'Christmas on Wheels' Sees Queens Escort Santa

Travel Date Near for U. S. Satellite

AP Wirephoto

THE REAL THING—Shown in a closeup view is a 6.4 inch test satellite which the U. S. plans to launch soon, probably next week. Weighing four pounds, the tiny space traveler is mounted in position on the three-stage rocket which will take it to and place it in its proposed orbit. A cone will shield the satellite during ascent, then fall away before the satellite goes into its spin around the earth.

AP Facsimile

SATELLITE INSPECTION — The chairman of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex), examines a small test satellite brought to a subcommittee hearing by Dr. John P. Hagen, director of the Navy's Project Vanguard. The subcommittee has been conducting hearings on the nation's missile program.

Report U.S. Test Satellite Invisible to Naked Eye

BALTIMORE (AP)—The tiny test satellite the United States hopes to launch Dec. 4 will not be visible to the naked eye, but its five-foot-long brightly painted third-stage rocket will be seen.

TRAILS MOON

It should provide plenty of opportunities for visual tracking as it trails the little beeping satellite across the heavens.

The third-stage rocket has been the most classified of all components of the 72-foot-tall, 22,000-pound Vanguard launching vehicle.

★ ★ ★

But the Martin Co., which built and will fire the rocket, gave a peek at it in pictures it released today showing the 6.4-inch, four-pound test sphere mounted on the rocket.

NOSE SHOWN

Only the nose of the rocket, which will be completely cloaked in an apron of the bigger second-stage rocket, is shown in the photograph. But it reveals a white spherical shape, about 12 to 15 inches across, on which the tiny satellite is mounted.

After about 40 miles of ascent, the seven-foot-long asbestos-plastic nose cone of the rocket will split in two and fall off, leaving the satellite exposed for the rest of its climb.

★ ★ ★

The nose cone will protect the satellite from aerodynamic heating expected to reach 1,500 degrees Fahrenheit through the earth's dense lower atmosphere.

The photograph also shows four rods which brace the satellite to the walls of the second-stage rocket apron.

At about 287 miles, just short of orbital altitude, a spin table, propelled by tiny jets, will start the entire third stage with its still attached satellite rotating. After the first complete spin, the supporting rods will snap out of the way and leave the shiny aluminum sphere ready for its spring into space.

Sen. Kefauver Reveals 'Shock' Over Missiles

Says of U.S. Program on Hearing Testimony: 'Worse Than I Thought'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said today three days of testimony on the status of the U.S. missiles program shows the situation "is worse than I thought it was."

Kefauver, a member of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee conducting the missiles-satellite probe, said in an interview the testimony by defense officials, intelligence specialists and scientists added up to "shocking evidence of how the country has gotten behind" Russia in certain scientific-military fields.

But the Tennesseean said "the picture is not hopeless," adding:

"We've got to give more money and attention to missiles, satellites and scientific development and education. We can catch up and get ahead if we only put our will to it."

In saying testimony showed the U. S. missile position in relation to Russia is worse than he thought it was, Kefauver refused to go into detail.

STORY SAD

Other subcommittee members who sat in on a closed-door intelligence briefing Wednesday said afterward they heard a "sad and shocking" story on Russian military-scientific progress.

The briefing was given by Allen Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency.

These senators, too, declined to say just what they learned from the CIA chief. But it was reported last night the subcommittee was told Russia now has a few submarines, possibly four, capable of firing a missile with a nuclear warhead up to 700-900 miles.

★ ★ ★

Other vessels in Russia's sub fleet, estimated at about 450 boats, were reported being readied for such missile equipment.

One informant said the reported

Eisenhowers Attend Service

AP Wirephoto

LEAVING CHURCH — In his first public appearance since being stricken with a mild stroke Monday, President Eisenhower attended Thanksgiving Day church service in Washington, with Mrs. Eisenhower yesterday. With the Eisenhowers as they leave National Presbyterian Church is the Rev. Edward L. R. Elson, pastor of the church.

Ike Motors to Gettysburg; Recovery Progress Excellent

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, assured by his doctors that his "excellent progress" toward recovery from a mild stroke is continuing, motored with the first lady today to their Gettysburg, Pa. farm.

The chief executive and Mrs. Eisenhower left the White House at 10:45 a.m. for the 80-mile drive to Gettysburg. The President plans an indefinite stay at the farm.

White House physician Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder was in the party accompanying the Eisenhowers.

An 8:30 a.m. medical bulletin from Dr. Snyder said:

"The President had a good night's sleep. He slept almost continuously from early last evening until 6 o'clock this morning. His progress continues to be excellent."

News Secretary James C. Hagerty, who also went to Gettysburg, said the President's physicians agreed it was "perfectly all right" for him to make the two-hour motor trip.

Eisenhower pulled one big surprise yesterday. He went to Thanksgiving Day services at the National Presbyterian Church.

Eisenhower's plans to attend church services were not announced to newsmen at the White House until he and his wife had left the mansion.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said the President himself had enjoined him against saying anything about it sooner.

Asked why, the press secretary replied: "The President has always believed that when he goes to church he goes as an individual citizen, to worship his God, and not with a whole flock of reporters and photographers."

Newsmen and a crowd of 400 or so others were on hand when the President—smiling a bit nervously—left the church with the First Lady.

Applause broke out and there were cheers and whistles along Connecticut Avenue as the White House limousine moved away from the church.

CABINET TO MEET

A Cabinet meeting is scheduled Monday. And on Tuesday, congressional leaders of both parties are coming to the White House for a briefing on military and defense matters and the legislative program for the new congressional session.

There has been no change, Hagerty said, in plans for the session with congressional chiefs. But whether Eisenhower person-

Their Home Burns Down but Big Family Thankful

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Three days ago the home of Dick and Helen Peterman and their 10 children burned down.

Furniture, clothing, everything went up in flames. The Petermans were left with practically nothing.

A neighbor took the big family into her small home.

Then the family's plight was brought to the attention of Mrs. Frederick Riekder, a private secretary in a downtown building where Peterman works as a porter.

Mrs. Riekder, widow of a banker, invited the Petermans to share her 14-room house for as long as they wish.

★ ★ ★

A kindly poultry and produce man sent over a big turkey along with the full fixings. Peterman's boss gave him extra time off with pay.

Further help is promised from other sympathizers.

The Petermans said it turned out to be a pretty good Thanksgiving after all.

Commerce Man Dies of Injuries

A Commerce Township man, Carl R. Herby, 21, died at Pontiac General Hospital this morning of injuries suffered in an auto accident Thursday night.

He was pronounced dead at 3:05 a.m., according to the hospital.

Deputies said he was going south and evidently lost control on the curve, hit a tree and rolled over. Herby was alone, and there were no witnesses.

THANKSGIVING DAY TRIVIA: Clear Skies Aid Texas Farmers to Salvage Cotton

Man Flees in Pajamas Before Relatives' Wrath

DENVER (INS) — Wearing only trousers hastily pulled over pajamas, an unidentified Denver man dashed into a tavern, downed two drinks in rapid succession, then asked if someone would invite him out for Thanksgiving dinner.

He explained why he couldn't go home to feast:

"My wife's relatives, including two cousins, are over for dinner. We fixed everything the night before, including the bird.

★ ★ ★

"I got up at 5 a.m., took the bird out of the icebox and shoved it in the oven. I went back to bed.

"I just got up to check the bird. It's still there.

"I forgot to turn on the oven."

ST. LIBORY, Ill. (AP)—Mrs. Albert Taylor and 50 relatives sat down to a big Thanksgiving dinner in the rathskeller of the Taylor home at 12:30 p.m.

At 2 p.m., 90 minutes later, the last dish was dried and on the shelf.

Mrs. Taylor had no leftover problem as a result of the dinner, a family custom the past 12 years.

Nobody left until everything was eaten, That also is a family custom.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A tiny Korean orphan lit into the turkey yesterday at her first Thanksgiving.

Suzanne Soupiset, 2, arrived in San Antonio, Tex., two weeks ago to start a new life with Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Soupiset, formerly of Houston. She was known as Kang Kyung Hei in Korea.

She can only say a few words in English, but her hostess here at a big Thanksgiving dinner, Mrs. E. C. George, said she had a wonderful holiday.

"She just seemed to fit right into the picture," Mrs. George said. "She has a terrific appetite. She just loved the turkey and vegetables, and wouldn't eat the pie or other sweets."

ELECTRA, Tex. (AP) — The thanks given at this northwest Texas town yesterday came from hundreds toiling in the cotton fields, thankful that clear skies gave them a chance to salvage some of the crop.

★ ★ ★

Farmers, schoolchildren and merchants in the town of about 6,000 worked harvesting cotton. The crop, delayed in planting by hard spring rains, was only about a third harvested before fall rains, sleet and snow set in.

★ ★ ★

Much of the cotton rotted on the stalks, but farmers hoped they might salvage up to 75 per cent.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (INS)—Mrs. Loren F. Holt had no turkey for Thanksgiving.

A thief stole it from her home while she was at church, giving thanks for her blessings.

She fixed a chicken for herself, her husband and two children.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Can the old-style weather calendars, with their day-by-day predictions of the weather, possibly achieve any degree of accuracy?

No, the day-by-day weather-forecasting calendar cannot be accurate. That is because they are distributed over a wide area and the weather is different at various places on the same day.

Moreover, these calendars are printed more than a year in advance. The government's best forecasts are not claimed reliable for any lengthy period such as this. And the government forecasts miss frequently, even for short periods.

The weather calendars are interesting and they sometimes happen to be right. Some people swear by their accuracy. But don't depend on them when it is important. Call the nearest weather bureau station—and even they may be wrong.

Reveals 'Shock' Over Missiles

Soviet sub-missile capability "means they are practically in a position to wipe out any major city on the eastern seaboard."

He did not say, however, that any of the Russian subs now are stationed within missile range of the East Coast.

The CIA was quoted by one source as reporting the Russian subs could launch missiles while still submerged. The weapons were described as of the "cruise" type—presumably a guided missile slower than a ballistic missile.

The U. S. Navy has a small number of submarines equipped with the Regulus, a subsonic missile capable of carrying a nuclear warhead up to about 800 miles.

In addition, the Navy is developing the Polaris, an Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile designed to be fired from beneath the surface of the ocean.

PROGRESS SLOW

However, development of the Polaris has been described as being behind that of the Army's Jupiter IRBM and the Air Force's Thor. IRBMs have a planned range of up to 1,500 miles.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of Defense McElroy announced Wednesday that orders had been issued for production of the Jupiter and the Thor. He did this while testifying before the subcommittee which later recessed its hearings until Dec. 13.

Kefauver said he was encouraged by McElroy's announcement, but he said the action should have been taken a long time ago.

In another action aimed at speeding missile work, McElroy was reported by officials to have ordered resumption of overtime pay for work on the Thor and two Air Force ICBMs, the Atlas and the Titan. Both ICBMs still are in the development stage.

★ ★ ★

Before the hearing recessed late Wednesday night, subcommittee Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said the order to produce both the Thor and the Jupiter made it clear McElroy is the "real czar" in the missiles program and that he has "the power of decision."

★ ★ ★

Johnson said McElroy announced other decisions to come, adding: "I hope they will come just as soon as possibe."

Brave Rain for Parade

DETROIT (INS) — Thousands of persons braved a steady rain yesterday to view the J. L. Hudson Company's annual Thanksgiving Day parade down Detroit's Woodward avenue. The Santa Claus parade featured 1,600 marchers, 20 floats and 13 bands.

FRED NIEDELSON

Santa Claus Coming to Tel-Huron Center

Kids will receive their annual treat tomorrow at 11 a.m. when Santa Claus brings tidings of good cheer and promises of many toys into the Tel-Huron Shopping Center.

Santa will arrive by helicopter in the center's parking lot. He will then set up shop, along with his 14-year-old helper Miss Merry Christmas in front of the Wrigley store.

From there he will distribute gifts to the children and listen to their tales of whether they have been good or bad.

Fred Niedelson, promotion chairman of the Tel Huron Merchants Assn., announced that beginning tonight all stores will remain open through Christmas until 9 p.m. Saturday hours will be 9 a.m. until 9 p.m.

Ike Going to Farm; Recovery Excellent ally will sit in still is up in the air.

Newsmen asked Hagerty whether Eisenhower's going to church, three days after being stricken, indicated he is already back to normal.

"No, no," Hagerty replied emphatically. "Don't try to push or rush a complete recovery by the President. That would be an error.

Eisenhower may go to the Dec. 16-18 Paris NATO Council meeting after all. The White House said Eisenhower's doctors will decide later. Vice President Nixon will head the U.S. Delegation if Eisenhower can't go.

The President presided at the White House Thanksgiving dinner. With him and the First Lady in the family dining room for portions of a 40-pound turkey were their four grandchildren and the youngsters' parents, Army Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

Hagerty also reported that in his nonmedical opinion the President is having much less speech difficulty — the only abnormality his doctors noted after his seizure. Hagerty said he found it hard to believe how much improvement there has been in Eisenhower's speech.

The new medical progress report and the firming up of plans for the Gettysburg run, together with yesterday's surprise burst of activity, added up to a signal of a faster recovery pace than had been indicated by Eisenhower's doctors.

TOYLAND SCENES

Eight schools will have floats depicting scenes from toyland: Mark Twain, Bagley, Will Rogers, LeBaron, Waterford and Pontiac Central High Schools, Fairlawn, and Eastern Junior High School.

There will be other floats sponsored by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, the 4-H Club, and the YMCA, plus special attractions such as the Chief Pontiac American Legion Drill Team, the Land O' Lakes majorettes, the Detroit Edison company's calliope, the Waterford Saddle Club and the Dreyer sisters, a majorette team.

And last but not least will be Santa Claus on a float prepared by the Wever and Kawthorne Elementary Schools.

From noon to 4 p.m. tomorrow, Pontiac police said, there will be no parking allowed on Saginaw from Raeburn to Oakland, on Oakland from Saginaw to Baldwin, on Sanderson from Oakland to Norton and on Cass from Sanderson to Florence.

Through U. S. 10 traffic wishing to by-pass the parade can use a detour east of Saginaw, police said. This runs along South boulevard, East boulevard and Montcalm. The M59 detour will be East boulevard, South boulevard, Golf drive and Telegraph.

Police said that during the parade, Perry, Howard, Johnson, Cass, Orchard Lake, Bagley, Wilson and Paddock streets will remain open to traffic.

Police Seek '39 Ford Involved in Collision

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Police Sgt. Harry B. Hogan said today a black 1939 Ford is being sought in a collision which fatally injured a Detroit woman and hurt six others on U.S. 12 near Ann Arbor yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Hogan said paint samples from the car in which Mrs. Gertrude Giesey of Detroit was killed indicated the vehicle had been sideswiped before it collided with another.

Hogan said Charles H. Giesey, 43-year-old son of the dead woman, told him at a hospital today he remembers an oncoming car swung in front of him and glanced off his car before it was hit by another car approaching from Giesey's own direction. Giesey, however, was unable to give a description of the car which glanced off and kept going.

Giesey's car, Hogan said, apparently careened sideways down the highway after it was sideswiped and was hit by a third car driven by Mrs. Minnie Sager, 57, of Jackson.

The Day in Birmingham

Garbage Authority Asks Too Much, Say Officials

BIRMINGHAM — The Southeastern Oakland County Garbage and Rubbish Authority is asking too much, Birmingham City commissioners believe. "Method of collecting" is a phrase they feel should not be included in their contract with the authority.

According to Robert Kenning, assistant city manager, the contract phrase "delegation of authority beyond the scope this commission wishes to give the Authority" only intends to be used to require rubbish containers be covered.

Commissioners Charles Penfrew and William Hutchinson said they had no reason to deny the use of container covers. Renfrew added "that I'm not ready to give the authority too much power. It is hard to say what else they might then require of us."

These reactions came about after a discussion of the Authority's demands for separation of burnable and non-burnable refuse, and more or less of a demand that all containers meet specified sizes and be covered.

Tuesday from 7-9 p.m. will be Muscular Dystrophy Day in Birmingham. A house-to-house campaign for funds will be conducted that evening. Throughout the day tags will be sold on the streets, with a mobile disc-jockey unit at Bates and Merrill streets emphasizing the drive.

It has also been indicated that some merchants are pledging a percentage of their income that day to the fund.

Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater will close its registration for the winter term, Dec. 3. The term opening the following day will continue for 10 weeks. Training in all phases of theatrical work will be offered for children, teenagers and adults.

The 90-minute classes are held once a week offering a choice of time and day. Afternoon and evening classes are scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday or Friday. Classes also are held Saturday morning.

Several Birmingham men and one from Bloomfield Hills and one from Lathrup Village were among the successful candidates to become 32nd degree Masons at the recent ceremonies in Detroit.

The Birmingham residents include Calvin J. Bregger Sr., William H. Fuller, William E. Long, Charles R. McKinley, Arnold K. Miller, Harry W. Reed, Albert Savino, John Stevenson, Philip T. Aormina, Richard Walden, Douglass Witters and Milton Zube. John Poole and Verne S. Howard are the candiates from Bloomfield Hills and Lathrup Village, respectively.

'Lovers, Drunks' Nab Thieves on the Spot

NEW YORK (AP)—Only a couple of lovers spooning on a nearby stoop. And a couple of drunks asleep on the sidewalk.

That was the scene as it appeared to four thieves driving up to the Meridan Knitting Mills in Brooklyn early yesterday morning. So for two hours, they looted the plant of $2,500 worth of sweaters and loaded the loot into their truck.

While they worked, the shabbily dressed drunks went on sleeping, the lovers went on spooning.

But just as the robbers were about to drive off, the lovers unwrapped their arms from each other and the drunks sprang to their feet. There stood detectives Paul Reilly, Pat Kelly, Steve Wall and Frank Shannon. With pistols.

The four surprised robbers surrendered immediately.

Charged with burglary and possession of burglar's tools were Ernest Rodriguez, 27, the Bronx, and Domingo Riviera, 24, Serafin Quintana, 27, and Jesus Rodiguez, 35, all of Manhattan. Police said they arranged the trap after spotting the men looking the mill over Tuesday.

Hit by One Train, Car Gets It Again

CYNTHIANA, Ky. (AP) — Charles Palmer's timing was too good: His auto was hit by two trains.

The car stalled on double tracks and Palmer, hearing a train approach, bailed out. The train hit the vehicle and knocked it into the path of another from the south.

The trains were delayed only slightly, but Palmer was delayed considerably. He was arrested for drunken driving.

Catholic Paper Says Capitalism Spawned Reds

BOSTON (INS) — The official newspaper of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Boston has lamented that it is a "sad day" when lessons must be learned from atheists like Nikita Khrushchev.

The Pilot, in an editorial entitled "God and Khrushchev," said that the "crimes of capitalism spawned the Communists monster."

"It is a sad day when we must learn lessons from atheists, but that day is already here . . .

"In an interview with William Randolph Hearst Jr., Frank Conniff and Bob Considine, Nikita Khrushchev was prevailed upon to discuss the subject of religion. He did so in not unimpressive terms."

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev said in the interview that "God is a mask" the people of the West put on, and that "God is being used . . . for hire."

The diocesan newspaper warned:

"As the crisis of the East and West now becomes more intense we begin to speak of God as one who is 'on our side.' When He is, and if He is, it will be because we have decided to go to His side . . ."

"If a poisoned capitalism produced a zealous communis, it was a fraudulent Christianity that produced a zealous communism, it was Khrushchev is, we taught him to be. Is it any wonder that he mocks us . . ."

Heavy Snow Forces Road Work Stoppage

LANSING (AP)—Heavy snow has forced the State Highway Department to suspend work on two Upper Peninsula projects until next spring, department officials said. Both are in Marquette County.

★ ★ ★

One involves six miles of new construction on M95 north from about 2½ miles south of Republican. Estimated cost is $1,075,048.

The other project will convert U. S. 41-M28 into a four-lane divided highway between Marquette and Negaunee at a contract price of $704,746.

The Department also reported that work has been completed on a 19-mile bituminous resurfacing project on U.S. 27 between Charlotte and M60 in Calhoun and Eaton Counties.

Writers Honor Snead

NEW YORK (INS) — Metropolitan Golf Writers' Association has given its gold tee award to Sam Snead as the person considered to have done the most for the sport during the year.

The award will be presented to Snead at the writers' annual dinner Jan. 28.

Couple Insist House Haunted

Ghost Break Up Home?

SUNDERLAND, England (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dixon say their happy family was broken up by a ghost.

★ ★ ★

children, told a court the ghost charge of neglecting their three childrn, told a court the ghost invaded their home in a city housing development last March.

"We saw a shimmering coil on the wall," Norman, 27, said. "We heard footsteps on the stairs when there was nobody there. At night cold hands pulled off the bedclothes and clutched us."

★ ★ ★

The Dixons finally called in the Rt. Rev. John Ramsbotham, bishop of Jarrow, who tried to exorcise the specter by walking through the house in his robe and mitre and carrying his staff. The ghost refused to cooperate.

"I asked the Council for an exchange of houses," Dixon said. "I was told I could try to arrange a private exchange, but when people learned our house was haunted they wouldn't trade."

In an effort to force the City Council's hand, Dixon said, he decided to quit paying the rent. The Council merely evicted the Dixons from the house.

★ ★ ★

Police witnesses said they found the young father and mother and their three sons, ranging from 18 months to 4 years, wandering around in the rain.

The court put the Dixons on probation for 12 months. "You acted stupidly," the judge said, "in leaving the house without making proper arrangements for your children."

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon are staying at the home of his brother. The children are at a city child center.

The haunted house is still empty.

Pocket Knife Returned After 30-Year Absence

DENVER (AP)—Lonnie L. Shepherd, a Denver Linotype operator, finally got back the pearl-handled pocket knife he lost when he was a boy of 10 in Boulder, Colo.

That was 30 years ago. Yesterday the knife, which has "L. L. Shepherd" engraved on the handle, was mailed to Shepherd's home. There was no return address on the package.

It would require about 14 years for sound to span the distance separating the sun and the earth.

Tunisia Presses U.N. Mediation

Supports Arab Plea to Negotiate French and Algerian War

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Tunisia pressed an Arab country campaign today to urge the U. N. General Assembly to call for negotiations between the French and the Algerian nationalists to settle their three-year war in Algeria.

An Arab diplomat also said an Asian-African resolution for such negotiations probably will be introduced Monday in the Assembly's 82-nation Political Committee.

Mongi Slim, Tunisian ambassador to Washington and the U. N. was scheduled as the first pro-nationalist speaker in the committee's debate on Algeria.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau opened the debate Wednesday. He pleaded with delegates to steer clear of "internationalization of the Algerian conflict" and let France go on seeking a "peaceful, democratic and just solution" by crushing the rebellion and introducing electoral reforms to benefit Algerian Moslems.

★ ★ ★

In a vague resolution adopted last Feb. 15, the Assembly expressed hope that "a peaceful, democratic and just solution" would be found in conformity with U. N. Charter principles.

While the U. N. debate was going on here, France's Parliament was preparing for a vote of confidence demanded by Premier Felix Gaillard on a partial home rule bill for Algeria.

Whole World Concerned About Ike's Illness

Practically the whole world is unhappy over President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER's current physical condition.

★ ★ ★

Members of both parties are glad that his condition is no worse, but the whole history of his physical afflictions since he entered the White House point grimly downward.

★ ★ ★

Apparently, he will come back rapidly and enjoy most of the old time vigor that marked his active life. The concern over his plight is world wide. Leaders in nations clear around the globe are depressed over his current set back.

★ ★ ★

Mr. President, you have about two billion people pulling for your recovery. There must be some good in all this electricity in the air. Let it serve as an additional tonic. Benefit as much as possible from mass good will.

★ ★ ★

In the meantime, the United States will carry on and so will the programs you have instituted, endorsed and been fathering.

Passenger Trains Are Facing Dismal Future

Railroads are facing a dubious and unhappy future, as far as passenger trains are concerned.

Several of our major lines have indicated a willingness—perhaps eagerness would be more accurate—to abandon all passenger business immediately. All of them are anxious to drop certain extremely unprofitable trains and concentrate on the hauls that give some promise of making a slight return on the investment and the work involved.

★ ★ ★

The rails are suffering from a combination of ills. First, in their own wage negotiations with the Brotherhoods, the railroads grant wage increases that are never justified by the financial facts and prevailing conditions. Then they take their unhappy predicament to the ICC which ultimately grants a rate increase. However, this is rarely sufficient to cover the increased costs, so they sink another step.

★ ★ ★

Also, the airlines have been making huge inroads into the long distance passenger hauls. There's no use dodging this. The airplane rate structure and time schedules are favorable and they have been expanding rapidly. Their competition is real and formidable.

★ ★ ★

The railroad diners are another positive pain in the neck. Most railroads would love to eliminate them entirely. A couple of years ago, all U. S. railroads paid just over $100,000,000 to serve meals which brought them $72,000,000 in receipts.

Hence, every time you spent 70-odd cents in a diner, the railroads paid a dollar for the "opportunity" of providing you with that 70 cents worth of food and service. A three dollar dinner costs the railroads considerably in excess of four dollars.

★ ★ ★

Even the swankiest air lines serve a one course dinner on a single metal tray, whereas the railroads are saddled with menus, "course dinners," silver, tablecloths, napkins, special crews and cars. On the airplane, you eat right where you are—and like it. There are no additional employes and no extra airplanes.

★ ★ ★

The Grand Trunk railroad which serves Pontiac and industrial Michigan lost more than five million dollars last year. Their current figures have not been announced, but an off-stage guess places the loss around double that amount for 1957.

How long will this continue?

Who will volunteer to make up the deficit?

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac commuter service is losing around $75,000 a year. Is it any wonder that the railroads would be happy to drop their passenger trains tomorrow?

Wouldn't you?

IN INTERNATIONAL trade, countries must pay for goods and services with the currency of the country they are buying from. When we buy something from France we must pay in francs just as France must pay in dollars to buy goods from the United States. The many kinds of money and relative values of various kinds of money create monetary problems which the U.N. International Monetary Fund works to solve.

Interest in Postage Contest to Bring Extra Rewards

Success: The road to which has no map—you just have to find your way.

Our postage contest closed today noon with several times more entries than was expected. They are being checked over, a task which will require a few days. The result will be announced in this column.

On account of the extreme interest shown by our readers, many of whom spent long hours in digging out their answers, a generous front office has permitted me to greatly increase the prize list.

The many competitors all thought they were trying to win a $25 U.S. savings bond, that being the sole prize offered.

But there will be four prizes. For the largest number of combinations a $50 bond will be awarded. The second largest gets a $25 bond, the third receives $10 in cash, and the fourth gets $5 in cash.

Please remember that the time for receiving entries has closed. Watch for a list of the winners.

David Lawrence Reveals

Dems Concealed FDR's Illnesses

WASHINGTON — There is one thing that will have to be conceded by partisans and captious critics—the Republican administration certainly has shown unparalleled candor in disclosing to the American people the facts concerning the illnesses of President Eisenhower.

LAWRENCE

Only this week—in an Associated Press dispatch from Boston — are the American people being told for the first time that Franklin D. Roosevelt suffered a series of "strokes" and that the officials of a Democratic administration continuously concealed the truth from the people over a long period.

The news now is distributed nationally that Dr. Charles W. Robertson, assistant professor of surgery at Boston University, who has made a special study of the facts about the illnesses of presidents, wrote in the Boston medical quarterly as follows:

"It seems quite plain that Roosevelt suffered a series of small strokes in 1943 and 1944. This general downward trend continued to such a degree that a full-time secret service bodyguard was placed over Vice President Harry Truman about March 1, 1945. (Roosevelt died April 12, 1945.)

"Roosevelt had one small cerebral vascular accident in March 1945, and, while convalescing from this, suffered a terminal stroke as he was having some sketches made for a portrait."

Dr. Robertson goes back even to earlier periods in Roosevelt's administration as he adds:

"It is reported that in the summer of 1933 he suffered the first of a series of small strokes from which recovery was quick and complete. It was midway through the war, in 1943, that a definite physical change in Roosevelt, appearance was obvious to everyone, particularly following a trip to Cairo and a conference in Teheran late in 1943."

Here was the commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the United States in the midst of World War II doggedly carrying on despite previous "cerebral vascular accidents" somewhat similar to the one just experienced by President Eisenhower.

There was no call for resignation then and no demand that the vice president take over as "acting president."

This may have been because the people did not know the truth. Actually, some of the newsmen did know—there was plenty of "inside gossip" — but the facts were not printed because of a deference to the Presidential office which since seems to have been abandoned.

Prime Minister Churchill, while at the head of the British government, suffered a series of small strokes and in 1953 a severe one. The British people weren't told about it. The press in London, which now calls on Eisenhower to "resign," wasn't articulate then.

★ ★ ★

It was in 1955 that the Prime Minister revealed casually to the House of Commons that two years before he had had for a time "a very serious illness which paralyzed me completely, physically."

It is natural for officialdom in Britain to keep quiet about personal health matters affecting a prime minister, but in America the opposite now is the practice.

There sometimes is a delay, as happened for a few hours this week when the White House staff described the President's indisposition as a slight "chill" and gave no further details until the next day.

But before 24 hours had passed, all the facts were disclosed on the authority of the physicians in attendance.

The best way, it is often argued, is to tell all the facts at the time they are happening. One cannot help wondering, however, what might have been the advantages to the nerves of the world, and to the panicky sellers in the markets, if somehow the news of the President's "chill" on Monday had been withheld at least until after he had recovered sufficiently to go to church on Thanksgiving Day.

The case for deliberateness, with full details a few days afterwards, will certainly gain adherents now versus the demand for hour-by-hour bulletins and voluble press conferences that speculate on what Divine Providence has in mind.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Vitamin D Free to All in Health-Giving Sunshine

Several critics have taken me to task for giving what they consider a false impression in a statement I made in an article on tetany:

DR. BRADY

"Everybody—infant, growing child, young adult or elderly person—must get his or her daily ration of calcium and vitamin D or else!"

The critics say readers will get the impression that one must take calcium and D daily.

Well, I didn't intend to say so; but if what I said makes readers think so, I'm glad I said it.

It is necessary that some such dictum be affirmed again and again, if only to counter the parroting of doctors who warn against the danger of calcium "deposits" if one gets "too much" vitamin D. These doctors do not say how much vitamin D is "too much."

In any case, I'm sure no reputable physician, research scientist or nutritionist can give evidence indicating that growing child, mature or elderly adult can be harmed in any way by daily intake of 1,500 units of vitamin D.

No one, to the best of my knowledge, advises or recommends more than 1,500 units of D daily to prevent tetany, rickets, rheumatiz, premature hardening of the arteries, softening of the bones, irritability of the nerves, sponginess of the gums, weak ankles, neuralgic headache, pseudo-sinusitis or what have you.

These common complaints are manifestations of calcium deficiency, of course. Vitamin D is essential for the normal assimilation and utilization of calcium, whether from food or from food supplement.

SUNLIGHT GIVES 'D'

It is fair to assume that growing child or adult who follows a high calcium diet — which includes a minimum of 1½ pints (3 glasses) of whole or skim milk or buttermilk daily — will get enough vitamin D from exposure to sunshine or skyshine (daylight in the shade) if he or his caretakers be intelligent enough to take advantage of exposure.

Readers who have long suffered one allergic trouble or another, tell me that high calcium diet and/or supplementing their regular diet with an adequate daily ration of calcium and D has given them greater relief than they have had from anything else.

For booklet The Calcium Shortage send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope. For pamphlet "Relief for Allergy" send stamped, self-addressed envelope. For pamphlet "Adult Tetany" — the usual explanation of painful cramps in feet or legs at night or in the early morning — send stamped, self-addressed envelope. Likewise for "Calcium and Rheumatiz," "Young Folks and Old Folks," "Eczema," and "Asthma."

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Praises City Merchants on Inter-Racial Meeting

Last week Negro leaders in the city met with several of the downtown businessmen to discuss the employment of Negroes in sales capacities.

The meeting proved successful, friendly and cooperative, mainly through the interest, support and efforts of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber and merchants who participated should be commended. It is only through understanding and good will that people can resolve differences.

To these men should go the thanks of the city, for indeed, with their sincere interest and assured endeavors they define the true meaning of "democracy."

Actor Tells Advice for Child's Growth

Actor Cyril Ritchard, who has done so much work for children, urges parents to restrict the time their children look at television. "Instead," he says, "read with them and to them. Tell them stories or encourage them to make them up for themselves. Guide their growing imaginations." This is good advice. Most parents pay close attention to food for their children's bodies but give little thought to food for their minds.

Readers Comment on Ike's Illness

It seems to me that the President's recent illness is good indication that he should resign. He's been a wonderful President and a great service to our country all his life, and now he should be able to slow down and live a relaxed life for a while, instead of hastening his death by overwork that the presidency requires.

Worried

★ ★ ★

Why is it the news of the President's illness was withheld so long? They must have known earlier that it was more than a chill. Do they think people are so excitable they'll go into mass hysteria if they aren't told gradually? We're all concerned over the President's health and want to know as soon as something is wrong.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Enter Contests to Chase Blues

Joe is in a bad mental state, so his devoted wife wants to know how to restore his cheerful mood and give him new zest for living. If you are a semi-invalid or have retired on Social Security, by all means read this case record. For it can rejuvenate your spirit and probably add hundreds of dollars to your pocketbook!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-359: Joe B., aged 37, is a war veteran who lost the use of both legs in Korea.

"Dr. Crane, I need some help." Joe's wife began as she nervously twisted her handkerchief, "for Joe is addicted to severe moody spells.

DR. CRANE

"I love him with all my heart and it almost kills me to see him unhappy.

"We don't lack for money, since he gets a good pension and we own our own home. But Joe needs something to stimulate his imagination.

"He is bored and frustrated and inclined to feel inferior because of his paralyzed legs. So what can I do to help him regain zest for life?"

PRIZE CONTESTING

One of the simplest ways to rejuvenate anybody, is to get him involved in prize contesting.

For the many novel contests now being conducted by newspapers, magazines and commercial firms are very intriguing.

They stimulate you to do a little reading in an encyclopedia or a history book.

★ ★ ★

And they offer a challenge to your mind which starts your brain percolating on all eight cylinders.

Besides, after you have mailed your entries, you then are keyed up as you hopefully look forward to the time when the winners will be announced.

Thus, your attention turns to the footsteps of your postman tomorrow, for you never know when you may rate a good prize.

And youth depends on where we live in our thinking, said Emerson.

If we look forward expectantly into the future," he warned us, "then we are young, despite what the calendar or our birth certificate may say.

★ ★ ★

"But if we live in the past we are old, though we may not have reached our 21st birthday."

CONTESTS ARE FUN

An estimated $50,000,000 is given away each year in cash or merchandise prizes.

And contesting is not expensive. You generally are asked to send nothing more than a box cap or a soap wrapper or similar proof of purchase.

During our first year of marriage, Mrs. Crane and I tried contesting as a zestful hobby to weld husband wife together into a happy team.

And we soon began to win prizes. Some were only a $1 bill or maybe a $5 prize. But we did rate two cash prizes of $1,000 apiece.

★ ★ ★

And even now if we weren't so swamped with work, we'd be right back at the contesting game for no other hobby offers a wider and more stimulating exercise for the brain.

Be sure, however, that you study the rules carefully. Don't send in a letter of 101 words if the limit is expressly stated as 100 words.

And a "sentence" means a series of words with but one "period," so when the rules demand that you complete a sentence in 50 words or less, use semi-colons or commas but don't employ more than the final period.

I used to employ prize contests as home work assignments for my students at Northwestern University when I taught courses on the "Psychology of Advertising and Selling," for contesting teaches you to compress your loose thinking into concise terms that are dramatic and colorful.

★ ★ ★

Some of my students later won prizes on their entries, so my classes were large.

Even if you never win a prize, however, the mental stimulation and the better camaraderie between husband and wife are well worth the effort.

So send for my booklet, "How to Write Salable Copy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents, for it also contains a section on "Prize Contesting" that will offer you additional specific ideas.

And be sure to read the follow-up on Joe's case tomorrow.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'And Script Is 'Greatest in World—the Bible'

Star-Cast for TV Prayer Films: Just People

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—"You know, there are lots of people in Hollywood—the biggest stars, I mean—who are very spiritual. Wonderful people.

"But nobody writes you up for reading the Bible. You smoke marijuana and you get plenty of publicity. Presumably nobody cares if you're addicted to good deeds."

★ ★ ★

So saying, producer Lew Kerner's face lit up unexpectedly, inspirationally—almost like Cecil De Mille doing a take on his Philistines.

"It isn't right. Yet that explains why you've got to forget the 'star system' when you're making inspirational films for television."

Mr. Kerner, an East Side New York lad who's rather proud of the fact that he might easily have become a mobster but didn't, is the dynamo behind a new series of spiritual TV films called "Minutes of Prayer."

They are 365 individual prayers of all faiths, 60 seconds each, narrated and illustrated with artistic color movies which soon will be spotted on TV stations across the United States.

NO ROLES FOR STARS

"Dozens of the biggest names in Hollywood asked if they could be in these films—volunteered to do them free—but they would have detracted from the devotional message." (Kerner visualized teenagers saying, "Ooh, there's Anthony Ross!" rather than quietly praying for humility.)

"So what we used is the greatest script in the world—the Bible. And the greatest cast in the world—just people."

Backed by leaders of the three major faiths and hundreds of service clubs and institutions who have seen previews of his minute-long prayers, Kerner feels he cannot fail to sell them to all the major stations of the country. Since they are too brief for sponsorship, "The stations should put them on as a public service.

SUCCESS IN HOUSTON

"Our try-out town is Houston, Texas, and the station there is getting more mail about TV prayers than about their celebrity network and local shows."

The minutes of prayer deal with "all of mankind's problems," Kerner says.

"We have prayers about the monotony of life, prayers about mothers and fathers and dogs and cats (the children's things break me up), prayers about studies and work. We have Negro and white kids playing and praying together . . .

"Someday soon they'll be showing those films in Little Rock, I assure you. And they've got to, subconsciously, get the message across to the people."

Kerner is a tall, lean man who claims he "doesn't know how I escaped being a juvenile delinquent," unless it was because his instincts were good. He knows, from his Lower East Side days, a number of residents of Sing Sing.

After trying a number of positions he found himself, after the war, as executive talent director for Samuel Goldwyn.

Then his wife, a patrician beauty and a religious mother to their four children, mentioned one night that she was "appalled" at what their kids were seeing on TV."

"Wouldn't it be nice," she challenged, "if somebody, someday, would do something good on television?"

Kerner sat back. When he thought of the word "good," he thought of his wife. When he thought of his wife, he thought of religion. When he thought of religion, he thought of prayer.

"The result: Pray-TV."

King of Morocco Turns Attention to Home War

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—King Mohammed V of Morocco turned his attention today from an American sightseeing tour to an irregular war back home over the Spanish colony of Ifni.

The King was to confer on the fighting with the chief aide of his son, who has been running the Moroccan government since Mohammed flew to Washington on Sunday. The aide, Col. Moulay Hafid, flew in from Rabat.

★ ★ ★

Mohammed flew here on a special Air Force Constellation after Vice President Nixon bade him a warm farewell in Washington. Aides said the 48-year-old monarch was immensely pleased with results of his talks with Secretary of State Dulles.

Hafid, aide to Crown Prince Moulay Hassan, arrived later to brief the King on fighting in the tiny Spanish colony of Ifni facing the Atlantic and surrounded by Morocco on three sides.

★ ★ ★

The fighting broke out last weekend. Moroccan officials spoke of revolts in Ifni, implying uprisings by the Berber tribesmen who live in the 741-square-mile enclave. The Spanish said the fighting arose from raids by the Moroccan Liberation Army, an irregular force not directly controlled by Rabat. The strongly Nationalist liberation army spearheaded the military campaign that won Morocco freedom from French control last year. Since then it has sought to add to Morocco some territory claimed as Spanish Sahara and French Algeria.

★ ★ ★

Hassan charged in Rabat that Spanish forces had launched attacks from Ifni on Moroccan territory. He said the royal army had been ordered to fight back. This was the first indication that official Moroccan forces might become involved alongside the irregulars.

Some Spanish officials said unofficially the Ifni trouble began about the time Hassan took over the government. They suggested the crown prince is more inclined to permit military adventures than King Mohammed.

★ ★ ★

In diplomatic circles in Madrid, Spain is reported to have asked the United States to intervene with the King in an effort to end the fighting.

Second Sputnik Ruse in Italy Awes Motorists

ASTI, Italy (AP)—The object in the field on the Turin-Genoa road had a metallic glow and smoked. Up close it could be heard sputtering.

★ ★ ★

Fearful motorists thought it might be a Sputnik come to earth.

Police arrived, gingerly kicked at it, then grinned. It was a fiberboard tube painted with luminous paint and with gasoline-soaked rags burning inside.

★ ★ ★

So ended north Italy's second Sputnik scare in two weeks.

On Nov. 12 at Novara, not far from here, someone rigged up a demijohn to look like a Sputnik. Thousands of people gazed at it from a safe distance until a military expert came from Turin and uncovered the trick.

Adenauer Catches Cold

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was in bed today with what his press chief Felix von Eckhardt described as "a heavy head cold." Eckhardt told a news conference the 81-take it easy over the weekend in order to rest for his visit to London next week.

College Students Admit Robbery

3 Say They Held Up Gas Station to Finance Honky-Tonk Spree

CHICAGO (AP)—Police said three college students were arrested early today and admitted robbing a gasoline station to finance a tour of honky-tonks in suburban Calumet City.

Morgan Park police detectives identified the students as George Dynant, 19, of Oakland, Calif., and George Christopher Jr., 18, of Chicago, both enrolled at Notre Dame, and James Leonard, 19, of Chicago, a student at John Carroll College, Cleveland.

The detectives said the youths admitted taking $25 in bills and a coin changer containing $10 from Lloyd Nolta, 45, attendant at a gasoline station on the south side.

They said Nolta described the robbers as "well-to-do" young men with crew cuts and wearing trench coats.

A car containing the three students was curbed by a Morgan Park policeman who stopped them because the automobile fitted the description of one used in the robbery. He said a coin changer was found on the floor of the car.

Calumet City, on the south edge of Chicago, has a cluster of night spots featuring strip teases and specialty dancers.

The three students were held without charge pending further investigation.

Mom, Four Tots Drown in Car on Way to Meal

LIVINGSTON, Mont. (AP) — Mrs. Charles Woods, 26, and her four children apparently drowned yesterday when their car went out of control and plunged into the Yellowstone River.

At first it was believed the 28-year-old husband and father also was in the car, but Woods notified the Linvingston sheriff's office late last night he had gone to Luther, Mont., to seek employment.

The Woods' children were Betty, 6; Bruce, 4, and identical twins, James and John, 3. The mother and children were en route to the L. W. Swanson ranch south of here for Thanksgiving dinner.

The Woods resided at Big Timber, Mont.

Hard to Look Like Rug

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—It's not easy to look like a rolledup rug, no matter how straight and still you stand. That's what Freddie Wiggins, 23, found out when police flushed him from a group of upended linoleum rolls in a warehouse they were searching for a prowler. Wiggins was booked for investigation of burglary.

Blast Wrecks Home

BAY CITY (AP)—An explosion of undetermined origin wrecked the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hammel in Bay City Thursday. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Hammel nor their four children were injured. Firemen said all their belongings and furnishings were destroyed in the blast.

Bob Considine Says:

Vienna Seems Lovely After Visit to Soviet

VIENNA (INS)—Getting to Vienna after visiting countries east of here is not unlike dwelling silently on the face of a child after attending the funeral of an old person.

★ ★ ★

This is May wine after the draught of bitter tea. This is air in which one can breathe and talk without fear. This is the West. This is freedom.

We were not treated badly behind the Iron Curtain. Actually the reddest carpet was laid out for us.

But what a glorious feeling it is to get to a place where there are lights, hot water, things in shop windows, a briskness to the posture of man, a laugh, snowy sheets and towels, church bells, a martini, a newspaper from Paris, London or New York, friends who ask, "Well, how was it?"

★ ★ ★

Is this an overstress of the creature comforts? Sure it is and it sure is relaxing, Buster.

PAYING OFF RUSSIA

Hard-working little Austria, probably the most grateful of all nations helped by the Marshall Plan and other aids provided by the United States taxpayer, goes industriously about the business of paying its reparations tab to Russia.

★ ★ ★

The country has fewer people than live in New York City—7 million to be exact—but it pays $45 million a year for the crime of having been forced by Hitler to join the Reich that was going to last a thousand years. Twenty-five million must be delivered in goods, machinery, textiles, food and so forth.

That will go on for the next four years unless conditions change.

Russia takes about one-third of Austria's modest oil production though it has tremendous stores of its own. This arrangement has another 10 years to run.

Chancellor Raab has hopes he might be able to get a little better deal from the Kremlin if he can visit there and talk to Khrushchev and K's economic adviser, Mikoyan.

But the Chancellor suffered a mild stroke recently and was a tired and gray-faced man when we saw him today. He was composing a message of sympathy to President Eisenhower, by the way.

POOR CAPITALIST

"You are a capitalist," Mikoyan said in the course of some remarks to Raab when the Russian trade expert was in Vienna not long ago. "You, sir, are a rich proletarian," Raab said, toasting him. "I'm just a poor capitalist."

The peace treaty between colossal U.S.S.R. and Austria contains some curious clauses. The Austrians solemnly pledged that they would take good care of the Russian-designed and built monument to the Unknown Red Soldier erected in a prominent downtown square.

They specifically promised not to tear it down at some later date. People refer to it as the Unknown Plunderer.

The Austrians on the other hand gained the right to remove the Russian wooden war monument and replace it with a neat plaque. Also, they gained permission to change the name of Malinovsky Bridge to Reichsbruecke and Stalinplatz to Schwarzenbergplatz.

★ ★ ★

Oct. 25 is now a national holiday in Austria. It is the day the Russians left.

EXPORTING POWER

Austria is now exporting hydro-electricity to Italy and West Germany and soon will begin selling it to France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. It hopes to become the power station of central free Europe.

★ ★ ★

In a couple of years they hope to have an airline that can run as far east as Moscow and as far west at London. Then a merchant marine built at first on surplus Liberty ships.

The country's scientists are being given an American atomic reaction of the 100 kilowatt class to practice on—with not quite a discernible future in mind.

Meantime, there is a new refugee problem. Austria has been an asylum since 1945 for beleaguered peoples streaming upon it from east, north and south.

★ ★ ★

Now there's a new group: Thousands of Yugoslavs who are leaving Tito's glorious workers' paradise to find jobs in this decadent capitalist nation so as to keep body and soul together. They have been averaging 18,000 yearly over the past few years. Many of these slip back into Yugoslavia after making a few bucks.

Austria has asked Yugoslav authorities about this ticklish matter. Send them on to the United States. Chancellor Raab was told. But he likes us too much to do that.

THE BERRYS By Carl Grubert

2 Navies to Defend Southern Norway

OSLO, Norway (AP)—A high Norwegian military source said today that Danish and German naval forces will take over the joint naval defense of southern Norway.

Norway's tiny navy will be concentrated in the far north, the informant said. He asked not to be identified.

Naval defense of the rest of Norway's long coast would be limited to coastal artillery, he indicated.

The informant said it is expected that the NATO summit conference in Paris next month will ratify the decision.

★ ★ ★

Danish - German cooperation would be counted on to bottle up the Danish Straits in case of war, leaving the Norwegian navy free to act as a shield in the strategically important north Norway area.

Chicago Pupils Visit Textbook Towns

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—Eighteen Chicago school children are having a geography lesson with a difference—they are seeking some of the places they've been reading about.

Aged between 7 and 8, the children — pupils at Bousfield Elementary School in Chicago's Hyde Park district — arrived in Toronto yesterday on a three - day visit to Canada.

★ ★ ★

Teacher Estelle Britton said the children raised the money for the trip.

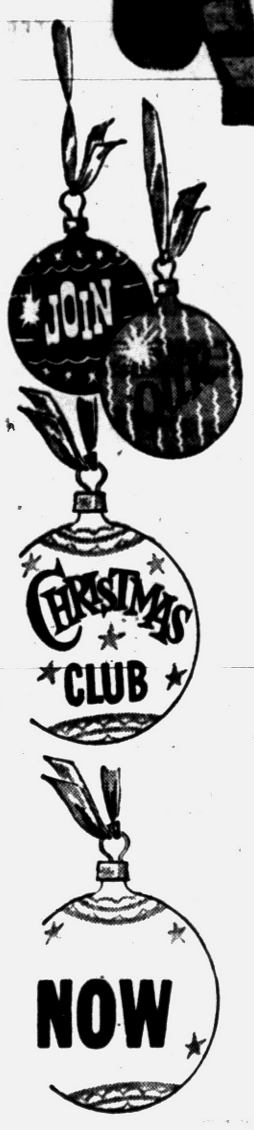

Today they visit Niagara Falls and tour the city, meeting Santa Claus at a department store. They go home Saturday.

HARDING

Three Pontiac men completed the first phase of basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas recently.

They are Gerald C. Quick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Quick, 3369 Rock Haven St., Glen T. Harding Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen T. Harding 985 Myrtle Ave. and John C. Hemming, son of Mrs. Ruth Walton 29 S. Ascot St.

Red Students Ahead in Science and Math

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (INS)—A new study of Soviet education warns that the average Russian high school graduate outstrips his American counterpart in science and mathematics.

The study was made by Alexander Korol, a senior staff member of the Center for International Studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Korol compared the Soviet educational system to a military training program anywhere in time of war, nothing that the "best possible facilities and resources are mobilized for training in the most crucially needed fields."

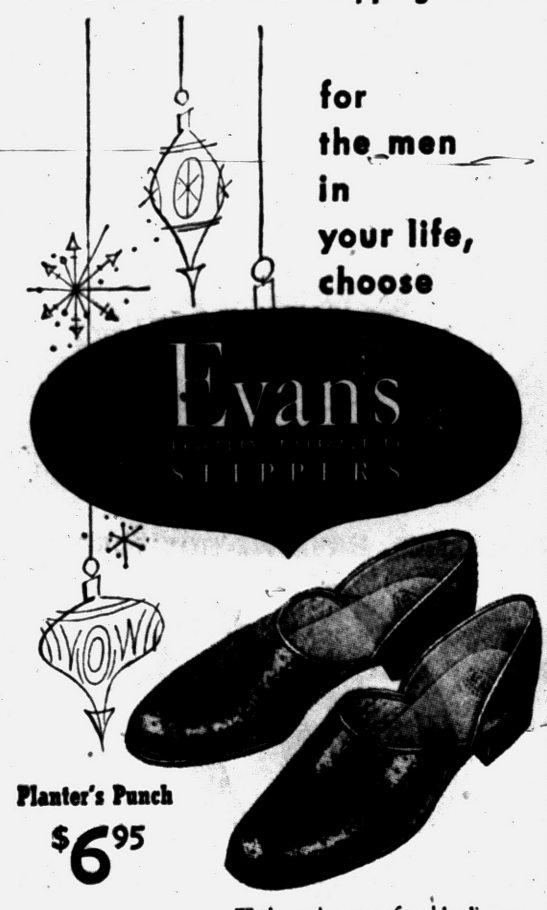

However, the study found some weaknesses in Russian educational methods, among them lack of flexibility and opportunity for initiative by teachers, use of time-consuming methods and undue emphasis on rote learning.

Korol said the issue of American security depends on "whether we can improve still further the quality of our scientific training."

Plan to Convert Ships

NEW YORK (INS) — American President Lines plans to convert four more mariner-type freighters into ultra-modern cargoliners with accommodations for 12 passengers each. A similar number was previously converted and are operating on the line's around-the-world-service.

British Press OKs Bombers

Crash Precautions Give Justification for Use of Nuclear Weapons

LONDON (UP)—While Laborites continued to express misgivings about U. S. bombers making training flights from Britain with H-bombs aboard, the British press ralied to the Conservative government's stand today.

★ ★ ★

The most widely read paper in the country, the Daily Mirror, said today East-West tensions fully justify arming the bombers with nuclear weapons. The independent newspaper usually supports the Labor Party.

★ ★ ★

The carrying of bombs was revealed in the House of Commons Wednesday when Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said he "should think" they do. Prime Minister Macmillan stepped in to allay some of the apprehension raised.

★ ★ ★

Macmillan said U. S. authorities have taken elaborate precautions to prevent a nuclear blast should a bomb-carrying plane crash. He explained that the planes carry bombs in separate parts that have to be expertly assembled before a nuclear explosion is possible.

★ ★ ★

"Can you give an assurance," he was asked by Labor Leader Hugh Gaitskell, "that there is no danger, if one of these aircraft were to crash, of a nuclear explosion resulting?"

★ ★ ★

"Yes, sir," the Prime Minister replied. "I am told there is no danger of an explosion.

★ ★ ★

". . . The American government forces make it a practice to keep always ready, when one of these patrols is in the air from our bases, a special tanker machine which can go up and help refuel an aircraft so that, if there was a question of it not being able to land in this country, it could fly back to its own base in America."

★ ★ ★

Some Labor groups reacted to the news with resolutions opposing the practice of flying H-bombs around over Englishmen's heads.

Yugoslav Republic Day

BELGRADE (UP)—Yugoslavia today began a three-day celebration marking "The Day of the Republic." Yugoslavia was proclaimed a republic 12 years ago.

Growth Called Healthy

MSU Statistician Expects 10 Million in State by 1970

EAST LANSING (UP) — A Michigan State University statistician estimates Michigan will have a population of 10,260,000 by 1970.

Dr. John F. Thaden said in a report his estimate represented a projection of the state's average rate of growth between 1910 and 1956. The United States Bureau of Census estimated Michigan had a population of 7,694,000 as of July 1, 1956.

Dr. Thaden said Michigan had been the second fastest growing state in the nation percentage-wise. Since 1950 Michigan has increased by 19 per cent compared with a 27 per cent population increase in California.

"Michigan is experiencing a healthy and well balanced growth," Dr. Thaden said. "It is not like any of the five states — Arizona, California, Delaware, Florida and Nevada — in which migration contributed more than natural increase to the state's growth."

Dr. Thaden also said that the ratio of Michigan's population growth to that of the United States as a whole has been much more constant than in most rapidly growing states.

He attributed this to the fact that Michigan is a large, diversified state.

Ranking seventh in population, it has a balanced industrial and agricultural economy and is strategically located with respect to many large consuming markets, Dr. Thaden declared.

Etna Again Erupting; No Present Danger

CATANIA, Sicily (UP) — Etna, Sicily's on-again, off-again volcano, is on, again.

Vulcanologists at nearby Zafferana reported that Europe's most active volcano is erupting with an explosion about every 10 minutes.

★ ★ ★

The vulcanologists emphasized that there is no immediate danger from this newest eruption. They said ashes from the explosion were falling back into the crater but that a tongue of lava had moved about 1,000 feet down the northeast slope.

Youth Found in Field After Running Away

ROMULUS (INS) — Harold E. Borne Jr., 10, of Taylor Township, may be having a hard time sitting today.

★ ★ ★

Harold disappeared Wednesday after leaving the Clarence Randall school near his home, touching off an all-night search by more than 100 police, volunteers and Boy Scouts.

★ ★ ★

He was found unharmed yesterday morning after spending the night in a field and behind a roller skating rink.

Authorities said Harold ran off because he got two bad marks at school.

New French Premier Faces 2 Big Votes

PARIS (INS)—French Premier Felix Gaillard risks the life of his government today on two votes of confidence in the National Assembly on his controversial plan for governing rebellious Algeria.

The assembly is expected to give somewhat reluctant support to Gaillard's reform measures giving Algerian Arabs regional autonomy.

The premier will announce his position on the Tunisian-Moroccan ofer to mediate the Algerian issue.

★ ★ ★

Informed sources say he will not reject the offer outright but may demand certain conditions be met before France would consider accepting it.

The invention of the modern piano is generally credited to Bartolemeo Cristofori in about the year 1709.

Pett Writing for Hal Boyle:

Big City Loneliness Is Personal, Profound

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP) — This is a lonely town for people who are alone. You may think every town is lonely for people alone but this is the town I know.

Believe me, the bigger the town, the lonelier the lonely are. A man alone, the only human being on a desert, may feel lonely. But he will feel more lonely among 8,000,000 human beings, if he has nobody to talk to.

★ ★ ★

If you have nobody to talk to except a cactus plant, you may feel sorry for yourself. But you don't take it personally. If you can find nobody to talk to among 8,000,000 human beings, you do take it personally. This is the worst kind of loneliness — painful, profound, abiding.

I have made sort of a study of loneliness in this town—along the streets, in the libraries, in the public parks, in the restaurants, and the case studies which follow have the single virtue of fact. They are real. No novelist dreamed them up.

★ ★ ★

To the library at 42nd St. — that's the one with the lions in front — a man called Harold came almost every night, after work. He made a slight pretense of consulting technical journals but mostly Harold came to talk with the ladies at the information desk.

They came to know him as genteel, well-spoken, well dressed cultured, and as a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Harold also was a hunchback.

★ ★ ★

He came to talk, but he came also to feed the pigeons on the front steps. Especially, a lame pigeon.

★ ★ ★

He talked about his aunt and uncle in Boston. He lived alone in New York. Then one day he told the girls at the desk that his aunt had died. Then his uncle died, and Harold went up to look after their personal effects.

Two weeks later, the girls at the information desk read that Harold had died. It was one of those stories. He had jumped or fallen from his 12th-floor apartment.

★ ★ ★

But the sharpest etching in loneliness you'll find in New York is at the Automat, the coin cafeterias. Mostly people who come in to eat at an Automat are out in 20 or 25 minutes. The widows and the old maids take longer.

I have it on the word of one Automat manager that, having nothing else to do, having sat in the park or caught a movie or watched the afternoon TV in their room, they can't resist coming to the cafeteria for dinner as early as 5 p.m. Then they try to stretch it to 9 or 10.

★ ★ ★

I sat near three such old ladies one afternoon. First, they got their silverware and napkins, and then they spread extra napkins as table-mats. Then they talked. Then they got their tomato juice. Then they talked. Then they got their main course. Then they talked. Then they got their dessert. Then they talked. Then they got their tea.

The conversation I overheard was something like this:

"I hear Frank had a heart attack. And he has such a good job, cashier."

★ ★ ★

"That's too bad." Pause. "You know this tomato juice is improving."

"Soon, it'll be time for me to wear my green coat," said one of the old ladies, rubbing arthritic fingers, trying to maintain her dignity with no place to go, nothing to do.

"Doris said a swell man took her out. I'll find out what a swell man he is. I'll find out."

★ ★ ★

The tone implied she hoped to find out the man wasn't so swell.

"Sylvia bought a new hat and a new dress. Her children had her out last Sunday. They paid for a cab both ways."

This brought a long pause until finally the third woman, who wore a bird's nest hat, sighed. "I think," she said, "I'll get some dinner."

Mother and Daughter Get Divorces Together

DETROIT (AP) — Divorces were granted to a mother and daughter within five minutes of each other Wednesday.

Mrs. Ilean McGurdy complained that her husband Clyde spent too much time with hunting and sports. Her daughter, Mrs. Janet C. Campbell, said her husband Frederick constantly ridiculed her.

Each woman served as principal witness for the other in obtaining decrees from Circuit Judge Theodore R. Bohn.

Ingrid's Recent Date Returns to London

LONDON (AP) — Lars Schmidt, Swedish businessman friend of film star Ingrid Berman, flew here today from New York to spend the weeknd in London on what he said was private business.

Miss Bergman, who recently separated from husband Ruberto Rosselini, is making a film in England.

Asked if he would meet her, Schmidt grinned and said: "I may bump into her in the street."

They dined together when Schmidt was here earlier this month.

Schmidt said he will leave for Paris Monday — "also on business."

Vice President Nixon Has Lived Political Lifetime in Past 10 Years

(President Eisenhower's latest illness has again focused world attention on Vice President Richard M. Nixon, whose past, present and future roles are evaluated in the following article by a veteran reporter who has covered Nixon's activities closely—both at home and during the vice president's travels abroad—for many years.)

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON (INS) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the nation's first real "understudy" for the presidency, has lived what for most men would have been a political lifetime in the past ten years.

Hhis friends and critics alike agree on one thing—it has been a period of great growth for the 44-year-old Californian. They differ, in varying degrees, on how he might use that stature in the White House.

BEEN UNDER TEST

The eager young lawyer who came to Congress in January 1947, has been under test in the crucible of "crisis government" for much of the past decade.

The process, in the opinion of many, has hardened him as a potential leader and has softened the image of him raised by Democrats who insisted he should not be "trusted" with the presidency.

Eisenhower's present illness marks the third time Nixon has been thrust stage-center for an ordeal of personal and political behavior which has had to reflect the contradictory qualities of a capacity to "take over" if needed, along with a restraint beyond any reproach. No other vice president in history, all of whom have lived within a heartbeat of the nation's highest office, has quite had this test.

WORKING PARTNER

Nixon's success in his job may be traced in part to President Eisenhower's willingness to make him a "working" partner in his administration.

One of the President's steps in this direction, and one which top Republicans say helped Nixon's early maturity, was his assignment of the vice president to make his 1953 Far Eastern good will tour.

The vice president and Mrs. Nixon spent two and a half months abroad, circling the globe, and visited more than a score of Asian countries in the fall of 1953. It was a 45,000-mile trip studded with diplomatic and political booby-traps, but Nixon amazed even his friends by completing the tour without once stumbling on a Communist-rigged propaganda vine.

BROUGHT DATA

"He brounght back to the President and others high in government the kind of detailed information and impressions that had not been gathered before," one inner-circle Republican recalled today. "And what surprised us all was that his judgment on critical situations, new to him before his trip, turned out to be right, too."

Nixon made other trips abroad as the President's good will ambassador. In 1954 he and Mrs. Nixon toured Latin America. Then Nixon represented the President on a quick trip to the Philippines. Last December he made a pre-Christmas refugee inspection trip to Austria and Germany. And last March the Nixons flew 20,000 miles on a good will tour through eight countries of Africa and to Rome.

In all, the vice president has traveled about 100,000 miles overseas.

★ ★ ★

If he goes to the NATO conference in Paris it will be his sixth venture abroad as the President's emissary.

More than in miles traveled or hands shaken, the Nixon trip achievements are measured by the Eisenhower administration in terms of friendship generated and top-level information gleaned. Both are regarded as considerable.

DIVIDEND VITAL

The expansion of the vice president's own experience in training in this process has been an incidental but important dividend. For the greatest problems of the presidency are those of foreign and defense policies.

GOP strategists, frankly appraising Nixon's "growth" in terms of his strength for the presidency, rank his demonstration of political campaign savvy and his personal conduct during Eisenhower's heart and ileitis attacks, as the second and third milestones in his development.

The Quaker-bred Californian who never showed any interest in politics until he ran for the House seat of Democratic Representative Jerry Voorhis in 1946, is now regarded as one of the sharpest political minds in the country.

POINT TO COURAGE

Some Democrats, known personal friends of Nixon, have likened him in political know-how to former President Harry S. Truman. They say he has Truman's political courage and ability to "reach" the average voter, as well as the Democrat's liking of politics.

Frequently controversial, Nixon has been a hard-slugging campaigner. Democrats criticized Nixon for the kind of campaign he waged against Voorhis, and again for his campaign against the then Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas, when he won his Senate seat in 1950.

In 1952, running with Gen. Eisenhower for the first time, the young Republican made political history with his televised explanation of why he accepted $18,235 from a group of California supporters while serving in the Senate. He said the money was used to cover office expenses and denied that this was "morally wrong." President Eisenhower "vindicated" Nixon and the team went on to a landslide election victory.

TRICKY DICK

The Democratic description of Nixon as "Tricky Dick" in 1952 was revived by the vice president's slam-bang campaign in behalf of GOP congressional candidates in 1954. His charge that Democrats had sheltered a "left-wing clique which has tolerated the Communist conspiracy" infuriated many Democrats, including Truman.

The softening of this Nixon image, begun abroad in 1953 and subsequent years, was advanced by his 1956 reelection campaign. The vice president, carrying the burden of President Eisenhower's reelection effort, refrained from personal attacks on the opposition—except in reply to attacks on Eisenhower—and devoted his strategy to stressing the positive GOP record in office.

Nixon was credited in 1956 with making inroads for the GOP into the ranks of college, independent and Negro voters.

The one-time Whittier, Calif. grocery boy is known in Washington as one of its hardest working officials. Handicapped by a limited staff, he has operated up to now without a personal press relations man — generally a bureaucratic prerequisite by Washington standards. This was in the process of being corrected when Eisenhower suffered his latest attack. William G. Key, an aviation public relations man, had been hired to report to Nixon next week.

STAFF AUGMENTED

Last spring his staff was augmented by the Pentagon's assignment of two military aides to Nixon's office. One doubles as his appointment secretary while the other handles security matters.

★ ★ ★

This emergency employment device was noted in Washington as a mark of the growth in importance is spelled out as Richard in the Eisenhower administration. And in personal terms, that importance is spelled out as Richard Milhous Nixon—a Republican who might or might not be the GOP presidential nominee in 1960, but who has the best apparent chance for it right now.

In GOP political terms, Nixon's appeal appears to remain well balanced between the "right wing" Republicans who first spotted him in his conduct of the Alger Hiss investigation, and more liberal Republicans who have had to learn to like him.

The latter group has no stronger champion of such liberal objectives as foreign aid and school improvement than Nixon. He was the first to advocate a five-year extension of the reciprocal trade program next year and has voiced the loudest warning that the U. S., startled by Sputnik, is in danger of letting its foreign economic commitments slide.

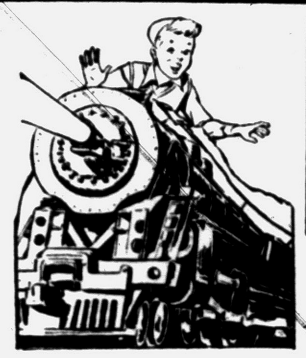

★ ★ ★

The Nixon of November 1957 is thinner, more often looks tired, finds it hard to spend time with his family, but still has tremendous physical bounce. He has made friends with many by sheer display of devotion to his job and affability under fire.

★ ★ ★

One question still raised from time to time concerns the "depth" of his convictions. Because his actions are limited by his office—lacking a vote in the Senate except when there is a tie and having little other power of decision—the answer to that question may never come unless he reaches the White House.

Jewelry to Play a Varied Role

Jewelry has a many splendored role to play this season, as an important footnote to the story of studied simplicity in the new fashions.

One prominent designer describes the current style as a "showcase," in which women can express their own feelings for fashion and beauty. The studied simplicity of the new clothes demands that a woman add something of herself — her own taste and ideas — to the ensemble to make it truly hers.

It is in this task--of glamorous addition, of accenting the basic story of fashion, of giving it a stamp of true individuality, that jewelry plays such an important role this season. According to the Fashion Coordination Institute, a survey of basic fall trends shows that this fashion companionship between the new jewelry and the new clothes is a planned and pretty thing.

A major trend in suits, as typified by Monte Sano's approach, is to ease the collars away from the neckline, to give a delicate new look to the easy suit lines. Specially designed footnotes to this strong fashion trend are the burnished little tailored necklaces designed to fit the neck snugly and carefully. Others sparkle with color, like jeweled collars, to eliminate the "bare" look so unflattering to all but the very young.

World's Women Play Big Role in Geophysical Year Projects

By DR. HELEN DODSON PRINCE
For JANE EADS

The vast international scientific undertaking known as the International Geophysical Year is now in progress.

Since this is a project conducted primarily by physical scientists and since most physical scientists are men, it would seem that the IGY is out of place in an article dealing with women and their interests.

Not so. Women scientists, through their studies of solar activity, are playing an important role in the program.

During the IGY, the physical nature of the earth as a whole— its weather, atmosphere, oceans, glaciers, and even its shape—are being studied. All of these measurements are being considered in relation to what is happening to the earth as it goes through space, circling around the sun.

What happens to the earth depends primarily on what happens on the sun.

In the United States, Dorothy Trotter of the High Altitude Observatory at Boulder, Colo., makes weekly summaries of solar activity for IGY investigators.

Virginia Lincoln at the Bureau of Standards predicts how such solar activity may affect the earth in subsequent days or weeks. At the McMath-Hulbert Observatory, the solar research station of the University of Michigan, Ruth Hedeman and I are conducting investigations in solar-terrestrial relationships in the hope that the cosmic environment of the earth may be more clearly understood.

In other countries, too, women astronomers are concerned with transient solar events. In France, Mme. d'Azambuja organizes the world-wide flare observations. At the Crimean Solar Observatory in the U.S.S.R. it is a woman who keeps track or solar flares and prominences. Perhaps the activity of the sun is matched only by the activity of these women solar astronomers!

Professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan, assigned to McMath-Hulbert Observatory, Lake Angelus, is Dr. Helen Dodson Prince.

Abby Suggests:

Tell That Thundering Son-in-Law to Have His Hearing Checked

DEAR ABBY: I happened to run into my daughter's diary under her mattress. Naturally like any other, I read it. I am worried because it is full of lies. She writes about places she went with certain boys (she is 15) and she was at home those nights with us and never had any dates. I don't know what to make of all this. Should I talk to her about it even though I know she will be angry at me for reading it?

ABBY

WORRIED MOM

DEAR MOM: If her fantasy is active only on the pages of her diary — don't worry. Don't mention it — and I suggest you respect your daughter's privacy.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what is the matter with my son-in-law. He and my daughter live in my house and I am glad to have them, but lately he has been hollering and shouting just like he thinks we are all deaf. I don't want to start any trouble by asking my daughter to find out what's wrong with him, but I don't mind telling you, Miss Abby, he sure has me worried. Can you help me out?

NOT DEAF

DEAR NOT: Your hearing may be all right, but there's a possibility that your son-in-law is losing his. You would not be out of order if you suggested to your daughter that her husband have his hearing tested.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My daughter has been chosen as bridesmaid for her girlfriend's wedding. The girlfriend went downtown and picked out the bridesmaids' dresses. We are just ordinary working people and I want to know if we are expected to buy this dress that the bride picked out, and my daughter will wear only once, or aren't we? My husband says it is too expensive an honor for us and we should turn it down. What do you say? MRS. G. K.

DEAR MRS. G. K.: The bridesmaids usually pay for their own dresses (selected by the bride) but in cases where the family of the bride is very well-to-do, the gowns are furnished. If you feel that this honor is too expensive, by all means have your daughter decline it.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who comes over whenever I have out-of-town company. She takes over just like they were her company whether she knows them or not and you can't get a word in edgewise. All she talks about is her kids until I could scream. Yesterday she stayed and stayed, all afternoon, until I had my supper on the table. She is no special friend of mine, either. Please tell me what to do with a person like this? DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: There are some people who have to be told in very plain English and your neighbor is one of them. Don't be afraid of hurting her feelings because she obviously has the sensitivity of a rhinoceros. When she appears at your door, tell her you are sorry you can't invite her in because you have company.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO JOAN: This character has no character. Lose him.

★ ★ ★

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Child Pushed Beyond Ability Soon Reveals Tension Signs

By DR. DOROTHY WHIPPLE

Stephanie was 6½ when school opened in the fall. She entered the second grade of the local public school according to plan.

The class was quite large—35 children.

Stephanie was one of the youngest children in the class and one of the smallest. She was a quiet, mousey little girl, anxious to please everyone. She behaved very well in school, was no trouble to the teacher.

However, she was a little overwhelmed by this whole business of school. She couldn't read as well as the other children and the work with numbers just confused her.

HELP AT HOME

At the end of the first six weeks of school, the teacher asked Stephanie's mother to come in for a conference. The teacher suggested that the mother devote some time each evening to helping the little girl with her reading.

The teacher also wanted to enroll Stephanie in a special speech class—the child, she said, was very hesitant in her speech and often stuttered when she recited in class. The teacher thought this handicap should be nipped in the bud.

Fortunately for Stephanie her mother took her to her doctor for a good physical checkup because she thought the child seemed pale and jumpy.

★ ★ ★

The only thing the matter with this little girl was that she was being pushed beyond her capacities.

PRIVATE SCHOOL

Last year when she was 5½ years old at the beginning of the school year she was put into a small private school where she easily did the first grade work.

★ ★ ★

This school thought she was able to go on into second grade and she might well have been able to handle the academic work had she remained in the private school and in a class of half a dozen children.

Stephanie was a gentle, sweet, average little girl. In a sheltered environment she could hold her own with her age mates and even with children a little more mature than she was.

★ ★ ★

But in the rough and tumble of a big classroom and with children almost all bigger and older than she, Stephanie was a little lost soul. She couldn't keep up in schoolwork, on the playground, or anywhere.

SIGNS OF TENSION

Almost all children in this predicament will begin to show signs of tension. One child may have violent outbursts of temper, another may wet his bed, a third may begin biting his nails.

★ ★ ★

Stephanie began to stutter. When the reasons for her stuttering were pointed out to Stephanie's mother, she said, "Yes, I used to stutter too when I was a child."

Stuttering does run in families. Speech just seems to be a little more uneasy in some people than in others. When such people get under tension the weakest link breaks and they show their strain in their speech.

★ ★ ★

Obviously the worst thing one could do for Stephanie would be to put her in a speech class and give her increased homework.

INCREASED STRAIN

Both these things would merely increase the strain on her, make her more aware than ever that she wasn't living up to the demands made upon her.

★ ★ ★

What Stephanie needed was to go back into the first grade of the public school. There she was with children her own age or perhaps a bit younger. She felt adequate and competent once again.

A week after this change at school was achieved Stephanie's speech lost its hesitancy.

Princess Is Gay Again

LONDON (NS)—You would never know by looking at Princess Margaret that she is supposed to be heartbroken over a lost love.

Last night she was the personification of gayety and happiness as the belle of the ball at a dance sponsored by North Staffordshire University College at Keele.

★ ★ ★

The students swarmed around her and she danced with at least a dozen of them, chatted with others at the bar and stayed long after she was scheduled to leave to watch a cabaret show.

The smiling, laughing princess was dressed in a daring low-cut, off-the-shoulder gown of ice-blue satin. She wore her hair in a golliwog style.

★ ★ ★

Press reports in the past week have had the princess rebelling against her sister, Queen Elizabeth, and determined to patch up her shattered romance with RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

The stories have been vigorously denied at Buckingham Palace.

Make Bed in 'Halfway' Fashion

Roll Patient Over to Change Sheets During Sickness

By AILEEN SNODDY
NEA Staff Correspondent

Changing sheets when a person is in bed is a halfway proposition because only the bottom sheet presents a problem.

But it isn't as difficult as it looks. Work on one side of the bed at a time. The hardest part of making a bed with a patient in it is to get sheets smooth and tight so there will be no irritating wrinkles.

When changing the bottom sheet, the patient is on the side away from you, as far to the edge as possible. Have him bend a knee to prevent him rolling out of bed while you work.

KEEP COVERED

Remove pillow and extra top covering, but cover patient with a blanket to keep him warm. Now loosen the bottom sheet on the side nearest you and roll it as close to the patient's body as possible.

Fold a clean sheet in half lengthwise and place the center fold in middle of the bed. The bottom hem should be even with the foot of the mattress.

Open the sheet and roll top half as close as possible to patient. After this, and still working away from him, tuck in top and side of sheet as smoothly and tightly as possible. Now turn the patient over rolled bed linen toward you and cross to the other side of the bed.

★ ★ ★

Pull soiled sheet through and roll up ready for the laundry.

PULL SHEET

Pull clean sheet through, smooth out and tuck in top corner and side of sheet.

To remove wrinkles and hold sheet in position, pull sheet diagonally and downward before tucking it in.

★ ★ ★

Soroptimists Meet at Stoddard Home

Mrs. Fritzi Stoddard opened her Ottawa drive home Wednesday evening to members of Soroptimist Club of Pontiac for a buffet dessert. Table decorations were in a Thanksgiving motif, Mrs. Frank Anderson poured.

Plans were completed for a bazaar and card party to be held in Federal Savings and Loan Building on Dec. 5.

Make Mesh Bag

Nylon stockings, gloves, bras, lace-trimmed underwear and similar articles may be dried in your automatic clothes dryer when placed in a fine mesh bag made by sewing four or five dishcloths together. The bag prevents snagging or lost trim, and keeps items together for easy handling, matching and storing.

Why Not Take Swimming Lessons?

Exercise to Firm Flabby Thighs

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "Some time ago I broke my leg and had to stay in bed for a long time. My thighs grew very flabby. I am a teenager and am ashamed to wear shorts or go swimming. Could you give me some advice on how to make them attractive again?"

A. You will have to exercise. Why not take swimming lessons at your local YWCA this winter? This would be a splendid exercise for firming without too much strain. You won't mind in a class for women. You might also do deep knee bends.

Rise high on your toes. Keep your heels off the floor as you bend your knees all the way down. Slowly straighten the knees. Continue. Keep your back straight. If necessary, place one hand on the wall for balance.

Q. "Not long ago you wrote about temporary work for women and a firm which employs women of all ages without age prejudice. To say that I am interested in this is to put it mildly. Getting work is a matter of survival for me. What is the name of the company you wrote about?"

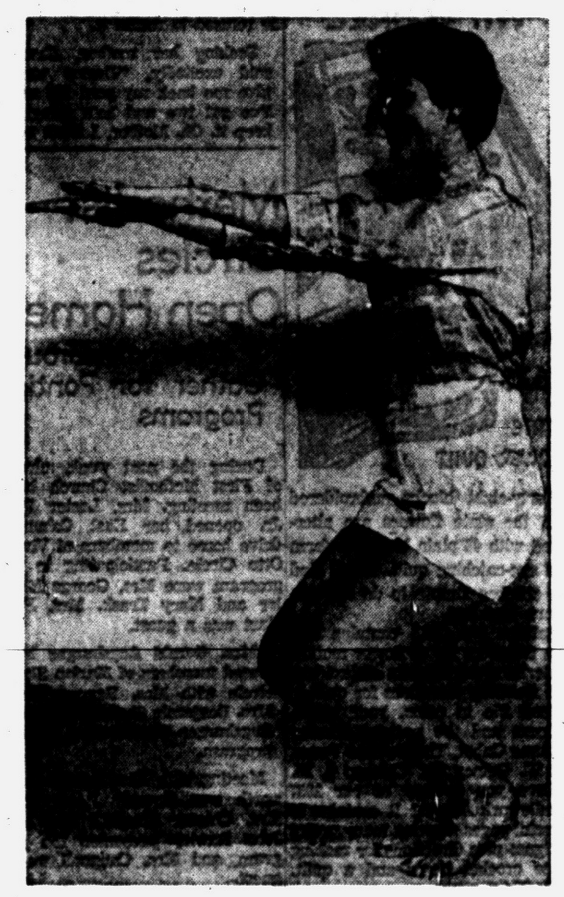

A. Please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me with your request and I will send you the location of the branch nearest to you.

★ ★ ★

Q. "I cannot wear the newest style in hats. I have a wide face and when a hat comes down over my forehead it makes me look square. I hate to be out of style What would you suggest?"

A. The styles in hats this year have great variety. Many of them are worn off the forehead. Select one of those and do not worry if it does not look as "different" as some of the others. I still think that hats should be becoming and flattering.

Q. "I know that my figure looks horrible. Please tell me just what is wrong with my measurements. My measurements are bust 32, waist 25 and hips 37 inches."

For flabby thighs, do deep knee bends.

A. There is too much difference between your hips and your bust for a good figure. Take bust-developing and hip-slimming exercises.

Q. "I am 5 feet 7 inches tall and weigh 120 pounds. I feel terribly fat. How much overweight am I? I am 14 years old."

A. Do you want to be skin and bones? You are about 5 to 10 pounds underweight.

Q. "My beauty problem is that I have natural blonde hair and very dark brows. This gives me a hard, bleached look. I have tried using a brown eyebrow pencil but this only makes the brows look darker. I was going to bleach them with peroxide but some said that this would make my brows fall out."

A. There is a feeling that repeated use of peroxide discourages the growth of hair, but so far as I know, there is no scientific backing for this belief. I am sure that the brows will not fall out.

I wonder if you are not too self-conscious about the contrast between your hair and brows. It sounds very striking and attractive.

The word salary comes from "salarium" meaning salt money, since Roman soldiers received part of their pay in salt.

Ethel Little YFC Rated 3rd in State

It was announced at the Tuesday evening meeting that Ethel E. Little YFC was awarded third place in the state achievement project.

Aging Hubby Builds Ego by Admiring Pretty Girls

Hurt Wife Might Even Help Him Along in His Harmless Little Deception

By RUTH MILLETT

"I don't know whether my husband is deliberately trying to make me feel like a has-been or whether he just doesn't realize how deflating it is to a middle-aged woman's ego to have her husband always loud in his admiration for every good-looking young thing on TV.

"I'm 51 and so is my husband, but his comments make me feel like I'm 60, married to a man who thinks if a woman doesn't have youth she doesn't have anything.

"It hurts and it makes me mad, but I don't know how to make him stop. Do you?"

If you really want to get back at him there are a few comments you might make which would bring home the idea that age doesn't leave men any less changed than it does women.

Next time he whistles in admiration when a pretty girl comes out on the TV screen agree that she's a beauty. Then add wistfully: "And isn't that young man handsome, too. So tall, straight, broadshouldered and slim-waisted."

★ ★ ★

Of course, it is kind of a mean trick to remind a middle-aged man, even by unspoken inference, of his receding hairline, his stooping shoulders and his thickening waistline.

★ ★ ★

Maybe when you recall how his carelessly making you feel old hurts you, you won't want to be that callous.

Chances are your husband is feeling the same pangs you are at having left youth behind forever. And he loudly admires those pretty girls, not to make you feel like a has-been, but to try to convince himself he isn't one.

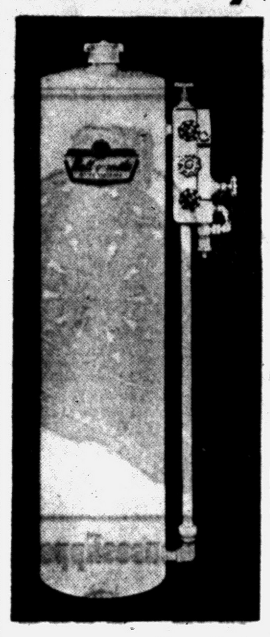

Looking at it with that attitude, it is a rather harmless way for him to build himself up.

★ ★ ★

So why not let him? You could even help him a little by telling him you think a man is never so handsome as when he begins to gray at the temples.

Secretary Is Worried About Noise

Fears Her Typing Disturbs Persons Visiting Boss

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am employed as a secretary. My employer and I share the same office which, incidentally, is not a very large one.

"When visitors come in to see my employer, is it considered rude for me to continue typewriting while they are trying to talk above the noise of my machine, or should I stop and wait until the visitor has left before continuing my work? I never know what to do."

Answer: If there is something else that you can do in the meantime, it would be a good time to do it. But if you are busily typing a piece of work that has to go out, you would certainly not be expected to stop working. If in doubt, why not ask your employer what he prefers that you do?

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have undertaken to answer the questions of a group of future homemakers during the coming season. I shall, of course, use your book as the core of my advice, but I'm sure from time to time I'm going to have to ask you for additional help.

"As for example, this question today: What is your opinion of mixing china patterns on the same dining table? (Your book refers only to mixing silver patterns.)"

Answer: The patterns of china need not match to set an attractive table, but the texture and color accent should be the same.

In other words, porcelain and pottery do not mix well, and there should be a repeated note of color in the patterns used together. Otherwise, the table setting would look like a odd lot table at a rummage sale.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Are relatives ever asked to serve as pallbearers? These are not exactly what you call honorary pallbearers. In our community they are asked to assist the paid pallbearers."

Answer: Certainly no one in the immediate family — which means no one more closely related to the deceased than a cousin—should be asked. As a rule, only friends and business associates of the deceased act as pallbearers.

Teenagers Love Full, Full Skirts

DALLAS (INS) — Big cotton skirts — gathered, pleated and bordered — are big musts to keep teenagers in the proper whirl, and they are so simple to make that it is a good place for a young girl to start sewing for herself.

Three times the waist measurment is the usual yardage for a medium-full gathered or pleated skirt and four times for a very full—but the weight of the material must be considered, too.

Gathering is, of course, simplest, but pleating gives a flatter hipline and takes only a little more figuring.

Cut the waistband the proper length first, leaving an inch on either end for the overlap closing and fit the pleats and gathers to it.

For full circle skirts, figure the length of the waistline to the hem four times. Depending on the width of the material you'll be able to save a half yard or more by cutting one side from each selvedge.

If a full circle won't cover your petticoats, add in an extra two or four lengths, cut the same way, and gather at the waistline.

Teach Children to Tolerate Human Faults

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Sharon has two pens. One is a ballpoint, the other a real fountain pen an uncle gave her for Christmas.

★ ★ ★

One evening in a burst of generosity, she loaned the ballpoint to her older brother. The next day he refused to return it.

Seeking her mother, Sharon said excitedly, "Jimmy won't give me back my pen! He says I've got two and he's going to keep it. Oh, Mother, I think he's so mean. Make him give it back to me!"

Her mother said placidly, "Of course he's mean. So are you, sometimes. So are Dad and I."

Then, calling Jimmy, she said, "Give Sharon her pen. If you need one, ask Dad for an advance on your allowance tonight and buy one for yourself."

★ ★ ★

In her manner was no suggestion that there was anything peculiar in Jimmy's unreasonable abuse of his sister's generosity or in Sharon's unreasonable monopoly of two pens.

HER TOLERANCE

Her children both needed her undismayed tolerance of their "mean" treatment of each other. Without it, they might find it impossible to develop their own toleration of all disappointing human nature.

When we parents take on children's shocked anger at mistreatment by brothers and sisters, we teach them romantic expectations of human relationship. To Sharon, we imply that she's the only person in the world whose generosity has been exploited.

The moral deficiencies in brothers' and sisters' treatment of each other is what prepares them for deficiencies in the world's treatment of them.

We all know people who are perpetually upset by discoveries that human nature is not divine.

★ ★ ★

If their employer criticizes them, they can't eat lunch. If a husband protests their mother's visiting, they brood over his "meanness." When their children disappoint them, they think, "Oh, what have I done to deserve this?"

SHOCKED DISMAY

They are usually the children of parents who have shown shocked dismay at their conflicts with brothers and sisters, and by demanding perfect family harmony, have suggested that perfect harmony with everyone is the proper experience.

So whenever anyone mistreats them, they feel that fate has singled them out for special affliction.

Thus reality is a source of constant confusion and resentment.

Depends on Boy's Character

Kiss on First Date?

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Feature

Dating season is in full swing again, judging by the letters from puzzled types. These questions are from students 16 to 18 years of age. Here goes:

Q. Our group has decided to put a controversial question up to you. It is this: Should girls kiss on a first date?

A. First-date kissing depends entirely on the boy's character. If he is just kissing you goodnight, it is OK.

If he is using the kissing-with-parking-with-necking technique, it is definitely "no." Ditto if he acts like he expects to be kissed goodnight or complains because you resist his advances.

Q. My best friend dated a boy all summer, then they broke off, and have not seen each other for several months.

Now he has called me and asked me to a big dance. She will be going also, with another boy. I do not know whether to accept the invitation in the circumstances.

A. You should not worry about past friendships if you like the boy.

It would be different if he had dated your friend until a recent quarrel, but since they haven't seen each other for a long time, the companionship seems to have come to a halt.

★ ★ ★

Q. How often can you see a boy without giving the impression of "going steady" to which my parents object.

A. If you are seeing other boys too, then you certainly are not in the steady dating class.

Some girls, however, do use the technique called "3 to 1," seeing the boy they like five times as often as other dates, and thereby hope to deceive their parents who object to steady dating.

Q. A boy I like will not come to our house because he does not get along with my father. My father says I may not date him unless he picks me up at the house.

Would it be better for me to meet him on the sly or should I give him up if he refuses to meet me at the house?

A. If he cares enough for you he will swallow his pride and come to see you.

If there is no chance that he and your father can be friends, it might be better to break off the relationship anyway before it gets to the serious stage.

★ ★ ★

Q. Do you believe in Dutch treat? A boy I know suggests that he would like to see more of me, but can't afford to.

A. I do not believe in Dutch treat, except when a couple is engaged and saving their money. Then it doesn't seem to make much difference which pocket it comes out of.

If a boy can't afford to take you out then he should see you on a date that doesn't cost him anything. House party invitations are one way.

There is no reason why you should not invite him to your house, however, if you want to see him more often.

Q. I want to give a boy who has been very kind to me a birthday present. My mother says it would look very strange since he has never given me anything. I have known him for several years.

A. Your mother is right. On the other hand there is no reason why you can't give him a small gift—such as a book—in repayment of his kindnesses, but do not tie it to his birthday.

There is no reason why you can't send him a birthday card, though.

Chiffon Cake Serves 16 When Filled

Mrs. Mair Cooks Pineapple Pudding, Adds Cream

By JANET ODELL

Filled cakes of the sponge type are popular and easy desserts. Today's recipe which uses an orange chiffon cake comes from Mrs. A.C. Mair of Wing Lake.

Learning to play an electric organ was an activity Mrs. Mair indulged in last year. She belongs to a garden club and likes to bowl.

ORANGE PINEAPPLE CAKE
By Mrs. A. C. Mair

1 orange chiffon cake
1 can (1 lb., 4½ oz.) crushed pineapple
1 package vanilla pudding
¼ cup chopped maraschino cherries
1 pint cream, whipped

Cut cake into three layers, crosswise. Combine pudding and pineapple and cook until thick. Let cool.

Whip cream, and cherries and fold into cooled pudding. Fill and frost the cake with this mixture. This will keep well in the refrigerator if made ahead of time. Serves 16.

Actresses know tricks of aging for a part. One is pursing the lips to get a thin-lipped look. This is fine for the stage. But as a woman gets older she would rather highlight her features. Making thin lips fuller with lipstick is a simple step.

Hot Wash Is Best

Use hot water for the most thorough cleaning of your laundry. A cool rinse is satisfactory, but a hot wash—140 to 160 degrees—does the best job with colors and fabrics that will stand the hot water.

At-home clothes offer individuality. Hostess coat in print or jersey worn over pants or separate skirt to form slimming panel for plumper figures.

Holiday glamour begins at home because more people are entertaining there than formerly. Every woman can be pleased, flattered and completely individual in the wonderful at-home clothes now being designed.

Composer Bernstein Rates 'Normal' as Husband, Dad

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS) — Composer-conductor Leonard Bernstein "may be a genius in music, but he's just a nice guy at home."

"Lenny's a very normal genius to me," adds Bernstein's pretty blonde actress wife. "I treat him like a husband—and he behaves like one."

Bernstein, 39, is composer of the Broadway hit "West Side Story," newly appointed musical director of the New York Philharmonic, and one of America's highest-ranked musical celebrities.

"But he's like a child in many ways," says his wife fondly. "He enjoys being a celebrity but his biggest pleasure is collecting other celebrities, just like a kid. He was overwhelmed when he met Greta Garbo at a party.

THRILLED BY GARBO

"All his musical successes are 'work' — something deep and satisfying but Garbo—that was a thrill!"

Mrs. Bernstein, 35, and known in her own right as TV actress Felicia Montealegre, admitted she tries "very hard" to separate the composer from the husband.

"Lenny doesn't work at home. He has his own studio two floors below our apartment. I never know if he's going to come up for lunch, but I do know he's not to be disturbed when working—not even by the children."

The children, Jamie, 5, and Alexander, 2, regard Bernstein merely as "daddy," she added proudly.

"Lenny just doesn't fit that old cartoon about absent-minded geniuses who storm around the house. The only storming he does is about my forgetting to put a pad and pencil by the telephone or the way I throw my mail all over.

"I'm the disorderly one. He's extremely organized—puts his laundry in the hamper every night, goes around emptying ashtrays. He is very neat—and very interested in decoration and fashion—he always notices what I wear and even picks out my clothes.

"And he never forgets an anniversary or a birthday."

WEIGHT IS PROBLEM

After six years of marriage, Mrs. Bernstein thinks there's only one thing wrong with Mr. Bernstein.

"He's getting fat," she says severely. "He's the handsomest man around, but he will eat—seconds on everything, sweet desserts and then he claims he's dieting because he puts saccharin in the coffee.

"But it's not really his fault," adds Bernstein's size five wife. "I'm underweight—I weigh 100 pounds—and I'm supposed to eat all those rich things. I really shouldn't expect him to resist the food on the table."

★ ★ ★

The Bernsteins have never appeared together professionally, but they will be seen this Sunday on NBC-TV's "Omnibus" in a film made during their trip to Israel last summer.

"He's always saying he'll write a show for me—but never can find anything original enough," Mrs. Bernstein laughs. "It's probably just as well. I've never been in a hit; so he's used to having me around in the evenings."

To Clean Iron Pan:

When cleaning a cast iron frying pan, do not scrub it thoroughly as the "greasy" appearing surface prevents the pan from rusting and makes cooking easier. Store the pan after coating it with a thin layer of oil or grease applied with a paper towel.

Mary Martin Keeps 'On the Go'

Leads Life of Gypsy

By LEE BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Mary Martin has played many roles on the stage, but her favorite one in private life is "Gypsy Martin."

"I travel so much I've just got to have a little gypsy in my soul," Mary declared. "I'm not happy unless I'm on the go somewhere."

Mary, the friendly faced pixie, would have to be traveling constantly merely to pay a brief visit to all her various houses. She has three in Connecticut, six in Brazil, a five-story Victorian abode in Manhattan, a rented home in Malibu and another in San Francisco—and she's living in a motel in Burbank!

★ ★ ★

The popular actress, who was wearing an old dressing gown over a pair of wool tights, works hard at keeping herself in shape.

WORKS 10-HOUR DAY

"I train like a fighter," she said, "and I eat all the right foods and sleep eight and 10 hours a day. But the important thing is that I enjoy life and I love my work."

Then she added:

"I may get a little tired at times, but I certainly don't plan to retire."

All Mary wants, it seems, is three months a year at her coffee plantation in Brazil where she and her husband, Richard Halliday, are next door neighbors to Janet Gaynor and her husband, Adrian.

"Richard and I love it there," she said. "At first it was a shock to find that Brazil is bigger than Texas, but we finally got used to it."

The pert, brown eyed musical comedy star insists she works hard when "relaxing" in Brazil.

PLENTY TO DO

"There's plenty to do," she added, "We ride horseback all over the place (600 acres). I even learned to cook on a wood stove and I know how to make the best coffee you ever tasted."

Down in the land of drums and maracas, Mary is known as "Donna Maria," and Richard is "Senor Ricardo."

It will be a while, however, before the Hallidays return to their 2,500 chickens, 20,000 lime trees, 25,000 banana trees and 50,000 coffee trees.

★ ★ ★

"We're still on the go," Mary laughed. "We plan to spend Christmas in Connecticut."

Waffle Iron Tips

If you have removed the deposited film on waffle irons and skillets that prevents food from burning, coat the utensil with olive oil and heat it to a 600 degree F. temperature. This may be done by heating the iron on a burner until it smokes. Then wipe out the utensil. A good protective coat of oil should remain.

Laundry Tricks

Remove laundry from your automatic clothes dryer as soon as items are damp-dry for ironing or completely dry for storage. Shaking and folding the garments while they are still warm enhances their smooth, wrinkle-free appearance.

Clever Substitute

Tightly rolled hot, damp terrycloth hand towels (fingertip size) make a wonderfully clever substitute for finger bowls. They're easy to launder too, for terrycloth towels dry extra soft, fluffy and absorbent when tossed into your automatic clothes dryer.

Chapter 41

Calvert took the oath, settled himself on the witness stand, and Hamilton Burger said, "Your name is Norton Barclay Calvert, and you are the surviving husband of Rose M. Calvert?"

"Yes, sir."

"You have identified the body of Rose Calvert? You saw that in the morgue?"

"Yes, sir."

"When did you first know that your wife was dead?"

Mason said, "That is objected to, if the court please, on the ground that it's incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial. It makes no difference to the issues in this case when he first knew his wife was dead.

Judge DeWitt nodded his head.

"Just a moment, before the court rules," Hamilton Burger said. "May I be heard?"

"Certainly, Mr. Prosecutor."

"We propose to show by this witness," Burger said, "that he was appraised early in the morning of the seventeenth that his wife had been murdered, that this was long before the police knew the identity of the body.

"We propose to show that he was advised by Mr. Perry Mason, who was acting as attorney for the defendant, and that the only way Mr. Mason could possibly have known the identity of the murdered woman was by having his client give him that information. And the only way his client could have secured the information was by seeing and recognizing the murdered woman."

Judge DeWitt looked at Mason.

"That would seem to put something of a different aspect on the situation, Mr. Mason."

"How is he going to prove that the only way I had of knowing the identity of the murdered woman was because of something my client told me?" Mason asked.

"We'll prove it by inference," Hamilton Burger said.

COURT OVERRULES

"I think there is no necessity for having any further discussion on this matter," Judge DeWitt said. "I dislike to have offers of proof made in front of the jury. I think the testimony of the witness will speak for itself, but under the circumstances the court is going to overrule the objection."

"When did you first know that your wife had been murdered?" Hamilton Burger asked.

"About one o'clock on the morning of the seventeenth."

"Where were you?"

"At my home in Elsinore."

"How did you find out your wife was dead?"

"Mr. Mason told me she had been murdered."

"By Mr. Mason, you mean Perry Mason, the attorney for the defendant here?"

"Yes, sir."

"Now let's not have any misunderstanding about this," Hamilton Burger said. "You learned of your wife's death through a statement made by Perry Mason to the effect that she had been murdered, and that statement was made around one o'clock in the morning of October seventeenth in Elsinore, California?"

"Yes, sir."

"Cross-examine," Hamilton Burger snapped at Perry Mason.

"Do you remember what time I got to your house?" Mason asked.

"I think it was about twelve-forty-five or so."

"Do you know when I left?"

"I know that you had left by a quarter past one," he said. "You were there about half an hour, I think."

★ ★ ★

"Didn't I tell you that I thought your wife had been murdered after I had looked at pictures of your wife?"

"I showed you some pictures, but you seemed pretty positive. Otherwise you wouldn't have gone down to see me at that hour in the morning."

Hamilton Burger grinned.

Judge DeWitt rebuked the witness. "Kindly refrain from arguing with counsel. Simply answer questions."

"Yes, sir, that's what you told me, but you woke me up out of a sound sleep in the middle of the night to tell me."

★ ★ ★

"I woke you up?"

"Yes."

"You had been sleeping?"

"I was sound asleep."

"You went to bed when?"

"Nine-thirty or ten."

"Had no trouble getting to sleep?"

"Certainly not."

"And slept soundly until I came?" "Yes."

"Hadn't got up even to take a smoke?"

"No."

"You know as a heavy smoker that about the first thing a smoker does on awakening is to reach for a cigarette?"

"Certainly."

"Yet after you let me in you sat there for five minutes before you offered to take a smoke, didn't you?"

"I . . . I don't remember that so well. I had been. . . I can't recall."

The bailiff tapped Mason on the shoulder, said, "Paul Drake says he has to talk with you right away."

"If I may have the indulgence of the court for just one minute," Mason said.

He turned and followed the bailiff to the rail where Paul Drake was leaning forward. .

"Look, Perry," Drake whispered, "Myrtle and I were just coming back from lunch — and what a lunch! We rode up in the elevator with this goof that's on the stand. You'll notice that when he stands up he's sort of pigeon-toed, holds his right foot a little more in than his left foot. I'd never have noticed it but Myrtle always looks at the feet of people who are in the elevator.

"She says she remembers him coming into the hotel. She took him up to the seventh floor and she thinks it was on the afternoon of the sixteenth, the day the murder was committed."

Mason thought that over for a minute.

"Please proceed with the case," Judge DeWitt said.

Mason turned and walked slowly back toward the witness stand. Mason said, "Didn't I tell you, Mr. Calvert, that I got your address from a letter which you had written your wife?"

"I don't remember," Calvert said. "I was pretty much broken up, and I don't remember too much about what you said about how you got there, but I remember you came there and told me my wife had been murdered."

"You had written your wife a letter, hadn't you?"

★ ★ ★

"Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial and not proper cross-examination," Hamilton Burger said, "My interrogation was only as to a conversation with Mr. Mason. If Mr. Mason wants to make this man his own witness, he can do so."

"It is entirely proper to show the attitude of the witness and possible bias on the part of the witness," Judge DeWitt said. "I don't see what difference it makes."

"Well," Mason said, "in order to come within the technical rules of evidence, I'll reframe the question and ask him if he didn't tell me that he had written his wife a letter?"

"I don't remember. I think I did."

LOOKS LIKE HOME — And it is home for Oakland County's dependent children who have lost their real homes through no fault of their own. Formerly housed at the county children's home, well-behaved dependent youngsters are now being transferred to this Franklin boulevard dwelling recently purchased by the county. There are 13 children living there now, and soon the number will reach 20, the maximum.

STORY TIME — Family gatherings like this are common at the Franklin boulevard home. Youngsters gather 'round, as they listen to their "Ma," Mrs. Ramsey, read a story before bedtime.

County's Dependent Youngsters Experience Home Atmosphere

By PETE LOCHBILER

For about $30,000 combined with foresight and understanding, Oakland County has relieved another big problem at the overcrowded children's home.

The money went to purchase and renovate one of the big, comfortable dwellings lining Franklin boulevard in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The human element was on the part of officials who realized that children dependent on the county for food and shelter needed a better break than they were getting.

The home, 52 Franklin at the corner of Mary Day avenue was purchased early this fall for $30,000 to accommodate 20 elementary school age youngsters forced to turn to the county through no fault of their own.

For $4,400 more, juvenile authorities had the home remodeled and for another $4,900 equipment and furnishings were purchased.

Early this month the first youngsters moved in and now 13 are living there, in circumstances much happier and more like home, officials feel, than the children's home where all dependency cases were forced to live before.

OPEN HOUSE SUNDAY

There will be an open house from 2-5 p.m. Sunday to show off the new facility to the general public.

Officials such as Juvenile Judge Arthur E. Moore; James W. Hunt, director of Oakland County children's services; Mrs. Helen P. Roberts, Ferndale supervisor who is chairman of the county's Juvenile Affairs Committee, and many others are proud of what will be on view.

Pontiac Press Photos by Ron Wagman

The big, yellow, eight-bedroom house looks like home inside and out.

★ ★ ★

Juvenile authorities are proud of its clean, bright interior. They like the big, 40-foot-long living room with sturdy new furniture, fireplace and television set.

LIKE A REAL HOME

They think the dining room, with its gay curtains, attractive table decorations and informal atmosphere, is about as close as possible to a dining room in a real home.

Upstairs, under the sympathetic eyes of two housemothers, Mrs. Beatrice Seaton, and Mrs. Charles R. Ramsey, the youngsters keep their comfortable bedrooms neat as a pin.

The big kitchen is equipped to serve a gang, but the mouth-watering smells that come from it as the cook, Mrs. Verbia Billings, prepares supper are the same good smells that brighten any home, be it extra-big, medium or small.

REAL GAIN DEEPER

But what the same officials are really proud of is something less tangible.

It is marked by the youngsters' ready smiles, clear eyes and happy laughter, by the way they address their housemothers in a friendly, eager manner as "Ma Ramsey" and "Ma Seaton."

By the proud way they carry their books while walking to classes at Crofoot School a block away.

By the absence of quarreling, despondency, tears.

★ ★ ★

The county knows it can only provide a substitute for the real homes which the dependent youngsters have lost. But, as Judge Moore said in advance of Sunday's open house:

"This home for dependent children gives the youngsters a nearly normal environment for living. Some of them may have to stay here months, some more than a year.

"I think we can be very proud to have provided them a warm home, a place with a lot of fun and love.

"This home, and perhaps others like it in the future, should become a permanent facility for this type of youngster, who will have to remain dependent on the county until his late teens, or until he is taken in by relatives or adopted or goes to a good boarding home.

COSTS SAME

"It doesn't cost us any more to keep the children here—$6-a-day per child, the same rate as at the main children's home. But what a difference there is here, compared with the main children's home, for the child who comes to us through no fault of his own."

★ ★ ★

One of Judge Moore's chief points when asking the Board of Supervisors for the new building this fall, was that the well-behaved dependent children should not be forced to mix with the delinquent children at the children's home.

"I think this new dwelling with its happy, natural atmosphere helps solve that problem for us," he said.

Open House will be held from 2-5 p.m. Sunday at 52 Franklin Blvd.

ALL IS NOT PLAY — But wiping dishes is not so hard either, considering that they would have had to be washed by hand, too, if there weren't an automatic dish washer at the dependent children's home. Here two of the girls pitch into the nightly task. The children help in most of the household cleaning.

BOYS, TOO — The Army will be proud of these two youngsters someday — they already know how to GI their beds as neatly as in a hospital. Youngsters at the dependent children's home keep their own bedrooms looking spotless. In the larger bedrooms there are six children, each with his own double-decker berth.

Blame Addicts for Spreading Narcotics Habit

CHICAGO (AP) — Medical investigators today blamed addicts — rather than peddlers—for spreading the narcotics habit.

They said users apparently give the stuff to those who never have used it, and they adedd:

"Active proselyting by drug peddlers plays a very small role in spreading addiction."

The views were set forth in a report of the American Medical Assn. Council on Mental Health and its Committee on Narcotic Addiction. The report, printed in part in the AMA journal, was based on a 2'-year study.

The investigators suggested addiction should be regarded as an illness and should be treated medically rather than punitively.

"Opiate addiction does not cause the degree of damage to physical health that other intoxications tolerated by our society can cause," the report set forth.

White House Expected to Act Soon

Await Decision on Nixon, NATO Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House may announce a decision soon as to whether Vice President Nixon will sit in for the convalescing President Eisenhower at the NATO summit conference in Paris next month.

Nixon has said he is ready to go, and apparently the NATO Council expects the vice president to attend the meeting which opens Dec. 16.

The council said yesterday in a statement released in Paris that "it learned with satisfaction that Vice President Nixon would lead the American delegation."

However, the final decision apparently has not yet been made.

If Nixon gets the assignment, he would be catapulted into greater international prominence at a time when his role as vice president has taken on added significance at home.

He has spent many hours at the White House since Eisenhower was stricken Monday with a blockage of a small brain artery.

Nixon has maintained throughout that he was not assuming any presidential duties, and has said he expects Eisenhower to be back on the job after a short period of convalescence.

Nixon stood in for Eisenhower yesterday in bidding farewell at the airport to King Mohammed V of Morocco, who was leaving after three days of talks with U. S. officials.

When he stopped by at the White House later, Nixon said he planned to meet with Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's top aide. Nixon added the purpose of his visit was to "see whether there are any loose ends that I can take care of."

It was at the airport that Nixon, in response to queries from newsmen, indicated his willingness to go to the Paris NATO conference.

"I am always ready to do whatever President Eisenhower wants me to," he said.

Nixon added that the question as to "who would make up the United States delegation" will be submitted to Eisenhower.

The White House said Eisenhower's doctors will decide later whether he is up to making the trip.

Nixon held his first news conference at the White House Wednesday.

He said he was not doing any more than he did in 1955 when Eisenhower suffered a heart attack.

Tend to Encourage Imagination

Many Toys Educational

The child who used to spend hours stuffing clothes pins in milk bottles and dumping them out was a pioneer in the "learning by playing" field.

★ ★ ★

In fact, an educational toy manufacturer turned out plastic milk bottles and clothes pins so today's siblings may go through the "put-in, take-out" phase of learning, too. And out of the kitchen. Thus, as in the case of a growing number of toys, a child no longer "just plays." He "learns" while he plays.

A staunch supporter of educational toys is Gilbert G. Southwick, president of Childhood Interests. He explains the educational toy stand thus:

"Watching a toy perform is amusing, for a short time," he says. "But the toy may contribute little or nothing to the small fry's mental and physical development.

"On the other hand playthings which make the youngster a participant tend to encourage him to exercise his imagination. Besides they develop his skill in arts, crafts or music . . . and, improve his physical coordination."

Air Crash Kills 3 Americans

U.S. Globemaster Hits Hill in Turkey While Probing Dense Fog

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—A U. S. Globemaster crashed into a hill near Ankara in dense fog yesterday and burst into flames, killing three of the eight Americans aboard. Two others were injured seriously.

The big transport plane was reported inbound from Tripoli with a cargo of provisions for the U. S. military mission here.

Authorities refused to disclose the names of the casualties until next of kin are advised. The injured were taken to the American military dispensary at Ankara.

★ ★ ★

The plane was last sighted when it flew over Ankara's Esenboga Airport this morning. Heavy fog and bad visibility prevented it from landing.

Observers say its radio must have gone out of order because it sent no messages.

The crash against the low hill of Cataltepe, 15 miles from Ankara, came two hours later.

★ ★ ★

Teenagers Risk Daredevil Game on Motorcycles

PORT ELIZABETH — A daredevil game similar to "Chicken," which is popular among some teenage motorists and motorcyclists in America and Australia, is being played in South Africa, Port Elizabeth reports. Motorists are terrorized by "mechanized cowboys" who race their motorcycles down mountain roads at around 100 miles an hour. They seem to be playing a "dare" game, deliberately taking chances by weaving among the cars. Apparently its exponents must choose between risking death and the sneers of their companions. This has happened principally on the road between Uitenhage and the Lady's Slipper Mountain.

Tree Swiss Planted in 1476 Still Lives

FRIBOURG, Switzerland—One of the most famous landmarks in Switzerland, near the city of Fribourg, is the Lime Tree of Morat. According to legend, the tree as planted as a monument to the Swiss victory over Charles the Bold in the Battle of Morat in 1476.

A young Fribourg soldier, who had survived the bloody battle, ran 10 miles to carry the good news to his people. When he reached the Town Hall square he murmured, "Victory," and fell dead. He clutched a sprig of a lime tree in his hand, and this was planted where he fell.

There are 23 railroads in Pennsylvania sharing in the job of moving coal from the mines to the markets.

Dems Charge Nixon Deserts 'Ike Myth'

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Democratic Party charges that Vice President Richard M. Nixon has decided to "desert" what it termed the "Eisenhower myth" to strike out on his own politically.

★ ★ ★

The Democratic Digest, the party began to fade" last spring. Nixon made the decision after President Eisenhower's "popularity began to face" last spring.

The lead article in the December edition likened the Vice President to "a man who has decided to abandon a slowly sinking ship but in such a way as to suggest he is merely going for a swim."

The article said that a buildup of Nixon for the White House in 1960 is "on now in full force" and questioned his qualifications for national leadership.

★ ★ ★

Object of the buildup effort, the Digest asserted, is "to bury quietly — before 1960 — the not-too-attractive past of young-man-on-the-rise, Richard Milhous Nixon."

PREPARE SKATING RINK — A bulldozer levels the ground for Romeo's new public skating rink, 75 by 100 feet, at the rear of the nearly completed Community Youth and Civic Center. The grading was finished Wednesday, and the rink will be flooded during the next freezing spell. There is a hydrant nearby — installed by the village — making it an easy job to keep the rink in condition for skating all during the winter months. Howard Hunt operates the bulldozer.

Children Ignore Rain at Airport

Santa Arrives at Romeo

ROMEO — Rain failed to dampen the spirit of the more than 850 Romeo area children who eagerly awaited Santa's arrival at the Romeo Airport yesterdy morning.

The youngsters caught their first glimpse of the old gentleman when his plane circled the field a couple of times before landing. Then they swarmed around him and escorted him to his throne in the hangar.

There a long line had already formed and each child was given a coloring book and candy bar before shaking hands with Santa. Many of the children were soaking wet before they reached the head of the line. But a smile from Santa made them forget their troubles.

British Cartoons Punching Hard at Ike's Sickness

LONDON (INS)—Britain's political cartoonists dipped their pens in acid today to sketch biting pictorial comments about President Eisenhower's illness during a time of international tenion.

The cartoons were a followup to editorials in yesterday's newspapers calling for the President to resign because of the state of his health.

★ ★ ★

The Daily Express cartoon pictured a rocket bearing a hammer and sickle beside a wheelchair bearing an American flag. The caption read "Arms Race."

The Manchester Guardian's famed David Low showed an empty chair marked "Back in Five Weeks" below a wall clock whose hands stand at five minutes to twelve. Low's cartoon was captioned "Time waits for no man."

The Daily Mirror pictured a tiny Vice President Richard M. Nixon in an outsized suit marked "President's Clothes" with a caption which said "Well, I'm young and may still grow."

★ ★ ★

The Daily Mail showed a despondent lion with Ike's face in a cage under the caption "I'm only a lion in a gilded cage."

Woman Severely Hurt by Tot, 3, on Tricycle

LOS ANGELES (INS) — A hit-run tricyclist last night ran over and severely injured Mrs. Z. Faye McCall, 70, of West Los Angeles.

The elderly woman said she was walking along the sidewalk when a three-year-old boy came up behind her on a tricycle and shouted, "Get out of the way, or I'll run over you."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. McCall smiled. "You wouldn't do anything like that, now."

Whereupon he did and sped away. Mrs. McCall suffered a broken arm.

Girard Case Appeal Called Nonpolitical

TOKYO (INS) — The man who will have the final say on whether Japan will appeal the suspended three-yar sentence of GI William Girard said today that politics was no part of the question.

★ ★ ★

Procurator General Tadashi Hanai, the equivalent of the attorney general in the U.S., promised that the government "will have a definite word one way or the other by the deadline" for appael at midnight Tuesday. This is the 14-day limit within which either the defense or prosecution mus: file their appeal, if any.

Hanai admitted that Girard's Nov. 19 sentence for killing a Japanese woman shell picker was "too light in view of the fact we asked for five years at hard labor." "But," he added, "the light sentence will not be the only factor we will consider in our appeal."

He emphasized: "The decision will be based on legal grounds entirely. Politics will definitely be kept out."

★ ★ ★

Prevailing public opinion in Japan is that Hanai has decided not to appeal although his prosecutors at the Girard trial and the Japanese press believe the lenient verdict calls for an appeal which would be tantamount to a new trial.

Italian Knifed by Fiancee for Changing Mind

CAGLIARI, Sardinia (AP) — Antonio Motzo, 35-year-old landowner, is in a hospital today because he changed his mind.

His former fiancee, Elena Serra, 32, is in prison charged with stabbing him.

Antonio and Elena yesterday were driving to nearby San Montiferro to be married.

Suddenly, police said, Motzo told his bride-to-be: "I have changed my mind. I no longer want to marry you." He left the car.

Police said Elena rushed to buy a butcher's knife, followed Antonio to a bar and stabbed him in the neck.

Antonio is described as being in serious condition.

Congress Eyes Brannan Plan

Despite Heavy Artillery of Benson, Proposal Likely to Be Revived

WASHINGTON (INS) — Indications are that the so-called "Brannan Plan" will appear in Congress next session in spite of heavy artillery aimed at the plan by the administration.

★ ★ ★

The proposal, calling for direct payments to farmers in place of government purchases of farm surpluses, will pop up when a subcommittee of the congressional Joint Economic Committee opens hearings on farm policy next month.

COST 10 BILLION

A special report by the Agriculture Department frequently cited by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, claims that the program would cost an annual 10 billion dollars by 1965.

A price tag of that size would doom the measure immediately in a Congress searching for ways to pay for America's missiles and satellite program.

But backers of the plan — the National Farmers Union is the most vocal — claim the report had little resemblance to the proposal first made by former Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan during the Truman administration.

Supporters point out that Brannan proposed direct payments only for perishable commodities — meat and produce. He also insisted on strict acreage controls and a limit on the amount any one farmer could receive directly from the government.

Experts scheduled to appear before the Joint Economic Committee claim that the direct - payment plan would cost just about as much as the present support rates, provided there is no attempt to boost farmers' income from current levels.

Woman Makes Her Pilgrimage

Vowed She'd Take 387 Mile Trip if Son Were Cleared of Murder

ALVIN, Tex. (AP) — Undaunted by showery weather, slight Mrs. Manuela R. Carreon hoped to walk another 21 miles today on a religious pilgrimage down more than two thirds of the Texas coastline.

★ ★ ★

Her arrival here at dusk completed the second leg of a 387-mile hike started Wednesday at Galveston, 32 miles east and a little south of Alvin.

Mrs. Carreon, 46 and from Texas City, Tex., is bound for the Mission de San Juan deep in the Rio Grande Valley. She vowed to the Virgin of San Juan she would make the trip on foot, she has said, if her son was cleared of a murder charge.

★ ★ ★

Her goal for tonight was Angleton, Tex., but Mrs. Carreon has said she will rest wherever darkness finds her each night.

She trudged through chilly weather, clutching an imitation leopard jacket around her shoulders.

★ ★ ★

She appeared unperturbed at foregoing a Thanksgiving Day dinner with her family.

"My boy is free —that is enough turkey for me," she told a reporter. Besides, she explained, the Carreons had their holiday feast last week in the expectation she would be trudging down the highway later.

The pilgrimage was started after her eldest son Alfonso Carreon Jr., 27, was adjudged innocent of murder in a tavern slaying last Dec. 1. He had pleaded self-defense in a knife affray.

★ ★ ★

"Every mother must make sacrifices for her children," the little mother said. "My boy is a good boy."

Say Cuban Rebels Set Torch to Fields

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) —Fires were reported sweeping over a wide area of sugar cane fields last night in southeast Cuba—set by rebels trying to bring down the government by ruining the sugar crop and causing economic hardship.

★ ★ ★

The fires were reported in Oriente province, center of rebels led by Fidel Castro, who launched the fire offensive several weeks ago. Sugar industry spokesmen in Havana predicted that the burning would fail to ruin Cuba's main export crop.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, there were new but unconfirmed rumors that reinforcements for Castro have landed from Florida and Mexico.

Thorez Serves France Thereby to Help Russia

FROM THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

WASHINGTON — In an era which has seen de-Stalinization and Soviet barbarism in Hungary shake Communists throughout the world, Maurice Thorez is still at the wheel of the French Communist Party withh complete devotion to the Stalin myth.

Thorez can today still make his boast of being the "most faithful disciple of Stalin outside the Soviet Union."

He has been secretary - general of the most important Communist party in western Europe for 27 years. And for all those years he has consistently followed policies designed first of all to serve the interests of the Soviet Union, the center of international communism.

He has demonstrated that the interests of France are not his unless they work also to increase the relative power of the Soviets.

Yet Maurice Thorez might well become premier if the Communists come to power in France.

★ ★ ★

A short - necked, burly man of 57, Thorez is most at home haranguing a crowd of workers. An American reporter noted that at one rally Thorez knocked a heckler sprawling with a "ham-fisted slap" that sent the victim's cap 10 feet in the air.

MINER AT 12

The Communist leader has been many things — coal miner, bargeman, farmhand and house painter. He says his earliest memory is of a mining accident in which hundreds were killed. At the age of 12 he himself went to work in the mines.

He joined the Socialist Party while still in his teens, but in 1920 was one of the founders of the French Communist Party.

Although having little formal education, he has read widely and is said to have not only a knowledge of Marxist doctrine but of classical literature as well.

★ ★ ★

Thorez has moved from local party member to secretary - general of the entire French Communist Party within a decade after he joined.

In 1925 he made his first pilgrimage to Moscow. He didn't become known to the nation in general, however, until he was elected to the Chamber of Deputies in 1932, while still in his thirties. In 1936, he became leader of the Communist deputies.

Thorez laid down the line in 1934 that was to guide the party for the next several years. He proclaimed a "Popular Front of Work, Peace and Liberty." The following year, Moscow made it the stand for all Commmunist parties. Thorez and his French band were publicly praised by the Comintern for showing "the international proletariat how to fight fascism."

DESERTED ARMY

He was drafted into the army in the general French conscription in 1939 but immediately deserted and turned up in Moscow. As a result, he was court - martialed and sentenced to prison as a deserter. It was not until 1944 that he was granted amnesty.

★ ★ ★

When de Gaulle issued his dramatic call for all Frenchmen in 1940, the Communists were not interested. A few, however, were patriotic and went with the Resistance.

Great hope shone after the liberation for the "party of Maurice Thorez" to be legally hoisted to power in France. The elections of 1945, the first in nine years, showed the Communists to be the strongest single party, but they did not have a majority.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union opposed the Marshall Plan in 1947, so Thorez charged that France was selling its soul to the United States by accepting Marshall Plan aid. He also attacked NATO as an American plan to control France by stationing troops there.

After some vacillation over the Communist independence movement in Indochina, the French Communists finally broke with the "capitalists" with the realization by the party that it could not come to power via the ballot box.

★ ★ ★

From then until 1954, Thorez led the party into isolation, opposing the government and waiting for the catastrophe that would bring the Communists to power.

★ ★ ★

To sum up, all available evidence reveals Thorez to be only a faithful Sputnik of Moscow. Should he ever succeed in his ambition to seize power in France, this western fortress of democracy perhaps would be reduced overnight to the status of a Soviet Satellite.

Puzzle Fans! Money Mounts in Pot-O-Gold

Numbers on the Pot-O-Gold till show that the money's mounting rapidly and is now at the tempting sum of $1,200. That's a plump little morsel for so little effort. All you must do is read the rules and clues carefully, write the correct numbers in the appropriate blanks and mail it to us on a postcard. Certainly there could be no one so lazy he wouldn't be willing to invest that little time for such a generous prize.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the puzzle square marked A.

Broken Dolls Reflect Price of Algeria

Flea Market at Paris Shows Bitterness

Howard Handleman roams Europe, where he is chief correspondent for International News Service. He has been reporting from abroad for more than 15 years.

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

PARIS (INS) — There is an open air market in Europe that sells bent nails and heads of broken dolls.

It would be nice to report that this market is on the other side of the iron curtain. That would be further proof of the way communism grinds its people down under the weight of poverty.

Unfortunately, this market is on this side of the curtain.

In fact, it is in Paris, home of the NATO headquarters of the grand alliance of free nations.

And it is necessary to see this market to get the full impact of the French bitterness about Algeria and arms to Tunisia.

NEAR PARIS

The market, spread over several blocks on the outskirts of Paris, was jammed with several thousand strollers, most of whom were potential customers.

This market is called the "flea market," but it is not the famed flea market where art treasures are offered to right Frenchmen and rich tourists.

There were no tourists at this market, only Frenchmen and Algerians too poor to shop elsewhere.

SYMBOLIC BITS

The head of the broken doll symbolized the poverty represented by vendors and customers alike on those depressing streets.

"It's a market of bits and pieces," said an American.

The wares are spread on canvas on the sidewalk or bare ground. Some vendors stand and hawk their wares. Others, like a toothless old hag, sit on a dirt bank waiting for customers to show interest.

Some, like three soiled, unshaven derelicts, swig a bottle of cheap wine and shout raucously to other "merchants."

LIKE MATCHGIRL TALE

There is music from old windup phonographs playing records of World War I vintage. There is a man with a handful of old needles.

Somehow the whole thing recalls the pitiful fairy tale of the little matchgirl.

★ ★ ★

An American diplomat listened to the story of the market with interest.

"Now you can understand better," he said, "why the French are so sensitive about Algeria and arms to Tunisia.

"They have been in the front line of the cold war ever since it started.

"They had it in Indochina. They had it in Syria. They had it at Suez. And they are having it in Algeria.

"It has bled them, deeply. You don't see it on the Champs Elysees. That still glitters. But you find your broken dolls in the back streets, and people who buy them."

Leopard Named Ike Heads for Washington

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A Siamese jungle leopard named Ike, who thinks he's just an ordinary cat, took off by plane for the National Zoo in Washington today.

★ ★ ★

Ike was raised from a tiny, furry cub to his present 30-pound bulk by Mr. and Mrs. Max Urlass. Urlass is project manager for Hycon Page Telecommunication Engineers here.

★ ★ ★

The leopard is now 8 months old and is more than two feet long. It has lived in the Urlass house more or less like any other cat.

★ ★ ★

He's getting VIP treatment on the flight. Gilbert J. Oakley Jr., general manager of Hycon Page, is escorting Ike with stops en route at Tokyo, Seattle and Minneapolis. The plane is due in Seattle tonight.

1957 Death Toll May Be Lower

National Safety Council Guesses Year's Count as 1,000 Less

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1957 death toll on the nation's highways might be 1,000 less than last year, the National Safety Council estimated today.

Council officials said their optimistic estimate of 38,600 deaths was based on three factors:

1. Some 31,350 highway deaths during the first 10 months, about 800 less than 1956.

2. During the first eight months of 1957, 5.6 persons died for every 100 million miles of highway travel. Last year, the figure was 6.

3. Twenty-nine of 46 states reporting showed traffic records for the first 10 months of 1957 which were improved over last year. Montana and Idaho showed 20 per cent improvements.

★ ★ ★

In October, 455 of the reporting cities had perfect records. The three largest were Richmond, Va., Jacksonville, Fla., and Salt Lake City, Utah.

There were 135 cities which had perfect records during the first 10 months. The three largest were Lynn, Mass., Rock Island, Ill., and Ann Arbor, Mich.

★ ★ ★

In 1956, 39,628 died in highway accidents.

The council said deaths in October totaled 3,480, approximately the same as in October 1956, which was the lowest since 1949.

Blinded Vet Saves 5 in Burning Building

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A veteran blinded by a 1945 minefield explosion in France groped his way through a burning building yesterday to arouse five occupants from apartments.

★ ★ ★

The sightless hero, William M. Hughes, 43, owns a gift shop in the building. Awakened by choking smoke, he aroused his wife and telephoned a fire alarm. Then he made his way through the smoke to the second floor to awaken the other residents.

★ ★ ★

Assured everyone was fleeing, Hughes returned to help his wife carry out their two pet canaries and 6-year-old dog Muffin. Firemen confined the blaze to the basement.

President of Finland Ends Cabinet Crisis

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — President Urho Kekkonen today appointed a 13-member Cabinet of nonpolitical experts, ending Finland's six-week Cabinet crisis.

★ ★ ★

Rainer von Fieandt, president of the Bank of Finland, was appointed prime minister.

★ ★ ★

P. J. Hynninen, a 74-year-old former career diplomat, takes over as foreign minister.

Col. Kalle Lehmus is the new minister of defense. Urho Kiukas, a provincial governor and former police chief, took over the Ministry of the Interior.

★ ★ ★

The minority government of Premier V. J. Sukselainen was ousted Oct. 18 on a vote of no confidence, after the Communists moved censure of the government. The motion charged the government with responsibility for Finland's economic difficulties.

★ ★ ★

The expert Cabinet was formed after all political alternatives had been exhausted. None of the new ministers is a member of Parliament.

Lighted Paper, Ammo Thrown Into Window

An unidentified man threw a lighted newspaper containing several live rounds of revolver ammunition into the rear window of a Crystal Lake drive home Wednesday night, according to Pontiac police.

Mrs. Callie Borders, 216 Crystal Lake Dr., told police the incident happened about 10:30 p.m. Several rounds exploded and the burning newspaper scorched the wall and floor, police added.

TV's Hugh O'Brian Signs Four Year Film Contract

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — This has been the biggest year in Hugh O'Brian's life and it becomes even bigger with the contract he has signed with Buddy Adler at 20th Century-Fox calling for one picture a year for four years.

His first is selected, a modern Western titled "Rope Law" which Herbert Swope Jr., will produce, and, of course, it's smart to launch Hugh in a Western to capitalize on his "Wyatt Earp" TV series.

But he is hoping Buddy has a non-western for him, too. "I owe my career to 'Wyatt Earp,' Hugh told me recently, "but even a good thing can wear thin—and I'd like to get started in straight parts."

Hugh cut his first singing album and had his picture on a Newsweek cover this year.

The day after director Irving Rapper finished "Marjorie Morningstar" he hied himself down to the passport bureau to take out a visa for Europe to scout locations for "The Miracle."

Yes, Irving has been assigned this Warner Bros. film which will be made in Elmer Rhoden's Cinemiracle process.

When I asked Irving which parts of Europe he would visit, he said, "Every place open to American film making. We may work in several countries to get the perfect background for Max Reinhardt's religious spectacle.". He threw up his hands when I asked about a cast. "One thing at a time," he laughed.

Not since Gina Lollobrigida became the most sought after foreign actress has any European star so captivated Hollywood as Brigitte Bardot.

Following her exposure to Hollywood as Curt Jurgens' co-star in "And God Created Woman," everyone has been after her. Columbia has won the sweepstakes by signing Brigitte to a four picture deal.

Her first will be "The Image Makers," the Bernard Bryer novel which will be published next April, and Harry Cohn is having this picture filmed in French Morocco. It should be made to order for this sultry French actress. Charles Schnee, the producer, is already making plans to shoot the film with its authentic background.

The fascinating experience Gary, Rocky and Maria Cooper had while they were scuba diving at Redondo Beach near Marineland sounds exciting.

Rocky told me they were with some experts who were looking for a sunken boat they had once found and lost again.

"You can imagine our excitement when we found the missing ship, what was left of it, that is." said Rocky. "Gary said the huge square nails that held the boat together haven't been made since 1840, which proved it was very old. Of course it was in bad condition."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Cornelius (Sonny) Vanderbilt Whitney has finished his six weeks in Las Vegas and he spent Thanksgiving with Mary Hosford, whom he is planning to marry before many weeks.

The surprise of the Helpers Charity Ball was Kim Novak on the arm of Aly Khan. She had steadfastly refused to give the name of her escort until she appeared.

Peruvian singer Yma Sumac has her next picked out. He's said to be a Brazilian millionaire by the name of Benito Mouray.

Van Johnson's closest friends and fans who were worried about him on TV can now relax. He's licked the monster and was superb in "Pied Piper of Hamlin."

Montgomery Clift has been having an extensive series of X-rays. That and the fact that there's some additional dubbing needed on "The Young Lions" kept him from spending Thanksgiving with his sister in Dallas.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Fraternities Eye Racial Agitation

Would Preserve Right of Determining Own Eligibility Rules

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) —The nation's college fraternities set out today on what may be an organized fight to preserve racial and religious discrimination clauses in their constitutions.

A committee of the National Interfraternity Conference in progress here issued a report naming 63 U. S. college campuses on which it said antidiscrimination "agitation" is practiced.

The report criticized what it called "planned attempts to reduce Greek-letter societies to a position of impotence, if not to eliminate them entirely."

★ ★ ★

It was to be submitted for approval or disapproval today to the General Assembly comprising more than 700 college students and alumni who represent 61 national fraternities. The three-way conference opened yesterday.

Francis S. Van Derbur of Denver, conference chairman, said the report prepared by a committee on fraternity autonomy was "a well-considered document by some of the finest minds in the fraternity system."

The committee chairman is Herbert L. Brown of Philadelphia, an alumni member of Phi Sigma Kappa.

★ ★ ★

The report rapped the universities of Massachusetts, New Mexico, Oregon and Washington and Kansas City and Lewis and Clark colleges as schools which have announced they will not permit fraternities which prohibit membership on the basis of race, color and creed.

Amherst and the State University of New York were sharply criticized for ordering social fraternities to revise their charters or leave the campus.

Junior Editors Quiz on SANDWICH

QUESTION: Who invented the sandwich?

ANSWER: In the reign of King George III of England (who ruled during the American revolution) there was a nobleman in Great Britain named John Montagu. He liked to gamble so much that he didn't want to stop playing long enough even for regular meals.

So he had his servants put a slice of meat between two slices of bread to eat while he was playing cards. And since Montagu's title was the fourth Earl of Sandwich, people soon began calling the snack a "sandwich."

The earl had some islands named after him, too, but in this case it didn't stick. Captain James Cook, the explorer, christened some Pacific islands he discovered the Sandwich Islands. But nobody refers to them by that name anymore. We know them now as the Hawaiian Islands.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: You can color this picture with crayons if you like, but better still ask your mother to let you make a real sandwich for an after school snack. Maybe you could even invent a new sort of sandwich.

Two Pretty Women Tell Tales of Woe

NEW YORK (AP) — Two pretty women told police two separate tales of woe yesterday. Both concerned the loss of money or jewelry amounting to close to $30,000.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Billie Bensing, 26, a lithe brunette who said she had appeared in the "Ziegfeld Follies," said a smooth-talking investment broker swindled her of most of a $30,000 inheritance.

All she got in return, Mrs. Bensing said, was three checks for $216, a loan for $1,200 and a $600 convertible. The investment broker was not identified.

Mrs. Bensing said she inherited the money from her father Dr. W. D. Schwartz of Portland, Ind. Mrs. Bensing is divorced from Robert Bensing of New York.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Helen Hindmarsh of Manhattan, a 27-year-old widow who said she models professionally as Helen Mann, reported that somebody stole her handbag containing $29,000 worth of jewelry and $85. She said the purse was stolen Wednesday in the anteroom of a photography laboratory.

Ex-Miami Banker Surrenders to FBI

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The FBI today announced the arrest of Donald R. Jackson, former vice president in charge of the loan department of the Pan American Bank of Miami.

Jackson is accused of violating the Federal Reserve Act in connection with alleged shortages in the bank's loan account, estimated at more than $60,000.

He was in custody in lieu of $10,000 bond. Arraignment before U.S. Commissioner Roger Edward Davis is set for tomorrow.

Jackson was arrested at his home.

★ ★ ★

An FBI spokesman said Jackson who disappeared from Miami several weeks ago, returned to his home about 4:30 a.m. and telephoned the federal agency, saying he was ready to surrender.

New Copper Deposit Discovery Announced

NEW YORK (AP)—Discovery of a new copper deposit in Michigan's Upper Peninsula has been announced by the American Metal Co. Ltd.

★ ★ ★

The firm said the lode was discovered by a wholly owned subsidiary.

American Metal said diamond drillings indicate a deposit containing about 50,600,000 short tons of copper-bearing shale (average content 1.52 per cent) and an additional 54,400,000 short tons of lower grade shale (average copper content 1.04 per cent).

The company did not disclose the exact location of the deposit or the name of the subsidiary.

JOHN HENRY GETS SET — Fullback John Henry Johnson of the Detroit Lions didn't get far on this play in the 1st half of the game yesterday between Detroit and the Green Bay Packers. But he apparently was just warming up for his 62-yard touchdown on the 1st play from scrimmage in the 2nd half that helped the Lions down Green Bay, 18-6. A steady rain turned the Briggs Stadium turf into mud.

Lions Conquer Green Bay in Mud, 18-6

Johnson's Dash Sparks Detroit to Crucial Win

Martin Gets 3 Field Goals as Lions Stay in NFL Race

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions had gone five quarters without a touchdown when head coach George Wilson told them — "in words you can't print" — that it was high time they woke up and started playing football.

Whether Wilson's halftime speech brought it about or not, the Lions "woke up" in the second half yesterday and dealt the Green Bay Packers an 18-6 defeat before a packed Briggs Stadium crowd and a national television audience.

The triumph in the annual Thanksgiving Day scrap kept the Detroit club in the scrap for the Western Conference championship in the National Football League, just a half-game behind the pacesetting Baltimore Colts who tangle with the Los Angeles Rams on Sunday.

Blanked over the last three periods last Sunday by the Chicago Bears and held to a field goal by the injury-riddled Packers during the first half of yesterday's game, the Lions came to life on their longest run from scrimmage in five NFL seasons.

It was a 62-yard rumble through the mud by fullback John Henry Johnson on the first play of the second half and it sent the Lions into a 10-6 advantage they never relinquished.

Wilson admitted it was his loudest explosion since he took over as head coach last summer when Buddy Parker resigned. The Lions' second half comeback produced 15 points and their come-from-behind triumph of the campaign as 54,301 rain - drenched spectators roared approval.

The Detroit defense threw Green Bay backs for a net loss of seven yards rushing in the second half, recovered two fumbles, intercepted a pass and scored a safety when Darris McCord tackled quarterback Babe Parilli in the Packer end zone.

Jim Martin shared the honors with Johnson by kicking three field goals. He booted one from 36 yards out in the first period and made good on kicks of 42 and 17 yards in the second half. Fred Cone kicked 14 and 16 yard field goals in the first half for a 6-3 Packer halftime lead.

★ ★ ★

The other NFL teams are in action Sunday with the Chicago Cardinals at Cleveland, Pittsburgh at Philadelphia, San Francisco at New York and Washington at Chicago for a clash with the Bears.

Quarterback Bart Starr tried gamely to keep the Packers in the game, and completed 21 of 38 passes for a net gain of 228 yards. It was Starr's passing that put the Packers in position for their two field goals. But the Packers got no closer than the Detroit 18 in the second half.

Johnson wound up as the afternoon's leading ball carrier with 105 yards in eight carries. He was held to 29 yards in 7 carries by the Bears last Sunday.

Army, Navy Complete Drills

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Army and Navy football teams arrived today in the midst of a strategical battle of wits between the rival coaches that may make scouting reports obsolete and secret weapons the keynote of tomorrow's traditional encounter.

"We expect to use a new formation," Army Coach Earl Blaik told newsmen. "Something we haven't tried before.

★ ★ ★

"Army has drifted away from the straight-T more this season than at any time in the past. Actually we've moved more to flankers, to splitting our ends, and to unbalanced lines at either side. But we'll have a new wrinkle for this one."

Blaik, who normally doesn't go in for the cloak-and-dagger stuff, may have come up with something when he predicted earlier this week that the Middies might spring a double wing attack.

JUNKER SNAGS PASS — Rookie end Steve Junker of the Detroit Lions snares a pass thrown by quarterback Bobby Layne in the 3rd period of yesterday's Detroit-Green Bay football game at Briggs Stadium. The Lions defeated the Packers, 18-6. The traditional Thanksgiving Day battle was played in a steady drizzle.

AP Wirephoto

For Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz admitted, "We can run our whole attack from the double wing. I wonder what made Blaik think of that."

★ ★ ★

Erdelatz was scheduled to lead his team into Municipal Stadium for a brief workout later today after the Cadets also had limbered up at the scene of tomorrow's service clash. The game will be televised nationally starting at 1:15 EST over NBC.

★ ★ ★

A victory for the Midshipmen almost certainly will nail down a Cotton Bowl berth. They've won seven games in nine starts, losing to North Carolina and tying Duke. Army's record is marred by a setback by Notre Dame. The Cadets have won seven.

★ ★ ★

Blaik feels the need for a surprise striking force as a compensation for his thin manpower. He expects Capt. Jim Kernan, center; Stan Slater, guard; Bill Melnik, tackle; Bill Graff, end; quarterback Dave Bourland; and two halfbacks, Pete Dawkins and Anderson, will play most of the game.

Army has racked up 37 touchdowns and has scored at least three times in each of its eight games.

★ ★ ★

Navy has been featuring what Erdelatz describes as a "Jitterbug" defense which has yielded 10 touchdowns in nine games. In it, the linemen do a lot of quick lateral shuffling and the line-backers hop into and out of the line while the opposing team is getting set to run its play.

★ ★ ★

"We believe in dynamic defense," explained Erdelatz. "Shifting like this is one way in which you can reduce the edge in initiative that the offensive team normally holds. Also our kids find it stimulating to the point where they have contests with each other to see who can jitterbug the fastest."

SPORTS

Joe Brown Favored to Keep Title

CHICAGO (INS) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown rules a 2-to-1 favorite to retain his crown when he battles challenger Joey Lopes in a 15-round bout at the Chicago Stadium next Wednesday night.

Both men have completed hard training for the scrap and now are tapering off at the Midwest A. C.

The title bout will mark their second meeting. Lopes, a long-armed veteran from Sacramento, Calif., battled the champion to a bristling 10-round draw in a non-title bout at the stadium last August.

Lopes, 27, has a four-year advantage in youth over the 31-year-old Brown, who won the title last year from Bud Smith of Cincinnati. The champion beat Smith in a return scrap, and last June, in another title defense, stopped Orlando Zulueta of Cuba in the 14th round. Wednesday's bout has drawn wide criticism for bypassing Kenny Lane of Detroit, the No. 1 contender.

Brown is several inches taller than Lopes and is a flashy, left-jabbing boxer, with a knockout punch in his hard right cross.

The International Boxing Club, Inc., which is sponsoring the bout, has set a $10 top price for ringside seats.

★ ★ ★

The bout is being televised nationally by the American Broadcasting Company, with the Chicago area blacked out.

Brown will receive 40 per cent of the net gate and Lopes the customary challenger's 20 per cent. The men are sharing in the same fashion in the $24,000 television receipts.

Lopes is a native of Portugal but has lived in this country since he was five years old.

Joey has had 57 fights. He has won 43, lost 12 and engaged in two draws. Lopes won 16 of his bouts by knockouts.

★ ★ ★

He won both the AAU and Golden Gloves titles in 1948, shortly before he turned professional.

Lou Little Calls 'em

By LOU LITTLE

Army and Navy, the best two football teams in the East and comparing favorably with the country's best, clash tomorrow in what is almost certain to be one of the most interesting games of the year.

★ ★ ★

There is not much to choose between them in overall playing ability. They are about as evenly matched as two teams could be. Each features a different phase of the offensive and does it extremely well—Navy in forward passing, Army in the running attack.

What's more, when yardage on the ground is needed, Navy can run the ball while Army can do an effective job in passing when that's necessary. For many years my Columbia teams met both Army and Navy each year and my knowledge of their excellent coaching and rugged play comes firsthand. They play hard and well.

Both teams all year have had good offenses, ranking high in the national figures. Army is an extremely strong running team as their rushing average of 325 yards per game proves. Navy has been the better passing team with Forrestal throwing and has used the pass much more—and very effectively. Often a team depending too much on passing has to give the ball up because of errors, thus losing ball control. However, I don't expect this to happen tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

In two contests, with Boston College and Pennsylvania, Navy's passing yardage exceeded its running. Navy won both games easily though it is generally true this year that teams whose passing exceeds their running by a good margin don't win. Of course, there have been exceptions to this theory and it could happen again tomorrow.

In only two games, against Colgate and Nebraska, has Army thrown more than 12 passes. In their toughest tests, the Cadets have been sparing of the pass depending on their running. However, I have seen enough of this Army team, and I know enough of Bourland from having sent a team against him to feel that if the Navy defense against Army's ground game forces him to it, Bourland will be able to put on an effective air game to complement the Cadets' running.

★ ★ ★

The schedules played by the two teams are quite comparable and it's hard to get away from the fact that Navy's defense has a better record. However, you may be sure that the Cadets, well coached, have worked long and intelligently in recent weeks on the improvement of their defense with Navy in mind. Depth in numbers favors Navy and that could be a factor.

Lou Little Picks:

Army over Navy—Cadets' running over Middies' air arm.

Boston College over Holy Cross—Eagles ground attack offsets Greene's aerial threats.

Auburn over Alabama — Nation's best defense stops 'Bama.

Rice over Baylor—Owls have top-notch attack.

Clemson over Furman—Clemson one of Dixie's powers in last six weeks.

Mississippi over Mississippi State—Ole Miss line must stop State's Stacy.

LSU over Tulane—Taylor and Brodnax lead fast LSU backs.

Georgia Tech over Georgia—With Benson and his Tech sopn mates.

South Carolina over Wake Forest—Don Johnson leads good S.C. ground game.

SMU over TCU — Mustangs' passing threat too strong.

Tennessee over Vanderbilt — But Vols must curb fumbles.

North Carolina over Virginia—Tarheels have found passing to aid running.

Notre Dame over USC—Trojan defense not up to it.

Oklahoma over Oklahoma State—Sooners capture second in a row.

Tulsa over Wichita—Tulsa just makes it to wind up in-and-out year.

Air Force over Colorado State—Airmen should outsped them.

Vaughn TV Favorite Over Jones Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Vaughn is a 7-5 favorite to beat Ralph "Tiger" Jones tonight in a battle of hard luck middleweights at Madison Square Garden.

★ ★ ★

Willing Willie, 24, of Los Angeles, has been made the choice in the television 10-round feature on the strength of his fine showing against classy Spider Webb at the Garden, Nov. 1. The Californian dropped the verdict to the Spider but his burst down the stretch made it close.

★ ★ ★

Jones, 29, veteran from Yonkers, N.Y., will be risking a good payday and a chance to climb into the top ten rankings again. He has a date with contender Joey Giardello lined up for Miami Beach Dec. 27 but he has to beat Vaughn to seal the shot.

Hazel Park Star Voted Oakland's Best

An all-A student who stars at tackle on the football field and does a sparkling job of piano playing in his spare time has been voted Oakland County's outstanding high school gridder for 1957.

He is Lou Pavloff, a six-foot, 185-pound senior who helped Hazel Park storm to its 1st undefeated . untied season in the school's history.

The Pontiac Press award, accompanied by a chance at a $1,000 scholarship offered by the Thom McAn shoe company of New York, is the 2nd to be made to a county prep player.

Walled Lake's John Walker, now a standout freshman football prospect at the University of Michigan, was awarded the 1st honor last year.

As a reward for his attainment, Pavloff's football shoe will be enshrined in bronze by the company and presented to Hazel Park High School to display in its trophy case on Lou's behalf.

Pavloff is now eligible for a chance at a $1,000 college scholarship.

The Hazel Park "strong man" was the key figure in a powerful forward wall as the Vikings conquered nine foes, won the Eastern Michigan League title and captured 8th place in the final state Class A poll.

Pavloff is extremely interested in medicine, physics and chemistry and he will be the valedictorian of his class upon graduation in June. He has had only one B in his prep scholastic career.

He was formerly president of his class and has become an accomplished pianist.

As a football player, Pavloff did not miss a game in three years on the Viking varsity. He starred at tackle offensively and played middle linebacker on defense.

★ ★ ★

In one game this season the aggressive Pavloff blocked four punts and he smothered five kicks during the year. He is fast, a devastating blocker and a vicious tackler.

His record speaks for itself. Lou Pavloff of Hazel Park is Oakland County's prep "Sportsman of the Year."

Hillsdale Will Quit NCAA

HILLSDALE (AP) — Hillsdale College football coach Frank (Muddy) Waters says his school is withdrawing from the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA) in a dispute over a post season bowl game.

★ ★ ★

Waters said last night Hillsdale, a member of both the NCAA and the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA), was withdrawing from the NCAA because the association refused to sanction Hillsdale's participation in a post-season game Dec. 21 at St. Petersburg, Fla.

In the post season game sponsored by the NAIA, Hillsdale is scheduled to meet Pittsburg (Kan.) State Teachers College.

Waters said that while Hillsdale had nothing against the NCAA, that organization had refused to sanction the bowl bid and consequently Hillsdale was dropping out.

He said he felt it was "unfortunate" that under a technicality it would take the NCAA a year to sanction the participation.

Waters said Hillsdale belonged to the NCAA for only three or four years and to the NAIA for 10 years.

"We feel we have more in common with the NAIA than with the NCAA," Waters said.

Keydets Place Quartet of Players on Southern Conference Team

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia Military Institute's unbeaten Keydets, who in a single season went from football rags to riches, were rewarded today with four positions in the 1957 All-Southern Conference team.

★ ★ ★

It was the most notable showing the new conference champions ever made on the honor team chosen for The Associated Press by conference coaches, sports writers and radio sportscasters. Never before had the Keydets placed more than two players on an All-Conference team.

★ ★ ★

The 1957 All-Conference selections:

ENDS — Paul Maguire, The Citadel, and Larry Peccatiello, William and Mary.

TACKLES — Jim McFalls, VMI and Elliott Schaubach, William and Mary.

GUARDS — Chuck Howley, West Virginia, and Lou Farmer, VMI.

CENTER — Bill Rush, William and Mary.

BACKS — Bobby Jordan, VMI; Mike Sommer, George Washington; Sam Woolwine, VMI; and Bobby Schwarze, The Citadel.

Hunter Misses Trip

Gets His Buck at Home

BROOKLYN, Mich. (AP) — Each year a half million deer hunters head for the north woods with visions of bringing home that record set of antlers they have read and heard so much about.

★ ★ ★

Majority of the nimrods come from southern Michigan. Maybe they should have stayed home and hunted in their own backyards.

That is what Cortlandt Miller did this season and it paid off. Miller runs a farm three miles west of this community in the southeast corner of Jackson County. Unable to find anyone to do the chores, he stayed home this season.

The result was a large buck shot last Friday which may turn out to have the biggest "rack" in the state. The freakish set of antlers carried 23 points, 19 going one inch or better. The buck field dressed at an even 200 pounds.

AP Wirephoto

STAYING AT HOME PAYS OFF—When Cortlandt Miller (above), couldn't go north to hunt deer this season, because of lack of help on his farm at Brooklyn (Mich.) he got his buck anyway. The "23-point" 200-pounder was taken on his own farm, after being tracked for seven miles by hoof-marks in the snow.

Hunting Is Cockeyed!

Snowball Shoots Man, Hen Flattens Nimrod

LANSING (AP) — Home is the hunter, perhaps without the deer or Canadian goose he had his heart set on, but often with a raft of good stories to tell.

★ ★ ★

As usual, Michigan nimrods found themselves in some extraordinary situations, some amusing and some otherwise, as they swarmed into forests and swamps in recent weeks.

Here are some of them:

Three men, who here shall not be identified, went after geese at the Fennville State Game Area in Allegan county. A snowstorm blew in and visibility went down, so they turned to snowball tossing for amusement, leaning their shotguns against nearby trees.

One flying snowball struck a gun. It discharged and pellets struck one hunter in the leg, wounding him seriously. The goose hunt ended and the wounded hunter was carted off to a nearby hospital.

★ ★ ★

In the same area another goose hunter was standing with his back to the wind when a hen pheasant, apparently off course, suddenly slammed into the back of his head.

★ ★ ★

Hunter and pheasant were stunned by the collision and both reportedly fell to the ground. Both, however, recovered their senses quickly, the pheasant flying off again and the hunter resuming his lookout for flying geese.

★ ★ ★

Dave Jenkins, game biologist for the state conservation department, tells how his father, David H. Jenkins Sr., drove from his home in Philadelphia to the Upper Peninsula to try his luck at bagging a deer. After five days of hunting without success, Jenkins started the 1,000 mile return trip. Along the Pennsylvania turnpike, 30 miles from home, a doe suddenly bolted into the path of Jenkins' car too late for him to avoid it. Result: $80 damage to the car and one doe dead. With Pennsylvania's deer season yet to open, Jenkins couldn't even keep the deer.

Press Teams Tomorrow

The grand climax to an outstanding year for area prep football comes tomorrow with the annual announcement of the Pontiac Press All-County football team.

A complete page of pictures and statistics will be featured in Saturday's sports section. Along with the All-County eleven, 1st and 2nd teams in classes A, B and C and honorable mentions will also be named.

Other highlights football fans won't want to miss in tomorrow's sports section will be the announcement of the coach-of-the-year for Oakland County, two other top-rated coaches, an area all-star team, and also the Saginaw Valley all-league teams.

His First Ace Saves Face for W. Va. Linksman

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (AP) — Tony DiBiase, a Morgantown businessman, shot the first hole-in-one of his golfing career yesterday, and warded off his first defeat at the hands of a long-time friend.

★ ★ ★

Pro Albert Spencer of the Morgantown Country Club said DiBiase aced the par-3, 130-yard No. 17 with a No. 7 iron.

Walking to the No. 17 tee, DiBiase, one down, proclaimed that if his friend Bill Springer beat him—DiBiase would quit playing golf. Then came the hole-in-one. DiBiase won No. 18, too, and the match.

Canucks Regain League's Lead

Rocketless Montreal Blanks Hawks; Bruins Stop Rangers, 1-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After 11 days in the National Hockey League's runner-up position, the Rocket-less Montreal Canadiens were back in first place today and indications are the bubble has burst for the New York Rangers.

The Canadiens lowered the "Boom Boom" on the Chicago Black Hawks 2-0 last night while the Rangers dropped their third in a row 1-0 to Boston's Bruins. Detroit and Toronto played to a 3-3 tie in the other game.

The results enabled Montreal to gain a one-point lead over the Rangers, who forged to the top Nov. 17, four days after Maurice "Rocket" Richard suffered a damaging heel injurv.

★ ★ ★

Boom Boom Geoffrion scored both of Montreal's goals and Canuck goalie Jacques Plante turned back 25 Chicago shots to hang up his second shutout.

Don McKenney was the Boston star. He slid in a backhander at 13:40 of the third period, spoiling the otherwise brilliant performance of Marcel Paille in the New York nets. Paille stopped 38 thrusts while Don Simmons had 27 saves for the Bruins.

Winning Mark Eludes Celtics

Victory Streak Ends at 14, as Knicks Take 97-80 Contest

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Boston Celtics, shorn of a 14-game winning streak in the National Basketball Assn., still held a seven-game lead in the Eastern Division today and were ready to "win some more."

★ ★ ★

The Celtics, defeated by the New York Knickerbockers 97-80 in the first game of a Convention Hall doubleheader, were stopped one game short of the nine-year-old league record for early season winnig streaks.

The defunct Washington Capitols won 15 in a row from the start of the 1948 season.

Bob Pettit led the St. Louis Hawks to their seventh straight win, 112-96 over the Cincinnati Royals, and Neil Johnston and Joe Graboski paced the Philadelphia Warriors to a 102-98 triumph over Syracuse in the other games played last night.

Detroit goes to Cincinnati for the one game on tap tonight.

Jet Engine Used to Dry Race Track

ARCADIA, Calif., Nov. 29 (AP)—The hot breath of a $70,000 jet engine will be used to dry the track at Santa Anita Park after rains this season. Plans call for the J35 gas turbine engine to be mounted on a truck with a deflector hood over the exhaust. The hot blast will shoot into a special trafler 50 feet long and 12 feet wide, creating a wind tunnel effect as the apparatus moves down the track.

Lollar, Wertz Sought by Detroit

Bengals Seek Trades

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers would like to complete player trades for Sherm Lollar of Chicago and Vic Wertz of Cleveland.

It is unlikely that either will be in Detroit uniform come next April but there seems to be no doubt that general manager John McHale will complete at least one more, and possibly two player deals.

They may come up next week at the baseball meetings in Colorado Springs. McHale and a large delegation from the Tigers will attend.

At a briefing session before departing, McHale approached the Tigers' trade situation frankly. Here's the meat of what was said —or suggested:

The Chicago White Sox apparently are willing to trade off catcher Sherman Lollar, one of the best receivers and hitters among major league catchers. But the White Sox want a third baseman, a catcher, a strong, young pitcher and possibly another player in return.

The Cleveland Indians' general manager, Frank Lane, is "hot to trade." He would gladly give Vic Wertz back to the Tigers.

But any deal involving Wertz seems to involve Harvey Kuenn — and for all practical purposes — other comment to the contrary — Kuenn is not up for grabs.

"It's almost a safe bet that Kuenn will be in Tiger uniform next season," Said McHale:

★ ★ ★

"Generally speaking, we would trade any player on the club, including Al Kaline, Kuenn, Frank Lary, Paul Foytack — just anyone — if we felt we could make improvements that would produce a pennant. Giving up Kuenn would mean that another club in the league would be broken up. If someone came up and whacked you with something — some players you thought could win the pennant — you'd have to think about it."

One first-division American League club offered Detroit seven players for Kuenn and another Tiger player (not a front-liner) earlier this week. McHale said no. It is almost certain that Lary, Kaline, Kuenn, Foytack, Bunning and Billy Hoeft will remain with the Tigers.

About newly-acquired Lou Skizas and Gus Zernial, the situation is a bit different. Several clubs — notably the White Sox — have expressed an interest in them. McHale also pointed out that last year's waiver lists show that six American League clubs consistently claimed southpaw Maurice McDermott.

Many clubs have inquired about Billy Martin, obtained last week in the big trade with Kansas City. But the Tigers will keep him, too.

FEELING CHIPPER — Bob Lemon, Cleveland Indians' right-hander, winks at the cameraman to indicate he's feeling fine after undergoing an operation in Mt. Sinai Hospital for removal of a spur and bone chips from his right elbow. Arm trouble kept Lemon, who is 37, out of action for most of the 1957 season.

Cy Young Award Gives Spahn a 'Warm Feeling'

HARTSHORNE, Okla. (AP)—Warren Spahn, ace lefthander for the Milwaukee Braves, said the winning of the Cy Young Award yesterday gave him a warm feeling of knowing he helped Milwaukee to its first world championship.

"It's awfully nice to win an award of the caliber of the Cy Young Award," Spahn said. "And when you win it with a championship club, you feel you contributed to it."

★ ★ ★

The veteran southpaw received all but one vote of the 16 baseball writers who participated in the award poll. Dick Donovan, Chicago White Sox righthander who had a 16-6 record, received the other vote.

Spahn was the major leagues' winningest pitcher this year with 21 victories. It was his eighth season of winning 20 games or more, and he said he probably was prouder of it than any previous one.

"I was very happy this year because I feel I contributed to the pennant," he said.

Spahn, a rancher here, said he hopes to have another good season next year although he will be 37 in April. But he declined to predict another 20-game season.

"You've got to win that first one before you can win the second one," he said. "I'm just going to worry about that first game."

The Brave lefty said he plans to rely a lot on his fast ball again next year, and still sees no sign of it slowing up on him.

Hayes Is Midwest's 'Coach of the Year'

CHICAGO (AP)—Woody Hayes of Big Ten champion Ohio State today was named midwest football "Coach of the Year" by the Chicago Football Writers' Assn.

Milt Bruhn, who guided the sophomore dominated Wisconsin Badgers to a share of fourth place in the Big Ten race with a 4-3 record, was selected coach of the most improved team.

Hayes won "coach of the year" honors with an overwhelming margin after his Buckeyes won the Rose Bowl trip and Big Ten title without a conference loss. Fourteen of the 21 writers voting favored Hayes. Other "coach of the year" votes went to Bruhn, Terry Brennan of Notre Dame and Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State.

Rudy Hernando Wins Indoor Net Openers

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis' first-seeded Earl Buchholz and Detroit's second-seeded Rudy Hernando hardly worked up a sweat in disposing of their opening opponents in the national junior and boys indoor tennis tournament.

★ ★ ★

Hernando didn't lose a game in defeating Andy Forman of Murphysboro, Ill., and Berkeley Jones of St. Louis, each time by 6-0, 6-0.

Buchholz, never bothering to remove his bright red sweater, stopped Lloyd Brown of Coarl Gables, Fla., 6-0, 6-2.

Detroit Blows Lead 3 Times in 3-3 Battle

Toronto Avoids Defeat in Final Seconds; Dea Scores Twice

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings headed the Toronto Maple Leafs three times last night but had to settle for a 3-3 tie in a Thanksgiving night game at Olympia Stadium.

★ ★ ★

Toronto, with goalie Ed Chadwick pulled off the ice, grabbed the tying goal with a six-man gang attack at 19:45 of the third period.

Dickie Duff scored the game-saving tally off Red Wing goalie Terry Sawchuk. The draw left the Wings one point ahead of the Leafs in the two-club battle for last place in the NHL standings.

Detroit scored on two shots by Billy Dea and a single tally by Dutch Reibel. Reibel's goal came in the third period with less than four minutes to play and apparently put Detroit in front to stay.

Brian Cullen and defenseman Bobby Baun scored the other Maple Leaf goals.

Gordie Howe's assist on Reibel's shot was his 409th in his 11-year career — the most assists by any NHL player in history.

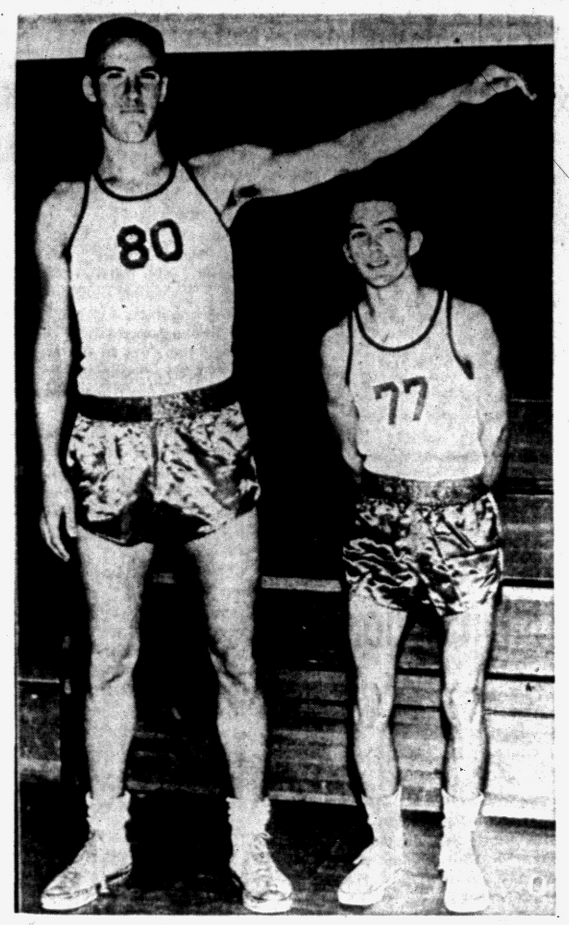

Sawchuk made 43 saves in his best home-ice showing of the season. Chadwick had 38 saves in the Toronto cage.

★ ★ ★

Cullen was the only Leaf to nick Sawchuk in the first 45 minutes of the wide open contest. His scoring shot was the softest of the 39 which the Detroit goalie faced over that span. It was a 70-foot lob which took a freak bounce and trickled past Sawchuk.

When Reibel killed Red Kelly's pass across the goal mouth for Detroit's 3-2 lead, the 12,065 fans anticipated the Wings' first home ice victory since Oct. 24.

Duff ended such hopes when he took a pass from Billie Harris and rifled a 20-footer into the Wing net for his ninth goal of the season.

One More Day for Deer Derby

"Last lap" for Oakland county deer hunters hoping to capture the 1957 Pontiac Press top award of $150 is coming up.

There is just one more day left in which to get that big buck. Contest closes Saturday, along with the windup of the state's regular gun season on deer. Present leader is a 214-pounder.

Area hunters still have a few days to get back home from northern hunting sections, and file entries. Deadline for all entries is Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 12 o'clock noon. Prospective entries can be made up to 12 noon, Saturday, but none on Sunday.

All entries must be accompanied by a certified weight slip, signed by the weigher, an independent witness and the hunter. Deer must be dressed out before weighing. Fuel yards, food lockers or markets where approved scales are available will weigh the deer.

Surveys May Change Rules

AAU Probes Regulations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Specialists in a wide range of sports today undertook surveys that could result in changes in Amateur Athletic Union rules.

Altogether 43 committee sessions were called for the second day of the AAU's national convention. Nineteen of them were concerned with problems of AAU-supervised sports.

One past controversy could break out again in the boxing committee. It turns on head guards for amateur fighters. Spokesmen for the armed services and some colleges have recommended such gear in the past. But Golden Gloves officials have contended protectors actually increase the risk of injury.

★ ★ ★

Dan Ferris, AAU secretary-treasurer, said others are advocating a provision making use of headgear optional for each event.

Bidding among cities was intense for the right to stage a number of AAU championships next year. Four or more seek the men's outdoor swimming and diving meet. Washington, Topeka, Kan., Indianapolis and Los Angeles already have shown interest.

★ ★ ★

AAU officials said invitations also have been received for these title events:

Outdoor track and field from Bakersfield, Calif.; men's indoor swimming from New Haven, Conn.; outdoor women's swimming from Topeka; boxing from Washington, Boston and Toledo, and weightlifting from Los Angeles.

Michigan Stars Still in Action

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The football season hasn't ended for several Michigan seniors who are slated to appear in post-season games next month.

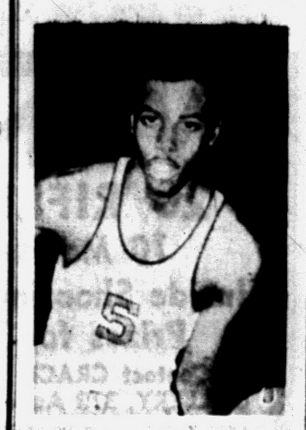

The Wolverines' All-Big Ten halfback Jimmy Pace and tackle Jim Orwig will be on the East team in the annual East-West all-star game at San Francisco, it was learned.

Quarterback Jim Van Pelt, guard Larry Faul and center Jerry Goebel will make up the Michigan contingent on the North squad in the North-South game in the Orange Bowl at Miami. The North will be coached by Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State.

★ ★ ★

Tackle Jim Davies will be on the Blue team in the Blue-Gray game at Mobile, Ala. End Bob Boshoven also may play for the Blues.

The official announcements of the selection of the Michigan players are expected shortly.

DRIBBLER—Figured to move into Larry Peat's guard spot at Pontiac High is Charley Barge, a tricky junior dribbler.

Irish 11 Cast in Unusual Role

Notre Dame Favored Over Southern Cal in Saturday Grid Test

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame takes on the unfamiliar role of heavy favorite tomorrow in its traditional game with Southern California which closes out the Irish's home football season.

The Irish, who upset Oklahoma, then lost last week to Iowa, have a 5-3 record. They end their campaign Dec. 7 at Southern Methodist.

★ ★ ★

The oddsmakers have made Notre Dame a 14-point favorite despite injuries. Southern Cal has one victory (19-12) over Washington) in nine starts in staggering through its poorest football season.

★ ★ ★

Notre Dame will be minus the services of fullback Nick Pietrosante, who fractured a rib in the 21-13 loss to Iowa last week. He led the team in rushing and punting and topped all backs in tackles. Halfback Dick Lynch may see some service but is hobbled with a sprained ankle.

Albion Leads MIAA Sports Trophy Race

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Albion College leads the MIAA all-sports trophy race at the end of the fall sports season.

★ ★ ★

The Britons shared the league cross-country championship with Kalamazoo and tied Hope for second place in football. That gives Albion 24 points. The points are awarded on a basis of 14 points for a first place finish, 12 for second and so on down through the standings in each sport.

★ ★ ★

A first-place finish in football and a fourth-place finish in cross country leaves Hillsdale in second place, just two points behind Albion. The rest of the standings: Kalamazoo, Hope, Alma, Calvin, Adrian and Olivet.

Ted Atkinson Aims for 4th Pimlico Win

BALTIMORE, (INS)—Jockey Ted Atkinson will gun for his fourth victory in the Pimlico Special tomorrow when he rides Third Brother in the 21st running of the invitation-only event.

There will be only four horses in the mile - and - three - sixteenths event. Swoon's Son, Dave Erb up, is expected to go postward as the favorite.

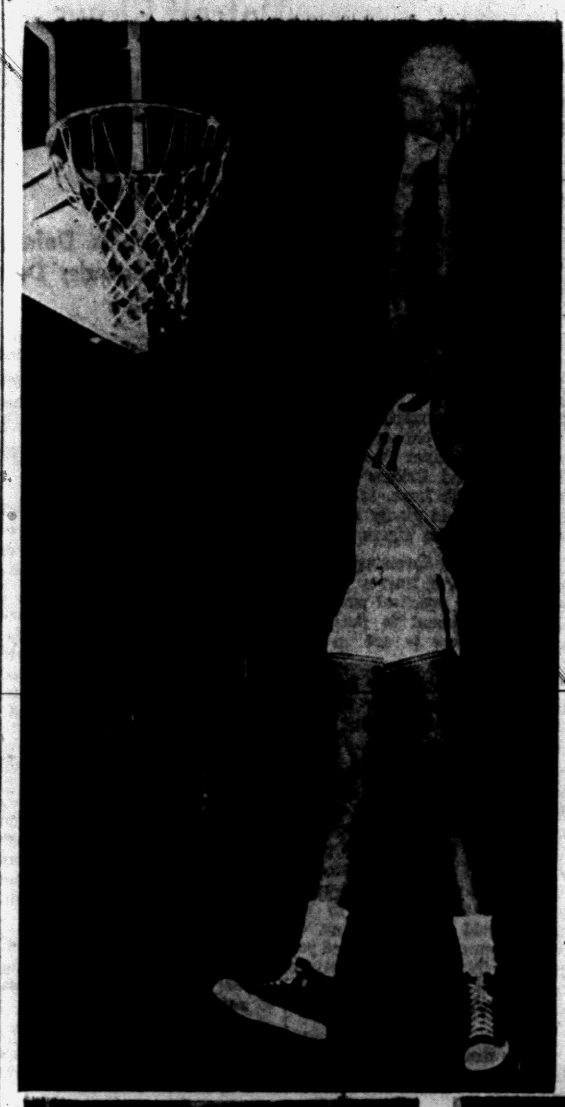

The other entries are Promised Land, ridden by Willie Hartack, and Tick Tock, with Willie Boland up.

Pontiac Star Bids for All-State Honors

Hudson Ray Must Prove Self in 8 Games

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Trying to make all-state honors by playing just eight basketball games is a pretty tough chore for any talented prep player, but this is Hudson Ray's goal at Pontiac High this season.

The big 6-6 center has only one semester of eligibility during which he will be able to participate in only eight of 16 games on the schedule.

"He is definitely of all-state caliber," said PHS coach Art Van Ryzin, "but playing only one semester may be against him."

This means Hudson will have to play as if the honor rested on every one of the eight games he has left.

★ ★ ★

Ray is one reason why Pontiac is highly rated in the Saginaw Valley Conference. The Chiefs have a schedule advantage with five league games while Ray is eligible and three of these are on the road.

This means that three of the five in the second semester will be played without Ray but with the home court advantage.

★ ★ ★

Last year Ray was not noted for his scoring although he did have several 25-point or better nights. His rebounding and tip-ins of shots were his best feats.

★ ★ ★

"He'll score this year," said Van Ryzin, "he has a good hook, and he is dead on the jump shot."

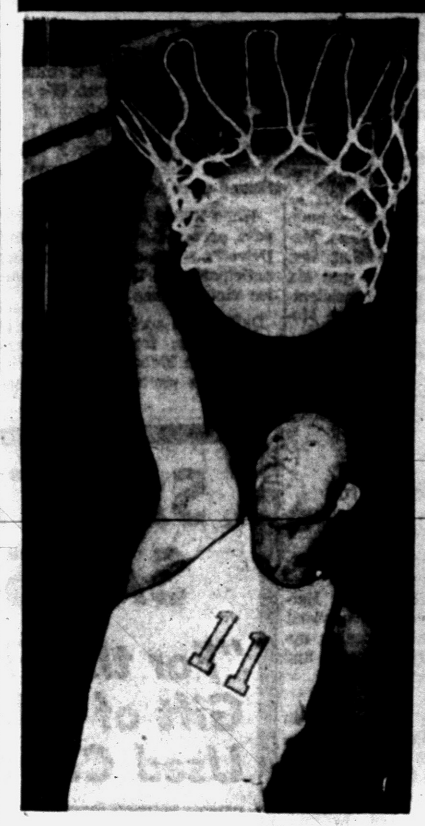

A rival coach of the SVC recently said, "Ray could be great if he moves more than he did in the past."

Reference was made to the fact that Hudson will be covered like a blanket by opposing teams and his ability to score and rebound despite the defenses will be a big factor in whether the Chief ace will merit all-state honors.

★ ★ ★

Hudson's poorest showing last year came against Highland Park, one of the top ranked teams in the state. In the game he picked up two last period field goals and finished with five points. He was outplayed by Gene Lawson and subsequently the Highland Parker received all-state honors.

Pontiac opens its season Friday December 6th against always dangerous Catholic Central in Detroit. It is always a rugged opener and it will be a test as to Pontiac's role of favorite in the SVC and Ray's bid for state prep honors.

REBOUND . . . LAYUP . . . DUNK — Versatile Hudson Ray, Pontiac's talented 6-6 center shows how he goes up, way over the basket level for a rebound. He then goes in for the layup and dunks it with his entire hand down into the hoop as the ball splits the cords.

Mitchell Going to Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Jack Mitchell, named head football coach at Kansas yesterday to no one's surprise, is the second in three years to forsake Arkansas for a coaching job in his home state.

★ ★ ★

He followed Bowden Wyatt to Arkansas after the 1954 season, when Wyatt returned to his alma mater—Tennessee. Wyatt's Razorbacks won the Southwest Conference championship that year and went to the Cotton Bowl New year's Day 1955, losing to Georgia Tech.

★ ★ ★

Mitchell, who will be 33 Tuesday, is an Oklahoma product, although a native of Kansas. He played under Coach Bud Wilkinson, quarterbacking the Sooners in 1946, 1947 and 1948.

★ ★ ★

He said yesterday money was no object in his leaving Arkansas. He was being paid $15,000 yearly there under a contract that had nine years to go. He will get the same here for five years, the highest salary ever given a Kansas coach.

★ ★ ★

"My wife, Jeanne, and I were born in Kansas, raised in Kansas and plan to live our lives in Kansas," he explained. The Mitchells call Arkansas City, Kan., their hometown.

★ ★ ★

His Razorbacks won 23 games, lost 16 and tied one in three years. Before that he was head coach at Wichita, where he won 13, lost five and tied one in two years. Wichita won the Missouri Valley Conference title in 1954.

Vikings Victors in Annual Game

FLINT (AP)—Flint Northern maintained its winning edge over Flint Central yesterday in their annual Thanksgiving Day football rivalry.

★ ★ ★

Northern broke loose for touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters in defeating Central, 12-6. Northern has now won 19 turkey day victories against Central's 15 wins.

★ ★ ★

Fred Waters scored the first Northern touchdown on a seven-yard sprint around end. The second score came on a 25-yard pass from quarterback Gene Sapo to Phil Gaines.

★ ★ ★

Central's score came late in the last quarter when Ron Watkins' three-yard plunge climaxed a 62-yard drive.

ATLANTA (AP) — Eleven football players who seem destined to bid for greater regional and national football honors in the next two years have been named to The Associated Press all-sophomores team for the Southeastern Conference.

★ ★ ★

Auburn, Florida and Louisiana State placed two men each on the team, which was chosen by the AP's regional All-America advisory board of sports writers and sportscasters.

★ ★ ★

Tiger center Jackie Burkett and guard Zeke Smith, both starters all season for undefeated Auburn, were solid choices.

★ ★ ★

The other linemen were ends Larry Grantham of Mississippi and Dan Edgington of Florida, tackles Lynn Leblanc of Louisiana State and George Boone of Kentucky and guard Asa Cox of Florida.

The backfield is comprised of Fred Braselton of Georgia Tech, Richie Petitbon of Tulane, Billy Cannon of LSU and Tom Moore of Vanderbilt.

Bruised Shoulder May Keep Layne Out for 10 Days

DETROIT (AP) — Physicians say they don't expect Bobby Layne's injured shoulder to keep him out of the Detroit Lions' game with the Cleveland Browns Dec. 8.

"At the moment," said team physician Richard A. Thompson, "the injury appears to be a severe bruise of the left shoulder. I would guess that Bobby should be able to play within 10 days."

Layne was injured on a running play early in the 4th quarter of yesterday's game against the Green Bay Packers. He was taken to a hospital for X-rays after the game. His arm and shoulder were taped to prevent further injury.

Bowl Berths on Line Tomorrow

The Associated Press

Navy, Mississippi and Rice can claim bowl berths with victories tomorrow while Auburn, boasting a pure record but too full of sin for post-season play, shoots for college football's national championship.

Neither Navy, Mississippi nor Rice have easy jobs ahead despite their national rankings.

★ ★ ★

The Middies (7-1-1) have nothing more to do than defeat Army (7-1-0) to get their hands on a share of the Cotton Bowl loot in their search for funds for a stadium project. Navy, ranked No. 8 in this week's Associated Press poll, is favored by three points over the Cadets, ranked 10th.

Mississippi (8-1), ranked No. 7, can finish second in the Southeastern Conference by defeating Mississippi State (6-2) and get the Sugar Bowl berth Auburn will have to pass up because of NCAA probationary action. State, a three-point underdog, also could get the Sugar Bowl bid with a victory, but even with a not-too-bad defeat could be a bowl candidate.

★ ★ ★

Rice (6-3) needs a victory over Baylor (3-5-1) for an undisputed Southwest Conference title and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl. A loss or tie would send Texas to the Dallas classic New Year's Day now that the Longhorns have disposed of fourth-rated Texas A&M (9-7 on Bobby Lackey's 38-yard field goal yesterday).

Should ninth-ranked Rice get only a tie against Baylor, Texas would tie for the title and advance to the Cotton Bowl by virtue of a 19-14 decision over the Owls. Both are assured bowl berths since the runner-up will wind up either in the Sugar Bowl or Gator Bowl.

Auburn (9-0), bidding to remain No. 1 in next week's final AP poll that decides the national title, goes against Alabama (2-6-1). The Tigers, naturally, will be SEC champs with a victory.

Ohio State and Michigan State, both 8-1 and ranked second and third in this week's poll, have completed their regular seasons and only a shabby game by Auburn appears likely to boost either one to the national title.

Arizona State (9-0), the only other major unbeaten, untied team left, plays Arizona (1-7-1).

Oklahoma (No. 5) is the only other member of the nation's top 10 teams still in business. The Sooners (8-1) play Oklahoma State (6-2-1).

★ ★ ★

The Vanderbilt-Tennessee and Georgia-Georgia Tech games also will attract bowl committee notice tomorrow, with Vandy (5-2-2), Tennessee (6-3-0) and Tech (4-3-2) in the running for the Gator, Cotton and Sugar Bowls, too.

Virginia Military turned down bowl bids from the Tangerine and Sun committees after defeating Virginia Tech 14-6 yesterday for the Southern Conference title. It was the first unbeaten season since 1920 for the Keydets (9-0-1), who preferred to spend the year-end holidays at home.

★ ★ ★

Utah won the Skyline Conference title by defeating Utah State 21-6 with Lee Grosscup, Ute quarterback, setting a national record for pass completions with a 68.6 percentage for the season. Grosscup completed eight of 13 for a season record of 94 for 137 that topped the 64.1 percentage record set by Paul Larson of California in 1954.

In the other games yesterday, Penn won three in a row in one season for the first time since 1952 by defeating Cornell 14-6; Brown whipped Colgate 33-7; Richmond upset William & Mary 12-7 on Mickey Marinkov's 71-yard punt return; Miami (Ohio) beat Cincinnati 20-14, and Denver defeated Wyoming 14-13.

Texas Upsets Aggies, 9-7

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—A trap play, created by Coach Darrell Royal of Texas for just this occasion, and the kicking of sophomore Bobby Lackey and veteran Walter Fondren brought the Longhorns a 9-7 victory over Texas A&M yesterday.

★ ★ ★

It knocked Texas A&M, the 1956 champion, out of the Southwest Conference race, shoved Texas into second place and made it possible for the Longhorns to win the championship should Rice lose to Baylor Saturday. Rice is an 8½-point favorite.

It also gave Texas, which won only one game last year, a 6-3-1 season—a sensational showing for Royal, who took over the sagging fortunes of the Longhorns this campaign.

Lackey, playing against Texas A&M for the first time—it was the 64th game in the Southwest's oldest football rivalry—scored all the points.

He made the first-quarter touchdown that was set up by a 62-yard quick-kick by Fondren and he booted a 28-yard field goal in the third period that put the Longhorns out of reach.

★ ★ ★

Halfback John Crow finally tallied for the Aggies in the fourth quarter. He grabbed Roddy Osborne's pass for a 57-yard gain and smashed over from the 2.

U.M. Student Victor in Berwick Marathon

BERWICK, Pa. (AP) — Graduate student Douglas Kyle of the University of Michigan won the 48th Berwick Marathon yesterday. He ran under the colors of the Hamilton, Ont., Olympic Club.

Kyle defeated by a slim second Harrison Browning Ross of Camden, N. J. who was running with the Penn Athletic Club of Philadelphia. Ross was seeing his 11th triumph in 12 years and his eighth straight first place finish.

The Syracuse University basketball team will play one new opponent — Georgetown — during the 1957-58 season.

Twenty-six of the 57 players listed on the tentative Georgia Tech 1957 varsity football roster are from Georgia.

Alex Kampouris of the Cincinnati Reds hit 17 home runs in 1937, the club record for second basemen.

State to Give Contracts of $20 Million for Roads

LANSING (AP)—Contracts totaling some 20 million dollars will be awarded here Dec. 11 in the largest highway construction bid letting in state history.

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said the awards will be the first in a series of big lettings ordered to step up the department's five-year, 1¼-billion-dollar construction program.

The largest previous letting was $9,200,000 in April 1956.

"The new letting will bring calendar 1957's total construction program, including right-of-way and construction costs, to $162,700,000, an increase of 27 million over calendar 1956," Mackie said. "A target of 200 million dollars in construction has been set for 1958."

Public Confidence Important

President's Illness Blurs U. S. Economic Picture

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower's latest illness comes as the nation's economy admittedy is sliding into a recession. There is considerable uncertainty as to how deep and how long the downturn may be.

And some new uncertainties have now been addd.

★ ★ ★

The stock market reacted at once and violently. But most of the first reaction was from professional traders—those who try to make part or all of their living from day-by-day stock trading. The early reaction apparently didn't involve the real investors.

Business leaders usually take calmer views than do the stock market pros.

Businessmen's first concern now is how much effect, if any, the illness may have on pubic confidence, since it is generally agreed that the great mainstay of the economy in the months of rolling industrial adjustment just ahead will be continued heavy consumer buying.

Economists specializing in retail trade doubt that there will be any effect on the Christmas trade just starting and meaning so much to stores whose year's profit record can be made or broken by it. They also see little reason for the economy in general to be affected — if the public's confidence in the economy isn't shaken.

But business is concerned over the new uncertainties in Washington. They note that the illness comes in the midst of another of the ever recurring intenational crises, which it had been hoped the President's scheduled visit to Paris would alleviate.

Business too has a stake in the budget and taxation discussions which reach a peak in December and in the legislative proposals that are drafted then. Industry wonders now what effect the illness may have on these.

In general hope is expressed that the President will recover quickly, and his assistants will carry out the international, budgetary and legislative programs without a bobble.

★ ★ ★

It is widely expected that defense spending will rise, aiding a number of industries by the middle of the year and helping to keep the adjustment rolling without too much economic pain.

Sunken Treasure Believed Found Off Holland Coast

TERSCHELLING, Holland — Dredgers have salvaged some gold and Spanish coins from a frigate which sank in 1799. They are working at Terschelling, a tiny island off the Dutch mainland, on a $4,000,000 treasure which sank with the ship Lutine.

★ ★ ★

When the first gold bar and Spanish coin from the frigate's cargo was recovered this year, news of the find was flashed to Lloyd's in London and the famous Lutine bell was struck twice to summon underwriters to hear important news.

★ ★ ★

This bell has hung at Lloyd's ever since it was recovered from the frigate, and is always struck to call for silence for announcement of shipping news. One stroke of it announces disaster; two strokes signal good news.

While dredging continues, extra steamers bring crowds of holiday-makers to Terschelling as spectators.

Chrysler, UAW Try Again for Settlement

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. and United Auto Workers union negotiators met anew today in attempts to end a 12-day-old strike at Chrysler's Plymouth engine plant here, which has idled 2,000 and threatens layoffs for 16,000 Monday.

Chrysler said that if the strike continues it eventually could idle 38,000 in Plymouth assembly and related plants across the country.

Unless there is a weekend settlement, Chrysler said earlier in the week, Plymouth assembly operations will be shut down by a shortage of engines in Detroit, Newark, Del., Evansville, Ind., and Los Angeles. It said the Detroit Mack Avenue stamping plant which makes Plymouth bodies also would be shut down.

Negotiators recessed Wednesday over Thanksgiving Day without reporting any progress.

★ ★ ★

The engine plant's 2,000 hourly rated UAW members walked out Nov. 18 in a strike which they blamed to a company speedup. The company said the stoppage resulted from the firing of an employe who refused to do assigned work.

Raps Dismissal of Labor Head

Van Peursem Scores Williams for Installing 'Reuther Man' in Job

LANSING (AP) — House Speaker George M. Van Peursem (R-Zeeland) today charged Gov. Williams "apparently" has turned over control of the State Labor Department to United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther.

"The governor may have accomplished the replacing of John Reid, who has served honorably and well as state labor commissioner for the past eight years, with an official of Reuther's union," Van Peursem said.

★ ★ ★

Reid was succeeded two weeks ago by Russell White, head of Oldsmobile UAW Local 562 in Lansing.

Van Peursem cited published reports quoting Reid as saying of his dismissal: "The real truth is that the UAW wanted to use the safety inspectors of the State Labor Department to harrass employers. I wouldn't go along."

Williams claimed someone younger than the 74-year-old Reid was needed for the position.

The report also quoted Reid as saying the CIO wanted confidential reports from the labor department for its own use. Van Peursem said.

★ ★ ★

"There is apparently no way of the people knowing what secret agreements may have been reached or may be reached for the use of the labor department's authority under its new administration," Van Peursem said.

"One thing appears sure — from now on an employer will always be in the wrong with the labor department, no matter what the situation."

Michigan Magnetic to Build Allegan Plant

VERMONTVILLE (AP) — Charles Murphy, president of Michigan Magnetics, Inc., of Vermontville, today announced plans for construction of a new plant at Allegan.

Murphy said the plant will go into operation in February, employing between 50 and 60 persons in the manufacture of tape recorder heads.

"Our survey of other sites inside and outside Michigan indicated there were no greater advantages elsewhere," he said.

The company was founded three years ago, starting in a former Vermontville garage. Employment has grown to 125, mostly women, and the firm now turns out about half of the tape recorder heads used in the industry.

Market Takes Step Forward

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced slightly in moderate early trading today.

Key issues rose from fractions to around a point. There were some losers.

★ ★ ★

The market was narrowly higher in an active opening and kept its gains as turnover slackened.

President Eisenhower's reported improvement continued to firm prices, but the Thanksgiving holiday was turned into an extended weekend by many in financial circles and the general business picture remained spotty.

Interest continued in stocks affected by Defense Secretary McElroy's ordering the Thor and Jupiter missiles into production. North American Aviation, which makes the rocket motors for both missiles, was up ⅝ at 29⅞ on a big block of 10,000 shares.

★ ★ ★

Coppers were irregular following news of a price cut by a big Belgian producer. Anaconda was up a shade while Kennecott dropped about a point.

★ ★ ★

Zenith rose 2½ to 128½ on 1,200 shares on news of its proposed 2-for-1 stock split and pplans for a higher dividend, boosting its gain to around 4 in later dealings.

U. S. Steel, Caterpillar, U.S. Rubber, American Telephone, Du Pont, International Paper, Martin Co. and Gulf Oil were up around a point.

★ ★ ★

Other opening blocks included: American Can up ½ at 38⅜ on 1,500 shares; Seaboard Railroad up ½ at 23¾ on 1,000; and Radio Corp. up ⅛ at 30⅝ on 1,000.

BIDDY: No bed of roses.

Hen Finds Nail Nest Most Comfortable

KILGORE, Tex. (AP)—Life is not a bed of roses for H. C. Waits' pet hen. It's a nest of nails.

Waits' buxom biddy has developed an affinity for nesting in a nail bin at a Kilgore lumber yard.

★ ★ ★

Every morning about 10 a.m. the hen sashays over to the bin, scratches the nails into a semblance of a nest and egg production gets under way.

★ ★ ★

R. E. Spradling, owner of the lumber company, said the hen first tried 10 and 12-penny nails for her nest. But they proved difficult to move around and she settled for 3-penny finishing nails.

★ ★ ★

Recently she brought a rooster friend in to look over the nest. It may be love. Her friend scattered a few roofing tacks around before departing.

RECORD BREAKERS — First Lt. Gustav B. Klatt, of San Marcos, Texas, left, is greeted by fellow flier, Capt. Robert J. The nonstop flight broke the previous record of three hours, 22 minutes set by the Navy last July. Kilpatrick had flown his companion plane the same route in three hours, 10 minutes and three seconds.

Little Movement in Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices showed little change in early dealings on the board of trade today.

★ ★ ★

Wheat and soybeans were off about a half cent a bushel at the outset and corn and rye traded narrowly on either side of Wednesday's closes.

★ ★ ★

Today is the first day for delivery notices on the expiring December wheat contract and a slight weakness in the bread grains was attributed to expectations of heavy deliveries. Some short-covering was noted.

★ ★ ★

Corn opened fractionally higher, but soon fell back as early demand was filled. Corn receipts at Chicago today were 529 cars, largest in some time, but these were offset to some extent by forecasts for snow over the corn and soybean belt.

★ ★ ★

The weather also was a factor in soybeans, with some traders predicting some unpicked beans may be lost if snow covers the ground for a lengthy period of time.

★ ★ ★

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was ½ lower to ¼ higher, Dec. $2.20; corn ¼ to ⅜ higher, Dec. $1.16½; oats unchanged to ½ lower, Dec. 67⅛; rye ¾ to 1 higher, Dec. $1.36½; soybeans ⅛ to ⅜ lower, Jan. $2.32; and lard was unchanged to 7 cents a hundred lbs. lower, Dec. $12.25.

Nikita Offers Tips on Design of New Science City

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev, who fancies himself as a plumber and architect, has made "a number of valuable remarks on the design" for the Soviet Union's new science city in Siberia, Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, said today.

It will house 13 institutions, including special branches for the study of radiotechnology, electronics, mathematics, mathematical computing, nuclear physics, thermophysics, nonorganic chemistry, automation and electrometry.

Sites have been reserved near Irkutsk, Krasnoyarsk and Vladivostok for other possible centers, Pravda said.

McElroy to Cut Office Red Tape

Top Missile Experts to Have Direct Contact With Pentagon Chief

WASHINGTON (INS) — The defense department is reportedly ready to cut the red tape surrounding the missile and earth satellite programs.

★ ★ ★

Reliable sources say that Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy has informally advised his aides to remove all roadblocks from the channels of communication between his office and top rocket experts.

The new Pentagon chief issued the orders following Congressional disclosures that urgent missile recommendations in the past have not been brought to the immediate attention of the defense secretary.

The defense official told the Senate preparedness subcommittee that he will attempt to find out what actually happened to a request two years ago for top priority designation for the earth satellite program.

★ ★ ★

He indicated the request never reached the highest levels in the Pentagon and may not have been "forwarded" by some "lower level."

Earlier, John P. Hagen, director of the Vanguard earth satellite project, testified that the denial of such priority allowed the Soviet Union to be the first to launch an artificial "moon."

McElroy was told by Edwin L. Weisl, counsel for the subcommittee, that the Army's German-born rocket expert, Wernher von Braun, complained "it takes forever to get decisions in the Pentagon."

★ ★ ★

The defense chief strongly assured the subcommittee that he would do his utmost to "simplify the inner structure of the Pentagon." He added: "I may blunt my lance but I'm going to try."

Meanwhile, the Soviet magazine "New Times" has disclosed that Intercontinental Ballstic Missiles armed with hydrogen bomb warheads can hit targets in U. S. territory.

The magazine pointed out that the H-bomb ICBM's, "which are presently only in the possession of the Soviet Union," can be launched from submarines "to hit targets at any point of the American coastline . . ."

Presumably, New York City, Washington and other important eastern seaboard cities could virtually be wiped out by such attacks.

Wants Future Highways to Run to, Through Cities

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland believes the highways of tomorrow should run to and through cities, not merely around them.

He voiced his opinion in a speech prepared for dedication ceremonies of the four-lane highway tunnel under Baltimore Harbor today.

GOES AROUND

The 130 million dollar tunnel was constructed to route road traffic around the city and the so-called "Baltimore Bottleneck," cutting transit time through the city from up to an hour to five minutes. It is scheduled to open one minute after midnight tonight.

The toll charge for the 15-mile long project is 40 cents.

McKeldin praised the workers who worked on "This greatest construction feat in Maryland's history — from the men who mixed the mortar to the men who planned and supervised the job."

But, he cautioned, "In the midst of our jubilation here, let me sound a word of warning.

★ ★ ★

"Despite the magnificence and utility value of this great tunnel, it is no cure-all for the traffic troubles of the city . . .

★ ★ ★

"It is true that the tunnel transforms one of the most difficult cities through which to drive — to one of the easiest. But I must remind you again that Baltimore is not primarily a city through which to pass. It is a city in which to transact business, manufacture and distribute goods, and a leading world seaport. . . .

★ ★ ★

"New and adequate arteries must be provided for the flow of commerce within the city itself.

★ ★ ★

"Those trade sources of the even greater city of tomorrow must run to and through the business heart of the city — not just around it."

Red Scientists Work on 'Brain'

Electronic Translator to Digest Documents in Any Language

WASHINGTON (INS) — A top Democratic Senator disclosed today that Soviet scientists are working at top speed to perfect "a fasntastic electronic brain" for instantaneous translation, scanning and assimilation of all scientific documents in any language.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, of Wyoming, said his scientific sources report that the machine is designed to "translate in the wink of an eye" all foreign science manuscripts.

It would then digest the documents and store them by categories until a Russian scientist pushed a button to release the data.

Expressing alarm at Soviet strides in the field of science, the Senator declared:

★ ★ ★

"The Russians launched Sputnik I on the last day of the International Geophysical Year conference here in Washington last month. Another such conference is scheduled for Nov. 16-21 next year, and you can bet your bottom dollar that unless we get to work, the Soviets will celebrate that conference by another striking scientific discovery that will rock the world."

★ ★ ★

O'Mahoney said American scientists know that the Russians are working on the electronic brain, but that he cannot determine whether the defense department is properly alerted.

Oldest Snake Dies at 29 in San Diego Zoo

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The world's oldest snake in zoological captivity has died in San Diego zoo.

Zoo officials today reported the passing of old Blackie, an African black-lipped cobra. Blackie lived 29 years — one year longer than an anaconda that had been in the National Zoological Park, Washington, officials said.

The first meter to measure alternating electric current was invented in 1888.

Survey Gives 2 Answers: 'Yes' and 'No'

Smoking Drivers in More Accidents?

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Does puffing on a cigarette while you're driving make you more likely to have an accident?

A University of Michigan study on the relationship of carbon monoxide polution and automobile accidents in Detroit gives two answers—"yes," and "No."

The continuing study's progress report was released here today by the university's School of Public Health. It said drivers who smoke and smokers who drive are better candidates for an auto mishap than those who do one thing at a time.

"But there's no proof that smoking is the cause of their increased accident frequency," the study continued.

The study began last year in an attempt to learn if carbon monoxide found in exhaust fumes and cigarette smoke had any effect on the number of accidents on the streets of the Motor City. It worked on a basis that sharpness of vision is disturbed by high concentrations of carbon monoxide.

★ ★ ★

The report also said more accidents occur to drivers who don't wear glasses. Another finding was that persons who drive as an occupation — taxi drivers, delivery men, etc.—are more likely to have accidents because carbon monoxide exposure is higher. This group also had a high rate of accidents while driving its private cars home after work.

Misuse of Men Blamed on Army

Congressman Charges Skilled Soldiers' Talents Going to Waste

WASHINGTON (INS)—Rep. Albert W. Cretella (R-Conn), charged the Army today with "gross" misuse of enlisted personnel with scientific and engineering skills.

Cretella said the Army's scientific and professional program, which is designed to utilize the talents of trained inductees, should be "re-evaluated or completely scrapped."

He said in a statement that "gross misutilization of these persons . . . appears to be the rule rather than the exception." He claimed that they are "constantly hampered" by having to perform "menial duties."

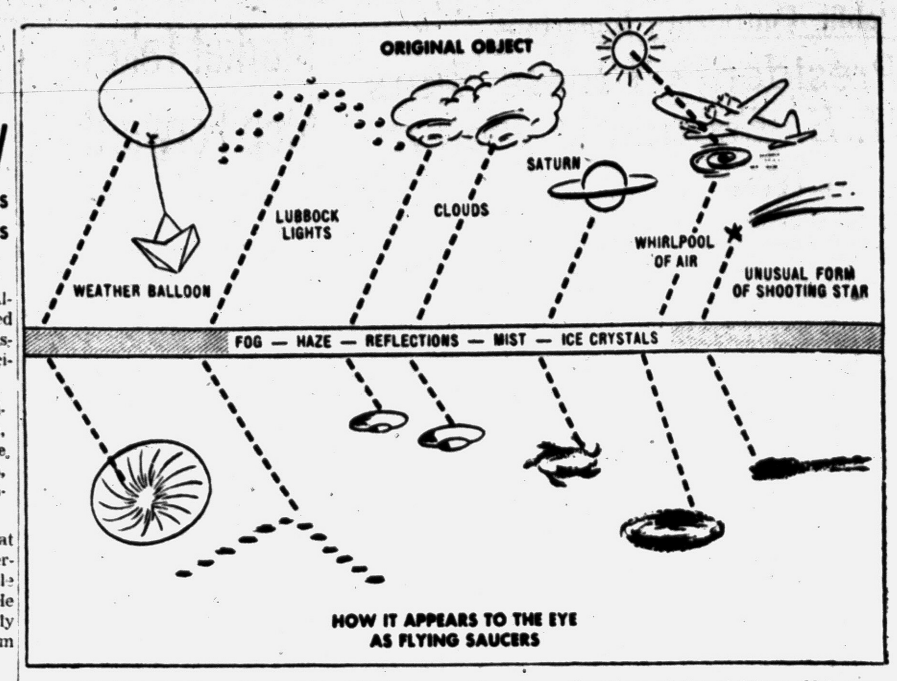

★ ★ ★

At Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., Cretella added, two-thirds of all enlisted men were exempt from kitchen police and other tasks. Excluded from this group, he said, were 130 scientific and professional personnel.

Those totally or partially exempt, he said, are military police, bandsmen, instructors of temporary school troops, clerks and firemen, firemen in special troops, and the entire medical detachment.

Cretella declared: "This is certainly a strange method of establishing equality of treatment for all soldiers.

"It is also enlightening to know that in the American armed forces, a filing clerk or a tuba player is more indispensable to the needs of the Army than a mathematician who is doing research on ballistics."

THEY'RE REAL — Most of the UFO's (unidentified flying objects to the uninitiated) reported actually exist, but they're not what they seem to be. So says Dr. Donald H. Menzel, director of Harvard College Observatory in Cambridge, Mass. Sketched above are some of Dr. Menzel's explanations of the sightings. Not one to scoff, Dr. Menzel does believe there are some saucer reports which "represent natural phenomena that we simply still do not fully understand."

India's Menon Talks With McElroy Today

WASHINGTON (INS) — India's Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon confers today with Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy at the Pentagon.

The chief of the Indian delegation to the United Nations arrives in Washington at noon (EST). He will lunch with McElroy and then return to New York this afternoon.

A spokesman for the Indian embassy declined to indicate what the two defense officials will discuss at the meeting, but said it would not include anything directly related to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's new call earlier yesterday for a ban on nuclear tests.

The Indian prime minister made the appeal in formal statements to the U. S., Soviet, British and French ambassadors to India.

Generals Set to Talk

MUSKEGON (AP)—Air Force Brig. Gen. C. T. Edwinson, commander of the 30th Air Division, and Marine Corps Brig. Gen. Frank C. Croft are scheduled as principal speakers next Tuesday in Muskegon before separate groups. Gen. Edwinson will discuss air defense before the Muskegon Chapter of the Aero Club of Michigan. Gen. Croft, commandant of the Marine Air Command at Glenview (Ill.) Naval Air Station, will discuss the jet and rocket age before a civic and business group.

Former Refugee Camp Passes Quiet Holiday

CAMP KILMER, N. J. (AP)—This sprawling Army camp, which a year ago was the first place in the United States to hear the thankful prayers of Hungarian refugees, passed one of the quietest Thanksgivings in the state yesterday.

★ ★ ★

"Very quiet, abandoned, deserted." That's how Maj. Joseph J. Sincavage, officer in charge of a small caretaker force, described the abandoned camp.

★ ★ ★

Last year, the first 60 Hungarian "freedom fighters" arrived at the camp in time to enjoy a turkey dinner. They came amid worldwide excitement.

★ ★ ★

Some 33,000 fellow countrymen followed this vanguard group at the height of the refugee relief program.

With the refugees gone, the camp has been deactivated.

Fox Hunt Scheduled

EMPIRE (AP)—Hope of rejuvenating the sport in northern lower Michigan has inspired Lions Club sponsorship of a fox hunt Dec. 7 with a free lunch for hunters and prizes for owners of the best hounds among the inducements. Hunters will be permitted only the use of shotguns as weapons. They will gather at Empire Airport near Traverse City to begin the hunt.

Paulette Goddard's Engagement Off

LAUSANNE (INS) — Actress Paulette Goddard and German novelist Erich Maria Remarque, engaged for five years, have canceled plans for a scheduled February marriage.

A spokesman for the Palace Hotel at St. Moritz, where the couple was to celebrate the wedding, said the hotel was "just advised by Remarque all arrangements are off."

He added, "No alternate plans were mentioned."

Remarque, who is in New York, would only say "I don't want to talk. There's nothing to be canceled."

Flint Resident Saves Man From Drowning

SIMCOE, Ont. (AP)— An American transport driver was credited with saving a Simcoe man from drowning yesterday when he found Graham Jackson, 31, of Simcoe pinned under the front part of a car in 10 inches of water.

Laverne Spalding, Flint, Mich., held the victim's head out of the water and cut away part of his clothing in order to free him. Jackson was taken to the hospital where his condition was listed as poor.

The accident occurred when Jackson's car went out of control, left the road and rolled into a ditch backwards. Jackson was thrown from the car and pinned near the right front wheel.

Convention Year Good

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Convention colume business for 1957 has been estimated at $5,729,375, marking the second biggest convention year in a decade in Grand Rapids, according to Convention Bureau Manager Edward J. Brunette. The city will have counted 162 conventions with 75,225 visitors by the end of December. The biggest convention volume in Grand Rapids history was in 1954 when delegates spent more than $6,000,000.

Report Prince Philip Taking On Too Much

LONDON (INS) — Prince Philip is working too hard.

Buckingham Palace sources report considerable concern is being felt by Queen Elizabeth and her advisers about the pace Philip has set for himself.

★ ★ ★

He already has accepted more than 100 invitations to appear at various social, charitable and state functions in the early part of 1958.

It is understood that against his wishes Philip's engagements will be drastically curtailed in the future.

Inspect Zeeland School

ZEELAND (AP) — Open house is scheduled next Monday for public inspection of the new addition to Zeeland High School, completed at a final cost of more than $615,000. Supt. J. F. Schipper said a bond issue for $590,000 was approved in 1955 and other money for the building came from accumulated interest and nonresident pupil tuition.

Coast Guard Towing Crippled Freighter

COOS BAY, Ore. (AP)—The Coast Guard cutter Avoyel took the crippled freighter Olympic Pioneer under tow today and headed for Eureka, Calif.

★ ★ ★

The freighter, with a crew of 37, lost its propeller yesterday and was drifting helplessly 12 miles off the southern Oregon coastline.

★ ★ ★

The 422-foot Liberty ship, skippered by Capt. Leif Hansen of Grays Harbor, Wash., was sailing in ballast to Redwood City in the San Francisco Bay area when it lost its propeller off Cape Blanco some 50 miles south of here.

Scholarships Set Record

HOLLAND (AP)—Hope College has announced that funded and designated scholarships for the 1957-58 academic year have reached a record total of $15,375 with 78 students receiving scholarship financial aid.

Suffers New Mishap

LAKE CITY (AP)—Fred Bowman, 46, of Prudenville, who lost his left arm below the elbow in a hunting accident 25 years ago, suffered the loss of his left leg above the knee last Wednesday in another hunting mishap. Police said Bowman accidentally shot himself in the leg with a 12-gauge shotgun while rabbit hunting. The leg was amputated at Mercy Hospital at Cadillac.

New Load of U.S. Arms Arrives in Iraq Port

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—A new shipment of U .S. arms — the second in two months — arrived in the Port of Basrah this week, Basrah newspapers reported.

The arms were delivered immediately to the Iraqi Army. Details of the shipment were not given. The arms were sent in accordance with the U. S. military aid agreement.

Only 5 per cent of the U. S. population lived in urban communities in 1790.

Rookie Officer Stumbles Upon Bank Burglary

GRANTS, N. M. (AP) — A rookie policeman happened onto an attempted burglary at the Grants State Bank early yesterday and an unemployed uranium miner was seized.

Police Chief Bob Baca, who was aroused from sleep and who arrive on the scene with such haste that he left one shoe behind at home, said 30 minutes delay could have meant theft of an estimated $25,000 from the bank's depository.

★ ★ ★

Officers surrounded the building and captured Franklin Robert Anderson, 32.

It was rookie officer Ismael Baca (no relation to the chief) who discovered Anderson chipping away at the concrete enclosing the depository.

The rookie had been having a cpup of coffee in an all-night cafe at 4:30 a.m. As he walked out of the cafe, he heard a noise which caused him to approach the bank.

Rookie Baca peeked inside the bank and saw a man hacking away with tools at the depository.

★ ★ ★

The young officer slipped across the street to telephone for help. Fellow officers arrived quickly, led by the half-shod chief. They surrounded the bank, then obtained a key and walked in.

Anderson was sitting resignedly in a chair waiting for the officers.

Pair Steal Machine as Others Look On

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Edward F. Malenfant, 19, of Woonsocket, is scheduled to be sentenced Tuesday on a larceny charge. He pleaded no contest yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Police told Judge Luigi De Pasquale in District Court that Malenfant and a friend carted out a big cigarette dispensing machine from the lobby of a downtown department store on Oct. 2.

"In broad daylight?" asked the judge.

"Yes," said Detective Christopher Water, "and they even asked the girls on the counter to hold the door open for them."

Bureau of Public Roads Tells of State Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A total of 54.4 miles of Michigan roads linking the state with the interstate and defense highway system has been completed since July 1, 1956, the Bureau of Public Roads reports.

The work is part of the 2,576 miles of construction advertised for contract, put under way or completed in the 16 months since the federal-aid highway act became law.

Total cost of the Michigan roads has been $15,708,000 of which the government has paid $10,886,000.

Give Detroit GI in Japan Exam

Soldier Charged With Murder of Girl Getting Psychiatric Tests

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — Specialist Gregory J. Kupski of Detroit, charged by the U. S. Army with the strangulation murder of a Japanese girl, is under military psychiatric examination, his defense counsel said today.

The counsel, Capt. James R. Robinson, 34, Ft. Collins, Colo., would not elaborate on the disclosure.

★ ★ ★

Robinson spoke at a 20-minute news conference. The 23-year-old soldier, who the Army says has confessed the crime, was at his side, neatly attired in a freshly pressed uniform.

"I can't speak too much Japanese," were the only words Kupski said in answer to a barrage of questions.

★ ★ ★

Kupski has been charged "with unpremeditated murder" in the death of Kazue Eikawa, 25, whose nude body was found in a Yokohama alley Nov. 17. The charge carries a maximum Army penalty of life imprisonment.

★ ★ ★

No clue to whether Japan or the United States will take jurisdiction was given. Robinson said, "The decision lies with the governments concerned." Both he and Kupski feel either nation would provide a fair trial, he added. The maximum Japanese penalty is death.

★ ★ ★

Robinson said the Army has granted permission for Kupski to re-enact the crime for Japanese police, but said he did not know if this will be done.

Marine Convicted of Murder Charge

OKINAWA (AP)—A Marine court-martial today found Pfc. Wilbur L. Jones, Raleigh, N.C., guilty of two charges of assault with intent to inflict great bodily harm and conspiracy to assault.

★ ★ ★

Jones was the second of six men charged in the death of Navy Corpsman Adrien R. Nokleby, Wells County, N.D., who died after a beating Aug. 4.

The sailor—a white man—was allegedly kicked in the head by Negro Marines.

Sentence on Jones, 23, will be pronounced tomorrow at Camp McTureous.

★ ★ ★

Jones, described as the first man to attack Nokleby after a payday drinking bout, was described in the trial as "the man who led the vicious, snarling pack" in the attack.

Supreme Soviet Set for Budget Session

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government announced today that the Supreme Soviet, Russia's Parliament, will hold a budget session beginning Dec. 19.

★ ★ ★

A decree published in the Communist party newspaper Pravda and other papers summoned more than 1,300 members of the Supreme Soviet's two houses to the meeting. The full agenda and probably length of the session were not indicated.

The Supreme Soviet usually meets for a week to 10 days. Government spokesmen report on the national and international situations at opening meetigs.

★ ★ ★

The last meetig was a one-day ceremonial session Nov. 6 which served as a sounding board for party boss Nikita Khrushchev and other leaders on the eve of celebrations of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Forest Fire Finally Under Full Control

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The big brush and timber fire in the San Gabriel Mountains, which burned to within four miles of foothill communities 20 miles from Los Angeles, has been brought under control.

★ ★ ★

The announcement was made yesterday as turkey dinners were being served to some 1,000 men still on the lines. Some of the meals were flown by helicopter to crews on remote ridges.

★ ★ ★

The blaze, which flared up during a windstorm Nov. 21, blackened 25,000 acres of valuable watershed.

Groucho Takes Bows at Everyone's Show

By EARL WILSON

LAS VEGAS — Groucho Marx added a lot of merriment to the Las Vegas scene when he took two bows at Dean Martin's show and three or four at Ernie Kovac's and Edith Adams' Revue.

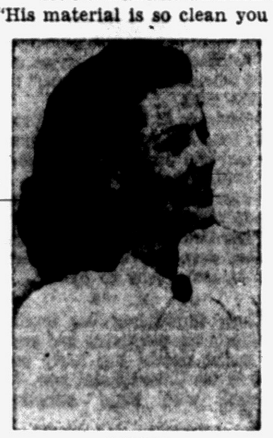

WILSON

Dean introduced Groucho, who stood up, and Dean said, "I was going to introduce Harpo too, but he didn't get here yet."

"Since he's not here, I'll take a bow for him," Groucho announced, and did, to big applause.

Harpo, who was celebrating a birthday, went to Ernie's show, but Groucho took two bows anyway, and, encouraged by the cheering, kept bowing. Groucho complimented Ernie on his act.

"He's a welcome addition to the night club scene," he said. "His material is so clean you can take your kids. The trouble is, kids today don't want clean material."

IRENE

Irene Hervey, who's here divorcing Allan Jones, had, ironically, arranged to start a "Mr. and Mrs." TV show with him. She gets her divorce Dec. 27, he marries again Dec. 28.

Vic Damone's a $20,000 loser here, Leo Durocher won a couple of G's on a few minutes' play, but an unknown Chinese won $10,000. Dean Martin claimed that this caused his pal. Mack Gray, "to rush out to get converted to Chinese. There were two other Las Vegas guys there ahead of him.

Korean Orphans Fathered by GIs Arrive in U.S.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)— Eighty-seven little Korean orphans, four of them ill with tuberculosis, arrived in the United States yesterday.

The children, infants to 6-year-olds, came from the Harry Holt Orphanage in Korea. Holt, a wealthy, Creswell, Ore., farmer, has brought 575 mixed-blood youngsters to new homes in this country in a series of baby-lifts. He has adopted eight of them himself.

★ ★ ★

The children, fathered by U.S. troops in Korea, were abandoned by their Korean mothers. Holt has 130 more in the orphanage and hopes to bring them to new homes in this country before Christmas.

★ ★ ★

The four tubercular children were admitted to the United States under special authorization of the immigration service. Holt said earlier that the U.S. Public Health Service would supervise their care and that the new parents would pay for treatment of the illnesses.

★ ★ ★

Holt and his wife have five children of their own.

Four of the children will make their homes in Oregon. The rest are destined for homes throughout the country.

New York has been the nation's leading manufacturing state since about 1830.

South Korea for U.S. Control on Okinawa

SEOUL (AP)—The South Korean government today backed the U.S. position on Okinawa and called for efforts "to prevent the rise of a Japanese colonialism which has been reaching out for the Ryukyus."

Government spokesman Oh Chae Kyung said in a statement, "Korea welcomes the U. S. decision to keep the Ryukyus Islands control.

★ ★ ★

"Japanese demands for a civilian administration seem to have been part of a conspiracy to penetrate the islands preliminary to an attempt to re-establish Japan's former colonial control."

★ ★ ★

Oh denounced the idea the Ryukyuans want a return to Japan as "a myth created by the Japanese themselves, and by their Communist emissaries and sympathizers on Okinawa."

Student Riot Aftermath of Victory on Gridiron

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Roiting students and police clashed early today in the aftermath of Edison High School's 20-7 football victory over Miami High.

Several police, one fireman and some students were reported injured by clubs, fists, bottles or rocks.

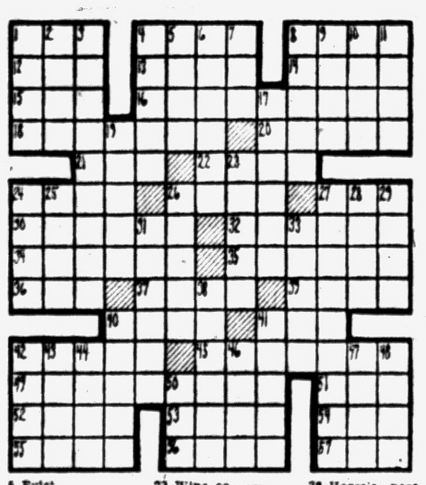

Officers turned a fire hose on the demonstrators and students atop roofs of nearby stores hurled stones and bottles at the police.

Beans, Car Get Lots of Attention

Trick Photography and Flattery Help Beautify Sponsor's Wares

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Hollywood on TV: A can of beans, I can spill it today, rated more attention from the camera crew on a movie studio set recently than Marlon Brando ever got in any of his pictures.

★ ★ ★

And that new automobile! Why, it even had a personal makeup man to dab powder on its shiny nose while a cameraman and a crew of 23 technicians spent more time making it look beautiful than they do making Lana Turner look beautiful.

Yes, sir, television has spawned a new breed of temperamental glamor stars in Hollywood. They're not sexy dolls or handsome guys, but they are pampered and flattered and photographed with all the glamor tricks.

You see these new "stars" on TV all the time.

★ ★ ★

That "glamorous" can of beans. That beautiful new automobile—and hundreds of other products like watches, beer bottles and flip-top cigarette boxes, that the booming production of telefilm commercials has brought to Hollywood's major and independent studios.

VERY TEMPERAMENTAL

They're just as temperamental as any of Hollywood's onetime glamor stars. I know, because I've been talking to producers, directors and cameramen behind the scenes in Hollywood's growing business of filming TV commercials.

★ ★ ★

"Jean Harlow was never photographed as good," Irving Block was telling me about products reaching "stardom" in Hollywood.

Irving and Jack Rabin are in partnership as Studio Film Service, a special photographic effects company, and they will supervise the same type of work for Hollywood's newly organized Filmercial Productions.

Jack and Irving have photographed automobiles, watches, beer cans and other "stars" now being imported to Hollywood.

★ ★ ★

Until these two gents got into the TV filming business, watches had to be photographed minus their glass crystals, which produced annoying camera reflections. The result was "flat and dead watches," one watch company complained, in a big fit of temperament.

PART OF THE GLAMOR

"The crystals," they said, "are part of the glamor in a watch. They sparkle. We want to see 'em sparkle. Make 'em sparkle."

★ ★ ★

Weaned on star temperament, Jack and Irving developed a special camera lens which bypasses those annoying reflections and now captures the "glamor" in a watch crystal.

An automobile company asked Jack and Irving for a 20-second TV commercial showing "the birth of a new car in a new era." The idea was to photograph the sun rising from behind a mountain to fully light the car, in the foreground, in all of its "newborn" splendor.

But the advertising agency wanted the sun to fully reveal the car in nine seconds. Jack and Irving took the car to a location in the High Sierra Mountains 450 miles from Hollywood and put a stop watch on the way nature handled the situation.

From pitch black to full sunlight on the car required almost three hours. "Nuts to nature," said Jack. "Check," said Irving.

PHOTOGRAPHED SUN

So they spent the next five mornings photographing the rising sun at the rate of one film frame per hour.

Back in Hollywood, they went to work with the film and what nature couldn't do they did—the rising sun fully lighted the car in nine seconds and the whole "birth of a new car in a new era" was accomplished in the required 20 seconds.

Irving was around one day when the advertising agency boys for a beer sponsor were auditioning "sexy whistles" on a movie sound stage. The idea was to have a beer bottle whistle at a pretty girl.

"Man," Irving says, "they spent the whole day listening to people whistle."

★ ★ ★

Some whistles were "too obvious." Other whistles had "too much throw." Finally they found just the right whistle.

Fashion Editor Predicts Kilts Coming Into Style

By STERLING SLAPPEY

LONDON (AP)—"The Kilt," said the expert, "is much too nice a garment to waste on Scots.

★ ★ ★

"It will become popular in the United States in a year or two. Americans with a dram of Scottish blood and a decent pair of legs will be taking to the kilt as evening dress."

John Taylor, aptly named editor of "Tailor and Cutter," a thin little magazine which weighs heavy in the clothing trade, continued to build up his case for the kilt.

"Actually the kilt has already begun to go in America, you know," Taylor said in an interview.

★ ★ ★

He noted that two of the major style-setting retail shops in New York have installed "Scottish departments" which stock the kilt in a dozen or so tartans, as well as Tam O'Shanters and other Scottish accouterments.

★ ★ ★

The shops are nationally advertising the kilt for evening wear and trade reports coming back to these islands suggest garments are already catching on.

"American men are now accustomed to showing the knee," Taylor said. "They broke the ice by wearing Bermuda shorts."

★ ★ ★

Taylor said he was a "deep admirer of America and things American," but that Americans have a bit of the copy cat in them when it comes to men's clothing.

"Practically all their styles and good fabrics are got from us," the Briton says.

Americans in the last few years have snatched up the chukka boot, the flat cap and the duffle coat—all British born and bred.

"Americans are rapidly swinging to more fitted suits, following another British trend. Ivy League clothes were influenced by the desire to make suits fit tighter.

★ ★ ★

"Such semi-Edwardian touches as lapels on waistcoats and cuffs on jacket sleeves are fairly popular in the United States now. We finished with them sometime ago."

Wayne Professor Dies, Called Probable Suicide

DETROIT (AP) — The death Wednesday night of Dr. Robert Rothman, 55, associate professor of philosophy of education at Wayne State University, was called a probable suicide.

He was found unconscious at his home and died en route to a hospital. Police said he had telephoned a relative and threatened to kill himself by taking an overdose of barbituates.

Japanese Premier Given Cool Welcome

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — The first visit of a Japanese premier to Australia was met today with solemn faces and a cool, sullen air.

★ ★ ★

The usual flag-flying reception was missing as Premier Nobusuke Kishi landed to begin a seven-day visit. Kishi is touring Southeast Asian nations.

★ ★ ★

He was met here by Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, Victorian State Premier Henry Bolte and Trade Minister John McEwen. Japanese consular officials expressed disappointment that no official welcoming flag was flown for Kishi at the airport.

★ ★ ★

As the representative of an enemy in World War II who was stopped just short of invading Australia, Kishi was the target of many muttered remarks. Plainclothes security police were dispersed in a small crowd that uniformed police kept away from Kishi when he visited the town hall.

Springlike Climes Covering Most of New England

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A gush of cold air seeped into the lower Great Lakes, springlike weather held sway in the Northeast, rains doused a vast area east of the Ohio Valley and snow flurries fell in the northern and central Plains regions today.

★ ★ ★

Forecasters said the band of cold air would bring some of the season's lowest temperatures to Illinois, Indiana and parts of Missouri and Arkansas.

Behind the cold front, snow flurries were common in the Dakotas, Wyoming and northwestern Colorado. Ground blizzards struck parts of Wyoming and State Highway 220 was closed because of snow drifts.

In the New England area it was like spring. Temperatures were mostly in the 40s and 50s.

Rain extended southward along the East Coast through the middle Atlantic states and Florida and from the Ohio Valley to the middle Gulf Coast states.

Wants to Collect for Red Toupee Torn in Smashup

DENVER (AP)—John Goddard, 51, is going to court next month over a hair-splitting case.

He is suing an insurance firm for $180—the cost of his red toupee. He said in his complaint the toupee was badly torn when he was thrown over the steering wheel in an automobile-truck collision last year.

An attorney for the insurance company said Goddard's policy didn't cover any damage to his head covering. Judge Mitchel B. Johns of Superior Court said they can battle it out before him Dec. 11.

Charges Russia Stole Scientists

Officer Says Soviets Dug Deep in Recruiting German Technicians

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Soviet Russia dug deep and fast and without scruples to strip Germany of scientists and technicians after the last war, a former United States commandant of the Berlin Allied command told the Senate today.

"This 'digging deep' by the Soviet Union extended down into electrical workers in the factory, foremen and supervisors," said retired Brig. Gen. Frank L. Howley, now vice president of New York University. "Frequently, people were seized on the basis which we would consider forced labor, and complaints were registered by the West against such seizures, of course to no avail."

Howley himself was unable to be present at the subcommittee's hearings here today on charges of Soviet kidnaping of scientists to speed its missiles program. A written statement by him was released by subcommittee counsel Robert Morris.

★ ★ ★

Howley said a limited number of top German scientists in West Germany were invited to come to the United States—among them the guided missile expert Wernher von Braun. He emphasized that they were restricted to top-layer men only, that none of them were Nazis or former Nazis (which, Howley said, would have made them ineligible), that all came of their own volition.

"The Soviets were under no such self-imposed handicap," Howley said.

Stressing speed with which scientists were seized at Peenemuende on the Baltic, a guided missile research center, Howley commented: "We of the West never saw any of those scientists. They were overrun by Russian troops, seized immediately and sent off to work on things which undoubtedly contributed to the present Sputniks and advances of the Soviet Union."

First steps to establish a system of federal civil service were undertaken in 1872 during the administration of President Ulysses S. Grant.

The daily number of marriages in the U.S. in June is normally about 45 per cent greater than the daily average for the year.
