Johnson Begins Work Toward 'Great Society'

College Drive Hits Target; to Close Site Sale Today

With sufficient funds on hand and pledged to justify the purchase, authorities are closing the details today for the site on Opdyke and Auburn to house an osteopathic college.

The exact amount required will be uncertain until the committee pays the taxes now due and makes an estimate of the interest required. Many pledges were spread over 1964, 1965 and 1966.

The unpaid amounts will have to be borrowed and then repaid as the money comes in, together with the interest accrued. The ultimate total needed exceeds $390,000.

The land has been owned by a trust representing the Fisher brothers and their families. Edward F. and William A. Fisher contributed $7,500 apiece toward a realization of Pontiac's goal.

The transaction is being handled today through the National Bank of Detroit which represents the widespread Fisher ownership.

The ultimate possibilities on this location in the hands of the osteopathic physicians are limitless.

With government aid, at the very outset they contemplate the investment of $6 million for the most modern osteopathic college in the world.

Considerable work remains to place the 164-acre site in shape to house the buildings that will be erected. Plans and specifications for these structures must be drawn and approved in detail.

"We are very anxious to get under way," stated Dr. Benjamin Dickinson, president-elect of the Michigan Osteopathic Association, to The Press today. "This great institution will be modern in every detail and yet will be of functional design so no money will go into frills or gingerbread.

"Osteopathy has been enjoying a tremendous upswing in the past two decades," he declared, "and our hospital facilities have lagged far, far behind in accommodations.

"We also recognize the huge upsurge in population across the country today, and our plans really contemplate an institution here that will some day total an investment of many times the original $6 million we are preparing to invest now.

"We are very happy with our location in Pontiac for you are the hub of an area that has four million people already, within easy access, and more will come.

"The entire nation is short of colleges, universities, osteopathic and medical facilities today. It will take many, many times what we are currently planning to fill the need.

"We want to thank the people of the Pontiac area for grasping this fine opportunity and assisting us as readily as they have and with the great enthusiasm they have shown. Their rapid cooperation and generosity has been an inspiration to us all."

Forgotten Man Hero of Day

Knudsen Contribution Puts Drive Over Top

The final big contribution toward the osteopathic hospital was a dramatic presentation.

"You haven't handled this drive too well," S. E. Knudsen, general manager of Chevrolet, challenged The Press.

His listener swallowed hard. "We thought we'd done well. We're within $7,100 of our objective."

"No one has asked me for a cent," countered Bunkie.

"Well, you're on the spot at this precise moment," he was told. "This is a direct request, and an open-handed plea from two bended knees. Will you help us close this $7,100 gap?"

HARDLY HESITATED

Mr. Knudsen hardly hesitated. "I'll give the $7,100."

Restoratives were promptly applied to the recumbent form of the local solicitor who fainted dead away.

But the $7,100 is official.

And another grand last-minute gift came from Dr. Benjamin Dickinson, Royal Oak osteopath. Dr. Dickinson loaned the first $5,000 to secure an option, when the whole thing was pretty nebulous and there wasn't any cash in hand.

'GRAND FUND'

As the gap was closing, the doctor said simply at the last full-dress committee meeting:

"I'll put my $5,000 into this grand Pontiac fund. I think the citizens of this community have done a wonderful job and I'm happy and proud to take part with them."

Bateman Is Installed as Head of Realtors

A crowd of nearly 500 turned out for the 49th annual banquet of the Pontiac Board of Realtors last night at the Elks Temple.

They watched Thomas P. Bateman, 3145 St. Jude, Waterford Township, take over the presidency of the board from Philip E. Rowston, retiring president.

Featured speaker of the evening was Dr. J. Philip Wernette, professor of business administration, University of Michigan.

His subject was "Building America."

Rowston was presented with a silver double chafing dish in recognition of his work with the board during the past year.

Bruce J. Annett was presented with a plaque naming him "Realtor of the Year" for his work in the local, state and national associations.

Annett in turn presented a plaque to the Pontiac Motor Division "in appreciation for the confidence and support of the community."

ACCEPTED PLAQUE

George Stephens, assistant director of public relations, accepted the plaque for Pontiac.

Public officials, businessmen, civic workers and their wives, were among those who attended the dinner.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. spoke briefly and thanked the group for their contributions toward improving the community.

Other officers installed last night were Helen Hagstrom, vice president, Claude McGruder, secretary and Kenneth G. Hempstead, treasurer.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer acted as toastmaster, and organist Jack Hagan provided dinner music.

Churchill Still Struggles On

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill — reported Wednesday night to be at a very low ebb — today continued his valiant struggle.

A medical bulletin, issued at 12:16 p.m. said: "There is no change in Sir Winston's condition. There will be a further bulletin this evening."

Seven days after he was felled by a stroke, the 90-year-old statesman is in a semi-coma, but with momentary fleeting signs of consciousness.

Only members of the family inside the Churchill home at the time of the medical bulletin were Lady Churchill, 79, and young Winston Churchill, grandson and namesake of Britain's wartime prime minister. He is the son of Randolph Churchill.

It was the 14th medical bulletin since Churchill suffered a stroke last Friday.

LONGER SPAN

There was a span of 52 minutes from the time Lord Moran, the elder statesman's doctor and lifelong friend, went to his patient's bedside, and the announcement of the bulletin. This was longer than usual.

Reporters noted that Lord Moran looked less gloomy than Wednesday night.

Gunshots Fell Premier of Iran

Condition Not Good Despite Operation

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Premier Hassan Ali Mansour was shot today as he left his car to enter parliament, and surgeons said later his condition was not good.

The government announced Mohammed Bokharaei, 20, had been arrested as the assassin. No motive was given.

Mansour was in surgery for 3½ hours while doctors removed a part of his intestine and operated on his bladder. A medical bulletin then announced his condition was satisfactory.

Later he was taken into the operating room again, however, to stop internal bleeding, and this time the doctors were not so optimistic.

The shah interrupted a skiing holiday, rushed to Mansour's room at Pars Hospital, and emerged with his face sad and grim. Earlier, Mansour's brother, Javad, had told newsmen: "He is improving and there is a 95 per cent hope for his life." This was before the second operation.

The premier was shot as he was about to enter parliament to present five new oil agreements Iran signed this week with major oil companies. Under the agreements, Iran will receive 75 per cent of the income from oil production and $185 million in cash.

Sunshine Nudges Temperatures Up

Old Sol brought temperatures climbing into the high 20s as he beamed on the Pontiac area today. The high at 2 p.m. was 29.

Partly cloudy and warmer, the low 20 to 26 is the prediction for tonight, and partly cloudy with the high rising to 30 to 36 is Friday's forecast.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 13.

Ideas Outlined at Inaugural Top Priority

'Must Fight Poverty, Injustice, Ignorance in Era of Fast Change'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson turns today toward the hard realities of combatting injustice, poverty and ignorance on the way to his Great Society.

In a solemn, sparely applauded address beginning his first elective term, Johnson told the nation yesterday these enemies of progress will be conquered before this generation has finished its life span.

See Stories, Pictures, Pages B-4, C-14

The President spoke in an idealistic vein for 22 minutes after he had repeated the oath read to him by Chief Justice Earl Warren. His right hand raised, Johnson's left hand rested on his late mother's Bible, held for him by his misty-eyed wife.

The President's description of the kind of America he wants to see emerge from an era of "rapid and fantastic change" was couched in such uncontroversial terms that even Republicans who suspected the Great Society will involve massive new federal spending had only praise for his speech.

Politically, the document on which Johnson put the finishing touches only a little more than an hour before he delivered it was interpreted as an appeal for continuance of the consensus which resulted in his November landslide victory.

GOALS FIXED

His speech fixed humanitarian goals with which few Americans could disagree. Patterned on Franklin D. Roosevelt's first inaugural rallying call for Americans, it was devoid of politically challenging phrases.

The tasks he had laid out for himself included not only the necessity of steering his legislative program through a Congress dominated by his party but of grappling with the problems of a seething world.

Without spelling out any of these latter, Johnson said the United States "can never again stand aside in prideful isolation."

Pontiac Fire Chief Warns of North Side Water Peril

Fire Chief James R. White said yesterday a serious situation could develop on the north side of Pontiac because of a lack of sufficient water to fight fires.

The chief made the statement in reference to a $60,000 fire which destroyed Smith Standard Service at 1430 Joslyn Friday night and Saturday morning.

White said a big obstacle his men had to face at the fire was the shortage of readily available water.

But something even worse than the service station fire could occur, he said.

★ ★ ★

"If the school (Malkim School) were to ever get going, we could have a real serious situation," White said.

BROKE OUT

The weekend fire broke out shortly before 10 p.m. Friday when an acetylene cutting torch ignited a small pool of flammable liquid on the floor of a stall in the garage.

Men working in the garage first attempted to move a fully loaded oil tank truck which was parked in the garage, but flames from the blaze spread quickly, preventing the exit.

The first fire fighters on the scene attacked the blaze with water from the booster tank on their truck, White said.

When other engine companies arrived they found that the nearest fire hydrant was about 2,100 feet away.

There is a hydrant on Walton near Laurel, and one on Joslyn at the corner of Peacock, the chief said.

Being 2,100 feet away (the distance of seven football fields placed end-to-end), hoses had to be spliced and pumpers had to be used at relay points in the hose line to keep the water pressure at an effective level, White said.

"Laying lines and setting up relays takes time," he said.

In a fire of this proportion, involving flammable liquids, time is at a premium, the chief noted.

AT THE SCENE

Ten pieces of equipment and 36 firemen were at the scene of the blaze at one time or other during the night.

Firemen from the new north side station were the first on the scene, White said.

"They and the others put in yeoman service during that fire," he added.

The fire department also is still understaffed by about seven men, Chief White said.

"But a fireman can't put out a fire without an ample water supply," the fire official said.

Peking Urges Russian Purge

Call for Removal of New Soviet Leader

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China, speaking through its Albanian mouthpiece, today called the new leadership of the Soviet Union an "ulcer that must be removed and removed with a courageous operation by revolutionary Communists."

★ ★ ★

It was the first time since former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev fell from power last October that Red China has backed a call for the removal of his successors.

The tacit endorsement came when Peking's New China News Agency broadcast a 3,500 word editorial from Zeri I. Popullit, the official newspaper of the Albanian Communist Party.

Albania is Red China's only European ally in the Sino-Soviet feud. The New China broadcast was monitored here.

An article on the principles of Leninism said "It would be madness to consider that a new world war would speed up man's transition to socialism."

NO REFERENCE

(The article did not refer specifically to Red China.)

Red China's ideological dispute with the Kremlin developed while Khrushchev was still in power in Russia.

Later he was replaced as premier by Alexei Kosygin and as boss of the Soviet Communist party by First Secretary Leonid Brezhnev.

★ ★ ★

For a time after that the leaders of the two giants of the Communist world tried to reconcile their differences, which stemmed from Khrushchev's avowed policy of "peaceful coexistence" with the West. The Chinese Communists advocate a much "harder" line.

OVERTURES FAIL

But the peace overtures appeared to have failed when Kosygin and Brezhnev promised to continue Khrushchev's policies.

Since then, Peking has attacked the new leadership of Soviet Russia but always in the form of a warning that they must change their ways.

Today's broadcast denounced the "Khrushchevian revisionists in power in the Soviet Union."

Dock Workers Ballot on Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — A possible early end to the crippling Maine-to-Texas dock strike was in the hands of striking New York longshoremen today, as they voted a second time on a contract they rejected two weeks ago.

Thomas W. Gleason, president of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association, says he has received enough petitions and telephone calls to assure acceptance of the proposed contract with the New York Shipping Association.

But even if his prediction proves correct, contract disputes in other ports could prolong the 11-day walkout that has idled 343 ships on the East Coast.

Some 60,000 men are idle and estimates of the cost to the national economy range from $20 million to $67 million a day.

Hospital May Shift Patients From Pontiac

Pontiac General Hospital Administrator Harold B. Euler said today that a new program designed to transfer long-term patients to nursing homes could affect between 5 and 10 per cent of the patients at the city hospital.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac General is one of five hospitals that will participate in the program announced following a three-year study by United Community Services (UCS) of Metropolitan Detroit.

The plan is expected to lead to better care for the chronically ill while reducing the over-all cost per patient.

Euler explained that while the plan may affect some 25 patients at Pontiac General, a transfer can only be made with the consent of a patient and his doctor.

Continued coverage to subscribers involved in the transfer has been agreed to by Michigan Blue Cross and 10 private hospital insurance companies.

TALKS BEGUN

According to Euler, talks already have begun between officials at the 391-bed hospital and the Seminole Hills Nursing Home, 532 Orchard Lake Ave., to work out an organizational program in the transfer of patients.

Seminole Hills Nursing Home was selected by the UCS as the facility to cooperate with Pontiac General in the program.

Selma Voting Board Recesses

Negroes to Press Businesses

EXERTING AUTHORITY — Sheriff Jim Clark of Dallas County, Ala., stands in front of a group of Negroes attempting to register to vote at the county courthouse in Selma. The sheriff used his authority to make arrests in the city, bypassing the municipal police.

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — With the voter registration board in recess, Negroes turn their attention back to restaurants and other public facilities in Selma today in a continuing civil rights campaign.

They talked about renewed efforts to get service at a downtown drug store where one group was turned away Monday and perhaps at three others whose lunch counters they found closed.

The right-to-vote drive which sent 225 Negroes to jail in two days was halted temporarily because the registration board completed a three-day week Wednesday and recessed until Monday.

See Analysis, Page A-5

County officers under Sheriff James G. Clark, who had been content earlier in the week to arrest Negroes only at the courthouse, spread out into the city Wednesday afternoon to take three civil rights marchers into custody and bring the arrest total for the day to 159.

OVER JURISDICTION

Except for the 156 Negroes jailed earlier in the day because of another courthouse march and the 66 arrested Tuesday, it was the first time in months that the sheriff's deputies had gone into the jurisdiction of the city police to make arrests.

And they did it in plain view of municipal officers who were following the Negro marchers back to a church. City police found no cause to arrest the Negroes because, they said, they saw no violation of law.

The sheriff's officers picked the Negroes up on "suspicion."

Under Alabama law, the sheriff is the chief law enforcement officer in the county and has jurisdiction within the city limits if he chooses to exercise it.

HEADED GROUP

The three Negroes were walking at the head of the group which had gone to the courthouse Wednesday afternoon in still another unsuccessful effort to register.

★ ★ ★

They were told they could go in one of the two main entrances to the court house but not in the other. Rather than be told which door to use, the Negroes turned around and went back to the church where the march had begun. No attempt was made to arrest them until they approached the church.

★ ★ ★

A bomb scare brought a flurry of uneasiness during the afternoon at the same church, Brown's Chapel AME. Police searched the building after an anonymous telephone caller said a bomb would explode at 4:45 p.m. None was found, and Negro boys and girls attending a youth meeting went on with their work.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who led the civil rights movement for the first two days, left Selma Tuesday night for an out-of-state speaking tour but promised to return Friday and take command again.

Troops Surround Headquarters

Viet Buddhists Under Virtual Siege

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese infantrymen placed Saigon's Buddhist headquarters under virtual siege today after the Buddhist campaign to overthrow Premier Tran Van Huong touched off a street scuffle.

★ ★ ★

Inside the headquarters five leading monks went into the second day of a "fast to the death" unless Huong resigns. Only newsmen, monks and workers in the Buddhist organization were allowed to enter the main pagoda building where the monks were lying on cots under mosquito nets.

The infantrymen arrived after police clashed with a crowd of 30 youths heckling them outside the headquarters. Police arrested 10 of the youths.

The government also announced the arrest of 12 others in a riot Wednesday night.

The troops strung barbed wire outside the headquarters to head off further trouble.

The Buddhists closed their headquarters and one of the fasting monks said it would remain closed for the duration of the hunger strike as a further gesture of protest against Huong and his government.

Huong, however, showed no sign of yielding. Since becoming premier on Oct. 30, he has steadfastly refused to bow to pressure from the Buddhist leaders, and the military has backed him up.

Paratroopers and police used tear gas, clubs and rifle butts Wednesday night to disperse Buddhist followers during a three-hour riot.

Saigon's military governor, Pham Van Dong, warned that the 1-to-4 a.m. curfew now in effect would be extended unless the disturbances end.

The leader of the hunger strikers is Thich Tam Chau, the chief of the local Buddhist institute and a leader of the Buddhist agitation which helped to overthrow President Ngo Dinh Diem.

On the military front, U.S. sources said that the Vietnamese air force was making a determined effort to drive the Communists out of the Boi Loi forest about 30 miles west of Saigon. The sources said Vietnamese Skyraiders flew 137 sorties so far this week and further bombings were expected.

The air force is believed dropping 1,000 pound bombs in an effort to destroy deep tunnels occupied by the Viet Cong.

A U.S. military spokesman said that five U.S. soldiers were wounded in their helicopters by fire from the Communist Viet Cong in a major military operation in sugar cane fields 20 miles southwest of Saigon.

Claims Reds Open New Laos Attack

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Military sources reported today that Communist forces have apparently opened a winter offensive in Laos.

★ ★ ★

There were indications that the new fighting was related to last week's U.S. Air Force attacks against Communist supply lines leading into Laos and South Viet Nam from Communist North Viet Nam.

Communist Pathet Lao troops were said to have launched a massive push against an isolated garrison of right-wing troops in northeast Laos. Other reports told of fighting in the South.

Two provinces involved in the offensive — Savannakhet and Attopeu — straddle the so-called "Ho Chi Minh Trail" over which North Viet Nam sends troops and weapons to assist the Communist war against South Viet Nam.

The Laotian government charged yesterday that at least five battalions of Communist troops were attacking the right-wing garrison at Ban Na Kuoang near the town of Sam Neua.

2 MORE BATTALIONS

At least two more battalions were reported moving toward the area from the Pathet Lao stronghold at Xient Khouang near the Plain of Jars.

The government garrison at Ban Na Kuoang has long been a point of trouble for the Communists.

Most of its defenders are Montagnard tribesmen and the others are troops under the command of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, leader of the right-wing faction in Laos' coalition government.

The garrison is supplied by airplanes of the Royal Laotian Air Force and Air America, a private company hired by the U.S. Aid Mission here to drop food and medicine to isolated army outposts and refugee settlements.

★ ★ ★

The Pathet Lao have charged that Air America also drops weapons and is a clandestine arm of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

School Official Wins Award

Waterford JCs Pick 64's Top Young Man

Robert Lawyer, coordinator of the Waterford Township community school program and township recreation director, last night was named outstanding young man of the year by the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Honored by the Jaycees as the outstanding boss of the year was Lewis A. (Bud) Goff, township fire chief.

Both awards were presented at the Waterford Jaycees' annual Bosses' Night Banquet at Airway Lanes.

Last year's outstanding young man, Superintendent of Waterford Schools Don O. Tatroe made the presentation to Lawyer. Max Adams, manager of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce and the 1964 boss of the year, awarded a plaque to Goff.

Lawyer, 30, became director of the recreation department in 1961 after five years of recreation work in the Cleveland area. He was named community school coordinator last September.

CHIEF IN 1963

A member of the Waterford fire department for 15 years, Goff was named chief in May, 1963. He was nominated for the boss of the year award by fireman George Howard.

Both award winners have been active in various civic projects.

Goff, who is married and has five children, lives at 130 S. Tilden. Lawyer, married and the father of two, lives at 3226 Indianview.

Speaker for the program was Rev. Philip Townley, pastor of First Methodist Church, Warren. His topic centered around three factors an individual must utilize to help reach his full potential.

THREE FACTORS

Cited by Rev. Townley were the use of friendship to help develop self confidence on the basis that this friendship was earned due to admirable qualities, facing up to fears and fuller development of ideas.

Ted McCullough, president of the Waterford Jaycees, opened and closed the program and Whit Carnahan, first vice president, served as toastmaster.

Entertainment was provided by a mixed choral group composed of Waterford - Kettering High School students.

Board of Education Acts on School Construction

BIRMINGHAM — The expansion of Birmingham School District's physical facilities was advanced this week by several board of education actions.

★ ★ ★

Construction contracts tentatively were awarded for an eight classroom addition to Meadow Lake Elementary School.

Board members stipulated that the contracts be awarded subject to negotiation with the low bidders.

Some $28,000 will have to be trimmed from the cost to bring the total within the original estimate of $275,000.

Lowest of six bidders on the general construction work was the Charles Fromm Co. of Grosse Pointe Woods, $184,740.

TO AWARD CONTRACTS

Contracts also are to be awarded to Jack A. King of Pontiac, whose $46,449 bid was the lowest of 10 for the mechanical work, and Yauch Electric Co. of Detroit, which submitted a $23,456 bid as the lowest of nine.

The Meadow Lake addition, to be completed by September, will increase the school's capacity from 450 to 650.

Drawings and specifications for the new Evergreen Elementary School and an addition to Valley Woods Elementary School also have been approved.

The structures are being designed jointly by Caudill, Rowlett and Scott Associates of Houston, Tex., and Smith and Smith Associates of Royal Oak. Both are to be ready for the beginning of classes in the fall.

EVERGREEN SCHOOL

Evergreen School, designated as the base for a pilot team-teaching program, will have a 750-pupil capacity and cost about $825,000.

The $270,000 addition to Valley Woods will include a library, kindergarten room, four classrooms, added storage area, an enlarged kitchen and assembly facilities.

The board also cited the necessity of expanding the Walnut Lake Elementary School site through the purchase of an adjacent two-acre parcel and of a five-acre site it owns on Hickory Lane through the purchase of three acres of property.

LBJ Briefing for GOP, Dems

'Candid' Session Is on Foreign Affairs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, beginning his new term, briefed Democratic and Republican congressional leaders on foreign problems today in what was described as a "very candid session."

White House Press Secretary George Reedy said the hour-and-a-half session was the first step in Johnson's program to keep congressional leaders in both parties "fully informed of the problems of the world."

The briefing was conducted by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and director John McCone of the Central Intelligence Agency.

"The briefing was oriented toward relations with our allies," Reedy said.

But he added there was "specific reference to the situations in Africa, the Middle East and Southeast Asia."

GAVE ANALYSIS

Reedy said Rusk, McNamara and McCone first analyzed the world situation in depth, "with specific facts and figures." Then, he said, they responded to questions, and he added, "They were very candid in response to the questions."

The session was not announced in advance. Officially, reporters knew nothing about it until photographers were called in for a picture-taking session.

West German Ambassador Heinrich Knappstein thought Johnson's statements would have "a great impact on people everywhere."

Probers Check West Claims

DETROIT (AP) — A five-man House committee today will check the campaign claims of Daniel West who was elected to, but not seated in, the Michigan House of Representatives.

The committee, headed by Rep. Albert Kramer, D-Oak Park, started its second day of investigation into the qualifications of West. The 54-year-old, second-term Detroit Democrat is under indictment on 117 counts of income tax violations.

West, who was not administered the oath of office pending the outcome of the investigation, also is charged with voting irregularities, forgery and masquerading as a New York attorney, now dead.

The three Democratic and two Republican members of the committee were to interview those who drew up and published West's campaign literature, Kramer said.

They also were to interview representatives of the Civic Searchlight, a nonpartisan political information group which helped uncover some of the evidence against West, and the U.S. district attorney.

The committee Wednesday visited the offices of the Wayne County clerk, the district attorney and the county prosecuting attorney.

"We spent the day attempting to formulate our thoughts on the matter, and collate it with what information is available," Kramer said.

Sukarno Now Chumming Up to China

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Having told the United States to go to hell with its aid and having consigned the United Nations to the same general area, Indonesian President Sukarno now is busily cementing new ties of friendship with Red China.

NEWSOM

On the surface it would appear that Red China, the largest nation in Asia, and Indonesia, the third largest, are moving in same direction.

With Sukarno's recognized ability to confuse both friend and foe, a look at a bit of recent history might be worthwhile, going only so far back as late 1959 and early 1960.

Indonesia banned its 2.5 million Chinese from retail trade in rural areas and forced hundreds of thousands of small Chinese merchants to sell their shops and goods at the lowest prices.

In reply to a Red Chinese note of protest, Indonesian foreign Minister Subandrio sternly warned the Chinese against "provocative action" or attempts to "incite" overseas against government regulations.

PRESS ANGERED

The Chinese press railed that Chinese in Indonesia were being murdered, manhandled and insulted without disciplinary action being taken.

At this same moment in the world's turning, the United States was signing a new economic aid agreement with Indonesia, bringing its total aid in 10 years to more than $500 million.

Nikita Khrushchev, then the Soviet premier, was promising a $250 million loan to Indonesia over seven years.

And Sukarno was assuring the Australian prime minister that Indonesia had no intention of seizing West New Guinea by force. Commented one Australian official:

"Both sides recognized the menace represented by communist China."

FIVE YEARS

It took just five years to reverse the situation completely.

Australia is aligned against Indonesia in Malaysia, the latest target of a Sukarno "confrontation."

Soviet projects in Indonesia have been slowed or halted.

Red China has taken the Soviets' place in Indonesian affections and has endorsed enthusiastically Sukarno's announcement of withdrawal from the U.N.

SIMILAR AID

From this new friendship, both expect a quid pro quo — Red China to support Indonesia in banning Malaysia from this spring's Afro-Asian meeting in Algeria, and Indonesia to give similar aid to the Chinese in banning the Soviet Union from the same meeting.

★ ★ ★

Red China also is to give at least continued moral support to the Sukarno drive to smash Malaysia.

★ ★ ★

But it seems unlikely that Sukarno has completed his moves, either as regards Red China or the United Nations.

2 Segregationist Selma Lawmen Differ in Handling of Unrest

By REX THOMAS

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — As individuals, Wilson Baker and James G. Clark, the top law enforcement officers in Selma, have an unshakeable belief in segregation.

But they have little in common in applying that philosophy to the handling of racial unrest.

As sheriff, Clark follows the hard-core line of white supremacy, meeting Negro civil rights demands with a massive show of force and arresting those who disobey him. More than 200 have gone to jail this week.

Baker, the city's new public safety director, has told his officers to put their personal feelings aside and face the changing conditions brought about by passage of the civil rights law.

Clark has become a symbol of "white man's law." His heavily armed deputies, with their clubs and electric prod poles, have traveled even into other counties to help put down Negro demonstrations.

LAW OFFICER

The sheriff is the chief law enforcement officer in the county, and Clark has played the part. He took full charge of the handling of racial trouble in Selma last year with the approval of the city administration then in power.

But a new mayor, Joe Smitherman, took office last October and made it plain that no longer would the city surrender its policing responsibilities to the sheriff's office.

★ ★ ★

Baker, a one time Selma police captain, gave up his job with the University of Alabama as a law enforcement instructor to return here in the newly created role of public safety director.

★ ★ ★

With a promise to enforce the law impartially regardless of race, he appealed to residents of the city to face the reality of the civil rights law and meet it "with dignity."

CITY POLICEMEN

When Negroes began their mass meetings at the start of the year, the army of sheriff's deputies who once stood watch had been replaced by a smaller, less conspicuous force of city policemen.

This week, when the Negroes began their wholesale tests of public accommodations and renewed their voter registration campaign, Baker notified them they would be arrested if they violated the law but not until then.

★ ★ ★

They marched to the courthouse and Baker refused to arrest them for parading without a permit because, he said, it was not a parade. Police accompanied them along the route to make sure they walked in small groups and not in a continuous procession.

★ ★ ★

At the courthouse, Clark wasted little time in ordering the Negroes to use an alley entrance to the building and sending them to jail when they refused.

BLOCKING SIDEWALK

At one point, the sheriff tossed the ball to the city police, sending word to Baker that Negroes were blocking the sidewalk and asking in effect "what are you going to do about it?"

The city police director ordered the Negroes to line up in single file to keep the sidewalk open. When they complied, he found no reason to arrest them.

But the sheriff did. He told the Negroes to disperse, and sent them to jail when they failed to obey.

LBJ Calls for Unity in Inaugural Address

The inauguration of LYNDON BAINES JOHNSON at noon yesterday came as the solemn note in three days of inaugural gaiety unmatched in the National Capitol.

JOHNSON

After taking the oath of office on a Bible held by his wife, the 36th President of the United States delivered his inaugural message, just as had the country's first President, GEORGE WASHINGTON, 175 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Vice President Hubert Humphrey had been sworn into office minutes before.

There could be no doubt that the specter of the tragic circumstances under which the President took a similar oath little more than a year ago was before him as he again pledged "to do my best."

JOHNSON spoke for 22 minutes in a slow, thoughtful, at times emotional, cadence, as he restated basic American principles — Justice and Liberty — and called on his countrymen for a spirit of unity to implement them.

It was no time for political coloration, and none was voiced. The concept of the Great Society was again spelled out as not the "ordered, changeless and sterile battalion of the ants," but rather "the excitement of becoming — trying, probing, falling, resting and trying again . . . but always trying and gaining always."

The address was praised by both Democratic and Republican leaders as a timely, inspirational and statesmanlike message worthy the deep consideration of all Americans.

European Road Deaths Pass Those of U.S.

To compare the appalling casualties on American highways with the even more shocking fatalities of many foreign countries would be a dire example of damning ours with faint praise.

Nevertheless, in Britain, France and West Germany, having a combined total of motor vehicles but a third that of the United States, the number killed in traffic accidents last year was about two-thirds of the U.S. toll.

Most dangerous place to drive is West Germany, where the 1964 fatalities jumped 16 per cent to nearly 16,000. French traffic deaths went up 13 per cent, British 11 per cent, to a combined total of 18,000.

The number of cars in each of the three countries is roughly equal — between 7 and 8 million.

The Grim Reaper, it is tragically apparent, harvests a greater highway yield in the Old World than in the New.

U.S. Business Faces Sales Job in Colleges

It is ironic that free enterprise—trademark of the American way of life — is being increasingly bypassed by young America as a way of making a living.

Colleges across the country report that more and more graduates are shying away from corporate careers to enter such fields as law, medicine, teaching, scientific research and public service, including the Peace Corps.

Why? Here are some of the reasons given by the young reluctants:

- Too much high pressure.
- Too much conformity.
- Too much planned obsolescense.
- The design of your tie makes too much difference.
- A sales job? Who wants to spend his life in a grubby hotel room?

And a typical symbolization of the American business executive in many an undergraduate mind was "a man in a gray flannel suit with a Martini and an ulcer."

This is not the image that American business wants or deserves. But it is the image that apparently is getting through to enough young potential business leaders to leave corporate hiring quotas going unfilled.

Somewhere along the line something has gone haywire — either in business itself or in colleges, where the students are forming their ideas.

Whatever the cause, every effort should be made to remedy it quickly.

To remain strong and healthy, good old American business needs good young American blood.

Some Progress in Last 4 Years

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — In the long view, what was accomplished between President John F. Kennedy's inauguration four years ago and President Johnson's may not seem much. But there was progress.

MARLOW

Kennedy had no illusions when he took office Jan. 20, 1961, about what could be done, for he said: The problems facing the nation might not be solved "in our lifetime." Johnson hasn't set a timetable, either.

That he intends to push is clear. He has already hit Congress with major programs before it is back at work a month. He has promised to go overseas as part of his search for solutions, as Kennedy did.

In any four-year period a thousand events mushroom into headlines. When time blows the clouds away, just a few can be discerned as major achievements.

Two were outstanding in foreign affairs: The limited test-ban treaty and the missile crisis. But there were ominous events, too.

★ ★ ★

The treaty, signed by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union, made the world healthier to live in. But neither France nor Red China, both on the road to nuclear power, signed.

TOOK MISSILES FROM CUBA

When Kennedy forced Premier Khrushchev to take his missiles out of Cuba, he left no doubt, if the Russians had any, this country would go to war if necessary. Then American-Soviet relations improved, tension eased.

On the debit side, the American-backed war in Viet Nam against communism was dwindling in chaos. This had its own somber implications. A Communist victory may end with Red China running all Southeast Asia in time.

The NATO alliance was getting rickety when Kennedy took over. This hasn't improved. The United Nations got itself into the ludicrous position of arguing over its members' obligations, particularly the Soviet Union's, to pay their dues.

There were two major achievements at home from the joint effort of two presidents and Congress.

Kennedy had sought approval of four programs above all: An $11.5-billion tax cut, biggest in history; a civil rights bill, strongest in this century; federal aid to education; medical care for the aged through Social Security.

JOHNSON GOT FIRST TWO

He got none of them through Congress but his successor, Johnson, pushed hard and got the first two. This year Congress had hardly returned before he told them he wants the other two. And he may get them.

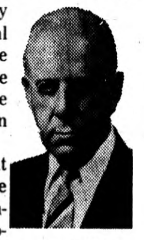
The Old Boy Stood On The Burning Deck

David Lawrence Says:

LBJ Right at Home at Inaugural

WASHINGTON—Lyndon Johnson loved every minute of it. He appeared to be at home even in the solemnity of the inaugural ceremony at the Capitol, where 33 years ago he started as an apprentice.



LAWRENCE

Throughout the day—as he attended luncheons and receptions, and stood in the reviewing stand pointing and clapping his hands and bestowing smiles on some of the participants in the parade—the whole event seemed like the fulfillment of a politician's dream as well as the achievement of a man who came up the hard way.

The applause for Mr. Johnson was frequent, and the President himself, attired in a business suit, looked like one of the many members of Congress who surrounded him—indeed, much like the senator and majority leader who made a fetish of skillful mixing to attain legislative ends and who did all this so naturally.

Lyndon Johnson does what comes naturally and, on the day of his inauguration, naturalness pervaded despite the inevitable dignity of some parts of the day.

But even as he finished his inaugural address, he didn't forget to pay tribute to "those close friends of mine who have followed me down a long, winding road."

FULL RESPONSIBILITY

A master politician Mr. Johnson continues to be. But now, as the full responsibility of the presidency bears down upon him after he takes over on his own the highest office in the land, the question is how this background can be helpful in producing those decisions which make the difference between statesmanship and the floundering in time of crisis that has characterized many of his predecessors.

Talking in implicit phrases and turning to domestic controversies, the President exhorted his listeners to abolish hate. There was perhaps an impression given that America's ills are of large extent and that little has been done to overcome or ameliorate them.

A significant comment was in the following paragraph of the speech:

★ ★ ★

"No longer need capitalist and worker, farmer and clerk, city and countryside, struggle to divide our bounty. By working shoulder to shoulder, together we can increase the bounty of all.

★ ★ ★

"We have discovered," continued the President, "that every child who learns, and every man who finds work, and every sick body that is made whole—like a candle added to an altar—brightens the hope of all the faithful.

"So let us reject any among us who seek to reopen old wounds and rekindle old hatreds. They stand in the way of a seeking nation."

One can classify Mr. Johnson's address as a well-intentioned and sincere plea for good behavior in our own country and in other lands.

But when he said, "We are a nation of believers" and enumerated the importance of a belief "in justice and liberty and union" as well as in freedom, he might well have added specifically that, without a firm belief in the Divine Spirit by the individual, the battle to inculcate human love, and consequently to build a unified society, will not be won.

I couldn't look at Joe Dimaggio's tortured face as he walked behind Marilyn Monroe's casket in the pathetic little procession that led across a Hollywood cemetery from the chapel to the place reserved for her in a barren wall.

I was physically afraid he'd look back and see not a sympathetic friend but just a bloke attending to another day's reportorial stint.

In August 1963, at the door of a Boston hospital where prematurely born Patrick Bouvier Kennedy lay near death, the departing President spotted me. He broke step with his Secret Service men, and came over and shook hands. "What are you doing here, Bob?" he asked with a puzzled look.

NO ANSWER

No answer came from me. How could I tell him I was there to cover the impending death of his son?

"Are you vacationing up this way?" JFK asked. "Yes," I said, gratefully leaping off the hook.

U.S. Air Raids Test Red China

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The U.S. air strikes in Laos on the Red supply routes to South Viet Nam are a test — to prove Red China is a paper tiger.

These air strikes won't destroy many of the Red supplies coming down the Ho Chi Minh "trail" to the Viet Cong in the south or knock out any significant number of the northern Red soldiers or advisers moving through Laos into South Viet Nam.

The northern end of the Ho Chi Minh trail is a truck route. There are air targets—truck parks, refueling depots, bridges, narrow mountain roads and the points at which goods are transferred from truck to men's backs. But all of these points are too primitive to be put out of action for long by air bombings.

It would probably take a year or more, in fact, before such air bombings could even eat significantly into North Viet Nam's none-too-strong truck fleet.

But White House, State Department and Pentagon advisers are looking primarily at Peiping and Hanoi.

Some of these men believe Red China's Mao Tse-tung may shout loudly but do little or nothing.

They figure the longer this bombing goes on despite U.S. plane losses and without strong Red Chinese action, the more it will weaken the confidence of the North Vietnamese in their Red Chinese allies and dampen the spirits of the Viet Cong. It may also make the North Vietnamese worry that their factories may be a future target.

It may be true, as these men reason, that limited bombing of this type will encourage our Vietnamese allies and discourage the enemy. But Korea did not prove this reasoning.

Our experience in Greece did indicate that if enemy supply lines are effectively cut off, there is a resultant lowering of Red guerrilla morale which makes the Communist underground a less potent force.

Both Greece and Korea showed this can't be done by air alone. It takes a great deal of well-organized ground action as well. Thus far in Laos, however, this effective ground action has not been forthcoming.

American, Viet, Lao and tribal forces have been conducting periodic actions. These have not carried out a well-coordinated plan for strangling the trail.

Actually, a lot of men aren't required. Less than 100 well-trained men, organized into 30 or so three-man sabotage-demolition teams, infiltrating in relays, could keep the Ho Chi Minh road in Laos continuously out of commission. Each team would travel light and fast, stay out only a short time, then be replaced by another team, go out again after rest and recreation, taking a new supply of demolitions and rations.

A team would blow a bridge or two. Then, as fast as one was repaired, some team would hit another bridge. Isolated spots on the road could be trapped with small-but-effective mines. Each night mines would appear on a different stretch of road. Road repair dumps could be booby-trapped. Trucks could be sabotaged. The three-man teams in action would slink away into the night, avoiding fights.

The slowdowns and psychological terror that could be caused by 100 such well-trained sabotage men would multiply by many times the effectiveness of the air strikes.

'Was Entire Assassination Story Told?'

A recent letter seeks to disassociate the responsibility for President Kennedy's assassination from the Socialist-Communist-Left by suggesting that "he may have read a few books on Karl Marx." The letter goes on to ask "who indoctrinated Ruby?", leaving the impression that he was simply a disgruntled American.

In March of 1964 Congressman Martin Dies, who served seven years as Chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, made available his background knowledge of one Jack Rubenstein. He suggests that, "if the Dallas Jack Rubenstein is not the same person as the Jack Rubenstein who was a prominent official of the Young Communist League in 1929, the Warren Commission should produce the real Jack Rubenstein or account for his whereabouts or death." Until this is done, a justifiable "pall" must necessarily hang over our assurance that the entire assassination story has been told.

Says School Boycott Still On Despite 'Harassment'

NEW YORK (AP) — The leader of two massive racial boycotts against New York City public schools in 1964 says he'll continue his current campaign to shut down a school for maladjusted children — despite his arrest and a court injunction.

The Rev. Milton A. Galamison, 41, a stocky Presbyterian minister, was taken into custody Wednesday for urging absenteeism at a Brooklyn school which handles unruly children.

He has announced plans to close all 15 of the city's schools for emotionally disturbed children by Feb. 3. That coincides with the date a year ago of a mass walkout he led which kept 464,000 children out of classes.

Eugene Cavanagh, chief school attendance officer, arrested Galamison at Brooklyn's South Third Street Methodist Church, where Galamison was helping to oversee 30 pupils from P.S. 617. That school is the first target of the new boycott.

'HANDS OFF'

"Get your hands off me," the minister snapped. "Stay where you are," he said to the children when Cavanagh told them to go back to classes.

"Do you have a warrant to come to church," he asked Cavanagh.

★ ★ ★

"You're under arrest," Cavanagh said, adding he didn't need a warrant to act in his official capacity. Galamison was charged with violating the state education law which makes attendance compulsory.

★ ★ ★

In Family Court, Galamison also was served with a temporary injunction against the boycott, obtained by the city.

He termed the arrest "another harassment, using the law to prevent people from obtaining their civil rights."

★ ★ ★

"We're going ahead," Galamison said of his boycott plans. "We have a job to do."

★ ★ ★

If convicted, he faces a 10-day jail sentence.

The 15 schools — called "600" schools — handle 2,000 of the city's tough and often mentally troubled youngsters.

Galamison wants to close them all because, he said, they provide inferior education, inadequate facilities and untrained teachers.

★ ★ ★

"A reprehensible act," said James A. Donovan, school board president. "A disgusting use of sick children."

★ ★ ★

The boycott kept 136 of the 152 pupils out of P.S. 617 Tuesday. Twenty adult pickets outside the building turned the pupils away.

Suit on State Aid to Schools Near End

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Presentation of evidence in a Circuit Court suit challenging state appropriations of $2.5 million for four church-affiliated colleges in Maryland has been completed.

★ ★ ★

Lawyers will return to court Feb. 23 to argue constitutional questions in the case, which could have far-reaching effects on the problem of church-state relations. The case is expected to eventually reach the U. S. Supreme Court.

Thirteen Maryland taxpayers brought the suit, charging that the 1962-63 appropriations by the Maryland legislature violated both state and federal constitutions.

Lawyers for the plaintiffs attempted to show that the four colleges — two Catholic, one Methodist and one United Church of Christ — were influenced by the denominations.

★ ★ ★

They contended this influence made the schools religious institutions and thus ineligible for public support.

ESSENTIALLY SAME

Defense attorneys countered that the colleges provide educations essentially the same as a student would get in a public liberal arts school.

If Judge D. Bowie Duckett rules in favor of the plaintiffs, argued the defense, it would mean no college with any religious connection could receive tax funds.

They said this would include such institutions as Harvard, Yale, Duke and Northwestern.

The plaintiffs answered that colleges would be covered by such a ruling only if a religiously oriented education was a primary goal.

Although the case involves only tax funds for colleges, both sides agree the decision could affect religious schools at all levels.

Opponents of tax support of church schools believe a victory could halt what they see as a steady erosion of their position.

Proponents of such support say a ruling in their favor might well be used as a lever to extend public aid to secondary parochial schools.

Area Industrial Nurses to Attend Conference

The nurses will hear discussions of the health problems of today including water pollution, pesticides, radiation and air pollution. The conference will be climaxed by an address by Dr. S. D. Steiner, medical director of General Motors.

Historic Redwoods Bear 150 Growth Rings Today

FT. ROSS, Calif. (AP) — Some orphans, the oldest youngsters in California, have passed their 150th birthday in quiet loneliness on the foggy Pacific Coast 90 miles northwest of San Francisco.

They are 200-foot redwoods that sprouted from stumps of giant trees cut down by Russian colonists between 1812 and 1814 to construct Ft. Ross and nine buildings. Most of the "sprouts" bear 150 growth rings today.

★ ★ ★

The first building to be erected by Russian and Aleut workmen is believed to be the oldest wooden structure west of the Rockies, its rugged timbers still admired by visitors to the Ft. Ross State Historical Monument.

The Russians felled hundreds of trees, clear-cutting the stand about one mile north of the fort, now rebuilt.

SENT UP SHOOTS

The stumps sent up shoots, scores from each. Several of the shoots are 220 feet tall today, rivaling some of their parents in height. They generally are not as big around, however, and contain relatively less heartwood from which prime commercial timber comes.

★ ★ ★

Four flags have flown over the second-growth trees — Russian, Mexican, the California Republic and the United States.

★ ★ ★

The area was technically Spanish when the Russians settled there, but the colonists flew the imperial Russian flag above their fort.

When they sold out to Capt. John Sutterin in 1841, the land came under Mexican jurisdiction. In 1846, the Bear flag of the short-lived California Republic was raised over the fort. California became U.S. territory in 1848 and the 31st state in 1850.

EARLY PREFABS

Historians credit the Ft. Ross Russians with a notable "first" —the earliest known prefabricated houses manufactured in America. French explorer Duhaut-Cilly, who visited the area in 1827, reported that the Russian colonists were building complete houses of redwood, then dismantling them for transport to Russia in the holds of sailing ships.

★ ★ ★

The grove from which the timber was taken is owned by Carlos A. Call, 80, and several other descendants of George W. Call, who acquired the fort and surrounding land in the 1870s.

★ ★ ★

A grant by the late publisher William Randolph Hearst largely financed the state's acquisition of the fort in 1903.

★ ★ ★

California redwoods — Sequoia sempervirens — grow taller than any other trees, and they are among the oldest. The tallest known—found last year growing on a lumber company's tree farm near Orick, Calif. — measures 367.8 feet high. The oldest of record has lived about 2,200 years, less than half the age of California's oldest living trees, bristlecone pines, and younger than some Sierra redwoods and Western junipers.

Pick Nasser (Who Else!) for Leader

CAIRO (UPI)—Gamal Abdel Nasser today looked forward to another six-year term as president of the United Arab Republic.

★ ★ ★

The National Assembly nominated Nasser for reelection yesterday when all 355 members present voted for him. The date for the new elections has not yet been set, however.

Nasser rode in a motorcade through a crowd of 100,000 Egyptians shouting "We love you, Gamal" to deliver a 25-minute acceptance speech.

"I believed it was time to hand over the torch to another generation — younger, more active and more impulsive," he told the General Assembly. "But you see differently and maybe you are right."

Nasser celebrated his 47th birthday last Monday.

'SPONTANEOUS'

The nominating session had been preceded by two weeks of "spontaneous" demonstrations in Nasser's support in the streets of Cairo.

The president claimed there were times when he considered giving up his office to complete the organizationof complete the organization of the only political party permitted in the United Arab Republic — the Arab Socialist Union.

But Nasser said he accepted renomination "as a soldier of this people."

Referring to the U.A.R.'s current economic crisis, the worst of Nasser's 12 years in power, the president said Egyptians must "accept the fact that further sacrifices await us."

AMBITIOUS PROGRAM

He said an ambitious industrialization program he plans will be "more difficult and costly than the first part we have already carried out."

★ ★ ★

Nasser referred only indirectly to his regime's policy of sending arms to Congolese rebels. "We refuse to see the Congo transformed into a base from which to threaten the African people," he said.

Recover Bodies From Car in Lake Near Jackson

JACKSON (AP)—The bodies of two men were recovered Wednesday from a sunken car in Cranberry Lake 12 miles southeast of Jackson, sheriff's deputies reported.

★ ★ ★

They were identified as George Knapp, 58, and D. R. Brutcher, 60. Both men lived in homes near the lake.

★ ★ ★

Knapp's son, Herbert, told deputies the pair were last seen alive Monday night when they left the home of a friend at another nearby lake community.

★ ★ ★

The car was found in 15 feet of water about 600 yards offshore and not far from where Knapp maintained an ice fishing shanty, deputies said.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Cambodia's leftist chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, will visit Moscow sometime in May, it was announced today.

In a message to Soviet President Anastas Mikoyan, Sihanouk said "My visit to your great country will contribute to the friendship which unites the Cambodian and Soviet peoples."

Sihanouk, a strident critic of the United States, visited Communist China last year.

Carol Gets Big 'Dolly' Package

Carol Channing, star of "Hello, Dolly!" since the Broadway musical opened, has agreed to extend her contract until June 1, 1967.

A spokesman for producer David Merrick said in New York yesterday it was the longest commitment a star has had with a producer.

As a result, Miss Channing will get 10 per cent of the receipts instead of 7½ per cent. The show has taken in $73,000 a week since its opening at the St. James Theater on Nov. 18, 1963.

Who Is the Real Madame Patino?

Princess Christina de Bourbon, divorced wife of Boliviah tin king Anternor Patino, claims Patino's present wife has no right to use the name "Madame Patino" in France.

The princess filed suit yesterday in Paris, claiming that Mme. Patino had listed herself in the French social register "under my name."

Patino married Mme. Beatriz de Rivera in 1960, two years after he obtained a Mexican divorce from Princess Christina. He issued this statement through his attorney:

"We are Bolivian nationals. In our country, the wife does not carry the name of her husband. There is only a tolerance for using it."

Danish Princess to Visit U. S.

Princess Benedikte, second daughter of Denmark's King Frederik, will pay her first visit to the United States in May.

The Danish information office in New York said the princess will visit this country for eight days, starting May 3.

Kept Woofing on the Roofing

A woof on the roof. Incredible.

Mrs. Ruth Britton of River Rouge didn't believe it and she has four dogs of her own.

She heard the barking the other night and discovered a shivering little black poodle on the roof.

"That poor little creature was up there all night barking," said Mrs. Britton. "I didn't get much sleep either, but I thought it was one of my own."

Mrs. Britton's father, John McIlwain, who lives next door; his daughter and several neighbors were unable to get the dog to come to a stairway where it could be rescued.

But River Rouge Dog Warden Lawrence Merrill inched his 210-pound frame up the steeply inclined roof, attached a rope to the dog and lowered it safely to the ground.

The dog wore no tag or collar. Merrill fed it and put it in the pound.

"It looks to me like somebody tossed the dog up there," said Merrill. "I don't see any other way that it could have happened."

Gives Up in Election

Girl Won't Lead Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A Radcliffe College girl has given up formally her attempt to become the first female senior class marshal in the 329-year history of Harvard College.

Faye Levine, 20, of Peekskill, N.Y., said yesterday she received many write-in votes in preliminary student balloting Monday, but "the administration has absolutely squelched the student vote.

"But I feel that I've won in a way," she said. "I feel the Harvard University Council of Undergraduate Affairs which refused to honor her votes is wrong, and I think the point I tired to make is made."

The senior class marshal leads the procession at Harvard commencement exercises.

Miss Levine said Radcliffe students have attended classes with Harvard students since World War II and now receive the same diplomas.

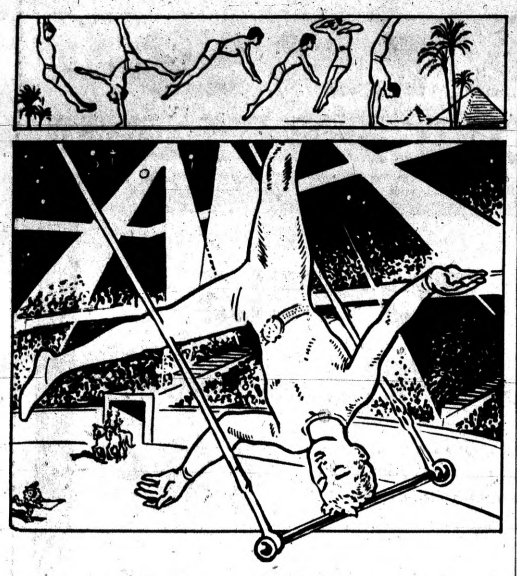
Junior Editors Quiz on ACROBATICS



QUESTION: Is there a story back of acrobatics?

ANSWER: Perhaps there are two sides to the acrobatic story. The first is the natural pleasure healthy people take in using their bodies to show their rhythm and strength — and the pleasure others take in watching them.

Audiences enjoyed contortionists in ancient China, these being the first acrobats on record, and acrobatics were prominent in Egyptian games (upper picture) and have been prominent in the entertainment world ever since.

The second side of the story has to do with the excitement and thrill people feel when in the presence of danger, especially if they realize they are safe themselves.

In the Roman circus, people looked down to see two armed gladiators fighting furiously, each determined to kill the other.

These men were criminals or slaves, who had a chance to escape a hard fate and become famous by winning their battles.

As people grew more civilized, such brutal spectacles were forbidden, yet the interest in the thrill of danger remained. In modern circuses, an acrobat such as the one in our picture often risks his life.

The absorbed spectators gasp with relief when his act is over and they know he is safe again. He has given them a big thrill!

FOR YOU TO DO: Begin a scrapbook of Junior Editors stories and pictures and refer to it from time to time.

$65,000 Judgment Set in Work Accident

ALLEGAN (AP) — A $65,000 consent judgment has been ordered by Allegan County Circuit Court for Mr. and Mrs. James A. Withers of Battle Creek as the result of a work accident. The couple had sought $200,000 for permanent physical and mental injuries suffered by the husband Aug. 4, 1958, while at work on building construction here.

The protective pink, yellow and black coloring of the gila monster, the nation's only poisonous lizard, makes it hard to see in its desert environment of sand and rocks.

No Payroll Tax Hike

GOP Drafting Alternative to Medicare

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans are drafting a health care plan for the elderly which would be financed partly by federal grants and by contributions from the recipients.

The object is to present the proposal as an alternative to President Johnson's hospital care program which appears headed for certain passage in Congress.

Johnson's bill, known as Medicare, provides for hospital and nursing home care for persons over 65. It would be financed by raising payroll taxes, and would be supervised by the Social Security administration.

The GOP plan is still in the formative stage. It calls for an increase in cash benefits to all Social Security recipients. A portion of this benefit would be used to purchase a health insurance policy. The contribution would be on a sliding scale with those receiving larger Social Security checks paying more.

Federal funds would be used to subsidize the program in cases where the Social Security recipient was not receiving enough to pay his own way.

AVERAGE PENSION

The average Social Security retiree presently receives $77.47 a month. The maximum pension is $127.

Republicans are still working out the final details of their plan, but the goal is to offer more benefits than the administration's approach.

The GOP plan was drafted by Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, ranking Republican on the House Ways and Means Committee, which must pass on health care legislation.

The Byrnes measure is the latest of several proposals aimed at alleviating the financial pinch confronting the elderly because of rising hospital bills.

The American Medical Association (AMA) recommended a program to be financed by federal and state funds, but administered at the state and local level.

★ ★ ★

The new Republican plan would be aimed at recruiting those who fear the administration proposal would bankrupt the Social Security system.

★ ★ ★

It also would appeal to those who contend the costs should be paid by the beneficiaries, rather than by a general tax on all workers.

Rescued Man Likes 13-Year Subscription

MIAMI (AP) — Newspaper carrier boy Gary Swensk was on a canal bank when a boat capsized, dumping a man and several children in the water.

Gary helped the victims ashore and then asked the man if he would sign up for a 13-week subscription to the Miami News.

"Thirteen weeks? I'll sign up for 13 years!" excalimed the grateful and dripping boatman.

FAR AWAY, BUT NOT TOO FAR — The Cortina ski center (left) and Lido Beach in Italy are examples of perfect places to stay on a European vacation. These areas provide the relaxed atmosphere of a resort, yet are near the scenic and cultural centers of Milan and Venice.

Stay at Resort Towns

Europe Summer Travel Tip: Avoid Cities

NEW YORK (NEA) — A hungry man at a buffet table and a tourist planning a trip to Europe often have one thing in common. They're overzealous. One piles his plate high with every goody and can only savor half.

The other tries to see a dozen cities in three weeks and weariness soon spoils the bulk of his trip.

The days when the "grand tour" was the exclusive privilege of the rich are gone. Today nearly 10 million Americans travel abroad every year with their families.

Because they try to do too much, they turn a joyous adventure into a nightmare of exhaustion.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Renato Guerrieri, director of the Italian State Tourist Office in New York, suggests a whole new approach to European travel. It boils down to this — stay outside the cities whenever you can.

THE FIRST TRIP

"On your first trip it is always wise to take a planned tour," he says. "It's only after you have made a few trips abroad that you know exactly what you want to see and where you want to spend your time."

But even on the first trip, he doesn't believe that one should run around like the Mad Hatter. "Break your trip in the middle," he advises.

"Stop for a few days at a small resort outside a city you plan to visit — a place where there is just panorama and where you can relax long enough to wash your shirts."

★ ★ ★

In nearly every European country, there is a small resort town near an important city. You can relax, enjoy yourself and still get into the city quite easily.

ITALY MOUNTAINS

In Cortina, for example, in Italy's mountain region, there is skiing nearly all year around. Yet Milan is so close that you can get to the opera at La Scala any night you choose.

In summer, Lake Como offers peace, beauty and rest. It, too, is about an hour from Milan.

The Lido, just outside Venice, is for sunning and swimming. And it's a stone's throw from the art treasures of that ancient city.

★ ★ ★

"It's amazing," said Dr. Guerrieri, "how people who think nothing of commuting every day from the suburbs to the city to work won't consider commuting even for a day or so in Europe.

TAKE A BREAK

Yet they would enjoy their vacations more if they took a break from their city-hopping.

"You can't leave a 4-year-old alone in a hotel in the city while you sightsee.

"Yet what does he care about Da Vinci? You can leave him under hotel personnel supervision at a beach resort.

★ ★ ★

"You go to the museums. Let him have his day at the beach."

MORE ADVICE

For families who have done it all before and now are headed back to Europe with teenaged children, he has this advice:

"You stay at the beach or ski lodge. Send the youngsters off with a list of what they should see.

"Evenings, you can relax and let the kids dance and flirt."

Ah, these Italians!

F111 Plane Makes Successful Test

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The F111, a combat plane being built for the Air Force and the Navy, made its fourth test hop Wednesday. General Dynamics, the builder, called the 35-minute flight a success.

A spokesman said the plane did not attain supersonic speed because of a cloud cover that obscured a good view of the flight from the ground.

The maiden flight last Dec. 21 was curtailed after the wing flaps failed to retract. But it was flown successfully Jan. 6.

The nation's dog population has risen from some six million to an estimated 26 million during the past decade.

De Gaulle, Erhard Bolster Ties

PARIS (UPI) — Talks between President Charles de Gaulle and Chancellor Ludwig Erhard appeared today to have partially shored up the troubled Franco-German alliance. But the U.S.-proposed nuclear force to defend Europe remained a sharp point of disagreement.

★ ★ ★

The two leaders concluded two days of conferences yesterday at de Gaulle's hunting castle 30 miles southeast of Paris.

Erhard, who faces an election this fall, said the talks were "crowned with success."

"There wasn't a single sour note," Erhard told newsmen when he returned to Bonn last night.

French spokesmen did not go that far.

★ ★ ★

Erhard was referring to "a new beginning toward a political union of Europe." He said de Gaulle pledged French participation in a new Western allied approach to the Soviet Union on the question of unifying East and West Germany.

SIDESTEPPED

In Paris, however, French and West German spokesmen said de Gaulle and Erhard sidestepped all questions about the nuclear issue — the plan for a nuclear-armed force (MLF) manned by crews representing the NATO nations.

De Gaulle has been pressing Erhard for the past several months to abandon the MLF concept. He wants West Germany to rely entirely on his fledgling "force de frappe" (strike force) for nuclear protection.

De Gaulle has even gone as far as to threaten that West Germany's claim to national reunification was being jeopardized by a German participation in the MLF project.

Questioned on that point yesterday, a well-informed German spokesman said it was not discussed in detail during the de Gaulle-Erhard talks.

But he reiterated that West Germany, as the most exposed country of the NATO alliance, still insists on some form of influence on nuclear planning and strategy.

A qualified French source recognized this as a legitimate demand, but added:

"As far as the various institutional forms of this influence are concerned, the position of the French government is well-known."

There was no indication that de Gaulle was willing to yield on his insistence of a Europe free of what he calls American "domination."

The question of closer political cooperation among the nations of Western Europe was given new impetus as a result of the talks. Political unity has been virtually paralyzed for the past three years.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle and Erhard agreed to propose to Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands a series of conferences to work out a system of cooperation that would preserve national sovereignty but at the same time maintain a singleness of purpose in the political, defense and cultural fields.

★ ★ ★

Political observers expect these conferences to be long and troublesome.

Dog's Tail Tell-Tale

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Fresno Deputy Sheriff John Camino arrested John Grice, 20, Wednesday on warrants charging 13 traffic violations.

★ ★ ★

The deputy reported Grice's wife said her husband was not at home, but Camino noticed the family dog standing in front of a closet wagging his tail.

★ ★ ★

Camino opened the closet and there was Grice.

★ ★ ★

"I should have sold that stool pigeon," Grice moaned as he was led to jail.

Church Admits Nigerian Pair

Baptists in Virginia Overrule Deacons

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virgina's largest Baptist church has overruled a recommendation of its deacons and voted full membership privileges for two Nigerian students.

The congregation of the all-white First Baptist Church also called for a study and consideration within six months of a revision of its membership policy in the light of "changed world conditions."

The vote by approximately 1,800 of the church's 4,200 members last night reversed a recommendation last week by the board of deacons that the students — sons of Baptist ministers in Nigeria — be taken into the church under its "watchcare" program.

This program provides that students away from home in another city be permitted nonmembership affiliation in a Baptist church of their choice.

The church pastor, Dr. Theodore F. Adams—a former president of the Baptist World Alliance — had asked that the students be admitted as members.

★ ★ ★

The deacons will have the responsibility of carrying out the survey of membership procedures used in other churches and reporting their findings and recommendations, he said.

Old-Time Irish Cop Is Dead

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — an amiable Irish cop who survived 35 years on the police force during the stick-swinging beat-pounding era is dead — leaving no known enemies in his wake.

He was Robert C. (Bob) O'Keefe, noted as a traffic cop who hated to write traffic tickets and as an officer who kept the morale of the department up during the lean depression years when cops were paid $25 a week and all the water they could drink.

O'Keefe retired in 1960. In his later years he was on the barn crew at police headquarters — the ambulance crew.

The reason O'Keefe was on the barn crew was that he was said to still have the original traffic violation ticket book he started with and that wasn't exactly following the rules.

Once he pulled one of the local bluebloods, a cute gal, over to the curb in her Packard (which was the current status symbol, carwise) and said to her:

"Okay lady, I won't ask you where the fire is and don't tell me you are a taxpayer and we will start from scratch."

TOUGH TIME

Even in the days when O'Keefe had five small children and had a tough time getting along, he refused to take examinations for promotion to sergeant or exams for lieutenant which paid more money.

He explained he "didn't want to be a heel like some of my superiors."

O'Keefe went through the eighth grade in school. But his friends numbered the powerful and many high in financial circles.

He will be remembered for his many wisecracks.

One of his greatest morale-boosting episodes concerned a raid on a house of ill fame.

It involved a woman operator who weighed about 300 pounds, mostly muscle.

FIRST ONE THROUGH

O'Keefe was the first one through the axed door. The woman was first in line. She tackled O'Keefe.

The officer came back to police headquarters when the raid was over with two black eyes, puffed cheeks and a scratched face. His uniform was torn.

The rest of the policemen were waiting in the squad room for a blow-by-blow account.

O'Keefe related how the woman hit, scratched, butted and kicked and clinched. "She clinched and bit a big hunk out of my shoulder."

Leadership Confab Starts Tomorrow

Don't Expect Miracles, Bliss Warns GOP

CHICAGO (AP) — Ray C. Bliss, who is due to take over as Republican national chairman April 1, says he is concerned over apparent expectations for a quick reorganization of GOP forces battered by last November's Democratic landslide.

Before coming to Chicago last night for a two-day meeting of Republican leaders, Bliss told newsmen in Columbus: "This thing may have been oversold. They may expect miracles after April 1st."

Bliss, 57-year-old Ohio Republican chairman, is virtually certain to receive official appointment as national chairman during the Chicago meeting.

The election of a new chairman to succeed Dean Burch is expected at the first session of the national committee tomorrow, at which Burch is expected to submit his resignation.

Burch and Barry Goldwater, the unsuccessful GOP presidential nominee, announced last week that Burch would resign and that Bliss would be named to the post.

NO MANDATE

Goldwater had said that Burch could not command "a clear working mandate" from the committee.

On his arrival in Chicago Burch told newsmen the meeting of the party leaders was a call for unification. He said Republican leaders can unify the party if they "quit jousting with windmills."

Burch, Bliss and Goldwater were among the first of the party leaders to arrive for the sessions. Goldwater's running mate in the November election, William E. Miller, and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, were expected today.

★ ★ ★

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said he will not attend the meetings which open today with workshops and caucuses.

ONETIME CHAIRMAN

Miller, onetime national chairman and former New York congressman, worked at his law office in Buffalo, N. Y., yesterday and said he did not see much of President Johnson's inauguration on television.

Asked for comment, the defeated GOP vice presidential nominee said, "I wish them well."

Burch, in a statement to newsmen, called for a "strong, unified and dynamic party," stating:

"I expect and hope this meeting will mark the end of the many discussions of personalities that recently preoccupied us," he said, "and that we can now begin to get on with the primary business of the Republican party: namely winning victories and defeating Democrats."

★ ★ ★

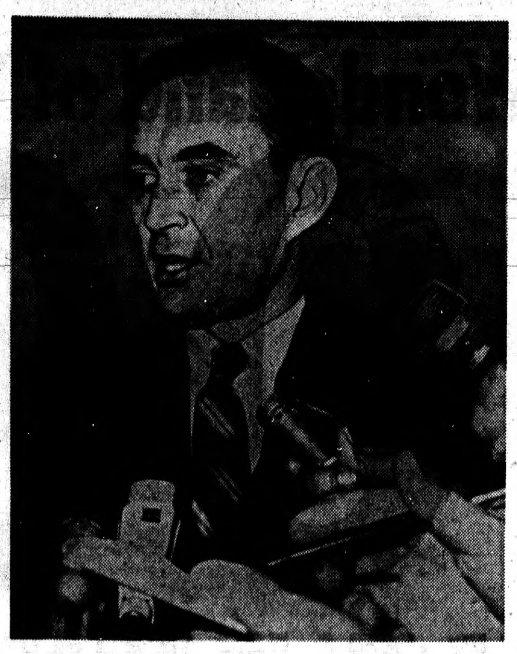
Burch told newsmen that the party must achieve unity in order to continue the two-party system.

★ ★ ★

Burch, 36, told newsmen that he would like to think of Chicago as "a place to bury the hatchet in the ground rather than in anyone's head."

★ ★ ★

Asked what he would do if some members tried to keep him as chairman, Burch said: "I don't think that will happen, I've made a decision."



AP Photofax

PLEADS FOR UNITY—Dean Burch, who is stepping down as the Republican National Committee chairman, pleads for party unity as he arrives for two days of GOP leadership meetings in Chicago. Burch said yesterday he'd like to think of Chicago as the kickoff point for the 1966 and 1968 elections.

Home Fire Kills Six in Family

MINETTO, N.Y. (AP) — A mother and five of her 10 children died Wednesday night in flames that destroyed their two-story frame home.

★ ★ ★

The father led the other five children to safety.

Firemen said the victims were Valeta Petrie, 35, and the children, Susan, 8, Barbara, 4, Bryan, 1, James, 6, and Gary, 13. The bodies of the children were recovered.

★ ★ ★

Tunis Petrie, about 40, was hospitalized with smoke inhalation, burns and shock suffered, firemen said, when he tried to rescue his wife and the five children from the home, about seven miles south of Oswego in central New York state.

★ ★ ★

He had tried to reenter the house after leading to safety Randy, 12, Nancy, 7, Rodney 3, Roger, 9, and David Stevenson, 17, a son of Mrs. Petrie's by a previous marriage.

His Last Stop Was the Jail

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Billie Turner, 72, climbed in his car recently — and ended up in city jail on one charge of drunken driving, three counts of reckless driving and three counts of hit-run driving.

Police said the jail was about the only thing in town he didn't hit. — According to the arresting officer, Turner's car:

- Struck two parked cars on Center Street.
- Hit another on Sierra Street.
- Bounced off a car, roared across a lawn and knocked a pickup truck into the front of a house on St. Lawrence Street.
- Crossed another lawn, knocked down a stop sign, ripped across another lawn, ploughed through a hedge and came to a stop against a house on Plumas Street.

Losses in the retail field from theft, fraud and internal manipulation of records exceed a billion dollars a year, according to H. S. Crowe, manager of the Criminal Division of the William J. Burns Detective Agency.

Romania Is Pushing Aside Soviets and Reaching for the West

By PRESTON GROVER

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) —Romania is firmly pushing aside the strong hand of Russian controls on her industry and society, and reaching for help and support in the West.

★ ★ ★

Next to Yugoslavia, Romania has taken the most independent stance of any of the East European states. The attitude of her Communist party leaders reflects a general loosening of the Soviet grip through the Red belt in the wake of de-Stalinization, de-Khrushchevization, and the clash with Red China.

★ ★ ★

The country doesn't intend to try to break out of the Soviet orbit, not now, even though delegation after delegation has headed westward in recent months building up political, cultural and especially business contacts.

The United States has lowered some of its own trade barriers with the immediate result that American companies have agreed to build two new factories in Romania, the first in years.

NATIONALISM

Many things have been done to emphasize Romanian nationalism and reduce Russian influences.

The younger generation seems all for it.

★ ★ ★

"It is the new renaissance," said one young intellectual at a dinner party.

Older people are more cautious, although they, too, know of relatively bold steps toward what many here speak of as "de-Russification."

MANY SWITCHES

The Romanians have had to switch political affiliation so many times through the centuries that it is a wonder they preserve any nationality at all. They had horrible experiences in both world wars. They were allied with Germany in 1914, but after two years of neutrality sided with the Allies. They were promptly overrun by the Germans, Austrians and Hungarians.

★ ★ ★

The country was virtually occupied by the Germans before World War II started. It soon was shared out like war booty. Without a shot, Russia, with Adolf Hitler's agreement, occupied Bessarabia as far south as the mouth of the Danube. Hungary took Transylvania.

★ ★ ★

Romania, with little choice but much enthusiasm, joined Germany in the attack on Russia and took back Bessarabia. The country was chewed up by both sides when, late in the war, she switched and turned on Germany. She was occupied by the Russians, and lost Bessarabia again and it remains in Russian hands.

As one of their gestures of independence, the Romanians now are hinting that Russia should return Bessarabia.

These are quiet hints, but they are all part of the de-Russification proceeding on many fronts.

Western support is coming especially from France and Italy.

As a result of a visit to Washington last summer by Gaston Marin, chairman of the National Planning Commission, Romania recently signed contracts for purchase of two factories from American companies.

INDEPENDENT LINE

Last April the Romanian Communist party adopted a sort of "white paper" on foreign policy. It announced determination to take an independent line within the Socialist camp and to take an independent line in foreign policy.

The document said a Socialist state must protect its sovereignty and keep in its own hands all the "levers" for managing its own economic and social life.

Back in 1952 the party leaders expelled a Moscow-trained crew headed by Ana Pauker, which had been installed with the backing of Soviet troops soon after the war ended. Into power came Georghe Gheorghiu-Dej and a group of Communists less aligned with Moscow.

They are still running the show. In recent months there has been a whole series of "independence" demonstrations. Pictures of Soviet leaders are no longer carried in major parades.

NO COMPULSION

Compulsory study of Russian in Romanian schools was abolished in 1963.

At the major language institute in Bucharest English is first with 120 students, French second with 80, and Russian third with 40.

Romania does not have Russian troops within her borders, as have Hungary and East Germany. She does have well over 300 miles of common frontier with Russia. About three-quarters of her trade is with Russia and other Communist countries, leaving about a quarter which goes mostly to Western Europe.

But police supervision is described by Western diplomats as close and strict. Two men to whom I talked said I should not mention their names, even though earlier they had insisted that everybody was free to express opinions.

Later one of them added, "You won't leave any of your notes around your hotel room, will you?"

Work Into Night on House Recount

MARSHALL (AP) — Legislators counted late into the night Wednesday in an attempt to certify or overturn the six-vote victory of Rep. Carroll Newton, R-Charlotte, over Claude Burton, a Bellevue Democrat.

A House recount committee counted Calhoun County ballots here Wednesday and was to start counting Eaton County votes in Charlotte today.

The committee will not announce any vote totals until it completes the recount late Friday or Saturday, he said.

Macomb Woman Dies

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Eileen Flora Stofberg, 29, was injured fatally Wednesday when her car skidded at 21 Mile and Sugar Bush roads and hit a guard rail. She was the wife of Capt. Nathan Stofberg, radiologist at the Selfridge Air Force Base hospital. Mrs. Stofberg was driving alone.

Filing Deadline Saturday in Milford and Rochester

Candidates for village offices in Milford and Rochester have until noon Saturday to file nominating petitions with their respective village clerks.

Primary elections in either community to determine candidates for the March 8 general election do not appear likely, in view of the number of petitions in circulation or already filed.

In Rochester, six candidates have filed, including two incumbents, for four Village Council seats.

Only seven petitions were taken out, according to Village Clerk Maxine Ross, thus making a Feb. 15 primary unlikely.

★ ★ ★

Incumbents who have filed are Village President John O'Donnell and fellow councilman John Boeberitz. Councilman James McCarthy is presently circulating his petition.

The fourth council seat which will become vacant is now held by Dr. Kenneth Van Nocker, who did not take out a petition.

The incumbents have been challenged for their seats by Samuel Howlett, former police chief and presently justice of the peace, and David N. Parker of 436 Hill, a technical director of Rochester Aerosol Corp.

Others who have filed are John L. Dahlmann of 265 South a landscaper and former councilman; and Louis A. Mitzelfeld, a factory superintendent at National Twist Drill & Tool Co., now chairman of the zoning board of appeals.

★ ★ ★

O'Donnell is winding up a one-year term, while Boeberitz, McCarthy and Van Nocker are ending two-year terms.

EIGHT NEEDED

If more than eight candidates file petitions for the four council seats, a primary on Feb. 15 would be necessary to determine the candidates for the March 8 general election.

In that election, the three highest vote-getters will receive the two - year terms, while the fourth highest will serve for one year.

In Milford, candidates will file for village presidency and three seats on the Village Council.

Besides those of all the incumbents, two other nominating petitions have been taken out.

SEEKING POST

Seeking the post of village president for another two years will be Wilbur Johnson.

Two years remain in the unexpired term of Vernon Rounds, who resigned in November because of ill health.

Merlin A. Feigley, appointed by the council to fill Rounds' post until March, will attempt to retain the seat.

Among candidates for two three-year terms on the council will be incumbents Max Kelly and R. C. Wakefield.

POPULAR ATTRACTION — A blanket of snow covers the nature center and nature study area at Stony Creek Metropolitan Park northwest of Rochester that was visited by 28,000 persons last year. Hundreds of others walked the nature trails during 1964. Self-guided tours may be taken from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. The nature center hours are Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and weekdays from 2 to 4 except Mondays when both the nature center and trails are closed. Animals, animal tracks and a winter bird feeding station are the primary outdoor features.

2 Hearings Set in Orion Twp.

Rezoning Requested for Building Projects

ORION TOWNSHIP — Two public hearings, both on proposed building projects, are scheduled for tomorrow night by the Township Board.

A 7 p.m. hearing will involve a proposed amendment of the township zoning ordinance which would allow a trailer court in the township by establishing requirements for a new "Trailer Court District No. 3A."

The zoning board and Oakland County Planning Commission have already approved rezoning of property at 2285 Brown from residential to the new classification.

The 78-acre trailer court site lies in the township, but is included in the Pontiac City School District, rather than the Lake Orion School District.

A second hearing at 8 p.m. will deal with a request to rezone 21¼ acres at the northwest corner of Baldwin Avenue and I-75 from residential to business classification.

SERVICE AREA

Such action would allow planned construction of a motel, gas station and restaurant on the property, which lies in both Orion and Pontiac townships.

★ ★ ★

The buildings, however, would be constructed only on the Orion Township portion of the property, thus adding to the township's tax base.

AREA NEWS

Play in Holly Is Postponed

HOLLY — The Shiawassee Players' production of "Angel Street," originally scheduled to open this weekend, has been postponed a week.

Performances now are set for 8 p.m. Jan. 29, 30 and Feb. 6 and at 3 p.m. Feb. 7. They will be in the Shiawassee Playhouse at Saginaw and Sherman.

Postponement of the play was due to a cast change.

Tickets are available from members of the group and at the Daylight Store, Helen Shoppe and Bob Mitchell's Standard Service.

Ground-Breaking Slated for Keego City Building

KEEGO HARBOR — A shovelful of earth turned here Saturday will mark the beginning of construction of Keego Harbor's new municipal building.

The ground-breaking ceremony is scheduled for 11 a.m. on the site, the block bounded by Knollson, Maddy Lane, Wilbur and Beechmont.

Those participating will include Mayor Vernon B. Edward, members of the City Council and the building authority.

In the planning stages for nearly two years, the building is expected to cost about $65,000, including site, construction and equipment.

Situated on sloping property behind Roosevelt Elementary School, the flat-roofed structure will be bilevel with only the top floor visible from the street.

Predominant construction materials will be brick and glass.

UPPER LEVEL

The upper level will contain the lobby, general purpose room, storage area, locker room, police headquarters and offices for the city manager, building inspector, treasurer-assessor and police chief.

Below will be a jury and meeting room, storage area, mayor and judge's office, area for mechanical devices and the council chamber.

City officials plan to move into their new headquarters in about six months.

Since 1956, the city has been operated from five rooms on the first floor of a house at 2965 Orchard Lake.

GENERAL CONTRACTOR

Reeves Construction of Orchard Lake is general contractor for the new building designed by Gilbert W. Savage of Oak Park.

★ ★ ★

Members of the building authority appointed by the City Council are Joseph Weichsel, chairman; Vernon Bradburn, treasurer; Robert Bullock, secretary; Arthur Canon and Orville Steward.

Utica C. of C. Event

Sell Tickets for Dinner

UTICA —Tickets are now on sale for the annual Greater Utica Chamber of Commerce Community Dinner to be held Feb. 6 in the Trinity Lutheran Church Parish Hall.

Arrangements for the 6:30 p.m. event are under the direction of women members of the chamber.

The committee is headed by Mrs. Lawrence Zuehlke. Assisting her are Mrs. Ellen McNeil, Mrs. Josephine Switzer and Mrs. Margaret Webb.

Various other women members will be on hand to serve as hostesses the night of the dinner.

Guest speaker for the event will be W. Heartsill Wilson, sales promotion executive from Grosse Pointe Farms.

RECOGNIZE SPIRIT

The chamber is planning the dinner to recognize the community spirit that is the hallmark of the Greater Utica area, said W. F. Schuchard, executive secretary.

The tickets can be obtained from any member of the committee or the chamber.

Education expenses per child in the 30 school districts of Oakland County ranged last year from a high of $554.29 to a low of $310.86. The average per pupil expenditure was $426.28.

Utica to Seek U.S. Renewal Aid

UTICA — The City Council has agreed to apply for federal assistance in planning a downtown urban renewal project.

The action follows several initial steps taken toward the project, which is part of a general development plan worked out by the City Planning Commission with the help of planning consultants.

Jacob Driker, president of Development Planning Co., Waterford Township, recently presented the survey and planning application which would be submitted to the federal government.

The application establishes the eligibility of the proposed downtown urban renewal project for federal assistance.

It also includes a budget for appraisal, engineering, legal and planning work that will be conducted over a 12-month period to prepare the project for execution.

Sidney Jamison of the Chicago Regional Office of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, which would receive the application, has toured Utica's proposed project area and reviewed the application with city officials.

Jamison said that technicians from the agency would visit the city in early February to further examine the proposals.

If their findings are favorable to the project, the city would then formally apply for federal assistance.

The proposed urban renewal area consists of 29.3 acres generally bounded by Van Dyke, M59, McClellan and the old canal.

100 BUILDINGS

There are 100 buildings in the area, half of which are residential and the remainder nonresidential.

Surveys indicate that 26 per cent are in "standard" condition, with 22 per cent classified as having "extensive minor defects," another 26 per cent with "major defects," and 26 per cent "deteriorated to an extent warranting clearance."

The main purposes of the project would be to carry out the renewal of the area along the lines laid out by the general development plan.

★ ★ ★

This would include clearance of the deteriorated buildings and their resale for new development, the construction of off-street parking facilities and a pedestrian mall centering at Cass and Auburn roads.

REHABILITATION

Also included would be rehabilitation of most other buildings by private enterprise, improvement of streets, utilities and other public facilities.

The total net cost of the project is currently estimated at $1.352 million, with a project capital grant from the federal government covering all but $338,000 of that.

This grant would be separate from the planning grant for which the city would first apply.

Before the project could be undertaken, a public hearing would be held on the urban renewal plan, which would then be adopted by the City Council.

This is expected to happen in 10 or 12 months.

Hospital Group Meets Tonight

Huron Valley Unit to Vote, Hear Reports

MILFORD—Members of the Huron Valley Community Hospital Association will gather tonight to hear progress reports on the fund drive and to elect officers.

The third annual meeting of the group will be held at 8 p.m. in the little theater of Milford High School, 2880 S. Milford.

Membership in the organization consists of everyone who has contributed to the building fund.

The $2-million hospital is to be built on a 15-acre site fronting Atlantic and Mont Eagle streets in the village.

Containing 100 beds, it would serve the residents of 10 townships.

Among officers to be elected tonight are two directors-at-large and one director each for Milford, Highland, White Lake, Commerce, Hartland, Novi, Lyon and Rose townships.

Two directors can be named from both Brighton and Green Oak townships.

Troy Church Group Slates Square Dance

TROY — The Square Dance Committee of the First Methodist Church of Troy will sponsor a dance Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Dan Campbell will be the caller. Instructions will be included.

Avon Church to Hear Talk by Detroiter

AVON TOWNSHIP — A special feature of the School of Missions of Elmwood Methodist Church at 7 p.m. Sunday will be a talk by Dick E. Hart of Detroit, who has actively participated in worldwide missionary enterprises.

Hart will use his recent trips to the Far East as background for his message entitled "Missions — Its Changing Strategy."

He will show slides taken in the various countries he has visited to illustrate his remarks.

Director of the Detroit Edison Co.'s department of administrative systems planning, Hart is an active layman in Strathmoor Judson Memorial Church, Detroit.

He is also vice chairman of the Home Council of Far Eastern Gospel Crusade and chairman of Friends of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship.

Single Girls' Retreat Set

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — Rev. Howard Ralenkotter, C. P., of Chicago, will conduct a single girls' retreat at St. Mary's Retreat House Jan. 29-31.

The retreat is planned particularly for working girls or college students and will begin at 7:30 p.m. on the 29th.

Reservations can be made by telephoning or sending the reservation fee to St. Mary's Retreat House, 775 W. Drahner, Oxford.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has expressed deep regret at the resignation of Undersecretary of the Navy Paul B. Fay Jr.

Fay, a close friend of the late President John F. Kennedy, stepped out last Friday, and the White House Wednesday made public a letter Johnson wrote to Fay.

★ ★ ★

Fay is returning to the family construction business in San Francisco. He was named to the Navy post at the start of the Kennedy administration.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today only one of the operating systems aboard the Mariner IV has failed since its Nov. 28 launching.

The lone casualty on the Mars-bound spacecraft was its solar plasma probe, designed to provide information on the minute particles emanating from the sun.

★ ★ ★

NASA said it stopped functioning properly one week after the launching.

★ ★ ★

The 575-pound spacecraft is to fly past Mars July 14. By midafternoon today, NASA said, the Mariner will have traveled more than 93 million miles. Since the earth has been moving at the same time, the spacecraft's distance from the earth will be only 10,042,888 miles.

Say Man Confessed to Ohio Rape-Slaying

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP) — Police early today arrested a 23-year-old Tiffin man and said he has confessed to the Jan. 6 rape-slaying of Sharon Shepherd, 16, a Columbian High School junior.

★ ★ ★

A joint statement from Tiffin police and the Seneca County sheriff's department said Joseph Raymond Esselman had admitted the killing. Esselman is being held in the county jail on charges of investigation of murder.

Small Nations Eying Recess

Expect U.S. to Seek U.N. Showdown

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States is reported resigned to a recess of the U.N. General Assembly until spring if the majority of the members want it to avoid a U.S.-Soviet showdown over peace-keeping dues.

U.S. sources said last night, however, that Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson will place before the assembly a demand that voting rights be denied the Soviet Union and any other member nation refusing to pay the dues.

Stevenson is expected to present the U.S. demand to the 115-nation forum at the windup of the general debate, expected Monday.

The Soviet Union has threatened to walk out of the U.N. if it is subjected to Article 19 of the U.N. Charter, which denies the assembly vote to any nation two years in arrears on its total assessments.

The Soviet Union and 13 other nations are that far behind because they refuse to pay peace-keeping assessments.

INEVITABLE

Convinced a U.S.-Soviet showdown is inevitable if the assembly takes up its agenda now, a number of smaller nations are reported urging a recess until May or June so the big powers can negotiate some more.

The United States is promoting the view that a showdown is preferable to any more delays.

The United States opposed earlier proposals to adjourn at the close of the policy debate and put all business over until the next session in September.

He's Bitten by Snake Bug

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP) — For years ladies have enjoyed snakeskin shoes, belts, purses and other accessories, but the fashion may be crawling over into the men's world.

Capt. Herschel H. Flowers, research scientist for the Army medical center here, has been sporting a tie — at least during off-duty hours — made completely of cobra snakeskin.

Flowers is one of the few persons who has been bitten twice by a cobra and lived to tell about it.

He was last bitten in March while working with a five-foot cobra in the medical center lab.

The U.S. view was said to be that this would be the same as scrapping the agenda.

★ ★ ★

Although traditionally one of the first speakers in the annual debate, the United States waited until yesterday to make known whether it would speak at all, apparently hoping the voting deadlock would be broken before then.

NO SIGN

With no sign of a change in the Russian position and Assembly President Alex Quaison-Cackev avowedly determined to get down to business next week, the United States decided to make a final bid for support of its position.

Representatives of the Asian-African and Latin American groups conferred yesterday on a possible new approach to the stalemated financial issue.

They were reported considering watering down the Asian-African plan for resolving the crisis in hopes of making it more palatable to the United States.

The U. S. mission has turned down a key point in the plan which would set aside Article 19 while members made voluntary contributions toward the peace-keeping deficit.

President's Day Was Solemn, Folksy, Gay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's inauguration day turned out to be a remarkable melange of solemnity, folksiness and fractured security.

The security was broken by the President himself. The inaugural parade had hardly begun when the ebullient President jumped out of his bulletproof limousine. In long strides he proceeded to the band of his alma mater, Southwest Texas State College, and shook the hands of four girl banner bearers.

The important part was, of course, the swearing in and the inaugural address. And the reaction to this speech, in which Johnson branded poverty and ignorance as national enemies, and said such evils as racial injustice and international hatreds must go, was generally favorable.

Many Republicans joined Democrats in applauding the goals, if not perhaps all the methods.

The 56-year-old President, in his great happiness, proved to be an iron man physically. He wound up the long day with an arduous round of ball-hopping.

Accompanied by the First Lady in her jonquil yellow satin dress, he attended the inaugural ball, spread out over five great halls.

During the afternoon, the President had the time of his life watching the big inaugural parade pass his reviewing stand in front of the White House.

When he got to the White House, attendants brought the beagle "Him" and the white collie "Blanco" to him and the President lifted him up into the leather easy chair reserved for the chief executive in the reviewing stand.

The dog stayed only briefly, perhaps because Lady Bird foresaw trouble. She is reported to have hinted strongly that Blanco is an outdoors dog, used to romping, and if he started romping in the reviewing stand things could get embarrassing.

When the Georgia float rolled by, the President kept pointing, calling Lady Bird's attention, as if to say, "Look, ma."

The float was a model of a Civil War railroad train, and represented the Lady Bird special which chugged through the South in the last campaign.

The President kept giving the high sign of friendship to all and sundry paraders, including Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, who has given the national Democratic administrations a peck of trouble.

The President was particularly joyous over the band from the Chicago Fire Department. These experts play music scored for sirens, bells and the hissing of fire extinguishers. They are led by a St. Bernard dog with a hat on.

TIRED MARCHERS

Probably the most tired marchers Wednesday night were the "Barbarettes" of Santa Barbara, Calif. These ladies high-kicked their way all down Pennsylvania Avenue, in a striking display of comeliness.

Least tired? Probably the "highty-tighty" band of Virginia Polytechnic Institute. A march of a couple of miles is a breeze to them. They once got caught up in a five-mile parade in the Deep South, and by the end they had played "Dixie" 72 times.

Wonder of wonders, the parade attained its goal — to end before sundown, which was at 5:16 p.m. Actually the procession got past the President at 5:07.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

PRESIDENT INTERRUPTS PARADE — Striding across Constitution Avenue yesterday, President Johnson blocked the inaugural parade momentarily to pay a personal greeting to the band from his old school, Southwest Texas State. Secret Service men accompany him.

Informal Note Marks Parade

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson was half an hour late for his own parade. But he stayed late, too, and offered an informal footnote to his solemn inaugural address.

Despite the delayed start, the sun hadn't set when the open convertible carrying M. W. Goding, governor of the Trust Territories of the Pacific, rolled past the bulletproof presidential box, bringing up the rear of the inaugural parade.

And, as he had all afternoon, Johnson stood, gave a fluttering wave and applauded as the final installment of the inaugural parade rolled by, 2½ hours after Johnson took the place of honor beneath a giant presidential seal.

Then it was the crowd's turn. Police barriers were lowered, and well-wishers swarmed onto Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House, to cheer and wave.

Mrs. Johnson waved back and blew them a kiss.

WAVED TO CROWD

Then the President turned from his handshaking farewells to political figures and government leaders who had packed the reviewing stand, and waved to the crowd in the street below.

He went back to his own box, shielded by bulletproof glass, and picked up a microphone.

"You are wonderful people," Johnson said, "and you have made this such a lovely day, and we will try so hard to be worthy of your trust and your friendship."

★ ★ ★

Police estimated that one million were on hand to watch the parade between the Capitol and the White House.

ALL 50 STATES

With Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, they saw units from all the 50 states, in step and out, bands and floats, and even a St. Bernard from Chicago with a hat on.

The President's beagle, Him, had the seat of honor, the leather-upholstered presidential chair, for a little while. President Johnson lifted Him into the spot, and the President and Humphrey took turns patting the dog. Then Him was led away to a less-exalted spot.

It all began 30 minutes behind schedule when Johnson boarded a black, bulletproof limousine to ride in triumph to his reviewing stand at the White House.

★ ★ ★

Before he got there, Johnson had punctured the elaborate security arrangements, emerging from his car to greet four banner-bearers from his alma mater, Southwest Texas State College.

WITHOUT A COAT

The President was coatless all through the chilly afternoon as he strolled around the presidential stands, shaking hands and greeting people. But he was back at his post when the University of Texas Longhorn Band arrived.

The President pointed at his home-state outfit as it approached and applauded when the Texas contingent arrived.

Gov. John B. Connally, longtime Johnson associate, led the way, standing in his open convertible.

Johnson grabbed the microphone in his box. "Governor," he drawled, "you look mighty pretty."

When the University of Minnesota Band arrived, blaring the Minnesota fight song, Humphrey had his moment. He clapped his hands in time as the big band marched past the reviewing stand.

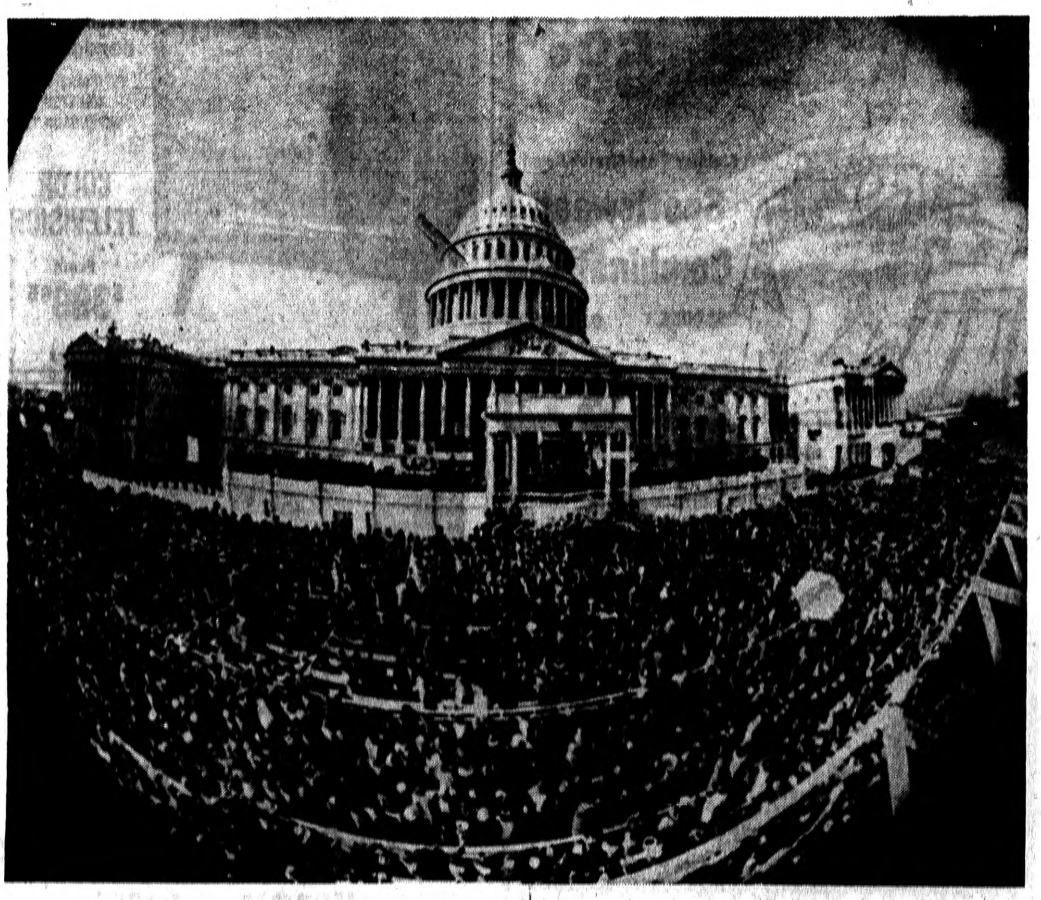
IT'S OKAY, LYNDON — Gov. George Wilcken Romney gives President Johnson an "okay" sign from his auto passing in the inaugural parade yesterday, although some little old sign-maker gave the governor the wrong middle initial (arrow).

MOMENT OF REFLECTION — President Johnson pauses a moment to reflect at the conclusion of his inauguration speech yesterday. Standing with the nation's 36th president is Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

DOWN PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE — Washington throngs view the splendor of the inauguration parade in Washington yesterday. Marching away from the Capitol, the procession heads for the White House. The President is riding the automobile directly behind the flag-carrying Guard of Honor, manned by members of U.S. armed forces.



'Fish-Eye' Lens Captures Both Left And Right Angles Of Inaugural Parade

CEREMONY OVER — As a sailor renders a snappy salute, President and Mrs. Johnson walk through the Capitol rotunda following inauguration ceremonies. The President had just finished his speech, in which he branded poverty and ignorance as national enemies. He and his wife then rode in the inauguration parade to the White House.

Death Car Fire 'Incendiary'

Testimony Given in Trial of Dentist's Wife

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (UPI) — A special investigator who testified the car fire in which Dr. Gordon Miller, 39, died was "incendiary in nature" rather than accidental resumes testimony today at the murder trial of the dentist's wife.

Willam Arthur Snare was to undergo further direct examination by Deputy Dist. Atty. Donald Turner and cross-examination by defense attorney Edward P. Foley.

Snare yesterday told a jury in the courtroom of Superior Judge Edward P. Fogg that the fire last Oct. 8 also definitely started inside the family's small, leased, imported auto rather than in the engine compartment.

Foley had claimed the fire was accidental, perhaps starting from a leak in the engine.

★ ★ ★

Fogg permitted Snare's testimony over the strong objections of Foley.

LIFE INSURANCE

The prosecution claims that Mrs. Lucille Miller, 35, now pregnant with the dentist's fourth child, killed her husband to get his life insurance, estimated at $125,000.

A judge last month declared Mrs. Miller's first trial a mistrial on the ground of possible jury prejudice due to newspaper accounts of the case.

The trial has attracted such interest that yesterday shrieking women spectators smashed through courtroom doors trying to get seats for the second full day of testimony.

Attendants reported a plate-glass window in the courtroom door and its hinges were broken as about 125 women sought some 65 available seats.

No injuries were reported, but Mrs. Miller — who was in an anteroom — was said to have been visibly disturbed by the confusion.

The prosecution claims Miller was under the influence of drugs and that his wife deliberately set fire to their car while on a shopping trip near their home in Alta Loma, Calif.

Woman Dies in Mishap

ELK RAPIDS (AP) — Mrs. Helen Waterman, 68, of East Jordan was killed Wednesday, state police said, when the family car driven by her husband, John, skidded on an icy patch of U. S. 31 south of Elk Rapids and plunged into a ditch.

Plainwell Woman Dies

PLAINWELL (AP) — Pauline Lynch, 45, of Plainwell was killed today when the car she was driving ran off old U. S. 131 and crashed near the southwest Michigan community.

Insurance Unit Gifts OU Fund

Mrs. Garland Hale of North Perry Street (at left), president of the Insurance Women of Pontiac, presents a bagful of dollars to Mrs. Addison R. Oakley of Cherokee Road, coordinator for the Oakland University Scholarship Committee.

The Insurance Women of Pontiac presented a gift to the Oakland University Scholarship Committee at a dinner meeting, Wednesday, in Holiday Inn.

Totaling more than $1,000, the gift will help finance expansion of the committee's Scholar Shop which was operated during last summer's Meadow Brook Music Festival. It is now operating on a limited basis in the lower level of Oakland Center.

Profits from the operation set to open early in April will be used toward the $85,000.00 goal needed for some 300 OU scholarship students.

George Wardrip, guest speaker, explained changes in the automobile insurance setup for 1965.

The gift, presented by the president, Mrs. Garland Hale, was accepted by Mrs. Addison Oakley, coordinator for the OU scholarship committee.

Wills Are Subject for Sorority

Attorney Bruce Wilson spoke on "The Importance of Wills" before Alpha chapter, Beta Theta Phi sorority, Tuesday, in the home of Mrs. Frank Coad on Neome Drive.

President, Mrs Harold Davidson, appointed Mrs. Arthur McKinniss as chairman for the annual banquet of the four chapters, Feb. 9, in the Waldron Hotel.

Mrs. R. J. Stanton and Mrs. Coad will assist Mrs. Orben Wilkins with decorations and Mrs. C. F. Denison is planning the program.

Mrs. Homer Tinney and Mrs. Charles Irish are handling reservations.

Guests for the evening were Mrs. George Phillips, Mrs. Eva Scott and Mrs. Elsie Yates.

Furniture Leads Double Life in Milwaukee, Say Experts

DEAR ABBY: Can you tell me why there are more double beds sold in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, than in any other city its size?

BRUCE G.

DEAR BRUCE: No but it might account for the size of Milwaukee.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am writing about my sister, who is an attractive, intelligent, middle-aged widow.

About five years ago her husband committed suicide. It was a dreadful experience for her, but after five years we feel she should try to make a new life for herself.

Several desirable men have shown an interest in her, but she has run away from them all.

When I pinned her down she became very upset and told me that she had no right to "lead a man on" because she would have to tell him (if he didn't already know) the circumstances of her husband's death.

She feels it is a reflection on HER that her husband took his own life. We've tried to tell her she is wrong, but we can't get through to her. Maybe you can.

N. Y.

DEAR N. Y.: Your sister is apparently suffering from guilt feeling (justified or otherwise) about what she failed to do that might have saved her husband.

★ ★ ★

Psychiatrists say it's a typical reaction of one who has experienced a tragedy of this kind.

Try to persuade your sister to seek professional help. Her future depends on it.

DEAR ABBY: Our landlady is the nosiest woman in the world. The other tenants in our building have warned us against her. They say they've caught her going through their drawers, closets and even reading their mail when they've come home unexpectedly.

My husband and I both work during the day, and I don't want her snooping around my place while we're gone.

She tells the tenants that she has to have keys to all the apartments because in case it rains and nobody is home she wants to be able to get in to close the windows. My husband says we should give her a key. I say no. What do you say?

LIKES PRIVACY

DEAR LIKES: If you prefer privacy to a snoopy landlady, you had better move. Because, like it or not, the landlady has the last key.

Mrs. Judd to Head '65 Cinderella Ball

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Mrs. John D. Richardson Jr., president of the women's committee for the Tuberculosis and Health Society, has appointed vice president Mrs. Jesse P. Judd of Glengarry Road, chairman for the Cinderella Ball in the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit on Oct. 2.

Mrs. Judd has been an active member of the society for five years.

During 1961-1962 she was president of the Mothers' Club of Bloomfield Country Day School.

She has also served in various capacities with the Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children, the March of Dimes, and the United Foundation.

In 1963 she was social chairman for the ladies committee at Oakland Hills Country Club.

LOCAL WORKERS

Serving on the executive committee from this area for the Tuberculosis Health Society are Mesdames John L. Denman, vice-president; Joseph Paulus, and corresponding secretary; N. J. Rakas, assistant corresponding secretary; Joseph E. Risdon, treasurer, Roy Fruehauf, and William J. Scripps.

Others interested in the work are: Mesdames E. M. Estes, Edgar Flint, Lewis D. Fykse, Ernest Jones, Chester Cahn, Donald Borgeson, Lynn Townsend, Carl J. Snyder, William Shaw, Harold G. Warner, George Webb, David Wirth, Edward Avis and Packer Avis.

Others are Mesdames: M. M. Burgess, Robert Awrey, William Compton, William Cooper, John B. Daniels, David Demarest, Fredrick Bush, Leonard Meldman and Herman Reichart.

LUNCHEON

Mrs. Arthur E. Moore gave a luncheon at the Detroit Athletic Club on Tuesday honoring Mrs. Mary Curry. With Mrs. Moore were her daughter Mrs. Walter Dennison, and daughter-in-law Mrs. Eugene Moore.

Among those who will attend opening night Friday at the DAC when Gordon and Sheila MacRae begin their engagement as part of club's 50th anniversary, will be the Ari M. BeGoles, the William S. Spiegels, Dr. and Mrs. Orra B. Crego.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Stringer will entertain at a table for eight and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Judd will have six guests.

Mrs. John G. Woods recently entertained a large group of friends for luncheon at her home on Lone Pine Hill.

MRS. JUDD

Marriage Topic at Study Club

The Junior Child Study Club met Tuesday in the Lakeward Lane home of Mrs. Jack C. Brannack.

Mrs. Olga Vorjandoff of the Family Service Center of Oakland County spoke. "How to Stay Married" was her topic.

Hostesses included Mrs. Victor Sutt, Mrs. Emery Butler, Mrs. George Pentiuk, and Mrs. Adolph Magnus.

Feb. 14 is the date set for a joint luncheon with other study groups to be held at Devon Gables.

Sorority Met Recently

Mrs. Russell Perkins was hostess to Xi Gamma chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority, Wednesday, in her home on Sharon Street. Cohostesses were Mrs. Milton Ott and Marcelle Kitson.

★ ★ ★

A program titled "Easy and Informal" was presented by Mrs. Russell Lehigh. Mrs. Michael Gallogly gave a lesson "Learning to Live."

Plans were discussed for the City Council card party on March 24. Mrs. Perkins will be ticket chairman and Miss Kitson is handling publicity.

WORKSHOP PLANNED

A workshop to make favors for the Founders' Day banquet was announced.

The project committee reported on the needy area family which the chapter assisted at Christmas, also the 'adopted' patient at Pontiac State Hospital who is remembered each month.

Officers Night Held Recently by Areme Unit

Areme chapter No. 503 held Friendship and Oakland County Officers night at their recent meeting. One hundred and eighty members and guests were present.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County officers present were Mrs. Charles Martz, Mrs. Daniel Abraham, John Mikusak, Mrs. Leland Walz, Mrs. Laura Wait, Mrs. Goebell Kelley, Mrs. Cree Wheat and Mrs. Robert Roberts.

Officers from 19 chapters outside the Pontiac chapter participated in initiation ceremonies.

★ ★ ★

The social committee consisted of Mrs. Kenneth Bain, Mrs. Charles Woody, Mary Wheeler, Mrs. Marian Garner, Mrs. Robert Edward, Mrs. Daniel Peterson and Mrs. Harry Eaton.

Lights and Greens Can Alter Size

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My wedding is going to be quite small, possibly 50 guests. The church is very large and I'm afraid the guests will look lost and the wedding seem forlorn.

How may we overcome this?

A: The effect of emptiness can be overcome by making a hedge of branches or potted shrubbery across the pews that form the boundary.

The altar, chancel and necessary pews would be brilliantly lighted and the pews behind the screen of greens left dark thus making the church seem as small as need be.

If there is no side door, a narrow opening would have to be left in the aisle to admit the guests, but the bridal party would enter from the vestry instead of going up the long aisle.

★ ★ ★

Q: What's the proper time to place the napkin across my lap when seated at the dinner table in someone's house? Must I wait, as I have been told, until the hostess has taken up her napkin before placing mine across my lap?

★ ★ ★

Also, should the napkin be opened entirely or merely opened half way?

A: You do not wait for the hostess to take up her napkin before placing yours on your lap. A large dinner napkin is opened half way; a small one is opened entirely.

★ ★ ★

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envlope to Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

Daughter Born to Schimmels

Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Schimmel Jr. (Mary Cowan) of Royal Oak, former Pontiac residents, announce the birth of a daughter Amy Catherine at William Beaumont Hospital, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Schimmel of West Iroquois Road and Mrs. George Nichols of Wenonah Drive are the grandparents.

The junior Schimmels expect to move back to the Pontiac area as soon as their home is completed at Otter Lake.

Club Hears Mail Expert

Members of The Business Institute (TBI) club met in the library of the Pontiac Business Institute Tuesday evening.

Guest speaker was William Donaldson, Pontiac postmaster, on "Procedures of the Post Office."

Mrs. Charles Van Trease and Mary Parker were hostesses.

News Correspondent Here

Pontiac Town Hall will again resume its guest appearance series on Jan. 27, at the Huron Theater at the usual time of 10:30 a.m.

Members will have the opportunity to hear and meet Pauline Frederick, National Broadcasting Corporation's United Nations correspondent.

A celebrity luncheon will be held following the lecture at Devon Gables.

MISS FREDERICK

OU Displays Art Collection

An exhibition of engravings by Giovanni Piranesi is now being shown in the Oakland University art gallery, according to Dr. John Galloway, chairman of the art department.

The collection of prints by the renowned 18th century Italian artist are impressions from a set acquired by Joseph Smith, British Consul in Venice and patron of the arts.

The extensive exhibit is dominated by his artistic interpretations of Roman architecture.

The exhibit is open to the public from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 2 until 4:30 p.m. on Sundays, until Jan. 28. Some of the items are for sale.

Hospital Unit Hosts Agents

Members of the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital Guild met in the hospital Tuesday evening.

John F. Callaghan of the Detroit district of the Federal Bureau of Investigation spoke to the group.

Robert Hancock of the Washington, D. C. district of the FBI was a special guest.

The elegance of this new side swing coiffure, designed by the official hair fashion committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, is in its form and complete simplicity. Hair at the sides swing softly forward from a slightly raised crown of highly polished hair. Bangs may be worn, or the style can feature a clean, open face look.

Definitely a pop-art hair style, this one with its suave look needs the perfect haircut, the new "Breeze Cut," which allows the hair to swing and return in perfect placement.

Gently bias in design, this new upswing coiffure reflects the mood of some of the most important couture collections for spring and summer. First, hair is shorter, lighter, brighter and younger for 1965. The upswing of waves and curls at the back is particularly welcome when there is a need to enhance a short stature.

Busy making the aprons to be used as table prizes for their annual card party are (from left), Mrs. Louis Koprince, East Howard Street; Mrs. Ted Boga, Sylvan Lake; and Mrs. Daniel Scott of East Rutgers Avenue. Door prizes will also be given at the Daughters of Isabella party to be held Jan. 25, 8 p.m. in the Knights of Columbus Hall on Wide Track Drive.

Straighten Out Affairs for New Year

By MARY FEELEY

MARY FEELEY

The beginning of a new year seems to inspire a surge of orderliness in most of us. We feel neat and brisk, determined to tie up all the little naggling loose ends we never got around to last year — or the year before that.

So today's column is a sort of Lost and Found Department for those of you who've misplaced your stock certificates, lost your passbook, or are wondering if there's any use in trying to trace documents you really should have for your family records.

Dear Miss Feeley:

When I was a child about the age of nine or ten, my two brothers, a sister and I had school savings accounts in Scotch Plains, New Jersey.

Our bank books were destroyed in a fire in 1929. I wonder if it's possible to get this money.

P.H., Newark, N.J.

Dear P.H.,

Contact the bank which serviced the school you attended at the time you had your savings accounts.

★ ★ ★

Even though the New Jersey state laws require banks to transfer funds of dormant accounts after 20 years to the Treasurer of the State of New Jersey, the bank must fill out the necessary forms in order for you to receive the long-lost money.

If you don't remember the name of the bank, ask the Treasurer's office in your state to check their records for those missing passbooks.

Dear Miss Feeley:

Can I find out if my husband who died in 1961 had a safety deposit box? I think he did, but any record of such has been lost. I have heard that there is some place I can write for this information.

E.B., Chicago

Dear E.B.:

In your city the National Safe Deposit Association, care of the First National Bank, can help you locate such a box if it exists.

For a fee of $15, or thereabouts, they will run an ad in their publication, which is distributed to banks. You can understand that a bank which may have had your husband's patronage would be eager to locate the rightful owner of the contents of the box.

After all, no payment is being received at this time for the use of the box, if he did have one.

★ ★ ★

Dear Miss Feeley:

Can anyone trace or get information concerning some stocks which were thought to be of little or no value — and which paid no dividends for a number of years?

These stocks were in another name than that of the possessor, and were destroyed with no record — except one. This one lead is a company in Connecticut, but the person owning it at that time is now deceased.

H.D.,
West Palm Beach, Fla.

Dear H.D.:

It's possible to trace stocks, but sometimes it can be a laborious procedure. The most logical place to start is with a stockbroker's office.

I talked to one of the biggest stockbrokers in the country, and they told me that tracing such stocks as you mention is a service that most of them will render.

Of course, a small fee is involved — something like $10 — if there is a considerable amount of research to be done.

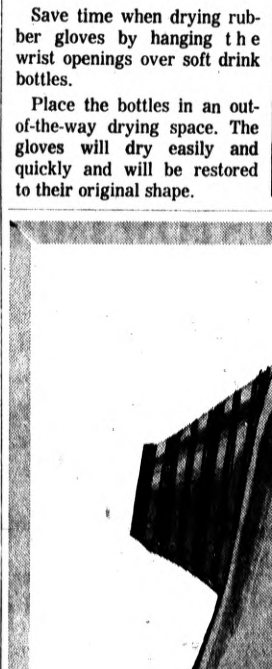
(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of this newspaper. Questions of widest interest will be answered in her column.)



A May 8 wedding at Kirk in the Hills is planned by Judy Anne Kirby, daughter of the Thomas V. Kirbys of Inkster Road, Bloomfield Township, and Robert Orr Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald I. Rice of Middle Belt Road, West Bloomfield Township. Her fiance who attends University of Michigan is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

'Fur Fetched' Is This One by Designer

Well, what next in the opulence department! Now, it's a four-door sedan covered on the OUTSIDE with zebra skin.

Designer Jacques Kaplan of the Georges Kaplan fur firm created the zebra-covered car for a client who wanted something a little different and Renault delivered an all-white number for the special treatment.

Total cost, $2,848. Kaplan said he'd also cover cars in mink, sable, chinchilla or leopard, at varying prices.

Top Bottles With Gloves

Save time when drying rubber gloves by hanging the wrist openings over soft drink bottles.

Place the bottles in an out-of-the-way drying space. The gloves will dry easily and quickly and will be restored to their original shape.

The engagement is announced of Carol Jean Mero, daughter of Mrs. Dewey G. Pratt, of Adele Terrace, Commerce Township and the late Eli N. Mero, to Airman 1.C. Frederick M. Sherman, son of the Stanley C. Shermans of Jay Street. The wedding will be on June 5.

Slips Have Interesting History

Lingerie has had a strange history. Women's "underdrawers" were first worn by men.

It was not until the 12th that a knitted garment like an elongated stocking or tights (called opera drawers or Calecons) was developed for the women of the French stage.

The petticoat of the 17th century in Europe was in triplicate.

★ ★ ★

The outer layer was called a "modest." The second which occasionally was allowed to show was the "rascal" and the inner skirt, the "secret".

Until the 1920's the petticoat was the only type of slip used.

★ ★ ★

The slip as we know it came into existence due to the new one-piece of Chanel and Vionnet.

Substitute This Recipe for Apricot Bread

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Sometimes, a recipe we put in the paper goes absolutely haywire. This was the case with the Apricot Nut Bread in the Jan. 13 market basket section.

If you cut out the recipe for future use, please throw it away and substitute this one. You'll have better luck.

We're sorry. We don't know how the mixup occurred, but perhaps the gremlins that put mistakes in our recipes were especially active that day.

APRICOT NUT BREAD

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
1 cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
1 cup chopped dried apricots
½ cup chopped nutmeats
2 eggs, beaten
⅓ cup liquid shortening
⅔ cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and sugar into bowl.

Stir in oats, apricots and nutmeats. Add eggs, shortening and milk; stir only until dry ingredients are moistened.

Pour batter into greased 8½x4½x2½-inch loaf pan.

Bake in 350-degree oven, one to one and a quarter hours. Let stand in pan several minutes. Turn out on rack to cool.

Slices better the second day.

Two Speed Cleaner Does Jobs

New vacuum cleaners and floor polishers in one manufacturer's line come with two-speed controls.

Fast speed is recommended for polishing floors to a mirror-like finish or shampooing rugs.

The low speeds are suggested when scrubbing or applying wax to floors, to reduce splattering.

Student Crop Is Fired-Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Call youngsters coming out of high schools today the "fired-up generation," suggests the National Education Association.

Why? These reasons were given: the students are activists. They're thirsty for knowledge and experience. They have an urge to be involved in life — in the campus and in the community and in the world.

They want to make a difference.

HURON at TELEGRAPH

Ventriloquy for Speech

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE U-482: Paul Stadelman is a very talented ventriloquist.

Recently I dined at a fancy Chicago restaurant where Paul was the roving entertainer with his ventriloquist's "dummy."

DR. CRANE

Some mutual friends introduced us so we had an interesting discussion for half an hour.

It was doubly pleasant to me, too, for I had seen his picture in the Chicago newspaper a short time earlier.

He was surrounded by a graduating class of about a dozen students of his official course that he conducts on ventriloquism.

FEMALE STUDENTS

Among his students were a few very attractive looking girls.

"I was interested in the fact that girls take your course on ventriloquism," I began.

"Yes, and they are often very adept at it," Paul replied.

Then he informed me that such girls utilize their skill both for entertaining groups of people, but also in many commercial roles.

For female ventriloquists are ideal in toy shops and the children's section of our large department stores.

AIDS STUTTERING

"Dr. Crane," Paul added, "I have followed your newspaper column with great interest ever since I saw an article in which you reported that my specialty is a great aid in treating chronic stuttering.

"What you said is certainly very true. I have had several hopeless stuttering cases that responded quickly when they took the first few lessons in ventriloquy.

"As you had mentioned, they do NOT stutter when they turn their attention upon their dummy.

"For a ventriloquist's dummy does not stutter although I can purposely imitate stuttering with mine."

Whereupon he intentionally made his dummy stutter! It was the first time I had ever heard such a demonstration.

"Dr. Crane," Paul continued, "I started my course because a prominent Chicago dentist had witnessed my performance at his men's luncheon club.

"He was of foreign birth so had grown somewhat shy and inclined to stutter, partly because of self-consciousness about ordinary conversation.

"For he would say 'dese' and 'dose' for the pronouns 'these' and 'those'.

COACH

"So he asked me if I would coach him. Well, after the first two lessons he was delighted and insisted that I outline a 10-lesson course.

"For he said his wife had commented that his dummy used correct English."

Then Paul quoted the dentist's enthusiastic report:

CORRECT ENGLISH

"Mr. Stadelman," the dentist exulted, "my dummy never says 'dese' and 'dose' but he always uses 'these' and 'those'. So my wife tells me I better take some lessons in English from my dummy, Ha."

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

New ideas for kid-pleasin' meals with a thrifty touch

FANCY FRANKS
Stuff them with mashed potatoes and Cheddar cheese . . . serve with tender peas in savory butter. Waldorf salad with a luscious sour cream dressing is an instant hit too. And don't forget chilled glasses of milk. For dessert, how 'bout chocolate cake à la mode?

FLOATING ISLAND CHILI
A wonderful warmer-upper! Float a scoop of mashed potatoes topped with shredded Cheddar cheese on a bowl of chili. Kids love it! Add crackers, relishes and plenty of milk. For a happy ending, serve baked custard with a cherry sauce.

SPAGHETTI AND MEAT BALLS
A family favorite! Serve it with plenty of refreshing milk and buttered bread. Then create a colorful new slaw the kids will really enjoy. Toss shredded red and green cabbage with a pineapple sour cream dressing. For dessert, treat the kids to cheese-topped apple pie.

MAKE 'EM EASY WITH FOOD STORE SPECIALS AND DAIRY FOODS
When you serve these kid-pleasin' dishes, be sure to include plenty of fresh, whole milk. Milk helps balance the meal, and it supplies the extra vitality kids need every day. Good to know it's so good for them! Look for more Kid-Pleasin' Meal ideas at your favorite store.

Polly's Pointers

Fine for Toy Storage

DEAR POLLY—When an old lightweight chest of drawers had seen its best days, I threw away the frame and kept the drawers.

I tightened the joints and painted these drawers the same color as the walls in my little girl's room.

With the aid of several shelf brackets, I staggered them up a bare wall and had some attractive shadow boxes for dolls and toys.

Everyone admires them and these cases are useful in helping eliminate the clutter. —MRS. G. M.

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY — To keep all my crochet hooks together in one place, I put them in the plastic case that a new toothbrush came in.

I also keep the larger needles for sewing with wool in this same case.—MRS. J. M. S., Jr.

DEAR POLLY — When I am sewing and the scissors seem dull, I cut up and down on the rim of an ordinary water glass.

I had quite a nick in my scissors from cutting into a pin and this smoothed the rough edges. I also do it with my pinking shears.—DOTTIE.

GIRLS—Surprisingly enough, the glass I used did not seem rough after the "cutting" along the rim.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I have a wall telephone in the kitchen and there never seemed to be a pencil near when I needed one.

I attached the bottom of a square toothbrush holder to the side of the phone with cellophane tape.

Masking tape the color of the phone could be used if preferred.

A pen or pencil fits nicely in this holder.—MRS. C. H. W.

DEAR POLLY — My toddler son is a slim, wiry child who is outgrowing his rompers in length rather than width.

I had considered replacing the shoulder straps but could never find the time to make 24 new straps and sew on 24 new buttons.

I have a younger child, too, who will eventually wear these rompers. I knew that would mean another change back again.

I hit on the idea of buying a pair of adjustable elastic suspenders. I now tuck the original straps into the waistband, attach the new suspenders and adjust them to fit.

They are easily transferred from one pair to another and as they are adjustable will be used for several years.—MRS. M. E. F.

Third Year Is Crucial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — If a marriage is going to fail, when is the failure most likely?

A young law professor who moderates a YWCA course on the subject says that, the "seven-year itch" notwithstanding, the third year is apt to be most dangerous.

"Many marriages don't last more than a month or two," said Prof. Mel Sager, of the University of California.

"After the first couple of months the divorce rate drops off, begins to increase after the first year and hits its peak in the all-important third year.

"After that, the road appears to be much easier."

BACHELOR

Sager, who is a bachelor, is deeply concerned over the fact that one out of four U.S. marriages ends in the divorce court.

He proposed a massive nationwide study by federal or private interests into the problems of marriage and the causes of divorce.

It should include a national census on the frequency of divorce, he said. There hasn't been such a count in 20 or 30 years, he added.

PREVENTION

"It's the old story of preventive medicine," he said. "There are thousands of couples who obviously shouldn't have married.

"There are a good number of people who should never be married under any circumstances.

"Given that fact, it's fairly easy to see why marriages fail, but harder to see why these people get married in the first place.

"So they end up in a lawyer's office asking for a divorce. By that time it's too late.

"Some of these marriages might possibly be saved with proper marriage counseling, but the vast majority were doomed before the trip to the church.

"Look at our American tradition of early marriages. The average girl gets married at 20.

"If she reaches 24 and is still single, she's ready to grab the first man who comes along."

DIFFERENT OVERSEAS

Sager pointed out that in Europe, less than one-quarter of the girls are married by 24. In Norway and Ireland, less than one-tenth are married by that age.

"Society is basically forcing our kids to marry before they are emotionally mature enough," said Sager.

U. S. divorce rates are the highest in the world, but Sweden, Finland, Switzerland and Denmark are rapidly catching up, he said.

"That's not because our divorces are declining," Sager said. "Those countries are fast reaching a level where they equal the United States in divorce, alcoholism, mental illness and suicide."

EDUCATION

The answer, says Sager, lies in a "systematic education and philosophy of marriage."

"We're not savages," he said. "We can't simply decide to get married and assume that problems will take care of themselves."

A person contemplating marriage, according to Sager, ought to sit down with his potential mate and talk over what they want in life.

Sager plays down efforts to relate happy marriages to sexual compatability. "Marriages aren't really made or unmade in bed," he said.

"After all, if there is a problem, that can usually be worked out by a physician or by a psychiatrist or social worker."

GOOD AND evil

Must human existence always be a mixture of good and evil? Is there a modern answer to this age-old riddle of creation? You're invited to hear how men today are finding, in a spiritual discovery, the underlying reality of life. In a one-hour public lecture Thomas A. McClain of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship will explore this subject: "The Key to the Mystery of Creation." Everyone is welcome to come and listen.

Hair Shrinks, Say Experts

NEW YORK (UPI) —Women who trim their bangs after a shampoo often are puzzled as to why their hair dries so much shorter than planned.

★ ★ ★

The secret to cutting bangs when the hair is wet, according to hairstylists, is to cut to eyebrow length. Hair shrinks, or "bounces up," as it dries.

Press and Hang

A girl's freshly-washed and pressed hair ribbons are kept both handy and neat if they are fastened to a wire coat hanger and hung in her closet along with her dresses.

Dishwashing Is Fateful Occupation

The average housewife breaks nine dishes a year, according to a survey by Jensen-Thorsen Corporation, a sink manufacturer.

More dishes are broken while drying than washing, the Addison, Ill., sink firm found.

The highest rate of breakage of dishes is among young mothers while the lowest is among grandmothers, reported Karl Jensen, president of Jensen-Thorsen Corporation which questioned 600 homemakers on dish-washing breakage.

CUP BREAKAGE

Most often broken are cups and glasses while large dinner plates have the lowest breakage rate.

"Large plates and platters are more carefully handled both because they weigh more than other dishes and cost more," observed Jensen.

"Cups break more easily because they are more fragile."

In its dish breakage survey, the stainless steel sink firm found that 70 per cent occurred in drying rather than washing.

"Actually drying dishes takes more agility with the hands than washing," noted Jensen. "If a dish slips while drying, the fall is longer, too.

In washing most homemakers usually have some type of cushioning in the sink and the chances of breakage are diminished.

YOUNG MOTHERS

"Young mothers have the highest rate of breakage, because they are subject to more distractions like youngsters and also do not have as much kitchen experience as older women, who follow a number of precautions to prevent breakage," Jensen continued.

Among tips to avoid dish breakage, Jensen suggests washing dishes in a plastic pan.

June vows are being planned by Mary Jane Stewart, daughter of the Thomas H. Stewarts of Westacres, and John T. Van Sicklen, son of the Harold G. Van Sicklens of West Lake Drive, Novi Township. The bride-elect attended Michigan State University and her fiance is a senior at Iowa State University.

Male Minority Will Dwindle Next Decade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Men already are in the minority among the nation's older people, but indications are that the male minority will dwindle still further in the decades ahead.

The 1960 Census showed that for every 1,000 women of 65 and over, there were just 826 men.

Analyzing the Census Bureau figures, the Institute of Life Insurance calculates that the proportion of older men will continue to drop until the year 2,000.

By then, there may be only 674 men for each 1,000 women at those ages.

Keep Extra Pair

If you're a boot fancier, it's wise to keep a pair of neutral color shoes in the office.

It's often too hot to keep boots on all day, and it's a nuisance to tote shoes along.

There are approximately 35.5 million amateur musicians in this country.

Same Fabric Used

In better quality furniture, the same quality of outer covering is used on all parts, including the areas under the cushions and across the outside back.

Confusion of red and green is the most common color blindness.

Hot Sandwiches for Skiers, Skaters

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

After a session on skis or skates, everyone is ravenous. Coffee, hot chocolate or soup is always welcome, but something more substantial is indicated too.

Here's the place to serve hearty hot sandwiches. Some, you make up at serving time.

Others, like this first recipe, you can prepare ahead of time and refrigerate until you come home from your outing.

It will remind you a bit of French toast with a tangy filling. But it's all done in a casserole.

HAM AND CHEESE

RACHELS

BREAKFAST STEAKS

Ham and Cheese Baked Sandwiches

Butter, softened
12 slices sandwich bread
2 cans (4½-oz. each) deviled ham
2 tablespoons crumbled Blue cheese
½ cup chopped celery
¾ cup onion rings
¼ cup (½ stick) butter, melted
2 eggs
1 cup milk

Butter 6 bread slices; place in 9x13-inch pan, buttered side up, and brown in 350-degree oven 15 - 20 minutes.

In a mixing bowl combine deviled ham, Blue cheese and celery; spread over toasted bread. Top with onion rings and remaining bread slices. Pour melted butter over sandwiches.

Beat eggs just until yolks and whites are blended; add milk and pour over sandwiches. Bake 45 - 50 minutes.

Serve hot, cutting sandwiches in half.

Teenagers will go for a platter of Rachels. These are a take-off on the Reuben Sandwich which is made with corned beef. Rachels call for brown 'n serve sausages.

Rachel Brown 'N Serve Sandwiches

2 packages (½-pound each) brown 'n serve sausage links
¼ cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
10 slices rye bread
1 pound can sauerkraut, drained
10 slices Swiss cheese

Cut each brown 'n serve sausage in half lengthwise. Blend together sour cream and mustard.

Spread each slice of rye bread with some of the sour cream mixture. Heap ½ cup sauerkraut on top of the bread. Place a slice of cheese on top of sauerkraut.

For each sandwich, arrange 4 sausage halves crosswise on top of the cheese. Put sandwiches on a baking sheet.

Place under broiler for 3 minutes, or until sausage are browned and cheese melted. To serve, cut each sandwich in half crosswise. Makes 10 sandwiches.

This last hot sandwich makes use of the popular cube or breakfast steaks. The original twist is serving the meat on toasted raisin bread.

Here's a recipe to remember next summer when you have the grill in the back yard.

Breakfast Steak Raisin Toastwiches

4 minute or cube steaks
Butter or margarine
Seasoned salt and pepper
8 slices raisin bread
4 tomato slices
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
Water

Quickly pan fry steaks in 1 tablespoon butter until lightly browned on each side. Sprinkle with seasoned salt and pepper.

Toast and butter raisin bread. Arrange each steak on slice of raisin toast; keep hot.

Add 3 tablespoons butter to drippings in skillet. Add tomato slices and cook lightly on both sides. Sprinkle with lemon juice and parsley.

Place tomato slice on top of each steak. Add 1 or 2 tablespoons water to skillet; heat quickly.

Spoon pan sauce over steaks. Serve with remaining toast. Makes 4 servings.

Chicken breasts that weigh about one pound each when simmered in water to cover, will need about thirty minutes cooking time.

Cut Unsliced Bread Before Browning

Now is the time for hearty, "Meal - in - a - dish" soups and stews, and crusty herb bread is the perfect accompaniment.

★ ★ ★

Purchase unsliced French or Italian bread, then cut diagonally into 1-inch slices, cutting almost through to the bottom.

Blend softened butter or margarine with favorite herbs or minced onion or garlic, or try dry salad dressing or soup mixes and spread between slices.

Melt remaining butter and pour over bread. Wrap the loaf in foil and warm in a preheated 350 degree oven about 15 minutes.

Glaze Bacon for Egg Dish

Bacon to be served with scrambled eggs or waffles takes a cue from baked ham—namely, a handsome glaze.

Blend equal parts unsulphured molasses and prepared mustard and brush on the bacon (2 tablespoons each of the mustard and unsulphured molasses glazes ½ pound of bacon). Place the bacon slices on a broiler rack 3 inches below heat.

Broil, turning and brushing with more glaze, until the bacon is cooked. The fine sweet-and-nippy taste of the glaze adds new dimension to bacon.

Ever fold grated chocolate into a butter cake? Use a coarse grater so the chocolate will stay in small flakes.

Chicken and Fritters Are Still Good Duo

Want to serve an old-fashioned main course that is as delicious today as it was years ago when it was first served?

Offer your family and friends fried chicken fritters, crisp bacon. Serve maple syrup with the fritters if you like.

Steak Sauce Adds Good Flavor

Why are pork and lamb such family favorites in winter?

Simply because they pass the "winter dinner test" with flying colors: they make hearty, nourishing meals; they can be prepared in a variety of interesting ways; they are easy on the food budget.

Here are some recipe suggestions:

Lamb Patty Grill

1½ lbs. ground lamb shoulder or breast
1½ teaspoons salt
pepper
bread crumbs
1 tablespoon steak sauce
3 medium sized tomatoes
3 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted)

Mix lamb, 1 teaspoon salt and steak sauce together and shape into patties 1-inch thick and 3-inches in diameter. Place on broiler rack 2-inches below flame, broil 7-9 minutes on each side, or until golden brown.

Slice tomatoes in half. Sprinkle with remaining salt, dash of pepper and bread crumbs. Brush with butter or margarine.

Five minutes before patties are done, transfer them to heat-resistant platter on which tomato halves and medallion border of mashed potatoes have been arranged. (Use pastry tube to make border). Place under broiler to brown. Serves 6.

★ ★ ★

Babed Pork Chops

6 pork chops, ¾" thick
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons steak sauce
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup rolled bread crumbs

★ ★ ★

Brown chops on both sides in hot frying pan. Remove to buttered baking dish. Add salt, water, sauce to pan and heat. Thicken with flour mixed with ¼ cup cold water. Stir until smooth.

★ ★ ★

Pour over chops, top with bread crumbs, bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Serves 6.

Pork Tenderloin Oriental

2 lbs. pork tenderloin
1 tablespoon sherry
1 tablespoon steak sauce
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 tablespoon sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Blend together all ingredients. Cut meat into two long strips, rub blended mixture into the meat. Let stand 1-2 hours. Cook slowly under broiler 45 to 60 minutes, turning frequently to brown all sides evenly.

When meat has cooled, cut into thin diagonal slices and serve with Chinese mustard. Serves 6.

★ ★ ★

Stuffed Breast of Lamb

3 lbs. lamb breast
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 tablespoon steak sauce
1½ teaspoons salt

★ ★ ★

Have butcher cut pocket in wide end of lamb. Fill cavity with your favorite stuffing, sew edges together. Brown meat on all sides in mixture of salad oil and sauce. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, add ½ cup water.

★ ★ ★

Cover and cook slowly until tender (1½-2 hours). Serves 6.

Buttermilk Gives Meat Loaf New Tenderness

No one ever scorns a really good meat loaf!

Meat Loaf Frances

1 egg
½ cup buttermilk
2 tablespoons finely grated onion, pulp and juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 cup soft bread crumbs
½ cup chopped parsley
1 pound ground chuck beef

★ ★ ★

In a mixing bowl, beat the egg enough to combine yolk and white. Mix in the remaining ingredients in the order given.

Pack into a greased quart ring mold. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 45 minutes.

Let stand 10 minutes or so to have loaf reabsorb juices before unmolding.

Spices Are Still Important in Fixing Meats

Today every homemaker who likes to think of herself as a better-than-average cook takes pride in knowing her spices, especially those fragrant buds, leaves, bits of bark and roots that give appetizing aroma to meats.

Cloves, for instance, are particularly good with meat, fowl, game and similar brothy main dishes.

Throughout the ages people used spices on meat to act as a preservative. (Modern scientific research has shown that virtually all natural spices have the ability to retard rancidity.)

That's why, until the perfection of the modern mechanical refrigerator, every housewife had her own spice-rich formula for curing meats.

Then, some forty years ago, came refrigeration. Fresh meat was available every day in the year.

This was so exciting that, for a period of time, many Americans cooked meat without any spicing — just to show they could.

Happily for one and all, we are now making an art of spicing — just because it tastes so good.

Here are some unusual recipes.

HASENPFEFFER
(Pickled Rabbit)

4 to 5 lb. rabbit*
1 cup vinegar or dry wine
1 cup water
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
6 whole black peppers
1½ bay leaves
6 whole cloves
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
1 cup sour cream

Skin and cut rabbit into serving-size pieces. Place into crock and cover with equal parts of vinegar or dry wine and water.

Add instant minced onion, salt, whole black pepper, bay leaves and cloves. Soak for at least 2 days.

Remove meat, brown in butter or margarine, turning often. Gradually add marinade sauce. Simmer until meat is tender.

Stir flour in gravy. Cook 30 minutes more. Just before serving, stir in sour cream. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

*Available frozen.

Sweet and Sour Spiced Beef

3 to 4 lb. fresh brisket of beef
1 cup boiling water
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ teaspoon dill seed
1½ tablespoons instant minced onion
½ bay leaf
5 whole cloves
4 tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar
3 tablespoons sugar

Place meat in stew pan adding water, salt, ground black pepper, dill seed, instant minced onion, bay leaf and cloves. Cook over low heat for 2½ hours or until tender. Add lemon juice or vinegar and sugar. Slice meat hot or cold. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

★ ★ ★

Spiced Beef Tongue

1 fresh beef tongue
Cold water to cover
1 tablespoon salt
3 bay leaves
6 whole cloves
4 whole black peppers
6 large carrots, halved
6 stalks celery, cut into 2-inch pieces
6 small whole potatoes
4 medium tomatoes, peeled
4 tablespoons flour

Place tongue in large pan, and cover with cold water. Add salt, bay leaves, whole cloves and peppers. Boil moderately about 2 hours. Remove from the liquid.

Skin and place tongue in roaster. Strain. Use same liquid to half cover the tongue. Group carrots, celery, potatoes and tomatoes around tongue.

Cover and cook slowly in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 2 hours or until tender. Gravy may be thickened with flour, if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

Apple Pancakes

Breakfast menus getting dull? Add a cup of finely chopped pared apple to a standard pancake batter and griddle-bake these apple pancakes as usual. Serve with ginger marmalade — if you can lay your hands on any — or with the usual maple syrup or honey.

Use Rosemary

Ever add a little rosemary to mashed potatoes? Different and good! Rosemary is also excellent added to a French dressing that is to be used on a cooked vegetable salad.

Non-alcoholic eggnog and thin slices of pound cake make good fare for a teen-age party.

Try Broccoli Casserole

When the menu calls for a hot vegetable with special appeal, this Baked Broccoli with Almond Sauce is a good choice. Either fresh or frozen broccoli is cooked until tender, then sauced with a wine - flavored cream sauce. Shredded almonds add a nice bit of crunch.

Broccoli cooked in this way comes out of the oven bubbly and browned, and retains its heat for a long time. So it is especially attractive for buffet service, along with a platter of sliced turkey, ham or roast beef, hot buttered rolls or French bread and a simple salad.

The same wine used to flavor the casserole, California Sauterne or Chablis, may be chilled and served as the accompanying beverage to complete the festive meal.

Or, if the meat calls for a red wine — often preferred with beef or pork — the white wine should be corked or capped and refrigerated for another day.

Dinner wines, either red or white, have a low alcoholic content, and therefore should be used soon after opening. The general guide is that they are about as perishable as milk.

Baked Broccoli With Almond Sauce

2 pounds broccoli
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup rich milk
½ cup California Sauterne, Chablis or other white dinner wine
½ cup shredded, blanched almonds
Salt and pepper
½ cup grated American cheese
Paprika

Wash broccoli. Cut off woody end of stalks and any coarse lower leaves. Split end of stalks with a knife so they will cook as quickly as the tender upper portion.

Lay broccoli in a pan containing an inch or so of boiling salted water; cover and cook quickly for about 15 minutes, or just until tender. Drain thoroughly, reserving liquid.

★ ★ ★

Melt butter and stir in flour; add milk and ½ cup of the reserved broccoli liquid; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened and smooth. Remove from heat; stir in wine, almonds, salt and pepper.

Arrange broccoli in a greased shallow baking dish; cover broccoli with the almond - cream sauce; sprinkle with grated cheese and dust with paprika.

Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) about 20 minutes, or until bubbly and browned.

Grenadine for Flavor in Beets

Change the way you serve beets by preparing them with spices and half a cup of grenadine syrup.

Grenadine Beets

1 can (1 pound) baby beets
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
½ cup grenadine syrup
1 teaspoon slivered lemon rind
½ teaspoon salt
pinch ground cloves
pinch of mace or nutmeg

Drain beets well. In the top of a double broiler melt butter. Stir in flour smoothly and add grenadine syrup. Cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and slightly thick.

Add beets, lemon rind, salt, cloves, mace or nutmeg. Cook over simmering water for 30 minutes. Serves 4.

PEANUT BUTTER DESSERTS — A meringue topped butterscotch pie, moist, chewy brownies, and an easy to make cookie — all flavored with peanut butter.

Peanut Butter Flavors Two Cookies and One Pie

Cookies, brownies, or pie—here's a selection of favorite sweets. Bonus attraction with whichever you choose in their peanut butter flavor.

Quick and easy, Peanut Butter Cookies have a crisp tender texture.

The typical chocolate flavor of Chocolate Peanut Butter Brownies is perfectly complimented by their mild flavor.

Characteristic of southern cooking, some say, is Butterscotch Peanut Butter Pie, delightfully creamy and smooth.

Peanut Butter Cookies

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup creamy or chunk style peanut butter
- ½ cup margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- ½ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt together; set aside. Cream peanut butter, margarine, sugar and brown sugar. Add eggs; beat until fluffy.

Mix in sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Add vanilla.

Drop by teaspoonfuls onto ungreased cooky sheet. Bake in 350 degrees F. (moderate) oven until lightly browned, about 18 minutes. Makes 6 dozen.

Chocolate Peanut Butter Brownies

- ½ cup sifted flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup margarine
- ¼ cup creamy or chunk style peanut butter
- 2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
- 1 egg
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ½ cup chopped peanuts

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Melt margarine, peanut butter and chocolate in saucepan over low heat. Stir until blended.

Beat egg, then gradually add sugar, beating until well blended. Stir in peanut butter mixture and vanilla. Mix in sifted dry ingredients; then peanuts.

Turn into greased 8 x 8 x 2-inch baking pan. Bake in 350 degrees F. (moderate) oven until brownies test done, about 30 minutes.

Cut as desired. Makes 16 (2-inch) squares.

Note: If salted peanuts are used, omit salt.

Peanut Butter Brownies: Follow recipe for Chocolate Peanut Butter Brownies, omitting chocolate.

Butterscotch Peanut Butter Pie

- 1 8-inch baked margarine pastry shell
- ¾ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons corn starch
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1½ cups water
- 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- ¼ cup creamy or chunk style peanut butter
- 1 tablespoon margarine
- 2 white eggs
- ¼ cup sugar

Combine ¼ cup brown sugar, corn starch and salt in double boiler top. Gradually add water. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cover and cook, stirring occasionally, 10 minutes.

Mix remaining ½ cup brown sugar and egg yolks. Blend a little hot mixture in double boiler top.

Cook over boiling water 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from boiling water. Stir in peanut butter and margarine. Cool slightly. Pour into baked pastry shell.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually add sugar, beating until stiff peaks form when beater is raised. Spread over filling, sealing to edge of crust.

Bake in 325 degrees F. (slow) oven until margarine is delicately browned, 20 to 25 minutes.

Margarine Pastry: Combine 1⅓ cups sifted flour and ⅛ teaspoon salt in mixing bowl. Blend in ½ cup margarine with pastry blender or 2 knives until mixture is very well blended and fine crumbs form. Do not be afraid of overmixing.

Sprinkle 2 tablespoons water over mixture while tossing to blend well. Press dough firmly into ball of hands. If mixture seems crumbly, work with hands until it will hold together.

Flatten dough slightly and roll out to 12-inch circle on lightly floured board or cloth. Fit loosely into 8-inch pie pan. Trim ½-inch beyond rim of pan, if necessary. Flute edge.

Prick thoroughly and bake in 450 degrees F. (very hot) oven until light golden brown, 12 to 15 minutes.

Sauerkraut Stuffs Pork

The fresh picnic shoulder either bone-in or boneless is a good family dinner size, weighing 4 to 6 or 7 pounds.

The boneless picnic is rolled and tied for the oven or rotisserie; or, if you like, untie it and fill with an apple-kraut stuffing.

Pork With Stuffing

- 4½ pound fresh picnic roast, boneless for stuffing
- 2 cans (1 pound each) sauerkraut, drained
- 1 cup diced apple
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon horse-radish
- 1 teaspoon caraway seeds

★ ★ ★

Combine drained sauerkraut, apple, onion, horse-radish, and caraway seeds. Fill pocket in boneless fresh picnic roast with sauerkraut stuffing.

Fasten edges together with skewers. Place roast on a rack in an open roasting pan.

Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees) for 3½ to 4 hours or to 185 degrees on a roast meat thermometer.

Foil Covers Pan of Cranberries During Baking

Good way to treat cranberries when the oven is turned on is to bake them.

Baked Cranberries

- 2 cups cranberries
- 1 cup sugar

Have cranberries picked over; wash in cold water and lightly drain; spread them, in a single layer, in a baking pan (11 by 7 by 1½ inches).

Sprinkle the sugar evenly over the top of the cranberries. Cover tightly with foil.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 40 to 50 minutes, gently shaking pan several times. Remove cranberries to serving dish.

If any of the sugar is undissolved in the pan, add a tablespoon or so of water and stir over low heat to melt the sugar; pour over cranberries. Chill.

Makes about 1½ cups—plenty for 6 servings.

A delicious salad combination: spinach leaves, paper-thin onion rings and orange sections tossed with French dressing.

Pineapple Squash Cooked in Skillet

Try this way of teaming squash with pineapple.

Pineapple Squash

- 1 butternut squash, about 1¾ pounds
- 1¼ to 1½ cups boiling water
- Salt
- 1 can (about 1 pound, 4 ounces) pineapple tidbits, drained
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

★ ★ ★

Cut squash in half; remove seeds and stringy portion. Pare, cut into ¾-inch cubes — there will be about 5½ cups.

★ ★ ★

Turn squash, boiling water and 1 teaspoon salt into a 10-inch skillet; boil gently, covered, just until tender and only a few tablespoons of water remain.

Distribute pineapple and butter, cut into bits, over squash and add more salt if desired. Mix carefully so as not to mash squash.

★ ★ ★

Reheat gently, shaking skillet several times. Makes 8 servings.

Most Revenue From Sales Tax

CHICAGO (AP) — Sales tax still is the biggest tax levy for most states.

According to the Commerce Clearing House, sales tax accounted for one-fourth of the total 50 state tax take of $24.2 billion in the fiscal year ending June 1964.

Sales taxes produced the most revenue for 30 states. Income taxes proved the best revenue source in 13 states. Gasoline taxes led in six states.

Severance tax, a tax on severing natural resources from the ground, was at the top in Louisiana.

California, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois and Ohio collected most of their revenue from sales taxes.

New York relied most on its income tax.

Texas depended on its gasoline tax for most of its revenue.

Asst. Police Chief A. L. Wilcox said Charles C. Carson, 61, of Sour Lake, Tex., was working in a six-foot hole when a spark from his tools apparently set off the blast.

Time Never More Favorable for Striving

Lyndon's Great Society Not an Idle Utopian Dream

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

Man has always yearned for a utopia on earth—whether he deserves one or not.

BOYLE

The inauguration of Lyndon Baines Johnson as 36th President of the United States puts into motion one of the greatest drives in history in this direction—the achievement of what he has called the "Great Society."

★ ★ ★

Some of his countrymen cavil at the term. They think it grandiose —in effect, no more than another political slogan.

★ ★ ★

But it is hard to see why becoming a "Great Society" should be less than the American goal. Surely in the long dark narrative of the human race, no other major power has been in a better position to make a better human society, a more livable environment.

★ ★ ★

We have the resources and the skills to house our people satisfactorily, to feed them well, to improve their health and to educate them to a higher level. We have the ability to do all this — if we but have the will.

THE FIRST STEP

Some 2,500 years ago a Chinese philosopher named Laotse remarked, "The journey of a thousand miles begins with the first step."

The United States already has taken many steps toward the achievement of a "Great Society." It also has taken a few side steps — probably some backward steps, too — along the way. But from the time of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers, the splendid promise of the American dream has led us through wilderness toward the creation of a more durable fate and a more humane existence.

★ ★ ★

As a practical man who knows practical politics, Johnson is certain to try to make our next steps forward giant ones. Although there may be —surely will be — partisan arguments about methods, the end in view ultimately is nonpartisan.

★ ★ ★

There are hopeful portents that the goal of a "Great Society" is attainable. While we live in the most murderous century of all, we also live in the most humanitarian century of all. Probably never have more men slain each other than in the 20th century; yet never have more men been helped by each other.

MORE WIDOWS

We've made more widows than any past generation. But we have also done more to conquer disease, tear down barriers of space and time, increase knowledge, and distribute the fruits of our labor more equitably.

We haven't stood still. We have come a long way.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps we have even come far enough to realize that no one land, no matter how strong, can safely remain forever as an island of prosperity in a vast puddle of restless poverty.

★ ★ ★

Our quest for the "Great Society" is not single. It is a manifold striving by many people in many nations.

DESTRUCTIVE POWER

The trouble is that, as our capacity to make "Great Societies" increases, so does our capacity to destroy them — through that new combination saint and devil of the ages, nuclear power.

As it is now, every new country that learns how to make a hydrogen bomb widens the community of our mutual danger and distrust.

Until mankind finds a way to put the bomb in unbreakable chains, no "Great Society" can be free. It is just another faraway utopia, stalled at perilous crossroads in time.

Helper of Firemen Needs Aid Himself

LOUISVILLE (AP)—"I can't serve you coffee this time, boys," Walter Swyers told a company of Louisville firemen.

Swyers is an officer in the Salvation Army and has been helping people for 30 years, even to serving coffee and donuts whenever there is a big fire.

This fire swept the Swyers' home, and he and his wife had to flee in their night clothes.

Neighbors took up the good deed, however, carrying on for the Swyers and serving coffee to the firemen.

Former Hospital Chief Dies in Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Dr. Harley A. Haynes, director emeritus of the University of Michigan Hospital, died Wednesday night in the hospital he helped create 40 years ago. He was 89 and had been in failing health for months.

Dr. Haynes became hospital director in 1924, when the present building was being constructed.

Beatniks Leave 'Bum' Image of Britons

LONDON (NEA)—Britain is fast acquiring the reputation of a nation of deadbeats, thanks to the number of unshaven British beatniks who flood the continent of Europe.

Many of these scruffy types pose as students, although they are, in reality, little more than panhandlers.

"Most of them beg," says the Paris police gazette. "They try to put on the air of jazz musicians or art students.

★ ★ ★

"They hang hurriedly drawn sketches on bridges and beg for a few coins with a hat."

ONCE RESPECTED

The typical British tourist was once highly respected abroad.

He paid his own way and and was generous with tips. His appearance was just fine or "tickety-boo," to use a British expression. He was adept at showing the flag.

But the image of Britain as a nation of free-spending, well-dressed travelers is now vanishing.

Its place is being taken by the picture of "penniless, unshaven beatniks, extremely unsanitary with hair down to their shoulders," according to the Paris police publication.

224 BEATNIKS

Gendarmes found 224 of these British beatniks sleeping under bridges along the Seine during one roundup.

Of the 4,500 tramps who were rounded up by police and taken to delousing stations outside Paris, 659 were foreigners. By far the largest contingent was British.

Ten of these youthful British tramps were expelled from France for petty crimes.

★ ★ ★

The crimes laid at the doorstep of British beatniks abroad are not always petty ones.

SMUGGLING

For example, Stuart Christie, an 18-year-old Scot with a Beatle-style haircut, was recently sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment by a Spanish court-martial after he had been caught smuggling explosives into Spain via Barcelona.

Christie, who calls himself an anarchist, carried detonators and plastic explosives in the rucksack on his back when he hitchhiked to Barcelona.

They were intended to inaugurate a campaign of terrorism, according to Spanish police.

Britain's deadbeat tourists are a growing worry to British diplomats, anxious to preserve the nation's image abroad.

CHIEF CONCERN

One of the diplomats' chief concerns is the tendency of the beatniks to rove farther and farther from home base each year.

Small-circulation magazines blossom with such exotic advertisements as: "By land to Asia. Third young man required, preferably with contacts en route."

Some of these ads are inserted by students, genuinely interested in enlarging their knowledge by travel. But many of them are expeditions organized by a new generation of deadbeats, pampered by the welfare state.

British embassies form Istanbul to Teheran now shudder when a jeep with the slogan "Afghanistan or Bust," painted on its sides pulls up, radiator boiling, outside an embassy door and disgorges its dusty occupants.

Printer's Goof Delays High School Election

PITTSBURG, Kan. (AP) — Even high school politicians have their troubles. When elections for student body and class officers were scheduled at Pittsburg High School recently, the election had to be postponed.

College Gets Grant for Geology Confab

HOUGHTON (AP) — The National Science Foundation has awarded a $16,780 grant to Michigan Tech to sponsor a summer conference on the geology of the Lake Superior region. About 25 American and Canadian college geology instructors are expected to attend the June 16-30 conference, now in its fourth year.

Name Marina Park in U. P. Community

MENOMINEE (AP) — Emergence of Great Lakes Memorial Marina Park here has become the first formal step in tentative plans to construct a museum honoring all seamen who lost their lives on the Great Lakes.

★ ★ ★

Menominee is an Upper Michigan community at the Wisconsin border on the shore of Lake Michigan's Green Bay.

★ ★ ★

City commission gave the new name to a beach area which embraces a marina and two adjoining city parks formerly known as Menominee Beach Park and Victory Park.

Police Killer Is Sentenced

Two Life Terms for Slayer of Officers

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Bruce Walter Leikett, the Detroit ex-convict charged with shooting down two policemen behind a shopping center here last May, was sentenced to two life terms in the state penitentiary Wednesday.

Leikett told Judge S Bernard Coleman of Fredericksburg Circuit Court he was sorry for the suffering he had caused the families of the slain officers.

Leikett was convicted Jan. 13 by Judge Coleman who heard two guilty pleas.

Leikett was accused of killing Sgt. Roy G. Wright and Patrolman William F. Mines. The bodies of the two policemen were found near their police cruiser behind a shopping center.

DETROIT ARREST

Three days later Leikett was arrested in a Detroit suburb after a high-speed auto chase which took the life of a man who was to have been married the next day.

At an earlier trial Leikett was condemned to electrocution but Judge Coleman set aside the conviction. He said he had erred in answering a question from the jury in the absence of the defendant.

Ex-Disc Jockey Dies

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Alan J. Freed, 43, whose career as king of the nation's rock 'n' roll disc jockeys was ended by a payola scandal, died yesterday. Freed, who was hospitalized three weeks ago with uremia, moved to the West Coast after admitting in 1959 that he took bribes in New York to publicize certain records on his radio programs.

Cartoon Helps Australia Adopt Decimals

SYDNEY (AP) — A new cartoon character, Dollar Bill, promises to become one of Australia's best-known comic strips.

He is the brainchild of the Decimal Currency Board, which has the mammoth task of changing Australia's currency to the decimal system.

Decimal currency will not be introduced until February 1966, but the job of educating Australians in the intricacies of dollars and cents has already begun.

Now Dollar Bill has joined in the campaign.

★ ★ ★

He is making his debut in newspaper strips, on television, and theater screens, in crossword puzzles and on school brochures and posters in a way designed to make it easier for everyone to understand the changeover.

BROUGHT WRATH

But — just as the choice of names and designs for the new coins and notes started a nationwide controversy — Dollar Bill has brought down the wrath of graphic designers.

They say the whole concept of the cartoon character is childish and an insult to the intelligence.

They say that Dollar Bill's face, with dots representing the eyes between the bars of the dollar sign, will confuse people.

★ ★ ★

They also say one bar would be better than two because it would be more distinctive from the American symbol.

UNDETERRED

The Decimal Currency Board is undeterred. Its chairman, Walter Scott, sees Dollar Bill as "a cheerful little personality able to explain the many facets of decimal currency in the simplest terms."

And the board has other major problems on its hands. One of its biggest is the provision of decimal coins, and minting of some of these has already started.

It is hoped to replace the present halfpennies, pennies and threepences by 1967, but the familiar sixpences, shillings and two-shilling pieces will be in circulation much longer.

★ ★ ★

To help avoid confusion during the changeover period, decimal "converters" are already circulating.

ON CALENDARS

Some of the trading banks are printing them on their 1965 calendars, and manufacturers of all sorts of household goods are using them as sales-promotion gimmicks — you can even get little plastic decimal calculators taped to your jar of hair cream.

★ ★ ★

Two of the problems confronting the authorities are designs for the postage stamps — the present most common stamp is the fivepenny, which will be the equivalent of four cents — and conversion of cash registers and the other office equipment.

HOWELL (AP)—The body of Elton Blossey, 33, of Williamston was recovered from Bass Lake in southern Livingston County Wednesday. Blossey fell through the ice while fishing Tuesday.

Kansas Senate OKs Constitutional Change

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment to keep one house of state legislatures based on something other than population was adopted Wednesday by the Kansas State Senate.

The vote was 24-15 with most of the opposition coming from Democrats. Republicans dominate the Senate 27-13.

Half of the working age population today lacks a high school education.

Indonesia Reported Back on Offensive After Lull

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — Indonesia resumed its guerrilla activities against Malaysia on two fronts yesterday, according to reports received in this capital.

Officials reported a one - hour skirmish between opposing forces on the island of Borneo and a clandestine parachute drop on the Malay Peninsula last night.

The reported activity broke a 10-day lull in the dispute between Indonesia and Malaysia. President Sukarno of Indonesia has promised to "crush" the British-backed federation.

Malaysian officials said at least one of 40 Indonesian guerrillas was killed by a military patrol in the mountains along the common border between the two countries on Borneo. No Malaysian casualties were reported.

★ ★ ★

The officials said helicopter reinforcements forced the guerrillas back into Indonesian territory. The body of one Indonesian and the submachine gun he carried were reported captured.

PARACHUTE DROP

The parachute drop was reported near the industrial town of Tampoi, five miles north of the Southern tip of the Malay Peninsula in the state of Johore.

Villagers said two unidentified planes without lights flew over the area and dropped four parachutes.

It was not known if the planes dropped men or supplies for guerrillas previously landed in Johore. Most of the earlier invaders have been either killed, captured or driven out.

★ ★ ★

Britain and other members of the commonwealth have been building up their forces in Malaysia in case of a large-scale attack. Indonesia has received arms from the Soviet Union.

FORMAL TALKS

Defense Minister Shane Paltridge of Australia opened formal talks with Malaysian officials in Kuala Lumpur today.

Later Deputy Premier Tun Abdul Razak said Malaysia hopes to get additional military aid from Australia.

Meanwhile, Foreign Minister Subandrio of Indonesia was reported stopping over in Rangoon, Burma, on his way to Red China.

★ ★ ★

Reports from Rangoon said he began discussion with Burmese officials this morning and will proceed to Peking Saturday.

House Unit Preparing for School Funds

LANSING (AP) — A House committee is working today to make sure that if and when the federal government releases nearly $39 million for education in Michigan, the state will be ready to use it.

The committee on federal relations is studying President Johnson's education program, "so that when it is enacted, the Michigan Legislature will be able to act without delay in implementing it," said chairman Dale Kildee, D-Flint.

★ ★ ★

Kildee quoted a new Michigan congressman — former State Highway Commissioner John Mackie — as saying Johnson's education bill apparently has the votes it needs to pass.

Most of the grants in the bill, he said, would become effective next June 31—retroactively if necessary.

The committee will be working on enabling legislation but none will be introduced in the House until the education bill passes Congress, Kildee said.

Texan Can't Halt Kuwait Oil Fire

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Valiant efforts by the ace Texan oil well firefighter, Paul "Red" Adair, have so far been unsuccessful against a giant well fire which broke out in Kuwait Jan. 3.

A traveler from Kuwait said the blaze is 280 feet high and "at night it illuminates a five-mile radius so intensely that cars can travel without lights."

★ ★ ★

The area around the well, jointly owned by British Petroleum and the Gulf Oil Co., has been flooded with 10 million gallons of water to protect nearby installations.

Milliken Will Fight to Keep State Senate Vote

LANSING (AP)—Lt. Gov. William Milliken, who lost one Senate privilege without a struggle, says he'll fight a move by the Senate Business Committee to strip him of another power.

Last week the Senate booted Republican Milliken off its powerful Committee on Committees.

Now the business committee says he has no right to cast a tie-breaking vote on final passage of bills and it wants to specify that he has no tie-breaking vote on amendments.

The committee is bucking a year-old informal opinion from Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley who said the lieutenant governor can break a tie on final passage of a bill.

AWAIT ACTION

Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, committee chairman, said Wednesday the committee would wait until Tuesday and a meeting with Kelley before taking final action. Any rules change would require Senate approval.

Kelley talked Wednesday with Senate Majority Leader Raymond Dzendzel about the situation.

At one point the Constitution says the lieutenant governor can vote if the senate is equally divided on a question. But at another point it says no bill shall become law "without the concurrence of a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house."

According to the Bowman interpretation, if the 38 senators divided 19-19, a Milliken vote would be meaningless since no matter how it was cast, there would still be no majority of elected members in favor of the bill.

REASONABLE EFFECT

Kelley, however, said in his January 1964 letter to Dzendzel that pertinent provisions of the Constitution had to be read "so as to give, insofar as possible, reasonable effect to each of such provisions."

Bowman said the committee would not complete its Senate rules deliberations until Tuesday afternoon.

He said the contemplated move "is not a slap at Milliken. We simply feel that if he doesn't have the right to vote on a bill, he shouldn't have the vote on an amendment."

Bowman said Milliken would retain his vote on procedural matters.

DOUBLE ATTEMPT

Milliken said he wants "to make it abundantly clear that any attempt to take this power from the office of lieutenant governor would be an attempt to circumvent the will of the people."

★ ★ ★

He said the Democratic-controlled business committee "not only would be ignoring that (Kelley's) ruling by its proposed move, but would be flying in the face of it by attempting to change the rules further so that the lieutenant governor can't break a tie on amendment votes either."

Bowman said the matter might not be settled until taken to the Supreme Court—which he said could be done by any senator when the tie situation arose.

That could be a long time coming, however. Democrats control the Senate 23-14 and are unlikely to have trouble on most party line votes. Observers recall no time last year that the Senate tied on a bill passage vote.

Vows Fight to Oppose Swainson

LANSING (UPI) — A young political unknown vowed today to go to court if necessary to get his name on the ballot opposing former Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson for judge of Wayne County Circuit Court.

The Board of State Canvassers last week found that 327 improper signatures were among the 5,200 filed in petitions on behalf of Seymour Markowitz, 27-year-old attorney.

This left Markowitz with only 4,818 signatures when a minimum of 5,000 valid ones were needed for a place on the April 5 ballot against Swainson.

The young attorney yesterday asked the secretary of state's office to redetermine the matter.

He claimed that the committee for Swainson challenged his petitions after a Jan. 4 deadline and he, in turn, was notified of the canvassers ruling later than is legally prescribed.

'ON TECHNICALITY'

Markowitz said the 327 signatures were disallowed on a "technicality" and "I can be technical also." He added that he would wage a write-in campaign if his name is not officially on the ballot.

If the secretary of state "does not find for us . . . then we will have to go to court to see that justice is done," Markowitz said.

He said the "technicality" that made the signatures invalid was the fact that many signers were not from the community of Wayne County covered by the petition.

But all of the signers were residents of Wayne County, Markowitz said, and the vote on the judgeship will be countywide. "These were persons eligible to vote in the election," he declared.

GO TO COURT

The young attorney said he felt the case would go to court because he felt the secretary of state's office would uphold the ruling of the board without considering the fact the Swainson challenge was late.

Markowitz, in announcing his candidacy, said he entered the race because he didn't feel any man should run unopposed.

Yesterday, he said he felt his qualifications for the post were equally as good or better than those of Swainson. He said he had received encouraging reactions from many voters.

Some said they would vote for him because they didn't want Swainson, Markowitz claimed. "Some of them said they would vote for me because they thought I was Republican," he said. Markowitz refused to claim any political affiliation. "I vote for the man," he said. The election is nonpartisan.

Community College in 2nd Stage

By L. GARY THORNE

Oakland County's embryonic community college has entered its second stage of development, reaching toward the day it becomes a full-fledged institution and opens its doors to students.

That eventful day is slated for sometime in September 1965.

Meantime, college officials have to convert a million-dollar U.S. Army Nike Missile Base into classrooms, offices, laboratories and other school facilities.

The college has passed through its first stage, growing from mere words on a ballot to a two-campus institution.

★ ★ ★

Auburn Hills, as the Nike base was named, will be the college's first operating facility.

SHADES OF GREEN

The well-known "army green" is apt to greet initial students, for nearly everything is painted some shade of green.

In acquiring the army base, the community college received three groups of buildings: three underground missile silos, combined office-barrack facilities, and messhall-barrack buildings.

Since the buildings come equipped with electrical, water and sewer services, the projected school has only the so-called "conversion" cost — estimated at $360,000.

Schooling for 800-1,000 full-time students will be provided on the 247-acre campus.

FIRST CLASSES

When classes begin this fall, the majority of them will meet in the former barrack facilities nearest to Squirrel.

Sitting on the northeast corner of I-75 and the proposed M59 freeway route, the Auburn Hills campus is presently serviced by Featherstone and Squirrel.

Administration offices are now located off Featherstone in the former office-barrack facility, adjacent to the old missile silos.

Dr. John E. Tirrell, college president, said current plans call for most of the area now devoted to offices to become laboratory space.

GYM CLASSES

One end of the building is to be utilized as a shower and locker room area for physical education classes.

Dr. Tirrell expects that at least at first gym classes will have to be held outside or perhaps in the area of the missile silos.

The campus contains three underground silos. The army used the separately constructed silos to store the Nike missiles.

Huge doors hide the giant elevators used to carry the missiles to the surface. The The elevators, built to carry 15 tons, are about 50 feet long and 12 feet wide.

STORAGE AREAS

Dr. Tirrell said the silos may be used as storage areas, a maintenance garage, band room or some related activity.

Or, said the college president, the silos could form the basement for a building.

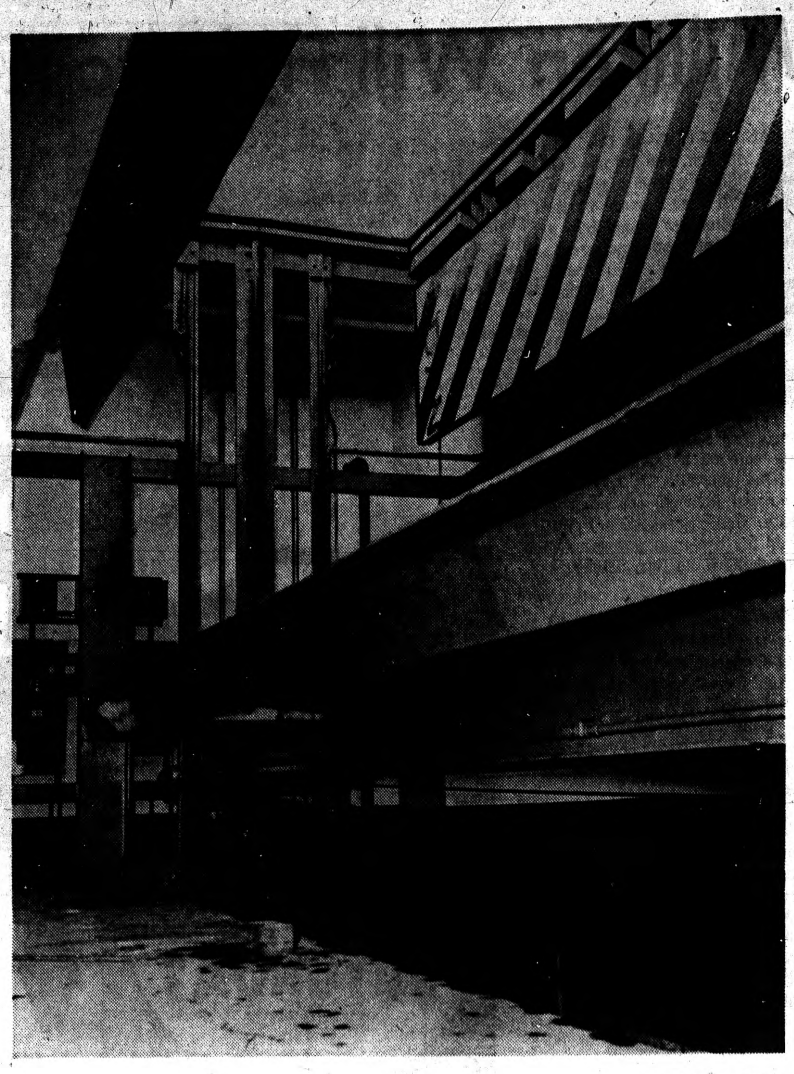
"We're told that all three could hold a 17-story building," he added.

★ ★ ★

Plans for this fall call for the college to convert the ground-level facilities.

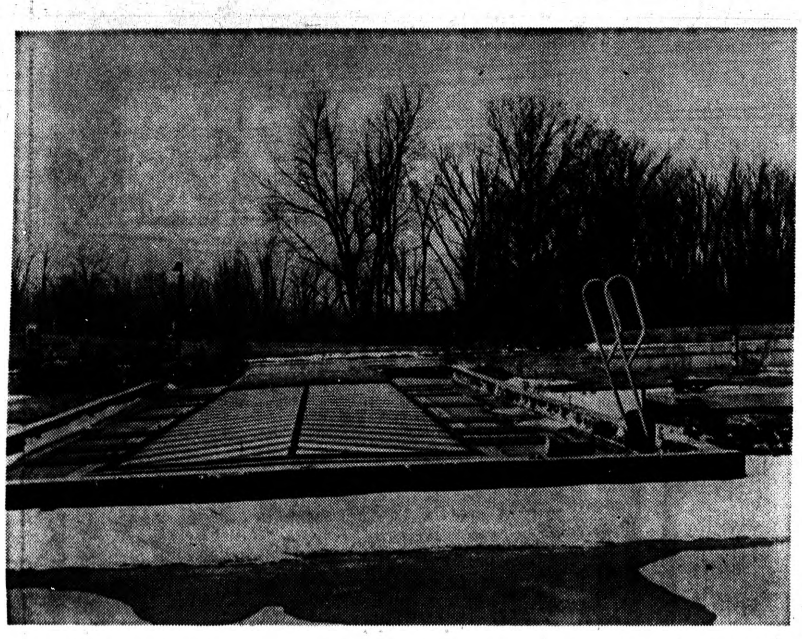
What to do with the underground facilities will be decided later.

Meanwhile, Oakland's two-year college begins to assume its physical shape, emerging from the paperwork, citizens' studying and political legwork that brought it into being.



Pontiac Press Photos

MISSILE ELEVATOR — This giant-sized elevator is about 50 feet long and 12 feet wide. It is built to carry a load of 15 tons. As used by the former occupants of the Auburn Hills campus, the elevator quickly moved Nike missiles to the surface for firing. The underground area was used to store the missiles.



OUTER VIEW — This is the ground level view of one of three missile silos at the community college's new site in Auburn Heights. The striped doors hide an elevator that climbs up from an underground storage area which formerly held the Nike missiles.

It's Produce or Else for Students on Trial

Restricted academic programs — probably only two basic, noncredit classes — will be available for community college students of doubtful classroom ability, according to Dr. John E. Tirrell, college president.

"They can get in," he explained, "but they'll have to achieve."

Dr. Tirrell is emphatic. The open door at Oakland Community College will swing shut after one semester.

Prospective students will be evaluated on the basis of their high school record and an entering freshmen testing program.

★ ★ ★

If a student tests out in the lower third of a scale for Freshman College National Norms, he will be placed on probation immediately, according to Dr. Tirrell.

BASIC COURSES

In most instances, such probation will mean the student will take a basic English and a basic math course.

If the student can achieve passing grades, he will be permitted to tackle regular college work the next semester.

The same thing could happen in reverse order to a student admitted to a regular college program at the start.

"In this sense," explained the 38-year-old president, "the college's so-called salvaging role will be limited."

BOARD APPROVAL

He said that the six-member college board of trustees has approved of the policy informally.

Dr. Tirrell said the probation courses would not count toward a degree. Tuition would be $61 for the two courses, as compared to the regular tuition rate of $103 per semester.

"All the studies I've seen show that if a student cannot handle basic English and math, he can't handle college-level work."

Dr. Tirrell estimated that 10 per cent of the school's enrollment might consist of probation students.

INDIVIDUAL BASIS

He emphasized that any probation program would be used on an individual basis with counseling.

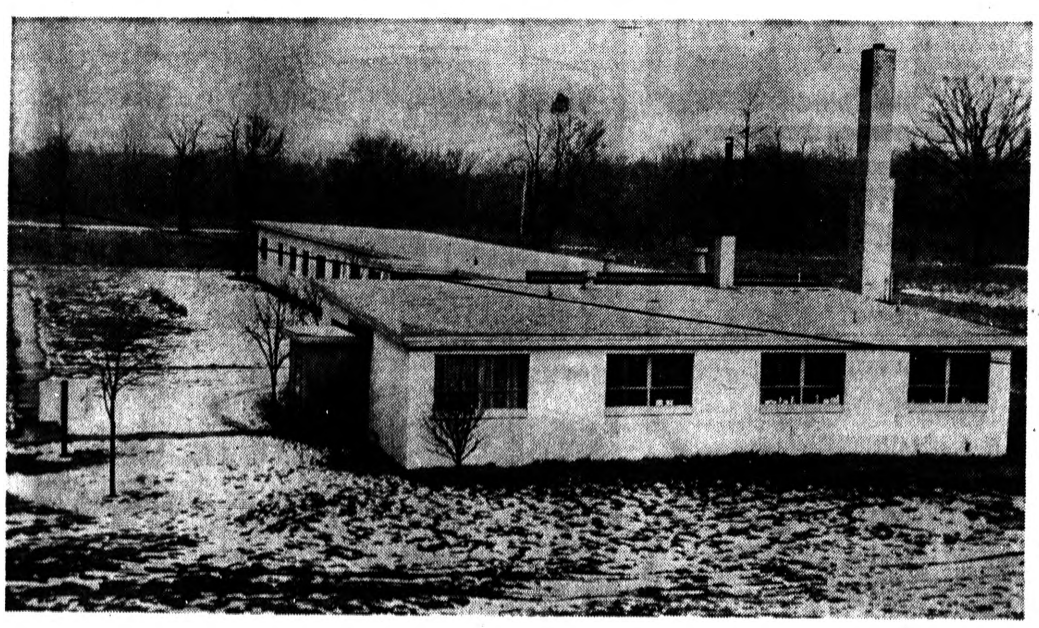
★ ★ ★

"I think it's best for the youngster to know. It's better to warn them at the start than to do like some schools and flunk out 40 per cent of the freshmen class," said Dr. Tirrell.

★ ★ ★

He added that it would be a real waste of taxpayers' funds to keep students two years if they could not make the college grade.

TRUSTEE FACILITIES — Although this room may never see a full-fledged "red light" alert as before, the college's six-member board of trustees will no doubt dispatch a few emergency decisions from these quarters. The monthly trustee meetings will be held in this former Army office.



AUBURN HILLS SITE — This L-shaped building, formerly a combined office-barrack facility for the Army Nike Missile Base, will be converted to laboratory space for the Oakland Community College classes. The college's administration offices currently are housed in this building.

Many Are Making Hawaii Their Home

HONOLULU (AP)—Hawaii as a place to live rather than to visit is becoming more popular.

During the third quarter of 1964, new residents totaled 7,960 — a record in the 14 years the statistics have been compiled.

During the first nine months of this year, 18,475 people settled permanently in Hawaii.

And the Bureau of Planning and Economic Development notes males outnumber females by 10 per cent "thus contributing further the Hawaii's surplus of unattached men."

Helps Child Learn Speech Patterns

'Magic Box' Tool for Deaf

By JOE MULLEN

A "magic wooden box"—the only one in use east of the Mississippi—is on trial in a Pontiac classroom for deaf children.

The red oak box covered with formica is equipped to send sound vibrations through a wooden floor.

Tilted, the amplifying box produces a thunderous sound. Resting snug against the floor, it sends the sound of music or speech across the room as vibrations that a deaf child can feel with his feet or with his body as he sits in his chair.

Mrs. Dorothy Heard, teacher of the preschool deaf classes at Baldwin School, 40 E. Howard, speaks through a microphone that carries her voice through earphones to the child.

★ ★ ★

Another circuit carries the vibrations of her voice in the "magic box" which actually is a rhythm unit.

DOUBLES AS BENCH

The rhythm unit doubles as a bench for teacher and child during individual speech lessons.

Sitting on the unit, the child perceives through his body the rhythmic patterns of speech.

Mrs. Lucille Kirchhoff, consultant for programs for the deaf and hard-of-hearing in the schools of Oakland County, explained that lack of rhythm in a deaf child's speech is what makes it difficult for others to understand him.

"We believe if he can learn the rhythm patterns of speech at an early age," Mrs. Kirchoff said, "he will have a framework on which he can develop vocabulary and sentence structure later."

Only five "magic boxes" including the one in Pontiac presently are in use in the United States.

Three are being utilized in Texas and one in Colorado. Two are on order for California schools.

A former teacher of the deaf, George Griggs of Plymouth, developed the rhythm unit.

The idea underlying the development of the unit, according to Griggs, is that deaf children always have been taught to speak by feeling the vibrations of sound on a speaker's face or throat.

"We are extending the use of the tactile sense," Griggs said. "For years I worked with the idea of getting vibrations through the air to the skin."

In amplifying sound to send through the air, Griggs encountered distortion of sound waves but, after experimentation, he found he could send undistorted vibrations along a wooden surface.

"Reaction of the Pontiac youngsters to their first contact with a vibrating floor was typical," Griggs said.

★ ★ ★

"They loved it. The first few days the four- and five-year olds stretched themselves on the floor every time the unit was turned on, absorbing the wonders of sound through their bodies.

"They literally rolled over in sound."

PHYSICAL VIBRATIONS

The rhythm unit emits only physical vibrations since formica does not leak sound.

If the box proves itself in Pontiac, it will be used in Farmington and Royal Oak rooms for young deaf children.

"The young child and the profoundly deaf child benefit most," Mrs. Kirchhoff said.

She explained that the profoundly deaf pay more attention to rhythmic vibrations. Three- and four-year-olds are at the stage where speech develops most rapidly when there is a way to reach them.

"The rhythm unit seems to be one more avenue of communication," Mrs. Kirchhoff said, "and we are committed to trying every avenue."

Pilot's Condition Ruled Cause of Copter Crash

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has ruled that the crash of a civil defense helicopter during rioting here last summer was caused by alcohol in the pilot's bloodstream.

The CAB said Wednesday that a post-mortem finding of .08 per cent alcohol in the bloodstream of James B. Docharty, Page Airways pilot, was "considered an amount sufficient to cause diminution of attention, judgment and control."

Docharty, 45, flew civil defense director Robert M. Abbott, 47, and another pilot, Robert Cannioto, 31, on an inspection tour of riot-torn areas of the city on July 26.

Cannioto was the only survivor.

TEMPORARY USAGE — The community college has set up temporary office space in the former Army base buildings. This room is slated to eventually become student laboratory space. Currently, it is the home of the new college's few staff members.

Urge Intensified Probe Into Earth Interior

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A scientific panel today proposed a 10-year research program "to chart the invisible and still largely unknown interior of our planet."

This program, which would expand present geophysical research by 2½ times, is needed "to develop a coherent picture of the inner workings" of the earth.

The program was proposed by a National Academy of Sciences panel on "solid-earth problems."

More than 50 geophysicists contributed to the three - year study which developed the program.

The panel recommended that private, state, and federal investment in earth studies be increased from the present $25 million a year to $65 million by the end of the decade.

A study to determine feasibility of "superdeep drilling" on land to depths of 8 to 10 miles to examine forces operating in the earth's interior was among the recommendations.

The United States already is committed to the Mohole Project to bore through the ocean floor into the mantle and to cooperate with 40 other nations in the so-called upper mantle project.

The mantle, underlying the earth's relatively thin outer crust, extends 2,000 miles into the interior and encompasses seven-eighths of the planet's volume.

★ ★ ★

Within the mantle, the panel said, "are locked the major secrets of the earth's 4.5-billion-year history and the sources of the vast energy that through geologic time has formed the continents and the ocean deeps, built mountains and concentrated the world's mineral wealth, and driven earthquakes and volcanoes."

NO HOPE

Since man can never hope to penetrate more than a few miles into his planet's insides, he must use indirect probes. The panel called for increased use of seismology (analysis of energy waves generated by quakes or explosions), gravity and magnetic studies, measurement of heat flows from the depths outward, and laboratory examination of materials from deep drill holes.

Projects like the Mohole programs to drill holes in the ocean floor will help scientists to trace the origin of the oceans and the life which began and evolved in them.

The panel proposed a transcontinental geophysical survey covering a 250-mile-wide band from the Atlantic to the Pacific and extending at each end into the ocean beyond the continental shelf.

★ ★ ★

It also recommended intensified laboratory study of the principles of ore - mineral concentration to improve "prospecting for vital natural resources."

'Rest Period' Predicted

Stock Mart Drops Irregularly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined irregularly early this afternoon as trading slackened.

Losses of key stocks went from fractions to a point as profits were taken on the market's sustained rise to new highs which stalled yesterday.

The trend was lower among steels, rubbers, aerospace stocks, electronics, nonferrous metals, chemicals, electrical equipments, oils, airlines and drugs.

Utilities were ahead on balance, as were cigarette stocks but these gains were irregular. Building materials and mail order-retails were mixed.

REST PERIOD

Many analysts said a "rest period" for the market was in order following a string of 11 sessions prior to yesterday when more stocks rose than fell.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .5 at 333.5 with industrials off 1.5, rails off .1 and utilities up .6.

In the mixed auto group, General Motors gained a fraction, Ford edged higher, Chrysler dipped fractionally, American Motors eased and Studebaker was unchanged.

Some silver mining stocks were easy following a prediction that the United States will have to adopt non-silver coins ultimately. Sunshine Mining and Hecla Mining lost fractions.

ACTIVE STOCK

Burroughs, yesterday's most active stock, continued in demand on the basis of its sharp rise in profits for 1964 and a forecast of even a greater gain in the current year. The stock gained a fraction.

★ ★ ★

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Slot Car Racing Detroit Area's New Fad

DETROIT (AP)—This metropolitan area's newest fad—slot-car racing—can turn a shy, middle-aged housewife into race car driver with the skill and daring of any Stirling Moss.

But it's mostly for kids and has caught on to the extent that it could challenge model railroading as the kingpin of American hobbyists.

★ ★ ★

It all started a couple of years ago with kits and figure eight tracks. But commercial tracks, offering stiffer course layouts than the living room floor models, are making inroads. There are now some 30 in the Detroit area.

They are crowded daily, mostly by teen-agers. The kids each eagerly await a turn to put their cars to the test.

'WORK OFF STEAM'

"I can't think of a better way for kids to work off steam," said Robert Panke, a policeman with Detroit's Accident Prevention Bureau. "And it's an attractive way of keeping them off the streets at night."

★ ★ ★

The commercial tracks have grooves for six cars. An arm under the race car fits into the groove. Metal brushes under the track supply electricity for each car's magnetic motor from strips of copper tape alongside the grooves.

★ ★ ★

The five-inch slot-cars can zip along at 25 miles an hour, equivalent to 700 m.p.h. for a standard size auto. Each driver in the race has a remote control hand button controlling his car. Press the button, the car accelerates. Let up and it slows down.

But it takes skill and experience to learn the tricks and keep the lightweight racers out in front of the pack on the multi-curved tracks.

SHARPEST THUMBS

Kids with the sharpest thumbs can lead a challenging car into a curve too fast, forcing his pursuer to flip over. Occasionally there are mass pile-ups and sometimes a malfunction in a motor.

But the victor gets the checkered flag — just like the Grand Prix or the Indianapolis 500 — and the satisfaction of knowing, at least for awhile, that he has the "hottest car on the circuit."

1914 Light Bulb Keeps Glowing in Louisville

LOUISVILLE (AP) — A. P. Fleck and his wife have a glowing reminder of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Its a light bulb purchased just after the couple set up housekeeping in 1914.

The bulb is still in use.

Four South players at the Dallas, Tex., trials for the American team to the 1965 World Championship, chose to overcall East's one heart opening with two clubs. Four West players chose to double and four South players had no place to go but down.

JACOBY

The normal defense started with a heart opening. East would win with the king and continue by cashing first his ace and then his king of spades to show that he held no other spades. Next would come the ace of hearts and a small heart for West to ruff. West would continue with a third spade for East to ruff. This would give the defense the first six tricks and they still would collect one diamond and one trump for a nice 800-point profit.

Five South players were wise enough to keep their mouths shut. In all those cases, East wound up playing two diamonds and making either four or five odd.

I was one of the South players who did not overcall. It has long been a principle of mine that it does not pay to make an immediate minor suit overcall at the two level unless you have a good six card suit or better. You are playing with loaded dice because your opponents can easily outbid you with their higher suit, unless they happen to be able to double you.

This hand also shows the unfairness of duplicate. The five players who failed to overcall were properly rewarded by a gain of six International Match Points each.

Their unfortunate opponents were charged with six IMPs each through no fault of their own. There was nothing they could do against quiet opponents. Furthermore, while three of them made five odd at diamonds, the game was not the sort that anyone in his right mind would want to bid. While three no-trump would also make, the only way to get there unless the cards were in sight

A—Bid four hearts. This must be regarded as a slam invitation since you have gone out of your way to show great strength.

Fire Hits Buildings

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Fire destroyed a two-story frame building being razed and damaged three others today at the southern edge of Cheboygan's business district.

Fire Chief Harold Gaynor said neither fire cause nor damage estimate has been determined.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Friday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Curb tendency to throw caution to winds. Do not argue with those with experience. Rather, try to LEARN. Exercise self-control. Then you earn added respect — and make progress.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Feeling discouraged because events don't progress as you wish . . . is not wise. Perceive POTENTIAL. Discover DIFFERENT methods. Think. Analyze. Bring forth natural INITIATIVE.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20): Your attitude is being observed. Carelessness now causes serious loss. Strive for maturity. Create atmosphere of good will. Favorable if you are SENSIBLE.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22): Serious talk with mate or partner necessary. Release emotions! Express true feelings. Then others understand. Events provide key to brighter future.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22): Sense of balance important. Weigh facts. Check details. Be sure and safe. Many urge flamboyant actions. But you succeed through caution, thorough approach.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Investments highlighted. So are your creative abilities. Tonight member of opposite sex due to speak frankly. Listen and analyze. Base conclusions on FACTS.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Be aware of what persons near home base are thinking. Fulfill family needs. Cooperate with neighbors. Turn on innate charm. Utilize wonderful sense of justice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Obtain hint from LIBRA message. You need allies today. Trust one who was loyal in past. Unusual factors to be considered. Visit individual confined to home or hospital.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Exciting social evening indicated. But remember you cannot buy happiness. Be sensible where money is concerned. Say NO to one who advocates extravagance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Aim for the top. Don't compromise. Many can be "won over." Know this—act accordingly. Evening finds you impressing very important people. Finish what you start.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Subtle methods, approach necessary. Direct appeal likely to meet with opposition. Some original thinking gains your purpose. Message crystal clear by tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Your interest in unusual matters heightened. Fine for evening at theater. Important that you analyze, think and "feel." Means permit creative forces to operate.

Johnson Celebrates Inauguration at Five Jam-Packed Balls

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bit tired but beaming, President Johnson celebrated his inauguration at all five of his jam-packed inaugural balls. But he had to admit:

"Never have so many paid so much to dance so little."

It was an exuberant evening for the First Family and for Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey.

In fact, Humphrey became so exuberant at one point that he wished for success and happiness for the administration in the next four years "and then we'll continue on for four more years."

It seemed every one of the expected 25,000 went to the dances at the National Guard Armory, and the Mayflower, Statler-Hilton, Shoreham and Sheraton-Park hotels.

FINAL STOP

Johnson was grateful and told the crowd at his final stop—the Sheraton-Park ballroom: "This has been a great day and a great night."

After working through the throngs that taxed his heavy Secret Service detail, the President concluded: "One thing I can say about the Great Society — it sure is crowded."

Though he celebrated happily last night, accompanied by his wife, daughters, their dates, the Humphreys and inaugural officials, the President was ready to get back to work. He told a reporter as he drove back to the White House at 12:30 a.m. that he'd be at work early.

In fact, he admonished the ballgoers: "Don't stay up late. There's work to be done. We're on our way to the Great Society."

The nation's new 36th president and its 38th vice president were in a gay mood and the quips came fast on their three-hour cross-Washington excursion, heralded by "Hail to the Chief" and "Hello Lyndon."

Their first stop was at the Mayflower, where a dancing circle had been roped off for them and hundreds massed about.

The President launched the dancing with his wife in her John Moore designed jonquil yellow satin ballgown and coat with sable-trimmed sleeves.

Say Assassin Had U.S. Job

Burundi Man Was Worker at Embassy

BUJUMBURA, Burundi (UPI) — A native employed by the U.S. Embassy assassinated the premier of Burundi, police said today.

But the alleged assassin, Gonzalve Muyinzi, 30, was said to be close to left-wing Burundi politicians. The first result of the assassination of Premier Pierre Ngendandumwe has been a roundup of about 20 pro-Communist Chinese leaders here.

European circles here said King Mwambutsa IV is trying now to disentangle his country from an uneasy alliance with Peking and the Congolese rebels and renew friendly relations with the West.

Ngendandumwe was shot down Jan. 15 as he left the Prince Rwagasore Hospital where his wife had just delivered a baby.

★ ★ ★

Witnesses said his wife saw the shooting from her room and cried out to nuns, "Please do something! They are shooting my husband outside!"

WAS MODERATE

Ngendandumwe was a moderate who had succeeded pro-Chinese Premier Albin Nyamoya in office. He had formed a moderate national cabinet only two days before his death.

It was considered possible King Mwambutsa might lead the new government himself and form a cabinet of moderates of Tutsis and Hutus, the two major tribes.

Well-informed sources said the king will recall some leaders who were deported while ex-Premier Nyamoya was in power.

Since the premier's death, several prominent leftist leaders have been arrested including Security Chief Francois Bangwemo and Pierre Nyongabo, former president of the left-wing "Jeunesse Nationale Rwagasore" (J.N.A.).

WING IN POWER

Nearly all leaders of the Uprona party's left wing were reported either under arrest or confined to their homes, which means the Uprona's moderate wing is in power.

To Cut Cost of Toll Calls in Michigan

LANSING (AP)— A $2.5 million annual cut in long distance telephone charges on calls within Michigan was announced today by the State Public Service Commission.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. will absorb $2.2 million of the reduction and General Telephone Co. $337,000. The lower rates will take effect Feb. 1.

They will affect these areas of service:

No call placed between 8 p.m. and 9 p.m. will cost more than 50 cents for three minutes. This expands the present low rate period of 9 p.m. to 4:30 a.m. by another hour.

EVENING RATE

No three-minute call placed between 4:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Saturday will cost more than 70 cents. This expands the present 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. evening rate to all day on Saturdays.

At present, Saturday calls within Michigan can cost up to $1 for three minutes. Calls placed any evening for three minutes between 8 p.m. and 9 p.m. now cost up to 70 cents.

All rates cited are for station to station calls. Shorter distance calls will be proportionately reduced. A 35-minute call at 8:15 p.m., for example, will now cost 25 cents for three minutes.

Commission Chairman Peter Spivak said this third rate reduction in eight months brings total customer savings to nearly $13 million.

★ ★ ★

Michigan Bell serves 3.4 million of the state's 3.8 million telephones. General serves some 300,000 of the remainder.

Soviet Leaders Cable Congratulations to LBJ

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet President Anastas Mikoyan and Premier Alexi Kosygin cabled congratulations today to President Johnson.

N-Submarine Rescues Two From Atlantic

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The nuclear submarine Triton rescued two men after the ditching of a civilian charter plane in the Atlantic Ocean last night. The third occupant of the plane was missing.

The Triton, guided by an air force pilot, raced to the scene and picked up Harry Chance and Donald Horton of Sarasota from a life raft 100 miles southeast of Nassau, Bahamas.

Six planes, a helicopter and surface craft began a search at daylight for the missing man John Stenko of Sarasota.

A twin engine piper Aztec, piloted by Chance, was taking Horton and Stenko on a charter flight to Georgetown, British Guiana, when trouble developed.

AIR FORCE PILOT

The air force pilot, who was not identified, received a distress call from the Aztec and was hovering overhead when the plane hit the water at 8:30 p.m. He dropped flares and two life rafts, then guided the Triton to the area.

Chance and Horton told rescuers that Stenko got out of the plane all right and was wearing a life vest, but they couldn't determine in the darkness if he made it to the other raft.

Chiefs Bidding for 9th Win

Coaching Duel on Tap for Central-Saginaw Scrap

While the Pontiac Central and Saginaw High cagers are dueling on the PCH court Friday night, there will be another potent battle waged on the sidelines.

★ ★ ★

That struggle will be the battle of minds between coach Fred Zittel of Central and the visitors' mentor Ken Gray, two of the newest varsity mentors in the Saginaw Valley Conference.

Both are in the second seasons and are striving to approximate a semblance of the success achieved in their maiden seasons.

The Trojans of Saginaw last year posted a 16-6 mark over-all, placed third in the SVC race and went to the state Class A semifinals before losing to eventual runner-up Detroit Northern by 20 points.

Currently they are 5-2, second in the SVC (4-1), and rated 12th in the Associated Press Class A weekly prep poll.

UNBEATEN

PCH is unbeaten in eight starts, rated second and leads the Valley race with a 6-0 log. Last year the Chiefs finished second, had a 17-4 mark and lost in the semifinals to state champion Benton Harbor by six points.

Also in the 1963-64 campaign, Central claimed a 69-67 homecourt decision over the Trojans after coming back a 65-53 loser from Saginaw.

Individual prestige will also be at stake tomorrow night. Central's Carl Arnold carries the top average in the SVC, 21.2, while Saginaw's 6-7 center Roy Hinton is third at 18.9.

Jessie Evans, the 6-3 PCH junior forward, has a 16-point per game average for eighth place and Vern Johnson, a 5-11 Trojan guard, is hitting at 15.6 for ninth spot.

Arnold is a 5-8 guard who also excells on defense, setting up probably a head-to-to head duel with the talented Johnson.

Willie Adams (6-2) and John Hooper (6-3) will join Evans up front while Jim McClendon (5-8) is the other guard. The Chiefs rate right behind Saginaw as the best defensive team in the circuit. They have averaged 53 points per game on defense.

Saginaw is yielding only 47 points per game. Joining Hinton and Johnson in the starting lineup are Herb Riley, a rugged 6-2 rebounder, 6-0 Jim Weems and 5-5 Charley Kelly, a sophomore playmaker.

The Trojans lost to Flint Northwestern, 76-74, Tuesday in a game that showed their lack of inactivity. They have had only two games in more than a month.

The PCH junior varsity team will attempt to stretch its winning streak to 21 straight in the 6:30 p.m. preliminary tilt.

Indians' Tebbetts Smiles at Problem

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Rock is coming back to town, causing happy problems for Cleveland Indians' Manager Birdie Tebbetts.

Birdie has to figure out how to juggle his line-up and get the best batting mileage from his right-handed power — Chuck Hinton, Joe Azcue and Rocky Colavito (The Rock).

Colavito, an ex-Indian, is the key and Tebbetts feels his return here could make the Indians contenders for the American League pennant—if a few other things pan out.

PRIME TARGET

Colavito, 31, was the prime target for Indians' General Manager Gabe Paul in a three-team, eight-player deal Wednesday. Rocky comes here from the Kansas City Athletics.

"If our pitchers do what I hope — and think — they will, we're certainly a contender," said Tebbetts from his home in Anna Maria Island, Fla. "It seems to me that everybody else in the league thinks we are, too."

Tebbetts has Colavito, Leon Wagner, Vic Davalillo and Hinton as outfielders. Hinton, 28, came to the Indians last December from the Washington Senators, where he hit .274, including 11 homers. He has 49 home runs in four seasons with the Senators.

Azcue probably will take over as the number one catcher. Last season he hit .273 and drove in 34 runs while playing part-time behind Romano.

Rocky belted 34 homers for the A's last season and drove in 102 runs with a .274 average.

Hinton also can play the infield, and might get a try at first base.

Colavito might also get a shot at first, where Fred Whitfield played last season. Tebbetts has Max Alvis at third, Dick Howser at shortstop and Larry Brown at second.

Added to Birdie's happy juggling act is Chico Salmon, the only Indian who hit over .300 last season while playing every position but shortstop, pitcher and catcher.

★ ★ ★

Colavito doesn't especially care where he plays. "I'd be happy to play first," he said, adding "I'm glad to be home in Cleveland. I mean HOME."

'Trade Me' Says Crow

ST. LOUIS (AP) — John David Crow, the all-time touchdown scoring leader for the St. Louis Cardinals, said Wednesday he would retire if the National Football League club did not trade him, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat reported.

"Don't get me wrong," the newspaper quoted Crow, "I want to continue playing — just so it's with another club. But, I know I'm going to be traded and there's no secret about the whole situation."

★ ★ ★

Bill Bidwill, Cards vice president, said he could not comment on the report. He said Crow was in St. Louis Wednesday to have a knee injured during the NFL season checked by the Cardinals' orthopedic surgeon. Bidwill said Crow already was en route back to his home in Pine Bluff, Ark.

★ ★ ★

Crow, 29, an All-America at Texas A&M in 1957, was quoted as saying: "I have given the club 100 per cent since I joined them in 1958, and I feel it would be better for them and me. But I definietely will not come back to play with the Cardinals under any circumstances."

The Cardinal running back said he felt that "I didn't get to play as much as I wanted or as much as I should have been last season."

Bidwill said when he was asked about a possible trade commented that there "was nothing in the wind right now."

The Globe-Democrat quoted Crow as saying he knew that he had been placed on waivers by the Cardinals during the 1964 season. Crow told the Globe-Democrat he was removed from the waiver list when the Chicago Bears offered to take him.

★ ★ ★

Crow holds the team touchdown record with 51. He also has the team mark in rushing attempts at 784 and is second in yards gained with 3,489 yards behind Charley Trippi, who had 3,511 yards rushing for the Cardinals.

Adrian Quintet Rolls

ADRIAN (AP) — Adrian ran its season's basketball record to 6-5 with a 96-83 victory over the University of Windsor (Ont.) here Wednesday night. Windsor now is 6-6.

Diamond Comedian Hurls Final Inning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nick Altrock, one of baseball's most famous funnyman, is dead at 88.

Altrock died Wednesday night after a lengthy illness. He had suffered a stroke 2½ years ago.

Once one of the American League's top pitchers, a sore arm sent Altrock into the comedy field where his zany antics captivated first the rock-ribbed baseball fans, and later, vaudeville audiences.

The showmanship first came to light when he pitched for Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League before the turn of the century. One day, he gave up a walk and then picked off the runner.

PICKS OFF SIX

Pleased with himself, he purposely walked seven more men during the game, picking off six of them.

As a comedian, Altrock worked first as a single, capitalizing on a shadow boxing routine, one-man wrestling bouts, juggling and mimicry. Then the late Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Nationals, teamed him up with another clown, Al Schacht.

★ ★ ★

The two became fixtures at World Series contests and were a big drawing card for the Nats both at home and on the road.

They were headliners in vaudeville and even made a movie short in Hollywood. They feuded in the early 1930s, and although the act continued, they seldom spoke to each other.

One of their routines called for Altrock to bounce a baseball-shaped cotton ball off Schacht's head. Once he used the real thing, and Schacht was kayoed.

The two were best known for their patomimes of the sports highlights of the day. They enacted the Dempsey-Firpo fight, did a takeoff on Notre Dame's Four Horsemen and made like tennis queens Suzanne Lenglen and Mary Browne.

The act finally was broken up when Schacht became a coach for the Boston Red Sox in 1934.

AP Photofax

DIAMOND LEGEND—Nick Altrock, 88, died yesterday at Washington, D. C., after a baseball career that included an outstanding stint as a southpaw White Sox pitcher and a great 45-year tour as a clowning coach for the old Senators.

Grid Bonus Costs Hit by Tiger GM

LANSING (AP) — The competing pro football leagues are making a mistake by paying huge bonus prices for unproven players, says a baseball general manager.

★ ★ ★

"They are just starting to get into the bonus thing," said James A. Campbell, general manager of the Detroit Tigers, adding: "Wait until they try to get it back."

The general philosophy of the Tiger executive was that baseball didn't have to compete with such high prices for talent because a baseball player lasts longer than a football player.

★ ★ ★

"Baseball doesn't have to take a back seat to anybody," he declared. "Football will have to go another 10 years to catch up with baseball."

Trade Stirs Pennant Talk in Chicago

Sox Improve Catching; A's Add New Faces

Cleveland Pleased to Acquire Colavito, Also Sees Flag Bid

CHICAGO (AP)—The warm glow of pennant talk has enveloped winter-gripped Chicago.

It is being stoked by the return of catcher John (Honey) Romano to the Chicago White Sox. The Sox missed the American League pennant by one game in 1964.

"The White Sox may have traded themselves right into the 1965 American League pennant," says the Sun-Times.

"The White Sox, back in business behind home plate . . . immediately turned up the volume on their 1965 pennant tune," says the Chicago Tribune.

"The White Sox acquired the man most observers believe could bring the American League pennant back to Chicago in 1965," says Chicago's American.

TRIBE HAPPY

Cleveland moved into the pennant contention by getting back right-handed slugger Rocky Colavito, who also figured to make the turnstiles click merrily.

Kansas City got some new faces.

★ ★ ★

That appears to sum up the three-club, eight-player deal the White Sox, Indians and Athletics announced Wednesday.

MULTIPLE DEAL

The multiple transaction, originated at the baseball convention in Houston last month, went like this:

The Indians gave up Romano, pitcher Tommy John and outfielder Tommie Agee to the White Sox. Chicago sent outfielders Jim Landis and Mike Hershberger and a still unnamed pitcher to Kansas City and catcher Camilo Carreon to Cleveland. Kansas City sent Colavito to the Indians.

The unnamed new Kansas City pitcher is believed to be either veteran Johnny Buzhardt, Dave DeBusschere or rookie Fred Talbot.

The Indians, who have suffered both on the field and at the gate ever since they traded Colavito to Detroit back in 1960, not only have added right-handed hitting power which they sorely lacked, but regained one of the most popular players ever to wear an Indian uniform.

Gabe Paul estimates the Rock's presence will add at least another 150,000 to Cleveland's attendance next season.

"I have been trying to get Rocky back to Cleveland for some time," said Paul. "And I wasn't going to muff it when I finally got the chance."

REJECT OFFER

Charles Finley, owner of the Athletics, rejected a flat $300,000 offer from Paul for the slugger at the Houston meetings.

The offer came the day after the Indians had acquired Chuck Hinton, a right-handed hitting outfielder, in a trade with Washington.

Texas Ring Rule Leaves Decision at Group's Will

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A disputed decision in the Gaspar Ortega-Marshall Wells fight may be taken today to the Texas Boxing Commission at Austin for a final ruling.

Ortega, ranked as the world's No. 9 welterweight, was declared the winner after Wednesday night's bout on the basis that he received a total of 285 points from the three judges compared to 283 for Wells, who was unranked.

But the outcome was thrown into confusion when the decision was protested on the basis of a Texas Boxing Commission rule which states that if the judges cannot agree, the bout must be declared a draw.

In Wednesday night's fight the veteran Ortega was picked as the winner by one judge, another judge picked Wells, while the third judge called the fight a draw.

Ford Entering French Race

DETROIT (UPI)—The Ford Motor Co. is getting ready for another try at the Le Mans 24-hour endurance race in France.

The firm entered the race for the first time last year and its hand-built Ford GT sports car ran up with the leaders for something over 13 hours before encountering mechanical trouble.

"We hope to do better this year — we've got one more year's experience," said Donald N. Frey, new general manager of the Ford Division.

Frey and Roy Lunn, engineer in charge of the project, talked about the car last night at a meeting of the Engineering Society of Detroit.

The car, a fastback, rear-engine two-seater, will go over 200 miles an hour. But the bugs weren't ironed out last year and while it set some qualification and lap records, it needed improvement.

CHANGE MADE

One change for this year may be installation of an automatic transmission in place of the four-speed manual transmission that had been used.

Ford also is working on a brand new sports racing car which might be ready this summer. It would have a new design, an engine bigger than the present 256-inch, 350-horsepower powerplant, and be built to go faster around the turns at Le Mans.

Ford plans to compete in major sports car races this year in Sebring and Daytona Beach, Fla., Le Mans, the Nurburgring in Germany and in the Targo Florida race around Sicily.

Lunn, 39, a quiet-spoken English-born racing expert, heads the Ford team. Lunn was responsible for the mechanical design of the Aston-Martin DB2 and worked for Jowett, A.C. cars and Ford of England before coming to this country in 1958.

He describes the Ford GT as "the only car I ever designed that I can't drive."

What Lunn means is that he has "only" driven it to 140 m.p.h., although he once traveled as fast as 180 m.p.h. in the car with someone else driving.

"It rides very smoothly and you don't notice the speed," he said.

Yale Coach Ponders Job

WOODBRIDGE, Conn. (UPI) — John Pont was expected to decide today whether to retain his head football coaching job at Yale or consider an offer from Indiana University for a similar position there.

Pont, who has been at Yale only two years, said Wednesday night that he probably would reach a decision today to be fair with both schools involved.

"I had hoped to talk out the matter and reach a decision with my wife tonight," Pont said, "but we didn't have the time really to contemplate all the ramifications of a possible move."

MSU Tankers Face Michigan as Underdogs

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State's swimmers will be the underdogs when they try for their fourth straight dual meet victory Saturday against conference favorite Michigan.

Spartan athletic officials feel there is the chance for an unusual sellout and the 2,000 seats in the intramural pool will go on a first - come, first-serve basis.

★ ★ ★

State Coach Charlie McCaffree feels his squad is ready for the Wolverines after scoring easy victories over Bowling Green, Iowa State and Big Ten foe Iowa. But McCaffree feels that Michigan, paced by Olympians Carl Robie and Bill Farley, are ready to end Indiana's hold on the Big Ten title.

NCAA Picks Sites for Cage Tourney

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Oregon State, Texas Tech, Western Kentucky and Pennsylvania were named today as the host schools for first-round games of the NCAA Basketball Championships.

★ ★ ★

First-round games will be played March 6, 8 or 9. Bernie Shively, Kentucky athletic director and tourney chairman, said first-round games in the Mideast at Western Kentucky will be March 8, but dates at the other sites haven't been selected.

Winners in the first round will advance to regionals set for March 12-13 at Maryland, Kentucky, Kansas State and Brigham Young.

The four regional champions will meet in Portland, Ore., March 19-20, to decide the NCAA crown.

Richard P. Koenig of Valparaiso, chairman of the NCAA's College Division Tournament, announced thatt he University of Akron and the Ohio Athletic Conference will serve as cohosts for the Mideast regional March 5-6 at Akron. Sites for the other seven regionals will be announced later.

★ ★ ★

In the NCAA University Tourney, seven conferences champions will receive first-round byes and will start play in the regionals.

The first round pairings:

East — Ivy League champion vs. at-large team; Middle Atlantic champion vs. Yankee Conference champion; Southern Conference champion vs. at-large team. At the Palestra, Philadelphia.

Mideast — Ohio Valley Conference champion vs. at-large team; Mid-America Conference champion vs. at-large team. At E. A. Diddle Arena, Western Kentucky.

Midwest — Southwest Conference champion vs. at-large team; at-large team vs. at-large team. At Lubbock Coliseum, Texas Tech.

West — Western Athletic Conference champion vs. at-large team; at-large team vs. at-large team. At Gill Coliseum, Oregon State.

Huskies Could Add to Inter-Lakes Lead

Pontiac Northern takes on an old league nemesis and Bloomfield Hills will be trying to maintain its lead in the Wayne-Oakland League in action on tomorrow night's prep basketball schedule.

★ ★ ★

The Huskies (4-4) of Pontiac Northern play host to Farmington (4-6) and the PNH crew will be looking for its third Inter-Lakes League victory.

Another I-L contest finds Walled Lake (5-4) at Waterford (3-4). Walled Lake and Farmington share second place in the I-L with 1-1 marks and Waterford holds the bottom rung at 0-2.

A victory for PNH, coupled with a decision by Waterford over Walled Lake, would almost sew up the Huskies' third straight I-L championship.

In the series with Farmington, PNH has built a 5-4 series record. Farmington has never won on the Huskies' court and PNH has gained but one victory on the Falcons' floor.

SPLIT TWO

The two split last year, Farmington taking the first, 67-56, and PNH the second, 91-74.

Bloomfield Hills heads the W-0 with a 5-1 record and has a road date at Brighton (1-5).

Holly (5-2) holds second place and will entertain Clarenceville (1-5).

The biggest balk in the W-0 shapes up between West Bloomfield and Northville. The two share third with 4-2 marks and they will decide who sits in the spot on the Lakers' court.

★ ★ ★

The other game in the loop finds Clarkston (4-3) at Milford (1-5).

KETTERING HOME

In the Tri-County League, Kettering entertains L'Anse Creuse (0-3) and the Captains (1-2) wlil be trying to even their loop mark.

Another contest in the league has Romeo invading Lapeer. Oxford has the night off.

Birmingham Seaholm (2-2) will take on Royal Oak Kimball (2-2) in a Southeastern Michigan Association game. The two trail league-leading Ferndale (4-0) by two games. Ferndale travels to Hazel Park (2-2).

The other game has Southfield (1-3) invading Berkley (1-3).

Three teams are deadlocked for the lead in the Southern Thumb League and odds are that they will still be on top when the smoke clears tomorrow.

The three are Dryden, defending champion New Haven and Almont, all with 5-1 records.

Almont plays host to Capac (3-3), Dryden entertains Anchor Bay (3-3) and New Haven has a home date with Armada (2-4) providing the opposition.

The other contests have Memphis (0-6) traveling to Brown City (1-5).

Local Keg Winner Challenges 'Champ'

Bob Ferndon, winner of the 1964 Pontiac Bowlerama a month ago, is still shooting for high stakes on the bowling tournament trail.

Ferdon, a 21-year-old Pontiac Motor employe, faces nationally known bowling pro Ray Bluth on the "Beat The Champ" television series Sunday night at 11:30 p.m. on channel 4.

Three establishments in Michigan, including Pontiac's 300 Bowl, are holding qualifying for the 12 week series which will conclude with the television finals on March 10th.

In the weekly series, the top qualifiers for the month from each of the three houses are chosen to bowl as challengers against a named pro bowler.

The winner of the weekly TV series receive a color television and the top scores go into the finals with a 1965 car as the prize.

★ ★ ★

Sunday's match between Ferdon and Bluth is originating at Cloverlanes in Livonia. The next four series will be held at Ark Lanes in Hazel Park and the last four Sunday matches will originate from the 300 Bowl, including the grand finale match.

ELIGIBLE BOWLERS

Men and women bowlers are eligible to qualify for the Beat the Champ series, with 70 per cent handicaps for men and 80 per cent for women.

Each bowler pays a flat fee of $2.50 for bowling and costs and qualifying squads at 300 Bowl are held at 12 noon each Saturday and 11:00 a.m., 2:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. on Sundays.

★ ★ ★

The next qualifier from 300 Bowl will be taken from bowlers who will attempt to qualify from the period Jan. 6 through Feb. 2nd, and the final qualifier from the period between Feb. 3rd to March 3rd.

Cranbrook Gets 'Iced'

Cranbrook's Cranes put up a strong battle but fell to Detroit Catholic Central, 5-3, yesterday, their second International High School Hockey League loss in two days.

★ ★ ★

Captain Tom Pfaff scored first for Cranbrook, but the visitors roared back for four before Ted Bunt tallied the losers' second goal.

★ ★ ★

Hal Weckler of the Cranes put the final goal in early in the third period. Their record is now 1-6-2 with an Ann Arbor visit on tap tomorrow.

Kansas Star Registers 30 in Setback

By the Associated Press

Big 6-foot-11 Walt Wesley of Kansas probably will receive much consideration when All-America voting time arrives in college basketball next month.

★ ★ ★

He showed his qualifications by scoring 30 points against Kansas State Wednesday night although the Jayhawks were beaten by the Wildcats 71-63.

Roy Smith, almost as tall as Wesley at 6-10, threw in 25 points, his career high, to lead Kansas State back into contention for the Big Eight crown.

★ ★ ★

A crowd of 12,000 turned out for the game at Manhattan, Kan. It topped the slim national program, cut to a minimum by midyear exams.

Florida State scored its ninth straight home court victory defeating Georgia Tech 72-65. Other home court triumphs were registered by Dayton and Rhode Island.

Dayton downed Chattanooga 96-80 and Rhode Island took Northeastern 87-77 behind Dennis McGovern's 38 points. Henry Finkel tallied 36 points for Dayton.

None of the Top Ten teams in The Associated Press poll saw action, but the unbeaten Evansville Aces, the No. 1 small college team, won their 14th straight by edging Southern Illinois 81-80.

Local Parochial Teams Lose Foes

Within the next eight days three local prep basketball rivalries could draw to a close.

During an executive board meeting Tuesday of the Detroit Catholic League, it was decided to reorganize the second division, particularly the Northwest Parochial League.

As a result, the football rivalries that Orchard Lake St. Mary had developed with Pontiac's St. Michael and St. Frederick, as well as with Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes have been eliminated.

Basketball action between the Eaglets and the other three will be considerably curtailed if not eliminated all together. This may also apply to track and baseball after this spring.

WOLL, St. Mike and St. Fred — the latter two expecting to incorporate into a Central Catholic High School by 1970 — are joining the Macomb League effective next September.

That will unite them with Richmond St. Augustine, New Baltimore St. Mary, Detroit's St. Rose and St. Bernard and Marine City Holy Cross.

RESHUFFLE

OL St. Mary, along with Northwest members Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows, and Royal Oak St. Mary, will compete with St. Francis DeSales and St. Rita from Detroit, Ferndale St. James and Highland Park St. Benedict.

All four leagues in the planned Second Division will have seven teams. On bye dates for seven-team circuits, there will be scheduled inter-league games on an intra-division basis.

Thus, with dates reserved also for playoff games, there will be no room to include old rivalries on the football schedules and scant space on the cage calendars.

Nor will the Macomb setup allow much time for outside games since eight teams are aligned in it at present.

★ ★ ★

This could be a relief for the Pontiac and WOLL athletes who will, naturally, miss the competition with the Eaglets. OLSM sports team have built definite edges over local rivals.

The Eaglets series with St. Fred began on the basketball floor in 1931. It stands 38-8 for OLSM at present and the football record is 12-4 (beginning 1949).

The St. Mike cage series is 20-11 (starting 1943) and the Eaglets lead 11-5-1 in football (1950). The WOLL rivalry began in 1961 and stands 7-0 in basketball and 3-1 in football.

NO WINS

None of the three has beaten St. Mary in football or basketball this season.

★ ★ ★

In fact, OLSM, RO St. Mary, and Farmington OLS have dominated the Northwest Catholic League standings in recent seasons; and the seventh member — Detroit St. Agatha — tied for the grid title this past campaign.

OL St. Mary is host to St. Mike's Shamrocks Friday night. Waterford OLL will visit St. Fred at Madison JHS and St. Agatha (which will go into the Southwest Catholic League) will travel to Sorrows' gym.

ROSM is idle but could take over first place if an upset is posted by St. Michael which needs a win to stay close to third place FOLS.

St. Mary's Eaglets then complete their cage schedules with St. Frederick's Rams Tuesday at home and the Lakers next Friday at Waterford.

Ferndale's Palmer Keeps Eagles Aloft

Ferndale's Eagles are flying high this season on the basketball court.

★ ★ ★

The squad is ranked eighth in the state Class A prep poll, and a member of the quintet is leading the pack in the Oakland County scoring race.

Heading the scoring parade is Lee Palmer, a 6-3 center-forward, whose scoring average of 26.3 is the primary reason why the Eagles are undefeated (8-0) and hold down first place in the Southeastern Michigan Association.

Palmer, a senior, has collected 89 field goals and 33 foul shots for 211 points in eight outings.

Holding down the No. 2 spot in the scoring race is Rochester's Bruce McDonald with a 26.0 average. McDonald had been perched on top for five weeks but his average dipped last week when he was held to 31 points in two games.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Central's Carl Arnold continues to lead the Saginaw Valley Conference in scoring. The 5-10 playmaker has dropped in 170 points in eight games for a 21.2 mark.

Royals Bump Detroit, 102-90

Lucas Tops Rebound Mark at Cobo Hall

DETROIT (AP)—Jerry Lucas set a new Cobo Arena record for rebounds with 37 as Cincinnati sprinted away from Detroit in the final five minutes to score a 102-90 victory in a National Basketball Association game Wednesday night.

In bagging 17 rebounds in the first half and 20 more in the second, Lucas erased the old mark of 34 set by Bill Russell of Boston last Jan. 2.

★ ★ ★

While Lucas was creating his new standard, Cincinnati star Oscar Robertson was held to 11 points, tying his season's low. It was only the second time in the Royals' 46 encounters that Robertson failed to hit 20 or more points.

In other NBA games, Los Angeles whipped New York 119-103 on the Coast and Boston walloped Baltimore 131-103 at Baltimore.

Kansas City Back Traded to Denver

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Swift, tricky Abner Haynes — who thought he had proved to the Kansas City Chiefs that the day of the 190-pound running back isn't over — was traded to Denver Wednesday for linebacker Jim Fraser.

Haynes, the first big name in the American Football League, was named the AFL's Comeback of the Year last fall by the Associated Press. After a bad season in 1963 — the club's first in Kansas City — Haynes came back with 713 yards and a 5.2 average, plus several long runs.

French Woman Takes 2nd Title in Two Days

SCHRUN,S Austria (AP) — Marielle Goitschel, a 19-year-old student from Val d'Isere, France gained her second victory in the three-day Golden Keys women's ski races Wednesday when she beat all rivals by more than one second in the giant slalom.

★ ★ ★

Miss Goitschel, 1964 Olympic giant slalom medalist, won the special slalom Tuesday. She sped down the icy 1,050-meter Gafazut course, staked out with 47 gates, in 1:34.81 in the giant slalom. Heidi Schmid-Biebl of West Germany again was second in 1:37.07.

SISTER 4th

Ruth Adolf of Switzerland took third in 1:37.11 and Christine Goitschel, Marielle's sister who won the Olympic slalom, was fourth in 1:37.43.

The final event of the meet, the downhill race, is scheduled for Friday. The combined championship is awarded on performances in the special slalom and the downhill.

★ ★ ★

Miss Goitschel, winner of the Kandahar Trophy last week, won the Golden Keys women's slalom ski race Tuesday in a blinding snowstorm.

Sunshine Prevents Bobsled Practice

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland — Italy's Rinaldo Ruatti and Enrico de Lorenzo made the fastest run Wednesday before warm weather interrupted practice for the world two - man bobsled championships.

★ ★ ★

The Italians made a single run in 1:20.70. Britain's Olympic champions, Tony Nash and Robin Dixon, were timed in 1:21.00 and the Canadian pair of Vic Emery and Mike Young in 1:21.60.

Practice was called off when the sun softened the outer wall of the Shamrock bend because of possible damage to the course. Fewer than half the 31 teams had completed their runs.

Prep Skiers in Holly Meet

B. Hills Team Defending Title

Competition Slated for Saturday

All teams in the Mount Holly High School Ski League will compete Saturday in the annual Interscholastic Ski Meet at the resort.

Bloomfield Hills will be favored to repeat in both divisions led by the skiing Smiths. Geoff was runner-up individually last year in the boys meet and Cheryl was the girls' leader.

They are both back and have added help from sister Vicki in the feminine competition and from the Kraatz brothers (Dick and Mike) on the male side.

Pontiac Central will only have a boys team among the 16 schools entered; and the University of Detroit High and Flint Holy Redeemer teams are in for the first time.

The competition on the slalom course will begin at 10:30 a.m., weather permitting. The boys' teams will be permitted six skiers with the top four two-run composite times counting in the team total.

The top three girls' combined times will count for each team in that category. This is a change from the previous format.

14 Olympians Will Highlight Millrose Games

NEW YORK (AP) — Fourteen Olympians from 10 countries have accepted invitations to compete in the Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden on Thursday, Jan. 28, Director Fred Schmertz said Wednesday.

For the first time since 1961, when Wilma Rudolph, U.S. winner of three gold medals at Rome in 1960, was the star, there will be women featured on the Millrose card.

Wyomia Tyus, winner of the 100-meter dash at Tokyo, and Edith McGuire, the 200-meter queen, will compete in the special 60-yard dash against Mary Rand, the London model who won the Tokyo broad jump, and Pamela Kilborn of Australia, third in the hurdles in the recent Games.

Both Miss Tyus and Miss McGuire are students at Tennessee State.

Judith Amoore of Australia, bronze medalist at 400 meters at Tokyo, is favored in the 440-yard run. She did 55.6 for the distance at Boston last weekend. Her strongest rival likely will be Mrs. Armus Magy Szabo of Hungary, fourth in the 800-meter in Japan.

Iceboat Competition Set for Lake St. Clair

DN class iceboats will sail for the international championship Saturday and Sunday on Lake St. Clair near the Mount Clemens shoreline.

Close to 150 iceboats are expected from the United States, plus entries from Holland, Belgium, Canada, and other countries. Some 20 boats are entered from the Pontiac area.

Elimination races are sailed with a minimum of three attempts for each craft. Then the top 30 iceboats are selected and two final championship heats are staged.

The composite score for all five races determines the champion. Score is based solely on finishes in each race.

LOCAL ENTRANTS

Skip Boston of Mount Clemens is the defending champ. Ed Stack of Cass Lake was a close second last year. Ro Redner and Chuck Cartwright, both of Cass Lake, had heat victories last year but were forced out by mechanical troubles.

The boats will make six one-mile runs — three into the wind and three with it — in each race with a maximum of 40 iceboats in each one.

The arrow class iceboat national championships which were set for Cass Lake last weekend never came off due to the lack of entries plus unfavorable weather conditions.

The DN craft did compete briefly Sunday afternoon and Redner won three heats to take top honors. Stack was second and Bob Redner third.

Rochester Site of Ice Events

Olympics' Program Set for Saturday

The Rochester Kiwanis Club's sixth annual Ice Olympics program is set for Saturday at the Municipal Rink, general chairman Carl Queck announced yesterday.

Events are scheduled from 9:30 a.m. until noon. If the ice is not satisfactory, then the following Saturday will be the make-up date.

★ ★ ★

There will be separate boys and girls races.

Included ages are — Toddler's (seven and under), Pony (eight and nine-year-olds), midget (10-11), juvenile (12-13), junior (14-15), intermediate (16-17) and senior (18 and older) classes.

Included among the special performers are former state champion Bob Snyder, Chuck Bertrand and Danny Delier.

Close Contests in Rec Cage Schedule

Tight ball games were the norm last night in both the city and Waterford Township men's recreation basketball leagues.

The top city contest saw defending champion West Bloomfield Heating pull out a hard-fought 68-67 verdict over K. D. TV-Radio. Gary Wilkoff had nine field goals and 20 points for the winners.

Les Hardiman's 22 on 11 from the floor topped all scorers for the television team, which dropped its second. West Bloomfield is now 1-1.

The other men's game had Roy White's Unbeatables posting their second straight win, 88-57, over the Students. Gary Hayward (20), Felix Brooks (19) and Larry Peet (17) paced the winners. Chuck Clark put in 18 for the Oakland U. quintet.

★ ★ ★

In city junior action, New Hope Baptist ran up a 104-59 triumph over the Auburn Heights Boys' Club Buzzards, and the K-Town 5 dumped The Tams, 64-43.

TOWNSHIP

In township competition, Zilka Heating evened its American League mark at 2-2 with a 73-71 overtime triumph over winless Bill's Service.

The tilt was tied at 69 after regulation play. Bob Tuck hit 25 to lead Zilka but relinquished game honors to Jim Chamberlain of Bill's. He had 27 and Bob Pickett hit 16.

In National League activity third period spurts carried Gancia-Cote to a 55-50 win over Howe's Lanes, and Buckner Finance past Ryeson's Market, 57-48.

Gancia's win boosted it into a first place tie with idle Joe's Bar (both 3-0). Bob Smith's 17 and Keith Clauser's 13 led it while Jim and Bob Devine had 19 and 14, respectively for Howe's.

Buckner jumped into fifth place at 2-1 behind the scoring of Jerry Paul (22) and Duane Presson (17). Ryeson's held a halftime lead 25-23, but trailed 43-37 after three periods.

Mentor at Yale Reported in Line for Indiana Post

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — "The guy means a lot to us. We're keeping our fingers crossed."

Dave Laidley of Glenview, Ill., captain-elect of the 1965 Yale football team, was discussing the distinct possibility that Head Coach John Pont would take over the coaching job at Indiana.

Speculation has it that Pont will, and that an official announcement will be made soon, perhaps today when Pont is scheduled to confer with Yale President Kingman Brewster Jr.

Presumably the subject will be whether Yale can match an undisclosed Hoosier offer.

Teen-Age Skaters Reach Nationals

BOSTON (AP) — A teen-ager who captured her first major crown and an 11-year-old phenomenon are among the Eastern figure skating titleholders who now move on to the Nationals at Lake Placid, N.Y., Feb. 10-13.

★ ★ ★

Honey Kerr, 16, from New York, took the women's crown with a brilliant exhibition of free skating Sunday. Helen Dane, 18, of Belmont, Mass., was second and Pamela Schneider, 16, Lincroft, N.J., was third.

The first three finishers in each class qualify for the Nationals.

Gordon McKellen Jr., 11, from Reading, Pa., won the junior men's title.

Fine Weather Creates Very Good Conditions

By The Associated Press

Weekend skiing prospects, based on Wednesday slope conditions and the weather forecast, appear good to excellent in the northern Lower Peninsula and throughout the Upper Peninsula.

There is new snow everywhere and most southeastern resorts listed their conditions as "very good," but the weatherman predicts high temperatures there will range from 28 to 35 today and that it will be warmer Friday.

A little light snow, with high temperatures between 25 and 32, were forecast over the northeastern and northwestern Lower Peninsula today. Occasional light snow or flurries were in the Upper Peninsula outlook for today. Little temperature change is expected in any of these regions through Friday.

IT'S FOR REAL — Bigger — and more expensive — than life are the six-foot beer can and four-foot-round orange of artist Tom Wesselmann, who is shown at his New York studio. Prices for Wesselmann's current products range from $2,250 to $6,000.

Pop Art Really Takes the Cake

NEW YORK (AP) — If you want the latest in modern art for your living room, you'll have to find space for works such as:

Three life-size white plaster figures of a rock 'n' roll drummer, guitarist and girl dancing the twist.

A piece of "chocolate" layer cake seven feet high made of plaster and vinyl.

★ ★ ★

If you feel such works might belong in another room, consider this:

A section of kitchen wall with refrigerator door, wall telephone, clock and cabinet, all in steel gray. The clock works, but not the telephone.

Is it art?

VULGARITY

The critics talk of a "deadpan celebration of contemporary vulgarity," new awareness of ordinary things, fantasy creations and gags trying to be art.

The galleries say it sells — for as much as $8,000.

★ ★ ★

Some say business has never been better, and dealers put worldwide sales of all art at $250 million a year, with no ceiling in sight.

★ ★ ★

The big slab of cake by Claes Oldenburg is on a tour of Eastern art galleries. His recent show here sold out and his current work is priced around $5,000, his agent-gallery reports.

EUROPEAN FOOD

Right now, Oldenburg is exhibiting his bigger-than-life constructions of European food in a gallery in Holland. They're made out of plaster, metal, plastics and fabric. His wife, Patricia, helps sew them.

★ ★ ★

George Segal makes his plaster statues (but nobody calls them statues) at his chicken farm in North Brunswick, N.J. The Knox-Albright Art Gallery in Buffalo, N.Y., and the Museum of Modern Art in New York City have purchased his works, as have dozens of private collectors.

★ ★ ★

One of Tom Wesselmann's kitchen sections hangs in the Knox-Albright and the price range for his current exhibit is $2,250 to $6,000. Nearly half a dozen have been sold, the gallery director says.

Firm Founder Dies in Florida

Lapeer Man Pioneer in Auto Advertising

LAPEER—Doran P. Brother, founder and board chairman of D. P. Brother & Co., Detroit, died yesterday in Miami Beach, Fla. after a short illness. He was 70.

Brother, who lived at 1577 W. Genesee, was a pioneer in automotive advertising and merchandising.

The agency he founded served many divisions of General Motors Corp. and other major advertisers for 30 years.

He founded the firm in 1934 after leaving another agency, Campbell-Ewald Co., where he had been a vice president and general manager.

From 1927 to 1932, Brother served General Motors as assistant director of the advertising section.

★ ★ ★

Born in Elsberry, Mo., he lived in Lapeer and maintained a winter residence in Miami Beach.

FUNERAL IN MIAMI

Funeral service will be 11 a. m. Saturday at Walsh and Wood Funeral Home, Miami Beach, with burial following there.

Surviving are his wife Ethel; a daughter, Mrs. Elliott E. Potter of Miami Beach; a stepson, Harold Deaton of Lapeer; two grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

IT'S NO TOY! — The one-man sight-seeing submarine, a hit at the National Motor Boat Show in New York, is checked out by Bruce Irvine, 12 of Metuchen, N.J. The 10-foot-long, 1,400-pound vessel has a top speed of five knots on the surface and 3½ underwater. It goes down 165 feet. The asking price is $4,000.

To Jail Union Officers in NY's Welfare Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three union officers leading the strike of 6,000 welfare department employes were to be jailed today for criminal contempt of a court injunction that ordered an end to the 18-day walkout.

The three were among a group of 19 labor leaders found guilty of contempt by Judge Irving Saypol yesterday.

In addition to 30-day jail sentences, the three also were fined $250 each. Their unions, the Social Service Employes Union (SSEU) and Local 371 American Federation of State, County and Municipal employees (AFL-CIO) also were fined $250.

Sentenced to jail were Joseph Tepedino, SSEU president; Ishmael Lahab, SSEU vice president, and Local 371 President Alan Viani. Sentencing of the 16 other leaders was postponed until Monday.

Before announcing his decision Judge Saypol gave the 19 a chance to comply with the Jan. 7 antistrike injunction and order the workers back to their jobs, but all refused.

'WON'T HURT STRIKE

Jerry Wurf, international president of the State, County and Municipal Employes Union, said he believed the fines and jail sentences would have no effect on the strike. Wurf was not among the 19.

Ernest Fleshman, a spokesman for the group, said all were ready to go to jail rather than comply with the court injunction.

"They feel that they are equally guilty or all not guilty and that if one was to go to jail, they all should go to jail," he said.

The original injunction was issued under the state antistrike statute, the Condon-Wadlin Law which provides loss of jobs, pay and seniority for striking public employes.

BRINGS END

A dispute over application of the law brought an end to preliminary negotiations last week. The city insisted penalties prescribed by the law could not be avoided once the workers returned to their jobs. The union asked waiver of penalties.

The social workers went on strike Jan. 4 for higher pay, better working conditions and lighter case loads.

The walkout has forced the welfare department to close 10 of its welfare centers and has affected service to the city's 400,000 persons on public assistance.

DELOS HAMLIN

County Aide Named Officer

2nd Vice-President of State Supervisors

Chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors Delos Hamlin, yesterday was made second vice-president of the Michigan State Association of Supervisors.

Hamlin was among officers elected at the group's annual meeting in Lansing.

West Bloomfield Township Supervisor Homer Case was a member of the nominating committee.

Sixty-two delegates from Oakland County are attending the meeting, making a total of 664, the largest delegation ever to attend the association's annual meeting.

★ ★ ★

The meeting adjourns this afternoon.

Will Step Up Program for Youth Care

LANSING (AP) — A stepped-up program of halfway houses to take care of youths leaving correctional institutions is on its way, field workers of the State Social Welfare Commission were told Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

John Miller, supervisor of halfway houses for the State Department, reported at the Lansing meeting that needs for present facilities exceed the availability.

'FAIRLY SUCCESSFUL'

Two houses in Detroit, Miller said, are "fairly successful." He said it was hoped that two more could be located in the Detroit area.

Similar houses in Flint and Kalamazoo have been operated very successfully, he said.

The department, Miller said, is hoping to arrange for similar houses for the youths in Muskegon and Lansing.

The Lansing house, it was indicated, was badly needed for the youths leaving the State Boys Training School there. The purpose would be to allow the boys to live in for a while and plan their futures with guidance before facing the world alone.

Window Well Fall Injures State Cadet

WASHINGTON (AP)—A West Point cadet plunged head first down a 25-foot deep window well adjacent to the Commerce Department Building Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

Cadet Dale R. Anderson, 21, of Onaway, Mich., in town for the Presidential Inauguration, was said to have tripped over a low protective curb around the well. A fellow cadet called for an ambulance.

★ ★ ★

Anderson was treated for head cuts, a broken front tooth and a possible fracture of the left wrist. He was reported in fair condition at Walter Reed Medical Center.

Legislators Tour Pontiac State Hospital

Five members of a House legislative committee on mental health toured Pontiac State Hospital yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Donald W. Martin, medical superintendent, and several members of the staff conducted the tour.

The group consisted of Rep. F. Charles Raap of Muskegon, chairman; Robert Slinglerlend of Oakland Township, cochairman; Raymond Hood of Detroit; W. Scott Ensign of Battle Creek; and Peter Kok of Grand Rapids.

Purpose of the tour was to aid the committee in their future recommendations on financial appropriations for state mental health facilities.

★ ★ ★

At the completion of the tour, Rep. Raap commented that he was impressed with the efforts of the staff and volunteers toward making the atmosphere of the hospital more pleasant for the patients.

Gibbs to Seek GOP Position

John A. Gibbs of Royal Oak—once an assistant to, and then a rival of outgoing Republican State Chairman Arthur G. Elliott — announced yesterday that he is a candidate for the Republican State Central Committee.

The 32-year-old Gibbs said he made his decision to try to gain a seat on the party's top policy-making body after Elliot announced Saturday he would not seek reelection.

★ ★ ★

Gibbs was an assistant to Elliott when Elliott was the Oakland County GOP chairman. He then served as special assistant to George Van Peursem, Elliott's predecessor as state chairman.

He ran against Elliott for the chairmanship in 1963, and then dropped from full-time party activities to join a Detroit advertising firm.

Pope Paul's Chapel Done in Modern Decor

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul's private chapel in the Vatican has been completely redone along modern lines — with orthodox patriarch Athenagoras of Istanbul depicted in the sculpture bronze central altar panel.

L'osservatore Romano printed a full page of pictures and description yesterday, the first indication of the project. The Vatican newspaper said the work was finished last fall, and the Pope consecrated the chapel Nov. 1.

The Jay Gould mansion at Tarrytown, N. Y., which will be opened to the public as a museum later this year, is regarded as one of the finest examples of the Gothic Revival in the United States.

'Reds Stealing Instruments'

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI) — Russian fishing trawlers have been stealing instruments from American oceanographic research buoys anchored off California, according to Prof. John Isaacs of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

"The Russians are in a full speed race to learn the secrets of the sea," Isaacs said yesterday.

"They know we are ahead of them in many aspects of oceanographic technology and they want to learn our methods" he said. "One easy way to do it, quite obviously, is to frisk our ocean buoys, take the instruments and copy them."

Isaacs, director of the Scripps marine life research program, said that last fall a Soviet trawler stripped a Scripps buoy off Point Conception, 150 miles northwest of here, before it was chased away by a U. S. Navy radar picket ship.

He said the buoy taken by the Russian trawler had been used to gather and transmit oceanographic data.

Last Thursday, U. S. Navy ships intercepted three Russian trawlers whose skippers claimed they were cooperating with an American scientific institution in oceanographic work along the West Coast, Isaacs said.

Live Rent-Free —but Without a Front Porch

IRVINGTON, N.J. (AP) — Two Irvington families have been offered rent-free quarters for four months with the proviso that the landlord be permitted to chop off the front porch of their new home.

★ ★ ★

The New Jersey Highway Authority wanted to tear down their two-family home for a highway improvement but the families opposed the move on grounds their children should be allowed to finish the school year without moving.

D. Louis Tonti, executive director of the highway authority, offered them another house the authority had acquired only a few doors down the street. They could have the house rent-free until after school is out in June, he said.

Ferndale Man Pleads Guilty to Reckless Driving

A Ferndale man involved in a fatal auto accident last spring will be sentenced in Circuit Court Feb. 2 for reckless driving.

Originally charged with negligent homicide, Arthur H. Smith, 47, yesterday was allowed to plead guilty to the lesser count when he appeared before Judge Frederick C. Ziem for trial.

Smith was the driver of a car that collided with one driven by Mrs. Charles Aldrich, 49, of 919 Tienken, Avon Township. Mrs. Aldrich died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital shortly after the May 20 accident.

The crash occurred on Rochester Road at Lovell in Troy.

Got Charity Instead of Cell

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 62-year-old man walked up to a bank guard yesterday and announced, "I planned to rob the bank."

After hearing out his explanation, the bank treated the would-be holdup man to a sandwich and coffee.

Michael Daly walked into a Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. branch intent on a stick-up. But apparently changing his mind at the last minute, he told a guard of his plan and handed him a note and a bag.

The note read: "Put $500 in 10's and 20's in the bag."

Asked why he ever considered the robbery, Daly said, "I haven't eaten in days."

The story struck a sympathetic note with a normally frugal bank official and he dispatched a secretary to buy Daly a sandwich and coffee. He gulped it down.

The bank also declined to press charges, and Daly was taken by police to Bellevue Hospital for psychiatric examinations and some regular meals.

Box Office Is Only Award for American-International

HOLLYWOOD—When the 1964 Academy Award nominations are announced Feb. 23, it is extremely unlikely that they will include any movies produced by American-International.

THOMAS

Its owners couldn't care less. They'd much rather continue winning their award at the box office.

The brains behind American-International (known in the trade as A-I) are a former theater owner named James H. Nicholson and attorney Samuel Z. Arkoff. They are the men who brought you "Beach Party," "Muscle Beach Party" and "Bikini Beach," not to mention countless exhumations of Edgar Allen Poe starring Vincent Price, Boris Karloff and other chill-masters.

Their releases for 1965 are likewise not destined for the Oscar derby: "House at the End of the World," "Ski Party," "How to Stuff a Wild Bikini," "Sergeant Deadhead."

Nicholson, a well-groomed man with a quiet, assured manner, explained his philosophy: "A lot of the Academy Award type of pictures are aimed at the older audience. We're not interested in the old folks; most of them stay home and watch television, anyway.

YOUNG CROWD

"We're aiming for the young crowd. I believe I read somewhere that half the world's population is under 25. That's a big audience. And they are the kind that like to get out and go to the movies."

The A-I formula is a model of simplicity: find a gimmick and fly with it. The Poe thrillers turned into a bonanza. But horror comedy was a dud and was quickly abandoned.

★ ★ ★

"Beach Party" proved to be A-I's biggest hit. Produced for $50,000, it has grossed $3.5 million and proliferated the swinging seaside epics.

"We start with Frankie Avalon and Annette Funicello," Nicholson said, "and add some solid performers like Robert Cummings, Buster Keaton, Buddy Hackett, Dorothy Lamour or Paul Lynde. Then we find as many ways as we can to get girls into bikinis."

FILMS CRITICIZED

Nicholson said the films have been criticized by moralists — but only on grounds of the acres of skin exposed on the Santa Monica sands.

"Frankie and Annette never talk about sex in the pictures," he said. "In fact, they're always talking about getting married. What could be more moral than that?

"We've got a great family audience for our pictures, and we don't want to jeopardize that. People in England have asked me why we didn't make European versions without the bikini tops. I wouldn't think of it."

"Our pictures do fine business in places like Japan, Hong Kong, Singapore and especially Australia," Nicholson remarked. "Business is getting better all the time in England, where the teen-agers are getting more freedom. We're big in Italy but not in Germany and Scandinavia. I guess it's the older people who go to the movies in those countries."

Report Fallout Up Over Japan

TOKYO (AP)—The Weather Bureau reported that atmospheric radioactivity over southern Japan increased sharply yesterday, registering a count far higher than recorded after Communist China's first atomic bomb test last October.

A spokesman for the bureau said the high count was probably caused by the reported Soviet underground nuclear test Jan. 15, which the United States claimed released radioactivity that spread over the northern Pacific.

The Weather Bureau said it recorded a radioactive count of 60 micromicrocuries per cubic meter between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. yesterday, and this compared with 38 micromicrocuries registered shortly after Communist China's atomic bomb test Oct. 16.

Yesterday the Weather Bureau said it has not detected any abnormal radioactivity in the atmosphere but was rechecking all its measurements in view of the American announcement.

High Waves Inflict Damage on Car Ferry

MENOMINEE (AP)—The ice-covered car ferry City of Grand Rapids suffered minor damages in a battering by high waves and a 50 m.p.h. wind Monday.

The ship, owned by the Grand Trunk fleet and leased to the Ann Arbor Line, was forced by the storm to abandon a planned trip to Frankfort

New Canadian Flag Debuts on Feb. 15

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's new maple leaf flag makes its official debut Feb. 15.

Prime Minister Lester Pearson said Wednesday that the flag would be raised on the Peace Tower of the Parliament building on that date. He said he hoped it would also go up at the same time in other places throughout Canada.

The only poisonous snakes in the United States are the rattlesnake, the water moccasin, and the copperhead.

Smithsonian Show 'Sizzler'

Tree's Sex Life Has a Shady Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sexy movies are all the rage nowadays. I don't think I've seen a motion picture in the past year that I didn't spend half the time blushing. During some scenes, even my dewlaps turned crimson.

WEST

Nevertheless, I was a bit surprised to find this sort of thing going on at the Smithsonian Institution.

Like most museums, the Smithsonian as a rule is inclined to be somewhat on the stuffy side.

Anyway, last week the Smithsonian opened its own film theater and began presenting a weekly series of movies that will continue into the spring.

Secretary S. Dillon Ripley described the project as "an educational series designed to increase the public's knowledge and appreciation of various dimensions of the humanities and science."

★ ★ ★

But for openers, the Smithsonian chose a real zinger. it was an 11-minute color film entitled "How Pine Trees Reproduce."

DROPPED IN

I dropped by to see the film, not as a thrill-seeker but because I happened to be interested in this subject.

A few weeks ago, I was instrumental in bringing to light some of the true facts regarding the sex life of pine trees, which had been the object of some rather slanderous rumors.

It was being whispered about that pine trees occasionally change from male to female, and vice versa. This, no doubt, was what gave rise to the expression "whispering pines."

But my investigation disclosed that such a thing is mathematically impossible, because a pine tree is actually both male and female at the same time.

SPICY TITLE

Despite its spicy title, the Smithsonian film, which won an award at the recent Venice Film Festival, serves a worthwhile purpose by bringing out details in this regard.

For one thing, it revealed that the lower part of a pine tree is male, whereas the upper part is female. Which was certainly news to me. And which is certainly a cozy arrangement.

The difference is found in the types of cones, some being masculine and some feminine. I could elaborate on this, but I don't want to give away the plot of the picture.

As I watched "How Pine Trees Reproduce," it occurred to me that some enterprising Hollywood producer could take the film and expand it into a full-length musical.

Perhaps he could get Liz Taylor to play the top of a pine tree. At the moment, I don't have anyone in mind for the other part.

Japan Agrees to Sale of Plant to Red China

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese government brushed aside Nationalist Chinese objections today and agreed to the sale of a multimillion-dollar vinylon plant to Communist China.

Plans for the sale severely strained relations between Japan and Nationalist China last year. Japan maintains diplomatic relations with Nationalist China but allows its businessmen to trade with the Communists.

Yoshio Sakurauchi, minister of international trade and industry, told newsmen the Nichibo Company would ship the $30-million plant to Red China soon.

Patrolman Is Killed

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Patrolman Paul Major, 41, was shot to death Wednesday night, police said, while chasing two young men who fled from an allegedly stolen car in south Denver.

Major, wounded in the left chest, died in an ambulance en route to a hospital.

Cat's Mother Can Be Human

CHICAGO (AP) — Keep a lion away from its own kind from birth, and it won't know it's a cat, says Lincoln Park Zoo Director Dr. Lester Fisher.

"If a cat sees only people and other cats, it becomes people-oriented," he said. "Let's face it. If you raise a cub from birth, to that cat you're mother."

Big cats possess a remarkable number of human traits. They are creatures of habit, even in their wild state, and are at best in well-known surroundings.

All cats, both domestic and wild, establish certain living living areas or territories.

★ ★ ★

"In effect, all we do is diminish the size of a cat's territory when we put it in a cage," Dr. Fisher said.

"When putting two strange cats together, the first thing they usually do is explore the cage before looking each other over."

It Wasn't Prerogative

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—State Rep. Ellen McCaffree, a Seattle Republican, voted against a move yesterday to bring to a vote a legislative reapportionment measure she had helped to draw up.

But she hadn't changed her mind, Mrs. McCaffree said afterward.

She had just broken her glasses and couldn't see to push the right button on the electric voting machine.

Earl Thinks Inaugural Show May Set 'Long-Run' Record

By EARL WILSON

WASHINGTON — I think the big inaugural party may never end . . . with Texans predominating, it might keep going right on full speed for eight more years, with just one intermission—for LBJ's reelection.

WILSON

That was the attitude here, and a gag floating around the Sheraton-Park Hotel was:

"LBJ's restless — the job's really not big enough for him."

They said maybe he should take on a really big undertaking, like being president of the Teamsters Union.

Parties usually thin out, but it appeared that the inauguration celebration would fatten out, with the Texans staying on here. Texans love Washington.

You also heard the Texas yarns.

There was a discussion of the U.S. deficit, and how many billions it would amount to by 1970. This was at a restaurant table, and a Houston oil man said, "I don't care how much it is—put it on my tab."

★ ★ ★

And there was still muttering about LBJ not wearing a top hat to the ball. But Ray Rieves of Norfolk, Va., said, "That was understandable—he couldn't find a 10-gallon top hat."

You felt sort of un-American being merely from Ohio or Minnesota. You started practicing saying "Y'all come, y'heah?"

At Perle Mesta's big penthouse party, attended by Lynda Bird Johnson, Hubert H. Humphrey, Mrs. Humphrey and numerous Senators, Cabinet officers, etc., Mrs. Mesta took the floor and said, "Let's give Texas a hand!"

'Freedom Curb' Vexes Students —Township Dry

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Members of the Hiram College student senate are perturbed over what they call a curtailment of individual freedoms — there is no place in "dry" Hiram township where a student can hoist a friendly glass of ale.

★ ★ ★

The seven-member student senate has presented a resolution to Village Solicitor Chester Enlow stating that legal counsel will be sought and that a special election may be requested.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman said Wednesday the chief reason for the resolution was that many students consider it dangerous to drive to other communities to drink beer, then return to campus with cars loaded with students.

Quit Smoking Because of Price—Man, 100

POTEAU, Okla. (AP) — William Sanphard McMurray, who turned 100 years old Wednesday, said he gave up smoking two years ago.

"I quit cigarets at age 98," he said. "It wasn't the cancer scare that got me. It was the hike in price to 30 cents a package."

Open N.Y. Bribe Charge Probe

NEW YORK (AP)—The spotlight in the New York Democratic party's bitter factional fight over selection of majority legislative leaders was on an oak-paneled hearing room of the State Commission of Investigation today.

The leadership impasse has tied up the legislature since it convened Jan. 6 in Albany, and no business has been conducted.

In a closed-door session, the four investigation commission members — two Democrats and two Republicans — open an inquiry into charges made by Mayor Robert F. Wagner of a political "bribe."

Wagner, a Democrat, was tapped as the lead-off witness to support his public assertions against State Democratic Chairman William H. McKeon.

★ ★ ★

Wagner has accused McKeon of offering key committee chairmanships, plus nonaccountable, inflated expense funds — known as "lulus"—to two unidentified senators to influence the legislative leadership dispute.

McKeon has denied the charges.

The mayor said the alleged offer was made Jan. 12 in a room of the DeWitt Clinton Hotel in Albany to New York County Chairman J. Raymond Jones, who refused it.

Jones and two others said to be at the meeting also were scheduled to testify before the commission. They are Assemblyman Moses M. Weinstein, Queens County leader, and Maurice J. O'Rourke, elections commissioner and New York County secretary.

Other political leaders reported to be at the Albany meeting were also to be questioned, possibly tomorrow.

POLITIAL LEADERS

They are, in addition to McKeon, Joseph Crangle, an aide to Erie County's chairman, Peter J. Crotty, Nassau County Chairman John F. English, and Schenectady County Chairman George V. Palmer.

All are Democrats.

The commission said it will start the hearings in closed session, but may open them to the public later.

★ ★ ★

Jacob Grumet, commission chairman, said sessions would be held tomorrow and possibly Saturday.

LEADERSHIP POSTS

Anti-Wagner forces, including McKeon, are backing Sen. Jack E. Bronston of Queens and Assemblyman Stanley Steingut for the leadership posts in the legislature.

The Wagner faction supports Sen. Thomas J. Mackell of Queens and Assemblyman Anthony J. Travia of Brooklyn.

Bronston and Steingut are supported by county leaders aligned with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who has professed his neutrality.

There have been 21 ballots taken in the Senate and 16 in the Assembly, but the issue remains unresolved.

TRAIL IN VOTING

Wagner forces, which have trailed in the voting, continue to oppose a binding vote by party members.

An Albany bank cleared up one matter yesterday by agreeing to loan money to legislators and legislative employes without interest. There have been no salary payments since the session started because of the absence of leaders to certify the payrolls.

Sizzling 'Fire' at Dormitory

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Someone spotted smoke billowing from the 10th floor of a student dormitory at the University of Arkansas Medical Center here and called the fire department.

Two fire chiefs, two ladder trucks and four pumpers answered the alarm.

When firemen rushed into the apartment where the smoke was seen, they found two steaks sizzling on a barbecue pit on an extrawide window ledge.

Pills, Oxygen Risky—AMA

CHICAGO (UPI)—The American Medical Association disapproves of pep pill swallowing and oxygen sniffing by athletes, and it isn't sure isometric exercise is a good idea, either.

The AMA's committee on the medical aspects of sports, in a joint statement with the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, said athletes, including weekend golfers, who use pep pills, oxygen and "odd dietary supplements" to improve performance will be disappointed, and they may be risking body damage.

The AMA said that such "erogenic aids agents for increasing physical and mental capacity and eliminating fatigue contribute no more to athletic success than the superstition of never changing underwear during a winning streak."

Pep pills and other such chemical aids may be dangerous because they impair judgment and lead to overexertion, the AMA said.

Wilson Aides in Political Tests

2 Key Votes in Britain Today

LONDON (AP)—Despite the political slowdown resulting from Sir Winston Churchill's illness, voters in two British election districts went to the polls today to decide whether key members of Prime Minister Wilson's Cabinet will get seats in the House of Commons.

Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker, defeated in the October general election, is running in the grimy East London suburb of Leyton.

Minister of Technology Frank Cousins is fighting for his first parliamentary seat in the midlands district of Nuneaton.

British political tradition requires that they have seats in parliament to sit in the Cabinet. Labor won both districts in October by safe margins, and both Gordon Walker and Cousins were expected to win today. But a drop in the victory margin would be damaging to the government's prestige.

Both seats are vacant because Wilson elevated the holders — Reginald Sorensen from Leyton and Frank Owles from Nuneaton — to the House of Lords.

Gordon Walker, however, is still plagued with the race issue which is blamed for his defeat last October in the Smethwick district he had represented since 1945.

Smethwick has been heavily settled by nonwhite immigrants from the commonwealth. And Gordon Walker in 1962 strongly opposed the Conservative government's curbs on commonwealth immigration.

Gordon Walker's campaign ended in a riot last night when British Nazi leader Colin Jordan and some of his partisans tangled at the foreign secretary's final rally with husky Labor party ushers.

★ ★ ★

Jordan was carried struggling from the hall with a bloody nose and cut forehead. It was the second such violence in the campaign this week.

★ ★ ★

Cousins is one of Britain's most powerful trade unionists. He was general secretary of the giant Transport and General Workers' Union — the nation's largest — from 1956 until he was named to the Cabinet last fall in a surprise appointment.

Sale of Osteopathic College Site Being Closed Today

With sufficient funds on hand and pledged to justify the purchase, authorities are closing the details today for the site on Opdyke and Auburn to house an osteopathic college.

The exact amount required will be uncertain until the committee pays the taxes now due and makes an estimate of the interest required. Many pledges were spread over 1964, 1965 and 1966.

The unpaid amounts will have to be borrowed and then repaid as the money comes in, together with the interest accrued. The ultimate total needed exceeds $390,000.

The land has been owned by a trust representing the Fisher brothers and their families. Edward F. and William A. Fisher contributed $7,500 apiece towards a realization of Pontiac's goal.

★ ★

The transaction is being handled today through the National Bank of Detroit which represents the widespread Fisher ownership.

POSSIBILITIES

The ultimate possibilities on this location in the hands of the osteopathic physicians are limitless.

With government aid, at the very outset they contemplate the investment of $6 million for the most modern osteopathic college in the world.

Considerable work remains to place the 164-acre site in shape to house the buildings that will be erected. Plans and specifications for these structures must be drawn and approved in detail.

"We are very anxious to get under way," stated Dr. Benjamin Dickinson, president-elect of the Michigan Osteopathic Association, to The Press today. "This great institution will be modern in every detail and yet will be of functional design so no money will go into frills or gingerbread.

"Osteopathy has been enjoying a tremendous upswing in the past two decades," he declared, "and our hospital facilities have lagged far, far behind in accommodations.

"We also recognize the huge upsurge in population across the country today, and our plans really contemplate an institution here that will some day total an investment of many times the original $6 million we are preparing to invest now.

"We are very happy with our location in Pontiac for you are the hub of an area that has four million people already, within easy access, and more will come.

"The entire nation is short of colleges, universities, osteopathic and medical facilities today. It will take many, many times what we are currently planning to fill the need.

"We want to thank the people of the Pontiac area for grasping this fine opportunity and assisting us as readily as they have and with the great enthusiasm they have shown. Their rapid cooperation and generosity has been an inspiration to us all."

LBJ Starts on 'Great Society'

Ideas Outlined at Inaugural Top Priority

'Must Fight Poverty, Injustice, Ignorance in Era of Fast Change'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson turns today toward the hard realities of combatting injustice, poverty and ignorance on the way to his Great Society.

In a solemn, sparely applauded address beginning his first elective term, Johnson told the nation yesterday these enemies of progress will be conquered before this generation has finished its life span.

The President spoke in an idealistic vein for 22 minutes after he had repeated the oath read to him by Chief Justice Earl Warren. His right hand raised, Johnson's left hand rested on his late mother's Bible, held for him by his misty-eyed wife.

The President's description of the kind of America he wants to see emerge from an era of "rapid and fantastic change" was couched in such uncontroversial terms that even Republicans who suspected the Great Society will involve massive new federal spending had only praise for his speech.

★ ★ ★

Politically, the document on which Johnson put the finishing touches only a little more than an hour before he delivered it was interpreted as an appeal for continuance of the consensus which resulted in his November landslide victory.

GOALS FIXED

His speech fixed humanitarian goals with which few Ameri-

'Forgotten' Man Puts Drive Over

The final big contribution toward the osteopathic hospital was a dramatic presentation.

"You haven't handled this drive too well," S. E. Knudsen, general manager of Chevrolet, challenged The Press.

His listener swallowed hard. "We thought we'd done well. We're within $7,100 of our objective."

"No one has asked me for a cent," countered Bunkie.

★ ★ ★

"Well, you're on the spot at this precise moment," he was told. "This is a direct request, and an open-handed plea from two bended knees. Will you help us close this $7,100 gap?"

HARDLY HESITATED

Mr. Knudsen hardly hesitated. "I'll give the $7,100."

Restoratives were promptly applied to the recumbent form of the local solicitor who fainted dead away.

But the $7,100 is official.

And another grand last-minute gift came from Dr. Benjamin Dickinson, Royal Oak osteopath. Dr. Dickinson loaned the first $5,000 to secure an option, when the whole thing was pretty nebulous and there wasn't any cash in hand.

'GRAND FUND'

As the gap was closing, the doctor said simply at the last full-dress committee meeting:

"I'll put my $5,000 into this grand Pontiac fund. I think the citizens of this community have done a wonderful job and I'm happy and proud to take part with them."

Chinese Call for Ouster of New Russian Leaders

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China, speaking through its Albanian mouthpiece, today called the new leadership of the Soviet Union an "ulcer that must be removed and removed with a courageous operation by revolutionary Communists."

It was the first time since former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev fell from power last October that Red China has backed a call for the removal of his successors.

The tacit endorsement came when Peking's New China News Agency broadcast a 3,500 word editorial from Zeri I. Popullit, the official newspaper of the Albanian Communist Party.

Albania is Red China's only European ally in the Sino-Soviet feud. The New China broadcast was monitored here.

An article on the principles of Leninism said "It would be madness to consider that a new world war would speed up man's transition to socialism."

NO REFERENCE

(The article did not refer specifically to Red China.)

Red China's ideological dispute with the Kremlin developed while Khrushchev was still in power in Russia.

Later he was replaced as Premier by Alexei Kosygin and as boss of the Soviet Communist Party by First Secretary Leonid Brezhnev.

OVERTURES FAIL

But the peace overtures appeared to have failed when Kosygin and Brezhnev promised to continue Khrushchev's policies.

Since then, Peking has attacked the new leadership of Soviet Russia but always in the form of a warning that they must change their ways.

Five Inauguration Balls Attended by Johnsons

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bit tired but beaming, President Johnson celebrated his inauguration at all five of his jam-packed inaugural balls. But he had to admit:

"Never have so many paid so much to dance so little."

It was an exuberant evening for the First Family and for Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey.

In fact, Humphrey became so exuberant at one point that he wished for success and happiness for the administration in the next four years "and then we'll continue on for four more years."

It seemed every one of the expected 25,000 went to the dances at the National Guard Armory, and the Mayflower, Statler-Hilton, Shoreham and Sheraton-Park hotels.

FINAL STOP

Johnson was grateful and told the crowd at his final stop—the Sheraton-Park ballroom: "This has been a great day and a great night."

After working through the throngs that taxed his heavy Secret Service detail, the President concluded: "One thing I can say about the Great Society — it sure is crowded."

Though he celebrated happily last night, accompanied by his wife, daughters, their dates, the Humphreys and inaugural officials, the President was ready to get back to work. He told a reporter as he drove back to the White House at 12:30 a.m. that he'd be at work early.

★ ★ ★

In fact, he admonished the ballgoers: Don't stay up late. There's work to be done. We're on our way to the Great Society."

Gunshots Fell Iran Premier

Condition Listed Good Following Operation

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Premier Hassan Ali Mansour was shot twice today as he left his car to enter Parliament. Surgeons gave him a good chance to live.

The government announced a youth identified as Mohammed Bokharaei, 20, had been arrested as the attacker. It gave no indication of his motive.

Mansour was in surgery for 3½ hours for the removal of bullets from his throat and spleen. Doctors called the operation successful.

Mansour's brother, Javad, told newsmen: "He is improving and there is a 95 per cent hope for his life."

★ ★ ★

The premier was shot as he was about to enter Parliament to present five new oil agreements Iran signed this week with major oil companies. Under the agreements, Iran will receive 75 per cent of the income from oil production and $185 million in cash.

ECONOMIC EXPERT

Mansour, 41, was named premier by the shah last March. An expert in economic and social affairs, he headed the New Iran party, composed mainly of progressive intellectuals versed in economics and social matters.

Churchill Still Struggles On

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill — reported Wednesday night to be at a very low ebb — today continued his valiant struggle.

A medical bulletin, issued at 12:16 p.m. said: "There is no change in Sir Winston's condition. There will be a further bulletin this evening."

Seven days after he was felled by a stroke, the 90-year-old statesman is in a semi-coma, but with momentary fleeting signs of consciousness.

Only members of the family inside the Churchill home at the time of the medical bulletin were Lady Churchill, 79, and young Winston Churchill, grandson and namesake of Britain's wartime prime minister. He is the son of Randolph Churchill.

★ ★ ★

It was the 14th medical bulletin since Churchill suffered a stroke last Friday.

LONGER SPAN

There was a span of 52 minutes from the time Lord Moran, the elder statesman's doctor and lifelong friend, went to his patient's bedside, and the announcement of the bulletin. This was longer than usual.

Reporters noted that Lord Moran looked less gloomy than Wednesday night.

Install Bateman as Chief of Local Realtors at Fete

A crowd of nearly 500 turned out for the 49th Annual Banquet of the Pontiac Board of Realtors last night at the Elks Temple.

They watched Thomas P. Bateman, 3145 St. Jude, Waterford Township, take over the presidency of the board from Philip E. Rowston, retiring president.

Featured speaker of the evening was Dr. J. Philip Wernette, professor of business administration, University of Michigan. His subject was "Building America."

Rowston was presented with a silver double chafing dish in recognition of his work with the board during the past year.

Bruce J. Annett was presented with a plaque naming him "Realtor of the Year" for his work in the local, state and national associations.

Annett in turn presented a plaque to the Pontiac Motor Division "in appreciation for the confidence and support of the community."

Other officers installed last night were Helen Hagstrom, vice president, Claude McGruder, secretary and Kenneth G. Hempstead, treasurer.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer acted as toastmaster, and organist Jack Hagan provided dinner music.

Fire Chief Cites Short Water Supply

Fire Chief James R. White said yesterday a serious situation could develop on the north side of Pontiac because of a lack of sufficient water to fight fires.

The chief made the statement in reference to a $60,000 fire which destroyed Smith Standard Service at 1430 Joslyn Friday night and Saturday morning.

White said a big obstacle his men had to face at the fire was the shortage of readily available water.

But something even worse than the service station fire could occur, he said.

★ ★ ★

"If the school (Malkim School) were to ever get going, we could have a real serious situation," White said.

BROKE OUT

The weekend fire broke out shortly before 10 p.m. Friday when an acetylene cutting torch ignited a small pool of flammable liquid on the floor of a stall in the garage.

Men working in the garage first attempted to move a fully loaded oil tank truck which was parked in the garage, but flames from the

Dock Workers Ballot on Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — A possible early end to the crippling Maine-to-Texas dock strike was in the hands of striking New York longshoremen today, as they voted a second time on a contract they rejected two weeks ago.

Thomas W. Gleason, president of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association, says he has received enough petitions and telephone calls to assure acceptance of the proposed contract with the New York Shipping Association.

But even if his prediction proves correct, contract disputes in other ports could prolong the 11-day walkout that has idled 343 ships on the East Coast.

Some 60,000 men are idle and estimates of the cost to the national economy range from $20 million to $67 million a day.

Hospital May Shift Patients From Pontiac

Pontiac General Hospital Administrator Harold B. Euler said today that a new program designed to transfer long-term patients to nursing homes could affect between 5 and 10 per cent of the patients at the city hospital.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac General is one of five hospitals that will participate in the program announced following a three-year study by United Community Services (UCS) of Metropolitan Detroit.

The plan is expected to lead to better care for the chronically ill while reducing the over-all cost per patient.

Euler explained that while the plan may affect some 25 patients at Pontiac General, a transfer can only be made with the consent of a patient and his doctor.

★ ★ ★

Continued coverage to subscribers involved in the transfer has been agreed to by Michigan Blue Cross and 10 private hospital insurance companies.

TALKS BEGUN

According to Euler, talks already have begun between officials at the 391-bed hospital and the Seminole Hills Nursing Home, 532 Orchard Lake Ave., to work out an organizational program in the transfer of patients.

Seminole Hills Nursing Home was selected by the UCS as the facility to cooperate with Pontiac General in the program.

Selma Voting Board Recesses

EXERTING AUTHORITY — Sheriff Jim Clark of Dallas County, Ala., stands in front of a group of Negroes attempting to register to vote at the county courthouse in Selma. The sheriff used his authority to make arrests in the city, bypassing the municipal police.

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — With the voter registration board in recess, Negroes turn their attention back to restaurants and other public facilities in Selma today in a continuing civil rights campaign.

They talked about renewed efforts to get service at a downtown drug store where one group was turned away Monday and perhaps at three others whose lunch counters they found closed.

The right-to-vote drive which sent 225 Negroes to jail in two days was halted temporarily because the registration board completed a three-day week Wednesday and recessed until Monday.

See Analysis, Page A-5

County officers under Sheriff James G. Clark, who had been content earlier in the week to arrest Negroes only at the courthouse, spread out into the city Wednesday afternoon to take three civil rights marchers into custody and bring the arrest total for the day to 159.

OVER JURISDICTION

Except for the 156 Negroes jailed earlier in the day because of another courthouse march and the 66 arrested Tuesday, it was the first time in months that the sheriff's deputies had gone into the jurisdiction of the city police to make arrests.

And they did it in plain view of municipal officers who were following the Negro marchers back to a church. City police found no cause to arrest the Negroes because, they said, they saw no violation of law.

The sheriff's officers picked the Negroes up on "suspicion."

Under Alabama law, the sheriff is the chief law enforcement officer in the county and has jurisdiction within the city limits if he chooses to exercise it.

HEADED GROUP

The three Negroes were walking at the head of the group which had gone to the courthouse Wednesday afternoon in still another unsuccessful effort to register.

★ ★ ★

They were told they could go in one of the two main entrances to the court house but not in the other. Rather than be told which door to use, the Negroes turned around and went back to the church where the march had begun. No attempt was made to arrest them until they approached the church.

★ ★ ★

A bomb scare brought a flurry of uneasiness during the afternoon at the same church, Brown's Chapel AME. Police searched the building after an anonymous telephone caller said a bomb would explode at 4:45 p.m. None was found, and Negro boys and girls attending a youth meeting went on with their work.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who led the civil rights movement for the first two days, left Selma Tuesday night for an out-of-state speaking tour but promised to return Friday and take command again.

Troops Surround Headquarters

Viet Buddhists Under Virtual Siege

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese infantrymen placed Saigon's Buddhist headquarters under virtual siege today after the Buddhist campaign to overthrow Premier Tran Van Huong touched off a street scuffle.

★ ★ ★

Inside the headquarters five leading monks went into the second day of a "fast to the death" unless Huong resigns. Only newsmen, monks and workers in the Buddhist organization were allowed to enter the main pagoda building where the monks were lying on cots under mosquito nets.

The infantrymen arrived after police clashed with a crowd of 30 youths heckling them outside the headquarters. Police arrested 10 of the youths.

The government also announced the arrest of 12 others in a riot Wednesday night.

The troops strung barbed wire outside the headquarters to head off further trouble.

The Buddhists closed their headquarters and one of the fasting monks said it would remain closed for the duration of the hunger strike as a further gesture of protest against Huong and his government.

Huong, however, showed no sign of yielding. Since becoming premier on Oct. 30, he has steadfastly refused to bow to pressure from the Buddhist leaders, and the military has backed him up.

★ ★ ★

Paratroopers and police used tear gas, clubs and rifle butts Wednesday night to disperse Buddhist followers during a three-hour riot.

Saigon's military governor, Pham Van Dong, warned that the 1-to-4 a.m. curfew now in effect would be extended unless the disturbances end.

The leader of the hunger strikers is Thich Tam Chau, the chief of the local Buddhist institute and a leader of the Buddhist agitation which helped to overthrow President Ngo Dinh Diem.

On th military front, U.S. sources said that the Vietnamese air force was making a determined effort to drive the Communists out of the Boi Loi forest about 30 miles west of Saigon. The sources said Vietnamese Skyraiders flew 137 sorties so far this week and further bombings were expected.

The air force is believed dropping 1,000 pound bombs in an effort to destroy deep tunnels occupied by the Viet Cong.

★ ★ ★

A U.S. military spokesman said that five U.S. soldiers were wounded in their helicopters by fire from the Communist Viet Cong in a major military operation in sugar cane fields 20 miles southwest of Saigon.

Claims Reds Open New Laos Attack

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Military sources reported today that Communist forces have apparently opened a winter offensive in Laos.

★ ★ ★

There were indications that the new fighting was related to last week's U.S. Air Force attacks against Communist supply lines leading into Laos and South Viet Nam from Communist North Viet Nam.

Communist Pathet Lao troops were said to have launched a massive push against an isolated garrison of right-wing troops in northeast Laos. Other reports told of fighting in the South.

Two provinces involved in the offensive — Savannakhet and Attopeu — straddle the so-called "Ho Chi Minh Trail" over which North Viet Nam sends troops and weapons to assist the Communist war against South Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

The Laotian government charged yesterday that at least five battalions of Communist troops were attacking the right-wing garrison at Ban Na Kuoang near the town of Sam Neua.

2 MORE BATTALIONS

At least two more battalions were reported moving toward the area from the Pathet Lao stronghold at Xient Khouang near the Plain of Jars.

The government garrison at Ban Na Kuoang has long been a point of trouble for the Communits.

Most of its defenders are Montagnard tribesmen and the others are troops under the command of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, leader of the right-wing faction in Laos' coalition government.

★ ★ ★

The garrison is supplied by airplanes of the Royal Laotian Air Force and Air America, a private company hired by the U.S. Aid Mission here to drop food and medicine to isolated army outposts and refugee settlements.

★ ★ ★

The Pathet Lao have charged that Air America also drops weapons and is a clandestine arm of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

School Official Wins Award

Waterford JCs Pick 64's Top Young Man

Robert Lawyer, coordinator of the Waterford Township community school program and township recreation director, last night was named outstanding young man of the year by the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Honored by the Jaycees as the outstanding boss of the year was Lewis A. (Bud) Goff, township fire chief.

Both awards were presented at the Waterford Jaycees' annual Bosses' Night Banquet at Airway Lanes.

Last year's outstanding young man, Superintendent of Waterford Schools Don O. Tatroe made the presentation to Lawyer. Max Adams, manager of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce and the 1964 boss of the year, awarded a plaque to Goff.

★ ★ ★

Lawyer, 30, became director of the recreation department in 1961 after five years of recreation work in the Cleveland area. He was named community school coordinator last September.

CHIEF IN 1963

A member of the Waterford fire department for 15 years, Goff was named chief in May, 1963. He was nominated for the boss of the year award by fireman George Howard.

Both award winners have been active in various civic projects.

Goff, who is married and has five children, lives at 130 S. Tilden. Lawyer, married and the father of two, lives at 3226 Indianview.

Speaker for the program was Rev. Philip Townley, pastor of First Methodist Church, Warren. His topic centered around three factors an individual must utilize to help reach his full potential.

THREE FACTORS

Cited by Rev. Townley were the use of friendship to help develop self confidence on the basis that this friendship was earned due to admirable qualities, facing up to fears and fuller development of ideas.

Ted McCullough, president of the Waterford Jaycees, opened and closed the program and Whit Carnahan, first vice president, served as toastmaster.

Entertainment was provided by a mixed choral group composed of Waterford-Kettering High School students.

Board of Education Acts on School Construction

BIRMINGHAM — The expansion of Birmingham School District's physical facilities was advanced this week by several board of education actions.

Construction contracts tentatively were awarded for an eight classroom addition to Meadow Lake Elementary School.

Board members stipulated that the contracts be awarded subject to negotiation with the low bidders.

Some $28,000 will have to be trimmed from the cost to bring the total within the original estimate of $275,000.

★ ★ ★

Lowest of six bidders on the general construction work was the Charles Fromm Co. of Grosse Pointe Woods, $184,740.

TO AWARD CONTRACTS

Contracts also are to be awarded to Jack A. King of Pontiac, whose $46,449 bid was the lowest of 10 for the mechanical work, and Yauch Electric Co. of Detroit, which submitted a $23,456 bid as the lowest of nine.

The Meadow Lake addition, to be completed by September, will increase the school's capacity from 450 to 650.

Drawings and specifications for the new Evergreen Elementary School and an addition to Valley Woods Elementary School also have been approved.

The structures are being designed jointly by Caudill, Rowlett and Scott Associates of Houston, Tex., and Smith and Smith Associates of Royal Oak. Both are to be ready for the beginning of classes in the fall.

EVERGREEN SCHOOL

Evergreen School, designated as the base for a pilot team-teaching program, will have a 750-pupil capacity and cost about $825,000.

The $270,000 addition to Valley Woods will include a library, kindergarten room, four classrooms, added storage area, an enlarged kitchen and assembly facilities.

★ ★ ★

The board also cited the necessity of expanding the Walnut Lake Elementary School site through the purchase of an adjacent two-acre parcel and of a five-acre site it owns on Hickory Lane through the purchase of three acres of property.

blaze spread quickly, preventing the exit.

The first fire fighters on the scene attacked the blaze with water from the booster tank on their truck, White said.

★ ★ ★

When other engine companies arrived they found that the nearest fire hydrant was about 2,100 feet away.

HOSE SPLICED

There is a hydrant on Walton near Laurel, and one on Joslyn at the corner of Peacock, the chief said.

Being 2,100 feet away (the distance of seven football fields placed end-to-end), hoses had to be spliced and pumpers had to be used at relay points in the hose line to keep the water pressure at an effective level, White said.

"Laying lines and setting up relays takes time," he said.

★ ★ ★

In a fire of this proportion, involving flammable liquids, time is at a premium, the chief noted.

AT THE SCENE

Ten pieces of equipment and 36 firemen were at the scene of the blaze at one time or other during the night.

Firemen from the new north side station were the first on the scene, White said.

"They and the others put in yeoman service during that fire," he added.

★ ★ ★

The fire department also is still understaffed by about seven men, Chief White said.

"But a fireman can't put out a fire without an ample water supply," the fire official said.

LBJ Calls for Unity in Inaugural Address

The inauguration of LYNDON BAINES JOHNSON at noon yesterday came as the solemn note in three days of inaugural gaiety unmatched in the National Capitol.

JOHNSON

After taking the oath of office on a Bible held by his wife, the 36th President of the United States delivered his inaugural message, just as had the country's first President, GEORGE WASHINGTON, 175 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Vice President Hubert Humphrey had been sworn into office minutes before.

There could be no doubt that the specter of the tragic circumstances under which the President took a similar oath little more than a year ago was before him as he again pledged "to do my best."

JOHNSON spoke for 22 minutes in a slow, thoughtful, at times emotional, cadence, as he restated basic American principles — Justice and Liberty — and called on his countrymen for a spirit of unity to implement them.

★ ★ ★

It was no time for political coloration, and none was voiced. The concept of the Great Society was again spelled out as not the "ordered, changeless and sterile battalion of the ants," but rather "the excitement of becoming — trying, probing, falling, resting and trying again . . . but always trying and gaining always."

The address was praised by both Democratic and Republican leaders as a timely, inspirational and statesmanlike message worthy the deep consideration of all Americans.

European Road Deaths Pass Those of U.S.

To compare the appalling casualties on American highways with the even more shocking fatalities of many foreign countries would be a dire example of damning ours with faint praise.

Nevertheless, in Britain, France and West Germany, having a combined total of motor vehicles but a third that of the United States, the number killed in traffic accidents last year was about two-thirds of the U.S. toll.

Most dangerous place to drive is West Germany, where the 1964 fatalities jumped 16 per cent to nearly 16,000. French traffic deaths went up 13 per cent, British 11 per cent, to a combined total of 18,000.

The number of cars in each of the three countries is roughly equal — between 7 and 8 million.

The Grim Reaper, it is tragically apparent, harvests a greater highway yield in the Old World than in the New.

U.S. Business Faces Sales Job in Colleges

It is ironic that free enterprise—trademark of the American way of life — is being increasingly bypassed by young America as a way of making a living.

Colleges across the country report that more and more graduates are shying away from corporate careers to enter such fields as law, medicine, teaching, scientific research and public service, including the Peace Corps.

Why? Here are some of the reasons given by the young reluctants:

- Too much high pressure.
- Too much conformity.
- Too much planned obsolescense.
- The design of your tie makes too much difference.
- A sales job? Who wants to spend his life in a grubby hotel room?

And a typical symbolization of the American business executive in many an undergraduate mind was "a man in a gray flannel suit with a Martini and an ulcer."

This is not the image that American business wants or deserves. But it is the image that apparently is getting through to enough young potential business leaders to leave corporate hiring quotas going unfilled.

Somewhere along the line something has gone haywire — either in business itself or in colleges, where the students are forming their ideas.

Whatever the cause, every effort should be made to remedy it quickly.

To remain strong and healthy, good old American business needs good young American blood.

Some Progress in Last 4 Years

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — In the long view, what was accomplished between President John F. Kennedy's inauguration four years ago and President Johnson's may not seem much. But there was progress.

MARLOW

Kennedy had no illusions when he took office Jan. 20, 1961, about what could be done, for he said: The problems facing the nation might not be solved "in our lifetime." Johnson hasn't set a timetable, either.

That he intends to push is clear. He has already hit Congress with major programs before it is back at work a month. He has promised to go overseas as part of his search for solutions, as Kennedy did.

In any four-year period a thousand events mushroom into headlines. When time blows the clouds away, just a few can be discerned as major achievements.

Two were outstanding in foreign affairs: The limited test-ban treaty and the missile crisis. But there were ominous events, too.

★ ★ ★

The treaty, signed by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union, made the world healthier to live in. But neither France nor Red China, both on the road to nuclear power, signed.

TOOK MISSILES FROM CUBA

When Kennedy forced Premier Khrushchev to take his missiles out of Cuba, he left no doubt, if the Russians had any, this country would go to war if necessary. Then American-Soviet relations improved, tension eased.

On the debit side, the American-backed war in Viet Nam against communism was dwindling in chaos. This had its own somber implications. A Communist victory may end with Red China running all Southeast Asia in time.

The NATO alliance was getting rickety when Kennedy took over. This hasn't improved. The United Nations got itself into the ludicrous position of arguing over its members' obligations, particularly the Soviet Union's, to pay their dues.

There were two major achievements at home from the joint effort of two presidents and Congress.

Kennedy had sought approval of four programs above all: An $11.5-billion tax cut, biggest in history; a civil rights bill, strongest in this century; federal aid to education; medical care for the aged through Social Security.

JOHNSON GOT FIRST TWO

He got none of them through Congress but his successor, Johnson, pushed hard and got the first two. This year Congress had hardly returned before he told them he wants the other two. And he may get them.

The Old Boy Stood On The Burning Deck

David Lawrence Says:

LBJ Right at Home at Inaugural

WASHINGTON—Lyndon Johnson loved every minute of it. He appeared to be at home even in the solemnity of the inaugural ceremony at the Capitol, where 33 years ago he started as an apprentice.

LAWRENCE

Throughout the day—as he attended luncheons and receptions, and stood in the reviewing stand pointing and clapping his hands and bestowing smiles on some of the participants in the parade—the whole event seemed like the fulfillment of a politician's dream as well as the achievement of a man who came up the hard way.

The applause for Mr. Johnson was frequent, and the President himself, attired in a business suit, looked like one of the many members of Congress who surrounded him—indeed, much like the senator and majority leader who made a fetish of skillful mixing to attain legislative ends and who did all this so naturally.

Lyndon Johnson does what comes naturally and, on the day of his inauguration, naturalness pervaded despite the inevitable dignity of some parts of the day.

★ ★ ★

But even as he finished his inaugural address, he didn't forget to pay tribute to "those close friends of mine who have followed me down a long, winding road."

FULL RESPONSIBILITY

A master politician Mr. Johnson continues to be. But now, as the full responsibility of the presidency bears down upon him after he takes over on his own the highest office in the land, the question is how this background can be helpful in producing those decisions which make the difference between statesmanship and the floundering in time of crisis that has characterized many of his predecessors.

Talking in implicit phrases and turning to domestic controversies, the President exhorted his listeners to abolish hate. There was perhaps an impression given that America's ills are of large extent and that little has been done to overcome or ameliorate them.

A significant comment was in the following paragraph of the speech:

★ ★ ★

"No longer need capitalist and worker, farmer and clerk, city and countryside, struggle to divide our bounty. By working shoulder to shoulder, together we can increase the bounty of all.

★ ★ ★

"We have discovered," continued the President, "that every child who learns, and every man who finds work, and every sick body that is made whole—like a candle added to an altar—brightens the hope of all the faithful.

"So let us reject any among us who seek to reopen old wounds and rekindle old hatreds. They stand in the way of a seeking nation."

One can classify Mr. Johnson's address as a well-intentioned and sincere plea for good behavior in our own country and in other lands.

But when he said, "We are a nation of believers" and enumerated the importance of a belief "in justice and liberty and union" as well as in freedom, he might well have added specifically that, without a firm belief in the Divine Spirit by the individual, the battle to inculcate human love, and consequently to build a unified society, will not be won.

Bob Considine Says:

Death Vigil Gives Scribe a 'Half-Buzzard' Feeling

LONDON — People, places — and vigils.

A reporter assigned to a death watch tends to keep his coat collar turned up and the brim of his hat turned down.

CONSIDINE

He would prefer not to be seen almost like a man being pinched in view of a camera.

He feels himself a hybrid — half - historian, half-buzzard.

It is worse if you know the people concerned.

I couldn't look at Joe Dimaggio's tortured face as he walked behind Marilyn Monroe's casket in the pathetic little procession that led across a Hollywood cemetery from the chapel to the place reserved for her in a barren wall.

I was physically afraid he'd look back and see not a sympathetic friend but just a bloke attending to another day's reportorial stint.

★ ★ ★

In August 1963, at the door of a Boston hospital where prematurely born Patrick Bouvier Kennedy lay near death, the departing President spotted me. He broke step with his Secret Service men, and came over and shook hands. "What are you doing here, Bob?" he asked with a puzzled look.

NO ANSWER

No answer came from me. How could I tell him I was there to cover the impending death of his son?

"Are you vacationing up this way?" JFK asked. "Yes," I said, gratefully leaping off the hook.

Whenever Randolph Churchill emerges from his father's place at 28 Hyde Park Gate, I find myself moving behind a cameraman or a cop.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps this is a preposterous pretension, to be frowned upon by old-time editors and young-time deans of journalism schools. But there it is.

In Washington:

U.S. Air Raids Test Red China

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The U.S. air strikes in Laos on the Red supply routes to South Viet Nam are a test — to prove Red China is a paper tiger.

These air strikes won't destroy many of the Red supplies coming down the Ho Chi Minh "trail" to the Viet Cong in the south or knock out any significant number of the northern Red soldiers or advisers moving through Laos into South Viet Nam.

The northern end of the Ho Chi Minh trail is a truck route. There are air targets—truck parks, refueling depots, bridges, narrow mountain roads and the points at which goods are transferred from truck to men's backs. But all of these points are too primitive to be put out of action for long by air bombings.

★ ★ ★

It would probably take a year or more, in fact, before such air bombings could even eat significantly into North Viet Nam's none-too-strong truck fleet.

But White House, State Department and Pentagon advisers are looking primarily at Peiping and Hanoi.

Some of these men believe Red China's Mao Tse-tung may shout loudly but do little or nothing.

They figure the longer this bombing goes on despite U.S. plane losses and without strong Red Chinese action, the more it will weaken the confidence of the North Vietnamese in their Red Chinese allies and dampen the spirits of the Viet Cong. It may also make the North Vietnamese worry that their factories may be a future target.

It may be true, as these men reason, that limited bombing of this type will encourage our Vietnamese allies and discourage the enemy. But Korea did not prove this reasoning.

Our experience in Greece did indicate that if enemy supply lines are effectively cut off, there is a resultant lowering of Red guerrilla morale which makes the Communist underground a less potent force.

Both Greece and Korea showed this can't be done by air alone. It takes a great deal of well-organized ground action as well. Thus far in Laos, however, this effective ground action has not been forthcoming.

American, Viet, Lao and tribal forces have been conducting periodic actions. These have not carried out a well-coordinated plan for strangling the trail.

Actually, a lot of men aren't required. Less than 100 well-trained men, organized into 30 or so three-man sabotage-demolition teams, infiltrating in relays, could keep the Ho Chi Minh road in Laos continuously out of commission. Each team would travel light and fast, stay out only a short time, then be replaced by another team, go out again after rest and recreation, taking a new supply of demolitions and rations.

A team would blow a bridge or two. Then, as fast as one was repaired, some team would hit another bridge. Isolated spots on the road could be trapped with small-but-effective mines. Each night mines would appear on a different stretch of road. Road repair dumps could be booby-trapped. Trucks could be sabotaged. The three-man teams in action would slink away into the night, avoiding fights.

The slowdowns and psychological terror that could be caused by 100 such well-trained sabotage men would multiply by many times the effectiveness of the air strikes.

Average Family Thought Its Taxes Were Reduced

We are an average family with an average income and average exemptions. This year I will pay 7.8 per cent tax on my total income as opposed to a 7.6 per cent last year. Where is the tax reduction that LBJ gave us? A liberal never gives you something for nothing, he just makes you think so.

'Does Proposed Assessment Seem Fair?'

The Michigan State Tax Commission plans to assess personal property such as refrigerators, dishwashers, ovens, ranges, hooded fans, and intercom systems.

★ ★ ★

The Oakland County Township Supervisors Association has gone on record as strongly opposing this new rate classification, and urges us to voice our feelings to our representatives at Lansing.

★ ★ ★

If this ruling goes into effect, the local assessing officers will have to come into our homes and assess the kitchen appliances, etc. Does this seem fair?

'Was Entire Assassination Story Told?'

A recent letter seeks to disassociate the responsibility for President Kennedy's assassination from the Socialist-Communist-Left by suggesting that "he may have read a few books on Karl Marx." The letter goes on to ask "who indoctrinated Ruby?", leaving the impression that he was simply a disgruntled American.

In March of 1964 Congressman Martin Dies, who served seven years as Chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, made available his background knowledge of one Jack Rubenstein. He suggests that, "if the Dallas Jack Rubenstein is not the same person as the Jack Rubenstein who was a prominent official of the Young Communist League in 1929, the Warren Commission should produce the real Jack Rubenstein or account for his whereabouts or death." Until this is done, a justifiable "pall" must necessarily hang over our assurance that the entire assassination story has been told.

Trading Is Active

Stock Mart Irregularly Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly lower early today in active trading.

★ ★ ★

Small losses outnumbered gains among key stocks. Many were unchanged.

Silver mining issues took losses following a review by Handy & Harman, refiners and fabricators of precious metals, which said that the United States ultimately will have to adopt non-silver coins.

Trans World Airlines was sold heavily on news it is calling its 5¾ per cent convertible subordinated debentures. TWA stock fell 1⅞ to 50⅝ on a slightly delayed opening block of 4,700 shares, recovering to 51¼ in later trades.

CONTINUES GAIN

Burroughs, Wednesday's most active issue, continued to ride on reports of a big gain in earnings and expectations of even better results to come this year. It rose ⅛ to 30 on an opener of 17,800 shares and expanded its rise fractionally in later dealings.

Motors showed virtually no change. Cigarette stocks were unchanged to a little higher. Drugs eased.

Opening blocks included: Sperry Rand, unchanged at 14 on 7,000.

Wednesday, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks eased .1 to 334.0.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Slot Car Racing Detroit Area's New Fad

DETROIT (AP)—This metropolitan area's newest fad—slot-car racing—can turn a shy, middle-aged housewife into race car driver with the skill and daring of any Stirling Moss.

But it's mostly for kids and has caught on to the extent that it could challenge model railroading as the kingpin of American hobbyists.

★ ★ ★

It all started a couple of years ago with kits and figure eight tracks. But commercial tracks, offering stiffer course layouts than the living room floor models, are making inroads. There are now some 30 in the Detroit area.

They are crowded daily, mostly by teen-agers. The kids each eagerly await a turn to put their cars to the test.

'WORK OFF STEAM'

"I can't think of a better way for kids to work off steam," said Robert Panke, a policeman with Detroit's Accident Prevention Bureau. "And it's an attractive way of keeping them off the streets at night."

★ ★ ★

The commercial tracks have grooves for six cars. An arm under the race car fits into the groove. Metal brushes under the track supply electricity for each car's magnetic motor from strips of copper tape alongside the grooves.

★ ★ ★

The five-inch slot-cars can zip along at 25 miles an hour, equivalent to 700 m.p.h. for a standard size auto. Each driver in the race has a remote control hand button controlling his car. Press the button, the car accelerates. Let up and it slows down.

But it takes skill and experience to learn the tricks and keep the lightweight racers out in front of the pack on the multi-curved tracks.

SHARPEST THUMBS

Kids with the sharpest thumbs can lead a challenging car into a curve too fast, forcing his pursuer to flip over. Occasionally there are mass pile-ups and sometimes a malfunction in a motor.

But the victor gets the checkered flag — just like the Grand Prix or the Indianapolis 500 — and the satisfaction of knowing, at least for awhile, that he has the "hottest car on the circuit."

1914 Light Bulb Keeps Glowing in Louisville

LOUISVILLE (AP) — A. P. Fleck and his wife have a glowing reminder of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Its a light bulb purchased just after the couple set up housekeeping in 1914.

The bulb is still in use.

Four South players at the Dallas, Tex., trials for the American team to the 1965 World Championship, chose to overcall East's one heart opening with two clubs. Four West players chose to double and four South players had no place to go but down.

★ ★ ★

The normal defense started with a heart opening. East would win with the king and continue by cashing first his ace and then his king of spades to show that he held no other spades. Next would come the ace of hearts and a small heart for West to ruff. West would continue with a third spade for East to ruff. This would give the defense the first six tricks and they still would collect one diamond and one trump for a nice 800-point profit.

Five South players were wise enough to keep their mouths shut. In all those cases, East wound up playing two diamonds and making either four or five odd.

I was one of the South players who did not overcall. It has long been a principle of mine that it does not pay to make an immediate minor suit overcall at the two level unless you have a good six card suit or better. You are playing with loaded dice because your opponents can easily outbid you with their higher suit, unless they happen to be able to double you.

This hand also shows the unfairness of duplicate. The five players who failed to overcall were properly rewarded by a gain of six International Match Points each.

Their unfortunate opponents were charged with six IMPs each through no fault of their own. There was nothing they could do against quiet opponents. Furthermore, while three of them made five odd at diamonds, the game was not the sort that anyone in his right mind would want to bid. While three no-trump would also make, there was no way to get there unless all the cards were in sight.

A—Bid four hearts. This must be regarded as a slam invitation since you have gone out of your way to show great strength.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues with four spades. What do you do now?

♠♥CARD Sense♦♣

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1♣	Dble	Pass	2♣
Pass	2♥	Pass	3♣
Pass	3♦	Pass	?

You, South, hold: ♠K1065 ♥AQ64 ♦65 ♣A32

What do you do now?

A—Bid four hearts. This must be regarded as a slam invitation since you have gone out of your way to show great strength.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

For Friday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Curb tendency to throw caution to winds. Do not argue with those with experience. Rather, try to LEARN. Exercise self-control. Then you earn added respect — and make progress.
— and make progress.
discouraged because events don't progress as you wish . . . is not wise. Perceive POTENTIAL. Discover DIFFERENT methods. Think. Analyze. Bring forth natural INITIATIVE.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20): Your attitude is being observed. Carelessness now causes serious loss. Strive for maturity. Create atmosphere of good will. Favorable if you are SENSIBLE.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22): Serious talk with mate or partner necessary. Release emotions! Express true feelings. Then others understand. Events provide key to brighter future.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22): Sense of balance important. Weigh facts. Check details. Be sure and safe. Many urge flamboyant actions. But you succeed through caution, thorough approach.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Investments highlighted. So are your creative abilities. Tonight member of opposite sex due to speak frankly. Listen and analyze. Base conclusions on FACTS.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Be aware of what persons near home base are thinking. Fulfill family needs. Cooperate with neighbors. Turn on innate charm. Utilize wonderful sense of justice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Obtain hint from LIBRA message. You need allies today. Trust one who was loyal in past. Unusual factors to be considered. Visit individual confined to home or hospital.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Exciting social evening indicated. But remember you cannot buy happiness. Be sensible where money is concerned. Say NO to one who advocates extravagance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Aim for the top. Don't compromise. Many can be "won over." Know this—act accordingly. Evening finds you impressing very important people. Finish what you start.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Subtle methods, approach necessary. Direct appeal likely to meet with opposition. Some original thinking gains your purpose. Message crystal clear by tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Your interest in unusual matters heightened. Fine for evening at theater. Important that you analyze, think and "feel." Means permit creative forces to operate.

★ ★ ★

IF FRIDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you are natural pioneer, an innovator—you were "on your own" in an emotional sense at an early age.

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for LIBRA, SCORPIO, SAGITTARIUS. Special word to TAURUS: Put forth best effort. Then one you love is made happy.

Complete Text of Inaugural Address by President Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following is the prepared text of President Johnson's inaugural address:

On this occasion, the oath I have taken before you —and before God — is not mine alone, but ours together. We are one nation and one people. Our fate and our future rests not upon one citizen but upon all citizens.

That is the majesty and the meaning of this moment.

For every generation, there is a destiny. For some, history decides. For this generation, the choice must be our own.

Even now, a rocket moves toward Mars. It reminds us that the world will not be the same for our children, or even for ourselves in a short span of years. The next man to stand here will look out on a scene different from our own.

TIME OF CHANGE

Ours is a time of change — rapid and fantastic change — baring the secrets of nature — multiplying the nations — placing in uncertain hands new weapons for mastery and destruction — shaking old values and uprooting old ways.

Our destiny in the midst of change will rest on the unchanged character of our people — and on their faith .

They came here — the exile and the stranger, brave and frightened —to find a place where a man could be his own man. They made a covenant with this land. Conceived in justice, written in liberty, bound in union, it was meant one day to inspire the hopes of all mankind. It binds us still. And if we keep its terms we shall flourish.

First, justice was the promise that all who made the journey would share in the fruits of the land.

HOPELESS POVERTY

In a land of wealth, families must not live in hopeless poverty.

In a land rich in harvest, children must not go hungry.

★ ★ ★

In a land of healing miracles, neighbors must not suffer and die untended.

In a land of learning, young people must be taught to read and write.

HAVE FOUGHT

For 30 years I have believed this injustice to our people — this waste of our resources — was the enemy. For 30 years, I have fought against it, I know it will not surrender easily.

But change has given us new weapons. Before this generation of Americans is finished, this enemy will not only retreat — it will be conquered.

Justice requires us to remember: When any citizen denies his fellow, saying: His color is not mine or his beliefs are different, in that moment he betrays America, though his forebears created the nation.

Liberty was the second article of our covenant. It was self-government and the Bill of Rights. But it was more. America would be a place where each man could be proud to be himself: Stretching his talents, rejoicing in work, important in the life of his neighbors and his nation.

MORE DIFFICULT

How much more difficult this has become in a world where change and growth seem to tower beyond the control, and even the judgment, of men. We must work now to provide the knowledge and the surroundings which can enlarge the possibilities of every citizen.

The American covenant called on us to help show the way for the liberation of man. That is still our goal. Thus, if as a nation there is much outside our control, as a people no stranger is outside our hope.

Change has brought new meaning to that old mission. We can never again stand aside prideful in isolation. Dangers and troubles we once called "foreign" now live among us. If American lives must end, and American treasure be spilled, in countries we barely know, that is the price that change has demanded of conviction.

Think of our world as it looks from that rocket heading toward Mars. It is like a child's globe, hanging in space, the continents stuck to its side like colored maps. We are all fellow passengers on a dot of earth. And each of us, in the span of time, has only a moment among his companions.

FRAGILE EXISTENCE

How incredible it is that in this fragile existence we should hate and destroy one another. There are possibilities enough for all who will abandon mastery over others to pursue mastery over nature. There is world enough for all to seek their happiness in their own way.

Our own course is clear. We aspire to nothing that belongs to others. We seek no dominion over our fellow man, but man's dominion over tyranny and misery.

But more is required. Men want to be part of a common enterprise — a cause greater than themselves. Each of us must find a way to advance the purpose of the nation, thus finding new purpose for ourselves. Without this, we will become a nation of strangers.

The third article was union. To those who were small and few against the wilderness, the success of liberty demanded the strength of union. Two centuries of change have made this true again.

TOGETHER

No longer need capitalist and worker, farmer and clerk, city and countryside, struggle to divide our bounty. Together we can increase the share of all.

We have discovered that every child who learns, every man who finds work, every sick body made whole — like a candle added to an altar —brightens the hope of all the faithful.

Let us reject any among us who seek to reopen old wounds and rekindle old hatreds. They stand in the way of a seeking nation.

Let us now join reason to faith and action to experience, to transform our new unity of interest into a new unity of purpose. For the time has come to achieve progress without strife and change without hatred: Not without difference of opinion, but without the deep and abiding divisions which scar the union for generations.

KEPT FREEDOM

Under this covenant — of justice, liberty, and union — we have become a nation; prosperous, great, and mighty. And we have kept our freedom.

But we have no promise from God that our greatness will endure.

★ ★ ★

We have been allowed by him to seek greatness with the sweat of our hands and the strength of our spirit.

I do not believe the great society is the ordered, changeless, and sterile battalion of the ants.

ALWAYS GAINING

It is the excitement of becoming — always becoming, trying, probing, falling, resting, and trying again — but always gaining.

In each generation — with toil and tears —we have had to earn our heritage again.

★ ★ ★

If we fail now, then we will have forgotten in abundance what we learned in hardship: that democracy rests on faith, freedom asks more than it gives, and the judgment of God is harshest on those who are most favored.

If we succeed, it will not be because of what we have, but what we are; not because of what we own, but what we believe.

NATION OF BELIEVERS

For we are a nation of believers. Underneath the clamor of building and the rush of our day's pursuit, we are believers in liberty and justice and in our Union. We believe every man must some day be free. And we believe in ourselves.

That is the mistake our enemies have always made. In my lifetime — in depression and war — they have awaited our defeat. Each time, from the secret places of the American heart, came forth the faith they could not see or even imagine. It brought us victory. It will again.

For this is what America is all about. It is the uncrossed desert and the unclimbed ridge. It is the star not reached and the harvest sleeping in the unplowed ground.

Is our world gone? We say farewell. Is a new world coming? We welcome it — and will bend it to the hopes of man.

I will lead as best I can. But look within your own hearts — to the old promises and the old dream. They will lead you best of all.

For myself, I ask only in the words of an ancient leader: "Give me now wisdom and knowledge that I may go out and come in before this people: For who can judge this, thy people, that is so great?"
