McCarthy OKs Use of Calls

Senator, Welch Agree to Admit Key Messages

Pair Reaches Decision Following Get-Together in Private

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy today agreed to permit use in the McCarthy-Army hearings of his monitored telephone calls with Army officials.

McCarthy and Army Counsel Joseph N. Welch agreed that all monitored telephone calls between Pentagon officials and senators, including McCarthy, should go into the public record.

Welch and McCarthy further agreed that efforts should be abandoned to make public calls involving other key figures in the dispute—calls between administration officials only, and calls involving Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, aides to McCarthy.

McCarthy and Welch had a conference outside the hearing room and returned to announce their understanding.

Welch said the hearings subcommittee should recognize the "inescapable fact" that disclosure of calls within the administration is barred by President Eisenhower's directive forbidding testimony on conferences between administration officials.

He said it also should recognize McCarthy has taken the consistent stand that if these calls are not introduced, all the others should not be.

McCarthy said he agreed with Welch but if the other senators were going to put their calls into the record, he would agree to put in his.

The upshot of the McCarthy-Welch agreement — unless overturned by the subcommittee itself or later developments—would be that calls involving senators, including McCarthy, would be made public—but no others would be.

The Welch-McCarthy understanding climaxed an hour's debate in the hearing room on the issue of the monitored calls.

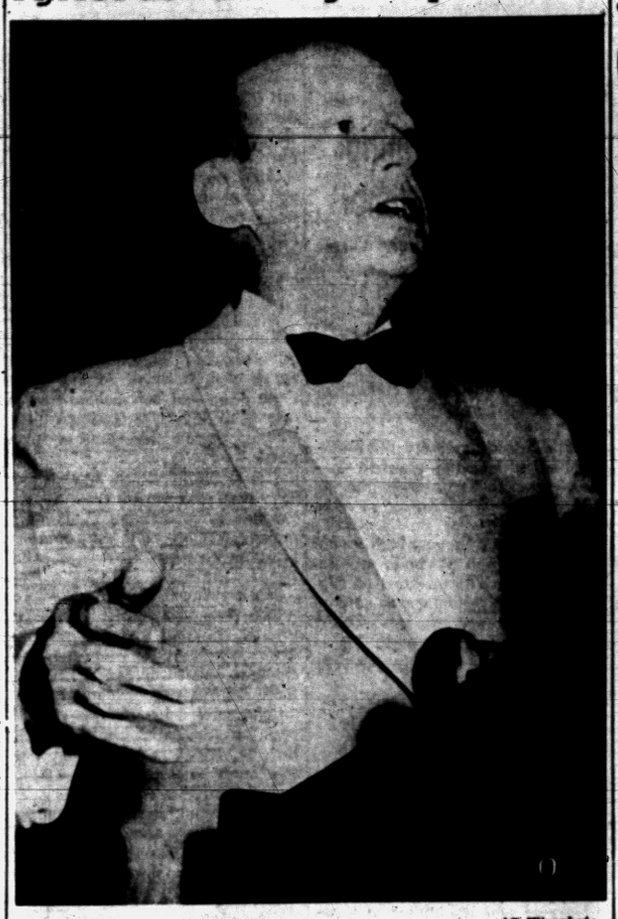

In one uproarious moment, Sen. Symington (D-Mo) shook a consent agreement for release of monitored calls at McCarthy and called on him to sign it.

Chairman Mundt (R-SD) banged his gavel and called for order.

"Now, Mr. Chairman, let's don't

Senate-House Confab Faces Ike Housing Bill

Upper Chamber Gives Overwhelming OK to Most Provisions

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's housing program, fresh from an overwhelming victory in the Senate, was ready today for a Senate-House conference in which public housing was the chief point in dispute.

The senators late yesterday shouted approval of the overall housing legislation providing liberalized government insured credit for home buyers, a stepped-up slum clearance program and new safeguards aimed at preventing any future abuses in government-aided housing.

By a 66-16 count—the only roll call vote on the complex measure—they also endorsed Eisenhower's controversial request for authority to build 35,000 new public housing units a year over the next four years.

The House version contains no such provision, public housing having been rejected there by a vote of 211-176.

Chairman Capehart (R-Ind) of the Senate Banking Committee, announcing a Senate-House conference committee to work out a compromise bill would start a week from today, predicted in an interview that the joint group would okay at least some public housing and that the House would accept it.

Yesterday's Senate roll call followed an unusual behind-the-scenes maneuver in which Republican and Democratic leaders joined hands so that A) GOP chiefs could get smashing approval for an administration request and B) Southern Democrats could go on record without the segregation issue.

Other major provisions in the Senate measure are:

1. Lower down payments and longer repayment periods for home mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

Down payments would drop on an $8,000 new home from the present $650 to $400 and on a $16,000 home from $3,200 to $2,200. Repayment periods would go to 30 years across the board on all new homes.

2. No change in the maximum FHA-insured $2,500 home repair loan program, repayable in three years. Lenders would take 20 per cent of the risk on each of these FHA-insured loans.

3. A program for more effective slum clearance, with federal grants to communities to clear blighted areas.

But the Senate refused to take Eisenhower's program for no-down-payment, 40-year FHA-insured mortgages for low-cost homes in slum-cleared areas. It voted to require a 5 per cent down

Catholics Slain in Bloody Stand Inside Seminary

Commies Overwhelm Garrison Near French Supply Road

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Communist-led Vietminh rebels have scored two bloody successes in the Hanoi delta.

One posed a new threat to the vital French lifeline between Haiphong and Hanoi.

The other turned a Roman Catholic seminary into a battleground where hundreds died in hand-to-hand combat.

Wave after wave of Vietminh troops crushed the stubborn defense of the 60 Vietnamese manning the garrison at Cho Moi, 24 miles southeast of Hanoi and only 9 miles south of the Haiphong-Hanoi road.

Over this road are convoyed supplies and equipment landed at Haiphong harbor.

Cut off by the Vietminh for nearly three weeks and under almost constant rebel assault during the past seven nights, the defenders smashed five assaults last night before the Vietminh tide overwhelmed them. How many Vietnamese escaped death or capture was not known, a French high command spokesman said in recounting the battle.

Seventy-five miles southeast of Hanoi, 3,000 Vietminh smashed their way through the village of Ouanphungha against 1,000 Vietnamese and a handful of volunteer Catholic militiamen who made a seven-hour stand in the seminary.

It was "truly a battle between Communists and Catholics — religious war, a French army spokesman said.

The dead and dying fell or were thrown from windows and balcony ledges in a hand-to-hand combat that raged on the staircases and in the corridors, a French army spokesman reported. Bursting grenades pocked the seminary walls.

"Losses were extremely heavy on both sides," the spokesman said.

State Eying County Traffic to Get New Highway Routes

A State Highway Department official said Thursday in Birmingham the department soon will show Oakland County what the state plans to do in the next 10 years to ease traffic problems here.

J. Carl McMonagle, director of the department's planning and traffic division, told members of the Oakland Citizens League that the department is studying the traffic situation in the county.

He said the State Highway Department realizes Detroit's superhighways, like the new John C. Lodge Expressway, can't just end at the Eight Mile road line.

"We realize we'll have to hook them up at Detroit's limits to something that will take that traffic and go somewhere," he said.

"We don't know yet just what we'll do or where we'll undertake the projects in Oakland County, but we've just finished a Detroit Metropolitan Area traffic survey that we hope will tell us."

He said the highway department hopes to come back to Oakland County in "six months to a year" with a map of planned road projects.

McMonagle said the state should get $30,000,000 a year in 1955 and 1956 in federal aid for roads —

Wayward Pups Use One-Way Getaways

CLEVELAND (AP) — Stray dogs, "getting smart all at once to one-way streets," are getting the laugh on dog catchers, Dog Warden Al Rhoden says.

The pooches decoy a catcher's truck up a one-way street and then double back on him. The catcher can't wheel his truck around to continue the chase and Rhoden says the dogs seem to know it.

"They usually stop running then," he explained, "and just sit down and grin at us."

Dulles Stresses Necessity of Keeping Indochina Free

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles once again stressed Indochina's importance "to the peace and safety" of the United States today and called the situation there "grave but by no means hopeless."

Dulles told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the goal of Communist strategy still is to take over all of Southeast Asia. This, he emphasized, would pose a direct threat to the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand as well.

The secretary said the free nations are seeking a formula at the Geneva Conference that would end the fighting and would assure the Indochinese people their independence.

"The Communist attitude is not encouraging," he asserted, and "it is impossible to predict what the future holds."

Dulles testified before the Senate committee in support of President Eisenhower's 3½-billion dollar foreign aid program for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The cabinet officer declared: "The situation in Indochina is fraught with danger, not only to the immediate area but to the se-

Willman Seeks New DPW Site

City Manager Suggests New Garage Location in Aaron Perry Park

Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman last night proposed to move the Department of Public Works headquarters from Lake street to a 10-acre city-owned site at N. Saginaw and E. Rundell Sts. in Aaron Perry Park.

The plan was submitted to city commissioners at a special meeting in Municipal Court.

The present six-acre public works location is badly overcrowded, Willman said. Most of the paving and other public improvement work yet undone is in northern Pontiac, he explained, and the relocation would bring the department closer to its center of work.

The larger area would provide space for the future construction of a maintenance and storage garage for city equipment, Willman stated.

The city-owned former market building at 40 Mill St. could be moved to the new location and provide immediate added storage, the city manager said. Then about 90 parking meters could be installed in the Mill street location for public parking supplementing the 250-meter lot under construction behind the market.

Entrance to the proposed public works area would be made from Saginaw street, Willman said. A small station might be retained at Lake street and the rest of the lot sold, he explained.

Aaron Perry Park totals 40 acres, said City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn. About 30 acres would be left for park or other purposes, he pointed out.

Rain to Leave Until Next Week

Fair, Warmer Weather Expected for Weekend by Forecasters

Rain that has drenched Oakland County with 1.73 inches of water since Monday is expected to leave tonight and not return until next Tuesday or Wednesday.

In a five-day forecast, the U. S. Weather Bureau said scattered showers will end tonight and stay away for four or five days.

As cloudy skies continued to sprinkle the Pontiac area today, high winds swept other parts of the Great Lakes region.

Two teenagers, Mary Brown, 16, and John Bemlott, 16, drowned in Bald Eagle Lake in Minnesota when winds swamped their boat.

In Chicago, winds with gusts up to 60 miles an hour toppled 33 trees.

While storms raged around a low-pressure area over Michigan, the weather bureau predicted clearing weather for this vicinity tonight, with fair and warmer weather Saturday.

The forecast calls for a low of 44 to 48 tonight and a high near 70 Saturday.

Thursday's temperature ranged from 52 to 56 degrees. The mercury stayed in the mid-40s today in downtown Pontiac. The 8 a.m. reading was 48 and the 2 p. m. temperature 49.

Boxer Offered $5,000 to Lose

Bobby Jones Reports Bribe Attempt on Fight in New York June 11

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobby Jones, Oakland, Calif., middleweight, has reported receiving a $5,000 bribe offer to throw his fight to Joey Giardello of Philadelphia June 11 at Madison Square Garden, the chairman of the New York Athletic Commission said today.

Robert K. Christenberry said the entire case had been turned over to New York District Attorney Frank Hogan. Hogan declined comment.

Christenberry, who praised Jones and his manager Bob Melnick for prompt action in reporting the bribe attempt, said the fight would go on as scheduled.

The commission chairman gave these details:

Jones said he was twice approached in his room at the Plymouth Hotel by men he did not know. Both offered him a chance to "make a haul" if he would throw the fight.

Jones notified his manager and the two of them went to the commission office Wednesday to see Dan Dowd, the commission's executive secretary.

Not finding Dowd in his office, they went to the International Boxing Club, promoters of the Garden fights, and told the story to Harry Markson, IBC executive director.

Markison proceeded to accompany Jones and Melnick to Christenberry's office, where the story was told.

Jones earlier today denied the incident after the story of it had been broken by Bill Corum of the New York Journal American.

Paralytic Is Killed in 3-Car Collision

The paralyzed son of a Corunna manufacturer was injured fatally yesterday in a three-car collision at Telegraph and 15-Mile Rds.

Robert Gardner, 32, of Corunna died shortly after arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital here.

According to Bloomfield Township Police Chief Clark Green, Gardner's northbound car, driven by his chauffeur, Michael S. Remenar, struck a car driven by Mrs. Anne Matthews, 28, of 7100 Wing Lake Rd., Birmingham, on Telegraph.

The impact caused the Gardner car to crash into an auto driven by Fred A. Gutterman, 19, of Detroit.

Gardner and Remenar were both thrown from the auto.

Remenar was treated for minor injuries. None of the others involved was injured, police said.

Gardner, who had been a paralytic for 15 years, was the son of Lawrence Gardner, operator of the Corunna Manufacturing Co., a maker of television set cabinets.

Phones Sizzle Before Lapeer Sheriff Releases Diplomat

LAPEER (AP)—The case against Istvan Torma, 29, remained on the books today but it wasn't likely to go any further.

Diplomatic immunity apparently was a solid shield against this.

The arrests on drunk charges of Torma and two other men—a woman companion of the three wasn't arrested—touched off an international incident here yesterday.

Lapeer County Sheriff Clark Gregory, who wasn't at all sympathetic with the outcome, said Torma identified himself as second secretary to Communist Hungary's legation in Washington.

With Torma and the two other men in jail, the wires between Washington and Michigan burned.

The State Department finally obtained Torma's release from an unwilling Sheriff Gregory. But it required the department's intervention through the office of Gov. Williams in Lansing before Gregory gave up.

Torma, along with William Hart, 40, of Detroit, and Allen Bourglois, 24, of Inkster, were arrested by a deputy sheriff near Almont Wednesday night.

The deputy, Edward D'Arcy, charged all three with being drunk and disorderly.

Taken into Justice Court, Torma stood mute. A plea of innocent was entered for him, Bourglois and Hart paid respective fines and costs of $110 and $50. They were freed. But Torma wasn't, and a court hearing was set for him today.

Came then the telephone calls from Washington—and Torma's release, with Sheriff Gregory looking down his nose.

"Immunity doesn't extend to Lapeer County," the sheriff had said earlier. "Diplomats have to keep sober here the same as citizens."

Gov. Williams, though officially taking heed of the diplomatic elements, said as far as he was "personally concerned" Torma "could have stayed in jail."

"He would have been given a fair hearing in Lapeer—which is more than the Hungarian Reds gave Americans they jailed on trumped up charges," Williams said.

In a statement Williams said: "Of course, the State Department, the Attorney General's Office and the prosecutor had no choice but to honor this man's diplomatic immunity.

"We operate under a system of law in this country. And we certainly don't want to give the Communists any excuse for fresh retaliation against Americans abroad.

"I think the State Department should make it clear that we don't like Communist diplomats coming over here and violating Michigan laws under diplomatic immunity."

Under diplomatic immunity, foreign diplomats in this country cannot be arrested for any charges.

Torma's release came finally at the order of Lapeer County Prosecutor George D. Lutz, acting on instructions from the Attorney General's Office in Lansing.

Meanwhile Gregory said he had been contacted by the State Department today and ordered to submit a formal report. Gregory also said Radio Free Europe in New York had called him to get the facts in the case.

He said a spokesman for Radio Free Europe told him that diplomats from Iron Curtain countries were expected to remain within a certain radius of Washington.

Gregory said he understood Torma had been in Detroit showing Communist pictures and passing out pamphlets containing propaganda.

Archaeologist Finds Tomb 5,000 Years Old in Egypt

CAIRO (AP) — An Egyptian archaeologist says he has discovered what is apparently the oldest intact tomb ever found in Egypt. It is believed to be that of Pharaoh Sankhet, who ruled the Nile kingdom about 5,000 years ago.

The find was announced last night by Zakaria Goneim, chief inspector of the Egyptian Antiquities Department.

He said the rock tomb containing a sarcophagus of reddish alabaster was found under the ruins of a step pyramid at Sakkara, about 15 miles south of Cairo.

Goneim expects to find the golden coffin of Sankhet, a Pharaoh of ancient Egypt's Third Dynasty, inside the sarcophagus. Sankhet ruled Egypt around 3,000 B.C.

The Sakkara pyramid is located only about 20 miles from the site near the great pyramid at Giza where antiquarians are uncovering two solar boats, presumably built by the later Fourth Dynasty Pharaoh Cheops to carry his soul through the heavens after death.

Goneim said his find is "undoubtedly the most important since the discovery of King Tutankhamen's tomb in 1922." It may be even more important, he added, because

City Talking With Officials of Detroit Edison Co. to Get Off-Street Parking Land

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — Sessions with Detroit Edison Co. officials on the possibility of the city buying or exchanging property to expedite installation of an off-street parking lot for the southwest quadrant of Birmingham, have been held this week in anticipation of Monday night's informal hearing.

Jack Walker, assistant to the city manager, said "the company seems willing to cooperate" with the plan, which he said would be of mutual benefit to both parties.

The company owns property to the south and southwest of its building on Merrill. City officials have estimated an increase from the present plan of a 200-car lot to 235, in the proposed exchange.

Monday's hearing will deal largely with the spread of the $227,000 off-street parking facilities in the area bounded by the Detroit Edison Co., Merrill, Pierce and Brown streets.

Property owners and the off-street parking committee have not placed a stamp of approval on the spread of assessment, which now calls for 50 per cent from parking meter revenues and 50 per cent from special assessment.

During the business meeting the large group confirmed the election of Dr. Benjamin Bisgeier as president of the Pontiac organization. Also, Irving Steinman reported on the progress being made by the federation.

Among other things the guest speaker, who is a brother of Rabbi Sanford Saperstein of Temple Beth Jacob, said:

He continued "In Isreael the people have reclaimed an ancient land, and the ancient land has revived the people.

"The great tasks lying before the Israelis are the achievement of peace and economics stability.

much more than in recent years. "It'll help tremendously," he said.

He added that the Detroit area has priority as having "probably the worst traffic problems in Michigan."

McMonagle said the highway department doesn't plan to put more money into Woodward avenue. Woodward, he said, is becoming "just a good city street," clogged by traffic lights and roadside businesses. He added that "we'll have to build a new highway to take its place, eventually."

The highway engineer said Michigan's traffic problems can't be solved all at once.

"Meanwhile, we'll have to get better use out of what we've got," he said.

He urged local communities to ban curb parking wherever possible along state trunklines; try to zone business back from the street and use one-way streets.

"Cars parked along the sides of highways are like crust on human arteries," he said. "It cuts down traffic flow about 40 per cent.

"If merchants and motorists would just realize it," he said, "Michigan cities are going to die of hardening of the arteries — unless something is done."

The Oakland Citizens League invited McMonagle to its annual meeting in the Birmingham Community House to find out what highways, grade crossings and other projects are planned for this county.

Joseph D. Savery, of Royal Oak, League president, presided. Henry S. Booth, of Bloomfield Hills, introduced the speaker.

Dentist Asks $200,000 Judgment for Injuries From Bleacher Crash

The jury for a $200,000 damage suit growing out of a bleacher collapse at a Birmingham High School football game is being selected today in Oakland County Circuit Court. The trial is scheduled for next week.

Dr. Maurice Richards, a Royal Oak dentist who claims he suffered permanent injuries to his left leg and knee when a section of the bleachers collapsed in 1948, is suing Birmingham School District and the Atlas Portable Bleacher Co. of Detroit.

The basic question to be solved is whether a school district loses its traditional immunity from suit while performing a function for which it charges a fee.

An appeal by the school district to dismiss the suit was denied in March, 1953, by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty and the State Supreme Court refused to rule on the lower court's action.

In denying the request for dismissal Judge Doty said the bleachers were erected for only one game with the intent of accommodating more paying spectators.

Under the circumstances, Judge Doty said in his written opinion, it would seem the school should be responsible for any action of negligence. Another factor to be decided in the case is whether governmental immunity as applied to such action against school districts can be dissolved without legislation.

Four states, New York, California, Washington and Oregon have legislated away the immunity doctrine as it applies to schools.

The school's attorney claims that if the plaintiff's theory were adopted it would prevent school buildings from being used as community centers due to the risk of liability.

curity of the United States and its allies in the Pacific area.

"The area is one which is vital to the peace and safety of the United States."

Dulles told the senators that there is evidence that Soviet arms are being supplied to the Communist-led Vietminh forces in Indochina "in increasing quantities."

He said: "Communist China has been supplying to the Vietminh an ever-increasing volume of munitions and military supplies. There is also evidence that Soviet arms have been supplied in increasing quantities to the Communist force in Indochina."

He said the Communists in Indochina capitalized on local hopes for independence in order to gain control of the Vietminh movement which was primarily nationalistic at the beginning.

Dulles warned: "The plan is not only to take over Indochina but to dominate all of Southeast Asia. The struggle thus carries a grave threat not only to Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia, but also to such friendly neighboring countries as Thailand, Malaya, Burma, Indonesia, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand."

Find Oldest Tomb of Egyptian Ruler

Sankhet preceded King Tut by about 1,200 years.

Of the many ancient royal burial places located in Egypt, only those of King Tut, one of the rulers of the 18th Dynasty, and some of the 22nd Dynasty kings, have been uncovered intact. The rest had all been plundered by ancient grave robbers who stripped them of their gold and jewels.

"It was only by lucky chance that this tomb escaped being looted," Goneim said. The archeologist has been digging at Sakkara since 1951. He unearthed the ruins of the unfinished pyramid there last December.

He said the sarcophagus is about six feet long and slightly over two feet wide. The top is of solid alabaster and the mummy was placed inside through an aperture in the end. This opening was closed by a sliding alabaster panel.

"We can expect to find inside the alabaster sarcophagus a coffin of solid gold, or possibly of wood covered with thick sheets of gold," he said.

Car-Bus Crash Injures Five

Accident Takes Place on South Woodward Thursday

Five persons were injured slightly yesterday when a Detroit-bound Greyhound bus careened off a U-turning automobile onto a center island on South Woodward avenue in Birmingham.

The bus jammed against a tree, forcing the passengers to leave through the emergency exit.

Three bus passengers—Bertha Mack, 55, of Ferndale, Anna Mae Dukes, 42, of Detroit and Gertrude Peterson, 60, of Detroit—were among those treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Also treated were the driver of the auto Mrs. Isobel Kaechle of 687 Smith St., Birmingham, and her mother, Mrs. Mae Higbie, 54, of 27135 Dartmouth, Royal Oak Township.

The bus driver, Morris K. Kirkwood, 37, of 727 Golf, Royal Oak, told police he was traveling south on the inside lane when the car driven by Mrs. Kaechle made a swinging U-turn into his path.

Mrs. Kaechle said she saw the bus a block away after waiting for some other traffic to pass and believed she could have made the turn safely.

She was ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way and also for driving without an operator's license.

Dogs in the 11-Mile-Evergreen section of Southfield Township now can go back to gnawing stray bones with a certain amount of peace of mind.

Official State Police laboratory reports today show that a bone one of the hounds hauled from a small patch of woods early this week was once part of a bear's leg.

The neighborhood was all a-twitter as police fruitlessly combed the woods for other remains — perhaps human. Now it turns out it was just a bear bone.

But, anyway, the canines of the neighborhood can go back to picking up luscious-looking bones without fear of losing them to men in blue and grey uniforms — unless, that is, the bone measures about 10 inches and resembles a portion of the human anatomy.

Vietminh Winning Battles Near Hanoi

were locked in a knife and bayonet death struggle in the last stages of the corridor fighting, which began when the Vietminh forced the doors at 7:30 a.m. and ended with the final capture at 2 p.m. A Vietnamese garrison commander was among those killed.

These two fights were the bitterest battles and the greatest successes by the Vietminh in the actual delta area in recent months.

An indication that as high as 800 Vietnamese and Catholic militiamen may have been killed or captured at Ouanphungha was seen in the French spokesman's report that the command "hoped 200 to 300" survivors from the seminary fight might get back.

G. D. Hicks to Seek Sheriff's Candidacy

George D. Hicks, 48, today announced he will seek the Democratic candidacy for Oakland County sheriff in the Aug. 3 primary.

Married and the father of three children, Hicks lives at 16 N. Johnson Ave. He is a life-long resident of Pontiac and claims 22 years with the Pontiac Police Department.

Hicks was educated in Pontiac's grade and high schools and at the present time is employed as plant protection officer in a local factory.

McCarthy OK's Use of Monitored Calls

try to get anybody off the hook here," Symington told Mundt.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) asked Cohn if the Central Intelligence Agency and the FBI weren't in a better position to have current information.

"I don't know about the CIA," Cohn said.

Cohn told Jackson the FBI is not permitted, without specific authorization of the Justice Department, to give information to congressional committees about the Communist conspiracy.

Jackson commented that FBI director J. Edgar Hoover frequently testified before committees and made speeches about the Communist danger.

Cohn said the FBI's information was not available to the McCarthy subcommittee.

Welch, questioning Cohn, brought out that Schine had joined the McCarthy subcommittee staff "two or three weeks" after Cohn became chief counsel.

Cohn insisted Sen. McCarthy—not Cohn—had employed Schine as an unpaid subcommittee consultant. He said this was the result of a series of conversations, and not any written application.

Welch pressed as to whether Schine had been employed as an "investigator." Cohn wouldn't agree to that word. At one point Cohn described how Schine was to help with an investigation of the United States Information program.

"Look out," Welch interjected, "you used that word investigation."

Cohn said Schine had been making a study of the information program for years.

"From whom?" Welch asked.

"He was just doing it," Cohn replied, adding that Schine had drawn up plans for some possible changes and discussed them with State Department officials.

Cohn related how Schine refused pay for his subcommittee work. But he denied a suggestion that this made Schine "not so subject to discipline."

Ray H. Jenkins, counsel for the subcommittee, announced before the hearing recessed for lunch that John Lucas, appointment secretary to Stevens, would be in the witness chair at the start of the afternoon session.

Lucas, using an extension, took stenographic notes on Stevens' telephone conversations.

The purpose of calling him is to get a sworn identification of the transcripts of monitored calls as a preliminary to their possible introduction in evidence.

Pontiac Man Injured in Two-Car Crackup

Carl Fifield, 25, of 58 E. Longfellow Ave., was treated for forehead cuts by a private doctor after he was involved in a two-car collision at Madison avenue and Highwood Blvd. yesterday.

Fifield's car collided with one driven by Elford L. Brown, 49, of 505 Cameron Ave., as Fifield attempted to turn onto Highwood, according to Pontiac Police. Brown was uninjured.

Housing Bill Faces Senate-House Study payment with a maximum 30-year term.

4. An increase in the amount of government money available for direct loans to veterans who can't get private credit to buy homes under the GI Bill. The Senate voted to allow a total of 200 millions, double the present authorization.

5. Tight new restrictions on apartment projects built with FHA-insured mortgages so that builders cannot make "windfall" profits, as they allegedly have in the past.

6. A smog-clearance program providing FHA-mortgage insurance to cover new equipment installed by private firms and a five-million-dollar research fund.

7. Extension of the farm housing program and a new section to give farmers a chance to get government-insured mortgages without putting up their whole farm as security for the loan.

8. Continuation of the Federal National Mortgage Assn. as is, and rejection of Eisenhower's request to turn this secondary mortgage market over to private capital by easy stages.

9. A new program of FHA insurance for home-trailer mortgages.

The Senate refused to give the President these things he asked:

Flexibility in mortgage interest rates, with rates pegged to the yields of long-term government bonds; flexibility in repayment periods and down payments in the big sales housing program, so that they could be changed to fit economic conditions; equal mortgage terms for old and new houses.

Classmates Meet Girl for 1st Time at Graduation

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Betty Sheaffer met her classmates last night for the first time when she received her high school diploma.

Betty's appearance at the nearby Stowe Township High School commencement program was the first time the 22-year-old girl had even been inside a school.

She is afflicted with a rare disease that has made her almost as brittle as a china doll.

Her family says doctors have a name for it, but the simple explanation is that her bones are unable to store sufficient calcium.

Careful as she and her family have been, she's sustained more than 100 bone fractures. Her worst mishap several years ago came when she was dropped while being carried to a taxi. That time, she suffered multiple fractures of her thigh and, since then, has had to be in a wheel chair.

Her grandmother taught her at home for the first four years of her schooling. Then the township school board arranged to have a teacher visit her twice a week.

She has learned to operate a typewriter and now hopes to do secretarial work at home.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Sweet Leilani" Owens is going to marry an Air Force man.

Composer Harry Owens announced yesterday that his 19-year-old daughter, for whom he named his award-winning Hawaiian composition, is engaged to wed Air Force Pvt. Roy M. Dobric Jr., 20, of Tucson, Ariz. They met last year as students at the University of Arizona.

Owens wrote his song when Leilani was born in Honolulu.

Mundt Suggests Security Action

Drafts Bill Designed to Make Quicker Use of FBI Reports

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said today that as "a direct result" of the McCarthy-Army hearings he has drafted a bill designed to force decisive action on government employes tabed by the FBI as security risks.

Mundt, presiding over the televised hearings of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, said in an interview it didn't take the McCarthy-Army probe to convince him that "the FBI is a terrific outfit . . . doing a magnificent job as a result of which, too often, nothing happens."

He said his bill would create in the Justice Department "a division of personnel security" to which the FBI would report findings adverse to government employes. Such reports now go to the suspected worker's bosses.

"The new division," Mundt explained, "would do what the FBI will not and should not do — evaluate the information the FBI develops."

He said specialists in the division would give the information expert and fair appraisal, and then proceed to force some decisive action on the findings.

"They would hand down findings that 'in our opinion you should remove Mr. X.' for instance," Mundt said, adding that the filing of such a decision with the employing agency would automatically bring into operation all of the steps now provided by law and regulation for protection of both the government and the individual through appeal and review.

Mundt said he has mentioned the idea to Atty. Gen. Brownell and tha. Brownell termed it "interesting."

Ex-Detroit Newsman Dies in Pennsylvania

NEW YORK (UP)—Felix Holt, 56, historical novelist and a Detroit newspaper man for 24 years, died Thursday at his home in Bucks County, Pa.

The Kentucky-born Holt wrote "The Gabriel Horn," published in 1951, and "Dan'l Boone Kissed Me," published last month. Both portrayed the Jackson Purchase country of Kentucky where Holt's ancestors pioneered and where he was born.

Holt is survived by his widow, the former Margie Sies, a daughter, Mrs. Harold Taylor, of Exeter, Calif., and a grandson.

He formerly was on the editorial staffs of the Detroit News and the Detroit Times.

Man Purchases Property Under School for $85

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UP)—L. J. Meisel, attorney and City Council member, says the Cabell County School Board can have its property back if someone will pay him his $85.

He had bid that amount at tax sale on a lot, sight unseen.

He discovered later that the choice lot had a $50,000 public school building on it, the most modern in the county.

The lot, in some manner, had remained on the tax books after the school was built, and had been listed as tax-delinquent.

Woman Killed in Crash Riding With Daughter

DETROIT (UP) — Mrs. Becky Smith, 61, was killed early today in a two-car collision in Detroit.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her daughter, Mrs. Sybil Arlen, 37. The car collided with another automobile driven by Joseph Kelly, 35.

Pheasants Taking Stroll Cause Two-Car Collision

BOYLSTON, Mass. (UP) — A pair of pheasants ambling across a highway yesterday caused a two-car crash.

As Mrs. Muriel Haynes of Weston halted her car to let the pheasants past, an auto driven by George A. Crombie of Somerset bumped into her car.

The car rolled over an embankment and overturned, but Mrs. Haynes climbed out unhurt.

The birds sauntered into the woods.

science now helps you take off your fat while you eat the foods you choose

counteracts hunger

Just recently a well known scientist perfected a new tiny capsule that combines not one but ALL THE RECOGNIZED proven aids to reducing he found in all the advertised products offered today. It contains the concentrated proteins you've read and heard about. It combines the vitamins and minerals often lost when cutting off fattening foods containing these needed vitamins and minerals. It combines the vegetable cellulose that has no calories yet expands when it absorbs water thereby helping to give the feeling of a full contented stomach. Yet these tiny new capsules contain not just one but ALL the drugless reducing aids he found to be needed to actually automatically make you eat less without conscious effort and like it! In fact these tiny capsules are so packed with vitamins and minerals, protein and non-caloric filling food, they actually equal and exceed many a meat.

fat goes fast

You'll be surprised at the fat you lose the first week, the inches that disappear the first month. No hunger, no strict dieting, no drugs, no exercise. And the cost is absolutely nothing unless you grow slim, more youthful looking, more active and enjoy better health.

Reappraising Foreign Aid

In less than 10 years American taxpayers have poured out more than $60 billion on the mutual aid program.

That fact alone dictates the kind of re-examination just given this important foreign policy program by Senators Bridges and Symington. While their report advises reappraisal of the program, it has the value of bipartisanship.

Nowhere in it is there an attack on the principle of foreign aid. On the contrary its value is recognized and substantial gains resulting from it in Europe are noted.

The two Senators, however, did conclude that there are some aspects of offshore procurement which should be given further study. In their opinion some damage could result to American industries if these things aren't watched. The report also included a warning that NATO machinery is so unwieldy that it is a potential danger.

Foreign aid soon may have to be stepped up in some parts of the world, especially in Indochina, and the need for it may continue for several years. So nothing should be done to cripple our productive system which produced the $60 billion already spent.

It also is important that any reappraisal be completely objective. Its aim shouldn't be partisan advantage but rather to keep foreign aid as low as international conditions permit and to insure full return for every tax dollar spent.

FBI Gaining on Reds

Two recent news stories show that the Justice Department and the FBI are getting results from their unceasing pressure on the country's Communist leadership.

In one case a Federal Court jury in St. Louis convicted five Communists of violating the Smith Act by conspiring to advocate overthrow of our Government by force.

Several other persons branded by FBI agents as top Communists were arrested in raids in Hartford and New Haven, Conn. and in New York City. All are held on Smith Act charges and their arrests bring to 109 the number taken into custody under this act in the last six years.

In the St. Louis case, U. S. Judge Roy W. Harper congratulated the jury of 11 men and one woman on their just verdict. Conviction of the five defendants ends a 46 day trial, the longest in the history of the court. All five, out on bail pending sentence, are liable to penalties up to five years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 each.

It is gratifying to realize that every such conviction and every similar arrest help make the job of being a Communist leader in the U. S. additionally unattractive.

Don't Take This Bait

There is a lesson for everyone in a warning sounded by John W. Hirlinger, assistant manager of Pontiac's Chamber of Commerce.

On the basis of what happened in four recent local cases Mr. Hirlinger is advising against listing property with out of State real estate agents. Some of these agents not only promise sales at above market values but demand advances on their commissions.

They claim the advance payment is needed to finance extensive advertising of the property. But all the owner ever sees is a listing of it in a four page pamphlet. According to Mr. Hirlinger the local victims of this operation were taken for sums of $165 to $400 each.

The safe course in selling property, as these facts emphasize, is to list it with a reputable home town individual or firm you know. Reliable real estate operators never ask advance commissions.

Panama Canal Too Small

There is some disturbing news about the Panama Canal.

According to Capt. R. S. Fahle of Naval Intelligence the locks in the big ditch are too narrow to handle the Navy's large new aircraft carriers. This means that if required to travel between the Atlantic and Pacific these big ships would have to take the 8,000 mile, 13 day longer, route around Cape Horn.

Aircraft carriers were unheard of when Teddy Roosevelt presided over the start of work on the canal 50 years ago. The fact that they have already outgrown this manmade waterway not only is a shock but gives point to a suggestion by the Captain.

He thinks work should be started at once on widening and deepening the canal. Certainly if TR were alive today he would back this proposal and point out the defense value of keeping the canal able to serve all of our two ocean Navy.

In his campaign for it the late President rated the canal the most important foreign policy goal of his administration.

Student Confused by McCarthy Hearings, Says He's Just Running Down Own Party

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

I am a 15 year old Pontiac High student and have been watching the McCarthy hearings on television. I'm confused.

McCarthy states that he is trying to abolish Communism from the United States Government. All I can see he is doing is running down the Republican party, his party.

How can one man obtain so much power that he is able to get so many people under his thumb? He is ruining his party so much that in the next election people won't vote for a party that will allow one little man to run the whole party.

Isn't it true that Communism grows out of the dominance of too few of the government?

Freedom for All in U. S. Not Just the Majority

I would like to say that Senator Fergusor undoubtedly intends well by trying to include "Under God" in the pledge of allegiance.

Even atheistic Voltaire said "Though I wholly disagree with what you say, I will defend with my life your right to say it." We who profess Christanity often are not so tolerant. Though I am a Christian I don't try to choke it down the throat of my fellow man. "Convince a man against his will, he's of the same opinion still."

I deeply resent statements that anyone who doesn't believe in God can find nationality elsewhere. What are we coming to? This is America, where a man can be whatever religion he chooses.

Real subversives are McCarthyites, Communists, Fascists and intolerant, narrow minds. Majority cannot set the stage for freedom. Its for everyone in the U. S. A.

Britain Comes Out Flatly, Warns Reds She Won't Be Kept Waiting Too Long

By DAVID LAWRENCE

LONDON—Whatever impression the outside world may have had heretofore that the British are unaware of the dangers of a policy of vacillation with respect to the Geneva Conference can certainly be erased now as unrealistic.

For the latest comments from the press here indicate the exact opposite.

"The London Daily Telegraph," which is one of the leading newspapers supporting the Conservatives—the party which is today in power in the government — is calling for a firm statement of policy and is warning the Communists that Britain may have to consider a revision of her policy of waiting for the Geneva Conference to adjourn before making any new commitments.

Presumably this means joining the Southeast Asia security pact. "The Telegraph" had this to say the other day:

"At Geneva the negotiators are now getting nearer to grips. Discussions are at last to be held on the practical details of arranging an armistice and regrouping the rival forces in Indochina.

"That Geneva has got this far is in a sense a triumph for Mr. Eden. It is certain, too, that all his qualifications as honest broker will be tested to the full by the trying negotiations which still lie ahead.

"In the first place, it is far from evident that Communist readiness to talk about an armistice betrays any desire for an armistice, still less any readiness to make sacrifices (such as Laos and Cambodia, for instance) to reach one.

"Even supposing that they do desire an armistice, there is still the question of who is to supervise it, who to guarantee it. By what means, moreover, are we to prevent Vietminh from stealing by subtlety what they have not already seized by force?

"It must also be recognized that the indefinite protraction of the negotiations without any settlement being reached would be a triumph not for us but for the Communists. Such an indefinite continuance of the talks would make it necessary to consider a revision of the present British policy of refusing to enter into any commitments until the conference has ended.

"There is an obvious temptation to the Communists to try and keep us indefinitely at Geneva, dangling the prospect of a settlement before us like a carrot, while Indochina is simultaneously settled by force.

"Unless the United States is assured of British support, she may hesitate to commit herself further in Indochina; without further American commitment, France is unlikely to send substantial reinforcements to what many Frenchmen regard as a sinking ship, and may settle for such terms—if any—as she can get.

"We should, therefore, make it plain at Geneva that, while our desire for a peaceful settlement remains as strong as ever, unless one is reached within a reasonable time we shall have to join our Allies in seeking other ways of stabilizing the situation.

"In this way we could do much to bridge the gap which has opened between American policy and our own in the Far East. It is true that there is no rift between what our two peoples desire.

"Both long for peace, both are reluctant to commit themselves to a new Korea, both probably sympathize with Mr. Eden's sincere efforts at Geneva.

"Nor is the rift of policy between those who think a third world war inevitable and those who do not; we disagree solely on the method of avoiding it.

"In essence, the American view is that by taking a calculated risk now we shall avoid the necessity of taking far graver risks later; we think it best to try negotiation to the full. Both views can be cogently defended, and time may reconcile them.

"In the meantime, it would be disastrous if our great alliance were damaged by mutual suspicions. No doubt the Communists will do their utmost in this phase of the negotiations to drive a wedge between ourselves and the Americans; it is a danger against which we should be on guard.

"So far from endangering the prospects of a settlement, the firm statement of our policy could only enhance them. One must suppose that there are in the Kremlin—perhaps even in Peking—men who for various reasons are appalled by the prospect of a third world war. If that be so, we must be careful not to undermine their position by undue weakness.

"If we are firm, they will be able to restrain the hotheads in Indochina and elsewhere by pointing to the terrible risks they are running. How are they to restrain anyone, however, if we remain divided and impotent while Vietminh scores success after success?

"The best way of testing Communist intentions is by clarifying our own. Theirs are not inflexible in detail; they depend to a great extent on ours. There would be no greater mistake for the Communists than to imagine that whatever happens we intend to do nothing."

Stabilize Child's Emotions by Teaching Independence

Ellen is just like thousands of coeds who drop out of college the fall term. For she is still at the kindergarten stage, emotionally. She can't stand it to sleep away from home. Send for the "Teen-Ager Test" below and rate your children before you send them away to summer camp.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case L-323: Ellen H., age 16, went to a summer camp last year.

"But she got so homesick and frightened, that we had to drive down and get her the next morning," her Dad informed me.

"She was crying and hysterical. She just couldn't stand to be away from home.

"I hadn't realized how molly-coddled Ellen was till then. So what can we do to teach her to stand on her own feet socially?

Summer camps are ideal for children, especially those conducted by the Boy Scouts or church and religious groups.

Mrs. Crane and I have sent all of our 5 kids to a church summer camp every year from the 7th grade through high school.

But you parents must realize that your own assurance and independance can't be transferred to your child!

He must learn to adjust by his own experience! And this is a gradual, step-by-step process.

Thousands of college students drop out the fall term just because they are so lonely they can't stand it. Nostalgia can be a terrible thing.

Thousands of men in military service likewise went A. W. O. L. because they were not trained by their parents to stand alone, socially.

This education should begin early. Give your firstborn a baby brother or sister within 2 years.

Take him to Sunday school at least by the time he can first toddle.

Get him used to a loving, friendly baby sitter. Before you leave for a date with your husband or wife, reassure him that you will be back soon.

And let him know that his beloved, friendly baby sitter will be with him during your absence.

Let him have a toy bedfellow to help bolster his courage, such as a wooly lamb or cloth monkey or teddy bear, etc.

Later encourage him to spend an afternoon or a meal with a pal. Expand this ultimately to his sleeping away from home for a night, as with that pal, or at his grandparents' home.

Show him how to win friends, even during the early grammar school years, by paying compliments to his pals.

Socialize him with a pet, such as a puppy or kitten. Teach him the sports and games of his age so he feels at least average at catchng or batting a ball, and riding a bicycle, as well as taking a bus ride alone.

Don't move any more often than absolutely essential, for this throws him out of contact with his former pals and into a strange, fearsome environment.

But if your husband's work compels you to move, then be sure you schedule quick parties for your child to bring the other kids of the neighborhood into your home.

This will give him some quick prestige and enable him to get acquainted faster. You parents must help widen his social contacts.

But gently encourage him to fend for himself. By all means let him go to Scout Camp or a church camp, but be sure he has close friends along.

And shower him with mail during his stay at camp even though he fails to write you parents more than a single postcard all week.

If it is his first trip away, and visitors are invited, try to get up to see him. But don't make over him. Be casual if he is casual.

For he may be dying to see you, yet will affect a studious indifference before his pals to avoid being thought "sissy."

Send for my "Test for Teen-Agers" enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime. Use it to rate your child's emotional maturity.

Don't Laugh! American Diet Deficient in Two Vital Things: Iodin and Calcium

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Came a clipping in the mail the other day — a columnist convulsed his readers with some droll comments on The 7 Keys to Vite.

The particular keys the humorist chose for his piece were, if I remember, belly breathing, nudity and somersaults.

The humorist made no allusion whatever to the seventh key, namely, the rejuvenation diet.

This is a corrective protective diet, a regeneration diet, a reduction diet, a model or pattern on which to build your own everyday diet, as described on page 43.

The skeleton diet outlined there supplies all the vitamins and minerals one requires to maintain health and vite, with the exception of iodin.

It is virtually impossible today to get enough iodin to maintain good nutrition in the food or drinking water in the Great Lakes basin, middle west, the great plains, Rocky Mountain region and far west.

Fortunately nearly everybody in these areas where soil and water and home grown animal or vegetable food are poor in iodin, does get some from imported foods, especially sea food and-or from the use of iodized salt instead of ordinary salt.

One of the physiological functions of calcium is regulation of excitability of nerve fibers and nerve centers.

In other words, calcium is a natural sedative, or, say, it tends to steady the "nerves."

I believe the calcium deficiency from which most Americans suffer, particularly the younger generation brought up on refined, processed food — food robbed of its natural vitamins and minerals — accounts for the increasing consumption of aspirin, acetanilid, barbiturates and alcohol, which should be a matter of grave concern to sober citizens.

Trouble is there are so few perfectly sober citizens nowadays . . . what with cocktails thrust upon everyone indiscriminately as a specious social amenity.

To consumers of aspirin, acetanilid, barbiturates and-or alcohol, I suggest this: Calm your weak, sensitive "nerves" by following a high calcium diet and supplementing your diet with a good daily ration of calcium and vitamin D, as described in booklet The Calcium Shortage, for which send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed.

Cloak and Dagger Feeling in Every Room at Geneva

By EDDIE GILMORE
For Hal Boyle

GENEVA (AP) — Always a city famed for international intrigue and just plain spying, Geneva today has a cloak and dagger atmosphere" rivaled by few cities in modern times.

The reasons are obvious:

The Swiss are neutral and intend to remain that way. Hence, they are interested in just about everything and everybody.

The Russians are here by the scores and one can be sure their Intelligence and Counterintelligence Corps are well represented. Late arrivals in the arena of international politics, the Red Chinese and the Koreans obviously have their gumshoe squads. And the fact that Geneva has plenty of anti-Communist Chinese and anti-Communist Koreans is making them all ultra careful.

The British and French are quieter with their spying and counterspying, but this does not mean they are less effective. The Americans can certainly be said to have their cloaks, if not their daggers, hanging in the dark halls of this city by the bright blue lake.

Strange things are happening and there is a whisper behind the spotted palm of every hotel lobby.

A high-placed delegate went to see another one. They had confidential matters to discuss. The man who made the call was surprised when he saw five men in the room—the man he'd come to see, and four others.

"It's all right", said the host, "we can talk in freedom."

As the caller opened his discussion, each of the four unidentified men in the room marched to a corner, unfolded a newspaper and began reading aloud. This presumably would foul up any recording device.

While the two principals talked the four men kept reading. When they finished, shook hands and said goodby the four men folded their newspapers and walked quietly away.

Another delegation here is armed with antilistening machines. These make a queer noise when turned on and are said to guarantee that the conversation in the room cannot be heard.

There is another delegation that holds most of its private conversations in bathrooms—with the water running — which is said to be a sure way of making certain your conversation is neither listened to nor recorded.

Nearly everyone assumes that someone is reading all the mail coming into and going out of Geneva. For this reason the weather is a great subject of comment.

One wife wrote back to her delegate husband, "thanks for your letters. Geneva's weather must be wonderful, but isn't there anything else of interest there?"

With so many delegations in town as delegates to the conference, and at least a dozen others having representatives as unofficial "observers," keeping them straight becomes difficult.

One visitor swears he has made several telephone calls and when asked what delegation he represents, invariably replies: "I'm Mr. So and So from the state of chaos."

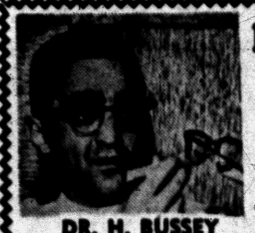

He says the telephone operator has just as invariably replied: "Just a moment, I'll put you through."

Graduation Is Uppermost in Minds of City Seniors

Uppermost in the minds of seniors in the city's high schools was graduation.

The first class to leave the high school portals will be that of St. Michael High School; students will receive diplomas June 6.

At St. Fred's (next in line for the sheepskin) seniors will attend commencement on June 8.

Eager chiefs and squaws of Pontiac High School have red circled June 17—graduation at PHS.

ST. MICHAEL

Margaret Martin, a rather flustered senior, is preparing, along with the rest of her class, for June 6 exercises.

MARGARET

Classmates will gather for a breakfast after Mass and Communion Sunday preceding the 8 p.m. graduation. Upperclassmen will also travel to Michigan State Fairgrounds Sunday for the annual senior Day program.

So that underclassmen won't consider themselves completely forgotten, Margaret writes that freshmen mathemeticians are engrossed in the study of square root as part of their algebra curricula.

Glee club members and the St. Michael altar boys enjoyed their outing Thursday at Dodge Park. Annual picnics are also on the fire in junior, senior, freshmen and sophomore circles.

PONTIAC HIGH

Despite dripping skies, 30 stanch journalism students along with faculty adviser Robert Beauchamp, attended the Detroit - Baltimore baseball game May 27.

VICKY

Vicky Micu, school scribe, writes that picnic plans and graduation excitement took all precedence at the old brick teepee this week.

Excited seniors eagerly looked forward to Commencement June 17, while other students eagerly planned the many outings which are highlighting the spring term.

Everyone at PHS attended an assembly May 27, presented by the Pontiac High Choir, Boys' Glee Club and Selective Girls' Glee Club. George Putnam and Jeanette Vier directed the musical program.

ST. FREDERICK

Mary Drake, who will be one of a long line of seniors receiving diplomas June 8, reveals that teen topics at the high school all concern the seniors.

MARY

A special election held by the senior boys recently made public certain pertinent facts. Elected the most beautiful girl was Margaret Colfer with Joan McHugh named the most popular and Norma Bader the girl with the best disposition.

Mary Kline and Maureen Sweetman were voted the best dancers, Mary Drake the best athlete, and Jo Dennen and Helen Coyle the two best dressed girls of the senior class.

On June 6 seniors will face a busy schedule, with a breakfast sponsored by the St. Frederick Alumni Association, starting off the day. In the afternoon they will travel to the University of Detroit stadium where Edward Cardinal Mooney will speak to all prospective parochial high school graduates.

This afternoon the upperclassmen are busy enjoying the Junior-Senior Day which includes such features as the class will and prophesy.

In charge of the program are seniors Jane Webster, Michele Morrissey, Elaine Monroe, Gerrie Luna Ted Reaver, and Michael Payette. The juniors are taking care of refreshments.

U.S., Britain Fail to Agree on Way to Curb Commies

By DON WHITEHEAD

LONDON, (AP)—Is there a fear of communism in America that spills far beyond the bounds of good reason? The British people are convinced there is.

This belief—heard frequently here—represents one of the disturbing factors causing friction between the two great allies of World War II.

After years of the cold war, the major English-speaking powers have not yet found a common ground of understanding on the best way to deal with communism. This is a major weakness in efforts to build a united front against the Reds.

Some Americans think the British are too soft and their policy is bordering on appeasement of the Communists. On the other side, a good many Britons think the American attitude is too tough, that it is dictated by unreasonable fear, and that it carries a threat of starting another war.

There is to be found in this country too a curious attitude (curious to an American) which seems to accept the British Communist party as a sort of joke that really has no dangerous connection with international communism. This attitude seems to imply that communism in America actually is a different brand of communism than that found in Britain.

One Englishman told me: "Communism is different in the United States. You are the main target of the Communists because you are the most powerful country, and you have the secrets they want. The Communists have concentrated against you more than they have against us."

And then he added: "You realize, of course, that America is a country of many nationalities. These people may not feel their real loyalty is to the United States—but to another country. Over here, we are British, and Britain comes first."

Oddly enough, this thinking was not an isolated case. The same thought cropped out in several interviews with Britons—that loyalty to Britain can be taken for granted where loyalty to the United States is at least open to suspicion.

Britain's own Communist spy cases have not shaken the faith of the people in the loyalty and integrity of their government employes, nor have they touched off the stormy debates and investigations such as those now familiar to Americans.

Only recently, Prime Minister Winston Churchill rejected a suggestion for an inquiry into communism in Britain, brushing it off as unnecessary.

This caused one American to comment: "It could be the British are afraid to take a good look at themselves—afraid of what they would find."

But the best answer seems to be the British government—both Tories and Socialists—is determined to handle the problem of subversives, loyalty suspects and espionage as quietly as possible without making it a political issue.

Recently the government deported two Russian diplomats caught in the act of trying to spy on British guided missile secrets. They were sent home and tabbed as "the stupidest spies" that Britain ever had caught.

The British see nothing dangerous in permitting Communists to mount soapboxes and openly advocate the overthrow of the government—as long as they don't actually incite anyone to try it.

"That is where we have a safety valve that you don't have in America," one Briton said. "We think it's better to let them blow off steam. Then when nothing happens, all the talk is just a damp squib and they look silly."

Luce County Organizes Soil Conservation District

EAST LANSING (AP) — Organization of Michigan's 71st Soil Conservation District, covering Luce county and the west half of Mackinac County, was approved Thursday by the State Soil Conservation Committee.

This brings more than 90 per cent of Michigan farm land under soil conservation districts.

Five men chosen by district farmers and the state committee as the first board of the new district include Robert Elsner and Edwin Nichol, of Engadine, Ronald Clark, of Gould City, Archie Pentland, of Newberry, and Ray Schaefer, of McMillan.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Federal Communications Commission Thursday reinstated and made immediately effective its recent grant to James Gerity Jr., for a radio station at Pontiac, on 1460 kilocycles, 500 watts unlimited time.

The grant was stayed temporarily when it drew a protest from station WKMF, operating on 1470 kilocycles at Flint, on grounds of possible interference. However, WKMF notified the FCC it is withdrawing its objections because the interference factor can be eliminated by certain engineering changes at Flint and Gerity has agreed to share the expense of such changes.

Japan's Premier Yoshida Starting Today for U.S.

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Japanese Premier Shigeru Yoshida's big secret is out at last.

He is leaving for the United States today on the first stage of a tour that will take him round the world.

Arrangements were made well in advance for his reception in Washington, Ottawa, London, Paris, Bonn, Rome, Karachi, New Delhi, Bangkok and Singapore.

But it was not until yesterday that Yoshida announced officially in parliament that he will make the tour.

The principal reason Yoshida held up the announcement is that the opposition Socialists, and most of the Japanese newspapers, have criticised him severely for planning the tour.

They complain that the Japanese political situation is in turmoil. They point to rising unemployment. They demand that something be done about the long-smouldering scandal in which highly placed politicians have been accused of taking bribes from shipbuilders.

But the opposition and the newspapers also are suspicious of Yoshida's strong pro-Americanism. They fear he may commit Japan to ever closer cooperation with the United States.

Despite the criticism, "Mr. One Man" went on making his plans, at the same time blandly denying to enraged questioners in parliament that he had any definite plans for a tour.

Privately, Yoshida had said that he wants to strengthen the friendship between Japan and other countries, to thank the United States for the aid it has given Japan and to visit the many old friends he made during his long career as a diplomat.

It is reported, also privately, that Yoshida may ask a $100,000,000 loan of the United States.

He also wants more arms orders from the United States for Japanese factories, and the right to buy more of the American agricultural surplus, paying for it in Japanese yen instead of dollars.

Yoshida has a lot of friends abroad. His enemies are political ones, in Japan. They call him "Mr. One Man" because he likes to run things by himself.

Yoshida is 75. Fifteen years ago he was at the point of retirement after his distinguished diplomatic career.

He made no secret of his friendship with the United States and Great Britain. He held no office during World War II. He was thrown in jail for urging that Japan seek peace.

After Japan's surrender, Yoshida was called upon to take the foreign ministry. In 1946 he became premier. He has stayed in that post, serving as his own foreign minister, ever since except for an interval of 17 months in 1947 and 1948.

Standard Time Preferred

MANILA (AP)—President Ramon Magsaysay last night ordered The Philippines to return to standard time at midnight Friday. Parent-teacher associations had complained that daylight saving time forced school children to get up too early.

Stassen Would Fire Information Passers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said yesterday that any employe of the Foreign Operations Administration, which he heads, "would of course be discharged" if he passed secret information to an unauthorized person.

Stassen had been asked, at a news conference, about a White House statement of a week ago saying the executive branch of the government has exclusive responsibility for enforcing laws and presidential orders.

That statement was issued in reply to a call by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) for federal employes to turn over to him any information about such things as graft or communism in the government. McCarthy said he would not be bound by any secrecy order from the White House.

U. N. Slows Up Thailand Talks

Country in Rush to Get Security but Council Waits for Geneva

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Security Council seemed likely today to take its time with Thailand's request for a "peace patrol" of U. N. observers on her borders with embattled Indochina.

This was indicated by the opinions of influential delegations, expressed informally to reporters. Though Thailand, not on the council, wanted to hurry, others wanted to wait in the hope the Geneva conference will produce an Indochina cease-fire.

The council voted 10-1 yesterday to put the Thai request on its agenda for debate, then adjourned indefinitely for private consultations after Thailand's ambassador to Washington, Pote Sarasin, made his initial plea for action.

Only Soviet Representative Semyon K. Tsarapkin opposed immediate debate formally, contending discussion now would endanger chances of a cease-fire agreement at Geneva.

But actions and expressions by other delegates indicated the debate would not start speedily.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of the United States, the council president for June, left by plane last night to attend D-Day anniversary ceremonies in France this weekend. He said he did not know when he would be back. His deputy, James J. Wadsworth, acts for Lodge in his absence.

The Arab member of the council, Charles A. Malik of Lebanon, told a reporter, "I don't think we should meet again until Geneva busts up or comes to a conclusion." He added he favors giving the talks in Switzerland two more weeks to show results.

Two other Western delegates favored a similar waiting period. British circles, without setting a time limit, took a like view and said a big council debate might endanger the Geneva talks.

India's Airlines Lose

NEW DELHI (AP) — India's nationalized airlines lost an average of over $147,000 per month in the first four months of operation under government ownership, official sources report. This compares with reported airline losses of less than $84,000 monthly under private ownership.

Dien Bien Phu Defender Escapes From Vietminh

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The first French officer to escape his captors at Dien Bien Phu and flee through enemy territory reached Hanoi yesterday.

Lt. Raymond Makowiak, 32, said he survived on corn and rice sneaked to him by friendly natives during his long trek through rugged mountains and jungles to the little post of Nam Bac.

Marriage Ceremony Held in 2 Counties

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP — Mrs. Estes Kuykendall says her cousin started her marriage in Tipton County and stepped across the line into Shelby County to finish it.

The couple bought the license in Shelby County, and found out too late it couldnt be used at the church in Tipton County where they planned to be married.

They said their vows in the church in Tipton County, then drove across the line into Shelby for the minister to pronounce them husband and wife.

'Tain't Only the First Cost of Bullfight Arenas but the Upkeep Also Runs Into Real Mazuma

By BILLY ROSE

About a hundred midnights ago, at Reuben's Restaurant, I ran into Bill Liebow, a friend of mine who owns several resort hotels, including the palatial Internacional at Varadero Beach Cuba.

BILLY ROSE

Over coffee and cheesecake, Bill let drop he was thinking of building a bullfight arena at Varadero to help publicize his hotel, and asked me what I thought of the idea.

I told him that I knew little about the boy-meets-bull business, but that I would bone up on the subject and let him know what I thought the odds were of his making a go of it.

Well, I didn't get around to making good on my promise until a few days ago, but now I'd like to pass the facts on to him and anyone else interested in the commercial aspects of the stylized butchery known as "torero."

To begin with, you have to build an arena, and for grade-A fights in Latin America, a stadium must seat close to 20,000. It must be equipped with a hospital, a chapel, stables, dressing rooms and covered pens for at least a dozen bulls.

(It seems the pedigreed critters must be kept in the dark for three days before they enter the ring).

A "programa" consists of three matadors carving up six bulls, and matadors, who play footsie with death every time they step in the ring, don't come cheap.

They gets anywhere from $6,000 to $21,000 per performance and, to hear aficionados tell it, there are only about 30 of them in the world who rate an afternoon's attention.

In addition to matadors, the impresario must hire nine banderilleros, two puntilleros, nine picadors, a dozen ring servants, two mule teams driven by "white monkeys" (whatever they are), two men to shovel sand on the blood and a brass band to pep up the opening spectacle.

In other words a cast of at least 100, all good union members and all getting about $50 per day.

Then, of course, there are the bulls — highly bred aristocrats which cost the best part of $1,000 apiece. But you're not through yet. There's the expense of rain, fire and liability insurance, advertising, hospital staff and stadium personnel.

To the foregoing, add taxes, hefty bribes to politicians, the cost of horses which are frequently gored into dog-food and, last but not least, the amortization of a stadium which, unlike an American ball park, is seldom used more than a dozen times a year.

This, even without the aid of a slide rule, it quickly becomes apparent that the "nut" for a passable afternoon's torero will be at least $30,000, and a standout program may run as high as $80,000.

When I saw the great Manolete fight in Mexico City 10 years ago, his take-home pay for fighting two bulls was $36,000 and, to make ends meet, the promoters had to charge $100 per each for the down-front pews.

There's another risk involved, albeit a long one. If the spectators don't happen to approve of a matador, they may burn down the stadium or rip it up plank by plank. This, according to the man I buy my hot chili from, has happened on several occasions.

To sum up, Bulls is the Craziest People, and the presentation of big-time bullfighting is far and away the costliest form of live entertainment . . .

Admit Angry Feelings

Call Hate by Right Name

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Every eveing around 9, tension begins to build up in Jane's mother. Into the sun porch where Jane is sprawled over a comic book, she calls, "Bedtime, dear. Better be putting that book away . . ."

Her voice is light, casual. For by keeping it so, Jane's mother hopes for a miracle. She hopes that if she pretends Jane never defies bedtime, she won't defy it tonight.

When Jane continues to ignore bedtime, she goes to the sun porch. Still with the light, pretending voice, she says, "Didn't you hear Mother, dear? Put the book away now—that's my good girl . . ."

It never works. And the casual pretending voice can never be maintained. The tension takes it over. "Why can't you do as you're told?" cries Jane's mother despairingly. "Don't you hear me? Put away that book . . ."

When Jane is finally gotten to bed, her mother, eyes closed, leans against the stair bannister in exhaustion.

No wonder. It is very exhausting to pretend you feel love for a child when you don't. It's a form of lying that can leave us very depressed.

Unfortunately, Jane's mother has a conscience that keeps her from admitting she feels hate for her child at bedtime. To call the cold feeling coiled inside her by its right name would be intolerable to Jane's mother.

Most of us feel hate occasionally. And wise ones among us learn to call it by its name. They heed the advice of the medieval alchemist who said, "to exorcise a demon, name him by his name."

If Jane's mother could name names, she might recover from her despair over the distance put between them by the cold coiled feeling. As it is, she doesn't even know that she feels despair.

Why can't she call hate by its right name?

Well, to know you hate your child at bedtime requires some humility. It forces on you the realization that you're not so wonderful as you thought you were.

The reward of humility is relaxation. No longer needing to pretend we are wonderful, we can stop pretending we're more interested in Jane than in ourselves.

We can speak the humble, unwonderful, human truth to our daughter and say, "Jane, I do not feel kind and loving tonight. I feel angry and hateful because you take so long to go to bed. I have no time for myself. Please go to bed now."

That's something Jane, also being human, can understand.

Best Ways to Remove House Paint

By HUBBARD COBB

When and if the paint on the outside walls of your house becomes blistered, cracked or is peeling off, the first thing to do is to remove all the falling paint.

This, as you look at all those walls, can seem like a pretty big job, which is exactly what it is. On the other hand, to paint over a falling surface is a waste of time and money.

For years professional painters have been using a blow torch to make the job of paint removal faster and easier.

The idea is to adjust the flame of the torch so that it is red or yellow rather than blue and then bring it close enough to the paint to soften it up. The minute the paint is soft you get into it with a broad putty knife and you'll find that it comes off with a good deal of ease.

The torch should be held so that the flame points downward, and you want to be sure that there is no debris around the eaves or cornice that might become ignited.

If you don't care about fooling around with an open flame you can get the same effect with an electric paint remover. This consists of a high temperature heating element which softens up the paint.

The only problem involved using an electric remover on a large area is to get a cord of sufficient length and of sufficient wire size to carry the high amount of current to where it's needed.

You can, of course, remove exterior paint with a liquid paint remover but this can become an expensive business. A good sharp hand scraper can be used but it's slow work.

Says Butch Bob Taking Hold

NEW YORK (UP — T)he next thing, girls, is the butch bob. Or you might call it the crew or the burr.

Larry Matthews, who runs an all-night beauty shop catering to show people, says the next hair style to be adopted by the American woman will be almost the ultimate in shortness—barely an inch long over the entire head.

"Women are extremists, said Matthews. "And they've tried everything else. The butch is all that's left, because women will never go back to long bobs.

"We already are giving a few of the short cuts," said Matthews, whose customers include Zinka Milanov, soprano at the Metropolitan Opera Co., Sunny Gale, singer, Julig Darvas, dancer, and Clare Luce, actress.

"By summer," Matthews predicted, "the butch will be everywhere.

"But I don't recommend it for everyone, said Matthews. "Just the same as I wouldn't recommend that Italian-boy cut for every woman.

Fond Moms Are Boring to Listeners

Others Annoyed by Endless Chattering About Children

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me as follows: "I'm sure there are many others who think as I do and I am therefore writing to ask you to please point out in your column how boring the subject of one's own children can become to others.

"I have two children of my own and do talk about them from time to time, but do not make them my sole conversation.

"There are several women in our group whose children are never left out of their conversation and no matter how we try to switch to other channels, somehow or other they always go back to their children."

Answer: I wish I knew the happy answer to this all-too-often-encountered problem. Unhappily, however, persistent lack of interested response is probably the only solution.

Drar Mrs. Post: Will you please answer the following questions regarding the marking of men's jewelry? Is there any rule which says that in marking jewelry the first or the last initial should be used, or is it whichever pleases the individual?

For example: (a) Should a ring be marked with the first or last initial? (b) Could a tie pin be engraved with either, or just the first initial? (c) What about a belt buckle?

Answer: A man's things should never be marked with his first initial alone. They are either marked with two or three initials or just that of his last name. The first initial alone is strictly feminine.

Dear Mrs. Post: Was it a terrible mistake to have congratulated a girl when I heard of her plans to be married? I meant nothing unkind but now I'm told I suggested that I thought she was lucky to have found a man. Is this true?

Answer: It is considered a discourtesy to the woman, but it is not serious enough to worry about.

Undersea Adventure Is Modern Variant of Old-Fashioned Family Fun

Vocational Prejudices Are Foolish

By ANNE HEYWOOD

It seems to me that we in this country are in danger of submitting to a terrible kind of vocational prejuduce.

Fields that used to be considered seriously by our young people are now passed up as not being "impressive" enough. And many times we mothers are partly to blame.

Eula is an example.

Eula is finishing high school this year. She wants desperately to be a beautician. The field interests her and always has.

She used to love to work on her dolls, and now she is always giving home permanents to her friends, and enjoying it a lot. But her mother flatly refuses to let "my girl go into such a lowly job."

Eula came in to see me, near tears.

"She wants me to be a secretary in a big company," Eula said. "She wants me to meet nice people and wear attractive clothes and have what she calls real opportunity.

She hates the thought of my wearing a uniform and working in what she considers a lowly menial job. But," here Eula did break down and sob, "I will die if I have to spend my days pushing paper around!"

Fortunately, Eula's mother came to her senses and let Eula study at the school of beauty culture.

Because Eula loves the field so much, she will get very skillful, work hard, and possibly end up owning a chain of successful shops, wearing beautiful clothes, managing all the business operations, and making a furtune.

But if that girl were forced into a secretarial job, she would hate it; do just enough to get by, be on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and never have any personal or financial success.

There are many roads to Rome, and there are many roads to business success. But no young person will reach success unless he takes his own road, no matter how wild it may appear to be.

All work is noble, and there is no menial job. There are only menial points of view.

If you force your child into a field he hates, even if it enjoys considerable prestige, he will never get the prestige, but will be a lowly menial worker all his life.

Earrings Feature Unbalanced Look

NEW YORK (UP)—The newest trend in jewelry design is the "unbalanced" look.

Judith McCann, who invented the earring which hangs from the inside of the ear instead of the lobe, is out with earrings which match in design but mis-match in size. One is large, the other small.

Here "unbalanced earrings" for summer feature flowers and pearls combined. One set includes a large earring, looking like a miniature bouquet about four inches long and a smaller one, of smaller flowers, only about one inch long. She is making the same unbalanced earrings in pearls for fall and winter wear.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

For summer evening enchantment, twist long ropes of beads in varying lengths around your neck. Mix colors and bead shapes to be in the height of fashion. These 60-inch lengths are of colored beads interspersed with baroque pearls or jumbo stones.

Let Wall Colors Be Flattering

Let the rooms of your home wear the colors of your wardrobe.

Decorating experts say the colors that flatter you in your clothes will be equally flattering in your house or apartment.

A blonde can live and be lovely against a background of purple, blue, green, gold and a range of shades from deep burgundy to dusty pink.

The vivid colors belong to the burnettes. But tone them down a bit, if you're the blue-eyed, brown-haired type.

Silver-haired women shine in a more sophisticated setting—muted greens, slate blues, antique reds and purple.

And the redheads can play up their crowning glory with a brown, green and apricot decor.

The Hawaiian language contains only 12 letters, fewer letters in a complete alphabet than any other known language in the world.

Just Casual Friendship

Girl Needn't Tell Steady About Summertime Beau

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been going steady with Art for six months now and I like him a lot. But last summer, before I knew Art, I met a boy while I was on vacation and we had a lot of fun together for a week.

"He has written me about seven letters since then and I've answered all of them. But I haven't told Art about him because our letters are just friendly, impersonal notes, and I was afraid Art would think they were more important to me than they are.

"This afternoon the boy called me and I was very surprised because I hadn't heard his voice since last summer. He asked me to go on a hayride with him. I said no but thanked him for asking me.

"Do you think I should tell him I'm going steady with Art? And should I tell Art about him? I'm really mixed up and don't know what is right to do."

I think this is one of those situations that will resolve itself without your having to say anything to anybody. And all because the various elements of it are quite clear in your own mind.

You know what's important and what's secondary. And the secondary will soon lose what importance it has through sheer lack of interest.

The boy of last summer had all this time to get around to date you—if he had wanted to. His interest took the form of occasional little notes to which you attach little importance.

Your "sorry, no, thank you" to the hayride bid showed him you weren't dying to see him. Wild enthusiasm wasn't there. It just wasn't important enough.

So why make an issue of something that isn't important? The notes will stop if you don't answer them. There may not be any more anyhow, now that you've turned down an invitation.

So what is there to tell Art about? Certainly nothing important enough to risk upsetting him.

"Dear Miss Woodward: A boy from a town near here likes me and I like him. All the girls are constantly telling me how good-looking he is.

"I think so, too, but I think at least one of the girls likes him a lot—and she's my best friend. I'm afraid I might offend her. So what shall I do?"

Are you going to let a suspicion build up a situation between you and your girl friend, and maybe even upset the applecart with your boy friend?

Do all the good things that come your way offend her? Is she unhappy when you get a new dress, win a prize or get a handsome boy friend for yourself? She ought to be happy over your good luck.

Rubbing it in might hurt, though. Talking too much about your own affairs might put her nose out of joint.

Keep your boy friend—and your gurglings about him—to yourself. Consider him your business, and she will, too.

One-half of the 25,000,000 golf balls produced every year are lost.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Ocean Exploring Replaces Kitchen Revels of the Past

The whole family skin-diving fathoms down in the Pacific, Mediterranean or Caribbean is the modern and, psychologists say, satisfactory variant of the old-fashioned kitchen with its corn-popping, taffy-pulling revels that include mother, father and all the children.

MISS McBRIDE

Dr. Barney Crile, Cleveland surgeon, conceived the idea, as his wife Jane put it, of "crossing the threshold between land and sea, with the children and me following happily behind."

The Crile family, including Susie when she was only 7, has swum with barracuda and sharks, wrestled with octopuses, and brought up buried treasure in the form of ivory tusks, 18th Century cannon and First Century Greek vases to decorate their rumpus room.

"It has given purpose to Barney's and my fun to have the children with us," Jane Crile told me. "And we feel that they have gotten a stronger feeling of family solidarity since diving has united us in adventure shared."

Very different, but adventure shared all the same, were the good times I had on the farm when we were shut in by ice and snow and gathered around the base burner in the living room to eat apples and crack hickory nuts.

Once in a while Mama would take time to melt lard in the thickest iron skillet, add the small yellow grains of popcorn we had shelled, and shake the skillet back and forth over the red-hot top of the cookstove until fluffy kernels danced and soared like the white butterflies in our far meadow on a summer's afternoon.

Usually Mama had so much work to do that she must keep forever on the go, but it made us contented and cozy when, as she went back and forth, she would touch one or the other of us on the shoulder and say, "Isn't it wonderful to be all together with this nice fire?"

But the best time of all was after we moved into Paris so that Tommy and I could go to the town school. I was happier than I had ever been in my life, for now Mama had time to sit down afternoons when the dinner dishes were done and talk to me about when she was a little girl.

She even started a piece of embroidery and began teaching a Sunday school class (little girls my age — including me). Sometimes in the afternoon she would even walk downtown with Tommy and me to get boughten bread which we children loved because we seldom had it.

Papa would meet us at the bakery which smelled so yeasty and good and we would all walk home together for supper in our little house, with Papa making jokes and Mama sitting still in a chair and letting us wait on her. Later the four of us played flinch or authors, and the only flaw was having to stop when it was bedtime.

I suppose it doesn't matter much what a family does, if only it's together.

THE PONTIAC PRESS

FRIDAY, JUNE 4, 1954 PONTIAC, MICHIGAN TWENTY-ONE

State's Future Most Promising, Says Williams

Local Rotarians Hear Governor

Cites Bridge, Seaway, New Industries in Long Range Viewpoint

"Michigan stands on the threshold of a new era of economic expansion equal to and perhaps greater than the period which began with the development of the automobile industry."

This was the opinion Gov. G. Mennen Williams expressed as he addressed Rotary Club members here Thursday.

He predicted that the St. Lawrence Seaway and the Mackinac Bridge, when completed, will provide the state with its greatest wealth in history.

Before delivering his main address, Gov. Williams told the more than 100 Rotarians of the high esteem in which Pontiac attorney Clark J. Adams is held by members of the State Supreme Court.

Adams, top legal aid in the Williams' administration since 1949, was appointed by the governor in August, 1952, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Chief Justice Walter H. North.

His speech follows:

Michigan Opens Door to Great Expansion

The newspapers and the air waves are full, these days, of ominous news. We have a lot of unemployment, the economic condition of our farmers is not good, the foreign situation is threatening, and so on.

It is doubtless necessary and prudent that we be aware of all these problems. The American people will never solve their problems if they refuse to recognize them.

At the same time, I like to look, when I can logically do so, on the bright side of things. And here in Michigan today we have a very bright and promising future, if we are alert enough and courageous enough to seize the opportunities which now appear on the horizon.

Today I'd like to have you take a look with me at the future, and to suggest some ways in which we can be prepared for the opportunities it will present.

It is my considered opinion that Michigan today stands upon the threshold of a new era of economic expansion which will be at least comparable to, and perhaps greater than, the period which began with the development of the automotive industry.

At a time when we have more than 200,000 unemployed, a serious farm problem and a high rate of business failures, that may sound like unwarranted optimism.

Short View Is Dark, Long Sight Is Bright

In the short view the picture admittedly is rather dark—mainly because there appears to be no disposition in high places to do anything to arrest the current economic slump. It's just being allowed to run its course.

But the long-range factors are decidely encouraging, provided we have the foresight and courage to grasp the opportunities and meet the challenges of the future.

Let's take a look at some of these long-range factors which hold such bright promise for Michigan.

Up at the Straits of Mackinac, we have started the construction of the world's biggest bridge. The Mackinac Bridge represents a triumph of faith in our own destiny.

I can remember the time, only a few years ago, when the bridge project was ridiculed as "Soapy's Folly." They said the winds at the Straits were too powerful, the water was too deep, the ice was too thick, and the rocks under the Straits were too weak to support a bridge. They said the bridge was too big a job for the people of Michigan.

Today those voices are stilled, and it is difficult to find anyone who will admit he had any doubts about the Mackinac Bridge. Everybody concedes now that the bridge is feasible, that it can be built, and that it's going to pay for itself. We have shown once more that no job is too big for the people of Michigan.

The economic effects of the Mackinac Bridge will be incalculable. It will provide a new trade route, a real "Northwest Passage" from the metropolitan centers of the East and the Central states to the great Northwest of the United States and Canada.

Tourists by Thousands to Cross Over Bridge

It will channel through Michigan —and through Pontiac along U.S.10 and U.S.24 — a considerable part of the traffic which now goes around the end of Lake Michigan through Chicago, Milwaukee and Green Bay.

It will open Michigan's great northern vacationland to fresh thousands of tourists from our own cities and from other states—and every tourist family will bring money and business to Michigan.

It will unite Michigan physically into one state, and open the markets of the Upper Peninsula and Canada to the products of our own industries and farms. The Mackinac Bridge will be not only a bridge to the Upper Peninsula, but also, if we use it fully, a bridge into the new era of greater Michigan's development.

Another factor which offers almost unlimited opportunity is the St. Lawrence Seaway. Here again the achievement is the result of many years of effort — a triumph of faith in the future of America.

It's possible to become too enthusiastic over the legislation adopted by the Congress a few weeks ago. That legislation by no means completes the job. The Seaway has not yet come to Michigan. Until the channels of the Detroit, St. Clair and St. Mary's Rivers are deepened, the ports of Michigan will not be open to ocean commerce.

We believe, of course, that the Seaway will be completed all the way to Chicago and Duluth. We believe that the funds will be provided by Congress to carry this great public project to its logical conclusion — making all the ports of Michigan ocean ports and opening our cities to the direct commerce of the high seas.

You know as well as I do how much the completion of the Seaway will mean to Michigan. The story has been told many times, and if there is one issue on which the people of Michigan have been united, without regard to politics, it is in support of the Seaway project.

Authorities Predicting Ten Million Population

There are many other comforting factors which point to a greater Michigan future. But the Seaway and the Bridge alone will provide a tremendous impetus for Michigan's three great sources of wealth — agriculture, manufacturing and the tourist trade.

This is certain to be accompanied by an increase in population. As the Erie Canal brought thousands of immigrants flocking to this area, and opened the whole Great Lakes to civilization, so the Seaway, supplemented by the Bridge, will bring new millions of people to Michigan.

Some authorities predict that we may have as much as ten million population within a short time after these two great projects are put into operation. Consider what that means.

I am told that Oakland County now has a population of more than half a million, and that you anticipate a total of more than 700,000 by 1970. That prediction was made before the passage of the Seaway bill — and must be revised upward to take account of the Seaway's effects.

This population increase will bring immensely more complicated public problems.

We must look forward to a long period of striving to catch up with the increasing demand — for schools, hospitals, highways, and every kind of public service.

Study Opportunities, Not Just Problems

But I think we make a great mistake if we view the future only as an increasing set of problems. The prospect ahead of us is full of problems, yes. But it is also full of opportunity — opportunity for us and our children to make a better life here in these two peninsulas.

There has been too much thinking in terms of Michigan's difficulties and not enough thinking in terms of Michigan's opportunities.

Too many of our leaders in Lansing have been spending their time in the unproductive business of looking backward. Too much policy has been based upon a subconscious yearning for the good old days when the people's problems were simpler because there weren't so many people. Too much time and energy has been spent in figuring out what we couldn't do — rather than finding ways to do what we obviously had to do.

This backward-looking psychology is the biggest obstacle to realizing our manifest destiny. It's the psychology that help up the Mackinac Bridge for a generation in the face of obvious needs, while the cost of building the bridge increased about three times.

It's the attitude, on a national scale, that delayed the Seaway for many years. It's the attitude which has thus far obstructed a real approach to our critical school problem, our highway emergency, our still explosive prison problem, and many other public questions which remain unsolved.

Now I say it is time Michigan dropped that psychology, and began to approach the future in the same spirit which animated our forefathers when they came into the wilderness and made it into a civilized state.

Sixty-One Industries Open Factories Here

I say we should stop talking about how awful it is that Michigan is growing so fast, and start doing the things which will make the greater Michigan of tomorrow a reality.

The opportunities of tomorrow can be realized only if we plan for them today. A great insurance company has a motto which is worth repeating: "The future belongs to those who prepare for it."

Michigan's future will be realized only if we join together in preparing for it.

What, specifically, should we be doing? Well, let me give you a couple of examples.

Everyone is conscious of the fact that we are losing certain segments of the automotive industry which has been the backbone of our economic life for three generations. But we have not accepted that loss without effective counter-action.

Through the Michigan Department of Economic Development, in cooperation with many private industrial groups, we have been conducting a campaign to keep Michigan industry in Michigan, and to bring new industries into Michigan.

The Economic Development Commission, in the last five years, has helped to bring 61 new industries into our state, including the great Corning Glass Works at Albion, and the Hooker and Du Pont chemical plants near Muskegon.

Example at Chelsea: Making Transistors

In addition, this state agency has been instrumental in persuading 76 Michigan industries which were seeking new locations, to find those new locations within our own state rather than moving elsewhere.

One significant result of this cooperative effort by private business and state government has been the development of new types of industry, tending to a wholesome diversification. At Albion and Kalamazoo, they are making television tubes.

At Chelsea, they are making the marvelous little gadgets called transistors, on which the electronic industry depends. At Montague, the 12 million dollar Hooker Electromechanical plant is becoming the center of a new and sizable chemical industry. The DuPont corporation, using a product of the Hooker plant, has opened a new industry for the manufacture of synthetic rubber.

These things did not just happen. They came about because of careful and persistent effort. To grasp the opportunities for further development, we need more and better activity along these lines. The Economic Development Department ought to be substantially expanded, as an investment in Michigan's industrial future.

And Michigan business ought to get squarely behind this effort, and insist upon adequate legislative support.

That's one example. But the biggest job we have to do to meet tomorrow's opportunities is the reconstruction of our roads. The Mackinac Bridge will need far better access highways if it is to bring the economic benefits we anticipate.

Road-Building Needs One Big Problem

The Seaway will increase our population and expand our economic activity. In addition, we are faced with a civil defense problem which emphasizes very forcibly an old and growing need—the need for better access highways into and out of our metropolitan centers.

Civil Defense is not the whole of our road problem as some have sought to pretend, in an effort to divide rural and urban interests. But it is certainly a significant fact that Val Peterson, national director of Civil Defense, came to Michigan and told us flatly that evacuation highways constituted the only chance of city populations in the event of an air raid alarm.

Our present road system will not carry present traffic loads. With our present annual highway revenue, big as it is, we cannot build roads fast enough to keep abreast of present needs. With our present program we cannot possibly hope to achieve the rapid highway development which the future expansion of the state is going to demand.

There is just one way to deal adequately with this road problem —that is to find some means of building tomorrow's roads today.

To that end, I suggested to the Legislature that it ought to revive a proposal for a 500 million dollar revenue bond issue and submit it to the people this November. I suggested that this fund be put into an emergency road-building program, for the improvement of 9,000 miles of state trunk lines and 23,000 miles of secondary farm-to-market roads.

This proposal amounts to no more than you and I do when we build a house. A man who tried to build a house by purchasing a few bricks or boards at a time out of each week's paycheck would never have a house. By the time he got the roof on, the foundation would need repairs.

Patch Method Wrong, Would Borrow Cash

But that's the way we are building roads. The result is that we have a patch here and a patch there, but few completed modern highways. We are spending millions on maintenance and repair of worn-out, inadequate dangerous roads which ought to be completely replaced.

We have fine new strips of concrete that end up in corn fields, because we're waiting for revenues due next year or five years from now, to build the next few miles.

How much better it would be to build our roads as we build our houses — borrow against future income, do the job now, and pay for the new highway system while we're using it.

Sure, it would cost money for financing — just as it costs money to finance a new house. But this cost would be offset in two ways: first, we would save immense sums which are now going for makeshift repairs that have to be done over again every few years; and secondly, we would reap immense economic benefits from the actual possession and use of a modern road system.

This proposal involves no additional taxes. It would not interfere with the present system of allocating road funds among the various road-building units of government. Our annual road repair, construction and maintenance program would continue as at present, except that some of the roads we otherwise couldn't build for years to come, would be built and in use right away.

The infusion of half a billion dollars into the channels of purchasing power would greatly assist our economy and furnish some relief for unemployment.

To Push Good Things for Great Days Ahead

There is nothing partisan about this plan. It was originally advanced by several Republican Senators and recommended by a Democratic Governor. But, as you know the Legislature did not accept my suggestion that it be put to a vote of the people in November.

Nevertheless, the adoption of some such program as this highway bond issue is inevitable. The effect of the special message which I sent to the Legislature on May 13 was to set the ball rolling, to center the attention of both the people and their representatives on this question, and to reduce the time it will take to get the Legislature to act.

It is my purpose to continue pressing for action on such a roadbuilding program at the earliest possible date.

I believe such a program of building tomorrow's roads today is the best hope of getting Michigan out of the mud and onto the pavement of a modern highway system. I shall not insist upon my own specific recommendations. If somebody has a better idea, I'll go along with him.

But what I do insist upon is this: that we have to get at this road-building program without undue delay, and that the people's approval on a revenue bond issue should be sought at the earliest possible date.

Toward that objective, I intend to continue to work. The road program I submitted to the Legislature last month was not a mere maneuver. It was the beginning of a campaign which will eventually result in a new highway system for Michigan — a system which will enable us to take full advantage of the great opportunities offered by Michigan's future.

These are some of the things we should be working at today, if we are to meet the challenges of tomorrow. Michigan's greatest days are ahead of us. Michigan's future belongs to us: let us prepare for it.

Scouts Plan Skill Contest at Murphy Park Saturday

A Pontiac Boy Scout or Explorer will earn the title of "Chief Pontiac" Saturday during a city-wide contest of skills at Murphy Park.

Medford Pitman, project chairman, announced that the competition would begin at 2 p.m. with a nature identification event. Pontiac City Forester William Aho and his staff are to set up markers on trees for this activity.

Two delegates from each local troop and explorer unit also will participate in fire building and trail marking contests, Pitman said.

Runner-up in the competition will be named "Medicine Man."

On Monday, the two Scouts will will journey to Apple Island in Orchard Lake, famous retreat of Chief Pontiac. GMC Truck and Coach Division will provide a new "super duck," to be driven by Lieut. Col. Frank Spears of Washington, D. C. and Pontiac, for the trip.

Orchard Lake Police Chief Elmer Peters will join the group in the ride across the lake to Apple Island.

Pitman pointed out how different this landing in a modern land-sea vehicle will be than the one made by Chief Pontiac and his war party in wooden canoes.

During an Indian Powwow program June 19 at Pontiac Boy Scout District's camporee the boy chief will award titles of "Honorary Chief of the Pontiac Scout Tribe" to several local civic leaders.

Jury Finds Trio Guilty of Breakin

Doty Sets June 14 Date for Sentencing Women in Restaurant Burglary

Three Pontiac women charged with breaking into a restaurant the night of April 23 were found guilty by a Circuit Court jury Thursday and will be sentenced June 14.

Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty continued $500 bond for each of the three. They are Mrs. Charlotte M. Guinther, 27, of 77 Douglas St., Mrs. Martha Holsworth, 21, and Miss Claudine Carter, 18.

The jury of six men and six women returned a guilty verdict against all three after less than 30 minutes deliberation.

Miss Carter and Mrs. Holsworth took the stand in their own defense Thursday afternoon and told the jury they entered the restaurant at 490 Sanford St. after seeing three boys fleeing the premises. They said they were curious about the fleeing boys and wanted to investigate.

Earlier testimony by three witnesses implicated the trio. Buddy Sabourin, 16, of 552 Community Ave., told how he and two companions watched the breakin from the back porch of a nearby home and then called police after the girls entered.

Police said they confiscated quantities of candy and gum plus a chisel and pillow case at the time of the arrest.

Bike Road-E-O to Be Saturday

Last of Three Contests Set for Lincoln Junior High at 10 A. M.

Between 200 and 500 youngsters are expected to participate in the last of three bicycle Road-E-O's this Saturday at Lincoln Junior High School beginning at 10 a.m. according to Clyle R. Haskill, safety chairman.

The bike contest, sponsored by the Safety Commitee of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce and the Optimist's Club in cooperation with the Pontiac Police Department, will stress safety as well as skill for the youthful drivers, Haskill said.

Those eligible to compete are students of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades from the Wisner, Bailey, LeBaron, Baldwin, McCarroll, St. Frederick, Malkim, and Owen schools.

First prize is a trophy and 10 movie passes. Second place winner will receive a gift certificate from Scarlett's Bicycle Shop and six theater passes, and the third place winner will be presented with a gift certificate from the North Saginaw street Firestone Store and two theater passes.

The next 10 runners-up each will receive one movie pass. To date Arthur Sanford, manager of the local Butterfield Theaters, has donated about 90 passes to the Bicycle Road-E-O contests, Haskill said.

In the first Road-E-O held May 15 at Eastern Junior High School, Stephen Thompson, 10, of 72 N. Shirley St., a Longfellow School student, was first place winner. John E. Huntzinger, 10, of 170 Chippewa Rd., a Webster School student, came away with first place honors in a contest held May 22 at Washington Junior High School.

Among the events Saturday will be a breaking contest, a steering contest, an obstacle course, and bicycle bowling, with 10 bowling pins set along a 100-foot course. Drivers must knock over the pins with their feet as they drive by. Each participant will be given 600 points at the contest's start, and points will be subtracted during the contest for mistakes by the contestants, according to Haskill.

City School Budget Hit by More Pupils, High Costs

(Editor's Note: This is the second of two stories explaining Pontiac Board of Education's reasons for asking voters to approve a 10-year tax program to help pay operating costs and build new classrooms.)

Michigan's costs of educating children are going up faster than Michigan families are spending money—and it's putting the squeeze on Pontiac Public Schools.

That's one reason Pontiac Board of Education will ask voters June 14 to approve a 10-year tax program to raise money to build new schools and help pay day-to-day running expenses.

Here's why the state-wide picture hits Pontiac:

Michigan, every year, saves a multi-million dollar sockful of cash that it gives back to school systems throughout the state. Much of this money comes from the three-cents-a-dollar sales tax, intangibles and other "buying and selling" taxes.

But more children are being born today than years ago.

School costs are going up fast.

Inflation has boosted teachers salaries, hiked the price of textbooks; raised the cost of lights and fuel and of all school supplies.

And Michigan's sockful of state aid funds just isn't growing as fast.

In 1948, Pontiac got $112 a year from the state for every child in school—and that $1,555,000 paid more than two-thirds of the total Pontiac school budget. Local people only paid 31 per cent in property taxes.

This coming year, starting July 1, Pontiac will get $130 a child from the state for each of its roughly 17,000 students. But the state aid total will equal less than half of the schools' $4,847,499.90 budget. Local property taxes will only yield about $2,000,000—leaving a deficit of more than $600,000.

There's apparently only one place to pick up the rest of the money—in voted property taxes.

"Most other big school systems nearby have already voted 'extra' millage to help pay operating costs," Glenn H. Griffin, school board president, said. "Pontiac has held out longer than almost anyone else; but we'll have to ask for it or cut our school program sharply."

School men say if more money isn't forthcoming, each teacher will have to start teaching a bigger number of students right away. Soon, each teacher would work double shifts, teaching one group in the morning, sending them home, and teaching another during the afternoon.

"We don't want this to happen," Griffin said.

"We don't think the people of Pontiac want it to happen.

"But we can't go on running in the red."

The tax increase being asked for in the June 14 school election would really raise Pontiac's total scohol tax about 4.25 mills—or $4.25 on each $1,000 worth of property.

Here's why:

The ballot, officially, asks voters to approve a tax hike of 6.25 mills from 1955-1957 and 8.75 mills from 1958-1964.

Pontiac's last school tax levy totaled 14.25 mills—9.75 for operating, 2 mills for debt, and 2.5 for building. The two-mill debt tax ends this year. That means the school tax rate would drop to 12.25 mills before the 6.25-mill increase was added. The special 2.5 mill building tax ends in 1957, before the new voted increase would become 8.75 mills.

Thus school taxes would be held steady at 18.45 mills for the next 10 years, an increase of about $13 or $14 a year for the taxpayer who owns a home assessed at $3,000.

Brownell Calls for Better Laws to Control Reds

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. says it would be in the best traditions of American justice if Congress used a hundredth of the time studying proposed anti-Communist laws that it is using "to study the affairs of Pvt. Schine."

It would also, he said last night, "lead to carrying out President Eisenhower's promises that the full resources of our government are to be used to destroy the Communist menace here in America."

This was the attorney general's nearest direct reference, in addressing the Los Angeles Bar Assn. to the Army-McCarthy hearings in which Pvt. G. David Schine is a key figure.

Brownell said nothing concerning a statement in Washington yesterday by Roy M. Cohn, counsel for Sen. Joseph McCarthy's investigating committee, that Brownell or his assistant "instigated" the hearings.

The attorney general told a newsman later: "I will wait until I get back to Washington and review the whole picture before I say anything."

One of the proposed laws, he said in his speech, would permit introduction of wire-tap evidence against subversives in court. Others would remove the leadership of Communist-dominated unions, he said, and help employers fire persons trained in espionage and sabotage.

He said 2,500 to 3,000 security risks have been separated from government employment since January 1953.

"In every case we follow the American system of justice," he said. "We scrupulously preserve constitutional rights.

Exchange Students Visit Capital in Milford Class

MILFORD — Among the 71 Milford High School seniors just returned from a trip to the nation's capital were three foreign exchange students who have been guests of Milford families for the past year. They will graduate Wednesday.

Elisabeth Teichert, who lives in Coburg, Germany (northern Bavaria), said she would always cherish her opportunity to see the things she had studied about in school.

Betteke van Steenbergen, from the Hague, on the Netherlands coast, was most impressed with the government buildings in Washington, she said.

"A city of special character" is the way Helmut Castrop summed up his impression of the capital. Helmut comes from Westphalia, Germany.

Commenting on her impressions of America generally, Elisabeth, who has lived with the Phil Haddrills, said she was amazed that young people here are compelled to go to school.

In her town, students may go as far as the fourth grade, then four more years, if they desire. But very few qualify for high school, she said. Rigid rules and examinations permit only a quarter of the students to go on, with only five per cent actually graduating.

Betteke, in summarizing her stay in this country, said she was a little surprised at the lack of enthusiasm of American students about her country.

She feels she hasn't fulfilled her "mission of telling Americans about the wonders of Holland" and of how the people live there. Betteke has lived with the Carl Hanna family.

Helmut, an only child, spent his 12 months with the Frank Houston family. The Houstons have four children and Helmut said he has learned family life here fully.

Truce Parleys to Be Changed

Deadlocked Indochina Conference to Become Semi-Public

GENEVA (AP)—Deadlocked Indochina conference delegates got ready today to take a long weekend breather, then go into semi-public session Tuesday after 15 apparently fruitless secret meetings.

Before the recess there was to be another closed-door session today on the stalemated question of policing the truce proposed for the Far Eastern war.

There was no immediate explanation of the decision to hold a nonrestricted session Tuesday, but it was known Western delegates were fed up with what they labeled propaganda "tirades" by some of the Communists. One Western source said Pham Van Dong, vice premier of the Communist-led Vietminh, was the worst offender.

The informant said Van Dong attacked the French so violently yesterday that France's Foreign Minister Georges Bidault reserved the right to reply this afternoon with a lecture on the manners delegates should observe in session.

The idea behind the secret sessions was to sidetrack Communist propaganda speeches and to speed negotiations by sticking to concrete observations on the question before the conference. However, Western delegation sources said the Reds had not changed their tactics.

Tuesday's meeting, though not open to press or public, will differ from the secret sessions in that each delegation will be permitted to hold news conferences afterwards and give a full account of the proceedings, including texts of speeches.

The deadlock on the policing of any cease-fire seemed as hopeless as ever.

The Communists gave ground slightly yesterday, agreeing with the West that the proposed neutral nations supervisory commission should deal with all phases of the armistice. Previously the Reds had demanded the commission be confined to regulating the import of arms and troops into Indochina.

Teamster Employes Vote Against Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employes at AFL Teamsters Union headquarters voted 28-1 yesterday against being represented by a labor union.

The choice, in a National Labor Relations Board election, was either no union or the AFL Office Employes Union. The Teamsters Union had tried to get on the ballot, but withdrew when charges were threatened that it was an employer trying to represent its own workers.

President Howard Coughlin of the Office Employes Union said the election result was "most surprising" and it was "an indictment of the teamsters when their own employes do not desire to be represented by a union."

Teamsters Vice President Einar Mohn said: "We'll recognize any union that our employes want. This may still turn out to be the Teamsters Union."

Opera Refuses $100,000 Grant, Keeps 'Integrity'

NEW YORK (AP)—The financially hard-pressed Metropolitan Opera has turned down a $100,000 bequest from an amateur composer on grounds that its "artistic integrity" is not for sale.

The money was willed to the Met by McNair Ilgenfritz, wealthy Philadelphia real estate man who died in April, 1953, on condition it produce one of two operas he wrote—"Phedre" and "Le Passant."

The Met announced yesterday that its musical staff examined copies of Ilgenfritz' scores and found them not up to Met standards.

Despite the annual operating deficit of $400,000, directors decided that "under the circumstances and as a matter of policy, the bequest should not be accepted."

The cabbage was worshiped in the religioon of the ancient Egyptians.

Leptospirosis Hysteria Starts

Cattlemen Get Warning Not to Panic; Disease Not On Increase

Hysteria over leptospirosis, a serious livestock disease, is not warranted at this time, the American Foundation for Animal Health stated today.

"While it is true that more and more cases of this disease are being reported throughout the nation," foundation officials said, "it should be recognized that much of this increase is the result of improved diagnosis.

Leptospirosis is difficult to detect because its symptoms resemble those of several other livestock maladies.

However veterinary researchers have now developed special laboratory techniques for diagnosing the disease.

"We must not underestimate the seriousness of leptospirosis as a threat to livestock health," foundation offcials said. On the other hand, the sisuation does not call for the mass hysteria which seems to be developing."

When such symptoms as loss of appetite, jaundice, depression, weakness or breeding losses are noticed, an immediate diagnosis should be obtained.

GREENHOUSE IS HOBBY — 'Growing flowers in summer wasn't enough of a challenge to Harold R. Grogg of 2291 Rosewood Dr. He built his own greenhouse, stocked it with close to 1,000 plants. Above, he and Mrs. Grogg inspect some of the hundreds of carnations, favorites with both of them.

Builds Own Greenhouse

By WILMA GREENWAY

Harold R. Grogg, of 2291 Rosewood Dr., is a man who says little and thinks a lot. He is a man who welcomes a challenge.

Gardening, for him, is not a means to an end. It is an end in itself, an absorbing interest, a test of skill and knowledge, a world to explore.

It is natural that such a man would not be content to stand still. When his vision of a beautiful outdoor garden with great, green pines, cool bowers and hundreds of blooming roses became a reality, Grogg moved forward.

He built himself a greenhouse. He stocked it with seedlings, and he and Mrs. Grogg started on their new adventure of controlled planting.

Now, three years later, their 16 x36 foot greenhouse contains over 1,000 plants. More than 20 varieties are represented in the 350 carnations that grow there. Tulips, hyacinths, narcissi, snapdragons, holly, ivy, chrysanthemums and roses are only a few of the species contained within the glassed-in hut.

One apple-blossom geranium had 48 buds and blooms.

For the foundation of his greenhouse, Grogg hauled load after load of broken cement, discarded at a road resurfacing project. He up-cut the unwieldy pieces and embedded them in cement to make an attractive masonry base. On this he placed commercially manufactured greenhouse sections.

Then he built benches to hold the plants — over 308 square feet of them — and installed a hot air furnace. A hot water heating system is best, he says, but more expensive. Over the dirt floor, which is kept damp at all times, he spread gravel to cut down mud.

Winter temperatures of 60-65 in the daytime, 40-45 at night, are maintained for the growing plants. Humidity is kept at 75 or 80 per cent. In the summer, vents are opened to discourage heat, and overhead cheesecloth curtains screen out the sun.

Besides providing a variety of flowers for replanting in their outside garden, the Groggs find pleasure in keeping their friends supplied with blooms.

They work in the garden or greenhouse almost every night. But when they tire, it's good to relax in the cool shelter of a group of magnificent Austrian pines, or enjoy the beauty of the hundreds of roses that bloom in their outdoor flower beds.

"Roses are my favorite flowers," Mrs. Grogg said, and her husband agreed. But on variety, they differ.

Neige parfum, an especially fragrant all-white rose, is Mrs. Grogg's first choice.

But Harold says, "If I could have only one flower, I'd choose the crimson glory."

Then he nodded his head, like a man who has done too much talking for one day, and went back to tending his plants.

Field cured hay loses nearly twice as much dry matter, and more than twice as much protein, as hay put up as grass silage, a three-year study by the U.S. Department of Agriculture showed.

Not Romantically Either

Paying Attention to Moons Pays for Many Farmers

Even if a gardener is no longer romantically inclined, he may find it worthwhile to pay attention to the changes in the spring and fall moons.

Dr. Robert L. Carolus, a Michigan State College horticulturist, points out that weather data show that changes in the weather generally follow a moon change during spring. Drier times for fitting soil and planting are generally just before or during a full moon—or just before a new moon.

And the moon definitely has some affect on frosts, according to Carolus. Many truck growers along the eastern seaboard delay their first cultivation until after the full moon to avoid the possibility of frost damage.

Both potato and snap bean plants have been frozen on cultivated ground while rows close by escaped damage. A heating engineer would explain the reason this way:

When there is a full moon with a clear sky, heat from the surface soil and the air close above it is lost rapidly by radiation. The heat travels up to the sub-zero upper air.

If soil isn't cultivated, it is more compact. It's a poorer insulator against heat long from its lower depths and its heat is continually being conducted to the surface.

This heat, then, continually replaces the warmth that's radiated to outer space in the neighborhood of the plant. By replacing the heat lost, this prevents frost from developing.

When you roll or irrigate a dry, loose soil, according to Carolus, you're helping this heat transfer to the surface where it fights off light frosts on those clear, still, moonlight nights. The irrigation water adds considerable heat to the soil—water will hold about four times as much heat per unit as soil.

That means a wet soil is a much better conductor of heat than a dry one. It'll transfer more heat to the surface.

But wet soils, Carolus points out, need more heat to warm them in the early spring so that seed will germinate. That means they warm up slowly. And in the fall, frosts will nip plants on the wet soil much quicker than on the higher surrounding areas.

The wet soils also usually are quite dry on the surface and the dry humus is a good insulator to prevent a rapid transfer of heat from the subsurface.

3 Kinds of Bugs Damage Garden

Most Common Worms, Not Spectacular Ones Infest Crops

It is actually some of the most common garden insects that do the greatest amount of damage to garden crops in Pontiac and Oakland County, according to Edmond W. Alchin, Oakland County agricultural agent.

"It is very seldom that outbreaks of such pests as Army worms, Japanese beetle, and the like cause the real damage to the garden, although they are more spectacular," he says.

Alchin lists cut worms, wire worms and white grubs as some of the most common insects which infest plants.

"Cut worms are the larvae of moths. They are about one-half to one inch long and appear early in the season — accompanied by an enormous appetite," Alchin says.

"They cut off the plant at or near the ground level — especially set plants, such as tomatoes and cabbage.

"Cut worms may be controlled by dusting the ground around the plant with five per cent DDT dust. Poison baits can be purchased but these must be placed out after dusk and before dawn or birds and other non-pests may pick them up."

Alchin says wire worms bear that name because they resemble brown links of wire.

"Wire worms are very hard to control," he states. "They do an especially great amount of damage on sweet corn and potatoes.

"DD, a soil fumigant, can be applied as a liquid. This chemical changes to a gas in the soil at relatively high temperatures. Don't apply, it until temperatures reach 60 degrees."

The agent says that white grubs, like wire worms, are usually encountered where sod or grass has been growing. He describes them as white, heavy-bodied larvae, much larger than cut worms.

"They feed on roots and are especially troublesome in corn, bean peas, tomatoes and potatoes.

"The DD application will also take care of the white grubs."

For further information concerning specific bugs, Alchin invites readers to call or write to his office, 1260 West Blvd., Waterford Township.

This Week's Garden Tips for the Area

If you're having trouble remembering to spray, thumbtack a calendar in the garage and mark the date and treatment each time you go to work with spray gun duster, weed-killer.

Wait until the end of summer before planting more lettuce. It doesn't like hot weather which is what we're heading into.

Roses, heavy feeders, thrive with application of liquid manure at about two week intervals.

Be careful about hurrying the houseplants outdoors. Wait until the nights are uniformly benign, and then put them in shady spots in the garden, sinking the pots to the rims in soil.

Don't dig tulip bulbs for summer storage until the foliage has turned brown. Then put them in a cool, moist spot and see each bulb has air circulating around it.

Peat and other material, used as a mulch, keeps the soil under it moist, a backsaver any year and a plant saver if there's a crucial water situation and watering is forbidden or cut down.

Transplanting and sowing can be continued for awhile longer — and glads should be set in at 10-day intervals.

Quizzing the Gardener

Q—What can be done to get rid of bees nested in our wall?

A—Destroy them by fumigating, or spraying, or dusting with strong DDT or methoxychlor.

Q—Please suggest some perennials with gray foliage for our flower border.

A—Low-growing, up to one foot: Silver yarow, achillea argentea; snow-in-summer, cerstium tomentosum; catmint, nepeta mussini.

Medium-height, up to 2½ feet: English lavender, lavendula officinalis; lavender cotton, santalina chamaecyparissus.

Tall-growing, 3 feet and over: Artemisia Silver King, Jerusalem sage, phlomis fruiticosa.

Q—How long does it take annual seeds, like petunia and zinnia, to germinate?

A—Most seed germinates in from seven to 14 days. Zinnias and a few others may be up in two or three days in hot weather. Do not force germination, let nature take her time.

Q—Chickweed is taking over the soil in the rose bed. How can it be eliminated, since any weed killer will damage the roses?

A—By hand pulling plus almost daily cultivation of the soil. After June 1, also apply an inch and a half layer of sawdust or ground corncobs as a summer mulch.

Q—The storage space in our home is alive with hornets. How do we get rid of them?

A—Other than engaging a registered exterminator who will fumigate the house, I suggest blowing 5 or 10 per cent DDT dust into the storage space and other areas which may be infested with the insects.

Lower Hog Prices Seen

A break in hog prices is forecast for July or August, with most experts predicting that prices will hit a fall and winter bottom of somewhere around $17 or $18.

Insects, Weeds Often Valuable

Use Sprays and Other Control Measures With Caution in Garden

By RAYMOND C. KELLER
Parks and Recreation Dept.

Too often the home gardener thinks of plants and animal life in relation to the home grounds only in terms of the things he is growing and the noxious weeds and harmful insects he is troubled with.

In reality, only a few of the millions of insects and other forms of animal life and plant life living with us in our garden are a nuisance to us.

In fact, if it were not for this teeming life around us our soil, air, and water would be barren and man would soon perish.

Let's think a minute of the millions of beneficial bacteria and fungi that inhabit a cubic inch of fertile soil. They make it a porous, spongy, living material in which plants and animals can grow because the elements of growth have been broken down into just the right form for use.

Algae and many other forms of plant and animal life perform this same service for water in our ponds and lakes.

The lowly earthworm far surpasses in services the harmful effects of a few cutworms and the ladybird beetle will kill enough aphids and mites to make her one of the gardeners best friends.

Without the birds, toads, frogs, spiders and many other forms of insect eating animals we soon would be overrun with hordes of insects.

Many of our noxious weeds perform a good service for us also in providing a protective blanket for an otherwise bare soil and in bringing up from below by their extra long roots many of the elements of growth for our use later on.

We must remember that when we kill harmful insects with most of our sprays we also kill many millions more of the beneficial ones.

When we apply chemical to the soil for control of grubs and cutworms we also kill the lowly earthworm.

Without food supply our bird, frog, and spider population will diminish rapidly. When we apply weed chemicals we often kill more than we want and remove the protective blanket from the soil.

In our garden, we must spray for insect control and weed control or else in many cases the garden would be lost.

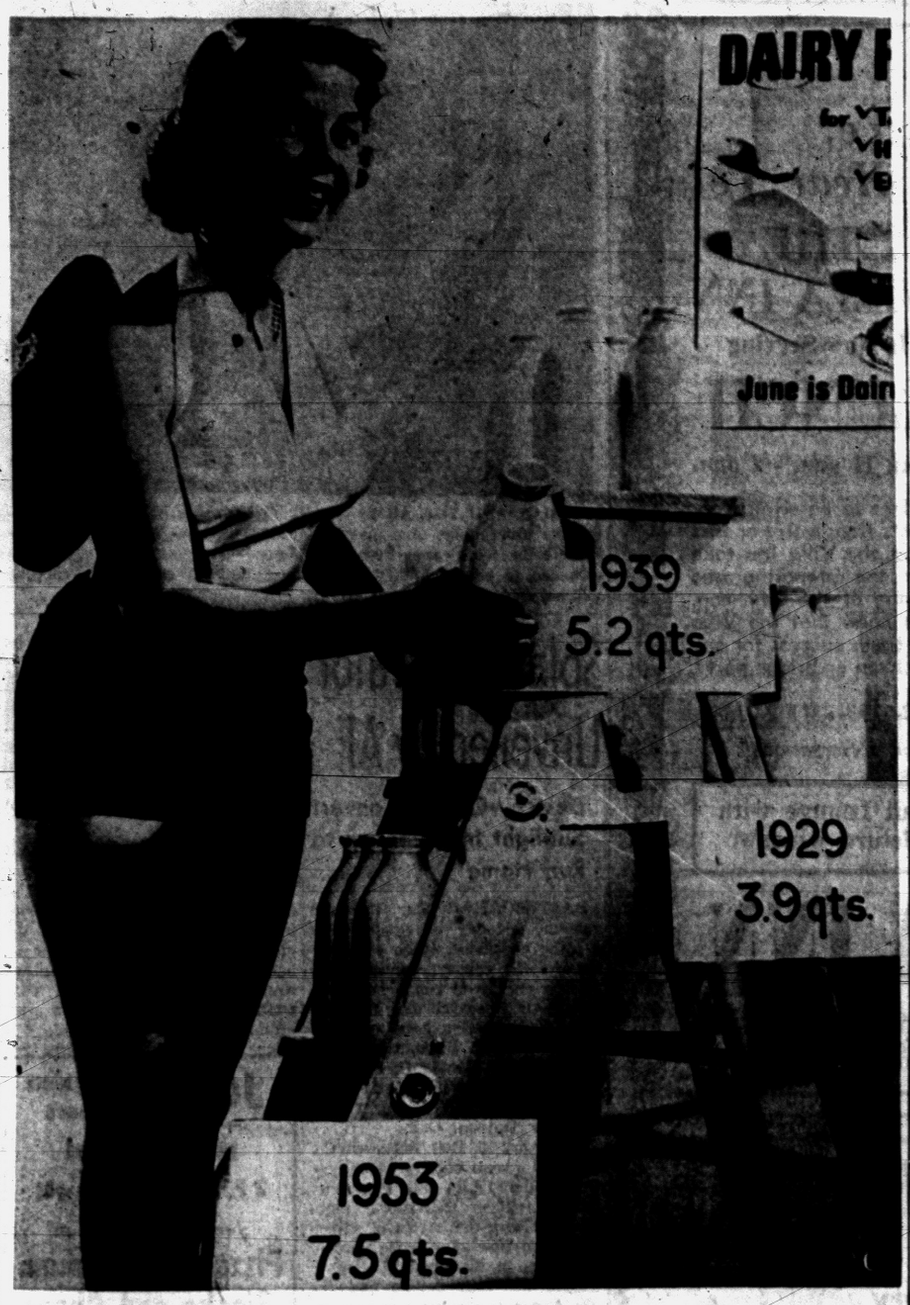

However, we generally use far more chemical than is needed for our particular control and sometimes we spray far too often.

Let's use our control measures with caution and at minimum amounts and think just a bit of the many millions of other plants and animal forms around us which are our friends and are largely helping us grow better gardens.

Apply Fertilizer to Get Greatest Over-All Return

In applying fertilizer in a rotation it is best to apply it to the crop or crops where it will give the greatest over-all returns. This must be determined for each rotation.

However, in most rotations where corn is included, it is well to apply the required fertilizer for corn whether or not it is applied to other crops in the rotation.

SOME MILKMAN!—Miss Reggie Dombeck steps on a "ladder of milk" representing the history of milk-purchasing power through the years. In 1953, the average industrial worker's pay for an hour bought 7½ quarts of home-delivered milk. In 1939, an hour's pay purchased only 5.2 quarts; in 1929, only 3.9 quarts.

Milk Is Big Business in Oakland County

By JOE HAAS

This being Michigan Dairy Month, attention is drawn to that phase of Oakland County's agricultural production. It probably is the one kind of farming that has shown the greatest increase in recent years in this area.

With the growth of population both in this county and in the entire metropolitan area, our farmers are keeping pace with their milk production. Milk trucks are a common sight on our highways.

The state's largest milk distributing agency has its second largest processing station in the county, at Ortonville. The largest such station is at Imlay City in adjoining Lapeer County.

Coming into general use at about the same time as the start of the increase in population, the milking machine has been a big factor in enabling farmers to cope with the increased demand, and to do so on a profitable basis.

JOE HAAS

Dairying is distinctly a big business in Oakland County. On many farms it is the principal source of income. On quite a number it is the only source, when coupled with the beef production that goes with it.

One of its principal functions is that it supplies a use for the thousands of acres of so called meadow or pasture land, which previously brought but little income to its owners. Our numerous hillsides, too steep for growing crops, provide excellent pastures.

It also is a means of turning into money the alfalfa, corn and other silage products raised in our county. The modern farmer considers his silo to be a milk bin. His cows are only the means of turning it into the finished product.

Increased dairy production has been the means of elevating the standard of breeds among our cattle. Until our farmers went into milk production on a large scale, their cattle breeding was largely on a hit and miss basis.

Recent years have brought to Oakland County some of the outstanding registered and other purebred herds in the state. Many of these were started with only a single cow or two, but now many of them run into three figures, and a few are around the thousand mark.

It is quite significant that with the large increase in milk production, the making of butter has fallen to almost a negligible quantity. Farmers find it more profitable to sell their whole milk, rather than go through the churning process with even a small part of it. Butter is on the purchase list of most farmer wives when they go to the grocery. Modern methods have changed her from a seller into a buyer.

As an adjunct to the growing of crops, the natural fertilizer produced from a herd of dairy cows is a major factor in maintaining the productivity of the soil. It saves the farmer a large sum, each year which he otherwise would spend for artificial fertilizer.

With its many lakes and streams, with hundreds of miles of frontage not already occupied by homes, Oakland County furnishes watering opportunities for grazing cattle not usually found in such an area. This eliminates a task that makes possible larger herds with the same amount of labor.

The many flowing wells in the northern part of the county also are a big help in this respect. Cow watering is not a several times a day task.

With such beautiful herds dotting the landscape, and the flow of the lacteal fluid going forth in such rich and health giving properties, Oakland County surely has reason to be in the forefront in the observance of Michigan Dairy Month.

Reed Canary Grass Best for Waterways

Reed canary grass in its area of adaptation is probably one of the best grasses to stop erosion in waterways.

One method of establishing it in deep gullies is to sow the seed along the banks and as soon as sods are formed push them into the gully with a bulldozer or other mechanical device where they will become established in the bottom of the gully.

This was done in one instance in Iowa where the gully was six feet deep and 8 to 10 feet across.

An excellent stand developed and was maintained over the entire gully with very heavy run-off.

Population of the Union of South Africa has now increased to an estimated 12 million persons but when the British took it over about 150 years ago it was only about 50,000.

Glads Available in 3 Varieties

Sizes Vary but Don't Fret — Blooms Always Beautiful

There are several reasons folks call gladioli glads.

One is that it comes naturally and you don't have to worry about the pronunciation of the longer word—or the spelling of the plural.

Some folks stress the "di;" others the "glad" and the "o." The plural forms include the latin form ending "oli," or the American version "oluses." Both pronunciations and both plural forms are correct, with the language purists giving the edge to the Latin version.

The word is derived from the Latin "gladius," which means small sword. Gladiator comes from the same word.

Glad you know about the word Glad?

The other reason for calling gladioli glads comes closer to the garden. They do gladden the landscape with beauty and elegance. They lend themselves to dramatic cut flower arrangements and last, but certainly not least, they give even the beginner something he can brag about.

Here's some basic tips on the handsome and happy blooms:

They come in three general varieties: Exhibition, large decorative and small decorative. The small decoratives include miniatures with blooms as tiny as three-quarters of an inch or less across.

You don't have to be concerned about the size of the blooms, for all varieties are beautiful. But the size of the bulb is important.

Any bulb smaller than an inch in diameter can't be relied on to bloom. Most dependable seed and garden houses guarantee their bulbs and stand back of their guarantee—both for bloom and disease free bulbs.

The gladioli bulbs property are, called "corms"—but the common terminology is to call them bulbs.

Glads like sun and a well-drained soil. In light soil, such as sandy loam, plant about six inches deep; heavy soil plant four inches deep.

A succession of plantings—about a row a week—is suggested for continuous bloom.

Cultivate shallowly, both before and after bloom, and keep the bed weed free. Watering is important. Use a seeper once a week and water to a depth of at least one inch.

Lindane Approved as Sheep, Cattle Dip

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has given its blessing to the use of benzene hexachloride or lindane on sheep and cattle for the control of scabies, according to news received at Michigan State College.

The USDA previously permitted only dips containing nicotine sulphate or lime sulfur for sheep and cattle shipped in interstate commerce.

Michigan legislators in 1953, however, approved the use of BHC and lindane for dips. But until now, livestock that had been dipped with the chemicals could not be shipped outside the state.

The chemicals already have been used this spring for outbreaks of scabies in Michigan.

Solar Generator Unveiled by AF

Device Could Convert Sunlight Into Energy to Run Home

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Air Force announced today development of a solar generator which when refined could convert sunlight into enough energy to run a home.

The Air Research and Development Command said the new generator evolved through research conducted by Donald C. Reynolds and Lt. Col. Gerard M. Leies at the Wright Air Development Center near Dayton, Ohio.

Last April 25, Bell Telephone Co. unveiled a solar battery which converts sunlight into electricity through silicon transistors. Light striking razor-thin strips of silicon creates a flow of electric current in atoms in the strips.

Both the Bell device and the Air Force generator are capable of storing up the energy taken from the sun.

The Air Force generator uses cadmium sulfide, a yellow powder employed as a pigment in the manufacture of paint.

The powder is processed into crystal form. The Air Force said a "wafer-thin slab" of the crystal, four feet by fifteen feet, would supply enough current to take care of a house.

Col. Leies and Reynolds said previously used substances failed to provide enough current to be practical.

The pilot model supplies a charge of one quarter of a volt and can operate an electric clock.

The slab capable of supplying the power needs of a house could either rest on the roof or be built into it, the ARDC announcement said.

The crystal in the first model is about the size of a sugar cube.

"Attached to opposite sides of the crystal are electrodes, or terminals. A wire running from the positive electrode to a motor or battery and back to the negative electrode forms the circuit. That simple device is the solar generator," the Air Force said.

Fireman Crashes Fire, Gives It the Works

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Fireman Wilbur Dunker, 41, was booked on charges of hit-run-driving, drunk driving and failure to heed a siren after he showed up at a fire during his off-duty hours.

He drove his automobile over fire lines, knocked down a traffic policeman and a fireman. A motorcycle officer overtook him 10 blocks away.

Deplores Persecution of Jews in Romania

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top state Department official says Communist Romania has sentenced scores of Jewish citizens to long prison terms in recent months in order to use them as hostages to control Romania's 250,000 Jews.

Dep. Under Secretary of State Robert Murphy said yesterday the "widespread persecution" of Romanian Jews was a cause "for deep concern on the part of the Department of State."

Joan Bennett Gets Break in Angels Play

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — I am happy that Joan Bennett has been given the best break she's had in many a year. She gets the top femme role in "We're No Angels" (based on the New York play "Angels Cooking").

And what a break — Joan plays opposite Humphrey Bogart, who is sure to be up for an Academy Award for this same picture.

Bogey plays the boy friend, and Leo Carroll, British actor, plays Joan's husband.

Clark Gable usually gets what he goes after, and he wants "Soldier of Fortune," Ernest K. Gann's new book which comes out later this year.

Clark read the galley proof, took it to Darryl Zanuck, and I am told 20th now has an option on it. After the success of Gann's "The High and the Mighty," the author is putting a quarter of a million dollar price tag on his new tome.

The role that Clark is interested in playing is that of a soldier of fortune operating in modern Hong Kong.

The C. B. De Mille version of "The Ten Commandments" is the story of the young Moses as a warrior and a lover. C. B. has completed the top male roles, with the addition of Cornel Wilde as Joshua, but so far none of the important feminine roles has been cast.

As of today, the male cast is: Charlton Heston as Moses, Yul Brynner as Rameses II, Sir Cedric Hardwicke as Sethi (the man who raised Moses), and now Cornel as Joshua.

Betty Grable says everytime Harry James goes on tour someone rumors that they have separated.

"Believe me," said Betty, "nothing could be further from the truth, Harry and I are working on a deal to make a picture together. We just bought a house in Del Mar, and we have been separated less this past year than at any time in our 11 years of marriage."

"If I go to the races and sit in the box with the man who trains our horses, someone says 'Betty has a boy friend.' I think Harry is even more upset than I at these rumors of our separation," said Betty.

Glad to say Carl Brisson is out of the Minneapolis Hospital and feeling fine. He'll take a brief rest and then go to London to fulfill an engagement.

Little Patti Kate, daughter of Kathryn Grayson and Johnny Johnson, will see her father entertain for the first time today, when she sees him and Hildegarde at the Hotel Statler. Kathryn was terribly broken up over the tragic drowning of her brother Michael's two-and-a-half year old son.

Next Wednesday Deborah Kerr sails on the Queen Mary for Europe for "End of the Affair."

Gloria De Haven and Jeff Chandler again at the Encore. This is becoming an every night date.

Disney Artist Visits Schools Here Monday

Storyman - sketch artist Nick George from the Walt Disney Studios, Hollywood, will be paying a visit to a number of Pontiac schools on Monday.

The visit will be on the same day that the Walt Disney film, "Pinocchio," opens here at the Strand Theater.

Mr. George will bring to life with chalk many of the beloved Disney characters in the morning assemblies of the following city schools:

Lincoln Junior High, double assembly starting at 9 a.m.; Wever Junior High, at 10 a.m.; Baldwin Elementary at 10:45; Jefferson Junior High at 1 p.m.; Bagley Elementary at 1:45 p.m., and Longfellow Elementary at 2:30 p.m.

Jimmy Palmer Playing at Walled Lake Casino

Recently named "America's most promising sweet band" in a nation-wide poll, Jimmy Palmer and his orchestra will be the dancing attraction at the Walled Lake Casino Ballroom, tonight, Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Jimmy and his group, Mercury recording artists, are popular for their platters, "Somebody Stole My Gal," and "Never, Never, Never."

Pilgrims Shot in Siam

BANGKOK (AP)—Two hundred pilgrims seeking miracle cures from a 60-year-old Chinese priest were shot at and robbed Wednesday 50 miles north of here. Police said two were killed and two were wounded.

Hogan 'Too Weak,' Delays Test of U.S. Open Site

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Ben Hogan, the champion of all golf, has put off his first official crack at the heavyweight champion of golf courses—massive, fanged Baltusrol, but the 150,000 handicap golfers across the nation still will get a chance to outscore him tomorrow.

Hogan was to test the 7,027-yard, par 70 Baltusrol, which has been armed with new rough and sand traps in the third annual National Golf Day in which the handicap golfers of the country matched their scores against his.

They still will shoot their rounds, but Bantam Ben will wait until June 12 before testing Baltusrol, scene of the National Open June 17-19.

"I'm too weak to do justice to the event," Hogan said yesterday. The 41-year-old shotmaker has been ill since last week with a virus attack. He was forced to withdraw from the Colonial Open Saturday and was bedded several days.

"I'm not in very good physical condition," he said, after arriving in New York yesterday. "I've been troubled with a cold since March. I got over most of my aches and pains but I still feel pretty miserable, and my golf game certainly isn't sharp."

Then the leathery Texan buoyed a thousand golf hopes with the statement:

"I don't see how I can possibly win the Open."

Hogan said the virus and his new club manufacturing business had interfered with his golf to the extent that he had become rusty. "I'll play in the Open," he added, "but I don't see how I could get on top of my game in two weeks."

After arriving in New York from Texas, Hogan moved immediately to Baltusrol where he began practice. He only hit around a bit yesterday and planned little more today.

National Golf Day is sponsored by Life Magazine and the Professional Golfers Assn. and has the okay of the U. S. Golf Assn.

Golfers pay a dollar at their individual clubs to match scores with the champion. If, with their handicap, they can beat him, they are given a medal so declaring.

In 1952, when the event was started, a total of 80,000 competed. Last year this number rose to 109,000 and this year 150,000 is expected, with entries from as far away as Saudi Arabia and from U. S. servicemen all over the world.

* * *

Proceeds go to the USO and to the U. S. Golf Fund.

Bobbles Beat Tigers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both Detroit Tigers and Washington Senators cracked at the seams last night. Senators escaped with the lesser damage and won the ball game 4-3 for their 2nd straight in the series.

This left Ned Garver with his 2nd defeat in six games, an undeserved one in the face of his own good work on the mound and at the plate, and also left the Tigers in a deeper concern today over their fortunes on the road.

Tigers' defeat was their 6th in eight games on tour and their third in four games in the east.

To be sure, fourth place was still relatively secure for manager Fred Hutchinson's young men. However, the question was beginning to pose itself whether they'd make it safely the rest of the way. In addition to their series finale here today, Tigers will be playing in Boston, New York and Philadelphia before they can go home.

For today's windup it's to be Ted Gray (1-2) for Detroit against Washington's slick Bob Porterfield (6-3).

Both Garver and the Senators' Maury McDermott did well last night, but the Tiger errors were the more damaging.

Miscues afield figured in three-run rallies by each team—Washington in the 1st and Detroit in the 5th—and a Tiger error opened the way to the Senators' winning run in the 6th.

Charley Kress, playing 1st base for the injured Walt Dropo, muffed a soft grounder by McDermott and, after a walk, Wayne Terwilliger singled Maury home with the run that counted.

Dropo had left play in the 4th inning. He hurt his elbow in a collision with Terwilliger at first base in the second.

Senators got only seven hits off Garver. Three of them came in the 1st, around an error, for three runs. Mickey Vernon doubled and Ray Boone bobbled Roy Sievers' grounder. Singles by Jim Busby and Tom Wright brought in the runs.

Tigers, who got to McDermott for eight hits, squared it with three runs of their own in the 5th.

Bob Wilson, the new catcher, singled and Garver slashed a long double into center to score him. Terwilliger and Eddie Yost made errors on successive infield plays and Garver scored. On one, Harvey Kuenn got a life and Bob Nieman singled him home.

Tigers lost a chance in the 7th. With two out and Frank Bolling on second from a double, Nieman walloped one deep into center but Wright chased it and pulled it down.

Record-Breaking Show Set June 24-27 at Open Hunt

By H. GUY MOATS

What has been described by those in charge of arrangements, as the largest horse show in the long history of the event, will take place at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club, June 24-27.

IRVING J. DUFFY

Announcement has just been made of the dates and the election of Irving A. Duffy, prominent Bloomfield Hills show horse owner, as presidentof the Detroit Horse Show, sponsors for the state's biggest and most colorful horse show.

This will be the 37th year that the affair has been held at the Open Hunt Club, and the advance entries indicate, say show officials, that the 1954 event will attract the largest number of entries in its history.

Ticket sales again will be handled by the Boys' Clubs of Detroit and Pontiac, and they will receive a large percentage of the receipts for use in expanding their clubhouse facilities.

Named vice presidents of the show were William H. Beatty, Charles E. Carey, John R. Davis, Mrs. Graham John Graham, G. Fred Morris, E. S. Nichols, C. M. Pierce and Roy C. Pulver. Mrs. Carlton M Higbie and Miss Charlotte Nichols are co-secretaires and Joseph N. Monaghan is counsel.

Committee chairmen include Wendell S. Smith, stables; Paul Foley, advertising, and James P. Chapman, publicity. Thomas E. Wilson and Carleton C. Patterson, joint Masters of the Hounds at the Bloomfield Open Hunt, are also active in staging the show.

The Detroit Horse Show is a member of the American Horse Shows Association and is ranked as a Class A show, the highest rating given to horse shows. This means that winners in the Detroit show are awarded points toward the National Horse Show Finals held each year at Madison Square Garden in New York.

Prairie Chicken, Sharptails Drop in Spring Count

LANSING (AP) — A spring check indicated that hunters will find about the same amount of woodcock in Michigan this year but prairie chicken and sharptail numbers will be slightly down.

State Conservation Department said the spring count on the three species is nearly completed.

The woodcock population was believed to be about the same. Some decline was noted in the prairie chicken and sharptail numbers, especially in the Upper Peninsula.

The sharptail population on Drummond Island was down about 20 per cent. Early reports from the northern Lower Peninsula showed prairie chicken and sharptail numbers were down, especially in the Fletcher area west of Higgins Lake.

Count of ruffed grouse still is being made and reports at this time are inconclusive, the department said.

'Tainted' Runs Give Senators 19th Win

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Senators owned their 19th victory of the season today after last night's 4-3 defeat of the Tigers. But on an earned run basis the score would have been 1-0 in favor of Detroit.

The Senators came up with their four tallies helped by errors by Ray Boone and Charlie Kress. Two of Detroit's runs also were tainted as Wayne Terwilliger and Eddie Yost erred in the Senators' three run fifth inning.

'M' Picks Canadian

ANN ARBOR (AP) — For a third time in recent years a Canadian will captain Michigan's track team.

This time it's to be John Moule of Hamilton, Ont., a miler whose best time has been 4:12.9. Moule, a junior, was elected captain last night.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Pilgrims never had it so good. Arizona hunters killed 1,216 turkeys during the 1953 season. This was a 55 per cent increase in kill over the previous season. In two years the turkey kill for Arizona has more than doubled.

Wilson Talks of '56 Olympics

'Tug' Says U. S. Will Do Well Despite Much Russian Preparation

CHICAGO (INS) — K. L. (Tug) Wilson, president of the United States Olympic committee, believes the U. S. will do well in the 1956 Olympic games despite elaborate preparations by the Russians.

He said yesterday in Chicago that "we have things in athletics here that Russia simply doesn't have."

Wilson pointed out that, officially, there is no team championship. Sports writers who cover the event long ago formed an unofficial scoring method, ranging from 10 points for first place to one for sixth, in each event.

He added that the 1956 games in Melbourne will provide "perhaps the closest competition in history" with smaller nations pushing the U. S. and Russia for individual championships.

Jackie Robinson Faces Possible Damage Suit

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn Dodgers, was notified Thursday that an attorney had been retained by a couple who claimed they were hit, Wednesday night, by a bat Robinson tossed after being thumbed out of the game with the Braves.

The couple said they were undecided about a possible damage suit. Mrs. Peter Wolinsky said the bat struck her above the left eye and hit her husband on the forehead. They were seated in a box behind the Brooklyn dugout.

HURDLES CHAMPION — MacAllister (Mac) Booth of Birmingham, shows the form that has made him Cornell University's outstanding hurdler for the past two years. Indoor high hurdles and outdoor lows champ of the Ivy League, Booth will compete with the combined Cornell-Penn team against Oxford and Cambridge a week from Saturday in London, Eng. Booth is credited this year with a 22.9-second clocking in the 220-yard lows, 2nd best in the nation and only two-tenths of a second off the Cornell record set by Olympic champ Charley Moore in 1951. A 1950 graduate of Birmingham High School, Booth won three letters in track and one each in football and basketball. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Booth, 845 Fairfax, Birmingham.

Santee to Shoot Works Tonight on Fast Compton Track Seeking Record Mile

By BOB MYERS

COMPTON, Calif. (AP)—Compton's Ramsaur Field, a small, cramped and improbable site for a major event, welcomes some of the world's greatest track and field athletes tonight.

The place boasts one attribute, if nothing else—one of the fastest racing tracks in the nation—and over it will run the mighty Wes Santee of Kansas, taking dead aim at Roger Bannister's 3:59.4 mile record in the feature event of the evening.

"I'm going to try real hard," Santee promised.

Sharing interest with the Santee appearance will be events featuring shot-potter Parry O'Brien, ready to improve on his mark of 60 feet 5⅝ inches, and other outstanding stars such as pole vaulter Bob Richards, half-miler Mal Whitfield, quarter-miler George Rhoden, discus star Fortune Gordien, sprinter Andy Stanfield, and long distance runner Horace Ashenfelter.

Santee, whose college career ended with the second fastest mile in history, a mark of 4:01.3 set last Saturday, repeated on his arrival here that he hopes "to run faster—the best time I've had ever."

* * *

The track events begin at 10:30 p.m. (EST), and the mile race is on the schedule for 10:50 p.m. (EST).

Ramsaur Field can handle a crowd of 9,000. The weather promises to be cool and dry.

Santee, slated to run at Los Angeles next Friday night against Josy Barthel of Luxembourg and at Stockton, Calif., in the 880 tomorrow night, enters the Marine Corps about June 13.

His 4:01.3 last week broke the American record he set here last year with 4:02.4.

He will not lack for all the pace he needs, and at least one rival, Sweden's Ingvar Ericsson, will be out not merely to beat the clock, but to whip the Great Santee.

Fours Towns 9 Wins

Gary Welch's 3-run home run in the 2nd inning sparked Four Towns School to the elementary school softball championship of Waterford Township Wednesday at Drayton Plains. Four Towns defeated defending champion Williams Lake, 8-6, behind Bob Diamond's pitching.

Entertain Columbus

Rangers Open Home Polo Season Sunday

The Ivory Rangers begin their quest for national honors when they clash with the strong Columbus Polo Club on the turf field at the Lahser and Eight Mile Road grounds at 3 p.m. Sunday. Columbus will return for an indoor game under the lights Wednesday, June 9, at the Ivory Club.

Columbus has a well balanced, veteran team that is always dangerous. In the 1953 campaign, the Rangers won 30 out of 33 games, their best mark ever. But Columbus dealt the Rangers a stunning 15-5 loss after the red-shirted polo ists had won 14 straight last season. It was the worst beating the Rangers have taken in a dozen years.

In men and mounts, the Rangers are at an all-time high for the 1954 season. Capt. Jack Ivory, who carries six goals outdoors and seven goals indoors, has looked better than ever in Spring training. He played polo almost every day from December through March in San Antonio, where most of the country's best players assembled for the Winter months.

Mac Stefani, 52, whose comeback has thrilled the polo world, has shown his deft scoring touch in early scrimmages. Jack Stefani, 22, his son, counted 82 goals in 27 games last year, a surprising display of sustained scoring power for a comparatively young player.

Fred Lutzow, a veteran of 15 years in polo at 32, is also very much in contention for a regular assignment. Davey Williams, Bob Peterson, Rich Gibson and Mike Wacker are also seeking to break into the starting line-up. The team that faces Columbus will not be named until late next week.

Charles' Battle Plans: 'Keep Rocky Busy'

By JACK HAND

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (AP) — Ezzard Charles has drawn a simple battle plan for use against heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano, June 17. It boils down to three little words—"keep him busy."

The ex-champion, now 32, learned his lesson by watching the two Marciano-Jersey Joe Walcott fights, the first on theater TV and the second from ringside.

"As long as Walcott could keep him busy he was doing all right," said Charles today in his dressing room at this Catskill Mountain resort. "But once he stopped pressing, he was finished.

Only 2 Favored to Retain Titles in NCAA Event

Lea of USC, Bennett of Marquette Rated 440, Broad Jump Tops

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Only two of the defending NCAA track and field champions appear out-and-out favorites to retain their crowns in the national meet at Ann Arbor, Mich., next week.

Quarter-miler Jim Lea of Southern California and broad jumper John Bennett of Marquette were winners in 1953 at Lincoln and have the best performances in their specialties during the current season.

Statistics released today by the NCAA Service Bureau of performances through June 1 show Lea with the best 440 time of 47 seconds flat and Bennett with a top leap of 25 feet 8½ inches. Lou Jones of Manhattan has 47.3 in the quarter and Neville Price of Oklahoma is second in the broad jump with 25-2.

* * *

Willie Williams of Illinois, defending 100-yard dash champion, has been beaten twice this season by Dean Smith of Texas who shares the top spot in the century with Joe Graffio of Southern California, both with times of 9.5 seconds.

Fred Barnes of Fresno State, winner of the pole vault last season, is second in that event with a best vault of 14-6, but his performance in the nationals depends largely on how well an injured leg has mended. Earl Poucher of Florida has the best vault of this season, 14-7¼.

In the high jump, Milt Mead of Michigan, and Mark Smith of Wayne each had part of a three-way tie for first last season, but neither has been a standout this season.

Kill 95,000 Deer in '53 Gun Season

LANSING, (AP) — Firearm hunters killed about 95,000 deer last year, the state conservation department said a check of its hunter report cards showed Thursday.

The department said the total was someshat higher than earlier estimated.

Early traffic surveys estimated that hunters took about 18,000 deer during the special seasons in the northern Lower Peninsula. A later check upped the estimate to about 26,000 deer.

The poll showed that during the regular buck season about 26,000 deer were taken in the Upper Peninsula, about 41,500 in the northern Lower Peninsula and about 1,500 in the southern Lower Peninsula.

THURSDAY'S STARS
By The Associated Press

BATTING — Hank Thompson, New York Giants, equalled a major league record by hitting three straight home runs in leading the Giants to a 13-8 victory over St.Louis.

PITCHING — Ed Lopat, New York Yankees, scattered 11 hits as he scored his sixth victory of the season, a 2-1 decision over Cleveland.

Speed Is Prevalent in Other Sports, but Baseball Games, Golf Matches Drag Out Longer and Longer

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK — This dizzy age we live in may produce faster mile runners and higher pole vaulters and jumpers.

It may break all swimming records from 100 yards to the English Channel. It may be packed with speed in many, many angles of existence. But in baseball and golf it is the age of the crawl and the limp — the age of the creeping pestilence.

I recall innumerable ball games pitched by such masters as Old Pete Alexander, Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson. These games were usually played in an hour and 25 minutes. Now and then they went to two hours — but this was exceptional.

Alex, of course, was trying to prove he was a great actor before the TV camera. He was merely a pitcher — not an Edwin Booth.

How it it today? Recently there were two nine-inning games in one day that lasted three hours and 25 minutes.

Three-hour games are the rule now, not the exception. Nine inning ball games run almost twice as long as they did in old-fashioned, happier years. They average at least an hour longer — and things seem to be getting worse, instead of vice versa.

Golf is no better in this respect. Recently they started Gene Sarazen off ahead of the pack in a big tournament. Today it usually takes about four hours to finish a round. Sarazen is well over 50. He won his first Open 32 years ago. Yet in this round he and his partners finished in two hours and five minutes.

I've timed more than a few 18 holes that lasted above four hours. You rarely get one under three hours plus. I have watched numerous golfers use up to ten minutes on the putting green while operating an engineering project.

I have seen crack golfers walk 200 yards from their drives to the back of the putting green. I saw one big tournament in which a group of players had a gap of six holes open ahead of them.

There must be some solution to the problem. Some genius will come along soon with a remedy, but I'm afraid he won't get it from the players. Apparently most of them would rather loaf or dawdle. Yet a speedup is badly needed for these two games that are gradually fading on the vine.

All-Star Game to Use College Football Rules

Agreement Reached by Lions, NFL, Chicago Backer of Big Tilt

CHICAGO (AP)—The complete set of collegiate rules, providing for limited substitution rather than the two-platoon system, will be enforced for the All-Star Football Game in Soldier Field Aug. 13.

Agreement on the matter was reached yesterday when Edwin J. Anderson, president of the National Football League Detroit Lions, said:

"As world champions for the second straight year we now feel we can serve the best interests of football by adhering to the 1953 collegiate rule book for this year's game."

The statement followed by 24 hours plans to end a stalemate between the Lions, NFL and the sponsoring Chicago Tribune over the substitution rules by a board of arbitration.

Arch Ward, Chicago Tribune sports editor, said he was pleased by the decision of the Lions.

"I had expected the Lions and the National Football League to live up to the All-Star game agreement," he said. "But I did not ask for concession on all points."

"I am happy that the Lions elected to abide by our contract with the league and thus paved the way for both groups to devote fall planning for the game," said Ward.

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell said in Philadelphia:

"I congratulate the Detroit Lions and their head coach Buddy Parker for making this request (that the game be played under the complete set of college rules). It is the mark of a true champion. They have placed the game itself above all other considerations."

* * *

Parker said that under the single platoon his ace quarterback, Bobby Layne, will see limited action. He said he probably would abandon the Lions' customary T-formation and use a single wing with Doak Walker playing the key tail back position.

Thompson Ties NL Homer Mark

Giants 3rd Baseman Raps Out 3 Off the Cards' Staley

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Hank Thompson of the New York Giants was convinced today, after tying a modern National League home run record, that there's no pitcher he'd rather face than Gerald Staley.

Thompson tied the modern league mark for consecutive home runs in a single game by rapping out one in each of his first three times at bat—all off Staley—as the Giants overpowered the St. Louis Cardinals 13-8 last night.

The 28-year-old New York third baseman also singled and, in all, drove across eight runs.

Outfielder Willie Mays accounted for the Giants' five other runs with two homers. This put him into a tie with Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs for the league lead in home runs at 16.

"I kinda like Staley's pitching," Thompson said after the game.

He explained his homers came on three different types of pitches—the first one a curve, the second on a change-up, and the third on a fast ball.

Then, grinning, he recalled he hadn't hit a home run since May 18 until he belted his three last night. That May 18 clout was off Staley, too. Thompson's home run total is nine.

"I was awful happy to get those hits tonight," Thompson said, "because I've been out since May 20 with a banged up knee."

The Negro infielder missed a chance to equal the major league record of four consecutive home runs in a single game, set by Lou Gehrig, when he was walked intentionally in the seventh on his fourth time up.

Patton Plans Another Shot at Pros in Open

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Joe Patton, the amateur who scared Ben Hogan right out of the Masters Championship, will take another shot at the top-flight pro golfers Monday in the sectional qualifying rounds for the 1944 U. S. Open Championship.

He is among the 1,904 golfers listed to compete for 129 available places in the field for the 1954 open at Baltusrol, June 17-19.

It's easy to remember Patton, who pushed Hogan so hard in the Masters that Ben began to take chances. The result was that Hogan lost a couple of strokes, wound up in a tie with Sam Snead and lost the playoff.

Hogan, of course, will be shooting for his fifth National Open title at Baltusrol. Snead, still trying for his first, is among the 32 others exempt from Monday's sectional rounds, but the often-erratic Patton will be among the 88 shooting for six qualifying places at Morganton, N. C., Monday.

Other better than average golfers trying for spots include Robert T. Jones III, the great Bobby's son; Rex Baxter, of Amarillo, Tex., who won two national junior titles last year; Rufus King, one-time trapshooting champion who was finalist in the 1949 U. S. Amateur; Mike Souchak, a former footballer and now a rising young pro, and Herman Scharlau the almost-unknown pro who beat Snead on his home course in the Greenbrier tournament this spring.

This group is more or less typical of the bulk of the record field of 1937 golfers. A good many better-known and more experienced players, including many of the top tournament stars, also will be required to qualify sectionally.

Most of the touring pros who failed to earn exemption will try to qualify Monday at Cincinnati, following the Western Open. Fifteen places were alloted to the field of 88, which includes such players as Bob Toski, Johnny Palmer, Tommy Bolt, Jerry Barber, Art Wall, Fred Wampler, Peter Thomson and Roberto de Vincenzo.

Rain Threatens PHS Schedule

Most county high school baseball teams have managed to complete their schedules before the current seige of rainy weather, but Pontiac High is marking time trying to play its re-match with Waterford and a vital Saginaw Valley Conference game with Flint Central.

Thursday's Waterford-Pontiac game at Wisner Field was rained out, re-scheduled for today, but again will not be played because of rain and wet grounds.

Saturday's game with Flint Central, re-set from Tuesday, still is slated, but unless some sun is forthcoming, that date too may go down the drain. Saturday's contest is set at 1:30 p. m. on Wisner Field.

A victory for the Chiefs will clinch the SVC championship.

Sebo Figures Quaker Job Toughest Coaching Chore

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"Under the conditions," says Pennsylvania's Steve (not Steven) Sebo, "I think this is the toughest coaching job in America."

A good many coaches might dispute that statement. But after spending a few hours with Sebo looking into those conditions, "it's hard to say he is wrong. Certainly it must be one of the most frustrating jobs.

Sebo was appointed Penn's head coach Jan. 23, eight months after George Munger resigned, effective after the 1953 season. In three months since then, Steve hasn't done a lick of coaching, and he won't until fall training begins Sept. 2.

In fact, Steve will meet a lot of his players for the 1st time at the Hershey, Pa., camp. All he knows about them is what he can learn from the records and last year's films.

Sebo, one of three of Biggie Munn's Michigan State assistants who took head coaching posts this year, still is a country boy from Michigan. Although he had a year as assistant coach at Harvard, his viewpoint is essentially midwestern and he's having a little trouble getting used to the ways of the Ivy League.

* * *

"They keep telling me, 'Don't worry; take it easy; you'll be all right,'" he says with a puzzled air. "But you want to do a good job." His emphasis on "want" and "good" indicates his attitude.

My Greatest Shot

By LLOYD MANGRUM

Tanf O' Shanter always has been my favorite course; I'm the head pro there. But one hole — the 18th — of the sprawling Chicago layout always has been my particular favorite.

That's because I made what I rate the best shot of my life on that hole. It came during the final round of the 1948 World Championship tournament. I had shot the first nine in 32 and took 29 shots to come up to the spot I was in on the 18th.

That spot was 25 yards away from the hole. My ball was a few feet out from the green, which was uphill. I needed a birdie to win the tournament right there — but was more concerned with getting the par I had to have to gain a tie.

I delivered for myself quite well —my chip heading right for the cup. It came down and rolled past it—as my heart gave a jump — and then stopped eight inches away. It was, I say, the best shot I've ever made. I canned the putt and earned a tie with Bobby Locke, the South African. I also broke the course record with my 63.

The next day I went out and beat Locke and I've always thought the chip shot gave me the impetus to do so.

Canadian Miss Out to Best American Stars

Marlene Stewart Has Fine Chance of Beating Patty Berg

By ROBERT MOORE

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Little Marlene Stewart, a Canadian who already has proven she's best of the British amateurs, threatened today to prove she's master of women golfers in America—professional and amateur alike.

The pert Miss from Fonthill, Ontario, was the hottest star in the opening round here yesterday of the $7,500 "plus and minus" Triangle round robin invitation tournament.

Marlene toured the Homestead's par 74 Cascades course in three-under-regulation 71 for the best medal score over the 6,400-yard layout.

With her game at its best, Miss Stewart stands an excellent chance of overhauling Patty Berg, the veteran professional from St. Andrews, Ill., who wound up yesterday with a plus 21—eight points better than the plus 13 of Miss Stewart and Louise Suggs of Atlanta. Miss Berg carded a one-under 73 and Miss Suggs a regulation 74.

Miss Stewart was unfortunate in that she was paired with the hottest foursome in the first round. Jackie Pung of Hawaii scored a 72 but came out with only plus 9. Betty Dodd of San Antonio, Tex., breezed around in 75, leaving her minus 3, while Beverly Hanson Silvernail of Indio, Calif., got only minus 19 for her effort of 79.

Miss Berg was much more fortunate. She played with Betty Jameson of San Antonio, whose 83 was the high medal score of the round for a minus 19; Betty Bush of Hammond, Ind., who shot an 81 for minus 11; and Betty MacKinnon of Dallas, whose 76 gave her a plus 9.

Preps in Title Test

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Forty - four teams began their quest for titles today in the state high school tennis tournament at Kalamazoo college.

Eighteen Class A schools are entered in the two-day meet, with defending champion Hamtramck picked to retain its title.

Kalamazoo state high is the standout among 17 Class B schools.

Burkemo 2 Strokes Off

Dave Douglas Sloshes Way to 1st Round Lead in Western Open on 68

By HAROLD HARRISON

CINCINNATI (AP) — Even though only one round has been played it begins to look as if it will take a good rain and wind man to win the $15,000 Western Open Golf Tournament.

Such a person yesterday was Dave Douglas of Grossinger, N. Y. who clipped three strokes off par with a 35-33—68 to take a one-stroke lead in the first round of the 1954 tournament.

The high wind whipped over and around the hills of the Kenwood Country Club's 6,766-yard course. The rain came in gusty showers. And the forecasts was for more of the same today.

Despite those unfavorable conditions, 11 players bettered the course' par of 35-36—71. Another half dozen players equalled par.

In fact, Jackie Burke, Jr., of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., who had a 69 to finish in a three-way tie for runnerup to Douglas the first day, cracked "that was rough out there today—we had four different kinds of weather."

Pete Fleming of St. Andrews, Ill., and Bob Duden of Portland, Ore., were the others with Burke in the 69 bracket.

The back nine was particularly rough on several of the boys. Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina needed only 32 strokes for the front nine but he finished with a 70.

Allen Joslin of Cincinnati, the first day's top amateur, had a 33 on the front nine and then used 37 coming home for a 70. Walter Burkemo of Detroit, the 1953 PGA champion, did the same thing.

Smiley Quick of Los Angeles; Robert Rosburg of San Francisco; Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Les Biagetti of Sandusky, Ohio, were others in the 70 bracket.

WEAK, HE SAYS — Ben Hogan (right) defending National Open golf champion, chats with 1928 titleholder Johnny Farrell, pro at Baltusrol Country Club in Springfield, N. J., as he tried out the course, site of this year's Open, June 17-19. Hogan was in good spirits, but reported he was still weak from a virus attack.

Castoff Is Sparkplug

Philley's Play Helps 'Light Fire' for Tribe

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the prize stories of the past spring baseball training season concerned the arrival of Dave Philley, a fairly undistinguished outfielder, at the camp of the Cleveland Indians in Tucson, Ariz.

Seems that Philley, a forthright native of Paris, Tex., who had been shipped to the Indians during the winter by the Philadelphia Athletics, showed up wearing his .273 lifetime batting mark like a shield and said he believed he knew what had been ailing Manager Al Lopez' club. This was interesting, inasmuch as the Indians had just finished second to the Yankees for the third straight time while Dave had been laboring exclusively for clubs of less renown.

What Dave said, in effect, was that he had been a great admirer of the Indians, with reservations. They had looked to him like a club which should win the pennant. He was hanged if he knew why they hadn't been winning it, unless it was just that they needed to have a fire lit under 'em. He said quite sincerely that he hoped to do just that.

• • •

Partly due to the fine defensive play and timely bat of the A's castoff and partly to several imaginative moves made by Manager Lopez, such as shifting Al Rosen to first base and installing rookies at third and in left field, this year's Cleveland club is a different-looking outfit. Whether Philley personally lit the fire it would be difficult to say, but somebody did.

Athletic Fund Plan Approved as First Step

Seek Return to Place in Midwest's Football Picture

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Lawrence A. Kimpton, chancellor of the University of Chicago, has indorsed a plan for the raising of an athletic scholarship fund for the school in the first step in restoration of the Maroon's intercollegiate athletic program.

"The time has come for the university to stop going backwards," Kimpton said last night at the 57th annual meeting of the order of the "C", university lettermen's organization.

"How fast Chicago can develop the type of men and team necessary for a return to big time football, we do not know," said Frank S. Whiting, president of the "C" in introducing the scholarship plan.

"But the university's return to a position of prominence in Big Ten football, while obviously one of our major objectives, definitely is not something of the immediate future."

Whiting said the plan calls for the 1,250 "C" men to become salesmen charged with interesting "the all around American boy" in the advantages of a college education at Chicago. "C" men willing to contribute to a fund for athletic scholarships were invited to do so.

• • •

K. L. (Tug) Wilson, Big Ten athletic commissioner, said the plan meets with his approval.

Chicago dropped Big Ten football in 1940 and withdrew from the conference entirely in 1945.

Weather Halts Diamond Action

Class A Tilt Called Off, Softball Card Also Rained Out

Rain washed out Thursday's schedule in both the Class A City baseball league and at the city's softball parks.

Elks 723 and Oliver Buick were slated on the Columbia-Joslyn diamond. It was the 3rd postponement this week. Chances that today's game will be played also appear dim.

CIO 594 and General Motors are scheduled at Wisner at 5:30 p. m. This game was originally slated for Memorial Day. A double header is set for the Wisner diamond Sunday with GMC meeting Auburn Merchants at 1:30. Second game matches CIO and Oliver Buick.

Two Girls' Softball League games, Shaw's vs Gingellville and GMC vs Avondale, were rained out at Beaudette Park, while a double header featuring Shaw's Jewelers' men's team was washed out at North Side.

Two exhibition games are slated Sunday at North Side with Birmingham Rite-Way meeting Drayton Drug at 7 p. m. and Shaw's playing Dick & Wes Sports at 8:30. Drug and D-W nines are members of the Waterford Township Softball League.

Pontiac Trot Set Back by Weather

First cancellation in the two years of operations at the Hazel Park Harness Raceway forced postponement of the $5,000 Pontiac Trot, feature of Thursday night's program.

Drivers and horses were on the track for the 1st race when officials called off proceedings.

Pontiac Trot was rescheduled for tonight with 13 horses entered, including all the top trotters on the grounds. Saturday night's schedule will go as planned.

Clinics Canceled

Rain has forced cancellation of Saturday's junior baseball clinics sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation department at Washington Junior High, Columbia-Joslyn field and Wilson school. Final meetings will be held a week from Saturday, June 12.

Lynch Show Rained Out, Returns June 22

Appearance of the Jimmie Lynch "Death Dodgers" at the Pontiac Speedway Thursday night was postponed because of rain. The Lynch troupe will return to the Pontiac track Tuesday, June 22.

Meanwhile, Speedway manager Don Pike announces the start of night racing at the M-59 plant Sunday night. Time trials Sunday begin at 5:30 p. m., with the 1st race set at 7 o'clock.

These will be Land O'Lakes Racing Association modified stocks. More of the same will come Wednesday night with qualifying at 7 p. m. and the 1st race at 8:30.

For next week only there will be no racing Friday, but a special show is planned Saturday, June 12, with a full program of roadster races.

Speedway will use a 1954 convertible for a pace car for the remainder of the season by courtesy of the Cy Owens Ford Sales in Pontiac.

Red Wings' Trainer on Exchange Program

Lefty Wilson, assistant trainer of Detroit's Red Wing hockey team, and Al Nagler, radio sportscaster, will be guests of the Pontiac Exchange Club at the Waldron Hotel Friday, June 11, at the noon meeting.

Program will include film highlights of the 1954 Detroit Red Wing Stanley Cup playoff games, plus interesting sidelights of hockey. A roundtable discussion will follow.

Fred Moote is chairman of the arrangements for the special sports program.

Deer Near Rochester

Four deer were spotted in the Rochester-Utica recreation area, about 20 miles from Detroit, a few days ago.

State Conservation Department said these were the 1st deer reported in the area in five years.

DANGEROUS

Jumping Motorcycle over the heads of 7 seated Daredevils is just one of the many new Thrillers that will be put on when the International Daredevil Contest Championship is held at the Lake Angelus Speedway, Pontiac, Monday night, June 14th. (In case of rainout following night.)

Each of the three great daredevil shows—Ward Beam's 1953 World Champion Auto Daredevils, Billy Green's Canadian Aces and Flash Jordan's Atomic Hell Drivers—will have a man entered in every motorcycle and automobile event to see what show and what daredevil is entitled to the title of 1954 World Champion. Each show will try to outdo the others in every one of the 33 sensational events.

Thompson and Mays Shine

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

If a hitter in a slump came to the New York Giants today for advice he probably would get pretty confused.

Hank Thompson can highly recommend 10 days of rest.

Willie Mays would prescribe going "all out" for 10 games.

Both ways have worked miracles for the Giants' stars.

Thompson's idleness wasn't by choice—he was sidelined with a banged up knee—but obviously it did him a world of good. When he got hurt against Pittsburgh May 25 the third baseman was hitting a puny .237 with six home runs and only 11 runs batted in.

Last night in St. Louis he came back to the lineup and smashed home runs into the right field pavillion in his first three times at bat. He was walked purposely the fourth time as the crowd booed and singled home a run on his fifth appearance.

He accounted for eight runs and raised his average 25 points to .262. The three homers in succession equalled the modern National League record shared by 16 other players but not duplicated since 1950.

Ten games ago Mays was hitting .260. Now he has a 10-game hitting streak working during which he's collected 23 safeties, 12 of them for extra bases and 8 of them home runs. He hit his 15th and 16th last night as the Giants walloped the Cardinals 13-8, pulling into a tie for the league lead with Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs.

The three other games in the National League were postponed because of rain. Brooklyn was supposed to play at Milwaukee, Pittsburgh at Chicago and Philadelphia at Cincinnati.

In the American League the Chicago White Sox moved within a game of first place Cleveland as they beat Boston 9-6 while the Indians were dropping a 2-1 verdict to the New York Yankees. Washington edged Detroit 4-3 and Philadelphia and Baltimore swapped seventh and eighth places again as the Athletics beat the Orioles 6-2.

MESS OF TROUT — Mrs. Stanley Tominsky Jr., displays the fine catch of trout she and her husband, of 431 Marion Street, Pontiac, took from a creek three miles west of Pontiac Tuesday. The Tominskys hooked the browns and rainbows on a fly rod with night crawlers for bait. He landed 10, while the "better half" got five.

First Base Job Proving Handicap to Al's Hopes

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Al Rosen would like to know just who it was who said "Playing first base is a snap. Anybody can play it."

The big siege gun of the Cleveland Indians has been trying his hand there for six weeks now and all he's got to show for it is a badly sprained and swollen forefinger. Rosen, an All-Star third baseman last year, switched over to first when the Indians shipped Luke Easter back to the minors.

"I hurt my right index finger fielding a hard-hit ground ball by Jim Rivera of the Chicago White Sox about 10 days ago," Rosen explained today. "I still can't bend it and it hurts like the dickens.

"I haven't been able to grip the bat right since the injury. To make it worse, Wally Boek, our trainer, says the finger may not heal for several weeks. He says a rest would hasten the healing but I can't afford to sit out any games. The club needs me out there."

It is painfully obvious that the damaged finger not only has retarded Rosen's hitting but it has handicapped him in the field as well. He's been able to get only two singles in nine times at bat in the first two of the three-game series with the Yankees. Four times, he has grounded weakly to third base, twice he has raised soft pops to the first baseman and he struck out his other time at bat.

The injury presents an obstacle in Rosen's aim to capture the triple crown this season—home runs, runs batted in and batting championship.

Billy Joe Moore's Debut Not So Good

SUPERIOR, Wis. (AP)—Billy Joe Moore, paroled this week from the Oklahoma Penitentiary, made his first appearance in professional baseball here last night. It was no ringing success.

Moore, a 24-year-old Negro whose athletic exploits in prison attracted New York Yankee scouts, walked twice, was safe on an error and struck out in four plate trips for Grand Forks of the Class C Northern League against Superior. Superior won, 12-3.

Bob Considine Says:

Capital Colony Restaurant Crowded Since "Hearing"

WASHINGTON (INS) — A lot of people say the Army - McCarthy hearings haven't been good for anybody. Mr. John, maitre de of Washington's swank Colony restaurant, doesn't agree.

"We've been crowded ever since Pvt. Schine testified he joined Cohn and several others here and had a butterscotch sundae.

"The phones here began ringing almost instantly . . . people wanting reservations or asking how expensive we are.

"That night the crowd was so great I had to put them downstairs in the lounge, giving each party a number and calling them up one at a time as a table cleared. It's been like that ever since. I've lost 12 pounds."

Herbert Hoover Jr., strapping son of the former President, has one of Washington's most difficult jobs, the first he ever held in government.

The handsome oil field authority has been assigned by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to work out an agreement between the British and the Iranians over Iranian oil.

"It's a matter of emotion, mostly," he was telling us at the British operators to agree to take only a small percentage of their original split. There is no agreement as yet but the signs are hopeful."

We asked him why the U. S. was so interested.

"We've given Iran the money with which it has been paying the salaries of the people in its oil industry. It's quite an industry, as you know. There's enough oil in Iran — as in Saudi Arabia, Iraq and Kuwait — to keep the Eastern Hemisphere supplied for a hundred years.

"Iran has the world's largest refinery at Abadan. Its 50,000 workers have been paid weekly since they stopped working more than two years ago."

Russia, of course, is the answer. Keeping Iran out of its hands is imperative. We wondered aloud why the Reds had not long since taken the oil - soaked country that also is a potential staging area against Russia's soft - underbelly and has the warm - weather port Moscow has coveted for generations.

"It certainly must have occurred to the Russians," Hoover said with a smile. "But the consensus seems to be that the Reds hope to get it by guile . . . to have Iran appear to ask admission to the U.S.S.R. for protection. Our job is to see that doesn't happen."

Like his father, Herbert Jr. does not draw pay from the government for his services, which keep him flying among Washington, London and Tehran. The 52-year-old grandfather of six is a millionaire on his own initiative. He founded United Geophysical, a global oil-hunting concern, and invented or perfected much of its divining equipment. Sold out not long ago to Union Oil.

He says Loy Henderson, U. S. ambassador to Iran, is the best man in the diplomatic corps.

President Eisenhower is not following the Army - McCarthy hearings on TV, though his directive reaffirming the independence of the executive branch often is topic A in the Senate caucus room.

But Jenkins' growl, McCarthy's monotone, Dirksen's bassoon, Welch's sugary satire and Cohn's valedictorian answers sound through the White House. Jim Hagerty keeps a set going in his office and the press room set gets a lot of play.

Business Notes:

Gossip Growing on Car Merger

Rumor Says Bankers Work on Plan to Join Packard, Studebaker

DETROIT (AP)—Merger gossip involving Packard and Studebaker circulated in financial circles again today.

It stemmed apparently from the fact New York financial interests are understood to be working on a proposal they plan to submit to the two independent auto makers.

Spokesmen for the two companies said flatly there have been no negotiations between them looking to a merger of corporate affairs.

They said also if any banking interests are working on a merger proposition it is entirely of their own initiative; that it had not been authorized by Packard or Studebaker.

Automotive authorities say it is not uncommon for financial concerns to develop and offer merger plans to small business interests, without overtures from the companies involved.

Talk about a possible Packard-Studebaker merger has been heard in automotive quarters here for a year or more.

It developed about the time Kaiser-Frazer joined forces with Willys Motors. It was revived more recently when Nash-Kelvinator and Hudson Motors merged as American Motors.

Because combined Packard and Studebaker would provide penetration in every price class in the passenger car and truck field, some industry authorities have termed a merger of the two old line concerns a "natural." Others have said it is a virtual certainty "within the next 60 days."

The Federal Reserve Board reported today that nationwide department store sales in the week ended May 29 were 8 per cent higher than the same week last year. This contrasted with a decline of 5 per cent from a year ago the week previous.

Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., reported net income for the six months ended Feb. 27 of $1,618,776, equal to 65 cents a common share. Film rentals and sales amounted to $34,059,238 for the period.

Listing a total of nearly 16,000 manufacturers, a gain of more than 4,500 over the previous 1953 edition, the new seventh edition of the Directory of Michigan Manufacturers has just been published by the Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record, Detroit, 47-year-old chronicler of Michigan's industrial and financial news.

Market Shifts Lower at Noon

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market shifted lower in the early afternoon today after a somewhat higher start.

Prices were thoroughly mixed and moving irregularly through most of the session with a higher tendency early in the day and a lower trend later.

Gains and losses extended to between 1 and 2 points either way with most changes quite small.

The pace of trading wasn't very fast and kept to a rate right around 1,810,000 shares traded yesterday in a rising market.

Major groups such as the aircrafts, motors, steels, rubbers, coppers, and railroads were somewhat lower.

The golds were higher as were the building materials and oils. Otherwise the market was steady to mixed.

Better prices were paid for Homestake Mining, Dome Mines, Allied Chemical, Textron, Texas Pacific Land Trust, Johns-Manvill Standard Oil (NJ), and Canadian Pacific.

Lower were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Rubber, International Harvester, Boeing, Kennecott Copper, Union Carbide General Electric, Santa Fe and Southern Railway.

Publishers Group Organizes ANPA Research Institute

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Newspaper Publishers Assn. today announced completion of the organization of a new service agency—ANPA Research Institute, Inc.

It will carry on scientific studies into various phases of the newspaper business to seek to develop better techniques, process and equipment.

Richard W. Slocum, of the Philadelphia Bulletin, was named board chairman of the new corporation, and Franklin D. Schurz, of the South Bend (Ind.) Tribune, was made president.

The research institute is an outgrowth of the ANPA's mechanical research department begun in 1947. The new agency was set up to take in a broader field of newspaper publishing research.

The ANPA announcement said initial work will deal with printing and mechanical processes, but that the charter provides for expanding studies into other general problems of publishing.

This research is expected to be carried on variously in the institute's own laboratory, or in cooperation with daily newspapers, manufacturers, universities or other institutions.

Cranston Williams, ANPA general manager, was elected general manager of the institute. Members of the board include J S Gray, Monroe (Mich.) News.

Card of Thanks 1

THE FAMILY OF DELPHIA J. Morgan wish to thank all of our friends and neighbors, also the nurses and staff of 3 North of St. Joseph Hospital for their kindness and consideration during her illness and our bereavement in the loss of my wife and our mother. Rube Morgan and children.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF Orville C. Dewey who passed away June 4, 1953.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone.
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green and never fade away.
Sadly missed by wife and children.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF Orville C. Dewey who passed away June 4, 1953.
God called him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still;
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.
Sadly missed by John and Alice.

Started Career at Age Eleven

Has Been in 9 Movies; Big Future Is Predicted for Her in Video

JOAN LORING

NEW YORK — Joan Loring, newcomer to television's daily dramatic series Valiant Lady, has a reputation of never having turned in a bad performance since she became a professional actress at the age of 11.

In her teens, in 1945, she won an Academy Award nomination as "best supporting actress" for her portrayal of a young Welsh girl in The Corn Is Green.

When she made her Broadway debut in 1950 in Come Back, Little Sheba, with Shirley Booth, she received the Donaldson Award for the most promising ingenue of the year.

The following year she won the Drama Critics Circle Award for her portrayal in Autumn Garden, with Frederic March and Florence Eldridge.

Born in Hong Kong, Joan received her first critical attention there when she appeared as a child performer in a benefit with one of China's foremost actors — Mei Lang Sang.

It was he who gave her a letter of introduction to Douglas Fairbanks Sr., when she came to the United States. Fairbanks was so impressed with the 11-year-old girl's audition that he signed her to a personal contract, shortly before his death, to appear in a film with him.

Before coming to New York, Miss Loring appeared in nine movies. After her appearance this season in the play Dead Pigeon, she went to Italy to make the film Stranger on the Prowl, with Paul Muni.

Television critics have received the actress with the same acclaim as their movie and theater colleagues. To date, she has appeared on all the major dramatic programs, including Studio One, Lux Video Theater, Suspense, and Robert Montgomery Presents.

The United States annually consumes enough cotton to make a bolt of cloth 6,800,000 miles long, 28 times the distance to the moon.

Picnics Herald Fall Semester

Pontiac High Elections Also Foretell Close of Present Term

Elections and picnics heralded the beginning of a new fall semester, and the end of the old one this spring at Pontiac High School.

The PHS Future Nurses Club announced their new slate of officers recently.

Taking over the presidential duties will be Martha Dawson with Kathy Armstrong as vice president.

Elizabeth Davis is the new recording secretary, and Marcia Thomas is the corresponding secretary. Treasurer is Beverly Marion. The officers were installed at a club picnic held at the home of faculty adviser, Mrs. Agnes Buckley.

Heading the Chem Physics Club, when fall rolls around, will be Jerry Richards. Serving as vice president will be Paul Benson with Jim Smith as secretary. Treasurer will be Doris MacDonald. Walter Hodge is the new sergeant-at-arms.

The student manager of the Student Union in September will be Russel Holland with Bill Hampton taking over the post of manager in the organization.

Karen Hoff was selected for the treasurer's position and Dave Pepple will be cashier with Janet Tweit as typist.

Editor Active at 92

ROXBORO, N. C. (AP) — At 92, Joseph W. Noell is still active as editor of the Roxboro Courier-Times. Noell believes he is the nations oldest active editor.

Cronyn and Tandy to Take Spot for Dave Garroway

NEW YORK — Hume Cronyn and his wife, Jessica Tandy, who co-starred in the Marriage on radio, will return in a television version of the proram starting July 2. The Marriage will be telecast weekly through Aug. 20 in the time spot of the vacationing Dave Garroway Show.

The noted theatrical couple will portray Ben and Liz Marriott, 17 years married and parents of two children, Emily, 15, and Pete, 10. They live in New York, where Ben is a moderately successful lawyer.

Liz, a former department store fashion buyer, now is a restive housewife whose projects sometimes are civic, sometimes purely personal.

Cronyn is producing the show himself, with Ted Ashley Associates as the packagers. It will be directed by Jack Garfein, who was praised by New York theatrical critics this past season for his direction of End As a Man.

Ernest Kinoy, who wrote the radio scripts for The Marriage, will continue in the same capacity on the TV version. Sets will be designed by William Riva.

The Susmans married last Nov. 25 and separated last Tuesday. She divorced Lorre a year ago. Her first husband was British band leader Arthur Young.

Frank DuFrain Given Tribute

Retiring School Head Honored at Dinner for Teachers Thursday

Frank J. DuFrain and other retiring Pontiac Public Schools personnel were honored Thursday at Pontiac Federation of Teachers annual "Retiring Teachers" Dinner."

The program at Pontiac High School cafeteria drew 146 teachers and guests.

Louis H. Schimmel, senior Pontiac Board of Education member, gave the testimonial speech for DuFrain, retiring superintendent of schools.

Schimmel traced the school system's progress since 1920—into the depression, through the pre-war and post-war periods, and compared today's zooming school enrollment with the big enrollment climb of the 1920's.

Schimmel said DuFrain's efforts helped greatly to keep Pontiac Schools solvent during the depression.

"People like Frank kept us from losing courage and gave us the guidance to build the right kind of youth," he said. "Through his efforts Pontiac School system was able to meet its financial obligations and improve its credit rating, giving us a reputation of integrity that has resulted in dollars-and-cents savings. On the whole," he said, "we have always been able to measure our progress on the plus side."

Other special guests included retiring school board member Monroe M. Osmun, presented by board president Glenn H. Griffin.

Mrs. Bernice McKillop, Mrs. Jesse Snyder and Miss Inez Slater, retiring teachers from McCarroll, Lincoln Junior High and Pontiac High schools, were honored; as were Mrs. Pearl Howey, retiring Lincoln cafeteria manager and Pat Riley, retiring Washington Junior High School engineer.

Miss Marietta Spring, McCarroll principal; Phillip Wargelin, Lincoln principal; Norman Kuijala, Washington principal and Pontiac High principal John Thors spoke for retiring personnel.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies Harry Maur and Fred Pender, after questioning Hill, a camp employe, arrested him, and Hill then implicated Drouillard.
