UF Hits 60 Per Cent

With ten days to go, the Pontiac Area United Fund campaign today passed the 60 per cent mark in its drive for $612,000, campaign chairman Dr. Dana P. Whitmer announced today.

The UF's 4,500 volunteer workers have turned in $384,066 in contributions and pledges, or 62.8 per cent of their 1958 goal, Whitmer said.

Whitmer and other campaign leaders were encouraged by the success so far, but at the same time pointed out that "any let-up now might mean failure."

During the final ten days of the drive, UF solicitors must come up with $227,044 to put the drive over the top and guarantee UF support to 55 community service agencies next year, Whitmer said.

COMMUNITY CHALLENGE

"This is a challenge not only to our volunteer workers, but also to the whole community," he said.

The spotlight today was shifting to the UF's giant Industrial Division, whose 1,700 volunteers under the direction of chairman George Watson so far have raised 68.8 per cent of their $404,273.

"It is vitally important to the drive that this division go over the top," Watson said.

Watson urged 100 per cent participation of all industrial employes in Pontiac and Waterford Township. The division is asking minimum pledges of $10.71 from each contributor to meet its quota, which is about two-thirds of the total campaign goal.

The Commercial Division's success so far was given careful scrutiny by its chairman, Carroll Os-

C. E. Wilson Slated for Address Here

Arrangements have been completed to have C. E. Wilson, former secretary of defense, address a combined meeting of the Pontiac luncheon clubs at the Elks Friday noon, Jan. 3.

This will be similar to the united luncheon that was held last week to hear President John A. Hannah of Michigan State University. The former secretary of defense will deliver a talk and then answer questions in the latter part of the program.

Tickets that are not picked up in advance by the luncheon clubs will be placed on general sale.

Blast Rips Pontiac Home; Estranged Mate Arrested

By HAROLD S. COHEN

An early morning explosion tore apart a modest frame bungalow at 370 S. Edith St. today and narrowly missed injuring the sole occupant, Mrs. Mae McGowan, 53.

Officers said they found on his person a receipt for the purchase of seven sticks of dynamite, dated last Tuesday.

Mrs. McGowan, who is employed as a maid at the Waldron Hotel, said she went to bed at 10:30 last night, but was awakened at 2:15 a.m. by the sound of breaking glass and coal rumbling down the pipe in the basement directly under her bedroom.

THOUGHT IT WAS CAT

At first she thought it was a cat coming in through the broken basement window, but after thinking about it for several seconds, she got up to investigate.

Mrs. McGowan said she had just entered her living room when a tremendous explosion shook the house. She remembered nothing after that until neighbors led her from the house.

The blast completely demolished her bedroom and tore a gaping hole in the floor directly under her bed, but Mrs. McGowan escaped with only a tiny cut on one foot.

Windows throughout the house were shattered, the wall under her bedroom window was blown out, furniture was smashed and toppled in all rooms and the basement was badly damaged.

Detectives Raymond E. Meggitt and Robert A. Emery, investigating the explosion, learned that Mrs. McGowan was separated since August from her husband, who is a self-employed house painter.

They went to his residence at

High Soviet Spy Given 30 Years

Rudolf Abel Silently Hears Sentence That Could Have Been Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Russian Col. Rudolf I. Abel, the highest ranking Soviet spy ever caught in this country, today was sentenced to 30 years in prison and an $8,000 fine. He could have received the death penalty.

He said nothing, and after the sentence was promptly led away handcuffed by two officers.

In a statement to the court, the prosecutor, Asst. U. S. Atty. Gen. William Tompkins, did not press for death.

Abel's court-appointed attorney, James Donovan, pleaded that his client be spared death, contending the prosecution had failed to indicate any specific instance where Abel had actually transmitted U.S. military secrets to Russia.

Donovan also argued that if Abel's life were spared, there might come a time when this country would wish to exchange him for some American intelligence agent captured in Russia.

HUNTERS TAKE HEED—Not one to trust the Michigan hunters who open the war of the north woods today, Traverse City farmer Leonard Watson paints proper identification on his favorite Holstein. The cow doesn't mind a bit, figuring the paint job might be at least a half-safe insurance policy.

— An estimated 300,000 deer hunters stalked into Michigan woodlands today, but in the first four hours only one man, Harry Hansen of Flint, was reported wounded. He was shot in the right arm by an unseen hunter in Ogemaw county, but is reported in good condition at a Flint hospital. Rainy weather of last night cleared and the day turned into one rated fair to good.

Graden Benzing of Reed City was the first hunter with a 10-point buck to cross the Straits Bridge 10 minutes after the season opened.

Think Airliner Ditched Quickly; Blast Ruled Out

Debris to Be Picked Up; 12 Wear Life Jackets, One Strapped to Seat

HONOLULU (INS) — Seventeen shoeless bodies, 12 with life jackets and one strapped to a seat have been recovered in the Pacific search for 44 persons aboard a Pan American plane which hit the ocean about mid-way in its San Francisco - to - Honolulu flight a week ago today.

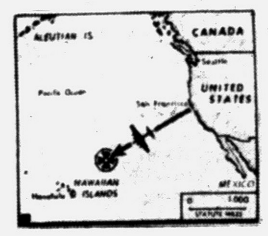

Only five of the rubber life jackets had their cartridges expended, indicating that the double-decked "Romance of the Skies" made an emergency landing when it went down last Friday night.

This killed the theory of a major explosion aboard the craft.

Air line officials pointed out that passengers are always instructed never to release the air cartridges to inflate their life jackets until after they are forced to abandon a distressed plane.

The reason is that they otherwise might not be able to squeeze out of a sinking airship.

The plane made its last routine radio ground check at 5:04 p.m. (7:04 p.m. PST). Wrist watches worn by three of the passengers stopped at 5:27 p.m., indicating that the plane crashed 23 minutes later.

Happy Forces Seeking Sight of Enemy

Army of Hunters Invades

By JACK PATTERSON

There's an army abroad in Michigan today. An army of hundreds of thousands of men, dangerously armed, silently, stealthily seeking contact with the enemy.

From the rich farmlands of the south to the bleak reaches of the western most Upper Peninsula, units of these forces are stalking an enemy outnumbering it two to one.

There is but one order of the day: find the enemy, destroy it.

THEY'RE HAPPY LOT

Like most General Orders this one is easier to put on paper than to carry out in the field. But the troops are doing their best. They make up an unusually happy army. They are fresh, rested, well-fed.

They are united in a single-minded effort to carry out their orders. They are happier than most troops, too, because the enemy isn't shooting back.

They were out in the darkness this morning. They shivered themselves warm during false dawn. They will be out this evening until failing light obscures the front sight. And for most of them, tomorrow morning will bring some more of the same thing.

Some, having successfully encountered the enemy, will stay up very late tonight and stay abed very late tomorrow. For a few there will be no tomorrow.

Though this is an army with a single purpose, it is an army of individuals, and the only differences in rank are differences in character between those individuals.

In the top echelon is the sportsman, guided by the spirit and letter of the laws of this type of warfare, even mindful of the vast superiority he enjoys, in weapons and supporting equip-

Winds Blow Up Storm in Area

Leave Only Scattering of Fallen Trees, Wires, Broken Windows

Winds up to 65 miles an hour blew up quite a storm throughout the Pontiac area last night, but left only a scattering of fallen trees, wires and broken windows.

Pontiac Municipal Airport reported gusts up to 65 m.p.h., but no damage to planes or buildings.

Police in Rochester said large plate glass doors were broken in Fetters Drug Store and the D & C Store in the village.

Birmingham police reported minor damage to Kroger and Kresge stores in the city when gusts ripped off awnings.

Trees and downed electrical wires across many streets spotted the switchboard at the sheriff's department with a number of calls. No destruction to property was reported.

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. said eight calls of fallen limbs had crews working until 11 p.m.

Evidence Found to Support Governor's View

Williams Voices Faith in State's Future

(Fourth in a series of articles on taxes and industry.)

By ROGER LANE

LANSING (AP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams has found what he obviously considers a good argument against those who say taxes are the main reason for a loss of industrial jobs in Michigan.

He points to the announcement of Chrysler Corp. plans to move existing operations from Evansville, Ind., as powerful evidence that tax policies are not the controlling factor. Indiana and Ohio have been in hot competition with Michigan for new jobs.

Chrysler said its move from Evansville to a point near St. Louis would be dictated by transportation and market considerations, notwithstanding probable Missouri business tax diadvantages.

The governor sometimes has been called unfriendly or even hostile toward business.

In the main this can be taken as a reference to his closeness with the United Auto Workers, his unremitting advocacy of a corporation profits tax and his reputation among Republicans as a big government spender.

It also is true that despite his personal background of wealth Williams seldom hobnobs socially with the big names of business or finance.

WILLIAMS BELIEVES

There is evidence to support this view.

Major gas, electric and telephone utilities have been pushing large expansion programs in Michigan, all in anticipation of increasing business and residential demands.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. alone plans up to 200 million dollars in new construction and improvements in the near future.

There has been a virtually uninterrupted growth in non-manufacturing employment in the state since World War II, a fact viewed by sone economists as a healthy sign of a maturing economy.

In the last five years, Michigan has gained about 100,000 jobs in the service industries, retail trade, transportation, communications and other non-manufacturing fields.

A recent summary by the state economic development department estimated that 153,000 new manufacturing jobs have been added in this period, mostly from expansions by existing firms but some from 100 new companies locating in the state.

★ ★ ★

If these new jobs had not been created the state's net manufacturing employment loss would have doubled.

NATURAL ADVANTAGES!

UAW-Chrysler Dispute Settled

Stamping Plant Strike Threat Ends but Trouble Looms in 2nd Factory

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union and Chrysler Corp. reached agreement last night on a production dispute that could have idled 71,000 workers in the company's Detroit area stamping plants.

Norman Matthews, UAW Chrysler Department director, and John Leary, Chrysler Corp. labor relations director, announced the agreement following a nine-hour bargaining session that extended past an original 6 p.m. Thursday strike deadline.

Some 17,000 Chrysler stamping plant workers, members of UAW Local 212, will vote on ratification of the agreement tomorrow. Terms of the agreement were not fully disclosed.

However, Matthews said Chrysler had agreed to reinstate 14 employes discharged for what the union said was disciplinary action stemming from the production dispute.

Union spokesmen said the original strike deadline, set Monday by Matthews, was extended last night pending the outcome of the bargaining session.

Had the stamping plant workers gone out on strike, the first production facility to be hit would have been the Plymouth Body Plant.

Company officials said the strike would have affected 71,000 Detroit area Chrysler workers within two weeks.

Shortly after settlement of Local 212's grievances, a strike threat developed today in another local, 490, which represents 4,000 in Chrysler's Highland Park Plant.

William Jenkins, 490 president, announced a strike vote had been set for next Wednesday and Thursday at the Highland Park Plant.

Jenkins said the strike vote decision grew out of union charges of speedup, discrimination, wage cuts and unsettled grievances.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What happens to the gas in us when we board a passenger airliner and ascend to five or ten thousand feet?

In approximately half of the airliners in service today, in the United States, the passenger compartment is "pressurized." This means that the pressure of air against our bodies is maintained at a near-constant rate.

On the other half of the airliners, and these do not fly at high altitudes, and are usually the smaller airliners, the pressure varies directly in proportion to the altitude attained.

In these airliners gas and air in one's stomach expands as the pressure on the outside decreases. Thus, if you reached 16,500 feet the gas would expand to twice its sea-level volume. This could be quite uncomfortable. For this reason, and because of the necessity for oxygen these airliners do not fly over ten or twelve thousand feet.

In a private plane, even if using an oxygen mask, gas expands to three times its sea-level volume at 25,000 feet and five times its size at 34,000 feet. That's why pilots are advised not to eat gassy foods.

TYPICAL SCENE — This gray tableau was witnessed all over Oakland County yesterday and early today, as hunters loaded their gear and headed for the woods. More than 10,000 vehicles crossed the Mackinac bridge during the 24 hours before midnight last night, carrying an invading army of hunters into the Upper Peninsula.

ployment, and will continue to do so.

Among these are abundant water, huge salt deposits attractive to chemical industry, good general location, abundant skilled labor, growing forest resources, unusual recreation attractions that have made tourism the state's third largest business and finally, the potential of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Celotex Corp., Abitibi Power and Paper Co. and the American Box Board Corp. all recently have moved in or expanded sizable operation in the state, drawn by wood resources.

In the chemical field, Hooker Electrochemical Corp., DuPont, Dow Chemical, Wyandotte Chemical and numerous other firms have built new plants or expanded in Michigan at a total investment of 50 million dollars or more in the last three years.

The trouble is that these and other sources of employment gains are relatively small compared with the jobs lost. At Hooker's 15-million dollar plant, for example, employment numbers about 100.

For years Williams has urged and worked for more diversification of industry and the prospect of greater economic stability. It's coming, steadily but slowly.

In summary:

Whichever explanation may prove correct as to the loss of manufacturing jobs, conditions haven't altered a great deal.

Thus, if taxes, auto industry decentralization, Gov. Williams, the Detroit wage pattern, automation or federal defense policies are chasing away Michigan manufacturing jobs, the exodus logically should continue in the period immediately ahead.

At the same time, there are long-haul influences operating—although at a slower pace—in the direction of employment growth and greater built-in economic stability.

Michigan probably will get along fairly well, barring a nationwide bust that would produce economic miseries everywhere.

mun, who said that he was not "completely satisfied."

Today's report had the Commercial Division at the 52.5 per cent mark. While the division's retail group No. 1 has reached 81.9 per cent of its quota, Osmun said, other groups within the division were lagging.

"The government and professional groups have only reported 6.9 per cent and 28.9 per cent, respectively, of their goals," he said.

To spur efforts, Osmun called for a special meeting of the division's leaders Wednesday. The division's goal is $164,280.

The Geographic Division, led by Mrs. George Eldred, found itself faced by reverses today. Having led the campaign at this point last year, the division to date has reached only 56 per cent of quota.

Poor weather and Asian flu were blamed by Mrs. Eldred for the slow start of the door-to-door campaign this year.

First French Ships Sail Through Suez

SUEZ (INS) — Three French naval vessels sailed through the Suez Canal today, the first to use the waterway since last year's Anglo-French invasion of Egypt.

The ships were small — a tug, a landing ship and a supply vessel, on their way from Djibouti to Toulon for routine refitting jobs — but they signified France's reluctant acceptance of Egypt's complete control of the canal.

Broomfield Presses Need for 2 County Freeways

The proposed Oakland County expressway (U.S. 10 relocation) and the 35-mile proposed extension of Northwestern Highway as an expressway are both "vital" to Oakland County and should be built by the State Highway Department, Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) said today.

* * *

Broomfield approved of State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie's recent decision to budget funds in the next five years for construction of a new U.S. 10.

But Broomfield challenged Mackie's accompanying change in plans about extending the Northwestern expressway all the way from Eight Mile road to the Fenton-Clio expressway leading to Flint and beyond.

Mackie last week announced that he would budget funds to build a northwestern expressway only as far north as Eleven Mile road. Mackie also announced plans for an east-west expressway in the vicinity of Eleven Mile road to connect Northwestern with the Farmington - Brighton expressway along Grand River.

* * *

"We need new north-south expressways much more than we need an east-west expressway west of Northwestern," Broomfield commented.

Broomfield anticipated that Mackie would run into trouble with the purchasers of bonds sold by the previous highway administration for the full 35-mile extension of the Northwestern expressway.

"They bought those bonds believing the state in good faith would build the complete road," he said.

* * *

Mackie has said that of the $25 million in bonds sold, $21 to $23 million would be needed to extend Northwestern as far as Eleven Mile. The previous highway administration had conceded that it would cost an additional $10 million at least in state funds to complete the expressway to south of Fenton.

COUNTY 'SHORT CHANGED'

Broomfield argued that Oakland County shouldn't be "short changed" in the state's plans for new expressways.

"There should be no bargaining table, either, at which Oakland County is offered either the U.S. 10 expressway or the Northwestern expressway, but not both.

* * *

"Both these roads are vital for this county, which at 700,000 population is the state's second largest. The roads must be built to relieve present heavy traffic and should be scheduled for construction within a relatively short time."

* * *

Saying he was "pleased" about Mackie's change in plans concerning the Oakland County expressway, Broomfield pointed out that "Woodward Avenue already is carrying its capacity in traffic and a relief road is a 'must' for Oakland County."

A month ago, when Mackie announced his first five-year highway plan for outstate Michigan, the Oakland County expressway was postponed until the second five-year plan.

FOUGHT FOR ROADS

Broomfield lashed out then at the postponement, saying that Pontiac, Royal Oak and other Woodward Avenue communities were being ignored by the Highway Department.

Broomfield said he hoped the various communities affected by the proposed U.S. 10 relocation could agree with the Highway Department on the exact route.

Costing an estimated $48 million, the first 40-mile section from Flint past Pontiac to Eleven Mile road east of Woodward could be under construction in two years, if there is agreement between the state, county and communities involved, Mackie has said.

The second section, from Eleven Mile south to the completion of the Hastings - Oakland expressway in Detroit, should be finished within 10 years, according to Mackie's plans.

* * *

The whole route, from the Detroit River north to Flint, is eligible for designation as an interstate highway with the federal government paying 90 per cent of the cost, Mackie said.

ment, over the enemy. At the bottom is a very different type.

He wages unrestricted warfare against the enemy, his wives and children. He fights with his brothers over the bodies of the slain. He is a disgrace to society and to civilization, and above all, to himself.

In between these two extremes and numerically superior to both is the average trooper, observing the rules insofar as they don't work a hardship and willing to deal fairly with a weaker enemy.

FIGHTS GRIM WAR

And what of the enemy himself? Forced by the limitations of nature to fight a wholly defensive battle, he must rely on great speed and mobility, uncannily excellent detection gear.

Disorganized, lacking adequate communication facilities, he must conserve his resources, seek minimus exposure of his forces to the invader and hold out until a new month signals the end of the attack.

And this he will be able to do, but in so doing he will suffer heavy casualties. His dead and wounded will be counted in the tens of thousands.

But he will survive, as his kind has always survived, and he'll regroup his tattered forces and prepare to defend himself against a grimmer, more relentless enemy, an enemy against which his best defensive measures will avail him nothing.

In the deep winter months no fleetness of foot is fast enough, no keenness of hearing, or sharpness of nose protection enough, against the deadly spectre who haunts the drifted flats and silent forests, ruthless; bony-faced starvation.

Recover 17 Bodies From Airliner

American plane down in the Pacific.

They were H. Lee Clack, 36, formerly of Midland, his wife, Ann, 34, sons, Bruce, 9, and Scott, 6, and daughters, Kimi, 7, and Nancy, 2, foundlings adopted by the Clacks.

Philip Sullivan, 59, and his wife, Bess, natives of Ypsilanti, were going to India on a State Department assignment.

The other passenger with a Michigan connection was Lt. Cmdr. Gordon Cole, 36, of Alexandria, Va., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Cole of Grand Rapids.

EVIDENCE OF FIRE

Navy searchers on the scene about 1,000 miles northeast of Honolulu said there was "some evidence of fire" when the plane hit the water.

* * *

The bodies, all of which suffered multiple injuries, were sighted by Navy Lt. J. G. Earl Carlovsy of Imperial Beach, Calif., during his low-flying sweep of the ocean after taking off from the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea yesterday.

Multiple fractures such as those sustained by the 17 victims lent belief to the theory that the plane must have hit the water with such a force as to cause instant death to those aboard.

Wreckage was scattered over a 33-square-mile area. The bodies were recovered by Navy helicopters. Two of the bodies were tentatively identified as those of the pilot and co-pilot, one of which was strapped to his seat.

RECOVER DEBRIS

At dawn today, Navy ships steaming to the wreckage area will launch small boats to recover the debris from the luxury clipper. The debris will then be sent to the Philippine Sea which has been directing search operations.

The Civil Aeronautics Board said in Washington that one of its investigators will board the carrier today.

Civil Aeronautics Board investigator William S. MacNamara will fly from San Francisco to the carrier when it comes within range of the West Coast. Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates has ordered that all clipper wreckage be preserved intact.

* * *

The condition of the bodies heightened the mystery shrouding cause of the disaster. The passengers evidently had removed their shoes and donned life jackets at the direction of the plane's captain, but he apparently either had no time or no workable equipment to flash an SOS.

Coast Guard Capt. Donald MacDiarmid said the evidence "indicates the pilot did not have everything go sour suddenly or he would not have had time to warn people to get into jackets and get their shoes off. I would assume the pilot ditched the aircraft."

A Navy officer said there could be three reasons why the plane Honolulu-bound from San Francisco, sent no distress signal. "That's the big mystery," said the officer, who declined use of his name.

He said there could have been a fire, a propeller could have flown off, or a meteor could have hit the plane.

He considered the loose propeller the likeliest cause.

The bodies were found 88 miles north of the plane's course to Honolulu. The Navy said this was due to natural drift and the time was about right for the bodies to have risen to the surface.

Identities of the bodies were withheld pending notification of kin.

Yule Carousel Showing of Art to Open Nov. 22

BIRMINGHAM — Of special interest to art lovers in the area is the Christmas Carousel which will open at the Bloomfield Art Assn. studios, 361 N. Woodward on Nov. 22.

On display will be items ranging from "nostalgic toys to free form tree ornaments." Works of art will include painting, sculpture, weaving, ceramics, cards and jewelry made by members and a few outside artists. Franklin Page of the Detroit Institute of Art will judge the art shown.

This is the first time the BAA has had the opportunity to show the creative talents of its more than 700 members. The opening night, from 8-10 p.m., will be special for members, with the public invited for five successive weekends to view the display. Hours will be 2-5 p.m., and 7-9:30 p.m., Fridays and Saturdays, and 2-5 p.m., Sundays.

Mrs. Don E. Ahrens and Mrs. Cyrus Osborn are cochairmen of the social committee. Mrs. Robert Schilling and Mrs. A. M. Wauter will be hostesses at the members' preview.

The arts and crafts show will be headed by Mrs. James C. Allen and Mrs. Chalmers Smith, assisted by Mrs. Milton F. Coulson, Mrs. Rocco DiMarco, Mrs. John W. Jickling, Mrs. Owen A. Luckenbach, Mrs. Edwin N. Cobb, Mrs. M. L. Dacey, Mrs. Russell Haeger, Mrs. Arthur V. Handgren, Mrs. Vance H. Day, Mrs. Cecil Dumbridge, Mrs. Lawrence Angevine, Mrs. C. C. Patterson Jr., Mrs. Dale Douglas, Mrs. Paul Cooley, Mrs. Rowland J. Farrell and Mrs. Hilbert H. DeLawter.

Den 8, Pack B-7, Cub Scouts, gave a farewell party recently for Howard Becker, Jr. Howard, with his sister Kathy, and Mrs. Becker, left Birmingham Wednesday to join Lieut. Howard Becker, stationed in Formosa, where he has been serving with the Army Ordinance division since last July.

The Rotary Anns will meet here Monday at the home of Mrs. William DeGraff, 951 Fairfax Ave., for a 1 o'clock luncheon.

Mrs. Fred Rollins, vice president of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and member of the State Society's board has recently returned from the national convention.

She will report on the convention, presenting plans for the new Clinic for Oakland County Crippled Children which will be located on Telegraph road, Pontiac. Ground was broken for the new building on Oct. 20.

Serving on Monday's luncheon committee will be: Mrs. L. W. Morley, Mrs. M. M. Cammarari, Mrs. Wallace Reid and Mrs. G. W. Averill.

Explosion Rips Home but Woman Unhurt

DIDN'T RECALL BLAST

When McGowan was searched at the police station, a receipt for dynamite was found. He has made no formal statement but, according to Det. Lt. John DePauw, McGowan said he remembered buying the dynamite but did not remember blowing up the house.

Mrs. McGowan said she had separated from her husband for the second time last August because he drank and threatened her.

* * *

The explosion was first reported to the police about 2:20 a.m. as a "shot" but an investigation by two officers quickly revealed that it was an explosion.

The officers reported a strong smell like "gunpowder" in the house. They called the Fire Dept. and Consumers Power to secure the utilities.

Allen to Tell U.S. Story

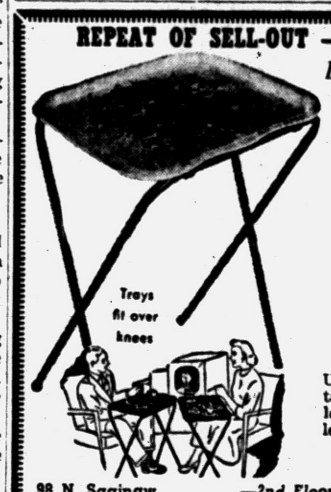

WASHINGTON (AP)—George V. Allen was sworn in today as head of the U. S. Information Agency. He promised to do his best to tell this country's story abroad in an "unembellished fashion."

United States Leading Europe in Big Trees

WASHINGTON — The species of large trees are much more numerous in the United States than in Europe, there being 140 species in America that exceed 30 feet in height compared with 30 of this size in France.

Official Mixup

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A Tucson police officer walked into the El Paso, Tex., police station on official business and said, "I'm William Hogan." "We're glad you gave yourself up," replied the desk sergeant. Hogan was about to be escorted to a cell before he was able to explain he was William Hogan, policeman, not the William Hogan wanted by El Paso police for assault.

Hal Boyle Says:

Hired Man a Memory of Past Generation

NEW YORK (AP)—Remember the hired man?

A generation ago he began to disappear from the American scene, and left a gap in family life that has never quite been filled. There is none to take his place.

★ ★ ★

The hired man at one time was a neighborhood resource, the poor relation by loyalty but not by blood of a dozen or so families he had adopted.

Any family in the community could ask the hired man to work for them. He generally worked only for the families he chose, lorn as he was.

His pay was invariably low. Nobody spoiled him with money. Nobody expected him to brood over the fact his fate was to brush the dust from the welcome mat spread for other feet.

Often he would work for sick people, who having survived local medicine and escaped the local undertaker, would victoriously call in the hired man to brighten up the place to make them feel better.

He was also a kind of measurement of the wealth of the healthy. He did the jobs they could do themselves but were too busy to do or too proud to do in public.

Actually there wasn't much he couldn't do. He could and did mow the grass, fix a light plug, clean the yard, paint the house, or even carry out the ashes from the basement.

★ ★ ★

But in those days the hired man was generally an outdoor-working man. When he came indoors it was usually to eat in the kitchen. He took his time about his work. He would stop and talk to the kids. He would stay in a warm kitchen on a cold day and listen to a wife's complaints as long as she served food or poured coffee. The main thing was he was company.

Whatever happened to the hired man?

He did like everybody else has tried to do in the middle of the 20th century. He specialized. He married and had his own offspring. His ears belong to his own wife, his play time to his own children.

Today one hired man is hired to fix the television set. Another hired man is hired to fix one part of the plumbing, and still another to meet another plumbing problem. A fourth hired man can repair short circuits and is an authority on light bulbs, up to 100 watts.

In an age of specialization the only true all-around hired man in a home is the housewife herself. This is why, if a husband came home at midday, he might find his wife in the kitchen all alone and talking to herself.

What happned to the old-fashioned hired man? He went thataway.

Venezuela Plans to Mill All Own Flour Soon

CARACAS—Venezuela expects to be producing 40 per cent of its wheat-flour requirements early in 1958, according to Dr. Antonio Bricene Parilli, director of commerce in the Ministry of Development.

Two new flour mills are under construction and by the end of 1958 the country may be self-sufficient in wheat flour, he said. In 1956 Venezuela imported 185,712 metric tons of wheat flour and 7,081 tons of wheat grain.

Parole Board OKs Hearing for Leopold

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Nathan Leopold, the much publicized thrill-killer of the 20s, won a new chance yesterday to bid for early freedom on parole.

★ ★ ★

The Illinois Pardon and Parole Board, in a split decision, granted a rehearing on his parole application and set the hearing for an unspecified date next February.

Leopold, now 52, has been in Stateville Prison 33 years for the 1924 slaying of 14-year-old Bobby Franks.

Leopold first sought parole in 1933. Parole was denied and the board rejected two subsequent petitions for a rehearing of the denial.

He filed the current rehearing petition in July, after Gov. William G. Stratton denied his plea for executive clemency.

Leopold and Richard Loeb pleaded guilty to the killing in 1924 and were sentenced. Loeb was stabbed to death in a prison fight in 1936.

Ordinary animal glue absorbs dampness and should not be used in work exposed to weather, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

2 Grade Separations Completed on Road

Two more grade separations have been completed on the Farmington - Brighton expressway, State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie has announced.

★ ★ ★

The Kensington Park separation, 179 feet long with dual, 48-foot-wide roadways, was built by W.H. Harvie, Inc., of Southfield Township at the contract price of $189,743.

★ ★ ★

The railroad separation, 132 feet long with two bridge decks separated by an open median, was built by Louis Garavaglia, Centerline, at a cost of $193,838.

Ralph Flanagan Balks at Hotel Bill

The musician pleaded guilty to a charge of fraudulent procurement of lodgings. He was ordered to pay the $32.54 bill plus court costs of $4.30.

Police said Flanagan complained of receiving poor service at the hotel checkout counter where he had gone to pay his bill after playing for the annual Saginaw Firemen's Ball Tuesday night.

Police said Flanagan walked out of the hotel in a huff. He was taken into custody at Tri-City airport.

Protectionists to Fight Trade Act's Renewal

The Commerce Department's Office of Business Economics reports that foreign business has provided a major stimulus to domestic production this year.

Since World War II under reciprocal trade agreements, U.S. custom duties collected on imports increased from $354 million to $705 million in 1956. In the same period the agreements were whittled down so that the percentage of dutiable imports rose from 33 to 52 per cent. Our total imports are estimated at less than $14 billion this year while our exports are nearly $20 billion.

Reciprocal Trade Agreements will come up for renewal next year and, as usual, there will be well organized opposition. "We want above all to eliminate the Presidential veto over Tariff Commission findings in escape clause cases," says O. R. STRAKBEIN, lobbyist for high protectionists.

They also want to eliminate consideration of foreign policy in tariff setting as "fancied advantages to international relations" and detrimental to domestic producers. The high tariff people would like further use of quotas to limit imports of foreign goods. Escape clauses and quotas are taking us farther away from the idea of reciprocal trade.

President EISENHOWER repeatedly has requested Congressional approval of U.S. membership in the Organization for Trade Co-operation (OTC) but every move in that direction has been blocked by protectionists. OTC aims to foster trade by reciprocal concessions and adherence to nondiscriminatory standards.

The International Chamber of Commerce has supported the President and stressed the new urgency of U. S. membership because of Europe's new common market and the proposed Nordic Customs Union.

In view of the present dollar gap in world trade, higher import duties and quotas would be disastrous.

Peace Descends on GOP in California

Gov. KNIGHT's decision to withdraw from California's gubernatorial race to enter the lists for the Senate has calmed GOP politicians in that state.

After a White House conference with party leaders, Gov. KNIGHT announced that "for the good of the party" he would withdraw and leave Sen. KNOWLAND the only Republican contender for the governorship. Recent political polls show KNOWLAND to be far ahead anyway. So there will be no KNIGHT-KNOWLAND battle to split California's GOP.

Mr. KNOWLAND is making an all out bid for the post. He is resigning from the Senate and from powerful Republican Upper House leadership. This realignment of contenders, however, strengthens the position of both the Senator and Gov. KNIGHT. An added starter to oppose KNIGHT will be Mayor GEORGE CHRISTOPHER of San Francisco.

Sen. Knowland's opponent will be Democrat Attorney General Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, a popular and strong contender. Should the Senator lose, Vice President Nixon would have a clear field for his presidential aspirations in 1960 against defeated candidate Knowland.

★ ★ ★

Whether or not this coup was engineered by Vice President NIXON, as has been claimed, it benefits the GOP as well as Mr. NIXON. Should Gov. KNIGHT win, as is likely, he is more of an EISENHOWER Republican than is Sen. KNOWLAND. Gov. KNIGHT opposed Mr. NIXON's renomination for Vice President in 1956 — now he may be in his debt.

Counting 455 northbound cars in 30 minutes Thursday morning, as they passed the gas station where he works, on the Dixie Highway, just northwest of Pontiac, wonders if the deer won't be driven down into Oakland County.

Word comes to me directly from that hunters should remember that a large part of the Pontiac area is included in wild life sanctuaries or other lands in which hunting is prohibited.

Harboring a trio of deer, a buck and two does, for two years,

A confirmed statistician (of Scotch ancestry) is

He computes the total cost, including loss of wages, at $1,200, or ten dollars a pound — and his family doesn't like venison, anyway.

Driving down from Holly in the darkness of early Thursday morning gave me a full appreciation of the exodus of deer hunters. Raining hard all the way it was one continuous procession of glaring headlights.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

An Old Pioneer and a New Frontier

David Lawrence Says:

Ike Expresses Distrust of Russia

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's speech in Oklahoma City was in some respects the most sensational he has delivered on international affairs in his entire administration.

LAWRENCE

Coming, as it does, after the summary removal of Marshal Zhukov, the address sharply pinpoints America's conception that a dictator now rules Soviet Russia.

It serves a warning that the United States does not trust the present regime in Moscow and will not be dissuaded from defense preparations either by threats or by soothing words from the Communists. The President said:

"You may recall there was once a dictator named Hitler who also said he would bury us. He wrote a long, dull book telling precisely how he was going to do it. Not enough people took him at his word. We shall not make that mistake again."

The reference to Hitler's remark recalls the comment, "We will bury you," as expressed to Western diplomats by Khrushchev a few weeks ago at a cocktail party in Moscow, when he was discussing the Soviets' military prowess.

The fact that the President now calls attention publicly to this threat by Khrushchev is one of the most significant changes in recent policy here. Heretofore statements and speeches by the President or the secretary of state have been couched in implicit rather than explicit phrases.

There has been a general avoidance of such words as "dictatorship" in any specific reference to individuals. But apaprently, with the emergence of Khrushchev as the master tyrant evidenced by the removal of war hero Zhukov, there now is a tendency to rely less on the kid-glove treatment.

This is a salutary happening, because the real way to prevent the next world war is to encourage the people of Soviet Russia to get rid of the existing dictatorship, which can plunge them into war at any moment.

The President referred specifically in his speech to the "rigorous educational system and technological achievements" of the Soviets, but added:

"We see all this happening under a political philosophy that postpones again and again the promise to each man that he will be allowed to be himself, and to enjoy, according to his own desires, the fruits of his own labor."

This is a vivid description of slavery. The President is, in effect, telling the world and particularly the people of Soviet Russia that whatever they may achieve in a material way does them little good —for they have no individual freedom.

It's the core of the whole problem of Communist tyranny which is celebrated now as the 40th anniversary of a "revolution" whose fruits have been denied to the people of the Soviet Union.

Mr. Eisenhower mentioned the "dramatic evidence" of "some remarkable material achievements" recently, and undoubtedly he was referring to the launching of the "Sputniks" as he said:

"When such competence in things material is at the service of leaders who have so little regard for things human, and who command the power of an empire, there is danger ahead for free men everywhere. That, my friends, is the reason why the American people have been so aroused about the earth satellites."

The words of the President should be read carefully in every so-called "uncommitted" or "neutral" country, for it is evident that if the Communists could conquer the Western allies, there would be little change for freedom anywhere else.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Fumes From Heating Unit Can Cause Illness, Death

Inexplicable aviation disasters are sometimes attributed to "pilot error." Among familiar effects of oxygen deficit, anoxia, as in altitude flying, are lowering of powers of sight, smell, hearing, memory and judgment, without the individual being aware of his condition. He may also have irrational ideas, uncontrolled outbursts of emotion and impaired muscular co-ordination.

DR. BRADY

Similar effects occur in anoxia (insufficient oxygen in the cells and tissues), in mountain sickness and in illnessses such as pneumonia, septicemia, fever.

Identical effects are familiar, though not always recognized as anoxia, in mild carbon monoxide poisoning.

With the arrival of cold weather we shall have the usual number of fatalities from carbon monoxide anoxia due to the use of unvented gas burning appliances or stoves burning other fuel.

The use of a portable gas, oil or kerosene heater even for a little while "to take the chill off" in a small room may give off enough carbon monoxide to cause death.

★ ★ ★

As little as three parts of carbon monoxide in 1,000 parts of air will cause death within a few minutes unless rescue is prompt.

REAL DANGER

Any kind of fuel, burning, slowly or smouldering or with closed draft or restricted supply of air, may give off carbon monoxide. Anyone who says this or that type of burner can't produce carbon monoxide or burns all such "fumes" and is therefore absolutely safe is irresponsible or presumes upon your ignorance.

Burning charcoal gives off deadly carbon monoxide in abundance. The gas may pass right through a red hot cast iron stove. If the burner of a household water heater becomes sooted(carbon, charcoal), it becomes a menace to health and life in the household.

Less than one part of CO in 1,000 parts of air will cause tightness across the forehead, headache and flushing of the face. Sometimes throbbing in the temples.

Carbon Monoxide (CO) is the dangerous gas in the exhaust of the car or other internal combustion engine. Not only the driver or passenger but also the mechanic or attendant in a garage or parking lot and the clerical worker in an adjacent shop or office is exposed to this hazard.

★ ★ ★

For bedrooms, offices, workrooms or shops heated by gas stoves, window screens of unbleached muslin should be used as a precaution against collapse without warning or gradual loss of health through carbon monoxide anoxia.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Get 'Vaccinated' Against Divorce

Contrast Rebecca's experience in Oregon with that of the new bride in Pittsburgh. Then send for the booklet below and see if they have exaggerated. You can be the judge. Be grateful that newspapers help vaccinate people against divorce and delinquency in the manner outlined below, for 80 per cent of people never attend college at all!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-353: Rebecca L., aged 31, is a happy housewife.

"But the first two years of our marriage were terrible," she confessed.

"I had eloped with a handsome soldier. We knew very little about each other, and disregarded the fact we came from different religious and social backgrounds

"When my second baby was born, I was heartbroken to learn that my husband had been unfaithful to me.

"Finally, I told my parents. My father was a clergyman and he said I had to solve my own problem regarding my marriage.

"But he recommended that I write to you in care of our paper which I did.

"Dr. Crane, you sent me an encouraging personal letter and included your 'Tests for Husbands & Wives,' plus the booklet 'Sex Problems in Marriage.'

"I got my husband to read them with me. We rated each other on the marriage charts. And from that moment onward, we began to get along much better.

"I have now been married for 10 years. And the last eight of them have been so happy that I can't imagine anybody else could have a happier home life.

"If our newspaper hadn't been running your column, I might have ended in a divorce. So thank you both."

"UNIVERSITY IN PRINT"

This daily newspaper is a great educational institution. Please remember that 1,000 people like Rebecca write to me each day.

If they don't get "vaccinated" against divorce and unhappiness by this printed column, then your newspaper offers you a "booster" shot via the non-profit psychological charts and booklets, like those Rebecca mentioned.

Every time we salvage a marriage, that is not only a social benefit and a boon to the children who otherwise would be shuttled back and forth between feuding parents.

But it is also a direct financial gain to every taxpayer. For our divorce courts are supported by taxes.

So are our juvenile homes for delinquent children. And the support of our jails comes out of the taxpayer's pocket.

Thus, when a newspaper stops divorces and checks the mad trend toward juvenile delinquency in its area, it performs a double service to its area.

"Newspapers just feature lurid divorce revelations," I have often heard people exclaim.

But you readers don't realize the hundreds of divorces which have been nipped in the bud via the mail service to this one feature. And newspapers offer many other educational columns besides my "Worry Clinic."

"Dr. Crane, I am a University graduate," a girl from Pittsburgh wrote to me not long ago.

"And I took two marriage courses at college. But your booklet on 'Sex Problems in Marriage' was more valuable to me than both of those marriage classes.

"For they beat around the bush and ignored the most critical adjustment problem of all.

"Oh, they told me the importance of being a good cook and housekeeper, but my mother had taught me all of that at home.

"But neither my mother nor my college professors had prepared me for the sexual adjustments in marriage. They glossed over such things.

"So the newspaper did more to make my marriage a success than did my college education."

Send for the medico-psychological booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit) See if you don't agree with this Pittsburgh bride

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Industrialist Gives Views on Trouble in His Company

The three and one half year struggle by Kohler Company against coercive practices of union bosses has found us able to meet the challenge, so we don't complain of industrial martyrdom. Nor have we been alone in our experience for many other companies have faced — and do face — similar situations.

I do want to point out that both the private enterprise system and the freedom of all Americans, including wage-earners, are in grave peril and perhaps doomed unless the coercive acts of labor bosses are curbed by: (1) Repeal of discriminatory legal immunities, (2) Restoration of the right and duty of the states and local units to preserve order, (3) Impartial and effective law enforcement.

The American public must be told, again and again, what really is happening.

Herbert V. Kohler, President

Northender Says Sewers Are First

I'm with the taxpayer who asked why there should be a standstill for improvement just to get the hospital built. The north end needs sewers very badly and we are told we'll get them from the next improvement fund. Last year I paid $107 for a house on one lot and an outside toilet. We can't use the one inside half the time because of no sewers. What happens to our tax money? Sewers are a must. Why not some action? Let's hear from some more north enders.

Heavy Taxpayer of North End

Second Group Presents Ideas

We, as a group of parents of school children, want to express appreciation to all those who donated time and money to furnish a safe walking place for many of the children at William Beaumont school.

While some members of an independent association feel our children's safety lies only in bus transportation, we have never felt walking to school would be too hazardous so long as safe walks were provided. We were appointed by no one and were supported by most parents. We've had ridicule from another group. If the amount of time spent talking and picketing by some people had been spent in helping build the walk, it probably could have been paved.

We realize one path isn't the answer to a serious problem of safety for all children, but it could be the beginning of things to come. In the future more and more children will be expected to walk to school and safe walks are a permanent fixture.

College President Has Suggestion

The President of Brown University recently said that if something isn't done the rising cost of education, many students would be unable to go to college. He suggests that a college education be considered as a capital investment and be financed the same way as a factory or house. Maybe that would be the answer to many of the problems facing prospective college students.

Wants School Sing for Christmas

I haven't heard anything about it this year, but I hope the city schools promote another Christmas group sing by children from the different schools. I can remember when I did it and it was such fun for both children and parents.

Parent Now

Urges More Men to Enter Ministry

I wonder if anyone looks at things the way I do. Perhaps more young men should consider entering the ministry. If he is young, single and handsome, he could just about get what he wants in Sunday's collection. He could be the sharpest man about town, make almost a hundred a week, get an expensive car every two or three years, sleep in a house owned by the church rent-free, eat at members' homes and pay no taxes. So, come on, fellows, think about it. It's one of the best rackets anywhere. What's more it's legal.

Long Time Observer

Piles of Leaves Present Hazard

While driving through the city, I've noticed large piles of leaves in the streets near the curbs. Some of them are piled several feet high. It would cause a lot less worry to drivers if the leaves could be stacked back of the curb. Children love to play in them, and I'm always afraid some small child will be hidden under or behind the larger piles of leaves. Some of them are so far into the street it's impossible to get by without driving through them, and it would be a terrible tragedy if a child were hit in the process.

Cutoffs to Divert Traffic to Right

Plans to Ease Dixie Left-Turns

Two new roads are planned for the near future to alleviate the heavy left-turn traffic on Dixie Highway to Williams Lake Rd., on the west, and Walton Boulevard to the east.

★ ★ ★

The project was announced today by acting District Traffic Engineer Joseph Marlow of the Michigan State Highway Department.

Motorists approaching Pontiac from the north, who want to make a left turn from Dixie Highway to Walton Boulevard, will turn right on a new cut-over, to Williams Lake Rd., then cross the Dixie to Walton Blvd.

The same type of cut-off will exist, if the motorist is heading towards Flint from Pontiac, and wishes to turn left on Williams Lake Rd. He will turn right on another new cut-over, to Walton Blvd., then cross the Dixie to Williams Lake Rd.

★ ★ ★

Past the blue-print stage, the plans are now in the offices of the right-of-way department and in the final stages of completion, according to Marlow.

2-YEAR STUDY

The State Highway Department has been working on the left turn problem at this intersection for more than two years to help reduce the high number of accidents which have occurred there, Marlow said.

★ ★ ★

"This type of quadrant has been used in other parts of Michigan," he added, "and has proven the least expensive of all types of left-turn movement."

Marlow continued that whether the project became a reality or not, depended on the cost of property in the area.

A report received by the highway department fror Lansing yesterday stated that right of way agreements should be concluded sometime next week, and construction will begin early next spring, Marlow concluded.

Cement Company Intends to Build Plant at Dundee

DUNDEE (AP) — Plans for a 10-million-dollar plant near Dundee capable of producing 18,000,000 bags of cement annually have been announced here by a Canadian cement company official.

★ ★ ★

Denis Tempe, a spokesman for the St. Lawrence Cement Co. of Clarkson, Ont., said test borings have disclosed a 40-foot strata of limestone underlying the proposed plant site three miles north of here and about 14 miles west of Monroe.

Options on 1,400 acres have been obtained. The plant would operate under the name of the Dundee Cement Co. and would employ about 200 workers.

Final construction plans are awaiting the outcome of objections filed by three property owners whose land adjoins that optioned by the cement company.

★ ★ ★

The company's construction plans are contingent on the closing of various roads running through the plant property. Objecting property owners claim the resulting dead-end roads would decrease the value of their land.

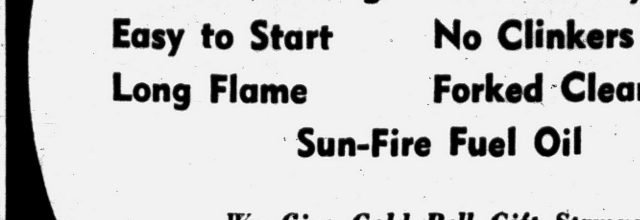

The Monroe County road commission conducted a hearing on the issue last week. Another hearing is scheduled Wednesday.

Bob Considine Says:

Pravda Made of Stern Journalistic Stuff

MOSCOW (INS) — If you had been in Moscow Wednesday, the paper you would have read would not have been the Pontiac Press, but the one and only Pravda, circulation in the millions, maybe two, maybe five — the figures have never been released.

You would not have had to wade through pages of enticing advertisements, comics, features, columns, Hollywood and Broadway chatter, how to construct a do-it-yourself oceangoing yacht.

OF STERNER STUFF

Pravda is made of sterner journalistic stuff. That day it was headed with, "New patriotic feelings of masses on the occasion of the anniversary of the October revolution."

A speech of Nov. 6th by comrade Khrushchev, the article explained, had aroused new bursts of love for the motherland and production of things needed to make her greater.

Muscovites thrilled to learn from their favorite paper that miners of the Kazakhan District of Kazakhan Republic had already fulfilled their allotted plan for 1957 and had decided as a result of the speech to add 25,000 tons of coal to the state's pile

TAKE ON MORE

Workers in two Kiev plants in the Ukraine, the Lenin foundry and the Red excavator assembly plant, accepted new obligations after hearing Khrushchev on their plant radio.

Workers at the latter plant built 67 extra excavators the day after the speech, promised to step up production to 75.

Beside the Pravda masthead overhead, and nearby was the legend: "Grand are the achievements during the existence of the Soviet Union. Building of our socialist society gave great economical and policy changes to our country.

Understanding of our people ever grows for, as members of the socialist democracies, they rule governments themselves. The next task is onward to communism — the great idea of this century."

There were notices also on the front page that various Soviet leaders had received several communist delegations from the hinterland, here for the fortieth anniversary.

Pages two and three are completely devoted to the Sputnik story, including the first pictures of poor Laika in her flying kennel and an interesting drawing of the nose section of the Sputnik II rocket and a description of the function of various electronic gear.

The long article mentioned offhandedly that Russian scientists and physiologists had been sending dogs up as high as 200 kilometers for several years. Laika, the article said, "lasted for several days."

"The piece went on to say that "experimental data has been received and is now under careful study. Even now we can say that this animal felt quite well en route to the orbit (despite what must have been the colossal pull of gravity) and also in the wastes of space for several days.

The sports section covered three paragraphs. Soviet weightlifters had won a glorious victory in the international competition at Teheran. A picture on the back page showed a group of children of collective fishermen in Turkmen, U.S.S.R., doing morning calisthenics. Very exciting issue all around.

Thinning Eliminated With Sowing Machine

STAVANGER, Norway—A radically different type of sowing machine has been patented by a Norwegian farmer, Sigmund Stokland. It can drop seeds one or a few at a time, thus eliminating the need of thinning later. By attaching a special device to the feeding mechanism the sower can be used also as a fertilizer spreader.

Per-Pupil Costs Vary

CHICAGO — According to a survey by the Illinois Institute of Technology, the annual operating cost per student in the nation's public schools runs from a low of $136 in Bowling Green, Ky., to a high of $459 in San Francisco.

Brando Delves Deep for Spiritual Wealth

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Marlon Brando once remarked that you can't get inspired in Hollywood. It's "like one big cash register ringing up the money all day long he said.

Everybody was certain, in those days, that he despised money.

This week, several years older and several fortunes richer, Marlon has a slightly revised view.

"I still don't know anybody who's wealthy who says, now "I'm happy," he says, wearing his puzzled, almost sad expression of self analysis. "But I think money is important because it's the only kind of—of citadel in America. It's only with money that you can live outside of society and still be in it.

"The days of Walden and Thoreau, of going out in the soil, are gone. Walden has been bought off—know what I mean? There's no place to go anymore." A desert island, perhaps, still exists. "But it's pretty lonely if you've got any kind of social propensities."

Brando has. He is surrounded by a clique of people who admire, emulate and live off him. And he needs their company, because in long loneliness his mind gets dark.

That is why, "though I could liquidate my interests and withdraw right now—could spend my time under a plum tree — I wouldn't. It's boring."

THINKS DEEP

The stocky, gentle-faced actor is ponderously disturbing when he speaks. He takes as long as two minutes to get out one simple sentence; then quickly and easily turns a phrase of imagery that would do credit to the finest writer. Sometimes he digs so deep for a thought that he has to halt and scratch his head and sigh, " I forget what the hell I was going to say."

His "press" on the personal side has been bad, mainly because Brando dislikes revealing his thoughts to strangers. It's said he despises columnists of the gossip variety, but he declines disliking anyone.

"There are some people I feel sorry for, and some I step aside from, because in flailing away they're going to slash you up." But dislike for anybody, anything?

★ ★ ★

"Nobody dislikes German measles. You just say damn, I don't want 'em around, let's go somewhere else."

Brando does not intend to return to Broadway in the near future. "I have a commitment to do a play. It's just a gentleman's agreement," he says. "I want to fulfill it, and will, at the opportunity. But I have no plans right now to further my future as an actor."

He is not, however, content with his movie performances. (A friend is reported to have said, "Marlon always turns against whatever he's working on.") Until now, popular opinion lists his greatest film role as "On the Waterfront." The story goes, he thrashed out of the projection room after seeing it.

"I was very disappointed in it," he says, "but as far as standing up celery-straight and walking out —I didn't."

Brando is writing a movie script titled "A Burst of Vermilion." Asked if he likes writing, he says "Yeah." Will it ever replace acting for him? "I don't know—it might very well."

Is it as successful an outlet as acting is, for you? "I don't know—not so far. I don't know why either. Just so far it isn't."

About his new wife, the actor refuses to talk. Certainly no one who has watched his troubled face and listened to his brooding voice would blame him. You don't have to understand Brando to respect him.

Will Immortalize Laika in Plaque Near Dog Heroes

BERLIN (AP)—The Sputnik dog Laika will be immortalized in a plaque alongside Russian dog heroes of World War II, a Russian scientist, J. W. Krylov, said in a Moscow interview with the East German Communist youth newspaper Jungewelt today. The memorial plaque will be placed near Leningrad, he said, with this inscription: "The first creature who penetrated into the cosmos."

★ ★ ★

Laika's name will be placed beside the names of first aid and rescue dogs that died in the war, Krylov added.

Krylov was quoted as saying Laika was poisoned after her food supply ran out, that Sputnik II was not equipped to return the dog to earth but that this would be possible with future earth satellites.

Illness Hits 38 Million in U.S. Since Summer

CLEVELAND (AP)—At least one fourth of the nation's people have had to spend a day or more in bed since mid-summer because of severe colds, sore throat, Asian flu or similar upper respiratory ills, a report by a U. S. Public Health Service official showed today. There were 38 million so affected from mid-July to October.

Dr. William Stewart, assistant to the surgeon general of USPHS summarized the latest available data on the Asian flu situation

West German Army Will Have Rockets

BONN, Germany (AP) — The West German armed forces are to be equipped with several types of rocket weapons, Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss announced today. Under present plans they will have nonatomic explosive warheads, he said.

★ ★ ★

Rockets with conventional warheads that are to be developed would replace the army's long-range artillery and the air force's fighter planes, he said.

Strauss also came out strongly for an integrated air defense with one radar network covering Western Europe.

Boeing, AF Reveal New Jet Bomber

SEATTLE (AP)—The Boeing Airplane Co. and the Air Force announced jointly today the B52E, a new model of the eight-jet global bomber, has gone into service with the Strategic Air Command.

★ ★ ★

The improved model is the fifth since Boeing began production of the 200-ton B52s. Major advances in the B52E are increased navigational accuracy, more reliable electronics systems, greater crew comfort and relocation of some equipment.

★ ★ ★

External appearance, speed, range and altitude remain unchanged from earlier models. The B52s can fly more than 6,000 miles without refueling at speeds up to 650 miles an hour and altitudes of more than 50,000 feet.

Asks Extension of Foreign Aid

Nixon Asserts Mutual Security Program as Important as Military

★ ★ ★

He said, in an extemporaneous address last night, that the mutual security program "which the President will ask the Congress to approve . . . is just as important, and could be more important, than the military appropriations he will ask."

The vice president spoke at a dinner meeting of a conference on university contracts abroad, sponsored by the Committee on Institutional Projects Abroad of the American Council of Education.

★ ★ ★

The vice president said it is necessary to strengthen the economy of newly developing nations throughout the world "so they can be independent of any foreign domination—including that of the United States itself." Independence, he said, is the best assurance the nations will not fall to communism.

These peoples, Nixon told the group, are primarily those who formerly lived under colonial rule and the majority of them are members of races other than the white race.

Pick Up 64 Armed With Wads of Cash

APALACHIN, N.Y. (AP)—State police and U.S. Treasury agents yesterday broke up what an investigator said was a convention held by mobster Vito Genovese and 64 pals.

The 65 men were picked up yesterday at a hilltop retreat near this south central New York community. All were released after identifying themselves.

"We haven't a thing on them," said Sgt. Edgar Croswell of the State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation. "But we made it clear we wanted them out of the area."

★ ★ ★

Croswell said the men were armed only with fat wads of cash —no guns. They came from New York, New Jersey, Ohio, California, Texas, Colorado, Pennsylvania, Puerto Rico and Cuba, he added.

"We broke up the meeting because we were convinced it was being held for an unlawful purpose," he declared. "They're all hoodlums; there's no doubt about it."

Rains Terminate in Eastern Part of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wet weather persisted over most of the northern sections of the country today but rains ended temporarily in many areas east of the Mississippi River.

★ ★ ★

The storm in the Great Lakes region, which lashed Midwest areas yesterday, brought some heavy rainfall and gusty winds in the Northeastern region. Wind gusts of more than 40 m.p.h. were reported near the center of the storm in Lower Michigan. Earlier winds of 69 m.p.h. whipped the Toledo, Ohio, area. They were clocked at 60 m.p.h. at Akron, Ohio, and Lansing and Battle Creek, Mich.

★ ★ ★

Can't Beat Traffic, Why Not Join It?

DENVER (INS) — Traffic is growing every day. You can't beat it, so why not join it.

★ ★ ★

That's the advice from Colorado Highway Patrol Chief Gilbert Carrel, who says, "The driver who isn't content to move at the same speed as the traffic around him is a menace to himself and all other drivers."

Carrel says the volume of traffic on the road means safe driving is no longer a matter of merely complying with the law, but that every driver keep in step with the flow of traffic.

Carrel said a driver who paces himself with the traffic, not traveling too fast nor too slow, will cut down his chances of being involved in an accident considerably, and, incidentally, may cut down the blood pressure in the modern traffic flow.

A good driver and a man who will continue to be a good driver, Carrel says, is the man (or woman) who can adapt himself to the changing traffic pattern.

Master Sgt. Berardo and his son, Sgt. Charles Berardo, have been together in the U.S. Army since 1948. Charles has nine years in. His father has 29.

Cranbrook Botanist Talks to Central Biology Club

By WILLIAM BANK

"What Is a Botanist?" was the topic of Dr. Warren Stoutamire, a botanist from Cranbrook, when he spoke to the Pontiac Central High School Biology Club last night.

In this speech, Dr. Stoutamire talked about the different phases of Botany. He also showed movies about a botanist's job.

The Biology Club is also planning to enter a float in the Christmas parade sponsored by the Downtown Pontiac Association. They decided on a theme of "Santa comes to Frogland." The committee in charge of planning this float is Judy Lowry, Pat Kline, and Gordon Noren.

Anyone interested in entering the Science Fair next March is urged to start work on his project immediately. The fair is open to any high school student in Oakland County. Projects will be judged on six categories. They are: creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, clarity, and dramatic value.

The committees that will help out the dramatics department in the production of "Lute Song," this winter's play, have just been announced. The chairmen of these committees are Jo Ann Wood and Barbra Wolfe, tickets; Ann Hamilton, publicity; Sandra Sommerville, props; Marjorie Crowder, wardrobe; and Bill Bank, light crew.

The Thespians Club has recently elected officers. They are Toby Gilbert, president; Clarice Graves, vice president; Sophia Skinner, recording secretary; Bob Thompson, social chairman; and Bill Kath, sergeant-at-arms.

The Radio Workshop is putting on three shows per week this year. They are "More Wonderful Than Magic," a science show; "It's Story Time," a "story" show for grade schoolers; and "Citizens of the Universe," a history show. They are presented Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, respectively.

PRODUCE 3 RADIO SHOWS

The "More Wonderful Than Magic" series has a permanent cast with Clark Davis, announcer; Sharon Mow, Miss Polly; Beverly Chamberlin, Penny; and Dan Jubelt, Peter. The only permanent members of the other two series are Carl Code, announcer for "It's Story Time," and Lynn Carson, announcer for "Citizens of the Universe."

★ ★ ★

These programs are designed for "in school listening" and 60 schools in this area receive the lesson aids sent out by the workshop. By doing their own production, including the technical engineering, the students gain valuable experience in such things as production, engineering, writing, sound, and music.

The Hi-Y Club will hold a hayride with the Y-Teens Nov. 23.

PRACTICE EXECUTION SCENE — Waterford Township High School choir members are preparing for the presentation of "The Mikado," an operetta by Gilbert and Sullivan Thursday and Saturday. Stephanie Hill, 4795 Elizabeth Lake Rd., seems frightened as Dick Heltsley, 473 Scott Lake Rd. (center), is about to be executed by Terry Walker, 45 Pinegrove Ave.

Present 'Daddy Long Legs'

Rochester Plans 4 Acts

The senior class of Rochester High School is putting the finishing touches on their class play, "Daddy Long Legs," which will be presented in the Rochester Junior High School gymnasium Thursday and Friday.

This four-act comedy begins at 8 p.m. with a laugh and ends with a kiss. It is the story of Judy who has been brought up in an orphanage under an anonymous benefactor.

AT WEST BLOOMFIELD

Club organization and elections have been the main highlights at West Bloomfield High School these past weeks.

The newspaper club, the West Bloomfield Writers, has adopted a constitution. The Future Teachers' Club has selected officers and started working on their constitution and the Camera Club members are now developing pictures.

Future Teachers' officers include Mary Law, president; Destiny Hollier, vice president; Donna Mehrkamper, treasurer and Sandra Thompson, secretary.

The boys' ensemble and girls' triple trio have been working very hard on a variety of songs for the coming concerts. They are both under the direction of choral director, Mr. M. Asphlin.

For the past two weeks, annual yearbook subscriptions have been on sale at West Bloomfield. The seniors have chosen white and green as their class colors. Their class flower will be the white carnation and the class motto is: "The ropes of the past ring the bells of the future."

★ ★ ★

Tonight is the last football game of the season for the Lakers. It will be played away against Northville High School.

AT LAKE ORION

With school spirits high because of the wins at Lake Orion Community High School, students want to show their colors this season.

★ ★ ★

Student Council members are selling decals for windows; pencils with the basketball schedules on them; plastic book covers; and are contemplating the purchase of felt dolls for home decorations.

Future Homemakers of America Club are having a hayride tonight.

The junior high school had a student dance this week. This was the first social event since the 7 and 8 grades have been in a school separate from the high school.

AT CLARKSTON

Members of the Clarkston High School senior class will present a three act play "Annie Get Your Gun" in the school gymnasium Nov. 23.

There will be two matinee performances on Thursday and Friday for the student body. The play is under the supervision of Miss Lorna Wildon, our new dramatics coach.

The senior class has selected Washington, D. C. as their destination for a senior trip. Three alternatives were offered: New York City, Washington, D. C., and a Great Lakes boat trip.

★ ★ ★

Further voting will determine the length of the trip and with what company the class will travel.

AT WALLED LAKE

Since time is creeping up fast for the debate tournaments, the Walled Lake High School debaters are now directing their attention to practice debates.

Monday, Peggy Emmert and Karen Kassner, affirmative, and Becky Odell and Renee Thibodeau, negative, will stage the first practice debate. The opening tournament is scheduled for December 2 at Van Dyke High School.

Tonight is the big night for the juniors. The J-Hop will be held in the high school from 8-11 p.m. The event will be semi-formal with a theme of "Prelude to Winter."

AT MILFORD

The Junior Class at Milford High School is off to an energetic start by sponsoring their first dance of the year next Friday, "The Plymouth Rock."

The price is 75 cents per couple and the dress casual. Dancing will be from 8-11:30 p.m. for just juniors and their guests.

The dance committee members are Fred Coxen, Larry Adams, Judy Carlson, Doreen Davis, Steve Lundstrom and class president Jerry Garner.

Milford High School was honored last week when the Wayne-Oakland League Student Council elected Pete De Garmo president for the year '57-'58. Pete is also president of Milford's student Council.

Other officers elected were Dick Stuber, vice president and Elsa Couse, secretary, both from Northville; and Sue Sunderg, treasurer, Bloomfield Hills.

AT AVONDALE

A boat trip to Niagara Falls via the Welland Canal and Port Colburn, Ontario, was selected by the seniors of Avondale High School as their senior cruise next spring.

A panel of students has been asked to attend the meeting of the Association for the Advancement of Instruction About Alcohol and Narcotics to be held Tuesday. George G. Nimmo, Alcohol Educational director, has asked Leonard Passint, teacher, to bring a representative high school group to the work shop.

WTHS Choir Gives Japanese Operetta by Gilbert, Sullivan 2 Nights Next Week

By SANDY CLEMENCE

"The Mikado," an operetta by Gilbert and Sullivan, will be presented Thursday and Saturday at Waterford Township High School by the WTHS choir.

The operetta concerns the love affairs of Nanki-Poo and Yum-Yum, and Ko-Ko and Katisha. When the Mikado (Emperor) decrees that the post of Lord High Executioner will be abolished if no one is executed, Nanki-Poo is condemned for flirting with Yum-Yum who is engaged to her guardian Ko-Ko.

★ ★ ★

Choral music director Richard J. Meier will be assisted by Patty Looman and Robert Alexander, dramatics advisors.

★ ★ ★

Ruth Ann DeGrow, WTHS senior, is the winner of the "I Speak For Democracy" speech contest held at the school this week. The four runners-up who will also be entered in the state contest were: Betty Vernan, Lanny Younger, Ron Shelp, and Terry Walker.

A Senior Class party will be held tomorrow night at the Amvets Bemis Olsen Post, 570 Oakland Ave., for WTHS seniors and their guests. The party will be hosted by Stephanie Hill and Gail Winter.

CLASS VISITS COURT

The Commercial Law classes at WTHS went on a field trip to Oakland County Circuit Court last Friday. Judge George B. Hartrick presided. He first gave the group information about the workings of the court and then carried on an actual case.

★ ★ ★

Madison Organizes Jewelry Club

The new Madison Junior High School Jewelry Club, sponsored by Miss Pauline Woodin, has elected officers and begun preparations for the first project.

Other members of the club are: Paula Dombroski, Barbara Pierce, Barbara Evereff, Pat Hileman, Judy Clark, Jeanette Koch, Ted Lorenzen, Duane Stuk, Dick Perez, and Don Curtis.

The Camera Club members are planning to print and make a portfolio of Madison's activities and life. This will serve as an orientation device for new students who are learning to print, develop, and enlarge their own pictures. This club, sponsored by Mr. John Blake, have also elected officers.

★ ★ ★

Madison's students sold over $4,000 worth of magazines in their recent sales campaign. They earned the school a new trampoline and $200 worth of books for the library.

In addition, the top selling homeroom, A 13, under the leadership of Mrs. Lillian Paull, sold 196 per cent of their quota. They will be awarded with a trip to see the movie "Around the World In 80 Days."

Top school salesman was Eugene Coe with a total of $178. Eugene will receive a new English type bicycle. He was also last year's top school salesman at Madison.

AT EASTERN

Eastern Junior High School students were entertained at a double assembly this week by the 110-voice Pontiac Central High School choir directed by George H. Putnam.

Homeroom 306, under the leadership of teacher Maurice Levine, sponsored a dance last night. It was called "The Schoolhouse Rock," and the record "Silhouette" was awarded to the best dancers.

Entertainment was provided by Cinda Nurck, Elyse Barbe, Wesley Hyde, Clell McCall, Delores Perry, Mary Anne Shea, and Mr. Levine.

A ten-minute radio script entitled "Lest We Forget" was presented over the public address system this week, commemorating Veterans Day. Winston Hendricks was the announcer.

★ ★ ★

Joyce Best and Mary Rounding played the part of two school girls preparing for an assignment regarding Veterans Day. They discover the history and significance of Veterans Day and become aware of the songs and poems written during the Revolutionary, Civil, First and Second World Wars. Pam Pullis gave a reading "In Flanders Fields." Martha Cox recited a poem, "High Flight."

★ ★ ★

AT WASHINGTON

Approximately $5,800 was the final total of subscriptions sold. This was in excess of the challenge quota set and a thermometer in the main hall of the school kept everyone posted on the daily results.

Bi-weekly dances at Washington began Wednesday. These are jointly sponsored by the school and the city department of recreation. Social and square dances will be alternated.

★ ★ ★

School cheerleaders for this year are captained by Darlene Woodhull. The other cheerleaders are: Donna Douglass, Allen Buchman, Sally Hamilton, Judy Whitmer, Dee Dee Kaiser and Jackie Mullen.

AT LINCOLN

Lincoln Junior High School students and faculty members are head over heels in a school-wide magazine campaign to earn money for extra equipment not ordinarily supplied by the Board of Education.

★ ★ ★

The Young Librarians Club sponsored a movie at an assembly this week by presenting the story of Yosemite National Park from its founding in 1890 by the famous naturalist John Muir, to its beautiful development today as a beauty spot of the world. Tolbert Carter and Pete Ronquillo were the technicians in charge.

★ ★ ★

The 4th hour reading improvement class adapted a play for radio and a tape recording of it was presented to several classes at Lincoln and at an assembly at Wisner Elementary School. Taking part in the play were Todd Twichell, Chuck Humphries, Ray Beegle, Donald Stockwell, Ronald Maynard, Neil Stewart, and Lawrence Mitchell.

Varsity Club at St. Fred Plans Homecoming Dance

By PATRICIA FOSTER

News at St. Frederick High School this week centers around the Varsity Club and its activities.

For the first time the club is sponsoring a homecoming dance on November 22 at the school hall preceding the game with St. Michael High School.

Two candidates for homecoming queen have been selected from each homeroom. Students will be able to vote for the candidate of their choice by buying votes and the results of the election will be announced at the dance.

★ ★ ★

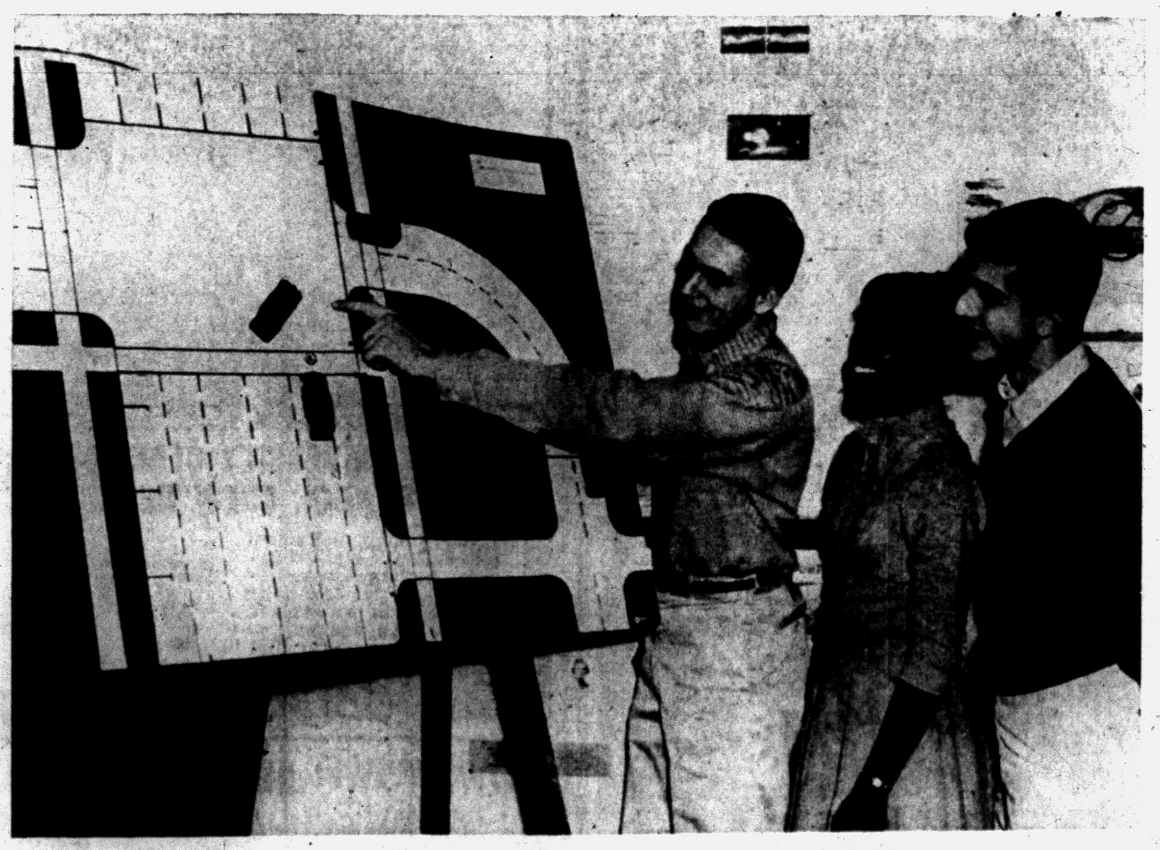

Music for the evening will be provided by the Collegiates.

Other news in the Varsity Club is the results of the recent election of officers. They are Joe Sharpe, president; Jack Lyons, vice president; Tom Nesbitt, secretary and Jack Sharpe, treasurer.

"Save for something special" is the theme of this week to encourage students to purchase yearbooks. This is the only week orders may be placed for the Ramrod, which will be available in the spring.

The Future Nurses Club toured General Motors Corporation yesterday to see Industrial Nursing in practical operation.

Wednesday, Maryanne Clifton, R.N. will speak to the girls on the "Office Nurse."

PLAN TEEN TRAFFIC COURT — Larry Beamer, 36 Steinbaugh Ct., president of the Pontiac Central High School Student Council, points out a driver who is about to make an improper left turn and could be a teenager who might appear before the proposed teen traffic court. Mary Williams, of 16 Esther St., and Emmanuel Williams, 206 Cherokee Rd., are both on the student committee to organize the court now being planned.

Insurance Coverage Up

NEW YORK—American families owned an average of $7,600 worth of life insurance at the start of 1957,, more than twice as much as 10 years ago.

New Comintern to Face Obstacles in Red Leaders

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

★ ★ ★

The speculation that re-establishment of some form of a world red organization, similar to the old Comintern and Cominform, may emerge is based on several factors.

It is known that Khrushchev has considered the idea before; and it also is now apparent that he is undisputed master of Soviet Communist power. It would be logical to assume he would like to be the undisputed master of world Communism.

Several obstacles arise if Khrushchev has such goals. Yugoslav Marshal Tito has shied from the idea of creating another red organization. His quarrel with the old Cominform, or Communist Information Bureau, meaning Stalin, led to his ouster from that group in 1948.

Palmiro Togliatti, the Italian Communist leader, is said to oppose any step that would blatantly reveal Soviet leadership. He's had trouble in his own party ranks since the Russian tanks suppressed the Hungarian revolt of Communists and non-communists.

Polish red leader Wladyslaw Gomulka also has reason to oppose any revival of a Cominform. Gomulka's popularity at home is based on the fact that he fought Moscow orders and pressures.

MAO DECISION VITAL

The position of Mao Tse-Tung is important in any final decision. The Chinese red leader was said to have opposed a Russian suggestion of a revised Cominform earlier this year.

★ ★ ★

Mao is said to be jealous of his own position as a top man in world Communism since the death of Stalin. But his country is plagued with economic troubles and it seems safe to assume that his real purpose in going to Moscow is to get help.

The second five-year plan due to begin next year is imperiled. Plans for the first phase, made only in the past few months, have been discarded in favor of a new program. The latter involves a heavy switch in emphasis from heavy industry to projects such as water conservation and the manufacture of fertilizers.

Cooking oil, rice and cotton cloth are strictly rationed in Red China today. Unemployment is spreading with heavy lay-offs of state employes and also because there are no jobs for many of the million or more youths who reach working age each year.

★ ★ ★

China would like new economic and military aid pledges from Moscow. But there is no question of outright Soviet gifts to Peiping.

Hence, if Khrushchev wants to revive some big world organization with himself as the main spokesman he likely will demand Mao's support for it — and get it — in return for aid to Red China.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Most constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that loses so much moisture that its contents become so dry they block the bowel; so shrunken they fail to stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE colon to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only new COLONAID, possesses its great moisturizing capacity plus its stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so gentle it has been hospital proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

The Proxy Murder

By ERLE STANLEY GARDNER

Copyright 1957

THE STORY SO FAR: Jerry Conway is alarmed by an advertising campaign Gifford Farrell, discharged employe, is conducting to obtain proxies and oust Conway at a stockholders' meeting. In a mysterious telephone call a woman calling herself Rosalind offers to supply Conway with a list of the proxies Farrell has acquired. Though he suspects a trap, Conway agrees to follow directions and obtain a key to a hotel room for the meeting. But instead of finding Rosalind there's a young woman, scantily attired, pointing a gun at him. He takes the gun away. Since it has been fired recently, Conway suspects a frame-up and calls Perry Mason, attorney. Mason and Paul Drake, detective, go to the hotel room and find a woman murdered. Mason traps Evangeline Farrell into admitting she is Rosalind. She's divorcing Farrell and wants to help Conway. Farrell is having an affair with Rose Calvert, a secretary. Mrs. Farrell obtains carbons of the proxy list. Mason identifies the body as Rose Calvert. A proxy list planted in Conway's car doesn't compare with the list Mason has, nor is the gun Conway gave the district attorney the murder gun. Police dig up a revolver from the yard of the motel where Conway stayed. Prosecution claims Conway buried the murder weapon. In a hotel room Mason finds a bullet from the murder gun embedded in the mattress.

Chapter 29

"This was a Colt revolver. No. 740818, being of .38 caliber and without any question, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, being the weapon which fired the bullet which took the life of Rose Calvert.

"We expect to show that the defendant went to the Redfern Hotel, entered the room where the murder was committed after giving the clerk a ficititious name so as to make the clerk believe the young woman in the room was his secretary. We expect to show that the room where the murder was committed had been rented by the victim under this fictitious name.

"We expect to show, according to his own admission, that the defendant had a key to that room, that he entered that room, was there for an appreciable interval, and then left the room and went at once to consult an attorney.

"We will show that the defendant's attorney knew the identity of the murdered woman long before the police knew it, and that the only way he could have had this information was from the mouth of the defendant.

"Upon that evidence, ladies and gentlemen, we shall ask a verdict of first-degree murder."

Judge DeWitt glanced down at Perry Mason. "Does the defense wish to make an opening statement at this time, or do you wish to reserve your opening statement until later?"

Mason said, "I wish to make it at this time, Your Honor." He arose and walked over to stand in front of the jurors.

"May it please the court and you ladies and gentlemen of the jury," Mason said, "I am going to make the shortest opening statement I have ever made in my life.

"The defendant is charged with first-degree murder. He is involved in a proxy fight for the control of the Texas Global, a corporation which has very large assets. We expect to show that an attempt was made to frame the defendant so that he would either be convicted of murder or in any event would be so discredited that it would be possible to wrest control of the corporation from him.

"In order to make a frame-up of this kind, ladies and gentlemen, it is necessary to use either one of two kinds of evidence, or to combine those two kinds of evidence that is: Perjured evidence or circumstantial evidence. We expect to show that both types of evidence were used in this case: that, under the law, wherever circumstantial evidence is relied upon by the prosecution, the court will instruct you that, if the defense can advance any reasonable hypothesis other than that of guilt which will explain the circumstantial evidence, it is the sworn duty of the jurors to accept that hypothesis and acquit the defendant.

COURT WILL INSTRUCT

"You jurors have told us that you will abide by the instructions of the court, and the court will instruct you that that is the law.

"Under those circumstances, we shall expect a verdict of acquittal."

Mason turned and had started to walk back toward the counsel table when Hamilton Burger jumped to his feet.

"If the court please," he said, "I feel that the jurors should be advised that it is incumbent upon the defense to offer a reasonable hypothesis. It has to appeal to the reason, to the sound common sense of the jurors."

"The court will cover that matter in its instructions, Mr. District Attorney," the judge said. "Proceed with your case."

Hamilton Burger said, "My first witness will be Sgt. Holcomb."

Sgt. Holcomb came forward, was sworn and gave routine testimony as to the conversation with Perry Mason, going upstairs in the hotel, finding the body of a young woman sprawled out on the bed.

"Did you have some conversation with Mr. Mason as to how he happened to discover the body?" Burger asked.

"Yes."

"What did Mason say at that time?"

"Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial," Mason said. "The conversation took place outside of the presence of the defendant."

"Did Mr. Mason admit to you that he was acting in his capacity as attorney for some client when he discovered the body?"

"He did."

"Did he say he was acting as attorney for this defendant?" Judge DeWitt asked.

"He didn't say so in so many words."

"You went up to Room 729?" Hamilton Burger asked.

"I did, yes, sir."

"What did you find?"

"I found the body of a young woman."

"Lying on the bed?"

"On the bed."

"She was dead?"

"She was dead."

"Can you describe the position of the body?"

"She was lying partially on her back, her right hand elevated as though trying to ward off a blow, and . . ."

"I move that part of the answer be stricken," Mason said, "as a conclusion of the witness."

"That will be stricken," Judge DeWitt said. "The witness can testify to the position of the hand, but cannot give his conclusion as to why the hand was in that position."

"Just indicate to the jury the position of the hand," Hamilton Burger said, smiling triumphantly, knowing that the point had reached the jurors regardless of the judge's ruling.

Sgt. Holcomb held up his hand.

"What time was this that you arrived at the hotel?" Burger asked.

"Approximately ten minutes to eight."

"And you went up almost immediately to the room?"

"Yes, sir."

"What time did you view the body?"

"I would say it was approximately eight o'clock. My notes show that I started looking around the suite at eight-four."

"Cross-examine," Hamilton Burger said abruptly.

"The right hand was held up above the face in the position you have indicated?" Mason asked.

"Yes."

"The left arm was hanging down?"

"Yes."

"Did you touch the body?"

"I touched the wrist to make sure there was no pulse."

"The wrist of which hand, the right or the left?"

"The right."

"You found no pulse?"

"No."

"The hand was held up in the position you have indicated?"

"Yes."

"It was not resting up against the face?"

"No sir, it was not."

"There was a space between the back of the hand and the face?"

"There was."

"Yet the hand was up there and the woman was dead?"

"Certainly," Sgt. Holcomb snapped. "The condition was that known as rigor mortis."

"Certainly."

"What is it?"

"It's what happens after a person is killed and the body stiffens."

"And the right hand was held up and rigor mortis had set in? Is that right?"

"Yes."

★ ★ ★

Here Is Correct Puzzle Solution

The following are the correct answers and explanations for the Pot-O-Gold puzzle which appeared in last week's Pontiac Press.

A. (1) SCUTTLE. Because of the danger present, the rat will SCUTTLE back and forth for his food, perhaps once or twice. He would not Shuttle (do so repeatedly) until there was no danger.

B. (4) PRIME. For her first date, a schoolgirl would PRIME herself, prepare herself mentally, for a great event in her life. She would Primp herself (make up and dress up) for any date at all.

C. (5) JOINT. Since a JOINT involves connecting two different parts, more careful figuring and adjustments are required than when putting in a Joist. A JOIST is one of many wall-to-wall timbers used as floor to ceiling supports, relatively easy to place and space.

D. (7) FABLE. Since a Foible (a human failing) is likely to be one's own, there is a good chance that it can be taken quite seriously. It is a FABLE that can well be taken with a grain of salt.

E. (10) GENTEEL. GENTEEL, taken in its modern meaning of pseudo-well-bred, implies a pretense of gentility. This pretense will quickly collapse under the rigors of frontier life. A truly Gentle manner can well survive, even among the he-men, cowboys, etc.

F. (11) FLACCID. A FLACCID personality would be one that is not strong. It is yielding and easily pushed around by stronger personalities. This is not a good type for leadership. A Placid (easy, peaceful) personality may still have lots of strength when needed.

G. (13) CUSTOMER. The CUSTOMER is all important because if the CUSTOMER turns down a fashion, that fashion fails to make a hit. A Costumer is not a couturier. A costumer outfits people for the theater or for special balls and masquerades.

H. (15) TICKLING. "Not in the mood for it" points to TICKLING, which may be very annoying at certain times. Stickling or persistent altercations over trifles would be hard to take, and it is doubtful if one would ever be "in the mood" for it.

I. (17) DISTRUST. The words AT FIRST point to DISTRUST. A victim may well Distress a con man after he has been victimized, by complaining to the police. Everybody's natural DISTRUST of schemes must be somewhat in evidence when meeting strangers. It is the con man's knack of stock in trade to overcome this initial DISTRUST.

J. (19) THOLE. "Somewhat concerned" would not describe the scared, even panicky, feeling of a nonswimmer who couldn't repair a Hole in his boat. A defective THOLE, a peg that holds an oar, would cause some concern, but if it couldn't be fixed the nonswimmer could reach the shore by paddling.

K. (22) CHARM. The CHARM (warmth, attractiveness and beauty) of the South Seas certainly made this locale an easy place to explore, as compared to colder waters. The very fact that explorers are mentioned should show that a Chart is not available. Once there is a chart, it means the area has already been explored.

L. (24) BOOBY. A marked (noticeable) BOOBY is quite likely to betray a gang of thieves EVENTUALLY. This means sooner or later a fool will make a mistake. Many gangs of thieves have successfully handled marked goods or Booty without betraying themselves.

M. (26) FISSILE. FISSILE, or layered rock, formed of various types of slate, schist, etc., easily tells its story to a geologist, who undersatnds their structures. Fossil rock can require the skill of an archaeologist to get a complete understanding of ancient signs.

N. (28) COMPLAISANT. A man who is courteous and anxious to please will not be too disturbed by his errors as he is the type both willing to make amends and to learn how to correct his mistakes. A Complacent fellow is smug and self-satisified. Mistakes would tend to destroy this complacency, and so be quite disturbing.

O. (29) INSURE. A careless man is one who takes his chances, either by laziness or indifference. He would probably leave his success in a modest venture to chance. His carelessness, on the other hand, may well result in a casual mistake that will Injure his chance for success.

P. (32) FORECAST. A superstitious person would welcome a FORECAST of good fortune because it finds a ready acceptance with his beliefs. Anybody would welcome a Foretaste, for that would be a little good fortune in reality.

Q. (34) SPOUTING. SPOUTING (raining) is expected, looked forward to or hoped for, in the springtime. Sprouting (budding) is positively taken for granted, not merely expected.

R. (36) CONFORM. Customers who don't CONFORM (follow the normal pattern) of most others can cause quite a bit of trouble for salesmen, but they are still customers. If they didn't Confirm (formally assent to the deal) they can't be called customers.

S. (38) REPETITION. The basis of big advertising is REPETITION, constant reiteration of a name and product to make people remember. Reputation (good name) alone is not enough for success in this competitive field.

T. (40) DELIRIOUSLY. DELIRIOUSLY, or wildly funny, suits zany. Deliciously implies exquisite humor, and this would not apply to zany comedians.

Hated Criminal Murdered Year Ago Today

His Cell Became Funeral Pyre

A year ago today the cell of one of Marquette Prison's most hated and hardened criminals was turned into a funeral pyre.

A convicted Oakland County killer subsequently was charged with throwing lacquer thinner on James Wiley Hudson and setting a match to it as Hudson slept.

Hudson, 49, a lifer convicted of murder and a ring leader in the 1952 Jackson Prison riots, died 19 hours later.

His death has never been officially solved, despite the fact that the dying man made a statement implicating Harold Hummel, 26, who was serving a life sentence for a double murder in Hazel Park five years ago.

Although charged with the death, Hummel was never brought to trial. Marquette Municipal Judge Edward H. Dembowski dismissed the case for lack of evidence. Hummel was sent back to prison.

BLAMED CONS

Prosecutor George Hill blamed the failure of his case on the character of the witnesses he had, most of them prison inmates.

"It's hard to convince a jury that hardened criminals are telling the truth, especially in a crime like where prison rivalry and jealousy are probably involved."

The case was dismissed without prejudice, however, which means that if new evidence is found, the case may be allowed back in court.

"Naturally, we've never shut the books on Hudson's death," said Hill.. "A murder case is never closed unless it's solved."

KEEP WORKING

Has any new evidence turned up?

"Not to go to court with right now, no," said Hill. "But we plan to keep working at it just the same.

"A prison is the sort of place where information to convict the killer may turn up some day. At any rate, we're not in any danger of loosing track of our chief suspect, Hummel.

"He'll still be in prison if we turn up evidence that will end the case."

★ ★ ★

Hummel was sentenced by Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland to life imprisonment for the shooting of Hazel Park tavern owner Vidos Vinokurow, 63, and his son, Joseph, 30, during an attempted holdup in 1952.

He had been associated with Hudson during the Jackson riots and subsequently was transferred with him to Marquette, where the state keeps its toughest criminals.

Ground Observers Deactivated Jan. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because of advances in radar warning systems, the Air Force is relieving its volunteer civilian ground observers of their skywatch for unidentified planes.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force will put the entire Ground Observer Corps on a ready reserve basis Jan. 1.

Col. Owen F. Clarke, COG project officer at Air Force headquarters announced the move at a meeting of the National Assn. of State and Territorial Civil Defense Directors. Civil defense officials have recruited volunteers for the observer corps.

The Air Force stressed it is not disbanding the GOC. It wants the observers to stand prepared for emergency duty and to remain in a trained and ready reserve status.

Many GOC observation posts and 29 filter centers, will be closed.

Mayor Donaldson asked all residents to "understand and appreciate the great advantages of our democratic way of life" on that day.

This GI's Furlough Was Strictly Accidental

MARION, Ohio (AP)—It was a long furlough from the U. S. Army for Victor Howard Berry, 18, but not a happy one.

It started when he came home from Italy for 40 days because his father was injured in an auto accident. That was extended 10 more days. His dad recovered, but his sister was in an auto accident. The leave was extended 20 more days. The sister is recovering.

Then Berry himself landed on the recovery list. He shot off his big toe while squirrel hunting.

PAUSE THAT REFRESHES — The Howard O. Powers family pause for a soft drink and a listen to the juke box at the Pontiac YMCA. The entire family makes use of the Y, with the boys, Jerry, 16, and Robbie, 11, having become excellent swimmers through the Y program. The Pontiac Area United Fund drive now in progress helps make the YMCA program for boys possible.

Sports, Social Clubs Available for All Members

YMCA Offers Finest Family Recreation

The real opportunity that the Pontiac YMCA offers for fathers and their sons to participate together in sports and recreational activities is best illustrated by Howard O. (Hud) Powers and his boys, Jerry, 16, and Robbie, 11.

★ ★ ★

Powers took out a membership for his family 10 years ago, but made little use of it until his sons reached an age when they became interested in the Y.

Jerry took to swimming at an early age and soon joined the YMCA swimming team. Last year he swam with the junior team in regional competition and now has joined the Pontiac High School swimming team.

★ ★ ★

His youngster brother started swimming at the age of seven and last year, at 10, swam in both regional and state final competition for the Pontiac YMCA prep team.

FAMILY ACTIVITY

Powers works out with his boys at the pool several evenings a week helping them develop their speed and form. In addition, he joins the boys in basketball, volleyball and even a bit of weightlifting.

Both he and his wife are on the sports advisory board for the Y, and both participate in membership drives.

"There is nothing like the YMCA to bring the whole family together and give them the important opportunity to do things as a family," Powers said.

Pontiac's YMCA, which since 1936 has owned the former Oddfellows building at 131 Mt. Clemens St., offers a wide variety of activities to boys and adults. Boys, from 9 to 17, are eligible for membership and adults from 18 years of age up can join. At present there are 3,200 members.

★ ★ ★

Swim classes, life saving and just general use of the pool are available to all, along with the gym, ping pong, camera club, square dancing club and a garden club.

ADULT SPECIALS

In addition, adults can join the Athletic Club which offers steam cabinets, massage, heat lamps, sun lamps, and use of the pool.

★ ★ ★

Its youth department depends primarily upon the Pontiac Area United Fund for support since a boy's membership actually costs the Y $30 a year, but the boy pays only $8. The other $22 comes from the PAUF.

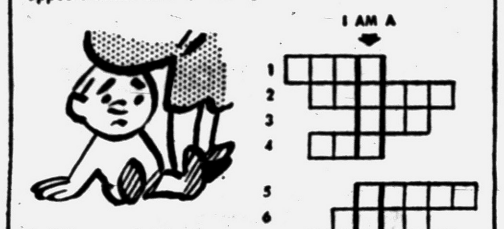

★ ★ ★

Ted Slosson, director, says, "We hope our friends will generously support the PAUF campaign now in progress to help us make our services available to every boy who wants supervised recreation."

Artemas Ward was second in command of the Continental Army at the start of the Revolutionary War in 1775. He resigned his commission early in 1776, because of ill health.

Special Election to Be Called for Officers as AFL-CIO Presses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bakery Workers Union, with President James G. Cross refusing to bow out of the picture, today stood on the brink of suspension from the AFL-CIO.

Ordered to clean house or get out of the labor federation, the union's executive board yesterday agreed to call a special election for international officers.

★ ★ ★

But the board turned down AFL-CIO Executive Council instructions to reinstate Curtis R. Sims, an antagonist of Cross, as secretary-treasurer.

Cross himself, contrary to the AFL-CIO directive, said he would seek re-election as head of the 142,000-member union.

★ ★ ★

Although the Bakery Workers' board contended its action met terms of the AFL-CIO edict, a well-placed source in the labor federation said, "This certainly is not compliance."

★ ★ ★

The federation was expected to issue a statement on the subject today—deadline date for the union to make amends or be suspended. All signs were the AFL-CIO would reject the board's effort as inadequate.

★ ★ ★

The Bakery Workers are on a spot also occupied recently by the giant Teamsters Union and the United Textile Workers after encountering charges of corruption before the Senate Rackets Committee. The Teamsters already have been suspended. The Textile Workers have moved to comply with AFL-CIO reform decrees.

★ ★ ★

Four of the 17 board members at yesterday's closed meeting voted against the convention arrangement and for Sims, who initiated charges of misconduct against Cross and was later tossed out of office.

★ ★ ★

Sims told reporters he would run for election to his old post as secretary-treasurer.

Cross, accused before the Senate committee of spending union money on himself and of collusion with employers, said the convention would be held regardless of what the AFL-CIO does.

REPORTS READINESS — Chief of the Strategic Air Command, Gen. Thomas Power, declared in Paris yesterday that he has planes all over the world ready to take off 15 minutes after any warning of a Soviet attack. The planes would be loaded with nuclear bombs.

AEC Opens 4th Office Overseas to Aid Japan

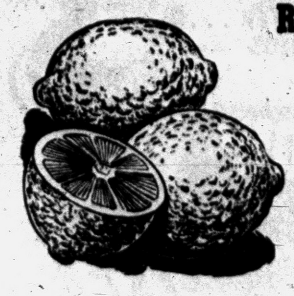

TOKYO (AP) — The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission today opened its fourth overseas office to advise foreign governments on peaceful use of atomic energy.

★ ★ ★

W. Herbert Pennington of Quarryville, Pa., said the new Tokyo office he heads will provide consulting services and implement U.S. atomic power agreements with Japan, Nationalist China, the Philippines, South Korea, Thailand, New Zealand and Australia.

★ ★ ★

Similar AEC offices were opened a year ago in London and Paris and two weeks ago in Buenos Aires. Pennington's assistant at the office in the U.S. Embassy is Paul A. Roessler of Santa Fe, N.M.

Turkish Army Is Fond of Tea

Problems Are Solved Over Cups of 'Chai'—It Allows Lots of Time

(Howard Handleman roams Europe, where he is chief correspondent for International News Service. He has been reporting from abroad for more than 15 years.)

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

ON THE SOVIET - TURKISH BORDER (INS) — There are all sorts of fun and games in the life of an American military adviser to the Turkish army.

He has to be part psychologist, part comedian, part fakir, part do-it-yourself expert — and all tea drinker.

That tea is especially important. "Everytime there is a problem and the Turks want time to think," a colonel explained, "they bring out the tea, or chaj as they call it."

He recalled an early morning visit to a motor pool full of trucks and jeeps. His job that day was to give the vehicles a quick look and then get on some place else.

"The officers were so sorry but the man with the key to the joint was away," the colonel said. "I replied that was all right, I'd climb the fence.

"They were shocked. Common soldiers might climb fences, but not officers. But they didn't say they were shocked, not them. They just said 'Let's have some chai.'

"Now, when I first got here that chai routine used to irk me. I thought it was just a waste of time. But I have learned, like the rest of us have, that you save time by spending half an hour over the chai. It gives them a chance to arrange things to show you.

"So I drank chai and ate biscuits and chocolate and finally even drank some rose liquor, which they said I just had to have. At 8:30 in the morning I didn't just have to have rose liquor, but I drank it.

★ ★ ★

"I had to eat and drink more than usual that morning because the man with the key had to come from some place over an hour away and they just were not going to let me climb that fence."

THEY LIKE SECRETS

The Turks play other little games. They like secrets. What kind and what for?

"The kind covers everything," the colonel said, "and the reason is just fun. They like to hold things back. You might know an officer two years before he breaks down and confides that he has two wives."

The most maddening thing to the adviser is the tinge of oriental fatalism in the Turkish makeup. Time and again Turkish officers have explained their failure to follow advice by saying "God doesn't will that it be done that way."

The American colonel is a hero in a cavalry unit because he was raised on a Texas ranch and knew his way around the stables in which the Turks kept a lot of horses sent over from the States.

★ ★ ★

Without thinking much about it, the colonel did what came naturally. He said "That's a Kentucky horse, that one's from Texas, the mule is from Missouri."

The Turks were highly impressed, so was another American officer who witnessed the performance.

The second officer confesses that he still has difficulty distinguishing between a mule and a donkey and that about all he knows about horses is that they have four legs and run.

"But," he said, "if that was all it took to impress the Turks I could play that game.

"Since then I always visit the stables and talk with the vet about the health of the horses. My questions may not be good, but the Turks like the interest I show and everything is fine.

"I'm not fooling them for one minute, of course. They know horses and horsemen. But they like the play."

Punsters in Pentagon Eye 'Procter's Gamble'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon punsters no longer speak of a "calculated risk" — a term familiar to all military planners.

Now it's "Procter's gamble." Asst. Secretary of Defense Wilfred J. McNeil told the National Security Industrial Assn.

Millet did not realize great financial benefit from his famous painting, "The Angelus." He sold it for 50 francs (about $100) and it later sold for $150,000.

Curator Explains What's Needed for Hunting Bats

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (INS) — Want to catch a bat?

William H. Burt, curator of mammals at the University of Michigan, advises collectors first to check with their state conservation departments and see if a permit is required. Hunting and trapping licenses may also be required.

Burt says hoary, red and silver-haired solitary bats hang in the branches of trees but can be readily captured in the evening, when they are flying at the edges of trees or near water. He states:

"The most effective means of securing them is by using a shotgun with light dust loads. However it requires some practice and skill to hit bats on the wing."

★ ★ ★

Had Intercity TV in '27

WASHINGTON—The first public demonstration of intercity television took place April 7, 1927, when an electronic image of Herbert Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce, flashed over a pair of telephone wires from Washington and flickered to life on a screen in New York.

Boy Likes Firemen, Sets Fifty Blazes

CHICAGO (AP)—A 10-year-old boy, who told police he wants to be a fireman when he grows up, has admitted, police said, setting 40 to 50 fires in the last 18 months.

★ ★ ★

Police estimated that damage caused by the fires amounted to at least $250,000. They said the boy pointed out the locations of 15 of the blazes, including the site of a fire Dec. 27, 1956, in which Mrs. Anna Kessie, 70, perished in her home.

★ ★ ★

Police said the fires were on the Northwest Side, in the general neighborhood of the boy's home. He was picked up yesterday after two other boys, 12 and 13, admitted to police they had aided him in setting several fires.

★ ★ ★

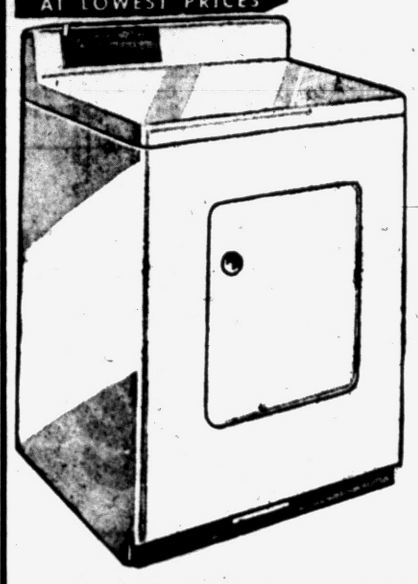

All three boys were turned over to juvenile authorities for further investigation.

ON THE BEACH

Based on the Best-Selling Novel by Nevil Shute

A guest on the farm owned by Moira Davidson's parents, Comdr. Dwight Towers chatted with his host. Inevitably, the conversation veered to the radioactivity that had doomed the world. "They're saying it's going to get here in September," mused Mr. Davidson.

Agreeing, Dwight speculated, "If it goes on the way it's going now, Cape Town will go out a little before Sydney, about the same time as Montevideo. There'll be nothing left then in Africa and South America. Melbourne is the most southerly major city in the world, so we'll be near to the last." 11-15

Inflation Used to Build Plant

Balloon Method to Be Employed for 24-Hour Construction Job

ABILENE, Kan. (AP) — Almost like blowing up a toy balloon, a big industrial building will be built by inflation in less than 24 hours this weekend.

Where there now is only a concrete foundation, a round, dome-shaped aluminum-sided plant will rise, 145 feet in diameter and five stories high.

The Fi-Fo Conveyor Co., says it will be the first use of the balloon method in an industrial building.

The structure will have no supporting beams. It will be lifted into place by use of a specially fabricated bag.

Diamond-shaped aluminum panels will make up the outside. They'll be welded into place one row at a time and lifted gently by inflating the balloon.

W. H. Mead, president of Fi-Fo, said plans are to erect the building in 18-20 hours by working around the clock starting Friday night. After the operation is completed, the bag will be deflated and withdrawn.

The firm will manufacture a new type industrial conveyor equipment and other steel products and plans to employ about 60 persons.

An office, two stories high, will be placed inside the plant. The entire building will be air-conditioned.

Truman Urges Paper Recording Chiefs' Word

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry Truman is urging an official government document to record verbatim the utterances of presidents of the United States.

★ ★ ★

Speaking last night at the Lotus Club, a private social organization, Truman praised the Congressional Record as adequately mirroring the activities of the legislative branch of the government, but added:

★ ★ ★

"Strangely enough, there is no single publication that preserves the utterances and acts of the presidency, and many of them can be found only inadequately reported in newspaper files.

★ ★ ★

"And, where you have sections of the press that cover up for a president, you may miss a lot of things that people ought to know. And where sections of the press are hostile to the President, you are certain to miss a lot of things we ought to know.

★ ★ ★

"I have been urging and will continue to urge that this condition be corrected by an official and current publication of all the public utterances of the President, just as the Congressional Record reports all the public utterances of the Congress."

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Frankfurter Marks His 75th Birthday

★ ★ ★

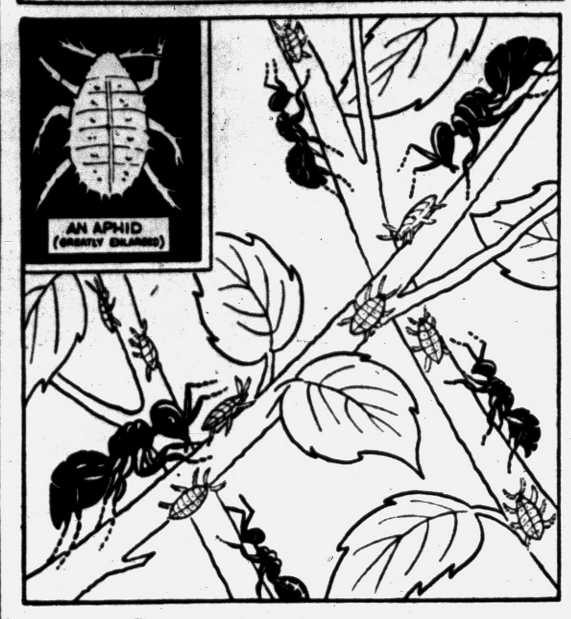

The oldest jurist on the court, Frankfurter had little in sight by way of celebration. He expected to take part in the court's long Friday conference, at which legal problems heard during the week are thrashed out for final decision.

Many of the law clerks who served him in past years will join present clerks in calling on him briefly to pay their respects.

Junior Editors Quiz on INSECTS

QUESTION: What insect keeps "cows"?

ANSWER: Have you ever seen tiny plant lice, or aphids, attached to the tender shoots of plants from which they suck sap? This sap they change inside their bodies to a sweet liquid known as honeydew.

Some ants are very fond of honeydew and to get it they maintain herds of aphids as "cows." They "milk" the aphids by tapping and stroking them.

Ants protect their "cows" from insect enemies by taking them into tiny sheds of grass or earth that they build. In winter they keep the aphids warm in their nests. In the spring and summer they move them from one plant to another, so that there will be no shortage of honeydew.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: It probably is too chilly to watch ants in action now, so read about them in an encyclopedia or a library book. Along with bees, ants are our best known insects and their lives make fascinating reading.

France Attacks Arms Delivery

U.S., Britain Shipping Weapons Into Tunisia Despite Protest

TUNIS (AP) — Despite strong French objections, Britain and the United States started delivering 920 guns and ammunition to Tunisia today. Officials in Paris warned a serious break in the Atlantic Alliance was threatened.

★ ★ ★

Two British transport planes landed at Tunis airport after London announced it would send 350 submachineguns, 70 Bren guns and ammunition.

American planes were expected later with 500 semiautomatic M1 rifles and 50,000 rounds of ammunition promised by Washington.

The decision to send the token shipments was taken to forestall President Habib Bourguiba's accepting an Egyptian offer of arms from the Soviet bloc. The United States and Britain had held off after a French appeal in September but apparently decided Bourguiba would turn eastward unless he got help from the West.

Paris fears that the guns will be turned over to the rebels in French Algeria, western neighbor of this former French protectorate. Bourguiba gave "most explicit assurances" that the arms would be used solely for Tunisian defense, the U.S. State Department said.

★ ★ ★

Although the shipments threatened harmony among the Western Big Three shortly before next month's important NATO meeting to seek closer Western cooperation, there was a feeling in Paris the gesture to Tunisia might actually strengthen the wobbly French government.

Heavy Civilian Authority Cited in Missiles Lag

DALLAS (AP)—Gen. Leslie Groves World War II chief of atomic bomb project, said yesterday the U.S. lags behind Russia in missiles development because of "too much civilian authority."

Groves said that if "a single missile chief had been named years ago, we wouldn't be behind Russia today."

Nazi Spy's Father Sent to Germany

NEW YORK (AP) — Hans Max Haupt, father of an executed Nazi spy, has been deported to his native Germany.

Haupt, 63, who had been serving a life prison sentence for treason, left by plane last night for Frankfurt. Should he return to this country, he must go back to jail.

Haupt's son Herbert was one of eight Nazi agents captured during World War II after being landed on the East Coast by a German submarine. The son was executed in 1942.

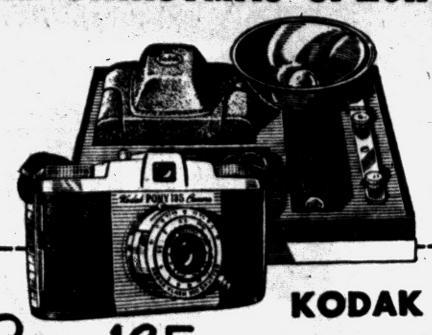

The father was arrested in Chicago in 1944 and charged with harboring his son. The elder man had spent more than 30 years in the United States. Since his conviction he had been confined in the Danbury, Conn., federal correctional institution.

Harriman 66 Today

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman, looking forward to an opportunity to go skiing again, turned 66 today. An aide said the Democratic governor was in fine physical condition and looking forward to the winter sports season. He planned to spend today at his desk.

Gathers Data Between Stolen Kisses

Jane, Hubby Made Spy Team

(This is the sixth of 12 articles in which confessed Soviet spy Jack Soble tells the innermost secrets of an espionage ring in the U.S. of which he was a member for 15 years.)

By JACK SOBLE
(Written with Jack Lotto)

Between stolen kisses, she collected for her Soviet bosses many of the secrets, confidences and itemized human frailities of American intelligence and military agencies in Austria and France.

In this manner, this attractive, dedicated Soviet agent obtained compromising details on the sexual, drinking and gambling habits of men whose identities were closely shielded.

SO DID HUBBY

Frequently this Mr. and Mrs. spy team worked together, under my instructions, hosting parties at which they saw to it that considerable amounts of liquor were supplied the guests.

They thought so well of one of her reports which pinpointed certain individuals open to Russian blackmail or forced services that I was told to give her a "bonus" of $1100.

The Zlatovskis, under Jane's dominant steering, were content to do my bidding for $75 a month each—plus a larger sum for the expenses necessary to keep the parties afloat and lips loosened.

BOTH WERE JEALOUS

Although Jane and George were each aware of what the other was doing for "the cause," they quarreled incessantly over each other's love affairs. George accused Jane of carrying on with certain individuals long after their usefulness as sources of information had been pumped dry.

Jane, for her part, kept reminding George that he was an alcoholic and loafer who refused to work. And, she didn't like the idea that he was taking money from her sent by her well-to-do family.

After one especially heavy drinking bout, during which each began listing illicit romances of the other, Jane angrily tore off George's shirt and scratched his face. He blackened her eyes, stripped her of her clothing, threw it out the window of their apartment, and beat her with a whisky bottle.

STRAIN INDUCES DRINK

The strain of the job was having its effect on Jane. She drank martinis in large quantities all day long in an effort to relax. When she went to sleep, it was always with a large glass of brandy or gin—straight.

The first thing she did on awakening, even before she brushed her teeth, was to pour herself another undiluted full glass of the same drink.

On June 16, 1949, Jane turned over to me in Paris for transmission to Russia detailed biographies of certain persons in the Economic Cooperation Administration.

REPORT REVEALS LAXITY

Here is a portion of the "bonus" report from Jane I gave to Boris Morros to relay to his contact in Vienna:

"As it turned out, the information service branch (of the U.S. Army) had better possibilities than I had thought. Salzburg is a small American colony and . . . (name omitted) and myself were about the only ones not working for an intelligence agency.

"I made many friends, socially, and made an effort to become well acquainted with those in the counter - Intelligence Corps. My closest friends were . . . and . . .

Through them I was constantly with their bosses and colleagues in both organizations. They either visited me at my schloss (lodge) or we went away every weekend to Austrian resorts.

"In this way I got photographs (of) all members of (name or organization omitted), most of Counter-Intelligence Corps . . . they all drank a great deal, and it was incredible how much they talked of their business, both in and out of their cups.

Practically every scheme they hatched, they discussed in advance before me, . . .

"I am sure that every move I made was reported by . . . Knowing this, I had to be doubly careful in arranging to go to Paris, and I simply couldn't go off for an unexplained two days to Paris every other month.

"I therefore had to take long leaves, giving as my reason a desire to see Switzerland, or the Riviera, or to buy Paris clothes that I neither wanted nor needed.

"What we want—and I speak for George as well as myself. We don't care what it is, where, or how difficult—as long as it is useful . . ."

Urges Girl Scout Cooking Contests

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Girl scouts of America have been urged to promote mother-and - daughter cooking contests "to help restore the family dinner table to the place it used to have in the American home."

★ ★ ★

The suggestion came from George Gallup, public opinion expert, who addressed the 5,000 delegates to the scouts' 34th national council.

★ ★ ★

Gallup said such contests would be a natural development from the girls' cookie baking and selling projects and would set a fine example in an age when many a family dining room or dinette is not unlike a snack bar.

Needlework Guild Holds 45th Ingathering

Pontiac Press Photos

By MARY ANGLEMIER

Gay plaid shirts, wool sweaters and skirts, pajamas, mittens, caps, socks and long outing flannel nightclothes for the elderly warmed the cockles of our hearts as we viewed the 6,000 or more garments piled high on tables Thursday in First Presbyterian Church.

It was the 45th annual Ingathering of Needlework Guild Inc., the "charity that helps other charities."

★ ★ ★

MANY TO BENEFIT

Among the articles of household linen and clothing —collected by the 3,000 members for local hospitals, welfare agencies, missions and homes — were sheets, pillow cases, towels, wash cloths, dish towels, and blankets.

There were bathrobes, stockings, underwear, dresses, bed socks, trousers, diapers, blouses, bibs, baby blankets and bootees.

★ ★ ★

Seventy - five layettes were contributed by the Carol Brooks Section of the guild. This group meets at the YWCA throughout the year to sew and assemble the infant clothing.

Mrs. Charles Clarke of Park place reported 533 garments were made by the Queen Mary Section for the Ingathering. These women meet every two weeks to sew and knit, making children's clothing and layettes.

The Southwest Branch of Needlework Guild turned in 122 articles of clothing and linen.

The Grace Branch, in Auburn Heights, reported 390 garments. This group was named in honor of its organizers, Mrs. H. H. Thatcher and the late Mrs. Harry Y. Fitzgerald.

OFFICERS NAMED

Mrs John K. Irwin Jr. of St. Joseph street was named a new section president. The following have become new directors: Mrs. A. W. Holcomb of Orchard Hill drive, Mrs. Don Jacobs of South Shore drive, Mrs. Charles L. Bowers of Barrington road, Mrs. Robert Anderson of Littletell drive and Mrs. Harold J. Hackett Jr. of Tilmor drive.

Others are Pontiac Visiting Nurse Association, Oakland County Children's Home, Oakland County Health Department, Salvation Army, Catholic Center of Oakland County and Tuberculosis Sanatorium

Also included are the American Red Cross, Oakland County Juvenile Court and the Oakland County Convalescent Home.

ASSIST IN DISTRIBUTION

Assisting Mrs. Chauncy G. Burke and Mrs. George H. Crane with distribution Thursday afternoon were Mrs. Cleo R. Gatley, Mrs. William S. Isgrigg, Mrs. Bertil T. Larsen, Mrs. Herbert J. Wettlaufer, Mrs. Clifford T. Ekelund and Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer.

Others working were Mrs. H. Euler, Mrs. Philip M. Hubbard, Mrs. Harold E. Howlett, Mrs. Milo J. Cross, Mrs. Robert G. Isgrigg, Mrs. Vaughn S. Garrison, Mrs. Robert B. Oliver and Mrs. Cecil McCallum.

The guild also maintains an emergency fund which may be drawn upon throughout the year. Schools refer private cases where temporary help is needed as a result of sickness, fire or unemployment.

HEADS BUSINESS UNIT

Mrs. Arthur H. Harrington was elected president at the annual business session.

Fellow officers are Mrs. Edward P. Barrett, first vice president; Mrs. Chauncy G. Burke, second vice president; Mrs. Harold A. Furlong, third vice president; and Mrs. Harold A. Fitzgerald, fourth vice president.

Mrs. A. J. Michal was chosen executive secretary; Mrs. Donald Nicholie, recording secretary; and Mrs. W. Ross Thompson, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

Miss Ella Green and Mrs. Herbert G. Lowes are honorary presidents.

Mrs. Claire R. Gaukler was named purchasing chairman for special cases with Mrs. Henry P. Gaukler Jr. and Mrs. Robert F. Pack, her assistants.

ADD BRITISH FLAVOR

All members of this group are of Welsh, Irish and Scottish descent. The recipes used at the Ingathering have been handed down from one generation to another.

The Needlework Guild of America Inc., founded in Philadelphia in 1885 by the late Mrs. John Wood Stewart, was modeled after the organization started in Dorsetshire, England, two years earlier, by Lady Wolverton.

The local branch was organized through the efforts of Miss Ella Green who was the first president and is now honorary president.

Sufferers of Strokes Need Help

They May Regain Their Usefulness if Encouraged

By DR. JAMES WATT
(For Jane Eads)

You've heard it said about someone down the street: "Poor old Tom! Had a stroke and lost his mind. He'll be a helpless cripple."

★ ★ ★

But Tom hasn't lost his mind. The rest doesn't have to be true, either, in the majority of cases of stroke victims.

Today there can be help for people who suffer strokes, although they are one of the most alarming results of cerebral vascular disease—that is, disease of the brain's blood vessels.

2 MILLION AFFECTED

Some two million are handicapped by strokes and other forms of brain blood vessel disease.

But many of these people can be rehabilitated. Ninety per cent of stroke victims can be taught to walk again and 30 per cent to do useful work.

While about 180,000 died from cerebral vascular disease last year, in most attacks the patient does not die.

★ ★ ★

If he survives the initial attack and has no recurrences, his useful life is often as great as that of persons the same age who haven't had strokes.

HELP NECESSARY

Tom's rehabilitation — like that of many stroke patients— may be accomplished with the help of his physician and his family and friends. Their attitude is important. If they don't give up on Tom, it'll help him.

His interest in coming back may mean the difference between victory and defeat. We need to adopt a positive approach in thinking about strokes.

Learn the facts. They'll clear away misunderstanding. Some simple but important facts are given in a new booklet, "Cerebral Vascular Disease and Strokes," just being issued by the U. S. Public Health Service.

It tells what these illnesses are and what can be done today. Much can be done, though prevention is still for the future. In research lies the brightest promise.

If you would like a copy of this booklet, ask your doctor or health department or write to the National Heart Institute, Bethesda 14, Md.

Bride-to-Be Honored at Shower

The bride-elect will speak her vows with Lloyd E. Evans Dec. 7. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Neldrett of Mariva street, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. Milton Evans of Cottage street.

★ ★ ★

Among the guests attending were Mrs. Neldrett, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Floyd Straub of Clawson, Mrs. Harry King, Mrs. Joseph Neldrett, Mrs. Louis Ingram, Mrs. Margaret Anderson, Mrs. Albin Anderburg and Mrs. Albin Anderburg II of Berkley.

★ ★ ★

Others were Mrs. Bond, Mrs. Charles H. Neldrett, Mrs. Frank Fuller, Betty Fuller, Mrs. Norman D. Evans, Mrs. Ray E. Fleming, Mrs. Donald Dean and Mrs. A. C. McCurry.

Mrs. Emmet L. Page of Henry Clay avenue serves Mrs. E. M. Malone (left) of Liberty street and Mrs. Clarence J. Nephler of Cherokee road during the morning coffee hour of the Needlework Guild Ingathering, held Thursday in First Presbyterian Church.

Rebekahs Fete Past Leaders

Past noble grands were special guests of the Welcome Rebekah Lodge when that group met Thursday evening at Malta Temple, with Mrs. Richard James, past noble grand, presiding.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Woodrow Sutton reported on the district meeting which was held Nov. 1 in Milford. Additional reports were given by Mrs. Lester Bell and Mrs. Randall Wilson, representatives to the Rebekah Assembly.

★ ★ ★

The group also made contributions to the United Fund.

In charge of the social hour were Mrs. James, Mrs. Sutton, Mrs. Vera Hetzer and Mrs. Sara Kistner.

Two Pledges Are Installed at Dinner Party

Old Mill Tavern was the setting for a dinner party honorings pledges of Alpha Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. Pledges installed in the Wednesday evening candlelight ceremony were Mrs. Ralph Merriott and Mrs. Milton Ott.

Conducting the installation service was Mrs. Duane Chamberlain assisted by Mrs. Michael Gollogy and Mrs. C. M. Beevers.

Mrs. Beevers was general chairman for the pledge ritual. The table was decorated in a Thanksgiving motif.

150 Turn Out for Willis School PTA Meeting

One hundred and fifty persons attended Willis school PTA meeting Thursday evening. Mrs. Harrol Beebe welcomed the group gathering in the multi-purpose room.

Mrs. Thomas Henson, program chairman, introduced the staff, and Perry Ninotti, principal, outlined the schedule for the evening.

PTA Holds Open House at Wever

Wever School was the scene of its PTA's Open House Thursday evening.

The affair, which was presented to promote PTA membership and acquaint parents with their children's work, teachers, and other parents, featured a new idea in serving refreshments.

Each room became a family circle designed to provide parents and teachers better opportunity for discussions. Serving was done by the home room mothers.

★ ★ ★

On the membership committee were Mrs. Barton Schmuker, chairman, and Mrs. Frank Barker, Mrs. Jesse Briles and Mrs. James Dodd.

Chairman of the room representatives was Mrs. Keith Pawley, assisted by Mrs. Floyd Harp, Mrs. Vernis Whitehead, Mrs. Frank Barker, and Mrs. N. P. Wallaconr.

Birmingham Pair Await Guests

BIRMINGHAM — Mr. and Mrs. John L. McQuigg are happily anticipating the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Strouse of New York, who will spend the weekend of Nov. 30 with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Strouse formerly lived in Birmingham and, with Mr.and Mrs. McQuigg, have entertained their friends at brunch eerly in December for the past two years.

Invitations will soon be in the mail for the third annual affair to be given Dec. 1 at Bloomfield Hills Country Club where red and white (to match the attractive invitations) will predominate in the decorations.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. H. T. Brettelle was hostess at a tea and shower Thursday afternoon in her home on Hillcrest drive.

The tea was in honor of bride-elect Jean MacGregor, daughter of Mrs. H. T. MacGregor of Sandy Lane and the late Dr. MacGregor.

Jean will be married Dec. 14 to Richard Merritt Weir.

Mrs. Thomas S. Lawson is planning a luncheon and kitchen shower for Jean Wednesday in her home on Pleasant avenue.

★ ★ ★

On Saturday Mrs. Howard T. Howlett, Mrs. Roger L. Mabee and Mrs. George V. Chabut will give a luncheon and shower for her at the Detroit Golf Club.

Mrs. Claude Crusoe and her daughter, Mary Ellen, will give a bridal luncheon for Julie, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John E. Hauser, Tuesday at their Northville home.

★ ★ ★

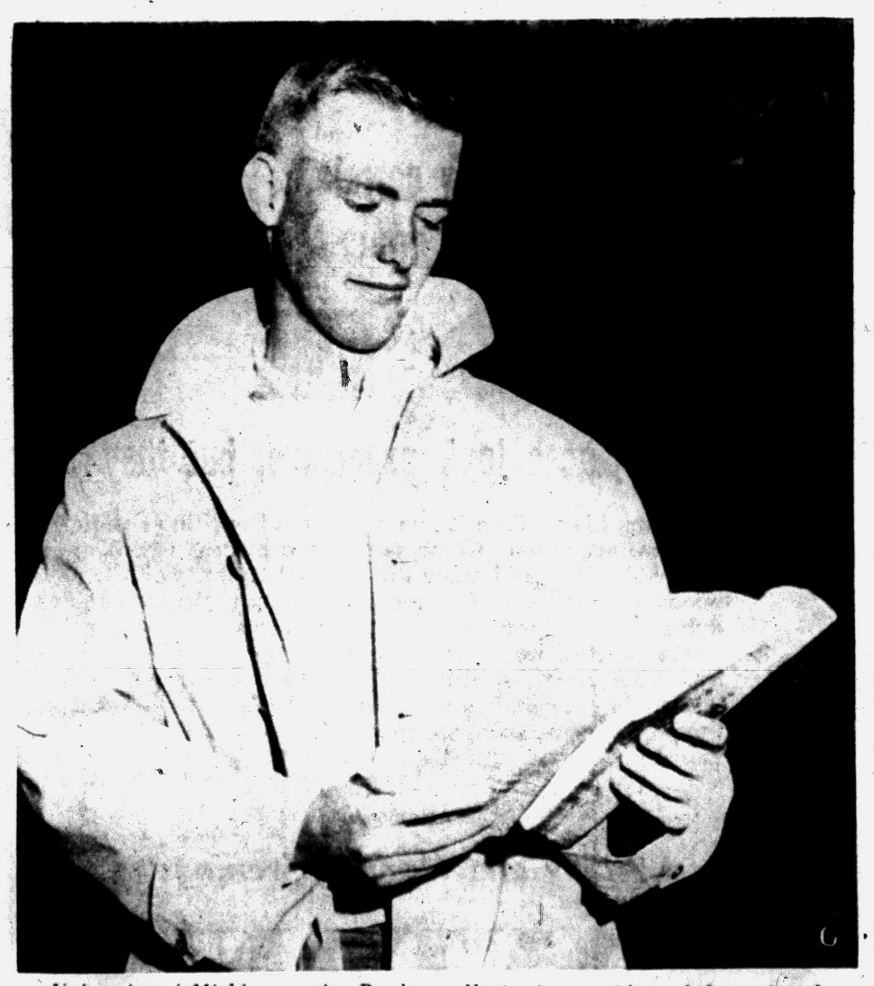

Mr. and Mrs. William Slocum Jr. (Joan Kennedy) of Half Moon drive, announce the birth of a daughter Margaret Susan Oct. 16.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Donald C. Walker and her two children are here from their home in Bellingham, Wash., for a visit with Janet's mother Mrs. Dorothy Kemp Roosevelt of Greenwood avenue.

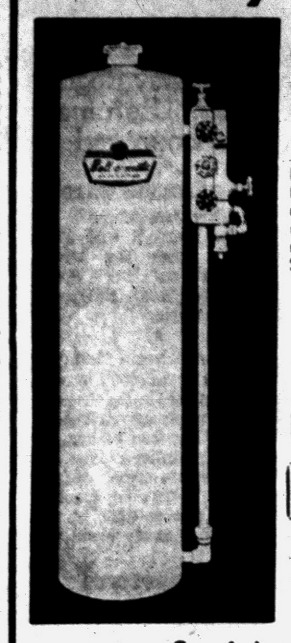

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. T. Mel Roberts are enjoying a trip by plane to the Orient. They are expected home before the holidays.

University of Michigan senior Bradley Ronan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben A. Ronan of East Iroquois road, reads The Pontiac Press as he pauses in front of the Business Administration Building on the Ann Arbor campus. He is vice president of the senior class in the School of Business Administration and is also on the senior board of the class of '58. Bradley is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Pontiac Student Supervises University Activities Building

By ROSE PERLBERG
U. of M. Correspondent

ANN ARBOR—When George Googasian was elected chairman of the University of Michigan Student Activities Building Adminstrative Board last January, he stepped into a unique position.

* * *

FOR 80 GROUPS

Opened early in March the three-floor, $1,800,000 building is headquarters for some 80 student groups.

* * *

The administrative board, says its chairman, is responsible for formulating SAB policies, allocating space, purchasing building supplies and, in general, overseeing inter-activity communications.

Composed of student representatives from Inter-Fraternity Council, Panhellenic Association, Inter-House Council and Assembly Association, as well as staff members from the offices of the deans of men and women, the board meets every week. But its energetic chairman, now a senior in the College of Literature, Science and Arts, spends "a good 20 hours a week" in his office.

* * *

A neat dresser, with close-cropped blond hair, George has a calm, quiet-spoken manner. His ruddy face breaks into a shy grin when he's asked about any special problems he has to cope with as board chief.

MOVING PROBLEM

"Mainly space, shifting different groups to make the best use of the room we have," answers George. Sometimes that's easier said than done. "People don't like to move out when they're settled and we've had to learn how to be convincing without hurting too many feelings."

* * *

In his executive position, George not only works with students, he's SAB's link with the university administration.

He's quick to praise these officials for their hands-off policy: "They have a real desire to give us as much responsibility as we can take; they're here as advisers, but I have to ask for help before they'll interfere."

* * *

George frequently plays host to representatives from other colleges and universities who come to tour SAB. He doesn't know how much building action SAB has inspired on other campuses, but, he notes with a grin, "visitors are always very impressed."

ACTIVE COLLEGIAN

Away from SAB, George is an active member of Sigma Nu fraternity. A sports fan, he's played inter-mural football throughout the three years he's been at Michigan.

* * *

The future is still uncertain, with law school on the horizon. But whatever it is, Geogre is confident that his experience in working with people, first as an Interfraternity Council member and now with SAB, has given him a "valuable headstart."

these pieces look expensive, but they're not

We think Living Plan is one of the most exciting design groups we have ever seen. Come see all the pieces, (there are more than 30) . . . you'll enjoy the textural contrast of the polished woods with imported Philippine grass cloth and the wink of the antique brass hardware against the warm brown walnut tones. These beauties are durable, too, every top is tough, high-pressure Melamine plastic—with a natural wood look—that shrugs off household wear and stays beautiful. We've shown but a few of the pieces, come soon, see them all.

Should Girl Pay Couple for Room?

She Will Stay With Strangers During Visit to Fiance

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My fiance is interning in a hospital several hundred miles from here. As he has very little time off and it is impossible for him to get home, I am going down to visit him soon.

"He has written to me saying that a young married couple whom he met through his work have offered me a room in their house, which is near the hospital. He has not mentioned anything about payment. Shouldn't I offer to pay for my room?"

Answer: When you leave, I think you might ask, "Will you tell me how much I owe you?" not "May I have my bill?" If they refuse, then don't press payment on them, but thank them instead and tell them how much you appreciated their kindness and generosity.

When you return home you should write to your hostess and thank her again—and if you can afford it, send her a lovely present for her house.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My sister and I are planning a semi-formal dinner in honor of the 50th wedding of our parents and would like to serve champagne. Will you please tell us the proper way to serve it?"

Answer: It should be put in the refrigerator for a day and then frappeed by putting it into a cooler with water and a lot of ice, and holding the bottle by the neck and turning it back and forth from time to time.

Also, when opening, be sure to wrap the bottle in a towel or napkin as a protection in case it explodes. If the champagne must be chilled quickly, add a handful of salt to the ice and water mixture.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and have asked my uncle to give me away as my own father is not living. I would like to know if he should be given a gift similar to the ones given the ushers and the best man?"

Answer: No, certainly not. The fact that you have chosen him for this important duty will please him much more than any gift.

By DOROTHY WHIPPLE, M.D.

Alice was in her room dressing to go out.

"What, out again tonight?" asked Mother. "Is it Bob?"

"Of course, who else do you suppose I'd be going with."

"Well, I wouldn't know. Thought maybe you'd like a change of scene."

MARVELOUS BOY!

"Mother, there are times I think you have never lived. Bob is absolutely the most marvelous boy.

"He is very intelligent, he just knows everything and he's so much fun. Someday I'm going to marry him."

* * *

"Oh are you in love with him?"

"Yes, I am, and there is nothing you can do to stop me."

"Alice, dearie, don't be so belligerent. I think being in love is the most wonderful feeling in this world. I'm glad you're in love."

* * *

"Oh, Mommie, you're wonderful!" And Alice threw her arms around her mother's neck. A minute before she'd looked as though she could have punched her.

CERTAINLY DIFFICULT

Alice and her mother had always been on good terms but lately Mrs. Woodward did feel Alice was certainly difficult.

* * *

Her moods swung from elation to despair over what seemed the most trivial of events. However, Mrs. Woodward made a lot of allowances, and maintained her sense of humor.

Now the girl was in love, thought Mrs. Woodward. That was all right. Being loved is a proof to a girl that she's attractive and loving in return is evidence of being grownup.

Both are vitally needed feelings for a young fledgling.

* * *

If parents can see in these early experiments in the world the need young adolescents have to prove themselves it's easier to go along with them.

The teenager is not ready to leave his home yet — not unless the attitude of the parents is so antagonistic that he feels thrust out.

APT TO TURN AWAY

If parents try to hold their teenagers down with rigid restrictions, if they disparage their efforts to become adults, the youngsters are all too likely to turn whole soul and body to the object of their first love.

* * *

"Here is the only person who understands me. He cares what happens, he wants me to have a good time."

And by contrast such a girl feels that her parents want to keep her a baby, they don't care if she is miserable and so we have the rebellion of youth.

* * *

The Woodwards were wise and thoughtful parents. Alice felt her mother approved of her and so she approved of herself.

She loved Bob but because he wasn't just everything in life to her she could have a little bit of objectivity toward him.

A LOOSE REIN

Mrs. Woodward guided Alice with a loose rein. She found out gently where the kids were going, when they expected to be back.

* * *

She made home a comfortable easy place for them to be together, but didn't expect them to stay there all the time.

* * *

She didn't hesitate to say "no" when she felt it was necessary and because the "no's" did have sense Alice not only accepted them but gained a sense of safety and security in the knowledge that her parents cared about her.

Church Groups Elect Officers

Mrs. Elaine Malone was named chairman of September - October group of First Presbyterian Church when the group met Thursday at the church.

Color Candy to Match Flavoring

Mrs. Alderson Has Several Varieties Sealed in Jars

By JANET ODELL

Did you ever make hard cardy? Not long ago we ate some made by Mrs. Clifford Alderson of Huron Woods. It was delicious, so delicious we begged for the recipe. And it keeps perfectly in tightly covered cans.

Mrs. Alderson is new in this area. She likes Extension work and sewing.

HARD CANDY

By Mrs. Clifford Alderson

4 cups sugar
1 cup white corn syrup
1 cup water
Flavoring
Confectioners sugar

Mix sugar, corn syrup and water in a heavy pan. Boil to 290 degrees. Immediately remove from heat. Add ½ teaspoon (or ½ dram) flavoring oil and 1 cap food coloring.

Eight batches will make 18 pounds. Seal in air-tight cans or jars.

Flavors	Colors
Wintergreen	Blue
Spearmint	Clear
Orange	Orange
Lemon	Yellow
Anise	Red
Clove	Pink

Tight Clincher Would Be Unhealthful

Don't Cinch Your Waist-Exercise!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I have started doing exercises for my waist but have given them up because I am tired of them, and would not have time as I am going to school. If I wore a waist clincher for a year or more would it take my waistline down 4 inches?"

A. Even if you had it tight enough to pinch you badly, I do not believe the result would be what you wish. This would be unhealthful and much more unpleasant than doing any number of exercises. You do not sound to me as though you gave the exercises a chance.

Q. "I just wondered if you could help me. I am 60 and in good health but overweight. At night I use the best hormone creams and oils, yet my face has gotten so crepy it wearies me. Do I need vitamins or green vegetables?"

A. Everyone needs vitamins and green vegetables. Sometimes extremely dry skin is due to a vitamin deficiency. The first thing is to eat a well-balanced vitamin-high diet.

Then it might be wise to reinforce your diet with more vitamins. The green, leafy vegetables are an important part of your diet because of their vitamin and mineral content.

Health and nutrition are reflected in all of the tissues of the body and therefore do affect our complexions. Be careful about this. Ask your doctor about vitamins and keep on with the creams and oils.

★ ★ ★

Q: "Is it dangerous to tweeze hairs from the chin? I find that depilatories burn and chafe."

A. I cannot imagine why you thought it might be dangerous. Perhaps you were thinking that it might make the hair grow thicker. There is no evidence that this is so.

★ ★ ★

Q. "I would like a thicker brow-line but the hairs that have been tweezed come in stiff, and sometimes white, although I do not have gray hair. Can I soften them?"

A. I have recently mentioned in this column that you can sometimes hold the wild hairs in line by applying a touch of petroleum jelly. You also can widen the effect of your brows by using an eyebrow brush cleverly.

Q. "I am 5 feet 6 inches tall and weigh 142 pounds. My bust measures 35 inches, waist 27½ and hips 41½. People tell me that I look wonderful, perhaps because I have lost 46 pounds since my second child was born. I think I could lose another 10 pounds. Do you think I'm right, and are my measurements really off?"

A. Congratulations on your loss. I know how much better you must look and feel. Do not lose another 10 pounds. That would make you underweight. You might lose another five if it would make you happier. Your hipline is too large. Take hip-slimming exercising.

★ ★ ★

Come as close as you can to touching your hand with your foot. This and other hip-slimming exercises are available in Josephine Lowman's leaflet No. 3. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Screening on Table

Substitute plastic screening for the top of a discarded card table. Spread knitwear on it before laundering, and trace the outline with chalk. Then, lay the sudsed and rinsed sweater over the screen, smooth it out to fit the chalk-drawn outline, and leave it to dry. The screen mesh allows both sides of knitwear to dry at the same time.

Fear of Mistake Often Prevents Decision

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Last night she asked Midge to make a double date with a friend of her young man. Midge's father said, "No. I think you are too young to go out with 23-year-old men your mother and I know nothing about."

He maintained his decision kindly, but steadfastly. After Midge had called him "mean" and run upstairs to slam her bedroom door, he said to his wife, "I could be wrong. These two guys may be the most responsible young men she'll ever meet. But being wrong is the risk we have to take, isn't it, honey?"

His wife said "Yes." I say it, too.

★ ★ ★

It's the hard obligation of all reasonable authority to make decisions for other people it knows may be mistaken. And yet stick with them until it can make better ones.

UNCERTAIN PROTEST

Fear of this obligation is parents' chief problem.

Many of us are so scared of making the wrong decisions for Midge that when she announces she's dating a man seven years older than she is, we content ourselves with an uncertain protest.

We think, "The child experts are always saying that children should be allowed to test their own judgment of what's right for them to do. So if I say 'No' to this date I may be wrong. And oh, my goodness, I mustn't be wrong under any circumstances."

So we make no decision. Unlike Midge's father, we refuse the risk of being wrong. We imagine ourselves wonderfully "understanding" parents. But we aren't. We just want to be always right.

Children soon recover from resentment at our decisions when we do not claim absolute rightness for them. What makes the problems the child psychologists are always talking about is not our wrong decisions but our insistence that they are perfectly right.

On this question, psychoanalyst Eric Fromm writes, "The person whose authority is respected does not call for irrational awe of it. He does not claim to be unerring."

Parents who fear decisions do so out of secret need to appear faultless.

VIRGINIA L. OSBORNE

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Osborne of Ellwood avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Lee, to J. C. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Smith of Lakeview avenue. No wedding date has been set.

The Bible says Noah built the ark of gopherwood, which many translators have taken to mean cypress.

Don't Divorce, Remarry Without Considering Kids

Parent Who Reweds May Be Torn Between Two Loyalties

By RUTH MILLETT

Maybe I can marry again. But will a stepfather be better to my children than their own father has been?

Apparently a lot of women never ask themselves that important question before getting a divorce and looking around for a second husband.

Then they introduce their children to a new father, who sometimes has children of his own, and are surprised that a household made up of "his children" and "my children" presents a great many more problems than a home where there is a husband and wife and "their" children.

In all too many such homes, the wife decides the husband treats his children better than he treats hers. Or the husband decides that his wife is too lenient with her children and to hard on his.

And one or the other starts wondering if a divorce isn't the only answer.

In their letters to me they usually reason, "After all, I am all my children have."

Why in the world don't these people realize earlier that if they divorce their children's mother or father they are the only real parent the child has?

Why don't they face the fact before marrying a second time that there is a distinct possibility that they will be torn between loyalty to their children and loyalty to the new marriage partner?

If they did, the complications of a second marriage wouldn't come as such a shock. But instead they act like romantic kids and go into a second marriage expecting it to be simple and uncomplicated and that everyone will love everyone else.

A good eyebrow pencil (this means one with a sharp point!) is essential to complete a good makeup job. Actually, the care and skill you develop in doing your eyebrows are reflected in your entire makeup job.

Home Hues Are Keyed to Bathroom

Novel Approach to Decorating Used by Color Stylist

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. (NEA) — There's more betwixt a house and its bathroom than a burning night light. The house's complete color scheme may stem from this room.

★ ★ ★

The woman who says that color in the home is set by the decorative scheme of the bathroom is teased about a pink men's room she designed for an aircraft plant.

But Margaret Hargreaves ignores derisive snorts. She directs her seven-day week at Custom Color in South Pasadena with a knowing twinkle in her eye. She explains her role as color stylist to mean color designing or engineering.

"I use the scientific and mathematical approach to harmonize colors in homes or factories," she said.

★ ★ ★

A former department store decorator and color consultant for a British architectural firm, she has considerable experience in applying these methods. So much so that she has a night, day and Saturday staff.

23,800 HOMES

So far this year she has worked out color for interiors and exteriors of 23,800 homes in 50 housing developments in California.

★ ★ ★

The bathroom theory gets a workout in these homes. "I use phalt roofing shingles, to key these bathrooms, coordinated with ashome colors for a practical reason. These are the materials that have to be ordered first."

Color engineering is very important today, she stressed. Color alone is not effective. It is the way it is used in harmony with something else — the overall effect.

She believes color is more important than food, which opinion recalled a color experiment with food. Diners lost appetites over such items as green steaks and purple green beans.

With an "Ugh!" for the green steaks, she added, "Many unhappy marriages are due to color . . .and color can cause more family arguments. . ."

WESTERN INFLUENCE

Why is color sweeping the country? Mrs. Hargreaves feels it is the influence of the West on the East. Fixtures, floor coverings, vinyl tiles, for example, come from all over the country. These are designed to fit the tastes of the West.

★ ★ ★

"I use bright colors, for example, in sunny climes to keep the sun from eating up the color," she said.

And the pink men's room?

"It is really coral and gray with pepper and salt walls," she explained. "I designed it for Northrup in Hawthorne.

"Women, you know, have colorful lounges in which to smoke, take off their shoes and relax. But for men, no such thing. Stark, steel gray or some such dull color has been their lot.

★ ★ ★

"Industry, however, is getting wise to the relation of color and fatigue. So I did the 'pink men's room' as their relaxing haven."

Arrangements for the affair were made by Mrs. Norris Smith, Mrs. Paul Bough, and Mrs. Ralph Gardner.

Club Hears Playback on Speeches

The use of the tape recorder was the basis of the Education Program presented to the Pontiac Toastmistress Club when its members met at the Waldron Hotel.

Each member presented an impromptu speech which was recorded and criticized when played back. Mrs. Sidney Olson acted as toastmistress for the program, and topic mistress was Mrs. George Stafford.

Prepared speeches were given by Mrs. Martha Reeves and Mrs. Stafford. Critics for the evening were Mrs. Robert Sutton and Helen Turek.

President, Mrs. Ivan Wilcox announced that the Homecoming Conference for Council Four of International Toastmistresses will be held at Botsford Inn, Detroit, Nov. 23.

BPW Planning Christmas Party on December 8

Mrs. C. Richard McBride announced plans for an annual Christmas party to be held Dec. 8 when Business and Professional Women's Club met at Hotel Waldron.

Mrs. McBride will be assisted by Mrs. R. Sanford Craft, Mrs. Rebecca Gould, Mrs. D. R. Wilson, Mrs. Charles Barrett and Mrs. Janet Dow.

The Proxy Murder Serial

"Yes, I touched the left arm."

"You say it was hanging down from the bed?"

"Yes."

"It was hanging down. It was hanging from the shoulder."

★ ★ ★

"Did you move the left arm?"

"Slightly."

"You could move it?"

"Certainly."

"It was limp?"

"It was swinging from the shoulder. I didn't try to bend the elbow."

"But the arm was swinging from the shoulder, is that right?"

"Yes."

"Thank you," Mason said. "That's all. I have no further questions."

"My next witness will be Gifford Farrell," Hamilton Burger said.

Farrell had about him an air of hushed solemnity and deep grief as he walked quietly forward to the witness stand.

Some of the women jurors leaned forward to look at his lean, bronzed face. The men were more casual in their appraisal but it was plain to be seen there was that in the man's manner which aroused interest.

"Were you acquainted with Mrs. Norton Calvert during her lifetime?"

"I was."

"Her first name was Rose?"

"That is correct."

"She was married?"

"She was married and had separated from her husband."

"Do you know where Mrs. Calvert is now?"

"She is dead."

"Did you see her dead body?"

"I did."

"Where?"

"At the morgue."

"When?"

"On the 17th day of October of this year."

'WORKING FOR ME'

"Do you know what if anything Mrs. Calvert was doing at the time of her death?"

"She was working for me."

"In what capacity?"

"I am engaged in a proxy fight for control of Texas Global. I have done extensive advertising in the newspapers and Mrs. Calvert was acting as my very confidential secretary, keeping tabs on the proxies which had come in."

Elliott turned to Perry Mason, said, "I show you a list containing the names of stockholders, the numbers of stock certificates, and a statement in regard to proxies which bears your initials and the initials of the defendant on each page.

"I believe you will stipulate this was a list which was turned over to the district attorney's office on the morning of October 17th."

"I will so stipulate. I will further stipulate that this was a paper which the defendant found under the front seat of his automobile late on the evening of October 16th. I will state further that we handed this list to the District Attorney on the morning of October 17th with the statement that it might be evidence in the case and the further statement that the defendant had no knowledge as to how or when it had been placed under the seat of his automobile."

"Very well," Elliott said, "we will stipulate as to the fact the defendant made this statement. We expect to disprove it."

Elliott turned to Farrell. "Mr. Farrell, I show you this list and ask you if you know what it is?"

"Yes, sir."

"What is it?"

★ ★ ★

"It is a list which was prepared, dated the 14th of October, and purporting to show the proxies which had been received to date."

"Who had possession of that list on the 16th of October, if you know?"

"Rose Calvert."

"De ask that this list be received in evidence, Your Honor," Elliott said.

"Just a moment," Mason interposed. "I'd like to ask a few questions concerning this list before it is received in evidence."

"Very well," Judge DeWitt said.

Mason said, "My initials and the initials of the defendant are on that list. Is there any identifying mark of yours on that list?"

"No, sir, there is not."

"Then how do you know it is the same list which Rose Calvert had in her possession on the 16th of October?"

Farrell's smile showed that he had been anticipating this question. "It is a completely phony list," he said. "It was purposely prepared and given to Rose Calvert so that if anyone tried to force her to surrender the list she was making she would have this phony list which was purposely misleading."

"That list did not reflect the true situation at that time?" Mason asked.

"It did not!"

"Who prepared that list?"

"It was prepared at my dictation."

"And you saw it in Rose Calvert's possession?"

"I did."

"When?"

"On the 16th of October."

NO OBJECTION

Mason turned to Judge DeWitt and said, "I think the statement that it was given Rose Calvert to be surrendered in case anyone tried to take the list from her is completely incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial as far as this defendant is concerned. But because we are anxious to get at the true facts of this case, we will not move to strike out that part of the answer. We have no objection to the list being placed in evidence."

"Very well," Judge DeWitt said, "it will be marked as the Peoples' Exhibit and given the appropriate number by the clerk."

Marvin Elliott said, "I will now ask you, Mr. Farrell, if you gave Rose Calvert certain instructions on the 16th of October as to what she was to do at the Redfern Hotel?"

"Just a minute," Mason said. "I object on the ground that that is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial and not binding on the defendant. Unless it is shown that the defendant knew of this conversation or was present at the time it took place, it has no bearing on the case."

"It is part of the res gestae," Elliott said.

Elliott said, "I have no further questions at this time."

Mason said, "That's all. I have no cross-examination."

Elliott said, "I'll call Robert Makon King."

Robert King walked quickly to the witness stand and took the oath.

"What is your occupation?" Elliott asked.

"I am a clerk at the Redfern Hotel."

"On the evening of October 16th did you have occasion to see a body in the hotel?"

"I did."

"Who showed you that body?"

"Sgt. Holcomb."

"Where was the body?"

"In Room 729."

"Were you able to identify that body?"

"Not by name, but as a guest in the hotel, yes."

"I had."

"Where and when?"

TOOK A SUITE

"She had entered the hotel and stated that she wanted a suite somewhere on the sixth or seventh floor, preferably the seventh. She stated that . . ."

"Never mind what she stated," Mason said. "I object on the ground that it's incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial."

"This is very definitely part of the res gestae," Marvin Elliott said. "It accounts for certain facts which otherwise would be confusing."

"I think I will sustain the objection to the conversation," Judge DeWitt said. "You may ask what she did as part of the res gestae."

"Did she register for a room"

"She did."

"Under what name?"

"Under the name of Gerald Boswell."

"I'm sorry," Elliott said, "that I can't ask you for the conversation. I will ask you if she paid for the suite in advance."

"She did. Yes, sir."

"You may cross-examine," Elliott said.

"Did this young woman have any baggage with her when she registered?" Mason asked.

"I didn't see any."

"Could there have been baggage which you didn't see?"

"It was the duty of the bellboy to take up the baggage."

"But she did pay for the suite in advance?"

"Yes, sir."

"And took it under the name of Gerald Boswell?"

"Yes, sir. She said he was her . . ."

★ ★ ★

"Just a minute," Judge DeWitt interrupted.

"Your Honor, I'm going to withdraw my objection to the conversation," Mason said. "I'm going to let the witness relate it."

"Very well," Judge DeWitt said.

King said, "She told me that she was the secretary of Gerald Boswell, that he wanted her to engage a suite for him, and that she would pay the rent in advance."

★ ★ ★

"Did she say she would do that because she had no baggage?" Mason asked.

"Now that you mention it, I believe she did."

"What time was this?"

"Some time in the afternoon. I don't know just when. The records show it was just before one o'clock."

"What time did you come on duty?"

"At twelve o'clock, in the afternoon."

"What time did you normally leave?"

"At eight o'clock in the evening."

Mason thought the situation over for a moment. "You're certain this was the young woman who rented the suite?"

"I'm certain."

"Your memory for faces is rather poor, isn't it?"

"On the contrary, it is very good."

"No further questions," Mason said.

"That's all," Elliott said. "I will wish to examine this witness upon another phase of the case later on in the trial."

"We object to the testimony being put on piecemeal," Mason said. "We feel that this witness should be interrogated at this time as to all the evidence which counsel intends to develop."

"Oh, Your Honor," Elliott said, "it would mean putting on our case out of order. We have to introduce an autopsy report, we have to introduce photographs."

"Well," Judge DeWitt said, "if counsel for the defense wants the evidence to be presented now I think it would save time, at least, to ask the questions of this witness now."

"Very well," Elliott said. "Did you deliver an envelope to anyone who asked for messages in the name of Gerald Boswell on the afternoon of October 16th?"

"I did."

"To whom?"

"To the defendant."

★ ★ ★

"The gentleman sitting there next to Mr. Perry Mason?"

"Yes, sir."

"What time was that?"

"That was some time around six-thirty. I can't give you the exact time."

"And did you have any further conversation with the defendant?"

"Not with the defendant. With his attorney and a gentleman with him whom I have since learned was Paul Drake, a detective."

"And what was that conversation?"

"This detective, Mr. Drake, asked for messages for Gerald Boswell. I asked him for some identification and he showed me the key to Room 729. Then he went to the elevator."

"Carrying that key with him?"

"Yes."

"You don't know whether he went to Room 729?"

"Only by what he said afterward. He told me that he had."

"In the presence of Mr. Mason?"

TELLS HIS STORY

Mason said, "If the court please, I am not objecting and because it is embarrassing for counsel to be a witness I will stipulate that Mr. Drake and I went to the Redfern Hotel, that Mr. Drake asked for messages for Gerald Boswell, that he was told there were no messages, that he was asked for identification, that he produced a key to Room 729, that he went up to Room 729, that we discovered the body of this young woman on the bed, and that we notified police."

"Very well, that will simplify matters," Elliott said.

"Just a moment," Mason said. "I have a couple of questions on cross-examination.

"When Mr. Drake first asked for messages for Mr. Boswell, Mr. King, you told him that you had delivered a message to him earlier in the afternoon, didn't you?"

"Well, I was a little suspicious. I . . ."

"I'm not asking you whether you were suspicious. I'm asking you what you told him."

"Yes, I believe I told him something to that effect."

"Yes, now you say it was the defendant to whom you delivered that message?"

"Well, I've had a chance to think it over."

"And to look at the defendant?"

"Yes."

Builders Watch Money Market

Hope for Turn of Tide in Long-Term Finance, Home Mortgages

Some feel sure it will come next year, making 1958 the time to build. Others are just as sure that long-term financing will be as tight and expensive two or three years from now as it is today.

★ ★ ★

Those who think tight money is due to ease soon cite a fall in supply of home mortgages this year because home building is off, and also count on an expected drop next year in demand for funds for business expansion. They argue these two things will make investment funds plentiful.

★ ★ ★

The doubting Thomases say that there are fewer new mortgages today simply because money is so tight and borrowing so expensive that fewer persons can afford to build houses. They say that any drop in demand for new financing by business will be more than offset by rising demand for funds by state, local and federal governments.

They add that big lenders—insurance companies, large banks and investment firms—don't expect to have more money to lend next year than this.

A drop in interest rates on long-term borrowing such as mortgages for home and office building is called unlikely for some time, although short-term interest rates may ease as business lets up on its demand for funds. Builders report interest charges still tend to rise, especially for commercial buildings.

In the past five years the French cotton industry has increased its productivity in spinning and weaving by slightly more than 50 per cent.

Call Caboose 'Crummy'

NEW YORK — Officially, the caboose on a train is the "way car," but railroaders seldom call it that. It's usually the "crummy," but it may also be called the "dog house," "hearse," "ape wagon," "cage," "palace," "chariot," "bed house," "bouncer," or "hack."

Money in Pot Again Reaches $1000 Mark

You know what happens when Pot-O-Gold prize money reaches the $1000 mark. Things begin to pop. We get more and more entries each week and the chances of finding a winner increase accordingly. If you want to insure your possibilities of getting in on the loot, you'd better get your winning entry in now, before someone else beats you to it.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the puzzle square marked A.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. Entries must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his numbers in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent post card. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 76 must bear a Tuesday, Nov. 19 postmark (or before). No entries received after that time whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest canot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press Judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9 There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Hollywood Headlines

Dior's Line for Ingrid May Lighten Troubles

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Even while I was in New York, raves about "Bridge on the River Kwai" had penetrated my (Waldorf) tower—but I had to return to Hollywood and see this Sam Spiegel war drama to get the full impact of the film. Terrific—particularly Alec Guinness and the scenes photographed in Ceylon.

Any plans of Sam's now are news, so I called him just before he left for New York to find out what's next. He said, "I have a deal on to buy 'The Chase,' by Horton Foote, author of 'Trip to Bountiful' which starred Dorothy and Lillian Gish. There are five top male and three top female roles, each calling for an important star. We'll shoot it in Texas."

It's amusing to think that just a few years ago Sam (then known as S. P. Eagle) was best known as the rather unimportant producer who gave whopping New Year's Eve parties. Now he has "African Queen," "Waterfront" and "Bridge" to his credit.

GERMAN ACTRESS WANTED

That fine German actress, Maria Schell, (getting raves since the Santa Barbara sneak of "The Brothers Karamazov") has just sent a cable to MGM that she has accepted the Berlin production of "My Fair Lady" on the stage.

Before the studio could get nervous that this might run as long as it has on Broadway—Maria added that she has accepted the engagement for only four weeks. So pleased are composers Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe that they are flying from New York to Berlin for the opening.

Before Maria returned to Europe, she paid me a visit and I have seldom been more impressed with a young player. I predict that she'll be a big asset to MGM when she returns in January.

SWITCHES TITLE

If anything can get Ingrid Bergman's mind off her separation from Rossellini, it must be the perfectly gorgeous wardrobe created for her by the late, great Christian Dior which she's been fitting all week long for her London movie with Cary Grant. Her gowns are among the last designs of Dior and we will see Ingrid as a beautifully dressed woman in this picture.

★ ★ ★

As the movie nears active production—shooting begins Monday—the title has been changed from "Kind Sir" to "Indiscreet." As a rule I'm not too keen on these switches on well-known plays, but "Indiscreet" will probably sell more tickets at the boxoffice than "Kind Sir" you'll admit.

JAYNIE TO DO RETAKE

Just to prove to the folks at home that the London cameraman who made her look like the rear end of a truck "done her wrong," Jayne Mansfield is going to wear the same black and white zebra dress to the Mt. Sinai Hospital charity ball at the Beverly Hilton Nov. 26.

Charlie Lemaire, in charge of the entertainment, is whipping up an act with Jayne and a chorus of cameramen showing how missy Mansfield was "distorted" by the British lensman.

She'll also model the covered-up but clinging gown she wore when she was presented to the Queen of England at the command performance of "Les Girls."

HOLLYWOOD SNAPSHOTS

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: All must be OK with Ruth Dubonnet and Jule Styne. They were at the Don Rickles show in the Eddie Fisher party, following Eddie's TV show.

Dinner at Chasen's with Mr. and Mrs. Warden Woolard and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Riblett before we saw "Bridge on the River Kwai" to complete a nice evening. Interesting that Sessue Hayakawa, Japanese actor in "Bridge," who will be 78 his next birthday comes here in time for the premiere Dec. 18 in New York and the 19th in Los Angeles.

Aren't Pat Owens and Sy Bartlett talking reconciliation? He put her on the plane for Lone Pine, and she was his date at the Josh Logan party.

On Dec. 15, Piper Laurie gets the chance of a lifetime playing Viola on Hallmark Theater's live TV show in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night." Maurice Evans and Peter Ustinov are her co-stars.

Larry Finley is acting as manager without pay for polio victim Ronnie Deauville. Larry goes to Palm Springs over the weekend for Ronnie's singing engagement at the El Mirador.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Texas Fulfills Indiana Girl's Weevil Request

★ ★ ★

She wrote Rep. Bruce Alger (D-Tex) last week and explained her class was studying cotton. "Will you please send some cotton bolls and a weevil if you can?" she asked.

★ ★ ★

Until yesterday the congressman and his aides were stumped. Then the mail brought a boll weevil, dispatched special delivery in a pill bottle by Mrs. Harvey S. Dorman of Ennis, Tex.

★ ★ ★

Stakes in Big Ten May Be Settled Saturday

Spartans Have Score to Settle With Minnesota

MSU Seniors Remember 14-13 Defeat Suffered Last Year

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State's seniors have one more score to settle as they wind up three years of Western Conference football play.

The account should be wiped clean when the Spartans go against Minnesota here Saturday.

The seasoned seniors who started as sophomores in 1955 have a record of 14 wins and four losses in Western Conference play to date.

Michigan was the only conference team to beat State in 1955. The seniors settled the Wolverine hash in 1956 by a 9-0 score and this year by a 35-6 victory.

★ ★ ★

Illinois and Minnesota were the upsetters last year. Illinois has been taken care of 19-14. Purdue, the sole team to tag a loss on the Spartans this year, will have to be left up to the juniors and sophomores.

But the seniors are waiting to avenge a 14-13 edging by Minnesota last year.

"We want this to be a real good one," said captain Pat Burke. "It's the end of the Big Ten line for us seniors. I can't think of a better way of winding it up than beating Minnesota, the team that licked us last year."

★ ★ ★

As almost an oddity, coach Duffy Daugherty will be starting the same 11 against Minnesota as he used the opening game of the season.

The only time the starting lineup has changed all year was the one week quarterback Jim Ninowski was bothered by a thumb injury and Mike Panitch started ahead of him.

★ ★ ★

Chilly weather is forecast for the game. The weatherman predicted a temperature of around 40 degrees and said either snow flurries or rain could be expected, depending on whether the mercury rises or falls a few notches.

A crowd of between 60,000 and 65,000 is expected for the 1:30 p.m. kickoff.

Pre-season anticipation that this would be a key game helped the early sale of tickets. But some who ordered the ducats ahead of time in anticipation of a sellout may not show up since Minnesota has been deglamorized by beatings by Illinois, Michigan and Iowa.

Fullmer Is Favored in Tonight's Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — This is "opportunity night" for young Neal Rivers of Las Vegas, Nev. The unranked middleweight gets a chance to crack the top 10 if he can whip Gene Fullmer, the ex-champ, in Madison Square Garden.

★ ★ ★

Even Fullmer realizes this is a fight in which he has everything to lose and little to gain. He is gunning for another shot at the title he lost when Sugar Ray Robinson planted a left hook on his jaw, May 1, at Chicago. If he loses somewhere along the way, Gene may never get another chance. Fullmer is a 3 to 1 favorite.

Eyes Focused on Columbus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This is it! Ohio State vs. Iowa.

The winner takes the Big Ten championship.

An Iowa victory would give the Hawkeyes an uncontested second straight title — a feat duplicated by Ohio State in 1954 and 1955. Having gone to the Rose Bowl last season, Iowa is ineligible for a return trip.

Triumph by the Buckeyes would mean the title as well as the Rose Bowl bid.

★ ★ ★

If Iowa wins, or ties, the Rose Bowl situation probably won't be settled until Nov. 23 when Ohio State ends its regular season at Michigan. A loss to Michigan would pass the Rose Bowl trip from Ohio State to Michigan State.

Michigan State, however, must defeat Minnesota Saturday to keep any such chance alive.

They favor Michigan State by 20 or 19 points over Minnesota, Wisconsin by 6 or 3 over Illinois, Purdue 20 or 19 points over Northwestern and Michigan by at least five touchdowns over Indiana.

The condition of Ohio State's halfback Don Clark, remains somewhat of a mystery. He suffered a groin injury but apparently has responded to treatment. He will play, but it is doubtful he can go full steam.

Clark is the key to the Buckeye's league-leading rushing attack. His season record in seven games is 655 yards by rushing in 118 carries. He has scored nine touchdowns and completed 5 of 6 passes for 51 yards and one touchdown.

★ ★ ★

Although the Buckeyes are a ground-hogging team, they can pass if desired. They have hit on 30 out of 52 tosses and none have been intercepted.

★ ★ ★

Iowa has one of the best aerial batteries in the circuit in Randy Duncan to end Jim Gibbons and a ground attack that has rolled up 1,760 yards. Seven foes have netted only 623 yards rushing against the sturdy Hawkeye defense.

★ ★ ★

Although Iowa has been practicing in secret this week, the latest reports indicate that tackles Alex Karras and Dick Klein and end Don Norton are on the mend from injuries.

Wolverines Are Heavily Favored to Trample Lowly Hoosiers

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Down trodden Indiana, in the throes of a miserable season, tries for another major upset here tomorrow when it meets heavily favored Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Little is at stake in the race for the Big Ten championship on a Saturday when the crown and Rose Bowl berth may be settled in battles before more powerful teams.

The Hoosiers never were in contention. They have had difficulty scoring in their four previous conference games, crossing the goal line just once. Indiana has lost twice in addition to outside foes while edging Villanova for its lone victory in this experimental season.

Michigan saw its flickering title ambitions vanish last week when it was upset by Illinois. The sometimes hot, sometimes cold Wolverines defeated Northfestern and Minnesota, tied Iowa and lost to Michigan State and the Illini.

The Wolverines have beaten Indiana 18 times and lost five in a series started in 1900. There have been no ties. Indiana last downed Michigan in 1954 when it scored a 13-9 upset.

A crowd of 58,000, smallest of the season for Michigan Stadium is expected if the weather is clear. Rain is the early weather forecast.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan has constantly warned his Wolverines against looking ahead to next week's traditional concluding game with Ohio State. The motto — "any Big Ten team can beat any other on a given Saturday" — has been repeated often here this week.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Quarterback Jim Van Pelt and left halfback Jim Pace have recovered completely from injuries. They are Michigan's big guns on offense. Both played sparingly against Illinois and Michigan was a decidedly better team when they were on the field.

Pistons to Play Lakers Tonight in Home Contest

DETROIT (AP) — The Minneapolis Lakers, with only one victory to show for eight games in the National Basketball Assn., take on the Detroit Pistons tonight at Olympia Stadium in a single game.

The Lakers beat the New York Knicks 124-106 Wednesday night for their first win. Detroit holds a 115-96 decision over Minneapolis.

Owner Fred Zollner of the Pistons announced that all doubleheaders will start 15 minutes earlier, at 7 p.m. rather than 7:15 p.m. as in the past.

Bi-County Co-Champions

Warren and South Lake are football co-champions of the Bi-County League for 1957. The two schools fought to a 13-13 deadlock Wednesday afternoon in their title showdown at South Lake. Both teams finished the season undefeated, each with an identical record of seven wins and one tie.

Lou Little Calls 'em

The value of the conference or league plan, as it helps to contribute to rugged competitive interest in college football is well illustrated by the situation in which Iowa and Ohio State find themselves today.

Iowa, unbeaten and once tied, or Ohio State, unbeaten in the conference and consistently strong since its early loss to Texas Christian, can win a title in which not only they but eight other institutions have been interested, along with their large alumni and a good proportion of the football population across the nation.

Meanwhile, Michigan State is a part of the picture as it may unfold. The Spartans, engaging Minnesota at East Lansing, will be watching developments at Columbus. Though Iowa can win its second title in two years tomorrow, a Big Ten champion can not repeat in the Rose Bowl.

★ ★ ★

Ohio State, winning tomorrow, can get both the title and the bowl assignment. But Ohio State, if it loses, still has the chance to beat Michigan a week from tomorrow to qualify for the bowl.

If the Buckeyes lose to both Iowa and Michigan, the Spartans will be the Big Ten representatives, provided of course they win from the Gophers.

It all makes for a combination of competitive interests which are healthy. It's an incentive which all but a few of the so-called "independents" could use. Army, Navy and Notre Dame may be among the exceptions.

★ ★ ★

The Ivy group, so lately formalized, is learning the value of the plan, and the fact that it can be a big help in proper administration of athletics, too, if handled firmly by the presidents and their officers.

Yale and Princeton play a game of great traditional value tomorrow, but Princeton is thinking, too, of its contest with Dartmouth a week later that may decide the Ivy title.

FRIDAY

MIAMI, FLA. over Maryland — Hurricanes on the move.

SATURDAY

PENNSYLVANIA over Columbia — On the Red and Blue's running.
ARMY over Tulane — Cadets have it on the ground, and in air, too.
BOSTON COLLEGE over Marquette — Eagles to grab seventh in row.
DARTMOUTH over Cornell — Green's attack gets going again.
HARVARD over Brown — Harvard injuries may be problem.
PENN. STATE over Holy Cross — But State must stop Greene's thrusts.
NAVY over George Washington — Navy's last public tune-up, before Army.
SYRACUSE over Colgate — Orange puts on more offensive pressure.
AMHERST over Williams — Jeffs have defensive edge in battle of unbeatens.
AUBURN over Georgia — Auburn's line
DUKE over Clemson — By no means easily: Clemson has come fast.
FLORIDA over Vanderbilt — Burden is on Vandy pass defense.
TENNESSEE over Mississippi — The single-wing again, and in good hands.
N.C. STATE over Virginia Tech. — State comes back after first defeat.
WILLIAM AND MARY over Rutgers —On momentum of W&M's big win last week.
MICHIGAN STATE over Minnesota — More Spartans have more speed.
MICHIGAN over Indiana — A tough year for unhappy Hoosiers.
MISSOURI over Kansas State — Missouri making good progress.
COLORADO over Nebraska — More trouble for Cornhuskers.
IOWA over Ohio State — The big one, and close: Iowa's edge on attack.
OKLAHOMA over Notre Dame — Sooners up this time, Irish tiring.
PURDUE over Northwestern — Boilermakers strong despite defeats.
TEXAS A&M over Rice — Crow and mates nearing another title.
TCU over Texas — Though Longhorns' Fondren is threat.
DETROIT over Quantice — Titans should run on them.
STANFORD over Oregon State — Stanford going well on ground and in air.
OREGON over USC — Ducks bounce back after first conference loss.
UTAH over Air Force — Airmen under Crosscup's air attack.
WASHINGTON STATE over Idaho — On Newman's passing.

SATURDAY NIGHT

MISSISSIPPI STATE over LSU — But fast LSU backs could turn it around.
UCLA over College of the Pacific — Uclans are alert opportunists.

SPORTS

MSU STARTERS — When Michigan State meets Minnesota Saturday this group of linemen, who make up the same forward wall which started every game for the Spartans, will be at their regular positions. Talking to line coach Burt Smith are ends Sam Williams and Dave Kaiser (kneeling). Standing are tackle Pat Burke, guards Ellison Kelly and John Middleton, tackle Fran O'Brien and center Dan Currie. AP Wirephoto

From The PRESS BOX

Probably for the first time in history with both Michigan and Michigan State playing at home, the Spartans will have the bigger home crowd tomorrow. A crowd of 65,000 is expected for Minnesota-MSU and 58,000 for Indiana-Michigan.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The only non-seniors to make the All-Inter Lakes team were Southfield backs Tom Ridley and Bob Filar and Farmington's talented end Frank Clappison.

★ ★ ★

Millington's upset of North Branch in the mud Wednesday ended a string of 15 straight grid games without a victory for the Cards. "I was glad to see Millington win one but why did it have to be against us," said losing coach George Glinke who missed gaining a share of the South Central title.

★ ★ ★

A Texas company that makes football pads will back up claims of Oklahoma fans that Sooner guard Bill Krisher hits hard. The big guy is working on his 3rd set of pads this season at a cost of $35 each. He is the 1st gridder known to tear up the metal-reinforced protectors. Krisher's pads have to be repaired after each game.

★ ★ ★

Lanny Leak of Clarkston has been named co-captain of the 1958 Albion eleven. The rugged junior helped spark the Britons to a 5-3 season this year performing as an offensive guard and defensive linebacker. End Fred Cady of Pleasant Ridge was also among the Albion letter winners.

★ ★ ★

Big Bill Tunnicliff, offensive and defensive sparkplug at Ferndale St. James all season, has caused interest among Michigan recruiters. The 195-pounder and his coach, Corlis Foster, will sit on the bench with the Wolverines as guests of the team at the Ohio State game next week.

Post-Season Game Out for Cadets

No Bowl for Army

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Army goes into its football game with Tulane here tomorrow confident of one thing — the cadets won't be playing in any post season bowl game.

This was reaffirmed today by Lt. Gen. Gar Davidson, superintendent of the Academy, who pointed to a 9-year-old policy statement which ends the cadets' football after the final game of their regular season schedule.

There has been a great deal of speculation as to whether Army or Navy would get a bid to the Cotton Bowl, in Dallas, on New Year's Day. The possibility of such a bid would most likely hinge on who wins the Army-Navy game Nov. 30, in Philadelphia.

Navy is known to be solicitous for such a bid, but Annapolis official would make no commitments until after their traditional clash.

★ ★ ★

The Southwest Conference champion (probably Texas A & M) is assured of a berth in the Cotton Bowl, with an opponent selected from leading independents or strong conference runnerups.

Lt. Col. Francis J. Roberts, graduate manager of athletics here, released the policy statement, which said in part:

★ ★ ★

"The superintendent cannot view with favor any post-season games for the Army team under any condition. The regular nine-game schedule produces all the benefits which can be reasonably sought from the playing of intercollegiate football and keeps the game within normal proportions."

"If we go beyond our regular schedule the law of diminishing returns starts to apply at once, particularly in terms of loss of study time to the players.

Army never has played in a post season bowl, though they did play Navy in a post season game in New York's Yankee stadium in 1930. The Cadets won 17-7.

Hank Edges Musial in NL

MVP Award Goes to Aaron

NEW YORK (AP)—Henry "Hank" Aaron, who slammed 44 home runs and turned a city upside down with one of them, today held the National League's top honor for 1957—the Most Valuable Player award.

★ ★ ★

The 23-year-old outfielder, who hit the 11th-inning home run on Sept. 22 that brought Milwaukee its first pennant, won the balloting conducted by the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America by a scant nine points over the St. Louis perennial, Stan Musial.

Aaron, league leader in home runs as well as in runs batted in with 132, drew 239 points on the basis of 14 for first, nine for second, eight for third, down to one for tenth place.

Musial, winner of his seventh batting title with a .351 mark, finished with 230. Aaron's teammate, second baseman Red Schoendienst and the acknowledged spark of the champion Braves, was third with 221 followed by the Giants' Willie Mays with 174 and Milwaukee lefthander Warren Spahn with 131.

Of the 24 Association members participating in the poll, three from each NL city, nine awarded Aaron their first place vote. Musial drew five, Schoendienst eight, and Mays and Spahn one apiece.

★ ★ ★

Aaron and Musial were named on every ballot in one of the closest MVP votes in National League history.

★ ★ ★

Completing the top 10 were shortstop Ernie Banks of Chicago, sixth with 60 points; first baseman Gil Hodges of the Dodgers, seventh with 54; third baseman Eddie Mathews of the Braves, eighth with 45; outfielder Frank Robinson of Cincinnati, ninth with 42; and Jack Sanford, Philadelphia's ace rookie righthander, tenth with 39.

Don Newcombe of the Dodgers, the 1956 MVP after winning 27 games, failed to draw a single vote this time.

NO BOWL — Team Captain Jim Kernan has a dress rehearsal with Army's starting lineup The Cadets were told they are out of the post-season bowl picture due to Academy policies. Kneeling are Bill Graf, Fred Wilmoth, Stan Slater, Bob Novogratz, Bill Melnik and Don Usry. Standing left to right are Pete Dawkins (of Royal Oak), Vince Barta, Dave Bourland and Bob Anderson.

MOST VALUABLE — Henry (Hank) Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves is happy over being voted the National League's "most valuable player" of 1957, edging out Stan Musial by nine points. AP Wirephoto

Chiefs Must Go All-Out to Beat Central Tonight

By BILL CORNWELL

If Pontiac High has any designs on upsetting Flint Central tonight, the Chiefs must wake up to the fact that a football game consists of four quarters, not just two.

★ ★ ★

Coach Jesse MacLeay's gridders and the Indians swing tomahawks at each other this evening in Flint's Atwood Stadium and the Chiefs must go all-out for a full 48 minutes or their chances of victory are slim.

Pontiac should have learned this bitter truth by now. In nearly every loss the Chiefs have suffered, they played winning football for only one half. They weren't fussy—either half was acceptable for letting down.

Against Saginaw and Flint Northern they didn't gain a full head of steam until after intermission when it was too late. It was just the opposite in the Bay City game, which was marked by a strong 1st half.

Only in their impressive 20-12 win over Arthur Hill have the Chiefs really stayed on the throttle for a game's length. Between running out of gas and other harmful factors, Pontiac has limped to a record of two wins and four losses.

MacLeay himself stated "We'll have to play hard right from the start and keep going until the finish if we're going to win." Maybe this will be the Chiefs' night to go all the way.

Two changes have been made by MacLeay in his starting offensive lineup. Charley Brown, an aggressive 180-pound sophomore, has been switched from guard to halfback and Herman Spicer, a 165-pound junior, has moved into Brown's spot.

★ ★ ★

Brown, who replaces Jim Kellar offensively, will remain at his defensive guard post where he has starred all year. Quarterback Fred Staley, halfback Larry Douglas and fullback Dick Whitmer will complete the PHS backfield.

★ ★ ★

Central, Pontiac's oldest gridiron rival, enters tonight's Saginaw Valley tilt with an overall 2-4-1 record and a 1-2 conference mark. The Indians end their season on Thanksgiving Day against city foe Flint Northern.

This will be the final Valley game for the Chiefs, who have a 1-3 league record. They meet Ferndale next Friday afternoon at Wisner Stadium to ring down the curtain.

Tonight's No. 1 Valley struggle takes place at Bay City where defending champion Northern and the mighty Wolfpack fight for the conference crown. Bay City is favored to take the title and finish an 8-1 campaign.

Arthur Hill and Saginaw renew their city feud Saturday night at Arthur Hill Stadium in the season finale for both schools.

Lane to Visit With Bragan

Tribe's New GM Flies to Cuba for Baseball Strategy Talks

CLEVELAND (AP)—General Manager Frank Lane flies from here to Cuba today to confer with Manager Bobby Bragan over the next five days on how they can make their first year running the Cleveland Indians a successful one.

★ ★ ★

Lane also will look over some of the players in the Cuban Winter League where Bragan's club is setting the pace with a 15-8 mark that includes six victories by Dick Brodowski, an Indians' prospect who was with San Diego last season. And another young pitcher for whom the Tribe has hopes—Mudcat Grant—is to make his first start in Havana tonight.

★ ★ ★

The energetic, 61-year-old Lane put in another big day at his new job yesterday, spending about four hours in telephone talk with officials of the Kansas City Athletics, Baltimore Orioles and Detroit Tigers in the hope of getting some sort of trade started.

★ ★ ★

From his trade talk, Lane said he was convinced of this:

"We must have better material than our sixth-place finish indicates. They're definitely interested in making deals with us."

Sooners 3 TD Favorite Over Notre Dame 11

Last Home Loss Was to South Bend Eleven Back in 1954

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Gov. Raymond Gary has proclaimed this "pride in Oklahoma week," and what better time for the Notre Dame football team to upset three-touchdown favorite Oklahoma?

★ ★ ★

The teams clash here tomorrow on the day 50 years ago Oklahoma was admitted to the union. A national TV audience will get to see if a Notre Dame team, which has lost its last two games, can snap back to end the Sooners unmatched record of 47 straight triumphs.

Oklahoma humiliated Notre Dame 40-0 last year in a televised battle. This year, the Irish won their first four games before being beaten by Navy 20-6 and Michigan State 34-6.

Wilkinson emphasizes that even though Terry Brennan's Notre Dame team won 2 of 10 games last season, it still was able to hold the Sooners' national championship team to 147 net yards rushing. That's the lowest Sooner ground total the past four years and came the same year Oklahoma won the national rushing title.

Almost that same Notre Dame team is back, Wilkinson points out, while Oklahoma suffered heavily through graduation.

Oklahoma players have a special reason for wanting this game too.

The last team to beat Oklahoma was Notre Dame 28-21 at Norman in the opener of the 1953 season. A victory would even up the series at 2-games all and satisfy Sooner fans who saw their team beaten at home.

The Notre Dame team arrives here this afternoon, with a light workout on the Sooners' field scheduled. The team will spend the night at Chickasha 35 miles away.

★ ★ ★

Syracuse Scores Win in NBA, 97-94

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

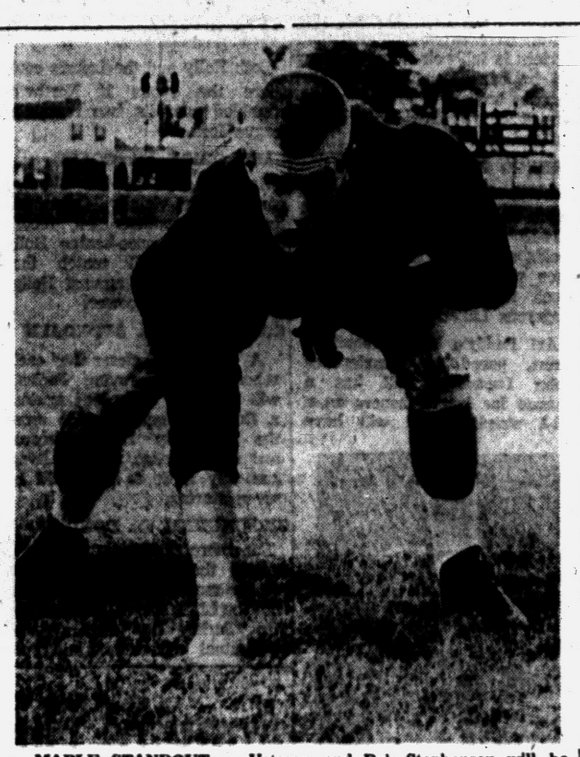

The 29 points Dolph Schayes poured in for Syracuse last night not only helped the Nats end their slump at four games with a 97-94 victory over Philadelphia, but also set off some confusion among record keepers in the National Basketball Assn.

★ ★ ★

It was announced at courtside that Schayes had passed the great George Mikan and now holds the career record with 10,171. Mikan counted 10,156 in his nine seasons before taking over as the Minneapolis coach.

★ ★ ★

Trouble is, the official NBA record book lists Mikan with 11,764 points, and gave Schayes 10,774 even before the season started, in a chart on page 16. The chart carries the notation that the figures given are for regular season games only — playoff games excluded.

MAPLE STANDOUT — Veteran end Bob Stephenson will be playing his final game for Birmingham as the Maples close out the season against strong Royal Oak Dondero tonight. He excels as a pass catcher and defensive ace.

Not During Signals

Sooner Bass Drummer to Pound for Win 48

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — The University of Oklahoma's bass drummer who has been under fire for his football-thumping says he has a special system for the nationally-televised Notre Dame game here tomorrow — and it'll help the Irish.

Dave Miller, 19-year-old sophomore from Enid, Okla., who received notoriety of sorts three weeks ago in the Oklahoma-Colorado game, says he'll be rooting — and drumming — for Oklahoma's 48th victory.

But Miller insists he didn't intend to drown out Colorado's signal-calling with his booms, and he says he won't try to give the sooners an unfair advantage over the fighting Irish.

His system also should help keep the crowd quiet at crucial points, he says.

"When the Irish break from the huddle to get over the ball I'll raise both my drumsticks," he said. "When I raise my drum sticks it'll be a signal to both the band and the crowd to . . . quiet down so Notre Dame can hear signals."

After the Sooners' narrow 14-13 victory over Colorado Oct. 26, Buff coach Dal Ward complained of the crowd noise, and added: "I'll always remember that bass drummer in the Oklahoma band pounding harder and harder when our players pleaded for silence."

The controversy caused Notre Dame coach Terry Brennan to voice anxiety over the noise at Owen Field, which will be jam-packed tomorrow with partisan Sooner fans.

"I hope we don't have the trouble that Colorado did," Brennan said this week.

Miller admitted today he has been "razzed" quite a lot over the episode, and that fellow students have even intimated he's been such a help in keeping the Sooners' winning streak intact he ought to be on an athletic scholarship.

★ ★ ★

The truth is, he said, during the Colorado game he was so excited that "at the time I would have done anything to get the team to the Orange Bowl. Anything legal, that is."

Small College Streaks on Line Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Olivet College hasn't won a football game since Oct. 8, 1955, when the Comets defeated Grand Rapids Junior College 19-6.

Wallowing in a 21-game losing streak, Henry Paul's crew can keep Grand Rapids JC from a perfect season this Saturday when the teams meet in the season finale for both on the Olivet field.

Gustavus Adolphus, a so-so team from St. Peter, Minn., has the last opportunity to stop Hillsdale this season. The Dales, winner of the MIAA title for the fourth straight year, will be trying for a convincing triumph that might lead to a bowl bid, and figure to down the Gusties with ease. Hillsdale has a 33-game winning streak going.

Five Michigan teams already have wound up their 1957 activity but still there's plenty of action on tap Saturday. Eastern Michigan's Hurons face a rugged test against St. Joseph's College of Collegeville, Ind., in a game that will be played on Hoosier grounds.

St. Joseph, with quarterback Ralph Tite at the controls, has a 7-1 record. Its only defeat was to Xavier, Ohio. Against all other opponents the Pumas have rolled up a 235-27 scoring edge.

Central Michigan can't wind up with a plus-record even if the Chippewas defeat Western Illinois Saturday at Mt. Pleasant. But halfback Walt Beach can reach the coveted 1,000-yards-gained mark with a 105-yard performance.

The speedy sophomore from Pontiac leads his teammates in four departments and can become the fourth CMC player in recent years to reach the 1,000-yard mark.

Northern Michigan hasn't played in three weeks due to an open date and a cancellation and will play its final game in Detroit Saturday against Wayne State. Wayne needs the triumph to finish above the .500 mark while Northern can end up 4-4 by downing the Tartars. This will be the first meeting between the two schools.

Western Michigan's Broncos can finish with a .500 mark by beating Kent State at Kalamazoo Saturday in a Mid-American Conference clash. The loser of this one will finish in the MAC basement as Kent goes in with a 1-4 mark while the Broncos have four losses and a tie in five league contests.

After this weekend only Michigan State, Michigan and Detroit will be in action among Michigan colleges.

PGA Tourney Play Changed

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Professional Golfers Assn. championship next year will be a four-day, 72-hole medal play tournament rather than the man-to-man type elimination play that was started in 1916.

The delegates decided the 1958 PGA championship will be played at Lanerch Country Club in Philadelphia between July 14 to 20 for a probable purse of $40,000.

★ ★ ★

The match-play competition has proved a losing financial proposition over the years. The gate receipts dwindled as name players were eliminated during the progress of the tournaments. And several of the nation's top golfers refused to enter the championship on the grounds that 36-hole-a-day play for several days was more trouble than it was worth.

Harold Sargent of Atlanta was elected PGA president for a one-year term, succeeding Harry Moffit of Toledo, who completed his limit of three one-year terms of office.

Boyce Sees Improvement for Chiefs Swim Squad

With several weeks of activity already covered, Coach Bob (Des) Boyce, Pontiac High swimming coach, said today his squad would in all probability be much stronger than the 1956 edition. "At least," Boyce declared, "that's what we hope for."

Chief natators get their season under way Dec. 6, same date for opening of competition for a number of other area squads, including Southfield's new team. Jays will be on the PHS schedule for the first time, Jan. 14, here. Pontiac's first opponent will be Ypsilanti Central, in a night duel here Dec. 6.

Eight lettermen are back, headed by greatly improved diver Johnny LaMotte and Pat Stinson, orthodox breaststroke. Both, however, will be lost at mid-year, when they graduate. "LaMotte," says Boyce, "will be plenty tough during that first semester and it will be difficult to find anyone to fill in. We'll just have to start training some divers now."

Other lettermen are Dennis Roberts (junior), freestyle; Gid Robarge (senior) orth. breast; Duke Cummins (senior) freestyle); Rollie Tolleffson (senior) freestyle; Jim Gibbs (junior) backstroke; John Poponea (senior) breaststroke.

Grid Deaths Decline

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There has been a slight decline in deaths due to football injuries so far this season.

This was the report yesterday by the Football fatalities committee of the American Football Coaches Assn., which stated:

Twelve deaths have occurred to Nov. 5 this season, as compared with 15 for the same period last year. The deaths included 1 in semi-pro play; 10 in high school, and 1 in college.

'Bad Boy' Jockey in Trouble Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jockey Robert J. "Bobby" Martin, "The Bad Boy of the Saddle," is in trouble again.

The Maryland Racing Commission, which banned Martin for 10 years back in May, 1951, then reinstated him after four years in April, 1955, suspended the 29-year-old jockey yesterday for "conduct detrimental to the best interests of racing" in New Jersey and other states.

★ ★ ★

D. Eldred Rinehart, Chairman of the Maryland Commission, announced the action by making public a letter to Martin. It said the commission had "received information to the effect you have violated Maryland rules of racing 109, 115, 195 and 196." The letter added "You have also engaged in conduct detrimental to the best interests of racing."

Preps Bid Farewell to Football Season

By BILL CORNWELL

It's farewell to football for 1957 tonight for virtually all of the high school teams in the Oakland County area.

Several finales smack of tradition while a couple of others will go a long ways toward deciding league championships.

Only the Wayne-Oakland Conference and Eastern Michigan League titles are still up for grabs and tonight's games could settle the whole affair.

Aside from four scheduled games next week, all area schools end their seasons today. Among the top attractions are Waterford at Wayne, Lake Orion at Holly, Rochester at Avondale, Romeo at Utica, West Bloomfield at Northville and Birmingham at Royal Oak Dondero.

WATERFORD VS. WAYNE

The Skippers will ring down the curtain on a disappointing year tonight when they meet the Wayne Zebras at Wayne. Dave Freeman's gridders have won only once this fall while losing five and tying one.

Wayne, champion of the Huron-Rouge Valley Conference in 1956, plunged to the bottom of the loop this season. Despite their unimpressive 3-5 record, the Zebras are favored to avenge last year's 20-19 loss to Waterford.

Coached by Don Domke, the Zebras have two outstanding ball carriers in fullback Roger Vashaw and halfback Don Martinez plus the twin brother passing combination of quarterback Bill Hawley and end Jim Hawley.

KEEGO VS. NORTHVILLE

This contest may determine the Wayne-Oakland champ. Northville, a 14-13 victor over Holly in last week's showdown, holds down 1st place with a 5-0 mark and can clinch the title by beating the dangerous Lakers.

Art Paddy's West Bloomfield team, paced by quarterback John Lucadam, still has a chance for league honors on a 4-1-1 standing and will have plenty reasons for trying to upend the Mustangs.

Both Holly and the Lakers could share the spoils if Northville stumbled over its two remaining league foes.

LAKE ORION VS. HOLLY

ROCHESTER VS. AVONDALE

A traditional closer for each school, the improving Jackets will be heavy underdogs against a Rochester squad which owns the Tri-County League crown and a 5-1 season record. Avon has only a tie to its credit in seven starts.

BIRMINGHAM VS. DONDERO

For more than a quarter of a century these two teams traditionally met on Thanksgiving Day with the Little Brown Jug at stake. The "Turkey Day" series ended by mutual agreement last year as Dondero took permanent possession of the jug with a 19-0 triumph.

They're meeting earlier this fall, but there's no reason to believe that the rivalry is any less intense.

ROMEO VS. UTICA

★ ★ ★

The Eastern Michigan race could be decided tonight when league-leading Hazel Park plays host to Port Huron and East Detroit visits Ferndale. A Parker victory coupled with a Ferndale loss would hand the title to Hazel Park.

★ ★ ★

Other games of interest tonight are Brighton at Bloomfield Hills, Clawson at Madison and Oak Park at Berkley. Cranbrook faces Western Reserve Saturday afternoon in the Cranes' Homecoming game.

Woodling Named 'Man of Year'

CLEVELAND (INS) — Gene Woodling, who had the finest season of his career at the age of 35, was named unanimously "man of the year," by the Cleveland Chapter of the Baseball Writers of America at the group's annual meeting today.

★ ★ ★

The slugging outfielder will be honored at the writers' annual "Ribs and Roasts" dinner on January 22.

★ ★ ★

Alumni to Follow Princeton-Yale by Many Methods

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — If old grads can't go to the Princeton-Yale game tomorrow, they'll make the game come to them.

★ ★ ★

Unable to attend the game in person, hundreds of alumni across the nation will be watching the game or listening to it over closed circuit television and radio circuits.

Special radio broadcasts will carry the play-by-play description of the game as far away as Honolulu.

★ ★ ★

Others will get a running account of the game sent by telegraph.

Oh, yes. Some 46,000 alumni and friends will be watching the game in person at Palmer Stadium, which has been sold out for two weeks.

Army of Hunters Tracking Deer in Northern Woods

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An army of hunters moved into the wet north woods before dawn today to open firing in the 1957 deer season.

★ ★ ★

Shooting started at 7 a.m. and will continue through the 16-day regular buck season.

Soon after, the first successful hunters were returning over the new Straits of Mackinac bridge with bucks decorating their cars.

The state conservation department estimated that 300,000 hunters took the field for the opener.

The long weekend and the easy accessibility of the Upper Peninsula over the giant Straits span attracted many who otherwise would wait until later in the season.

The department has predicted that the regular season kill this year will top the 60,940 bucks taken during the regular season in 1956.

It is expected that close to 450,000 hunters will be out at least once before the season ends.

The Mackinac Straits Bridge Authority reported no tieups although a steady stream of hunter cars poured into the Upper Peninsula on Thursday. Nearly 5,000 cars were counted crossing the five-mile span high above the waters between midnight and noon the day before the opener.

★ ★ ★

Last year, 11 persons were killed by firearms during the season, one was killed by a bow and arrow and nine dropped from heart attacks. There were 29 woundings reported.

Three hunters died the first day of the season in 1956.

★ ★ ★

Cold, wet weather over most of the hunting country at least enabled the hunters to move through the woods without spooking the deer.

★ ★ ★

There are 17 special areas open to the shooting of any deer in conjunction with the regular buck season.

Bruins Defeat Chicago, 5-2

Boston Within Single Point of Hawks After NHL Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Bruins, who have had a long wait between victories lately, found themselves with a two-game winning streak today and within a point of the third place Chicago Black Hawks in the National Hockey League.

★ ★ ★

Last night's 5-2 job on the Hawks gave the Bruins two in a row for the first time since they won their first four games of the season.

It was the only game scheduled.

The Bruins, putting up a steady attack on Chicago goalie Glenn Hall, who had 27 saves, pushed to a 4-0 lead in the first 30 minutes. Don McKenney counted on a 15-footer to get it started and later added two assists.

Real Chevrefils, Larry Regan and Vic Stasiuk each had a goal and an assist for the Bruins. Nick Mickoski and Ted Lindsay scored for the Hawks, who suffered only their second defeat in nine games.

★ ★ ★

Meantime Maurice "Rocket" Richard, the Montreal Canadiens' star who was cut on the right achilles tendon in a game Wednesday night, was taken to a Montreal hospital because of excessive pain. It had been planned originally to let Richard stay at home.

'No Feud With Lions'... Buddy Parker

Former Detroit Coach Meant All as 'Compliment'

Motor City Team Set for Crucial Contest With 49ers

Wilson, who worked under Parker at Detroit, charged the Pittsburgh coach was trying to put the Detroit coaching staff on the spot with his prediction.

"Gee," Parker said, "I said that as a compliment. As far as my feuding with Wilson, that's ridiculous. Why I had him as my first assistant for seven years at Detroit which proves my high regard for him. I think the Lions will win the Western title and I also hope they do."

"I've made predictions before as to which team I felt would win," Parker said, "and there was never any uproar like this."

★ ★ ★

Parker picked the Lions during a meeting of the Pittsburgh curbstone coaches last Monday. The Toastmaster said Buddy could speak off the record if he chose but Buddy said he would have none of that — what he had to say was for public consumption.

★ ★ ★

Wilson said: "We figure he was trying to put our coaching staff on the spot. If we win now, people will say it was because of a great team. If we lose out, people will say we had a great team and it was the coaches who lost it. That's the feeling Parker wanted to put over."

The Steeler coach has dispatched his assistants on scouting expeditions this weekend as the Pittsburgh team has an open date. Asked what he will do, Parker grinned and replied:

"Just stay home and keep my mouth shut."

★ ★ ★

The Lions meanwhile have a big task at Briggs Stadium Sunday afternoon with the Western Division leaders, the 49ers, as the opposition.

This game could push the Lions into a tie for the lead or it could just about eliminate the Detroit pros from contention.

Wertz for Swap to Tigers

MT. CLEMENS (AP)—Vic Wertz is one Cleveland Indian who isn't worried about Frank Lane's reputation for swapping baseball talent.

★ ★ ★

The balding outfielder says he is glad the new Cleveland manager is a good trader. The right swap might send Wertz back to the Detroit Tigers and that would be like throwing B're Rabbit in the briar patch.

"Nothing I'd like better," Wertz said here yesterday in an interview.

★ ★ ★

Wertz, traded by the Tigers to Cleveland in 1954, has a beer distributorship in Mt. Clemens and maintains his residence here during the off-season. Mt. Clemens is about 30 miles northeast of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Wertz, 33, said he figures he has only another year or so with Cleveland because of his age. He hit .282 for the Indians in 1947.

★ ★ ★

"I believe I could go on indefinitely with Detroit," he explained. "It's close to my business and the family would like me to return.

★ ★ ★

"Of course," he added, "I'll play for Cleveland or any other club as long as they want me. But it would be nice to get back with the Tigers."

Overconfidence Fear of Titans

Detroit Coach Worries Team May Be Looking Ahead to Bowl

DETROIT (AP)—Informed that they are being eyed for possible post-season bowl bid consideration, the Detroit Titans will have to guard against overconfidence Saturday when they take on the Quantico Marines.

It is the final home game of the season for the Titans, who have a 5-2 record with two games remaining.

Victories in the two remaining contests will give the Titans their best season since 1941. They won only two of 10 games last year.

The marine team has played almost exclusively against service teams, losing to Little Creek Navy Base, Fort Knox, Ky., and Elgin air base and tieing camp LeJeune Marines. Their other losses have been to Holy Cross and Boston College.

Titan coach Wally Fromhart has cautioned his squad that the bowl "feelers" mean nothing and that they should concentrate on beating one opponent at a time rather than look beyond the season.

North Dakota set a season hockey attendance record during the 1956-57 season by drawing more than 68,000 fans.

Gridder's Dad Leads Cornell Cheer Section

The elder Bolha, a husky 57-year-old farmer from Johnstown, Pa., is the least-secret weapon in Cornell's football arsenal. Using his own megaphone like artillery, he capers along the sidelines shelling friend and foe alike with impromptu cheers.

With every cheer, another hat. This is the 1957 routine, an evolution from his rooting days in 1925 when he affected a silk topper at Johnstown High School games.

Bolha makes most of Cornell's home games. For a virtual command performance, he plans to be at Philadelphia's Franklin Field Thanksgiving Day for the traditional clash with Penn. He intends to be in peak form.

Young Bolha gets some kidding about his father's antics but isn't bothered in the least. "I'd be bothered if he didn't cheer me, because he always has," he says.

Emil Jr. stood out as a freshman signal-caller and is described as a "most promising" prospect. He has played in four games this season and started against Princeton.

The appearance of young Emil on the field is the cue for redoubled efforts on his father's part. He joins Cornell cheerleaders in their yells and makes up some of his own. The Cornell cheering section forms a warm and appreciative audience.

Swoon's Son 1st Entry at Pimlico

★ ★ ★

President Herman Cohen of Pimlico announced yesterday he had received acceptance of an invitation from Swoon's Son owner E. Gay Drake of Lexington, Ky.

★ ★ ★

Swoon's Son is seventh on the all-time list of money winners with $766,905 in purses. The 4-year-old has won 20 stakes races, 7 this year in 13 races.

Southeastern Wins Detroit Prep Title

DETROIT (AP) — Southeastern won the City League high school football championship last night, upsetting favored Redford 28-7 before 5,251 spectators at Briggs Stadium.

The victory pits the Jungaleers with the winner of Sunday's Catholic League championship game between Notre Dame and Redford St. Mary for the All-City championship in next Friday's Goodfellow game.

Southeastern pushed across two first-period touchdowns for a 14-0 lead and outplayed the Huskies during most of the remainder of the game.

Southeastern, third-best team on the east side, reached the championship tilt when both Denby and the University of Detroit High School were ruled ineligible. Redford had tied Cooley for the West Side championship and was voted into the game.

My MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

One-Point Forecast Champion

Egad, zillions of gentle readers! A touching tribute has reached me. It can best be expressed by quoting the letter itself:

"You are the world champion forecaster when it comes to calling the results by a single point. I mean that game where you predicted the score would be Alabama 14, Georgia 13 and that was the actual score! Please tell us how you do it."

The sender signs his name rather illegibly, but to me it looks like "Bud Wilkinson." Of course I could be wrong, it might even be "Ben Milkerson" —heh-heh!

I must apologize for one of my associates, however — Dr. Reggy Schnitkopf, who predicted the Penn State-West Virginia score at 26 to 7—the actual score was 27 to 6. Dr. Reggy has a weakness for giving the wrong team the point after touchdown.

This week's big one is Notre Dame to beat Oklahoma, 21 to 20. Also the Colgate-Syracuse 13 to 13 tie is a bit out of the ordinary—har-rumph!

Now go on with the forecast:

That is an increase of nearly 21 million, or 14 per cent, since the last census on April 1, 1950. It also represents an increase of 3,041,000 or 1.8 per cent since Oct. 1, 1956.

★ ★ ★

The census breakdown showed 857,000 members of the armed forces serving overseas on Oct. 1, compared with 882,000 on the same date last year.

But Citizens Resent Less Butter

Hike in Defense Spending Must Be Paid for by Public

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—More guns can be sold to the American public more easily today than less butter.

But the considerable increase in defense spending which President Eisenhower says must come and which most Americans probably approve will have to be paid for.

And the three ways of paying for it will bear on both individuals and business firms, either directly or indirectly.

One way would be to keep within the present budget plans by paring sums for various domestic programs.

For example, the Agriculture Department puts its spending on its various farm programs including price supports at 5½ billion dollars a year—a figure which this year's large crops aren't likely to trim. Any paring back of such supports will be hard to put through Congress.

★ ★ ★

Veterans' outlays also run around five billion dollars a year. Less butter for either the farmers or the veterans would plague not only them but also the merchants and manufacturers with whom they deal.

A second way to pay for more defense would be to raise taxes. To do this, Congress probably would need to convince the public of the immediate peril to security.

The third way would be, as President Eisenhower hinted in his Oklahoma City speech, to return to deficit financing, raising the federal debt limit, and running the Treasury in the red again.

★ ★ ★

Any of the three ways, therefore, end up in meaning less butter: less butter for those benefiting from various government domestic programs, less butter for those paying the higher taxes, less butter for those who in time might find their dollars buying fewer goods.

Economy Gets Shot in the Arm

Federal Reserve Board Cuts Discount Rates in 4 Sections of Country

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board gave the nation's leveling-off economy an unexpected shot in the arm today by cutting back its discount rates in four sections of the country.

The immediate effect is to make it easier for banks to obtain money for lending to businesses and the general public. And it appeared to herald an easing of tight money policies that have accompanied a two-year business boom.

A spokesman for the Federal Reserve Board said the action was "recognition that inflation, at least temporarily, has ceased to be the dominant factor in the economy."

He emphasized, however, the board's belief that there is no reason for any public alarm that a business recession may lie ahead.

★ ★ ★

The board announced late yesterday that, effective today, the discount rate would drop from the 24-year high of 3½ per cent to 3 per cent at the Federal Reserve banks in Atlanta, New York, Richmond and St. Louis. Similar action by the eight other reserve banks is expected soon.

★ ★ ★

The action came at a time when seasonal demands for money are high. Both businessmen and purchasers tend to increase their borrowing as the Christmas shopping season approaches.

★ ★ ★

The discount rate is the interest which the 12 regional Federal Reserve banks charge their member banks on borrowed funds. Banks borrow from the reserve system when they need extra money to meet the demand for loans. A low discount rate encourages them to borrow in order to make commercial or personal loans, thus helping to keep the economy rolling at a brisk pace.

★ ★ ★

Wall Street was generally surprised but pleased with the news. It was called "constructive," "stimulating," "forthright and courageous," and recognition by the Federal Reserve Board that "the forces of inflation are receding."

★ ★ ★

That, however, wasn't a unanimous opinion. One major bank official said, "I'm astonished and speechless . . . I regard it as wholly unwarranted."

The announcement came after the New York stock exchanges were closed, but in San Francisco stocks climbed sharply after the news and trading was brisk.

To Arraign Mother in Slaying of 3 Tots

ST. HYACINTHE, Que (AP) — A coroner's jury last night held Mrs. Julien Gorka criminally responsible for the deaths of her three young children, found beaten to death in their beds Monday.

The woman is expected to be arraigned within a few days.

Detective Sgt. Paul Gagne told the inquest the children, aged 1 to 5, were bludgeoned with a hammer. He said Mrs. Gorka, 36, had been released recently from a mental hospital. Her husband was at work in Beauharnois when the children were killed.

Three Influences Boost Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain and soybean futures moved higher on the Board of Trade today, influenced by a stronger stock market, wet weather and lack of receipts at terminal markets.

The wheat trade was rather light, with buying by commercial interests and selling by local traders.

More rainy weather over the corn and soybean belt and smaller receipts from the country caused buying of corn and soybean futures. Soybeans advanced more than a cent a bushel on the distant May delivery at the start. Most other soybean contracts were up a cent in early dealings.

★ ★ ★

At the end of the first hour, wheat was ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, Dec. $2.19; corn ⅛ to ¼ higher, Dec. $1.18⅞; oats ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, Dec. 68⅝; rye ⅛ to ⅝ higher, Dec. $1.32; soybeans ⅝ to 1 cent higher, Nov. $2.28, and lard was 2 to 7 cents a hundred pounds higher, Dec. $12.15.

Combined Builders Locate in Bloomfield

★ ★ ★

The firm offers maintenance, modeling and repair of already existing buildings or homes, and the design and construction of new residential, commercial and industrial buildings.

According to Bruce R. Lafer, secretary-treasurer of the company, it is unique in that "with one phone call any one or all of major building trades are available."

★ ★ ★

GM Shareholder List Now Tops 700,000

General Motors now is owned by more than 700,000 shareholders, the broadest ownership in the history of any industrial organization, President Harlow H. Curtice announced today.

★ ★ ★

The new high was reached as General Motors moved toward its 50th Anniversary Year — 1958.

The total represents a gain of 200,000 shareholders in 2½ years and 100,000 in little more than 18 months.

"The public's ever-widening participation in the ownership of the business means the further strengthening of our free enterprise system," Curtice said.

Pontiac UF Seeking Volunteers for Office

Jack Murray, public relations chairman of the volunteer bureau, said there is an urgent need for persons bota in the mornings and afternoons to sort papers, check collections or type envelopes.

Anyone who wishes to help may call FE 4-3597 or go to UF headquarters, 318 National Bldg., 10 W. Huron St.

Aid Daisy Workers When Plant Moves

LANSING (AP) — The State Employment Security Commission has been asked to immediately start finding jobs for workers who will be idled in May when the Daisy Manufacturing Co. of Plymouth moves to Arkansas.

★ ★ ★

Gov. Williams asked the Commission to set up an immediate task force to work with the company, the employes and the community in finding work for some 600 employes expected to be displaced.

★ ★ ★

The governor said it was obvious that few of the Daisy employes will be able or willing to follow the plant to Arkansas to accept wages of $1 an hour less than they have been receiving in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

"I believe that having more than six months advance notice in this case," Williams wrote the Commission, "you may be able to accomplish a great deal by a special effort."

Farmington Man Found With Wrists Slashed

The body of a Farmington Township man, Willard Martinson, 44, was found last night in a barn behind the home of relatives where he had been living at 38765 W. 14 Mile Rd., according to State Police of the Redford Post.

★ ★ ★

Detectives said Martinson's wrists were slashed. He was a graduate of the University of Michigan, currently enrolled as a teaching student at Wayne State University.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (INS)—Motorist Franklin D. Radcliff gave police this reason for driving 50 miles an hour the wrong way down a one-way street which has a 25 MPH limit: "I was just following the flow of traffic."

Market Surges on Credit News

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market surged ahead strongly early today in response to the Federal Reserve Board's easing of credit.

The lowering of the discount rate to three per cent from 3½ per cent by four reserve board regional banks was a big step toward relieving Wall Street of its tight money worries.

About the biggest block was 30,000 shares of Bethlehem Steel, up three at 39¼. Even the slow-moving utilities joined in the strong upward move, American Telephone rising 2⅛ at 166 on 3,000. Lukens Steel roared ahead five points at the opening, then trimmed its gain to 4.

U. S. Government bonds were strong also.

Gains of about three points were made by U. S. Steel, Kennecott, U. S. Borax and General Electric. Ahead around four were Gulf Oil, Caterpillar and Du Pont.

★ ★ ★

Two-point gains were scored by Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, General Dynamics, Dow Chemical, Illinois Central and Royal Dutch.

Among the opening blocks were U. S. Steel, up 2⅞ at 55 on 10,000 shares; North American Aviation, up ¼ at 27½ on 15,000; General Motors, up 2¼ at 37½ on 18,000; Gulf Oil up 3⅞ at 112¼ on 2,500; and Jones & Laughlin up 3⅝ at 48 on 12,000.

ROAD SLOWMANSHIP — Travelers planning to motor through Central and South America are forewarned that this may be one of the roadblocks they are likely to encounter. The primitive ox-cart makes haste (as only an ox-cart can) along the Pan-American Highway near Panama City. Plans call for opening of the highway from the U. S. to Panama by 1959. Perhaps there will be a nice gravel "expressway" for ox-carts by then.

Study County Streamlining

Supervisor Carey Heads 9-Member Committee Probing Government

"Oakland County government is operating under antiquated state laws binding it to cumbersome and outmoded procedures," according to Supervisor John L. Carey of Springfield Township.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

After the meeting, Carey said his committee would probe all phases of county government and seek ways and means to bring about more efficiency.

"This may mean recommending home rule, although this possibility must be given expert study," he said.

Conceivably, Carey said, the study could result in changes that would affect county government throughout Michigan.

★ ★ ★

"We may seek constitutional changes which would affect the whole state," he explained.

The study may also result in recommended legislation of the enabling type, which would allow those counties to make changes that care to do so.

Carey believed that before the study is through, university experts will have been called upon for advice about specialized phases of government.

"Before we come up with any recommendations, however, there's going to have to be a lot of meetings, a lot of hard work, a full study of existing data and some specialized studies of our own," Carey believed.

If the Oakland County study is successful, it may become a statewide criterion for county government, Carey thought.

Before coming to Oakland County, Carey was Mayor of Dearborn, serving from 1935 to 1942, when he retired.

★ ★ ★

He also served on the Dearborn school board, on the Wayne County Board of Supervisors and as vice-president of the Michigan Municipal League.

Utica Area Woman Mute at Arraignment

Charged with the slaying of her deputy sheriff husband, John, 42, Mrs. Kennedy was held at the Macomb County Jail on a $10,000 bond. Castellucci set her examination for Nov. 21.

2.5 Million See New Pontiacs at First Showing

"Two and a half million people visited Pontiac Motor Division dealer showrooms around the country last Saturday to make it the biggest first-day showing of new Pontiac cars in recent years," according to S. E. Knudsen, vice president of General Motors and Pontiac general manager.

Reporting on customer reaction to the new 1958 Pontiac, Knudsen revealed that Pontiac dealers sold well over 11,000 cars on the very first day that the new line of cars went on public display.

"This performance is even more encouraging in view of strong competition from generally rainy weather and college football on that day," he said.

Pontiac sales people are confident that the new models are going to assure the company of success in its quest for a bigger share of the new car market. A large percentage of Pontiac showroom visitors seemed seriously in the market for a new car.

For Both Play and Work

Ike Off to the Deep South

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower plans to travel into the Deep South today for the first time since he ordered federal troops into Little Rock, Ark.

★ ★ ★

Accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, he will go to Augusta, Ga., for about five days of play and work. It will be his 16th to the Augusta National Golf Club since his election in 1952.

★ ★ ★

This visit provides the first opportunity for a show of any Southern reaction to an Eisenhower visit to Dixie since he ordered troops into Little Rock last Sept. 24 to help enforce a court order for integration of Central High School there.

★ ★ ★

Presidential aides believe there probably will not be any serious public display of feeling against Eisenhower for use of troops.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower celebrated the First Lady's 61st birthday by going to dinner last night at the Alexandria, Va., home of their son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower. Also on hand for the occasion were the four Eisenhower children.

Broomfield Hits Seaway Change

With his two-months tour of Oakland County completed, Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) today leveled criticism at seaway changes, social security and veterans housing.

★ ★ ★

Broomfield said in a telegram sent to President Eisenhower that a reported move to turn the St. Lawrence Seaway over to the Commerce Department will "play directly into the hands of the railroad interests."

STIFLE SEAWAY

These interests, he said, "would like nothing better than to stifle seaway development in any way they can. If the seaway is to be a success, it must be kept out of the hands of those who would do it harm, because of their conflicting commercial interests."

★ ★ ★

Broomfield was a co-sponsor of bills to allow additional funds to complete the seaway construction.

"It is imperative that no obstacles be placed in the path of the seaway project, for the good of Michigan and the entire nation," he told the President.

PERSONS CONCERNED

Broomfield said that almost two-thirds of the persons he talked to during his tour were concerned with the present social security system.

He repeated his promise to sponsor legislation that would liberalize the system by ending its present $1,200-a-year limit on outside earnings of those receiving social security payments.

He said there must be steps taken to insure that veterans receive the houses they pay for.

★ ★ ★

"Although FHA inspection has been at a high level, the quality of GI homes isn't what it should be in many instances. I have had numerous complaints of inferior workmanship and inadequate sewage treatment and drainage systems."

Broomfield said that during his tour he received a large number of individual veteran, immigration and postal problems.

"I am happy to say we have had almost complete success in solving these individual problems," he said.

AMC Predicting Profitable Year

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. says early indications point to a profitable 1958 fiscal year—the first in the company's four-year history.

★ ★ ★

President George Romney announcing a million dollar plus net profit for October predicted a "substantial" profit for the first quarter and "little question but that 1958 will be profitable."

★ ★ ★

"The company's first all-Rambler car program is off to a flying start," Romney said, "and is keyed to expanding customer preference for smaller, more economical and less ornate cars.

B&O Acts to Cut Passenger Line

Railroad Company Asks to Drop Service on Competitive Run

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, yielding to the auto and the airplane, wants to quit the passenger business on the highly competitive Baltimore-New York line.

In an announcement yesterday, the B&O said it was requesting permission to discontinue 14 passenger trains northeast of Baltimore. The road said it was losing about five million dollars a year on them.

★ ★ ★

Less than two weeks ago, the New York Central and the Pennsylvania announced they were considering a merger. The Erie, the Lackawanna and the Delaware & Hudson are doing the same.

★ ★ ★

Transportation experts said B&O's proposal obviously stemmed from competition with the private automobile and the airlines.

Quick Thinking Averts Big Blast

Waterford Worker Though Hurt, Drives Truck From Flames

The quick thinking of an injured Waterford Township laborer averted what might have resulted in a serious explosion this morning, according to Pontiac Firemen.

Clare Hagerman, 33, of 3660 Mann Rd., an employe of the Costello Excavating & Trucking Co., was refueling a large crane at an excavation next to the Pontiac YMCA, when the gasoline exploded.

Hagerman was blown from the crane's cab by the force of the blast. The gas was being fed into the crane from a 100 gallon truck standing alongside.

Stunned and burned about the hands and face, Hagerman jumped into the truck and drove it out of the reach of flames, said firemen.

The fire caused an estimated $2,000 damage before being extinguished. Firemen attributed the cause to an overheated manifold of the crame, igniting the gas. Hagerman refused hospital treatment for minor burns, they said.

The Purple Heart was established by Gen. George Washington in 1782. It is the decoration for men wounded in action.

Stronger UF Campaign in Area

Better Coverage Insures Goal

Excellent Results Seen in Townships Joined With Pontiac Drive

Enlarged and strengthened campaign structures are features of current UF drives in Independence, Orion, Oxford and Brandon Townships, this year for the first time affiliated with the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Campaign chairmen in the townships were unanimous in their feeling that more complete coverage of their areas this year would insure better results.

"Even though our goal of $8,300 is double of last year, it looks now as though we have a good chance of going over the top."

Bennett is being assisted in his efforts by Mrs. DeVere Games, geographic chairman; Mrs. N. E. Maytag, special gifts; Frederick Warrick, business and industry; John Bell, professional; and Jerome Wilford, publicity.

Thirty-eight per cent of Independence' quota for businesses has already been subscribed.

"Cooperation here is excellent, and we are moving right along," stated Stewart Langley, Campaign Chairman in Oxford. He reported 40 per cent of the $6,000 goal attained at the end of the drive's first week.

Langley is being assisted by 70 solicitors, with four ministers acting as captains: The Rev. G. E. Behnke, Rev. A. Robert Harrison, Rev. Fred Clark, and Rev. Alfred Eddy.

Industries are being contacted by Richard Prince and Jack Salswodel; professional people by Robert Parenti and Dr. Robert Peterson; and businesses by Mrs. Franklin Lamoreaux, Mrs. Herman Whitstock, Mrs. Harley Wallwork and Wesley Collier.

"It's a family affair," out in Brandon Township, with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Grovesteen sharing the duties of Campaign Chairman, and aiming at a goal of $2,400.

Mrs. Grovesteen heads the 35 workers handling the residential solicitation, while Mr. Grovesteen, as Commercial Chairman, has the assistance of Charles Pangus, Robert D. Whyte, and Charles Mills.

Nearly a hundred residential solicitors are headed by Mrs. Alfred Dacey, Orion Township Geographic Captain. Early returns show a favorable trend in giving there.

Campaign Chairman Peter Hammelef reports that business solicitors Walter Shoup, V. J. Morin, "Joe" Taylor, Mrs. Willard Stephen, Mrs. Clare Chapin, Mrs. Dan Abbey, and Mrs. Harold VanCamp have raised 24 per cent of their quota, toward a goal of $6,850.

Dr. J. J. Marra is in charge of Professional Group solicitation.

All of the townships predict greatly heightened activity, especially in residential areas, as the drive approaches its last week.

First Hunter Injured While Heading North

ROMEO—A Mount Clemens hunter on his way north early this morning was seriously injured when his car missed a curve at the north end of this village and hit a brick pillar.

He is Edward Dale Neumann, 32, of 23671 Witley. He was taken to St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens, with a broken nose, facial cuts and possible fractured ribs.

Local patrolman, Robert Jacobs ticketed Neumann for driving too fast for conditions. Jacobs said the car skidded about 100 feet before hitting the pillar.

Utica Boys Sentenced for Trying Derailment

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—Three Utica area boys, aged 14, 15 and 16, were sentenced to three days in the Macomb County Youth Home Thursday, after admitting they threw a switch in an attempt to derail a New York Central train north of Utica Oct. 8. Probate Judge Donald Parent said the boys will undergo a six-month child study period. The train was forced onto a siding.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD F. NISSEN

Donald Nissens to Live in Wixom

Honeymoon in South

Following a Florida honeymoon, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Nissen will make their home at 3980 West Maple Rd., Wixom.

★ ★ ★

The ceremony uniting Marjorie Ann Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David O. Watson, 1104 East Commerce Rd., Milford, and Donald Nissen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Nissen of Wixom, was solemnized recently in Milford Methodist Church.

Two hundred and fifty guests witnessed the evening rite.

The bride fashioned her own gown which was floor-length, of white velvet, with fitted bodice and rolled collar. An ivory and gold nugget necklace and earrings which she wore came from Alaska — a gift of the bridegroom. Her flowers were red roses on a white Bible.

Attending the couple were Joan Nissen, sister of the bridegroom, and Jim Nissen, his brother. Ushers were Andy Nissen, Neal Watson, Ross Slosson of Orchard Lake and Harry Decker of Bloomfield Hills.

City High School Youths to Gather

Variety of Activities Included on Program at YMCA Saturday

After months of planning, the Pontiac YMCA and local churches will hold an All Youth Church "Y" Night Saturday from 8 to 11:30 p.m., at the YMCA.

According to Ted Slosson, YMCA director, the affair is a new idea designed to bring senior high school youths of all churches together for a recreational evening.

★ ★ ★

The program will consist of games, swimming and gymnasium activities, plus a film "The Shield of Faith" presented by the First Presbyterian Church.

A "Singspiration" is also planned by St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church with Deloris Gustavson leading and Edward Santala at the piano.

Refreshment will be provided by Central Methodist, Trinity Baptist and Macedonia Baptist Churches.

★ ★ ★

A donation of 25 cents will be charged, Slosson said, to cover all expenses. He invited any interested church to join in the affair.

Judah Center Opens Nov. 25

Completion of Grocery Store to Mark Grand Opening Celebration

ORION TOWNSHIP — The new Judah Lake Shopping Mart, which will consist of a barber shop, grocery, hardware and drug stores when completed, will celebrate the opening of the grocery store unit on Nov. 25 with a grand opening.

The grocery, to be known as the "Suburban Tick Tock Market" and is an independent grocer associated with other area merchants handling the "superfine products" label.

Lyle F. Cox, who is the manager, formerly managed Lunsford's Market at Walton and Perry St. for 12 years. Mr. and Mrs. William Lunsford of 1340 Perry St., who own the market are Mrs. Cox's parents, and were owners of the above market.

Unusual features are the exterior planter boxes in front of each of the windows, and the flamingo colored bands in all of the modern refrigerator cases. A three-tiered vegetable case is one of the fixtures designed for compactness.

The barber shop, drug store, and hardware units are partitioned and will be finished to meet the requirements of the lessee.

Square Dance Scheduled

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP — Michigan Rangers Saddle Club members are sponsoring a square dance this Saturday evening in the Springfield Township Hall at Davisburg.

Frank Green of Clarkston will be the caller. The dance will start at 9 p.m., and public attendance is invited.

28 County Men Receive Professional Certificates

Twenty - eight Oakland County men have been awarded certificates of professional status by the Michigan State Board of Registration for Architects, Professional Engineers, and Land Surveyors as a result of recent examinations.

The recipients will receive their certificates from the State Board at a public presentation at a meeting of the Engineering Society of Detroit, Rackham Building on November 23rd at 8 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Of the 94 architects the following nine are local: Harold J. Begrow, William K. Cooper, Gene J. Festa and Clarence E. Noetzel, all of Birmingham; Louis F. Pacheco, Bloomfield Hills; Malcolm F. Scott, Farmington; George A. Heenan and James B. Nachtegall of Pontiac; Robert C. Smitha of Rochester.

Fifteen of the 291 professional engineers are area residents: Lynn H. Barber, Kenneth G. Check, Robert B. Cox, Robert T. Curcuru, Donald L. Erhart, Joseph J. Funston, William T. Killeen, Thomas F. Roth, Achilles C. Campietro and Noel S. Walker of Birmingham; William R. Mercer, Clarkston; Norbert J. Hornick, Fenton; Homer G. Sale, Lathrup Village; John M. Landon, Rochester and Douglas J. Harvey of Utica.

★ ★ ★

Four of the 23 land surveyors are local men: John D. Albright, Birmingham; Howard M. Kieft, Clarkston; Gerald J. Landwehr, Farmington, and Chester T. Wieczerniak of Utica.

Waterford Residents Asked to Square Dance

An invitation has been extended to Waterford Township residents interested in learning how to square dance to attend a dance at the Drayton Plains school at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Sponsored by the Crescent Lake Country Club Civic Assn., instruction will be given to beginners as well as dances played for regular dancers.

The Cash orchestra will play, and Bruce Allen will be the caller.

California experiments show that some plants can grow without other water, if they have early morning dew regularly.

Attica District to Join Lapeer

Citizens of Metamora Reject Annexation of School System

LAPEER — Three school elections concerning annexation in the Laper County area this week have resulted in the affirmative vote of two sections and the negative vote of one district.

In Attica Township, 110 persons voted yes and 96 no to the question "Shall the district annex to Lapeer?"

Lapeer itself, with two issues on the ballot, answered yes, 435; no, 298, on the questions:

★ ★ ★

"Shall the district assume the balance of bonded debt of Metamora" and "Shall the tax rate be increased by six tenths of a mill for the purpose of paying Metamora bonds?"

The above were automatically made voidw hen Metamora District No. 4 citizens voted 156 no, 56 yes, to the question, "Shall the district annex to Lapeer?"

Though Metamora maintains only an elementary school, with part of the high school students attending Lapeer and part, Dryden High, no further election on the matter can be held for at least six months.

4 Pontiac Persons Hurt as Car Rolls

Four Pontiac residents escaped serious injury Thursday as the car in which they were riding collided with another, went out of control and turned over in a field, according to Pontiac police reports.

Injured were: John Guthery, 20, of 54 Chapman St.; Helen P. Munson, 18, of 57 Chapman St.; Edna Davies, 17, of 320 Howard McNeil St.; and Rickey Morgan, 6, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Morgan, of 182 Luther St.

All four were treated for minor injuries at Pontiac General Hospital and released. The driver of the car they were in, James E. Newkirk, 25, of 169 Bondale Ave., was not hurt.

Police said the Newkirk car collided with a car driven by Annie M. Wright, 35, Detroit, while going north on Bagley at Rockwell Avenue.

CAROL JOAN HAHN

Willie Mays Buys Home After Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Giant's center fielder Willie Mays relaxed at a friend's home today after closing a hectic deal on a $37,500 San Francisco home in the exclusive Sherwood Forest neighborhood.

For a time yesterday it appeared that Mays and his wife, Marguerite, would not get the house on which they had set their hearts because some home owners in the neighborhood objected to sale of the house to a Negro baseball star.

But at day's end the owner, Walter S. Gnesdiloff, 49, announced he would sell to Mays despite neighborhood pressure, shook hands with the 27 year old baseballer and spread out the necessary papers to close the deal.

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, a prime mover in negotiating the transfer of the New York Giants baseball team to San Francisco, had expressed shock at Gnesdiloff's initial reluctance to sell to Mays.

The mayor and Mrs. Christopher invited the Mays family to move into the Christopher home until they could settle their housing problem. Mays declined with thanks.

★ ★ ★

Mays said he wasn't "mad at anybody."

"We like it here and we'd like to make our home here," he said. "I'm not looking for trouble. I always understood San Francisco was a fine city, like New York.

Anything Could Happen and It Certainly Did

RENO (AP)—It was only Wednesday the 13th, but Arthur Allen had Friday the 13th luck for the private opening of his new dining house.

Winds hit 70 miles an hour. The lights went out. The furnace died. The roof leaked. The doorman sprained his arm and Mrs. J. T. McLaughlin's $4,000 mink stole was blown from her shoulders and disappeared in the darkness.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pittsburgh Steamship Division of U. S. Steel said today that it has laid up 11 more vessels from its ore carrying fleet at winter ports.

Pinch to Tighten Into February

State Treasurer Says Borrowing for School Aid Caused Squeeze

LANSING (AP)—Legislative chickens have come home to roost.

That's the explanation of State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown, Thumb area farmer, of the growing cash pinch in the state treasury. The bind will tighten into February.

Last spring, the Legislature borrowed 24 million dollars from 1957-58 state school aid funds to replenish the school aid pot, then running dry, and break the back of pressure for more taxes.

As a result, Brown said, the treasury's cash level has dipped below 40 million dollars. This is way below any month end balance at least since 1951, he said.

Bills coming due for payment by Dec. 31 are expected to run 118 million dollars, just about even with present check writing capabilities combined with cash income expected.

With still more o fa squeeze in sight after the year's end, Brown said it looks like 26 million dollars in time deposits held by 120 banks must be liquidated soon.

The treasurer yesterday gave the banks the required 90 day notice that state deposits, which yield three per cent interest, may be withdrawn.

★ ★ ★

Unless this were done, he said, the state might not be able to pay current bills on time, impairing its credit.

Will Hole Grow, Seattle Wonders

Workers Toil Around Clock Restoring Sewer Service to Residents

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle marshaled its reconstruction forces, counted the probable costs and worried anxiously today whether a great gaping hole in the North End's Ravenna Boulevard had ceased growing.

The size of the huge opening, upon the lips of which a dozen houses crouched perilously, didn't change materially after it reached dimensions of 200 feet long, 120 feet wide and 60 feet deep. But engineers said the stoppage might not last long.

Fighting to relieve the danger and to restore something akin to normal sewer services to a heavily populated area several miles square, engineers and construction workers toiled around the clock at widely separated places.

Virtually nothing was being done at the site of the hole. The break in a great main sewer line was 85 feet beneath the bottom of the 60-foot hole and attempting to approach it directly was considered too perilous.

Probe to Quiz 'Mafia Mobster'

Squillante Under Fire on Hoodlum Control of Garbage Collections

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vincent (Jimmy) Squillante, alleged Mafia mobster, goes before the Senate Rackets Committee today for quizzing about hoodlum control of New York garbage collections.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said Squillante grabbed control of the 50 million dollar a year business "for his own personal profit and that of his associates, a number of them prominent hoodlums."

Testimony during the last three days has brought in names of dozens of underworld figures, topped by Albert Anastasia, slain executioner for Murder, Inc.

Squillante was to be questioned also about the testimony that private garbage collectors who sought to break free from his control were penalized with the help of Teamsters Local 813 in New York.

★ ★ ★

Squillante's brother Nunzio invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to reply when the committee asked yesterday whether he was "simply a racketeer" who used Teamsters Union pickets to force Long Island business firms to employ his nonunion trash hauling service.

Both Squillantes had been named in prior testimony as members of the Mafia, a secret society of criminals.

Pontiac Hospitals Today Restore Hours for Visits

Due to the slackening off of the Asian flu epidemic, both Pontiac General and St. Joseph Mercy Hospitals have today restored normal visiting hours.

They had been limited upon the advice of public health officials, who feared the spread of the disease.

Regular hours on all floors at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital will be 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. for private rooms.

In Suburban Areas

Fire Hits Home, Factory

ROMEO — Fire caused several hundred dollars worth of damage last night to the Ward B. Jones residence, 261 West St. Clair St. here.

Romeo firemen were summoned when grease being heated on the stove blazed up, setting fire to cupboards above. Smoke filled the newly-redecorated house but damage was limited primarily to the kitchen.

Marlette

The cause of a $20,000 fire in Plant No. 2 Guerdon Industries here Wednesday morning is still undetermined. The firm, manufacturer of house trailers, reported damage in the paint and varnish divisions and adjoining stock departments.

Marlette Volunteer Fire Department was aided by firemen from Brown City, Kingston, Peck, Moore Township, Clifford and Sandusky.

WE WISH TO EXPRESS OUR sincere appreciation and thanks to our many friends and relatives. Also to the Melvin Schutt Funeral Home for the kindness and help during the loss of our beloved one. The Peter Rizzuto Family.

In Memoriam 2

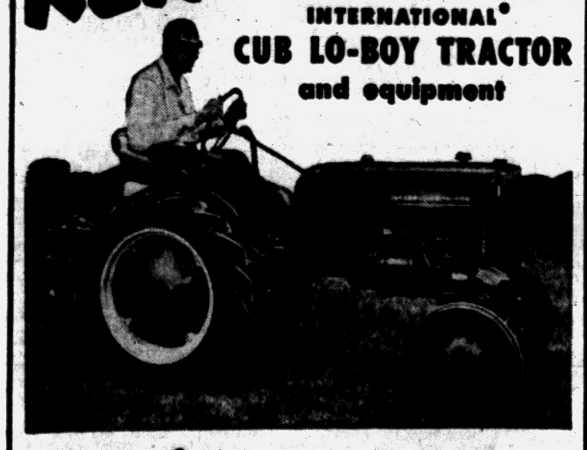

IN BELOVED MEMORY OF MY MOTHER, ANNETTA H. ARTONA, WHO DIED NOVEMBER 15, 1949. JANICE.

IN MEMORY OF EDWARD M. Dixon who passed away 3 years ago Nov. 13, 1954.
Days of sadness still come over me,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near me,
Though you died 3 years ago.
Wife and Daughter

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. Carrie A. Reed, who passed away Nov. 15, 1950.
In my heart your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true;
There's not a day, dear mother,
I do not think of you.
Sadly missed by Ferne, Dorothy, Robert, Russell & Gloria.

Overlooking Watkins Lake

We are offering this beautiful, two bedroom bungalow for sale. It really should be seen to be appreciated with:

The kitchen must have been designed by a woman herself. The glassed-in back porch is part of the home itself and offers many leisure hours overlooking the that this home is situated on. A two car garage blends in nicely with the house and landscaping. Naturally it has a full basement.

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Joan Collins has spoken out caustically against TV — but since she'd recently beautified the Ed Sullivan show, I asked her if she's now become addicted to the great American soporific.

WILSON

"Oh, I never watch that horrible thing!" replied the flashing-eyed British brunette.

"I suppose it's great for old people who can't go out, and for kids," Joan conceded. "But I'd sooner play cards or do anything than look at that horrible screen!"

"What don't you like about it?" I inquired —and ducked.

"Because some horrible people are always selling soap products or something," she practically snapped. "I'm not fooled by all this jaz about filter tips and deodorants that last three years and magic creams that make wrinkles disappear overnight. Let's face it, they don't!"

★ ★ ★

"That's probably your British antagonism to commercials," I suggested.

"Oh, no," Joan corrected. "It's a form of stubbornness. If somebody tells me many times to do a certain thing, I don't do it! I may start a big campaign never to buy anything I see on TV."

"Many of our leading American actresses would like to do commercials," I said. "I guess you wouldn't."

"Oh, NO! I'd feel a complete hypocrite. Frank Sinatra does his with almost a sneer. He doesn't look so enthusiastic as some of the others—which is refreshing. "It's all overselling," Miss Collins growled on. "It's like movies that have been oversold. Everything is fabulous and spectacular—and the public doesn't believe it and doesn't go. It's terribly sad."

DOROTHY GREEN

Wife and Mom Acts for Hobby

Dorothy Green Noted for Her Ability to Play All Kinds of Roles

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Now that you may have seen Jimmy Cagney as yesterday's Lon Chaney in "The Man of a Thousand Faces," I'd like you to meet an attractive, classic-faced redhead who is Hollywood's TV girl of 150 characters.

★ ★ ★

That's not all, though. She's also a gal with two lives. In a fashionable Los Angeles suburb she's Mrs. Sidney Green, wife for 16 years of a Hollywood dentist, and mother of three children—two teenagers, 14 and 13, and a 10-year-old.

In the land of movie and TV filming she's Dorothy Green, who didn't become an actress until five years ago and only because "I get carried away with everything I do. I took up acting as a hobby and I liked it so I just stuck my tongue in my cheek and announced to my family, 'Let's see what happens!'"

What happened, and is happening, was rather fabulous even for Hollywood, but to Dorothy it's still a "hobby that doesn't get in the way of anything at home."

★ ★ ★

The glamor mama has appeared in the movies like "The Big Heat," "The Helen Morgan Story," "No Time to Be Young" and she has just completed a part with John Saxon and Teresa Wright in "The Wonderful Years."

WINS TITLE IN TV

It was in television that Dorothy, born in Los Angeles won her "She can play anything" title. And believe me, in five years she's played everything except maybe a potted palm.

If you're a movie fan you've seen her playing everything from a B girl in "The Big Heat" to a society doll in "The Helen Morgan Story." Her other roles in 150 telefilms and live shows include:

Custer's widow, a gun moll, a murderess, an attorney, a dean of women, a drunk, an English professor, a newspaper columnist, a policewoman, a confidence gal, a shady lady, a Spanish marquise, a kept woman, a Latin-American mistress, a hard-boiled chorus girl, Jack Benny's secretary, the girl who read some of the commercials on Ed Wynn's first TV program, and half a dozen versions of "the other woman."

Before being "carried away" by her acting hobby, Dorothy was was carried away by golf, clothes designing, aid to underprivileged children, and Sunday School teaching. "But it was all because of energy," she says, and "not boredom at home."

A NORMAL LIFE

She says she's living a normal life with her family "because I don't stray from home. I never accept out-of-town location trips. I don't work steadily, either. Just one or two at a time. And in the summer I stop working and vacation with my family."

★ ★ ★

What about Dr. Green, who found himself married to an actress on their 11th wedding anniversary? Dorothy says he doesn't mind at all. Not even when somebody like Dick Powell takes Dorothy in his arms for a big clinch on a Four Star Playhouse show. "Sidney," Dorothy tells it, "has a wonderful dry sense of humor and he knows I love him."

There was the time she was loving it up on the screen with a famous movie idol who could drop dead as far as most husbands are concerned. In the middle of Dorothy's biggest love scene with the gent, Dr. Green announced he was curious.

"Tell me, Dorothy," he asked, "what does that fellow look like without his toupee?"

The Green sprouts? They weren't a bit impressed with mama-becomes-an-actress until she popped up one night in a Wyatt Earp show. Now, believe you me, they are really impressed.

But Project's Boss Cautious

Army May Be Set to Fire Earth Satellite in January

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army, already speeding work on earth satellites, may be ready to launch its space travelers by January.

But the boss of the program—Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency—was cautious in outlining progress last night in a meeting with newsmen.

He said considerable revamping of Jupiter-C weapon research rocket is needed to adapt it for satellite launching.

Medaris said too he thought it unwise to announce schedules in advance. He commented that "we learned from the Russians" about the wisdom of saying nothing until there was certainty. But he said he thought there was "about a 90 per cent degree of probability" for success on the Army's first try.

He noted that President Eisenhower had set March for launching of Navy's first fully instrumented satellite, with test firings of small spheres scheduled in December.

The Army's cylindrical satellites, said Medaris, will be outfitted fully with instruments and will weigh about the same as the Navy's 20-pound spheres.

Until last week, the Navy-supervised Project Vanguard was the sole American satellite launching program. After Russia fired aloft two space satellites Secretary of Defense McElroy ordered the Army to begin preparing for launching satellites.

Medaris said the Army has between three and nine Jupiter-C test vehicles available at Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville, Ala. But he stressed it is not simply a matter of dusting them off and mounting the satellite noses.

The Jupiter-C, used as a research device in connection with ballistic missile development, has three rocket engines in it. To be used as a satellite launcher, the vehicle must have four or more propulsion units, Medaris said.

East Germany Admits Running Short of People

BERLIN (AP)—Communist East Germany admits it is running short of people.

The sustained flight of refugees westward is upsetting the economy. A low birth rate, the impact of World War II casualties and an aging population make the future look even grimmer.

Western officials fear the Stalinist regime may take drastic action to plug the West Berlin loophole most refugees use to escape.

In 1956 East Germany suffered a net loss of 228,654 persons, official statistics show. The population of 17½ million is being whittled steadily by a refugee exodus averaging around 5,000 weekly this year. More than two million persons have gone to West Germany since 1946.

Escape from the East is relreaches East Berlin. He can take a 5-cent subway ride over to West Berlin and wait for a free airplane ride to West Germany.

1,000 Attended Dinner Paying $250 Per Plate

CHICAGO (AP)—More than 1,000 persons paid $250 a plate at the eighth annual fund-raising dinner of Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, last night.

The $270,000 proceeds were earmarked to meet deficits of the Stritch School of Medicine at Loyola University and to support Lewis Memorial Maternity Hospital.

Predicts Supervisor of Aid Programs

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today the Eisenhower administration is preparing to put C. Douglas Dillon, deputy undersecretary of state for economic affairs, in over-all charge of foreign aid programs.

★ ★ ★

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper added that President Eisenhower is expected to issue soon an executive order that will give Dillon supervisory authority over programs now administered by several agencies.

★ ★ ★

Dillon, an investment banker, has been chairman of Dillon Read & Co., New York City. He has been interested in politics and foreign affairs for a long time. He was ambassador to France from 1953 until last January.

Western Union Employe Sends SOS While Tied

NEW YORK (AP)—A Western Union employe, bound and robbed in his Bronx office last night, managed to get to a telephone and Teletype machine to message his plight.

★ ★ ★

William Spilka said he was alone when two gunmen entered and forced him to open a safe which contained $64. After also taking $5 from Spilka, they ordered him to a rear room and pinioned his arms to a chair with twine.

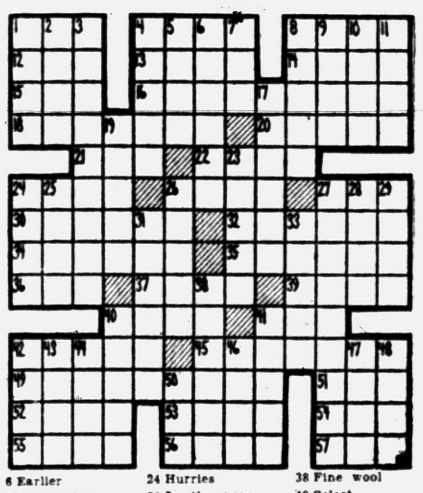

★ ★ ★

After the robbers left, Spilka managed to carry the chair with him to the front office. With one free finger he got the telephone receiver off the cradle and dialed the operator to notify police. Then he used his free finger to tap out a message to his downtown office: "Just been held up. Call police."

Civil Rights Group to Start Next Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The newly named Civil Rights Commission will get to work early next month. Its first problems are finding a staff director and a headquarters.

★ ★ ★

Stanley F. Reed, retired Supreme Court justice named to head the commission, conferred yesterday with President Eisenhower. Later, he told newsmen that Eisenhower had pledged the resources of the White House to help the commission. He did not elaborate.

★ ★ ★

He said he considers the six-man bipartisan commission's job to be "one of conciliation and good judgment."

★ ★ ★

The commission was authorized under a new civil rights law enacted last summer. It was given power to investigate allegations of denial of voting rights because of race, religion or national origin. It will also study federal laws and policies bearing on "equal protection of the laws."

★ ★ ★

Reed joined in the Supreme Court's unanimous ruling in 1954 that racial segregation in public schools is unconstitutional. He retired early this year.

★ ★ ★

Reed said he plans to convene the commission for its first meeting early in December. He said one of its first tasks will be to pick a full-time staff director. The job is to be filled by presidential appointment, subject to Senate confirmation. It will pay $22,500 a year.

ONLY A MEMORY—A scene familiar to most deer hunters in past years was the huge traffic jam at Mackinaw City, where hunters crossed the Straits by ferry boat. As can be seen here, masses of autos were piled up, often for many hours. Today with deer season opening, the thousands of hunters heading north can look forward to much easier going, with the new Mackinac Straits Bridge waiting to serve them.

Conductor Frets Getting Indians for His Concert

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Guy Fraser Harrison, conductor of the Oklahoma City Symphony, had a problem that no other baton-waver has had to face.

In this state that has more Indians than any other, he couldn't find a redman who could dance in full regalia to the stately strains of an Indian dance played by a full symphony orchestra.

Harrison's problem began more than a year ago when he commissioned Oklahoma-born composer Jack Frederick Kilpatrick to write a major work to be performed at the semicentennial concert of the symphony next Sunday to celebrate musically the 50th anniversary of Oklahoma statehood.

★ ★ ★

Kilpatrick wrote the work "Oklahoma Symphony" in three movements. The second movement, called "Indian Land," included a short, authentic Indian dance.

★ ★ ★

Kilpatrick's Symphony No. 8, "Oklahoma" is the first work of its kind using a state's name in the title. Will Rogers Jr., son of the late humorist, will narrate the three movements.

Harrison sent out calls for an Indian who could handle a symphonic tom tom but to no avail. Finally, right in his home grounds here he found someone to fill the spot—but he wasn't an Indian.

★ ★ ★

It was Jim Bodine, a University of Oklahoma graduate who has made a study of Indian dancing. Bodine became interested while visiting in Taos, N. M., with his parents while a child and has been dancing regularly at Indian pow wows since he was 16.

On Disarmament Commission

More Shuffling in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Russia's threat to reject a Western compromise plan enlarging the U.N. Disarmament Commission touched off moves today to add more nations acceptable to the Reds.

Hopeful of appeasing the Soviets before the General Assembly takes up the commission's composition this afternoon, India headed a drive to add Red Poland and pro-Soviet Egypt to the 10 nations already proposed.

The 21 Latin-American nations, irked because they were not consulted on the choice from their area, decided to put in their own amendment asking to tack Mexico onto the list.

The frantic activity came in the wake of the Assembly's call for new talks to break the arms deadlock. So far it was an empty gesture because of Russia's announced refusal to sit with the 12-nation commission or five-nation subcommittee since their memberships unanimously oppose her.

★ ★ ★

The Assembly voted 56-9 yesterday for a Western resolution asking for new negotiations in the subcommittee. Only the Soviet bloc opposed the plan, which endorsed the Western arms proposal Russia already has rejected.
