Sprinkler Systems Invaluable—Area Fire Officials

ONE COLOR

The devastating fire that hit Chicago's huge McCormick Place Convention Center Jan. 16 "might well have been less disastrous," said Pontiac Fire Marshal Charles Metz, "if the building had been equipped with a sprinkler system."

"K-Mart is the largest single business establishment in the Pontiac area," he pointed out, "and it's springled.' "

"Think what such a system would have saved in Chicago when you realize the K-Mart store could have fit into a corner of McCormick Place."

Just how valuable are sprinkler systems?

★ ★ ★

Many merchants and building owners, considering the merits of what Pontiac Fire Department officials describe as "the best possible first line of defense against fires," find installation costs prohibitive and leave matters at the consideration stage.

LOWER INSURANCE

However, Capt. Albert Rayner of the Pontiac Fire Department maintains that sprinkler systems "pay for themselves in decreased insurance premiums in about seven years."

He added that such equipment is extremely valuable.

"Probably 90 per cent of the fires in sprinkled buildings in the past 50 years have been extinguished or held."

★ ★ ★

The remaining 10 per cent, he said, failed either because an explosion occurred or because of human error.

NO ORDINANCE

There is no law in Pontiac which requires all stores or public buildings to have sprinkler systems. City Fire Inspector Joseph A. Tunny pointed out that while some buildings, according to size and foundation material, are so required by law, no blanket ordinance exists.

In Waterford Township, Fire Marshal Russell See hopes to strengthen the local sprinkling system code by imposing stiffer regulations on apartment buildings.

Adopted in 1960, the existing statute requires automatic sprinkling systems in basement areas exceeding 2,500 square feet, used for boiler rooms, storage and similar purposes.

★ ★ ★

Mercantile, residential and other type buildings fall under the law, which is similar to state statute.

AMENDMENT

See would like the local ordinance amended so that sprinklers would be required in all new multiple dwellings occupied by eight or more families.

The township is considerably better equipped for sprinkling systems now than when the code was adopted because of the completion of a fire hydrant system in 1965.

See is concentrating on apart-

Michigan Junior Miss Is Crowned in Pontiac

Despite a stunned look, the charm of Kathie Fliss was evident as she won the title of Michigan's Junior Miss of 1967.

The 17-year-old Lenawee County candidate, a senior at St. Joseph Academy, Adrian, was chosen from a field of 37 girls during yesterday's pageant finals.

As winner, Kathie receives $1,625 in scholarships and bonds besides the right to compete for the National Junior Miss title in Mobile, Ala., March 10-18.

Pontiac's blonde Junior Miss, Johanna Yansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Yansen of 80 Chippewa, was third runner-up. She received a $200 saving bond.

★ ★ ★

Also chosen in the state finals were Maureen Cavanaugh, Dearborn, first runner-up; LaWana Swindall, Southgate, second runner-up; and Kate Verplank, Zeeland, fourth runner-up.

SCHOLASTIC AWARD

Lansing's Junior Miss, Nellie Kuhnmuench received the scholastic achievement award and Dianne Adams, Traverse City, was honored for creative and performing arts.

The Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce presented the ninth annual Junior Miss Pageant before a crowded auditorium in Pontiac Northern High School.

Brown-haired Kathie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Fliss of 24625 W. 10 Mile Road, Southfield. Her father is with the finance and administration department of communications and data processing, Ford Motor Co.

"When the pageant was announced, I decided I might as well give it a try. I never suspected this would happen. It kind of snowballed," the new Michigan Junior Miss said.

She added "My roommates will hit the ceiling."

An all-A student at St. Joseph, the brown-eyed winner is secretary of the Student Council, a member of the National Honor Society, a debater, cheerleader for the varsity basketball team, and a member of several athletic organizations.

She played Mozart's Fantasia in D Minor, a classical piano solo, for her talent performance. The new state Junior Miss has studied piano for seven years.

Future plans include attending the University of Michigan as a premed major next fall, according to Kathie.

More Light Snow, Rain Are Possible

Keep those snow shovels handy. There's a chance of light snow tonight and tomorrow.

Tonight will be cloudy and not so cold with temperatures ranging from 20 to 26.

Temperatures tomorrow will climb slightly and the snow may become mixed with rain.

Today's east to northeast winds at 5 to 15 miles will swing to the southeast by this evening.

Wednesday, according to the weatherman, will be cloudy and colder.

Low mercury reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 14. By 2 p.m. the winter sunshine warmed the thermometer to a welcome 28.

Final Farewell for Astronauts at Space Center

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — In silent tribute, Cape Kennedy today bade farewell to America's three Apollo astronauts.

Their remains headed toward their burial sites, in flag-draped coffins.

Members of a board of inquiry probing to answer the question, "Why did it happen?" stood with about 300 other persons as the bodies of Air Force Lt. Cols. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee left in the same Air Force jet.

Although there was no official confirmation from the board or National Aeronautics and Space Administration, all signs today indicated that a flaw somewhere in Apollo 1's electrical system sparked the fatal flash fire that turned the moonship into a deadly furnace.

★ ★ ★

There was also reason to believe that the investigators do not now know exactly where or how that flaw occurred.

MILITARY ESCORT

With a military escort, the coffins were carried in civilian hearses from a medical dispensary to the Cape Kennedy airfield, located less than four miles from the launch pad where the spacemen died Friday in a ball of flame.

Grieved friends stood solemnly at planeside, as an Air Force band played Chopins funeral march, an Air Force hymn, and "Abide With Me" and "Faith of Our Fathers."

Present was a fellow Apollo astronaut, Air Force Col. Frank Borman, a member of the board of inquiry.

Officials of the space agency, Defense Department and aerospace contractors also participated.

★ ★ ★

After a flight of about one hour, the Air Force jet carrying their remains lands at Andrews Air Force Base in Washington. From there, the bodies of Grissom and Chaffee go to Arlington National Cemetery, where three other U.S. astronauts, killed in plane crashes, are also buried.

The two Apollo 1 pilots will be buried there Tuesday with heroes' honors, Grissom at 9 a.m. and Chaffee at 1 p.m.

White's body will be taken to a Highland Falls, N.Y., funeral home to await burial at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Paying tribute to a fallen comrade during memorial services for Chaffee Sunday at Webster, Tex., near the Manned Spacecraft Center, three astronauts flew gleaming jets out of a setting sun. They left a vacant slot in their formation to honor their fellow astronaut.

Similar memorial services were planned today for Grissom and White.

At Cape Kennedy, the 12-man board of inquiry continued probing the tragedy, looking at photographs taken of the cockpit, interviewing witnesses and studying data.

Bobby Baker to Fight Convictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker plans to fight his convictions for tax evasion, conspiracy and stealing campaign funds to the Supreme Court if necessary.

His hands trembling and his cheeks whitening, the former secretary to Senate Democrats and behind-the-scenes power on Capitol Hill heard a federal jury yesterday pronounce him guilty.

But Baker, 38, a one-time Senate page who built a $2-million fortune, stayed free on $5,000 bail.

Sentencing is expected in about two weeks. Penalties for the seven counts on which he was convicted could total 48 years in prison and $47,000 in fines.

★ ★ ★

"We, of course, are going to the (U.S.) Appeals Court and all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary," said Baker's attorney Edward Bennett Williams. One Justice Department official speculated the appeal process could consume two years.

The trial lasted three weeks and centered around $99,600 in campaign funds contributed by California savings and loan executives.

Lyndon B. Johnson was referred to in testimony by Baker — though not by name —and names of other political figures dotted the proceedings. Seven senators and a representative appeared one day to testify.

The consequences for Baker, if he does not win a reversal on appeal, would almost certainly be far more severe than the wrist slap the Senate Rules Committee gave him after a probe into business dealings he conducted before resigning his Senate job under fire in October 1963.

U.S., Canada Apologize, Pledge Probe of Bombings

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. and Canadian officials formally apologized to complaining Yugoslav leaders and pledged an intensive probe of terrorist attacks that rocked six of the Communist nation's diplomatic missions within an hour.

But there was no announced indication today of arrests or leads into the explosions that shattered predawn stillness yesterday at embassies in Washington and Ottawa, and at consulates in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Toronto.

Yugoslav Ambassador Veljko Micunovic lodged a strong protest with Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach and received a promise the United States will expend all effort to capture and punish the bombers.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, in Williamsburg, Va., when told of the attacks, expressed "official and personal" regrets at the "outrageous and senseless acts of terrorism and vandalism."

Rusk's Canadian counterpart, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, expressed official regret at the attacks in Canada.

The Yugoslav press vehemently demanded greater protection for its missions in the two Western nations and hinted of government collusion with the terrorists.

Heroes' Burial Set for Dead Astronauts

D-Calif., of the House Science and Astronautics Committee said he would not step into the investigation before NASA completed its probe — and perhaps not then.

All that remains inside Apollo 1 is a gutted, charred mass of burnt-out wires and scattered debris, an eyewitness said.

★ ★ ★

George Alexander, a writer for Aviation Week magazine who represented all news media when the space agency permitted one reporter to inspect the moonship Sunday, said the inside of Apollo 1 looked "like the cockpit of an aircraft in World War II that took a direct hit."

COUCHES DESTROYED

Slate-gray deposit covered the panels, and dials were unrecognizable, he said. The couches on which the astronauts were lying were destroyed.

A badly charred flight plan rested between Grissom's and White's positions.

Outside, the worst damage appeared to be in a panel located adjacent to where electrical wires from the ground fed Apollo 1's power systems during the fatal test. The panel is located at the right of the spacecraft door, approximately over Chaffee's shoulder, he reported.

★ ★ ★

NASA has not announced what will become of the Apollo 1 spaceship, but most observers agree it is too heavily damaged to ever carry men into space.

SPARK THEORY

One theory was that a spark, perhaps from a battery or faulty electrical connection, triggered a fire and the flame — fed by pure oxygen in the cabin — swept through the cockpit in seconds, perhaps combusting with gas fumes or contaminants in the oxygen.

A NASA official reported Saturday that the moonship had been on internal power—its own batteries — during the tragedy. Sunday, the space agency backtracked and said it had been on external power, receiving electricity from outside the spaceship, and was only "simulating" internal power.

There was also speculation that a combination of temperature and oxygen pressure buildup might have touched off an explosion.

NO ONE HURT — Debris clutters the sidewalk after part of the roofing and front wall of the Thomas Furniture Co., 361 S. Saginaw, collapsed shortly before 9 a.m. today, apparently from the weight of collected snow. Store officials said approximately half of the building's 200-foot frontage fell when a canopy connected to the wall gave way. There were no injuries. City firemen later cleared the sidewalk and the store opened for business.

B52s Bomb Closest Yet to Saigon

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers staged their closest raid to Saigon of the Vietnam war today. Simultaneously, 3,200 more American infantrymen arrived in the country to join the growing U.S. force in the Mekong Delta.

The B52s unloaded their explosives on a base camp of the Vietcong's 165A Regiment 16 miles west-southwest of Saigon. The strike was two miles closer to the capital than any previous raid by the bombers and shook windows in Saigon.

In two clashes Jan. 21, South Vietnamese paratroopers reported killing 117 men of the 165A Regiment.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. jet bombers struck the Thai Nguyen railroad yard 35 miles north of Hanoi Sunday and for the second day ranged along the Ca River for concentrated assaults on cargo barges.

FIGHTING DECLINES

Ground fighting in South Vietnam diminished to small, scattered clashes.

The U.S. command continued an investigation of an attack by three U.S. helicopters on a fleet of 200 sampans in the Mekong Delta in which a U.S. spokesman said 31 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 38 wounded.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman said the sampan fleet was attacked Saturday night and early Sunday during the curfew hours after some of the sampans fired on the helicopters. He said the civilians told interrogators they were on the move in violation of the curfew because the Vietcong was in the area and they anticipated allied attacks.

★ ★ ★

The latest American troops to arrive were the 2nd Brigade of the 9th Infantry Division and supporting artillery, medical, supply, signal, military police and maintenance units.

The 3,200 men came ashore from the troopship Pope at Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon. They brought the division to its full strength, 15,000 men, and increased the total announced American strength in Vietnam to 404,000 men.

'Astronaut Fire Not the First'

Blazes in Training Disclosed by Scientist

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The fire that killed three astronauts in the Apollo space capsule Friday was the latest in a series of blazes that have erupted during the training exercises, a University of Rochester scientist says.

The earlier fires, Dr. Wallace O. Fenn told reporters, occurred in decompression chambers that were large enough for the astronauts to escape to safety.

★ ★ ★

Fenn said he recalled one incident about two years ago but was unable to pinpoint the dates of that or the others.

★ ★ ★

Fenn, who was interviewed Saturday by the Rochester Democrat & Chronicle, is a professor of physiology at the university's medical school and former director of Rochester's Space Science Center.

NEARLY DEATHTRAP

Dr. Albert Craig, a colleague, said a chamber rigged for a simulated 30-day space flight nearly became a deathtrap three years ago for astronauts in training. The men, he said, fled to an adjoining chamber when they were unable to extinguish a fast-spreading fire.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington had no immediate comment on Fenn's or Craig's statement.

★ ★ ★

Fenn said the fire hazard in such situations could be traced chiefly to the pure-oxygen environment under which the men were working. The presence of oxygen in large quantities, he said, greatly increases the rate of combustion.

Fenn said he and other members of a National Academy of Science committee recently completed a study of fire hazards for NASA.

★ ★ ★

Their report, he said, recommended that inert gases be mixed with oxygen in space capsules to produce a safer and more natural environment for the occupants.

Fenn added he understood that NASA officials planned to follow the recommendations on the Apollo project.

Midwest Faces Another Storm

By the Associated Press

Snow-paralyzed communities from Chicago to Detroit struggled toward normalcy today. But they were hampered by a new blanket of snow, with as much as four inches expected in Chicago.

As the new Midwest storm swept through the northern parts of Indiana and Illinois and into Michigan and Ohio, West Coast residents braced against 100-mile-per-hour winds accompanying a rainstorm that spread from the coast into Idaho and Montana.

★ ★ ★

At least 56 persons were dead in Illinois following the 23-inch snowfall Thursday and Friday that set a Chicago record. At midevening Sunday, city and suburban crews worked to clear remaining snowdrifts—up to 15 feet deep—as 2 inches of new snow settled on the area. Madison, Wis., had 3 inches in the same period.

Most main streets in Chicago were clear, but side streets lay buried under drifts, their intersections blocked by abandoned autos parked at crazy angles.

AIRPORT OPENS

O'Hare International Airport, closed since 7:30 a.m. Thursday, reopened at 5:45 p.m. Sunday.

Commuter trains began running, if not quite on schedule. But many city buses were rerouted and some routes were closed by abandoned buses blocking the streets.

Gov. Romney Rounding Up a Brain Trust

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. George Romney—his aspiration and organization beginning to show—is searching for party and policy brains to help him win the 1968 Republican nomination for president.

His growing determination to try for the nomination was revealed this week when two of the objects of the talent hunt confirmed they had been in contact with the Michigan chief executive.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, a close-knit group of friends—calling themselves Romney Associates—began to emerge as a central headquarters for the Romney organization.

Leaders of Romney Associates began to talk openly about the task of rounding up the brains Romney wants—a task he assigned to them, many of whom are former members of his administration.

NEAR ROMNEY

They operate out of an office just four blocks from Romney's in Lansing, the state capital.

Publicly, Romney still is taking a long, hard look at the possibility of trying for the GOP presidential banner next year—and he says an announcement of his decision is months away.

Privately, he is taking steps to capture it.

In San Diego, Calif., Dr. Gaylord Parkinson, recently retired California GOP chairman, confirmed that he had been offered a position in the Romney organization.

Parkinson, who met Romney in Lansing two weeks ago and conferred with him by telephone twice last week, said he also had been offered a post in the organization of former vice president Richard M. Nixon.

Jonathan Moore, a resident fellow in Harvard's John F. Kennedy School of Government, also confirmed that he had been in touch with Romney and said, "I definitely want to help him."

Congress Asked to Hike Debt Ceiling by $7 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler asked Congress today to raise the national debt ceiling by $7 billion to a new level of $337 billion.

He said that unless Congress acts, the Treasury will have to start holding up some payments within a month.

In an unusually blunt statement to the House Ways and Means Committee, Fowler said: "You and I know that there are many who have voted for, and will vote for, appropriations and then take comfort and protection in a vote against extending the debt limit. This is not a responsible act."

IN JEOPARDY

Fowler said that among the payments that would be in jeopardy about March 1 unless the debt limit is raised are Social Security and disability benefits, veterans pensions and military and civilians retirement pay.

"More than 25 million people would be affected in these three categories alone," Fowler said.

★ ★ ★

The ways and means committee has never failed to recommend debt limit increases under similar circumstances in the past and Congress has always followed through, but often the increase has been less than the Treasury asked.

★ ★ ★

Fowler came to the committee hearing today accompanied by Budget Director Charles L. Schultze and a battery of Treasury specialists prepared to defend President Johnson's administrative budget which foresees a $9.7-billion deficit that would have to be handled by increased borrowing.

★ ★ ★

Today's procedure marked a beginning of Congress' work on President Johnson's $135-billion budget, the anticipated deficit, and his proposal for increasing taxes.

The Senate continued study and debate on modernization of its procedures.

The debt came within $75 million of the current ceiling on Jan. 18. By Treasury's standards, this was nerve-shatteringly close. It likes to keep a $3 billion cushion.

Dead Marine to Get Medal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced today the Medal of Honor will be awarded posthumously to a Marine from Kellogg, Idaho, who died in Vietnam going to the aid of a wounded comrade.

Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze will present the nation's highest award for valor at the Pentagon to the widow of 1st Lt. Frank S. Reasoner, 28, who was killed in action while leading a reconnaissance patrol July 12, 1965.

Reasoner becomes the Marines' second Medal of Honor recipient since the Korean War.

The ceremony Tuesday will mark the 10th Medal of Honor presentation of the Vietnam war. Two other Medal of Honor recipients have been named.

★ ★ ★

Reasoner, a native of Spokane, Wash., was killed while covering the evacuation of his radio operator while his unit was under attack by a large Vietcong force.

Reasoner was West Point's outstanding boxer in 1962 but excelled also in other sports. He lettered in baseball and wrestling and became the first cadet in history to win four consecutive brigade boxing crowns in four weight classes.

Story of Suicide Bid Is Denied by Macao

HONG KONG (AP) —A pro-Nationalist Chinese resident of Macao tried to burn himself to death today to protest the Portuguese colonial government's surrender to Communist Chinese demands, a Hong Kong paper reported.

Macao officials, reached by telephone, acknowledged a Chinese man was being treated for burns but said he accidentally splashed kerosene on himself and accidentally set it afire.

The English-language Star said the man was Ng Kwok Sek, a member of President Chiang Kai-shek's Kuomintang party. It said Ng was in critical condition in Macao hospital.

Roger Williams was ordered banished from Massachusetts Bay by the General Court on October 9, 1635, after he preached for the separation of church and state.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Rain is expected along the Pacific Coast tonight changing to snow in the Rockies, northern Plains and Great Lakes. The Mississippi Valley and Southeast will be warmer and the Northeast and Northwest will be colder.

Birmingham Area News

Commission to Receive Traffic Study Report

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission will get a report from a traffic consultant on the Willits Street problem at tonight's meeting in city hall.

Residents have complained of danger on the twisting, hilly street in the north part of the city off Woodward.

A traffic study was made by the firm of Reid and Cool and a recommendation made to prohibit parking on the north side of Willits from 75 feet west of Chester to 310 feet west of Chester.

The commission will also consider making the street one way eastbound between Baldwin and Greenwood.

★ ★ ★

The report states that improvements on Maple and the Ring Road should further limit use of the street as a bypass.

OBJECTIONS

It also points out strong objections may be voiced by residents on Greenwood and Harmon if motorists are forced to use those streets.

The commission will also get a report from the Parks and Recreation department saying the municipal golf course had a total net loss of $10,911 last year.

The report states that during the season, "play did not increase as greatly as we had anticipated."

★ ★ ★

A loss of $18,832 for this year is expected and the department recommends appropriating sufficient funds in the 1967-68 budget.

REORGANIZATION

Another recommendation on the agenda concerns reorganization of recreation programs.

It would change the city code to discontinue the existing recreation board and make provisions for creation of a new parks and recreation advisory board.

The city would appoint members to the board in the near future.

Snowstorm Good, Bad for Business

SNOWSTORM is a word that can be spelled with both red ink and black, Pontiac area merchants and businessmen are discovering in the wake of the winter's biggest blast.

For hardware, equipment rental and automotive accessory dealers, the choking blanket of wet, heavy snow meant a virtually unprecedented run on shovels, blowers, rock salt, snow tires and tire chains.

For department stores and smaller businesses handling nonemergency items, the storm brought business to a standstill and in some cases forced early closings.

As usual, the government — including the City of Pontiac and Oakland County — ended up with healthy expenditures in around-the-clock efforts to clear area roads.

★ ★ ★

County highway engineer Paul Van Roekel tentatively put the county's bill for four days of digging and plowing at $105,000.

EXPENSIVE CLEANUP

In addition, he said, cleanup work on county roads and state trunk lines would probably cost another $60,000.

City Department of Public Works superintendent Clyde Christian said cost figures for Pontiac's 100-man cleanup crew and equipment wouldn't be available for several days.

"But," he said, "I have a feeling that this will put us close to the top of our snow-removal budget for the entire year."

★ ★ ★

Local merchants praised the city's work in clearing downtown areas, but ruefully noted the heavy snow had tightly locked most customers in their homes.

Howard Nelson, manager for Sears & Roebuck, said his store's weekend business "wouldn't pay our light bill."

"Snow tires, chains, and shovels were about the only reason we stayed open," he noted.

Blaze in Utica Is Contained

Utica firemen confined a blaze at the Utica Oil and Gas Co., 6957 Greeley, to relatively minor damage this morning.

A workman reporting for work in the garage found the place enveloped in smoke.

Firemen called to the scene found the rear tires on a 1,500-gallon tank truck afire — the heat of the blaze having caused fumes in one of the truck's six sections to ignite and blow the cap.

The explosion caused a one-inch misalignment of the garage walls.

Asst. Fire Chief Robert Beck said the section of the truck which blew was empty of fuel oil. He said one compartment, however, remained full.

The garage is located about 25 feet away from several 15,000-gallon storage tanks, Beck said.

The fire department, which was on the scene for about 90 minutes, said the rear wheels of the truck were burned completely and that a heavy amount of smoke damage was reported.

Cause of the blaze is being investigated.

New Junior Miss Is Named in Pontiac

AMONG THE BRAVE — True to newspaper tradition, Clarkston High School press representatives Mark Cowen of 6170 Overlook and Gail Cowling (right) of 5790 Clarkston, both of Independence Township, braved the elements to attend the Michigan Junior Miss student press conference at the Waldron Hotel Saturday. They are shown interviewing Michigan's Junior Miss of last year, Bonnie Britton of 34234 Northwick, Farmington Township.

"I want to work in pediatrics. I believe women have a way with children, so why not give it a try," she commented.

Judge Joanne Antczak, a Bobbie Brooks stylist, said "It was truly difficult to reach a decision because the caliber of all the girls was extremely high.

"Kathie did the best in the four judging elements of poise and personality, youth fitness, mental alertness, and creative and performing arts. She responded well when put under pressure during the judges interview."

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's Junior Miss, Miss Yansen, is active in school affairs as secretary of her senior class, captain of the varsity cheerleaders, a member of the choir and of the thespians. She is also Pontiac's Demolay sweetheart.

Her musical skit for the talent performance, titled "My Musical Friendship," was based on a recent summer in Holland on the "Youth for Understanding Program."

Attendance at Albion College as a music and speech major are in the near future according to Johanna.

The final performance last night climaxed a weekend of activity only slightly marred by the severe weather. The snowstorm forced three girls to arrive a day or more late.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., presented pageant candidates with replicas of the key to the city at a reception Thursday. He also proclaimed last week as Junior Miss Week.

Contestants spent the weekend preparing for the final performances and undergoing preliminary judging. Judges interviews, which count 35 per cent, were held during these days.

All candidates stayed with host families in the Pontiac area.

Last year's state Junior Miss, Bonnie Britton of Farmington, relinquished the crown to the new title winner.

Sponsors were John H. Breck, Chevrolet Motor Co., Cocoa-Cola Bottlers of Michigan, Eastman Kodak, and Scott Paper Co.

In one summer session from April to August, the descendants of one pair of houseflies, if all lived and reproduced normally, could total 197 quintillion, enough to cover the entire surface of the earth to a depth of more than one foot.

ment buildings because life is involved. He recommends sprinklers in all boiler rooms and storage areas in buildings, regardless of size.

Boiler rooms and storage areas are singled out "because this is where fire is most apt to start," said See.

At Pontiac Mall, Montgomery Ward and Co. and the J. L. Hudson Co. Budget Store have complete sprinkling systems, although not required by law.

Sprinklers are hooked up in every room in these two buildings, according to See. New additions at the two stores also will be equipped with sprinklers.

Cunningham's Drug Store at the Mall has sprinklers in a rear stock room.

★ ★ ★

A complete sprinkling setup also exists at Savoy Lanes on Telegraph. Sprinklers also can be found in storage rooms and stage areas in the township's junior and senior high schools.

★ ★ ★

In a structure like Pontiac Mall, sprinklers at least in boiler rooms and storage areas are highly recommended, said See.

MALL VALUE

The Mall is valued at $9 million, while its contents are worth another $6,750,000. This doesn't include the large additions at Ward's and Hudson's now under construction.

"Sprinkling systems provide the most positive fire protection you can ever get," asserted See.

At the Miracle Mile Shopping Center in Bloomfield Township, scene of the recent $375,000 Yankee Store fire, only the J. C. Penney Co. has a sprinkling system.

A member of the Bloomfield Township Building Department said there is not an adequate water supply near the shopping center to serve sprinkling systems in all the stores. The center draws its water supply from wells.

The township has no law requiring sprinkling systems in the stores.

How widespread would firemen like to see the use of such systems?

"If I had my choice," said one Pontiac official, "I'd go for sprinkling systems whenever feasible — even in homes."

8,000 Urge an End to Sukarno's Power

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — An estimated 8,000 to 10,000 students marched on the Indonesian Parliament today to demand that President Sukarno's mandate of power be formally revoked.

The demonstration was orderly. Few troops were stationed around the Parliament building.

★ ★ ★

The students also urged that the Indonesian Congress — the country's highest legislative body — take a stand against Sukarno when it meets in March. Parliament members make up about half of Congress.

The students urged congress to order a full investigation of Sukarno's part in the 1965 attempted Communist coup and a trial of the president if necessary.

TEAR UP PHOTOS

The crowd tore up photographs of Sukarno with his former foreign minister, Subandrio, who has been sentenced to death for involvement in the abortive Communist coup.

Special troops remained in position around Sukarno's palace, but there was no indication the president was under palace arrest.

★ ★ ★

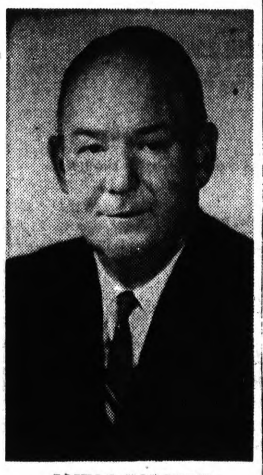
The 65-year-old president has been under what many term a "regional arrest" for several months. He is allowed to visit only his weekend palace in Bogor, 40 miles from Jakarta.

★ ★ ★

He has asked several times to visit east and central Java, where his support is still considered strong but army strong man Gen. Suharto has turned this down.

★ ★ ★

The troops are around the palace to insure that no hotheaded students attempt another march on it, some army sources said.



JOHN J. FORSHEW

Officers Picked for Country Day School Board

John J. Forshew of 1530 Glengary, Bloomfield Township, has been elected president of the Bloomfield County Day School Board, 1050 Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills.

Newell McCuen, 1044 N. Glenhurst, Birmingham, was elected vice president. Officers re-elected are Joseph Conway, treasurer, and Mrs. Charles Bricker, secretary.

Forshew is senior vice president of Campbell-Ewald Co., and McCuen is chief engineer of the General Motors overseas division.

Car Stuck in Snow, 2 Youths Robbed

Two 19-year-old Lake Orion males were robbed by three youths — one armed with a handgun — on Raeburn between Saginaw and Paddock, where the victims' car was mired in the snow, it was reported to city police yesterday.

Dale Shattuck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Shattuck of 3184 Indianwood, and Edward Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buel Williams of 405 E. Jackson, told investigators the assailants were all in their late teens or early 20s.

A jacket valued at $10, a wallet valued at $5 and $22 in cash was taken from Shattuck, while a jacket valued at $21, a wallet valued at $5 and an undetermined amount of cash was taken from Williams, according to the report.

Teen Arraigned

DETROIT (AP)—A fourth 18-year-old was arraigned Saturday in Recorder's Court on first degree murder charges in the robbery slaying of Joseph Wasilewski during a holdup of his drugstore last Monday. The youth, Ralph Williams, pleaded innocent and was remanded to Wayne County Jail pending examination Feb. 6. Three other youths stood mute when arraigned in Recorder's Court Friday.

DAVID LATHERS

Board Names Principal for Utica High

UTICA — The board of education has named David Lathers principal of Utica High School. He has served as acting principal since August in addition to his regular job of curriculum coordinator for the Utica Schools. The board opened up two new positions in the elementary and secondary levels to replace Lathers as curriculum coordinator. No one has yet been hired.

Lathers joined the teaching staff at Utica High School in 1952 immediately after receiving his bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University. He earned his master's degree from the University of Michigan while teaching in the Utica system.

Lathers was appointed assistant principal of Eppler Junior High School in 1961 and became principal a year later.

★ ★ ★

In July, 1965, he was named to the position of curriculum coordinator.

★ ★ ★

He and his wife, Mary and their six-month-old son live at 6258 Candler, Shelby Township.

Romeo Sewer Reconstruction

ROMEO — The future of a storm sewer torn up by the construction of the new Ford Motor Co. Tractor Division plant has occupied councilmen and company representatives here.

★ ★ ★

Ford last summer purchased 160 acres to the east of the village land which has since been annexed, and reported this week that it had taken up options on another 120 acres directly east of the present property.

In constructing its plant, it was necessary to tear up a sewer which ran diagonally across the property.

The question has been whether the company or the village would finance its reconstruction. No decision was arrived at during the council meeting.

★ ★ ★

Romeo council declared itself unable to meet any such expense.

Only 3 Killed in State Traffic on Weekend

By the Associated Press

Three persons died in Michigan traffic over the weekend—one of the lowest death tolls for a weekend in recent years.

★ ★ ★

State Police, in reporting the fatalities, said the snowstorm kept many drivers off the roads.

★ ★ ★

And, police said, hazardous driving conditions prompted most motorists to reduce speed and increase their watchfulness. On normal weekends, the death toll often soars to 10 to 25 persons.

STRUCK BY CAR

The victims:

Robert Bussey, 26, of Detroit, Saturday when struck by a car as he tried to flag it down on the Ford Freeway in Detroit's West Side.

★ ★ ★

Sanuel Nelson Russ, 66, Greenville, Saturday in a two-car crash on M57 in Oakfield Township, Kent County.

★ ★ ★

James Kazuo Okubo, 46, of Detroit, when his car struck a stalled vehicle on I-75 in Genesee County Sunday.

Talks Held on Union of Shelby and Utica

Area News

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — About 30 people, enthusiastic about the idea of a merger between Shelby Township and the City of Utica, braved bad roads yesterday for an exploratory meeting at the township hall.

★ ★ ★

Joseph Radanovich, 8691 Carriage Hill, was appointed permanent chairman of the study group, and another meeting was called for 2 p.m. Sunday, March 12, at Utica Senior High School.

W. F. Schuchard, executive secretary of the Utica-Shelby-Sterling Chamber of Commerce, said that representatives of all organizations in the two areas would be invited to attend.

He said the meeting would also be thrown open as a sort of preliminary public hearing.

Yesterday's meeting was called in response to results of a Chamber of Commerce questionnaire sent out in the two areas. One-hundred and two of the 119 persons responding to the questionaire were inclined to favor merger.

The recent failure of Utica's urban renewal vote has left that city temporarily without plans in regard to revitalization of its commercial area.

Some critics claim that the city is in danger of becoming a "ghost town."

Shelby's bid to incorporate as the city of Shelbydale went down to defeat last fail.

Promoters of the merger see in it the answer to both communitys' dilemmas.

State Restricts Service

Martin Bus Line Threatened

The Martin Bus Line, which provides intercommunity highway transportation for small towns north of Detroit, has been restricted to day-to-day operations.

The State Public Service Commission has threatened to revoke its bus line authority because of inadequate equipment and poor service.

Commission Chairman Peter Spivak said the commission would maintain a continuing check into conditions. If poor service is reported, he said the line would be ordered to suspend operations.

Martin Lines services the area between Highland Park on the south and Rochester on the north. Based in Royal Oak, it also services nine schools in the area.

★ ★ ★

Spivak said a final decision on allowing the line to operate will be made in January, 1968.

Five Petitions Cancel Need for Milford Primary

MILFORD—Only five persons have filed nominating petitions for three village offices making it unnecessary to hold a primary election.

A primary would have been required if more than two persons had filed for each office.

★ ★ ★

Appearing on the nonpartisan ballot in the March 13 election will be incumbent Wilbur M. Johnson for village president.

Running for the two council terms will be James H. VanLeuven, 203 Washington; Dale E. Barr, 767 Friar; Bruce E. Hutchins, 537 Mill; and incumbent Merlin A. Feigley.

Safety experts report there are over 1,000 substances in the home that are potential killers of pre-school age children, including detergents, bleaches, lye, drugs and cosmetics.

Zolton to Talk in Farmington

Wednesday Address to Dem Club Slated

FARMINGTON — Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency will speak at the monthly meeting of the Farmington Democratic Club at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the community room of City National Bank, Orchard Lake at 10 Mile.

★ ★ ★

He will talk on "The Future Party."

The club recently elected George Freedman, 21977 Tredwell, as chairman for 1967.

He was one of three new officers elected by the club. Others are Mrs. Suzanne Pell, vice chairman and Mrs. Marianne MacIlvaine, auditor.

★ ★ ★

Reelected to new terms were Mrs. Marie Mutschall, corresponding secretary: Mrs. Joyce Hungerford, recording secretary and John I. Bain, treasurer.

Freedman succeeds Aldo Vagnozzi, chairman for the past three years and twice the party's candidate for township supervisor.

Board Meeting Set for Milford

MILFORD — The Huron Valley Community Hospital Association board of directors will hold its annual meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at Muir Junior High School.

★ ★ ★

It is the second attempt to hold a meeting. Only a small number turned out for the first meeting last month, according to a spokesman.

MSU Has 'Penthouses' for 500 Guests

EAST LANSING (AP) — "Mink in the penthouse" is not the title of a pulp fiction effort but rather an apt description of new research at Michigan State University.

It raises unusual problems.

When 500 guests show up wearing mink coats and demanding fancy living quarters, you can't afford to keep them around too long.

MSU has 500 such guests, and scientists are busy figuring ways to cut corners on their meals and send them packing as soon as possible.

Not only that, most of them will have to turn in their mink coats when they leave.

The guests are mink, and MSU just finished building research facilities which provide 500 individual cages for them, complete with "penthouse."

The penthouse is for nesting and resting. The lower part of the cage is for feeding and watering. Individual cages are required because of the mink's personality.

"Mink like nothing better than to vent their crotchety disposition by chomping down on stray fingers or playfully chasing each other to the far corners of their cages," said Dr. Philip J. Schaible, chairman of MSU's fur animal project since 1952.

★ ★ ★

"When mink bite each other they destroy the value of their pelts," he added.

PLENTY OF VALUE

There is plenty of value to destroy, too. Michigan's mink industry has an annual gross income of more than $7 million a year.

Current research is aimed at speeding up the process that produces the mink's prime, glossy winter fur. This would greatly reduce feed, handling and housing costs.

The young mink usually are born around May 1 and reach adult weight by Sept. 15, but are not ready for pelting until about Thanksgiving.

★ ★ ★

While mink are on the ranch, MSU researchers have found they can be fed with such low-cost items as "spent" chickens — hens that no longer are efficient egg producers.

MSU has one of the few university facilities for fundamental mink research and has drawn worldwide attention from both mink ranchers and other scientists.

Funds from the Mink Farmers' Research Foundation helps support the research.

Pelts from the MSU mink operation don't make much direct impact on the market, Schaible said.

"A lot of our experiments are way out," he explained. "We make the mistakes for the rancher. Our quality wouldn't be up to that of a commercial ranch."

Some of the pelts are of little value, some are saved for demonstration purposes and a few are sent to auctioneers for their evaluation of results of MSU's mink management. Proceeds from the auction go into the MSU general fund, Schaible said.

"If we depended on returns from our mink sales, we'd tailor our research to get the most money," he said.

But, he added, the object is to find out more about mink nutrition and management.

★ ★ ★

"Although we have made considerable progress in our research, and mink production practices are being constantly improved, there appears to be little likelihood that there will be a drastic drop in retail prices for mink coats and stoles," Schaible said.

"Mink pelts are 'let out' for high-price garments," he said. "In this expensive process, specially trained workers cut minute chevrons into the pelts and then fabricate the pelts so that they are long and slim instead of short and wide.

"The modified pelts, sewn together in the finished garments, produce long, vertical lines with no joints between skins visible," Schaible said.

"This delicate handwork, done after the pelts are bundled and sold at auction, makes mink costs so high priced," he explained.

60 Solons Back Taxpayers' Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sixty senators are cosponsoring a bill by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., to set up what would amount to a small claims court for taxpayers.

Under Magnuson's plan, made public during the weekend, two small tax court commissioners would be named for each tax circuit to decide disputes between taxpayers and the internal revenue service over amounts ranging from a few dollars up to $2,500.

★ ★ ★

"Now, the IRS holds too many cards," Magnuson said. 'This would enable the average fellow, without the heavy expense and legal involvement of a court case, to obtain an impartial review by an officer outside the IRS."

Funeral for Exec

STURGIS (AP)— Funeral services will be held in Sturgis Wednesday for Charles C. Wade, 82, who founded the Wade Electric Products Co. Wade died at Ford Hospital in Detroit Saturday. He is survived by his widow, Elaine, and his daughter, Mrs. Carl Jorn. Wade played a leading role in the development of the sealed beam headlight system.

Air Rescue in N. Viet Full-Scale Operation

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States is sparing no effort in air rescue operations over North Vietnam.

The operations are commanded and coordinated by a squadron of HC130H transports on the scene, and scores of airmen risk their own lives daily to rescue downed fliers.

Maj. Harry J. Geller of Coral Gables, Fla., is a commander of one of the supermodified troop transports that circles Ho Chi Minh's northland daily.

Code-named a "Crown," Geller's four-engined ship is designed to cruise for long periods on just two engines.

★ ★ ★

The HC130OH can take off from airfields in South Vietnam and fly north at speeds up to 370 mph.

Once the big turbojet is in position, two of the engines are shut down and the Crown cruises at about 150 mph.

The HC130OH carries an aerial recovery device for snatching downed airmen or agents from behind enemy lines.

During a recent operation over North Vietnam, Geller's copilot, James B. Studley of East Orleans, Mass., received a mayday call from a flight leader who had lost one of his wingmen.

"This is Tempest lead," was the call. "Tempest three has been shot down. I have (seen) two good 'chutes.'"

GIVEN POSITION

Studley was given the crashed plane's position and called for fighter cover for the crewmen who were parachuting to earth. American jet fighters would protect the rescue force from any MIG attacks.

Geller called in propeller-driven A1E Skyraiders to circle the downed pilots. The seven-man crew of the Crown began to coordinate the rescue operation.

Navigator Capt. E. Russell Nunnally Jr., Dothan, Ala., plotted the pilot's positions and the Communist antiaircraft positions near the rescue area.

Radio Airman 1.C. John E. Antilozi of Morristown, Pa., called in "Jolly Green Giant" helicopters for the rescue pickup. Flying from either Thailand or South Vietnam, the big camouflaged H3C helicopters whirled towards the downed Americans.

Tempest leader called in again, "One pilot has an injured back. The other has a broken leg."

Studley called in Air Force KC135 tankers to refuel the orbiting jet fighters soaring over the rescue operations on the lookout for MIGs.

When the HC130OH began its 150-mph orbit, M. Sgt. Oliver A. Morris Jr., of Knoxville, Tenn., began to relax. He knew it was going to be a long day.

Tech Sgt. Hildabrand Marsh of Vacaville, Calif., guided the Crown with the automatic pilot. This was to be Marsh's job for the next six hours.

IN THE AREA

The Skyraiders called in to Geller's Crown: "We are in the area. We have four Sandies (Skyraiders) and Jollies (helicopters). I have you in sight."

The Sandy pilots flew over the downed airmens' positions. "Area seems clear. Jolly leader, you're clear to descend for pickup."

Then the fighter pilot added, "Sandy lead and Sandy two I'll cover you—good luck."

★ ★ ★

Geller and his six-man crew maintained radio silence as the rescue drama unfolded beneath them. The air rescue professionals were risking death to save two American lives.

"Break right Jolly, you have ground fire from nine o'clock."

The 150 MPH Helicopter began taking evasive action. "Breaking right, we're hit . . . No great damage. Hose them down."

The Skyraiders began strafing the North Vietnamese ground troops. Three times, the Jolly Green Giant was hit by ground fire. A paramedic was wounded by the Communist fire. The chopper's rescue hoist cable was damaged.

★ ★ ★

Jolly leader could not make the pickup and headed for home.

"Crown" called for more jet fighters and aerial tankers to refuel the thirty jets. Additional Skyraiders replaced the two Sandies who were running low on fuel and ammunition.

"The second helicopter called in to Geller's command post. "Jolly two going in again."

"Roger Jolly Two," answered the Skyraider flight leader. "Sandy One and Two will strafe left and right of downed pilot, Sandy Three and Four will cover us."

★ ★ ★

It was beginning to get dark over North Vietnam. Sgt. Marsh was still guiding the Crown ship in its orbit.

On the ground, another search mission is underway — North Vietnamese soldiers are sweeping through the jungle looking for the injured American airmen.

"This is Jolly-two. We have one pilot on the hoist". The rescue helicopter fights the darkness and Communist ground fire, but it is time to go home.

If the injured American pilot survivies the night, they may be able to get him at dawn when another crown comes along with its complement of Sandies and Jollies.

FAMILY AFFAIR — Mrs. James M. Tubergen and her 10-year-old son, Steve, believe in coincidences now. Mrs. Tubergen broke her right ankle and Steve his left leg within minutes of each other while skiing. The accidents to the Grand Rapids residents were so close together that Mrs. Tubergen had to wait for the ski patrol to care for another accident victim — her son — on a different slope.

Called Firearms

Cuff Links Require a Permit

LONDON (AP)—Before he could wear his American-made cuff links, Michael Levy, 36, had to take out a permit.

"I laughed out loud when I first heard about it," says Levy, "but it's true. They've seriously made me take a firearms permit."

Levy has taken delivery of the silver links after a three-month hassle to clear them through a British customs.

He had to hire a lawyer, secure a Board of Trade import permit, apply for the firearms certificate, and let the police inspect the cuff links.

"The incredible amount of red tape had been making me angry," said Levy. "Then when the police arrived and seriously asked to inspect the cuff links I began laughing."

ASKED WHY

When he asked the police why they wanted to see them, one of the bobbies replied:

"They come within the Firearms Act of 1937."

After the inspection, Levy was given his firearms permit and told he could wear the links.

"At one stage the customs wrote and said they had seized the links and impounded them," he explained.

"They are in reality miniature pistols. Of course you can't shoot them and if I could I wouldn't. They are only about two inches long."

Levy said the original $17 cost of the links has doubled.

"They're worth it, though," he added. "They've got real novelty value now."

From time to time, of course, he will have to renew his firearms permit.

It Seems to Me . . .

Shortage of Operating Funds Is Pontiac's Major Problem

Pontiac's City Commission faces one of the most important problems of the current decade.

More money is needed.

It's absolutely necessary.

The City is fortunate to have the seven current Commissioners entrusted with this big problem. They are shrewd, economical and careful in reaching their decisions.

Costs are held down.

Money is spent wisely.

★ ★ ★

Further, City Manager Joseph A. Warren has handled himself wisely and well in meeting vexatious problems. Today all business faces situations that it never confronted before. Often these are peculiar unto themselves with no general precedents from the past to suggest solutions.

★ ★ ★

As an example, Pontiac's police force actually went on strike and the condition was so unprecedented the fact was flashed across the Nation by news services. The unfortunate publicity was widespread and even within the past week your humble scrivener read a rather scathing but justifiable reference to the disgraceful happening in a magazine. Our City Management faced it fairly and brought about an equitable solution so we escaped the stigma of further notoriety on the Nation's front pages and in critical editorial comment.

★ ★ ★

Now the Commission is hamstrung by the ancient 10 mill limitation which can only be lifted by a vote of the people. Hence, unless some Wizard of Oz produces chunks of gold through sheer legerdemain, we may face the polls as the only way out.

The City Commission awaits the recommendations of the special study committee which was named to evaluate the situation and make specific proposals. This should be in by the 10th of February and will be very important.

★ ★ ★

Not too long ago, Pontiac voters turned down a city income tax. A similar demand was in the offing at Lansing and Governor Romney now gives every indication of asking for the measure shortly. A State income tax should take precedence over a City income tax. Two taxes on this income are plenty. Some believe they're too many. We've long had a gigantic Federal exaction and the probability of a stout State addition leaves citizens rebellious at the very thought of a third bite from this disappearing pie.

★ ★ ★

The PRESS commends the Commission for the businesslike way City affairs have been administered in general. We're in sound hands. These seven savants should come up with the best answer possible after listening to the special study group.

Citizens must recognize the urgent need.

It's Pontiac's major problem.

If we face a vote to lift the 10 mill limitation, then we must go to the polls.

More money is a necessity.

There's no alternative.

★ ★ ★

Those "in the know" estimate we would have to lay off 35 or more current employes if we stand still.

It's unthinkable.

We're actually short now.

Pontiac has been operating economically for several years. But the financial demands on the City haven't remained stationary. They couldn't. America has been swinging merrily along on a broad inflationary highway. No city anywhere has been able to dodge the inescapable facts. Wage scales have gone along with general business.

★ ★ ★

There can be no exceptions.

No one can hope for that.

Therefore, the City Fathers must offer the least painful tax plan the study committee can evolve.

We stand at the crossroads. Our local industries are forging ahead as they never have before and it is up to the rest of us to face the current emergency and prepare to pay the added costs most communities have tackled already.

★ ★ ★

We can't lag behind.

We can't step backward.

Remember, if the 10 mill amendment is lifted, industry will face the largest segment of the increase. It won't fall on you. America is moving forward as no nation ever has in history. Pontiac can't beat an ignominious retreat.

Diplomat Parking Woes . . .

For years, New York traffic officers have been ordered to let visiting diplomats park automobiles almost anywhere.

This seems idiotic.

Even New York thinks so now.

Potentates, diplomats and foreign dignitaries find their cars driven to the common round-up along with yours and mine. They escape the $45 redemption charge, but they face the trouble. That's some gain.

A few of these indignant souls threaten to "do the same thing to our people in their own countries."

Good.

What's wrong with that?

In fact, we urge it.

★ ★ ★

If U. S. officials abroad abuse the rules of normal decency and fair play, let them suffer. No one in this country will object.

Wanna bet?

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

NANCY AMES is one of the fine looking gals on TV, but on the PERRY COMO show she needed a different dress and a new wig. And if that hair was her own, she needs a pail of new dye. . . . . Overheard: "Why is the shortest distance between two points always under repair?" . . . . . In their newest film, "The Comedians," for the first time, RICHARD BURTON draws more pay than his wife. . . . . Letters to TV stations pour in denouncing the cancellation of MILTON BERLE.

★ ★ ★

BARBARA

One of the attractive girls here for that JC contest was Barbara Morrison, of Romulus. She stayed with my wife and me. . . . . TV is uneasy over current polls which show a sharp decline in current listening. . . . .

David Lawrence Says:

End of 'Guideposts' Bodes Ill

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has surrendered partly to the expediency of practical politics but mostly to sheer frustration over the economic complexities of the day as he accepts the conclusions of his Council of Economic Advisers. For, after several years of experience with so-called "guideposts" as a supposed restraint on wage-and-price rises, the council finds it necessary to abandon them and to tell both business and labor that hereafter they are on their own.

LAWRENCE

This could mean the biggest wave of strikes and most costly interruptions of business that have been witnessed in a long time.

Union leaders naturally are pleased that the "guideposts" are no longer to be officially revered.

★ ★ ★

But the cost to the American people is incalculable. Already the auto industry is laying off thousands of workers due to a slump in sales.

LABOR CONTRACTS

Labor contracts expire this year in many big industries—autos, railroads, trucking, metal mining, rubber, farm-equipment manufacturing and meat packing.

The president is asking that business and labor apply "the utmost restraint and responsibility in wage and price decisions." But this is not likely to be regarded as anything but an exhortation without practical value.

★ ★ ★

There is nothing left to do except to impose wage-and-price control by law.

ANTAGONISM

The president is reluctant to do this as it might antagonize labor and lose him political support in the 1968 election.

The economy might be artificially stimulated, of course, until after the election. But if public confidence meanwhile weakens, the administration could find itself compelled belatedly to put into effect wage-and-price controls although they are unpopular.

★ ★ ★

The mere threat of it in the meantime, as well as fear of a diminished demand by the consumer, might become a major influence toward self-restraint.

Bob Considine Says:

'Monkey Trial' Defendant Gives His Views of Case

NEW YORK — John T. Scopes, an indelible but little-known figure in American history, has finally revealed himself in a book titled "Center of the Storm," which Holt, Rinehart and Winston will publish in February.

CONSIDINE

Scopes was convicted in Dayton, Tenn., 41 years ago for teaching that man descended from apes.

The incredible "Monkey Trial" was dominated by almost every principal except the defendant.

The stifling courtroom was a stage on which strode Clarence Darrow, William Jennings Bryan, Dudley Field Malone (who was renamed Deadly Fumes Malone by Bugs Baer), Arthur Garfield Hays and the cream of the world's reporters. Henry Mencken's derisive essays on the proceedings will be required reading as long as journalism is taught and practiced.

The trial is as much of a perennial feature as the anniversary of the Johnstown Flood, the Blizzard of '88 and Pearl Harbor.

★ ★ ★

It inspired a fine play and motion picture, "Inherit the Wind," has been the subject of books, articles and debates beyond calculation. Yet during the trial and ever since, Scopes, the eye of that hurricane, has remained a kind of un-person.

'KINDLY COOT'

The book will illuminate him as a kindly coot who was more startled than anyone else to find himself being measured for immortality.

The case was never resolved. Darrow's strategy was to take a guilty verdict and appeal on grounds that the law under which sentence was imposed was unconstitutional.

The conviction was reversed, however, on much less noble grounds: The jury should have set the fine, not the judge.

★ ★ ★

The law is still on the books in Tennessee.

. . . . . Ad in Oregon paper: "Joe W—— get in touch with me at once. Bring three rings — engagement, wedding and teething. Have news for you. Alice." . . . . . Cobo Hall in Detroit should pick up a lot of the $300 million annual business lost in Chicago as a result of that unfortunate McCormick fire.

GENE SARAZEN suggests making all golf cups half an inch larger. As a member of a greens' committee, I proposed doing this on our 18th hole, but Chairman BILL HOLT just looked down his nose at this brilliant idea. . . . . Probably the dullest, most boring period in current football was NBC's horrible half hour before the AFL East-West game. Advertised to start at 4:00, you were cheated for 30 dreary minutes. . . . . Committee Reports Government Spending

The election reflects the electorate's will materially to reduce government spending. Despite this, in his State of the Union broadcast the President proposed unrestrained spending. For fiscal '67 he estimated a $9.7 billion deficit; for fiscal '68 an $8.1 billion deficit. Unless the Congress passes a 6 per cent surcharge on income taxes each deficit would increase some $4.5 billion.

The President's foreign aid request for fiscal '68 will be mentioned publicly as about $3.2 billion. But fourteen other separate budget items include Public Law 480 and support for eight International Organizations with lending power of billions. In fiscal '67 unliquidated funds from prior years' authority, plus $8 billion in new appropriations make available for foreign aid expenditures $25 billion!

★ ★ ★

With few exceptions foreign aid has failed to achieve its announced objectives. Proponents admit were the issue put up to the electorate it would suffer a crushing defeat. Our ever increasing debt demands drastic reduction of spending. But no spending program is as deserving of deep cuts as is foreign aid.

Student Complains About School Lunches

I am sick of the lunches we are served at Waterford-Kettering High School. I know you can't find a meal like that anywhere for 35 cents, but who would pay 35 cents for such food? The school administration should not condemn a student for complaining. A closer inspection would help. I don't eat lunch and won't until something is done.

Disagrees With Need for Swimming Pool

Property owners in Highland and Milford, don't be misled by the board of education when they say no increase in taxes for the swimming pool, because it will extend the millage over a longer period. Taxes are too high in Highland for what we receive. We have little or no police protection, no water or sewers, and very little lighting, but the board wants atomic-age schools.

Question and Answer

I'm in my early forties, but someone accused me of lying about my age because I can remember all about penicillin when it was first discovered. He says it was discovered in 1929, but I sure couldn't read then. One of us is crazy—which one?

T. J. S.

REPLY

Neither. Penicillin was first discovered in 1929, but it wasn't put into practical use in medicine until 1941. That's probably what you remember reading about.

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Common Issue

Philadelphia Evening Bulletin

When 47 of the 50 state legislatures begin their 1967 sessions this month, there will be one overweening issue for all of them: taxes.

Most have gotten their legal reapportionment problems out of the way, but these solutions give them other problems. Because many states will have more urban representatives than before, the problems of the cities and metropolitan areas will get more attention — which means more taxes. Ideologically, there will be more balance, for the 1966 national elections also sent more Republicans to the state capitals as well as to Congress. Upwards of 600 G. O. P. legislators were added, as well as several Republican governors. This may bring different thrusts in social and economic programs.

★ ★ ★

State collections of taxes are rising much faster than are federal tax collections, and many state treasuries have surpluses from the present tax scales, which brought in a total of almost $30 billion. The paradox is that still more cash is needed to cut the backlog of unmet public needs.

★ ★ ★

In Pennsylvania, Gov. Elect Shafer and his two G. O. P. controlled state houses face pending increases of possibly $200 million, partially offset by the state surplus and increased tax collections. There is still a gap of from $70 million to $150 million.

New Meanings

Fad: Something that goes in one era and out the other. Forger: A man who goes out and makes a name for himself. Spartan: A person who can eat just one salted peanut. Tips: Wages we pay other people's help.

Obvious Authors

Charlotte Observer

People who write all those press releases that cross a newspaperman's desk aren't nearly as anonymous as they might think they are. In fact, it's possible to tell a great deal about them just by reading what they write.

For example, a press release from Washington says: "When the interstate highway system is completed in 1972 motorists will be able to drive from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific coast without stopping for anything."

★ ★ ★

Now that was obviously written by someone who has never driven more than 20 miles with one or more children in the car.

FIRST OF ITS KIND — The Post Office Department in Washington released this design for a Virgin Islands postal card. It is the first six-cent airmail commemorative card ever issued by the U.S. It marks the 50th anniversary of the purchase of the islands from Denmark. The issuance date is March 31.

AEC Chief Has Perspective

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg is always looking into the future and seeing wonders:

- Clean, smogless, nuclear-powered cities rising from deserts.
- Badlands made fertile with water distilled from the sea with nuclear power.
- Nuclear ships harvesting and herding animals in the oceans.
- Atom-driven spacecraft transporting men among the planets.

Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, comes honestly by his prediliection for prophesy.

Merely by looking backward in time he can get a pretty well-founded feeling for what may happen in the future.

★ ★ ★

Twenty-five years ago Seaborg was a young professor of chemistry at the University of California in Berkeley. Working with practically nothing—by today's laboratory standards — he and his colleagues produced and analyzed microscopic amounts of Plutonium-239 and Uranium-233.

PROMISE TO HELP

These man-made fissionable materials now promise to help provide humanity with all the energy it will need for centuries to come.

★ ★ ★

But Seaborg and his associates had no idea back then what directions nuclear developments would take. They could not have dreamed of the marvels they were helping to conjure up.

WASHINGTON — Brain chemistry is definitely affected by stress, isolation, noise and other environmental changes, the American Association for the Advancement of Science meeting here was told.

Using mice and other animals, a symposium including a husband and wife team — Drs. Bruce and Annemarie Welch of the University of Tennessee and the Oak Ridge Institute for Environmental Studies — reported that the output of three compounds in the brain affects animal behavior and response. The amount of chemical substances regulates transmission of specific nerve impulses.

The compounds are noradrenalin, or norepinephrine, as well as dopamine and, to a lesser extent, seratonin, affects behavior.

The researchers said they were able to measure a chemical substance in the brain that correlates with behavior. In some of the tests an inhibitor was injected that lowered the norepinephrine level so that animals could not remember to perform tasks such as pressing a lever.

Dr. Bruce Welch said he hoped the animal research would lead to understanding mental illness. Chemical control of neurotransmission has been controversial, he admitted in answer to questioning at a news conference, but the "weight of evidence" favors it, he said.

One test, conducted by Dr. Eugene Bliss of the University of Utah, consisted of a "combat situation" in which a submissive mouse was put into a cage with an aggressive mouse.

After the meek mouse had been thoroughly frightened by an attack, its brain was examined for chemical compounds In another test, electric shocks were given through the mouse foot pads.

Sato's Party Wins Lower House Vote

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's party won another big but reduced majority in Japan's Lower House elections Sunday, weathering charges of corruption and turning Communist China's turmoil against the leftists.

The majority for Sato's Liberal Democratic party was cut from 99 seats in the Lower House elected in 1963 to 68, and their percentage of the popular vote dropped from 54.67 in 1963 to 49.09. But eight of the nine independents elected are likely to support the Liberal Democrats, raising their majority to 84.

★ ★ ★

The chief opposition party, the pro-Peking Socialists, also suffered their biggest election setback in 17 years. The Communists, who claimed to be independent of both Moscow and Peking, failed to win as many seats as they expected although their percentage of the total vote improved slightly.

Gains were scored by the Komeito (Clean Government) party, political arm of the Buddhist Soka Gakkai sect, and the Democratic Socialists. Komeito, contesting a national election for the first time, won 25 seats and the Democratic Socialists increased their holding from 23 seats to 30.

It was an impressive debut for Komeito, which ran only 32 candidates.

Despite their losses, the Liberal Democrats scored a significant psychological victory by winning more seats than even Sato had predicted in the face of adverse preelection polls, some by his own supporters.

With more than 47 million Japanese voting, or almost 75 per cent of those eligible, the final unofficial tally showed this of the 486 seats:

Liberal Democrats 277, Socialists 140; Democratic Socialists 30; Communists 5; Komeito 25; independents 9.

ENLARGED

The Lower House, which has major legislative power in the Japanese Diet (Parliament), was enlarged 19 seats to give urban areas greater representation.

Sato had predicted his party would win 270 seats, a prediction generally considered optimistic. The Socialists had boasted they would win 170 seats to gain a third of the House and the power to block constitutional amendments which require a two-thirds majority. They failed to win as many seats as they had in the old, smaller House.

Tug Strike Perils NY's Fuel Supply

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Harbor tugboat crewmen have gone on strike, sharply curtailing port activities and posing a threat to the city's fuel oil supply.

★ ★ ★

The first casualty of the walkout which started Sunday was the cruise ship Victoria, which bumped into her Hudson River pier while docking unaided. The bow was damaged but no injuries were reported among the 277 passengers and crew of 135.

Fired Official Quoted

Reagan Role in Ouster Told

NEW YORK (AP) — Clark Kerr, fired as president of the University of California, is quoted in this week's issue of Newsweek magazine as saying the move to oust him began late last year and that Gov. Ronald Reagan's role in his dismissal was "very substantial."

★ ★ ★

Newsweek quoted Kerr as saying in an interview:

"There was a strong suggestion from a close supporter (of Gov. Reagan) that I resign prior to Jan. 1. And the governor privately met with some of the regents the week before the action was taken."

★ ★ ★

A majority of the 16 regents voted to fire Kerr immediately on Jan. 20, resulting in a furor that raged the length of the state and into academic circles across the nation.

Milliners Want to Cover You

NEW YORK (UPI) — The millinery industry wants the salute to read "hats on" instead of "hats off."

★ ★ ★

Its grand design for putting hats back on bare-headed females includes bold, new colors, new lightweight materials, new shapes or new versions of familiar ones, more accent on young looking chapeaux, and hats that pack readily.

★ ★ ★

The time was when the white hat was the tradition of spring.

★ ★ ★

It's still very much on the scene, but colors like bright green, orange, yellow, clear pinks, and the range of blue-greens have moved in.

Add on splashes of patterns in bands or brim linings.

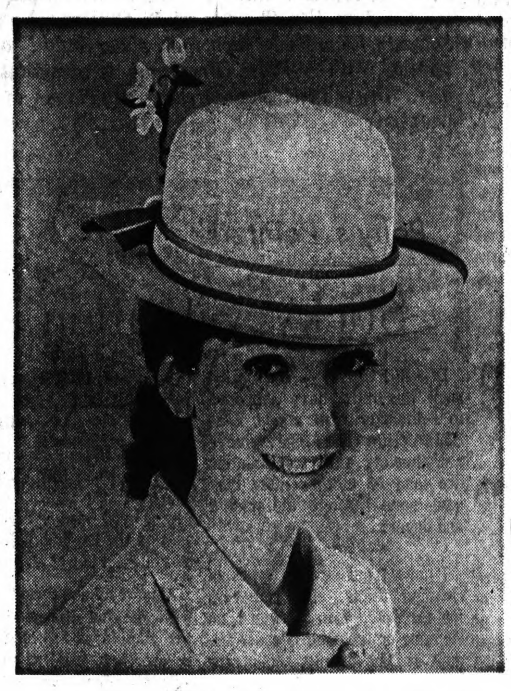
Hats look, and must feel, much lighter on the head. Numbers of organdies, organzas, linens, chiffons, even paper are on the spring scene.

★ ★ ★

Shapes include the visored, newsboy hat, versions of jockey caps, berets worn well back on the head and of puffy fabrics or straws, big floppy brimmed numbers plain or with floral prints or stripes lining the underside of the brims and snoods made entirely of assorted flowers.

★ ★ ★

Others are sailors with waist-length ribbon streamers down the back, helmets with narrow underchin straps, coolies, wide brimmed numbers with the brims rolled off the face in front, turned down at the back, and copies of men's hats.



It's the last word in elegance—the first thought in fashion — the perfect accent for spring. A hat to really lift your spirit. By Amrose.

Occasionally, there's a hat to fall in love with, and this is surely one of them. It's a total "fall" of lightest flowers, set off from the face with even softer chiffon. By Emme.

Shopping Clues Will Guide You to Spring Hat

Bright and light are the keys to the spring. Bright colors — light and airy materials that add to your active, sporty, tailored and even dressy costumes. Wearability is still a prime feature!

When shopping for a new spring hat, keep in mind:

- hats with matching accessories
- bright colors
- the new flattering and lightweight materials
- packables for spring and summer travel
- action hats designed to be a part of your active life
- a most versatile and exquisite brim story
- the continued emphasis on pure silhouette
- the new, new look to flower hats

And for the summer months ahead . . . a hat for every activity, every occasion . . . for the beach . . . for the swinger on a motorcycle . . . the hats for daytime fun . . . for going out evenings and the most beguiling, colorful assortment of brims of lightweight materials.

In the year of the print, wear an easy hat with any plain light dress (left); with or without the flattering scarf. By Amrose. Mr. John's super scoop of a hat in plain neat straw (right) makes for fashion and love at first sight.

AP Wirephoto

Pierre Balmain of Paris tops off his fresh tailored suits for spring and summer with these trim little bits of millinery. Between the green jersey peasant coif at left and orange organza coif at right is a saucy little sailor hat of yellow straw with dotted yellow blue silk trimmings around the crown and on the underside.

"Love's Labour's Lost" opens Wednesday evening at the Meadow Brook Theatre. The battle of the sexes in this early Shakespearean comedy ends in a draw. George Guidall (left) as Berowne, Roni Dengel as Rosaline, Terence Scammell as the King of Navarre and Barbara Caruso as the Princess of France join hands in a dance of love.

Someone May Take Her Money

Miserly Woman A Loser

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have an older sister who is a bit on the thrifty side. I should say "cheap" — but, after all, she is my sister. She married late in life and her husband passed away soon after, leaving her a nice bundle. She keeps it hidden somewhere. She won't put it in the bank where it can draw interest because she doesn't want anyone to know how much she's got.

ABBY

She could live like a queen, but she denies herself luxuries because she hates to part with money. All she talks about is the sales the stores are having. She never entertains because it costs too much, so of course she has no friends. How can I get her to realize she can't take it with her? HER SISTER

DEAR SISTER: You can't. But you should tell her that if she plans to take it with her, she'd better put it in the bank before someone finds the hiding place and takes it with HIM.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Some of my relatives and I are having a disagreement. They say that cigaret smoking stunts a person's growth. I say it doesn't. I have an uncle who stands 6 feet tall and he has been smoking since the age of 14, so I think I am right. What do you think? PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Your relatives could be right. You'll never know how tall your uncle might have grown had he NOT smoked.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: How do I explain my mentally ill brother to my fiance? My brother has been in a mental hospital for nearly 10 years. He comes home to visit twice a year for a week, and I visit him about once a month. (He is not in this city.) I don't know what type of mental illness he has, or how he got that way.

Mother said he had a "nervous breakdown" and is "confused." But he doesn't seem confused to me. He jokes a lot and is very thoughtful — even remembering people's birthdays.

I love my brother and want my fiance to love him, too, but mother seems ashamed of him, and has asked that I not mention him or his condition until after I am married. This doesn't seem right. What is your advice? ENGAGED

DEAR ENGAGED: You are tragically uninformed about your brother's condition. You have a right to know the facts, and so has your fiance. Have a talk with your brother's doctor.

And when you next visit your brother, invite your fiance along. Mental illness in the family is nothing to be ashamed of. I know of no family that has escaped it completely.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband is not speaking to me and I think I had a perfect right to do what I did. Here is what happened. You be the judge. Every year my husband's company puts on a big Christmas party. There are drinks on the house (I don't drink) and a big feed, after which everybody gathers for the program.

While we were eating I heard that as part of the program the boss was going to paint a picture of a dancing girl on my husband's stomach, tape a bow on his navel, and the girl would "dance" when my husband moved his stomach around. (I should have explained, my husband is fat and jolly.)

I told my husband I didn't care to see that kind of entertainment, and I made him take me home. Abby, I just couldn't watch such a vulgar display in mixed company. It's not my nature. My husband said I could have been a good sport for his sake and stayed. What do you think? MODEST

DEAR MODEST: Such Christmas parties are a pain in the stomach. But since you were already there, you might have busied yourself with something else while your husband and his boss made boobs of themselves. And remind your husband that "good sportsmanship" works both ways.

Villagers Set Two Dates for Benefit

"Bye Bye Birmingham" is the title of the Village Woman's Club's annual cabaret slated on Feb. 3 and 4.

The musical comedy was written by club member, Mrs. Wayne Spade Jr. and directed and produced by members, Mrs. Charles Himelhoch and Mrs. Ronald Nightengale, respectively.

All the costumes are designed and made by a committee within the club.

★ ★ ★

Two performances will take place each evening at 9 and 11 with cocktails and dinner preceeding the early curtain. For late show comers there will be dancing between acts and after the last curtain.

The annual event is sponsored by club members to aid the several charities to which they are committed.

All proceeds are donated for this purpose and among those recipients are the League for the Handicapped, Pontiac State Hospital and the Oakland County Sanatorium.

Mrs. Petrie Is Study Leader

Mrs. Merrell Petrie will be leader at Wednesday's meeting of the Parlimentary Study club when members and guests gather at 1:30 p.m. in the First Federal Savings of Oakland Building.

This will be a demonstration annual program amending constitution and bylaws.

Resolutions will also be discussed.

Jewelry Has a New Look

No matter what the value of the jewelry, the thing this year is to color it bright, says Ann Protto, fashion coordinator for the Long Island Diamond and Jewelry Exchange.

Very much in vogue is colorful enameled jewelry set with precious and semiprecious stones in a variety of pieces—from bracelets and earrings to flower-shaped pins to masses of diamonds and enamel in the shapes of turtles, frogs, poodles and other animal figures.

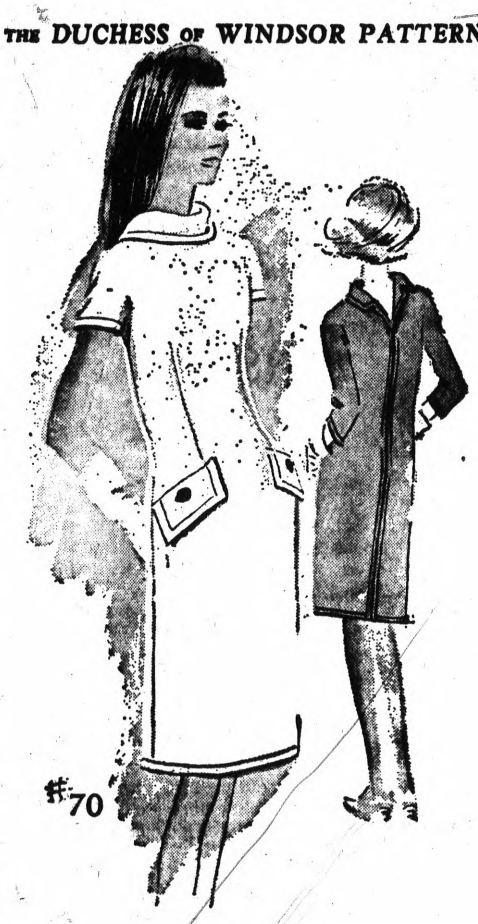
Tips Help You Name Mustache

LONDON (UPI) — What do "box car", "sloping box car", "stripteaser", mistletoe", "square button", and "walrus" have in common?

They are all names for upper lip adornment, as identified in the latest definitive work on hairdressing and wigmaking being published by the Hairdressers' Technical Council.

The book, by J. Stevens Cox, a third generation barber, is being snapped up by universityies which are using it to sort out descriptions of characters in literature.

THE DUCHESS OF WINDSOR PATTERN



The Duchess of Windsor likes collars in reverse, so we did that and added top-stitching. More top-stitching for the pocket flaps, sleeves and down the center back where the zipper is set in.

This is a slim little dress for traveling or days in town. Suggested fabrics are: Light weight woolens, shantung, linen and cotton.

Ties This Year Are Something

In case you haven't noticed, men's ties are going to four inches and wider.

The most dashing have dots larger than a quarter. Sample: yellow dots on green or purple field. "Gentlemen's Quarterly" sees a big future, too for the novelty ties.

One of these is half black satin, half black and white check and has a buttoned tab crossing the tie a third of the way down.

Write Them Fast Note About Items

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Several months ago, friends from another state stopped in while on their vacation. They stayed overnight. As they were preparing to leave, they asked if they could borrow a couple of items which they needed, and forgot to pack. They promised to return them by mail.

★ ★ ★

We are still waiting to receive them. Neither have we had a thank-you note from them. I wouldn't want to jeopardize our friendship, but do you think I could write and ask them about these articles? They are not expensive but would be rather difficult to replace.

What do you think is the best way to handle this situation?—Mrs. H.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. H.: I would certainly write them. A pleasant note won't jeopardize your friendship. Explain that you were looking for one of the articles and remembered that they had borrowed it — could they possibly return it soon, as you will need it for such-and-such an occasion.

Tell them how much you enjoyed seeing them, and I'm sure no hint of criticism will be inferred.

Charge Plates Expedite Things

BERRY, Ala. (AP) — Students at Berry High School have their own charge plates, but they're not good for borrowing they're not good for buying anything — only for borrowing books.

The school library has installed the system for more efficient check-outs and check-ins. Now it's simply a matter of placing a student's charge plate in a small machine which records that student's number and date on the book's check-out card.

Polly's Pointers

Sticky Situation

DEAR POLLY — Horrors! I knew this must have happened to somebody else and I need HELP. How does one remove red chewing gum from an entire load of clothes after they have gone through the washer and dryer?

★ ★ ★

I have tried several types of cleaning fluids, spot removers for tar, etc. Don't suggest an ice cube or freezing because the gum is too deeply set in the fibers for that. — HELEN

DEAR POLLY — Gum got all over my kitchen curtains when they were in the washer. As I ironed them, I put a folded paper napkin on each side, ironed over the spots and every speck of gum came out on the napkins. Since then I have tried this on many things and find it magic. It takes little time, too.

— SHIRLEY

DEAR GIRLS — I was really surprised when this worked for me, BUT the fabric must be dry or you will have a real mess as the napkins will stick to the gum if it is wet.

Also, it takes several strokes with the hot iron and refold the napkin so a clean part is on each side when more gum remains to be ironed out. Helen, I think this is worth a try but we all know that every remedy does not work in every case due to various circumstances.—POLLY

John Duras Take Plane to New York

MRS. JOHN S. DURA

The John Samuel Duras (Brenda Kaye Moore) left by plane for New York City after their vows and reception, Saturday, in the First Assembly of God Church.

Alencon lace highlighted an Empire gown of white satin for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bronnie Moore of Schoolhouse Drive.

★ ★ ★

A matching lace pillbox held her bubble veil of silk illusion. Red Sweetheart rosebuds centered the bridal bouquet of white Shasta daisies, pompons and ivy.

Honor attendants at the afternoon ceremony were Mrs. David Shields and Theresa Manuel. Bridesmaids were Jane Lehman, JoAnne Mattingly and Shari Kosiba, with Susan Moore, flower girl.

★ ★ ★

The best man was the bridegroom's brother Samuel. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Dura of East Rutgers Avenue.

Seating guests were U.S.M.C. Pvt. John Cojocar of San Diego, Calif.; John Bailey, David Schieb, John and Gary Bohas and Jerry Moore.

The bridegroom attends Oakland Community College.

Be Prepared for the Income Tax Man

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

How many of us, I wonder, will drop our Federal income tax returns into the mailbox without a nervous quiver?

"Will mine be audited this time?" asks that little voice out of nowhere.

★ ★ ★

The answer will come in due time. Trust the computer. But take heart. Many a taxpayer has survived an audit with no more damage than the loss of a few pounds he sweated off in anticipation.

If you're one of the chosen, you'll be notified — and usually told what area of your return is to be discussed, whether Expenses or Contributions or such. Just be sure you can produce all papers, records, canceled checks that bear on this year's return.

And do take the advice of those who've been there: don't try to justify any deductions by pointing out that the same ones got by LAST year. Just answer the man's questions.

You'll be given a date on which to appear. But you have the privilege of asking for a change if the original one is unduly inconvenient for some reason or another. And don't be surprised if the audit goes further than the specific area mentioned when you were notified. If your return warrants an over-all audit, it'll get it.

Now to some letters in today's "tax" mal:

★ ★ ★

Dear Miss Feeley:

My son goes to college in the city. I pay room and board for him for the four days he stays in. May I deduct this from my income when I make out my tax form?

★ ★ ★

He works when he is home for the weekends, which keeps him in spending money. He also works during summer vacations. How much is he allowed to earn?

R.H., East Patchogue, L.I.

Dear R.H.:

No, you can't deduct that part of his support which you pay for his time in the city. It's considered just part of the overall year's support for which you claim an exemption.

As for what he's allowed to earn, tax-free, it's $900. But he must file an income tax return, since his earnings amount to $600 or more. If his employers have deducted withholding tax from his wages, he can ask for a refund of this amount.

★ ★ ★

Dear Miss Feeley:

My wife passed away during 1966. Is there any provision for deducting her funeral expenses? Could there be a deduction from her income or estate, or from the husband's income this year?

H.H.M., Rochester, N.Y.

Dear H.H.M.:

No deductions allowed in either her federal income tax return or yours.

Dear Miss Feeley:

My brother and sister and I paid for more than half our widowed father's support in 1966. But not one of us contributed more than half the amount. How do we divide this up — or can we claim any exemption at all for our joint dependent?

Y.T., Dallas, Texas

Dear Y.T.:

★ ★ ★

One of you can. Decide among you who would benefit most by claiming the entire $600 exemption for a dependent. The ruling says that when two or more people together provide more than half the support of a mutual dependent, but no one individual alone contributed more than half, the exemption can be claimed by any one of them who provides more than 10 per cent of the annual support.

★ ★ ★

The others involved who contributed more than 10 per cent each must sign statements agreeing not to claim an exemption for the same person. Attach these statements to the return of the one claiming the exemption.

★ ★ ★

You can alternate the years in which each of you may claim the exemption, or settle it among you any way you like, as a private financial matter.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

The condition of the skin and the hair reflects the state of health. Hair, like the rest of our tissues and organs, is fed by our bloodstream. Therefore, the better the circulation, the better the condition of our tresses.

★ ★ ★

Many of the lotions and ointments which are used in combating thinning hair, stir up circulation. The hair is parted all over the head and the lotion is applied to the scalp, not the hair. As a result of increased ciruclation the scalp becomes temprarily pink.

★ ★ ★

You may stir up circulation in your scalp by giving yourself a massage every night or once some time during the the day. This, if done correctly, is most beneficial.

MOVE SCALP

Do it this way: Spread your finers and place them on your head. Keep your fingers in the same position, pressed against your scalp as you rotate your hands. Change the position of your hands until you have covered your entire head. In this type massage you move your scalp, not your fingers. Just rubbing your fingers over your scalp may be more harmful than helpful.

★ ★ ★

Remember, the health of the hair is affected only by what happens beneath the scalp, not on top of it. We can improve the condition of our locks by providing them with the essential foods for their health.

★ ★ ★

If you have dandruff . . . take it seriously. Think about your diet if you have been neglecting it. Try to avoid greasy foods, oils, fat meats, such as bacon and pork, cheese, shellfish, cream, rich desserts, chocolate, and whole milk. You should cut down on salt, carbohydrates, and highly seasoned foods.

RIGHT SHAMPOOS

You can overcome dandruff with adequate shampooing provided it is not severe. Shampooing is an important part of dandruff treatment.

★ ★ ★

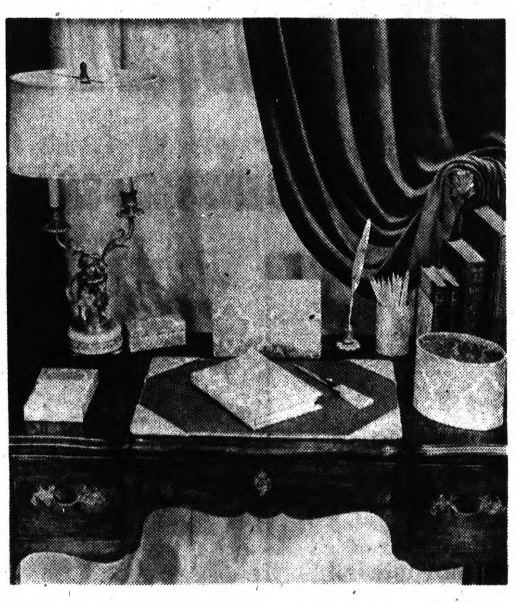
Hair should be shampooed once a week and if your hair is very oily, twice a week Use the special dandruff shampoos that are on the market.

Remeber too that skin problems and inflamed eyelids can be caused by having dandruff.

If you neglect simple dandruff, it may become a more serious problem and may also lay the foundation for thinning hair.

★ ★ ★

For more information about dandruff and hair care you may want to send for my booklet "Is Your Hair Thinning?" To obtain your booklet send 15 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.



Cling-Foil is a completely new adhesive backed product from Columbus Coated Fabrics Co. Its aluminum foil surface is richly embossed and beautifully printed with permanent vinyl inks. The damask pattern "Florentine" is used to cover commonplace desk accessories and give them an appearance of luxury and elegance. Cling-Foil has all the excellent properties of aluminum. It will not shrink; it is waterproof, sturdy, and cleans easily.

Notes From Ora

Most of the new Diamond Look hair styles will dress the hair upward and off the forehead. An open face look is expected to be established definitely by summer. However, wherever hairlines require, or brows are overly dominant, softly curved bands come to the rescue.

Hairpieces and wiglets are used freely for crown areas, for both day and evening. However, evening styles are all emphasized with greater detail and volume. In all coiffures, no hairpiece is allowed to trail any lower than an inch below the nape.

WATCHES ARRIVAL — American troops are beginning to move into the Mekong Delta area of South Vietnam where they will find a diverse population to receive them. With head wrapped in a towel as protection against the sun, a Vietnamese woman watches warily as the newcomers arrive.

Stoicism as War Rages

Delta Has Medley of Peoples

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — War has become as much a part of life as sunup and sundown for the people of Vietnam's Mekong River Delta.

The 1,000 American troops who moved recently into the populous, rice-rich region, and the others expected to follow them, will find groups as diverse in character and origin as they themselves are.

★ ★ ★

Some are hostile and uncommunicative; others smiling and gay despite the terrors which strike regularly at the delta's seven million inhabitants.

The war may materialize as a sudden Vietcong raid on a lonely hamlet and the execution of the local chief.

MORTAR ATTACK

Or it may come as a swift shower of mortar rounds lobbed indiscriminately into a district town. Or as an air strike against suspected enemy positions in a village.

Most of the delta's men, women and children are caught between the hostile forces in a war which hits them from either side.

A stoicism has developed in the peasants who farm the delta's rich rice paddies and fruit farms.

A farmer will continue to guide his buffalo plowing a rice field even as helicopters hedge hop a few feet above his head on their way to an objective. Often the buffalo has less self-control and stampedes while the farmer hangs on grimly.

DEPARTURE

When the fighting nearby gets too hot, a whole hamlet may move off down the rutted highways, the villagers with their meager possessions heaped on their backs.

But they soon return to renew the battle with nature that the crude life of a Vietnamese farmer has become.

★ ★ ★

The delta has a medley of peoples.

Most of them are Vietnamese, but under the hot sun and tropical seasons they are in nature more like the happy-go-lucky Malaysians and Polynesian races than their paler countrymen in the center and north of Vietnam.

MANY NAMES

Northerners say the delta people are lazy and slow-witted. The central Vietnamese call them boorish and unintellectual. The southerners retort that the central people are vague and overpolitical, and the northerners are aggressive and warlike.

The Vietnamese moved into the delta in the late 1700s, not much earlier than the French, as part of a general southward migration down the fertile coastlands of the country.

They displaced the Cambodians, of whom there are still about a million in the delta.

The delta people of Cambodian origin harbor some resentment toward the pure Vietnamese—a feeling which the Vietcong played on to recruit large numbers of Cambodians as they gathered strength during the late 1950s.

SHOPKEEPERS

The Chinese are the shopkeepers of the delta, a heritage which goes back hundreds of years in coastal villages.

The delta has proved fertile ground for evangelism, resulting in rapid development of the Hoa Hao and Cao Dai Buddhist sects.

The Cao Dai sect has French saints and colorful temples. The Hoa Hao, whose men are partial to long, straggly hair, occupy the delta province of An Giang, the most peaceful province in the region because of the inhabitants' strong animosity toward the Vietcong.

Failure of Biosatellite Felt at University in Colorado

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI)—When this nation's first large-scale study of the basic biology of space flight failed, Colorado State University had 1,000 reasons to be disappointed.

The reasons were 1,000 amoeba specially raised in CSU laboratories at Fort Collins for the biological space program.

The single-celled organisms were aboard the first of six scheduled biosatellites launched by the National Areonautics and Space Administration (NASA) at Cape Kennedy Dec. 14.

The mission was a failure. The space capsule failed to reenter the earth's atmosphere three days later because of an apparent retrorocket malfunction, so there was no recovery of the specimens inside the capsule, as planned.

★ ★ ★

Through the study of the microscopic organisms raised in Colorado, scientists had hoped to discover whether weightlessness or stress have any effect on amoeboid-like cells in the human body.

NASA officials say the next in the series of biosatellites could be ready for launch as early as March. But it probably will be delayed until the cause of Biosatellite 1's failure can be determined and necessary modifications made.

The second launch will be a repeat of the first, unsuccessful mission—a three-day, 47-orbit flight with recovery in the Pacific with a similar payload.

"Although man has survived space flights of several weeks' duration," CSU biologist Dr. Richard W. Price said, "science is still uncertain what happens at the cellular level during prolonged flight or when an astronaut is under severe stress at the time he is weightless."

Dr. Price, associate professor in the CSU Department of Botany and Plant Pathology, prepared for the unsuccessful December launch for two years.

DEVELOPED CONTROLS

He developed controls for the amoeba study and designed the hardware in which they orbited the earth.

In addition to weightlessness—the most important factor in space environment—the series of space projects will investigate radiation and the absence of the earth's rotations.

The CSU experiment is a dual one involving weightlessness and stress.

NASA scientists said weightlessness cannot be simulated in ground-based experiments. Therefore, there has been no way of knowing what—if anything—happens to a cell under severe stress at zero gravity.

Youth Training for 270 in State

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Neighborhood Youth Corps administration today announced approval of two projects to provide work and training for 270 in-school youths in Jackson and Battle Creek.

The Union School District of Jackson will sponsor a project to provide work experience for 140 youths. The Battle Creek School District will provide training for 135 youths. Total cost of the projects is estimated at $148,030.

'Clickety-Click' Railroad Men Are a Vanishing Breed

HILLSBORO, Tex. (AP) — The iron and wood slat seats are now empty and the paint on the walls is peeling away.

But the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railway Station at Hillsboro is not altogether deserted.

If the visitor listens hard enough, he still may hear the dot-dash clicks of the telegraph key and the sounds much as it was when the M-K-T came to Hillsboro in 1869.

W. E. Bradford, station agent, has sent millions of dots and dashes along the wires since he became an operator in 1917.

★ ★ ★

The Katy still uses the telegraph but most of its communications today are handled by radio and telephone.

Bradford, 69 but not thinking of retirement yet, uses what is known among telegraphers as a "bug."

It is a key which operates at a much faster rate than the classic old sender.

"I don't think my arm is what it used to be on this," he said. Still, he can click out code at a fast clip.

★ ★ ★

As a telegrapher, Bradford is one of a vanishing breed of men whose once hectic occupation has slowed to an ofttern lonely pace.

WINDOW CLOSED

The passenger window was shut at the Hillsboro depot two years ago.

A bird has built a nest in the broken pane of a formerly ornate gable window. The high-ceilinged office is usually quiet.

"When I went to work for the railroad in 1911." he said, "my job paid $5 a month and I realized $4.75 out of it, minus 25 cents for hospitalization. I was an apprentice at Pilot Point then.

★ ★ ★

"We got paid every 23rd of the month. The pay car — one engine and one car — would come through on that date."

AGENT PAY

Bradford recalls that station agents made about $80 to $85 a month in those days. A good telegrapher pulled in $60 to $75.

He left Pilot Point in 1917 on becoming an operator and ticket agent. His service includes a 15-year stint at Waxahachie, and he came to Hillsboro in 1957.

"When I worked the third trick (shift) in Waxahachie, I sent a lot of messages," he explained, telling how his telegraph key would be hooked directly with newspaper offices in Dallas and Fort Worth for ball games and special happenings.

Bradford said the M-K-T's "pet train" nowadays is No. 3, which runs from St. Louis to Houston.

KEEPING UP

He and other agents along the line try to keep up with where No. 3 is "so they won't run up on us" and maybe fail to snare an important message from the time-honored forked stick.

A typical exchange on the radio runs like this:

"Mr. Bradord, can you find out where No. 3 is?"

Using a telephone and the telegraph, he finds out and reports back:

ONE THE WAY

"Walter, he shot out of the Fort Worth yards at 1:25 and he could get here at 2:45."

A short time later, another voice comes on the radio:

★ ★ ★

"Mr. Bradford, this is No. 3. We're at the lake."

★ ★ ★

He acknowledges the engineer's call and steps outside to wave and deliver up a message on the forked stick if he has any traffic.

If there is a message for the train, it is tied onto the open stick with a slip knot of hemp twine.

Drug Fulfilling Promise as Heroin Cure

By Science Service

NEW YORK — After nearly three years of preliminary testing the drug methadone appears to have mulfilled its promise as an answer to heroin addiction.

Some 276 hard-core New York addicts treated at the Rockefeller University Hospital and Beth Israel Medical Center have lost their habits and none has returned to heroin — a 100 per cent success rating.

Methadone, a synthetic narcotic, acts by blocking the euphoric effect of opiates. Addicts thus get nothing from heroin and feel no desire to take it.

They must, however, be permanently maintained on methadone — 200 milligrams per day taken orally is the rate established by the Rockefeller researchers. But methadone lacks the toxic effects of heroin and once stabilized on the drug, addicts are alert, feel well and are apparently able to live completely normal lives.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Marie Nyswander, a psychiatrist on the methadone project, reports that 75 per cent of the male patients who had been on the program for six months at the end of 1966 were working full-time. Of the women, 50 per cent were working or taking care of their homes.

Tahiti Newcomer to Acting Is Pearl on Publicity Tour

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — What happens when you take a 400-pound Tahitian lady out of the islands, make her a movie actress and send her around the world on a publicity tour?

THOMAS

What happens is that she has a ball.

Jocelyne Lagarde was in Hollywood on the final stages of a tour that had taken her to Tokyo, Hong Kong, Paris, Stockholm, London, Berlin, Barcelona, Zurich, New York, Montreal, Chicago, Dayton, Ohio, and Kansas City. It was quite a trip for someone who had not been out of French Polynesia until she appeared as the queen in "Hawaii" two years ago.

She told her method of surviving the rigors of the journey: "Oysters and champagne. Everywhere I go, I order oysters and champagne."

Miss Lagarde was lunching in her Century Plaza suite on oysters and champagne. The casting of her as the warmhearted Malama was ideal, since in real life she exudes the outgoing spirit of Tahiti.

She is a handsome woman, carrying her poundage regally on her six-foot frame. Like most Polynesians — she is three-eighths Tahitian — she laughs often. But she frowned as she remembered one of her fellow players in "Hawaii."

"Richard Harris!" she exclaimed. "He was bad to me. When we do scenes together, he makes faces at me, and I have to laugh. The director say, 'Malama, you are supposed to be angry; why do you laugh?' It is because of Richard Harris."

Miss Lagarde had kinder memories of the other players: "Julie Andrews, she nice and sweet. But she was too high for me. She is big star, and I am just debutante. We get along okay, but she is reserved.

Wayne Jones just made the neighborhood Hall of Fame

Hands down.

You better believe it! If you don't, then try to tell the small-fry that the Michigan Bell Installer-Repairman isn't twelve feet high. Try to convince them there's no magic in his tool-loaded belt. Or that he's not the kind of man who goes out of his way to bring down a snagged kite or treed cat.

They know better.

Does Wayne Jones like being a hero? Why not? He's got children of his own. He likes and understands kids. But that's just part of his job in the Big Rapids area. There are new lines to install, repairs (sometimes emergency) to be made, and as Michigan grows, new areas to service. He likes all of it. The outdoors. His work. And the kind of future he can look forward to. If Wayne has to be a hero, he'd rather it came from the small-fry. Less embarrassing that way.

PINT-SIZED LAWBREAKER — Laura Ann Robillard, 18 months old, was ordered to appear in Arlington, Mass., District Court for violating the municipal leash law. Her pet pooch, Blaze, it appears, was caught leashless. Her dad, Lawrence Robillard, appeared in court in her place. The judge dismissed the case, but only after an order that the dog be registered in the father's name.

But That Doesn't Stop Yanks

Blarney Stone Is Not for Sale

BLARNEY, Ireland (AP) — "Neither the Blarney Stone nor any part of it is going to America or to any other place," said its owner. "But the people do still try to buy it."

Who tries to buy it?

"Americans mostly," replied Mary Penelope Hillyard, who inherited ancient Blarney Castle and its world-famous stone in 1952.

★ ★ ★

Americans?

"Oh, yes. Someone is always walking up here to the new castle and trying to buy it. When they find they can't get it, then they try to settle by buying our dog Kelly, or one like him."

GIFT OF GAB

Kelly is a tremendous Irish wolfhound who looks almost as Irish as the stone which is supposed to give those who kiss it the gift of gab. For at least 50 years, American have been trying to buy the stone, or chunks of it.

In 1949, John P. Hewlitt, who was born in Atlanta, Ga., actually announced he had negotiated to have it flown to the United States and taken on a nationwide tour, with proceeds going to charity.

★ ★ ★

But Sir George Colthurst, then the owner, said there had been a misunderstanding and the stone would never leave the castle for the United States or elsewhere, "because I doubt if I'd ever get it back."

After that Sir George wrote in his will: "It is my desire that as far as I can prevent it, the said stone, or any part of it, shall never be sold or removed from the old castle at Blarney."

MISFORTUNE FEARED

Speaking in a slow soft voice, Mrs. Hillyard says: "If the stone ever left our family, I think misfortune would overcome us."

The Blarney Stone is at old Blarney Castle. Mrs. Hillyard and her husband, Maj. Jack Hillyard, a retired British army officer, live at new Blarney Castle, a gray stone building about 100 years old and a quarter-mile from the old castle.

Shortly after inheriting the stone Mrs. Hillyard fell down some steps in the new Blarney Castle, but suffered no serious injury. Just before New Year's Day this year she had a nasty fall in the new castle and suffered a concussion.

"I am firmly convinced that the stone has brought me luck," insisted the owner. "I could have been killed, I suppose, in those falls."

BY THOUSANDS

The Blarney Stone is one of the world's best-known objects. People come by the thousands to kiss it, which is something of a gymnastic trick.

"We have no record," explained Mrs. Hillyard, "but as people have been kissing it for centuries, I'm sure it has been kissed by millions."

★ ★ ★

Why do they want to kiss it? Because kissing the stone is supposed to give the kisser the gift of oratory.

Does Mrs. Hillyard believe this?

"Of course I do, she answered. "I'm completely convinced that it does."

Others maintain that kissing the Blarney Stone can turn men into great lovers and politicians. In 1805, a book "Stranger in Ireland," carried this note:

★ ★ ★

"About four miles before we reached Cork on our left, my fair companion du voyage pointed out Blarney Castle with its turret. It is recorded that there is a stone there very nearly inaccessible which it is stated possesses the rare virtue of making those very happy who touch it."

In those days kissing the Blarney Stone was dangerous, for the would-be kisser had to be suspended head downward from the battlements, with a strong man holding his ankles — in order to get his lips on the stone. Should the holder let go, the fall is about 125 feet.

After a man was killed at the old castle, kissing the stone was made easier — and safer.

"The man who killed himself wasn't trying to kiss the stone," said Mrs. Hillyard. "He was doing acrobatics on the battlements and as he had quite a bit to drink, he lost his balance."

Two vertical bars now extend inside the battlements, straight down to the stone. By sitting down and leaning backwards, while holding to the vertical bars, a fairly agile person can easily plant his lips on the stone.

"I've done it many times with no one holding me," said Mrs. Hillyard. "It's not hard."

Car Race Film: Shades of '64

NEW YORK — (NEA) — John Frankenheimer's latest movie, "Grand Prix," a Cinerama spectacular about World Championship Formula I racing, brings to mind the 1964 Grand Prix season.

All that year Jimmy Clark, John Surtees and Graham Hill battled for the lead in the point standings.

It came down to the last race, the Mexico Grand Prix in Mexico City, and all three were in contention for the world driving title.

Graham Hill need only a third-place finish to win it. Surtees had to finish second and hope that Hill and Clark were out of the money. And Clark had to win, with Surtees no better than third.

★ ★ ★

Late in the race, Graham Hill was running third in his BRM, just ahead of Lorenzo Bandini, Surtees' Ferrari teammate.

TRIED TO PASS

Clark was leading at the time but, with Hill in third, neither Clark nor Surtees had a chance.

Bandini tried to pass Hill on a slow turn. He bumped the Englishman, knocked him off the track and out of the race. (There was an uproar but no judgment.)

It came down to the last lap and the five lead cars were tightly bunched, Clark still in front.

On that last lap the world championship changed hands three times, between Clark and Surtees.

ENDED UP FIFTH

In the hectic action, Clark lost it trying to hold his lead after Bandini let Surtees by into second so his teammate could win the championship. Clark, in his Lotus 33, ended up 5th and Dan Gurney (Where did he come from?) won the race in a Brabham.

Now let's get back to Frankenheimer's movie, which premiered here last week and soon will be released across the country.

Film critics gave it a "yes, but . . ." review. They praised the three-hour film's technical excellence and its incredible racing footage, but the plot and a few important characters got bombed.

RACING SHOTS

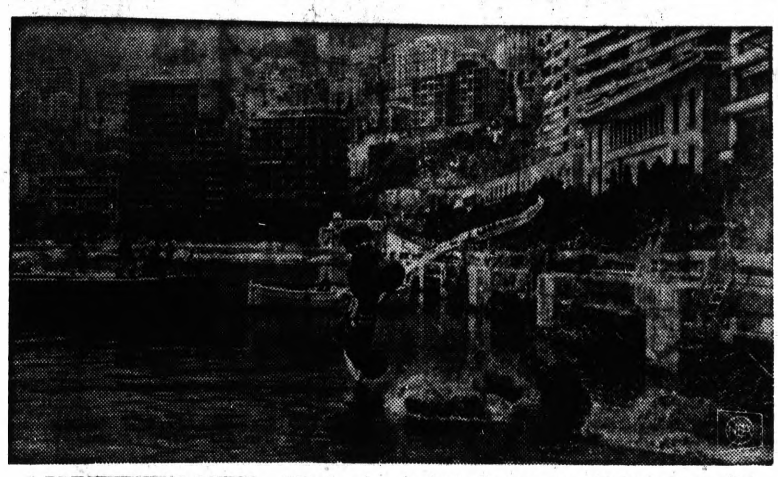
The racing sequences are beautiful. So is the sound. Except for smell-o-vision, you are there.

The plot does have some loose ends. And some of the characters (namely the ones played by James Garner, Brian Bedford and Yves Montand) do not come off as real racing types.

But the plot takes some critical lumps for the wrong reasons, which is why we've brought up the 1964 Mexico Grand Prix.

Frankenheimer has a down-to-the-wire situation in which the world championship is won (we won't spoil it for you) on the last lap in the last race.

Motor racing is speed and time plus competition and so the last-lap-last-race bit should not be considered hokey.



BREATHTAKING SCENE — This is one of the superrealistic scenes from the new Cinerama film, "Grand Prix," that is sure to make audiences gasp. It shows James Garner tearing off the Monte Carlo circuit into the Mediterranean Sea.

A DIRTY BUSINESS—The face and body of "tunnel rat" Pfc. Jerry L. Lawson of Phoenix, Ariz., were caked with mud and dirt as he emerged from a shaft of a vast Vietcong tunnel in Hobo Woods some 25 miles northwest of Saigon. Lawson of the 25th Infantry Division was one of many tunnel rats who probed the shafts and found documents, maps, orders and weapons along with 18 graves this month. This led officers to believe the complex had been headquarters of Vietcong's 4th Military Region, which covers Saigon and the capital area.

'Cedar Falls' Was Worth Cost, Say Army Planners

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Operation Cedar Falls, the biggest U.S. military operation of the Vietnamese war, ended last Thursday after 19 days. AP Correspondent George McArthur reviews the big sweep of the Vietcong's "iron triangle" north of Saigon and what U.S. commanders say it achieved.

By GEORGE McARTHUR

LONG BINH, South Vietnam (AP) — Ten days before Christmas, gangling Lt. Gen. Jonathan Seaman submitted the battle plan for the largest U.S. military operation of the Vietnamese war to Gen. William Westmoreland.

Westmoreland "bought it" after 15 minutes of study. On Jan. 8 Seaman, 56, launched a force of almost 30,000 men into Operation Cedar Falls, to search out and destroy the bases in the wildly jungled "iron triangle" from which the Vietcong guided battalions encircling Saigon 20 miles to the south and ordered the terrorists whose bombs rattled South Vietnam's capital.

★ ★ ★

Nineteen days later the operation was over.

"We have broken the back of the Communist effort in the area — it was a definite turning point in the war," said Maj. Gen. William De Puy, whose 1st Division infantrymen did much of the fighting.

1,000 AIR STRIKES

More than 1,000 air strikes were flown during the 19-day operation. Giant B52 bombers from Guam dropped 1.5 million pounds of explosives. Day and night, field artillery gunners rained uncounted rounds supporting Seaman's 21 American and seven South Vietnamese "maneuver battalions."

The Vietcong lost 720 dead and almost 600 weapons, an unprecedented proportion. While U.S. casualties for specific operations are not revealed, they were officially characterized as "light" and the ratio was roughly one American killed for every seven dead Vietcong, or about 100 Americans.

The Americans captured more than 2.7 million documents of varying sorts — the richest single haul of Communist records ever taken in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

A total of 516 prisoners surrendered or were captured, some of them party members with intimate knowledge of the vital Red headquarters in the area. Sorting the "big fish" from the lesser fry is still going on.

OPERATION COSTS

The cost of the operation in dollars isn't measurable.

"How do you figure costs on such an operation?" Seaman asked. "I don't know. If you add in such things as how much it cost to train a pilot or replace a dead infantryman, what good does it do you? We have a job to get done as efficiently as possible with the least cost in lives. I had rather spend resources than lives."

★ ★ ★

But the cost was worth it in the view of Westmoreland, Seaman and the others who planned and ran the show.

★ ★ ★

The seized documents alone are worth the cost, U.S. officers say. A report of the 1st Division says: "Some of these documents describe in detail the activities of Vietcong military region 4 from 1962 through 1966 and their intelligence value is tremendous. These documents contain the strengths of Vietcong units, the names of their members, the towns and villages in which they operate, some of their meeting places, and a great amount of information on exactly how they operate and what their future plans are."

503 SURRENDER

Almost all the 503 Vietnamese who voluntarily gave themselves up under the Chieu Hoi (Open Arms) program came in with leaflets carrying the allied surrender offer, although the mere possession of these leaflets can lead to the death penalty in Communist units. And these people were surrendering from a top Communist headquarters area.

Key Congressmen Agree: Lunar Project Must Go On

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Top-ranking members of the Senate and House space committees agreed today that the Apollo moon-landing program must go on, despite the fiery death of three astronauts.

Both Chairman Clinton P. Anderson, D-N. M., of the Senate committee and Chairman George P. Miller, D-Calif., of the House panel indicated they would wait for completion of a National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) investigation before deciding whether to launch their own inquiries.

"There may be some things we desire to ask after NASA's investigation is over. If they leave some things out, we will probably have an investigation," Anderson said.

"Nothing is definite at this point, however."

Miller said if the NASA investigating board's report is "clear cut", there would be no need for a further inquiry.

But Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., who is not a member, indicated he felt the Senate space committee should investigate the tragedy.

MAN WITHOUT GUN — Army medic David Kropp from Oklahoma faced taunts and jeers about his status as a conscientious objector — until the going got rough and he showed them he has guts.

Medic Branded Coward Until Going Got Rough

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CU CHI, Vietnam — Dave Kropp, 21, never fires a weapon, never throws a grenade and never kills the enemy in this war.

But no matter.
He's a soldier, anyway.

Nobody would have figured it. When he joined the 25th Infantry Division Kropp was branded a square. No drink, no gamble, no swear. If he got unusually angry he would say, "Dang!"

Then, word got out.

"The louse," one guy fumed.

NO CONNECTIONS

Kropp was a conscientious objector.

He had come by the title honestly enough. No political connections, no lofty theories on the legality of conflict, no condemnations of aggression. Kropp simply was and is God-fearing.

In Caddo, Okla., he had grown up in a loosely knit but strangely enduring religion with no name.

"Undenominational faith," it said on his draft papers. A sect with no church, no tithing, no headquarters and, unless somebody got up as a volunteer at the weekly fellowship meetings, no preachers. Just God-fearing.

★ ★ ★

People here, though, didn't understand. He was, to some, a coward. A man who would not pick up a rifle and fight for his country.

"Fink," was a name they used.

Or worse.

But no more. And never again.

Recently Dave Kropp, a combat medic, wrapped up the name-calling in bloody bandages.

He was in the jungle at the time. His unit, company-sized, was spread out in an imperfect circle and hugging the ground.

WALKED INTO TRAP

They had walked into a trap and a regiment of guerrillas surrounded them.

The fight was furious. The sound of rifles was endless.

Chunks were dug from the earth by automatic fire; bark was split from trees and hundreds of hand grenades dropped into the U. S. position.

★ ★ ★

Casualties mounted.

"Help me!"

"I'm hit."

"Get a medic over here."

DID ALL HE COULD

Kropp did all that he could. He wrapped wounds up with bandages from the victims' first-aid pouches. He picked pieces of shrapnel out of fragmented holes. He pulled fallen men back out of the line of fire. He cleaned and patched and comforted.

One of the early injured was hit in the back, the shoulder and just below the heart. He stopped breathing.

The medic spread him flat and instantly applied artificial respiration. But it didn't work.

★ ★ ★

Other operations, however, did work. And in the ensuing hours, Kropp saved at least two lives, possibly many others.

CHEST WOUND

One was a man with a sunken chest wound. A 30-caliber round had penetrated the GI's lung and air was seeping through the small hole in short gurgling rushes.

Kropp acted rapidly and confidently. He applied a large bandage which had been smeared with petroleum jelly. The cloth smothered the hole, the jelly was airtight, and the man began to breathe again.

"Am I O.K.?"

"Take it easy."

"Is it bad?"

"You'll be fine."

★ ★ ★

The medic bounced up and down between patients, partly from running, partly from ducking.

Eventually, of course, the battle ended. Reinforcements arrived. The company was rescued.

The survivors were comforted with cigarettes. Nobody offered the medic any, though.

Dave Kropp never smokes.

Rocky Would Give LBJ Toughest Battle---2 Dems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two top Democratic strategists agreed today that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller probably would give President Johnson the toughest battle of any prospective Republican candidate in the 1968 presidential election.

At the same time, there were sharply conflicting assessments of the relative popularity of Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., in two nationally distributed polls.

★ ★ ★

The Gallup poll, published Sunday in the Washington Post, reported voting-age adults said they preferred Kennedy for the presidency over Johnson by 48 per cent to 39 per cent. Thirteen per cent voiced no opinion.

But the Harris poll, also appearing in Sunday's Post, said Johnson led Kennedy by 56 per cent to 44 per cent.

SURVEYS DIFFERED

The newspaper said the surveys differed apparently because the Gallup poll was made Jan. 3-8, before Johnson's Jan. 10 State of the Union message and "before the peak of the controversy between the Kennedy family and Look magazine over the book 'Death of a President.'"

The Harris poll, it said, was taken between Jan. 14 and 22, after the message and while the book dispute was climaxing.

★ ★ ★

The two Democratic strategists, neither of whom permitted himself to be identified, voiced in separate interviews the possibility of Rockefeller's selection as the 1968 GOP standard bearer.

"He's seasoned in government and politics, he's able, he has the money and he knows how to spend it," one of them said.

ROUGHEST

"He'd be the roughest for us because of his knowledge of domestic and world affairs," the other commented.

Although Republicans apparently tend to accept Rockefeller's declaration that he never again will try for his party's nomination, some Democrats foresee circumstances in which he could be the compromise choice of a GOP convention searching for a winner.

The two Democrats, noting Rockefeller's ability to win a third term last November, believe his victory all but wiped out any political liability from his divorce and remarriage.

The birth of a second child last week seems to them to give him a family image he previously lacked.

AF SNOW BIRDS GROUNDED—Planes of the Air Force Reserve 928th Troop Carrier Group are shown snowed in at Chicago's O'Hare Field. The planes are based at the northeast corner of the busy airport, which has been closed to traffic since a record snowfall hit the city last Thursday and Friday.

Public TV Network Is Explored

NEW YORK (UPI) — The chairman of the Carnegie Commission on Educational Television envisions a public television network broadcasting as an equal partner with the present commercial networks but aimed at a select audience.

"The system, as we visualize it, will be directed at meeting the needs of the spedial audience, the diverse audiences that commercial television, because it has to drive for the largest possible audience, cannot always reach for," said Dr. James R. Killian Jr.

Killian, commission chairman, and former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina, a member, appeared yesterday on a national TV program.

In a report released last week, the commission suggested that a nationwide public television corporation be set up and financed by an excise tax of up to five per cent on new television sets.

The network would produce programs of public interest at a national production center and at each station's production studios.

Then, programs would be exchanged among the stations.

Senators to Air N-Warhead Development

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is developing intercontinental ballistic missiles with multiple nuclear warheads capable of breeching Russia's defenses, U.S. sources claim.

★ ★ ★

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara was certain to be questioned on the reported missile development today when he testified before the Senate Armed Services Committee and defense appropriations subcommittee for the sixth consecutive day.

Though information on the multiple-warhead weapons has been cloaked in secrecy, sources said U.S. officials believe the missiles will be able to get past Russia's new anti-missile missile.

McNamara has told Congress the Pentagon has to assume Russia will deploy an antiballistic missile (ABM) system around its main cities — "and we must be prepared to overwhelm it."

★ ★ ★

U.S. officials have disclosed that the Poseidon, which ultimately will replace Polaris missiles now carried by nuclear-powered submarines, will be a multiple-warhead weapon.

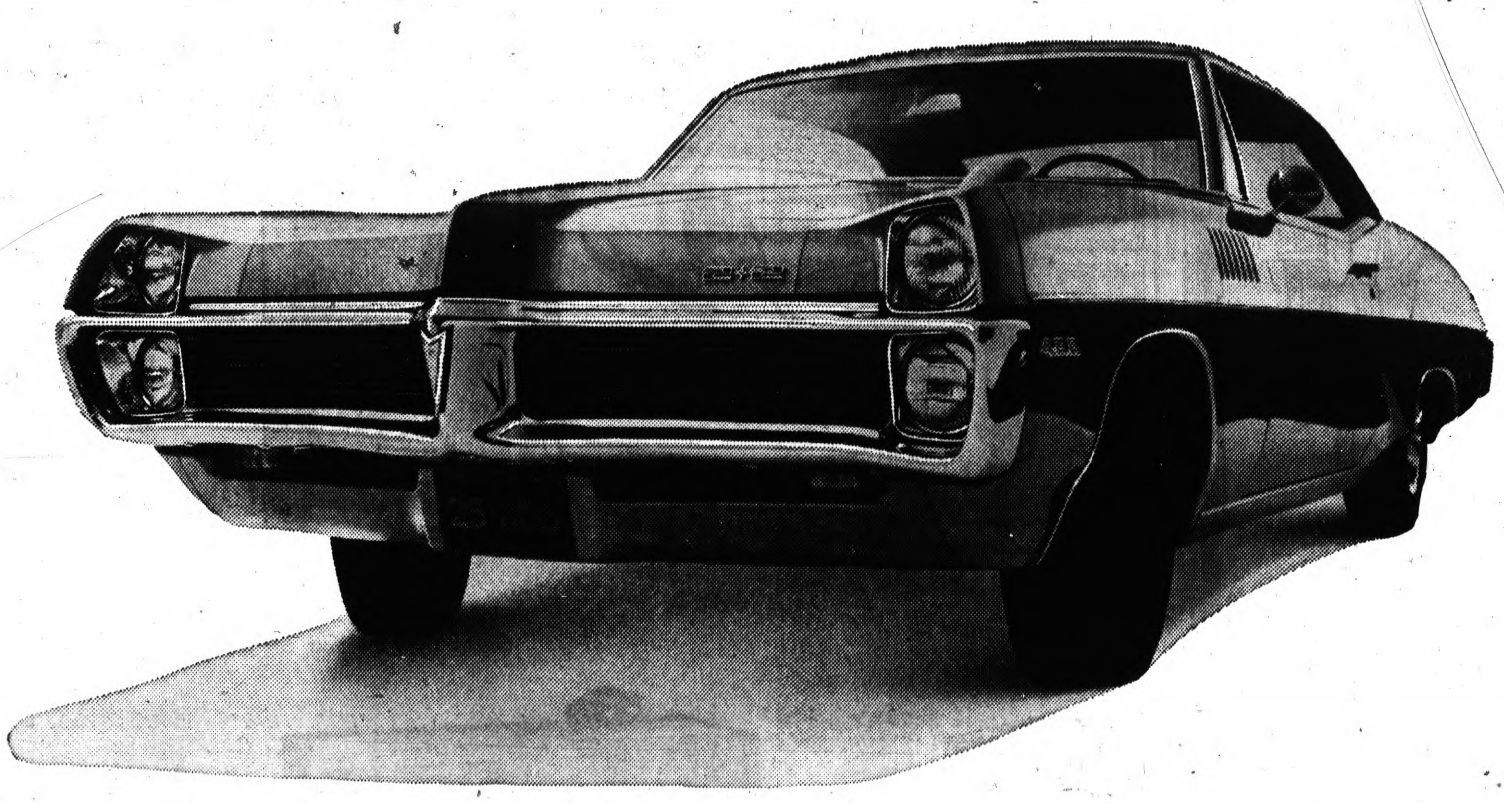
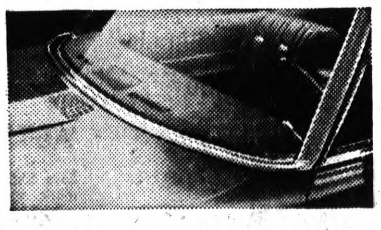
Notice how many new cars look like old Pontiacs?



What'll they copy next year?

Other carmakers have already tried to copy our split grille, our stacked headlights, even Wide-Track. Of course, they haven't learned how to put them together right. Which is probably why people are buying 1967 Pontiacs even faster than 1966 Pontiacs. And 1966 was our best year ever.



It seems that a lot of people don't want to wait around for innovations like our disappearing windshield wipers (articulated, wide-sweep wipers—the kind you still get only on Pontiacs).

And for imaginative options like our exclusive hood-mounted tach.

People like the idea that powerful 400 cu. in. V-8s are standard on all the big Pontiacs this year. And that nobody has even come close to the regular-gas 165-hp Overhead Cam Six that powers our Tempest series.

And people like knowing that all Pontiacs and Tempests come with the complete General Motors safety package.

Of course, somebody else may come up with a pretty good imitation of a 1967 Pontiac. In a year or two. But why wait? Your Pontiac dealer has the real thing right now.

'Super' Red Missile Defense Disputed by Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials discounted today a magazine report that the Soviet Union has developed a missile defense system capable of neutralizing U. S. nuclear weapons.

U. S. News & World Report, in its Feb. 6 edition, says the Soviets have perfected an "X-ray effect" device to destroy incoming missiles "while they are hundreds of miles from their targets."

The article says shielding used on the warheads of U. S. missiles is unable to halt most of the X-rays.

A Pentagon source disputed the claim, saying the shielding on long-range missiles cannot be penetrated by X-rays.

Dr. Ralph Lapp, a physicist who has worked on nuclear weapons, described the report on X-rays as "decidedly stale news to any scientist" in the nuclear field.

The magazine says X-rays can penetrate missile warheads, to "vaporize wires and 'blind' the guidance system. Moreover, pulsed X-rays produce violent 'boiling' in materials that can disintegrate other vital parts of the warhead."

In one Soviet test, says the article, a single antimissile warhead destroyed two incoming missiles more than 100 miles over the Arctic.

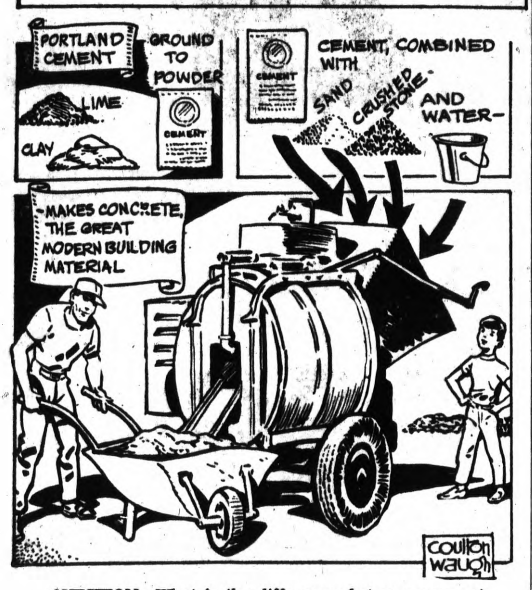
Junior Editors Quiz on CEMENT



QUESTION: What is the difference between cement and concrete?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: In a general way, cement means a substance which sticks objects together, such as the cement you may use for repairing things. In this case, we are referring to the kind of cement used in building and construction work.

This is generally of the improved type called portland cement. This is made by mixing crushed limestone and clay, grinding and burning it, and finally regrinding it into a powder which is packed in paper bags.

When water is added to this powder, it will make a thick paste, which will dry as hard as stone.

Concrete is made by mixing the powdered cement with rougher materials called aggregates which reduce the expense and prevent the drying concrete from shrinking. Sand and crushed stone may be used together as aggregate. Water is then added and the materials mixed, as has been done in the mechanical mixer in our picture.

★ ★ ★

When dry, concrete becomes a wonderful building material, fire resistant and very strong. It may be laid between forms or cast into blocks.

Upcoming U. P. Inaugural Is Now a Romney Fixture

LANSING (AP)—Although he has only been elected three times, Gov. George Romney will fly more than 350 miles north on Saturday to keep a promise and take his sixth oath of office as governor of Michigan.

Most people think Romney was inaugurated officially on Jan. 2—and he was—but not as far as more than 300,000 residents of Michigan's Upper Peninsula are concerned.

★ ★ ★

Romney will travel to Marquette on the frozen shores of Lake Superior for the third renewal of his Upper Peninsula inauguration, an event that has become a fixture during his terms of office.

The U.P. inauguration grew out of a campaign promise made in Escanaba in October of 1962 when the former American Motors president was seeking his first term in a race against then-Democratic Gov. John Swainson.

WOULD RETURN

Romney told an Escanaba airport crowd that, if elected, he would return for a special "second inauguration."

★ ★ ★

Romney won the election and with his wife, Lenore, returned to Escanaba on northern Lake Michigan's Little Bay De Noc.

Upper Peninsula citizens, some of whom would have had to drive more than 500 miles to attend the real thing at the State Capitol in Lansing, hoped the celebration might mark the beginning of a habit for Michigan governors.

★ ★ ★

Prior to Romney, no governor in Michigan's 126 years of statehood had taken part in an inauguration north of the Straits of Mackinac.

Michigan's geography at times has led to some ill-feeling between the populace of the Upper and Lower peninsulas—separated by the straits.

FEEL LEFT OUT

Upper Peninsula residents, their economy dominated by mining, timber and tourism, often have felt left out and ignored by the bustling industrial centers to the south.

★ ★ ★

Republican party officials and citizens turned out by the hundreds to give Romney a warm welcome in Escanaba. He was presented with the keys to a new office in a state building and went through a ceremony generally patterned after the real thing.

In 1964, Romney won election to his second term, defeating Democrat Neil Staebler, and on March 13, 1965, he flew to Iron Mountain, 425 miles from Lansing on the Michigan-Wisconsin border to participate in inaugural ceremonies.

This time inaugural ceremonies are scheduled in the 5,200-seat fieldhouse at Northern Michigan University with the oath to be administered by Supreme Court Justice Michael D. O'Hara.

Also taking part will be Upper Peninsula legislators, Lt. Gov. William Milliken, U.S. Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., and U.S. Rep. Phillip Ruppe, R-Mich., an Upper Peninsula resident.

★ ★ ★

The governor also is expected to dedicate a new fourth power unit of the Upper Peninsula Generating Co.

The governor will attend an inaugural dinner and a Marquette County Republican fund-raising dinner before closing his sixth inauguration with an appearance at the inaugural ball to lead the grand march.

Males Really Click as Phone Operators

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LOS ANGELES — If you dial "0" and a man answers, don't hang up. He could be one of the new long distance operators.

The General Telephone Co., which services much of Los Angeles and southern California, is experimenting with the possibility of using male operators.

After two months, both the company and the men are happy.

The only people unhappy are a few operators in other areas and the customers who refuse to believe it.

★ ★ ★

It all began with Mary Jane Pavlik, the chief operator in the company's West Los Angeles traffic office. She employs some 200 operators and, mostly, she hires high school girls and trains them.

HIRING PROBLEMS

As the company grows, she finds it more and more difficult to find girls. So she thought that it might be a good idea to hire college boys for what she calls "the oddball shifts"—difficult hours.

A call to college placement offices and an ad in the local papers and she had a swarm of applicants.

In October, she hired 19 young men and they all are doing well. Two have since gone into the service, but the others are, she says, excellent operators.

There will be more.

One of the men, 33-year-old Ronald Lee Hunter, may soon be a supervisor.

WIFE IS EXPECTING

He's been studying for his master's degree at UCLA, but his wife is expecting a child in the spring.

He asked Mrs. Pavlik if he could switch from part-time to full-time employment — continuing his college work on a part-time basis — and she agreed.

"I think," she says, "that it would be a good thing to have a male supervisor."

★ ★ ★

Men, she adds, learn fast. They are serious about their work and have a good effect on the girl operators.

COMPETITION

She has noticed some improvement in dress and personal appearance. And, too, she thinks the girls are working harder, because of the competition.

Paul DeLonge is typical of the boys. At 23, he's a senior at UCLA, majoring in economics.

He applied for the job after reading the ad because he needed to supplement his income.

He is paid $2.18 an hour — the pay scale is adjustable to educational credits, but has nothing to do with sex — and works from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. five days a week and goes to classes at night.

LIKES THE WORK

He likes telephone work and hopes to get into the executive training program after he is graduated.

His experience as an operator won't hurt.

"I like the work," Delonge says. "And I like the odds — 200 girls to 17 men. But it does get a little distracting."

★ ★ ★

The customers, he finds are momentarily disconcerted at hearing a male voice performing the operator's function. Often they think they are being kidded.

JUST RIGHT

One woman, DeLonge remembers, asked him how old he was and said she had an 18-year-old daughter who would be just right for him.

DeLonge says he is surprised at the complexity of the job.

He has to fill out an IBM card for every long distance call, and he didn't expect so much clerical work.

★ ★ ★

Even so, boredom presents a problem.

MORALE HIGH

As for the morale in the West Los Angeles traffic office, Mrs. Pavlik says it has never been higher.

"Officially," she says, "I do not know of any romances. But, unofficially, I've seen a few things."

Operators in other cities have found it hard to believe that the men were really phone company operators.

★ ★ ★

This has been particularly true of the Mexico City operators, who still ask to speak to a supervisor before they'll do any business.

ODD LINE OF WORK — If you dial a Los Angeles telephone operator and a man answers, don't hang up. It's the right number. The male operators are part of a test program that makes use of college students.

MRS. TIPPIT REMARRIES— Mrs. J. D. Tippit, widow of a Dallas policeman killed shortly after the assassination of President Kennedy, and Police Lt. Harry D. Thomas revealed their marriage of a week ago in Dallas Saturday. She has three children; he has four. The Warren Commission named Lee Harvey Oswald as Officer Tippit's slayer.

'Big Sunday' Becomes a Day of Grief for Eddie

SEABROOK, Tex. (UPI) — It was to have been a big Sunday for 13-year-old Eddie White.

His astronaut father, Edward H. White II, was to have finished a test on the Apollo 1 spacecraft at Cape Kennedy Friday evening and fly home to Seabrook for a weekend with Eddie, his sister, Bonnie, 10 and Mrs. Patricia White.

Sunday would top the weekend off. Fellow, astronauts knew how White felt about Sunday. It was a day to be spent with the children, and his comrades never bothered to plan anything for White on a Sunday. But this one was special even at that.

Eddie and nine other Boy Scouts were to receive God and Country Awards from the astronaut at the Seabrook Methodist Church where the Whites are members.

Eddie and the other scouts in the congregation of the Rev. Conrad Winborn normally would receive the awards on Feb. 12, Scout Sunday.

SPECIAL SCHEDULING

"But we . . . scheduled our ceremony to accommodate Edward White, so he would be here to present the badge to Eddie," the Rev. Mr. Winborn said.

But Eddie's father was not there Sunday.

He was killed with his two crewmates aboard Apollo I Friday night.

Crash Study Results Told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The car skidded, spun and crashed. A door flew open and the driver was hurled from the car to his death.

It was this chain of events — or one very similar — that was the leading cause of death in 139 fatal automobiles accidents studied recently by Drs. D. R. Huelke and P.W. Gikas of the University of Michigan under the U.S. Public Health Service's Injury Control Program.

The two investigated 177 deaths during a four-year period. Of those, they said in a report made public today, 48 were thrown from their cars and seat belts would have saved 80 per cent of them.

Defense Dept. Blamed

'Arms Race Boosted by U.S.'

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Vigorous sales campaigns" by the Defense Department have contributed to the international arms race contrary to United States foreign policy, a Senate committee charges.

A report by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff, released Sunday, said "dynamic and aggressive" salesmanship has boosted U.S. military sales overseas by 600.

★ ★ ★

The Defense Department has received $11.1 billion in foreign military orders and commitments since 1962 through its Office of International Logistic Negotiations, the document stated. It said the ILN had a staff of 21 professional officers broken into sales teams.

'REASON FOR CONCERN'

"While the financial success of the U.S. military sales is beyond dispute," adds the report, "there is ample reason for concern as to the side effects of the vigorous sales campaigns.

★ ★ ★

"One of the major objectives of United States foreign policy is the easing of international tensions, looking toward the possibility of eventual arms limitation. But it appears that the Defense Department is determined to maintain its arms sales abroad. Thus contributing to the buildup of conventional arms throughout the world."

The report urges the Defense Department to cut back its sales overseas, even if other nations continue to peddle arms.

The first child born of English parents in New England was Peregrine White, born to Susanna Fuller White, on November 11, 1620.

Overpass Peril to Turtle Farm?

Fear Construction to Hinder Birth Rate

SCHRIEVER, La. (AP) — A crisis has arisen here over how to keep Myrtle the turtle fertile.

Myrtle and her 55,000 fellow "red-eared sliders" in a large pond provide 300,000 bright green baby turtles each year for the children's pet market.

★ ★ ★

But the supply of the baby turtles — each about the size of a half-dollar — has been threatened, it is claimed, by the scheduled construction of a highway overpass through the pond.

The owner of the turtle farm, Earl P. Bergeron, contends that shocks from pile drivers and other heavy equipment in the springy ground between Bayou Terrebonne and the Atchafalaya Swamp will panic his turtles. He fears the egg supply will shrink drastically.

OVERPASS

"I'm not against the overpass," says Bergeron, 58, a nearly blind French Acadian who has invested 28 years hatching and selling turtles. "But I'm against them trying to hurt me in the pit (pond). And I'm going to be against it bad."

Bergeron demanded a concession from the State Highway Department, and got it. Specifications issued in Baton Rouge state that the contractor who builds the overpass must not disturb the turtles during the breeding seasons.

A Tulane University scientist at New Orleans confirms Bergeron's fears.

Dr. Fred R. Cagle says turtles are unusually sensitive to very low sounds and vibrations, which play a part in their elaborate courtship pattern.

LOVE LIFE

Over the past 30 years, Cagle has learned much about the red-eared slider's love life. He found, for instance, that the male turtle woos the female for hours on end by sending her some tantalizing vibrations.

Anti-Mao Units Said Circled by Loyalists

TOKYO (AP) — Units of Red China's army loyal to Mao Tse-tung claim to have "completely surrounded rebel army units" in rebellious Sinkiang, in the far west, Japanese reports said today.

The claim of Maoist gains in Sinkiang, published in Peking wall posters, coincided with other reports that shooting was continuing in the vast autonomous region bordering the Soviet Union. Local army units were said to have defied Premier Chou En-lai's orders to the armed forces to side with Mao in his struggle against President Liu Shao-chi and his followers.

★ ★ ★

Nationalist China's official Central Daily News in Taipei suggested that the Soviets might enter the China strife on behalf of anti-Mao generals.

It said the Sinkiang commander, Gen. Wang En-mao, had warned Mao against trying to use the nuclear installations there as a threat to his enemies. China's five atomic explosions took place in Sinkiang.

100 KILLED

More than 100 persons were reported killed last week in Sinkiang. Wall posters said Sunday that 12 of 68 persons treated in an army hospital had also died.

Kyodo news agency told of posters saying that this situation in Shihhotze, focus of the trouble last week, still was fluid on Saturday. The clashes were said to have involved the Aug. 1 field army, loyal to Liu, and the pro-Mao "2nd motorized battalion." Truce negotiations were suspended Friday, the wall reports said.

★ ★ ★

The pro-Mao troops demanded that both sides turn in their arms, that "murderers" be turned over and prisoners released. Members of the Aug. 1 field army vanished after this and had not returned for talks, the papers said.

The wall posters added the attitude of the Sinkiang military district representatives was not clear. They said a certain leader, presumably Gen. Wang, was not following Chou En-lai's instructions.

OFFICERS GONE

The posters said the army had occupied the 8th agricultural equipment division but that its officers had fled. Seven of the eight Sinkiang military district divisions were earlier reported leaning toward Liu.

Reports from Peking told of other moves at home and abroad by Mao to shore up his offensive against President Liu.

★ ★ ★

One of them could backfire. It was the cancellation of holidays for China's 26.5-million workers during the Lunar New Year beginning Feb. 9. Peking Radio suggested the cancellation was ordered to forestall efforts to get the workers to extend the holiday indefinitely.

The workers have already staged anti-Mao walkouts, strikes and sabotage across the nation. The order to stay on the job could trigger more since New Year's is traditionally the most important and sometimes the only holiday for working Chinese.

SECOND STEP

Mao's second long step to secure his power was to create a new administration for Peking — the Chinese capital — made up of loyal peasants, workers, military men, students and businessmen.

His third was to order Red Chinese students abroad to return home, presumably to inject fresh young blood into his campaign against Liu.

Moses Hooper, an Oshkosh, Wis. attorney, practiced law continuously for 76 of his 97 years of life.

Car Exec Says Economy Reins Dip Sales

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Steps taken in Washington to slow down the economy are the principal reasons for declining auto sales, a Chrysler Corp. vice president said today.

John J. Riccardo, Chrysler domestic automotive vice president, also blamed consumer pessimism about the economy for sagging sales.

But "over the long-range," he said, "we do not believe that any of these current factors can slow the growth of our industry."

In a speech to the Northern California Motor Car Dealers association, the Chrysler executive said the steps to slow down the economy included "measures to increase the cost of borrowed money, the cancellation of scheduled decreases in excise taxes, and the withdrawal of certain tax incentives designed to encourage business investment in expanded capacity and more efficient equipment."

★ ★ ★

Riccardo said the steps were aimed at cutting business and consumer expenditures.

SUCCEEDED

"And in at least two major industries — construction and automobiles — they succeeded," he said.

Even so, auto sales for 1966 were the second highest on record, he pointed out.

Sales last year were one million above those of two years ago, Riccardo said, and 1.5 million units higher than sales three years ago.

★ ★ ★

The continued population growth and the nearly four million youngsters reaching driving age each year, he said, are trends working to increase the auto market.

FIVE FACTORS

Riccardo ticked off five factors currently favoring a sales upswing.

Plenty of spending money; rising total employment; the high scrappage rate; the new extended warranties and added safety features, Riccardo said, "should serve as added sales attractions all across the board."

Car sales could improve with a favorable turn of events in the Vietnam war and evidence that the rising cost of living is being checked, he said.

★ ★ ★

However, "knowledgeable executives in the industry expect that retail sales of new cars in the United States in 1967 will be in the 8.5 to 8.7 million unit range," he added.

Riccardo urged the automobile men to make a greater effort to sell safety on the highways.

The half dime minted in 1792 was the first U.S. coin.

CARRIER AGROUND — Two tugboats make futile attempt to free the aircraft carrier USS Essex which ran aground yesterday while in maneuvers five miles southeast of Puerto Rico. The Navy announced today that more tugboats will be sent to the scene to try to free the Essex. The ship was participating in "Operation Springboard," a naval exercise involving ships from five nations.

Bobby Baker Is Found Guilty

Prosecutor Pleased With 2nd Key Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Square-jawed William O. Bittman, who's bagged James R. Hoffa and now Bobby Baker, acknowledges that he's pleased, that his ego feels good.

"But far more important than that," says the Justice Department prosecutor, "is the strengthening of the faith of the people in their government."

★ ★ ★

That, he says, is a likely outcome of the Baker trial, because if Baker had gone free, many people would have murmured that the government hadn't exerted itself to convict him.

But Baker, former secretary to Senate Democrats, was convicted Sunday of conspiracy, evading income taxes and stealing "campaign funds."

WILL APPEAL

Baker will appeal. Bittman, in fact, is still waiting out Hoffa's appeal of a 1964 Chicago conviction for conspiracy, which he also prosecuted.

Bittman, 35, was perhaps outshown in courtroom rhetoric and color by Baker's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams.

★ ★ ★

But the black-haired, stocky, 5-foot-11 Bittman had his own hallmark: Repeatedly in discussing points of Baker's defense, he fixed blazing eyes on the jury and declared, "Ladies and gentlemen of the jury, don't believe it!"

He relentlessly marshaled facts against Baker, one-time behind-the-scenes power of the Senate. After each day of the trial, Bittman's aides worked with him far into the night perfecting their case.

A 'BULLDOG'

An associate in the Justice Department describes Bittman as "a bulldog type, a character who believes in becoming deeply informed about and involved in anything he is working on."

Bittman's background is one of hard-driving study and rough games—he was a halfback at Marquette University.

★ ★ ★

He was born in Milwaukee and educated at De Paul and Marquette Universities. He holds a B.S. in business administration and a doctorate in jurisprudence. Bittman joined the government in 1960 as assistant U.S. attorney in Chicago.

His wife is the former Carole Schilleti, whom he met at Marquette, and they have six children. His hobbies, he said, are "the kids and golf."

Treaty Action Will Show if U.S. Has Grown Up---VP

WASHINGTON (AP) — How the Senate acts on the embattled U.S.-Soviet consular treaty will be a test of "whether the United States has really grown up" in the postwar period, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said today.

Humphrey suggested that the treaty's significance was more as a symbol of East-West bridge-building efforts than simply as a legal guideline for re-establishing consular relations.

★ ★ ★

"The vote on this will in a very significant way affect many other efforts that are being made to improve relations between the United States and the Soviet Union," Humphrey said in an interview.

But Humphrey said the treaty was facing a stiff fight because it has become the target of those opposing doing business with the Soviets while the Vietnam war continues. He said it affords "the first chance to whack the administration" in the new Congress.

CRITICAL EXAMINATION

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which sought to complete its work on the treaty last week, puts it aside temporarily today in order to launch its critical examination of "the responsibilities of the United States as a great power."

George Kennan, former U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union and to Yugoslavia, is the first witness.

★ ★ ★

The focus of the hearings will be the Vietnam war. They also will cover the whole spectrum of American policy, commitments and relations with the Soviet Union.

The committee gave its approval to the consular convention in 1965, one year after it was signed. But because of opposition the Senate did not act upon the treaty in the last session.

NEW AMMUNITION

Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., indicated last week that he was ready to report the treaty favorably. But that was before FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover gave new ammunition to opponents by reaffirming his position that the consular treaty would open more opportunities for Soviet espionage.

Although Hoover said he was not taking a stand on the treaty, the committee renewed an invitation for him to air his views at a public hearing.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey said the Senate action on ratification would be "a test of whether we are willing to move along prudently toward improved economic and diplomatic relationships." Although Humphrey acknowledged that the treaty faced a hard fight he expressed belief that the Senate would give it the two-thirds vote needed for approval.

Today's appearance by Kennan launches the committee into the 1967 edition of hearings on U.S. foreign policy which last year became the storm center of debate over Vietnam.

Suspect Sought in Kidnaping

RIVER ROUGE (AP) — A nationwide search is under way for a 30-year-old Indiana man wanted for questioning in the kidnaping and possible slaying of a barmaid and mother of three.

A federal warrant has been issued against Robert Rolston of Versailles, Ind., for unlawful flight in connection with the disappearance of Mrs. Kathleen Riddle, 42.

River Rouge police said Mrs. Riddle might have been slain in a robbery at the bar last Monday night and her body disposed of in a nearby recreation area. About $250 was reported missing from the cash register.

Police said Ralston drove a 1960 car with Indiana license plates. He was described as about 5-feet-10 with brown hair. The words "love" and "hate" are tattooed on the back of his fingers and a star is tattooed on the back of one hand.

INKSTER MAN

Another man, 22-year-old Larry Markham of Inkster, surrendered to police Wednesday in connection with the case. He was arraigned on kidnaping charges and is being held on $100,000 bail.

U.N. Said Blameless in Peace Efforts

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—A speech by U.N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, delivered by proxy Sunday night, charged "certain members" of the United Nations were to blame for the organization's unsuccessful peace efforts in Vietnam.

The speech, at Northwestern University's Founder's Day ceremonies, was read by Newton N. Minow, former chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

Goldberg, unable to attend because of the snowstorm which closed Chicago airports, was picketed in absentia by about 40 persons.

"The United Nations is sometimes blamed for not having done anything to bring peace to Vietnam," Goldberg's text said.

NOT U.N. FAILURE

"In all fairness, we should recognize that this is not a failure of the United Nations as an organization but of certain members," he commented.

While Goldberg did not identify the "certain members," other U.S. officials have cited the Soviet Union's veto power as the reason for inaction by the U.N. Security Council on Vietnam.

However, Goldberg said he hoped for "gradually developing positive relationships between the Soviet Union and the non-Communist world."

As Minow spoke for the U.N. ambassador some 45 persons walked out, and picketed the hall for about an hour. They said they were Northwestern University students and faculty members.

ACCUSE GOLDBERG

The pickets carried signs accusing Goldberg, a member of Northwestern's class of 1930, of a "willful attempt to cover up Johnson's war."

SHOW GOES ON—Karl Wallenda (left) works on a new high wire act with his daughter, Carla Guzman, and his son-in-law, Chico Guzman, in Sarasota, Fla. The circus world said "the Great Wallendas" were through when the pyramid of seven collapsed 35 feet above the floor of the Michigan Fairgrounds Coliseum in Detroit, Jan. 30, 1962. Next month, Wallenda will return to the circus briefly with a new act.

Blaze Kills Man

DETROIT (AP) — Blaze Szyndlar, 55, was killed and his 84-year-old mother injured in a fire at their Detroit home Sunday. Szyndlar was found unconscious on the living room floor and his mother, Mrs. Hedwig Szyndlar, was discovered on the front porch. Officials said the fire apparently was caused by an overheated furnace.

Engineer Chief

DETROIT (AP)—Appointment of Vernon Goelzer as chief of the engineering division of the Detroit office of the U.S. Army Corp of Engineers has been announced. Goelzer has been acting chief since the retirement of George Reschke last Dec. 30.

Veteran Circus Performer Returns to the High Wire

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Karl Wallenda is still on the high wire today, precisely five years after the most triumphant and tragic moment of a life's work on the treacherous steel cable.

The circus world said "the Great Wallendas" were through when the pyramid of seven collapsed 35 feet above the floor of the Michigan State Fairgrounds Coliseum at Detroit Jan. 30, 1962.

But two nights later, despite a double hernia and a fractured pelvis, he mounted the wire again.

The reason: "The honor of my name."

DRIVING FORCE

It is this honor, the driving force in the 62-year-old German born master's career, that is sending him back to the wire and away from the retirement that was supposed to have started this year.

Next month, he will return to the Shrine Circus for three performances with a new act that he has laboriously taught. And in the wings are six grandchildren, all but a 2-year-old already in training.

Perhaps, he muses, the pyramid of seven will return some day.

It has not been done since that night in Detroit.

Wallenda was at the pinnacle of success, the highest paid act on the wire, the glittering opening of a new season.

What happened will never be known.

Wallenda believes the harness for the supporting bar pinched a nerve in his nephew's shoulder as he stood at the other end of the anchor. He collapsed in excruciating pain.

The pyramid fell. The nephew, Dieter Schepp, and another man were killed. His only son, Mario, was permanently paralyzed.

When he was 6 years old, Niccolo Fontana, one of the most renowned mathematicians of his century (he lived from 1506-1559) practiced his numbers on tombstones because he was too poor to purchase a slate.

Americans of Polish Descent Are Being Bilked

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WARSAW, Poland — Nearly everyone in Poland has an uncle in Detroit or Chicago, or so it seems, and "Parcels for Poland" is the ingenious scheme which the Communists have thought up to tap these American relatives for much-needed dollars.

"Parcels for Poland" covers everything from perfectly legal banking transactions to black market operations that are openly connived at by the Communist state.

The parcels themselves can be innocent-looking food packages, containing such scarce items here as ham, sardines, tea, coffee and chocolate. Americans buy over 80,000 such parcels at Christmas time and send them to their Polish relatives.)

But a "Parcel from Poland" can also be a seven-room house costing $11,000, or a Renault or a Fiat.

These items are also available here in Poland, providing you have a rich Detroit uncle who is willing to pay for them in dollars through the PKO Bank (Polish Savings Bank), 25 Broad St., New York City.

PARCELS SCHEME

By means of the PKO parcels scheme, Poland's Communist bosses are milking Americans of Polish descent of $6.5 million annually, I learned from the bank officials themselves.

Entire Polish villages are being clothed and maintained this way by American of Polish descent.

Through the PKO Bank a wealthy Chicagoan gave a school and a church pipe organ to the village of Sokolina in southeastern Poland, where he was born. The man's first name was Michael, so the organ was dedicated on St. Michael's Day, Sept. 29.

★ ★ ★

Other Americans have given tractors, cattle and pigs to farming relatives, and have even arranged for tons of coal to be delivered to their farmhouses, all through the PKO Bank.

REAL EYE-OPENER

A real eye-opener as to how far the Communists are willing to go to attract American dollars is the PKO Bank's department store here in Warsaw.

In this Aladdin's cave are brazenly displayed all the luxury goods for which most Poles are starved — everything from cornflakes to Scotch whisky, from Parker pens to Dior perfume.

Most of the goods are either of Western origin or are of Polish export quality.

★ ★ ★

Altogether there are more than 3,000 luxury items obtainable at Warsaw's PKO store—not by ordinary Poles, but by those lucky enough to have aunts and uncles and cousins in the United States.

Turkey's population of 30.3 million is equivalent to a density of about 93 persons per square mile.

LBJ's Spring Trip to Europe Shows Links at Low Ebb

By LEON DENNEN
Foreign News Analyst
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — President Johnson's visit to Europe in the spring reflects a belated recognition that the United States has reached a low point in relations, not only with France, but also with West Germany and other NATO allies.

No doubt the President's first concern is to win the war or reach a peaceful settlement in Vietnam.

But a great nation like the United States cannot afford to concentrate all its energies and resources in one corner of the world and ignore or neglect other vital areas.

This is particularly true of Europe. The United States is, after all, still the military backbone of NATO.

★ ★ ★

Even to win or settle the war in Vietnam, Johnson will ultimately need the aid of the Western allies.

ASPIRATIONS

The President's trip to Europe will thus give him an opportunity to explain first-hand to NATO America's aspirations and aims in Southeast Asia.

It should certainly help to allay fears that the United States will make a deal with Russia at the expense of Europe, especially West Germany, in order to reach a settlement in Vietnam.

More important, the President's journey to Europe, if carefully planned and prepared, can also be the first step toward a reconciliation between the United States and France.

★ ★ ★

Indeed, how much longer can the Johnson administration pretend that Charles de Gaulle simply does not exist — as though by ignoring him the troublesome Frenchman will disappear from Europe's political scene?

IRRITATIONS

To be sure, France's president is an irritating statesman. His dislike of the United States is as pathetic as his vision of France's Napoleonic grandeur is preposterous.

Yet it is shortsighted diplomacy to continue to ignore le grand Charles' design to remake Europe into an independent "third force."

Actually, it is in the interest of the United States that Europe should be less dependent on America.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle may have his blind spots — especially where France's grandeur and the United States are concerned — but he is far more realistic in his appraisal of the tensions that exist in the Red world than the State Department's "Russian experts."

He was the first to predict that, as result of the growing conflict between Russia and Red China, the Soviet leaders will be forced to seek a truce and the status quo in Europe.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Balance of Key Body Chemicals Needed

In recent years physicians and surgeons have grown increasingly aware that certain essential chemicals in the body have to be kept in a state of fairly close balance.

BRANDSTADT

The amount lost daily through the kidneys, skin and bowel had to be supplied in about the same amount — if not in the diet, then by supplements.

This has made for greatly improved care of the victims of various diseases and persons recovering from operations.

One of these essential electrolytes is potassium. Unlike sodium your body cannot store this element to give you a reserve supply.

Potassium is found abundantly in unsalted nuts, most fresh and frozen vegetables and fresh, frozen, canned or dried fruits. Exceptions include most canned vegetables and frozen peas and lima beans.

NORMAL DIET

Persons who have to take diuretics (water pills) or cortisonelike drugs lose potassium faster than it is supplied in a normal diet.

The element is also lost in diabetes, colitis, severe burns, kidney disease, excessive sweating, vomiting and some nutritional deficiencies.

The problem was met at first by giving tablets of potassium chloride but these were found to irritate the stomach.

★ ★ ★

The tablets were then coated in such a way that they didn't dissolve until they reached the intestines.

IRRITATING TABLETS

Although these tablets no longer caused nausea and heartburn they were just as irritating to the lining of the intestines and caused severe ulceration or hemorrhage at that level.

This prompted the development of a new effervescent tablet (K-Lyte) that makes a lime-flavored drink and contains potassium citrate, bicarbonate and cyclamate.

It is more palatable than most other potassium supplements and is available only on a doctor's prescription.

★ ★ ★

Although it is well-tolerated by most persons, it should be used only when it is not possible to meet the body's potassium requirements with foods that are rich in the element or by using Triplex or Kaon in place of ordinary table salt.

Q — I am hungry all the time no matter how much I eat. As a result I am gaining weight. What could cause this and what do you advise?

★ ★ ★

A — An insatiable appetite may be caused by too high a concentration of acid in the stomach, diabetes (in which case there is also an increased thirst) or emotional frustration (seeking consolation in food). It is not caused by a tapeworm as was once believed.

★ ★ ★

Before seeking an appetite-suppressing drug or other treatment, you'd better have your doctor determine the cause of your trouble.

Guidelines for Adoptions Are Tangled by Prejudices

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG Jr.
Executive Director
National Urban League

Every now and then, something happens which reveals how absurd prejudice is.

YOUNG

The whole country got just such a lesson from the story of what happened to the Liuni family when they tried to adopt a 4-year - old girl who had been in their foster care since she was 5 days old.

It was reported that the county welfare commissioner refused to let them adopt the child because she is blond and blue-eyed and the Liunis, of Italian extraction, are dark-eyed brunettes.

Fortunately, the story had a happy ending a few weeks ago when a court approved the adoption.

Incidents like this have the beneficial effect of shocking people into the realization that prejudice can hit anyone, and the absurdity of judging people by the color of their eyes or hair points up the equally stupid practice of judging people by the color of their skin.

★ ★ ★

It also focuses attention on adoption rules and procedures. This is especially acute because of the plight of thousands of Negro children being brought up in institutions at the same time that there exist long waiting lists of white families trying to adopt children.

LIGHT OF REASON

It is time to put the light of reason on this subject and encourage interracial adoptions. The color of a child's skin should not determine whether he will lanquish in an orphanage or be brought up in the loving atmosphere of a home where he is wanted and needed.

There are many people who would jump at the chance to adopt one of these children if state welfare bodies and private agencies made the effort to encourage it.

Although some agencies have modified their regulations, old habits die hard.

★ ★ ★

But there have been breakthroughs. Toronto, Canada, has a successful program of placing Negro children in white homes. Three years ago, its Social Planning Council became concerned at the lack of adoption homes for Negro children.

EXPLAIN NEED

They joined with Toronto's adoption agencies in a campaign to explain the need and provide information to the public.

The program was a success. About 100 children were placed with families who weren't concerned about being trailblazers or pioneers; they just wanted a child in the house and weren't going to let superficial differences like skin color or hair color get in the way of their happiness.

Some adoption agencies attempting to place Negro children have met with similar experiences. If more white families forget color when they seek to adopt children, many more homes would be enlivened by the sound of happy children and many more couples would reap the rewards of parenthood.

I'm sure that such efforts would be successful. The Urban League has a program of bringing bright Negro high school students from the South to live with families in some New York suburbs during the school year.

Marquette's McGuire Due in Court Today

Losing Coach Denies Hitting Policeman at U. of D.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Marquette University basketball coach Al McGuire denied Sunday that he struck a police officer in Detroit Saturday night after his team dropped a 94-92 overtime game to the University of Detroit.

"I didn't hit anyone," said McGuire.

★ ★ ★

McGuire, charged with assault and battery against Patrolman James Tanderys, was scheduled to appear today in Recorder's Court in Detroit. He posted $27.50 bond on the misdemeanor charge.

There was a possibility McGuire might ask for a continuance. His team hosts Niagara in the Milwaukee Arena tonight.

Officer Tanderys, in his complaint, alleged McGuire slugged him with his fist or elbow and loosened a tooth.

The scuffle occurred as Marquette players were endeavoring to push their way through a crowd of spectators.

Marquette sophomore center Pat Smith became involved in a fight with a spectator who, he said, "was hollering all sorts of things about how we lost, and was waving his hands in my face."

"I knocked him down," said Smith.

SHOOK HANDS

McGuire said he had gone over to Detroit Coach Bob Calihan at the final gun and shook hands, then started to walk off the floor by himself. He noticed a crowd at the exits.

★ ★ ★

"I saw two fellows had Pat Smith stretched out on the bleachers," McGuire told newsmen. "One fellow had him around the neck, the other had him around the waist. I didn't know they were policemen.

"I thought they were ushers or something. They were wearing blue shirts but didn't have any caps. I grabbed the fellow that had Pat around the waist and said, 'don't you touch that kid again.' Then Jim Goodin (a Marquette reserve) got in between us."

★ ★ ★

The Marquette players had showered and dressed and were preparing to leave the gym when a police sergeant told McGuire in the locker room that he was going to take him to the police station. McGuire, Smith and assistant Marquette coach Henry Raymonds went to a precinct station.

★ ★ ★

Smith was not charged. The fan with whom he was involved declined to sign a complaint.

Calihan and Detroit University dean of men Joseph Donahue went to the police station later.

McGuire said Sunday that when he interceded for Smith it was "just an instinctive move on my part."

★ ★ ★

"I honestly say I'd do the same thing again, unless of course I knew they were policemen," the Marquette coach added. "I can't walk by one of my players if someone is attacking them. I'm not going to let anyone hurt them off the court. What happens on the floor is a different matter."

READY FOR ACTION — These four prep basketball players will see action tomorrow night when the area schedule returns to normal after being snowed out last Friday. Bob Burt (left) will lead Avondale to Warren Fitzgerald; Ben Benson (second from left) will play for Waterford at home against Mt. Clemens; Mark Giegler and his Milford teammates will be at Kettering; and Gordon Hamilton (right) will travel with Pontiac Central's team to Flint Southwestern. Avondale will participate in an Oakland A clash and PCH in an important Saginaw Valley contest. The other two tilts are nonleague.

Two Crucial Road Tilts for PCH

Road Victories Lift Red Wings

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager-Coach Sid Abel says his Detroit Red Wings "have to win on the road, and they know it."

★ ★ ★

And the Wings are doing it.

Paul Henderson scored two goals, including the tie-breaker, and assisted on the clincher as Detroit overcame a 2-0 deficit and whipped New York 4-2 in a National Hockey League game Sunday night.

★ ★ ★

The victory continued Detroit's drive to gain the fourth and last Stanley Cup playoff berth. The Wings trail Toronto by five points in the battle for the playoff spot.

It was Detroit's second road victory this season after the Wings lost 18 and tied one out-of-town games.

★ ★ ★

In other NHL action, the Chicago Black Hawks helped Detroit's cause by burying Toronto 5-1 at Chicago and defending champion Montreal defeated Boston 3-2.

Phil Goyette shocked the Wings by firing in two goals within nine seconds in the first period, breaking a 40-year-old New York club record.

★ ★ ★

He broke in alone on the left side, took Don Marshall's pass and drew goalie Roger Crozier out of the cage before slipping the puck past Crozier at 12:13. Then Bob Nevin fed Goyette at the Detroit blue line and the Rangers center skated in and drilled a backhand shot over Crozier's right shoulder at 12:22.

LONG SHOT

Detroit defenseman Gary Bergman began closing the gap when he scored on a 55-foot shot early in the second period.

★ ★ ★

Henderson grabbed a Norm Ullman rebound and drove it past Rangers goalie Ed Giacomin to knot the score with 2½ minutes remaining in the second period.

At 2:05 of the final period, the Detroit forward broke the tie with his 17th goal of the season.

Ullman, also scoring his 17th this season, beat Giacomin at 15:12 with the insurance marker.

★ ★ ★

At Chicago, Stan Mikita, the league's runaway scoring leader, scored two goals and set up another as the Black Hawks completed a home-and-home weekend sweep over the Maple Leafs. Chicago beat Toronto 5-2 Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

At Boston, the Canadiens built a 3-0 lead and held on for their second victory within 24 hours. They edged New York 3-2 in Montreal Saturday night.

Chiefs Visit Southwestern, Flint Central

Saginaw Valley Cage Crown Hopes Could Hinge on Outcome

If Pontiac Central survives a couple of trips to Flint this week, the Chiefs are almost certain to retain their share of the Saginaw Valley Conference championship.

The Chiefs and Saginaw rolled up 10-2 records in the SVC race last season. PCH is leading at present with a 6-1 mark, while Flint Central and Saginaw share second at 5-1.

The improving Chiefs mowed down Saginaw last Tuesday, 65-60, and the only real threats in their path to the loop title are Flint Southwestern and Flint Central.

Southwestern entertains the Chiefs tomorrow night and Flint Central plays the role of host for PCH Friday evening.

★ ★ ★

While the Chiefs are at Southwestern tomorrow, Saginaw will be at Flint Central, Bay City Handy at Bay City Central and Flint Northern at Saginaw Arthur Hill.

FIVE STRAIGHT

The Chiefs have won five in a row, a streak during which forward Alton Wilson and guard John Childs have shown noticable improvement.

★ ★ ★

Childs has settled down, getting a basket here and there, and his defensive play is a Central strong point.

Wilson, who failed to reach 20 points in Central's first four games, has averaged a little more than 22 a game in his last six outings.

Against Saginaw, Wilson had trouble hitting from near the top of the key, but he made numerous drives toward the basket that paid off in points.

★ ★ ★

Wilson (6-1) and teammates Walter Causey (6-3) and Gordon Hamilton (6-3) give the Chiefs a solid rebounding combination.

The other big point producer in the Chiefs attack is guard Prentice Hill, who hits from inside and out. Hill's scoring average of 19.4 puts him fourth on the SVC list.

Southwestern will take a three-game win streak into the game in their 4-4 record.

Big gun in the Southwestern attack this season has been Rick Middleton, who's averaging 16.5 points a game.

'Little Poison' Waner Joins Big Brother

NEW YORK (AP) — "I think it's just wonderful," said Lloyd (Little Poison) Waner, "to be put in there with my brother."

He was talking about his election to baseball's Hall of Fame Sunday. But his remark was just an echo, almost verbatim, of his comment 40 years ago when he was put into the Pittsburgh Pirates' outfield with big brother Paul.

★ ★ ★

Paul (Big Poison) already had established himself and Lloyd was a skinny, uncertain rookie at the time, in 1927. But Lloyd wasted no time proving himself. He laced National League pitching for a.355 average and a record 223 hits in his rookie season, and, with Paul, led the Pirates to a National League pennant.

He and long-time baseball executive Branch Rickey were named to the Hall by the veterans committee, becoming the 105th and 106th members of baseball's elite. They'll be inducted into the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y. in July.

TWO PLAYERS

The 12-man veterans committee, headed by former Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, can name no more than two players in their annual elections. They consider players who have been retired 20 years or more. Rickey, who died in 1965 at the age of 83, was elected under a special provision governing executives 65 years or older. Paul Waner, who died last year, had been elected earlier.

Bruins Breeze in Windy City

Alcindor Paces Team to Two Triumphs

By the Associated Press

Their Snow Saga safely behind them, UCLA's unbeaten and top-ranked Bruins can stay in the sun all this week.

They have nowhere to go but Los Angeles' Sports Arena where a 30-minute freeway ride will get them to their next basketball game, against Southern California Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

That's in extreme contrast with their traumatic travels last week, when they flew to Chicago for games Friday and Saturday nights only to be rerouted to St. Louis from where they took a 12-hour train ride back to Chicago.

Reason for all the trouble was a two-foot snowfall which paralyzed Chicago — but not UCLA.

The Bruins were stopped temporarily when their game against Illinois was snowed out Friday, but they whipped Loyola of Chicago 82-67 Saturday night and came back Sunday afternoon with a 120-82 triumph over Illinois.

RECORD EFFORT

Lew Alcindor, the 7-foot-1 leader of John Wooden's sophomore sizzlers, scored 35 points against Loyola, then poured in 45 against Illinois. The 45 tied the Chicago Stadium record for scoring, and his 21 baskets broke the field goal mark.

Six minutes and 15 seconds remained when Alcindor scored his 45th point. Time was called, and Alcindor was presented with the ball, then removed from the game by Wooden.

Despite chants from the crowd of 10,025 of "We want Lew, we want Lew," Wooden kept his ace on the bench.

The past week was a relatively successful one for the Top Ten in that they collectively suffered only one loss. Third-ranked Houston incurred that distinction, losing to Washington 81-78 at Seattle Saturday night. The loss, only its second in 16 games, stopped Houston's 12-game winning streak.

Second-ranked North Carolina extended its record to 13-1, crushing Virginia at home 103-76 as Larry Miller scored 38 points.

LARGE CROWD

Louisville, No. 4, defeated Bradley 81-68 for its 16th victory against two defeats. A record home turnout of 16,318 saw Westley Unseld score 23 points and Butch Beard 20.

Surprising Princeton, fifth-ranked, continued rolling, increasing its record to 14-1 with a (Continued on Page D-2, Col. 4)

Tipton Tops Champ in Michigan Relays

TIPTON

Pontiac Central's Bill Tipton made his 1967 track debut a highly successful one Saturday by beating a national collegiate champion.

Because of the weather, the 25-man Pontiac Track Club team was unable to make the trip to Ann Arbor for the Michigan Indoor Relays. But Tipton, state Class A hurdles champion, was given permission to compete in the open events.

He stepped over the 65-yard high hurdles in 8.1 seconds to edge 1966 NCAA indoor champion Jerry Cerulla who is transferring from Utah State to Eastern Michigan.

★ ★ ★

The PCH senior then placed second to NCAA intermediate hurdles titlist Bob Steele of Michigan State in the low hurdles. Steele was clocked in 7.6 seconds, one-tenth faster than Tipton.

The shot put was won by a former Birmingham Seaholm state champion Jack Harvey who attends the University of Michigan and has been the Big Ten indoor and outdoor champion.

Tom Kearney of Bloomfield Hills ran a 1:53.8 leadoff leg on the University of Michigan's two mile relay team which set a meet and field house record of 7:31.1. Kearney also ran on Michigan's second place mile relay team.

In the pole vault, Ron Shortt of Farmington, a freshman at Michigan, finished second by vaulting 14-6. This event was won by Bill Barrett of Eastern Michigan University with a meet record of 15-¾. Barrett hails from Berkley.

★ ★ ★

Das Campbell of Hazel Park ran on Michigan State's meet record setting sprint medley relay team and also ran a leg on the winning mile relay team.

This Friday, Tipton and several other local high school runners will compete in a Federation Meet to be held at Western Michigan University.

ANOTHER BUCKET — Lew Alcindor (33) UCLA cage giant drops in another bucket in the 120-82 victory over Illinois in a game played Sunday. Alcindor had 45 points to pace the attack. Under the basket are players Dave Scholz (40) of Illinois and Bill Sweek (45) of UCLA.

State Racer First in Phoenix Event

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Conrad Kalitta of Mt. Clemens, Mich., after nearly a three-year drought, Sunday won a major racing title.

Kalitta whipped Bob Downey of Alhambra, Calif., in the featured top fuel class at the American Hot Rod Association's three-day Winter National Drag Championships.

Not since the U.S. Gas and Fuel Championships at Bakersfield, Calif., in 1964 has Kalitta won a major title.

His clocking in the final run was 7.63 seconds on the quarter-mile strip with a 196 miles per hour top speed.

Tigers Select 5 Infielders in Draft

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers selected five amateur baseball players in the winter draft of free agents during the weekend.

The Tigers first round choice in the regular phase of the draft Saturday was James Carter, 18, a shortstop from Huntington, Beach, Calif., currently a student at Golden West Junior College.

★ ★ ★

Selection in the regular phase of the draft is made in inverse order of 1966 finish, with the Chicago Cubs having first choice.

The Tigers also selected Michael T. Kotzin, an 18-year-old first baseman at Fullerton Junior College in California; Mike Murray, 18 a catcher at Cypress and Terry Schofield, 20, another catcher, from Fullerton Junior College.

In the special round of the draft, where selection order is determined by lot, Detroit selected shortstop Mike Adams of Anaheim, Calif.

The special round is conducted under baseball's old college rule, which states that no player can be signed until after his sophomore year.

★ ★ ★

The regular round says that no student enrolled in a four-year college may be picked until his class has graduated.

★ ★ ★

Leonard Weems, 18, an outfielder from Ecorse was selected by the Minnesota Twins; John Kaspar, 19, former two-time prep All-County infielder from Milford, was a triple-A pick by the Cleveland Indians; and Isiah Blessitt, a 17 - year - old centerfielder from Hamtramck was picked by the New York Mets.

Death Takes LSU Athletic Director

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jim Corbett was embarking on a mission to challenge pro football for television's gold and bring more money to collegiate athletics when he died.

Corbett, LSU's dynamic athletic director, died of a heart attack here Sunday morning. He was 47.

Corbett was recognized as one of the nation's top athletic administrators. He had come up with many revolutionary undertakings. His latest idea wasn't his own, but he had adopted it, with a few new trappings.

Corbett expounded on a playoff play for the nation's college teams to decide a true national champion and bring more revenue to collegiate athletics at the Southeastern Conference meetings here last week.

Hawks Knot Foe With Late Goal

Bruce Strohm scored with just 18 seconds remaining Sunday night to give the Lakeland Hawks a 1-1 tie with St. Clair Shores in a juvenile division ice hockey game.

Goalie Larry Schnieder of the Hawks allowed a first-period score then stopped the St. Clair sextet cold as Lakeland remained unbeaten (1-0-1) in the Southeast Michigan Junior Hockey Association's second-half race.

World Champ Retains Crown With TKO Win

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Vicente Saldivar proved to himself Sunday night he is worthy of being world featherweight champion.

Saldivar, of Mexico, used a strong body attack and his "golden left" to demolish challenger Mitsunori Seki of Japan in the seventh round of a scheduled 15-round title bout.

★ ★ ★

The end came at 1:30 of the seventh on the order of the president of the Mexico State Boxing Commission as Saldivar pounded away at his helpless opponent.

A crowd of about 23,500 persons—almost all of them backing Saldivar—saw the fight in the El Tore bull ring. It was also televised live to Japan. Saldivar weighed 125½ pounds and Seki 126, the division limit.

Miss Richey Wins Singles

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) —Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., won the women's singles title of the Australian Tennis Championships today, but Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., failed in his bid for the men's crown.

Miss Richey used a faultless display of baseline driving to upset favored Lesly Turner of Australia 6-1, 6-4.

Ashe fell before Davis Cup star Roy Emerson of Australia 6-4, 6-1, 6-4.

Scheduled to Play

Both the Pontiac and Waterford Township recreation offices have said tonight's men's basketball games will be played as scheduled.

2 Track Stars Crack Records

By the Associated Press

Bob Seagren, warned by a doctor to take it easy, and Neil Steinhauer, told by his coach to lean, led the first big record setting weekend of the 1967 indoor track and field season.

Seagren, who pulled a muscle in his back in a futile attempt to extend his world pole vault record in New York Thursday, shook off the effects of the injury in Albuquerque, N.M., Saturday and vaulted 17-2, an inch better than his previous record.

★ ★ ★

And Steinhauer, who earlier this month set an indoor shot put record of 66-6½, bettered that mark by an amazing 15½ inches in Portland, Ore., Saturday, raising the record to 67-10.

BEST EVER

Seagren, the 19-year-old University of Southern California student, consulted a doctor before competing in the meet but disregarded his advice to take it easy.

Steinhauer, the University of Oregon senior, was told by Coach Bill Bowerman to "lift and lean" into the throw and when he was finished lifting and leaning he had his best-ever attempt, either indoors or out.

Randy Matson, of course, holds the outdoor shot put record at 70-7¼. Matson and Steinhauer will meet in the San Diego Invitational this Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Theron Lewis, the former Southern University star, came up with another record in the Albuquerque meet, breaking Wendell Mottley's 440 mark with a 47.1 clocking. Also, the Long Beach, Calif., 49er Track Club set a record in the two-mile relay on an 11-lap track at 7:25.6.

Jerry Proctor, of Pasadena, Calif., set a high school mark of 26-2 in the long jump.

FAST HEAT

At the Boston A.A. meet, Willie Davenport of Southern University tied the 45-yard high hurdles mark at 5.4 and back in Albuquerque, Texas Southern's James Hines tied the indoor record 5.9 in a heat of the 60-yard dash.

★ ★ ★

Hines then beat out Bill Gaines of Mullica Hill, N.J., a co-holder of the record in the 60, and George Anderson of New Orleans, La., in the finals, though all three were caught in 6.0.

Jim Ryun, competing in the 1,000-yard run instead of his specialty, the mile, won at Portland in 2:09.9, nearly four seconds off Peter Snell's indoor record.

RECORD FINISH — Australian Kerry O'Brien (3) crosses the finish line ahead of Tom Laris of the New York Athletic Club to win the two-mile run in a record time of 8:38.4 Saturday night in the B.A.A. track meet in Boston Garden.

Trojans Upset Northville '5'; Holly Wins

Second Half Surge Carries Barons Past Milford, 66-47

Clarkston's Wolves made a move in the Wayne-Oakland over the weekend without playing.

While the Wolves, leading the W-O with an 8-0 record, were idle, Clarenceville's Trojans surprised second place Northville Saturday night, 61-59.

"That just about gives them the title," said Northville coach Dave Longridge, whose team now is two full games back of the Wolves at 6-2.

Other games in the W-O found Bloomfield Hills (4-4) downing Milford (3-5), 66-47, and Holly (5-4) nipping West Bloomfield (1-8), 52-49.

★ ★ ★

Elsewhere, Pontiac Northern's Huskies, snowed out Friday, journeyed to Ann Arbor Saturday and retured with a 65-55 decision to run their record to 8-2.

OTHER RESULTS

In other games, Southfield nipped North Farmington, 78-76, on a last second tip-in by Glen Benhoff, and Larry Lancaster tossed in 16 points in a losing effort as Royal Oak Kimball dropped a 73-60 decision to Mount Clemens.

Northville was nearly ice cold at the charity line, hitting on only 19 of 35.

LEAD ATTACK

Clarenceville, led by Ron Ray (16) and Chuck Watkins (13), held a 27-23 lead at halftime. Glen Diver led Northville with 13.

★ ★ ★

Dana Coin flipped in 16 points and Stan Allison collected 13 to spark the Pontiac Northern attack. Guard Craig Deaton played a superb defensive game and contributed nine points.

Bloomfield Hills forward Kerry Heidel tossed in 22 points, his personal high, in leading the Barons past Milford.

Hills led by three at halftime, 30-17, but the Barons tightened their defense on Don Hill in the second half and outscored the Redskins, 36-20.

★ ★ ★

Hill led Milford with 22 points, picking up 15 of them in the first half.

ERRORS HURT

Mistakes in the closing 1:40 set West Bloomfield crashing to its eighth straight setback.

Holly, behind most of the game, took the lead with 38 seconds left, 51-49, on a basket by Dennis Walters. The final point came on a foul shot as the Lakers battled for the ball.

Greg Averyhardt led the Holly attack with 23 points and teammate Ron Ranger added 12. Ted LaPratt led the Lakers with 15. West Bloomfield played without starting guard Pat Windey who failed to show up.

Philadelphia Falls to Hawks

Celtics Riding Nine-Game Win Streak

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Celtics, still nursing hopes of overtaking Philadelphia in the regular season chase, are riding a nine-game winning streak while sticking to an old superstition.

"We're not thinking of winning streaks—it's strictly game-to-game with us," player-coach Bill Russell said Sunday after the Celtics completed a sweep of a weekend series against the New York Knickerbockers with a 141-106 rout at the Garden.

★ ★ ★

The Celtics, who rallied from a 17-point deficit for a 114-112 triumph in New York Saturday night, wasted little time in pulling away from their National Basketball Association "cousins." The Knicks were overpowered by Boston's 75-point first half and suffered their 15th straight loss to the Celtics since March 17, 1965.

Bailey Howell, a veteran All-Star forward obtained for Mel Counts in a trade with Baltimore just before the season opened, sparked the Celtics' early explosion, hitting on seven of his first eight floor shots in the first half. Howell took game honors with 32 points while playing only 33 minutes.

SIXTH LOSS

The victory enabled the Celtics to move within seven games of Philadelphia, which suffered its sixth loss in 53 starts in bowing to St. Louis 114-108 Sunday.

In other action, Los Angeles crushed the Bulls 142-122 in Chicago, and Cincinnati stopped San Francisco 121-118 in Cincinnati.

★ ★ ★

At St. Louis, the Hawks moved out to a 16-point lead in the third quarter, then fought off a late Philadelphia rally. Player-coach Richie Guerin had 29 points and Bill Bridges 28 for St. Louis. Wilt Chamberlain had 29 for the 76ers.

Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas led the Royals past San Francisco, Robertson with 35 points and Lucas with 25 points and 30 rebounds. Rick Barry topped San Francisco with 37.

★ ★ ★

Los Angeles replaced Chicago in fourth place in the Western Division with its victory. Jerry West's 28 points and Elgin Baylor's 26 paced the Lakers. Bob Boozer topped Chicago scorers with 29.

In other Saturday games, Cincinnati edged St. Louis 113-112 and Los Angeles beat Baltimore 133-118. The Chicago at Detroit game was postponed because of snow.

In one of the more interesting games of the night, sixth-ranked Texas Western defeated Brigham Young 85-76 in the first game of the Chicago Stadium tripleheader. The match was interesting because Texas Western won the NCAA championship last year and Brigham Young took the National Invitation Tournament title.

★ ★ ★

In other games involving members of the Top Ten, Vanderbilt, No. 9, whipped Mississippi State 79-64 at Nashville, Tenn., and 10th-ranked Providence pulled out a 91-87 overtime victory at home against Seton Hall.

Golfer Draper Ties for Third

FREEPORT, Grand Bahama (AP) — Tom Draper of Royal Oak finished in a three-way tie for third place with a 302 in the second annual Grand Bahama Amateur Golf Championship Tournament.

Winner of the event was Randy Wolf, a senior at Louisiana State University, who finished with a 293 total. Frank Perpick of Miami, Fla., was second with a 301.

Wins Los Angeles Open

Arnold Palmer 'Neglects' Record

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the thinking man's golfer, got to thinking. He was in Los Angeles but he started thinking about San Francisco. So he stopped thinking about records.

Palmer shot a final round 68 for 269, 15 strokes under par, in winning the Los Angeles Open for the second straight year Sunday. His score was just one stroke shy of the tournament record set by Phil Rodgers in 1962.

★ ★ ★

So was he thinking about Rodgers' record?

"It came to my mind, but I wasn't going to be foolish about this one," a laughing Palmer said.

It was an obvious reference to the 1966 U.S. Open at San Francisco. Palmer had a seven stroke lead with nine holes to go on the final round. He was within sight of Ben Hogan's Open record 274 and started thinking about it.

BLEW LEAD

The rest is history: Palmer blew the seven stroke lead and Billy Casper went on to win it.

"I was just trying to win this one," Palmer said after collecting his $20,000 check for his third victory in the Los Angeles Open since 1963.

Palmer took the lead in the third round Saturday by four strokes, saw it dwindle to two each with a 69, tied for third at Brewer came on, but the Arnie assault reasserted itself and he stormed in to win by five shots. ★ ★ ★

Brewer finished second with a 69 for 274, worth $12,000, while Julius Boros, with a 67, and Don Massengale, the second round leader, and young Lou Graham, after 67 holes Sunday as Gay 275.

Tight Defense Carries MSU Past Wisconsin

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State proved it isn't dead yet when it topped Wisconsin 68-61 Saturday night to stay in contention in Big Ten conference. Basketball.

The victory broke a second place tie with the Badgers and kept State within striking distance of league leading Northwestern. The Spartans are 3-1. Northwestern is 3-0.

★ ★ ★

State jumped off to a 14-point lead and coasted to victory.

A tight Spartan defense kept them in control of the ball.

"We turned the ball over to Michigan State too many times to be an effective team," said Badger coach John Erickson.

"It was our best defense effort since Wichita," said MSU coach John Bennington, referring to an early December game.

CAREER HIGH

The Spartan attack was paced by Steve Rymal, a junior guard who hit his career high of 22.

Teammates Lee Lafayette and Shannon Reading added 18 and 15 points respectively.

MSU led 37-26 at the half.

The Spartan defense checked Wisconsin's top scorer, Chuck Nagle. Nagle, who had been averaging over 20 points a game, was held to 10 tallies. Joe Franklin led Badger scorers with 11 points.

The Spartans play at Notre Dame Wednesday.

MSU's overall record is 8-4. Wisconsin is 2-2 in Big Ten Play and 7-7 for the season.

Rudy LaRusso Given Third Ban in NBA

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Pistons have suspended Rudy LaRusso because of his failure to report to the National Basketball Association club following a three-team trade.

In announcing the suspension, Edwin E. Coil, the Pistons' general manager, said LaRusso was given 48 hours last week in which to notify the team of his intentions.

★ ★ ★

Coil said Detroit had heard nothing from LaRusso since a conversation Thursday night.

The trade sent LaRusso to Detroit, Ray Scott from the Pistons to Baltimore and Mel Count to Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

LaRusso balked at going to Detroit and announced he was retiring from the NBA. The Lakers then reinstated LaRusso, but the league ruled that the trade was valid.

LaRusso told a news conference Friday that he planned to sue the NBA.

Coil said the Pistons are trying to get another forward to fill the opening left by LaRusso's failure to show up.

Coil said Detroit hopes to have the replacement in time for Tuesday's game with New York.

PROFESSIONAL FORM — A divot and the ball are both clearly off the ground and well in front of him but Arnie Palmer still keeps his head down on his follow through. The nattily dressed Pennsylvanian kept his winning form throughout the Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament and won it yesterday with a 15-under-par 269 total, only one stroke off the record.

Snead's Putting Improves

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP)—Sam Snead says his new croquet style of putting wasn't developed out of desperation. Rather, explained the 54-year-old golfing marvel, it came about "because I finally got smart."

Snead, whose trophy chest lacks only the U.S. Open crown to be complete, has been rated as a mediocre putter during his long and illustrious career. Last summer he started putting in croquet style, straddling the ball and shoving it toward the hole while holding his regulation putter like a croquet mallet.

★ ★ ★

"About a year ago I got to thinking that in rolling the ball towards the hole while putting a golfer uses the same stance he does in driving the ball through the air from the tee," he said Sunday after winning, by a record nine strokes his third PGA Seniors' Teachers Trophy in four years.

"That didn't seem right to me, so I tried my sidewinder system. It worked for me."

Snead three-putted only one green in the final round while posting a 66, six strokes under par. His 72-hole total was 279.

John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., finished in seventh place. He scored 70-76-74-73—293.

Sheila Young of Detroit finished second in the intermediate girls 220 race behind Miss Fish.

Jeanne Omelenchuk of Warren, Mich., took third place in the senior women's 880. Dianne White of St. Paul won the race.

PROPER BILLIARDS

by Jim Lidey

Thousands of people now have their own home pocket billiards tables, as well as private cue sticks, etc. Here are a few hints that will prolong the life of this costly equipment.

First keep your table covered when not in use. A plastic or rubber cover will help keep dampness out of the rubber cushions, and will keep the table clean. Use a brush to keep the cloth clean.

Never leave your cue sticks overnight in a reclined or leaning position. This will almost always warp them. Use a wall rack to keep them rigid.

If you have no wall rack, keep them in a horizontal position.

Sets Swim Standard

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI) — Karen Muir, a South African teen-ager, clocked two minutes, 27.7 seconds in the 220-yard backstroke Sunday to set a new world swimming record.

Parnelli Jones Uses His Head

Thinking Pays Off in Riverside Race

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — It took a thinking man to dethrone Dan Gurney as champ of the annual Riverside-Motor Trend 500-mile race for grand national stock cars.

A balding, wiry driver named Parnelli Jones thought and drove his way around the twisty, 2.7-mile course Sunday to win $21,980 in the delayed race.

★ ★ ★

The race, started a week ago but suspended by rain, pitted some of the nation's top drivers against four-time winner Gurney, and the pressure finally paid off.

Jones, of Torrance, Calif., entered the race determined to avoid an old bugaboo — broken machinery. He said he thought about it constantly.

"I felt I could outrun all the other cars," Jones said, "and I thought if I talked to myself I could keep from punishing the car and I might make it."

★ ★ ★

He made it, averaging 91.08 miles an hour in a 1967 Ford. He was sometimes a whole lap ahead, especially after Gurney's machine, a 1967 Mercury Cyclone, blew its engine near the end of the race.

Skippers Seek 3rd Straight Win

Waterford, one of the many area high school teams idled by snow Friday, moves back into action tomorrow night on its home court with Mount Clemens providing the opposition.

The Skippers will go into the game looking for their third victory in a row but face a formidable foe in Mount Clemens.

The Bathers have rolled up a 7-1 record and own a 4-0 mark in the Eastern Michigan League race.

On the other hand, Waterford has a 5-4 over-all record and has broke even in four Inter-Lakes League games.

★ ★ ★

The Skippers were impressive in their last two starts, disposing of Livonia Stevenson and Walled Lake in easy fashion.

CARRY LOAD

Carrying the scoring load for the Skippers are forwards Karl Arrington (6-1) and Bill Hill (6-0) along with center Paul Thomas (6-0), all averaging more than 10 points a game.

★ ★ ★

Rounding out the top six on the Waterford squad are guards Ron Stafford, Cliff Seiber and Ben Benson.

Waterford's township rival, Kettering, will be in action tomorrow evening and the Captains will be gunning for their ninth victory in a row.

Kettering, ranked seventh in the state AP Class A poll, entertains Milford (3-5).

In other local games, Oxford visits Ortonville, Oak Park is at Berkley, Ferndale at East Detroit, Avondale at Warren Fitzgerald, Cranbrook at Grosse Pointe University School (3:30 p.m.) and Birmingham Brother Rice visits University of Detroit High.

Opening lead—♠ 4

by OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

The luck of the draw in the 1966 American team trials pitted first-place Roth and Root against second-place Murray and Kehela in the final round.

JACOBY

Murray and Kehela defeated Roth and Root to move into first place while Roth and Root dropped to third. However, since the team will consist of three pairs, third place was quite satisfactory.

The Roth-Root troubles started with the second board of the match. Roth and Root believe in sound opening bids and Root passed the East hand.

Since no one else held anything that looked like an opening bid the hand was passed out there and at one other table.

The other three East players opened with one spade and were raised to two. This became the final contract at two tables and East had no trouble making four odd. Trumps broke nicely and the minor suit acequeens lay just where East wanted them to.

★ ★ ★

The bidding in the box shows what happened when South decided to reopen after East and West had stopped at two spades.

West had mighty good defense against hearts and elected to double. He opened a spade which established a spade trick for South but South still had to lose two trumps, two diamonds and a club and was penalized 500 points.

The unfortunate North-South pair that went down 500 lost eight international match points. Roth and Root lost five IMPs in passing the hand out. This was mighty severe punishment for failure to open East's really doubtful hand.

♥♣CARD Sense♠♦

Q—You, South, are dealer and hold:
♠K 2 ♥A K Q 10 9 8 6 5 ♣A Q 6
What is your opening bid?

A—Bid two hearts. You want to be in game irrespective of what your partner holds.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid two hearts and your partner makes the negative response of two no-trump. What do you do now?

Freighter Bumps London Bridge

LONDON (AP) — London's Tower Bridge—the one the song says is falling down—was shaken early today when a Spanish freighter bumped into its south side.

★ ★ ★

No one was reported hurt aboard the 83,92-ton Monte Urquiola, but police closed the bridge for two hours while surveyors determined the bridge had not been seriously damaged.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Tuesday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Maintain balance. Competition actually works to your advantage. When others oppose you, respond with your aims. Today you gain if you hold back. Don't show hand. Stand tall.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Avoid extremes. Complete tasks, chores, assignments in sensible manner. If you rush . . . there is actually delay. Don't give aggressive associate who may try to irritate you satisfaction!

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Strain indicated with regard to ties with loved ones. Petty quarrels could mar day. Avoid this by permitting logic to rule impulse. Steer clear of needless controversy.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Action centers close to home base. Be ready for surprise requests, statements. One you admire may act in eccentric manner. Key is patience. Storm due to blow over—soon!

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Stress steady approach. Includes the way you handle yourself in crowds, traffic. Tendency to rush should be overcome. Avoid impulsive statements to relatives, neighbors.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Activity indicated where finances are concerned. Emphasis on buying, selling. You may have to double check prices. If mate or partner appears impatient, provide reassurance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Activity increases — so does responsibility. Public reaction to efforts is made known. You see results of endeavors. Cycle continues high. General outlook is favorable.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Assignments which have been neglected may present themselves in sudden manner. Dig deep into those which had been set aside. You could make surprising discovery.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Some wishes are fulfilled in rather dramatic fashion. Be ready for surprises. One close to you may confide problems, aspirations. Day to give and receive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Cement ties connected with ambitions, occupation. Your security should not be risked via get-rich-quick scheme. Best to heed voice of experience. Older individual IS informed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Important questions are considered. Some may involve journeys, writing, advertising. Avoid rash actions. But push forth on pet projects, theories. You're going to make it!

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20): Money transactions accented. Get accounts in order. Your possessions are perhaps of more value than you imagine. Know this and review situation. Don't be careless!

★ ★ ★

IF TUESDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . new starts indicated, successful contacts, greater chance for creative expression.

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for LIBRA, SCORPIO, SAGITTARIUS. Special word to LEO: Accent desire for harmonious relations with neighbors, relatives.

Storm Delays State Solons

LANSING (AP) — Members of the State House of Representatives have a couple days of vacation this week thanks to last week's snow storm.

Speaker Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, said Saturday the House would be convened Wednesday at 2 p.m. instead of this evening as scheduled.

★ ★ ★

But the Senate is to convene at 8 p.m. Monday as planned. Majority leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, said he had no plans to delay the Senate's opening.

Waldron's office said it had been advised that many legislators were snowbound and would be unable to reach Lansing. Democratic floor leader Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, concurred with the announcement.

Recent Bride Beaten to Death; Spouse Arrested

DETROIT (AP) — A 28-year-old roofer was arrested Sunday in connection with the fatal beating of his recent bride.

Gilbert Hampton was held in the slaying after police found him crouched behind a stairwell partition one floor above his apartment where the body of his wife, Betty Jean, 25, had been discovered three hours before. She had been beaten to death and her body dumped into a bathtub.

Richard McNatt, 38, a friend of Hampton, was held for further investigation.

The medical examiner said Mrs. Hampton died of chock and loss of blood after being beaten with a blunt instrument.

Some Adverse Factors

Stock Market Pushes Ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market boiled ahead in heavy trading early this afternoon despite some adverse factors which had been cited early in the day.

★ ★ ★

Gainers outnumbered losers at a topheavy ratio of about 8 to 3 on the New York Stock Exchange as the market took the bit between its teeth.

★ ★ ★

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.01 to 848.05.

While this was not an out-size gain, it did not reflect the large gains of many glamor stocks which are not included in the Dow industrials.

HEALTHY BOOST

Key stocks rose from fractions to a point or better, giving the popular market indicators a healthy boost, but some of the more volatile glamor stocks were ahead several points.

The prospects of a continuing trend toward easier money and lower interest rates, brokers said, overshadowed the 14 per cent drop in December construction and, intimations that corporations may bear a relatively higher share of the tax load.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.8 at 315.5 with industrials up 2.9, rails up 1.1 and utilities up .6.

★ ★ ★

Prices advanced in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange where the ticker tape ran as much as seven minutes late. U.S. Radium gained 5, Xtra Inc. 4, Solitron Devices 3, Teleprompter, Trans Lux and Ehrenreich Photo 2 each. Gains of a point or more were made by APL Corp., Digital Equipment, Elco Corp., Planning Research, Silicon Transistor and Superscope.

Big Brother Official Seeks Aid of a 'Civilian Army'

"The greatest single remedy to cure juvenile delinquency is for more American adults to step forth and assume a feeling of personal responsibility to help just one child," said the executive director of Big Brothers of America at last week's meeting in Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

Thomas E. O'Brien called for this "civilian army" at the Big Brothers of Oakland County annual meeting. New officers were elected and awards were given out at the dinner-meeting.

He told some 70 listeners that "many youngsters are being shortchanged and cheated of love, affection and interest. And we'll have trouble with these kids."

O'Brien said that adults must spend time with a child "if he is going to influence the youngster." He pointed out that lack of communication comes when parents ignore their children.

★ ★ ★

"Loneliness is what a fatherless boy feels," O'Brien emphasized.

★ ★ ★

Big Brothers, an organization which matches one man with one fatherless boy for several hours a week, is so effective because of this practical approach, according to O'Brien.

The man derives personal satisfaction from the relationship, while the boy gains attention, pride and respect, as he is accepted for what he is.

Eugene Lomnicki, Royal Oak, was named Big Brother of 1967. Edward Underwood of 1717 W. Auburn, Avon Township, received a special award for seven years of service to one little brother.

★ ★ ★

Robert Wagner of 4185 Sheldon, Avon Township, was elected president. James Cummins of 4252 Derry, Bloomfield Township, was elected vice president; Edward Hoot of Royal Oak, treasurer; and Herbert Hunting of Royal Oak, secretary.

Delos Hamlin Reelected to Fund Position

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, has been reelected vice chairman of the Metropolitan Fund, Inc.

★ ★ ★

Hamlin lives at 23210 Cass, Farmington.

The organization is an urban affairs foundation to develop research and action on Metropolitan problems in a 4,000-square-mile area of southeast Michigan.

Leadership is provided by a 58-member board of trustees comprised of key governmental, educational, industrial-commercial and labor officials from metropolitan area counties.

★ ★ ★

Elected chairman of the Metropolitan Fund, Inc., for the coming year was Joseph L. Hudson, president of the J. L. Hudson Co. He succeeds William M. Day. Both Hudson and Day live in Grosse Pointe.

★ ★ ★

Other officers reelected besides Hamlin were Kent Mathewson, of 671 E. Long Lake, Bloomfield Hills, president; Leonard Woodcock of Detroit, secretary; and John H. French, Jr., also of Detroit, treasurer.

Thai Claims Red Arrests

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Premier Thanom Kittikachorn said today that 122 Communist suspects, some of whom were trained in Communist China, were rounded up during recent raids on Communist hideouts in central Thailand.

★ ★ ★

Thanom told his weekly news conference the government has received information that Payome Chullanond, a former lieutenant colonel in the Thai army and an opponent of the present regime, has slipped back into Thailand. Payome fled to Communist China three years ago and was reported to have become secretary-general of the Peking-sponsored "Thai patriotic front."

Third County Declares Self Behind Body

Membership requests in the proposed Southeast Michigan Council of Governments now number 73 as the Wayne County Board of Supervisors became the latest governmental unit to declare its intent to join.

★ ★ ★

The recruitment goal of the council is to voluntarily join the energies of more than 300 cities, counties, school districts and townships in the metropolitan area to better resolve common problems.

Developed by a representative committee of 100 local government officials, the Council of Governments' creation is earmarked for this spring.

Oakland was the first county to declare intent to join the council and Monroe County also asked for membership prior to Wayne's action last week.

★ ★ ★

The three other counties in the metropolitan area still are considering membership application as are numerous cities, townships and school districts.

Oxford Visit

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Oxford tomorrow at the Congregational Church, Dennison and Hovey, from 2 to 8 p.m.

$786 in TV Sets, Radios Stolen

Television sets and radios valued at $786 were stolen from the K. D. Television dealership, 506 S. Saginaw, city police were told Saturday.

It was the second burglary reported within four days at K.D.

Four portable televisions and 10 radios were taken Saturday, according to store officials.

An estimated 33 television sets and radios were reported taken Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Entry was apparently made by breaking through a window, investigators said.

Funeral Home Plays Host to Churchgoers

A driveway blocked by deep snow failed to stop the congregation of the North Oakland Christian Church from holding worship services yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Unable to enter the parking lot at Waterford Kettering High School, their usual meeting place, the churchgoers, instead, met at the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home at 855 W. Huron.

The congregation made good use of the funeral parlor's facilities.

The long frame used to support caskets was temporarily converted into a communion table. The home's viewing rooms were used for Sunday school classes.

★ ★ ★

The song, "Rise Up O Men of God," was played on the piano, to make the funeral home resound with a note of resurrection in this life.

★ ★ ★

Solemn organ music was piped in by the owners of the funeral home.

Ironically, the congregation was observing Youth Sunday.

Rabbit Talk a Hop Away?

By Science Service

MELBOURNE, Australia — Man will soon be able to communicate with rabbits through, among other things, rabbit dunghills.

★ ★ ★

An Australian government wildlife researcher, Dr. R. Mykytowycz, told the ANZAAS (Australian and New Zealand Association for the Advancement of Science) Congress, this man-rabbit conversation piece would bring about better control of the pest.

★ ★ ★

He has found that dunghills are the signposts of the rabbit world. They demarcate territory and warn stranger-rabbits to keep out. Like other animals, rabbits stick to defined paths.

★ ★ ★

Sooner or later, a rabbit invading strange territory will encounter a dunghill and be warned that he is on strange ground. Research has shown that, in these circumstances, the straying rabbit moves cautiously.

Ex-City Manager

Stierer Resigns N.Y. Post

Former Pontiac City Manager Robert A. Stierer has resigned his $16,500-a-year post as city Manager of Troy, N.Y.

★ ★ ★

Stierer, object of a controversy here in 1963 when he refused to fire then Police Chief Joseph Koren and was, in turn, fired by the City Commission, announced that he has accepted a job with New York State.

★ ★ ★

Stierer told the Troy City Council that his resignation was effective March 1. He said he could not disclose the name of his new post.

★ ★ ★

Leaving Pontiac after about seven years here, including two years as city manager, Stierer took his Troy post Jan. 1, 1964.

AN EMPTY CANYON — La Salle Street, Chicago's financial district, presents this almost deserted appearance in the wake of the city's worst snowfall in history. Trudging down the center of the street are two men trundling packing boxes. Snowplows manage to clear most downtown streets, but few businesses have been able to open.

Tiger Snakes Aid in Viet War

By Science Service

CANBERRA, Australia — A sheep rancher (grazier) who runs two sheep and dozens of deadly tiger snakes to the acre is helping Australian soldiers in Vietnam.

Some of the venom "milked" from the snakes is sent to jungle battle areas and shared by the Australian "Diggers," who must fight the reptiles, as well as the Vietcong.

Australian tiger snake venom is so potent that an antidote from it is used successfully against most types of snakebite.

The grazier, Sylvester Smith, owns a 829-acre ranch on the shores of Lake George near here. It is rated among the most snake infested country in Australia.

★ ★ ★

After the snakes are "milked," the venom is sent to the Commonwealth Serum Laboratories in Melbourne, where it is made into antivenin. The SCL supplies all antivenins in Australia to the armed forces and civilian health authorities.

Over 90 Arrested During Detroit Raid

DETROIT (UPI) — Police arrested more than 90 people during a raid on an alleged afterhours bar yesterday.

Four were charged with violating gambling and liquor laws, two were charged with assauting policemen who tried to arrest them, and the rest were accused of loitering in a place of illegal occupation.

Seven members of the police vice squad conducted the raid after two officers entered and allegedly bought liquor at the bar.

TV Viewers Are Critical of Assassination Debate

LONDON (AP) — Viewers of a television debate on the Warren Report jammed the British Broadcasting Corp. switchboard for an hour early today with calls complaining that an American critic of the report was not given a fair hearing.

The callers sided with New York lawyer Mark Lane, who contended several times during the 4½-hour program that he was not being allowed the same chance to speak as two former counsels to the Warren Commission which investigated the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

"The method adopted by the BBC tonight has done a grave disservice to truth," Lane told British Chairman Kenneth Harris at one point.

★ ★ ★

After an on-camera telephone consultation with the program's producers, Harris replied: "I don't want to hear criticism of extraneous matters such as the BBC or me."

The commission's conclusion that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone in the assassination was defended by former counsels David Belin, a lawyer in Des Moines, Iowa; and Arlen Specter, Philadelphia district attorney.

Lane is author of a book attacking the commission's findings. His 100-minute movie of the same name was shown publicly for the first time on the program.

★ ★ ★

Lord Devlin, a jurist, and Alexander M. Bickel, Yale University professor of law and legal history, summed up.

Bickel said the commission's conclusion that a single bullet hit Kennedy and Texas Gov. John B. Connally was not convincing. He suggested that the investigation be reopened.

Lord Devlin disagreed, arguing that there was no reasonable doubt of Oswald's guilt.

"Even a dead president is entitled to some bodily privacy. Let him rest in peace," Devlin said.

Thieves Take $700,000 in Gold, Gems

LONDON (AP) — Thieves broke into a London jewelry store during the weekend and stole $700,000 worth of gold and gems, police said today.

The robbery was discovered this morning. Theodore Williams, managing director of the firm of Brody Williams & Son, said the store was "cleaned out" of gold.

Police said the burglars took many diamond rings and a number of gold ingots.

The loss was discovered when an employe found he could not open the front door. The burglars had bolted it on the inside. They had severed wires, bypassing an intricate burglar alarm system, then ransacked safes.

It was believed the burglars knew this was the right weekend to strike. A large export order for Australia was packed and ready to be shipped today.

'Good Guy' Hats Good Targets

BEVERLY, Mass. (AP) — Beverly's good guys are switching from white hats to blue hats so they'll have less trouble catching bad guys.

Police Chief Edward Aucone said Sunday that, although he prefers white hats, he agreed to the change after his men said the white hats made them "good targets" and prevented them from catching burglars.

Suspects Face Arraignment

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Two drifters, suspects in the kidnap-slayings of two young Michigan women, face arraignment Feb. 3 on a charge of abducting a gambling club credit manager.

★ ★ ★

Robert Lee Gawne, 27, Ecorse, Mich., and William T. Banks, 23, Little Rock, Ark., were being held in the Washee County Jail today along with Bank's half-sister, Mary K. Evans, 21, Little Rock, for the action in federal District Court.

The trio were accused of kidnaping Mrs. Edith Grisham, credit manager of a local club, as she left work Dec. 19.

The woman said her abductors took her to California, then released her in Las Vegas Dec. 21.

★ ★ ★

Gawne and Banks also were wanted by Michigan authorities for questioning in the murders of Eileen Marie Alex, 19, Allen Park, and Mrs. Janet Stewart, 23, Dearborn Heights.

★ ★ ★

The women's bodies were found in rural areas of Indiana and Kentucky three days apart last November. Both women, who had disappeared from their Detroit area homes earlier that month, had been shot to death.

China Claims Junk Repaired by Americans

HONG KONG (AP)—The United States has repaired and returned to Communist China the fishing junk from which it rescued 48 Chinese fishermen off the coast of North Vietnam in December.

★ ★ ★

The fishermen, rescued by the U.S. Navy after a storm in the Gulf of Tonkin wrecked their junk, were flown from South Vietnam to Hong Kong Jan. 9 by a U.S. Air Force transport. They were taken to the Chinese border and turned over to Communist officials.

★ ★ ★

Their junk, a U.S. Consulate spokesman said today, was repaired at a U.S. base in South Vietnam and then brought to Hong Kong aboard a U.S. Navy LSD. It was turned over to Hong Kong's Marine Department.

★ ★ ★

Last week, it was learned, Communist China sent a crew to Hong Kong, took possession of the boat, and sailed it back to China.

WMU's Fieldhouse Damaged by Snow

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — About 150 feet of one wall of Western Michigan University's Reid Fieldhouse collapsed yesterday, apparently ffom the weight of melting snow.

★ ★ ★

Chief Safety Security officer Burt Earl expressed fear that more of the upper wall might fall.

Officials roped off the area and awaited the arrival of engineers to determine the extent of the damage and check the spread of crumbling.

Damage to the inside was reported slight.

★ ★ ★

The section that collapsed joins the wall to the roof in the southwest corner of the fieldhouse.

France, Betrothed to Bob, Awaits Word of the 'Date'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — One of the many rumors around today is that France Nuyen, the French-born, Chinese-mannered beauty from the "Suzy Wong" days, is going to marry Bob Culp, star of the "I Spy" TV series, who has written some shows she's appeared in. France, now in town with Culp, who's very big around the Regency, didn't deny to me that they are getting married . . . indeed, she said, "I'm just waiting for him to tell me when . . ."

WILSON

I told her I could remember when women set the date, but then I'm really, RREALLY D. OLD. Nowadays it's the man who sets the wedding date, to fit his, not her, convenience. And remember that's what I've been telling you! You weren't paying attention, that's all!

'Reformer' Dies

DETROIT (AP) — Kirby Wilson Jr., who spearheaded a vice inquiry that led to a shake-up of River Rouge's Police Department in the late 1950s, died Saturday at 52. Wilson was twice an unsuccessful Republican nominee for Congress in the densely Democratic 16th Congressional District. Services will be held Tuesday in Belleville.

Making Political Survey

Bobby Is in Paris for Talks

PARIS (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., met for more than an hour today with Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and then told newsmen France has a "vital significant role" in efforts to find peace in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

The brother of the late president saw the foreign minister as part of a survey of French political leaders in his three-day visit here.

★ ★ ★

He said he and Couve de Murville had discussed the future of Europe, and future relations between the United States and Europe. He said they had also discussed at length the situation in Southeast Asia and Vietnam.

Before seeing Couve de Murville, Kennedy spent an hour with Francois Mitterrand. Mitterrand is head of the federation of the Democratic and Socialist left, a political grouping which has partly joined forces with the Communists in an effort to knock out the Gaullist parliamentary majority in legislative elections next March.

UNITY PIONEER

Kennedy left Couve de Murville's office for lunch with Jean Monnet, president of the committee for a United States of Europe and one of the pioneers of the postwar European unity movements.

Kennedy is to see Cultural Minister Andre Malraux and then dine with Herve Alphand, secretary-general of the Foreign Ministry and former ambassador to Washington.

Tuesday, Kennedy will see President Charles de Gaulle and also two opposition leaders, former Premier Pierre Mendes-France and Jean Lecanuet.

Kennedy said on his arrival from London that the next few weeks will be "crucial and critical" for the war in Vietnam because of several developments. He denied saying in a talk at Oxford University that secret talks were under way, explaining that he referred to the coming visit of Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to Britain, contacts being made by various third parties in the war, and talks between the United States and North Vietnam about prisoners.

CHINA UPHEAVAL

Hanoi's view may be changing, Kennedy said, because of the recent visit to North Vietnam of three American journalists. The upheaval in Communist China may also contribute to lessening tension in Vietnam, he added.

Kennedy voiced hope on leaving London that Britain will take a major part in shaping the new Europe.

★ ★ ★

"There are changes coming and that's why I think it's important that Britain must play a major role," he said.

Kennedy saw Prime Minister Harold Wilson and attended an Anglo-American seminar of politicians and businessmen.

New Amateur Guidebook

By IVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

A basic guidebook, designed to help amateur photographers take better pictures, is a handy item to have around when you're about to take pictures of your youngster's birthday party, a new portrait of grandma or some school, church, club or sports activity.

The newest one off the presses, "The Sylvania Practical Guide to Good Pictures" by photographic writer James Forney, is available in soft cover at $1 in camera shops, stores where photo equipment is sold and at many newsstands.

Printed in large legible type on coated paper and well illustrated with black-and-white and color pictures, it is published by the Benjamin Co. Inc., New York, N.Y., and distributed throughout the country by Grosset & Dunlap.

Starting with fundamentals of what makes a camera tick, the book discusses films, shutter speeds, lenses, and apertures, artificial light and equipment, multiple lighting, portraits, movies and slide shows and equipment care.

★ ★ ★

It finishes with a photo glossary and index for easy reference to specific items.

MORE PROBLEMS

Shooting indoors undoubtedly presents more problems to amateur photographers than taking pictures outdoors.

Author Forney gives the subject preferential treatment, understandably, since the book was commissioned by Sylvania, maker of flashbulbs, photofloods and other lighting equipment.

It's helpful to understand one aspect of light indoors: its distance from a photographic subject is of major mathematical importance.

★ ★ ★

To illustrate, there's the basic standard of measurement: a foot/candle. That is the amount of light that falls on a panel measuring one foot wide by one foot high from a candle which is one foot away.

LIGHT SPREADS

Now if that candle is moved two feet away, the light spreads and illuminates a panel which is two feet high and two feet wide.

The same amount of light is distributed over four times the area, to four square feet instead of one square foot.

The principle is the same for all types of artificial light: household lamps, flashbulbs, photofloods or movie lights — when you double the distance from the light source, the subject receives one-fourth the amount of illumination.

In camera terms, you must open the lense diaphragm by two f/stops to compensate.

NUMBER SYSTEM

Fortunately, flashbulb makers have evolved a "guide number" system to avoid intricate mathematical figuring when shooting indoor flash pictures.

It is based on the particular size of flashbulb, the ASA speed of film and the shutter speed you are using.

For instance if I'm shooting a birthday party with ASA 64 Kodacolor X film at 1/125th second with AG-1B flashbulbs, the flashbulb chart tells me the guide number is 60.

The guide number is the key to proper exposures for all AG-1B flash pictures on that roll of film while shooting at the same speed.

★ ★ ★

The guide number divided by the distance of the subject gives the lens opening to be set.

With the youngster blowing out his candle six feet away, the lens would be set at f/10 (guide number, 60, divided by distance, 6 feet, equals f/10) which is between f/8 and f/11.

If the next picture is a 12-foot shot of the full group singing "Happy Birthday!", I'd open the lens two stops without having to do any arithmetic . . . although it would work out the same way.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!—A better picture of the occasion is possible with the flash off the camera or with multiple lighting, if possible. Flash variations, such as bouncing it off the ceiling or holding it high or to one side, are also aids to better quality pictures.

Mysterious Space Cabin Fire Kills 1 in Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A flash fire similar to the one that killed the three Apollo I astronauts Friday raced through a space cabin simulator today at the School of Aerospace Medicine, killing one airman and critically burning another.

Initial reports said the inside of the pressure chamber was completely charred, as was the Apollo craft at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

The fire burst out at 8:45 a.m., a Brooks Air Force Base spokesman said.

He said the airmen were performing maintenance in a 100 per cent oxygen and pressurized environment in an experiment designed to study the effects of pure oxygen on the blood of rabbits.

★ ★ ★

Ten of 12 rabbits in the chamber also were charred.

The spokesman said the airmen were in the chamber to monitor and tend to the rabbits, which were the subject of the study.

The atmosphere chamber is a large rectangle with part glass on one side and with double atmosphere locks, so that a person can go into a tiny room, close the door and then open another to step into the main chamber to prevent pressure dropping.

The space cabin had a 100 per cent oxygen environment and had pressure simulated like that at 18,000 feet altitude.

Their identities were not immediately disclosed, and the spokesman said the cause of the blaze was under investigation.

Driving Whoas

A mixture of snow, sleet and freezing rain is causing hazardous driving today on Oakland County roads and city streets.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts snow and sleet will continue through the early evening.

Tonight will find temperatures dipping into the low 20s with snow diminishing to flurries.

The bureau reports tomorrow will be mostly cloudy with a chance of some snow and the high mostly in the upper 20s.

More of the same is Thursday's prediction — cloudy and cold with possible snow and sleet.

Early morning southeasterly winds at 5 to 12 miles per hour will increase to 12 to 20 late today and shift to westerly tonight.

The low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 15. The mercury had climbed to 29 by 2 p.m.

Long-Awaited Safety Rules for U.S. Autos Due Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department publishes today long-awaited safety standards for 1968 model cars that reportedly have been toned down from original proposals that brought industry complaints.

The standards, together with safety programs to be developed by the states with federal help, are designed to reduce the 50,000-a-year death toll on the nation's highways.

Although officials declined to say anything about specific standards, one source said, "They won't be too severe."

They must be published by midnight.

An official said any softening of the original 23 proposals announced in early December is not a retreat.

STARTING POINT

"The earlier proposals were merely starting points, talking points," he said.

The department scheduled a midafternoon news conference to outline the proposals.

They can be expected to include seven standards the domestic industry has said it could meet immediately and possibly some sort of regulation on an energy-absorbing steering column favored by Dr. William Haddon Jr., the national highway safety administrator.

The installation deadline could be extended on other standards which the industry has said it can't meet immediately.

MAY BE MODIFIED

Others might be modified but perhaps not as far as the industry wants.

The department has said it would be impractical to publish standards which the industry is incapable of meeting.

The industry will have 31 days to comment on the standards.

Public Housing Loan Approved

Units for Elderly Are Planning Fund Target

A second preliminary loan for public housing in Pontiac has been approved by the federal government, U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart announced yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The loan — $26,250 — is for preliminary planning for 175 more units of public housing designed for the elderly. These units are slated for a downtown urban renewal site.

Previously, Pontiac had been approved for 250 units of public housing and awarded a preliminary loan of $42,500.

Now planned for construction under the "turnkey" method whereby a private developer builds the units and then turns them over to the public housing commission, the 250 units are tentatively slated for a site on the south side of Auburn, west of the osteopathic college site.

★ ★ ★

Roy B. MacAfee, public housing director, said Pontiac now has a program reservation for 425 public housing units designed for the elderly.

STARTING FIRST

MacAfee indicated that the Auburn units, proposed as part of a commercial - apartment complex planned by Waterford Township Developer Charles L. Langs, would probably be constructed first.

★ ★ ★

The turnkey method is generally considered a faster process.

Waterford Land-Fill Debate Draws 400; Action Tabled

By HUD WILLSE

Following a four-hour public hearing attended by more than 400 persons who crammed into the Waterford Township High School cafeteria last night, the Township Board tabled action on whether to grant a permit for a sanitary land-fill operation off Maceday Lake Road.

The board voted to defer action on the request until results of site test borings taken yesterday are revealed.

The borings should show the composition of the soil and location of the water table.

The cafeteria, which seats about 300 persons, proved inadequate for the occasion. Several late-arrivers left because of lack of space.

The standing-room-only crowd may have been the largest ever to attend a Township Board meeting.

EXPERT TESTIMONY

Highlighting the hearing was the appearance of several experts to offer testimony for and against the proposed 50-acre land-fill located near Ward's Gravel Pit.

Gerald J. McLean Jr. of Romeo, attorney for permit applicants Donald Freeman and David Ward, called on Michigan Department of Health official Fred Kellow.

Kellow, an engineer, and Oakland County health officials Oscar Boyea and Robert Coleman offered statements throughout the evening in support of the operation.

Pontiac Attorney Wallace D. McLay, representing residents of several subdivisions from Maceday and Lotus lakes, provided considerable testimony in opposition to the proposed solid waste disposal.

He called on Dr. William R. Ferrand and Dr. Henry Vanderschalie, geology professors at the University of Michigan; biologist John Bates of Eastern Michigan University; Dr. Walter Nickell of the Cranbrook Institute of Science; and parks and recreation and aviation officials.

Kellow led off the program, showing films of sanitary land-fill operations in Michigan. He pointed out that this type of undertaking is the most economical means to dispose of trash, costing each person about 50 cents to $1 per year.

An incinerator system, said Kellow, costs more than $2 a year.

McLean emphasized that the operation must comply with Act 87 under terms of the license granted last month by the State Health Department.

McLean added that his clients are agreeable to complying with any reasonable requests of the township.

However, it was pointed out that the Township Board thus far hasn't prepared any ground rules for the proposed land-fill.

One of the major issues is the extensiveness of the operation. Should it be restricted to Waterford Township residents?

Said McLay: "Are we going to have any more fishing and swimming in these lakes? That is the issue."

Contending that the land-fill would eventually result in pollution, McLay said, "You will wind up with dead lakes in due course."

Rehabilitation Unit Opened at St. Joseph's

A new 25-bed in-patient rehabilitation care unit opened yesterday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, marking the completion of Phase I of the hospital's expansion and modernization program started three years ago.

The facility, coupled with additional physical therapy and occupational therapy services, is the first acute care rehabilitation service available in Oakland County and one of five such units in the state.

According to Bernard Tresnowski, associate administrator at the hospital, patients admitted to the unit are severely disabled and need intensive and extensive restorative services so they can return to their jobs and a place in the community.

"For many years St. Joseph Mercy Hospital has provided an extensive outpatient physical medicine program," said Tresnowski. "The availability of the new in-patient unit and the new physical and occupational ther-

Final Rites Today for 3 Astronauts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey led today in graveside homage to the three astronauts killed in a spacecraft inferno.

First to go to rest, on a wintry hilltop in Arlington National Cemetery, was Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom.

Johnson stood with hat on heart during the final honors and at the end, when the blonde widow Betty had received the flag which had draped the casket, the President pressed her hand and the hands of the two sons, Scott, 16, and Mark, 13.

Next on the sad schedule were the burials of:

- Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II at 11:00 a.m. at the Military Academy at West Point, N.Y.
- Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee at 1:00 p.m., side by side with Grissom at Arlington.

★ ★ ★

In a brief graveside sermon before Grissom's burial the Rev. Roy Van Tassel, of the astronaut's home church, the Church of Christ, Mitchell, Ind., spoke of Grissom's "wonderful life, filled with wonderful experience—a life of service to his country and his fellow men."

GREAT HERO

"He was one of the great heroes of the space age," the minister said.

Now, he said, the spirit has departed the body. But he spoke of a future day and "the hope that God will fashion our bodies like unto His glorious body."

As the flag-draped casket on a caisson came up the hill, an Air Force band played "Onward Christian Soldiers" and then, "Faith of Our Fathers."

★ ★ ★

Guns roared in final salute and overhead three F101 fighters streaked in diamond formation, with one of the corners missing, in symbolism of a departed comrade.

Among hundreds of people who attended the ceremony were members of Congress, Cabinet officers and other notables.

7 Recaptured; Warden Fired

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Gov. Paul Laxalt took command of 40 men to capture seven state prison escapees yesterday — then fired Warden Jack Fogliani on the spot.

Bars on death row were opened during the escape but none of the six men sentenced to the gas chamber left.

The seven escapees, including a convicted murderer, kidnaper and rapist, overpowered two guards in the maximum-security section.

They captured another guard and a maintenance man, stripped them, exchanged clothing and locked them in isolation cells.

★ ★ ★

The convicts sawed through bars and climbed over two fences to escape. They were armed with knives.

RECAPTURED

They were caught one by one within two hours.

Forty deputies, highway patrol officers, policemen and prison guards surrounded them within a mile of the penitentiary.

It was the second escape in five days.

Time of Key Speech Debated

LANSING (AP) — State senators battled Monday night over the time of day Gov. George Romney should be allowed to present his budget message to the Legislature.

★ ★ ★

Republicans prevailed in the 17-10 party - line vote on a concurrent resolution inviting Romney to present his message — expected to include a state income tax proposal — to the Legislature at a 7 p.m. session Thursday.

Earlier, Republicans and Democrats split their votes in approving a Senate bill providing for $3.57 million in supplemental appropriations for capital outlay — mostly for construction projects at higher education facilities.

★ ★ ★

The House, where only 25 of the 110 members showed up after leaders of both parties agreed to hold off business until Wednesday, met for seven minutes. It adjourned without taking any action.

Republican Speaker Robert Waldron and Democratic leader Joseph Kowalski sent telegrams to House members Saturday, following the snowstorm in Lansing, indicating they did not expect a quroum until Wednesday.

The party - line fight in the Senate broke out over a resolution introduced by Sen. Robert Vander Laan, R - Grand Rapids, to invite the governor to present his budget message to a joint session of the House and Senate at 7 p.m. Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, R - St. Louis, said that although the time was a departure from the usual morning presentation, it would allow maximum television coverage of Romney's message.

★ ★ ★

After a lengthy squabble over parliamentary procedure, the resolution passed 17 - 10 and was sent to the House.

Last Moments of Spacemen

NY Times Quotes Engineer on Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today that the last words heard from the three Apollo 1 astronauts who were killed last Friday were: "We're on fire! Get us out of here!"

The Times story gave this account:

The astronauts' last moments, clocked at 12 seconds, were described by an engineer who spent most of the day listening to tape recordings of the fatal test and who heard reports from men on the launching pad at the time of the tragedy.

★ ★ ★

Commander Chaffee and the other crewmen, Lt. Cols. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II of the Air Force were scrambling, clawing and pounding to open the sealed hatch and escape the inferno in their Apollo cockpit, the source said.

UNYIELDING

But the hatch was unyielding, he said, and they had no time to reach for the ratchet that is normally used to unscrew it. There was no automatic release button.

The first hint of trouble, according to the source, came in almost casual tones.

"Fire . . . I smell fire," an unidentified astronaut reported over the intercom.

Two seconds passed.

★ ★ ★

"Fire in the cockpit!" cried Col. White. This time the voice was sharp and insistent. It was identified as Col. White's by Donald K. Slayton, a former astronaut and new chief of crew operations.

Ford Wants President to Cut Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leader Gerald Ford wants President Johnson to submit a revised budget. He says "the House Appropriations Committee could force him to do so" by refusing to hold hearings on the $135-billion spending program.

In a Roanoke, Va., speech Monday night, Ford also called for a lower debt limit. He said "the President could cut several billions out of the fiscal 1968 budget if he would set a lower ceiling on it and instruct his budget director to squeeze spending under that roof."

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, one of Ford's GOP colleagues attacked an administration attempt to get the national debt ceiling raised by $7 billion to $337 billion.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., told Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler he wants participation sales included in the debt figures. Byrnes' demand came as Fowler presented his case for an increase in the debt limit before the House Ways and Means Committee.

SALE PLANNED

The administration plans the sale of $3.9 billion of participation interests in pools of government-held loans. Such sales are listed in the budget as "negative expenditures" and are used to reduce the spending side of the budget.

Fowler and Budget Director Charles L. Schultze insisted the sales of interest in government agency loans don't constitute a debt of the government, which has only a contingent liability to make them good if federal agencies fail to.

Schultze said if the participation sales were included in the national debt, all other contingent liabilities also should be included. This would raise the national debt some $105 billion, he said.

FAMILY BURNED OUT — Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hitsman and their nine children, ranging in age from 4 to 17 are homeless since a fire early yesterday destroyed their Vienna Twp. home near Flint. The family was awakened by Linda, 15, who was aroused by the heat. The family fled in their nightclothes. Fire trucks were unable to reach the house in time because the road had not yet been cleared after the two-foot snowfall last week.

Appeals Court Voids Draft 'Punishment'

NEW YORK (AP) — A U.S. Court of Appeals has ruled that local draft boards cannot reclassify registrants 1A as a punishment for publicly protesting the war in Vietnam. Persons classified 1A can be called for the draft immediately.

The court said Monday it was reluctant to intervene in Selective Service matters but added that allegations "that the draft boards have unlawfully suppressed criticism must take precedence."

★ ★ ★

With its unanimous decision, the three-judge panel reinstituted a lower-court action by two University of Michigan students seeking to block their induction into the service.

The students were reclassified — to 1A after they participated in an antiwar demonstration in Ann Arbor, Mich., site of the university.

JURISDICTION EXCEEDED

The appeals court held the draft boards exceeded their jurisdiction and acted in violation of the First Amendment rights of free speech.

"Here, it is the free expression of views of critical national importance that is jeopardized," wrote Judge Harold R. Medina in the opinion concurred in by Judges Henry J. Friendly and J. Joseph Smith.

"On such topics perhaps more than any other it is imperative that the public debate be full and that each segment of our society be permitted freely to express its views," the court said.

The students involved, Peter Wolff, 29, of New York City and Richard Shortt, 22, of Fresh Meadows, Queens, took part in a sit-in Oct. 15, 1965, outside a draft board in Ann Arbor.

Probers Secret on Apollo I Fire

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Several weeks may be required to pinpoint the cause of the flash fire that killed the Apollo 1 astronauts. There is a possibility the problem may never be traced.

There were hints along these lines today as a board of inquiry met again to probe the deaths of the three astronauts on the day of their burials.

★ ★ ★

Killed in a fire that raced through their space ship during a launch-pad test last Friday were Air Force Lt. Cols. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee.

The 15-man board of inquiry, headed by Dr. Floyd Thompson of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Langley (Va.) Research Center, has wrapped its investigation in secrecy.

apy facilities will further enhance what has become one of programs of the hospital."

Phase I of the modernization program was financed in part by a $1.5-million grant from the federal government. The rehabilitation unit was partly financed by a grant of $150,000 from Hill-Burton funds.

EARLY SPRING

Phase II of the building program is scheduled to begin in early spring.

The second construction stage will add an eight-story wing leading off the front center of the hospital, and a five-story wing on the south side of the building.

The new facilities will contain 22 beds for intensive and coronary care; a 25-bed self - care unit; a 31-bed psychiatric unit and a 22-bed adolescent division; in addition to a maternity floor, a radiological department, new operating rooms; and a pathology and clinical laboratory.

Architectural, mechanical and electrical drawings and specifications are nearing completion and bids for the project will be sought in March, said Tresnowski.

Financing of Phase II will be supported in part by the successful capital funds campaign completed in 1966 when $3,624,823 was raised.

Plans Begun for 6-County Transit Unit

DETROIT (AP) — Public and private transportation officials today began laying plans for a mass transit authority consolidating bus and rail transportation in six southeastern Michigan counties, including Oakland.

Officials of the Detroit Street Railways and the Michigan Motor Bus Association announced Monday they had joined forces to push for a regional authority which would buy and operate the DSR, Detroit's publicly owned bus system, and at least eight private bus companies.

Representatives of the association and the DSR are to meet next Monday to draft the proposed legislation.

More than 90 per cent of Michigan's population would be served by the planned expansion of bus and train service in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw, Monroe and St. Clair counties.

WARNING VOICED

Peter B. Spivak, chairman of the Public Service Commission, warned Monday's gathering of transit officials that "the public will be marooned" in the future by lack of adequate transportation.

Bus companies represented at the meeting were Great Lakes Transit Corp., Metroplitan Transit, Inc., Martin Lines, Inc., Northville Transportation Co., Towers, Inc., Brooks Transportation Co., and Eastern Greyhound Lines.

City Streets Replowed

For safety's sake, city driveways are apt to be plowed in again, despite back-breaking efforts by residents to clear them.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said today that city crews are in the process of replowing streets to move the snow farther back from the roadway.

Warren cited three reasons for the replowing. These are:

- The necessity of opening streets as nearly as possible to their regular width for traffic flow.
- Moving the snow so that in the event of a thaw the water can flow into catch basins.

★ ★ ★

- Unless the snow is moved back, there is no place to put new snow, notably, a second heavy snowfall.

Warren emphasized that the replowing was necessary.

Snow Removal Exhausts Fund

BIRMINGHAM — Last week's snow will cost the city about $15,000, wiping out the funds set aside for snow removal this year, Thomas Brien, superintendent of Public works, said today.

"We had $23,000 bugeted for the job and we've gone over that already," said Brien, whose department was praised by city commissioners last night for clearing streets of snow.

Mayor Robert Page said it was an "admirable effort" and then added that the "task was beyond our capabilities."

"It was a good job, but we will have to do better," said Page.

★ ★ ★

Brien said that all of the city's snow removal equipment was pressed into service and manned by some 29 members of the DPW and Forestry departments.

HIRING ATTEMPTS

Attempts to hire outside contractors failed immediately after the snowfall, he said.

Over the weekend a trucking firm was hired to remove mountains of snow plowed into areas of five parking lots and the center of Woodward Avenue.

The cost for this operation was about $6,000, according to Brien.

★ ★ ★

He noted that removal costs of the recent snowfall exceeded the $10,000 spent during the last heavy snow in February 1965 because of increased labor costs.

SUGGESTION

Brien suggested that the commission consider purchasing two plows that could be attached to rubbish trucks that sat idle last week.

★ ★ ★

"Because of the time involved in taking bids and the delivery, it would probably be next winter before they could be put into use," said Brien.

★ ★ ★

Unless there are surpluses indicated in other DPW operations, Brien said it may be necessary to go back to the commission for additional snow removal funds this year.

Commission to Get Notice of Hospital Project OK

The City Commission is expected to receive notice tonight that preliminary approval has been given to a federal grant for construction of new emergency facilities at Pontiac General Hospital.

A letter from the State Health Department okaying the $293,000 building project has been sent to city officials, according to City Manager Joseph A. Warren.

Other items being drawn up for commission consideration include designation of a city committee on housing; proposal of a city land purchase, and proposed construction of part of the Richton Storm Drain.

The housing committee, presently an informal group, has asked for city backing in carrying out a study of housing needs in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

A resolution drawn together by Warren would name Howard H. Fitzgerald II, publisher of The Pontiac Press, as chairman of the group and would also outline committee responsibilities.

PLAYGROUND

The land purchase, to cost the city an estimated $300, would "square off" the present Kiwanis playground between Sanford, Osmun and Going.

The land tract is 40-by-80 feet.

Director of Public Works Joseph E. Neipling has proposed immediate work on the Richton Storm Drain because of impending construction of the new Consumers Power Co. service building.

★ ★ ★

The new building is to be erected south of Featherstone, just inside city limits.

A $2,500 section of pipe will replace a previous open ditch used to receive a city storm sewer.

The piping will eventually become part of the Richton Storm Drain, scheduled for a construction start later this year.

Area Land-Fill Move Deferred

tioned possible hazards the operation might cause for aircraft approaching and embarking from nearby Pontiac Municipal Airport, if smoke prevailed and if birds were attracted to the site.

Ferrand said contaminates from the land-fill would get into the ground water supply and eventually pollute Maceday Lake, taking between three and 12 years to reach the lake.

★ ★ ★

Said Bates: "When we are adding nutrients to a body of water, we are hastening its demise."

'HATE TO SEE IT'

Dr. Vanderschalie said: "I would hate to see any more ruination. In 10 years, your ground water will not be what it used to be."

Dr. Nickell said the presence of sea gulls would be inevitable.

"There is almost no doubt that this area would be attractive to these birds. "You couldn't cover it quickly enough to keep them away."

★ ★ ★

Kellow, however, said the bird problem doesn't exist at properly operated sanitary land-fills. The key to a land-fill, he said, is control — compaction and cover every day.

★ ★ ★

The health officials generally maintained their stand that properly operated solid waste disposal sites do not create hazards to public health.

City Road Project Bid Opening Set

Bids on an estimated $80,000 street project in Pontiac will be opened in Lansing Feb. 8 by the Michigan Department of State Highways.

The project involves the widening, paving and installation of traffic controls on Oakland at the Cass-Montcalm intersection. The work is scheduled for completion by Aug. 31.

LBJ Asks Benefit Hike in GI Bill for Viet Vets

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today to increase educational and other benefits of veterans of the Vietnam war.

Johnson asked benefits for Vietnam veterans equal to those granted veterans of the two world wars and Korea.

★ ★ ★

He said that because of certain gaps in the law, "today's veterans, his family and his children are in need of benefits other war veterans receive.

★ ★ ★

"It is only right that these loopholes be closed," Johnson added. "It is a matter of simple fairness that the veterans of the Mekong Delta and Chu Lai be placed on a par with veterans of Pork Chop Hill and Iwo Jima"—famed battles of the Korean War and World War II respectively.

Specifically, Johnson recommended that benefits to veterans who have served since Aug. 5, 1964 include:

—Disability compensation at full wartime rates for all veterans.

—Disability pensions for veterans and death pensions for widows and children of veterans.

—Special medical care benefits, including medicine and drugs for severly disabled veterans on the pension rolls.

★ ★ ★

—$1,600 toward the purchase of an automobile by veterans with special disabilities.

The new GI bill which went into effect last June would be amended so veterans could receive benefits to complete high school without any loss of college benefits.

Under the present bill, each month the veteran pursues a high school education, he loses a month of eligibility for college benefits.

MSU Medical Growth a 2-Way Pill

By L. GARY THORNE
Asst. City Editor — Suburban

Translated in terms of Pontiac's projected osteopathic college, either good or bad could result from the latest action by the State Board of Education to give a green light for expanded medical education at Michigan state University.

THORNE

Osteopathic officials, thinking positive, indicate they see some advantage to the board's decision.

According to present political barometers, the "good" would be a more rapid consideration by state authorities of the osteopath quest for state financial aid — the whole object of present endeavors.

"It (the board's decision) will have an effect I'm sure, but just what, I don't know," commented William Coleman, college vice president of planning and development.

News Analysis

Coleman, and other osteopathic spokesmen, have repeatedly maintained that Michigan needs both expansion of the state's existing medical schools and also the new osteopathic facility.

The "bad" from the state board's decision is more obvious. It could mean a further delay for the osteopaths in winning state support.

Michigan has two full-term medical schools — Wayne State University and the University of Michigan. MSU has a two-year human medicine program.

★ ★ ★

The state board's recent action approved major expansion of existing facilities, including the upgrading of MSU's program to a four-year medical college.

While the state board has authorized the expansions, it still falls to the Legislature to provide the funds.

MSU plans, while immediately requiring only planning funds, would cost an estimated $26 million which include a 300-bed clinical hospital.

★ ★ ★

Approval of the medical expansion program had been subject to controversy because of the designs of the osteopaths for state aid.

BOARD VOTE

As late as last month, the board voted 4-4 on the expansion plans, in effect rejecting them, pending more information on the school slated for Pontiac's east side, Auburn and Opdyke.

Osteopaths currently are gathering the requested information.

Dr. J. Vincent Murphy, an osteopathic spokesman, told the state board that the osteopathic college proposal should be considered on its own merits.

Dr. Murphy rejected a suggestion that medical facilities for osteopaths might be made at a state-supported institution.

'PATHS DIFFER

"It would be like having a school for Catholics and Jews, said Dr. Murphy. "We worship the same God, but we reach him by different paths."

Characterized at one point as a financial rival to MSU expansion, the osteopathic college plan has appeared to force the State Board of Education to examine the entire field of new medical education facilities.

The board's action last month on the tie would support this view. Now, however, it appears the state board is willing to go ahead with expansion of existing institutions before the osteopaths have issued a full report on their plans.

Ethics Panel Takes Dodd Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee, rejecting arguments by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, has decided to hold public hearings into the Connecticut Democrat's financial affairs.

Dodd's chief counsel, John Sonnett, contended Monday at a closed committee session that the Senate is not empowered to investigate the senator's financial activities.

★ ★ ★

After a meeting of nearly four hours, the committee issued a statement saying that after carefully considering that contention, it decided it does have jurisdiction.

★ ★ ★

Staff investigators have spent months on the probe and have examined subpoenaed financial records.

The bipartisan committee, in a statement issued by Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., and Vice Chairman Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, said it had ordered public hearings to be held "as soon as practicable."

★ ★ ★

The vote upholding the committee's jurisdiction reportedly was unanimous. It was understood, however, that the vote to conduct public hearings was split.

★ ★ ★

The committee's investigation of misconduct charges against Dodd began a year ago. One set of public hearings was held last summer, dealing with Dodd's relations with Chicago public relations man Julius Klein, a registered agent for West German business interests.

After Monday's meeting, neither Dodd nor Sonnet commented on their challenge to the committee's authority.

GAVE PERMISSION

However, the committee gave Sonnett permission to make public the legal arguments he presented. He said he would after receiving a transcript of the closed session.

★ ★ ★

Stennis and Bennett said the financial matters under investigation, as previously announced, include the receipt and use by Dodd, or persons or committees acting for him, of campaign funds raised between 1961 and 1965.

★ ★ ★

They also said the inquiry involves Senate payment of travel expenses to Dodd and "the propriety of Sen. Dodd's acceptance and use of automobiles loaned by a Connecticut contractor."

Crash of DC6 Kills 3 in Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A military contract plane carrying Air Force priority cargo crashed in heavy fog today and all three crewmen were killed.

The craft, a DC6 operated by Saturn Airways, cracked up in a pasture two miles north of San Antonio's International Airport about 3:30 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Names of the dead were not immediately available.

Earl Cato, assistant chief of the control tower at International Airport, said the cargo carrier was inbound from Davis-Monthan Air Force Base at Tucson, Ariz., for Kelly Air Force Base on the south side of San Antonio.

FORCED DIVERSION

Fog closing in Kelly forced diversion of the ship to the airport about 15 miles across the city, Cato said.

Peace officers at the scene, Catoan d a Saturn official based here said there were only three men aboard.

Sisters Plan 'Homecoming'

MANISTEE (UPI) — Five sisters who worked a total of 147 years with the same company have retired to help a sixth sister run their home here.

Three of the Gorch sisters, Frances, 68; Sophie 67; and Regina, 65, started working for the Goshen Shirt factory here in 1917 and stayed on when it became Glen of Michigan in 1935.

Sadie, 70, joined the firm in 1938 and Mary, 71, came to work in 1941.

All five are charter members of Local 355 of the International Ladies Garment Workers union, organized in 1942.

A younger sister, Celia, stayed home.

Old-Fashioned, Drafty house windows are replaced with test proved Nu-Sash

...giving ultra-comfort and drastically cutting fuel bills

Nu-Sash windows perform where old obsolete windows do not! Furthermore, you SAVE MONEY by converting to Nu-Sash.

Putting up with troublesome, outdated, loose-fitting problem windows is costly and annoying to the homeowner who wants to live in a modern home. However, a handsome new product—Nu-Sash—now provides an easy, economical solution at an amazing low cost. Homeowners everywhere are finding that by converting to Nu-Sash aluminum replacement windows, complete and maximum comfort is gained without major remodeling.

Nu-Sash is a window specifically designed to replace old, out-of-date windows.

One of the greatest features of Nu-Sash is that the window is installed without touching inside plaster and woodwork. This means no dusty and dirty installation work. Expert workmen remove the old sash and track, insert new aluminum jamb liners and tracks, then custom fit Nu-Sash securely into place. Complete installation, which is included in the new low cost of Nu-Sash, is done fast, safely and expertly.

Nu-Sash Pays For Itself

Savings in heating bills will pay for a Nu-Sash conversion. Many more time and money saving features in Nu-Sash are gained since the anodized aluminum unit never needs paint, putty, caulking and other yearly household work and maintenance.

Nu-Sash qualify for low-interest home improvement loans. The window is rated superior to standards set up by FHA for new construction requirements.

The Nu-Sash window recently appeared in issues of the Better Homes & Gardens magazine. It was awarded the guarantee seal of that publication.

Ah, the Good Old Days . . .

Snowstorm Stirs Memories

An old-fashioned winter!

A three-day confinement due to heavy snow as lived through by most of the people of Oakland County last weekend can awaken memories.

An oldster will remember when it was the sound of sleigh bells one listened for — not the roar of the snowplow to break the rural isolation.

Anyone who made it through the storm was entitled to a feast.

★ ★ ★

The "root cellar" — yesterday's refrigerator — yielded hams and sides of beef. There were carrots buried under the sand and potatoes piled in the corner. Eggs sat in their water glass solution ready for use.

On the shelves were rows and rows of home-canned fruit and vegetables.

After the feast, everyone gathered around the potbellied stove to hear about the great storm of '86, or some such other similar happening.

A sing around the old piano often followed.

★ ★ ★

Time to go — and bricks were warmed in the oven and extra blankets produced to keep the company warm on the way home.

★ ★ ★

Snorting horses breathing frosty ribbons of air were hitched up and the company disappeared into the snowy night — once again to the accompaniment of jingle bells.

Property Tax Up? Problem Widespread

Area News

By JEAN SAILE

Residents of suburban Oakland County, their 1966 tax bills already in hand, know that taxes are going up.

But why?

Until this year it's been an almost impossible feat to get clear understanding.

There have been the assessments (tax value) — varying as much in different communities as from 10 per cent on vacant property to a full 50 per cent of market value in areas which have striven to meet requirements of Michigan's new state constitution.

★ ★ ★

Assessors themselves admit that good assessing is a never-ending job and that is is almost impossible to have all property fairly assessed at any given time.

ASSESSOR'S GOAL

The aim of the majority of communities is, of course, the state's required assessment at 50 per cent of market value.

And in Oakland County (with the exception of the built - up metropolitan areas) property values have been on the rise — a fact amply reflected in this year's tax bills.

Theoretically an assessment adjustment should be made every year, and every time a piece of property changes owners, assessors claim.

★ ★ ★

Few assessing departments have that much manpower.

TAX BILLS REFLECT RISE

Taxpayers, meantime, see the results sporadically — only every five or so years as assessors make another reevaluation in their area. Then the tax bill goes up — it rarely ever comes down, not even in the case of aging homes.

What taxpayers do not see, however, has been the undercover part played by what tax authorities call "the equalization factor," which hopefully is about to be abolished.

The "equalization factor" amounts to a mustard plaster applied to an underweight assessed value of the community.

★ ★ ★

It's the cure-all that tax authorities have turned to, to make each community pay its fair share of state and county government — regardless of their respective assessment rates.

TOWNSHIPS LAGGING

County records show that townships have been the laggards in bringing assessments up to the required 50 per cent. Some which have been assessing under 25 per cent are this year striving only for that amount.

The state last year gave them a year's grace to come up to par. That year is over.

What authorities do admit, however, is that there is no enforcement for those communities that do not choose to conform.

★ ★ ★

The state's only recourse is the old "equalization factor."

BLAME

In this day of rising taxes, home owners are apt to blame a 50 per cent assessment rate for rising taxes.

They fail to see that the "factor" has already built their assessments to that level.

Where the hurt really comes in, is on vacant land. For many years it has been assessed low—in some cases only as much as 10 per cent or below.

★ ★ ★

The factor has had to take the low assessment into consideration, and as a result in areas where there is a lot of vacant land, home owners may have paid more than their fair share of taxes.

OWNERS COMPLAIN

Owners of such land — held often for speculation—have been quick to complain when townships slapped a rising, or in some cases the full 50 per cent market value assessment on the property.

The taxes have shot up alarmingly.

Unfortunately, the assessors haven't been able to bring improved property down accordingly, with rising values and rising costs of government taking up the slack.

UNIFORMITY OF ASSESSMENT

What assessors do hope will happen with the 50 per cent uniformity of assessment is that taxpayers will have some clear idea of what they are actually paying. They also hope to eliminate the spread of inequities.

★ ★ ★

It's something of a mess—and at this time of year the assessor is the least popular man in town.

Assessment Clause Impact Due

Public Act. 288 of 1966, effective last July 12, will have a profound effect on village assessments.

The clause expected to have repercussions is that which states "An assessment for village taxes shall be identical to the assessments made by the Supervisor for the township in which the village is located."

★ ★ ★

Many villages in Oakland County hire their own assessor who has assessed separately from the township and whose figures have been either higher or lower than the township assessment.

While the new State Constitution's requirement for a 50 per cent of market value assessment affects villages as well as townships, in many areas the requirement has not been met.

On Dean's List

CLARKSTON — Bicki Sue Burley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Burley of 9848 Hadley, has been named to the dean's list at Ithaca College, N.Y., according to the school. She is a senior in the school of health and physical education.

Voters Asked to Double Troy Commissioners' Pay

TROY — The City Commission voted 4 to 3 last night to place a salary raise for commissioners on the April 3 ballot.

The proposal would raise a commissioner's pay per meeting from $10 with a $600 per year maximum to double that figure, $20 and $1,200.

The new salary scale, if approved by voters, would not have effect until after a commission member won an election or was reelected.

The city also approved seeking a federal grant to obtain a park site. The total cost of the property is estimated at $100,000. The site is between 18 and 17 Mile roads and Rochester and John R.

★ ★ ★

Three sewer projects at an estimated total cost of $150,260 were approved and hearings set for March 6 on the assessment rolls.

PROJECTS

The projects are: Lovington from Minnesota to Dequindre, cost $91,000, assessment $6.74 per front foot and two cents per square foot; Muer, west of Crooks, cost $43,550, assessment $1,244.29 per unit; Olympia, west of Livernois, cost $15,710, assessment $12.80 per front foot.

Yoga Expert Will Visit 3 Schools

Three area high schools will be host to lectures Wednesday by Ed Schetter, Wisconsin yoga expert.

★ ★ ★

Schetter is scheduled to speak at 2:30 p.m. at Almont High School, 10:20 a.m. at Avondale Junior High School and at 8:40 a.m. at Lake Orion Junior High School.

Only Incumbents Filed for Offices on Oxford Ballot

OXFORD — None but the incumbents have filed nominating petitions for the village's March 13 election.

★ ★ ★

Meeting the deadline were Edmund Unger, village president, and councilmen Homer Hight and Jay Allen.

Unger has served the council eight years, Hight three years, and Allen one year.

★ ★ ★

The top two vote-getters will receive two-year terms on the council and the third man a one-year term, according to Village Manager Robert Smalley.

Ex-Garden City Leaders Face Trial

DETROIT (UPI) — Three former Garden City leaders were bound over for trial yesterday on charges involving an alleged $12,000 rake-off in the 1961 sale of the city civic center site.

Former Mayor Edwin Frech, former Councilman Eugene Salvatore and former City Attorney Evan Callanan were bound over by Wayne Municipal Judge John C. Siler on seven counts on the charge.

★ ★ ★

The three were originally indicted by Wayne County's one-man grand juror, Judge George Bowles.

Suits Complicate Incorporation

NOVI — Suits and countersuits surrounding the village's attempts to incorporate as a home rule city have become "so complicated" that a show cause hearing yesterday was postponed.

C. A. Smith, who heads a village citizens committee, said the Circuit Court judges will meet next Monday to select one judge to hear the several cases which are now in court.

★ ★ ★

After Judge James S. Thorburn ruled that the village can legally vote on incorporation and is not bound by a state statute, the township sought a permanent injunction to prevent a vote.

The village citizens committee filed a countersuit to prevent the township from interfering in the April 4 vote.

Contracts Let for Rochester High Addition

ROCHESTER—Contracts totaling $1,153,596 were awarded by the Board of Education last night for construction of the auditorium, swimming pool and building bridge at the senior high school.

Schools Supt. Douglas Lund said the contracts came in $80,000 under the budget even with the added purchase of seating for the auditorium which was not contracted.

General contractor is Leslie Construction Co. of Ferndale at $793,711; mechanical contractor is Rewoldt Co. of Southfield at $252,790; and the electrical contractor is Ross-Pierce of Birmingham at $107,095.

The board also appointed remedial reading teacher Mrs. Phyllis Hill to the principalship at McGregor Elementary School.

★ ★ ★

A former teacher at Meadowbrook Elementary, she will assume her new duties once a replacement is found, Lund said.

Wixom Ball Is Scheduled

WIXOM — The Inter-Lakes Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., will hold a Sweetheart's Valentine's Ball at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the Michigan UAW Hall, 28700 Wixom.

Music will be furnished by Jay Michael's Moonlite Orchestra.

★ ★ ★

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Leland Percy, 8336 Lagoon, Commerce Township, or from any member of Sweet Adelines.

Cake Decorating

CLARKSTON — A cake-decorating course will be offered by the Bailey Lake Elementary School PTA, starting 7:30 p.m. tonight at the school, 8051 Pine Knob.

The classes, taught by Mrs. Russell Thorne, 9214 Menominee, will run for seven weeks.

Fire Victim Is 2

DETROIT (AP) — Keith Hargrove, 2, son of Mrs. Diane Hargrove, burned to death Monday after he returned to his two-story frame home in midtown Detroit during a fire. The boy, rescued by a babysitter, apparently reentered the home while the sitter called police.

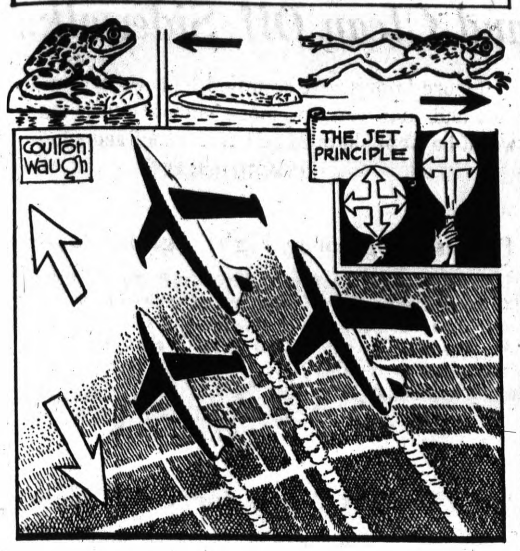
Junior Editors Quiz on JET ENGINES



QUESTION: How does a jet engine work?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: "To every action there is an equal and opposite reaction." This is the famous law of motion stated for the first time by Sir Isaac Newton in 1687.

It is the principle which explains the jet propulsion engine. Look at the frog sitting on a bit of floating wood. He jumps—that is the action; but he has kicked the wood back—that is the reaction.

Blow up a balloon with air and hold it tight so the air can't escape. The air will be pushing against it, inside, from all directions (arrows in picture). Now release it. The air rushes out through the opening where you blew it in (action). The balloon darts upward (reaction).

Jet engines produce power in much the same way. Either a fuel is burned which releases hot gases or compressed, squeezed-down air is mixed with the fuel. The fuel burns, the exhaust gases roar out from the tailpipe.

Like the air bursting out of the opened balloon, this is action. The reaction comes as the plane leaps forward and into the air.

5 State Gls Die

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department said Monday five Army men from Michigan were killed in action in Vietnam. They were: Spec. 4 John F. Bankowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bankowski of Dearborn Heights; Spec. 4 Clark Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Walker of Bronson; Pfc. Jose J. Boyless, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Boyless of Taylor; Pfc. Peter J. Keller Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Keller Sr. of Detroit and Pfc. Lawrence S. Vogel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Vogel of Grand Rapids.

Presaged by Poet Protest

Comatose Culture Is Reviving

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON — Almost everywhere you look you can see signs of a cultural awakening in America, although there are still isolated pockets of drowsiness.

President Johnson's recent emergence as an art critic is certain to give impetus to the mounting interest in aesthetic matters, as is Sen. Dirksen's rise as a recording star.

No single WEST development, however, has been more encouraging then an abortive but apparently continuing attempt to overthrow the poet laureate of Maryland.

I don't mean that as a slam at his laureateship, the Hon. Vincent Godfrey Burns. On the contrary, I rather tend to be on his side.

Charges by an insurgent faction in the Maryland Poetry Society that Burns lacks the credentials for such a lofty franchise impress me as being ill-founded.

Burns' fitness for the position is not my concern, however. What thrills me is the fact that poetry, good or bad, has become a cause for rebellion.

Exceptions granted, but poetry lovers revolt when their sensitivities are offended. They are more inclined to go off in the corner and sulk.

I recently visited a suburban Maryland community and took an informal street corner poll to see how the public at large stood on the issue. The majority was of the opinion that Burns was a utility infielder for the Baltimore Orioles.

Nation Grieved by Astronauts' Fate

America mourns the tragic death of three of her fine astronauts in a malfunction of an Apollo moonship undergoing simulation of the Feb. 21 launch for a two-week space voyage.

Two of the victims of the eruptive fire that engulfed the interior of the craft were space trailblazers. VIRGIL I. GRISSOM played a heroic role in both Mercury and Gemini programs while EDWARD H. WHITE II was the first U.S. astronaut to leave his ship and become a human satellite. The third member of the ill-fated crew, ROGER B. CHAFFEE, was a freshman preparing for his first venture into space.

It lessens in no degree the sorrow over the agonizing fate suffered by these pioneers of U. S. space research to say that such a price would inevitably be exacted as our celestial programs assumed ever broader proportions. It can be said, however, that to date there has been a miraculous record of survival by our valiant spacemen.

★ ★ ★

No effort should be spared to pinpoint responsibility—be it human or mechanical — for the disaster at Cape Kennedy to obviate possibility of repetition of the catastrophe for craft either earth-positioned or racing through the heavens.

History is replete with national heroes who gave their lives in war and peace in support of American ideals and aspirations. The names of Astronauts GRISSOM, WHITE and CHAFFEE will add luster to that immortal roll of honor.

Nature Throws Her Winter Punch at Midwest

Described by the U.S. Weather Bureau as "one of the biggest snowstorms of the century," the 100-mile-wide wave of snow that created varying degrees of havoc in the Midwest is now history.

Setting a new snowfall record for Chicago, the storm hit with spotty severity in Michigan. Kalamazoo was the worst affected, though many Lower Michigan cities suffered crippling effects.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac area got its lumps a-plenty during the weather tantrum that set in Thursday and blew itself out 36 hours later. Although not equaling in magnitude the February blast of two years ago, it brought discomfort, inconvenience and disruption of many services to the community.

On Friday, schools were closed and many places of business remained dark.

Despite the extreme handicaps under which it labored, public transportation did an admirable job of transporting not only regular patrons but those whose cars were immobilized by clogged streets or functional failure.

Once more, the City's department of public works measured up to the emergency thrust upon it and worked effectively and without letup to clear streets for traffic and the speedy resumption of normal travel.

We have a particular word of praise for the loyalty and zeal of our force of 1,001 newspaperboys who daily deliver some 72,000 papers. While residential mail service was suspended for two days, there was no disruption in the routine delivery of The Press within the City.

Marvels of Yesterday, Commonplace Today

We live in a fantastic age. Everyone agrees with that, but few realize just how fantastic it actually is—or why. To many, the dramatic breakthrough in space exploration overshadows all else. But, this has been something like the top of an iceberg.

Those who believe in our system of free enterprise will find inspiring the Edison Electric Institute's 17th annual report. In a brief 40 pages, it tells the story of electric power—one of the miracles of the age that has made other miracles possible.

★ ★ ★

The reader learns how electricity has helped to revolutionize agricultural production. It performs some 400 tasks on the farm which were formerly accomplished by manual labor. Ninety-eight per cent of occupied farm dwellings have electric service, and while farmers comprise only 6.9 per cent of the national population, they provide an unrivalled abundance of food.

The U.S. farmer produces enough to supply the food and fiber requirements of 34 other Americans. The Russian farmer by contrast supplies the needs of about four of his countrymen.

Until very recently, as time is measured, the energies of mankind were devoted primarily to the struggle to raise enough food to eat. This is still true in most areas of the globe —with the exception of the United States.

The base of the American age of greatness lies broad and deep —rooted in the fertile ground of individual freedom, opportunity and incentive.

Busy Time in Confused World

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON—It's a busy time full of go-go-go. Mixed up, too.

The United States and Russia spent billions, and used up years to build missiles to use on each other, just in case.

MARLOW

Now, the Russians are busy with an antimissile system which could cost them another $25 billion.

This country, debating about it, wishes the Soviets wouldn't throw money around like that because, if the United States goes all-out on an antimissile kick, the bill may be $40 billion.

The Russians, according to reports, have an X ray arrangement that could blow up oncoming missiles while this country, so reports say, knows how to make a missile which could destroy several cities hundreds of miles apart.

This involves a special technique called MIRV, which is short for Multiple-Individually-Targetable-Reentry-Vehicle.

WHAT'S INSIDE?

That may be too much for most people to understand but most can understand that relations between Russia and Red China are closer to breaking than ever before although practically nobody outside China seems to understand what is going on inside China.

The Chinese are calling the Russian leaders pigs and, in effect, reactionaries while the Russians are calling the Chinese, in effect, nuts.

Neither is saying the embarrassing thing: That both are suffering from acute nationalism, which communism was supposed to eliminate, or that nationalism may last longer than communism, which is bound to go to pieces if nationalism lasts long enough.

★ ★ ★

Elsewhere, the "doves" and the "hawks" are swooping and picking and pecking at one another over Vietnam while the Arabs, who were supposed to be united against Israel, are banging at one another, as witness the weekend bombing by Egypt of Saudi Arabia.

BUDGET NEWS

If this weren't bad enough, last week's budget by President Johnson was.

This budget, which he presented to Congress as the expense bill for the next fiscal year, starting July 1, got caught up in a pair of systems which may make sense if you're an economist but not if you're not.

Johnson had predicted earlier his budget would be $135 billion which, if looked at the old system way, comes out sure enough at $135 billion.

★ ★ ★

But under the new system, called the national income account budget, it comes out at $169 billion.

★ ★ ★

Since this is a bookkeeping way of looking at it, nobody seems mad about it if only because not everybody is a bookkeeper.

David Lawrence Says:

TV Plan Has Political Overtone

WASHINGTON — The administration in power in Washington soon may have its own television network of about 380 stations across the country to carry on a so-called "educational" campaign, but it could convey to the people whatever political propaganda it wishes.

LAWRENCE

This is the first time the federal government would be obtaining, in return for financial support, a voice in what information a section of the press gives to the people.

The theory is that, because stations do not sell advertising time, they are "noncommerical" and are, therefore, entitled to governmental help.

While it is true that the big television networks at present aim at mass audiences with news and entertainment of the widest possible interest, this does not mean that the American people are being deprived of any information by all the other media of expression which use the printed or spoken word.

The plan to be considered by Congress at the present session calls for a federal outlay of many millions of dollars to build and equip so-called "noncommerical" stations.

The initial appropriations that are going to be requested are estimated at $68 million a year at first, rising to $91 million a year in another decade. This would be authorized through the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which, of course, could issue its own guidelines.

In addition, a manufacturers' excise tax, starting at 2 per cent and increasing to 5 per cent on TV sets bought by the public, also would be expected to help finance the operation.

The Carnegie Commission on Educational Television has recommended the project, which would supply programs on cultural and educational subjects, as well as on new and public affairs.

There is no reason, of course, why private foundations should not by themselves furnish all the support for this kind of venture. But when the government of the United States enters with a controlling power, such a project is bound to become political.

Under the new scheme, there presumably would be no competition between the government-supported stations and the private networks, but there would, of course, be competition for the attention of audiences.

Even if there were substantial numbers of people who would like the new programs, the question arises whether the government of the United States should set up its own medium to disseminate news and opinion on political subjects.

Bob Considine Says:

Fulbright's Slip Shows in Case Against Vietnam

NEW YORK — Sen. Fulbright can be a persuasive thinker and he demonstrates it repeatedly in his book, "The Arrogance of Power."

CONSIDINE

History may prove he was right in his central theme: That the U. S. should never have gone into Vietnam in the first place and could even now pull out completely and without dishonor.

But his slip shows repeatedly as he presents his case.

For example, the senator's assessment of Saigon as a nest of brothels for American GI's made it embarrassingly apparent that he had no personal experience in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

His belief that Premier Ky is a cocky little rooster with no public support can be contradicted by anyone who has seen the man in action.

BAD ADVICE

In demanding that Ky's group get together with the Vietcong it is the identical advice FDR gave to Chiang Kai-shek in respect to Mao Tse-tung.

It is the same advice Churchill gave to Stanislaw Mikolajczyk with regard to cooperating with Stalin's Lublin government in Poland.

Ky has dedicated his life to fighting the domestic and imported Communists who want control of his country. The senator would pull the rug from under him, as the Kennedy administration demolished Diem.

★ ★ ★

In "The Arrogance of Power," the senator sees Diem as a violator of the Geneva Accords of 1954, which handed over the northern part of Vietnam to Communist rule.

VIOLATED AGAINST

On the contrary, Diem was violated against.

The first freely elected chief executive in the entire history of that land was hit by Communist-inspired and equipped Vietcong, by the followers of the mad monk Thich Tri Quang, by the North Vietnamese army and, indirectly, by his own relatives.

He was a good tough mandarin. In his last interview, he said that by the end of 1964 he would no longer need the 17,000 U.S. military advisers who then represented our total commitment in manpower.

He'd fight South Vietnam's own battles thereafter, he swore.

BELIEVED BY OFFICIALS

We believed him. What is more important, so did Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, and they said so publicly.

Diem was upended a few days later by a combination of CIA manipulations, his own stubborn refusal to accept Henry Cabot Lodge's offer of asylum (which Thich Tri Quang was by then enjoying), and a double-cross by the junta we chose to succeed him.

He was murdered while in its custody.

We don't have 17,000 men there any more. Including the Navy, we have close to half a million.

And it has been a long time since the end of 1964.

Romney Crams on World Issues

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

LANSING, Mich. (NEA) — It has come to no public notice, but early in January Michigan's Gov. George Romney had an intensive, day-long meeting at his Bloomfield Hills home with Harvard University's famed international affairs expert, Prof. Henry A. Kissinger.

BIOSSAT

The meeting, which by design was more a Kissinger monologue than a discussion, evidently covered virtually the entire range of foreign affairs. Naturally enough, there was substantial treatment of the difficult Vietnam situation.

The big day with Kissinger is simply the highlight of the governor's present busy study course in the foreign affairs field. Sources here say he has been conferring with other "knowledgeable persons" on world matters as he gears up for the 1968 Republican presidential race.

Kissinger often has been mentioned as the sort of expert Romney might acquire as a "foreign policy adviser."

Actually, it has already been decided not to take on an "in-house" scholar who would, in effect, be at the governor's elbow at all times. Romney has been persuaded that what he needs is an able "foreign policy administrator," a man with a good grasp of the field and excellent contacts among scholars across the country. Such a man would tap suitable experts as needed to help prepare position papers and other documents on Vietnam, Latin America, etc.

Walter DeVries, currently the chief researcher on Romney Associates' campaign staff and long a top Romney policy adviser, serves in substantially the same way in the domestic field.

It is known that, among moderates sympathetic to the Romney cause, some are counselling urgency in the choice not only of a foreign policy liaison man but of other professionals as well.

★ ★ ★

A quest is under way for a national campaign press secretary and for some key political tacticians.

Prominent among these are Dr. Gaylord Parkinson, former California GOP chairman, and F. Clifton White, the real mainstay of Barry Goldwater's strategy forces in 1964.

The interested Parkinson, it is newly learned, has been urged by top Romney men not to sign up with Nixon forces who are said to be bidding high for him. Parkinson has visited Romney in Lansing.

★ ★ ★

As for White, he has avoided having to give Romney or any other candidate a flat "no" by informing one and all that he wants to stay unattached for awhile. Romney aides have made several overtures. Indications are White will commit himself to one or another candidate after he has weighed their prospects more fully.

Yet the moderates who are eager to get rolling are tantalized by this situation. Many feel that Romney absolutely must have a man of white's caliber and knowledge at the strategy level.

★ ★ ★

It was evident at the Republican National Committee meeting in New Orleans that Romney's political allies—and numerous figures who might join them under the right circumstances — believe time is all too short. Soundings in Lansing indicate the governor himself now may grasp the need for speed in surrounding his campaign effort with vital professional assistance.

When every house in three blocks but one has the snow plowed from the front walk can the City compel that one die-hard to become a "good neighbor"?

ANNOYED

REPLY

Yes. Residents are responsible for clearing snow from their sidewalks within a reasonable time. If they are unable to do it themselves they are expected to have someone do it for them. However, under present emergency conditions the City is giving residents benefit of the doubt because it has been difficult to get enough people to do the work. Mao Forces Claim Control of Key Port

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung's forces today claimed capture of the Shantung Province port of Tsingtao with army help but said they had to beat down an apparently bloody counterattack by supporters of President Liu Shao-chi.

Tsingtao, the U.S. Navy's headquarters in China until the Communists took over, was the fourth major city claimed by the Maoists in their current attempt to gain control of the government and the Chinese Communist party. The others are Shanghai, Peking and Taiyuan, capital of Shansi Province.

★ ★ ★

The Liberation Army Daily, controlled by Mao's heir-apparent, Defense Minister Lin Piao, said Tsingtao was seized by Maoist revolutionaries on Jan. 22. But it said the city administration employed "white terror" — Communist phraseology for assassination and torture — to launch a "counteroffensive on the newly born revolutionary rebel committee and attempted to continue bourgeois rule."

The report said the pro-Liu forces attacked Tsingtao daily and "obstructed and threatened the Tsingtao people's radio station" in an attempt to block a message to Mao.

The army unit siding with Mao broke through this encirclement, the army daily said, and "severely struck down" the attack. It added that the army force, identified only as "a certain unit," staged a demonstration with full armament last Saturday to show its support for Mao.

"This action by the liberation army greatly blunted the hot air of the class enemies and helped the people who were blindfolded to wake up," the army paper said.

★ ★ ★

Since the 1949 Communist conquest, Tsingtao has been a major base for Communist construction in the interior. It has large cotton, paper, oilseed and flour mills, shipyards, a tire factory and locomotive shops.

★ ★ ★

Mao's strategy in grabbing the cities — the reverse of his policy in the 1930s policy of winning the countryside — is based on the tactics of the 1871 Paris Commune. Following its pattern, he has called for formation of revolutionary committees of peasants, students, workers, military men and intellectuals and instructed them to take over city governments.

★ ★ ★

In Hong Kong the English-language Star said it had received reports that the army commander in Sinkiang Province, Gen. Wang En-mao, had threatened to seize the Chinese nuclear test base at Lop Nor if Mao's forces tried to take over the Sinkiang provincial government.

The Star's report said Gen. Wang made the threat after a meeting with Gen. Liu Chang-ching, political commissar of Inner Mongolia, and political and military officials who decided that any attempt by the Maoists to seize the Sinkiang provincial government must be stopped.

Output of Cars Snowed Under

Blizzard Conditions Costly to Schedules

DETROIT (AP) — As if the auto industry was not having enough troubles of its own, the weatherman had to add his two bits worth over the weekend.

Heavy snowfalls forced further cuts in production schedules which already had been trimmed because of lagging customer demand.

Automotive News, the industry publication which originally estimated 179,192 cars would be built in U. S. plants last week, had to revise its figures yesterday in light of the snow and cold weather blanket.

"We will have to recheck our figures, plant by plant and car line by car line, and it probably would be midweek before we have an accurate figure on what production last week actually was," said a spokesman for the paper.

★ ★ ★

Some estimates were that the blizzard conditions cost the industry about 35,000 cars, as much Friday work and some of Saturday's curtailed work schedules were wiped out.

EARLIER MOVES

Even before the weather acted up, production cutbacks had been announced for much of the industry.

Chrysler's Hamtramck, Mich. assembly unit closed yesterday for the first section of a two week shutdown.

The second will be the week of Feb. 20.

★ ★ ★

Chevrolet division of General Motors adjusted its production schedules and work force at plants in Flint, Tarrytown, N.Y., and Willow Run, with some of them effective today.

Ford Motor Co. stuck with its assertion that scattered plants would have short work weeks in February.

Powell to Pay Part of Judgment Today

NEW YORK (AP) — An attorney representing Rep. Adam Clayton Powell said he would present in the State Supreme Court today a check for $33,000 in partial payment of a court judgment Powell owes a Harlem widow for defamation of character.

Attorney Seymour Barash told newsmen Monday the payment would be made from advance royalties on the New York Democrat's new long-playing record, "Keep the Faith, Baby," which features six of Powell's more dramatic sermons. Powell is also a Harlem minister.

★ ★ ★

But Raymond Rubin, the attorney for the 70-year-old widow, Esther James, told reporters he has seen the contract Powell has with Jubilee Records and that it only calls for a $10,000 advance on royalties.

A Jubilee representative was summoned into Supreme Court with a financial examination of Powell's earnings from the record.

Powell had announced from his Bahamas retreat at Bimini last Saturday that he would pay today the $33,000 from the 22 cents he receives from each record sold of "Keep the Faith, Baby." The record was released in New York last Wednesday and Powell was told that 11,000 were sold in the first two days.

★ ★ ★

Powell gave no reason for selecting today. But Rubin offered this explanation: "On Tuesday a motion comes up here in the State Supreme Court to punish him (Powell) for criminal contempt on three new counts. This was the motion I made about a month ago."

★ ★ ★

Barash said he planned to turn over the $33,000 to Rubin prior to the hearing. He said he then would attempt to determine what needs to be done to remove three civil contempt and one criminal contempt citation against Powell for defying court orders to pay the judgment.

Student Congress Officers Are Elected

By HOLLY ALFS

Last Friday, Seaholm elected its second semester Student Congress officers. Bill Canning is the newly elected president; Tom Gardner, vice president; Molly Laula, secretary; and Bob Rowe, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

Bill Canning is active in all phases of school life. He is presently a member of the Maple swim team and has been for the past three years.

He was president of his sophomore class, and this year as a senior is the president of Cicerone, Seaholm's service club.

Bill has a lot of experience behind him in student government and has promise of being an outstanding president.

★ ★ ★

Tom Gardner, the new vice president, was president of his junior class last year. Tom also is very active in school. He has played football for three years and has gone out for baseball in the spring.

EXCHANGE STUDENT

Last summer, Tom was one of Seaholm's exchange students in Sweden.

Molly Laula is probably best known for her leadership and athletic ability in Girls Athletic Association. She has also been a working member in Birmingham United Nations Association and other Seaholm clubs. Molly has served previously in the Student Congress.

Bob Rowe is an outstanding member of the track team. Bob had a crack at his new position a week earlier than the other officers as former treasurer Jim Weinrich was ill for the last first-semester Congress meeting so Bob stepped in.

★ ★ ★

Feb. 7 marks the night of the 1967 Congress Installation Banquet to be held in the Maple Room. All of the newly elected officers are sworn in after a brief summary report from the outgoing officers.

★ ★ ★

All 90 members of the first-semester Congress bring food and plan the banquet in honor of the new representatives and officers.

Each year at the dinner an outstanding teacher is honored by the Congress.

The teacher is selected by the students for contributions to the school and students above and beyond the call of duty.

The teacher will be named at the dinner and a gift will be presented.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Donald Frey, vice president of Ford Motor Company will be the guest speaker. His daughter, Meg, is a senior at Seaholm.

The topic of his speech has not yet been announced.

RHS Helping on Teen Center

By KARIN HEADLEE

A teen center is being planned for Rochester.

The adult committees have been working hard and the youth recruitment group is presently working with representatives from the junior and senior high schools.

YMCA Director Carl Johnson appeared at the schools and talked with members from the vorious clubs and organizations.

A meeting was then scheduled for senior high students.

★ ★ ★

The teen-agers from RHS recently took a poll in which they listed by preference a variety of teen center needs and activities.

RATING HIGH

Rating high were a study hall lounge, meeting room, activity room, dance hall, summer clubs, field trips, parties and pool tables.

Others were ping-pong tables, teen bar, stereo, bandstand, changing colored lights, dart boards, hiking groups, riding club, tennis court, and swimming facilities.

These suggestions were vetoed: an art studio, lecture and travel films and chess sets.

It was also determined that the high school students prefer going to the center between after school, 6:30-9:30, and Saturday nights.

Sally Bell, a senior at RHS was choosen as a member of the All-Student Band USA, which will tae a concert tour of Europe this summer.

AMERICA'S HEROES — Reading up on famous American statesmen are Utica High School foreign exchange students Monica Cifuentes from Chile and Victor Bonelli of Argentina. Both families are residents of Shelby Township.

UHS Cheerleaders Attend a Clinic at Cousino High

By SUSAN OWEN

Early in January, Utica High School welcomed two exchange students from South America.

Monica Cifuentes from Chile and Victor Bonelli from Argentina are staying with UHS students and will attend classes until March.

Victor, 17, is staying with James Hall, a junior, until his departure time. On his summer vacation, he must return home before March 13 because his new classes resume on this day.

Victor says his school is a lot smaller than UHS, but he crams a lot more subjects into his five-day school week.

His subjects are mathematics, physics, psychology, English (three years), French (one year), history, geography, music, chemistry and literature.

Monica, 17, is staying with Cynthia Patterson, a junior.

Monica also has a busy schedule. She attends an all girls' Catholic school six days a week, seven hours a day. She has 13 subjects to keep her occupied.

Recently the UHS cheerleaders attended Cousino High School for a Cheerleading Clinic. It is designed to serve suburban and local area schools.

★ ★ ★

During their six-hour stay, the varsity and junior varsity squads learned cheers, mounts, chants and were provided with lunch.

Jerry Scarbeck, a Peace Corps worker from Tanzania, Africa, recently appeared at Shelby Junior High to discuss a relatively new Peace Corps program.

The school partnership program, which the Peace Corps began four years ago, has helped built 177 schools in Southeast Africa. On a school-to-school basis, the Michigan school, by collecting $1,000, can build a two-room schoolhouse in Africa.

Tanzania, where Scarbeck teaches English, geography, and sciences to grades five through eight, is a country on the southeast coast of Africa. Its people speak English and Swahili.

The Student Council and future teachers were invited to hear Scarbeck in hopes that a school partnership program might begin at UHS.

Cranbrook Forum Will Discuss Draft

By RICHARD BOSLEY

Feb. 9, the Cranbrook School Forum will present a panel discussion to the students of Cranbrook and Kingswood Schools, their parents, and faculty members.

★ ★ ★

The panel will discuss the pros and cons of the Selective Service System, especially in view of the current Vietnam situation.

Five men have already been chosen to represent the divergent viewpoints involved in this issue: Doc Greene of the Detroit News, Van Sauter of the Detroit Free Press, Fr. A. A. Gracey of St. Joseph's Episcopal Church in Detroit, Rev. A. A. Washer, head chaplain of the Detroit District American Legion and Col. Arthur A. Holmes, director of the Michigan Selective Service.

Ronald Penny, history instructor at Cranbrook, will serve as chairman.

★ ★ ★

Hopefully, the entire spectrum of opinions will be raised.

Rev. Washer is expected to uphold the draft on the basis of our patriotic duty to our country; he is expected to use the Bible to uphold his argument.

Father Gracey and Greene will probably oppose the draft on the grounds that the war is immoral and merely serves the selfish ends of a minority and that we are committed to civil disobedience.

Colonel Holmes will, of course, support the draft from a military and legal standpoint.

★ ★ ★

Sauter's position will be revealed at the forum.

Chess Devotees Form New Club at Milford High

By PAULA MIREAU

Ambitious students led by junior Tom Collins as chairman and C. T. Wellman, faculty sponsor, have organized the Milford High Chess Club.

The club meets every Tuesday.

A member must attend three meetings. The members usually set up their boards and challenge one another.

The club is for any student interested in chess.

They are planning an instruction period to teach strategy to beginners. They plan to attend some chess tournaments later in the year.

Stagemasters to Tame 'Shrew'

By JUDY FRANCIS

"Taming of the Shrew" has been chosen by Waterford Kettering Stagemasters as its second play of the year.

★ ★ ★

"Dark of the Moon," the group's first selection was canceled due to complications.

The new production will be presented March 9 and 11, with the original cast from "Dark of the Moon" taking the parts in "Taming of the Shrew."

Getting acquainted with Kettering students and procedures this week has been the job of Kirsten Mohler, foreign exchange student from Denmark.

★ ★ ★

Kirsten will be staying with Lynette Johnson, a sophomore at WKH, and attend classes including history, government, English, a cappella choir, reasoning and Student Council.

RETURN

Kirsten will go back to Denmark July 28.

Kettering's vocal music department will send 37 students to the Michigan School Vocal Association's District Festival Saturday to sing in the Solos and Ensembles competition.

In March, the instrumental music department will send 12 soloists and 13 ensembles to the Michigan State Band and Orchestra Association's District Festival.

Thursday, WKH band students going to the festival will have an evening recital in the band room which will be open to the public.

Kettering students are more than half-way to their goal of $1,000, in WKH's school partnership program.

★ ★ ★

The drive for funds to build a school in a Tanzanian community will continue until Feb. 10.

Marian High's Mardi Gras Is Saturday

By PATRICIA POLMEAR

Marian High School guarantees a day of festivities and feasting at its Mardi Gras which will be held Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This annual project is made possible through the combined efforts of students, faculty and parents.

Proceeds benefit domestic and foreign missions and buy additional school equipment.

Initial plans began early in September with a general meeting between Sister Veronita, faculty chairman, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Blake, 7250 Jackson Park, Birmingham, parent chairman.

★ ★ ★

Plans proceeded and spirit increased at a December Mardi Gras assembly. Speakers included the Blakes, Sister Veronita and Mrs. William O'Brien, 1966 chairman, who showed slides from last year's Mardi Gras.

IN HOMEROOMS

Action continued on a homeroom basis. Each room is responsible for at least one booth. A room chairman is elected and committees organized.

Several senior and junior homerooms will combine efforts to create a miniature Detroit Plum Street.

A coffeehouse, where Marian students will exhibit their musical talents, is sponsored by a senior homeroom.

Hand-made jewelry, "mod" knickknacks and papier-mache piggy banks will be sold.

OLD FAVORITES

Traditional favorites, such as the fishing pond and balloons will return along with new ones such as Morbid Manor, a modified haunted house, and the post office.

Sophomore booths will center on a clown-town theme. Appealing to the young set, it will include a puppet show and wandering clowns with pockets "bulging with goodies."

Freshmen, along with the help of their dads, will turn the cafeteria into a modern English restaurant. Foods ranging from hot dogs to freshly popped corn will be served by girls and dads dressed in "mod" clothes.

★ ★ ★

In addition, each grade level sponsors one money-making project. The seniors will have "Jack Pot on the Hour;" juniors, the raffling of a Ford Mustang for a week; sophomores, a sports room.

Celebrities from the Detroit professional teams will provide a novel tantalizer to all sports enthusiasts, who can capture the moment by having their pictures taken with "their hero."

At the end of the day, a baseball and football autographed by team members will be raffled.

As the day draws nearer, students are continually reminded of the big day. Daily over the closed circuit television, Sister Veronita makes progress reports.

Marty McGraw, the 7-foot official cardboard mascot, is now a familiar figure as he watches the Marian traffic from his post in the cafeteria corridor. A bright yellow bird atop his two-foot flowered hat holds additional announcements.

MOTHERS' SHOP

The Mothers' Club will sponsor its second Whim 'n' Fancy Shop. This will feature handknit and sewn items, household goods, notions and novelties. Mrs. Bruno Ujda and Mrs. Richard Nolen are chairmen of the booth.

Mrs. Charles Heinen is in charge of the guest award drawing.

Each student received one book of tickets as her quota to sell. Competition between classes served as an incentive to increase sales.

★ ★ ★

On the three Fridays prior to the Mardi Gras, a $10 award was available to students who had made their ticket returns. Top three student sellers received prizes of $25, $10 and $5.

Other parent committee heads include Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, financial; Mrs. James Burbott, publicity; and Mr. and Mrs. John Van Dusen, cloak room and lost and found.

Still others are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rottach, parking; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Reddy, clean-up; and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fiebig, freshmen food advisers.

Sacred Heart Fathers' Club Active in School Affairs

By MARY ELLEN QUINN

Sacred Heart's Fathers' Club recently sponsored a Winter Carnival.

This event replaces the annual Tree Planting Day, usually held in the fall.

Fathers and their daughters brought skates, sleds and toboggans, and were entertained over a loudspeaker by some of the middle-school girls guitarists.

Chairman of the guitar show was Margo Morris.

★ ★ ★

The Fathers' Club sponsors several events annually in an effort to bring together the students and their fathers.

SPECIAL MASS

In addition to the Winter Carnival, there will be a special Sunday Mass and breakfast.

Last week the eighth grade presented as their annual mission project a play entitled "The Modern Version of Cinderella," under the direction of Mary Jo Slavsky, a recent Sacred Heart graduate.

The play was followed by a bake sale.

★ ★ ★

Thursday afternoon the senior, junior and sophomore classes attended John Fernald's production of "The Caucasian Chalk Circle" at Meadow Brook.

AUDITIONS

Tryouts for the school play began last Tuesday.

This year's production, "The Imaginary Invalid" by Moliere, was given last year by the present senior class in conjunction with a dramatic workshop held at Sacred Heart.

★ ★ ★

The play is scheduled for Feb. 24.

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

RADIO AND YOU! — 1967: That box the sound comes out of and you can listen to in a completely dark room or walking out on the sunny street — the radio — was supposed to disappear in the year 1959, clobbered by television. Who saved radio? You insisted on switching the dials and, as you have in so many other things, started a whole new trend — a regular avalanche of disc jockeys rolling out music (instead of the old soap opera, drama and comedy network fare). So listen to what you caused. More radio sets than ever . . . about 260 million at the end of 1966 . . . mostly home sets, but also transistors and auto radios. You brought back radio and you dominate one part of it — rock 'n' roll stations (uh-uh, beware, surveys show the oldies are tending to sneak a listen to these, too). But, you only buy 20 per cent of radios sold, and you listen selectively, by the kind of stuff your local stations dish out and your other interests and the season.

For instance, in cool Boston less than half as many teen ears tune in to early morning radio in summer as in winter . . . in tumultuous New York more than 80 per cent do. In windy Chicago you dial before-noon radio 16 times as often in the summer as in the winter . . . while in hot New New Orleans you listen to the late afternoon radio only half as much in summer as in winter. So what, if you continue to drive stations and advertisers frantic? — you listen to what you like!

WHAT'S COMING UP NEW IN RADIO? Checks around among big and little wigs in the radio field come up with this answer — not much new . . . In 1967 radio will continue to roll out the beat bigger than ever of those tunes you go for on those stations you tune to. One small sign in the 1967 radio sky: Telephone-in type shows are growing, from a few spots to 67 to 70 per cent of the programs on some stations . . . and new types of the telephone-in show are beaming in . . . Some of these will be baited to lure you to listen.

HOP TO SOME HIP SHOP TO BUY POP: The craze to buy off-beat stuff — clothes and for your room — is getting bigger. For precious possessions, like maybe Victorian undergarments, coats with military insignia or epaulets, German World War I spiked helmets, bizarre lamps, souvenir and old-fashioned items, the safari usually leads far afield. Here are places YOUTH BEAT has cased recently where you can pan pay dirt and pick up those beloved wear-gear, etc., nuggets. Fourteen-carat are the surplus military stores (for military, hunting, western); a possibility lurks in work clothing stores (some military, but better for picturesque work shirts, pants, hats); the Salvation Army rehabilitates clothes (as well as the homeless men who help put them in shape) and so does Goodwill Industries — both have stores in places coast to coast, with unexpected gems amidst the second-hand litter; also, thrift shops, second-hand shops (and even pawn shops) are worth browsing. Some prime loot turned up in a speedy tour of (mostly Salvation Army and Goodwill) stores with such "rehabilitated" gems as: dresses from the '20s, leather jackets, messes of sweaters, ordinary and wild-stripe shirts, beat up real fur coats (scissor to size), big-piece old-fashioned jewelry (ornamented watches), scrambles of buttons (sorry, none with slogans); for entertainment — records, records, records (all kinds — dirt cheap) . . . and books, books, books (10 cents and up); for your room or any kooky thing — giant old mirrors, wild lamps, junkyards of lampshades, souvenir postcards, big cubes of typewriters (looking like the original office typewriter), and a zany old exercycle bicycle. O.K., if you want to poke through it all you can find delirious things, but remember, too . . . there's always grandma's attic.

Teens View Athletic Grants

By NANCY GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research, Inc.

Should the ability to throw a forward pass or shoot a field goal entitle a young man to special financial consideration in getting a college education?

Most colleges think so, as evidenced by the bidding that goes on for top athletes.

And so, apparently, do the young people themselves. More than 80 per cent of the 1,083 teen-agers we questioned recently thought that athletic scholarships are justified.

Even more significantly, more than 78 per cent felt that such scholarships actually were good for the students.

As to what scholarships should include, nearly 94 per cent believed they should cover the cost of tuition.

ROOM, BOARD

Slightly more than 81 per cent thought room and board should be covered, and 10 per cent were in favor of giving the athletes spending money.

Exactly 8.6 per cent of the boys and girls surveyed said that no limit should be placed on the amount of financial aid given to the athletic stars.

Bruce Alpert, 16, of Hamden, Conn., favored athletic scholarships because "a person's athletic abilities, as well as his academic abilities, should be recognized."

But Richard McSorley, 18, of Drexel Hill, Pa., declared that giving money to athletes "takes it away from a student who is interested in learning, which is the main purpose for going to college."

OPPORTUNITY

Mike Hanover, 16, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., said that athletic scholarship "give an opportunity to students who otherwise would not have the chance to go to college."

American Theater Is Seen Floundering

By JAMES GARDNER

NEW YORK (NEA) — The American theater is in trouble.

The greatest source of new talent, the university drama school, is a failure.

The most significant source of production, the resident professional theater, is financially unsound.

Almost ironically, these two floundering groups can solve each other's problems.

★ ★ ★

According to a growing number of critics, the university drama schools fail to provide their students with more than a nodding acquaintance with professional production techniques.

PLAYWRIGHTS

They fail to produce the plays of young, experimenting playwrights.

They fail to dislodge the widespread notion that the purpose of university drama instruction is to fill an insignificant slot in "liberal" education.

Drama instruction in American universities is not suffering from lack of money.

★ ★ ★

The University of Illinois has allocated $14 million for the construction of a center for the performing arts.

DEVOTE SUMS

Untold numbers of colleges, including Kansas University, Denison, Stanford, University of Michigan, and Northwestern devote substantial sums to their theater departments.

★ ★ ★

But those universities daring to produce original plays are very often those with comparatively small budgets.

Those which appropriate the largest sums to their theater departments rely on what have been termed the "dreary standard works."

Paper products to replace fabrics are not new. Paper collars, cuffs and shirt bosoms first made their appearance in 1853.

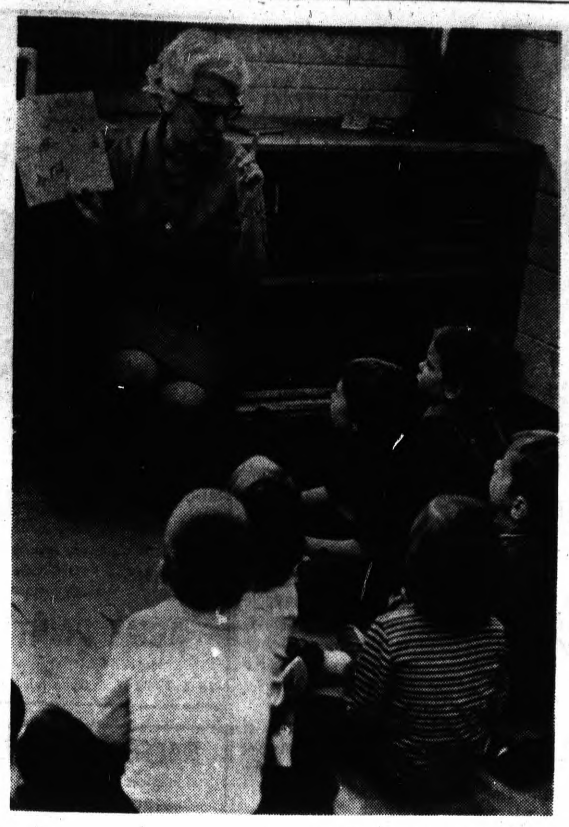
These Manners to Last a Lifetime



Pontiac Press Photos by Rolf Winter

Mrs. H. B. Stenbuck of Owego Drive totally captivates her audience's attention. The children have been previously instructed not to interrupt and to raise their hands for urgent messages.

By BEA SWORDS

Much like King Arthur in search of truth, we struck out recently in search of manners. In bright morning sun we sought out some of the people teaching and learning the art of getting along with others.

So many of us, you know, just say the words, "yes, thank you" and "no, thank you." They are recited answers wrought from years of practice. We don't think about what we are saying and there are times we don't really mean it.

But little children — manners are big business for them.

They want to know why you can't snatch toys back from grabbers and why guests aren't thought of as invaders and why can't doors slam and dessert come first?

As the little fish that grew and grew, grows out of the city swimming pool, Mary Lynn Bowyer tries very hard not to say any loud "Oh's or wow's," but it's very difficult so she finally waves her hand in dismay.

They are learning to get along agreeably in a world that is at times disagreeable. It takes much courage and discipline.

At Temple Beth Jacob's four-year-old nursery class we sat on an iddy-biddy chair in the midst of blocks and books to eat cookies and drink milk and talk with the learners.

★ ★ ★

It's a gradual thing, this learning to be polite. It's hard to control urges sometimes. But little people don't always realize they are being taught. Nursery school is a very, very subtle thing.

★ ★ ★

"Let's pick up all the blocks now," Mrs. H. B. Stenbuck says and socko, pow, crash upon crash, the fort shatters and scatters across the tile.

But they pick it all up and that is a game too. "See how many I can carry," says a little girl in pink, 'See I have six, see how high."

Of course the manners didn't begin here. Parents start kids off at home as soon as the cute baby gets into things. But here there are many, many more kids than at home and the lessons are a little different. It becomes society.

"Keep the sand in the box, or there won't be any to play with soon."

"Don't push at the water fountain, that's a lamb.'

'Oh no, oh dear, we don't want to crawl out of the room during a discussion, do we"? Of course, we do—but.

★ ★ ★

I asked Bruce what he thought manners meant. "You don't know," he said with gravity.

He put his hand on my shoulder and carefully explained," 'Manners is not running around your chair when you are eating." I agreed that it made good sense.

Karen joined the discussion. "Being good is nice manners," she said firmly. I asked her how we knew when we were good. "Just don't make your mother mad at you," she hinted darkly.

Tommy said that good manners meant being nice at parties, like not throwing stuff or breaking things up.

NOT THEM

When asked if any of them—say a long time ago when they were smaller—had used some bad manners — maybe just one thing that wasn't so good, they all insisted that they were always, always good.

However — they had sisters and brothers who needed help.

One little boy with glasses confided that his brother turns the lights "on and off and on and off and on and off." A dizzying experience.

★ ★ ★

A wistful red head told me that his brother took his magnet once.

'Did you get it back," I asked. He examined the sole of his shoe. Justice was come by apparently.

Later I asked Mrs. Stenbuck, their teacher, what she felt was most important in teaching manners to little ones.

"You must be so pleased," she said, "that is what we tell them. We want to build up their image of themselves, because they must have self-confidence. They love to be complimented."

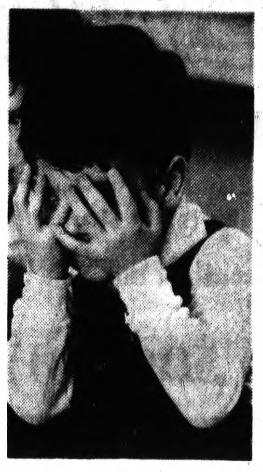
She pointed out that there are no set rules to teaching what is acceptable behavior and what is not. Often they simply learn from one another.

★ ★ ★

It doesn't take too long to understand that what bothers them would bother others as well. Manners are taught in a very relaxed way.

You hint, you suggest, you tactfully ignore a few things and then you prod gently until the children follow naturally with the right actions.

Everyone talked to agreed that you should not make a rule for a child to follow without giving an explanation.



Tommy Howlett, whispers a small excited "Oh no," as the little fish that ate too much grows out of the bathtub.

Brian McCandliss watches in awe as Mrs. Stenbuck reads, "You just never can tell about a fish."

Scotty Vollrath exhibits some very "acceptable behavior" by keeping the sand in the sand box (well almost all of it). It takes a lot of concentration to develop the skill.

Mighty Storm Finds Benefit Party 'On'

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

In spite of the heavy snowstorm that forced many activities to be canceled members of the Briarcliff Club of Detroit attended a benefit performance of "Is Paris Burning" at the Music Hall in Detroit on Friday.

Mrs. Robert A. Radtke (who is president of the club), Mr. Radtke and some friends had dinner in Detroit prior to the performance.

Others from this area who had tickets were Mrs. Jess D. Chamberlin, Mr. and Mrs. Jerrold A. Frost Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Maynard R. Andreae. Mrs. Andreae who is a member of the board of trustees left for New York on Monday to attend a board meeting.

Adriane Andreae who is a student at Briarcliff reports home that she has just finished her final exams and will have a few days in Vermont skiing.

LUNCHEON

Mrs. Radtke, announces that on Feb. 15 there will be a Briarcliff college luncheon at the Village Woman's Club. The new executive secretary of the college, Mrs. Dorothy Smoth, will visit this community and show slides, as well as speak about the school.

Mrs. Carew Martindale of Grosse Pointe is taking reservations.

Last week Mrs. Wesslau Wright had a visitor, Mrs. Henry C. Allen of Rhode Island. Mrs. Allen is married to Mrs. Wright's nephew who is presently serving in the U.S. Navy. Their daughter Heidi, 3 months old, also was with Mrs. Allen.

★ ★ ★

For 15 years some friends have enjoyed their weekly bridge game. Now comes an invitation from one of the members, Mrs. Carl B. Black who is presently at the Royal Palms Club in Naples, Fla., for all members to join her there.

This is the third time in the club's history that the group has enjoyed a house party. Planning to leave are Mesdames: LeRoy Kiefer, William Bird, H. B. Stubbs, R. C. Scott, Chester Bowie, J. S. McDaniel, George Tischer and Preston Weir.

Club to Give Scholarships

Pontiac Tuesday Musicale will be awarding its Dora Dawson scholarship in the near future.

Any Pontiac area resident, now a high school senior or student enrolled collegian, may qualify for application. Both vocalists and instrumentalists will be considered for the March 5 auditions.

★ ★ ★

Deadline for applications to be received is Feb. 17.

Area high schools now have these applications or students may obtain further information from Mrs. Victor M. Lindquist of Ottawa Drive, scholarship chairman.

Train Up a Child

"Guiding Children to Live Without Prejudice" was the title of a talk Monday evening by Mrs. Ray Wilhelm before members of the Waterford Child Study Club II.

Mrs. Warren Cleven of Tilmor Drive opened her home for the event with Mrs. Charles Cullen assisting the hostess.

Others on the program were Mrs. Donald Plummer and Mrs. William Crisp Jr.

'Don't Complain,' Advises Abby to Wife With Near-Perfect Mate

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We are a two-car family. I have my car and Sam has his. When Sam's car is down to its last ounce of gasoline, he borrows MY car, and leaves me with an empty tank.

ABBY

Then when Sam has used up all the gas in MY car, he gives it back to me and I can barely make it to the filling station. How can I teach him a lesson, Abby? This one fault of his drives me crazy. Otherwise he is a faithful, hard-working, sober, good-natured, generous guy. Any advice?

BERT

DEAR BERT: Yes, keep your lip zippered. With all those virtues he's entitled to one itsy-bitsy fault.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have a bachelor friend who is a respected professor in his community. He often entertains his friends at his apartment, which is situated next to the laundry room.

Invariably, when all the guests are comfortably seated and in the midst of an interesting conversation, the professor announces, "As long as we're sitting, I may as well run a load of laundry through."

Then he starts banging around, looking for soap, gathering his laundry, and running next door with his quarters for the machine. When he returns, the conversation is resumed until "bleach time." After all the cycles are finished, the professor absents himself once more to "hang" his laundry.

The last time this took place I told him I thought he was extremely rude. Was I wrong to complain? Or is it considered proper for a host to do his laundry while entertaining guests?

MIFFED

DEAR MIFFED: "Professor Clean" should do his laundry on his own time. And if you think he's rude, say, "No soap" to his next invitation.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I don't object so much to a person's having a smoke at the dinner table after a meal, but how about people who come to the table smoking a cigar or cigaret and continue to smoke between courses, through the entire dinner?

It spoils the meal for me, but I hate to say anything for fear of being thought a crab. Is there any subtle way of letting these rude smokers know how annoying their smoking is?

NO CRAB

DEAR NO: Why be "subtle?" Tell your inconsiderate neighbor that his smoke signals are interfering with the enjoyment of your dinner, and would he mind holding off until after dinner to foul the atmosphere.

DEAR ABBY: Last Sunday my husband and I were at my mother's when my in-laws dropped in unexpectedly on their way home from church. My husband was watching something on TV. Everyone gathered in the living room and started talking. My husband's mother asked him to turn down the TV.

He turned it down a little and drew his chair up closer to it and continued to watch while his parents, my mother and I shouted to make ourselves heard above the TV program. Finally his mother walked over to the set and turned it off.

With that, my husband stomped out of the house in a huff and took off in his car. What do you think of a 24-year-old man acting like that?

ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: I would say that in this case rudeness was an inherited trait.

Vietnam Children to Be Subject

"The War Wounded Children of Vietnam" will be the subject of a lecture and slide presentation by Dr. Paul Lowinger of Wayne State University Medical School and Lafayette Clinic.

Dr. Lowinger's talk is sponsored by the Oakland County branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. It will take place Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Birmingham Unitarian Church.

The talk is open to the public.

Dinner Meeting

Members of Tipacon Charter Chapter, American Business Women's Association, will meet for a dinner and program at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday in the Old Mill.

Print Collection Is Scheduled for OU Gallery

The Oakland University Art Gallery is being readied for an exhibition opening Feb. 5 of 70 original engravings, etchings and woodcuts from one of the most important periods in the history of art — the high Renaissance and the early Baroque.

The exhibition is from the George Binet Print Collection. It includes the works of such great figures in print-making as Raimondi in Italy, Durer in Germany, Rembrandt in Holland and Van Dyck in Flanders, along with works of their followers.

France is represented by the Fontainebleau School and England by Faithorne.

17TH CENTURY

Among the great works of the 17th century periods that will be featured in the exhibition are "Five Saints" by Marcantonio Raimondi, "Drawing School of Bandinelli" by Aeneas Vico, "Dispute of the Holy Sacrament" by Giorgio Ghisi and "The Adoration of the Magi" and "The Saints of the House of Austria" by Durer.

Other artists represented will include Georg Pencz, Hirschvogel, Kilian, Suyderhoef, Androuet-Ducerceau, Rene Boyvin and Jean Mignon.

★ ★ ★

The exhibition will continue through Feb. 26. Gallery hours are 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

June vows are planned by Diane Mary Exworthy, daughter of the Edward Exworthys of Southfield, and Richton C. Appel, son of the Carroll Appels of South Avery Street. He is a senior at Western Michigan University where his fiancee is in graduate study.

Sex Equality Might Go Too Far

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I attended a dance which was given by the male employes of the corporation where I am employed as a secretary.

To my amazement the women at our table asked the men to dance. If this had been just to get the party started, it would have been forgivable, but this went on all night. I am a fairly good dancer, but none of the men at the table asked me to dance. Incidentally, we met these people for the first time that night. I was not lacking in dances, since men came from other tables and asked me to dance.

Am I wrong in feeling that American women are lowering their standards? Should I disregard my feelings and go along with the crowd if this should happen again, or try to act a "lady"? — A Secretary.

Dear "Secretary": Sometimes I think this "equality for women" business has gone too far! Some women seem to be taking over the men's prerogatives in social life as well as in the home and in the business world.

You are right, women who ask men to dance, ask them for dates and so on, are lowering their standards, or else they are afraid they cannot compete with the more feminine types.

Apparently the situation only existed at the table, since the men from other tables asked you to dance. Stick to your guns if it happens again, especially since you had enough partners.

If you're left sitting alone because of your scruples, find some friends at another table and join them for a little while—maybe the men there will have the good old-fashioned approach of "man asks girl"! Don't stay too long, though; go back to your table when the music stops.

BPW Gathers for District Meet

More than 125 members from 23 clubs attended the winter meeting of District 10, Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Sunday, at Executive Inn, Warren.

Table decor by the Clawson and Madison Heights clubs, and programs made by Detroit Nor-Re-Bus, followed the theme 'Snowtime Fantasy."

HANDWRITING

Mrs. Sondra Campion spoke on women in business and her hobby of handwriting analysis. She is executive vice president of a plaster and plastics firm.

'Handwriting is mind writing and a key to personality. Many bisiness firms are using it in screening personnel and hospitals find its study an aid to therapy" she said.

Mrs. Vivian Glasgow of the Oak Park club played a medley of piano selections following the luncheon.

The attendance award went to the Clawson club who joined Ferndale, Detroit Nor-Re-Bus, Embla, Madison Heights, Oak Park, and Walled Lake as hostesses.

A trip to Lansing for District 10 to observe the legislature in action is planned for Feb. 6. International Night in Windsor will be Feb. 18.

★ ★ ★

Attending from the Pontiac club were Mrs. Leo McDonald, Mrs. William Coxen, Mrs. E. C. Carlson, Lulah McCully, Vera Bassett, Mrs. Lucinda Wyckoff, president and Rosamond Haeberle, district director.

Surveyor Finds a Market for Spinning Wheel

RICHMOND, Calif. (UPI)—Anthony Cardarelle was a field surveyor 12 years ago when he decided to try his hand at making a spinning wheel.

He completed a wheel and took it to a weaver who pronounced it sound and suggested the mechanism might have commercial value.

The weaver was right.

So Cardarelle started making wheels for sale. Eventually he quit his job as a surveyor to become what he believes is America's only professional spinning wheel maker.

★ ★ ★

"It takes three weeks to handcraft parts for four wheels if I'm not interrupted," said Cardarelle. But, he added, he usually is interrupted by customers who want family heirlooms repaired or seek one of the wheels he has acquired from Finland, Holland, Sweden, China or Bavaria.

★ ★ ★

He says he has customers from throughout the United States and added, "You can't make a fortune, but I get satisfaction when I stamp a wheel with my signature and know it will be here 100 years from now."

Parties Are on Agenda for Judith

The forthcoming marriage of Judith Lynn Szymanski to Ned E. Seath, Feb. 11, in Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church, has been the incentive for many festivities in Independence Township.

Their parents are the Joseph J. Szymanskis and the Edward Seaths, all of Cramlane Lane.

Mrs. Roger Weeks of Snowapple Drive has chosen a Valentine motif for a trousseau shower for the bride-elect on Wednesday.

On Monday evening, Mrs. Robert Gamble of Snowapple Drive gave a pantry shower. Mrs. Seath and daughter, Ann Marie, were cohostesses at a recent linen shower.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Robert Landrum of Harper Street also entertained at a bridal shower honoring Miss Szymanski.

Fold Canned Oranges Into Tangy Pie Filling

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Last week, two new Crown gas ranges were given as grand prizes at The Pontiac Press Cooking School. One, donated by Frayer Appliances and Don Frayer Home Furnishings, was won by Linda Butler.

Linda, who's planning to be married in the fall, is letting her mother, Mrs. L. M. Butler of Lakeview Street, use it. Mrs. Butler is delighted and hopes the arrangement will be permanent.

We asked Mrs. Butler for a recipe and she came up with this one for Orange Pie.

ORANGE PIE
By Mrs. L. M. Butler

1 cup orange juice
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup sugar
⅓ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
Grated rind of one orange
3 egg yolks
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can Mandarin oranges, drained
1 baked pie shell

3 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix juices with half a cup of the sugar, blend in flour and salt and grated rind. Cook over boiling water 10 minutes.

Beat egg yolks and add the other half cup of sugar. Remove orange mixture from heat, add egg mixture and butter or margarine. Cook three more minutes, stirring constantly.

Cool and add oranges. Pour into baked pie shell.

Make a meringue of the egg whites. Beat until soft peaks form, add sugar and vanilla and beat until stiff.

Cover pie filling and bake about 3 minutes in 500-degree oven, or until a delicate brown. Watch it; it burns easily. Makes one pie.

Janet S. Shipman Takes Recent Vows

Christ Lutheran Church was the setting for the recent candlelight vows of Janet Sue Shipman and Melvin J. Patterson Jr.

The junior Marion A. Shipmans of Prairie Lawn Drive and the Melvin J. Pattersons of Lorena Drive are parents of the couple who greeted guests in the Amvets Hall, Oakland Avenue.

Re-embroidered Alencon lace enhanced the bride's A-line Empire gown and cathedral train of candlelight peau de soie worn with matching lace tiara and illusion veil.

She held a cascade of white rosemelias.

With Mary K. Newton of Ann Arbor, maid of honor were the bridesmaids Mrs. Richard Shipman and Karin Andren and flower girl, Cynthia Stoutenburg of Tawas.

Charles Haviland replaced Harold Patterson of St. Louis, Mo. as best man.

Ushers included Allan Anderson, Larry Barnett with the bride's brothers Richard and Michael Shipman. Another brother, Brian Shipman replaced Mack Patterson as ring-bearer.

Bringing Up Baby®

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber, Mother of Five

GOOD APPETITE PERK-UPS

What makes a baby a rarin'-to-go eater? Lots of things. Plenty of fresh air and reasonable exercise. A relaxed and cheerful atmosphere at mealtimes. The colors and flavors of the foods you offer. Gerber Baby Foods are famous for eye-and-flavor appeal. Variety for continued mealtime interest. Gerber prepares over 100 Strained and Junior Foods for day-in, day-out appeal. All are "custom-cooked" to help retain natural goodness.

•

Special delicacy dept. Among the many Gerber appetite inviters: Gerber Strained Egg Yolks. Take a splash-of-sunshine color, delicate fresh-egg flavor, creamy, custard-y texture ...and they add up to eating enjoyment par excellence for your baby.

What about nourishment? Gerber Egg Yolks are rich in iron and vitamin A; provide a good source of protein, besides. Wonderfully good "as is"; extra-special as a topping for your baby's cereal.

Cue for you. Want a fast and foolproof way to make Hollandaise sauce? Look:

1 jar Gerber Egg Yolks
1½ tsp. lemon juice
2 Tbs. melted butter

Heat over hot water. Beat smooth with rotary beater. Gradually add lemon juice and butter. Season to taste. Serves two to three.

•

Easy-does-it division. Many a mother is tempted to urge food on her baby, when he's clearly had enough. But forcing never made a baby a bigger eater. Far better to let him eat than make him eat. Chances are he'll relish his food more, too.

•

"Pick-up-sticks" for tots with a few teeth. Gerber Meat or Chicken Sticks are fine for helping an advanced baby's hand-to-mouth coordination. Easy to handle. A delight to bite. Nourishing, too, because they're high in protein, an important factor in growth.

P. S. Gerber Meat or Chicken Sticks can be broiled or heated and used as "junior hot-dog" sandwiches for toddlers and older children. Gerber® Baby Products, Box 33, Fremont, Michigan.

Opening lead—♥ Q

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

The bidding in the box is not recommended as a policy for anyone who wants to win at bridge. North's three diamond bid could only confuse his partner but this was the final round of the American team trials and this particular North needed to win his last match by a big margin in order to finish in the top three.

JACOBY

This particular bid succeeded as well as could possibly be expected. South liked diamonds so much that he eventually contracted for a diamond slam. North could not stand this and went to six spades.

West had a natural opening lead of the queen of hearts. All South had to do was to win in dummy, draw trumps and eventually finesse against West's jack of hearts to bring home an undeserved slam contract.

This was worth 12 international match points but on other boards these aggressive tactics failed to pay off and this North-South pair failed to win their final match.

There is always a lot of luck in any duplicate game with only a few tables involved.

At the other four tables North and South always reached the logical contract of four spades. Roth and Root were one of these four pairs who bid their cards correctly.

Most of the time they would break even or show a gain if some one else misbid the hand. This time the effect of the unexpected gain by one pair cost each of the others four IMPs.

These four IMPs added to the margin by which Murray and Kehela beat Roth and Root and were almost enough to knock Roth and Root out of third place and off the team.

♥♣CARD Sense♠♦

You, South, hold:

What do you bid now?

A—Four hearts. You have lost all interest in a slam but still want to be in game.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of responding two no-trump your partner raises you to three hearts. What do you do now?

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Wednesday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . .Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Necessary to look beneath surface indications. Much concern now with money, accounts, bills. By being selective in purchases you aid others — and yourself. Be sympathetic toward mate, partner.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Accent on public relations. Check advertising proposals, ideas. Spotlight today on marriage, contracts, cementing of relations with close associate. Avoid actions based on impulse.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Ideas involving work, health prove worthwhile. Key is willingness to complete assignments. Don't shrug off basic responsibilities. Follow through!

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Favorable lunar aspect highlights creative interests. You are able to express yourself in admirable manner. Dealings with member of opposite sex indicated. Be alert.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Home, property, completion of essential tasks highlighted. If thorough, you succeed. If careless, you could suffer loss. Some restrictions are lifted. Opportunity shines.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Neighbors may be inquisitive. Avoid appearing overly sensitive. Give answers — ask questions of your own. Follow through on idea. . .don't wait for others to lead.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Check possessions. Accent on what you own — what you can afford. Some budget revisions indicated. Home affairs also require attention. Make necessary adjustment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Cycle continues high. You can successfully take initiative. Make contacts, present ideas. Dress up, permit personality to sparkle. Don't hold back!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Be aware af hidden problems, assets. Means you must strive to uncover various factors. . .otherwise deception runs rampant. Be specific. Highlight facts. Discard rumors.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Some desires subject to scrutiny. You may have to test hopes, wishes. Part of your ambition belongs to past. Modernize methods. Help could come from informed friend.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Stress on ability to advance. If you are too shy, opportunity vanishes. Take definite stand. Lunar position coincides with career progress. Know this — act accordingly.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20): Trust hunch. Gain knowledge from study of written word. Check sources. You could come up with valuable clue. Day to make talents work. You do this by applying yourself.

★ ★ ★

IF WEDNESDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY. . .you are fond of unusual subjects, you possess creative talents. Important inventions or innovations could be forthcoming.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for SCORPIO, SAGITTARIUS. Special word to VISGO: Decide upon one course or person. Otherwise you weaken your efforts and aims.

Don't Overlook Nixon--Rocky

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller suggested Monday that former Vice President Richard M. Nixon would move in strongly if Michigan's Gov. George Romney failed to catch fire as a Republican presidential contender.

The Republican governor told newsmen that, from his observations, Nixon "isn't letting any grass grow under his feet" in early maneuvering for the 1968 nomination.

Rockefeller repeated in a radio - television interview the disclaimer he has made many times since his reelection — that he never again would become a candidate for the GOP nomination.

He then was asked whether he made any distinction between actively seeking the nomination — becoming a declared candidate — and accepting it if offered by the party.

"You mean a draft?" Rockefeller asked. "I don't think politically that that situation ever materializes."

As he had done in the past, Rockefeller indicated he would favor a GOP national ticket headed by Romney, with New York's Sen. Jacob K. Javits running for vice president.

When asked whether he might be inclined to step into the picture if Romney should fade, Rockefeller said, "I think you've overlooked another important face."

He went on to say that, if any "vacuum" developed in the GOP presidential picture, he expected Nixon would move in quickly to fill it.

Fires Subject of '64 Report to NASA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fires in oxygen-filled chambers — like that in the space capsule where three astronauts perished Friday — were the subject of a 3-year-old report to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In one 1962 accident, the report shows, four men received critical burns when electricity ignited their chamber full of oxygen. The same year, a fire of unknown origin caused both persons in a simulated space cabin to lose consciousness.

★ ★ ★

The report took on added significance today in the wake of the blaze which killed astronauts Virgil I. Grissom, Edward H. White II and Roger B. Chaffee as they sat in their Apollo spacecraft atop a 218-foot rocket.

The main difference between Friday's tragedy and the earlier fires was that the pure oxygen atmosphere in the Apollo spacecraft was pressurized at 16 pounds per square inch — three times the pressure said to be involved in the other blazes.

MORE COMBUSTIBLE

The higher the pressure, the more effectively oxygen feeds flames. And the higher pressure makes other objects more combustible.

The 1964 report, prepared for NASA by the Lovelace Foundation for Medical Education and Research of Albuquerque, N.M., said experimenters had conquered many of the fire hazards involved in 100 per cent oxygen-filled chambers.

★ ★ ★

This, said the report, may have bred "a false sense of security."

The 1962 incident in which two experimenters lost consciousness occurred at the Air Force School of Aerospace Medicine, Brooks Air Force Base, Tex. The report said smoke had not been detected by sight or smell when the blaze broke out.

EQUIPMENT LAB

The other fire detailed in the report happened at the air crew equipment laboratory of the Naval Air Center in Philadelphia. Four experimenters were in a 100 per cent oxygen chamber pressurized at five pounds per square inch.

The fire broke out after one of the men replaced a burned out electrical ceiling fixture. The men tried to snuff out the blaze with a towel and an asbestos fire blanket, but both objects ignited.

★ ★ ★

All four men received second-degree burns, said the report.

Red Cross Asks U.A.R.: Halt Raids

GENEVA (AP) — The International Red Cross Committee called on the United Arab Republic today to stop air raids and poison gas attacks against the civilian population in Yemen and neighboring areas.

The neutral all-Swiss committee said that because of the suffering caused by the attacks, it was launching "a pressing appeal for respect of universally recognized rules of morality and law" to all authorities concerned in the civil war in Yemen.

★ ★ ★

The committee made its appeal after receiving a first-hand report on the situation in Yemen from its delegate there, Andre Rochat. The appeal was a departure from the committee's traditional policy of not intervening publicly in any conflict.

Eight thousand general-circulation magazines, plus 12,000 trade magazines and house organs, are published in the United States.

Hearings on Air Pollution Start Next Week in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, which already has authorized sizable expenditures in the field, starts a search next week for new ways to curb auto and factory pollution of the air.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, announced a public works subcommittee he heads will begin public hearings next Wednesday with testimony from John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, on a new set of proposals sent to Congress by President Johnson Monday.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., observed in the Senate that "any politician who picks up this issue (of air pollution) and runs with it will never regret it."

★ ★ ★

In his message, Johnson called for establishment of federal minimum levels for certain pollutants and enforcement of them in "regional air sheds."

He proposed matching grants to states to control auto exhaust gases, stepped up research on fuel additives and a 50 per cent increase in research on the causes and control of air pollution.

★ ★ ★

Johnson said that while sources of pollution may be "environmental villains," they also are "social and economic necessities."

★ ★ ★

The Health, Education and Welfare Department said the President's proposed legislation — with first standards to be fixed on metallurgical, petrochemical, paper pulp and power plants — would give the final enforcement power to the secretary.

★ ★ ★

This all added up to a further expansion of the federal government's role in handling a problem Congress has been reluctant in the past to take away from the states.

★ ★ ★

Only on that score was any substantial opposition likely to develop.

Report on Juvenile Crime Shows Several Big Drops

A sharp drop in first-time offenders is noted in a report on juvenile crime in Pontiac submitted to city officials by Pontiac police.

The figures were filed by Police Chief William K. Hanger jointly with the annual report of the Pontiac Citizens Committee on Youth (PCCY).

The number of minors apprehended for the first time dropped 23.3 per cent, from 309 to 237.

The decrease in total juvenile offenders in 1966 compared with 1965 was nearly 13 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Police took 430 youths 16-and-under into custody last year, 64 less than in 1965.

SLIGHT INCREASE

A slight increase — from 185 to 193 — was felt in the number of repeat offenders.

A letter from Hanger to PCCY President Mrs. Myrtle Hillerman attributes the apparent downward trend in reported juvenile crime to three main factors:

- The police - school counselor program, now in its second year;
- "Effective assistance" from the Pontiac Youth Assistance Office directed by George Caronis; and
- "Fine support" from active citizens' committees.

★ ★ ★

An open letter jointly signed by Caronis and Mrs. Hillerman urges even "stronger citizen support" of police efforts to curb crime and delinquency.

'CLOSER LIAISON'

In addition, the letter calls upon all social service agencies in the community to form a "closer liaison" with the City Police Department.

"This is highly desirable and logical in our efforts to redirect and rehabilitate (offenders)," the letter states.

Caronis, executive secretary of the PCCY as well as director of the city's youth assistance program, cited the police department as the leading referral source (64 cases) for his agency.

★ ★ ★

Parents asked for help for children 35 times, with an additional 26 cases reported by the schools.

CAME IN THEMSELVES

In 19 instances, youths came in themselves and requested assistance, Caronis reported.

Chief reason for seeking help, Caronis noted, was incorrigibility of a child at home. Sixty such cases were reported, over one-third of the 168 total.

The next highest referral cause was an assortment of criminal offenses, 45 cases ranging from breaking and entering and assault to extortion and attempted suicide.

★ ★ ★

Other prominent problems brought to the attention of youth assistance workers included poor parent-child relationships, truancy, and neglect of children on the part of parents.

The single largest source of assistance for agency cases in 1966 was the Pontiac school system.

School counselors were utilized, as well as psychological testing services, visiting teachers and the McConnell School community program.

Also sought for help were churches, family services, boys' clubs, Big Brothers, the Pontiac Area Urban League and the Young Men's Christian Association.

More serious mental and emotional problems were reflected in seven cases referred to the Community Mental Health Board and the Alcoholism Information Center.

RECRUITING STATION

In some cases, solutions were found through private and public employment contacts and the U. S. Army Recruiting Station.

Chief projects for the youth assistance program in 1967, according to Caronis, are Operation Antivandalism — aimed at malicious destruction in schools —and an effort to upgrade police-youth relationships.

★ ★ ★

Other aims include a survey of needs for a multipurpose civic center in Pontiac; a Youth Forum program to be aired on WPON Mondays at 6:30 p. m., and a city - school - community project for educationally neglected elementary school children.

PIGGY-BACK — Mrs. Shirley Nutting skis through a snow-blocked street of suburban Skokie, north of Chicago, carrying her 2-year-old daughter, Amy, in a knapsack on her back. Many main arteries were opened today after the record snowfall last week, but side streets remain blocked.

'GI Mental Health Tops U.S. Civilians'

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Remarkably few mental breakdowns and a very low rate of combat fatigue develop among U.S. and South Vietnamese troops in Vietnam, a U.S. Army medical research team reports.

The team from the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research said that during the first six months of 1966, when U.S. troop strength reached 164,000 men, only 757 men were hospitalized for neuropsychiatric disorders. Only about 6 per cent of these suffered from combat fatigue, or emotional breakdown from battle pressures.

The 300,000-man Vietnamese army reported only 324 mental cases during the same time, but the American researchers said only the more seriously ill Vietnamese were hospitalized. Just under one per cent were combat fatigue cases.

One U.S. Army psychiatrist — not connected with the research team — said last month the mental health of American soldiers is better than that of the civilian population in the United States.

Capt. Jimmie R. Clemons of Dallas, Tex., psychiatrist of the 1st Infantry Division, said only 2 or 3 per cent of the patients he sees each month are seriously sick or psychotic — "a much lower proportion than you see in stateside practice."

The research team said nearly 39 per cent of the American neuropsychiatric patients in Vietnam suffer from character and behavior disorders, usually involving "an attempt to have their tour in Vietnam terminated and be returned to the United States, sometimes with a desire to be discharged from the service."

Very few of these patients have been sent home, the team's report said, because if they were evacuated "the incidence of this condition might increase considerably."

The medical team said a large group of the South Vietnamese army patients — about 30 per cent — demonstrated chronic anxiety reactions "with a typical picture of headache, insomnia and palpitations."

The test is just one in an improved testing of steering assemblies and energy absorbing steering columns developed by engineers at the General Motors Proving Ground near Milford.

Widows Must Also Be Brave

Astronauts' Families Composed at Services

By United Press International

"These are pretty remarkable women," a space agency official said of astronaut wives. It was a vast understatement.

Not one of the widows of astronauts Virgil I. Grissom, Edward H. White II and Roger Chaffee was seen to weep or lose her composure in public through three separate memorial services for their husbands.

Martha Chaffee, Betty Grissom and Pat White attended all three services — Chaffee's on Sunday afternoon, Grissom's and White's yesterday morning.

They came to the services last, seemingly paying little attention to ranks of news cameramen. They left the churches first, stepping into the bright sunlight and again into the face of clicking, whirring cameras without flinching.

★ ★ ★

Away from the stress of the memorial services, they were even more composed. They were that way at Ellington Air Force Base near the Manned Spacecraft Center, when they boarded planes to Washington and West Point for their husbands' burial services.

SPECIAL KIND

It takes a special kind of man to coldly ride a rocket into the unknown of space. It takes much the same grit and steel to be a spaceman's wife, and the three young widows showed it.

Idea of America Feeding World Called Ridiculous

EAST LANSING (AP)—"The idea of American farmers feeding the world is ridiculous," an agricultural economist said today.

"This won't work because world 'demand' implies not only 'want' but also 'purchasing power'—something inherently lacking among the most needy," Dr. Arthur Macush said in remarks prepared for a Farmers' Week audience at Michigan State University.

★ ★ ★

Another MSU economist, Dr. Lawrence W. Witt, said most of the talk about future world starvation is "too pessimistic."

"The future is not bright, but neither is it all gloom," said Witt, who also is president of the American Farm Economics Association.

ERRORS IN DATA

Data on which gloomy forecasts are made include statistical and technical errors of 15 to 20 per cent, he said, while the difference between optimism and pessimism depends on changes of only 1 or 2 per cent.

Many predictions, he added, are made without consideration of current trends, such as an indicated trend toward population stability in Korea, Taiwan, India and Pakistan.

★ ★ ★

Mauch said pulling out all the stops on American production "could quickly knock the props from under the recent well-earned price and income gains for our farmers."

Dr. Carl Eicher, also an MSU economist, added that American farmers now are doing well in selling their products overseas.

The total value of American agricultural exports reached a record $6.5 billion in 1966, he said, with about one-fourth of these going overseas under the food for peace program.

Since 1954, Eicher said, the United States has exported $16 billion in food under these programs. Largest recipient is India, which received more than 8 billion tons of U. S. grains in 1966.

★ ★ ★

Another MSU economist, Dr. Robert D. Stevens, said farmers in developing countries must increase their food production faster than farmers in the advanced nations if they are going to increase food supplies per person.

St. Michael Eying Three Cage Crowns

Shamrock Five in Playoff Tilt; Rises in Poll

Mikemen Rank Fourth in Class D; Kettering Fifth in 'A' Division

Pontiac St. Michael already has one basketball championship tucked away and two more are on the horizon.

The Macomb Catholic League titlist moves into the second division playoffs starting Sunday, and later in February the Shamrocks will be after the state Class D crown.

The unbeaten Mikemen (10-0) occupy the No. 4 position on the Associated Press' Class D ladder this week, and there are a few games coming up that could enhance their position in the statewide poll.

St. Michael was No. 7 in the balloting last week and gained ground without playing. Ewen, owner of a 9-0 record, ranks first in the 'D' poll, followed by Flint St. Matthew (7-0) and Fowler (9-1).

Two local quintets — Waterford Kettering (8-0) and Birmingham Groves (10-0) — are ranked among the top ten in the Class A poll, a group headed by Muskegon Heights (10-0). South Haven (9-0) is setting the pace in the Class B voting.

★ ★ ★

St. Michael's Shamrocks move into the second division playoffs Sunday, meeting either Orchard Lake St. Mary or Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows at 6:30 p.m. at University of Detroit Memorial Building.

TITLE BATTLE

OLSM and FOLS are battling for the title in the Northwest Parochial League. Should OLSM defeat Ferndale St. James Friday, it would move into the playoffs against the Metropolitan Catholic champ. That would leave FOLS, Northwest runner-up, battling the Mikemen at 6:30.

★ ★ ★

Should OLSM lose Friday, then the Mikemen would face the Eaglets. Either way, a victory over either team by St. Michael would send the team's stock soaring in the state poll.

★ ★ ★

Kettering's Captains, seventh last week, slipped into fifth place behind Groves after a slight shakeup that saw Saginaw upset by Pontiac Central, 65-60. Saginaw fell from third to a tie with Hamtramck, also an upset victim, for sixth.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Central, 14th on the Class A ladder, meets Flint Southwestern this evening on the Colts' floor, and Friday, PCH takes on No. 9 ranked Flint Central on the Flint floor.

Cranbrook Loses

Paul McGrath and Bill Korte scored two goals apiece yesterday as Harper Woods Notre Dame downed Cranbrook School in a high school hockey game, 7-1.

Norm Lerchen tallied the only goal for Cranbrook (5-4-1). The win raised Notre Dame's record to 6-3-2.

Wildcats Claw Ohio State '5'

By the Associated Press

Northwestern's very wild Wildcats retained their lead in the Big Ten basketball race Monday night with a smashing 100-77 victory over Ohio State.

The Wildcats, the only undefeated team in Big Ten competition, had a few uneasy moments in the early going as Ohio State sped ahead. But Northwestern battled to a 42-39 halftime lead and then quickly made it 50-43 in the second half.

★ ★ ★

From then on it was only a question of the final score, and the Wildcats managed to reach the 100-mark on the strength of reserves.

But it wasn't a matter of reserves closing out the game. Coach Larry Glass has such a strong bench that he used his reserves to pull Northwestern into its commanding lead early in the second half.

A team with bench strength seldom relies on individual performers and as a result Jim Burns and Mike Weaver had to share scoring honors for the Wildcats with 20 points each. Bill Hosket topped Ohio State with 27 and nailed 18 rebounds.

★ ★ ★

While Northwestern was pulling to a game lead over idle Michigan State, which has a 3-1 record, Indiana and Purdue scored nonconference victories.

★ ★ ★

Indiana edged DePaul 72-70 and Purdue smashed past Tulane 99-84. Each of the Indiana teams now has a 9-4 record over the season, although Indiana is 2-1 in the conference and Purdue is 2-2.

Romeo Whips Lutheran East in Basketball

Romeo's Bulldogs made it five victories in their last six outings last night by downing a visiting Lutheran East squad, 75-67.

The Bulldogs rolled up a commanding 44-27 lead at halftime and were never in trouble. Romeo gained a 51-31 edge in the rebounding department.

Clyde Cushingberry led Romeo with 21 points, followed by teammates Donnell Craft (17), Bob Ruddick (15) and Rick Schapman (13).

First Loss Handed Perry Rec 5

The Amigo Celts sent Perry Drugs crashing down to its first defeat of the season last night in city American League recreation basketball action.

★ ★ ★

With the 62-53 victory, the Celts (5-1) moved within a half game of league-leading Perry (6-1). Cy Green sparked the winners with 19 points and teammate Clarence Douglas collected 13. Bob Finley picked up 12 for the losers.

In another American League game, Oxford Hills came from behind to tie Booth Homes in regulation play and went on to take a 70-65 decision in double overtime.

Oxford (3-3) trailed 36-27 at halftime and 42-39 after three quarters but rallied to knot the score at 57. Both scored six points in the first extra session to remain deadlocked at 63.

★ ★ ★

In the second overtime, Oxford pushed in seven points and held Booth to one basket to pull out the victory. Gene Lee led the winners with 25 points, four of them in the overtime sessions, while teammate Felix Brooks contributed 14. Larry Hughes (15) and Larry Blackburn (13) led the losers (2-5).

NATIONAL GAMES

In the National League, the unbeaten Amigo Club (7-0) increased its lead to two full games by downing Acker Construction (4-2), 90-69.

Other NL games found the All Stars (4-3) downing Auburn Hills (2-4), 63-38; Unbeatables (3-4) nipping McDonald's (2-5) in overtime, 57-55; and Highland Lakes (1-6) winning by forfeit over Local 653 (3-5).

Six of the Amigo Club players wound up in double figures. Henry Robertson and John Herrins led the way with 17 apiece, followed by Danny Thomas (12), Emmet Elliot (10) and Leon Prentis (10). Jim McDonald led all scorers with 21 for the losers.

Six points by Walter Moore in overtime helped the Unbeatables down McDonald's. The game ended at 51-all in regulation play.

★ ★ ★

Moore wound up with 23 points to lead the winners' attack. Lynn Pinkerman collected 24 for the losers.

★ ★ ★

Colliss Russell and Sam Cole led the All Stars with 10 points each in the romp over Auburn Hills. Dick Reddaway led the losers with 10 markers.

New Basketball Leader in Waterford League

Buckner Finance (4-0) edged Chetolah Grocery (3-1) last night, 55-51, to take over first place in Waterford Township's Continental League basetball race.

Other games found Glenn's Motor Sales (3-1) moving into a tie for second with a 96-73 win over Hillcrest Nazarene (1-3), while Mattingly Insurance (1-3) pushed Ryeson's Market (0-4) into the basement by taking a 65-45 decision.

Down 26-18 at halftime, Chetolah rallied to deadlock the game at 46-all with 5:50 left, but Buckner grabbed the lead for good at 2:40 (51-49) on a basket by Jerry Paul. Paul led all scorers with 20 points. Gary Adams tossed in 15 for the losers.

Ross Ludwick flipped in 28 points for Glenn's Motor Sales, who had little trouble with Hillcrest. The winners were in front 39-28 at halftime and raised the count to 71-48 after three periods. Curtis Cooper tossed in 16 points for the losers.

Ryeson took an early 12-9 lead, but Mattingly came on to move in front 21-19 at halftime. Stan Austin paced the winners with 25 points. Gus Pantelides collected 16 for Ryeson.

Battle for Title Monday

Clay, Terrell in Final Workouts

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Cassius Clay and Ernie Terrell had an appointment with the Texas Boxing Commission today in the Astrodome ring where they fight Monday night to settle the world's heavyweight championship.

★ ★ ★

After the preliminary weigh-in and physical examination both boxers move into their final few workouts. Terrell is solemn and noncommittal about his strategy. Clay is keeping up his nonstop psychological warfare against the sullen World Boxing Association champ.

★ ★ ★

The Astrodome impresarios, silent until Monday on the matter of the in-person gate, issued a prediction that more than 35,000 seats would be sold—more than were sold for Clay's brief encounter with hometown fighter Cleveland Williams last November.

The ticket buyers include a gallery of Clay's defeated foes —George Chuvalo, Karl Mildenberger, Floyd Patterson.

Sonny Liston was due in Houston in time for today's weigh-in. When Clay heard Monday that he was on his way, he said, "I'd like to box him a few rounds," a notion promptly quashed.

Patterson's former mentor, Gus D'Amato, is coming to town with his new charge, Buster Mathis, the 22-year-old fighter who won the 1964 Olympic trials and then yielded the heavyweight slot on the team because of a hand injury.

★ ★ ★

Mathis will box stocky Waban Thomas of Charlotte, N.C., in a six-round preliminary. Thomas is a 10-year veteran and weighs 210 pounds. Mathis is 16-0 professionally with a dozen knockouts. He's a lean and hungry 235, down from 300 in his pre-D'Amato days.

D'Amato is saying Mathis — a growling, kiss-throwing, talkative showman—will be ready for a title fight next fall.

★ ★ ★

Angelo Dundee, Clay's trainer, said he was pleased that Mathis was on the card. "I think he's an excellent fighter," Dundee said. He did not discount D'Amato's assessment of Mathis' title possibilities.

"D'Amato's not an optimistic guy," Dundee said. "If he thinks the guy's ready, that's noteworthy. I'm curious to see him myself."

Spartans, Irish in Cage Clash

EAST LANSING (UPI) — There will be no tie when Michigan State and Notre Dame clash in basketball Wednesday on the Irish court in South Bend.

"We know Notre Dame is going to be a much tougher opponent now than they had been if we had played them earlier in the year," MSU Coach John Benington said Monday.

★ ★ ★

"We also know that we're sure they (the Irish) are not going to be playing for a tie. And I don't think we're going to be either," Benington added.

Michigan State and Notre Dame played to a tie on the gridiron in the midst of a controversy over which team should be ranked first in the football polls.

On the basketball court, Notre Dame upped its winning streak to six games Monday night by downing Butler, 101-80.

In NHL Scoring Race

Record Pace for Mikita

NEW YORK (AP)—While Stan Mikita, the sparkplug in Chicago's high-powered offensive machine, charges toward an all-time point record, the Black Hawks' goal-tending tandem of Glenn Hall and Dennis DeJordy is closing in on National Hockey League defensive honors.

★ ★ ★

Mikita, who has registered 22 goals and 42 assists in 43 games, holds a commanding 17-point lead over Detroit's Norm Ullman in the scoring race, according to latest NHL figures.

★ ★ ★

The Chicago center is piling up points at a pace that will top 100 for the season and break the record of 97 set by teammate Bobby Hull a year ago.

VEZINA TROPHY

Hall and DeJordy, meanwhile, have moved into contention for the Vezina Trophy, which goes to the goalies of the team with the best defensive record. New York still leads with a goals-against average of 2.45 per-game. Chicago, unbeaten in its last eight games, has 2.47 mark and Montreal is right behind at 2.48.

Charlie Hodge of the Canadiens has the best individual mark, having yielded 2.29 goals per-start, and Ed Giacomin of the Rangers is the shutout leader with six.

Yanks' Park Will Undergo Face-Lifting

NEW YORK (UPI) — The House that Ruth built will be rebuilt by the New York Yankees' image-conscious owner, the Columbia Broadcasting System, prior to the 1967 season opener.

Yankee Stadium, the scene of many of the greatest players and plays in baseball history, will be modernized and refurbished, Yankee president Michael Burke announced.

The cost of the massive face lifting will be $1,350,000.

Burke, who replaced Dan Topping in the key front office position at the close of the 1966 season, said that the park will be completely repainted inside and out, a new sound system will be installed, bleacher seats will be rebuilt, and the lobby will be improved.

Other changes will include a completely new field and modernization of the dugouts. Scheduled to be removed is the first row of seats around the outfield,

McGuire Case to Be Delayed

DETROIT (UPI) — The prosecutor's office has put off until Friday a decision on whether a warrant on assault and battery charges will be issued against Marquette University basketball coach Al McGuire.

★ ★ ★

McGuire could not appear in Detroit Monday because of a home basketball game scheduled in Milwaukee Monday night, so assistant prosecutor William J. Hathaway said he delayed a decision on the warrant until he can talk to McGuire.

★ ★ ★

The controversy began when Marquette reserve center Pat Smith got in a fight with a fan after Marquette lost an overtime game 94-92 to the University of Detroit Saturday night.

WMU Upset by Marshall in Loop Tilt

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) —George Stone and Jim Davidson rallied Marshall in the second half and led the Big Green to a 73-61 Mid - American Conference basketball victory over Western Michigan Monday night.

Stone tossed in 24 points in the game. Davidson scored 22.

Most of their points came after the intermission when WMU held a 31-26 lead on the strength of careful ball-control tactics.

Marshall hit 29 of 61 shots for a 47.5 per cent average. Western Michigan hit only 29.7 per cent — 22 of 74 shots.

After a brief Marshall lead early in the game, WMU's Clarence Harville paced a first-half surge, scoring nine of 11 Broncos points within a 10-minute span. This gave WMU a 25-20 lead and the Broncos stayed ahead to gain the halftime advantage.

TRIGGER BLITZ

Marshall's blitz began with a pair of baskets by Bob Redd and Danny D'Antoni. Then, bursts by Davidson and Stone put Marshall ahead 45 - 36 with 11 minutes left in the game.

Harville and Gene Ford topped Western Michigan with 20 points each. Reggie Lacefield was held to 13.

The victory gave Marshall a 3 - 2 conference record, moving the team into a tie with WMU for third place. Marshall is 11-5 over-all. Western Michigan is 9-6 over-all and 3-2 in the MAC.

IN CONTROL — Western Michigan's Clarence Harville is in control of a rebound in the game against Marshall College last night. The player being pushed out of the picture is Marshall's Bob Allen. Marshall, however, pushed Western to defeat, 73-61, at Huntington, W. Va.

Vanderbilt Pressed in Taming LSU

By United Press International

Vanderbilt caught a tiger by the tail and barely managed to escape with just a few scratches.

The smooth Commodores, ranked eighth nationally in the United Press International ratings, entered the lair of the Louisana State Tigers Monday night expecting to find a pussycat. They almost got mauled for their temerity.

LSU, the last place team in the Southeastern Confernece, frightened the stripes out of Vandy, the SEC leader, before being subdued 79-77 in the final minute of play.

Tommy Thigpen's 10 - foot jump shot at the final buzzer dropped off the rim, allowing their 15th victory in 17 games and their eighth win in nine confernece starts.

Tennessee kept pace with Vandy in the SEC chase, raising its league mark to 8-1 by routing Mississippi State 67-47.

In the only other games involving teams ranked in the top 10, sixth-ranked Princeton pulverized rival Rutgers 97-74 and ninth-ranked Western Kentucky drubbed Austin Peay 101-59 for its 15th successive triumph after an opening game loss to Vandy.

ONE BEHIND

LSU, which suffered its 13th loss against three wins, rallied in the second half on the shooting of Ken Drost and Brad Brian to climb within a single point of the Commodores with 1:11 remaining. After Vandy had stalled for 40 seconds, Thigpen fouled Kenny Gibbs and the center made the first shot but missed the second.

Drost led all scorers with 32 points while Tom Hagan, a talented sophomore, topped the winners with 30 points.

Tenacious Tennessee shut off State's fast break and pulled away in the second half after leading by four points at intermission. Versatile Ron Widby paced the Volunteers with 20 points while 7-foot center Tom Boerwinkle and soph Bill Hann contributed 14 apiece.

Defensive specialist Joe Heiser throttled Rugers' high-scoring star Bobby Lloyd and the tall, talented Tigers overran the Scarlet Knights with a 57-point second - half explosion. Heiser held Lloyd, the nation's third leading scorer with a 29.3 mark, to a season low of 17 and chipped in with 19 himself. John Haarlow of Princeton took game honors with 25 points.

Kansas State moved into a tie with Nebraska for the Big Eight lead by overpowering Oklahoma 102-82.

Texas Quintet Gains in Poll; UCLA First

By the Associated Press

Texas Western made the most rapid advance in The Associated Press' major-college basketball poll this week while powerful UCLA swept the boards for the third straight time.

The Bruins from Los Angeles were the unanimous choices in the voting by a national panel of 38 sports writers and broadcasters after downing Chicago Loyola 82-67 in their only game last week.

Unbeaten UCLA, also a unanimous selection the previous two weeks, crushed Illinois 120-82 Sunday for its 16th victory. The balloting, however, was based on games through last Saturday.

North Carolina held second place after beating Virginia 103-76, boosting its record to 13-1. The Tarheels collected 298 points.

Louisville beat Bradley 81-68 for a 16-2 record. Texas Western advanced two places to fourth after defeating Arizona State 56-50 and Brigham Young 85-76. The Miners have a 14-2 record. Princeton remained in the No. 5 spot. The Tigers downed Pennsylvania 70-66.

The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses, season records through games of Sat. Jan. 28 and total points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1.	UCLA (38)	15-0	380
2.	North Carolina	13-1	298
3.	Louisville	16-2	284
4.	Texas Western	14-2	221
5.	Princeton	14-1	214
6.	Houston	14-2	186
7.	Kansas	12-3	117
8.	Western Kentucky	14-1	113
9.	Vanderbilt	14-2	107
10.	Providence	12-3	41

Detroit Gets Irish Team

Soccer on Lend-Lease for U.S. League

DETROIT (AP) — Soccer, the No. 1 spectator sport in other parts of the world, is coming to the United States on a lend-lease basis.

John Anderson, president of Detroit Soccer Co., Inc., said Monday the 12-city North American Soccer League will open in May with imported teams. The 12 imports will return to their home countries in time for their regular seasons and in 1968 the league plans to field home-signed, if not home-grown, teams.

★ ★ ★

Detroit will be represented by the Glentorians of Belfast, a Northern Ireland Football League team.

Other cities in the league are New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, San Francisco, Boston, Washington, Cleveland, Dallas, Houston, Toronto and Vancouver.

★ ★ ★

Washington will be represented by Aberdeen, Scotland, Cleveland by Stokes City of England and Vancouver by Sunderland of England. The other imports were not announced.

"We did not feel it would be possible to put together our own team capable of playing a top-level game in time for the 1967 season," Anderson said.

HOME GAMES

He said the teams will play eight home games and eight away games betwen May 28 and July 16. The season will be preceded by six exhibition games.

While at home, the Detroit team will use Tiger stadium.

Anderson, asked whether he felt the franchises could make a financial go of it, said, "For the rest of the world, soccer is the top team spectator sport.

★ ★ ★

"A game that can create the sometimes bloody emotionalism around the world that soccer does, is capable of drawing crowds in this country," he said.

Anderson said the team would probably have to draw about 15,000 per game to break even.

"If we have to lose a few million dollars we will lose a few million," he said, "But we expect this to be an established sport in five years."

He said negotiations are underway for a television contract.

He said the 12 teams will be split into east-west divisions, with the top two teams in each division playing off for a post-season championship.

In some countries, elaborate precautions must be taken to protect the players and officials from irate fans. Some fields have moats build between the playing area and the stands, but Anderson said he anticipated no such need in Detroit.

Ducats Gone for Masters Golf Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The demand by patrons has exhausted series badges and daily tickets for the 1967 Masters Golf Tournament and none will be placed on sale this year, tournament chairman Clifford Roberts said Monday.

"We regret that we will not be able to give any consideration to orders received after Jan. 26," Roberts said.

The Masters is scheduled April 6-9.

Roberts said tickets for practice rounds are available and can be purchased at the gates.

This is the earliest date in the tournament's history that tickets have been sold out.

Celtics Keep Streak Alive

By the Associated Press

Give the Boston Celtics enough rope in the next two weeks and their winning streak is liable to reach out and trip up the Philadelphia 76ers before it snaps.

Led by sharp-shooting Sam Jones, the Celtics whipped the San Francisco Warriors 121-108 at Greensboro, N.C., Monday night for their 10th straight National Basketball Association victory.

Len Wilkens' 28 points led St. Louis past Los Angeles 106-99 at Memphis, Tenn., in the only other game on the schedule.

The torrid Celtics, who trail first-place Philadelphia by 6½ games in the Eastern Division race, play six games before their next meeting with the 76ers — a nationally-televised scrap at Boston Feb. 12.

Russian Sets Record

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia's Alexander Zolotarev leaped 53 feet, 6⅛ inches Monday to set a European indoor record in the hop, step and jump in the final day's action of a two-day international track meet at the Moscow Sports Palace.

Whitcroft Retains Squash Open Title

Pontiac businessman Glen Whitcroft successfully defended his 40-and over Western Open Squash Racquets crown at the University Club in Detroit over the weekend.

Whitcroft defeated Bill Schock of St. Louis, 12-15, 15-10, 15-9 and 15-3 to gain his second straight title.

In the regular men's division, Dave O'Laughlin of Pittsburgh won over Ted Simmons of St. Louis for his second straight title.

West Bloomfield Skiers Triumph

West Bloomfield's two ski teams posted victories over Walled Lake yesterday at Mt. Holly.

The Lakers' boys team downed Walled Lake in total time 155.6 to 199.6 paced by the 1-2 finish of Tim Brennan (38.0) and Kim Woodruff. April Welch (44.3) and Betsy Schuler placed first and second as the Lakers' girls team won, 143.6 to 161.8.

Walled Lake defeated a Pontiac Central team that failed to qualify four finishers. Lee Eggericks (41.8) led the Vikings.

BOWLING

Ed Gibbs and John Mayer emerged as the top men in the first Pontiac chapter of the 700 Clubs of America Singles Bowling Tournament Sunday at Airway Lanes.

Only seven of the 48 men entered rolled 600 series and Gibbs led the open division with 243-255—667. Right behind him was Jerry Perna who had 258-225—664.

Ed Jostock gave the most consistent performance, rolling 213-223-211 (647); while the second highest game was Bill Bull's 249.

The 184-and-under class was paced by Mayer's 201—586. He was pushed by veteran sponsor Mitch Calbi. The 69-year-old southpaw hit 210-201—582.

A new tournament format approved for later tournaments will grant all entrants above 60-years of age one pin for their age and he liely would have Sunday's event using that policy.

In last Tuesday's Airway Classic, Made Rite Chips didn't show any age with 1002-1087—3064. Clint Nicholl hit 268—673 to lead all the bowlers. Al Urbaniak hit 669, Frank Perna 255—647 and Ray Keith 255 — 646.

Outdoing them was Ed Gignac who gave a 255—665 performance.

Probe Jolts Computer Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — Computer stocks were upset by news from IBM that the Justice Department is investigating the computer industry, but the overall stock market was higher in heavy trading early this afternoon.

On the last day of January, the market ran true to its 1967 form, continuing a barely interrupted rally.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 5.45 at 853.56.

Key stocks advanced from fractions to a point or so, with enough of a margin of gainers over losers to give the popular averages a good bulge.

The very active stocks were in electronics, savings-and-loans, sulphur, airlines and the science-technology group.

As computer stocks reacted to the news from IBM, the stock of IBM dropped more than 2 points while Control Data was off nearly 2, Honeywell lost more than a point and Burroughs a fraction.

★ ★ ★

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Monogram Industries rose 3, Northeast Airlines and Frontier Airlines about 2, Seven Arts, Woods Corp., Flying Tiger, Conductron, Computer Sciences, Barnes Engineering and Ameco a point or more. Duval Corp. and Syntex lost about 2 each. Acme Missiles and Solitron Devices slumped more than a point.

By Waterford Board

Bids Opened on Overpass for School

Two firms submitted proposals last night as the Waterford Township Board opened bids for a new pedestrian overpass to be located at Williams Lake Road and Manson.

The apparent low bid of $15,850 was turned in by Hill and Thomas Contracting, Inc., of Lansing.

The Guardian Engineering Development Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa., which has built other pedestrian overpasses in the township, submitted a bid of $17,600.

Both bids were referred to the township engineer for analysis and recommendations.

The structure will serve pupils of Schoolcraft School, 6400 Maceday Drive.

★ ★ ★

In other business last night, the board read two first notices.

Included was a request to transfer a 1966 SDD and SDM liquor license from Elizabeth Lake Pharmacy, 3801 Elizabeth Lake, to W. C. Robertson.

The other was a request for adding space to a 1966 Class C and SDM-licensed business (300 Bowl) with two bars and a dance permit.

Also last night, the Waterford Township Public Library submitted its annual report for 1966.

The library, which now is a member of the Wayne County Federated Library System, owned 28,757 volumes at the end of last year — 20,842 in the main library on Tubbs Road and 7,915 in the CAI branch library.

★ ★ ★

Total circulation last year was 77,385. Some 3,230 new library cards were issued in 1966, raising the total to 16,230.

PRESS THE FLESH — Artist Warren Stagg, 38, prepares to move topless Sue Murphee around a canvas to produce some of his abstract art in San Gabriel, Calif. Stagg daubs the girl, front and back, then has her slither around on the canvas to produce art works like those in the background. As you might expect, this has San Gabriel officials up in arms.

And It's Not a Bust, Either

'Topless Art' Hits California

SAN GABRIEL, Calif. (AP) — Some critics say that modern art has blown its top. But who ever thought it would go topless?

Well, the art world had best prepare itself. Topless art has come to San Gabriel and, though the proportions of the new fad's influence are not yet known, more than a few residents, mostly male, have felt it is worth looking at.

★ ★ ★

The technique involves the use of a topless girl, paint, canvas and a crowd of onlookers to create an abstract painting.

The technique: Artist dabs girl with paint — usually cold paint so the girl can squeal — and girl slithers onto canvas. This produces unusual designs on the canvas, and the girl, too, which are quite different from most examples of abstract art.

SERIOUS ABOUT WORK

The artist, Warren Stagg, 38, of Hollywood, says he is serious about his work.

Like many artistic innovators he has his detractors.

★ ★ ★

"This intellectual dishonesty is not in the interest of art," said Mayor Helen Achilles. "It's in the interest of the fast buck."

The mayor and City Council of San Gabriel, located about 10 miles east of Los Angeles, have been complaining since Stagg opened his "art show" at a restaurant.

They want the "abstract impressionist" to stop painting, at least in the present fashion, and Bill Coleman, former police chief in nearby Monterey Park, to dress his women employes more modestly.

When the club opened its art show New Year's Eve, Coleman was charged with providing entertainment without a license. The case may be heard today in Alhambra Municipal Court.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, the exhibitions continue. So does public protest — except from those who fill the house every day.

County Units Due Evaluation

Relation of Bylaws Is Object of Study

Chairmen of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors' 25 committees will each be asked to review the function of their committee in relation to bylaws and file a report by Feb. 14.

★ ★ ★

The request for an evaluation was made yesterday by the bylaws committee of the board of supervisors.

This committee will then review reports of chairmen at a Feb. 14 meeting with Delos Hamlin, chairman of the board of supervisors, and Corporation Counsel Robert P. Allen.

The committee function review was prompted by suggestions made to the full board Jan. 20 by Monte R. Geralds, supervisor from Madison Heights.

Geralds, an attorney, said he had no specific complaint on the present committee bylaws structure but suggested three points for consideration by the supervisors.

3 POINTS

One was whether a limit be established on the number of committee memberships, a supervisor may hold, and another dealt with a minimum time requirement at committee meetings for payment of per diem compensation.

★ ★ ★

A third question was whether provision should be made to remove supervisors from committees for inadequate attendance.

Only eight men in the world are said to have been over eight feet tall. The tallest of these was an American, Robert P. Wadllow (1918-1940), of Alton, Illinois, who measured 8 feet, 11.1 inches.

Space Vehicle Launched From California Base

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A space vehicle was launched early today from this West Coast missile launch facility, the Air Force reported.

★ ★ ★

Officers said the vehicle was boosted aloft at 4:47 a.m., but they wouldn't disclose the type of rocket used, the craft's mission or other details.

★ ★ ★

Such spacecraft are usually launched into polar orbit from Vandenberg.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force would not confirm whether the vehicle achieved orbit.

The most common name in the world is Muhammad which can be spelled in many ways. The most common name in the English-speaking world is Smith, and there are an estimated 1,290,000 Smiths in the U.S.

Snow Shoveler Hit by Slowly Moving Auto

A 93-year-old Pontiac man, who was struck by a slowly moving car as he was shoveling snow yesterday at the edge of his driveway, is in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Injured was William Martyn of 39 Waldo, who suffered a broken left ankle.

Lloyd Degrew, 28, of 32 Waldo told police he was backing north on Waldo to get in position to drive forward into his own driveway when his car struck Martyn.

Armed Bandit Pairs Net $886 in 3 Separate City Robberies

A total of $886 was reported taken in three separate robberies in Pontiac yesterday, all staged by a pair of armed bandits.

John Scruggs of 530 Montana told police that two men held him up at 5:30 a.m. as he was walking toward his car at the rear of the house.

One had a gun, Scruggs said, and the other struck him on the head with a heavy object. The pair took three $112 checks and $6 in cash from Scruggs.

Floyd Hallmark of 639 Balboa told police that two men, one with a gun, robbed him of $124 in cash in front of 414 Branch at 6:50 p.m.

Just 15 minutes later two men, one with a hand gun and the other a sawed-off shotgun, robbed Luther Grocery, 517 Luther, of $420.

LOCKED DOOR

Charles Gottschalk and his brother, Lewis, told police they locked the door of the store from the inside and were getting ready to close when two men knocked and displayed their weapons.

After robbing the store, they fled east on Luther, according to the Gottschalk brothers.

★ ★ ★

Police are investigating the three robberies and are eying the possibility that the same bandits may have been involved.

Says 'Spanish, Si' for State's Schools

Tomas Chavez Jr. of Pontiac, state president of the Latin Americans United on Political Action (LAUPA), has urged passage of legislation making it mandatory that all Michigan schools teach Spanish as a second language.

★ ★ ★

Speaking on a recent trip to Lansing, where he met with Gov. George Romney and State Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, R-17 District, Chavez also urged that preschool programs for Spanish-speaking children be started in areas where Spanish Ameircans are heavily populated.

★ ★ ★

"Children of Anglo-American descent of our state can profit much by having them speak two universal languages," said the LAUPA president, who lives at 122 W. Fairmount.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. Herbert Coleman.
You're not forgotten mother dear,
Nor ever shall you be.
As long as life and memory lasts,
We shall remember thee.
Sadly missed by her children.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ELIZabeth A. Thompson who passed away January 31, 1962.
Sadly missed by husband, children and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MISS Sharon Rose Morgan, who passed away January 31, 1964 due to an automobile accident.
Softly I turn back the pages of time
To wander down memory's lane;
With laughter and tears
I turn back the years
And gently speak your name.
Gone but not forgotten.
Sadly missed by her close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Balmer.

Britons Move on Electric Car

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Joseph Lucas of the British auto components firm said Monday it is getting into the electric car business.

Lucas said it has reached an agreement for cooperation with the General Atomic Division of General Dynamics of San Diego, Calif., on research, development and testing of a zinc-air battery.

★ ★ ★

Dr. W. J. Arrol, director of Lucas Group Research, said the new battery can store several times as much energy as the conventional lead-acid battery and could power an electric commuter car.

★ ★ ★

A full-sized prototype electric car is being developed at San Diego. Ford Motor Co. has a similar project.

Senator Favors Voting Age of 18

WASHINGTON (AP) — "A young man who is old enough to fight in Vietnam is old enough to vote," says Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt.

★ ★ ★

He said he supports a constitutional amendment proposal that would lower the voting age to 18.

A Stolen Car Returns to Lot

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Joseph W. Storey watched a fellow employe park a car in a department store warehouse lot Monday and decided there was something mighty familiar about the auto.

Detectives said Storey made a closer inspection and identified the car as the one stolen from him in the same parking lot 13 months ago.

★ ★ ★

The detectives said an investigation disclosed the new owner of the car had purchased it from a dealer in another state last Dec. 2 and had no idea it had been stolen.

Facility in Works

KALAMAZOO (AP) — The Kalamazoo County Board of Supervisors agreed Monday to prepare plans for a medical care facility for the aged. Paul Schrier, board chairman, said the proposal would be put to voters later this year.

'Funny Girl' Mimi Winner of Stage Fight by a Nose

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Mimi Hines slugged her leading man Johnny Desmond during a blackout in a matinee performance of "Funny Girl" and later admitted it to me . . . "I belted him right in his nose job," Mimi said.

"He swore at me and I let him have it with my fist — boom, boom, bo[illegible]. They had to pull me off of him. I was a [illegible]." Mimi was still trembling as she gave the blow-by-blow account.

"She loosened my bridgework," Johnny conceded. "But she doesn't fight too good. She left herself wide open for a punch in the teeth. But if I'd straightened them out, I'd have ruined her career."

★ ★ ★

Shaken by her own sudden outburst little 103-pound Mimi let understudy Linda Gerard do the matinee second act and the night's performance. She sent word to Johnny that she wanted to apologize and end the bitterness which has reduced them to cold stares offstage and extra added insults on stage for a month.

"I don't want to make up," Desmond said. "When I get mad, I don't want to have somebody cry and say 'I'm sorry' and then have everything all right. I don't even want to talk to her."

Mimi, waiting in her dressing room for Johnny to come downstairs and accept her apology, said that he'd been "upstaging" her, bellowing at her, and interjecting insulting lines during their scenes when she portrays Fanny Brice and he plays Nicky Arnstein.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Secret Stuff: Behind the scenes at a famous top-rated TV show, it's like "Peyton Place." A glamorous woman star sees a lot of the producer, who has wife trouble, and the director has the crew so mad, they talk of mutiny . . . A lady writer won't even tell her best friends if it's true about her friendship with So-and-So — she probably knows her best friends wouldn't be able to keep it a secret if she admitted it.

Helen Grayco, lovely young widow of Spike Jones, is acting romantic with Bill Rosen, dapper proprietor of Gatsby's . . . Don't look now but Dave Tebet, VP of Talent at NBC, just accepted appointment to the TV, Radio and Film Advisory Board of Stephens College, Columbia, Mo.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: Mark Twain cautioned writers to be careful of their vocabulary: "The difference between the right and the almost right word is like the difference between 'lightning' and 'lightning bug'."

EARL'S PEARLS: Angie Papadakis says she can't understand how a two-lb. box of candy can make her gain five pounds.

A dentist finally got even with his TV repairman. When the guy needed some fillings, the dentist sent him a bill: "$20 — plus parts." That's earl, brother.

Prisoner Used File -but Not to Escape

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — An inmate at the Jacksonville prison farm managed to get hold of a file, but he didn't try to escape.

★ ★ ★

Instead he filed pennies down to the size of dimes and used them in vending machines at the prison farm, U.S. Secret Service agents reported.

They charged Oliver Francis Keller, 49, with mutilating coins.

HE CAME PREPARED — Secretary of the Treasury Henry M. Fowler arranges his notebooks at the witness table yesterday as he prepares to testify before the House Ways and Means Committee on a proposal to increase the public debt limit by $7 billion to a new level of $337 billion. Fowler said that unless the Congress acts, the Treasury will have to start holding up some payments within a month.

New Japanese Party Elated, Sights 1987

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's fastest growing political party, the Komeito — Clean Government — won 25 of the 32 lower house seats it contested in Sunday's election. The political arm of the Buddhist Soka Gakkai has its sights set on 17.

"Our tentative aim is to win power in 20 years, said Soka Gakkai President Daisaku Ikeda, 38, after the election returns put Komeito into fourth place in the ruling house of the Diet.

★ ★ ★

"The first stage is the next 10 years when we must try to become third. During that period, if it will serve the peace and stability of the masses, we might form a coalition with whatever group is in power, either renovationist or conservative."

When Ikeda talks, old politicians and many other Japanese listen. A 78 per cent score in a political party's first plunge into the arena of real legislative power is not to be sniffed at.

ANCIENT SECT

Soka Gakkai — the Value Creating Society — the lay organization if an ancient Buddhist sect, has built its membership from a few thousand after the war to a claimed five million or more families.

With a platform plank of "Happiness Now," it attracts the lonely clerks, housemaids, students and other lower-middle-class men and women who find the going rough in the big cities. For them it stages mammoth culture festivals, runs frequent excursions to its main temple at the foot of Mt. Fuji, encourages sports and women's and youth activities. Its glittering, ultramodern places of worship help them forget the drabness of home.

★ ★ ★

It has a university on the drawing boards for 1972.

One of the richest of the postwar religious organizations, Soka Gakkai gets its funds from modest contributions and, to a large extent, from its busy presses. It publishes a newspaper with a circulation in the millions and a whole family of magazines.

IN POLITICS

Soka Gakkai has been in politics since 1956. In July 1965, it elected 11 of its 14 candidates to the upper house and has placed more than 1,000 Komeito representatives in local and prefectural legislatures.

U.S. Car Rules Arouse Europe

BRUSSELS (UPI) — European protests over new American automobile safety standards mounted today toward a bitter trade war between the Common Market and the United States. Foreign car makers cringed at potential multimillion-dollar U.S. sales losses.

"If the new safety standards are applied to foreign imports, the Volkswagen will have to put its engine in front," one Common Market official said.

The Common Market's executive commission led the protesters, claiming the standards are against the spirit of the American trade expansion act—the basis of the current "Kennedy round" tariff talks.

European auto makers already have complained to their governments and a wave of diplomatic notes can be expected, informed government sources said.

★ ★ ★

The executive commission said mandatory compliance with the toughened American safety standards would cut back, if not choke off completely, about $700 million worth of West German, French, Italian and Dutch auto sales to the United States.

MAJOR IMPORTS

The four countries supply the majority of American car imports. Britain and Sweden, nonmarket members, also sell heavily abroad.

★ ★ ★

Common Market officials view the standards as nontariff barriers to trade. The "Kennedy round" is supposed to reduce, if not abolish, barriers between Western nations.

Sloe-eyed women of Paris achieved a sultry look in the 19th century by having their eyelids tattooed.

Care of Art He Donated Riles Noted Collector

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Avery Brundage has threatened to take back the $30-million collection of Oriental art he donated to San Francisco.

Brundage says that he is unhappy about the care given the collection housed in a special museum wing that opened last summer at a cost of $2.75 million to the people of San Francisco.

"I'm not being vengeful," he declared Monday. "What has been allowed to happen is a shame, whether it's my collection or someone else's."

What has angered Brundage are such incidents as the breaking of a statue face last year and the theft two weeks ago of a 19th-century Japanese scroll valued at $1,200.

Brundage, for many years chairman of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said he had complained several times to Richard S. Rheem, chairman of the board of trustees of the M. H. de Young Art Museum in Golden Gate Park. The collection is housed in a two-story wing paid for by a voter-approved bond issue.

★ ★ ★

Brundage said he could walk in and take back half the collection because it is only on loan. He said he could take the other half, too, because "The city is in violation of our contract and they know it."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Roger Kent, who headed the San Francisco Asian Art Society which first sought the gift, said, "I have a copy of the contract and the city has not kept its part of the agreement."

Rheem recently asked the city for an unspecified amount of extra money for more guards, more special storage equipment and other improvements for the collection.

Sprinkler Systems Invaluable—Area Fire Officials

The devastating fire that hit Chicago's huge McCormack Place convention Center Jan. 16 "might well have been less disastrous," said Pontiac Fire Marshall Charles Metz, "if the building had been equipped with a sprinkler system."

"K-Mart is the largest single business establishment in the Pontiac area," he pointed out, "and it's 'sprinkled' ".

"Think what such a system would have saved in Chicago when you realize the K-Mart store could have fit into a corner of McCormack Place."

Just how valuable are sprinkler systems?

★ ★ ★

Many merchants and building owners, considering the merits of what Pontiac Fire Department officials describe as "the best possible first line of defense against fires," find installation costs prohibitive and leave matters at the consideration stage.

LOWER INSURANCE

However, Capt. Albert Rayner of the Pontiac Fire Department maintains that sprinkler systems "pay for themselves in decreased insurance premiums in about seven years."

He added that such equipment is extremely valuable.

"Probably 90 per cent of the fires in sprinkled buildings in the past 50 years have been extinguished or held."

★ ★ ★

The remaining 10 per cent, he said, failed either because an explosion occurred or because of human error.

NO ORDINANCE

There is no law in Pontiac which requires all stores or public buildings to have sprinkler systems. City Fire Inspector Joseph A. Tunny pointed out that while some buildings, according to size and foundation material, are so required by law, no blanket ordinance exists.

In Waterford Township, Fire Marshal Russell See hopes to strengthen the local sprinkling system code by imposing stiffer regulations on apartment buildings.

Adopted in 1960, the existing statute requires automatic sprinkling systems in basement areas exceeding 2,500 square feet, used for boiler rooms, storage and similar purposes.

★ ★ ★

Merchantile, residential and other type buildings fall under the law, which is similar to state statute.

AMENDMENT

See would like the local ordinance amended so that sprinklers would be required in all new multiple dwellings occupied by eight or more families.

The township is considerably better equipped for sprinkling systems now than when the code was adopted because of the completion of a fire hydrant system in 1965.

See is concentrating on apart-

Astronauts Getting Full Burial Honors

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With heroes' honors, the remains of America's three Apollo 1 astronauts go toward their burial sites today as the nation mourns and investigators search to answer the torturing question: "How did it happen?"

With military escorts, flag-draped coffins containing Air Force Lt. Cols. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee depart in the same plane about 10:30 a.m. EST from a Cape Kennedy landing strip.

A brief ceremony is planned at the airfield, located less than four miles from the launch pad when the spacemen died Friday in a ball of flame that flashed through their moonship.

After a flight of about one hour, the Air Force jet carrying their remains lands at Andrews Air Force Base in Washington. From there, the bodies of Grissom and Chaffee go to Arlington National Cemetery, where three other U.S. astronauts, killed in plane crashes, are also buried.

★ ★ ★

The two Apollo 1 pilots will be buried there Tuesday with heroes' honors, Grissom at 9 a.m. and Chaffee at 1 p.m.

WEST POINT

White's body will be taken to a Highland Falls, N.Y., funeral home to await burial at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Paying tribute to a fallen comrade during memorial services for Chaffee Sunday at Webster, Tex., near the Manned Spacecraft Center, three astronauts flew gleaming jets out of a setting sun. They left a vacant slot in their formation to honor their fellow astronaut.

Similar memorial services were planned today for Grissom and White.

★ ★ ★

At Cape Kennedy, the 12-man board of inquiry continued probing the tragedy, looking at photographs taken of the cockpit, interviewing witnesses and studying data.

SENATE REVIEW

Chairman Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., of the Senate Astronautical and Space Sciences Committee said it would review the accident after the National Aeronautics and Space Administration completes its investigation.

Chairman George P. Miller, D-Calif., of the House Science and Astronautics Committee said he would not step into the investigation before NASA completed its probe — and perhaps not then.

All that remains inside Apollo 1 is a gutted, charred mass of burnt-out wires and scattered debris, an eyewitness said.

★ ★ ★

George Alexander, a writer for Aviation Week magazine who represented all news media when the space agency permitted one reporter to inspect the moonship Sunday, said the inside of Apollo 1 looked "like the cockpit of an aircraft in World War II that took a direct hit."

COUCHES DESTROYED

Slate-gray deposit covered the panels, and dials were unrecognizable, he said. The couches on which the astronauts were lying were destroyed.

Baker Plans to Contest Convictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker plans to fight his convictions for tax evasion, conspiracy and stealing campaign funds to the Supreme Court if necessary.

His hands trembling and his cheeks whitening, the former secretary to Senate Democrats and behind-the-scenes power on Capitol Hill heard a federal court jury yesterday pronounce him guilty.

BAKER

But Baker, 38, a one-time Senate page who built a $2-million fortune, stayed free on $5,000 bail.

Sentencing is expected in about two weeks. Penalties for the seven counts on which he was convicted could total 48 years in prison and $47,000 in fines.

"We, of course, are going to the (U.S.) Appeals Court and all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary," said Baker's attorney Edward Bennett Williams. One Justice Department official speculated the appeal process could consume two years.

The trial lasted three weeks and centered around $99,600 in campaign funds contributed by California savings and loan executives.

Lyndon B. Johnson was referred to in testimony by Baker — though not by name —and names of other political figures dotted the proceedings. Seven senators and a representative appeared one day to testify.

The consequences for Baker, if he does not win a reversal on appeal, would almost certainly be far more severe than the wrist slap the Senate Rules Committee gave him after a probe into business dealings he conducted before resigning his Senate job under fire in October 1963.

U.S., Canada Probe Bombings

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. and Canadian officials formally apologized to complaining Yugoslav leaders and pledged an intensive probe of terrorist attacks that rocked six of the Communist nation's diplomatic missions within an hour.

But there was no announced indication today of arrests or leads into the explosions that shattered predawn stillness yesterday at embassies in Washington and Ottawa, and at consulates in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Toronto.

Yugoslav Ambassador Veljko Micunovic lodged a strong protest with Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach and received a promise the United States will expend all effort to capture and punish the bombers.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, in Williamsburg, Va., when told of the attacks, expressed "official and personal" regrets at the "outrageous and senseless acts of terrorism and vandalism."

Rusk's Canadian counterpart, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, expressed official regret at the attacks in Canada, which he also termed "senseless."

★ ★ ★

The Yugoslav press vehemently demanded greater protection for its missions in the two Western nations and hinted of government collusion with the terrorists.

'RETALIATION'

One newspaper, the government's Politika, said the bombings were "retaliation" by "American and Canadian official circles, or perhaps only one of them," to Yugoslavia's opposition to the Vietnam war.

Yugoslav President Tito had no comment.

Clouds Show More Snow, Rain Ahead

Keep those snow shovels handy. There's a chance of light snow tonight and tomorrow.

Tonight will be cloudy and not so cold with temperatures ranging from 20 to 26.

Temperatures tomorrow will climb slightly and the snow may become mixed with rain.

Today's east to northest winds at 5 to 15 miles will swing to the southeast by this evening.

Wednesday, according to the weatherman, will be cloudy and colder.

OVERNIGHT LOW

Low mercury reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 14. By 1 p.m. the winter sunshine warmed the thermometer to a brisk 22.

From Lenawee County

Junior Miss Is Crowned

Despite a stunned look, the charm of Kathie Fliss was evident as she won the title of Michigan's Junior Miss of 1967.

The 17-year-old Lenawee County candidate, a senior at St. Joseph Academy, Adrian, was chosen from a field of 37 girls during yesterday's pageant finals.

As winner, Kathie receives $1,625 in scholarships and bonds besides the right to compete for the National Junior Miss title in Mobile, Ala., March 10-18.

Pontiac's blonde Junior Miss, Johanna Yansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Yansen of 80 Chippewa, was third runner-up. She received a $200 saving bond.

★ ★ ★

Also chosen in the state finals were Maureen Cavanaugh, Dearborn, first runner-up; LaWana Swindall, Southgate, second runner-up; and Kate Verplank, Zeeland, fourth runner-up.

SCHOLASTIC AWARD

Lansing's Junior Miss, Nellie Kuhnmuench received the scholastic achievement award and Dianne Adams, Traverse City, was honored for creative and performing arts.

The Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce presented the ninth annual Junior Miss Pageant before a crowded audience in Pontiac Northern's large auditorium.

Brown-haired Kathie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Fliss of 24625 W. 10 Mile Road, Southfield. Her father is with the finance and administration department of communications and data processing, Ford Motor Co.

★ ★ ★

"When the pageant was announced, I decided I might as well give it a try. I never suspected this would happen. It kind of snowballed," the new Michigan Junior Miss said.

She added "My roommates will hit the ceiling."

An all-A student at St. Joseph, the brown-eyed winner is secretary of the Student Council, a member of the National Honor Society, a debater, cheerleader for the varsity basketball team, and a member of several athletic organizations.

Heroes' Burial Set for Dead Astronauts

rested between Grissom's and White's positions.

Outside, the worst damage appeared to be in a panel located adjacent to where electrical wires from the ground fed Apollo 1's power systems during the fatal test. The panel is located at the right of the spacecraft door, approximately over Chaffee's shoulder, he reported.

★ ★ ★

NASA has not announced what will become of the Apollo 1 spaceship, but most observers agree it is too heavily damaged to ever carry men into space.

SPARK THEORY

One theory was that a spark, perhaps from a battery or faulty electrical connection, triggered a fire and the flame — fed by pure oxygen in the cabin — swept through the cockpit in seconds, perhaps combusting with gas fumes or contaminants in the oxygen.

A NASA official reported Saturday that the moonship had been on internal power—its own batteries — during the tragedy. Sunday, the space agency backtracked and said it had been on external power, receiving electricity from outside the spaceship, and was only "simulating" internal power.

There was also speculation that a combination of temperature and oxygen pressure buildup might have touched off an explosion.

★ ★ ★

The board's findings may not be known for several days.

SHOUT

Grissom, 40, veteran of Mercury and Gemini flights; White, 36, the personable spacewalker of Gemini 4, and Chaffee, 31, the handsome rookie were in a full-scale rehearsal for their Feb. 21 launch date when blockhouse crewmen suddenly heard one of the astronauts shout:

"Fire in the spacecraft!"

★ ★ ★

Twenty-seven members of the launch crew suffered smoke inhalation as they attempted to rescue the astronauts, trapped inside the burning moonship 218 feet above the ground.

The fire culminated a long series of problems that plagued the Apollo 1 spacecraft and threatens to scramble the nation's lunar-landing timetable, perhaps delaying the historic flight six months to a year.

B52s Bomb Closest Yet to Saigon

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers staged their closest raid to Saigon of the Vietnam war today. Simultaneously, 3,200 more American infantrymen arived in the country to join the growing U.S. force in the Mekong Delta.

The B52s unloaded their explosives on a base camp of the Vietcong's 165A Regiment 16 miles west-southwest of Saigon. The strike was two miles closer to the capital than any previous raid by the bombers and shook windows in Saigon.

★ ★ ★

In two clashes Jan. 21, South Vietnamese paratroopers reported killing 117 men of the 165A Regiment.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. jet bombers struck the Thai Nguyen railroad yard 35 miles north of Hanoi Sunday and for the second day ranged along the Ca River for concentrated assaults on cargo barges.

FIGHTING DECLINES

Ground fighting in South Vietnam diminished to small, scattered clashes.

The U.S. command continued an investigation of an attack by three U.S. helicopters on a fleet of 200 sampans in the Mekong Delta in which a U.S. spokesman said 31 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 38 wounded.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman said the sampan fleet was attacked Saturday night and early Sunday during the curfew hours after some of the sampans fired on the helicopters. He said the civilians told interrogators they were on the move in violation of the curfew because the Vietcong was in the area and they anticipated allied attacks.

The latest American troops to arrive were the 2nd Brigade of the 9th Infantry Division and supporting artillery, medical, supply, signal, military police and maintenance units.

The 3,200 men came ashore from the troopship Pope at Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon. They brought the division to its full strength, 15,000 men, and increased the total announced American strength in Vietnam to 404,000 men.

'Astronaut Fire Not the First'

Blazes in Training Disclosed by Scientist

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The fire that killed three astronauts in the Apollo space capsule Friday was the latest in a series of blazes that have erupted during the training exercises, a University of Rochester scientist says.

The earlier fires, Dr. Wallace O. Fenn told reporters, occurred in decomprssion chambers that were large enough for the astronauts to escape to safety.

★ ★ ★

Fenn said he recalled one incident about two years ago but was unable to pinpoint the dates of that or the others.

Fenn, who was interviewed Saturday by the Rochester Democrat & Chronicle, is a professor of physiology at the university's medical school and former director of Rochester's Space Science Center.

NEARLY DEATHTRAP

Dr. Albert Craig, a colleague, said a chamber rigged for a simulated 30-day space flight nearly became a deathtrap three years ago for astronauts in training. The men, he said, fled to an adjoining chamber when they were unable to extinguish a fast-spreading fire.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington had no immediate comment on Fenn's or Craig's statement.

★ ★ ★

Fenn said the fire hazard in such situations could be traced chiefly to the pure-oxygen environment under which the men were working. The presence of oxygen in large quantities, he said, greatly increases the rate of combustion.

Fenn said he and other members of a National Academy of Science committee recently completed a study of fire hazards for NASA.

★ ★ ★

Their report, he said, recommended that inert gases be mixed with oxygen in space capsules to produce a safer and more natural environment for the occupants.

Fenn added he understood that NASA officials planned to follow the recommendations on the Apollo project.

Midwest Faces Another Storm

By the Associated Press

Snow-paralyzed communities from Chicago to Detroit struggled toward normalcy today. But they were hampered by a new blanket of snow, with as much as four inches expected in Chicago.

As the new Midwest storm swept through the northern parts of Indiana and Illinois and into Michigan and Ohio, West Coast residents braced against 100-mile-per-hour winds accompanying a rainstorm that spread from the coast into Idaho and Montana.

★ ★ ★

At least 56 persons were dead in Illinois following the 23-inch snowfall Thursday and Friday that set a Chicago record. At midevening Sunday, city and suburban crews worked to clear remaining snowdrifts—up to 15 feet deep—as 2 inches of new snow settled on the area. Madison, Wis., had 3 inches in the same period.

Most main streets in Chicago were clear, but side streets lay buried under drifts, their intersections blocked by abandoned autos parked at crazy angles.

AIRPORT OPENS

O'Hare International Airport, closed since 7:30 a.m. Thursday, reopened at 5:45 p.m. Sunday.

Commuter trains began running, if not quite on schedule. But many city buses were rerouted and some routes were closed by abandoned buses blocking the streets.

Gov. Romney Rounding Up a Brain Trust

By the Associated Press

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. George Romney—his aspiration and organization beginning to show—is searching for party and policy brains to help him win the 1968 Republican nomination for president.

His growing determination to try for the nomination was revealed this week when two of the objects of the talent hunt confirmed they had been in contact with the Michigan chief executive.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, a close-knit group of friends—calling themselves Romney Associates—began to emerge as a central headquarters for the Romney organization.

Leaders of Romney Associates began to talk openly about the task of rounding up the brains Romney wants—a task he assigned to them, many of whom are former members of his administration.

NEAR ROMNEY

They operate out of an office just four blocks from Romney's in Lansing, the state capital.

Publicly, Romney still is taking a long, hard look at the possibility of trying for the GOP presidential banner next year—and he says an announcement of his decision is months away.

Privately, he is taking steps to capture it.

In San Diego, Calif., Dr. Gaylord Parkinson, recently retired California GOP chairman, confirmed that he had been offered a position in the Romney organization.

Parkinson, who met Romney in Lansing two weeks ago and conferred with him by telephone twice last week, said he also had been offered a post in the organization of former vice president Richard M. Nixon.

Both offers are under consideration, he said.

Jonathan Moore, a resident fellow in Harvard's John F. Kennedy School of Government, also confirmed that he had been in touch with Romney and said, "I definitely want to help him."

House Panel Eyes Debt; Senate Airs Procedures

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee considers today the urgent question of raising the ceiling on the national debt, while the Senate continues debate on modernizing its procedures.

The House Ways and Means Committee hearing on the debt ceiling, opening today, seems likely to become the beginning of Congress' formal debate on President Johnson's $135 billion budget, the anticipated deficit and his proposal for increasing taxes.

Treasury Department officials who will appear, headed by Secretary Henry H. Fowler, did not say in advance what increase in the $330 billion debt ceiling they'll ask. Speculation is it would be about $5 billion.

★ ★ ★

The debt came within $75 million of the current ceiling on Jan. 18. By Treasury's standards, this was nerve-shatteringly close. It likes to keep a $3 billion cushion.

SAVED THE DAY

Special money raising measures saved the day, but another crisis looms for the latter part of February unless Congress acts by then to let the government borrow more money.

Fowler, it was learned, is coming to the hearing prepared to discuss the whole range of budgetary problems.

★ ★ ★

Most of Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney's congressional reorganization bill deals with internal details, but there already is evidence of a strenuous attempt to broaden its provisions.

Amendments offered during last week's first two days of debate would add highly controversial provisions, including detailed annual financial disclosure statements by senators and Senate employes receiving at least $10,000 a year.

ALL ARE EXPERTS

"Every senator is an expert on this bill since it deals with the procedures we use every day," said Monroney, an Oklahoma Democrat. "Unless we can get started on some voting this week and dispose of these amendments, I'm afraid the bill might get bogged down and we might lose it."

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is scheduled today to hear George Kennan, longtime specialist in Soviet affairs and former ambassador to Moscow, as its first witness in a review of foreign policy problems.

Job Problems Trouble Powell

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Most of the big white fishing boats stay tied to the dock at Brown's hotel for days at a time but not "Adam's Fancy."

It's a rare morning these days that the powerful 31-foot craft doesn't roar across the few hundred yards separating North Bimini from South Bimini and pick up Adam Clayton Powell.

Hours later it returns with a heavy catch and Powell, presiding over the weighing and distributing of the fish, appears the picture of the happy sportsman. But for the embattled Negro congressman, fishing may be more than a sport.

A friend close to Powell says the Harlemite still has moments of shock and disbelief at the blows that have taken his wife off his payroll, cost him his job as a committee chairman and threatened to end his congressional career.

DIFFERENT MAN

Out on his boat pumping on his fishing rods and bringing in the big ones, Powell is a different man from the carefree jokester on shore.

He took time out Saturday to meet newsmen who trailed him here for some promised big news.

He said he would pay $33,000 of the $164,000 slander judgment he owes a Harlem widow.

Birmingham Area News

Commission to Receive Traffic Study Report

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission will get a report from a traffic consultant on the Willits Street problem at tonight's meeting in city hall.

Residents have complained of danger on the twisting, hilly street in the north part of the city off Woodward.

A traffic study was made by the firm of Reid and Cool and a recommendation made to prohibit parking on the north side of Willits from 75 feet west of Chester to 310 feet west of Chester.

The commission will also consider making the street one way eastbound between Baldwin and Greenwood.

★ ★ ★

The report states that improvements on Maple and the Ring Road should further limit use of the street as a bypass.

OBJECTIONS

It also points out strong objections may be voiced by residents on Greenwood and Harmon if motorists are forced to use those streets.

The commission will also get a report from the Parks and Recreation department saying the municipal golf course had a total net loss of $10,911 last year.

The report states that during the season, "play did not increase as greatly as we had anticipated."

★ ★ ★

A loss of $18,832 for this year is expected and the department recommends appropriating sufficient funds in the 1967-68 budget.

REORGANIZATION

Another recommendation on the agenda concerns reorganization of recreation programs.

It would change the city code to discontinue the existing recreation board and make provisions for creation of a new parks and recreation advisory board.

The city would appoint members to the board in the near future.

Snowstorm Good, Bad for Business

SNOWSTORM is a word that can be spelled with both red ink and black, Pontiac area merchants and businessmen are discovering in the wake of the winter's biggest blast.

For hardware, equipment rental and automotive accessory dealers, the choking blanket of wet, heavy snow meant a virtually unprecedented run on shovels, blowers, rock salt, snow tires and tire chains.

For department stores and smaller businesses handling nonemergency items, the storm brought business to a standstill and in some cases forced early closings.

As usual, the government — including the City of Pontiac and Oakland County — ended up with healthy expenditures in around-the-clock efforts to clear area roads.

★ ★ ★

County highway engineer Paul Van Roekel tentatively put the county's bill for four days of digging and plowing at $105,000.

EXPENSIVE CLEANUP

In addition, he said, cleanup work on county roads and state trunk lines would probably cost another $60,000.

City Department of Public Works superintendent Clyde Christian said cost figures for Pontiac's 100-man cleanup crew and equipment wouldn't be available for several days.

"But," he said, "I have a feeling that this will put us close to the top of our snow-removal budget for the entire year."

★ ★ ★

Local merchants praised the city's work in clearing downtown areas, but ruefully noted the heavy snow had tightly locked most customers in their homes.

Howard Nelson, manager for Sears & Roebuck, said his store's weekend business "wouldn't pay our light bill."

"Snow tires, chains, and shovels were about the only reason we stayed open," he noted.

Blaze in Utica Is Contained

UTICA — Firemen confined a blaze at the Utica Oil and Gas Co., 6957 Greeley, to relatively minor damage this morning.

A workman reporting for work in the garage found the place enveloped in smoke.

Firemen called to the scene found the rear tires on a 1,500-gallon tank truck afire — the heat of the blaze having caused fumes in one of the truck's six sections to ignite and blow the cap.

The explosion caused a one-inch misalignment of the garage walls.

Asst. Fire Chief Robert Beck said the section of the truck which blew was empty of fuel oil. He said one compartment, however, remained full.

★ ★ ★

The garage is located about 25 feet away from several 15,000-gallon storage tanks, Beck said.

The fire department, which was on the scene for about 90 minutes, said the rear wheels of the truck were burned completely and that a heavy amount of smoke damage was reported.

Cause of the blaze is being investigated.

Story of Suicide Bid Is Denied by Macao

HONG KONG (AP) —A pro-Nationalist Chinese resident of Macao tried to burn himself to death today to protest the Portuguese colonial government's surrender to Communist Chinese demands, a Hong Kong paper reported.

Macao officials, reached by telephone, acknowledged a Chinese man was being treated for burns but said he accidentally splashed kerosene on himself and accidentally set it afire.

★ ★ ★

The English-language Star said the man was Ng Kwok Sek, a member of President Chiang Kai-shek's Kuomintang party. It said Ng was in critical condition in Macao hospital.

Roger Williams was ordered banished from Massachusetts Bay by the General Court on October 9, 1635, after he preached for the separation of church and state.

New Junior Miss Is Named in Pontiac

Pontiac Press Photo

AMONG THE BRAVE — True to newspaper tradition, Clarkston High School press representatives Mark Cowen of 6170 Overlook and Gail Cowling (right) of 5790 Clarkston, both of Independence Township, braved the elements to attend the Michigan Junior Miss student press conference at the Waldron Hotel Saturday. They are shown interviewing Michigan's Junior Miss of last year, Bonnie Britton of 34234 Northwick, Farmington Township.

She played Mozart's Fantasia in D Minor, a classical piano solo, for her talent performance. The new state Junior Miss has studied piano for seven years.

Future plans include attending the University of Michigan as a premed major next fall, according to Kathie.

"I want to work in pediatrics. I believe women have a way with children, so why not give it a try," she commented.

Judge Joanne Antczak, a Bobbie Brooks stylist, said "It was truly difficult to reach a decision because the caliber of all the girls was extremely high.

"Kathie did the best in the four judging elements of poise and personality, youth fitness, mental alertness, and creative and performing arts. She responded well when put under pressure during the judges interview."

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's Junior Miss, Miss Yansen, is active in school affairs as secretary of her senior class, captain of the varsity cheerleaders, a member of the choir and of the thespians. She is also Pontiac's Demolay sweetheart.

Her musical skit for the talent performance, titled "My Musical Friendship," was based on a recent summer in Holland on the "Youth for Understanding Program."

Attendance at Albion College as a music and speech major are in the near future according to Johanna.

The final performance last night climaxed a weekend of activity only slightly marred by the severe weather. The snowstorm forced three girls to arrive a day or more late.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., presented pageant candidates with replicas of the key to the city at a reception Thursday. He also proclaimed last week as Junior Miss Week.

Contestants spent the weekend preparing for the final performances and undergoing preliminary judging. Judges interviews, which count 35 per cent, were held during these days.

All candidates stayed with host families in the Pontiac area.

Last year's state Junior M... Bonnie Britton of Farming... relinquished the crown to ... new title winner.

Sponsors were John H. Br... Chevrolet Motor Co., Cocoa-... Bottlers of Michigan, Eas... Kodak, and Scott Paper Co...

'Clickety-Click' Railroad Men Are a Vanishing Breed

HILLSBORO, Tex. (AP) — The iron and wood slat seats are now empty and the paint on the walls is peeling away.

But the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railway Station at Hillsboro is not altogether deserted.

If the visitor listens hard enough, he still may hear the dot-dash clicks of the telegraph key and the sounds much as it was when the M-K-T came to Hillsboro in 1869.

W. E. Bradford, station agent, has sent millions of dots and dashes along the wires since he became an operator in 1917.

★ ★ ★

The Katy still uses the telegraph but most of its communications today are handled by radio and telephone.

Bradford, 69 but not thinking of retirement yet, uses what is known among telegraphers as a "bug."

It is a key which operates at a much faster rate than the classic old sender.

"I don't think my arm is what it used to be on this," he said. Still, he can click out code at a fast clip.

★ ★ ★

As a telegrapher, Bradford is one of a vanishing breed of men whose once hectic occupation has slowed to an ofttern lonely pace.

WINDOW CLOSED

The passenger window was shut at the Hillsboro depot two years ago.

A bird has built a nest in the broken pane of a formerly ornate gable window. The high-ceilinged office is usually quiet.

"When I went to work for the railroad in 1911," he said, "my job paid $5 a month and I realized $4.75 out of it, minus 25 cents for hospitalization. I was an apprentice at Pilot Point then.

★ ★ ★

"We got paid every 23rd of the month. The pay car — one engine and one car — would come through on that date."

AGENT PAY

Bradford recalls that station agents made about $80 to $85 a month in those days. A good telegrapher pulled in $60 to $75.

He left Pilot Point in 1917 on becoming an operator and ticket agent. His service includes a 15-year stint at Waxahachie, and he came to Hillsboro in 1957.

"When I worked the third trick (shift) in Waxahachie, I sent a lot of messages," he explained, telling how his telegraph key would be hooked directly with newspaper offices in Dallas and Fort Worth for ball games and special happenings.

Bradford said the M-K-T's "pet train" nowadays is No. 3, which runs from St. Louis to Houston.

KEEPING UP

He and other agents along the line try to keep up with where No. 3 is "so they won't run up on us" and maybe fail to snare an important message from the time-honored forked stick.

A typical exchange on the radio runs like this:

"Mr. Bradord, can you find out where No. 3 is?"

Using a telephone and the telegraph, he finds out and reports back:

ONE THE WAY

"Walter, he shot out of the Fort Worth yards at 1:25 and he could get here at 2:45."

A short time later, another voice comes on the radio:

★ ★ ★

"Mr. Bradford, this is No. 3. We're at the lake."

★ ★ ★

He acknowledges the engineer's call and steps outside to wave and deliver up a message on the forked stick if he has any traffic.

If there is a message for the train, it is tied onto the open stick with a slip knot of hemp twine.

Drug Fulfilling Promise as Heroin Cure

By Science Service

NEW YORK — After nearly three years of preliminary testing the drug methadone appears to have mulfilled its promise as an answer to heroin addiction.

Some 276 hard-core New York addicts treated at the Rockefeller University Hospital and Beth Israel Medical Center have lost their habits and none has returned to heroin — a 100 per cent success rating.

Methadone, a synthetic narcotic, acts by blocking the euphoric effect of opiates. Addicts thus get nothing from heroin and feel no desire to take it.

They must, however, be permanently maintained on methadone — 200 milligrams per day taken orally is the rate established by the Rockefeller researchers. But methadone lacks the toxic effects of heroin and once stabilized on the drug, addicts are alert, feel well and are apparently able to live completely normal lives.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Marie Nyswander, a psychiatrist on the methadone project, reports that 75 per cent of the male patients who had been on the program for six months at the end of 1966 were working full-time. Of the women, 50 per cent were working or taking care of their homes.

Tahiti Newcomer to Acting Is Pearl on Publicity Tour

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — What happens when you take a 400-pound Tahitian lady out of the islands, make her a movie actress and send her around the world on a publicity tour?

THOMAS

What happens is that she has a ball.

Jocelyne Lagarde was in Hollywood on the final stages of a tour that had taken her to Tokyo, Hong Kong, Paris, Stockholm, London, Berlin, Barcelona, Zurich, New York, Montreal, Chicago, Dayton, Ohio, and Kansas City. It was quite a trip for someone who had not been out of French Polynesia until she appeared as the queen in "Hawaii" two years ago.

She told her method of surviving the rigors of the journey: "Oysters and champagne. Everywhere I go, I order oysters and champagne."

Miss Lagarde was lunching in her Century Plaza suite on oysters and champagne. The casting of her as the warm-hearted Malama was ideal, since in real life she exudes the outgoing spirit of Tahiti.

She is a handsome woman, carrying her pounds well on her six-foot frame. Part Polynesian — she is three eighths Tahitian — she laughs often. But she frowned as she remembered one of her fellow players in "Hawaii."

"Richard Harris!" she exclaimed. "He was bad to me. When we do scenes together, he makes faces at me, and I have to laugh. The director say, 'Malama, you are supposed to be angry; why do you laugh?' It is because of Richard Harris."

Miss Lagarde had kinder memories of the other players:

"Julie Andrews, she nice and sweet. But she was too high for me. She is big star, and I am just debutante. We get along okay, but she is reserved.

Wayne Jones just made the neighborhood Hall of Fame

Hands down.

You better believe it! If you don't, then try to tell the small-fry that the Michigan Bell Installer-Repairman isn't twelve feet high. Try to convince them there's no magic in his tool-loaded belt. Or that he's not the kind of man who goes out of his way to bring down a snagged kite or treed cat.

They know better.

Does Wayne Jones like being a hero? Why not? He's got children of his own. He likes and understands kids. But that's just part of his job in the Big Rapids area. There are new lines to install, repairs (sometimes emergency) to be made, and as Michigan grows, new areas to service. He likes all of it. The outdoors. His work. And the kind of future he can look forward to. If Wayne has to be a hero, he'd rather it came from the small-fry. Less embarrassing that way.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Balance of Key Body Chemicals Needed

In recent years physicians and surgeons have grown increasingly aware that certain essential chemicals in the body have to be kept in a state of fairly close balance.

The amount lost daily through the kidneys, skin and bowel had to be supplied in about the same amount — if not in the diet, then by supplements.

This has made for greatly improved care of the victims of various diseases and persons recovering from operations.

One of these essential electrolytes is potassium. Unlike sodium your body cannot store this element to give you a reserve supply.

Potassium is found abundantly in unsalted nuts, most fresh and frozen vegetables and fresh, frozen, canned or dried fruits. Exceptions include most canned vegetables and frozen peas and lima beans.

NORMAL DIET

Persons who have to take diuretics (water pills) or cortisonelike drugs lose potassium faster than it is supplied in a normal diet.

The element is also lost in diabetes, colitis, severe burns, kidney disease, excessive sweating, vomiting and some nutritional deficiencies.

The problem was met at first by giving tablets of potassium chloride but these were found to irritate the stomach.

★ ★ ★

The tablets were then coated in such a way that they didn't dissolve until they reached the intestines.

IRRITATING TABLETS

Although these tablets no longer caused nausea and heartburn they were just as irritating to the lining of the intestines and caused severe ulceration or hemorrhage at that level.

This prompted the development of a new effervescent tablet (K-Lyte) that makes a lime-flavored drink and contains potassium citrate, bicarbonate and cyclamate.

It is more palatable than most other potassium supplements and is available only on a doctor's prescription.

★ ★ ★

Although it is well-tolerated by most persons, it should be used only when it is not possible to meet the body's potassium requirements with foods that are rich in the element or by using Triplex or Kaon in place of ordinary table salt.

Q — I am hungry all the time no matter how much I eat. As a result I am gaining weight. What could cause this and what do you advise?

★ ★ ★

A — An insatiable appetite may be caused by too high a concentration of acid in the stomach, diabetes (in which case there is also an increased thirst) or emotional frustration (seeking consolation in food). It is not caused by a tapeworm as was once believed.

★ ★ ★

Before seeking an appetite-suppressing drug or other treatment, you'd better have your doctor determine the cause of your trouble.

ONE-LANE TRAFFIC — Two Galapagos turties at the St. Paul Como Park Zoo stage a head-to-head argument in the animal building. At the top, Frieda (right) asserts the right of way over Fred; in the middle, Fred argues the point; and, at the bottom, Frieda turns to appeal the decision.

Guidelines for Adoptions Are Tangled by Prejudices

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG Jr.
Executive Director
National Urban League

Every now and then, something happens which reveals how absurd prejudice is.

YOUNG

The whole country got just such a lesson from the story of what happened to the Liuni family when they tried to adopt a 4-year - old girl who had been in their foster care since she was 5 days old.

It was reported that the county welfare commissioner refused to let them adopt the child because she is blond and blue-eyed and the Liunis, of Italian extraction, are dark-eyed brunettes.

Fortunately, the story had a happy ending a few weeks ago when a court approved the adoption.

Incidents like this have the beneficial effect of shocking people into the realization that prejudice can hit anyone, and the absurdity of judging people by the color of their eyes or hair points up the equally stupid practice of judging people by the color of their skin.

★ ★ ★

It also focuses attention on adoption rules and procedures. This is especially acute because of the plight of thousands of Negro children being brought up in institutions at the same time that there exist long waiting lists of white families trying to adopt children.

LIGHT OF REASON

It is time to put the light of reason on this subject and encourage interracial adoptions. The color of a child's skin should not determine whether he will lanquish in an orphanage or be brought up in the loving atmosphere of a home where he is wanted and needed.

There are many people who would jump at the chance to adopt one of these children if state welfare bodies and private agencies made the effort to encourage it.

Although some agencies have modified their regulations, old habits die hard.

★ ★ ★

But there have been breakthroughs. Toronto, Canada, has a successful program of placing Negro children in white homes. Three years ago, its Social Planning Council became concerned at the lack of adoption homes for Negro children.

EXPLAIN NEED

They joined with Toronto's adoption agencies in a campaign to explain the need and provide information to the public.

The program was a success. About 100 children were placed with families who weren't concerned about being trailblazers or pioneers; they just wanted a child in the house and weren't going to let superficial differences like skin color or hair color get in the way of their happiness.

Some adoption agencies attempting to place Negro children have met with similar experiences. If more white families forget color when they seek to adopt children, many more homes would be enlivened by the sound of happy children and many more couples would reap the rewards of parenthood.

I'm sure that such efforts would be successful. The Urban League has a program of bringing bright Negro high school students from the South to live with families in some New York suburbs during the school year.

NO ONE HURT — Debris clutters the sidewalk after part of the roofing and front wall of the Thomas Furniture Co., 361 S. Saginaw, collapsed shortly before 9 a.m. today, apparently from the weight of collected snow. Store officials said approximately half of the building's 200-foot frontage fell when a canopy connected to the wall gave way. There were no injuries. City firemen later cleared the sidewalk and the store opened for business.

Big Brother Official Seeks Aid of a 'Civilian Army'

"The greatest single remedy to cure juvenile delinquency is for more American adults to step forth and assume a feeling of personal responsibility to help just one child," said the executive director of Big Brothers of America at last week's meeting in Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

Thomas E. O'Brien called for this "civilian army" at the Big Brothers of Oakland County annual meeting. New officers were elected and awards were given out at the dinner-meeting.

He told some 70 listeners that "many youngsters are being shortchanged and cheated of love, affection and interest. And we'll have trouble with these kids."

O'Brien said that adults must spend time with a child "if he is going to influence the youngster." He pointed out that lack of communication comes when parents ignore their children.

"Loneliness is what a fatherless boy feels," O'Brien emphasized.

Big Brothers, an organization which matches one man with one fatherless boy for several hours a week, is so effective because of this practical approach, according to O'Brien.

The man derives personal satisfaction from the relationship, while the boy gains attention, pride and respect, as he is accepted for what he is.

Eugene Lomnicki, Royal Oak, was named Big Brother of 1967. Edward Underwood of 1717 W. Auburn, Avon Township, received a special award for seven years of service to one little brother.

Robert Wagner of 4185 Sheldon, Avon Township, was elected president. James Cummins of 4252 Derry, Bloomfield Township, was elected vice president; Edward Hoot of Royal Oak, treasurer; and Herbert Hunting of Royal Oak, secretary.

Delos Hamlin Reelected to Fund Position

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, has been reelected vice chairman of the Metropolitan Fund, Inc.

Hamlin lives at 23210 Cass, Farmington.

The organization is an urban affairs foundation to develop research and action on Metropolitan problems in a 4,000-square-mile area of southeast Michigan.

Leadership is provided by a 58-member board of trustees comprised of key governmental, educational, industrial-commercial and labor officials from metropolitan area counties.

Elected chairman of the Metropolitan Fund, Inc., for the coming year was Joseph L. Hudson, president of the J. L. Hudson Co. He succeeds William M. Day. Both Hudson and Day live in Grosse Pointe.

Other officers reelected besides Hamlin were Kent Mathewson, of 671 E. Long Lake, Bloomfield Hills, president; Leonard Woodcock of Detroit, secretary; and John H. French, Jr., also of Detroit, treasurer.

Thai Claims Red Arrests

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Premier Thanom Kittikachorn said today that 122 Communist suspects, some of whom were trained in Communist China, were rounded up during recent raids on Communist hideouts in central Thailand.

Thanom told his weekly news conference the government has received information that Payome Chullanond, a former lieutenant colonel in the Thai army and an opponent of the present regime, has slipped back into Thailand. Payome fled to Communist China three years ago and was reported to have become secretary-general of the Peking-sponsored "Thai patriotic front."

Third County Declares Self Behind Body

Membership requests in the proposed Southeast Michigan Council of Governments now number 73 as the Wayne County Board of Supervisors became the latest governmental unit to declare its intent to join.

★ ★ ★

The recruitment goal of the council is to voluntarily join the energies of more than 300 cities, counties, school districts and townships in the metropolitan area to better resolve common problems.

Developed by a representative committee of 100 local government officials, the Council of Governments' creation is earmarked for this spring.

Oakland was the first county to declare intent to join the council and Monroe County also asked for membership prior to Wayne's action last week.

★ ★ ★

The three other counties in the metropolitan area still are considering membership application as are numerous cities, townships and school districts.

Oxford Visit

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Oxford tomorrow at the Congregational Church, Dennison and Hovey, from 2 to 8 p.m.

Ex-City Manager

Stierer Resigns N.Y. Post

Former Pontiac City Manager Robert A. Stierer has resigned his $16,500-a-year post as city Manager of Troy, N.Y.

★ ★ ★

Stierer, object of a controversy here in 1963 when he refused to fire then Police Chief Joseph Koren and was, in turn, fired by the City Commission, announced that he has accepted a job with New York State.

★ ★ ★

Stierer told the Troy City Council that his resignation was effective March 1. He said he could not disclose the name of his new post.

★ ★ ★

Leaving Pontiac after about seven years here, including two years as city manager, Stierer took his Troy post Jan. 1, 1964.

Entry was apparently made by breaking through a window, investigators said.

Funeral Home Plays Host to Churchgoers

A driveway blocked by deep snow failed to stop the congregation of the North Oakland Christian Church from holding worship services yesterday.

Unable to enter the parking lot at Waterford Kettering High School, their usual meeting place, the churchgoers, instead, met at the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home at 855 W. Huron.

The congregation made good use of the funeral parlor's facilities.

The long frame used to support caskets was temporarily converted into a communion table. The home's viewing rooms were used for Sunday school classes.

★ ★ ★

The song, "Rise Up O Men of God," was played on the piano, to make the funeral home resound with a note of resurrection in this life.

Solemn organ music was piped in by the owners of the funeral home.

Ironically, the congregation was observing Youth Sunday.

Rabbit Talk a Hop Away?

By Science Service

MELBOURNE, Australia — Man will soon be able to communicate with rabbits through, among other things, rabbit dunghills.

★ ★ ★

An Australian government wildlife researcher, Dr. R. Mykytowycz, told the ANZAAS (Australian and New Zealand Association for the Advancement of Science) Congress, this man-rabbit conversation piece would bring about better control of the pest.

★ ★ ★

He has found that dunghills are the signposts of the rabbit world. They demarcate territory and warn stranger-rabbits to keep out. Like other animals, rabbits stick to defined paths.

★ ★ ★

Sooner or later, a rabbit invading strange territory will encounter a dunghill and be warned that he is on strange ground. Research has shown that, in these circumstances, the straying rabbit moves cautiously.
