We'll Cut Armed Forces a Third, K Challenges

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today the Soviet Union has such powerful weapons it can discharge one of every three men in its armed forces in the next year or two.

The Soviet army has fire power that no other army ever has possessed, he said. Rockets are taking the place of bombers and the production of bombers will cease.

Production of industrial and consumer goods, together with labor productivity, increased last year more than the current seven-year plan called for, he declared, adding the United States is no longer the world's leading military power. International tensions are lessening, and agreements are possible at the May summit meeting in Paris, the premier said.

Khrushchev told the Supreme Soviet, or Parliament, that Soviet armed forces are currently at 3,623,000, down from a high of 11 million in wartime and nearly six million in the 1949-55 period.

Now, he said, plans are for a cut to 2,423,000 men. As he projected it, this reduction of 1,200,000 from the current figure will be brought about without waiting for the Western powers to join the Soviet Union in a disarmament program. Disarmament discussions are due to start at Geneva this spring.

(They say his claims to disarmament, in fact, are substantially contracted by his own words about the growth of Russia's nuclear weapons and rocket power.

(Officials also believe that the speech is a bid to regain the peace offensive initiative he lost to President Eisenhower as a result of the President's recent good will trip.

(Some observers also feel that the overall tone of Khrushchev's utterances took some of the luster off what Soviet propaganda has called "The Camp David spirit.")

(Western experts last spring figured the Soviet Union and her European satellites had 3,200,000 men under arms, as compared with 3,365,000 in the United States and its Allies of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.)

Khrushchev's demobilization announcement climaxed a long review of Soviet achievement during the past year in which he assured the 1,300 deputies that the Soviet Union is ahead of all other countries in the development and assembly line production of intercontinental ballistic missiles of various types.

The Premier said his government is able to cut its armed forces without hurting its defense potential because of the strength of its nuclear weapons including rockets and missiles.

"The Soviet Union has now accumulated enough atomic and nuclear weapons," he said. "Since no agreement has yet been reached with the Western powers over the cessation of atomic and nuclear weapon production, we are compelled to continue this production.

"We have a powerful rocket technique, the air force and the fleet have already lost their previous importance. We have already decreased the production of bombers and will stop it altogether. Our military aviation will be almost entirely rockets.

"The Soviet army wields such means of warfare and such firepower as no other army has ever had," Khrushchev declared. But Khrushchev said the new level of the Soviet armed forces would be less than 2½ million men proposed by the United States, Britain and France in 1956. He said that having failed to reach agreement on this earlier international proposal, the Soviet Union has decided to take this unilateral step "without delay and without conditions."

The Supreme Soviet was to vote later today on the proposed

Proposes 29-Point Program

Williams Asks Tax Truce

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams today called for a truce on taxes and challenged the Legislature to an ambitious 29-point program to launch Michigan into the "Splendid Sixties."

He stressed measures for stimulating economic growth in an hour-long yet tight-knit State-of-the-State message—his 12th—to a joint meeting of the Senate and House.

Williams promised to submit later a balanced or nearly balanced 1960-61 state budget. Because of the tax and revenue freeze, it will be based "not upon needs but upon the inadequate realities," he said.

The Democratic governor firmly rejected the idea of a "caretaker" session with another year's moratorium on all progress."

The "sorry events" of 1959 severely damaged the people's confidence in government, he said; now it must be restored by a vigorous attack on growing heap of public problems.

It was only the second time in his dozen years in office that Williams shunned a recommendation for new taxes. To do otherwise would be an empty gesture, he said, after the nuisance tax decisions of December.

'TAX UP TO PEOPLE'

"The 1959 session determined that the question of an adequate and permanent tax program must be settled not by the Legislature but by the people," he said.

"So be it then! . . . Let us waste no more time arguing about it."

This referred to demands of the GOP legislative majority for a referendum in November on a four per cent sales tax. Williams favored an income tax.

With the steel strike threat banished, the governor said improved revenue prospects will enable the state to get by financially with services at less than desirable levels but without serious disruption.

Part of the price will be carrying a 70 to 80 million dollar deficit, with most of the burden borne by schools and other local governments, he said.

"Yet, under the circumstances, I see no choice but to put before you a budget within, or very close to, existing revenues," he said.

So that no one will be misled, Williams went on, he will send along with the budget a list of important things the state could have undertaken had the Legislature enacted an "adequate" tax program.

The governor's 29-point program largely was a restatement of objectives he sought before from the Legislature and was denied.

It was thrown down as an election-year challenge. There was no particular appeal for bipartisan harmony. Each recommendation, if rejected, looked like it could be fashioned into a political war club for the fall months.

FEW SUGGESTIONS COSTLY

Few of the suggestions were costly, although the governor called for 30 million dollars in bonds for a five-year state park rehabilitation and expansion program and renewed previous recommendations for a state building authority, presumably to bond for 100 millions or more.

"We have literally transformed the face of Michigan, in these 10 years, in a valiant and generally successful effort to keep abreast of our own destiny," he summarized.

"First among all the tasks of the 1960s is to strengthen, expand and diversify Michigan's economy so that it will provide

Straley Back at Work Today —but Without His Authority

GREETED BY COMMISSIONER — On hand to greet Herbert W. Straley when he returned to his post as Pontiac Police chief this morning was City Commissioner Robert Landry (right), who had opposed the chief's ouster from the onset. While Landry greeted Straley warmly, he called Public Safety Director George D. Eastman's reception of the returning chief "a lot of damn foolishness." It was Eastman who drew up the charges that led to Straley's dismissal.

BACK ON THE JOB — Fired nine months ago by the city Civil Service Commission for incompetency, inefficiency and misfeasance," Herbert W. Straley was back on the job today as Pontiac police chief. A circuit court ruling last month reversed the controversial chief's firing and ordered him reinstated. Shaking hands with Straley is Police Capt. Oliver Lemeaux (left) whose desk the chief will use.

School Board Okays $500,000 Bond Issue

Major Purpose Is to Finance Construction of 12 Classrooms

The Board of Education last night tentatively agreed on a $500,000 bond sale, mainly to finance construction of 12 classrooms next winter.

The Municipal Finance Commission was to be asked to approve sale of the bonds this spring.

Dr. Otto C. Hufziger, assistant superintendent of schools, said the new classrooms are sought to accommodate an anticipated enrollment rise of about 360 elementary school age pupils.

The classrooms will be constructed as additions to existing schools, but their exact locations have not been decided yet, he said.

The bonds are to be paid off through special tax levies. School districts are able to borrow annually up to 2 per cent of their state equalized valuations and pay the money back through special levies without voter approval.

The Board also approved preliminary plans for the addition of four classrooms and a multipurpose room at Mark Twain School. Chase Herring, project coordinate for H. E. Beyster & Associates, the architects, estimated the cost at $200,000, about $50,000 less than the Board had figured on.

Herring believed plans would be completed in time to take bids next month and finish construction by September.

The new facilities are to serve an anticipated enrollment of 190 pupils. The school, opened in 1956, has a capacity for 450. An unexpected increase in the families living around the school accounts for the increase in the school population, said Hufziger.

Completion of the multi-purpose room will mean that all Pontiac schools—with the exception of the new Washington Irving School — will have these special facilities for gymnasium, auditorium, cafeteria and community activities.

The Board of Education began adding multi-purpose rooms to existing schools in 1956.

Funds for the Mark Twain additions will come from both the $365,000 bond issue and a similar $450,000 bond issues sold last year.

The rest of last year's bond issue is going to finance additions to Herrington Hills and Franklin schools. Construction on these additions is under way.

Eastman Asserts Chief Must Earn Responsibility

Police Chief Herbert W. Straley returned to work this morning.

He reported to Public Safety Director George D. Eastman at 8 a.m.

"I am reporting to you as executive head of the police department on orders of the city manager," the chief told Eastman.

"And you're under my direction and control," the public safety director replied.

Within two and a half hours, Straley was issued a memorandum from Eastman telling him he had no "operational authority or responsibility" in the department.

MUST REVIEW

The chief was ordered to review and familiarize himself with instructional procedures and memorandums issued during his absence.

Straley has not been in the station since his suspension from duty Feb. 9, 1959. He was fired by the Civil Service Commission last spring and reinstated by a circuit court decree last month.

Straley was told to analyze these instructions, and to suggest changes or additions.

The chief was also ordered to complete an analysis of the report issued by the Public Administration Service (PAS) of Chicago.

NOT COMPLETED

Straley was assigned this task before being ousted last year but never completed the report. The PAS report was a blistering indictment of Straley's administration of the department.

"It's our basic guide," said Eastman. "I still want the chief's views."

Straley has publicly denounced the report as the work of an "amateur patrolman."

The chief was also told to review a report of Capt. R. T. Sherry of the Berkeley (Calif.) police department on the city's police records. Since his departure, the police records system has been completely revised.

SUBMIT REPORT

"You will be expected, as are all bureau commanders, to submit a weekly activity report to me each Monday," Eastman told the

City Officials Disagree on Straley Role

City Manager Walter K. Willman and George D. Eastman appeared in conflict today over the duties of returning Police Chief Herbert W. Straley.

Willman apparently was in disagreement with Eastman because Straley has initially been assigned what amounts to "homework," instead of active leadership in the police department.

The city manager had told the public safety director that Straley should be restored "with full executive powers"—a phrase in the city charter.

This was a "suggestion" to Eastman, not an order, Willman emphasized.

"But he isn't following my suggestions," he added.

Straley was told by Eastman to catch up on all the policy changes that have taken place during his 11 months away from the Public Safety Building.

He also told the returning chief to start afresh on his study of the old Public Administration Service (PAS) report.

Willman said he did not intend to intervene in Eastman's handling of Straley.

"That's Eastman's problem," he said.

But Landry was expected to demand that the city manager take action.

The District 7 commissioner, a long-time supporter of Straley, accompanied the chief to Eastman's office this morning.

He later exploded over Eastman's reception of Straley.

"How much longer will the people of Pontiac have to put up with such damn foolishness?" he demanded.

Landry complained because Eastman wouldn't give Straley a master key to the Public Safety Building or assign him a city car.

Landry claimed Eastman greeted Straley with the words, "Well, have you come back for a vacation or to go to work?"

Eastman denied any sarcasm and said he had asked the chief, who has taken three days off since Monday, whether he wanted more vacation now, or was ready to return to work.

"This reception was contrary to the city manager's assurance to me last week that Straley would get a fair and eqquare deal," Landry said.

Experts Will Guide Press' Food School

Pontiac area homemakers will be assured of authoritative information on recipes, nutrition and food knowhow when they attend The Pontiac Press cooking school, "Kitchen Classics," Jan. 26, 27, 28 and 29 at Pontiac Central High School.

Constance Welker and June Liebele, staff members of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, are both graduate home economists. They spend nine months of the year presenting these cooking schools around the country.

The National Live Stock and Meat Board is a nonprofit organization of meat packers dedicated to research and education on foods. The board maintains experimental kitchens and laboratories where experts are constantly working to improve their knowledge of food.

On each of the four days of the cooking school different foods will be presented. More than 40 recipes will be demonstrated. Each day these masterpieces will be given to members of the audience holding lucky tickets.

Admission to the cooking school is free, but by ticket only. Saturday's Press will have ticket detail.

Putnam Chosen to Head Two Music Departments

George H. Putnam, supervisor of vocal music in Pontiac high schools, also will take over command of instrumental music next month.

The Board of Education last night appointed Putnam to a new position — supervisor of instrumental and secondary vocal music — effective Feb. 1, the beginning of the spring semester.

As head of instrunental music, Putnam will be filling the administrative duties held by Dale C. Harris, who has resigned.

Putnam has supervised vocal music for high school pupils for six years.

His new salary yet has not been set.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, recommended combining vocal and instrumental music under one supervisor and nominated Putnam to the job.

COMBINE POSTS

"In a city the size of Pontiac, these two departments can be combined effectively," he said.

Putnam has been with the Pontiac school system since 1946 and has been associated with many musical activities outside of school.

He is chairman of the board of directors of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra; former director of the MacDowell Male Chorus; and has directed choirs at the First Methodist Church and the Central Methodist Church.

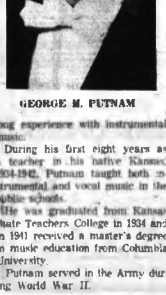

Two years ago, he was conductor of the All-State Chorus at National Music Camp at Interlochen.

Primarily associated with singing groups, Putnam has also had long experience with instrumental music.

During his first eight years as a teacher in his native Kansas, 1934-1942, Putnam taught both instrumental and vocal music in the public schools.

He was graduated from Kansas State Teachers College in 1934 and in 1941 received a master's degree in music education from Columbia University.

Proposes Bill to Help Cupid Cross Oceans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee came to the aid of Cupid, recommending an immigration law change to help foreign-born sweethearts of U. S. residents enter the country to get married.

The bill, approved for later House action, would provide a special three-month visitor's visa if the marriage didn't take place within that time, the prospective bride or bridegroom would be liable to deportation. Similar temporary legislation, enacted after World War II, lapsed about 10 years ago.

Judge Moore Sets Sights on State Boys' Program

Statewide program to provide work and education for teen-age boys who have dropped out of school, similar to those at Camp Oakland, will be proposed to state officials tomorrow by Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Judge Moore has invited a group of state officials and legislators to tour Camp Oakland to see the facilities there.

Moore hopes the state might set up similar camps, patterned after the old Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) camps, but with education facilities added.

Under the judge's plans, the state Welfare Dept. would supervise the plan, the State Dept. of Public Instruction would provide the education, and the State Conservation Commission the work program.

Legislative appropriation or private contributions would be required to support the program.

A separate plan would be invoked, the judge suggests, for delinquent boys from 15 to 18 years, and for nondelinquents. The major difference between the two programs would be the shortening of the "probation period" of a boy in the case of the nondelinquent.

"The old C.C.C. program did not administer to the educational needs of the youth," Judge Moore said. "This should be a definite objective in the newly proposed program."

He said it is essential for 15 to 18-year-olds who have dropped out of school and are ripe for falling into trouble with the law because they are without work.

Williams Urges Tax Truce in Long Annual Message

jobs for our continually growing population," he said.

To this end, he laid out 11 specific goals headed by enactment of an "economic growth act" modeled after the Federal Full Employment Act of 1947, and establishment of an "industrial FHA."

The growth act, he said, should provide a governor's council of economic advisors, periodic reports on the state's economy and a joint legislative committee on the economic report to holding hearings and direct research.

Under the industrial FHA plan, the state's faith and credit would be pledged to guarantee loans for industrial construction administered by a state industrial building authority.

This would be patterned after the existing program through which the state lends its credit to guarantee school construction borrowings. It would require statewide referendum approval.

In the same balloting, Williams urged renewal and liberalization of the 100-million-dollar school bond guarantee program which will expire July 1, 1962 unless extended by popular vote.

A third economic growth recommendation urged creation of a small business division in the economic development department.

The other eight, all offered in past years, called for an industrial park authority act, a commission on automation, an atomic energy act, a state labor relations law, a $1.25 an hour minimum wage, liberalized jobless pay, retraining of workers displaced by automation and a new Office of Consumer Protection representative.

In one of its most urgent passages, the message recommended filling of 68 existing vacancies in the state police force and an increase in 50 trooper positions as a means of rebounding from 1959's setback in traffic safety.

The governor recalled that a dramatic reduction in the high-way death toll followed addition of 200 men to the police force under an authorization by the 1955 Legislature.

Other new or substantially revised recommendations included:

A special commission on water use and rights to make a comprehensive study and recommend a sound state water policy.

A community college development commission to develop plans for orderly expansion and development of the state's community college system.

A special study to develop a Michigan foundation program for education as a yardstick for measuring school needs in future years.

Authority for the state health commissioner to establish air pollution control standards.

A nine-judge appellate court, with appeal as a matter of right in criminal cases. The appellate court would siphon off some of the load that now goes from the circuit courts to the Supreme Court.

Creation of an office of local government representative to give cities, townships and counties a coordinated and more direct voice in Lansing.

Completion of 550 beds at the Plymouth State Home and Training School to take some of the pressure off the backlog of mentally retarded children, now about 1,000, awaiting hospital care.

Both Parties Frowning on Elections Fund Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts to limit primary campaign spending as part of a clean elections bill ran into strong opposition today from Republican and Southern Democratic senators.

Inclusion of primaries has been proposed as an amendment to a bill which would require fuller reports of campaign financing and increase legal spending ceilings for candidates and political committees. Present law, and the bill as drawn, apply only to general election campaigns.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said the amendment is opposed by all the Southern senators and also he believes, by more than half of the Republican senators.

He said he couldn't conceive of a majority of the senators voting for it.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb), top GOP member of the committee that handled the bill, said that he is opposed to the amendment and that so is Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader.

He told newsmen that in his opinion adaption of the amendment would kill the whole bill.

The amendment to make the measure apply to primaries and nominating conventions was offered by Sens. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo) and Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY).

They urged its approval on the ground that in about a third of the states victory in the primaries amounts to election.

Leaders hoped to get a vote on the amendment late today and possibly complete Senate action on the bill Friday night. It is the first major legislation to be taken up at the present session of Congress.

Russell told newsmen that every state has laws governing primaries and said he saw no reason to set aside a whole body of state law by a federal statute.

He said he not only is opposed in principle to "concentrating all power in Washington" but also feels that, in this particular instance, the nomination of candidates should be controlled by state law.

Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ), however, spoke up in support of the Hennings-Keating amendment.

The inclusion of primaries is a key provision to any meaningful revision of the election laws," he said.

Eastman also ordered Straley to submit weekly "progress" reports on assignments. The chief will also have to estimate the date he'll finish each of his assignments.

"As a member of the police department, all instructional memos will require the same compliance from you as from other members of the police department," Eastman told Straley.

The chief was issued his orders shortly before 10:30 a.m. when he was called into Eastman's office.

READS ORDERS

"Very well," he said, and left the public safety director's office.

He was asked by newsmen what he thought of the instructions.

STATION QUIET

That comment was made by the chief before he received his orders from Eastman.

A meeting of officers in command positions has been called by Eastman this afternoon to clarify Straley's position in the department.

At their first meeting, Straley asked Eastman for his badge, gun, police car, and master keys to the Public Safety Building.

His gun was immediately returned.

The request for keys to the building was turned down. "He'll get a key when he has full operational responsibility," Eastman explained.

The chief's request for a police car was also denied.

Griffin to Speak at Banquet Here

Lincoln Republican Club Will Host Ex-Resident Noted for Labor Bill

Oakland County Republicans next month will hear Michigan Congressman Robert P. Griffin, co-author of the new labor reform bill and possible candidate for a Senate seat.

A former resident of Pontiac, Griffin yesterday accepted by telegram an invitation to speak at the 70th annual Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club banquet Feb. 9.

Theodore Roelli, club president, said he was pleased with Griffin's acceptance. The location and time of the banquet haven't been determined.

Griffin, recently selected by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the country's 10 outstanding young men, made a name for himself nationally when he cosponsored the labor bill last year.

Since then he has been mentioned as a possible candidate for Democratic Sen. Patrick C. McNamara's seat in this year's election.

J. L. Lewis Drops UMW Reins Today

Lewis is retiring from a lifetime spent improving the lot of the coal miners, organizing millions of workers in the steel, auto and other mass production industries, pioneering in pension-welfare plans, and engaging in epic battles with Presidents and the courts to achieve his aims.

Lewis, who will be 80 on Feb. 12, reportedly plans to continue an active life. He is an influential figure in banking circles here. Also, he is considering writing his memoirs.

Thomas Kennedy, 72, UMW vice president, was to take over the presidency at a union executive board this afternoon.

Lewis informed the UMW membership just before Christmas that the time had come for him to retire.

He said Kennedy, former lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania and a UMW member for 60 years, would be an able successor.

Interest centered on whom the union picks to succeed Kennedy as No. 2 man because, before many years, this choice could become the UMW's chief.

Two long time aides of Lewis—W. A. (Tony) Boyle and Michael F. Widman Jr. — top the list of possibilities to become the new UMW vice president.

Widman, 59, is Lewis' top assistant credited with directing the Ford Motor Co. organizing drive when Lewis headed the old CIO.

Henry Mehlberg to Head Waterford Zoning Board

One of the newly-appointed members, Carlos G. Richardson, was elected vice-chairman, and Russell Hicks will be the new secretary of the seven-member board.

Besides Richardson, the township board had appointed Donald Hayton and Glenn Nelsey to replace Burton Hilliker, Adolf Stewart and James Devereaux to the positions which pay $10 for each monthly meeting.

A hearing date has been set for Feb. 10 for the rezoning from residential to recreational of 20 acres of land on Coomer road near Cooley Lake road.

The request was presented by Arthur Yoder of Royal Oak and Kenneth Irvine of Wyandotte.

They wish to organize a private family club, expand the area for outdoor activities and develop a private swimming beach.

OKs Pontiac Sale of Tax Notes for General Hospital

The Municipal Finance Commission has approved Pontiac's selling $450,000 in tax anticipation notes to finance completion of the Pontiac General Hospital expansion project.

City Manager Walter K. Willman hoped the notes would be sold by early next month. Bids may be sought Tuesday, he said.

The $450,000 is primarily to cover extra expenses involved in remodeling the hospital's east wing.

The remodeling — last step in the five-year expansion program — is to be completed by the end of next month.

The hospital has promised to pay back the money out of an expected increase in revenues after the expansion program is finished.

Peru Rushes Aid to Quake Area

At Least 63 Killed as Earth Trembler Strews Havoc in Arequipa

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Supplies and other aid were rushed today to Arequipa, victim of Peru's second severe earthquake in less than a month.

At least 63 persons were reported killed and 200 injured in the south Peruvian city. Communications with the capital were broken Wednesday night and officials said the toll might be much higher.

Many of Arequipa's 80,000 residents slept in the streets following the last of three tremors that leveled houses and stores and knocked over telephone poles.

About 60 per cent of the city and its suburbs was reported destroyed or seriously damaged.

Officials said the city's morgue was filled with bodies dug from the debris and rubble. Immediate identification was impossible in many cases because of the mutilated condition of the victims.

Planes and troops arriving with rescue equipment and relief supplies found large sections of the city and suburbs without water supplies and communication facilities.

The shocks, felt in Bolivia and Chile, also cut off several highways leading into Arequipa, which is about 480 miles southeast of Lima.

"In the existing situation, if one country resumed tests, it would be followed by other states possessing nuclear weapons," he warned.

"The country which resumes tests first will thus assume grave responsibility," he added.

"I would like to stress again that the Soviet Union will also in the future adhere to its pledge not to resume experimental explosions, providing nobody else does so."

Weather Stirs Same Old Batch of Witch's Brew

By The Associated Press

During the night and early morning rain and snow fell in the central plains, extending into Missouri as rain, with some freezing drizzle in northern Kansas and southern Nebraska.

Just Passing Friends but He Drops Off Gift

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—They were strangers but they struck up a friendship in passing.

They started waving, as folks do.

Mrs. Willens, expecting a baby and pretty much confined to home, began looking forward to 12:35 p.m. as a welcome break in the routine day.

Then she went to the hospital. A week later she brought little Steven Mark Willens home.

Her first day back she proudly held her new baby up to the window when the train rolled by. The engineer gave a handclasp like that of a victorious fighter.

Their minds must have been working alike. Two days later the engineer held up a sign: "A boy?"

Even as the question was asked, Mrs. Willens answered it: she held up her own sign: "A boy!"

A few days later the train approached much more slowly than usual. She was on the front porch. The engineer gestured for her to go close to the tracks.

As the train slowed, the assistant engineer jumped off and handed her a box. Inside was a little knit suit and a card:

Foreign Trade Group Possible

U.S. Ready to Join 19 Atlantic Nations to Help Heal Economic Rifts

PARIS (AP)—The United States today told 19 of its Atlantic trading partners it is willing to tie itself to full and active membership in a new economic organization to heal European trade rifts.

U. S. Under Secretary of State C. Douglas Dillon told a special meeting of Atlantic economic partners that U. S. participation in the new organization was conditioned only on the approval of Congress.

This was the first indication at the Paris meeting that the Eisenhower administration is prepared to go to the U. S. Senate for approval of a treaty formally binding the United States to European trade organizations. Previously the United States has guarded its "consultative" status in such organizations.

Carrying out Dillon's pledge will probably be left to the next administration; since most observers here feel it will take a minimum of 15 months to get the new organization going.

Dillon spoke to a ministerial meeting of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC), which the new organization will replace and strengthen. The United States now participates on a consultative basis, along with Canada, in OEEC discussions.

The United States has proposed appointing a committee of "wise men" to plan the new group or groups.

The conference also has before it a U. S. proposal for an interim coordinating organization of nations willing to spend or already spending funds in foreign aid until the larger group can be organized.

Arabs use the camel for much more than transportation. It also supplies them with hair for cloth, milk for drinking, skin for leather and bones as a substitute for ivory.

U.S. Polaris Chalks Up 2nd Straight Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Polaris submarine missile has logged a second-straight successful test flight, streaking more than 900 miles to an ocean target.

The Navy said Wednesday's success was the 10th in 25 launchings for the advanced two-stage version of the Polaris. Several other Polarises were partially successful.

Angry Shriners Boot Recorder

Voted Out in Aftermath of Suspension of Two Local Leaders

DETROIT (AP)— Angry members of Detroit's 16,000-member Moslem Shrine staged an election shakeup Tuesday night after learning two of their top officers had been suspended.

Veteran members said the turnout for the annual election of officers was the largest in memory. Eddie Stinson, veteran recorder, was voted out of office.

Many members were reported angered at action of the imperial potentate in suspending illustrious Potentate Herbert E. Payne Jr., and Chief Rabban J. Murray Brown.

The election meeting was open only to paid-up members of the shrine. Brown, who was suspended for six months last October, and Payne, put under three-month suspension last week, could not attend.

Stinson, 76, was defeated for the post he had held since 1929 by retired Detroit Police Inspector Chester Cox. The vote was 1,000 to 300.

One member reported Stinson was defeated because he wrote the letter which alleged Payne and Brown had violated the Shriners' code. They were ordered suspended by Dr. Clayton F. Andrews of Lincoln, Neb., imperial potentate of the Mystic Shrine of North America. Andrews appointed Joseph E. Davidson, assistant secretary of General Motors Corp., potentate for 1960.

The charges against Payne reportedly included "mishandling of a recent business session," and "permitting unauthorized persons to sign contracts for the Shrine Circus." The circus is an annual event staged by Shriners here.

Brown reportedly was accused of violating the group's code by permitting his Shrine fez to appear in a picture used for advertising purposes.

Both men denied the charges. They blame integral Shrine politics for their temporary suspensions.

Other officers elected were Harvey Mack, auto dealer, chief rabban; Frank Bostrom, steel manufacturing firm executive, assistant rabban; Harold Edlund, manufacturer, high priest and prophet, Norman Smith, manufacturer, Oriental Guide, and T. Allan Smith, banker, treasurer. All are from the Detroit area.

Ike Seems Fine After His Trip; Angers Well, Too

By ARTHUR EDSON

Well, Wednesday the President held his first news conference since Dec. 2 and though he has made former appearances in that time, here was a chance to watch him give and take.

* * *

To maintain the total oil producing capacity in the U. S. at the level of January, 1957, oilmen must drill from 41,000 to 50,000 wells a year, according to the American Petroleum Institute.

Union Bag-Camp Eyes River Raisin Merger

NEW YORK (AP)—Union Bag-Camp Paper Corp. says company directors will meet Jan. 26 with directors of River Raisin Paper Co. of Monroe, Mich., to consider a merger proposal.

Merger of River Raisin into Union Bag-Camp Paper would be on the basis of five shares of the latter's stock for each six shares of River Raisin stock. The Michigan firm has 463,215 shares outstanding, which would mean an exchange of 386,103 Union Bag-Camp shares.

If approved by directors, the proposal would be voted on by share-holders at regular annual meetings—River Raisin in March and Union Bag-Camp Paper in April.

* * *

River Raisin, a manufacturer of fibre board, fibre shipping cases and related products, had sale of about 18 million dollars in 1958 compared with Union Bag-Camp Paper sales the same year of about 137 million dollars.

About 85 per cent of the more than million miles of paved roads, streets and highways in the United States are surfaced with petroleum asphalt.

Food Crop Samples Found to Be Safe

WASHINGTON (AP)— Food crop samples continue to show no threatening concentrations of radioactive strontium 90, Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming reports.

Flemming told about the studies at a news conference in which he also:

1. Announced an expansion of welfare department activities in the field of radiological health.

2. Reported the Food and Drug Administration has found that washing, such as is done in canning or freezing spinach, reduces total beta radiation by an average of about 60 per cent. Beta rays are a type released by strontium 90, a material which in sufficient concentrations can cause bone cancer.

3. Announced the start, at a seven - state conference with public health officials in Phoenix, Ariz., on the most comprehensive water cleanup campaign ever undertaken in this country. All sorts of pollution in the Colorado River basin will be considered but there will be special attention to radioactive wastes from uranium mills on the tributaries.

Space Voyagers Will Also Need a 'Road Map'

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The space traveler of the future will in one respect be no different from the tourist of today. He will need a road map.

If he takes a wrong turn, he might wind up in orbit around the sun for all eternity instead of reaching his distination such as the planet Venus.

Scientists in the Missile and Space Vehicle Dept. of the General Electric Corp. already are working on road maps for space pilots. A map charting the way to Venus has been completed for the Air Force's Wright Air Development Center.

To find the way to Venus you have to determine a date for blast-off and how long you can stay in space. The "road map" then gives you a velocity vector.

The velocity vector means much the same to an astronaut as a route number means to a motorist. It tells him the direction he must go, and also gives him his speed.

In a space travel you have to use a large electronic computer to give you your final traveling directions, just as you need a city street map or county road map to supplement a large-area highway map.

Information is then fed to the space ship so that when its motors are turned off in space it will be heading in the right direction and going at the exact speed to reach Venus.

Dogs serve in modern warfare mainly in scouting and first-aid work. But, in earlier times they were armored with leather coats from which spikes and knives protruded for actual combat.

Traverse City Fund to Help Expansion

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—A total of $165,000 has been raised in Traverse City to help expand and establish local industries, according to industrial fund president James Clune.

His announcement yesterday showed one drive to finance construction of a wholesale drug sales center for a Grand Rapids firm (Hazeltine & Perkins Drug Co.) reached $50,000. Another $34,000 was collected to finance expansion of Sherwood Products Co. facilities.

The sums, collected in a campaign of two months, were matched by Traverse City banks for the over-all total.

THE PONTIAC PRESS

42 West Huron Street — Pontiac, Michigan

THURSDAY, JANUARY 14, 1960

Owned and Published Locally by The Pontiac Press Company

Will the City Answer Questions About Siren?

To a great many citizens our air raid siren remains a mystery. It remains poised on the top of the Pontiac State Bank Building except for an occasional outburst which is the regular testing period.

It seems logical to us to ask the City for some explanation:

1. Should the siren sound some morning at 10:00, what procedure should be followed?
2. In the case of a real emergency, where would the public take cover?
3. Would an unannounced siren warning automatically mean an air raid?
4. Are there any special signals that will be given by the siren?
5. Is there any connection between the siren and Conelrad stations on the radio?
6. Is the public expected or ever asked to participate in a test?

Apparently the whole question of Civil Defense is a little spotty in the minds of most area residents. It would seem to us that the public is entitled to some clear-cut procedure and understanding of the air raid siren.

Mothers Deserve Praise for Academic Pursuits

A special tip of the academic cap is in order for the three mothers who ranked so high on Michigan State University Oakland's honor roll.

Mrs. Jean Parks of Royal Oak, and Mrs. Vera Ashare and Mrs. Mary Schultz, both of Troy, are not out of their element, just because they're older than the students and some of the instructors.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County is proud of its residents who will battle odds to get what they want, and could use more of the same kind.

★ ★ ★

And a special accolade is in order for the families who play an important part in this rise to the scholastic heights. Splitting up the household chores to give mom a chance to hit the books of necessity brings some sacrifices.

Report Suggests Policy to Govern Canal Zone

A report prepared by Northwestern University for the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on American Republic Affairs, has some worthwhile suggestions regarding a long range policy for the Panama Canal.

Minor differences such as whether the Panamian flag should be flown with the American in the Canal Zone should be settled in the affirmative. But as long as the canal exists under the control of one nation through the territory of another, there's bound to be trouble.

If the United States continues unilateral operation of the canal, the prospects are for continued difficulties with Panama and friction throughout all Latin America. Should Panama attempt to nationalize the waterway, it could scarcely operate it.

What the report suggests is that the United States and the Organization of American States (OAS) share control of the Panama Canal. This would remove a source of friction and abolish the canal as a symbol of North American "imperialism" in South America. It also would keep the canal in friendly hands.

The proposed change-over would be accomplished with gradual representation of the OAS on the canal's board of directors followed by transfer of canal stock in small blocs. Such control would tend to draw together both hemispheres.

The canal is important to our national security but not vital in this day of intercontinental missiles. In any case OAS control would not prevent use of the canal for defense purposes for international defense is OAS' primary reason for existence.

President EISENHOWER soon will have to deal with differences between the State and Defense Departments over Panama policy. The report may point the way to a positive policy and an equitable solution.

The Man About Town

Cook: What a wife doesn't need to know how in order to keep a man in a stew.

This column's leap year request for names of its readers who were born on that extra day that comes only once in every four years brought a great number of nominations. It has been a popular day on which to be born.

However, most of them are comparatively young. From the various names and ages submitted, it now appears that of 143 Summit Ave., is the oldest.

Mrs. C. H. Rohrbacher

She was born on Feb. 29, 1872, so on that extra day tacked to the end of next month she will be 88 years of age, although she will have had only 21 birthdays, since the year 1900 was not a leap year.

Mr. and Mrs. Rohrbacher have been residents of Pontiac for over 40 years, coming here from Cass City. Active for her advanced age, she hopes to feel on that date like a person of 21, rather than like one of nearly four times that number of years.

Even at this late date our sister city of Flint is still wrestling with its Red Feather Fund which now lacks $120,000 of its quota.

Adding to its already hard luck and poor record, it is the opinion of

of Drayton Plains that the Michigan legislature is taking further chances by opening its present session on the thirteenth.

Uphill Struggle

David Lawrence Says:

Ike Says Our Defense Well Handled

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower at his press conference Wednesday brought into focus a question that has been worrying many people—just why some politicians are becoming so anxious to prove the alleged inadequacy of our defenses.

LAWRENCE

"I don't have to be partisan," he said, "and I want to tell you this: I've spent my life in this, and I know more about it than almost anybody, I think, that is in the country, because I have given my life to it, and on a basis of doing what is good for the government and for the country.

"I believe that the matter of defense has been handled well and efficiently in the proposals that will be before the Congress within a matter of a day or so. I think those people that are trying to make defense a partisan matter are doing a disservice to the United States."

These words have been long overdue. For many months the politicians have been spreading alarms to the effect that "Russia is ahead of us."

The implication is that the United States is inferior in a military sense.

Time and again the President and high officials of the government have given public assurance that the United States may be ahead in some weapons and behind in others but that, from an over-all standpoint, this country is not inferior in a military sense to any country in the world. The President said:

NOT DISTURBED

"I believe in the United States' power, and I believe it is there, not to be used, but to make certain that the other fellow doesn't use his; and I am not in the slightest degree disturbed by such a possibility as you speak of."

The United States has ample deterrent power. It can destroy an enemy. The degree of its destructive power is arguable, just as is the power of any other country.

But Eisenhower is a loyal American with a military background. If he thought for one moment that, by the expenditure of larger and larger sums, America's defense would be materially better than they are today, he would not hesitate to urge such spending. He knows the military problems of a world war. He has commanded the biggest armed forces ever assembled. He knows strategy.

Yet President Eisenhower's attitude toward defense is questioned by partisans who wish to make political capital out of it. Likewise, his judgment is questioned by many who have a particular weapon or service viewpoint to advance.

Few people know all sides of the defense problem, and certainly only a man inside the government with access to the confidential reports of the free world's intelligence agencies can size up the meaning of all the claims as to whether Russia is ahead and by how much and what it would mean if there were a war today or five years from now.

The pressure for military spending is perennial. It has gone on for decades. There was a time when a lobbyist for a metals company actually did his best to sabotage an international conference on naval disarmament. Special interests, often with the best of motives, see a problem solely from their own viewpoint.

Likewise, defense contractors sometimes feel they must have the help of senators and representatives to get certain projects adopted. They enlist the aid of members of Congress when the abandonment of a contract means a loss of employment to a particular state or district.

But the President represents all the people. He has full responsibility to the whole people.

The nation is fortunate, indeed, to have in the White House today a military man with experience and judgment in handling military budgets. Obviously there are honest differences of opinion, and many of the critics are devoted to their country and really believe our defenses are inadequate. But for the most part they do not have the whole story.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Calcium, Mother Nature's Tranquilizer, Heart Tonic

DR. BRADY

In the nineteenth century Dr. William Osler said attacks come on during exertion, as in walking up hill or in doing something entailing sudden muscular effort. Dr. Osler added that emotion is a second potent cause and quoted the famous 18th century surgeon, John Hunter: "My life is in the hands of any rascal who chooses to annoy and tease me." Sure enough, Hunter turned up his toes during a fit of anger when he was only 65 years old.

In the twentieth century, Dr. William Brady, in his diffident way, suggested that Heberden may have had something, and further that severe restriction of the supply of oxygen through narrowed or contracted coronary arterioles may account for the cramp — just as severe restriction of the oxygen supply to leg and/or arm muscles may account for the cramps of persons swimming in cold water. Then Brady, inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity, wondered whether the same calcium and vitamin D deficiency that manifests itself as painful nocturnal cramps in the arms or legs of elderly persons may not be a contributing factor of angina pectoris.

All right, all right, I just thought I'd tell you poor souls what I'd do if I had a touch of angina. I'd be sure to get my daily ration of calcium and vitamin D, that's what I mean, stupid.

This may be more difficult for you than it is for me. For that matter, I've been getting mine these many years — I don't take seriously the warnings issued by self-constituted experts or authorities against the alleged danger of "too much calcium" and "calcium deposits" and all that hokum. Just in case you'd like to learn a little about calcium in nutrition, send me 35 cents and a stamped envelope bearing your address for the booklet The Calcium Shortage.

In the healthy or normal person one function of calcium (in food or food supplement) is to regulate excitability of nerve fibers and nerve centers. It is a physiological tranquilizer and in a way an analgesic.

Calcium is also necessary for adequate contraction of the heart muscle. Physiologically it is tonic to the heart muscle. Because it regulates irritability of nerve fibers and nerve centers an adequate daily ration of calcium (of course with vitamin D to insure good utilization) tends to prevent spasm or constriction of the coronary arterioles; in other words, it tends to prevent or at least moderate attacks of angina.

Signed letters not more than one page or 300 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene and diseases, disorders or treatment will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

'Make Learning to Swim Definite Project for 1960'

With heavy hearts we read of the loss of two fine boys by drowning after falling through thin ice. Every parent in this area has felt great anxiety many times when their children have become overly venturesome.

As we plan for 1960 in a county of over 300 lakes and many streams, let's encourage our loved ones to learn to swim. The Boy and Girl Scouts, Red Cross, YMCA and others stand ready to help our learn strongly and well. Perhaps compulsory swimming should be taught in schools in a county where the water hazard is always so present.

★ ★ ★

You can stay afloat even though fully clothed with ice skates on for quite a long time if you can swim well, at least long enough for help to come. Let's send our finest thoughts to those who have suffered this great loss and then let's resolve to learn to swim ourselves and see that others dear to us learn, also. This we can and must do.

'Are These Traits Necessary to Job?'

Recently I felt the need to seek help of the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office and I received a short interview with the assistant prosecutor. As a result of this meeting, it seems the three prime requirements for the job are; an idiotic laugh, an arrogant manner and a "to heck with the people" attitude.

Are the public servants being paid so well they no longer think they need serve the people?

Drive Chairman Answers Letter

As chairman of the March of Dimes, It's my pleasure to answer "Housewife," whose letter appeared in Voice of the People.

Not one penny contributed to any United Fund goes to the National Foundation, whose research into the causes of arthritis and birth defects and patient aid and research in polio are supported entirely by the March of Dimes.

Last August, an emergency March of Dimes was held in scattered communities. Polio epidemics in recent years had added greatly to the paralytic polio case loads and thus strained the treasuries of the National Foundation Chapters affected. Your Oakland County chapter was without funds and $35,000 was owed to hospitals and surgical suppliers for patient treatments and equipment.

The emergency campaign followed. The chapter raised $67,000 and was able to pay off all of our long standing debts and start the new year almost even with the board.

The Rev. G. Burton Hodgson
Oakland County Chairman
The Now March of Dimes

(Editors Note: "The statement that "not one penny contributed to any United Fund goes to the National Foundation" — March of Dimes — is true because March of Dimes refuses to take part with the other agencies and wants to have its own drive all by itself.)

'Dems Add Another Millionaire to List'

A news dispatch said Senator Symington was a millionaire, which gives the Democrats another plutocrat to add to their long, long list. When will the voters catch on?

'Why Are Schools Closed So Readily?'

My letter is intended as a question. When I went to school I don't think the schools ever closed because of the weather during the entire 12 years. Today, school authorities close the doors when it gets slippery, and nothing worse. May I ask why?

★ ★ ★

There are 43 people in my department and Tuesday morning 41 showed up. What was there about those conditions that caused school authorities to "close the schools?" Also, it was announced in many more schools that "the buses will not run." May I ask why not? Other traffic was proceeding almost normally.

★ ★ ★

I have one more question. It was 32 degrees at 7 a.m. and raining. The temperature usually goes up and even a few degrees rise would make the streets safe. Thus, if they were in a tremble at seven, couldn't they have announced school will be delayed an hour and not postponed?

'35 Is Too Young for President'

I've read lately about a move to raise the age limit for presidential candidates from 35 to 45. The original age was set when men didn't live as long as they do now and I'd hate to think of a 35-year-old in the White House. This requirement should be shifted at least to 45.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

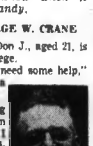

Gives Tips on Application Letter

Don realizes the need for a punchy letter of application as a first step in getting a good job. The average college graduate knows very little about writing such a letter. And a lot of older men who are out of jobs can likewise profit from this case today, so scrapbook it. You never know when it will come in handy.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

DR. CRANE

"In looking over the ads in the newspaper, I find several positions that sound attractive.

"But I don't know how to write a letter of application for a job. Just what should I say? Does such a letter have to be typewritten?

"Should I cite references? I'm sure a million other fellows are in much the same boat with me, for in college we weren't taught such practical tasks as how to write a letter for a job."

HOW TO APPLY

It can often make or break a person's chances. At Northwestern University I used to devote an entire lecture to my psychology students on this vital subject of writing a letter of application for a job.

Remember, your letter is not supposed to get you a job! No, its main purpose is to obtain the interview.

And then, in that personal interview, you can further sell yourself and answer detailed questions. So don't overload your letter with trivial stuff. Stick to a few quick fundamentals.

A typewritten letter looks more professional, so it is usually wise to use that format, unless the newspaper ad asks specifically for a hand-written letter.

Leave wide margins. Use clean type and a fresh ribbon. Too many amateurs employ an old typewriter whose letters "e," "a," and "g" are so full of fuzz that they don't come through clearly.

ONE PAGE LETTER

Address it to a specific man, if you can learn the name of the employer or personnel director, but in answering ads, care of just a box number, you can start out "Gentlemen" or "Dear Sirs."

Then outline in four punchy paragraphs your "experience," your "technical training," your "personal data," and, finally your "references."

Don't go into exhaustive detail regarding your experience and in your letter it is not necessary to be chronological. List your one or two major jobs.

For your prospective boss may not know any of your references in person, but a "handle," such as "sales manager" or "judge" or "Reverend" or "professor" or "bank president," shows the caliber of people you know personally and thus indirectly endorses you, even before they may be solicited for a personal letter in your behalf.

If your references are tops, you may be hired even before they later ask for letters of endorsement as a matter of office routine.

And always ask your references in advance if it is O.K., for you to cite their names.

For fuller advice and an actual specimen letter that is tops, send for my "Vocational Guidance Kit," enclosing a stamped return envelope plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Or go to your library and look on Page 713 of my college textbook "Psychology Applied," where this letter is reproduced.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Takes Pioneer Spirit to Leave Senate Luxury for Presidency

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—If tourists visiting the nation's capital could peek behind some of the closed doors in the House and Senate office buildings, they might wonder why any right-minded man would want to swap such luxury for a try at the presidency.

True, the chief executive has yachts, private planes, a fleet of helicopters and limousines at his disposal, but he also has far more pressing problems than any single member of the 537-strong congressional body.

It's an old saw that practically every member of the House is running for the Senate, and every member sees himself as potential presidential timber.

This year, for the first time in our history at least five senators are hopefully seeking the Democratic nomination, and Richard M. Nixon is eager to desert the presiding officer's chair for the White House.

* * *

Let's take a look therefore, at what they are willing to surrender in order to make their wives first ladies:

The senators have a private swimming pool where—unlike the prexy in the White House pool—they sense no eager vice president breathing down their dripping necks.

Both senators and representatives have luxurious gymnasiums fully equipped with steam rooms, exercisers and free masseurs. They have separate barber shops where members of the lower House pay one-fourth the going rate, and the mighty senators nothing.

Off basement corridors in the Senate and House office buildings, a staff of employes is busily vending personal stationery, calling cards, fountain pens, scrap books, and what-have-you at well below retail cost, while some lawmakers protest about post exchange privileges for servicemen's families overseas.

An adjoining cabinet shop turns out hand-crafted furniture, bookcases, magazine racks and anything in the woodworking line that happens to meet a lawmaker's fancy.

Also located in the basements are well-staffed beauty salons for female legislators, clerks, typists, and any wives who care to avail themselves of the cut-rate privileges.

Approximately 80 eager page boys, trained to say "yes, sir" and scurry at the snap of a finger, are available to run thousands of errands. The congressmen yearly appropriate money to give the boys private education at the page boys' school in the Library of Congress across the street.

The world's most expensive underground trains carry senators to the Capitol with almost as much pampering care as the rickshaws of oriental potentates.

The cup runneth over in the office suites, where burning logs crackle cheerily in open hearths, air conditioning magically controls the temperature, the buttons of the telephones glow like the panels of jet airliners, and a crew of office workers jumps to every beck and call.

The salary is $22,500 a year, besides a $2000 tax-free, expense allowance. The prestige is impressive, the invitations are staggering, and the ranking members of both houses have chauffeur-driven limousines.

Unlike the presidency, there is no two-term limitation on tenure, and taken all in all, it's nice work if you can get it.

Adonis Freed on Bribe Charge

Ten-Year Hassle Over Protection of Gamblers Finally Ended

HACKENSACK, N. J. (AP) — "Thank God for the jury system," cried Harold Adonis, found innocent Wednesday of conspiring to bribe public officials to protect gambling while he was a clerk in the office of ex-Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll.

"After ten long years, not only acquittal but complete vindication for myself and my family," he said after a Bergen County jury freed him of conspiracy charges.

* * *

Adonis, now 50, was indicted in 1953 in a gambling investigation that included charges of corruption in the Republican governor's office, a gangland murder, firing of the chief investigator and finally a legislative probe.

He finally fled the country after charges he built a $45,000 home while earning $4,000 a year as a state house clerk.

Adonis still faces trial Jan. 18 on a charge of accepting a bribe. However, Deputy Atty. Gen. Charles S. Joelson said he would recommend the indictment be dropped.

* * *

Since the original indictment Adonis served three years for income tax evasion after he voluntarily returned to the United States from Holland.

The key testimony against Adonis had been from a slain hoodlum, Willie Moretti. A former state treasurer and state Republican chairman, John J. Dickerson, testified Moretti once told him he had paid Adonis $228,000 over a 19-month period to buy protection for gamblers.

GIVES FINCH TESTIMONY — Mrs. Marca Helfrich, 24, a school teacher, is pictured Wednesday after she told the jury at the murder trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff that the victim, Mrs. Barbara Finch, stayed with her twice. She quoted Mrs. Finch, who was estranged from the doctor, as saying she was afraid of him.

Trial Is Recessed

Actor Mark Stevens to Testify in Finch Case

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A juror's illness kept the Finch murder trial in recess today. When it resumes Monday, actor Mark Stevens joins the cast.

The dark, handsome movie star says Barbara Finch told him a few days before her death that her surgeon husband had tried to kill her and she feared for her life.

Other witnesses have said the same thing.

* * *

Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, rich suburban physician, and attractive Carole Tregoff, 23, his mistress, are accused of murdering Finch's wife last July 18 outside their West Covina home. The prosecution says the defendants wanted to marry without sharing the Finch estate with the tennis-loving socialite, who had sued for divorce.

GROAN AT RECESS

Spectators issued a loud groan of dismay at announcement of the recess Wednesday. Some had stood in line since 5 a.m. to get seats for the 9:30 a.m. trial opening.

Stevens' addition to the list of 50 prosecution witnesses came as a surprise. He told a newsmen he volunteered to testify.

The film and TV actor-producer said he had known the Finches about four years. He is a member of the swank Los Angeles Tennis Club, to which they also belonged.

* * *

Stevens said Mrs. Finch told him her husband "was going to try to kill her and had tried before." This was several days before she was found shot in the back. Although he was concerned for her safety, the actor said, he took no precautionary action because he had to leave town for a movie assignment.

* * *

The recess came in the midst of testimony by Marca Ax Helfrich, pretty schoolteacher who knew Mrs. Finch through their mutual interest in tennis.

Mrs. Helfrich quoted Mrs. Finch as saying the doctor had beaten her and she was afraid of him.

* * *

Also expected to testify next week are John Patrick Cody, who has said he was given money by the defendants to kill Mrs. Finch but never intended to go through with it, and Donald Sanford Williams, who said he set up the alleged arrangement with Cody.

Waterford Twp. Fire Loss Rises

Multiplied by 5 Since 1958; Big Huron Bowl Blaze Is Factor

The fire loss in Waterford Township was five times higher last year than in 1958, according to an annual report submitted to the Township Board by Fire Chief Elmer Fangboner.

* * *

Much of the difference was due to one of the most devastating fires in the area, when the Huron Bowling alley burned to the ground. Firemen estimated the loss at $100,000.

The number of calls answered was down slightly, with 11 of the 408 being false alarms. There were 286 grass fires compared to 166 dwelling fires. Thirty-one were due to carelessness, defective wiring, heating devices or overheated stoves, it was reported.

Fifty-four fires were attributed to children playing with matches or lighters, Fangboner said.

* * *

Of the 43 men in the Waterford Township Fire Department, nine are regular paid firemen and 34 are volunteers. Fangboner has asked the Township Board to hire an additional two men for greater efficiency in operating the three-station department.

It was actress Cornelia Otis Skinner who said: "Woman's virtue is man's greatest invention."

Watchdog No Match for Friendly Burglars

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP)—The owner of a coffee shop arrived in the morning and found his German Shepherd watchdog locked in an automobile parked in the rear of the restaurant.

Police said intruders made friends with the dog during the night, and then made off with some cigars, small change, chewing gum and 15 pounds of coffee.

Practice Curve in Four Body Positions

Circle Next Step in Basic Skating

By PIERRE BRUNET
Noted Figure Skating Coach
AP Features

After a child has learned to skate equally well on both feet by using the inside and outside blade edges of each skate, he must learn the curve or half circle.

The circle is the basis for all compulsory figures but the half circle must be learned to perfection first with different positions of the body. The positions involve the arms, torso, free leg and head.

The free leg is the one lifted in the air. For example, when the right skate is on the ice, the free leg is extended to the rear of the body.

* * *

After these curves are practiced to perfection the child must learn to make the half circle backwards on both skates and on both skate edges.

The skater will learn this with one shoulder forward and then with the other shoulder forward and he must learn each curve with the head turned to the left and then to the right.

* * *

Starting out sounds tedious and really is. It must be remembered that in competition each move must be made three times, on each foot and each mark on the ice repeated over the previous mark.

* * *

As soon as a skater learns that one foot is better than the other he or she must practice more with the weak foot.

Both feet must perform equally on the inside and outside edges forward and backward. When a child has mastered these things his program can be planned.

Another Hawaii Volcano Erupts

No Immediate Danger to Village of Kapoho; Most Residents Gone

HONOLULU (AP) — Glowing lava burst from a fissure in Kapoho village on the lower slope of Kilauea volcano Wednesday night.

First reports said the searing lava flow headed for the sea, less than a mile away.

The eruption was no immediate threat to the village or settlements on the populated southeast shore of Hawaii Island, some 200 miles southeast of Honolulu.

And it came as no surprise. Most of Kapoho's 300 residents had evacuated earlier in the day after earthquakes had ripped open fissures a mile long and tore a gaping hole in the center of the village. Only a handful were still in the village Wednesday.

A Hawaiian Air Lines spokesman said the lava was pouring out of fissure in the green lake area on the southern fringe of Kapoho. There are no settlements between the fiery fissure and the Pacific Ocean.

The eruption climaxed two weeks of intermittent earth tremors, in the last 48 hours, the quakes grew in intensity, and observers said they shook Kapoho "like a bowl of jelly."

FCC Chairman Has Suggestion

Gives Industry Nudge to Set Up Half Hours on Education, Culture

NEW YORK (AP)—The television industry received a powerful nudge today toward volunteering more cultural programs in prime evening viewing time.

Chairman John C. Doerfer of the Federal Communications Commission proposed that the three alternate each week in setting aside a half hour from 7:30 to 8 p. m. Monday through Friday for special programs devoted to information, education, and culture.

* * *

He offered that simply as a suggestion in a speech prepared for the radio and television executives society.

But, he added, in a more general discussion of public service programs: "I would not hesitate to urge the commission to require such programming if I were certain we had that power and could effectively set understanding and enforceable standards."

Informal though it was, Doerfer's sugestion was unique for a member of the FCC. For more than 30 years the agency has carefully avoided any effort to shape the content of broadcast programs, in view of legal prohibitions against censorship in this field.

TOKYO TOWER — It looks like the Eiffel Tower and some people say it's starting to tilt like the Leaning Tower of Pisa, but this is the Tokyo Tower, a huge television mast, about five million people have paid to ride up to an observation platform during the 1,091-foot tower's first year of existence. Engineers say rumors the tower is bending are nonsense.

New Nose Cone Will Allow More Equipment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has announced development of a revolutionary missile nose cone which automatically bends to aim its measuring instruments at the sun.

* * *

The service said the 8-foot long cone was successfully test-flown recently while attached to an Aerobee-Hi research rocket. It was launched 90 miles above the earth from the White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico.

The Air Force said previous point control systems utilized a static, nonflexible configuration but that "the maneuverability of the new design permits a highly increased equipment payload."

Lake Orion to Vote on Millage Hike March 21

Name Township Members

Orion Appoints Electrical Board

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Orion Township Board has appointed four persons to serve on an electrical board being created to govern operation of the township's electrical code which goes into effect Saturday.

Named to serve on the new board are David Johnston, electrical contractor; Raymond A. Elkins, journeyman; Clifford Carrell, Detroit Edison Co. representative; and Mrs. Margaret Stephen, township clerk.

The four plan to hold their first meeting in the near future to appoint the fifth member and to make preparations to issue licenses as prescribed in the new code.

The plat for Hi-Hill Village No. 2, which includes 103 lots east of M24 north of east Silver Bell road, has been accepted by the Township Board. It was presented by developer Gordon Ladd.

The Board also has agreed to pay its equal share of the 1960 Civil Defense budget for Lake Orion and Orion Township. The township's share is $824, the same as the village's.

By order of the State Highway Commissioner and State Police, speed limits on M24 in Orion Township will be changed effective Feb. 8.

The section of the highway between Indianwood road and Flint street will be posted at 40 m.p.h., between Flint and Grandview streets at 35 m.p.h. and between Grandview street and Clarkston road, 45 m.p.h.

★ ★ ★

Theodore Mach, chairman of the Northwest Indianwood Homeowners Assn., has registered a complaint to the Township Board about factory traffic from Arten Inc., and Sea Ray Industries on Indianwood road.

Mach said residents of the area object to trucks and employees' cars entering the road from the factories without stopping and passing halted school buses.

The township clerk has been instructed to write to the two companies asking that their employes be requested to stop before entering the road, to watch for school buses and generally to drive with care in that area.

The board has appointed Clarence H. Nank constable to fill a vacancy.

Gorsline Nominated for Postmastership

Gorsline, 51, of 900 E. Buno Rd., Milford, has been acting Postmaster since August 1958. He replaced Vincent Boyle who held the post for eight years.

LAKE ORION—Because of "no snow and very little ice," the sponsors of the Winter Carnival in Lake Orion have postponed the three-day event to Feb. 13-14.

It was originally scheduled the last weekend in January.

Hoping for improved winter weather conditions by the February dates, the committee in charge went ahead last night with the program plans.

ADD NEW EVENT

One new event was added. It is a "Mutt Derby," a race for small boys who will be pulled on their sleds by any type of dog a prescribed distance on the lake.

★ ★ ★

Other activities will include hockey games, skating races, figure skating competition, ice sculpture and ice fishing contests, a pancake breakfast, fish fry, turkey dinner and a Saturday night dance.

★ ★ ★

All organizations in the Lake Orion area are cooperating, each in charge of a particular activity.

Seek Funds to Construct Schools, Operate, Up Pay

By LEE WINBORN

LAKE ORION — The Lake Orion Board of Education last night set March 21 as the date for a special election on a two-phase proposal to raise extra millage for school operation, future construction and an improved salary schedule.

If approved at the polls, the first phase will provide for a delay in levying the 6½ mills to pay the high school debt for one year, earmarking that millage for construction purposes.

According to Superintendent of Schools A. A. Reed, it is permissible to delay the high school millage levy for the one-year period because there will be a cash reserve of $243,731 on hand June 30 to meet next year's payments.

By levying the 6½ mills for construction for one year, an estimated $116,025 in cash through tax anticipation notes would be available for immediate use, Reed said. This figure is based on present valuations and 85 per cent collection.

The second phase of the millage proposal provides for canceling the present 3-mill levy which expires next year and levying 8 mills for construction and operation for a 5-year period.

Of the 8 mills, two would be used for future construction and three for operation.

The program would provide 10 to 12 classrooms, paid for in two years instead of with long-term bonds, school officials said.

Preliminary plans call for the addition of five more classrooms and a multipurpose room at Carpenter School to meet the present and anticipated growth in Judah Lake Estates.

It is also planned to add four rooms at Webber School if the issue passes. By building onto this school, Reed said, he would be able to remove the fifth grade from the junior high school thereby leaving more space there for the higher grades.

Further provisions of the program are for an improved salary schedule, reduced class loads and for additional funds for operation and teaching materials.

BELOW AVERAGE

The per pupil cost of education in the Lake Orion district now is $260, which is $65 under the county average of $325.

Board members said that failure to provide these additional funds would result in more crowded classrooms, use of rented or sub-standard rooms, half-day sessions and reduced school services to the children.

In mapping a program for future construction they pointed out that the present enrollment is 3,127, and, based on the anticipated known growth rate of 6 per cent, it will mount to 4,217 by 1965.

The entire program calls for a 5-mill increase over present taxes or $9.36 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. It also provides for a total of $187,425 of immediate construction funds, without bonding, with an estimated $126,000 to be set aside for future additions in 1965, based on present valuation.

This program would permit the Lake Orion district to qualify under the law as a hardship district to be eligible for $26,000 additional state aid.

Before drafting the millage proposal the educators called in representatives of all organizations in the district and asked their help in conducting a study of school needs. The results of their findings were incorporated in the program adopted to submit to the voters.

Madison Woman Alleges Shooting

Mrs. Carl Williamson of 25520 Del St. told police that she and her husband were in the living room watching television when she thought she heard someone fooling with the family car.

She said she ran out onto the driveway and saw a man forcing the locked door of her car and a second man getting out of a car parked behind that of the Williamsons'.

Mrs. Williamson believes it was the man by her car who fired once before fleeing in the Williamsons' car. She ran into the house and her husband called the police.

Neighbors reported that they heard the shot, but police were unable to find any slug at the scene.

Newlyweds Trek North, Then Move to Arizona

ROMEO — Leaving early next week to take up residence in Tucson, Ariz. after their recent wedding are Mr. and Mrs. William S. Couch.

The bride is the former Ellen Marie Heideman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Heideman, of 114 W. Hollister St. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Couch, of 62450 Campground Rd., Washington.

★ ★ ★

Her shoulder-length veil of silk tulle was fastened to a lace cap-let adorned with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

The bride's attendants were her sister, Carole Heideman, who served as maid of honor, and Sharon Lawrence of Pontiac, bridesmaid.

Michael A. Couch assisted his brother as best man. Groomsman was Robert Boss of Livonia, cousin of the bride, and ushers were John Vernon of Newton, Iowa, and Boots Mallory of Detroit.

Immediately following the morning nuptials a breakfast-reception was held at Sylvan Glen Golf Club. Then the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to northern Michigan.

Senior Trip Out at Rochester

High School Students Lose Traditional Event as Interest Lags

ROCHESTER — Senior trips for Rochester High School students were canceled by the Board of Education last night.

Superintendent Donald C. Baldwin said that only 76 out of the 212 members of the 1960 graduating class had indicated they planned to take the trip.

"Generally speaking 75 per cent of the class must be interested," the superintendent said. So it was upon his recommendation and that of the high school principal, Harlan Johnson, that the Board decided the trips be canceled.

Another contributing factor influencing the Board's ruling was that the administrators felt the trips also had lost their "educational value," Baldwin said.

Need More Tax Power

Townships Bursting

LANSING (AP) — Michigan citizens will be "tremendously surprised" when the 1960 census reveals the extent of township development in the past decade, reports the executive secretary of the Michigan Townships Assn.

Joseph Parent told delegates to the group's convention yesterday that 80 per cent of Michigan's growth is taking place in townships, which now contain more than half of the state's population.

Portage Township, Kalamazoo County, has grown from a population of 7,946 in 1950 to more than 20,000 today, he said. Redford Township, Wayne County, has gone from 18,840 in 1950 to close to 70,000.

"Much of this growth is directly attributable to the location of industry in the townships," Parent said. "This means people are going to build more houses. In turn, this is going to cause increased demand for services.

Parent predicted townships will be given greater taxing powers by the Legislature.

"All we are asking for," he said, "is an opportunity to provide the same utilities and services for our people as re provided in the incorporated areas of our state. And we can do this without annexation."

"We must ever be on guard for any new ideas, schemes or plans, which under the guise of co-called efficiency or economy transfers the functions of local government to the next higher level, or worse still, to state or national agencies or bureaus," Parent said.

Bankrupt Firm Paid Ex-Official

LANSING (UPI)—Former Michigan Insurance Commissioner Joseph A. Navarre who ordered a halt to the investigation of the Michigan Surety Co. in 1958 received more than $12,000 in fees from the insolvent company.

Navarre said today the fees paid to a law firm he was a partner in "were perfectly proper and valid."

Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford said he wasn't "in a position to say which one was right" when asked to comment on Navarre's statement that he called off the probe because it bogged down.

Navarra said the fees had nothing to do with decision to abandon the investigation of the insolvent bonding company. The probe was halted in December 1958, about two weeks before he left office.

Last week, Circuit Judge Louis E. Coash declared Michigan Surety was insolvent and ordered Blackford to take over control of the firm and its assets.

The ex-commissioner said he received no part of the fees that came to $2,000 in 1958 for legal services of the Navarre-Noble firm.

Navarre said his actual partnership with Noble began after he resigned.

Attorney Seeks Reinstatement

LANSING (AP) — Walter O. Estes, Lansing attorney suspended from the practice of law in 1952 and a figure in the "Fort Ziegenhardt" case, has applied for reinstatement to the state bar through a motion filed in Ingham County Circuit Court.

A panel of three visiting judges ordered Estes suspended from the state bar for one year in 1952.

The suspension resulted from litigation involving the Lapeer Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co., during which Estes represented some of the policyholders. It was charged Estes improperly criticized a circuit judge who heard briefs he filed in the case.

The case was a celebrated one in the Thumb Area in the early 1950s. Several farmers refused to pay assessments for settlement of claims on the bankrupt insurance firm.

Chris and Paul Ziegenhardt, who lived near Marlette, were the most militant of these and built a "fort" on their farm to stand off sheriff's deputies trying to move them.

The farm eventually was seized to pay the claims and the brothers were moved off the property.

Estes appealed the suspension order through the state and U. S. supreme courts over a period of seven years but his appeals were denied.

Estes was advised by the U.S. Supreme Court last year he could apply for reinstatement since the one-year suspension had long since elapsed.

State Lawmakers Wrapped Up in Coming Elections

Have Little Time for Farm Legislation

A recent poll of the legislators indicated such things as the seal of quality proposal and possible changes in milk marketing laws may crop up but apparently the Michigan farmer can look for little change in the way of legislation from his senator or representative.

"A better milk bill is in the making," said Rep. George Gillespie (R-Gaines), who is chairman of the House Agricultural Committee.

Gillespie last year introduced a milk marketing bill which called for regulation of prices from cow to consumer but the measure died in his committee.

Rep. Riemer Van Til (R-Holland) said only there might be some bills introduced to change marketing and inspection laws.

★ ★ ★

"I expect the seal of quality legislation will be introduced again and if put on a voluntary participation basis, should be enacted," said Sen. John Fitzgerald (R-Grand Ledge).

"Michigan products are the nation's best and we should find some way of boosting them on a national level," said Fitzgerald.

The seal of quality measure urged by Gov. G. Mennen Williams every year since he became chief executive, was expected to past last session when many saw it as nearly a sure thing.

However, it did not pass and died in Gillespie's committee.

The bill would permit designating certain farm products which came up to standard, to have the seal, a move some consider vital in marketing Michigan products in competition with products from other states.

House Democratic Leader Joseph Kowalski (D-Detroit) said the program "continues to pick up farm support."

Said Kowalski: "This may be the year it passes."

There was little done during the 1959 session in 11 months so there was little reason to look for something in the current session, he said.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Carroll Newton (R-Delton) said he hoped for a-law "to consolidate some of the many milk inspections we now have."

Interest in the November election in getting ready for campaigning and in any tax proposals which might appear on the November ballot were expected to take up most of the legislators' time and interest.

The bride is the former Vera Ann Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Crawford of Hollywood, Calif. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett McGee of 927 Long Lake Blvd., Lake Orion.

Trash Cash Hoard Tops $40,000

DETROIT (AP)—Bearded Anthony Ketko, 68, was in a hospital bed yesterday, suffering from malnutrition. His wife, Agatha, 62, had been treated and released.

Asked how much money he had, Ketko replied:

"About $1,000, I think."

Asked if it wasn't more like $40,000, he replied:

"If I got $40,000, I'd be a rich man. I know how much money I have in bank."

* * *

But police, sifting through a pile of junk and trash in the apartment from which the Ketkos had been evicted for failure to comply with a fire inspector's order to clean it up, found a total of $40,007.83.

There was $7,222.83 in cash, wrapped in dirty towels and layers of old newspapers. Government bonds and postal savings certificates accounted for $8,380. They had been carefully wrapped and hidden in the rubbish.

Three bank books and a passbook from a credit union showed a combined balance of $25,000. One book showed a deposit of $40 in 1937 and a deposit of $9,635.85 in 1958.

Police said bank officials would give no information.

FUNDS UNCLAIMED

The money, bonds and bank books are waiting in a police property room to be claimed by either Ketko or his wife.

The Ketko's landlady said all the trash was stored in a single room of the four-room apartment. The landlady, Mrs. Paul Smith, said the Ketkos were evicted Monday after they refused to clean up the place.

"All of this stuff was piled up in one room. All they had was a path so you could get through it," Mrs. Smith said.

She said she hadn't seen Ketko in the eight years since she and Smith bought the apartment house. She said the Ketkos never had any visitors.

* * *

Ketko said he retired "four or five years ago" from his job as a bench hand at a roller bearing firm where he had worked 36 years. He said he came from Poland when he was 18 and became married a little later.

He said he didn't know how much he made, that he turned his money over to his wife and she doled it out to him as he needed it.

"I never hide anything. I put in bank in my name — in my wife's name. I don't think my wife hid any."

Mrs. Ketko was employed as a cleaning woman at a cafeteria. Her employers said she did a good job and were surprised at her difficulties.

Mrs. Ketko left the hospital with a woman who identified herself as her sister. Mrs. Ketko could not be reached for comment.

Officers said the trash mounted up in the house, where Ketko said he had lived for 20 years, included thousands of unused tea bags; a dozen electrical cords; hundreds of dollars in new clothes of different sizes, men's and women's, with the price tags still attached; 10 pairs of new shoes; three United States flags; a deed for a 40-acre farm in Washtenaw County; bundles of towels, cleaning rags, papers and assorted junk.

Price ranges of U. S. automobiles go from $1,700 to nearly $10,000, f.o.b. the factories.

Hopes to Stop Loss of Industry

Indiana Solon Alarmed at Purchase of Factory by New Mexico City

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. E. Ross Adair (R-Ind) says he hopes some sort of gentlemen's agreement can be invoked to prevent Indiana from losing any more factories to New Mexico.

Adair said he and other Indiana officials and citizens are seriously concerned about the recent loss of a DeKalb County factory to Deming, N.M., which got the factory by the simple expedient of buying it.

"There doesn't seem to be anything we can do about it either," Adair told a reporter. "I don't believe any federal or state law could be framed to stop this practice."

Deming bought the Auburn Rubber Co. with a bond issue authorized under a 1955 New Mexico state law. It plans to move the factory and a few management officials to Deming, leaving more than 400 former employes without jobs.

Adair said he thought some form of interstate agreement in which states agreed not to raid each other's industries would be the best solution to the problem.

"If this sort of thing is carried to extremes, the purchase of other state's industries with public funds, it would just result in losses for everyone concerned," he said.

* * *

Adair said he had heard that Deming also is trying to "bargain" at least one other factory away from its present location, but has no information as to where the factory is now.

Back Home Again With Jinty's Replacement

Judy, who lost her Alsatian shepherd, Jinty, when it fled a baggage car in Detroit while being shipped from New York to St. Thomas, returned home yesterday.

She had been searching the Detroit area off and on since just after Christmas. But despite widespread publicity, she never found Jinty.

She was given the new dog, a nine-week-old puppy, on a television show in Hollywood. She hasn't decided on a name, but "I won't call it Jinty, though," she said.

Judy made sure the new pup couldn't escape its crate before she allowed it to be shipped from Detroit here.

It was Mark Twain who said: "I would rather have my ignorance than another man's knowledge, because I have got so much more of it (ignorance)."

Barrels Loaded With A-Waste Stand and Wait

* * *

But police won't let him unload the material—from a University of California radiation laboratory. City officials say it is a health hazard, violates zoning laws and just isn't wanted.

Boswell intended to dump the barrels at sea under a contract with the Atomic Energy Commission. He said he got clearance from various health and safety authorities, but the city won't issue him a business license.

Find Men Guilty in Crime Count

Murder 8 Times More Persons Than Women (Who Kill Babies)

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Men murder eight times more people than women do, but females kill more children under the age of one, a University of Michigan phychologist said today.

Prof. Elton B. McNeill also said males commit more of all kinds of crimes than women and "aggress others and society in a variety of ways."

"It is interesting that women exceed men only in inflicting fatal injuries on children under one year of age," the professor added. "The crisis of birth and the responsibility of motherhood is uniquely a female problem."

He said age makes an important difference in an individual's readiness to murder. The most deadly ages are between 20 and 39 with the decrease in homicide rates quite sharp after that.

McNeill said nearly five times more murders are committed by persons from 25 to 29 years old than by persons between the ages of 50 to 54. The rate was nearly 20 times greater than that for persons over 65.

Tear Apart Soviet Jet; Proves Old MIG Type

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A Red Chinese jet fighter that crash-landed in northeast Formosa was a MIG15, not the newer and faster MIG17, Chinese Nationalist officials said today.

★ ★ ★

Mechanics dismantled the plane for transport to Taipei for examination by U. S. and Chinese Nationalist experts. Western authorities, however, have previously studied that model at close range.

There had been public speculation here that the jet, slightly damaged in landing, was a MIG17 and the first of that Soviet design to fall into Western hands.

Stock Steel Against Price Rise

Buyers Now Feeling Confident

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Consumer confidence seems to have grown stronger with the steel pact. And at the same time his feeling that prices will go still higher is making him a better sales prospect.

* * *

On this—along with the urge of business to rebuild its stocks—is based the hope that the total economy will climb to new highs before summer.

* * *

The consumer's change from worry to confidence is reported by the University of Michigan survey research center. It was conducting a poll of consumer buying intentions when the steel pact was announced.

Its later returns differed quite widely from those taken when the public still feared a new steel walkout at the end of this month.

The steel pact removes the threat of shutdowns in other industries as a side result. It gives many persons the belief that their incomes will be as good or better this year than last.

* * *

This confidence makes them ready to take on more instalment debt for the big items they want.

Belief that prices are more likely to go up than down gives many the urge to buy now rather than wait.

But the survey also shows another fear—over tight money and its handmaiden, higher interest rates—and this could keep many out of the housing market.

Plans to buy a new home have dropped sharply since last summer, the survey says. Mortgage costs have gone up and builders find it harder to come by financing even at the higher rates.

Large increases in mortgage debt through September are noted by the Northern Trust Co. of Chicago in its January bank letter.

But it also stresses increasing use of automobile credit and vigorous expansion in other consumer goods credit and personal cash loans.

* * *

Many are convinced that factories will run full tilt for months trying to make up for lost time. And there's nothing that gives a man more courage to buy something on time than the belief that his pay check will be coming in regularly.

* * *

The Michigan survey isn't quite as optimistic as some. It cautions: "Consumer sentiment must improve considerably during the next few months if 1960 is to be a really good year for consumer durables."

The Chicago bank takes comfort in noting that "continued strength in consumer demand at year end was evidenced by the 6 per cent gain over 1958 in Christmas sales of the department stores."

For the year as a whole retail sales came to about 216 billion dollars, which was 8 per cent above the 1958 volume. Only part of this gain was accounted for by higher prices.

With business ordering heavily to rebuild stocks, and with consumer seemingly in a buying mood, the prospects for the total dollar volume of goods and services to top the half trillion mark this year still look good.

Anti-Semitism Is Fit Class Topic: Bartlett

LANSING (AP) — Teachers should not shy away from discussing recent outbreaks of anti-Semitism, a policy committee for the State Department of Public Instruction said today.

Dr. Lynn S. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, issued the statement for the Michigan Committee on Better Human Relations.

"Alert teachers do not shy away from the controversial or unpleasant," Bartlett said. "Instead, they capitalize on incidents such as Swastika-painting to deal directly with these and broader issues in human relations."

All over the state, Bartlett advised, teachers have been engaged in discussing and dealing with the current wave of anti-Semitic acts.

The discussions, he said, can help determine what young people can do to counteract hate propaganda and reaffirm their opposition to desecrations.

Nikita Accepts Invitation to Visit Afghans

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has accepted an invitation to visit Afghanistan in February on his return from his planned visit to Indonesia, Moscow announced Wednesday.

The Tass dispatch said that King Mohammed Zahir Shah and the Afghan government extended the invitation which was gratefully accepted by Khrushchev.

Khrushchev also has received invitations from India and Burma and is expected to accept. He will leave for Indonesia about Feb. 20.

Misteguay Project to Start This Year

SAGINAW (AP)—An $862,000 work program for the tri-county Misteguay Watershed has been approved by the drain commissioners of the counties.

Construction, including the building of three concrete dams, will start this year.

The drain commissioners approved the program at a meeting in the township hall of Albee Township in Saginaw County.

The government will pay $366,000 of the total cost and the watershed farmers will be assessed for the balance. The commissioners will meet later this month to apportion the assessments for about 1,350 farmers.

In 1947 the Misteguay was closed to drainage improvements by court order. Farmers at the southern end complained they had been flooded by drain waters during times of normal rainfall. The watershed, 24 miles long, is built around the Misteguay Creek that empties into the Shiawassee River seven miles south of Saginaw.

THE LADY AND THE GIANT

By Clarence Budington Kelland

THE STORY: The discovery of a hundred giant at Cardiff, New Syracuse, is a sensation. So also is Madam Elinda Janeway, beautiful, mysterious and rich. Madame Janeway has engaged a young lawyer, Orrin Applegate, to handle her legal affairs.

IV

"I suggested to Mr. Watts," she said, "that we have some arrangement on a—" She hesitated for the word.

"Retainer basis," said Mr. Watts.

Madam Janeway lifted her brows as if she, too, were displeased.

"It will be satisfactory," I said gravely. It would, indeed. Fifty dollars a month represented a substantial income.

"Please don't go, Mr. Applegate," she said. "We must become acquainted. If Mr. Watts wishes to be rid of us—" She gave him an arch smile, and he purred.

* * *

"Indeed not, Madam Janeway," he hastened to say. He turned to me. "Perhaps you'd better sit down, Orrin."

I preferred to stand.

* * *

"I think," he said in an instant, "that Madam Janeway wishes to ask you about what happened at the Newell farm yesterday. I understand you were present. It seems to have reached her ears."

"While digging a well," I said cautiously, "workmen discovered a great stone figure. A gigantic figure. Two clergymen who were present declared it to be the petrified body of a once-living Titan."

YOUR OPINION?

Discretion halted me. "I have reserved judgment," I said.

"As a professional man naturally would do," she said. "May one see this marvel?"

"My guess," said I, "is that Stubby Newell plans to exhibit it for a fee."

"I'm unfamiliar with the country," she said. "I wonder if you can dine with me and then drive out to this place with me. To show my coachman the way."

"I shall be happy to do so," I assured her.

* * *

Madam Janeway and I dined together. It was not the heavy noonday meal to which I was accustomed, but more on the dainty side. When we had finished, she rang for the butler, calling him Oscar, and bade him summon her carriage.

* * *

In a minute or so he reappeared to tell her the carriage was waiting. We went out, took our seats and were driven into James Street. As we turned into the public road, I saw Lossie in a hammock on her lawn.

At sight of me beside Madam Janeway, she straightened up suddenly that she all but fell out. The last I saw of her as we trotted up the street was laughable. She was standing, bent a little forward, with her mouth agape.

Many rigs were heading for the same destination, and when we arrived at the farm there were a score of people standing in line waiting for admission to the tent which Stubby had erected over the pit in which lay the giant.

There was even a ticket booth stating that admission was 50 cents. Madam produced a dollar and I procured tickets, and we took our places in the queue.

* * *

In 10 minutes we were leaning on the rail which Stubby had erected around the hole and staring down at that strange, bewildering, distorted figure.

* * *

Madam gazed down at it for a long time, and then turned to me with a serious face. "I should like to see this man Newell," she told me.

"There he stands," I said, pointing.

IT WASN'T POLITE

This I did not comprehend, nor did I think it polite to ask her meaning. We re-entered the carriage and drove back to town. I saw her up the steps and took my departure.

No sooner had I reached the path to our door than Lossie popped around the corner of the house and confronted me, hands on slender hips and fire in her eyes.

She said no word, but stepped close to me and then, without warning, slapped my face so vigorously that I staggered; and, turning, ran as fast as she could for her own kitchen door.

I was not enraged. If I could have caught her, I would undoubtedly have smacked her, as had happened years ago when we quarreled. I was not angry, but on the contrary and to my own astonishment, I was pleased.

I awakened early on a beautiful Sunday morning and went downstairs to breakfast. Father and mother and I would go to church, of course, and then we were to have dinner with the Foxes, as it was their turn.

Father and I strolled out to see to the horses. I went to the oat bin while father went to the stalls, and I heard him utter a strangled noise, as if someone had punched him in the stomach.

I dropped the scoop and went to where he stood, frozen, staring into our carriage. From his very position I could sense that something was wrong—overwhelmingly very wrong.

On the rear seat of our carriage sat a stranger, leaning back against the cushion, but with his head on his breast. He was a bearded man with the sort of whiskers named after General Burnside. From between his teeth, horribly, protruded a swollen tongue; his heavy face was livid and he was unmistakably dead. He had been strangled.

Breather Pipes Burn Up Fumes

Air Pollution Group Claim $2 Device Cuts Gasses by One-Third

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Automobile crankcase breather pipes costing less than $2 can cut smog fumes one third, the Air Pollution Control District says.

Reversing its previous opinion about breather devices, the APCD said new tests had proven that about 50 tons of pollutants per day are discharged into the air from crankcases.

County Supervisor Warren M. Dorn demanded that the devices be installed at once on all 3,500 vehicles in the county fleet. He said he would ask Gov. Edmund G. Brown to include consideration of making installation mandatory in special legislative call next month.

* * *

The APCD said the pipes do not lessen the need for controls on exhausts, adding that another 1,000 tons of pollutants comes from this source each day.

State School Districts Pretty Good on $$$

LANSING (AP) — Michigan school districts are currently in pretty good financial shape, the State Department of Public Instruction reported today.

Only one request to borrow against anticipated state aid was received during the past week — a $40,000 borrowing by Port Huron Township school district, Sanilac County.

The requests had been averaging between 20 and 30 a week.

"State school aid is all but paid up with only between three and five millions owed," Brown said.

"Local tax money also is starting to come in after the first of the year."

Oldest stone house in use in the United States is believed to be the Whitfield House built in 1639 in Guilford, Conn. The Rev Henry Whitfield used it both as a church meeting house and as a garrison to fight off Indians.

Says Cotton Supports Need Overhauling

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del) said Wednesday 250 cotton producers received government price-support loans of $100,000 or more on their 1958 crop.

Saying he obtained the figures from the Agriculture Department, Williams told the Senate the price support program is an extravagant monstrosity in need of a complete overhauling.

The largest of the cotton price support loans, he said, was $1,442,806 to Westlake Farms, Inc., of Stratford, Calif., and the second largest was $1,218,000 to Delta & Pine Land Co. of Scott, Miss.

Williams said the latter is a wholly-owned British corporation and asked why it should "receive more assistance in the form of price support loans on its 1958 cotton crop than did all the farmers of the great state of Pennsylvania on all the crops they produced."

There were 23,918 taxpayers in the United States who reported incomes of more than $100,000 for 1957, according to the Commerce Clearing House, including 217 with incomes of more than a million dollars.

Rayburn Gives Interest Support

Doesn't Go for Lifting 4¼ Pct. Ceiling Entirely, as Ike Wants

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Speaker Sam Rayburn threw his support Wednesday behind some relaxation of the legal ceiling on interest rates paid on marketable government bonds.

The veteran Texas Democrat said however he doesn't know if he can embrace intact President Eisenhower's proposal to remove the 4¼ per cent ceiling entirely.

Rayburn, at a news conference, promised "very serious consideration" by the House Ways & Means Committee of Eisenhower's renewed request for elimination of the interest ceiling. However, he said he wasn't sure the committee could agree on a bill.

Last year, he noted, it failed to do so.

"Will you try to get a bill through the House?" Rayburn was asked.

"Yes, if I can get the kind of a bill I am for," Rayburn replied.

He did not say what kind of bill that would be. Some compromises have been proposed, including one to let holders of maturing bonds turn them in for new issues at rates above the present ceiling.

Ah, and the Sergeant's an Honorary Mother

When he was on recruiting duty at Davenport, Iowa, in 1955 Stow helped mothers and wives of Air Force men from nearby Clinton to set up a local chapter of the Air Force Mothers' Club.

★ ★ ★

Beauty Abounds in Mexico City

It's Also One of Most Cosmopolitan in World, West's Second Largest

MEXICO CITY—By all standards, Mexico's capital is one of the world's most cosmopolitan and handsome cities. Its population of some 4,250,000 makes it the second largest city in the Western Hemisphere.

Skyscraper hotels, apartment and office buildings, fashionable shops, restaurants, and theaters flank the elegant, tree-bordered avenues.

Mexico City's 20th-century sheen belies the fact that it is the oldest metropolis on the continent. It was a thriving Aztec center long before Cortes came, saw, conquered, and rebuilt it. Here were located the Hemisphere's first church, university, and hospital.

The Mexican republic—a federation of 29 states, two territories, and the Federal District—shares a 2,013-mile border with its "Norte-americano" neighbor. Both maintain unusually large diplomatic and consular staffs in each other's country to serve the several million Mexican and U.S. citizens who cross the border annually for work or pleasure.

One group of travelers alone—southbound American tourists—are over 800,000 strong each year. Tourism ranks with cotton and textiles as a prime dollar-making industry.

Tens of thousands of Americans live permanently in Mexico; some 800 million U.S. dollars are invested there; and Mexico does three-fourths of its foreign business with the United States.

English is not widely spoken in Mexico, but the Spanish-speaking Mexicans are exceptionally friendly and helpful to visitors.

New Teachers Over 30 Delight School Officials

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Akron's educators have expressed delight at what they consider a trend that may help solve one of the critical problems facing public schools today — the shortage of teachers.

Among 81 teachers recently hired for the Akron school system, exactly one-third are over 30.

Schools Superintendent Martin Essex said these "later age" teachers may serve as a stopgap until economic benefits are increased enough to encourage large numbers of new college graduates to consider teaching as a career.

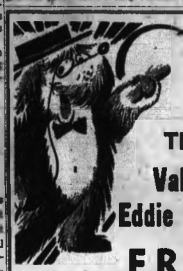

Among the over-30 teachers are several college-educated housewives who are going into teaching now that they have raised their families.

Cooler's Too Cold

BOLOGNA, Italy (UPI) — She was sentenced to prison for one year and four months, but Baldassarra Guizzardi yesterday was granted provisional liberty because "temperatures are below freezing and the woman's jail is unheated."

The first successful gun silencer was invented in 1909 by Hiram Maxim of Hartford, Conn.

Cheetah, Python Prints Abound

New York Designers Go Native

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP) — You could hear the beat of the bongo drums as the third day of New York's current week of spring fashion showings turned into a jungle jamboree.

Nettie Rosenstein, famous as the mother of the indispensable "little black dress," suddenly went wild with cheetah cotton versions, in dresses, prints, shown in both silk and coats and ensembles.

Then came Donald Brooks, designer for Townley, who brought down the house with his python printed chiffon evening gowns, shown in both green and yellow, equally sensational. Earlier in the day Larry Aldrich had injected a primitive note to the goings-on with his tiger-printed chiffon dance dress.

Response of the 235 visiting fashion editors attending the 34th National Press Week showings indicated that it pays a designer to go native now and then.

In addition to the jungle theme of the day's fashions, Elva Rosecrans, designer for Mrs. Rosenstein, introduced the "spoon skirt," the "shelf skirt" and a sensational white chiffon evening gown with solidly beaded bodice in a vivid field-flower motif. This latter costs about as much as a new car.

Other highlights of the Townley collection are screaming colors, such as a combination of neon pink and poison green in a group of dresses and costumes so brilliant that some editors reached for their sun glasses. These, says young Donald Brooks, the designer, are selling like hot cakes all over the country. He thinks maybe it's a revolt against the little black dresses.

Today's collections, like others of the week, achieve width at the top through many sleeve treatments, and show a greater variety of fabrics than has been seen in many years.

Town Hall Addressed by MEDICO Official

Dr. Comanduras Tells of World Suffering

By MARJORIE EICHER

Handsome Dr. Peter B. Comanduras, secretary-general of MEDICO, spoke with penetrating simplicity about the overseas projects of his organization. One sensed a fully rounded person who had sought the answer to the perpetual question, "What am I here for?" had found it through his work and was taking appropriate action.

Dr. John J. Marra, medical director of Pontiac General Hospital, introduced the poised man of 31 who set aside academic and professional attainments to dedicate himself to an unceasing war against disease in remote corners of the world. The two were acquainted early in their careers while engaged in clinical duty in Albany, N.Y.

Dr. Mara described the circumstances under which MEDICO was conceived. In 1955, while studying tropical disease in the Caribbean, Dr. Comanduras was struck by the contrast between our way of life and the state of perennial famine in countries less than three hours from our "full garbage cans overflowing with the waste of a rich society seeking perfection."

From these first-hand observations, the idea of sharing our medical well-being and abundance grew. MEDICO, which stands for Medical International Cooperation, was born.

Dr. Comanduras told of his experiences in the two years the organization has existed. He told of the work of such universal men as Dr. Albert Schweitzer, Dr. Gordon Seagrave and Dr. Thomas A. Dooley who transcend national boundaries and religious restrictions to make it possible for the two worlds to meet.

REDISCOVER INTIMACY

Dr. Comanduras says a doctor must rediscover the humane intimacy that can exist between doctors, nurses and patients. That he must indeed have this atmosphere to effectively carry out his age-old oath.

He believes that Dr. Schweitzer represents the peak of human effort, but went on to say that he found men like Dr. Schweitzer wherever he went.

DISTRESS EVERYWHERE

Wherever he went in his recent 20-nation tour of Africa and Asia, Dr. Comanduras found people crippled and dying prematurely of diseases that can be cured—diseases the western world has all but forgotten exist.

"Tuberculosis is the number one problem," he said. In close order, malnutrition, leprosy, smallpox and typhus follow. "While we explore outer space, half the world which never sees a doctor copes with the muck and mock of disease and degradation," he stated.

LONG LAG

He said there is a two-to-three-century lag between our world and the newly emergent countries of Asia and Africa. He stressed that Americans must come to a realization that these conditions exist. He believes that President Eisenhower for the first time came close to this awareness in his recent tour when he saw at first hand the poverty of Asia.

A dangerous limbo exists, for the people these archaic civilizations are sending to the cities for education, Dr. Comanduras says. They are caught between the fears they leave behind and the phantoms of a life they do not understand. This is termed by some experts a "revolution of rising expectations." The doctor believes this a euphemism—a substitute expression for the more realistic "revolution for the basic humanities of food, clothing and shelter."

For a magic moment a poignant silence seemed to envelop the auditorium when Dr. Comanduras said, "We who are responsible for producing this revolution of the common man have become afraid of it. These things are going to come. Will we meet this challenge, or sink in complacency, secure in our luxuries?"

★ ★ ★

MEDICO, a person-to-person program, is financed by individual contributions of people from all walks of life. The organization has been flooded with applications of doctors and nurses eager to perform this humanitarian work—many of them at their own expense.

Receiving no government or foundation grants, the organization supports 10 worldwide projects on an annual budget of $250,000. Last year it helped 280,000 people—little more than a dollar a person!

In addition to Dr. Dooley's work in Laos, Dr. Seagrave's efforts in mountainous Burma and Dr. Schweitzer's hospital in Africa, MEDICO supports a young Greek doctor in Cambodia who is doing work identical to Dr. Dooley's. It has sent chest surgeons to Saigon for work with the pulmonary diseases so prevalent there. They are supporting Dr. Theodore Binder's work in Peru with the primitive Indians.

DOCTOR SUPPORTED

The first African native to receive a medical degree in the United States, Dr. Njaroge, is supported in his work in Kenya by MEDICO. A much-needed psychiatric institute has been established in Haiti. A team of orthopedic surgeons has been sent to Jordan where such work had never before been attempted.

With steady, candid gaze, Dr. Comanduras summarized, "If every man could mend a man, the whole world would be mended."

Following his speech a celebrity luncheon was held at the Elks Temple. Mrs. Paul Kern, president of the Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall, presided with her usual charming dignity when questions from the audience were put to Dr. Comanduras.

Program chairman Mrs. Maxwell Shadley and her committee deserve the hearty congratulations of the community for bringing speakers of the caliber of Dr. Comanduras to the Pontiac area. Town Hall has stretched the cultural horizons of the community. Its profits have been plowed back into the enterprise, underwriting such extra treats as the forthcoming performance of "The Taming of the Shrew" by the Canadian Players of Stratford, Ontario.

A tantalizing glimpse of next year was revealed when Mrs. Kern announced three of the five scheduled guest speakers. They will include Dr. Carlos Romulo, Philippine ambassador to the United States; Harry Golden, newspaperman and author of the celebrated "For 2c Plain," and Maggie Daly, model and fashion commentator.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Robert Nienstedt, Mrs. Donald Seed, Mrs. Keith Leak, Mrs. Fred Voelker, Mrs. Earl Wright, Mrs. C. R. Gately, Mrs. R. T. Lyons, Mrs. Arthur Compton, Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer and Mrs. William P. Gregory.

Engaged to Be Wed

The forthcoming marriage of Julia Walenski of East Wilson avenue is announced by her parents, Adam Walenski of South Saginaw street, and Mrs. Mary Walenski of the East Wilson address.

Miss Walenski will wed Robert A. Frasier of Milford, son of Mrs. Irene Pollock of Dearborn and the late Al Frasier, on Feb. 6.

Stop With Others Not Necessary

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Quite often my husband and I and several other young couples go out dancing. After the dance, the others like to go somewhere to have something to eat. Neither my husband nor I like to eat late at night and the last few times we asked to be excused and went home after the dance.

I understand we are being called spoil sports by some of them for doing this. They seem to feel that as we are part of the group we should go with them even if we don't have anything to eat. What do you think?

Answer: If there was just one other couple and your refusal to go with them kept them from going, you might then be considered a spoil sport, but as there are several other couples, there is no necessity for you to join them.

Dear Mrs. Post: My wife and I will soon celebrate our 25th wedding anniversary. There will be an evening reception in one of the private rooms of the hotel. It will be an informal gathering of friends and relatives.

My wife is going to wear an afternoon dress. Would it be proper for me to wear my tuxedo. The only dark suit I have is rather shabby and my other suits are in the brown family. My daughter does not think it will be proper since my wife is not wearing an evening dress. Will you please advise me?

Answer: In the evening, it has always been, and still is, correct for a gentleman to show his respect for the lady he is with by wearing evening clothes, whether she does so or not.

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter was married recently and she received quite a few telegrams at the reception. After proposing the toast, the best man read the messages aloud and announced the names of the senders. I have been told that this was in very bad taste. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: While it's unusual, I would not go so far as to say it was in bad taste to have the messages read aloud.

Teens, Parents to Confer

High school and preparatory school girls and their parents have been invited to join all high school counselors and principals of southeastern Michigan in attending College Information Day at 2 p.m. Saturday. Sponsored by Detroit Committee for Seven Eastern Women's Colleges, the program will be held at the Women's City Club in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Alumnae of Barnard, Bryn Mawr, Mount Holyoke, Radcliffe, Smith, Vassar and Wellesley will be hostesses for the event.

★ ★ ★

Holmes G. Roberts, regional director of the College Entrance Examination Board, will be main speaker. The College Boards are one of the prerequisites for admission to these seven liberal arts colleges. A question and answer session will follow.

Committee members also have tickets available for their annual fund-raising project which this year features Vice President Richard M. Nixon speaking on world affairs at 10:30 a.m. Feb. 15 in Ford Auditorium. The program will be the only occasion during which Mr. Nixon's day in Detroit will be open to the general public.

Mrs. Nixon will be honored at a reception and luncheon following the event.

Mary Theresa Samson and Charles F. Bowler exchanged wedding vows Saturday in St. Benedict Church. The bride's parents are the C. A. Samsons of Atkinson avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Lee Bowler of Joslyn avenue and the late Mrs. Bowler.

Exchange Nuptial Vows in St. Benedict Church

Before an altar banked with white chrysanthemums and gladioli, Mary Theresa Samson exchanged nuptial vows with Charles F. Bowler, Saturday in St. Benedict Church. The Rev. Richard W. Thomas read the service in the presence of 200.

The C. A. Samsons of Atkinson avenue are parents of the bride. Her husband is the son of Leo Bowler of Joslyn avenue, and the late Mrs. Bowler.

* * *

Satin roses accented the white satin cummerbund of the bridal gown of French imported lace over satin. A jeweled tiara held the fingertip veil of illusion. Pale yellow roses centered the bride's cascade bouquet of white rosebuds and carnations.

* * *

In identical gowns of beige silk organdy with toast velveteen bodices were the bride's sister, Audry as honor maid, and Mrs. George Muto, bridesmaid. They held cascades of orange-tinted carnations.

* * *

Mrs. Samson appeared in beige silk chiffon with black accessories at the reception in the K. of C. Hall. Mrs. Bowler chose a pink sheath dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore pink rosebuds.

The couple will live in Pontiac.

Homework Lost in Shuffle

By EUGENE GILBERT

There are, at a calculated guess, 70 hours of spare time in the teen-ager's week.

And how does he, or she, spend it?

Most of the time is spent on the go — dating, visiting a friend's home or the neighborhood hangout, or taking part in some extra-curricular school activity.

A small amount is devoted to homework or other study. And when teen-agers stay home for the evening, their favorite pre-occupation is talking on the telephone.

Ninety-one per cent of the youngsters go out at least one night a week. Six per cent don't go out at all, while 3 per cent didn't answer.

* * *

Breaking it down, 29 per cent say they go out one night a week, 21 per cent two nights, 38 per cent three nights, and 3 per cent go out even more.

TOO HOME-BOUND?

If parents think their children go out too much, they won't find the children in agreement. Thirty-three per cent say they don't get out enough, while 62 per cent figure that the amount of time they spend away from home is about right.

* * *

With the boys, visiting the neighborhood hangout is the No. 1 diversion. After that the principal forms of recreation—in order of popularity—are these: attending a movie, riding around in a car or going to a sports event, taking part in a school activity.

The girls spend most of their time away from home visiting a friend's home. After that, it's the hangout, a movie, or an extra-curricular school affair.

Dating isn't as widespread as one might think. Nineteen per cent of the youngsters we questioned don't date. Forty-four per cent say they average one date a week, 21 per cent two dates, 12 per cent three dates, while only 2 per cent go over that.

Here again, the teen-agers feel they know what they're doing — 21 per cent say they don't date enough, while 78 per cent figure they are doing about right.

WOULD LIKE MORE

BONNIE JEAN ABBOTT

March 26 nuptials are planned by Bonnie Jean Abbott whose engagement to Jerome A. Wood is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Abbott of Clarkston. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Wood of Gingell court. The bride-elect was formerly employed at The Pontiac Press.

was the frank admission of a 14-year-old girl from Islip, N.Y. Equally frank Lee Scott, 20, of Oklahoma City, says, "I like to date, but I can't always get one."

And what do the youngsters do when they stay home?

With the girls, the favored diversion is talking on the phone. They also watch television, study, or listen to radio. Far down their list is reading, and just below it is family conversation.

The boys listen to the radio, talk on the phone, watch television, study, read, tinker with the car, and finally take part in family talk.

Three per cent say they don't do any homework. Six per cent spend one to three hours a week in preparation for classes; 37 per cent spent four to six hours, 41 per cent seven to 10 hours, and only 10 per cent spend more than 10 hours.

* * *

Eighty-six per cent say the time they spend on homework is sufficient.

"After I get home I like to relax," says Gary Stevens, 16, of Chicago, who spends 12 hours a week on study preparation. "Homework takes up too much time."

But Allan Schneider, 17, of Philadelphia, says the 18 hours he spends is "necessary to maintain a high standard of work." And Roy Donahue, 18, of St. Louis, Mo., who spends 10 hours says: "I like it. Since I can't get any help from the teacher, it presents a challenge."

The majority of the youngsters—56 per cent—say they don't spend their time at home wisely.

* * *

Insects on this globe have been in their present form at least 200 times as long as man, says Dr. John H. Lilly, of the University of Massachusetts department of entomology and plant pathology.

Marathon Booklet Will Help

Be Serious About Losing Weight

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Everything from a muscle to a brain atrophies and becomes weak unless it is exercised. WHAT ABOUT YOUR NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS? Are you keeping them alive with action?

New Year's Eve is such a magic time! We feel that we have a new chance—that another wonderful chunk of life has been given to us. Somehow the slate seems to have been wiped clean and we can start all over again, except to keep in our hearts those experiences which warm them.

BUT — hectic daily living gets us by the throat again and we are apt to lose the vision. Perhaps you resolved to lose weight or to indulge in those seemingly simple beauty routines which bring such lovely results.

FOR TWO REASONS

I write with understanding about overweight for two reasons. In the first place I am the kind of person who can just look at a cream puff and gain three pounds. It is a constant battle between me and the scales. Then, too, my experience in teaching and with "Why Grow Old?" mail has made me acutely aware of what the loss of overweight can mean to a woman.

* * *

Well, anyway, this week I am bringing you my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon. If you wish to accept the challenge of self-improvement, I am here to help. Not meaning to sprain my arm patting myself on the back, my advice worked for me!

WARNING!

Please heed these warnings! If you are dieting to lose weight, do not weigh yourself every day. This is discouraging and doesn't mean a thing. Weigh yourself once a week.

* * *

While we would like to blame it (the tight waist and the groaning seams) on the dry cleaners or our glands, this usually happens because we eat too much. A very very small percentage of overweights are that way because of a glandular difficulty.

* *

If you happen to be one of the few who do have a deficiency and you diet for several weeks faithfully and do not lose weight, then ask your doctor about a metabolism test.

* * *

If you would like to join tens of thousands of other women who are going to see how much more attractive looking they can be eight weeks from now, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

* * *

Tomorrow: "Questions concerning Marathon Answered."

If you're thinking about those New Year's resolutions, put them into action now. The Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon is a wonderful way to "make good" on your resolve to lose weight and to look more attractive in 1960.

Phyllis Jean Dupuis, daughter of the Marshall Graves of West Berkshire road, exchanged vows Saturday with Charles Frederick LaFrance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard LaFrance of North Francis street.

MRS. C. FREDERICK LaFRANCE

Phyllis Jean Dupuis Wed in Candlelight Ceremony

Candlelight nuptials of Phyllis Jean Dupuis and Charles Frederick LaFrance were solemnized by the Rev. William H. Marbach Saturday in First Presbyterian Church.

The princess-line bridal gown of white pure silk Dupioni, worn with elbow-length silk gauntlets, swept into a chapel train. Alencon lace, re-embroidered with pearls and iridescent sequins, outlined the lavalier neckline and fashioned the tiny cap which held the fingertip veil of silk illusion.

Hilliard E. LaFrance stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard LaFrance of North Francis street. Walter F. Deacon and the bride's brother, Kenneth, seated the guests.

At the church reception, Mrs. Graves appeared in beige lace over taffeta, brown and beige flowered hat and beige accessories. Her all-yellow corsage included roses and carnations. Mrs. LaFrance pinned pink roses and carnations to her dress of royal blue chiffon over taffeta, worn with white hat.

Time to Leave the Past Behind, Says Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I went with this man for three years and it was the real thing, but we had a big fight and before he cooled off he jumped into a marriage which he regretted right away.

ABBY

I am still single but I have no time for him because he is a married man now and has been for 6 years.

Every time his wife goes to a hospital to have another baby he calls me at work and sends me telegrams begging me to see him. He says he still loves me. To tell you the truth, I still have a soft spot in my heart for him. I know I shouldn't see him, but how can I get him out of my heart before I weaken?

STILL CARE

DEAR STILL: There is nothing you can do about a "soft spot in your heart." Just make sure it doesn't spread to your head. Try to get interested in someone else. Nothing kills an old romance quicker than a new one.

DEAR ABBY: I have this to say to the mother of the retarded child who wrote that her mother-in-law mistreated the boy.

I am the father of a 7-year-old retarded child. I have been working for two years, striving to get instruction and recreation for these retarded children. I hope I can continue to work for this cause for the rest of my life.

As for the husband, I'd put him out just as fast as I'd put his mother out. Since he has permitted this to happen, he has ceased to be a man, let alone a father. I pray this grandmother will right her ways, and that the father (?) becomes a man before his retarded son, Billy, beats him to it.

Don't withhold my name if you print my letter. I am proud that God has singled me out to care for one of His "exceptional" children.

Yours truly,
Ridgewood, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: I can sympathize with that woman who was taunted by her in-laws because she had no sons; only daughters.

We have five daughters. My husband's brother, whose only achievement in life has been to sire four sons, loves to throw it up to us. What sort of come-back can I offer?

MOTHER OF GIRLS

DEAR MOTHER: Quote this little rhyme: "Oh, my son's my son 'til he gets him a wife, But my daughter's a daughter all her life." (Dinah M. M. Craik)

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CAN'T WIN": To disagree without being disagreeable is an art. State your case — but watch your language.

Have you read Abby's new, best-selling book, "DEAR TEEN-AGER"?

Belts Feature Americana

(UPI)—Both afternoon dress and casual sport belts feature a panorama of early American decorations.

Glasses Should Match Brows

Maternity Belt Rite Nears in Japan

By CHARLES R. SMITH
United Press International

Crown Princess Michiko, the miller's daughter who broke 26 centuries of imperial tradition last year by marrying Crown Prince Akihito, will don the ceremonial maternity belt Jan. 23.

That's the propitious date the imperial household agency has selected for the maternity belt ceremony, signaling the start of ceremonies that will herald the expected birth of Japan's most celebrated child in a quarter century.

It's the Day of the Dog. Imperial household officials said they chose this date because Japanese traditionally believe that when the maternity belt ceremony is performed on Dog's Day the expectant mother will have an easy delivery. Dog's Japanese believe, have easy delivery in birth.

* * *

Although this month's maternity belt ceremony will be just that—A ceremony—the belt serves a very practical purpose. It is worn to prevent the fetus from growing too large, to hold the unborn child in a proper position and it also helps keep the mother warm.

Michiko donned the "practical" maternity belt without much ado last Nov. 7 when her chief lady-in-waiting went to the Imperial Palace, got the belt and gave it to the princess.

This time, however, it will be a little different.

One of the male members of the imperial family, unknown as yet, will pick up the huge (about 1½ feet long and 1.3 feet wide) white silk belt at the Imperial Palace and deliver it to the princess at the couple's Tokiwamatsu Palace, located in another section of Tokyo. Her ladies-in-waiting will help her put it on in a slightly more elaborate ceremony.

It has been so long since the imperial household has had a maternity belt ceremony—about 20 years—that an official said he was not certain what the exact procedure would be this time.

"It's not a really hard and fast set ceremony like the wedding was," he explained.

There's nothing special about the belt either. It is just a regular belt like any expectant mother might purchase at one of Tokyo's department stores. It should be. That's where it's likely to come from, a household official said.

Within the moated walls of the sprawling Imperial Palace, plenty of other preparations are under way for the expected March 2 birth of the child who could one day be emperor of Japan.

There had been some talk last year that the 25-year-old girl, who became the first commoner to break into the world's oldest ruling dynasty, would give birth to her child at a regular hospital. But the house officials decided that she should stay in the agency hospital to avoid all the furor that is expected.

Newlyweds Live in Norfolk After Miami Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Clifford Price of Miami are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert M. Dexter of Eason road, Watkins Lake.

Traveling to Miami for the wedding with the Dexters were their son Gary and grandparents Mrs. Estelle Dexter and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Orr, and an aunt, Maxine Orr, all of Pontiac.

Neckline? . . . Waistline? Italians Are Undecided

By SHEILA WALSH

ROME (UPI) — Six Italian fashion designers present their spring-summer collections today with different ideas about plunging necklines and the whereabouts of the waistline.

* * *

The designing team of Mingolini-Guggenheim is thinking pink for the coming season. They concentrated on shades from deep rose to pale blush pink.

MEN'S DESIGNER BOWS IN

* * *

Faraoni presents a collection that accents lavish skirts and a swirl of sack interest. Marlen prefers slim, ¾ tunics and overskirts effects.

Italy's biannual fashion shows runs through Saturday in Rome. Designers and buyers then move to Florence for five days of showings.

CONTEST FOR TITLE

Rome and Florence contest for the title of Italy's fashion capital, so the industry splits showings down the middle—half in Rome and half in Florence.

Tokyo has twice been reduced to rubble in the 20th century, first by the earthquake of 1923, later by Allied bombers of World War II.

Cowboy for President?

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Elton Britt, a guitar-playing TV cowboy singer, Wednesday entered New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary and said he will tour the state with a ten-piece hillbilly band.

He will oppose Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), who had been expected to run without opposition.

"Well, we're sure to have plenty of songs and music," Boutin said. "Perhaps the gentleman will withdraw when the publicity dies down."

The required 100 signatures of New Hampshire citizens to put Britt's name on the ballot were delivered to the secretary of state's office by Arnold Weisner of Elmira, N.Y., and Aubrey Mayhugh of New York City, representing Britt.

He said the cowboy singer became enthusiastic about his presidential aspirations after Jimmie Davis recently won the governorship of Louisiana with his guitar as a center of attraction.

In a prepared statement issued by Weisner, Britt was quoted as saying his campaign is based on "the farm issue, revised taxes and a completely new foreign policy."

Hayhow to Step Down as State Press Head

EAST LANSING (AP)—Editors and publishers of Michigan's 56 daily and more than 300 weekly newspapers will meet Jan. 29-30 at Michigan State University for the annual convention of the Michigan Press Assn. (MPA).

Elmer E. White, MPA secretary-manager, said advance registrations indicate an attendance of more than 600 newspapermen and their wives.

Featured speakers will be two syndicated columnists — Sylvia Porter, specialist in business trends and finance, and Earl Wilson Broadway and cafe society columnist.

A president will be elected to succeed E. C. (Ted) Hayhow, publisher of the Hillsdale Daily News and former city editor of The Pontiac Press. A nominating committee has recommended First Vice President Jack C. Sinclair of the Hartford Day Spring.

Scientists Convert Heat to Aid Tiny Light Bulbs

The conversion was done in experiments by scientists at the General Atomic Division of the General Dynamics Corp. at its John Jay Hopkins Laboratory for pure and applied science in San Diego, California.

The alternating current produced was in the high range of 100 kilocycles normally used for radio transmissions. However, the scientists expect no difficulty in reducing the frequency to the level providing by most utilities for home and industrial use.

* * *

The company called the conversion "the first successful conversion of heat directly in alternating current in significant amounts."

Previously, direct current had been produced from experimental electrodynamic devices in laboratories. Alternating current is preferred for household appliances and most industrial uses.

Dr. Frederick de Hoffman, General Atomic Division President predicted that direct conversion equipment may replace steam boilers, turbines and generators in power plants. But, he said, a great deal of research and development must be done before the experiment can have large-scale commercial application.

Army to Negotiate on Saturn Stages

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army Ballistic Missile Agency, at Huntsville, Ala. has been asked to start negotiations with industry within a month for new type upper stages for the Saturn space vehicle.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Wednesday it and the Defense Department had asked ABMA to start the dealings with manufacturers.

* * *

The new upper stages will use cryogenic propellants—propellants which have to be kept extremely cold.

Original plans were for the upper stages of the Saturn to be Titan and Centaur rockets.

* * *

NASA said the initial Saturn vehicle will consist of two or three stages depending on specific missions.

The project contemplates that the Saturn will be capable of landing a 1500-pound payload on the moon, placing an 800-pound satellite in orbit around the moon, placing a 900-pound satellite in orbit around Venus, and landing a 400-pound payload on Venus.

The Irish Free State was set up in 1922.

Casseroles Please Hearty Eaters

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

There's something about cold weather that makes casserole dishes particularly inviting. We eat more hearty foods in the winter and casseroles are that.

Dreaming up a new casserole is not difficult. You usually have three main ingredients: some form of starch such as potatoes, rice or any of the pastas; meat, fish, eggs or cheese; and a vegetable or a sauce, sometimes both.

Color in casseroles is important. Even macaroni and cheese has color—the rich gold of the cheese, brown on top and lighter underneath. Sometimes a sprinkling of paprika will do the trick. Sometimes a few sprigs of parsley for garnish add the necessary color.

Think of your casserole in connection with the rest of your meal. Don't repeat flavors. If you have a tomato sauce in the casserole, avoid tomatoes in the salad. Instead, plan a tossed green salad or a fruit salad.

If the casserole is made with all soft foods, be sure to serve bread sticks, crunchy hard rolls or celery and carrot sticks for contrast.

If there is a cream sauce in the casserole, don't plan on a creamy dessert too — unless you're on a bland or ulcer diet.

This first recipe is for a brand new casserole. It comes from the lemon people in California. I wish it could be shown in color. After what was said above about casseroles having some form of starch in them, here is one minus the starch.

Tuna Continental

1 (10-ounce) package frozen broccoli spears
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
2 cans (6½ ounces each) tuna, drained
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
½ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
Paprika

Cook broccoli spears according to package directions. Meanwhile make a medium white sauce by melting butter in saucepan; blend in flour and salt. Gradually stir in milk and continue stirring until sauce is thickened. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice. (If canned white sauce is used, heat until smooth and thick and then add lemon juice.)

Arrange cooked, drained broccoli in individual casseroles or one large one. Season with remaining lemon juice. Cover with tuna; spoon over sauce; sprinkle liberally with grated cheese, lemon peel and paprika.

Bake in moderately hot oven (375) until cheese melts and dish is heated through. Makes 4 servings.

* * *

Toasted sesame seeds add a nice crunchiness to wide noodles for this next casserole. Even if you use sirloin steak, you can serve six people for a reasonable price. Many hostesses serve Beef Stroganoff which has sour cream in it. You introduce a new beef dish with sour cream.

Beef Paprika Julienne

1½ pounds sirloin or round steak, ½-inch thick
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 large onions, sliced
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1 can (4 oz) sliced mushrooms
½ cup tomato juice
½ pint commercial sour cream
2 tablespoons paprika
Parsley flakes

Trim meat of bone, fat and gristle. Cut meat across grain into thin julienne strips, about 2 inches long. Place strips in bowl; add mustard and mix well. Refrigerate several hours or overnight.

Melt butter in heavy skillet. Add onions and cook over low heat until soft. Remove onions; add meat to skillet and cook over low heat until browned. (There will be some juice at first but this will cook away). Keep turning meat and scraping up mustard with a spatula. Add Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper, liquid drained from mushrooms, and tomato juice.

Cover and simmer 35 minutes or until meat is tender. Add cooked onions, mushrooms, sour cream, and paprika; simmer 10 minutes. Do not boil. Serve over Seasame Noodles. Top with generous sprinkling of parsley flakes. Yield: 6 servings.

Seasame Noodles

½ cup sesame seeds
8 ounces (about 3½ cups uncooked) wide noodles
¼ cup butter or margarine

Place sesame seeds in shallow pan; toast in moderate oven (350 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes or until golden brown. Cook noodles in boiling, salted water; drain. Toss with sesame seeds and butter. Yield: 6 servings.

Puritan Gal Started Pork 'n' Beans Idea

Legend has it that pork and beans first met when some Puritan gal found a pleasant way to comply with the rule that there should be no cooking on the Sabbath. Her inspiration was to cook up a big batch of beans on Saturday, to be eaten Saturday evening and kept warm for use at any time on Sunday. Adding a piece of salt pork improved the flavor.

Baked beans with salt pork is a traditional Saturday evening meal in New England. Here in the Middle West, we're not so particular about when to serve them, just so it's often enough.

Almost every experienced cook has her favorite way of preparing baked beans. Some use molasses, some use catsup, some put in a bit of ginger, and so on. And there are differences of opinion as to the best type of pork to use: salt pork, ham, bacon, smoked shoulder, etc. Your favorite way probably is the best way to prepare baked beans and pork.

Some cooks like to marinate cooked vegtables — carrots, snap beans, broccoli — and then add them to a bowl of crisp greens for an interesting salad.

SOUR CREAM INSIDE — Mix sour cream and chives with baked potatoes and put back in the oven to heat again. A new ready mixed sour cream-chive dressing can be used or mix your own.

Chive Cream Goes in Spuds

Potatoes are in large supply now . . . so it's time to use them lots. Wintertime's eventime, too, so baked potatoes fall right in line.

Sour cream has grown to be a favorite on baked potatoes. Add the chives and cheese and your family's sure to say, "Pass the potatoes, please," again and again.

Sour cream with the chopped chives already mixed in is available in some markets. It's a new convenience food.

CHIV-O STUFFED BAKED POTATOES

4 large baking potatoes
¼ cup butter
½ cup Chiv-O Sour Cream Dressing or ½ cup cultured sour cream with 1½ teaspoons chopped chives
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon salt
Dash white pepper
½ teaspoon Monosodium Glutamate
½ cup grated American cheddar cheese
Paprika

Clean and bake potatoes about 1 hour (400 degrees). When done, cut thin lengthwise slice from tops. Scoop out inside into mixing bowl, mash well with fork. Beat in butter, Chiv-O Sour Cream, mayonnaise, salt, pepper, and Monsoodium Glutamate.

Pile mixture into potato shells, do not smooth tops. Sprinkle with grated cheese and paprika. Bake in hot oven, 450 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes or until cheese topping melts and potatoes are piping hot. Makes 4 servings.

Sweet Almonds Put Crunch in Casserole

The almond ranches of California produces both sweet and bitter almonds. All almonds fall into the bitter or sweet category. The bitter almonds yield a fragrant and volatile oil which is used in making almond paste for candies, macaroons, and other bakery products. Sweet almonds, as their name implies, are sweet to the taste and highly desirable for munching "as is."

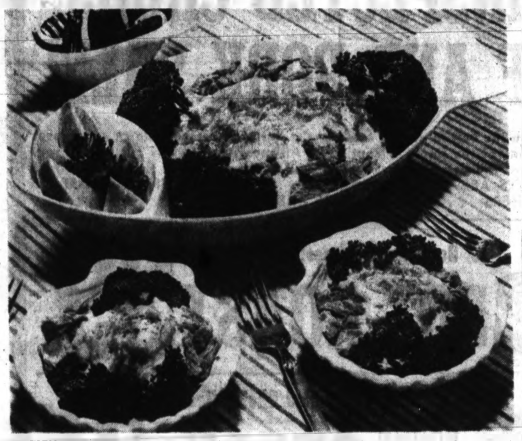

Next time you make your favorite macaroni and cheese casserole, try adding some whole almonds or almond slivers. The nuts lend interesting taste and texture that your family will surely enjoy.

Another way of introducing almonds to this popular casserole dish is to combine buttered bread crumbs with diced almonds, using equal parts of each, and generously sprinkling the almond crumbs over the casserole before baking.

Spike With Cinnamon

Timed for a teen's quick breakfast is chocolate cinnamon toast. Top hot toast slices with a spread made from equal parts softened butter and instant cocoa mix, blended with a little milk and spiked with cinnamon.

Ever serve sliced bananas as an accompaniment to chicken curry?

Good Bargains Found in Eggs, Also on Produce Items

PORK: After steady price increases due to the effects of reduced holiday slaughter, by the end of the week larger-than-expected receipts were available and prices are generally low again. Loins are the only item in scarcity. Pork butts and steaks, fresh roll and link sausage, bacon, hams, frankfurters, bologna and liver sausage are bargains in many markets.

LAMB: Lambs also made steady going last week and wholesale prices still remain at a near-two month high. However, this is not effected in retails for again this week there are a number of outstanding features on leg and shoulder roasts, all chops, breasts and all wholesale cuts for freezer storage.

This is a fine time to take advantage of near-cost prices to stock your freezer with your favorite cuts. Quality is excellent and the cuts provide maximum edible meat per pound.

With minor fluctuations the price of fryers has remained at the same general levels of a week ago. Most prices fall between 39-49 cents a pound with very few lower features available.

FISH: Whitefish and trout from Northwest Canada continue to arrive in plentiful supply. Fresh ocean fish — halibut and cod — are also ample, and there are some ice-taught smelt available along with the frozen lake perch. Recent storms on the seaboard may affect supplies and prices. Medium sizes of shrimp are still economical.

Same prices of large Grade A eggs are even lower than they were a week ago and they are exceptional values for this time of the year. Oleomargarine, cottage cheese and a variety of yellow cheeses are being featured for lower prices this week at the dairy counters.

Retail prices of avocados are down to record low levels this week. The California crop is the largest in history this year — considerably above a year ago — and Florida's output is double that of last season. Oranges are also plentiful. Medium sizes of Navel oranges and Florida juice oranges are about the same as a week ago.

The Florida Temple crop is considerably above last year, sizes are running larger and prices are considerably lower. The Temple orange is one of the best all-purpose oranges — it peels and sections easily and it is also good for juicing.

Michigan apples continue to be in good supply and economical in price — particularly, the McIntosh and Delicious varieties. Although there are still many budget prices available on bananas, imports are somewhat lighter due to some over-ripe shipments. Winter pears continue to be moderate in price from a crop about the same as a year ago.

VEGETABLES: Increased shipments from several states have brought the prices of carrots down to lower levels. Rutabagas, parsnips and turnips are also low in cost per serving. Michigan onions continue to be in good supply and more arrivals of cabbage have decreased prices.

The quality of spinach has improved considerably and heavier shipments are arriving from several states. Lower prices are available in almost all markets. The volume of broccoli is fairly heavy but quality is variable due to adverse weather in the growing areas.

Supplies of vine ripened tomatoes are considerably increased and retailers report excellent quality. Prices have dropped to a point where they are a much better value than the repacked stocks.

Although there is more Florida celery in the markets in improved quality and lower prices, California supplies are lighter and higher in price. As expected last week, all potatoes have increased fractionally in the pattern of those from Idaho. Michigan potatoes are the most economical buy. Head lettuce has taken a drastic jump in price due to the cold weather in California which retarded growth and caused light yields.

EXOTIC DESSERT — When the winter winds howl, it's a nice idea to make a dessert that suggests a sunnier clime. Along with cups of fragrant coffee, this exotic Tropical Coffee Jelly takes you straight to an imaginary south sea island!

Exotic Dessert and Coffee Bring Sunshine to Table

In the midst of winter, it's sometimes fun to make a dessert that hints of swaying palms and tropic shores. Here's one that should certainly create the proper illusion, whether you serve it in a northern, fire-lit dining room or on a Palm Beach patio! It's Tropical Coffee Jell, an exotically delicious confection to serve with fragrant coffee.

Tropical Coffee Jelly is a beautiful, shimmering gelatin mold that derives its marvelous flavor from coffee, spices, candied ginger and nutmeats. The dark gelatin is topped with a mixture of sliced bananas and flaky coconut, then served with a side dish of sour cream. Indeed the first delectable mouthful is the very essence of southern sunshine!

But, to complete your culinary illusion, you need still another tropical favorite . . . hot coffee. It should be freshly brewed and full bodied, just the way you'd have it south of the border.

Tropical Coffee Jelly

4 cups strong, hot coffee
2 whole cloves
2-inch stick cinnamon
4 allspice berries
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
½ cup sugar
½ cup chopped nutmeats
3 tablespoons minced candied ginger
2 bananas, sliced
½ cup flaked coconut
Dairy sour cream

Combine coffee and spices in saucepan. Simmer 10 minutes and strain. Soften gelatine in cold water and dissolve with sugar in hot spiced coffee. Chill until syrupy. Fold in nuts and ginger. Spoon into 5-cup ring mold. Chill until set.

Unmold on serving plate. Fill center with sliced bananas and coconut. Serve dairy sour cream separately. Makes 6 servings.

Cereal Changes Meat Balls

Bran flakes or raisin bran flakes and applesauce are combined with the perennial favorite — ground beef — then topped with mushrooms and tomato soup to make meat balls that are pleasantly different. Different in texture and flavor, but not so unusual that the family will not like them.

* * *

Try this recipe for Bran Flake Meat Balls the next time you ask yourself "What can I serve tonight that will be different?" Why not start your menu with apple-grape juice? Instant mashed potatoes, instant rice, or noodles go well with the meat balls. Add a tossed salad with orange or grapefruit sections, and top it off with your favorite dessert.

Presto, your dinner menu is planned.

Bran Flake Meat Balls

2 pounds ground beef
2½ cups bran or raisin bran flakes
½ cup chopped onion
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons parsley flakes
1 egg, beaten
1 cup thick applesauce
1 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained
½ cup liquid (mushroom liquor plus water)
1 10½-ounce can condensed tomato soup
1 bay leaf

Combine beef, bran or raisin bran flakes, onion, salt, pepper, paprika, parsley flakes, egg, and applesauce and mix well. Shape into 32 balls, about 1¾ inches in diameter.

* * *

Arrange in a shallow 2-quart (11"x7"x1½ inches) baking dish. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over meat balls. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until thoroughly cooked, about 45 minutes. Yield: 8 servings.

Frosty Glasses

Glamorize orange juice served to small fry. Chill juice glasses, then dip rims in orange juice. Give rims a final dip in sugar and place in freezer compartment of refrigerator to set and frost.

Roast Chicken in Rosy Foil

When the occasion calls for a different and very lovely piece de resistance for a party occasion, try serving chicken this exciting new way. Breast of chicken is used . . . not expensive these days . . . combined with a delicious stuffing and all cooked in the new colored aluminum foil. Red this time, to enhance the natural golden color of the chicken. Serve it at the table beautifully, with the red foil turned back and sprigged all around with parsley.

Petite Chicken Roasts, Moderne

6 chicken breasts, boned
¼ pound butter or margarine
Salt and pepper
Marjoram
Tarragon
2 cups cooked rice
1 small onion, finely minced
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
1 cup blanched, slivered almonds
2 tablespoons diced pimento
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Rinse the chicken breasts and pat dry with paper towel. Season with salt, pepper and very light sprinkling of herbs. Put to one side and prepare dressing as follows: sauté the almonds in 3 tablespoons of butter until very light brown. Remove; add more butter and sauté the onion and mushrooms lightly. Combine rice with almonds, onions, and mushrooms; add pimento and seasonings.

Tear off 6 15-inch strips of red foil. Heap spoonfuls of stuffing in center of each. Lightly sauté chicken in remaining butter and place on top of stuffing. Rinse skillet with wine or cream and pour over chicken. Bring foil up and overlap over each chicken breast. Seal open edges with double fold, turning up to hold in juice.

Place packages on shallow pan and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Serve each Petite Chicken package on a contrasting color plate; open and turn back the rosy foil and flute edges to make an attractive server.

Herb Flavored Consomme

A can of condensed consomme combined with a can of water and a dash of tarragon or basil makes a perfect after skating drink. It will warm the weary skaters right down to their toes. This is a good beverage for the skaters to take in a vacuum bottle, too.

SHREDDED LETTUCE SALAD — Combine crackly-crisp shredded lettuce, plump shrimp and celery to make a satisfying salad for lunch or supper. Weight watchers can eat it with a clear conscience.

Lettuce Shrimp Salad Good in Looks and Taste

The American salad bowl gets bigger every year! Do you know that today we're all eating twice as much lettuce as we did in the 20s and 30s? At that time tomatoes were just a nick ahead of lettuce; now the lettuce crop has grown to such acreage that it is by far the biggest of all fresh vegetables—always excepting the mighty potato.

* * *

This lettuce-appetite of ours may have a half dozen explanations: American homemakers have learned to make better and better salads and dressings. Weight-watchers have discovered that a whole pound of lettuce adds up to no more than a dainty 57 calories! Growers and distributors have found new ways to speed diner lettuce to your dinner table.

When selecting lettuces for your green salad you may want to combine one or more of the five types. The big seller—the large, firm Crisphead, also called Iceberg by the trade—can be found at the smallest grocery store. Butterhead, with a soft "buttery" tenderness, is grown in the East, a favorite with many salad chefs.

* * *

Cos or Romaine is a sweet, crackly-crisp, long-leaved and loose-headed lettuce. It's a sort of cross between head lettuce and the fifth variety, leaf or bunching lettuce.

* * *

All these types are good eating and belong on every menu because their flavor, color and texture contrast appetizingly with so many other foods. Although the caloric value of lettuce is low, it's packed with minerals and vitamins.

Shredded Lettuce and Shrimp Salad

1 head (4 cups) shredded lettuce
1 cup diced celery
½ cup diced green pepper
1 cup deveined cooked shrimp
¼ cup chopped fresh parsley
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
½ cup mayonnaise
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
Radish roses for garnish

* * *

Combine lettuce, celery, green pepper, shrimp and parsley. Mix lemon juice, mayonnaise, salt and black pepper. Add and toss lightly. Garnish with radish roses. Serve at once with mayonnaise, if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

Corned Beef Hash Pie

If you're a fancier of nippy catsup and hearty lima beans, try this corned beef hash pie. Mix the contents of a can of hash with some catsup and a slightly beaten egg. Press mixture into a greased pie pan and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Cook a package of frozen lima beans until tender and spoon on top of hash. Top with shredded cheese and return to oven to melt cheese.

Snip Prunes Into Dough

Next time you are whisking up a batch of biscuits, add some chopped prunes (cut from pit with scissors). Add them before the liquid, and proceed as usual. Then serve the biscuits hot out of the oven, with butter. Wonderful with salads. Nice, too, with broiled sausages and green beans for an easy holiday season supper.

Tutti Fruitti Cake

Delicious! It's Tutti Frutti Topping on cake for dessert. Prepare a package of vanilla pudding according to package directions, using pineapple juice as the liquid; cool. Fold in sliced bananas and maraschino cherries; chill. Serve over squares of plain cake.

Hide Browned Onions in Hamburger Patties

The next time the youngsters say "let's have hamburgers" try making these Onion 'Burgers. They have all the trimmings that children so often want on a hamburger, the only difference being that these trimmings are tucked inside so they offer somewhat of a surprise and also make for easy serving and eating. Adults love them too because the flavor is especially good.

* * *

The wise homemaker always keeps a supply of ground beef on hand to be able to meet the demands of the family. Ground beef should be used within 2 to 3 days after purchase and the market wrappings should be removed before storing it in the coldest part of the refrigerator, or the part designed for meat storage.

However, ground meat can be frozen and stored up to 3 to 4 months so it is possible to have a supply on hand at all times. When meat is stored frozen, it should be kept at a temperature of 0 degrees F. or lower after having been wrapped in material that is designed for freezer storage, such as a moisture-vapor proof wrap.

* * *

To make the Onion 'Burgers combine 1½ pounds ground beef, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Shape into 12 thin patties. Brown 1½ cups chopped onion in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; add 2 teaspoons prepared horseradish 2 teaspoons prepared mustard and ½ teaspoon salt.

* * *

Spread the onion mixture over 6 beef patties, top each with a patty and press together. Chill. Place patties on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan allowing 2 inches between heat and surface of meat. Broil patties on one side until brown, 8 to 10 minutes. Turn and brown on second side. Serve on buns, if desired. 6 servings.

Comfort Curry Satisfies Sharpened Appetites

After a turn outdoors this time of year, nothing is more welcome to stimulated appetites than a hearty dish and beverage to match. Just such a "hot" dish for a nippy night is curry.

Almost any curry will fill the bill, but here's something unusual . . . a chicken-shrimp combination, whose sauce is made with beer.

Chicken-Shrimp "Comfort Curry"

2 small fryers-broilers, cut up
1 cup water
1½ cups beer
Salt and pepper to taste
2 large onions, chopped
2 tart apples, chopped
1½ pound shrimp, cooked and cleaned
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 tablespoons curry powder (or more to taste)
Few drops garlic juice
Pinch ground ginger
1 cup butter
2-3 tablespoons chutney, chopped

Separate the chicken pieces and put the necks, giblets, backs and wing tips in a saucepan with water and beer; if necessary add more water to cover; season to taste with salt and pepper. Cover and simmer an hour or more to make a good broth.

Saute onions and apples in hot olive oil until soft; stir in curry, garlic juice and ginger. Add 1 cup of the chicken-beer broth and simmer for 25-30 minutes.

Brown the meaty chicken pieces in hot butter; add remaining chicken broth, cover and simmer until tender. When chicken is tender add the curry mixture and stir gently to mix. Stir in chopped chutney and whole or cut-up cooked shrimp. Simmer for 10-15 minutes.

If sauce is too thick, stir in a little beer, water or broth to get desired consistency. If sauce is not thick enough, stir in very small amounts of blended flour and beer paste to attain desired degree of thickness. Taste and add additional seasoning.

Serve with freshly cooked hot rice, and a tray of condiments. Makes 4-6 servings.

Salt Your Pineapple

To improve flavor and texture of fresh pineapple, cover the whole fruit with a saturated salt and ice water solution, let stand two hours, then drain and prepare as desired.

Treat Liver With Care

Store liver in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Unwrap its original packaging, then re-wrap it loosely in a moisture-proof paper or foil before storing.

Chicken, Corn Are Souper Duo

Remember the versatile chicken, and your meals won't suffer under the strain of a tight family budget. Holiday bills have to be paid, it's true. But the family must eat hearty, nutritious meals these cold winter days. Chicken offers one of the most economical, best ways to feed the family well on a slim budget.

Our Chicken Corn Soup dates from the early days of the Pennsylvania Dutch cooks in York County, Pennsylvania. In early times it was doubtless the destiny of a lazy hen to provide the base for such a soup. Now we use a tender, succulent broiler-fryer size chicken for this tasty dish. And cut the cooking time way down.

Chicken Corn Soup

1 broiler-fryer, 2½ to 4 lbs., ready-to-cook, cut up
1 cup finely chopped celery
1 cup finely chopped onion
Seasoning
6 eggs, hard-cooked, finely chopped
2 cups (No. 303 can) whole kernel corn
½ cup cream or evaporated milk
Parsley for garnish

Simmer chicken in 4 cups water with the celery, onion and seasoning until fork-tender, 35 to 45 minutes. Remove chicken from broth and cut meat in small pieces, removing skin and bones. Return chicken to broth, and add corn and eggs. Heat to serving temperature. Add the cream or evaporated milk just before serving. Garnish with parsley. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Raisin Legend Is Fanciful

Here is a story about how raisins got their name. Nobody asks you to accept it as Gospel truth, because it happened something like 24 centuries ago. The U.S. Department of Agriculture passes it along simply as an interesting legend.

Supposedly it happened in Egypt. There had been a big crop of grapes that year, about the year 400 B. C. So many grapes it wasn't possible to harvest all of them.

Some brave soul pulled off a dried grape, at it, and discovered it was sweet, very sweet, and delicious. Others tried the dried grapes and were impressed.

"It's a miracle", they said, "but there must be a reason." People kept repeating the phrase, and somehow it got changed to "It's a miracle, but there must be a RAISIN."

Maybe it happened that way, with "reason" changed to "raisin." Whether that is the true beginning of the name or not, it is true that raisins have been produced in the United States for about 80 years, and it's also true that this year's crop is the biggest ever. It amounts to about two and a half pounds of raisins for each person in the United States.

If you'd like to use your family's share of raisins to make the family's mouth water, use some of the raisins with sweet potatoes. Make the raisins plump by soaking them in water. Cook sweet potatoes and mash them. Just before serving, mix the plump raisins with the mashed sweet potatoes.

Sweet Buttered Beets

Different in Flavor are Sweet Buttered Beets. Combine ¼ cup liquid drained from canned sliced beets, sliced beets and sliced sweet gherkins. Season to taste with celery seed; heat. Add butter; mix well.

Celery Is Ancient

NORWALK, Conn. (UPI) — Celery as we know it today was developed from a wild bitter herb which grew in the salt marshes of Europe and Asia. It wasn't until the ancient Greeks and Romans blanched bunches of wild celery that it was used as a flavoring. The Italians brought it up to date as a separate food when the flavor grew milder through improved cultivation.

All you have to do to eggplant before deep-fat frying it, is to dip in egg seasoned flour.

If You Like Prunes

Ice-cold milk and prune juice make a delightful combination. try varying the amount of prune juice you add to the milk until you hit just the flavor you like best.

A Creed With 'Way of Life'

Many Believe Only in Humanism

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

In any catalog of the faiths by which Americans live, a prominent place must be given to a creed which is centered on man rather than God.

It is called humanism. Its basic tenets are consciously or unconsciously accepted as a guide to life by a great many millions of Americans, including some who are wont to describe themselves as Christians or Jews.

Sir Julian Huxley, one of the leading exponents of humanism, has described it as a "religion without revelation."

Humanism is properly termed a religion, he believes, because it offers its adherents something bigger than themselves to live for and by. But in humanism this something bigger—the object of supreme devotion or worship—is not God. It is man with a capital M.

Humanists do not necessarily deny the existence of God. Many of them subscribe to the concept of an impersonal deity, usually designated by such titles as "first cause" or "life force of the universe."

* * *

But the true humanist does not presume to know much about this Supreme Being. He rejects supernatural revelation and therefore rejects all of the teachings about the nature and purposes of God which Jews believe to have been revealed in their history and moral laws, and which Christians believe to have been supremely manifested in the life and person of Jesus Christ.

MAN ON HIS OWN

The humanist believes that man is on his own, and that God, if he exists, is indifferent toward humanity's agonies, aspirations and ambitions.

The Christian or Jew who subscribes to a God-centered view of man's destiny might feel that the humanist creed deprives life of its ultimate meaning. The humanist would reply that man can create meaning for his life by diligently pursuing two goals.

These goals are (1) self development—the achievement of one's maximum potential as a civilized person; and (2) progress toward a perfect human society.

Science and education are the paths by which the humanist expects these goals to be attained. Nothing is more characteristic of humanism than its faith in the power of science to free man from all of the limitations which now beset his existence, and in the power of education to provide men with high ideals, pure motivations and self-discipline.

* * *

For more than 200 years there have been many sincere humanists who tried conscientiously to live by all of the implications of this creed.

Among them have been men and women of the highest moral integrity, whose unselfish dedication to the service of humanity should command the respect of all religious people.

There are still such humanists. But their number seems to be dwindling. The brutalities unleashed before and during World War II, the still-uncontrolled peril of nuclear energy, and other harsh facts of modern history have made it very difficult for men of good will to continue believing in human perfectibility.

More Automation, More Population!

New Jobs Needed for Michigan

[illegible] is a native Michigan, and is written by August (Gus) Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, gives his views on what the labor for the coming years. He points out that Michigan is not alone in having economic woes, but urges ways of easing them.

By GUS SCHOLLE
President, Michigan AFL-CIO

DETROIT (AP) — To keep up with Michigan's anticipated huge population growth in the next 10 years, approximately 1,400,000 new jobs will be needed.

Also during the next decade more and more Michigan plants will become obsolete, shut their doors, and turn out their employes to scramble for other jobs.

And the more modern plants will step up their automated processes, further increasing productivity per worker and industry, reducing the work force needed per unit of production.

This is the problem that the '60s pose for Michigan. How it is approached and met will spell the difference between economic chaos and unprecedented prosperity.

The problem is not insurmountable. If it is thoroughly understood and tackled with vision imagination and responsibility then Michigan can become a work—as well as a play—wonderland.

* * *

The state has been plagued with a chronic unemployment problem which at its outset was dramatized by the closing of the Packard and Hudson plants in Detroit.

These closings were symptomatic of industrial old age. It was not a so-called "bad business climate" that suffocated these and other manufacturing establishments. It was an inability to read the electronic handwriting on the wall.

Elimination of jobs through obsolescence of plants, plus decentralization of the state's heavy industries, contributed only partially to the unemployment problem. Joblessness here was accelerated by a national recession with national causes and effects.

As Michigan's jobs shrank, Michigan population expanded. During recent years we have had a net in-migration from other states that has been exceeded only in California and Florida. Our birth rate is going up too.

A study by Michigan State University indicates that the state's population will be more than 10 million by 1970—an increase of two-thirds of the 1900 census figure. This growth will add 1,400,000 people to the labor market.

At the same time modern production techniques and automated machinery will be constantly increasing the productivity of workers. More and more jobs existing today will be eliminated tomorrow.

The answer then is new jobs—enough new jobs to meet the needs of an expanding population. And the new jobs can be created only through an increase in minimum purchasing power—purchasing power to fill the vast unmet needs of the consumer.

PROBLEM FOR ALL

This is a solution which Michigan cannot provide alone. Michigan can cope with economic problems only within the framework of the national economy; it is impossible for one state to enjoy prosperity while others are retrogressing economically.

The Republican National Committee has predicted that by 1975 America will reach a gross National Product of 900 billion dollars. But obviously this figure cannot be achieved unless there is a constant continuing increase in the purchasing power of working men and women.

A survey conducted last spring by McGraw Hill illustrates the industrial dilemma. It shows that manufacturing plants were operating at only 77 per cent of capacity in 1958 as compared with 100 per cent in 1953.

In 1959 our Gross National Product came to 477 billion dollars with a ratio per employed person of $7,105. If we are to maintain this ratio of purchasing power at 1958 price levels annual income per worker will have to reach $10,200 if the prediction of a 900-billion-dollar economy is to be realized.

The organized labor movement, in acute awareness of this problem, must exercise both its economic and political influence to maintain the greatest possible balance between purchasing power and the Gross National Product. It must seek for workers their rightful share of the fruits of their higher productive capacity. There will also be need for a new enlightened view on the part of management in recognition of these really basic economic principles.

There must be an assumption by industry of economic, civic and social responsibility. Excessive profits should cease to be the sole aim of management — abundance should be equitably shared with the worker and the consumer. Industry should begin to show a readiness to assure its fair share of local, state and federal taxes.

To pull itself up by its economic bootstraps, Michigan needs very much to diversify its industry to make up for the toll of diversification in automobile manufacturing and of shifting needs of defense material.

We have many great natural resources, including an abundance of fresh water greater than in any other state, that can be better exploited.

Organized labor will cooperate with any and all agencies of government—as well as with private industry—in building our economy at the rate necessary to eliminate unemployment and to increase living standards.

GERIATRIC WORKER?

Another continuing problem for which labor has been seeking a solution is that of the older factory worker who is the victim of permanent plant closings and wants to remain in the community where he has strong roots.

The best example of this problem is the still large number of unemployed former employes of Hudson and Packard. Many thousands who were 45 or over when these plants shut down about eight years ago are still unable to find work. A program of retraining is needed to salvage the skills of these people.

Economic woes are not peculiar to Michigan. The problem is national. The federal government must cooperate in finding a solution.

Immediately there is need for an unemployment insurance program to cover the entire layoff period, coupled with retraining, relocation and rehabilitation.

* * *

But imaginative thinking is imperative. About 40 years ago Henry Ford electrified the nation when he boldly set a wage level of $5 per day to meet the economic challenge of that day.

The time may come within the next decade, with its mushrooming population, zooming productivity and shorter work week, for workers to set a goal of $5 per hour.

* * *

Far from being outside the realm of possibility this figure may be dictated by economic necessity. The problems we face are vital and urgent.

* * *

Old conservative approaches cannot meet unique new situations. Only an enlightened approach can produce an era of successful '60s.

The chameleon's adrenal glands are believed responsible for its color changes, says the National Geographic Society. The glands are activated by temperature, light and excitement—not by background colors.

Educators in Cuba Must Teach Politics

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba's school teachers were warned Wednesday night they must "transmit revolutionary thinking to their students."

Fidel Castro's education minister, Armando Hart, said in a television broadcast "there is no room" for teachers who are opposed to politics in schools. He made clear that he meant Castro's brand of politics.

Hart said army officers would give high school students military training but without using weapons.

Testing Skull-Vibrating Radio Helmet for Space

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The School of Aviation Medicine is experimenting with a special helmet to transmit messages to earth by picking up vibrations of an astronaut's voice through his skull bones.

Show Business Extends Hand of Warmth to N.Y. Slum Teens

NEW YORK (AP)—Show business extended a warm hand of friendship Wednesday night to teen-agers of the far different world of slums, poverty and delinquency.

The outstretched hand—literally and figuratively—represented the start of an effort by the entertainment world to help the city combat juvenile crime.

That program was begun Wednesday night in the heart of a slum area, in a public school on Manhattan's west side.

There were many stars on hand —Joey Adams, Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, Eddie Fisher, Eileen Barton, Tommy Edwards, Phil Foster, Morey Amsterdam, Brooks Benton and others.

They didn't confine themselves to a song or a joke. Each toured the audience, extending their hands to many of the more than 500 teen-agers from the west side slums.

One pretty youngster, Emelina Escaris, 13, asked Adams, the master of ceremonies, if she could personally thank Fisher.

The singer extended his hand but the girl, blushing, moved quickly and kissed him on the cheek. He responded with a hug.

Adams waited until late in the show to make a short speech in Spanish. Then, to show he had more than a limited knowledge of the language—he held a conversation in Spanish with Gilda Valencia, a Brazilian actress.

The program was jointly sponsored by the American Guild of Variety Artists and the City Youth Board.

The New York City Central Labor Council (AFL - CIO) has given its support with a $20,000 gift. AGVA has given $10,000.

In the near future, similar programs will be given at others of the city youth centers nightly. The program will last 20 weeks.

Jackie Robinson, former Dodger infielder, spoke briefly at Wednesday night's program. "No youngster in this area," he said, "could be worse than I was as a kid."

Cheered repeatedly, he told the youngsters: "This is for you because you are so tremendously important in our scheme of things."

Odds Are Pretty Good He'll Inherit Something

Dr. Dalton Vernon, human relations specialist, said "just remember that five generations back your child has 32 ancestors. Eight generations back he has 256 ancestors and in 10 generations, 2,046 ancestors. From all these he may inherit something."

Urges Repeal of Court Veto

Sen. Keating Believes U.S. Hurting Itself and World Tribunal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) said today the U. S. jurisdictional veto seriously impairs the World Court and hurts American interests.

In an address prepared for Senate delivery, he asked for repeal of the American veto power reservation. Using this veto, the United States can label a case domestic and deny international court jurisdiction.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted Tuesday to hold hearings soon on a resolution by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) to repeal the reservation. A two-thirds Senate vote would be required. Eisenhower, in his State of the Union Message, voiced support for the Humphrey measure.

Keating contended that reciprocal use of the veto over the court blocked action on a U.S. suit against the Soviet Union. The United States attempted to sue for damages caused by the shooting down of an unarmed American plane over the Sea of Japan.

But the Soviet Union denied the court's jurisdiction on the grounds it was "a domestic matter," Keating said.

He cited the Soviet case as one instance in which he said the veto power has hurt U.S. interests.

Keating said that in order to get enough votes to repeal the veto provision it may be necessary to specify those matters which the United States would keep under domestic jurisdiction — such as immigration, tariffs and the Panama Canal.

Young Trouper Learns Show Tradition Early

MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (AP)—Robert Forrest is only a high school actor, but he's proved himself a trouper in the best Broadway tradition.

A few hours before the Middlebury Union High School senior class play, "Our Town," was to go on, Robert's mother died at Porter Hospital.

★ ★ ★

But when the curtain went up on "Our Town," young Robert was there in his role as Simon Stimson.

Saginaw River Project Cleared on U.S. Job

The Bay County Board of Supervisors unanimously passed a resolution giving the State Waterways Commission and the state a "safe-harmless" guarantee on two railroad bridges spanning the river.

The action was the final step needed to clear the way for a federal Saginaw River dredging project. Representatives of the U.S. Corps of Engineers present at the board meeting said the project should start in July.

Final formal action will be the furnishing by the Water Ways Commission to the federal government a similar guarantee, absolving the government of liability for possible damages to the bridges.

Won't Even Attempt to Enforce This Curfew

STERLING, Colo. (AP) — Sterling has a law which can't be enforced — a curfew ordinance.

Back in 1896, it was unlawful here for children under 13 to be seen on the street after 7:30 p.m. from Aug. 1 to May 1. During the summer months, the time was extended until 8:30 p.m.

The law's still on the books, but nobody pays any attention to it.

One councilman sums it up this way:

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The current edition of the Michigan High School Athletic Association Bulletin carries an interesting item on classification of schools.

It states, "Request was presented by one class A high school that consideration be given the possibility of establishing an AA classification for larger high schools of the state which compete in State Association tournaments and meets.

No action was taken on this matter at this time inasmuch as there has not been any pronounced evidence that such classification is desired."

This is a pretty naive statement. If the MHSAA had any designs of modernizing its antiquated classification setup it would admit that it is not a matter of desire but one of utmost need.

The plain fact is that the MHSAA would rather see the inadequacy of the present classifications continue rather than take the pains to improve the existing classes and make competition more equitable.

Oakland County will be filled with class A high schools before too long. Yet having the same classification will hardly put them all on an equal basis in athletic competition.

One of the items to be considered at the meeting of the Athletic Council in May will be the matter of classification. When its all over you can be sure the MHSAA will still hold that an A school with an enrollment of 900 is the competitive equal of a school with 2,500 when they meet on a football field or basketball court.

CAGEY CHARLEY SEZ:

Ole Cagey sees tomorrow's games as: Pontiac Central over Flint Northern, Brighton over Clarkston, Avondale over Clawson, Holly over Northville, Milford over West Bloomfield, Oxford over Millington, Romeo over Rochester, Lake Orion over Fitzgerald, Clarenceville over Bloomfield Hills, St. Benedict over St. Fred, Orchard Lake St. Mary over St. Clement, Waterford over Berkley Walled Lake over Southfield and St. Mike over St. Rita.

Central Meets Flint Northern on Enemy Floor

By BILL CORNWELL

Pontiac Central's defending Saginaw Valley Conference basketball champs have reached the crucial point in the 1959-60 campaign.

The stage is set for the Chiefs to play their classiest basketball of the season and pull away from the field or else falter under pressure and fall by the wayside.

The next two Fridays will find PCH going to Saginaw. On Jan. 22 the Chiefs battle Saginaw High and Arthur Hill provides the opposition on Jan. 29. Then, as if that wasn't enough, they go to Highland Park the following Tuesday, Feb. 2, for a non-conference game.

Flint Northern and Saginaw, currently sharing 2nd place with 2-1 records, appear to be the leading contenders, although Arthur Hill is by no means out of the picture this early in the race with a 1-2 league mark.

The Vikings were impressive Tuesday evening on the Flint JMA court when they spanked city rival Central, 61-51.

Coach Jack Marlette's cagers have good over-all height and they make the most of it by crowding the backboards and grabbing the rebounds.

They boast two of the league's top scorers in forward Gene Summers, who stands 6-2, and guard Vic Urick. Additional scoring support is furnished by 6-3 center Ernie Carr and 6-2 forward Gary Locke. Ken Lotz, a 6-2 forward, also has his starring moments in the scorebook.

It's a safe bet that the Vikings will go all out to knock down the Chiefs. It was just last year that Pontiac whipped them in a showdown on the Wildanger floor to put the SVC title in the bag.

The Chiefs are leading the Valley pack with a 3-0 record, their latest win an unimpressive 69-50 conquest of Bay City Central. They have an over-all 5-0 mark and were rated 3rd in the state in this week's Associated Press poll.

Tomorrow night's game will be the next to last one for forward Bill Hayward, a mid-year graduate whose playing eligibility expires at Saginaw High the following week.

PCH may receive some unexpected but pleasant extra help tomorrow at Flint. Guard Henry Robertson, sidelined before the season started by a broken wrist, may see some action against the Vikings. Robertson's cast was removed Tuesday.

Northern Host to Farmington in I-L Feature

Waterford Is Away; Rochester vs. Romeo as Tri-County Opens

By CHUCK ADAMS

The chips are down for the basketballers of Pontiac Northern and Farmington Friday night as they clash at the PNH gym in a big battle for first place in the tight Inter-Lakes League race.

Farmington, the pre-season favorite, picked to battle rolling along unbeaten in the I-L but if coach Dick Hall's Huskies can find the shooting range, the tables could easily be turned.

The contest may decide early which team is going to set the pace in the conference although it seems unlikely at this point that either could go through the league campaign unbeaten. There is too little to choose between the six teams.

Waterford, now second after last week's beating at Farmington, will be out to play in contention needing a triumph at Berkley. Walled Lake has dropped five of six and four straight. The Vikings entertain improved Southfield.

Rochester will visit Romeo and Lapeer goes to L'Anse Creuse to get things started. All four had little success in non-loop outings.

St. Michael swings back into action meeting St. Rita at Detroit while Orchard Lake St. Mary attempts to hold its share of first place in the Suburban Catholic race by whipping St. Clement at home. Royal Oak St. Mary and St. James meet in the other contest. St. Benedict plays St. Frederick here Saturday.

Front-running Birmingham will be idle but the other Eastern Michigan fives will have a full schedule. Ferndale entertains Hazel Park, East Detroit is guest of Royal Oak Kimball and Mt. Clemens vs. Port Huron.

Pacesetters Clarenceville, Brighton and Holly should keep rolling in the Wayne-Oakland. The Trojans are at Bloomfield Hills, Holly travels to Northville and Brighton visits the Clarkston handbox. West Bloomfield at Milford completes the slate.

Avondale will be gunning for its fourth straight at home against Clawson hoping Lake Orion can upset Troy at the Dragon gym. Oak Park and Madison will duel for the cellar position.

As in the EML, South Central kingpin Ortonville is not scheduled but others will be playing. Oxford is at home against Millington and, Imlay City meets North Branch.

Heat Almost will try to dump Anchor Bay from the unbeaten in an important Southern Thumb clash. Other games will have Capac at Dryden, Memphis vs. Brown City and New Haven against Armada.

Coach Eldon Rouse's Highland Park quintet, fresh from a win over Hamtramck, visits Royal Oak Dondero, Utica tangles with Warren, Lamphere puts its perfect record to test vs. Harper Woods, Royal Oak Shrine goes to Wyandotte Mt. Carmel, Farmington Our Lady takes to its own court to face Wayne St. Mary, Country Day is at Lutheran East and Marlette at Bad Axe.

It's West Texas Man Who Talked, Newspaper Says

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—The Topeka Daily Capital said Wednesday it was a man from West Texas and not Nebraska Coach Bill Jennings who gave the NCAA the tip that led to an indefinite probation for the University of Oklahoma.

The newspaper did not identify the Texan but said he told the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. he had proof that a 1954 investigation of Oklahoma did not get to the bottom of things.

★ ★ ★

"Because of information received from the West Texas man, the NCAA would have questioned Jennings even if he hadn't gotten into recruiting arguments with Wilkinson and threatened to turn in Oklahoma," the newspaper said. It added that Jennings' threat did not concern the Wood fund.

Joins Baltimore Corral

However, Jim Colvin, a tackle from Houston, told a Baltimore newspaper after the Senior Bowl last Saturday he also had signed with the National Football League champs.

SEEK BIG ONE — Pontiac Northern looks for its 4th victory in as many starts in the Inter-Lakes basketball race when it meets Farmington tomorrow night in the PNH gym. The Huskies will be underdogs to Farmington which was picked a pre-season choice to win the I-L title. Starters left to right for Northern are: Steve Thompson, Dennis Harbert, Mike Fedynik, Dennis Vincent and Bruce Norton.

Howe Gets Goal, Wings Still Lose

Williams Still Not Sure About Plans for 1960

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ted Williams told the Herald Wednesday he was going to Boston in a few days to talk over his physical ailments and a Boston Red Sox contract he said he recently received.

"I honestly don't know whether I'll sign," Herald Sports Editor Jimmy Burns quoted the power-hitting outfielder as saying. "I'll talk to (General Manager) Bucky Harris and have some consultation about my neck and shoulder. The pain still bothers me occasionally.

"I don't want to play unless I am sure I'll be o.k. physically."

Tigers to Play 33 Exhibitions

Regular Season Starts at Cleveland April 19 and at Home on 22nd

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers will play a 33-game exhibition schedule, with the first game against the Washington Senators March 12.

The opener and 18 additional games will be played at Henley Field, the Tigers' home spring training diamond at Lakeland, Fla.

The Tigers will assemble for the first spring session under manager Jimmie Dykes late next month.

Detroit will break camp April 18 and open the American League season the following day at Cleveland. The Tigers' Briggs Stadium opener is set for April 22 against Chicago.

The Tigers will play five exhibition games against Washington, four each against St. Louis and Kansas City, three each against Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, the Chicago White Sox and New York, two each against Cincinnati and Philadelphia and single games with Baltimore, Cleveland, Boston and Los Angeles.

TD Club Honors Conerly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charley Conerly Wednesday gave the New York Giants a sweep of the Washington Touchdown Club's pro football awards. The club named him outstanding player of 1959 in the National Football League.

Conerly, who led the league in passing, will receive one of the trophies to be presented prominent sports figures at the club's annual banquet Saturday night. So will Jim Lee Howell, who coached the Giants to the NFL's Eastern Conference title. Howell previously was designated top coach of last season.

Detroit Hockey Star Ties for All-Time Mark

Black Hawks Score 5-2 Verdict to Move Closer to 4th Place

CHICAGO (AP)— Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings moved into a tie with Montreal's Maurice (Rocket) Richard last night as the National Hockey League's all-time high scorer.

It matched Richard's all-time point record. Richard, in his 18th season, has 531 goals. The 31-year-old Howe, in his 14th campaign, includes 436 goals in his total.

Richard has been out of the Montreal lineup with an injury since Nov. 26, but will return to the ice tonight when the Canadiens play hosts to Toronto. Howe's next action is against Chicago in Detroit Saturday.

The Black Hawks defeated Detroit 5-2 to move within a point of fourth place Boston. Chicago's Bobby Hull came within a point of Boston's Bronco Horvath for the league scoring leadership with a final period goal. Horvath has 52 points while Hull's 51 includes 23 goals and 28 assists.

★ ★ ★

After Detroit rookie Brian Smith hit his first major league goal early in the first period, Ed Litzenberger's tally later in the period put the Hawks even.

Chicago sealed it with three quick goals in the opening five minutes of the second period—one by rookie Red Hay and two by Tod Sloan.

HOLLY'S BIG GUN — Ron Morian of Holly is one of Oakland County's outstanding players thus far. He is the big reason the Broncos are back in the Wayne-Oakland race. The capable junior and his mates go to Northville tomorrow night. He had a 14.3 scoring average last year and is currently going at a 22.6 clip.

Basilio's Associates Studied

Judge Reserves Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — Melvin Krulewitch, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, reserved decision Wednesday following an inquiry into the relations between Carmen Basilio and his managers with underworld characters.

John DeJohn and Joe Netro, co-managers of the former world welterweight and middleweight champion, told the commission they had paid money to Gabe Genovese, a convicted under-cover manager.

DeJohn testified he had given Genovese $34,000 from 1955 to 1959 for "his services as an advisor and scout." Netro said he had paid Genovese approximately $25,000 over a three-year period from 1956 to 1958, but said this was in repayment for past favors.

"He did me a number of favors," Netro explained. "He was a sick man and I decided when I got a fighter I'd give him a chance to make some money."

Basilio and his co-managers admitted they had a casual acquaintance with Frankie Carbo, also convicted of undercover activities in boxing.

But Basilio insisted Carbo never had made suggestions about arranging fights "because I wouldn't have any part of him." Basilio said he had met Carbo only three times and that their longest meeting was not more than five minutes.

DeJohn and Netro said they did not know whether the money they paid Genovese was shared by Carbo.

Calvin Still in Race

Pistons Triumph, 114-113 Back in Old Homestead

The Pistons, who had lost 11 straight on the road and five games in a row in National Basketball Assn. play, nipped the New York Knickerbockers 114-113 last night.

Richie Guerin and Carl Braun led a rally that brought the Knicks to a one-point deficit, 113-111, with 25 seconds left. But Gene Shue drew a foul and dropped in two free throws.

Guerin was high with 34 points. Shue led Detroit with 29 and Bailey Howell added 23.

Detroit's next game is at Minneapolis Saturday.

3 More Lions Accept Terms

Offensive Linemen Sign Their Contracts for '60 Season

DETROIT (AP)—Three more football players came to terms today with the Detroit Lions.

Stehouwer was a 12th-round choice drafted a year ago. He played his college football at Colorado State, the same school that sent Jack Christiansen, Jim David and Thurman McGraw to the Lions.

Stehouwer has a Michigan background. He attended high school in Wayland and lives in Hopkins. He's 6-feet-6 and weighs 277 pounds. A Detroit scout called him "one of the best line prospects in the country."

Luciano was the Lions' third-round draft choice last year. He hurt his shoulder in the college all-star training camp and was out of action all season. He worked out with the Lions and Wilson feels Luciano will be tough to beat out of a regular job. He's a 240-pounder who stands 6-feet-3.

All-Star Pin Points

RAY BLUTH TAKES AIM
By RAY BLUTH

I appear to take aim at the target spot on the lane much the same as a hunter sights in on a deer.

I crouch with the ball held at almost shoulder height for several seconds before I finally glide into my approach.

This distinctive manner of getting set has enabled me to help my teams capture four national match-game championships and me individually to win the 1958 ABC Masters title. While my style appeals to some, I do not recommend it.

I'm fairly well built and can stand the strain of supporting a 16-pound ball with just my right hand during the aiming. That would soon tire a person who is not accustomed to bowling this way nearly every day.

An unusually long period of intense concentration with the ball held in such a position will build up too much tension as well. A bowler then loses the relaxed, easy motion.

Concentrate on the target, however, whether it is the pins or a spot on the lane. If you are a spot bowler, it is important to keep your eyes on your spot until the ball nears the pins in order to know whether you are rolling the ball properly.

Adopt Compromise Substitution Rule

New 'Wild Card' Rule Opens Door

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The newly adopted version of football's "wild card" substitution rule opens the door again to unrestricted use of the specialist, Coach Dave Nelson of Delaware, one of the bright, young strategists of the game, said Wednesday.

The coach will be able to do far more with the "wild card" substitute than appears on the surface," commented Nelson, a member of the NCAA rules committee that adopted the change in Miami Beach. "There is no restraint whatever on the use of a specialist, if you put him in alone."

Other coaches contacted by The Associated Press also hailed the change as something close to what the majority of coaches have asked for while still not returning college football to the platoon era.

"It's great with me," said Tom Nugent of Maryland. "It's not quite as good as unlimited substitution, but it's a good compromise. Anything that makes our game more like the game played by the pros is okay with me."

"It sounds good to me," said Miami's Dan Devine. "I was for liberalizing the rules a bit so that a coach can take advantage of individual specialists on a team who normally would not have much of a chance to play. It will give more kids a chance to play. I was not in favor of unlimited substitution."

"The rule is something nearer to what the coaches asked for," said Little, a rules committee member and also chairman of the rules committee of the American Football Coaches' assn. "Within the next few years, if the trend is for further liberalizing the substitution rules, I'm sure the rules committee will recognize it and act accordingly."

Donelli said the rule will help coaches and officials to some extent but could lead to sending in plays from the bench by the messenger system — such as Paul Brown uses with the professional Cleveland Browns.

First Comments From Coaches Are Favorable

Under New NCAA Plan, One Player Can Enter Game at Any Time

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The college footballers still must learn to play the game both ways—offensive and defense.

The rules makers assured this by passing a revised substitution rule labeled as a compromise between unlimited substitution, advocated by most of the coaches, and the stand-pat policy urged by the NCAA.

First comments by coaches over the country were favorable.

The concession to the coaches is that they may send in one man at a time at any time, and as often as they please. The concession to the NCAA is that the rule governing substitutes under other circumstances remains unchanged. That is, when players are sent in in numbers from two to 11 their entry is charged against them, and they are permitted only two such entries in a quarter.

On the surface the change seems comparatively minor, but it nevertheless opens a wide field which will challenge the ingenuity of the coaches.

★ ★ ★

They now, if they so desire, can call the plays themselves by sending in a solo sub every play, whether or not the clock is running. They can develop individual kicking and passing and defensive specialists and be able to get them in and out as occasion demands.

But the squad as a whole will have to play the game both ways, a situation which is pleasing even to the two-platoon advocates.

"Colleges are charged with turning out graduates who can succeed in any field," Gen. Bob Neyland of Tennessee, Rules Committee chairman, pointed out.

"If the graduate wants to coach, and has experience playing only on offense or defense, he comes running back to learn the other half of the game. After all, a school doesn't turn out half-engineers or half-doctors."

★ ★ ★

The revised rule was passed by the 13 committee voters unanimously. Neyland said at the close of the final session yesterday. Its basic difference from the 1959 rule is that a substitute, going in alone, is not charged with an entry, and he can return whether or not he already has used up his two group entries. Also, the clock may be running. Last year it had to be stopped.

A step was taken toward discouraging coaching from the sidelines. The rule read: "There shall be no coaching from the sidelines." It has been revised to read "There shall be no communication with players on the field except by a substitute entering a game." NCAA members will be urged to see that coaches respect the rule.

Royal Defends Game at Dallas

Texas Coach Doesn't Believe Either Team Played Dirty

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas football Coach Darrell Royal said Wednesday he did not think either Texas or Syracuse played a dirty game in the Cotton Bowl.

Speaking at a Longhorn Club luncheon, Royal said he felt the less said about the game the better, but added he would like very much to have a panel of NCAA football coaches look at the film.

"And if they do, I hope Jake Gaither, the coach of Florida A&M, (an all-Negro school) is on the committee," said Royal. "I have a lot of respect for him."

Royal called charges of racial slurs ridiculous. He said Syracuse probably was more conscious of taking an integrated team to Dallas to play an all-white team than the Texas Longhorns were.

"Despite Royal's declaration that Syracuse did not play dirty, the movies reveal repeated, flagrant cases by Syracuse of holding, elbowing, kneeing and even one rabbit punch deftly delivered to the back of a Longhorn's neck."

OMAHA (AP) — Coach Metro Prystai of the Omaha Knights in the International Hockey League was fired Wednesday by Ak-Sar-Ben, the civic organization which owns the club.

MIAMI (AP)—Jim Root, 26, a Tulane assistant, Wednesday was named to the University of Miami football coaching staff. He reports Feb. 1 and will work primarily with offensive backs.

He replaces Hank Stram, who went to Dallas of the American Football League.

Bowlers from Ohio and Indiana will join contestants from throughout Michigan in the battle for top prizes and prestige.

Tourney action starts at 2:30 p.m. with team competition and continues through Feb. 14. All bowling will be on weekends.

Doubles, singles and all-events will be held again for the third successive year.

* * *

Team play through the tournament will be held on Saturdays leaving Sunday for doubles and singles.

* * *

A total of $3,210 and trophies were presented to top performers a year ago and that figure will go higher this time with entries increased in each division.

Ricky's Pizza House of Pontiac, captained by E. Rigotti, rolled 2885 to earn $100 and trophies last winter as team champion. Seven other Pontiac teams were in the top ten. Ricky's also had the best team game of 1082.

A Hilladale duo took doubles honors with 1265 for $50 and trophies. Amanda Zachering, Evelyn Prosser of Pontiac ranked 2nd at 1240 with two other local teams in the first ten including Madge Wilson-Bessie Dawe, who had the best game of 465.

Alice Havranek of Royal Oak took singles honors with 704, had the 2nd best game of 273 and was runnerup in all events at 1674 to total $62 plus a trophy. She added a prize by beating out Betzi Waisanen of Pontiac for all-events actual honors after they tied at 1604.

All-events queen was Elaine Pibbles of Hilladale at 1580. She also had the top single with 278 for a combined $28.

Carter Closing in on Welu

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—Don Carter, whose comeback heroics are becoming traditional, was in a key position today to win his fifth National All-Star bowling tournament.

As the last half of the four-day finals opened this afternoon, the blond bomber from St. Louis was in second place just a hair's breadth behind defending champion Billy Welu.

Carter, who staged a major rally to win the world invitational bowling tournament at Chicago last month, climbed from 123rd place to make the finals of this tournament.

Then, he started the finals in so-so fashion.

He won nine of his first 20 games and was in 12th place Tuesday But he was victorious in 10 of the next 12 games and wound up yesterday's firing just 22 pins behind Welu, who is also from St. Louis.

Welu has won 30 games, lost 11 and tied one while chopping down 6,735 pins for 196 Petersen points and a 10-pin carryover. Carter stood 7,55-53 on 19 wins, 12 losses and 6,813 pins.

Miss Wene, who won the tournament in 1955, had 72 Petersen points and 40 surplus sticks, while Mrs. Garms, whose best finish in the All-Star was second in 1952, stood at 73-04.

The men roll 16 more games—four four-game matches—today and tomorrow and the girls pitch four more two-game matches each day.

The standings are figured under the Petersen point system which gives a point to the victor of each game and another point for each pin knocked over.

Carter had a bulge of three Petersen points over third place Andy Rogonnica of Chicago who had 132-09. Harry Smith of St. Louis was fourth with 151-34 and Bob Chase of Kansas City was fifth at 149-44. No. 7 is Joe Joseph, Lansing, Mich., at 148-34.

The favorite of the all-time record crowd was 18-year-old Wayne Ashe, Milwaukee, who was in 10th place just behind the only other former titlist in the tourney, Ray Bieth, St. Louis.

Detroit's Ann Setlock was third in the women's field with 71 points and 29 additional pins. Red-haired Dottie Crouch, Los Angeles, was fourth at 71-31 and former champ Anita Cantaline, Detroit, was fifth at 70-41.

Marion Ladewig, Grand Rapids, Mich., who has won the tournament seven times and is the all-time leader in that department was sixth.

AFL Considers Several Cities for 8th Member

BOSTON (AP) — Joe Foss, commissioner of the American Football League, Wednesday said the new professional league is considering Atlanta, Miami, Oakland and at least two other cities for its eighth member. He did not identify the other two.

Asked if the NFL is considering expansion to Atlanta, Foss replied: "Well, they might as well try for a 1.000 batting average. They've tried to move into every other place we've been."

He said the eighth member of the league would be selected by the end of the month, "maybe earlier." The vacancy in the league was created when Minneapolis turned in its franchise after the NFL indicated it may expand to that city.

Six Persons Injured When Stands Collapse

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—Six persons were injured Wednesday night when a section of temporary wooden bleachers collapsed at Ft. Whiting Auditorium shortly before the televised welterweight fight between Kenny Lane and Ralph Dupas.

The six were taken to a hospital. None was listed in serious condition although attendants at first had feared that two were seriously hurt. They were expected to be released after emergency treatment.

Only 2 Unbeaten Cage Teams Left

By The Associated Press

It's two down and two to go today in college basketball's beat-the-unbeatens week. Now it's up to two of the nation's best, West Virginia and Bradley, to try to complete the wipe-out Saturday.

The major unbeaten list stands at two after LaSalle's double overtime 91-84 loss to Syracuse last night on the heels of Southern Methodist's Tuesday night defeat of Texas A&M. The two survivors, top-ranked Cincinnati and ninth-ranked Villanova, are shaky-al best what with Cincinnati scheduled at Bradley, (11-1) and Villanova at West Virginia (14-1) Saturday night.

* * *

As if their season records aren't enough, both Bradley and West Virginia are next to unbeatable on their home courts. Bradley made it 30 straight home victories last night, routing Drake 84-58, while West Virginia, which downed Virginia 102-81 at Charleston, W. Va., has pegged 38 in a row before the home folks at Morgantown, W. Va.

Both Villanova (10-0) and Cincinnati (13-0), with a 14-game win streak counting last season, turned in impressive victories as part of last night's power-packed mid-week program.

* * *

Cincinnati, with Oscar Robertson scoring 27 points, rolled to its fourth straight Missouri Valley Conference triumph, 79-57 over 11th-ranked St. Louis (10-4). Villanova, getting 20 points from sophomore Hubie White and 19 apiece from John Driscoll and George Ravelling, whipped Temple 81-69.

Atlantic Coast Conference contenders North Carolina and Wake Forest both won, Miami, Fla., nailed its 13th victory in 14 games, Georgia Tech ran its record to 12-1, and Bowling Green's Jimmy Darrow had one of the big nights of the season, scoring 52 points in an 88-82 victory over Toledo.

Little Eddie Goldberg, top scorer with 21 points, bagged eight of Syracuse's 12 points that whipped LaSalle in the second overtime period. LaSalle, which had won nine without a loss, gained ties on last second shots in both the second half and first overtime by ballhawking Ralph Bantivoglio. It was Syracuse's sixth triumph against two defeats.

All-American Jerry West, playing back near the east bank hamlet where he starred in high school, fired in 40 points in West Virginia's victory over Virginia. Bradley got 21 points from Dan Smith and 20 from soph Chet Walker in making Drake its fourth victim in five Missouri Valley games. Bradley's only loss was to Cincinnati at Cincinnati, 86-71, last month.

* * *

Lee Shaffer hit for 20 points as North Carolina won its third ACC game without a loss, 62-51 over North Carolina State. Wake Forest (5-1) in the ACC thumped South Carolina 74-53, with soph Len Chappell the scoring leader with 17.

Miami of Florida topped Jacksonville 78-70 and Georgia Tech, with scoring ace Rog Kaiser netting 23 points, defeated Georgia 90-84 in a game that doesn't count in the Southeastern Conference standings.

Dartmouth made it 3-0 in Ivy competition, using a balanced attack for a 68 - 53 decision over Harvard. Brown went into two overtimes to edge Yale 94-89 and Princeton, with 23 points from Pete Campbell, downed Penn 62-50 in other Ivy activity. Columbia and Cornell stepped into non-league action for victories — Columbia over Rutgers 82 - 79 and Cornell over Colgate 71-69.

* * *

Dayton (13-3) beat Duquesne 78-60, and Army (9-1) and Navy (8-2) won again—the Cadets over Massachusetts 80-70 and the Middies over American U. 85-69. Virginia Tech stayed unbeaten in the Southern Conference, routing hapless Davidson 98-51.

'M' Swimmers Considered as Good as '59 Champs

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — University of Michigan swimming coach Gus Stager considers his 1960 team as good as last year's squad which swept to the Big Ten and NCAA titles.

But Stager said he is worried about Indiana. He expects the Hoosiers to be much stronger than a year ago.

Michigan piled up a conference record by scoring 148 points in the Big Ten meet in 1959, Indiana was a distant second with 68½ points.

And the Wolverines also made a runaway of the NCAA crown with 137⅝ points to 93¼ for runnerup Ohio State.

* * *

Michigan completes its pre-conference tune-up tomorrow night in a dual meet against Iowa State at Des Moines. The following night, the Wolverines travel to Minneapolis for the Big Ten opener against Minnesota.

Capt. Tony Tashnik of Detroit, a triple winner in the Big Ten meet in 1959, heads a list of lettermen on the Michigan squad. He swims the butterfly and individual medley.

Other key members of the team include Frank Legacki in the free style, Ron Clark in the breast-stroke, and Dave Gillanders in the butterfly.

Gillanders, of Royal Oak, Mich., upset Tashnik in both the 100 and 200-yard butterfly events in the NCAA meet and was a member of the winning 400-yard medley relay team.

Michigan lost Cy Hopkins, one breaststroker, through graduation, and free-styler Djek Hanley will be lost next month when the new semester starts.

But Stager expects newcomer Fred Wolf of Northfield, Ill., to take up some of the slack. Wolf is a backstroke specialist and was National High School champion two years ago.

Former St. Francis Cager Dies at 27

PITTSBURGH (AP) — John Clancy, 27, captain of the St. Francis (Pa.) college basketball team in 1953, died Wednesday in Pittsburgh Hospital of a kidney ailment.

Clancy contracted the ailment in 1953 shortly after he was graduated from St. Francis and went to Akron, Ohio, to play basketball.

Maurice Stokes was a sophomore teammate of Clancy's in 1953. Stokes led the Frankies to their first competition in the National Invitational Tournament in 1954 and 1955. After graduation, Stokes suffered a brain injury while playing professionally for the Cincinnati Royals and has been an invalid in Christ Hospital in Cincinnati since March 15, 1958.

* * *

Clancy is survived by his widow and four children, ranging in age from 12 weeks to 4½ years.

MOUNT PLEASANT (UPI) — Jerry O'Neil accounted for 15 points as his Central Michigan team piled up 90 5-8 points to win a four-way indoor track meet here last night.

O'Neil was the only double winner of the meet, placing first in both low and high hurdles.

Aggressive Dupas Gains Verdict Over Kenny Lane

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—"The only way to beat a southpaw is to keep right on top of him," said Ralph Dupas.

The New Orleans battler was speaking with some authority in his dressing room last night. He had just scored a unanimous decision over an old foe, left-hander Kenny Lane, in a nationally televised welterweight bout.

The two had split in their previous two matches.

* * *

Dupas abandoned his usual hit-and-run jabbing attack and fought an aggressive bout. He pounced on the smaller Lane at the opening bell and kept the pressure on the rest of the way. Lane's face was a bloody mess at the finish.

* * *

Judge L. C. Lyman gave Dupas the widest margin, 47 to 43 points under the five-point must system, and seven rounds to Lane's three.

Judge Charley Oberkirch scored it 47-45 with five rounds for Dupas, three for Lane and two even. Referee Tommy Baker had it 48-47, with three rounds for Dupas, two for Lane and five even.

The Associated Press card was 47-45 for Dupas with six rounds for the victor, three for Lane and one even.

"I kept him off balance all the time," Dupas said. "He caught me on the chin several times, but he never did hurt me.

"This was one fight I wanted to win more than any other in my life. Now I'd like to fight to No. 1 welterweight contender, Luis Rodriguez."

Said a saddened Lane:

"I couldn't get going."

"It doesn't mean a thing," said the Michigan fighter's manager, Jack (Doc) Kearns. "He's really a lightweight, anyway. We're still very interested in a junior welterweight championship fight with Carlos Ortiz and another with Joe Brown, the lightweight champion."

Happy Humphrey Heads Armory Rassling Card

Humphrey will have as his partner Louie Papineau. The two will have a real task out for them in their upcoming match, as they will be opposed by a team of Dynamite Johnny Gates and Jim "Brute" Bernard.

Johnson Gets Money Back

DETROIT (AP)—John Henry Johnson, who has had Detroit football fans on his back and an ex-wife on his trail for months, is $1,000 richer today.

The Lions disclosed that—"under threat of litigation"—they have returned to John Henry the $1,000 he was fined during the National Football League season.

Johnson was suspended and fined $1,000 after missing the team plane back from the two-game West Coast swing. Johnson had to pay his own way back the next day, and missed a Monday practice.

Head Coach George Wilson imposed the fine. Johnson worked out with the club, but Wilson didn't lift the suspension until the Detroit-Pittsburgh game was over. Johnson sat that one out.

John Henry didn't need money troubles like that. It was about that time when his ex-wife went to court to get back alimony she claimed was due for herself and their five children.

The veteran fullback contacted Creighton Miller, attorney for the NFL players' organization. Miller assigned a Detroit attorney, Victor G. Hanson, to represent Johnson.

Hanson argued that Johnson's contract calls for him to play 12 games and he said Johnson—except for injuries—was ready to play each game.

Anderson, asked for comment, said only that Johnson's money was returned under threat of a lawsuit. It undoubtedly would cost the Lions far more than the $1,000 to get into a legal tangle.

WORTH MORE BECAUSE THEY WORK MORE

Chevy's new torsion springs and Sturdi-Bilt design are changing everybody's ideas about how much work a truck can do. Last year's schedules are out—Chevrolet trucks ride faster over the rough runs to get in more trips a day! Big repair bills are no longer a problem—Chevrolet trucks soak up punishment that means downtime to other makes! And trade-in time's put off for extra thousands of miles—'60 Chevrolet trucks stay new like never before!

New Dollar-Saving Prices

Step-Vans, 4-Wheel Drives, many light-duty models with automatic transmissions—all are lower priced. Prices have also been reduced on all optional V8's.

New Torsion-Spring Suspension

Eliminates I-beam shimmy and wheel fight! With torsion springs up front there's a brand-new, smoother, easier handling feel behind the wheel. New rear suspensions include wide-based coil springs in most light-duty models; tougher variable-rate leaf springs in medium- and heavy-duty models.

Electronically Balanced Wheels

New Cabs—Wider, Safer, More Comfortable

Many models are a whole 7 inches lower (without sacrificing road clearance), so it's easier to hop in and out of cabs. Still there's more space inside: more room for hats and hips, more foot room with suspended pedals. Cabs are safer, too; new build makes them 67% more rigid.

Plus Improvements All Through the Line

A new steering linkage system that cuts vibration, means better control. There's new V8 efficiency. Sizes long famous for saving. New key-turn starting. Higher, wider visibility. Talk to your Chevrolet dealer about the world's most advanced trucks.

As soon as race plans are finalized complete information and entries will be announced.

Freeze Needed for New Coat on Icy Slopes

Damp Conditions Put Thin Slick Cover on Local Runs

Local ski areas have just about quit hoping for snow. They just want freezing temperatures so that their slopes can get a new coat of home-made fluff.

* * *

Skiing conditions at the five area clubs is rated fair at this time, but the report is expected to change to good by Saturday.

The recent drizzles have put an icy coat on the slopes.

There will be skiing at Grampian over the weekend should temperatures reach a sub-freezing point so that snow can be made possibly Friday night.

Mt. Christie is depending on freezing temperatures to get its slopes in action, although there still is a thin base with icy coat.

Mt. Holly still has a base of at least six inches and has fair skiing presently with hope expanding the report to good by Saturday night. The same holds true for Summit Ski Club.

* * *

Skiing was reported poor to excellent at other winter sports areas throughout Michigan today.

Several areas closed temporarily because of conditions following a sleet storm Tuesday, but all expect to reopen before the weekend.

Otsego Valley near Gaylord—4 to 12 inches base with two inches of granular snow. Skiing good to excellent.

Grayling Winter Sports Park—Skiing poor.

Mt. Frederick, near Frederick—6 to 8-inch base with crust of snow pulverized by snow cats. Skiing good.

Black Mountain in Cheboygan County—8-inch base with two inches of new snow. Skiing fair.

They Walk, Then They Ski

McCALL, Idaho (AP)—They begin getting ski instruction as soon as they start school in this Southwestern Idaho mountain village. And proof that the plan pays off with the announcement of the U.S. Olympic ski team selections.

One of the eight men chosen on the Alpine team is from McCall. Two more are in the running for the Nordic team. One other competed for an Alpine assignment but failed to make it.

What does the community think about it?

"Naturally we're thrilled to death," said Warren Brown, father of Frank E. Brown, the Idahoan named to the Alpine team.

McCall's population in the 1950 census was 1,173. Yet the tiny community has produced four of the nation's current crop of top skiers.

How does it do it?

"We start them in young," said Warren Brown, a director of the Payette Lakes Ski Club.

Some youngsters ski even before they start to school. But beginning with the first grade and continuing on through high school there is a definite program of instruction.

* * *

"Our interest is in the children," Brown said. "Our hill is a small one as ski areas go and its primary attraction is for the young folk and for the beginners. It isn't a hill where the real expert can have much fun. But it's a good spot for the kids to learn to ski."

That they have done so is evidenced by the four among the Olympic trainees.

Olympic Commission Asks for 'Rainy Day' Dollars

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The California Olympics Commission is asking the state to provide a million dollar rainy day fund against Sierra blizzards holding down the gate of the Olympic Winter Games.

H. D. Thoreau, the Games' managing director, explained the commission wanted the million dollar backlog to pay off bills if ticket sales for the Feb. 18-28 competition at Squaw Valley don't measure up to expectations.

"It all depends on the weather," Thoreau declared.

"As Willy Schaeffler puts it: "If the weather holds up, we'll all be heroes. If the weather turns bad, we'll all be bums."

Schaeffler is ski events director. The state government already has provided eight million dollars, the federal government four million and the state of Nevada $500,000 for financing the Squaw Valley Winter Games layout.

* * *

"I told you so," said Assemblyman Samuel R. Geddes (D-Napa), frequent critic of the Winter Olympics management. "This is the most mismanaged thing I've ever seen."

Specifically, the commission Wednesday asked Gov. Edmund G. Brown to make the extra million dollar request a special session item in the state legislature's forthcoming budget session.

Thoreau said the commission is counting on taking in three million dollars on ticket sales. A three million dollar gross would give the commission a $300,000 surplus, he said.

He reported advance sales total one million dollars. Another $500,000 is hoped for in advance sales. The gate sale during the 11 days of competition is expected to run $1,500,000.

This race had to be canceled from last year's North American Championships because of avalanches. Several international ski officials have been critical of the two-mile layout.

Foreman Gino Parisi and his crew tromped a quarter of a mile down the steepest part of the mountain, tramping down the seven foot snowpack.

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingemar Johansson, world heavyweight boxing champion, tonight will receive the Edward J. Neil Award as 1959 "fighter of the year." The presentation will be made at the annual dinner of the Boxing Writers Assn. of New York.

* * *

Marv Jenson, manager of Gene Fullmer, the National Boxing Assn. middleweight champion, will receive the James J. Walker Plaque "for long and meritorious service to boxing."

The Neil Award honors the memory of The Associated Press boxing writer who was killed in 1937 while covering the Spanish Civil War.

The James J. Walker Plaque honors the former mayor of New York City, who was the father of New York State's boxing law.

Arson Again Suspected in Avon

Second Farmhouse Burns

AVON TOWNSHIP — For the second time in less than two weeks fire has destroyed an empty farmhouse in the Rochester area, and again arson is suspected as the cause.

At 1 a.m. today the Rochester Fire Department was summoned by a passing motorist to fight a blaze which already had built-up in the unoccupied house on S. Livernois road, south of Avon road.

The firemen made no attempt to save the building. It had been vacant for two of three years, according to Fire Chief George Ross, and there were no windows or doors left in it.

One of the reasons investigators believe the fire was set is that the electrical wiring also had been removed.

Ross said license numbers were taken from cars in the area at the time the fire was discovered, and will be checked for possible arson connections.

No arrests have yet been made in the vacant house fire of Jan. 4 where arson also was believed to be the cause.

Professional Groups Start Association

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Assn. of the Professions (MAP), an organization representing five professional groups, officially started its activities here yesterday.

The new organization will draw its membership from the state's 25,000 physicians, lawyers, dentists, engineers and architects.

Hugh W. Bressenmas of Lansing, executive director of the association, said last night 1,000 members has been enrolled.

MAP's charter was granted Dec. 1, 1958. Since that time five committees have been formed.

Representatives at yesterday's meetings formed plans for the first Congress of the Professions, scheduled in Detroit Jan. 22-23. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Arthur Flemming; George Romney, American Motors Corp. president, and Rep. Gerald Ford (R-Mich) will address the congress.

Clear Fireman of Charity Theft

Only 2 of 12 Accused of Taking Goodfellow Cash Are Sentenced

A jury of five women and one man deliberated only 17 minutes yesterday before finding a third Royal Oak Township fireman innocent of embezzling Goodfellow charity funds at Christmastime.

Edward Tennant, 37, was acquitted for lack of evidence. He was one of 12 men, including three firemen and five policemen, accused of pocketing money they collected in the annual Goodfellow paper sales Dec. 14.

So far only two of the 12 men have been found guilty, neither by jury trial. They were Police Capt. William Ware and Patrolman Ernest Wilson.

All of the accused firemen and policemen were fired from their posts by the Township Board and are now appealing to the Township Civil Service Board for reinstatement.

Visiting Farmington Township Justice of the Peace James Lawson, who presided at yesterday's trial, said firemen David Lockridge and Willie Brown will be tried Friday.

According to Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor James E. Roberts, similar charges will probably be dismissed against James Dickens, son of Royal Oak Township Supervisor Elwood C. Dickens, for lack of evidence.

When found guilty: Police Chief Ware was fined $100 and ordered to write the Ten Commandments over each day for the next two years and submit them to his probation officer. Patrolman Wilson was fined $50.

They were convicted on testimony by state police that they failed to turn in marked dollar bills at the end of the day they were collected.

Firm Would Cut Rates; Local Will Investigate

DETROIT (AP)—Members of United Auto Workers Local 504 have agreed to negotiate on a proposal by the C. M. Hall Lamp Co. that a cut be made in fringe benefits such as pensions and insurance.

The local represents 300 employes at the auto supplier plant.

Raymond Moyle, president of the local, said today, "The rank and file instructed the local's bargaining committee to go back into negotiations to see how far the company wants to cut fringe benefits and to determine if the company is being hurt as badly as its officials say.

"The employes will reserve the right to approve any settlement proposal."

Macomb's Trombly to Seek Re-Election

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI)—Controversial Macomb County Probate Judge Joseph V. Trombly announced yesterday he plans to run for re-election.

He said he'll seek his sixth four-year term.

Trombly said he feels "physically, mentally and professionally qualified to succeed myself."

Cecil A. Byers, Macomb County prosecutor, said Tuesday he'll seek one of the county's two probate judgeships.

Explanation? He Queries, Brushing Away Red Tape

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Forty-one years ago Alfred C. Greeson received a hand wound and injuries to the eyes while serving with the Illinois 33rd Yellow Cross Division in the Meuse-Argonne offensive in France.

ON WAY TO COURT — Manhattan Borough President Hulan Jack assists his wife Almira from a car Wednesday on their way to the district attorney's office in the Criminal Courts Building. Jack was indicted Wednesday for conspiracy to obstruct justice and violation of the city charter. Indictment followed a grand jury investigation into a $4,400 remodeling job on Jack's Harlem apartment which admittedly had been paid for by Sidney J. Ungar, a real estate promoter. Both claimed the transaction was a loan.

Manhattan's President Indicted; Quits His Post

NEW YORK (AP) — Manhattan Borough President Hulan Jack's indictment on conspiracy and city charter violation charges — a politically explosive case — will be the subject of a top-level Albany conference next week between Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

* * *

Wagner, who from time to time has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the Democratic vice presidential nomination this year, emphasized Wednesday in agreeing to the parley with Rockefeller that the power of removal or suspension of Jack "rests with the governor alone."

* * *

He announced after his indictment that he was relinquishing his duties as the highest Negro holder of municipal office in the nation "until such time as a court of law has resolved the issues now present."

* * *

Jack named Louis Cioffi, Manhattan commissioner of borough works, to serve as acting borough president. Jack also said he would not draw any of his $25,000 yearly salary during this period, "nor participate in the making of any decisions or the casting of any votes in and by the borough president's office."

In one special message to Congress Eisenhower called for amendment of the 1958 National Aeronautics and Space Act to eliminate what he has termed deficiency provisions.

In a second message he put before Congress his plan—first announced last fall — for transfer of the Army ballistic development team to the civilian National Aeronautics and Space Administration. That plan will go into effect automatically in 60 days unless vetoed by the House or Senate.

Jack was charged with a conflict-of-interest under the city charter and with conspiring to obstruct the grand jury's investigation of the case.

Ungar, granted immunity from prosecution when he testified in the case before a grand jury, was named in the indictment as a co-conspirator but not as a defendant.

Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan, the man who disclosed the indictment against Jack, said with respect to Ungar:

"It is likely we would turn over to the grievance committee of the bar association, which is an agency of the appellate division, any information that had to do with the ethics of a member of the profession."

* * *

Both Jack and Ungar have insisted the $4,400 redecorating job on Jack's apartment constituted a loan between friends. Previously, however, according to Hogan, they had agreed to pass off the job as an undertaking of Mrs. Jack, financed from her household allowance.

* * *

Both men told his office, Hogan added, that Ungar had not paid for the remodeling. But with the contractor for the job holding incriminating receipts, Ungar was called before the grand jury.

The same day, Hogan continued, Jack returned voluntarily to the district attorney's office to admit he had lied, and he maintained then that the remodeling money came from Ungar as a loan.

Ike Will Ask Cash to Study Weather and Air Crashes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration plans to ask Congress for money for a high-geared scientific drive to reduce the number of air crashes caused by the weather.

This was disclosed today by F. W. Reichelderfer, chief of the weather bureau, in testimony before the Senate aviation subcommittee.

* * *

Reichelderfer said the budget, which President Eisenhower will send to Congress Monday, includes a program linking many federal agencies into a concerted effort to make weather forecasting and reporting as automatic as possible, and as fast as possible

Let NASA Develop Civil Space Plan: Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today urged Congress to give the civilian space agency full responsibility for development of a national program of non-military space exploration.

In a second message he put before Congress his plan—first announced last fall — for transfer of the Army ballistic development team to the civilian National Aeronautics and Space Administration. That plan will go into effect automatically in 60 days unless vetoed by the House or Senate.

Want Harmony, Face Eruptions

State Legislators Cautious

LANSING (AP) — Storm clouds hung over the Legislature today even as lawmakers, virtually tied a man, plugged for a short, harmonious session.

House Democrats demanded equal representation on all committees and got a firm rebuff from Republicans.

A resolution to put a four-cent sales tax on the ballot, a carry-over from last years marathon session, made a first-day appearance in the Senate.

Neither issue was expected to kick up the kind of fuss that plunged lawmakers into fruitless bitter struggles last year. But both may help to destroy hopes for adjournment in early April.

Democratic Floor Leader Joseph J. Kowalski of Detroit set the stage for House wrangling yesterday when he asked House Speaker Don R. Pears (R-Buchanan) to equalize party strength on all committees. Republicans are chairmen of every committee in the evenly divided lower chamber and control major committees by substantial majorities.

"If Democrats want control, let them seize it. We're not going to give it to them."

'PUBLICITY GRAB'

Green dismissed the Democratic demand as a "publicity grab" and asserted Democrats "actually don't want to be saddled with responsibility."

"They had at least one chance last year to take control when their attendance was bigger than ours and they didn't take it," Green said.

* * *

Kowalski said Democrats would "wait and see how our bills are treated" before deciding whether to press the issue.

Republicans grabbed House control on last year's opening day meeting when Illness of Rep. Josephine D. Hunsinger (D-Detroit) gave them a temporary 55-54 majority. They have held it ever since.

Sen. John W. Fitzgerald (R-Grand Ledge), 35-year-old attorney son of the late Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, submitted the sales taxes resolution.

Democrats blocked a Republican move to put it to a statewide vote last April, but it may go on the ballot in November along with a Democratic proposition for a state income tax. A two-thirds vote in both houses is needed to carry the resolution.

* * *

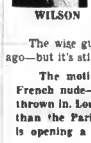

Elements in both parties are laying groundwork for circulating petitions for some 300,000 signatures to get the propositions on the ballot if legislative resolutions bog down.

With little to do, lawmakers planned to adjourn today until Tuesday night after meeting in joint session to hear Gov. Williams' "State of the State" message.

The 21-man jury entered the new court room at 10:20 a.m. and jury foreman Charles Long read the decision.

He told Judge Mize that "on the basis of the evidence presented, we are unable to arrive at any true bills."

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Perhaps it's still a little early in the year for a Christmas TV show, but I think it's safe to assume that last night's Bob Hope holiday show is going to hold us at least until November.

* * *

This time, his traveling companions — besides Jerry Colonna and Frances Langford — included Jayne Mansfield, Nelle Adams and Steve McQueen.

Because we've seen this sort of show for so many years, it has become something like watching "Amahl and the Night Visitors" on TV. We know just what to expect.

* * *

Yet, while Hope's service format remains unchanged, unassuming and often uninspired, I don't want it to go unappreciated.

The show still manages to convey a warmth and a satisfied feeling because — well, let's face it — you can't knock a routine that brings laughter to lonely men.

Even if the lighting is bad, the sound is poor and the camera work one - dimensional, we forget that this is a TV show and regard it as a public affairs document.

* * *

We do this gear-shifting of critical values because filming a show before servicemen for ultimate viewing by millions of civilians on network TV handicaps both military and civilian audiences.

The GIs don't see a real GI show while the cameras grind and we civilian tube watchers don't see a real TV show.

But I'm glad we went.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: The CBS Reports hour-long survey for April will be "Yul Brynner's Odyssey," in which the film star visits 12 refugee centers in Europe, the Middle East and the Orient, to survey conditions among refugees for the United Nations . . . Robert Taylor makes a brief appearance in "So Dim the Light," the Monday, Feb. 1 drama on CBS-TV's June Allyson show that stars Robert Culp.

Port Huron Judge Gets Higher Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated Clifford O'Sullivan, now a U.S. district judge in Michigan, to be a member of the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals.

* * *

O'Sullivan was named to succeed Charles C. Simmons, who has retired.

The nomination is subject to Senate confirmation.

O'Sullivan, 62, has been district judge for eastern Michigan since 1957. His home is at Port Huron, Mich.

He has practiced law in Port Huron and also in Chicago.

Oakland County Won't Have State School Audit

Oakland County will be one of 23 this year which won't have an annual financial audit conducted by the state Auditor General Otto M. Smith has announced.

Smith said limited personnel prevents audits in Oakland, Macomb, Lapeer, Genesee, Barry, Berrien, Calhoun, Cass, Huron, Ingham, Gogebic, Kalamazoo, Kent, Lake, Lenawee, Livingston, Mecosta, Monroe, Montmorency, Newaygo, Sanilac, St. Clair and Washtenaw.

These counties were asked to have an independent audit conducted.

Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the Board of Auditors, said it would be up to the Board of Supervisors whether an audit would be arranged.

* * *

Only Wayne County was missed in the annual audit last year. Thirty-six were missed in 1958 and 19 in 1957. No county missed two years in succession.

Court Speedup Plan Unveiled

Committee on Revision Reports After 3 Years of Studying Problem

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A plan designed to cut the time, cost and red tape of going to court in Michigan was unveiled here Wednesday by the Joint Committee on Procedural Revision.

In a final report summing up three and one-half years of study, the committee urged the Legislature to adopt a new set of procedural statutes and called on the State Supreme Court to accept a new set of court rules.

Both would take effect Jan. 1, 1961. The committee recommended a concentrated educational program by the state bar, judicial conference and local bar associations to familiarize attorneys with the changes.

Prof. Charles W. Joiner of the University of Michigan law school, chairman of the joint committee, said the changes would permit the present court system to handle a third more cases with no increase in staff.

Lawyers would be able to handle about 25 per cent more cases than they do now in a normal working day, he estimated.

The proposed statutes would eliminate more than half the sections provided in the present law, written in 1915. Legislation embodying these changes was slated to be introduced in the Legislature today by Rep. Thomas J. Whinery (R-Grand Rapids), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

Rules offered for adoption by the high court would replace the present rules, which were adopted in 1931, and many of the existing procedural statutes.

Joiner said the new statutes and rules would do the following in the state: Eliminate a distinction between courts of law and equity; provide a single form of civil action; remove archaic and harsh elements in present provisions; help those seeking justice obtain facts more easily and at less expense; preserve the right of jury trial where it now exists; modernize judicial administration and lighten the case load of courts and provide faster trials.

Executive's Wife Rejects Prize for 1st Baby

NEW CANAAN, Conn. (UPI)—Mrs. Arthur K. Watson, wife of the president of the International Business Machine World Trade Corp., disclosed today she had rejected a prize for the first New Canaan baby of 1960 because "I've won it once before."

Mrs. Watson said she first won the contest, sponsored by the weekly newspaper, "New Canaan Advertiser," in 1933 when she gave birth to a daughter Jan. 15.

This month she was first again. She delivered a boy, her sixth child, Jan. 7 making the total three boys and three girls.

"It's only fair," said Mrs. Watson, "that someone else gets the prize this year — the runner-up."

Menominee Firm Says Pay Cut a 'Must'

MENOMINEE (UPI)—Employes of Lloyd Manufacturing Co. here were notified yesterday they will have to accept a 10 per cent pay cut for the next year or the firm will be forced out of business.

The company, a subsidiary of Haywood-Wakefield Co., employs about 650 in the manufacture of furniture.

It was the second Menominee company in a week to run on the financial rocks.

The Plankinton Meat Packing Co., a division of Swift Co., previously announced it was closing its plant here Jan. 30 and moving operations to Milwaukee because of lack of business.

Previously Brando was permitted to visit the boy, Christian, in Miss Kashfi's home. But the actor listed five instances in which he said she violated his visitation rights. His request that she be held in contempt was dismissed by mutual consent.

Russ Selfish on Ban, AEC Chief Claims

Motorists Going West if Driving at 50 in. City

Half the highway is within the Lockport city limits and has a 30 m.p.h. limit.

But motorists headed west, on the Niagara County side of the road, may drive up to 50 m.p.h. Officials are considering a 40 m.p.h. compromise.

Farm engineers at the University of Wisconsin have developed an automatic feeding system that will distribute a specified amount of feed to each pig pen in a hog barn merely by one turn of a control panel knob each day.

We'll Cut Armed Forces a Third, K Challenges

MAKE OVER PAGES

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today the Soviet Union has such powerful weapons it can discharge one of every three men in its armed forces in the next year or two.

The Soviet army has fire power that no other army ever has possessed, he said. Rockets are taking the place of bombers and the production of bombers will cease.

Production of industrial and consumer goods, together with labor productivity, increased last year more than the current seven-year plan called for, he declared, adding the United States is no longer the world's leading military power. International tensions are lessening, and agreements are possible at the May summit meeting in Paris, the premier said.

Khrushchev told the Supreme Soviet, or Parliament, that Soviet armed forces are currently at 3,623,000, down from a high of 11 million in wartime and nearly six million in the 1949-55 period.

Now, he said, plans are for a cut to 2,423,000 men. As he projected it, this reduction of 1,200,000 from the current figure will be brought about without waiting for the Western powers to join the Soviet Union in a disarmament program. Disarmament discussions are due to start at Geneva this spring.

(They say his claims to disarmament, in fact, are substantially contracted by his own words about the growth of Russia's nuclear weapons and rocket power.

(His missile-rattling speech is also viewed as an effort to stampede the West into accepting disarmament and a nuclear test ban on Russia's terms.

(Officials also believe that the speech is a bid to regain the peace offensive initiative he lost to President Eisenhower as a result of the President's recent good will trip.

(Some observers also feel that the overall tone of Khrushchev's utterances took some of the luster off what Soviet propaganda has called "The Camp David spirit.")

(Western experts last spring figured the Soviet Union and her European satellites had 3,200,000 men under arms, as compared with 3,365,000 in the United States and its Allies of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.)

Khrushchev's demobilization announcement climaxed a long review of Soviet achievement during the past year in which he assured the 1,300 deputies that the Soviet Union is ahead of all other countries in the development and assembly line production of intercontinental ballistic missiles of various types.

The Premier said his government is able to cut its armed forces without hurting its defense potential because of the strength of its nuclear weapons including rockets and missiles.

"The Soviet Union has now accumulated enough atomic and nuclear weapons," he said. "Since no agreement has yet been reached with the Western powers over the cessation of atomic and nuclear weapon production, we are compelled to continue this production.

"We have a powerful rocket technique; the air force and the fleet have already lost their previous importance. We have already decreased the production of bombers and will stop it altogether. Our military aviation will be almost entirely rockets.

"The Soviet army wields such means of warfare and such firepower as no other army has ever had," Khrushchev declared.

Khrushchev said the new level of the Soviet armed forces would be less than 2 ½ million men proposed by the United States, Britain and France in 1956. He said that having failed to reach agreement on this earlier international proposal, the Soviet Union has decided to take this unilateral step "without delay and without conditions."

The Supreme Soviet was to vote later today on the proposed

Chief Straley Returns to His Post

Given Limited Authority by Dept. Director

Ordered by Eastman to Familiarize Himself With New Procedures

Police Chief Herbert W. Straley returned to work this morning.

He reported to Public Safety Director George D. Eastman at 8 a.m.

"I am reporting to you as executive head of the police department on orders of the city manager," the chief told Eastman.

"And you're under my direction and control," the public safety director replied.

Within two and a half hours, Straley was issued a memorandum from Eastman telling him he had no "operational authority or responsibility" in the department.

"Your return to full or limited operational responsibility is contingent upon your successful completion of assignment listed below," the memorandum added.

Straley was accompanied by City Commissioner Robert A. Landry when he walked into the public safety director's office.

MUST REVIEW

The chief was ordered to review and familiarize himself with instructional procedures and memorandums issued during his absence.

Straley has not been in the station since his suspension from duty Feb. 9, 1959. He was fired by the Civil Service Commission last spring and reinstated by a circuit court decree last month.

Straley was told to analyze these instructions, and to suggest changes or additions.

★ ★ ★

The chief was also ordered to complete an analysis of the report issued by the Public Administration Service (PAS) of Chicago.

NOT COMPLETED

Straley was assigned this task before being ousted last year but never completed the report. The PAS report was a blistering indictment of Straley's administration of the department.

"It is our basic guide," said Eastman. "I still want the chief's views."

Straley has publicly denounced the report as the work of an "amateur patrolman."

The chief was also told to review a report of Capt. R. T. Sherry of the Berkeley (Calif.) police department on the city's police records. Since his departure, the police records system has been completely revised.

★ ★ ★

SUBMIT REPORT

"You will be expected, as are all bureau commanders, to submit a weekly activity report to me each Monday," Eastman told the

Proposes 29-Point Program

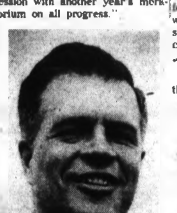

Williams Asks Tax Truce

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams today called for a truce on taxes and challenged the Legislature to an ambitious 29-point program to launch Michigan into the "Splendid Sixties."

He stressed measures for stimulating economic growth in an hour-long yet tight-knit State-of-the-State message—his 12th—to a joint meeting of the Senate and House.

Williams promised to submit later a balanced or nearly balanced 1960-61 state budget. Because of the tax and revenue freeze, it will be based "not upon needs but upon the inadequate realities," he said.

GOV. G. MENNEN WILLIAMS

The "sorry events" of 1959 severely damaged the people's confidence in government, he said; now it must be restored by a vigorous attack on growing heap of public problems.

It was only the second time in his dozen years in office that Williams shunned a recommendation for new taxes. To do otherwise would be an empty gesture, he said, after the nuisance tax decisions of December.

'TAX UP TO PEOPLE'

"The 1959 session determined that the question of an adequate

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams' program for Michigan in the year ahead "means more and greater spending" and higher taxes, a leading Republican senator said today. The Legislature, however, will retaliate with a program of thrift, said Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) after reading the Democratic governor's "State of the State" message.

and permanent tax program must be settled not by the Legislature but by the people," he said.

"So be it then! . . . Let us waste no more time arguing about it."

This referred to demands of the GOP legislative majority for a referendum in November on a four per cent sales tax. Williams favored an income tax.

With the steel strike threat banished, the governor said, improved revenue prospects will enable the state to get by financially with services at less than desirable levels but without serious disruption.

Part of the price will be carrying a 70 to 80 million dollar deficit, with most of the burden borne by schools and other local governments, he said.

"Yet, under the circumstances, I see no choice but to put before you a budget within, or very close to, existing revenues," he said.

So that no one will be misled, Williams went on, he will send along with the budget a list of important things the state could have undertaken had the Legislature enacted an "adequate" tax program.

The governor's 29-point program largely was a restatement of objectives he sought before from the Legislature and was denied.

It was thrown down as an election-year challenge. There was no particular appeal for bipartisan harmony. Each recommendation, if rejected, looked like it could be fashioned into a political war club for the fall months.

FEW SUGGESTIONS COSTLY

Few of the suggestions were costly, although the governor called for 30 million dollars in bonds for a five-year state park rehabilitation and expansion program and renewed previous recommendations for a state building authority, presumably to bond for 100 millions or more.

Before plunging into the specifics, Williams asked lawmakers to look beyond recent frustrations in reviewing what the "Fabulous Fifties" meant for Michigan.

"We have literally transformed the face of Michigan, in these 10 years, in a valiant and generally successful effort to keep abreast of our own destiny," he summarized.

"First among all the tasks of the 1960s is to strengthen, expand and diversify Michigan's economy so that it will provide

Bankrupt Firm Paid Ex-Official

Former State Insurance Head Says Michigan Surety Fees OK

LANSING (UPI)—Former Michigan Insurance Commissioner Joseph A. Navarre who ordered a halt to the investigation of the Michigan Surety Co. in 1958 received more than $12,000 in fees from the insolvent company.

Navarre said today the fees paid to a law firm he was a partner in "were perfectly proper and valid."

Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford said he wasn't "in a position to say which one was right" when asked to comment on Navarre's statement that he called off the probe because it bogged down.

Navarra said the fees had nothing to do with decision to abandon the investigation of the insolvent bonding company. The probe was halted in December 1958, about two weeks before he left office.

DECLARED INSOLVENT

Last week, Circuit Judge Louis E. Coash declared Michigan Surety was insolvent and ordered Blackford to take over control of the firm and its assets.

The ex-commissioner said he received no part of the fees that came to $2,000 in 1958 for legal services of the Navarre - Noble firm.

Navarre said his actual partnership with Noble began after he resigned.

Theodore Tubergen, chief examiner of the State Insurance Department, was responsible for starting the inquiry into Michigan Surety's practices in June 1958.

'BORE OUT' BELIEFS

Tubergen said, "The examination in 1959 bore out what we thought was going on.

"If the 1958 examination had been completed it would have shown the same results and the company would have been insolvent as of December 1957."

"It was apparent it was doing Michigan Surety a lot of harm," Navarre said, "and it had cost the company $70,000."

Blackford said, "I don't know why the investigation was called off. I simply felt I should get to the bottom of it by calling a new examination."

'DELIBERATELY' SILENT

He said he "deliberately" has not discussed the case with Navarre.

Blackford, a former aide to Gov. G. Mennen Williams and ex-chairman of the Liquor Control Commission, said he thought the Navarre issue was "a lot of past history."

$500,000 School Bond Issue Planned by City School Board

The Board of Education last night tentatively agreed on a $500,000 bond sale, mainly to finance construction of 12 classrooms next winter.

★ ★ ★

The Municipal Finance Commission was to be asked to approve sale of the bonds this spring.

Dr. Otto C. Hufziger, assistant superintendent of schools, said the new classrooms are sought to accommodate an anticipated enrollment rise of about 360 elementary school age pupils.

The classrooms will be constructed as additions to existing schools, but their exact locations have not been decided yet, he said.

The bonds are to be paid off through special tax levies. School districts are able to borrow annually up to 2 per cent of their state equalized valuations and pay the money back through special levies without voter approval.

The Board also approved preliminary plans for the addition of four classrooms and a multipurpose room at Mark Twain School. Claire Herring, project coordinate for H. E. Beyster & Associates, the architects, estimated the cost at $200,000, about $30,000 less than the Board had figured on.

The new facilities are to serve an anticipated enrollment of 120 pupils. The school, opened in 1956, has a capacity for 450. An unexpected increase in the families living around the school accounts for the increase in the school population, said Hufziger.

Completion of the multi-purpose room will mean that all Pontiac schools—with the exception of the new Washington Irving School — will have these special facilities for gymnasium, auditorium, cafeteria and community activities.

The Board of Education began adding multi-purpose rooms to existing schools in 1956.

Funds for the Mark Twain additions will come from both the $500,000 bond issue and a similar $450,000 bond issues sold last year.

The rest of last year's bond issue is going to finance additions to Herrington Hills and Franklin schools. Construction on these additions is under way.

Putnam Chosen to Head Two Music Departments

George H. Putnam, supervisor of vocal music in Pontiac high schools, also will take over command of instrumental music next month.

The Board of Education last night appointed Putnam to a new position — supervisor of instrumental and secondary vocal music — effective Feb. 1, the beginning of the spring semester.

As head of instrumental music, Putnam will be filling the administrative duties held by Dale C. Harris, who has resigned.

Putnam has supervised vocal music for high school pupils for six years.

His new salary yet has not been set.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, recommended combining vocal and instrumental music under one supervisor and nominated Putnam to the job.

COMBINE POSTS

"In a city the size of Pontiac, these two departments can be combined effectively," he said.

Putnam has been with the Pontiac school system since 1946 and has been associated with many musical activities outside of school.

He is chairman of the board of directors of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra; former director of the MacDowell Male Chorus; and has directed choirs at the First Methodist Church and the Central Methodist Church.

Two years ago, he was conductor of the All-State Chorus at National Music Camp at Interlochen.

Primarily associated with singing groups, Putnam has also had long experience with instrumental music.

GEORGE H. PUTNAM

During his first eight years as a teacher in his native Kansas, 1934-1942, Putnam taught both instrumental and vocal music in the public schools.

He was graduated from Kansas State Teachers College in 1934 and in 1941 received a master's degree in music education from Columbia University.

Proposes Bill to Help Cupid Cross Oceans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has come to the aid of Cupid, recommending an immigration law change to help foreign-born sweethearts of U. S. residents enter the country to get married.

★ ★ ★

The bill, approved for later House action, would provide a special three-month visitor's visa. If the marriage didn't take place within that time, the prospective bride or bridegroom would be liable to deportation. Similar temporary legislation, enacted after World War II, lapsed about 10 years ago.

Seeks Statewide Boys Program

Judge Moore to Propose Work, Education Camps for Teen Youths

Statewide programs to provide work and education for teen-age boys who have dropped out of school, similar to those at Camp Oakland, will be proposed to state officials tomorrow by Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Judge Moore has invited a group of state officials and legislators to tour Camp Oakland to see the facilities there.

Moore hopes the state might set up similar camps, patterned after the old Civilian Conservation Corps. (CCC) camps, but with education facilities added.

Under the judge's plans, the State Welfare Dept. would supervise the plan, the State Dept. of Public Instruction would provide the education, and the State Conservation Commission the work program.

Legislative appropriation or private contributions would be required to support the program.

A separate plan would be invoked, the judge suggests, for delinquent boys from 13 to 18 years, and for non-delinquents. The major difference between the two programs would be the shortening of the "probation period" of a boy in the case of the nondelinquent.

"The old C.C.C. program did not administer to the educational needs of the youth," Judge Moore said. "This should be a definite objective in the newly proposed program."

He said it is essential for 13 to 18-year-olds who have dropped out of school and are ripe for failing into trouble with the law because they are without work.

"They are a wasted national asset," Moore said.

After a satisfactory trial period of 2 to 12 weeks, the youth would then be assigned to the care of a director of one of the proposed work-education camps.

In the preliminary program, the youth would be given intensive remedial education for half a day, general work activity half a day, and recreational opportunity for the balance of each day.

Both the education, from teacher or tutor, and work program, at minimum rates of compensation, would continue for the remainder of the program, expected to last a full year.

Williams Urges Tax Truce in Long Annual Message

jobs for our continually growing population," he said.

To this end, he laid out 11 specific goals headed by enactment of an "economic growth act" modeled after the Federal Full Employment Act of 1947, and establishment of an "industrial FHA."

The growth act, he said, should provide a governor's council of economic advisers, periodic reports on the state's economy and a joint legislative committee on the economic report to holding hearings and direct research.

Under the industrial FHA plan, the state's faith and credit would be pledged to guarantee loans for industrial construction administered by a state industrial building authority.

This would be patterned after the existing program through which the state lends its credit to guarantee school construction borrowings. It would require statewide referendum approval.

In the same balloting, Williams urged renewal and liberalization of the 100-million-dollar school bond-guarantee program which will expire July 1, 1962 unless extended by popular vote.

A third economic growth recommendation urged creation of a commendation urged creation of a small business division in the economic development department.

The other eight, all offered in past years, called for an industrial park authority act, a commission on automation, an atomic energy act, a state labor relations law, a $1.25 an hour minimum wage, liberalized jobless pay, retraining of lorkers displaced by automation and a new Office of Consumer Protection representative.

In one of its most urgent passages, the message recommended filling of 48 existing vacancies in the state police force and an increase in 50 trooper positions as a means of rebounding from 1959's setback in traffic safety.

The governor recalled that a dramatic reduction in the highway death toll followed addition of 200 men to the police force under an authorization by the 1955 Legislature.

Other new or substantially revived recommendations included:

A special commission on water use and rights to make a comprehensive study and recommend a sound state water policy.

A community college development commission to develop plans for orderly expansion and development of the state's community college system.

Authority for the state health commissioner to establish air pol-

A nine-judge appellate court, with appeal as a matter of right in criminal cases. The appellate court would siphon off some of the load that now goes from the circuit courts to the Supreme Court.

Creation of an office of local government representative to give cities, townships and counties a coordinated and more direct voice in Lansing.

Completion of 500 beds at the Plymouth State Home and Training School to take some of the pressure off the backlog of mentally retarded children, now about 1,000, awaiting hospital care.

Dr. Feller will speak on "Current Methods in Treatment of Burns." Dr. Davey's topic will be Pulmonary Sarcoidosis."

J. L. Lewis Drops UMW Reins Today

Lewis is retiring from a lifetime spent improving the lot of the coal miners, organizing millions of workers in the steel, auto and other mass production industries, pioneering in pension-welfare plans, and engaging in epic battles with Presidents and the courts to achieve his aims.

* * *

Lewis, who will be 80 on Feb. 12, reportedly plans to continue an active life. He is an influential figure in banking circles here. Also, he is considering writing his memoirs.

Thomas Kennedy, 72, UMW vice president, was to take over the presidency as a union executive board this afternoon.

Lewis informed the UMW membership just before Christmas that the time had come for him to retire.

* * *

He said Kennedy, former lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania and a UMW member for 60 years, would be an able successor.

Interest centered on whom the union picks to succeed Kennedy as No. 2 man because, before many years, this choice could become the UMW's chief.

Two long time aides of Lewis—W. A. (Tony) Boyle and Michael F. Widman Jr. — top the list of possibilities to become the new UMW vice president.

* * *

Widman, 59, is Lewis' top assistant credited with directing the Ford Motor Co. organizing drive when Lewis headed the old CIO.

Peru Rushes Aid to Quake Area

At Least 63 Killed as Earth Trembler Strews Havoc in Arequipa

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Supplies and other aid were rushed today to Arequipa, victim of Peru's second severe earthquake in less than a month.

* * *

At least 63 persons were reported killed and 200 injured in the south Peruvian city. Communications with the capital were broken Wednesday night and officials said the toll might be much higher.

* * *

Many of Arequipa's 80,000 residents slept in the streets following the last of three tremors that leveled houses and stores and knocked over telephone poles.

About 60 per cent of the city and its suburbs was reported destroyed or seriously damaged.

* * *

Officials said the city's morgue was filled with bodies dug from the debris and rubble. Immediate identification was impossible in many cases because of the mutilated condition of the victims.

Planes and troops arriving with rescue equipment and relief supplies found large sections of the city and suburbs without water supplies and communication facilities.

* * *

The shocks, felt in Bolivia and Chile, also cut off several highways leading into Arequipa, which is about 480 miles southeast of Lima.

Both Parties Frowning on Elections Fund Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts to limit primary campaign spending as part of a clean elections bill ran into strong opposition today from Republican and Southern Democratic senators.

Inclusion of primaries has been proposed as an amendment to a bill which would require fuller reports of campaign financing and increase legal spending ceilings for candidates and political committees. Present law, and the bill as drawn, apply only to general election campaigns.

* * *

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) said the amendment is opposed by all the Southern senators and also, he believes, by more than half of the Republican senators.

* * *

He said he couldn't conceive of a majority of the senators voting for it.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb), top GOP member of the committee that handled the bill, said that he is opposed to the amendment and that so is Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader.

He told newsmen that in his opinion adoption of the amendment would kill the whole bill.

The amendment to make the measure apply to primaries and nominating conventions was offered by Sens. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo) and Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY).

Leaders hoped to get a vote on the amendment late today and possibly complete Senate action on the bill Friday night. It is the first major legislation to be taken up at the present session of Congress.

Russell told newsmen that every state has laws governing primaries and said he saw no reason to set aside a whole body of state law by a federal statute.

He said he not only is opposed in principle to "concentrating all power in Washington" but also feels that, in this particular instance, the nomination of candidates should be controlled by state law.

Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) however, spoke up in support of the Hennings-Keating amendment. "The inclusion of primaries is a key provision to any meaningful revision of the election laws," he said.

Henry Mehlberg to Head Waterford Zoning Board

One of the newly-appointed members, Carlos G. Richardson, was elected vice-chairman, and Russell Hicks will be the new secretary of the seven-member board.

Besides Richardson, the township board had appointed Donald Keyden and Glenn Nelsey to replace Burton Hilliker, Adolf Stewart and James Devereaux to the positions which pay $10 for each monthly meeting.

A hearing date has been set for Feb. 10 for the rezoning from residential to recreational of 20 acres of land on Coomer road near Cooley Lake road.

* * *

The request was presented by Arthur Yoder of Royal Oak and Kenneth Irvine of Wyandotte.

"In the existing situation, if one country resumed tests, it would be followed by other states possessing nuclear weapons," he warned.

"The country which resumes tests first will thus assume grave responsibility," he added.

"I would like to stress again that the Soviet Union will also in the future adhere to its pledge not to resume experimental explosions, providing nobody else does so."

Deer on Dixie Causes Crash

Pontiac Ordnance Man in Hospital After Car Hits Truck

A scurrying deer caused a car-truck collision on Dixie highway in Independence Township last evening, sending two government inspectors returning home from work at Pontiac Motor Division to Pontiac General Hospital.

The car in which Glenn A. Hardy, 58, of 403 Second St., Davison, and Peter S. Marino Jr., 46, of 367 E. Baltimore Blvd., Flint, were riding caught fire after the accident.

Deputies said Hardy's car ran into a truck driven by Robert W. Dick, 26, of 556 Montcalm St. Dick was examined at the city hospital and released.

* * *

Eastman also ordered Straley to submit weekly "progress" reports on assignments. The chief will also have to estimate the date he'll finish each of his assignments.

"As a member of the police department, all instruction a l memos will require the same compliance from you as from other members of the police department," Eastman told Straley.

Landry said Eastman refused the chief a police car and a masterkey of the Public Safety Building. He said Eastman couldn't find Straley's badge to return it to him, although he did return Straley's service pistol.

Landry said Eastman greeted Straley with the words, "Well, have you come back for a vacation or to go to work?"

This reception was contrary to the city manager's assurance to me last week that Straley would get a fair and square deal," said Landry.

Straley read the orders in Eastman's presence, about 2½ hours after his arrival.

"Very well," he said, and left the public safety director's office.

* * *

STATION QUIET

The request for keys to the building was turned down. "He'll get a key when he has full operational responsibility," Eastman explained.

* * *

The chief's request for a police car was also denied.

"He'll have to get one out of our car pool just like other officers do," Eastman said.

Griffin to Speak at Banquet Here

Lincoln Republican Club Will Host Ex-Resident Noted for Labor Bill

Oakland County Republicans next month will hear Michigan Congressman Robert P. Griffin, co-author of the new labor reform bill and possible candidate for a Senate seat.

A former resident of Pontiac, Griffin yesterday accepted by telegram an invitation to speak at the 70th annual Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club banquet Feb. 9.

Theodore Koella, club president, said he was pleased with Griffin's acceptance. The location and time of the banquet haven't been determined.

Griffin, recently selected by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the country's 10 outstanding young men, made a name for himself nationally when he cosponsored the labor bill last year.

* * *

Since then he has been mentioned as a possible candidate for Democratic Sen. Patrick C. McNamara's seat in this year's election.

OKs Pontiac Sale of Tax Notes for General Hospital

The Municipal Finance Commission has approved Pontiac's selling $450,000 in tax anticipation notes to finance completion of the Pontiac General Hospital expansion project.

City Manager Walter K. Willman hoped the notes would be sold by early next month. Bids may be sought Tuesday, he said.

* * *

The $450,000 is primarily to cover extra expenses involved in remodeling the hospital's east wing.

The remodeling — last step in the five-year expansion program — is to be completed by the end of next month.

The hospital has promised to pay back the money out of an expected increase in revenues after the expansion program is finished.

* * *

The notes are to be retired out of 1961 tax collections for capital improvements.

During the night and early morning rain and snow fell in the central plains, extending into Missouri as rain, with some freezing drizzle in northern Kansas and southern Nebraska.

Freezing drizzle was reported in northeastern Minnesota, the eastern Lake Erie region and northwestern Pennsylvania.

* * *

Clear skies were confined mostly to Southern California eastward through Arizona and in Florida northward through the Carolinas.

Theodore Mach, chairman of the Northwest Indianwood Homeowners Assn., has registered a complaint to the Township Board about factory traffic from Artco Inc., and Sea Ray Industries on Indianwood road.

Mach said residents of the area object to trucks and employes' cars entering the road from the factories without stopping and passing halted school buses.

The township clerk has been instructed to write to the two companies asking that their employes be requested to stop before entering the road, to watch for school buses and generally to drive with care in that area.

The board has appointed Clarence H. Nank constable to fill a vacancy.

Seek Funds to Construct Schools, Operate, Up Pay

By LEE WINBORN

LAKE ORION — The Lake Orion Board of Education last night set March 21 as the date for a special election on a two-phase proposal to raise extra millage for school operation, future construction and an improved salary schedule.

If approved at the polls, the first phase will provide for a delay in levying the 6½ mills on the high school for one year, earmarking that millage for construction purposes.

According to Superintendent of Schools A. A. Reed, it is permissible to delay the high school millage levy for the one-year period because there will be a cash reserve of $243,731 on hand June 30 to meet next year's payments.

By levying the 6½ mills for construction for one year, an estimated $116,025 in cash through tax anticipation notes would be available for immediate use, Reed said. This figure is based on present valuations and 85 per cent collection.

The second phase of the millage proposal provides for canceling the present 3-mill levy which expires next year and levying 8 mills for construction and operation for a 3-year period.

Of the 8 mills, two would be used for future construction and three for operation.

The program would provide 10 to 12 classrooms, paid for in two years instead of with long-term bonds, school officials said.

Preliminary plans call for the addition of five more classrooms and a multipurpose room at Carpenter School to meet the present and anticipated growth in Judah Lake Estates.

It is also planned to add four rooms at Webber School if the issue passes. By building onto this school, Reed said, he would be able to remove the fifth grade from the junior high school thereby leaving more space there for the higher grades.

Further provisions of the program are for an improved salary schedule, reduced class loads and for additional funds for operation and teaching materials.

The per pupil cost of education in the Lake Orion district now is $260, which is $65 under the county average of $325.

Board members said that failure to provide these additional funds would result in more crowded classrooms, use of rented o sub-standard rooms, half-day sessions and reduced school services to the children.

In mapping a program for future construction, they pointed out that the present enrollment is 3,127, and, based on the anticipated known growth rate of 6 per cent, it will mount to 4,217 by 1965.

The entire program calls for a 5-mill increase over present taxes or $9.26 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. It also provides for a total of $187,425 of immediate construction funds, without bonding, with an estimated $126,000 to be set aside for future additions in 1965, based on present valuation.

This program would permit the Lake Orion district to qualify under the law as a hardship district to be eligible for $26,000 additional state aid.

Before drafting the millage proposal the educators called in representatives of all organizations in the district and asked their help in conducting a study of school needs. The results of their findings were incorporated in the program adopted to submit to the voters.

Madison Woman Alleges Shooting

Mrs. Carl Williamson of 25320 Dei St. told police that she and her husband were in the living room watching television when she thought she heard someone fooling with the family car.

She said she ran out onto the driveway and saw a man forcing the locked door of her car and a second man getting out of a car parked behind that of the Williamsons'.

Mrs. Williamson believes it was the man by her car who fired once before fleeing in the Williamsons' car. She ran into the house and her husband called the police.

Neighbors reported that they heard the shot, but police were unable to find any slug at the scene.

Senior Trip Out at Rochester

ROCHESTER — Senior trips for Rochester High School students were canceled by the Board of Education last night.

Superintendent Donald C. Baldwin said that only 76 out of the 212 members of the 1960 graduating class had indicated they planned to take the trip.

"Generally speaking 75 per cent of the class must be interested," the superintendent said. So it was upon his recommendation and that of the high school principal, Harlan Johnson, that the Board decided the trips be canceled.

Another contributing factor influencing the Board's ruling was that the administrators felt the trips also had lost their "educational value," Baldwin said.

Need More Tax Power

Townships Bursting

LANSING (AP) — Michigan citizens will be "tremendously surprised" when the 1960 census reveals the extent of township development in the past decade, reports the executive secretary of the Michigan Townships Assn.

★ ★ ★

Joseph Parisi told delegates to the group's convention yesterday that 80 per cent of Michigan's growth is taking place in townships, which now contain more than half of the state's population.

Portage Township, Kalamazoo County, has grown from a population of 7,946 in 1950 to more than 20,000 today, he said. Redford Township, Wayne County, has gone from 18,940 in 1930 to close to 70,000.

"Much of this growth is directly attributable to the location of industry in the townships," Parisi said. "This means people are going to build more houses. In turn, this is going to cause increased demand for services.

"All we are asking for," he said, "is an opportunity to provide the same utilities and services for our people as re provided in the incorporated areas of our state. And we can do this without annexation."

"We must ever be on guard for any new ideas, schemes or plans, which under the guise of co-called efficiency or economy transfers the functions of local government to the next higher level, or worse still, to state or national agencies or bureaus," Parisi said.

Accused of Robbery, Faces Lie Test Today

DRYDEN TOWNSHIP — A 30-year-old Dryden man will be given a lie detector test in Bay City today. Officials hope to learn the truth in his denial of robbing a Detroit taxicab driver who brought him home yesterday.

Held for investigation of armed robbery in Lapeer County Jail is Ronald Hunsinger, 30, of Seven Ponds.

Sheriff Tim Parks said the taxicab driver claims Hunsinger pushed something in his back that he thought was a gun and demanded his money. He said he gave Hunsinger $25.

The cab driver is Fred Lamprey, 62, who telephoned the sheriff's office after he arrived in Dryden to report the alleged robbery. Deputies picked Hunsinger up at his home and he was later identified by Lamprey.

Attorney Seeks Reinstatement

LANSING (AP) — Walter O. Estes, Lansing attorney suspended from the practice of law in 1952 and a figure in the "Fort Ziegenhardt" case, has applied for reinstatement to the state bar for one year in 1952.

The suspension resulted from litigation involving the Lapeer Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co., during which Estes, represented some of the policyholders. It was charged Estes improperly criticized a circuit judge who heard briefs he filed in the case.

The case was a celebrated one in the Thumb Area in the early 1950s. Several farmers refused to pay assessments for settlement of claims on the bankrupt insurance firm.

Chris and Paul Ziegenhardt, who lived near Marlette, were the most militant of these and built a "fort" on their farm to stand off sheriff's deputies trying to move them.

The farm eventually was seized to pay the claims and the brothers were moved off the property.

Estes appealed the suspension order through the state and U. S. supreme courts over a period of seven years but his appeals were denied.

Estes was advised by the U.S. Supreme Court last year he could apply for reinstatement since the one-year suspension had long since elapsed.

State Lawmakers Wrapped Up in Coming Elections

Have Little Time for Farm Legislation

A recent poll of the legislators indicated such things as the seal of quality proposal and possible changes in milk marketing laws may crop up but apparently the Michigan farmer can look for little change in the way of legislation from his senator or representative.

"A better milk bill is in the making," said Rep. George Gillespie (R-Gaines), who is chairman of the House Agricultural Committee.

Gillespie last year introduced a milk marketing bill which called for regulation of prices from cow to consumer but the measure died in his committee.

Rep. Riemer Van Til (R-Holland) said only there might be some bills introduced to change marketing and inspection laws.

★ ★ ★

"I expect the seal of quality legislation will be introduced again and if put on a voluntary participation basis, should be enacted," said Sen. John Fitzgerald (R-Grand Ledge).

"Michigan products are the nation's best and we should find some way of boasting them on a national level," said Fitzgerald.

The seal of quality measure, urged by Gov. G. Mennen Williams every year since he became chief executive, was expected to pass last session when many saw it as nearly a sure thing.

However, it did not pass and died in Gillespie's committee.

The bill would permit designating certain farm products which came up to standard, to have the seal, a move some consider vital in marketing Michigan products in competition with products from other states.

House Democratic Leader Joseph Kowalski (D-Detroit) said the program "continues to pick up farm support."

Said Kowalski: "This may be the year it passes."

There was little done during the 1959 session in 11 months so there was little reason to look for something in the current session, he said.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Carroll Newton (R-Delton) said he hoped for a law "to consolidate some of the many milk inspections we now have."

Interest in the November election in getting ready for campaigning and in any tax proposals which might appear on the November ballot were expected to take up most of the legislators' time and interest.

THE LADY AND THE GIANT

By Clarence Budington Kelland

THE STORY: The discovery of a fossilized giant at Cardiff near Syracuse is a sensation. So also is Madam Claire Janeway, beautiful, mysterious and rich. Madam Janeway has engaged a young lawyer, Orrin Applegate, to handle her legal affairs.

IV

"I suggested to Mr. Watts," she said, "that we have some arrangement on a—" She hesitated for the word.

"Retainer basis," said Mr. Watts.

Madam Janeway lifted her brows as if she, too, were displeased.

"It will be satisfactory," I said gravely. It would, indeed. Fifty dollars a month represented a substantial income.

"Please don't go, Mr. Applegate," she said. "We must become acquainted. If Mr. Watts wishes to be rid of us—" She gave him an arch smile, and he purred.

* * *

"Indeed not, Madam Janeway," he hastened to say. He turned to me. "Perhaps you'd better sit down, Orrin."

I preferred to stand.

* * *

"I think," he said in an instant, "that Madam Janeway wishes to ask you about what happened at the Newell farm yesterday. I understand you were present. It seems to have reached her ears."

"While digging a well," I said cautiously, "workmen discovered a great stone figure. A gigantic figure. Two clergymen who were present declared it to be the petrified body of a once-living titan."

YOUR OPINION?

Discretion halted me. "I have reserved judgment," I said.

"As a professional man naturally would do," she said. "May one see this marvel?"

"My guess," said I, "is that Stubby Newell plans to exhibit it for a fee."

"I'm unfamiliar with the country," she said. "I wonder if you can dine with me and then drive out to this place with me. To show my coachman the way."

"I shall be happy to do so," I assured her.

* * *

Madam Janeway and I dined together. It was not the heavy noonday meal to which I was accustomed, but more on the dainty side. When we had finished, she rang for the butler, calling him Oscar, and bade him summon her carriage.

* * *

In a minute or so he reappeared to tell her the carriage was waiting. We went out, took our seats and were driven into James Street. As we turned into the public road, I saw Lossie in a hammock on her lawn.

At sight of me beside Madam Janeway, she straightened so suddenly that she all but fell out. The last I saw of her as we trotted up the street was laughable. She was standing, bent a little forward, with her mouth agape.

Many rigs were heading for the same destination, and when we arrived at the farm there were a score of people standing in line waiting for admission to the tent which Stubby had erected over the pit in which lay the giant.

There was even a ticket booth stating that admission was 50 cents. Madam produced a dollar and I procured tickets, and we took our places in the queue.

* * *

In 10 minutes we were leaning on the rail which Stubby had erected around the hole and staring down at that strange, bewildering, distorted figure.

* * *

Madam gazed down at it for a long time, and then turned to me with a serious face. "I should like to see this man Newell," she told me.

"There he stands," I said, pointing.

IT WASN'T POLITE

This I did not comprehend, nor did I think it polite to ask her meaning. We re-entered the carriage and drove back to town. I saw her up the steps and took my departure.

No sooner had I reached the path to our door than Lossie popped around the corner of the house and confronted me, hands on slender hips and fire in her eyes.

She said no word, but stepped close to me and then, without warning, slapped my face so vigorously that I staggered; and, turning, ran as fast as she could for her own kitchen door.

I was not enraged. If I could have caught her, I would undoubtedly have smacked her, as had happened years ago when we quarreled. I was not angry, but on the contrary and to my own astonishment, I was pleased.

I awakened early on a beautiful Sunday morning and went downstairs to breakfast. Father and mother and I would go to church, of course, and then we were to have dinner with the Foxes, as it was their turn.

Father and I strolled out to see to the horses. I went to the oat bin while father went to the stalls, and I heard him utter a strangled noise, as if someone had punched him in the stomach.

I dropped the scoop and went to where he stood, frozen, staring into our carriage. From his very position I could sense that something was wrong—something was very wrong.

On the rear seat of our carriage sat a stranger, leaning back against the cushion, but with his head on his breast. He was a bearded man with the sort of whiskers named after General Burnside. From between his teeth, horribly, protruded a swollen tongue; his heavy face was livid and he was unmistakably dead. He had been strangled.

Breather Pipes Burn Up Fumes

Air Pollution Group Claim $2 Device Cuts Gasses by One-Third

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Automobile crankcase breather pipes costing less than $2 can cut smog fumes one third, the Air Pollution Control District says.

Reversing its previous opinion about breather devices, the APCD said new tests had proven that about 50 tons of pollutants per day are discharged into the air from crankcases.

The breather pipes carry these fumes from the crankcase to the cylinders, where they are burned.

County Supervisor Warren M. Dorn demanded that the devices be installed at once on all 3,500 vehicles in the county fleet. He said he would ask Gov. Edmund G. Brown to include consideration of making installation mandatory in special legislative call next month.

* * *

The APCD said the pipes do not lessen the need for controls on exhausts, adding that another 1,000 tons of pollutants comes from this source each day.

Time to Leave the Past Behind, Says Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I went with this man for three years and it was the real thing, but we had a big fight and before he cooled off he jumped into a marriage which he regretted right away.

ABBY

I am still single but I have no time for him because he is a married man now and has been for 6 years.

Every time his wife goes to a hospital to have another baby he calls me at work and sends me telegrams begging me to see him. He says he still loves me. To tell you the truth, I still have a soft spot in my heart for him. I know I shouldn't see him, but how can I get him out of my heart before I weaken?

STILL CARE

DEAR STILL: There is nothing you can do about a "soft spot in your heart." Just make sure it doesn't spread to your head. Try to get interested in someone else. Nothing kills an old romance quicker than a new one.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have this to say to the mother of the retarded child who wrote that her mother-in-law mistreated the boy:

I am the father of a 7-year-old retarded child. I have been working for two years, striving to get instruction and recreation for these retarded children. I hope I can continue to work for this cause for the rest of my life.

As for the husband, I'd put him out just as fast as I'd put his mother out. Since he has permitted this to happen, he has ceased to be a man, let alone a father. I pray this grandmother will right her ways, and that the father (?) becomes a man before his retarded son, Billy, beats him to it.

Don't withhold my name if you print my letter; I am proud that God has singled me out to care for one of His "exceptional" children.

Yours truly,
Ridgewood, N.Y.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I can sympathize with that woman who was taunted by her in-laws because she had no sons; only daughters.

We have five daughters. My husband's brother, whose only achievement in life has been to sire four sons, loves to throw it up to us. What sort of come-back can I offer?

MOTHER OF GIRLS

DEAR MOTHER: Quote this little rhyme: "Oh, my son's my son 'til he gets him a wife, But my daughter's a daughter all her life." (Dinah M. M. Craik)

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CAN'T WIN": To disagree without being disagreeable is an art. State your case — but watch your language.

Have you read Abby's new, best-selling book, "DEAR TEEN-AGER"?

Hayhow to Step Down as State Press Head

EAST LANSING (UP)—Editors and publishers of Michigan's 56 daily and more than 300 weekly newspapers will meet Jan. 29-30 at Michigan State University for the annual convention of the Michigan Press Assn. (MPA).

Elmer E. White, MPA secretary-manager, said advance registrations indicate an attendance of more than 600 newspapermen and their wives.

Featured speakers will be two syndicated columnists — Sylvia Porter, specialist in business trends and finance, and Earl Wilson Broadway and cafe society columnist.

* * *

A president will be elected to succeed E. C. (Ted) Hayhow, publisher of the Hillsdale Daily News and former city editor of The Pontiac Press. A nominating committee has recommended First Vice President Jack C. Sinclair of the Hartford Day Spring.

Scientists Convert Heat to Aid Tiny Light Bulbs

The conversion was done in experiments by scientists at the General Atomic Division of the General Dynamics Corp. at its John Jay Hopkins Laboratory for pure and applied science in San Diego, California.

The alternating current, a company spokesman here said, was produced by a high temperature cesium cell converter in which the temperature reached about 3,500 degrees Fahrenheit.

The converter had no rotating machinery as DC-AC converters which convert direct current to alternating current generators have. A cesium cell is a chemical cell using the element cesium.

The alternating current produced was in the high range of 100 kilocycles normally used for radio transmissions. However, the scientists expect no difficulty in reducing the frequency to the level providing by most utilities for home and industrial use.

* * *

Previously, direct current had been produced from experimental electrodynamic devices in laboratories. Alternating current is preferred for household appliances and most industrial uses.

Dr. Frederick de Hoffman, General Atomic Division President predicted that direct conversion equipment may replace steam boilers, turbines and generators in power plants. But, he said, a great deal of research and development must be done before the experiment can have large-scale commercial application.

Army to Negotiate on Saturn Stages

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army Ballistic Missile Agency, at Huntsville, Ala. has been asked to start negotiations with industry within a month for new type upper stages for the Saturn space vehicle.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Wednesday it and the Defense Department had asked ABMA to start the dealings with manufacturers.

* * *

The new upper stages will use cryogenic propellants—propellants which have to be kept extremely cold.

Original plans were for the upper stages of the Saturn to be Titan and Centaur rockets.

* * *

NASA said the initial Saturn vehicle will consist of two or three stages depending on specific missions.

The project contemplates that the Saturn will be capable of landing a 1500-pound payload on the moon, placing an 800-pound satellite in orbit around the moon, placing a 900-pound satellite in orbit around Venus, and landing a 400-pound payload on Venus.

The Irish Free State was set up in 1922.

Arson Again Suspected in Avon

Second Farmhouse Burns

AVON TOWNSHIP — For the second time in less than two weeks fire has destroyed an empty farmhouse in the Rochester area, and arson is suspected as the cause.

At 1 a.m. today the Rochester Fire Department was summoned by a passing motorist to fight a blaze which already had half-enveloped an unoccupied house on S. Livernois road, south of Avon road.

The firemen made no attempt to save the building. It had been vacant for two of three years, according to Fire Chief George Ross, and there were no windows or doors left in it.

One of the reasons investigators believe the fire was set is that the electrical wiring also had been removed.

Ross said license numbers were taken from cars in the area at the time the fire was discovered, and will be checked for possible arson connections.

No arrests have yet been made in the vacant house fire of Jan. 3 where arson also was believed to be the cause.

Professional Groups Start Association

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Assn. of the Professions (MAP), an organization representing five professional groups, officially started its activities here yesterday.

The new organization will draw its membership from the state's 25,000 physicians, lawyers, dentists, engineers and architects.

Hugh W. Brenneman of Lansing, executive director of the association, said last night 2,000 members have been enrolled.

MAP's charter was granted Dec. 1, 1958. Since that time five committees have been formed.

Representatives at yesterday's meetings formed plans for the first Congress of the Professions, scheduled in Detroit Jan. 22-23. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Arthur Flemming; George Romney, American Motors Corp. president, and Rep. Gerald Ford (R-Mich) will address the congress.

Clear Fireman of Charity Theft

Only 2 to 12 Accused of Taking Goodfellow Cash Are Sentenced

A jury of five women and one man deliberated only 17 minutes yesterday before finding a third Royal Oak Township fireman innocent of embezzling Goodfellow charity funds at Christmastime.

Edward Tennant, 37, as acquitted for lack of evidence. He was one of 12 men, including three firemen and five policemen, accused of pocketing money they collected in the annual Goodfellow paper sales Dec. 14.

So far only two of the 12 men have been found guilty, neither by jury trial. They were Police Capt. William Ware and Patrolman Ernest Wilson.

All of the accused firemen and policemen were fired from their posts by the Township Board and are now appealing to the Township Civil Service Board for reinstatement.

Visiting Farmington Township Justice of the Peace James Lawson, who presided at yesterday's trial, said firemen David Lockridge and Willie Brown will be tried Friday.

According to Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor James E. Roberts, similar charges will probably be dismissed against James Dickens, son of Royal Oak Township Supervisor Elwood C. Dickens, for lack of evidence.

When found guilty, Police Chief Ware was fined $100 and ordered to write the Ten Commandments once each day for the next two years and submit them to his probation officer. Patrolman Wilson was fined $50.

They were convicted on testimony by state police that they failed to turn in marked dollar bills at the end of the day they were collected.

. . . Have you ever noticed there's nobody quite as boring as a guy who's a better story-teller than you are? . . . Wives are so stupid, it's amazing! They're so dumb they take it easy while their husbands work themselves to death and then they get a new young guy with his life insurance.

Motors Higher in Market Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—Motors were active and higher as the stock market staged a moderate rally early today. Trading was brisk over-all.

* * *

Selective improvement throughout the list brought gains of fractions to about a point to many key stocks. Small losers showed in a number of groups.

Most chemicals, rails, utilities and drugs also advanced.

The market had run a string of straight daily declines and this was the third session that prices were firm at the outset. On two previous occasions the early gains were erased.

The rise by motors was accompanied by a published prediction that Detroit was heading for its second best auto year. Ford, American Motors and Studebaker-Packard were up about a point each while General Motors and Chrysler added fractions.

Wideman, Jarvis Chosen

Sylvan Fills Two Posts

The Sylvan Lake City Council appointed Howard E. Wideman to a vacant Council seat and elected G. Richard Jarvis mayor pro-tem at last night's monthly meeting.

* * *

The term expires in November, 1961.

NEW NUISANCE ORDINANCE

Councilmen named City Manager David E. Firestone as the city's Municipal League contact man while the State Legislature is in session.

* * *

He and other Board members were to attend the League's regional meeting in St. Clair Shores today.

Firestone also will attend the University of Michigan Management Institute Feb. 3-5 in Ann Arbor.

Asian Flu Hits Michigan Again

Outbreak Milder This Year, Reports State Health Commissioner

LANSING (AP) — Asian flu has cropped up again in Michigan but the outbreak is described as mild by the State Health Department.

"As of the moment, it is nothing alarming," said Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner. "There is a lot of flu and disease of the upper respiratory tract around, however."

The last serious outbreak of Asian flu hit Michigan in the fall of 1957. Industrial plants and state agencies were particularly hard hit and absenteeism in some schools ran up to 60 per cent.

Dr. E. S. Leeder, head of the department's bureau of disease control, said three cases had been confirmed in Detroit.

He said absenteeism was higher than usual in schools and factories in Detroit, Flint and Saginaw.

* * *

"We think it should be a mild outbreak this time," Dr. Leeder said. "Those who had it in 1957 shouldn't get it again."

Dr. Leeder said the health department was not urging mass inoculations as in 1957.

It would be advisable for elderly persons, particularly those in poor health, and young people to be inoculated against the disease, he said.

* * *

Several deaths were attributed to the disease in 1957. These occurred mostly among infants and elderly persons with other ailments.

The symptoms, Dr. Leeder said, include a headache, high fever and general body pains. The attack lasts about three days and bed rest is the best cure, he said.

* * *

Swastika 'Fad' Seen Replacing Panty Raids

By United Press International

Swastika-painting penetrated even deeper into U.S. society today despite increasingly alarmed denunciations by civic, union and religious leaders.

* * *

As the newest college fad, it threatened to become as widespread as panty raids. As an outlet for juvenile energies, it caught on like rock 'n' roll music. As a symbol of bigotry, it thrived unabated.

But offenders were being caught and punished. An Ohio State University student was suspended. A student at La Crosse, Wis., State College and four other youths were ordered to court and a 12-year-old New York City boy was charged with juvenile delinquency.

National leaders, following President Eisenhower's lead, expressed concern over anti-Semitic acts — the desecrating of synagogues and harassing of Jews — and said it brought to mind the Germany of Hitler's era.

The United States has only 6 per cent of the world population, but has nearly 70 per cent of the automobiles.

Firms With Poor Rate of Earnings Won't Do Well, Gersen Says

NEW YORK (UPI)—The big capital gains in 1960 are most likely to come from issues which are now undervalued, or from companies which are turning the corners, predicts Gersen of Wall Street.

The firm indicates that securities now selling at 30, 40 and 50 times their earning will not likely raise much dust in the coming year.

* * *

Bache & Co. favors accumulation of the following issues in short-term trading accounts: General Telephone, General Electric, Western Union, Checker Motors and National Distillers.

Standard & Poor's Corp. lists the following stocks for safety and income: American Telephone, Bank of America, Boston Edison, General Foods, National Biscuits, Sears Roebuck, Standard Brands, Borg-Warner, Sherwin-Williams and Standard Oil (Indiana), among others.

* * *

Trendex notes that most of the high-grade stocks that have been quite strong in the past three months are now suspects. "There is much less long-side risk in depressed low-priced stocks and secondary stocks. Many such issues drifted in 1959 down to unrealistically low prices."

* * *

In Memoriam

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MY dear husband, William Alfred Hardy, who passed away 3 years ago today.

His memory will be treasured dearly.
They say time heals all sorrow,
And helps us to forget;
But time has only proven,
How much we miss him yet.
God gave us strength to face it,
Courage to bear the blow;
But what is meant to be,
No one will ever know.

Sadly missed by wife, Velle, and two daughters, Elsie and Lela and their families.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF A DEAR HUSband and dad, Charles Alfred Dawson, who passed away suddenly January 14th, 1956. Loved and remembered always. Jane and John.
