than to develop a new one that does. What is the system in your school? (You may write Dr. Naron in care of The Pontiac Press. He will discuss those questions of general interest in his columns.)

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARE

For Thursday
The stars more controls his destiny... Astrology points the way.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Excellent day to look to future. Time to size up situations, persons... If you find yourself completely satisfied, perhaps you require a bit of shaking up! Strive for IMPROVEMENT.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Avoid scattering efforts. Today make it a point to concentrate... to read... to absorb knowledge. You will have the opportunity, tonight, to socialize... meet friends. Good for discussion group.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Sometimes memories are not as pleasant as one might wish... but you must not use this as excuse for regrets. There is opportunity today to make sure future does not see you repeating errors.

CANCER (June 22 to July 22): Cycle now at peak for month. Means you should go all out to achieve heart's desire... minor setbacks could boomerang in your favor. Improve appearance. Best foot forward.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23): Tendency for you to want to withdraw. Ask yourself what it is you really desire... then do something about it! Today wonderful time to handle details, to get STARTED. Try!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Could be feeling of dissatisfaction with what you know about current interest. All right... learn, analyze, ask questions. Best to admit shortcomings... others will admire frankness.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Exercise initiative. Go straight to the top, if necessary, to get your point across. Others might be tempted to brush you aside... until they see you mean business. Be definite, firm.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): Important that you get realistic view of persons, situations, opportunities. See things firsthand. Don't trust promises or reports from questionable sources... judge for yourself. Be critical.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Responsibility could bring pleasure today. Which means you are to give of yourself... and doing so will react in your favor.

No time to hold back or seek shortcuts. Strive for truth.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Be very sure of yourself before making claims, statements... check first with authority on this newspaper, or at library. Cycle improves shortly. But to day... stick to routine. Nothing gaudy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Like Taurus, you must try to finish what you start today... instead of riding off in all directions at once. Strive for originality. Don't be afraid to express true feelings. Test ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Moon in favorable aspect to your sign... means could be great night for romance, creative activity, self-expression. Tendency to expect perfection... don't be discouraged by minor flaw.

IF THURSDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY... need for self-expression through voice, writing, drama is evident. These could be hobbies, or profession. Never permit yourself to become so hurried in routine that you can't see project as whole. Fine year ahead... for gain, advancement, adding to income.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle up for GEMINI, CANCER, LEO. Day could bring news of new product that benefits vast majority of persons. CAPRICORN advised to go slow. All signs could benefit from study of today's TAURUS interpretation.

Suspects Reds Seeking Gems

Expert Says Soviets May Be Fishing for Diamonds Off Africa

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—A new theory has been advanced about the activities of Russian fishing fleets which have for months been reported off South Africa and neighboring South West Africa. They may be fishing for diamonds.

That is the suspicion of Cmdr. Peter Keeble, director of English-American companies that are prospecting for diamonds on the sea bed.

Keeble said he suspected the Russian ships were taking samples of diamond-bearing gravel in the same area as his company's boats.

"There is nothing to stop the Russians operating a suction vessel like ours outside the three-mile limit," Keeble said.

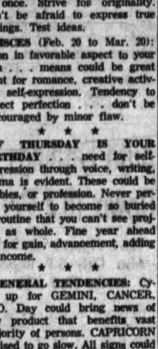

Members of the South African parliament have accused the Russians of spying with their large fishing fleets. Some suggestions have also been made publicly that they are engaged in gun-running to the African rebels in Portuguese Angola, which lies between the Congo and South West Africa.

South Africa's Government has demanded that the government extend territorial waters to keep the Russians out of rich pichard fields.

With airline fares rising 3 per cent, even the price of going up is going up... A woman whose youngster was very mischievous said his son was going to buy him a bicycle. "I don't think it will improve his behavior—but I'll stretch it over a wider area," Earl Wilson.

Brave Firemen Save Little Boy's Life

BY DIKE SAUNDERS

Seven-year-old Larry Gene Marshall wants to be a minister when he grows up.

He's alive and still able to pursue that dream today because of the heroics of two Pontiac firemen—and a little help from God.

14, Donald Thorpe and Fireman William Glency carried Larry's limp, unconscious body from a second floor bedroom of his home, smoke-filled house last night where the boy had been trapped for nearly 15 minutes.

A few minutes more would have been too late.

The fire, started by a defective coal furnace, gutted the basement and much of the main floor, causing an estimated $5,000 damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Marshall at 31 Crawford St.

Firemen agreed it could have been far worse.

ONE OF FIVE

Larry, a second grade pupil at

Beulah School, is one of five children. The children and their mother were all asleep around 11 p.m. when the fire broke out.

Moments later the two-story frame house was filled with smoke. Larry, his sister Alberta, 13, brothers George, 9, and Drew, 8, and Mrs. Marshall were in second floor bedrooms. The youngest, Timothy, 6, was sleeping on a couch downstairs.

Marshall, a Pontiac Motor Division employee, was at work.

The smoke first awakened Timothy and Alberta.

"I saw fire coming from a register and ran to tell the others," Timothy said. "Mama took my hand—I couldn't see."

"The smoke was terrible. You couldn't see a thing upstairs—not even the doorway," Alberta added, tears still rolling down her cheeks.

Mrs. Marshall herded her frightened children downstairs and outside. When they counted heads, Larry was missing.

The frantic mother tried to go back in for him. Two neighbors also tried. They were forced back by the thick, choking smoke.

A passerby, Stephen D. Trineff of 1500 W. Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Township, was on his way home after closing up his grocery store, Diny's Food Market, at 78 Lull St.

He ran to aid the Marshalls. "I started yelling, 'Larry, Larry, where are you?' and throwing

17 Petition for City Posts

JFK, Macmillan Ask Later Date

WASHINGTON (U)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan rejected today Premier Khrushchev's proposal for a March 4 summit conference to start disarmament negotiations.

However, they suggested a later summit meeting might help to reach a disarmament agreement.

In a message to Moscow, Kennedy said he is "quite ready to participate personally" when a summit session would promote success.

But at the outset of negotiations—due to begin at Geneva March 16—the participation of government chiefs "might set back, rather than advance, the prospects for disarmament," Kennedy told Khrushchev.

Kennedy did suggest that a review of progress by the heads of government might be needed before June 1, the date set by the United Nations for a first report on the arms talks.

While Kennedy did not make it specific, authoritative sources said the language could cover a head-to-head review if enough progress has been made.

MACMILLAN WRITES
A similar message sent by Macmillan suggested that a summit conference should be held after some progress in negotiation is made by foreign ministers.

He urged that Khrushchev agree to have foreign ministers open the Geneva talks. Kennedy made the same appeal.

This was the third message in one week exchanged between Moscow and the Western capitals on how to start the Geneva meeting one month from today.

Last Wednesday, Macmillan and Kennedy sent Khrushchev a message asking that foreign ministers of the 18 nations taking part at Geneva open the first round of negotiations. They also suggested that the ministers should meet in advance of the big conference opening.

On Sunday, Khrushchev replied that the conference should be opened at the summit.

In his reply today Kennedy said to Khrushchev "I do not believe advance of the heads of government at the outset of an 18-nation conference is the best way to move forward."

Kennedy told Khrushchev he does not question the usefulness "or perhaps even the necessity of a meeting of heads of government."

"Indeed, I am quite ready to participate personally at any stage of the conference when it appears that such participation could positively affect the chances of success," Kennedy said.

Kennedy referred to the 18-nation disarmament conference scheduled to open in Geneva on March 14.

Clearer Skies, Colder Tonight; Rain Tomorrow
Area residents can look forward to clearing skies with diminishing winds tonight, but it'll be colder with the low reaching 22.

Wednesday we'll have increasing cloudiness and warmer temperatures with rain likely by the afternoon. The weatherman predicts a high of 38.

For the next five days temperatures will average about six degrees above the normal high of 34 and the normal low of 18. Temperatures will be generally mild through Saturday, turning colder late Sunday and Monday.

The low temperature preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 27. By 1 p.m. the mercury reading was 31.

Shows Replica of Memorial

Says Congress Must Keep Power

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Congress must never abdicate its constitutional given powers to legislate to the President, U.S. Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr., R-Grand Rapids, urged last night in a laudatory criticism of the Kennedy administration.

Some 500 persons at the Pontiac 1200 Temple also paid special tribute to attorney George A. Dondoro, Lincoln scholar and for 24 years the county's representative in Congress.

The club presented 78-year-old Dondoro, of Royal Oak, with a priceless 1830 document signed by Lincoln and a replica of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington.

Courthouse Site Has No Takers

Bidding on Downtown Location Ends Without Offer Being Received

No bids were received for the purchase of the downtown Pontiac site of the old Oakland County Courthouse by a 10 a.m. deadline today.

Bidding was closed today at a joint meeting of the ways and means committee and the building and grounds committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

However, Pontiac City Manager Robert A. Stierer indicated after the deadline that the city still is interested in buying the property, if only to "rid Pontiac of its pigeon roost."

Stierer said the city would prefer that the existing county buildings on the site be razed before any transaction takes place.

Steel Talks Pleasant at Opening

PITTSBURGH (AP)—An unprecedented air of harmony hung over opening steel labor contract negotiations today with both the industry and union bent on achieving the quick settlement asked by the county circuit court and prosecutor's office.

The joint committees agreed to recommend to the Board of Supervisors that bids be taken to demolish the vacant buildings, which formerly served as headquarters for the county circuit court and prosecutor's office.

The city has no specific plans for the property at this time, according to Stierer, but he said city commissioners are anxious to level the site because the property at the center of Pontiac's business district lacks "eye appeal."

Prior to advertising for bids Jan. 4, the city had offered to pay approximately $200,000 for the property.

The city's offer is half what the property had been appraised at, according to county officials.

March Primary to Pick Names in Districts 1, 2, 4

Commissioner Landry Only One Unopposed; Election April 16

There will be primary elections for Pontiac City Commission candidates March 5 in three of the city's seven districts.

Three or more candidates have filed nominating petitions in Districts 1, 2 and 4, necessitating a runoff to select the two candidates who will run for commission seats in the April 16 general election.

By the 5 p.m. deadline for filing Tuesday, a total of 17 petitions had been submitted to City Clerk Olga Barkley.

The only incumbent who won't be opposed is District 7 Commissioner Robert A. Landry. The only commissioner not to file for reelection was Mayor Philip E. Rowston in District 2.

That district, however, has the most candidates. Four persons will run for the District 2 nomination in the primary election.

The District 2 candidates are H. Malcolm Kahn, 44, of 305 Pioneer Drive, a local attorney; Curtis E. Patten, 50, of 24 S. Tilden St.; Pontiac insurance agent; Robert T. Flynn, 42, of 138 Ogden Road, also an insurance man; and Charles H. Harmon, 61, of 238 W. Inwood Road, a tax consultant and municipal adviser.

Both Kahn and Flynn ran against Rowston in previous elections but lost, Kahn in 1956 and Flynn in 1960.

In District 4, the need for a primary was established late Tuesday as Howard A. Stiles, 38, of 1368 Saint Ave., filed.

Stiles and Floyd P. Miles, 53, of 180 W. Columbus Ave., will vie for election with incumbent Commissioner Winford E. Bottom.

Kennedy Ducks Fried Egg, First Indonesia 'Incident'

JAKARTA, Indonesia (U)—Robert F. Kennedy talked some more with President Sukarno about Dutch-held West New Guinea today after ducking a fried egg in the first incident of trouble on his visit to Indonesia.

After his talk with Sukarno, the U.S. attorney general and his wife started on a three-day tour of Indonesia hinterlands, including the fabled island of Bali, in a Soviet-built Ilyushin transport plane.

Kennedy was egged as he studented the stage to address a student assembly at the University of Indonesia. The cold fried egg sailed out of the crowd. He ducked and the missile plopped behind him.

Three students grabbed the youthful thrower and hustled him out to police. Later a spokesman said the youth was not a student and had left. He displayed a badge of the Indonesian Air Force.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A heavy overnight drizzle forced the still boiling Atlantic today forced the United States to postpone for the eighth time its attempt to rocket astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. around the world. The shot was put off until 7:30 a.m. (EST) Thursday at the earliest.

Weather specialists for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the outlook for Thursday's weather was marginal at best.

As soon as the cancellation was determined upon, O. B. Lloyd, NASA public information director, advised the White House of the delay by telephone.

Glenn was awakened at 2:15 a.m. by his doctor, William K. Douglas, and advised of the postponement. He had gone to bed in his special quarters four miles from the launch pad at 7 p.m. He was scheduled to arise at 2 a.m. for today's 7:30 a.m. launch.

Col. John H. Powers, another NASA spokesman, said Glenn accepted the nerve-fraying news calmly and ate what was to have been his pre-launch breakfast.

Powers quoted Glenn as saying: "Well, we knew the weather was forecast to be marginal. All we can do now is watch the weather. Everything else, including me, is going to be back to bed and get some rest."

Powers said he talked to Glenn by telephone. Asked how Glenn sounded, Powers retorted: "He sounded like John Glenn."

The decision to postpone the flight was made by Walter C. Williams, Project Mercury operations director, after a two-hour swatting-off conference which began at midnight.

CORN MEAL MUSH — This long-time favorite deserves a place on your breakfast table. Cook corn meal mush the day before. Chill it in a loaf pan before slicing. Top each slice with honey and brown in hot fat. You'll find it a pleasant way to start your day.

Fried Corn Meal Mush Topped With Honey

If you are one of the many home-makers who has said to herself, "I should make a really good tasting and 'good for my family' breakfast one of these days," this story is for you. Your answer is Sautéed Corn Meal Mush perfectly accented with just the right amount of honey.

The key to success is that each slice of mush is topped with one tablespoon of honey while it is frying. The honey merges with the corn meal making a delightful flavor experience. Serve the Corn Meal Mush very hot with extra honey or spiced honey sauce, sizzling bacon and a glass of fruit juice.

These two golden products, honey and corn meal, are such a hearty and wholesome combination that you may be assured everyone will leave the breakfast table with the "good start" you planned to give them.

Enriched Corn Meal Mush.
5 cups boiling water
1½ teaspoons salt
1 cup corn meal
1 cup cold water

Put boiling water and salt in the upper part of a large double boiler. Gradually stir in one cup of corn meal that has been mixed with one cup of cold water. Cook over direct heat 10 to 15 minutes, stirring constantly. Then place over boiling water and continue cooking at least an hour. Stir once in a while. Pour the cooked mixture into a greased loaf pan. When cold, cut into ½-inch slices. Top each slice with one tablespoon honey. Sauté in a little bacon fat until golden brown on each side.

Spiced Honey Sauce
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup honey
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Heat butter or margarine, honey and cinnamon in a double boiler or in a saucepan over low heat. Serve warm. Yield: About 1½ cups.

'I wasn't in Dick Saunders' Diet
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The pomegranate, a once-popular but now rare fruit, may be about to stage a comeback as the perfect fruit for fallout shelters.

This pear-shaped Asian fruit brought to America by colonists must be picked apart, piece by tedious piece, to be eaten. It takes a long time to polish one off, and that may have been the cause of its decline in popular esteem.

But now the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, albeit tongue in cheek, is recommending pomegranates for fallout shelters—the bush to screen the entrance, and the fruit for nourishment and make-work.

Wonderful for tea: thinly sliced date-and-nut bread spread with cream cheese that has been mixed with grated orange rind.

Potatoes Are Plentiful, Make Good Eating

Potato and Onion Pie
1½ pounds small white onions
¼ pound (4 medium) carrots
¾-inch boiling water in saucepan
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1½ teaspoons ground black pepper
1½ cups milk
¼ cup carrot and onion stock
¼ cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese

3 cups fluffy mashed potatoes
Peel onions, leave whole. Peel carrots, quarter and cut into 2-inch pieces. Put both onions and carrots in a saucepan with the ¾-inch boiling water and salt. Cover. Boil 10 minutes, or until almost tender. Drain vegetables (save water to use in the cream sauce) and put into a 9x5x3-inch baking pan.

Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Blend in flour. Stir in milk and the carrot and onion stock. Cook until slightly thickened. Add cheese. Pour sauce over the vegetables. Top with fluffy mashed potatoes. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes or until potatoes are brown. Makes 6 servings.

Potato and Cabbage Casserole
6 medium (2 pounds) potatoes
2-inch boiling water in pan
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup finely chopped onion
3 cups cooked shredded cabbage

Pare and cook potatoes until tender in 1-inch boiling water and 1 teaspoon of the salt. Drain if necessary. Mash until smooth. Add the remaining salt, black pepper and 2 tablespoons of the butter or margarine. Mix well. Add onion and cabbage. Turn into a buttered 3-quart casserole. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 15 minutes.

Remove from oven. Dot with butter or margarine. Return to oven and bake 5 or 10 minutes longer or until potatoes have lightly browned. Serve very hot.

College Teachers Leaving

Classes Get Bigger and Bigger

(Editor's Note—This is the second of a three-part series in which Stuart Gross, education writer of the Saginaw News, points out problems which confront Michigan colleges and their ever-increasing number of students.)

By STUART GROSS

Michigan college presidents for the last several years have complained that cutbacks by the legislature in requested operational budgets has hurt them in maintaining facilities and attracting replacements.

Fewer men are teaching more students at both the University of Michigan and Central Michigan University, these schools report. Dr. Judson W. Frost, CMU president, said the student-teacher ratio at his school now is 24 to 1, and he doesn't think it can go much higher.

Those critics who say that the teacher-pupil ratio can be doubled in colleges, he complains, are talking about those with 16 students to one teacher ratio. They aren't talking about CMU, he says.

Dr. Harlan Hatcher, U of M president, said in 1957-1958, that 1,783 teachers taught 23,174 students at the university. This year, 1,789 teachers are instructing 26,475 students.

Deny Reports of Job Losses

Senators Claim Army Isn't Moving Positions From Detroit Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan senators say reports the Army will shift hundreds of jobs away from its Detroit Tank-Automotive Command are erroneous.

Democratic Sens. Pat McNamara and Philip A. Hart Tuesday quoted "highest authorities of the Defense Department" as saying no physical move and no redeployment operation is contemplated.

Hart and McNamara thus countered reports that 2,000 jobs will be lost when titles and command responsibilities are transferred to the federal arsenal at Rock Island, Ill., under a proposed Army reorganization plan now in Congress.

Gov. John B. Swanson, meanwhile, called a special news conference at Lansing, Mich., to deny the report.

"The story was absolutely false," said the Michigan Democratic governor.

"We had heard a rumble about this situation and I checked it out personally with Larry O'Brien (an aide to President Kennedy)."

Swanson said he learned unequivocally that the Department of Defense is not planning any movement of the Detroit facilities.

All Skis Not Alike, a Thief Will Find Out

A ski thief in the area will learn that all skis are not alike. When Earl Hill of Detroit finished practicing on the Kander jump Saturday in preparation for Sunday's tournament, he stopped at a restaurant on Elizabeth Lake road near M-58. When he returned to his car he found his jumping skis were stolen.

Sunday, he shared Chit Beach's ski and won the senior's division in the meet with a record jump of 121 feet.

"Whoever took Earl's ski, certainly won't be able to use them or sell them," said Kanderh publicist director Bill McIntosh.

"They cannot be used for downhill skiing and Earl had them specially made for himself. There isn't another pair like them in Michigan and anyone who recognizes them if an attempt is made to sell them," he added.

"I certainly wish that whoever took the ski would return them rather than destroy them. There would be no questions asked," said McIntosh.
