Levin Is Selected Most-Promising Dem Freshman

LANSING (AP) — Freshman Sen. Sander Levin, D-Berkley, emerged as a standout Saturday in a poll of Capitol Hill correspondents who rated legislators for their virtually completed 1965 work.

Levin, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee and leading proponent of a host of labor legislation this year, was an overwhelming pick as most promising Democratic freshman senator and ran second as his party's most effective senator. He was named in one category or the other on 75 percent of the ballots cast on Senate rankings.

Despite there being 148 legislators for whom votes could be cast, there were standout leaders in every category. Every winner in the Senate picked up 50 per cent or more of the votes.

The four were found huddled together in a passageway three-quarters of a mile from where the fire broke out late Saturday night.

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — A 22-year-old college graduate, David J. Miller of Syracuse, N.Y., today became the first person formally charged with destroying a draft card in violation of a new federal law.

Miller was arrested by FBI agents today in Hooksett.

He entered no plea when arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Earl Bishop of New York City.

Miller was ordered held at the Hillsboro County Jail in Manchester in lieu of $500 bail for a preliminary removal hearing Friday before Judge.

He is wanted on a warrant issued yesterday by U.S. Commissioner Earl Bishop of New York City.

JACKSON (AP) — A civilian doctor and three prison officials were taken hostage today by at least four inmates in the hospital section of Southern Michigan State Prison.

Louis Uless, prison administrative assistant, said the hostages were seized shortly before noon today. The hospital is located on the fourth floor of a main building within the walls of the prison. Two of the inmates were believed to have taken narcotics from a hospital storage closet before grabbing the hostages.

Uless identified the hostages as Dr. W. R. Litchaw, Guard Inspector Joseph J. Dembokey, Custodial Officer George Hutchins, and a second guard.

'Knifelike' Weapon Is Found

A "knifelike" weapon found yesterday by State Police detectives underwent examination today to determine whether it was used in the fatal stabbing of an 80-year-old Farmington Township widow. Detectives Lucien Conard

The victim was lying under a blanket, and two pillows on a studio couch where she normally slept.

Lt. Dan Myre of the Redford post of the State Police said Mrs. Van Wicklin was apparently killed some time early Saturday.

An autopsy performed at Pontiac General Hospital officially established the cause of death as stabbing.

Investigators said no motive had been established in the slaying and the house did not appear to be ransacked.

The stabbing was apparently done by an intruder who forced the victim under a blanket, and two pillows on a studio couch where she normally slept.

Earlier yesterday morning Taylor and Detective Lucien Conard had combed the front yard of the home with mine detecting equipment.

Neighbors said they had last seen the victim Thursday.

She was described as active and in good health, having worked until about two years ago.

Residents of the neighborhood between Eight Mile Road and Grand River Avenue — about 100 yards inside the Oakland County line — spent an anxious weekend, according to a neighbor of the victim.

"Porch lights were on last Saturday night," said Mrs. Oscar F. Edds of 20845 Pearl. "I don't know if anybody got much sleep."

"Mrs. Van Wicklin was extremely active up until recently," Mrs. Edds said.

"In fact, she used to walk to work nearly a half mile away." Neighbors first became alarmed when the porch light of the victim's home remained on all day Saturday.

Normally the light was not on during the day, according to Mrs. Edds.

Plan Offered for New NATO

French Group Has Reorganization Ideas

PARIS (AP) — A foreign affairs study group subsidized by the French government has drawn up a plan for reorganization of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), calling for reduction of the alliance in importance and creation of a new European defense grouping.

The principal points of the plan are:

- A global system, resting on the general solidarity of nations making up what is called the Atlantic community. This system would naturally exclude all integration of forces of headquarters, but it could certainly include permanent coordination of allied strategies, as all strategies referred to as discussion.

- A local, or European system, which would unify in a much tighter way and within the framework of the foregoing system the European nations bound by geographic proximity and by a genuine community of destiny.

The new European grouping would include West Germany, but the Germans would not have a say in the use of atomic weapons, at least until a "European government" was constituted.

Until then, France would guarantee to use its atomic force to defend West Germany. France, in addition, would "use all peaceful means in its power" to bring about reunification of Germany within its present frontiers.

The unsigned article describing the new plan appears in the current edition of a magazine published by the "Centre d'Etudes de Politique Etrangere" (Foreign Affairs Study Center).

The center, which has existed for 30 years, includes a number of foreign affairs specialists, some of them government employees.

The center publishes its magazine every two months and comments on major international questions.

Jacques Vernant, secretary general of the center, said the article about NATO reform plans was not presented as official government policy and that it does not pretend to have the approval of President Charles de Gaulle.

The article concluded by saying that the positions presented "could be those of France" adding that the choice will have to be made by the government.

Ike: Peking Got the Hint on N-Use

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says the United States hinted to Communist China toward the end of the Korean War that it would use nuclear weapons if necessary.

China got the hint and an armistice was reached, Eisenhower said in an interview recorded last week and broadcast Sunday on ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers."

In a discussion of events leading up to the end of the Korean War in 1953, his first year as president, Eisenhower was asked: "Wasn't there a little private hint that we might use nuclear weapons?"

The former president replied: "Well, we said this: We would no longer be bound geographically by the just geographical — the territory. We would go anywhere where this support and fighting power was coming from, which meant the nearby bases of China."

"And we also said we would not be bound by any understood prohibitions of the use of necessary weapons. We didn't say we would use nuclear. We just said we would use whatever weapons would be needed and I think they got the hint all right."

Morrissey Past Dims Hopes in Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The proved the controversial nomination of Francis X. Morrissey to the Senate to 3, planned to take his activities more than 30 years ago cast a long shadow today over changes for quick Senate confirmation of his appointment to the federal bench.

There was speculation on Capitol Hill that the nomination of the Boston Municipal Court judge, a long-time Kennedy family friend and aide, might be withdrawn or action on it by the Senate delayed in the face of mounting criticism, both in and out of Congress.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., said he had received no word or indication to that effect.

He still planned to bring the nomination up for Senate action tomorrow. A floor fight appeared certain.

But there were reports that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Morrissey's chief sponsor and a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee which appeared last week, Morrissey claimed he attended.

The Boston Sunday Globe, in a copyright story, said it had been told that files of the Boston College Law School showed Morrissey was never a student there.

tended "evening law school at Georgia in June 1933 to attend Boston College" in 1932 and 1933.

But the Globe said college records showed Morrissey attended only an extension night school which, during the period in question, offered only courses in logic, ethics and psychology.

It was the question of his residence in 1932 and 1934 which prompted the first Senate questions about Morrissey.

There were increasing demands for more evidence on his claim that he lived in Georgia from June 1933, March 1934, in light of disclosures that he ran for Massachusetts Legislature in 1934.

Massachusetts law requires one year of residence for any candidates for the state House of Representatives.

Board of Education in Holly Working With Teacher Group

HOLLY — The board of education, which held its first salary negotiating session with the Holly Education Association Thursday, will not meet with the teachers' group tonight as scheduled.

The HEA salary committee was to appear at the board's meeting tonight, but the appointment was preempted by last week's meeting with a three-man negotiating team representing the board.

Any changes in the 1965-66 contracts with teachers would have to be approved by the membership of both the board and the association to become effective.

The committees are working on proposals to make to the groups.

"It will take at least one more meeting, probably two, before they'll have anything to recommend," Schools Supt. Russell D. Haddon said.

CONGENIAL TALK

He noted that "the atmosphere was most congenial" at the Thursday meeting, characterized by "mutual trust and understanding."

Negotiators, he said, discussed two of the five proposals made by the salary committee.

They talked about the teachers' request for duty-free lunch hours and their proposal that the board support a health and accident insurance plan for teachers.

The group also is seeking a $300 across-the-board raise, terminal pay for retirees and placing of all teachers back on the salary schedule.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

It Seems to Me . . .

Some Individual Hardships Accompany Advancements

Progress is painful.

Someone usually gets hurt.

The current relocation of the ALLEN scrap yard is just one of many such incidents that have happened locally within the past few years. Yet, how can necessary improvements be made without wreaking inconvenience and actually hardship on someone? Always the unfortunate parties cry out in protest. It certainly is understandable. Yet what else is there to do but go ahead?

Fairly recently a new airport was proposed for the Pontiac area. Competent officials surveyed the countryside and finally found the largest tract of land in Oakland County with the fewest inhabitants. This seemed reasonable. Other possible sites of the same dimensions would have damaged an infinitely larger number of people.

The decision was announced. Whereupon the heavens fell in. It seemed as though every resident in that area including tractors miles away rose and protested in anguish. It was "un-American." It was "high handed and arbitrary." It was "grossly unfair." It was "autocratic and against democratic processes." It was — but why continue?

And, without question, practically everyone that joined the chorus was speaking truthfully of a personal injury. The area was gaining. But these individuals stood to lose.

Shortly thereafter, it was suggested this plan be abandoned and the Pontiac airport be enlarged sufficiently to make it the major airport that the survey dictated. Once again the walls went up. This was "unfair." This was—but you can reread the previous paragraph and let your imagination add the other indignities.

Everyone of the Nation's big, important and necessary throughways have brought devastation to many people. How can it possibly be otherwise? The injured always insist: "Do it to someone else."

But that's hardly an adequate, sufficient or logical demand. These public improvements are imperative. We can't stop necessary progress and advancement for millions to satisfy and appease a few hundred — or even a few thousand.

Had we adopted this attitude originally, America would still be in the hands of the Indians and we'd all "go to town" down-river in a canoe. Someone has been hurt by every road, every railroad, every cloverleaf, every airport, every industrial expansion and every great project the Nation has built. It can't be otherwise.

By and large, this newspaper stands staunchly with State, Federal, City and County officials. Far beyond any time in the past, this is a day of progress, forward movements and betterments for mankind as a whole. The individual can't block advancement.

And there's more to come — everywhere. Don't forget: "This Changing World."

Added Revenue . . .

Some time this fall, the City of Fort Worth will ask voters to approve seven bond issues that total just over $87 million.

These include designations for:

Street improvements
Sanitary sewers
City Office Building
Parks and Recreation
New fire protection
Airport enlargement
Water-sewer revenue bonds

This shows the gigantic strides municipalities are taking over all the Nation. We aren't the only area that is experiencing great progress and steady advancement.

The next time an harassed City Commission asks you for added revenue to meet new problems that have been presented by incoming residents and just the normal wear and tear and the ravages of time, think of Fort Worth.

Wanted Most . . .

Here's a good tip. American servicemen around the world were queried by the Red Cross as to what type of Christmas presents they prefer.

The answer is interesting. It's "homey" things.

"Things that represent the family, the old school, the old home town and homemade candy and cookies" ran first by miles and miles. That's what they want. So-o-o-o-o-o, make a mental note and be ye hereby guided.

If the military man is some distance away, mail your packages this month or in early November. That's what the American Red Cross says after conducting an investigation.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

The wife of a Supreme Court Justice is a confirmed cigar smoker. Overheard: "If Mother Nature is so kind, how come she doesn't have the leaves fall upward?" A Philadelphian has invented a lock that works when the owner—and the owner only — speaks a certain phrase. . . . And have you heard front door locks are now available with four-figure combinations that do away with keys. . . . Overheard: "Too many reckless drivers wind up as men of extinction."

Trusted scouts advise me Linda Presson deserves mention as one of the area's attractive young ladies. . . . In 1945 there were 20 accredited lady veterinarians. Today there are 300 and the number is increasing rapidly. . . . Doctors spend $25 million a year for political lobbies and kindred activities. The National Educational Association totals $10 million. The AFL-CIO just under $10 million. The lawyers total a paltry $3 million and I think the newspapers disgorge 85 cents. . . . Printer's Ink says too many leading men in movies and TV are effeminate, including TV commercials.

Here are some challenging statistics. The ten tallest mountain peaks in the U.S. are within 204 feet of the same height. The second, third, fourth and fifth placers are only 21 feet apart. Mt. Whitney leads with 14,495 and Crestone is tenth with 14,291. . . . School vandalism in New York is way down so far this fall. Last year it cost the board $1,265,000 and it declared war on pupils and parents who will be sued in court henceforth. . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—Pontiac Central's football team; the J's—the people that annoyed the President in the hospital.

Where Did You Come From, Baby Dear---

David Lawrence Says:

Barry Prophetic on Extremism

WASHINGTON—What is "extremism," and who is an "extremist?"

The big debate on this question is absorbing the attention of Republican and Democratic chiefs as they accuse each other of harboring "extremists" within their respective parties.

The furor started with a rare piece of intellectual honesty inserted by LAWRENCE Barry Goldwater in his speech of acceptance at the 1964 Republican National Convention when he said:

"I would remind you that extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. And let me remind you, also, that moderation in pursuit of justice is no virtue."

Immediately other Republican leaders who didn't like the fact that he had defeated them in the convention accused their own nominee of upholding everything from the John Birch Society to the Ku Klux Klan.

Since the Democratic strategists were avid readers of the news dispatches from the convention, they promptly discovered that a big brush with plenty of paint on it had generously been made available to them. They used it prodigiously throughout the campaign.

STRANGELY PROPHETIC

But now, more than a year later, it turns out that Barry Goldwater's syllogism was strangely prophetic and that, instead of being merely descriptive of "extremism" on the "conservative" side of the fence, it is even more applicable to certain celebrities and organizations on the "liberal" side.

Thus, when Dr. Martin Luther King cried out that it isn't necessary to obey a "morally unjust" law, his pronouncement was virtually glorified as Christian heroism by many ministers as they participated in "sit-ins" and "lie-ins."

They declared, in effect, that the same height. The second, third, fourth and fifth placers are only 21 feet apart. Mt. Whitney leads with 14,495 and Crestone is tenth with 14,291. . . . School vandalism in New York is way down so far this fall. Last year it cost the board $1,265,000 and it declared war on pupils and parents who will be sued in court henceforth. . . . Smokers puzzle nonsmokers with their reasons for smoking. Dr. G. M. Hochbaum of the Public Health Service has summed up some of the reasons:

"Smokers have claimed variously that cigarettes help them to relax, to concentrate, to sleep, to stay awake, to get over difficult situations, to feel self-they would rather fight than switch to the "reactionary" doctrines of obedience to law.

All the definitions of "extremism" offered thus far in the political debate, moreover, ignore the simple fact that political parties are not disciplined bodies which can decide on who is or is not to be admitted as a voter.

Also, no party is monolithic. Each consists of factions and "splinters."

But all this comes under the heading of free speech, and it was Voltaire who is credited with saying: "I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

So, without subscribing to anything the "John Birchers" or the "Americans for Democratic Action" may say about moral or political treason, it does seem that the major party chiefs could spend their time more usefully by conducting informative "teach-ins" about the true meaning of national and international policies than by worrying about small groups of exhibitionists who seem to enjoy calling other people by harsh names and impugn their patriotism as well as their integrity.

Increase in Cigarette Use Shows Warnings Ignored

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tobacco smokers don't change much over the centuries. They'd rather smoke than quit.

Back in 1604, King James I of England wrote a famous "Counterblast to Tobacco." He urged his people:

"O citizens, if you have any sense of shame, or dread of infamy, left in your bosoms, lay aside the use of tobacco, a custom attended with ignominy, received through error and established by stupidity."

Three hundred and sixty years later, in January 1964, the United States government, through its Public Health Service, declared as firmly as King James, if not as flamboyantly:

"Cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant appropriate remedial action."

The findings were publicized far and wide.

And what happened?

SLIGHT DROP

Cigarette smoking dropped off a little, for a while. The drop in 1964 was 2.5 per cent.

But this year, the Agriculture Department has reported, Americans are smoking nearly 5 per cent more cigarettes than last year.

In 1966, it said, chances are good for a new record.

A team of researchers writing in this month's Journal of the American Medical Association reported that no single method has proved outstandingly effective in breaking the smoking habit.

FREQUENT REPETITION

The cigarette habit is ingrained by frequent repetition over most of an individual's adult life and is as difficult to break as other habits," the Journal article said.

Smokers puzzle nonsmokers with their reasons for smoking. Dr. G. M. Hochbaum of the Public Health Service has summed up some of the reasons:

"Smokers have claimed variously that cigarettes help them to relax, to concentrate, to sleep, to stay awake, to get over difficult situations, to feel self-assured, or to accomplish a variety of other things."

A new law will require, starting next Jan. 1, that each cigarette package must carry this warning:

"Caution. Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

Whether this will slow or reverse the upward spiral in cigarette smoking must — on past evidence — be considered highly problematical.

Two Maps

Chicago Tribune

It did seem a little unkind of Yale University to pick the eve of Columbus Day to announce its acquisition of a map which Yale says confirms that Leif Erikson discovered America.

Americans of Italian ancestry are not disposed to agree. But Erikson's claim had been pretty well authenticated already by early Viking maps.

The map is important not because it proves anything new — the monk who is presumed to have drawn it in about 1440 may have inserted "Vinland" merely from descriptions in the existing manuscripts — but simply because it is the only known pre-Columbian map showing the new world.

In 1947 another Swiss mapmaker drew another map showing the discoveries of another explorer, Amerigo Vespucci. He identified the new land by the Latinized name of the explorer, America. His map was widely copied, and if the "America" map had been the world as America long before many of them had even heard of Christopher Columbus, let alone Leif Erikson.

Just think how differently things would have turned out if the two maps had exchanged careers — if the "Vinland" map had had a good press agent, and if the "America" map had been buried among some manuscripts about the Tartar empire, not to be discovered until 1967. We might now be living in North Vietnam.

It makes you wonder whether history is really made by men, by accidents, or by press agents.

Voice of the People:

'Progress Is Being Made in Care for the Retarded'

Although there is much yet to be done to improve the level of patient care for the mentally retarded at the Lapeer State Home and Training School, legislation did provide some progress this year. A great deal of interest and concern was shown by Representative Robert Slingerland of Lake Orion, who worked diligently and earnestly in all areas of retardation. It was through his efforts that the PKU test of newborns was introduced and passed.

Disagrees With Definition of Democracy

"GOP Needs John Birch Like Another Trunk" is typical of many who draw their conclusions because they are ignorant of many facts. Your interpretation that democracy is a dirty word does not correlate with great American patriots who down through history fought and died to preserve it.

Abraham Lincoln defined democracy as a "government of the people, by the people, for the people." Democracy is also a way of life. It refuses to allow the government to grant special favors because of a person's birth, wealth, race or religion. Democracy provides freedom of speech, freedom of press and freedom of religion, and permits citizens to peacefully oppose actions by their government.

'Our Police Force Needs Support of Citizens'

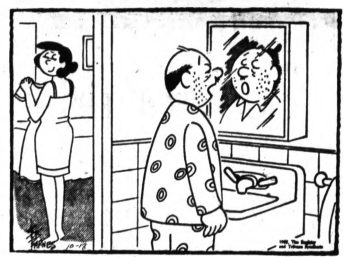

Milton O. Cross III, chairman Greater Detroit Committee, says to support your local police. The people of Pontiac, as well as Detroit, should react to the direct plea for help from the local police department to stamp out vicious crimes that are being committed against innocent, law-abiding citizens. These crimes will not cease until the bite of the law equals the viciousness of the crime.

Eliminate our present police review board and give our police force a chance to flex their muscles, if need be, to deter crime and eliminate the vicious criminal who knowingly causes emergency situations and serious complications which our police must evaluate almost instantly to protect a citizen's life or perhaps his own. Our police are mature, adult men who have been trained to cope with such matters. We must give them the benefit of the doubt, not the criminal.

There are certain groups that actually take pity on lawbreakers and believe society is responsible for their crimes. They seem to be more concerned with the criminal than they are the innocent victims. Let's put the power of the law in the lawman's hands and let God take pity on the lawbreaker.

Strong Demands

New York Daily News

Juan D. Bosch, in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, has renewed his belligerent attitude toward the local Reds will eventually let them take over the little island nation in one way or another.

It seems to us that the President would be well-advised to take several of those well-known hard new looks at the whole Dominican Republic setup and U.S. policies regarding it.

The Bosch demand is tops in impudence. Worse, Garcia-Godoy looks more and more like a weak sister whose tenderness toward the local Reds will eventually let them take over the little island nation in one way or another.

Bosch was allowed back into the Dominican Republic when the United States set up a temporary government headed by Hector Garcia-Godoy.

The Bosch demand is tops in impudence. Worse, Garcia-Godoy looks more and more like a weak sister whose tenderness toward the local Reds will eventually let them take over the little island nation in one way or another.

Now Mr. Goldwater finally has done something that his supporters urged him to do during his race for the White House.

He has urged members of the John Birch Society to sever their affiliation with Robert Welch's organization and devote their efforts to the Republican Party.

Goldwater refused to take this stand during the presidential campaign despite urging of his backers and other Republican leaders who denounced the Birch Society. When he refused to do so, many of his potential votes were lost to the Democratic candidate.

Perhaps it is better late than never.

Congress May End Session This Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—With fingers crossed, Congress begins in several pending bills, particularly what its leaders predict largely a measure to apportion the last week of the 1965 foreign and domestic sugar quota session.

Only a few major obstacles stand in the path of adjournment. Both the Senate and the House. But veteran legislators have passed bills to aid higher education and an aid to higher education. But the House version did not include establishment of a national teacher corps, and legislative tangles may have a way of developing at the last minute.

Now that Senate and House Leader Everett M. Dirksen said conferees have included the Sunday he thinks the Senate agrees in a compromise version of the bill, House Republicans have pledged a fight to knock the provision out when the compromise makes its final run through Congress.

The House takes up the bill Tuesday. Both Dirksen and Mansfield said Congress could adjourn this week if it quickly disposes of the pending major bills.

Suspense Mounts in Rhodesia Over Decision on Independence

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI)—Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith today let the suspense build over a decision on independence for this white-ruled British colony in black Africa.

Smith summoned reporters to a news conference, but no one anticipated an answer to the big question: Will Rhodesia secede from Britain and, if so, when?

The prime minister said last Friday that a final decision on a unilateral declaration of independence — UDI as it is known — will be made tomorrow at the regular weekly meeting of the Rhodesian Cabinet.

The Cabinet, which rules this colony of 218,000 whites and four million blacks, has been meeting almost continuously since Smith returned to Salisbury from London a week ago after a round of abortive independence talks with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

In an interview during the week end with the Rhodesia Mail, Smith said: "I do not believe that we will ever have such an advantageous climate (for UDI) as we have now."

Smith said Rhodesia has a moral right for seizing independence because, as he put it, "we have been misled by Britain."

Smith was asked if Rhodesia was prepared for the possibility of economic sanctions by Britain and other nations.

"This depends entirely on what steps are taken," Smith said. "We believe we are going to be able to cope with the things we see coming."

WARNS OF RIOTING

Wilson said last week that UDI could lead to widespread communal rioting in southern Africa, and he warned that many lives — both white and black — could be lost.

The secretary general of the Organization of African Unity, Diallo Telli of Guinea, said last night that African nations should take "concrete political, diplomatic, military and other measures" to meet the threat of Rhodesian independence.

When it isn't being used for sales and promotional purposes, the animal makes its home at the Stone Mountain game ranch.

More than half of the people in the nation have never been more than 200 miles from home, according to statistics compiled by travel industry sources.

Six of every seven square miles of Japan are covered by mountains, making the country one of the most scenic in the world.

Drinking water must contain less than 0.05 per cent salt and minerals to be drinkable, according to standards of the U. S. Public Health Service.

Alabama Official Blasts Klan

Congress Hearing to Begin Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama Attorney Gen. Richmond Flowers has blasted the Ku Klux Klan on the eve of Congressional hearings on "vicious, perverted" band of social failures.

In a report released here Saturday, Flowers described the secret hooded order as an organization based on "the worst instincts of mankind" — and one some Southerners still fail to take seriously.

"With few exceptions, the Klanman has no economic or social standing in his community, and most who appear at rallies are portraits of despair," the report said. "People laugh at them in their sheets and robes."

But, the report added, the violence the Klan has spawned in the 1960s "is no laughing matter."

Public Congressional hearings into the Klan get under way Tuesday. One of the first witnesses before the House Committee on Un-American Activities may be Robert Shelton, head of the United Klans of America, largest in the South.

Flowers said he had not been summoned to testify. His report, involving six months' investigation, estimates that Shelton's United Klans has more than 5,000 members in Georgia, Alabama, the Carolinas, Tennessee and Louisiana. Its Alabama membership is put at 1,500 to 2,000.

This conflicts with a figure of 50,000 given by committee investigators in sizing up the United Klans.

In an interview, Flowers described his report as an educational weapon aimed at shaking citizens from an apathetic attitude toward the Klan.

"We've got pictures of Negroes snickering behind Klanmen's backs at marches in North Carolina — which shows the real 'stature' of the KKK," Flowers said. "Nevertheless, this organization plots cold-blooded killings."

The report says dynamite has to a large extent replaced cross burnings and floggings as instruments of terror.

"In Birmingham, where much of our investigation has been focused, no less than 45 bombings and attempted bombings have occurred since 1951," the report says. "Out of this total number, 40 show signs of racial motivation and are believed to have been carried out by individuals or groups of individuals associated with the Klan."

Klan members have been implicated to some degree in 12 of 17 widely publicized racial murders in the South since the Sept. 15, 1963 church bombing in Birmingham which killed three Negro girls, the report says.

NO CONVICTIONS
"In none of the 12, however, has there been a felony conviction," it said.

The report drew a rebuttal Sunday night from Robert M. Creel, Alabama grand dragon of the United Klans.

"It's a lot of mouth, but no truth," Creel said at his home in Linden, Ala.

Creel, referring to a list of Klan officers included in Flowers' report, said: "The only thing he got right was my name. I can honestly tell you that all the officers he had named in there, he's about as far wrong as he can be. He came up with some officers we didn't even have."

Flowers said he had not been summoned to testify. His report, involving six months' investigation, estimates that Shelton's United Klans has more than 5,000 members in Georgia, Alabama, the Carolinas, Tennessee and Louisiana. Its Alabama membership is put at 1,500 to 2,000.

WANT TO RETURN—Two young members of a Cuban government-owned fishing boat found themselves unwillingly in New Orleans yesterday. Ricardo Espinosa (left) and Jorge Luis, 16, were on the boat when other crew members decided to head for the U.S. The youths said they were afraid for their families and want to return to Cuba.

Latest Cuba Exodus Has Barefoot Actress

By THEODORE A. EDIGER
KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Two sweethearts who said they wanted to get married in a religious ceremony — "something we couldn't do in Cuba" — and a barefoot actress were among 20 Cuban refugees who arrived here today.

Juan Cruet, 61, a Havana mechanic, said he and his bride-to-be, Rosalia Suarez, 35, wanted to be married by the Roman Catholic priest who married his sister three years ago in United States.

His sister is Mrs. Rual Rodriguez Guerra of United States. "We want a religious wedding and in Cuba you can't have that," Cruet told newsmen.

CAME BAREFOOT
Caridad Olivera, 24, a television actress, said she arrived barefoot because her baggage and shoes were lost in a Cuban customs office.

The latest batch of refugees arrived aboard the 24-foot cabin cruiser Nima. It was operated by four Cuban exiles who live in Key West.

One refugee, taxi driver Antonio Fernandez, 58, Havana, said rumors were circulating in Cuba that Prime Minister Fidel Castro wanted dollars and medicine from the United States in exchange for political prisoners.

Fernandez and other refugees said Cuba was lining up for several blocks in front of the Ministry of the Interior in Havana in an effort to get permission to leave. He said the would-be refugees stood in line day and night.

FEAR BOAT LOST
The shuttle from Camariaca, Cuba, to Key West has increased the U.S. Cuban colony by about 60 but an expected stream of boats appeared delayed. One refugee boat was feared sunk.

Two others made it Sunday, bringing a total of 44 refugees from Fidel Castro's island.

There was some feeling that delay in stepped-up crossings, for which the Coast Guard had prepared itself over the weekend, could mean that an agreement with Cuba over a systematic exodus plan sought by the United States might be near.

New arrivals claimed red tape in processing applicants at Camariaca, the port of exit, delayed departures.

PREFERS JAIL
The captain of a fishing boat that landed in New Orleans with six refugees aboard said he would rather stay in jail in the United States than be free in Cuba.

With Capt. Guillermo Quintero, 41, the captain of a 32-foot fishing boat, was his son, two other men and two boys, aged 18 and 17. The boys said they were best crewmen and had no plans to leave Cuba.

The boat became disabled and

Johnson Holds Staff Meetings

Stay in Hospital Now at the 10-Day Mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, reaching the 10-day mark in his hospital stay, got up early today and swung right into a round of staff conferences.

Johnson, who probably will return to the White House in a day or two, was up before 7 a.m. after a good sleep.

Assistant press secretary Joseph Latini, who reported this, said the President breakfasted on melon balls and tea, then began conferring with staff aides.

Johnson got dressed Sunday for the first time since his gallbladder-kidney stone operation Oct. 8.

ATTENDS SERVICE
He attended devotional services in his hospital quarters, as he had the Sunday before.

He skipped a follow-up session with Navy dentists because, said Asst. White House Press Secretary Joseph Latini, "he didn't want to bother the doctors on Sunday." Johnson got his teeth cleaned and a filling replaced Saturday and probably will have another filling worked on today, Latini said.

If the President follows what his doctors say is the average pattern after his discharge from the hospital, he faces at least another month's recuperation before he will feel in top shape. He may be heading home to Texas — or possibly to some other spot — before the week is out.

Latini said, though, he heard no discussion Sunday of when Johnson would check out of Bethesda Naval Hospital in the Maryland suburb.

NOT COMPLAINING
He said the President seemed to be in fairly good spirits, didn't complain of pain and was walking about a bit.

Latini said Johnson donned a blue linen sports jacket, dark blue slacks, a checked sports shirt, necktie and black shoes for his first time out of pajamas and robe.

Then he and his family and several White House staff members attended private church services in the reception room of his hospital suite.

The President sat on a sofa with Mrs. Johnson and daughter Luci. His pastor at the National City Christian Church, the Rev. George Davis, offered communion, and prayers for Johnson's continued recovery, Latini said.

Cambodia May Cut Ties With Russia

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodia, which severed diplomatic relations with the United States last spring, was considering today cutting its ties with the Soviet Union.

Cambodian Chief of State Prince Norodom Sihanouk returned yesterday from a three-week tour of Communist China and North Korea and claimed the Russians had insulted him.

Sihanouk said that while in North Korea, the Soviet ambassador handed him a note informing him the Russians would be "very busy" and unable to receive him as planned next month in Moscow.

The Cambodian leader, whose Southeast Asian kingdom has been leaning closer to Communist China, said the Soviets had snubbed him in a way that was "absolutely inexcusable and irreparable — a virtual provocation for a rupture between our two countries."

Sihanouk added that while Cambodia had long been at odds with the United States, American envoys never allowed themselves "to humiliate me in this manner — and so officially."

AN AFFRONT
In asking him to postpone his official visit to Moscow, Sihanouk declared, the Russians committed "an affront" to Cambodia's national honor and he was calling off his entire trip to Eastern Europe.

Sihanouk, whose country borders on both North and South Viet Nam, noted that Communist China had offered more aid to Cambodia, including weapons for his 20,000-man army.

He added the Red Chinese and North Koreans had shown "moving demonstrations of friendship" and that Cambodia-Russia relations now were "more solid than ever before."

Sihanouk declared that Communist China and France were the only "great powers" which have a "two strings" friendship with Cambodia.

The Russians, Sihanouk theorized, may have postponed his trip as "a manifestation of fascism" — the Russians are drawing nearer to the Americans, because, like them, they are white.

An estimated 4.8 million Americans are physically handicapped.

"We need to find out now what additional tools are needed in the fight for clean water," O'Brien said.

Five members from both the House of Representatives and the Senate are serving on the committee.

The House has appropriated $20,000 and the Senate a like sum to study the problem. An additional matching amount is available from the federal government.

"We intend to consult with and work with experts in the field of water resources," said O'Brien. "Last year, we enacted Senate Bill 69 which tightened up the water pollution act and gave us the best antipollution law in the U.S."

Sen. O'Brien Joins Group on Pollution

Sen. Carl W. O'Brien, D-Pontiac, has been named to a joint legislative committee to study water pollution throughout the state.

The House has appropriated $20,000 and the Senate a like sum to study the problem. An additional matching amount is available from the federal government.

"We intend to consult with and work with experts in the field of water resources," said O'Brien. "Last year, we enacted Senate Bill 69 which tightened up the water pollution act and gave us the best antipollution law in the U.S."

China Protests Indonesia Raid

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China charged today that Indonesian troops shot their way into the Chinese Embassy Saturday, looted part of the building and beat up a Chinese diplomat.

An official Chinese protest threatened "a serious consequence" if the Indonesian government did not apologize, punish the soldiers and take steps to stop a violent wave of anti-Chinese demonstrations. Peking said Indonesia was condoning the violence.

The note called the embassy attack a "brutal escalation against the Chinese rights" and "an extremely grave incident which impaired the friendly relations between China and Indonesia."

It was the first Peking report of protests in Indonesia against alleged Communist Chinese support for the Oct. 1 attempt to overthrow President Sukarno.

Dispatches from Jakarta during the weekend said the new Indonesian military command had issued a warning against any more anti-Communist rioting and destruction of Chinese property. A mob attacked a Chinese-run university in Jakarta Thursday and burned it to the ground.

HEAVY PRESSURE
Today's Communist Chinese harangue placed heavy pressure on Sukarno to persuade his military leaders to call off their crackdown on Communist elements blamed for the Oct. 1 power grab. Sukarno has close ties with Peking.

In reporting the embassy attack, the official Communist Chinese New China News Agency filed a dispatch from its Jakarta correspondent, mentioned in Tokyo.

The Chinese account said about 40 Indonesian soldiers invaded the embassy about 5 p.m.

SUKARNO SPEAKS—Indonesian President Sukarno in effect ordered the army to call off its anti-Communist campaign during an address Saturday at the inauguration ceremony of the chief of staff of the Indonesian army in Jakarta. Sukarno's words apparently tell on deaf ears as there was no sign the army would back down from its crackdown on Communists.

Attendance Record Set

GM Closes Exhibit at NY World's Fair

WORLD'S FAIR — The General Motors Futurama closed last night having attracted the largest attendance for an industrial exhibit at any world fair. Host to 29 million persons, the current Futurama surpassed the previous record of 24,230,000 set by GM's first Futurama exhibit at the 1939-40 New York World's Fair.

Since April 21, 1964, when the fair opened, the General Motors exhibit has attracted close to 60 per cent of the paid admissions and led all other pavilions in attendance.

During the 1964 season, the Futurama was visited by 15.7 million persons. This year that total is expected to exceed 13.3 million for a daily, two-year average of 80,000 visitors, or over 100 a minute during exhibit hours.

The most popular attraction of each General Motors exhibit has been a "ride into the future" in which visitors have previewed some of GM's advanced studies of transportation and its related aspects.

INCREASINGLY POPULAR

The "ride into the future" proved increasingly popular during 1965 with a greater percentage of fairgoers taking the ride this year than last.

During the fair's two seasons 23.5 million have taken the Futurama ride which has a global theme. This is two-and-one-half times as many persons as took the 1939-40 "Highways and Horizons" ride which centered on the United States.

"Attendance at Futurama indicates that our exhibit has helped to further acquaint the public with General Motors, to increase its knowledge of our worldwide operations and to display our products," GM Chairman Frederic G. Donner and President James M. Roche said.

"Beyond that, however, we are hopeful that the Futurama inspired constructive thinking about the future of mankind — especially among the younger visitors who saw the concepts of General Motors' experts setting forth how the future of man can be built on foundations of knowledge already available.

IN BROADER WAY

"We believe we have reason to be confident that in the Futurama we have achieved in a still broader way what we achieved in our 1939-40 Highways and Horizons exhibit, which subsequent developments proved to be a conservative estimate of the future of highway transportation."

The entire Futurama exhibit, including the pavilion and its contents, was conceived and developed by General Motors Central Office and divisional staffs.

A special group of designers worked for three-and-a-half years in developing and creating the building, the "ride into the future," the exhibit of the composite of the future which increase its knowledge of our ing research and development and the displays of automotive, household and other products.

The 15-minute ride has featured General Motors proposals designed to help meet the challenges of the future which promise benefits for all mankind.

LOOK INTO FUTURE

Futurama riders have seen man exploring the moon, creating an international scientific community in Antarctica, reaping the riches of the sea, developing the natural resources of the jungle, farming the deserts and building a brilliant new city.

The reality of many of the proposals is demonstrated along the "Avenue of Progress," an exhibit of the potential role of many innovations now under study in GM's research laboratories.

Following the close of the fair, the Futurama exhibit will be dismantled.

It's a Catty Situation

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "LOVES CATS" is so ridiculous that anyone who is THAT ignorant shouldn't be allowed to raise cats, let alone children.

Fifty years ago I heard that story about cats sucking the breath out of babies, but I didn't think it was still being circulated. Honestly, some people will believe anything! It is true, a cat will seek a place, so if a cat jumps a baby's carriage, or crib, and smuggles up close to the baby, it is only to keep warm.

Cats love children, and would never intentionally harm them, unless provoked.

I have been active in animal welfare work for many years, and although I have heard this old wives' tale many times, I have never known anyone who was actually a witness to such a thing. They always heard it from their grandmother's cousin's neighbor lady's housekeeper.

Sincerely,
"SKEPTICAL" IN BOSTON

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would have given that young woman signed "LOVES CATS" the peace of mind she sought, and told her to keep her lovely cats and not to worry about their harming her new baby.

I am the mother of six, ranging in ages from 6 months to 15 years old, and we have never been without cats. Not only one cat, but many. I have had cats before any of my children were born, and I intend to have them long after the children are grown and gone.

Our cats have slept with the babies and have been marvelous pets to them. Not once did any of our cats ever as much as scratch a child.

Our youngsters have learned cleanliness, kindness and responsibility from our cats. I do think you were wise to mention that all animals (like people) are unpredictable, so one should be careful not to expose a tiny infant to an animal larger than he is.

But our experiences with cats have all been good.

ANOTHER CAT LOVER:
SAN DIEGO, CAL.

DEAR ABBY: No one will ever tell me that the story of a cat's taking a baby's breath is an old wives' tale, because this is what happened to me:

We lived in a second-story apartment and a neighbor downstairs had a big 16-pound black cat. Our baby was about three months old at the time.

My husband and I were in the kitchen, and the baby was in her buggy in the living room. I thought I heard some rather strange noises coming from the living room, so my husband and I went in to take a look.

Well, it seems that cat got into our place somehow, and there he was with his mouth on the baby's, and his big black paws pawing away on her chest and throat. The baby was struggling to get her breath and her little face was beet red.

My husband grabbed the cat and I grabbed the baby. I am sure if we hadn't gotten there in time, our baby would have been dead. This is a true story and you may use my name.

400 Pen Wielders Meet at OU

By MADELEINE DOEREN
"Setting up 60 staff members for a one-day writer's conference is like setting up 60 teachers and 400 students all for one year," said Priscilla Jackson (Mrs. Walter) who opened the fourth annual seminar, Saturday, in Oakland University.

"There is no regionalism here at Oakland" continued the petite director of conferences. "Among some 400 registered, are literary giants, novice writers, those who publish at a steady clip and 'the wishful thinkers.'"

"Most of these come to absorb some of the 'warm ferment' which weaves a web of words. So, today, we literally 'swim in words'."

Mrs. Joseph E. Smith Jr. of Bloomfield Village, president of the Detroit Women Writers Club, cosponsors of the conference, welcomed the assembly.

Included were writers from Green Bay, Wis., Mishawaka and South Bend, Ind., Yellow Springs, Ohio, and some 35 cities throughout Michigan. Five came from Ontario.

Among area staff members were John Quirk, Orchard Lake;

Dr. Thomas Fitzsimmons and Gertrude White, English Department, Oakland University; Mary Augusta Rodgers (Schoen), Elizabeth Graham (Mrs. James) Andrina Gilmartin (Mrs. Henry); Sylvia Cooper (Mrs. John) Priscilla Jackson and Mrs. Thomas Fitzpatrick of Birmingham.

Others from Oakland County were Elinor K. Rose, Wanda MacKinnon, Margaret Hillier, Myrtle Labbitt, Peggy Cameron King and others.

Anybody Else Have Husband Like This?

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant
in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: Please help me before I lose my mind.

Tell me what you think a husband and wife should have to spend for food for a week.

I have been married for almost 40 years and I have never had any household money to depend on.

My husband has always gone with me to the market and paid for the groceries. Then when we got home, he complains, "We didn't need that."

He likes good food on the table, though.

Unappreciated Housewife, Massillon, Ohio

Dear U. H.: You're a patient girl. But since you've been putting up with this situation for 40 years, carry on. You don't say what you're spending now, but the experts at the Department of Agriculture say a husband and wife can eat moderately well on $16.50 a week.

If he's a choosy guy, as you say, then be liberal and spend $18.70 a week. You could even spend up to $19 or $20 and still feel perfectly justified.

Why don't you have a bad cold some shopping day, and let him buy the week's groceries on his own? He may come home a poorer and a wiser man.

Dear Miss Feeley: I understand that banks insure accounts up to $10,000.

But if you have three separate books in your name in trust for each of your three children—one book for $3,000, the other two for $5,000 each—it makes over $10,000.

Is each account insured for $10,000?

Mrs. L. W. Jamieson, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. W.: In your case each account is insured for the amount in it.

Since the beneficiaries of the accounts are different individuals, these funds are not added together in the covering insurance.

Each account is insured up to a maximum deposit of $10,000.

Dear Mary Feeley: As we are in our 50s, we are faced with facts—such as the need for thinking about making a will.

We have no children, and don't feel we want to leave everything we have to relatives.

We do, however, want to leave something for our church, institutions or needy places. We own a beautiful home and have quite a fair sum in the bank.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Ovatopna, Minn.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. J.: Write down on paper exactly how you would like your estate to be distributed. Just say in plain words what you would leave before you make any final decision.

At home on South Jessie Street are Mr. and Mrs. Jason Jerome Spires (11 and 12 June Howland) who were wed recently in the North Anderson Church of God, Anderson, Ind.

Dr. Donald Courtney performed the rite before a reception in the Old Memorial Student Center of Anderson College.

Parents of the couple are the Frank E. Howlands of Hastings, Neb. and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Spires of Royal Oak, formerly of Pontiac.

Marjorie L. Germany attended the bride and Jeffrey Spires was best man for his brother. Eugene Hargett and James Deering were ushers.

The newlyweds visited Niagara Falls and Canada on their honeymoon.

Rev. Edward A. Lowry of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Drayton Plains, performed the double-ring candlelight rite.

The John L. Hylands of Van Gordon Road, White Lake Township, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Giles of Leechburg, Pa. are parents of the couple.

COLONIAL GOWN

A French illusion veil complemented the bride's colonial gown and train of white Chantilly lace over taffeta.

She carried an heirloom handkerchief and her mother's bridal prayerbook topped with white orchids and Stephanotis.

Mrs. Paul Hinz was matron of honor. Carolyn and Linda Hyland attended their sister to bridesmaids along with Valerie VanVleet and Susan Staath of Windsor, Ont.

David Retter was best man. Douglas Freytag ushered with Roscoe Bricker, David Summerhill and Dennis Maki.

After a reception in the Middle Straits Community Center, the couple left for a trip to the Smoky Mountain area.

Homecoming Parade and Fun

U-M Scene of Festivities

By PAMELA GRIFFIN

Parades, pep rallies, Mud-bowl Game, tug of war, football, concerts — these were only a few of the exciting attractions University of Michigan students enjoyed this past weekend. It was Homecoming — Biggest weekend of the semester.

It began with a colorful parade, boasting 20 floats, several bands and guest "celebrities."

Many housing units, teamed their efforts to construct and decorate floats.

Chuck Hubbard, of Ottawa Drive, and Bill Hammond, Bloomfield Hills, helped their fraternity, Delta Sigma Phi, with its float, "The Numbers Game."

Michigan House of West Quad, residence of Paul Wine, Pine View Drive, teamed with Angell House of Alice Lloyd Hall, in building their float entitled, "Boil 'n' Alive in '65."

DANCE

Following a pep rally at Ferry Field, was a dance, featuring the Four Tops. Among the dancers were Ann Livingstone, Berkshire Road, and her date.

Family Feast Is Sponsored by WCTU

Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church was the setting for Anna Gordon Union, Women's Christian Temperance Union's annual family dinner recently.

Mrs. Joe E. Green, Royal Oak, reported on the recent national convention in Chicago: Mr. Green told of men's activities at the gathering.

Accorded solos were played by David Deaver. Others participating in the program were Mrs. Nellie Munro and Mrs. Eleah Patten.

Mrs. Erma Lloyd was general chairman, assisted by Mrs. Edna Matheny.

Guests were Mrs. Andrew S. Creswell who is moving to Holland, Mich., and Mrs. Myrtle Dore who will be leaving for Manistee.

Reception Honors Pair
A reception Saturday in the First Congregational Church parlor honored Mr. and Mrs. Gary Putman (Annie Wilson) who were married recently in Red Oak, Iowa.

Parents of the couple are Cleo Wilson, Red Oak, the late Mrs. Wilson and the Leon C. Putman of Chandler Street. The newlyweds will reside in Pontiac.

Several Pontiac Chi Psi: Tom Smith, Argyle Avenue; Mike White, Pioneer Road; and Tom Jackson, James K Blvd., spent many hours outside completing their display.

Alpha Sigma Phi's entry also showed work and originality. Mike Jenkins, Wrentham Drive, and Roger Blain, Terrell Drive were two of the many Alpha Sigs helping.

Saturday morning bustled with traditional "fun" activities which students anticipated on Homecoming weekend.

TUG OF WAR
Each year men of Taylor House challenge Gomburg House to a tug of war across the Huron River in Island Park. Every man from both houses turned out for the battle; and Andrew Kives, Rivona Street, Bob Dugan, Nelson Street (both of Taylor House), Dave Carney, Mohawk Road, and Don Crawford, Mark Avenue (both of Gomburg House), were no exceptions.

During halftime, girls from Collegiate Sorosis and Kappa Alpha Theta entertained by playing their annual soccer game.

Saturday evening, a concert by Peter Nero and the Righteous Brothers was enthusiastically received in Hill Auditorium.

Among those attending the concert with their dates were Ann Hubbard, Ottawa Drive, and Hugh Grove, James K Blvd.

Word Power to Success - 7

Forming Plurals Is Simple—Or Is It?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh in a 30-part series entitled "The Word Power to Success." The series is designed to help bring improvement in spelling, grammar and vocabulary.)

By The Reading Laboratory, Inc. Written for NEA Special Services

Forming plural nouns is a very simple matter, the man says. All you have to do is add one s to the singular. Take the singular noun, shoe; simply add s and you have the plural, shoes. And boy becomes boys, girl becomes girls and date becomes dates.

With full confidence in what the man tells you, you decide not to order one box of something or other, but more than one box. So you send your order in for two boxes.

You'll get two of them but the man who fills your order will wonder about your spelling.

And if you later write and increase your order for one glass to two glasses, one watch to two watches because you want to give gifts not to just one lass but two lasses, then maybe he will be good enough to mail you this rhyme:

Add one s for shoe
And have shoes for two,
But es to lasses
And glasses and passes.

You will always end with monstrosities like lasses, glasses, boxes, watches and the like if you simply add s to a singular noun which already has an s sound in its ending.

Pronounce lass, box and watch. Notice that these singular forms already end with an s sound? It makes good sense, therefore, in all cases like these, to add es to the singular instead of merely s. And so we have lasses, glasses, boxes and watches.

ALMOST ALL

Neck Artery Surgery Helps Stroke Victims

By Science Service
BAL HARBOUR, Fla.—When brain circulation is blocked by obstructions in neck arteries, even stroke victims can be treated by surgery that scrapes clean the deposits.

This operation has previously been reported as a preventive of stroke when a person has had such a warning as blackout spells or momentary loss of speech. The operation has been performed by Dr. Jesse E. Thompson and his associates at Baylor University Medical Center, Dallas, Tex.

An eight-year follow-up of 400 operations to prevent or relieve threatening or actual strokes shows that neck artery surgery is "safe, definitive treatment" in appropriate cases, Dr. Thompson told the American Heart Association scientific meeting here.

The operation is called "carotid artery endarterectomy." There are two carotid arteries, one on each side of the neck.

"The operation can be quickly and safely carried out," Dr. Thompson reported. In the 400 operations performed by his group, the overall mortality was only 3.5 per cent. In contrast, the initial death rate from acute stroke is about 50 per cent.

STROKE PATIENTS
Almost three-fourths of the frank stroke patients studied by Dr. Thompson had a history of "little strokes" or warning symptoms.

"It behooves the patient to consult his physician if he thinks he has had a warning of stroke," he advised. "Likewise, the physician must be aware of recent advances in the diagnosis and treatment of stroke."

applies to about 99 per cent of underlining the correct spelling of the words in the English language. As you would expect, we do have a few exceptions.

Keep a close eye on the following words ending in y and see if you can infer the rule for yourself. It is there, and you can find it:

The plural of day is days, but the plural of sky is skies. The plural of boy is boys, but the plural of duty is duties. Why? And why is the plural of enemy enemies, while the plural of play is plays.

Look again and you'll see that when the final y is preceded by another vowel (play, boy, day), the plural is regularly formed simply by adding s to the singular.

ANOTHER RHYME
However, you will also notice that when the final y of the singular form is preceded by a consonant (sky, duty, enemy), then the y of the singular is changed to i and es is added for the plural. It's all in this rhyme:

Unpreceded by vowel, as y is in sky,
Add es for plural after making y i.

A Quiz
Suppose now we practice what we've learned in this column by the part of the verse which applies, and this will also help you to memorize these memorics (memory aids).

1. He was hired to clean the (chimneys, chimneys).
2. I have to shoot a pair of (sixes, sixes).
3. Our firm employs four (attorneys, attorneys).
4. My employer explained my (duties, duties).
5. This criminal uses many (aliases, aliases).
6. Look at the crazy (monkeys, monkeys) in the tree.

Answers
1. chimneys. Regular rule: add s to the singular. The y of the singular becomes ie in the plural, only when that y is "unpreceded by vowel."
2. sixes. The singular six already has an s sound for an engine, so add es. "Just as to lasses."
3. attorneys. Same reason as for No. 1.
4. duties. "Unpreceded by vowel, as y is in duty." Add es for plural after making y i.
5. aliases. Same reason as for No. 1.
6. monkeys. Same reason as for No. 1.
(NEXT: The rule on the suffix "ness.")

Violent Storms Hit West Texas

By The Associated Press
Violent thunderstorms, accompanied by tornadoes and hail, erupted over western Texas, a touch of winter whitened portions of the West and a heat wave passed through the Midwest.

Up to 1.20 inches of rain fell in the Dallas, Tex., area and spread eastward during the night as a cool front pushed deeper into Texas from the northwest.

The turbulence blew a private plane off a runway at Andrews, Tex. A tornado caused minor damage in Anton and a twister struck in the Abernathy area, both north of Lubbock.

Winds up to 60 miles per hour, ranked Littlefield, Tex., and 14 inches of hail covered the ground.

SEVERE THUNDERSTORMS

The severe thunderstorms also struck areas from western Texas to Nebraska.

Cloudbursts swamped the Syracuse area of western Kansas Sunday with 5 inches falling in some places. The heavy rain temporarily flooded U.S. 270 between Syracuse and Johnson.

A violent thunderstorm near Kearney, Neb., produced small hail, 1.25 inches of rain and low winds gusts at 63 m.p.h.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is considering building about 30 big, fast military cargo ships that would be loaded with tanks, other heavy equipment and supplies and stationed near potential trouble spots.

Such a fleet of "fast deployment logistic" ships would cost about $400 million, by current Navy estimates.

Coupled with house-size C-130 transport planes recently ordered into production, these cargo vessels would give the United States the capability to speed large ground forces to distant areas, and to have the gear close at hand to enable them to fight in limited war situations.

The Navy study has the blessing of top Pentagon officials, who consider the fast deployment ships an integral part of modernized U.S. airlift-sealift for the 1970s and beyond.

NO FINAL FIGURES
However, Pentagon officials have not settled on any final figure as to the numbers of such ships that would be needed, nor have they adopted the Navy's cost figures.

The Navy study estimates each of the new vessels would cost about $32 million. Defense specialists are skeptical of that figure, believing it may be too low.

Congress has voted $67.6 million for two of the ships. This comes to $33.8 million apiece, with the additional $3.6 million attributed to higher costs of first-of-their-kind models.

The cargo ships would have about twice the capacity, greater speed and, hopefully, lower operating and other costs than current Navy sealift vessels.

They would be equipped with ramps to permit rapid loading and unloading of wheeled and tracked vehicles. This is called a "roll-on, roll-off" capability.

Under the plan, the craft would be powered by a new propulsion system similar to an aircraft-type gas turbine engine. The speed would be about 20 knots.

McNamara told Congress early this year that:

Castro's Brother Meets With Russian Official

MOSCOW (AP) — Deputy Cuban Prime Minister Raul Castro had a meeting today in the Kremlin with Deputy Soviet Premier Vladimir Novikov, the Soviet news agency Tass reported. It gave no details.

Castro, Fidel's younger brother, came to the Soviet Union Oct. 7 at the invitation of Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky.

Navy Studies Fast Cargo Fleet

"Such a ship would be particularly useful for carrying, without disassembling, heavy wheeled and tracked vehicles as well as helicopters."

"Its relatively high speed would permit it to deliver cargo cargoes."

The border line between Canada and the United States is 3,800 miles.

How come 2,000,000 people in Michigan are insured by Metropolitan Life?

Your neighbors have really hit on something. They've discovered that when it comes to planning for the future, the place to start is Metropolitan Life—the company with a practical insurance program designed for today's needs and for any and every situation, including yours. For example:

New—the policy that helps pay for itself

If there's one time you don't need any extra expense it's when you're just starting out—raising a family or opening a business. Yet this is precisely the time when you do need plenty of life insurance.

That's where Metropolitan's ingenious new Econo-Matic policy comes in.

The minimum initial amount is $10,000. For this amount, the premium is considerably less than that of our standard policy with a guaranteed face value of $10,000.

The ingenious feature is this: while the guaranteed amount of insurance is lower after two years, application of dividends*—if present levels are continued—will maintain the original amount of coverage for life, for the same low premium.

The Econo-Matic is just part of the up-to-the-minute selection of life and health insurance plans you'd expect from America's leading life insurance company.

Shouldn't you get all the facts and figures from your Metropolitan adviser? (He'll give you an enlightening Family Security Check-Up, to boot.) Call him soon. Tomorrow, for instance.

There's no obligation . . . except to those you love.

More choose Metropolitan Life millions more than any other company

There are many reasons why Metropolitan Life insures 45,000,000 people—more than any other company. One good reason is local, personal service from the Metropolitan advisers at your nearest office:

2 Doctors Advocate Measures to Curb Deaths Among Premature Babies

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J.—The incidence of premature births—responsible for killing 60,000 infants yearly in the United States—might be reduced one-third by such conceivable preventive measures as early bedding down of "preemie-prone" mothers.

That was the guarded forecast today by Dr. Clarence C. Briscoe, a University of Pennsylvania obstetrician who joined with a Canadian colleague in advocating that such potential mothers take to their beds—either in a hospital or at home—about six or seven weeks prior to the expected time of delivery.

The early-to-bed "guarded activity" recommendation was made by Dr. H. Hugh Allen, associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Western Ontario, London, Ont.

Both doctors spoke at a news conference preceding formal reports to the 51st Congress of the American College of Surgeons.

The Canadian doctor, with tacit approval from the American, said that while absolute proof is lacking, a "preemie-prone" mother might be defined tentatively as one who has some or all of these attributes:
A previous history of having one or more premature babies.

A habit of smoking a pack or more of cigarettes daily, or is well-to-do economically, who have an abnormally small, sized heart.
Has shown evidence of bleeding early in her pregnancy.
Dr. Harold Speert of the Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons started the discussion by saying that: women the discussion by saying that: premature babies — defined as babies weighing 5½ pounds or less — constitute about 10 per cent of all births, account for up to 60 per cent of preterm births, and 60 to 80 per cent of these deaths are premature.

Dr. Briscoe said that of more babies than 4,000,000 delivered early in the United States, about 100,000 are stillborn or die shortly after birth, and 60 to 80 per cent of these deaths are premature.

Priests to Aid Rights Boycott

Differ With Bishop in Milwaukee Protest

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Differing with their bishop, priests of four Roman Catholic parishes in heavily Negro areas offered personal aid to a civil rights boycott of Milwaukee public schools today.

The priests said they were bowing "under protest" to the direct orders of Auxiliary Bishop Robert M. Attklelch, not to use parish facilities for "freedom schools."

But several clerics planned to teach classes off church property.

Catholic laymen picketed the bishop's residence Sunday night. One sign read, "We believe in our priests' right to have a Christian conscience."

Bishop Attklelch said he based his orders on the opinion of local authorities that the boycott would be illegal. The church must teach obedience to the civil law, he told a devotional service Sunday night.

'FREEDOM SCHOOLS'

The Rev. Eugene Bledorn, pastor of St. Boniface Church, said he expected that "some of the priests" nevertheless would teach in the "freedom schools."

"Our rights as citizens have not been taken away," Father Bledorn said. "We will follow our consciences."

The Rev. James Groppi, an assistant at St. Boniface and a vice chairman of the committee sponsoring the boycott, said he felt the bishop's directive represented "the wrong use of authority."

Father Groppi said he would visit various "freedom schools" organized to provide substitute education for pupils boycotting the public schools. He said he would teach in at least one.

The conflict between a bishop's religious authority, held by Catholic doctrine to be virtually absolute within his diocese, and the priests' argument that they must follow their personal conscience dramatized the start of the boycott.

Latin Nations Await Belgium's Royal Pair

BRUSSELS (AP) — King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola of Belgium left by plane today for their first official visit to Latin America. For the next month they will travel 25,000 miles in Mexico, Chile, Argentina and Brazil.

The 35-year-old king and his wife were flying first to Mexico via Montreal.

While rocket launch vehicles continue to grow in size, the radio guidance equipment is shrinking. This equipment weighed more than 200 pounds in 1967, compared to a 67-pound system built for the recent Gemini manned orbital flight.

Confusion in Profusion

Congress Is Fearful Earful

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the top jobs of creative thinking during this session of Congress was turned in recently by Rep. Barber B. Conable Jr.

The New York Republican proposed that the visitors' galleries in the House be enclosed by glass and that earphones be installed by each seat.

Speculators not only could hear the speeches and debates but also would be provided with an explanation of what was taking place on the floor.

In some respects, this proposal is rather radical. The right to be confused by Congress is a basic part of the American heritage. Many of us would be reluctant to surrender it.

It might also be helpful to have the earphones plugged into a simultaneous translation booth, somewhat like the one at the United Nations.

Interpreters stationed in the booth would intercept what was being said on the floor and immediately translate it into English.

Congressional jobs frequently are filled the way Noah filled the Ark—by twos. One for the majority and one for the minority.

We may assume, then, that there would be majority and minority interpreters — some who speak Democratic and others who are fluent in Republican.

A few would need to be bilingual, so that they could interpret Democratic speeches for Republicans and translate GOP oratory for Democrats in the gallery.

This would provide employment for any congressmen who might get knocked off at the polls due to increased understanding on the part of the voters.

They could be hired as interpreters rather than appointed as federal judges.

Veep to Speak in State

LIVONIA (AP)—Vice President Hubert Humphrey will be speaker at dedication of Livonia's $4 million Adlai E. Stevenson High School Friday. He also is to address the Economic Club of Detroit that night after attending a corn-picking contest at Adrian.

French Envoy Favors LBJ-DeGaulle Talks—Someday

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AND
BRADLEY MARTON
WASHINGTON (AP)—Deputy French Ambassador Hervé Alphand says a meeting between Presidents Johnson and Charles de Gaulle "would be certainly very useful to have—someday."
But the diplomat said such a session should not be arranged "before we have clearer views about some very important problems we have to discuss in the next months."

Alphand commented on a possible Johnson-de Gaulle meeting in an interview with the Associated Press.
He is returning to France later this week after nine years as the ambassador to the United States. Alphand will become secretary general of the French Foreign Ministry, the highest post reserved for a career diplomat.

OTHER QUESTIONS

On other questions the ambassador said France:
—Will be ready next year to discuss its concept on the reorganization of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.
—Will be prepared in 1966 to negotiate with the United States on the coordination of the two countries' nuclear forces.

—Sees no present hope for a negotiated settlement of the Viet Nam war.

—Hopes that the European Common Market and the Geneva conference on tariff cutting will overcome current trade difficulties.

POSSIBLE MEETING

There has been talk of a possible Johnson-de Gaulle conference since Johnson became president. They met briefly after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, but have not met again since.

The problems which should be clarified before the two heads of state meet center around European integration and the Atlantic Alliance, Alphand said, adding:

"The differences we have are really differences of opinion and, as Jefferson said, differences of opinion are not differences in principles."

"It is normal and sound between free people and allies to disagree; it is the privilege of our free community of nations." Reminding that France today is a strong country, he said that "it is better for you to have a friend who is more solid than he was before, than to have an uncertain protégé."

ATLANTIC ALLIANCE

The Atlantic Alliance, Alphand said, should be maintained, but France insists on the "complete reorganization" of NATO.

He said: "We consider the alliance necessary as long as a threat exists, and it will exist for a long period of time. But the form of the alliance, the organization called NATO, which was established 15 years ago, is no longer adapted to the circumstances of today." When it was established the United States, alone in the world, was the atomic power capable of destroying the planet. This is no longer true today.

"At the time the Atlantic

Treaty was signed, Europe as a whole was in desperate position, emerging from the devastation of war. We were not able really to take full responsibility for our defense, but this also has changed. We must take these changes into consideration.

"As far as France is con-

Parents Day at OU Slated for Saturday

Oakland University's third annual Parents Day will be held Saturday on campus.
Sponsored by the Friends of Oakland University, the parents' organization, the day will open with registration and coffee at 9 a.m. in the Howard C. Baldwin Memorial Pavilion.

In case of rain it will be moved to the Oakland Center.
The morning program includes a business meeting, and welcome from Charles D. Stewart, president of the OU Friends, and Chancellor Durward B. Varner.

Luncheon is scheduled for 1:15 p.m. in the Oakland Center to be followed by the afternoon about the organization of the session.
Parents will also have an opportunity to tour the campus.

But, he added: "though we cerned, a complete reorganization of NATO has to be accomplished by 1969."

SPECIAL NOISES

In 1966, Alphand continued, "we can start without making special noises: it is normal that we should discuss the form of our alliance and to adapt it to the present status of the world."

He said France's determination to have its own national nuclear deterrent is completely natural.

"We have no commitment not to produce nuclear weapons and we have the means to produce them. When this national French atomic force will be in operation, we will be ready to discuss with you how to coordinate the use of this force with your immense force in a common front."

The French nuclear force is expected to be operational next year.

SUEZ CRISIS

Alphand was named ambassador to the United States just before the 1956 Suez crisis when, he said with diplomatic understatement, "relations between France and the United States were not at their best."

Today, he said, U.S.-French differences exist "on many problems: Southeast Asia, p.m. in the Oakland Center to be followed by the afternoon about the organization of the session.
Parents will also have an opportunity to tour the campus.

But, he added: "though we have many differences of opinion, on essential matters we are always on the same side."

He cited three examples:

—The 1960 Paris summit conference which Nikita Khrushchev "blew up," and where de Gaulle was a "firm supporter of the common cause."

BERLIN

—The Berlin crises during which "the three powers were entirely in accord, and their solidarity and firmness discouraged any attempt to change the situation by force."

—The 1963 Cuban crisis, "a direct menace to your soil during which we were supporting your position immediately and without reservations."

Alphand was pessimistic about the chances of peace in Viet Nam.

"Unfortunately," he said, "the time for negotiations is not today. There is no indication on the other side that it wants to negotiate, and no indication on your side that you would withdraw your forces." For France to raise its voice under the present circumstances "would be useless," he said.

COMMON MARKET

On European integration and the Common Market, he said that though the United States has a legitimate interest in the future organization of Europe, the question "must be discussed first by the Europeans."

On trade, he said protectionism "was a source of great weakness of France between the two wars." France, he added, surgery later this week.

in, is "in favor of reduction of all obstacles of trade."

Alphand defends his country against the charge that it has become excessively nationalist under de Gaulle.

A nation, he said, which gave up its colonies, renounced part of its sovereignty when it joined the European Community and which concluded a pact of friendship with Germany, its traditional archfoe, should not be labeled nationalist.

Crews Tearing Down NY Fair

Final Day Marred by Pilferage, Vandalism

NEW YORK (AP)—Wrecking crews start today tearing down most of the buildings on the 66-acre fantasy land of the New York World's Fair which ended a two-year run with a record one-day attendance of 446,853.

Widespread pilferage and vandalism marred the final day Sunday.

There were farewells among fair employees and exhibitors. Dozens of parties went on after the closing of the fairs grounds at 2 a.m. today.

Fair officials announced a 1965 attendance of 24,459,168 and the two-year attendance as 51,697,448. Before the fair opened last year, they had predicted a two-year attendance of 70 million.

IN THE RED

Attendance last year was 27,148,380.

The 1964-65 fair attendance topped the 44.9 million of the 1939-40 New York World's Fair.

The 1964-65 fair wound up in the red financially, just as the one a generation ago did.

Sunday's attendance broke the two-year record of 443,435 set Saturday.

MINIATURE TRAIN

Three children and an adult were injured—none seriously—when three cars of a miniature train overturned Sunday at the Long Island Railroad's exhibit, spilling the passengers.

Robert Moses, president of the private nonprofit fair corporation, said Sunday he is certain the city park planned for the grounds in Flushing Meadows, Queens, "will eventually be the city's finest park." The park will utilize several of the fair's exhibit buildings.

Moses said the two-year fair attendance was "more than ever visited any similar enterprise."

In a closing day statement, he said fair note holders eventually would receive "more than" 50 cents on each dollar they invested. He compared the return with the return of slightly more than 40 cents on the dollar received by note holders on the 1939-40 fair.

INTO BANKRUPTCY

A number of exhibitors at the fair went into bankruptcy, and several closed.

The fair corporation lost $17.5 million in its first season. The fair trust has paid $7,457,250 of its $20,879,000 in bonded indebtedness.

Moses had projected a two-season profit of $49 million. Also, he had planned to repay New York City the $23 million it invested in permanent improvements and to use the remainder for development of the park.

CAPSIZES AFTER FIRE — The Greek freighter Akti lies on her side after capsizing near Rotterdam yesterday in the aftermath of a fire aboard. The crew beached the vessel and then abandoned ship when fire broke

Aussie School Set for Prince

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace announced today that Prince Charles, the 16-year-old heir to the British throne, will attend a school next year in the Australian hinterlands where students live in bungalow-type huts.

The school stresses initiative and self-reliance. The curriculum includes a 15-mile marathon race through the Australian bush to prove a boy's toughness.

The palace announcement said Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip, Charles' parents, had chosen the "Timbertop" branch of the Geelong prep school and that the boy was "very happy" to be going there.

Prince Charles will be the first member of the royal family to attend school in an overseas commonwealth country. He will enroll for the 3½ month term beginning in February, returning to Gordonstown School in the Scottish Highlands at the end of his Australian studies in mid-May.

"Timbertop" is located in rugged woodlands 100 miles northeast of Melbourne between the sheep-grazing center of Mansfield and Mount Butler.

Probe of Viet Bombing Due Release

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press International
Saigon reports that the U.S. military soon will make public some of the findings and recommendations of an official investigation into criticism of American air force bombing strikes in South Viet Nam.

U.S. commander Gen. W. C. Westmoreland ordered the investigation because of the controversy surrounding stepped-up air strikes against suspected Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam.

Military sources say that one result will be to "restate, but in clearer terms, rules designed to minimize the bad effects of the bombing."

Critics of the attacks have charged that the increased use of American air power often has resulted in needless death and destruction, causing many uncommitted persons to turn against the U.S.-supported Viet Nam government.

EAST VS. WEST: Western officials in Berlin expect the Soviet, Polish and Czech troops to join East German units in unusually large-scale autumn maneuvers along the West German border.

However, they do not foresee the Communist military forces being used to apply political pressure on West Berlin by interfering with access routes.

FRENCH - SOVIET MEET-

ING: French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville's official visit to Moscow Oct. 28 is not expected to produce fireworks.

He will have a broad general discussion of East-West problems with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

with particular attention to Viet Nam and Southeast Asia.

The German question is not expected to take up much time as the two countries are in sharp disagreement on this.

DE GAULLE VS. NATO: French officials expect President de Gaulle to start putting the squeeze on NATO in the first six months of 1966 with demands for revision of the North Atlantic treaty and a request that this be discussed.

They doubt he actually will pull France out of NATO before 1969, if he does so at all. Any member country can quit on one year's notice.

De Gaulle, by the way, is expected to make his announcement as a candidate for presidential reelection around Oct. 25.

MALAYSIAN HOPES: Military men in Malaysia have some hope that Indonesia may call off its confrontation with Malaysia if the army succeeds in taking over in Jakarta.

But if the Army should decide to continue the opposition, then the confrontation policy, might become much more serious.

U.N. Can Halt Wars—Especially When U.S. and Russia Agree

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations has demonstrated it can halt wars, especially when the United States and the Soviet Union agree.

This was shown again when India and Pakistan fought over Kashmir. Both big powers were determined to stop a conflict which, in their view, could benefit only Red China. The Security Council acted unanimously, forcing India and Pakistan to agree to a truce under the threat of economic boycotts.

The cease-fire has been broken fitfully, but major fighting has stopped.

Keeping the peace along a 1,000-mile cease-fire line poses a formidable problem for some 200 U.N. military observers.

TOUGHER PROBLEMS

But the United Nations has dealt with tougher problems in 30 years of police and watching actions. Not counting the Korean War, there have involved 45,000 men from more than 50 nations at a cost of nearly half a billion dollars.

U.N. peace-keeping has fallen into two main categories: preventive diplomacy to keep disputes from exploding into shooting wars, and international police action to keep local wars from expanding.

The police actions began in June 1950 when the Security Council authorized the defense of South Korea against attack by the Communist North. The council was hamstrung by a measure escaped veto because the Soviet Union was boycotting the council at the time.

Sixteen countries under the blue and white U.N. banner went to the aid of the South Korean army, but the United States with 350,000 troops in the field made up 90 per cent of the U.N. force. Washington also put up $10 billion to cover most of the bill. The other U.N. participants paid only the salaries and rations of their own troops.

CHALLENGE AUTHORITY

The Russians, on their return, accused the Security Council of acting illegally and challenged the body's right to help South Korea.

One result was the uniting-for-peace resolution adopted by the General Assembly in November 1960. This provided for calling an emergency session of the assembly on 24-hour notice if the council was hamstrung by a veto.

The uniting-for-peace idea was invoked in November 1956 when Israel, Britain and France invaded the Suez Canal zone after Egypt took over the waterway. Britain and France vetoed council action. Yugoslavia invoked action in the assembly, which asked the late Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to raise the first peace-keeping force from 19 nations to stand vigil along the frontier between Egypt and Israel. The cost of maintaining this force—6,000 men at its peak—ran to about $17.5 million a year.

STILL ON PATROL

Blue-helmeted troops of the U.N. emergency force still patrol the desolate border.

The force served as a model for the police force dispatched to the chaotic Congo in 1960 at the request of the late Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba, who later denounced the operation.

The council set up the U.N. operation for the Congo which grew to a force of 20,000 men representing 19 nations. This force went on a combat footing in January 1963 when it launched an offensive against troops of Moise Tshombe's breakaway Katanga Province, but otherwise it served as a peace-keeping force.

The operation, which finally ended in the spring of 1964, cost more than $10 million a month and plunged the United Nations $100 million into debt. The Soviet Union soured on the project, after originally approving it.

REFUSED TO PAY

The Soviet block, France and several other nations refused to pay their share of either the Middle East or Congo operations. That made the United Nations chary about financing another peace-keeping operation when a civil war erupted on Cyprus in 1964.

The council gave Secretary-General U. Thant the job of sustering a force to keep apart the warring Turkish and Greek Cypriot factions. When Thant sought authority to draw on general U.N. revenues if contributions failed to meet general running expenses, both France and the Soviet Union insisted that it be financed entirely by voluntary contributions. No one up to help arrange for Indonesia was set seemed inclined to debate the nesian independence from the Netherlands. The 7,000-man, six-nation Cyprus force became the first set up in the Balkans as Communist peace-keeping operation financed by passing the rope began taking a hand in the hat among member nations. The Greek civil war.

In 1948, when the marathon dispute between India and Pakistan over Kashmir first arose, the Security Council established a three-nation India-Pakistan commission of arbitration. For the past 17 years, U.N. observers have patrolled a truce line. Until the latest conflict broke out, the operation had cost upward of $11 million.

In 1947-49, Count Folke Bernadotte and, after his assassination, U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche served as mediators to end the war between Israel and the Arab states.

Castro Refugee Decision Hits U.S. Where It Hurts

MIAMI (UPI) — If Fidel Castro can't invade the United States, he may have picked the next best way to give Uncle Sam another Latin headache by raising the "sugar cane curtain" to let out a flood of refugees.

The noises already have begun in Congress, and President Johnson's State Department is on the spot.

The concern is over the anticipated 5,000 refugees a month that will be taken into this country under Castro's Sept. 23 "open door" proclamation — provided the U. S. and Cuba reach agreement on getting the freedom shuttle cranked up.

So far there has only been a comparative trickle across the Florida Straits by small boat.

Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., Gov. Haydon Burns of Florida, Miami Democratic Congressman Dante Fascell, and a number of local South Florida officials were quick to object to the new refugees being allowed to settle where they choose. In almost every case, this would be the greater Miami area.

CAN'T ABSORB MORE
Between 90,000 and 100,000 Cubans already have settled here, and the officials say the area could not absorb another large wave of exiles.

Burns has demanded the federal government make it mandatory for the new refugees to settle outside Florida. Smathers proposes federal detention centers to contain the refugees after their arrival until they can be relocated.

Fascell calls for a sharp limitation on the number of refugees this country will accept from Cuba.

ON THE GO
The State Department has had Cuban affairs coordinator John Crimmins on the go between Washington, Miami and Tallahassee, and the department's car is forever attuned to the voices of Capitol Hill. So far, no one has said what will be done.

The problems of the refugee influx most often mentioned are jobs, schools and housing.

The federal government paid $4.8 million at the start of this year to Dade County to finance educating 15,000 Cuban refugee children absorbed into the greater Miami public school system.

County School Superintendent Joe Hall estimated it will cost $1,132.30 more for each additional refugee student — the cost of critically needed extra classroom space and teachers.

LACKING MONEY
The county doesn't have the money. Hall has ordered school principals not to accept any refugees from the "new wave" into their schools until the federal government provides the dollars.

But with the schools, the hard figures end. The cry heard in the fall of

Fund for Aged, Infirm Actors Hollywood Aids Old-Timers

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD — "Former film star dies at Picture County Hospital": a familiar news story as the generation of movie pioneers fades from the scene.

In times past, old-time stars sometimes died in poverty, unloved and forgotten. Hollywood drew their share of lumps for being stone-hearted and neglectful of its former notables.

Now the film community cares for its aged and infirm in a manner scarcely paralleled in American industry. The agency: Motion Picture Relief Fund.

Last Thursday, leaders of the fund met for luncheon at the Beverly Hills Hotel to launch a major drive.

Hootenanny at U-D Mass

Two Priests Walk Out of Church Experiment

DETROIT (UPI) — An experimental hootenanny mass, complete with guitars and a hand-clapping choir touched off a storm of controversy yesterday at the University of Detroit, a Roman Catholic school.

Two priests stalked out during the service, in which about 650 persons participated.

Besides the folk songs and trappings, the celebrants, Rev. Thomas Blackburn, head of the university's theology department, were a new vestment created by a designer of theater costumes and a lay professor read some of the priest's prayers in English.

Many students said they liked the mass and a visiting missionary, the Rev. Paul O'Connor of Lusaka, Zambia, Africa, said it was "tremendous." Mass was sung to drums in Zambia, said the white priest.

But several priests disagreed. As choir members clapped hands to a guitar beat while they sang an amen chorus, the Rev. Ernest V. McClear, a theology professor at the university, said the mass was "a confession of failure to reach the college student."

"Where do you stop when you have this hootenanny, as also walked out, obviously disapproach," McClear said. "The pleased. He declined to comment. appeal is not religious. It's way beyond what is permitted at present."

Comes to Aid of Policeman

Soldier Helps in Fight as Crowd Looks On

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "When I saw a loaded gun, I reacted," says an Army helicopter pilot describing why he jumped into help an Atlanta policeman struggling with a much larger assailant while other onlookers remained motionless.

Capt. Harry Painton, 35, of Rockville Centre, Long Island, N.Y., who recently returned from duty in Viet Nam, said the policeman was thrown to the ground several times while trying to arrest a man after a disturbance at a southwest Atlanta restaurant Sunday.

The 5-foot-8, 158-pound Army captain said the policeman "was even smaller than I was and the other man was a real football player type. He (the policeman) was being murdered. Somebody had to do something."

Painton said the policeman and his assailant were fighting for possession of the officer's revolver. A crowd of bystanders looked on.

MAN FLED

Officer O. W. Adams said the man, fled after Painton joined the struggle. Adams said he fired two shots at the running man, but he escaped.

Asked about the crowd's refusal to aid the policeman, Painton said, "I don't think it's cowardice. I think they were astounded and didn't know what would evolve from this."

Painton said he also probably would have been stunned and motionless during the sudden struggle for his Army training.

"The poor policeman was a very brave, capable man doing his duty. But this shows they really ought to have two policemen in each car. This wouldn't have happened in New York. Up there they would have had two policemen there and then two more to back them up," Painton said.

NOT REPRESENTATIVE

The captain, now stationed at Ft. McPherson here, said the incident was "not representative of Atlanta."

Adams said the fracas occurred after he had ordered six persons to leave the restaurant because they were causing a disturbance. He said two of the men were drunk.

Painton was struck on the arm by a brick which his wife said was thrown by a spectator during the brief fight.

State Man Escapes

Plane Crash Injury

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Forty-five-year-old Emil Nitz of Baroda, Mich., escaped serious injury Sunday when he force-landed a single engine plane on a farm near Kirkersville.

The highway patrol said the plane suffered minor damage when the tail caught on a fence. The patrol said Nitz' plane had run out of gasoline.

Working on the Lawn

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Robert Pitt, 51, of nearby Mt. Juliet, was shot in the right knee by his lawnmower. While Pitt was mowing the grass in his backyard, the rotary blades of his power lawnmower exploded a 32-caliber cartridge lying in the grass.

The nation's approximately 600,000 dairy farms marketed $2 billion pounds more milk last year than 1 million farms did in 1959.

Extradition to Start in Death Case

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Authorities were expected to begin extradition proceedings today against prison parolee William Schubert, 49, wanted on a first-degree murder warrant in the slaying of Charles Bujack, 34, of Benton Harbor. Bujack was the husband of Schubert's former wife.

Schubert is held at Whitley City, Ky., where he was arrested Saturday while hitchhiking. He told Kentucky authorities he would fight extradition.

"I was framed by those two," Schubert said of the Bujacks. "We got into an argument. He was accidentally shot. He pulled a knife out and an argument ensued."

OHIO PAROLEE

Schubert said he is an Ohio parolee and "the only place I'll accept extradition voluntarily is the State of Ohio."

Berrien County Prosecutor John Hammond said "we're going to try to get the extradition package off to Gov. Romney in Lansing today. I have no doubt we'll get him (Schubert) back."

Schubert, arrested while walking on U.S. 27, south of Whitley City, offered no resistance and was not armed. Schubert told Kentucky police he was on his way to see his first wife, Mrs. Irene (Grundy) Sears of rural Whitley City.

PRIOR MARRIAGE

Sheriff Andrew Cox of McCrory County, Ky., said Schubert was known in Kentucky and used to live in Whitley City.

A stepdaughter, Wilma Richardson, 21, daughter of Mrs. Bujack by a prior marriage, is visiting in Liberty, Ky., 30 miles from Whitley City.

Bujack's body was found Wednesday in an orchard near Benton Harbor. He had been shot in the head. A .38 caliber revolver, believed to be the slaying weapon, was found near the scene.

Mrs. Bujack earlier told Michigan authorities of receiving threats from Schubert in letters. Schubert was paroled by Ohio two months ago from a prison term for assault on Mrs. Bujack while the couple lived in Cincinnati.

4 Schools Halt Report Cards

LANSING (AP) — Children at four Lansing elementary schools won't have to take home any report cards this year.

Instead, their parents will be invited to come to the teacher twice a year for firsthand reports on their children's progress.

The program is an experiment, said Miss Grace Van Wert, director of public elementary schools in Lansing, and the rest of the city's schools will continue using report cards.

The program may be extended to other schools on an experimental basis next year if response is favorable, she said.

SUBJECT TO DISPUTE

Report cards have been a subject of dispute for many years in Lansing.

Some feel the cards do little to inform parents about a child's progress and even tend to create unhappy situations in some families where one child may be getting high grades and a second child may be making average marks.

Miss Van Wert said another goal of the experiment is to bring about direct analysis of a child's progress which would involve only the teacher and parents.

Lions' Big Lead Vanishes as Packers Hit With 'Bombs', 31-21

Starr Hits 3 TD Aerials in Third Period

Disputed Penalty Aids Final Green Bay Tally in Closing Minutes

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
Even Manderake the Magician couldn't have provided a bigger disappearing act than what took place yesterday at Tiger Stadium.

Leading 21-3 at halftime, as result of their best offensive display of the year, everything vanished for the Detroit Lions.

Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr threw three "bombs" in the third quarter, took advantage of a disputed penalty in the final minutes to score on a four-yard run himself to give the Packers a 31-21 victory.

The constant roaring crowd of 36,712 cheered heartily as Nick Pietrosante and Joe Loney tore off big chunks of yardage and Mike Phipps hit for eight of 13 and two touchdowns in the first half.

They boomed even louder as whistles marred the exciting game with penalties.

Green Bay took a 3-0 lead helped by 25-yard punter Don Chandler booting it from the 49-yard line.

For the rest of the first half the Lions needed 35 yards to reach the end zone. They needed 35 yards to reach the end zone.

Hitting Terry Barr and Galt Coghill with short passes, Plum then flipped over the head of Tom Brown to Ron Kramer for a 14-yard touchdown and a 3-0 lead with Wayne Walker's point.

It was an 89-yard march, the longest sustained drive of the year for the Lions.

INTERCEPTION

A couple minutes later Roger Brown hit Starr's arm and Wayne Rasmussen intercepted. Behind three great blocks by Ernie Clark, Sam Williams and Wayne Walker he went 36 yards for the touchdown.

Early in the second period, an 83-yard march in six plays was climaxed with a 55-yard pass play from Plum to Barr and it was 21-3 with Walker's point.

The big blitz came in the third quarter. Only 1:17 went by and Starr passed down the middle to Galt Bob Long. Carroll Dale blocked out Rasmussen and it went for a 63-yard touchdown.

With only 3:32 gone cornerman Jimmy Hill was hurt and rookie Jim Kearney came in. Starr wasted no time to test the rookie. He hit Tom Moore with a 30-yard strike to make it 21-17 with Chandler's point.

The Lions' offense at this point disappeared completely as (Continued on Pg. D-4, Col. 3)

EAST LANSING (AP) — Undeclared, untitled, and undisputed leader of the Big Ten.

That's the proud position of the Michigan State Spartans today after they shocked Ohio State 32-7 Saturday.

Next comes Purdue, a 17-15 winner over Michigan on the passing, extra point kicking and the field goal of versatile quarterback Bob Griese. The game will be played at Lafayette, Ind., hometown of the Boilermakers.

MINUS YARDS

Probably the most surprising statistic of the game in Spartan Stadium was the fact that Ohio State was held to -22 yards rushing.

It was the first time in modern football history that the famed "four yards and a cloud of dust" grind-it-out Ohio State attack had been held to minus yards.

Michigan State, meanwhile, rushed for a net 387 yards. Ohio State was forced to go to the air by the Spartan defense.

There were other humiliations for Ohio State's Woody Hayes, senior coach in the Big Ten in years of service.

TOP GAINER

The leading Michigan State ground gainer was Clinton Jones who rushed for 122 yards and scored two touchdowns. One was on his brilliant 80-yard scoring run in the first period.

Michigan State's Hawaiians kept up their scoring heroes. Sophomore fullback Bob O'Brien rushed for 114 yards and scored one touchdown.

MSU also scored a safety against Ohio State. Chuck Lowther of Royal Oak, whose regular job is a quarterback for scouting team, was sent in late in the last quarter with instructions just to hang on to the ball.

Lowther, in his first play in a college football game, wasn't content with that. Instead he ran 34 yards for the final touchdown.

Quarterback Boots Winning Field Goal in Final Minute

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Wally Gabler's performance in Michigan's heartbreaking 17-15 loss to Purdue Saturday appears to have earned him the No. 1 quarterback job.

But coach Bump Elliott, who said he was pleased with Gabler's direction and passing in the game, refused to answer when asked if the Royal Oak senior would start the last five games of the season.

Gabler and Jack Clancy combined for a 40-yard scoring pass in the third quarter and Gabler led the Wolverines from their own 32 to the Purdue one early in the fourth quarter to set up Rick Sygar's go-ahead field goal.

Gabler completed nine of 28 passes for 137 yards and kept the ball a couple of times to sustain Michigan drives.

"I think it was our best effort of the year," Elliott said after Bob Griese's 35-yard field goal with 55 seconds remaining had decided the issue.

QB PRAISED "Gabler did a good job of moving the club and I thought our defense played very well most of the time," he added.

Michigan defenders held the Boilermakers to 27 yards rushing and did a good job of keeping Griese's passes away from his favorite receiver, Bob Hadrick.

But in so doing, the Wolverines allowed halfback Jim Finley to break loose and he responded by catching 11 passes for 159 yards, a Purdue record.

The Boilermakers, who were in Michigan territory but twice in the first half—once on an exchange of punts—scored the first two times they had the ball in the second half.

Carl Ward's 17-yard run in the second quarter had given Michigan a 6-0 halftime edge.

Griese passed 34 yards to Finley for the first touchdown and then hit Jim Belne with a six-yarder.

BROUGHT DOWN Clancy's touchdown came soon after Belne's score and Gabler was brought down short of the goal as the Wolverines tried for a two-point conversion.

Asked about his decision to go for the field goal, after the Michigan drive had carried to the Purdue one, Elliott said: "It looked like an awful long yard to me. I'd have given anything to gain if I were given another yard."

The Wolverines, for the first time this year, did not lose the ball via an interception or fumble.

LAST-SECOND EFFORT — The Detroit Lions' forward wall had Green Bay's Bart Starr (15) thrown for an apparent loss on this second-period play, but he got off on incomplete pass at the last second to avoid the loss of yardage. Darris McCord (78) and Alex Karras (71) are the identifiable Lions.

Roughing Disputed

Lions Angry at Penalty Calls

The first explanation to reach reporters as to official Jack Fette's call was the whistle had blown when Maher hit Fleming.

Maher insisted he had started his tackle before the whistle.

PLAY DEAD? Then it was reported the official ruled Fleming had stepped on the out of bounds line and the play was dead.

"How am I supposed to know he stepped on the line. All I know is he was still trying to run and I went to help on the tackle," said Maher.

The penalty was costly. Assistant coach Carl Tamm raced onto the field to argue and when it was over the Packers netted 33 yards on the penalty.

There were more than five minutes left and only three points behind the Lions felt the call killed them.

Two other key penalties, on Wally Hilgenberg and Ernie Clark were also disputed.

Hilgenberg was called for clipping in the second quarter after a Packers punt.

The Lions would have taken over at mid-field, instead they were set back on their own 17.

"I even waited for him to turn toward me before throwing the block," said Hilgenberg. "I hit him square." The press box crew spotted the block and called it a "beautiful block," but a second later the official (Fette) threw the flag.

Clark's defensive holding penalty came when the Packers had

Leafs Beat Wings, 3-1

TORONTO (AP) — Defenseman Marcel Pronovost scored one goal and set up another against his former teammates on Sunday night as the Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the Detroit Red Wings 3-1 in a National Hockey League exhibition.

Pronovost, a 15-year NHL veteran traded by Detroit to the Maple Leafs last summer, broke a scoreless tie early in the second period and assisted on Dave Keon's goal five minutes later.

Bob Palford added an unassisted goal for the Leafs after Bruce MacGregor had scored for Detroit.

Northwestern Netter Defeats Davis Cupper

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Marty Riessen, graduate student at Northwestern University, beat Antonio Palafios, Mexican Davis Cup star, 6-3, 6-2 Sunday for the championship of the Midland Racquet Club Invitational Tennis Tournament.

Riessen teamed with his teammate at Northwestern, Clark Gracber, to win the doubles. They beat Dennis Ralston and Chuck McKinley, the defending champions, 6-2, 6-2.

NY Giants' Quarterback Just Playing His Game

NEW YORK (AP) — "I didn't bring you here to fill anybody's shoes. I brought you here to hang on to the job," said Sherman. "What do you say? Let's go on from here."

Morrill went on from there, a little slowly at first but he hit his peak Sunday with four touchdowns passes against Philadelphia in a 35-27 Giant victory.

"He looked a little like Little Johnny," said one reporter when more confidence in trying things Sherman repeated his story of September.

"FINE GAME" "I'm certainly not going to chastise him for that," said Alie. "He did a great job. He went to the right guy and executed well. He called a fine game."

Could Italian Film Star Visit Gotham Incognito?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The Big Question is, what Marcello Mastroianni swinging around Greenwich Village the other night, chatting amiably with fans, signing autographs graciously or was that some phony? Marcello's film studio friends here just didn't believe that he could come back to NY without notifying them.

So who was the guy who brought his wife into Jilly's, best over the bar, and chatted Italian with the help? Others say they saw him charging along Madison Avenue purposefully, looking very Italian-tailored, very much in shape, marveling at what had happened and hadn't happened to a guy named Mastroianni.

Comedian Al King's got a lot of new things going for him... a new Phantom 5 Rolls-Royce limousine to be delivered in January... a new comedy game TV show that the networks are interested in... that combined with something else new, his very first Broadway theater opening in "The Impossible Years."

King, one of the highest-paid comedy stars, told me at his hangout, the Abbotine House, that he's "the biggest single investor." In the show, "I'm my own angel," he said. "I'm betting my own money on it running."

Monique Van Voren's angry about published charges that actors aren't volunteering to entertain in Viet Nam. "I have been wanting to go and waiting to go for 5 weeks," she says. "They told me I would probably go this week—then I never heard from them and had to apply again."

"They also told me they had plenty of entertainment between Oct. 15 and February, so how can they say entertainers don't want to go and give them a bad name?"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

Horace McMahon decided to leave the touring "Hello, Dolly!" in L.A., and return to his family here... The "Hollywood Palace" TV'er had to get ABC OK to skip the commercial so Frank Sinatra could sing for 17 minutes, uninterrupted... James Aubrey flew to London to talk to boat and auto racer Donald Campbell about a film bio.

Maureen O'Hara said she'll star in a new TV'er, "Daphne," produced by Merton Da Costa... Millicent Biele will portray a burlesque comic on an "O'Brien" show... Joe Namath, the highest paid footballer, may open a discotheque (with his pal Ted Dowd) in the off season.

While Soldiers Die Unsung

Cong Sympathizers in U.S. No Joke to Viet Yanks

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Tom Tiede is a reporter who has built a reputation as a sports writer. Now, Newspaper Enterprise Association has assigned him to cover Viet Nam.

This is another in a series of articles.
By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
PLEIKU, Viet Nam — "Hey,

you guys heard the latest?"
"What's that, Mac?"
"A group in California got up a petition to 'Back Our Boys' in Viet Nam. If this keeps up, we're likely to have as many Americans rooting for us as for the Viet Cong."

It was a weak gag but somehow understandable.
Espirito de corps is little compensation for fighting and dying but for most American troops here it's all they have. Any element, local or abroad, which erodes their feeling of purpose is resented.

And brutal humor has long been the soldier's main line of defense.
"Put it this way," says Pvt. Harold Pruitt. "A civilian back home wearing a beard and carrying a picket sign isn't really very funny to us over here. But we gotta laugh at him. We gotta keep trying to laugh."

"We get the papers six weeks late, but we get them. It isn't very funny to see where a 'Get Out of Viet Nam' committee is parading around the White House . . . but, still, we gotta laugh."

"Fifty guys dying in the Mekong Delta gets a paragraph and a half, but a picket line is front-page stuff. Very funny, you know?"

GRIMY SOLDIER
Pvt. Harold Pruitt of Salem, Va., is 24 years old. Tall, dark-skinned, black hair clipped to a white sideburn around his ears. Solid features, aching feet, sweat pores filled with the grime of the day.

An intelligent man with a college degree, Pruitt was a divinity student. He is forgiving of nature, meek by preference. But as far as this war is concerned, he'll not turn the other cheek.

"Fact of the matter is," he says, "I didn't have to come over here. As a divinity student, I could have skipped this fight. But, corny as it may sound, I feel this is an obligation."

"My dad was killed in the Battle of the Bulge during the second World War. If I would have ducked out of this thing, I would have been saying he died for nothing."

"He didn't. He died for a cause most Americans believed in."

"So what's the difference here? These so-called pacifists conjure up all sorts of arguments as to why we should quit this thing. They picket, they raise money for the Viet Cong. They send apologetic letters to North Viet Nam."

"Okay, it's a free country. Only, I think I'm doing something to keep it that way. They ask 'what are we here for?' To contain communism in any form . . . that's all . . . to stop its spread. That's what I think. That's what my buddies think."

Pvt. Harold Pruitt, Gabby Friendly, Opinionated, Convincing. He should make a fine minister some day.

PROUD OF IT
But right now he's an Army private and proud of it.

"Sure, I have conflicts of conscience," he says. "Like a chaplain in my outfit—he's a nice, peaceful guy who hates violence just like me. But he knows there are times when a man must bend . . . and act."

"The other night one of our guys went crazy mad in the barracks. It looked for a minute as if he was going to kill someone."

"But the chaplain calmed him down. Later, this man of God admitted to me that, if all else had failed, he would have shot that man himself . . . to protect the rest of the group."

HE'S WILLING
"Well, me, too! If it comes to a point where it's me or a Viet Cong soldier, I'll try to kill him. Maybe if only to help protect the rest of the world."

Harold Pruitt, Salem, Va. Three hundred more days to go in Viet Nam. Seven thousand, two hundred hours.

Frank, patriotic, earthy.
The guys say that tomorrow he may be fighting to save the souls of all these pacifists. But today, he's fighting to save their lives.

That's another of the hard jokes here.
Only nobody thinks it's very funny.

'Knifelike' Weapon Is Found

A "knifelike" weapon found yesterday by State Police detectives underwent examination to determine whether it was used in the fatal stabbing of an 80-year-old Farmington Township widow Saturday.

The victim—wounded "at least" 10 times, according to officers—was identified as Mrs. Ethel Van Wicklin of 20809 Pearl.

Detective Kenneth Taylor said officers had no lead as yet to a possible suspect.

Her body was discovered Saturday afternoon by her son, Dexter 45, of 28158 Wildwood, Farmington Township.

The victim was lying under a blanket and two pillows on a

Military Ban Is Clamped on Red Party in Indonesia

SINGAPORE (P) — Radio Jakarta announced tonight a military ban on the Indonesian Communist party and affiliated organizations.

The ban on the Communist party, announced in the name of Maj. Gen. Umar Hadikasumo, commanding officer in the Jakarta area, appeared to be limited to the capital region, where he is in control.

The broadcast said the big, powerful Communist-dominated trade union federation, Sosis, also was banned on orders of the government of the Central Bank, who has jurisdiction over all unions. This presumably meant the Sosis ban was nationwide.

The announcement by Hadikasumo directed Communist party leaders and officials of the other pro-Communist organizations to report to military or police authorities within five days.

Hadikasumo said they were believed to be involved in the Sept. 30-Oct. 1 coup attempt against President Sukarno.

There is no immediate indication in the broadcast as to the fate of the strong Communist organizations elsewhere in Indonesia.

Also placed under Jakarta's military ban were Permuda Rakjat, the party's youth movement, and Gerwani, the party's women's wing.

2nd Trial Starts in Liuzzo Case

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (P) — A Ku Klux Klansman charged with killing a civil rights worker was called to trial again today and seven Negroes were on a panel of 55 prospective jurors drawn for the trial.

There was a new prosecutor and a new defense attorney as well for the second trial of Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., who is accused of first-degree murder in the slaying of Viola Gregg Liuzzo.

One of the prospective jurors is Oscar Means, a Negro farmer and special part-time deputy sheriff.

Means is one of four Negroes on Sheriff Frank Ryal's auxiliary of special deputies.

Whether the Negro would be excused because of his assignment as a law enforcement officer remains for the trial judge to determine.

Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers took over the prosecution on the eve of the trial.

He notified the regular prosecutor, Circuit Solicitor Arthur E. Gamble Jr., by letter that Gamble had been removed from the case for refusing to agree to a postponement.

In Washington yesterday in a television interview, Flowers said he had taken charge of the trial because he would not be subject to "local political pressure."

The attorney general, involving a provision in Alabama law which gives him jurisdiction as the state's chief attorney, took over the Wilkins case last month.

At the same time, he took over Gamble's duties in the trial of special Deputy Sheriff Thomas L. Coleman in another civil rights slaying and a sked Judge T. Werth Thagard to postpone both cases.

IN SWIFT SUCCESSION Thagard refused, and, in swift succession, ousted the attorney general from the Coleman case and reinstated Gamble as the prosecutor.

5 U.S. Planes Lost in Other Raids on North

4 Yank Airmen Are Presumed Captured; Two Dead; 2 Missing

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (P) — U.S. jets smashed a Soviet-supplied missile launcher in North Viet Nam over the weekend, but five American planes were lost in other raids on the Communist north, a U.S. military spokesman reported today.

Four of the American airmen were presumed captured and two others were killed when three Navy planes were lost yesterday 40 miles north of Hanoi, the spokesman said.

Two U.S. fliers were listed as missing after two Air Force jets were lost Saturday on a raid southwest of Hanoi.

Peking broadcasts claimed seven U.S. planes were downed and several pilots captured in North Viet Nam, which has threatened to try captured American pilots as war criminals.

Four A4 Sky Hawks and an A6 Intruder from the U.S. 7th Fleet carrier Independence hit the mobile antiaircraft missile unit with eight tons of bombs.

IN FLAMES Pilots said they left a missile smoking on the ground and launchers and 10 vehicles in flames.

The missiles, supplied by the Soviet Union, are believed accompanied by Soviet technicians.

There was no mention of personnel casualties at the site, 52 miles northeast of Hanoi.

U.S. aircraft are known to be hunting at least five of the mobile missile units, which can be assembled or dismantled within 24 hours.

COMFORTING HAND—A mine rescue worker yesterday tries to comfort a relative of one of the seven men who died in a burning coal mine in Sardis, W. Va. The bodies of the last four men in the mine were found early today.

Last 4 Bodies Taken From Burning Mine

SARDIS, W. Va. (P) — The bodies of four more miners were removed from a burning coal mine near this central West Virginia community early today, ending a 32-hour effort to save seven men trapped underground by smoke and fire.

The four were found huddled together in a passageway three-quarters of a mile from where the fire broke out late Saturday night.

The bodies of three other victims were found earlier.

Hopes of the more than 100 rescue workers had been raised shortly after midnight with the discovery of a mine regulator.

Across the regulator was a message scrawled in chalk: "Couldn't get across." It was signed with the names of the four miners.

E. E. Spote, vice president of Clinchfield Coal Co., said the four apparently had tried to get past the fire, but smoke forced them deeper into the mine which runs several miles back into a mountain.

The last victims to be found were Clell Leedy, 53, of Bluefield; Robert Savage, 57, of Rosemont; Isaac Moats, 39, of Moxleyville, and Andy Kurusz, 44, of Galloway.

Bodies of two miners, who died from smoke inhalation and lack of oxygen, were found early today. They were Carl Banish 45, Lost Creek, and Kennedy Kerr, 53, Belington.

DEAD ON ARRIVAL The first man found, Charles Lantz, 26, Buckhannon—was brought unconscious from the mine late last night. He was dead on arrival at a hospital in Clarksburg, six miles away.

Lantz, Banish and Kerr were found in an area about three-fourths of a mile beyond the point where a mining machine hit a power cable, touching off the fire.

Relatives of the remaining men stayed at the entrance of the Clinchfield Coal Co.'s Mars mine through the night, along with several clergymen. Many had been there since shortly after the fire broke out.

"I refuse to give up hope," said Mrs. Leedy. She and several other women complained there were no doctors on the scene.

TEN MINERS Ten men were in the mine when the fire started. Three, who were operating the continuous mining machine, escaped after vainly trying to extinguish the blaze.

They were Jerry Povronik, 22, Albion, 30, and Bernard Keener, 67, all of Clarksburg.

Keener, a mine foreman, said flames suddenly shot up from the power line as the machine passed over it. "We spent about 30 minutes fighting the fire, but there was just too much smoke."

"I tried to telephone the men further back inside, but they didn't answer." The fire had destroyed the mine's communications system.

Levin Is Selected Most-Promising Dem Freshman

LANSING (AP) — Freshman Sen. Sander Levin, D-Berkley, emerged as a standout Saturday in a poll of Capitol news correspondents who rated legislators for their virtually completed 1965 work.

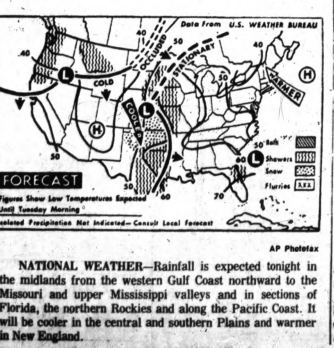

Levin, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee and leading proponent of a host of labor legislation this year, was overwhelmingly picked as most promising Democratic freshman senator and ran second as his party's most effective senator. He was named in one category or the other on 75 percent of the ballots cast on senate rankings.

Despite there being 148 legislators for whom votes could be cast, there were standout leaders in every category. Every winner in the Senate picked up 50 per cent or more of the votes.

Four Children Shot to Death

Police in Maryland Questioning Woman

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Four children of a former Kansas congressman were found shot in the head early today in a Laurel apartment. State police said three were dead and the fourth died en route to a hospital.

Officers said they were questioning a 37-year-old woman about the shooting.

The victims were the children of Denver D. Hargis, 44-year-old lawyer of Venus, Va., former Democratic congressman from Kansas, and former mayor of Coffeyville, Kan. He is an area coordinator for the Southwest division of the Economic Development Administration.

The bodies of Sandra Hargis, 12, Michael, 8, and Brenda, 2, were found in two bedrooms at the Fox Rest Apartments three miles east of Laurel off Maryland Route 197. Debra, 5, died en route to Kimbrough Army Hospital at nearby Ft. Meade, Md.

Laurel is midway between Baltimore and Washington.

GRAND JURY

Arthur Marshall Jr., Prince Georges County state's attorney said today he would present the case to the new grand jury tomorrow at Upper Marlboro, Md.

Sgt. Charles Greffen and Trooper James Henkel went to the apartment after state police received a call from Hargis. Officers quoted him as saying he had been telephoned by his wife and there probably was some serious trouble at her apartment.

Greffen and Henkel found the windows and doors of the apartment locked. They used a crowbar on the front door to enter.

WOMAN STOPPED

A few minutes later, state police stopped a 37-year-old woman in downtown Laurel as she was driving her car. They said she gave them a 25-caliber automatic which had one cartridge jammed in the firing chamber.

Hargis told police he had been separated from his wife for three months.

4-PLANE RAID

U.S. briefing officers said Communist ground fire downed one F105 Thunderchief and another disappeared during a four-plane raid Saturday 70 miles southwest of Hanoi. The pilots were listed as missing.

The U.S. planes downed over the weekend brought to 114 the number lost in Communist territory since American planes began attacking targets in North Viet Nam last February.

A South Vietnamese fighter-bomber also was lost in a weekend raid. Guerrilla gunners knocked it down 50 miles north of Saigon yesterday. The pilot was killed.

In other air action over North Viet Nam, 20 Air Force F105s destroyed two antiaircraft sites and three automatic weapon positions about 75 miles north of Hanoi, spokesmen said.

Committee Will Study Harlan School Border

BIRMINGHAM — A committee of PTA and administration representatives soon will begin studying the Harlan Elementary School boundary problem.

Continued growth of the school's enrollment area, primarily due to new housing construction, has accounted for an all-time high enrollment figure for the school.

As of the fourth Friday after school began, the official day for tabulation, there were 696 pupils attending classes there.

By using all available space, a maximum of about 725 youngsters can be accommodated.

Schools Supt. Dr. John B. Smith has asked PTA president Donald Mann to appoint representatives to serve on the study committee.

ALTERNATE PLANS

It will study alternate plans which could be used if enrollment approaches the maximum figure.

Smith emphasized that no boundary changes will be made during the current school year.

However, boundary changes will be necessary for the fall of 1966 if the best possible educational opportunities are to be made available to the children, he said.

NECESSARY IN PAST

This has been necessary in the past in other overcrowded schools in the district.

Dr. Smith said that in no case will a child be taken out of Harlan during the school year after he has started there.

Four Birmingham-Bloomfield area schools won awards in the 30th annual contest and critique for yearbooks conducted by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Fear Killing to Spur Latin Strife

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — More violence is feared in Santo Domingo as the result of the killing of a conservative political leader.

The provisional government canceled all civilian arms permits in an effort to prevent shootings by vengeful friends of the slain man, Angel Severt Cabral, 56.

A heavily armed guard was thrown around the cemetery where Cabral was buried Sunday. The angry crowd burned a Jeep of the government radio station and beat up its driver.

Another radio station which had supported the rebels went off the air after an unidentified armed group attacked its him to a hospital. She said she was shot in the arm trying to shield him.

Police were reported searching for two men believed involved in the slaying.

Provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy in a radio-televi- sion speech announced the cancellation of civilian arms permits and said any persons possessing weapons illegally would be severely punished. Government sources said the arms ban was expected to go into effect next week.

Garcia-Godoy called the killing of Cabral a criminal act and added: "I can assure you that there will be law and order in this country."

It's a Catty Situation

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "LOVES CATS" is so ridiculous that anyone who is THAT ignorant shouldn't be allowed to raise cats, let alone children.

Fifty years ago I heard that story about cats sucking the breath out of babies, but I didn't think it circulated. Honestly, some people will believe anything!

It is true, a cat will seek a warm place, so if a cat jumps a baby's carriage, or crib, and snuggles up close to the baby, it is only to keep warm.

Cats love children, and would never intentionally harm them, unless provoked.

"I have been active in animal welfare work for many years, and although I have heard this old wives' tale many times, I have never known anyone who was actually a witness to such a thing. They always heard it from their grandmother's cousin's neighbor lady's housekeeper.

Sincerely,
"SKEPTICAL" IN BOSTON

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would have given that young woman signed "LOVES CATS" the peace of mind she sought, and told her to keep her lovely cats and spot to worry about their harming her new baby.

I am the mother of six, ranging in ages from 6 months to 15 years old, and we have never been without cats. Not only one cat, but many. I have had cats before any of my children were born, and I intend to have them long after the children are grown and gone.

Our cats have slept with the babies and have been marvelous pets to them. Not once did any of our cats ever as much as scratch a child.

Our youngsters have learned cleanliness, kindness and responsibility from our cats. I do think you were wise to mention that all animals (like people) are unpredictable, so one should be careful not to expose a tiny infant to an animal larger than he is.

But our experiences with cats have all been good.

ANOTHER CAT LOVER:
SAN DIEGO, CAL.

DEAR ABBY: No one will ever tell me that the story of a cat's taking a baby's breath is an old wives' tale, because this is what happened to me:

We lived in a second-story apartment and a neighbor downstairs had a big 16-pound black cat. Our baby was about three months old at the time.

My husband and I were in the kitchen, and the baby was in her buggy in the living room. I thought I heard some rather strange noises coming from the living room, so my husband and I went in to take a look.

Well, it seems that cat got into our place somehow, and there he was with his mouth on the baby's, and his big black paws pawing away on her chest and throat. The baby was struggling to get her breath and her little face was beet red.

My husband grabbed the cat and I grabbed the baby. I am sure if we hadn't gotten there in time, our baby would have been dead. This is a true story and you may use my name.

Anybody Else Have Husband Like This?

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant
in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: Please help me before I lose my mind.

Tell me what you think a husband and wife should have to spend for food for a week.

I have been married for almost 40 years and I have never had any household money to depend on.

My husband has always gone with me to the market and paid for the groceries. When we get home, he complains, "We didn't need that."

He likes good food on the table, though.

Unappreciated Housewife, Massillon, Ohio

Dear U. H.: You're a patient girl. But since you've been putting up with this situation for 40 years, carry on. You don't say what you're spending now, but the experts at the Department of Agriculture say a husband and wife can eat moderately well on $16.50 a week.

If he's a choosy guy, as you say, then he liberal and spend $18.70 a week. You could even spend up to $19 or $20 and still feel perfectly justified.

Why don't you have a bad cold some shopping day, and let him buy the week's groceries on his own? He may come home a poorer and a wiser man.

Dear Miss Feeley: I understand that banks insure accounts up to $10,000.

But if you have three separate books in your name in trust for each of your three children—one book for $3,000, the other two for $5,000 each—it makes over $10,000.

Is each account insured for $10,000?

Mrs. L. W., Jamaica, N.Y.
Dear Mrs. W.: In your case each account is insured for the amount in it.

Since the beneficiaries of the accounts are different individuals, these funds are not added together in the covering insurance.

Each account is insured up to a maximum deposit of $10,000.

Dear Mary Feeley: As we are in our 50s, we are faced with facts—such as the need for thinking about making a will.

We have no children, and don't feel we want to leave everything we have to relatives. We do, however, want to leave something for our church, institutions or needy places. We own a beautiful home and have quite a fair sum in the bank.

Cinderella to Appear This Week

The Lakeland Players will present "Cinderella" for their children's theater production at Pierce Junior High School Thursday and Friday at 4:30 p.m.

On Saturday there will be three performances: 11 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

The lead part will be played by Beth Krueger with a supporting cast including Mrs. Harold Babb, Mrs. Ralph Rhinehart, Joanne Fox, Pat Wilkinson and Kay Lewis.

Others are Jack McCaffrey, Jerry Lewis and Craig Thompson.

Does one specify in the will how much such people should get, or how is it handled? I would like to know a few details before we go to a lawyer, so we can have a few things worked out. We don't want to have to decide on the spur of the moment. Please give us some advice.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Owatonna, Minn.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. J.: Write down on paper exactly how you would like your estate to be distributed. Just say in plain words what you would lawyer before you make any final decision.

(For Mary Feeley's new booklet, "Make Every Dollar Count," send $1 to Dollar Book in care of The Pontiac Press. List them as 1, 2, and 3, etc.)
The very fact that you write them down on paper will help you clarify your own thinking. You will have time to give the most thoughtful consideration. Then go to your lawyer with this list and discuss each of the provisions. He will then be able to draw up the will or wills that best carry out your wishes. Don't try to do it by yourselves. There are many legal angles you will want to talk over with your

Newlyweds Come Home to Pontiac

At home on South Jessie Street are Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Spires (Linda June Howland) who were recently in the North Anderson Church of God, Anderson, Ind.

Dr. Donald Courtney performed the rite before a reception in the Old Memorial Student Center of Anderson College.

Parents of the couple are the Frank E. Howlands of Hastings, Neb., and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Spires of Royal Oak, formerly of Pontiac.

Marjorie L. Germany attended the bride and Jeffrey Spires was best man for his brother, Eugene Hargett and James Deering were ushers.

The newlyweds visited Niagara Falls and Canada on their honeymoon.

Reception in Home for Pair

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My husband and I would like to have a reception here at home in honor of our 25th wedding anniversary.

We have a large number of friends we would like to invite. However, our house is not large enough to accommodate them all at one time.

Would it be proper to specify different hours on the invitations? For example, write on some invitations, 2 to 3 o'clock and on others, 3 to 4 o'clock, etc.?

A: I'm sorry, but specifying different hours would not be proper. The only thing you can do is to stretch the hours of your party over a longer period of time.

For example, instead of having your party say, from two to five, have it from one to seven and you may safely count on your guests coming at different hours and not all at the same time.

Q: Will you please answer the following question which several of us have been debating? Is it necessary for a woman alone or for several women without escorts to tip waiters, porters, etc.?

A: It is the understanding of some of the group that this is a custom for men only and that it is not necessary for unescorted women to tip. What do you have to say about this?

A: They most certainly are expected to tip.

Q: When invited to spend the weekend in someone's house, may we bring our small dog along? We can't always find someone to look after him while we are away.

A: You should not bring your dog along with you without first receiving the permission of your hostess who may not welcome four-footed visitors in her house.

The correct wording and addressing of wedding invitations and announcements are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled "Wedding Invitations and Announcements."

Lions Big Lead Vanishes as Packers Hit With Bombs, SF-21

Starr Hits 3 TD Aerials in Third Period

Disputed Penalty Aids Final Green Bay Tally in Closing Minutes

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
Even Mandrake the Magician couldn't have provided a bigger disappearing act than what took place yesterday at Tiger Stadium.

Leading 21-3 at halftime, as result of their best offensive display of the year, everything vanished for the Detroit Lions.

Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr threw three "bombs" in the third quarter, took advantage of a disputed penalty in the final minutes to score on a four-yard run himself to give the Packers a 31-21 victory.

The constant roaring crowd of 56,712 cheered heavily as the Packers took full chunks of yardage and Milt Plum hit for eight of 13 and two touchdowns in the first half.

They booed even louder as whistles marred the exciting game with penalties.

Green Bay took a 3-0 lead helped by 15-yard penalty on Burco Maher for piling on. Don Chandler boot it from the 49-yard line.

For the rest of the first half the Lions mauled the vaunted Packer defense and set up a defense of their own that allowed only 71 yards total for two periods.

Hitting Terry Barr and Gai Cogdill with short passes, Plum then flipped over the head of Tom Brown to Ben Kramer for a 14-yard touchdown and a 7-3 lead with Wayne Walker's pass.

It was an 80-yard march, the longest sustained drive of the year for the Lions.

INTERCEPTION
A couple minutes later Roger Brown hit Starr's arm and Wayne Rasmussen intercepted. Behind three great blocks by Ernie Clark, Sam Williams and Wayne Walker he went 36 yards for the touchdown.

Early in the second period, an 83-yard march in six plays was climaxed with a 55-yard pass to Starr from Barr and it was 21-3 with Walker's point.

The big blitz came in the third quarter. Only 1:17 went by and Starr passed down the middle to flanker Bob Long. Carroll Dale blocked out Rasmussen and it went for a 62-yard touchdown.

With only 3:32 gone corner man Jimmy Hill was hurt and rookie Jim Kearney came in. Starr wasted no time to test the rookie. He hit Tom Moore with a 31-yard strike to make it 21-17 with Chandler's point.

Browns Build Lead Early to Win, 23-17

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns built up an early lead against a stubborn Dallas defense Sunday and held on for a 23-17 victory over the Cowboys.

Jim Brown scored one Cleveland TD, Frank Ryan passed 29 yards to Walter Roberts for another, and Lou Groza kicked three field goals — including one of 48 yards.

The Cowboys blanked for nearly the entire first half, scored on two passes by Don Meredith and a field goal by Danny Villanueva.

Ryan's pass from midfield intended for Roberts fell into the arms of a Dallas defender, but the officials ruled pass interference, and the Browns took over on the Dallas 10. On the next play, Brown charged through the line for a touchdown.

The Giants, who had been humbled by Cleveland 52-20 in their last home appearance at Yankee Stadium in 1964, came home with a 2-2 record and impressed the fans with their new air attack.

Lions---'We Took Gas'

The fans, 56,712 of them, were enraged. The coaches shook their heads in disgust, the players angry and bitter agreed they, "took the gas."

This is a slang expression in sports which is often interpreted to mean "we were robbed."

The Detroit Lions locker room looked like a gas chamber after Sunday's 31-21 loss to the Packers.

The local play which caused much of the bitterness was the roughing penalty called on Bruce Maher with mere than five minutes left in the game.

Bart Starr hit and Merv Fleming with an eight yard pass to the Packer 47. Fleming was hit by Ernie Clark but the Packer was still standing and trying to get loose.

Maher raced in to secure the tackle and was whistled for piling on.

"As far as I'm concerned, the man was still on his feet and still moving. It's pretty obvious what happened," coach Harry Gilmer commented.

Lions Collapse Under Starr 'Bombs'

Plum was unable to connect, and the Packers again fired against Kearney.

Starr, on a third down and one situation on his own 23, passed to Dale over the middle all alone and Dale went 77 yards for the touchdown to put Green Bay ahead 24-21.

Maher was moved to the corner spot in place of Kearney and Tom Vaughn went in at safety in the final period.

With 7:20 left to play, the Packers moved from their 26 to their 47 and at this point the big rhuabarb took place. Starr hit end Marv Fleming with an eight-yard pass to the 47.

Clark had Fleming by the legs and Maher rushed in to secure the tackle. Official Jack Fette whistled Maher for unnecessary roughness and wild tempers and crowd reaction followed.

Assistant coach Carl Taseff raced onto the field and when all the yardage was marked off against the Lions, the Packers gained 38 yards on the penalties.

There were 5:28 minutes left to play and as the crowd roared the clock ran and at 2:18 the Packers finally got off a play at the Detroit 15.

Three plays later, Starr bootlegged around his right side for a four-yard touchdown to kill Detroit's hopes.

The Packers were held to only 83 yards on the ground but the aerial bombs netted 291 yards on Starr's 15 of 23.
