State DST Switch Is Delayed for Now

LANSING (AP) — A determined lady lawyer today blocked any immediate time change for Michigan. Mrs. Zoe Burkholz of Benton Harbor, a member of the State Board of Canvassers, insisted she did not want to act immediately to rule on the legalities of petitions seeking an election to put Michigan on Daylight Saving Time.

LANSING (AP) — State Elections Director George Montgomery today alerted Gov. Romney and other top state officials that Michigan may go on Eastern Daylight Time as of midnight tonight.

Michigan will have to set its clocks one hour ahead if the State Board of Canvassers certifies petitions filed to submit the time issue to a vote of the people in the November election.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled acceptance of the petitions by the canvassers would automatically place the state on daylight time.

Kelley cited a constitutional provision that certification by the canvassers is self-executing and gives immediate effect to the time change.

Kelley had suggested midnight as the best hour for the change since it would be least likely to cause confusion.

The State Supreme Court, meanwhile, refused a request by an anti-daylight time group that it order the canvassers to hold up their action until a court battle over the issue is decided.

Robert Montgomery, state elections director, said the number of signatures on the petitions was well over the minimum required to put the issue on the ballot.

Montgomery said a spot check by his office showed at least 125,770 valid signatures.

HAPPY MOMENT — Pontiac Motor Division General Manager John Z. DeLorean is all smiles as he admires the 50,000th Firebird which came off the assembly line yesterday at GM's new Lordstown, Ohio, plant, only 10 weeks after the car was introduced. In April, the Firebird outsold Mercury's Cougar to take over third place in the sports car sales race, just behind Mustang and Camero.

Shelby Suing to Halt Building of Water Lines

Suit was filed yesterday in Macomb County Circuit Court in an effort to stop construction of Detroit water system lines through Shelby Township until certain requirements have been met.

Supervisor Kirby Holmes said the suit, filed by Township Attorney Roy Rogensues, followed several attempts to meet with Gerald Remus of the Detroit water system, all of which failed.

"They have installed only one tap — that at 24 Mile Road — and it will do us no good there," said Holmes.

"Further we did not agree to the change in contract," he said.

Holmes said the suit also asks for alleviation of a condition brought about by construction of the mains in the southwest portion of the township.

"Between Dequindre and Hamlin there are residents who have lost their well water or had the water table seriously lowered by the depth of the ditch Detroit is digging," Holmes alleged.

"We further understand that they (Detroit) intend to deepen the ditch by another 14 feet," he said.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Judge Edward J. Gallagher is expected to rule shortly on the plea for injunction.

"Detroit has only a mile left to construct in the township," said Holmes, "and we must move quickly."

The decision to pursue a legal course was arrived at by the Township Board meeting in executive session following its meeting last week, Holmes reported.

Pontiac's UF Board Reelects Its Officers

Pontiac Area United Fund Board of Trustees reelected Bruce J. Annett as president for a second term at yesterday's annual board meeting at the Community Services Building, 132 Franklin Blvd.

Other officers reelected for 1967-68 were Thomas Wiethorn, manager of the Fisher Body plant, vice president; and Milo J. Cross, chairman of the Pontiac State Bank Board of Directors, secretary-treasurer.

Jack Douglas, president of the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council was elected to fill the unexpired term left vacant by the death of Fred Haggard, former president of the labor council, last June. Douglas' term expires in 1968.

The 21-member board annually provides for the election of one-third of its membership for a three-year term on a rotating basis.

★ ★ ★

Reelected were Robert Eldred, executive vice president of Community National Bank; Glen Griffin, owner of Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home; Leonard T. Lewis, president of Lewis Furniture Co., Ted Pearson, secretary and industrial relations manager of Universal Oil Seal Co.; Wiethorn; and Goodloe Rogers, a Pontiac attorney. Their terms expire in 1970.

NEW DIRECTOR

A new director, Mrs. R. J. VanWagoner of 312 S. Broadway, Orion Township, was also elected.

The 1967-68 executive committee will be comprised of, Annett as chairman, Wiethorn, Cross, Lewis, Griffin and William H. Hartman, a Pontiac attorney and PAUF board member.

Annett, president of Annett Inc., Realtors, joined the PAUF board in 1965. He was elected vice president of the board that same year and president the following year. He was general campaign chairman in 1964.

Johnson Links '68 Fate to Viet, Great Society

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conceding the going is tough, President Johnson has laid his 1968 reelection chances on the line of Great Society accomplishments and the fight against "naked aggression" in Vietnam.

The President left little doubt he expects to be the party's nominee next year when he told a glittering Democratic dinner, at which about 3,000 persons paid $250 a plate, last night:

"If the Democratic party continues to serve by giving the greatest good to the greatest number, in the year 1968, as we come around the turn, we'll come home for the victory the people deserve."

Johnson told the cheering Democrats he believes the party's success depends on how voters react to efforts to shore up economy security of the elderly, curb crime, counter air pollution and secure rights for all citizens.

"That will demand of us at home and abroad the will, yes, the character, to persevere when the going gets tough," he said.

★ ★ ★

"It will take character to stand for freedom against naked aggression, and when some say it is none of our business to resist it."

CRITICS ELSEWHERE

This challenge found two of the President's chief war policy critics — Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark. — busy elsewhere.

Kennedy was on his way to California. Fulbright, an object of caustic presidential remarks at a similar dinner last year, entered Walter Reed Army Hospital Monday for treatment of bronchitis.

Generals Approve Cutting National Guard, Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — A committee of regular Army, National Guard and Reserve generals has secretly voted 11 to 10 for a controversial plan to drop 15 National Guard divisions and four Reserve brigades, it was learned today.

Narrow as it was, the vote is regarded as a boost for the plan, which is believed to have at least the general blessing of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The proposal — latest step in a year-long Pentagon drive to streamline the Reserve forces — is expected to encounter stiff opposition from powerful members of Congress.

The 21-member Reserve Forces Policy Committee voted last week. The regular Army, the Guard and the Reserves have seven representatives each on the panel.

Pentagon officials have classified details as secret. The Army said details include information on force structure, manning and equipment levels, and mobilization and contingency planning which could assist a potential enemy.

It is known that the effect of the latest reorganization proposal would be to place virtually all the combat units of the Army backup forces in the National Guard, and service support outfits in the Reserve.

Area Man Tells of Killing Wife

A woman's body believed to be that of Mrs. Dennis O'Dell has been found in Monroe County, according to the sheriff's department there.

Oakland County law enforcement officials were in the vicinity of Sylvania, Ohio, this morning looking for the body of a young woman, allegedly murdered by an Oxford area man.

Dennis O'Dell, 20, who gave his address as 2705 Dryden, Metamora Township, turned himself in at the Oxford police station early this morning as the alleged killer of his estranged wife, according to police.

He reportedly told an uncle, Oxford Police Sgt. Ray Westphal, that the body could be found on a path near the small town on the Michigan-Ohio state line.

O'Dell turned in a 22-caliber revolver and a woman's purse which he said belonged to his dead wife. Sheriff's deputies said six shell casings were in the gun.

Taken by Westphal to the Oakland County Jail, O'Dell was booked at 6:54 a.m. for investigation of murder.

O'Dell, Westphal, Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons, and Sgt. Harry Mauer left later for Ohio to search for the body.

Man Held After 3 Slain, 2 Shot in Tennessee

LAWRENCEBURG, Tenn. (UPI) — A 38-year-old man stabbed and shot his two sons to death today, critically wounded his aging parents and then ran out of his farm home and killed his neighbor, police said.

★ ★ ★

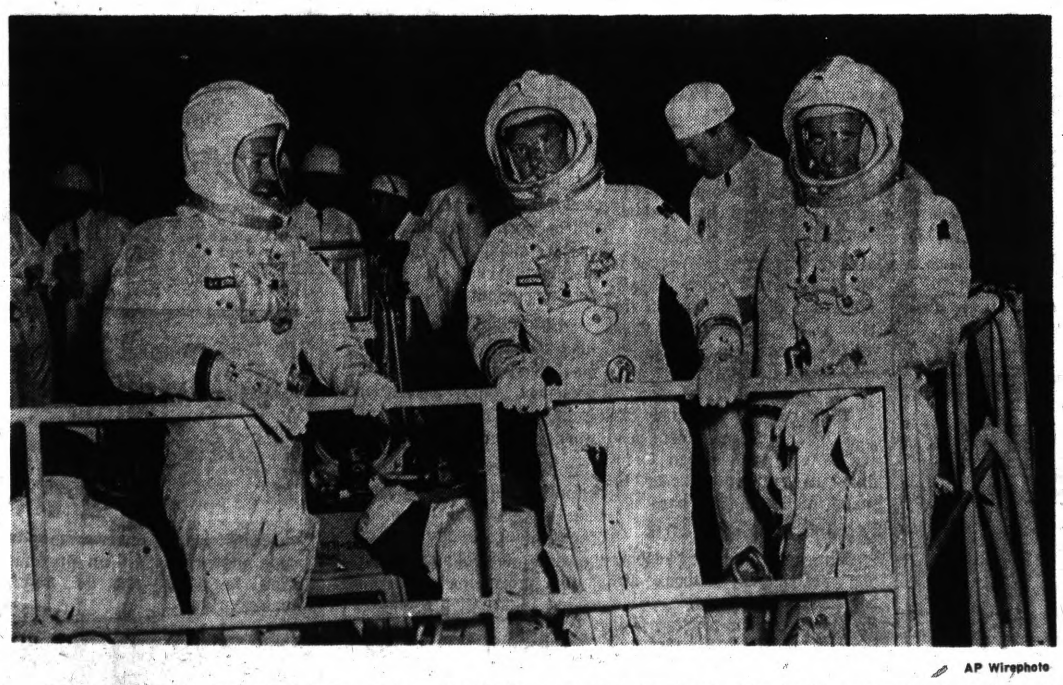

Authorities said the man, Roland Johnson, was taken into custody after his wife escaped their bloody home and called police.

Officers said the bodies of Johnny Wayne, 4, and Terry Ray, 2, were found inside Johnson's home at the little community of Center near this west Tennessee town.

There also they found the suspect's parents, Mannuel Johnson, 82, and his 79-year-old wife, Vivian. Their injuries were not reported but they were listed in critical condition.

Three miles down the road from the death house, authorities found the body of a neighbor, Henry Shepherd, 51.

No other details were immediately available.

U.S., Red Ships Scrape Together

From the Pentagon statement it appeared that the Soviet ship was harassing the American vessel.

The Pentagon said the collision, a minor one, occurred when the Soviet destroyer attempted to overtake and pass the U. S. destroyer.

For an hour and a half before the accident, the Pentagon said, "the Soviet destroyer had been operating in close proximity" and was repeatedly warned "to avoid such dangerous maneuvers."

Showers Expected in Area Late Tonight

The weatherman says a few showers may be expected to dampen the Pontiac area late tonight with temperatures warmer. The low will be 42 to 48.

Showers, thundershowers and warmer, the high climbing into the upper 60s, is tomorrow's forecast.

A chilly 32 was the low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. today. The mercury moved to 55 by 2 p.m.

Son of Ex-Premier in Greece Charged With Treason Plot

ATHENS (AP) — Andreas Papandreou was charged today with conspiring to commit high treason in the alleged Aspida plot to overthrow the Greek monarchy and make Greece a neutral Socialist state.

The charge was filed by the Athen investigating magistrate, Socrates Socratidis, after he questioned the 47-year-old son of ex-Premier George Papandreou at the hotel outside Athens where he had been confined since the military coup April 21.

★ ★ ★

The younger Papandreou is accused of being a leader of the Aspida — Shield — secret organization of leftist army officers. Fifteen army officers were convicted of treason in March in the case and sentenced to prison terms ranging from two to 18 years, but Andreas as a member of parliament was protected by parliamentary immunity.

His immunity was canceled by the coup.

DEATH PENALTY

The maximum penalty on the treason charge is death. U.S. officials reportedly have sought assurance from the new military regime that Andreas, who gave up acquired American citizenship to enter Greek politics in 1961, would not be executed if convicted.

Asked Tuesday night what Papandreou's fate might be if he was convicted, Brig. Stylianos Patakos, the interior minister, said he was in no position to comment.

In Paris Gen. Gregory Spantidakis, the deputy premier and defense minister, said "we are not a government of executioners" when asked about Andreas.

Patakes told newsmen Tuesday night that the elder Papandreou, who is 79, would be released today from the army hospital where he has been held under guard.

Press Names Aide to Head of Circulation

LONG

Press Publisher Howard H. Fitzgerald II made the announcement today.

Long joined The Press in 1959 and was a district manager until his promotion to circulation promotion manager in January 1966. He is married and the father of two children.

Albert E. Falkner of 17 Spokane Villa, current assistant circulation manager, will take up duties directing purchasing and warehousing for The Press.

He joined The Press in 1942 and has been superintendent of the mailing room for 20 years.

Crime-Fighting Plan Gets OK

The Pontiac Police Department was given formal authorization by the City Commission last night to initiate a crime-fighting program among citizens in the community.

Known as Citizens Helping to Eliminate Crime (CHEC), the project is patterned after similar efforts in Flint and other Michigan cities which have reportedly experienced significant success with it.

CHEC solicits help from citizens — known as "Chec-Mates" — in reporting instances of crime or suspicious circumstances. Chec-mates are formally designated by an identification card.

Capt. Donny Ashley, coordinating CHEC for the police department, has contacted various civic and social organizations in Pontiac in an attempt to gain support for the program.

Ashley said about half of $900 needed for printing and organizational expenses has already been raised from citizens and groups.

'Accused Slayer Known to Have Killer Tendency'

DETROIT (AP) — The accused slayer of two Detroit boys was known 18 years ago to have homicidal tendencies, Dr. Aloysius S. Church, acting chief of Recorder's Court Psychiatric Clinic said Tuesday.

The superintendent of Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane had said earlier that Ralph B. Crawford, 41, was paroled from the hospital because he "did not demonstrate any tendencies."

Crawford had been committed to the hospital as a criminal sexual psychopath.

Crawford's release from the hospital has led to demands in the State Legislature that courts rather than hospital officials decide whether sex offenders should be paroled.

APPEALS CASE — Air Force Capt. Dale Noyd pauses to confer with his attorney before entering court in Denver yesterday. Noyd was in Denver for a U.S. Circuit Court hearing on his appeal of a U.S. District Court dismissal of his suit. He is suing to prevent his assignment to Cannon Air Force Base in New Mexico and possible action in the Vietnam war, to which he says he is conscientiously opposed.

Scholarships for Newsmen

The Inter American Press Association Scholarship Fund announced today that it will award at least five scholarships next October to North American newspapermen and journalism graduates or students for a year of study in Latin America.

The president of the fund, Harold A. Fitzgerald of The Pontiac Press, said that the deadline for the reception of applications will be Sept. 1.

The Scholarship Awards Committee will consider the applications in September and the awards will be made at the meeting in Puerto Rico, Oct. 16.

Requests for information and application forms may be addressed to Carlos A. Jimenez, Secretary, IAPA Scholarship Fund, 667 Madison Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10021. Applicants should have a working knowledge of Spanish or, if they plan to study in Brazil, Portuguese.

Preference will be given those with some experience as working newspapermen.

Since the start of its program in 1955, the fund has awarded 125 scholarships to students and journalists from practically all the countries in the Americas, including 51 to North Americans.

Kenny Award to City Doctor; Girl Honored

The Kenny award for outstanding service to the Kenny-Michigan Rehabilitation Foundation was presented last night to the medical director of the Kenny Rehabilitation Center at Pontiac General Hospital.

Dr. Nicholas Cherup of Warren accepted the award at the foundation's 20th anniversary dinner meeting in Detroit.

Dr. Cherup was cited for his contribution to plans for an expanded rehabilitation center following completion of an addition to the hospital.

"On his own time, he has visited rehabilitation centers over the world to study and compare their operations," commented Kenny Board Chairman Richard S. Daley.

Denise McDonald of Madison Heights, 1967 Kenny Girl, who has been treated and provided with braces at the Kenny Clinic since 1964, was also honored.

Now a second grader, Denise was the victim of a birth defect and unable to walk. Doctors hope that she'll eventually walk without braces.

Dr. Joseph G. Molner, author of a nationally syndicated health column, spoke about Sister Elizabeth Kenny, the late founder of the organization which bears her name.

4th Candidate in School Race

A fourth candidate for two seats on the Pontiac Board of Education filed a petition yesterday to run in the June 12 election.

ROGERS

Joining the race among two incumbents and a painting contractor was Ronald A. Rogers, 33, supervisor of business enterprises for the State Department of Social Services in Lansing.

Rogers, 2159 St. Joseph, West Bloomfield Township, is married and four of his six children attend Whitfield Elementary School.

A graduate of Pontiac Central High and University of Detroit, he is formerly a factory worker in Pontiac, an Oakland County social worker and director of Tuscola County Department of Social Services in Caro.

Rogers is active in the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce where he is on the local board of directors and is 1967 state chairman of the track and field committee.

A year ago he was one of four candidates to seek the office of president of the Michigan Jaycees.

Water Main Bonds Approved

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The State Municipal Finance Commission announced today that $175,000 in special assessment bonds for water mains in the township had been approved.

The mains are to be constructed in four subdivisions, Lone Pine Crest, Glencoe Estates, Northover Farms and Stillmeadow.

The Township Board has ordered a proposed dog ordinance to be written and submitted for approval.

The board received advice on the ordinance from the Michigan Humane Society. Frank Andrews of Detroit, state executive secretary of the group, offered a plan acceptable to the society in use in other communities.

★ ★ ★

Andrews also announced a Humane Society facility to serve the area may be placed in West Bloomfield Township.

PLATS APPROVED

The board approved plats for two new subdivisions, Vachon at Wing Lake and Maple (57 lots) and Ravenwicke near Long Lake and Telegraph (four lots).

The board denied approval of a liquor license for a proposed restaurant at Bataan and Telegraph.

Water main construction for three subdivisions at Frank and Long Lake were approved at an estimated cost of $28,500. Thirty sites are to be assessed at $950 each.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Bloomfield Hills Country Club will be host to the annual spring luncheon meeting of the Detroit Unit of Crittenton Hospital Auxiliary tomorrow.

A new slate of officers will be introduced.

BIRMINGHAM — The Groves High School Band was rated a "first division" unit at the recent State Band and Orchestra Festival.

This marks the third year in a row the group, conducted by Burton Bronson, has been awarded the rating.

Machines Valued at $1,700 Taken From City School

Business machines valued at some $1,700 were stolen from offices at Pontiac Northern High School, 1051 Arlene, it was reported yesterday.

Taken were adding machines and calculators. Officers said entry was made by breaking through a classroom window.

Pontiac Twp. Woman Critically Hurt in Blaze

A 34-year-old Pontiac Township woman was critically injured yesterday when fire struck her home shortly after 1 p.m.

Mrs. Wanda Perdue of 311 Oakmont received burns over 70 per cent of her body, according to officials at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital where she is a patient.

Chief Carl Schingeck of the Pontiac Township Volunteer Fire Department said Mrs. Perdue was found lying on a floor near the front door of the one-story frame home. He said she was unconscious and "barely breathing."

Firemen said the victim may have fallen asleep on a couch while smoking. The fire, which caused an estimated $500 damage to the home and $1,200 to the contents, was confined to the living room, according to Schingeck.

No one else was at home when the fire occurred. Mrs. Perdue's husband, Clyde, is employed at GMC Truck and Coach Division.

Forslund said he attempted to open a door, but was driven back by the heat.

City Takes First Step Toward Data System

A first step toward modernizing Pontiac's municipal accounting and records system was taken last night with City Commission authorization of $14,000 for hiring of outside consultants and assistance.

★ ★ ★

Approval of the expenditure — to go to the accounting firm of Haskins and Sells — marks the beginning of what Director of Finance Edward R. Gallagher hopes will be a conversion to data processing.

Related Stories, Pages A-4, F-9

Up to $4,000 will be spent, Gallagher said, on the projected first phase of a program advanced by Haskins and Sells.

"The first thing we've got to do is get from every department and division head in the city some answers on what kinds of business information they need.

★ ★ ★

"Right now, it's extremely difficult for city management people to get reliable and up-to-date information needed to make intelligent decisions.

OUT OF DATE

"Many of our record-keeping and accounting methods are hopelessly out of date — the first phase of this program will tell us where work is needed."

The second, and more expensive phase, Gallagher said, will be the work of gathering and cataloging information and making it available in systematic form to city officials.

"It's a little difficult right now to say exactly what this will mean," he said. "Hopefully, it will mean that a department head or employe can press a button or process a punch card and get the same information in minutes that it now takes several hours and sometimes several people to obtain."

Commitment of the city to establishing data processing as well as a management information system goes beyond the $14,000 authorized last night for outside consultation.

FULL-TIME WORK

A data-processing expert recently hired at $12,375 a year will be working full-time on the project, along with other cost accountants and a top-level steering committee.

With Gallagher on the three-man steering group are Nicholas Santiwan, director of personnel, and Joseph E. Neipling, director of public works and service.

Santiwan, chairman of the committee, indicated much of their work will be in the area of explaining to city employes the aims and potential benefits of data processing and a modernized information system.

★ ★ ★

"This program isn't going to take anybody's job," he said. "What it can do is make each employe more effective and result in a higher level of services to Pontiac residents."

Dixie Educators to Fight Bias

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Office of Education will use Southern educators in a new attack this summer on the more than 1,650 Southern school districts that have lagged in meeting federal desegregation guidelines.

Plans are to hire about 35 Southern school administrators and officials for the Office of Education's annual summer compliance drive.

The new program marks a shift in tactics. Last summer about 100 law students, most of them from the North, were hired to work with and investigate Southern school districts having trouble complying with 1964 desegregation order.

"We're looking for Southern educators who have had some experience with desegregation," David E. Seeley, assistant education commissioner for equal education opportunity, said in an interview. "We're looking for Southerners who know how to do it and do it right."

LETTERS SENT OUT

The idea originated with Harold Howe II, U.S. commissioner of education, who sent out letters earlier this year to state and local school officials in 17 Southern and border states.

Howe requested the officials to recommend likely candidates for the summer compliance drive and offered to pay between $750 and $1,250 per month to the right men.

Despite the relatively high pay, Seeley said only about 20 candidates have been tentatively accepted, although he hopes the program will enlist 35 men.

"It's a problem," he said, "how to get people interested. One of the major problems is the general lack of responsibility among education professionals" in the South.

'LACK RESPONSIBILITY'

"By and large," Seeley said, "the education profession has not assumed its responsibilities" regarding desegregation compliance.

The educators will work with 65 part-time students this summer and visit districts throughout the South.

Last summer's law student brigade ran into considerable criticism throughout the South.

Statistics indicate that as of this year 12.5 per cent of Negro children are attending desegregated schools in 11 Southern states.

Bandits Kidnap Bank Messenger

DEARBORN (AP) — Three bandits, one armed with a sawed-off shotgun, kidnaped a Bank of Dearborn messenger Tuesday and escaped with $65,000 worth of Series "E" U. S. Savings Bonds.

The messenger, Robert Hoover, 45, told police the bandits came up to him while he was loading his truck in front of a bank branch. He said two of the men forced him into a car while a third drove off with the truck. The car met up with the truck and the bandits transferred the contents to their car. Hoover was released unharmed.

2 Legislators Eye Sex Criminal Parole

LANSING (UPI) — Two state lawmakers have proposed a plan to allow the courts to determine whether convicted criminal sexual psychopaths should be paroled.

Sens. Robert Richardson, Saginaw, and James Fleming, Jackson, both Republicans, said yesterday they were making the proposal because of recent slayings in which convicted criminal sexual psychopaths have been charged.

They cited the cases of two Detroit boys who were slain over the weekend and the recent slaying of a Grand Ledge girl in which Donald O'Brian, an escapee from Ionia, was charged.

The legislators said the present practice of allowing state hospital officials to determine whether a person should be paroled appeared to be a matter of "questionable administration."

The Legislature last year removed from the courts the power to determine if a criminal sexual psychopath should be discharged from a state hospital and gave the right to the medical superintendent of a hospital.

Both legislators said there appears to be a "crystal-clear need for closer and more stringent supervision in the release and custody of such inmates.

"Our laws, instead of strengthening the ability of the courts to deal with the criminal sexual psychopath and determine his ability to be released into society, have been weakened and left to the whim of the medical superintendent of the hospital to determine that issue without stringent guidelines and standards as would be exercised by the courts," the lawmakers said.

State OK on 2 Street-Closings to Be Sought

City commissioners voted unanimously last night to request State Highway Department approval of proposed closings of two Pontiac streets.

Joseph E. Neipling, director of public works and service, name the streets: Ivy at its intersection with Joslyn and South Paddock at South Saginaw.

Both intersections, Neipling noted, are part of larger crossings and have been the sites of frequent traffic accidents in recent years.

Ivy, he said, has borne an increasing amount of plant traffic from Pontiac Motor division at midafternoon shift breaks, principally from motorists attempting to avoid tie-ups on Joslyn.

WORST CROSSING

Neipling described the South Paddock intersection at South Saginaw and South Boulevard a Pontiac's single worst vehicle crossing.

The proposed blockade, while effectively shutting off through traffic on South Paddock, would retain access routes from South Saginaw for two service stations located at the corner, Neipling said.

Included in the proposal is the conversion of South Paddock from one-way to two-way traffic.

Both projects, commissioners were told, would be executed by the State Highway Department, pending approval of that agency.

FURTHER STUDY DUE

A request to convert one-way traffic to two-way on Lorraine Court was deferred for further study.

City engineers had originally proposed a 90-day trial period for the switch, but asked for additional consideration after surveying residents of the street.

Commissioners formally directed Neipling to obtain detailed plans and appraisals on a proposal to extend Palmer Street southernly from Mount Clemens to an area just north of Herrington Elementary School.

Conceivably, extension of the thoroughfare would tie in with the pending rezoning of a 22-acre parcel near the school to multiple dwelling.

HEARING DATE

Commissioners formally established May 31 as public hearing date for six rezoning and vacating requests presently before the City Planning Commission.

Included in the rezoning proposals is a 6.6-acre parcel of land on the eastern edge of Woodward opposite Bassett.

Also set for public hearing are rezoning to commercial of a site at Madison, Arlene and Perry streets; rezoning to parking of the east side of Bradford, as requested by GMC Truck & Coach Division; and vacating of portions of a street and two alleys in the city's north end.

Gunman Cooled Off by Ice Cream Man

Kelly hit him over the head with a gallon container of ice cream, knocking the man out the door. Then he heaved a few more gallons as the man fled.

Detroiter Named

State Police Hold Post Open House

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State Police will hold their 11th annual open house at each post Wednesday, May 24, Col. Frederick Davids, director, announced Tuesday. The event coincides with Hospitality Day of Michigan Week.

★ ★ ★

Persons visiting their local State Police posts will be escorted on tours of the quarters and see exhibits of equipment and facilities. The State Police are observing their golden anniversary this year.

Split Over Development of Industrial Park Seen

Discussion last night of Pontiac's proposed industrial park on the city's southeast side brought to the floor of the City Commission an apparent difference of opinion over development of the park.

Debate on the subject was touched off by a proposal from James L. Bates, director of planning and urban renewal, to lease three city-owned lots in the area for parking purposes.

District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin sought further study of the proposal as well as a report on the status of the planned industrial site.

"This thing has been kicked around for four or five years," Irwin said. "Now I'm not really convinced we have an industrial park."

City Manager Joseph A. Warren, asked if the park status could be scheduled for informal study, noted that a committee named to steer park development had differed with city officials.

"The city staff has felt we could go ahead with some development on the lands we now have," Warren said, pointing out that development could be completed as more land was acquired.

"The industrial park committee, however," he said, "says we must acquire all the land (on the site) before any development is started."

Warren said acquisition of 11 needed parcels is presently awaiting appraisal of property and houses.

Commissioners concluded discussion by deferring formal action on the lots — located at Plainfield and Irwin — and adding the industrial park to the agenda of an informal meeting scheduled for Monday.

Each Decision Unanimous

9 Paving Projects Clear Commission

Preparation of special assessment rolls for paving of nine Pontiac streets was ordered last night at the regular meeting of the City Commission.

★ ★ ★

Formal resolutions for the nine received unanimous backing of commissioners after public hearing on each street.

Commissioners also confirmed special assessments for the paving, curbing and installation of gutters on Grayton from Crestwood to Asterwood.

Approval of the one-block project came despite protests from two property owners who cited difficulty in meeting assessments in opposing the paving.

Public hearing was set for May 23 on necessity of constructing curb, gutter and pavement on a two-block section of Merrimac.

Joseph E. Neipling, director of public works and service, said paving was proposed from the intersection of Baldwin westerly on North Merrimac to its junction with South Merrimac.

Formal resolution of the commission also accomplished signing of a contract with Waterford Township arranging for use of the city's land-fill site by township residents.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., noting he had abstained on a previous vote on the proposal, cited Waterford action in a street-lighting program for Telegraph as "encouraging."

★ ★ ★

"When I abstained from the first vote," he said, "I wasn't too happy with the cooperation we had received from the township — now I think we're making some progress."

Not on Sunday

★ ★ ★

Tuskegee Aid Bill Offered

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A bill to continue Tuskegee Institute's state appropriation, despite Gov. Lurleen Wallace's recommendation that it be halted, has been introduced in the Alabama Legislature.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Tom Radney of Tallapoosa County, whose district includes Tuskegee Institute, offered the measure Tuesday. It would give the privately operated Negro college $670,000 during each of the next two years — the same it currently receives.

Radney said he hopes former Gov. George Wallace will help the bill's passage "since he is a former trustee" at Tuskegee. The state has five trustees on Tuskegee's board because of its aid.

In the budget she submitted to the legislature, Mrs. Wallace recommended cutting off the appropriation at the close of the current fiscal year Sept. 30.

Her husband, the former governor, later explained the money was stopped at the suggestion of State School Supt. Ernest Stone and Stone confirmed it.

DISCOVERY IN OHIO — Geologists discovered this fossil when bulldozer operators started excavating for a section of Interstate 71 near Cleveland. It is a shark embedded in black rock known as Cleveland shale. The head structure, fins and stomach are all well-preserved.

Road Projects Trigger Fossil Hunts

By MARTHA COLE

★ ★ ★

They've turned up items like dinosaur tracks discovered in Pecos County, Tex., while building U.S. Route 57. They've salvaged Indian mounds in Iowa and excavated prehistoric ruins in Arizona.

★ ★ ★

When bulldozer operators started digging for a section of Interstate 71 near Cleveland, Ohio, they set off one of the biggest fossil hunts ever undertaken in the United States. Scientists collected 10,000 specimens.

★ ★ ★

"Scientists evidently figure this is a big deal as far as they are concerned," James E. Kirk, a highways engineer of the Bureau of Public Roads, said in an interview.

FEDERAL FUNDS

Congress has said that federal aid highway funds may be used in archeological and paleontological salvage in highway construction. It follows a national policy of preserving for public use sites such as Indian ruins, historic buildings, fossils or other objects of antiquity that have national significance.

★ ★ ★

Since 1956, under the Highway Transportation Act, 118 federal aid archeological and paleontological projects have been undertaken in 21 states. Their cost totals some $1.4 million, of which $1.2 million was in federal-aid funds.

★ ★ ★

The initiative for such projects must come from the states. Agreements for the work are made with museums, universities and state archeologists.

In the Right of Way and Location Office of the Bureau of Public Roads, Kirk and James A. Carney, a highway engineer, make sure that archeological and paleontological salvage get attention.

CERTAIN IDEAS

There are problems. Everybody has certain ideas about what is significant historically. Often even the experts can't agree.

Kirk said they leave it up to the professionals in the field.

For 17 months, from April 1965 to September 1966, workers under the direction of the Cleveland Natural Science Museum dug, chipped, pried and hammered to collect specimens of fossils from the Devonian Age of more than 350 million years ago when northern Ohio was covered by the sea.

★ ★ ★

The museum arranged the project after it was learned that a section of Interstate Highway 71 would cut through what was believed to be an important but heretofore inaccessible fossil formation.

Important scientists visited the site. Some schools sent bus loads of classes there.

William E. Scheele, museum director, said the road workers "generally seemed to have more pride in knowing that something of value was coming from their excavating efforts aside from the creation of a new superhighway."

Scheele reported that "it appears that we have collected at least 10,000 major specimens of tremendous scientific value."

★ ★ ★

It may take 10 to 15 years to complete scientific analysis and description, he said, but there may be as many as 75 animals in all classes which are totally new to the world of science.

COST OF PROJECT

The Cleveland project cost some $119,000, of which 90 per cent is from federal funds and the rest from the museum.

Other highways-archeology projects, by states, last year included:

Arizona — Exploration and excavation of prehistoric ruins in Mohave County.

Arkansas — Excavation and study by the University of Arkansas of an Indian village near Fishing Lake.

California — In Sacramento, excavation and salvage of historic building foundations associated with the gold rush days.

INDIAN COMMUNITY

Illinois — Salvage of Indian artifacts in St. Clair County.

Iowa — Salvage of five Indian mounds in Lee County.

New Mexico — Salvaging of several Indian sites in Grant County.

Tennessee — Investigations by the University of Tennessee in the vicinity of the Tennesese River crossing.

To Be Launched June 12

Mariner Rebuilt for Flight to Venus

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — A rebuilt Mariner spacecraft that was ready to visit the planet Mars two years ago is set to be sent instead on a four-month voyage to Venus June 12.

If it successfully follows its precise path through space, the craft will sweep within 2,000 miles of the cloud-masked planet Oct. 19 to carry on the studies America's first planetary probe started five years ago.

The United States in all has launched four Mariner spacecraft, two in 1962 designed to go to Venus and two Martian explorers in 1964. The first of each pair failed, but Marina 2 made it to Venus and Mariner 4 to Mars.

The new spacecraft was once a spare for the Mariner 4 mission, standing by to replace the primary Mariner if necessary. It has since been modified, equipped with new experiments and targeted for Venus.

It is one of a kind and will mark America's last planetary launch until two larger and more advanced Mariners are sent to Mars in 1969.

VENUSIAN REPORT

Mariner 2, a 447-pounder, came within 25,594 miles of Venus at the climax of its historic flight and reported that the bright planet was too hot and too dry to support Earth-type life.

But since then, there has been scientific disagreement on the actual temperatures of the Venusian surface as opposed to its thick atmosphere and the planet's ability to support life.

Mariner 5 is 105 pounds heavier than the pioneering Mariner 2 and carries more sophisticated instruments. It won't be able to detect life, but may give scientists more clues to some of the mysteries of the planet that have been puzzling men for centuries.

Mariner 5's seven experiments are designed primarily to study Venus' atmosphere, look for radiation belts around the planet and measure its magnetic forces. Since it will be traveling much closer to Venus than did Mariner 2, scientists hope its findings will be more conclusive.

The United States does not plan to explore Venus again until 1972 when the federal space agency hopes to send a much large and more advanced Mariner to the planet and examine its dense atmosphere with a sounding capsule.

A Russian Venus probe crashed onto the planet March 1, 1966, but contact was lost with it before impact, and no scientific data was received.

By using the spare Mariner Mars spacecraft for the upcoming Venus mission, scientists capitalized on a design proven by the spectacular success of Mariner 4. It is still operating in its orbit around the sun, reporting on its condition three times a week.

Mariner 4 completed its primary mission Aug. 2, 1965, when it transmitted back to Earth the last of 22 relatively close-up pictures of the Red Planet.

It has traveled more than a billion miles in space and will zoom within 30 million miles of Earth in September. At that time, the spacecraft's experiments will be turned on again.

Since Venus is closer to the sun than is Mars, the spacecraft will be subjected to more energy from solar rays than it would on a Martian mission. To compensate for the extra sunshine, Mariner 5's solar panels were reduced in size and more heat protection was installed on the spacecraft.

Two new antennas were added to the spacecraft for the Venus flight and a new data handling system was installed.

County Road Commission Given Lift

The Oakland County Road Commission was enabled to bypass a financial roadblock when the County Board of Supervisors granted it a loan of $500,000.

This is the first time the road commission has had recourse to such aid, urgently needed to proceed with new highway construction on which bids with a 30-day expiration date had already been received.

The commission's finances, however, are not as critical as might be assumed from the necessity of the County government to render financial assistance to one of its divisions. The latter would benefit by $1.2 million annually if the proposed hike in gas and vehicle weight tax is approved by the State Legislature — an outcome fairly certain of realization since the proposal has already passed the Senate and awaits only House action.

Passage of the measure would permit repayment of the loan from the augmented operating funds thus acquired, though leaving the commission short of adequate resources for new road construction and maintenance programs demanded by dynamic Oakland County.

However, should the House fail to pass the proposal, the road commission is empowered to initiate a borrowing program from commercial institutions or resort to issuance of long-term bonds. Currently it is in the favorable position of having obligated itself for but approximately 20 per cent of allowable debt.

Area residents should find gratification in the County's fiscal soundness that permits fluid transfer of funds from one governmental area to another.

Postal Rate Hike Seen Directed at Junk Mail

Indications are that the fourth raise in postal rates since World War II will be approved by Congress some time this year.

With the Post Office deficit expected to reach $1.2 billion for the fiscal year ending June 30, Capitol Hill can scarcely turn a deaf ear to President JOHNSON's proposal to raise all categories of postage.

A deficit somewhere between $500 million and $900 million has always been considered an "acceptable" loss for handling the Country's mail, but a politically dangerous red ink figure in excess of $1 billion presages a postage rate hike.

Should LBJ's schedule of increases be adopted, junk mail (third class matter) would bear the biggest boost —31 per cent. Since first class and air mail earn a small profit, irate recipients of junk mail protest the latter is being involuntarily subsidized by taxpayers. The proposed increase would cover about 90 per cent of the cost of handling this class of mail.

It is paradoxical that with the U.S. in the seventh year of an unprecedented span of prosperity and the volume of mail correlatively pushing processing capacity of the Post Office to near collapse, the Postal Department deficit continuously mounts.

If nothing else, it is a prime example of the prickly economic law of diminishing returns.

Evolution of Big Government's Parental Stance

Back in the 1890s, a drought hit large areas of Texas. It was so severe that the Congress of the United States passed an Act to enable the Commissioner of Agriculture to make special distribution of seed in the drought-stricken counties of the State.

President GROVER CLEVELAND returned the Act to Congress without his approval with the comment, "I can find no warrant for such appropriation in the Constitution . . . Though the people support the government, the government should not support the people . . . Federal aid encourages the expectation of parental care on the part of government and weakens the sturdiness of our national character."

Any President who pursued Cleveland's course today would unquestionably be bitterly condemned. "But the expectation of parental care," which he feared, has become a fact, and the care is becoming more lavish each year, the tax burden more oppressive.

The parental psychology has even reached the point where government spokesmen lecture the people on how they are to run their businesses and spend their money, telling them to exercise restraint and discipline.

And quite logically, falling back on parental prerogatives, Government feels no necessity of exercising similar restraint and discipline in its own spending policies.

GOP Viet Report Brews Disagreement

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — How did we ever get into the war in Vietnam? There are a lot of arguments about it. But the Senate Republican Policy Committee's staff report could have done a far better job explaining the origins than it did.

This report was supposed to provide Republicans with material for discussion in the hope they could reach agreement on what position to take. It did anything but. Almost immediately, instead of discussing, Republicans began arguing.

MARLOW

The report's main point is that the Democrats, under Presidents Johnson and John F. Kennedy, and not the Republicans under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, are the ones who sent U.S. fighting men into Vietnam.

That's true, but it's far from the whole story. The American involvement was a slow process, beginning with aid and ending with men. Presidents Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman, too, were part of the process.

★ ★ ★

In 1950, the Korean War began. Truman began a policy of giving the French aid. This aid eventually cost billions of dollars.

CONSTANT THEME

Truman's constant theme was that the Communists were trying to take over the world. When he became president in 1953, Eisenhower continued the Truman aid policy. He shared Truman's fears about the Communist intentions.

He was particularly afraid that unless stopped, communism would gobble up all Southeast Asia. He explained it in a couple of ways. One was the domino theory: that if Vietnam fell to communism, the other Southeast Asian nations would follow. He put it another way: that Vietnam was the cork in the bottle.

He said he was bitterly opposed to sending U.S. troops into Vietnam. He said he would try to make sure it didn't happen. And under him it didn't happen.

★ ★ ★

The United States, under Eisenhower, continued to support the South. It seemed inevitable — and it turned out that way—that now the North Vietnamese Reds would try to take South Vietnam by force since they had been refused a chance to do it by ballot.

MORE INTENSE

By the time Kennedy was in office awhile, the war grew more intense. He sent some troops over. They weren't enough. South Vietnam seemed in danger of being engulfed by the Vietcong and the North. Johnson then sent in hundreds of thousands of troops.

Both Kennedy and Johnson shared the Truman-Eisenhower fear that communism was on the march and had to be stopped.

Except For Those They Disagree With!

David Lawrence Says:

Russia Is Bluffing U.S. on Viet

WASHINGTON — Russia is trying to frighten or bluff the United States into a surrender in Vietnam.

LAWRENCE

For several days now the Soviets have permitted news to leak out of Moscow that they are planning to give substantial military aid to the North Vietnamese.

It seems strange that information of this kind would be made public, as military plans are usually not disclosed in advance.

Apparently the first dispatches did not produce any tangible result, as America took only casual notice of what had been said. But now the Soviet government has put even more emphasis on its plan to provide unlimited aid to North Vietnam.

A United Press International dispatch from London yesterday reads as follows:

"LONDON — High Communist diplomats said today the Kremlin had decided upon a program of massive military aid to North Vietnam 'to forestall an American success.'

"The diplomats said the decision followed a recent reappraisal of Soviet Vietnam policy in the light of what they termed 'growing indications of threatening American escalation of the war.'

" 'We just cannot stand by and watch the destruction and attempted submission of the country,' the Communists said."

★ ★ ★

The "diplomats" say, in effect, "Look out, America — we'll be unfriendly if you don't surrender soon."

Coninicidentally, inside the United States, the political parties are being urged to recognize that the only beneficiary of a divided foreign policy would be the Communists.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, assistant Republican leader of the Senate, has issued a warning to his party not to engage in "specious political flummery" over Vietnam so as to gain political advantage.

He said Republicans cannot "give aid and comfort to the enemy by speaking with two voices to take advantage of divisions in our country between 'hawks' and 'doves.' "

Sen. Everett Dirksen, Republican leader, concurred in this view.

It is apparent that the American position in the Vietnam war is growing stronger each day and that the military operation there is becoming more and more a demonstration of America's power.

The Moscow and Peking regimes are not too happy about the fact that they must render an unprecedented amount of military aid if they wish to save North Vietnam from defeat. So it's natural for the Russians to try to scare the United States into a cease-fire and prolonged negotiation.

Bob Considine Says:

Death of N.Y. Newsman Shoots Hole in Business

NEW YORK — There have been complaints that newspapermen are excessively fond of newspapermen.

CONSIDINE

Our obituary pages frequently feature the passing away of obscure fellow workers, and the outsider may wonder why the late lamented commanded the space usually given to small-bore statesmen.

The death of John McClain shoots a hole through our business. It was not possible to be excessively fond of John McClain. He was such joy to know, to work with, to be around. John was one of an almost vanishing breed: a gentleman.

It isn't easy to be a gentleman on a newspaperman's salary. But John swung it superbly. His clothes, bearing, manner, choice of women, love of the good life were impeccable.

It seemed altogether fitting and proper that he belonged to the Racquet Club, and it was a mark of his good reportorial eye and ear that he found there a fellow member —John called him Pompton —who came to epitomize the ultimate in clubmanship.

Pompton was fictional, of course, but the way John used to write about him made him much more alive than some of his living counterparts.

Pompton and his rich wife, Maud, were perpetually prey to aggravations which affect only the very rich. The tedious embarrassment, for example, of the strange sound in their Rolls Royce.

The Rolls was guaranteed to be so quiet that the only sound one could hear, while traveling at 60 m.p.h., was its clock.

Still, there was that nagging additional sound, just a shade louder than the clock. It was all so distressing!

Rolls engineers came across the Atlantic to take Pompton's car apart, examine each part and put it back together. But the strange noise remained. Then, with a stroke of genius peculiar to the Pomptons of the world, John's hero saved the day. He ordered a louder clock.

John McClain loved life and laughter and from the time he joined the New York Sun in 1928 until he died, as travel editor of the World Journal Tribune, he never knew a jaded moment as a reporter.

"I think one of the greatest things in the world is to wake up every morning and be able to say 'if I had my choice of what to do to earn a living I would be doing exactly what I am about to do today,' " he once wrote.

★ ★ ★

"I have been able to say this every day since I started out as a cub reporter on the old New York Sun, and that is a large order. How many men can match it?"

How many indeed . . .

Answers Recent Letter on Area Water Problems

In reply to Mrs. LaChance concerning Detroit Water for West Bloomfield Township, our board was asked by the Sylvan Manor Home Owners Association to set up a water assessment district. This request was based on a petition signed by better than 70 per cent of the residents of Sylvan Manor. It's true we were only given estimate costs at the hearing on April 5, but we were also informed that these costs were maximum figures and the board could not act if actual costs exceeded these estimates.

★ ★ ★

I suggest the residents who object to city water on a "we don't need it" basis check with their neighbors who ration their water usage and worry about well and/or pump failure, or check with our fire department to see how difficult it is to extinguish a fire when the water has to be trucked to the scene.

Two Disagree With Opinion of 'Cat Hater'

Nature has a reason for every animal's presence on earth and the cat is no exception. If cats didn't control even the small part of the rat and mouse population they now control, this country would be overrun with rodents. Look to history for a Western country that once had a shortage of cats.

Replies to Letter on Capital Punishment

In answer to Helen Kaye, I am the mother of nine and every day I live in fear that one of my children might become a victim of one of these overly-punished and frequently misunderstood persons. It doesn't seem strange that women and men become enraged at a sex crime and want the death penalty for sex criminals.

Men who kill for money, dope, etc., are not the same for seldom are their victims defenseless children who are mauled and tortured first. When a dog viciously attacks and mauls he is put to death, yet a man who does the same thing is treated for years for a sickness that often returns when the treatments stop.

I agree we should support hospitals for the mentally ill, especially since many of the patients have been put there by a sex criminal who has taken the life of a loved one. Maybe capital punishment isn't the only answer but what is? If one child can be spared, let's find a way.

Unnamed Hill

National Observer

It was hot and hellish on that hill with no name, a double-humped place that no one knew and none can now forget. It was the high ground and it had to be taken.

For 12 days the battle raged over that ugly, stinking land, in the fierce heat of day and the chill dread of night. Americans — young men, brave men — fought, suffered, and died there amid the ageless anguish of the battlefield.

The story is etched on the faces of those who survived — crevices of strain, grimaces of pain, stares that penetrate.

It was the high ground, and it had to be taken. No choices here, no debate, just duty and honor and country.

★ ★ ★

Some compared the strategic importance of the battle with Dien Bien Phu, where the beleaguered French failed to take the high ground from the same enemy and were subsequently slaughtered.

★ ★ ★

Parallels there may be but the comparison is a fraud: The men who fought last week were United States Marines. And they won on Hill 881.

Unconventional advertising —that's what San Francisco-based Pacific Air Lines is trying these days to scare up (or is it scare away?) business.

After seeing a full-page ad in The New York Times with the arresting lead, "Hey there! You with the sweat in your palms," we should have put two and two together and come up with Stan Freberg.

Mr. Freberg, master satirist - turned - adman, says right in print that most people are "scared witless" of flying. The pilot, too, is wondering if the plane will make it off the ground, state the Pacific ads.

That prompted an official of a major airline to moan "Oh, that's funny. The passengers will laugh like hyenas — all the way to the bus stop."

★ ★ ★

Consider what Pacific, in trying to assure its passengers that inflight fright is prefectly normal, is giving away: Included in a "survival kit" are such items as silly putty — "Something to do with your hands . . . until the 'no smoking' sign goes off"; a rabbit's foot — "Not that you'll need it, but what could it hurt?" and a fortune cookie with a message, "Things could be worse. Someone could be whistling the theme from 'The High and the Mighty'."

NY Cashier Shot

Cabbies Chase Suspect

NEW YORK (AP) — Two taxicab drivers braved bullets and oncoming one-way traffic Tuesday night to help capture a holdup suspect who, police said, had shot a drugstore cashier minutes earlier.

Police Inspector William J. Averill commended cabbies John Perry, 26, of the Bronx and Stanley Aronson, 38, of Queens for their alertness and help and patrolman Robert Monahan for the actual capture.

Averill gave this account:

At 6:15 p.m., a man later identified as Oliver McBride, 20, robbed the Columbus Circle pharmacy of $137 after shooting the cashier, Morris Kaplinsky, 51, of Queens.

Kaplinsky fell, wounded in the chest and arm by the single bullet. When a counterman, Julie Knepper, 40, of Queens, gave the alarm, McBride fired at him but missed.

ANGRY WITNESSES

Then McBride and an unidentified accomplice fled to avoid the angry witnesses — four employes and six customers.

Knepper's cries alerted the two cabdrivers who gave chase in their cabs against the oncoming traffic.

McBride, police said, fired once at each cab. The shots attracted the attention of Monahan who was driving a police tow truck. He spotted McBride going into Lincoln Center Plaza.

Monahan pursued McBride with his gun drawn. He said McBride took refuge behind a large concrete flower pot and he fired once at the suspect.

DROPPED REVOLVER

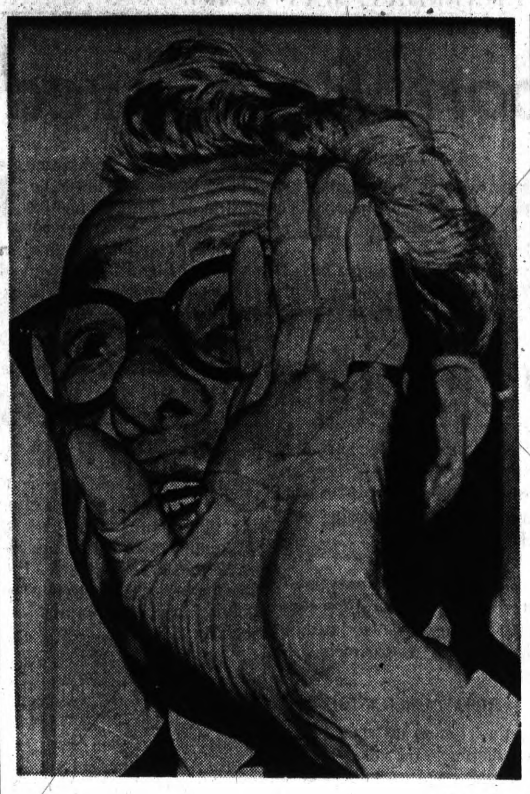

McBride surrendered, dropping a 32-caliber revolver from which four shots had been fired, police said. Monahan also said he found $137 on the suspect.

McBride was booked on charges of assault and robbery, felonious assault and violation of the city antiweapons law.

Kaplinsky was reported in critical condition early today after undergoing emergency surgery at Roosevelt Hospital.

THE 'SLOW' SIGN—Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois said yesterday he has put a "slow" sign on demands of some Republicans for a step-up in antipoverty spending. The minority leader told newsmen that there is a "change in the tide of public opinion" that may cut expenditures for the Great Society programs.

Business Tax Break Rejected

LANSING (AP)—Bills to permit merger of third class school districts and require driver training of all original license applicants passed in the House Tuesday.

"A $4 million tax break for business was rejected.

Other measures approved would regulate snowmobiles, ban secret votes by county supervisors, give a probationary teacher 60 days notice if he is not to be rehired, and make legislators delegates to state party conventions.

The House refused to override the vote by which it passed on Monday a measure giving county road commissioners greater power in the long-range planning field. That bill also goes to the Senate.

TAX MEASURE

The corporate tax measure was, as originally introduced by Rep. Lester Allen, R-Ithaca, a complex exemption to the corporate franchise fee which the State Treasury Department estimated would cost the state about $4 million a year.

★ ★ ★

Deputy Treasurer Lloyd L. Anderson said the amended bill would benefit only corporations which run a deficit during a tax year and would cut state revenues by no more than $500,000.

★ ★ ★

When the House finished amending the measure, it specifically prohibited the beneficial bookkeeping practice which the original bill was designed to permit.

★ ★ ★

Passed 90-10 was a bill forbidding issuance of a driver's license to anyone not licensed in Michigan, who has not completed a driver training course approved by the state superintendent of public instruction.

CURRENT LAW

Under current law, driver training is required only of original license applicants under 18 years of age.

Also approved was a measure providing that a teacher on probation, who is not to be rehired, must be notified at least 60 days before the school year ends. It also would put on permanent tenure any teacher who came under another school board because of annexation, unless two-thirds of the board votes against it.

★ ★ ★

Deleted from the bill were provisions that would empower the State Board of Education to certify teaching personnel of junior and community colleges.

★ ★ ★

Passed 62-38, and threatened by a reconsideration move, was a measure to permit merger of third class school districts and cut the state's permitted number of K-12 school districts from 500 to 400.

DISTRICT CLASSES

Most districts with over 2,000 pupils are third class districts. Detroit is the state's only first class district, and Flint, Lansing and Grand Rapids are the only second class districts.

Rep. Lionel Stacey, R-Benton Harbor, said he would ask the House today to reconsider the vote by which the measure passed.

The snowmobile bill would prohibit use of the vehicles on passable state trunkline highways except in declared emergencies. They could cross highways under nonemergency conditions, but not expressways.

The House passed a bill sponsored by Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, making it a misdemeanor to destroy barriers preventing access to mineshafts. Another Jacobetti bill, to establish a state mine safety board, was sent to probable death in the appropriations committee.

DRIVING BILL

Passed was a bill sponsored by Rep. Joyce Symons, D-Allen Park, to permit persons convicted of driving vehicles with defective equipment, or of driving without lights after dark, to escape without collecting violation points.

Approved was a bill to allow counties to operate ambulance and inhalator services, as townships now may do.

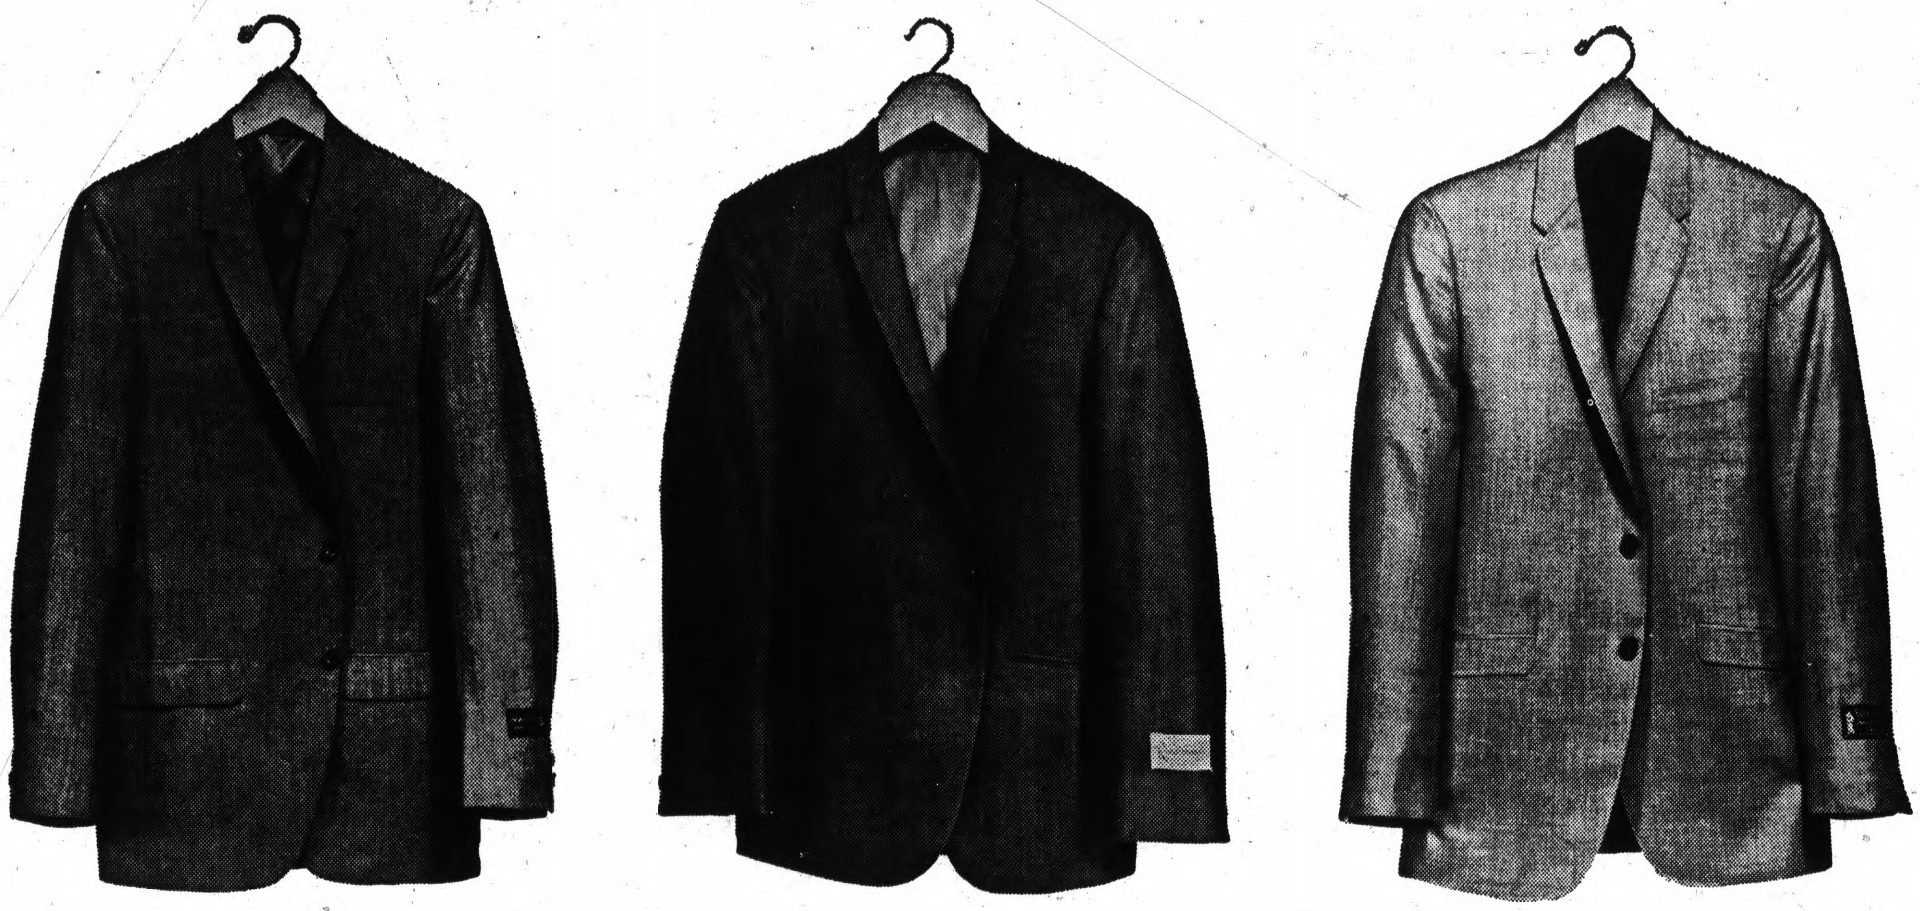

Three Petoskey School Votes Due

PETOSKEY (AP)—Voters in the Petoskey School Districts face three elections between May 29 and July 3. On May 29, they will go to the polls to vote on a proposition to increase the expiring two-mill tax to four mills for one year.

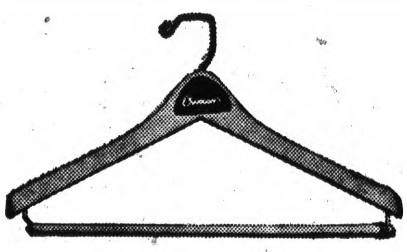

★ ★ ★

On June 12, voters in a special election will choose two candidates to serve on the board of education. The regular annual meeting of district will fill two vacancies on the school board July 3.

Junior Editors Quiz on SEA MONSTERS

QUESTION: For about how many years was the coelacanth supposed to be extinct?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Men have long imagined that great monsters, typical of past periods, might still be lurking in the depth of the sea, to suddenly appear on the surface. Our purely imaginative drawing at the top illustrates this idea, featuring the long extinct reptile tylosaurus.

None of these ancient creatures had ever showed up—until suddenly, in 1938, a big ungainly fish was hauled from a depth of 240 feet off the South African coast.

It was like no living fish. It belonged to the group called coelacanths, which had appeared 350 million years ago and were thought to have become extinct from 50 to 60 million years ago.

Notice the strangely-shaped tail, with the little second tail stuck on behind. The fins are of great interest, for the lower ones are mounted on legs,, which the coelacanth is believed to use crawling over the bottom.

The fish excited world interest. If a sea creature supposed to be extinct for 60 million years was suddenly found alive, what else might the mysterious depth of the sea have to offer?

U.S. Arms Export Role Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy suggested that the United States might be tempted to prolong a war in tension areas like the Middle East or India-Pakistan in order to test new weapons.

The Minnesota Democrat's comment came in an exchange with John T. McNaughton, assistant secretary of defense, during a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee hearing on disarmament.

McNaughton said he was shocked at the suggestion the United States would encourage a war or work to see that one was continued.

"I did not say we would," McCarthy answered. But then he added: "I said we would be tempted to prolong it in order to prove the superiority of weapons and even to test them."

'AGGRESSIVE POLICY'

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., told McNaughton the Defense Department has an aggressive weapons sales policy which has resulted in a military buildup in areas throughout the world "to feed on animosities centuries old, especially in the Middle East."

McNaughton denied there was a hard-sell approach in the $3-billion military aid and sales program. He said he spends most of his time trying to avoid making sales and helping countries keep from spending on arms so they can finance other programs.

The exchanges between the senators and McNaughton took place at a March 2 hearing. The censored testimony was released Tuesday.

At a Feb. 2 hearing, Cyrus R. Vance, deputy secretary of defense, told the subcommittee the United States will never be the first to use chemical and biological warfare weapons but is continuing to develop them in order to maintain defensive and retaliatory capability.

SEEKING AGREEMENTS

He said this country is seeking international agreements to limit such warfare.

His censored testimony also was released Tuesday.

The House passed Tuesday a defense procurement authorization bill totaling $21.4 billion, $368 million more than the Johnson administration asked. The bill emphasizes a speedup in building a nuclear powered surface Navy.

★ ★ ★

The House voted 401 to 3 for the measure after Chairman L. Mendel Rivers of the Armed Services Committee said the Defense Department must be given all it needs to fight North Vietnam so hard "they will want to come to the peace table."

America's superiority in nuclear weapons was a factor in the decision to send men to fight in Vietnam, according to Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

LBJ Publicity Costs Hit

FENNVILLE (UPI) — The Johnson administration is spending more money than it costs to run Congress and the Supreme Court combined "to build a bridge of paper publicity handouts across a widening credibility gap," Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich., charged today.

The Fennville Republican, in a prepared statement, claimed it is ironic that the administration is spending $75 million this year "to convince you that it's in your best interests for the administration to spend more of your tax dollars by the billions."

He said most of the money is being spent to bolster confidence in administration programs.

"But it is becoming increasingly clear the money is being wasted since more and more citizens are believing less and less of what the Johnsonian propagandists are turning out," Hutchinson said.

The largest publicity outlay — over $32 million for more than 3,000 publicists — is slated for the Defense Department, he said.

POVERTY PUBLICISTS

In a letter to his constituents, Hutchinson said the poverty program employs publicists to "Keep this particular Great Society 'war' in a favorable light."

He charged the Department of Agriculture with spending $8.9 million a year on publicity to tell "one story to the farmer and another version to the consumer."

A GREETING FROM HOFFA — Teamsters President James Hoffa shakes hands with 10-year-old Edie Loeb, decides to kiss her, then shakes hands with her mother, Mrs. William Loeb, as he leaves the federal building in Chattanooga, Tenn., yesterday in handcuffs. Edie's father, publisher of the Manchester (N.H.) Union-Leader, was to have been a witness at Hoffa's hearing on a motion for a new jury tampering trial.

Bid for New Trial Is Denied, so Hoffa Returns to Prison

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —James R. Hoffa's first return visit to Chattanooga since his conviction here on jury tampering charges in 1964 ends as abruptly today as Tuesday's hearing on his new trial motion.

The Teamsters Union president, who was brought here from the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., Saturday, began the return trip there at 5:53 a.m. (EDT) today. he was wearing the same handcuffs and prison issue blue suit he wore here last Saturday when he began the 725 mile auto trip accompanied by two U.S. marshals and an armed guard. Hoffa did not speak to newsmen today.

Two codefendants, Ewing King and Thomas Ewing Parks of Nashville, leave today by car for the federal correctional institution at Texarkana, Tex. The other codefendant, Larry Campbell of Detroit, goes by plane to the correctional institution at Sandstone, Minn.

Hoffa's fourth new trial bid, based on accusations of government wiretapping, had been scheduled to last three days before U.S. Dist. Judge Frank W. Wilson, who sentenced the union leader to eight years in prison three years ago.

MOTIONS DENIED

It took only 45 minutes for Wilson to deny a series of defense motions to delay or dismiss the new trial motion and for Hoffa's attorneys to refuse to present evidence.

After denying motions for a 90-day delay to investigate information which defense lawyers said had come to their attention over the weekend, Wilson asked routinely if both sides were ready to proceed with the hearing.

Shenker repeated his earlier contention that "to proceed without being fully informed on the matters that were brought to our attention in the last few days would be highly improper."

Family Bible Ends Journey, Returns Home

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Through a strange series of coincidences, Oregon Secretary of State Clay Myers has possession of an old family Bible.

He had not known of its existence — and has no idea how the Bible ever left the family.

When Mrs. McKay moved to smaller quarters recently, she turned it over to her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Green.

Noticing the name Myers on the flyleaf, the Greens thought it would make a good memento for their friends, Clay and Elizabeth Myers.

DISCOVERY

Myers, glancing through the gift, ran across the family records between the Old and New Testament and discovered it had belonged to his family.

Even his birth was recorded in it.

Goodbye, high auto loan rates. Hello, credit union!

Did you know that you may pay up to several hundred dollars in interest on a typical auto loan? It's a fact—and it's one reason why more and more people are turning to their credit union when they buy a new car.

You see, credit union rates are clear cut. Credit union rates didn't soar out of sight in last year's tight money market like a lot of others. There's a reason.

A credit union is in business to help its members. It is owned by its members. There's no point in charging yourself high interest rates. And that's why a credit union offers advantages you find nowhere else.

Go ahead. Buy that car you've set your heart on. And for low cost financing, see your credit union. You'll probably get the best deal in town.

If you are not a member and would like more information, contact the C. U. where you work or one in your parish or call 332-9193.

It's Second Time Around for Mrs. Clarence Pudney

★ ★ ★

Other officers are: Mrs. Margaret Hutchinson, first vice president; Mrs. A. J. Cadieux, second vice president; Mrs. Iva O'Dell, recording secretary; Mrs. Harry Rice, corresponding secretary and Mrs. E. Milton Evans, financial secretary.

OTHERS ELECTED

Included in the elections were Mrs. A. L. MacAdams, Mrs. George Brinkman, Mrs. Allen Palmer and Lulah McCully.

Mrs. Carroll Porritt installed officers during a candle lighting service.

The Oakland Buckets entertained the group.

Greetings from Mrs. John Doig of Florida were read. Mrs. John Barrett, associate member, visited from Lansing.

Social chairman for the evening was Mrs. Brinkman, assisted by Mrs. Robert Hills, Mrs. Bert Griffin, Mrs. Evans and Mrs. MacAdams.

★ ★ ★

Post Reply Upsets Her About This

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: After many months of enjoying your column, today I think I have read it for the last time.

I am referring to the letter about the girl who was rude when taken by her fiance to his friend's home for dinner. You said that the girl must be mentally retarded or stupid.

How could you be so cruel as to compare a mentally retarded person to a stupid person? That was such a heartless comparison. Your remark is something that is expected from someone who cannot comprehend the sadness that goes with being mentally retarded. Mrs. Boehler.

Dear Mrs. Boehler: I am sorry that I offended you in speaking of retardation and stupidity in one sentence. My intention was certainly not to compare them — I was simply looking for a reason for the actions of the young lady.

Although many retarded children are well behaved and sweet, others are irresponsible and difficult, and her behavior fitted that description.

Of course there can be no comparison—the retarded child is not fully responsible for his actions and cannot be blamed for them. However, a stupid child cannot help his stupidity either, and is also an object of compassion.

Therefore, I do not feel that my comment was either insulting or derogatory. Whatever the reason, the girl's behavior as described in the letter showed her as immature and ill-mannered, and very possibly was due to lack of education and a good upbringing.

A 'Thrift Shop' to Raise Funds for New Kitchen

The Women's Society of Bethany Baptist Church wants to remodel the church kitchen. They're the people who use it all the time and they know what needs improving.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The grand opening is set for Friday at 10 a.m. Saturday hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

After this week, the shop will be open three days a week.

Recent Bill on Abortion Is Passed

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina Legislature has enacted a bill liberalizing the state's 86-year-old abortion law. The governor has no power of veto.

★ ★ ★

The Senate concurred Monday night in technical amendments approved by the House of Representatives, thus adopting the law.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

It supersedes an 1881 North Carolina statute allowing abortions only if the life of the mother was in danger.

★ ★ ★

The new North Carolina law permits abortions if the mother's health would be gravely impaired by giving birth to the child; there is substantial risk the child will be born with serious mental or physical defect; the mother was raped and reported the crime to authorities within seven days; or the mother was a victim of incest.

THREE MEDICS

The law also requires that three physicians not associated in practice certify that the abortion is needed and that the woman qualifies under one of the four sections.

★ ★ ★

One difference between the North Carolina law and the new Colorado statute is a North Carolina requirement that allows only emergency abortions unless the woman has been a resident of the state for four months.

Colorado has no residence requirements.

The new North Carolina abortion law won House and Senate approval in most instances on voice votes.

Gernreich Tells Again What They Won't Wear

NEW YORK (AP) — That master of minimum coverage, Rudi Gernreich, has bared new areas for fashionable nudity this fall in his latest collection.

Tuesday the California designer, who originated toplessness, lopped away vertically at the minidress, cutting a swath from the neck to the navel and alarmingly beyond.

★ ★ ★

"Fashion today is play acting," Gernreich explained before displaying his collection for Harmon Knitwear. "Women assume various attitudes with the clothes they wear."

★ ★ ★

Without elaborating on the attitudes of women who expose their navels, he assures buyers he would add up to five inches of skirt for those who thought his court page tunic lengths were more evil than medieval.

★ ★ ★

Bold stripes and blocks were set into vivid-hued tunics and stockings for the woman who has a yen for impersonalized art in her wardrobe.

A modern nun's costume consisted of high black leggings over white tights-like long underwear — a white tunic with flowing wide sleeves, a black sleeveless tunic over that, and a white skull cap wrapped under the chin worn under a black hood.

Without the black hood and the tunic, the model appeared to be ready for hospital surgery.

AP Wirephoto

Rudi Gernreich, the fashion designer who originated toplessness, plunges necklines below the navel in this fall collection exhibited in New York. Included in his showing is a red and brown knit with long skirt, left, and a yellow and green check with matching stockings. Belts are black patent leather.

Get Him to a Doctor

First Signs of Real Illness

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband, who appears for all the world to be an ideal husband and father, is beginning to worry me. I don't know what's got into him lately, but he has become so anti-religious.

ABBY

He was brought up in the Catholic church. I became a convert for his sake. Now he has turned against religion like a madman. When I say grace at the table he shouts, "Thank me for the food — not God!" (And right in front of the children, too.) He refuses to go to church, and makes fun of me and the children when we go.

I asked our priest to come over and speak to him, but he wouldn't let the priest in the house. What am I to do, Abby? He seems all right otherwise, he's just got this thing about religion. Do you think he'll get over it?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: This "thing" your husband has about religion is a symptom of mental illness. Talk to your family doctor and together perhaps you two can work out a way to have your husband examined physically and mentally. Don't wait for him to "get over" it. He needs treatment.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: A new couple moved to town. They didn't know a soul, so my husband and I took them under our wing and introduced them to all our friends.

Now that they are no longer lonely, they have been entertaining all the people we introduced them to, and they haven't been including us. I think this is a lot of nerve. What do you think?

USED

DEAR USED: Good manners would dictate that they show their appreciation to you in some way. But they are under no obligation to "include" you when they entertain those whom they have met through you. Don't feel "used." Everyone has the privilege of choosing his own friends.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO "In Love and in Trouble": Tell your parents at once. No matter what you think now, they are your best friends and they will do everything they can to help you.

Programs

The Pontiac Area Federation of Women's Clubs is still looking for interesting programs to be discussed at the May 20 Program Planning Workshop.

For Successful Saving—Take From Top

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

My husband is serving in the Army in Vietnam. We have a four-month-old baby and I'm in great need of a budget plan. Our combined allotment is $23' a month. I do not work.

MARY FEELEY

Our rent, heat and utilities included, is $80; insurance, $7.50 monthly; phone $8.20. With my husband away, I very seldom prepare large meals. I'm interested in banking as much money each month as I can.

Also, my husband will be out of the army this year and will be attending college next September. We could use some information on the National Defense Loans. Can you help us?

Mrs. R.A.P., Rochester, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. P.:

You've certainly got plenty of incentive to save what you can during these coming months. And that's what it's going to take — because finding dollars to spare from your basic living costs will be no cinch.

The fixed expenses you mention total $95.70 a month. That leaves you $137.30 out of your $233 allotment to cover the following; food, household supplies, clothing, personal allowance, church, gifts, medical, recreation and transportation. That's a tall order.

Saving each expenditure as close as you can and still being realistic, you might count on putting $15 a month into savings.

Estimate the major costs like this: food, $65; supplies and other items for the home, $10; clothing, $10; medical, $10; transportation, $8. You'll have to be a Spartan about the recreation allowance, personal grooming items, gifts, contributions, with the $19.30 that's left.

Perhaps you can slice a little off the food bill. And make do with what's already in your clothes closet.

When you're determined to build up a savings account, it's always a good idea to take what you hope to put away each month right off the top of the paycheck. Then, for a couple of months, see if you can fit the rest of the budget into what's left. Some months you might be able to squeeze out an extra dollar or two.

Don't overlook a single little trick to cut costs: When you shop for food, plan the meals to make use of leftovers — and cultivate a taste for the inexpensive nutritious foods you may have been passing up.

(You don't have to pamper a man's appetite right now.) Keep your clothes in tiptop condition — accessories, too. Spot-cleaning and proper hanging literally lengthen their lives. Walk when you can. It's free. Take care of your health. It's cheaper. Look for recreation that doesn't cost anything. Contribute your services instead of money to charitable causes and church.

As for veterans' educational benefits, a program which became effective June 1, 1966, provides assistance to veterans who served on active duty after January 31, 1955. A veteran who is eligible under the Veterans Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966, attending school full time, is paid an allowance of $100 monthly. A maximum of $150 a month is payable for two or more dependents.

Soviet Talk Is Heard by Members

Devon Gables was the setting for the May Day breakfast of Iota Eta Chapter of Pi Omicron National Sorority Sunday.

Mrs. Ira J. Davis, principal of Stringham School, gave a travel lecture on her visit to the Soviet Republic.

Several state officers were guests of the group. They included: Mrs. Dorothy Gulliver, Michigan State president; Mrs. Corrin Ploucha, Central District vice president; Mrs. Grace Morrow, past state president and Maxine Hoffman, Alpha Gamma Chapter president.

The chapter voted support to Mrs. George Brinkman for the office of corresponding secretary to the State Board election.

New officers for the state will be elected at the convention at the Motor Inn in Port Huron May 20 and 21.

Cherokee Hills Will Sponsor Fashions, Cards

The Cherokee Hills School will present a fashion show and card party Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the school on Wewoka Street. Procceds will be used to develop the grounds surrounding the school into a year-round pleasure site of nature trails, picnic areas and playground for children and adults of the area.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Ralph Beyer will moderate the fashion show.

★ ★ ★

Eyelashes So Natural No One Would Guess

By PATRICIA KING

NEW YORK (NEA) — All sorts of intriguing little tricks are being pulled out of the beauty bag to make you prettier.

And one new trick can actually remain your secret if you wish. The secret is eyelashes so natural that your friends just wouldn't believe you're wearing falsies.

These human hair lashes should be perfectly feathered (uneven in length) and pretrimmed. They should be tapered from the shorter length of the inner eye and fan out longer at the outer corner.

If your eyes are somewhat narrow or small, the lashes should be brief, trimmed short at the inner end and full length at the outside.

With equal amounts of practice and patience you'll acquire the knack of applying "fringe shades."

To begin with, you must handle the lashes gently.

If the lash base is too long, use a manicuring scissors to snip the end where the hairs are longest.

Now apply a thin line of adhesive along the inner edge of the false lash base. Allow the adhesive to set — about 10-15 minutes. This is important.

★ ★ ★

Looking straight ahead into a mirror, partially close the eye to which you are applying the false lash. Hold the lash in the center of the base with either your fingers or a tweezer. Now bring the false base lash down as close as possible to your own lash base, positioning it as you did for the initial measuring.

Be careful to adhere the lash base to your lid line and not to your lashes.

Press the lash base gently in place, using either your fingertips or the side of a lid liner brush handle.

Using a dry mascara brush, gently blend your own lashes with the falsies.

The removal and care of your store-bought lashes are also important.

★ ★ ★

Starting at either inner or outer eye corner, GENTLY peel them off. When not in use, keep them on the molded form.

A Bold Season for Tie Designs

This season's boldness in men's ties often is achieved by manipulating classic patterns. English club figures, for example, are increased in size.

They have greater clarity without stressing color contrast. Colors still are bright to medium. The extreme darks of previous years are out of date, says the Men's Tie Foundation.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Q. Are blackheads inherited? All of the women in my mother's family have them, and I am beginning to get a few.

A. No, actually blackheads are not inherited, but the kind of skin which is likely to have them can be inherited. If the women in your family have very oily complexions, this makes them more susceptible to blackheads. Usually, this is a brunette skin. Very fair skin is apt to be drier.

Since this kind of complexion evidently runs in your family, you should take special measures to avoid these blemishes. This means washing your face several times a day with soap and water, as many as four times.

Q. I have large cheeks. Will exercise help reduce them?

A. Sorry —but no.

Q. How much difference should there be between the calf and the ankle of a well-shaped leg?

A. About 5 inches.

Q. I have a rough skin, sort of like goose pimples. What causes this and what can I do for it?

A. It would be a good idea to whip up circulation by using a bathbrush during your bath. This may be due to a vitamin deficiency. Be sure that you are eating a well-planned diet.

You might be wise to reinforce your diet with a multiple vitamin capsule, daily, but don't depend on this supplement and neglect your diet.

Q. I am 15 years old and am embarrassed by the very dark hair on my arms. I have tried bleaching them with peroxide, but they are still very noticeable. Should I have them dyed blonde?

A. No, there is enough upkeep when dying the hair on one's head, to say nothing of that on the arms. Anyway, you are too young for either. Use one of the good depilatories. If the hair is heavy, you will have to use this frequently, but it may be worth the trouble since this makes you unhappy and damages your personality and enjoyment of life.

MRS. E. L. MURRAY JR.

Capt. Murray Repeats Vows in Minnesota

The base chapel at Duluth Air Force Base in Minnesota was the setting for recent vows repeated by Theresa Ann Walzak and Capt. Edwin Larve Murray Jr.

William Carlson of Duluth was best man. Ushers were Airman 3C Keith Francis of Little Valley, N.Y. and Airman 2C Harry W. Cousins of Richmond, Va.

Case No. C-527

Guilt Is Punishment

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C-527: Lita J., aged 3 is a cute little girl.

DR. CRANE

"For my wife keeps taking her to doctors every week, even for nothing more than a minor scratch.

"And she worries and frets at night. She will hop out of bed several times just to go into Lita's room and lay her hand on the baby's chest to be sure she is still breathing.

"My wife is almost a nervous wreck over Lita, though the family physician says Lita is perfectly healthy.

"What makes my wife have such a phobia about Lita's possible illness?"

When I saw Lita's mother, she finally broke down and cried copiously.

"God is sure to punish me," she wailed.

Guilty human beings figure that God either will strike them down by some sudden death, as by heart attack, lightning or apoplexy, or else He will injure their children.

But the usual guilt that makes people figure God will intervene to administer quick divine punishment, does not pertain to robbery or kleptomania or profanity or most of those Ten Commandments.

No, the thing which bothers wives most is abortion or secret death wishes to remove a member of their family who ties them down.

Lita's daddy didn't know it but two years prior to Lita's birth, her mother had become pregnant.

Without telling her husband, she then had an abortion.

"Maybe God will punish me by causing me to be sterile hereafter," is a very common secret dread.

"Or maybe God will cause me to have cancer of the womb," is another.

"Perhaps, instead, he will strike me down with a heart attack or a stroke or insanity!"

Notice that such victims don't fret about other diseases, such as tuberculosis or small pox or polia, etc.

For there are only a few medical punishments that are generally linked with God.

If the victim still is healthy after a year or two, then she may wonder if God may not strike via the next baby and either make it feebleminded or deformed or kill it via the usual children's ailments.

An open house reception in honor of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred LaLone of Watkins Lake Road, will be held Sunday at Guinn's Banquet Hall from 2 to 6 p.m. The couple was married May 14, 1917 in Pontiac. Their children, Norman, Mrs. Allister Carpenter, Mrs. Paul Miller, Mrs. James Haggard and Mrs. Leroy Hartman, all of Pontiac, 26 grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren will be present. Another son, Charles, lives in San Diego, Calif.

NEW YORK (AP) — What is worse than falling in love?

A person in love is usually only a nuisance to himself — or perhaps to one other person, his beloved. But anyone on a diet is a nuisance to nearly everyone.

That's why all the world may love a lover, but no one in history has ever been stirred to build a diet

House Unit Ups Defense Funds

By Science Service

WASHINGTON—The House Armed Services Committee is insisting that Defense Secretary Robert McNamara spend more money than he wants to.

In reporting out the authorization bill for defense procurement and research and development, the committee urged that work be begun on the antiballistic missile system, added $83 millin to the budget request for two nuclear guided-missile frigates and nearly doubled the Defense Department's $26-million request for the development of an advanced bomber to replace the B52.

At the same time, the House committee authorized the Defense Department's fiscal 1968 budget request for $615 million for military sciences, a category that includes most of the department's expenditures for basic research.

Included in the authorization is $27 million for Project Themis, a program to set up centers of study in various universities to develop competent research personnel.

INVITED TO JOIN

★ ★ ★

The committee report urged the spending of the appropriation as a first step to deploy a "thin" defense of U.S. cities against a Soviet missile attack. The thin defense would cost an estimated $9.9 billion.

Electric Pulse Generator Gets Patented

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — A compact power generator that can put out a 23,000-watt pulse of electricity was patented last week. The generator uses the principle of magnetohydrodynamic energy (MHD) to produce the electric pulse.

Inventor Robert C. Brumfield, who assigned patent No. 3,317,763 to MHD Research Inc., a subsidiary of Hercules Powder Co., claims the device could be used for high-power radar, sonar, laser light pumps and emergency communications systems.

MHD generators produce electricity by sending a conducting stream of gas through a magnetic field. Electrodes in the generator draw off the current produced.

The patented generators has a small explosive surrounded by a cesium compound that gasifies easily when heated. When the explosive is set off, the cesium gas bursts through a diaphragm and into a chamber where magnets create the necessary field and electrodes draw off the current.

According to test models, the generator produces a pulse with a peak power of 23 megawatts, lasting about .00006 seconds. The gas moves through the chamber at 8,000 meters per second (600 miles per hour).

REACTOR FUEL PURIFIED

A new process for obtaining uranium dioxide without contaminating heavier oxides was patented this week. Inventors John J. Scott and Neil C. Turnbull assigned patent No. 3,317,284 to the Norton Co. of Worcester, Mass.

Uranium dioxide, used in fuel elements for nuclear power reactors, has to be extremely pure to prevent corrosion of the fuel element containers.

Major problems are oxides of uranium that contain an excess of oxygen, such as U3O8 and U4O9. When the fuel is heated by fission in the reactor, these compounds release their excess oxygen as gas, with the danger of bursting the fuel container.

The new process uses a tank with two electrodes connected to a 250 kilowatt power source. Uranium ore is placed in the tank and melted by the electric arc produced across the electrodes.

In conventional treatment of uranium, the melted ore is simply allowed to cool, but this allows too many contaminants to remain.

In the new process, an inert gas such as argon is pumped through the melted ore as it cools, purging out all free gases. Then hydrogen gas is pumped through. The hydrogen reacts with the excess oxygen in the undesired uranium oxides, forming water and leaving only the uranium dioxide, UO2.

In tests using the new process, uranium ore with a ratio of 2.7 oxygen atoms to one uranium atom was reduced to uranium dioxide with a ratio of between 1.999 and 2.014 atoms of oxygen to one of uranium, well within acceptable limits.

A high temperature sensing device that does not break down in operation received patent No. 3,317,353 this week. Clifford R. Bingham assigned the patent to Honeywell, Inc.

The thermometer, which is designed to operate in the range of 3,000 degrees F., uses the principle of the thermocouple: a pair of strips of different metals joined at one end. When the joint is heated, an electric voltage is generated across the free ends of the strips that varies according to the temperature of the joint.

In practice, the joint is enclosed in an insulating jacket that usually expands at a different rate than the metal strips.

It's Zoo Time Again!

By LOIS MANDIBERG

Spring brings colds, restless youngsters and aching parental feet from trips to the zoo.

Opening day traditionally brings the children chanting: "Going to the zoo. Going to the zoo. We'll see the lions and the monkeys and your other relatives, too."

Unfortunately, the damp cool weather may keep some animals in their warm caves and out of sight.

The birds and the reptiles will be in their warm glass houses. The ape house should be open also, although the monkeys may still be huddling inside waiting for the temperature to warm up another 10 degrees.

DOESN'T BOTHER 'EM

But the three new baby polar bears have been out swimming and catching fish for weeks. The cold weather doesn't seem to bother them.

Other youngsters making their first public appearance will be baby reindeer, a young zebra, a 10-month-old orangutan and an already ferocious young tiger cub.

The baby hippo is housed inside the heated hippopotamus caves nuzzling up to his mother to keep warm. "Abe," the 4-month-old camel, will be moved out to the children's zoo as soon as weather permits.

Despite the weather those superstars, the chimpanzees, plan to open their 1967 spectacular, "Music, Music Everywhere." Harvey, Tod, Louie, Jackie and KiKi will lead a chimp and pony cast in antics to music from different lands.

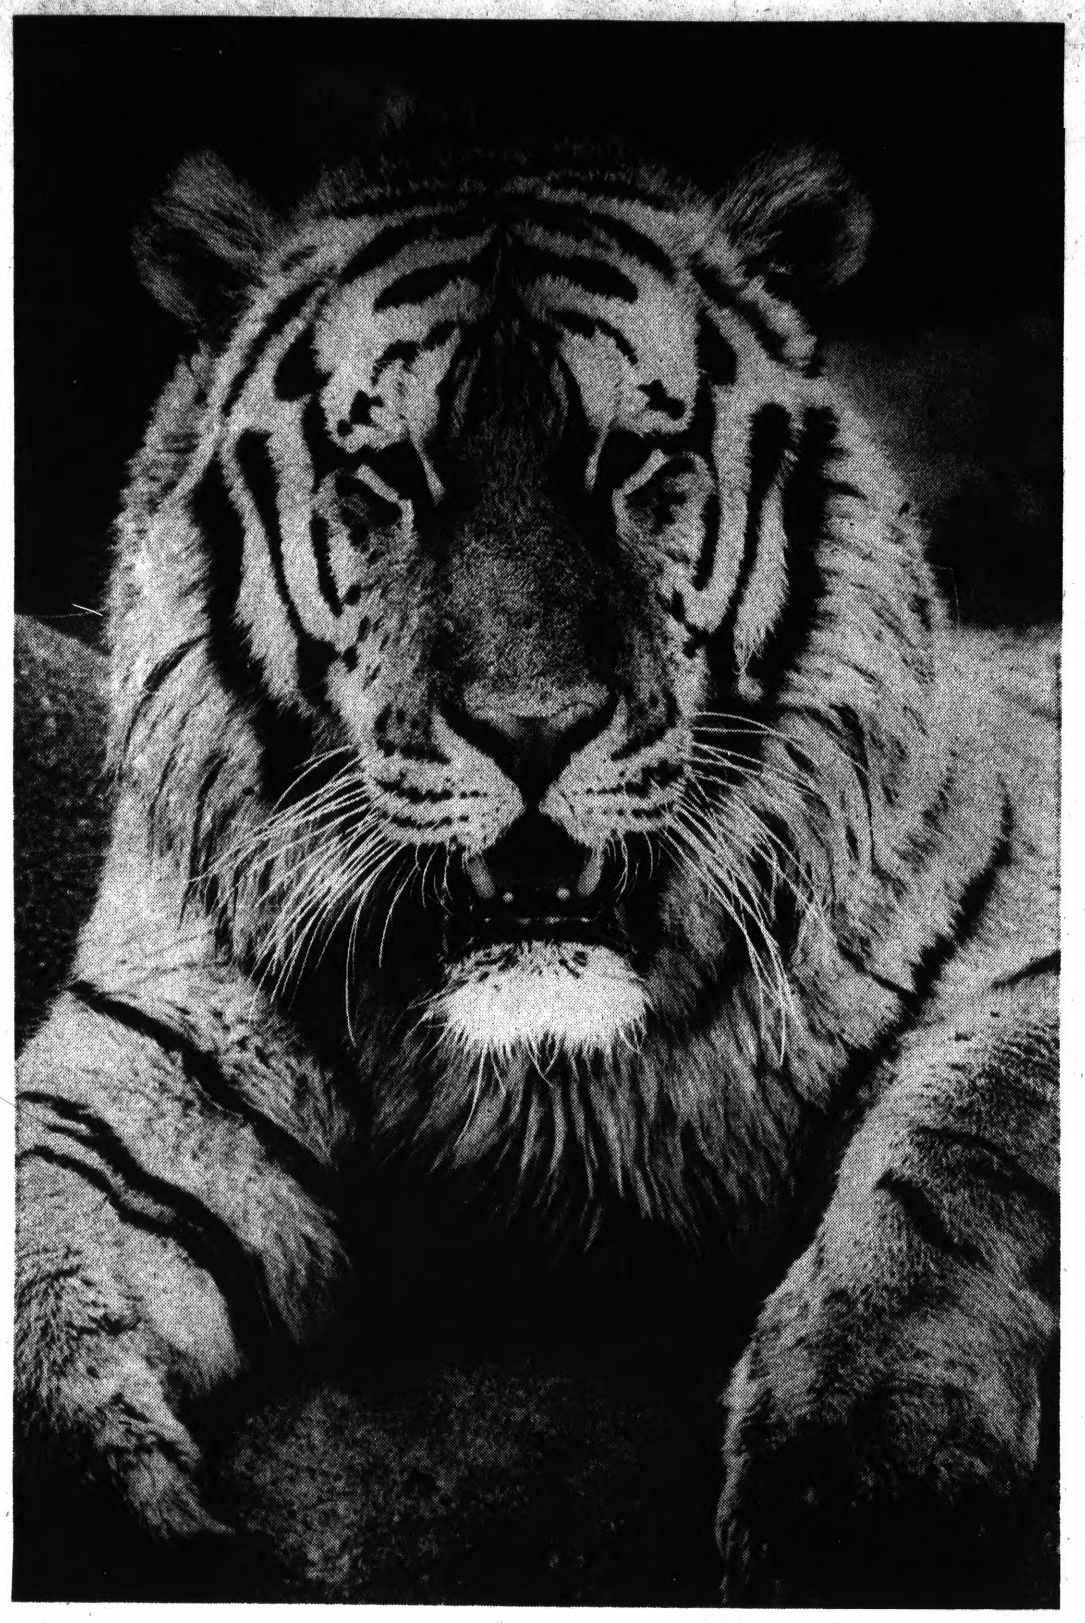

ELEPHANT PRODUCTION

Under construction near the bird house is a $430,000 triangular penguin house to be finished for the 1968 season.

Zoo visiting hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays and holidays.

IN POWER STRUGGLE — Philadelphia's National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is involved in a fight for leadership in which Cecil Moore (left), local branch president, says the national group, in splitting Philadelphia into five sections is "trying to rip me into pieces." Philip Savage (right), director of the NAACP tristate region of New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware has been assigned the task of organizing four separate units, leaving Moore isolated as head of the North Philadelphia area where he lives.

Congress in No Hurry on LBJ Rail Proposals

It has until June 19 to do something to prevent a strike that Alan S. Boyd, secretary of transportation, says would have a disastrous impact on the economy.

Boyd's comment came in a letter to Chairman Harley O. Staggers of the House Commerce Committee who suggested Tuesday that no action by Congress might be the fairest approach, even if it means a strike.

Boyd, who testifies before the committee today, noted the Council of Economic Advisers estimated in 1963 that a one-month rail strike would cause a 13 per cent reduction in the gross national product and force 6.5 million people out of work.

STRIKE INDICATED

Congress may wait until just before the June 19 deadline until it acts. That is when the current 47-day no-strike, no-lockout period expires.

Under Johnson's proposal, a compulsory settlement would be enforced if management and the unions fail to reach agreement during an additional 90-day period. It would last at least through 1968.

LEGISLATION OPPOSED

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz made it clear to the House Committee that he opposes converting the administration's plan for a compulsory settlement, if necessary, in the shopcraft dispute into permanent legislation for all transportation emergencies.

As for Staggers' suggestion that perhaps no action should be taken, Wirtz said that would be fine if it forces an agreement.

But he added that if it fails to work, "I don't think this country would tolerate a railroad strike."

Woodsman Held as Ax-Slaying Witness

CRYSTAL FALLS (AP) — A 67-year-old woodsman, found lying under a hemlock tree, was held as a material witness today in the ax slaying of Leo Reitmeyer of Iron River.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff's deputy Ray Tegge said he found Pete Simmons, in whose trailer the victim's body was found last Thursday, lying under the tree about 12 miles north of Iron River Tuesday.

Simmons, suffering from exposure and malnutrition, was wrapped in a blanket, his body partially covered with boughs, said Tegge.

"We cleaned him up and gave him something to eat," said Iron County Sheriff Edward P. Sandri. "We plan to question him today."

Reitmeyer, 52, was struck 11 times with an ax May 2. Authorities said any of the 11 blows could have been fatal. The body was discovered two days later in Simmons' trailer by Reitmeyer's brother, Charles. Both Simmons and the victim worked as pulp cutters for Charles Reitmeyer, police said.

★ ★ ★

Tegge said the wooded area where he found Simmons was not far from Simmons' trailer. Tegge said he took Simmons to Stambaugh General Hospital for treatment, where doctors released him in care of the sheriff at Crystal Falls.

Philadelphia Battle Threatens NAACP

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is chopping its Philadelphia branch into five pieces in hopes of expanding membership and civil rights activities.

But, so far the major result is a rip-roaring battle among Negro leaders. One says it could destroy the movement.

The national NAACP is taking similar base-broadening action in other American cities where the Negro population is more than 200,000 — Houston, Dallas, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Omaha, Kansas City (Mo.), Chicago and Detroit.

But in these places there is no serious struggle for power as in Philadelphia.

'REPRESENTS MASSES'

"They're trying to rip me into pieces," said Cecil Moore, a cigar-smoking attorney with a liking for expensive all-silk suits who has been local branch president since 1963.

"They'll never do it, though. I represent the masses of Negroes. They're with me, and they'll stay with me."

Moore, who is an independent candidate for mayor this fall, sought an injunction to stop the break-up of his power, but was turned down by both a lower court and the State Supreme Court, which said they had no jurisdiction in the case.

But Moore hinted this week he might seek further legal action.

ASSIGNED TASK

Philip Savage, director of the NAACP's tristate region — Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware — has been assigned the task of organizing four separate units leaving Moore isolated as head of the north Philadelphia area where he lives.

Savage, a former schoolteacher who speaks quietly in contrast to Moore's raspy tones, estimates there are about 700,000 Negroes in the nation's fourth largest city. The 1960 census had 535,032 Negroes, or 26.7 per eent of the 2 million population.

Savage reported that the national NAACP had counted only 556 paid memberships from Philadelphia for the first four months of this year, compared with 4,000 at the end of 1966.

Moore disputed this. "We have 8,000 members today," he said.

"I'm not going to attack Moore," said Savage, "but when he took over the presidency in 1963 there were more than 27,000 members in the chapter, and I helped bring them in with a massive organizing drive."

Again from Moore: "We only had 4,000 when I was elected. I built it up to over 20,000. It has fallen to 8,000 now because of sabotage in the ranks."

Among those he blamed, Moore listed Bertram A. Levy, treasurer of the Philadelphia branch since 1963 until he resigned this week.

Right-Wingers Riot in Paris

Protest Leftist Rally in Favor of Vietcong

PARIS (UPI) — Right-wing students rioted on the Left Bank against a pro-Vietcong rally last night, hurling a Molotov cocktail and burning Russian flags.

But other bands of the right-wingers raced through Paris streets. One group of about 30 attacked the building housing the Communist North Vietnamese delgation to Paris.

Police ran paddy wagons up and down the streets near the Sorbonne, the great Parisian university on the Left Bank of the Seine. They grappled with the right-wingers in a series of lamp-lit battles.

Psychiatrist: Leisure Time Causing New U.S. Neurosis

DETROIT (UPI) — A psychiatrist today both diagnosed and prescribed for a relatively new mass neurosis of Americans. It is the "idle hands" neurosis and its consequence is the "giddy mind."

It is caused, said Dr. Alexander Reid Martin, by shorter workdays and work weeks, longer weekends and vacations and the "population explosion of people over 65 which represents millions of man hours in retirement."

All the aristocracies of history did not have the free time Americans have now, Martin told the annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association.

"After ages of orientation to a work culture, the arrival of abundant free time has subjected us to the most sudden and radical change in our evolutionary history," he said.

★ ★ ★

"This rapid transition has created an adaptational crisis, seriously affecting every aspect of our lives—social, economic, political, educational, psychological."

'INNER-DIRECTION'

To healthily use free time, people must be "inner-directed" — their "own master." But, Martin continued, the "work culture" makes people "other-directed" and prevents them from early childhood onward from developing their own inner resources.

In "neurotically disposed individuals" free time produces a "spoil sport" attitude, psychomatic disturbance like headaches and gastrointestinal irritability, "boredom, tedium, deadness and emptiness," Martin said.

All previous ages feared idle time for the masses. Martin reminded that Henry IV of England advocated foreign wars to keep soldiers and citizenry busy and the Romans diverted their masses with "bread and circuses."

Humphrey to Visit Detroit and Talk With Car Makers

DETROIT (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is coming to Michigan for a one-day whirl Thursday.

Undoubtedly his most important stop will be lunch—with the presidents of the four largest auto makers and the chairmen of three of them.

Safety and air pollution are likely topics. And a possibility is the likelihood of strikes in new contract bargaining with the United Auto Workers Union.

Whether he will see UAW President Walter P. Reuther privately could not be determined immediately either from Humphrey's or Reuther's offices.

NEWSMEN BARRED

Newsmen will be shut out of the meeting with the auto magnates, and security measures generally equal or surpass those set up for a presidential visit.

Humphrey will confine his visit to the Detroit area.

His plane is scheduled to land at Detroit City Airport at 9:30 a.m., and he's due for his first stop at 10 a.m. at Detroit's Veterans Memorial Building.

The vice president has invited some 40 metropolitan area government and community leaders to meet with him there.

INVITATION

The invitations said: "As chairman of the President's Council on Youth Opportunity I want to share with you our plans and learn from you how we can work together to make this a summer full of opportunity for all our young people."

Missing among some 10 to 15 mayors invited will be Detroit's Jerome Cavanagh, who said he was unable to alter a schedule made months ago to be in New York today and Thursday, signing $13 million in city bonds. Council President Ed Carey was named to represent the mayor.

Labor leaders also are among those invited to the Veterans Memorial meeting, but if Reuther meets him here it undoubtedly would be with persons outside labor on hand and not conducive to strike or no-strike discussion.

Newsmen also are to be barred from this session, but Humphrey's temporary schedule calls for him to follow it with a news conference a floor below the penthouse scene of the get-together.

PROTESTERS PARK IN PENTAGON — A delegation from the Committee for Nonviolent Action managed to get inside the Pentagon yesterday but were stopped in an attempt to enter the office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The group wanted to occupy the highly secret National Military Command Center to protest the Vietnam war and the military draft. Twelve of the demonstrators remained in the Pentagon lobby overnight in a fasting, sit-in protest.

No Baby Sitter Was Available

Inspector Has Junior Deputies

Novak is a deputy inspector of the Wayne County Road Patrol and he has three little deputies, junior grade—Ann, 12, Michael, 8, and Richard, 7.

On five recent occasions, Novak said, he took his children along while keeping surveillance on a number of men suspected of crimes in western Wayne County.

Novak, a widower for two years, said he was unable to find a babysitter when the surveillance assignments arose.

He says, though, that things worked out well.

The children were valuable camouflage in the work, Novak said.

Driving an unmarked car, Novak and his partner would try to keep close tabs on the suspects. "No one would ever suspect that we were police because we had kids in the car," he said. "If a suspect stopped for a hamburger, we could follow him into the restaurant with the kids, watch him, and not be suspected."

The Novak children also became experienced license plate spotters. Novak would give them the license number of a car under surveillance and tell them to watch for it. "The kids were very eager and could pick out the cars quickly," he said.

According to Novak, there was no danger in taking the children because they were only observing the suspects.

"We were trying to find out more about the suspects than they knew about themselves," Novak said. "We did not plan to make any arrests."

The trips with the children usually lasted from two to three hours. Except for an occasional stop at a restaurant, all of the time was spent in the car.

So far, 28 men have been charged with burglary, theft, and receiving and concealing stolen property as a result of the operation which ran from late January through early April. Novak said the suspects have been operating as a gang with headquarters at a Dearborn heights bar and bowling alley.

State Capital Happenings

By The Associated Press

THE GOVERNOR

Ordered state departments to delay filling vacancies, cut purchases and be ready to eliminate low priority services in case a budget slash is required.

Appointed Nathan Conyers, Detroit Democrat, to the State Board of Canvassers.

THE SENATE

Met for 2½ hours in the afternoon, with most of the time spent in debate over a bill to raise entrance fees to state parks.

THE HOUSE

Passed:

HB2832, Allen. Cut franchise tax of firms running deficit.

HB2480, Jacobetti. Make it a misdemeanor to remove or destroy barriers around a mineshaft.

Training Institute Will Hold 'Fair' to Raise Funds

The Oakland Training Institute, a joint venture of the County Mental Health Services Board and Oakland Schools, will hold its "country Fair" tomorrow from 7 to 11 p.m.

An auction, variety show and games are some of the scheduled activities at the educational and training facility for retarded young persons located at 22929 John R, Hazel Park.

Purpose of the fair is to raise money for the institute's general activities fund and to give the public an opportunity to visit the facility.

All 80 trainees will have a part in the fair including some who will participate in the variety show.

Exam Set; Teen Faces 2 Charges

Preliminary examination for a 17-year-old St. Ignace youth, charged with breaking and entering a West Bloomfield Township store and possesion of a stolen car, will be 2 p.m. May 23 before Township Justice Christian Powell.

★ ★ ★

Sylvester is in Oakland County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond, $5,000 on each count.

The suspect and a 15-year-old juvenile were captured early yesterday by Pontiac State Police during an alleged break-in of Walls Hardware and Gift, 6545 Commerce.

The pair also is being questioned about other break-ins in West Bloomfield and Commerce townships the past two days.

A car they allegedly were using was reported stolen from Pickford.

Ω OMEGA Constellation

Self-winding, calendar-dial Constellation chronometer, $185
Other Constellations, $175 to $1000

The rating of "chronometer" is reserved for timepieces of exceptional accuracy which have undergon 360 hours of rigid testing . . . in extremes of heat and cold. The peerless accuracy of every Omega Constellation is certified by an official Swiss Testing Bureau. So exacting are these tests, less than one out of every 50,000 watches qualifies for this coveted rating. In addition to official chronometer tests, Constellation's 24-jewel automatic movement receives 1497 quality-control inspections during manufacture . . . assuring longer life.

Powered by gravity, the Omega Constellation winds itself as you wear it. Without hand-winding, or power-cells which frequently need replacing, it will run for years and years, as long as you wear it. Calendar-dial models tell the exact date as well as the precise time . . . automatically. The Constellation is one of the world's finest watches. Ask for free Omega style brochure.

IN LAND BATTLE—Ben Elfers hopes that one one day he and his boat, "Big Ben," will be back in action around Lake Erie's Kelly's Island. But the State of Ohio has other plans. The state claims it has an option on island land owned by Elfers and has filed a court suit in order to acquire it for a park. Elfers wants the land for his own business purposes.

Old Battle Continues

Man Takes On Ohio

By NOEL GROVE

KELLY'S ISLAND, Ohio—(NEA)—On the north side of this little island in Lake Erie just off the Ohio mainland, a bump of land creates a calm, quiet bay where small boats flock on a summer sailing day.

It's a natural setting for a marina with dockage and boat services — gas for the motorboats, ice and cold beer for the canvas crowd.

Ben Elfers knows it. So does the State of Ohio. Ben owns the land, and the state wants it to complete its plans for a park.

It's not a new situation by any means. State appropriation vs. private ownership is as old as the first road that ever cut through a carrot patch or the park that swallowed a back pasture.

★ ★ ★

But, somewhere in the Kelly Island case, between the state's desire to serve the majority of the people and a young man's fight to cling to a dream, lies the very essence of the conflict that can arise between an individual and his government.

OWNED BY GROUP

The land claimed by Ben Elfers, 34, stocky former tackle at Ohio State, was once owned by a Kelly Island group called the Fishermen's Co-op.

The co-op was originally a group of Lake Erie commercial fishermen, including Ben's father, who were later forced out of business by competition from Canada, availability of salt-water fish, and lack of market control over their perishable product.

His wife Carol shares his passion for the impertinent little province, whose isolation seems only to make residents more resilient and self-reliant.

LONG TO RETURN

A return to Kelly's Island is foremost in their minds.

"It's my home," says Ben. "I want to live there, and have my children grow up there, as I did."

"I got all kinds of ideas about how I would redevelop that property for tourist trade, so we could come back and live on the island.

Years passed and the property sat idle. Ben bought a small farm just outside the little mainland town of Milan. He remodeled the old frame house on the farm, leased part of the land, and put the rest in the soil bank.

OTHER PLANS

Meanwhile, Ohio park officials were forming some plans of their own.

For years they had been buying land near the old fishery docks. The sandy beach adjoining the co-op property, the only stretch of beach suitable for swimming on the island, became state property.

Plans were announced for dredging out a harbor extending from the beach into the state land. Officials wanted the Fishermen's Co-op docks for more boat space.

GRANTED OPTION

Suddenly the state was granted an option on the property and Ben felt his island dream slipping through his fingers like a Lake Erie pickerel through a worn trap net.

But the co-op later rescinded the option because all members including Ben's father, had not been consulted before it was granted. The group agreed, instead, to sell it to Ben.

Ben now has the property he wanted, but he's a bitter man. State officials maintain the original option should be honored and have filed court suit to that effect.

★ ★ ★

Work he did in clearing brush and trash from the property may be in vain if he loses the land.

REFUSE TO PAY

And boat owners who have their old fishing launches stored on his beach refuse to pay rent, confident he will lose it eventually, thus blocking any further improvements he wants to make.

To top it all, a lake storm in 1966 made a shambles of the concrete docks, which will require expensive repair.

Through condemnation, the state can have the land in any event. But costs could be prohibitive if they must recognize Ben's ownership and pay him not only for the land value but also the commercial potential which he might realize in future years.

Civilian Politicos Weakening Nigeria Leader's Hand

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Civilian politicians are stepping into the shadow civil war between Nigeria's military leaders and appear to be weakening the hand of Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowon, head of the federal military government.

The civilians have forced the federal regime to postpone a constitutional conference again, and are threatening Gowon's efforts to keep Nigeria's other three regions united against the rebellious East.

Gowon, boosted to power by an army uprising last July, wants to keep the oil-rich East in a federation under strong central control. He has proposed dividing Africa's most populous country into as many as 14 states to isolate the tribal and regional rivalries that resulted in the massacre of thousands of Easterners living in the North last fall.

★ ★ ★

A constitutional conference at which Gowon hopes to put over his plans for a federation was rescheduled for last Friday after a boycott by Eastern representatives forced its suspension last November. But it was put off again last week after Chief Obafemi Awolowo, Nigeria's leading politician, resigned as head of the Western region's delegation.

Other Western politicians announced that they would accept a "constitutional arrangement that is looser than hitherto" and Midwestern spokesmen called for a "looser federation" — both positions encouraging to the East.

The Westerners complicated the constitutional issue by linking it with another regional dispute. They said they would not take part in constitutional talks until Northern troops stationed in the West went home.

SOVIET, U.S. EXHIBITS — The hammer and sickle monument at the Soviet pavilion at Expo 67, Montreal, dwarfs the United States' exhibit in the background. The monument marks the date and 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, 1917 and 1967. In three languages on one side, the monument says, "Everything for the sake of man, for the benefit of man."

Ex-Superstar Has Image Problem as a Congressman

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — The photographer, hoping for some sort of unusual shot, suggested that Congressman Bob Mathias step back a few paces and then hurdle his big oak desk.

Mathias could have hurdled it easily enough. At 36, he looks as fit as he did that day 19 years ago when he won the first of his two Olympic decathlon championships.

At the suggestion, though, Mathias frowned and shook his head no. "I don't want to be photographed with my pipe, either," he said, stuffing his long-stemmed pipe into his coat pocket.

On the other hand, he's proud of those two gold medals. He is a legend in sports.

WOULDN'T LOOK GOOD

But to be photographed smoking wouldn't look so good back in California at the Bob Mathias Sierra Boys Camp, which he owns and operates.

It is a problem of image, the conflict of maintaining the old one and at the same time playing it down.

Mathias is visibly struggling.

While he will tell you things in his first four months in elected office have gone "fairly well," he is not at all at ease discussing the thornier political problems of the day.

NOT TIED DOWN

"I am a Republican. Beyond that, I don't know labels. I mean I know them, but I don't necessarily identify with one in particular.

I am not tied to Gov. Reagan or anyone else big in the party."

"He has other pluses," an aide said. "He's sensitive and sincere. He works hard. He tries, really tries."

But being Bob Mathias, superathlete, these last 19 years is not now a plus.

He is accustomed to good press, the limelight wherever he goes. He knows only success.

"This town is full of tough people, some ready to chew you up if they can," the aide went on.

"I think Bob is now seeing it. He's into the pressure, but he's smart enough to know this is another battle, that he shouldn't draw any unrealistic parallels between politics and winning the decathlon.

"It's a different kind of pressure here. The adjustment is to accepting a setback now and then and regrouping. Like with the image business. He's making that adjustment," the aide said.

Newsletters Have an Underlying Trait

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON — One of the major industries in Washington is the production of "newsletters" that give, or purport to give, inside information.

WEST

They are published by the score in a bewildering variety of formats on a wide range of subjects. But generally speaking they have one thing in common. Many of the words, some of the sentences and occasionally even entire paragraphs are underlined. This is what gives newsletters their special charm.

Other publications may provide the same tips, trends, analyses, forecasts, rumors and background data. But only the newsletters underline them.

When a newsletter subscriber comes across something that has been underlined, he knows he is reading something really significant — even if it might otherwise seem unconsequential.

★ ★ ★

TRAINING NEGLECTED

A good newsletter editor must first and foremost be a good underliner. Yet, training in this field has been badly neglected.

I am proposing therefore that journalism schools consider offering courses in advanced underlining, which students may take in lieu of headline writing.

★ ★ ★

And on the chance that some college might want to hire me as an underlining professor, I have already prepared the final examination.

COURSE FOR STUDENTS

I have taken some recent news items and written them in newsletter style, but with the underlines omitted. Students will be required to fill in the underlines.

If you would like to take the test as a sort of correspondence course, be my guest. Grades supplied upon request.

The do-it-yourself newsletter—Inside psychedelics: Atomic Energy Commission has expanded security risk list to include nonmedical users of hallucinogenic drugs. However, hippies are unconcerned, insiders report.

With LSD, they can dream up their own atomic secrets. Which may be more interesting than AEC's.

Three Schools to Pioneer Curriculum Plan

By ED BLUNDEN

Three schools in the Bloomfield Hills School District will begin a curriculum plan next fall that will change many traditional patterns of education—the Continuous Progress System.

Covering kindergarten through high school, the program has been called the most sweeping change in the district's history.

Involved will be Way Elementary, East Hills Junior High and Lahser High.

The new curriculum is an extension of the theory that each pupil should proceed with each subject at his own pace.

Robert Boston, assistant superintendent for curriculum, an educator who has had much to do with implementing the program, answers some questions on the new system:

Q. Where has this system been used before and how successful has it been?

A. To our knowledge a continuous progress-systems approach in all subject areas has never been used anywhere before. However, many school systems throughout the United States have had continuous progress programs of more limited scope (elementary only, secondary only, one or two subjects only, etc.) for a number of years.

Most schools using continuous progress report that their efforts have been successful — that they are doing a better job of meeting the individual needs of each student. However, without knowing the criteria for judging "success," it would be impossible for us to answer this question more specifically.

Q. Is there a firm basis for believing a student will "learn more" this way?

A. No claim has been made that the learner will "learn more" — only that he will achieve EQUAL TO, OR BETTER than he now does.

Q. Do you think this type of study is the type that all districts will someday adopt?

A. I would have no basis on which to make such a projection. Certainly, it would be my hope that school districts would consider individualizing their programs to better meet the needs of each student, but imposing a particular pattern on all would result in little more than a label change.

Q. Is this program meant to improve all students or just the quick learner?

A. This program is designed to meet the needs of EVERY student, identifying where he stands academically in each area and allowing him to progress as rapidly as he is able.

Area News

Q. What if a student is excellent in one subject, say math, and poor in another, English perhaps, what effect will this have?

A. The student will be in classes with his own chronological age group but will receive instruction and work in materials appropriate to his achievement level in each subject area.

Q. Will students receive grades, A, B, C, etc.?

A. Students in grades 7-12 will receive letter grades, but elementary children will not. (This is no departure from the present reporting system.)

Q. Will class levels, junior, sophomore, etc., still exist?

A. Yes.

Q. Will a pupil be able to finish school sooner, a 12-year course in 10 years, for instance?

A. The pupil may finish the regular K-12 program in 10 years, but he will not graduate sooner. Instead he may proceed into advanced college placement courses for which he will receive college credit upon successful completion of the advanced college placement exams.

Q. Could a student finish the school year early and take an extra month off?

A. No, students will be required to be in attendance a minimum number of days each year. That's an interesting idea, though.

Q. How will exams be handled since there will be no more midterms, finals, etc?

A. Students will take exams whenever they complete course requirements rather than on a specific calendar date.

Q. How will parents know where their child stands academically?

A. Initially, parents will receive this information in a summer conference. Thereafter, parents of elementary students will be informed of their children's progress at regular parent-teacher conferences, and parents of junior and senior high students will receive regular written report cards with special conferences arranged at any time upon request.

Q. There has been publicity recently about high school students "with ulcers" due to the fierce competition for grades. Isn't this system likely to promote competitiveness?

A. This system will DE-EMPHASIZE competition between and among students and will emphasize a child's competition with himself to better his own past performance.

Motivation, then, will be intrinsic rather than extrinsic.

Q. The school district recruits teachers from all over the country. How well will they be able to handle the new situation and will it require retraining on their part?

A. All teachers participating in this program will receive special training on teaching methodology, utilization of materials, etc. during the summer months.

Q. Will the district need new facilities (and if so, what kind)?

A. The program could be initiated with present facilities, but minor additions and remodeling will increase our flexibility and contribute to our goal of better meeting the individual needs of each student.

For example, larger learning spaces rather than self-contained classrooms would enable us to utilize two or more teachers within an area to accommodate the achievement range of the students in the room.

Q. Can the standard textbooks be used?

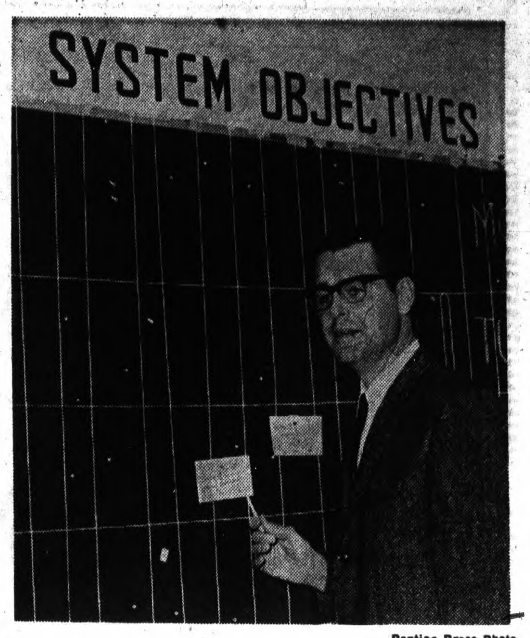

A. Standard textbooks will provide ONE of the media used to help students acquire the fundamental skills. However, rather than having a single standard text adoption in a subject such as seventh-grade mathematics, a wide variety of textbooks and other materials will be used to provide the best possible instruction for each student.

Q. What direct benefit can the parents of a student expect?

A. The following benefits could be expected, recognizing that not all students will exhibit the same behaviors and that there will be variations in degree:

★ ★ ★

- Attention to individual needs in each subject area.
- Greater opportunity for the shy, withdrawn child to become actively involved in the learning process.
- Improved attitude toward school based on successful achievement in each subject area.

Robert Boston: Each Student Can Improve

Muir School to Get 4 Portable Rooms

MILFORD — The Huron Valley Board of Education last night awarded contracts for four portable classrooms to be used at Muir Junior High School next year.

The contract went to Educator Sales, Inc., of Jackson in the amount of $1,650 per unit on an annual rental basis plus $800 per unit to erect each classroom.

Gerald Kratz, administrative assistant, said the classrooms will be used to house the overflow of pupils at the school next year.

Pupils from both Highland and Muir junior high's will be housed at Muir for the first half of the year to ease anticipated overcrowding.

In other action the board opened bids on a heating system at Duck Lake Elementary; bleachers, a sound system and partitions at Muir Junior High; a sound system at Highland Junior High; and gym partitions at the high school.

Contracts will be awarded at the next board meeting.

The low bid for moveable walls at the high school was from Brunswick, Inc., for $15,312, at Muir from the same company for $14,819 or a combination bid of $29,725.

Brunswick also submitted the low bid for folding bleachers in the amount of $7,083.

Lake Orion Council to Sift Applications for Village Manager

LAKE ORION — The Village Council was to meet in special session at 7 tonight to review applications for the newly created position of village manager and to prepare new specifications for a garbage pickup contract.

President Wallace Crane said three applications for the manager's job had been received. It is his hope that a decision will be made at tonight's meeting.

The position is provided for under the new charter approved by voters this spring.

Regulations applying to bids as stated in the new charter have made necessary a revision of specifications for the garbage collection job.

The contract with Bushman Disposal Co. of Lake Orion has expired, and it is the company's proposal to start charging a $1 fee for individual use of the dump.

★ ★ ★

Since the individual fee was not included in specifications and since there is some question as to the bonding of the contractor, Crane said the council would probably submit new specifications.

School to Hold Spring Concert

AVON TOWNSHIP — West Junior High School's Spring Concert at 8 p.m. tomorrow will feature the 100-voice Honors Choir.

★ ★ ★

The choir, which recently won four No. 1 ratings in district and honors festivals, will sing "Michigan Morn," "The Water Is Wide," "Somewhere My Love" and "O Lord, Ruler of All Nations", by Tchaikowsky, sung in 8 parts.

Soloists include Randy and Terry Luxton, a song and guitar team; Paul Harden singing the lead in "Ride the Chariot"; and Sherry Rose singing "Moon River."

The eighth grade chorus and seventh grade vocal music classes will assist. A group of boys will sing "I Want a Girl" and "Jesus Walked This Lonesome Valley."

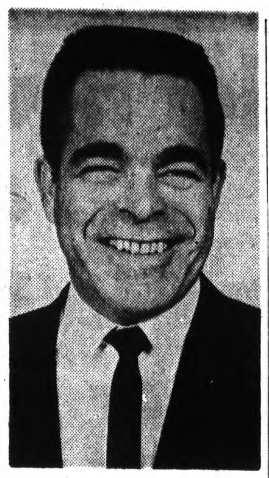

★ ★ ★

Bernard Leshley, director, will present choir pins provided by the student council to the Honors Choir following finale selections "The Happy Wanderer" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Topic Is Therapy for Mongolism

UTICA — Dr. Clemens E. Benda of Arlington, Mass., will discuss the therapy and treatment he uses for mongoloid children at a meeting of the Mongoloid Children's Association at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at West Utica Elementary School.

JAMES W. THOMPSON

New Principal for Junior High Is Named in Utica

UTICA — The board of education has named James W. Thompson, assistant principal at the Utica Senior High School, as principal of Sterling Junior High School.

He replaces Arthur Harper who was promoted to the position of director of secondary education.

Troy Group Picks Officers

TROY — The Northeast Troy Home Improvement Association has elected C. B. Blankenship of 2165 Chancery as president of the group.

Other officers chosen are Edward C. Nagy of 2095 Chancery, vice president; Mrs. Harry Valdes of 43787, secretary; and Mrs. Chester Motloch of 43601 Dequindre, treasurer.

New members on the board of directors are Mrs. Vern Sprigg of 2111 Gulliver and Marvin Oswald of 2113 Stirling.

Farmington Twp. Refuses Study Funds

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The proverbial rug has been yanked from under the proposed study of consolidation for this area. However, plans for the study have not entirely collapsed.

The Township Board recently voted not to contribute financially to the study, at least until after its own incorporation vote in October.

Citizens responsible for the study, which they want to turn over to a group of professionals, are not giving up hope though. They will wait until after the city of Farmington meets next Monday before deciding whether to proceed with the study.

"Naturally we're disappointed," said Dr. John Richardson, chairman of the Future Farmington Area Study Committee, "but we'll wait until after all the units of governments have voted to see what happens next."

★ ★ ★

Of the governmental units which would be involved in the proposed merger, Wood Creek Farms has agreed to the study, Quakertown meets tonight and Farmington next Monday.

STUDIED FOR MONTHS

Citizens who have been studying advantages and disadvantages of consolidation for several months are now ready to turn continuation of the study over to the Institute for Community Development and Services at Michigan State University.

It would cost about $3,500 to conduct the study and the four communities have been asked to contribute to it on the basis of their assessed valuation.

"There is a question if we could legally do this because there has already been an injunction against us to prevent our spending public funds to change the township government," said Clerk Floyd A. Cairns in explaining the township's reluctance to join the study.

"It might also confuse the voters when it comes time to vote on our incorporation as a home rule city.

WAITING SUGGESTED

"Our feeling is that if consolidation is good now, why won't it be just as good after the township becomes a city," he said.

Troy Eyes New Way to Restrict Airfields

TROY — The City Commission is considering another aspect of its proposed ordinance regulating airfields.

Now under study is an amendment that would place a cost limitation on improvements to existing fields.

The proposed ordinance came under attack last month when it was labeled too restrictive by a State Department of Commerce official.

★ ★ ★

The commission has asked the city administration to study the amendment and give a report before voting on it.

REQUEST DENIED

A request for a bar license was denied by the commission. Harold Rodd asked for a license for a tavern at the corner of Dequindre and Iowa.

It was pointed out by the city administration that Troy has just two Class C Licenses available for allocation until the 1970 census. These are to be saved for larger establishments such as motels, it was indicated.

Two licenses to sell beer and wine to take out were approved. They were granted to Scott Market, 74 W. Maple, and Lowen Drug, 72 W. Maple.

Three sewer projects and one water project were approved.

Approved sewers: Hickory Heights North, estimated cost $105,300, to be assessed 100 per cent at $5.80 per front foot, $307 per acre; Larchwood, John R to Austin, estimated cost $41,565, assessed 100 per cent at $5.54 per front foot and $.029 per square foot; Tucker, John R, estimated cost $27,600, to be assessed 100 per cent at $9.32 per front foot.

WATER PROJECT

Water project approved was Hylane, estimated cost $11,140 with $9,840 to be assessed at $447 per unit.

The commission was notified a $40,000 grant from the Department of Conservation for park expansion has been approved.

The funds are to be used for recreational facilities at a recently purchased 27-acre addition to Boulan Park at Big Beaver and Crooks.

The commission is to meet next Monday, but will not meet on May 22, it was decided.

Dog Order Still in Effect

A dog quarantine imposed three weeks ago remains in effect in the townships of Shelby and Washington, the city of Utica and the village of Romeo.

Dr. Oscar Stryker, Macomb County health officer, reports Sterling Township was added last week to the quarantine area when a rabid skunk was found there.

The initial quarantine was imposed after skunks found to have rabies had bitten a dog and a Romeo woman in Shelby and Washington townships, respectively.

The quarantine prohibits dogs from running loose at any time, Stryker said.

Despite Protests on Budget

Novi Holds the Line

NOVI — A hold-the-line $367,370 budget has been adopted by the Village Council over the protests of the police department and about 40 citizens.

The police, backed up by the citizens, objected when the council adopted the budget without the raises recommended by Village Manager Harold N. Ackley.

Ackley said, that as of today, none of the officers have resigned although it appeared earlier that some of the might.

In his proposed budget, Ackley recommended for everyone but himself a 4 per cent raise for those employes earning more than $7,000, a 5 per cent raise for those earning $7,000 and a 6 per cent raise for those under $7,000.

This would have raised the police chief from $8,000 to $8,320; the sergeant from $7,500 to $7,800; corporals from $6,600 to $6,996; and the patrolmen from a starting salary of $6,000 to $6,378.

REFUSED RAISES

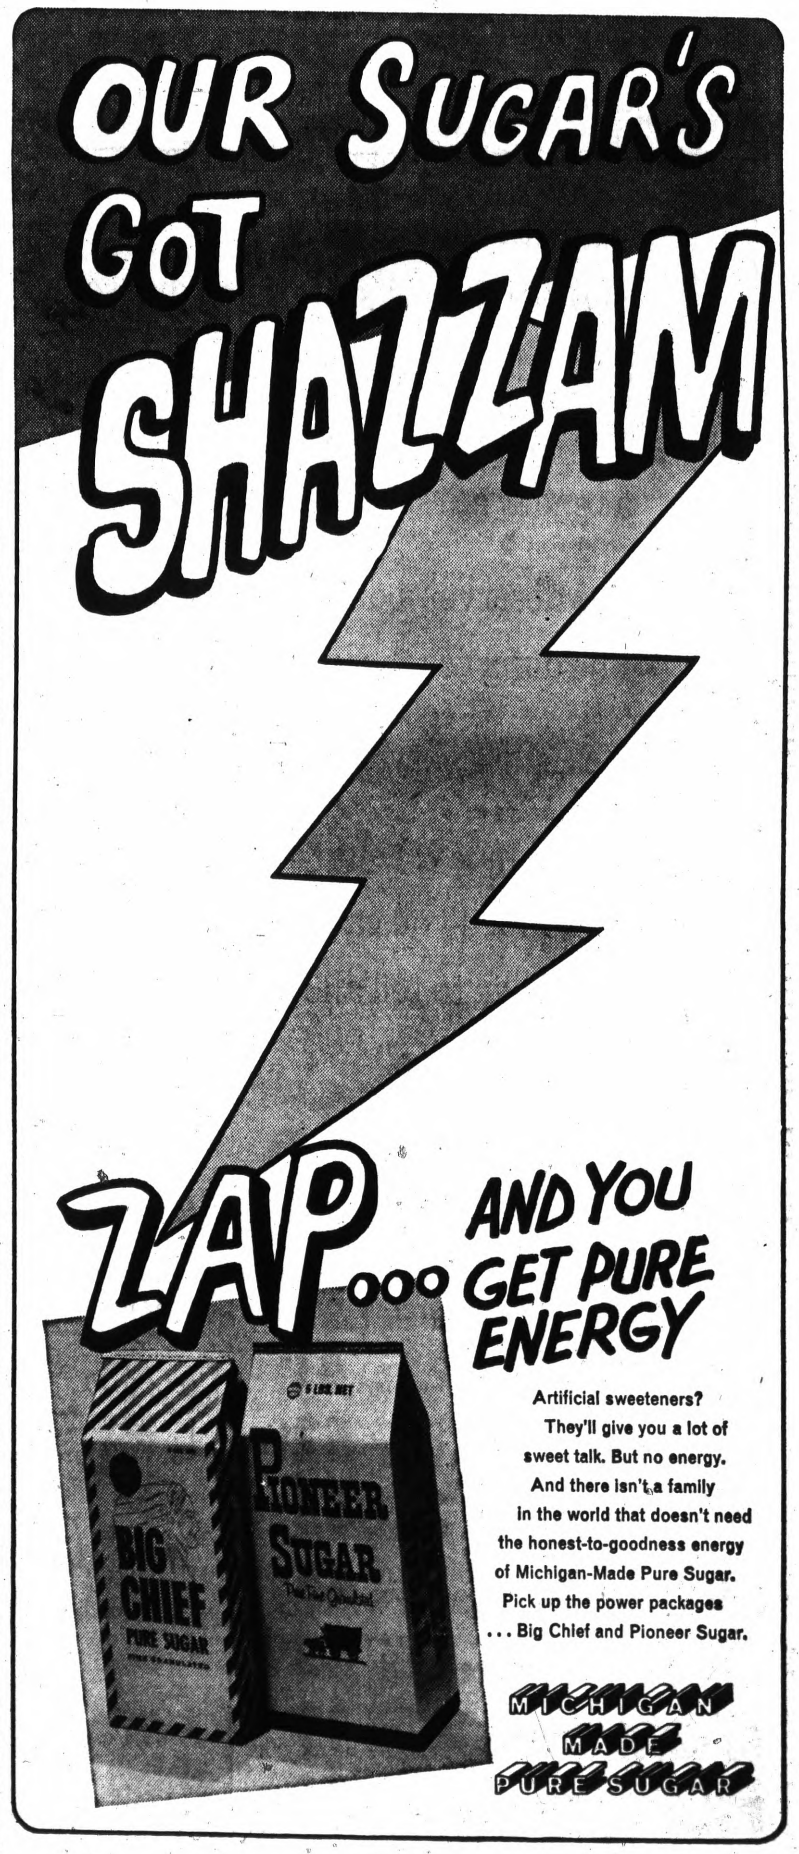

The council refused the raises and approved $95,106 for police salaries.

It did, however, put $7,500 in escrow and vote to set up a committee to study salaries. Those that were found to be out of line would be adjusted with the money in escrow, said Ackley.

Ackley also recommended that the volunteer firemen receive $3.50 for the first hour and $2.50 for the second hour, a 50-cent increase. This, too, was turned down.

The new budget is based on a five-mill tax levy, one more than last year. The additional mill is to raise $30,000 to be added to the $30,000 now in the capital improvement fund for purchase of land and buildings.

What is A Mother?

To her family, she's special.
She's understanding,
a banquet chef, a short order cook,
a fountain of love, a chauffeur, warmth and security.
She's clean socks, starched dresses,
a mender of hurts.
She's scrubbed ears,
a tender nurse, a maid, a queen.

She deserves a day of honor and tribute.
She deserves the love of those she loves.

Yes, she's very, very special.

This Sunday, you'll tell your mother how much you care.
We'd like to tell all mothers,
"We Care, too."

Tomorrowland Will Be Modernized

By DICK KLEINER
West Coast Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

ANAHEIM, Calif. (NEA) — The trouble with tomorrow is that it becomes yesterday very quickly. That's what happened to Tomorrowland, one of the subdivisions of Disneyland here, which became so outmoded by real events that it is now being almost completely rebuilt.

While Tomorrowland didn't exactly become Yesterdayland, it had lost a lot of excitement. One of the attractions was a Rocket to the Moon ride — designed originally in 1955 by Werner Von Braun — but science had gone so far that the ride was no longer very tomorrowish.

Now a new flight to the moon is being built, incorporating the latest dreams of visionaries and the latest facts of science.

The rebuilding of Tomorrowland is costing $20 million, which is $3 million more than the entire park cost originally. And a stroll around the area shows why.

★ ★ ★

Six vast and costly new attractions are being built. Hundreds of workmen are rushing to get them finished for the summer — hopefully, they will be ready for the tourists by mid-July.

A PEOPLE-MOVER

One of the most ambitious of the new features is the People-Mover, also sometimes called the WEDway, after Walt E. Disney's initials. This will take people on cars through the entire area on a new kind of transportation system. The cars move on an endless belt and never stop, but the passengers board and disembark via a platform that moves into synchronization with the cars.

The Carousel of Progress is another exhibit, and is a duplicate of an attraction the Disney people built for the New York World's Fair. The audience revolves around a circular stage, on which audio-animatronic figures portray the progress of mankind.

There will also be an expanded and modernized "America the Beautiful" exhibit, in which the audience sees a motion picture projected on a screen that completely surrounds them.

Brand new is "Adventures Through Inner Space," which will take the tourist into such minute items as an atom and a snowflake.

REFRESHMENT AREA

The sixth new area is the ever-present refreshment and souvenir department, without which no amusement park could function.

Veterans of Disneyland will be happy to learn that the very successful submarine ride has been retained, as well as the Autopia — where kids and their parents can take model cars for a spin. But that is all that remains of the old Tomorrowland.

In 1959, an $8 million expansion program included the submarine ride. But, except for that, Tomorrowland hasn't been touched since the park opened in 1955.

★ ★ ★

Other areas — Fantasyland, Frontierland and Adventureland — do not become dated. They are as popular now as they always were. But Tomorrowland has to be kept modern.

HUSHING RUMORS

There is another reason for the big expenditure. The park's officials want to discount rumors that, with Disney's death, there might be creative trouble ahead. Some people felt that without the guiding genius of Walt Disney, the park might change in some way.

Korea Revisited

The Day War's Glamor Ended

(EDITOR'S NOTE — In December 1952, UPI staff correspondent Leon Daniel, then a rifle squad leader in the 1st Marine Division, was wounded on a combat patrol near what is now called Observation Post Dort. Now, fresh from covering the war in Vietnam, he returned for a visit.)

By LEON DANIEL
United Press International

OBSERVATION POST DORT, Korea — There are no splendid little wars.

But when you are 21 and have just made buck sergeant in the U.S. Marine Corps, a war can seem something it is not.

It was difficult to recall what I thought during the bitterly cold winter of 1952 but, looking out across the jagged hills of the Demilitarized Zone, it all came back slowly.

Newly acquired responsibility, harsh duty and danger could cause men to take themselves and the men who fought beside them very seriously.

It was well that we did.

MOMENT OF TRUTH

If war, for some of us, seemed to have glamor, there was also an awakening—that moment of stark reality when the total horror of mortar combat is clearly revealed.

For me that moment came on a little hill called Gentry, a knoll less imposing and well known than the nearby peaks of Vegas and Reno where far more Marines died.

It was a 13-man patrol led by my platoon sergeant. I shared the point with another buck sergeant. He did not come back.

Half the patrol, including the platoon sergeant, were wounded but made it back to the main line of resistance.

The only warning as we walked into the ambush was a second or two of chattering in Chinese before they opened up on us in the darkness with burp guns and hand grenades.

For the next five minutes we fought desperately for the privilege of living.

I fired one automatic burst with a carbine and threw two of my four grenades before a Chinese grenade exploded very near me, sending shrapnel ripping into my left leg and foot.

★ ★ ★

Had it been a time to indulge in philosophy, I guess I could have known then, while my thermal boot filled up with blood, that war for me could never again be glamorous.

IMPORTANT LESSON

I had been under fire before that ambush and was under it again after a three-month stay in hospitals, but those few moments before the ambushers pulled back taught me something important.

It was the difficulty, maybe futility, of trying to describe adequately on paper the cold belly-fear that comes over a man when he is fighting for his life.

It is an emotion I tried often to describe during a year of covering U.S. troops in Vietnam. It was something I was never able to do there.

★ ★ ★

I looked for that hill called Gentry but I couldn't find it. Most of the hills are green now and one looks much like another. Wild flowers grow on slopes once rendered barren by shells from both sides.

★ ★ ★

I'd Be Lost Without Work Declares Henry Kaiser, 85

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Henry J. Kaiser got his first job when he was 13 as a helper in a Utica, N.Y., dry-goods store. Despite the fact that he was 85 yesterday he's still working, running the $2.7-billion industrial complex he founded.

"I'd be lost if I couldn't have the fun of working every day," confides the man whose 190 plants in 33 states and 40 foreign countries employ 90,000 persons and have an annual payroll of $630 million.

When will he retire?

"Never," answers Kaiser who still rues the fact that when he entered his 80s he was forced to cut down on 16-hour daily work schedules.

GREAT ACCOMPLISHMENT

What does he consider his great accomplishment?

"The Kaiser Foundation hospitals and health plan.

"I see the day when no one need die for lack of medical care, as my own mother died in my arms when I was 16 years old."

There are 18 Kaiser Foundation hospitals, more than 40 clinics in California, Oregon and Hawaii, and a health plan providing hospital service and care by 1,500 doctors.

By telephone from his office and home in the new community of Hawaii-Kai that he is building, Kaiser keeps in touch with son, Edgar, president of Kaiser Industries, and with company managers around the globe.

To keep his health, he has dieted down from the 260 pounds he weighed during World War II when his shipyards were turning out a ship a day. Now he's 180 pounds.

Wounded Driver Identifies Pair

New Senate Tax Plan Nearly Ready

LANSING (UPI) — Another secret meeting was called for early today by the five-member Senate Taxation Committee to put "the finishing touches" on a reworked income tax plan.

Chairman Harry DeMaso of Battle Creek still refused to reveal any of the details.

He said a committee meeting would be called probably late today to report the tax package out of committee. But first the reworked package must meet the approval of both party caucuses in the Senate before its ingredients can be made public.

The key to the reworked program is believed to be improved tax exemption benefits for property owners, and an exemption for renters and persons who pay city income taxes.

★ ★ ★

"There's no difference in the basic package, just the approaches we are going to use," DeMaso said.

FIFTH SESSION

The private meeting is the fifth being held at the Lansing home of Republican Senate leader Emil Lockwood of St. Louis, also a member of the committee. The private meetings have been taking the place of the normally twice-a-week public sessions.

The committee has been using figures supplied by the State Revenue Department to make adjustments in its exemption plans.

DeMaso called the meeting "an informal social gathering" and said no formal action would be taken on the proposals until the caucuses meet and approve the new tax plan.

Both the Senate and the House have rejected Gov. George Romney's initial income tax proposal.

DeMaso contends Republicans need Democratic support for the plan because of some GOP members in the Legislature who steadfastly refuse to vote for an income tax. This is the reason for a revision of Romney's basic tax plan-to win Democratic votes.

The tax rates in the governor's proposal, a 2.5 per cent tax on individuals, a 5 per cent tax on corporations and an 8 per cent tax on banks and financial institutions, are expected to remain about the same in the reworked tax committee version.

★ ★ ★

Basic changes will come in the exemptions for lower income groups and city income tax payers, who Democrats claim are being discriminated against for the benefit of the wealthy and big corporations.

Topless Dancer Fined in Florida

Mary Rodrigus, 21, said she danced only in panties and the rays of a searchlight at the Top Hat bar because she didn't know topless shows were banned here.

Raft Launching Ends in Tragedy

DETROIT (UPI) — Three young brothers played hooky from school yesterday to try out their homemade raft in true Tom Sawyer fashion in a boat canal leading into the Detroit River.

Charles Gilliam, 15, dove into the 12-foot deep canal when his younger brother, Gregory, 10, fell off.

Both boys drowned while the third brother, Gerald, 7, clung to the raft and tried to grab his brothers from the water.

The boys had made their nine-by-five-foot raft by nailing together cut telephone poles. Then they nailed planks on top.

★ ★ ★

Residents along the canal said the raft had been there for about three weeks and the boys were repeatedly warned not to use it.

Criminal Role in Florida City Is Denounced

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Dade County grand jury in its final report has denounced the influence in Miami Beach of persons it termed "nationally known criminals."

The jury dug up a suppressed 10-year-old report of a private detective agency into crime and corruption in the winter tourist playground. That document was known as "The Miami Beach Report."

★ ★ ★

"Many nationally known criminals and hoodlums who were mentioned in 'The Miami Beach Report,' " the jury report said, "and numerous others are presently associated with, and residing in, the Miami Beach area.

★ ★ ★

"Further investigation of these matters and circumstances is clearly indicated, especially as to the existence of corruption, organized vice, improper law enforcement and the influence of nationally known criminals upon the officials in the Miami Beach area."

★ ★ ★

The jury did not name any criminals.

Pat Nugent, Ex-LBJ Aide on Bank Unit

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Patrick J. Nugent, President Johnson's son-in-law, and Jake Jacobsen, a former presidential aide, have been added to the board of directors of Citizens National Bank of Austin, it was announced yesterday.

Nugent, who married the President's younger daughter, Luci, last August, is attending graduate school at the University of Texas and working part-time at radio and television station KTBC.

Jacobsen, who returned to his Austin law practice recently after one year on Johnson's staff, had been on the bank's board before going to Washington.

The National Academy of Sciences is evaluating the effectiveness of 1,100 veterinary drugs introduced between 1938 and 1962.

Springtime Pies Are Delicate and Fluffy

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Try light-hearted pies.

Fall and winter are the seasons for pumpkin, mince and the various hearty fruit pies. But spring and summer call for chiffon and other fluffy kinds.

Take Strawberries and Cream Pie, for example. Pretty and pink, it is a delightful pie to serve at a bridal shower. Use fresh strawberries for garnish.

STRAWBERRIES AND CREAM PIE

2 cups graham cracker crumbs
⅓ cup sugar
⅔ cup melted butter
1 tablespoon water

★ ★ ★

1 3-oz. package strawberry flavored gelatin
¾ cup hot water
1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) strawberry pie filling
1 pint vanilla ice cream, cut into 6 chunks
Red food coloring (optional)

Combine cracker crumbs with sugar; mix in butter and water. Pat mixture into a 10-inch pie plate.

To make an even layer of crumbs on bottom and sides; place a 9-inch pie plate on top of crumbs and press firmly. Remove 9-inch pie plate. Chill.

Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Pour into crumb crust and chill until firm.

Garnish with whipped cream and berries, if desired. Yield: 1 10-inch pie.

PINEAPPLE COCONUT CLOUD PIE

1 (1-lb. 4½-oz.) can crushed pineapple
1¼ cups sugar
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup sifted flour
3 eggs
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 baked 9-inch pie shell with fluted rim
3 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon vanilla
½ cup flaked coconut

Combine undrained pineapple, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt and flour. Cook over medium heat about 5 minutes stirring constantly until thickened.

Remove from heat and stir half of pineapple mixture into beaten egg yolks. Combine with remaining hot mixture. Cook a minute longer.

Beat egg whites with remaining ¾ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt and water with beater until well blended. Place over rapidly boiling water; beat 2 minutes. Remove from heat and beat about 2 minutes more, until topping stands in peaks. Stir in vanilla. Pile and swirl lightly over filling.

Toast coconut in shallow pan in moderate over (350 degrees F.) 10 minutes, stirring occasionally until golden brown. Sprinkle over pie. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

STRAWBERRIES AND CREAM PIE

BUTTERSCOTCH CREAM PIE

MARKET BASKET

BUTTERSCOTCH CREAM PIE

Crust:

1⅓ cups graham cracker crumbs (16 squares)
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup (½ stick) butter, melted

Filling:

1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
3 egg yolks, beaten
¼ cup sugar
½ cup butterscotch pieces
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups cottage cheese, sieved
3 egg whites
¼ cup sugar
½ cup whipping cream, whipped
⅓ cup toasted flaked coconut

In a small bowl mix together crumbs and sugar; stir in butter. Press mixture firmly and evenly against bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate, building up slightly around rim. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven 5 minutes. Cool on wire rack.

Sprinkle gelatin on water to soften. In a small saucepan combine egg yolks, sugar, butterscotch pieces, salt and softened gelatin. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until butterscotch pieces are melted. Add vanilla and cool; fold into cottage cheese.

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; add sugar and continue beating until stiff. Fold into cottage cheese mixture; then fold in whipped cream.

PINEAPPLE COCONUT CLOUD PIE

Kraut Flavors Pasties for New Taste

Cornish pasties are, and for many centuries have been, a favorite staple of English cooking. These tasty meat-filled pies are simple to make and satisfy the most robust appetites.

We offer here a mouthwatering variation which has piquant kraut added to the flaky crust. The tart kraut flavor and crunchy texture are perfect compliments to the rich meat filling . . . a combination of beef, pork and veal.

Kraut liquid is substituted for water in the pastry, adding to the zestiness. Leftover pastry can be cut in squares and baked for nibbling.

In England, one corner of each pastie has the initial of the person for whom it is intended carved into it before baking. The pasties are eaten out of hand beginning at the corner opposite the initial. Then, if there is a portion of the pie remaining, it will go to the rightful owner.

These toothsome treats are equally delicious hot or cold, so they're ideal for after-school or late-night snacking, and they are just the thing to pack in the picnic basket.

The zesty pastry is very versatile. Rolled out thin and cut in squares it makes tasty crisp tidbits to serve as snacks (like potato chips) or with cocktails.

Brush the squares with butter and sprinkle with a choice of poppy, sesame, or caraway seed, garlic or onion salt, or Parmesan cheese.

Kraut Meat Pasties

2½ cups undrained sauerkraut
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup lard
Ground Meat Filling*

Drain sauerkraut very well; reserve 2 tablespoons kraut liquid. Sift together flour, salt and pepper. Cut in lard. Add kraut and reserved liquid; combine by tossing with fork until all dry ingredients are moistened.

Place in waxed paper and press together to form a ball. Using a rolling pin with cover, roll out on well-floured pastry cloth, ⅓ of dough at a time, to 8-inch circles.

Place in center of each circle about ¾ cup Ground Beef Filling*. Fold over; seal edges and prick tops with fork. Place on ungreased cookie sheets.

Bake in 375 degree (moderate) oven 40 to 45 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve hot or cold, with or without gravy, as desired. Makes 8 servings.

To Prepare Ground Meat Filling (Makes about 6 cups): Saute ½ cup chopped onion in 1 tablespoon salad oil until crisp-tender. Stir in 1 pound ground round, ½ pound ground lean pork, ½ pound ground veal, 2½ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, ½ teaspoon marjoram leaves and ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Cook, stirring, until meat is no longer pink, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in ½ cup Italian style seasoned bread crumbs. Cool.

Note: Bake any pastry trimmings in 425 degree (hot) oven 12 to 15 minutes for kraut treats.

Boneless Turkey Roast Helps Harried Hostess

HURRY UP SALAD — Leftover cold turkey roast mixed with chilled canned vegetables and blue cheese dressing is a tasty salad for a pre-graduation or wedding luncheon. Attractive, sturdy paperware adds elegance and subtracts time spent cleaning up.

Our subject today is the "fancied up, hurry up and run" luncheon. As you know, these are the once or twice in a lifetime occasions like graduations and weddings. You want things to look pretty for your out-of-town guests but you don't have much time before and none after eating!

Be calm! The situation is well in hand. Just a bit of planning, a supply of really pretty paper dishes and a leftover two-and-a half pound turkey roast will do the trick.

Turkey has always been another word for feasting but now with the delicious frozen turkey roasts available, they also mean convenience.

For instance, serve turkey roast, the kind with the gravy packet, for the family dinner several nights before the festivities begin.

Even though the two-and-a-half pound roast looks small, you can count on 24 slices a quarter-inch thick. Unless your family is large or starving you'll have plenty left to cut into strips for Hurry Up Salad.

Buy several variety packs of sliced cheese and hard rolls that you can heat at the last minute. Top lunch off with a pretty yellow butter cake and iced tea or a tart fruit punch.

Just to be extra show-offy offer a variety of ready made sauces or syrups for the cake—chocolate, strawberry, caramel (there are ever so many kinds).

When lunch is over, toss the paper plates and bowls in the trash and off you go — to watch your pride and joy perform in one of the most important ceremonies of his or her life.

Your guests will still be wondering how you engineered that tasty and attractive luncheon in no time at all. There's nothing like a little turkey roast in the refrigerator!

Hurry Up Salad

1 head bibb lettuce
3 slices cooked boneless turkey roast
½ can (16 oz.) shoestring beets
½ can (16 oz.) asparagus spears
4 anchovies
Blue cheese dressing
French-fried onion rings, crumbled
1 tomato
Ripe olives

Note: If desired, the salad can be made in individual servings.

Here's Tart Topping to Spark Fresh Fruit

Creme for Fruit

1 cup (½ pint) whipping cream
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
1 cup (½ pint) dairy sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine whipping cream, sugar and gelatin. Heat, stirring constantly, until sugar and gelatin dissolve. Chill.

★ ★ ★

Fold in sour cream and vanilla. Chill well.

Corn, Cereal Stuff Tomatoes

Spring arrives and so does the quest for different meal ideas. We suggest a Mediterranean meal for a change of flavor pace. Lamb chops may be broiled with fresh garlic.

★ ★ ★

As an accompaniment, try Baked Stuffed Tomatoes. Rice Krispies appear as a top-knot garnish as well as in the filling.

★ ★ ★

Besides providing a pleasing crunch, the cereal give an extra helping of vitamins and iron. Italian green beans and thick-sliced bread round out this Mediterranean meal.

Baked Stuffed Tomatoes

2 cups oven toasted rice cereal
6 large ripe tomatoes
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
1 cup (8¾-oz. can) whole kernel corn, drained
1 tablespoon finely chopped onions
¼ cup mayonnaise
2 teaspoons butter, melted

★ ★ ★

Chop tomato pulp and drain; combine with ¾ cup crushed rice cereal and remaining ingredients except butter. Fill tomato shells with mixture.

Combine remaining cereal with butter; sprinkle over tomatoes. Place in greased shallow pan. Bake in moderate oven (375 degreesF) about 20 minutes or until tender. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings.

Sour Cream Marinates Chicken, Makes Gravy

This recipe calls for pan frying chicken after it has marinated in a seasoned sour cream mixture that is used to make a superb cream gravy to serve with the chicken.

Sour Cream Fried Chicken

2 cups dairy sour cream (1 pint)
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 clove garlic, crushed
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut up (about 3 pounds)
1 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon paprika
1 cup solid all-vegetable shortening
Salt to taste

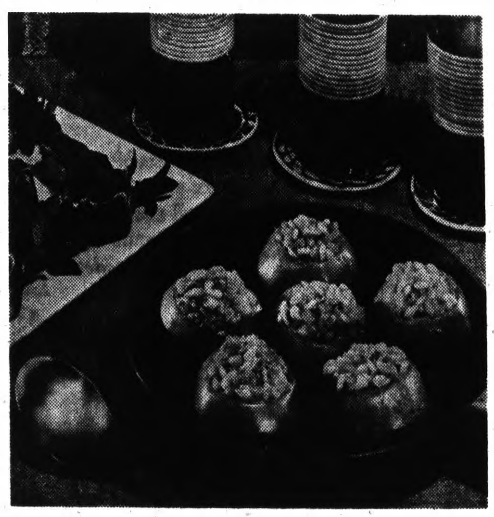

Combine ½ cup sour cream, the milk, lemon juice, garlic and parsley, add chicken and chill several hours. Drain chicken, brushing off excess marinade. Reserve marinade.

★ ★ ★

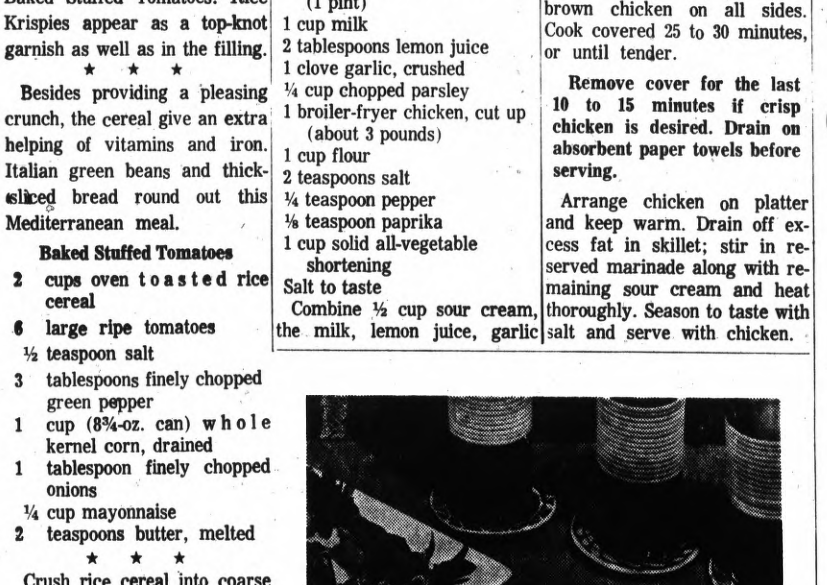

Dredge chicken with flour seasoned with 2 teaspoons salt, pepper and paprika. Melt shortening in large heavy skillet and brown chicken on all sides. Cook covered 25 to 30 minutes, or until tender.

Remove cover for the last 10 to 15 minutes if crisp chicken is desired. Drain on absorbent paper towels before serving.

Arrange chicken on platter and keep warm. Drain off excess fat in skillet; stir in reserved marinade along with remaining sour cream and heat thoroughly. Season to taste with salt and serve with chicken.

BAKED STUFFED TOMATOES — Oven toasted rice cereal and whole kernel corn are mixed with mayonnaise for a tomato filling. Fine to serve with chops.

SAVE 25¢ ON MORTON PELLENS

If you own a water softener, and still find ugly red rust stains on your bathtub, sinks and other fixtures, you've got rusty water. Now, stop rusty water with Morton Salt Pellens.

Here's how: Morton Pellens are a totally new pellet type water softener salt for recharging water softeners where iron oxide or rust is in the water. Pellens contain an iron fluidizing agent. It dissolves the iron or rust accumulation and washes it down the drain when the water softener is recharged. Pellens are used like regular water softener salt.

OUTSIZED COAT — What looks like a portable tent with arms and a cowboy hat is actually 3-year-old Ed Voss of Fort Collins, Colo. The youngster was caught in a heavy rain while attending an outdoor rodeo and used the most available protection — his dad's raincoat.

U.S. Efficiency Saves Dying Soldier

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

AN KHE, Vietnam — (NEA) — Veteran Army Sgt. Jim Latham was hit with a mortar fragment here the other day and, although it may be imprudent to say, he picked the right war to get wounded in.

In this one he lived.

In any other he would have died.

Latham is an excellent illustration of the Medical Corps miracles being performed almost routinely in this continuing calamity. He owes his life to what are easily the most incredibly efficient emergency aid procedures in the whole history of combat.

Procedures of transportation. Of facilities.

Latham got wrapped up in each of the procedures early the morning of a bitter First Air Cavalry fire-fight. He was socked out of action by a mortar explosion which penetrated the upper part of his body.

MEDIC CAME

Enemy fire thwarted early air efforts to rescue the sergeant, but when it subsided (yet not entirely), a green Huey helicopter swooped down to lift the casualty out and a short while later the sergeant was being examined at an intermediary aid station 20 miles away.

★ ★ ★

Early diagnosis indicated severe internal bleeding which meant immediate surgery. Quickly, a Jeep moved the patient to a nearby airstrip. A waiting cargo plane transported him hastily to a surgical hospital, another 25 or so miles distant.

FACILITIES READY

En route, the hospital staff was briefed by radio as to the NCO's condition and facilities were ready when the casualty arrived.

Time elapsed: Two hours.

In surgery, physicians discovered Latham in critical shape. An inch-long fragment had penetrated his shoulder, on into his chest, changed directions and shot all the way down his diaphragm.

His liver was cut in half.

A kidney was shattered.

He had no blood pressure.

He was nearly dead.

Immediately a call went out in the camp area for whole blood (fresh blood clots quickly) and within 15 minutes 600 GI donors were waiting in line. A couple dozen of them were chosen and the first 24 pints began pumping into Jim Latham's arm.

Meanwhile, physicians had opened the sergeant's chest and abdomen in attempts to control the massive internal bleeding which had drained away over half his total blood supply.

Lathem's right kidney, beyond repair, was removed. Tubes were inserted into his chest to drain off excess fluid. And, with feverish persistency, the doctors managed to stop all leakage in the liver and tie it up with dozens of catgut sutures.

Time elapsed: Four hours.

Major work done, the surgeons concentrated on the other, time-consuming damage — repairing of the lung, cleaning of the chest cavity, insurance manipulations against the possibility of infection.

Independence Eyed With Fear in Aden

ADEN (AP) — This ancient British trading station and military base is living out its last months of British rule with a sense of inescapable doom.

Daily bomb explosions, waves of violence, murders and gun battles in the murky back streets—all have become part of the normal pattern of life and pointers to the future.

★ ★ ★

The Indian and Arab merchants who grew rich off the troops and tourists in Aden's Steamer Point shopping area have stopped ordering new stock. They no longer bother to wipe the dust from their piles of cheap cameras and Japanese radios. No one repairs the windows shattered by terrorist hand grenades.

★ ★ ★

Law and order have become largely theoretical. Political murders average 10 per week and crime investigation is virtually at a standstill. Most Arab police inspectors have been killed and their British colleagues generally speak no Arabic.

NO CONVICTIONS

British magistrates still function, but no jury dares to hand down a conviction for a serious crime.

In Government House, the sprawling hilltop residence of Aden's colonial governors for a century, policy planners pay lip service to the British-sponsored South Arabian Federation. But no one seems to believe the federation can survive many weeks after British rule ends next year.

"What's the use trying to break our heads—and getting shot at in the bargain—over what will happen here after we leave?" one British official said with a shrug.

Officials and merchants, taxi drivers and beggars, hotel managers and shoeshine boys, all seem to share a conviction that independence will bring anarchy and bloodshed.

'NO HOPE'

They face the approaching chaos as though hypnotized.

"Nothing can be done," said one Indian shopkeeper. "I will leave with the British. There is no hope for this place, no hope at all."

Some British businessmen and bankers disagree. They believe they can continue working in Aden after independence, even if the federation collapses and is replaced by an Egyptian-dominated regime of "revolutionary socialism."

The federation is a loose gathering of feudal sheikdoms. The city of Aden and its 200,000-strong urban proletariat is nominally one of the federal states—in fact the federation is meaningless without Aden.

BACKWARD

The sprawling city with its harbor, built around two barren, extinct volcanoes that jut out of the desert into the Indian Ocean, is the only viable part of the British protectorate stretching 700 miles along Arabia's south coast.

Some of the other federal states are so backward that they hardly contain one pair of shoes per 100 inhabitants. In others, almost the entire male population roams the mountains in bandit gangs described by the British as "dissident tribesmen."

★ ★ ★

The British are hastily training what they call the "federal regular army," whose loyalty to the federal government is questionable.

"They will be no obstacle to us when the time comes—quite the contrary," said Abdullah Asnag, political brain of FLOSY, the Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen. It claims to be the only meaningful nationalist movement in Aden and controller of most of the terrorism, but it has at least two equally violent rival organizations. Most of the casualties lately have been victims of fighting between rival gangs.

Asnag and the other FLOSY leaders have headquarters in a drab, two-story building in Tai'zz, the dusty twin capital of the Yemen Republic, 120 miles northwest of Aden.

The rival movements also operate from Tai'zz. All receive money, weapons and encouragement from Egypt.

Between Aden and Tai'zz there is a vast, mountainous no man's land where every able-bodied man carries his own gun and apparently makes his own law. British rule in effect ends on the outskirts of Aden.

SWEEP OF THE WING — The Boeing supersonic transport given presidential approval recently will have a variable-sweep wing. This multiple-exposure photo demonstrates how it will operate. The wing will be extended for takeoff and landing and swept back for supersonic flight.

SUPERLINER MOCK-UP — This mock-up shows the interior of the Boeing supersonic transport which was approved by President Johnson recently. The plane is expected to travel at 1,800 miles per hour and carry up to 350 passengers. The overhead consoles permit storage of carry-on baggage.

PHILIPPA SCHUYLER

Copter Crash Kills Pianist

Former Child Prodigy Dies in Viet Mishap

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP) — Philippa Schuyler, American concert pianist and former child prodigy composer, was killed Tuesday night in the crash of a U.S. Army helicopter evacuating Vietnamese children to Da Nang.

A Vietnamese child was also killed and a U.S. soldier aborad the helicopter as a passenger was missing. Seven other Vietnamese children, four U.S. crewmen and two South Vietnamese soldiers were rescued by Air Force, Marine and Army helicopters that sped to Da Nang Bay.

Miss Schuyler, 35, had planned to leave Vietnam Saturday but delayed her departure to help bring Roman Catholic children from Hue where tension between Catholic and Buddhist factions was reported rising again.

The cause of the crash was not immediately established, but spokesmen said it apparently was not due to enemy action. The helicopter crashed about 50 yards from shore just north of Da Nang, and there was no enemy fire reported in the area.

GAVE CONCERTS

Miss Schuyler first came to Vietnam last year to give concerts for American servicemen and Vietnamese groups.

She returned about a month ago as a correspondent for the Manchester (N.H.) Union Leader and several religious magazines.

★ ★ ★

Miss Schuyler, who grew up in Harlem, was the daughter of George Schuyler, noted writer and former publisher of the Pittsburgh Courier, and Josephine Schuyler.

When she was 2½ years old, Philippa could recite verses from "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam" and find the Mississippi River on the globe.

GOLD MEDAL

She began her career as a pianist at 4, when she won her first gold medal in the National Piano Teacher Guild competitions by playing 10 works from memory.

At 14, she won first and second prizes in a contest for young composers. In 1940, when she was 9, she played a recital made up mostly of her own compositions before a crowd of 70,000 at the New York World's Fair.

At 15, she appeared in the dual role of composer and pianist with the Philharmonic Orchestra at Lewishon Stadium.

In later years, Miss Schuyler made a number of world tours and became fascinated by Africa. Her recent compositions included "Sanga," an Ethiopian hero dance, and "Chisamharu the Nogomo," who was a 16th century Mozambique emperor.

★ ★ ★

Rose City Man Killed in Mishap

WEST BRANCH (AP)—Alden Graber, 50, of Rose City was killed Monday when a logging truck he was towing broke loose from his trailer. The accident occurred on a dirt road east of Damon.

★ ★ ★

According to sheriff's deputies, Graber's tractor was pulling the truck downhill when the truck broke loose, ran into the back of the tractor and pushed the tractor into a deep ditch. Graber was pinned between the truck and the tractor. He apparently was killed instantly.

DAN FIFE

Sports Ace Picks University of Michigan

Recruiting Traffic Ends at Dan Fife Residence

By FLETCHER SPEARS

The house at 5553 Dvorak has been much like Grand Central Station at rush hour for the past two years, but it's all over now.

Dan Fife, 17, the cause of all the excitement and traffic during these two noisy years, ended it yesterday morning when he signed a tender indicating he'll enroll at the University of Michigan this fall.

★ ★ ★

Some 250 colleges and universities along with at least six major league baseball teams were interested in Fife, who attracted attention for his exploits on the basketball court and the baseball diamond.

QUIET NOW

The phone doesn't ring as often. The doorbell isn't in much use. And the family is enjoying it.

★ ★ ★

"Yes, we're glad it's over with," Mrs. Fife said last night.

"Since last fall, we couldn't sit down to eat a meal. Someone would call or stop by, somebody wanting to know how many points he made in a game.

"He had narrowed where he wanted to go to a few schools and his dad wanted him to stay in Michigan . . . and academically, U. of M. is among the best.

"He decided on 'M' Tuesday morning. I'm happy with it and I want him to be happy. He has so many friends here and I think this will be best for him. He's never been away from home."

DAD HAPPY

The father, 45, a supervisor at the Ford Motor Company plant in Wixom, is equally happy with young Dan's choice. A dream Duyane has lived with for years is to see Dan play college or pro ball. And it's coming true.

For the father it means, "I'll do my work a little better and sleep a little better, and I believe the boy can too."

Dan is 6-3 and 190 pounds, about 13 pounds heavier than he was during basketball season when he led Clarkston to a 16-1 regular-season record, to the championship in the Wayne-Oakland League and to the runner-up spot in the Class A district tournament.

He averaged 32.5 points a game during the regular campaign and was named to the Associated Press All State Class A team for the second time.

★ ★ ★

TWO NO-HITTERS

On the mound this season, the right-hander has pitched two no-hitters in recording a 6-1 record, the loss coming in one of the no-hit (3-1) efforts.

★ ★ ★

Among the losers bidding for Fife's services were Michigan State, Wisconsin, Mississippi, Louisiana State and Kentucky.

And among the major league baseball teams trying to sign him were the Tigers, Pittsburgh Pirates, St. Louis Cardinals, Los Angeles Dodgers, Chicago White Sox and Baltimore Orioles.

One of the teams offered Dan a $50,000 bonus, but after consultation with his family, he turned it down.

The Fife family moved to Michigan from southern Illinois 10 years ago because as Mrs. Fife put it, "We needed a job."

TWO SISTERS

Dan's the youngest in the family. He has two sisters, Judy Lee, 23, who lives in Texas, and Vicki, 20, living at home.

The parents like the idea of Dan attending Michigan because they'll be close enough to watch him perform.

"We've missed only one game he's played in since he was born," his father was saying, "and that was a freshman reserve football game he played."

At Michigan, Dan will play basketball and baseball.

Wisconsin wanted him to play those two along with football.

The scouts — college and major league baseball — began watching young Fife in the fall of 1965 when he was a junior.

LEADING THE WAY—Pontiac Central's Bill Tipton pulls away in the high hurdles race yesterday at Pontiac Northern. He won in a time of 13.7 seconds and later added the low hurdle honors. Mel Cole (second from right) of PNH was second. The Northern star, however, won the high and long jumps and was second in the low hurdles to score 16 points, tops for the meet won by PCH, 79-39. Tigers Triumph, 4-3

Gladding Preserves Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fred Gladding, who has yet to walk a batter or give up a run this season, came to the rescue of faltering Denny McLain Tuesday night and preserved a 4-3 Detroit Tigers victory over Cleveland.

Gladding came on after McLain walked Chuck Hinton, putting men on first and third with two out in the seventh inning.

Rocky Colavito was at the plate.

"I made up my mind that I'd make Colavito hit a curve," Gladding said. "But I threw the first one too hard because I didn't want to hang it. The second one was right where I wanted it."

Gladding fanned three men, picked up his third save this season and boosted his string of scoreless relief innings to 11 1-3.

"It's the curve that's doing it," he said.

FAILED TWICE

The Detroit offense, which has produced lots of hits but few big innings, left nine men stranded. Norm Cash twice failed with the bases loaded, fanning in the first inning and popping up to the infield in the third.

Al Kaline and Bill Freehan continued to pace the attack. Kaline slammed his seventh home run of the season with Dick McAuliffe, who had singled, aboard in the fifth. Freehan followed with his fifth round tripper.

Kaline, who leads the league in home runs, RBIs (18) and batting (.385), continued to wield the big bat, hitting safely in his 19th game.

McLain, who gave up all three runs on seven hits walked four and struck out seven. He was in trouble most of the night.

Duke Sims slammed a home run in the second and Lee Maye, batting for Indians starter Sam Mcdowell, belted another off McLain in the fifth. McLain has given up six homres in six starts.

Detroit Manager Mayo Smith finally lifted McLain after the Indians cut the Tigers' lead to one run on a single by Larry Brown, Fred Whitfield's double and an infield grounder by Max Alvis.

FIRST RUN

The Tigers scored their first run in the opening inning when catcher Sims led a ball get by him on a walk to Jim Northrup. Dick McAuliffe, who had reached first on a fielder's choice, advanced to second on a walk to Kaline. Both men advanced on an infield grounder before Sims' miscue.

Smith planned to start Mickey Lolich against the Indians in the final game of the two-game series tonight. Sonny Siebert was to pitch for Cleveland.

Twin Is Making Good Use of Advice

By the Associated Press

The advice Rod Carew gets doesn't go in one ear and out the other. Both ears are too busy listening—one ear to one language and the other ear to another.

Sometimes, however, Carew's bat does the talking, such as Tuesday night when he rapped three hits, giving him eight in two nights, as Minnesota crushed Washington 11-1.

Carew is an American who was born in Panama and learned Spanish fluently before moving to Brooklyn. As a result of his bilingual ability, the 21-year-old second baseman gets advice in Spanish from his Latin teammates and advice in English from his U.S. teammates.

"Once," the rookie explained, "Cesar Tovar yelled, 'Mira el toque,' from center field while Harmon Killebrew was telling me to be heads up from first base. Tovar was telling me to watch for the bunt. I expect both so I've been able to handle it."

Carew also has been able to handle American League pitching, and it's partly because he's listened so well.

"They told me in spring training to take the bat off my shoulder and swing," the left-handed hitter said. "That's what I've been doing. Tovar and Tony Oliva told me to just go up there and stroke the ball. Don't try to hit it out of the park.

"It's paying off so far. I never thought I would do this well. But the guys tell me they're going to keep falling in."

The hits have fallen in so well so far that Crew is hitting .342, third best in the league.

In other AL games, Detroit edged Cleveland 4-3, Chicago nipped Baltimore 5-4, Kansas City topped Boston 4-3 before bowing 5-2 and New York squeaked by California 2-1.

Chicago extended its winning streak to five games and Baltimore's losing string to five. Pitcher Gary Peters tripled in the seventh inning and scored the decisive run on Don Buford's single.

Kansas City won the opener of its doubleheader when Don McMahon walked Bert Campaneris with two out and and the bases loaded in the eighth inning. But Boston struck back in the nightcap, scoring all five of its runs Carl Yastrzemski's two-out double in the ninth—the last three on the ninth—the last three on ble.

Groves Star Selects 'M'

University of Michigan coaches received more good news today with the announcement that Mike Rafferty of Birmingham Groves will enroll at Ann Arbor.

Tom Carson, Groves' basketball coach, reported that Rafferty signed basketball and baseball tenders with U. of M. Rafferty was named to the Class A Associated Press All-State basketball team and is rated a pro baseball prospect as a pitcher.

He is the second Oakland County All-State cager to sign with Michigan. Clarkston's Dan Fife mailed his tender yesterday.

Howe on Second Team

4 Hawks NHL All-Stars

MONTREAL (AP) — Stan Mikita, the scoring champion, and three other members of the Chicago Black Hawks were named today to the National Hockey League's first All-Star team for the 1966-67 season.

Mikita, a center, was the only unanimous choice. Defenseman Pierre Pilote, left winger Bobby Hull and right winger Ken Wharram of Chicago also were selected along with goalie Ed Giacomin and defenseman Harry Howell of the New York Rangers.

Mikita accumulated the maximum 180 points in the unique system of voting by hockey writers and broadcasters. One vote was taken after the first half of the season and another after the second half and the players with the most total points for both halves were named to the first team.

EARLY LEADER

Hull collected 174 points followed by Pilote 156, Giacomin 149, Howell 147 and Wharram 117. The latter beat out Howe by 21 points while Rod Gilbert, of New York, the leader in the first half, dropped to third.

Each of the first team All-Stars will receive $1,000 from the league while the second team members and leaders in the second half voting get $500 apiece. Runners-up in the second half balloting will collect $250.

It was the first time in 24 years that the Montreal Canadiens did not have a player on either the first or second All-Star team.

Wills Won't Forget Sadecki's Wild Pitch

A pitch by Sadecki cracked Wills on the knee last Friday night, causing a bruise that has kept him out of the Pittsburgh Pirate lineup.

The prevous pitch by the San Francisco southpaw whizzed over Wills' head; and he figures Sadecki probably was throwing at him deliberately.

"I'm not going to forget that," said Wills, one of baseball's toughest battlers.

"I don't believe in charging the mound or saying things to a pitcher," he said. "I'll wait, even if it takes me a month, a year or two years.

"I hope he doesn't leave the league before I do, or that I leave the league before him, I want to sting him."

EXERCISE CARE

Wills didn't say how he intends to gain revenge, but since he plays third base, it could be logically concluded that Sadecki should exercise care when sliding into the Pirate third base in the future.

★ ★ ★

Wills, making the comments in an interview, was asked if he thought Sadecki was aiming at him.

"I don't know..." he answered. "It was sort of odd he was so wild at that particular time. It appeare to me he was throwing at me."

Sadecki could not be reached for comment.

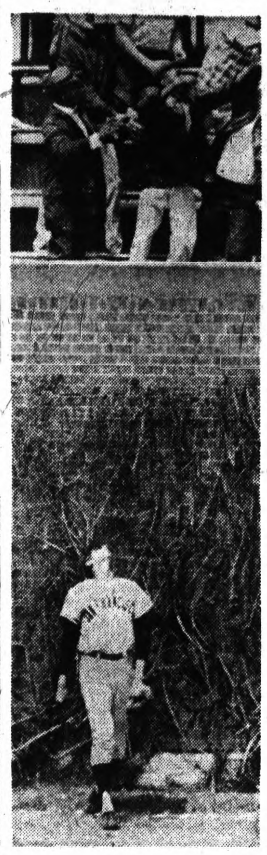

Wills says the knee is healing, and he expects to be back in action soon.

Santo's Bat Perfect as Cubs Rout Giants

By the Associated Press

Ron Santo, who started the season in a batting slump, recently hac shown some signs of improvement.

But the hard-hitting Chicago Cub third baseman improved all over the place Tuesday with the first 5-for-5 game of his career as the Cubs pounded San Francisco 10-2.

At one point early in the season, Santo was hitting something like .086 and not until the Cubs returned for their current home stand did he start getting some hits. He has 10 of his 18 hits in the club's last five games.

Also hitting a lot better in Wrigley Field's familiar surroundings is Ernie Banks with eight hits—two of them homers—and eight runs batted in during the last five games. He had two hits, one a two-run double, in Tuesday's triumph.

In other National League action, St. Louis topped Pittsburgh 6-3, Houston beat Los Angeles, 5-2, Philadelphia nudged Atlanta 3-2 and the New York Mets slipped past Cincinnati 3-2 in 11 innings.

BIG TRIPLE

The Cubs scored four times in the sixth inning, with pitcher Ray Culp's two-run triple the big blow. Glenn Beckert homered for the Cubs and Tom Haller of the Giants extended his hitting streak to seven straight before grounding out.

Orlando Cepeda had four hits, drove in two runs and scored two himself in the Cards' victory. Roger Maris, who has been passing up the long ball for base hits, got his first National League homer.

RELIEF HELP

Ron Davis' homer and run-scoring single led the Astros past the Dodgers and Larry Dierker picked up his third victory against two defeats with some ninth-inning relief help from Claude Raymond.

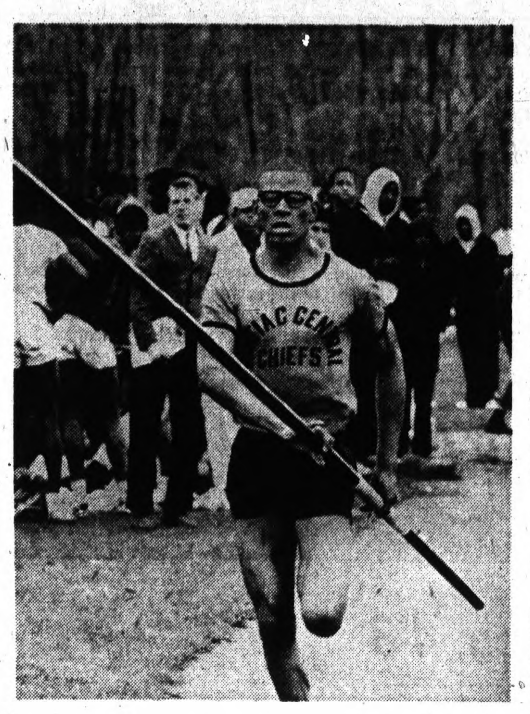

Reliever Dick Hall for the Phillies got Hank Aaron to hit a foul fly with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth, preserving the Philadelphia victory. Don Lock's two-run homer gave the Phils the margin.

Tommy Davis' 11-th inning homer gave the Mets their win and handed Mel Queen his first defeat after four straight triumphs. Queen came in the game in the eighth and handcuffed the Mets on six strikeouts until Davis' shot, his third, ended the game.

Report Griese Ready to Sign

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Miami Herald reported today that Purdue quarterback Bob Griese is near agreement with the American Football League Miami Dolphins on a $150,000 contract.

READY TO LEAP—Earl Polk of Pontiac Central, one of the top pole vaulters in the state, heads down the approach in yesterday's meet against Northern. Polk cleared 12-6, as did teammate Ken Franks, to tie for first. The pair stopped at that height because of the cold.

Chiefs Win 11 Events in Victory

With a stiff breeze blowing and the mercury riding in the mid-40s, the Chiefs raced to an easy 79-39 victory on the PNH track, keeping intact a win streak over the Huskies that started in 1959.

Bill Tipton, the best schoolboy hurdler in the nation today, won the 120-yard high hurdles in 13.7 and came back to take the 180-yard lows in 18.7.

Speedster Jesse Bennett gave the Chiefs first-place points by taking the 100 (10.5) and 220-yard (23.3) dashes.

HELPS PNH

A standout for the Huskies was senior Mel Cole, who captured the high jump (6-0), long jump (21-5) and ran second to Tipton in both hurdles.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs Earl Polk and Ken Franks shared first in the pole vault at 12-feet-6-inches and it became so cold they decided to quit at that height.

Central pulled a sweep in the mile with Harold Boone winning in 4:36.4. Other Central firsts were posted by Walt Terry (880), Bob Mickens (shot put) and Bob Dickie (two mile).

John Sparks won both dashes in pacing Walled Lake to a 68-50 decision over Livonia Stevenson, while Birmingham Seaholm ran its record to 7-1 with a 72-46 verdict over Royal Oak Kimball.

Kettering boosted its dual track record to 7-0-1 for the season after whipping L'Anse Creuse 79⅔ to 38⅓ yesterday.

Bill Penoza of Kettering was the lone double winner as he took the high hurdles in 15.5 and the lows in 19.9.

Skippers Whip PNH

I-L Race Now Tied

Waterford moved into a tie with Livonia Stevenson for the lead in the Inter-Lakes League yesterday after knocking off a shaky Pontiac Northern squad, 6-2.

The victory upped Waterford's league mark to 3-1, while PNH tumbled to 2-2. The Skippers are now 7-5 over-all.

In a second I-L baseball contest, Lanny West pitched a two-hitter as Walled Lake blanked Farmington, 5-0.

A two-out throwing error in the first inning let two Waterford runners cross the plate and the winners scored four more in the third. Kirk Hamilton singled home a pair in the third and the other two came home on a PNH error.

Don Hayward chased home the two PNH runs with a single in the third.

ENDS TIE

★ ★ ★

John Burgess' single sent home the first run for Walled Lake and Jim Dickey followed with a two-run single. The fourth run came in on a wild pitch and the other on an error.

Elsewhere on the baseball scene, Ortonville downed Lake Fenton, 4-2, Royal Oak Dondero edged Dearborn Fordson, 5-3, and South Lyon nipped Saline, 8-7.

Roger Ball picked up Ortonville's lone hit in the first inning and the Black Hawks pushed across all of their runs on Lake Fenton errors.

Trailing 6-0 after two innings, South Lyon (9-3) scored two in the third, three in the fifth, two in the sixth and one in the seventh.

The Byrd brothers — Don and Mike — led the assault at the plate for South Lyon. Don picked up a single and triple and two RBI and Mike clouted a two-run double.

Beard's Memories Vary for New Orleans Open

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Frank Beard, the hottest golfer on the play-for-pay circuit, has both bitter and sweet memories of New Orleans.

It was here, as a struggling young pro in 1964, that he came down with the dreaded disease encephalitis and nearly lost his life.

And it was here that he won $20,000 as first prize money for the 1966 $100,000 Greater New Orleans' Open.

Beard's back to defend the title and because he has won two tournaments in the past month and $50,000 this year, he's tagged as the favorite.

Beard and most of the other pros each teamed up with three amateur partners today for the $5,000 pro-am preliminary — an event which one pro once described as "where you give out a $1,000 worth of free advice and might win $100."

RECOVERY

Beard, who turned 28 just 10 days ago, made a miraculous recovery from encephalitis, which often causes permanent brain damage.

Because Father John Moore, a New Orleans priest, had befriended him, Beard wanted his marriage vows celebrated before Father Moore when he and the former Pat Roberts were married here in October 1965.

Last year, as the bespectacled Louisville shotmaker, younger brother of former Kentucky All-America basketball player Ralph Beard, won the tourney here, Pat, expecting their first child, and Father Moore were in the gallery.

"I'm standing way back here so I can pray for Frank and not disturb the playing," Father Moore confided at one point.

Pat Beard is expecting again but both she and Father Moore plan to be behind Frank when he tees off.

Syracuse's Alumni Will Honor Little

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Halfback Floyd Little, first round draft choice of the Denver Broncos of the American Football League, has been named Athlete of the Year at Syracuse University.

Little, who rewrote the Orange record books during his three varsity years at Syracuse, will be honored by the Syracuse Alumni Club of New York City at a dinner there May 25.

Spencer Blanks Clarkston Team in Waterford Rec

In the other game, Day's Sanitary defeated Midget Bar 6-1. Jerry Thomas held Midget to five hits as his team picked up nine hits in the game.

Woman Attends Ump School

Blonde Wants to Be Umpire

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernice Gera doesn't want to play first base for the Yankees but she sees no reason why she can't stand behind the plate and call balls and strikes.

"For the life of me, I don't understand why women can't be baseball umpires," the blonde, 35-year-old Long Island housewife said today. "Look who you have doing the job now, a bunch of old men in their 50s, many of them fat and out of shape.

"You don't have to be an athlete to be an umpire. All you need is to know baseball, have good eyesight and good judgment. There are a lot of women who can fill that bill.

"I'm certain we will some day have women umpiring in the majors—maybe sooner than you think."

It may be Bernice—a 5-foot-2, 125-pound package of energy who says, "I have loved, eaten and lived baseball since I was eight years old. I want to find a place in baseball, preferably umpiring."

GOING TO SCHOOL

Bernice has applied—and been accepted—for the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Baseball School, opening June 1. The first woman ever to be admitted to the camp, she will spend four weeks there absorbing instruction from such baseball Hall of Famers as Max Carey and Bob Feller.

"I have a letter and telegram confirming my enrollment," Mrs. Gera said. "They know I'm a woman, and they didn't turn me down. I'll see how things go. When I get out, I'll probably start making applications to umpire."

PLAYED OUTFIELD

She often filled in as an outfielder on a boys' team. In her teens, she moved to Detroit where she pitched and played outfield with the Highland Parkers, a women's softball outfit.

She had a trunk full of trophies when she moved to New York in 1949, later marrying a free lance photographer, Steven Gera. She couldn't shake her interest in baseball.

She started coaching Little League teams and giving exhibitions for charity. She has hit against major league pitchers and performed with such personalities as Roger Maris, Sid Gordon and Cal Abrams. She gave a batting demonstration at Kansas City three years ago—at the invitation of Charles O. Finley, the owner of the A's.

The shapely Mrs. Gera has a certificate attesting to the fact that she has 20-20 vision, but that's not the main problem.

Oxford Runs Past Romeo

OLSM Posts Triumph in Double Dual

Oxford took 12 of the 14 events, with Tim Kelly winning both the long jump and 100 yard dash. Ken Marsh tied the Oxford school record with a pole vault of 12½ feet.

Orchard Lake St. Mary posted victories over St. Catherine, 70-48, and Allen Park Cabrini, 87-31, in a double dual yesterday.

Ed Pomazanko was a double winner for the Eaglets against both foes, winning the high and low hurdles. Rich Mrozinski took the high jump and long jump (21-0) and Dave Cosnek captured the 100 and 220 against Cabrini.

CC Nets Loss

Rochester Streak Ends

Two One-Hit Contests in W-O

Bill Barker checked in with a one-hitter as Milford (4-4) blanked Brighton (0-8), while John Taylor and Bill Skelly gave up only one safety as they combined to pitch Northville (7-3) past Clarenceville, 4-2.

Barker fanned 12, walked only two and collected two singles. Mark Geiger helped Barker at the plate with three hits and an RBI.

Rochester's streak came to a close when Lindsey Waggoner belted a grand-slam homer in the fourth as Lake Orion took a 5-2 decision. Jim Burton hit a bases-empty homer for the losers in the sixth. Waggoner worked on the mound for the Dragons and scattered five hits.

OTHER GAMES

In a couple other O-A games, Madison downed Avondale, 5-2, and Warren Cousino trimmed Clawson, 5-1.

★ ★ ★

In Southeastern Michigan Association action, Southfield scored two runs in the first and Tom Burkert gave up only one hit in a 2-0 win over Birmingham Seaholm, and Royal Oak Kimball ran its record to 7-2 with a 5-2 nod over Hazel Park.

Majors to Trim

Roster Deadline Near

By the Associated Press

Walt Bond has to be wondering just what a fellow has to do to stay in the major leagues and Madke Epstein seems to be heading for another shot at the minors' Most Valuable Player award as baseball's final cutoff date arrived today.

By midnight, local time, tonight, all the major-league clubs must have cut their rosters to 25 players and most of the teams still have a few performers to assign elsewhere or release them.

The Minnesota Twins announced Tuesday they were sending pitcher Dwight Siebler to their Denver PCL Farm and were getting rid of outfielder Andy Kosco, possibly in a trade.

The Twins gave Bond his outright release, even though in 16 pinch-hit appearances the big outfielder had five hits, one home run and five runs batted in. Last year at Denver Bond hit .313.

Epstein, best player in the minors at Rochester last year, still was the subject of discussion in the Baltimore hierarchy Tuesday, but the unofficial word seemed to be that he would be sent back down.

The only clubs besides the Twins to have reached the player limit are Atlanta, the Chicago White Sox and California.

Philadelphia placed Dick Groat, veteran infielder on the 21-day disabled list because of his inflamed right ankle, but the Phillies still have two players to cut.

Other teams that are two players over the limit are San Francisco, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, the New York Mets and Yankees, Detroit and Cleveland.

With just one player to cut are the Chicago Cubs, Houston, Boston and Kansas City. Baltimore, Washington and Los Angeles must cut three players.

Fights Slated, but Contracts Still Missing

NEW YORK (AP) — The eight-man heavyweight elimination tournament looks like a tidy little package, but in the wide world of boxing even the angles have angles.

★ ★ ★

Aug. 4-5—Ernie Terrell, Chicago, vs. Jimmy Ellis, Louisville, Ky.

Sept. 16-Oct. 7—Karl Mildenberger, West Germany, vs Thad Spencer, San Francisco, in Frankfurt, Germany.

Mathis in Waiting Game for Fight Eliminations

DETROIT (AP) — Manager Cus D'Amato says former Grand Rapids sign painter Buster Mathis isn't quite ready to battle for the heavyweight boxing title stripped from Cassius Clay.

"But by the time those eight guys have finished knocking each other around, he just might be ready," he added.

The World Boxing Association deemed Clay unworthy of its version of the crown because he refused to serve in the U.S. Army. The WBA ordered a round-robin playoff between such names as Ernie Terill, Joe Frazier and former champion Floyd Patterson.

The stocky, white-haired D'Amato — sans Mathis — was in Detroit Tuesday to talk about Friday's 10-round bout between Mathis and Irish Ed Hurley of Minneapolis, Minn.

Hurley, a last-minute substitute for Wilbur (Skeeter) McClure of San Diego, Calif., who broke a bone in his hand during training, said he has won 11 fights and lost five.

"I lost three of my last five," he said.

CHRISTMAS VISIT

"He's got emotional problems," said D'Amato. "He needs supervision. That's why I only let him go home once a year — at Christmas.

"When he goes home, he eats. And then he balloons to around 300 pounds."

"This is a big fight for my boy," he said. "It'll be the first time he'll get into a 10-rounder.

"I've been keeping him in the six-round fights so far because you've got to bring fighters up carefully. You can't rush them, or you'll ruin them."

HUMACAO, P.R. (AP) — Curt Gammell, with 23 points, led the touring Gulf Petroleum basketball team from the United States to a 93-81 victory over the Puerto Rican All-Stars Tuesday night.

IOC to Watch Pro Attempts for Olympics

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The International Olympic Committee plans a crackdown in the 1968 Games at Mexico City in an effort to prevent any professionals from competing.

Avery Brundage of Chicago, president of the IOC, said Tuesday that athletes will have to list their occupations and the names of their employers on a new Olympic entry form.

In the past, he said, the amateur status of the athletes had to be confirmed by the signatures of the president of their sports federation and Olympic committees, but that professionals still managed to compete.

He added that proof that an athlete was not a true amateur would still be difficult to obtain and asked newspapers to print any evidence of professionalism to help the IOC crack down.

Brundage also disclosed that all members of a team in which any athlete is convicted of using stimulants will be ruled out of the Games. He said this did not mean that all the athletes from the convicted athlete's country would be disqualified, but only those competing directly with him.

On the new entry from athletes will have to agree to submit to medical checks by Olympic doctors looking for stimulant-users, Brundage said.

Teacher Rolls to WIBC Lead

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A Milwaukee, Wis., physical education teacher rolled an unofficial 1862 Tuesday to dash into the Division I all-events lead in the women's International Bowling Congress Tournament.

Mrs. Carol Miller, 33, electrified the tourney with a 710 series, including a 278 singles game Monday. She helped Pitch's Lounge of Milwaukee to a 2877 and fourth place in the team standings.

Mrs. Miller came back Tuesday with a 619 in doubles and a 533 in singles. Her 1862, nine-game block works out to an average of 206.9.

All-event scores are official when they are computerized usually a week after they are compiled.

Glorian Paeth of Port Huron, Mich., shot the second highest score of her life, 652, for the Division I singles lead. A 30-year-old secretary, Mrs. Paeth rolled 243-213-196 to go two pins up on previous leader Elsie Karow of Bloomfield, N.J.

Consistent shooting led Waterford to its 16th golf win of the season yesterday, a 156-169 nod over Avondale at Pontiac Country Club.

Gary Balliet of Avondale led all scorers with an even-par 36. Carding 39s for Waterford were Randy Reith, Randy Berry, Rod Skelton and Brent Barnes.

★ ★ ★

Fishermen Setting Sights on Press Contest Records

Pike Division of 32nd Derby Opens Monday

Trout Fishing Slows in Area; St. Clair Producing Perch

These are the records Oakland County fishermen will be shooting for this summer in The Pontiac Press' 32nd annual Big Fish Contest.

The derby gets under way Monday, May 15, with the opening of pike and muskellunge season on inland lakes. Black Bass season does not start until June 1, so that portion of the contest will be closed until then.

A $50 savings bond will be awarded for the heaviest pike, muskie or walleye. All are grouped under the pike division. The same prize will go to the bass winner.

Also, there will be an additional bonus of a $50 bond for the angler catching the heaviest bass on opening day.

★ ★ ★

All residents of Oakland County are eligible. The fish must be caught in county waters other than those used for commercial purposes. Entries must be brought to The Press sports department between 7 a.m. and 2 p.m. for weighing.

Pictures will be taken of all new leaders and unusual fish.

DEADLINE

Northern pike have won 31 of the first prizes. A walleye took the honors one year. Although three lakes in the county contain muskies, this species has never won.

Trout fishing in the Oakland County area continued slow through last weekend on special ponds and lakes, but Kearsley and Paint creeks were good producers of browns.

Perch are hitting along the Lake St. Clair shoreline and where the Black River flows into the St. Clair River.

★ ★ ★

State Receives Fewer Fire Calls

Cold, Wet Spring Brings Happiness

The cold, wet spring has brought happiness to at least one man in Oakland County.

"I couldn't be happier," said C. G. (Mac) McLarty, district fire supervisor at the Conservation Department's Pontiac Lake office. "In 20 years, including where I've been stationed in other parts of state, I've never seen a spring like this one."

Mac likes a nice warm spring just like everyone else. But he doesn't like the grass and brush fires that accompany normal spring weather.

The fire district he supervises runs from the Ohio-Michigan line in the southeast to Saginaw Bay and west to the Jackson area. Thousands of acres of state lands are under his jurisdiction.

C. G. McLARTY

"We've had only five fire runs on state lands this spring," said the supervisor.

Last spring, the department's fire equipment was called on to handle five fires in a day several times. Except for persistent outbursts along railroad tracks, local departments also have experienced a sharp decline in grass fires, McLarty pointed out.

"The issuing of burning permits is well below normal," he said. "It's been too wet to burn debris and other material."

Burning permits, available from local departments, are required for open fires in most townships.

WATER TABLE

"The water table is up and this is a great help," McLarty said with a grin. "This may help solve our fall muck fire problems."

Unless there is a prolonged dry spell for the remainder of the month, the land will continue to grow greener and McLarty's smile will become wider.

Two Nature Schools Set at 7 Ponds

Two natural history field schools for elementary and grade school students will be held this summer at Seven Ponds Nature Center near Dryden.

The summer field schools will be for boys and girls 8-14 years old. Each is of one week's duration — June 19-23 and July 10-14. Walter A. Jones, naturalist-in-residence, is arranging the program for the schools.

The center will become available for use by school classes in September.

Seven Ponds is located on Crawford Road, southwest of Dryden. It is sponsored by the Michigan Audubon Society.

Among those participating in the opening day workshop which will continue until 3:30 p.m. are Thomas Osmer, district game biologist of the Conservation Department's Imlay City office, and Dr. Daniel McGeen, Pontiac dentist and well-known ornithologist.

Early Teal Season

The Conservation Commission is expected to approve an early teal shooting season and several land matters during its monthly meeting Thursday and Friday in Lansing.

Driver Is Improved

SPRING HUNTING — A long-handled net, a good pointing dog and a pocketful of special bands are the ingredients of hunts taking place in Michigan this month. Conservation Department game experts use the dogs to locate nesting woodcock or female timberdoodles with their broods. The net is employed on adult woodcock (lower left), and a band is clamped into place. The young birds (lower right) are gently picked up by hand and banded.

Sulfuric Acid Pollutes Creek in California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Police patrolled a five-mile stretch of Morrison Creek today to keep swimmers and fishermen away from waters polluted by the accidental spilling of 100,000 pounds of sulfuric acid.

★ ★ ★

The California Fish and Game Department said the acid, in concentrated form, was spilled Sunday night when a valve broke while a tanker car was being unloaded at a Proctor & Gamble plant.

"The fish were really jumping out of the water like it was red-hot," a spokesman said. "That acid is just like the kind in your car battery."

★ ★ ★

Morrison Creek runs into a lake which empties into the Sacramento River. A pump controlling flow to the river was turned off and soda was added to the waters to neutralize the acid.

Regional Biologist for Northern L. P.

The Conservation Department has a new regional game biologist to serve the northern half of the Lower Peninsula.

He is Nels Johnson Jr., 40, a game biologist in southern Michigan since February, 1966.

Johnson's appointment, effective May 14, was announced by Warren W. Shapton, department deputy director, field operations.

★ ★ ★

Johnson has a bachelor's degree in forestry and a master's in wildlife management from the University of Michigan.

State's Tourist Pulling Power Yields Bonus

Michigan to Receive $210,000 Additional Conservation Funds

Michigan's drawing power among out-of-state tourists has gained the state an additional $210,000 from the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund for the current fiscal year.

The extra allotment, supplementing this state's regular apportionment of almost $1.9 million for the same period, is conservatively based on actual counts of out-of-state visitors to public recreation facilities in Michigan last year.

About 178,000 nonresident visitors were tallied in Michigan in 1966. This was the fourth highest total in the nation.

The additional $210,000 will be prorated among state and local agencies according to their relative out-of-state visitor counts.

State recreation areas, including parks and forest campgrounds, reported 86 per cent of the nonresidents counted and, consequently, will receive $180,404.

Nationwide, some $3.3 million in Land and Water Fund money will be parceled out for the states' use by nonresidents in 1966. Combined with that is $59 million distributed earlier under the regular Land and Water allotment for the current fiscal year.

The Land and Water Conservation Fund draws part of its revenues from the sale of the $7 annual Golden Eagle passport which provides entry to all federal recreation facilities in this country.

It also is financed by other user fees for national recreation sites, a federal motorboat fuel tax and proceeds from the sale of federal surplus lands.

Of the fund's total, 60 per cent is apportioned to the states to help finance acquisition of recreation lands and development of outdoor leisure-time facilities.

Laitala Is Reappointed; No Decision on Scholle

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. George Romney has reappointed Democrat E. M. (Matt) Laitala to the Michigan Conservation Commission, leaving only ALF-CIO leader Gus Scholle still serving but not reappointed.

Commissioners whose terms have expired are able to serve under their previous appointments until they are reappointed or replaced.

Under Michigan's new constitution, which requires that no more than three commissioners be members of one party, Romney must either reappoint Scholle or appoint another Democrat to succeed him.

Laitala, 64, a Hancock publisher, was first named to the commission in 1961 and has served as its chairman. He was reappointed Monday to a four-year term expiring at the end of 1970. Senate confirmation is required.

Laitala has served on the executive council of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association, and has been active in the National Wildlife Federation, the Michigan Parks Association, and the Michigan Outdoor Writers Association.

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

JACOBY

In the final match Paul Levitt of New Orleans proceeded to make a fine four heart contract which his opposite number on the Mathe team failed to bring home.

Paul's play is worthy of study since he worked out a combination play that enabled him to take a trump finesse and not really care if it won or lost.

Paul let the first spade trick go to East. East returned a spade whereupon Paul proceeded to cash the ace of clubs, ruff a club, ruff his last spade and lead a trump to his king.

★ ★ ★

Then he led a heart toward dummy and finessed the ten. When the finesse worked Paul's troubles were over. He did have to lose two diamonds eventually but he could afford to.

★ ★ ★

Let's see what would have happened if the finesse had lost. East would have had no satisfactory card to return. A spade lead would give Paul a ruff and discard. A club lead would allow him to make tricks with both the king and jack.

A low diamond would allow Paul to play the eight and force West to play either the ace or jack while the ten of diamonds lead would give queen and eventually finesse against West's jack.

Of course, Paul's play would have failed if East did hold the queen of hearts and West the ace, jack and ten of diamonds but the play made carried the best percentage available and it did succeed.

BOARDING HOUSE

Minorities Get Cultural Center

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

LOS ANGELES — A group of civic- and culture-minded citizens have banded together for a dual purpose: to bring good theater to the masses and to provide opportunity in the arts for members of minorities.

THOMAS

The group is called the Inner City Cultural Center, and it has been made possible by the federal government's recent discovery that culture can be a national asset. Through a joint grant of the National Endowment for the Arts and the Department of Education, the center will establish a repertory company which will stage classic plays for Los Angeles schoolchildren.

The plays also will be presented on weekends to the general public at nominal admission fees.

The cultural center, which was founded by its president, Dr. J. Alfred Cannon, has launched a drive for necessary funds that are not provided by the government. A neighborhood movie house, the old Fox Boulevard, has been leased, and $125,000 is needed for renovation. Another $125,000 is being sought for the center's program to develop young talent.

Heading the fund drive is Gregory Peck, an actor who takes his civic responsibilities seriously. He explained the background of the Inner City Cultural Center.

"I have been a member of the board for two years, and it is interracial, including Negroes, a Japanese-American and a Mexican-American. The area that will be served is almost entirely Negro, and the center fills a decided need. As you know, there is no theater in Watts. The Boulevard can easily be reached from there—Watts is only five minutes away."

The old Boulevard has been rented from its present owners, the Thriftimart—grocery chain, for $20,000 a year, with the figure to be returned if improvements are made.

The plan is to convert the building into a modern, 1,000-seat theater, plus workshops, classrooms and laboratories where young people can receive expert tutelage in drama, dance, music and other fields. Except for a few ventures such as Budd Schulberg's writing classes, there are few places where Negroes can find artistic expression.

READY FOR PREVIEW — Visitors will get a preview of the Holland Tulip Festival, May 17-20, as Windmill Island opens for the 1967 season. Some 200,000 tulips will be in various stages of development near the 200-year-old mill imported from Holland.

Michigan Family Faces Deportation to Hungary

Berdo and his family came to this country in 1964 from Hungary on a 30-day visitor's visa. He wanted to visit a sister living in Grand Rapids who fled Hungary in 1956. Berdo stayed and asked for asylum with the U.S. Immigration Service.

★ ★ ★

But U.S. authorities said they did not want Berdo to remain in this country because they said he was a member of the Communist party in Hungary. A deportation order is being withheld pending a report from the U.S. Public Health Service on whether Berdo's wife is able to travel. She is expecting the couple's second child in September.

"We would rather die than live under Communist tyranny again," Berdo said. "We know that after asking to stay in America, a return to Hungary means certain imprisonment for me and persecution for my family."

Berdo hired Detroit attorney G. Vernon Leopold to represent him. A request was filed last week to reopen deportation hearings on grounds Berdo faces up to five years imprisonment and confiscation of his property in Hungary for failing to return to the country before his travel visa ran out.

Berdo contends he was forced to join the Communist party in Hungary in order to get his family out of a horse stable in which they were living and to get himself accepted in a trade school.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., both have indicated they can do nothing to help Berdo.

Early Slump in Trading

Mart Moves to Recoup Losses

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market recovered part of its initial sharp loss early Wednesday afternoon.

The market slumped in the first half hour of trading on high volume that put the New York Stock Exchange ticker tape a minute late in reporting floor transactions.

Some brokers expressed the opinion that the market was headed for a test of the 875 level on the Dow Jones industrial average, which last Friday closed above 900 for the first time in nearly a year.

★ ★ ★

But about midday some analysts said the follow-through to Tuesday's late weakness was less than they had expected. They attributed this to progress toward enacting the restoration of the 7 per cent business investment tax credit and short covering by worried bears.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had lost .6 at 328.0 with industrials off .8, rails up .1 and utilities off .8.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 2.67 at 897.22 after having been down 5.12 at 10:30 a.m.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Gains of a point or so were made by Data Processing, Gale Industries, Syntex and United Aircraft preferred. Technicol, CCI and General Battery added fractions.

County Committee Airs Plans for New 4-H Center

Preliminary plans for establishing the 4-H Youth Center at the Oakland County-owned Davisburg Park were discussed yesterday by the newly merged cooperative extension service-markets committee of the board of supervisors.

The present 4-H fair grounds location, a 17.5-acre triangular parcel at the northeastern corner of Pontiac, has been in use since 1941 and is considered unsuitable for expansion of the 4-H program.

Further discussion of plans for the 4-H area at Davisburg Park are slated with the County Parks and Recreation Commission before construction plans are referred for consideration by the supervisors' buildings and grounds committee.

In other business yesterday, William L. Mainland, cooperative extension service-markets committee chairman, called for a cost estimate on a proposed soil survey of undeveloped areas of the county.

NEXT MONTH

Lyle B. Abel, director of the cooperative extension service for the county, will prepare the estimate for presentation to the committee next month.

Such a survey would have to be scheduled at least three years from now to be eligible for matching funds.

3-Parcel Deal Gains Approval

Transaction between the City of Pontiac and a Southfield developer of three parcels of land on Pontiac's northwest side received formal approval of the City Commission last night.

Michael F. Chernick, who has indicated his intention of constructing a multiple housing project north of a proposed extension of West Columbia, will pay the city $39,300 for a 13-1-acre parcel in that area.

James L. Bates, director of planning and urban renewal, said the higher per-acre cost paid by the city for the Cherrylawn-West Yale property reflects the value of fully-improved streets and utilities in that area.

Site plan for the 221-D-3 project proposed by Chernick is still subject to final approval of the City Planning Commission.

Army Cook Gets Honored

From UPI Wire Service

A Michigan soldier, who feels he's not making a significant contribution in Vietnam as a company cook, was honored yesterday by the State House of Representatives.

In a campaign triggered by 61st District Rep. Loren D. Anderson, R-Waterford Township, the legislators drew up an impressive-looking resolution commending Pfc. Roger Burns for his culinary contributions to the war effort.

Then they presented the cheer-up message and a brand-new Michigan state flag to Burns' wife, Penny, who is employed as receptionist to Romney.

★ ★ ★

QUIET CAMPAIGN

Anderson, a first-term legislator who served on the Waterford Township Board for six years before being elected to the state post, launched the quiet campaign to cheer up both of them even though he has never met Burns and knows Penny "just to smile at."

"All we're trying to do is say he's important too," said Anderson. "The most wonderful thing about it is that 108 busy people can care how two young people feel. I know how it feels to be out there."

Reuther Raps Legislation on Public Service Unions

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, is opposing state legislation which would require circuit judges to enjoin actual or threatened strikes by public employes.

The legislation, proposed by the House Labor Committee, would in effect restore some of the prohibitions of the so-called Hutchinson Act, which outlawed strikes by government employes.

The 1965 Legislature softened some Hutchinson Act penalties. As an aftermath, there were several strikes by teachers, firemen and policemen.

Reuther said in a statement issued Tuesday that enactment of the Labor Committee's bill "would set back sound labor relations for public service employes 30 years."

What he described as "automatic injunctions" would prevail in strikes, Reuther said, "even if the employer were totaling at fault and grossly violated the law by engaging in unfair labor practices."

"Another proposal," he said, "would bar public employes from joining effective collective bargaining organizations, allowing only the equivalent of company unions to exist.

"Thousands of employes would be placed at the mercy of unilateral decisions by their employer without recourse to protest through an organization chosen democratically to represent them.

"The proposed changes are aimed at depriving government employes of the opportunity to achieve their fair measure of economic justice."

ROMNEY PANEL

Reuther also said the proposed legislation fails to follow recommendations from a panel appointed by Gov. George Romney to review public employe relations. Additionally, he credited its appearance on the House calendar to "the Republican majority" on the House committee.

★ ★ ★

The proposed legislation would create a fact-finding panel if mediation fails in a dispute involving public employes, and the panel's findings would be binding in the case of fire and police department employes.

Thieves Flee With 3 TVs

★ ★ ★

A witness told police she saw a car stop in front of the Hampton Electric store, 825 W. Huron, then drive off at a high rate of speed after two occupants got out.

Officers said they found a front window smashed when they arrived minutes later.

Further Exam Set in Killing

Further examination in the case of a Detroit woman accused in the Jan. 1 murder of a Pontiac bar owner has been slated in Pontiac Municipal Court May 23.

Mrs. Margaret Overton, charged with the pistol slaying of David B. Foster, owner of Foster's Bar, 335 Wessen, had been bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court after initial examinations Jan. 10.

★ ★ ★

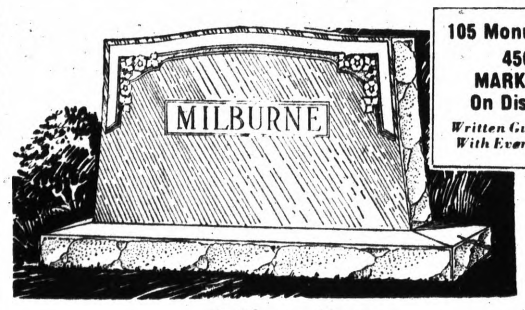

The case was then remanded to Municipal Court where further testimony was heard yesterday before adjournment until May 23.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

The Australian miss who tried to stow away aboard a U.S. nuclear cruiser while it was docked in Sydney said yesterday in Hollywood, she will appear in a movie with her Coast Guard boyfriend.

Sandra Hilder, 20, who hid in an admiral's cabin overnight April 19, and Seaman Bernard (Bud) Brewer, 23, will portray a pair of lovers in "Did You Hear the One About the Traveling Saleslady?" which stars Phyllis Diller.

"We've already had a free offer," replied Sandra. "And besides, Bud's going to college when he gets out of the service."

Yugoslavia's Tito Proposed for Reelection

The Communist-Run Socialist Alliance made the proposal yesterday to Parliament. Tito's current four-year term expires this summer.

Widow Honored—All 8 Children Attend College

Nineteen years ago when Ana Tokita was widowed and left virtually penniless in Seattle, Wash., she made a vow—to see that her eight children attended college.

Her pledge fulfilled, Mrs. Tokita was presented the Japanese American Citizens League's first Mother of the Year award last night.

In 1948 Mrs. Tokita and her husband leased a small downtown hotel. When the arrangements were completed, they had $7 left. Within seven months he had succumbed to an illness.

"I'll make it on my own," a daughter, Mrs. Henry Hashimoto, recalls her mother saying when she turned down welfare aid because she feared it would reflect upon her children.

The five sons had summer and part-time jobs.

"They did everything and anything," Mrs. Hashimoto said, "and gave their checks to mother, who banked them for them. She was determined to make them all self-reliant."

One son earned his master's degree and is an aeronautical engineer, two others attended college for two years and then joined the Air Force.

One daughter has a degree in interior design. Two other daughters attended classes for two years. Two sons are still in school.

Odd 'Beep Beep' Bugs Residents in Washington

SEDRO WOOLLEY, Wash. (AP) — The residents of Sedro Woolley are going batty over a "beep beep" that's been bugging them every night for a month.

The strange noise, which seems to flit through the wooded hills nearby, starts about 9:30 each night and continues until dawn. When the beeping begins, the usual frog and cricket noises cease, listeners report.

An estimated 400 persons drove out to investigate the mysterious sound Monday night, and two deputy sheriffs sent out to check the noise wound up directing traffic instead. Sheriff John Boynton issued a public appeal Tuesday for people to stay home.

★ ★ ★

The source of the sound couldn't be as dangerous as some of those looking for it, Boynton said.

Latins Tour GM

WARREN (AP) — Twenty students from Quito, Ecuador, got a taste of automotive technology Tuesday as they toured the General Motors Technical Center. The students are on a two-week visit to the United States as part of Operation Amigo, a nonprofit project that brings small groups of Latin American youths to this country for a look at American life.

'FATHA' HINES SMILES OVER CONTRACT — At a borrowed piano in a studio near his Oakland, Calif., home, piano great Earl "Fatha" Hines, 62, admires the $20,000-a-year-for-life contract offered by Leonard V. Martin, owner of The Cannery near Fisherman's Wharf. Martin (left) said the agreement is to provide Hines with continuous annual income for the rest of Hines' natural life.

Council Okays Oxford Budget

OXFORD — Village councilmen approved a new budget of $190,000 last night, up $11,000 from last year, and continued a tax levy of 13 mills plus 2 mills for retirement of the civil center building debt.

The increase, according to Manager Robert Smalley, for the most part reflects wage and salary increases and the hiring of part-time help.

The council adopted a new ordinance and an amendment to an old one providing for stricter control of noisy and unconfined dogs.

The attorney was ordered to prepare an ordinance making village policemen eligible for a federally financed training program.

'Specimen' Bills Stolen, Passed

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Thieves stole $382 in bills which had been mounted under glass to show the difference between real currency and bogus bills.

The bills were stamped "Specimen" and were entirely blank on the reverse side. But a $20 "specimen" bill, plainly marked, was passed and accepted at a Jackson cafe.

ENGINEERED RETURN — Salvatore (Bill) Bonanno engineered restoration of his father, Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno, as head of a Cosa Nostra "family" in New York City, according to a New York Times story. Bonanno had been removed from the position 2½ years ago, but since has resumed leadership of the "family," the Times reports.

'10,000 Killed or Wounded in China Strife'

TOKYO (AP) — Several hundred thousand peasants were reported today to have fought backers of Mao Tse-tung in Szechwan Province and more than 10,000 persons were said to have been killed or wounded in the past four weeks.

"Critical" and "worsening" were words used to picture the situation in Sinkiang and Honan, two other provinces where Mao's struggle to seize power has run into heavy going.

Other reports said that in Peking members of the unruly "United Action Committee" of Red Guards recently released from confinement have put up posters proclaiming "Down with Chiang Ching," Mao's wife, and "Restore honor to Liu Shao-chi and Teng Hsiao-ping."

Families Shoot It Out; 2 Die

ACAPULCO (UPI) — Two feuding families fought a gun duel in a cemetery near Acapulco yesterday. Two men were killed and three wounded in the two-hour battle.

It took 25 policemen and two platoons of troops to rout the positions behind tombstones and mausoleums.

A police spokesman said all the uninjured participants in the battle escaped. He said the battle took place between the Damian and Valente families, the local equivalent of the Hatfields and the McCoys.

★ ★ ★

Both families come from a region north of Acapulco which is infested with bandits and noted for Sicilian-type blood feuds sometimes going back centuries.

Grant for Park

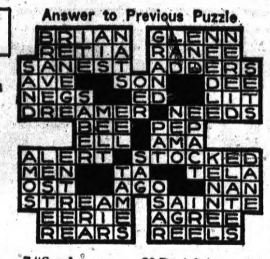

WASHINGTON (AP) — Iron County will receive a $5,100 grant from the Interior Department to help finance the purchase of land for expansion of a Petonga Park near Stambaugh. The grant was announced Tuesday by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

Drama Critics Honor Plays

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Drama Critics Circle has chosen "The Homecoming" as the best play of the 1966-67 Broadway season and 'Cabaret" as the best musical.

Both winners were picked Tuesday in weighted run-off ballots after no show won majority support on first ballots.

★ ★ ★

Edward Albee's "A Delicate Balance," which won a Pulitzer Prize last week, was voted the second-best play and "I Do! I Do!" the second best musical.

"The Homecoming," a British play, was written by Harold Pinter. "Cabaret" was the work of Joe Masteroff, John Kander and Fred Ebb.

CORE Chief Will Speak to Teachers

DETROIT (AP) — Floyd McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, will be a featured speaker at the annual Detroit Teachers' Institute Day Friday. McKissick will speak on "The Crisis in Education in the Urban Ghetto."

★ ★ ★

Other speakers at the conference will include Dr. Ashley Montagu, an anthropologist, John Henrik Clarke, a director of the Heritage Teaching Program of the HARYOU-ACT poverty program in New York, and Dr. James McPherson, a professor at Princeton University.

If both its parents are of the same breed, a horse is said to be purebred.

Auto-Truck Crash Fatal to 7 in Texas

GOLDTHWAITE, Tex. (AP) — An Alabama couple, four of their eight children and a North Carolina trucker died Tuesday night in a central Texas highway crash.

Sheriff H. G. Brooks said the accident occurred as a 1954 model car carrying Earl T. Waller, 36, of Athens, Ala., and nine others in the family was turning onto the highway.

Waller died in the crash along with his wife, Pauline, 31; the children — Eugene, 11, Linda, 5, Frank, 3, and Michael, 2; and Robert Anderson, 40, of Hickory, N.C., who was in the truck.

★ ★ ★

Two of the injured Waller children are in grave condition, and two other Waller children reported in fair condition. The driver of the tractor-trailer, Paul L. Justice, 32, of Connellys Springs, N.C., was reported in good condition.

20 Sent to Jail in Irish Farm Subsidy Row

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Twenty Irish farmers were arrested and jailed Tuesday for nonpayment of fines or refusal to sign peace bonds.

The farmers had been hauled into court earlier for refusal to pay taxes or for obstructing highways in their campaign for bigger farm subsidies.

Some will serve three months, others up to six months.

About 200 other farmers are liable to arrest and imprisonment unless they pay fines or sign bonds.

State Man Killed, 1 Missing in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — One Michigan man was killed and another was missing in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department reported Tuesday.

Killed was Army Spec. 4 Richard A. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Johnson of Escanaba. Army Pfc. Robert J. Van Leeuwen, husband of Mrs. Barbara Van Leeuwen of Rockford was listed as missing in action.

Sex Discounted by Symbol as Substitute for Talent

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Raquel Welch, the Sex Symbol, has reached that inevitable stage: she's sick of the title. She wants to lose it.

"It's an image that blossomed very suddenly without me trying to get it, and now I'm trying to make it close up and go away," Raquel told me in her hotel suite. "I don't negate that I'm female but when you have the think of being a beauty or a goddess or whatever, it gets a freaky sound and too many people put a label on you and decide you haven't a brain in your head."

WILSON

Miss Welch, who has brains not only in her head but all over her, said she herself is fascinated by beauty — she never hears what Sophia Loren says the first time she sees her in a new film, because she's so enchanted by her loveliness, she just looks instead of listening.

★ ★ ★

"Only by destroying their beauty could Sophia and Elizabeth Taylor prove they were actresses," Raquel said.

And so, says Raquel, it could happen that she, too, would have to look unsexy in a film sometime . . . though personally, I think it's impossible.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Cary Grant's reported making an announcement of his reconciliation with his wife Dyan Cannon any day. I asked him about it at the Plaza (on his return from London) and it went like this: Me: "You are getting back together?" . . . Cary: "I'll let you know when I let you know." . . . Me: "You mean you can't say anything about it?" . . . Cary: "I can, but I'm not going to."

Mia Farrow's mother Maureen O'Sullivan at the Plaza Persian Room to see Eartha Kitt, said, "You know, Mia's really a writer. Those interviews she gives show her writer touch. Some day I'll dig everything she's written out of the trunk!" . . . "Sherry" closes in two weeks? So we hear . . . Mamie Van Doren's recording of "The Boy Catchers" drove A & R man Eddie Newmark of Audio-Fidelity off his equilibrium.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: John J. Plomp of Detroit tells of the not-too-bright politico who not only needs someone to write his speeches—but also someone to read them.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: An operation that takes a doctor an hour to perform may take the patient years to describe.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "An efficiency expert is a man who is smart enough to tell you how to run your business, and too smart to start one of his own."

EARL'S PEARLS: You can't please some people. If a woman does her own cooking, canning and baking, someone's sure to claim she's too lazy to go shopping.

Bob Orben reports his wife's a sloppy housekeeper, and just got around to spring cleaning: "First thing she did was take the ornaments off the Christmas tree." That's earl, brother.
