Relief From Heat Coming Tonight!

Welcome Is Warm, Spontaneous

Queen Captures Ontario

By JOE HAAS

TORONTO, Ont.—As she gets further from the French dominated maritime provinces, and closer to the United States, the Canadian welcome for Queen Elizabeth gets closer to the unanimous. Her gracious manner and pleasing countenance are winning out.

The city of Cornwall, much smaller than Pontiac, on Saturday received more conclusive evidence of her desire to get at the grass roots of the situation than had previously been apparent.

JOE

Following her hectic time in Montreal, and the fog-bound tactics of the St. Lawrence, she arrived at Cornwall three hours late for the Moses-Saunder Lock dedication with Vice President Nixon.

At the close of this ceremony it was suggested to her that she could catch up on most of the delay by eliminating her auto tour of Cornwall, and returning directly to the Britannia.

But she refused to disappoint the Cornwall people, and spent over an hour in driving through crowd lined streets where she was greeted with an acclaim that proportionately outranked anything on her tour to date.

When the Cornwall tour ended she said, "I hope I made those good people as happy as they made me."

Sunday the Queen was brought into conclusive evidence to prove how the seaway has conquered the great St. Lawrence in its most tempestuous section and transformed it into a world wonder of usefulness.

Monitors Gear to Boot Hoffa Out of Office

Report Drive to Oust Teamster Boss Slated Within Month

DES MOINES (AP) — A drive for the ouster of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa will be started by the court-appointed Board of Monitors within the next month, the Des Moines Register and Minneapolis Tribune said they learned.

Monitor Chairman Martin F. O'Donoghue already has discussed some of the steps necessary for the ouster with Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts, the papers' Washington Correspondent Clark Mollenhoff wrote.

It will be suggested that a federal court referee be appointed to rule on whether Hoffa should remain president of the union, instead of allowing the executive board of the Teamsters to make the decision, the newspaper said.

Here are the steps the papers said have been proopsed:

If Lawrence Smith of New York replaces resigning Godfrey Schmidt on the Board of Monitors, Smith will move to Washington to give full time to the Teamsters clean-up.

A large Washington law firm will be hired to fight the big staff of Teamster attorneys who have been filing so many legal actions that it has bogged down the work of the monitors.

Action would be instituted to make lawyer Edward Bennett Williams decide whether to represent Hoffa or the International Teamsters Union. Schmidt contends Hoffa's interests are opposed to those of the union, and therefore Williams is in a conflict of interests.

Someone Steals Lake Orion Jail; Police Clam Up

The portable jail for the Lake Orion "Centennial Spectacular" was stolen last night from its spot at the four corners in the center of town — only five doors away from the police department.

A truck was needed to take the metal barred structure, about seven feet high and 12 feet wide. It was found this morning, pulled a few blocks out of town, on Shadbolt Street near M24.

Police are keeping quiet today but it was reported that residents in the area reported finding the jail.

The "Jail" was the old dog pound — refurbished for kangaroo court to be used by the "Keystone Cops" during the July 3, 4 and 5 celebration.

Top Court Hits Film Censorship

Upsets New York Ban on 'Lady Chatterley's Lover'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today struck down the New York State movie censorship law as unconstitutional.

The ruling set aside a ban on the film "Lady Chatterley's Lover."

All nine justices agreed in holding that the ban was improper.

However, four justices said the court moved too swiftly in striking down the New York law. They were Justices Harlan, Whittaker, Clark and Frankfurter.

Justice Stewart delivered the court's main opinion.

Speaking of the New York law, Stewart said what New York has done is to prevent the exhibition of a motion picture because that picture "advocates an idea — that adultery under certain circumstances may be proper behavior. Yet the First Amendment's basic guarantee is of freedom to advocate ideas. The state, quite simply, has thus struck at the very heart of constitutionally protected liberties."

The movie is based on a novel by D. H. Lawrence, first published in 1928. The story concerns intimacies between a high-born English woman and a caretaker on her husband's estate.

In a recent action, the Post Office Department banned from the mails a newly published unexpurgated edition of the book.

As to the movie, Stewart noted an argument was made that the state's action was justified on grounds the film attractively portrayed a relationship which is contrary to moral standards, religious precept, and the legal code.

That argument "misconceives what it is that the Constitution protects," Stewart said.

"Its (the Constitution's) guarantee is not confined to the expression of ideas that are conventional or shared by a majority. It protects advocacy of the opinion that adultery sometimes may be proper, no less than advocacy of socialism or the single tax. And in the realm of ideas it protects expression which is eloquent no less than that which is unconvincing," Stewart said.

DIFFICULT RESCUE — Searchers were still probing today for more bodies after a freak tragedy near Meldrim, Ga. Sunday afternoon. A freight train derailed and turned cooling fun into flaming, screaming terror for many, as a butane gas car exploded. Helicopters were pressed into service to remove the injured as searing flames blocked ground assistance.

Thousands Fill Lakes, Parks, Pack Highways

Tumble to 62 Forecast to Smash Four-Day Torrid Spell

The weatherman promises tonight what several hundred thousand sweltering weekenders couldn't find at Oakland County's jam-packed parks and lakes—relief from the heat.

Although another session of blistering, 90-degree heat is expected this afternoon, tonight the mercury should fall to a blissful 62, snapping a four-day hot spell.

Tomorrow's high should be a mild 80 degrees.

The temperature, hitting 90 yesterday for the third straight day, was able to dip only to 78 early this morning.

Swarms of lake-bound cars filled Oakland County highways over the weekend, reaching a peak yesterday.

Dodge State Park on Cass Lake was occupied by a capacity crowd of 36,000 all day, while bathers and picnickers were turned away from Pontiac Lake Recreation Area.

Paul Wigg, park manager at Pontiac Lake, who estimated the crowd at 15,000, said that more than 400 cars were turned away between 1:30 and 2:30 p.m.

There were 44,472 persons counted at Kensington Metropolitan Park yesterday, with traffic at the park's entrances and exits backed up four miles most of the time.

FILLED AT 10 A.M.

The three parks were host to more than 175,000 persons over the week, with Cass Lake's Saturday crowd fixed at 28,000 and 10,000 at Pontiac Lake.

The Cass Lake parking lot, with spaces for about 500 cars, was filled at 10 a.m. yesterday, three hours after the park opened.

Keego Harbor police reported that Cass Lake park traffic filled Cass Lake and Orchard Lake roads bumper to bumper from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Highways were so crowded everywhere that traffic was reduced to a crawl and the number of serious accidents was smaller than usual throughout the state.

One of the worst spots in the state was Oakland County's Farmington - Brighton Expressway between Detroit and Kensington Park.

At 11 a.m., the full length of the route, from Eight Mile Road to the park, was virtually filled with cars headed for the park.

Ike to View Exhibit, Meet Kozlov Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The first deputy premier of Russia, Frol R. Kozlov, took a walk today—to the vast dismay of pomp-minded police officials.

Passing up arrangements for an elaborate motorcade across town, Kozlov at the last minute set off afoot on the one-mile hike between his country's diplomatic headquarters and the coliseum where a Russian Cultural and Scientific Exhibition is being held.

A dozen aides accompanied him while surprised police brass hurtled along as escort. The chauffeurs of waiting limousines just scratched their heads. Motorcycle cops circled a few city blocks along the route, then gave up.

The group strolled without incident from Park Avenue and 58th street, where the Soviet United Nations delegation resides, through Central Park to the exhibit hall at 60th street and Broadway.

Kozlov arrived from Russia yesterday to preside at the opening tonight.

President Eisenhower flies here today to get a preview of the display, and presumably will meet Kozlov briefly. Vice President Nixon is taking part in the formal ceremonies.

The show opens to the public Tuesday.

The affable, gray-haired Kozlov—called the No. 3 man in the Kremlin—will go to Washington Tuesday to talk with Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Kozlov arrived in the world's biggest airliner, a Soviet propjet TU114, which set a record for flying time between New York and Moscow.

It was the first nonstop flight between the two capitals. The flying time was 11 hours and 6 minutes for the 5,092-mile trip.

Find Wandering Tot in Northern Woods

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP) — Lost 13 hours in Upper Michigan wilds, 3-year-old Carol VanHulla of Niagara, Wis., was found alive and well today.

Searchers found the child in a wooded area after bloodhounds picked up a new trail this morning that crossed a country road and went east of Norway Lake.

Hundreds of volunteers had joined the search led by 80 state troopers and sheriff's men.

Dickinson County Sheriff Harry R. Julian said the girl wandered away late yesterday and got lost in forests populated by black bears near the Wisconsin border.

Convicted arsonist Jack D. Thompson today was sentenced to a term of 1½ to 10 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson by Genesee Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth.

Thompson, 42-year-old business agent with Flint Teamsters Local 332, was found guilty of arson April 3 in a dry cleaning establishment fire which cost fellow Teamsters business agent Frank Kierdorf his life.

After two rejections of requests for new trials made by Thompson's two attorneys, Judge Roth today moved ahead with sentence. The maximum Thompson could have received was 10 years.

Flames Spewed From Trestle

Butane Gas Blast Kills 19

MELDRIM, Ga. (AP) — Rescue teams renewed dragging operations in the Ogeechee River today searching for more victims of a freak butane gas explosion that already apparently has claimed 19 lives. Many others were burned, at least 10 critically.

The blast occurred about 3:30 yesterday afternoon. Two railroad tanker cars spewed flaming death on some 175 fun-seekers in a recreation area beneath a 30-foot river trestle which the Seaboard Air Line train was crossing.

No one could say whether all bodies had been recovered, but Coroner Harold M. Smith said reports that dozens were unaccounted for were greatly overdrawn.

Smith said at the time he had accounted for 17 dead.

Since then two children died of burns in a Savannah hospital. They were listed as Wayne Smith, 3, and Terry Lane, 9. Their addresses were not known.

A complete casualty list was not available but 14 dead have been identified. Some bodies were so badly charred, identification was difficult.

The railroad said the explosion of one butane tanker set off a second loaded with 10,000 gallons of the cooking and heating fuel. Two trainmen were injured in the blast and the pileup of freight cars near the end of the long train.

The blast turned the Ogeechee River bank into blackened ruins several hundred yards from the trestle. It caught some of the victims in the water, others on the bank. Children seared by the flames floundered in the river or ran screaming from the spot.

SECOND BLAST

A second but lesser explosion came after rescuers reached the scene near this East Georgia town about 18 miles northwest of Savannah.

Most of the 124 cars in the Seaboard Air Line Railroad freight had cleared the 30-foot high trestle before the crash at 3:30 p.m. None fell in the water, but several piled up on the bank and burned through the night. Some of the cars were telescoped. Flat cars dangled from a 75-foot long break at the end of the 250-yard span.

First reports said the journal on one of the cars apparently broke. Some observers thought the trestle gave way.

★ ★ ★

"The explosion came over the water with a big boom, and after that you could hear children screaming and yelling," David Parker, one of the injured, said. "It was awful after it happened not to be able to save the children, but there was just nothing to do."

Waterford Twp. Man Dies When Car Rolls

A Waterford Township man was killed last night when the car in which he was riding ran off Kennett road and rolled over twice.

Raymunde N. Vasquez, 23, of 2897 Peerless St., suffered a fractured skull and was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hokpital. He was a passenger in a car Pontiac police believe was driven by Isidro Aguilers, 32, of 2901 Peerless St.

The accident occurred as the car traveled east on Kennett road, 100 feet west of Cherrylawn avenue. Aguilers at first admitted, then denied he was driving the car, officers said.

Aguilers was reported in fair condition at the hospital this morning with a possible skull fracture. A third person in the car, Margaret M. Willis, 29, of 2651 Elizabeth Lake Rd., Waterford Township, was treated and released.

Traffic Tragedy Recalled Today by Saul Pett

The minutes ticked away, and the hours slipped by, as eight young people prepared for a big outing—the senior prom.

The day of happy preparations turned out to be their last. During the same hours, a train was making its way across the state, toward a deadly rendezvous with them.

The happy eight left for the dance, and only one returned.

The dramatic story of their last hours has been written by Associated Press writer Saul Pett, and is featured today on page 21.

Dems See Hawaii Victory

Heavy Primary Vote Indicative

Expect Final Sweep to Elect Democratic Governor, Legislature

HONOLULU (AP) — Democrats jubilantly claimed today their heavy vote in Hawaii's primary means victory for them in the islands' first state elections next month.

They contended that the big Democratic vote was the forerunner of a sweep that would send three to their fold to Congress and elect a Democratic governor and Legislature.

Republicans were quick to answer that GOP candidates ran unopposed in the nominating primary Saturday while Democrats engaged in vote-drawing contests. They said the Democratic outpouring was expected.

Some GOP leaders nevertheless conceded that the party would be the underdog in the Aloha State's first election July 28.

Both parties turned to campaigning in the wake of the primary and a simultaneous statehood plebiscite in which Hawaiians voted approval of statehood by a whopping 17 to 1 margin.

The 132,938 yes votes so dwarfed the 7,854 votes against statehood that it exceeded even the most optimistic predictions.

The primary voting produced three candidates of Japanese or Chinese ancestry out of the six nominated for Hawaii's two Senate seats and one in the House of Representatives. At least one of the trio appears certain to go to Congress.

Democrats nominated Frank F. Fasi, 38, and former Hawaii governor Oren E. Long, 70, for the senate.

Fasi, a territorial senator, scored a major upset by beating Chinese-American William H. Heen, 76, who had served 32 years in the territorial Senate and had come out of retirement to seek the nomination.

Fasi polled 46,868 votes to 31,207 for Heen.

HEALTH MENACE — The owner of this home at 418 Harvey St., Felix Hooks, a 59-year-old Pontiac junk dealer, faces trial Thursday in Municipal Court on six different charges. He uses his home as junk yard headquarters. Garbage, rubbish and junk fill both the inside and outside of the home. City health officials have tried unsuccessfully for five years to have Hooks clean up his dwelling. A previous jail sentence failed to bring any improvement, they say.

After 5 Years, Officials Have Had It

Junk Dealer Faces Six Charges

By MAX E. SIMON

After fighting a losing five-year battle city health authorities have stopped speaking softly to a Pontiac junk dealer and decided in stead to use the big stick of the law.

Therefore Felix Hooks, 59, of 418 Harvey St. will soon face trial on six different charges. If convicted in Municipal Court he could be fined up to $600 and sentenced to 30 days in jail.

The charges are:

1. Operation of a junk yard in a residential zone.

2. Violation of the city housing code. His home contains no water, toilet, sewer facilities, plumbing or electricity, it is alleged.

3. Harboring of six grown dogs without a license. Health authorities say the dogs are vicious and diseased.

4. Dumping of garbage and rubbish on the ground around his home.

5. Gathering junk without a license.

6. Creation and maintenance of a public nuisance.

Hooks maintains that he is innocent of all the accusations.

The battle between Hooks and the Health Dept. has been a long one. He first came to their attention in 1953 when he lived on Highland avenue in a semi-decayed house trailer.

Learning that Hooks was squatting on someone else's vacant lot, city officials notified the owner of the problem and he forced the junk man off the land.

Hooks, however, didn't move very far—200 yards to be exact. He bought himself a parcel of land where the Franklin Elementary School stands today.

To it he moved his trailer, garbage, rubbish and junk, and the complaints from neighbors continued to pour into City Hall.

★ ★ ★

Repeated warnings to Hooks failed to produce any results. In the spring of 1957 he was given a 90-day jail sentence because of the condition of the property.

Once behind bars, Hooks promised to turn over a new leaf. He'd build a home and remove the junk from his property, he promised.

As a result, after sitting only a few days in a cell, he was freed. He did get rid of the house trailer and built the shell of a home on the land. But the junk, rubbish and filth stayed, authorities said.

The Board of Education in April of 1958 bought his plot of land and moved the house to its present location at 418 Harvey St.

Horrified neighbors immediately started to protest when a junk yard began to blossom in their midst. Once again, health authorities pleaded with Hooks, but to no avail.

Finally Charles Cohen, city sanitarian, secured six warrants against Hooks. "Something has to be done about this definite health menace," he said. "Hooks doesn't believe that he can't do as he wants on that property."

Assistant City Attorney Sherwin A. Birnkrant said the city has spent "several thousands of dollars in trips, time and talks" to get the health menace corrected.

As for Hooks, he thinks the city is making a mountain out of a molehill.

"I'm making a living—I'm not robbing or stealing," he said. "At least I'm not on welfare."

Hooks said he hadn't time to install water and sewer facilities, and didn't need electricity.

"I use candles," he explained.

He'll have a full opportunity to tell his side of the story at his trial Thursday.

Youth Drowns in Dixie Lake

Would-Be Rescuer Dies of Heart Attack Hours After Tragedy

A 17-year-old Detroit boy drowned in Dixie Lake yesterday and one of the men who attempted to rescue him died of a heart attack several hours later.

The drowning victim, Jerry Bronzie of 8570 House Ave., was in a canoe on the Springfield Township lake with a companion, John Madak, 14, of 8371 House Ave., according to Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

The Madak boy said Bronzie dived into the water about 100 feet from shore and was attempting to swim to shore when he evidently became entangled in heavy weeds.

His body was recovered from about six feet of water within 15 minutes after the tragedy took place at 11:45 a.m. by Deputy William Jackson.

Leslie Frantz, 46, of Center Line, father of eight children, attempted to help the boy but could not reach him in time. Frantz's summer cottage is located at 1001 Kings Rd.

Frantz, who helped deputies, complained of back pains. He collapsed shortly after 2 p.m. on the porch of his cottage.

Oakland County Deputy Coroner Dr. Isaac Prevette pronounced both dead. Prevette said the shock of rushing in rescue attempts, evidently proved too much for Frantz who suffered from a heart condition.

Today and tomorrow will give Queen Elizabeth a welcome that is expected to surpass any previous monarch here. Every effort is being made also to outdo anything on her present tour. The Toronto slogan is "Beat Montreal."

On both days she attends the horse races, her favorite diversion, and for many centuries known in England as the "sport of kings."

Past maternal generations have also made it the sport of queens.

Elizabeth has even accented the inherited devotion to horses. She loves the race for the horses in it, and unlike the most of us, not for the cashier's window. On Tuesday she'll to witness the 100th running of the Queen's Plate at the new local Woodbine Track which cost $13 million dollars, and is claimed to be the most opulent gambling spa in the world.

It has been my great privilege during the last few days to be very near the Queen and duke. They seem just like ordinary persons when you understand them and consider the perpetual strain on them lest they innocently do something that might be misunderstood or misconstrued.

They live in a perpetual goldfish bowl, and there are plenty who would cloud the waters.

On one occasion I happened to stand on the duke's right, and he made a leveling motion with his hands in comparing our heights, but shook his head as he thumbed toward the 6-foot 8-inch man on his left.

On a later occasion he saw me in the crowd and winked at me, as he pointed me out to the Queen, who smiled without enough interest to make the same eye demonstration as her husband.

New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner greeted Kozlov as he stepped aboard the boat.

Kozlov's two-week visit to the United States is expected to include visits to San Francisco, Detroit and Pittsburgh.

The Day in Birmingham

Insurance Committee Due to Report on Renewals

BIRMINGHAM — The City commission at tonight's meeting is expected to hear a recommendation of the Mayor's Insurance Advisory Committee for renewal of three segments of the city's insurance program.

Up for consideration will be workmen's compensation, automobile fleet and comprehensive general liability insurance policies.

A report also will be submitted on proposed false arrests liability coverage for the city. A letter to the commission from City Manager L. R. Gare states that to the best of his knowledge the city has never been sued for false arrest, although periodically threatened with such suits.

Also due to come up for discussion tonight are recommendations of City Manager Gare and City Traffic Engineer T. M. Vanderstempel in relation to parking in the vicinity of the Reid Building on N. Woodward avenue.

Four separate suggestions were made originally by the city manager on June 15 as possible solutions to existing parking problems in the area.

Following study of the area's traffic flow, both the city manager and the traffic engineer are expected to recommend construction of a double-access parking drive on the east side of N. Woodward avenue, between Ravine and Oak streets.

In conjunction with the Birmingham Recreation Department's playground program, day camp at Springdale Park got under way today and is scheduled to run five days weekly through July 31.

Day camp activities include demonstrations in nature study and woodcraft, plus Indianlore, games, cookouts and treasure hunts.

Children must register at the playground closest to their home in order to attend the day camp.

Buses will pick up day campers at their respective playgrounds at 9:30 a.m. and return them at 4 p.m. A fee of 25 cents is charged for the bus service each round trip.

Air Defense Bill to Go to Senate

Would Provide Bases, Housing for Missiles Around the World

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's new air defense proposals get an indirect congressional test today as the Senate takes up a bill to authorize widespread military construction projects.

★ ★ ★

The measure would open the way for spending $1,209,971,000 on U.S. military installations ranging from missile bases to housing in this country and around the world. Some of them are secret.

A comparatively small part of the bill involves construction of bases from which missiles would be fired against attacking enemy planes. Action had been held up while the Pentagon revised its plans for air defense.

★ ★ ★

As it went to the Senate, the bill is tailored to the Pentagon's decision to continue on a cut-down basis installation of both the Army's Nike-Hercules and the Air Force's Bomarc missiles for defense against enemy planes. The money for these and for stepped-up development of a defense against enemy missiles will come later in other bills.

★ ★ ★

The only advance opposition to the program has come from Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), who said in an interview Saturday he considered the new program an unsound compromise "which forces the taxpayer to continue to waste billions of dollars." He contended it would give only a false sense of security.

South Korea Claims Reds Seized 36 Boats

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The South Korean government today claimed that the North Korean Communists seized 36 South Korean fishing boats with 251 fishermen aboard during the first five months of this year.

A government intelligence officer said that was about twice as many as were seized during the same months last year. He also reported that in the first five months this year his government arrested 290 subversive Communist workers, including 77 agents sent south by the North Korean government.

U.S. Knew Plan of Nazis to Invade Reds Year Early

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States knew a year in advance that Hitler planned to scrap the Soviet-Nazi nonaggression pact and invade Russia, according to diplomatic documents made public last night by the State Department.

★ ★ ★

Dispatches to Washington from U.S. embassies in Moscow and Berlin reported behind-the-scenes distrust and plotting against one another by Hitler and the late Soviet Premier Josef Stalin during the 22 months the nonaggression pact was in effect.

On June 6, 1940, the U.S. minister in Sweden, Frederick A. Sterling, wired Secretary of State Cordell Hull that "absolutely reliable sources" reported that Germany was "busily working out plans for attack on Russia to begin as soon as the Western powers were defeated."

★ ★ ★

Hitler invaded the Soviet Union a year later without waiting for the defeat of the Western Allies.

Billy Graham Preaches to Passengers on Liner

ABOARD THE S.S. UNITED STATES (UPI) — Billy Graham delivered a sermon to the passengers and crew crowded into the main lounge of the liner United States in mid-Atlantic yesterday.

The American evangelist is en route home from a six-month tour of Australia, New Zealand, Southeast Asia and Europe, including a week in Moscow.

He told the audience he had sensed during his tour "a deepening of world tension. Yet I have also sensed a deepening hunger for God that penetrates even behind the Iron Curtain."

He is due in New York tomorrow.

Many people stop looking up their ancestry when they trace back to a family tree and find a forebear hanging there either by his tail or his neck . . . There are two kinds of people who don't say anything—those who are very quiet and those who are very talkative.—Earl Wilson.

BIGGEST BRAKES!

One of the 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any car in its field

The published opinions of independent experts, plus comparative facts and figures, bear us out on this: Chevy gives you 7 big bests over its competitors—beginning with biggest brakes. Not only biggest, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. To prove its advantage, Chevy out-stopped both the other leading low-priced cars in direct competitive tests, conducted by NASCAR,* of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST TRADE-IN

Check the figures in any N A D A† Guide Book. Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

BEST STYLE

It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST ECONOMY

No doubt about it: two Chevrolet 6's won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full size car, 22.38 m.p.g.

BEST ROOM

Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.‡ make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

BEST ENGINE

Every motor magazine has given Chevrolet's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "Indeed this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

BEST RIDE

MOTOR TREND magazine calls Chevy "the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. Stop by your Chevrolet dealer's for a look at a whole raft of little advantages besides these 7 big ones.

But Expects Re-Election

Long Extends Political Purge

WINNFIELD, La. (AP) — Gov. Earl K. Long, refreshed after a weekend at his beloved "Pea Patch Farm," heads across state to Covington today to place himself under a team of psychiatrists.

★ ★ ★

Long is also extending his political purge, divorcing his wife, planning a special session of the Legislature and starting his campaign for re-election.

"I'm going to get a divorce just as fast as I can," he said of his wife, who twice committed him for psychiatric treatment. Mrs. Long has left the state.

Long plans to remain at Covington until Friday night. Then he will go to Baton Rouge for the first time since his commitment to Southeast Louisiana State (mental) Hospital at Mandeville on June 18.

The 63-year-old governor discussed his plans Sunday in a 15-minute news conference on the back porch of the frame farm house his estranged wife, Blanche, calls "Earls shack."

The governor, clad in pajamas and a bathrobe, did most of the talking. Only about two or three questions were asked before the governor's advisors and psychiatrist, Dr. Paul Pratt, decided the conference had lasted long enough.

The governor told newsmen he had been considering a divorce from his wife for some time.

"I would have got a divorce a long time ago if I hadn't been in politics," the governor said. "Without causing any scandal and no trouble I'm going to get a divorce just as fast as I can."

He plans a cleanup in the state Welfare Department.

"If what I heard about Mrs. Dickerson (Mary Evelyn Dickerson Parker, director of welfare) is true, she's a bum director."

If he can, he is going to get rid of Theo Cangelosi, chairman of the Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors and long-time friend and legal advisor of the governor.

"He doublecrossed me," Long said, "representing both me and my wife."

★ ★ ★

He did not go into detail on the special legislative session, but definitely said there would be one.

★ ★ ★

Long predicted he would be elected governor for the fourth time in the Democratic primary next December. He said he would get 60 per cent of the vote as against 51 per cent he got last time.

"If any man in Louisiana is qualified to talk about politics, it's me," Long emphasized.

Woman Slightly Hurt

A Pontiac woman suffered slight neck and back injuries Saturday night when her car struck the Simms Building, 96 N. Saginaw St.

Deava Morgan, 23, 7946 Highland Rd., was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and later released.

Miss Morgan told police she lost control of her car when the accelerator stuck.

Sue Road Commission

Two Southfield couples have sued the Oakland County Road Commission for total damages of $102,000, claiming the commission confiscated and damaged their property during the widening of Greenfield road.

Filing suits in Oakland County Circuit Court were Allen W. and Dorothy A. Dorr, of 25451 Greenfield Rd., and John W. and Claire E. Lemon, of 26939 Greenfield Rd.

The Dorrs are asking for $42,000 while the Lemons seek $60,000 as compensation for the widening of the road which resulted in confiscation of their property "without just compensation," according to the suits.

Chiang's Chief of Staff Transferred to Minor Job

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-Shek sprang a surprise tonight by transferring Gen. "Tiger" Wang Shu-Ming from chief of the general staff to a relatively minor job.

Wang was made one of two deputy chairmen of the advisory committee on strategy, where high officers are put to pasture.

There was no explanation why the term of Wang was not extended. He may have made the mistake of becoming too popular.

Gen. Peng Meng-Chi, commander-in-chief of the Chinese Nationalist Army, was promoted to Wang's place in the annual change of officers. Lt. Gen. Lo Lieh was given the job vacated by Peng.

School Election Apathy Mocks Democracy

Voter turnout at school elections is just plain scandalous. We can think of no other way to describe the apathy most people show.

★ ★ ★

Possibly no phase of government is subject to more living room discussions and criticism than the school system, and almost everyone gripes about the taxes and has private ideas on how the schools ought to be run.

★ ★ ★

But on election day what happens? Nothing. The armchair strategists stay home in droves. Whether the election is for the school board or on matters dealing with school finances, the turnout of voters is usually just a joke.

In our recent school board election for example, only 8.2 per cent of the registered voters went to the polls.

Such a response on the part of the voters is a mockery of Democracy, especially in view of the vital importance of education and the fact the school takes around 53 cents of every tax dollar, according to VERNON SCHILLER, Pontiac school district treasurer.

Herter Is Unyielding; England Concurs

In a grim 15 minute speech Secretary of State CHRISTIAN A. HERTER made our country's stand quite clear in not yielding in the West Berlin crisis.

★ ★ ★

Congress overwhelmingly backs this stand. Herter made the point that some degree of progress must be made at Geneva in order to warrant a heads-of-government meeting later.

HERTER did not mince words and was exceptionally clear in stating our position.

The London Times, in commenting on MR. HERTER'S speech, points out only a slight difference exists between HERTER and SELWYN LLOYD on the conference. The Times writes:

"The Russians may rub their hands as they go through the statements. In point of fact, though the United States Government remains rather more cautious than the British in looking ahead to a summit conference, the differences in the statements are marginal. Both in reviewing the work of the conference so far, and in preparing for the next stage, Mr. Herter and Mr. Selwyn Lloyd were in general agreement. Each declared that he would try again. Even though doubting the Russian intention Mr. Herter declared that the conference had revealed possible areas of agreement concerning specific arrangements for Berlin. Mr. Selwyn Lloyd spelled out the same possibility in greater detail."

It is refreshing to see our two governments so much in agreement on this very important issue.

Egypt Again Provokes Trouble in Suez Canal

Since Israel was induced to withdraw from the Sinai Peninsula two years ago, Israeli cargoes—not Israeli ships—have been permitted to go through the Suez Canal and the Arab blockade of the port of Aqaba was ended. Now Egypt is again interfering with shipping to and from Israel in violation of past agreements and United Nations directives.

★ ★ ★

The most recent incident is that of a Danish freighter carrying an Israeli cargo from Haifa of 4,000 tons of cement for Hong Kong, 1,500 tons of potash to Manila and goods to Japan. The ship was seized as an Egyptian "war prize" and the Egyptian court ordered the cargo unloaded. The Danish captain was instructed by his superiors not to unload.

The United Nations and Western officials have interceded in Cairo to restore freedom of shipping through the canal. These appeals have been disregarded. U. S. Secretary General HAMMARSKJOLD is to meet with President NASSER within a few days.

★ ★ ★

At a time when Western relations with Egypt have been improving and when it seemed that Nasser was more aware of the Communist menace to his country, the blockade is a setback. It is a denial of his pledged word to respect covenants which govern the international character of the canal. The whole world is vitally interested in the outcome of the current negotiations in Cairo.

Tomorrow: When 1959 is half gone, and most of us will say, "It doesn't seem possible."

Another matter in which our home folks do not avail themselves of the opportunities at hand is in their limited use of our recreational facilities.

With more state and other parks, more roadside tables and more other such facilities than any other among Michigan's 83 counties, there always is a big preponderence of autos from outside of our own Oakland at such places.

A sample check at the park beside the Dixie Highway, 20 miles northwest of Pontiac the other day revealed 12 cars from Wayne County, 11 from Genesee County and three from outstate, and only two from Oakland County.

This is found to be about the general average, which indicates that the many advantages with which we are favored are so commonplace that we do not appreciate them. They surely are appreciated by people of the areas that are not so fortunate.

New Western Star Wins Spurs

David Lawrence Observes:

Public Opinion Grows Behind Ike

WASHINGTON — The myth that a president of the United States loses power in his second term because he cannot be re-elected for a third term has been exploded by the results of the Gallup poll just published.

LAWRENCE

They show that since the congressional elections in November 1958, when the country voted overwhelmingly Democratic, President Eisenhower's popularity has gone up from 52 per cent to 62 per cent.

Most of the gain has been achieved inside the Democratic Party where 18 per cent of the Democrats throughout the country, in contrast with 35 per cent in November 1958, now say they approve of the way Eisenhower is handling the presidency. The Republican approval nationally has gone up from 80 per cent to 87 per cent since last year.

What has happened to give the President a rise of 10 points in the over all vote since the elections of only eight months ago? Is it any longer true that a president cannot make headway unless he bribes Congress with "patronage" appointments to office of the constituents of congressmen or by bestowing other favors on the legislators whose votes he needs to support his program?

★ ★ ★

The ethics of the presidency have changed considerably since the time when reliance was placed on such tactics. Instead, it is the power of public opinion which today strengthens the hand of a president. This accounts for the increase in popularity of Eisenhower with the country as a whole.

PEOPLE APPROVE

Members of Congress cannot, from a political point of view, effectively oppose the president on measures on which he has the people's support. There is little doubt that Eisenhower has won nationwide approval by his peaceful yet firm course in world policies.

The fact is that a president need not be weak in his second term just because he cannot be a candidate for a third term.

Theodore Roosevelt, Republican, wielded just as much political power in 1904, as if he had himself been a candidate when he practically dictated the nomination and election of his successor, William Howard Taft. Presidents who failed to maintain popularity with the people have lost out even in their bid for a second term.

For the real test is in a president's standing with public opinion. Even during his second term, he can still command the confidence of the nation. In fact, there is more opportunity for him to win public support in his second term than in his first because, when it is universally accepted that he will not be a candidate, his motives are likely to be regarded as unselfish and unpolitical.

Perhaps the greatest source of strength today of President Eisenhower is that he is not seeking anything for himself but keeps uppermost in his mind the welfare of the people as a whole. He has not stooped to petty politics. The country looks upon him as a sincere, earnest man. The more his opponents have made vitriolic attacks of a palpably paprtisan nature of his policies, the more the country has increased its support of the president.

Woodrow Wilson, five years before he became president of the United States, wrote in his book, "Constitutional Government," discussing the presidency and public opinion:

"His is the only national voice in affairs. Let him once win the admiration and confidence of the country, and no other single force can withstand him, no combination of forces will easily overpower him. His position takes the imagination of the country.

"He is the representative of no constituency, but of the whole people. When he speaks in his true character, he speaks for no special interest. If he rightly interpret the national thought and boldly insist upon it, he is irresistible."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Buerger's Disease Occurs in Non-Smokers, Also

Here's a letter from a regular reader:

"Next Wednesday I'll be 79 and I have never taken that first drink. Never used tobacco either.

"Recently you mentioned Buerger's disease as one of the conditions possibly caused by excessive smoking. This trouble has recently come to me . . . calf painfully knotting when I walk a few blocks. Physician says we can't do anything about it. Advises me not to fight it but just stop and rest when it comes. I know some men who have the same trouble can't walk a block.

"So you see, Buerger's disease can occur even though a man has never smoked or drank. — (J.E. McL.)

Buerger's disease is otherwise known as thrombo-angitis obliterans, and Dr. Leo Buerger himself, describing the disease, favored the name "endarteritis obliterans." Dr. Buerger's description is given in full in "Classic Descriptions of Disease," by Dr. Ralph Major.

Incidentally, Dr. Buerger did not mention smoking, and he suggested that in view of the nature of the trouble we adopt the term "obliterating thrombo-angitis of the lower extremities."

Metropolitan physicians concluded that the disease was caused by excessive smoking. But there is no question that the disease may occur in non smokers too.

In fact medical authorities are all at odds about it and some of them seem to resent the fact that Dr. Buerger brought the subject up in the first place.

★ ★ ★

One authority declares that considerable relief occurs after a person with Buerger's disease stops smoking. A few days after he stops smoking, that is, not after he stops smoking a few days. He must stop smoking, period for the rest of his life.

It is my belief—remember, I'm no authority—that the chief, if not the only, factor of the pathological effects on smoking is CO anoxia.

I believe, too, that it is hardest for a cigarette smoker to quit; not so hard for a cigar smoker; and easy for a pipe smoker to quit.

From all reports I have seen in medical literature, I infer that cigarette smoking is most harmful; cigar smoking is less harmful; and pipe smoking least harmful.

It is questionable whether there is a significant trace of nicotine in the smoke of cigarette, cigar or pipe, but if chemical analyses of various kinds of tobacco are correct the man who takes a large or hospital size chew of tobacco is doomed to turn up his toes within 5 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Scientific Polls Are Great Help

Beth is a smart journalism student who is soon to become Feature Editor of her father's newspaper. Notice her shrewd questions. Then see how a scientific poll is made, whether of newspaper subscribers or of department store customers, voters or a clergyman's parishioners. And double check on the 3rd dimension in newspaper polls.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-473: Beth G., aged 20, is a journalism student at Northwestern University.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, my father recently bought a small daily newspaper," she began with a vivacious smile. "He wants me to help him operate it and decide on the features we should run.

"Wouldn't it be a good idea to let the customers decide what they'd like? For isn't a newspaper conducted primarily for the subscribers?

DR. CRANE

"Just how does a person conduct a scientific poll of readers?"

READER POLLS

Beth deserves praise for her scientific attitude toward the function of a modern newspaper.

★ ★ ★

True enough, it is the subscriber who keeps a newspaper in business and there are several good methods for conducting newspaper reader polls.

A simple one that is quick and not too costly to operate, is the coupon poll.

Advise your readers that you wish their cooperation in deciding upon the contents of their daily paper.

Ask them to rate their 1st, 2nd and 3rd choices on a printed coupon that appears in the newspaper.

★ ★ ★

But don't list 20 or 30 features in mixed order. Subdivide the items. Place the comic strips in one section.

Then in another subdivision enumerate the "advice" columns, including this "Worry Clinic" feature, as well as the medical, financial and political columns.

A third subdivision might include the locally written features of staff members, including the editorial writer, as well as various reporters on society, sports, etc.

At the bottom of the coupon, ask the reader to list his age and sex, as well as his marital status and occupation.

★ ★ ★

Sometimes you can double check by also urging the readers to rate the three features in each subdivision which they read the least.

HOUSE CANVASSERS

Another fairly accurate but more costly poll consists of sending out trained interviewers to call on subscribers.

But you should first classify the subscribers on the basis of their age, financial income and occupations.

Suppose you decide to interview 100 men. If you wish to follow the pattern that Dr. Gallup originated, you can select 16 men from the "white collar" or business and professional group (2 car families).

Another 48 men should be drawn from the skilled workers as labor union members. The final 36 men should be taken from the unskilled laborers.

In addition to scattering your interviews on the basis of their financial incomes, also try to distribute them on a pro rata basis between farm and city subscribers, as well as occupations and residential areas.

A few hundred properly chosen subscribers will thus give a far more exact picture of reader interest than 10,000 taken at random.

In rating features, too, be sure to assay their by products. Which feature is most often used by the schools and churches? Which is brought into conversation more often at social groups?

Which is torn out of the paper most frequently to be mailed to distant relatives and friends? These "plus" values give a 3rd dimension to reader polls.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

'Perhaps Tolerance Might Have Prevented Murders'

Now that mass murderer Charles Starkweather has paid for his crimes, society feels it's done its duty. All this slaughter might have been avoided if tolerance had been taught as a subject in schools and if, as Senator Potter said, "Delinquency were stopped before it became delinquency."

★ ★ ★

Some time ago Starkweather wrote his life story and told of his kindergarten days. Can you imagine the shock it must have been to a little boy five to be shunned at school and called a bandy-legged, red-headed woodpecker? His doctor said he wrote the story just to get attention. So what? Everyone gets attention, but that doesn't mean the story wasn't true and worthy of educators' attention.

★ ★ ★

From material sent me from Washington, I learned tolerance is taught in schools only on an idealized basis, not a practical, go-out-and-live-it basis.

'How Can They Remain Civil?'

I just can't understand how the authorities can be civil with those people who can be so savage to children. Two wrongs don't make a right, but I don't see how the officers can keep from pummeling the living daylights out of child beaters when they take them into custody. Officers on those cases deserve a lot of credit for remaining civilized.

Fear Danger of Inflation

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The President's Cabinet committee on price stability for economic growth may serve an economic purpose. It also has a very useful political value for the Republican party.

★ ★ ★

This group, appointed by President Eisenhower last Jan. 31, produced a report Sunday after months of meditation. It cautioned against the dangers of inflation and made some recommendations for fighting it.

What it proposed was what Eisenhower himself already had proposed to Congress earlier in the year.

This was hardly unusual. The President's committee, made up of his own hand-picked, right-hand men, would hardly have made recommendations contrary to his own.

★ ★ ★

The group, headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, is composed of members of his Cabinet, plus his top economic adviser Raymond J. Saulnier, plus one outside economist, W. Allen Wallis.

Wallis himself described the report as "no bombshell." He is dean of the Business School of the University of Chicago and is the Cabinet committee's executive director.

It is questionable whether any proposals by this group could be considered as objective and nonpolitical as recommendations by a committee of outside economists.

Family of Seven Killed by Son

Police Unable to Tell From Battered Bodies if Victims Were Shot

STETTLER, Alta. (AP) — The mass slaying of a father, mother and their five children came to light with discovery Sunday of the seven battered bodies at this quiet central Alberta town. Robert Raymond Cook, 22, son of the slain man, was charged with murder.

The victims were Raymond Cook, 53, a garage mechanic; his wife, Daisy Mae, 37; and their three sons and two daughters ranging in age from 9 to 3.

Police found a blood-stained shotgun stuffed under a mattress in the Cook's neatly kept green and white house, but the bodies were so badly battered investigators could not tell whether the victims had been shot before they were clubbed.

The bodies were found in the garage under a pile of old tires, boxes, blankets and other articles. The discovery shocked this town of 3,000, eighty miles southeast of Edmonton.

Police went to the home to inform the father that Robert Raymond had been arrested Saturday on a charge involving the father's car. When neighbors told police none of the Cooks had been seen since Thursday, the officers entered the house and found blood-stains on the floor and mattresses.

2 Boys Fall to Deaths

NEW YORK (AP) — Two boys playing on New York City rooftops tumbled to death over the weekend in five-story falls. Walter Shumaker, 11, fell Sunday in Manhattan. Anibal Quinones, 14, fell Saturday in the Bronx.

Plunge Drowns Girl

CASTILE, N.Y. (AP)—Two 13-year-old girls on a church picnic slipped on loose rock Sunday at the top of a 100-foot gorge. Susan Metz plunged down the cliff and was drowned in the Genesee River. Susan Rutecki caught a tree branch and was pulled to safety by a park worker as the branch began to break.

Waterford Optimists to Sponsor Playground

A narrow strip of Waterford Township-owned land near Crescent Lake will soon become an activity center, loaded with playground equipment and have regulation sized athletic fields.

As yet in the planning stage only, the project is being sponsored by the three-month old Waterford Township Optimist Club and will be a park dedicated strictly for children, according to chairman John Strong.

Waterford Township acquired the property two years ago when the Dodge family donated the land with specifications that it be used as a public park.

The strip is located on Crescent Lake road, at Elizabeth Lake road and is only 225 feet wide and one-half mile deep. The State Conservation Department owns some 50 feet back from the water's edge for a fishing and boat launching site.

★ ★ ★

Scheduled on a five-year plan, there will be a football field, a baseball field and tennis and basketball courts, with plenty of parking and picnic space, after the land has been cleared. Eventually there will be a youth center building in the park, Strong said.

A meeting has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the township hall when legal aspects will be discussed by township and Optimist club officials and their attorneys.

States' Rights Bill May Have to Wait

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sponsor of the states' rights bill says he may have to wait until next year to see it passed.

"It may be that we can't get it out of committee this year," Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said Sunday. "We may have to do more work on it and let it go over until next year."

The House, by a vote of 225-192, passed its version of the bill last week.

The bill says federal laws do not supersede state laws in the same field unless (1) Congress says so, or (2) there is an irreconcilable conflict between the laws.

Fake Kidnaping May End for 3 in Guardhouse

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Three airmen who caused authorities all sorts of trouble by faking a kidnaping may learn today what disciplinary action they face.

City police, sheriff's officers, highway patrolmen and 40 Air Force police fanned out Saturday night in a search for a getaway car.

Maj. Theodore Newnam, provost marshal, identified the Amarillo Air Force Base trio as Airmen Charles J. Moore, 20, Tucson, Ariz.; Clarence Marcuarela, 22, Matagorda, Tex., and Raymond L. Watson Jr., 26, Nashville, Tenn.

Watson played the victim as the others forced his hands behind his back and took him from the base service club into a car outside.

★ ★ ★

An airman who witnessed the incident supplied a description of the trio and the car.

Arrested at their barracks, the men admitted the prank but gave no reason for it, Maj. Newnam said.

Newlyweds to Honeymoon in Bomb Shelter

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A couple to wed Sunday will spend a sheltered honeymoon — in an underground bomb shelter — for the greater glory of civil defense and shelter-manufacturers.

Then they'll have a more orthodox wedding trip at the expense of bomb shelter manufacturers who induced them to spend their first two weeks together 10 feet below North Miami.

★ ★ ★

Kelley Geiger, 25, a University of Miami Russian major, and Nancy Bellmyre, 23, a dance band singer, plan to climb down through the hatch of the 8-by-14 foot steel and concrete shelter after their wedding and reception.

The comforts of home below will include beds, a variety of canned food, powdered milk, drink-flavoring tablets, checkers and cards.

Queen Will Break Stiff Routine to Attend Horse Race, Theater

By RELMAN MORIN

TORONTO (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II breaks her arduous routine of formal ceremonies and receiving lines this week for two of her favorite diversions, horse racing and the theater.

★ ★ ★

Canada's top racing event, the Queen's Plate, will be run in Toronto Tuesday with the monarch and Prince Philip watching.

At nearby Stratford the Shakespearean Festival Company gives a command performance of "As You Like It" for the royal couple Thursday.

Elizabeth and her husband were due in Toronto this morning after a three-day cruise up the St. Lawrence River aboard the royal yacht Britannia.

★ ★ ★

The couple went ashore for two hours Sunday at Kingston and attended services at the United Church in the late afternoon. It was the first time the Queen had ever attended religious services other than Anglican on Canadian soil. Canada's United Church was formed in 1925 in a merger of Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists.

The Rev. Richard H. N. Davidson preached an 11-minute sermon. He prayed for guidance for the royal couple and the strength for them to carry out their "heavy duties." He also offered a prayer for Elizabeth's two children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

★ ★ ★

He noted that the Queen and President Eisenhower had dedicated the St. Lawrence Seaway Friday and that she saw part of the gigantic St. Lawrence power project Saturday. The preacher said man's works are futile and useless unless employed for the betterment of all mankind.

As he had the Sunday before in Newfoundland, Philip read the second lesson at the service. It was St. Luke 18: 9-14.

After the service the Queen and her husband drove through cheering crowds jamming the Kingston streets to visit Ft. Henry, a pivot of defense in the War of 1812.

★ ★ ★

Then they drove to the Royal Military College. After brief formalities, they watched part of a cadet cricket match. The prince was invited to play but grinned and declined.

Lee Ki-poong to Run on Ticket With Rhee

SEOUL (AP) — President Syngman Rhee today launched a new effort to sell National Assembly President Lee Ki-poong to the voting public as his successor.

★ ★ ★

The 84-year-old president, who has decided to run for a fourth term in 1960, recommended to his ruling Liberal party that Lee be his vice-presidential candidate again.

★ ★ ★

The 1,000 delegates to the party's annual convention unanimously approved Lee, who was beaten in 1956 for the vice presidency by Chang Myon of the Democratic party.

Gasoline Truck Crashes; Both Trailers Explode

ST. MARY, Mont. (AP) — A huge gasoline truck hurled out of control down a mountain highway for a half-mile Sunday, crashing at the edge of this resort town in a spectacular explosion.

The truck's driver, Floyd B. Cole, 28, was killed.

Both trailers of the 36-ton truck, carrying 6,850 gallons of diesel fuel, exploded as it smashed into a row of gasoline pumps.

Deputy Sheriff W. E. Stillwell said the truck's brakes apparently failed.

Reid Leaves for Israel

NEW YORK (AP)—Ogden Reid, the new U.S. ambassador to Israel, left Sunday for Tel Aviv with his wife and three sons. Reid, 33, former president and editor of the New York Herald Tribune, said he hopes to travel about Israel and talk to as many people as possible.

Target Shoot Fatal

ALPENA (AP) — Douglas Steadman, 26, of Bad Axe, was accidentally shot and killed while target shooting with three companions at a hunting club near Alpena Saturday. Police said Steadman left his friends as they were shooting. He was struck in the head by a bullet which apparently glanced off a target.

This Missouri city was a town of only about 1,000 population in 1803 when President Jefferson completed the Louisiana purchase with France for a sum of $15 million.

Demands Exam on Drunk Charge

Wixom Man's Auto Slams Two Houses in Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — A Wixom man who rode his runaway car into two houses on Pontiac Trail yesterday demanded examination of a drunk and disorderly conduct charge today before Justice of the Peace Herbert A. Roth.

★ ★ ★

The examination has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday in Justice Court here for Maurice J. Southerland, 23, of 2957 Potter Rd., Wixom.

He first told Walled Lake police that his brakes failed, then that another car forced him off the road, causing him to lose control of the wheel, according to Police Chief Al Decker.

Chief Decker said eye-witnesses reported no other car near Southerland's when his vehicle tore off the front of an apartment house at 230 Pontiac Trail and smashed into the porch of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Philp's home next door.

BRAKE CONDITION GOOD

A check of the brakes on Southerland's car proved them to be in good working condition, Chief Decker added.

Philp was painting in a room on top of the porch when Southerland's car rammed into it. Unhurt by the crash, Philp was badly shaken.

Luckily, no one was injured in the four-dwelling apartment house. Jack Gumm, who lives two houses away, had taken his two youngsters Sharon, 6, and Pamela, 5, from the front lawn of their home minutes before Southerland's car veered across it, out of control.

★ ★ ★

Southerland, who fell from his car when it came to rest in the smashed porch of the Philp home, was treated for cuts and abrasions in a doctor's office, then taken to Oakland County Jail.

Mrs. Ivy Wills and her three children, who live in the front apartment where Southerland's car tore through, were visiting in Detroit at the time.

Damage to the buliding was estimated by Chief Decker at about $1,500.

DEDICATE NEW HOSPITAL WING — Mrs. Robert Paton, Armada, president of the Auxiliary of the Community Hospital, located on M53 between Romeo and Almont, cuts the ribbon opening the new 18-bed addition which was dedicated yesterday. James T. Ligon, Hospital Foundation Board treasurer, by microphone, was master of ceremonies.

New Hospital Addition Dedicated Near Almont

ALMONT — Some 75-100 hardy souls stood out in the blazing sun yesterday to watch the formal dedication of the new 18-bed addition to the Community Hospital, located on Van Dyke road (M53) just south of here.

★ ★ ★

Main speakers of the afternoon were Dr. G. Clare Bishop of Almont, the hospital's chief of staff, and Douglas Giles, vice president of the Manufacturers National Bank, Detroit, who is in charge of the Highland Park branch.

Dr. Bishop gave a progress report on the use of the new hospital since its opening just over five months ago. He pointed out that even the new addition has been fully occupied right from the moment it opened about two weeks ago.

Giles cited the Hospital Foundation's foresight in establishing a hospital in a location to meet the medical needs of residents within a 15-mile radius who otherwise would have had to travel long distances to a hospital.

Cutting the ribbon opening the new wing was Mrs. Robert Paton, Armada, who is president of the Women's Auxiliary of the hospital.

After the ceremony, auxiliary members and Red Cross Grey Ladies served refreshments and conducted tours of the facility.

The new wing was the major portion of the recent construction program which also included a solarium, canopies over the main entrance and the ambulance entrance, blacktopping of the parking lot and driveways and an anesthesia storage room.

The total number of beds in the new hospital now is 70.

The U.S. Navy's first airplane flight from a ship was in January 1911 from the battleship USS Pennsylvania stationed in San Francisco harbor.

Avondale High Band Students Leave for Camp

AVON TOWNSHIP — One Avondale High School band student left yesterday and two more were to leave today for summer camp on partial scholarships given by the Avondale Band Boosters organization.

★ ★ ★

Bob Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester K. Evans of 2306 Caroline St., Auburn Heights, left yesterday for the summer band session at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Diane Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Owen, of 2507 Auburn Rd., Avon Township, and Charles Moss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moss, of 196 Oakmont Rd., Auburn Heights, were to leave today for the National Music Camp at Interlochen.

★ ★ ★

Money for the partial scholarships was raised by Band Booster projects throughout the year, a club spokesman said today.

Actress Terry Moore Wed in Surprise Rite

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Terry Moore and her third husband, wealthy socialite businessman Stuart Cramer III, began a honeymoon today aboard his yacht off the California coast.

★ ★ ★

They were married Sunday night at the Church of the Hills in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. About 100 friends of both families attended the ceremony.

★ ★ ★

Bishop John Bernhardt of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints officiated.

Miss Moore is 29 and Cramer 31.

Miss Moore was previously married to West Point football star Glenn Davis and Panamanian businessman Eugene McGrath. Cramer was married briefly to actress Jean Peters.

★ ★ ★

The surprise ceremony caught most of the Hollywood colony off guard. No film notables were present.

German Arms Deal Opposed

Angered Ben-Gurion Set to Resign Post in Israel

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's coalition Cabinet decides today whether to accept an arms deal with West Germany or the resignation of Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion.

★ ★ ★

Ben-Gurion told leaders of his Socialist Labor party, the Mapai, he would resign if left-wing "opposition from within" his Cabinet failed to approve the sale of an estimated 250,000 grenade throwers to West Germany.

A special Cabinet meeting was called to vote on the sale but it was not expected that the Achdath Avodah and Mapam parties would leave the coalition.

Ben-Gurion said he would try to form a new government without members of the two parties. Without them his government would control only 50 of the 120 seats in Parliament. The Mapai itself has only 40 seats. But if a prime minister resigns, Israeli law permits the president to ask him to remain in office as head of a caretaker government until the next election. That will come in November.

★ ★ ★

Last Friday the Cabinet approved, apparently by a split vote, the sale of the grenade throwers to the Bonn government. Most of the machines reportedly have been delivered.

The Tel Aviv newspaper Mooriv quoted Ben-Gurion as saying the sale was necessary for Israel's defense. The report did not indicate whether Israel would receive arms in exchange or whether the currency realized would be used for arms purchases elsewhere.

Ben-Gurion said Egypt, leader of Arab opposition to Israel, would soon receive Soviet MIG19 bombers, superior to Israel's bombers.

Opposition to the arms sale was generally based on the question of whether Israel should do business with Germany less than two decades after the Nazi extermination of millions of Jews.

Ex-Bookie Accused of Beating In-Law

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police have arrested Harry Gross, 41, a New Yorker [illegible] of [illegible] wife's elderly grandfather.

Gross was identified by officers as chief of a 20 million-dollar bookmaking ring in New York 10 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Police said Harry Black, 81, is in critical condition at General Hospital with head and neck wounds.

Gross, booked Saturday on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder, denied the charge. He said, "The old man and I are good friends."

Black told officers Gross attacked him after an argument over $2,000 which he said he loaned the ex-bookmaker and his wife.

Gross was sent to prison in 1951 after pleading guilty to 66 counts of bookmaking and conspiracy.

2 Kansas City Papers Return as Strike Ends

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A 10-day strike against the Kansas City Star and the Kansas City Kansan ended Sunday when striking printers accepted two-year contracts.

The Star resumed publication today with an 18-page edition of its morning Times. The newspaper, which contained no paid advertising, summarized news events since the paper was shut down June 18 and brought readers up to date on comic strips.

Key issue in the strike was a union demand for higher holiday pay. The printers had sought 7½ hours of double time pay for 5 hours work on six recognized holidays. Under the new contract they will work a 5-hour holiday at double time. Printers whose normal days off fall on any of the holidays, and who do not work, will receive 5 hours pay at straight time.

Williams Vows Big Push for State Income Tax

From Our News Wires

Lansing—Gov. Williams promises an all-out effort to push a state income tax bill through the Legislature while describing Republican lawmakers as "blind Samsons."

★ ★ ★

At a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee yesterday, Williams referred to the Republican-dominated Senate as an "impregnable bastion of reaction and a concrete pillbox."

The governor said GOP leaders had refused to reach a tax compromise although Democrats were willing to accept a sales tax increase as part of a compromise program.

Republican refusal to add a corporation profits tax to provide sufficient long-term revenue booms a compromise, Williams said.

EXPECT NEW PROPOSAL

"There is no use making any compromise settlement which will throw us into a new cash crisis next winter," he said.

Williams' speech brought a sharp reaction from Senate Majority Leader Frank D. Beadle (R-St. Clair).

"He has the knack of saying the wrong thing at the wrong time," Beadle said.

★ ★ ★

Beadle said he feared the "ill-timing" of Williams' remarks might upset efforts for a compromise agreement.

The House Taxation Committee is expected to release a new corporate and personal income tax proposal this week.

"I promise to put on the best fight possible on behalf of that proposal and I know I will have the support of the Democratic Party," Williams said.

★ ★ ★

Williams said the only "reasonably permanent, adequate and equitable" tax plan is the corporate and personal income tax.

In other action, the State Central Committee adopted a resolution urging Democratic senators to vote against bills which would raise car and small-loan finance charges. It also voted to set up a committee to study means of reapportioning the Legislature.

Lawmakers return today for their 109th 1959 meeting to race the clock on adoption of a budget before the new fiscal year begins at 12:01 a.m. Wednesday.

STARTS 6 HOURS EARLY

The Senate was due in at 2 p.m., six hours ahead of the usual starting time, to hasten final action on four big spending bills already cleared by the House. The House was to resume meetings tonight.

But the overshadowing question was not really how much spending to authorize for 1959-60 but how to pay for a greatly increased level of expenditures now largely agreed on—with the exception of school aid.

And in the immediate background was the state's ever worsening fiscal crisis, occasion today of another special State Administrative Board huddle to divvy up the puny hoard of state treasury cash.

★ ★ ★

Expectations obviously were rising that a decision on new taxes couldn hardly be far off.

State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown said today Michigan faces further financial agony in the next two weeks. Brown revealed this in a summary report on the state's worst cash crisis since the depression.

Brown's report was to be used by the State Administrative Board in deciding how to ration out about 10 million available dollars among vendors, universities, school districts, welfare recipients, and cities and villages due around 63 million dollars tomorrow, and a $5,100,000 state payroll due Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Most immediate obligation was a $5,800,000 welfare payment due tomorrow.

Only a "trickle" of revenue is expected the first two weeks in July, Brown said.

"We've got to have that trust fund money," Brown said referring to a plan proposed more than five months ago for easing the cash crisis by cashing in the 50-million-dollar veterans trust fund.

About 21,000 persons in the United States die of accidental falls each year.

Barry MacKay Bests Aussie in Comeback

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Big Barry MacKay, former University of Michigan star, scored a comeback victory over second-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia today 5-7, 10-8, 0-6, 6-3, 6-1 and joined Davis Cup teammate Alex Olmedo of Peru and two Australians in the semifinals of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

The Australian survivors were Queenslander Roy Emerson and flashy Rod Laver, a lefthander.

Olmedo, playing superbly, became the overwhelming title favorite by erasing Luis Ayala of Chile 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Cuban Cane Supply Uncertain

U. S. Sugar Beet Producers Make Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's sugar beet producers are making a bid for greater consumer good will in the light of the uncertainty of future supplies of sugar from Cuba, the country's major supplier.

At a meeting in Denver last week, the beat sugar industry called attention to the fact that it has been a stalwart in meeting consumer requirements during the past two years.

"Political upheaval in Cuba, underscoring the uncertainty of foreign cane sugar supplies, contrasts sharply with a major production achievement of the U. S. Beet Sugar Industry," industry leaders said in a statement released here.

Sugar is supplied the U. S. market under a quota system which assigns shares to domestic producers of beet and cane sugar, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, the Virgin Islands, the Philippines, Cuba and some other foreign producers.

Domestic beet sugar made up about 21 per cent of this year's quota. Cuba has about 30 per cent of the quota.

★ ★ ★

Arguments often have been made by some consumer and competitive groups that it is uneconomic to assign a share to U. S. producers because sugar could be obtained more cheaply from Cuba and other foreign and offshore producing areas.

The industry statement recalled, in this connection, that strikes and crop failures during the past two years had made it impossible for two offshore areas — Hawaii and Puerto Rico—to meet their quota. These deficits, it said, were made up by the domestic beet sugar industry.

★ ★ ★

Now that Cuba's political troubles and land reform programs cast uncertainty about that country's future ability to supply sugar, the nation should recognize, the statement said, that there is no uncertainty about beet sugar supplies.

★ ★ ★

"The American housewife and industrial user of beet sugar will have plenty of sugar this year and next," the statement said.

★ ★ ★

Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro has denied that his country's sugar supplies will be adversely affected.

★ ★ ★

What happens with regard to Cuban production and export capacity during this year and early next — and his treatment of U. S. financial holdings in Cuba — may have a big influence on the character of a new sugar control law expected to be enacted next year.

★ ★ ★

But domestic beet sugar producers are limited in their capacity to take on a larger share of the U. S. market.

But Must Be Cheap

Transistors to Mean Better Cars

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT (UPI) — Development of a good, reasonably priced transistor may lead to an avalanche of new electrically operated features on automobiles.

Many auto industry officials feel the industry's best chance for prosperity in the future lies with popularizing unusual, convenient and new features.

They emphasize that they mean really worthwhile features, not gadgets. They must be items that will really make motoring easier, safer and more enjoyable.

Most of these items could be available on cars right now except that they cost too much for the average motorist and that an automobile's present ignition and electrical system is taxed to its limit already.

Almost unanimously, these officials feel the solution to the problem lies ultimately in development of a rugged, low-cost transistor. But they warn against expecting "miracles."

★ ★ ★

Many of the possible gadgets of the future can already be seen on experimental cars such as General Motors' Firebird III.

The electronic devices on the Firebird III include a system of placing all the controls of a car on one little stick. This stick controls not only steering but also acceleration, braking and shifting.

Two other electronic devices on the Firebird III permits the driver to put the car on an automatic pilot which steers and controls the speed of the car automatically.

The Firebird III's lights can be controlled by an electronic unit which is activated by outside light.

An ultrasonic ignition key unlocks the Firebird III's doors from 10 feet away and an electrolumniscent dash panel creates further strain on the car's ignition system.

★ ★ ★

An electronic horn and other electronic warning devices on the Firebird III add to the strain.

All of these devices are possible because of transistors.

Transistors, in effect, are highly efficient switches that control a large volume of electricity with a small amount of electricity. They do the same jobs tubes do in ordinary radios.

But tubes could not be used in most cases because they are too bulky, need time to warm up, can be ruined by weather, require a more complicated circuit and they are too fragile. Transistors overcome all of these shortcomings but they have a handicap of their own which has hindered even the most important automotive developments at one stage or another of their development—price.

★ ★ ★

Transistors cost from two to five times as much as tubes.

Gradually this difference is being decreased through improvements in transistors. Mass production would do a great deal to reduce transistor costs.

Delco-Remy division of General Motors has developed a new ignition system, through the use of transistors, which would be capable of handling the increased load the new devices would place on a car even while driving at slow city speeds.

But J. H. Bolles, director of sales and engineering for the division, said the success of the system would depend upon three things:

—The extent in which car manufacturers increase electrical loads and engine compression ratios.

—The willingness of car owners to pay for the advantages inherent in electronic systems.

—The ability of those manufacturing transistors to develop improved and less expensive transistors that will make electronic units more competitive with today's conventional electrical systems.

The latter, of course, is the most important because a reduction in cost could eliminate the second condition and would encourage the car manufacturers to turn to the greater advantages of the transistorized system.

Chap. XXVIII

Kathie whirled around to face his angry eyes. "Sam! For heaven's sake! I was only going to suggest that your grandfather might be able to help us!"

"With what?" he said shortly.

"Alex has discovered the man my Uncle Job was supposed to have murdered was Phineas Redd, the man who sold your grandfather his property and apparently gave my great-uncle a deed to it, too."

Sam's anger was dissipated in quick interest. "So that's it!"

"What do you mean?"

"Well, that could explain it. couldn't it? Old Phineas tried to sell your great-uncle property he no longer owned. And when your great-uncle discovered how he was trying to cheat him, he killed him."

★ ★ ★

Kathie's mouth fell open. "Do you think so?" she asked, her heart sinking.

Sam was saying "It might be Grandfather could help us, although I'm sure he told the authorities everything he could at the time. I've heard him speak of that old affair."

I've got to know, she thought. I don't care if it kills me. I've got to know once and for all whether I can trust Alex or not. And the only way I can find out is to trust him.

"Alex," She spoke with a rush. "I'll do it! I'll get the deed for you."

No one had heard Leilani enter. Now she spoke.

"Get out of my house."

Kathie whirled around in surprise. Leilani was looking straight at her, hate distorting her lovely face.

"Leilani," she gasped.

What?"

'CAN'T BEAR YOU'

"I can't bear the sight of you any longer," Leilani cried. "Alex is in love with you. I can see it in the way he looks at you. And you love her, too, don't you, Sam? You've taken everything I want, Kathie! You sent my mother to her death. Get out of here before I kill you!"

Alex joined her after breakfast. "Are you all packed?" he asked. And when she nodded, he said, "Good. A taxi's coming for us in a few minutes."

Her head lifted. "Are you going back to Honolulu?"

"Have to," he replied briefly, attacking his scrambled eggs in a businesslike manner.

"But what about Leilani? I thought you'd stay."

Sam's staying. The relatives are taking over, anyway. We'd just be underfoot from now on."

She did not see either Leilani or Sam again before she and Alex left. Alex hurried her and her luggage into the taxi, and they made it to the airport with only minutes to spare.

As the plane rose, circling, Kathie looked down at the Island of Hawaii through a mist of tears, wondering if she would ever see its garden like beauty again.

Alex put his hand over hers and clasped it tightly. "I'm sorry, Kathie," he said. "This has been a strange aloha to the Islands for you, hasn't it?"

"I'm sorry I came," Kathie said, her voice bitter.

"You mustn't blame yourself, Kathie," he said.

'EVIL IN DEED'

"The evil is in the deed, Alex," she said. "I don't want it any longer. I don't want anything more to do with it. Sam's grandfather wants it. I'll let him have it. He has money and power to fight the evil in it."

Alex interrupted her abruptly. "Kathy, are you going to marry Sam?"

Her eyes flew wide. She hesitated. Then, "Why, Alex?"

"I know he wants to marry you," he paused, then added, "Leilani is in love with him, you know."

"With Sam?" Kathie cried.

"Yes." He looked amused. "Don't you know why she is so jealous of you?"

Could he be so blind? She said tremulously, "I think she loves you, Alex."

"Leilani and I have been like brother and sister all our lives," he said slowly. "What she feels for me isn't love."

He was silent for a long time, and Kathie thought desparingly, But you love, her, Alex!

When he spoke again, he said, "Kathie, don't turn over your deed to Mr. Ward until I've had a crack at it. Please?"

"I've already said I would let you see it."

OUTLINES PLAN

As they flew the 200 mile hop to Honolulu, he outlined his plan to her. They took a taxi from the airport and Alex let her out a block from the bank where she had left the deed, while he remained in the taxi with their luggage.

Indeed, Alex' instructions seemed over-cautious to her, but nevertheless, following them, she entered the bank, went downstairs to the vault, where she removed the deed from her box and sealed it in a large brown envelope which she addressed to Alex at a post office box number he had given her.

Upstairs again, she found the mail drop Alex had described to her. He had given her a stamp, and now she glued it to the envelope. Then she slipped the envelope into the mail drop before leaving the building.

Then Kathie started to leave the bank, and as she did so, someone hurrying in brushed against her, throwing her slightly off balance. The rude man did not even pause, or apologize, and while she turned to look indignantly after him, someone else snatched the handbag she had tucked under her arm. Only then did Kathie realize that the shove had been part of a carefully thought-out attack.

Begin Construction of Atom Smasher

CHICAGO (AP)—Construction of a huge new atom smasher to cost 29 million dollars began Saturday at the Argonne National Laboratory.

The device, called a zero gradient synchrotron (ZGS), will be one of the largest installations at the big Atomic Energy Commission center at Lemont, Ill.

Its central feature will be a doughnut - shaped building 200 feet in diameter housing a ring-shaped magnet through which will run a vacuum tube. This synchrotron, covered to a depth of 20 feet by a mound of earth, will accelerate protons to an energy of 12½ billion electron volts.

The proton bullets can be fired out in a strongly-focused stream to bombard atoms and produce a wide variety of sub-atomic particles. The ZGS will also serve as a microscope for examining these particles.

Dr. Roger H. Hildebrand, associate director of Argonne, said the 'synchrotron should prove to be an invaluable tool for making the short-lived 'strange' particles that occur in cosmic rays and are believed to exist fleetingly in the heart of the atom."

N-Sub Going to Pacific

HONOLULU (UPI) — The nuclear submarine USS Swordfish, which has been conducting training in the Atlantic Fleet, will leave New London, Conn., July 6 for duty with the Pacific Fleet. The Navy said the 2,190-ton ship, second of the Skate class nuclear sub to be commissioned, will be stationed at Pearl Harbor. The sub is commanded by Cmdr. Shannon D. Cramer of Washington, D. C.

Three hundred members and friends at First Methodist Church honored the Rev. Paul T. Hart at a bon voyage party Sunday. The Rev. Hart will spend the summer in Japan forming the nucleus of a new church.

On behalf of the Japan Mission Committee Dale Olsen, chairman, presented the minister with a travel clock, along with traveler's checks. Mrs. Hart looks on.

Honored at Bon Voyage Party

City Minister to Go to Japan

A Japanese setting greeted three hundred members of the First Methodist Church and friends of the Rev. Paul T. Hart at a bon voyage party given Sunday in his honor. The affair was held in the church parlors from 4 to 6 p. m. to permit the presence of the children, as well as adults.

The Rev. Hart is leaving to spend the summer in Japan near Tokyo to establish a new church. He will fly to Seattle, Wash. Sunday and then journey on to Anchorage, Alaska for an orientation session with other ministers. While in Anchorage he will visit the Rev. Theodore Townsend, Methodist minister from Michigan, who is pastor of the First Methodist Church at Anchorage.

On July 12 Rev. Hart will preach a sermon in Tokyo through an interpreter. From there a young Japanese minister will accompany him and the interpreter to a nearby locality where work on the new church will begin.

Rev. Hart will live in Japanese homes and work with the Japanese minister through July and August, returning to the states on Sept. 3, leaving the new church in the hands of the Oriental minister. First Methodist Church in Pontiac will support the church for one year.

All departments of the church had a part in contributing toward the minister's mission to Japan. The Beginner Department of the church school made colorful picture cards and mailed them to Japan. The Primary Department made picture prayer books and cardboard covered books with Bible stories and pictures. Pen pals have been established by the Junior Department. Also mailed to Tokyo were maps, pictures, and stories of Pontiac for the Rev. Hart to distribute upon his arrival, including information about our board of education, schools, city management, industry, and library.

Included in the work of the Japanese Mission Committee has been the organization of special prayer groups.

Organizing the project were Dale Olsen, Japanese Mission Committee chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dunstan, prayer groups and financial backing; Benjamin Church, industry materials sent to Japan; John Grieson, city material; Mrs. Paul Kratt, coordinating material from young and old; Mrs. Robert Alton and Mrs. Clayton Rule, bon voyage party; David Pursley and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Legge, publicity.

Judith Dickstein was maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Karen Barling, and Susan Ross was junior bridesmaid. Husband Trying to Help You

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening my husband and I and another couple went to the theater. I had on a thin summer dress and wore no coat as the evening was quite warm. The theater, however, was air-conditioned and our seats must have been right near one of the air vents as it was very cold. I thought it would warm up after awhile but it seemed to be getting colder and I could hardly keep my teeth from chattering.

"After a while my husband removed his jacket and put it over my shoulders. He was criticized for this and was told that it was very improper to sit in the theater in his shirt sleeves. Was this such a terrible breach of etiquette?"

Answer: It is improper to sit in a theater in one's shirt sleeves, but as your husband's doing so was very obviously because of his praiseworthy concern in your comfort, I do not think he should have been criticized.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I live on the fifth floor of a large apartment house. When friends come to visit me in the evening, is it necessary to walk out to the elevator with them when they leave and wait until it arrives?"

Answer: It is better to see departing guests into the elevator, but this is not necessary, especially if it means your leaving other guests alone.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a person mentions that someone in his family is ill, is it proper to inquire as to the nature of the sickness?"

Answer: You rather naturally say, "I hope it is nothing serious." To this he, or she, either answers, "Oh no" and goes no further, or tells as much as he, or she, feels inclined.

"Dear Mrs. Post: If a group of young women go to a night-club for dinner and stay to see the show, is it proper for them to wear hats or do they go without them?"

Answer: If they are wearing daytime dresses they may wear hats or not as they prefer, with evening dresses, no hats should be worn.

Get Him to a Doctor . . . Abby

Husband Has 'Check Up' Fever

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm afraid there is something wrong with my husband. He thinks everybody is trying to put something over on him. He holds up traffic on a toll bridge counting his change three and four times and you know those boys never try to cheat you. He makes everybody give him a receipt for as little as a dime.

ABBY

He spends hours adding up his bills looking for an error (he has never found any) and his suspicious nature is driving me crazy. He never was like this, Abby. It all started about a year ago. Is there anything I can do about it?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Get your husband to a doctor! When a person begins to imagine that everyone is trying to "put something over on him"—eventually someone does. A butterfly net.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Can a person be in love with two people at the same time? I think I am. I am 20 years old, Abby, and am considered a smart girl, but this has me baffled. I fell in love with Bob No. One during my freshman year at college. Last summer I met Bob No. Two, and we fell in love with each other at first sight.

I still love Bob No. One when I am with him, but the minute I see Bob No. Two I feel that I love him, also. Each wants me to stop seeing the other but I can't make up my mind which Bob I love more. I think I love them both. Is this possible?

IN LOVE WITH TWO BOBS

DEAR IN: You've got Bob fever. Don't call this "love" and don't make any permanent decisions now. There are lots of Bobs you haven't met yet.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a decent wife and mother but my sister's husband makes passes at me like I was a stray dog or something. I have told him to cut it out, but I never made a scene because I want to keep down trouble. Must I tell my sister or my husband or should I crack his head open for him?

A LADY

DEAR LADY: If your brother-in-law insists on ignoring your warnings—tell your husband.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 3 years old and is left-handed. My husband contends that a left-handed person is handicapped living in a right-handed world. He is overly concerned about this situation and thinks we should try to train her to use her right hand exclusively. I feel that by attempting such a thing we might make her nervous and create other problems—such as stuttering. She is a happy and well-adjusted child. I say leave well enough alone.

RIGHT-HANDED

DEAR RIGHT: I agree with you.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO J. L.: It is better to love a short man than never to have loved a tall one. Reconsider.

It's a Big Job

Just Try to Please Everyone

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Most housewives must feel that the thing people do the most of — is eat! Their families devour everything in sight like locusts. They barely finish one meal before the woman in the house has to rustle up something for the next one. This is especially true if she is feeding not only her husband but also her children.

If a woman plans three meals a day for the 365 days in the year, she will have thought up 1,095 menus. Of course it really isn't quite this much because you have to figure on meals eaten away from home. Then, too, breakfast doesn't test the old brain or the imagination because most folks have their favorite morning meal and eat the same things over and over again at that time.

However, if you count only two meals a day the average woman plans around 700 meals a year. For this reason it is easy to see why she may procrastinate about planning a special diet for herself in order to lose weight. One of the VERY best rests a housewife can have is a vacation from meal planning — ANY type of meals, for ANYONE!

The whole thing becomes very complex in her mind. This is even truer if she is interested in nutrition, in feeding her family scientifically as well as pleasantly. It seems hopeless. Her husband requires more food than she does because of his greater stature.

The children need food to grow on and if she eats too many calories these grow on her in the wrong places. But a woman does not have to plan special meals for herself in order to lose weight.

In the first place she should plan her menus from the standpoint of good nutrition. That should be the first consideration. Most of you know what foods this includes.

BUT — she can take smaller helpings. She can substitute fresh fruit for dessert. She can drink skim milk or powdered fat free milk instead of whole milk. She can cut the fat off of her meat and forget the gravy. She can go very light on bread and butter.

She can make her own salad dressing with tomato juice as a base, seasoned with onions, garlic or herbs. She can eat no fried foods for the duration of her dieting. She must have no inbetween-snacks. She can use very little butter on her vegetables. These should be removed from the pot before she seasons the family's.

With these simple rules you can feed your family as usual and use practically the same menus. It would be wise, however, to check on yourself by counting calories.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have some readymade menus along this line send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my "Mr. and Mrs. Diet" leaflet No. 44. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Mother Cannot Play Role of Both Parents

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

They sat at a table in the big expensive roadhouse on the outskirts of one of our most expensive exurbs. The father might have been a rising young TV or advertising executive. The mother, in her trickily simple red linen sheath, was slim as a high fashion model and wore the same look of bored disdain.

But when she turned that look on the exurberant little boy beside her who wanted more black olives, it had no effect at all. When she removed the relish dish, saying, "No, you've had enough," he reached over to his sister's plate and grabbed her olives.

In her cool, overcontrolled voice, his mother said, "Stuart, you heard what I said. Give the olives back to Melinda."

He shoved them into his mouth.

I thought, "Oh, young mother, why don't you open that carefuly lipsticked mouth of yours and cry to your husband: "Bill, help me! Sit on Stuart! Subdue him! I'm so fashionably thin that my sitting on him makes no impression. Indeed, Bill, I only seem to be sophisticated, self-sufficient, certain of all the answers—and am really unable to father our children for you. Squash Stuart, dear Bill, and I'll never quote Doctor Spock or Gesell to you again, so help me!"

She didn't say this, of course. So what happened was family surrender. The bright young executive father, at a nod of decision from his wife, untied the napkin from Stuart's neck. Slipping a bill to the bewildered waiter, he meekly followed wife and children to their parked car and home where Stuart, I can only presume, was served more olives.

I don't know how we women got stuck with this awful obligation to appear so independent, so self-assured, so superior to any need for husbandly strength and cooperation in the discipline of children.

How we got stuck with it doesn't matter if we could just register our resentment of it. We seem unable to. We just brood, smoke and drink too much, get headaches and divorces imagining we're mad at everything but the one thing that really gripes us—the obligation to play father to our husband's children.

So, fooled by our front of self-sufficiency, our men have got to feeling uncertain, insufficient. Joining us in parental surrender, they leap to our nod of decision—and follow us obediently out of the restaurant instead of staying there, helping to quell Stuart and enjoying a fine roast beef dinner.

Nice Old Lady May Be Perkier Than You

By RUTH MILETT

Like a lot of other readers I got a kick out of the headline "Granny Breaks Sound Barrier" over the story of a 71-year-old great-grandmother who got a chance to ride in a Super Sabre Jet that twice during her ride exceeded the speed of sound.

This flying great-grandmother, Mrs. Zaddie Bunker, may have been the first great-grandmother to break the age barrier — the one that used to relegate women in their 70s and 80s to the role of "sweet little old ladies."

The sweet little old ladies have rebelled by the thousands against the old rockin' chair. And though most of them haven't swapped it for a flying machine, many of them have swapped it for lives that would have been pretty daring even a few years ago.

They don't move in with relatives any more if they can help it, but maintain and run their own homes. They drive their own cars, too; many of them thinking nothing of taking off alone or a cross-country trip.

They keep up an active social life, going to parties and having parties often enough so that nobody needs to think they've retired from the social swim.

They choose their clothes with care, and they go in for gay becoming colors instead of the black togs that little old ladies used to wear.

Their hairdoes are pert and becoming and their grooming makes many a younger woman look downright careless.

Some of them hold down jobs or are self-employed in such occupations as baby-sitting, catering or sewing.

They manage their own money, look after their business affairs and have a keen interest in what is going on in the world about them.

★ ★ ★

They've successfully broken the age barrier and if you ever refer to one of them as a "nice old lady," youd better smile.

Bigger Babies All the Time

GARDNER, Ill. (AP) — Babies are getting bigger all the time.

This word comes from a manufacturer who has been making baby clothes here for almost 40 years. Before World War I clothes for new babies looked like doll clothes. Now these standard items are almost twice as big.

Then one yard of fabric could be cut into three baby gowns or kimonas. Today it takes two yards.

Today's sizes one to three, says the manufacturer, are comparable to sizes two to four of 40 years ago.

Dates, Chocolate Chips Enrich Torte Squares

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

You've heard of date torte, also of chocolate chip cookies. Our recipe today combines the two ingredients to make a rich torte that should be good to serve with cool drinks.

Mrs. Chester Olson shares this recipe with us. She claims to be a stay-at-homer person. Occasionally she has a part time job. The Olsons enjoy working in their yard.

U. S., Canadian Seaway Stamps Are Rare Twins

WASHINGTON (AP) — A unique item for stamp collectors went into general circulation Saturday—The St. Lawrence Seaway twins issued simultaneously by the United States and Canada.

The seaway stamps, which had their first day sales at Massena, N.Y., and Ottawa Friday while the seaway was being dedicated, mark the first time the United States has joined with another country in issuing an identical design.

The new U.S. stamp became available to the public at American post offices Saturday. The same is true of the Canadian issue in Dominion offices.

The U.S. issue consists of 120 million stamps. Experts estimated that perhaps 30 million of these will quickly disappear into the albums of the nation's estimated 20 million stamp collectors. The Canadian issue consists of 40 million stamps.

Joint stamp designs are rare. The last was in 1956 when the Europa stamp was issued in virtually identical designs by Italy, France, Luxembourg, Germany, the Netherlands and Belgium to signal their cooperation.

Institute Told U. S. Pays $12 Billion Year to Aged

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The federal government is distributing more than 12 billion dollars a year in benefits and services for older people.

This report came from Bertha S. Adkins, under secretary of health, education and welfare, in a speech Thursday before the National Leadership Training Institute.

The government's chief expenditure for the aged, the under secretary said, is in Social Security benefits.

"The President and congress believe," she said, "that while the primary responsibility for meeting the challenges and problems of aging is that of the states and communities and of the individuals themselves, the federal government should work jointly with the states and their citizens to develop recommendations and plans for action."

She urged states and communities to conduct conferences to give opinions before the White House Conference on Aging meets in January, 1961.

Dr. Charles J. Tupper, of the University of Michigan Medical School, told the institute that today's most important need in providing medical care for older persons is to produce more doctors.

"We now have 83 medical schools graduating 7,000 physicians a year," he said. "By 1970 we will need 4,000 additional physicians each year.

Dean Fedele F. Fauri of Michigan's School of Social Work declared that the elderly group now constitutes the most politically effective group in the nation, outside the farm bloc.

Officials to Discuss Waterford's Growth

A joint meeting of the Waterford Township Board, the Zoning Board and a representative of the Oakland County Planning Commission, George Scrubbs, has been set for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Township Hall.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss present and future planning in Waterford Township's rapid population growth, and to get together on zoning problems, said Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

The changes are effective July 1.

Zsa Zsa Sues Shop Over Use of Her Name

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The name "Zsa Zsa's" shall not gleam in electric lights over a Hollywood Boulevard dress shop—for a while, at least.

Actress Zsa Zsa Gabor recently filed a $200,000 damage suit alleging the sign was put up to make the public think she had something to do with the management.

A judge Friday issued a preliminary injunction ordering the sign down pending trial. A lawyer for the store argued unsuccessfully that it has an employee known as Zsa Zsa who has given permission for use of her name.

Sen. Blondy Hits Additives for Sausages

LANSING (AP) Sen. Charles S. Blondy (D-Detroit) says "additives may be all right for gasoline but not for sausage."

Blondy spoke out yesterday against a bill sought by sausage makers who want to use bacterial "starters" of the lactic acid group to speed the curing process.

A year ago, the Legislature gave its consent to use of ascorbic acid in meat products to preserve the attractiveness of their appearance after hours in a show case.

"It's time the housewives got more meat in sausage and less adulterants," Blondy said. He failed to slow progress of the bill which was advanced for a passage vote next week.

Michigan School Plan

LANSING (AP)—A three-man team of top national educators will spend two weeks in Michigan next fall evaluating the program of the Michigan Education Assn.

J. Dale Kennedy, MEA executive secretary, said the valuation should improve staff activity and help to specialize services provided to the association's 55,000 members.

Eight Kids Go to a Prom

Crash! . . . 'And Then There Was One'

(Editor's Note—Soon Americans will celebrate the Fourth of July and as usual police and undertakers will be busy. Can Americans be told anything they haven't read or thought before about highway safety? We think they can. We think this story does.)

By SAUL PETT
Associated Press Newsfeatures Writer

SHELBYVILLE, Ill.—A train smashed into a carload of eight young people near Mattoon early today (May 16), killing seven and critically injuring the eighth.

The youngsters had been to a prom at Shelbyville High School last night. The dead were identified as . . .

His blue suit was new and his green 1956 Chevy shone like new. Ivan Moon was proud of his car and always kept his tires up. That afternoon he had washed it and polished it and vacuumed it and filled the gas tank. At 22, there is soul satisfaction in dressing up your car for a big Friday evening and telling the man, "fill it up."

He backed out of the Moon place, a small farm and saw mill operation two miles north of Shelbyville, and drove up the country road. It was a clear night, cool for May, and the windows of a car could easily mist up.

Ivan drove past the home of his friend, Jerry Hill, just 200 yards from the Moons, and headed for Dorothy Thomas' house, a mile up. All three houses were on the same road and the same party line—one long, three shorts for the Moons; one short, two longs for Jerry; four shorts for Dorothy.

And boys being boys and girls being girls, it was beginning to look like the three houses would be linked for a long time by more than a country road or telephone line.

Ivan dated Dorothy, and Jerry dated Ivan's younger sister, Irene. They double-dated frequently. They went cat-fishing together and bowling together and sat in drive-ins together. The boys took turns with their cars. Last Sunday they drove to Ramsay Lake in Jerry's car. Tonight, prom night, it was Ivan's turn.

RING FOR IRENE

Jerry had just bought a ring for Irene. But she was only '16, just finishing her junior year in high school, and Mrs. Moon said she couldn't accept the ring unless she told Jerry it would be a long engagement. Irene hadn't told him yet. That is where their romance stood on the night of Friday, May 15, 1959.

Ivan and Dorothy were much farther along. She was 18 and graduating in 12 days. She had been wearing his diamond a year and it wouldn't be long now. Ivan had a steady job as a mechanic in a farm equipment store in Bethany. Things looked good. Ivan expected they would be married before the end of the summer.

Ivan turned off the road toward the new frame house where Dorothy lived with her aunt and uncle, Betty and Bob Agney. She had come to live with them when she was six, when her parents separated, at a time when the Agneys had no children of their own. Since then, the Agneys had had children of their own. But that made no difference. Dorothy was the first child in their house. She was still something special.

★ ★ ★

As Ivan turned in, little Brad Agney, aged 3, was waiting with the usual shakedown. "Gum," he said. Ivan gave him gum and was allowed entrance.

Contrary to all the natural laws of womankind, Dorothy was ready. Her dark hair was short in a poodle cut. She wore a new, pale yellow, ballerina-length formal, which was heavily ruffled and spread wide over an inner skirt containing 75 yards of material. Ivan seemed to approve of what he saw.

As they left, Mrs. Agney asked that they return with Irene and Jerry so she could see "how everyone looks." They promised, and headed back to the Moons.

THEN THERE WERE TWO

At Jerry Hill's house, things were jumping. He had been talking about nothing but the prom for more than a week. Now, at last, he came downstairs, a slender, slightly short boy, scrubbed and glistening in his new blue suit.

The week before, he had turned 19 and got, from his mother and brothers, a back-seat radio speaker for his car. Tonight, a man of substance, who held a steady job as daytime manager of Broverman's Pool Hall opposite the fire house in Shelbyville, Jerry Hill was taking his girl to the prom.

It was to be a big night, and there was no particular point in recalling that 11 year ago tomorrow—very early tomorrow—his father was killed in an auto accident.

Ordinarily, Jerry was very affectionate with his mother. He'd hug her and she'd say, "Jerry, save that for Irene," and he'd say, "I'm just rehearsing, Mom."

PASSES INSPECTION

Tonight, Jerry didn't hug his mother because the tiny living room was full of women enjoying ice cream and cookies at a "Stanley Products Party." The ladies were gathered for a demonstration of the new line of dust mops, furniture polishes, brooms and other household gadgets.

Jerry contented himself with the one question, "Do I pass inspection?" The assembled ladies agreed he did, and he left for Irene's on foot.

As usual, his tired, black, old cocker spaniel, Mitzi, followed him over. Mitzi always waited at Irene's house until Jerry brought her home from a date.

At the Moons' house, a small square frame building with TV but no inside plumbing, the walls throbbed with excited chatter.

GIRLS EXCITED

Jerry and Ivan gave the girls their wrist corsages of white carnations. The girls babled. The flowers, they said, would look divine around the boys' shoulders as they danced. They were so excited they couldn't cut the lapel holes in the boys' new suits where each would wear his carnation. Mrs. Moon cut the holes.

Nobody was more excited than Irene Moon. A pretty blond girl, she sparkled in a new white floor-length formal. She wore low heels so she wouldn't be taller than Jerry. Besides, it would be easier to dance and Irene just loved dancing.

After dancing, her greatest love was horses. She had her own brown riding horse, named Dinah, in the pasture outside. Every day that Irene returned from school, Dinah waited at the corner of the pasture nearest the road for the school bus.

Irene was a fine student and had just made the National Honor Society. On Monday, she was to be initiated. Her special forte was math, a fact duly noted by classmates wishing "best of luck, to a great Algebra brain," in her yearbook. Irene kept the books on the family farm and handled all the correspondence.

MOM SNAPS PICTURES

At long last, everyone was ready. Mrs. Moon took their pictures outside the house with a flash box camera. Mrs. Moon told them to be home by one. Irene protested, "Oh, Mom, we want to go somewhere and eat afterward." Mrs. Moon said one would be fine.

★ ★ ★

No one felt it necessary to remind Ivan to drive carefully. Neither he nor Jerry drank. And it wasn't difficult for Ivan to recall that three years and three months ago his older, married sister was killed in an auto accident. At the filling stations around town, they'd tell you Ivan Moon was no hot-rodder; in pulling out, he didn't gun his car.

It was now about 8. The dance started at 9 but the girls wanted to be there early to take pictures of friends. Everyone got into the car.

. . . THEN THERE WERE FOUR

They drove back up the country road to the Agneys and were duly admired and photographed again. Ivan said, "We better get going. With all those ruffles, it'll take a half hour just to get Dorothy into the car."

Everyone laughed. Have a good time, the Agneys said. The two couples left, headed for Shelbyville.

Shelbyville is a farming town of 4,600, a quiet town a bit too busy to be called sleepy and too serene to be called bustling. Main Street is wide and clean. The county courthouse steps are broad and roomy enough for men in baseball caps and dusty jeans to gather and converse or just watch the traffic or the day. And, across from the courthouse, inevitably, in a little fenced off triangle, stands a monument to the war dead.

The town has two industries to speak of. One makes hay balers. The other makes hairpins. Other than that, Shelbyville exists for the surrounding corn and soybean farmers. They come in on Friday nights and, while the women shop, the men mostly stand around or have a beer.

FEW CHANGES IN TOWN

The town is about 120 years old and clings proudly to its historical footnote: Abe Lincoln once rode over here from Springfield to debate a judge. It has changed little. The population remains fairly constant.

It has little racial mixture and few stresses. Most families have been here three or four generations and, as one man says, "They've kinda lost track of where people came from."

And a little after 8, on the night of May 15, while Ivan Moon and his group were driving in from the north, Lyle Pfeiffer was about ready to drive in from the west.

Most boys who go formal to the Shelbyville High prom rent their white jacket, black tie, shirt, studs, cuff links, cummerbund and black pants from Richardson's Clothing Store, on Main Street, for $9.75.

But not Lyle Pfeiffer and his friend, Jerry Hayes. They were college men. They had brought their formal clothes down with them from Champaign, where they were freshmen, fraternity brothers and roommates at the University of Illinois. Lyle was 18; Jerry, 19.

Both were handsome, cleancut, excellent students. Lyle had a college scholarship. In high school, he was president of his chapter of the Future Farmers of America. In his high school, at Woodlawn, Ill., 100 miles south, Jerry had been valedictorian and active in the 4-H Club.

"THIS PLACE BEST"

Jerry was now studying veterinary medicine; Lyle, dairy technique. Lyle planned, after graduation, to return to his father's 130 acres; he frequently said, "This place looks best to me of any I've seen."

Because his own home was so far, Jerry Hayes often spent weekends at Lyle's home. The Pfeiffers had grown fond of their son's friend and began to regard him as one of the family.

But one may reasonably suspect that Lorraine Pfeiffer's feeling toward Jerry Hayes wasn't exactly familial. He was attractive, intelligent, attentive. And he was a college man and 19. Lorraine, who still lived at home and helped her dad milk the cows at 5 a.m., was only a junior in high school and 17.

And now, on a clear beautiful night filled with stars and the whispers of May, Jerry was taking her to the prom. They were double-dating with her brother, Lyle, and his girl, Judy Keen.

The pre-dance excitement was such that Lorraine didn't want to be home where the boys might see her getting ready. So she spent the afternoon at Judy's—an afternoon of girl talk and girl preparations.

★ ★ ★

At the Pfeiffer farm, Lyle and Jerry got into the Pfeiffer family car, a 1948 Chevy. And Walter Pfeiffer, a tall, gaunt farmer with weathered face and eyes reddened by dust and sun, quietly told his son:

"Remember, the Chevy's bearing is shot. Better not drive her to Decatur or any place that far after the dance."

The emphasis was on the durability of the car. Walter Pfeiffer had no particular reason to remind his son to drive carefully; the boy was level-headed.

About 8:30, Lyle Pfeiffer and Jerry Hayes arrived at Judy Keen's small frame house in Shelbyville. They came in on the tail-end of a party. This day, May 15, 1959, was Judy's 18th birthday. Tonight she was going to the prom. In 12 days, she would graduate high school. A girl couldn't ask for more momentous events.

For her birthday this attractive blonde girl had asked for and received from her parents a combination birthday-graduation gift—an extra fine, extra expensive white graduation dress. Came her birthday, and her parents added several blouses.

The girls were now ready. They should have been, they had been getting ready all afternoon with the help of Mrs. Keen, who did their hair. Melvin Keen, superintendent of a road construction company, took pictures of his daughter and her friends.

He took pictures of them eating slices of Judy's birthday cake. He took pictures of the girls in their new dresses and wrist corsages—roses for Judy, carnations for Lorraine. He took pictures of the girls pinning on the boys' boutonnieres.

HOME BY 2:30

The Pfeiffers had left it up to the Keens to decide when the couples should return that night. Now Melvin Keen told them:

"It's okay if you want to go out and eat afterward as long as you tell me when you'll be back."

They said they'd get home by 2:30. Melvin Keen was content with that; Lyle always got Judy home when he said he would.

And they left for the prom in the Pfeiffer car.

ALL ARE DANCING

Only every fourth number approached rock 'n roll and they were mild versions. In Shelbyville, the girls can dance fast but many of the country boys are too heavy-footed for the speedy stuff.

Ivan Moon and his group entered the gym and took more pictures and then went to their table. Lyle Pfeiffer and his group arrived later and went to their table. And soon they were all dancing.

The gym had a Mardi Gras decor that night—gay carnival scenes, clowns, smiling masked faces painted on paper on the end walls, the ceiling girders draped in bright bunting and, under the west basket, the throne awaiting the coronation of the student King and Queen.

Card tables ringed the shiny gym floor, four students to a table, $1 admission per table. Each table had a bowl of mints and a little paper mache centerpiece—a carnival hat. There were also tables for teachers, school board members, the principal, the superintendent, the sheriff and their ladies.

GIRLS SPARKLE

Refreshments consisted of punch and cookies baked by the girls. All told, the prom cost $500. Part of the cost was met by the $1 table charge. The rest came out of the class fund, and the class fund came from the earnings of students who went out the previous autumn to help farmers pick up the corn missed by the mechanical pickers at the ends of the long rows.

At intermission, the dancers retired to their tables to watch a sophomore on the Hawaiian guitar, a girl play the piano, another girl vocalize.

The dancing resumed.

Before it became a cliche, someone in higher authority should have pulled the word, "radiant," out of the English language and reserved it for high school girls at a prom. The girls that night were radiant; the boys, handsome. Mrs. Keen, in the balcony, noticed it. Particularly she noticed it in Judy Keen. She could see Judy but Judy couldn't see her mother in the shadowed balcony.

It was now 11:05.

At 11:05, an Illinois Central train called the "Louisiane," southbound from Chicago to New Orleans, was near Champaign, 73 miles northeast. The train was running about 17 minutes late. It was late leaving Chicago and farther down the line there were mail-handling and passenger delays, nothing serious.

At 11:05, in the gym in Shelbyville, the prom reached its traditional climax.

A little girl walked down the floor, carrying a crown. She dropped it, recovered, proceeded to the throne. Then came the royal attendants, four student couples. Then came the King and Queen to be crowned while the orchestra played "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody." (The band didn't have a tune for the kind.)

Then the King danced with the Queen and the royal attendants danced and soon they were followed onto the floor by 200 others. For most kids this was the end of the prom and this was the last dance. The song was, "Moments To Remember."

It was now 11:15.

Like the vast majority of others, Judy Keen and her friends were leaving. From the shadowed balcony, her mother could see her leaving.

★ ★ ★

Some time then or before, Lyle Pfeiffer and his group decided to merge with Ivan Moon and his group. Why? One can only guess. Judy Keen and Dorothy Thomas were best friends. They could have been the catalytic agents who brought the two groups together. Besides, the Pfeiffer car had a hearing shot. Ivan Moon's car was in good shape, as always.

And they left together and crowded into Ivan's car.

THEN THERE WERE EIGHT

They drove the 27 miles to Mattoon in about 30 minutes. The speed was not unusual. The road was straight, flat, uncrowded. The speed limit was 65 by day, 60 by night.

It was now 11:45.

In Mattoon, Ivan Moon pulled his sparkling Chevy up to "Gill's Drive In . . . Serving Selected Foods With A Devotion to Quality."

From their formals, the attendants could see the kids had been to a prom. From their gay, busy chatter, they could see they were having fun, but ere not drinking.

They ordered hamburgers and giant root beers.

They were served within five minutes.

They left soon after, eight in the car, four in the front seat, four in the back. A girl sat on a lap in the front seat, to Ivan Moons right.

They may have taken the food with them. It is known that some of the kids took the root beer with them. In any case, they ordered, ate and left in a hurry.

They had to hurry. They had only a few minutes left.

NORTH TO NOWHERE

Home and Shelbyville lay due west. Ivan Moon drove north. Why? We don't yet know.

Ivan Moon and his chattering passengers drove north, on a dark black-top road.

In less than a mile, the road began to parallel the Illinois Central tracks.

In less than 100 feet, it rose over an unguarded railroad crossing.

At 12:05, the Louisiane Express roared down at 75 miles an hour and smashed into Ivan Moon and his friends.

In one second of sickening motion and furious sound, seven kids became part of a national statistic.

Irene Moon and Jerry Hill and Judy Keen and Lyle Pfeiffer and Lorraine Pfeiffer and Jerry Hayes and Dorothy Thomas were dead—an obscure fraction of the 37,000 killed every year in auto accidents.

CORSAGES AND DEATH

The train hit Ivan Moon's car toward the right rear. It threw the car forward and to the right, like a sliced golf shot. It sheered off the roof and cut the chassis almost in two and stopped the clock on the dashboard and scattered metal and glass and upholstery and corsages and root beer containers and clothes and eight human beings in the soot stained weeds along the tracks.

How did this accident happen? Was it the crowded car and the blocked vision, the noise, the misted up windows, the distractlights of a busy highway paralleling the railroad on the far side?

In Shelbyville, they will be asking these questions through an eternity of pain.

In Shelbyville, Sunday, Jerry Hill's dog was still waiting.

Monday, Irene's horse met the school bus as usual.

Monday, the day she was to be installed in the National Honor Society, Irene Moon was buried.

★ ★ ★

Monday, nine days before graduation, Judy Keen was buried in her graduation dress, next to her best friend, Dorothy Thomas.

Lyle Pfeiffer and his sister, Lorraine, were buried outside Shelbyville. Lyle's college roommate, Jerry Hayes, was buried in Woodlawn. The delegation from their fraternity had to split into two groups to attend the funerals.

Jerry Hill was buried in his new blue suit.

AND THEN THERE WAS ONE . . .

Ivan Moon.

Ivan Moon, the driver, lived.

Ivan Moon lay in the hospital with a skull fracture and other injuries.

For a week, he kept asking his mother, "Momma, what happened?" She said, "You were hurt, Ivan. Don't you remember?"

He didn't remember.

After a week, his minister and doctor told him what had happened. For a moment, his eyes widened, then quickly clouded over again in a dull glaze.

★ ★ ★

The doctor called it "conversion hysteria." The doctor said he had developed an amnesia for the accident. The doctor said maybe a psychiatrist could help him remember.

And, if the doctors can help him remember the night his girl, his sister, and his friends were killed in his car, how will Ivan Moon then forget? And when? And where?

'To Judy, on Her 18th Birthday . . .'

West Germans Still Plan Election Despite Threats

BERLIN (AP) — West Germany pushed ahead today with plans for a presidential election in isolated Berlin despite Soviet warnings such a move will be viewed as a provocative act.

Officials remained alert as Communist East German officials said they would look on the election 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain with "great seriousness." But there was no expectation of any real trouble when the Electoral College meets Wednesday.

The U. S. State Department brushed aside Soviet notes to the Western Big Three protesting the holding of the election in West Berlin. Officials in Washington termed the notes a new effort to meddle in Germany's internal affairs.

The Soviet note to the United States said the Soviet Union considered holding the elections in Berlin "a new attempt to use the current abnormal situation in the city in order to inflame even more the situation in Germany."

State Department press officer Lincoln White said the decision to hold the election in Berlin "merely represents a continuation of a tradition begun with the presidential election in Berlin in July 1954." That election was held in Berlin without Red protest.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko declared in Moscow that holding the election in Berlin was another example of an effort to create tension.

The Soviet Union and East Germany insist West Berlin is a part of East Germany. The State Department holds that the Red-girdled city is "held in trust by the principal Allied powers as the capital of a reunited Germany."

The 1,038-member Electoral College will choose a successor to 75-year-old President Theodor Heuss, who is ineligible to run for a third five-year term. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is backing Henrich Luebke, agriculture minister in his government and a member of his Christian Democratic party. He is opposed to Carlo Schmidt, Socialist, and Max Becker, free Democrat.

The Western Allies and the Soviets meanwhile continued preparations to resume the foreign ministers conference on Berlin July 13.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd was expected to contact the U. S., French and West German foreign ministers this week on a British plan to redraft Western proposals on Berlin in an attempt to break the East-West deadlock and pave the way for a summit meeting.

Must Revamp Schools, Says Education Leader

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Man has learned so much in the past 10 years that scholars are finding it hard to keep pace, a leading educator comments.

"The accumulation of knowledge in the past decade is simply staggering," said Dr. T. M. Stinnett, executive secretary of the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards. "I' means we must revamp" our teacher training program all up and down the line."

★ ★ ★

"We have to eliminate the obsolete material, we must find new and better ways of teaching," he said in an interview. "We must find means of helping the teacher to do a better job."

It was those very goals that brought nearly 1,100 educators and scholars here for a four-day conference on teacher education sponsored by the commission. The conference ended Friday night when 34 separate study groups submitted recommendations.

Details won't be known for several months, not until the long reports have been put together into a sort of master document. This will be circulated to various State Departments of Education, teachers college, etc.

However, a spot check of some of the papers showed near unanimous agreement on one major point: the teacher of the future should have at least five years of college preparation.

"That five years is a certainty," Stinnett said. "There is just too much for a student to cover in the normal four years."

Delegates also agreed that a course in foreign languages is a must for future teachers; that there should be more cooperation between the colleges of liberal arts and education; that students should have a solid foundation in the humanities; and that teachers especially need a better background in English.

When the present modern calendar was adopted, Wednesday, Sept. 2, 1752, was followed one day later by Thursday, Sept. 14.

In 1896 there were only four automobiles, generally known as "horseless carriages," in the entire United States.

Governor Fears the Fourth

Pleads for Water Safety

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams and the State Police today made strong pleas for water safety over the Fourth of July.

Williams proclaimed June 28-July 5 as "Water Safety and Safe Boating Week."

The State Police said if good weather prevails, water fronts and beaches will probably get their heaviest crowds of the season, and urged recreationists to "emphasize safety."

There have been 72 persons drowned and 43 injured in 100 water accidents reported so far this year, police said.

"There is great need for increased public interest in water safety, stricter observance of our water safety laws, broader cooperation with enforcement activities and greater citizen participation in safety programs," Williams said.

"This will assure that enjoyment of our beautiful natural resources does not cause discomfort, injury or death to others," Williams said.

Police said the 72 drownings this year included 10 boat operators, nine boat passengers, one skin diver, one water skier, 11 swimmers, six children who wandered into water and seven youngsters who fell from docks, banks or other objects into water.

★ ★ ★

"Persons involved in boating accidents are now required by law to report them to the nearest police agency if there has been death or injury or property damage exceeding $50," police said.

The other water deaths this year included:

Ten suicides, one who fell off a ship while working on it, two found dead in a submerged automobile, three persons who fell from bridges, two who rolled into ditches after drinking and falling asleep, two persons who fell through the ice, one man trapped in a caisson on a construction job, one who fell from a dock and another from a river bank, and four unidentified who were found floating.

Freeze Asked on Raising State Teacher Standards

LANSING (AP)—A proposal for a one-year suspension of planned upgrading of minimum requirements for the initial special certificate for teaching will be given a hearing by the State Board of Education here July 7.

The State Department of Public Instruction said the proposal would hold the minimum for the coming school year at the 75 semester hours of college credit required in 1958-59.

Under the certification code, minimums for 1959-60 are scheduled to be raised to 90 semester hours in some schools and 120 hours in others.

PROPOSED XWAY ROUTE — This is the State Highway Department's map showing the proposed location of the southern portion of the Oakland County Expressway, running between Pontiac and Detroit. Double dotted lines indicate the expressway route, while the empty circles mark where bridges are planned. Circles with X's in them indicate proposed interchanges. The first section of the $50,000,000 federal aid highway is scheduled to be under contract at the end of 1961. This is the portion between M24, northeast of Pontiac, and 11½ Mile road. The 3½-mile section between 11½-Mile road and Eight-Mile road has no construction date yet. A public hearing on route location is scheduled for 2 p.m. July 9 in Royal Oak's Dondero High School. The four-lane, limited access highway is scheduled to become part of the national interstate highway system, connecting Detroit, Pontiac and Flint with expressways into northern Michigan.

Offer Vivien Leigh Role of Empress in 'Hellraisers'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD—At a meeting between Buddy Adler and Jerry Wald it was decided to go all out to try to get Vivien Leigh to play the dowager empress Tz'u Hsi of China in "The Hellraisers," a $5,000,00 spectacle of the Boxer Rebellion. The empress of the Ching dynasty was one of the fabulous character of history. She forced all the missionaries out of China.

"Hellraisers," a story by Barre Lydon, deals with the contingent of U. S. Marines who, with the Welch Fusileers, held off the hordes of the foreign-hating empress in Peking for 100 days.

France Nuyen, who owes 20th a picture, will play one of the important concubines of the court. She will be out of "The World of Suzy Wong" by the time "Hellraisers" goes before the cameras.

You can't compile any list of promising young star and exclude Dennis Hopper. He practically stole the show in "Young Land."

Maxwell Again Is Tiger Sunday Punch

SPORTS

Paw Paw Raps 16th Homer to Help 7-2 Win

Charlie's Puny Average on Weekdays Is .215 but .358 on Sabbath

DETROIT (AP) — Monday through Saturday, Charlie Maxwell is a .215 hitter who makes people wonder why he is even in the lineup.

But come Sunday, the popular slugger from Paw Paw makes people forget those weekday strike-outs with runners on base. Charlie is a regular one-man murderers' row on the Sabbath.

He came up with his customary Sunday punch yesterday and helped the Detroit Tigers to a 7-2 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles. Maxwell delivered a two-run home run into the upper right field seats in the third inning.

The blast came off ex-Detroit high school pitcher Milt Pappas and erased a Baltimore lead.

Of Maxwell's 16 home runs, nine have been hit on Sunday afternoons. He has 48 runs batted in for the year, and 23 of them have been Sunday-produced. His batting average on Sunday is .358.

On all other days, Maxwell's average is a puny .215 and clutch hitting is something he leaves to his teammates.

Of course, neither Maxwell, nor manager Jimmie Dykes, nor anyone else bothers even to attempt an explanation. But Maxwell ventures an opinion that "they might have a seat on the bench for me if I couldn't hit at least one day a week."

Maxwell's hitting and Don Mossi's stout six-hitter enabled the Tigers to gain a split in the series and avenge a two hit shutout Pappas tossed at them the last trip into Baltimore.

The 20-year-old righthander failed to survive six innings in dropping his fourth game in 11 decisions. The Tigers got all their runs off him. Rocky Bridges helping out with three singles and Mossi chipping in with a two-run double that sent Pappas to the showers.

Jack Fisher finished up for the Birds but his teammates never came close to a threat as Mossi yielded only one hit over the final five innings.

A ground rule double by Lou Berberet and Bridges' first single scored one run in the second and Maxwell made it 3-0 with his home run in the third. The Tigers got a gift run in the fifth when Bob Nieman dropped Harvey Kuenn's line drive in left field, and Kuenn came on around on an infield out and a wild pitch.

A walk and two singles preceded Mossi's double in the sixth when Detroit scored three times.

Putter Talks Loudly for Quiet Hunt

Flint Golfer Wins Publinx Title Sunday

Becomes Youngest State Champion at Rochester With 6-5 Victory

By BILL CORNWELL

A quiet, soft-spoken youth from Flint with an authoritative, loud-talking putter—that's Gene Hunt, the new champion of the Michigan Publinx Golf Association for 1959.

The 20-year-old Flint Junior College golfer became the youngest player ever to win the State Publinx crown Sunday afternoon when he methodically crushed Alan Thompson of Pleasant Ridge in the intense heat and humidity at Rochester Country Club.

One-putting seven greens with his trusty wood-shafted blade and shooting three-under-par golf, Hunt seized a 5-up lead at the turn and closed out the match on the 13th hole with a half for a 6-5 triumph over the Scottish-born Thompson.

The 28-year-old Thompson, who came to this country two years ago from Glasgow, failed to win a single hole in the scheduled 18-hole match play final of the 25th annual MPGA tournament.

Thompson's putter, which was largely responsible for carrying him into the final round, failed him completely in the title battle. Starting on the back side, his chipping irons also went sour and the match ended quickly and mercifully.

Hunt had considerably more trouble defeating his semifinal opponent yesterday morning than he did Thompson. He was forced to rally on the back nine for a 1-up victory over veteran John Lock of Dearborn. Thompson, meanwhile, was eliminating Sam Lima of Detroit, 2-1, in his semi-final duel.

This was Hunt's tourney from the beginning. He won the qualifying medal with a four-under-par 68 and continued to eat up the 6,353-yard Rochester layout until the title was in the bag.

With his father Art, a foreman at AC Sparkplug in Flint, doing all his caddy work, Hunt fired 10-under-par golf over the 36-36—72 course for 89 holes of match play spanning six opponents.

Against Thompson, Hunt won the 2nd, 3rd and 4th holes, sinking a 15-foot putt for a birdie deuce on the latter. He boosted his advantage to five holes by winning the 8th and 9th as he one-putted each green. His six-footer for a birdie three won the 11th and they halved out.

Mike Andonian's bid for a 4th consecutive state championship went amiss in Saturday morning's 3rd round when the Pontiac Central school teacher bowed to Ty Caplin of Plymouth, 2-1. Caplin, a Michigan State golfer, was ousted in the afternoon quarter-finals.

FIRST AND SECOND — Ken Venturi (right) of San Francisco and Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., smile at each other as they hold their cups following the Chicago Open yesterday. Venturi won the tourney with a 273 total to retain his crown with Pott carding a 274 for second place.

Wind, Garden Pay Off for Venturi

CHICAGO (AP)—Ken Venturi made one of the oddest parlays in golf pay off for victory in the $57,000 Chicago Open.

★ ★ ★

He credited his garden in Daly City, Calif., a suburb of San Francisco, and the wind at Gleneagles Country Club with helping bring him the $9,000 first award yesterday.

In repeating for the tournament's crown, Venturi drilled shots through the gusty wind for a closing 66 and a 7-under-par total of 273. He made up five shots on Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., the leader through the first three rounds, who closed with a 72 and 274 for runnerup swag of $4,600.

Venturi, who inserted the Los Angeles Open triumph between his 1958 Chicago Open and this one for his only victories in a year, is a perfectionist.

★ ★ ★

"I had 25 putts on the last round in beating out Pott," said the 28-year-old erstwhile auto salesman. "It was the greatest putting day I've ever had.

"During the last year I've been growing various types of grass used on greens and studying them. The greens in my San Francisco garden are much different than they are here. That garden helped me a lot in learning the various grains of the grass and their effect on putts.

"Another thing, I've learned through experience how to play in the wind. I started learning when I blew up in the 1956 Masters, where the wind made it absolutely miserable for me. The percentage was with me when it was windy for the final round at Gleneagles and I set 65 as the score I would have to shoot to win.

★ ★ ★

"I figured the wind would hurt Johnny (Pott), who is not used to it, and others who were ahead of me — Bo Wininger and Arnold Palmer—more than it would hurt me. On a calm day it would be easier for them to protect their lead than for me to try to cut it down.

"So the wind and that grass garden helped me do it."

He dropped a 25-footer for an eagle 3 on the 13th and a 12-footer for a birdie 3 on the next to solidify his Gleneagles triumph. And on the 15th he holed a 7-footer to save a par 3 after being trapped. He had nine one-putt greens on the final round.

Third place and $3,000 went to Gene Littler who closed with a 68 for 276. Wininger was fourth at 277 after bowing out of contention with a 72. Jim Ferree, Don Whitt and Sam Snead were next at 279. Palmer, with 75, was buried in the 281 bracket.

Two Italian Drivers Killed in Monza Race

MANZA, Italy (UPI) — Two Italian drivers were killed and a third suffered an amputated foot in the second junior formula Monza auto race Sunday.

Alfred Tinazzo, driving a 1,100-CC Fiat De Santis, and Nino Crivellari, driving a 1,100-CC Stanguellini, were the dead drivers. They crashed on the southern curve of the road track while battling for the lead in the second of two junior events.

In the first heat Dino Montevago, also of Italy, swerved off the track and crashed into a tree. His right foot was severed in the accident.

Tinazzo and Grivellari died almost instantly, Tinazzo from injuries of the abdomen and Crivellari from a smashed skull.

Juan Manuel Bordeau of Argentina, a protege of former world champion driver Juan Manuel Fangio, won the accident marred junior event. His aggregate time over a total distance of 186 miles was one hour, 50.12 minutes for an average speed of 101.091 miles per hour.

The main race was won by Alfonso Thiele, an American born in Istanbul and now living in Italy. Thiele won the Monza lottery-Esso cup race driving a Ferrari. He covered the 52-lap distance in 1.53.56.2 for an average speed of 97.779 miles per hour.

There were no accidents in the main race.

Al Kaline Joins Frank Bolling on Injury List

DETROIT (UPI) — Al Kaline today joined Frank Bolling on the Detroit Tigers' injury list.

Kaline was scheduled to enter Henry Ford Hospital today for corrective surgery on his cheek bone and probably will be out of action until the latter part of the week.

Bolling will be missing for two weeks because of a cracked ankle. He did not play this weekend.

Kaline said the cheekbone fracture he suffered at Baltimore 10 days ago when hit by a wild throw has been "giving me some pain. The doctors want to do some further treatment now that the swelling has gone down."

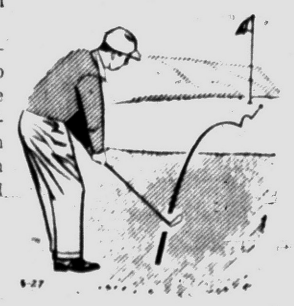
Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Wasted shots around the greens.

DIAGNOSIS: Poor planning — followed by sloppy stroking.

TREATMENT: If a player is to score consistently well, he must be able to save some shots by holing-out in two, from just off the green, in the majority of these situations. In short, he must be a stroke saver instead of a stroke waster.



The first step here, obviously, is to get the ball up close to the hole on the chip shots and short pitches—and the first step in that is forming a firm shot-plan in the mind and sticking to it.

By "shot-plan," I mean deciding which club to use, and how much pitch, bounce, and roll you mean to get on the shot. You must be exact about this plan, and you must be firm. If you stand over the ball all confused about what you MEAN TO DO, you have little chance of DOING ANYTHING.

Get a firm picture of a successful shot in your mind. Then hit the ball with a crisp, downward blow, and follow through with your head perfectly still until the ball is on its way.

Ringside Highlights:

30-Man Crew of AP Covered Title Fight

(Editor's Note: Harold A. Fitzgerald, Publisher of The Press, was one of the 30-man team that covered the heavyweight fight in New York Friday night for Associated Press. Here are some special sidelights and notes for our people in this area.)

The first seven rows at ringside were for the working press. Behind them were 15-20 rows marked "Red Section." These were the $100 tickets. Behind them were the $50 pasteboards. All tickets in these sections were marked "ringside." The box seats in the stands were $40 and then prices were scaled down to $5 "general admission."

Swedish newspapers had many men there. Directly behind, was a Stockholm correspondent with an open phone talking into his Swedish office throughout the fight. The biggest newpaper in Sweden with a circulation of 350,000 had a print order after the fight for one million copies. Sweden was gaga over this event.

Bill Rosensohn, the promoter, is a youthful and collegiate looking individual and I sat ten feet from him. This venture cost him $40,000. However, he had one last chance: namely, a return bout if the Swede won for he had his signature on a contract. "In effect," said this personable young man with a doleful smile before the fight, "as it stands, I'm betting a half million dollars Johannson wins." Well, he won and that leaves Bill the Top Banana. They'll all creep to him now. And after the shabby treatment given him by many, that's exactly what they'll have to do.

Johannson's immediate party consisted of his father and mother, his 16 year old sister, a brother and his "sweetie pie." (His brother had one, also.) They sat in the first row of the "Red Section." When Patterson went down, the women leaped to their feet and yelled, especially the young sister. Each time Patterson hit the rosin, her piercing scream was audible. The father was grim-faced, silent and solemn.

The AP contingent covering the fight numbered about 30. In the front row, the AP had three men with Murray Rose dictating a blow by blow account to an operator next to him. A photographer and news writer sat along side. Ted Smits, AP Sports Editor and boss of the crew, sat in the second row directly behind them and I sat next to Ted with an AP telegrapher on one side of us and a photographer on the other. The balance of the crew was spread all over the stadium. I sat about five feet from the ring and about eight feet from Patterson when he was in his corner.

Ring side veterans agreed the movies may set a record because of that sensational third round.

The Swede said the devastating right landed on Patterson's jaw. Cus D'Amato said it hit him between the eyes. "Take yer cherce."

Shortly after the fight ended, "Jersey Joe" Walcott edged forward. "Was it a fair fight, Joe?" we asked him. "It was until that furiner flung that second right," said Joe sadly.

One of our AP boys put a tiny thermometer on the apron of the ring. When the championship fight went on, the outside temperature was 72, but it was 85 in the ring under those bright lights.

Patterson's wife was in the "Red Section." After the fight had been ended for many minutes, she walked to the foot of the short stairs leading to Floyd's corner where she had to wait another 12-15 minutes. She showed no emotion until he started down the steps. Then she put out both arms, embraced him warmly and the tears came. He hung on to her for a moment and she reached up and wiped his face with a big handkerchief. I couldn't see his features at the moment, but he bled profusely during those seven methodical trips to the canvas. In fact, Johannson's arms were covered with blood — Patterson's.

When he reached the dressing room, Patterson went into seclusion for more than a half an hour before newspapermen were admitted.

As Patterson went down the first time, Ted Smits cupped his hands to my ear and hollared: "This is it. I'm heading backstage. Wait here for me." I was fairly certain Patterson would climb back and carry the fight to the foreigner. He did scramble to his feet at "nine" but he was in the Land of Nod. Ted's estimate was exactly right. Patterson made six more trips to the rosin which let Smits reach the back stage scenes to direct activities there.

The Johannson boys really pick 'em. Ingemar's "friend" is a fine ~~looking brunette~~ and his brother's "pal" is a blonde and very attractive. Before the fight I told Ted I was going to slip back and interview them for The Pontiac Press and posterity. Ted smiled at me pittingly. "Save yourself. They don't speak English."

★ ★ ★

On the way back in a taxi, the boys discussed how Patterson could work on this guy next time. His only chance seems to lie in coming out and putting

Hot? — Golf Ball Explodes

BALTIMORE (AP)—The temperature hit 100 in Baltimore yesterday and George Dircks got off the hottest drive of his golfing career.

Dircks was playing in a foursome at the Sparrows Point Golf Club when he teed up on the 10th hole and swung.

The ball went out about 75 yards, exploded in the air, fell smoking to the edge of the fairway and set fire to the grass and leaves.

The ball was made by a reputable firm. Mike Bowers, the club pro who sold it to Dircks, had no explanation.

The foursome settled a rules dispute by having Dircks drop another ball at the point where his first exploded and play from there without penalty.

American Entries Light in British Open Field

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP)—The British Open golf championship started today with only 15 Americans in the field — and all of them are rated 100-1 or longer.

The American entry, even with world senior champion Willie Goggin, is one of the weakest in years.

"I'm sure one of the main reasons for the lack of big American names is the royal and ancient's refusal to switch the date to September — a time when the American circuit is winding up," said Cmdr. Charles Roe, secretary of the British professional golf assn.

"A lot of color goes out of the open when the American stars are not here. The public has turned up to see the Americans play and hoping that one of our boys will beat them.

"This time that attraction has gone."

Roe said when Ben Hogan played at Carnoustie in 1953, a crowd of about 27,000 paid to watch the open. "And 20,000 of them were there to see Hogan."

Most British experts think it will be many more years before any change is made in the date. Tradition is a hard thing to break in Britain. And tradition has decreed for 99 years that the open be played in midsummer and end on a Friday.

Goggin, of San Jose, Calif., and Bob Watson of Ardsley-on-Hudson, N.Y., were the only two Americans given a faint chance of getting anywhere near the title.

Most of the other Americans in the field of 258 are amateurs whose game probably won't even carry them through the qualifying stages.

Qualifying rounds will be played today and tomorrow with a maximum of 100 low scorers going into the championship Wednesday.

The field will be chopped to a maximum of 50 after two rounds. The final 36 holes will be played Friday.

★ ★ ★

Peter Thomson defending champion from Australia and four time winner of the British title is favored followed by South Africans Gary Player and Bobby Locke and British Ryder cuppers Harry Weetton, Bernard Hunt and Christie O'Connor.

Muirfield has 184 bunkers lurking around the greens on the 6,806 yards course. Its par is 36-36—72.

The nearby 6,491-yard Guillane course has a par of 35-37—72.

Quarter-Finals in Net Tourney

South American Tennis Stars Meet on Courts at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—The South American men's singles championship, heavily overlaid with North American overtones, will be played today on the Ivy covered courts of Wimbledon.

Technically, the match will be a quarter-final in the 73rd Wimbledon championships but when Alejandro Rodriguez Olmedo of Arequipa, Peru, meets Luis Alberto Ayala of Santiago, Chile, the match assumes both continental and hemispheric proportions.

Both Olmedo and Ayala, far and away the best two South American amateurs, have spent months on end playing and living in the United States. Both came up from South America as raw talent and the polish was put on that talent in California.

Olmedo qualified last year for the American Davis Cup team because he lives and goes to college in Los Angeles. Ayala might once have qualified in years before he played for Chile on approximately the same basis.

United States Davis Cup team selectors are looking hard for candidates and the first week of play at Wimbledon shows how desperate their search must be.

Chisox Keep Yankees in Sunday Rut, 9-2, 4-2

By The Associated Press

What a difference a day makes, especially if the day is Sunday. To some Sunday represents success.

Ask the Chicago White Sox who have won 12 out of 17 on the first day of the week. Because of Sunday, they're in second place only one game behind the American League leading Cleveland Indians. Without Sunday, they'd be in sixth place with a .500 percentage.

To some Sunday represents failure.

Ask the New York Yankees who have won only seven out of 21 on that day. Because of Sunday, they're in fifth place, four games off the pace. Without Sunday, they would be in first place with a .580 percentage.

The Sunday sign prevailed again yesterday as the White Sox inflicted a double defeat on the Yankees, 9-2 and 4-2 to capture the series, three games to one.

Despite the double victory, Chicago failed to pick up ground on the Indians, who swept a pair from Boston 5-4 and 14-0. Detroit climbed past the Yankees into fourth place with a 7-2 triumph over Baltimore and Washington climbed into sixth place with a 7-3 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

A pair of veteran right-handers — Early Wynn and Dick Donovan — pitched the White Sox to their two triumphs over the Yankees. Wynn went the distance, spacing nine hits in the opener for his 11th victory of the year and the 290th of his career. The Sox supported him with a four-homer barrage against Whitey Ford and Jim Coates. The four-baggers were hit by Al Smith, Sherm Lollar, Earl Battey and Bubba Phillips.

Lollar also hit a home run in the second game, a three-run blast off loser Don Larsen in the first inning. That was sufficient for Donovan to register his fifth victory although he needed help from Turk Lown in the ninth.

★ ★ ★

It was the fifth Sunday this year that the Yankees have been dealt a double defeat and the third in a row. They have won one Sunday doubleheader and split three.

★ ★ ★

Brilliant pitching by rookie Jim Perry and Herb Score together with clutch hitting by Tito Francona and Jim Baxes featured the Indians' double victory over Boston.

★ ★ ★

Francona, in the midst of a hitting streak, singled home Woody Held with the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning of the opener. Perry, who relieved starter Gary Bell after the Red Sox had tied the score, 4-4, in the top of the seventh, hurled one-hit ball the rest of the way to gain the decision.

★ ★ ★

Score hurled a two-hitter and was rewarded with his eighth victory when Baxes smashed a pitch by rookie left-hander Ted Wills for a home run in the seventh. Score fanned seven.

Toledo Horse BOH Top Jumper

Challenge Wins 3 Big Events in Race for Title

Duke of Paeonian Is Hunter King as 42nd Annual Show Ends

By H. GUY MOATS

The 42nd annual Detroit Horse Show at Bloomfield Open Hunt wound up in a blaze of action over the weekend. Fine weather brought out big audiences both Saturday and Sunday, when the two most coveted awards were determined.

As was expected the great conformation and working hunter, Duke of Paeonian, owned by John S. Pettibone of Middlebury, Va., rambled off with the hunter honors. He collected five blue ribbons on the way.

A third victory in a major event sent the show jumper trophy to Oscar Reipp of Toledo. Riepp's steady-going Challenge, given some great rides by Mrs. Bruce Campbell of Columbus, Ohio, captured the big bonus event last night, the $1,000 jumper stake, to clinch the title. The fine jumper beat out a great field that included Tamerlane (reserve champion), The Possum and others.

★ ★ ★

The Challenge compiled 20 points, Tamerlane 16.

Sunday's win at BOH was the 2nd straight hunter championship for the Duke, who moves over to Jackson this week, with most of the BOH field. He was handled by Shelley Warren. The Duke won the important Brambles trophy for corinthian hunters and the conformation title and the $1,000 hunter stakes.

Morton W. Smith of Virginia, and Mrs. Smith, between them collected 13 ribbons for the show's top individual exhibitor. Their Passport was the green working hunter champion, and the regular working hunter champion. Grey Pennant won seven ribbons, including the green conformation hunter championship. Smith (known in the show circles as Cappy) rode both horses in all their events.

This was also the greatest year in 10 for Ten Pin Farm of Chicago, the Harold Marzano stable taking six "blues."

★ ★ ★

Other championships were won by Avon Girl, owned by Carol Dubois (junior working hunter).

★ ★ ★

Donna Meinzinger's Camside Expert (junior jumper title).

TOP JUMPER — The combination of Toledoan Oscar Riepp's steady Challenge, and his rider, Mrs. Bruce Campbell of Columbus, O. produced the top jumper championship at yesterday's windup of the Detroit Horse show at BOH. Mrs. Campbell was somewhat of a surprise winner, but turned in three firsts for her mount's 20 point total. Victor Sifton of Winnipeg, Man. was reserve with the big grey, Tamerlane, which had 16.

Three Tied Again for Legion Lead

Rochester Blows 7-0 Edge in First Defeat Causing Deadlock

The American Legion district baseball league was locked tighter than the proverbial drum again today thanks to a startling upset of previously unbeaten Rochester by winless Clawson Sunday.

Down 7-0 after four frames, Clawson combined seven Rochester errors with some timely hitting to pull out an 8-7 verdict. Birmingham whipped Berkley 8-1 and Southfield blanked Milford 8-0, to get back into the battle. Improved Royal Oak downed Troy 9-4.

Clawson clinched its victory in the 8th when two scored on a wild throw. Dwight Swords of the losers paced the hitters with a triple and three singles.

Tim Springer won another for Birmingham fanning nine and walking just one. He hurled one-hit shutout ball after the 1st while his mates kept hammering away led by Bob Arnold and Dave MacManus with 2 rbi's apiece.

Usually wild Bob Filar fanned 12 and passed only four in blanking Milford. He slammed a two-run homer in the 4th. Royal Oak iced its verdict early while Bob Lyons was fanning 14.

Highlights From Ringside

his man away quickly or landing enough jarring wallops to take the steam out of that lethal right. Otherwise, he must back pedal at full speed for 15 rounds and hope to win on points.

More than 300 Swedes crossed the ocean expressly to see this battle. In spite of his disgraceful Olympic record, Johannson is a national hero. In the finals of the Olympic Games, he literally turned and ran from his opponent. His showing was so bad, the referee stopped the fight and threw him out of the ring. When the medals were awarded, the champ got the winner's accolade and no runner-up medallion was awarded to Johannson, his showing was so poor. But today ——

At the end of the second round, Ingemar gave Floyd a very dirty look that was very apparent to us. Asked about it afterward, he said: "Me? Not me. He did it first. I just passed it back." Patterson had his back to us and we couldn't see.

If the clamor from the countryside around Pontiac is sufficient, I suppose I'll have to go back for the return bout in September. Don't be bashful about declaring yourself, (if you approve.)

2 Aces Posted Over Weekend

Two Birmingham golfers found the hole-in-one touch over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

Joe Newnam used a 5-iron Sunday to ace the 159-yard 8th hole at Red Run. Newnam finished his round with an 80.

★ ★ ★

The other hole-in-one was made by Pat Perry last Saturday, a No. 3 wood shot on the 221-yard 15th hole at Maple Lane. Perry's ace helped him shoot an 81.

Wright Open Champ

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Mickey Wright, thoroughly rested after Saturday's gruelling 36-hole final of the Women's National Open Golf championship, has her eye set on pulling another repeat performance next month in the Ladies PGA at French Lick, Ind. Mickey won an unprecedented second straight open crown at nearby Churchill Valley Country Club, firing a record 287. She nosed out Louise Suggs Sea Island, Ga., pro who had a 289.

Completes 504 Holes —Goes to Barbecue

DAVIE, Fla. (AP)—A marathon golfer canned his putt on the 504th hole Sunday and hobbled off the course—to attend a barbecue.

Don Newport, 30, displayed 25 hand and foot blisters accumulated in 38½ hours of stroking through rain and shine, darkness and daylight.

★ ★ ★

"Tomorrow's my day off," said Newport, former Kenosha, Wis., resident who now works as an advertising man for the Fort Lauderdale Daily News. "It will be a while before I'm ready to play golf again, though."

★ ★ ★

Newport averaged 72.9 strokes per 18-hole round on the 4,000-yard, par 60 Cooper Colony links. He estimated he walked close to 80 miles during his stint which started at 5:15 a.m. (EST) Saturday and ended at 7:45 p.m. Sunday. He hit 2,046 strokes.

LA Does It Differently Than Ingo

By The Associated Press

Sweden's Ingemar Johansson won the world heavyweight boxing title by unleashing a murderous right hand.

★ ★ ★

Los Angeles' Dodgers are hoping to win the National League baseball championship with left hands...three of them...belonging to southpaw pitchers Johnny Podres, Sandy Koufax and Danny McDevitt.

Thanks to these three left-handers, the Dodgers today are in second place, only a game behind the league leading Milwaukee Braves, and riding on a seven-game winning streak. The trio has won five of the seven games, including the last three.

Yesterday, it was McDevitt's turn as the Dodgers thumped the Pittsburgh Pirates for the third straight day, 9-4. Milwaukee protected its lead with a 2-1 squeaker over Chicago. Third place San Francisco whipped Philadelphia 6-0 and the St. Louis Cardinals out-slugged the Cincinnati Reds in a doubleheader, 9-7 and 11-8.

★ ★ ★

The Dodgers inflicted the 10th defeat upon three-time winner Bob Friend, pounding out 11 hits, including home runs by Gil Hodges, Don Demeter and Charlie Neal. McDevitt got his fourth straight victory and seventh of the season although he needed help from ace Don Drysdale in the ninth. It was Friend's eighth straight knockout at the hands of the Dodgers.

Eddie Mathews' 23rd home run and Del Crandall's scoring single after first baseman Dale Long had dropped his foul popup were enough for Juan Pizarro to register his first triumph for Milwaukee.

The left-hander, recalled only five days ago from Louisville, permitted five hits and fanned seven Cubs.

Johnny Logan, Braves' shortstop, was lost to the team for 10 days when he was spiked on the right ankle, requiring 20 stitches.

Johnny Antonelli allowed seven hits and struck out six in registering his 11th triumph for the Giants. Willie Kirkland and Orlando Cepeda drove in two runs each. Jackie Brandt hit a home run and contributed two fine catches in left field. Richie Ashburn, the 1958 batting champion, ruined three Philadelphia threats by hitting into double plays in the first, fifth and seventh innings.

★ ★ ★

A total of 18 pitchers were batted for 53 runs and 25 hits in the Cards' sweep of Cincinnati.

WHEN SUNOCO CUSTOM-BLENDS YOUR GASOLINE your car comes alive!

Only at Sunoco can your car be fitted with the exact octane it needs to give full power most efficiently...most economically.

Sunoco's Miracle Pump Custom-Blends 6 high octane gasolines at 6 different prices. That's how your car gets an exact octane fit. And so gives peak power always...easily.

Heavy on "Go" but incidentally light on dough. What Sunoco Custom-Blending does is to fit your car with the exact octane it needs for lively stepping power — without making you pay for octane your car can't use. You can save up to 4¢ a gallon on premiums!

And, Custom-Blending is so easy! Just start with the blend recommended for your car by your Sunoco dealer. Next tankful, drop down to the next lower blend at the next lower price, and so on, until you find the blend that performs the best, yet costs the least!

Because there are 6 high octane Sunoco blends . . . 6 different octane strengths, you can be sure of getting an exact fit for your engine! And, each blend is the finest quality motor fuel your money can buy. So, no matter which blend your car needs, you get snappy acceleration, surging passing power, and freedom from harmful deposits and spark plug fouling!

Big power at "Regular" Price, too! Sunoco Custom Blend "200" means big new power for many "regular" users. It's proved higher octane than most "regular" buyers are getting anywhere else. It's higher quality . . . highest value!

Note buried tanks. From these, pump draws (A) premium quality Blue Sunoco "200", and (B) Sunoco Octane Concentrate (specially refined motor fuel). These are precisely blended by the pump to the exact blend number ordered. Approved by various governmental authorities.

Legislators See Long Hot Summer

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congressmen won't get any vacations this summer unless they go absent-without-leave.

★ ★ ★

Congress is settling down to grind out a record that will provide ammunition for the Democratic vs. Republican war over whether this is a "can-do" or "won't-do" session.

Adjournment is many weeks away because much of the work that would merit the "can-do" label for the Democratic leadership still must be finished.

A presidential election takes place in 1960. That means Congress must quit early next year to allow time for national political conventions in mid-summer.

There is a 12-year-old law on the books which says Congress must adjourn by July 30 each year. Except in presidential election years, it seldom has met that deadline.

★ ★ ★

It just ignores that law. Its parliamentarian prefers to say that the House and Senate merely outdate the statute when they decide to adopt a motion postponing adjournment after July 30.

★ ★ ★

Aug. 15 appears to be more likely as a quitting date this time. Realists in Congress now estimate it will be closer to Labor Day—Sept. 7. That means no family vacations for congressmen with school-age children.

PROTEST RUSH

There have been sporadic protests in the past about the way Congress has to rush through its work in a presidential election year.

Proposals have been made to call a recess for a few weeks and then reconvene after the nominating conventions.

Capitol officials argue that these suggestions just don't jibe with the facts of political life. No Congress could expect to accomplish much while a presidential campaign was going on unless it was dealing with a grave national emergency.

Former President Truman tried to recall Congress after the 1948 conventions to handle problems that were left hanging when Congress adjourned early that year.

The lawmakers might just as well have stayed home. The outcome, so far as legislation was concerned, added up to exactly nothing. Democrats, of course, harvested some political capital from the maneuver.

GET HOT, STEAMY

Congressmen get hot under the collar—literally and figuratively—as the hot, steamy Washington summer progresses without adjournment.

Of course, not all the Senators and Representatives keep busy in the nation's capital from May to September.

There's another law on the books barring absences except for illness. Many congressmen, however, find official duties that take them away in the hot months. Some even manage to take their wives along.

The Tuesday-to-Thursday club—composed of many congressmen from East Coast cities—has launched the three-day week for legislators.

★ ★ ★

Members of this group take their vacations in a series of long weekends. They arrive Tuesday and leave late Thursday.

Rinny Impatient to Join the Army; Passed All Tests

PORT HURON (UPI) — You can't blame Rinny for being a little impatient over the delay in completing his enlistment in the Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Kovach, owners of the 19-months-old German Shepherd dog are a little anxious too — as are neighbors.

Rinny is too big for a pet now. The Kovachs have had the animal since he was a pup.

Kovach, a Port Huron policeman, said he would like to keep Rinny for his 5-year-old son, but feels a responsibility toward the neighborhood.

At first the Kovachs didn't know what to do with Rinny. But several months ago, Mrs. Kovach read an article describing the Army's need for German Shepherd dogs.

★ ★ ★

The Kovach's contacted the Port Huron Army recruiting service and received information on how to get Rinny in the Army.

Washington sent application instructions and a physical examination form. Rinny passed the exam with flying colors. The Army notified the Kovaches that Rinny has been assigned to a military installation in the U. S. as a member of the K-9 Corps.

Kovach says he feels the Army has a lot to offer Rinny in the way of a home now that he has outgrown the neighborhood.

Kim isn't too happy about his pet's departure. But he says: "Daddy is going to get me another dog."

As for Rinny, he's ready to go.

Trading Active; Stocks Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved upward in moderately active trading early today.

Gains of most key stocks ran from fractions to about a point.

Raytheon advanced more than 2.

Coppers were narrowly on the upside despite a price cut by a big Belgian producer.

The trend among steels, rails, oils and electronics, was a little higher. Motors were somewhat mixed. Chrysler was up more than a point and American Motors about a point.

Ford eased and General Motors was about unchanged.

Extension of the steel strike deadline eased concern considerably. Meanwhile, the problem of inflation was brought into focus again by warnings from Vice President Richard Nixon and economic adviser Raymond Saulnier.

Texaco was up about 2 while Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Royal Dutch posted fractional gains in a generally steady oil group.

Navy's Polaris Fired in 10th Test at Cape

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A smoke-belching Polaris test rocket darted from the Cape today on its 10th flight.

★ ★ ★

The 28-foot rocekt, forerunner of the Navy's submarine-launched ballistic missile, roared skyward at 10:42 a. m. (EST) in what appeared to be a smooth launching.

Sources reported preliminary data indicated the missile performed perfectly as far as major objectives are concerned.

A break in the smoke trail after about 50 seconds indicated the burn-out of the first stage rocket and ignition of the second. The burned out first stage tumbled into the Atlantic.

The Navy said main objectives of the flight were "general missile performance, stage separation and structural integrity."

Wheat Demand Leads Grains

CHICAGO (AP)—A good demand for wheat futures firmed up that grain today in early dealings on the Board of Trade but other grain and soybeans were steady to easier.

Brokers said there appeared to be an increase in the usual harvest-time flour mill buying of wheat along with a fair volume by interests usually representing exporters.

Judge to Take Oath in Wednesday Rite

Swearing in ceremonies for new Oakland County Circuit Judge Theodore F. Hughes will be Wednesday in the courtroom of Judge Frank L. Doty. The time will be 9 a.m.

The Press previously reported the ceremony was to be held today.

To administer the oath to the former state representative and Berkley attorney will be Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. Judge Hughes was elected to a six-month short term, beginning July 1 and ending Dec. 31, in the April 6 non-partisan judicial election.

The short term was an added provision in a legislative bill creating a fifth circuit judge for Oakland County. It was passed in April of 1958.

Also scheduled to talk at Wednesdays ceremonies will be William B. Hartman, president of the Oakland County Bar Assn., and Oakland Circuit Judge William J. Beer, who served with Judge Hughes in the Navy.

Mooney's Illness Delays Sentencing Until July 27

Because Arthur C. Mooney is still in the hospital, Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty today again granted a postponement in the scheduled sentencing of the former Waterford Township teacher convicted in May of gross indecency with a 16-year-old student.

Judge Doty set a new sentence date for July 27 after Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor said he had been informed by Mooney's attorney, Carlton S. Roeser, that Mooney is still confined to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Dearborn with sclerosis of the liver.

With a motion for a new trail in Circuit Court having been denied by Judge Doty, Roeser said Mooney would appeal his May 6 jury conviction to the State Supreme Court.

Trio Here Walk In and Out of Trouble

Three men who walked into the Pontiac police station early this morning weren't aware of the trouble they were walking into.

The trio reported that they were robbed of $170 by five armed bandits in a vacant field off Hess street at 2:30 a.m.

Police Sgt. James Bale looked across the front desk and noted that they fitted the description of three men wanted for the rape of a Warren housewife last night.

The unhappy threesome spent the rest of the night at the Pontiac station and at 7 a.m. were taken into custody by Warren police.

At noon, today, their story took on a brighter aspect.

The Warren housewife said the three were "positively not" the men who attacked her and they were released.

Royal Oak Youth Shot Dead Examining Gun

A 16-year-old Royal Oak boy was accidentally shot and killed by a friend Saturday night when the two were examining an Army carbine.

The death of Grant Cole of 709 Amelia St. was ruled accidental Sunday by Oakland County Prosecutor Donald A. Brown.

Cole was shot through the head while he and his friend, Raymond Gibson, 16, of 1428 Whitcomb St., were attempting to clear a cartridge stuck in the magazine of the weapon in the Gibson home. Cole's girl friend, Sandra Meyers, 14, of 1612 Donald St., looked on horrified as the youth fell dead.

Brown said Gibson would be released to his parents today.

Talks to Continue Wednesday

Steel Walkout Postponed

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel industry contract negotiations are recessed until Wednesday. A strike deadline has been postponed for two weeks, until midnight July 14.

President Eisenhower's intervention Saturday paved the way for the postponement. The strike had been scheduled for Tuesday night, barring a sudden settlement, which nobody expected.

David J. McDonald, head of the United Steelworkers, scheduled meetings today with his 33-man executive board and 171-member international wage policy committee. Both sessions were expected to be routine.

The industry position against granting any labor cost increases still stands. This was made clear in a statement by R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator and by Thomas Patton, president of Republic Steel Corp.

★ ★ ★

Patton said on a nationwide television broadcast Sunday night that his firm is unwilling to grant any labor cost increases without compensating price increases. Asked about record 1959 profit reports, Patton said the long-range expectation is what must be considered.

McDonald called Cooper's restatement of concern over inflation "a rehash of the same old mishmash". The union is insisting on sizable gains in wages and other worker benefits. Steelworkers now earn an average $3.10 an hour.

★ ★ ★

The industry and union bargaining teams met for an hour Sunday to execute formal contract extension agreements.

The union and industry agreed that when negotiations resume Wednesday they will become a step-by-step schedule of meetings before a deal.

Traffic Is Safest Since March 8

7 Die on State Roads; Drownings Also Claim 7 During Weekend

By United Press International

Michigan motorists have chalked up their safest weekend in more than three months, although three youths died in one accident yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Seven persons died in traffic accidents, the lowest total since the weekend ending March 8 when six lost their lives. With seven drownings, the state had an accidental death toll of 14.

Earl J. McFadden, 22, Gaylord; Bruce E. Lee, 19, Gaylord, and Edwin J. Ruthven, 22, Roscommon, were killed early yesterday on U. S. 27 near the Crawford-Roscommon county line.

★ ★ ★

State Police said Lee apparently fell asleep at the wheel while returning from a dance. The car struck a tree.

★ ★ ★

Henry Maxwell, 52, Elkton, was killed Saturday afternoon when his car ran off a road in Huron County.

Six children were among seven persons who drowned during the weekend as thousands sought relief from the summer heat at lakes and beaches.

Police searched the waters around the south pier at Grand Haven yesterday for five-year-old Donald Steensma of Grand Rapids.

Waterford Budget Due for Final Action Tonight

An engineering report, various requests from individuals, and final action on the 1959-60 Waterford Township Budget is scheduled for tonight's regular board meeting.

If approved, the record township budget will allow the Waterford Township Police Dept. to add five men; bring the staff total to 15 members—just three less than when the department was slashed two years ago.

★ ★ ★

An attorney general's opinion, prohibiting police department use of funds from traffic tickets, resulted in the reduction of the Waterford Township $100,000 police department.

The budget also provides for two full-time firemen, plus a full-time fire chief at a starting salary at $6,500.

Township engineers Johnson and Anderson are expected to present a survey report and recommendation on the proposed blacktopping of the Drayton Plains Parking lot, back of stores on Dixie highway, near Frembes. Bids were received two weeks ago and turned over to the engineers for study.

★ ★ ★

Developer of the Lake Maceday Subdivision, Walter S. Jackson, again will present his preliminary plat for board approval. The Board last week rejected the plat because concrete markers had not been installed as indicated.

A request from the Board of Education to extend township water mains to the Stringham School will be considered. Estimated cost for the extension line is $5,500.

A request for the township to purchase two lots in Sunnyslope Acres near Isaac Crary School will be presented. The property would be used for a possible pump station and future elevated storage tank site for Water System No. 1.

★ ★ ★

Estimated cost for the land is $3,800, according to Clerk James Seeterlin.

2 Brothers Arraigned, One Pleads Guilty

One Pontiac brother pleaded guilty and the other innocent when they appeared today before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for arraignment on charges of armed robbery in the theft of $68 from another Pontiac man June 17.

Judge Doty set sentencing for July 6 for Richard W. Eastham, 20, of 474 N. Oakland Ave., and ordered as ready for trial the case of his brother David, 21, of the same address. The latter pleaded innocent.

Both brothers are charged with the armed robbery of the money from John R. McAlevy, 29, who gave police his address as the Roosevelt Hotel.

Open Hospital Parking Lot

Meters Will Operate Seven Days a Week, Says City Manager

The new Pontiac General Hospital parking lot was opened to the public at 8 a.m. today.

The 211-stall lot will be operated under the same rules as other municipal parking lots, with one exception.

Meters will be in operation seven days a week, including Saturday and Sunday.

This is because the lot is expected to be as busy, or busier, on weekends as during the week, explained City Manager Walter K. Willman.

The meter hours run from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day, with parking priced at a nickle an hour for a maximum of three hours for each car.

★ ★ ★

The lot is south of the hospital between Johnson and Seminole avenues. Each street has an entrance and an exit, the entrances located at the north end of the lot, the exits at the south end.

The $225,000 lot was financed through $175,000 in revenue bonds and $50,000 in capital improvement funds. Meter revenues will be used to pay off the bonds and reimburse the capital improvement funds.

In 1957, voters turned down a proposal to finance the lot through general obligation bonds.

To get the lot going on a revenue bond basis, city commissioners last winter voted the capital improvement funds for land purchase—10 built up lots.

★ ★ ★

Land clearance was completed last month. The lot was paved last week by the A & A Asphalt Paving Co. of Birmingham. City workers installed meters, signs and bumper blocks and marked off the stalls over the weekend.

Hazel Park Woman Dies in Auto Crash

A Hazel Park woman was killed and her husband injured when their car crashed into a tree along M15 south of Bay City Sunday.

Dead is Mrs. Tim Scannel, 30, of 23117 Couzens St., Hazel Park.

Her husband, 31, a Hazel Park policeman, is listed in fair condition today at Bay City General Hospital.

The accident occurred when the car had a blowout and Mrs. Scannel lost control.

The king of Sweden is required to be a member of the Lutheran Church.

Runs Half Mile to Save Firemen a Little Work

Waterford Township firemen appreciate men like Clarence Matson.

★ ★ ★

When his car caught fire in front of the Waterford Township Eagle's Club early yesterday morning, he sprinted a quarter of a mile west on Highland road to Fire Station No. 1.

Rather than have a big truck come out, he insisted that the fireman on duty, Lewis Goff, strap a fire extinguisher on his back.

He then ran the full quarter of a mile back to his burning car.

★ ★ ★

He partially extinguished the flames, then drove his still-smouldering car back to the station. Goff finished putting out the fire.

The fire started when cigarette ashes fell on the front seat as Matson, 7030 Desmond Ave., sat in his car talking to a friend.

Damage was estimated at $150.

The firm had been at its former location 10 years. The move was made to better service people by the new location site, additional office space and better facilities, said owner Rodrick Taylor.

Airport Aid Bill Signed by Ike

Will Extend Federal Help for Development 2 More Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed a compromise two-year extension of federal aid for airport development providing for more spending than he recommended.

The measure had been cut down by Congress to 126 million dollars in the face of a veto threat raised during the debate. The extension is for 63 millions dollars a year.

Democrats had fought for a costlier and longer program and some of them complained they had to accept the smaller outlay with a loaded veto pen at our heads.

The House originally voted for a four-year 297 million dollar extension and the Senate a four year 465 million dollar bill. Eisenhower had proposed a four year, 200 million dollar extension of the airport program.

Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla), author of the original Senate airport bill and also of the stopgap measure, noted that the present law expires June 30. He said the two-year extension would take the program into the administration of the new president elected next year.

The bill contains language barring the use of federal funds for terminal facilities, bars commercial shops, cocktail lounges and similar additions under the program administrator holds they are essential.

2-Month Delay Seen in Perfecting Atlas

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — There will be a delay of "not less than 60 days" in getting the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile ready to combat use, Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy says.

The first of the big missiles had been scheduled to become operational the first of this month.

But McElroy also said there is reason to believe the Soviet Union will not have an ocean-spanning rockets ready for use any sooner, although they may have 10 or so operational by the end of the year.

Dog Owners Get 1,000 Tickets for Lack of Tags

Nearly 1,000 warning tickets have been issued to Waterford Township dog owners who have failed to obtain dog licenses, according to Oakland County Dog Warden David Ballingall.

Complaints flooding the township offices has prompted a house to house survey to locate dog owners overdue in getting their pet licensed.

Last year's dog license expired in January and the deadline date was March 1st. Since that time Ballingall has been issuing the warning tickets and after a two week period, an individual is then given a legal violation summons if the dog is not licensed. FAMILY REUNITED — A tragic 10-year separation, broken only by weekend visits in Tijuana, Mex., has ended for Rey Huerta and his family. Huerta, a restaurant cook in Los Angeles, has been seeing his family weekends since immigration authorities excluded his wife from the U. S. because she gave conflicting answers to their questions following a visit to Tijuana in 1949. A change in law helped end the long separation.

Folks Don't Like Home-Delivered Mail, No Gossip

RAHNS, Pa. (AP)—The folks in this rural southeastern Pennsylvania hamlet gave home-delivered mail a try. They didn't like it.

Eighty-nine of the 118 residents have signed a petition asking the Post Office Department to go back to the old system of delivering mail to the branch post office in the village store.

David M. Schmidt, chairman of the petition committee, said the folks enjoyed the walk to the post office and the village gossip when they got there.

Hopes to Make Progress in Suez Canal Dispute

CAIRO (AP) — U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold on a visit to Cairo this week is expected to make progress toward a formula to settle the Israeli-Egyptian dispute over shipping in the Suez Canal.

★ ★ ★

But he has little chance of persuading the Egyptians to pass Israeli cargo aboard the freighter Inge Toft. The Israelis challenged President Gamal Abdel Nasser's regime by publicizing the Inge Toft attempt to run the Arab blockade beforehand. The Egyptians say they have accepted the challenge.

"There can be no compromise on the Inge Toft," an Egyptian spokesman said recently. "The ship itself is Danish and it can go through, but it cannot take Israeli cargo."

Kalamazoo Receives Goodwill Merit Award

DETROIT (AP) — The City of Kalamazoo received a merit award for launching a $100,000 capital improvement program at an assembly of Goodwill Industries of America here yesterday.

Roger A. Nelson of San Diego, Calif., president of Goodwill Industries, made the special awards at the closing assembly to branches for outstanding work in helping handicapped workers.

Kalamazoo originally launched a drive to collect $2,300 to match federal funds and finally raised $100,000. The award went to John E. Hoskins, executive director.

Four hundred delegates from 121 Goodwill Industries located throughout the world attended. Representing their branches were Mrs. Rafia Sharifuddin of Karachi, Pakistan; Dr. F. Molina-Font of Mexico City, and Eicho C. Chung of Honolulu.

Teamsters Run Guns to Batista?

Rackets Probers Want to Know; Witnesses Called Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probers summoned witnesses today for an investigation of an alleged plot to smuggle guns to foes of Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

★ ★ ★

Robert F. Kennedy, special committee counsel, said he wants to know whether some Teamsters Union officials and their nonunion allies were involved.

Without going into detail, he said the plot was designed to get munitions to Fulgencio Batista, the former Cuban president whom Castro deposed. Batista is now in the Dominican Republic.

★ ★ ★

The committee also summoned Ray Cohen, head of Philadelphia Teamster Local, 107, to explain why one of its investigators found him engaged in a tuna fishing tournament off Atlantic City, N.J. Friday. Cohen's lawyer had reported the unionist was too sick with a fever to testify.

2 Latvian Sailors Given Asylum in Canada

TORONTO (AP) — Two young Latvian crewmen who stayed behind when their Soviet trawler left Newfoundland Sunday night told a nationwide TV audience they had been granted political asylum in Canada.

Berthold Vilnis and Adolph Olonis, both 21, turned up in Toronto after the skipper of the trawler Neman claimed that the Canadian Mounted Police had prevented the men from returning to their ship.

Their backs to the TV cameras, they said through an interpreter they had jumped ship June 20 because they wanted to live in a free country.

Threaten to Paralyze Kerala Government

TRIVANDRUM, Kerala (UPI)—Anti-Communists stepped up picketing of schools, transportation and public buildings today and threatened to paralyze the Communist government of Kerala State with mass resignations of public officials.

The National Communist Party yesterday rejected a suggestion by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru that the state hold new elections.

"It means in practice a refusal to allow the Communist led ministry to function for its full constitutional term under a plea there's a feeling of opposition against it," the Party said.

The statement claimed there was more opposition in other states where members of Nehru's Congress Party ruled.

The Communists arrested another 250 persons yesterday bringing to more than 16,000 the number arrested since the anti-Communist drive started more than two weeks ago.

Syngman Rhee Will Run for 4th Term

SEOUL (UPI) — President Syngman Rhee today accepted his party's nomination to run in next year's presidential election for his fourth successive term in office.

He named Lee Ki Poong, assembly speaker, as his running mate.

The president's liberal party named the 84-year-old chief executive, one of the oldest chiefs of state in the world, to be its standard bearer again at a party convention today.

Fear Missing Boy, 5, Fell Into Lake, Drowned

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—Police who have been searching for 5-year-old Donald Steensma since early Saturday fear the lad toppled off the pier at Grand Haven State Park and drowned in Lake Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Six State Police skin divers were searching the lake.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Steensma of Grand Rapids started a two-week vacation in the park last Tuesday.

The father said Donald and his 9-year-old sister, Mary, went for a walk and he believed they returned to the trailer. Mary said she last saw her brother on the pier standing near a fog horn station.

2-Year-Old Polio Victim Practicing With Purpose

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG

Blonde, blue-eyed Theresa Parker has an adult seriousness about her when she is practicing. It is unnatural for her two years but it came with the great pain she has experienced.

She is learning how to walk again, and it is a very purposeful business with her.

The little girl's valiant fight and the progress she is making is the one bright spot in a series of misfortunes which her father has been burdened with for months.

Robert Parker was long out of a job and losing his home at 27053 Alden, Madison Heights, when Theresa was stricken with polio.

The father of nine was "bewildered" as he sought help for Theresa and protection for the rest of his family.

★ ★ ★

Not one of them had ever received a shot of the Salk vaccine.

The explanation offered by some is that the Parker family was victim, like many others, of a "disease of the times."

MONTHS IN HOSPITAL

The very real and awful disease Theresa suffers sent her to the hospital for months. It encumbered her with metal braces and crutches.

Parker unfolds the tale of the rough road they traversed together for "the enlightenment of others" like them.

"It all started when I was laid off in January, 1958," says Parker, who has just found a new job after 16 months of inactivity.

"I had worked for a chemical company as a jack-of-all-trades. Then came the recession.

"Nine months later, in October, I was still out of work when all the kids got sick and came down with a temperature. My wife, Dorothy, was expecting our ninth baby any day."

THERESA GOT WORSE

A few days later the fever was gone from the other Parker children, Mae, 15; Robert, 13; James, 12; William, 10; Roger, 9; Mary, 7; and Nancy, 5. Theresa got worse.

"She kept stumbling and falling," says Parker. "Pretty soon she couldn't stand.

"I never gave a thought that it could be polio. I always thought, like everybody else, it's going to happen to the next guy, not me.

"Another reason I never thought to take us all down for polio shots is because I couldn't afford them. Even when I was working there wasn't enough money for any kind of shots."

At 10 in the morning that Oct. 15, Parker took Theresa to a doctor who had cared for the family before. Among a pile of other bills, there was one from the doctor, too. Parker owed him $31.

REJECTED BY DOCTOR

"I carried her into the doctor's office and told the receptionist that Theresa was pretty sick," says Parker.

"The doctor came out to the waiting room and looked at us but didn't say anything. He talked to the receptionist for a minute and then went back inside.

"The receptionist said, 'You owe us $31 and we will not look at the baby until the bill is paid.'"

Deeply hurt, Parker took Theresa home and a friend took them to his physician. The doctor sent them to Children's Hospital in Detroit where a spinal tap was taken.

That same day Theresa was admitted to Herman Kiefer Hospital. She stayed for seven months. Both her legs and right arm were effected by the disease. During that period the metal brace was removed from her right leg.

★ ★ ★

A social worker sent Parker for an interview with the Pontiac chapter of the March of Dimes.

The organization paid all of Parker's hospital bills, which he estimates totaled $7,000.

The same week that little Theresa entered Herman Kiefer, Mrs. Parker was admitted to St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital for the birth of Daniel John.

"They were both in the hospital," says Parker, "and I went down to pick up my welfare check. I told them about Theresa and the welfare sent us to the Health Center in Royal Oak to get our shots free. We got them just one week after Theresa took sick."

Parker says the people at the Royal Oak Health Center told him to come back a month later for the second shots in the series.

COULDN'T GET SHOTS

"I brought the kids back there four weeks later. This second time they told us they were out of serum and that no more shots could be given through the Welfare Department."

Disillusioned again, Parker found no other means to get the protection he felt his children so desperately needed. A lapse of seven months rendered the initial shots ineffective.

When Theresa was discharged from Herman Kiefer in May, she was referred to the Sister Kenny Rehabilitation Center in Ferndale.

Last month, the Kenny Center innoculated the others, starting them on their first shots all over again.

★ ★ ★

Theresa goes to the Center twice a week now. She is undergoing the Kenny "treatment" with hot packs, stretching, muscle re-education and gait training.

She wears a pelvic band and a long metal brace on her left leg. Her parents have been instructed how to walk her at home.

Theresa now can move quickly across a room with her crutches. "Don't hurry, honey," Parker cautions her. He lifts her into his lap and says she has been a "real good girl."

Dr. Ethel T. Calhoun, medical director at the Kenny Center, says if Theresa keeps improving the way she been, the one remaining brace will be able to be removed.

Parker says again "It's a long rough road."

A PURPOSEFUL CHILD — Two-year-old Theresa Parker is a determined, purposeful little girl. Stricken with polio nine months ago, she is undergoing the Sister Kenny treatment at the Rehabilitation Center in Ferndale. She used to wear two metal braces and she is making rapid progress. Theresa is one of nine children in the Parker family, none of which had received the protection of the Salk vaccine.

Dick Clark 'Record Years' a Poor Apology for Youth

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dick Clark, the den mother of Young America, offered a one-hour apologia last night disguised as an ABC-TV spectacular.

The ostensible purpose of Clark's special show, "The Record Years," was "a salute to the recording industry and its hits and stars of the last decade." But it was nothing of the sort.

It was instead a standard musical hour coupled with an oblique defense of the records Clark and many other deejays spin for little girls.

It was kind of indicative of the taste of these little girls that the only musical group of merit on board the show—the Stan Kenton orchestra—received damp applause from the studio audience.

★ ★ ★

Their most ecstatic squeals were reserved for one Fabian Forte, a singer of limited range, no tone colors and wretched phrasing. He also needs a haircut.

Clark's survey-in-shallow made no reference at all the most important development of the past decade:

The shift to the long-playing record by adults which left the buying of singles in the hands of children.

Inevitably, their musical innocense has been reflected in the avalanche of sludge that makes up most of the top 40.

There was no reference by Clark to the decline of the big band, to the weird cascade of performers who hit once and then fade away, to the development of recording gimcrackery which makes nothing singers out of nothing nonsingers, to the decline of the female singer (the little girls who buy most of the singles records prefer little boy singers with girlish hair styles.)

SHORT SHOTS: "The Woman Turned to Salt," a return on NBC-TV's Suspicion last night was thinly plotted, but it's always pleasant to watch a craftsman like Pamela Brown . . . CBS-TV's College Bowl, which closed its season yesterday, announced it would return Oct. 4 with quiz teams from such schools as Army and Navy.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: CBS-TV is considering a special that would deal with the raising of the Andrea Doria . . . The CBS-TV June Allyson show will premiere Sept. 21 with Miss Allyson starring in "Ruth and Naomi."

NBC-TV will shift Dragnet from Tuesday to Sunday starting July 12, will move Pete Kelly's Blues from Sunday to Friday starting July 10 and will switch Northwest Passage from Friday to Tuesday beginning July 14.

The CBS-TV Perry Mason show will start filming next season's shows on July 13 after a seven-week layoff . . . "Ballad to Die For," which will be shown on CBS-TV's Stripe Playhouse July 31 is the test film for a proposed western series, Johnny Guitar.

Estimate Estate Value

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — The estate of Joseph Barbara Sr., host to the Apalachin gangland conclave, is estimated unofficially at more than $300,000. Barbara, who died June 17 of a heart ailment, left the entire estate to his wife, Josephine.

Medical scientists estimate the human lungs take in about 25 ounces of oxygen in every 24 hours.

But It Would Take Generations to Recover

There Can Be Survival in H-Bomb War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has been told that H-bomb war could cripple or possibly devastate large areas of combat nations and their innocent neighbors.

Excluding the mightiest kind of assault imaginable with today's knowledge of nuclear arms, even the fighting nations could in time —though perhaps it would take generations—recover.

And there would be no global disaster — no radioactive scourge to wipe out all life in the world.

These were opinions expressed or implied in hearings this week before a Senate-House atomic energy subcommittee pondering the effects of nuclear war.

Preparedness, however, would require preparation and planning for possible disaster on a scale which Hollfield said has not been undertaken. He said the federal government has not lived up to its constitutional responsibilities to protect its citizens from enemy attack.

Two prominent scientists gave comparable interpretations of what evolved in the hearings. For one thing: The world would not be destroyed in a war waged with weapons man now possesses or envisions.

This was the belief of Dr. Paul Tompkins, a subcommittee consultant from the Naval Radiological Defense Laboratory, and Dr. Gordon Dunning, an Atomic Energy Commission radiation special[illegible]

They said the real suffering from blast, fire, heat and radiation would be largely confined to nations assaulting each other and those in a 200-300 mile fringe.

Both rejected the fear that nuclear war would envelop the globe in a murderous cloud of radioactive dust and debris. The subcommittee heard that fallout over a period of years would carry substances threatening an increase in leukemia and bone cancer. Through biological changes fallout also could affect the makeup of children born to future generations.

Athens Faces Strike

ATHENS (AP) — Telegraph and telephone workers in Athens went on a 24-hour strike early today in protest against the government's failure to meet their demands for higher pay. A similar strike was [illegible] ago.

Thick Cloud of Sulphur Sickens Many in Denver

DENVER (AP)—A thick, murky cloud of sulphur dioxide spread over parts of Denver today causing illness in many homes.

The gas, drifting from two 100-foot stacks of the General Chemical division of the Allied Chemical Corp., snarled traffic over three fourths of the Denver area. Police and fire department squads battled the fog.

Paul Morgan, superintendent of the chemical plant, said the sulphur dioxide was produced when "operation difficulties" developed in a reactor used in production of sulphuric acid.

Indiana is the nation's chief producer of lime.
