Education Board Rules Out Plans for 8 Additions

Cost of Domed Rooms Would Be Too High, Members Decide

By PETE LOCHBILER

The city Board of Education last night scuttled plans to build circular, domed additions to eight elementary schools.

The novel structures, six months in the planning, cost more than Pontiac can afford to pay, board members reluctantly decided.

Expressing "keen disappointment" over the price, figured as $81,000 too high, president Louis H. Schimmel said, "It's tough for us to turn them down, but we have to draw the line someplace."

He announced after a 25-minute recess during the special meeting that board members had rejected the $781,000 price set by the Detroit architectural firm, following discussion of other pressing financial problems, including demands for higher teacher salaries and plans for other new buildings.

Henry Haberkorn, general manager of H. E. Beyster and Associates who designed the one-story buildings, 96 feet in diameter, which would function as multi-purpose rooms, said board members were "good sports" to go along with the tradition-breaking design as far as they had.

ASK FOR NEW PLANS

He was asked to draw up new plans for multi-purpose rooms, rectangular in shape, which the board said would be built as soon as possible.

Bids for the circular buildings, opened last week, last night were rejected, and the board asked that classroom construction at three schools, included in the original project, be re-opened for bidding.

The decision came after Otto C. Hutziger, coordinator of the building program, had recommended that the board pay no more than $700,000 for the multi-purpose rooms plus the standard classrooms.

HELD CONFERENCES

Haberkorn's final price, he said, was the result of a week-long conference with local contractors to bring original bids down to within the board's financial range.

Low bidders originally set the total cost at about $2 million, or about $700,000 more than the board had planned to pay.

Haberkorn explained that about $200,000 had been sheared from the (Continued on Page 4, Col. 6)

Blast Rips Philly Center

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A devastating explosion blasted a four-story granary into flaming rubble last night and cut a 10-block swath of damage through Philadelphia's busy 30th and Market Street section.

At least five persons were missing and believed dead. Four others were on the critical list.

Scores were treated for injuries, some of them late evening shoppers heading home at the time of the blast—8:10 p.m.

Not until the cold morning air cleared away the pall of black smoke was the extent of the destruction fully revealed. As far as the eye could see there were broken windows, smashed automobiles, scattered debris.

REDUCED TO RUBBLE

The scene of the explosion was two blocks west of the Schuylkill River that separates the downtown portion of the city from West Philadelphia.

Across the street from the blast building—the milling plant of the Tidewater Mill and Elevator Co.—the new Philadelphia Bulletin four-story building took the full fury of the blast.

Windows were reduced to glass powder, ceilings fell, partitions were hammered out of shape and office furniture was overturned.

The force of the blast tore down communications lines on Market Street, knocked electric signs off buildings and showered the area with fragments of metal and wood. The explosion was felt 25 miles away. The City Hall switchboard reported an estimated 25,000 telephone calls were received in a four-hour period.

"HELLISH FURY"

Workmen in the demolished plant's warehouse said they were alive "by a miracle." An employee of a nearby business place said "it seemed as if a train roared past us and then burst with hellish fury."

Firemen and police probing the red-hot debris for dead and injured worked under strain, well aware of the chance that another blast might occur.

The explosion was blamed by the milling company's night superintendent on collected dust.

Samuel Purdy said he was attempting to light a pilot light in a drying vat when the blast was touched off. The building collapsed almost immediately and burst into roaring flames.

Area Churches Schedule Services for Good Friday

Christians around the world will attend Good Friday services in the churches of their faith commemorating the death of Christ on the cross nearly 2000 years ago.

Many churches will hold Communion Services tonight, Maundy Thursday, in remembrance of the first Lord's Supper instituted by Jesus, the night before His crucifixion.

In Roman Catholic, Lutheran and Episcopal churches the cross will be covered with a dark cloth Friday.

Under the auspices of the Pontiac Pastors' Association, the Annual Good Friday Service will be held from noon to 3 p.m. in the Central Methodist Church.

The Rev. Carl W. Nelson, president of the association, will preside during the First Hour.

"The Seven Words from the Cross" will be given by the Rev. Lenworth R. Miner of Macedonia Baptist; Galen E. Hershey, associate pastor of First Presbyterian; Malcolm K. Burton of First Congregational; John W. Mulder, associate pastor of Central Methodist; Dr. H. H. Savage of First Baptist; George L. Garver of Lutheran Church of the Ascension; and Kenneth Hutchinson of the First Church of the Nazarene.

Dr. William H. Marbach will preside during the Second Hour and in charge of the Third Hour will be the pastor of Central Methodist, Dr. Milton H. Bank.

The annual Maundy Thursday Communion Service will be held at 7:30 tonight at the First Presbyterian Church. A class of new members will be received and Dr. William H. Marbach will preach the sermon.

At 7 o'clock this evening, a candlelight Communion Service will be held in Central Methodist (Continued on Page 4, Col. 1)

Meanwhile, tax collection officer John H. Spear has decided to wait for a ruling on a legal question before moving against the adjoining office of the Michigan edition of the Communist Daily Worker.

William "Billy" Allan, Michigan editor of the Daily Worker, told Spear yesterday.

"This action has nothing to do with us. This is the Michigan edition of the Daily Worker, a non-profit organization registered at the county building."

Tax liens against the party and Publishers' New Press, Inc., publisher of the Daily Worker, were filed yesterday with the clerk of the federal district court in Detroit.

Ganley, Wellman and Allan currently are appealing convictions for conspiracy to overthrow the government by force.

The padlocking of U.S. Communist party offices and those of its paper, the Daily Worker, in New York City and other cities, drew praise today from several members of Congress.

Freezing Rain Fails to Halt Ceremony

Braving freezing rain yesterday afternoon, some 50 persons including all top city officials, turned out for the brief ground-breaking ceremonies for the $800,000 Public Safety Building.

Using the same red ribbon-wrapped silver spade used in the 1953 ceremony for the City Hall, Mayor William W. Donaldson turned the first shovel-full of dirt.

Each commissioner, police and fire chief, and both municipal judges contributed a spadeful of earth which will be saved for a future planting in the building.

Located next to the City Hall, the edifice, the second in the Civic Center project, will house the police department and fire staff offices, and municipal courts.

Rev. George Garver gave the opening prayer before yesterday's ceremony.

Cite Two Safety Records

Pontiac and Birmingham were cited by the National Safety Council today for having perfect traffic safety records in the first two months of this year.

Flint too went through January and February without any traffic fatalities.

Pontiac's record was marred this month with the death of an Auburn Heights man, but it remained one less than those killed in the city at this time last year.

Hogs Get Farmer's Milk

MILK FED HOGS — Farmer Howard Wilson, above, began dumping yesterday's milk supply to hogs on his farm at 390 W. Gunn Rd. when it was returned by a milk tank driver who refused to cross picket lines at the Borden Company depot in Pontiac.

UNDELIVERED MILK — Some of the three tons of raw milk which one independent milk truck driver yesterday refused to deliver to the picketed Borden Company plant in Pontiac, as returned to an area farm. The driver, above, Donald G. Greshover, of Pontiac, said that the 18 farmers he services had agreed to withhold milk for the time being.

Farmers' Group Poises for New Picket Action

State Milk Producers Demand Price Hike, Set Sunday Deadline

A new threat to the region's milk supply loomed yesterday when officials of the powerful Michigan Milk Producers Assn. said they will call a strike involving 12,600 members unless demands for a price hike are met by Sunday.

Picketing, begun yesterday at Pontiac's Borden Co. by the Fair Share Bargaining Assn., spread to the Shamrock Dairy this morning when an undisclosed number of farmers appeared at the plant.

The number of local pickets at Borden's grew to 10 this morning at 10:30 a.m. A spokesman for the sign-carrying farmers said that they will attempt to persuade drivers of five trucks expected today to turn back.

No violence was reported at either dairy, nor were any of the city's four other creameries affected by the strike.

A group of about 15 FSBA pickets appeared again this morning in Romeo to press their efforts to persuade truckers not to deliver their milk to the Borden depot.

The hub of FSBA activity centered in Imlay City last night where 18 huge tank trucks carrying 30,000 gallons of milk were halted by "flying squadrons" and steered to a parking lot at the MMPA's processing plant there. Seven others, bound from the north, were stopped at the county line at Almont.

AVERT VIOLENCE

Possible violence will be averted by a force of 24 additional state police officers, according to Capt. Jack Warner, commander of the Second District. According to Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Lapeer County law authorities have reported that they would be unable to cope with the "tense" situation.

Leaders of the Fair Share group have called a mass meeting for tonight in Imlay City's American Legion Hall to make further plans for conducting the strike. FSBA spokesman Homer Martin and MMPA President Glenn Lake reportedly met last night in an unsuccessful effort to reach a compromise.

The FSBA action has been termed a "wildcat strike" by MMPA President Glenn Lake, of Imlay City, who said that his organization will start dumping milk Monday unless Detroit area dairies meet MMPA demands for a price increase to $5 a hundred pounds.

HITS HIGH PRICE

An MMPA spokesman termed the Fair Share group's demand for $6.50 a hundred-weight merely a "bargaining price." The present rate is $4.41.

According to the MMPA, which (Continued on Page 4, Col. 3)

2 Road Chiefs Still Stymied

Ziegler and Higgins Get Together Today but Fail to Solve Problems

LANSING (AP) — The rival chiefs of the state's two road building agencies appeared for an hour today before a legislative group trying to get them to coordinate plans.

Charles M. Ziegler and George N. Higgins restated their divergent views and the peace-making session ended with little apparent headway toward a solution of the problems that have stymied the toll road construction program.

Ziegler, as state highway commissioner, has responsibility of pushing improvement of the free road system; Higgins, as chairman of the Michigan Turnpike Authority, with getting two toll projects mapped out by the Legislature in 1953.

The two were summoned before the Senate Highway Committee in hopes of breaking the deadlock that has kept the toll projects on the drawing board.

Ziegler reiterated that he was not prepared to let needed free road improvements along the proposed Rockwood-Saginaw turnpike route go by the board.

"I insisted that the toll road, if built, stand on its own feet and should not be subsidized by restricting other improvements in order to force the use of a toll highway," Ziegler told the committee.

Fog Follows Sleet Here, Power Lines Go Down

Plagued by freezing rain yesterday, Pontiac area residents awoke to a new threat this morning as a heavy fog hovered over the area and most of southern Michigan.

Yesterday's sleet and freezing rain caused three breaks in Detroit Edison lines in the White Lake and Waterford Township areas in the early morning hours.

Some 400 homes were affected in White Lake Township at 3 a.m. as a line break knocked out a substation. Power was restored in an hour, a spokesman reported.

Two smaller breaks in Waterford Township around Williams Lake reportedly effected some 35 Detroit Edison customers, who were without service for three hours.

Weeping Inkster Teenager Admits Hit-and-Run Fatalities of Two Friends

INKSTER (INS) — A 15-year-old Inkster, Mich., high school sophomore broke into tears today when he learned his "joyride" in an uncle's car resulted in the deaths of two boys he knew.

Theodore R. Lee, Jr., admitted to sheriff's officers that he was the hit-run driver who struck down and killed two Romulus Township boys on foggy Ecorse Road last night.

Killed were Larry D. Traster, 12, and Robert Struberg, 14. They were struck and thrown high into the air as they walked home from an ice cream store.

Witnesses noted the hit-run auto's license number and notified the sheriff's office. The car was traced to John E. Quinn, 31, brother of Theodore's mother.

Quinn said the car had disappeared from the driveway of the house and detectives confronted the high school student when they learned he had left early from his job last night.

Theodore confessed he had taken Quinn's car and hit the boys while on a "joyride" down Ecorse Road. He said:

"I was passing another car, going maybe 65 miles an hour, when suddenly I saw the two boys ahead of me. I slammed on the brakes and tried to swerve — but it was too late."

BECAME FRIGHTENED

"I stopped the car and started to get out. Then I got scared — real scared. So I threw the car into gear and took off."

Stories of Easter — Pretonius

He Found Belief at Foot of Cross

(This is the sixth story in an Easter Week series. It concerns a man who believed Christ was the son of God and killed Him.)

By GEORGE CORNELL (AP Religious Writer)

Pretonius was not amused. "Get a bystander to carry that beast," he barked at a soldier. A startled citizen was conscripted for the task.

Across the teeming city, a wide-eyed, excited throng trailed the execution party. Some women pressed in close to the maimed prisoner, wailing bitterly. The poor wretch said: "Weep not for me."

Three of them today. A pathetic lot they were, especially one of them. Officer Pretonius strapped on his buckler and spoke sharply to his four-man detail: "Get them started."

He motioned to the herald, who stepped off bearing the orders of execution ahead of the condemned prisoners. That disabled one—He looked badly hurt—would never make it. Pretonius muttered an oath.

CROWN OF THORNS

The fellow swayed helplessly, shouldering the 150-pound cross-beam. He obviously had been severely flogged—probably cuffed about all night without rest. Some jester had put a derisive "king's crown" on him—of thorns.

Pretonius shook his head, puzzled. The fellow was a peculiar one—submissive, clean-cut, with a wise, friendly face, deeply veined with sorrow. Nothing at all like the two belligerent bandits who walked beside him.

Someone said He was 33, a kind of sensation-rousing holy man who claimed Godly lineage.

But He resembled no god Pretonius knew. To an alert Roman, it was safest to stay on the good side of all the gods—Jupiter, Venus, Ceres and the rest—all properly worshipped before their temple images. Certainly not out on the wayside, or just anywhere, as this fellow was said to have taught. Like most Roman soldiers, Pretonius nominally looked to Mithras—the warrior's invincible sun god—as the appropriate god for him.

A hot sun beat down as the procession moved out the west city gate and up the slope of Golgotha—the "Place of the Skull" with its stench of decay, litter of bones and ravens circling overhead.

Pretonius stood grimly, his arms folded, as the soldiers stripped the prisoners, laid them on their backs, their heads on the patibulum (cross beams), and nailed down their outstretched hands.

Their extended arms were bound to the beams to support their weights until hoisted.

Then, one at a time, the three beams, with the bodies affixed, were raised by ropes to stout upright stakes, and the cross-beams lashed to notches. The victims' legs were set astride pegs, their feet fastened with long nails, and the arm ropes removed.

The crowd stared. Time dragged. Pretonius sweated. He loathed the assignment, especially this one, even though crucifixion was a common Roman punishment for non-Roman criminals of the worst sort and slaves.

In Syria, he once watched a mass crucifixion of 2,000 rebels. There wasn't enough room for the crosses, and not enough crosses (Continued on Page 15, Col. 1)

Bids Accepted on Bond Issue

Board of Education OKs Detroit Corporation's Handling Sale

At a special meeting last night the city Board of Education approved a bid submitted by the First of Michigan Corporation, Detroit, to finance a $3 million bond issue, to obtain funds for this year's building program.

The Detroit company's bid was the only one received.

The board also approved signing contracts to share with builders the cost of water and sanitary sewers in Pontiac Knolls Subdivision, where the new Linda Vista Elementary School is under construction.

The cost to the board of $16,379.53 was figured as the school's part in the utilities, according to Otto C. Hutziger, coordinator of the building program, who recommended the expenditures.

President Louis H. Schimmel was authorized to sign contracts to pay the school's share of paving costs in the area, and also to finance sewer and water tie-ins leading to the school. Total cost was estimated at about $11,000, according to Hutziger.

Council Reports Traffic Deaths Climbing Higher

CHICAGO — Traffic deaths are going up and up.

The National Safety Council has focused attention on the long upward climb with this statement: "February was the 12th month in a row to show more deaths than the same month of the preceding year."

Deaths are now going up faster than the increase in travel, so the only conclusion is that people are driving more carelessly."

The council said motor vehicle fatalities in February equaled the all-time high for a February. It reported 2,630 Americans were killed, the same number as in February in 1941 and 1952.

The toll in February of this year was 16 per cent higher than in February 1955. Some of the increase was attributed to the extra day in this leap year February.

But, the council said, it was the largest monthly percentage increase since June 1951.

Three Hospitalized in Two-Auto Crash

Three persons were reported hospitalized this morning for injuries suffered in a two-car accident six miles east of Romeo, according to State Police at the Romeo post.

In St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Mt. Clemens are Dan Deedon, 71, of Crosswell, and Albert Ullrich, age unknown, and his wife, Alma, 35, both of Armada. The extent of their injuries has not been determined, troopers said.

Deedon's car, according to troopers, ran a stop light at the corner of 32 Mile road and North avenue. He was ticketed, they said.

Kefauver Set to Start New Mexico Drive

PHOENIX, Ariz. (INS)—It is all or nothing at all for Sen. Estes Kefauver, (D-Tenn) who leaves for Albuquerque today to carry his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination to New Mexico.

The lanky Tennesseean, fresh from a tour of Southern California, declared in Phoenix yesterday that he would not take second place on the Democratic ticket.

He said: "I am not interested in running for the vice presidency. I made up my mind about that long ago."

Milk Strike Threatens for Additional Area

supplies 85 per cent of the Detroit area, the price of milk to the householder would jump about a cent a quart if its demands are met.

A Pontiac creamery spokesman said this morning that the MMPA group's threatened action would "seriously curtail" local milk supplies. The organization's members supply 68 milk sheds in Detroit, Pontiac, Port Huron, Ann Arbor and other southeastern Michigan communities.

SURROUND PLANTS

The Fair Share group is represented by more than 2,000 picketing farmers, according to Arnold E. Weiss of Capac, who states that cordons have been placed around dairies in Owosso, Imlay City and Richmond in addition to Romeo, Pontiac and Detroit.

Four farmer members of the MMPA, two of them district delegates, reportedly turned back with their loads when confronted by picket lines in Romeo this morning. According to an FSRA leader, one MMPA member is quoted as saying, "I'll honor your line today if you'll do the same for ours Sunday."

Leaders of the insurgents report that farmers are being contacted before they transport their milk in efforts to persuade them not to supply picketed creameries.

WON'T SUPPLY PLANT

One independent trucker, Donald G. Gresehover of 392 Walton Blvd., said yesterday that the 18 farmers he serves have agreed not to send milk to Pontiac's Borden Co. today. Gresehover returned three tons of raw milk yesterday after refusing to cross a line composed of some four pickets.

Several farmers, including Howard Wilson of 390 W. Gunn Rd., have offered milk free to the public rather than cross the local picket line. Wilson yesterday fed milk from 45 cows to his hogs.

A bucketful of nails was scattered today near the Imlay City Plant, but pickets picked them up before there was any damage. Police Chief Howard Winslow said he did not know who spread the nails.

A Borden hauler reported yesterday that a farmer attempted to force his truck from the road several times with a car near the Romeo plant. Sheriff's deputies later were called upon to escort at least one halted truck and its driver through the picket line.

Take Speeding to Circuit Court

Flint Father, Son Ask Review of Decision of Springfield Justice

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams yesterday took under advisement the first speeding appeal case to be tried in Circuit Court for several years.

The case was appealed from Springfield Justice Court by a Flint father and son, both ticketed for driving one car at excessive speeds last Sept. 26 on the Dixie Highway.

Willard L. Brancheau, 44, and his son, Ronald, 22, appeared after being fined by Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Letz last October.

The younger Brancheau was ticketed by State Police who claimed he hit speeds up to 90 while driving through a section of road which was being widened, according to Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

The father then took over the wheel driving toward Flint and was stopped a few miles farther for traveling 45 in a 35-mile-an-hour zone.

The case was heard Tuesday, but Judge Adams withheld his decision pending submission of briefs by attorneys involved.

Find Window Broken in Area Gas Station

Patrolling deputies of the Oakland County Sheriff's department, last night minimized the possibility of a robbery attempt at a White Lake Township gas station.

They said a window was broken at 10501 E. Highland Rd., but apparently nothing taken from soft drink and other vending machines.

U.S. farms had 1,000 grain combines in 1910; 887,000 in 1952.

Labor Market Remains Stable

Unemployment Steady at 4,800 in City Area, Report Indicates

Little change was noted in the Pontiac area labor market at mid-March, as unemployment remained at 4,800 as it was in February.

This constituted 1,300 more laborers out of work than at the same period last year.

This unemployment caused a rash of 9,053 unemployment insurance checks worth $303,543 to be issued by the Pontiac branch of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

This compares to 7,141 checks for $233,057 issued in February and 4,490 totaling $141,677 the previous month.

During the thirty day period from mid-February, total non-farm employment picked up 100 workers for a total of 78,200.

Manufacturing employment held at the 41,600 level for the same period while the transportation, communication, and utility fields showed an increase of 100.

The area's largest industry, motor vehicles, after a series of reductions from December to February, maintained a stable employment at the 31,700 level during the period.

James H. Dudley, branch manager of the commission, expects seasonal developments to add 1,000 workers to the construction, retail trade, service and governmental work in the next two months.

Such a reaction to seasonal changes was noted at the City Hall Monday and last Friday as 400 sought out city jobs for future construction work.

This was no record according to Personnel Director William L. Collins who said in previous years at this time close to 700 have applied for city work.

Education Proposal Killed by House Vote

LANSING — A proposal which sponsors claimed would take the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction out of politics has been killed by the House.

The measure, a proposed constitutional amendment, mustered 52 supporting votes, 22 short of the needed number.

It provided for doubling the membership of the State Board of Education from four to eight members. This enlarged board would appoint the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The measure was sponsored by Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton). A similar proposal introduced last year was defeated.

The State Superintendent of Public Instruction is now elected every two years at the spring election. The office is presently held by Dr. Clair L. Taylor, a Republican.

New Poll Place for Precinct 30 in City Election

Voters in precinct 30, District 3, will vote Monday in the general election at the Casa Del Rey Apts., at 111 Oneida Rd., City Clerk Ada R. Evans announced.

Voters in this precinct will enter from the Algonquin road entrance to get to the polling place in the recreation room of the apartments.

The change from the regular polling place at the Congregation B'nai Israel was necessitated because of a religious holiday Monday.

total bill by examining sub-contractors' mistakes in dealing with unusual aspects of the construction. The bill was further reduced by cutting out non-essential items, he said.

Schimmel commented that "to reduce the buildings any more would be to spoil them." He added: "I think all of us were carried away with the idea that the buildings were something the community really wanted which we could afford."

"They provided the ultimate in multi-purpose rooms. But they aren't for Pontiac—we just can't afford them."

According to Hutziger, the buildings were "beautifully conceived and wonderfully executed. But we will provide adequate, good multi-purpose rooms just the same," he added.

Idaho, New Jersey, Montana and Arizona lead the U. S. in zinc production.

Consumers Power Plans Plant in Saginaw Bay

LANSING — Gov. Williams today signed a bill permitting the state to sell 950 acres of submerged land in Saginaw Bay to Consumers Power Co. to be used as a site for a giant new power plant.

The land will be sold to the company for $100,000 or an amount determined by the State Tax Commission, whichever is higher.

L. G. Refuses to Surrender to Age

He's 90, but Never Call Him 'Grandfather'

By PHYLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK (INS)—In this world of tensions, wars, sudden death and taxes, it is all too rarely one meets a man of 90 who is sound of wind and limb and nibbles stroke.

I know perhaps the most remarkable one of them all. He is like (though no one must ever tell him) a grandfather to me.

"If you call me 'Grandpa' once more," warned Louis Gordon (L. G.) Battelle 20 years ago, "I will give you the same treatment as your daddy got when he beamed your poor little Uncle Don with a baseball.

"I am not old, am I?" he asked, clapping a skimmer over his white hair and striking a chin-up, thumb-in-vest pose.

"Huh-uh," I said, torn between what I felt was the truth and what I knew was the safe course.

"All right, then, hereafter call me 'L. G.'"

Since that day, as I have slowly decayed, L. G. has become spryer. While his great-grandchildren dabble in light exercises like softball and toad collecting, he paces himself through an active day.

STILL WORKING

The first practicing certified public accountant in Dayton, Ohio, L. G. still maintains a large firm of CPAs and tends to it every morning. In the winter afternoon he practices color photography or turns to his new career, writing books.

"I decided," he told me at the age of 86, "that if you could be a writer, I could too." Two of his books, written arduously in long-hand, have already been published.

Last year he bought a typewriter and learned to use it. "I should get out this one (his third book) in half the time—this is a cinch," he reported.

In the summer, L. G. still plays a mean game of golf. It is not quite as mean as it used to be, judging by the scorecards, but let us not blame that on physical deterioration.

"It's a hard thing for a CPA to admit," says he, darkly studying his card, "but I don't add as well as I used to."

If you ask why some people grow old vigorously while others nurse their ills, you'll get a variety of meaty answers, from "clean over 65 years old are women."

living" to "an ounce of whisky at bedtime for 70 years."

WHO'S GETTING OLD?

But L. G. will not contribute to this problem because no one would dare to imply that he was growing old. Ask him a question like that and he would drag you off bodily to Grace Methodist Church, which he has attended faithfully for a half century, to set your thinking straight.

Actually, L. G. is more mellow than well-aged whisky, which he has never touched. But he wants you to think he's as fiery as those despicable cigarettes he's never smoked.

If he lets fall a tear or two on Sunday, when the Battelle clan gathers around him in Dayton for a 90th birthday celebration, I

Screen Image Aid Introduced by Dow

MIDLAND (AP)—An art form as yet unnamed by its developer, famed Midland architect Alden B. Dow, has been introduced.

It utilizes a translucent plastic screen made of polyethylene, which is manufactured by the Dow Chemical Co. founded by Dow's father, the late Dr. Herbert H. Dow.

Backstage "props" were accentuated by spotlights behind the curtain to project images on the screen. Three ballet dancers performed behind the screen to piano accompaniment.

Dow himself operated a lighting panel controlling a battery of spotlights that cast varied shadows on the screen.

He said the new concert form permits visual as well as auditory enjoyment of music and seeks to integrate dancing with instrumental performance in a way that has never been done before.

Plan War Memorial

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A county-wide, house-to-house campaign by some 2,000 Kent County war veterans is set for May 28 to raise funds for a proposed war memorial in Fulton Park. Campaign officials said some $25,000 already has been raised toward the project. Another $55,000 is needed to complete the memorial as designed.

Fifty-two per cent of Americans

can bear his excuses now:

"I have always thought it was rather significant," he will say, "that I was born on April Fool's nonchalantly wiping his bifocals, Day."

Seeking Signatures

MUSKEGON (AP)—The Greater Muskegon Junior Chamber of Commerce has started its drive for 4,000 signatures on petitions asking that the present coroner system be replaced with licensed medical examiners. Sponsors expect to obtain 5,000 signatures in time to place the proposal on the November ballot.

To Decide Fate of Airport Funds

Mayor Cobo Testifies Before House Group on Wayne Major Switch

LANSING (AP) — The fate of a two million dollar expansion program at Detroit's Wayne Major Airport will probably be decided by the House Ways and Means Committee this week.

The committee yesterday heard testimony from Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit and a spokesman for six airlines now using Willow Run Airport.

The hearing was held on two bills appropriating $841,406 in state matching money for the current fiscal year and fiscal year 1956-57.

COBO URGES IMPROVEMENTS

Cobo told the committee the airport should be improved whether or not the airlines agree to move from Willow Run to Wayne Major. "We do not intend to move to Wayne Major," said Robert J. Wilson, vice president of Capital Airlines and spokesman for other airlines at Willow Run.

Wilson said it would take 28 million dollars to put the Wayne Major Airport in condition to serve as Detroit's major commercial airport.

Cobo insisted the figure was actually more like 13 million dollars. Wilson said the airlines don't want to move because they are perfectly happy now at Willow Run Airport.

Influenza is an Italian word, its origin dating back to the 17th century, when certain diseases or epidemics were attributed by astrologers to the influence of heavenly bodies.

How I Lost 55 Lbs.

BAY CITY, MICH. "I have taken RENNEL Concentrate for two years and my weight has gone from 260 to 205 lbs. I am still at it and want to reduce slowly. I feel so much better and my doctor approves. I don't have gas on my stomach anymore nor do I have to take salts and pills which is something to be thankful for," writes Vivian Glaza, 1510 11th St. Ask your druggist for 4 ounces of Liquid RENNEL Concentrate. You'll never know a hungry moment while reducing with RENNEL.

New Bill to Control 'Bootleg' Car Dealers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) has introduced a bill designed, he said, to discourage "bootleg" sales of cars and other mechanical or electrical devices by unauthorized dealers.

His measure would allow manufacturers to supervise and regulate dealers' advertising of new cars and hold them liable for any false and misleading advertising within their power to prevent.

Bennett told the Senate yesterday that spokesmen for the automobile industry are far from unanimous in their views about his proposal, but it is designed to protect public interests he considers paramount to those of auto dealers or makers.

In brief, he said, it calls for a plan under which the manufacturer would reimburse his franchised dealers for any free servicing actually performed on new cars sold under limited warranties and for other servicing.

This reimbursement now is provided in general through discounts to the dealers when they buy their stocks of cars.

Synthetical Uses

NEW YORK — The nation's chemical industry is synthesizing 99 per cent of the products used in the dye industry, 95 per cent of the plastics, 75 per cent of all drugs, 65 per cent of all rubber products, 50 per cent of all paint, and 20 per cent of the textile fibers.

Cyprus Is Like Volcano, Arabs Suspicious of Peace Mission

NICOSIA (INS)—Cyprus today is like the crater of an active volcano with violent eruptions bubbling up at one point, only to subside and then to flare again elsewhere.

The island's security forces, under veteran trouble-shooter Gov. Sir John Harding, are now engaged in an intensive drive to stamp out terrorism.

Recently, Harding estimated the situation would be well in hand within six months. A 24-hour radar screen around the island makes it impossible for even a rowboat to touch at any point along the 400-mile coastline without being seen and caught.

Systematic house-to-house searches, during which whole blocks are cordoned off with barbed wire and placed under curfew, are constantly turning up caches of arms and explosives.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS)—Arab states looked with suspicion today at a U.S. proposal to send Dag Hammarskjöld to the Middle East on a fact-finding survey of the warlike situation.

The representatives of Syria and Egypt told the Security Council at yesterday's session that they nevertheless agreed "in principle" with the peace mission.

However, they asked for precise explanation of the U.S. resolution's aims and purposes. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who insisted that the U.S. proposal is completely devoid of any "hidden meanings," assured the Arabs he would spell out fully next Tuesday all points on which there were doubts.

Louisiana NAACP Asks U.S. Hearing

BATON ROUGE, La. (INS)—Louisiana's efforts to ban activities of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in the state will be met in a Baton Rouge court today by NAACP claims that the question is one of federal jurisdiction. NAACP failed to file a list of members as required by the law.

A 32-year-old state law originally passed to kill the Ku Klux Klan will be cited by Attorney General Fred S. LeBlanc who is requesting the 19th District State Court to order dissolution of the NAACP in Louisiana.

The state will claim that the NAACP is one of "civil rights." Egplant is prepared in over 40 different ways in Turkey.

Church Groups Polish Roles for Easter Services

PALM SUNDAY PROCESSION — Carrying palms in a Palm Sunday Procession were 40 altar boys at St. Benedict's Catholic Church. Some of the boys are in training; others take their turn serving at the five Masses each Sunday and during Holy Week. The boys attend the St. Benedict school, are taught customs of the church and their responses to the priest in Latin. Several months are required to complete the training. Palm fronds are given out on Palm Sunday and are burned and the ashes used to mark foreheads on Ash Wednesday, 1957.

SINGING AT SUNRISE — Boys and girls of the Junior Choir of St. Paul Lutheran Church will join the Senior Choir in singing Easter anthems, "Praise to the Lord Who Lives on High" and "O Sons and Daughters, Let Us Sing" Sunday at sunrise for the early Easter Service and at 10:45 a. m. for the Festival Service. Wearing their red and white choir robes are first row (left to right) Phyllis Edgar, Diane Williams, Dianne Tank, Cynthia Barnard and Sandra Kuchon. In the second row, Nancy Edgar, Christine Hawkins, Linda Kuchon, Cheri Monroe, Theresa Mahder, John Colling and Alan Mann. The third row includes Kenneth Toth, Carol Schultz, Joan Vovnar, Joy Ann Rattew, Bruce Mann, Alvin Tank, Carol Colling, Betty Bishop, Mrs. Emil Hagen Jr., choir director and Nancy Williams.

County Helps the Aged to Combat Loneliness

A growing problem in our county is the plight of our aged. Life expectancy in the United States has now reached 70 years of age which is twice the average span of life in the 1700's. Charles Sperti, key figure in the work of the American Society for the Aged, was quoted in a recent Press article as saying, "We haven't learned to cope with or understand what better living conditions, better understanding of physical activities, the wonder drugs and dieting have done to add years to our lives."

A recent University of Michigan survey of convalescent and boarding facilities in Oakland County reveals that there are 1,654 approved beds in 34 convalescent and six boarding homes.

The survey, taken of the county homes over a six-week period of time and under the direction of Kenton E. Winter, research associate in the Bureau of Public Health Economics reveals that 13 per cent of the patients in the county never have any visitors. Sixteen per cent rarely less than once monthly have any.

"This is one of the main problems in dealing with the chronically ill and aged... fighting their loneliness," Osa L. Hinckley, director of the Bureau of Social Aid, said.

"Of course," she continued, "part of this is due to the fact that many of the patients are not too near their homes and relatives and old people are sometimes easily forgotten when they're in the homes."

Patient interests vary from watching television and listening to radio, handwork, card games or puzzles and hobbies to no interests at all, the survey reveals.

Facilities available in the county homes include at least one separate day room (living or visiting room) in all boarding sites and 32 of the convalescent locations.

Only four (three convalescent and one boarding) do not have at least one television set. Usually the operator provides the set and some patients have sets in their rooms.

All homes have some kind of outdoor facilities, including lounging chairs and a porch or yard in which the patients can sit when weather permits.

The County Convalescent Home also has a regular recreational therapy program in which all patients are encouraged to participate. These include weaving, looms, wood working and other handwork.

Mrs. Mary A. Sands, Bureau of Social Aid visitor, who regularly inspects all county convalescent and boarding facilities, said that in the smaller private homes, there are usually no such services available. The women knit, or crochet and the men play cards or listen to radios and watch television.

There are several volunteer groups in the county giving regular time to combating the loneliness of the aged and helping out in the homes.

Miss Hinckley says volunteer visitors are assigned to different homes, call regularly and do favors for the patients. The group recently wrote to the bureau for some more names.

Miss Hinckley pointed out that names aren't just handed out. Patients are asked whether they would like to have visitors come to see them and of course the visiting volunteers are thoroughly orientated in how to best carry out their plans.

Miss Hinckley and Mrs. Sands agreed that the volunteer work of visiting the homes should be gone into slowly, easily and regularly. "The 12th month of the year, the homes are running over with people wanting to do things for the patients and on Dec. 26 no one comes to visit them," Miss Hinckley said. "They (the patients) are bound to be disappointed and let down."

Gasoline War Spreads

SAGINAW 28—A gasoline price war in southeastern Saginaw County has spread to a dozen stations including Frankenthuth, Birch Run, Burt and adjoining areas. Cuts of 2 to 4 cents have put prices at 28.4 cents a gallon for regular and 30.9 for premium.

DETROIT (INS)—Wayne County prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien, 57, was rushed to Detroit's Harper Hospital last night after suffering a heart attack at his home. O'Brien's physician said the attack City Planning Commission before was mild.

REDENTIN EASTER PLAY — Young people of the Galloway Lake Methodist Church will present the Redentin Easter Play for the Sunrise Service at 6:30 Easter morning. The original manuscript for the play was completed in 1464 in Redentin, then the principality of Mecklenburg, Germany. It is written in blank verse rather than in contemporary form. The characters, who appear in Biblical garb, are directed by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Medrano, both formerly active in drama at the University of Michigan. Portraying the part of the first soldier in Roman armor is Don Decker (left). Pontius Pilate, is being played by Lawrence Bailey (center), and Michael Klingelsmith in oriental costume is the scribe. The Rev. Kenneth Stephens is pastor of the church.

Dulles Explains to Israel U.S. Role in Middle East

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has given Israel a clear picture of the U.S. position on the middle east.

In a 20-minute conference with Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban yesterday, the Secretary is understood to have emphasized two points.

They were: 1. No immediate action is contemplated on Israel's four-month-old request to buy $64,000,000 worth of jet fighters, anti-aircraft guns, tanks and other military equipment.

2. The U.S. is counting first retary, the Israeli ambassador would only say that he was called in "in order to get the benefit" of Dulles' thinking.

Eban said "We had a general review of all matters of common interest" but would not say just what these matters included.

Dulles called Eban into his office only a few hours after he arrived back in Washington from the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. meeting between President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada and President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico.

The Dulles-Eban conference took place while U.S. officials in New York were urging the U.N. Security Council to send Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to Palestine on a peace mission.

After his session with the secretary, the Israeli ambassador would only say that he was called in "in order to get the benefit" of Dulles' thinking.

Eban said "We had a general review of all matters of common interest" but would not say just what these matters included.

He did report that he will be having "further discussions" with state department officials.

Autopsy Will Decide

DETROIT (INS) — An autopsy has been planned to determine whether a 78-year-old Detroit who died in Receiving Hospital was a traffic victim. Dixon Murmurian was hit by a taxicab on Nov. 20 and released after treatment. He was readmitted on March 5.

Miss Hinckley says volunteer visitors are assigned to different homes, call regularly and do favors for the patients. The group recently wrote to the bureau for some more names.

Miss Hinckley pointed out that names aren't just handed out. Patients are asked whether they would like to have visitors come to see them and of course the visiting volunteers are thoroughly orientated in how to best carry out their plans.

"They (the patients) are bound to be disappointed and let down."

Miss Hinckley said, "is someone taking them for a ride in a car. Morale goes up for patients who can revisit their old neighborhoods for a morning or afternoon," she said.

Another program the visiting volunteers have started in the County home is the birthday cake program. The patients are presented with a cake on birthdays plus a special meal and bouquet, according to Manager Howard Estes. The patients at the home are entertained with movies, too.

"The Gray Ladies who come every week from all over the county are a big help," Estes said. "They do the unusual little things not covered in the regular nursing program that mean so much to the patients."

He highly commended one Gray Lady, Mrs. Robert Wilson of Rochester. "She's been here every Wednesday for 12 years, coming through every kind of weather," Estes said he'd gladly welcome any group who might be interested in offering their services to the homes. "Volunteer agencies can call me any time," he said.

U. S. Women Just 'Wish' Into Beauty

Cecil Beaton Cites Uncanny Quality of American Ladies

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

American women have the uncanny ability to "wish" themselves into any mold they choose, observes Cecil Beaton, British photographer, author, artist, designer, lecturer and actor.

"It seems to me that today all American women have high cheekbones, long, graceful legs, delicate wrists and thin hands," says Beaton, who has studied beauty in many nationalities in his capacity as official photographer to Britain's royal family.

"A generation ago nobody had high cheekbones. Now everybody has them. I don't really understand how women manage to change their actual bone structure, but apparently they do. I think it all started with somebody like Marlene Dietrich.

Beaton, in New York in connection with the opening of the Broadway hit, "My Fair Lady", for which he designed the costumes, is tall, suave, faultlessly tailored and silver-haired, with a shrewd wrinkle in his blue eyes. Discussing the difference between American and British beauty, he says: "British women are much more bound by tradition than Americans. They are more swayed by parental and family influences. And they look awful on the beach. Somehow they are not made for exposure.

"American women are much more fashionable than the British, except for the most glittering occasions. For a grand ball, an English woman can get her old lame dress out of the attic, put on her jewels and look magnificent, whereas the American woman is likely to look more as if she had stepped out of a Fifth Avenue shop window, wearing all the best merchandise. I think this is because American women really don't believe in the grand effect. They are better at simplicity and the casual air."

Sibyl McQueen Becomes Bride of Paul Rompf

Mrs. Mamie Dawson of Columbus, Ohio, and Leroy W. Dawson of Augusta avenue are announcing the March 16 marriage of their daughter, Sibyl McQueen, and Paul Rompf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rompf of Raskob street.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Theodore Wiggazier in Redeemer Lutheran Church of Birmingham. Mr. and Mrs. Verland Anding, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, attended the couple.

Following the ceremony, a reception and dinner were held at Hotel Statler in Detroit. The newlyweds are making their home in Dearborn.

Hat Makes or Mars Coat's Appearance

The hat you wear can make or mar the appearance of your topcoat. The popular wool felt Belmont dent (or single crease) hat is a good choice for any of the more dressy coats, and a homburg will add greatly to the appearance of the formal semi-fitted or Chesterfield models.

"Country squires" should seek out the porkpie and tyrolean small shape hats—and the more courageous fellow might consider one of the smart new flattop hats with narrow brim and no crease or dent in the crown.

Pumps Still in Style

The pump (or the pump with a single strap) is still the shoe for daytime wear this spring. But for late day and evening, your shoes will be the merest wisps of sandals.

Association Meeting Held

Mrs. Eldon Powley gave the call to worship at the Tuesday meeting of the Women's Association of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Members participated in a song service conducted by Mrs. Charles Bradsher, accompanied by Mrs. Laura Luck. Mrs. Gerald Schultz gave devotions using as her subject, "Dedicated Lives," taken from Romans. Mrs. Luck sang a solo following the devotions.

The Junior Missionary boys and girls of the church presented a challenging play entitled "On Wings of Prayer," concluding the program portion of the meeting.

In the business meeting the budget for the year was approved

In line with the policy of supporting home as well as foreign missions, the Birmingham Council of the United Church Women invited Mrs. John Graham to speak at the March meeting. Mrs. Graham is public relations chairman for the Michigan Migrant Ministry.

Mrs. Graham showed slides taken in Michigan of a cross-section of 60,000 workers who come to Michigan to work each year. She pointed out that many of them arrive in April and live in tents and poor housing. As a result, many of their youngsters contract
pneumonia and die.

The Migrant Ministry was started as the result of the currency of an undertaker's wife who could not understand the large demand for small-sized coffins.

The ministry, with its office in Paw Paw, has had the use of a station wagon, called the Harvest-er, for three months of the year.

The Birmingham Church Women have decided to buy and donate to the Michigan Migrant Ministry a station wagon for the exclusive use of the ministry. The women hope that an organization will equip the station wagon with the necessary organ, hymnals, medicines, soaps and health charts for work with migrants.

Each member of the United Church Women has pledged to inform her individual church groups of the project and to ask each member for a donation.

Mrs. Newell Allen is president of the Birmingham Council of the United Church Women and Mrs.
Harry Cook is serving as chairman of migrants.

Representatives from the various churches include Mrs. Frazer Pomeroy, Mrs. Helmut Sievers, Mrs. George Hardin, Mrs.
Ward Folsom and Mrs. Glen Nagle.

Mrs. Archie Livingston, Mrs.
John S. Cooper, Mrs. Ralph E.
Woodburn, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Hugh Hemphill, Mrs. Melvin Teague, Mrs. Meeks, Mrs. D. C. Ensign and Mrs. George A. Jacoby are others.

PARIS (INS) — The "corniest" buttons in Paris are made of wheat grains, sunflower seeds and rice.

You can wear the simplest suit or dress this season as long as it is trimmed with large, curious buttons. Dior himself shows buttons appealing enough for people, birds and mice. He uses them in a single or double row as the main attraction on some of his 1956 creations.

Some of these buttons look as if they had been taken from a museum of primitive art. Imagining a flat round disk of one or one-and-a-half inch diameter covered with sticky glue.

You dip this disk into a plate filled with either wheat, sunflower seeds or rice, so that a layer of the grains covers the disk in an irregular pattern. You dry it so that the grains stick well and you have the latest model in Parisian buttons.

Besides these extraordinary buttons there are other stunning models covered with minerals, coral and even tiny pebbles. The principle is the same.

Sometimes Dior uses grainy granite stone in dark-grey and white or coral as it grows naturally in little sticks to cover
one-inch buttons. One button model is simply covered with small pebbles in their natural grey, brown and bluish shades.

A plain sand colored linen suit is trimmed with coral covered buttons and worn with a coral shaded silk blouse.

The long and slim of summer fashion is defined in this coat dress of navy cotton with a horizontal woven stripe.

Secretary Must Be True Diplomat

The modern secretary possesses a combination of many talents.
Gone are the days when she need only take dictation, type, file, make appointments, answer the telephone.

Today's secretary must also be adept at spelling, punctuating, detecting grammatical errors, developing and maintaining filing systems, greeting callers, handling

Omega Mu Sigma Welcomes Pledges

The formal pledging of Mrs.
Robert Reynolds and Mrs. Jack C.
Gunter was conducted at the Tuesday evening meeting of Omega
Mu Sigma sorority. Mrs. Harold Frock was hostess to the group at her home on Foley drive.

Plans were made for a theater party on April 10 and a cooperative dinner to be held at the home of Mrs. Louis Livingston on Woodbine drive in the near future.
Mrs. Kuja Kojima assisted the hostess with refreshments served from a buffet table decorated in the Easter motif.

telephone calls, reconciling checking accounts, and preparing statements and reports.

She must be intelligent, alert, interested and agreeable. She must possess a good memory,
keep confidences, be a mind reader, show no prejudice, possess a strong sense of loyalty, and be smartly groomed and dressed at all times.

The secretary has the power to make an office run smoothly and to increase and enhance the business, or to turn everything into chaos and drive potential customers away.

A good secretary is genuinely interested in the person who comes into her office. She treats everyone graciously and courteously regardless of who he may be or how worrisome he may be.

PHONE MANNERS
The best secretary in the world can be damaging to a business if she doesn't practice good telephone manners and habits.

Letters are another vital part of a company's public relations. The appearance of the secretary's office and desk has a lot to do with impressions created for the general public.

In appearance she should be well-groomed, neat, and not flashily dressed. Her attitude toward her work is a major factor.
A secretary first must be sold on her company before she can sell other people on the idea that it is one of the best.

A secretary is constantly faced with the sudden necessity of meeting new situations. She must be familiar with company policies and be ready to make good and accurate decisions.

The secretary must remember that little things mean a lot—such as returning telephone calls promptly, delivering messages accurately and answering letters

without unnecessary delay.

Public relations is a constant thing. For the secretary, however, the reward makes all the effort worthwhile. She has the satisfaction of knowing that she has helped promote goodwill for her company and her business. And in the process of doing this she has given the American public a high opinion of the secretary.

One hundred and ninety employers now know how lucky they are.
That number of secretaries passed the latest Certified Professional Secretaries examination, giving them tangible proof of their capabilities.

The two-day examination,
sponsored by the National Secretaries' Association, International, and now in the fifth year, covers personal adjustment and human relations, business law, economics and business administration, secretarial accounting, stenography, and general secretarial and office procedures.

The new test-passers (about one out of four who take the exams)
bring the national CPS total to 772—including three blissfully outnumbered men.

Oscar Schmidt, president of the Pontiac Music Guild, presided at the Tuesday evening meeting. The group met at the home of Elda Sutter on West Iroquois road, with Mrs. Carl Clifford assisting. Announcement was made of a piano workshop to be conducted by Dr. Henry Colby of Detroit at the First Congregational Church on four successive Mondays beginning April 16. Mrs. Everett Russell is chairman of the workshop and will handle enrollments. Mrs. Don Derragon was program chairman. Mrs. Paul Colton played several organ numbers and Mrs. Martin Wager, cellist, presented several numbers suitable to the Lenten season, accompanied by Charles A. Wilson.

Members of the ninth grade girls' choral group sang several selections.

Untrained Folks Good Inventors

MSU Prof Says Study Reveals Professionals Not Always the Best

EAST LANSING (AP) — Don't laugh at your neighbor who is tinkering with a better mousetrap in his garage or trying to build a bigger atom bomb in his basement.

He might come up with something surprising, according to Dr. Jacob Schmookler, assistant professor of economics at Michigan State University.

Schmookler made a survey which he said showed that about one third of the patented discoveries are made by persons not trained in science or technology and about 45 per cent of all inventions are by persons without college degrees.

"The prevailing view that invention today is the exclusive stamping ground of salaried expert scientists working in laboratories of large corporations—surrounded by mysterious instrument panels, electronic brains and other scientists—does not stand up under investigation," the MSU professor said.

"But continued public belief in this erroneous view may make it true," he said. "If potential inventors believe the field has been taken over entirely by persons hired to invent they may be discouraged and fail to invent."

Schmookler said his research indicated that although the contributions of independent inventors are smaller than before, one fourth of the patented inventions still come from the independents and only about one half come out of laboratories.

The increase in leisure time and do-it-yourself hobbies may result in even more inventions by the non-experts, he said.

New Zealand Warns Against Home Accidents

AUKLAND — Hazards of the home are listed in a new report by New Zealand's Health Department in Wellington. Here are a few of them: A woman lacerated her eye on her corset. Another dislocated her thumb undoing her brassiere.

A man caught his eyelid against a book. A woman fell at a party and was trampled on. Seven people were injured from sneezing, coughing or yawning. Left-handed people suffered more accidents than right-handed people. There were 540 more accidents in the last fiscal year in homes than on the streets or highways.

QUICK SWITCH — Papa, leaving class takes over the baby from Mama as she prepares to enter class.

Baby in College Is Help to Education of Parents

WHITEWATER, Wis. (AP)—Mitchell Alfred Custer is going to college, although he is only 5 months old. Every week day, he's bundled into a snow suit and a carrying sling and trotted off to the campus of Whitewater State College.

He gets only to the door of the classroom where Mama hands him to Papa—or the other way around—and then he is taken back home. His parents, Shirley and Elmer Custer find that is the only way they can both go on with their education. There is only five minutes between classes. Somebody has to mind the baby.

Shirley and Elmer set up their class schedules so that neither has a class at the same time as the other. The quick change is made when one has a class in the period following that of the other.

Elmer is a freshman going to school under the GI bill. Shirley is adding the few credits she needs

Those Poor Old Horses, They Just Can't Win

BALTIMORE (AP)—A horse trough was moved into storage by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals after it was knocked off its stone legs by an automobile. The SPCA said there was no use setting it back up; horsedrawn vehicles have been banned from that street during rush hours and for all practical purposes.

A home for children whose mothers suffer from tuberculosis will be started in Alexandria, South Africa. Many non-European mothers won't take TB treatments because they fear their children will either be neglected or sent away to institutions.

TV Buyer Protection

The British Government has been asked to protect people who buy TV sets and sign service agreements believing they are insuring against breakdown and repairs. These are not valid insurance policies, says Sir Leslie Plummer, Member of Parliament.

Arizona's state name comes from two Indian words which are meaning spring, according to accepted versions.

Fete Family with Fancy Easter Cake

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Cake is an excellent choice for dessert on Easter. It lends itself to numerous ways of decorating for the occasion. It can be any kind of cake, but sponge, angel food or sunshine cake seem to match the light-heartedness of the day.

The picture accompanying this article shows one of the simplest ways of decorating a cake. Put a parade of marshmallow bunnies around the sides.

Use a whole marshmallow for the head and one for the body, with a quartered one for arms and legs. Fasten together with toothpicks.

Cut ears out of sandwich bag paper. Roll one end firmly around a pink toothpick and fasten in place on the head.

With food coloring trace features on the face. Set the bunnies against the soft frosting. Let the head and ears show above the top of the cake.

Here are two recipes for Easter cake desserts, both using angel food cake. You may make or buy your cake.

Orange Angel Cake

1 can (1 1/2 pt. 2 fl. ounces) orange juice, or 2 1/2 cups reconstituted frozen orange juice
1 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) orange sections, or

1 small can Mandarin orange sections
4 tablespoons cornstarch
2 1/2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon almond flavoring
1 large angel cake, cut into 3 layers
1/2 cup toasted slivered almonds.

Combine orange juice and juice from canned orange sections to make 3 cups liquid; blend with cornstarch and sugar in medium-sized saucepan.

Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and clears. Cool sauce; stir in almond flavoring. Spread orange sauce between layers and on top of cake.

Arrange drained orange sections and toasted almonds around cake. Chill until serving time. Makes 1 large cake.

The second recipe makes a cake that looks like a gigantic Easter egg. Serve it in a nest of green tinted coconut.

Easter Egg Cake

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
4 eggs (separated)
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 large (8 or 9-inch) angel-food cake (broken into walnut-size pieces)
1 cup heavy cream (whipped and sweetened to taste)
Shredded coconut

Sprinkle gelatin over water and let soften while cooking yolk mixture. Blend yolks and 3/4 cup of the sugar.

Add lemon juice and rind and cook over simmering water, stirring constantly, until as thick as a medium white sauce. Do not have the water touching the bottom of the pan containing the yolk mixture.

Remove from heat, add softened gelatin and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Chill until mixture begins to thicken and starts to mound when dropped from a spoon.

Meanwhile prepare a soft meringue of the egg whites and the remaining 1/4 cup sugar. Fold thickened yolk-gelatin mixture into the meringue. Then fold together meringue mixture and angel cake pieces.

Pour into 12-cup mold. Chill until firm—several hours or overnight. Shortly before ready to serve, frost with the whipped cream. Surround with coconut tinted pale green. Makes 12 to 14 servings.

Note: To make the meringue, beat the 6 egg whites to coarse foam. Beat in 1/4 cup of the sugar thoroughly, a tablespoon at a time; continue beating until stiff and glossy—meringue should hold stiff straight peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn.

Try Prune Alaska for Easy Dessert

Such a delicious dessert — and so easy to prepare.

Prune Alaska

1 egg white
1/2 cup sugar
1 jar (5 ounces) strained prunes
1 cup heavy cream
1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
1/2 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Beat egg white until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in sugar. Fold in prunes.

Beat cream until stiff; gradually fold in orange rind, orange juice and lemon juice. Fold into prune mixture.

Turn into refrigerator tray and freeze until firm; have refrigerator at coldest setting. Makes six servings.

BUNNY CAKE — Mrs. Howard Seiss of Hillcrest drive puts the finishing touches on an Easter dessert. Bunnies made of marshmallows with sandwich bag and pink toothpick ears march around the sides of the frosted cake. Four-year-old Leland and six-year-old Laura are fascinated with what Mother's doing.

Turkey Good for Easter Dinner Too

Decking your Easter turkey dinner with spring touches can be as much fun as buying spring style in a new Easter hat. The flowers and fruits of spring are natural trimming for the traditional festive roast turkey. Spring flowers and Easter eggs will set the theme in the center of the table, but this spring fashion idea can be carried right onto the turkey platter with a fresh pineapple tree at one end of the platter.

The tree is made of the top half of a fresh pineapple, including the stiff leaves. Into these leaves are stuck narrow pie-shaped pieces of the pineapple.

These pieces are made from the bottom half of the pineapple. First cut the bottom half in 1-inch slices, then cut each slice into pie-shaped wedges. Leave the bark on each wedge for easy handling.

Before carving the turkey, the pineapple can be placed on a plate to be passed with the sliced turkey meat.

The turkey itself should present no problem. Homemakers today, unless they are beginning brides, are usually acquainted with the accepted successful roasting methods for turkey.

Few foods are simpler to prepare — low constant temperature (325 degrees), no searing, no cover, and generally no basting. Basting several times is advisable, however, for small turkeys and those which have little or no fat beneath the skin.

Remember that left-over stuffing should be removed from the cavity of the turkey promptly and refrigerated separately, covered. Leftover turkey meat is easier to store when removed from the carcass.

Wrap it well for refrigerator storage to avoid drying and loss of flavor. Serve it within two or three days while the fine flavor is still at its peak—unless placed in freezer for later meals.

EASTER TURKEY DINNER — Turkey can be an Easter dinner choice as well as any other meat or fowl. Using a typical spring fruit, decorate your turkey platter with a pineapple tree. Before carving the turkey, remove the pineapple tree to another plate for passing.

SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

By Frank Kohler

We welcome Solomon Golat, who joins the Newark (N. J.) News Chapter of Skillet Club with "Matzoh Pancakes."

Golat says, "Should the good wife, in these post-Easter and Passover days, be serving up the remains of the Matzoh as a concrete-like thermoplastic mess called 'Matzoh Pancakes,' perhaps you can demonstrate, as I did, that the basic ingredients can be converted into edible, tasty, fluffy Sunday breakfast pancakes. My spontaneous recipe . . .

1/2 cup Matzoh meal
1/2 cup buckwheat pancake ready mix
2 level teaspoons baking powder
A nip of salt
2 eggs
1 tablespoon soured cream
1 1/2 tablespoons melted butter
1 to 1 1/2 cups milk

Put dry Matzoh meal thorough a mixer or blender to pulverize it further. Mix dry ingredients together.

Mix eggs, cream and shortening and a little of the milk. Work into a loose, smooth paste with the dry ingredients. Allow to stand for about 10 minutes.

Remix and add enough of the remaining milk to make a suitable pancake batter consistency. Fry in small round pancakes in medium hot skillet or griddle.

"Here's a favorite of mine," says Daniel Laube, Chicago Daily News Chapter.

Bake Some Special Bread for Easter

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

You have been eating Hot Cross Buns all during the Lenten season. Now there is still plenty of time to make a loaf of special Easter bread for Sunday's breakfast.

Just recently we tried a recipe for a Portuguese Easter Bread that we found in a New England cookbook. New-England, you know, has numerous colonies of Portuguese fishermen. This is one of their recipes - and a good one, we might add.

MASA SOUVADA
Portuguese Easter Bread
1 cup milk, scalded
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine

1/2 cup sugar
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 package yeast
1 cup warm water
Add butter or margarine, salt and sugar to scalded milk. Cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add to first mixture. Add flour to make soft dough. Knead well.

Place in a greased bowl, brush with melted shortening, cover and let rise until double. Knead down and roll to 1/4-inch thickness.

Cut into strips 5x1 inch. Form into figure 8's. Place on a greased pan. Brush tops with melted butter or margarine. Let rise until double.

Bake 15-20 minutes in a 375-degree oven. Makes 24 rolls.

Have you ever considered making up a batch of your regular Hot Cross Bun dough and forming it into loaves instead of small buns? Decorate it with frosting crosses on the top. Fine for toasting.

Russian Easter bread is interesting in shape. It is baked in tall round cans, so that the top rises and mushrooms out. The confectioners' sugar frosting is further decorated with tiny multi-colored candies.

Russian Kulich
1 package yeast
1/2 cup warm water
1 cup lukewarm milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten
1/4 cup chopped blanched almonds
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup soft butter or other shortening
5 to 8 cups sifted flour
Colored candies (optional)
Dissolve yeast in warm water. Stir in all ingredients except flour. Mix in flour until dough is possible to handle. Turn onto lightly-floured board.
Knead until smooth and elastic. Round up on greased bowl; bring greased side up. Cover with damp cloth and let rise until hole remains when finger is pressed deeply into dough - about 2 hours.
Punch down; round up. Let rise again, about 30 minutes. Punch down; round up on board; cover and let rest 15 minutes.

Divide dough into halves. Cover one part with a damp cloth. Divide the other part into halves. Round up into two round bunlike shapes and place in well greased 1-pound shortening cans or number 2 cans, patting top of dough even.
Dough will fill cans half full. Make rest of dough into rolls of any shapes. Cover, let rise until double - about 1 hour.
Place cans on cookie sheet in 375-degree oven. Bake 30-40 minutes, laying a piece of brown paper over cans the last half of baking time. Remove from cans and cool on rack.
Frost with confectioners' sugar icing and sprinkle with colored candies.

Good afternoon snacks for youngsters are slices of unpeeled red apples spread with creamy peanut butter and served with glasses of milk.

Top Your Easter Feast With Strawberry Tarts

An individual strawberry tart should please everyone as the climax of Easter dinner. The flaky little pastry tart shells could be made the day before — the filling whipped up and mounded

Cherries Perk Up Breakfast Muffins

George Washington must have suffered when he cut down the old cherry tree. Little George didn't have the wonderful convenience of canned and frozen cherries throughout the year the way we do today.

There's nothing better than a mouth watering delicious cherry pie. For company, try dainty cherry tarts with a custard base. You'll enjoy those muffins for breakfast even more if you surprise the family by folding in cherries before the muffins are popped into the oven.

Consumer Marketing Information agents suggest cutting each cherry into several pieces before adding it to the batter—this way you'll have no trouble with the cherries sinking to the bottom of the muffin.

In no time on Easter Sunday. This recipe makes eight well-filled tarts. Strawberry gelatin and frozen strawberries give lots of wonderful berry flavor and also rosy pink color. All else you need for the filling is a little lemon juice and evaporated milk, chilled and whipped to give the dessert a nice fluffy texture.

You'll want to allow about two hours for this dessert to chill in the refrigerator before serving.

Strawberry Easter Tarts
1 package strawberry flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 package frozen strawberries, (10 oz.) thawed
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup evaporated milk, chilled by cold

Place gelatin in large size mixing bowl. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Cool slightly, then stir in the thawed strawberries.

Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Add lemon juice to the chilled milk and whip until milk is stiff and will hold a peak. Fold into gelatin mixture lightly but thoroughly.

Spoon into baked tart shells. Chill until set, about two hours. Makes eight generous tarts.

STRAWBERRY EASTER TARTS — Look what the Easter bunny brought! Pretty little pastry tart shells full of a delectable pink filling of strawberry gelatin, whipped evaporated milk and frozen strawberries. Easy to make, but pretty special, too.

Add Nutmeg to Crust for Change in Flavor

We all know the old saying about "variety is the spice of life"—it applies to our cooking as well as other phases of our lives. For a flavor change the family will enjoy a spiced crust with their pies.

sift three-fourths teaspoon ground nutmeg with the flour. This spice is delightful with fruit fillings such as apples and grapes. Try it, too, with lemon cream pie.

For breakfast, luncheon or supper, serve a poached egg on toast that has been buttered, spread with deviled ham and put into the broiler until piping hot.

Ham With Festive Glaze Belongs on Easter Table

Serving ham for Easter didn't originate in the 20th Century. Ham has been served in the spring ever since pagan days.

Peasants in that period prepared huge feasts heralding the arrival of spring, and since fresh meats weren't available at that time of year, they served ham. This spring feasting was continued in the Christian era and soon became associated with Easter.

We have come to depend on the wonderful cured, smoked hams we buy today; we know their fine flavor, even texture and juicy tenderness make them an elegant meat for Easter dinner.

This year select a whole ham. Use an easy brown sugar glaze and arrange the platter with a simple springtime garnish, such as orange wedges with curly endive.

Baking A Ham

Choose a ham the size and type best suited to your family's needs. Cook - before - eating whole ham should be baked in a 325-degree oven 18 to 20 minutes a pound. The best way to determine doneness is with a meat thermometer. Insert the thermometer into the center of the meat; when the thermometer registers 160 degrees internal temperature, the meat is done. A ready-to-eat whole ham bakes 10 minutes per pound, or until meat thermometer registers 130 degrees internal temperature.

For the glaze, mix a cup of brown sugar with a few tablespoons of water and spread on during the last half hour of baking time.

Score and stud the ham with cloves, too, if you like.

Here's a variation of the above brown sugar glaze:

Brown Sugar and Apricot Glaze

1 1/2 cups dark brown sugar (firmly packed)
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon vinegar
2-3 tablespoons apricot syrup

12-14 whole cloves
12-14 canned apricot halves (drained)

Blend brown sugar with dry mustard. Mix to a smooth paste with vinegar and canned apricot syrup.

Spread evenly over scored ham. Insert a whole clove in each apricot half and attach fruit, cut side down, to ham, using toothpicks.

Return ham to hot oven (400) for 20 to 30 minutes, basting two or three times with the glaze. After removing ham from oven, allow to rest on serving platter 10 to 15 minutes for easier carving. Remove toothpicks before serving. Glazes a 10 to 12-pound ham.

Carving A Ham

Carving a ham is easy when you follow these tips:

1. With a sharp knife, cut several lengthwise slices from the thinner side of the ham to form a base on which to rest the ham during carving. Place the ham on a platter.

2. Cut out a small wedge-shaped piece of meat from the shank end (where the bone protrudes). This cut should be made just inside the knuckle.

3. Now cut slices straight down to the bone. When enough slices have been cut, free them all at once by cutting along the bone.

Meat can be carved either in the kitchen or at the table. If

ELEGANT EASTER HAM — Tenderness, flavor, even texture, shape — these characteristics make ham an elegant meat for Easter dinner. This cook-before-eating ham baked 20 minutes per pound in a 325-degree oven has a brown sugar glaze. The springtime garnishes are orange wedges and curly endive.

Serve Sundae Tray

If there are teenagers in your house, they will love a Sundae Tray. Fill four small clear-glass apothecary jars with ice cream toppings. One jar can hold crushed peppermint candy, another tidbits of semisweet chocolate, another salted peanuts, and another shredded coconut or maraschino cherries. Arrange the jars on a tray and pass with ice cream!

Put Hard-Cooked Eggs on Creamed Broccoli

Arrange sliced hard-cooked eggs over creamed cooked broccoli or canned asparagus (heated) and serve with crisp buttered toast for a delicious lunch.

If canned pimiento is on hand, add some strips of it for a garnish.

Nice for a change: Sliced dates added to bran-muffin batter.

You Can't Top Milk for True Versatility

Do you know a good thing when you see it? When it comes to supplying the family with needed amounts of essential foods I'm sure you'd place milk at the head of the list.

The only limit on ways to use milk are those that you, the cook, put on yourself. Milk is a food that is truly versatile. Because of its bland flavor, milk combines well with all foods. As a beverage, in custard, or over cereal, you can't beat whole fresh milk. Let's not forget the many dishes that use milk.

Consumer information agents of Detroit say there's no doubt about it! You can't beat milk for good eating and good health.

Oakland 4-H Members Plan Achievement Day

April 7 Event to Be in Pontiac

1,800 Members to Join in All-Day Exhibition at Lincoln Junior High

Volunteer leaders of the more than 1,800 youthful Oakland County 4-H Club members have organized committees and planned the work that must be done by April 7, the date set for Spring Achievement Day, according to Jack Worthington, Oakland County 4-H Club Agent. The event will take place during the afternoon and evening in the gymnasium of Lincoln Junior High School.

On Achievement Day, projects which 4-H Club boys and girls have worked on all winter are brought together for judging and exhibiting to the public. It is a day looked forward to with great anticipation by the many Oakland County rural and urban youths.

Projects exhibited by the young people include woodworking and other handicrafts (plastics and ceramics), electrical, food preparation, clothing, conservation practices, health and safety, and many others.

The projects represent efforts of vigorous young minds to learn new skills and to channel their energies into methods of being more useful citizens, Worthington said.

The agent explained that all projects are judged on the difficulty, originality, quality of the finished product, and the number of years of experience the 4-H Club member has had in the type of project exhibited. Each project is put into an A, B or C group depending on how well the young exhibitor has met these standards.

A style show, or Dress Revue as the 4-Hers call it, is being planned for 8 p.m. Saturday when clothing exhibitors will model their efforts for the benefit of all attending.

The 10 best garments will be chosen on the basis of quality of the work and suitability of design and color. The owners of these projects will receive County Dress Revue pins.

The winners of the Dress Revue will represent Oakland County in state-wide competition held during State 4-H Club Week at Michigan State University in July. The best of the other exhibits will also be chosen to be exhibited in the state show competition, said Worthington.

Ann Arbor Kids Dispute Article Attacking Dads

ANN ARBOR — Contrary to observations of writer Philip Wylie, Ann Arbor kids make good pals and fine fathers.

"Such was the indication of a poll of 100 students at Ann Arbor High, taken after Wylie's article, 'American Men Are Lousy Fathers,' appeared in the March issue of Reader's Digest.

Seventy-nine of the pupils polled said their fathers were "fair and reasonable" and 83 said that dad "indicated sufficient interest in their problems."

Taking issue with a statement accompanying the article that fathers spend an average of only 7½ minutes alone with their children each week, the Ann Arbor students said their dads devote an average 11 hours weekly with them.

A third of the students, however, said their fathers were delinquent in at least one of five areas: Being too concerned with their own affairs, overly interested in away from home too much, lacking concern in the problems of their offspring, or failing to consider both sides of an argument.

Blue Cross Program Gets UAW Criticism

DETROIT — A United Auto Worker official says the union is prepared to pay higher rates for Blue Cross and Blue Shield in insurance if it gets improved medical and hospital care in return.

This was declared yesterday by James Brindle, director of the UAW's social security department, in testimony before the governor's Study Commission on prepaid hospital care plans.

Brindle, whose union represents half the 3½ million Blue Cross and Blue Shield subscribers in Michigan, noted that the UAW had opposed the 15 per cent boost in Blue Cross rates which went into effect March 1. However, he added, this "should not be construed as unwillingness to pay the proper cost of prepaid care."

The UAW Brindle said "wants to preserve and in fact improve the quality of hospital and medical care. We know that this takes money," he said.

Brindle said part of the increase in cost is "inevitable" because of wage increases for hospital staff members and other benefits.

Petitions Ask Road Surfacing

Walled Lake to Blacktop Decker, Ladd if Signers Agree to Assessment

WALLED LAKE — Irked by the condition of gravel roads in a season that appears to be spring one day and winter the next, petitions are being circulated to residents of two roads in the Walled Lake area in the hopes that the conditions can be corrected.

The City Council has agreed to blacktop Decker road north from Pontiac trail to South Commerce road, providing residents will agree to a special assessment to help pay for the cost.

The council also agreed to prepare the petitions for a section of Ladd road. If the results are favorable, both roads would be blacktopped this summer.

Both are heavily traveled roads and complaints have come from residents who must use them.

Members of the Walled Lake city council have taken their duties seriously. In the meetings held from the first of the year to the present, 100 per cent attendance was noted at six of the meetings. At the seventh only one man was absent, which produced an overall attendance of 98 per cent. Usually each session of the council was from three to four hours long.

WALLED LAKE — The nomination petition of Ivan Sweet which had been signed by the correct number of registered electors was not certified to appear on the April ballot. Sweet, who was seeking a seat on the city council was informed by the city attorney that his petition could not be accepted since he did not meet the residence requirement.

Sweet admitted that this was true, but contended that the city could not require this provision of candidates since the city itself had not been a city for the length of time residence was required, two years.

The case was brought to the attention of the attorney general, who ruled that the city attorney must decide the validity of Sweet's case. He ruled that since Sweet had lived within the city limits for about four months his petition could not be accepted.

Soybeans Firm After Report

CHICAGO — Soybeans firmed on the Board of Trade today following issuance of a government report showing processors crushed a very large amount of beans during February.

In early dealings new crop wheat futures were also higher, buying being based on the possibility of damage to the bread grain from the recent dust storms in the Southwest. But these futures quickly gave up their gains on milk liquidation.

Other cereals generally had a slightly easier undertone although losses were not large in any pit. Dealings were rather slow.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/4 to 1/2 lower, May $2.26 1/4; corn unchanged to 1/4 lower, May $1.39 1/4; oats unchanged to 1/4 lower, May 64 1/4; rye 1/4 to 1/2 lower, May $1.31; soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 higher, May $2.67 1/2, and hard 2 to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $12.45.
