O'Brien to Tell All Knowledge of Ritchie Deal

To Give Millard Details About $5,000 Reward Paid by UAW

DETROIT (AP).—Attorney General Millard has demanded and Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien has promised by Friday to report all he knows regarding the $5,000 reward paid Donald Ritchie by the CIO United Auto Workers Union in the bizarre Walter Reuther shooting.

O'Brien added, however: "I am not answering Millard through the newspapers. . . as I have repeatedly said, as far as the Ritchie deal was concerned, I knew nothing about it. The testimony of the UAW was they didn't tell anyone about it."

Millard is a Republican; O'Brien a Democrat. They have been involved in public disputes previously. Ralph Garber, O'Brien's chief assistant, claimed before his boss spoke up that Millard was "playing politics."

O'Brien said, "There is no question that as the attorney general he (Millard) has the right to look into things. That is his job. I answer everything he wants."

The attorney general disclosed yesterday he had demanded a "full and complete report" within a week of O'Brien: "Your knowledge, or that of any assistant in your office, of the so-called contract or agreement providing for the payment of funds to (Donald) Ritchie in regard to this (Reuther) case."

The letter was dated last Friday.

Ritchie, the prosecutor's key witness in the five-year-old assassination plot, received the $5,000 for accusing four men of being involved in the shotgun maiming of the union leader. Payment was made by the UAW after issuance of warrants.

Ritchie's later repudiation of his story led to virtual collapse of the case.

The UAW and Ritchie were reported to have agreed on a settlement of $25,000 to be awarded the witness in payments during the trial and after the conviction of those he named. His life also was insured for $10,000 by the union.

When wounded, Reuther was newly elected president of the UAW. He now is president of the CIO as well.

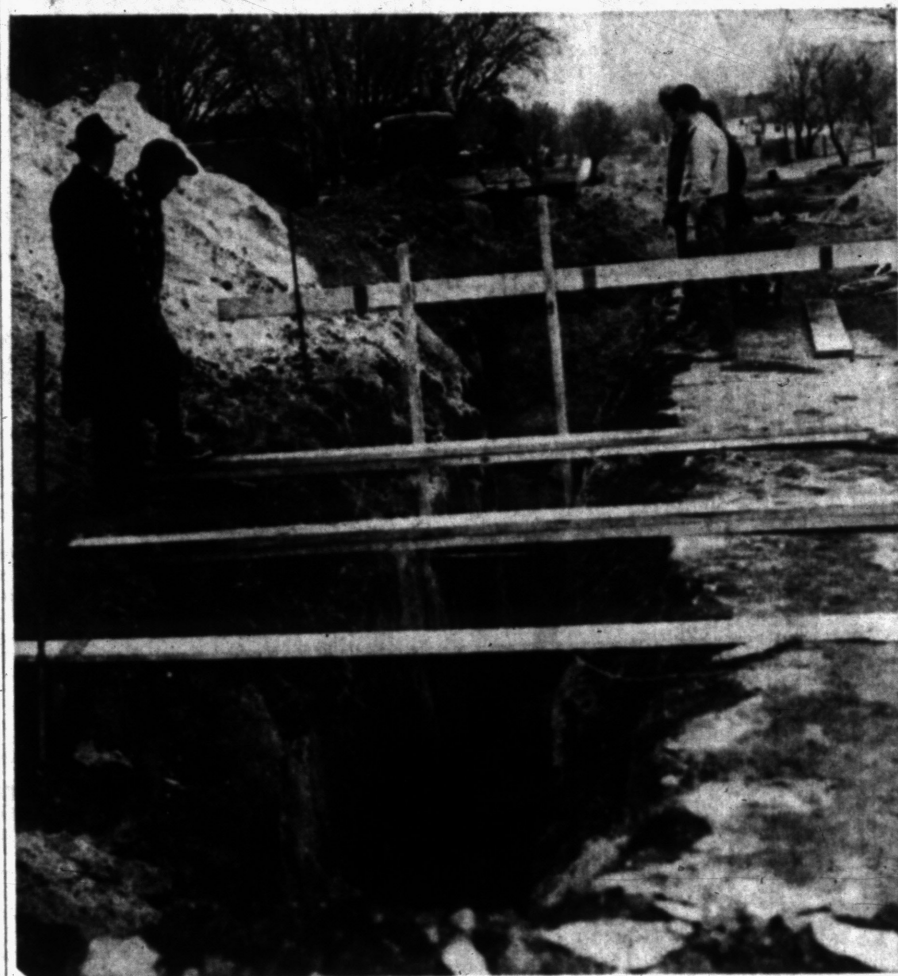

O'Brien said last night:

"I received Millard's letter this morning. It was a nice letter and I will answer him by letter before Friday, as he requested."

"I am not answering Millard through the newspapers. However, as I have repeatedly said, as far as the Ritchie deal was concerned, I knew nothing about it. The testimony of the UAW was they didn't tell anyone about it."

Two City Workers Trapped in Trench

SCENE OF CAVE-IN—The sides of this 13-foot-deep sewer ditch in front of 21 W. Brooklyn Ave. caved in yesterday, burying two Pontiac DPW workmen for over 15 minutes. The men, Floyd Rhue, 25, of 97A E. Huron St. and John Merriweather, 33, of 397 Highland Ave., were admitted to Pontiac General Hospital.

Michigan Senate Debates Korean Veterans' Bonus

LANSING (AP).—An $88 million bonus for Korean War veterans is up for debate in the Michigan Senate. The Senate Judiciary Committee released the constitutional amendment, proposing to ask the people next fall to vote on paying the bonus in addition to the $270 million World War II bonus already paid by Michigan.

The committee rejected a provision to retire the bonus bonds by raising the state cigarette tax from three to four cents a package.

Senators said the three-cent tax was enough to pay the Korean bonus bonds, too, except that it would take longer. The cigarette tax now produces $7 to $9 million more than needed for the World War II bonus, with the balance now going into the general fund.

The financing plan now considered is to take not more than $3 million a year out of the general fund to carry the Korean bonus bonds until 1966, when the World War II bonus would be paid for. Then $14 million a year could be paid on the Korean bonus bonds.

The proposed bonus would have a maximum of $500 per person, paid at the rate of $10 a month for service in the United States and $15 a month for foreign service.

DPW Worker Listed 'Critical'

City Employee, Buried Half-Hour in Cave-In, Has Head Injuries

One of two Pontiac DPW workmen buried at the bottom of a 13-foot sewer excavation by cave-in yesterday remained in critical condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Hospital authorities said Floyd R. Rhue, 25, of 95 E. Huron St., suffered severe head and chest injuries when a clay and sand well crumpled and entombed him for half an hour.

John Merriweather, 33, of 397 Highland Ave., who was rescued first about five feet from Rhue, was admitted for possible chest injuries. He is reported in good condition.

It took eight fellow workers and four firemen 30 minutes to unearth Rhue after hearing his muffled cries. He was found unconscious lying face down under a standing pipe and a half foot of dirt.

Merriweather, also completely covered by the loose dirt, was pinned to one side of the ditch in a standing position.

The DPW crew was installing sewer pipes on W. Brooklyn avenue near Baldwin avenue when the cave-in occurred.

Sanco S. Elieff, 58, of 43 Hazel Ave., job foreman, said he was standing on a board straddling the excavation when about five yards of dirt buried the men.

"Then I heard one of them yell. I called the men to start digging," he said.

Hike in Income Tax Exemption Seen This Year

Republican Legislators Disagree on Method of Lowering Levy

WASHINGTON (INS).—A top administration source predicted today that Congress this year will eventually raise personal income tax exemptions from $600 to $700 as part of a package bill on revenue.

The forecast came as GOP tax legislators were reportedly in sharp disagreement over how to cut income taxes during the current session.

One group within the House Ways and Means Committee — which originates all tax legislation — is led by Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.) and reportedly wants the exemptions increased. This idea has also received widespread Democratic support.

However, Committee Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) and several other members were reportedly urging a flat 10 per cent slash in personal income tax rates.

Simpson holds considerable weight as chairman of the GOP congressional campaign committee to lead the drive for a stronger Republican majority in the House in the November elections.

The administration source said the increase in exemptions will probably not be approved immediately.

He added, however, that if such a formula finds general support on Capitol Hill, President Eisenhower will not oppose it.

Up to now, it has been felt that the White House would throw its weight against such a move on ground that the plan would cost the government too much revenue and end hopes of balancing the budget in the foreseeable future.

The argument offered in favor of the flat 10 per cent reduction is that it corrects what many consider to be an inequitable rate structure that discourages incentive.

Eden Reports 'Modest Gains'

Believes Agreement to Discuss Asia Justified Big 4 Conference

LONDON (U.P.).—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said today the Big Four foreign ministers made "modest gains" at the Berlin Conference in agreeing to discuss a Korean settlement and Indochina.

Opening a two-day debate on the conference and the future of Germany in the House of Commons, Eden said despite the sharp differences between Russia and the West the Berlin meeting "certainly has not heightened international tension." This, he added, is "encouraging."

"For those who took part in it the conference was frustrating, disappointing and at times near tragedy," he declared. "But it was, I am convinced, nonetheless well worth while."

Eden said "we did agree to call a Far East conference on Korea, the preparations for which had been deadlocked for many weary months at Panmunjom."

"It (the conference) also made possible a discussion on Indochina. These were modest gains."

The Far East conference will be held in Geneva on April 26.

At Odds With M'Carthy

'CLAIM PROBE "ABUSE"'—Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens (left) who has directed Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, right, of Camp Kilmer, N. J., not to appear before Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's investigating committee, said he was "unwilling" for Zwicker to "run the risk of further abuse." Stevens announced he will appear as a voluntary witness before the committee in Washington tomorrow.

Tests Are Favorable

City May Up Water Supply With 3 Additional Wells

Some 2,700,000 gallons of water per day may be added to Pontiac's water supply from three potential wells near Silver Lake, according to Dr. William G. Keck, who has conducted a study for the city.

Keck, a geophysicist, has analyzed results from three test wells drilled near the Hawthorne School, City Manager Walter K. Willman said today.

If the results of a further test are favorable, construction of permanent wells will begin, said Willman.

At present the city has 19 wells which have produced up to 22,000,000 gallons, Willman explained. Last summer, however, it was necessary for Pontiac to restrict lawn sprinkling when short-ages developed during a dry spell.

"Another 2,700,000 gallons would help the situation considerably if they can be made available," Willman stated.

Average daily pumpage during January was 10,906,000, said Willman, but in August the figure can be expected to almost double, he added.

Cost of Special Census Here Would Be $62,350

The U. S. Census Bureau notified Oakland County today that a special county census would cost an estimated $62,350, according to County Clerk Lynn D. Allen.

Oakland County Board of Supervisors on Jan. 18 called for a special census to bring population counts up-to-date. State tax rebates to Michigan cities and townships are based on census figures.

Expect Senate Body to Act on Warren's Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP).—Republican leaders looked to the Senate Judiciary Committee today to act without further ado on Earl Warren's nomination to be chief justice of the United States.

Chairman Langer (R-ND) said in advance of the secret committee meeting, however, that two men whose unevaluated charges against Warren he had spread on the record last week had asked to be heard and that he favored letting them testify.

But he said he would leave it up to the committee to decide whether to take further testimony or to act on Warren's nomination, submitted to the Senate for confirmation by President Eisenhower last Jan. 11.

Warren has been serving since last October under an appointment made while Congress was not in session.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), a committee member, told newsmen "I think the American people will be outraged if we don't act." He said he would move to report the nomination favorably to the Senate, unless some other committee member beats him to it.

Senate GOP Leader Knowland of California said he expected the committee to approve the nomination of the former governor of his state, adding that he hopes to bring it up in the Senate before the week's end.

Senators Ask Why Employee Shifted in Job

Moss, Peress, Stevens, McCarthy Angle in Red Probe Due Thursday

WASHINGTON (A.P.).—Investigating senators called on the Army today for a clearer explanation of the status of Mrs. Annie Lee Moss.

She was described yesterday as a Communist in the 1940s and said by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) to be handling "top secret" messages at the Pentagon.

Several hours after a former undercover informant for the FBI told McCarthy's Senate investigations subcommittee she had known Mrs. Moss as a card-carrying Red, the Army came out with a statement that Mrs. Moss never "had access to the codes . . . or the code books."

The Army did say, however, that up until Feb. 3, Mrs. Moss did work as a communications machine operator and that in this job she handled "unintelligible code messages, both classified (secret) and unclassified."

Mrs. Moss's lawyer, George E. C. Hayes, told newsmen she "has taken the position she is not now and never has been a member of the Communist party." He said Mrs. Moss has been ill, but probably would come before the subcommittee at a later date.

The Moss issue is another element in the growing effort by

The Wisconsin senator also has been hammering away at the Army for honorably discharging a dental reserve officer, Maj. Irving Peress, whom McCarthy has called a "fifth amendment Communist." Peress, now practicing privately in New York, has called McCarthy's accusations "sheer nonsense."

In connection with the Peress case, Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens has ordered Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, Peress' last commanding officer at Camp Kilmer, N. J., and Maj. Gen. William Bergin, the Army adjutant general, not to honor a McCarthy subpoena to testify.

Changes in Parking Bill, Recommends Its Adoption

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM—Planning board members last night completed the requested revisions of an ordinance requiring businesses to provide off-street parking, and are sending the problem back to the City Commission, with a recommendation for adoption.

The City Commission last July turned down the ordinance as recommended by the planning group and asked for a revision and more study.

The planning board has added a provision that businesses may comply by providing parking in a program approved by the City Commission to be financed by special assessment or other methods.

Formerly, the method of financing was not stated.

Another change allows the rebuilding and continued use of existing buildings without providing parking space.

This was allowed in the old ordinance only if such structure had been damaged by fire, collapse, explosion or acts of God.

A second parking district zoning classification, to protect residential property adjacent to or abutting parking lots, was also under discussion last night.

This would apply currently to land in the northwest quadrant of the city owned by the Wakefield-Jacobson group. It allows a charge to be made for parking, which is not permissible under the first parking classification.

Screening requirements were also discussed, and City Planner Robert Boatman was instructed to find out whether the Zoning Board of Appeals could handle such problems.

A booklet written by the Rev. Paul H. D. Lang of Trinity Church, Palo Alto, Calif., will be discussed at tomorrow's 1:30 p. m. meeting of the Altar Guild of Ascension Lutheran Church.

Muehl has written such books as "American Suburb" and "Interview with India."

Rebekahs will meet at 8 tonight at the Community House.

The PTA Council this week took up the topic of safety, with student panels discussing various sides of the subject.

Woman's Club is holding a benefit tea and bridge party Thursday afternoon at the Community House. Goal is $1,000 for kitchen equipment for the first unit of Girl's Town.

Pleads Innocent to Fund Charge

Couple Will Be Tried March 4 for Soliciting Without License

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Couls of 3170 Orchard Lake Rd., Keego Harbor, both pleaded innocent Tuesday when arraigned before Pontiac Judge Odlin H. Johnson on a charge of soliciting funds without a license.

Couls, 38, and his wife, 39, both charged in the warrant, each furnished $50 bonds, pending the trial March 4.

Johnson W. Hurlinger of the Pontiac Better Business Board said he asked for the warrant against the couple after six complaints were registered with the board.

Hurlinger said the complaints reported they were asked to purchase advertising and tickets for a circus planned for March 20 at the Pontiac Armory. He quoted the complaints as saying the solicitations were made in behalf of the National Guard.

He added that approximately $1,000 has been contributed to the affair through collectors.

Hurlinger also said some 1,500 tickets have been sold.

ers" after the senator had questioned Zwicker in secret session last week, Zwicker complained about the treatment he got from the senator.

Stevens has arranged to appear before the McCarthy subcommittee tomorrow for what promises to be a dramatic climax to the controversy in full view of a national television audience.

Dr. Peress, it was learned in New York, has been called to appear before the subcommittee the same day as Stevens. This would be his third session with the group.

In its statement late yesterday, the Army said that following its own investigation of Mrs. Moss' background, she was shifted on Feb. 5 to a job in the Signal Corps supply section away from communications centers. The Army said she no longer handles any material of a security nature.

That brought demands from some Democratic and Republican subcommittee members for clarification by Army witnesses. Sens. McClellan (D-Ark.) Jackson (D-Wash.) and Mundt (R-S.D.) all said they want to hear the Army explain why Mrs. Moss was shifted.

McCarthy said "Army people responsible for keeping her on" would testify behind closed doors in the afternoon, but he kept secret their names.

Before that, five persons McCarthy said could be tagged as members of a Communist party cell with Mrs. Moss were to appear at a public hearing (10:30 a. m. EST).

McCarthy said they could be so identified by Mrs. Mary S. Markward, the former undercover FBI informant who said yesterday the Annie Lee Moss she knew was dropped from Communist membership lists at about the same time the name of a Mrs. Annie Lee Moss turned up on the government payroll.

Mrs. Markward said "there is no question in my mind" that they are the same person, and committee counsel Roy Cohn said he thought there was no doubt about it.

But Mrs. Markward said she was "not sure" she could identify Mrs. Moss if she saw her again after several years.

Rebels in Laos Scrappy Again

Pushed Into Reverse, Get Busy in Red River Delta Area

HANOI (INS)—Communist-led Vietnamese forces, their drive on the Laotian royal capital of Luang Prabang now seemingly in reverse, today were stepping up their activity in the Red River delta area of Vietnam.

Agence France Presse reported that 30 rebels were killed and 20 captured in a two-day operation in the vicinity of the Canal Des Rapides, 11 miles east of Hanoi.

French and Vietnamese forces set out Monday to recapture the village of Buttap. The village was taken with the aid of American-built Bearcat fighter planes which were sent on bombing and strafing missions against the rebels.

On Tuesday, Franco-Vietnamese reinforcements were sent to Buttap and—despite the fact that one truck was blown up by a mine with the loss of about a dozen men killed or wounded—reached the village in time to beat off the rebels.

AFP said that a light Vietnamese battalion killed 13 rebels in fighting in the village of Truongpon, about 20 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Two more rebels were killed and large quantities of munitions were said to have been captured in a third action in the Phatdiem sector about 60 miles south of Hanoi.

Elsewhere the situation was calm.

Charlie-Charlotte Follows Course Set by Christine

By EIGIL ANDERSON

COPENHAGEN (UP)—Danish doctors have again lent nature a helping hand, and a young American who came here last winter as Charlie McLeod is now almost ready to return to Louisiana as Charlotte McLeod.

After a series of hormone injections and operations at Copenhagen hospitals through the last year, Miss McLeod has reached her goal after overcoming troubles that she called "just one year of hell."

The reason of all this trouble, 28-year-old Charlotte said, was "the bad publicity of a recent similar case."

Leaving heavily on a walking stick because her feet still are somewhat numb after the last operation, Charlotte said she wanted to go back to the United States but she lacked the money.

Charlotte said her home is in New Orleans. She told this correspondent she had planned for a long time to come to Copenhagen, making that decision long before the Christine Jorgensen case developed.

But when she came here she discovered that Danish doctors were tied by a 1953 law that permitted them to make "the initial operation" only on Scandinavians.

timony of the UAW was they didn't tell anyone about it.

"I was about as amazed about that as any one could be when I heard it, I was flabbergasted, as' was everyone around here—the police and everybody."

Betty White Ritchie, the witness' common law wife, claimed in a sworn statement that O'Brien had full knowledge in advance of the UAW-Ritchie deal. O'Brien shouted "liar" when her claim was revealed in a court hearing for one of the four he accused.

Ritchie slipped a protective police guard and fled to Canada after the prosecutor had obtained warrants against the four Ritchie accused. He collected the $5,000 installment before his escape became public and successfully fought extradition.

Millard declined to say whether it would be grounds for removal proceedings if O'Brien knew about the UAW reward payment before the payment became public knowledge.

"If O'Brien wants to interpret the letter in that way that's up to him," the attorney general added. "So far we have assumed O'Brien did nothing wrong."

Bases in Spain Getting Started

U.S. Ambassador Dunn Issues Veiled Warning to Franco's Nation

BILBAO, Spain (U.S. Ambassador James C. Dunn said today construction of American bases in Spain is getting under way. He warned Spain against pushing national claims that might disrupt Western unity.

Speaking to the American Chamber of Commerce here, the U.S. envoy said the planning stage of the American military pact with Spain was ending and the operating phase beginning.

U.S. prime contractors charged with the construction program already are recruiting Spanish sub-contractors, he added. But he warned "the building program will cover quite a long period."

Dunn praised the unity of Britain, France and the United States at the Berlin Big Four conference and declared: "We must not allow ourselves to be diverted from our firm and noble purpose—saving Western civilization from the Communist threat."

American diplomatic sources said this part of the speech was intended as friendly advice to Spain not to disrupt Western unity with attacks over relatively minor issues. They said the current tension between France and Spain over Morocco and between Spain and Britain over Gibraltar could be clarified in this category.

Dunn said Spain would receive $5 million dollars in economic aid and 141 million dollars in military aid. He also said that 60 million dollars had been earmarked for the construction of bases during this fiscal year "although the total will be much larger." He did not amplify this remark.

The House prepared to vote this afternoon on a new elections code, which gives Williams what he wants in one respect and not in another.

A Republican caucus previously agreed to eliminate the Senate proposal to unite the state and presidential ballots, to which Williams objected.

But the same caucus refused to give the governor an amendment providing for a bipartisan election boards chosen from lists prepared by county party chairmen.

Rep. Herb Clements (R-Decker) said present law and the new code requires bipartisan boards and that no other legislation was necessary.

A Senate-approved bill to tighten and clarify the business receipts tax was passed in the House and went to the governor. It brings oil and gas pipeline companies and rural electrification cooperatives under the tax.

The House has approved bills requiring car titles to show whether an auto ever was used as a taxi or police car, and requiring new railroad lines to be built 14 feet apart from the centers. The limit is now 13 feet.

The House delayed until March 8 a bill calling a constitutional convention.

The Democrats' first attempt last month was ruled out of order by Chairman Reed on the grounds that the committee had agreed not to change rates while considering the revision bill. The GOP members backed Reed on the ruling.

Some GOP committee members, notably Rep. Robert W. Keen (R-N.J.) said they want to know more about the Treasury Department's views on the subject before deciding what to do.

Doctor Lists 6 Reasons

Why Do Marriages Fail?

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—A husband's ever-present newspaper at the breakfast table and the wife's nylon stockings drying in the bathroom are only surface reasons why marriages fail, one authority says.

These are just outer symptoms masking a deeper maladjustment, says Dr. Emily H. Mudd, executive director of the Marriage Council of Philadelphia, an affiliate of the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Mudd, a pleasant, gray-haired mother of four, listed six major reasons for marriage failures:

1. Over-dependence on parents.
2. Failure to grow up to a reasonable independence.
3. Inability to give as well as take.
4. Failure to recognize the partner's needs and accept the partner's feelings.
5. Inability to talk things over, to communicate with the partner.
6. "Major" differences in attitudes toward religion, children, finances, sex and jobs.

Dr. Mudd, president of the American Association of Marriage Counselors, started the council in 1933, holding sessions one night a week in a doctor's borrowed office.

"We wanted to find out if there was a real need for a marriage counseling service in the community," she explained.

It didn't take long to get the answer.

In 1953, the council conducted 3,153 interviews. A small fee normally is charged, although in cases of financial need, this is waived.

The council regards itself as a preventive agency, helping couples think through their problems carefully before they go to the divorce courts. Lawyers and judges frequently refer couples seeking a divorce in hasty anger to the organization.

Dr. Mudd, married since 1922, says that in most cases the woman takes the first step to salvage the marriage.

"The majority of women in this country make marriage their major job," Dr. Mudd said, "and they have the greater stake in keeping out of the divorce courts."

Narrow Dress Back in Favor

Dresses have a prospect of a new lease on life. The narrow-skirted silhouette in a one-piece line from neck to hemline gives dresses, en masse, an advantage they have not had since the last time narrow-skirted silhouette was universal.

In spring collections, 75 per cent of daytime dresses are narrow; but for after-five dresses, narrow skirts give over to width of the flared petticoated type.

Not to be overlooked by any means in the daytime silhouette are the pleated skirts that have straight fulness, but no flare, from a hipline seam; the flared princess, and the back-tailed skirts.

Fashion writers find that the introduction of softer fabrics, like crepes and silks that are draped, is developing an all-day dress of a type that has been missing for several years. In this grouping are the coat-dress and shirtwaist dress, both looking new since they have thrown off flares.

But there are many other pretty dresses with bateau-derived necklines, and high, fitted midriffs worn with and without belts. If not the bateau, look for the white collar—either a schoolgirl Peter Pan or a large, almost shoulder-embracing collar.

Check Old Furnace

How old is old for a furnace? If your furnace is more than a dozen years old it's a good idea to have it checked to see if it's paying its way. You may find it's time to modernize with an efficient, work-free modern heating unit. Because an old furnace eats up fuel just as greedily as an old car does.

LIPS

Lipstick comes in three general shades, orange red, true red and blue red. A rule that works very well is to match your lipstick to your clothes, that is, blue red lipstick with navy, fuchsia, black, aqua, green; true red with true green and red; orange red with copper, brown, gold, yellow, yellow green. Red heads who wear navy would use true red. A little experimenting with these rules in mind will make you an expert.

Generally the natural shape of your lips is the best line to follow. Unless your lips are badly misshapen. Apply your lipstick directly from the stick, if you can do it. Begin at the corner and use one swift stroke toward the middle. If this doesn't work well for you, try a lip brush. Steady your elbow on your hand and make an outline with the brush. Then fill in with the stick. If your mouth is a little lighter in the corners by extra blotting. If thin lips are your fault, carry the lipstick over the line just a little. Do not accentuate the cupid's bow. However, if your face is very full and you want a slight hollow at the middle of the upper lip will have a slight slimming effect.

New Generations Cherish Old Articles

Antiques Are Living History Book

By JANET ODELL

When you visit an antique show, you go with one of several attitudes. You may be an avid collector who wants to buy everything you see. You may be interested in the antiques because some of them are exquisite examples of art. Or you may be a practical person who likes antiques if they serve a purpose. That purpose may be ornamentation rather than a purely functional value. This last is my attitude.

I like antiques, but not necessarily because they are old. I like them because some of them are beautiful objects that can be used in interesting ways. And I like the stories back of them.

The exhibitors displaying their wares at the antique show being held this week at All Saints Episcopal Church have a large variety of old-time articles to draw the crowds.

Lovers of early American glass must thrill to the perfect specimen of Westward Ho glassware, a large covered compote in oval shape. I had never before seen an oval compote. Another excellent compote, a smaller round one, is in the Lion pattern.

A number of the booths have pieces of Meissen ware. Its glowing blue and white design pleases the eye. The dish I would cherish was a large tureen. Wonderful for soup, stew or spaghetti. And striking as a container for deep pink asters or mums. Remember, I want to use my antiques.

For anyone who collects cups and saucers there is a wealth of material from which to choose. There would seem to be no end to the variety of mugs offered for sale. I liked a heavy pewter mug and wished the price had been low enough to fit my purse.

The covered glass mugs from England would make fine syrup containers. Some had metal tops, some glass. One had an enameled top with a scene painted on it; another was etched with the figure of a soldier; a third had a pewter eagle on the handle.

Two little powder jars with silver tops caught my eye. We use just such a cut glass jar for honey on our table. An old-fashioned deep blue soap dish with perforated inner liner would make a delightful butter dish.

Two handmade cookie tools were interesting. One was a bird cookie cutter, the other a springerle board. This board had a design on both side, a bird in flight on one, a scroll on the back.

Until the exhibitor gave an explanation, I was puzzled by a narrow oblong griddle with three lids. She laughingly said, "If they couldn't flip, they flopped them." Pancake batter was poured into each inverted lid. When the cake was ready to be turned, the lids were reversed onto the griddle to complete the cooking.

New uses for old objects were in constant evidence. Scarlet geraniums in an old blue and white salt jar lent a gay note to one booth. Filling a large glass candy jar were half a dozen oranges with some green leaves.

Plants grew in all kinds of copper and brass ware. Several booths had old balance scales holding fruit or plants as the weights on one side. How long is it since you've seen —or have you ever—bone or pearl-handled knives? Or a glass "dumb-bell" to hold the carving set? Or a spoon holder? Or a real turkey red tablecloth?

We cherish what our ancestors tossed out to make room for the new. An antique show is a living history book. It shows the growth of a nation and the culture of her people. We may make fun of such items as mustache cups, but we buy them.

What did I buy at the antique show? Well, you see, there was a ring I liked at one of the booths. . .

TRY IT before you buy it!

NO RECORDS BROKEN—Don Reed, a Linton, Ind., jeweler, is reunited with his wife and children after an adventure-filled month, with, however, no records broken. Reed tried to drive to South America in an old jeep. He went hungry, hiked through jungles and escaped Mexican police twice, but his effort to drive 6,000 miles for a record was fruitless.

Vote Thursday Get 4 Ballots to Help Solve School Problems

Vote Thursday at Waterford

Additions, New Units, Teachers' Wage Issues Before District

By HAZEL A. TRUMBULL
WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Four ballots will be presented tomorrow to each voter in the Waterford Township School District who goes to the polls to help solve the school problems.
 Ballot number one will ask for approval of a $1,400,000 bond issue to build four new elementary school buildings. It will also build additions to Jayno Adams, Williams Lake, Waterford Center and Four Towns schools and equip these new classrooms.
 Three sites will be purchased, if the bond issue is approved, for these proposed buildings. The fourth site is already owned by the school district.
 Ballot number two asks that the building and site fund be taken off the tax rolls. In other words, this proposal approved by the electors in 1951 costing $3 per one thousand of assessed valuation will be removed leaving the actual increase $2 on the first proposal. This request five mills, but with the elimination of the present three leaves a two mill addition.
 Ballot number three covers the tax limitation of the five mills to finance the proposed $1,400,000 building program.
 On ballot number four the voters of the district will settle the question of teachers' salaries.

A special operating millage increase of five mills is asked for a five-year period to enable the Waterford Township School District to raise its salary schedule. Presently Waterford is one of the largest school districts in Oakland county, but is 27th on the list in teachers' salaries.
 With next year's increased enrollment figures requiring dozens of new teachers to educate the district's children, the Board of Education said this additional operation levy would put them in a "better bargaining" position when they compete with surrounding districts for the dwindling supply of qualified teachers.

The cost of the proposed program is a total tax increase of seven mills or $7.00 per thousand of assessed valuation. Present rate of assessment on an average in the district would mean about a $24.00 per year increase ($2.00 per month) for the taxpayer.

Due to the increased valuations each year in the district, the present debt for the high school bond issue of $7.70 per thousand on the assessed valuation as equalized will be retired completely within five years or sooner.

The Board of Education drafted plans for tomorrow's special school election following demands by parent groups in the area that something be done to alleviate the crowded classroom conditions. Several basement rooms and temporary housing facilities are now being used for elementary school children with many in half-day sessions.

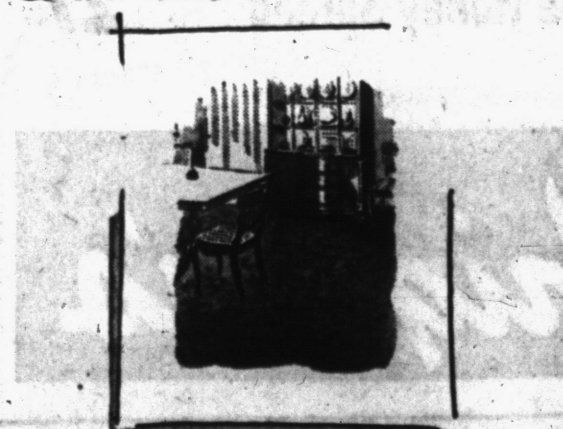

Parent Teacher Associations from the district have endorsed this program.

Polling tomorrow will be from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the following precinct places: Precinct 1, Drayton Plains School; precinct 2, Donelson School; precinct 3, Waterford Center School; precinct 4, Waterford Village School and precinct 5, Pontiac Lake School.

A canvass of the votes will be held Thursday night by the Board of Education following the closing of the polls.

Legion Head Seeking Aid of Milford People to Erect Building

MILFORD — Citizens here will soon be asked to contribute "cash, nails or a few hours of labor" for a new building to house local scouting groups. Earl Whipple, Milford American Legion Post commander, said yesterday.

Whipple said an organized campaign to raise funds for the building will soon get under way, with anything to further the construction of the scout center being acceptable.

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Members of the Waterford Township Charitable Bingo and Raffle Association, working with other groups in the state to bring about a referendum vote on the legality of the games, were urged recently to seek more organizations to back the move.

"Some of the organizations that have gained benefit from bingo have failed to cooperate," Robert C. White, chairman, told members of the group at a meeting.

White urged members of all organizations in the county to write Sen. Frank Andrews and Sen. Harry Hittle, legislators who are sponsoring a joint legislative resolution now in a judicial committee.

Ronald Smith and White, as Oakland County delegates, attended a state meeting of pro-bingo and raffle forces in Lansing. Nearly 40,000 signatures from 40 communities were submitted on petitions at the meeting.

Ready Drive for Farm Vote

Both Parties to Court Group That May Hold Key to Congress

WASHINGTON (INS) — Both parties are ready to launch all-out campaigns for the important farm vote of the nation, which may hold the key to control of the next session of Congress.

At the close of a two-day session in Washington, the executive committee of the Republican Farm Council commended President Eisenhower and Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson on their farm achievements during the first year of the new administration.

The group also announced that it will carry the Republican "farm story" to the rural voters of the nation with pride.

The committee said: "The administration in its first year under Secretary Benson has moved in positive ways to stabilize farm income. The declining farm income trend under the Truman administration has been reversed and is now definitely on the upswing."

Benson was commended for five actions: The cattle-purchase program, which helped stabilize prices and removed cattle from drought areas; the "prompt use of food as ammunition in the cold war"; the alleviation of drought destruction; the establishment of a adequate grain storage; and the reorganization of the Agriculture Department.

Howard Roach of Plainfield, Iowa, was elected chairman of the six-member committee to succeed Harold McKinley, of St. Ansgar, Iowa, who resigned last year.

While the Democratic party has not launched a national drive for the farm vote such as that outlined by the GOP Committee which met this week, it has started campaigns on the state level.

Democratic state farm committees have been organized in some states — including Iowa, Indiana, California, South Dakota, and Michigan — and will be set up soon in other states.

In Indiana alone, the committee has attracted two names that loom important on the national scene — former Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard and former Under Secretary Clarence McCormick.

Wickard is also carrying the Democratic farm battle into other Midwestern states, including Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin.

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP—The posting of signs limiting speeds to 35 m.p.h. on Beverly road, between Evergreen and Greenfield roads, was approved at last night's Southfield Township Board meeting.

In other business, the board granted the request of Joseph Benak for reserving seven additional taxicab licenses. The licenses will be issued when Benak presents titles for the cabs. He now has three cabs in operation.

Approval was also given of a deposit of $3,042.08 toward starting cost of a county-wide census. Building Inspector Frank Gidley's proposal to add a new section to the building code "to halt construction of fireplaces at damper level until inspected."

Gidley explained a fireplace cannot be inspected after it has been completed. Precinct changes necessitated by the incorporation of Lathrup and possibly Franklin were approved by the board, as recommended by the election board.

Last of Famed Sisters on TV

Has Smooth 15-Minute Sunday Night Session of Song and Talk

NEW YORK (AP)—Jane Pickens, last of the famed Pickens Sisters trio still on the air, finally has gone into television as a regular. She sings and plays the piano in a smooth 15-minute Sunday night session, supported by the Vikings Quartet. She's still a radio fixture, with five 15-minute daytime shows and a half-hour on Thursday night.

Jane's sisters — there were three of them with her in the trio at one time or another — married and left show business. Jane continued alone, singing better than she ever did.

On her TV show she mixes comment on life and living with her songs. Her rich contralto still retains much of the charm of the speech of her native Georgia. It's a program you'll enjoy if you're in the mood for soothing music.

NOCTURNE—A roaring fire, a chill February evening, an apple and music is Jane Pickens' recipe for a quiet evening home. The famous singing star who recently made her TV debut with the "Jane Pickens Show" has long been a favorite with radio audiences. She plans to continue in both mediums.

Punch Card Machine Sorts Fingerprints

LANSING (AP)—A punch card system to weed out fingerprints in a hurry has been installed by the Michigan State Police, who helped develop it.

A sorting machine now does in a minute a job which took an identification expert two or more hours to do manually.

The department said an average of 400 sets of prints is received daily and must be checked against existing files to determine if the subjects have criminal records or are being sought by police agencies.

The department reported that Capt. Corey Dymond, commander of its records and statistics division, and Gilbert Siebert, head of its statistical section, helped a business machine firm develop the system of keying and punching the cards.

Avoids Bad Effects of 'Wonder' Drugs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A new way to avoid the harmful effects of the so-called "wonder" drugs has been described by a Florida doctor to the College of Medical Evangelists.

Dr. Louis M. Orr of Orlando, Fla., told the medical convention yesterday that shotgun use of antibiotic drugs frequently kills beneficial bacteria in the body, leaving harmful bacteria able to multiply without restraint and cause the patient serious trouble.

A new way to prevent this, he said, is to restore the beneficial bacteria by taking some new benign germs from a healthy patient and planting them in the body of the sick patient.

Although this represents one method of treatment, Dr. Orr said, it could be avoided if doctors spent more time in selecting exactly the right antibiotic in the right amount for the patient's infection.

Pony-Tail/Helps Corral Girl Passing Bad Bill

CLEVELAND (AP)—A pony-tail haired girl helped corral Eleanor M. Ferencsak, 24, yesterday on charges of passing a $10 counterfeit bill.

Secret Service agents had been looking for her since Dec. 30 when a woman remembered as being tall, wearing white bobby socks and having a pony-tail haired passed the bad bill at a dairy store.

The agents got on the trail after learning where a woman of that description hung out, but it was weeks before they finally located her.

Truck Stolen in Pontiac Found 4 Blocks Away

A truck reported stolen yesterday at 9:30 a.m. was recovered two hours later by Pontiac Patrolman William Young four blocks from the owner's home.

John C. Hoover of 256 E. Wilson Ave. told police that his truck was taken from in front of his home early Tuesday. Young found the truck parked at Irwin avenue and East Blvd. and it was returned to Hoover before noon.

Parolee Gets Job as Alaskan Resort Gardener

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Herbert Spring, 67-year-old parolee who started life anew after serving 47 years in an Illinois penitentiary, is going to become the farthest north professional gardener on the American continent.

Ross Kimball, Fairbanks businessman who arranged for Spring's parole from the Stateville Penitentiary in Joliet, said today that Spring is leaving this week for Arctic Circle/Hot Springs to be gardener for the resort there.

The resort, which is located about 80 miles from the actual Arctic Circle, is famed for its gardens where cabbages up to three feet in diameter are grown in summer under the almost perpetual sunlight from the arctic midnight sun.

Warm mineral water from the hot springs is used to water the gardens.
